BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A catastrophic earthquake struck the minareted city of Skopje at dawn today, toppling tall buildings and homes and possibly killing more than 1,000 people.

Radio Belgrade said there are "thousands of injured," adding it was impossible to say how many were killed but the number "must be very great." The official news agency Tanjug put the estimated death toll over 1,000.

The radio said fires broke out in a technical school and a boys' high school.

Most of the city's population of 270,000 was caught in bed by the thunderous quake. Many ran out of their apartments in night clothes.

Tens of thousands stood in the rubble-filled streets, some weeping, others just staring at their former homes which had collapsed, Tanjug reported.

Skopje parks were turned into collection points for the homeless. All citizens were ordered to stay out of their homes for the next 24 hours as a safety measure.

Tanjug reported that the earthquake's center lay right in the heart of Skopje, the capital of the Province of Macedonia. The downtown section was hardest hit.

The entire province, southeast of Belgrade, was mobilized for relief work. Roads leading to the stricken city were jammed with trucks bringing in supplies and manpower and then turning around to evacuate the injured.

The town of Nis, northeast of Skopje, made space for 1,000 beds for the injured. Doctors were rushed in from all towns in the area.

Belgrade radio described

Skopje as a "great tragic working place."

The water supply was cut off. Yugoslav Army units set up emergency distribution centers. Telephone and telegraph lines were cut and radio provided the only link with the outside world.

Tanjug said it was impossible to estimate the damage and this was borne out by the first refugees each Belgrade from the historic capital of Macedonia.

Nik Says Test Agreement Inspires Total Disarmament

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared today that the agreement on the new nuclear test ban treaty created favorable opportunities to proceed to total disarmament.

He made the statement in answer to questions from correspondents of the government paper Izvestia and Communist party paper Pravda submitted to him in writing. They will be published in the two papers tonight and Saturday morning.

The answers were read to correspondents at a press conference in the Foreign Office shortly after Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman made a declaration in the same spirit at a news conference in the U.S. Embassy.

Harriman, after the statement, went to the Kremlin to talk with Khrushchev about the problem in Laos.

Khrushchev gave him an extremely hearty greeting, grabbing him first by the hand, then by the arms and by the shoulders, clearly to express his delight at seeing Harriman who had had a big hand in negotiating the nuclear test ban treaty signed Thursday night.

Harriman said: "It's damped

The temperature was pleasant in his air-conditioned Kremlin office, but outside the mercury had climbed above 86 degrees.

Present besides Harriman and Khrushchev were Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and the Premier's favorite translator, Viktor Shakhobov.

Before leaving for the Kremlin, Harriman said the test ban treaty

J. EDWARD DAY

Postal Chief Quits to Join a Law Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today accepted the resignation of Postmaster General J. Edward Day and told him he "brought to the position a high degree of management skill and dedication to the public interest."

Day submitted his resignation July 19 to become a partner in charge of the Washington law office of a Chicago firm.

Kennedy wrote Day that he accepted his resignation "with deep regret."

The resignation becomes effective Aug. 9.

Kennedy also told Day he appreciated "the sacrifice that you made when you agreed, in January, 1961, to serve as postmaster general."

Day left a $60,000-a-year position as a West Coast insurance executive to join Kennedy's cabinet.

News that Day had submitted his resignation set off rumors of a possible successor, but White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger insisted today that there has been no decision.

One name mentioned was that of former Democratic Sen. Benjamin A. Smith of Massachusetts.

Cost of Living Rises in June to Record High

.4 Per Cent Increase
Biggest for a Month Since September '62

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs in June rose four-tenths of one per cent to a record high, the Labor Department reported today.

The rise was the highest for a single month since September of last year when an increase of six-tenths of one per cent was recorded.

The June index at 106.6 compared to the 106 base for 1957-58, and is 1.2 per cent above last year.

The figures mean it cost $10.66 to buy in June the same living cost items which could be bought for $10 in the 1957-58 period.

Net spendable earnings of factory production workers also rose in June to a record figure.

For the average factory worker with three dependents take-home pay after federal income taxes and Social Security tax deductions, advanced by over 90 cents to a record $38.37 a week.

The living cost increase cut into what the department calls "real earnings" but real earnings nevertheless set a new high.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner for prices and living conditions in the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the June increase was due primarily to higher prices for food, housing and medical care.

In addition, sales taxes were increased in several cities.

Sharply higher sugar prices were a major cause of an advance in average food prices in June. Sugar prices rose by 32 per cent and were 44 per cent above a year earlier.

Detroit Water in Homes Aug. 9

Pontiac city officials said today that the hook up with the Detroit water system will be made on schedule, but homeowners won't actually receive the water until Aug. 9.

Residents face two more weeks under the sprinkling ban.

The city is slated to plug into the Detroit water system next Friday, but a week of tests must be carried out before homeowners will get a drink of Motor City water.

The first Detroit water will be pumped into the city's transmission mains and tank. It will be isolated from the distribution system that carries it to homes.

John F. Reineck, city administrative assistant, disclosed that a meeting yesterday with Detroit water officials revealed "no anticipated hold up" in construction.

Work on the Pontiac and Detroit systems is being rushed to completion, he said.

Reineck reported that all new mains have been completed and pressure testing will be finished today.

Although Detroit water will be pumped into Pontiac's new system by the target date, homeowners won't receive that water until Reineck reported that the water for the fourth consecutive week, although he expected it to be lifted with the arrival of Detroit water, Aug. 9.

The weatherman predicts sunshine and showers for Pontiac area residents over the weekend.

To Join Detroit Pipes With Bloomfield Twp.

Contractors' bids to pipe Detroit water into Bloomfield Township will be opened Aug. 5 and 8, with construction scheduled to begin in mid-October, the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) announced today.

DPW engineers estimate it will cost $2.26 million and take seven months to lay the 23 miles of transmission mains.

The project has been split roughly in half for bidding purposes because it is too big for a single contractor to tackle.

DPW Director R. J. Alexander said.

Bloomfield Township presently provides water to 3,000 customers from community wells.

An additional 7,000 homes in the township are served by private wells.

The township's internal water system of laterals would have to be extended to provide them and any new homes in the future with Detroit water.

This could be done at some future date by petition of the property owners involved.

James Scott, director of the United States Water Supply System 2, completed its first communications satellite, and scientists announced within two hours it had completed its first successful transmission.

The satellite, designed for telephone, telegraph and facsimile transmissions, was hurled into an orbit 140 miles high at 9:30 a.m. Pontiac time.

Scientists planned a series of intricate maneuvers to move it into a "hanging" orbit at 22,300 miles above earth at 3 p.m. this afternoon.

The Federal Space Agency said the satellite also relayed telegraph transmissions.

Woman, 25, Dies After Being Struck by Car

A Fenton man is being held by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for investigation of negligent homicide in the traffic death of a woman at 2 a.m. today in Rose Township.

Mrs. Virginia Markle, 25, of 1012 N. Leroy, Fenton, was pronounced dead at Pontiac General Hospital. Sheriff's deputies said she was struck by a car driven by Duane Douglas, 29, of 104 Walnut.

Sheriff's deputies said the woman was walking in front of 908 N. Millford Road when hit by the northbound auto.

Douglas said he had let Mrs. Markle out of the car and then turned around to pick her up again, according to sheriff's deputies.

Douglas told officers that she was walking along the road's northbound lane as he approached around a curve. Later he told them that the woman was lying in the road as his car approached.

The driver added that he didn't see the woman until it was too late to avoid hitting her, police said.

Detailed Examination

Senate Group to Eye Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., announced today that a Senate defense watchdog group will examine in detail the proposed new agreement with Britain and the Soviet Union for a ban on nuclear weapons testing.

His announcement could mean some delay in apparent administration efforts for quick Senate ratification of the agreement initiated Thursday in Moscow.

Stennis said his seven-member Armed Services subcommittee wants to know "whether this agreement fully protects our national security and whether any risks may be involved in it are truly acceptable."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a member of the investigating panel, previously announced his opposition to the test ban after hearing an explanation by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Promise Effort on Rail Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission promised Congress today that his agency would make every effort to "meet the heavy responsibility" of handling the explosive railroad work rules issue.

With the threat of a nationwide strike postponed for 30 days, ICC Chairman Lawrence K. Walrath told the House Commerce Committee: "Although we do not seek delegation of the task we are prepared to accept the responsibility."

President Kennedy proposed Monday that Congress pass legislation to avert a strike by turning the work rules dispute over to the ICC for two years.

Walrath said the commission "can only say to you that if the Congress approves the legislation we will make every effort to meet the heavy responsibility that this would place in the ICC and will expedite a determination of any rule changes submitted for action."

Railroad unions are critical of the Kennedy formula but management has endorsed it although suggesting some revisions.

The railroad companies Thursday removed the threat of a nationwide strike Tuesday by agreeing to postpone for 30 days until 12:01 a.m. Aug. 25, the imposition of the new work rules which have sparked the furious controversy with the five operating unions who represent 190,000 railroad employees.

Congress members had appealed for the extension, saying they would not be able to pass the legislation in time to beat the previous deadline.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the Senate committee, told reporters he still would like to finish the committee hearings this week but that this might not be possible.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., of the House committee said hearings in that branch definitely would run several days next week.

Charles Luna, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, AFL-CIO, and one of the witnesses listed for today's Senate hearing, denounced Kennedy's proposal in a statement Thursday as "just about the worst possible solution."

Spokesmen for the carriers reiterated to the House committee Thursday their support of the President's plan. They did ask for a number of minor changes.

Detroit Youth Is Drowned in Orion Twp.

Dan Roth, 12, of Detroit, drowned yesterday afternoon in Square Lake, Orion Township, after apparently falling off a plastic raft in five feet of water.

Sheriff's deputies said that Roth's four swimming companions last saw him about 200 feet from shore at 2 p.m. They reported the youth missing about an hour later.

A swimmer, Roth was pulled out to a sandbar by his friends, all of whom live in Detroit. The raft was sighted floating alone shortly after.

The body was recovered at 5:15 p.m. by a team of sheriff's department divers.

The five boys were on an all-day outing at Kelly Park and were swimming from a beach at 1290 Heights.

Fear 9 From State Trapped in Quake

DETROIT (AP) — At least nine Michigan residents today were feared caught in the earthquake which devastated Skopje, Yugoslavia.

Relatives reported that Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Rheubottom of Lansing, in an anthropology research museum, and Mr. and Mrs. Elia Christoff of Detroit, vacationing, were believed to be in the ancient European city today. Five persons from Jackson were also believed to be near the quake area.

There was no confirmation from the torn city on whether any of the Michiganians was caught in the quake.

But Boston University confirmed that the Rheubottoms, as graduate students, were in Skopje, working on a project sponsored by the Ford Foundation under a cultural exchange grant.

80 Break From Prison

Venezuela Hunting Escapees

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Troops and police today hunted 80 Communist terrorists and common criminals who broke out of prison in a wild fight in which 12 persons were reported killed and 51 wounded.

Some of the escaped convicts wore stolen police uniforms. A group so clad held up a filling station at dawn. A wave of hold-ups and robberies was reported all over Caracas.

About 200 of the 816 terrorists and criminals at Reten La Planta prison—in a residential section of Caracas—participated in the break Thursday.

They overpowered 40 guards and poured out of the prison gates and a hole in a wall under construction. Troop reinforcements drove back all but 102. Sixteen building in the city, the Yugoslav Army barracks, being razed along with others.

Tanjug said the new Macedonia Hotel, packed with guests, was leveled and most of the guests were killed. But the eyewitness Alexander Blagojevic, said it appeared to him as he drove to the airport that only part of the hotel was damaged.

He said other hotels and many other buildings were badly damaged or destroyed.

With all telephone lines down, the only communication with the city was by radio.

The first shock hit with shattering force at 5:17 a.m. while most of the inhabitants were asleep. This was followed by a series of lighter quakes.

Blagojevic, a pilot for the Yugo Air Transport Co., told Radio Belgrade that he was dressing in his room at the Hotel Inval, opposite the railroad station, when the quake struck.

"I saw the railroad station go down in front of my eyes," he said. "It was a terrible sight. There was a tremendous jolt and I told my roommate not to move. I thought that was the best thing to do."

"A woman nearby shouted for help. It was a foreign woman tourist whose husband succeeded in escaping to the street. She remained in her room since the best door prevented her from getting out. We helped her out."

"I am afraid there must be a lot of children victims of the quake who could not get out to the street as quickly as the grownups."

About five hours later, two more minor quakes hit as relief workers swarmed through the debris. Tanjug reported.

Medical teams were upped from Nis, Zagreb, Sarajevo, Ljubljana and Mostar as well as from Belgrade. Special road-clearing teams, with heavy equipment such as bulldozers, were sent from Nis, which is north of Skopje.

BLEW UP BRIDGE

Elsewhere in Venezuela, FALN terrorists blew up three major highway bridges. They told newspapers they planned to assault police stations to divert forces hunting the prison escapees.

Authorities said terrorist prisoners overpowered guards at the moon meal and opened cell blocks.

Other guards moved in, shooting and battling prisoners with gun bullets and night sticks.

The convicts gained temporary control, however. About 100 women prisoners ran hysterically through the melee.

Guards and police finally rallied. Their fire pinned down many of the escapees in a creek bed while troops in armored cars cut off escape routes.

SNIPING BEGAN
As troops forced the convicts back inside the prison, snipers opened fire from nearby buildings and some prisoners hurled grenades. Many continued to struggle despite wounds.

Officials said a police inspector and four prisoners were killed. However, witnesses said they saw other bodies, including a passerby and policeman.

A number of bystanders caught in the cross fire were among the wounded.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mayor of Atlanta today urged Congress to enact President Kennedy's proposal to ban racial discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other private businesses open to the public.

The appeal of Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. was the first by a major southern public official favoring the so-called public accommodations act at hearings by the Senate Commerce Committee.

Allen led off a full day of testimony on both sides of the Capitol today on civil rights legislation. South Carolina Gov. Donald S. Russell was scheduled to appear before the Senate group after Allen.

Mayor Allen testified that if the open-facilities act is not enacted, some southern cities which voluntarily banned discrimination might reverse themselves and return to policies of strict segregation.

"We cannot dodge the issue," Allen said. "We cannot look back over our shoulder or turn the clock back to the 1860s."

But Allen said a public accommodations act should contain provisions giving cities and business a "reasonable time" to desegregate before the federal government intervened.

Won't Dismiss Hoffa Charge

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Gray refused today to dismiss an indictment charging that Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa and six other men tried to "fix" a federal court jury.

Overruling several defense motions, Gray held the seven must stand trial on charges of jury tampering.

Only the date for the trial remained to be settled. Hoffa's attorneys also lost on their efforts to have the trial moved to another city because of "slandering newspaper reporting" here and to have each defendant tried separately.

The five-count indictment charges that the seven men attempted to bribe jurors and prospective jurors during Hoffa's nine-year conspiracy trial here last year. That trial ended with the jury deadlocked.

Birmingham Area News

'Static' Point Reached in Civil Defense Efforts

BIRMINGHAM — Civil defense efforts here have reached the "static" point, according to John P. Saeftle, administrative aide to the city manager.

Because Birmingham is a built-up community, there is likely to be little change in this direction, he said.

At present, there are 14 public fallout shelters in Birmingham, nine of which are stocked with emergency provisions.

Rations for two more are on their way, Saeftle noted. When all 14 shelters are stocked, they will have a capacity to hold 2,063 persons or slightly more than 10 per cent of the city's population.

This figure, he said, compares favorably with other cities of a similar size.

Unlike rural areas, Birmingham has little chance to increase the number protected against attack, he noted.

Because of this, the main direction of civil defense efforts nowadays is in the area of public education, he explained.

Classes in fallout shelter management, emergency medical aid and rescue work will be open to the public in the fall.

The Community House, 388 S. Bates, will be closed for four weeks beginning tomorrow.

Closing will permit a general cleanup of the interior of the 10-room, two-story building. Executive Director Robert Bogan said.

The project will include painting, washing, cleaning of drapes and carpeting and minor repairs.

The Community House will open Aug. 26 and begin accepting registrations for the fall semester of its adult education classes the next week, Bogan said.

Mrs. Luke Little of 1474 Inwood Circle, Bloomfield Hills died this morning. Her body is at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Pontiac.

Mrs. Little's husband is owner and operator of the two Ted's Restaurants.

Private service for David P. Huthwaite Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Huthwaite of 327 Southfield Road, was held this morning at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Pontiac. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

The baby was born dead Tuesday.

Surviving besides his parents are a sister, Hollis Ann, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. C. Huthwaite of Pontiac and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kerr of Iion, N. Y.

Cost of Living Rises to New High in June

Meat prices averaged higher because pork prices rose 2.2 per cent as hog marketings declined seasonally.

On the whole, food prices averaged 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago. Restaurant meals were 2.2 per cent higher.

Chase said that the explanation of the living cost rise is primarily in sugar, cigarettes and taxes, although the increase was partly seasonal.

Judge Ziem ruled that his jurisdiction in the case extended only to the question of whether Slay's action was unreasonable or unlawful.

The Pontiac Banks claimed the area was adequately served by the Pontiac State Bank's branch at Miracle Mile Shopping center and Community National's Woodward Avenue office.

Slay and the Bank of the Commonwealth claimed that population figures and estimates show there is a need for more banking service in the area.

Judge Ziem also ruled that Slay did not act unlawfully and unreasonably in determining the area was a village.

The Bloomfield Township Board in 1954 designated an area including the shopping center and the location of the bank branch as the "Village of Miracle Mile."

The action was rescinded in May under a state attorney general's opinion that a township cannot determine boundaries of an unincorporated village.

However, a Supreme Court decision on what constitutes a village left the definition loose. State banking law permits bank branches only in cities incorporated and unincorporated villages.

The Commonwealth branch was open for a few hours May 1 before it was closed by a temporary injunction pending a court decision.

Give Race Warning to Mayor Cavanagh

DETROIT (AP) — For the first time, a threat of political retaliation has emerged from Detroit's racial troubles.

The threat was voiced yesterday by the Rev. Albert Cleage, Negro minister, at a demonstration at the City County building in protest of the fatal shooting of a policeman of a prostitute who slashed him.

Rev. Cleage, a leader of the Negro protesting group, directed his remarks particularly against Mayor P. Cavanagh.

"We put him in office. We can also take him out," Cleage said.

in Suit by 2 Pontiac Banks

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem today dismissed a suit by two Pontiac banks seeking to block the opening of a Detroit bank's branch in Bloomfield Township.

Judge Ziem, in a 21-page written opinion, ruled in favor of the Bank of the Commonwealth and State Banking Commissioner Charles D. Slay.

The ruling rejected contentions by the Pontiac State Bank and the Community National Bank of Pontiac that Slay's approval of the Commonwealth bank branch at Woodward and Square Lake Road was "unlawful and unreasonable."

Judge Ziem said he agreed with the Pontiac banks that there was no "substantial or obvious need" for the branch bank, but that Slay's contrary determination was not unlawful, unreasonable or arbitrary.

"The present banking facilities do sufficiently take care of the banking business of the area," Judge Ziem said. "But, this court is not empowered to substitute its judgment for that of the commissioner."

County Officials Due at Confab

Sixteen Oakland County officials are scheduled to attend the National Association of County Officers annual conference in Denver, Colo., the beginning of next week.

The theme of this year's conference is County Home Rule, a subject of particular interest to officials here at this time.

Other topics to be discussed include welfare planning, highway planning, community facilities planning, and "how education should be attuned to the current worldwide economic struggle known as the Cold War."

Attending will be Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors; Frank Webber, vice chairman; David Levinson, past chairman; and Miss Rita Erickson, board secretary.

Also planning to go are city supervisors: R. Clare Cummings, Pontiac; Curtis Potter and Harry Horton, Royal Oak; Charles B. Edwards Jr., Madison Heights; Thomas O'Donoghue, Ferndale; and David Calhoun, Huntington Woods.

Others slated to attend are township supervisors, John Carey of Springfield and Curtis Hall, Farmington; County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy; Public Works Director R. J. Alexander; Robert Allen, corporation counsel; and George Williams, welfare director.

(767 died) in the first six months of this year. There were 23 per cent more injuries (at this rate there will be 130,000 hurt this year); the accident increase was 12 per cent.

It's impossible to translate cold statistics into blood and tears.

The increase in hard dollar costs to you and me and the state in general will be computed — and added to our insurance rates.

The urgency of the situation was startlingly focused for us by a long Fourth of July toll when 32 persons were killed, one of the worst records in the nation.

When some 130,000 Michigan citizens a year are scarred, crippled, blinded and otherwise mangled — and another 2,000 killed outright — it would seem that the time for action is long overdue.

The safety experts have told us that by certain changes in our laws and by bringing our police patrol to strength, we can make a deep cut in the figures.

Every 24 hours we delay means another crop of unnecessary death and accident statistics.

Why wait until the political climate is right or the State Treasury is bulging with surplus dollars?

There are no politics in death.

And, there never will be enough dollars.

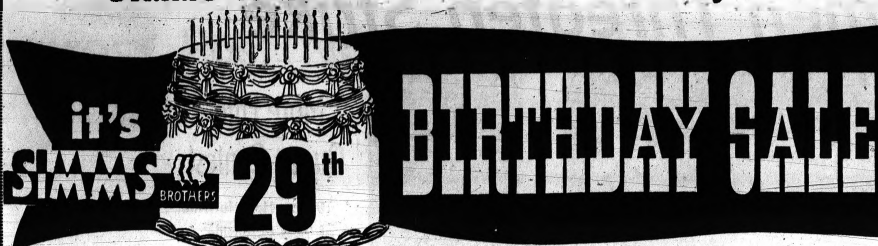

The state can actually save money for itself and its people by having adequate statutes covering the operation of automobiles.

What we need is a special session of the legislature to give us the laws to protect us and our families and friends.

It's as simple as that.

Toad skins, used by Chinese warriors to slant battle wounds as early as 2300 B.C., are now known to contain small amounts of epinephrine. Greatly refined, epinephrine is now used by surgeons to stop bleeding and to stimulate the heart.

Dairymen Threaten Strike

Deal May Stop Market Outlet

MMPA, Wilson Co.
Consider Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — Threats of a "milk strike" were made yesterday as dairy farm leaders discussed a $5-million deal between the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) and the Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy Co.

"The deal will force 360 farmers to join the MMPA or lose their present marketing outlet, according to Glenn Lake, MMPA president.

According to the deal, MMPA will leave the milk bottling and distributing business in northern and western Lower Michigan, if Wilson will buy all of its milk supply from MMPA, said Lake.

"This leaves the 360 shippers (farmers) who are not MMPA members stranded," said Leo Van Boun of Northville, president of the Michigan Independent Livestock and Dairyman, Inc.

"They're forced to join MMPA, and once in, it is almost impossible to get out."

"The Wilson company has sold these farmers to the MMPA," Van Boun said. "They are producers who did not choose to join the MMPA but now they'll join or quit."

CONFLICT OF INTEREST?
Van Boun, a former MMPA member, said he questioned MMPA's being in the retail milk business. He said this was a conflict of interest and the courts would have judged it that way if they had been asked.

Ernest M. Nims of Weberville, chairman of District 6, National Farmers Organization (NFO), declared, "The farmers aren't going to like it. Farmers don't want to join MMPA. What they can do about it, I don't know. I can say though, that there will be a milk strike and soon."

A year ago the NFO urged Midwest farmers to keep their livestock off the market. Nims said farmers now are paid $3 a hundredweight (64 cents a quart) for milk used for manufacturing and about $4 a hundredweight (82 cents a quart) for milk sold in bottles. He said his group proposes $5 for the former and $6.50 for the latter.

Under the plan announced yesterday, in addition to leaving the bottling and distributing business MMPA will acquire Wilson's manufacturing plant at Saranac. Wilson will acquire MMPA's bottling plant at Carson City.

Old Timers Schedule Annual Club Picnic

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Old Timers Club's annual picnic will be held Sunday from noon to 2 p.m. at the Avon Township Park Pavilion on Ludlow.

Coffee will be furnished.

BRIDGE REPAIR STARTED—Workers from the New York Central Railroad began replacing the charred timbers of this wooden bridge on Gunn Road in Oakland Township yesterday. They expected replacement to be complete by today or Monday. The road has been closed between Adams and Orion roads since the July 12 fire caused by sparks from a train passing under the bridge.

DRIVER WALKED AWAY—When driver Gerald Yontz, 25, of Madison Heights, found something wrong with the steering, he curled up "in a ball" on the seat of the cab of this gravel truck as it careened into a tree. He suffered only a cut elbow and leg. The cab was demolished. The accident happened yesterday on Mount Vernon Road south of Inwood, in Washington Township. Here, nearby resident Thomas J. Schullt examines the wreckage.

Murdered Confidence Man Met Stranger Before Death

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — A mysterious meeting at a Detroit bar between Sol C. Brodsky and another man may hold the key to his slaying, Macomb County sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Brodsky, a sometime confidence man and one of the executives of the now defunct Merchants Green Stamps firm, was found shot to death with nine bullets in his body on a re-vault Cadillac Tool, Die and Machine Co. Macomb Township road Wednesday.

The gangland-style slaying plan manager, a note saying came on the heels of a probe by Macomb County officials into crime operations in the area.

Brodsky, who had "hundreds of enemies" because of his slick operations, police said, had a rendezvous with a "tall dark man" at a Detroit bar the night he was killed.

Deputies fixed the time of his slaying at about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday. On a desk pad at the Ar-Jal, Almadist said Brodsky had been seen at the bar with a "tall, dark, dark-haired man, in dark clothes."

Macomb County sheriff's deputies went to Brodsky's wife to check if she knew of anyone answering that description.

"She told them she knew five or six men—friends and associates of her husband—who could fit the description," the sheriff said.

Earlier, Mrs. Brodsky had told police she had received a call from her husband the night of his slaying saying he expected to be home about 10 p.m.

Brodsky had once sold "exclusive" franchises to 40 persons for a special glue developed by an auto company. The firm had never given any franchises.

Almadist also said tire tracks found alongside a rented car found at the scene of Brodsky's slaying would be sent to the state police crime laboratory in Lansing for analysis.

Other than that, a deputy said, "We're checking out all the clues we can get."

Couple Marries in Holly

HOLLY — Juanita Mary Randall and Donald James Mikkelsen spoke their nuptial vows in a recent ceremony at the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. G. H. Hofsoder, 862 S. Broad, and the late Mr. Randall. Mr. and Mrs. Willard Mikkelsen of Janesville, Wis., are parents of the bridegroom.

A wide nylon skirt edged the skirt of the bride's gown, which featured a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of pearls and rhinestones. Pink and white carnations composed her bridal bouquet.

Sharon Kelly of Watervliet was maid of honor, with Linette Sutton of Holly and Mrs. David Lewis of Berrien Springs attending as bridesmaids.

Best man was Richard Souler of Mt. Vernon, Ohio. Lester Osborne, David Lewis and Bruce Kujst, all of Berrien Springs, acted as groomsmen.

Cindy DeWitt of Holly served as flower girl and Dale Smith of Holly as ring bearer.

Veterinarians Told to Report Odd Diseases

LANSING (AP) — Federal and state veterinary officials have asked veterinarians to inform the State Agriculture Department about "any unusual disease conditions" they may find in livestock.

Dr. Asa Winter in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's animal disease eradication branch in Lansing, and Dr. John Quinn, state veterinarian, made the request.

It followed a USDA warning that Cuba may be considering bacteriological warfare against the U.S.

The USDA warning was based on news reports from Miami quoting a Cuban scientist as saying bacteriological warfare research is being conducted at a guarded laboratory in Pinar del Rio province.

State veterinarians received this request from Winter and Quinn. "You are urged to be alert to observe livestock for any unusual disease conditions. Any such condition, particularly those which appear to be vesicular in nature, should be immediately reported to the state veterinarian by telephone."

BOLENS HUSKY 600

THE TRACTOR WITH THE FAST-SWITCH ATTACHMENT SYSTEM...

Never before has so much engineering know-how been poured into a 6-hp tractor. Speed of attachment-change alone puts the HUSKY 600 way out in front of its competition. Bolens engineers call it "the half-minute hitch" and they're being conservative.

Eleven Fast-Switch attachments mean year-round usefulness. Mow with the 42-inch rotary mower shown above. A 22-inch tiller attachment gives you easy, convenient tilling. The 32-inch Sno-Caster makes snow removal a pleasure... or you can use the 42-inch grader blade. These and seven other attachments make the HUSKY 600 an all-season worker.

PLUS:
• All gear transmission with 5 speeds forward and 2 reverse
• One-pedal clutch-and-brake action • 6-position attachment lift • 6-hp Briggs & Stratton engine

Try out the HUSKY 600 for yourself. See us today.

Audience Boos New Opera Form

BAYREUTH, Germany (AP) — Unprecedented boos and catcalls greeted the performance of a modernized version of Richard Wagner's "Die Meistersinger von Nuernberg" last night at the musical festival honoring Wagner.

The audience of 1,800, most of them apparently operatic traditionalists, didn't like the avant garde scenario by Wieland Wagner, the composer's grandson, or the dancing of the sam-ba in Wagner's music.

The younger Wagner was roundly booed whenever he appeared on stage. The catcalls lasted several minutes after the second act.

The performance was conducted by Thomas Schippers, 33-year-old conductor of New York's Metropolitan Opera from Kalamazoo, Mich.

He was applauded after the final curtain, but even then whistles and boos could be heard.

The festival-goers first became restless after the fight scene in the second act of the opera which Wieland Wagner transformed into a domybrook.

More boos came in the third act. The composer's grandson changed the locale from pasture to a market square and had the performers doing the samba and the polka to Richard Wagner's music.

The stage was full of magicians and tricksters and the lovers of traditional Wagner promptly dubbed it "operetta rubbish."

Schippers had adapted the music and this marked the first time he conducted his interpretation. The traditionalists commented that "he had not made full use of some musical themes."

But, in spite of this, there was more applause than whistles for the young American.

Last night's resounding disapproval was the first such incident at Europe's oldest music festival. It took place in the year that marks the 150th anniversary of Richard Wagner's birth.

Beech wood decays rapidly when exposed to air but last well under water. It is used extensively for piling and in the construction of dams.

Hollenberg Ranch, stands on a small knoll not far from Cottonwood Creek two miles northeast of here. The dedication was part of the annual "Hanover Days of '49" celebration which began yesterday and runs through tomorrow.

A bronze marker, presented by the U. S. Department of Interior, was dedicated at the ranch today by Ray H. Mattison, historian of the Omaha Regional Office of the National Park Service.

Hollenberg Ranch, also known as Cottonwood Station, played an important role in the early movement westward in this country. It not only served as a Pony Express station but as a resting place for wagon trains and stage coaches.

The ranch was named for its builder, G. H. Hollenberg, a German immigrant. Hollenberg traveled through Kansas several times in the early 1860's, but when he came to the state in 1867, as a gold miner bound for California, he decided to stay.

BUILDS RANCH

On a small rise, where the Oregon Trail followed the high bluffs on its way to Fort Kearney, Neb., Hollenberg built his ranch.

Hauling timber from the Barrett Saw Mill in Marshall County, he built a house, large enough for himself and his wife, and quarters for a general store, post office and hotel.

Hollenberg Ranch became a familiar stopping place for the thousands who ventured the Oregon Trail westward. The gold rush of the 1850's carried over into the 1860's and history records that some 15,000 people yearly traveled past Hollenberg Ranch.

A long stable below the hill and to the east of the station could house more than 100 head of horses or oxen.

It was not surprising, then, that in the spring of 1860, A. E. Lewis, superintendent of the Eastern Division of the Pony Express, valued Hollenberg and arranged for the ranch to become a station for that colorful mail service.

The first run of the Pony Express was made from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Calif., on April 3, 1860. From then until Oct. 25, 1861, when the first transcontinental telegraph line was completed, Cottonwood Station served as an important link in the Pony Express chain.

REMAINS IMPORTANT

Although its service to the Pony Express terminated in 1861, the ranch remained an important juncture in the long trip to California.

The Holliday Stage Line, which ran from Aichison, Kan., to Sacramento, began in 1861 and the Hollenberg Ranch saw new and added activity.

Until 1869, Cottonwood Station flourished as a resting place for the thousands of pioneers. But devoted to building "his" town, the heroism of the Pony Express in that year, the German immigrant founded the city of Hanten. By an act of the Kansas Legislature in 1941, Hollenberg Ranch became a state park and stands today as a monument to the heroism of the Pony Express riders.

Corvair 700 Club Coupe

The hardest part about parking a Corvair is finding a nickel

That may be a slight overstatement, but such jauntiness comes easily when you're a Corvair owner.

And you can usually back it up—as easily as you can back up a Corvair. You'll find yourself doing that occasionally, if only to adjust the brakes—they're self-adjusting. That's all there is to it, and that's a good example of how delightfully easy Corvair is to own, drive and maintain.

But since we began by talking about driving, let's stick with that awhile. A large factor in the fun of driving a Corvair is the location of its engine in the rear. Why the rear? It gives Corvair extra traction on any road surface. It provides a nearly flat floor for more useable interior space. Best of all, it produces steering so light, so responsive, you wonder why no other American-made car thought of it.

Corvair's engine is also air cooled, we might add, which means there's no antifreeze or water for you to add. Ever.

All that pleasure from something so practical almost makes you think Corvair is unique among American cars. Which isn't surprising, because it is!

Automobile Production at Unprecedented High

We congratulate motordom on going over the all-time production top set in 1955.

The previous record of 7,131 million cars had withstood annual assaults until toppled by 1963-model production which hit 7,140 million units last Wednesday.

By way of a bonus, the industry expects to run off an additional 200,000 assemblies before calling it quits for the 1964 changeover next month.

Particularly gratifying to auto men and public alike is that the sensational 1963 production was not achieved at the expense of dealers becoming overstocked — an unfavorable factor related to the 1955 record which many think contributed to disappointing industry operations for the two years following.

Currently, dealer stocks were never in a healthier condition, with record-breaking sales showing no signs of slackening.

Moreover, since the 1963-model year was a near record-smasher, the industry seems to have laid to rest the old bugaboo that two crack years do not occur back-to-back.

It is a source of pride to Pontiac that our own Pontiac Motor Division was the first maker to top the former mark when it assembled car No. 554,091 earlier in the month.

With the automobile industry indisputably established as the bellwether of the U. S. economy and the predominant position in it enjoyed by Michigan and Pontiac, our economy present and future may well be viewed through rose-colored glasses.

Corporation Near Goal for Industrial Park

With a fine record of finishing what it starts, Pontiac is within goal-line range of the $100,000 needed to implement the Greater Pontiac Industrial Development Corporation.

This organization was formed by interested citizens to acquire and develop a 25-acre industrial park to attract new industries here as well as to facilitate expansion of existing ones.

The development group has options on the property involved which expire Aug. 1. The date coincides with the incorporation requirement that the full amount be pledged if the agency is to function as a corporation and proceed with acquisition of the land.

Interest has been high in this comparatively new industrial concept. Industries, labor unions, and business and professional men have backed their confidence in the project with investment in its stock. The shares are $100 each, and information regarding them may be had by contacting the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

With the City's capital outlay, including the vast urban renewal project, totaling $25 million for civic improvements, its factories humming and the future never brighter, every area resident has a direct or indirect stake in the industrial expansion and occupational opportunities foreshadowed.

We earnestly impress on all the importance of their personal interest in, and financial support of, the GPIDC. This estimable undertaking cannot be allowed to die on the vine because of failure to realize the necessary funds to activate it.

Governors Play Everything Safe

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The state governors played so safe at their Miami conference it would have been no wonder if they went on record in favor of helping old ladies cross the street.

The governors were so anxious to avoid trouble and controversy on any subject they decided against adopting a resolution on anything.

Thus they saved themselves unpleasant explosions. Democrats outnumbered Republicans 3 to 1 and President Kennedy's Democratic administration had already proposed some things the conference wouldn't go on record for.

The governors wound up:

1. Blocking a Republican effort to get the governors to approve strong civil rights action in this country.

2. Blocking an attempt to get the governors to approve Kennedy's medical care program for older people.

The conference did, however, take a very forceful stand approving reports of committees on juvenile delinquency, education for the cold war and civil defense.

On these three subjects, which the hard-core of them a single vote can carry over were unanimous.

KENNEDY TELLS

Wednesday in Washington Kennedy told delegates from the American Legion's "Boy's Nation" — a make-believe federal government — they "showed more initiative in some ways than the governors' conference."

The boys, who divided themselves into federal and nationalist parties in the election they held Wednesday, had strong civil rights planks in their platforms.

Two Republican governors, New York's Nelson A. Rockefeller and Oregon's Mark O. Hatfield, particularly pushed for a strong stand on civil rights. Rockefeller also probably was pushing his own presidential candidacy in 1964.

He announced the Republicans had become "the party of civil rights." This was too much for New Jersey's Democratic Gov. Richard Hughes who chided Rockefeller that his announcement amounted to a "24-hour miracle."

And Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney, also mentioned as a presidential possibility, sniped at the Kennedy administration, which is trying to get action on a civil rights bill.

He said the administration was trying to use the conference to "propagandize" although it was Rockefeller more than anyone who was urging a civil rights endorsement by the conference.

NOT FIERCE

The conference didn't get any more fierce than this kind of give-and-take. But the governors' caution about taking a stand on anything controversial raises a question about their conferences of which this was the 50th.

Why bother having them at all if they won't take a stand for or against the big national issues?

The conference chairman, Washington's Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini, must have figured someone would ask that.

Earlier this year, months before the conference, he said:

"Each governor is independent in his own state and has his own problems. We feel the conference, generally speaking, is more valuable for the exchange of information."

But the governors have become expert at ducking.

Last year they wouldn't take a stand on medical care, either, and when Southern Democrats began filibustering against even a weak civil rights proposal, that was abandoned also.

In 1961 they did, however, adopt a civil rights resolution. It was so watered down that year even the Southern Democrats didn't object. But in 1961 the governors did take a very firm stand in calling for action against communism.

If any governor got any personal benefit out of this year's conference it was probably Rockefeller. He had been in partial political eclipse since his second marriage.

In Miami his strong stand on civil rights got him more prominence and publicity than anyone there. He is asked like a man who hadn't given up hope and will soon begin making a lot of speeches.

David Lawrence Says:

N-Ban Treaty Biggest Delusion

WASHINGTON — The biggest delusion of modern times is contained in the nuclear-test-ban treaty just initiated at Moscow by representatives of the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union.

Formal signing is to come later, and a ratification by the U. S. Senate is necessary before the document can be regarded as in effect for this country.

The agreement, however, does not do what most people probably think it does — reduce the danger of a nuclear war.

Indeed, the impression is mistakenly given that it means the abolition of nuclear war.

This is due to the emphasis that has been placed on the meeting at Moscow and because of the protracted crusade for the test ban which has been carried on in recent years, largely by pacifist groups in various countries.

But the new treaty would not bar the use of any nuclear weapons in war.

It would not bring about a reduction in the existing number of nuclear weapons possessed by any government or limit in any way future production.

It would not bar nations other than the signers from carrying on whatever tests they pleased.

It would not prevent nuclear tests underground.

It would not guarantee against attempts to cheat by conducting tests above the ground. Russia cheated last time and deliberately violated her agreement.

The military advantage to the Soviet Union lies in the fact that the United States is ahead in the kind of weapons that require underground testing, and now the Soviets have gained a free hand to improve their position and catch up with the United States in this field.

Also, the Soviet Union is believed to have gone ahead in certain categories, such as anti-missile-missiles and "terror" weapons, which require atmospheric testing, and the United States cannot now conduct such tests to catch up with the Soviets.

It is argued here in rebuttal, however, that bombs requiring aboveground or underwater testing have been accumulated in sufficient quantity to make such testing less important.

WHY HULLABALOO?

Then why all the hullabaloo about a nuclear-test-ban treaty or "partial ban," as it is more often termed? The answer is to be found in the political domain. The same proposals were made in previous years by the United States but were rejected by the Soviets.

Today, however, for undisclosed reasons, Premier Khrushchev is trying another tack. He suddenly indicated a few weeks ago he was ready for a high-level conference at Moscow on the subject of nuclear testing.

Nobody knows why he shifted tactics, but it is assumed that he needed to make some showing of peaceful intent as to quiet his internal opposition and delude Red China's war scare.

It is conceivable, too, that the military experts of the Soviet Union figured that, if the United States were to discontinue aboveground and underwater testing, this would in some manner halt the nuclear development of the United States in certain categories of weapons and prevent any real superiority from being achieved.

Nuclear war can happen despite the new agreement. Further development of only certain kinds of nuclear weapons will have been deferred for the time being. Meanwhile, the delusion that nuclear war has been somehow banned by the agreement initiated at Moscow this week will gain headway.

Actually, however, the true barrier to the prevention of a nuclear conflict — the power of autocratic governments — isn't likely to be removed by the signing of an agreement with the kind of regime which rules today in the Soviet Union and which is constantly extending its influence by infiltration and subversion in all continents of the world.

Bob Considine Says:

Last of True Sportsmen Battles Sea in Trans-Pac

HONOLULU — "You're a great sportsman," ABC's Howard Cosell said to Floyd Patterson in his corner after the dismal loss to Sonny Liston.

Howard's voice, a wavering link with the endless expanse of the mainland, 2,000 miles away, thus expressed a salute which caused an acre of winces to form among the crew members of the 32 small and even smaller vessels who had just raced here from San Pedro, under sail.

Participants in the 1963 Trans-Pacific Yacht Race braved the open ocean for as many as 17 days with no thought of compensation. A name engraved on a mug they can never own is about all the glory that will come their way.

They stood watches in stormy seas, ran low on provisions in some cases, suffered frustrating breakdowns in equipment, constantly had to worry about hitting this dot or the endless expanse of the Pacific, and never stopped being bounced and beaten by the capricious sea.

Uncomplainingly, they'll separately set sail for home next week, this time without the comfort of knowing that they'll have the "protection" of the Coast Guard cutter which accompanied them on the trip over.

They'll be going "uphill" most of the way back, fighting the Pacific High, which spun them here in counter-clockwise fashion. It will be a longer, slower voyage of as long as a month.

Some will be forced to put in at Seattle for repairs and reprovisioning.

LITTLE NOTICE

Millions of American sports fans who respect valor and skill didn't even know the Trans-Pacific race was held this month. There will be even less notice taken of the more difficult and hazardous long voyage home — not even a name scratched on a trophy if all goes well.

Crew members will quietly go back to their regular jobs: doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief, rich man, poor man and chief cook and bottle washer.

It isn't likely that many of them will ever be called "sportsmen." Yet they symbolize the essence of the word. They are among the last living true amateurs, men who engage with spirit in a rugged sport which can only cost them time and money and which could conceivably claim their lives.

INSPIRING RECORD

The New York Mirror

In 1913 life expectancy was 52 years at birth (compared with 70 today). One out of 10 children died in the first year of life (compared with one in 10 today). When the Rockefeller Foundation was established in that year to promote "the well-being of mankind throughout the world," public health was its chief concern.

Now observing its 50th anniversary, the Rockefeller Foundation has spent more than $700 million for the support of pioneering research along ever-broadening horizons.

The foundation has financed some 16,000 fellowships, enabling promising men and women to improve their professional knowledge and skills. Twenty-eight recipients have won Nobel Prizes for their contributions to human welfare.

That is one measure of the pride and satisfaction the Rockefeller Foundation can take in its first 50 years. It's an inspiring record.

In 1941, Gen. Douglas MacArthur became commander of the U. S. forces in the Philippines.

In 1952, King Farouk of Egypt boarded his royal yacht and sailed into exile.

In 1959, Cuban premier Fidel Castro agreed to return to the premiership.

A thought for today — British playwright George Bernard Shaw said: "The more things a man is ashamed of, the more responsible he is."

Those of cotton candy, or crusty like caramel corn or puffed wheat. This very porous layer is four or five yards thick.

This fact may complicate not only landing on the moon but maintaining life there as well, a quite understandable circumstance. No one would find life easy if sunk in fifteen feet of cotton candy. Though, on the other hand, such a cushion might soften a landing.

Previously, astronauts had concluded that the outer layer of the moon was composed of dust over gravel, not nearly so appealing a picture as the conjured up by Dr. Cudeback. Only one thing disturbs us about the good Doctor's description. We wonder what has happened to the traditional green cheese.

Evidence submitted to it showed that noise is growing there, as apparently it is here, and that it is seriously affecting health. Ask Switch of Holiday to Join March

NEW YORK (AP)—A mattress workers' union has voted to try and change a paid holiday from Columbus Day to Aug. 29 so its members can join the civil rights march to Washington.

The unanimous vote of several hundred members, about half of them white, was taken at a meeting of Local 140, Bedding, Curtain and Drapery Workers Union, AFL-CIO, Thursday.

Alex Sirota, local president, said the contract change would require the consent of employers. He acknowledged the move would cost the employers a day's work since Columbus Day falls on a Saturday, a regular off day. He offered to make up the time if employers request it.
Sirota said the contract change would allow the 2,000 local members to take part in the march without losing a day's pay.

Military to Cut Help to Movies

Will Be More Difficult for Films to Use Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—Motion picture and television producers may find it tougher in the future to get the use of troops, fighting ships, warplanes and military technical advisers in making films.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told a reporter today his office is shaping final details of a directive that will tighten control over cooperation with companies in production of pictures with military themes.

The movie industry has registered objections, and the individual armed services aren't overly happy about the prospect. Changes have been made in the proposed policy to take account of some of the industry and service views, Sylvester said.

DENIES CENSORSHIP
The Pentagon's information and public affairs chief said he anticipates that opponents of the policy will charge attempted censorship. He denied any such aim.

Sylvester contended that when movie and television producers receive the benefit of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of government-owned equipment and military manpower, it is the Pentagon's responsibility to make sure the picture serves the national interest.

"The purpose of the new directive is to enforce a requirement, already on the books, that industry requests for military cooperation be channeled through the Defense Department rather than through the services."

Capital Letter

Pakistan to Join Red China?

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — One of the most conspicuous experts on foreign affairs warned today that Pakistan pools its interests with Red China.

This shocker was uttered by a top-ranking member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

He is highly respected on both sides of the political aisle.

The unusually well-informed, widely traveled legislator is not an alarmist, and for that reason asked that his name be withheld.

As a key legislator, he is now helping to write the foreign aid bill which could be used but is not being used to goad wayward recipients into line with our foreign policy.

The knotty problem of India vs. Pakistan is almost daily occupying the attention of both House and Senate foreign committees, as they seek a means within the foreign aid bill to persuade India to settle the Kashmir dispute with Pakistan, before the latter angrily moves into the enemy camp.

Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, who also sits on the Foreign Relations Committee, says of the problem: "The aid that we're sending to India seems to be accelerating Pakistan's move toward closer ties with Red China; yet I don't know what we can do about it. I am afraid that any positive action to withhold funds until it settles the Kashmir dispute would merely stiffen India's resistance."

Reminding that although trouble-shooter Averell Harriman persuaded the two neighboring which call for more than $100 million of U.S. contributions.

This is frankly aimed at India's Bokaro steel plant, for which the U.S. is asked to provide one billion of the $1.5 billion total.

Broomfield said India has been so cagey about details that "there may not be sufficient minerals there to last out the life of the loan, and although India lacks trained workers to run the plant, it shows no inclination to take outside advice and expertise."

The latest blow to Pakistan is a U.S.-British agreement to help India build up its air defense system and provide jet fighter training exercises, at a cost to us of nearly $10 million.

Says Broomfield: "India leaders have stated categorically that their enemy is Pakistan, not Red China. No wonder Pakistan feels apprehensive at this new build-up, and is thinking of a non-aggression pact with the Reds."

Uncle Sam has a bad habit of taking his friends for granted, while helping those who tweek his nose and play footsie with Russia. Perhaps Pakistan can be still be salvaged for the West, if Congress stiffens the administration's back.

Board Okays Policy-Salary Agreement

A two-year agreement on policy changes and salary schedules for eight skilled maintenance foremen was okayed last night by the Pontiac school board.

The agreement, which will cost the school district an estimated $2,200 over the two-year period, includes a 3 per cent wage hike this year and a 1 per cent increase next year.

The 3 per cent hike will be distributed in wages and allowances. The actual wage increase amounts to about six cents an hour for most classifications.

The balance of the 3 per cent will pay $7 per month on hospitalization premiums.

The 1 per cent increase in 1964-65 will amount to about three cents an hour for the eight skilled foremen.

Policy changes under the agreement include increased gas mileage from eight cents to 10 cent per mile.

School board members also heard a favorable report on a Circuit Court action involving the school district and another group of employees.

MOTION DISMISSED

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business, told the board that Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams dismissed a motion by the United Skilled Maintenance Trades employees (USMTE) for a declaratory judgment and mandatory injunction in connection with a wage dispute.

The USMTE had complained that the board "failed to mediate in good faith."

Judge Adams ruled that the court had no jurisdiction over the subject matter.

In other business, the school board approved a resolution to purchase two parcels of land adjacent to the new Cottage Street Elementary School.

The board will buy the property from Fisher and Co. for $430.

Mrs. Margaret Peters of Southfield was hired as food service coordinator for the school district at an annual salary of $7,000.

Mrs. Peters, whose husband is assistant director of Boys Republic, Farmington, is a graduate of Wayne State University.

Board members heard a report on possible overcrowded conditions at Herrington Elementary School. Previously, the board had expected to change boundary lines around the school, but deferred action until after the 1963 school census.

William J. Lacy, assistant superintendent for instruction and pupil personnel, said the census indicated that a boundary change might not be necessary.

Lacy suggested the board wait until actual enrollment in September. The school board agreed.

Church Prelate Dies at Age 71

SANTA FE, N. M. (UPI)—The most Rev. Edwin V. Byrne, 71, Roman Catholic archbishop of Santa Fe for 20 years, died late last night after gall bladder surgery at St. Vincent Hospital.

A native of Philadelphia and of Irish descent, his archdiocese included 250,000 Catholics in New Mexico and West Texas.

Archbishop Byrne suffered a gall bladder attack Sunday, and entered the hospital Tuesday. He underwent surgery for removal of the gall bladder yesterday, but failed to rally.

News of his illness did not become public until an hour after his death, at 11:02 p.m. (1:02 a.m. Pontiac time).

A man of medium stature with a shock of white hair and a warm smile, Archbishop Byrne bent a lively personality and a gentle mind for two decades to the task of building an area strongly Spanish and Roman Catholic by heritage, but improvised by 20th Century standards.

He spoke fluent Spanish and was revered and held in some awe by Catholics in his archdiocese.

Queen to Visit W. Germany Next Spring?

LONDON (UPI)—Informed court sources said today Queen Elizabeth was virtually certain to pay a state visit to West Germany next spring.

The sources said the date of the visit—the first to West Germany by a British sovereign since before Hitler took power—would be the final week in May.

They said plans to that effect already are being secretly worked out here.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said officially that "as far as we know" there are no plans for such a visit "at present."

But a return call by British royalty for the state visit here by West German President Heinrich Lübke three years ago is long overdue, the sources said.

There are other firm indications pointing to a series of tours by Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip next year which might also include Belgium and Greece.

Woman Forsaken in Life Also Forgotten in Death

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
CHICAGO (UPI)—In five short weeks, life fell apart for Mary Ann Dunlap.

Her husband, Lawrence, a Chicago traffic policeman, died June 20.

A few days later, her father died, and Mrs. Dunlap, 39, made the long trip to Southern Illinois for his funeral.

Then she had what she believed to be a miscarriage. That was especially hard for her because although her husband had four children by a previous marriage they did not have any of their own.

But doctors found that hers was a psychosomatic pregnancy. She really wasn't pregnant.

A week ago Wednesday, Mrs. Dunlap returned to her west side apartment with a newborn baby. She invited the neighbors in to see the child and she told them it was hers.

She treated the infant tenderly and stayed up late that night, caring for it.

BABY KIDNAPED

The next day, FBI agents came to the apartment and arrested Mrs. Dunlap. They said she had kidnaped the 18-day-old daughter of Mrs. Rose Burnham, 19, in downstate Metropolis, Ill.

Mrs. Burnham, whose husband is stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., had told officers that a "well-dressed, well-spoken" stranger with her blonde hair swept into a French twist had come to the home of her parents in Metropolis.

Mrs. Burnham said the woman persuaded her to let her take the Burnhams' young daughter, Lori Ann, to be photographed for winning a "baby of the month" contest.

The young mother said she became slightly alarmed when the woman speeded off, and when she did not return, she called police.

FBI agents traced the woman to Paducah, Ky., and then to Chicago. They charged her with interstate transportation of a kidnap victim.

"I just wanted something to love," Mrs. Dunlap sobbed.

Authorities released her on her own recognition, pending a mental examination, and scheduled a hearing for next Thursday.

Yesterday, Mrs. Dunlap went to a southwest side motel and obtained a room. She scribbled a note which said, "My name is Mary Ann Dunlap. Please get in touch with my lawyer, Mal Coghlan."

SHOT SELF

Then she drew a .22-caliber revolver and shot herself in the abdomen.

A guest saw her arm through the partly open door. She was rushed to Vol Solbrig hospital. She was still conscious.

"It is all built up inside me," she said on the operating table. "I just don't want to live any more." She died.

Her body still was not claimed hours later.

18,298 Arrested in June

LANSING (AP)—State police report they arrested 18,298 persons during June, of which 16,709 were for traffic offenses and 1,589 were criminal complaints. Some 670 juvenile traffic offenders also were apprehended.

Charge Slanting of News Hinders Fair Hoffa Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyers charged today that the Teamsters Union president could not get a fair trial here because "slanted newspaper reporting" had prejudiced public opinion against him.

James E. Haggerty, white-haired Detroit attorney, made the assertion in support of a motion asking that the federal court trial of Hoffa and six codefendants charged with jury tampering be transferred to another city.

"The principle newspapers of this district, namely the Nashville Tennessean and the Nashville Banner, caused to be published selective, one-sided defamatory aspects of the case for no other purpose than to inflame the public against Hoffa," Haggerty said.

ENGINES

QUESTION: How is the diesel different from the gasoline engine?

ANSWER: In our drawing of the gasoline engine you will notice a spark plug in the top. The electric spark coming from this, inside the cylinder, ignites the gasoline vapor and pushes down the piston, making the engine run.

But by 1897 a German engineer, Rudolph Diesel, had invented a simple, economical internal combustion engine which did not use electricity. Our diagram with the black background shows how this kind of engine works.

In position (1), the piston is moving down inside the cylinder. The valve at upper right is open, allowing air to fill the cylinder. In (2), the piston is moving up. Meanwhile the valve has closed, so that the air is being compressed. When confined air is suddenly squeezed, it becomes very hot.

In (3), fuel ignites it and there is an explosion which forces the piston down; this is called the "power stroke." In (4), burned gases are being forced out.

FOR YOU TO DO: See how many tractors or heavy units of road machinery you can count in the course of an automobile ride. These will probably have diesel engines, because diesels burn fuel oil which is cheaper than gasoline, and perform better in large sizes than do gasoline engines.

LAKE OZARKS, Mo. (UPI) — The Dogpatch Amusement Center reported the theft of "three trained fowl." A spokesman for the center listed as missing: "One chicken trained to be a dancer; one chicken, trained to be a ballplayer; and one duck, known as 'denticrillum.'"

The toothpick was in high favor among ancients. Gold and silver picks were widely used by the Romans, who took considerable care of their teeth, brushing them regularly with a substance known as "denticrillum."

Why let cold weather keep you from using part of your home next winter? That hard-to-heat recreation room, enclosed porch, upstairs sitting room or new bedroom can be made cozy with supplemental electric heat, as in the nine rooms above. Completely automatic and easily installed, electric heating units go where you need them, let you dial the exact warmth you want. No strain on your present heating system. No more shivering

... or overheating the whole house just to warm up one room. To find out which type of electric heating equipment—baseboard units, radiant wall panels, forced air heaters, radiant heating cable—is best for your home, call a Qualified Electric Heating Contractor or Detroit Edison. You'll find that a "summer-only" room can be as warm as you want—no matter how cold it is outside!

OU Theater Now in Barn

Some of the corn shucks are still visible in the corners of the old implement barn, back of Oakland University's Science Building. But it's a big, clean-smelling area about 30 by 90 feet.

Furthermore, it's a challenge to Harry Goldstein and the 20 students in his summer theater school.

Last year, the play at the end of the summer session was presented in Oakland Center. This year, the students are working out staging, lighting, scenery and back-stage areas in the barn. There will be dressing rooms upstairs.

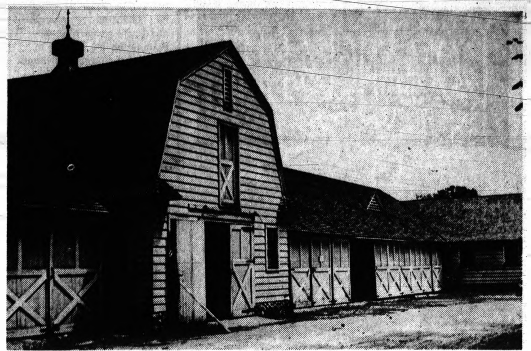

Next Wednesday evening is opening night for "What a Life," a three-act comedy about the irrepressible teenager. Henry Aldrich.

Chosen because it provides light summer entertainment appealing to all ages, the play has parts suitable for both adults and teen-agers.

Henry Aldrich's escapades at Central High School keep students and faculty in an uproar as band instruments are pawned, history tests show suspicious duplication and Henry manages to keep but one jump ahead of probation and his parents, who head the PTA.

The summer theater students double in their acting and stagehand roles. Performances are scheduled nightly through Aug. 3. Tickets are available at the door.

Rick Foxman, Keego Harbor, has the lead role in "What a Life." Other local actors are Lynne Segula, Mary L. Burrell, Beverly Booge and Carole J. Hunt.

This is the barn that students in Oakland University's summer Theater School are converting into a playhouse. Once the implement barn for Meadow Brook Farm, it was cleaned out and turned over to Harry Goldstein, theater school director, and his classes. The first performance, "What a Life," will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Gas-Pump Jockey Irritated by Freeloading Travelers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please give the gas station folks a break and ask the vacationing public to have mercy on us.

They drive up, grab a hose and rinse off their cars. It doesn't bother them that they make a mess for others to walk through.

They want their windshields cleaned, but don't need gas. And they've bought their oil by the case somewhere else.

They even ask to borrow your tools. They pile out in droves to use the restroom. Sometimes they spend half an hour in there — changing clothes. Our regular customers can't get in for the free-loaders.

In a nice clean business like a liquor store, the customer spends more in 30 seconds than he does at a service station for a 500-mile trip.

And the clerk doesn't have to clean windshields, check lighter fluid or anything. The customer doesn't expect a thing except the right change and a paper bag to put the bottle in.

He even gets oiled on his own time and off the premises. Thanks a lot.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs help desperately. I consider myself lucky because I have a nice family and we have everything we need.

My big problem (and please don't laugh) is that I have a mustache. Boys are always telling me I need "a shave."

Even some of my girl friends have tried to tell me in a nice way that I'd be pretty if I got rid of that mustache.

I don't want to shave it off, and I'm afraid to use some of the stuff I see advertised because I've heard it could leave my upper lip rough like a man's beard, or maybe it would leave scars.

DEAR MUSTACHED: You are a very wise young lady to consider so carefully the results before attempting to remove unwanted hair from your face.

Ask your mother to take you to a skin doctor, and let HIM tell you which method is best for you. There are many. Tell your troubles in Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Couple Married on West Coast; Tours California

Rev. Carl Schmitt officiated at the marriage of Margaret Hope Millar to Robert Eugene Duff, Saturday, in Seal Beach, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. David Millar of Mount Clemens and the late Mr. Millar. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. A. H. Duff of Michigan Avenue and the late Mr. Duff.

Mrs. A. A. Breiling of Columbus, Ohio, attended her sister and Wallace G. Moore of Los Angeles was a best man.

After a reception in the Captain's Inn, Seal Beach, the couple left for a honeymoon in northern California. They will live in Long Beach. Both are graduates of Eastern Michigan University.

Action is heated as Henry Aldrich finds himself in a tight spot. Henry (center) is played by Rick Foxman of Keego Harbor. His opponent (back to camera) is Peter Kjolhede, Rochester.

They learn the techniques of play production by doing the work. Mrs. H. N. Geake, Ferndale (front), Mrs.

George D. Cowie, Birmingham, and William Musling, Lapeer, get curtains ready for next week's performances.

Designers See Skirts High, Heels Low

PARIS (AP)—Tottering high heels were virtually drummed out of the collection of fall and winter custom-made shoes presented to the press by the House of Christian Dior this week.

Daytime heels were either medium and gracefully curved or virtually flat in a loafer or moccasin height. For evening Dior presented slippers with tiny curved heels inspired by costumes of the era of Louis XV. They were heavily embroidered with beads, jewels, little pearls and rhinestones. Only two high-heeled pumps were included in the evening collection.

Many of the shoes were cut out on the sides and in back with just a thin strap to hold them to the heel.

Toes were still very much pointed, with a few models having squared-off ends.

In line with the craze for knee-high boots, Dior included several versions: laced up black leather for day, artificial black seal for late afternoon, chatrieuse for evening studded with jet beads. All had medium-high heels.

Designer Marc Bohan daringly used colored wool coats for evening over cocktail dresses. Other evening jackets of satin were double breasted and tailored with lapels just as a daytime suit.

A record-breaking crowd of journalists and private customers, including the Duchess of Windsor, gave warm applause to the 190 numbers paraded by the Dior models.

Other main points of the 1963-64 Dior look were:

● Skirts remained short, just covering the knee.

● Both daytime and cocktail dresses had extremely high necks, shaped to a point just underneath the chin.

● Coats were mannish with high, squared shoulders, the broadest to be seen in Paris.

● Both daytime and cocktail dresses and some evening gowns were bloused on the hipline, giving a two-piece effect.

● Bohan used many tweeds for day in large checks and plaids.

● The big new color in the collection was a dark "Christmas tree green."

● Cocktail and evening dresses with long sleeves, slightly raised shoulders, extra low square necklines that flattened the bust and no waist line.

● Short puffed sleeves and broad squared shoulders on cocktail and evening dresses.

● A revival of lace for evening dresses and for trimmings.

For daytime wear, Dior revived the classic tailored suit with its own blouse. They were worn with oversized matching heavy tweed jackets or giant shawls. The belted wrist length jacket is a favorite note seen in wools. The new formula for 1964 includes skirts featuring four flat-box pleats.

ADD SPICE The boom bulge appeared in cocktail and evening dresses and should definitely add spice to midday's social life.

Bohan displayed a wide range of new winter greens, yellows and topazes but the fabrics are blended to go together. For example, many two-tone tweeds shown in topcoats pick out one leading color for the dress.

Among the variations were check plaids, oversize check plaids, crowfoot and checkboard effects, fancy tweeds and flecked moiré coatings.

Dior favors matching pillboxes and chignon caps set straight on the head to go with suits and topcoats and ensembles.

For evening wear, Bohan unveiled glittering embroideries and jeweled decor stressing the wide open necklines. Many evening hemlines come in for embroidery or draping in the floor length group. One ensemble for Marie-Anne, Bohan's daughter, is a full skirted black chintilly lace with pink lace blouse.

ROMANCE in BLUE . . . This lovely creation combines the elegance of Cavalier with a smart, new motif of white leaves on a beautiful turquoise rim. Accents of light pink and silver lines further enhance this, one of the most desired dinnerware patterns on the market today. The discriminating hostess will approve it's modest price.

Seminars Set for Women

The Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club has announced a series of seminars to be conducted by the Business and Professional Women's (BPW) Foundation for women in executive and managerial positions.

Mrs. Leo McDonald, local club president, in making the announcement, pointed out that executive development programs for women were an innovation undertaken by the foundation for the first time in 1962.

It is believed that the leadership seminar held at the University of Michigan last year was the nation's first management training program designed specifically for top women executives.

The second seminar, cosponsored by the foundation, Michigan State University and the University of Michigan, will deal not only with changing and new aspects of management, but with special problems of women executives.

The woman in management faces the same challenges as her male counterpart, but also encounters a variety of problems which stem simply from the fact that she is a woman.

SEMINAR TOPICS

The seminars will offer sound principles of management, fundamental administrative organization and practice, techniques and skills to deal with communication problems.

Women executives who are owners of companies, presidents, women with officer rank and department heads in business, government or educational organizations are eligible to attend the seminar at Michigan State University, Sept. 22-27.

Three seminars for women in middle management will be held at the University of Florida, Aug. 4-10; the University of Southern California, Aug. 25-31; and the University of Illinois at Urbana, Sept. 1-7.

These workshops are open to women who have management responsibility of business and industry, municipal, state and federal governments and who will be candidates for more advanced administrative responsibilities.

The foundation was chartered in 1956 under sponsorship of the National Federation of BPW's Clubs to conduct research and education for the advancement of women in business and the professions. A library and research center related to the purposes of the foundation are also maintained.

Mrs. McDonald will furnish necessary information to any qualified woman in the Pontiac area.

Dial-Your-Own for Exercising

A do-it-yourself physical fitness program takes a fancy new turn on an illustrated cardboard wheel that lets you dial your own exercise.

MARILYN R. RADECKI

Fall vows are planned by Marilyn Ruth Radecki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Radecki of East Walton Boulevard, to William Jay Crossman III, son of Mrs. William Skinner of North East Boulevard and the late William J. Crossman II.

Party and dancing fashion for 1963 feature this glowing white, richly ribbed and soufflé-light Swiss cotton ottoman built into a costume where jacket and skirt fan out in soft exaggerated folds that form an enormous back panel reaching from shoulder to hem. The high-necked, sleeveless bodice of frosted white net is sprinkled with yellow moon motifs to match the solid lining of the jacket.

Tell-Tale Hint of Dirty Hair

When you run your comb through your coiff and can see the comb marks, that's a sign that your hair is getting dirty!

So wash it at once, instead of waiting for a pre-scheduled shampoo day. Remember that lustrous locks are no accident, but result from cleanliness!

Don't View Teen's Needs in Wrong Light

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My sister is weak from a bad attack of the flu so I've been doing her shopping. Yesterday when I stopped by for her list, my nephew, 15, asked her to add pop and hamburger makings to it.

He said he was bringing some friends home after a movie. Now, Mrs. Lawrence, this boy knows perfectly well that his mother needs quiet and rest.

We were both so shocked by his heartlessness that we decided to write you and ask whether all teen-agers are as selfish as . . .

Answer: Your nephew did not want to entertain his friends in order to wound his mother. He wanted to entertain them to demonstrate his hospitable feelings toward them.

The teen-ager's "selfishness" is not motivated by resentment of us but by his expansive need to assert himself. If we don't see the difference, we expose ourselves to constant hurt and shock in our dealings with him.

If Janie stays too long at a party, we credit her with the desire to cause us worry instead of the desire to enjoy herself. It's Bill won't get up for church, it's not because he wants more sleep but because he is demonstrating disloyalty to our religion.

These interpretations of their behavior are as self-centered as the "selfishness" of which we complain in them. Our view of these children as callous and ungrateful soon becomes the cause of chronic and painful conflict with them.

LOSES POWER

But if we can see the teen-ager as what he actually is — an expanding, reaching creature — his self-assertive behavior loses its power to hurt us.

Instead of wringing our hands over the heartlessness of the youngster who wants to fill the house with noise when we are recovering from the flu, we can say "No" to his wish with sympathy instead of regarding ourselves as a victim of his thoughtlessness.

I am not urging parents to permit late hours, hospitality and big telephone bills to go unchecked. All I'm saying is that confusing adolescent self-assertion with calculated disregard of us makes it unnecessarily difficult to deal kindly and effectively with the growth — push of the young.

A baby in the process of getting born does not have hurt of us on its mind. It has freedom from confinement in our bodies on its mind. Nor does the adolescent growth — push have hurt of us on its mind. It's got responsibility for its own life on its mind.

Keep Record Book Handy for Emergency

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

"What kind of record should be kept handy, in case a friend or even a stranger—has to take charge in an emergency?"

Here's the simplest way to supply necessary information. Get a dime store composition book, label the cover "Consult in Emergency." Then write the following on the inside pages:

Whom to Notify:
Names, addresses, phone numbers of next of kin, children's school if any, local relatives, friends, in order of importance. Take it for granted that some of these individuals cannot be reached at once, so provide several names.

Business Associates to notify immediately:

Lawyer, insurance agent, company or employer, company.

Important Papers and their location:

Insurance policies—life, health, accident, property; birth certificates, marriage certificate, social security numbers, real estate deeds, armed forces records, wills, statement of information on burial plots, bank accounts, loan and debts outstanding, contracts.

While the above are important for emergency use, such records make sense in the course of daily living and managing the family affairs. So in this same composition book, add:

Family Health Records:
Vaccination dates for each member, types of shots and dates given; blood types of individual members.

Keep this book in a conspicuous place in your "office" at home. While family papers may be meticulously filed in their proper places, this quick reference can save much effort and confusion when time is at a premium.

Tell all members of the family exactly where you keep this book and why. It's also a good idea to let your closest friend know that such information is readily available.

Don't feel that you're being dramatic. You're just being orderly. When you keep things in tidy shape, you can then dismiss them from your mind with an easy conscience.

SIMPLE SYSTEM
Another reader asks: "Is there a simple system for filing? I get lost trying to organize them."

Take one easy step to begin with. Get yourself four large filing envelopes, and label them Insurance Policies, Personal Records, Real Estate, Financial. I believe you'll find that all those papers will logically fit under those four headings.

For instance, under the heading Personal Records, you can put birth and marriage certificates, social security numbers, armed forces papers, burial plot information, education records.

Under Financial would go wills, bank statements and records, loans, stocks and bonds records, contracts, etc.

When you have some time to spare, you can work with each envelope, adding sub-headings or arranging an alphabetical filing system. The main thing is to get your files up to suit yourself.

They don't have to be arranged the same way someone else would arrange them. This is your own "business." Your own office, and you can run it as you please.

You can write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. She will answer in her column questions of widest interest.

Pamper Your Skin's Natural Youthful Glow

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise
Beauty Editor

Your face may not be your fortune as it is for the glamorous actress or model. But, you can make the most of your natural features and involve an aura of attractiveness that will please you and those you meet.

Many things influence your appearance. It is best to start with the basics of good health—proper diet, exercise and adequate sleep. The results of a simple daily routine soon will be reflected in a more glowing appearance. Your skin, especially, will benefit as you help nature along.

It is important if you are over 25 to pamper your skin more than before to keep it from becoming parched and pinched. With so many dehydrated food products on the supermarket shelves you can see what happens to the food when water is removed. We tend to lose a moisture, too, and this dehydration is a major cause of early aging of skin.

You can tell when your skin is thirsting if your foundation highlights tiny lines instead of concealing them, or if your skin looks flaky after you apply your powder.

Fortunately, there are moisturizing creams or lotions that help regain the normal balance of oil and water our skin needs. Moisturizers work in two ways. They penetrate into subsurface tissues, adding oils such as lanolin and also serve as a shield against drying cold, wind or sunshine.

They should be used every day, under make-up, and applied at night after you cleanse your skin thoroughly.

Bares Bear Facts for Tourist's Safety

By ALFRED McCORMACK, JR.
SMOKEMONT, N.C. (UP) — Never trust a friendly-looking bear. He may be cute, but he's also the most dangerous of North American wild animals.

This advice comes from Rangers here in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. But, it's valid anywhere a bear's loose—from Maine to Glacier Park, Mont., and the Sierras of California.

Every summer unwary tourists across the land and in National Parks are scratched, fanged or badly frightened by a suddenly angry bear. People who try to be hospitable to bears regularly find that Mr. Bear enthusiastically bites the hand that feeds him.

Take the case of a Dubuque, Iowa, man who visited the Park several years back. Disobeying signs and printed advice, he hopped out of his car and went up to a friendly-looking Maine bear and her cubs with an offering of peanuts.

The she-bear, known as a sow, thought the corn-state tourist was trying to get between her and the cubs, and she took immediate exception.

When a park ranger drove by on patrol in his pickup truck a few minutes later, the motorist had retreated to the top of his car—minus part of his jacket and shirt—and with a nasty scratch down one arm. The bear was trying to get inside the car. The Iowa's wife was hysterical. There is almost nothing the boorish tourist will not do to and with bears. One man tried to shove a grown black bear into the front seat of his car so he could take a picture of it sitting next to his wife.

A horrified Ranger spotted this stupidity and put a stop to it before something happened. The couple, lacking in knowledge of ursine ways, was highly indignant.

Bears have a human-like quality which is highly deceptive. They eat the same food as man, and many a bear in captivity has learned to guzzle beer and whiskey, dance to music, and perform tricks.

Actually, the bear is a neurotic with mercurial swings of temperament and an antisocial mind. He is more cunning than most hunters and likes nothing better than to double back on his own long track and pad silently along parallel to a hunting party, the bear tracking the trackers.

While big bears may look and act friendly from afar, there is almost nothing cuter than a bear cub. They are soft, cuddly, furry creatures which love nothing more than to play and romp. They can roll over like a dog, retrieve a thrown ball or play dead like a possum.

The teddy bear of yesterday quickly becomes a hundred-pound demanding animal, however, who is friendly one moment and a snarling wild creature the next.

"If thine enemy offends thee, give him a bear cub," a naturalist once remarked.

Good Idea for Motorist

CHICAGO (UPI)—Chicago's police superintendent, O. W. Wilson, says savvy motorists can prevent many of the 900 car thefts that occur in the United States each day.

He suggested that when parking a car, the motorist should:

- Lock ignition and remove keys.
- Close windows and lock doors.
- Keep clothes and other personal property out of sight.
- Keep the trunk key when using a commercial lot for parking.
- Do not leave behind any license registration cards or other identifying credentials that a thief could misuse after stealing the car.

African Criticizes Clash in U.S. Ethics

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI)—
Uganda Prime Minister Milton
Obote told United Press International he has received angry letters from the United States saying "If you hate us, why take our money?"

Interviewed in his office in the modernistic Parliament building here, the 38-year-old prime minister said that he had great admiration for what President Kennedy's administration is doing to try to solve American racial problems.

But he added that he did not understand how Americans could preach democracy to others while denying its rights to Negro Americans and that the United States "cannot make us forget this by giving us dollars."

He said the angry letters came to him from American citizens when he criticized American racial prejudice publicly in an open letter to President Kennedy from the African heads of states conference in Addis Ababa. He also received letters from the United States agreeing with what he said.

MAKES POINT

The prime minister said Americans should thank him for speaking out. However he might criticize racial prejudice, "I have a soft spot for the United States which whoever might replace me in this position might not have."
Puffing his pipe as he talked,

Obote made several other points:
—It would be wrong for African countries to blame Britain and the United States for not imposing boycotts on South Africa because of their long association with that country and their worldwide commitments.

"It would be impossible for them to do what we are proposing to do (because of South Africa's apartheid policy)," he said. "While we do the boycotting and make other preparations, Britain and the United States are in a better position to talk to the South African government, which we can no longer do."

"We are fortunate to have two countries to do the talking."
—Uganda's representatives on the nine-nation coordinating committee for the liberation of Africa (CCLA) are to put forward this offer to establish a training camp for African liberation fighters.

Uganda will join the measures decided by the committee.

The prime minister added: "I am not in favor of our starting the shooting. We still may be able in the future to do business with Portugal. There is no necessity for going to the bitter end immediately."

A working committee is still drafting plans for an East African federation of Uganda, Kenya and Tanganyika, comprising 25 million people. He said there are still a host of problems to be settled, including financial and agriculture policy and whether it is to be a "strong" federation or a "weak" federation.

Among the other problems were the position of Uganda's tribal kingdoms in a federation and leaving the door open for other possible members, such as Zandibar, Ethiopia, Somalia, Rwanda, Burundi, Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia.

Other African states must also be persuaded that the federation will be a single state and not just a bloc of sectional interests, the prime minister said.

Farm and Garden News

Facts, Figures on Tree Farms

The "tree farms" movement was introduced to the South in 1942.

Since then, more than 40 million acres of "tree farms" have been developed in the 12-state region.

This is more than two-thirds of the nation's total. New "tree farms" are being developed in the South at the rate of 2½ million acres a year.

While the "tree farm" emblem is a familiar landmark throughout the area, many persons are not familiar with its significance.

Sponsored by private enterprise — lumber companies and other forest products manufacturers — the movement was introduced to the South by the Southern Pine Association. It is now conducted under the auspices of American Forest Products Industries, Inc.

SHARE KNOW-HOW
The original idea was to provide a medium whereby forest products industries could share their "know-how" on forest management with farmers and small landholders.

More than 60 per cent of the South's "tree farmers" today are farmers in the strict sense of the term.

To achieve "tree farm" stature, forestland must be well managed and protected. Growth must be maintained at a level which exceeds the rate of harvest.

Plants Need Vacation, Too

Your plants need a vacation, just as you do. The time for this is in summer, when cut flowers are available and your plants are not needed for indoor decorative purposes.

But if you move the potted plants outdoors, don't neglect them.

Several weeks before you shift the plants, prune those which have become too large, to promote symmetry or reduce the size, and report if more space is needed for growth.

Give the plants a dose of insecticide before sinking the pots into the earth. Spray undersides of leaves as well as tops.

Snip Chrysanthemums to Bush Out Plants

Pinch off the tops of your fall chrysanthemums once or twice during the summer to make them bush out, especially if they are leggy. The tops may be rooted in sand or sand and vermiculite to provide new plants.

Lower leaves of old established plants may become diseased and turn yellow before blooming time. For healthy foliage, spray with captan and malathion while the foliage is dry.

Stops Crab Grass

If the crabgrass is serious this year, you can control it now with Crab-Nix, the Asgrow summer-time crabgrass control that attacks the growing crabgrass plants but is harmless to other about two weeks — and then gives up again.

Home Fence Adds Privacy

Should Be Attractive, as Well as Protective

A fence should add to a home's attractiveness as well as provide privacy and protection. Erecting one that does all three is primarily a matter of good design, proper selection of materials and careful construction.

A rail — type fence, with 6-inch-wide planks nailed six to 10 inches apart on square posts, long has been a favorite among home owners. Another is the basket — weave fence, with hardboard strips interlaced horizontally.

The strips can be spaced tightly together or at varying distances apart depending on the effect desired.

Recently, panel fences have become more common. With these, the only limitation on design is a person's imagination. For instance, hardboard squares or rectangles can be nailed alternately on each side of rails strung between the fence posts.

They can be painted all the same color or different colors to provide a chequerboard effect. For complete privacy, the panels can be placed close together or they can be spaced to let the breeze flow through.

Peg-board panels of quarter-inch thickness can be used to provide expert help. Many can provide accent areas and also have plans for building decorative fences and area screens, or plants around a patio area.

As with most home improvement projects, lumber dealers Service Bureau, 29 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago 6, Ill.

Qualities of Hardboard Make It Ideal for Fences

For all board-type fences, hardboard is an ideal material because of the way it resists weathering and deterioration with a minimum of maintenance. It weathers well, so the fence retains its good looks for years. Hardboard panels also have great rack resistance.

Variety of Sidewalks Possible

Many modern suburban areas faced with some mighty old-fashioned problems, such as — look, ma, no sidewalks.

Granted, sidewalks aren't an essential of life, but they are rather nice to have, particularly on wet days when company's coming.

There are various ways to compensate for the loss of sidewalk. You can pave the front yard. You can widen the driveway to hook it up to an entrance walk.

Or you can do what some smart suburbanites have done and build a sophisticated boardwalk to double as sidewalk and exterior entrance area. This works especially well if the front yard is shallow and the house is built on a down slope from the street.

WOOD DECK

The boardwalk is actually a wood deck built adjacent and parallel to the street and at the same level. It could extend only part of the yard's length, or stretch entirely across it, from property line to property line. The effect can be highly intriguing and serviceability is tops.

The deck boardwalk should be built of stout fir 2x4s laid flat and with an eighth-inch spacing between boards to permit proper rain water runoff. This also allows a speedy cleaning job with the garden hose.

For absolute minimum upkeep, install the fir 2x4 decking without finish and let it weather naturally.

In about a year's time, the boardwalk will acquire the soft patina and color of fine pewter. Here on, it becomes more beautiful with passing time.

Flower Seeds

Suspect Drug

WASHINGTON — Food and Drug Administration scientists are analyzing morning glory seeds to determine whether they contain hallucination causing drugs.

The study was set off by reports of out-of-season runs on the seeds by buyers in Boston, New York and California, a spokesman said yesterday.

The in investigation began at the end of May after reports of the demand came from distributors. The suspect substance is lysergic acid ethylamide.

"We don't know if we really have a problem here," the spokesman said.

The two morning glory varieties said to contain the substance are called "heavenly blue" and "pearly gates."

The FDA had no comment on two recent reports of the drug in the seeds. One scientist reported on tests with several groups of human subjects. According to the report, a human would have to eat several hundred of the seeds to produce hallucinations, the spokesman said.

If analysis proves that the seeds do contain the drug, the food and drug laws would be applicable. The seeds would be in a different category from marijuana which comes under the narcotics act.

Guying a Tree
Keeps It Steady

You may find bags under your eyes when the leaves come off your trees this fall!

The bags—on the tree, of course—are the silky shelters of that peculiar pest, the bagworm. Long before man thought of a motor trailer this leaf eater was carrying its home around wherever it went. That home, conspicuous against a tree's bare limbs, is a tough spindle-shaped bag an inch or two long.

Among other odd habits, points out M. J. Hooper, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., the bagworm seems to prefer city trees. Experts also suspect it has as many lives as a cat, for some always seem to survive despite intensive spraying.

This inch- or less-long worm has a name three times as long as itself—Thyridopteryx ephemeraeformis.

The bags are almost as fire-resistant as a good office safe. So don't make the mistake of some homeowners and try to burn them out. You'll harm your tree more than the pest. Hand-picking is best for the bags you can reach in Fall and Winter. Best control is to spray in the Spring when the larvae emerge. Use Sevin, malathion or lead arsenate.

STOP THEM

Bagworms can strip a tree if uncontrolled. Although less common than some pests, they are found throughout the entire eastern half of the United States, feeding on almost any kind of favorite tree. Each bag holds from 500 to 1,000 eggs. In Spring these hatch into worms which crawl from the mother bag and start building their own portable bag houses.

Evergreens are favorites of the pest as well as such valuable shade trees as Norway maple, honey locust, linden and sycamore.

Bring plants indoors several weeks before you turn on the heat. This will permit them to adapt themselves gradually to indoor conditions. They don't like abrupt change.

OU Plans 3 Lectures on Space

The National Aeronautic Space Agency (NASA) will present three "space lectures" at Oakland University next Thursday.

The NASA spacemobile, a specially equipped panel truck, will bring Gordon Nester and G. W. Blankley Jr., space lecturers, to the OU campus for a series of three programs on space.

Models, mock-ups and mechanical and electronic devices will be used to demonstrate basic scientific principles in programs at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The series of lectures will be presented in Room 190 of the science building.

AF Awards Wings to High-Flying Pilot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force awarded Astronaut Wings yesterday to Maj. Robert R. Rushworth, the second airman to fly a winged rocket ship to a height of more than 50 miles above the earth.

At a ceremony in the office of Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Rushworth's wife pinned the Astronaut Wings on the pilot, who flew the X-15 rocket plane to a height of 286,000 feet June 27.

The first Air Force officer to win the Astronaut Wings was Maj. Robert M. White, who flew the X-15 to an altitude of 314,750 feet over Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., June 17, 1962.

Avoids Family Chores

Lovable Daughter Outsmarts Her Parents

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
Dear Dr. Nason: We have a sweet and lovable 14-year-old daughter who, we have just come to realize, has been outsmarting us!

Last evening at dinner I asked her to do a small chore for me. She agreed, smilingly. It was not until she had finished that I realized she had not done what I had asked.

DR. NASON Thinking back this has happened many times of late.

What do you suggest?
Mrs. A. N., Mar Vista, Calif.
Answer: You have, indeed, been outsmarted. Change your tactics. When you make a request, wait a short time then, if necessary, say firmly "You will do it NOW!" See that she does. Be consistent. Follow up every time. Have a talk with your daughter. She can do more to break the habit that you can.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our son will be a freshman in college this fall. He is putting up a real battle to take an automobile to the campus with him. Is this advisable?
Mrs. G., Brookline, N.J.

Answer: College freshmen need the exercise of walking. Some young men of my acquaintance brought their cars home last year at Thanksgiving time and left them. They reported a car to be a nuisance. I am sure upper freshmen were insistent upon borrowing the car.

Regulations prohibit automobiles at many colleges, particularly for freshmen. In fact, automobiles and education do not mix well.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our 15-year-old son is wasting his summer. He says he cannot find a job—that there is nothing worthwhile that he can do.

Please give us some suggestions.
Mrs. A. K., Long Beach, Calif.

Answer: There are many volunteer activities in youth work and on playgrounds where 15-year-old boys can be of service to the community and, at the same time, receive excellent training.

Boys of this age are loath to apply for such positions for fear they may be turned down. They have little experience in meeting new people and making applications.

One mother called the YMCA and related a similar problem. The wise director, promising nothing, had one of the boy's acquaintances call him and suggest Summer Day Camp work with "no pay—but good training." Everything worked out fine.

Congo Premier Invites British Minister to Visit

LONDON (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Congo Thursday invited Prime Minister Macmillan to visit his country at some convenient time.

The invitation was announced in a communique at the end of Adoula's four-day visit designed to repair the damage wrought in Anglo-Congolese relations by the Katanga affair.

During the reign of Constantine the Great in Rome (306-337 A.D.), when the huge Egyptian obelisk was erected in the Circus Maximus, the foreman put his men into metal battle helmets to shield them from falling masonry.

A certain bridge player's tombstone bears the sad epitaph, "He lived to the age of 96, but never learned to count his tricks."

It might be the epitaph of this particular South. He failed to count his tricks whereupon he is a hand collapsed.

With 15 high card points North might well have tried for a slam, but North wanted to end the rubber and it seemed to him that four spades could be thrown against the wall.

It would have been too, but South chose to throw it away. It wasn't too difficult. All he did was to play the nine of clubs from dummy at trick one. The opponents did the rest.

Negro vs. Indian

Segregation Divides British Guiana

By ROBERT BERRELEZ
GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—British Guiana is a soft, moist country of green and brown; of flaming crimson six-foot high gladioli and lily pads shaped like circular trays four feet in diameter.

This is the home of an articulate people. There's a lawyer for every 3,000 persons. The literacy rate, 86 per cent, is among the highest in the hemisphere.

The Guianese are a mobile society. Every seventh person in a population of nearly 600,000 owns or operates a bicycle.

The greater part of the population consists roughly of 300,000 East Indian descendants and 200,000 Negroes. And this makes British Guiana a deeply troubled land.

In a world of crumbling racial prejudices, the Guianese are beginning to practice segregation.

The village of Buxton, where violence between Negroes and East Indians had its most explosive moments this month, is the cradle of an infant but growing partition movement.

Scores of Indians have abandoned their homes there to seek the protection of communities where Indians are a majority. Negroes are leaving predominantly centers.

Why can't these people get along together?

They are different culturally and physically. It seems their common ground is the dreariness of poverty.

Generally speaking, the Indian is a man of the soil. At a higher economic level he is a shopkeeper.

Academically, the Indian is a half century behind the Negro, who preceded him on the land. But he has become a formidable economic factor in the land that first knew him as an indentured slave. His race has given British Guiana its prime minister, Dr. Cheddi Jagan, 46.

The Negro lives mostly in Georgetown. He is the country's intellectual elite, the professional, the student, teacher and civil servant.

The opposition leader is a Negro, Forbes Burnham, 40, a large, melancholy lawyer, brilliant orator and shrewd politician.

Mutual contempt between Negroes and East Indians bubbled to the surface during the costly 80-day general strike. This burst into racial violence that left 10 known dead, scores injured during a two-week period early this month.

Near the village of Plaisance, an Indian rice planter, Jagat Rahman, said:

"The Negro doesn't want to work in the field at all. He's only interested in a job in the city, good clothes, drinking and a good time."

James Fraser, 40, a store clerk in Georgetown, complained:

"The Indian is a money grubber, over ambitious and unsociable."

Some people here believe the races are naturally incompatible. They point out that rumblings of the same problems are being heard in Trinidad, where the Indian minority is fast catching up numerically with the Negro Majority.

At the heart of this incompatibility, it is thought, are the fears of each race that it will be ruled by the other.

Are at Stake

HORNCHURCH, England (UPI) — Two grammar school boys were caned by teachers yesterday when they celebrated the last day of school by gluing the headmasters chair to the floor, sealing a piano lid shut, stopping all the clocks, putting dry ice in the band-instrument locker, calling six taxis for a teacher, planting stink bombs in a corridor and running a brasserie up the school flagpole.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three major national bridge titles are at stake in the summer national championships of the American Contract Bridge league which gets under way tonight at the Billmore Hotel.

Many of the 5,000 expected bridge players arrived early to watch the battle between Minneapolis-St. Paul and Los Angeles for the intercity bridge championship matches.

The challengers, the Los Angeles All-Star Contract Bridge Club, held a 62 international match point lead today after two sessions with two more to go. After 40 deals last night Los Angeles had 135 points to 75 for Minneapolis.

The opening event of the summer national tonight is the international fund pairs. The first major event, the four-session master mixed teams, gets underway tomorrow night.

The six-session life master pair championship starts Sunday afternoon and will qualify the winners for the next international trials to select the team to represent North America in the 1964 World Olympiad in New York.

The final major event will be the master team contest for the Spingold Trophy starting next Tuesday.

Post Reward
Dog Poisoner

CAPITOLA, Calif. (UPI) — A reward of $200 has been posted for information leading to the identity of the person or persons responsible for the poisoning of three animals in this small Santa Cruz County community in the past five months.

The latest victim was a golden retriever named Yankee, who belonged to John Honeycutt.

The man and his dog stepped out of the small cottage they shared and headed for downtown Capitola last Monday. Suddenly, Yankee faltered and fell.

Honeycutt, with the aid of a passerby, took the stricken animal to a veterinarian — but it was too late. Yankee died of a hemorrhage caused by poisoning.

"I'm not a sentimental man, but that dog was everything to me," said Honeycutt. "We worked so well together that people would accuse me of not being blind."

In a 13-year period the bones of sas and sold to dealers for $2,500, gathered from the plains of Kan-000.

How well has Oakland County adapted itself to its population boom since 1950?

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors looked at the record and was amazed.

A pleased grin came over his face. Such expression was understandable. He has played an active role in the county's accomplishments as a board member for 21 years and chairman for the past seven years. He also heads the County's Board of Public Works.

While the population has grown from 396,000 to an estimated 750,000 during the past 13 years, $90.5 million has been and is being spent for water and sewer lines, roads and bridges, and county government buildings and facilities.

"The record is impressive," said Hamlin, "It shows what can be accomplished at the county level through the cooperation of all communities.

"These improvements could never be achieved so soon or so economically without all of our municipalities working together. "Several hundred miles of sewers and water mains have recently been completed and many more miles programmed for the immediate future.

"Approximately 90 per cent of the entire county is either completely sewered or master planned for sanitary sewage disposal. Some $540,000 has been spent in developing the plan.

"It is the intent to master plan the water supply system for the county over the next two years in the interests of economic development.

ANOTHER PROGRAM

"A concentrated highway and bridge program has been and is in progress with much more planned, necessitated not only by the population explosion but by the federal highway system.

"The county highway system needs to be rebuilt to handle the ever-expanding local use along with feeder roads to the federal and state network of super highways."

The county also is actively engaged in the development of its 335-acre service center on Telegraph, ultimately designed to accommodate all county governmental functions, Hamlin noted. A total $7 million has been spent at the center in the past four years.

"Also, the board of supervisors acquired Allen Airport and surrounding acreage in Orion Township as a nucleus for a future county airport," he added. The total acquisition cost of the county $380,000.

Recently completed or nearing completion is $12.9 million Drain to serve 17 communities in South Oakland County. This project is better than 80 per cent complete.

The figure also includes other projects in the south, in the vicinity of Oakland University, West-Bloomfield Township and Keego Harbor.

A total of 139.6 miles of county highways and 24 bridges, costing $9.5 million, is newly completed or under construction.

An additional $35 million worth of county construction is scheduled to begin within the next 18 to 24 months. These projects include water systems for Waterford and Bloomfield townships, sewers in Farmington and West Bloomfield townships, Novi, Troy, and Walled Lake, 74.9 miles of county roads and four more bridges.

Other projects in this category include: a diagnostic center as the first unit in a proposed Children's Village for court wards, $1 million; a South Oakland Health Building, $600,000; an east wing addition to the courthouse, $2 million; and a northwest wing, $1.5 million.

Even When Articulate

Tarzan Seems Indestructible

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Even an articulate Tarzan is indestructible. Producer Seymour Weisbaum had the heads shaking in Hollywood a few years ago when he decided to tamper with a champion. Ever since World War I, Tarzan had grunted through stunts and talkies to the tune of a record $500 millions at the box office. At the height of his fame the most Johnny Weissmuller ever uttered in the pre-World War II Tarzana was "Me Tarzan. You Jane."

Then, a few years ago, Weintraub walked into Sol Lesser's house, drew up a contract in long-hand and forked over $3 million for the Tarzan television and movie rights.

INTO REAL JUNGLE
Immediately he took Tarzan off the MGM backlot jungles into the real jungle of Africa, got rid of Jane and made Tarzan a bachelor. Instead of a grunt he had the famous age man talking in intelligent sentences.

What has been the result? "Well," answers Weintraub, "I got my $3 million back in less than 18 months—and Tarzan is making more money than ever."

Since Africa, there has been "Tarzan Goes to India" and the current "Tarzan's Three Challenges," made in Thailand. Next will be filmed in Brazil. No more movie jungle.

Jack Mahoney, once TV's "Range Rider," is the latest Tarzan.

WEINTRAUB first hired Mahoney as a heavy in the African Tarzan which starred Gordon Scott in the title role. "Mahoney came so close to whipping Tarzan in the big fight I decided we had better make him the hero," explains Weintraub.

Weintraub, 40, says Tarzan is so world popular that he considers old Tarzan movies his most serious competition. Weissmuller, who hasn't played Tarzan for a quarter-century, still gets heavy fan mail from all over the world.

Israeli Plane Safe, Says Spokesman

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — An Israeli army spokesman describes as a lie a Cairo claim that United Arab Republic (U.A.R.) fighters shot down an Israeli plane in a dogfight over the Sinai Desert Tuesday.

The spokesman said the two Israeli planes returned safely to base after they were ordered not to pursue two U.A.R. MIG-17s that violated Israeli air space. Previously, the Israelis said the MIGs fled after one of them was hit.

A U.A.R. air force spokesman in Cairo claimed the wreckage of the Israeli fighter was in Egyptian hands.

Question German Beliefs in Effort for Reunification

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
BERLIN (UPI) — President Kennedy's recent trip to West Germany has brought about a reappraisal of East-West relations and a questioning of old beliefs on how to achieve German reunification.

For as many years as the post-war German problem has existed, the Western program to reunify the divided nation has been based on free elections.

As the western allies and West Germany envisaged it, both East and West Germans would cast ballots and the result would be a defeat for the Communists in the East and the reunification of East Germans with West Germans in a nation similar to the West German Federal Republic.

That the communists would lose in East Germany in a free election—and lose overwhelmingly—no one doubts today any more than they doubted it 15 years ago.

NOT EXPECTED SOON
But the reappraisal is based on the fact that the Soviets have not agreed to free elections and also on the belief that the Russians will not agree to them in the foreseeable future.

The lead in the questioning of old beliefs has been taken by Willy Brandt, Social Democratic mayor of West Berlin and his party's candidate for chancellor of West Germany.

Speeches on the German problem by Brandt and one of his closest associates have attracted considerable attention, comment and sparked a controversy.

Brandt and his press chief, Egon Bahr, tentatively suggested a new approach to the German problem in speeches to the Evangelical Academy in the West German city of Tübingen.

They spoke there July 15, but their ideas still are being discussed, and some political observers think their views mirror what the Social Democratic party will have to say in the next West German election campaign in 1964.

"U.S. STRATEGY"
Much of what they had to say was an attempt to adopt the "American strategy for peace" to the German problem. Much was an elaboration and interpretation of what Kennedy said on his trip to West Germany and West Berlin last month. Brandt said "a solution of the German problem only is possible with the Soviet Union, not against it."

It was Bahr who spelled out the meaning of this, and there was no doubt he spoke with Brandt's approval.

Bahr said the Soviets would not simply step aside and give up East Germany as the old Western plan proposes.

"The American strategy of peace can be defined by the formula that Communist rule is not to be eradicated but is to be changed," he said.

It is clear today that reunification is not a unique action that will be taken through an historic resolution on an historic day at an historic conference but a process with many steps and status quo.

As Kennedy said, the interests of the other side have to be recognized and taken into consideration.

Bahr said there was no sense in continuing to talk about the East German regime being overthrown because the Russians will not let it be overthrown.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draftees today are brighter boys than those inducted during World War II and Korea, the Pentagon's personnel experts believe.

Mental standards for inductees were raised last May 1. The trend toward more selectivity in selective service had been underway for several years. Soldiers have to be mentally sharper because the equipment they handle now is more complex.

Since Korea, only the Army has used the draft. Asked how present draftees stack up against those of the past two wars, the Army said:

"On the average, the quality of draftees today is better than World War II and Korea because the mental standards for induction are higher. Therefore, fewer lower mental category personnel can qualify for service. On the other hand, fewer high mental category personnel are being inducted today because of a smaller draft than in World War II and Korea."

Physical standards have not changed.

REJECTION RATE

The rejection rate on the basis of mental tests (which really mean how much native intelligence and ability to learn a man has is higher now) partly because the military can be more selective in peacetime than in war. Moreover, deferments for those who qualify can be and are higher in peacetime.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, estimates, for example, that about 300,000 are deferred now so they can go to college. But, in testing before the House Armed Services Committee recently, Hershey hastened to say that "I don't want to claim that we're keeping these boys in college, because we wouldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college."

Hershey's view seems substantiated by draft quota figures. Only 4,000 draftees were asked by the Army for each of the months of January and February, while the high point so far this year is the 12,000 monthly quota set for August and September. At my strength now totals about 670,000.

For the last 20 years, Hershey says, the selective service system has been what he calls a "Chandler," steering men into that part of national life for which they can be most useful in the over-all national defense effort, whether in service or in military production.

He told the committee that "I have no idea how many people we are deferring that may well be as immediately involved in survival as the people who are in uniform."

But he also said: "I think our capacity in time of no great emergency is either by providing the incentive for the man to enlist, or, if he doesn't enlist, lead him in and induct him."

How well does this work?

But he also said:

The Pontiac Board of Education last night rejected as too high $600,000 in bids on this proposed service building.

In addition, the school board ordered the combined service and warehouse building, re-designed to meet the budgeted costs for the new structure.

The bids totaled nearly 10 per cent over the estimated cost of $545,480 for the building.

Slated to be erected at Montclair and N. Saginaw, the service building was to replace the school district's present facilities at 40 Patterson.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business and staff personnel, said the bids were $50,000 over the original estimates.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Frank Starzel, a Le Mars, Iowa, native who recently retired as general manager of the Associated Press, has decided to clean up some "unfinished business" at the State University of Iowa.

Starzel, 59, left the university in the early 1930s to become managing editor of the Iowa City Press Citizen before he had completed work on his bachelor degree.

Now he is enrolled in a university correspondence course and hopes to complete the remaining semester hours by next June.

20 Pilgrims Die in Greece

AGHION, Greece (AP)—A boat carrying pilgrims across a lake to a monastery to celebrate a saint's festival capsized yesterday and police reported 20 drowned. There were only two survivors.

Most of the victims were women and children from the village of Stanos on their way to the Monastery of St. Paraskevi, on the shores of Lake Amvrakia in Western Greece.

Police said the boat might have been overloaded.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS SPECIAL REPORT

The Pentagon personnel experts say the authority to induct will be required so long as the international situation remains substantially unchanged.

LAW ELAPSED

There was a 15-month period in 1947-48 when the draft law lapsed, after the end of World War II and before the Communist threat began looming large. But since September, 1950, a total of 2,845,450 will have been drafted when the September quota is filled.

The Defense Department is the agency which originates the physical and mental standards and the monthly quota requests. Hershey's military manpower experts, "that selective service picks out the kind and numbers of men the Army wants.

How does a present-day soldier compare in his work with the PFC of World War II days?

An old soldier, who came into the Army as an enlisted man in World War II and is an officer now, figures the differences are something like these:

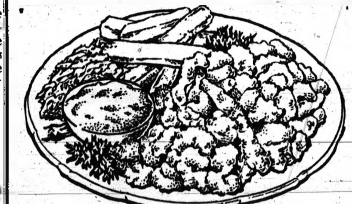

The World War II draftee may have been trained for a howitzer outfit. His counterpart today may find himself in a guided missile outfit or in a battle group armed with Davy Crockett nuclear weapons, where the operation and inwards of an electronic computer must be part of his knowledge.

SPIKED—Pitcher Ed Rakow of Kansas City falls to the ground after being spiked by Gary Geiger, Red Sox centerfielder. Geiger beat out a bunt and Rakow was covering first when he was spiked. He walked to the mound and then dropped to the ground where manager Ed Lopat and trainer Bill Jones went to his assistance.

Pace Suffers Grid Injury

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Former University of Michigan star halfback Jim Pace suffered a concussion yesterday at the New York Giants football training camp.

Pace suffered the injury when he was tackled during a scrimmage.

He was taken to a hospital where X rays proved negative. The injury was diagnosed as a "deep concussion and injured neck vertebra." Doctors said he will not be able to scrimmage for a week.

Pace, who was drafted by San Francisco in 1958 and played with Washington last season, is trying to win a running back job with the Giants.

All-Stars Sharp in Loss to Chicago Bears, 13-12

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—The 14 yards with a pitchout from college All-Stars won their football game in a scrimmage with the Chicago Bears, and after a little more sharpening at their Northwestern University camp, they should be ready to face the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field Aug. 2.

In the scrimmage on the St. Joseph's College field Thursday, the Bears won 13-12. There were no punts or kickoffs in the match which ended when each team ran off 72 offensive plays.

All-Star Head Coach Otto Graham says his gridders need more improvement before taking on the National Football League champion Packers, but he seemed pleased with the scrimmage.

BRIGHT SPOTS

The collegians' defense and pass protection were bright spots. They got away 36 passes and completed 24 for 239 yards.

Each quarterback passed nine times. Terry Baker of Oregon State hit on five for 25 yards, Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin six for 74, Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian six for 69 and Glynn Griffing of Mississippi seven for 71.

The main receivers were Larry Ferguson of Iowa with four catches for 22 yards, Pat Richter of Wisconsin four for 49, and Bob Jencks of Miami (Ohio) two for 14.

Among the outstanding defensive men were linemen Larry Glueck of Villanova; Jim Dunaway, Mississippi, and Junious Buchanan, Grambling; and linebackers Lee Roy Caffey, Texas A&M; Bobby Bell, Minnesota, and Don Brumti, Purdue.

Jencks booted 27 and 40-yard field goals to give the All-Stars a 4-0 lead in the first quarter.

The Bears led in the second period when Rudy Bulich passed 11 yards to Mike Ditka, who later passed to Charlie Bivins. Bivins scored.

Bill Wade speared Ditka with a 16-yard touchdown pass in the third and Lerler's boot put the Bears ahead 13-6. Charlie Mitchell, Washington halfback, tallied for the All-Stars in the fourth period. He sprinted Local bowling activity has been down considerably during the summer months with the weather encouraging more and more potential customers to sample outdoor living.

The first big promotion of the summer, however, will begin tomorrow morning and run for two weeks at 300 Bowl.

With an eye toward stimulating interest in 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. three times with free instruction as many days as they wish during the two weeks.

Those who sign up may bowl three times with free instruction as many days as they wish during the two weeks.

While not everyone can or wants to join a morning or early afternoon league, this would seem like a good opportunity to develop the game of those who hesitate joining the higher average leagues.

NEW HOUSE
Keg action will begin probably the middle of August at Orchard Lanes. Plans for the 24-lane establishment had been hot and cold for some time until Dom Spalla pushed ahead with the project.

The establishment is located on Opdyke Rd., just south of M59. Reservations are being accepted now for various average leagues, both male and female, with choice times and days still open.

Another "opening" will take place next week from Monday when West Side Lanes will be open for business after the an-most shutdowns for reconditioning.

Before the closing recently, Paul Rodriguez posted his first bowling series while bowling in the house's Men's Doubles League. A big contributor to the series was a 280 game which he closed with 10 straight strikes.

Harry Smith continues to make hay (translation: money) on the Professional Bowling Association tour. He collected $1,500 at Alton, Ill., last weekend and now is only $3,200 behind Andy March's leading pace of $23,500 on this year's circuit.

Former Lions' Lineman Pleases Oakland Coach

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—Offensive line coach Otis Spencer of the Oakland Raiders, activated Thursday, worked out immediately at offensive left guard and caused Coach Al Davis to exclaim:

"This is just the guy we've needed for our offensive line." Spencer, 31, played in the National Football League for seven years before moving to the American Football League. He obtained his release to play in the AFL earlier this week.

Ecorse Rowers Capture Canadian Regatta Event

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP)—To the Ecorse, Mich., Boat Club. Ecorse took the fourth spot overall with 40 points, one behind Hamilton Leander. Toronto Argonauts, leaders after the first day of rowing slipped to fifth despite Leif Gottfredson's victory in the junior singles. The Argos have 35 points.

The 29-year-old Danish-born sculler was four lengths up on Don Robinson of Philadelphia's College Boat Club. Bob Ariett of the Vespers, another Philadelphia club, was third.

Brockville, Ont., successfully defended its junior fours title to nail down seventh spot in the point standings, three-quarters of a point behind the Detroit Boat Club. Detroit had a second in the junior 155-pound eight and a third in the junior 145-pound double.

Paul Reinkenbach and Bob Hardigan combined to bring the Vespers the junior 145-pound double in a late sprint which caught Mike Heuer and Lindsay Pitt of the Argos.

Giants Show Late Surge Again

Mays Shows Batting Power

By The Associated Press
It may be too early yet to tell whether Willie Mays, admittedly a streak hitter, is on one of his patented power displays.

If he is, the San Francisco Giants may yet give Los Angeles a run for the National League pennant. Who knows? They may even duplicate last year's late season surge when they forced the Dodgers into a pennant playoff and then beat them for the championship.

Mays undoubtedly is the guts of the Giants. When he does the things he is capable of doing, the Giants win. In recent days he has been doing those things and the Giants have been winning.

Meadowbrook Tourney Has Record 28 Teams

Stan Sabat and Bill Healy, put their 72-hole title on the line here starting today in the $8,000 Meadowbrook Country Club invitational golf tourney.

A record 28 teams have entered the tournament which winds up Sunday with a 36-hole final.

Willie, in the last five games, has cranked nine hits in 18 times at bat. Four of his hits have been home runs and he has driven in nine runs during that span. He now is hitting .280, his high for the year. He also has been his brilliant self in the field and on the bases.

Consequently, the Giants won four of those five.

The peerless center fielder crashed a home run, double and single Thursday and batted in half his team's runs in their 4-6 triumph over the New York Mets. It was New York's 10th straight road defeat, matching the modern major league record for futility set by the Philadelphia Athletics of 1916.

Pittsburgh tripped up the Dodgers 4-3 and Cincinnati slugged the Cubs 5-2. Second place St. Louis defeated Milwaukee 3-1 and Houston shut out Philadelphia 3-0. Sandy Koufax, sensational Dodger southpaw, struck out 12 in six innings but the Pirates posted his offerings for eight hits, including a three-run homer by Roberto Clemente that spelled his fourth defeat. Koufax was seeking his 17th victory.

Superb relief pitching by Tommie Spahn helped Pittsburgh salvage the last of the three-game set.

Low Burdette, traded last month to St. Louis, not only had the satisfaction of beating his old Milwaukee team but outpitched an old friend in Warren Spahn. It was the first mound meeting of the ex-roommates after an 11-year companionship on the Braves.

The 36-year-old Burdette gave up five hits, struck out two and walked none. The 42-year-old Spahn allowed eight hits, struck out one and walked none. Stan Musial, another old timer, was responsible for Spahn's fifth defeat in 17 decisions. He singled in a run and later scored.

Catcher Johnny Edwards' ninth-inning sacrifice fly scored pinch runner Marty Keough with the run that gave Cincinnati the rubber game of the three-game set with Chicago. Cincinnati took an early 2-0 lead on Frank Robinson's two-run single but the Cubs tied the score in the sixth. The Cubs tied the bases on three singles in the bottom of the ninth but relief pitcher Al Worthington fanned Ernie Banks to end the game.

Hector Sherry Brown pitched a four-hitter and outfielder Al Spangler had a single, double, triple and walk in a perfect night as Houston made it two out of three against the Phillies. Philadelphia rookie right-hander Ray Culp, seeking his 11th victory, sustained his eighth defeat.

Inter-League Game

Waterford 'Stars' Play

The Waterford Township Class B All-Stars will play the Class C All-Stars in an exhibition softball double header Saturday night at the Drayton Plains Park.

This is the first time that the two leagues have met each other. In the past, each league has held its own all-star contest.

The B All-Stars will be managed by Jos Spencer, regular manager of league leading Spencer Floor Covering. Kurt Kuhns, Sr., manager of 'C' champion A&W, will pilot the 'C' squad.

The Class C starters will be Gary Heaton (A&W)-catcher, Lou Vodry (Dinky's)-1st base, Jim Swain (Haskins)-2nd base, Landon Morris (Haskins)-3rd base, Dave Goff (Haskins)-as, and Vern Cork (Lakeland), Ray Heaton (A&W), Jim Fuller (Rockcote)-outfielders.

The first game starts at 7 p.m. Admission charge is 50 cents.

Rockcote Rallies for 10-9 Victory in Waterford

Rockcote Paint rallied for two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning last night to defeat Dixie Bar, 10-9, in Waterford Class C softball action.

Jim Fuller and Clarence Brown started the Rockcote rally with singles, and later scored on two walks and a hit batsman.

The winning run scored when pitcher George Adams walked forcing Brown to cross the plate with the tie breaking tally.

There were a total of 25 hits in the contest, 13 by Rockcote. Fuller and Brown picked up three singles a piece to pace the winners' attack.

In the other game last night, Haskins Chevrolet forfeited to Dinky's Hideaway.

A single game is scheduled for tonight. Spencer Floor Covering can clinch the Waterford 'B' title by winning a makeup game against West Side Lanes.

If Spencer's loses tonight it will be forced into a playoff game against Lakeland Pharmacy to determine Waterford's 'A' representative in state competition.

Town & Country Grabs Softball Playoff Spot

An uphill struggle climaxed for Town & Country last night in the city softball league when it defeated Howe's Lanes, 10-0.

The victory was the third straight for T&C and clinched third place for it in the Class A race. Another contest saw Arvo Realty win its 10th game of the season, 5-3, over 300 Bowl.

Arvo finished the regular season second in the loop, three games behind city champion Harvey's Colonial House.

Town & Country's victory moved it into the state Class C playoffs. Monicatti Chrysler-Plymouth and Elks 810 could have tied T&C had it lost.

Those two will join last night's losers, instead, in an elimination series to determine who will enter the state "D" competition. Winning pitcher Cal Atwood had two key hits for Town & Country while teammates Chuck Nichols and Jerry Wedge had three and two, respectively. Atwood allowed five hits and fanned seven.

Phillies Split 2 Tilts in Boys' Club League

The Boys' Club Phillies squad in the 11-12 year-olds' league split a doubleheader yesterday.

They took the Braves, 7-3, but dropped a 4-1 verdict to the Pirates who now need only one more win to clinch the league title.

In the Indian Ball loop, the Fence Busters took a loss from the Scrants, 5-4, and the Ravens whipped the Forbers, 7-0.

Traffic Forges to Standstill

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the great cities of America suffer from a chronic metropolitan malady known as hardening of the traffic arteries.

It is generally agreed that unless something is done, the nation's urban areas will eventually succumb to an attack of thrombosis.

It also is generally agreed that the only solution to the problem lies in the improvement of mass transportation.

I am not aware of what measures other cities are taking, but

I am pleased to report that the nation's capital is acting with alacrity, or, putting it another way, is hurrying ahead to a standstill.

Seldom a month goes by that some government or private agency doesn't bring out an illustrated brochure that provides an artist's concept of a mass transportation system for Washington.

Copies are sent to Congress and the White House, where officials look at the pictures and exclaim "Isn't that interesting brush work?"

Then the traffic department changes the direction of one-way streets again, and that takes care of mass transportation until the next brochure is issued.

The feverish pace that has made Washington the top U.S. city in the development of mass transportation brochures already is producing beneficial results.

For one thing, it provides employment for a large number of artists. For another, it gives motorists something to read while they are waiting for traffic to become unjammed.

The latest brochure to come to my attention takes the form of a report to President Kennedy from D. Roy Chalk, head of the local transit company and leading builder of air castles.

When Chalk comes to grips with mass transportation, he doesn't fool around with any ordinary subway system, which the bulk of us commuters would be willing to settle for.

Chalk's brochure provides an artist's concept of mass transportation by means of "pneumatic tube systems," "ground effect machines," "supersails," "moonbeams," "hydrofoils" and "carveyors."

I'll tell you it makes mighty fine reading, especially when you are waiting for one of Chalk's buses to show up.

JFK'S REACTION

I don't know what President Kennedy's reaction to the brochure was, but I'll bet he liked it, too. I imagine he particularly admired the drawing of the hydrofoil, which looks something like a PT boat.

As for me, my favorite is the "moonbeam," although I think that is a typographical error.

I think Chalk intended it to be "moonbeam."

I can see us all now, whisking around the capital, to and from the suburbs, on moonbeams.

The use of moonbeams for transportation implies, of course, that we could only ride at night, which would be a serious drawback. But I expect someone will solve that problem in the next brochure.

Teen-Ager Strangled by Own Neckchief

MAYLENE, Ala. (AP)—A youth was accidentally strangled when a bandanna he was wearing caught on a bedpost.

Sheriff C. P. Walker said Steve Sydes, 15, apparently rolled off his bed Thursday, catching the bandanna on a bed post, and twisting it so that it strangled him.

Brave Actions in Cold War Recognized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cold war heroes will be eligible for the nation's top military decoration—the Medal of Honor—under a bill President Kennedy signed into law Thursday.

The measure also covers award of the Distinguished Service Cross, the Navy Cross, the Air Force Cross and the Silver Star for valor in short-of-war situations.

The President now can award the medals for heroism in action against an enemy of the United States, in military operations involved conflict with an opposing foreign force, or in combat service with friendly foreign forces.

The last provision covers situations like that in South Viet Nam, North Dakota's state capital where U.S. personnel are aiding in the government's fight against Communist guerrillas.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

'State Can Halt Housing Bias'

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's new civil rights commission will have the power to halt discrimination in the sale or renting of private housing, says Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

Authority of the commission, to be created under the new constitution next year, was defined by Kelley in a formal 20-page opinion yesterday.

The opinion was issued in response to a query from Sen. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, Senate majority floor leader.

Kelley concluded that from a plain reading of the constitution, "It is clear that the people have conferred plenary (absolute) power upon the civil rights commission in its sphere of authority as a constitutional commission to investigate and to secure the enjoyment of civil rights without discrimination."

The authority of the commission, Kelley declared, "is limited only by the revised constitution and the Constitution of the United States."

Kelley said the grant of power in the constitution carries with it by implication the authority to do all things necessary and appropriate to accomplish the purpose intended by the people.

'DSR Crisis May Be Near'

DETROIT (AP)—A report by a New York City engineering firm indicated yesterday that Detroit's public transit system faces a financial crisis unless key problems are eliminated.

The report, by W. C. Gilman & Co., a firm which specializes in transit problems, suggested a concerted effort to boost passenger volume and the elimination of taxes paid to the city by the city-owned line.

In the last 12 years, passenger volume has declined 65 per cent.

Unemployed Irishman Chooses Jail Sentence

LONDON (AP)—A judge gave Irishman Michael Bowler, 26, an unemployed laborer, the choice yesterday of going to prison for three months or returning to Ireland.

Bowler, who pleaded guilty to stealing a motor scooter, chose jail.

"I don't want to go back to Dublin; there's no work there," he said.

Edie Says She's Trouble, Even With Debts Paid Off

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I've finally paid off the farm," Edie Adams said—she was actually speaking of Ernie Kovacs' debts which she felt responsible for—"and now I'm no longer under pressure and can do things I want to."

"Like getting married again?" I asked.

"Yeah! But I spell trouble — with 19 kids and 35 lawsuits and a career. Somehow I always find people I can have trouble with. Ernie's mother seems to have one lawsuit against me a month. I could write an answer to Louis Nizer's book, 'My Life in Court!'"

"How much did you pay off?"

"A couple hundred thousand. At first I had a few scared winks."

"We were all prepared to move out of the California home, you remember. But it was wrong. It was kinda like lying down and dying. So I went to work. I did, let's see."

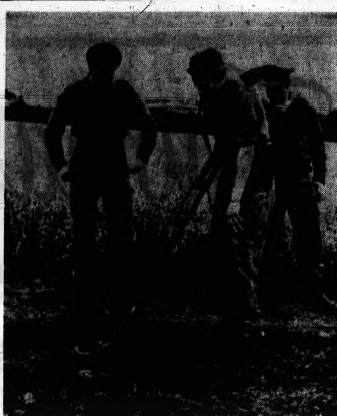

She figured it out: four movies, three unreleased; nine TV shows, a record album, a month in Las Vegas, a Bing Crosby show, the London Palladium, a Royal Command Performance with Bob Hope . . . and she's got her big CBS series coming up again.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Toots Shor asked Joe E. Lewis who Liston'll fight next. Joe E.: "I hope it's Russia." "Miss Universe" will return to Miami Beach next year sparring a N.Y. World's Fair offer. "We don't want to bounce around," boss Abe Feinberg says. Peter Sellers offered a bit in "Henry O'Brien" to Susan Pratt (Miss England), knocked out of the Miss Universe contest by an accident. The late Jeff Chandler's six-figure estate is still tied up in b.a. courts. . . . Dancers Angie and Margo'll appear in Norway for a month, then join Sammy Davis Jr. in Tokyo.

THE HOLE TRUTH—British soldiers with mine detectors have uncovered a lump of matter believed to be a meteorite from a farmer's field near the village in Charlton in Wiltshire, England. The discovery dispelled theories that a flying saucer had crashed landed. The metallic object that was found in the hole was sent to the British museum for investigation.

'Sorry Old Chaps, It's Just a Meteorite'

CHARLTON, England (AP)—The British army regretfully killed off a popular space fancy yesterday. That hole in farmer Roy Blanchard's potato field was blasted by a meteorite.

Argentina Asks OAS to Consider N-Free Africa

WASHINGTON (AP)—Argentina proposed Thursday that discussions on making Latin America a nuclear weapons-free zone be placed before the Organization of American States.

Five Latin-American nations—Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia and Ecuador — were understood to have made overtures to place the matter before the United Nations.

Argentina said that before the matter goes to the United Nations the member nations of the OAS should agree on such items as which nations would take part in the agreement, the geographical area it would cover, and how it would fit in with Latin-American commitments to continental defense.

"With the removal of this object at about noon today the hole ceased to give indications of the presence of anything metallic. The bomb disposal squad remains satisfied that nothing dangerous remains and is now tidying up farmer Blanchard's potato field."

"We are sorry that a hole which showed so much promise should have failed to live up to its notoriety during the past 10 days."

Though thwarted in Charlton, lovers of space fantasy drew consolation from the discovery of two more mystery craters, this time in Scotland.

ANOTHER FARM

These were discovered in a field in Berwickshire by 60-year-old farmer James Brown. Sixteen feet wide and three feet deep, the holes are 12 feet apart. Turi found them had been hurled 40 feet away.

Local police admitted they were baffled and called in a scientist from Edinburgh Observatory to investigate.

The army's Scottish command refused to advance any theories.

Vatican Raps Main Figures in Ward Trial

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican City newspaper Osservatore Romano said yesterday the principal figures of the Stephen Ward trial are "completely lacking in moral sentiment."

"It is not a question of simple immorality," Osservatore Romano said yesterday, "because immorality presupposes a negation and therefore the consciousness of morality."

"It is the appalling revelation of a total lack of moral sentiment in both the defendants and the witnesses."

The newspaper castigated the press for devoting great space to the trial.

"Sometimes the newspapers, apart from some commendable exceptions, are reporting, even in the front pages, the most sordid details, although the events that originated it are among the most repugnant which the chronicles have registered in the past few years," Osservatore said.

Khrushchev Declares

'Total Arms Ban Possible'

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared today that the agreement on the new nuclear test ban treaty created favorable opportunities to proceed to total disarmament.

He made the statement in answer to questions from correspondents of the government paper Zvestia and Communist party paper Pravda submitted to him in writing. They will be published in the two papers tonight and Saturday morning.

The answers were read to correspondents at a press conference in the Foreign Office shortly after Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman made a declaration in the same spirit at a news conference in the U.S. Embassy.

Harriman, after the statement, went to the Kremlin to talk with Khrushchev about the problem in Laos.

Khrushchev gave him an extremely hearty greeting, grabbing him first by the hand, then by the arms and by the shoulders, clearly to express his delight at seeing Harriman who had had a big hand in negotiating the nuclear test ban treaty signed Thursday night.

Harriman said: "It's damned hot."

The temperature was pleasant in his air-conditioned Kremlin office, but outside the mercury had climbed above 86 degrees.

Present besides Harriman and Khrushchev were Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and the Premier's favorite translator, Viktor Sukhodrev.

Before leaving for the Kremlin, Harriman said the test ban treaty

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's address to the nation tonight on the nuclear test ban agreement will be carried live on radio and television by the American Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co., and on radio by the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The speech will be aired at 6 p.m. (Pontiac time).

Unidentified Woman Killed by Auto

A Fenton man is being held by the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for investigation of negligent homicide in the traffic death of an unidentified young woman Aug. 2, at 2 a.m. today in Rose Township.

The woman was pronounced dead at Pontiac General Hospital after being struck by a car driven by Duane Douglas, 29, of 104 Walnut.

Sheriff's deputies said the woman was walking in front of 9000 N. Millard Road when hit by the northbound auto.

Douglas said he had lost a woman companion out of the car and then turned around to pick her up again, according to Sheriff's deputies.

Douglas told officers that she was walking along the road's northbound lane as he approached a curve. Later he told them that the woman was lying in the road as his car approached.

The driver added that he didn't see the woman until it was too late to avoid hitting her, police said.

Airline Questions Plan to Increase Jet Capacity

WASHINGTON (UPI)—United Airlines has questioned a proposal by Pan American World Airways to equip jets with a seating capacity of 180 persons.

The airline asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to check if such a plan would be safe. Pan Am has proposed the increase in capacity for economy flights between California and Hawaii in which passengers would pay only $100.

Postal Chief Quits to Join Law Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General J. Edward Day, who left a $90,000-a-year position as a West Coast insurance executive in July, has resigned to join a law firm.

The Post Office Department confirmed Thursday night that Day submitted his resignation July 19 and that President Kennedy had accepted it. A spokesman said the effective date had been left to the President's discretion.

The White House had no immediate comment.

A source close to Day said he would be succeeded by former Sen. Benjamin A. Smith II, a former Harvard roommate of the President who served two years in the Senate after Kennedy's election to the presidency.

But other administration sources said Smith would not be tapped for the job.

Day, 49, will become partner in charge of the Washington law office of the Chicago firm of Sidley, Austin, Burgess and Smith.

Day was formerly an attorney with the firm, as was Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Later Day served as Illinois commissioner of insurance during Stevenson's term as governor.

Locate Navy Rocket in Maryland Woods

SALISBURY, Md. (UPI)—A highly explosive rocket dived accidentally from a Navy plane has been "pinned" in a 160-acre wooded area, Maryland State Police said today.

The rocket was lost yesterday by a Sky Raider plane which was on a firing practice run from the super carrier Forrestal off the Virginia Capes.

A Navy spokesman said that the five-foot-long, gray-colored rocket fell from the wind of the ship due to a malfunction in controls.

A widespread search was launched off for the highly explosive rocket and residents in the area were told not to touch it if they came across the missile.

Most of World Praises Pact

Red China, France Lack Enthusiasm

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three's agreement on a partial nuclear weapons test ban won a welcome around much of the world today, including some Soviet satellites, as a step on the long road toward general disarmament and international trust.

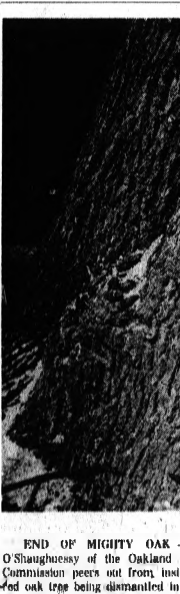

But there was lackluster treatment of the historic pact in the Soviet press and radio, apparently leaving the Russian people pretty much in the dark as to its significance. The news media were believed to be awaiting official guidance as to comment.

France and Red China, the mavericks of the rival power blocs, stood aside from the general enthusiasm for the agreement of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union banning tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. Both are pressing for nuclear weapons power of their own.

Communist Bulgaria's newspapers hailed the Moscow accord with headlines as "Encouraging Step Toward Everlasting Peace," "A Victory of Peace" and "Triumph of Reason."

The East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland said in a front-page editorial there is no doubt that this treaty "has full support and backing of all mankind."

For Britain, the agreement had deep domestic significance, pulling Prime Minister Macmillan back in firm control of his Conservative party and reviving the government party's hopes of victory at next year's national election.

Not only has the ban ended a large part of the nuclear contamination dangerous to humans, he said, but other understandings which can be reached.

These include, he said, subjects that have been discussed for a number of years in the disarmament and political field.

Aides Start Action to Convince Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration leaders have started Senate machinery rolling today what may be a twisting road to ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty.

Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who initiated the agreement yesterday in Moscow with Soviet and British negotiators, starts the congressional selling job Monday when he reports to three committees, possibly accompanied by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

To speed things up, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which has jurisdiction over treaties, invited members of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee to join in hearing Harriman's report behind closed doors.

John F. Reineck, city administrator, disclosed that a meeting yesterday with Detroit water officials revealed "no anticipated hold up" in construction.

Work on the Pontiac and Detroit systems is being rushed to completion, he said.

Reineck reported that all new mains have been completed and pressure testing will be finished today.

Although Detroit water will be pumped into Pontiac's new system by the target date, homes will receive that water until Aug. 9.

Detroit Water in Homes Aug. 9

Pontiac city officials said today that the hook up with the Detroit water system will be made on schedule, but homeowners won't actually receive the water until Aug. 9.

Residents face two more weeks ends under the sprinkling ban. The city is slated to plug into the Detroit water system next Friday, but a week of tests must be carried out before homeowners will get a drink of Motor City water.

The first Detroit water will be pumped into the city's transmission mains and tank. It will be isolated from the distribution system that carries it to homes.

Set Bidding on Water Main

Contractors' bids to pipe Detroit water into Bloomfield Township will be opened Aug. 5 and 6, with construction scheduled to begin in mid-October, the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) announced today.

DPW engineers estimate it will cost $2.26 million and take seven months to lay the 23 miles of transmission mains needed to complete the job.

The project has been split roughly in half for bidding purposes because it is too big for a single contractor to tackle, DPW Director A. J. Alexander said.

Cost of Living Rises to New High in June

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs in June rose four-tenths of one per cent to a record high, the Labor Department reported today.

The rise was the highest for a single month since September of last year when an increase of six-tenths of one per cent was recorded.

The June index at 106.6 compared to the 106 base for 1957-58, and is 1.2 per cent above last year.

The figures mean it cost $10.66 to buy in June the same living cost items which could be bought for $10 in the 1957-58 period.

Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner for prices and living conditions in the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the June increase was due primarily to higher prices for food, housing and medical care.

In addition, sales taxes were increased in several cities.

Sharply higher sugar prices were a major cause of an advance in average food prices in June. Sugar prices rose by 32 per cent.

Disaster Hits Capital City of Macedonia

Thousands Flee Into Streets as Buildings Crumble, Fires Start

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A catastrophic earthquake struck the minareted city of Skopje at dawn today, toppling tall buildings and homes and possibly killing more than 1,000 people.

Radio Belgrade said there are "thousands of injured," adding it was impossible to say how many were killed but the number "must be very great." The official news agency Tanjug put the estimated death toll over 1,000.

The radio said fires broke out in a technical school and a boys' high school.

Most of the city's population of 270,000 was caught in bed by the earthquake quake. Many ran out of their apartments in night clothes.

Tens of thousands stood in the rubble-filled streets, some weeping, others just staring at their former homes which had collapsed, Tanjug reported.

Skopje parks were turned into collection points for the homeless. All citizens were ordered to stay out of their homes for the next 24 hours as a safety measure.

Tanjug reported that the earthquake's center lay right in the heart of Skopje, the capital of the Province of Macedonia. The downtown section was hardest hit.

RUSH AID
The town of Nis, northeast of Skopje, made space for 1,000 beds for the injured. Doctors were rushed in from all towns in the area.

Belgrade radio described Skopje as a "great tragic working place."

The water supply was cut off. Yugoslav Army units set up emergency distribution centers.

Telephone and telegraph lines were cut and radio provided the only link with the outside world.

Tanjug said it was impossible to estimate the damage and this was borne out by the first refugees to reach Belgrade from the historic capital of Macedonia.

He told of the most solidly built building in the city, a Yugoslav Army barracks, being razed along with others.

Nine From State Feared Caught by Catastrophe

DETROIT (AP)—At least nine Michigan residents today were feared caught in the earthquake which devastated Skopje, Yugoslavia.

Relatives reported that Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Gumbertson of Lansing, in an anthropology research museum, and Mr. and Mrs. Ella Christoff of Detroit, vacationing, were believed to be in the ancient European city today. Five persons from Jackson were also believed to be near the quake area.

There was no confirmation from the torn city on whether any of the Michiganders was caught in the quake.

Detroit Mayor, John A. Boocker, said her parents, Teena and Ella Christoff, also of Detroit, notified her five days ago that they were headed for Skopje to visit relatives.

New customers will be charged $100 plus costs for additional lateral or $600 to connect into the system where laterals already are available, Scott said.

Congress Sets Rail Hearings

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—With the pressure off, Congress presses ahead today with hearings on the rail dispute by getting the unions views on President Kennedy's plan for settling it. They are expected to attack the plan sharply.

The brotherhood officials, some of whom already have voiced criticism, get their first chance to testify on the Kennedy proposal that the Interstate Commerce Commission take over the dispute when they appear before the Senate Committee.

Railroad executives have supported the proposal, aimed at reaching at least a temporary solution of the old work rules battle and averting a nationwide strike.

The railroad companies Thursday removed the threat of a nationwide strike Tuesday by agreeing to postpone for 30 days—until 12:01 a.m. Aug. 26—the imposition of the new work rules which have sparked the furious controversy with the five operating unions who represent 190,000 railroad employees.

Congress members had appealed for the extension, saying they would not be able to pass the legislation in time to beat the previous deadline.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., acting chairman of the Senate committee, told reporters he still would like to finish the committee hearings this week but that this might not be possible.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., of the House committee said hearings on that branch definitely would run several days next week.

Charles Luna, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, AFL-CIO, and one of the witnesses listed for today's Senate hearing, denounced Kennedy's proposal in a statement Thursday as "just about the worst possible solution."

Spokesmen for the carriers reiterated to the House committee Thursday their support of the President's plan. They did ask for a number of minor changes.

Four House Republicans including Rep. Robert Taft Jr., Ohio, introduced legislation to prohibit what the railroads call "featherbedding" and to require the lines to employ displaced workers on rule changes. The proposed new rules would eliminate some 60,000 jobs, including those of 30,000 firemen on diesel locomotives.

A House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said the Taft proposal had not been endorsed by the House Republican Policy Committee.

Detroit Youth Is Drowned in Orion Twp.

Don Roth, 12, of Detroit, drowned yesterday afternoon in Square Lake, Orion Township, after apparently falling off a plastic raft in five feet of water.

Sheriff's deputies said that Roth's four swimming companions last saw him about 200 feet from shore at 2 p.m.

They reported the youth missing about an hour after the drowning.

A nonswimmer, Roth was pulled out to a sandbar by his friends, all of whom live in Detroit. The raft was sighted floating alone shortly after.

The body was recovered at 3:15 p.m. by a team of sheriff's department divers.

The five boys were on an all-day outing at Kelly Park and were swimming from a beach at 1300 Heights.

86 Break From Prison

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuelan troops and police combed Caracas today for 86 Communist terrorists and common criminals who fought their way out of a crowded prison in a gun battle that left at least 51 dead and 51 wounded.

About 200 of the 816 terrorists and criminals at Reiten La Planta prison—in a residential section of Caracas—participated in the break Thursday.

They overpowered 40 guards and poured out of the prison gates and a hole in a wall under construction. Troop reinforcements drove back but 182. Sixteen were rounded up shortly afterward.

FIRING HEARD
Scattered automatic fire was heard in parts of Caracas during the night. There were reports of a number of robberies and shootings.

Prison officials said imprisoned members of the Armed Forces of Venezuela, National Liberation known also as FALN, incited criminals to join them in the break.

Believe 1,000 Die as Quake Strikes City

He said other hotels and many other buildings were badly damaged or destroyed.

With all telephone lines down, the only communication with the city was by radio.

The first shock hit with shattering force at 5:17 a.m. while most of the inhabitants were asleep. This was followed by a series of lighter quakes.

Blagovest, a pilot for the Yugoslav Air Transport Co., told Heraldo Belgrade that he was dressing in his room at the Hotel Irredent, opposite the railroad station, when the quake struck.

"I saw the railroad station go down in front of my eyes," he said. "It was a terrible sight. There was a tremendous pit and I told my roommate not to move. I thought that was the best thing I could do."

"A woman nearby shouted for help. It was a foreign woman tourist whose husband succeeded in escaping to the street. She remained in her room since the heat door prevented her from going out. We helped her out."

"I am afraid there must be a lot of children victims of the quake since they could not get out to the street as quickly as the grownups."

About five hours later, two more major quakes hit as relief workers swarmed through the debris, Tanjeng reported.

Medical teams were sent from Nis, Zagreb, Sarajevo, Ljubljana, and Mostar as well as from Belgrade. Special round-creeping teams, with heavy equipment such as bulldozers, were sent from Nis, which is north of Skopje.

Venezuela Hunting Escapees

The FALN, known for sabotage and attacks on Venezuelan and U.S.-owned installations and businesses, has vowed to overthrow President Romulo Betancourt's democratically elected government and set up a Castro-style regime.

Some sources suggested the break was timed to coincide with today's 26th of July anniversary marking Prime Minister Fidel Castro's initial attempt 10 years ago to launch a revolution in Cuba.

BLEW UP BRIDGE
Elsewhere in Venezuela, FALN terrorists blew up three major highway bridges. They told newspapers they planned to assault police stations to divert forces hunting the prison escapees.

Authorities said terrorist prisoners overpowered guards at the moon meal and opened cell blocks.

Other guards moved in, shooting and battling prisoners with gun bolts and night sticks.

The convicts gained temporary control, however. About 100 women prisoners ran hysterically through the melee.

Guards and police finally rallied. They fire pinned down many of the escapees in a creek bed while troops in armored cars cut SNIPING BEGAN.

Officials said a police inspector and four prisoners were killed. However, witnesses said they saw other bodies, including a passerby and policeman.

A number of bystanders caught in the cross fire were among the wounded.

Dixie Mayor Urges Okay of Bias Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The mayor of Atlanta today urged Congress to enact President Kennedy's proposal to ban racial discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other private businesses open to the public.

The appeal of Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. was the first by a major southern public official favoring the so-called public accommodations act at hearings by the Senate Commerce Committee.

Allen led off a full day of testimony on both sides of the capital today on civil rights legislation. South Carolina Gov. Donald S. Russell was scheduled to appear before the Senate committee after Allen.

Mayor Allen testified that if the open-facilities act is not enacted, some southern cities which voluntarily banned discrimination might reverse themselves and return to policies of strict segregation.

"We cannot dodge the issue," Allen said. "We cannot look back over our shoulder or turn the clock back to the 1860's."

But Allen said a public accommodations act should contain provisions giving cities and businesses "a reasonable time" to desegregate before the federal government intervened.

U.S. Launches New Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The United States today launched a Syncom 2 communications satellite toward an apparently successful elliptical orbit and planned to boost the spacecraft into a "hanging" orbit 22,300 miles above earth about five hours later.

The Syncom 2's Delta booster sent the satellite streaking skyward atop a bright red pillar of flame at 9:33 a.m. (Pondac time).

About nine minutes after blast-off, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced the satellite, capable of two-way telephone and telegraph transmissions, had separated from its booster.

Sixteen minutes after lift-off, NASA said that the launching appeared to be normal.

The gleaming white rocket climbed steeply into the clear sky and after two-and-a-half minutes its second stage ignited on time.

Today's launching was the fourth attempt after three postponements due to technical difficulties.

Birmingham Area News

'Static' Point Reached in Civil Defense Efforts

BIRMINGHAM—Civil defense efforts here have reached the "static" point, according to John F. Seefke, administrative aide to the city manager.

Because Birmingham is a built-up community, there is likely to be little change in this direction, he said.

At present, there are 14 public fallout shelters in Birmingham, nine of which are stocked with emergency provisions.

Rations for two more are on their way, Seefke noted. When all 14 shelters are stocked, they have a capacity to hold 2,863 persons or slightly more than 10 per cent of the city's population.

This figure, he said, compares favorably with other cities of a similar size.

Unlike rural areas, Birmingham has little chance to increase the number protected against attack, he noted.

Because of this main direction of civil defense efforts nowadays is in the area of public education, he explained.

In Suit by 2 Pontiac Banks

Rules Detroit Bank Opening Legal

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem today dismissed a suit by two Pontiac banks seeking to block the opening of a Detroit bank's branch in Bloomfield Township.

Judge Ziem, in a 21-page written opinion, ruled in favor of the Bank of the Commonwealth and State Banking Commissioner Charles D. Slay.

The ruling rejected contentions by the Pontiac State Bank and the Community National Bank of Pontiac that Slay's approval of the Commonwealth bank branch at Woodward and Square Lake Road was "unlawful and unreasonable."

Judge Ziem said he agreed with the Pontiac banks that there was no "substantial or obvious need" for the branch bank, but that Slay's contrary determination was not unlawful, unreasonable or arbitrary.

"The present banking facilities do not sufficiently take care of the banking business of the area," Judge Ziem said. "But, this court is not empowered to substitute its judgment for that of the commissioner."

Judge Ziem ruled that his jurisdiction in the case extended only to the question of whether Slay's action was unreasonable or unlawful.

The Pontiac banks claimed the area was adequately served by the Pontiac State Bank's branch at Miracle Mile Shopping center and Community National's Woodward Avenue office.

Slay and the Bank of the Commonwealth claimed that population figures and estimates show there is a need for more banking service in the area.

Judge Ziem also ruled that Slay did not act unlawfully and unreasonably in determining the area was a village.

The Bloomfield Township Board in 1956 designated an area including the shopping center and the location of the bank branch as the "Village of Miracle Mile."

The action was rescinded in May under a state attorney general's opinion that a township cannot determine boundaries of an unincorporated village.

However, a Supreme Court decision on what constitutes a village left the definition loose. State banking law permits bank branches only in cities incorporated and unincorporated villages.

The Commonwealth branch was open for a few hours May 1 before it was closed by a temporary injunction pending a court decision.

Foul Up Aerial Stamps

LANSING (UPI)—Lansing postal authorities were extremely embarrassed yesterday when they learned they had accidentally created rare collector's items by double canceling 300 Amelia Earhart first day covers.

The eight-cent air mail first day covers were postmarked from Atchinson, Kansas and Lansing on Wednesday, when a member of the 99s, a group of women pilots across the nation, flew them into every state capital from Mrs. Bernice Hill, Lansing postmistress said the stamps were accidentally delivered to a Lansing post office loading dock at a ceremony at Capitol City Airport.

Fast Action Needed to Cut Road Carnage

(Editor's Note—This is the last of a series of news articles on traffic safety in Michigan by Granger Weill, editor of the Port Huron Times Herald and chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association.)

By F. GRANGER WEILL
Editor, The Port Huron Times Herald
PORT HURON (AP)—Traffic fatalities were up 16 per cent

(797 died) in the first six months of this year. There were 23 per cent more injuries (at this rate there will be 138,000 hurt this year); the accident increase was 12 per cent.

It's impossible to translate cold statistics into blood and tears.

The increase in hard dollar costs to you and me and the state in general will be computed—and added to our insurance rates.

The urgency of the situation was startlingly focused for us by a long Fourth of July toll when 23 persons were killed, one of the worst records in the nation.

When some 130,000 Michigan citizens a year are scarred, crippled, blinded and otherwise mangled—and another 2,000 killed outright—it would seem that the time for action is long overdue.

The safety experts have told us that by certain changes in our laws and by bringing our police patrol to strength, we can make a deep cut in the figures.

Every 24 hours we delay means another crop of unnecessary death and accident statistics.

Why wait until the political climate is right or the State Treasury is bulging with surplus dollars? There are no politics in death.

And, there never will be enough dollars.

The state can actually save money for itself and its people by having adequate statutes covering the operation of automobiles.

What we need is a special session of the legislature to give us the laws to protect us and our families and friends.

It's as simple as that.

Toed skins, used by Chinese warriors to staunch battle wounds as early as 2300 B.C., are now known to contain small amounts of epinephrine. Greatly refined, epinephrine is now used by surgeons to stop bleeding and to stimulate the heart.

County Officials Due at Confab

Sixteen Oakland County officials are scheduled to attend the National Association of County Officials annual conference in Denver, Colo., the beginning of next week.

The theme of this year's conference is County Home Rule, a subject of particular interest to officials here at this time.

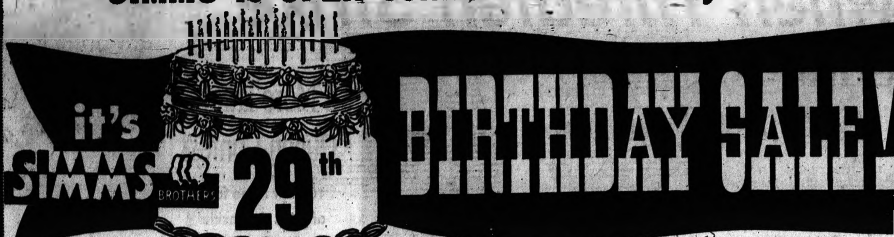

Other topics to be discussed include welfare planning, highway planning, community facilities planning and "how education should be attuned to the current worldwide economic struggle known as the Cold War."

Attending will be DeLoe Hamilton, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors; Frank Webber, vice chairman; David Levinson, past chairman; and Miss Reta Erickson, board secretary.

Also planning to go are city supervisors: R. Clare Cummings, Pontiac; Curtis Potter and Charles Horton, Royal Oak; Harry B. Edwards Jr., Madison Heights; Thomas O'Donoghue, Ferndale; and David Calhoun, Huntington Woods.

Others slated to attend are township supervisors, John Carey of Springfield and Curtis Hall, Farmington; County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy; Public Works Director R. J. Alexander; Robert Allen, corporation counsel; and George Williams, welfare director.

Dairymen Threaten Strike

Deal May Stop Market Outlet

MMPA, Wilson Co. Consider Agreement

DETROIT (U) — Threats of a "milk strike" were made yesterday as dairy leaders discussed a $5-million deal between the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) and the Wilson & Sons Dairy Co.

The deal will force 360 farmers to join the MMPA or lose their present marketing outlet, according to Glenn Lake, MMPA president.

According to the deal, MMPA will leave the milk bottling and distributing business in northern and western Lower Michigan, if Wilson will buy all of its milk supply from MMPA, said Lake.

"This leaves the 360 shippers (farmers) who are not MMPA members—stranded," said Leo Van Bonn of Northville, president of the Michigan Independent Livestock and Dairyman, Inc.

"They're forced to join MMPA, and once in, it is almost impossible to get out."

"The Wilson company has sold these farmers to the MMPA," Van Bonn said. "They are producers who did not choose to join the MMPA but now they'll join or quit."

CONFLICT OF INTEREST?

Van Bonn, a former MMPA member, said he questioned MMPA's being in the retail milk business. He said this was a conflict of interest and the courts would have judged it that way if they ever had been asked.

Ernest M. Nims of Westerville, chairman of District 6, National Farmers Organization (NFO), declared: "The farmers aren't going to like it. Farmers don't want to join MMPA. What they can do about it, I don't know. I can say though, that there will be a milk strike and soon."

A year ago the NFO urged Midwest farmers to keep their livestock off the market. Nims said farmers now are paid $3 a hundredweight (6% cents a quart) for milk used for manufacturing and about $4 a hundredweight (8% cents a quart) for milk sold in bottles. He said his group proposes $5 for the former and $6.65 for the latter.

Ernest Knoke, state organizer for the NFO, said his organization is picking up strength rapidly along to Glenn Lake, MMPA president, said Lake.

Under the plan announced yesterday, in addition to leaving the bottling and distributing business MMPA will acquire Wilson's manufacturing plant at Saranac. Wilson will acquire MMPA's bottling plant at Carson City.

DRIVER WALKED AWAY—When driver Gerald Yontz, 25, of Madison Heights, found something wrong with the steering, he curled up "in a ball" on the seat of the cab of this gravel truck as it careened into a tree. He suffered only a cut elbow and leg. The cab was demolished. The accident happened yesterday on Mount Vernon Road south of Inwood, in Washington Township. Here, nearby resident Thomas J. Shultz examines the wreckage.

Murdered Confidence Man Met Stranger Before Death

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — A mysterious meeting at a Detroit bar between Sol C. Brodsky and another man may hold the key to his slaying, Macomb County sheriff's deputies said yesterday.

Brodsky, a sometime confidence man and one of the executives of the now defunct Merchants Green Stamps firm, was found shot to death with nine bullets in his body on a remote road in Macomb Township road Wednesday.

The gangland-style slaying came on the heels of a probe by Macomb County officials into crime operations in the area.

Brodsky, who had "hundreds of enemies" because of his slick operations, police said, had a rendezvous with a "tall dark man" at a Detroit bar the night he was killed.

Deputies fixed the time of his slaying at about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday. On a desk pad at the Arcadia Tool, Die and Machine Co. of Detroit, where Brodsky had been employed recently as a plant manager, a note saying "Ciro's at 8:30" was found.

"She told them she knew five or six men—friends and associates of her husband—who could fit the description," the sheriff said.

Earlier, Mrs. Brodsky had told police she had received a call from her husband the night of his slaying saying he expected to be home about 10 p.m. Brodsky had once said "extensive" franchises to 40 persons for a special gift developed by an auto company. The firm had never given any franchises.

Almstadt also said the tracks found alongside a rented car found at the scene of Brodsky's slaying would be sent to the state police crime laboratory in Lansing for analysis.

Other than that, a deputy said, "We're checking out all the clues we can get."

A wide nylon ruffle edged the skirt of the bride's gown, which featured a fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was held by a tulle and pearls and rhinestones. Pink and white carnations composed her bridal bouquet.

Sharon Kelly of Waterliet was maid of honor, with Lucette Sutton of Holly and Mrs. David Lewis of Berrien Springs attending as bridesmaids.

Best man was Richard Sowler of Mt. Vernon, Ohio. Lester Osburne, David Lewis and Bruce Kaul, all of Berrien Springs, acted as groomsmen.

Cindy DeWitt of Holly served as flower girl and Dale Smith of Holly as ring bearer.

The couple honeymooned in northern Michigan and Wisconsin.

ROCHESTER — Fred G. Ledtke, 45, of 401 Old French, Avon Township, has been elected grand knight of this area's first Knights of Columbus Council.

The council was organized at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, with Rev. Edward Baumgartner, church pastor, named as the group's first chaplain.

Other officers elected include Sherwin Post, 1230 Sycamore, deputy grand knight; Robert Malin, 2825 Tallahassee, Avon Township, chancellor; John Dunbar, 621 Elizabeth, financial secretary; and Jack C. Hughes, 160 Wabash, Avon Township, treasurer.

2 More Enter Queen Contest

10 Now Hope for Title of 'Miss Ortonville'

ORTONVILLE — The field of candidates in the Miss Ortonville contest has been increased to 10 with the 11th-hour addition of two more entrants.

Linda Shaver, 18, of 2465 Ortonville Road, and Gail Staiton, 18, of 1959 Cornell, both of Brandon Township, are the latest candidates for the crown.

Contest officials will continue to accept applications up to 7 tonight.

Actual judging starts at 8 p.m. in the high school gymnasium. Judges for the event are Pontiac Press reporter Pat McCarty; Ozzie Watchpocket, a member of the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. Patricia Hillman; a member of the Davisburg Jaycettes; Robert Wilson, Region D national director of the Jaycees; and Village President Charles Sherman, who will crown the winner.

Local dentist Dr. George Jaruga will act as master of ceremonies.

The winner will go on to compete against queens from neighboring communities for the honor of reigning as the Romeo Peach Queen during that village's Labor Day weekend celebration.

Victim in Auto Crash in Improved Condition

In improved condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital is Cynthia Keller, 18, of 6253 Cramline, Clarkston. She received head injuries Monday when the car she was in struck a tree beside Sashabaw Road, Independence Township.

A Press story Tuesday incorrectly listed her address as 3320 Main, Waterford Township. This is the home address of Michael Craft, 16, driver of the car.

DONNA M. WITT

An Oct. 19 wedding is being planned by Donna M. Witt and Walter F. Greig. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Witt, 8439 Arlis, Commerce Township. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Greig, 2881 Stennett, Keego Harbor, are parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Veterinarians Told to Report Odd Diseases

LANSING (AP) — Federal and state veterinary officials have asked veterinarians to inform the State Agriculture Department about "any unusual disease conditions" they may find in livestock.

Dr. Asa Winter in charge of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's animal disease eradication branch in Lansing, and Dr. John Quinn, state veterinarian, made the request.

It followed a USDA warning that Cuba may be considering bacteriological warfare against the U.S.

The USDA warning was based on news reports from Miami pointing a Cuban scientist as saying bacteriological warfare research is being conducted at a guarded laboratory in Pinar del Rio province.

State veterinarians received this request from Winter and Quinn: "You are urged to be alert to observe livestock for any unusual disease conditions. Any such condition, particularly those which appear to be vesicular in nature, should be immediately reported to the state veterinarian by telephone."

and a lot more!

Never before has so much engineering know-how been poured into a 6-hp tractor. Speed of attachment-change alone puts the Husky way out in front of its competition. BOLENS engineers call it "the half-minute hitch" . . . and they're being conservative. Eleven Fast-Switch attachments mean year-round usefulness. Mow with the 22-inch rotary mower shown above. A 22-inch tiller attachment gives you easy, convenient tillage. The 32-inch Sno-Caster makes snow removal a pleasure . . . or you can use the 42-inch grader blade. These and seven other attachments make the Husky 600 an all-season worker.

PLUS: • All gear transmission with 6 speeds forward and 2 reverse • One-pedal clutch-and-brake action • 6-position attachment lift • 6-hp Briggs & Stratton engine

Today's Draftees Are Brighter - Got to Be

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draftees today are brighter boys than those inducted during World War II and Korea, the Pentagon's personnel experts believe.

Mental standards for inductees were raised last May 1. But the trend toward more selectivity in selective service had been under way for several years. Soldiers now are to be mentally sharper because the equipment they handle now is more complex.

Since Korea, only the Army has used the draft. Asked how present draftees stack up against those of the past two wars, the Army said: "On the average, the quality of draftees today is better than World War II and Korea because the mental standards for induction are higher. Therefore, fewer lower mental category personnel can qualify for service. On the other hand, fewer high mental category personnel are being inducted today because of a smaller draft than in World War II and Korea."

Physical standards have not changed.

REJECTION RATE

The rejection rate on the basis of mental tests (which really mean how much native intelligence and ability to learn a man has in higher than average) because the military can be more selective in peacetime than in war. Moreover, deferments for those who qualify can be and are higher in peacetime.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, estimates that in the past year, 300,000 are deferred now so they can go to college. But, in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee recently, Hershey hastened to say that "I don't want to claim that we are keeping these boys in college, because we couldn't induct them in any great numbers if they didn't go to college."

Hershey's view seems substantial.

Used by draft quota figures. Only 4,000 draftees were asked by the Army for each of the months of January and February, while the high point so far this year is the 12,000 monthly quota set for August and September. Army strength now totals about 370,000.

For the last 30 years, Hershey says, the selective service system has been what he calls a "Chandler," steering men into that part of national life for which they can be most useful in the over-all national defense effort whether in service or in military production. He told the committee that "I have no idea how many people we are deferring that may well be immediately involved in survival as the people who are in uniform."

But he also said: "I think our capacity in time of no great emergency is either by providing the incentive for the man to enlist, or, if he doesn't enlist, lead him in and induct him." How well does this work?

SPECIAL REPORT

The Pentagon personnel experts say: "If the authority to induct were to be eliminated, there would undoubtedly be a significant impact on voluntary recruitment programs affecting both enlisted and officer procurement. The precise impact is difficult to estimate. However, surveys of recent volunteers into the Army and Air Force indicate that about two-fifths of these volunteers were influenced to some extent by the existence of a draft obligation."

The draft law was extended for another four years by the present Congress. How long will a draft system be needed? "It is our judgment," says the military manpower experts, "that selective service picks out the kind and numbers of men the Army wants.

How does a present-day soldier compare in his work with the PPC of World War II days?

An old soldier, who came into the Army as an enlisted man in World War II and is an officer now, figures the differences are something like these:

The World War II draftee may have trained for a howitzer outfit. His counterpart today may find himself in a guided missile outfit or in a battle group armed with Davy Crockett nuclear weapons, where the operation and in-wards of an electronic computer must be part of his knowledge. In other days, a smattering of words in one or two foreign languages might be enough to meet requirements of an assignment. Today, with U.S. forces scattered across the face of the world, skill in foreign languages is important.

Bids for School Facilities Rejected as Too Expensive

The Pontiac Board of Education last night rejected as too high $408,880 in bids on the proposed service building.

In addition, the school board ordered the combined service and warehouse building redesigned to meet the budgeted costs for the new structure.

The bids totaled nearly 10 per cent over the estimated cost of $345,480 for the building. Stated to be erected at Montclair and N. Saginaw, the service building was to replace the school district's present facilities at 40 Patterson.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business and staff personnel, said the bids were $50,400 over the original estimates.

Retired Newsmen Returns for Degree

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Frank Starzel, a Le Mars, Iowa, native who recently retired as general manager of the Associated Press, has decided to clean up some "unfinished business" at the State University of Iowa.

Starzel, 59, left the university in the early 1920s to become managing editor of the Iowa City Press Citizen before he had completed work on his bachelor degree.

Now he is enrolled in a university correspondence course and hopes to complete the remaining semester hours by next June.

20 Pilgrims Die in Greece

AGRINION, Greece (AP)—A boat carrying pilgrims across a lake to a monastery to celebrate a saint's festival capsized yesterday and police reported 20 drowned. There were only two survivors.

Most of the victims were women and children from the village of Starna on their way to the Monastery of St. Paraskevi, on the shores of Lake Amvrakia in Western Greece. Police said the boat might have been overloaded.

230 W. Walton, was low bidder at $414,400 for the general construction contract.

The local firm topped nine other companies in the bidding. Tenny Construction Co., 1509 Telegraph, was second lowest with a bid of $432,700.

Low bidder on the mechanical trades contract Magnolia Heating Service of Southfield with a bid of $141,000.

Low bidder on the electrical contract was Ayrast Electric Co. of Melvindale, with a bid of $53,460.

Fell said the bids could be let at a later date.

SEVERAL CHANGES

C. Wendell Smith, an architect with Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., of Detroit discussed several changes that might be made in the service building.

He estimated that $60,000 might be saved by moving the proposed offices of the new building, now planned with a separate roof and exterior, inside the main structure.

Smith said the office space could be constructed as an addition later on. Fell offered three reasons for the high bids.

First, he said a shortage of workers in some trades has increased the costs of labor. Secondly, he said the bids included a sprinkler system that was not in the original plans.

Thirdly, the assistant superintendent said that additional site development had been incorporated in the bids.

In addition to ordering the service building redesigned, the school board said the project should be put up for bids at the same time as bids are taken on the proposed administration building.

Fell also told the board members that they could expect tide to be higher than estimated on the administration building.

He said, however, that some savings might be possible if the two projects were bid together.

Traffic Forges to Standstill

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the great cities of America suffer from a chronic metropolitan malady known as hardening of the traffic arteries.

It is generally agreed that unless something is done, the nation's urban areas will eventually succumb to an attack of thrombosis.

It also is generally agreed that the only solution to the problem lies in the improvement of mass transportation.

I am not aware of what measures other cities are taking, but

I am pleased to report that the nation's capital is acting with alacrity, or, putting it another way, is forging ahead to a standstill.

Seldom a month goes by that some government or private agency doesn't bring out an illustrated brochure that provides an artist's concept of a mass transportation system for Washington.

Copies are sent to Congress and the White House, where officials look at the pictures and exclaim "Isn't that interesting brush work?"

Then the traffic department changes the direction of one-way streets again, and that takes care of mass transportation until the next brochure is issued.

The feverish pace that has made Washington the top U.S. city in the development of mass transportation brochures already is producing beneficial results.

For one thing, it provides employment for a large number of artists. For another, it gives motorists something to read while they are waiting for traffic to become unjammed.

The latest brochure to come to my attention takes the form of a report to President Kennedy from O. Roy Chalk, head of the local transit company and leading builder of air castles.

When Chalk comes to grips with mass transportation, he doesn't fool around with any ordinary subway system, which the bulk of us commuters would be willing to settle for.

Chalk's brochure provides an artist's concept of mass transportation by means of "pneumatic tube systems," "ground effect machines," "superalloy monobeams," "hydrofoils" and "carveyers."

I'll tell you it makes mighty fine reading, especially when you are waiting for one of Chalk's buses to show up.

JFK'S REACTION
I don't know what President Kennedy's reaction to the brochure was, but I'll bet he liked it, too. I imagine he particularly admired the drawing of the hydrofoil, which looks something like a PT boat.

As for me, my favorite is the "monobeam," although I think that is a typographical error.

I think Chalk intended it to be "moonbeam."

I can see us all now, whirling around the capital, to and from the suburbs, on moonbeams.

The use of moonbeams for transportation implies, of course, that we could only ride at night, which would be a serious drawback. But I expect someone will solve that problem in the next brochure.

Teen-Ager Strangled by Own Neckchief

MAYLENE, Ala. (AP)—A youth was accidentally strangled when a bandanna he was wearing caught on a bedpost.

Sheriff C. P. Walker said Steve Sydes, 15, apparently rolled off his bed Thursday, catching the bandanna on a bed post, and twisting it so that it strangled him.

Brave Actions in Cold War Recognized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cold war heroes will be eligible for the nation's top military decoration—the Medal of Honor—under a bill President Kennedy signed into law Thursday.

The measure also covers award of the Distinguished Service Cross, the Navy Cross, the Air Force Cross and the Silver Star for valor in short-of-war situations.

The President now can award the medals for heroism in action against an enemy of the United States, in military operations involved conflict with an opposing foreign force, or in combat service with friendly foreign forces.

The last provision covers situations like that in South Viet Nam, North Dakota's state capital where U.S. personnel are aiding building at Bismarck is of only the government's fight against scraper construction and a section of it rises to a height of 18 stories.

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The doctor who helped bring Oakland County's only set of quadruplets into the world 12 years ago died yesterday.

Dr. Harold F. Stahl, 62, of 800 Lapeer Road, was picking berries near Lakeville, when he suffered a stroke.

He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, where he died at 5:30 p.m., two hours after being stricken. Dr. Stahl, a general practitioner in the Oxford area for 36 years, assisted Dr. Edward Chirle in the delivery of Rosebush quadruplets of Oakland County.

The total delivery time for the four perfect babies, two boys and two girls, was less than two minutes.

FOR MANY YEARS
Dr. Stahl had been the Kenneth Rosebush family's physician for many years prior to the multiple birth.

He was graduated from Toronto University in Kitchener, Ont., and took postgraduate studies at Western College, London, Ont.

He served his internship and residency at Toronto General Hospital and Harper Hospital of Detroit.

He was a member of the American Medical Society, the Oakland County Medical Society, the Royal Canadian Medical Society, and the Ontario Medical Association.

In 1948, he published a book on investments, "What Is the Road to Easy Street." He also has copyrighted an investment record system. He was a member of Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Service will be at 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Mr. Harned leaves his wife Gertrude; a brother, Jack E. of Bloomfield Hills; a sister, Mrs. Tom Malone of Pontiac; four grandchildren; a great-grandchild; a brother and a sister.

Gas Balloons Explode, Hurting 4 in Germany
RECKLINGHAUSEN, Germany (UPI) — Four persons were injured yesterday when they tried to revive an old wedding custom — popping gas-filled balloons.

Police said the rev filled 40 balloons with an oxygen-acetylene mixture, stuffed them in the trunk of their car and set off for the wedding. But the balloons overfilled and popped, blowing the car apart and setting it on fire.

Man Found Dead in Car
Henry East Harned, 63, of 2891 Voorhees, Clarkston, was found dead yesterday in his car parked in the garage of the above address. Death was attributed to carbon monoxide poisoning.

The body can function well in spite of a surprising amount of arterial hardening, but the infiltration of fat into the arterial walls carries with it another, serious hazard — occlusion. In other words, the more fat that is de-

Indian Army Chief Cuts Visit Short
NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian army's chief of staff, Gen. J. N. Chaudhuri, is cutting short a good-will trip to the United States and Canada because of the Chinese border situation, a Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

Chaudhuri is eliminating a tour of Canadian defense headquarters and training schools scheduled for July 29-30. He will leave New York Saturday for New Delhi.

The spokesman said the general's return is "merely precautionary." He said it is due to a Chinese military buildup in Tibetan border areas which the Indian government reported yesterday.

Mr. Harned leaves his wife Gertrude; a brother, Jack E. of Bloomfield Hills; a sister, Mrs. Tom Malone of Pontiac; four grandchildren; a great-grandchild; a brother and a sister.

When the blood supply to the heart muscle is cut off, the victim suffers a heart attack. Whether this is mild or severe depends on whether the occlusion was gradual or sudden and on the extent of the area supplied by the occluded vessel.

Over half of all deaths in the United States are now due to diseases of the heart and blood vessels. We doctors recognize other factors which produce arterial hardening.

One is overweight. There is a natural tendency in persons over 45 to become physically less active.

Since few of them cut down on their food intake they begin to put on weight, especially if the years have made them less perceptive. All persons over 45 years of age should make an all-out effort to keep their weight within normal limits.

In its later stages blood pressure may become a serious disease in itself and require special treatment. It can produce hardening of the arteries.

Excessive cigarette smoking can cause hardening of the arteries by abnormally constricting these vessels.

Hart Will Open Branch Office

Locates in Berkley for Closer Suburban Ties

Democratic U. S. Senator Philip A. Hart will open a new branch office in Berkley Sunday to permit closer liaison with suburban and outlying communities.

The suburban branch, to be located at 2706 W. 11 Mile Road, will supplement the Detroit Federal Building office that Hart has maintained since becoming a senator, he said.

"The need for this," the senator says, "was demonstrated during the two community conferences I sponsored in Washington."

"There are dozens of federal programs to benefit local communities but success often depends on close, constant contact."

And close contact, Hart added, "depends on ready access."

The senator said his new branch office will "make senatorial services more readily available to additional thousands."

A reception to which suburban civic leaders have been invited is scheduled to mark the formal opening of the office Sunday.

Hart said he hopes to spend several days at the office each month. The office is to be permanently staffed by Eddie McGinnis, a Hart aide.

10 Portable TV Sets Stolen From Area Shop

An estimated 10 portable television sets valued at about $150 each were stolen in a break-in last night at the Good Housekeeping Shop, 47-49 W. Huron.

Police patrolling the area discovered the broken front window of the store at 3:55 a.m.
