In WSU Experiment

Scientists Find Cancer Vaccine

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne State University medical researchers think they may have discovered a way to treat cancer by vaccination.

Results they claim for a four-year program so far include:

- Two cancer patients, earlier given up as hopeless cases, completely freed of their tumors.

- Eight others once considered beyond help still alive, their cancers either halted or growing more slowly.

- Two patients with advanced tumors, their lives believed prolonged by the treatments.

Others among the 20 patients treated showed no improvement, said Dr. Paul L. Wolf, Wayne State professor of pathology and director of experimental pathology at the Detroit Institute of Cancer Research.

Failure in these cases, Dr. Wolf said, probably came because the disease was too far advanced and the patient's body no longer capable of producing cancer-fighting antibodies.

The Wayne group's vaccine he explained, aids the victim's body in producing these antibodies.

Many cancer patients are lost, Dr. Wolf said, because their bodies don't fight the disease. The body recognizes the malignant cells as part of it, and doesn't react with the chemicals needed to kill them.

The WSU group combines cancerous cells taken from the patient with chemicals obtained from the cells of rabbits. Then the combination is injected into the patient.

His body then recognizes the matter as foreign and produces antibodies to fight it. In the process, Dr. Wolf said, the antibodies may kill or retard the tumor.

The researchers, working with mice and human patients at Northville State Hospital, reported success in fighting cancers of the skin, liver and breast.

Dr. Wolf said that "if this program could be applied on a large scale, I would anticipate a fair degree of success."

Dr. Wolf said his group hopes to run a larger series of tests on cancer patients at Detroit Receiving Hospital, but added its timetable is "quite indefinite."

He said the WSU group is handicapped by lack of full-time clinical help, but added it was sending information about the method to doctors and anticancer centers around the nation.

"Maybe within the next several months we can disseminate enough information that some other centers will start doing it," he said. "We'd certainly like to see it expanded."

Blind Puppy Saves Family From Blaze

MIDDLEVILLE (AP) — A blind two-month-old hound pup was credited with saving a Middleville area family before dawn today from flames which destroyed their one-story frame home.

Theodore Bird said he was awakened by the puppy's yelping in the basement and found the house afire. He roused his wife, Helen, and they ushered their five children, aged 18 months to 11 years, to safety.

Human Torch Attempt Foiled

Student Is Halted in Front of White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Police snatched matches away from a 20-year-old student yesterday just in time to stop a possible human torch suicide attempt amid the Easter strollers on the sidewalk in front of the White House.

The youth, identified as Arthur Hilary Zinner of New York City, had doused himself with gasoline, apparently to make himself a flaming sacrifice in protest against the war in Viet Nam. A Secret Service agent and two policemen then subdued him as he attempted to strike a match.

After officers overpowered him, Zinner was taken to St. Elizabeths Hospital, a government mental facility, for observation.

Police said he spoke mostly in incoherent sentences. But they quoted him as saying he had written President Johnson several protest letters about Viet Nam and wanted to dramatize his opposition.

Police and Secret Service agents were alerted to Zinner's attempt by John Lennon, a newsman for broadcasting station WTOP.

Lennon reported his office was called about 9:30 a.m. by a person who said: "I'm a student visiting. I'm going to burn in front of the White House. If you want any pictures, you'd better get there right away."

Ky's Regime Is Bracing for Street Riots

Demonstrations Will Continue Until Junta Quits, Say Buddhists

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government braced today for more street violence after the Buddhist leadership vowed to keep up demonstrations until the U.S.-backed junta quits.

"Only when our aspirations are met and our demands satisfied will there be no more demonstrations," the country's most powerful monks declared in a joint statement yesterday.

Meanwhile, there were reports that Premier Ky secretly moved crack loyal troops into Saigon under cover of darkness today following the Buddhist declaration.

In the predawn darkness, Ky brought a regiment of the combat-gear 7th Division into the capital where the Buddhists have set up their "war command" post.

The 7th Division is known as the "coup" division since it has been used in every coup or major power struggle since the days of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

In militant tones echoing their declarations of political war on the government of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem three years ago, the Buddhists accused the regime of lying, irresponsibility and placing "too many obstacles" in the way of civilian rule.

At a news conference in Saigon, the monks asked the nation to rally behind the "Viet Nam Buddhist Forces," a new antigovernment political action organization created by them.

They were asked if a popular civilian government might seek peace with the Communists and order the withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Thich Thien Minh, coleader of the Viet Nam Buddhist Forces and chairman of the militant Buddhist Youth Movement, replied:

"If that is what the people want, then that is what they will get. We want to fulfill the aspirations of the people."

The Buddhist leaders denied they were anti-American or re-

Flying Grandmother Sets Distance Mark

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-one hours, 4,550 miles and several bumps on the head after taking off from Honolulu, weary but jubilant Jerrie Mock arrived home late last night with another world record under her wing.

The tiny 40-year-old aviatix, who nearly two years ago became the first woman to fly solo around the world, touched down at Port Columbus Airport at 10:36 p.m. on the longest nonstop airplane flight ever made by a woman.

Mrs. Mock now claims four records: speed around the world by a woman; speed around the world in a plane under 3,500 pounds; speed over a 20-kilometer course in a plane under 3,500 pounds and the latest distance record.

Mrs. Mock bettered the old mark of 3,471 miles, set in 1933 by three Russian women, by nearly 900 miles.

But she couldn't have added another mile to the mark, landing nearly out of fuel and keeping a crowd of about 500 well-wishers anxiously in doubt until just before she arrived.

"I was short of fuel all right," said the diminutive housewife, "but it wasn't any emergency or anything."

ENOUGH FUEL

"I knew I had enough to get home. Otherwise I would have landed somewhere else."

Still, it was disclosed later that the decision to fly on to Columbus wasn't made until after she was in Ohio and had transferred all the fuel to one tank so "I could measure to the drop" how much fuel was left.

She estimated she had fuel for 15 to 30 minutes of flying left after landing.

Mrs. Mock, the mother of two grown boys and a young daughter and grandmother of one, said the roughest part of her trip was "the winds over the Pacific and turbulence over the Rockies."

BUMPED HEAD

"I bumped my head a few times," she said of the flight over the Rockies, adding that was "the only part of the trip that worried me."

She said she also got "banged on the head by my flashlight and lost most of my personal effects" behind the special fuel tanks that took most of the passenger space in the six-seater Cessna.

"I even lost the computer which I use to figure distances," she said. "Luckily I had an extra one on my key chain."

"Tired?" Someone asked.

"Just a little," she said, closing her eyes. She remarked that was the first time she had rested her eyes since awakening at 5:30 a.m., Honolulu time, Saturday morning more than 36 hours earlier.

3 SANDWICHES

The 5-foot, 105-pound pilot took off from Honolulu, bolstered by three ham sandwiches and a vacuum bottle of water, at 3:34 p.m., EST, Saturday.

Over 40,000 Coal Miners in U.S. Go on Strike Today

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Nearly half the nation's 100,000 soft coal miners went on strike today in a wage contract dispute, cutting off new coal supplies to some major steel companies and power utilities.

The strike was not sanctioned officially by the United Mine Workers (UMW) but the union made no move to order the men back to the pits. Coal operators said the strike was illegal and in violation of current labor contracts with the UMW.

WATERFRONT FIRE — More than 400,000 in big pleasure cruisers and sailing yachts were destroyed in Bay City yesterday as flames swept the Huskins Boat Works. Owner Ben Huskins, 70, and his seminivalid wife, Leona, 68, were rescued in a daring emergency escape on planks thrown across a launching slip when flames trapped them at water's edge. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Waterford Grass Fires Are Early

The brush and grass fire season apparently has begun in Waterford Township — and it came at least a month earlier than last year.

Of the 55 fires Waterford Township firemen responded to last month, 25 were classified as brush and grass.

This compares with one brush and grass fire in February and none the preceding March.

Building fires in the township last month (17) also exceeded the totals for February (14) and March (16).

Through March, there were 100 fires in the township compared with 92 the first three months of 1965.

FIRE DAMAGE
Fire damages over the same periods are $67,735 this year and $66,655 in 1965.

Fire fighters responded to 80 alarms last month, compared with 45 in February and 59 the preceding March.

The calls include rescue and emergency, accidental, false, investigations and miscellaneous reasons.

26 Are Injured in Derailment

Vandals Blamed in Boston Train Mishap

BOSTON (UPI) — A two-car self-propelled New Haven Railroad passenger train carrying between 75 and 80 persons was derailed during the early morning rush hour today at a switch that apparently had been deliberately turned the wrong way. At least 26 persons were injured, none believed seriously.

Both cars of the Boston-Liner were tossed on their sides. The nose of the front car shattered eight railroad ties and dug a four-foot deep crater in the ground.

Some 20 ambulances sped the injured to nearby hospitals. Some of the passengers, particularly the elderly, started to panic but were calmed by other passengers.

The train was en route from suburban Needham to Boston's South Station when it suddenly lurched off the tracks at a switch in West Roxbury near a drug company warehouse.

Police said a padlock on the switch had been broken off apparently with a rusty railroad spike found nearby. Police said the switch apparently had been sabotaged by vandals, perhaps children.

The derailment occurred in Boston's West Roxbury district shortly after the train had pulled out of a stop known as Bird's Hill.

Ammo Shortage Slows U.S. Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The daily U.S. air strikes against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam have been sharply curtailed by a temporary shortage of bombs and other explosives, reliable sources said today.

They attributed the cutback to a logistic problem — presumably a backlog in shipping — and said they expected the shortage to be overcome shortly.

The slackening in the attacks was reflected in the 300 missions of all sorts reported in the south Sunday by a U.S. Air Force spokesman. Normally, American planes have been flying 450 to 500 missions.

American sources insisted the curtailment had no connection with the political unrest in Saigon.

U.S. Defense Department officials recently disclosed that ammunition is being fired at the Communists at a higher rate than in any previous year. In February, for example, the tonnage of bombs dropped on the Communists exceeded the Korean war level.

Because of the tremendous expenditure of ammunition, officials said it was probably costing more to kill one enemy

South Viet Nam's more than 14 million people are at least nominally Buddhists, although Roman Catholics comprise about 10 per cent of the population. There are also important minority religious sects.

The government charged that the Viet Cong had been instructed by the National Liberation Front's Central Committee to take advantage of the unrest.

A government intelligence source was quoted by the official Viet Nam Press as saying that on March 12 the committee ordered Viet Cong agents to emphasize political agitation "by instigating the population to topple the government."

Hospital Discrimination
Is Probed in the South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare began a stepped-up inspection program today on discrimination in hospitals, particularly in the South.

Hospitals must be in compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act in order to receive federal funds, beginning July 1, for such things as construction and training programs.

From there, it was over Kansas City, Vandallia, Ill.; south of Indianapolis and home.

Mrs. Mock, an Ohio State University graduate in aeronautical engineering, cut back on the throttle to conserve fuel during the latter stages of the trip.

The greeting party at the airport was headed by her husband and Gov. James A. Rhodes, who together helped her down from the plane and held her up while her stiff legs became accustomed to being back on the ground.

City Commission to Hold Organizational Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission tonight will hold its organizational meeting to elect a mayor and mayor pro tem.

The oath of office also will be given to two commissioners re-elected April 4, and to another winner named to his first term.

The 5 p.m. swearing-in ceremony will precede the regular commission meeting.

Commissioners William E. Roberts and David F. Breck were retained in office, while William Saunders was elected to the seat left vacant by the retirement of William Burgum.

The seven-member commission will elect the mayor and mayor pro tem from within its own ranks.

PRESENT OFFICERS

Robert W. Page is presently mayor and Roberts is mayor pro tem.

Four public hearings are scheduled to follow the organization of the commission. Three of the projects involve the route of the ring road around the central business district.

The other is on a proposed increase in taxicab rates.

Hearings of necessity will be held on the widening of Forest from Woodward to Hunter and of Chester from Maple to Willis. The third peripheral road hearing is for improvements on Oakland.

No detailed plans or estimates of costs have been prepared for the three projects.

Also on the agenda is a proposal to establish an historical museum in the city, and a recommendation to acquire an indoor police pistol range on property at the Adams Fire Station.

He says the city has an opportunity to acquire without cost an old dwelling that could be used for an historical museum, but the city would have to assume the expense of moving it to a new site.

Death Claims British Author

Sharp Satire Brought Success as Novelist

LONDON (AP) — Evelyn Waugh, whose pungent satires made him one of Britain's most successful novelists, died Sunday at the country home where he lived the quiet life he often lampooned.

Waugh, 62, died of unannounced causes soon after returning from Easter services to his home near Taunton, in western England.

As a writer, Waugh was acclaimed by critics over the world as witty, sophisticated and sometimes brilliant. In private life, he was retiring and avoided publicity. Outside his country home he put up this sign: "No admittance on business."

Districting Bill Up in Senate

LANSING (AP) — One-man-one-vote districting for county supervisors is scheduled for another examination tonight — this time in the Senate.

The thrifty question, tangled by last week's State Supreme Court opinions, is the topic of a House-approved bill sent to the full Senate last week by the municipalities committee.

It would require one man-one-vote representation with no more than 13 supervisors in any county except Oakland and Wayne, whose boards would range from 20 to 35.

There has been haggling over such points as the size of the boards and composition of the county apportionment body. But the bill is expected to pass, and be worked on by a House-Senate committee which must resolve differences between each chamber's version of the measure.

MOUNTAIN OF WORK
The House and Senate each face a mountain of work in the next two weeks. Nearly 250 items are on the House calendar and more than 100 face the Senate with many more — including the general fund budget — yet to be reported out by spending committees in each chamber.

To meet printing and deadline requirements, the spending committees are expected to offer budget bills by midweek. Gov. George Romney recommended a $94.5 million spending program but his bills were killed two months ago in a technical move.

Near the top of the House calendar are a number of controversial items that were put of last week. These include so-called noncancelable automobile insurance, liquor in state armories, additional pay for legislators with special duties, and discrimination in college fraternities and sororities.

The insurance bill would prohibit cancellation of an auto insurance policy after it has

Gutted Liner Is in Tow

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The blackened hulk of the cruise ship Viking Princess, apparently involved in a salvage fight, was somewhere south of Cuba today, being towed toward Jamaica.

The once gleaming white $16-million pleasure craft, which carried 400 passengers on winter Caribbean cruises, ran aground Friday morning in the Windward Passage, between Cuba and Haiti, while sailing to Miami with 496 passengers and crew members.

Two passengers died of heart attacks when the ship was ordered abandoned shortly after a fire and explosion had occurred in the engine room.

After the flames had died, a Liberian freighter, the Navigator, put a line on the abandoned vessel and started towing it toward Jamaica, according to the Navy's Atlantic Fleet Headquarters in Norfolk, Va.

To Ask Rezoning of McGregor Estate

ROCHESTER — A request to rezone 117 acres of the Howard L. McGregor Estate on Walton Boulevard will be presented to the Village Council tonight.

The request is from Slavik Builders, Inc., of Oak Park, who want to develop the 417-acre estate into a golf course, a shopping mall, apartments and single family homes.

The firm wants to rezone portions of the estate from residential to multiple dwelling and professional offices.

A similar request will also be made to the Avon Township Board. Three hundred acres of the estate lie within the township.

Work on the project is expected to start after the rezoning requests are approved. Representatives of the firm estimate that the entire project will take from seven to 10 years to complete.

Village Clerk Maxine Ross said the request will first be referred to the planning commission for a recommendation. She said a public hearing will be held on the matter at a later date.

The council is also scheduled to adopt a new electrical code which updates the present code to conform to 1965 standards.

A new member will be appointed to the Avon Youth Service and Recreation Association to replace former councilman Harold Milton.

Four Youths Admit Turkey Farm Blaze

AVON TOWNSHIP — Oakland County sheriff's deputies have apprehended four youths who admitted setting two fires at the Rochester Turkey Farm, 1171 Rochester, the night a barn at the farm was destroyed by flames.

The youths were turned over to juvenile authorities after questioning about a fire which destroyed a barn on the farm last Thursday night, causing damage estimated at $30,000.

The boys, all juveniles from the Rochester area, said they used matches and some oil found in two different places.

The youths said they "put out" both fires before leaving, but admitted seeing some smoke coming from the barn as they drove away.

The farm is owned by Mrs. Orville Feimlee of Royal Oak and at one time boasted a stock of 2,500 turkeys.

VANDALS STRIKE—Mrs. Helen Stein prepares to scrub a swastika off her car in Oak Park where vandals smeared swastikas and such words as "Hitler," "Gestapo" and "Hell's Angels" on 22 cars and two garages Saturday night. Oak Park, a city of about 40,000 is predominantly Jewish. The vandals' work was discovered Easter morning. With Mrs. Stein is her son, Steve, 7.

School Lunch Group Asks Recognition

WALLED LAKE — The Board of Education tonight will be asked to recognize the Walled Lake School Lunch Association as the sole bargaining agent for cafeteria personnel.

Schools Supt. George Garver said the request excludes cafeteria cook-managers but covers all other hourly rated cafeteria employees.

He said the association has 53 signature cards from the employees requesting the recognition. He said this represents about 94 per cent of the employees.

The board will also be asked to approve two new principals in the system. One is to replace William Doggett as principal of Twin Beach Elementary School and the other to replace Cecil Scott as principal of the Decker Road Elementary School.

Doggett was recently made principal of the new Oakley Park Elementary School. Scott is submitting his resignation to the board tonight after 12 years in the school system. Garver said Scott intends to retire at the end of the school year.

FEDERAL GRANT
Garver will seek approval tonight of a request for an estimated $35,000 federal grant under the Open Space Land Grant. The money would go toward construction of a secondary school on a 50-acre site on Beck Road in Commerce Township.

The district recently received $60,000 for an elementary school on W. Maple near Halstead.

School districts can obtain federal funds under the Open Space program if a certain portion of each new school site is left vacant. The vacant area is normally used as a playground.

The board meeting will be held at 8:15 tonight at the board of education office.

LIONS' GUEST — District Gov. Wayne McCandless of Pontiac will speak at the 7 p.m. meeting tomorrow of the Auburn Heights Lions' Club, discussing administration and the program of community and international service. The meeting will be held at the Auburn Heights Boys' Club.

The state plans to train the 200 inspectors in its new meat inspection program in radiological monitoring so that in case of attack, they would handle emergency programs at the meat plants where they normally work, said Whitehead.

"I think the monitors could do a pretty good job in case of atomic attack," he said. "They already have proven themselves in a natural disaster."

Poverty Unit Supervisory Staff to Attend In-Service Institutes

The supervisory staff of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCEO) will participate in a series of in-service training institutes beginning Saturday.

The opening session will be held at the Highland Lakes Campus of Oakland Community College, 7350 Cooley Lake, Waterford Township.

The institute will include a morning session devoted to outside resource speakers who will discuss some of the areas of concern to OCEO and its staff.

Problems of supervision, relations with referral agencies and similar problems which affect the OCEO program will be covered in the afternoon period.

Resource speaker for the initial session will be Mrs. Ralph G. Guiney, consultant on the aging, United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit. She will discuss the various programs involving senior citizens.

Future topics by outside resource speakers will include programs on employment and job training, the relationship of schools to target poverty areas and programs and needs of the mentally retarded.

Afternoon sessions of the coming training institutes will be devoted to exchange of ideas and on-the-job experiences by the OCEO staff.

Saturday's program will begin at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m.

If Disaster Hits Michigan

State Groups Set for Food Emergency

LANSING (AP) — Come flood, fire, tornado or atomic attack, Michigan has special groups trained to make sure that where there is life, there is food.

The state has 80 radiological monitors, trained mainly to inspect and decontaminate food in case of atomic attack.

Large quantities of food probably could be salvaged by decontamination, said Dr. George Whitehead, deputy director of the state Department of Agriculture.

The monitors went into action on Palm Sunday last year to assist in emergency food inspection and the handling of killed or injured livestock.

Michigan also has a special board responsible for finding and providing food for disaster-stricken areas.

The board, composed of federal and state employees and food industry executives, has a list of every major food supply in the state.

The list, which runs into the thousands, covers everything from apples to soft drinks and includes, for example, 268 wholesale meat suppliers.

The monitors are federal and state employees who handle emergency assignments in addition to their regular duties.

They attend two refresher training sessions a year and submit monthly reports on the radioactivity level in the air in their areas.

In training, "decontamination is an area we really stress," said Whitehead.

"A lot of people think that once food is exposed to radiation, it is ruined," he said.

But, he added, radioactive fallout affects only outside layers. Thus, he explained, canned goods can be used after the can is washed and decontaminated.

Even livestock which has been exposed to radiation can be slaughtered and eaten if proper precautions are observed at the meat packing plant, Whitehead said.

LIVESTOCK

The livestock would have to be slaughtered within one to three weeks after exposure, he added.

"Contamination would affect the intestinal tract and skin, but you could salvage most of the meat," he said.

In addition, he said, contaminated fruits could be peeled and used, and wrapped packages such as cheese may be safe if they have been wrapped well.

"With canned food in warehouses, probably all that would be contaminated would be the box," Whitehead said.

FLYING GLASS

In an explosive situation, flying glass from windows may become imbedded — and well hidden — in meat or cheese.

"Everything has to be checked over pretty well," Whitehead said.

The 80 statewide monitors couldn't do all the emergency inspection work in the state, but could train and assist local officials, he said.

STATE PLANS

The state plans to train the 200 inspectors in its new meat inspection program in radiological monitoring so that in case of attack, they would handle emergency programs at the meat plants where they normally work, said Whitehead.

"I think the monitors could do a pretty good job in case of atomic attack," he said. "They already have proven themselves in a natural disaster."

Consumer Bills Are in Trouble

Two Measures Locked in Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two election-year gifts to the nation's consumers — the "truth-in-lending" and "truth-in-packaging" bills — are in deep trouble in Congress despite support from President Johnson.

As of now, the two measures are locked in Senate committee and it may take all of the President's well-known powers of persuasion to free them. Even that might not be enough.

Senate sponsors of the two bills feel they stand a far better chance in a showdown roll call on the floor than in the committee. The House offers no alternative in this case.

The understanding appears to be that the House will take no action unless the Senate sends over a bill.

In essence, the two measures are "disclosure" bills:

The truth-in-lending bill would require the lender to state the total dollar amount of the interest and the true annual interest of the loan.

SETS STANDARDS

The truth-in-packaging measure would set standards for labeling and packing of supermarket goods so that the housewife knows exactly the amount she is buying.

Both bills have kicked around the Senate for years. They have been stifled successfully — partly due to an intense lobbying effort.

The prospects for the truth-in-lending bill are worse than for the truth-in-packaging bill.

The Senate Banking Committee, which has the lending bill under its jurisdiction, is split 7-7 with no present indications of a change.

BETTER SHAPE

The packaging bill is in somewhat better shape. For one thing, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the commerce committee, will not delay the measure.

He has said he will bring it to a vote and the committee already has held several meetings on it.

But a flood of amendments is in the offing and, if passed, could seriously weaken the bill.

The Republicans have circulated a substitute which, in the opinion of the bill's supporters, is no more than a labeling bill.

$200,000 Blaze Guts 3 Buildings in St. Ignace

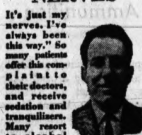

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Fire destroyed three buildings in this community on the Straits of Mackinac Sunday, causing damage estimated at around $200,000.

There were no injuries.

St. Ignace Fire Chief Leonard St. Louis said the fire started in the rear of a department store and spread to two other buildings, gutting all three. Cause of the blaze was not determined.

The government postal savings bank was authorized by Congress June 25, 1910, during Taft's administration.

"YOUR HEALTH" "NERVES"

It's just my nerves. I've always been this way. So many patients offer this complaint to their doctors, and receive sedation and tranquilizers. Many resort to alcohol just to relax. Take time right now to reach up and feel the muscles of your neck and shoulders. Chances are they are tight and painful to the touch. Remember, nerves go to every organ, muscle and gland in the body. Pressure on these nerves can cause a malfunction or short circuit in these parts. Chiropractic treatments can, in many cases, remove this pressure, relax the muscles, and place you back on the road to good health. Find out how if you are a Chiropractic case.

Soviets Optimistic on Early Manned Moon Landing

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is preparing for the celebration Tuesday of the fifth anniversary of Yuri Gagarin's first manned space flight, with optimistic talk about putting a man on the moon.

Soviet cosmonauts have been giving indications that their government will attempt man's great lunar adventure sooner than had been expected.

Alexei Leonov, the first man to walk in space, March 18, 1965, said in Budapest that a Russian will land on the moon as early as 1968.

Gagarin told the Czechoslovak news agency that Soviet space research had advanced more rapidly than planned. He said he was convinced there would be a man on the moon within the next five years.

BIG SPACE CENTER

Chernomir Titov, the second Soviet cosmonaut, predicted Sunday that the moon would become a giant space center where ships would be built for flights "into the depths of the universe." He talked of complicated operations being undertaken in space by men "soon."

The cosmonauts, all speaking in connection with the Gagarin anniversary, made no mention of President Johnson's claim that the United States would beat the Soviet Union in putting a man on the moon. The President gave 1970 as the target for the U.S. program.

U. S. Stargazer Satellite Fails

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "We're heartbroken," said a space agency spokesman in announcing the failure of America's Stargazer satellite after only two days in orbit. For an unknown reason, the orbiting astronomical observatory (OAO) lost all its battery power yesterday, and the two-ton satellite whirled silently and uselessly around the globe.

It never had a chance to exercise its 16 telescopes, which astronomers had hoped would unlock secrets of the stars and perhaps provide clues to the origin of the universe.

Scientists had worked for years to perfect OAO, the first astronomical observatory ever sent into space. All were disappointed at the failure but said they hoped it would teach them lessons about the second OAO, scheduled for launching early in 1967.

The lesson will be costly. The satellite, one of the heaviest and the most complex unmanned payload ever launched by the United States, had a price tag of about $50 million.

The Atlas-Agena rocket that hoisted it from Cape Kennedy Friday cost about $12 million. Several thousand dollars were added to the cost by five postponements of the flight.

The failure of an Atlas-Centaur rocket Thursday pushed the total cost of the back-to-back fizzes here to more than $75 million.

First came the soft landing on the moon Feb. 3 by the unmanned Luna 9 spaceship.

On April 3 Luna 10 was put into orbit around the moon, another first and another essential for getting a man there. The most discussed plan for a manned landing calls for the trip to be made in stages, jumping off for the final one from a lunar satellite.

It Seems to Me . . .

Present City Commission Is Worthy of Our Support

One week from today Pontiac votes.

There are seven City Commission places at stake. The present Commissioners have agreed to run again at the request and honest urging of staunch local citizens. We need them all. This is no time to change.

The current Commission has restored businesslike procedures. It has brought new confidence to citizens at large, to businessmen and to local industries. We are governed by a sound council. It has had experience with civic problems and other affairs of like magnitude.

No city wants to entrust several million dollars in public funds to those who have not been trained or had personal business experience in handling sums of equal size. Pontiac went through two years of civic management under a Commission that was honest and well-meaning but which simply lacked the know-how and the years of necessary experience in economic affairs of similar proportions.

It would be bad judgment to put the writer of this editorial in charge of a symphony orchestra or a battleship merely because he aspired to the place.

The current Commissioners have been criticized for not telling all they know about the big, downtown development. If they did—they would terminate this many-million dollar deal immediately. They were told this point-blank by the men with the money who can finance this gigantic investment. Hence their silence is imperative for the present.

When the school board wants a new school site, it doesn't leap into print and announce all the facts. If it did, prices of lots under consideration would double. The City Commission has to keep silent correspondingly.

Businessmen know this. Those with limited experience may never have bumped against the situation. It isn't actual hostility that prompts their criticism, but a failure to realize all the facts.

Pontiac's image in the State and even the Nation suffered considerably during two years of hedgepodge administration. Under the former inexperienced commissioners, outside businessmen and entrepreneurs looked at Pontiac cautiously and with open questions. We've outgrown most of that in the last two years and time can eradicate it all, thanks to the current administration.

The Press wants just one thing for Pontiac: the best government possible. So do you. We want the most capable rule we can get, honestly administered.

Hence we recommend the following as eminently worthy of continuing in office:

T. Warren Fowler
Robert C. Irwin
William H. Taylor Jr.
Leslie H. Hudson
John A. Dugan
Wesley W. Wood
James H. Marshall

The Fight Is On . . .

"Soapy" WILLIAMS is licking a few mental wounds and body bruises in his current encounter with JEROME CAVANAGH.

Williams grandly suggested the Detroit mayor resign from office if he proposed to run against him. The spirited "Jerry" promptly pointed out that Williams has had henchmen working for him that were otherwise employed and then he delivered the rock crusher:

"I can't exist on my Mother's millions," said he simply. "I have eight children and I must support them and myself." Touchdown—Cavanagh.

Further, he pointed out WILLIAMS was busily engaged in "running for office" while he was still on the government payroll and supposed to be busy in Africa which is in a constant turmoil. As a matter of fact he has been "running" for years—between here and Africa—and always for some unnamed political niche.

The old guard, the rock-ribbed Democrats who supported Franklin D. Roosevelt, may be aligned in the camp of their historic associate. But the new, live, assertive and eager younger generation will welcome Jerome Cavanagh with open arms. He'll be their boy—and mine.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Men, be alerted: bright, wide neckties are coming back. . . . OVERHEARD: "A tiger in the tank is wonderful, but took out for a monkey behind the wheel. . . . They've perfected a machine that checks and returns hats. The hat-check chicks are bawling. . . . Insider's Newsletter says a speeding ambulance, lights flashing, horn screaming and disregarding lights saves 2.7 minutes in eight miles. Is it worth it?"

"We Must All Hang Together!"

David Lawrence Says:

Law Ignored on Rhodesia Curb's

WASHINGTON—A former justice of the Supreme Court of the United States—Arthur J. Goldberg—must have an uncomfortable time every now and then functioning as the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Or maybe he is not troubled at all by the inconsistencies, if not hypocrisies, of nations supposed to be guided today by the fundamental principles of international law.

For a long time, lawyers and jurists have pleaded that international law must be respected if an effective formula for maintaining world peace is ever to be evolved. Indeed, this doctrine has motivated the founders of the present World Court.

But in the Rhodesian affair, international law is being bypassed. Expediency has taken its place.

Great Britain happens to be in a dilemma over the effort of the white people in Rhodesia to save themselves from the chaos and financial ruin they feel would ensue if the tribes of black inhabitants, most of them uneducated, were to try to run the country.

NO BASIS

But this is an internal problem, and there is not the slightest basis under international law for any outside government like that of the United States or any organization such as the United Nations to intervene and tell the Rhodesian people what they must or must not do.

The British nevertheless have decided to use economic coercion. So last November, when Rhodesia declared its independence, the London government imposed an economic embargo.

The United States, being anxious to play ball with the British and retain at least their vocal support on questions like Viet Nam, determined to undertake a voluntary embargo.

Congress alone under the constitution is supposed to "regulate commerce with foreign nations," but no authority for an embargo was requested by the President or volunteered by Congress.

CALL ON MEMBERS

The United Nations called on the members to join the embargo, but this was an appeal and not an order or decree.

Certainly there is not a single clause in any article of the United Nations Charter which authorizes the intervention of that organization by military or economic means in the international affairs of any country unless requested by the national government in power to ward off an aggressor.

But even when there is something that really threatens international peace, as is the case in Viet Nam, the United Nations maintains a hypocritical abstention.

For the U.N. Charter says military and economic force is justified, collectively or by individual nations, whenever international peace is endangered. No such situation, however, has arisen with respect to Rhodesia.

"SPIRIT OF TIMES"

Maybe in the case of Rhodesia, Ambassador Goldberg, who is an able and resourceful lawyer trained in the modern devices of our own Supreme Court, will come up with some new rationalization of international law in keeping with "the spirit of the times."

But he would have to brush under the rug precedents a century old that forbid governments to impose economic embargoes unless a state of belligerency has been recognized and an internal conflict has become an international war.

Bob Considine Says:

Seems Only Yesterday Early Bird Made 1st Peep

NEW YORK—Early Bird's a year old. Seems like only yesterday it was hardly a gleam in the eye of Howard Hughes. But there it is, up there 22,500 miles over the Atlantic, relayed in g telephone calls, still pictures and TV shows back and forth CONSIDINE across the ocean in 3/10ths of a second.

The first and still the only begotten child of Comsat has put in 8,660 hours of steady work.

It is not only the communication marvel of the commercial age but is keeping Comsat shareholders happy. The stock was a bit more than 50 the last time I looked.

Meanwhile, back at Hughes Aircraft Co., wizards are working around the clock to make Early Bird as obsolete as a car with fins.

By 1970, there will be a necklace of Hughes-built Comsat space stations strung around the equator. They will be nine feet in diameter and weigh 1,500 pounds, as compared to Early Bird, which is an 80 pounder, smaller than a bass-drum.

240 MESSAGES

Early Bird can handle 240 phone messages at once, or one TV show at a time.

The superbirds now on the drawing boards will have 10,000 channels each.

When all are in place high over the equator, circling the earth at the same speed the earth is revolving, there will be no place in the world to hide from the pest who calls up and says, "Guess who this is?"

There was a brief eulogy at the funeral Mass of George Carroll, long-time aviation editor of the Hearst newspapers.

It was one of the few I've ever heard at a Roman Catholic Requiem Mass. And it was just exactly right. George wouldn't have wanted it dragged out.

George loved his newspaper, the newspapering life and the special breed that works the papers from publisher to copyboy.

He was the kind of pro who would have worked for nothing, if he could afford it. He never watched a clock in his working life; had only good things to say about people, places and things.

There is a fascination about a championship heavyweight fight that will not be dissipated even in these evil times. 'Bill Would Regulate Insurance Companies'

At present individuals' pay insurance rates based partially on their driving record. Drivers with many violations and accidents pay higher rates than safe drivers. The proposed insurance bill does not intend to freeze insurance rates. The driver who develops a poor record while insured could find his premiums increased at renewal time.

The pending bill is to regulate insurance companies and to prevent indiscriminate cancellation of policies. With 13 years of driving, no accidents, five tickets (two red lights and three speeding under 15), two of which were in the last five years, my company canceled.

Comments on Method of Picking Candidates

The Wayne County Republican Committee has indicated a preference to hand pick candidates for the U. S. Congress in the 16th and 19th Districts and the 8th State Senatorial District. This practice of political bossism and dictatorship of selecting candidates is common in the Democratic Party, but has no place in the Republican Party.

The main function of a political party should be to support and help elect the candidates chosen by the people and not the selective choice of a few political opportunists.

Disagrees With Method of Fighting Inflation

President Johnson is concerned about inflation and he should be. He has asked a gathering of the Nation's business and industrial leaders to cut back on anticipated expansion plans to help fight inflation. These expansion plans will mean thousands of jobs. More jobs mean money for more families and more tax dollars for the government.

The successful way to fight poverty is with jobs. The War on Poverty program has been anything but a howling success. President Johnson would rather throw money into this and other nonessential spending at the expense of losing thousands of future jobs.

The financing of our obligations in Viet Nam should come from cutting back on nonessential government spending. War in Viet Nam? War on Poverty? Can we afford any more wars?

Views Continue on Waterford School Vote

Some questions asked by Waterford voters were never answered to their satisfaction and they voted "no" on the two proposals. If classroom shortage is to be so great, why phase out two schools and build three new ones? One school was good enough for a Board of Education building. Who needs a swimming pool and auditorium if our children are threatened with half-day school sessions?

At what rate is the last $6-million debt (now doubled to $13-million) being retired? Add another $13-million to this debt and you'll have $26-million. Most voters will agree we need a new high school (no frills) and three new elementary schools. This would probably get a "yes" vote.

MRS. R. CHILDRESS
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

The fact that Waterford voters turned down the school proposals shows either that they disapproved of the fringe benefits or that many people were so sure it would pass they didn't bother to register their "yes" votes. For a person, too cowardly to sign his name, to accuse citizens and outstanding administrators of a "Gimme So I Can Spend" attitude is uncalled for.

Their information was no "propaganda," only facts, and reflected a fine job. Their time, effort and hard work are put forth for the benefit of our children and because of them we have the finest educational system in the State. I am grateful to them. How unfortunate that in Waterford we have an element that falsely blames these people.

If the sports reporters could have built an audience of such size and diversity if the basic appeal element was not there in the first place.

Boxing has acquired such an unsavory reputation in recent years that there is a real prospect that Congress and the states will legislate it out of existence. Perhaps that would be no great loss. But we think the American people would be more pleased if greater efforts were made to clean up this professional sport, if clean and able fighters emerged and were given a chance to reach the top.

Boxing could be a great national sport again, with more public respect than ever before, if the public could enough to demand a clean-up. Perhaps the low gate for the last Cassius Clay fight is an indicator of better things to come.

PICTURE OF SUCCESS. By little kids in her classes — who Florence Jane Soman. Bobbs Merrill, $3.95.

What happens to a high-flying her flaring affair with the one corporation executive when his job suddenly is shot out from under him?

You can't expect him to take the first clerical assignment that happens to appear in the want ads; after all, he's experienced in making decisions in the upper echelons.

Mrs. Soman has spun a story that amounts to a psychological study of a man caught in this shattering predicament.

He is Phil Traynor, at 48 pulling a fat salary as assistant advertising director of a publishing company. All at once another outfit, which has been pulling into the company, wants its own man in Phil's job. No reflection on him, but he has just six weeks to get out.

Phil finds there isn't much demand for 48-year-old executives in the open market; most corporations would rather promote their own juniors.

THE SWEET BIRDS OF GORHAM. By Ann Birstein. McKay, $3.95.

There is a well-cultivated branch of humorous writing that deals with the failings of the odd specimens — ranging from pompous to kooky — on the typical American college faculty.

Miss Birstein's novel is one of the more deft examples of campus comedy, and more subtle than most.

The scene is Gorham College for Females ("exclusive," of course), in a snowy valley of New England.

Its heroine is a Sweet Young Thing, 22-year-old Daisy Lerner, a not very bright female — scarcely distinguishable, on the surface, from the plastic, lumpy WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lynnwood Irwin Meares, known as an "old master" of the safecracking profession, was listed today by the FBI as one of the nation's 10 most-wanted criminals.

Meares, described as "armed and dangerous," has been on the loose since January, 1963, when he escaped from a North Carolina prison while serving a sentence for breaking and entering, larceny and store-busting.

The 32-year-old fugitive has a 35-year criminal record. He has served prison terms in Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina.

Junior Editors Quiz on HORSE ANCESTRY

QUESTION: What were the ancestors of the horse?

ANSWER: "Said the little Eohippus, I want to be a horse, and on my middle fingernails to run my earthly course."

The writer does not know who wrote this jingle, but it does suggest the way scientists tell us the horse developed from an original ancestor called Eohippus.

Little Eohippus was an odd-looking animal which we compare with a fox to give you an idea of his size.

He lived in North America and Europe about 50 million years ago. Although he had toes instead of hoofs, he did have a horse-like head.

It is thought that such animals gradually turned into horses because they could run fast, speed being the horse's way of escaping from predators.

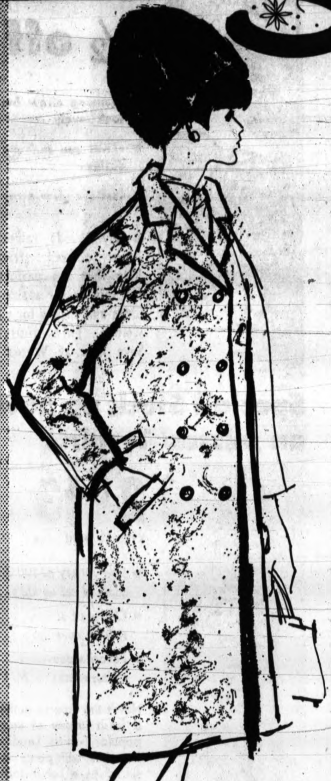

Eohippus later turned into the larger, collie-sized Mesohippus, which had three toes instead of the four of Eohippus.

By the time the donkey-sized Protophippus had arrived, it was running only on the middle toe, but this had enlarged into a strong hoof.

Then came the true full-sized horses, of which the Arabian was the oldest and the ancestor of our modern breeds.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get down on your knees and walk along using knees and three fingertips of each hand—see how slow it is. Now make fists and walk on your knuckles. This is more like a hoof; you can get around much quicker.

Solemnity, Fun Mark Area Easter Festivities

WELL, WOULD YOU BELIEVE . . . Pontiac small fry were out in force for the city's annual Easter egg hunt. Two boys pause to compare notes on their luck. The leaves, left from fall, provided perfect "cover" for eggs, which were hidden by some big "bunnies" from the city's Parks and Recreation Department with an assist from several local groups.

HAND OUT — Almost trampled by the crowd, David R. Ewalt, (with pipe) director of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, and Fred Carter, director of the McConnell Community School program, hand out favors during the

and Mrs. Porritt with children James R. Jr., Linda, Barbara Daniel, Mary Ann, Kimberley and Douglas. Mr. Porritt's great-grandparents and grandparents had been members of the white frame century-old church. Mrs. Porritt is a member of the choir; her husband is chairman of the finance committee.

EGG HUNT — Searching among the leaves at Murphy Park (from left) Eric and Bill White, ages 8 and 7, respectively, of 343 S. East Blvd., come across a "goldmine" during Saturday's Easter egg hunt. The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's annual egg hunt, cosponsored by several local clubs, was carried out at four city parks.

BOYS' CHOIR — The Boys' Choir, in white surplices and black bow ties, presents "Happy Joyous Easter Morning" during early morning worship at Grace Lutheran Church yesterday. Sunshine streams in on the boys through the stained glass rose window as they sing. The group joined the adult and girls' choirs in leading the congregation as they sang Easter hymns.

GOP Training Set in County

The Oakland County Republican Committee will begin its spring training sessions for precinct captains tomorrow. The programs are open to anyone wanting to serve as precinct workers.

The sessions, under the direction of County Training Chairman Arthur Angrist, will cover all aspects of the voter identification program and election procedures.

Changes in the election laws which have occurred in the past two years will be reviewed.

Sessions will be held in two areas of the county tomorrow. Both start at 8 p.m.

One will be at the Old Mill Tavern on the Dixie Highway in Waterford Township, while the other will be conducted at the First Farmington Savings and Loan Association, 22725 Orchard Lake Road.

Another will be held 8 p.m. Thursday at the Bloomfield Hills Junior High School, 4200 Quanton.

Finance Expert Calls for Cutback in Poverty War

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Republican financial adviser says the federal antipoverty program would be scaled down because there is "tremendous evidence of waste and inefficiency."

Maurice H. Stans, Budget Bureau director under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, also called for cuts in agriculture and foreign aid programs to curb inflation and preclude a tax increase.

But speaking on a television-radio program, Stans ruled out reductions in defense spending or the new federal Medicare program.

Ferry Will Be Built

WARREN, R. I. (AP) — The Blount Marine Corp. says it will build a $18,500 passenger and car ferry to run between New London, Conn., and Fisher's Island.

Small Town to Get a Surgeon

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "The thought that maybe I could be of greater use somewhere else began to haunt me," a surgeon said as he explained why he is leaving a well-established practice to go to a small town.

Dr. Walter A. Mendyka, 42, leaves tomorrow for Machias, Maine, population 3,500, to practice where he believes there is a great need.

"I guess the idea was born during the reign of Pope John XXIII," said Mendyka, who has been practicing in Cleveland since 1956.

"As I learned more about him and his works, I got the idea that I should do more to share with others the good things God has given me and my family."

The rest of the Mendykas—11 children and his wife, Frances—will leave their 12-room house and follow him to Maine after the school year.

MADE DECISION

Dr. Mendyka, a staff member of St. John's Hospital, said he learned of the need for a surgeon in Machias last November. He and his wife decided on the move Christmas Eve and told their children Christmas Day.

"We didn't know how the children would react," Mrs. Mendyka said. "They accepted it cheerfully."

Mendyka visited the town—80 miles east of Bangor and 25 miles southwest of Franklin D. Roosevelt's retreat at Campobello—and liked the people, the town and the 36-bed hospital, which he said is one of the most modern he has seen.

"I fell in love with the town," he said. "The people are mostly fishermen or lumbermen or cannery workers. They are not as affluent probably as most Clevelanders.

But they are warm and friendly and they need a general surgeon so badly."

Dr. Mendyka said only about half the beds in the hospital are used because people in the area have to travel 80 miles or more for surgical care.

About leaving their parents, other relatives and friends, Mrs. Mendyka said: "We'll miss them all. But this is the price we will pay for the satisfaction we'll gain."

Ponce de Leon traveled with Columbus on his second island-hopping tour of the Caribbean. He returned 15 years later to become its first governor.

Recovered H-Bomb Aboard U. S. Ship

PALOMARES, Spain (AP) — The U. S. nuclear bomb recovered from the bottom of the Mediterranean after a search of nearly three months was aboard a U. S. warship today apparently headed for the United States.

The nuclear weapon, 10 feet long and shaped like a cigar container, was recovered by the Navy Thursday from 2,500 feet beneath the sea where it had fallen from a B-52 bomber which collided with a jet tanker last Jan. 17.

It was one of four such bombs carried by the bomber. The other three were recovered on land a short time after the crash in which seven men were killed.

Report Points Up Economics Behind Slum-Dwellers' Poverty

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.,
Executive Director
National Urban League
(Second of two articles)

If the glaring failures of the McCone report (on Watts) highlight the gap in thinking between the white leadership and Negro slum-dwellers, another report from the U.S. Bureau of the Census highlights the striking economic gap which is at the heart of the problem.

A special study of south Los Angeles, an area which includes Watts, found one in 10 unemployed.

While unemployment nationally was halved, for this section it was unchanged — and for Watts it was three times the national average.

The average Watts family's purchasing power DECLINED by $400 between 1960 and 1965 — this at a time when the typical American family's income ROSE by 14 per cent.

A third of the houses in the area were found to be substandard, yet the median monthly rental rose from $69 in 1960 to $78 in 1965.

All along the line — teen-age unemployment, dropouts, family breakups — the picture of this typical slum area is disastrous. ONLY 1,000 PROVIDED

Although the McCone report called for 50,000 new jobs, only 1,000 have been provided for Watts' unemployed.

Despite the urgency of the situation, conditions are pretty much the same as they were before the riots.

As one Watts man said, "The only time they care about us is when we start busting windows."

Another Watts man bluntly stated his despair: "Do you know what it is to get up at daybreak and spend a whole day looking for work only to be turned down because you're black . . . and on your way home some cop wants to crack your skull or put you in jail for vag . . . Man, I've had it with equality and all those lies about opportunity."

SIMILAR EXPLOSIONS

Unless "those lies about opportunity" are fulfilled and proved not to be lies, there will be similar explosions of rage in our cities.

Almost every city in the nation teems with Negro resentment over the lack of job, inadequate schools, rotting houses and police humiliation.

Thus there is an urgent need for massive action to deal with the facts of slum life.

First on the list of national priorities should be jobs for all who want them.

NEEDED SERVICES

Unemployed people could be hired to perform needed social services. Almost all areas of municipal services are in urgent need of expansion — parks, museums, hospitals, schools — all need more workers.

Ghetto youth should be put to work on neighborhood improvement projects and dropouts should be paid to attend all-day summer schools.

These would be far from make-work projects, they would represent the imaginative harnessing of underutilized manpower to perform necessary social services.

On-the-job training programs should be stepped up, with assurances of job placement for those who qualify. Industry can absorb these newly trained men and can be encouraged to take steps of its own through a program of tax credits for hiring minority unemployed.

MORE FUNDS

The antipoverty program should get a massive injection of funds, and eligibility requirements and other red tape restrictions should be eased.

Where local politics prevent maximum utilization of funds, the federal government should step in with programs of its own, bypassing local politicians.

Since all of the riots in recent years began with some police incident, special efforts should be made to train policemen in human relations and make them responsive to their sensitive role.

REMEMBER 1916 UPRISING—Top-hatted Eamon De Valera, 83-year-old president of Ireland, inspects units of the new Irish army yesterday on Dublin's O'Donnell Street as he pays tribute to the dead and living heroes of the 1916 Easter week uprising against Great Britain.

Recall Bloody Rebellion

18 Irish Militants Planning Fast

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Eighteen young Irish militants planned to start a hunger strike today as their nation celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Easter uprising.

The youths said they would fast from noon today until 3:45 p.m. Saturday, recalling the duration of the bloody 1916 rebellion crushed by the British. The uprising eventually led to the creation of the Irish Republic.

Ireland has no cause to celebrate, the hunger strikers said. They accused the Irish government of betraying revolutionary ideals by letting Gaelic die out and by tolerating Ireland's partition and economic dependence on Britain.

Inside Dublin's main post office, Joe Clarke, 34, revisited the place where he participated in the uprising and laid a wreath at the foot of the Cuchulainn statue, which is dedicated to a legendary figure symbolizing Ireland. The wreath carried the words, "To the forgotten ideals of 1916."

LEADING AUTHOR

Mairtin O'Cadhain, a leading Gaelic author, Sunday night accused the government of selling out the aims of 1916 and fearing the spread of the Irish language because it would stir up Irish nationalism.

Despite these protests, there were no outbreaks of nationalist violence. Irishmen celebrated the anniversary by singing patriotic songs or paused to remember the bitter uprising. The Archbishop of Dublin was to dedicate a garden of remembrance today in Parnell Square, where the British had held most of the prisoners from the post office garrison.

President Eamon de Valera and other 1916 veterans reviewed a military parade by 5,000 Sunday as the Republican flag fluttered atop the post office where once it had been hoisted defiantly.

Community in Japan

Jolted by Earthquakes

MATSUSHIRO, Japan (AP)—A series of sharp earthquakes rocked Matsushiro today, crumbling stone walls, breaking water pipes and knocking out electric power.

The quakes were the worst of the series of earth shocks that have been jolting the area almost daily for nine months. They were also felt in four other cities and many towns.

Why buy a low-priced car when you can get a high-priced car for the same money?

Especially when you can get that big Catalina there. With a wheelbase that's a good two inches longer, Interiors a lot roomier and a 389 cu. in. V-8 out front that gives you at least 50 more standard horsepower. Along with typically

Pontiac virtues like the bold, split-grille styling, Wide-Track ride and handling, and a resale value the record books show is consistently up there with the leaders. And, of course, a package of seven standard safety items like padded visors and dash. Come In and look over our Catalina. Drive it. Price it. And then you'll know what we mean when we say if you're spending about $3000 for a new car and not getting a Pontiac, something's wrong.

Wide-Track Pontiac Catalina (A big, powerful Pontiac for less than $3000*.)

*Manufacturer's suggested retail prices for Catalina 5- and 6-door hardtops and 5- and 6-door sedans are all less than $3000. These prices include excise tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charges. Transportation charges, state and local taxes, accessories and optional equipment additional.

13 Primaries to Test LBJ Viet Policies

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Party primaries in 13 states will offer some tests at the polls next month of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies.

They will provide hints also on the extent of the political upheaval that has raised Republican hopes in the South. They seem likely to demonstrate more party division among Democrats than among Republicans.

Oregon's May 24 primary is shaping up as a test of Pacific Northwest sentiment on Johnson's conduct of the Southeast Asian war.

GOP Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, who is critical of the President's policies, seems certain to become his party's nominee for the Senate seat being vacated by Democratic Sen. Maurice N. Neuberger.

ALL-OUT SUPPORT

In the Democratic primary, Rep. Robert B. Duncan has jumped into the senatorial nomination race with an announcement of all-out support for Johnson's course.

Howard Morgan, a member of the Federal Power Commission in the Kennedy administration, is in the contest with the claimed support of Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., outspoken dissenter to the Johnson war policies.

Primary voting takes place May 3 in Alabama, Florida, Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

In Alabama, which has seen some switching by local officials from the Democratic to Republican parties, Mrs. George C. Wallace is trying for the Democratic nomination for governor, for which her husband is barred from running again.

DISORGANIZED

Republicans think that the Democrats may come out of this contest so disorganized that GOP Rep. James D. Martin could win the governorship in the fall elections. They are hoping any such result might increase their 5-3 margin over Democrats in House seats.

Democratic Sen. John J. Sparkman has no primary election opposition but may face a tough Republican challenge in November.

Gov. John B. Connally, a supporter of the President's Viet Nam course who is at odds with his old friend Johnson on some domestic issues, is counted as certain of winning renomination in the May 7 Texas primary. In Nebraska, on May 10, Gov. Frank B. Morrison is likely to become the Democratic nominee to oppose GOP Sen. Carl T. Curtis in what would be billed as a liberal vs. conservative general election contest. Curtis, a conservative, has supported Johnson's war policies. Morrison has voiced no dissent.

West Virginia's May 10 primary will be followed by those in Pennsylvania May 17, Kentucky May 24 and North Carolina May 28.

The Pennsylvania voting will coincide with the filing deadline in New York State, where the Democrats are far from achieving any unity on a candidate to oppose GOP Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

WHO'S AT HOME? — A sea of humanity fills Fifth Avenue outside of St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York yesterday for the annual Easter Parade. Police estimate 65,000 people, dressed in their finest took part in the tradition.

Family Is Together

Early Bird Students Get the College Scholarships

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

One way for a student to lose out on a scholarship is to wait until his senior year high school to do something about it. The same thing applies to obtaining any other form of financial assistance.

Although Congress is contemplating some changes, at the present time application of a government loan must be made to the college the student will attend.

Government grants to each school are limited, and funds are sometimes entirely committed well ahead of the school year. Consequently, it is not too early to apply now for the Fall semester.

Financial aid may come from scholarships based on merit alone, scholarships based on need, government loans or part-time work. Only by looking ahead can you find the combination best suited to your needs. It pays to inquire early. Some competitive tests must be taken early in your senior year.

The National Merit Scholarship Corp. administers scholarships sponsored by over 200 business and industrial organizations, colleges and universities, as well as the scholarships given by the corporation itself. These are annual grants to students for four years of college.

Each state offers scholarships. You may find it well worth your while to investigate scholarships based on merit alone, scholarships based on

A good source of information about scholarships is a booklet titled, "Need a Lift?" While it is not the policy of this column to suggest materials for which one must send money, in fairness to the American Legion, it should be noted that the price of this useful booklet has been raised to 25 cents.

It was previously mentioned in the column at the old, lower rate and may be obtained from The American Legion, Education and Scholarship Program, Dept. S, P.O. Box 1055, Indianapolis, Ind. 46206.

Limit N. Viet Flights per Flier

100-Mission Rule in Effect for Yank Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is limiting its fliers to 100 missions against targets in North Viet Nam during any one tour of duty in the war zone.

No limit applies to the number of missions that can be flown against Communist targets in South Viet Nam.

The new policy went into effect in January, the Air Force said.

The Navy and Marines said they are placing no limits on the number of missions their pilots and aircrews can fly either in North Viet Nam or South Viet Nam.

BECAUSE OF HAZARDS

The Air Force apparently is making a distinction because of the hazard from antiaircraft guns and missiles in North Viet Nam as compared with a lesser opposition from Communist units in South Viet Nam where most Red antiaircraft fire comes from nothing much heavier than machine guns.

The new Air Force policy provides that its pilots and aircrews are assigned to the Viet Nam war for a period of 12 months or 100 combat missions over North Viet Nam.

It was estimated that at the current level of operations an Air Force pilot can complete his 100 missions in about 7 months, at which time he would be reassigned to duties outside Viet Nam.

If a pilot is dividing his time between strikes against Communists in both South Viet Nam and North Viet Nam, his tour of duty will be reduced by one month for every 20 missions that take him over North Viet Nam.

U.S. Negotiator Is Optimistic on A-Arms Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States' chief disarmament negotiator believes there is a chance of obtaining agreement this year on a worldwide treaty banning spread of nuclear weapons.

William C. Foster, who returns shortly to the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva, said the need for such a treaty is urgent because it is becoming easier and cheaper to make nuclear weapons.

He said some nations, which he did not name, "feel that perhaps they could gain prestige" by manufacturing such weapons. Foster appeared on NBC's television-radio program "Meet the Press."

Dominican Party Nominates Bosch

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Juan Bosch, self-styled spokesman for the Dominican Republic's underprivileged, may soon have a second chance as president of his troubled nation.

Cheering delegates nominated the 56-year-old writer-philosopher Sunday as the presidential candidate of the Dominican Revolutionary party in the June elections.

Bosch, whose followers triggered the 1965 revolution in which the United States intervened, is considered the front runner in a contest expected to include at least three other major presidential aspirants.

Bosch couches his speeches in simple folksy language that appeals to the common man.

CLASS FOLLOWERS

His upper-class critics see distortion, bitterness and vindictiveness woven skillfully into his oratory. But in the neighborhood grocery stores, bars and fruit stands, the ordinary folk cluster transfixed around their radios when Bosch speaks.

"Juan Bo' to sabe tout — Juan Bosch knows it all," they say reverently.

Bosch is a political paradox. A left-of-center liberal, he is damned by other liberals while conservatives are among his staunchest partisans. He has often been accused of playing up to the Communists, but Red leaders are known to fear his hold over their favorite prey, the common man.

Bosch took office in February 1963 as the first freely elected Dominican president in 30 years. Prospects looked promising. He had a mandate from more than 60 per cent of the electorate. Sugar, keystone of the Dominican economy, was selling on the world market at 11 cents a pound. It brings only 2 cents now.

POWER STRUGGLE

But the political machine Bosch had helped create became enmeshed in a factional power struggle. Just seven months after he took over, a military coup forced him back into exile. There were no demonstrations or protests on his behalf.

Last spring followers of Bosch touched off bitter fighting in an attempt to bring him back from exile in Puerto Rico. President Johnson ordered U.S. Marines landed in the Caribbean republic, saying at first they were needed to protect American citizens and later to prevent the Communists from taking over the Dominican government. Bosch denounced the U.S. intervention.

Local political experts say the failure of Bosch's successors to provide a successful alternative and the lack of dynamic leadership are responsible for the comeback of Bosch and two other former presidents, Joaquin Balaguer and Rafael F. Bonnelly.

GEORGE VICTOR SPENCER

Probe Death in Canada Spy Case

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — George Victor Spencer, whose firing as a postal clerk led indirectly to the Canadian furor over German beauty Gerda Munsinger, apparently died of alcohol poisoning, city coroner Glen McDonald says.

McDonald said there were many questions still to be answered about the death of Spencer, whose body was found in his Vancouver home Saturday night. He said an autopsy inquiry would be held Thursday.

Spencer, 57, was dismissed without pension from his postal job last Dec. 30 because of allegations that he had sold information to the Soviets for between $3,000 and $4,000. Justice Minister Lucien Carlin told Commons the alleged offenses began "well before 1960."

When Conservatives attacked the Liberal government's handling of the case, Carlin countered with a charge that two members of the former Conservative Cabinet had associated with Mrs. Munsinger, whom he called an ex-spy.

NEW REGIME

The Liberal government of Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was elected in 1960, succeeding the Conservative government of John G. Diefenbaker.

A federal inquiry into the dismissal of Spencer from the Vancouver post office was scheduled to open Wednesday. Justice Dalton Wells of the Ontario Supreme Court said the hearings here would be canceled and closed sessions would be held in Ottawa instead.

Pearson had ordered the inquiry after calling Spencer on the telephone and asking him whether he wanted one. Spencer said he did. On a television program March 6, Spencer denied ever having spied for the Soviet Union.

Coroner McDonald said an autopsy on the body of Spencer, who was not known as a heavy drinker, showed a blood alcohol reading of .24 per cent, well beyond the point of intoxication. He had been dead four to six days when a neighbor found his body.

Low-Level Attack

by Planes to Be Tested

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A four-month military flight test program to gather information on low-level aircraft attack is to begin May 26 over portions of Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

The program, to include an average 15 flights daily up to six days per week, is to continue through September. The instrumented, unarmed bombers, fighters and reconnaissance planes will fly at less than the speed of sound and normally at less than 500 feet altitude.

Air Crash Kills 12 in Mexico

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico (AP) — Mexican authorities began investigating today a plane crash that took 12 lives here. All but one of the victims were from Tucson, Ariz.

The twin-engine craft, a Beechcraft D18, had landed at Nogales for refueling and to return Mexican tourist cards to the Mexican immigration agency.

Airport immigration officer Angel Cortez said he had just received the cards from the victims, which included five members of one family and three of another, when the plane attempted to take off.

He said it reached an altitude of 100 feet, flipped and fell to earth. The gas tank exploded on impact.

The pilot of the plane, James H. Donald, 47, had taken the victims, which included four members of his family, to Guaymas, Mexico, for the Easter holidays.

Also along in Donald's party was his son's girlfriend, Miss Carol Cemel, 20, a student at Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill.

Prison Official Says Antipoverty War to Cut Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the federal prison system believes that as the war on poverty continues the nation should see a lowering of its crime rate in about five years.

Myrl E. Alexander, head of the Bureau of Prisons, told UPI today that if society did its job properly in the first place the jails and prisons would be empty except for hard-core criminals.

There are signs, however, that the public is beginning to realize that it has to share the responsibility for crime, he said.

"We are starting to point the finger where it belongs — at ourselves," he added.

This changing attitude may lead to an entirely new concept of trying to cut down crime by eliminating "poverty, disease, and ignorance."

ALLOWED TO STAY — Jack Howard, 24, a Warren factory foreman, was granted the right to stay in Michigan yesterday by Gov. Romney. He escaped from a Georgia prison camp in 1963 where he was serving a burglary sentence. He has lived an exemplary life in Michigan since and is shown with his wife, Linda, 21, and 5-month-old son, Scott. Romney decided Howard could stay in the state on informal parole rather than be extradited.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynex®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dynex is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H® Suppositories or Preparation H® Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H® is sold at all drug counters.

Cannon Report: One Is AWOL

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — The Berrien County Sheriff Department's score today on cannons:

One cannon missing, believed stolen.

One long-buried cannon, recovered.

RESORT OWNER

T. C. Corbett, owner of a resort on U.S. 31, seven miles north of Benton Harbor, reported the disappearance of a four-foot, cast iron cannon from his property.

Corbett valued the cannon at $200 and said it weighed 250 pounds. He used it for decorative purposes.

A group of young men, struggling mightily at times, dragged a two-ton, nine-foot cannon out of the sand of Grand Mere dunes west of Stevensville on Lake Michigan.

It took 5½ hours to free it. With the aid of a Jeep and oak plank, it was put on a pickup truck and taken to the home of 18-year-old Richard Baginski of St. Joseph Township.

The sheriff's office said no one has put in a claim for the cannon—not even the owner, Mrs. Jens Pasasche of Wilmette, Ill.

Sheriff's men said Mrs. Pasasche told them the cannon had been mounted at her lake front home since it was acquired by her first husband, Col. Trygve Sigeland of the U.S. Army, after World War I.

The female ostrich does not incubate the egg — that's the job of the male.

Killer Twisters Racked State Year Ago

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When the air is heavy and the sky a leaden gray, Michigan residents find fear nagging them. It's a fear well founded for a year ago to-day tornadoes devastated many sections of the state, leaving 50 dead, scores injured and millions of dollars in damage. This special report recalls that tragic day.)

By the Associated Press

The dead have been buried and most of the broken homes rebuilt, but Michigan still remembers the tornadoes that stamped across the state a year ago today.

"We're still skeptical when the wind starts blowing. It still kind of shakes you," says Bob Webber, a tavern owner.

The Michigan tornadoes were among 45 that ripped across the Midwest April 11, 1965.

When they were over, Michigan counted 50 dead, 618 homes and 58 house trailers destroyed, another 625 homes badly damaged, and at least 2,360 families that had suffered losses of one kind or another.

243 KILLED

The tornadoes killed 243 persons and injured 5,000 in Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio. Countless more were left homeless and facing a bill for damages ranging into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Today, most of the survivors have rebuilt their homes and on the then-demolished Lost Peninsula—a little bit of Michigan land that can be reached only through Toledo, Ohio.

A year ago, surveying the wreckage of his demolished tavern, owner of Webber's Tavern, Webber said: "We've been operating here since the early 1930s and we intend to remain here for a long time more."

BACK IN BUSINESS

Webber's Tavern is back in business today—newer, nicer and bigger. It took him just 110 days to rebuild, he said.

The peninsula, which boasted few inhabitable dwellings in the days following the killer storms, now has "newer, nicer homes all the way through," Webber said. "The whole peninsula is very much better."

"Folks have taken it in stride," he said. "They got rebuilt as quick as they could, got rebuilt and started over."

Halfway across the state, in Branch County near the Indiana line, Sheriff's Deputy Juel Weigt, 39, boasts that he's still on the job.

PATROL CAR SMASHED

He was on the job the night the twisters smashed through the county, demolishing the patrol car he was driving and hurling and dragging him 75 feet. Weigt returned to duty that night after being treated for his injuries.

"Mostly, we're pretty well built up and back to normal," Weigt said Sunday. One who rebuilt was Weigt's fellow deputy, Elmahdi also George Ivey, whose house collapsed that Sunday night while he, his wife, a son and three grandchildren were inside. All escaped serious injury.

The shocking disaster left "few lasting scars," reported Maurice Rauch, supervisor of Monroe County's Erie Township, which includes the Lost Peninsula.

"Most of them just took it as a misfortune, an accident that could happen to anyone at any time," he said. "I guess they figure just like you and me that it won't happen again."

NOT SURE

Ralph Lashaway of the Lost Peninsula isn't so sure.

He's rebuilt the smashed home in which his wife was killed. But when the sky looks ominous, he drives his two young sons into Toledo, where they park under a bridge.

"It makes us feel safer," Lashaway explained. "When we pull out of the yard, some of the neighbors are taking off, too. I doubt if we'll ever get over that storm."

In Formosa

Oppose Mongolia Recognition

TAIPEI, Formosa (U)—The thought of possible American recognition of Mongolia, recently hinted in Washington as a possibility, excites acute political indignation in Taipei.

"The government of the Republic of China," says the Formosa Office spokesman, Patrick Pichi Sun, "has repeatedly made known its firm opposition to the recognition of Outer Mongolia by any nation, and this is still our position."

Sun and other officials refuse to specify the reasons for this opposition.

Their reticence apparently stems from a desire not to air any differences of view "with our closest ally, the United States," as one Nationalist official put it.

But it is obvious that Taipei is not impressed by arguments that establishment of a diplomatic mission in Mongolia would provide a valuable listening post in the heart of Asia.

FEAR EXPRESSED

Newspaper editorials have expressed fear that American recognition there might be a tentative step toward ultimate recognition of Communist China.

The Mongolian People's Republic is a landlocked northeast Asia country sandwiched between the Soviet Union and Chinese territory.

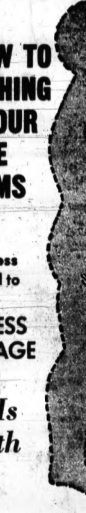

Its estimated population is a little more than one million, but in area Outer Mongolia is nearly three times the size of France.

94 Die in Sudan Fight

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI)—Recent tribal fighting in the western Sudan resulted in 94 persons killed and 80 injured, Interior Minister Ahmed Elmahdi said yesterday. Elmahdi also announced the formation of a government committee to investigate the fighting.

Aunt Wants to Honor This Pair

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: My nephew (my sister's son) was recently married against his parents' wishes. He was married quietly in the bride's home town. Neither my sister nor her husband attended the wedding. After their honeymoon, my nephew and his wife returned to this city to live.

I would like very much to give a party for them and invite relatives and friends to meet his bride. In view of the fact that his parents do not approve of the marriage, would it be proper to send them an invitation to this party?

A: It seems to me that by giving this party at all you will be risking a serious break with your sister and brother-in-law for siding with their son.

Before going ahead with any plans, I would strongly advise your discussing this with her to see how she feels about it. If she does not strongly object, I think giving the party would be a very nice gesture, and of course the parents should be included in the guest list.

Q: I am secretary to the president of our company. When typing his name beneath the space left for his signature on letters, is it necessary to include President after his name or is William J. Brown sufficient since his title appears on our letterheads?

A: Since you say his title appears on your company letterhead, it is not necessary to repeat it after his typewritten name.

However, if your employer prefers that you do so, it would not be wrong to include it.

WHEN WALKING

Q: When walking on the street with a friend and she stops to speak to someone who is a stranger to me, should I walk on or stop with her?

A: If your friend does not introduce you immediately, you should walk on slowly. Chances are that she may have momentarily forgotten the name of the person she has stopped to speak to.

How and when to introduce people seems to puzzle many. The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Introductions," gives helpful information on this subject.

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Conservation Is Unit Topic

Oakland branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, has scheduled its conservation meeting for April 18 in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Charles Fowler.

Dessert will be served at 12:30 p.m. by the cohostess, Mrs. Roger Burgess.

Mrs. A. Marriott Walker will narrate slides titled "Manor Park and Wild Flowers of the Birmingham Area." Big Bear Road, west of Adams Road.

She will be introduced by Mrs. George F. Ward Jr., conservation chairman.

Attending the early Easter morning worship service at Kirk in the Hills is Desiree Caldwell of Peabody Drive. Desiree is the daughter of the Philip Caldwells.

Girl Editor Breaks U. of M. Tradition

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The new editor-in-chief of the University of Michigan's Law Review insists it wasn't an omen when the editor's office was redecorated in pale pink and white.

The new paint job appeared three weeks before Sally Katzen, 23, became the first woman named to hold the top post on the University's quarterly legal journal.

The pretty brunette from Pittsburgh heads a staff of 24 associate and assistant editors to speak to.

She's the first woman ever to be chosen editor-in-chief of the Michigan Law Review in its 65-year history. Willow, brunette Sally Katzen, 23, of Pittsburgh, Pa. is a second-year student in the law school. The U. of M. periodical is frequently cited.

— all men — on what is considered by many lawyers one of the top publications of its kind in the United States.

The journal frequently is cited in litigants' briefs and court decisions.

Sally already has begun to break with tradition by making personal visits to solicit research contributions from the university's law professors.

"I've been told the job will take about 60 hours a week," she said, "but I hope I won't have to give up my social life."

As a second-year law student Sally also will carry a 12-semester hour academic load.

24-HOUR DAY

"They say you're supposed to do about three hours of homework for every hour in class, so maybe I'll just give up sleeping," she laughed.

An honors graduate of Smith College, Sally already has compiled an impressive legal background.

One summer she did legal research for a U.S. Senate sub-

She has been interested in civil rights since her days at Smith, "but not in such a way that I would go out in the streets and march," she said.

She said she hopes to become either a corporation or government lawyer but also expects "to get married and have children — many of them."

"I mean, I am a woman, after all," she said.

Self-Assurance Can Be Developed

CHAPTER 19
Self-education is what you might call the finishing school of life. Language courses, lectures, good books, newspapers, magazines, all play their part in rounding you out to the fullest.

When you know what you're really good at something, be it tennis or tap dancing, your self-confidence and poise grow by leaps and bounds. Analyze your own talents and develop one or more to make it expert status.

Cultivate self-control. You may think you're being wild and fiery and interesting when you scream, yell and lose your temper, but you're really being just plain rude.

Spillfire tactics just don't get results; a cool, ladylike bearing is more likely to do that for you.

SPEAK WELL

The ability to speak well is one of the most valuable personal assets anyone can possess. You can have silky blonde hair and gorgeous blue eyes, but if your voice comes out in a fun-

There is no local Mrs. America sponsoring organization in Michigan. Wasn't Much of a Relationship

No Nightcaps, No Dates

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been a faithful reader of yours for many years. Our changing moral code has me stumped!

I went out with a fellow I liked a lot, and after a movie he asked me up to his apartment for a nightcap. I considered the late hour and the fact that I did not know him too well, (second date) so I refused politely.

He seemed to understand but he never called me again. Now I'm wondering if I did the right thing in refusing his invitation.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I think you did right. If it was only a nightcap he wanted, he could have obtained one with you publicly. And judging from the way he faded, 'twasn't.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have been married for 10 months. My husband is 20, and in the navy. He has been overseas for nine months and three days.

When I first learned I was pregnant I was thrilled and told everyone. The baby is now overdue, and my mother-in-law told me she is giving me just one more week to have the baby, and if it isn't here, she'll know it's not her son's, and she will have my marriage annulled. I am very hurt and upset.

about this, Abby, because the baby couldn't possibly be anyone else's but my husband's, and that kind of talk is ruining my reputation. How can I prove to my mother-in-law that she is wrong about me?

And if I can't prove it, what can I do?

DEAR HURT: As long as YOU know the baby couldn't possibly be anyone else's but your husband's, ignore the accusations and hold your head high.

The gestation period is normally 280 days, but women have been known to miscalculate, thereby making the "due" date as much as 30 days off. (Both early and late.)

As your eye travels only to sympathetic faces you can't help but relax. Concentrate on what you have to say, think about it so that it makes sense.

Your voice is just as revealing as your appearance. Think of the impression you'd give to a stranger over the telephone if you chewed gum in his ear, screamed that he had the wrong number and slammed down the receiver.

He'd never know that you looked just like Natalie Wood; his impression of you would be Utter Awful.

Stimulating This Child Is Not Bribery

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Though our two granddaughters are both excellent readers, the 7-year-old brother reads so poorly that I recently started paying him dimes for every story he reads out loud to me.

I already see an improvement in his reading interest. He now scans my shelf of children's books before he chooses one where he used to pick the thinnest one he could find. However, his grandfather says I may be doing the wrong thing. What do you think?

Answer: I think what you're doing is splendid.

I expect that your husband objects to it because he regards your paying of dimes to the boy as "bribery." Well, if we follow that view to its logical end, we'd also have to see "bribery" in farmers' fertilizing the roots of young trees, wouldn't we? Because the farmer uses the fertilizer for exactly the same purpose you're using dimes—to stimulate growth.

Somewhere I've previously remarked that "bribery" is the purchase of wrong action from somebody else. So I can see no bribery at all in what you're doing, inasmuch as reading your stories isn't immoral action by your grandson.

All I can see is a concerned and resourceful grandmother's use of a child's interest in the dimes which buy 10-cent toys and ice cream to fertilize and enlarge that interest to include interest in reading. That's nourishment to me, not bribery.

Of course, the dimes aren't real fertilizer. The real one is your pleasure in the stories your grandson reads to you. Your pleasure in them has stimulated his pleasure in them so that he's begun to enjoy himself, not just as a giver of delight to you but as a giver of delight to himself. That's why he now selects the stories you share more carefully.

He wants to increase this mutual delight you both find in them by choosing the most promising stories he can find.

Readers of this column don't really have to write to me to ask me if some action they are taking toward a child is "wrong" or "right."

You yourselves can judge the worth of actions you take toward children by the spirit they express. This is the standard of judgment Jesus gave us when he said, "It is the spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing." Among other things Jesus was a poet and talked in symbolic language.

If, understanding him as a poet, we ponder this wonderful statement, we can find ourselves substituting the word "expression" for the word "flesh"—and so arrive at the real meaning:

"It is the spirit that matters: its expression in action matters not one bit."

Instant You With Help and Hair Do

If your nose seems overly large, you can easily camouflage its prominence, says beauty authority Max Factor, with the proper coiffure and make-up application.

Study your face from every angle and plan a coiffure that will assist in balancing the appearance of this feature. Refrain from wearing your hair piled high on the back of your head, or from wearing bangs low on the forehead so the size of the nose will not be emphasized.

BLENDING
Always blend complexion coloring or rouge from the center of the cheeks out toward the hairline. When color is brought close to the sides of the nose, it points up its width and size.

Make sure to pluck your eyebrows at least a quarter of an inch wider apart than the distance between your eyes, for brows that are close together create a masculine look and add length to the nose. Then, with eyebrow make-up, taper them out toward the temples in a soft, natural arch.

Another way to make the nose appear shorter, is to apply a slightly darker foundation make-up shade directly under its tip—thus creating a natural-looking shadow.

Use this same shade to diminish the width by shading along the nose sides and softly blending the color into your regular make-up. Concentrating eye shadow toward the outer half of each eyelid, and wearing lipstick in a slightly wider pattern, will also assist in minimizing the size of the nose.

Don't Dole Out Allowance

Offer Youngsters 'Pay'

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Y-444: Harry W., aged 14, is late at his parents. "They give me only $2 per week for my allowance," he began. "But all the kids in my block get more than I do."

"So why shouldn't they raise my allowance? They have plenty of money, for my dad makes a big salary."

"Why should they be so stingy with me?"

DR. CRANE succumbed to the "allowance" plan, to be indirectly teaching your child to expect something for nothing.

That is what helps produce the "welfare" or "dole" psychology that has been undermining our pioneer American spirit.

So stop that unwise "allowance" plan at once!

Instead, offer your youngster various pay jobs. For example, a friend of mine uses Scotch tape and tapes a dime on each window sill.

When your child washes that window neatly, the youngster then can pocket the dime.

By this plan, the child begins to learn that money is simply minted human energy. Dimes and quarters are paid for sweat and elbow grease and the sacrifice of play time.

Regardless of how wealthy your parents may be, be sure you teach your child the meaning of money.

And you can't do it with gift or free allowances!

Set up various chores, preferably of the piecework variety, such as that dime-per-window deal I just mentioned. Then your child will not turn on you angrily and accuse you of being stingy.

For he can blame nobody but himself if he lacks money, since you offered him plenty of tasks with price tags thereon.

He will thus have "Ceiling Unlimited."

Instead of $2 per week, Harry could easily have $3 or even $5.

For he could polish his dad's shoes and wash the car, shovel snow or mow the lawn, paint the garage or clean out the basement.

You girls could iron the flat work, wash windows, do the laundry, plus the weekend housecleaning, etc.

Parents, if your child does a creditable job of washing the car, then pay him standard rates.

Do likewise for other tasks. But don't spoil the usual wage scale in the community by drunkenly handing a baby-sitter a $10 bill for a $3 job.

PLAY BALL

Play ball with the prevailing wage scale of your community or you will spoil the incentive and promote insurance among the children of other families in your neighborhood.

Urges your boys to carry a newspaper route, even if you are a millionaire parent, for a child can ONLY gain business skill by work — not by gift money or allowances!

So send for my booklet, "30 Ways to Earn Spending Money," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover mailing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Says Wives Are Careless About Looks

Often it takes a man other than our own to pinpoint a family problem.

A young executive, hiding behind the cloak of anonymity because he is married, complains that a major problem with wives is their "it doesn't seem to matter any more" attitude. This shows the most, he says, in the morning.

LAST IMPRESSION

Any woman who sends her man off to the office or plant where he will work all day with well-groomed career girls should ask herself "what was his last impression of me?" he says.

If you were wearing a sloppy housecoat with your hair in rollers, it's time to make a change.

A five-minute plan for improving your morning appearance is suggested by Gordon Blair, president of the Society of Make-up Artists in California. He also is a consultant for a cosmetic firm. He says his morning plan can be completed while the coffee is perking.

Follow these steps:

- Comb your hair and tie it with a clean, colorful ribbon or bandeau.
- Wake up your complexion with a skin freshener, stroked over your face and neck. Give special attention to your hairline, around the eyes and nose and all creases and fold-lines.

Smooth on a moisturizing make-up base. Dot it on your cheeks, nose, chin and forehead and spread it evenly with your fingertips. Avoid a sharp line of demarcation between the face and neckline.

Press on a finishing powder with a cotton ball or large, clean powder puff and pat away excess.

Quickly emphasize the most expressive features of your face — your eyebrows. With short, quick hairlike strokes, sketch a graceful arch keeping the highest point directly above the outer side of the iris.

Outline your lips with a dark or medium color lipstick and fill in with a lighter shade for a flattering lipline.

Now add a smile and as the young man said, "Such a send-off can make your husband want to come home that night."

Come, Gum

To remove bubble gum from children's clothes, sponge with rubbing alcohol and you will be able to pull or scrape it off. Use a dull knife for scraping.

You can play, too...

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

I'm happy to report that the wonderful new foam plastic dress form I told you about is even better than I told you it was. I have had many letters from the lucky gals who have one, and it has eliminated all of their fitting problems.

The closely woven poplin cover is fitted on your own figure, then placed on the foam plastic base. Not only will you have your exact measurements, but your exact contour, curve by curve. The greatest part of all is the soft, flexible shoulders so, for the first time, you can try on completed garments. I'm also happy to tell you that this new product is gradually becoming available in most of the larger cities of the country. Write to me in care of The Pontiac Press if you need more information.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I bought a beautiful printed whipped cream fabric for an over blouse and lining for my new spring suit. Will this fabric be satisfactory for a lining?

Mrs. G. H.

Dear Mrs. G. H.:

Whipped cream fabric is very popular because it is drip-dry. It shouldn't be pressed with a steam iron because it will cause the fabric to stretch. It is usually not under-lined in dresses or blouses. I checked with a local dry cleaner about using it as a lining for a jacket and he advised against it. He said it didn't spot too well and that the steam will cause it to stretch.

If I were you, I wouldn't use it for a lining in a suit, but instead, use it where you can take advantage of the wash and drip-dry qualities.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. Grace Sandefur, Alexandria, La., wins a Tailor Trix pressing board for the following suggestion.

"Take your daughter's old dresses with the natural waistline and gathered skirts and give them the new empire look that is so popular with the girls of all ages."

"Rip the dress at the waist and recut the skirt to an A-line, or any other new style. Cut the bodice off just below the bustline and attach the skirt. It is better to work with a pattern."

"With the new length skirts, the dress will usually still be long enough even though you have set the skirt up onto the bodice at least 3 or 4 inches."

"Most women have put these dresses back in a corner of the closet for years — now is the time to take them out and revamp them for summer."

Organists Slate Event in Downtown Pontiac

Spring meeting for the Pontiac Area Hammond Organ Society will be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the downtown Pontiac Grinnell Store auditorium.

Mrs. Robert A. Hadley, Birmingham, is chairman for the program of diversified organ and stringed instrument music to be presented by professional and student musicians. Several types of organs will be used by guest organists.

Others on the program will be Virginia Ewen and Chet Racine, banjoists, and members of the Michigan Banjo Club Inc. of Detroit. Fred Peterson, organist and banjoist, will accompany the duo.

The trio will play numbers reminiscent of the days of Lew Dockstader and Bert Williams, internationally known minstrel kings.

Charlene Dunham of Clyde will offer organ selections, along with other guest organists, including Karen Haynes of Farmington.

The meeting, open to the public, is expected to be of interest to guitar and banjo players, as well as organists.

Pretty for Roses

A pedestal urn, the kind with handles on the side, will make a lovely container for a bouquet of cut roses.

The John Hartleys of Teggerdine Road, White Lake Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Ann, to Myron Boloyan, son of the Steve Boloyans of Lakeside Drive, White Lake Township. Her fiancé attended Ferris State College.

Why Grow Old?
by JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. Can bust developing exercise break down the muscles in the chest and make them smaller instead of bigger?

A. No.

Q. Will you please tell me how many calories, if any, there are in vegetable shortening? It is recommended to broil foods, but I don't always do that, so please tell me how many calories there are in shortening.

A. There are about 110 calories to a tablespoon of vegetable shortening.

Q. While doing the abdominal exercises I experienced a little pain. It is not uncomfortable enough now to see a doctor. I probably did too much when just beginning. What could it be?

A. You have probably pulled a ligament. This often happens. Do not exercise until it goes away. Of course if it continues ask your doctor about it.

Q. I hope you will answer these questions by personal letter instead of in the paper. How do you get rid of freckles permanently?

A. You can't. Even if you have dermabrasion, which takes a little from off the very top of the skin, you would probably get them again as soon as you are out in the sun for any prolonged exposure. However, you can wear a sun - masking base which will help. Also you can hide them with makeup. Anyway they are sort of cute. Quite a few famous actresses have them. You didn't give me your address.

Q. How long will it take to lose 10 pounds when one is going to school and must be well-nourished and has only 15 minutes a day to exercise?

A. You did not give me your age, but I guess that you are a teen-ager. You do need to be well-nourished and should not diet strenuously. Just eat less of everything and cut out between-meal snacks or substitute for the high calorie one with fresh fruit. Leave off the very rich desserts and have a couple of small hard candies instead after dinner. You should be satisfied with a 1 1/2-to-2 pound loss a week.

Q. I read that teasing the hair is out, not in, but I see teased hair everywhere. Even women who go to the best beauty salons have teased hair.

A. It is true that a lot of teasing still goes on. Many simple smooth hairdos have a little teasing underneath. However the extreme hairdos of that sort it out — like the beehive. For one thing so many women are wearing extra hair pieces. If a woman has fine hair with little body, mild teasing helps even though it doesn't look like it has been teased.

Are you frightened because your hair is thinning? If so you may want my booklet "Is Your Hair Thinning?" This is the case, send 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it.

C. Carrolls Married in Lake Orion

Clarence Janice Green of Oxford and Clarence Leo Carroll Jr. of Macdonia, Iowa, were wed Saturday in the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lake Orion.

A reception in Fellowship Hall followed the ceremony performed by Elder Robert L. Stapleton of Ann Arbor, for his brother-in-law.

CHIFFON GOWN

Daughter of the John W. Greens, the bride appeared in a gown of white silk chiffon over tulle, styled with French lace panel and fan-shaped train.

She donned an illusion veil and carried white roses on a lace-covered Bible.

Glenda Jo Wineland, Lake Orion, was honor maid, and Phyllis Rife, bridesmaid. Richard Horton carried the rings and Gail Cook was flower girl.

William C. Carroll of Columbia, Mo. stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the senior Mr. and Mrs. Carroll of St. Joseph, Mo.

Larry Truba, Oxford, was groomsmen. Seating some 400 guests were Kerry Horton and Duane Salwedel of Oxford and Otis Spencer of Lakeville.

Mr. Carroll, a graduate student at the University of Missouri, is an alumnus of Graceland College, where his bride was formerly enrolled. They will live in Carson, Iowa.

Teens Love Wild Look

Whether tiger, or pussycat, the teen miss will dig new wild leather shoes.

The Leather Industries of America say the shoes cater to a girl's "categorical" tastes for far-out footwear with jungle-bright color, uninhibited styling and bold leathers.

The shapes: sting-backs and sandals, blunt toes, side or in-step openings. Trimming? Buckles, bows or soft ties.

Suede 'Grab Bag' Smart in Purses

A smooth, sleek look in rich, pliable suede emerged in the Enger Kress "grab bag" line of purses for spring.

Usually, the purses were lined in colorful paisleys, corduroy or delicate floral prints. For evening the grab bag is marked by subdued brilliance and glitter on fine, French imported fabrics.

Child's Allowance Must Fit Own Budget

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: My daughter is 11 years old. I have been giving her 50 cents a week allowance and occasionally extra money. She insists this is much less than her friends get—especially since she has started using 25 cents a week toward a Christmas Club account. How much do you think is right for a girl her age?

And how much should I give our 7-year-old boy? He, too, gets 50 cents a week and uses 25 cents a week towards his Christmas Club account.

Mrs. T. B., Fairport Harbor, Ohio

Dear Mrs. B.: I'm an old-fashioned girl and I still think the time to start training children is when they're old enough to listen to you. With every shiny dime they get when they're barely able to toddle, I think it's a good idea to start preaching the gospel that money can earn money.

It's fine that they have the savings instinct, but I think you should explain that if they put their 25 cents into a regular savings account, their money would earn more money. Everybody loves the very word Christmas, and all the happy expectancy surrounding it. But let's not forget that the idea of Christmas Clubs was a commercial idea, and that most banks pay little or no interest on these accounts.

It was sold to banks all over the country by very enterprising salesmen. It had an emotional appeal to the public, and the banks rendered a service in addition to taking in funds.

There's nothing wrong in this, of course, as long as everybody understands it. Some people will freely admit that they wouldn't go into the bank every week to make a deposit in a regular savings account. But somehow the association of savings with Christmas prompts them to pay a few dollars away without fail.

If this is the way a person thinks and reacts, then I say it's certainly better to have a Christmas Club savings account than no savings account at all.

I think you owe it to these two youngsters to offer them a choice: Do they want their money to earn more money—or do they want a planned arrangement offering little or no growth from their money?

As for the exact amount you give your children, that must be based on income and what the budget will reasonably allow. I have seen statistics on allowances from young people all over the country, and a girl of 11 may receive anything from 25 cents a week to $2. Naturally, your daughter judges her financial status by what her friends are allowed to spend.

But since you handle the money in your family, you alone know what you can afford. Do the best you can, and take a firm stand, keeping in mind that next year she's going to want more.

But as of now, Mrs. B., I think I would readjust those allowances if you can see your way to do it. The basic recipe, remember, is to give the children "Something to spend, something to save." You tell me each child wants to save something out of the 50 cents you give them. This tells me they enjoy spending the other half.

It's only fair to assume that an 11-year-old girl has more expenses than a 7-year-old boy. If you wish to keep your son on his 50 cents a week, I suggest you raise your daughter's allowance to 75 cents or $1.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of wide interest will be answered in her column.)

300-Mile Grape Strike Trek Ends

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Grape strikers who wound up a 300-mile protest march on the steps of California's Capitol Easter Sunday headed home today to plant a boycott of their biggest employer.

The marchers drew cheers from a crowd estimated by newsmen at 8,000 as they trudged up the broad west steps of the building shouting "Viva la huelga" — long live the strike.

Grape workers have been striking vineyards in the San Joaquin Valley's Delano area since Sept. 8. They demand union recognition, improved housing and working conditions and more pay. They now receive $1.10 to $1.25 an hour plus 10 cents a box of grapes. They seek $1.40 an hour and 25 cents a box.

Schenley Industries, second largest employer in the Delano district of the fertile valley south of Sacramento, has recognized the pickers' newly formed independent union, the National Farm Workers Association and agreed to bargain with it after the union launched a boycott of its liquor outlets.

LARGEST EMPLOYER

The largest employer, Di Giorgio Corp., which produces S & W Fine Foods, has offered to hold an election among current workers to determine if they want a union.

Cesar Chavez, union founder, rejected the proposal, saying it would leave the decision to strikebreakers.

When it came his turn to speak during three hours of oratory on the Capitol steps Sunday, Chavez announced a nationwide boycott of Di Giorgio. He said plans are to have about 300 students carry on a boycott in 100 cities this summer. Chavez, who led the 25-day protest march from Delano to Sacramento, failed in his objective of an Easter Sunday meeting with Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the Capitol steps.

Williams Joins Detroit March

DETROIT (UPI)—About 150 persons, including Ex-Gov. G. Mennen Williams, marched 1 1/2 miles here yesterday through the city's Mexican-American community calling for attention to the problem of the U.S. farm workers.

The parade, sponsored by the Ad Hoc Committee for Farm Labor, was calling for broadening of the minimum wage law to cover farm and migrant workers.

The chairman of the ad hoc committee, Fr. James J. Sheehan, said the group hoped to "bring pressure upon the Michigan Legislature for a minimum wage."

He said he considered payment up to $2 per hour as a fair living wage.

He said the group also wants inclusion of farm and migrant workers under the workmen's compensation laws, welfare aid on a uniform state and county basis and adequate educational opportunities for children of migrant workers.

The parade leaders said the group would camp on the Capitol grounds the night of April 21 if legislation granting the demands is not passed by that date.

Teaching Fellows to Eye AFL-CIO Affiliation at 'M'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A group of University of Michigan teaching fellows, asking higher pay and smaller classes, said they would meet today to discuss possible affiliation with the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers.

The fellows, graduate students who teach undergraduate classes while working toward advanced degrees, met Sunday with Allen Smith, U. of M. vice president for academic affairs.

They have asked a $1,200 salary boost, full recognition as faculty members, reduced class sizes and relief from tuition payment.

The school employs about 900 teaching fellows and pays most of them $2,400 a year.

Negro Church Hit by Easter Explosion

NEW BERN, N.C. (AP) — Sheriff Charlie Berry says he has no clues in the dynamiting Saturday night of a small Negro church in the Ernal community, 13 miles north of New Bern.

Easter Sunday services were called off after the explosion at the Cool Spring Chapel Free Will Baptist church.

The sheriff said he had talked with three members of the congregation and they could give him no reason for the dynamiting. He said that there had been no civil rights activity at the church, which was empty at the time of the blast. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Last week's columns wound up with some hands showing the use of the suit preference. We will continue with another hand from "Bid Better, Play Better" that illustrates the use of this valuable but much abused convention.

JACOBY

West opens the three of spades against South's three-no-trump contract. East takes his ace and returns the suit. Declarer's jack loses to West's queen.

West leads back the ten spot and South is in with the king. He leads a diamond. East is back in the lead with the ace of diamonds and has to decide between a club lead and a heart lead.

As you can see, with a club return South makes an over-trump. With a heart return he is down two.

If West had returned the deuce of spades it would have been easy for East to read it as a suit preference request for a club lead. Should the ten spot return be read as a suit preference call for a heart?

Suppose West had started with only four spades. He would have had to play the ten back since otherwise dummy's nine could hold the trick.

On the other hand if West had started with only four spades, South would surely have played of this valuable but much abused convention. Sometimes it is harder to operate against a bad player than

Q—The bidding has been:

What do you do?

A—Bid six spades only. If your partner's two kings are in hearts and clubs, he will probably bid seven spades himself. Remember, your five no-trump bid has guaranteed that your side holds all the aces.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding two hearts your partner bids one spade. You bid two clubs and your partner goes to two spades. What do you do now?

Maine Police Aide Backs Wiretapping

AUGUSTA, Maine (U—) Lt. Millard E. Nickerson Jr., director of criminal investigation for Maine State Police, says he favors a federal law to permit wiretapping.

He made his proposal at a meeting of law enforcement and correction officials with a citizens committee from the State Council on Crime and Delinquency.

It drew a strong dissent from Andrew J. Basinas, director of the State Bureau of Corrections, who said: "I don't think you can say you're going to go out and protect the citizen and then violate his rights."

Helicopter Firm Gets Arms Platform Contract

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U—) A $2.7-million contract has been awarded by the Army to the Bell Helicopter Co. of Fort Worth, Tex., to design and produce a new high-speed weapons platform.

Impressive Athletic Feats

French Star Shows Prowess

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—What happens

when the new wave meets the old west?

Alain Delon,

star of French films, may not have conquered

the frontier, but he won the admiration of his co-workers on

the River." He put on some of the most impressive athletic feats in films since Douglas Fairbanks hung up his buskin.

During the Universal Western

the handsome Frenchman:

Leaped onto a rock and then to his horse; jumped out of a covered wagon onto a horse;

rode a long-horn bull out of a river and onto the bank; performed a slashing sword fight, with a blade passing an inch from his face; faced a charging mass of Texas longhorns;

and managed a number of running mounts, falls and leaps.

BASIC TRAINING

"Some of the set workers wanted to know if we had horses in France," the actor reported.

Delon, who did his basic training in Paris's Bois de Boulogne as well as New York's Central Park, admitted that he never expected his horsemanship to pay off in a Hollywood horse opera.

"I had been a fan of Westerns since I was a boy in France.

Gary Cooper was my favorite,"

he said.

"In those days, I had no thought of being an actor. Even after I became an actor, I never thought I would be cast in a Western because I am French."

NO OBSTACLE

A little thing like that didn't stop Hollywood. Addition of an

caliber would assist the chances of "Texas Across the River" in the European market. Also in the cast: Dean Martin, Rosemary

Marquand.

Delon still meets resistance from Hollywood film makers

because of his accent. That puzzles

"I can't understand it," he mused. "Charles Boyer has a hesitate to cast him as a much more pronounced accent American. Why should I be different than I have. Yet producers don't eliminate against?"

Victor C. Di Stefano of Allen Park, has eight children. He also has a 1A draft classification.

Di Stefano, 34, said his Brooklyn, N.Y., draft board has ordered him to a Detroit induction center April 23. Di Stefano grew up and married in New York City.

A registered nurse at a General Motors Corp. plant in nearby Detroit, Di Stefano said yesterday he may have erred in failing to tell his draft board about the births of his last three children. The youngsters range in age from 2 to 11.

He said he now has brought the board up to date but "You never can tell about draft boards."

Di Stefano's wife, Genevieve, 35, also a nurse, said she has received a letter from the services suggesting she might help out in the need for nurses.

"I'd go into the service with Vic if the government would provide us with a baby sitter for a couple of years," she said.

Grandmother Pays a Surprise Visit

Walter Bearden's mother didn't wear her rabbit costume in making a surprise visit here but, as the son put it: "Man, she surprised us enough as it is. If she'd put that bunny suit it would have been too much."

Mrs. Walter Bearden Sr., 53, of Warren, Mich., arrived in Lancaster, Calif., yesterday, after a flying trip and a 60-mile bus ride. She carried an Easter basket full of candy for her grandson, Doug, 18 months, and had planned to don her rabbit suit before arriving.

"But she couldn't change on the bus like she thought," her son said.

Hamilton-Lynda Rumors Are Denied

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — For the time being at least, there will be only one marriage in the First Family.

Lynda Bird Johnson and movie star George Hamilton are quick to deny any hints that they are engaged. They are happy together however, and having a good "sparkling time," as Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson puts it.

The Johnson's youngest daughter, Luci, 18, and her fiancé, Patrick J. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., seem to be having a great time making plans for their August wedding.

The White House is trying to dampen speculation that Lynda may be heading for the altar soon with Hamilton. He was buttonholed by reporters Easter Sunday as he departed for the movie colony after a weekend at the LBJ Ranch and he said he was "not" engaged.

The handsome actor had a good chance over the weekend to get acquainted with President Johnson and they seemed to get along fine.

IS INTRODUCED

Hamilton went to Episcopal Church services in nearby Fredericksburg with the Johnsons and the President introduced him to old friends in the pioneer German settlement as "George" and "Mr. Hamilton."

Hamilton has been discreet about his relations with the First Family.

They enjoy his company — that's apparent. "I think all rumors are premature," he said in response to suggestions he is seriously courting Lynda, a senior at the University of Texas.

Hamilton told reporters he had a 3A draft deferment since he was 18 because he is the sole support of his mother.

Masters Tournament Has Playoff on Tough Augusta Course

From the Press Box

AUGUSTA, Ga.—"I've finally served a bitch in Arnie's Army and it was quite an experience," said the leather-faced Ben Hogan, who had just completed his third round of the Masters tournament Saturday with a one-over-par 73.

The 218 total put him just two strokes off the pace with Jack Nicklaus and Tommy Jacobs sharing the lead, at 216.

There was a day not too far back when Arnold Palmer was descending of walking down the fairways of such a major tournament as this, surrounded by huge galleries.

Those were days when the ice Mon ruled the golf kingdom of the world. His subjects were loyal from Texas to Scotland.

Saturday, with what was probably the largest gallery ever to follow a twosome through 18 holes of golf, Hogan and Palmer played their first competitive round together.

CROWDED COURSE

There were more than 40,000 golf fans on the Augusta National Golf Course. It didn't look like it from the galleries which normally settle around adjoining greens at Nos. 9 and 18, but they were there, following Arnie and Ben.

Suddenly, from the direction of the 10th green, an earth-shaking roar covered the entire area. It was so loud, that when this writer returned to his home of lodging on Montrose Court, about two miles away, the residents immediately inquired about the tremendous noise.

A spectacular 45-foot chip shot by Palmer dropped into the cup on No. 10 for a birdie and brought a cheer from some 40,000 fans who ringed the green.

There was no clear-cut leader in the tournament at this point, and so every golf fan who served in the galleries of General Hogan of yesteryear and General Palmer of today, realized that for the first time they could join forces to see these two great names of the game together on the same fairway in a major tournament.

The inter-mingled armies had their moments to cheer.

ARNIE IN CONTROL

Palmer controlled the front nine with his 37 while Hogan took 38 strokes. On the back nine, the 33-year old general did played some tremendous shots in taking 35 strokes while Palmer managed 37.

By medal score for the round, Hogan won 73 to 74, and by match score Bantam Ben also would have been a 1-up winner. Asked how he felt being in the midst of Arnie's Army, Hogan opined, after bowing his head to their general next to him, "They're certainly an enthusiastic group. Arnie takes a lot of chances and they keep trying to key him to do something that's almost next to impossible."

Sunday, Hogan switched legs again. He was playing with the admiral of Nicklaus' Navy but the fleet wasn't as big as the army and Hogan slowly sunk out of the picture, finishing with a 77 and a 285 total.

Nicklaus, meanwhile, used all of his long torpedoes yesterday but fell 2 inches short on his last putt to tie Tommy Jacobs and Gay Brewer and force today's playoff round.

Vengeful Red Wings Drub Chicago, 7-0

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, humbled and walked upon by the Chicago Black Hawks all season long, erupted vengefully Sunday to take the favorites' role in their Stanley Cup semifinal playoff series.

After losing to Chicago 11 times during the regular season against one victory and two ties, and dropping the opener of the best-of-seven series, 2-1, the Red Wings hammered the Hawks 7-0 Sunday.

The victory not only squared the series at one game each but had a national television audience wondering how Chicago could have manhandled Detroit throughout the season.

"All I can say is it's a long time coming," said Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel. "We didn't win here all year long and I guess we were due."

NO CONTEST

Hawk Coach Billy Reay said, "It was no contest. We have to forget about this one and think about the next game. They outworked us and outskated us. I guess everything caught up with us at the same time."

The scene now shifts to Detroit where the next two games will be played Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Assuming the Wings, who seldom lose at home, can capture these two contests, they'll return to Chicago next Sunday afternoon. If Detroit fails to wrap it up then, the two teams will go back to Detroit April 19 for what could be the finale in the series.

And Sunday, the Wings gambled and won Sunday.

"I told them to go out there and hit 'em hard," said Abel. "I knew we'd be taking a chance on picking up penalties and falling behind before Chicago's power play."

STATEGY WORKED

"But that was our strategy. We took some good shots at 'em, knocked the starch out of 'em and then the puck rolled our way the rest of the game."

Abel not only gambled on the penalties but he switched his lines around without the benefit of a practice session. Again, the gamble paid off.

"I decided to switch our lines so we could get a different formation against Stan Mikita's line," said Abel. "Then we weren't able to work out because the ice was being painted for color television. We still stuck with the switch because if it didn't pay off early, we could always go back to the old formation."

The new set-up had Norm Ullman, Bruce MacGregor and Paul Henderson facing Chicago's Scooter Line. When Henderson was hurt, Parker MacDonald stepped in.

The maneuvering had little to do with the outcome. The Wings took a 3-0 lead in the first period as Floyd Smith came up with a pair of power goals sandwiched around a goal by Gordie Howe, the old pro.

Andy Bathgate connected on another power play goal in the second period and the Wings held a 4-0 advantage going into the final stanza.

A goal by Dean Prentice at 3:39 of the final period, another power play goal by Bathgate at 5:38 and Bert Marshall's first National Hockey League goal at 6:00 rounded out the scoring.

After that the Wings worked on preserving goalie Roger Crozier's shutout, checking the Hawks to the ice with little merit.

The teams meet again in Toronto Thursday night.

Leafs vs. Canadiens

Small War Brews in NHL Series

MONTREAL (U)—There's a small war brewing between the Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs as their National Hockey League Stanley Cup semifinal series moves to Toronto for game No. 3 Tuesday.

And the Canadiens, holding a comfortable 2-0 edge after sweeping the Leafs at the Forum in the first two games, have germ warfare on their side.

Then it hit their first-string goalie Johnny Bower, who spent the first game at a midtown hotel while Terry Sawchuk filled the nets.

Finally the bug caught up with Manager-Coach Punch Imlach and assistant-King Clancy. Initially, was no "let's Saturday night that he didn't watch either of the first two periods."

When he finally made it to a roadside seat in the third period, it was just in time to see Claude Provost and Bobby Rousseau score the goals that gave Montreal its 2-0 victory.

DIRECT AIM

Clancy ran the Leafs Saturday night and admitted that his pre-game instructions might have had something to do with the rough and tumble struggle that led to 26 penalties.

"I told the team to take direct aim at the opposition," Clancy said. "They did that."

The hitting started early, with referee Bill Friday whistling down 13 penalties in the first period.

Jack Nicklaus Plays Brewer, Tommy Jacobs

Trio Continues Battle for Crown Today in 18-Hole Playoff

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — The heartbeats of 50,000 fans at Augusta National Golf Club couldn't drown out the thud in the huge chest of the "Golden Bear of Columbus," Jack Nicklaus, as his 50-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th green stopped two inches shy of its mark.

The birdie would have earned him his third Masters championship, instead it forced a three-way tie with Gay Brewer, Jr. and Tommy Jacobs, and an 18-hole playoff today.

Actually, the true master of the four tournament days turned out to be the golf course itself which refused to be brought to its knees as the three finalists finished at even par 289, the highest total since 1956 when Jack Burke, Jr. won it with 289.

Only two golfers in the entire four rounds managed to break 70: Nicklaus with his opening round 68 and Paul Harney with a 68 in the second round.

PRESSURE

All three golfers suffered through heartbreaking moments in the pressure-packed final holes.

Brewer, a 34-year-old pro, started his surge on the back nine of Saturday's third round. He finished the front side with a 39 and was six strokes behind the leader at this point.

He bogeyed the 10th hole Saturday, dropped in four straight birdies to catch a bogey on 17 and a birdie on 18 to finish 37-218. Yesterday, he and Arnold Palmer were engaged in a sterling duel.

Brewer birdied 2-68 to go 1-under par and reached the 18th green with the Master's title within five feet of reach. His putt, however, broke near the cup and his first bogey of the day cost him outright possession of the coveted Green Jacket.

As Brewer waited near the scorer's table at No. 18, Jacobs was making his bid. The 31-year-old Californian from Bermuda Dunes went into the third round with a 216 deadlock with Nicklaus.

He fired a 2-under par 70 Saturday and commented afterward, "I'm not really worried, and I don't think the pressure will bother me because I haven't been doing so well this year and no one expects me to win."

He kept his even pace for the first seven holes yesterday and then bogeyed No. 8 after his second shot caught a bunker.

When he three putted the 470-yard 10th hole he fell into the hole behind Brewer who at this point was 1-under.

At the tricky 13th — a 475-yard, par-5 hole — Jacobs hit what he thought was his best shot of the tournament.

"My 5-iron second shot fell short and I found myself in a very awkward position. I took out the sand wedge and put the ball about 2 1/2 feet from the hole."

At No. 15, he sank an 18-foot birdie putt and this put him even again and into today's playoff.

STRATEGY

Nicklaus, the defending champion, was watching the scoreboards like a hawk to help him decide his strategy, and said he learned Brewer had missed his par putt on 18 just before hitting his approach on 17.

His nine-iron shot stopped three feet to the left of the pin and the tournament winning birdie was there for him at the taking.

"The putt looked 75 feet away at this point," said Nicklaus, "but I played it straight away and it broke just slightly to the left."

As he went after his 50-footer on No. 18, Brewer and Jacobs were sitting near the scorer's table.

"I heard a thumping noise while I was reading the green, then I realized it was theirs (Continued on Page D-2, Col. 8.)

camp for a week. Red Kelly was its first victim, and he played the first two games sub-par because of it.

Then it hit their first-string goalie Johnny Bower, who spent the first game at a midtown hotel while Terry Sawchuk filled the nets.

Finally the bug caught up with Manager-Coach Punch Imlach and assistant-King Clancy. Initially, was no "let's Saturday night that he didn't watch either of the first two periods."

When he finally made it to a roadside seat in the third period, it was just in time to see Claude Provost and Bobby Rousseau score the goals that gave Montreal its 2-0 victory.

DIRECT AIM

Clancy ran the Leafs Saturday night and admitted that his pre-game instructions might have had something to do with the rough and tumble struggle that led to 26 penalties.

"I told the team to take direct aim at the opposition," Clancy said. "They did that."

Record Eludes 3 Top Vaulters in Coast Meet

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Attempts by pole vaulters John Pennel, Bob Seagren and Sam Kirk to set world records failed in an open track meet here even though all three vaulters topped 17-1.

Pennel and Seagren — both affiliated with the Southern California Striders — are nationally known vaulters who have previously topped 17 feet.

Kirk, however, had a previous lifetime best of 16-3. He is with the Pasadena Athletic Association.

After the three succeeded at 17-1 Saturday, meet officials at Mt. San Antonio College pushed the bar to 17-4, three-quarters of an inch above the mark held by Fred Hansen.

Pennel came closest, missing only narrowly on his first attempt.

the first player to hit a home run in the new park. Angels' centerfielder Joe Cardenal (center) watches the ball sail over the fence, and at right, Salvador Conso of Burbank, Calif., retrieves the Mays' blast and displayed it proudly for photographers.

Judge Works Overtime

Decision Near in Baseball Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The verdict in Wisconsin's antitrust battle with baseball now is expected to come only hours before the former Milwaukee Braves are scheduled to open in Atlanta Tuesday.

White-haired Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller, who worked from morning until past midnight Easter Sunday preparing his decision, said he did not expect to be ready to announce the ruling until Tuesday morning.

The State of Wisconsin is asking that the Braves be ordered to return immediately to Milwaukee unless and until expansion is assured. Should it win its suit, the verdict could leave the National League wrapped in a legal web of epic complications at the very outset of the season.

The 38-day antitrust trial with more than a million words written into the record, ended last Wednesday with a dramatic offer by the state to drop its demand for the Braves return to the National League would promise Milwaukee an expansion team not this year but next.

COME AND GONE

Rumors of a settlement since have come and gone. Nothing of substance has surfaced.

Baseball Commissioner William Eckert said last week the Wisconsin offer would be studied.

Cranbrook Nine Heads for Home After 2 Losses

Special to The Press

CINCINNATI, O. — Reading High School sent Cranbrook's baseball team heading for home in Bloomfield Hills Saturday after handing the Cranes a pair of 8-4 setbacks.

The twin bill loss wrapped up the Cranbrook spring training jaunt, and the team arrived home yesterday still looking for its first victory of the season. The Cranes dropped six straight in competition with Ohio Valley teams.

Cranbrook took a 4-4 lead in the third inning of the first game, but the winners tallied five in their half of the frame to take a lead they never lost. Roger Cummings picked up a single and double for the Cranes in the opener.

Chuck McCuen delivered a bases-loaded triple and tallied on a sacrifice for the Cranes in the third inning of the second game to take a 4-3 lead, but again the winners regained the upper hand by pushing across three markers in their half of the stanza.

Dodger Duo Not Acting

By the Associated Press combined for 49 victories last year, anxious to make their first start sometime this week.

That became apparent during the weekend when baseball's first $100,000-plus pitching pair, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, in strong bids for opening-week starting assignments with the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

Koufax pitched six innings of no-hit ball, striking out nine and retiring the last 16 men in order, as the Dodgers defeated Cleveland 3-0 Saturday. Then Sunday, Drysdale pitched six innings of shutout ball, allowing just six singles and striking out four in a 6-0 victory over the Indians.

Churchill Statue Is No Pushover

WOODFORD GREEN, England (AP)—Vandals tried Sunday night to overturn the statue of Sir Winston Churchill in the district northeast of London which he represented in Parliament.

Police found a rope tied to the neck of the statue and the ruts where a car had apparently pulled on the rope.

The statue was loosened from its base. The City Council arranged for it to be repaired.

SCILLY ISLES, England (UPI)—The police force in these island resorts of the southwest coast of England has been increased from two to three patrolmen to cope with an expected increase in crime during the summer.

Charge British in Jet Mystery

Soviets Say Britons Confiscated Parts

The British had been scheduled to return salvaged parts of the Yak 25 Saturday but the plan fell through because of the Soviet charge.

The sources said the Soviets refused to accept the parts offered them on the grounds other vital parts were missing.

The aircraft was said to have some unusual equipment not seen in the West before and new electronic navigational aids.

One report that could not be confirmed said the jet had a new antiradar device designed to allow it to evade detection while in flight.

The Soviet-British dispute over the return of the salvaged parts went on again today as the salvage operation continued. Russian officers watched the operation.

The dispute deepened the mystery surrounding the aircraft.

Informed sources said the Western allies considered they gained a major prize when the jet fell into their hands.

Soviet Toughs Invade Church

Gang of Rowdies Jeer Easter Sunday Service

MOSCOW (UPI)—A gang of young toughs invaded one of the holiest churches in all Russia and tried to break up Easter Sunday services, it was learned today.

Westerners who attended the midnight mass said about 25 rowdies, most of them apparently drunk, shouted and hooted through part of the services at Zagorsk, an ancient and revered monastery about 100 miles northeast of Moscow.

At the same time, about 6,000 youths surrounded Moscow's main Russian Orthodox Yelobkovsky Cathedral, and mocked the worshippers.

The rowdism in Zagorsk, in Moscow, reached its peak when clergymen marched out of the church in a traditional midnight search for the body of Christ.

Zagorsk priests, who have had this trouble before, bore the interruption stoically, the Westerners said. The priests talked to the youths, but made no attempt to throw them out. Eventually the toughs quieted down.

Zagorsk is the seat of the Russian patriarchate and the nation's highest theological academy. One of the most sacred sites in Russia, it is the object of frequent pilgrimages.

Witnesses said the youths were a small but noisy part of the congregation, which totaled nearly 4,000, with many other thousands waiting outside to get in.

Among the crowd were foreign diplomats who drove up from Moscow.

By contrast, the Moscow mob scene was larger and noisier, with such painful vignettes as the confrontation of an aged believer and a dozen laughing boys.

"Louts," raged the old Russian, his grey beard shaking.

"God is dead," the boys replied.

NITEROI, Brazil (AP)—There's a great undressing movement under way in this state capital across Guanabara Bay from Rio de Janeiro.

Suffering state employees facing the long, hot summer are collecting signatures for a petition to the state governor asking him to dispense with the traditional coat and necktie for the summer months.

Instead they want to wear open-necked sports shirts to work.

Retiree's Body Found

MONROE (AP)—The body of Dmitri Hritshkin, 72, of Monroe was found Sunday in an abandoned quarry on the northern city limits of Monroe. Sheriff's deputies estimated he had been dead a week to two weeks.

There were no signs of foul play, and Hritshkin, who retired only two weeks ago after 24 years as a railroad laborer, carried $1,340 in his pockets.

Singapore Welcomes Jakarta News

Scion's Will Takes Care of Huge Dog

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. (AP) — Lucius Beebe — newspaperman, railroad historian and bon vivant — remembered his dog handsomely in his $3-million will.

Papers on file today in County courthouse showed that Beebe left a $15,000 trust fund for the care of his huge St. Bernard, T-Bone Tower II.

The bulk of his estate was left in trust, with earnings going to Charles Clegg, his collaborator.

After Clegg's death, that fund is to be distributed among institutions including the Nevada Humane Society, the Denver Public Library and the Museum of the City of New York.

Beebe, scion of a Boston mercantile family, died Feb. 4 at Hillsborough, Calif., following a heart attack. He was 63.

He worked for the New York Herald-Tribune before coming to Virginia City where he and Clegg revived The Territorial Enterprise, a weekly paper for which Mark Twain once wrote.

Urges W. Europe Update Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Franz Joseph Strauss, former West German defense minister, called today for Europe to "take a larger share of the defense burden of the shoulders" of the United States.

"One way to do that would be for Europe to abandon the obsolete and anachronistic form of purely national defense systems," he said in a copyright interview in U.S. News & World Report.

"At the same time Europe should aim, in the long run, to build up a European nuclear potential."

Oxford Township Youth Injured in 2-Car Collision

A 19-year-old youth was hospitalized last night with injuries suffered in a two-car collision at the intersection of Drainer and Pontiac Road in Oxford Township.

Robinson of 1711 Lakeview, Oxford Township, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies he was turning left off Drainer when a car driven by John E. Regan, 18, of 1760 Lakeview, struck him from behind.

Regan said he did not see Robinson turning in time to avoid the accident.

Regan was uninjured.

There were about 914 million ballpoint pens sold last year for more than $100 million, the Writing Institute Manufacturers Institute reports.

Big Deal Is Chewed Over: Hope, Levine Dine at '21'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I caught Bob Hope and Film-Tycoon Joseph E. Levine having a light lunch at 21 (probably about $30, with coffee extra) later Hope and Levine, two advocates of physical fitness, walked all the way to Levine's offices at Embassy Films to discuss a production deal (the distance was half a block, at least).

A titanic collaboration is sure to be announced... Levine, who picked up the check, has got to justify it to his controller.

Hope, who used to be a theater usher in Cleveland, reminded Johnny Meyer, who was once a skating instructor in Cleveland, how as a kid he would somehow sneak into the rink "and then break a window so all the other kids could get in."

"Ohioans are all around me in Hollywood," Hope said. "Jonathan Winter's house is right behind mine. That's like living next to a zoo."

Hope said LBJ's one of the best audiences today. The President has been retelling some of Hope's lines in Washington: "It's good to be back here in Byrdland" and "The President gave up a lot to be here tonight. He could have been home watching a George Hamilton movie."

Great excitement at Arthur the other a.m.: A report that Maureen O'Sullivan had secretly married Henri Sobell, French-born writer and Columbia University student.

Maureen denied it ("I don't think I'll ever marry again") — curiously, her dr. Prudence, 19, said it is true — she, Mia and the other four "love Henri... they're so much in love."

Maureen laughed when she heard Prudence was "confirming" it and said, "I'll wring her neck. Maybe it's just wishful thinking. She's seen us together so much... we've gone dancing... but there are too many problems."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Marilyn Maxwell, at the Beef Box, gave regards from "Sam" Rocky Hudson... Jean-Paul Vigmon & Bridget Baxen said at Voinis they'll marry April 30... Plaky Lee came to NY to star in a show; it was shelved. He was to star at the Latin Quarter; it was struck. He should go to Viet Nam — the war would end.

Singer January Jones, who was to have opened at the Latin (closed by the strike) went instead (as a guest) to the Basin St. opening of Belle Barthe and Michael Allen... Gwen Verdon, ode an elephant at the circus premiere, and boss Henry Ringling North told her: "Better you than me!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Someone mentioned the much-married TV and film star whose closet has everything — dresses, furs, gowns and skeletons.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "The journey of a thousand miles begins with one pace." — Lao Tze.

EARL'S PEARLS: Most women figure gossip is like an old joke — there's always somebody around who hasn't heard it.

Phil Harris, hosting a "Hwood Palace" TV'er, was asked how he liked Dean Martin. "How do I like him?" Phil echoed. "Listen—25 years ago I was him!"... That's Earl, brother.

Chimp's No Chump As 'Mama' Well Knows

Baby's a Real Swinger

POLAND, Ohio (U)—The baby at the Sylvester Mermosh home is different.

Although not yet 3, she is hairy all over.

Other babies walk on the floor. Samantha swings from chair to chair.

When feeling friendly, she bares a set of teeth for formidable they peltly small children.

Mrs. Mermosh takes Samantha out—on a leash.

Samantha, called Sam for short, is a 23-pound chimpanzee.

Born in the Congo, she was 8 months old when Mermosh bought her from a New York pet shop as a surprise gift for his wife, Judy, in February 1964.

"He knew how much I wanted one," Mrs. Mermosh recalled. "On a trip to Florida, I fell in love with Henry, a year-old chimpanzee we saw there. I'm a kook that way."

LIKE A HUMAN

Samantha is being brought up like a human baby, clothes and all.

Mrs. Mermosh had no experience as an animal trainer.

"All I knew," she said, "was that if you don't give the chimp baby love the first year, it will pine away and die." Sam apparently got enough tender, loving care, because she's never had anything worse than a cold, and she'll be 3 in June.

Samantha will grow to 15 pounds and 5 feet tall. She'll acquire the strength of three men.

Chimps reach maturity at 10-12, can live as long as 50, but can't be trusted by humans after they're 6 or 7.

"When she begins chasing me around the apartment, that's when we'll get rid of her," Mrs. Mermosh said.

"Now she's quite docile—and no more destructive than a 2-year-old child."

Big Factory to Provide Pure Water

By Science Service

AZUSA, Calif. — The largest water purification plant using the principle of reverse osmosis will be producing 50,000 gallons of fresh water a day when completed in late 1966.

The plant, to be built for the federal government by the Aerojet-General Corp., will be a step toward construction of plants producing more than one million gallons of pure water a day, at lower cost than plants using other methods of desalination.

Key to the success of the plant will be the use of the reverse osmosis process which provides clean water by separating out pollutants such as bacteria, viruses, chemicals, radioactivity, alkalinity, detergents and scale.

The technique is so simple that it is inexpensive to operate and shows promise of being the cheapest desalination process yet devised, said Bert Keilin, manager of Aerojet's Water resources department here, where the plant will be built, then transferred to Laguna Beach, Calif.

Eventually plants using this process will produce water at the rate of 30 to 60 cents per thousand gallons, he said, compared to the $1 per thousand gallons it costs today with existing equipment.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

Most important factor is that the process can be run at room temperature, eliminating the need for costly equipment to generate heat.

Essentially, this is how the process works: polluted or saline water in a tank is put under pressure which forces the pure water molecules to pass through a special membrane to the other side where they are collected as pure water. The pollutants are left behind.

This is called reverse osmosis—the reverse of a natural phenomenon that occurs in cells of living plants and animals.

WSU Scientists Reveal Anticancer Vaccine

MAKE OVER PAGES

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne State University medical researchers think they may have discovered a way to treat cancer by vaccination.

Results they claim for a four-year program so far include:

- Two cancer patients, earlier given up as hopeless cases, completely freed of their tumors.
- Eight others once considered beyond help still alive, their cancers either halted or growing more slowly.

- Two patients with advanced tumors, their lives believed prolonged by the treatments.

Others among the 20 patients treated showed no improvement, said Dr. Paul L. Wolf, Wayne State professor of pathology and director of experimental pathology at the Detroit Institute of Cancer Research.

Failure in these cases, Dr. Wolf said, probably came because the disease was too far advanced and the patient's body no longer capable of producing cancer-fighting antibodies.

The Wayne group's vaccine he explained, aids the victim's body in producing these antibodies.

Many cancer patients are lost,

Dr. Wolf said, because their bodies don't fight the disease. The body recognizes the malignant cells as part of it, and doesn't react with the chemicals needed to kill them.

The MSU group combines cancerous cells taken from the patient with chemicals obtained from the cells of rabbits. Then the combination is injected into the patient.

His body then recognizes the matter as foreign and produces antibodies to fight it. In the process, Dr. Wolf said, the antibodies may kill or retard the tumor.

The researchers, working with mice and human patients at Northville State Hospital, reported success in fighting cancers of the skin, liver and breast.

Dr. Wolf said that "if this program could be applied on a large scale, I would anticipate a fair degree of success."

Dr. Wolf said his group hoped to run a larger series of tests on cancer patients at Detroit Receiving Hospital, but added its timetable is "quite indefinite."

He said the WSU group is hindered by lack of full-time clinical help, but added it was sending information about the method to doctors and anticancer centers around the nation.

"Maybe within the next several months we can disseminate enough information that some other centers will start doing it," he said. "We'd certainly like to see it expanded."

Respite Is Brief, Now It's Back to Bumpy Weather

The weatherman obligingly withheld his almost daily early April snow flurries forecasts to bring us a pleasant Easter Sunday.

But it's back to the old routine today, with a prediction of rain or light snow.

Mostly cloudy and cool is the outlook for tonight and tomorrow. Lows will be in the 27 to 35 degree range.

Little temperature change with considerable cloudiness is the weather picture for Wednesday.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature reading preceding 8 a.m. was 32. At 1 p.m. the mercury rested on the 50 degree line.

Oil Ship Docks Near Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — One Greek tanker loaded with oil for Rhodesia finally docked at the Mozambique port of Beira today while another headed for South Africa after the British navy diverted her from Beira.

The Joanna V, carrying 18,700 tons of oil, pulled into an off-loading berth at the docks from the anchorage two miles out where she had stayed since last Tuesday, the South African Press Association reported.

The Joanna's agents in Beira said she had docked only to facilitate repairing her propellers. But Beira shipping sources said the tanker would have to unload some of her oil cargo to raise the ship higher in the water for the repairs.

They did not say what might happen to the offloaded oil. The ship's captain, George Vardinoyannis, has said he plans to leave Beira with his oil cargo.

Another tanker, the Manuela, steamed toward Durban after the British navy withdrew the armed boarding party that had diverted the ship and its 16,000 tons of oil from Portuguese Mozambique.

"Surveillance of the Manuela is being maintained by air for the time being," the British Defense Ministry said.

The boarding party seized the tanker about 150 miles southeast of Beira yesterday, acting under a U.N. Security Council resolution authorizing Britain to use force if necessary to block the flow of oil through Beira to the rebellious white minority regime in Rhodesia.

$400,000 Fire Hits Boat Firm

Big Yachts Lost; No Injuries in Bay City

BAY CITY (AP) — Fire leveled Haskins Boat Works here yesterday, causing damages estimated by the owner at over $400,000 and destroying several yachts in winter storage.

No injuries were reported, although escape of the elderly couple who owned the business was described as nearly miraculous.

Witnesses said neighbors swam a narrow slip of water, built a foot-wide bridge of planks and rescued Ben Haskins, 70, and his partially-paralyzed wife, Leona, 68.

Among the boats destroyed was a 60-foot, $100,000 cruiser built for Dr. Harold Druger of Bay City. It was to have been launched next month.

The largest sailing catamaran on the Great Lakes, a 42-footer, was lost.

Haskins, well-known to Great Lakes yachtsmen, was builder of the unlimited hydroplane Miss United States III.

Human Torch Attempt Is Foiled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Police snatched matches away from a 20-year-old student yesterday just in time to stop a possible human torch suicide attempt amid the Easter strollers on the sidewalk in front of the White House.

The youth, Arthur Hilary Zinner of New York City, had doused himself with gasoline, apparently to make himself a flaming sacrifice in protest against the war in Viet Nam. A Secret Service agent and two policemen then subdued him as he attempted to strike a match.

After officers overpowered him, Zinner was taken to St. Elizabeths Hospital, a government mental facility, for observation.

Police said he spoke mostly in incoherent sentences. But they quoted him as saying he had written President Johnson several protest letters about Viet Nam and wanted to dramatize his opposition.

Police and Secret Service agents were alerted to Zinner's attempt by John Lennon, a newsmen for broadcasting station WTOP.

Lennon reported his office was called about 9:30 a.m. by a person who said: "I'm a student visiting. I'm going to burn in front of the White House. If you want any pictures, you'd better get there right away."

Secret Service Agent Radford Jones and two policemen stationed in front of the White House rushed over to Zinner when they saw him approach the northwest entrance.

He had taken two plastic containers of gasoline from a paper bag, and was pouring the fluid over himself.

James grabbed Zinner as the youth tried to strike a match.

In Boston, where Zinner attended Boston University, a roommate described him as a "loner" who believed the United States should get out of Viet Nam.

William Racolin, who shared an apartment with Zinner and another student, said Zinner "was very quiet and didn't associate with very many people." He knew of no organizations Zinner had joined.

Although the sidewalk where the incident occurred was crowded with tourists, many of them here for the annual cherry blossom festival, the White House itself was nearly empty.

President Johnson and his family were vacationing at their Texas ranch and many White House employees were off for Easter.

Blind Puppy Saves Family From Blaze

MIDDLEVILLE (AP) — A blind two-month-old hound pup was credited with saving a Middleville area family from being burned today from flames which destroyed their one-story frame home.

Monks Pledge Violence Until Junta Resigns

Report Loyal Troops Secretly Moved Into Saigon by Premier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military government braced today for more street violence after the Buddhist leadership vowed to keep up demonstrations until the U.S.-backed junta quits.

"Only when our aspirations are met and our demands satisfied will there be no more demonstrations," the country's most powerful monks declared in a joint statement yesterday.

Meanwhile, there were reports that Premier Ky secretly moved crack loyal troops into Saigon under cover of darkness today following the Buddhist declaration.

In the predawn darkness, Ky brought a regiment of the combat-hardened 7th Division into the capital where the Buddhists have set up their "war command" post.

The 7th Division is known as the "coup" division since it has been used in every coup or major power struggle since the days of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

POLITICAL WAR

In militant tones echoing their declarations of political war on the government of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem three years ago, the Buddhists accused the regime of lying, irresponsibility and placing "too many obstacles" in the way of civilian rule.

At a news conference in Saigon, the monks asked the nation to rally behind the "Viet Nam Buddhist Forces," a new anti-government political action organization created by them.

They were asked if a popular civilian government might seek peace with the Communists and order the withdrawal of U.S. forces.

Auto Agency Founder Dies at Age of 50

The president and founder of Spartan Dodge, Paul B. Newman, died yesterday. He was 50.

Newman, who lived at 25648 Filmore, Southfield, was a past president of the Pontiac Automobile Dealers Association.

He founded the Dodge agency in November 1962 at 211 S. Saginaw and moved it last August to the present location at 855 Oakland.

Before this, he had been associated with his brother, Harry L., University of Michigan alumnus, American football star, in a Mercury agency.

Newman was a member of Lodge No. 630, F&AM, the Detroit Consistory and Moslem Shrine. He also held membership in the Probus Club of Detroit and the Pontiac Elks.

Service will be 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at Ira Kaufman Funeral Home, Southfield, with burial in Northwest Hebrew Memorial Park.

Surviving are his wife, Frances; two sons, Henry H. of Oak Park and Robert, at home; and his mother, Mrs. Jennie Newman.

Also surviving besides his brother Harry L. of Franklin is another brother, Herbert of Detroit.

Waterfront Fire - More than $400,000 in big pleasure cruisers and sailing yachts were destroyed in Bay City yesterday as flames swept the Huskins Boat Works. Cause of the fire is unknown.

Waterford Grass Fires Are Early

The brush and grass fire season apparently has begun in Waterford Township — and it came at least a month earlier than last year.

Of the 55 fires Waterford Township firemen responded to last month, 25 were classified as brush and grass.

This compares with one brush and grass fire in February and none the preceding March.

Building fires in the township last month (17) also exceeded the totals for February (14) and March (16).

MINERS ON STRIKE

The miners on strike included about 20,000 in Kentucky, 7,000 in Illinois, 7,000 in the northern West Virginia and eastern Ohio area, and about 6,000 in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Contracts covering the 40,000 miners employed by BCOA member producers serve as a pattern for agreements covering 60,000 other soft coal miners.

Waterford Woman Hit by Auto in City

A Waterford Township woman hit by a car last night on North Perry is reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac Hospital.

Driver of the car, Carl V. Grondison, 22, of 125 Whitmore, said the woman walked suddenly into the street and against the vehicle.

Ammo Shortage Slows U.S. Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The daily U.S. air strikes against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam have been sharply curtailed by a temporary shortage of bombs and other explosives, reliable sources said today.

They attributed the curtailment to a logistic problem — presumably a backlog in shipping — and said they expected the shortage to be overcome shortly.

The slackening in the attacks was reflected in the 300 missions of all sorts reported in the south Sunday by a U.S. Air Force spokesman. Normally, American planes have been flying 450 to 500 missions.

American sources insisted the curtailment had no connection with the political unrest in Saigon.

U.S. Defense Department officials recently disclosed that ammunition is being fired at the Communists at a higher rate than in any previous year. In February, for example, the tonnage of bombs dropped on the Communists exceeded the Korean war level.

Because of the tremendous expenditure of ammunition, officials said it was probably costing more to kill one enemy soldier than before but did not offer any figures.

They said bombs are being dropped on Viet Cong targets in the south and Communist targets in the north at the rate of 1.8 million a year. The yearly rate for small arms fired from planes and helicopters was put at 88.8 million rounds.

U.S. jets continued to pound North Viet Nam with their usual intensity Sunday.

The pilots of Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs reported destroying 12 buildings at the No. 6 supply area 72 miles north of Dien Bien Phu and the Len Khi supply zone 50 miles south of Vinh, cutting the approaches to two highway bridges 20 miles north of the 17th Parallel and cratering two key roads 80 miles southwest of Hanoi.

NOT ANTI-USA.

The Buddhist leaders denied they were anti-American or responsible for the attacks on individual Americans by rioting, Buddhist-led youths in Saigon last week.

"The monks involved were just letting off steam," they said. "We abide by nonviolence."

They accused the Ky government of despoiling "the democratic spirit in Viet Nam" by promising elections no earlier than next year.

HONOLULU MEETING

The Buddhists said the pacification and reconstruction programs warmly endorsed by President Johnson at his Honolulu meeting with Ky in February could move ahead only "with strong provincial and central governments."

"We can get this with general elections, the elections we have demanded for three years," they said. "In these years we can make the whole country stable and prevent open

Ship Carrying Oil for Rhodesia Docks

Rhodesia presumably could still get the oil but it would take longer.

The government charged that the Viet Cong had been instructed by the National Liberation Front's Central Committee to take advantage of the unrest.

A government intelligence source was quoted by the official Viet Nam Press as saying that on March 12 the committee ordered Viet Cong agents to emphasize political agitation "by instigating the population to topple the government."

So far the South Africans have avoided committing themselves too firmly to helping Prime Minister Ian Smith's rebel regime because they feared retaliation.

The South Africans and the Rhodesians consider the road and rail supply line a temporary measure.

Rhodesia has been counting on shipments through Beira, about 100 miles from the border, to beat the embargo.

Hospital Discrimination Is Probed in the South

City Commission to Hold Organizational Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission tonight will hold its organizational meeting to elect a mayor and mayor pro tem.

The oath of office also will be given to two commissioners re-elected April 4, and to another winner named to his first term.

The 8 p.m. swearing-in ceremony will precede the regular commission meeting.

Commissioners William E. Roberts and David F. Breck were retained in office, while William Saunders was elected to the seat left vacant by the retirement of William Bursum.

The seven-member commission will elect the mayor and mayor pro tem from within its own ranks.

PRESENT OFFICERS

Robert W. Page is presently mayor and Roberts is mayor pro tem.

Four public hearings are scheduled to follow the organization of the commission. Three of the projects involve the route of the ring road around the central business district.

The other is on a proposed increase in taxicab rates.

Hearings of necessity will be held on the widening of Forest from Woodward to Hunter and of Chester from Maple to Willis. The third peripheral road hearing is for improvements on Oakland.

NO DETAILED PLANS

No detailed plans or estimates of costs have been prepared for the three projects.

Individual assessments would be computed after estimates of construction costs were determined.

Also on the agenda is a proposal to establish an historical museum in the city, and a recommendation to construct an in-door police pistol range on property at the Adams Fire Station.

J. B. McMechan, chairman of the Birmingham Historical Board will present a report on the museum.

He says the city has an opportunity to acquire without cost an old dwelling that could be used for an historical museum, but the city would have to assume the expense of moving it to a new site.

EVELYN WAUGH

Death Claims British Author

Sharp Satire Brought Success as Novelist

LONDON (AP) — Evelyn Waugh, whose pungent satires made him one of Britain's most successful novelists, died Sunday at the country home where he lived the squire's life of unfeigned lampoon.

Waugh, 65, died of an unannounced causes soon after returning from Easter services to his home near Taunton, in western England.

As a writer, Waugh was acclaimed by critics over the world as witty, sophisticated and sometimes brilliant. In private life, he was retiring and avoided publicity. Outside his country home he put up this sign: "No admittance on business."

Born in London, the son of a publisher of modest means, Waugh became fascinated by the social whirl of the British capital. He attended Oxford in the mid-1920s and gained entry into the glittering set he so admired.

SATIRICAL STUDIES

The novels he wrote before World War II were satirical studies of the social set. But many critics claimed that works like "Vile Bodies" in 1930, "Handful of Dust" in 1934 and "Scoop" in 1938 showed that Waugh was really enamored of aristocracy.

Waugh's coverage of Ethiopia as a war correspondent in 1935 resulted in "Scoop," a wildly funny account of a big newspaper which inadvertently sent its nature correspondent to cover the war.

Refunds Go to Gas Users This Week

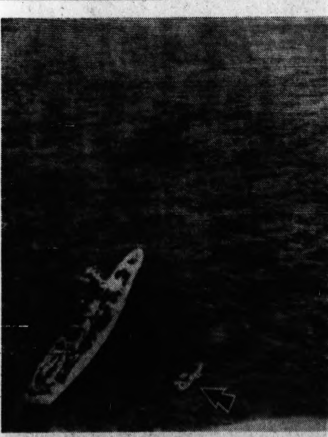

Consumers Power Co. natural gas customers this week will begin getting a share of refunds recently received by Consumers Power from its natural gas suppliers.

The refunds will be in the form of a credit on customers' bills, according to Charles F. Brown, Pontiac district manager.

Gas space heating customers will receive credits averaging about $1.50. Gas customers without space heating will receive credits averaging about 30 cents, Brown said.

Those using gas service during October, November and December 1965 and who were still customers on March 25, 1966, will get the refunds.

Those who changed their company before December will have to apply directly to the company before July 1, to get the refund.

BRITISH DIVERT TANKER — A small boat (arrow) carrying a boarding party leaves the British frigate Berwick to seize the tanker Manuela, which was carrying 15,000 tons of oil to Beira, Portuguese Mozambique, yesterday. The oil was believed destined for Rhodesia, which broke away from Great Britain and is now under United Nations sanction. After the boarding party left the Manuela, it changed course and headed for South Africa.

Districting Bill Up in Senate

LANSING (AP) — One man-off last week. These include so-called noncancelable automobile insurance, liquor in state armories, additional pay for legislators with special duties, and discrimination in college fraternities and sororities. The insurance bill would prohibit cancellation of an auto insurance policy after it has been in effect 55 days, except for specific reasons, such as deliberate misrepresentation by the insured.

The thorny question, tangled by last week's State Supreme Court opinions, is the topic of a House-approved bill sent to the full Senate last week by the municipalities committee.

It would require one man-one vote representation with no more than 13 supervisors in any county except Oakland and Wayne, whose boards would range from 20 to 35.

There has been haggling over such points as size of the boards and composition of the county apportionment body. But the bill is expected to pass, then be worked on by a House-Senate committee which must resolve differences between each chamber's version of the measure.

MOUNTAIN OF WORK
The House and Senate each face a mountain of work in the next two weeks. Nearly 250 items are on the House calendar and more than 100 face the Senate with many more—including the general fund budget—yet to be reported out by spending committees in each chamber.

To meet printing and deadline requirements, the spending committees are expected to offer budget bills by midweek. Gov. George Romney recommended a $944.5 million spending program but his bills were killed two months ago in a technical move.

Near the top of the House calendar are a number of controversial items that were put off last week. These include so-called noncancelable automobile insurance, liquor in state armories, additional pay for legislators with special duties, and discrimination in college fraternities and sororities. The insurance bill would prohibit cancellation of an auto insurance policy after it has been in effect 55 days, except for specific reasons, such as deliberate misrepresentation by the insured.

Salvage Rift Brews

Gutted Liner Is in Tow

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The blackened hulk of the cruise ship Viking Princess, apparently involved in a salvage fight, was somewhere south of Cuba today, being towed toward Jamaica.

The once gleaming white $16-million pleasure craft, which carried 400 passengers on a winter Caribbean cruise, was burned Friday morning in the Windward Passage, between Cuba and Haiti, while sailing to Miami with 400 passengers and crew members.

Two passengers died of heart attacks when the ship was ordered abandoned shortly after a fire and explosion had occurred in the engine room.

After the flames had died, a Liberian freighter, the Navigator, put a line on the abandoned vessel and started towing it toward Jamaica, according to the Navy's Atlantic Fleet Headquarters in Norfolk, Va.

SALVAGE TUG
The Navigator was joined Sunday by the salvage tug Cable out of Key West, Fla., hired by the owners of the Viking Princess.

Salvage rights to the Viking Princess appeared to be in dispute.

and discrimination in college fraternities and sororities. The insurance bill would prohibit cancellation of an auto insurance policy after it has been in effect 55 days, except for specific reasons, such as deliberate misrepresentation by the insured.

To this the House leadership plans to add a state guaranty fund. The fund—40 to be included in an amendment to the bill—would protect against the financial difficulties that could result when an insurance company becomes insolvent.

been in effect 55 days, except for specific reasons, such as deliberate misrepresentation by the insured.

To this the House leadership plans to add a state guaranty fund. The fund—40 to be included in an amendment to the bill—would protect against the financial difficulties that could result when an insurance company becomes insolvent.

Either item by itself could spark a long, heated debate.

WOMEN PAST 21
WITH BLADDER IRRITATION

After 31, common kidney or bladder irritation affects twice as many women as men and may make your life miserable. It is caused by bacteria in the bladder, which may be caused by a urinary tract infection, but only one-third of the women who suffer from it know it. In such irritation, CYTETRAX is the only drug that relieves the burning, itching, and stinging. It is a powerful antibiotic that kills the bacteria in the bladder, and it is safe for all women. CYTETRAX is available at all drug stores. For better fast relief, take CYTETRAX at 4 o'clock. For better fast relief, take CYTETRAX at 4 o'clock.

Quakers Send Aid to Cong via Canada

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of Quakers, rebuffed when they tried to send medical supplies directly to the Viet Cong, circumvented a post office ruling and finally sent the packages through Canada.

The Quakers, about 75 in number were turned away by New York Post Office officials Saturday as they attempted to mail the supplies to the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese.

Air Crash Kills 12 in Mexico

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico (AP) — Mexican authorities began investigating today a plane crash that took 12 lives here from Tucson, Ariz.

The twin-engine craft, a Beechcraft D18, had landed at Nogales for refueling and to return Mexican tourist cards to the Mexican immigration agency.

Airport immigration officer Angel Cortez said he had just received the cards from the victims, which included five members of one family and three of another, when the plane attempted to take off.

He said it reached an altitude of 100 feet, flipped and fell to earth. The gas tank exploded on impact.

The pilot of the plane, James H. Donald, 47, had taken the victims, which included four members of his family, to Guaymas, Mexico, for the Easter holidays.

Also along in Donald's party was his son's girlfriend, Miss Prision Official Says Antipoverty War to Cut Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the federal prison system believes that as the war on poverty continues the nation should see a lowering of its crime rate in about five years.

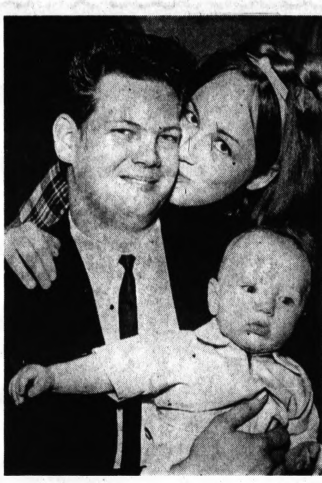

Myrl E. Alexander, head of the Bureau of Prisons, told UPI today that if society did its job properly in the first place the jails and prisons would be empty except for hard-core criminals.

There are signs, however, that the public is beginning to realize that it has to share the responsibility for crime, he said.

"We are starting to point the finger where it belongs — at ourselves," he added.

This changing attitude may lead to an entirely new concept of trying to cut down crime by eliminating "poverty, disease, and ignorance."

ALLOWED TO STAY — Jack Howard, 24, a Warren factory foreman, was granted the right to stay in Michigan yesterday by Gov. Romney. He escaped from a Georgia prison camp in 1963 where he was serving a burglary sentence. He has lived an exemplary life in Michigan since and is shown with his wife, Linda, 21, and 5-month-old son, Scott. Romney decided Howard could stay in the state on informal parole rather than be extradited.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H® Suppositories or Preparation H® Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H® is sold at all drug counters.

Cannon Report: One Is AWOL

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — The Berrien County Sheriff Department's score today on cannons: One cannon missing, believed stolen.

One long-buried cannon, recovered. The cannon incidents had nothing to do with each other, sheriff's men said.

RESORT OWNER

T. C. Corbett, owner of a resort on U.S. 31 seven miles north of Benton Harbor, reported the disappearance of a four-foot, cast iron cannon from his property.

Corbett valued the cannon at $200 and said it weighed 250 pounds. He used it for decorative purposes.

A group of young men, struggling mightily at times, dragged a two-ton, nine-foot cannon out of the sand of Grand Meridunes west of Stevensville on Lake Michigan.

18-year-old Richard Beginske of St. Joseph Township.

The sheriff's office said no one has put in a claim for the cannon—not even the owner, Mrs. Jens Paasche of Wilmette, Ill. Sheriff's men said Mrs. Paasche told them the cannon had been mounted at her lake front home since it was acquired by her first husband, Col. Trygve Sigeland of the U.S. Army, after World War I.

Aunt Wants to Honor This Pair

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: My nephew (my sister's son) was recently married against his parents' wishes. He was married quietly in the bride's home town. Neither my sister nor her husband attended the wedding. After their honeymoon, my nephew and his wife returned to this city to live.

I would like very much to give a party for them and invite relatives and friends in to meet his bride. In view of the fact that his parents do not approve of the marriage, would it be proper to send them an invitation to this party?

A: It seems to me that by giving this party at all you will be risking a serious break with your sister and brother-in-law for siding with their son.

Before going ahead with any plans, I would strongly advise your discussing this with her to see how she feels about it. If she does not strongly object, I think giving the party would be a very nice gesture, and of course the parents should be included in the guest list.

Q: I am secretary to the president of our company. When typing his name beneath the space left for his signature on letters, is it necessary to include President after his name or is William J. Brown sufficient since his title appears on our letterheads?

A: Since you say his title appears on your company letterheads, it is not necessary to repeat it after his typewritten name.

However, if your employer prefers that you do so, it would not be wrong to include it.

WHEN WALKING

Q: When walking on the street with a friend and she stops to speak to someone who is a stranger to me, should I walk on or stop with her?

A: If your friend does not introduce you immediately, you should walk on slowly. Chances are that she may have momentarily forgotten the name of the person she has stopped to speak to.

How and when to introduce people seems to puzzle many. The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Introductions," gives helpful information on this subject.

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Conservation Is Unit Topic

Oakland branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, has scheduled its conservation meeting for April 18 in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Charles Fowler.

Dessert will be served at 12:30 p.m. by the cohostess, Mrs. Roger Burgess.

Mrs. A. Marriott Walker will narrate slides titled "Manor Park and Wild Flowers of the Birmingham Area." The park is situated south of Big Beaver Road, west of Adams Road.

She will be introduced by Mrs. George F. Ward Jr., conservation chairman.

Attending the early Easter morning worship service at Kirk in the Hills is Desiree Caldwell of Peabody Drive. Desiree is the daughter of the Philip Caldwells.

Girl Editor Breaks U. of M. Tradition

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The new editor-in-chief of the University of Michigan's Law Review insists it wasn't an omen when the editor's office was redecorated in pale pink and white.

The new paint job appeared three weeks before Sally Katzen, 23, became the first woman named to hold the top post on the University's quarterly legal journal.

She's the first woman ever to be chosen editor-in-chief of the Michigan Law Review in its 65-year history. Willow, brunette Sally Katzen, 23, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is a second-year student in the law school. The U. of M. periodical is frequently cited.

— all men — on what is considered by many lawyers one of the top publications of its kind in the United States.

The journal frequently is cited in litigants' briefs and court decisions.

Sally already has begun to break with tradition by making personal visits to solicit research contributions from the university's law professors.

"I've been told the job will take about 60 hours a week," she said, "but I hope I won't have to give up my social life." As a second-year law student Sally also will carry a 12-semester-hour academic load.

24-HOUR DAY

"They say you're supposed to do about three hours of homework for every hour in class, so maybe I'll just give up sleeping," she laughed.

An honors graduate of Smith College, Sally already has compiled an impressive legal background.

One summer she did legal research for a U.S. Senate sub-

The mother of five boys and five girls answers to Wilhelmina or Nickie as well as Mom. Her husband is a grade school principal.

There was unofficial announcement of Mrs. Vreeman's choice Saturday, but at that time Mrs. America Inc. insisted there had been no final selection and said it had not received back Mrs. Vreeman's contract to carry through if chosen Mrs. America. There is no local Mrs. America sponsoring organization in Michigan. The state winner was selected on the basis of photographs and information submitted by contestants and interviews, with final judging by a committee in the sponsor's Chicago office.

Wasn't Much of a Relationship

No Nightcaps, No Dates

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been a faithful reader of yours for many years. Our changing moral code has me stumped!

I went out with a fellow I liked a lot, and after a movie he asked me to his apartment for a nightcap. I considered the late hour and the fact that I did not know him too well, (second date) so I refused politely.

He seemed to understand but he never called me again. Now I'm wondering if I did the right thing in refusing his invitation.

DEAR PUZZLED: I think you did right. If it was only a nightcap he wanted, he could have obtained one with you publicly. And judging from the way he faded, 'twasn't.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have been married for 10 months. My husband is 20, and in the navy. He has been overseas for nine months and three days.

When I first learned I was pregnant I was thrilled and told everyone. The baby is now overdue, and my mother-in-law told me she is giving me just one more week to have the baby, and if it isn't here, she'll know it's not her son's, and she will have my marriage annulled. I am very hurt and upset about this, Abby, because the baby couldn't possibly be anyone else's but my husband's, and that kind of talk is ruining my reputation. How can I prove to my mother-in-law that she is wrong about me?

And if I can't prove it, what can I do?

DEAR HURT: As long as you know the baby couldn't possibly be anyone else's but your husband's, ignore the accusations and hold your head high.

The gestation period is normally 280 days, but women have been known to miscalculate, thereby making the "due" date as much as 30 days off. (Both early and late.)

Troubled? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

JANET AREATHA SAPELAK

Fall vows are planned by Janet Areatha Sapelak, daughter of the Stephen W. Sapelaks of Westbrook Avenue, and Thomas Marshall Amos Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Amos of Roanoke, Va. Both are in graduate study at Michigan State University.

'A New You' by Emily Wilkens

Self-Assurance Can Be Developed

CHAPTER 19
Self-education is what you might call the finishing school of life. Language courses, lectures, good books, newspapers, magazines, all play their part in rounding you out to the fullest.

When you know what you're really good at something, be it tennis or tap dancing, your self-confidence and poise grow by leaps and bounds. Analyze your own talents and develop one or more of them to expert status.

Cultivate self-control. You may think you're being wild and fiery and interesting when you scream, yell and lose your temper, but you're really being just plain rude.

Spitfire tactics just don't get results; a cool, ladylike bearing is more likely to do that for you.

my little squeak, you may find yourself without an audience. All the rules for poise merge with the rules of good conversation.

Speech is communication with other people, having the right words at your command without saying them in the right way to get your point across.

Pleasant speech consists of proper enunciation, an interesting vocabulary and an attractive voice. It's part of the total image you present to the world.

Look directly at people when you talk to them. Conversation is the friendly art of sharing similar beliefs and discovering differences, so don't be afraid to blow off steam and tell the world how you feel about things — it helps you clarify your own thoughts.

Don't parade your private life before strangers. Does it really help your image to tell a new boy you meet at a party that your father just lost his job?

Don't belittle yourself for the sake of a laugh. When you tell people your hair looks like a stringy dish mop, you may find them agreeing with you.

If you run across a word you don't know, look it up in the dictionary. Read the dictionary too.

If you learn just one new word a day, you'll have three hundred and sixty-five words more at your command by the end of the year.

The key to pronunciation is invaluable if you've read a word but have never heard it spoken. The more words you know, the easier it is for you to speak and communicate.

BUTTERFLIES

If you have to address a group of people, you'll probably have stage fright — even hardened professionals admit to it. When you're up on the podium, try to envision yourself in a living room with a small group. Pick out a friendly, interested face and speak to that person. Then pick out another.

As your eye travels only to sympathetic faces, you can't help but relax. Concentrate on what you have to say, think about it so that it makes sense.

Your voice is just as revealing as your appearance. Think of the impression you'd give to a stranger over the telephone if you chewed gum in his ear, screamed that he had the wrong number and slammed down the receiver.

He'd never know that you looked just like Natalie Wood; his impression of you would be Utter Awful.

From the book published by G. P. Putnam's Sons. (C) 1965 by Emily Wilkens. Distributed by King Features Syndicate. Drawing by Erica Perl Merkl.
