Storm Damages Utility Lines Here

Homes in Area Without Power Late Last Night

Numerous Small Fires Reported From Heavy Lightning Blitz

Light and power crews were still mending shattered lines today after a savage electrical storm last night started several fires and blacked out an undetermined number of Oakland County homes.

Detroit Edison Co. officials said they didn't know the full extent of the damage yet, as their crews were still out mending lines.

The electrical storm that lit up Pontiac skies like a pinball machine dumped one-third of an inch of rain here and tempered a heat wave forecast earlier.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says temperatures won't go over 84 to 88 degrees Sunday after a low of 66 to 70 tonight. Partly cloudy weather and occasional showers are predicted.

Pontiac temperatures dropped to 70 early this morning, but climbed back to 73 by 2 a.m. and 83 by 2 p.m. today.

In Pontiac, lightning burned out a transformer at Pontiac Motor Division's Plant 8, set fire to a Consumers Power Co. utility pole on Dawson Alley off Saginaw street, and may have helped blow fuses at Pontiac Police Department.

The police and fire squads in the radio control room at Perry and East Pike streets worked by candlelight for two hours, running their switchboard on batteries.

Detroit Edison Co. lost the lines supplying some 400 homes in the area bounded by East and South boulevards, East Pike street and Opdyke road. Service was restored about 7 a.m. today.

Waterford firemen rushed to Huron Theater after lightning followed wires into an air conditioning unit and burned out the motor, causing $450 damage. Some 60 theater movie-watcher apparently never knew of the incident.

Waterford firemen also put out a $200 lightning fire at the home of Roger Curtis, 3729 Chenolet, and cut telephone wires hanging so low that they stopped traffic at Airport and Hackett roads.

West Bloomfield firemen stood by sputtering power lines down on Commerce road just past Orchard Lake road. Edison men were still working on that break this morning, while St. Mary's Seminary and some 100 homes waited for service.

Lightning in Birmingham struck the home of R. H. White, 582 Mohagan Ave., but caused no fire. Other bolts struck trees on Lincoln avenue east of Shirley drive and in Shain Park across from Birmingham Police Station.

Lightning caused house fires in Oak Park, Huntington Woods and Royal Oak township, burned a barn near Leonard and struck another in Romeo.

Wedding Is Delayed by Boat Fire

COUPLE SWIM TO SHORE—Burned in a boat accident yesterday on Lake St. Clair, Phyllis Schnarr and Henry Wiegiers talk over their delayed wedding plans at Royal Oak General Hospital. A 16-foot boat that Wiegiers built caught fire about fifty feet off shore and the couple had to jump over the side and swim to shore. They were to have been married today but Miss Schnarr said that the wedding would have to be delayed at least three or four days. The bride-to-be lives at 521 Williams St., Royal Oak.

Ferndale Senator Seeks GOP Nomination for Secretary of State

State Senator George N. Higgins of Ferndale today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for secretary of state.

He had previously been a candidate for governor but withdrew a few days ago.

Candidates for this office are named by the state party conventions held soon after the Aug. 3 primary.

Sen. Higgins has served in the State Senate since 1937. Before that he served for six years in the State House.

He has become one of the leading experts on taxation in the State Legislature. It was under his sponsorship that the new business transactions tax was adopted which met one of the State's most serious financial crises.

"I believe that my knowledge of taxation and of state affairs, and my experience as a successful business man can be put to good use in the secretary of state's office," said Higgins in his announcement.

Higgins is an automobile dealer in Ferndale, where he served as a city commissioner and supervisor before seeking state office. He has owned his own business since 1928.

Guatemalan Rebels Set Up a Provisional Government

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Anti-Communist Guatemalan rebels set up a provisional government last night amid indications the struggle for that Central American nation is becoming a hot shooting war.

Insurgent planes attacked Guatemala City and the rebel radio claimed its forces were "marching victoriously" on the capital. The Communist-supported government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman declared, however, its troops remained in control on all fronts.

Creation of the provisional regime, headed by rebel Commander Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, was announced in a communique by the "Liberation army." It said the government headquarters were at Chiquimula, a town of 8,848 people, 20 miles from the Honduran border.

The communique said Chiquimula had been captured early yesterday. But a dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge in Guatemala City said the government's latest bulletins claimed Chiquimula was still in its hands. Rutledge's dispatch passed through Guatemalan censorship and was delayed about six hours in transmission.

Rebel planes also blasted Zacapa and other government strongholds. Authoritative sources said a direct bomb hit on an ammunition dump (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Anderson told Detectives David Braun and Mahlon France that he recognized the youth from a photograph published yesterday in the Pontiac Press.

He said he was "positive of the identification." Anderson said he picked up Lacasse and another youth at Northwestern Highway and Orchard Lake Road and drove them to Northwestern and 8 Mile Rd.

The second youth called the other one "Ernie," Anderson told the detectives.

The motorist was quoted as saying the two boys claimed they were heading for the East Coast "to get a boat for South America to find work."

Meanwhile, New York State Police are checking reports that the boy is visiting in the Bronx, according to Brann.

Lacasse was first reported drowned in Stony Lake, June 13 but a thorough search of the lake yielded no clues leading to the youth, according to police.

"There is no point in any further search," said Brann, "we dragged the lake, covered it from the air and conducted posse hunts. We were unable to find anything."

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell said his department will follow other leads anyone can furnish his department.

Hubbell added that they are also seeking information regarding clothing left at Stony Lake the day Lacasse was reported missing.

Train Derails in Nebraska; 75 Are Injured

5 From Michigan Hurt as Eastbound 'Rocket' Overturns at Hallam

HALLAM, Neb. (AP)—Derailed of the Rock Island Railroad's Rocky Mountain Rocket toppled over eight of the 11 passenger and Pullman cars here last night sending at least 75 persons to hospitals for treatment.

At least 16 or 18 of the passengers were seriously hurt, reports to State Safety Patrol Chief Col. C. J. Sanders, at Lincoln, indicated.

A check of hospitals at Lincoln, Beatrice and Crete to which the injured were sped by ambulances and private cars showed 61 persons still hospitalized. At least 14 others were treated and dismissed.

Unofficial reports indicated about 150 passengers were on the train, pulled by three diesel units, one of which overturned.

Engineer Roy Ensign of Fairbury, Neb., said "I don't know what happened. The train started to shimmy and all of a sudden I was thrown against the controls."

Mail clerk John Helm, 32, of Phillipsburg, told how the mail car tipped over and "the dirt started flying and I remember digging out from under mail sacks."

After getting out of the mail car, Helms said he carried six injured persons off the train before starting to Hallam with other trainmen to turn in the wreck report.

Col. Sanders said his men who rushed to the scene reported one car piled on top of another while others just appeared to have "tilted over."

Traveling on the train with his family was Ed Fleig of Ferdinand, Ind., who said he had left his car at home in Indiana "to escape the dangers of the road" when the family went to Colorado Springs for a vacation.

Fleig told how, just before the derailment, his son, Fred, 17, left the car the family was in to go forward to the club car for a soft drink.

"We looked out the window of our car which was one of those that did not overturn and we saw the club car ahead with another car on top of it," he related.

For 45 minutes the Fleigs did not know what had happened to Fred. Despite her worry, Mrs. Fleig, a trained nurse, tended and comforted the injured until her son was found. He was not seriously hurt.

Conductor W. O. Nielson of Omaha, riding in the head car, said (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Supply May Ease Soon

SETTLEMENT REPORTED—With an end to the milk strike in sight, residents who have been conserving the limited supply can now ease up and enjoy a few cool drinks. Above Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, 331 First St., demonstrates what she proposes to do when milk is again available in unlimited quantities. Early ratification of an agreement in the milk strike is expected.

Gigantic Wave Washes 17 Chicagoans Into the Lake

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago park police said today at least 17 fishermen had been washed into Lake Michigan by a huge tidal wave today and that "several" were believed to have drowned.

Police said at least 16 fishermen had been swept off rocks and into the lake at the Montrose Harbor, on Chicago's North Side, and one had been washed into the water at a pier at North Avenue, 28 blocks further south.

All available rescue equipment of the U. S. Coast Guard, police and fire departments were rushed to the scene. The Coast Guard sent four boats to aid in the rescue effort.

Police Sgt. Robert, Donner of Lincoln Park police said several persons "definitely" had been drowned and that rescuers "still are fishing people" out of the water.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago described the wave as a seiche and said it was caused by a small line moving across the lake.

The condition is caused by a rapid change in air pressure which depresses the water in one spot and causes a mounding up of the water level in another. The water can rise quickly several feet.

The Weather Bureau said it is an "unpredictable situation."

New 'Disease' Defined as Filibuster Belly

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) defined a new "senatorial disease" Friday. He called it "filibuster belly," which is caused by excessive inhalation of one's own oratory.

Since much of the fuel was destined for military use, the Navy and FBI aided by the Los Angeles arson squad began checking the possibility of sabotage.

As tanks exploded, a pool of burning oil formed within a 20-foot high firewall around the storage area of Tide Water Associated Oil Co. But the wall held the flaming mass. Fifteen of the 20 tanks within the enclosure burned.

F. E. Coyle, marine terminal superintendent of Tide Water, said damage would be more than one million dollars.

Home Service May Resume Early Monday

Union's Membership Expected to Ballot on Accord Tonight

DETROIT (AP)—Federal and state mediators said today that the milk strike which had cut off 80 per cent of daily deliveries to the Detroit area, has been settled in its third day. It will be submitted for union ratification as soon as possible.

State Mediator Archie Sims said that the CIO United Dairy Workers had come to terms with the 21 Detroit area creameries, but no details are available.

The strike began Wednesday midnight when the union and dairymen failed to agree on a new contract. Major item in the dispute was the current six day week, which the union wanted reduced to five with the same pay.

Sims said he and Federal Mediator Paul Ricketts didn't expect milk deliveries to Pontiac, Detroit and Mount Clemens to begin until Monday.

Sims said that the union membership will probably vote on the ratification of the agreement about 7 p.m. (EST) tonight at the dairymen's hall.

Details of the settlement, he said, probably would not be available until that time.

The settlement followed all night negotiations by the union and company officials with the mediators. Then this morning, it was announced that the settlement had been reached, subject to union ratification.

It meant the end, probably by Monday of emergency services, milkless households and milk dumpings by farmers. The first milk pickups would probably begin tomorrow, if the union ratifies.

That would mean that all day Sunday would be needed for processing the milk, and the first deliveries would not be made until Monday.

Michigan farmers continued to dump milk, normally consumed in the Detroit area, and the cost was reportedly $117,000 a day. Sunday's pickups would end that.

An attempt to deliver 15,000 quarts of milk to Detroit suburbs was halted yesterday. Strikers in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Australian Star Wins First Tennis Round

WIMBLEDON (INS)—Lewis Hoad, young Australian star, eliminated 40-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Miami, 4-6, 6-0, 7-5, 6-3, in the quarter-final round of the all-England tennis championships today.

The court was packed when play began today. Hundreds had waited in line all night and thousands breakfasted outside the stadium long before the gates were opened.

No time was lost in starting play in an effort to make up for the schedule which was completely rained out yesterday.

Baker had his stuff spread out on the floor. It included U. S. Army sleeping bags, GI combat boots—a lot of the stuff you pick up at Army surplus when you're going on a camping trip in the States.

But stretched out here in Guatemala on the floor of the Hotel Florida under the suspicious eyes of those two plainclothesmen it sure looked like military gear.

The cops were suspicious but very courteous. After all, how would we have acted in 1941 if we'd picked up a couple of Heidelberg U. boys touring the U. S. A. in similar circumstances?

The policemen carefully bundled up everything. They even went back into the bathroom and took two rolls of tissue.

Eden, Dulles Seek Accord to Nip Red Surge in Asia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden opened discussions at the State Department today on possible developments of a common British-American policy for blocking further Communist conquests in Southeast Asia.

Their talks constituted the first attack on this problem in the weekend round of conferences among President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and their chief foreign policy advisers.

The conferences began yesterday and are due to end tomorrow evening.

The United States officials going into today's meeting were prepared to urge the British to begin at once on the creation of a Southeast Asian anti-Communist alliance.

The British have been far less enthusiastic about this than the United States. Eden, to the surprise and shock of Dulles and his advisers, suggested Wednesday that Britain would like to see a security system based upon a series of non-aggression pacts with the Communists in Asia.

Eden and Dulles met in Dulles' office. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said they were going to talk about Southeast Asia and that Prime Minister Churchill and President Eisenhower would discuss the same subject after lunch.

Meanwhile Churchill and Eisenhower were due to meet with complete informality for pre-lunch talks.

Chatty Letter Reveals Tense Conditions in Guatemala

(Editor's Note: Censorship being what it is in Guatemala these days, a correspondent might as well just sit down and write a letter to his boss instead of trying to file acceptable dispatches on the revolution. At any rate, that's what global reporter, Fred Sparks, tried to do following transmission over the heavily-censored telephone from Guatemala City.)

Dear Boss: This was one of those days in Guatemala City. I had breakfast in the usual restaurant and noted that the price had gone up from 75 cents to $1.50 overnight. Food is getting a little scarce.

After breakfast I climbed into my favorite taxicab. The driver told me his rate had gone up from $2 to $3 an hour.

With Patrick Catling, another correspondent, I went over to the Palace. As we were getting out of the cab we ran smack into Dr. Guillermo Toriello, the foreign minister.

We walked along into the Palace with him and began talking about the problems of a reporter trying to cover the disturbance here.

The Palace corridors were jammed with young Guatemalan GIs. They looked just like American—or maybe Puerto Rican—GIs with U. S. helmets, U. S. carbines.

The minister is very unhappy about the press. The people in the U. S. are not getting the right idea of what's going on.

As we could plainly see, everything was going fine here. He did wish I wouldn't carry a camera. This is a new country—this is our first war," is how he put it. He wouldn't want me to get in any trouble on account of carrying a camera.

We asked him if we couldn't move around a little easier. We just want to send the news and can't help.

He would let us know. He

Reading Between the Lines

The accompanying "letter to the Boss" from Fred Sparks, NEA reporter now in Guatemala City, manages to get across through censorship these points:

Sparks and other Americans have been picked up and questioned by police.

Some Americans are entraining for the Mexican border.

Food prices are soaring.

There's a shortage of gasoline in the capital.

Guatemalan troops man the Palace and city hall, armed with American weapons and wearing American helmets.

Winter Planning for City's Development Is Put Into Operation During Summer

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—It all goes down in big black figures on reams of paper during the winter months, but it's when the ground thaws and the weather clears that the planning of City Engineer L. R. Gare's department is realized.

New pavement and sidewalks, resurfacing and road oiling—all are started or will soon be underway.

Two miles of new pavement will be laid, with the contractor scheduled to complete the job by Oct. 31, Gare said today.

It is anticipated that the biggest job in the program, paving W. Maple from Linden to Westchester Way, will be started within a month.

Gare said Maple at that point will be closed off for four to six weeks, utilizing Cranbrook, Lincoln and Southfield during the two-way detour.

Sidewalk work will be mostly repair this year, Gare said, on about 35,000 square feet of walk, which amounts to some 1 1/2 miles. Contracts to this have not been let yet, he stated, "but we are about to advertise. Work will probably start in four to six weeks, with the job taking one to two months."

While the road oiling program is already in process, Gare said, "It will probably take all of July and most of August to complete. A considerable portion has been done, but it covers a pretty large area."

Right now Gare said, he is already setting up summer paving and sidewalk programs for two and three years hence. This is necessary because of setting up the city's capital improvement program in future budgets, he said.

Heleen Larkin, president of the local Soroptimist Club and Mrs. Marion Schmidt, delegate representative, are attending the 13th bi-annual convention of the American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs being held in Banff, Canada tomorrow through July 2.

In the absence of Rev. Robert DeWay who is attending the general council of Congregational Christian Churches in Connecticut, the Rev. Raleigh E. Sain will be guest preacher at the Congregational Church service tomorrow.

His sermon subject is "Sharing the Secret." The Rev. Mr. Sain has been director of research and church planning for the Detroit Council of Churches for the past year.

A full house is expected at Monday's noon luncheon meeting at the Community House when members of the narcotics squad of the Detroit Police Department will be on hand.

The men will describe their work, particularly as it relates to narcotics problems in high schools and how the trouble is spreading to suburban areas. A question and answer period will follow.

Since no schedule of permit fees was set up in the recently adopted parking district ordinances, which require a permit from the Building Inspection Dept. before construction is started on a new parking lot, the City Commission approved a schedule this week.

Set up on an area basis, the fee will be $5 up to 1,000 square yards and $2 for each additional 1,000 square yards. Building Inspector T. C. Brien said the permit for a 100-car lot would cost $11.

Starting tomorrow, summer Sunday school classes at the First Methodist Church will be at 9:45 a.m. only. The 11:15 a.m. classes will be resumed Sept. 12.

Horseback riding at Kenwood Stables, with buggy rides for the younger children, is planned for Monday's YMCA Day-Y program. As an alternative, there will be special swimming lessons for beginners.

Details Secret in Premier Talk

India's Nehru, Chinese Reds' Chou En-lai in Meeting's Second Day

NEW DELHI, India (U-P)—Premiers Nehru of India and Chou En-lai of Red China moved into the second round of their three-day meeting today with details of their conversations still a close secret.

They resumed talks which were adjourned last night after a lengthy exchange of views. A single Chinese interpreter was present because of Chou's insistence on speaking only his native tongue.

The Indian press, which ballyhooed Chou's visit as the greatest development of its kind in the Indian nation's short history, speculated that Indochina and Korea were the top subjects discussed.

Indian information officers said they hoped a joint communique would be issued after the talks ended.

The two premiers met for more than two hours this morning, then broke up for a lunch at which President Rajendra Prasad was host to Chou.

While the two leaders were meeting at Nehru's house, their aides were holding a series of parallel talks at the external affairs ministry.

Before going into the closed meeting with Nehru, Chou spent more than two hours in the 100-degree heat sightseeing around Delhi. An Indian spokesman said Nehru who has been using English in the talks with Chou, intends to speak Hindi in addressing tonight's banquet.

As we walked into the city hall, where the police station is located, I was surprised to see Andrew Wardlaw, a young embassy attaché I'd known in Spain a few years ago.

He said: "Where the Hell are you going?"

I replied: "That's what I'd like to know."

Andy said he'd gone over to the police looking for an American who works for a cement company. He's made the mistake of shooting some pictures when he got involved in a traffic accident. Not that the traffic is much these days. The gas is in short supply. But when you run into an ox cart you shouldn't jump out and take pictures.

We went into the detectives' room with Andy, who spoke excellent Spanish and very fast. Everybody was very nice to us. In a half-hour we were released.

But the police liked my pictures so much they kept the film.

I can tell you I was glad to be out of there. The station was very well armed. The police, looked more like soldiers than policemen to me.

By that time it was late for lunch and in one busy morning we'd talked to the foreign minister and been hauled off to the police station. If we were going to get out any report on how quiet everything was we'd have to get off a cable.

At the cable office we were told there would be a nine-hour delay. The foreign minister said he was working 24 hours a day and the troops at the front were working 24 hours a day. But the cable guys were going home at 6 p.m. and no overtime.

Having missed lunch we went to dinner at a restaurant owned by a Basque. Hardly had dinner been served when the lights went out. Somebody started shooting right in front of the restaurant.

We thought we'd better hit the floor. But I do digress poorly on the floor.

We stayed in the restaurant four hours and then went back to our hotel. There the management greeted us with a card which said: "We would appreciate it if all our guests, during the blackout, would refrain from lighting candles."

Some of the fellows are taking the train for the Mexican border but I'll stay—if you can stand paying a buck fifty for my eggs.

Two maintenance men were burned, one seriously, last night when a caustic cleaning detergent spilled on them while they were at work in the Pontiac Plant of Fisher Body Division.

Joseph Barton, 45, of 2104 Middlefield, W. Bloomfield Township, suffered second and third degree burns and is reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Cortlandt Barry, 41, of 47394 Greenview, Utica, was treated for first and second degree burns and released.

Plant officials said the men were putting the caustic in a cleaning vat when it spilled.

Pair Convicted of Cargo Theft

Involved in Robbery $50,000 in Cigarettes, Household Articles

Two men were found guilty by a U. S. District Court jury in Detroit yesterday on charges growing out of the theft of $50,000 worth of cigarettes and household articles from a Pontiac truck terminal.

The pair, William Binder, 36, of Detroit, and Mack Dixon, 27, of Belleville, were convicted of receiving and possessing stolen property from an interstate shipment.

Binder and Dixon were among five persons arrested by FBI agents following a truck-trailer theft here last October. The semi was recovered, but its cargo of cigarettes and household articles was missing.

Two others, Lawrence Prieur, 21, of Detroit, and William LaForest of Trenton, earlier pleaded guilty to a similar charge and await sentencing. LaForest's wife was held for investigation, but later cleared.

Some of the cigarettes and household articles were found in buildings on LaForest's farm, said FBI agents.

Report Milk Strike Agreement Reached

tercepted 11 deliveries from the employee-owned Twin Pines cooperative.

After one case of milk was spilled on the floor of a truck, the drivers agreed to "donate" their loads to the Wayne County General Hospital.

State Police and sheriff's men rushed to the scene when a telephone report said the strikers threatened to overturn a creamery truck, but there was no violence.

Strike leaders escorted the Twin Pines drivers to the hospital where the milk was turned over. It was the first time, since 3,500 creamery workers started their strike, that any incidents were reported.

Enforcement of the strike was carried out by roving pickets who spotted the Twin Pines trucks with "Valley Lea" signs posted over the sides. The milk had been shipped in from Carson City.

Two of the original 23 dairies came to terms Thursday night. They were Eagle Products Co. and Risdon Bros., Inc.

Seven other dairies, whose employees are AFL members, are not affected by the strike.

French Send Envoy to Bonn to Discuss EDC

PARIS (U-P)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France will send a special envoy to Bonn to talk with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the Foreign Ministry announced today.

The name of the envoy and the subject of the talk were not disclosed, but there was speculation Mendes-France wanted to sound out Adenauer on changes in the European Defense Community Treaty.

Mendes-France has said he would suggest modifications in EDC to pave the way for a compromise measure which would enable the national assembly to ratify EDC without dividing the country.

France and Italy have not yet ratified EDC, which would set up a six-nation army including troops from Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany.

The Foreign Office also said France rejected an invitation by Belgium to attend a six-power EDC meeting in Brussels next week for two reasons: (1) The government will be extremely busy in the next few weeks on Indochina negotiations and (2) the attempt to reconcile French views on the European army have only started.

Guatemalan Rebels Set Up Government

at Zacapa and knocked out the garrison there. The stepped-up air strikes led one source here to comment that "the cold war is getting hot."

Up till now, the eight-day-old struggle has been waged chiefly with propaganda weapons. Only sporadic clashes have been reported between the opposing forces.

Eight Americans who crossed the Guatemalan frontier into Mexico yesterday said they believed the rebel forces had the government "on the run." A Boston newspaperman in the group said he had seen 400 wounded government troops en route to the capital.

The Guatemalan embassy in Washington announced, meanwhile, that its government had refused permission for the Inter-American Peace Committee to send an investigating team into Guatemala to study that nation's charge of foreign aggression. The Arbenz regime has accused Honduras and Nicaragua of aiding the rebels.

Afredo Chocano, acting head of the embassy, said his government had advised the committee that "Guatemala is opposed to intervention . . . in this matter because the subject is under the jurisdiction of the Security Council of the United Nations."

Plan to Re-stage Beauty Contest

Deposed Queen Still Undecided on Seeking Miss Michigan Title

(From AP & UP Dispatches)

MUSKEGON — The Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce agreed today to hold a second beauty contest sometime in July to pick a winner for the disputed 1954 Miss Michigan title which was taken away from one girl because of "padded ballots" cast by two judges.

The JCC's executive board decided at a special meeting today that the only thing to do was to restage the event with a new slate of judges.

Contest officials said that all 11 girls who took part in Wednesday night's contest have agreed to participate in the second event which probably will be held about the middle of July.

Deloris Susin, a 5-foot-10 Bloomfield Hills beauty, was named the winner Wednesday night, but her title was withdrawn six hours later because contest officials believed there was collusion on the part of two of the six judges.

Leonard Slaughter, executive director of the Miss America pageant, told the Jaycees Friday that two judges "definitely padded" their ballots in favor of 22-year-old Deloris.

The favorite of the 2,000 persons watching the Wednesday night contest was Janice Somers, a Michigan State College coed from Elmhurst, Ill. She has been homecoming queen at the Spartan school and also was named "Miss Big Ten."

Janice is undecided about re-entering the contest.

Miss Susin, a Pan-American Airlines employee in Detroit, said she was not decided whether to enter the contest for the 1954 crown she wore only a few hours.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," Miss Susin said "but I'm beginning to be very much put out."

"I was led to believe things were on the up and up and that the decision was final," she said.

Junior Jumpers Hold Spotlight

Team Events, Westerns, Horsemanship Tests on Show Program Today

Early threats of rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of a big field of young riders in this morning's round of competition at the 37th annual Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. The youngsters provided most of the action in this section of the big show.

Show officials said today that yesterday's all-day attendance was 5,300.

With nearly a dozen teams of four riders each over a figure eight course, team jumping of fered fans plenty of action. And it began to look as if this afternoon's finals would find a real battle between Grant's Irishmen and Grant's Equestrian team.

The Irishmen (Skip Dowd, Zander Duffield, Barney Noyes and Paul Garlick) are now in first place as a result of their victory this morning. But Grant's, a quartet of girls (Kitten James, Lou Wilson, Patti Bugas and Marilyn Anderson) were gaining ground fast. They placed 2nd in the second round today. All four toured the eight jumps without a single fault.

In other events today the winners were:

Model westerns—Won by Lulu, with Bill Bentley up.
Fence under saddle—Won by Fireball, with Peter Fisher up.
Horsemanship (30 stock saddle)—Won by Janet Carroll, Farmington.
Horsemanship (30 stock saddle)—Won by Jan Porath of Northville, 16 years old.

Seized Tanker Being Unloaded

Nationalist China Ship Intercepted Russian Vessel Wednesday

TAIPEI, Formosa (U-P)—Unofficial reports circulated today that the job of pumping a cargo of oil from the seized Russian tanker Tuapse was under way or about to be started.

Nationalist China announced last night that one of its warships had intercepted the Tuapse off Formosa Wednesday and had escorted it to the port of Kaohsiung.

Official sources refused to discuss the tanker.

Meager press reports and other unofficial sources said, however, that Nationalist intelligence officer have been questioning 40 to 50 crewmen, all of whom are Russian.

Some of the crewmen were said to have been cooperative, and some officials reportedly considered it likely that a number would ask political asylum in Formosa.

More than 20 Polish crewmen aboard the two ships seized earlier have asked asylum here.

There was speculation—but no official indication—that the Tuapse might be released if the Nationalists satisfy themselves it is owned by Russia and not Communist China.

Pickets at Nye Dairy, 585 Oakland Ave., were called off today. The strikebound dairy, at which owner James Nye and a handful of helpers were producing milk, was picketed Thursday by its own and other employees.

Meanwhile, Pontiac City Sanitarian Charles Cohen and assistants were checking local groceries to make sure they obeyed the city ordinance banning sale of any milk not processed in plants inside Pontiac city limits. The sanitarians Friday stopped a Pontiac market from selling 14 cases of milk imported from Flint's Arctic Dairy.

chief members of the British delegation were invited to the luncheon at the White House.

Hagerty announced that the President's day of conferences started with a 30-minute meeting with the U.S. ambassador to London, Winthrop Aldrich. He also announced that at noon today Churchill's chief advisers on atomic matters, Lord Cherwell and Sir Edwin Plowden, would be guests at an atomic energy commission luncheon given by Chairman Lewis Strauss.

Tonight Hagerty said that an informal stag dinner at the White House would bring in two more foreign ministers—Richard G. Casey of Australia and Zafullah Khan of Pakistan.

Others present in addition to the President, Churchill, Eden and Dulles will include Churchill's old friend, Bernard Baruch, Admiral Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, the President's brother Milton Eisenhower, and other high British and American officials.

Although various subjects are up for discussion, the halting of Communist conquest in Southeast Asia was the critical issue in the talks.

Hal Boyle Says:

Early to Bed, Work Hard Is Van Johnson's Policy

NEW YORK (U)—It isn't true that to be a Hollywood star you have to own three swimming pools—labeled "his," "hers," and "theirs."

"We don't have even one," said Van Johnson, who has made 50 pictures since 1941.

Johnson, now hitting the peak of his career, is a cheerful relief from the breast-beating type of actor who predicts the West Coast film colony will become a ghost town.

"I've never felt more excitement in Hollywood," he said. "They have a new feeling out there. They are concentrating on quality pictures, and they are turning out better pictures all the time."

Van hit a new top himself recently as Lt. Steve Maryk in "The Caine Mutiny," a role that may make him a candidate for an Academy award.

"Gee, that would be something, wouldn't it?" he remarked. "In this business you generally wind up with nothing but a scrap book and some X10's."

"But if I ever should win an Oscar my wife, Evie, would probably make a lamp out of it."

Van has had to surmount three handicaps to gain serious recognition as a film actor: Red hair, freckles, and a "face like the boy next door."

"In my first picture, a crime short," he recalled, "they insisted on dyeing my hair black and covering my freckles. Then it started raining, and the dye ran all over my face—and darn near washed me right out Hollywood."

"But I have never been one to try to twist events too fast, and I don't believe in pounding on producers' desks. I've faked things as they came along, and I've gradually worked out of the apple pie face roles."

He will team with Deborah Kerr in his next film, "The End of the Affair," to be made in England. One of the steadiest workers in the industry, Van doesn't want to become a picture-a-year actor.

"What would I do the rest of the time?" he asked. "I go crazy if I have more than two weeks off."

Johnson is thoroughly relaxed, and never has become a victim of Hollywood tension. His secret: A nap every day after lunch.

"Even on the set I sometimes can get in an hour and a half," he said. "And when I'm working I make it a rule to get to bed by 9:30 at night."

"Even when I'm not working, I can't get used to staying up late. What can people gain by staying up until 4 a.m.?"

"All that can happen to you after midnight is trouble."

2nd Willie Sutton Sent to Jail on Larceny Counts

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (U)—Every one looked twice yesterday when the prisoner identified himself as Willie Sutton. Then he explained he was Willie J. Sutton of nearby Edwardsville and not the well-known bank robber now serving a sentence at Sing Sing prison.

Sutton pleaded guilty before Judge J. Harold Flannery on charges of forgery and larceny. He was fined $100 and sentenced to 11-22 months in jail on the larceny counts. Sentencing on the forgery count was postponed.

Sutton was arrested earlier after being accused of taking a $50 mining welfare fund check from the home of Joseph Zeigler, forging Zeigler's signature and cashing it.

'Pact Won't Be Revolutionary'

Union, U. S. Steel Heads Believed Holding Secret Meetings

PITTSBURGH (U)—When the CIO United Steelworkers and U. S. Steel Corp. sign a new contract it will not be a "revolutionary" pact, says David J. McDonald, president of the union.

McDonald did not elaborate on the remark which he made yesterday while talking with other union officials at a meeting hall.

Several days ago, the union chief described U. S. Steel's proposal for a new contract "completely unsatisfactory." The company's current contract with the union expires at midnight next Wednesday.

Negotiations have been recessed but most observers believe McDonald and John A. Stephens, chief negotiator for the corporation, are holding secret sessions.

U. S. Steel's proposed contract has not been made public, but it reportedly includes a 2½ cent an hour wage increase. Steelworkers now earn about $2.14 to $2.24 an hour.

The company also reportedly has offered an improved insurance program and a small increase in monthly pensions. The lowest pension for retired steelworkers is now $100 a month, including social security. Unofficial reports are that the union wants the minimum boosted to $180 a month.

Union contracts covering 600,000 employees in the basic steel industry expire June 30, but other firms usually wait for U. S. Steel, industry pace setter, to sign before they come to terms.

Ike Names Dem to Position on FTC

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower has nominated veteran Democratic Rep. Robert T. Secrest of Ohio for a seven-year term on the Federal Trade Commission.

Secrest, 50, would succeed Albert A. Carretta, a Virginia Democrat whose term expires Sept. 26. Secrest's home is in Senacville, in southeast Ohio. Eisenhower nominated him yesterday.

The law provides that the FTC must be a bipartisan commission. It now has three Republican and two Democratic members.

Gas Distribution Mull'd by FPC

Will Decide Question of Sales by Supplier Dispenser to Industry

WASHINGTON (U)—The Federal Power Commission (FPC) has taken under consideration the question of whether a natural gas pipeline company can make direct sales to industry in an area served by a gas distributing company which it supplies.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company contended yesterday during four hours of oral arguments before the commission that it should have the right to make such direct sales to industry.

On the other hand, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which buys 40 per cent of its gas from Panhandle, argued that Panhandle should not be allowed to make direct sales in the area Michigan Consolidated serves.

James H. Lee, counsel for the City of Detroit, sided with Michigan Consolidated. Lee said the city's position is that a pipeline company has no right to compete with the wholesale company in the distributive area.

Lee said Panhandle has no franchise to sell direct in Detroit but it is seeking to make direct sales to industry in areas adjacent to Detroit which are served by Michigan Consolidated.

William A. Dougherty, counsel of Mueller Brass Co., at Port Huron, Mich., however, asked the commission to do nothing "to interfere with the direct gas supply" it receives from Panhandle.

The commission earlier in the year suspended a notice by Panhandle of cancellation of its interruptible—or extra gas—service rate schedule. Under this schedule, wholesalers served by Panhandle have the right to buy interruptible gas from Panhandle.

However, only Michigan Consolidated had sought to purchase such additional gas and Panhandle had refused to sell it on the grounds there was none available.

The United States had 66,500,000 tons of corn, oats and barley store in April, 1954, nearly 10 per cent above the previous year's record.

Michigan Dairywomen Are Enthusiastic Over Results of Their Recent Festival

By BURDETTE B. ASHLEY

Associated Press Farm Writer
GRAND RAPIDS — Michigan's dairy industry leaders are hoping that the recent dairy foods festival in Mason County, first of its kind in the state, will not be the last.

Everyone is enthusiastic over the results. Retailers, processors and producers say there is no question but that the dairy festival has boosted consumption of milk products.

Fred Walker of Carson City, president of the American Dairy Assn. of Michigan, was among numerous Michigan officials who praised the event highly.

Dairy farmer Carl Schwass of Scottville is credited with being the sparkplug of the festival idea which is new to Michigan but has been tried in Wisconsin with encouraging results.

The main idea, of course, was cooperation between producer and retailer to promote the sale of dairy products. An interesting by-product of the successful sales stunt was the feeling of mutual friendship and dependence that developed between farmers and business men.

Leaders point to the fact that Mason County had taken a step to help itself dispose of dairy product surpluses.

Advice to poultrymen: buy a water pistol. Not for your young son, but for yourself. It can help do a good job of culling chickens.

J. M. "Mac" Moore of the MSC Extension Department, says it works like this:

Fill the water pistol with dye when you visit your poultry house in the daytime. You can spot the boarders who aren't paying their keep and give them a blast from the dye-filled water pistol.

Then, come back to the laying house at night with a flashlight. You can take out the culs recognized by the dye without disturbing the rest of the flock.

He points out that milk sold to Chicago households in April in large containers costs around 17 cents per quart, whereas the charge for milk delivered to the home was 24 cents.

He says his survey indicates that in Cleveland, where the practice began in 1952, milk sales jumped by seven per cent in a single year. Bartlett claims this put an additional 500 thousand dollars into the pockets of producers.

Lathrup Mayor Faces Hearing

Lansing Justice Sets Wednesday for Airing Driving Charge

LANSING (UP)—Justice George B. Hutter today set Wednesday as the day for hearings to begin for William Harvie, mayor of the City of Lathrup Village, on drunk driving charges.

Court officials said all parties have agreed to the hearing date after a series of earlier postponements.

Harvie, who was arrested last Dec. 16, after his car struck the rear of a State Police limousine assigned to Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, will be represented at the examination by Victor C. Anderson, Lansing attorney.

Ingham Prosecutor Paul Younger will represent the state. Harvie allegedly drove into the rear of the State Police car, which had stopped on Highway U. S. 16 near East Lansing to assist another motorist.

Commissioner Childs was not in the car but the trooper driver arrested Harvie of operating his car while under the influence of intoxicants. Harvie has denied the charges and demanded a hearing.

Way of Cutting Milk Cost Is Explained

WASHINGTON (INS) — R. W. Bartlett, University of Illinois economist, reports that the American housewife can save money on milk purchases if she will purchase milk at the grocery and in large containers.

Bartlett says surveys show that the housewife who does the "work" of going to the grocery to purchase milk in half-gallon or gallon containers gets what amounts to "quantity discounts."

He points out that milk sold to Chicago households in April in large containers costs around 17 cents per quart, whereas the charge for milk delivered to the home was 24 cents.

Play Program Gets Support

Avon Township Board Votes $200 for Youth Recreation Assn.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The summer program of Avon Youth Recreation Assn. got a $200 shot in the arm this week when the Avon Township Board voted to appropriate that amount to the group.

In other action, the board voted to purchase a two-way radio for the Brooklands Fire Assn., an independent fire fighting organization.

Tentative plans call for the radio to be tied in with the Rochester Fire Dept.'s radio network, according to Rochester Fire Chief George Ross.

The board also agreed to pay $100 for re-wiring and installation work on the Brooklands Fire Assn.'s siren at the fire house. The horsepower has been increased on the siren, which is used to call the volunteers.

A communication was received by the board from the Rochester Community School System regarding a report that a liquor license might be issued for a location near the new North Hill Elementary School. The school board stated it would oppose any such move.

The new school will be situated at Main St. and Trinken Rd., with construction expected to start in July.

In final business, the board approved the Perrydale Subdivision, consisting of 20 lots on the Clyde Perry property on North Rochester road. The approval is subject to Oakland County Road Commission O.K.

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP) — With congressional hearings so much in the public eye, rules of order and procedure have become conversational by-words.

But there's a little gray-haired woman in Atlanta who knew the procedure long before some congressmen were born. She helped to formulate them.

Mrs. Henry M. Robert, widow of the late General Robert who wrote "Robert's Rules of Order," the accepted authority for thousands of small organizations is a bright, alert, little woman who doesn't show her 95 years.

She's always glad to talk about General Robert, who died in 1923.

The general, as she refers to him, was born in Robertville, S. C. in 1837. He attended West Point and was sent west on frontier duty after graduation.

When the Civil War broke out, Robert decided to remain with the Union side.

"This didn't make his South Carolina relatives very happy," Mrs. Robert said.

After the war, Robert was in California, where all types of persons had migrated during the gold rush days.

He found them "wasting time in deciding what governed organizations," his wife said. And so "Rules or Order" was born.

She stressed that the Robert's book was not a compilation of other books, but contained rules he had worked out himself. There are many books of order in the Library

Virginia Governor Wants Segregation

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—Gov. Thomas B. Stanley has pledged to use "every legal means" to continue segregated schools in Virginia and has suggested the elimination from the state constitution of the provision that requires the maintenance of a public school system.

The governor issued a 500-word statement last night setting forth a course of action for Virginia for the first time since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled May 17 that segregation of the races in public schools is unconstitutional. Stanley said he is convinced "the overwhelming majority" of Virginians want to retain segregated schools.

Stanley added, however, he does not want "to destroy the public school system." He said he wants to enable the Virginia legislature to "deal with all phases of the complex problem now confronting us."

U. S. Agriculture Department HitSen. Williams Criticizes Agency for Violating Spirit of Law in Loans

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del.), who hails from chicken-raising country himself, has raked the Agriculture Department for making poultry loans to "poor little farmers" — like an unidentified doctor who Williams said was "down to his last Cadillac."

Williams cited a number of specific cases to back up his charge in a Senate speech yesterday that some Farm Credit Administration loans violate the spirit of the law which Williams said was aimed at helping farmers who were in real need, but unable to get bank credit.

The Delaware senator said a $35,164 loan went in 1931 to J. Frank Kendrick, an Agriculture Department official who Williams said then was making $8,400 a year and was worth $52,000. Williams said R. B. McLeslie, farmers home administrator, wrote him the Kendrick loan "never should have been made" but "appears to have been legally permissible."

Kendrick commented in an interview that the transaction was "completely open and above board" and "not improper in any way." He said he wanted to put up some buildings on a farm he runs in Champaign County, Ohio.

Williams also mentioned a $38,100 FCA loan to Otto Zurcher of Arapahoe, Colo., who the senator said was "operating quite a construction business through the Federal Housing Administration" on loans for home repairs and "was involved to the extent of more than one million dollars."

Nursing Home Day Set for June 30 in State

June 30 has been proclaimed "Nursing Home Day" by Mayor William W. Donaldson and Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

"I urge that our citizens visit the nursing homes in the community in order that they may better know and understand the good work these homes are doing for the aged and the chronically ill," Mayor Donaldson said, in making the proclamation.

"Throughout Michigan, nursing homes are performing an important service for the people of our state by providing care and shelter for the infirm and the aged, many of whom are recipients of state assistance," Gov. Williams said.

Married graduates of U. S. college classes of 1944 have a larger average number of children 10 years after graduation than do the 1921 graduates, says the Population Reference Bureau.

Best Educated Generation

This week marked a milestone in public education. It was the tenth anniversary of the GI Bill of Rights. Under that law 7,800,000 men and women—about half the total number who served in World War II—got the benefit of some kind of training.

Not all of it was very good training. For a while there were "courses" in ballroom dancing and hairdressing and some that were almost sheer rackets. Congress eventually put a stop to this nonsense.

But 2,200,000 vets attended college, 3,500,000 got through high school, 1,400,000 had on-the-job training and 700,000 had on-the-farm training. Some 150,000 learned, for the first time, to read and write.

The Veterans Administration, taking note of the anniversary, said the GI Bill produced "the most educated generation in history." Then it computed the effect training and education had on the beneficiaries.

Today the effect is measured in dollars and cents. The 7,800,000 men and women who got GI training are paying each year $1,000,000,000 in income taxes. In fifteen years they'll pay off the total cost of the GI Bill.

That's something. But more impressive is the impact the GI's had on education itself. What they wanted, and the way they went after it, has had a profound effect on all phases of education.

Their demand launched vocational schools in many communities. Their maturity and thirst for knowledge forced many colleges to upgrade their courses and their teaching skills. Their search for skills virtually revolutionized apprentice training in industry and agriculture.

A leading factor in stimulating education was the GI Bill, but as each generation passes we are constantly improving our relations with mankind by a broadening educational training program.

Starting at the Bottom

The EISENHOWER brothers, like those in most families, ventured into widely different fields. One of them is a banker. Another is a college president. The best known was a general, and then became President.

Still another spent twenty years of his career as an engineer for a power company. Two months ago this brother, Earl, took a new job. He became general manager of a group of Chicago suburban weekly newspapers.

"I'm enjoying it," he told a reporter. "I'm starting my new job just as a cub reporter does—by making many new acquaintances. I just didn't realize there was so much work to putting out a newspaper."

EARL EISENHOWER, starting a new career in middle life, is taking a venture for us of care to undertake. But as he has the family capacity to make acquaintances, and learn new careers, we predict success. And in a brotherly way—as the EISENHOWER family is closely-knit—we suspect what he learns in his new career may be of some help to his brother IKE in his new career.

Ezra Really Gets Tough

Politics having thwarted the EISENHOWER Administration's aim to shift over to flexible farm price controls, the Agriculture Department has done the best it could under existing law. Secretary EZRA TAFT BENSON has had to set up the toughest controls ever applied to keep 1955 crops from glutting the market.

Wheat for example, will be cut back eleven per cent to 55,000,000 acres, which is the lowest acreage the present law permits.

No farmer can benefit from price supports on any crop unless he accepts a quota on his acreage for all the crops he grows. Previously he could grow all the wheat he wanted, for example, and still get benefits on peanuts.

BENSON told the Nation's farmers he deeply regretted the cutbacks. But he went on to say there was no other choice under the present law if next year's surplus is to be kept within bounds.

Farmers, with good reason, may be unhappy over these restrictions on their crop production. Certainly it is in violation of the administration's determination to govern with the least possible controls.

But both taxpayers and farmers ought to insist that Congress quit playing politics with food production and give BENSON the flexibility he has asked. That way he could adjust production to consumption with a minimum of surplus purchasing.

THE MAN who was blown three miles through the air by a tornado and set down unhurt on top of a hill the other day says he doesn't care for this kind of transportation.

The People's Business: Primary Too Early

Moody First Victim of Rugged Campaign

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING (AP)—Blair Moody's collapse this week just as his U. S. Senatorial campaign was hitting high gear symbolizes a widespread political theme—that the early primary has made Michigan campaigns too long and too tough.

It is no secret in the capitol that high-placed Democrats are concerned about the pace Gov. Williams sets himself.

And several of the major Republican candidates are beginning to get that tired slump to their shoulders—with the general election still four months away.

The fact is that political campaigning these days has become such a rugged ordeal that few men can take it very long without injury to their health.

Modern day politics presents this irony: Only a man middle-aged or older, can have the stature to attract votes—but only a young man can stand the campaign gaff.

Williams, blessed with a magnificent physique, has set a campaigning pattern in Michigan which would kill a weakling and he has kept it up for five years. His friends whisper that he literally doesn't care whether he shortens his life substantially if he can get where he wants to go first.

To keep up with Williams, however, the Republicans have had to resort to much of the same year-round campaigning. And that has been a rugged experience.

In many ways, it has been harder on the Republican candidates. True, most of them do not spend as much time in their offices as does the governor, but it is also true that they do not have a big car at their disposal with three state police drivers, the full use of a state-owned airplane to whisk them from meeting to meeting and the constant help of state police patrol cars to ferry them here and there in flight emergencies.

The Republican candidates often have to drive themselves. At the best they have a friend or underling to do some of the driving. If they fly it can be only occasionally and not in state planes. They do not have the finely-meshed organization behind them that Williams does.

And so, they must get out and sweat it at individually and it is really rough these hot days. And now Blair Moody has collapsed at Hancock, the first victim of the campaign heat. Campaign managers look at each other and ask who may be the next. Democratic chiefs virtually handcuffed Williams and took him to Mackinac Island this week for at least one week's let-up before the big drive.

But none of them apparently has the sense to get at the basic trouble—the August primary election.

Michigan's primary was moved from September to late July or early August during World War II to provide more time for servicemen overseas to vote.

With two exceptions, in 1948 and 1950, the Republican Legislature has held out for a hot weather primary on the theory that it permitted a longer concentration of party fire on Gov. Williams.

If the August primary has allowed the Republicans more time to shoot at the Democrats, the reverse is also true—so that balances out.

Then, so what has been the result?

The legislature has forced the primary candidates out into the by-ways in early summer and required them to maintain a killing pace through all the hot months when the people aren't interested anyway.

It has forced the primary winners to hit the campaign trail again from August to November.

In short, the August primary has lengthened the political wars two to three months to little purpose—and probably shortened many men's lives by years.

Michigan State College Alumnus Defends Group of Students Who Stopped Riots

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

The UAW-CIO, in its recent newspaper ads, tried to pin an Un-American label on the Michigan State College students who stopped the 1937 Lansing riots cold when they hit East Lansing.

The UAW is now thumping for law and order, but in those days their stated objective was to "close everything in Lansing." Groups of up to 100 UAW radicals went out and ordered Lansing business places to close.

When they moved to East Lansing the MSC students were not facing a mere rumor. They saw closed restaurants and faced the prospect of going hungry.

The ad also attempts to discredit the students' "vigilante" methods as Un-American. The dictionary defines vigilante as "A member of a local committee of citizens organized to suppress crime in communities where the processes of law appear inadequate."

Thank God there was a group of students at MSC who rejected dictatorship by the goon squads and assumed their rights.

The students disbanded as soon as they had routed the rioters who were forcing business places to close by unlawful threats. Law enforcement was left to the proper authorities who were again able to function.

Along with Congressman Clardy, "I was proud of those kids," and proud to have been an MSC student at the time.

Cows Are Uncooperative, Just Keep Giving Milk!

At milking time this morning, I went to the barn and informed our cows the dairy workers in Detroit and Pontiac were on strike and they should give no milk for awhile. The "durn" fools just chewed their cuds and gave the usual amount of milk.

The dairy farmer has worked for years to have cows freshen to maintain a steady flow of milk day in and day out but, perhaps, the cows should all freshen the same day and everyone, farmer and family, milk hauler, plant worker, delivery man and consumer could have a six week vacation all together. The cows wouldn't cooperate, however.

Funeral Flowers Are to Inspire Living and Not Meant to Benefit the Deceased

Flowers are an inspiration to the living and a vivid reminder of God, so they merit a place at every funeral. Don't produce erosion of the soul of man by stripping his final graduation ceremony of such lovely tributes.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-342: Olive M., aged 33, operates a Florist Shop in Wisconsin.

"Dr. Crane, can't you help me?" she asked. "For many people nowadays are urging the omission of all flowers at funerals."

"They suggest that this is a waste of money, and recommend that the equivalent of that investment in flowers be given to the poor."

"But didn't Jesus approve of honoring the dead, even though it entailed costly ointment and perfume?"

"Flowers give a colorful living perfume to remind us of our departed loved ones."

"Besides, those very people who harp so much on saving money for the poor are often burning up $30 per year on the ends of their cigarettes. Or they spend $200 to $300 per year on liquor and wild parties."

"Why don't they give up such wasteful and definitely unhealthy habits, and then devote that salvaged money to the poor?"

Death is really a graduation ceremony from this earthly classroom. And it is customary at commencement exercises for our parents or friends to pay our respects to the new graduates.

At the funeral, moreover, we should invest a reasonable amount in floral tributes to the memory of our departed loved ones. This is not a waste of money, as Jesus so evidently showed us when he defended the woman who had poured the costly ointment upon him prior to his death.

His Apostles had argued that she should have salvaged the cost of that rare perfume and given the money to the poor.

"Ye have the poor with you always," Jesus admonished.

And we Americans also have the poor with us 365 days of the year. If we wish to be so charitable and sentimental, then let us break our slavery to the tobacco and liquor and gambling habits, which are unsound, unhealthful and illogical, and send all that salvaged cash to the poor.

But never omit flowers at funerals! That is a desecration of a hallowed event which should be fraught with living fragrance from colorful bouquets and floral wreaths.

The purpose of flowers at funerals is not primarily to benefit the dead, but to inspire the living. It is to buoy up the souls of men and show us again the resurrection story exemplified in the beautiful blossoms around the casket.

But flowers deserve an even greater place in American life, as well as death. We should send more flowers, long before their funerals.

I have long urged that we also offer verbal "bouquets" via daily compliments to our loved ones so we can inspire them to greater happiness and better deeds as they travel along life's highway.

Days of All Faiths

Sunday Is Sad Anniversary in History of Mormonism

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

June 27 is an anniversary—and not a happy one—among the Mormons. It was on June 27, 1845, that the founder and leader of Mormonism, Joseph Smith and his brother, Hyrum, were killed by an angry mob at Carthage, Illinois.

Smith and his followers had settled in the nearby village of Commerce City six years before, renaming it Nauvoo, which, they said, was a Hebrew word meaning "beautiful place."

Nauvoo was to have been to Mormonism what Salt Lake City finally became. By 1844 headquarters had been established there, a Temple had been built, and a university was planned. But the Mormons had trouble with their "Gentile" neighbors, mainly because of their "plural marriages," and it all came to a climax on this day in 1845 with the assassination of the Smith brothers.

A year later the Mormons were driven out of the State of Illinois. It was this exodus, under the leadership of Brigham Young, Smith's successor, that led to the development of Salt Lake City and Utah as the center of Mormonism.

One strange by-product of the death of Smith was the establishment of the only monarchy that ever existed within the boundaries of the United States. After Smith's death there was, of course, a certain amount of competition for the position of leadership.

One of the elders of the church, a dynamic, red-bearded man named James Jesse Strang, produced a letter which he said had been written by Smith, expressing the wish that Strang should be the next leader. The letter was not considered genuine, and Brigham Young was chosen to head the church.

Strang, in anger, gathered a following of his own and left Nauvoo, going to Beaver Island, an island at the northern end of Lake Michigan. Here he set up a colony based on the doctrines and principles of Mormonism.

The colony grew and prospered under Strang's genius, and in 1850 he allowed himself to be crowned

King of Beaver Island. The King Strang Hotel, in the present Beaver Island summer resort, still bears witness to the fact that a kingdom once existed here.

Tuesday, June 29, is St. Peter and St. Paul's Day, because of the tradition that both saints were martyred on the same day—at Rome, in the year 64, or perhaps 65. But St. Peter gets most of the attention today. In the Anglican calendar St. Paul has dropped entirely out of the picture, and the day is simply St. Peter's Day.

St. Peter is known in folk-lore, and many a funny story, as the keeper of the gates of heaven. There is Scriptural ground for this. In St. Matthew's Gospel, chapter 16, verse 19, the Lord said to Peter, "and I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven."

It is hardly likely that Jesus was assigning to Peter the task of examining every applicant for admission, but that is the way a literal-minded world has interpreted the gift of the keys.

According to tradition Peter was crucified. The story is that he asked to be put on the cross head downward, because he was not worthy to meet death in the same way as his Lord had. St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome, which is the largest Christian church in the world, is built over the supposed site of Peter's crucifixion.

July 1 is the beginning of the month that once was called Quintilis, but was changed in 44 B. C. to July in honor of Julius Caesar, whose birth-month it was. July is still the most important month in American history.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER (International News Service)

Remember when some affable miscreant suggested televising all the sessions of Congress?

It was ice-packs against hot water bottles but cooler heads prevailed.

We just got a six-weeks supply of channeled oratory that indicated Daniel Webster had hidden his light under a bushel-sized hat.

We would have liked to have seen Webster, William Channing Bryan or the authentic Word-Smiths turned loose on a televised talkshow.

Those chin-masters were gentle souls who drowned kittens in warm water. When they got hold of a subject they spraddled the Rockies, took a toe-hold on the Meridians and lighted their flambeaux on the Aurora Borealis.

They had rubber-stamp pompousness, mansard foreheads, deep-dish eyes, over-size mouths and insulated jowls. Men like that command respect on postage stamps.

The pebbles Demosthenes carried in his mouth were built up by Bryan into a stone fight. But he never got the opportunity of baring his breast to the Macedonian phalanx of microphones. Neither did William Borah the old Idaho potato get that chance. Nor the elder LaFollette.

Borah would give you your choice of subjects and let you pick your side. He would take the negative or the affirmative but never the nodative.

LaFollette was a master of oratory who could make a filibuster of just clearing his throat.

Can you visualize Webster facing the battery of camera and saying, "Gentlemen, my back is against the wall, but I'm still in focus."

Not one great speech hatched from the Army-McCarthy tournament. We should have imported Winsome Churchill as a guest artist.

Rare Ben Johnson described the nine muses as those dull girls. He never knobbled in on a Senatorial hearing and heard those dull boys.

Damp Soap Gathers Broken Bulb Pieces

No electric bulb or fluorescent tube should ever be immersed in water.

Just remove it from the socket, let it cool, sponge the surface with a soapy cloth, wipe it dry—and be sure the current is turned off when you replace it.

If you break a bulb, remember that a bar of wet soap will pick up the pieces—even the tiny splinters. Shave the surface off the soap with a sharp knife; then roll these shavings, with glass bits embedded, into a newspaper to be discarded.

Juniors Can Also Join in Swing to Sophistication

NEW YORK (NEA) — Sophistication is not a word to be kept exclusively for the description of worldly women of 40 and over.

Girls who wear junior sizes like to appear fairly sophisticated now and then. For some of these juniors, simple but slightly sophisticated clothes are best all of the time.

Both the empire line and the easy, full skirt are flattering to the junior figure.

The full skirts are at their best lined with a light-weight tulle designed to serve a double purpose: To give body to airy fabrics and to eliminate need for petticoat or slip.

The junior who likes her cottons on the sophisticated side will find that there are plenty of designers who've come around to her way of thinking. This summer, she can pick the shirtwaist dress or the molded torso line.

She'll find necklines cut portrait, scoop or deep V for hot summer evenings and for daytime office wear. She can choose little collars or necklines tying with small ties.

Simplicity is the secret of all smart clothes, and this always means, of course, that trim of any kind is held to a minimum. This year's smart cottons have trim in form of tiny pintuckings, minute rhinestones and shiny jet buttons.

Small loops are used to rim a neckline. Little touches of white pique accent sleeves and collars. Necklines and pockets are crisscrossed with lattice work.

Martha Ann Werden Wed at All Saints

Before an altar banked with bouquets of peonies, delphinium, roses and lighted candelabra, Martha Ann Werden became the bride of Richard Wesley Labadie this afternoon.

The Mel Werdens of Edgewood drive and the Wesley Labadies of Decatur are their parents.

The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed before 100 guests by the Rev. C. George Widdfield in All Saints Episcopal Church.

The bride approached the altar wearing a ballerina length gown of embroidered tulle with fitted bodice and jacket. The tiered skirt was embroidered in lilies of the valley motif. A lace headpiece trimmed with iridescent sequins and pearls secured the bride's ballerina veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible with Stephanotis and satin streamers centered with a white orchid.

Marian Emery of Waterford was maid of honor wearing a ballerina length gown of azure blue silk organza. She wore a crownette of pink roses and white carnations and carried a fan bouquet of the same flowers.

Glen Fosdick of Decatur was best man and Donald Labadie from Paw Paw, cousin of the bridegroom, and James Bailey, also of Decatur, seated the guests.

The bride's mother wore a ballerina length gown of periwinkle blue lace with matching hat and slippers accented with pink gloves. She wore a corsage of pink and white rubrum lilies. Mrs. Labadie chose a ballerina length gown of navy blue lace with matching hat and a corsage of orchids.

Following a reception in the Rose Kneale room of the church the new Mrs. Labadie changed to a heavenly blue suit with white flowered hat and accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

MRS. RICHARD WESLEY LABADIE

All Saints Episcopal Church was the setting this afternoon for the wedding of Martha Ann Werden and Richard Wesley Labadie. She is the daughter of the Mel Werdens of Edgewood drive and the Wesley Labadies of Decatur are his parents.

Donna Haertter Is Married to J. F. Perquette Friday

The altar of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church was banked with white flowers Friday evening when Donna L. Haertter, daughter of the Raymond L. Haertters of North Marshall street became the bride of James F. Perquette. James is the son of the James Perquettes of Elm street.

One hundred and fifty guests watched Donna approach the altar wearing a floor length gown of nylon net and lace and the lace peplum swooped to cutaway back. Her jewelry was pearl earrings and necklace.

A matching lace cloche hat held a fingertip veil and she carried a white orchid on a white prayer book.

Mrs. Daryl Donaldson wore a sea blue ballerina length gown of nylon net over tulle as matron of honor. The bodice featured scattered rhinestones and the skirt was fashioned with accordion pleats. Mrs. Donaldson carried a cascade type floral arrangement.

As flower girl, Sandra Leigh Haertter, the bride's cousin was dressed in pale pink nylon. The bodice of the dress featured white lace inserts with tiny scattered rhinestones. Sandra carried a basket of rose petals which she scattered in the aisle. Nell Waserberger was best man and Jack Tee and Lewis Jarrendt seated the guests.

Greeting guests in the church parlors after the ceremony, Mrs. Haertter wore a gown of dusty rose organza with white accessories and a feathered carnation corsage.

Mrs. Perquette wore a dress of iridescent organza with white accessories and a feathered carnation corsage.

A beige lace sun back dress with form fitting jacket, matching accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet was worn by the new Mrs. Perquette when the newlyweds left for a Northern Michigan honeymoon. A home at Crescent Lake awaits them upon their return.

Bathe Tiny Plants

Plants which grow under trees get all the soot and oil that drop down from the large leaves above. Wash these little plants with a soapy cloth once in a while so that they can breathe once more and not wilt from soot strangulation. Then rinse with a fine spray from your watering can.

Is Your Auto a Gas Guzzler? Blame Yourself

You can ease the burden on your budget by making sure your car isn't guilty of "gasoline guzzling." If your automobile eats up more gas than it should, the fault may be yours, and not the car's.

Here are some proven and practical hints to help you save gasoline:

1. Don't race the motor. Stepping on the accelerator unnecessarily while the motor is "idling" and gears are in neutral forces more gasoline to the engine than necessary.
2. If your car is equipped with "over drive," use it when you're in the country on a high gear highway. This permits reduced engine speed and greater mileage per gallon.
3. Drive at a calm, even speed. Excessive speed, by spurts and jerks, burns up more gasoline. You'll get more mileage out of a gallon of gas at moderate speeds than you will as miles per hour mount.
4. Turn off the motor when your car is parked at the curb. An "idling" motor uses a cup of gasoline in 10 minutes.
5. Keep your tires firm and round. Soft tires overwork the engine.
6. Remember that driving in low gear and excessive use of the choke burn up gasoline.
7. An incorrectly-adjusted carburetor is a gasoline glutton. Have a first-rate mechanic check and adjust your carburetor, when necessary.
8. Sluggish spark plugs, dirty carburetor, leaky fuel line and a slipping clutch all waste precious petrol.

Most of You Is Revealed in Summer

More of you shows in the summertime — in fact, in a bathing suit most of you shows. Your shoulders come out of hiding, and you'll spend many of your leisure hours with the sun in your face and the wind in your hair.

But with the blessing of free and easy fashions comes the duty to look extra nice when you wear them; every square inch of you must look appetizing.

Today's code of manners calls for a sleek smooth skin. To have one will take a few well-spent minutes and some of the efficiency that you're famous for. Hair on your arms and legs is a misdemeanor, particularly since there are five different ways you can remove it at home.

A raw peeling burn is a crime that carries its own punishment, and it hurts the innocent bystander almost as much as it does you. There's just no excuse for burning when there are creams and lotions that screen out just as many of the sun's rays as you need protection from.

So take that little extra care that will make you look and feel delicious in the sun-and-fun clothes you wear.

Make sure your shoulders and back are as smooth as silk. A tinted, medicated lotion is handy to have on hand to treat any little blemishes that may crop up and to conceal them until they're gone.

Your makeup should blend precisely with the rest of you as you tan. And do use a creamy foundation (sun and wind feel wonderful but they play havoc with your complexion).

A casual hairdo is perfect for summer, as long as it's casual, not careless. Settle for a simple hair style — one that will keep looking pretty however the wind may blow.

Sun and wind also take their toll of hair, so do give yourself an oil treatment along with your weekly shampoo. In other words take care of yourself . . . then forget about how you look and have fun.

Work in the Hospital Library Pays Off With Desired Part-time Position

Leads to Bookshop Job

Volunteer Project Helpful

By ANNE HEYWOOD
Because part-time jobs for the mother with school children are sometimes hard to find, many women give up the effort.

"I would love a part-time job," they assure me earnestly, "because we need the money and also I need some outside interests. But in our community they're almost impossible to find.

"The employers only want full-time workers, and I can't do that if I'm to run the house and care for the kids."

So they give it up and devote their time to gossip, canasta and wishful thinking.

But occasionally a woman of good sense decides that, until she finds the right part-time job, she will at least keep busy and get the right volunteer work.

By "right," I mean work which interests her and used her own particular skills and aptitudes.

Mrs. T., 35, and mother of four school-age children, is a case in point.

"When the youngest went to school," she told me, "I wanted a part-time job. Well, there wasn't a thing."

"I had no degree, no college at all, and no particular training."

"I like books and I like people, but none of the bookshops would have me because they needed full-time workers, and the library wanted trained librarians."

"So I decided that, instead of knocking my head against a stone wall, I would at least take some volunteer work which would give me experience and something interesting in my life."

"I got into the hospital library. First, they gave me a training course, and after that I took books around to the patients."

"Honestly," she continued, "I had the time of my life. I was working with books and I was working with people, and while I got no pay, it was more fun than I would have thought possible."

"I read as many of the books as I could, so I was able to make intelligent suggestions to the patients about their reading."

"And one day a convalescent patient got chatting with me. He had noticed how well I worked, and his best friend is the owner of the town's best book shop."

"He arranged an interview for me, and I now have a part-time job in the bookshop."

"The owner said he doesn't like part-time workers as a rule, but since I did such a thorough job at the hospital, he'd make an exception for me! So, sometimes the volunteer worker can make her own job!"

Revamp Eyebrows

Revamp your eyebrows without looking messy in the process by doing the job a bit at a time. If you want them to be thicker and longer, allow one section to grow at a time, keep remainder perfectly free of stragglers. Train new hairs to lay flat by frequently massaging with fingers during the day. At night, flatten them with petroleum jelly.

Make Coffee Cubes

For hot - weather refreshment, save your leftover coffee and tea. Freeze it in cube form for delicious iced drinks. This is both a time and money saver.

American designer's pattern

Tab Add Chic Touch

Dress Accents Simplicity

Brigance, one of the most important names in American design and a frequent award winner, has contributed to almost every facet of fashion. He creates clothes for all occasions, maintaining throughout a consistent theory of crisp, young cut combined with smart tailoring and detail.

His dress today might well be said to present this theory in full, for the emphasis is on simplicity of line with crossed tabs adding a pleasant understatement of chic. The tabs at the hip line hide two pockets and stand away enough to give the illusion of a smaller waist measurement.

A step-in dress, it is as easy to make as it is to wear and lends itself to a wide choice of fabric. Because of its contained appearance, however, it is advisable to select materials with texture: Linen, pique, cotton gabardine, faille, shantung, and for fall, tweed, nubby wools or worsted mixtures.

This pattern is cut in designer sizes.

She's Guilty of Not Giving Lad a Break

Baffled Girl Should Sentence Herself to Change of Heart

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

If only love were a brew of one ingredient! Instead it's a mixture of battling elements. There's reality and imagination. There's respect and guilt. There's adoration and jealousy. No wonder young love is a spinning top.

Here's a girl who feels guilty because her boy friend loves her too deeply. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: When I was a freshman I got a crush on Bob who was four years older than I was. I tried everything to get him to notice me and he finally did. We went steady for about six months."

"Then I fell in love with Larry. I stopped going with Bob, but Larry never asked me to go with him. He's very bashful and I don't see him often."

"I turned down all dates until this spring (I'm a senior now), but I've had a few dates with Bob because I got tired of staying at home. I don't love Bob, but he is still in love with me."

"I feel very guilty when I go out with him. I don't think it's fair to him. I do love Larry, but I have little chance to see him. What shall I do about all this?"

Could be you're slightly confused on who's the real object of your affections. There's Bob whom you adored in vain for ages but finally managed to snag for yourself. You went with him for some time, got to know him well, continued to adore him until Larry hove in sight.

A new crush set in. It was powerful enough to make you break with Bob. But not powerful enough to have any effect on Larry.

You never saw him, you've never dated him. You don't really know him. Yet, you go on yearning for a creature you've made up in your mind.

Small wonder you feel guilty. Bob goes on loving you, wanting to take you out, being happy just to be with you. And you're holding back because of a dream that's empty.

But the very fact that you feel guilty is a sign of real affection for Bob. If you didn't care for him you wouldn't give two thoughts to the depth of his affection for you.

You say it's not fair to Bob. But you're not being fair to yourself. Your mental reservations in favor of Larry are accomplishing nothing to make you happy. Your crush isn't making him happy, either.

But being with Bob makes him happy. And the warmth of his devotion and attention could make your heart hum if you'd let it. So find yourself guilty of not giving the right boy a real break and sentence yourself to a change of heart.

Though you may ordinarily have no trouble with blemishes, it's a good idea to have a medicated lotion on hand so that you'll never be caught unprepared.

Babies Sociable at Young Age

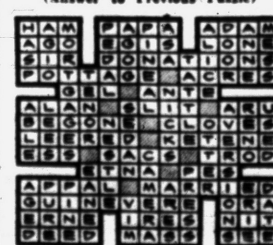

Baby will become interested in other children long before he is able to walk or talk.

You'll notice that he reaches out to touch other babies. Apparently he recognizes them as being more like him than grownups are.

You can prepare him for entering into friendships later on by seeing to it that he has a chance to be with other babies. It's true that during his first two years he will play alone, but he enjoys having other children around him.

Being in their company, he will learn more quickly how to play with them. It's best that the children be close in age and that they be allowed to play with as little interference from adults as possible.

Dry Siding Essential for Painting

By HUBBARD COBB

We once knew a character who lived in a "dry" county in a nearby state, but one thing you couldn't say about this fellow was that he was every "dry." He was about as saturated as one can get and still not drown.

Now a lot of wood exterior siding has a lot in common with this character of ours. It may not have rained in weeks and from appearance you'd say that the wood was plenty dry enough to paint, but that would be a big mistake.

Wood that is painted can look dry and still be soaking wet. If you wait long enough the paint will start to peel off just to prove things, but most people don't like to wait this long.

They go ahead and slap another coat of paint over the old and then in time both coats of paint peel off.

It's a wise idea before painting your house or having it painted to inspect the condition of the wood under the old paint. One way to do this is just drive a sharp-pointed tool like an awl or icepick into the wood and move it around.

Often water will come right out of the hole in the wood or you'll find that when the point of the tool has been removed, it is moist.

Now you might ask how come wood can stay damp for this long? Well, one reason is that the paint over it is holding it back.

Another reason may be that the insulation in back of the siding is soaking wet and is acting like a sponge, keeping the wood siding nice and damp.

You can usually check the condition of the insulation either in the attic or basement where the ends of the insulation are exposed.

How to get the wood and insulation dry is something of a problem. Vents in the wall are good and so is an aluminum vapor barrier in back of the insulation.

But whatever cure you use, be sure not to try painting the siding until you are certain that the wood is dry.

Unmarried Couples Ask About Trip

They Would Like to Motor to Coast Together

By EMILY POST

A young woman tells me: "My fiancé has just bought a new car and is thinking of motoring to the coast when he gets his vacation. He has asked me and another unmarried couple, who are good friends of ours, to go with him."

"We all drive and it would be a wonderful trip as none of us has ever been out that way before. However, before making definite plans we would like your opinion as to the propriety of such a trip."

"We are all in the mid-20s. We are anxiously awaiting your reply."

Answer: Although this trip seems harmless to me, I am sorry that I cannot promise that you will escape criticism.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be proper for the mother or sister of the bridegroom-to-be to give a shower for his fiancée? Someone told me that it is quite different from the propriety of her family asking people to donate presents. Is this true?

Answer: To a degree — yes. That is, I think they should ask only their relatives and those special friends whose affections for the son assure their willingness to buy these extra presents for his fiancée.

If she is being given plenty of showers by her friends, then I think any other kind of party for her is more appropriate than a shower.

Dear Mrs. Post: We have received an invitation to a wedding addressed Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and on the line beneath, Miss Mary Doe.

None of us will be able to go to the wedding. May one reply be sent, and if so, what would be the wording for the three of us, or should my daughter send a separate one?

Answer: One answer is sufficient. The wording would be: Mr. and Mrs. John Doe and Miss Mary Doe regret that they are unable to accept etc.

The covered dress is a welcome change from the often too décolleté dresses of last summer. More covered look favored in sundresses too.

Miss W. N.—In town the covered dress is in good taste for the career girl who, in past seasons, was tempted by too décolleté for the office. Wonderful with this summer's town fashions are big hats, which are both smart and protective.

Stanley is the son of Mrs. Stanley Hunkins of Minneapolis, Minn. and the late Mr. Hunkins.

A gown of embroidered nylon tulle in bride length was chosen by the bride. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and her headpiece was a modified Dutch bonnet of pleated marquisette which held a veil of imported Venetian lace. She carried a semi cascade of stephanotis, phalaenopsis and ivy.

Nancy Sue Dudley, the bride's sister was maid of honor. She wore a delphinium blue gown in princess style with a scoop neckline and ballerina length skirt. Her flowers were a semi cascade of demure roses.

Sherrie Ann Dudley, another sister was bridesmaid wearing a pink nylon gown of dotted tulle in ballerina length. She carried a semi cascade of pinocchio roses and ivy.

Don't Look Like a Drip

Swim, Pamper Your Hair

Just because you like to swim doesn't mean that you need to look like a drip!

You may be wearing the newest bathing suit and your figure may rate a second glance, but don't forget! That second glance may wander away if your hair looks dull and neglected.

Just as surely as over-exposure to the sun can burn unprotected skin, so can it damage unprotected hair. So take care. Be sure to use some kind of suntan preparation on your skin and protect your hair as much as possible from the hot sun.

One of the most popular hair styles seen on the beaches and swimming pools this summer is a modified and very becoming version of the Audrey Hepburn hair-do... short, uneven locks slightly curled and brushed forward toward the face. But whether you favor a cropped head, a cap of curls, or a long, casual hairstyle, you know that you need a permanent as much for "body" as for form.

Both salt water and chlorinated water can damage your hair if allowed to remain in it any length of time. So, pamper your hair with a shampoo right after your last swim of the day. Easiest way to do this is to tuck a bottle of your favorite shampoo in your beach bag.

Then, after your swim, your hair will be dry. This shower-shampoo should be quick, but thorough. Apply the shampoo evenly through the hair and work it in with the fingertips. Rinse thoroughly and suds again. It's that second lathering and final rinsing that makes your hair so

Weatherly-Olzack Vows Spoken at 10 A. M. Mass

MRS. WILLIAM J. OLZACK

St. Hugo of the Hills Church was the setting for the 10 o'clock ceremony this morning when Nona Maret Weatherly spoke her marriage vows to William J. Olzack.

The bride is the daughter of Thomas A. Weatherly of Kenderly. He is the son of William A. Olzack of Milford and the late Mrs. Olzack.

The bride chose a white length hooped gown of white lace over satin. Her illusion veil was held by a crown of pearls, and she carried a nosegay of white carnations, delphinium and stock.

George Olzack of Milford was the bride's best man and Charles F. Eib and Maurice Flynn of Milford seated the guests.

A wedding breakfast was held at Wilkins, followed by a reception held at the bride's home. The new Mrs. Olzack changed to a white print cotton dress with white accessories for a wedding trip through the East.

Shower Honors Barbara Edwards

Barbara Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Edwards of Motorway drive was honored with a miscellaneous and crystal shower Thursday evening, given by the young people of First Baptist Church in the church parlors.

Ponnie Davis, Iris Whitaker and Karen Yeager were hostesses for the affair which was attended by 60 guests.

Barbara will speak her marriage vows with Gerald Wagnitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagnitz of Wixom, on July 24 at First Baptist Church.

Out of town guests at the shower were Mrs. Wagnitz, Mrs. Jean Piccard, Mrs. Don Wagnitz and Mrs. Chester Armstrong, all of Wixom. Others were Mrs. Robert Wagnitz of South Lyon, Mrs. Walter Balogh and daughter, Mildred, of Lake Orion and Mrs. Lawrence Bridgman of Milford.

Put Glove on Rod

Prevent curtaining when inserting a curtain rod by slipping the finger of an old glove onto the end of the rod.

For the mature bride, Pierre Balmain's two-piece suit of champagne-colored re-embroidered Alencon lace is ideal. The lace is over matching silk taffeta with a removable gilet of silk organza fitting in the neckline.

Choose a cool, brief hair - do for summer and keep it well-thinned and trimmed. Then, after your shower - pin - curl it in a matter of minutes.

Your hair will probably be dry and ready to comb out by the time you are dressed. If not, flowers make a pretty pin curl disguise. Just place a spray of artificial flowers over the pin curls and secure with bobby pins.

Decorators Spotlight Blue Tones

Home Furnishings Exhibits Feature All Hues of This Color

CHICAGO (INS) — It's the blue, not the new, that counts in high-style American home decoration this year.

Blue, in every tint from baby to blueberry, was featured by the nation's top interior decorators at the opening of the 1934 American Institute of Decorators exhibition.

The AID annual display, timed to coincide with the world's largest home furnishings market in Chicago, was set up on a regional basis for the first time.

But decorators from all parts of the country, as well as more than 100 industry exhibitors, agreed that blue is stylish no matter where you live.

Regional AID chapters showing off room settings and even one complete house, either used blue as a background or an accent.

The "bluest" room was the Florida exhibit, a dining area done in cooling tones of blue, green and white. This room featured a blue-and-green stained floor, a blue-and-green mosaic - topped dining table and turquoise leather chairs. The walls were white, but full length bamboo blinds of white were woven with blue and green metallic thread.

Southern and Northern California decorators also agreed on blue. The Northern California display had pale blue walls and pale blue chairs.

The Southern California room setting, a complete dining-kitchen area, set off walls of smoky gray with bright blue-green leather dining chairs.

Blue even turned up in the red-and-black room done by Pacific Northwest decorators. A vivid turquoise chair highlighted walls done completely in black and red silk.

The Ohio decorators' display used the darkest blue. This was a music room whose walls were completely covered in deep blueberry silk, a striking background for a cream colored sofa and cabinet. The rug was a combination of blue and purple.

Intense electric blue, the kind now called "Venetian," was the accent for the Maryland AID chapter room setting. A "Venetian Blue Mural" covered one wall of this dining room display. Antique pale wood dining chairs had brilliant blue leather cushions.

Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin decorators worked together on the "Great Lakes House" exhibit. This was a house, complete with garden done almost entirely in dull wood tones spiced with cocoa and accented with both pale and lively green-blues.

The blue in an antique New England room for the provided one of the colors for the New England chapter room. Blue and green, with touches of red, were used to match the rug and provide a background for antique reproduction furniture.

Grayish-blue wallpaper, and ceiling beams painted blue added a cooling note to a warm brown and orange office-study planned by the Midwest AID.

The same overhead use of blue was seen in the New York chapter display, which had a "blue sky" ceiling to add spaciousness for a modern abstract setting of oversized dining furniture against yellow travertine marble walls.

Blue also was used by noted decorators working on the industry displays. William Pahlmann of New York added three different turquoise tints as accents for his mustard - and - pink display. And Allen McGehee, another New York decorator, used pale aqua silk as the upholstery for a grouping of cherry furniture.

First Baptists Bid Farewell to Missionaries

Several hundred members of the First Baptist Church gathered in the church parlors for a farewell reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. James Savage, son of the pastor and the Rev. and Mrs. V. L. Martin, on Wednesday evening.

A song service led by the Rev. Howard Schoof, with Miss Bonnie Davis accompanying, was followed by a dedication service conducted by Dr. H. H. Savage, for the seven-week-old son of the Savages, Jonathan Dale.

The new assistant pastor of the church, the Rev. William Hakes, and Mrs. Hakes presented a vocal duet. Farewell greetings on behalf of the Mission Board of the church were given by Kenneth Humphreys.

A message was read from Mrs. William L. Dunkled, president of the Women's Missionary Society, who was recently injured in a fall and unable to be present.

The Rev. and Mrs. Savage are leaving to take up their work in Latin America, where Mr. Savage will head all youth for Christ work on that continent. They will make their home in Sao Paulo, Brazil, for the present time.

The Rev. and Mrs. Martin are returning to their missionary work at Curacao, Netherlands West Indies with their two children.

Nylon Place Mats Make Table Pretty

Give your table a really dressed up look with embroidered nylon organza place mats. There are rectangular ones with a single ruffle, circular ones with a double ruffle, and a matching runner 14 by 32 inches.

Just a quick swish in and out of soapuds and rinses keeps them fresh and pretty; if you straighten out and finger press ruffles and embroidery when damp, no ironing is needed.

Temper New Pans

Better results will be obtained from new baking pans if they are greased lightly with an unsalted fat and tempered an hour or two in a moderate oven 350 F. before they are used.

Augustana Lutherans Vote to Disband Meet

By Religious News Service
LOS ANGELES — The 95th annual synod of the Augustana Lutheran Church approved a proposal to dissolve the American Lutheran Conference at a final convention to be held in November.

At the same time, it put the Church on record again as "willing to discuss the subject of Lutheran unity with any or all Lutheran bodies in America."

The Conference, organized in 1930, is a federation of five Lutheran bodies. In addition to the Augustana Church its members are the American Lutheran Church, the Evangelical Lutheran Church, the Lutheran Free Church, and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church.

All but Augustana are currently involved in negotiations for a merger which would create a new church of some 1,800,000 members. Augustana withdrew from the merger discussions two years ago.

Women to Hold Garden Party

Newman AME Group Schedules Affair July 11 at Lakeside Center

Women of Newman AME Church are sponsoring a garden party at the Lakeside Community Recreational Center from 5 to 7 p.m. July 11.

Patterned after a party given last year, the affair will be on a larger scale in the hopes that where about 700 attended last year, at least 1,000 will be present this year. According to the publicity committee 1,500 invitations have been issued, and the general public is invited.

Special decorations will include garden umbrellas tables in the lake setting, with refreshment tables decorated in summer style. Guests will be offered open-faced sandwiches, cookies and punch. The teen-agers of the church, dressed formally, will serve.

A program has been planned with Mrs. Edward Harper as chairman. Other committee chairmen included Mrs. Blanche Meyers, general chairman; Mrs. Tyler McClelland, decorations; Mrs. John Taylor, invitation; Mrs. Marshall Turner, hostesses; Mrs. Allen D. Noble, refreshments; and Mrs. J. Allen Parker, publicity.

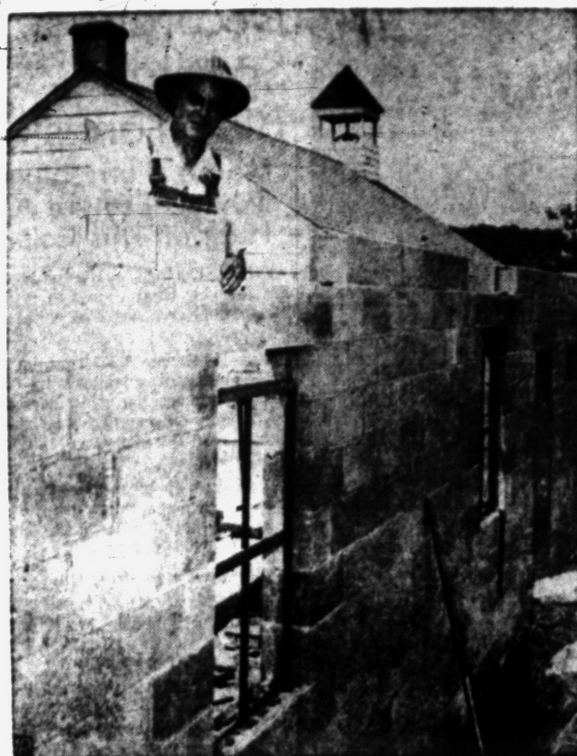

Women Keep Alive Quilting Bee Custom

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UP) — A group of Syracuse women is making sure that quilting parties do not go the way of the horse and buggy and the mustache cup.

They are members of the Women's Society for Christian Service at Lafayette Avenue Methodist Church. So far, they've made and distributed to church-sponsored organizations more than four dozen handmade quilts.

The women work on the quilts at their monthly meetings. When enough tops are ready, a group of them gather for an old-fashioned quilting party. They spend the day joining filler, tops and backing, and tie them with pieces of colored yarn.

As many as nine quilts have been tied in one session, the women said.

HARD-WORKING PASTOR—The Rev. John F. Rose, pastor of the Northwood Chapel in Kalamazoo, handles blocks as well as the Bible. Four years ago he built the chapel in the rear. Now, needing more room for his expanding congregation, he's hard at work each day laying a cement block addition. He's well acquainted with mortar and trowel because he used to be a contractor. HOW COULD YOU?

By DON D. TULLIS

My fan mail is usually provocative and sometimes funny. In this latter class is an anonymous criticism of my recent article "The Voice of the Turtle." The writer asks, "How could you. Everybody knows this was a turtle dove."

Of course they do. I discovered this many years ago in my reading of this Book in the original. The modern version also gives this rendering. Then too, common sense should teach one that Sheba's boy friend was more interested in doves than he was in turtles.

I used the old translation as an opening for a good story about a preacher. Also, I like it better. I don't care for doves, for they only sing and I am not musical.

I like turtles for they stick their necks out and "that's me all over." I'll learn some day that not pride but facetiousness cometh before a fall.

Now every criticism may be turned into a worthy end. A farmer once drove me from his orchard by throwing apples at me. I picked them up, took them home, and mother baked me a big apple pie. I shall try this system on "How Could You."

How could you, young lad, become a gangster after the fine influence of your home life? How could you, Mr. Citizen, enjoy the benefits of this great country and then unite with those who seek its overthrow?

How could you, erring parents, set an example of riotous living and turn your children's step halloward?

How could you, trusted business man, gamble away your money and that of others, and thus ruin your own life, the lives of your loved ones and go disgraced to prison?

How could you, stars of Hollywood, sneer at the sacrament of marriage by one divorce after another, and without a blush of shame continue your progressive polygamy?

How could you, unbeliever, enjoy the blessings of life and still say "there is no God?"

How could you fail to express thanksgiving to Him who is your Creator and Savior? How could you have the effrontery to meet Him at the sounding of "taps," having failed to lay hold on eternal life?

How Could You? You must answer that question some day. The constitution of The Everlasting Kingdom contains no Fifth Amendment to provide you a hiding place. What have you done with your life, thrown it away, wasted it?

How could you?

Austrian Catholics Build Housing Units

By Religious News Service

VIENNA — More than 2,000 housing units have been completed under auspices of the Austrian Roman Catholic Episcopate Settlement Office, it was announced here.

Another 1,000 units are under construction by the Settlement Office, which has established 13 co-operative housing - project organizations.

A special problem in the Church's housing and resettlement program is provision for refugees from Communist areas of Eastern Europe. Several settlements have been built in Upper Austria, Styria and the Tyrol. The Ford Foundation and the Swiss Aid for Europe contributed funds for such projects.

Construction of private homes and developments is the primary aim of the Church's Settlement Office and its cooperatives.

Confident LivingHelen Keller, Blind, Deaf, Has Dynamic Joyful Life

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Many years ago a young woman sat with a blind and deaf girl, using the manual alphabet to write the word "water" in the girl's hand. In an attempt to convey the meaning of the word she poured water from a pitcher on the girl's hand.

Over and over again the process was repeated until suddenly a connection was made in that mind that had no eyes to see or ears to hear.

The girl was the now famous Helen Keller, and the young woman was her equally famous teacher and companion, Anne Sullivan Macy.

That incident of the water marked the beginning of Helen Keller's ability to communicate with the outside world. The thrilling story of her life has been told in a fascinating motion picture, "The Unconquered," now being shown for the benefit of organizations for the blind all over the world. I hope that you may all see this picture.

Eventually Anne Macy taught Helen Keller to read, and in later years Miss Keller wrote, "No barrier of the senses shuts me out from the sweet, gracious discourse of my book-friends. They talk to me without embarrassment or awkwardness."

The greatest of all of Helen Keller's book-friends has been the Bible, which she reads every night in Braille before going to bed. Thanks to the discovery of how she could break through the barrier of the senses which disease destroyed in infancy, Helen Keller leads a happy and useful life against great odds. Her search for happiness was successful.

I would like to state what I am sure you will agree is a basic proposition about happiness. You cannot be happy unless you are useful, and in the highest sense you cannot be useful unless you are basically joyful.

Joy unlocks your personality and sets it free, causing you to live in harmony with God and man. This liberation of the personality gives you the ability to do things that are constructive and worthwhile, and these, of course, makes you happy.

The monthly news letter of The Royal Bank of Canada, from which I have taken the topic for this column, points out that this season sees the start of innumerable searches for happiness, for it is now that young men and women from our schools, colleges and universities set out eagerly to make their way in life. The writer of that letter defines the happiness they seek in lines that are worth quoting:

"Happiness arises largely from the mental qualities of contentment, confidence, serenity and active good will. It includes the pain of losing as well as the pleasure of finding.

"It thrives best in a crowded life. The men and women who are recorded in history and biography as most happy were people with always somewhat more to do than they could possibly do."

This is the secret of Helen Keller and people like her. It is a secret you can learn and use to guide you to your own happiness. The way to learn that secret is a simple one.

Get yourself filled with the spirit of God, which is of course the spirit of joy and usefulness.

Protestant Sect Wins Recognition in Italy

By Religious News Service

ROME — Italy's highest court ruled here that the Assemblies of God were entitled to official recognition by the Ministry of the Interior, the sect's attorney reported.

Giacomo Rosapepe said the Council of State had advised him officially of its ruling.

The Assemblies, a Pentecostal group, thus won its four-year struggle for official certification. The case has been followed closely by Protestants throughout Italy.

Report Polish Hierarchy Asks Ban on A-Weapons

By Religious News Service

LONDON — The Warsaw Radio declared that the Polish Roman Catholic Episcopate had called for an international ban on atomic and other weapons of mass destruction.

According to the broadcast, the statement, which cited Pope Pius XII's Easter appeal against the use of nuclear weapons, was signed by Auxiliary Bishop Zygmunt Choromanski of Warsaw, secretary of the Polish hierarchy.

A spokesman for the Polish emigre government here said it was "quite clear" that the episcopate had issued the statement under pressure from the Communist regime.

Be glad you can be useful to people and to the world.

This will drive out all your gloom and sense of defeat. This will bring to an end your feelings of frustration, and finally, this will help you to be truly successful in your search for happiness.

Eighty Ordained in Outdoor Rite

Augustana Lutherans Consecrate Graduates at 95th Synod

By Religious News Service
LOS ANGELES — The first outdoor ordination service in the history of the Augustana Lutheran Church was held here in connection with the denomination's 95th annual synod.

Eighty young men, all of them graduates of Augustana Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill., were consecrated for the ministry. It was the largest class ever to be ordained by the Augustana Church.

The ordination rite, witnessed by some 5,000 persons, took place in the Greek theater in Griffith Park here. Conducting the service was Dr. Oscar A. Benson of Minneapolis, the Church's president.

He was assisted by 80 pastors who acted as sponsors for the men ordained, and by the clerical officers of the Church and the faculty of Augustana Seminary.

Ten of the pastors who served as sponsors were fathers of members of the class. Each placed a stole around the shoulders of his son, a token of ordination, as the latter made his ministerial vows before the large altar in the amphitheater. Three pastors acted as sponsors for brothers who were ordained.

When Dr. Anton Lundeen of Co-kato, Minn., placed a stole on his son, Milton, it was the fourth time he had sponsored the induction of a son into the ministry.

Urges Renewed Zeal for Christ

Dr. S. C. Weir Assails 'Negativism' at United Presbyterian Assembly

By Religious News Service
AKRON, O.—A renewal of "consuming zeal for Christ and His Church" was urged by Dr. Samuel C. Weir of Dearborn, Mich., retiring moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, in his address to the denomination's 96th General Assembly recently.

Dr. Weir asked "zeal for souls, zeal for the extension of the Kingdom, zeal for Christian standards in society, and zeal for realization of the unity of the Body of Christ."

He paid tribute to "many ministers of the Gospel who are burning themselves out in zeal for the Lord's House and for His cause" but said there are "still too many among us under the yoke of ordination whose zeal for negativism and exclusivism is more characteristic than their zeal for the great positive interests of the Kingdom."

"The retiring moderator warned the delegates against being silent on social ills.

By such silence, he said, "we lend aid and encouragement to the demagogues of pulpit, platform and pen. We leave the field wide open for them when the pulpit gives no interpretation of the translation of Christian teachings into social practice."

"The fact that they are strong and we are divided is feeble excuse. We have been sent as disciples of Christ to develop in Christian minds a sensitiveness to the evil about them and a determination by the grace of God to resist it."

Record $3 Million Budget Approved by Synod

By Religious News Service
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — The Synod of the Christian Reformed Church concluded its two-week session here by approving a record budget of $3,335,000.

Quota to be paid by each family in the denomination was set at $58.30, slightly lower than last year's figure. The increase in church families is expected to make up the difference.

Largest item in the budget is foreign and Indian missions at $772,650, followed by Calvin college and seminary at $769,000.

The problem of church membership for persons "unbiblically" divorced (on grounds other than adultery) and remarried, was referred to two study committees. The church denies membership to such persons unless the partners refrain from living together.

30,000 in Ireland Attend Outdoor Rosary Service

By Religious News Service
DUBLIN — Thirty thousand persons from all over Northern Ireland converged on the little town of Downpatrick to hear the Rev. Patrick Peyton, CSC, of Albany, N. Y., conduct one of his final Rosary rallies in this country.

After the meeting, Father Peyton visited the grounds of the Downpatrick Anglican Cathedral and prayed at the grave of St. Patrick, Apostle of Ireland, who died there in 461.

The Rosary rally was originally scheduled to take place at the Downpatrick racetrack. Club officials, however, refused permission for the gathering. It was therefore held in a 30-acre field near the town.

Church Votes to Close South Indian Mission

By Religious News Service
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — The Synod of the Christian Reformed Church voted here to withdraw from a mission field in South India which it has operated since 1952.

The field was developed by Rev. Arthur V. Ramiah, a native Indian, as an independent mission. Two Christian Reformed missionaries were assigned to the mission early in 1953, but after difficulties arose between the new missionaries and Mr. Ramiah they were returned to this country late last year.

A board of missions committee had recommended to the Synod that the Church retain the field, send new missionaries and retire Mr. Ramiah after one year. This was rejected by the Synod and the mission was abandoned.

Dr. Beahm called the members to a "ministry of Reconciliation," saying that "This includes our ministry of mercy."

Rabbi Saperstein Talks at Conference

On Tuesday of this week, Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Jacob participated in the sixty-fifth annual convention of Central Conference of American Rabbis. The meeting was held at the Lake Tarleton Club in Pike, New Hampshire.

Rabbi Saperstein was one of the speakers on the panel discussing the role of the rabbi in group dynamics.

At this convention the group also marked the observance of the 300th anniversary of the arrival of the first Jewish group on American soil.

Rabbi and Mrs. Saperstein are vacationing in the East.

Church Guild Plans Membership Drive

By Religious News Service
MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Methodist working women attending a national meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild here voted to make a drive for new members the first order of business in the coming year.

"Three million more women than men, between the ages of 20 and 40, have flooded into American cities in recent years," Miss McConnell said.

"This mobile group of working women has had to find the church in the city through their own efforts—if at all. The church must seek them out and serve them."

"Women flocking to cities to work in industry and business shape the everyday world. The church needs them."

Guild is an auxiliary for working women of the Methodist Women's Division of Christian Service.

Bill Powell to Play 'Doc' in 'Mr. Roberts'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Even if his beloved Palm Springs weren't hot enough to fry eggs on the streets, I believe William Powell would have come out of his annual "retirement" to jump at the chance of playing the lovable "Doc" in
"Mr. Roberts."

It's good news to all the fans who never forget him that Bill has signed to do the Leland Hayward hit at Warners with Henry Fonda, Jimmy Cagney and Jack Lemmon.
Warners crop up periodically in Bill's life. He was one of the stars captured in the raid on Paramount years ago by the Warner brothers. Then Bill and Jack Warner had a battle and Powell went to MGM. "Mister Roberts" is the first picture Bill has made for Jack since "Life With Father."
Director John Ford leaves for Hawaii to look for locations tomorrow.

Not until today did Hal Wallis actually get Anna Magnani's signature on a contract to do "Rose Tattoo." She has been studying the script with Tennessee Williams, the author, in Rome, but she never got around to sending the contract.

Hal said, "she will get here in September. I tried to get Pier Angeli to play the daughter, but so far MGM hasn't said yes or no."

"Why don't you get Anna Maria Alberghetti?" I asked him. "She is the right age for the part, and she would be wonderful."

"That's an idea," Hal said. "I know she is a good actress and she is very pretty."

I was delighted to receive a telephone call from Franchot Tone from New York. He told me that he was leaving the cast of "Oh Men, Oh Women" to take his two boys, Pat, 9, and Jeff, 11, to his camp in Canada.

"It's so wonderful to have my boys with me," said Franchot.
"that I have decided to spend more time with them. We had a great success with the play, but next season I am going to produce two plays by a young playwright, Robert Thom. He's a graduate of the Yale School of Drama and I think we've got something very good."

I was glad to hear Franchot sound so well and happy, just like his old self.

My home town, Chicago, voted Beatrice Lillie the actress of the year and she will receive the Sarah Siddons Society award at the civic and social party given each year at the Ambassador East Hotel.

Bea received the award for "An Evening With Bea Lillie," which is really a terrific show. She nosed out Judith Anderson and Patricia Neal.

The presentation will be made June 29 by James Hart, and the next day Bea flies to London to begin a year of presenting her show all over Europe.

Students estimate there are as many as 30 million overweight Americans.

Haymes' Case to Resume Soon

Former Immigration Official Says Crooner Complied With Law

LOS ANGELES — The Dick Haymes' deportation hearing will be resumed next week as government counsel seeks to discredit the crooner's star witness.

Richard Cody, a former immigration official, on the stand most of the first two days of the hearing, will report back Monday afternoon for more government cross-examination.

Cody testified that Haymes complied with the law before taking a romantic visit to Hawaii, where Rita Hayworth was making a movie.

It was an affidavit by Cody which caused the Immigration Appeals Board to order a rehearing of Haymes' case. After an earlier hearing Haymes was ordered deported to his native Argentina.

Cody said in the affidavit that Herman Landon, head of the Los Angeles area of the Immigration

Service, instructed him not to warn Haymes that the trip to Hawaii might make him deportable.
During World War II Haymes claimed draft exemption as a citizen of a neutral nation.

Immigration lawyers brought out yesterday that Cody was discharged as an infantry lieutenant after a brain injury suffered in combat. The witness admitted, under cross-examination, that the injury causes him slight memory relapses.

He added, however, that the wound did not prevent his rising in the government service nor keep him from passing the California bar on his first try.

per cent of the total reserves of coal in the world and Russia has 23 per cent.

See New Work for Atom in Nation's Industries

By FRANK CAREY

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Possible new uses for the atom in industry—ranging from pre-treating pork chops to assuring that your cigarette is fully packed—were described here by atomic scientists.

The ideas were presented to the closing session of an International Congress on Nuclear Engineering, sponsored at the University of Michigan by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Dr. L. E. Brownell and several UM colleagues, declaring it previously has been shown experimentally that a certain dosage of atomic radiation applied to pork can sterilize it against possibility of causing "trichinosis" in a pork eater, said they had worked out a design for a radiation device applicable to pork production lines.

They said they figure that with such a device, pork could be irradiated at a cost of less than one-fourth of a cent per pound, using a production rate of 2,000 hogs a day.

The device, placed handy to the production line where future pork roasts and pork chops would come into position, would contain a radioactive material originally produced in an atomic "furnace."

Researchers G. D. Calkins and Meyer Pobereskin of the Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio, told how the atom might be put to work "inspecting" cigarettes to assure that they contain just the right amount of tobacco—neither too little nor too much.

They said a "density gauge" instrument containing a radioactive material could be arranged in such a way that cigarettes moving on a conveyor belt would pass through part of the instrument, receiving an application of atomic rays.

The cigarettes would pass through in small groups at a time. Their density—as controlled by the amount of tobacco in them—would be measured in terms of the amount of radiation they cause to be "scattered" back. Cigarettes not measuring up to specifications would be automatically shagged from the conveyor belt.

The Battelle team also listed various other possible applications of the busybody atom, such as measuring the moisture content of paper, tobacco and various chemicals.

And they said the atom already is being used in such applications as measuring the wearing quality of automotive distributor points and other electrical contacts; determining the wearability of various moving parts of engines, such as piston rings; measuring the density of soil under proposed road beds or buildings; determining the cleaning efficiency of soaps and washing machines and even the effectiveness of vacuum sweepers.

Balloon-Borne Camera Will 'Shoot' Eclipse

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—General Mills, Inc., said today it will send one of its "skyhook" balloons with a specially built camera into the stratosphere next Wednesday for a "close-up look" at the eclipse of the sun.

The solar camera, equipped with a compass-like "sun seeker," will photograph the eclipse in an effort to reach the solar flares that rise from the sun's rim.

The balloon, 79 feet in diameter with a deflated length of 102 feet, will be launched at the University of Minnesota airport at 3:30 a.m. (EST) if the weather permits, the company said. It is expected to climb 15 miles by the time the sun rises.

At that altitude less than 5 per cent of the earth's atmosphere will be above it.

The firm says Skyhook balloons can hold the camera steady without vibration and can take cameras high enough that the earth's atmosphere will not interfere with the clarity of view.

The balloon probably will carry up cosmic ray plates and geiger counters from the University of Minnesota, General Mills said.

Whales have forelimbs resembling fins, but beneath the smooth skin are bones typical of the forelegs of mammals.

Jet Pilots May Get New Liquid Rations

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Liquid meals which jet pilots can sip through their oxygen mask tubes during combat are among new types of military rations being devised, delegates to the Institute of Food Technologists were told yesterday.

Maj. William B. Levin, chief of the budget and planning branch of the institute's research section, told the delegates experiments also are being made on bite-sized pieces of food which a pilot can toss into his mouth by removing his mask flap a few seconds.

New combat rations for field soldiers to replace the present C-rations will come in about a dozen different menus, Maj. Levin said, consisting mainly of meat, bread and dessert and including such dishes as chop suey, chocolate nut rolls and fruit cake.

Wisconsin GOP to Rally Without Favorite Son

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Some three-thousand Wisconsin Republicans, with one favorite son missing from their ranks, will sit down tonight to a $100 per person box supper with Vice President Richard Nixon.

Absent from the fund raising gathering will be Sen. McCarthy, Wisconsin junior Republican senator, said by his office to be resting at an undisclosed vacation site.

The vice president offered no indication of what his subject would be in his 8:30 p.m. CST address.

Woman Driver Saves Busy Cop's Tricycle

OMAHA (AP)—Mrs. Celeste Grossman of Omaha has struck a blow for the honor of woman drivers. When she saw a traffic policeman's tricycle start to roll downhill as the officer wrote a parking ticket, she quickly swerved her car in front of it and curved the three-wheeler.

The city will pay the repair bill for minor damage to her car.

Reds Say Britain Differs With U. S.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio declared today that Britain will not share in American attempts "to keep the Chinese People's Republic from taking part in a settlement" of the Korean War.

In an English-language broadcast on the fourth anniversary of the Korean conflict, Commentator Timofeyev said:

"Washington spokesmen, having torpedoed the talks on the Korean question at the Geneva conference, are again trying to have the matter referred to the United Nations. What this really means is they are trying to keep the Chinese People's Republic from taking part in the settlement."

"But," Timofeyev added, "it is characteristic that these intentions of Washington are far from shared in the other Western capitals, notably London."

"Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, when he addressed Commons, stressed that the government's goal and viewpoint will continue to be that the United Nations could not count on settling the Korean question without consent of China . . ."

Steals Ice Cream Cart to Keep Stolen Chickens

Inside were 20 dressed chickens, which he also admitted stealing. His trial was set for June 29.

The European corn borer is believed by scientists to have been introduced into the United States from Hungary, being first discovered in 1917.

Great Lakes in Court Today

Steel Company Asking Injunction and Damages Against Strikers

DETROIT (AP)—Great Lakes Steel Corp., Michigan's largest steel firm, was to be given a Circuit Court hearing today on its request for an injunction against the striking CIO United Steelworkers of America.

The company asked for the hearing yesterday, seeking to enjoin the union from interfering with access to its strikebound plants in suburban Ecorse and River Rouge.

Great Lakes also asked that the court decide the amount of damages it suffered and to hold the union liable for payment on breach of contract grounds.

The company charged in its suit that it suffered large financial losses Wednesday when 11,000 workers walked out and left open hearth furnaces unattended.

The firm, which supplies steel for the auto industry, also said union members have barred access to its plants.

The 229th ballot was blank.

Reds Hit U. S. Indochina Base

2 Dead, Five Captured as Commandos Attack
Catbi Airfield

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—Communist commandos attacked a second American-staffed air base in the Red River delta near Haiphong Friday night, the French High Command announced today.

The raiders tried to break through the defenses of Catbi Airfield six miles south of Haiphong major port on the Gulf of Tonkin. It followed by only 24 hours a similar raid on nearby Donsan Field also staffed by Americans.

Five rebels were taken prisoners and two were found dead in the thick loops of barbed wire surrounding the field.

Catbi has been manned for several months by U. S. Air force technicians with non-combatant status. The Americans were not injured, the French said.

The rebels apparently were trying to repeat their feat of four months ago when they destroyed several planes on the ground at Catbi.

Since the reorganization of French strength in the delta, the defenses of Catbi have been almost impregnable. Besides barbed wire and machinegun nests, armored cars maintain a 24-hour patrol against Red infiltration. The field is brilliantly floodlighted at night.

Earlier today, a giant C-119 U.S. Air Force Globemaster left Saigon with 100 wounded French soldiers for Paris by way of the United States because India refused them passage on the direct route.

India Makes Plans for Atomic Center

NEW DELHI (UP)—The Indian Planning Commission has approved a plan for development of atomic energy in India during the next four years.

The Indian Atomic Energy will now build an atomic energy center at Trombay, about 15 miles from the center of Bombay.

The AEC is studying the type of atomic reactor to be built. A study group of the AEC has visited various research centers in Europe to compare suitable reactors.

The AEC is now building a pilot plant to extract uranium from the tailings of the Indian Copper Corporation's mines and also to treat ores from the commission's prospecting.

The AEC is also surveying the monazite sands found in Travancore-Cochin for more precise estimates of what is available in India.

Year's Largest Appropriation OK'd by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators working against a June 30 deadline yesterday sped the biggest money bill of the year to the White House and sent two other appropriations measures to near-final stages.

By voice vote, the Senate okayed $28,800,125,486 to run the nation's armed forces in the fiscal year beginning July 1. This completed congressional action on the mammoth defense measure, which accounts for more than half of President Eisenhower's total budget request of about $6 billion dollars.

Also by voice vote the Senators sent two House-passed bills to Senate-House conference:

1. A measure granting the Labor Department 299 million dollars and the Health-Education-Welfare Department $1,681,000,000.
2. A record $170,438,847 appropriations for District of Columbia operations next year.

Differences between the Senate and House versions are ironed out in conference committees, after which the bills are returned to each chamber for final action.

William Remington Is Denied Parole

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department says William W. Remington, former Commerce Department economist serving time for perjury, has failed in a bid for parole from the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

The Department said yesterday Remington, 36, applied for a parole April 25, shortly after he completed the first year of a three-year prison term imposed after he was convicted in New York of lying when he denied knowing of a Young Communist League unit at Dartmouth in the 1930s.

The parole application was turned down June 17, the department said.

Billy Graham Lands in Berlin for Rally

BERLIN (INS)—A weak but determined Billy Graham arrived in Berlin today and said he is sure he will be able to appear at a mass rally tomorrow despite "an extremely painful kidney disorder." Graham flew to Berlin this morning from Düsseldorf, where he was reported yesterday to be painfully, but not seriously ill.

He was welcomed at the airport in Berlin by city and church leaders and officials of the West German government. Stepping off the plane, he told them he was feeling better and should be able to speak at a mass revival meeting Sunday.

'Joe Must Go' Funds Returned

Club Refunds Money to Firms Charged With Violating Election Law

BARABOO, Wis.—(AP)—An officer of the "Joe Must Go Club" said last night donations which Sauk County Dist. Atty Harlan Kelley used as the basis for criminal information against three Milwaukee firms have been returned.

Carl Lachmund, Sauk City, treasurer of the drive which failed in an effort to secure a recall election for Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) said refunds amounting to $50 were sent to the firms. The companies, which Kelley said violated the state's election laws, are Standard Paper Co., Electric Welding & Engineering Corp., and Charles Meissner & Associates, Inc.

Lachmund said $5 was returned to the paper company, $25 to the engineering firm and $20 to Meissner & Associates.

The paper firm denied making any contribution to the club. The other two said that corporate checks were issued but that refunds were returned by the club with a letter saying it was not seeking contributions from firms.

Kelley said yesterday information was dispatched by registered mail to the Milwaukee county sheriff, Max Barczak, for service. He said he also wrote to the firms notifying them of his action. State law, he said, prohibits corporations from contributing or paying money to any political organization for any purpose.

Meh and Dogs Hunt Girl, 3, Lost in Sierras

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Thirty men and two trained bloodhounds searched the rugged high Sierras near 8,573-foot Kit Carson Pass early today for a 5-year-old girl who wandered away from her parents last night.

The girl was identified as Kathy Paxton of Cupertino, Calif., in the San Francisco Bay area. The names of her parents were not immediately available.

Searchers reported by radio that it was bitterly cold and windy in the region where the girl is lost, about three miles west of the pass.

The search began last evening after a call for help was received from a U.S. Forest Service telephone on Highway 88 about 20 miles south of Lake Tahoe, in Alpine county.

U. S. Starts Airlift of Wounded French

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—The U.S. Air Force, which barely two months ago rushed French fighting men to the defense of Dien Bien Phu, today began evacuating 500 of the battle's wounded back to France.

A four-engined Globemaster left Saigon with the first 100 French Union troops on the 16,000-mile airlift, which will span two oceans and the United States before the troops are deposited in Paris about 10 days from now.

From Japan the Military Air Transport Service will finish the transfer in C119 transports touching down at Lakeland, Fla., and Westover, Mass.

Capitol Police Seize 9 Youths

Boys, 8 to 15, Suspects in Attack on Rep. Curtis
by Juvenile Gang

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine youths, ranging in age from 8 to 15, have been seized by Washington police in connection with a gang attack on Rep. Curtis (R-Mo.).

Police Sgt. William Rasmussen said the youths were seized last night after some 300 persons—most of them juveniles—had been questioned in a two-day investigation.

Rasmussen said three of the boys, aged 8 and 9, admitted taking part in the attack near the Capitol Wednesday night. He said they named the other six, who denied being implicated.

The nine were held without charge for questioning. Police said Curtis would be asked to identify the youths later today.

The attack occurred when Curtis went to the aid of Frank Mitchell of Toledo, Ohio, who was being threatened by a Negro gang. The congressman told of the incident in a House speech the next day.

Rasmussen said three of the boys gave this account:

One member of the gang stepped on Mitchell's toes and the Ohioan cursed them. The group picked up stones and threw them at Mitchell, then fled when Curtis appeared.

SCHOOL'S OUT

By J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES

Children have been under close supervision all winter; schools are closed, restraint has been lifted and those children's spirits are uninhibited. Drive slowly where they are at play.

Those children are interested in their immediate activity; a quick, flash-like dash may take them into the path of your car. All the while, all the protestations, tears and lamentations won't cure a broken back. Be alert. That child could be your own. Be ready to stop.

Children are taught not to use streets as play-grounds just as we are taught to drive slowly past playing children; they forget and so might we, but that doesn't excuse us. The safe way is to play safe. Drive slowly where children are at play.

Worst Beating of Year Doesn't Discourage Lopez

CLEVELAND (AP)—What does a baseball manager say after the rival he wants to beat most gives him the club the worst licking it's had all season while the year's biggest crowd of home fans looks on?

The baseball manager would be Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians; the rival the world champion New York Yankees, the team to beat.

The worst licking would be the 11-0 drubbing the Tribe took here last night for its first shutout in 66 games. And the home crowd of 49,808 was nearly 10,000 more than the previous high gate recorded at the April home opener.

"I'd rather lose a game 11-0 than 1-10," was Lopez's post mortem. "Honestly, a beating like that doesn't hurt as much as a close one. A close one eats your heart out playing it over and over. This ball game happened a million years ago. You forget it and start fresh tomorrow."

For a manager whose clubs have finished runner-up to the Yankees three times, it might sound like whistling in a stroll past the cemetery, but Lopez isn't conceding Casey Stengel's men a sixth pennant for quite a while. "We've a better club, regardless of whether we lost," he protests. "This is the first time in late June since I've been manager that we are in first place and the Yankees are chasing us."

(On June 26, 1951, the Yanks were second, two games behind Chicago and 6½ ahead of Cleveland; on that date in 1952, New York was first and Cleveland third, three games out; and last year the Bombers were wrapping up first place with an eight-game bulge over runner-up Cleveland.)

But there is no denying that the Yanks' triumph in the opener of the three-game series greatly increases the pressure on the Indians to win tonight and tomorrow afternoon. From July 2 to July 11 the Tribe has eight games with the Chicago White Sox, now only one game back. New York seems a cinch to improve its position during the clashes of its current rivals.

Early Wynn, the pitcher the Yanks like best, will try to give the Indians the "fresh start" Lopez talked about tonight. He is 1-1 with New York, and his rival will be Ed

Lopez whose 7-3 record includes two wins over Cleveland. Over an 11-season span southpaw Lopez has baffled the Indians 39 times against 11 losses.

Lopez said there would be more lineup changes tonight—the first Saturday night game ever played between the Yanks and Indians. He wouldn't say what they will be, but there was speculation Al Rosen might move back to third, and Vic Wertz take over at first.

Last night Lopez benched rookie

Rudy Regalado and moved Al Smith from the outfield to third. He placed Wertz in left field where Smith had been. Right fielder Dave Philley, hitting a lowly .203, also was benched, and Wally Westlake started in that position.

Reynolds Blanks Tribe

By BEN PHILLEGAR

Associated Press Sportswriter
Allie Reynolds' reluctant decision to abandon his role as an oil tycoon with an aching back in favor of one more season of pitching looks like the key move in the New York Yankees' drive for their sixth straight pennant.

The Big Chief from Oklahoma has been magnificent. When he beat the first-place Indians 11-0 last night it marked his ninth straight victory after losing his first decision. The third-place Yankees moved within three games of the Indians and the second-place Chicago White Sox, who

Reynolds, who had the backache often in the closing stages of 1953, was ready to stay on his reservation with his oil wells unless the Yankees met his asking price of $40,000.

That figure looked pretty steep for a 36-year-old pitcher in questionable physical condition. The Yanks put him on the waiver list and one spring report, never confirmed nor denied, said Reynolds, like Vic Raschi, would have been peddled to the St. Louis Cardinals if the other American League clubs had allowed it.

The deal was blocked and the Yanks were stuck with their Indian. As late as opening day Allie was tabbed as a bullpen man. This lasted until May 2. Since then Reynolds has started 11 times, pitched four complete games and three shutouts. His earned run average of 2.46 is one of the best.

Elsewhere on the all-night schedule Washington edged Detroit 4-3 and Baltimore beat Philadelphia 5-1 in the American League. New York whipped Chicago 6-2, Brooklyn defeated St. Louis 3-1, Milwaukee whitewashed Philadelphia 7-0 and Cincinnati thumped Pittsburgh 8-4 in the National.

Bob Keegan of the White Sox became the first American League pitcher to win 11 games as he fanned Boston on eight hits. One of the hits was a pinch home run by Ted Williams with a man aboard in the ninth.

Baltimore scored four runs in the first inning against the Athletics, who had won 9 of their last 12. Duane Pillette won his fifth game, a six-hitter, while the Birds battered three Philadelphia pitchers for 13 hits.

TKO Win Earns Shot at Champ

NEW YORK (AP)—Percy Bassett is in line for an October shot at the featherweight champion Sandy Saddler after his 11th round technical knockout victory over young Lulu Perez.

Bassett wore down the 21-year-old Brooklyn Fancy Dan with his heavy hooks to the body, dropped him for an automatic eight-count in the 11th and cut his left eye in the eighth.

Because it will take time to recover after cutting out some old scar tissue around Bassett's right eye, he will be out of action for a few weeks. But he'll be ready for Saddler whenever the champ says the word.

Birmingham 9 Hands Loss to Huron Valley

Birmingham Blues defeated Huron Valley Boys Club, 9-5, at Pierce Field Friday in an 18th District American Legion baseball league contest. Dick Covey relieved starter Bob Bell in the 2nd inning and gained his 2nd win of the season.

Howard Foote hit a bases-empty homer for Birmingham in the 6th and also had a single. Jim Trahan had a triple and single for the Blues, while losing pitcher Dave Huber had three hits for the Huron Valley nine.

2nd Division Beckons Tigers After Losing to Senators

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, who led the American League during the early care-free weeks of the season, now find themselves in distinct danger of toppling into the 2nd division.

With only 9 wins in 31 games, the situation is causing considerable concern around Briggs Stadium, even though the team has passed the half-million mark in attendance.

The Tigers like it in 4th place and want to hit that magic million figure, but in order to achieve that mark, their play will have to perk up. They're only 5½ games out of last place.

Detroit's immediate threat—Washington—came to town last night and took a 4-3 decision from the Tigers. There were 25,996 fans in the stands making it 510,635 for the season.

They saw George Zverink give up only 6 hits, but Washington put every one of them to use. The Nats collected 3 hits in the 1st inning and 3 more in the 8th. They scored 2 runs each time. That offset a 2-run homer by Detroit's Bob Nieman in the 8th.

The victory pulled Washington to within one game of the Tigers, and made the last two games of the series significant ones for both teams. Two more wins by the Senators and they'll take 4th place.

Al Aber was named to stop the Senator drive in today's game. He was to be opposed by paunchy, cigar-smoking Conrado Espinoza Ramos Marrero, Washington's aceless right-hander.

The exact age of "Guajiro" hillbilly in Cuban — is not known but reports have listed it between 40 and 55.

The Tigers were in trouble last night after only four pitches. Ed Joest, leading batter, hit a 3-1 pitch for his 7th home run. That gave Washington a 1-0 lead and it never lost that edge.

Pete Runnels, with a double and triple, knocked in two runs to send Zverink to his 3rd loss against as many wins. Rookie Dean Stone was the winner, although he had to retire after 6 innings due to a blister on his pitching hand.

Realty Girls Stretch Unbeaten String to 7 Games

Giles Realty extended its undefeated string to seven games in city girls' softball league play last night, routing Avondale 19-5 in the playoff of an earlier postponed game.

Starting pitcher Bernice Lilleyman and relievers Ann Daniels and Katy Boykins shared a 1-hitter. Bernice gave up the one hit—a 3rd-inning single by Joyce Fralich—but held Avondale scoreless through six innings.

Ann Daniels took over in the 7th and immediately ran into trouble. She issued four straight bases on balls and let in a run before Katy Boykins came in to allow four more walks and four runs before retiring the side.

IT'S Sweet Cherry TIME

Each year, at this time, scarlet and ruby cherries announce the beginning of summer fruit time. Richmond and Montmorency, the two types of pie cherries extensively raised, are just coming into season. Our own state is a leader in cherry growing. Later come the local sweet cherries. Dark sweet ones from the Northwest are already in the market. Cherries are tree-ripened and ready for the table when picked.

CHERRY PIE

By Mrs. Raymond Ellsworth

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons tapioca
Pinch salt
3 cups cherries, drained

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup juice drained from canned cherries
2 tablespoonsful softened butter or margarine

Combine sugar, salt and tapioca, stir in cherry juice. Cook until clear. Place cherries and butter cut into bits in pastry lined tin. Pour cherry juice mixture over cherries. Adjust top crust. Bake in 450 degree oven 15 minutes, then reduce oven to 350 and bake 20-25 minutes longer. Makes 1 nine-inch pie.

If fresh cherries are used mix tapioca, salt and sugar thoroughly and sprinkle about 1 $\frac{2}{3}$ of it over bottom of pastry-lined pan. Put in 3 cups pitted sour cherries, sprinkle with rest of sugar mixture. Continue as in the canned cherry pie.

CHERRY FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

By Mrs. J. H. Stresen-Reuter

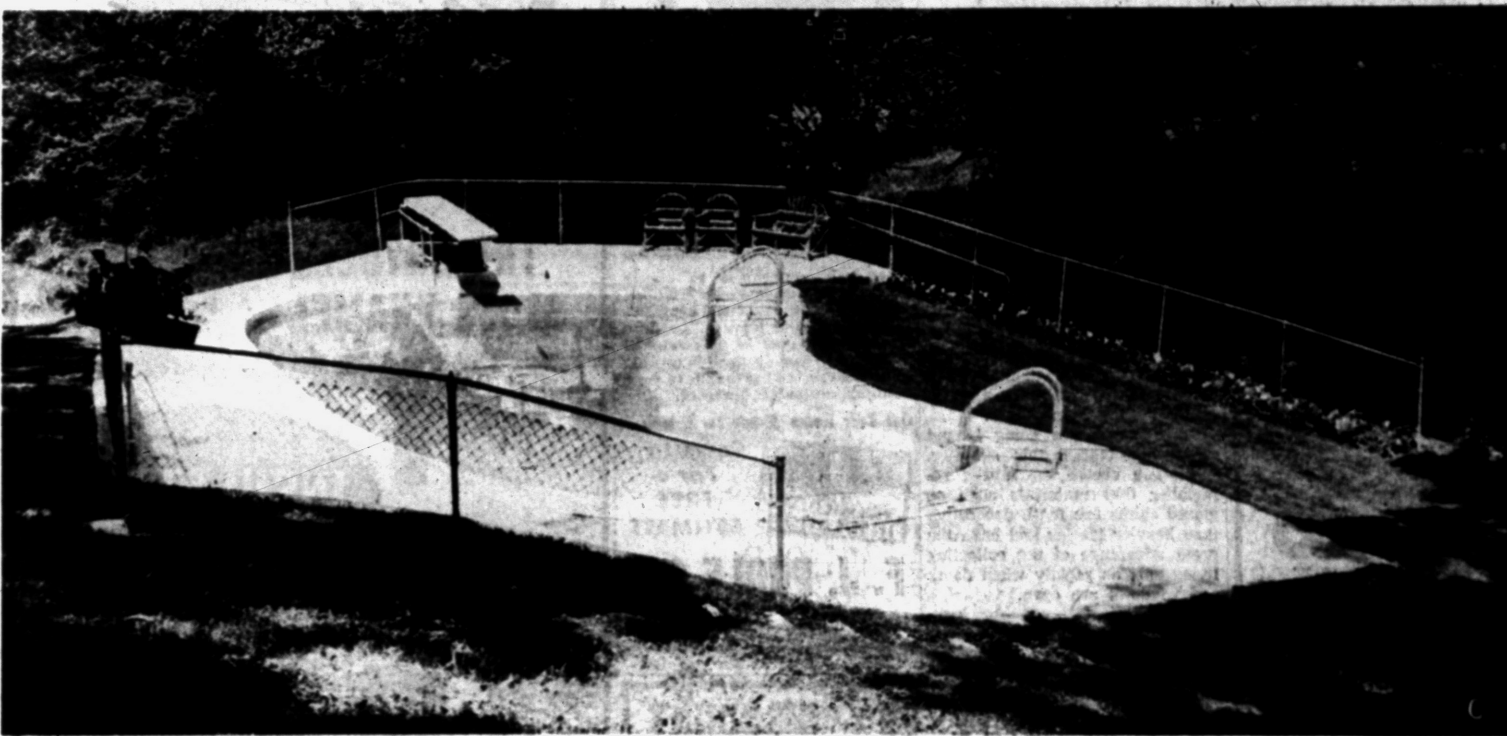

$\frac{1}{4}$ cup salad oil
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup light corn syrup
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped cherries, sweetened with 2 tablespoons sugar
Pinch salt

Add corn syrup gradually to the salad oil. Stir in the lemon juice and salt. Add the chopped cherries. If you have an electric blender, beat all ingredients together until thoroughly mixed. Serve this dressing on a fresh fruit salad made with canned grapefruit segments, drained, sliced fresh apricots and mixed greens. Garnish with fresh cherries.

TREE-FRAMED ULRICH HOME — The gracious white brick ranch home designed and lived in by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ulrich is situated in a secluded wooded area on West Nine-Mile Road. The charming abode, both indoors and outdoors, is complete in every detail. The owners designed the home themselves, from the full basement to the monogrammed chimney. They spent five years in readying their huge lot for the 110 foot structure.

BLUE POOL WATERS INVITE SWIM — The sapphire swimming pool was a most happy thought in the plans for the Ulrich home. Approximately 20 by 40 feet long the kidney-shaped tank graduates in depth from three to about eight feet. The pool, itself is of gunnite, a type of concrete blown into the form. Setting for the swimming area is wooded valley at the bottom of the hill and the Ulrichs have added to the scene with careful landscaping.

NATURE'S PORTRAIT — Looking out the big picture window in the Ulrich living room, one has a grand view of nature's handiwork. Colorful lawn furniture dots the patio and lawn, and down the hill is glimpsed the blue of the pool. The flagstone-floored patio outside this window is reached from an attractive screened porch which is adjacent to the living room.

PICTURE IN PRACTICALITY — The Ulrichs' master bedroom is decorated in rose and wedge-wood blue, and was planned with practicality in mind. It is 13 by 15 feet in size with modern folding leather doors covering the closet which runs the full width of the room. All furniture is of Honduras mahogany with the exception of a white leather chair.

CHARMED LIVING — Entering the striking living room, one sees walls of a deep green shade, with the same color repeated in cotton wall-to-wall carpeting. Coral love seats flank the picture window and white bubble lights hang over them from the ceiling. A huge coral sofa is ensconced in the curved bay. Potted philodendron and a black ceramic tile fireplace with raised hearth and brass fittings enhance the picture. A glance out the picture window gives a breath-taking view of the patio and pool on a green hillside.

Your Neighbor's House

Dream Home Now Reality for Ulrichs

By ABBIE KUCSERA

A dream home of their own creation was once the goal of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ulrich. Today that dream — the ultimate in charm and comfort — stands a reality at 27500 West Nine-Mile road.

The couple had chosen a generous-sized lot in a wooded area on a hill above a creek which is known as a part of Rouge River. The location is just at the border of Farmington and Southfield Townships.

They went each evening to clear the trees from their lot and soon learned from the neighborhood youngsters that the site had been a favorite pheasant-hunting spot. They also found that many boys considered the creek as their "ol' swimmin' hole."

Mrs. Ulrich relates now, how after arriving home from the lot each evening, the couple sat down to design houses, until after nearly five years, the lot was in readiness. They took their chosen house design to an architect, and he made the blueprints just as they had planned, declining to change a single detail.

The house, completed, is 110 feet in length, including the two-car garage. Its white brick and yellow frame exterior is beautifully landscaped with choice evergreens and colorful flowers which include a lavish array of bluish-red floribunda, bordering the circular drive.

A full basement under the structure houses a large recreation room and furnace room.

Entering the Ulrich portals, one finds a generous entrance hall. Flanking the doorway are two large glassblock windows, lined with glass and marble shelves. Here Mrs. Ulrich displays her glass collection.

The 15 by 24 foot living room is complete with dining ell. In contrast to the blonde of the living room furniture, are the choice dark mahogany pieces in the ell. On one side is a built-in china cabinet and the far wall displays an Oriental scene on its hand-printed paper. Double French doors in the ell lead to the airy screened porch and thence to the patio.

A large 10 by 12 foot tile bath done in pink and dove gray connects the master bedroom and the guest room.

The guest room (not pictured) is decorated in Cherokee rose and chartreuse. Opposite the twin beds are floor-length print drapes on dark green background. The wall-to-wall carpeting is of beige cotton.

The second bath in the house is located near the kitchen. It has a stall shower and is finished in gray tile and washable wall paper with a gay bird pattern.

Complete to the last detail, the upstairs utility room has an ironer and automatic laundry facilities.

Asked if their dream home measured up to expected perfection, Mrs. Ulrich smiled as she answered softly, "We love it!"

Redecorating Whole Room Urged by Top Designers

NEW YORK (NEA) — The furniture with which a young couple starts married life usually lasts well through their children's school days. By the time there are teenagers in the family, father is ready to act on mother's determination to do something about the furniture.

But in those 15 years or so that have elapsed since the bridal buying spree, many homemakers have given scant attention to changes in interior decoration, knowing they were in no position to act on the new ideas.

So if you have reached the happy time when a change is at last in the offing, you're probably wondering just where to begin.

Should you do over the whole house by buying a few things for each room and holding onto others? Or should you do one room over completely? And if so, which one?

The thoughts of two interior decorators, Kim Hoffmann and Stephen Heidrich, may clear up such a predicament.

Hoffmann and Heidrich, who are also industrial designers, suggest that you look beyond the furniture to the changes in the family's way of living that gradually are taking place.

With the youngsters headed toward adulthood, you'll have to think of giving them room to entertain their friends. The jokes about Ma and Pa being stuck in the kitchen while Susie and her crowd take over the living room harbor more fact than fancy.

Another factor to consider is the psychological value of the change.

Since few can afford to do over an entire house or apartment at one time, these experts suggest doing your bedroom first.

For one thing, you won't have to hold a family council on how to refurbish it. Just you and your husband will decide on the type of furniture and color scheme.

And (so very important if your home is not a large one) you can convert your bedroom into a sitting room very easily.

In doing so, you will certainly achieve a change that will be thoroughly refreshing. For bed, bureau and dressing table today can disguise their primary purpose during the day while, giving service that is entirely unrelated.

The furniture that you banish from your room probably will be most welcome in the bedroom of your teen-age daughter. While you're making over your room, she could do over hers.

Your daughter should enjoy using her ingenuity to make something of the furniture you hand down to her. And while she's learning first hand about the art of interior decorating, you'll be going a long way in helping to balance the furniture budget.

Fuzzy Cedar Lining
Denotes Oil Content

Don't be alarmed if the cedar closet lining you buy from a lumber dealer has a white, fuzzy substance on the surface. In all likelihood the substance is merely crystallized cedar oil, an indication of strong oil content.

It sometimes appears when the packaged lining has been stored where there is little air circulation or light. It will vanish if the wood is placed in the open air for a short period. It also can be brushed or rubbed off easily.

An average American has 80 bus rides a year.

Plan a Decor That Outwits Summer Dust

You can add a new look to your home and earn a bonus of many more leisure hours by careful planning of your summer decor. Concentrate on easy-to-maintain surfaces everywhere you can, from draperies and furniture slip covers to walls, ceilings and floors.

Fortunately, today's homemaker has many materials from which to choose for decorative appeal and daily usability.

Used properly they contribute to the beauty and distinction of a home and most can be applied easily by the homemaker.

Perhaps you are going to put up new draperies this summer. When you choose the fabric, remember that materials such as glazed chintz are more decorative than heavier fabrics and have the great advantage of not collecting flying dust as rapidly when doors and windows are open.

Closet Space Available From Old Icebox Recess

Passing of the old-fashioned icebox leaves an excellent opportunity to add much-needed storage space to typical houses built in the 1920s.

In most of these, an icebox recess about 4' square was provided just off the kitchen and near the entrance door. By closing up the front, this space can now be converted into a closet to hold cleaning equipment and seldom-used kitchen utensils.

A 4' x 5' panel of plastic-faced plywood, 4 floor-to-ceiling 2x4s, and a few plywood shelves supported by wooden strips nailed to either side of the wall are all the materials required, say plywood engineers.

Nature Fights Moth

Nature provides aromatic red cedar closet lining with a "built-in" weapon to foil moths. The weapon consists of the fragrant aroma of the wood, extremely pleasant to human beings but poison gas to newly hatched moth larvae. Only moths in the larval stage feed on wood.

No Trick to Keep Shades Sparkling

Bright window shades made of plastic impregnated fabrics can be taken down and "scrubbed" on both sides with a sponge and warm soapuds. It's best to use thick "dry" soapuds — scooped from the top of the suds in the sink or tub — washing a small section at a time with overlapping strokes.

After rinsing with clear water and drying with a soft cloth, the shades can be re-hung and drawn full length until thoroughly dry. The final step is to re-roll them tightly and leave for several hours in order to preserve their springiness. Follow these directions and it's no trick to keep washable window shades sparkling clean.

Spot to Dance Makes a Hit With Teenagers

The teen agers in a family will give a big hand to home planning parents who arrange to have at least one room in the house quickly convertible for dancing.

Actually, this involves no problem when most of the rooms are floored with oak or other attractive hardwood, which offer a perfect dancing surface.

A living room, dining room or television room floored with beautiful hardwood, therefore, is "made to order" for the coke set.

With proper decorative planning, such a room can be transformed into a dance area in a matter of moments.

The plan calls for leaving a large expanse of uncovered floor. One or two distinctive accent rugs can be employed to add interest. When the youngsters decide to cut a few fancy foot capers, they can make those rugs disappear in nothing flat.

This arrangement, incidentally, hits a high fashion note this year. Many leading decorators are advising homemakers to display the beauty of their fine hardwood floors instead of concealing it.

2 Alternatives Given for Refinishing Work

One coat of enamel is usually sufficient for most refinishing work. If two coats are used, or a second is needed because the color change is radical — there is a choice of two methods.

Either apply two coats of enamel — or — first apply what's known as enamel undercoater. The enamel undercoater comes only in white.

This is satisfactory under all light colors. If a dark enamel is used, it's wise to tint the undercoater with the finishing enamel, using about 3 parts undercoater to 1 part enamel.

House Planning Reflects Kitchen Organization

If a new home's kitchen is badly planned, the rest of the house will probably be, too. Good kitchen includes at least 15 running feet of base cabinets. Countertops are surfaced with durable, easily cleaned materials like tile.

Refrigerator, range and sink will be found within a few feet of each other.

About 120 million bee visits to flowers are needed to pollinate 10 acres of clover.

Wood Animal Designs Are Used for Various Purposes

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Every day the mailman brings us all kinds of letters from readers who want full size designs for little animals. Many, it seems, want to use these designs for lawn ornaments. Den mothers constantly ask for ideas that will help them to keep their little Cub Scouts busy.

Farmers need suitable subjects to put on their mail boxes, barns and weather vanes. Mothers often ask for patterns that they can trace and paint on the walls of their children's rooms, or paint on children's furniture. Lumber merchants want them because they create a use for small pieces of lumber that would otherwise be burned or wasted.

Since it's our aim to please the people, we decided that we had better get busy and create some subjects that would fit the needs of everyone. None of the animals you see here are just ordinary animals. They're all famous for one reason or another.

For instance, the little dogs Ruff and Reddy are television actors and were loaned us by Harman-Ising, the popular animated cartoon studio. The little pig is Snooty. We got the idea for him from lots of people who are in public office and who get too big for their pants. Of course, we don't mean our Aunt Minnie who works in the county assessor's office back home.

Everybody's home town has a half-wit which gave us the idea for the duck. The calf reminds us of a draftsman who used to flirt with every pretty girl who visited the Pattern Ranch. You will probably know lots of people of whom these little characters will remind you.

Incidentally, I think it might be well to mention that we do not have a pattern for the girl in the picture. She doesn't come with the assortment. Her name is Barbara Logan, television actress. Since she was a lion tamer when she was 14, we thought she was just the one to be pictured with all our animals. Anyone can make the animals you see pictured here with a full size pattern. It's very easy, you don't have to be an artist at all. Here's what you do. Trace the pattern on wood, then saw it out with a two-bit coping saw. After that, you paint over the tracings exactly as in the pattern and your lawn ornament is finished. It's that simple. It has to be, if it wasn't we couldn't have done it ourselves. Some people like to make these out of copper rather than wood.

To obtain the full size patterns shown, send 20 cents for any one ornament listed below, or you may save 40 cents by sending $1 for all of them. Send your coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Grid Term Used in Plumbing, Too

T-Formation Describes Plan of Today's Modern Bathroom

The "T-formation" is not a term exclusive to the gridiron. Plumbing contractors use it, too, as the basis for one of the best and most useful of modern bathroom plans.

In the "T" bathroom, as presented to the public at the National Plumbing and Heating Exposition in Washington recently, the crossing of the "T" is a wall, against which twin lavatories are installed. Between the lavatories, it is customary to put a countertop for the placement of toilet articles.

This provides a bathroom dressing table, where women can sit while attending to personal grooming after bathing or showering. Roomy medicine cabinets are built into the spacious wall mirror rising above the lavatories. Fluorescent lighting adds a significant modern touch.

The stem of the "T" is a partition, dividing into two compartments the space immediately behind the wall against which the twin lavatories are installed. One compartment houses the bathtub and shower combination. The other compartment is for the water closet.

The "T" bathroom is a wonderful convenience for the larger family with growing children. The twin lavatory arrangement speeds up the flow of traffic through the bathroom, especially in the morning when demand for the facilities is heavy.

Sliding doors close off the compartments housing bathtub and water closet from the main bathroom area. This makes it possible for these fixtures to be used with complete privacy by two members of the family, while others are washing at the lavatories.

Use Primer Under Paint

Before trying to paint fir plywood, give it a coat of a non-grain-raising primer. Unless this is done, you'll have quite a lot of trouble trying to hide the wild grain found in fir.

Use Cotton-Sticks to Paint
The handy device which consists of a small stick with cotton on each end is useful when you're painting. Usually employed as an aid to baby-bathing, the cotton-tipped sticks are wonderful for touching up tiny spots you may have missed when painting or for transferring color onto hard-to-reach areas.

Moisture Causes Damage to Construction Materials
Excessive moisture within a tightly closed house can cause damage to the materials used in its construction. Such moisture—or water vapor—is a gas. Like all gases, it has what is called vapor pressure and makes it way throughout the air in the house—much as an onion, being sliced in the kitchen, "broadcasts" its unmistakable odor. Water vapor cannot be detected by the nose—but it moves through the air until it is evenly distributed throughout the household.

Dress Up House Before Selling It
View Home as Keenly as Prospective Buyer Would
To sell a house, put it in party dress first.
A house for sale should put its best foot forward and, like a new acquaintance, make as good a first impression as possible.
A good rule is to try to look at the home as a prospective buyer would. Get extra furniture out of the way—it clutters up rooms and makes them look smaller. If there are pieces that need discarding, get rid of them now; not after they have helped create a bad impression on prospects.
If the bathroom is shabby, remodel it. The cost real estate men have found, usually will be more than repaid by the added value it gives the house.
Have furniture slip covers and window curtains washed or cleaned. They are the extras that make a home pleasant and therefore more attractive to prospects.
Go through clothes closets and re-arrange them. Every prospect will want to inspect them, and they won't make a good impression if boxes, umbrellas and playthings come tumbling out.
When unable to make a major repair at least find out what it will cost. Then point out to prospects that they are getting a good buy, even with the cost of the needed repair added in.
Don't let a gloomy room unwell prospects. If it is dark, redo it in light colors and light it well so that it will not be depressing.
Clean up the grounds. Think of how they will appear to prospects.
Finally, don't hover over prospects. They don't want to feel they are being crowded. Let them make a leisurely inspection with as little interference as necessary.

Roof Keys Color Plan

Home Exterior Styling Has Four Primary Color Areas

Color consultants agree that there are four primary color areas to consider in styling the exteriors of homes. These are the roof, the sidewalls, the trim and the accent color.

The accent color, which may appear on a front door, on shutters, window boxes, or a picture window, serves the same purpose on a house as a gaily colored scarf in a woman's ensemble.

It provides a bright, focal point of interest. In the same way, a brightly colored ponderosa pine panel door and matching picture window add a warm, welcoming note. Color consultants generally prefer painted windows for the warmth color provides.

In this house, brown-blend asphalt shingles used on the roof serve as the color key. Sidewalls are brown. Trim and windows are painted off-white. The door and

Add Illusion of Depth

Unused Doorway Makes Bookcase

If you have a little used door in your living room, you can make a useful bookcase from it by a small expenditure and a few hours work, advise plywood engineers.

Remove the door and hinges. Put a ripplewood panel backing on the doorway, and fit adjustable shelves to it. Stain or paint the shelves to match the walls of the room and do the panel in a smartly contrasting shade. A full length mirror can be hung on the back of the panel in the room or hall into which the doorway formerly led.

A charming spot for the display of prized china and glass can be created if the doorway opens into the dining room by using glass shelves.

Kitchen-Dining Room Combination Possible

If informality and convenience are sought in a home, combine the kitchen and dining room into one spacious room. A design allowing one room to flow into the other and a wise choice of materials to carry out the design will make the kitchen - dining room suitable at all times.

Colorful tile on countertops and connecting floors is a good example of how this can be done.

Patch Porcelain Chips

Chipped porcelain and enamel of plumbing and kitchen equipment can be patched with special patching compounds if the area is not subject to high temperatures or standing water.

The area to be patched must be clean and slightly rough before the patch is applied. Patching compounds for this purpose are sold at hardware stores.

IT IS FUN TO MAKE BIRD BATHS WITH PATTERNS

You can make this cement bird bath. The mold for forming the concrete is a simple job using common mason lath. A little cement, sand and gravel are all you need for the concrete mix. The pattern shows just how to use the lath to get the fluted effect of the pedestal, and the octagonal basin.

Once the forms are made the materials for a number of these attractive baths cost very little. The pattern gives actual-size guides for preparing the molds as well as the formula for the concrete; and the construction steps are illustrated.

A few bird houses and a feeder are sure to attract the songsters. A number of interesting designs are included in the Bird House Packet which is priced at $1. The bath pattern 227 only is 25 cents postpaid. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Store Screws in Bottles

A good way to store screws, nails, and hooks is to use bottles with screw tops. Nail screw tops to underside of shelf and in this way the items will be kept in one stationary place, can be easily seen and are easy to get at.

In War or Peace Dogface Gets Toughest Army Deal

By ROBERT SCHAKNE
AT THE FRONT, KOREA (INS)—The infantryman in Korea has the rawest deal of all—in war or peace.

He had the rawest deal during the fighting, and, today, exactly four years after the North Korean Communists swarmed over the 38th parallel, he still has it—even though the shooting has ended.

The doughboy isn't alone with the problem. A few men of other branches—notably tankers, engineers and artillery forward observers—share it with him.

The men with whom I spoke in the trenches today would rather have the armistice—silenced front which means a longer tour of duty than a shooting war.

For the infantryman in battle position in Korea today, the much-publicized recreation program, baseball games, post exchanges and heated barracks for American soldiers in Korea are for others, not him. The mention of a snack bar evokes a cynical laugh.

It isn't discrimination against the infantryman on the part of American commanders. It is just the nature of the infantryman's job.

Some of the men whom I interviewed fought in the last major pre-armistice battle in which Americans participated—on a place called Outpost Harry. But most of them saw no combat. They arrived in Korea after the shooting ended.

The outfit that battled the Reds on Outpost Harry is the Third Battalion of the 15th Infantry Regiment, Third Division. Except for the blue-and-white striped division patch, they could have been members of any unit.

There was 2nd Lt. Lloyd D. Michael of Round Mountain, Calif., who commands a heavy machine gun platoon manning a battle position in the Third Division sector of the silent front.

He has been in Korea five months. Unlike most of his men, he does not gripe about conditions for he is an infantryman by choice. He wanted a transfer to Korea during combat but was never sent there.

His home is a tent behind a fortified hillside. He sleeps on a bare army cot. Close by are trenches and bunkers, a new home if the shooting should start.

His day begins at dawn. There is always a check at his company orderly room—another bunker. Then he tours his scattered machine gun positions. He looks at the fortifications—and if they need improvement, he sees to it the changes are made.

Sometimes his day extends into night. For it is his job to see his guns are as ready at night as they are in the day.

For men like Cpl. Wilson Williams of Miami, Fla., or Cpl. Alfred Conner of Columbia, Mo., the day is as long and as dreary.

They were on Outpost Harry a year ago, fighting for their lives. They are still in Korea and still unhappy about being there.

One night they may stand guard in a bunker, sighting over machine guns across the valley below, and the demilitarized zone through which the Communists will come if the fighting resumes.

During the day, they sleep if they were on guard earlier. They train and they train and they train.

Inspections are rigid and frequent. Discipline, under the order of the Eighth Army, is intense. The soldiers don't like the discipline.

Col. William J. McConnell, regimental commander, and Lt. Col. George L. Disharoon of Port Gibson, Miss., who commands the Third Battalion, have a reason for the discipline.

"My mission is clearly stated," McConnell explains. "This unit must be ready for combat. That's my job. And what the soldier thinks is a waste of time now will help if the Chinese across the DZ (demilitarized zone) ever come at us."

The infantrymen think the tour of duty—16 months—is too long. But when you ask them how long it should be, you might get an answer like the following, which I heard:

"One day would be too long. If you gotta be here, ten months or a year is the way it should be. You wouldn't be any good if it was any shorter."

"We're always on the move—hurry-hurry everywhere. And no girls."

The footslogger who leads this life has one thing that keeps him working at being a soldier.

Bookmobile Posts Schedule

Service Will Continue During Warm Weather, Librarian Says

It's business as usual for the city bookmobile during the summer. City Librarian Adah E. Shelly says.

"At most of the school stops the bookmobile will be there at the same time it has been through the school year. Besides children's books, adult books will be carried, and requests will be brought the following week," he librarian said.

One new stop which has been added is Washington Park, where the bookmobile will locate at Oxford street from 10 to 11 a.m. Thursdays.

When the new branch library building is ready, it will take the place of several of the north-side stops, and library bookmobile service will be given to some areas that have been requesting it. The complete schedule is: Mondays—Owen School, 10-11 a.m.; Malkin school, 2:15-2:45 p.m.; Lebaron School, 3-4 p.m. Tuesdays—Emerson School, 10:30-11 a.m.; Randall St. at Glenwood, 2:15-4 p.m. Wednesdays—Howard street, at Edison, 3-4 p.m. Thursdays—Washington Park, 10-11 a.m.; Bloomfield Terrace, 2:2-3 p.m.; Summit Street, one block from Wisne, 3-4 p.m. Fridays—Lakeside Homes, 10-10:30 a.m.; Bagley School, 2:30-2:45 p.m.; McConnell School, 3-4 p.m.

Wyoming Ranch Runs Ad Asking No Hunting

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—The Rees ranch west of Cheyenne ran an ad during the recent hunting season which read: "We have no ducks. We have one deer, a pet doe which we would like to keep. We have no antelope. Therefore, inasmuch as the grass is dry and the fire hazard is great, please do not hunt on the Rees ranch."
