Legislature Asks Schools to Halt Sex Ed Until Guides Set

LANSING (AP) — Aiming to cut down what it considers the "too much, too soon" sex education of youngsters, the Michigan Legislature has asked schools to halt sex education courses until the State Education Department sets up guidelines.

The Senate yesterday approved the sex education resolution by a voice vote, already passed in the House.

The measure does not block the teaching of sex information, but instead "urges" schools to stop specific courses in sex education, at least temporarily.

"They can go back to what they were doing — including sex information in physical education and health courses — before we passed the law last year mandating much more specific courses," explained Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids.

Dr. Leon Waskin, deputy associate superintendent for educational services with the department, said he did not believe the resolution would necessarily have any effect on local districts, since it does not have the force of law. Resolutions do not mandate action, but instead express legislative intent.

"It's entirely optional with the schools whether they want to observe the "injunction" so to speak, of the Legislature," he said.

Also passed yesterday was a resolution setting up a five-member special Senate committee to delve into findings of an audit of payments made to Michigan doctors who treat medicaid patients.

Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, demanded the probe in light of figures showing some doctors and osteopaths treating Medicaid patients received from $25,000 to $169,000 a year.

Any proof of alleged overpayments, Zollar said, could lead to cuts in the budget, which must be approved by Saturday under current legislative deadlines.

Zollar said the office of Auditor General Albert Lee began its investigation last week and could begin checking individual doctors' records this week.

The sex education resolution was sponsored by Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, after a member of the State Board of Education blasted a department bibliography of sex education materials.

Meanwhile, the sponsors of controversial abortion law reform bills — turned down recently in the Senate — want to continue a study of the problems of abortion.

They aim to beef up support for the bills, which are expected to be returned for further Senate consideration early next year.

10 Persons Killed as Plane Crashes Into Miami Street

MIAMI (AP) — A disabled DC4 cargo plane that crashed into a busy Miami street yesterday had undergone repairs for a mechanical problem shortly before takeoff, a Federal Aviation Administration official said today.

"It had been scheduled to depart about noon but had to return for repairs after taxiing out on the runway," said Richard Skully. "I'm not certain what the problem was."

The four-engine craft took off at 3:40 p.m. Eight minutes later it came down on a residential and business area, a mile east of Miami's International Airport, cutting a four-block swath of death and flaming destruction.

Related Picture, Page A-2

Police today sealed off the area to everyone as investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board searched charred rubble and wreckage where 10 people were killed and another dozen were injured.

DELAY CONFIRMED

A spokesman for Dominicana Air Lines, owner of the converted cargo craft, confirmed the flight had been delayed. He said the mechanic who made the repairs was not available for comment.

The victims included the four crew members and six people on the ground. Five of the dead were in an automobile body shop demolished by the flaming fuselage, said Miami police information officer Jack Minix.

"The other victim was a passenger in a car a block from the body shop," Minix said. "He had jumped out of the car and tried to get away from the burning wreckage when he was hit by a piece of the plane."

The craft was attempting to circle back to the airport when it came down just a mile from a runway cleared for an emergency landing. One engine was ablaze and another was out.

Over-all damage was estimated at $1 million. One building was destroyed, eight were damaged and 42 cars and trucks were damaged or burned out.

Minix said he was convinced all bodies had been removed from the smoking rubble.

Maxine Burmester's apartment home is next door to the body shop where five were killed. She was watching television yesterday afternoon as the plane sheared power lines a block and a half from her building and bounced off the rooftop of a two-story building.

"It was coming at a terrific speed," she said. "I couldn't move before it hit."

Meeting Slated on Euler Ouster

A closed-door meeting between the City Commission and the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees over the firing of the administrator of Pontiac General Hospital was being arranged today.

Commissioners want to know why Harold B. Euler was fired last Thursday. The 11-member hospital board has refused to give a reason for the dismissal other than to announce it was "in the best interests of the hospital."

Editorial, Page A-6

At last night's informal City Commission meeting, City Manager Joseph E. Warren was told to set up a "closed-door" meeting between the trustees and the seven commissioners.

None of the city officials professed to know why Euler was fired.

They said they will ask to be informed at the secret session. Mayor William H. Taylor said, "We may or may not decide to issue a statement afterward."

Several commissioners complained

ABM Critics Say Laird Shifts Story on Red Capability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense program claim Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has redefined in midcontroversy the Soviets' first-strike nuclear capability in an attempt to support the administration position.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright and Albert Gore made the charges following Laird's joint appearance yesterday with CIA Director Richard Helms before a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Laird and Helms were called to testify in the wake of Safeguard critics' claims that the Pentagon and CIA had conflicting views on Soviet missile intentions.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the committee, and Gore, D-Tenn., said they felt the meaning of "first-strike capability" had been completely changed by Laird's testimony yesterday.

Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh Won't Run for Reelection

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, who in 1961 became the first of a generation of "bright young mayors" claiming to solve the problems of the nation's cities, today announced he would not seek another term.

"The time has come for me to give greater consideration to the lives of my children," the 41-year-old, two-term mayor told a morning press conference.

Cavanagh, who was divorced in 1968, said he still thinks the majority of the people in the city of Detroit support him.

Cavanagh said the results of recent mayoral elections and primaries in New York, Los Angeles and Minneapolis, which have been interpreted as showing growing conservatism among urban voters "made my decision more difficult.

EMPHASIZES BURDEN

"If there was one thing that could have compelled me to run, it was those results."

Cavanagh, who has custody of the four oldest of his eight children, emphasized the burdens of his office and family responsibilities in announcing his decision.

"It was not an easy decision to reach," he said. "I have served nearly eight years in a job that has been described as one of the most difficult in America next to the presidency.

Cavanagh, whose city in 1967 was the scene of one of the nation's worst racial riots in modern history, said he was proud of the record of his administration.

"I believe we have made municipal government more responsive and relevant to all the people of the city," he said.

Ambulance Services Claim Crisis Report Exaggerated

Charges of "exaggeration" and "overstatement" regarding a predicted crisis in ambulance sevice in part of Oakland County were made yesterday to the board of supervisors local affairs committee.

The charges were made by representatives of the 27 county ambulance services. All are due to be affected by new state legislation July 1, and six of them will get out of the business as a result of the new law.

The charges were directed at a recent Pontiac Press series on the effects of the new law.

Ensuing debate revealed, however, that service will be "thin" in the north end of the county for the next six months and that several companies serving the south county area believe they need financial assistance.

Inadequacies of ambulance service in the county were pointed out in the face of an over-all insistence by ambulance companies that service is good and will remain good.

How long such quality can be maintained despite nonpayment for a large portion of traffic accident calls appeared questionable according to the discussion.

William Price of Price Funeral Home, Troy, said he fails to collect on as much as 85 per cent of the runs made on I-75 and other state highways in Troy. He said the city refuses to become involved for other than strictly local service.

Bound by state law to provide ambulance service on state highways, the county has so far resisted attempts by ambulance companies to guarantee payments arising from highway service in cities. The county does guarantee a minimum $25 a trip plus $1 per mile payment for such service in the townships.

"If we do it for one city, we'll have to do it for all," said Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors. He noted some cities presently meet those obligations.

The committee ordered a study of present service and a survey of what other counties in Michigan are doing in regard to the problem.

County officials pointed out that total county financing of uncollectables could cost taxpayers as much as $6,000 a week, most of it reimbursable, however, through county collections from victims or their insurance companies.

Along Came a Spider and . . .

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man walked in and plunked a spider down on Delona Davis' desk. Her big, gray-blue eyes got bigger and grayer. But she didn't scream.

The critter was in a pill bottle. He was dead. Besides, she was getting used to it. This kind of thing had been going on dozens of times a day for more than two weeks.

As receptionist for the county health office, the little brunette has been deluged with spiders, of all shapes, colors and sizes— dead and alive—since the beginning of the South American violin spider hunt. She prefers them dead.

It started when Mel Thompson, a naturalist, found one of the brown violin spiders—about the size of a dime—in a suburban Sierra Madre park. Drop for drop, the violin spider's venom is deadlier than a rattlesnake's.

54 MORE FOUND

Thompson found 54 more in a recreation building at the park. Then researchers from the University of Southern California found a dozen in a nearby women's club and a church.

Quite a find, since South American violin spiders—named for the light violin-shaped marking on their backs —had been seen but once before in North America. That was six years ago in Cambridge, Mass.

Meanwhile, nearly every time the mailman arrived at Delona Davis' desk, he brought in a batch of spiders, most of them dead, in envelopes. And it seemed every third person who walked in the door had one in a jar, a matchbox or a pill bottle.

'PRETTY UGLY'

"They're trying to help," she said. "But some of those spiders are pretty ugly. We get some pretty big ones sometimes. And when they're not dead, forget it!"

Few of the hundreds brought in were South American violin spiders. And nobody has reported being bitten.

★ ★ ★

William Waldron, county entymologist, said he hopes to learn more about the spiders' life habits—and how they got here from South America.

Israel Reports Jets Downed Egypt MIG

By The Associated Press

Israeli warplanes shot down an Egyptian MIG today over the Gulf of Suez, an Israeli army spokesman said.

He said the plane was hit by cannon fire from an Israeli fighter, exploded in the air and crashed in Egyptian territory. No parachute was seen.

Earlier, Israeli spokesmen reported Egyptian commandos slipped across the Suez Canal for the third time in three days to raid an Israeli army position. They battled the Israelis with light arms and grenades.

Israeli army spokesmen said the Arabs crossed north of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the canal under a covering artillery barrage late last night. They said one Israeli soldier was killed.

CAIRO CLAIMS VICTORY

A communique from Cairo said the Egyptians "occupied the Israeli position and killed all the soldiers there and destroyed two armored cars." It added that the Israelis tried to make a counterassault "but our forces foiled the attempt" and returned safely to their base carrying two wounded.

Three Egyptians were killed Sunday night in a raid on the same installation. The Israeli radio's Arab language service reported today shrapnel found in the three bodies was from Soviet shell, indicating the Egyptians were killed by covering fire from their own guns.

No casualties were reported from the Saturday raid.

The commando raid last night followed two heavy artillery battles at the southern end of the canal yesterday in which Egypt claimed Israeli forces suffered heavy losses. There was no confirmation of this from Tel Aviv.

★ ★ ★

A communique from Cairo said the clashes yesterday resulted in the destruction of enemy reinforcements" which the Israelis had set up in the Shatt and Port Taufiq areas. It said there was only light damage on the Egyptian side.

Wife, Children Hurt

Man Blows Up Home, Self

OXFORD, England (AP)—A 39-year-old ex-commando blew himself and his family home to pieces today, seriously injuring his wife and two of their seven children.

Police identified the dead man as Michael Molloy, an Irish-born demolition expert and former Royal Marine. They said he called them after a family argument and told them what he planned to do.

A squad car was rushed to his home but, police said, Molloy was not there. A guard was posted at the house, and Molloy returned shortly after 1 a.m. carrying a box he said was filled with gelignite, an explosive.

He told police he would detonate the explosive if they did not move before he counted to 10. At the count of six, the policemen moved back.

BLOWN OUT OF HOUSE

"He went into the house, and there was a terrific bang," a neighbor said. "Some of his children were blown out of the house into the front garden."

Police and firemen pulled the seven children from the rubble. All suffered injuries, but two were described as seriously hurt. Mrs. Molloy also was seriously injured, police said.

The blast destroyed the Molloy home and set fire to an adjoining house.

Birmingham

Census-Query Opposition Not Endorsed

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission last night decided against endorsing a request from the City of Berkley calling for opposition to a proposed 1970 census questionnaire.

The Berkley Council objected to the questionnaire on the premise that it was too voluminous and represented an invasion of private rights. Berkley councilmen have since solicited other area municipal governing bodies in an attempt to develop broad-based opposition.

★ ★ ★

Following receipt of the Berkley request, the commission wrote Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-16th District, asking more information regarding the census matter.

Rep. Broomfield responded that he objects to the length and language in the questionnaire. He has submitted a bill designed to limit the Census Bureau questionnaire to seven basic questions that would legally require answers.

BILL ENDORSED

The Commission endorsed the Oakland County Board of Supervisors opposition to a House bill that would reduce state aid to hospitals.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Dr. Carl N. DeSilva, 2409 Brenthaven, has been named chairman of the department of mechanical engineering sciences at Wayne State University's College of Engineering.

Formerly professor and acting chairman of the same department, Dr. DeSilva holds a B.S. degree in civil engineering from Columbia. He has a master's degree from Columbia and a Ph.D. from the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Prior to joining the WSU faculty, Dr. DeSilva taught at St. Stanislaus College in British Guiana and at the University of Minnesota. He was a lecturer in mathematics at Seattle University.

House OK Seen for Higher State Interest Lid

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The drive to boost Michigan's 114-year-old home loan interest rate ceiling from 7 to 8.5 per cent is under way again in the Michigan House.

After weeks of postponement, supporters now claim they have the needed 56 votes to pass the bill lifting the usury level.

★ ★ ★

"I think we can do it," said Speaker William A. Ryan of Detroit. "I think there is a good chance the bill will pass the House."

He said Republicans should be able to supply 35 votes and the Democrats would supply the rest.

BACKED BY UAW

Democratic support may increase because of what Speaker William H. Ryan of Detroit termed the—"quietly supportive" stance of the United Auto Workers (UAW).

However, state AFL-CIO president August (Gus) Scholle is not letting up on his campaign against the measure.

Scholle said if the bill passes the Legislature and is signed by the governor, the State AFL-CIO will spearhead a petition drive for a law reverting the rate to 7 per cent and prohibiting the imposition of penalty points.

Penalty points are fees charged by banks and savings and loan institutions for paying off a mortgage ahead of time. They are assessed against both buyers and sellers of mortgaged homes.

OUT OF JOBS

Ryan and other Democrats say hundreds of tradesmen are out of jobs in Michigan because banks are not lending money for home-building.

Ryan said it is "nearly impossible" for families who desperately need loans for homes to get them during the present economic situation.

★ ★ ★

Amid indications of pressure from Gov. William Milliken, Michigan's 19 major departments are reviewing budget requests the House is considering for the new fiscal year, now only a week away.

Some departments apparently are discovering they can get along with less money than they previously supposed.

TAX LAW CHANGES

The House yesterday approved four Senate measures changing state tax laws so that:

- State liens for nonpayment of the 4 per cent state use tax would precede most other claims. A similar provision applies to nonpayment of state sales tax.
- Cities could require employers to forward income tax withholding on a monthly basis. Backers of the bill said it was aimed at assuring local governments a more consistent flow of funds.

- Certified examiners could require individual and corporate property holders to allow inspection of records showing the extent and value of their real property holdings.
- Exempt state agencies from paying a $1 fee for each tax lien filed with the secretary of state.

N-Missile Output Is Halted by Fire at Atomic Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. nuclear missile production has been halted for perhaps the rest of this year because of a crippling fire at an Atomic Energy Commission plant.

Government sources also give strong indications that testing of antimissile warheads may be delayed by the blaze that hit a plutonium-handling facility at Rocky Flats, Colo., May 11. The official AEC position is that Safeguard deployment schedules will not be set back.

★ ★ ★

The impact of the fire, first serious blaze at an AEC plant, was laid before Congress behind closed doors nine days later when AEC leaders urgently appealed for $45 million to make repairs.

PLUTONIUM TRIGGER

★ ★ ★

Air Force Maj. Gen. E. B. Giller, assigned to the AEC, told subcommittee members the impact on the weapons production schedule would last "a few months to perhaps a year," according to preliminary estimates.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, AEC chairman, termed the $45 million request to get the Rocky Flats plant back into operation "very urgent."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee, told a reporter Monday night, "I regard this as a serious situation."

MEETING IS NEXT

He said the subcommittee has completed action on the $45 million request and the next step is a meeting with House appropriations committee leaders sometime this week.

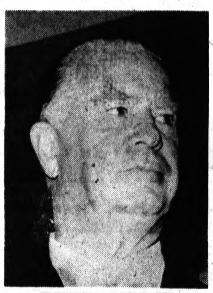

★ ★ ★

Giller said Rocky Flats was preparing to produce test models of Safeguard nuclear warheads to be test fired in Nevada and indicated this schedule was thrown off.

While Rocky Flats is being repaired, he said, the AEC hopes to produce test ABM devices at its limited facility in Hanford, Wash., or at the Los Alamos research center in New Mexico.

The AEC, Giller said, has no indication sabotage was involved in the fire, but an independent fire investigation company has been assigned to check such a possibility as it seeks the cause of the blaze.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Noted Journalist Dies in Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Westbrook Pegler, a reporter who gained national fame during the 1920s as a sportswriter and won a Pulitzer Prize in 1941 for his exposure of labor union racketeering, died here early today. He was 74.

Pegler had been living in southern Arizona since 1942, writing free-lance articles and contributing opinion columns to King Features Syndicate, owned by the Hearst Corp.

However, on Aug. 1962, the crusty journalist who it has been said "used his typewriter like a meat ax," parted company with the syndicate. The official reason given in a formal announcement was because of "irreconcilable differences on vital matters." Pegler had complained for many years that the Hearst organization was censoring him.

CONTRIBUTED ARTICLES

In later years Pegler had contributed articles to the monthly magazine, American Opinion, published by the John Birch Society, another conservative group.

But he stopped writing for it when the head of the society, Robert Welch, refused to publish one of his articles in April 1964.

House Surtax OK Is Seen in Vote Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, expressed confidence today that the House will vote to extend the income surtax.

After GOP leaders in the House and Senate met with President Nixon, Ford told newsmen at least 130 Republican members would vote for the extension, which he believed would come before the House tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The Democratic leadership made final checks yesterday and seemed to be satisfied the House Rules Committee would vote the bill out on a "closed rule" basis — a straight yes or no vote, with no amendments considered.

Surtax opponents contemplate challenging the "closed rule," but have been putting their main emphasis on defeating the measure.

ENDORSED BY COMMITTEE

The Nixon proposal, endorsed by a split committee vote, would continue the tax at 10 per cent for six months and five per cent for another six months. The tax expires June 30 unless extended.

If the effort to defeat the no-amendment rule fails, opponents then must work to defeat the measure outright.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, opposes the bill and he has written all House Democrats that the measure must be killed to force quicker action on general tax reform.

The Nixon bill will pass, said Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., but "we still will have to get 80 or 90 Democratic votes.

★ ★ ★

Byrnes, leading GOP House tax expert, pegged Republican support at 120 to 130 votes — two thirds of the GOP House membership. His Democratic figures amount to a bare majority of House Democrats. The bill has the endorsement of the Democratic leadership.

Meeting Slated in Hospital Firing

wild rumors about the hospital were circulating since the incident.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners asked that the meeting be arranged before Thursday. Members of the hospital board are appointed by the City Commission.

Euler, meanwhile, is sitting at home awaiting an explanation from the board of trustees as to why he was dismissed.

MEETS WITH ATTORNEY

"They have to come up with something in the next day or two," Euler commented.

He met with his attorney yesterday and decided to wait for an explanation as to why he was fired after 11 years on the job before deciding upon any court action, he said.

Euler had said he may sue to protect his reputation by proving he did nothing wrong.

Euler said he was told by his Pontiac attorney, Clarence Patterson, that it is "to early to decide on a suit."

But Euler did say that Patterson is now studying the former administrator's pension loss and possible salary settlement, up to his 65th birthday next May.

HEW Nomination, GOP Fight Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch apparently has won his fight to have Dr. John H. Knowles nominated as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

But the victory raises the specter of a party-splitting battle in the Senate, with the administration and a coalition of liberal Young Turks pitted against Everett M. Dirksen.

It was learned last night Nixon is almost certain to nominate Knowles.

Knowles, HEW Secretary Finch's longtime choice, has been opposed by powerful conservative elements in the American Medical Association and its prominent ally, Dirksen.

★ ★ ★

Knowles is director of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, and until yesterday the AMA opposition had been attributed to his advocacy of such things as universal health care plans.

Phone Service Cut in St. Joe Mishap

Telephone service at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was halted about 8 a.m. today, when construction operations accidentally cut the hospital's telephone cables, according to Pontiac Michigan Bell Co. officials.

★ ★ ★

Repair crews have rerouted two lines for emergency calls and customers were advised that only emergency calls could be taken until full service was restored, said Charles B. Woodhead, Pontiac community relations manager for Michigan Bell.

He said service was expected to be restored by about 4 p.m. today.

Record Traffic Seen in State Over Fourth; Seven Detours Listed

LANSING (AP) — Given good weather, motorists will drive an estimated 625.3 million miles over the Fourth of July weekend, says the state Highway Department.

If the prediction holds up, this will top the record 620.4 million miles driven in Michigan during a comparable period over the Memorial Day weekend.

The department said construction on all state highways will be suspended from 5 p.m. Thursday until Monday morning.

SEVEN DETOURS

Seven detours will be in effect over the weekend as follows:

- M21 and M47 in Owosso. Traffic is detoured on city streets to permit replacement of a bridge carrying M21 over the Shiawassee River and the modernization of M47, adding four blocks to the route.
- M44 near Gratton in Kent County. Traffic is detoured on county roads, adding three miles to the route.
- M47 between M78 and Owosso. Traffic is detoured on M78 and M71, adding 11 miles to the route.
- M52 north of Stockbridge in Ingham County. Traffic is detoured on county roads around two miles of construction. No additional mileage is added.

- The interchange of Interstate 75 and M78 in Flint. The interchange is open to northbound I-75 traffic only.
- M129 at Donaldson south of Sault Ste. Marie. Traffic is detoured on county roads around six miles of construction, adding nine miles to the route.
- M204 between M22 and Lake Leelanau. Traffic is detoured north from Lake Leelanau on Eagle Highway to M22 and south around Leelanau Lake to M204, adding eight miles to the route.

Moon Crew, Five Monkeys Keep Training

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Three men and five monkeys continue heavy training today for flights to the moon and around the earth.

Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins practice for next month's moon landing attempt in spaceship trainers.

They are to ride a Saturn 5 rocket into space at 9:32 a.m. EDT July 16, heading for an orbit of the moon. On July 20, Armstrong and Aldrin are to detach a lunar landing module (LEM) to descend to the surface.

The three astronauts today planned several hours in the command ship simulator, rehearsing reentry through the earth's atmosphere. Later in the day, Armstrong and Aldrin will work out in the LEM trainer.

30-DAY ORBIT

Meanwhile, five pigtail monkeys are training for a 30-day earth orbit flight one of them is to make starting Saturday.

On Friday, project scientists will select the monkey best qualified to make the flight plus a standby substitute. The substitute will replace the No. 1 selection in case of illness or other problems in the final hours before launching.

A three-stage Delta rocket is to blast the monkey capsule away from earth at 11:10 p.m. Saturday.

While the primate orbits 220 miles high, experts on the ground will monitor his ability to perform button-pushing exercises. The main purpose is to determine whether long-term exposure to weightlessness will have any effect on the monkey's capacity for work.

FOOD REWARD

If the monkey pushes the correct buttons in response to certain stimulations, he will be rewarded with food pellets.

The cabin will have an earth-like atmosphere of 80 per cent nitrogen and 20 per cent oxygen instead of the 100 per cent oxygen used on U.S. astronaut flights.

Budget Session in City Tonight

A public hearing on a revised $800,000 capital improvements budget will be held by the City Commission at its meeting at 8 tonight at City Hall, East Wide Track and East Pike.

The commission was able to add some $50,000 to original estimates when it learned last week that city income tax collections added over $800,000 to the expected revenue.

Commissioners have also added other improvements to the budget this year, including six additional street projects, to come out of general budget funds.

Hearing on the revised general fund budget of $11 million will be held next week.

Also on tonight's agenda are several items involving tavern licenses and proposed street improvement projects.

Content of Proposed Program Questioned

Parent Group Protests Sex Education in Holly

By NED ADAMSON

HOLLY — The board of education had its first major public confrontation with local residents last night regarding plans for a family life and sex-education program in the local schools.

SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States) again came in for the most fire. Residents objected to the board's plan for sex education, but they objected more to the possibility that SIECUS material could be used in the classroom.

The basic argument by SIECUS opponents charges the program de-emphasizes teaching of morals. The SIECUS viewpoint holds that it is easier to teach the basic facts of reproduction before students are old enough to get emotionally involved in the subject.

Board and administration attitude towards SIECUS seems to hold the key to support of the sex and family life program by dissident residents.

The board would not commit itself to whether any SIECUS material would be used. Any materials that are selected, however, will be open to preview inspection by all interested parents. Board President William Darnton said the SIECUS materials he has seen were not objectionable to him.

* * *

Schools Supt. Russell Haddon asked the residents to trust the board of education to see that all of the sex education and family life porgram would be conducted with dignity.

Reading the board's policy statement, Darnton told the approximately 90 residents that the need for sex and family life education was prompted by the necessity of all children having the proper knowledge and attitude toward human sexuality.

Haddon explained that "unfortunately, unlike the concerned parents present at last night's meeting, there are too many parents who will not take the responsibility for handling the matters of sex and family-life education in the home.

"It then becomes the respnsibility of the board of education, because the imparting of knowledge should not be left to chance and to only those parents who are willing and able to provide their children with this information."

IN-SERVICE TRAINING

John Harrower, curriculum director for the school district, said the teacher-consultant who has been hired to implement the program will conduct in-service training for all teachers.

* * *

"We have got to be able to help teachers give intelligent answers when incidents come up in the schools. He cited an example of a first-grade boy, with no sexual motivation, who was caught peeping into the girls' lavatory.

"There are two ways to handle such a situation. The wrong way would be for a prudish teacher to scold the boy and condemn the situation as "dirty."

"The youth was only naturally curious. We don't want to castrate the boy for life. That is why it is important to have people trained regarding how to intelligently handle such situations."

CITIZENS' ADVICE

In response to questions regarding the legality of sex education and why the board is introducing the program, Dartnon said the board originally moved toward adoption of family-life and sex-education program on the recommendation of a citizens advisory council.

He noted that the advisory council's subcommittee on community action and thought regarding sex education was dropped because of a lack of interest by the residents.

"We have moved slowly on this program and have been very careful to involve all aspects of the community in its development. If you don't like it you have the power to put people on the board who would vote it out," Dartnon cited.

* * *

* * *

Present plans call for implementation of the sex and family-life program which will also equally treat such other key matters as use of alcohol, narcotics and tobacco, first at the ninth-grade level then gradually in grades 7 and 8. Eventually, the program will be introduced in varying degrees in grades 5 through 12.

The program will not move out of the junior high level until all teachers have been trained by the consultant.

Sex and family-life education will not be taught as a single subject but will be integrated into the existing health course and other areas where pertinent.

* * *

James Large, spokesman for a group called "Concerned Parents" presented a petition with 162 signatures stating that group will support the board's program only if all materials, teaching techniques and grade level of presentation are subject to public preview before classroom implementation.

* * *

Large said several persons would not sign the petition because they felt the group's endorsement of the program is too lenient.

* * *

The board concurred it would continue its policy of close rapport with the community regarding development of a sex-education program. All materials will be open to preview inspection at a publicly announced date, according to Darnton.

Lake Orion Administrators Seek Union Representation

LAKE ORION — Three top village administrators have taken an unprecedented step of petitioning for representation of a bargaining agent, Metropolitan Council 23 of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME), AFL-CIO. The action was taken in the aftermath of cuts made by the Village Council in Village Manager John Reineck's proposed 1969-70 budget.

Clerk Mrs. Mary Parkinson, who has worked for the village 27 years, Police Chief Neil Leonard, a 20-year veteran, and DPW Superintendent Gerald D. Soldan, 40, who has 16 years with the village, all petitioned the State Labor Mediation Board through the AFSCME for a hearing to establish a bargaining unit for themselves. It has been set for Friday.

* * *

Soldan submitted his resignation following the council action May 26 which reduced by two mills the proposed 19-mill tax levy.

Included in the cuts was $1,800 for longevity pay for the clerk, police chief and DPW superintendent.

WAIT AND SEE

Soldan has decided to wait and see what action, if any, council takes on the basis of State Labor Mediation Board's entering the dispute.

He said because of council's decision to cut longevity pay out of the budget some, if not all, of the five full-time employes working under him stand to earn more money than he does next year.

* * *

Both DPW employes and police officers receive longevity pay under agreements negotiated with the village by the AFSCME.

Leonard was in line to receive about $700 in longevity pay prior to the budget cut by the council. Soldan would have received an estimated $600 while the clerk was in line to get some $400 during the 1969-70 fiscal year.

* * *

AFSCME has represented most of Lake Orion's municipal employes since July 1968. If recognition of a new bargaining unit for the police chief, clerk and DPW superintendent is granted Reineck will be the only village employe not represented by a union.

* * *

The Village Council hacked some $14,000 from the $213,800 budget recommended by Reineck. A 17-mill levy will raise the necessary $199,000. Longevity pay for the three administrators represents about one-third of a mill.

Troy Navy Man Describes Terror of Ship Collision

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — "Everything let loose. The ship just took a brief roll. I said 'We're dead.' I heard someone else yell, 'Let's get the hell out of here!'" Fireman Terry L. Baughman, 21, of Troy, Mich., said

He was describing his night of terror June 3 when the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans was sliced in half by the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne during war games in the South China Sea.

Baughman and two Evans shipmates appeared today before the joint U.S.-Australian board of inquiry investigating the collision. All three suffered second- and third-degree burns in the Evans engine room.

* * *

Asked by the board how his injuries were, Baughman replied: "I am alive." Seventy-four of his shipmates went down when the bow section of the Evans sank.

THROWN BY IMPACT

Fireman Michael W. Peacock, 19, of Davenport, Iowa, said the impact of the collision threw him 10 to 12 feet from the engine room switchboard he was watching, and he saw steam lines breaking.

* * *

"I started burning," he said. "I covered my face. A few seconds later seawater started gushing in. I got up and the water was up to my chest."

Peacock said he crawled over pipes and escaped through a hatch to the right section of the main deck.

Machinist Mate 3.C. Edmond Peters, 22, of Munith, Mich., said he was preparing his log for the next watch when he heard the "back full bell" order for reverse in an emergency. Seconds later the two vessels collided, the lights went off and water rushed in.

PRAISE AUSSIES

All three men praised and thanked the crew of the Melbourne for treatment they received after they were rescued.

An Australian navy spokesman in Singapore announced today temporary repairs to the Melbourne had been completed, and she would leave for Sydney Friday. The carrier is to be fitted with a new bow in Australia.

Troy Committee Drops Plans for Recall of Janes

TROY — School Board Treasurer Harold Janes is in no danger of recall action from the Committee Acting for Resposible Education (CARE) — at least for a while.

At last night's general meeting the CARE membership concurred with the 15-member steering committee not to press for a recall against Janes.

* * *

Jack Muir, CARE vice chairman, had two weeks ago declared in an open school board meeting that CARE would map plans for a recall campaign against Janes, who initiated the attorney general's investigation into financial mismanagement by the district's administration and some board members.

"We want to see the new board working together as a team, not necessarily voting alike, but operating with some degree of cooperation," said CARE's new chairman, Eric Ernst.

BIG SELLING JOB

The rapid cooling of CARE's fired-up energies against Janes probably came about in light of the selling job necessary for the July 28 $7.2-million bond issue vote.

* * *

The bond issue would provide funds for additions to Troy Union and Hill elementary schools, one new elementary building, additions to Smith and Baker junior highs, extensive additions and remodeling to Troy High School, remodeling of Poppleton and Big Beaver elementary schools and master planning for a future senior and junior high school.

* * *

The CARE membership, it would seem, wants no controversy for the next month, during which time it must sell taxpayers on voting themselves a $7.2-million obligation for their schools.

Legal Maneuver Won by Suspect in Police Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Rafael Viera, accused of murdering a Detroit policeman during the New Bethel Baptist Church incident March 29, has apparently won a legal maneuver which his attorney claimed could result in clearing his client.

At his arraignment Saturday on the first-degree murder charge in the death of Patrolman Michael Czapski, attorney Milton Henry of Pontiac told Recorder's Court Judge Robert L. Evans he had been unable to serve a subpoena on Patrolman Richard Worobec.

Worobec was Czapski's partner and was wounded in the shooting incident outside the inner city Baptist church which the militant Republic of New Africa had rented for a national conference.

* * *

Henry said Worobec would testify that Viera did not shoot Czapski and asked the court's help in serving the legal papers.

After yesterday's closed hearing on the request, an assistant Wayne County prosecutor said his office had agreed tentatively to the request. The pretrial hearing on the charge against Viera, a 20-year-old remedial reading teacher from New York, is scheduled for June 30.

TOWN RAVAGED — The tiny resort community of Red Boiling Springs, Tenn., was pounded near extinction yesterday as a mountain creek, fed by a heavy cloudburst, overflowed its banks and rushed through the town. Officials confirmed one drowning and reported that every business in the town was damaged.

Plan for Dams Too Late

Flood Rips Tennessee Town

RED BOILING SPRINGS, Tenn. (AP) — Three years ago, conservation experts proposed a flood control plan for this town of 900.

"But we couldn't raise the $30,000 we needed for our part of the cost," Mayor Willis Knight said yesterday, hours after a flash flood swept the town's streets, killing one young girl and carrying off her sister.

Four homes were swept away when a cloudburst swelled tiny Lime Creek to a torrent. Up to 20 businesses and 35 homes were under two to five feet of water, while 35 cars were carried from a used car lot and 20 more from an auto parts store.

The body of Renah Bilbrey, 7, was found after the storm, while men searched for her 2-year-old sister, Jennifer Ray. Their mother, Mrs. Grady Bilbrey, was rescued after clinging to a tree branch for nearly three hours.

Knight, standing in front of a mud-encrusted City Hall, said he thought the proposed dams might have prevented the flood.

Two weeks ago, the town announced a redevelopment plan, including dams, to attract tourists and industry.

"But we're too late for that now," Knight said. "First, we'll have to rebuild our town."

Walled Lake Schools Set Aside Two Days for Families, Churches

WALLED LAKE — A ban on mandatory school activities Wednesday evenings and Sundays was adopted by the board of education last night.

The only exceptions will be league sports competition and contracted events.

* * *

The goal is to free time for "family nights" or church activities, according to schools Supt. Dr. George Garver. Scheduling of such voluntary activities as the opening of the school pool for those who want to swim, or play performances are not forbidden.

* * *

The idea is to allow students to make a choice, according to Garver.

CLERGY COMPLAINED

The idea developed during administration meetings with area clergy who claimed that "The churches were constantly running into competition with the schools," according to Garver.

The clergy explained that many times activities planned for a youth group had poor attendance because of conflicting school activities, such as evening rehearsals or practices.

* * *

Garver emphasized, "This night is not just for churches, but also for families to have an evening without a constant proliferation of activities pulling the failly apart."

Garver pointed out that the regular high school day would be over by 2:30 p.m. next year, allowing some 3½ hours for after-school activities on Wednesdays.

NEW DIRECTOR

In other business, the board appointed Warren D. Smith, dean of students at Walled Lake Junior High, as the new community school director.

He will supervise the implementation of all community school activities and will coordinate the program.

* * *

The community school concept, adopted by the board in February, involves offering broader educational opportunities for all age groups in the community through a greater use of the available facilities and resources.

* * *

Classes, led by volunteers, could range from bridge to credit courses for adults who want to earn a high school diploma. One-half mill from the tax increased voted in April is being used to run the program.

County Unit Backs Vote on Cityhood

An election on incorporation of Wolverine Lake and a portion of Commerce Township as a city has been recommended by the board of supervisors local affairs committee.

* * *

The recommendation was based on an opinion issued yesterday by County Corporation Counsel Robert Allen.

* * *

The township had attacked the validity of petitions circulated 13 months ago, and Allen's opinion was made only after attorneys for both sides had presented briefs.

* * *

Township Attorney Clarence Smith indicated the township might still take the matter to court.

The election date will be set later.

Hickel Stock Soars as He Delays Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — One day after Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel received permission to delay sale of stock he owns in a mineral exploration company, the price of the stock soared and the volume of sales increased more than 60-fold.

Within two days after a Senate committee granted the delay, Alaska Interstate Co. had announced the acquisition of two companies and the price of the stock on the American Stock Exchange stood within 25 cents of its high for the year.

* * *

A brokerage firm official in New York said the delay by Hickel in selling his stock plus the announcement of the two acquisitions were responsible, at least in part, for the surge in the price and volume of sales in Alaska Interstate.

During his confirmation hearings last January, Hickel told the Senate Interior Committee that he held 32,316 shares of Alaska Interstate and promised to sell it off "within a reasonable time and not later than six months after taking office."

'IN HANDS OF BROKER'

He took office on Jan. 21 — five months ago this weekend — and as of the beginning of June had not begun to sell the stock, according to Hickel's brother.

* * *

Vernon Hickel, president of the Hickel Investment Co., told the Associated Press in a telephone interview from Anchorage that the stock now was in the hands of a broker who had instructions to sell it "at an opportune time." The stock was turned over to the broker, he said, at the beginning of June.

* * *

Asked how much of the stock had been sold at that time, the secretary's brother replied: "None of it."

Asked if any had been sold since, he said, "I really don't know. It's in the broker's hands."

Attempts to reach Walter Hickel for comment were unsuccessful.

FIRST SPURT

The first spurt in both price and volume of Alaska Interstate came Thursday, the day after the Senate Interior Committee granted Hickel a six-month extension of the deadline for sale of his stock. The request was made in a June 2 letter to the committee from Vernon Hickel.

Also on Thursday it was announced in Houston that Alaska Interstate had acquired Burgess International Inc., a Fairbanks construction firm. On Thursday, Alaska Interstate closed at 29½, up to 3⅜ on a volume of 30,600 shares traded.

* * *

If Hickel still held all his stock at the end of that trading session, his paper profit for the day would have been more than $109,000.

On Friday, trading volume rose again, to 38,900 shares. The price fell an eighth of a point and closed at 29.

CLOSE TO HIGH

The closing price both Thursday and Friday was close to the recorded high for the year of 29¼. Earlier in the year, the stock had been as low as 19¾.

The volume on Thursday and Friday was high for a stock normally traded lightly. On Wednesday, for example 3,600 shares of Alaska Interstate were traded and on Tuesday 500 shares changed hands.

* * *

On Friday, Alaska Interstate announced it had made its second acquisition of the week, this time of the Stardust Cruiser Manufacturing Co., a Chattanooga, Tenn., builder of steel and fiber-glass houseboats.

The brokerage firm official attributed the sudden action in Alaska Interstate at least in part to the delay in the sale of the Hickel stock and the two acquisitions.

* * *

"The announcement from the Senate could have helped it and the acquisitions also could have helped," said Eldon Grimm, senior vice president and economist for Walston & Co.

Where Folks Are Friendly

BY BARBARA GRIBBON

Bloomfield Orchards, at South Boulevard and Opdyke in Pontiac Township, is one of Oakland County's older subdivisions, with over 500 homes. It's also an area to which newcomers move almost constantly.

As a result of this rapid turnover of homes, a brand-new Neighbors & Newcomers group recently has been formed.

At the initial information meeting, over 100 neighbors showed up, many of them volunteering to take on jobs in the new organization.

* * *

Prime aims of Neighbors & Newcomers are to acquaint newcomers with the community and get some of the older residents interested in local activities. Two social functions are held for the entire subdivision each year and a evening program is scheduled each month with a planned program. Special interests groups are available including arts and crafts, cards and bowling.

The group's main activity now is a welcoming committee which gives gift packets for newcomers. Over 50 local businesses have contributed to the packet which includes small gifts and coupons, maps of the Pontiac area and tips on where to go for recreation.

THE GERALD KAYS

Mrs. Gerald Kay is cochairman in charge of gift packets. She and her husband moved to Bloomfield Orchards six years ago from Dearborn Heights. The family now includes four children, Debbie, 6, Buddy, 5, Kelly, 3, and Charlie, 1½ years old.

Kay is assistant manager of Chamberlain Real Estate's Bloomfield office. He is a member of the Jaycees in Auburn Heights and is on the Board of Directors of the Bloomfield Orchards Association. His hobbies include building and flying radio-controlled model planes, golf and fishing.

* * *

Mrs. Kay, active in the local PTA, worked on the recent school millage campaign. She is the editor of the group's newsletter and work on the Helping Hand program in her area.

THE ROBERT SIPPELS

Mrs. Robert Sippel is chairman of the hostess welcoming committee. Her group goes to each new family to present the packet and get acquainted.

* * *

Sippell is a teacher and assistant football coach at Waterford-Kettering High School. During the summer he teach driver education as well. The Sippells have a cottage near Alpena where they vacation during the summer.

Mrs. Sippell has been a swimming coach and synchronized swimming instructor. She taught at Groves High School in Birmingham and also in Lansing. She hopes to return to that work in the future.

THE WALTER KEMPHERTS

Last co-chairman of the welcoming is Mrs. Walter Kemphert, a newcomer to Bloomfield Orchards herself. The Kempherts moved in February from Grand Rapids but originally are from Rochester, N.Y. The family includes Lisa, 7, and Chris, 5.

* * *

Kemphert is a microfilm systems salesman for Eastman Kodak Co. His hobbies include building things for the new home, fishing, swimming and golf. The family enjoys winter sports including ice skating and sledding.

Mrs. Kemphert, always a member of a newcomers group wherever she has lived, was anxious to join one here. She ended up social chairman, and is in charge of the monthly program. She also helps organize the special interest groups. In her spare time, Mrs. Kemphert enjoys gardening and making smocked pillows as hobbies.

THE HARRY HARRISONS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrison moved from Detroit but originally are from London, England. They have two sons, Bill, 17, and Roger, 14.

* * *

Mrs. Harrison is active in the neighborhood garden club which goes to Pontiac State Hospital once a week to help in the greenhouses. Members often end up helping the woman patients with anything from home permanents to baking a cake, she said. At home, Mrs. Harrison is a ceramics enthusiast with a basement-full of ceramic accessories and a kiln.

THE GLENN CHURCHILLS

The Glenn Churchill family moved seven years ago from Hazel Park. They have two married children and five grandchildren as well as two at home, Diane, 17 and Michael, 16.

Michael had the male lead in the school play last year and his sister, Diane was in charge of costumes.

* * *

The family has been active in the American Field Service program for a number of years. Six years ago, a girl exchange student from Norway spent the year with them. The Churchills hope to attend her wedding in Norway next summer.

Churchill is a agent with Midwestern United Life Insurance Co. He's a golfing and bowling enthusiast. The family takes canoe trips and mom and dad are veteran members of a number of treasure hunt groups around Detroit. They belong to the Royal Oak Church of Christ.

THE ROBERT WESSMANS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wessman moved seven years ago from Detroit. Their daughters are Kathy, 16, Karen, 13. Kathy is working this summer while Karen is a full-time swimming enthusiast.

Wessman is a training specialist with Ford Motor Co. His hobbies include gardening and woodworking as well as playing the organ.

* * *

The family is active in Christ Lutheran Church in Bloomfield Hills, with the girls in many of the youth activities.

Mrs. Wessman and Kathy are members of the American Field Service. Mom belongs to the garden club and does volunteer work at Pontiac State Hospital.

THE LOUIS MILES'

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miles moved here six years are from Huntington Woods. Children at home are Kathy, 10, Maureen, 15, and Gregg, 17. They have a son in the Army and a married son and one grandchild.

Miles is a Fisher Body production engineer at the GM Tech Center in Warren. Boating and water skiing are favorite hobbies.

* * *

Next week — Woodcrest North.

CHAIRMEN ALL — Planning activities for Bloomfield Orchards Neighbors and Newcomers organization are co-chairmen (from left) Mrs. Walter Kemphert, Mrs. Gerald Kaye and Mrs. Robert Sippell. Newly formed, the group plans two social functions for subdivision residents each year plus a monthly evening dessert program.

Cycle Clubs Hit in 'War'

DETROIT (AP)— What police described as a "gang war" between two motorcycle clubs flared briefly in Detroit Monday.

* * *

Officers said the clubhouse of the Forbidden Wheels was raided early in the morning, allegedly by members of the Highwaymen. Police said several cycles, were fire-bombed, and four motorcycles parked in front of the building were hit by a car.

* * *

Several hours later, the clubhouse of the Highwaymen was looted and fire-bombed in apparent retribution.

No arrests were made.

Why . . .?

An entire area is aroused and puzzled at the arbitrary attitude of the Pontiac General Hospital Board in the dismissal of HAROLD EULER. Taxpayers feel they have a perfect right to know what happened to the administrator of property which belongs to them and not to the board.

CAPSALIS

What did Mr. EULER do?

What did he fail to do?

Were these secret reasons sufficient to cause an arbitrary discharge without warning?

In America, the people have the right to know. Their temporary representatives can't withhold knowledge that pertains to their own money and their own affairs. General Hospital is public property. It belongs to the taxpayers.

GOLDBERG

If the current discharge is justified, the people have the right to understand what happened. What are the facts? This isn't a private institution belonging to the board.

★ ★ ★

The whole area is concerned over this unfortunate situation. This includes many people from outside the City who have used General and been happy with their treatment. Those employed there are buzzing behind the scenes and filled with honest curiosity. If there is a sound, logical reason, those that provide the money are entitled to know.

★ ★ ★

On behalf of this entire community, The Press is asking Chairman Aleck Capsalis and Vice Chairman Harold S. Goldberg to provide the explanation to which a huge community is entitled.

This isn't a private matter.

The other members of the board who equally refuse to talk are: Dr. LYNN ALLEN, Mrs. B. B. ROUSH, J. L. DUKE, ROBERT P. GRANT, JOHN F. MUNRO, ELWOOD G. WEST, JOHN W. EMERSON, ISAAC SMOOT and VICTOR WOODS.

Judy Garland

One of America's brightest stars of the entertainment firmament is dead at 47. JUDY GARLAND, who rocketed to fame and won the hearts of a Nation with her "Over the Rainbow" song in the "Wizard of Oz" never found the gold of personal euphoria at the rainbow's end.

JUDY

An entertainer of unsurpassed attainments, her turbulent career encompassed 34 movies, many stage productions, concerts and TV shows and guest appearances. Born FRANCES GUMM in Grand Rapids, Minn., of itinerant stage parents, JUDY made her first footlight appearance at the age of 30 months.

But as her boxoffice success rose to fantastic heights, punctuated by reverses and comebacks, her private life became a tragic pattern of domestic and marital vicissitude, intemperate personal habits, explosive tantrums and unreliability.

Nonetheless, she retained her hold on the affections of millions of Americans who responded rapturously and unfailingly to the magnetism of her presence.

The complex personality of JUDY GARLAND, the root of her brilliant ascents and ignominious descents, can never be brought into objective focus—too many contradictory and hidden elements are involved. But few figures in theatrical history have left a deeper mark on their times.

Millions are saddened by her passing while somberly reflecting on a superlative talent that proved unmanageable by its embodiment.

Burger Questions Court Methodology

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — New U.S. Chief Justice Warren Burger has expressed some strong differences with how the U.S. Supreme Court has operated in recent years.

CROMLEY

The evidence indicates that Burger believes the Supreme Court has been on firm ground in its basic and fundamental constitutional interpretations on the rights of men and women accused of crime:

"The holdings of the Supreme Court on right to counsel, on trial by jury instead of trial by press, and on coerced confessions will always stand out as landmarks on basic rights."

". . The bail reforms of recent years (which gave suspects enlarged rights to be released without posting a conventional bail bond) were long overdue . . ."

'APPROPRIATE SUBJECTS'

These, says Burger, "were appropriate subjects for definitive constitutional (decisions) . . ."

Burger does not hold with those who criticize the Supreme Court for making law:

"The basic function of judges is to decide cases and resolve controversies. In performing that function, a court of last resort (such as the Supreme Court) must, as we all know, construe and interpret constitutions, statutes, rules, contracts, wills and trusts, and in so doing it will frequently "make" law. This is inherent in the evolution of common law.

"I question," says Burger, ". . . not the court or the last decade's holdings (opinions) of the court but its methodology . . ." and ". . the Supreme Court's almost undignified haste to clothe detailed rules of evidence and police station procedure in the garb of constitutional doctrine" (which is difficult to change when changing proves necessary).

He believes that it has been unwise for the Supreme Court to revise something as complicated as the code of criminal procedure and evidence "piecemeal" on "the narrow record" of a few cases — "rather than by the orderly process of statutory rule making.

'DANGEROUS WEAKNESS'

"There is a dangerous and even mischievous weakness in making or revising sweeping general rules of procedure and evidence on a case-by-case basis.

"The cases the Supreme Court takes up usually come to the court on the narrow record of but one case which frequently presents emotionally appealing situations that confuse and blur the bedrock consequences of a broad holding (opinion). With deference, I suggest that these cases are not always briefed and argued by men qualified by experience to present a case of great magnitude and consequence.

"In short, the narrow record of the particular case, the appealing aspects of the 'hard' case, and the presentation by inadequate briefs and arguments from lawyers who never before, and perhaps never again, will see the hallowed chambers of the Supreme Court, all combine to have a large issue decided without the careful, painstaking, deliberative processes . . . necessary."

The evidence suggests Burger now believes the Supreme Court rulings on isolated, complicated, unusual cases when applied generally, tend to unduly restrict police procedures by technicalities which can be interpreted quite differently by different judges.

COMMON SENSE

Burger argues that rules must be used in a common sense way which meet the spirit of the law — respecting both the rights of the accused and the practical problems of the police.

Burger insists the Supreme Court should take the leadership in rewriting the rules of federal criminal procedure in an orderly, systematic and comprehensive way. But he believes that a variety of men with wide practical experience must be in on the rewriting — and that Congress, too, must have a say.

"This Court Finds You Innocent!"

David Lawrence Says:

Chief Justice Can't Rule Court

WASHINGTON — The dramatic emphasis given this week to the ceremony at which a new chief justice was sworn in may tend to leave the impression that whoever presides over the Supreme Court has more power than the other eight justices.

LAWRENCE

When decisions are made, however, the chief justice has only one vote, and he can be outvoted by 8-to-1. The chief justice does coordinate the work of the court and arranges the administrative details of its operation, but the rulings are the responsibilities of all the justices voting as individuals.

★ ★ ★

It has been natural perhaps to use the phrase "Warren court" to characterize the trend in the majority opinions handed down while Chief Justice Warren headed the court. Over the years, a majority or minority has also been described as "conservative" or "liberal" or even "radical."

For in the 16 years during which Chief Justice Warren was on the court, there was an inclination on the part of a majority to "interpret" the Constitution to such an extent that the rulings were widely regarded as virtual amendments to the Constitution itself.

BIG CHANGE

The big change in the court's position in history started in 1937, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt severely criticized its rulings and asked Congress to pass a law enlarging the court from nine to possibly 15 justices.

This would have given him a chance to make as many as six new appointments and thus obtain a majority to his liking. This proposal was called "court-packing," and Congress did not approve because public opinion reacted against it.

By fortuitous circumstances, vacancies occurred on the court, and Roosevelt in the next four years had the opportunity to appoint enough new justices to provide a majority whose views were in line with his own thinking on current questions.

The shift came soon, as a majority of the justices abandoned the long-standing principle that, once the Supreme Court makes a decision, the only way it can be reversed is by an amendment to the Constitution.

'TIME-CONSUMING'

Roosevelt had in his speeches expressed the belief that this method was "difficult" and "time-consuming," and that the court should fit its decisions to any changing era.

As a consequence, the new justices tended to let their own concepts on sociological problems and questions of national policy dominate their rulings.

From that time on, an oligarchy of five men has been able, in many instances, to proclaim rulings which amount to alterations of the Constitution itself.

★ ★ ★

Irrespective of whether the new justices appointed in the next few years change the ways of the court, it seems likely that the American people inevitably will insist upon having a voice in any rewriting of the Constitution.

Constitutional conventions can be held periodically to enable the people themselves to reverse decisions of the high court and make changes in the Constitution.

The states have a right to request Congress to call a constitutional convention which can adopt amendments on any subject. Such proposals must be ratified by three-fourths of the states, and the approval of Congress is not required.

Bob Considine Says:

LBJ Hasn't Been Heard on U.S. Troop Pullout

NEW YORK — As of this bewitching hour, former President Lyndon Johnson has not been heard from on the question of the day: the withdrawal of 25,000 of the more than 500,000 men sent to Vietnam during his administration, and the suggestion by his former defense secretary, Clark Clifford, that everybody be pulled out by 1970.

CONSIDINE

LBJ once said to three of us in the awesome loneliness of his White House office, "All right, now. Are you going to bomb Hanoi and Haiphong, bomb 'em off the map, or are you going to pull out? Let's have the answer right now!"

★ ★ ★

He swung around in his heavy rocker.

"I didn't start this," he said with rising heat. "I inherited it. Just before Dallas, Kennedy told me that we were going to have to fight in South Vietnam, not just advise. Now, is it going to be said of me that I let Kennedy down? Am I going to be remembered as the fellow who pulled out, who became as scared as a rabbit in the field?"

NO ANSWER NEEDED

LBJ did not ask for or need an answer.

The most distressed politician in the land during the 1968 campaign was Hubert Humphrey. In a hotel room in Seattle on Sunday night, Sept. 29, he told me of his plans to make a break, as clean as possible, with the Johnson administration's intransigent Vietnamese policy.

He had floated a timid balloon just before that and seen it shot down. "No man can say" when the war could be diminished, the President retorted. Clark Clifford soon came on TV to knock out Hubert's proposal that maybe a few soldiers could be brought home soon.

No prospect whatsoever, Clifford said.

BLEW PRESIDENCY

Humphrey got as little support from both of them as Eisenhower gave to Nixon in 1960. Both blew the presidency for want of a few solid words of support.

Now, the same Clark Clifford who felt we couldn't spare a single soldier would spare half a million. And the man who called the shots is saving his thoughts for his memoirs.

Old geezers who like a snort or two will be contented, if not emboldened, to learn that a Marquette University professor of psychology found, after an exhaustive and exhausting study, that four drinks rejuvenates persons over 65. Young people, he found, become less steady of mind and body after four shots.

"We have been able to substantiate what many people have suspected from their own observation," wrote Prof. Arthur S. Wilson. "There definitely is a significant difference in the effect of alcohol on old and young people."

Hospital Board's Action 'A Disgrace to the City'

The arbitrary dismissal of Harold B. Euler from his position as administrator of Pontiac General Hospital comes as a shock especially when he was faced with no charges and given no opportunity to defend himself. This certainly is not the American way of doing things.

★ ★ ★

Unless the Board comes up with some mighty serious charges and unless Mr. Euler is unable to answer such charges, the Board itself ought to be dismissed.

★ ★ ★

Here is a man who has been a wonderful public servant. He helped finish a great new addition to the hospital. He renovated the old part. He has added parking facilities and living quarters for interns. He brought the hospital out of the red financially. Best of all he built up a wonderful staff and gave the entire working force a good morale.

★ ★ ★

This action stands as a disgrace to the City of Pontiac.

It's not as easy as it looks, but the skill of Mrs. Oscar Deaton of Emmons Road, Avon Township makes spinning your own yarn look like a snap. A granddaughter, Crystal Deaton, whose parents are the Ray Deatons of Utica, is helping out by "carding" the raw wool, as she combs out weeds and tangles.

Area Grandmother Spins Her Yarn

There is a picture in Mrs. Oscar Deaton's bedroom of her great-grandmother spinning raw wool into yarn on a spinning wheel. When Mrs. Deaton works in her kitchen with the same dark chestnut wheel, there is a slight resemblance to the somber-faced young farm woman captured in the photograph.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Deaton, of Emmons Road, Avon Township, is an active, talkative "yarn spinner" of 1969, one who was even caught painting her house all alone once upon a time. Her bright, flowered apron is characteristic of this jovial, good-natured grandmother.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know what I'm going to do with all this yarn, I just spin it to show people how it's done," she says, her brown eyes twinkling.

★ ★ ★

Standing next to the spinning wheel that has been in her father's family for over 100 years, she talks enthusiastically about her first lessons in spinning.

IN KENTUCKY

"My mother taught me how to card and spin when we lived on a farm in Beattyville, Kentucky," she said.

As well as combing the raw wool and spinning it into yarn for family socks and sweaters, the Deatons made their own soap from fat and wood ash, and raised most of their food.

★ ★ ★

"That was the way it was done everywhere in Kentucky at the time. I almost wish it was like it used to be," she said, looking at the reporter. "You kids will never know how it was to live hard."

★ ★ ★

Today Mrs. Deaton continues the family art when she can find raw wool. The batch she is presently working on was given to her by a farmer in the Utica area.

WANTED TO WATCH

"He said I could have the wool if he could watch me spin it," Mrs. Deaton explained.

★ ★ ★

The time consuming process begins after the raw wool has been washed with soap and water. It is then "carded" or placed in small patches between two wooden paddles or cards.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Deaton has taught her granddaughters how to pull the yarn between the wire bristles on the cards, ridding the wool of nettles, burrs and tangles.

By pulling the wool to one end of a card until it forms a long, slender roll, it can be removed ready to be spun.

STARTS SPINNING

Mrs. Deaton takes the combed wool and holds it to the yarn spindle, giving the big wheel a tug, to start the spinning. The wool is pulled and stretched in long strands as it is fed onto the spindle in the proper thickness.

★ ★ ★

In the language of those who spin their own yarn, the wool from one sheep produces approximately four "yards" of yarn. One "yard" of home-processed yarn is equal to a length of 1,472 yards of ready-to-knit yarn.

★ ★ ★

Proud of her family of eight children, 27 grandchildren and 20 greatgrandchildren, Mrs. Deaton notes that one of her sons is an avid knitter and has asked her for the spinning wheel.

★ ★ ★

Two granddaughters, Crystal and Kathy Deaton, aged 9 and 7, respectively, are already learning to card and spin with grandmother's help.

STILL LEARNING

Although the girls are not quite "experts" yet, how can they help but achieve professional status with such an able and enthusiastic instructor!

'Either Accept His Behavior or Lose Him'---Abby's Advice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear ABBY: I am a widow who has been dating this fellow (divorced) and we are both in our late thirties. There is no steady arrangement but we do enjoy each other's company. Here's the problem:

Everytime we go out he makes a fuss over the waitress, has to find out her first name and from then on he's on a first name basis with her.

The last time we went out, we sat at a piano bar and the waitress sat down next to him and complained about how tired she was. Well, he proceeded to rub her back while she "oohed" and "ahhhhed" about how good it felt.

Needless to say I was embarrassed to death and everyone around was taking it all in. I said nothing but I was very angry and let him know it when we were alone. This led to an argument. He said I was a "snob" and that he was just being "sociable." I should be so sociable with a bartender. What do you think?

NO SNOB

★ ★ ★

DEAR NO: I think if your friend wants to socialize with waitresses he should see them on his own time. And theirs. And from the sound of your letter, he probably does. You won't change him. So either accept him as he is or lose him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is how to respond to the strange and inappropriate gifts we receive from our son on Mother's Day and Father's Day. He is married and lives in another state.

For example, last Mother's day I received a plastic bracelet, which only a teen-ager would wear. Plus a book which was a novel about a young boy who yearned to pitch in a big league baseball game. I cannot for the life of me imagine why anyone would think I would enjoy such a book.

The Father's day gifts my husband receives are equally ridiculous and hold no significance for him whatsoever.

I wanted to write our son and ask for some explanation of these odd and inappropriate gifts, but my husband prevailed upon me to simply thank him without comment. What is your advice?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Same as your husband's. But the next time you see your son, ask him WHO selects those gifts.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to NANCY was perfect. There are husbands who are so sensitive and sympathetic to their wives that they actually suffer right along with them.

My father was that way. I still remember one morning right in the middle of breakfast, my father turned pale, got up from the breakfast table and made his way to the bathroom where he was very sick indeed. Then I heard my mother say, "Well, I'm certain now."

Later when Mother started having labor pains, my father doubled up in agony. He was always such a sweet and sympathetic man. A girl is lucky to have such a father.

DAUGHTER OF ONE

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the 16-year-old girl on her first date with a boy and her father not coming up from the recreation room. Your indecision disappointed me, Abby. The father is at fault.

Reasons:

- The boy is a stranger and (temporarily) a guest. A little gesture of friendliness would help put the boy at ease.
- Since it's the girl's first date with the boy, any father worthy of the title should want to know something about the young man, even if it's only his appearance.
- It lets the girl know that her father cares.
- To go upstairs and meet the boy would show good manners.

I could probably name 50 more reasons why the father was wrong.

One of the biggest problems in the world today is that people are so concerned with themselves that they don't consider the feelings of others. I know, I am on crutches and every day some idiot cuts in front of me to beat me through a door, and then lets the door slam in my face without even looking back.

★ ★ ★

Solution? Every day I practice supporting myself on one crutch, so I can one day use the other to trip the culprits. Sign me.

Expect Milk Price Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Retail milk prices in the metropolitan Detroit area will rise one cent per half gallon Aug. 1, dairymen announced Monday.

The rise reflects an increase in the wholesale cost of milk of 17 cents for the hundredweight 46½ quarts.

★ ★ ★

"It is obvious that the dealers cannot absorb this increase and will have to pass it on to the consumers," a spokesman for the Michigan Milk Producers Association said.

"It is a reasonable assumption that the retail price will go up a penny a half gallon when the wholesale price goes into effect Aug. 1."

The association said higher production costs necessitated the increase, which will apply only to milk and cream, not butter, cheese or other dairy products.

Entirely Right to Introduce Club Manager

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: We have recently joined a private club. The manager came to my table at a club party and introduced himself. I introduced my guests. Was I wrong? I was told I was. Also, when he greets us at the door, should we shake hands with him? — Mrs. Ellis.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Ellis: The manager of a private club is generally considered to be in a different category from other employees. He is often regarded as an acquaintance or friend of the members. Therefore, you were quite right to introduce him to your guests.

Whether or not the men shake hands with him at the door is entirely up to them. The women would not do so.

Senators Study Abortion Reform

LANSING (UPI) — Pro-abortion reform forces are already making a comeback in the Michigan Senate where attempts to liberalize the state's abortion law failed June 12.

In Monday's legislative session Sens. Gilbert Bursley, N. Lorraine Beebe and John McCauley jointly sponsored a resolution to continue study of abortion reform until a vote can again be taken on the explosive subject.

"We want to have public hearings in areas where public opinion is uncertain," said Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, whose bill to permit therapeutic abortions is regarded as likely to pass in the fall or next January.

★ ★ ★

These "uncertain" areas include Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor, Kalamazoo, Jackson and Oakland County, Bursley added. The resolution asks for $3,000 to continue the study.

The study group will consist of Mrs. Beebe's five-member health, social services and retirement committee plus probably McCauley, D-Wyandotte, and Bursley.

Bursley said the group will consider recently passed abortion laws in other states.

HEALTH DANGER

As presented to the senate, Bursley's bill would permit abortions only if the mother's mental or physical health were in danger, the child might be deformed, or in cases of rape or incest.

In the New Fall Fashions

Men Borrow From Ladies

NEW YORK (AP) — Men's fashions for fall will be more colorful and creative than ever before.

If you don't believe it, just try the idea of bright red velvet pants and shirt topped by yellow suspenders. Or how about a nine-foot scarf around the neck? Or a shiny leather suit?

★ ★ ★

All of these and more were offered Monday by John Weitz, Bill Blass and Oleg Cassini at one of a series of showings sponsored by the American Designer Group.

Weitz admitted that his clothes weren't exactly meant for business. He called his stovepipe trousers—with suspenders to keep them up and straps under the instep of the shoe to hold them down—"idea stuff." He showed them in plaid wool for day, velvet for evening.

BUSINESS SUIT

Weitz also showed a sashed, bathrobe-style jacket and matching trousers. He called the outfit "possibly tomorrow's business suit." The coat was similar to many seen in women's collections.

Blass also borrowed from the ladies. Or maybe it was the other way around and he borrowed from the men in designing his women's clothes.

At any rate, he featured these long, long striped scarves tossed around the neck that keep popping up on almost all the feminine fashions.

★ ★ ★

WESTERN LOOK

Oleg Cassini persisted with the Western look, including leather suits and outfits with fringe. He was particularly proud of a black leather suit, belted and deeply vented in back.

AP Wirephotos

New designs were revealed in New York Monday during a series of showings sponsored by the American Designer Group. Style setters Bill Blass and Oleg Cassini showed clothes for the well-dressed man, plus a preview of women's fall and winter creations. From the left; a plaid suit with a wide leather belt, by Blass; a fringed jacket and trousers with detachable chaps by Cassini. Anne Klein's pumpkin vest and navy pants over a white "scarf accepting" shirt is next; and (right) a high hip dress with pleated skirt and turkey feather boa by Stanley Herman.

'Hairbrained' Criminal Clips Women Bald

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Several Charleston area women are being clipped—literally bald—by a man who cons them out of their hair instead of their money.

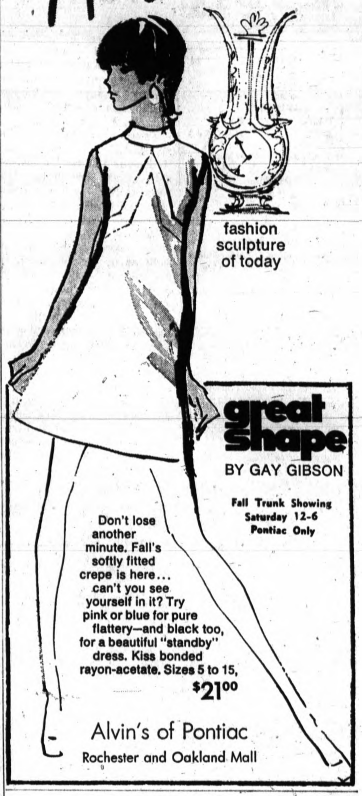

Police said the man usually offers a home-hair styling that turns into a total clip job.

There are six confirmed cases in the past four years, but detectives say many more women may be involved and are to embarrassed to call police.

The man operates with his scissors and razor just outside the reach of the law. If women give him consent to work on their hair, police say, the man can't be charged with assault.

Police files show the man frequently tells women in a door-to-door campaign that he is opening a new beauty salon. He offers the lady of the house a sampling of his work. Those who agree have wound up bald.

Keep Record of Possessions in Case of Fire

By MARY HOLBROOK
Consultant in Money Management

"We lost everything we had," this couple told me, as near to tears as you can get. "Our house burned to the ground."

To complicate the tragedy, they didn't really know what they had and what they lost. According to a veteran public adjustor, "If homeowners would only make an inventory of their household possessions and keep it they would save themselves a lot of grief. But most people don't."

* * *

When homeowner and insurance adjustor, plus maybe an independent adjustor, try to work out a reasonable claim when there's no specific inventory of household contents, it can take as long as a couple of months, or more!

If your house catches fire, after you get everyone out and call the fire department, lose no time in calling your insurance agent. That's the advice of Harold Meshel, an independent public adjustor licensed by the state.

Your company insurance adjustor may suggest under some circumstances, that you call in such an independent. And in a case where the fire loss is pretty complete, your insurance agent will help you locate one in your community.

Short of total calamity, says Mr. Meshel, your own insurance company's adjustor handles the fire damage claim with no reason for consultation with any other expert.

All this, of course, is the overall thinking. But who feels overall at the sight of his home in flames — or standing there looking at the cold desolation of the damage after the fire is out? So right now file a few do's and don't's in your mind:

Call your insurance agent, his agency or broker, if there's a fire of any size in your home. He'll take a look and quickly estimate the extent of the damage. Then he'll report to the insurance company.

Just Look-Alikes, Not Double Vision

HOLLAND (UPI) — Holland residents are over the idea that they were developing double vision.

The Michigan Twins Association Sunday ended its two-day convention that attracted 118 sets of look-alikes to their town over the weekend.

Florence Kolb, Bay City, and her 21-year-old twin, Mrs. Francine (Dennis) Poyer of nearby Essexville, were elected co-presidents of the association. They succeed Marie and Marvin Olsen of Grand Rapids.

Patricia and Priscilla Stuart of Coldwater, 22, were elected co-secretaries and Robert and Richard Tenniswood of Rochester were re-elected co-tresurers on their 36th birthday, which was Sunday.

Opening lead—♠7

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

We can think of a lot of old adages to fit today's hand. "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," perhaps, or "Don't count your chickens before they're hatched."

Returning to bridge we might point out that overtricks are nice in rubber bridge but declarer should concentrate on making his contract and that a finesse is never proven until the defender who may hold the key card has shown out of the suit.

We won't go into an analysis of West's choice of opening lead. Suffice to say that he decided to lead through dummy's spade rather than to attack declarer's diamonds. It turned out to be a very wise choice.

South played a low spade from dummy and East was in with the queen. He shifted to the four of hearts and South was in dummy. He considered leading a spade and giving up a second trick in that suit but decided that he had nothing to lose and a lot to gain by attacking diamonds. He played dummy's nine of that suit.

★ ★ ★

Much to South's surprise the nine held the trick. Now South was ready to go after an overtrick. The diamond finesse had worked once. It was sure to work again.

He led a second diamond. East showed out and West collected four diamond tricks and 100 points above the line. South collected some valuable experience.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Wednesday

Moon in SCORPIO favorable for fishing, planting. Guard those too young to interpret emotions. Means be available to aid those who express dilemma associated with opposite sex. Avoid censorship, but permit common sense to serve as guide.

★ ★ ★

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Financial pressure evident. Forces are scattered. Don't say yes to something you cannot immediately afford. Trying to please others can be carried too far.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Lie low. Do more listening than talking. What appears to be a burden is lifted—if you are patient. Do detail work. Get minor tasks completed. Leave big projects for another day.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Change, variety are emphasized. Much of what occurs contains element of surprise. Plans are changed. Some around you appear morose.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Pursue creative endeavors. Relations with opposite sex are intensified. Emotions run high; lovers' quarrel occurs if careless with what you say. Know this and act accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): What appears to be a definite commitment is subject to revision. Have alternative methods at hand. Don't be trapped by apparent frustration. Key is to be self-reliant.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Avoid unnecessary travel. There are responsibilities in immediate vicinity. Definite gain indicated. But you must be available to give your best.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Finish what you start. Take nothing for granted. Not wise to delegate duties. You could lose money, unless aware of specific duties. Strive to improve techniques.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Strained relationship occupies attention. Get fresh point of view. Be independent without displaying arrogance. Avoid one who wants to tie you up in contract. Wait and see.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21): Guard health. Avoid excess. Keep resolutions concerning diet. Success or failure today depends upon you. Be receptive, willing to learn.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Good lunar aspect today coincides with your ability to be versatile. Your influence spreads. People display greater confidence in your opinions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Conflict may exist between duty and home. Concentrate on basic tasks. The large problems will take care of themselves. Push ahead. Those in authority are on your side.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your mind may be on faraway places. But don't permit this to degenerate into mere daydreaming. Take care with what you read and write. Be aware of subtle nuances.

IF WEDNESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are somewhat of a perfectionist. Whatever you do, you put forth your best efforts. You are preparing now for a future thrust toward success.

Trading Fairly Active

Mart Holds Most Early Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market held onto most of its early gains in fairly active trading early this afternoon, with brokers crediting a technical rally for the advance.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.47 at 877.33. The Dow had been ahead 7.82 at 10:30 a.m.

Gains led losses by better than 600 issues.

★ ★ ★

The early advance, analysts said, was a continuation of the bargain hunting which got under way late Monday and enabled the market to cut some of its early sharp losses although it still closed the day with a loss.

★ ★ ★

The upward drive, they said, "primarily is a technical rebound. The market went down so far and so fast that it got into a very oversold position, the type of position that invites bargain hunting."

'HOLDING BACK'

But "there's no telling how long the rally will last," they said, "because there's a terrific amount of caution around, and a lot of your investors are holding back."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.6 at 312.4, with industrials up 4.1, rails up 1.2, and utilities up 1.2.

★ ★ ★

Conglomerates mostly had a higher tone, although Ling-Temco-Vought was off 1 at 41¼.

Steels, electronics and utilities mostly were fractionally higher. Motors also were advancing, with General Motors up 1.

Furniture Firm Leaving City

Will Open New Store in Bloomfield Twp.

The Lewis Furniture Co. will end over 46 years of business in downtown Pontiac this week.

The firm will move into its new building at the corner of Woodward and Roswell, south of Square Lake Road in Bloomfield Township. The new store is set to open next month.

★ ★ ★

The downtown building located at 62 S. Saginaw, at the Orchard Lake-Auburn crossover was purchased by the city in 1966 for its downtown urban renewal project. It is slated for demolition after the furniture company move is completed.

★ ★ ★

Leonard T. Lewis, the store's owner, said he expects to be completely moved out of the Saginaw location by Saturday.

SAME LINES

He said the new store will carry essentially the same lines of furniture in the new store — including Baker, Kittinger, Dunbar, Drexel and Heritage — and also office furniture.

★ ★ ★

The new Lewis Furniture store will be managed by Charles Matson, formerly of Colby's of Chicago, Lewis said. Lewis will remain chairman of the board of directors.

★ ★ ★

Benefits to the Needy Depend on Their Evaluation

Busy Caseworkers Do the Grass-Roots Welfare Job

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of a three-part series on welfare and social services in Oakland County.)

By JEAN SAILE

Much of the responsibility for administering a welfare program falls on the shoulders of the caseworker. Those in Oakland County, like in other areas of the state, are sometimes sadly overburdened.

It's the social worker who contacts the family. Her judgment of their needs plays a large part in determining what benefits the family will receive.

★ ★ ★

In the Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) area, one caseworker is responsible for 60 to 65 of the 2,522 active cases now on county files. She's dealing with an average of 3.03 children per family.

In children's services and direct relief, the average caseload is 63 and 75, respectively, per worker.

SHOOTS WAY UP

These three areas are pretty much in accordance with federal standards, but in the nursing home and adult cases, the average shoots way up with one worker responsible for as many as 236 people.

Miss Ora Hinckley, director of the Oakland County Social Services Department, reports that in these areas the county is in about the same position as other industrial counties in Michigan.

She insists, however, that the workers do a better job than they are sometimes given credit for. She says not one name was turned into County Human Resource Committee chairman Robert Patnales following charges that ADC recipients had been warned to stay away from a recent committee hearing.

★ ★ ★

The caseworker positions are allotted by the state according to funding available. Currently the county office carries an employment complement of 192 people and the fact that they're running short of office room at both the North Telegraph Service Center and the Royal Oak offices is another burden they bear.

HALLWAY INTERVIEWS

In the Royal Oak office it has reportedly become necessary to interview an applicant as she stands in the hall or in the waiting room in front of others. It's contrary to all social worker concepts, Miss Hinckley says.

The social workers are also taking their charges through a change in welfare concept. The old belief that a mother should stay in the home to take charge of her children is being replaced by the idea that, if at all possible, she should be trained to become self-supporting.

★ ★ ★

Since last October, some 800 people have been referred to a Work Incentive program (WIN) the Michigan Employment Security Commission is conducting.

While it is still too early to tell results, Miss Hinkley says it appears that those who are motivated and want to stick with the program can succeed.

DAY CARE CENTERS

Along with the WIN program goes a greater emphasis on day-care centers. The county has approved 123 day-care homes, 11 full day-care facilities, and 11 year-round facilities. A program in which the county contributes to day-care fees lasts only as long as the mother is in training and ends once she is employed.

That concept, too, is changing. In conjunction with the WIN program, aid is on a sliding scale with recipients able to earn up to $30 a week before any cutback is made. The standard plan under ADC allows only $20 a week and direct relief only $15 from outside sources.

A mother program — under consideration by President Nixon — would grant up to $1,500 a year for a family of four. For each $2 of earned income, the grant would be reduced $1. When the family reached a $3,200 minimum, aid would stop.

A hard-core unemployed program is being proposed by the county Office of Economic Opportunity. It suggests that such county facilities as the hospital, cafeteria and maintenance department, be used as a training ground from whence workers would be sent out to hold down jobs in private industry.

The idea is viewed by some county supervisors as a good investment, eventually saving the taxpayer thousands of dollars.

WHO WANTS BILLY? — One-year-old Billy and his foster mother pay a visit to Social Services offices. Just tested and found in excellent condition, the bright-eyed blond is ready for adoption. An average of 749 children are cared for each month through Social Services, in both the foster care and adoptive programs.

Thunderstorms Belt U.S.; Twisters Hit Oklahoma

By The Associated Press

Heavy thunderstorms belted the midcontinent with wind, hail and torrential rains again today after hatching a swarm of tornadoes Monday night across northern Oklahoma.

Twelve homes were destroyed or damaged as a dozen twisters churned over the Payne County, Okla., communities of Ripley, Perkins and Cushing. Numerous trailer homes and outbuildings were reported demolished. Power lines and trees were torn down.

★ ★ ★

No injuries were reported either in Payne County or elsewhere in northwestern and north central Oklahoma where 12 other funnel clouds were sighted.

★ ★ ★

The early summer weather violence ranged westward into the central Rockies and eastward to the Middle Atlantic states. Rain also washed much of the Northeast and the Pacific Northwest before dawn.

★ ★ ★

Eleven persons suffered minor injuries in severe thunderstorms which ranked the Delaware Valley late Monday. Winds of 59 miles an hour swept Philadelphia International Airport. A lightning bolt tipped a jetliner wing and four airline employes had to be treated for shock.

Downpours of 3½ inches swamped portions of west-central Missouri. A similar amount hit Conway, Ark., 30 miles north of Little Rock, in one hour before daybreak.

'Squares' Learning Tactics to Counter Campus Radicals

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — "We're providing an umbrella under which people opposed to tyranny can collect," says a leader of an antiradical group of about 100 students meeting here to develop measures aimed at preventing campus take-overs next fall.

"We advocate the use of whatever force is necessary to combat campus take-overs," said Lee Edwards, assistant chairman of the group of students who call themselves "squares."

The "squares," whose organization's officially called the National Student Conference in Revolution, are holding a week-long workshop at Lake Forest College to perfect counter tactics to be used against disruptive college demonstrators.

REVOLUTION TRAINING

"We have worked hard to obtain our education, and we will work just as hard to prevent our college opportunity from being taken away from us," one convention participant said Monday.

* * *

In addition to the workshops, the students are attending lectures, panel discussions and debates dealing with contemporary revolution.

"It's too bad that our system is in danger of being destroyed over the demands of a few for total personal freedom," former Minnesota Congressman Walter Judd told one panel group.

Judd said the Students for a Democratic Society, a radical group active in many student demonstrations, is "part of the worldwide Communist movement" and urged students to organize to defeat it.

CAN'T BE STOPPED

"One thing is certain," said Ed Butler, 34, chairman of the conference, "the revolution cannot be stopped. It can only be won or lost."

Butler said the "antityrannist movement" must organize on campuses throughout the country to counteract violence.

Convention members Monday night engaged five members of the American Nazi party in a heated debate on revolution in the United States. The Nazis said both Negroes and Jews would have to be shipped out of America before a peaceful society can exist. The Nazis were jeered frequently by the crowd.

The student conference is sponsored by a private educational council in New Orleans, the Information Council of the Americas. The conference says delegates represent schools from across the country. One convention delegate said delegates are mostly from large state schools.

* * *

The group also claims to have broad political representation, ranging from the conservative Young Americans for Freedom to the Young Democrats organization.

U.S. Pacifist Boat Spurned by Red China

TOKYO (AP) — Six American pacifists who sailed from Japan June 12 on a goodwill voyage to Communist China returned today and reported the Chinese turned them away from the port at Shanghai.

The American Friends Service Committee in Tokyo, which had helped organize the voyage of the 50-foot yacht Phoenix, said the Americans sailed back to Nagasaki.

* * *

The mission was headed by Earle Reynolds, 59, an anthropologist from Yellow Springs, Ohio, who had been living in Japan. With him were Brian Victoria, 29, of Omaha, Neb., a Buddhist priest also living in Japan; Michael Stafford, 22, a student from Camerillo, Calif.; Sharon Willoughby, 25, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Roger Scott, 32, of Lubbock, Tex.; and Dr. Jonathan Mirsky, 36, head of Far Eastern studies at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H.

The Japanese Justice Ministry said earlier that Reynolds and Victoria would not be permitted to reenter Japan because their visit to China was not authorized by the government. But officials said today their status is in doubt since they did not land in the Communist country.

Reynolds and his Japanese wife, Akie, 26, tried to make the voyage last September but were arrested by Japanese authorities shortly after they sailed. Mrs. Reynolds was charged with leaving the country illegally, and Reynolds was charged with aiding her.

Their trial is scheduled in September.

Waterford Principal Parley Participant

Dr. G. E. Megiveron, Waterford Township High School principal, has been selected to participate in a one-week national conference dealing with student activism and curriculum relevance.

The conference, July 6-13 at Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., is sponsored by the Institute for Development of Educational Activities, Inc.

* * *

Dr. Megiveron will be one of 400 higher-education experts participating in the session.

More Thais Asked: Volunteer for Viet

BANGKOK (AP) — Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn called for more army volunteers today to serve with the Thai contingent in South Vietnam.

Thanom, who also is a field marshal and Thailand's defense minister, did not specify whether the call was for replacements of Thai troops in South Vietnam or whether a troop increase was planned. Thailand has a division of about 12,500 men in South Vietnam, half of which is to be rotated home near the end of this month.

Fires Final Round 64

State PGA Title to Stuart

By FLETCHER SPEARS

DAVISON — After an unprofessional-like start, Grand Rapids' Glenn Stuart dazzled his peers with a blazing finish to capture the 49th Michigan Section PGA championship yesterday at Davison Country Club.

It was the juciest victory of a 12-year pro career for the 35-year-old Stuart, a former basketball player at Central Michigan University.

SAG AT START

After seemingly blowing himself out of contention in the morning round with a 75 over the par-72, 6,863-yard layout, Stuart came back in the afternoon with a course-record 64 to gain a three-stroke win over Ron Aleks, assistant to Warren Orlick at Tam O'Shanter.

* * *

Pontiac's Gene Bone, who won the title in 1966, claimed third place with a steady one-under-par 72-71—143, while Jimmy Picard, another of Orlick's assistants who is now on the pro tour, wound up fourth with a 71-74—145.

Ben Lula of Mount Clemens, the 1962 titlist, filled the No. 5 slot at 146. The low five scorers in the event qualified for the Buick Open next month at Warwick Hills in Grand Blanc and for the Michigan Golf Classic slated for September at Shenandoah near Orchard Lake.

* * *

QUALIFIES FOR NATIONALS

Along with collecting a $650 first prize in the $5,000 tournament, Stuart earned a berth in the National PGA championship to be played later this summer in Dayton, Ohio.

* * *

'MISSED PUTTS'

"I missed too many short putts," said Stuart of his morning tour. "I just wasn't playing well. I did notice that with my putter I was picking it up instead of dragging it back. I was conscious of that and changed, and of course, my confidence picked up when I birdied the first two holes in the afternoon."

* * *

Aleks, 26, who joined Orlick's staff this year after a couple of years on the tour, held the lead after his opening 69 but he, like Souchak, found a 'Waterloo' on the back nine and faded from the lead on the cold overcast day.

STARTS CHARGE

Stuart started his charge early in the afternoon round. After bagging birdies at Nos. 1 and 2, he parred three and four, then birdied No. 5, 6 and 7 before parring 8 and 9 for his 31. "The chip at No. 7 really did it," said Stuart. "I hit a sand iron from rather long grass — about 60 feet I guess — and it rolled into the cup for a birdie."

After routine pars at 10 and 11, Stuart stroked in a 23-footer on No. 12 for a bird and chipped in from 60 feet for another bird on 13. He closed his assault on par with a downhill 10-footer at No. 17.

TENSE DUEL

Souchak and Stuart, playing several holes behind Aleks, had a tense head-to-head duel going through nine holes of the afternoon round.

Souchak's troubles seemed to start on the par-5, 535-yard No. 8 hole. Stuart's second shot went into the river that fronts the green and a subsequent ruling by the rules committee produced a slight bit of controversy.

DROPS BALL

Stuart dropped his ball across the river opposite the green. Souchak contended he should have dropped it at a point farther and in front of the green. The question was the point at which the ball entered the hazard.

* * *

Michigan Section president Lou Powers, head of the rules committee, checked with some observers standing near the spot where Stuart's ball bounced into the hazard. He ruled Stuart was playing the ball from the proper spot.

SALVAGES PAR

Stuart then knocked the ball eight feet from the cup and rolled it in for a par. Souchak, meanwhile, after a booming drive, messed up a couple of iron shots and wound up with a double bogey-6.

* * *

The demise for Souchak came at the par-4, 389-yard No. 11, the same hole where Stuart took a triple-bogey 7 last year while he was leading the event.

OUT OF BOUNDS

It was Souchak's turn this time. He hooked two out of bounds off the tee and wound up with an 8 on the hole.

* * *

CAME CLOSE

Stuart came close to the title in 1963 when he finished second to Dick Bury of Birmingham. In a brief fling on the tour, he was second in the New Orleans Open in 1963. He won the Tony Lema Memorial in 1967 in Chicago.

Rule Decision Adds Spice to State PGA Meet

Glenn Stuart, who won yesterday's 49th annual Michigan PGA tournament at Davison Country Club criticized Oakland Hills pro Mike Souchak as result of a disagreement at the 8th hole.

Souchak, who won the 1968 crown, and Stuart were playing in the same threesome and at the time, Souchak who finished the first round with a 70, was two under par. Stuart was one stroke ahead.

INTO CREEK

Stuart's shot on the 8th, sailed into a creek. He contended the ball bounced out of bounds before going into the water.

Souchak argued the ball did not bounce out of bounds and should be dropped in a less favorable position.

PGA president Lou Powers ruled in favor of Stuart and Souchak reportedly asked, "When are you going to learn the rules?"

* * *

Stuart also said that Souchak said, "If you're smart you should disqualify yourself."

Afterward, Stuart commented, "Mike is the best player in the tournament but he seems to want to play by his rules."

"If I had dumped my next shot in the water he probably wouldn't have complained, but I had a five and he had a six," said Stuart.

Tigers' Catcher Blasts Homer to Beat Yanks, 6-5

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger relief catcher Jim Price said he had "no idea what Mayo Smith wanted" when the phone rang in the Tiger bullpen in the top of the ninth inning in the New York Yankees game Monday night.

Price—hitless in nine previous tries as a pinch hitter this season—found out in a hurry as did the Yankees when he slammed a two run homer in the bottom of the inning to give Detroit a come from behind 6-5 decision.

* * *

Price's wallop off usually stingy relief pitcher Steve Hamilton climaxed a night in which all of Manager Smith's moves paid off.

It was a big contrast from Sunday when practically everything the Tiger manager did backfired as the Tigers dropped two games to Washington.

The Tiger bullpen, which had turned in some nightmarish performances of late, came through like a charm for Smith last night. He first called on Daryl Patterson to come on in relief of Tiger starter John Hiller in the New York seven, with one out, two men on base and the Yankees leading 5-3.

Patterson and Mike Kilkenny, who worked the ninth inning, held the Yankees scoreless the rest of the way until the Tigers could set the stage for Price's winning homer—his fourth of the year.

The chunky Price was the big story of the night, especially since he pinchhit for first baseman Norm Cash who had collected three hits himself.

"I figured that Hamilton had been making his living all these years off lefthanders and that's why I decided to give Price the call," said Smith in the jubilant Tiger dressing room.

* * *

As Price explained it, "I went up there intending to swing at the first good pitch for I knew Hammy was about as tough as any pitcher in the league and he had a good assortment of pitches."

* * *

The record book bore Price out, showing Hamilton, a six foot, seven inch lefthander had allowed only two runs in his last 21 innings of relief work up to last night's game.

DRAMATIC BLAST

The dramatic two run blast came with one out in the ninth after a three base throwing error by third baseman Bob Cox opened the door wide for Detroit, trailing 5-3 at that point.

Al Kaline, who had slammed out three singles, got the Tiger rally under way with one out when he drove one towards Cox. It looked like a routine play but Cox threw the ball 20 feet wide of first baseman Mike Pepitone's reach.

* * *

Congratulated later by teammates in the Tiger dressing room on his spectacular slide, Kaline grinned, "I really didn't slide. I was exhausted and just fell towards the third base bag."

The Yankees started with three runs in the opening inning, bunching four singles and a walk off Hiller, who never has lost to them in five decisions.

* * *

He did not get the win, though, as it went to Kilkenny.

BAD DREAMS AHEAD — Jerry Quarry falls back after a left from Joe Frazier and it wasn't long after that the heavyweight fight was stopped. Frazier was awarded a 7th round TKO to retain the title in Madison Square Garden.

Frazier Scores 7th Round TKO

NEW YORK (AP) — Minutes after Joe Frazier had destroyed game, half-blinded Jerry Quarry in seven rounds of an impressive title defense, the unbeaten Philadelphian and WBA champion Jimmy Ellis challenged each other in the Madison Square Garden ring.

It looked like a fight natural in the making for the disputed crown in September between Frazier, the six-state king of the heavyweights, and Ellis, the World Boxing Association's champion from Louisville, Ky.

But Ellis may take on former champion Sonny Liston first in Los Angeles, Houston, or Las Vegas in late July or early June.

Frazier and Ellis had their verbal battle shortly after the ring physician, Dr. Harry Kleiman, had come to Quarry's rescue and ordered the one-sided fight stopped after the seventh round. In New York it was listed as a seventh-round technical knockout.

Quarry, who had come tearing out in the first round like a hungry tiger after a lamb, was cut and puffed under the right eye in the third round. Unable to see from the eye, he absorbed a fearsome beating to the head and body from then on although he never was dropped.

"He is a helluva fighter," said Quarry, stopped for the first time in his career (31-3-4). "I couldn't see out of my right eye. I didn't want the fight to be stopped. I wanted to go out punching like a man."

"He was tough but I knew I would get him," said Frazier. "He came to fight."

Frazier's relentless, buzz-saw attack impressed most everyone in the crowd of 16,570 (gross gate $502,518) but it didn't scare Ellis.

Called into the ring for a television interview, he soon was engaged in a shouting battle with Frazier.

'He kept hollering I'm next and pointed his finger at me," said Ellis. "I told him I would beat him and shut his mouth. I want that man."

Frazier said he told Ellis "You're no champ. You won't fight anybody. A champ's got to fight everybody."

Yank Durham, Frazier's manager and trainer, told Ellis, "We're going to take a tune-up with you and then fight Cassius Clay if the government ever turns him loose. But right now Joe's going to rest. He's had four title defenses in a year."

Rosters Uncertain for All-America Football Contest

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The East picked up badly needed running strength and the West gained a receiver Monday but some top stars were still missing as rosters for Saturday's All-America football game continued to fluctuate.

Latest to join the East squad, coached by Joe Paterno of Penn State, is hard running Frank Quayle of Virginia, a 5-10, 195-pounder drafted fifth by Denver.

West Coach Pepper Rodgers of Kansas added Jim Lawrence of Southern Cal, a receiver who has been clocked at 9.4 seconds for 100 yards.

Game rosters have been juggled almost daily because of uncertainty over who will be available.

A number of top players, including Southern Cal's O. J. Simpson, will probably pass up the game because they haven't come to terms with professional teams.

Braves' Chairman Sees Possible Interleague Baseball Getting Close

ATLANTA (AP) — William Bartholomay, the Braves board chairman, made a plea for interleague play between the two major baseball leagues Monday while speaking out against realigning the two leagues into three.

Interleague play, Bartholomay said, "is a greater possibility than the three leagues. It would be much more in the realm of fan interest.

"People like Denny McLain, Carl Yastrzemski and Reggie Jackson would fill our parks, I believe," Bartholomay said.

"Interleague play is the next constructive step. All other sports have done it successfully, football, hockey . . . all of them."

Ex-Seaholm Star in Tigers' Chain

Mike Fremuth, a Birmingham Seaholm alumnus, left yesterday for the Rocky Mount, N.C. farm club of the Detroit Tigers after signing a reported $10,000 bonus contract with the baseball organization.

A Phi Beta Kappa scholar, the right-handed pitcher won seven straight games for Princeton this spring after two early losses. While at Seaholm, he was a 1966 all-County choice.

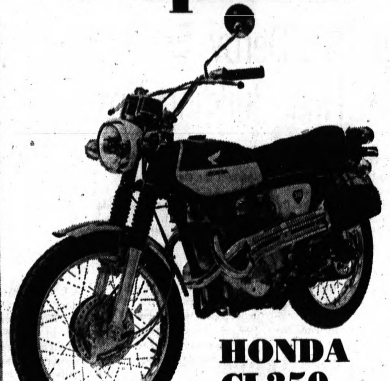

* * *

He led the Basin League last summer with a 1.17 ERA and was second in strikeouts.

Fremuth, 22, also has a Harvard law scholarship waiting for him.

F-Birds Begin Football Drills

Head coach Tom Tracy of the Pontiac Firebirds expects 40 veterans and 15 newcomers for the first football drills of the season commencing at 6:30 at Wisner Field today.

The Firebirds, who were hit hard and early with injuries last season, finished in a third place tie with Flint in the Midwest Football League.

The MFL this year is expected to be much stronger and has a playoff format set with two divisions after adding three new teams.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac will be in the Central division along with Flint, Lansing and Detroit. The Lakes division will be made up of Dayton, Grand Rapids, Lackawanna and Southwest Michigan, a team from the Benton Harbor-St. Joe area.

FLINT STRONG

Flint is expected to be the power in the Central division along with Pontiac. The Wildcats have Minnesota Viking defensive back Paul Krause as co-owner of the team.

Dayton, the 1968 MFL champion, again appears to be the power of the two divisions, while Lackawanna, a strong challenger from the Buffalo area, has most of its squad back from 1968.

Pontiac lost both games to Dayton and Lackawanna last year and one to Flint. The Firebirds won over the other teams in the league twice.

EX-BOILERMAKER

Offensively, the Firebirds will welcome the addition of quarterback Doug Holcomb, ex-Purdue signal caller who came onto the scene in the final games of the 1968 season when Pontiac quarterbacks were sidelined with injuries.

Veteran QB Bill Harrington will be back along with end Ron Bemis and flashy pass catcher Mickey Blazitz.

The regular season for the Firebirds opens August 2 at Wisner against Grand Rapids.

Two exhibition games are slated. July 19, the Firebirds will meet the Detroit Cowboys in a game played in conjunction with a state Eagles drum and bugle corp competition to be held in Pontiac that day.

Hoping to reach a goal of 1,000 season tickets, the Firebirds have placed adult and student season tickets on sale for $10 and $6.

Aug. 2 Grand Rapids
Aug. 16 Lansing
Aug. 23 Detroit
Sept. 13 Dayton
Sept. 27 Lackawanna
Oct. 18 Flint
Oct. 25 Southwest Mich.*

Surprises Mark Horse Show Opener

Hunter Class Events Tonight at Hunt Club

By JERE CRAIG

The biggest one was an upset of major proportions: Chris Hanson's domination of the Col. I. L. Kitts Memorial Trophy Class aboard Bonheur came to an abrupt end in last night's concluding Dotroit Horse Show Combination Test Dressage.

The Ontario equestrienne, who retired the first Col. Kitts trophy two years ago and won a fourth consecutive leg on it last June, suffered her first loss ever aboard Bonheur on the BOH grounds when they placed third last evening.

★ ★ ★

The show's pace picks up considerably today with the first equitation, hunter and jumper classes. The first events for which an admission is charged are tonight's hunter and jumper competition.

Tickets are scaled at $1, $2 and $3. Ample parking is available at the BOH, located on Long Lake Road about one-half mile east of Woodward.

INSTRUCTOR LOCALLY

Chuck Grant of Brighton, formerly a riding instructor in Union Lake, guided Bit O Shine to the blue ribbon and a first leg on the Kitts' trophy last night.

Natalie Pawlenko Lamping and Baccarat from Lake Forest, Ill., placed second. Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Lamping rode Casanova to first place, Grant and Bit O Shine were second and Miss Hanson took third aboard Bon Vivant in an Open Dressage event.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lamping and Anwalt won the blue ribbon, also, by edging Miss Hanson and Bon Chiron in an afternoon Open Dressage class.

Mrs. A. M. Duffield, Jr., and Count Allegro, of Rochester, were placed third. They also took a second behind Miss Hanson and Bon Chiron in the A.H.S.A. senior class dressage Monday morning.

ELEMENTARY EVENT

Miss Hanson's horse Pour de Bon, ridden by Cindy Neale, was another winner in the elementary dressage for junior riders. Sarah Zimmerman of Birmingham took third place with Kedves.

4 County Teens Mat Victors

WORLAND, Wyo. — Two Oakland County junior wrestlers scored victories in the first two rounds of the National Junior Freestyle championships held here yesterday.

Billy Davids, of Hazel Park, the National Open AAU runner-up and National AAU Greco-Roman champion in the 105-pound division, pinned Latsuhiko Hikisi of Honolulu in 5:23 in his second match.

Mrs. Lee Davids watched Monday as her son Billy took the mat in the opening rounds.

Mrs. Davids has seen her two older sons, Mark, 19, and Billy, 17, win 26 different state and national AAU wrestling championships and several Michigan state crowns.

SCRAPPY COMPETITOR

Billy, a scrappy 105-pounder, came from behind to win his first match over Frank Cuthbert of Compton, Calif., and is favored to win his weight division and gain a berth on the U.S. team which will compete in the junior world championships at Boulder, Colo., July 14-19.

HELPS COACH

Mrs. Davids said she has watched her sons wrestle several hundred matches already and is looking forward to years of nervousness. She has two younger boys who are just getting started in wrestling.

Seven-year-old Tom won the Hazel Park city championship at 45 pounds this year and John, 9, won the Michigan state AAU wrestling title in the 55-pound division.

Billy, who has one more year of high school competition, won the national AAU Greco-Roman championship and finished second in the national freestyle championships this spring. In those two meets he competed with several older youths and men. Mrs. Davids said Billy already has won 16 different AAU state and national wrestling crowns.

Mrs. Davids said in the several hundred times her sons have wrestled "I've missed seeing them only once."

WRESTLING CLUB

Davids, who operates a gun shop in Hazel Park, is the godfather of an informal Michigan wrestling club called the Rhinos. The Rhinos are prominent in the tournament here — all decked out in bright red and white warmup jackets with two cheer leaders.

Mrs. Davids explained that schools in Hazel Park and nearby Berkley locked up their wrestling uniforms after the high school season several days ago and the boys didn't have any equipment.

"They had to go to the AAU tournament in cutoff jeans and they looked terrible," she said. They wanted some identity so they organized this little club. One of the kids at Berkley was doing everything wrong and they called him "rhino." That's how they picked the name. It started out as a joke club but now it has a lot of prestige in Michigan wrestling.

The Michigan delegation, second only to California in he number of participants at the meet, was cut by one-third when 8 of the 24 wrestlers were eliminated on quality points.

Among the casualties was Berkley's 191-pounder Gary Twomey who was decisioned and then pinned. Two boys from Lansing, two from Temperance, one from Bay City, one from South Haven and another from Charlotte also were ousted.

The survivors included, too, Bernie Gonzales of Madison Heights who split two decisions at 123 pounds; Doug Willer of Berkley who won twice at 132; and the county's outstanding prep matmen last winter, Roger Duty of Royal Oak who won a decision and a fall.

The third, fourth and fifth rounds of the freestyle are in progress today at Dworland High School. The finals will be tomorrow night.

Women's Golf Starts Today

SPRING LAKE (AP) — Four former titlists, including the defending champion, will compete for the championship of the 50th Spring Lake Women's Open Golf Tournament which beings today.

Janet Elias of Grand Rapids and Mrs. William Boice of Saginaw, a three-time winner here, tied for medalist honors in Monday's qualifying round with 79s.

Threatening skies and a morning drizzle kept scores high Monday for the 80 women trying to qualify. In fact, the comedalists managed just one birdie between them.

GOOD START — Favored Billy Davids of Hazel Park, a two-time All-County choice and state champion at 103 pounds, pinned his Hawaiian rival yesterday while advancing in the national junior freestyle wrestling championships in Wyoming.

The Jets nipped the Eagles in the opener, 5-3, with a two-run homer in the fifth inning.

★ ★ ★

In the nightcap the Eagles sent 14 batters to the plate in the third in routing two Jet pitchers for 10 hits and 10 runs in a 14-4 win.

Alonzo Bobo and Tom Gray hit two-run homers while Terry Rush collected four hits for the Eagles.

2 Teams Routed in Fastpitch Play

A five-run inning set up a 10-2 victory for Tru-Bilt Readi-Mix over Timberlanes Lounge last night in the Waterford Men's Fastpitch Softball league.

Spencer Floors downed Lighthouse Lanes, 14-1, as Spencer's scored six runs in the first inning and ended the game in five innings. Lee Curly was the winning pitcher, with Charles Graves, Fred Milliron and Jerry Carlton each having two hits.

Three Sports Share 'Medal' in Golf Event

Pro football, baseball and hockey shared the limelight on the golf course yesterday at Baypointe Country club, the site of the annual Celebrity Day tournament of the Michigan Cancer Society.

Dick LeBeau of the Detroit Lions, Gordie Howe of the Red Wings and Hal Newhouser, former all-time southpaw great of the Tigers shared medal honors.

Each fired 3-over par 74 in the second annual event.

Howe was also the winner of the hole-in-one competition, getting closes to the cup on the third hole, just 37 inches away.

Milford 9 Handed 1st Slowpitch Loss

The Milford Merchants suffered their first defeat Monday night, dropping a nine-inning 12-9 verdict to Jones Transit in a Milford Slowpitch Softball game.

The merchants now are 7-1 while Jones moved within one game of the leaders at 6-2. Aluma Vue (6-3) stayed close with a 15-10 conquest of Kar Wash (2-7).

Daily Realty (8-2) now is only percentage points off the lead after its 15-8 victory over C. & L. Construction (5-4). Jim Reed's inside-the-park homer drove in three runs in Reed's Roofing's 16-4 rout of Pure Oil. Reed's is 4-5 and Pure Oil 1-8.

Golfer Depends Upon Accuracy

Martin Elsner doesn't claim to hit the ball very far, but he hits them straight.

Elsner needed a 3-wood on the 165-yard 17th hole at Pontiac Country Club yesterday to score an ace. The 57-year-old golfer from Oak Park had an 88 for the round.

'BILLY G' THE PAINTER — Billy Golembiewski (right), a leading professional bowler for many years, finds himself making his marks with a paint brush these days as he takes over management of Maple Lanes from owner Ben Bundo on a one-year lease. "Billy G" is undertaking a major dress-up project at the Walled Lake establishment. Although regarded more for his pinspilling than his management background, Golembiewski has already indicated a desire to purchase the establishment and is moving his family to Walled Lake in the near future.

'Billy G' to Direct Lanes After 16 Years as Pro

Billy Golembiewski, who has been an instructor and put on exhibitions of bowling skills at Pontiac area establishments for many years, is joining the North Oakland County keg scene on a more active basis.

The well-known "Billy G" has signed, a one-year lease to operate Maple Lanes in Walled Lake. The slender pro is going into the business end of the sport after a 16-year break.

In the early 1950's he managed 20th Century Recreation in Grand Rapids. Since 1953 he has concentrated on the classic leagues, professional competition and other tournaments.

MANY CHANGES

The business end of bowling has changed greatly since his first exposure to it.

"We had pinboys then and now we have the automatics. Is that a relief!" Billy observes. "There were some days you had to go downtown and round up some boys to work. You had to have help to open up in those days."

★ ★ ★

Bowling's appearance has changed, too. Beautiful, spacious layouts with a diversity of services are the rule.

CLEANLINESS

"I don't think it's as much the scores that matter as the cleanliness of your establishment now," he notes.

With that in mind a paint-fix-up campaign has been launched by Golembiewski and owner Ben Bundo, who is going to devote his energies to the Camelot Lounge and Restaurant that are part of the Maple Lanes layout.

★ ★ ★

As far as bowling itself, the new manager has three summer leagues going — including a high-scoring trios circuit that has several top local bowlers in it — and will start Saturday and Sunday Moonlight Doubles action next month.

Mrs. Marquardt to Defend Crown

Berkley Teen Seeks WDGA Title

A Berkley teen-ager looms as a threat to the veterans in the 40th Women's District Golf Association medal play championship which opened this morning at Country Club of Detroit.

Bonnie Lauer, 18, a member of Edgewood Country Club, has emerged as one of the WDGA's top players in the group's weekly events and she figures to give the older gals a run for the top spot in the 54-hole event.

Eighteen holes were on tap today, 18 set for tomorrow with the 18-hole windup slated for Thursday.

★ ★ ★

CHAMPS ENTERED

Two other ex-champions are in the starting lineup.

Five-time winner Mrs. Keith LeClair of Barton Hills is playing well and joins Miss Lauer in the favorite's circle.

The other ex-titlist in the field is Mrs. John Hume of Birmingham. Mrs. Hume has won the title twice.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. LeClair holds the record for the 54-hole route — a 232 — which she carded in 1955 at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Rain, Gloom Shroud Start at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Rain washed out the first day at the Wimbledon lawn tennis championships Monday and referee Mike Gibson said: "Somehow that's how it should be. Two of our favorites—'Little Mo' Connolly and Rafael Osuna of Mexico no longer are with us."

Gibson added: "It is the first time since the championships moved to Wimbledon in 1922 that we have had a black opening day because of the weather."

The gray day and the relentless rain were like a mourning shroud for the deaths of two of Wimbledon's great favorites.

Osuna, twice winner of the men's doubles at Wimbledon and always a challenger for the men's singles, was killed in an air crash early this month.

500 Oakland County High School Graduates Chose

MICHIGAN CHRISTIAN COLLEGE

The number of high school graduates from Oakland County who attend Michigan Christian College is increasing every year. Most of these have been students who live at home and commute to the campus. Some, however, have found it just as economical to live in one of the College residence halls and get all the action of college life.

The moral standard of student life and behavior is relatively high on the MCC campus. The Student Body Council with the assistance of other student organizations are largely responsible for this.

Personal concern for the student at MCC provides an atmosphere which guarantees the right of each student to pursue his studies without fear of riot or senseless disturbance. At Michigan Christian College, each student is known by his name, not by his number.

ACCREDITATION

Area Golfer Has Good Start in First Trip to State Amateur

250 Tee Off Wednesday in NCAA Golf Meet

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Come Saturday, after 72 holes across the challenging battle ground of the Broadmoor course, a new collegiate golf champion will be crowned.

The championship is open to all as last year's winner, Grier Jones of Oklahoma State, now is a golf professional. Whoever the new title winner is, he will be the 5,000th champion recognized by the NCAA, counting all college athletics.

★ ★ ★

The first was J. S. Clark of Harvard, who won the college tennis title in 1883. This was 23 years before the NCAA was founded, but the association had included tennis and golf winners of early years in its listings.

The scramble of more than 250 collegians over the mountain-edged course that measures 6,946 yards with par of 35-35—70 begins at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday.

After the second round Thursday, the field will be pared to the low 60 players and ties and the low 15 teams and ties, for the final 36 holes Friday and Saturday.

Meadowbrook Jr. Wins District Event

Sidley, 17, fired a 9-36 to win the weekly event at Meadowbrook. He edged Bob Champman also of Meadowbrook who had 37-39—76.

Pete Jackson Wins Best Ball

State Amateur Event Starts Wednesday

Special To The Pontiac Press

CHARLEVOIX — Just a few weeks ago, Pete Jackson decided he would compete in the Michigan Amateur championship for the first time.

The Oakland Hills Country Club golfer, who played at Birmingham Seaholm and college golf in Florida, has been one of the top players on the local Inviational scene, but never had the time to try for the state amateur.

He and McMasters fired 67-69—136 to edge out defending champs Bud and Don Stevens by one stroke. The Stevens' brothers had 67-70—167.

First round leaders Tom Balliet and son Gary of Pontiac finished third among the 50 competing teams with 66-73—139.

PAST CHAMPS

Six former champions will be in the field including Bill Newcomb of Ann Arbor (1967) Tom Drape of Red Run (1949), Ed Flowers of Farmington (1938) Don Stevens of Plum Hollow (1960) Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile (five time winner) and Bud Stevens of Western (3 times winner).

Draper is in a foursome with Pete Green of Orchard Lake, Bill Stephenson of Birmingham and Randy Erskine of Battle Creek, going out at 2:00 p.m.

After two days of qualifying, the final 64 will go into match play with the championship round slated for Sunday.

Heavy rains yesterday waterlogged several holes yesterday and many of the traps were ankle deep.

Penny Squad Jars Mug '9' for League Lead

The Penny Electrics singed Copper Mug with a three-run circuit clout by "Smokey" Payton in the second inning last night and the tavern team never recovered from the shock in the Walled Lake Industrial Slowpitch League's featured contest.

The victory 4-0 boosted Penny into first place in the "B" Division, its 8-2 mark one-half game better than idle Liberty Tools 7-2.

Lawson Manufacturing also was a winner via the shutout route. It downed Haggerty Lumber, 14-0, as Gino Sitkowski stroked four hits in four at bats.

Carpentry Engineering squared its mark at 4-4 with a 7-4 decision over Walled Lake Building Maintenance (3-6). Gary Wilkoff cracked four hits and Ken Bowers had three, with Wilkoff drilling a two-run homer among his safeties and Len Lamb hitting a solo shot.

Return of 'Hawk' Ruined

Red Sox Rue Rain

By the Associated Press

The stage was set for the Hawk's triumphant return, but the weatherman refused to cooperate.

Ken Harrelson and his legion of Boston fans had been waiting for weeks for the big occasion Monday night—his first game in Fenway Park since the trade which sent him to the Cleveland Indians back in April.

The teams have met since then in Cleveland, but this was to be the Hawk's return to the city which he had captivated for a season and a half with his slugging on the field and his mod dress and swinging ways off it.

Tickets had been at a premium for weeks, and a big crowd was assured for the occasion But an afternoon-long rain showed no signs of letting up, and the game was postponed about 1½ hours before the scheduled starting time.

WASHOUTS

Rain also washed out the Chicago - Seattle game on the West Coast, leaving Baltimore to trim Washington 5-3, Detroit to clip the New York Yankees 6-5 and California to top Minnesota 5-2.

The rained out game will be played as part of a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday, while the return of the Hawk was set for this afternoon—weather permitting—in a game which was rescheduled as part of a day-night doubleheader to make up for an earlier postponement.

Baltimore used the home run to beat Washington and Darold Knowles.

Frank Robinson broke a 2-2 tie with his 15th homer in the eighth inning, and Dave Johnson hit a two-run shot later in the inning.

Knowles, who hadn't allowed an earned run since returning from military service last month, gave up all five Oriole runs.

Sandy Alomar started the Angels on their way to a 14-hit barrage against Minnesota, socking an inside-the-park home run leading off the first inning. Alomar also singled home a run in the second.

Military Vies With Celtics to Draft White

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — National Selective Service headquarters will have to rule on whether Jo White, the Boston Celtics' No. 1 National Basketball Association draft choice, is inducted into the Armed Services or is permitted to complete six months of active service with the Connecticut Marine Reserve.

The former University of Kansas basketball star's case came to official attention when a member of his St. Louis draft board, Max Ziden, complained that White was getting special treatment.

★ ★ ★

Ziden said the negotiations involved U.S. Sens. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Thomas Eagleston, D-Mo.

State Selective Service officials said Monday they had decided after consultation to send the problem to Washington for a decision.

Cubs Retain Division Lead

Wills, Mota Spark Dodgers to 5-3 Triumph

By the Associated Press

Maury Wills is the quarterback who makes the Los Angeles Dodgers go-go-go . . . but Manny Mota is the No. 1 ground-gainer in their rebuilt attack.

Mota, acquired with Wills from Montreal two weeks ago, drove in three runs Monday night with a single and his first 1969 homer, leading the Dodgers past Atlanta 5-3 for their seventh straight victory.

★ ★ ★

Wills contributed a single and triple as the Dodgers pushed their National League West Division lead to 1½ games over the second place Braves. With the two veterans batting 1-2 in the line-up, they have won nine of 13 starts in their charge to first place.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs struck for two runs in the ninth inning and edged Pittsburgh 5-4 for a five-game East Division lead over idle New York; Cincinnati blanked staggering San Diego 5-0 on Jim Merritt's two-hitter and Houston ran its winning streak to seven with a 9-3 victory over San Francisco. St. Louis and Montreal were rained out in the only other game on the NL schedule.

"The first time Maury Wills walked into our dressing room there was a different air in the clubhouse," pitcher Don Sutton said after beating the Braves for an 11-5 season record with relief help from Jim Brewer.

★ ★ ★

"We knew we had somebody to take charge . . . to bust his tail for us.

"He's the quarterback, and I'm glad to see him come back."

★ ★ ★

Wills, the 36-year-old shortstop who stole 104 bases for the Dodgers seven years ago and led them to three pennants before being dealt to Pittsburgh in 1967, has batted .380 since rejoining his old mates on June 11. He has hit safely in each of the last 10 games.

BOOSTS AVERAGE

Mota, a 31-year-old outfielder who accompanied Wills from Pittsburgh to Montreal in the expansion draft, has been even hotter at the plate since becoming a Dodger. He has hit at a .425 clip, boosting his season average to .353, and has failed to connect in only one of 12 starts with Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

The Braves tied Monday night's game 2-2 in the sixth on Rico Carty's homer after Mota sent the Dogers ahead with a two-run blast off George Stone in the third.

Stone balked home the go-ahead run in the seventh and the Dodgers added two more in the ninth on Wills' triple, Mota's single, a sacrifice bunt and catcher Bob Tillman's two-base throwing error.

★ ★ ★

Trailing 4-3 in the ninth, the Cubs swept past Pittsburgh on a pinch single by Bill Heath, a bunt single by Don Kessinger, Billy Williams' run-scoring single and Ron Santo's sacrifice fly.

Run-producing singles by Fred Patek and Bill Mazeroski in the sixth had given the Pirates the lead.

Merritt retired the first 16 hitters he faced, gave up a sixth inning single by Clarence Gaston and then nailed 10 more in order before John Sipin singled with two out in the ninth as the Reds handed the Padres their ninth consecutive setback—and third straight shutout.

Tony Perez' three-run homer off Gary Ross, 1-7, helped Merritt breeze to his seventh victory in 10 decisions.

Denis Menke delivered three runs with a double and single and pinch hitter Gary Geiger drilled a bases-loaded triple for three more as the Astros swamped the Giants behind Don Wilson's six-hit pitching.

Dick Dietz sent San Francisco ahead 2-0 with a second-inning homer, but the Astros shot in front to stay in the third when Menke doubled in two runs and scored from second on Marty Martinez' infield hit.

Convoy Reaches Besieged GIs in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — An allied convoy has pushed through to the besieged Ben Het Special Forces camp in the central highlands after several prior attempts were thwarted by North Vietnamese forces, the U.S. Command said today.

A brief announcement only said the convoy reached the camp 280 miles northeast of Saigon on Monday. There were no details.

* * *

The announcement came after Ben Het was hit by a 100-round artillery barrage, one of the heaviest since the camp came under enemy siege two months ago. There was no immediate report of casualties among the camp's South Vietnamese civilian irregulars and their small team of U.S. Green Beret advisers.

Earlier this week military spokesmen said the camp was surrounded and cut off by a North Vietnamese regiment of up to 2,000 men and under daily bombardment from heavy artillery in Laos, Cambodia and the six-mile stretch between Ben Het and the border.

COPTERS ONLY LINK

Because of the bombardment, only medical evacuation helicopters have risked landing at the camp. Supplies are being dropped by Air Force cargo planes.

Spokesmen said B52 bombers have flown more than 300 sorties—one flight by one plane—since May 1 to ease the pressure on Ben Het and the district town of Dak To to the east.

* * *

The Stratofortresses launched two more strikes on the North Vietnamese troops and gun positions today, dropping 360 tons of explosives 2½ miles from the camp, spokesmen said.

But on Monday military spokesmen had conceded the air strikes are not too effective against the artillery because the Russian-made 85mm guns are emplaced in mountain caves and protected by steel doors when not in use.

GRENADE ATTACK

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese troops firing rocket-propelled grenades attacked U.S. Marines of the 9th Regiment this morning just south of the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base near the Laotian border. The 9th Regiment will be one of the first units withdrawn from Vietnam under President Nixon's announced 25,000-man cutback.

Field reports said the Marines repulsed the attack and killed 29 North Vietnamese. Two Marines were killed and 13 wounded. A spokesman said the Marines were "well dug in."

* * *

The attack began at 1:25 a.m. when the North Vietnamese slammed 50 to 60 rocket-propelled grenades into the camp, then charged, firing machine guns and rifles.

The spokesman said none broke through the Marine defenses. They were repulsed with the help of artillery and an Air Force gunship spewing 16,000 rounds of fire a minute.

The U.S. Command has announced the 8,000-man regiment —the first American combat unit to enter the Vietnam war in 1965—will be redeployed to Okinawa by the end of August.

White Vigilante Unit in Cairo, Ill., Disbands

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — The head of the White Hats, an organization formed by white citizens to protect their homes after a series of fire-bombings two years ago, says he has disbanded the controversial group.

Tony Levill, chairman of the group—officially known as the Committee of 10 Million—made the announcement Monday after Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott said State's Atty. Payton Berbling of Alexander County had agreed the White Hats should cease operations.

Fire-bombings and sniper fire have plagued Cairo from time to time for several months. State police have been assigned to patrol the Mississippi River community at the southern tip of Illinois.

The White Hats have caused widespread controversy among Cairo's 8,000 residents, about 40 per cent of them Negroes.

"I am convinced that these local law enforcement agencies have sufficient reinforcements from the Illinois state police, the attorney general's office and other government agencies, and I cannot in the foreseeable future visualize any need for the Cairo Chapter of the Committee of 10 Million," Levill said.

* * *

Scott, in calling for disbanding of the White Hats, said he had six representatives investigating disorders in Cairo.

"We're determined," Scott said, "that the defense of the civil rights of all groups—black and white—should be carried out by the law enforcement agencies and not vigilante groups."

Cairo remains under a nightly 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew imposed June 16 after new disorders erupted. Seventy state policemen ordered into the city by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie patrol the streets.

Relative calm has prevailed since the troopers arrived Thursday.

Beebe, Others Hit for Boycott 'Smear'

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan backers of the California grape boycott charged today that opponents of the boycott, particularly a woman state senator, were indulging in a smear campaign.

Hijinio Rangel, director of the Michigan Grape Boycott Committee, said in a prepared statement that State Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, and grape growers have been "neglecting to tell the American people that the success of the boycott has depended on the moral and financial help" of respected unions and politicians.

* * *

Mrs. Beebe, chairman of the National Consumers Rights Committee, has termed the boycott "horrible and illegal" in news conferences around the stae.

Train Backs Into Another; 75 Are Hurt

NEW YORK (AP) — A Long Island Rail Road train entered Pennsylvania Station on a wrong track Monday, then backed into another train, hospitalizing five passengers and injuring 70 others, a railroad spokesman said.

Service into and out of the busy Manhattan terminal was paralyzed for hours, stranding thousands of homeward-bound commuters.

* * *

In an unrelated incident in Queens, a short-circuit fire halted another LIRR train. Some passengers panicked and jumped to the tracks. Six were injured.

The Penn Station collision involved incoming trains from Hempstead and Babylon.

MISS BAIN

Barbara Bain, blonde heroine of "Mission: Impossible," has been sued by Paramount Television for breach of contract.

In a petition filed yesterday, the company asked $12,000 damages for each show Miss Bain misses in 1969 plus $11,500 for each show she may miss next year. It also asked an injunction to prevent her from working for any other studio.

Miss Bain said last month she would decline to work on the series unless her husband and costar, Martin Landau, reached agreement on a new contract. No agreement has been reached.

A Look at TV

Kids 'See It'---It's Superb

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Some months ago, NBC's Children's Theater staff gave home movie cameras to boys and girls from a variety of economic and ethnic groups all over the country. They told the children to film the things the youngsters thought were important.

MISS LOWRY

The best of the resulting footage was shown on last night's special, "As I See It." It was a superb, unusual hour of television. Through children's eyes, the world looked like a lovely place.

★ ★ ★

The youngsters focused their cameras on animals, of course: dogs, cats, horses, rabbits, birds, even a pet turtle; and games: hopscotch, basketball, skipping rope. They liked clouds and beaches and picnics as well as houses, mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers often seen from strange angles and sometimes indicated only by hands or feet.

Sometimes the cameraman moved pretty fast in panning a view that became a blur. Sometimes the focus was really strange — upside down in one case. But the impression was there and it was a child's world —big, happy, and sometimes mysterious or humorous.

Bill Cosby, who has a gentle, eye-to-eye way with children, was the ideal choice to handle the program and drew out even the shy ones as they explained their film adventures.

Christopher, an imaginative one, explained that his film showed an island to which he was going in his rocket ship. Why was he leaving, asked Cosby. Christopher, about 7, shook his head and replied wearily, "I want to get away from all these taxes."

★ ★ ★

Keith, who is 8, crammed a complete surrealistic drama in his short film. It showed a group of frightened children being pursued by a huge replica of a human eye on the end of a stalk. Then the eye and the children were happily gathered together around a table.

"It means that things look mean and they scare you," Keith told Cosby. "But they aren't really mean."

EFFECTIVE PREACHMENT

In midprogram, a short segment not filmed by children showed them at play, imitating their elders. There were children playing house, little girls caring tenderly for their dolls, tiny ones playing war games with toy guns and children pretending to smoke. It was an effective preachment that used or needed no words to make the point.

Judy's Death by Pills? Story Called Rubbish

LONDON (AP) — Reports speculating that Judy Garland may have died from an overdose of sleeping pills are "pure rubbish," a Scotland Yard spokesman says. A coroner has ordered an inquest Wednesday into the death of the 47-year-old star.

Police said Monday there were a number of pills in the singer's home when Miss Garland was found dead in her bathroom Sunday. The pills were nowhere near the body but have been taken to Scotland Yard for examination, officers said.

"As of this moment nobody in the Yard knows what she died from, nor will we until we know the results of the autopsy," a police spokesman said.

ORGANS EXAMINED

Doctors said following the autopsy they were taking some of Miss Garland's organs to a Scotland Yard laboratory for further examination. The organs were not identified.

She had cirrhosis of the liver and had been told by a London surgeon that she was "living on borrowed time."

★ ★ ★

The physician, Dr. Phillip Lebon, said he and another doctor had examined Miss Garland eight years ago and estimated then she had no more than five years to live.

Lebon said he had "read the riot act" to Miss Garland and had warned her not to drink. She was known as a heavy drinker and for years had consumed many kinds of pills.

FUNERAL LIKELY FRIDAY

One of Miss Garland's representatives said the funeral probably would be held Friday in New York "if all the formalities are completed in time."

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the singer's husband, Mickey Deans, would fly to New York with the body. Her three children, entertainer Liza Minelli and teen-agers Lorna and Joey Luft, are in the United States.

MSU Group to Tour, Stress College Good

EAST LANSING (AP) — A group of 25 Michigan State University students, plus their faculty adviser, plan a 10,000-mile cross country tour to emphasize the constructive aspects of college life.

They plan to tell people in small towns and cities across America that reports of agitators and demonstrations actually represent only a small fraction of campus activities.

The students will talk about the 9,600 volunteers for many causes on the university campus, about classroom and dormitory life and the normal run of student activity.

The 10-week trip, to start July 1, has been dubbed "Dialogue '69". The students and Dr. Clyde Morris, an instructor in communication, will tour the country in five station wagons.

PRAISES TRIP

"This project symbolizes what the university community at large can do to solve campus problems nationally," said Dr. Walter Adams, MSU acting president, in praise of the trip.

The first stop will be at Hannibal, Mo., on July 2. The students and their adviser will speak at clubs and churches and before any group interested in college life as the group sees it today.

Morris said he will go armed with facts from a study on the attitudes of college students.

"The study showed two-thirds of the seniors and freshmen see eye to eye with their parents on most things," Morris said. "There's your generation gap, shot to pieces.

"Most seniors and freshmen found business, higher education, the political system and the courts of justice basically sound," he added. "In fact, alumni were more critical of these institutions than college students."

The students plan to stay with local families and work on farming or cleanup projects. Among the jobs lined up are wheat harvesting in Elkhart, Kan., work in a canning factory at Junction City, Ore., and produce picking in California.

The group plans 18 stops on the cross country tour.

They include:

Hannibal, Mo., July 3-5; Neodesha, Kan., July 10-12; Elkhart, Kan., July 13-14; Colorado Springs, Colo., July 15-17; Gunnison, Colo., July 18-20; Orange County, Calif., July 27-28;

Oxnard, Calif., Aug. 1-2; San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 5; Eugene, Ore., Aug. 10; Junction City, Ore., Aug. 11-12; Klamath Falls, Ore., Aug. 13; Caldwell, Idaho, Aug. 17-19;

Homedale, Idaho, Aug. 20-22; American Falls, Idaho, Aug. 23-24; Yellowstone National Park, Wyom., Aug. 25-29; Marcus, S.D Aug. 30; Rochester, Minn., Sept. 2; La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 3.

Chile to Get Control of Anaconda Mine

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) —The Chilean government and Anaconda have tentatively agreed to "Chilеanize" Anaconda's Chuquicamata copper mine, trade sources said today. They said the move falls short of outright nationalization.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The "Chileanization" plan calls for mixed partnership of the government and the big copper companies to give the government control over the industry, but avoid outright nationalization.

'Pot' Charge Dropped for Rev. Franklin

DETROIT (AP) — Possession of marijuana charges against the Rev. C. L. Franklin were dismissed Monday by 34th District Judge James Stone for lack of evidence.

Franklin was arrested on the possession charge May 24 when police said they found marijuana in a suitcase which had arrived in Detroit on a flight from Dallas. Franklin had returned from Dallas the previous day.

★ ★ ★

When the suitcase went unclaimed, American Airlines officials opened it to try to identify the owner. They said they called police when they discovered what they thought was marijuana.

Franklin was arrested at his home that afternoon after police followed his chauffeur there when he returned after picking up the luggage.

CHURCH PASTOR

Franklin is pastor of Detroit's New Bethel Church and father of singer Aretha Franklin.

Judge Stone ruled that the prosecution failed to give sufficient evidence to show Franklin knew there was marijuana in his suitcase.

★ ★ ★

"They did not establish to my satisfaction that the defendant had any knowledge that the marijuana was in the luggage," Stone said.

He noted there was a break in possession of the luggage for "at least 24 to 30 hours when anyone could have handled the luggage."

'NOT SATISFIED'

"I am just not satisfied that they know who put the marijuana there," he said.

He said there were anywhere from 50 to 60 people who had contact with the luggage.

Senate Continues Focus on SDS, Black Panthers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators called for more police testimony on the Black Panthers party and the Students for a Democratic Society as hearings resumed today into urban and campus violence.

★ ★ ★

The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, reopening its violence hearings after a three-day break, summoned police from San Francisco and Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

In sessions last week the subcommittee displayed two huge charts of the SDS and Black Panther leadership.

Gun Deaths Up Over '68 Week

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were 206 gunshot deaths in the United States during the week of June 15 to June 22, including 131 homicides, 59 suicides, and 16 accidental deaths, an Associated Press survey shows.

This represents an increase of seven deaths over the number counted during the same period in 1968, before a limited federal gun control law went into effect.

In 1968, the one-week survey counted 199 gunshot deaths, of which 115 were homicides, 65 suicides, and 19 accidents.

The gun control law, signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson on Oct. 22, 1968, limits the interstate mail order sale of firearms and ammunition. It also bans the over-the-counter sale of weapons to nonresidents of a state.

LEADING CAUSES

Family fights, lovers' quarrels and barroom brawls led to many of the shootings in last week's survey.

A former mental patient in St. Louis was shot to death by his father, who said the boy tried to set the family car on fire.

★ ★ ★

A merchant in Chicago was found shot to death on the floor of his walk-in fruit cooler, the apparent victom of a robbery.

Illinois had the most homicides, 12. California had 90 gunshot deaths, more than any other state.

Founder of 'Death Valley Days' Unforgettable

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Most of the recent attention given to television's "Death Valley Days" has centered on its successive hosts — Ronald Reagan, the late Robert Taylor and, now, Dale Robertson. But the syndicated series is a gold mine of broadcasting lore and colorful Western stories.

DU BROW

Perhaps the most amazing single fact about the show is that it soon will mark its 40th year — repeat, 40th year — on the air, first in radio, then television. No other broadcast Western, not even "Gunsmoke," comes even close.

I doubt, though, that anything or anyone connected with "Death Valley Days" has been as colorful as the lady who created it—Ruth Woodman, a petite, New York-born graduate of Vassar and descendant of Massachusetts Gov. John Winthrop. I have never met a more charming or unforgettable lady.

It was almost impossible to believe she had gambled with prospectors, "packed in" on horseback and visited rough saloons in her search for material. But she had, indeed, done all these things and more.

RECALLS HIGHLIGHTS

The show was created in 1930, and Mrs. Woodman recalled the highlight of her first trip West: "My boss thought that maybe I needed a chaperon, so my guide was a man named Wash Cahill, a railroad superintendent. My mother had come along too, and she was a very proper New England lady.

"Well, we were riding along in a car one day when along came a car from the opposite direction. When it got close enough, everyone recognized it as the car of Death Valley Scottie. He was a real character. A machine gun was mounted on the front of the car. He wore his usual red tie and white 10-gallon hat. He came over to us with a bottle of whisky, looked at my mother and said, 'Well, mother, you're the oldest. You have the first hoist.'

NO CHASER

"Mother said 'Thank you, Mr. Scott.' and took a slug. She never would have called him Scottie. Then he asked her, 'How about a chaser?' Mother never heard of a chaser, so she said, "No, thank you, Mr. Scott,' and handed the bottle back. Well, Scottie came over to her, slapped her on the back and said, "Mother, you're all right."

★ ★ ★

It is very possible that the greatest "Death Valley Days" story of them all has been that of Ruth Woodman, ex-Vassar.

Junior Editors Quiz on TASMANIAN DEVIL

QUESTION: What kind of devil is a Tasmanian devil?

ANSWER: A Tasmanian devil may sound frightening, but it has nothing to do with the grotesque dance mask in upper left. The mask is only put there to show what one might imagine such a devil would look like if one didn't know the facts.

The Tasmanian devil is not an imaginary thing, but an actual one. It is one of the marsupials, unusual animals with pouches, inside of which their babies are raised until they are able to get out and live by themselves.

Most marsupials are found in Australia and Tasmania.

Unlike many other marsupials, such as the kangaroos, which eat grasses, Tasmanian devils are carnivorous. They live by hunting and killing other animals and are ferocious and savage by nature.

But the particular reason for the devil part of the name is that this smallish animal, about the size of a badger, has a fondness for killing chickens and sheep. Sheep raising is important in Tasmania, so this animal is an enemy of the farmers. It is no wonder that they call him a devil.

BARNYARD CAPISTRANO — Clustered under eaves, jug-shaped nests of swallows are built on the side of a barn at Harvey Bodeman's farm near Deerfield, Wis. Every spring for nearly 70 years, thousands of cliff swallows have come back from the south to take up residence there. Bodeman, like his father before him, has encouraged the birds to make his farm their summer home. He leaves one wall of the barn unpainted so the mud nests will adhere. In dry weather, he turns a hose on a patch of ground so the birds will have building material. And, because the swallows prefer fresh nests, he knocks down the old ones each fall so the barn will be clear for building the next spring.

McDonald Speaks Out

'70 Census Criticized

Congressman Jack McDonald, R-19th District, has criticized the 1970 census which requires mandatory answers under a threat of criminal prosecution to questions on living conditions.

McDonald, sponsor of a bill that would sharply curtail census questions requiring mandatory answers, warns that many Americans may refuse to answer the questions "and challenge the government to prosecute them."

★ ★ ★

He said that "to make criminals out of a large number of otherwise law-abiding citizens seems to be misguided and unwarranted.

90 PCT. SUPPORT

He pointed out that over 90 per cent of his constituents answering his annual questionnaire supported his census bill. He said he has received more mail on this subject since January than on any other issue.

McDonald said that 60 per cent of the 1970 census questionnaires will be distributed on a mail-out, mail-back basis and that long forms involving from 66 to 89 questions will be asked of 20 per cent of the population.

He said he has "serious reservations about the constitutionality of exposing only one-fifth of the population to the possibility of prosecution for noncompliance in answering the longer forms.

"A good way to reduce this resentment and to promote an atmosphere of courtesy to encourage the needed cooperation would be to eliminate the mandatory nature for all but . . . seven basic categories . . ."

PEOPLE COOPERATE

These categories, listed in his bill, are names and addresses, relationship to head of household, sex, date of birth, race or color, marital status and visitors in home at time of census.

He said he felt that "In general, people are most cooperative in responding without reference to the possibility of criminal punishment for noncompliance."

"I am also aware that the Census Bureau and many state agencies carry out various surveys on a voluntary basis with minimal difficulty," McDonald said in suggesting a voluntary approach.

Newsboy of 1907 Remembers Debt, Repays 25 Cents

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Back in 1907, Richey J. Sunners of Owensville, Ind., used to sell 20 copies of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat a day.

The newspaper erred one day and sent the 13-year-old newsboy 25 copies. Sunners sold the extra copies and never was billed for them.

Last week, Sunners—now 75 and living in Louisville, Ky.—wrote the Globe-Democrat explaining the situation and enclosing 25 cents in payment.

"The records will show that I owe it—it's coming to you," he explained.

★ ★ ★

Sunners said Monday he never forgot he owed the money. He said he "got to thinking about it again" and decided to settle up.

Bishop Refuses to Meet Blacks Despite Sit-In

DETROIT (AP) — The head of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan has remained firm in his decision not to meet officially with representatives of the National Black Economic Development Conference (NBEDC) despite a sit-in in his office by eight women.

The women, who are white and Episcopalians, said they will remain in the office of the Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich until the church agrees to "honest" communications with the NBEDC.

The women have the support of 25 Episcopal ministers.

The NBEDC is the group which has been demanding that white churches and synagogues pay $500 million in reparations to Negroes. The group demanded $100,000 from Christ Church Cranbrook and was refused.

NBEDC spokesmen have since asked to attend the diocesan executive council meeting, which Bishop Emrich refused because it would "break precedent."

One of the women said she thought the NBEDC demands were "just" and said she thought they posed an "exciting" challenge for the church.

★ ★ ★

The women appeared in Emrich's office about 9:30 a.m. with sleeping bags, canned food and a portable television. After a brief talk with Emrich, they held a short news conference and then settled down for the day.

One of the women, Mrs. Nicholas Mumford of Christ Church Cranbrook, said they planned to stay "until we see some meaningful communications between the church and the NBEDC."

Another group of women from Christ Church Cranbrook, who believe they are the majority, are circulating a petition in support of Emrich, according to Mrs. Robert Flint of 1577 Island, Bloomfield Township, spokesman for the group.

"We believe that a majority of the women of Christ Church Cranbrook are in full accord with and in support of the position of the presiding bishop, contrary to the impression presented by a minority," Mrs. Flint said.

Mrs. Flint is a past president of the church's Episcopal Women, and served as director of the Altar Guild last year.

Peter Turns Back on Drink to Take Up Stint of 'Think'

By EARL WILSON

DUBLIN — Peter O'Toole is enlivening this dear land, trying to stay out of pubs and fights and jails, for he is embracing the scholar's life to spend a year at Exeter University writing a book on Shakespeare.

"Ah, but Dublin is the most dangerous city in the world," he cautioned me, as he sat in a studio restaurant having a quiet lager. "I used to tour with Brendan Behan . . ."

Springing to his feet, he demonstrated Behan's stance in barroom brawls.

"Hollywood!" he echoed with scorn. "Everything closes there at 3 in the afternoon. I've spent 80 hours there and most of the time I was in jail."

The 3-in-the-afternoon remark came from the fact that he and a famous friend, now dead, once "were having a quiet chat" about 5 hours after the 2 a.m. closing, when they got chased.

"As we were crawling out of the place, the police fell over us," he remembered.

★ ★ ★

You are not supposed to believe any stories about him getting drunk should you be hearing them. It's after he finishes his present MGM film "Country Dance" with Susannah York that he takes up the scholar's life.

Pennsylvania's Senate Blessed With Straight Talk

"Well, God. Here we are again, asking for your help in another week when we look at the frustrations and the frenzy in running a state.

★ ★ ★

"The hell of it is, God, we are not sure that we really want Your help. We feel self-sufficiant. But we really are not.

"Help us anyway. Strengthen our minds and our abilities for the commonwealth. Amen."

Strikes Brew Dry Summer for Beer Lovers

DETROIT (AP) — The long, hot summer may be dry as well for a lot of Detroit beer drinkers.

A strike against Anheuser-Busch, maker of Budweiser beer, has kept its plants shut since May 27, and all but one area distributor is now out of the brew. And despite plenty of stocking up by the bars and groceries which knew the strike was coming, supplies are all but gone now.

Detroiters, however, have it good compared with people in Milwaukee, the nation's beer capital. Four major Milwaukee breweries are now shutdown—Schlitz, Miller, Pabst and Blatz—and their supplies are running low.

With the Milwaukee brands slowly being cut off, there will be little except local and imported brands available soon.

7th Is Arrested in Avon Spree

"Come on down and get your license," a county sheriff's deputy told a young city man whose driver's license had been taken by a sheriff's deputy trying to break up a party.

Paul D. Carter, 21, of 196 Liberty went to the sheriff's department yesterday afternoon. He didn't get his license back. Instead, he was arrested. Sheriff's deputies are seeking warrants on four separate charges.

Two sheriff's deputies said they were punched and kicked in trying to break up the party attended by an estimated 100 young people at the Oakland Townhouse Apartments, 2749 Patrick Henry.

Warrants charging Carter with refusing to disperse at a riot, being drunk and disorderly, escaping custody and obstructing a police officer were to be sought from the prosecutor's office today, a sheriff's detective said.

Others arrested were arraigned yesterday before Clarkston District Judge Gerald McNally. They were:

John F. Drake, 25, of 689 Perry on charges of assaulting a police officer, escaping custody and inciting a riot. He pled not guilty to all three charges and posted $750 bond on each.

Janet A. Heymann, 18, of 80 Ottawa on charges of aiding a prisoner to escape and obstructing a police officer. She pled not guilty and posted personal bond of $1,100.

Charles W. Dean, 17, of 136 W. Mansfield and Gregory G. Ryden, 19, of 331 Pioneer on charges of being drunk and disorderly. They were both released on $100 bond. No trial date was set.

Exam and trial date for Drake, Miss Heymann and Hobby were set for July 9.

In Memoriam 2

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have loved can tell.
The grief we bear in silence,

IN LOVING MEMORY of Paul J. Mathew, WORLD'S DEAREST who passed away June 24, 1966.
If broke our hearts to lose you
But you did not go alone
A part of us went with you,
That day God called you home.
God gave us strength and courage to take that blow.
But what is meant to lose you
Lovingly remembered by Mrs. Sophia Mathew and family.

To accept customers' checks or not to accept them? Merchants have struggled with that question since checks were invented. And to their customers' dismay, many decide it isn't worth the risk.

It's the only check guarantee card in the Oakland-Macomb area with the cardholder's color photo on it. So it gives the merchant something no other card can: sure-fire proof that the person presenting the card is really the cardholder.

If you're a merchant, this assurance costs you nothing. There are no fees, forms, or special records. All we ask is that you follow five simple steps printed on the back of every Community Check Guarantee Card.

3 See that the check is a personalized CNB check, preprinted with the cardholder's name and signed in your presence.

You can apply for a Community Check Guarantee Card of your own at any of the 21 CNB offices in the Oakland-Macomb area.

Legislature Asks Schools to Halt Sex Ed Until Guides Set

LANSING (AP) — Aiming to cut down what it considers the "too much, too soon" sex education of youngsters, the Michigan Legislature has asked schools to halt sex education courses until the State Education Department sets up guidelines.

The Senate yesterday approved the sex education resolution, already passed in the House.

The measure does not block the teaching of sex information, but instead "urges" schools to stop specific courses in sex education, at least temporarily.

"They can go back to what they were doing — including sex information in physical education and health courses — before we passed the law last year mandating much more specific courses," explained Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids.

Also passed yesterday was a resolution setting up a five-member special Senate committee to delve into findings of an audit of payments made to Michigan doctors who treat medicaid patients.

Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, demanded the probe in light of figures showing some doctors and osteopaths treating medicaid patients received from $25,000 to $169,000 a year.

Any proof of alleged overpayments, Zollar said, could lead to cuts in the budget, which must be approved by Saturday under current legislative deadlines.

Zollar said the office of Auditor General Albert Lee began its investigation last week and could begin checking individual doctors' records this week.

SPONSORED BY HAMPTON

The sex education resolution was sponsored by Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, after a member of the State Board of Education blasted a department bibliography of sex education materials.

Hampton said he joined with "every-growing numbers of parents who are protesting the propriety of the textbooks and the methods currently being utilized in certain schools.

* * *

"I particular I am sympathetic with those parents of children in the early elementary grades who seem to be getting too much too soon," he said.

Meanwhile, the sponsors of controversial abortion law reform bills — turned down recently in the Senate — want to continue a study of the problems of abortion.

10 Persons Killed as Plane Crashes Into Miami Street

MIAMI (AP) — A disabled DC4 cargo plane that crashed into a busy Miami street yesterday had undergone repairs for a mechanical problem shortly before takeoff, a Federal Aviation Administration official said today.

"It had been scheduled to depart about noon but had to return for repairs after taxiing out on the runway," said Richard Skully. "I'm not certain what the problem was."

* * *

The four-engine craft took off at 3:40 p.m. Eight minutes later it came down on a residential and business area, a mile east of Miami's International Airport, cutting a four-block swath of death and feaming destruction.

Related Picture, Page A-2

Police today sealed off the area to everyone as investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board searched charred rubble and wreckage where 10 people were killed and another dozen were injured.

DELAY CONFIRMED

A spokesman for Dominicana Air Lines owner of the converted cargo carft, confirmed the flight had been delayed. He said the mechanic who made the repairs was not available for comment.

The victims included the four crew members and six people on the ground. Five of the dead were in an automobile body shop demolished by the flaming fuselage, said Miami police information officer Jack Minix.

* * *

"The other victim was a passenger in a car a block from the body shop," Minix said. "He had jumped out of the car and tried to get away from the burning wreckage when he was hit by a piece of the plane."

The craft was attempting to circle back to the airport when it came down just a mile from a runway cleared for an emergency landing. One engine was ablaze and another was out.

Over-all damage was estimated at $1 million. One building was destroyed, eight were damaged and 42 cars and trucks were damaged or burned out.

Minix said he was convinced all bodies had been removed from the smoking rubble.

Maxine Burmester's apartment home is next door to the body shop where five were killed. She was watching television yesterday afternoon as the plane sheared power lines a block and a half from her building and bounced off the rooftop of a two-story building.

"It was coming at a terrific speed," she said. "I couldn't move before it hit."

Meeting Slated on Euler Ouster

A closed-door meeting between the City Commission and the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees over the firing of the administrator of Pontiac General Hospital was being arranged today.

Commissioners want to know why Harold B. Euler was fired last Thursday. The 11-member hospital board has refused to give a reason for the dismissal other than to announce it was "in the best interests of the hospital."

Editorial, Page A-6

At last night's informal City Commission meeting, City Manager Joseph E. Warren was told to set up a "closed-door" meeting between the trustees and the seven commissioners.

None of the city officials professed to know why Euler was fired.

They said they will ask to be informed at the secret session. Mayor William H. Taylor said "We may or may not decide to issue a statement afterward."

Several commissioners complained

ABM Critics Say Laird Shifts Story on Red Capability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics of President Nixon's Safeguard missile defense program claim Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has redefined in midcontroversy the Soviets' first-strike nuclear capability in an attempt to support the administration position.

Sens. J. W. Fulbright and Albert Gore made the charges following Laird's joint appearance yesterday with CIA Director Richard Helms before a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

* * *

Laird and Helms were called to testify in the wake of Safeguard critics' claims that the Pentagon and CIA had conflicting views on Soviet missile intentions.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who heads the committee, and Gore, D-Tenn., said they felt the meaning of "first-strike capability" had been completely changed by Laird's testimony yesterday.

Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh Won't Run for Reelection

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, who in 1961 became the first of a generation of "bright young mayors" claiming to solve the problems of the nation's cities, today announced he would not seek another term.

"The time has come for me to give greater consideration to the lives of my children," the 41-year-old, two-term mayor told a morning press conference.

Cavanagh, who was divorced in 1968, said he still thinks the majority of the people in the city of Detroit support him.

Cavanagh said the results of recent mayoral elections and primaries in New York, Los Angeles and Minneapolis, which have been interpreted as showing growing conservatism among urban voters "made my decision more difficult.

EMPHASIZES BURDEN

"If there was one thing that could have compelled me to run, it was those results."

Cavanagh, who has custody of the four oldest of his eight children, emphasized the burdens of his office and family responsibilities in announcing his decision.

* * *

"It was not an easy decision to reach," he said. "I have served nearly eight years in a job that has been described as one of the most difficult in America next to the presidency.

* * *

Cavanagh, whose city in 1967 was the scene of one of the nation's worst racial riots in modern history, said he was proud of the record of his administration.

"I believe we have made municipal goverment more responsive and relevant to all the people of the city," he said.

30 Pct. Chance of Rain for Tonight

Skies are expected to become overcast, and there's a 30 per cent chance of rain tonight.

High temperatures will continue in the low 70s through tomorrow. The low will fall to 56 to 62 tonight. The outlook for Thursday is warmer with a chance of occasional rain.

Probabilities of precipitation are 10 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow.

A sunny 55 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury had skipped up to 74 by 12:30 p.m.

Along Came a Spider and . . .

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man walked in and plunked a spider down on Delona Davis' desk. Her big, gray-blue eyes got bigger and grayer. But she didn't scream.

The critter was in a pill bottle. He was dead. Besides, she was getting used to it. This kind of thing had been going on dozens of times a day for more than two weeks.

* * *

As receptionist for the county health office, the little brunette has been deluged with spiders, of all shapes, colors and sizes— dead and alive—since the beginning of the South American violin spider hunt. She prefers them dead.

It started when Mel Thompson, a naturalist, found one of the brown violin spiders—about the size of a dime—in a suburban Sierra Madre park. Drop for drop, the violin spider's venom is deadlier than a rattlesnake's.

54 MORE FOUND

Thompson found 54 more in a recreation building at the park. Then researchers from the University of Southern California found a dozen in a nearby women's club and a church.

* * *

Quite a find, since South American violin spiders—named for the light violin-shaped marking on their backs —had been seen but once before in North America. That was six years ago in Cambridge, Mass.

Meanwhile, nearly every time the mailman arrived at Delona Davis' desk, he brought in a batch of spiders, most of them dead, in envelopes. And it seemed every third person who walked in the door had one in a jar, a matchbox or a pill bottle.

'PRETTY UGLY'

"They're trying to help," she said. "But some of those spiders are pretty ugly. We get some pretty big ones sometimes. And when they're not dead, forget it!"

Few of the hundreds brought in were South American violin spiders. And nobody has reported being bitten.

* * *

William Waldron, county entymologist, said he hopes to learn more about the spiders' life habits—and how they got here from South America.

Ambulance Services Claim Press Articles Exaggerated

Charges of "exaggeration" and "overstatement" regarding a recent Pontiac Press series on county ambulance service were made yesterday to the board of supervisors local affairs committee.

The charges were made by representatives of the 27 county ambulance services. All are due to be affected by new state legislation July 1, and six of them will get out of the business as a result of the new law.

* * *

Ensuing debate revealed, however, that service will be "thin" in the north end of the county for the next six months and that several companies serving the south county area believe they need financial assistance.

Inadequacies of ambulance service in the county were pointed out in the face of an over-all insistance by ambulance companies that service is good and will reamin good.

How long such quality can be maintained despite nonpayment for a large portion of traffic accident calls appeared questionable according to the discussion.

William Price of Price Funeral Home, Troy, said he fails to collect on as much as 85 per cent of the runs made on I-75 and other state highways in Troy. He said the city refuses to become involved for other than strictly local service.

* * *

Bound by state law to provide ambulance service on state highways, the county has so far resisted attempts by ambulance companies to guuarantee payments arising from highway service in cities. The county does guuarantee a minimum $25 a trip plus $1 per mile payment for such service in the townships.

* * *

"If we do it for one city, we'll have to do it for all," said Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors. He noted some cities presently meet those obligations.

The committee ordered a study of present service and a survey of what other counties in Michigan are doing in regard to the problem.

County officials pointed out that total county financing of uncollectables could cost taxpayers as much as $6,000 a week, most of it reimbursable, however, through county collections from victims or their insurance companies.

Israel Reports Jets Downed Egypt MIG

By The Associated Press

Israeli warplanes shot down an Egyptian MIG today over the Gulf of Suez, an Israeli army spokesman said.

He said the plane was hit by cannon fire from an Israeli fighter, exploded in the air and crashed in Egyptian territory. No parachute was seen.

Earlier, Israeli spokesmen reported Egyptian commandos slipped across the Suez Canal for the third time in three days to raid an Israeli army position. They battled the Israelis with light arms and grenades.

Israeli army spokesmen said the Arabs crossed north of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the canal under a covering artillery barrage late last night. They said one Israeli soldier was killed.

CAIRO CLAIMS VICTORY

A communique from Cairo said the Egyptians "occupied the Israeli position and killed all the soldiers there and destroyed two armored cars." It added that the Israelis tried to make a counterassault "but our forces foiled the attempt" and returned safely to their base carrying two wounded.

Three Egyptians were killed Sunday night in a raid on the same installation. The Israeli radio's Arab language service reported today shrapnel found in the three bodies was from Soviet shell, indicating the Egyptians were killed by covering fire from their own guns.

* * *

No casualties were reported from the Saturday raid.

The commando raid last night followed two heavy artillery battles at the southern end of the canal yesterday in which Egypt claimed Israeli forces suffered heavy losses. There was no confirmation of this from Tel Aviv.

* * *

A communique from Cairo said the clashes yesterday resuled in "the destruction of enemy reinforcements" which the Israelis had set up in the Shatt and Port Taufiq areas. It said there was only light damage on the Egyptian side.

Wife, Children Hurt

Man Blows Up Home, Self

OXFORD, England (AP)—A 39-year-old ex-commando blew himself and his family home to pieces today, seriously injuring his wife and two of their seven children.

Police identified the dead man as Michael Molloy, an Irishborn demolition expert and former Royal Marine. They said he called them after a family argument and told them what he planned to do.

A squad car was rushed to his home but, police said, Molloy was not there. A guard was posted at the house, and Molloy returned shortly after 1 a.m. carrying a box he said was filled with gelignite, an explosive.

He told police he would detonate the explosive if they did not move before he counted to 10. At the count of six, the policemen moved back.

BLOWN OUT OF HOUSE

"He went into the house, and there was a terrific bang," a neighbor said. "Some of his children were blown out of the house into the front garden."

Police and firemen pulled the seven children from the rubble. All suffered injuries, but two were described as seriously hurt. Mrs. Molloy also was seriously injured, police said.

The blast destroyed the Molloy home and set fire to an adjoining house.

Birmingham

Census-Query Opposition Not Endorsed

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission last night decided against endorsing a request from the City of Berkley calling for opposition to a proposed 1970 census questionnaire.

The Berkley Council objected to the questionnaire on the premise that it was too voluminous and represented an invasion of private rights. Berkley councilmen have since solicitated other area municipal governing bodies in an attempt to develop broad-based opposition.

* * *

Following receipt of the Berkley request, the commission wrote Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-16th District, asking more information regarding the census matter.

Rep. Broomfield responded that he objects to the length and language in the questionnaire. He has submitted a bill designed to limit the Census Bureau questionnaire to seven basic questions that would legally require answers.

BILL ENDORSED

The Commission endorsed the Oakland County Board of Supervisors opposition to a House bill that would reduce state aid to hospitals.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Dr. Carl N. DeSilva, 2409 Brenthaven, has been named chairman of the department of mechanical engineering sciences at Wayne State University's College of Engineering.

Formerly professor and acting chairman of the same department, Dr. DeSilva holds a B.S. degree in civil engineering from Columbia. He has a master's degree from Columbia and a Ph.D. from the University of Michigan.

Prior to joining the WSU faculty, Dr. DeSilva taught at St. Stanislaus College in British Guiana and at the University of Minnesota. He was a lecturer in mathematics at Seattle University.

House OK Seen for Higher State Interest Lid

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The drive to boost Michigan's 114-year-old home loan interest rate ceiling from 7 to 8.5 per cent is under way again in the Michigan House.

After weeks of postponement, supporters now claim they have the needed 56 votes to pass the bill lifting the usury level.

* * *

"I think we can do it," said Speaker William A. Ryan of Detroit. "I think there is a good chance the bill will pass the House."

He said Republicans should be able to supply 35 votes and the Democrats would supply the rest.

BACKED BY UAW

Democratic support may increase because of what Speaker William H. Ryan of Detroit termed the "quietly supportive" stance of the United Auto Workers (UAW).

Scholle said if the bill passes the Legislature and is signed by the governor, the State AFL-CIO will spearhead a petition drive for a law reverting the rate to 7 per cent and prohibiting the imposition of penalty points.

Penalty points are fees charged by banks and savings and loan institutions for paying off a mortgage ahead of time. They are assessed against both buyers and sellers of mortgaged homes.

OUT OF JOBS

Ryan and other Democrats say hundreds of tradesmen are out of jobs in Michigan because banks are not lending money for home-building.

Ryan said it is "nearly impossible" for families who desperately need loans for homes to get them during the present economic situation.

* * *

Amid indications of pressure from Gov. William Milliken, Michigan's 19 major departments are reviewing budget requests the House is considering for the new fiscal year, now only a week away.

Some departments apparently are discovering they can get along with less money than they previously supposed.

TAX LAW CHANGES

The House yesterday approved four Senate measures changing state tax laws so that:

- State liens for nonpayment of the 4 per cent state use tax would precede most other claims. A similar provision applies to nonpayment of state sales tax.
- Cities could require employers to forward income tax withholding on a monthly basis. Backers of the bill said it was aimed at assuring local governments a more consistent flow of funds.

* * *

- Certified examiners could require individual and corporate propreprty holders to allow inspection of records showing the extent and value of their real property holdings.
- Exempt state agencies from paying a $1 fee for each tax lien filed with the secretary of state.

N-Missile Output Is Halted by Fire at Atomic Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. nuclear missile production has been halted for perhaps the rest of this year because of a crippling fire at an Atomic Energy Commission plant.

* * *

Government sources also give strong indications that testing of antimissile warheads may be delayed by the blaze that hit a plutonium-handling facility at Rocky Flats, Colo., May 11. The official AEC position is that Safeguard deployment schedules will not be set back.

* * *

The impact of the fire, first serious blaze at an AEC plant, was laid before Congress behind closed doors nine days later when AEC leaders urgently appealed for $45 million to make repairs.

PLUTONIUM TRIGGER

* * *

Air Foce Maj. Gen. E. B. Giller, assigned to the AEC, told subcommitee members the impact on the weapons production schedule would last "a few months to perhaps a year," according to preliminary estimates.

Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, AEC chairman, termed the $45 million request to get the Rocky Flats plant back into operation "very urgent."

* * *

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee, told a reporter Monday night, "I regard this as a serious situation."

MEETING IS NEXT

He said the subcommittee has completed action on the $45 million request and the next step is a meeting with House appropriations committee leaders sometime this week.

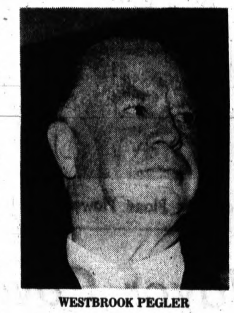

* * *

Giller said Rocky Flats was preparing to produce test models of Safeguard nuclear warheads to be test fired in Nevada and indicated this schedule was thrown off.

While Rocky Flats is being repaired, he said, the AEC hopes to produce test ABM devices at its limited facility in Hanford, Wash., or at the Los Alamos research center in New Mexico.

* * *

The AEC, Giller said, has no indication sabotage was involved in the fire, but an independent fire investigation company has been assigned to check such a possibility as it seeks the cause of the blaze.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

Noted Journalist Dies in Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Westbrook Pegler, a reporter who gained national fame during the 1920s as a sportswriter and won a Pulitzer Prize in 1941 for his exposure of labor union racketeering, died here early today. He was 74.

Pegler had been living in southern Arizona since 1942, writing free-lance articles and contributing opinion columns to King Features Syndicate, owned by the Hearst Corp.

* * *

However, on Aug. 1962, the crusty journalist who it has been said "used his typewriter like a meat ax," parted compay with the syndicate. The official reason given in a formal announcement was because of "irreconcilable differences on vital matters." Pegler had complained for many years that the Hearst organization was censoring him.

CONTRIBUTED ARTICLES

In later years Pegler had contributed articles to the monthly magazine, American Opinion, published by the John Birch Society, another conservative group.

But he stopped writing for it when the head of the society, Robert Welch, refused to publish one of his articles in April 1964.

House Surtax OK Is Seen in Vote Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, House Republican leader, expressed confidence today that the House will vote to extend the income surtax.

After GOP leaders in the House and Senate met with President Nixon, Ford told newsmen at least 130 Republican members would vote for the extension, which he believed would come before the House tomorrow.

* * *

The Democratic leadership made final checks yesterday and seemed to be satisfied the House Rules Committee would vote the bill out on a "closed rule" basis — a straight yes or no vote, with no amendments considered.

Surtax opponents contemplate challenging the "closed rule," but have been putting their main emphasis on defeating the measure.

ENDORSED BY COMMITTEE

The Nixon proposal, endorsed by a split committee vote, would continue the tax at 10 per cent for six months and five per cent for another six months. The tax expires June 30 unless extended.

If the effort to defeat the no-amendment rule fails, opponents then must work to defeat the measure outright.

* * *

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, opposes the bill and he has written all House Democrats that the measure must be killed to force quicker action on general tax reform.

The Nixon bill will pass, said Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., but "we still will have to get 80 or 90 Democratic votes.

* * *

Byrnes, leading GOP House tax expert, pegged Republican support at 120 to 130 votes — two thirds of the GOP House membership. His Democratic figures amount to a bare majority of House Democrats. The bill has the endorsement of the Democratic leadership.

Meeting Slated in Hospital Firing

wild rumors about the hospital were circulating since the incident.

* * *

Commissioners asked that the meeting be arranged before Thursday. Members of the hospital board are appointed by the City Commission.

Euler, meanwhile, is sitting at home awaiting an explanation from the board of trustees as to why he was dismissed.

MEETS WITH ATTORNEY

"They have to come up with something in the next day or two," Euler commented.

He met with his attorney yesterday and decided to wait for an explanation as to why he was fired after 11 years on the job before deciding upon any court action, he said.

* * *

Euler had said he may sue to protect his reputation by proving he did nothing wrong.

Euler said he was told by his Pontiac attorney, Clarence Patterson, that it is "to early to decide on a suit."

But Euler did say that Patterson is now studying the former administrator's pension loss and possible salary settlement up to his 65th birthday next May.

HEW Nomination, GOP Fight Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Finch apparently has won his fight to have Dr. John H. Knowles nominated as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs in the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

But the victory raises the specter of a party-splitting battle in the Senate, with the administration and a coalition of liberal Young Turks pitted against Everett M. Dirksen.

* * *

It was learned last night Nixon is almost certain to nominate Knowles.

Knowles, HEW Secretary Finch's longtime choice, has been opposed by powerful conservative elements in the American Medical Association and its prominent ally, Dirksen.

* * *

Knowles is director of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, and until yesterday the AMA opposition had been attributed to his advocacy of such things as universal health care plans.

But yesterday a letter to the Washington Post quoted Dirksen's administrative assistant as saying that because of the financial support given the Republicans during the election, the AMA "was insistent on nominating . . . the assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs."

Avon Twp. Crash Kills Motorcyclist

Hickel Stock Soars as He Delays Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — One day after Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel received permission to delay sale of stock he owns in a mineral exploration company, the price of the stock soared and the volume of sales increased more than 60-fold.

Within two days after a Senate committee granted the delay, Alaska Interstate Co. had announced the acquisition of two companies and the price of the stock on the American Stock Exchange stood within 25 cents of its high for the year.

* * *

A brokerage firm official in New York said the delay by Hickel in selling his stock plus the announcement of the two acquisitions were responsible, at least in part, for the surge in the price and volume of sales in Alaska Interstate.

During his confirmation hearings last January, Hickel told the Senate Interior Committee that he held 32,316 shares of Alaska Interstate and promised to sell it off "within a reasonable time and not later than six months after taking office."

'IN HANDS OF BROKER'

He took office on Jan. 21 — five months ago this weekend — and as of the beginning of June had not begun to sell the stock, according to Hickel's brother.

* * *

Vernon Hickel, president of the Hickel Investment Co., told the Associated Press in a telephone interview from Anchorage that the stock now was in the hands of a broker who had instructions to sell it "at an opportune time." The stock was turned over to the broker, he said, at the beginning of June.

* * *

Asked how much of the stock had been sold at that time, the secretary's brother replied: "None of it."

Asked if any had been sold since, he said, "I really don't know. It's in the broker's hands."

FIRST SPURT

The first spurt in both price and volume of Alaska Interstate came Thursday, the day after the Senate Interior Committee granted Hickel a six-month extension of the deadline for sale of his stock. The request was made in a June 2 letter to the committee from Vernon Hickel.

Also on Thursday it was announced in Houston that Alaska Interstate had acquired Burgess International Inc., a Fairbanks construction firm. On Thursday, Alaska Interstate closed at 29½, up to 3⅜ on a volume of 30,600 shares traded.

* * *

If Hickel still held all his stock at the end of that trading session, his paper profit for the day would have been more than $109,000.

On Friday, trading volume rose again, to 38,900 shares. The price fell an eighth of a point and closed at 29.

CLOSE TO HIGH

The closing price both Thursday and Friday was close to the recorded high for the year of 29¼. Earlier in the year, the stock had been as low as 19⅜.

The volume on Thursday and Friday was high for a stock normally traded lightly. On Wednesday, for example 3,600 shares of Alaska Interstate were traded and on Tuesday 500 shares changed hands.

* * *

On Friday, Alaska Interstate announced it had made its second acquisition of the week, this time of the Stardust Cruiser Manufacturing Co., a Chattanooga, Tenn., builder of steel and fiber-glass houseboats.

The brokerage firm official attributed the sudden action in Alaska Interstate at least in part to the delay in the sale of the Hickel stock and the two acquisitions.

* * *

"The announcement from the Senate could have helped it and the acquisitions also could have helped," said Eldon Grimm, senior vice president and economist for Walston & Co.

Cycle Clubs Hit in 'War'

DETROIT (AP)— What police described as a "gang war" between two motorcycle clubs flared briefly in Detroit Monday.

* * *

Officers said the clubhouse of the Forbidden Wheels was raided early in the morning, allegedly by members of the Highwaymen. Police said several cycles, were fire-bombed, and four motorcycles parked in front of the building were hit by a car.

* * *

Several hours later, the clubhouse of the Highwaymen was looted and fire-bombed in apparent retribution.

No arrests were made.

Meet Your Neighbors

Where Folks Are Friendly

GRIBBON

BY BARBARA GRIBBON

Bloomfield Orchards, at South Boulevard and Opdyke in Pontiac Township, is one of Oakland County's older subdivisions, with over 500 homes. It's also an area to which newcomers move almost constantly.

As a result of this rapid turnover of homes, a brand-new Neighbors & Newcomers group recently has been formed.

At the initial information meeting, over 100 neighbors showed up, many of them volunteering to take on jobs in the new organization.

* * *

Prime aims of Neighbors & Newcomers are to acquaint newcomers with the community and get some of the older residents interested in local activities. Two social functions are held for the entire subdivision each year and a evening program is scheduled each month with a planned program. Special interests groups are available including arts and crafts, cards and bowling.

The group's main activity now is a welcoming committee which gives gift packets for newcomers. Over 50 local businesses have contributed to the packet which includes small gifts and coupons, maps of the Pontiac area and tips on where to go for recreation.

THE GERALD KAYS

Mrs. Gerald Kay is cochairman in charge of gift packets. She and her husband moved to Bloomfield Orchards six years ago from Dearborn Heights. The family now includes four children, Debbie, 6, Buddy, 5, Kelly, 3, and Charlie, 1½ years old.

Kay is assistant manager of Chamberlain Real Estate's Bloomfield office. He is a member of the Jaycees in Auburn Heights and is on the Board of Directors of the Bloomfield Orchards Association. His hobbies include building and flying radio-controlled model planes, golf and fishing.

* * *

Mrs. Kay, active in the local PTA, worked on the recent school millage campaign. She is the editor of the group's newsletter and work on the Helping Hand program in her area.

THE ROBERT SIPPELS

Mrs. Robert Sippel is chairman of the hostess welcoming committee. Her group goes to each new family to present the packet and get acquainted.

* * *

Sippell is a teacher and assistant football coach at Waterford-Kettering High School. During the summer he teach driver education as well. The Sippells have a cottage near Alpena where they vacation during the summer.

Mrs. Sippell has been a swimming coach and synchronized swimming instructor. She taught at Groves High School in Birmingham and also in Lansing. She hopes to return to that work in the future.

THE WALTER KEMPHERTS

Last co-chairman of the welcoming is Mrs. Walter Kemphert, a newcomer to Bloomfield Orchards herself. The Kempherts moved in February from Grand Rapids but originally are from Rochester, N.Y. The family includes Lisa, 7, and Chris, 5.

* * *

Kemphert is a microfilm systems salesman for Eastman Kodak Co. His hobbies include building things for the new home, fishing, swimming and golf. The family enjoys winter sports including ice skating and sledding.

Mrs. Kemphert, always a member of a newcomers group wherever she has lived, was anxious to join one here. She ended up social chairman, and is in charge of the monthly program. She also helps organize the special interest groups. In her spare time, Mrs. Kemphert enjoys gardening and making smocked pillows as hobbies.

THE HARRY HARRISONS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrison moved from Detroit but originally are from London, England. They have two sons, Bill, 17, and Roger, 14.

* * *

Mrs. Harrison is active in the neighborhood garden club which goes to Pontiac State Hospital once a week to help in the greenhouses. Members often end up helping the woman patients with anything from home permanents to baking a cake, she said. At home, Mrs. Harrison is a ceramics enthusiast with a basement-full of ceramic accessories and a kiln.

THE GLENN CHURCHILLS

The Glenn Churchill family moved seven years ago from Hazel Park. They have two married children and five grandchildren as well as two at home, Diane, 17 and Michael, 16.

Michael had the male lead in the school play last year and his sister, Diane was in charge of costumes.

* * *

The family has been active in the American Field Service program for a number of years. Six years ago, a girl exchange student from Norway spent the year with them. The Churchills hope to attend her wedding in Norway next summer.

'Hairbrained' Criminal Clips Women Bald

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Several Charleston area women are being clipped—literally bald—by a man who cons them out of their hair instead of their money.

Police said the man usually offers a home-hair styling that turns into a total clip job.

There are six confirmed cases in the past four years, but detectives say many more women may be involved and are too embarrassed to call police.

The man operates with his scissors and razor just outside the reach of the law. If women give him consent to work on their hair, police say, the man can't be charged with assault.

Police files show the man frequently tells women in a door-to-door campaign that he is opening a new beauty salon. He offers the lady of the house a sampling of his work. Those who agree have wound up bald.

Keep Record of Possessions in Case of Fire

By MARY HOLBROOK
Consultant in Money Management

"We lost everything we had," this couple told me, as near to tears as you can get. "Our house burned to the ground."

To complicate the tragedy, they didn't really know what they had and what they lost. According to a veteran public adjustor, "If homeowners would only make an inventory of their household possessions and keep it they would save themselves a lot of grief. But most people don't."

* * *

When homeowner and insurance adjustor, plus maybe an independent adjustor, try to work out a reasonable claim when there's no specific inventory of household contents, it can take as long as a couple of months, or more!

If your house catches fire, after you get everyone out and call the fire department, lose no time in calling your insurance agent. That's the advice of Harold Meshel, an independent public adjustor licensed by the state.

Your company insurance adjustor may suggest under some circumstances, that you call in such an independent. And in a case where the fire loss is pretty complete, your insurance agent will help you locate one in your community.

Short of total calamity, says Mr. Meshel, your own insurance company's adjustor handles the fire damage claim with no reason for consultation with any other expert.

All this, of course, is the overall thinking. But who feels overall at the sight of his home in flames — or standing there looking at the cold desolation of the damage after the fire is out? So right now file a few do's and don't's in your mind:

Call your insurance agent, his agency or broker, if there's a fire of any size in your home. He'll take a look and quickly estimate the extent of the damage. Then he'll report to the insurance company.

Just Look-Alikes, Not Double Vision

HOLLAND (UPI) — Holland residents are over the idea that they were developing double vision.

The Michigan Twins Association Sunday ended its two-day convention that attracted 118 sets of look-alikes to their town over the weekend.

Florence Kolb, Bay City, and her 21-year-old twin, Mrs. Francine (Dennis) Poyer of nearby Essexville, were elected co-presidents of the association. They succeed Marie and Marvin Olsen of Grand Rapids.

Patricia and Priscilla Stuart of Coldwater, 22, were elected co-secretaries and Robert and Richard Tenniswood of Rochester were re-elected co-treasurers on their 36th birthday, which was Sunday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The city has a beef with some restaurants.

A survey of 421 eating spots found 155 of them selling hamburgers with starchy flours, soy proteins and other nonbeef components, the city Consumer Affairs department said, and the city is cracking down.

Official warning was served Monday by Consumer Affairs Commissioner Bess Myerson Grant that restaurants must serve 100 per cent pure beef hamburgers. Debasing the burger could bring up to a $250 fine and 10 days in jail.

Described as Technical Rally

Fairly Active Mart Moves Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead in fairly active trading early today in what brokers described as a technical rally.

They said the market was in an "extremely oversold condition" and the bargain hunting which began late yesterday as traders looked for stocks they felt had fallen to unattractive level apparently was continuing.

Gains of a point or more were made by Boeing, Homestake mining, and Control Data.

OPENING PRICES

American Telephone & Telegraph, up ¾ at 53¼ on 19,500 shares; Occidental Petroleum, up ½ at 35⅞ on 13,200 shares; Avco Corp. preferred, up 1¼ at 53¾ on 13,100 shares; Standard Oil (Ohio), up 2½ at 100 on 10,800 shares; and Madison Fund, off ⅛ at 27 on 10,500 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average, off 9.05 at 1 p.m. Monday, closed off 5.30 at 870.86, a new low for the year. The previous low for 1969 was set Friday when the industrial closed at 876.16. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.3 to close at a new 1969 low of 309.8.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed.

Aerojet-General, Allen Electric, and Commonwealth United gained fractions. United Aircraft Prod. and O'okiep Copper were fractionally lower.
