Truman Rejects Probe Committee's Subpoena

Benson Says, 'Not Interested in Popularity--'

Agriculture Secretary Sees No Easy Solution to Farm Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Secretary of Agriculture Benson, target of some farm leaders and congressmen because of his farm policies, declared today he is not interested in "personal popularity."

The GOP farm chief said he is striking ahead in an effort to develop a sound agricultural program that would serve "all of agriculture" and "all the people."

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, Benson said it would have been "comparatively easy" for him to "yield to the demands . . . to go off on a round of patchwork programming."

"There is no easy panacea for agriculture," he declared. "There is no magic formula that will set everything right. Patchwork remedies — quack remedies — patent medicine remedies—are a dime a dozen, and that's all some of them are worth."

Benson has been highly critical of rigid high-level price support features of existing farm law. He has contended they price crops out of markets, create surpluses and bring on unwanted production controls.

Some farm leaders and lawmakers who favor the present program have demanded that Benson resign. President Eisenhower has said he is standing back of his Cabinet official.

Benson took a slap at those who are urging continuation of the present 90 per cent of parity price supports for major crops beyond the 1954 expiration date. Parity, a standard for measuring farm prices, is declared by law to be fair to farmers as well as consumers in relation to prices farmers must pay.

"I am firmly convinced," Benson said, "that we should, and that we can, and that we must, help American farmers achieve full parity—and achieve it in the right place, the market place. And we must do it while preserving, and increasing, the essence of freedom."

Benson said a sound farm program must build better farm markets, develop new uses for farm products, show farmers how to develop balanced farming plans and increase their efficiency.

He called upon the land grant colleges to help develop such a program.

Five Pairs of Twins Set Record at Mercy Hospital

Folks in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's obstetrics ward have been seeing double the last few weeks.

Infants marched in "two by two" until by Tuesday five sets of twins—an all-time record—had set up housekeeping in the hospital's nursery.

"The most twins we've had at one time before were three sets," Sister Mary Niceta, maternity supervisor, commented. "And even that was rare."

The parade of pairs started Oct. 24, when twin girls arrived for Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lindow, 32625 Bingham Rd., Birmingham.

Doctors and nurses blinked Nov. 3, when two sets of twins made their debut the same day. Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Sterling of Farmington, and boys to Mr. and Mrs. Hal Lloyd, 230 S. Edith St.

Monday morning the staff again wheeled out matched bassinets—another set of twins, girls, had arrived for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas James, 41 Monterey Blvd. Tuesday, another "daily double" day. A pair of tiny boys, weighing two pounds eleven ounces and three pounds five ounces, were born to Mr. and Mrs. John Derby, 1645 Woodward Ave.

No double births were reported Wednesday, but nurses stood by with extra incubators—just in case.

Drought Perils Wheat and Hay

Oakland Agent Aichin Fears Yields Will Be Low in 1954

A late summer and fall drought which cut into the harvest in Oakland County may have hurt next year's wheat and hay crops, according to Edmond W. Aichin, county agricultural agent.

Potato and hay harvests were heavy this fall, and potato yields on some farms were double the 1952 crop.

Farmer incomes, along with livestock programs, orchard, wheat and corn yields, slipped below last year's figure, although a 10-year crop average was maintained or bettered, Aichin said.

He said lower farm prices this year caused drops in farmer incomes of between 17 and 30 per cent from 1952 earnings.

Livestock programs suffered when farmers were forced to begin earlier feeding of dry feeds because of rainless pastures, Aichin pointed out.

Speculating on next year's wheat and hay crops, Aichin explained that many wheat and hay fields did not begin to grow and expressed a serious concern for the 1954 yield.

Slightly Warmer Is Area Forecast

Partly cloudy skies and slightly warmer temperatures are forecast for the Pontiac area Friday.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts a low of from 33 to 37 tonight and a high of from 48 to 52 on Friday.

Yesterday the mercury climbed from a low of 40 to a high of 47 degrees here.

The reading at 8 a. m. today was 40 degrees, but by 2 p.m. in downtown Pontiac the temperature stood at 49.

President, Aides on Canada Trip

To Visit Top Officials, Discuss Radar Screen and Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower leaves late today on a good neighbor trip to Ottawa for discussion of mutual problems—such as continental defense against any enemy attack—with top Canadian officials.

• • •

The President will be accompanied on a special train by Mrs. Eisenhower, Ambassador and Mrs. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. and a small staff of White House aides. Lodge is chief of the U. S. mission to the United Nations.

The two-day state visit to Ottawa will be Eisenhower's second trip outside the country since he took office last January. He crossed from Texas into Mexico last month.

The President told his news conference yesterday he is going to Canada to pay his respects to the people of the dominion. His address to Parliament Saturday, he added, will deal with matters of common interest to the United States and Canada.

• • •

In Ottawa, he will be the guest of the governor general, Vincent Massey, and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Aides said the Chief Executive also plans to review Canadian-American relations in private talks with dominion officials.

In that category is continental defense, including the radar screen along the northern edges of the Canadian mainland and the islands adjacent.

There has been talk of a radar "net" in northern Canada, but what actually is up there now is something less than a solid "net." One thing apparently needed is more depth of the radar system with additional stations to the south to track incoming planes after the outer net has picked them up.

The controversial St. Lawrence seaway proposal also appears certain to be discussed.

Blissfield Blaze Kills Twins, 2

Babies Perish While Mom Visits Neighbor; Oil Stove Blamed

ADRIAN (AP) — The 2-year-old twin sons of a Blissfield couple perished in a fire at their home today.

Thomas and Richard Bentley were trapped in the home while their mother, Lydia, was visiting a neighbor just "a matter of minutes."

Bodies of the two boys, badly burned, were found huddled on a cot.

Firemen Joe Clauda and L. J. Long, volunteers who worked in the vicinity, attempted to enter the blazing home to rescue the boys. They were driven back by intense heat.

The frantic mother was restrained from attempting to rescue her trapped children. Firemen from Blissfield brought the blaze under control, saving a room of the small home.

FBI May Cinch Marsh Identity

Check Fingerprints to Find if Accident Victim Is Kidnap Figure

CLINTON, Ky. (AP) — An FBI fingerprint report today may determine whether Thomas John Marsh, a prominent figure in the $500,000 Greenlease kidnaping, died in an auto crash near here.

State Police said almost all evidence indicated Marsh was the hitchhiker, dressed in work clothes and penniless, who was killed last Saturday.

Sheriff [illegible] said he [illegible] the kidnaping of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease last month by Carl Austin Hall, 24, after Hall was arrested at St. Louis with some of the ransom money.

Hall first claimed Marsh killed the boy but later confessed that he and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, engineered the plot.

The body of young Greenlease, son of a millionaire Kansas City auto dealer, was found Oct. 7 in a shallow grave in St. Joseph, Mo., nine days after he was taken from school.

The first tip that the hitchhiker might be Marsh came from an unidentified woman who telephoned a funeral home here Saturday, inquiring about tattoo marks on the body.

State Police began checking and when the similarities showed up, they sent the victim's fingerprints to the FBI in Washington.

Man Loses Limb, Drives for Aid

CLEARFIELD, S. D. (AP) — Robert Sharkey, 22, gritted his teeth for an hour Wednesday while a cornpicker chewed off his arm at the elbow. Then he climbed on his tractor and drove a mile and a half for help. Sharkey's arm was caught in the picker when he tried to remove some debris without turning off the power mechanism.

Expectant Mother Loses in 60-Mile Race to Hospital

FLINT (UP)—Mrs. Neoma Hall, 20, who lost a Detroit-to-Flint race with the stork, was report..' "doing nicely" at Osteopathic Hospital with her baby daughter today.

Mrs. Hall's husband, John, was transferred to Detroit by his employer five months ago. However, he said his wife insisted on having her baby here.

The 60-mile race started Wednesday morning. Mrs. Hall gave birth to the 8½-pound girl south of Grand Blanc, about eight miles from here.

Hall wrapped the baby in a blanket and continued his journey. Then his car ran out of gas and a truck pushed him to a service station. An ambulance was called and mother and child abandoned Hall's car. He joined them at the hospital later.

Man-on-Street OKs Subpoena of Ex-President

Inquiries in Downtown Pontiac Show Majority Favors Summons

An on-the-street interview conducted in downtown Pontiac Wednesday disclosed that the majority of persons queried approved of the subpoena of former President Truman.

"Do you think that former President Truman should have been subpoenaed in the Harry Dexter White probe in Washington?" was one question asked.

Another was, "What do you think of the probing for Communists in government as a whole?"

John Spehar of 364 W. Huron St., newsstand operator, said he approved of subpoenaing Truman. "He was the President and should have known who he was hiring. Men in all top offices, and especially the President, should be aware of the character of the men they appoint or hire. If they don't there's something wrong with them."

The view of A. G. O'Jibway of 245 Josephine St., a loan company employe, was that there was nothing wrong with subpoenaing Truman but he disagreed with the manner in which newspapers presented the story. "News stories made it seem that Truman was condoning communism. I think that it's been an unjust smear on the Democratic administration."

Kill 2 Defenders of Mossadegh

Rain, Police Stifle Effort to Stir Tehran Strike; 20 Are Arrested

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Two demonstrators were killed by police gunfire today as thousands of supporters of ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh took their ousted leader's case into the streets.

Torrential rain and heavy army and police guards combined to take most of the fire out of a Communist-backed effort to promote a general strike in support of the ex-dictator, now on trial at Saltanatabad prison.

About 20 demonstrators were arrested in various parts of the capital during the morning and hundreds of shops whose owners back Mossadegh were shuttered but little pro-Mossadegh activity was in evidence beyond the stealthy distribution of Communist leaflets.

Gangs shouting "long live Mossadegh" were scattered by charging police as fast as they formed. Several demonstrators got whacked with clubs in these charges. Brig. Teimour Bakhtiar reported the shooting incident occurred at the corner of two main streets—Shah Rheza and Pahlevi.

Chairman Delays Quiz Before Getting Message

Harry Dexter White Case Before Senate Group Today; T. Lamar Caudle on Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman today rejected a subpoena from the House Un-American Activities Committee, and any move to try to force him to testify in the Harry Dexter White case appeared remote.

In a letter to Chairman Velde (R-Ill), the ex-President took a stand that the Constitution's division of powers of government stood as a barrier to his complying with the subpoena "in spite of a personal willingness to cooperate with your committee."

As the developments came here, Velde first announced that he was postponing indefinitely tomorrow's committee session to which he had summoned Truman—an action which pretty well washed out the subpoena issue, at least for the immediate future.

• • •

Calling off the hearing meant, too, that there was no reason for Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark to have any concern about the subpoena issued for him to testify tomorrow.

Charles P. Murphy, Truman's counsel, personally delivered Truman's letter to Velde shortly after the committee chairman called off the session. Velde made it public.

Even as this matter was put aside, Senate investigators began exploratory hearings on the roaring controversy touched off by Atty. Gen. Brownell's charges that Truman promoted White, a treasury official, in spite of the face of FBI reports that White was a Russian spy.

T. Lamar Caudle, onetime assistant attorney general, was the initial witness before the Senate internal security subcommittee behind closed doors.

Emerging, after about an hour, Caudle told reporters he "became alarmed" in 1946 about an FBI report on White but there was no proof of statements linking White to Soviet espionage.

Caudle also suggested that White may have been kept under surveillance after the FBI reports on him.

Truman promoted White from Asst. Secretary of the Treasury to U. S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund early in 1946.

Brownell charged in a speech in Chicago last week that Truman took this action in the face of two FBI reports that exposed White as a Soviet spy.

Brownell called it an "established fact" that White was a spy when Truman sent his nomination to the Senate.

Caudle told newsmen he saw a 10 to 16 page FBI report on White while White's nomination was pending before the Senate.

"Although I cannot remember anything in the report," he said, "its contents alarmed me."

In talking with reporters, he said that in the 1948 campaign he had made a lot of speeches

Text of Truman Letter to Velde

Ex-President's Refusal Based Upon Historic Precedents

NEW YORK (AP)—The text of former President Truman's letter to Rep. Harold H. Velde (R-Ill), chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, in which Truman refused to comply with a committee subpoena:

Dear Sir:

I have your subpoena dated Nov. 3, 1953, directing my appearance before your committee on Friday, Nov. 13, in Washington. The subpoena does not state the matters upon which you seek my testimony, but I assume from the press stories that you seek to examine me with respect to matters which occurred during my tenure in the presidency of the United States.

In spite of personal willingness to cooperate with your committee, I feel constrained by my duty to the people of the United States to decline to comply with the subpoena.

In doing so, I am carrying out the provisions of the Constitution of the United States; and am following a long line of precedents, commencing with George Washington himself in 1796.

Since his day, Presidents Jefferson, Monroe, Jackson, Tyler, Polk, Fillmore, Buchanan, Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, Coolidge, Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt have declined to respond to subpoenas or demands for information of various kinds by Congress.

The underlining reason for this clearly established and universally recognized constitutional doctrine has been succinctly set forth by Charles Warren, one of our leading constitutional authorities, as follows:

"In this long series of contests by the executive to maintain his constitutional integrity, one sees a legitimate conclusion from our theory of government . . . under our Constitution, each branch of the government is designed to be a coordinate representative of the will of the people . . ."

"Defense by the executive of his constitutional powers become in very truth, therefore, defense of

Truman Explains Walk as Early Farm Habit

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Truman, briskly pacing the sidewalks of New York, told newsmen today he had been taking early morning walks for more than 40 years.

"What started you?" asked one slightly winded newsman.

May Inherit Yukon Cash but Relatives Stay Calm

BAY CITY (UP)—An elderly mother and her adopted daughter said today they couldn't get "too interested" in the possibility that they might be heirs to an $80,000 fortune left by a Yukon gold miner and trapper.

The women, Mrs. Otillie Kellerman and her daughter, Mrs. Agnes Ribeaud, are the only relatives uncovered so far of Albert Kellerman, 82, who died in his Yukon cabin last December.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police asked local authorities to hunt Kellerman's relatives here after they learned he had lived in Bay City before trying to "strike it rich" in the north in 1898 with his brother, Frank.

Mrs. Otillie Kellerman is Frank's widow. Frank returned from the Yukon two years after making the trek north some $500 poorer than when he left. His brother, who never married, stayed to amass his stake.

"We're not too much interested," said Mrs. Kellerman. "We're not that crazy for money that it makes much difference whether we get it or not."

However, she has engaged an attorney to determine whether she and Mrs. Ribeaud had a legal claim to the estate.

The daughter was similarly unimpressed.

"We have enough to live on here, so we really don't care," Mrs. Ribeaud said.

The Kellerman brothers invested $500 each along with 30 other Michiganders in the Yukon Valley Prospecting & Mining Co., of Chicago, for transportation to Alaska and the right to prospect.

Former Aide at White House Defends Truman's Attitude on White Spy Case

(Editor's Note: In the following dispatch, a former White House aide tells part of ex-President Truman's side of the Harry Dexter White controversy. The aide, who was very close to Mr. Truman at the time of the White incident, talked to U. P. White House reporter Merriman Smith, an old acquaintance, on the condition his name would not be used.)

WASHINGTON (UP) — A former White House aide of Harry S. Truman scanned the headline tempest over the Harry Dexter White case today and came up with this evaluation of the ex-President:

"He was a clean guy who grew up in a dirty crowd."

The ex-assistant is now in private business and does not want to be drawn into the controversy over GOP charges that Truman promoted White in the face of FBI warnings that he was a spy. Consequently, the aide cannot be identified by name.

But he was in an excellent position to watch the ex-President, sometimes literally over his shoulder, during the days which now figure in the GOP investigations.

The United Press asked him to describe the atmosphere at the White House in late 1945 when Truman, according to Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., first received a danger signal from the FBI about White.

"You must remember," he said, "that these things happened in the pre-Whittaker Chambers period and just when Elizabeth Bentley was beginning to talk. As a matter of fact, rumors about White had been floating pretty freely around the government since 1942 or 1943, but there was no proof of anything.

"It is entirely conceivable to me," he went on, "that Mr. Truman could have paid little attention to the first report on White. The second report was a different matter — I understand the FBI hasn't released that one.

"At any rate, this was a complicated and bewildering period for Mr. Truman. He was a clean guy who grew up in a dirty crowd. He had sort of a 'code duello' — he didn't want to crack down on a guy just because somebody said something bad about him.

"As I understand it, the first FBI report on White was based almost entirely on Bentley information. The President never told me, but I got the idea he felt that here was a woman that nobody ever heard of and, to put it mildly, was just a bit eccentric.

"Mr. Truman's attitude then and later was 'don't fill a dispatch until those things are thoroughly looked over.' When the New York

Birmingham Phone Users to Get Booklets Outlining New Nationwide Dialing

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Approximately 12,000 booklets describing nationwide toll telephone dialing and listing area code numbers to be used, will be sent in the mail to Birmingham residents beginning tomorrow.

The move is part of establishing Birmingham as the second city in the country able to dial directly across the nation. The service will commence at 2 p.m. Nov. 20.

Outlining the toll dialing procedure, the booklet explains that the caller must first determine whether the place to be called is part of the new system. A directory is provided.

Following this, the call is completed by merely dialing the three digit area code numerals before the regular telephone number desired. To call Oakland, Calif., ANdover 1-2345, for example, the area code number 415 is dialed, followed by AN and 1-2345.

Local Bell Manager Albert H. Warner explained that such present telephone trouble in getting dial tones, and having dialed numbers revert to a dial tone, is due to the installation of the new equipment.

"As we tie in parts of the new equipment for the nationwide toll dialing, some overloads result, but this will be eliminated shortly," he stated.

Warner added that progress on the $160,000 third-story addition to the Bell building here is well ahead of schedule, and is expected to be completed by the first of the year.

Early estimates on the job set spring as the completion date. The brick work has been completed, leaving interior construction to be finished before new dial switching equipment is shipped for installation. It will contain apparatus to provide additional telephones for Birmingham.

Truman Rejects Probe Subpoena

for Truman This, of course, was after he had seen the FBI report on White and after White had been confirmed by the Senate.

Asked about this, Caudle said he felt he had done all he could by calling the report to the attention of Tom Clark, who was attorney general in 1946 and now is a Supreme Court justice.

"Besides," said Caudle, "there was no proof that these statements about this man (White) were true."

He remarked that a lot of people knew of the report and added that if, in fact, White was a member of an espionage system, "then they would have kept him under constant surveillance."

"I've thought perhaps that's exactly why it was done," Caudle said. He did not elaborate.

Caudle, who now practices law in North Carolina, was fired from the Truman administration in November 1951, in the midst of a congressional investigation of tax scandals.

There had been a disclosure that Caudle received a commission on an airplane sale involving a taxpayer who was in difficulties. At that time, Caudle was in charge of prosecution of tax cases.

The senators planned a public hearing with Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan as the witness. Brownell said FBI reports intended for Truman were delivered to Vaughan, then the President's military aide.

Preliminary to the public hearing the senators had a private session with Mrs. Ruth Campbell who was Vaughan's secretary at the White House.

Robert Morris, subcommittee counsel, said little new testimony had been provided.

"Only a few unimportant things," Morris commented.

Morris said that at the open session this afternoon Caudle probably would be the leadoff witness. He said Mrs. Campbell might not even be asked to appear at the open session because her testimony added little.

There was some speculation that Velde's go-'round with Truman may mean the Un-American Activities Committee will stay out of the future investigation of the whole affair.

In his letter to Velde, Truman said he was following the Constitution of the United States and precedents set since 1796 in refusing to honor the committee's summons.

He said the letter was "my official statement" and that he would not expand on it.

In a crowded news conference at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, Truman explained that the letter had been delivered to Velde in Washington this morning.

"I'll read it slowly for reporters and then I'll read it for the television cameras and there'll be no questions," he said.

"I say this now so you'll know what we're doing and why we're doing it."

At the outset of the letter, Truman told Velde the subpoena does "not state the matter on which you wish to examine me."

But he said:

"I assume you wish to examine me about matters which occurred when I was President of the United States."

Then he recited a long list of constitutional and historical precedents as to why he should ignore the committee's subpoena.

Truman was in good humor as he sat down at a table bedecked with microphones and surrounded by some 75 newsmen and cameramen.

The conference on the 28th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria was called after Truman had parried queries as to his stand for several days.

On his pre-breakfast walk this morning, however, he said a statement was being prepared.

Everell Fisher Tells Tri-Area Workers to Hustle in Last 2 Days

BIRMINGHAM — Everell Fisher, general campaign chairman for the Birmingham - Bloomfield - Franklin 1953 Torch Drive, reported that as of Wednesday morning contributions totaled $139,950, or 92 per cent of the local UF goal.

"With only two campaign days to go and $12,768 more to achieve, the volunteers will have to hustle to get in under the wire," Fisher said. "But we're sure they're going to make it."

Fisher attributed probable success of the drive to community spirit, but he added that enough praise could not be given the hundreds of women volunteers.

Mrs. J. Rowland Quinn, campaign director, asked volunteers to continue turning in reports as rapidly as possible. Residents who have not yet been solicited were asked to call the United Foundation office in the Briggs Building, or mail in their contributions.

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland said the campaign in the schools this year was promoted as a project in social studies, with the result that not only were contributions increased but education gains made as well.

The school program stressed the desirability of students earning their personal contributions to the Torch Drive. Birmingham public schools reported $5,226, as compared with $3,157 in 1952.

Winning posters in the schools' Torch Drive contest are now being displayed in store windows.

popular rights—defense of power which the people granted to him.

"It was in that sense that President Cleveland spoke of his duty to the people not to relinquish any of the powers of his great office. It was in that sense that President Buchanan stated the people have rights and prerogatives in the execution of his office by the President which every President is under a duty to see 'shall never be violated in his person' but 'passed to his successors unimpaired by the adoption of a dangerous precedent.'

"In maintaining his rights against a trespassing Congress, the President defends not himself, but popular government; he represents not himself but the people."

President Jackson repelled an attempt by the Congress to break down the separation of powers in these words:

"For myself I shall repel all such attempts as an invasion of the principles of justice as well as of the Constitution, and I shall esteem it my sacred duty to the people of the United States to resist them as I would the establishment of a Spanish inquisition."

I might commend to your reading the opinion of one of the committees of the House of Representatives in 1879, House Report, 141, March 3, 1879, 45th Congress, 3rd session, in which the House Judiciary Committee said the following:

"The executive is as independent of either house of Congress as either house of Congress is independent of him, and they cannot call for the records of his actions, or the action of his officers against his consent, any more than he can call for any of the journals or records of the House or Senate."

If must be obvious to you that if the doctrine of separation of powers and the independence of the presidency is to have any validity at all, it must be equally applicable to a President after his term of office has expired.

Meet Your Commissioners

Long Financial Experience Makes Executive Valuable

(Editors Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles entitled "Meet Your Commissioners," concerning Birmingham lawmakers. The series is designed to make these men and their opinions better known.)

CHARLES RENFREW

BIRMINGHAM — City Commissioner Charles Renfrew is, by confession, "a fugitive from justice."

Though not wanted by any law enforcement agencies, the tall Jam Handy account executive describes himself thus, occupationwise. He is the sole exception to a long line of lawyers which dates back several generations in his Bowling Green, Ky., family.

A resident here since 1938, he first took his place with the city officials when appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mayor Chad Ritchie in September 1951.

He successfully ran for the unexpired year of the term and then was awarded a three-year seat on the commission in the April election.

Among his other civic duties, during World War II he acted as financial consultant to the War Production Board for Michigan and Northern Ohio.

A graduate of Ogden College, Bowling Green, Ky., Renfrew came north in 1924, joining his brother in Birmingham and going to work as credit reporter for R. G. Dun Co.

He later switched to Dun and Bradstreet, and then spent 11 years as a statistician and economist in an investment business before joining Jam Handy.

His financial experience is an asset to the city commission, and Renfrew was one of the backers of shaping up the city's finance department and hiring a director of finance.

For relaxation, he is inclined to become a racketeer, of the tennis, badminton, and squash variety. Married to the former Louise McGuire of Montclair, N. J., they have sons, Charles, 24, in Korea with the Army, William, 21, on Guam with the Navy, Bruce, 18, a high school senior, and daughter Robin, 19, a University of Michigan sophomore.

"I favor the use of citizens' committees to help inform the public objectively on civic problems, but these committees must not be forced to make decisions which the commission should make," he stated.

To Open New Kresge Store

Mayor Pro-Tem to Snip Ribbon to Swing Doors at Maple and Henrietta

BIRMINGHAM — Tomorrow's opening of the new Kresge store at Maple and Henrietta, former site of the First Methodist Church, will be marked with all the glitter and cheer of the approaching holiday season.

When Mayor Pro-Tem Lance C. Minor snips the ceremonial ribbon at 9:30 a.m. the doors will swing open on one of the most completely modern stores in the area.

It is designed to integrate with Birmingham's own modern suburban living, and the exterior treatment of ledge stone and white-painted bricks harmonized with interior features of panoramic photographs and picturesque plastic wall paper.

The Birmingham High School, the Cranbrook Art Museum, and Quarton Park Waterfalls are shown in four ten foot pictures.

Self-selection is offered at more than half of the store's counters, with merchandise displayed in such a way as to make all items easy for shopper to find.

Henry L. Selters, veteran of 25 years with the company, will manage the new air conditioned store, as he did the former site at 183 N. Woodward.

Aide Says Truman in Dirty Crowd

grand jury in 1947 declined to indict White — after presentation of evidence from Miss Bentley — that apparently was what convinced the President to stick to his guns.

"This same grand jury, but after other presentation of evidence, indicted a lot of Communists. But they wouldn't indict White and the people who were named with him.

Can't you see from this how the President's 'red herring' philosophy built up?

"During the years I was at the White House, the FBI sent hundreds and hundreds of reports about specific individuals. Not one was ever directed to me, but plenty of them were later referred to me. I never saw the two reports on White.

"I would like to remind you, however, that these reports were most difficult to deal with. The material was not evaluated — not in the ones I saw—and a great deal of study was required to reach any point of evaluation.

"Every FBI report I ever saw always included a specific warning that the material in it should not be interpreted as any conclusion by the FBI.

"Don't get me wrong — I didn't see all the reports — only part of them. Was White a spy? It certainly never has been proved in a court, but as I say, I had nothing to do with the case. I never saw those two reports."

The American public spends about $300 million a year on eye care.

They Don't Mind Work —It's Just the Attitude

GRANDD CANYON, Ariz. (UP) — Emery Kolb, oldest resident of this community, thought it was a pretty sad day when he couldn't find anyone to paint his studio.

So Kolb, a photographer and operator of the studio here for many years, finally had to do the job himself.

Reason for the reluctance of painters? His studio is constructed on the rim of the gorge, overhanging a 600-foot drop.

About 31 million families in the United States own automobiles.

Eight States — California, Colorado, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Wyoming and Utah—have passed laws regulating the activities of "cloud dusters" who try to increase the rainfall.

Bad Check Suspects Returned to County

Extradition proceedings were completed and two Drayton Plains youths, charged with passing bad checks, were returned from Arizona yesterday by Oakland County sheriff's detectives.

Sam L. Jenkins, 21, and Robert P. North, 19, both of 251 Litchfield Rd., are accused of issuing bad checks at the Jack O'Hearts Bar at 2585 Dixie Highway in a complaint signed by the bar's owner, Brent L. Hart, on Oct. 15.

Jenkins and North were picked up on suspicion by Arizona lawmen and brought back to Pontiac by Detectives Delos Anderson and Leo Hazen.

When Canary birds were first exported from the Canary Islands for pets during the 16th Century, Spain tried and filed to maintain a monopoly of the trade by exporting only males.

The Night Was Dark for the Play's Premiere

ST. PETER PORT, Guernsey (UP) — Guernsey opened its big new power plant yesterday — and a few hours later the island's lights went out.

Takes Money to Have It

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Harvey Lee Jordan, charged with burglary, told authorities he needed the money to pay an attorney representing him on two other burglary charges.

Little Terrier Bundles Named Ike and Mamie

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — "Joy," the wire haired terrier at the executive residence, presented four bundles of joy to Gov. John Lodge's family — two males and two females.

The Lodges named the males "Ike" and the females "Mamie."

"But," complained Mrs. Lodge, "it didn't seem to do much good. If you call either 'Mamie' or 'Ike' — they all come running."

Brownell's Charges

Attorney General Brownell charges:

That Mr. Truman had promoted White from assistant secretary of the Treasury to U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund, knowing that the FBI said White was a Russian espionage agent.

Mr. Truman not only has denied this charge but says that "as soon as we found out White was wrong we fired him." The facts, however, seem to be that White never resigned from the Monetary Fund and that no record yet has been found of his dismissal from that post.

Also there is some support for Brownell's charge that at least nine members of the Truman Administration knew of the FBI report on White's espionage activities. It comes from Gov. Byrnes of South Carolina and T. Lamar Caudle, the ousted Justice Department official.

Byrnes, then Secretary of State, said he discussed the FBI report with the President and urged him to withhold White's Monetary Fund commission, advice which was not accepted. However, both Byrnes and Caudle are bitter personal enemies of Mr. Truman, and Byrnes thus far has refused to testify.

Before he refused further comment on the case, Mr. Truman declared that the spy charges against White had not been proved. It is true that up to his death in 1948 White denied spy activities or Communist affiliation. It also is true that the grand jury which heard his case brought forth no indictment.

Obviously the record in this matter is far from complete and there is need for disclosure of all facts which don't violate security. What Mr. Truman, Gen. Vaughan and Gov. Byrnes, who have been subpoenaed by the House Un-American Activities Committee, will add to the record remains to be seen.

Here is another case where it is wise to wait for all of the facts to be brought out. Then the people will be in a position to judge who is right and who is wrong.

Britain's Coal Problem

One of Britain's gravest problems is coal shortage, and the chief cause of it, experts say, is inefficient use of the available supply.

Britain, says their report, could save 30,000,000 tons of coal a year, stay warm and produce sufficient power by merely adopting available methods of fuel efficiency.

Ironically, that amount just equals the shortage which since the war has forced the use-less-coal and turn-off-the-light campaigns every Winter.

★ ★ ★

Declaring factories the most wasteful of Britain's coal users, the report adds that "industry has not replaced or materially modified its fuel and power equipment since the first world war. Machinery that was perhaps good enough when coal cost as little as 10 shillings a ton at the pithead, is not good enough for today."

★ ★ ★

One great source of waste is the hand firing of industrial power plants, in which 22,000,000 tons of coal are used annually. Mechanical equipment for firing these boilers would cost an estimated £12,000,000 but would save 3,500,000 tons of coal yearly worth £10,000,000.

★ ★ ★

"Britain," says the London Observer, "can afford no more delay in changing our attitude toward this precious, irreplaceable asset (coal) and learning to use it with scientific care," as American industry does.

A Cow for Suburbanites

Miniature cows ideally adapted to the needs of suburban families are attracting considerable attention in New York and Connecticut.

These relatively tiny milk producers aren't a new breed. Known as Dexters they originated in the mountains of Ireland. Except in size and feed consumption, they're no different than our domestic cattle. The average Dexter stands only 38 inches high and weighs around 500 pounds, compared to the Guernsey's 50 inches and 1,150 pounds.

One of the great advantages of Dexter ownership is lower feed costs. While a Guernsey needs two acres of pasture and from three to four tons of hay a year, the Dexter can get along with one acre of pasture and one ton of hay.

A further advantage is that these small cows do not have to be fed on alfalfa and clover. They thrive on a diet of weeds, wild grasses, thistles, nettles and even poison ivy. In fact on one farm in New York, Dexters are used in place of goats to keep the weeds down as well as give milk.

Even the Dexter's smaller milk production recommends it as a family cow in suburban areas. On the average they yield only two gallons a day compared to the Guernsey's five gallons, thus simplifying the problem of surplus milk disposal.

One other virtue is possessed by these pretty little animals. About the size of a Shetland pony, black or red, they cost their owners nothing for shelter. Even in Winter they scorn barns, protecting themselves against the weather by growing long shaggy coats.

Michigan Tourist Industry Claims It Exceeds Farming

Daffynition

Political platform: One that often has more pranks than planks.

Oakland County, with its 400 lakes and more state parks and other recreational playgrounds than any other county in the state, is quite interested in a new claim just put out by the Michigan tourist interests. They assert that figures already compiled prove that their industry this year advances from third to second place in the state. It jumps over farming and now is second only to manufacturing. A check among 10,000 tourists from other states, picked at random, shows that the average out-state automobile coming to Michigan for a vacation brings four people who remain 10 days and spend $249.

On Saturday's game, the 79 still remaining in the Man About Town football contest divide their predictions as follows: Nebraska, 48; Colorado, 29; tie game, 2.

Glad that the leaves now have nearly all fallen and the annual controversy about whether they should be raked up and burned or left where they fall is ended for a few months. Those conversant with soil needs say that the leaves have little value from a fertilizer standpoint, but others who have good lawns claim it is because they do not rake the leaves off them.

Clyle R. Haskill Defends Chief of Police; Says He Is Trying to Do His Job Honestly

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Our law enforcement officers are often castigated unjustly by the public when they are actually guilty of nothing except trying to perform the duties entrusted to them. We feel this to be the case with respect to the recent charges levelled at Police Chief Straley.

Admittedly none of us in our jobs are infallible or above criticism. However, it is not the American way of doing things to scream to the high heavens for someone's "scalp" simply because he or his associates do something that is contrary to your wishes.

Certainly, no intelligent person wants the police department to idly stand by and refrain from interceding in matters that rightfully lie within their jurisdiction. If this were true, then we should dispense with our police department completely and let the citizens run rampant.

Having had considerable contact with Chief Straley on safety problems, we feel that both he and his men are trying to do an honest and sincere job of law enforcement under trying conditions.

Certainly, if complaints are justified against any department of our city government, they can be handled without resorting to rabble-rousing tactics.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

So then after the Lord had spoken unto them, he was received up into heaven, and sat on the right hand of God.—Mark 16:19.

* * *

Having made an expiation for sins, He is set down on God's right hand forever. There is no more that even Immanuel can do. This is Love's extremest effort, God's last and greatest gift, God's own sacrifice. Can there be any escape for those who neglect so great salvation? James Hamilton.

Explained

At a popular port all the crew applied for shore leave except one man.

"What's the matter?" asked an officer. "Are you the only one who hasn't a wife in this port?"

"No," replied the exception. "I'm the only one who has!"

David Lawrence Believes:

Politicians Talk Too Soon and Too Much, Should Say 'No Comment' and Get Facts

WASHINGTON — Something seems to have happened to the old-fashioned deliberateness which men in public life used to apply to their conduct when explosive controversies of a delicate political nature suddenly confronted them.

Instead of calmly taking time to get all the facts and coming up in a few days with a cool and dispassionate appraisal, the tendency has been to go off half-cocked.

This applies both to former President Truman's handling of the Harry Dexter White case and to President Eisenhower's unnecessary comments at his press conference on the way the House Un-American Activities Committee had decided to subpoena former President Truman.

Also it applies to the impulsive action of the chairman of the House committee, who might better have waited to develop the case before summoning Truman.

When news first reached Truman, he said he had no recollection of the FBI memorandum mentioned by Attorney General Brownell in his speech last Friday and that anyway as soon as White's "disloyalty" was discovered, he was "fired."

Now it turns out that James F. Byrnes, then secretary of state, discussed the White case and the FBI memorandum with Truman.

Truman would have been subject to no criticism whatsoever if he had told the reporters that he would have to consult his files to determine what had really happened.

Nobody would have begrudged the former President an opportunity to learn what had occurred even if it took several days to get the facts.

But, in these days of pressure to get a headline before a counter-headline is obtained by the other side, Truman reacted precipitately and to his own disadvantage.

Truman never liked to delve deeply into lengthy reports and depended on his staff to evaluate them.

It is quite possible that the FBI memorandum wasn't taken seriously then, any more than it is given weight by lots of the pro-Truman and New Deal reporters here today who discount anything contributed by ex-Communists, especially if they have confessed their error.

It would have been much better, even this week, if the Democratic leaders had expressed dismay that any espionage agent had slipped through their checks, and they might have stated frankly that the matter of who did pooh-pooh the report and how it came to be disregarded at the White House should be thoroughly studied as a lesson for the future.

* * *

Instead, the cry of politics was raised, which is a political blunder in itself.

For it's bad politics for the Democrats to let the public get the impression that they would defend Communists in government, whereas the Republicans are the only ones trying to ferret them out.

It would have been so easy to keep the anti-Communist effort on a non-partisan basis. Instead, the Democratic strategy is playing into the hands of the Republicans and giving them an issue of prolonged effectiveness.

Actually there was a good deal of forbearance on Brownell's part. He first learned of the second FBI memorandum in mid-October and need not have waited till after the elections, if, indeed, he was interested in getting a political advantage.

As for President Eisenhower, he never should have stepped into the controversy at all at his press conference. He should have been briefed in advance to say only that his own attorney general was handling it.

Members of Congress are not happy when the President tries to tell them whom they should or shouldn't subpoena, especially when the chairmanships are held by members of his own party.

Some of the President's press conference comments implied that he was not supporting his own attorney general. It wasn't so intended, but that inference was drawn by the pro-Truman reporters who did most of the questioning.

They seemed to be more concerned about technical procedures than about the fact that a Russian spy for a long time held a high post in our government.

It would have been the better part of wisdom for the President to let the controversy simmer along, with the Department of Justice and congressional committees developing the case in their own way.

There would have been time enough for comment by the President when all the facts in the case had been brought out in public.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Baby Cannot Be 'Marked' by Worries of Its Mother

Rita is terrified about her forthcoming baby because of a superstition which is still widely prevalent in America. Save this Case Record for your scrapbook since it will relieve the minds of such anxious mothers. Truth frees us from all needless worries.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-340: Rita M., aged 22, has been married less than a year.

"Dr. Crane, we are expecting a baby in a few months," she said. "but I am all upset.

"For an older woman next door has scared me. A couple of weeks ago our kitchen caught on fire. The fire engine came and soon put it out.

"But this woman says the shock of this fire will probably mark my baby with a big red blotch on its face or body.

"She says that's exactly what happened to her sister when she had her last baby.

"Now I am so frightened I can't sleep or eat normally. So my husband insisted I come to you for help."

Mother love is a marvelous thing. Physicians get an emotional lift out of their childbirth cases when each baby is born, for the average mother anxiously asks:

"Doctor, is my baby all right?"

And by "all right" she means, "Does it have all its fingers and toes? Or is it crippled or marked in any way?"

A mother will thus forget herself and the many hours she has been in labor, because of her unselfish devotion to the welfare of her new baby.

And this unselfishness starts way back at the onset of her pregnancy when she hopes and prays that her baby will be O. K., both physicially and mentally.

So Rita's concern today about the possibility of "marking" her baby by her emotions, is an indirect compliment to you expectant mothers.

And one of the greatest pleasures I personally derive from writing this daily psychology column, is relieving people of unnecessary or obsolete notions that otherwise fetter their happiness.

Almost 4,000,000 babies are now born each year in the U. S. A., so you can imagine how many mothers and fathers, as well as in-laws, are concerned with such questions as Rita's.

So here's a specific and blunt answer. Babies cannot be "marked" by a mother's fears or worries or other emotional shocks!

And I don't say that just to relieve your anxiety. I'll give you the evidence.

The unborn baby has no nerves connecting it with the mother! For the umbilical cord, which attaches the fetus to the wall of the womb, contains blood vessels but has no nerves in it.

Obviously, therefore, the mother's mental upset cannot get to the child for there are no nerves to carry her ideas across!

"But, Dr. Crane, babies occasionally do have birthmarks. So how do you explain such things?" you may logically inquire.

Automobile engines occasionally have flaws in the metal, too, but these are not due to the thoughts or emotions of the men who make the cars, are they?

No, they are due to accidents in molding the block of the engine. And such accidents occur in all types of manufacturing, whether of textiles, automobiles or even human babies.

In medicine we call such incidents in human development "artefacts."

So you expectant mothers can relax. Your yen or craving for freakish foods like strawberries or watermelon out of season will not mark your baby, nor will your fears or even your noble thoughts, either.

Send for my bulletin "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. It will answer more questions in greater detail.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

This summer was so dry they put wheels on rowboats.

But we don't see how the Wisconsin farmers can blame that on the Republican administration.

If you want to trot out your dry spells how about that one from 1920 to 1932? The Republicans started that one too.

You're running out of politics when you've got to bring in atmospheric conditions.

We remember the North Dakota farmer who got tired of the tough winters and went to Texas. Down around San Antonio way he asked a Texas rancher if the weather was mild. The big-hatter said, "I've lived here 63 years and never saw it snow." Then he brightened up and added, "But I saw it rain twice."

Which was twice the average precipitation for the summer of 1953. It was so dry eastern farmers stacked the hay in the well.

In his baccalaureate for the White House graduating class for 1796 George Washington said, "Keep the weather out of politics. There's too much of it."

Paine said, "It rains on the just and the unjust alike. But not just enough."

Dr. Brady Upset Over Doctors Refusing to Allow Husbands in Delivery Room

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

One of the features of natural childbirth which uneducated women and 19th century obstructitians generally dislike is that the husband remains with his wife during labor and delivery as much time as possible.

The lengths to which many hospital superintendents, head nurses, staff physicians and even private practitioners go in the attempt to keep husband and wife apart at this important time is sickening to contemplate.

For instance they do not hesitate to tell prospective customers whom they consider ignorant and/or credulous, that there is a regulation of the board of health against admitting a patient's husband to the delivery room.

For the benefit of any of my readers who look ahead to parenthood I repeat what I have tried to say here many times, that any one who makes that outrageous statement is either too ignorant or too dishonest to trust in any capacity.

If readers would give me the name and address of any one who does so, and the name of the health board or the state or province to which the person ascribes the "regulation" or "law," I may be able to do something to stop it.

Needless to say, there's nothing I can do if the "regulation" is just a hospital regulation, for ninteenth century hospitals stick at nothing to keep unsophisticated customers unaware of what goes on.

Another feature of natural childbirth which the half informed and misinformed and their medical exploiters fail to understand or recognize is that the woman undergoing natural childbirth has only to say when she wants anesthesia or drug to ease pain—and she gets it.

Anyone who tries to tell you anesthetics and/or analgesics are not used in natural childbirth is in error.

As a matter of fact either or both are used in most cases, although it is pretty convincing evidence of the superiority of natural childbirth over all other methods that in nearly one-third of all cases patients not only do not ask for drugs but refuse to take anything of the sort.

Prospective parents who do not relish being patronized, scientifically exploited and pushed around in a 19th century institution may learn something to their advantage by asking Maternity Center Association, 48 E. 92nd St., New York 28, N. Y., what physicians in their community use the method.

I'm sorry I can't provide this information—just accumulating the data would be a whale of a lot of extra work.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Churchill Names New Assistant to Anthony Eden

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden has a new aide in his office today. Prime Minister Churchill announced he has named the Marquess of Reading as minister of state for foreign affairs. Selwyn Lloyd, Britain's chief delegate to the United Nations, holds the same title. A government spokesman said the new appointment would not affect Lloyd's post.

Court Orders Jail Repairs

County of Shiawassee Must Do $25,000 Fixing Job in 4 Months

OWOSSO (AP)—Shiawassee County faces a court order today to do a $25,000 repair job on its county jail within four months.

The order was handed down by Circuit Judge Russel Holland of Oakland County in a suit brought against Shiawassee County by the State Corrections Commissioner. He charged the building was unsafe, inadequate and a fire hazard.

It was filed two years ago. The judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Holland rejected a Shiawassee claim that he had no jurisdiction. He held the maintenance and management of a county jail are matters of public welfare and concern the state.

He ordered eight fire doors installed in the jail, construction of three 8-inch brick walls inside the jail, a complete rewiring job, more lighting and other improvements.

At one time the state threatened to close the jail. Twice citizens defeated a proposed $250,000 bond issue to build a new jail.

Need Weird Combination to Open Old City Hall Safe

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — It takes an unusual combination to open the safe in the city office at suburban Springfield — a combination of agility and luck.

It's a cantankerous old safe, and when city manager Willard N. Norris bends down to open it, he's got to be as shifty as a college halfback, because this safe fights back.

Actually no combination at all opens the safe. A weird part of key, consisting of a short brass rod with different-sized steel pins set in it, is the culprit. It's a very strange key:

But the malevolent safe is the real dangerous party because unless you watch our it spits the key right back in your face.

Locksmiths point out this isn't unusual for a safe of its age. It's the ancient locking mechanism that goads this safe into its frenzied activity.

Inserting the key into the lock, Norris puts his hand up to guard himself. It opens easy enough, but when the safe is closed and locked — twang — went the key, shot from the lock by a spring.

Norris points out, as he gets up, that nothing of importance is kept in the safe. "Just a few papers and other records worthless to anybody but the city."

Not very safe, for a safe, this is one that has a long history. Miss Josephine F. Williams of Springfield got it from her parents, gave it to the city. Her parents got it from Frank C. Clapp, former mayor of Battle Creek in 1904.

No one knows when it was made, but some old locksmith is probably grinning in the great unknown, every time city manager Norris closes his cantankerous old safe.

Fewer Seek Jobs With Police Force

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Applications for police jobs have dropped considerably in recent years, according to Richard C. Roe of the Civil Service Commission.

In 1950, there were 759 candidates for patrolman and 201 passed the examinations. Recently, only 324 candidates took the tests and 82 passed.

Roe said salary and hours were the chief reasons for discouraging applicants. In Buffalo, patrolmen start at $3,700 and advance to $4,000 after four years. They must work 44 hours a week, including a variety of hours.

The local force has 1,399 members at full strength, with 20 vacancies at present and an ever increasing number being lured to more lucrative jobs in industry.

Japan, with 85.5 million people, is about the same area as Montana.

Wins Year's Egg Supply; Will Collect Piecemeal

NOWATA, Okla. (AP)—Jack Gordon was named winner of a church contest to attract workers to a kickoff breakfast opening a Boy Scout fund drive.

First prize, he was told, would be a year's supply of eggs. He figured that to be about 40 dozen.

Guard Dog Stolen

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—R. V. Spillner left his collie dog, Trix, to guard his parked car against prowlers. When he returned an hour later he told police, his cigarette lighter was gone and so was Trix.

More than one-third of Montana's farm land is irrigated.

Man-on-Street OKs Truman Subpoena

beach, Keego Harbor, an art teacher, said: "Certainly I agree with the former President being summoned to Washington. He's a private citizen now and he's the only person who can give the other side of the story. As far as Communist probes in Washington and elsewhere are concerned, I think that they are good."

PHILLIPS

Mrs. Phillip Pratt of 517 E. Pike St., an Oakland County employe, said she thought that probes are good to a certain extent but that some politicians are using them as an excuse to gain publicity for themselves. "I don't think that former President Truman should have been subpoenaed however since it's liable to cause an unhealthy reaction in other countries."

MRS. PRATT

MRS. WILDER

"Truman is just like any other citizen now," said dental assistant Mrs. Martha Wilder of 6455 Adamson, Drayton Plains. "He should absolutely be called on if his information is needed."

"It's a good idea to call him in," stated Frank Hilton of 1039 Stanley, Birmingham, a lighting consultant. "As long as he's not in office he should be treated like anyone else. "This investigation is something which should have been done long ago. The new administration is bringing a lot of dirt out of the closet."

HILTON

Real estate saleslady Mrs. Clyde Runyan of 441 First Ave. said: "If White was guilty and Truman knowingly condoned his continuance in a government job, then Truman is responsible and should be questioned. "Truman is just as subject to the laws of the nation as any other man."

MRS. RUNYAN

McCULLOCH

Miss Ruby McCulloch of 170½ Auburn Ave., a typist, could see no reason why Truman's subpoenaing should cause an uproar. "He's just a citizen now."

A Port Huron resident visiting here felt that Truman would give a good account of himself if questioned, "because he has a fine mind and good religious philosophy."

Another Pontiac man who withheld his name also felt that Truman was "only a citizen" and was rightly subpoenaed.

Birmingham Woman Hurt in Collision

A Birmingham woman was injured yesterday when two cars and a truck collided on U. S. 10 just north of M 58 in Waterford Township, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ball, 66, of 1295 Cole St., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with knee and face cuts and a concussion. She is reported in good condition today.

The accident occurred when Leroy Kenne, 44, of 4177 Four Lakes Ave., Linden, attempting a left turn with his truck, was struck from behind by a car driven by Mrs. Ball's husband, George, 69, deputies said.

A third vehicle, driven by Robert Brill, 28, of 4286 Marcus Rd., Waterford, then piled into the car and truck ahead of him, deputies said. All were northbound on U. S. 10.

U. S. Court Approves NFL's Radio and TV

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — U. S. District Court Judge Allan K. Grim today upheld the National Football League's television and radio policies, throwing out a government anti-trust suit against the league members clubs.

The jurist found the present television and radio policy of the league was legal.

"Professional football is a unique type of business," the judge said in his decision. "Like other professional sports which are organized on a league basis, it has problems which no other business has."

Pork Headlines Meat Bargains

Loin Roasts Featured; Good Buys on Apples, Cabbage, Beef, Eggs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roast pork leads the parade of best buys in food stores and supermarkets around the country this week. And there's plenty of red cabbage, sauerkraut and apple sauce to go with it.

Some of the big trend-setting food chains are featuring pork loins at prices ranging from 4 to 10 cents below last week's levels. Weekend "specials" in pork loins are being advertised from Los Angeles to New York.

Beef also is lower in many parts of the country, notably top sirloin, rib roast and pot roast. Lamb continues higher.

Prices of frying chickens are mostly unchanged; in many areas the plump fryers and broilers are a good bargain.

Egg prices are down again with reductions of one or two cents a dozen in wide areas of the nation, but a gradual rise can be expected as holiday demand picks up.

Best buys on the vegetable counter this week include many of the traditional "fixin's" for a roast pork dinner. Theree's cabbage of all varieties—red, savoy, "Danish" and domestic. Also in the "best buy" category are round white potatoes. Among the good buys are greens (spinach, kale, turnip tops and collards), radishes, peppers and winter squash.

Apples continue to head the list of standout buys in the fresh fruit department.

Most citrus fruits are plentiful. Tangerines—sky-high in price when the season's first shipments reached market last week — are down sharply. They are expected to get still cheaper and more plentiful as harvesting of the currennt crop progresses.

Several off-season fruits are available in big city produce markets this week—if you don't mind paying off-season prices. Included are strawberries, raspberries, pomegranates and limes.

The Agriculture Department has singled out the winter pear as its headliner this week. If the pears are not quite ripe when you buy them, let them ripen at home at room temperature.

'Duck Hunters' Really After Shell Fishermen

APPONAUG, R. I. (AP)—Several men went duck hunting yesterday —but they weren't after ducks.

They were fish and game wardens, fully equipped as duck hunters but actually after men shellfishing in polluted waters.

They chased and caught four men in their motorboat.

SNOW FOOLIN' — It takes lots of snow as well as sun to make this imaginative ski suit practical. Designed by Andre Ledoux, of Paris, France, for resorts where simultaneous skiing and sun bathing are possible, the "fake fur" costume, made of white nylon ducine, teams a bare-topped bodice with bulky slacks. Fur hat, gloves and white ski boots complete the outfit.

Reporter, Ex-Official Jailed in Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — A former education minister of this British colony and a newspaper reporter has been arrested on charges of conspiracy in connection with "state secrets."

The action was taken yesterday against ex-Minister Lester Simmonds, fired last month by Gov. Sir Hugh Foot on the recommendation of Prime Minister Alexander Bustamante, and Vincent Truman, a reporter for the Kingston Daily Gleaner.

National party leader Norman Manley charged recently that secret documents of the colony's Executive Council have been sold to Kingston merchants with one tipoff alone costing the government more than $250,000 in revenue.

NEW JOB—Vice Admiral Arthur C. Davis has been chosen by President Eisenhower as director of foreign affairs. He previously was deputy U.S. representative on a standing group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

General Keeps Mental File

Gruenther Holds Secret Matters on File in His Photographic Mind

PARIS (UP)—Secrets the public didn't hear at Britain's Farnborough air show are locked in NATO's most spy-proof "file" — five-foot, eight-inch Alfred Maxmillian Gruenther, 54, supreme commander of the allied armies, fleets and warplanes in Europe.

Thrust figures on jet engines which may not be fully developed for months are stacked neatly, accurate to the finiest decimal point, in the photographic mind of the American general.

Plane performances, cost estimates and production rates on Britain's aviation industry are locked behind the smile on Gruenther's favorite "file," his head, along with the ages of the Italian defense minister's six children, the pass in northern Norway he looked at for a few seconds and can draw from memory on a blackboard, and more hard statistics than any other single general can remember in the Atlantic coalition of 14 allies.

He has squelched French complaints about lagging British coal production with replies detailing tonnages mined per month in Welsh coal fields, where the coal was shipped, and whether it was stored.

An aide who suggested the supreme commander should refer to the European ally as The Netherlands rather than Holland received a famous "Gruenthergram" in reply, referring him to a 500-page volume and directing him to turn to page 287.

On that page of a book Gruenther has scanned years before was this sentence—"If you call this country Holland the people do not mind at all."

Then there are the scarlet toy grasshoppers that leap as tall as Nebraska corn from any desk to which they are attached.

By carting around a carton of the grasshoppers, he has won the hearts of moppets and the occasional title of "Uncle Al" throughout Europe.

Italian Prime Minister Guiseppe Pella's 12-year-old daughter, Vanda, is the proud owner of a Gruenther-hopper and his defense minister's six children received pens and jumping toys as well.

The child of a Greek officer attached to Gruenther's staff is popping his way to recovery with the toy gun Gruenther sent when the youngster's poliomyelitis crisis had passed.

There is not a single birth, death, marriage or engagement in the allied headquarters about which Gruenther fails to learn and appropriately recognize.

Newspapers in Oslo tagged him with a rhyming headline—"Muntre Gruenther" (Smiling Gruenther) — on his recent visit there when he relaxed between a grueling series of conferences by handing out toys. That was the trip on which he charted Norway's defenses mentally during a brief plane flight.

Classroom 'Adventure' Improves Attendance

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP) — Teachers who want to improve school attendance must have "adventure" in the classroom, Cornell University Prof. Clyde B. Moore believes.

Moore told educators at a meeting of the New York State Attendance Association that schools must capitalize on children's natural urge to strive for worthwhile goals.

"One of the tests of a good teacher is the degree to which he can lead pupils to feel the spirit of adventure as each new bit of understanding is discovered realized and made meaningful," Moore said.

Fewer 1-Room Schools

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP) — The one-teacher school is fading in Kansas. The Department of Education reported that the start of classes this fall finds 117 fewer of the little one-room, one-teacher schools. Eighteen that were closed last year re-opened, but 135 which operated a year ago were discontinued.

Aussie Dairymen Use Artificial Insemination

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Australia is gradually following the examples of more developed countries in the use of artificial insemination in the dairying industry.

The New South Wales state government has an artificial breeding center at Berry on the south coast. Another is to begin soon as a co-operative venture at Aberdeen.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—O. M. Boucher, owner of a package liquor store, decided to sleep at his place while it was undergoing repairs, as a precaution against burglars. When he went home to get a cot to take to the store, someone broke into the place and took $100 worth of liquor.

Salt to Fresh Water Research Continues

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—Scientists at Battelle Memorial Institute are working on a new angle in their research to change salt water into fresh so it is fit for human consumption.

Under the direction of Dr. B. S. Landry, the men at Battelle are studying the possible evaporation of saline waters by steam from the sun's rays.

There are several known processes by which salt water can be converted to fresh, but all are too costly. The research here and at eight other laboratories is being financed by the federal government to find a better method of converting the water to solve the problem of water shortages that are approaching the critical stage in many areas.

Bob Considine Says:

Committee-Truman Clash May Leave Black Bruises

NEW YORK (INS)—The White House vs. the House Un-American Activities Committee (Part I)—

We've been mulling for centuries over what happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object, and part of the answer may be supplied when Harry Truman collides with the House Un-American Activities Committee.

It will be the first physical brush between perhaps the most explosive political figure of the decade and a body which has managed to survive in the face of bitter opposition in the highest places.

But there have been many long-range punches traded between these two.

* * *

"A red herring of the strongest type of smell," Truman said of the committee, after the 1948 testimony it had taken from Elizabeth Bentley, Whittaker Chambers, Alger Hiss, Alexander Koral (accused Communist courier), Victor Perlo, Gilda de Frank Burke, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, Duncan C. Lee, Maj. William Ludwig Ullman ("I refuse to answer on the ground, etc. etc."), Robert T. Miller, Henry H. Collins, Charles Kramer, George Silverman, Lauchlin Currie (former aide to F.D.R.) and Harry Dexter White.

* * *

The President repeated the "red herring" charge after the unearthing of the "pumpkin papers" and Hiss' indictment.

Then there was the Truman vs. Committee scrape involving Dr. Edward U. Condon, once director of the National Bureau of Standards on the strength of a recommendation by Henry Wallace.

The advice of Drs. Vannevar Bush and Lyman Briggs, usually sought, was bypassed in Condon's elevation to the important post.

Condon had served briefly in the Manhattan engineering district, the name by which the vast work of creating the A-bomb was known. Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (who later went to prison on a kickback charge) received a letter questioning Condon's record.

The letter was from a former security officer attached to MED. Thomas turned the matter over to Robert E. Stripling, the committee's chief investigator.

Stripling's office was able to secure a paraphrase of a letter which J. Edgar Hoover sent to Department of Commerce about Condon, naming some of Dr. and Mrs. Condon's friends — including Silvermaster, an associate of Harry Dexter White and named by naval intelligence and by Elizabeth Bentley as a Communist spy.

The committee made an effort to get the letter from Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman, Condon's boss. Truman ordered the letter brought to the White House.

A special congressional committee voted 19 to 1 urging him to release it. But to this day it has never been made public, though it has been charged in some circles that it cleared Condon, and that the committee's hastily-scrawled paraphrase of it maliciously deleted sentences that absolved Condon.

Condon was not permitted to leave the country when he sought to make a trip to Russia after the war. He was not cleared by the AEC to share in all atomic secrets even at the time he headed up many atomic scientists and technicians working at the Bureau of Standards.

His office urged government scientists to join the American-Soviet Science Society, a subsidiary of the National Council for American Soviet Friendship, Inc., termed a subversive organization by the attorney general's office.

Chairman Thomas, a bear for publicity, insisted on issuing an interim report about Condon.

Other members of the committee begged him not to do so, but he handed down his decision from his Walter Reed Hospital (Wash., D. C.) wheel-chair. The report called Condon the "weakest link" in our atomic security.

Condon immediately demanded a hearing. He never got one, a fact which Stripling deplored upon resigning some time later. The Department of Commerce cleared Condon, but the committee doggedly charged that the department's loyal board had called only one witness during its 10 months of hearings.

And the White House never released the FBI letter—a 3½ page document which may still be gathering dust there.

"Those fellas are always trying to get publicity," Truman complained cheerfully as he set off for the historic collision. The membership of the committee has, of course, changed thoroughly.

But the pelt looks the same to H.S.T. and he aims to plug it before it can do anything about clawing him.

More anon.

Orange County Finds Ike and Dulles Doubles

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP) — Orange County has a good start toward producing a full set of doubles, in looks, at least, for leading members of the national administration. Associates of former City Judge Edmund C. Faulkner of Middletown have remarked frequently of late his resemblance to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. That makes two key figures.

Ever since Dwight D. Eisenhower came into political prominence Harry Strong of White Plains, a native of Goshen, has had to explain time and again to people ranging from shoeshine boys to Very Important Persons that he really was not the President.

Early printed books imitated manuscript volumes.

Resist Temptation, Boys Only Ask Out

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (UP) Two teen-agers realized a dream of all youngsters—being alone in a room full of ice cream and candy. But, they weren't too happy about the situation.

• • •

The boys, Theodore Fisin, 15, and Jack Harrington, 14, put in a few uneasy minutes when they came under the suspicion of a policeman.

The boys entered an ice cream parlor thinking it was still open, but the owner had gone home and accidently left the door ajar. The boys walked in and the door locked shut behind them before they realized they were alone.

• • •

They finally were freed by a policeman after convicing him they had no intention of breaking in—but only wanted to get out.

The boys went home without any ice cream. They said they'd lost their appetites, anyway.

Hawk Comes to Dinner and Won't Go Home

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — Rex Addis and his family have a chicken hawk that came to dinner.

The hawk was fed by the family. It spends most of its time in nearby trees, but swoops down to eat and visit with the Addis' 11-year-old son, Michael.

Addis said the hawk has frightened away all dogs, cats, squirrels and birds in the neighborhood. Michael has grown quite fond of the bird.

The type of boomerang which returns to the owner was used mostly as a plaything although birds were sometimes killed with it and the weapon often could prove dangerous to the user.

Auto Accident Driver Sleeps Awaiting Help

DAVENPORT, Wash. (UP)—George M. Denham who started out on a fishing trip at a reservoir above Grand Coulee Dam, rolled his car over, smashing in the top and wrecking the steering wheel.

Deputy sheriffs said the car landed upright. They found him asleep, uninjured.

"There didn't seem to be much else to do," said Denham. "I knew somebody would find me."

Woman Found No Good Samaritans

YAKIMA, Wash. (UP)—Chivalry was dead.

Mrs. Margaret Graham of Yakima told sheriff's officers she ran her car into a ditch when she was blinded by lights of an oncoming car.

A car stopped, she said, and a man got out and asked her if she was hurt. She said no. So, she said, the man got in his car and drove off, leaving her in the ditch.

A second car stopped, she said, and a man got out and asked if she was hurt. Again she said no. She told officers that the man then pushed her into the ditch, took her purse containg $45 and drove off.

Spy Suspect Joined Treasury in 1934

Who was Harry Dexter White, the man Atty. Gen. Brownell claims was promoted by former President Harry S. Truman after the FBI labeled him a Russian spy?

Born in Boston in 1892 of Lithuanian parents, White attended grade school in Everett, Mass., an industrial-residential suburb of Boston. There is little record of his early years other than that he married a Russian-born girl named Ann Terry shortly before starting a two-year hitch in the U. S. Army.

Emerging from World War I as an infantry lieutenant, White spent the next two years directing an orphanage sponsored by American Expeditionary Forces.

He received a bachelor's degree in economics from Stanford University in 1924, a master's degree in 1925 and his doctorate in economics from Harvard in 1930.

HARRY DEXTER WHITE

Four years later he got his first government job as assistant director of research for the U. S. Treasury. During his 12 years as a federal employe he cut an ever widening trail in the government's economic policies.

In 1940 he became director of monetary research for the Treasury Department; in 1942 he was special assistant to the secretary of the treasury; in 1943 assistant to the secretary; and in 1945 assistant secretary.

The following year he was appointed U. S. executive director of the International Monetary Fund. Earlier he had co-authored with British economist John M. Keynes an International Monetary Fund plan which was adopted at the Bretton Woods conference in 1944 despite Russian objections. The USSR never joined.

He also wrote the controversial "Morgenthau Plan" — designed to reduce post-war Germany to an agrarian state. The idea was short-lived.

He left the Fund in April, 1947. Truman says that, when it was discovered White was "wrong," he was fired by being allowed to resign.

White's name was first linked publicly with spying in the United States by Miss Elizabeth Bentley on July 31, 1948, when she testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Miss Bentley, a self-confessed courier for the Russian spy network in the United States before renouncing the Communist party, told investigators that both White and Lauchlin Currie, wartime aide to President Roosevelt, "furnished information to spy 'groups'" allegedly operated by two ex-government employes—Nathan G. Silvermaster and Victor Perlo.

Three days later, Whittaker Chambers, another ex-Communist party member, told House probers that White was one of an "elite group" detached from the Communist party underground because he "showed promise of attaining high rank in Washington."

He added that White was a "fellow traveler" so far within the fold that "if he is not a Communist it would be a mistake on both sides."

On Aug. 13 White himself took the stand, denied ever having been a member of the Communist party and told investigators that his "creed is the American creed."

Three days later he died of a heart attack at his summer home at Fitzwilliam, N. H.

In death he was eulogized by former Vice President Henry A. Wallace who praised him for having traced Nazi secret financial accounts in neutral and friendly nations during World War II and decried the "grueling, witch-hunting 72-page cross-examination" White had undergone shortly before his death.

Holland Liner Veendam Due for Scrapping

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP)—The Dutch liner Veendam, described as the "graceful old lady" of the sea, is heading for the scrap heap.

The 30-year-old Holland-American Line ship pulled into the harbor last night to end her final Atlantic crossing without any fanfare. Since she was christened, the Veendam carried some 250,000 passengers on 393 trips across the Atlantic.

Now there's just one more voyage left — to Baltimore where she will be scrapped by the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Capt. Harm Oldenburger says there won't be any celebration when he takes the Veendam on the trip to Baltimore.

Welcome Nixon in South Korea

Vice President Confers With Rhee, May Bring Message to Ike

SEOUL (AP)—An estimated 50,000 South Koreans braved an icy winter wind today to greet U. S. Vice President Richard Nixon on his arrival in this battered capital.

Nixon told top American and Korean officials who met him at the airport that Korea is "the halfway point—and the high point" of his good will tour through the Far East.

He said Korea was where "aggressive imperialistic communism was stopped."

The vice president and his wife repeatedly stopped the motorcade which carried them into Seoul to shake hands with cold, shy school children who lined the street.

Koreans said Nixon's gesture helped to ease the hurt resulting from President Eisenhower's failure to make a public appearance during his hurried visit last December.

Nixon conferred with President Syngman Rhee, whose actions may have an important influence on U. S. policy in Asia.

He delivered to Rhee a letter from President Eisenhower.

Prime Minister Paik Too Chin said it would be made public later.

A major part of Nixon's report to Eisenhower is expected to be an evaluation of what Rhee may do when a 90-day deadline on a political settlement for Korea expires early next year.

Nixon's route into Seoul was patrolled by 2,500 Korean police. An officer followed the Nixon's car telling school children lining the curb to applaud. But soon they were applauding on their own.

Students Give Aid to Schools

Funds Donated to Buy Drinking Fountains and Public Address System

Look who's giving aid and comfort—and good hard cash—to Pontiac Public Schools!

Students today like school so well they are digging into their own pockets for gifts — such as drinking fountains and public address systems.

Even their parents are coming forward to help in buying school equipment.

Lincoln Junior High School PTA sent a delegation down to Wednesday's Pontiac Board of Education meeting to offer its funds towards buying side curtains and velvet drapes for Lincoln's auditorium stage. The PTA says it has about $700 now and expects another few hundred this spring.

Glenn H. Griffin, board president, told the group the board will consider the joint purchase—but warned that the school system is already running in the red this year.

Griffin confided that it disturbed him a bit that the students put in new drinking fountains at Pontiac High School. The board should be able to provide them, he said. Lincoln PTA'ers commented that students had paid for new drinking fountains and a public address system at Lincoln, too.

The delegation added that Lincoln needed a new dictionary for its library.

The present one is 17 years old. "Well," Griffin said, "we'll get you a dictionary.

Began With 50 Books

Clarkston Mothers Set Up Library Nine Years Ago

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Every week has been American Education Week for a group of Clarkston mothers since they founded their parent-supported school library nine years ago.

Today there is a 4,000 volume up-to-date university approved library that has required no capital outlay on the part of the school district and no expenditure for either facility or personnel.

Beginning with 50 books, 75 mothers today are active members of the organization with mother-teams serving as librarians one day a week.

"Mother" of the idea was Mrs. Mary Shanks. She told her neighbors of the necessity for more supplementary reading for Clarkston school youngsters and they immediately launched a series of paper drives, teas, game parties and a host of other fund-raising activities.

"The mere amassing of books on library shelves is of secondary value," said Superintendent Leslie F. Greene who has watched this organization in operation for the past three years.

He pointed out that it is a project developed "of the people, for the people and by the people."

"It is the total number of participating individuals that has closely knit this community enterprise and has brought the parent, teacher and pupil together.

The mothers have organized their own library board. On their assigned days, they dispense books to children and take care of cataloguing and book repair.

"It is amazing how much knowledge there is in this community on good children's books. Volunteer librarians can intelligently discuss the best of the old books and are informed on the most contemporary of children's literature," said Greene.

A cherished dream of this group had been the inclusion of a library facility in the construction of the recently-built elementary schools.

"They said they were fully aware that due to enrollment pressures and lack of adequate tax base that it was prohibitive to build special library rooms or to provide library facilities in each classroom. The elementary lobbies became their libraries and shelves were constructed against the lobby walls," Greene said.

"This gives a new function to school lobbies. We use ours for entrance in the morning, as a library during the day and as a cafeteria during the noon hour. In fact, it is even a little theater when not in use for the other activities," he added.

Assistance to AA Urged by Emrich

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, bishop of Michigan, urged the house of bishops of the Episcopal Church yesterday to open their parish houses to Alcoholics Anonymous for work among men who "have been living with their backs to God."

Bishop Emrich said that "the spirit of God moves through Alcoholics Anonymous with power."

"They are built on the Christian tradition and their great achievements throw back meaning into the prayer book," he continued. "I hope you will stretch out your hand to them, support them and receive help for our people from them."

Report 1st Vandalism in Aircraft Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police at suburban Maywood say they have received their first report of vandalism since the outbreak of the North American Aviation, Inc., strike Oct. 23.

Carl Stegman reported yesterday two tires were slashed on his car, parked on company property. Stegman said he walked out when the strike was called, but returned to his job Tuesday.

Meanwhile, a federal conciliator announced resumption of joint conferences today between company officials and representatives of the CIO auto workers. Workers are on strike at the Los Angeles, Fresno, Calif., and Columbus, Ohio, North American plants.

Estimate Made by Plan Group

Regional Commission Sets Oakland Increase at 79,000 since 1950

Oakland County's population has jumped nearly 20 per cent in the three years since the 1950 census.

In estimating the county's growth, the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission also pointed out:

1—Oakland County has gained 79,000 persons.

2—One out of every six persons now living in the county wasn't present when the census was made in April, 1950.

3—The three-year gain extended over a 10-year period would mean a total population increase of 61.2 per cent.

4—The county is growing faster now than in the 1940-1950 span when a 55.8 per cent gain was recorded.

The estimates were prepared by the population section of the commission's research committee, composed of statisticians and planning analysts.

The planning body with offices in Detroit estimated current Oakland County population at 474,000 as of July 1. The 1950 census found 380,601 persons residing in the county.

Oakland's gain was about 11 per cent higher than Wayne County's but about four per cent lower than Macomb's.

Much of the county's population gain came in the southern areas, but sizeable township increases were reported in the Pontiac area.

Bloomfield Township climbed up an 86.9 per cent increase, while Waterford Township's population grew 17.3 per cent.

Heart Disease Theory Doubted

Doctor Says Fat People Not Easy Targets for Cardiac Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—The idea that being overweight makes you more susceptible to a heart disease—unless you are sure you are really a fat butterball — was challenged today by a famous researcher in physiology.

Dr. Ancel Keys presented the evidence giving some reassurance to those on the heavy side to the American Public Health Assn. He is director of the laboratory of physiological hygiene, School of Public Health, University of Minnesota.

• • •

He urged more research to discover the reasons why Americans suffer more heart disease and deaths than people in many other countries.

• • •

"Overweight in itself, except in extreme degree, is not a primary cause of coronary disease," he said. Obesity has been singled out as the public enemy No. 1," and an anti-obesity campaign is under way.

But he cited reasons for questioning these statistics, unless a person is truly fat—such as 50 pounds overweight for a man of average height.

• • •

For, he declared, there is a real difference between overweight due to fatness and heaviness due to muscularity or body build. Dr. Keys cited studies which found little significant difference in relative body weights of persons who had died of or survived heart attacks and others who had not had heart disease.

These showed little or no evidence for "explaining" heart disease as a simple matter of being overweight, he said.

National Grange Works on Policy

Find Resolutions Show Opposite Viewpoints on Soil Conservation

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — A big floor debate shaped up today as National Grange Convention committees worked over the wording of soil conservation resolutions which have opposite viewpoints.

But the decision of the committee on agriculture on a proposal to endorse Secretary of Agriculture Benson's order to close seven regional soil conservation offices, and the national welfare committee's draft of one calling for retention of the seven offices, are not expected to reach the report stage before next week.

The endorsement resolution is backed by state Grange organizations in the Pacific Northwest, where the federal government already has big flood control and hydroelectric power projects, and where the supplies of water for irrigation and other farm purposes are not a pressing problem.

From the Southwest, however, where cattlemen and other farmers have suffered heavy losses through drought conditions, there is strong support for continuation of the soil conservation program on a regional basis.

Secretary Benson has ordered the offices closed, and the 700 to 800 engineers and other employes to be shifted back to federal soil conservation offices at the state level.

The pending resolution to endorse Benson's action also carries a provision for approval of his orders to reorganize the entire department of agriculture.

3 County Youths Receive CAP Scholarships

Three Oakland County youths received Civil Air Patrol flight scholarships along with 65 other Michigan CAP members at Michigan State College in East Lansing this week.

They were Patrick Duggan of 650 Boyd St. and Ricardo Moreno of 426 Midway Ave., both of Pontiac, and Edward Schmuch of 2825 Buno Rd., Milford, according to CAP Maj. Robert Simons, commander of Pontiac Group 6318.

The scholarships are good for 10 hours of flight instruction at any flight training school which is approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, and they must be completed within six months after they are issued, Simons said.

Simons pointed out that scholarships have aided CAP members who have gone on to U.S. air cadet schools. Last year, according to Simons, only 1 per cent of those who went into service after receiving CAP-sponsored scholarships were "washed out" of cadet schools.

A total of 153 scholarships were distributed last year in Michigan, and this year's total may be even higher. An estimated 150 CAP scholarships have already been issued in Michigan this year, Simons added.

To Speak Wednesday

City Educators to Hear Ann Arbor Clergyman

Pontiac Education Association will hear how "A Parent Looks at Juvenile Delinquency" when the Rev. Loren W. Campbell of Ann Arbor speaks at next Wednesday's meeting.

The dinner and program is scheduled for 6 p.m. at Pontiac High School, with Henry Elling, program chairman, presiding. Teachers may make reservations with building coordinators through Monday.

The Rev. Mr. Campbell, now a director of Washtenaw County Welfare Commission, is active in handling juvenile cases in Probate Court there.

A former McConnell and Wilson School teacher, the Rev. Mr. Campbell was pastor of Wilson Avenue Methodist Church here from 1940 through 1946, when he moved to Dixboro Methodist Church near Ann Arbor. Still pastor of Dixboro Church, Campbell received his law degree from University of Michigan in 1950.

Recount Demanded by Council Also-Ran

DETROIT (AP)—State Sen. Charles C. Diggs Jr., today demanded a recount of Detroit's non-partisan City Council election last week in which he barely missed winning office.

Diggs, a Democrat in partisan politics, placed tenth in the race for the nine-man council. He was nosed out by Mrs. Blanche Parent Wise, housewife, auto salesman and former school teacher. Mrs. Wise had an unofficial margin of 4,948 votes.

On the basis of the unofficial tabulation, Detroit's voters turned down four state legislators who sought election to the council. Diggs was one of the four.

Diggs said he was prepared to put up the $3,630 required for a recount. The bulk of this was contributed by the Friendship Baptist Church congregation, he said.

Diggs' recount would include all precincts except those equipped with voting machines.

Tommy Gets Time for Going to War

FORMBY, England (AP) — Pvt. Edward Roberts was sentenced to 56 days in prison by a court martial yesterday for deserting a soft job in the British Army to go fighting with the French Foreign Legion in Indochina.

Roberts, 24, appeared wearing the ribbons of the French Croix de Guerre and the Cross of Valor awarded him by the Indochinese state of Viet Nam.

The private, a pugnacious little five-footer, said he deserted his occupation unit in Germany in 1950 and joined the Legion because he wanted to see some combat. Wounded in Indochina on Feb. 23, 1952, he was flown back to France for treatment and finally gave himself up last month at the British Embassy in Paris.

Women's Club Plans Community Yule Decorations

The Sunday following Thanksgiving Day will see six strings of Christmas lights over Orchard Lake Road.

Assistance on the project will be welcomed by Mrs. Lylla Ross at the Community National Branch Bank here.

Upper Peninsula Due for Tourists

MARQUETTE (AP) — The resort business in Michigan's Upper Peninsula has more than doubled in the past 10 years, the area's development bureau reported today.

It predicted a new peak in 1954.

The Upper Peninsula development bureau estimated the tourist trade brings in $60 million dollars annually in its area.

Business in 1953 was estimated to be 12 per cent above 1952, which in turn was 15 per cent above 1951.

The bureau warned northern business men that today's vacationist has become a shopper for bargains at home and continues that practice on his vacation. Businesses must keep abreast of market conditions if they are to draw patronage and new business, the organization said.

Eight Long Years

Red Prisoner Tells of Bestial Days . . . and, Unexpectedly, His Freedom

This is the fourth in a series of articles by Frank Rohrbacher Jr., a prisoner in Soviet and Hungarian slave labor camps for eight years. Today he tells how sadistic Hungarian prison guards tortured a prisoner by tightening his handcuffs more each day.

By FRANK ROHRBACHER JR.
As Told to International News Service

VIENNA—By 1950 I had spent five years at hard labor in three concentration camps in Soviet Russia. In my mind now it all rather runs together as an endless nightmare of heavy work, starvation, beatings . . .

One day I suddenly was sent away from camp Voronesh and in another long, uncomfortable journey was taken to camp Kazibarsko in Hungary.

I never knew, and don't know to this day, why the Russians decided after all that time to turn me over to the Hungarians.

When I learned of what was happening, I had thought, "Now things will be better." I don't know why I thought so. Probably because I thought it couldn't be worse.

Kazibarsko was no improvement over the Russian prison camps. It was all the same.

Back-breaking work digging, felling trees, cleaning the camp, bestial guards and officers always ready with a curse, a kick, a beating.

So again the endless days, one running into the other—all now a jumble of memory in which no one day stands out against another.

In Hungary, as in Russia, I was transferred around. My last camp was Tiszaloek.

At Tiszaloek, to keep us at work, all inmates were kept moving dirt. This sounds senseless, and it was. Each man, each day, was required to move about 60 square feet of earth. For some it was an impossible task, and we rebelled.

I remember one slave laborer in name was Ferenc Egervary.

I think I can mention his name without causing any harm to him. The Hungarian Reds can't do anything worse to him than they have.

He was charged with sabotage, refusing to work, and they gave him the "cuff treatment." This consisted of placing his hands in an ordinary pair of police handcuffs which had a device for reducing the cuffs' circumference.

They placed the cuffs on Ferenc, and then over a period of hours and days, screwed them tighter and tighter. Finally, his hands looked like blue blobs of meat. They swelled, blood burst from them and dried.

At last the cuffs were removed, and Ferenc's hands were helpless. There was no power in his fingers. They just dangles like pieces of dead meat. They will always be that way.

My own last direct contact with a camp official was during the past summer, a couple of months before I was released.

The political officer of the camp ordered me to come before him.

"So you are an American, eh?" he sneered.

"I am," I said.

"Do you think you'll ever see the United States again?" he continued.

"I hope so," I replied.

"You make a mistake," he sneered, "you'll die and rot here."

That concluded the interview and I was returned to my barracks, wondering at the reason for the strange talk.

I know now that the process leading to my release had started. But at the time there was no change in my daily existence, nothing to indicate anyone on the outside even knew I was still alive.

Then, one day in September, on the happiest of all days of my life, a car came to the camp for me. There was a civilian and a chauffeur in it.

I was driven to the Austro-Hungarian border. At the border check-point I was turned over to two Americans — and a moment later I was free.

There only remained for me now the final processing which would lead to my return to the United States and reunion with my beloved mother and father in Stamford, Connecticut.

After eight years of living death, a whole new life lay before me.

Lautner Set to Start 7th Day of Testimony

DETROIT (UP) — Former Communist John Lautner was scheduled to take the stand for the seventh day today in the conspiracy trial of six Michigan Communists.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard ordered the trial recessed Wednesday because of Armistice Day. Lautner has been the only witness to take the stand since the trial reached the testimony stage.

The six defendants, all admitted Communists, are charged with violating the Smith Act which makes it unlawful to teach or advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Sailor and Waif Adopted in Korea Arrive in U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A rugged 35-year-old Navy bachelor and the chubby little Korean waif he took off the streets of Inchon more than a year ago have finally made it to the United States.

After weeks of battling red tape, the pair—both of them smiling shyly—arrived yesterday aboard a big Mars flying boat from Honolulu.

• • •

Four-year-old Lee Kyung Soo was wearing a uniform just like that of Chief Boatswain's Mate Vincent T. Paladino of New Rochelle, N. Y., a veteran of 13 years in the Navy.

Paladino, who hopes to adopt the orphan, said the first time he saw Lee "I decided to take him out of the cold and clean him up.

"Lee feared me. It was two months before he would believe I was a friend and another month before he smiled."

Pius XII Blesses U. N. Aid to Underdeveloped Areas

ROME (AP)—Pope Pius XII has given a special blessing to the United Nations program to assist underdeveloped countries.

The Holy See also pledged $2,000 as a token contribution for the U.N. expanded technical assistance program. It was transmitted through Norris E. Dodd, director general of the U.N. Food and Agricultural Organization, which is located here.

Magsaysay Is New President

Philippines' Third Chief Won Fame in Huk War, to Take Office Jan. 1

MANILA (AP)—A blacksmith's son who only 10 years ago was an unknown guerrilla captain battling Japanese invaders of the Philippines is this island republic's third president.

Ramon Magsaysay at 46 is a rising star among democratic leaders in this Communist-threatened part of the world.

To millions of Filipinos he is a knight whose shining armor is a bright sport shirt and his charger a bouncing jeep.

They turned out in record droves to give him a landslide victory over aging President Elpidio Quirino. He takes office for four years on Jan. 1.

Handsome, strapping Ramon Magsaysay is not a seasoned politician. But many political observers agree that his honesty and almost limitless energy, coupled with the fresh vision of youth, may make him an outstanding presidential administrator.

He demands results, not reasons or excuses.

As national defense secretary in the Quirino government he mercilessly slashed through red tape to get immediate action.

• • •

In fighting Communist-led Huks he spent as much time in the field as in his office. He drafted elaborate plans for resettling thousands of Huks on newly developed lands on Mindanao island. And he finally split with Quirino eight months ago after trying vainly to speed up action against Huk bands.

As defense secretary Magsaysay traveled widely, listening to complaints and meting out justice on the spot. He rooted out corruption in the army and constabulary ruthlessly.

His explosive temper lashed subordinates who moved too slowly.

He became known throughout the 7,000 islands, and Filipinos began to look on him as a champion of the common people.

Stomach-Ache Proves No Laughing Matter

ANN ARBOR — Got a stomach-ache? Here's the story.

Dr. William Rottschaefer, U-M senior clinical instructor in surgery, says that it's no laughing matter.

"A child's tummy-ache, especially, covers a pretty broad area of abdominal organs, such as the stomach, small intestines, large intestine, liver, gall bladder, bile ducts, pancreas and appendix.

And as if that weren't enough, there are the so-called "referred pains," those connected with pneumonia, pleurisy, and inflammations of the pericardial sac (which is the lining of the cavity where the heart is located).

Dr. Rottschaefer lists several possible causes of abdominal pain: contamination by bacteria; appendicitis; blood disturbances; injuries; inflammation; poison; and aches caused by the nervous system.

Even a misplaced gesture or a scolding may enter the stomach via a child's emotions, causing a tummy-ache.

All in all, the doctors says, "The child's stomach-ache may truly be a hard puzzle to solve."

Don't belittle the stomach-ache. If junior complains of one at the supper table, and doesn't want to eat, don't insist on his finishing the meal.

"Any severe abdominal pain that lasts longer than six hours usually indicates some condition in the abdomen of surgical significance," warns Dr. Rottschaefer.

Above all, lay off the castor oil. It merely adds an irritant to an already irritated stomach.

About 70 million meals are served daily in public eating places.

Indians Prepare Interview Plans

Explanations Canceled for Eighth Straight Day by Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP) — The Indian command today worked on detailed plans for screening Chinese and Korean war prisoners if the Communists abandon efforts to woo them home.

Red interviews with prisoners refusing repatriation were canceled for the eighth straight day when the Communists repeated their demand to see 356 POWs who were skipped by stalling persuaders last Thursday.

* * *

Official quarters said the Red move appeared to be merely a maneuver while the Communist high command decides whether to go along with new Indian rules for running the interviews or torpedo the explanation program.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, was ready for a trip to Communist headquarters at Kaesong whenever the Reds' answer is ready.

There was no word from the Communists.

Thimayya has told the Reds to interview entire compounds of 500 men each in a day or skip those not interviewed.

* * *

Chinese in compound C22, called out last Thursday to wait while Communist explainers interviewed only 136, have refused to come out again.

Elsewhere, diplomatic staff advisers held their sixth secret session in an effort to draw up an agenda for talks to arrange a Korean peace conference.

Kenneth Young, chief United Nations staff negotiator, said the 55-minute meeting was "very businesslike." He would say nothing more, except that another session was set for tomorrow.

Drake Is a Principal in Fowl Mystery

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The duck must have been the Houdini of the fowl world.

All Jack P. Deavours knows is that he parked his car yesterday on a slope above Oakland's Lake Merritt, locked it, rolled up the windows and walked to his job.

The car rolled into the lake. A dredging crew pulled it out.

Local Women Attend Easter Seal Convention

Mrs. Gerald Kirby, executive secretary of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, and Mrs. Leon Skelley of Pontiac, cerebral palsy class teacher for the Society, are attending the 30th annual convention of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Ester Seal Society, in Chicago.

More than 1,000 delegates are attending the convention which opened Wednesday and continues through Saturday.

Through its theme, "Enhancing Human Dignity," authorities from health and welfare fields will discuss latest advances and techniques in the care, treatment, and training of crippled children and adults.

India Wants to Live Life Her Own Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the United Nations General Assembly, says India wants the right to remain neutral in the East-West conflict and live her own life.

India admires what America stands for, she told a meeting of Women in World Affairs yesterday, but "she doesn't want to be an imitation of you."

"She wants the right to decide her own life and to determine her own relation to the rest of the world," Mrs. Pandit continued. "Her way may not suit you. It may suit some one else. . . .

"Each country lives in its own way."

Play Receipts Will Benefit Civitan Project

The play "Annie Get Your Gun," to be presented by the Civitan Club of Pontiac Saturday night will benefit a project of the club under the leadership of Elmer Betts.

The club has purchased hospital beds and wheel chairs, which it lends to invalids temporarily confined to their homes.

The dozen beds and chairs are lent 75 to 100 times a year and have to be sterilized, not only after each use, but before being sent out again. Proceeds from the show will help maintain this service.

The iron lung bought by the club for the Sister Kenny Foundation is another service made possible by the annual Civitan play.

Widow Donates Land

Walled Lake Picks Site for MacKenzie Clinic

WALLED LAKE — A parcel of ground at the corner of Pontiac Trail and Milan street here has been picked as the tentative site for a proposed Dr. O. R. MacKenzie Memorial Clinic.

The site was offered to the MacKenzie Memorial Organization by the widow of the late Dr. MacKenzie whose recent death in an automobile accident brought about the move for a clinic in his name.

The land was selected at a meeting last Friday by a standing committee of the organization.

Members of the group emphasized that the decision was not final and definite selection of a site would be determined by additional reports of a building and site committee.

The committee, headed by Jim Farley, was instructed to gather more information regarding sewage, parking and future expansion possibilities at the tentative site.

The 12,300 square-foot properyt has a frontage of 109 feet on Pontiac Trail and 150 feet on Milan street, and tapers to about 54 feet at the rear.

A meeting of the organization has been called for tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Baptist Church.

At last week's meeting an incorporation committee submitted a plan for membership in the organization which was adopted.

However, the group will still operate as a temporary standing committee, and residents attending meetings will be able to vote on all decisions.

Under the membership plan organizations contributing $25 or more to the memorial fund will be listed as active members entitled to vote. Organizations contributing less than $25 and individuals less than $5 will be listed as associate members without voting privileges.

Although night traffic is smaller than day traffic, three out of five fatal accidents occur at night.

Avon Seeking Fire Hall Site

Township Board Turns Down Livernois Road Land Offer

AVON TOWNSHIP — Township Board members are seeking a site for a new fire hall in the southwest portion of the township.

Tuesday night, the board turned down the offer of an acre tract of land owned by the Grace Gospel Fellowship on Livernois road.

Supervisor C. E. Miller recommended that the board turn down the site because he said the price for the property was "way out of range."

Miller said that the board is still interested in the project for a new fire hall, but that other site possibilities were to be investigated.

The board discussed the building of an addition to the community center building, known as precinct six, but Elmer LeBlond, building inspector, said that more time was needed before a definite decision could be made.

Miller said he was definitely in favor of a new fire hall for the southwest part of the township and that action on the project should be speeded up.

Also at the meeting, three applications were received for garbage collection. The board approved a permit for John H. Basch of 2581 Hamlin Rd. who has four trucks. Action on two others, George Detkowski of School road and Clifton Nunn of Rochester, was held up until approval from the board of health is received.

The board also granted a SDM liquor license to Donald J. Higgins on recommendation of the State Liquor Control Commission.

Educator Sees More Problems

College Official Warns That Rising Enrollments Present Challenge

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents, warned today that problems in higher education would swell with the growing college population.

Speaking before the State College Assn. at Wayne University, Dr. Dillman, who is president of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, said:

"This then is the challenge that faces us: Many more students, a doubled college population by 1970, demanding more kinds of training and education from our colleges and universities."

He pointed out that though Michigan colleges received more financial support from their state than any other state colleges in pre-depression days, this support all but disappeared in the years 1928-1945.

He said another problem facing colleges was the number of good teachers which was growing fewer each year.

He said that current studies will help the governor, the legislature and the colleges themselves better estimate the financial problems and find ways to solve them.

Some houses, you know, are just houses . . . Others are HOMES, but these have been humanized! It takes YOU to make it human. How do you do this? It's easy . . . you live there; you enjoy your family there; you play games with your children there; you build your life around your family and home; and when you do, you HUMANIZE your home.
And when you've done this, your home means so MUCH MORE to you and to your children.

Oakland Medical Study Club Formed

An Oakland County Chapter of General Practice was formed recently by a group of local physicians according to Dr. J. R. Blakeney, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

The group is in the process of organizing to obtain a charter from the American Academy of General Practice, said Dr. Blakeney.

The academy's purpose is to assist in providing postgraduate study courses for general practitioners and to encourage such study.

Dr. L. F. Cobb was named president of the group. A board of directors was appointed, Blakeney said, including himself, Cobb, Dr. Harry Arnkoff, Dr. Donald F. Hoyt and Dr. Norman Steinberg of Royal Oak.

Natural gas production reached a new high in 1952 of 8.6 trillion cubic feet. This was a gain of 8.4 per cent over 1951.

Kiwanians Fight Delinquency With Bicycle Club

JACKSON, Mich. (UP) — Parents please note: a nine-year-old Jackson boy said "all the other kids have got bikes—I'm gonna get one somehow." He got his bike—he stole it.

It was just one case that haunted Jackson, as it haunted other communities in Michigan. The boy was from a low income family. The food, rent and clothing bills left no room for "bikes."

But at least one group is doing something about it — that's the Jackson Kiwanis.

One member, C. Fred Benson, asked himself: "What if someone had given that boy a bicycle, or at least let him use one?"

Now the Kiwanis Bicycle Club is following two parallel courses. It's combating juvenile delinquency among under-privileged children, and teaching future motorists the laws of the road on bicycles first.

Benson says "there are hundreds of unused bicycles and tricycles stored in attics and garages. We would like to have them donated to the bicycle club. Then we'll loan them out to underprivileged children."

The club intends to repair any bikes that need it. They'll also support a guaranteed report program for any bike owners who pledge their bikes to the club when they're through with them.

Puns on Puny Crop

RUSSELL, Kan. (UP)—Kansas' puny 1953 wheat crop gave birth to the story that a farmer's straw hat blew off during the harvest and went through the combine. "That's all right," he said, "with this lousy yield I've already lost my shirt."

75 Survive Woman

OAKVILLE, Conn. (UP)—Mrs. Lucy B. Bradshaw, 77, died, leaving 75 direct survivors—six sons, a daughter, 30 grandchildren and 38 great-grandchildren.

Save That Rare, Whooping Crane

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—The Texas Game and Fish Commission and the National Audubon Society have appealed to trigger-happy hunters to save the whooping crane, North America's rarest and largest migratory bird.

The huge birds migrate south from Canada to their wintering grounds on the Texas Gulf Coast each fall.

The National Audubon Society says there are only 21 of the majestic bone-white birds remaining on the continent. Some of them stand four feet in height and have a wing spread of seven feet.

Two cranes were killed last year in the southward migration and both the society and the state agency are appealing to hunters to "Leave the birds alone."

The birds have been on the federal government's protected list since 1913 but their number continues to dwindle.

In Feet, Up and Down County Holds Record

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UP) — In California's Kern County, man has reached the farthest in opposite directions.

Just a few weeks before this flight, an oil drilling crew bored 20,650 feet into the earth, breaking another world's record.

Mrs. Robert Lee Graham will leave Nov. 21 with Mrs. C. R. Pelton of Detroit for Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. David W. Lee and Mrs. Edward E. Rothman entertained at luncheon Wednesday in the Rothman home on Linden road honoring Mrs. Clifford H. West.

Accessories Seen as Tops in Spring Styles

NEW YORK (INS)—M. Francis Winter, prexy of the Chi-Chi Accessories Designers of Paris, told America this week that buttons, belts and brief little afterthoughts-of-hats will be the top spring styles.

Belts, he said, will be wide and soft, usually made of leather, or in fabric to match the dress.

Buttons will make for prettiness, not practicality. They will be often the "real costume jewelry" of spring, he said, replacing necklaces and brooches.

M. Winter, president of the "Chambre Syndicale des Paruriers de la Haute Couture" (fancy accessorizers to you), spoke at a luncheon given in his honor by Paul Hellman, president of B. Blumenthal & Co., America's biggest button makers.

In English which he as "picked up not so ezzactly" in two weeks in the U. S., Winter declared that shorter skirts will have no direct influence on the design of spring accessories. But the simplicity of fashions will.

"The simple silhouette," he said, "will make more and fancier accessories required . . . even Dior says so."

Return to Caliifornia

Ralph D. Canterbury and his son, Tommy, have returned to their home in Riverside, Calif., after having been called to Pontiac by the illness and death of his mother, Mrs. Charles E. Canterbury.

Decorations for their fall dinner and bazaar are being put up by Carol Ann Sapp of East Walton boulevard (left, upper photo), Mary Moore of Sheridan avenue (center) and Gwen Polk of Oak Hill street. Monday is the date set for the annual event given by members of Bethel Five of the International Order of Job's Daughters.

Barbara Kneale (above) of Mark avenue finds that being general booth chairman for Monday's bazaar keeps her on the phone constantly to make sure everything is going smoothly. The dinner and bazaar will begin at 6 o'clock.

Preparing for Dinner and Bazaar

Monday has been set as the date for their annual fall dinner and bazaar, and Job's Daughters of Bethel Five are busy preparing for it.

The event will take place at the Masonic Temple on Lawrence street, beginning at 6 p.m.

Heading the dinner committee is Margaret Levely. Assisting her will be Elizabeth Rockefeller, Janet Allen, Peggy Webster, Virginia Sheehan and Roxanne Anthony.

Barbara Kneale is booth chairman. Frances Sekles and Gwen Polk will have charge of the baked goods booth, Janet Wilson and Marjorie Seelye, needlework, and Pat Zielke, candy.

Christmas cards and ribbon will be sold by Alice Brandenburg and Miss Sheehan, and the fish pond is under the direction of Lynda McCurdy.

Geralee Stafford has charge of the postal booth, and decorations for the occasion were made by Sharyn Zielke, Carolyn Driscoll, Sharon Clark and Marlene Wilton.

Ti-Wa-Si Gathers With Mrs. Searle

Mrs. Vincent Searle was hostess to Ti-Wa-Si Club at her home on Earlmoor boulevard Tuesday.

Plans were discussed for the club's Christmas party Dec. 8, and a white elephant auction was held to aid a neighborhood project.

Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Eugene Keach, Mrs. Paul Nadeau and Mrs. Gerald Whitten assisted the hostess.

Candy Sale Set Monday

The annual Camp Fire Girl candy sale will begin Monday and continue until Dec. 12.

This sale not only helps the girls pay for their campsite, but it also stimulates business ability in the girls.

Prizes are given to the girls selling the most candy and to the groups selling the most candy.

The groups get a 5 per cent rebate on their sales, and the individual first prize is a complete Camp Fire or Blue Bird outfit.

The second prize winner will receive a Blue Bird jacket or a Camp Fire beanie. Both of these winners will also receive the registration fee for Camp Fire Day camp next summer, as will other girls selling 48 or more cans of candy.

Each girl who sells 20 or more cans will receive a Camp Fire emblem to be sewn on a blouse, and any girl who already has earned the prize will receive instead a due bill enabling her to buy something else of equal value from a shop carrying Camp Fire equipment.

She stated that the organization, which was started during depression years by Dr. R. O. Helms, a young minister from Boston, has grown to 185 industries in the United States and has 17 industries in foreign countries.

Along with handicapped civilians being trained, there are many veterans who are be prepared for civilian employment.

Pair Proves There's Still Opportunity for Those Who Recognize, Fill Needs

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Young men of today have no opportunity at all," a middle-aged mother told me recently.

"There are no new horizons, no new areas to be explored, and on top of all that," she continued, "they have to go to war just as they're ready to settle down. And after that, when they get back, what is there for them? Nothing."

And yet, that same day, I had met a young couple who were a living example of the kind of thing she thought had vanished. I will call them George and Sarah.

George and Sarah married in 1943, just before George went overseas. While he was gone, Sarah kept her good secretarial job, and they managed to save a good deal of money.

Sarah had a tiny furnished room, with a gas burner. She lived quietly, working hard all day and taking part in wartime volunteer projects most evenings.

They saved all of George's pay and a good deal of hers. By the time George came home, their bank account was big.

They applied for a house in a new development and were one of the first couples to move in, long before most of the place was finished. Just a few weeks after they moved in, their first baby was born.

"It was maddening," Sarah said. "We were at least a half hour's run from the nearest town, and when we ran out of baby supplies or wanted to purchase equipment for the baby, it was a real chore.

"And George was commuting to the city for a job he hated. He got sick and tired of picking up everything from bottles to safety pins to crib sheets."

One evening, they got an idea. All the young couples moving in were either expecting children or already had families. The development was nowhere near finished, and no shopping center, no stores of any kind were yet built.

"But here everybody was needing baby supplies," she told me.

"So we had a talk with the owner, and got permission to start a tiny children's shop right in our living room.

"We stocked it little by little, beginning with the little things like safety pins, nipples, diapers, bibs and so forth. We did a land-office business from the beginning," Sarah said.

Before long, George left his job so he could devote himself to purchasing. They rented the first store that was erected on the development and opened a real shop.

They began to stock more ambitious products — bassinets, baby carriages, even beds and highchairs. Their store is now three times as large as it was when they opened.

They price their merchandise right—and, as Sarah says, "We know, at first hand, what our customers can afford. They're people just like us."

In short, the passing of the covered wagon does not mean the passing of opportunity and pioneering in this country. The young man of today who will open his eyes to needs around hom will find new fields to conquer.

Youngster Plans to Be Doctor and Help Indians

CLEVELAND, Ohio (U P) — American Indians may never have heard of Peter Sindell, but he's up to his 10-year-old neck in efforts to help them.

An off-hand remark by a camp counselor five years ago started Peter off on his quest to learn more about this country's natives.

Now he is well known to Indian Bureau officials who have sent him official releases and advised him on how he can help.

The department suggested he might ask missions and schools on the reservations about other assistance. They also sent him charts, maps and pamphlets.

Now Peter has organized and is writing a book.

"I'm going to call my group the Indian Help Association," he said.

The name of the book will be "Did You Know About Indians?" and will be designed to clear up mistaken ideas.

Profits from the book will go toward Indian projects, such as books and school materials for reservation schools.

Peter also has set up a monthly newsletter and has 18 subscribers.

"I'm going to study and be a doctor and help the Indians," he said.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

World's History Is Made by Maladjusted Persons

A well known Middle Western expert on family relations announced not long ago that the term adjustment is outmoded. I never did find out exactly what he meant because he used words no layman could fathom, but for an excited second I hoped that somebody in authority had come to a definite conclusion on a subject about which I'd been having some tentative ideas.

MISS McBRIDE

For a long time I've been wondering — and don't fire until you hear me through—if maybe the world doesn't always need a certain number of maladjusted persons.

One thing sure, if everybody were the way I often long to be lately—contented, ungnawed by ambition, unwhipped by yearning to climb to mountain tops, in short altogether well-adjusted—nothing would ever get done.

he fellow who jogs contentedly to his grave without experiencing violent emotions and lofty aspirations certainly isn't the one who leads the fight to rid his city of slums or even builds a better mousetrap than his neighbor.

This, at least, is my theory. Achievement for good or for evil has been mainly wrought by men and women who, according to modern standards, were in need of psychiatric assistance.

Read about the voyages of Columbus, a man hag-ridden by ambition, the conquests of relentlessly determined Quen Elizabeth I, the tormented concern of Abraham Lincoln to right the wrongs of others, and see if I'm not making sense.

You can make your own lists of those who have left the world richer for their having suffered in it. Suppose Wilbur and Orville Wright had been satisfied with being earthbound, would they have put up with the cruel jeers of their fellow men at Kitty Hawk 50 years ago?

Names crowd upon one another: Frail Keats, chip-on-the-shoulder Tom Paine, crusader Martin Luther, Byron and his clubfoot, Shakespeare resentful of his social status, painfully shy Marie Curie. Maladjusted rebels every one.

So far, the malcontents mentioned have brought benefits to humanity, but it doesn't always work out that way. Examples pile up here too: Napoleon, who if he had found happiness through sessions with a psychoanalyst on his native island of Corsica might have retired on a corporal's pay with a fat wife and no thought of bringing the world to his feet.

Suppose a reasonable facsimile of Dr. Freud had ironed out the wrinkled ego of a certain Bavarian housepainter. Why, the patient might still be mixing pigment in the vicinity of Munich with benefits to humanity impossible to reckon.

The more I think of it, the more convinced I am. The contented man may escape some of the worst of the vices — envy, jealousy, avarice — but he will never make his mark in the world as my fifth grade teacher used to urge us all to do.

Come to think about it, that teacher a year after her vehement advice settled down on a farm and placidly started raising Muscovy ducks and Plymouth Rock chickens.

The way life stacks up for me sometimes, I wish I'd followed her example rather than her precepts. On my most discouraged days I feel you simply couldn't get life too contented to suit me.

Physicians Want Public Well-Versed

Your doctor would rather mumps not be prevented. . . Liquids reach your stomach in just one second, solids take 12 seconds. . . . Undercooked fish may contain a dangerous tapeworm. . . . Pneumonia comes in 33 varieties. . . And it took two centuries between the time bacteria were first sighted and the time science understood their significance.

Interesting, maybe, but about as significant as single ingredients from a dozen different recipes.

The isolated facts above, however, each are minute pieces in vast fields of medical knowledge, and these fields in turn comprise the great "mysteries" of health and life.

Science has made less of a mystery of health each generation, but doctors agree that superstition and ignorance about the thing closest to you — your body — are still prevalent to an alarming degree even in this atomic age.

The one time you come closest to medicine — when illness strikes — is the time when you are least able to delve into the history or background of medical science. You're interested in getting well as fast as possible. Your doctor too has as his first goal getting you well quickly.

But doctors would like you to know more about how your body functions and how you're affected by your environment.

Now Heads for France to Rejoin Her Husband

Japanese War Bride Adjusts to Strange Land Alone

By MAUDE H. DONAHUE

Life has become confusing and quite strange for Mrs. Arthur Kruger during the last year.

Suddenly transplanted from her home in Fukushima, Japan, to Pontiac, this Japanese war bride has had to learn to make her way in a strange country without help from anyone.

A small woman with a friendly half-shy, half-eager smile and bright black eyes, Mrs. Kruger spoke freely about her life as a war bride.

As her mother talked about her experiences in the new country, little Margaret Kruger, bundled up in a yellow snow suit with only two black eyes showing and a fringe of black bang and a captivating smile, crawled and fidgeted and spoke a few words of English like any American child of 17 months.

Sgt. Maj. and Mrs. Kruger with their daughter, Margaret, then just a few months old, came to Pontiac in August 1952.

They bought a house and settled down. One month later Maj. Kruger was recalled to duty, and in a few months he was in France.

This left Mrs. Kruger alone with Margaret. In addition to other adjustments, in October, or what she called "rice month," Mrs. Kruger discovered she needed an operation.

"It was very strange and very lonely," said Mrs. Kruger about the hospital. "I did not understand anything, and everything was so strange." She did discover a Japanese doctor at the hospital, and he made her stay more pleasant.

Mrs. Kruger said she decided to rejoin her husband over six months ago. She was disappointed by authorities, who told her her passport had been "lost" and she would have to wait for another.

Re-entry papers take six months to duplicate, and although Mrs. Kruger said she thought something should be done to simplify the process, she was grateful to Red Cross volunteer workers who drove her to court and helped in other ways.

While awaiting her re-entry papers, Mrs. Kruger has not been idle.

She attended the International Institute in Detroit and met three other war brides from the Pontiac area.

These girls have been invited to her home, where they can cook for each other and compare notes on the strange new country.

Mrs. Kruger also met Mrs. Vernon C. Genn of Bloomfield Hills, who has aided many lonely war brides and other internationals in the Detroit area.

Since she speaks English, Mrs. Kruger has helped Mrs. Genn as an interpreter. They visit war brides together, trying to make each feel at home in her adopted country.

Mrs. Kruger admitted she could not read English and that it "makes trouble with restaurants," where she has had to order her meals by the point-at-the-menu-and-hope method.

Shopping in the supermarkets is easy, she said, because of the pictures on packages and the self-service.

Mrs. Kruger has been in this country over a year now. She received word the other day that she will have her passport in a week or so, and then she and Margaret will be on their way to France.

There will be a new language to learn and new adjustments to make, but Mrs. Kruger has proved that she can take care of herself in a strange land and make new friends in spite of language and custom barriers.

Soon to be leaving for France are Mrs. Arthur Kruger and daughter, Margaret, of Northview court. There they will rejoin Sgt. Maj. Kruger, who is stationed there with the United States forces.

Dirt Gardeners to Aid Orphans and United Fund

Contributions and donations for Korean orphans and the United Fund were voted upon Tuesday evening when members of the Dirt Gardeners Club met with Mrs. Patrick Abare in her home on Geneva avenue.

Mrs. Chester O. Sloan assisted the hostess.

The group voted to continue the practice of adopting two families for the Christmas season. Mrs. Clare E. Lancaster was appointed chairman of the field trip committee and Mrs. Glen H. Arthur will head the Christmas family committee.

Program for the day was presented by Mrs. Raymond Swaney, who gave a demonstration on the making of corsages.

'World Day' Is Held by Church Women

"We Will Build Peace" was the theme when United Church Women of Pontiac observed World Community Day Monday at First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. John H. Garrison was program chairman, and highlights of the recent convention of United Church Women in Atlantic City, N. J., were discussed by a panel moderated by Mrs. J. C. Covert.

Officers were elected during the business session, and Mrs. Walter Willson was chosen as the new president.

Others elected were Mrs. Homer Harbage, first vice president Mrs. Raymond Coombe, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph D. Clara, recording secretary; Mrs. Brady Adams, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Eva Spears, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Vernon Vie, auditor.

Homemakers Meet With Mrs. McGuire

Mrs. Thomas P. McGuire was hostess when members of the Modern Homemakers Club met Tuesday evening in her home on South Johnson avenue.

Members received instruction for making Christmas gifts from Mrs. Daniel Peterson and Mrs. Eric Danielson.

Mrs. Danielson and Mrs. McGuire are chairmen for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 8 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Anderson on Wenonah drive.

Lullabying Professional for Mimi Benzell's Baby

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Jonathan Gould, age 1-month, has high-priced talent singing his lullabies.

Sometimes he gets the recorded version, but the voice is the same. It's his mother, pert soprano Mimi Benzell, who just sang three lullabies into a tape recording machine to assist her in combining her career with marriage and motherhood.

"You must have a full life outside of your career, especially if you're the female of the species," said the former Metropolitan Opera soprano. "It can be done, too. I think one enhances the other."

In private life the singer is Mrs. Walter Gould, wife of a former talent agent who is about to open his own music publishing firm. Her husband helped her collect lullabies.

"It wasn't easy," Miss Benzell complained. "You don't realize how few good lullabies there are until you start looking."

The first three recorded for Jonathan's tiny ears have an international flavor, to say the least.

Miss Benzell, who now devotes all of her time to staying home with the baby, walked across the living room of their rambling West Side apartment and turned on the tape recorder.

"Go to sleep, now," her recorded voice urged, then began softly singing a lullaby called "Go To Sleep."

"The next one' a Zulu lullaby . . . I even sing it in Zulu," she explained with a giggle. "And the third one is Scottish."

Lullabies continued to come from the recording machine in her clear lyric soprano voice with a piano accompaniment. By the time she leaves for her first supper club engagement sometime in January, Mimi thinks her son will be old enough to enjoy the lullabies.

She left the Metropolitan so she could sing in supper clubs three years ago, a step since taken by several well-known stars, including Helen Traubel, Wagnerian soprano recently forced to give up her Met contract because of her wish to sing in nightclubs.

"I got lots of criticism when I did it," Miss Benzell recalled. "It really isn't that you want something easier, in fact, it is just the opposite. You can get lazy singing the same roles over and over at the Met. Supper club work is the most difficult singing of all."

She holds no grudge against the Met for her departure, and even admitted that Rudolph Bing had a point when he forced Miss Traubel to choose between blues and grand opera this season.

"The public has difficulty accepting you in two such different categories," the new mother said. She anticipates no trouble getting her audiences to accept her in her two categories — as a singer and as an adoring mother who may soon have the only lullaby library in town.

Mrs. Persson Heads Society

Mrs. Gustav Persson was elected president of the Norwegian Ladies Aid when the group met Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Erick Pearson on Sherbourne drive.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Carl Westnes, vice president; Mrs. Jack Bergstrom, secretary, and Mrs. Gunnar Gustavson, treasurer.

Plans were made for a Christmas dinner to be held Dec. 9 at Caribou Inn in Clarkston. Secret pals will be revealed at that time.

Mrs. Carl Gustavson and Mrs. John Wenger will visit the Oakland County Infirmary with birthday gifts for patients for the month of November. Mrs. Claude Parcells will go in December.

Amvets Auxiliary Plans Box Social

Plans for a box social to be given in January were made when members of Jimmy Dey Post 12, Amvets Auxiliary, met Wednesday evening in the Boys Club. Mrs. Peter Metes presided.

Mrs. Louis Sadler is in charge of the Thanksgiving basket to be presented to a veteran's family.

A report of the Region Six Council meeting was given by Mrs John Allen and Mrs. Leon Sirlin. Mrs. Fred Ziem received the past president's pin.

A trip to the Veterans Hospital in Saginaw is being planned and members will take gifts to the patients. It was announced that the group will meet in the YWCA beginning in December.

'Grandma Jones' Not Affectionate

Woman Objects to Use of Last Name With Title with Title

By EMILY POST

A mother writes: "I have a son who has a 3-year-old daughter. They are teaching her to call my daughter-in-law's aunt "Grandma." This aunt raised my daughter-in-law from the time she was a baby and they feel that they should give her the honor of being called grandma.

"I am known to the baby as "Grandma Jones," which I don't like. Being the only real grandmother, I feel that I should not have to be singled out by attaching my name to the title of grandma.

"If anyone should be referred to in this manner, I think it should be the aunt. What is your opinion?"

Answer: Ask them to call you "Grand-ma-ma" or "Granny" or "Grandmother." In other words, I agree with you that "Grandma Jones" is very lacking in affection.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in the midst of writing thank-you notes for wedding presents and I am not sure just how these should be signed.

That is, do I sign them with my name alone or should my husband's name be included in the signature? I have had conflicting opinions about this and am completely confused.

Answer: You mention his name in the letter (John and I love your gift) and sign your name only.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would greatly appreciate your opinion in the following matter. My fiance thinks that it perfectly correct for a person to help himself to a remaining portion of food on a serving dish without inquiring whether anyone else at table would care for any.

He feels that if others wanted it, they would take it, and therefore it is not incorrect for him to help himself to it.

I believe that this action is extremely impolite and that one should always ask if anyone else would care for it before emptying the dish.

Girl Upset by Best Pal's Antagonism Toward Boy

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I recently met a boy I've taken a liking to, and I'd like to get to know him better. He's doing his part there — and he's really not my problem. It's my girl friend.

"Whenever he stops to talk to me, she turns her head, or walks away. She just won't have a thing to do with him — and apparently hasn't a good word to say for him, either.

"Her very attitude is embarrassing to me and makes me very uncomfortable. My girl friend and I have been close ever since third grade, and I'd like to keep her friendship.

"But I want this boy to like me, too. So what shall I do?"

There's no accounting for some girl's sudden dislikes. But maybe by this time you've found out what your girl friend has against this boy you like.

It may be that she finds him completely unattractive, so that the less she sees of him the happier she is. Maybe it's that green-eyed thing — she doesn't want to share you with any boy. He's just a plain nuisance the way he has you all wound up.

You've been so used to having her agree with you on practically everything that it hurts, puzzles and disturbs you to have her disapprove so obviously of someone you have your heart set on.

But you can't please everybody. Let her feel that way, if she wants to. And you go on liking the boys you like.

You needn't talk too much about him to her, of course. You needn't let him inconvenience her, either — or change too many of your plans together.

Don't count her cooperation and approval, but go about getting better acquainted with the boy on your own hook. Try to keep him out of her sight, and your own conversation, then he won't be a sore subject between you two girls.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I go steady with one of the nicest boys I've ever known and I've tried to make myself like him — and I do — but not as much as a boy I used to go with.

"He hasn't a very good reputation but I just can't get him off my mind. He has asked me to go out with him even though he knows I go steady.

"I don't want to hurt my steady by breaking up with him. I'm afraid I'd get a bad name, too, if I went out with the other boy. Yet I can't forget him. Please help me somehow."

Have you really looked into the peculiar fascination your old boy friend has for you? You might get him off your mind if you found he was on it for some no-account reason.

It is his inaccessibility because you already have a steady? Is it an idea you might reform him out of his unsavory reputation? Is it his looks—a purely physical attraction? Is it the flattering fact that he still likes you? Is it a happy memory or two of the days that used to be?

Figure out why he has you in such a twit, then decide whether you'd please yourself more by letting fly the bird in your hand in favor of chasing a mocking bird in the bushes.

New Cream Introduced for Dry Skin

It's Suitable to Use Day and Night For Hands, Face

If you managed for years to ignore the fact that your skin is dry, probably by now your face is lined, spotted with dry patches or flaking.

Don't make another mistake in thinking that the situation is hopeless. With special care, you can make up for the years of neglect.

For you, use of a good non-drying cleanser will be only a beginning. You will need to keep your face fully lubricated through every one of the 24 hours.

After your bedtime cleansing, apply a rich cream to your face and throat. Use a light, slapping, upward stroke on the cheeks and a circular motion on the forehead.

Pat the cream gently around the eyes in an upward, outward motion.

In the morning, rinse the face with cold water and apply a moisturiing cream as a foundation for your powder.

One cosmetic house has sought to help the dry-skin sufferers by bringing out a cream that is suitable for use day and night on both face and hands.

The cream is supposed to work quickly into the skin, leaving no residue to stain bed clothing. Its special ingredients are said to provide the moisture essential to the dewy-fresh look.

Table Decoration Catches Bountiful Spirit of Autumn

By ELISABETH HILLYER

This is a table setting which is smart on a small table, or can be adapted to a banquet-size board for Thanksgiving dinner.

Helen Chamberlain, whose famous table fashion shows travel all over the country, designed a setting for the season, with a warm autumn brown for its theme color and the harvest's bounty for center piece decoration.

Its most idea-full touches are simple indeed to arrange. Nuts fill two small bowls, and hazelnuts are used for their beautiful texture and color.

Button chrysanthemums tuck into the nuts, and so do the shining, feathery heads of what stalks, to repeat the decoration of the distinctive brown Wheat pattern dinnerware.

For a table so small and crowded there's almost no room for a centerpiece, the bowls might be used alone. For a larger table, the fruit and candle grouping might be built larger and four bowls used, one toward each corner.

Cookie Treat Will Please Everyone

Mrs. W. M. Travis Likes This Recipe Made With Lemon

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Mrs. William M. Travis gives us a recipe for a lemon cookie that sounds delicious. The cookies are baked in muffin tins.

Mrs. Travis enjoys her "holiday from apron strings" each week at Ladies Day Out, the YWCA group for young mothers. She is also a member of the Pilgrim Group and the Congregators Group of her church.

LEMON COOKIES
By Mrs. William M. Travis

Juice of 1 lemon and 1 orange
Grated rind of 1 orange and ½ lemon
1½ cups confectioner's sugar

2 eggs
1½ cups sugar
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅔ cup water
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Bake in greased muffin pans, using 1 tablespoon of dough for each section of the pan. Bake at 350 for 20 minutes.

Remove from pans and before they cool put one tablespoon of the juice mixture on top of each cookie. Makes 50 cookies.

Jet planes can fly faster than sound, but no one has made one that can travel faster than a rumor.

Sit Gracefully

Never sit with your feet several inches apart and placed evenly in front of you. Instead, place them at angles to achieve a graceful effect. Practice in front of a mirror.

Going Hunting? Take Smelling Salts

NEW YORK (UP) — If you're stalking game this season, don't forget your smelling salts.

This is the advice of John Schafer, boss of the gun room at Abercrombie and Fitch.

"Believe it or not," he said, "fainting is a common accident among hunters. Even veteran gun-toters keel over after several hours of tracking with a heavy load of gear and catch on their shoulders."

Here are other Schafer pointers for hunters:

Hunters should carry a pocket-sized kit containing a few basic items—bandages, tape, petroleum jelly, a disinfectant, snake bite serum, and, of course, smelling salts. Burns can become infected if they are not immediately treated with petroleum jelly and then covered with a sterile bandage.

Suggests Tests Before Courses as Well as After

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (UP) — School children should be given a test before they study a subject as well as afterward, according to a Penn State educator.

Dr. J. J. Stein, who is conducting a study under the Instructional Film Research Program at the college, said that to be effective, the first test should cover the specific items to be learned in the subject.

Dr. Stein said students learn more and retain the knowledge longer if they are given "pre-tests" than if given only final examinations.

Scientists Study Pump-Like Work of Human Brain

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Medical scientists at the University of California at Los Angeles are studying pump-like mechanisms of the brain and believe they may have a new method of diagnosing such nervous disorders as epilepsy and cerebral palsy.

Dr. Robert Tschirgi, working under a U. S. Public Health Service grant, said some harmful substances to the brain apparently reach it when tiny pump-like mechanisms do not function properly.

Dr. Tschirgi said differences in the electrical potential between the blood and the cerebralspinal fluid indicate differences in pump activity.

Nervous disorders such as epilepsy and cerebral palsy may result when the mechanisms do not work properly.

Dr. Tschirgi said the electrical differences between the blood and the cerebrospinal fluid can be measured and thus might be used in diagnosing some nervous diseases.

Can't Win With Smith

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP)—Frank M. Smith told Judge Louis Bunge he wanted to change his name because there "just simply are too many Frank Smiths in Spokane." Eight of them, to be exact. The judge granted him permission to change his name to John Robert Smith. There also are eight John Smiths here.

HANDLE WITH CARE—Almost as stiff as his new, starchy suit, a little page remains at attention while a guest carries him to a wedding reception. The reception followed the wedding of Miss E. M. Carew Pole and D. C. Quilter at the North Mimms, England, Parish Church. Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret attended the wedding.

Seek to Raise Families of Chinese Tree Insects

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UP)—Jack Sprat could eat no fat and his wife could eat no lean.

This jingle describes perfectly the problem of entomologists at the University of California who are trying to raise an imported insect to control red scale in California citrus orchards.

Females of a tiny parasite from China are very fond of red scale, the number one citrus pest in California. But males of the species refuse to follow the same diet.

Until the Riverside entomologists can find what the males do like, there will be no families of Casca Chinensis in California.

Cherry Packers Surpass Nature in Maraschinos

TRAVERSE CITY (UP)—Traverse City "brewmasters" go nature one better in producing the bright red cherries found in your cocktails, ice cream and candy.

Traditionally the cherry capitol of the world, Traverse City has developed its most glamorous cherry — the maraschino — from what was once an outcast in this area of the red sour cherry.

The maraschino, beautiful, juicy and firm, is just as artificial as it can be.

"Cherries just don't grow that way," Jack Nelson, head chemist for a large Traverse City cherry packer, said. "What we go through to make them sell is as complicated as brewing beer. You might call us brewmasters."

The maraschino is derived from the dark sweet cherry. It is an imitation of the imported Marasca cherry, found abundantly in Italy. However, Nelson and other cherry growers say the imitation is better than the original.

The brewmasters bleach out the color, then recolor red, green or wine shades.

"We could make them pink or blue, if we wished," Nelson said.

While the tart cherries are processed in six weeks, the maraschino cherries take several months to ready for the market. Most are split up for ice cream manufacturers.

The use of the cherries in ice cream began 16 years ago. Howard Black, an ice cream salesman vacationing in Traverse City, asked how many Michigan cherries were going into ice cream. The answer was none.

Globe-Circling Flight Mapped by Editor

CHICAGO (AP)—Aubrey O. Cookman Jr., a magazine editor, plans to leave on a flight around the world tomorrow and hopes to set a new record of about 90 hours for the flight in commercial planes.

Cookman will use commercial airline facilities all the way on his estimated 21,452-mile trip. The regular fare, including tax and meals, will total $1,769.35.

Flying eastward, he hopes to return to Chicago early next Tuesday morning with a record bettering the 99-hour mark set by Horace C. Boren of Dallas, Tex., last June.

Extortion Caller Fails to Pick-Up Sack of Jewels

The man told her to put $5,000 worth of diamonds in a sack and leave them at the Black Cat crossing near here "if you regard your life and Tony's life as worth anything."

She sacked the diamonds, notified olice Chief Earl Bu nchand took a cab to the crossing, where she left the gems. The chief rounded up some riflemen and ringed the area. No one tried to pick up the sack.

Foresees Older Retirement Age

MSC Medical Clinic Told 65 - Year Limit Needs Revising

EAST LANSING (AP)—The current retirement age of 65 probably will be revised upward within the next few years, Michigan doctors meeting here were told yesterday.

Speaker before the seventh annual fall postgraduate clinic of the Wayne County and Michigan Academies of General Practice at Michigan State College was Dr. Charles Sellers of Detroit.

Dr. Sellers told the group that persons over 65 are a rapidly-growing segment of the United States population thanks to modern advances in medicine and surgery.

He said that the "old folk" population grew from 2,000,000 in 1900 to 12,000,000 today and predicted they would be 25,000,000 strong by 1975.

With so many of these older persons competent to earn their own living, it is essential that the mandatory doctrine of retirement at 65 be re-examined, he said.

"The elderly persons engaged in productive employment is a happier person and tends to live longer," he said.

As persons over 65 become a greater proportion of the population, they will increase in influence on our social and political life, Dr. Sellers said.

He said there was a possibility that the political figures of the future are likely to be older men who have a greater appeal among aged voters.

It is the duty of the family physician, Dr. Sellers said, to keep his aged patients healthy so they may continue to contribute their widsom and experience to the general welfare.

Dr. Karl L. Swift, also of Detroit, was another speaker at the morning session. He outlined the most common ailments of old people and their treatment.

The pneumatic tire principle was patented in England in 1845, and two years later, in 1847, it was also patented in the United States.

Remember Kind Farmer When He Needs Help

Wheeler today looked at his barn and storage bins filled with the harvest from his 65 to 80 acre corn field which earlier this week seemed doomed to the ravages of winter.

Charlie last week fell from a ladder and suffered five broken ribs. The fall wiped out his hopes of harvesting his corn before cold weather rendered the crop worthless.

But neighbors heard of Charlie's plight. Farmers quickly assembled on Wheeler's farm Tuesday and picked his crop.

The harvesting was an outing for the Schoolcraft area farmers. Their wives came along and cooked for the harvesters. Mrs. Wheeler, despite a broken hip, also helped feed the volunteer harvesters.

When the harvesting was finished, the volunteers didn't stay around for thanks. They left the Wheeler farm remembering the times Charlie had helped other farms:

Last year fire whipped through the barn of Wesley Parker, a Wheeler neighbor, destroying hay needed to feed cattle during the winter. Before a new barn could be completed, Charlie enlisted the aid of fellow farmers in filling the barn with hay.

Last fall, another neighbor, Ed Ballinger, became ill. Charlie was among the first to bring his harvesting equipment to the Ballinger farm and pick 65 acres of crops.

Charlie also was among the first volunteers to harvest Lawrence Ballinger's crops when Ballinger became ill. With other farmers, Charlie also planted spring oats for the stricken Ballinger.

This week it was Charlie's turn and his friends didn't let him down.

Stolen Car Turns Up After New One Is Bought

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Dr. Elbert King's car was stolen July 10. He settled with an insurance company and bought a new car for a considerable additional sum.

Yesterday he found out his car had been recovered four months ago by a sheriff's deputy who failed to report it.

He learned about his car's recovery through a bill—$67.50—for towing and storage charges.

Finns Continue Probe of Suspected Spy Ring

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—Finnish authorities continued a probe into alleged spy activities today after announcing the arrest of five men, including an officer and an Air Force sergeant, on charges of spying for an unidentified foreign power. They were arrested Oct. 27 at Jyvaskyla, in central Finland, near a Finnish air base.

Wholesale value of motor vehicles built in the U. S. during 1952 amounted to a total of about $8.7 billion.

Windstorm Uproots Historic Landmark

MOCKSVILLE, N. C. (UP) —A willow tree that grew from a green stick stuck in the earth became a landmark in Davie County. But now it is gone, victim of a windstorm.

John Collette stuck a green willow switch in soft earth on the spot where an old well had been filled at the foot of a hill near Pudding Ridge in 1886. From the switch, the willow tree grew.

The Collette family built a house beside the tree. Its limbs were stripped in 1928 to make room for another wing of the house, but the willow grew its drooping branches again.

"It was like a member of the family," W. S. Collette said.

When the storm struck the heavy gusts caught in the branches of the giant willow, twisted its great trunk and uprooted the tree. It fell between the house and the well house but touched neither.

25 Years After Sinking, Vestris Survivors Scarce

NEW YORK (AP)— The 10th day of November 1928 was a fine clear day in New York.

Herbert Hoover was the nation's president-elect, and already Gov.-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was being hailed as the future hope of the Democratic party.

On the New York exchanges, the stock market was boiling up to record heights, and in Italy Mt. Etna was boiling over the surrounding countryside.

In Tokyo, that Saturday, Nov. 10, a new Emperor, Hirohito, ascended the throne of the rising sun, and in Hoboken, N. J., 328 men, women and children — 129 passengers and 199 crew — climbed the gangplank of the British steamer Vestris for a time-tested voyage to South America.

The 10,494-ton ship, Capt. William J. Carey at the helm, stood out to sea, creating hardly a ripple in the passing scene. Some said later they could not see her Plimsoll mark (load line) as she went by. Others remembered she may have had a slight list.

Two days later—25 years ago today — the liner went down in a violent storm, taking 111 of her passenger and crew to their deaths.

The lights of New York hardly out of sight, the Vestris ran into freshening weather early Sunday, Nov. 11, the 10th anniversary of the armistice.

The wind was from the northeast and the ship began listing three to five degrees to starboard.

Slowly the ship began to take on water, the list became more pronounced and the weather grew worse.

At noon Sunday, some 240 miles off the Virginia Capes, with the Vestris steering wildly, Carey hove to in a trough of the sea and ordered engines stopped.

Water poured into the stricken vessel. Pump strained ineffectually.

On Monday Carey radioed his office:

"During night developed a 32-degree list. Starboard decks under water. Ship lying on beam ends. Impossible proceed anywhere."

At 8:37 a. m. Monday, Nov. 12, Carey ordered his chief wireless man, M. J. O'Loughlin, to end a "CQ" signal, an alert. Seventy-nine minutes later he flashed an SOS.

For four hours radio stations along the Atlantic coast were off the air, fearing to interfere with the communications between the doomed ship and the rescuers rushing to her side.

At 11:30 a. m. a watertight bulkhead between the engine room and stokehold gave way, and the fight to stay afloat was all but over.

On the lopsided world that was the Vestris, frantic efforts were under way to float the lifeboats. Three boats were lowered to within 15 feet of the water, and the screaming women and bewildered sobbing children were placed in them.

But something went wrong. One lifeoat never got loose and went down with the ship. One was cut free, but it capsized. Another got clear but was swamped.

At 1:40 p. m. the heroic O'Loughlin uttered his final "goodbye." He was not among the survivors.

Other lifeboats and a raft got free of the sinking ship. Male passengers and crewmen swarmed over the side and jumped into the shark-infested waters whose waves sometimes towered 100 feet in the air.

Fourteen hours later rescuers picked up eight boats.

Today, a quarter of a century later, Vestris survivors are hard to find. One is Alfred Duncan, of Liverpool, England, who at the age of 27 was a second steward.

Says Duncan, now chief steward on the Lamport and Holt's Raeburn:

"I've had a few sinkings since then — that one has gone right out of my mind."

Little Strokes Quite Common Disease of Aged

NEW YORK (AP) — Little brain strokes are very common and perhaps the most important disease of the aged, Dr. Walter C. Alvarez writes in an editorial in Geriatrics magazine. And they're often overlooked by doctors, he warns.

"Obviously whenever a person past 50 who always was well before comes in complaining of not feeling fit, of having trouble forcing himself to work, or of having spells when there is a little uncertainty as to body balanced, a really careful history should be taken to see if the trouble came suddenly on a certain day. Often, if asked, the patient will say, 'Yes, I thought then I was having a little stroke.'"

And the patient's husband or wife may report a change in character coming on suddenly—irascibility, over-emotionalism, loss of memory, or decided and sudden aging.

Play to Feature Special Effects

Rochester High School Slates 'Mr. Icebox' for Two Performances

ROCHESTER—Some of the most unusual lighting and sound effects ever used here will add to the effect of "Mr. Icebox," a three-act mystery-comedy to be presented by the high school senior class next Thursday and Friday nights.

Trick lighting will enable the audience to follow the play through three separate settings on the stage at one time.

Thunder and lightning rumbling and flashing in the background will affect emotional suspense built up by the players as they unfold the story in a north woods cabin.

Tom Rowlson, Dick Juengel and Bob Potere are on the lighting committee. An outstanding cast will be headed by Ken Rutherford, Shirley Allison, Bob Missel, Sally Anderson, Roger Forbush and Jerry Dahlman.

A central figure in the story will be Dennis Witsoe, a seventh grader who plays the role of Malcolm, a boy kidnapped and held for a half a million dollar ransom.

Details of the production will be handled by Patti Gray, student director; Jerry Dahlman, business manager; Jack Wilmot, Bill Twydell and Jerry Moore, stage managers; Tom Harding, sales manager; Walter Evanson, chairman of properties and Gilroy Witsoe, programs.

Carving Turkey Easier With This Year's Knife

NEW YORK (UP) — The traditional times for carving turkeys—Thanksgiving and Christmas — lie just ahead.

This year, the man of the house who has to tackle the gobbler can do it in streamlined style. A three-in-one gadget does away with the need of switching implements.

The new tool has a regular knife handle and a stainless steel blade. One edge of the blade is honed sharp for slicing meat, while the other edge is lined with saw teeth to cut through bones.

At its tip, the blade forms two-pronged fork for serving meat on the plate.

Fish Tastes Better

Planning to serve fish soon? Try coating them with cereal crumbs for extra crispness and tastiness. Fine crumbs prove best; use a food mill or roll the cereal. Cereals that may be used for coating are corn flakes, bite-size shredded rice, oven-popped rice cereal, whole wheat flakes, whole wheat shreds, or whole wheat cereal, uncooked.

Bavarian Cream Is Not Expensive

Bavarian Cream sounds so luscious. And it is. But it need not be expensive to make. Try this recipe using evaporated milk instead of whipping cream.

Emerald Bavarian Cream

1 package lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Few grains salt
1 cup chilled evaporated milk

Pour boiling water over the gelatin and stir until dissolved. Place 2 tablespoons of this mixture aside into a cup to use for garnish. Chill. When beginning to set, whip until fluffy. Whip evaporated milk, add lemon juice and salt and fold into whipped gelatin. Serve in sherbet glasses and garnish with lime gelatin (reserved) which is cut into tiny cubes. Makes 8 servings.

Marinate onion rings in mild vinegar that's been sweetened with a little sugar and serve with hamburgers.

Aroma of Coffee Starts Brain Waves

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — People who have always maintained that coffee helped them to think can now say, "I told you so!" Real brain-waves caused by the scent of coffee have been reported by several doctors to the Congress of Electro - Encephalography held here.

Testing various substances and recording the results, they found that the brain responded most strongly to the scent of coffee, then to lilacs, cloves, benzine, peppermint and lavender, in that order.

Salad With Party Air

NEW YORK (UP) —If you're looking for new salad ideas, here is one combination with a party air. Mold dark sweet canned cherries and chopped walnuts in cherry-flavored gelatin. Chill in individual molds, and serve in lettuce cups with a fluffy cream cheese dressing.

Not Pie, but Pumpkin Custard!

Calories Less Without Crust

Whipped Cream Top Can Come to the Aid of Slim Friends

Do you just love pumpkin pie but hesitate to serve it often because of the calories it contains? Why not serve Pumpkin-Nut Custard which will give you all the delicious pumpkin filling without the crust. You can skip the topping of whipped cream if you're really dieting; put it on the servings of your slender friends.

Pumpkin-Nut Custard

⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, separated
1 cup cooked or canned pumpkin
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Mix together sugar, salt, spices, nuts and bread crumbs. Beat egg yolk; stir in pumpkin, milk and melted butter. Add to crumb mixture. Beat egg white until shiny peaks are formed when beater is withdrawn. Fold into pumpkin-crumb mixture.

Turn into 8 well-greased custard cups. Bake in a slow oven at 325 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes, or until a knife inserted near center of pudding comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream and garnish with a maraschino cherry if desired.

Different Sandwich Uses Cottage Cheese

Vita-Zip Sandwich

1 cup cottage cheese
1 tablespoon finely minced onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped sweet pickle
1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing
Lettuce
Whole wheat bread
Butter or margarine

Blend cottage cheese with ingredients on order given. Spread six slices bread with butter, spread filling on each, add lettuce, then cover with second slice of buttered bread. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Small Pastry Rounds 'Delish' for Canapes

NEW YORK (UP) —Instead of using crackers or toast for canapes try baking small pastry rounds. Roll out regular pastry dough as for a pie crust. Cut into rounds about one and one-half inches in diameter and bake in a hot oven.

One delicious spread is made by blending grated sharp cheese, finely chopped walnuts, chopped pimento, mayonnaise and a dash of cayenne pepper.

To make a special topping for a fruit salad, add a tablespoon or two of chopped nut meats — walnuts, pecans, or almonds — to a mayonnaise and whipped cream dressing.

Salad Combines Sweet and Sour

Bridge clubs, parents' associations, women's clubs and other such organizations are busily resuming activities with arrival of fall and winter months.

For many homemakers, this means a turn at entertaining and new ideas are always welcome. Molded salads come to mind because they are tops in eye and appetite appeal and are prepared well in advance of serving time.

Pineapple Pickle Salad

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
½ cup boiling water
¼ cup lemon juice
¾ cup pineapple syrup (drained from canned pineapple)
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup chopped cucumber
½ cup chopped sweet pickles
1 cup drained canned crushed pineapple

Soften gelatin in cold water five minutes; add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Combine gelatin mixture, lemon juice, pineapple syrup, sugar and salt; stir until sugar and salt are dissolved.

Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in celery, cucumber, pickles and pineapple; mix thoroughly. Pour into oiled 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Makes six servings.

Ice Cream Pie Chef's Specialty at Mountain Inn

Here's a recipe for an astounding pie: Toasted Ice Cream Pie. It is featured at a mountain inn, well-known for its delicious food.

Toasted Ice Cream Pie

Slice the cake horizontally in thin slices, about one-quarter inch. Next shape a slice to fit the bottom of a pie plate, just like pie crust.

Now cover this "pie crust" with a one-half-inch layer of vanilla ice cream just soft enough to spread evenly. Place in freezing section of refrigerator or in deep freeze for a few hours.

Then add a layer of strawberry ice cream, softened to spread. Return to freezing section or freezer for a few more hours.

Finally, pile a two-inch layer of fresh egg meringue on top of ice cream and run under broiler just long enough to give a golden tan. Return finished pie to freezer.

To serve, cut in regular pie wedges and serve with small amount of strawberry or chocolate sauce. Serves eight.

Stuffed Frankfurters

Your family will love frankfurters stuffed with mashed potatoes. Season the potatoes with minced parsley, grated onion, chopped pimiento; pile them into the split wieners and heat in the oven or under the broiler. Serve with hot sauerkraut!

Zesty Tea Is Base for Hawaiian Punch

Your fall parties will demand a new punch recipe — refreshing, fruit - flavored and economical. Here's just what you've been looking for: A punch flavored with lemon and pineapple juice, with a base made of zesty tea.

Hawaiian Punch

2 tablespoons orange pekoe and pekoe tea, or 4 tea bags
1 quart freshly boiling water
1 cup sugar
1 cup cold water
3½ cups (1 No. 2 can) unsweetened pineapple juice
½ cup lemon juice

Place tea in large tea pot or pitcher. Pour boiling water over tea. Cover and allow to brew five minutes. Strain, or remove tea bags. Cool at room temperature.

Combine sugar and cold water in saucepan. Place over medium heat. Bring to a boil and boil five minutes. Cool.

Stir in pineapple juice and lemon juice. Add cooled tea. Pour over cracked ice and serve with a sprig of mint in each glass. Makes 2 quarts.

New Teenage Cookbook Provides Fun Plus Rules

By JANET ODELL

The Betty Betz Teenage Cookbook (Henry Holt & Co., $3.50) came to our desk recently. Although the title suggests that the book is solely for the under-20 group, we think that any young homemaker would enjoy using this colorful book.

The format of the book is good. It is larger than many cookbooks and the pages stay flat when the book is opened. The author has done all the illustrations herself.

Nationally known as a war correspondent in Korea, Betty Betz knows teenagers. She entertains them in her Manhattan penthouse studio at fabulous "Coke parties."

So she knows the people about whom she writes so smoothly.

Few girls nowadays consider it smart to get married without some knowledge of cooking. Many, in fact, pride themselves on their skill in the kitchen long before they reach the altar.

So, for the young girl who is anxious to learn to be a good cook (something we advocated not so long ago), this book will be welcome.

Presented with this excellent how-to-do-it book, most mothers will step over and let daughter handle some of the meal preparation.

One of the first chapters is called "This is the way we . . ." and discusses various methods of food preparation. The next one contains a short definition of cooking terms; the third one tells why we use certain ingredients.

Points on shopping and the essentials of nutrition are touched on before any recipes are given. A chapter on herbs and one on table setting complete the preliminary part of the book.

The different sections of color used on each page call one's attention to important points. And the laugh-provoking sketches emphasize what is said in the text.

Dear to the hearts — and appetites — of most adolescents, the frankfurter and the hamburger each have a chapter to themselves.

Although recipes are given for regular pies and cakes, excellent tips are given for using ready-made mixes. As the author says, "Although Grandma might be a bit skeptical about those 'storebought' mixes on the market, many of them will turn out better than the result requiring 'slaving over a hot stove all day' . . . never be afraid to admit you use the time-saving mixes. Almost everyone does!"

We like her idea about beating home-made candy. We never did enjoy beating a pan of fudge until our arm wore out. Betty Betz says to "stir-beat."

Stir-beating is a steady, casual beating, using a wooden spoon to stir the candy around in a wide motion while lifting it up and over. This way, she says, fudge needs only about 8 minutes of beating.

Special attention is given to recipes for sodas, brunch and TV snack menus (as well as all other kinds of menus) and yummy sandwiches.

If you have a teenager or a young bride on your Christmas list this year, consider giving her this excellent cookbook which sticks to fundamentals, yet slips in some of the fun and frills of cooking.

Orange With Lamb

Choose orange stuffing for a cushion-style lamb shoulder. Add grated orange rind to the bread crumbs. Moisten with orange juice. Chopped mint may be added if desired.

GINGERBREAD DOUGHNUTS—Gingerbread is a food that belongs to autumn. On cool fall evenings, what could be better than spicy gingerbread doughnuts and coffee eaten in front of a roaring fire? Glaze them or serve them plain.

Children Love It

Bright Farina. Drop a spoonful of bright red jelly in the center of each bowl of white farina. You might make a flower design by arranging peach or pear slices petal fashion around the jelly.

Doughnuts Are Gingerbready

Perhaps you have often made doughnuts for your family. But when next you decide to treat them with "fried cakes," try raised gingerbread doughnuts. We think they will soon become one of your favorite treats.

Raised Gingerbread Doughnuts

1 cup milk
¼ cup sugar
½ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
4¾ cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
¼ cup shortening
½ cup molasses
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten

Scald milk and add sugar. Set aside to cool to lukewarm. Measure into a large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk.

Sift together flour, ginger, cinnamon, nutmeg and allspice. Add 2 cups to yeast mixture and beat until smooth. Cover and let rise about one hour in a warm place. Cream shortening, gradually adding molasses. Stir in salt and beaten eggs. Stir this into yeast mixture.

Stir in remaining flour. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk.

Roll out one-third inch thick on floured board and cut with doughnut cutter. Place doughnuts on floured board or greased baking sheet. Cover with cloth and let rise until double.

Drop into hot fat (360) raised side down. Cook two or three minutes, a few at a time, turning once.

Glaze while warm: Dip into a glaze made by stirring 1 cup confectioners' sugar into one-third cup boiling water and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Makes 2 dozen doughnuts.

Smiles Greet Spinach Served With Sauce

Smiles, not groans, greet this spinach dish when youngsters taste it. If you have a triple-bladed, spring-action chopper you can shred the spinach in no time.

The sauce is a can of condensed soup. Use the one your kids like best.

Topped with crisp bacon—always welcomed by small fry—this dish makes a hearty and nutritious main course for a school-day lunch.

Serve it with pretty carrot strips for something crunchy, whole-wheat bread and butter sandwiches and a hearty dessert of apple or peach crisp.

Creamed Chopped Spinach

2 pounds fresh spinach
1 10½-ounce can cream of mushroom or chicken soup (undiluted)
Salt and pepper (to taste)
3 slices bacon (crisply cooked)

Remove stem ends and any tough veins from spinach. Wash in warm water several times, change water each time, lifting spinach out of water each time so sand and grit sink to bottom.

Place in heavy saucepan over low heat with just the water clinging to the leaves; cover. Turn with fork as bottom leaves wilt; simmer about 3 minutes.

Drain and chop spinach with triple-bladed, spring-action chopper. Place chopped spinach in saucepan with soup. Heat, stirring often. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Rule for Pork Hocks

Pork hocks need to be covered with water, brought to boiling, then simmered one-and-one-half to two hours or until they are tender. Add some celery leaves and bay leaves to the simmering water for good flavor.

Potato Masher Heavy?

Buying a potato masher? Then make sure it has a comfortable easy-to-grip handle and enough weight to break up the potatoes. The handle is best when it's unpainted because the steam from hot foods may make the paint peel.

CHEESE SANDWICHES AND TOMATO SAUCE—Broiled cheese sandwiches topped with rich, red tomato sauce are a real main course around which to build a meal. Serve crispy red or green coleslaw, add your favorite beverage and a light dessert.

Pour Hot Tomato Sauce on Cheese-Ham Sandwich

Piping hot, colorful tomato sauce served over a broiled open-faced sandwich of ham topped with golden brown bubbling cheese is a mouthwatering tempter. It is a perfect combination for a buffet, luncheon or a Sunday night supper.

Cheese contributes to any meal in which it is included because it is a concentrated food containing much of the nutriment of milk. It is one of the most versatile foods available, fitting in any part of the meal from hor d'oeuvres to dessert.

It can be served alone, in combination with other foods as an extender, or to add flavor and interest to otherwise bland foods. The flavor, digestibility and nutritional value of cheese makes it a valuable food.

For the open-faced cheese sandwich, slices of bread are toasted on one side, turned and buttered.

First a slice of ham and then either a slice of cheddar cheese or plenty of grated cheddar cheese are placed on the untoasted side of the bread. Then the sandwich is placed under the broiler until the cheese has melted and turned a golden brown color.

The tomato sauce has a base of condensed tomato soup to which bits of green pepper, chopped parsley, and minced onion are added. It may be put right on the sandwiches, or served in a bowl along with them from which folks can help themselves.

Grilled Cheese Sandwich

2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 can condensed tomato soup
Dash tabasco sauce
6 slices bread
6 slices cheddar cheese
6 slices cooked ham or lunchmeat

Melt the butter and add the onion, pepper and parsley. Simmer 10 minutes. Add soup and tabasco sauce and heat thoroughly. Toast the bread on one side. Turn and butter then place a slice of ham and one of cheese on the untoasted side.

Place under the broiler until the cheese is melted. Arrange on hot plate and cover with the tomato sauce. Makes six open-faced sandwiches.

Pepper Most Popular Among All 75 Spices

CHICAGO (UP)—A container company here estimates Americans use 75,000 tons of spices on their food annually, with pepper the most popular.

The company said housewives in the United States used about 75 different kinds of spices in 1952. Nutmeg, cloves, caraway and paprika were highly popular.

Make Way for Cars

KALAMAZOO (UP) — The first building of the Upjohn Co., a pharmaceutical firm, will e torn down to make room for company employes' cars. The four-story building was erected in 1888 and was the first owned by the drug company.

White rayon underclothes usually retain their white tone. But if they do need a freshening, use a weak chlorine bleach to restore whiteness.

New Filter on Market to Strain Used Fats

NEW YORK (UP) — There's a new kitchen aid available for the homemaker who hates waste but loves cleanliness. It's a filter for used fats and oils, which strains out impurities and leaves the fat clean and odorless, and ready for re-use.

The product is a simple inverted cone of aluminum combined with a chemically-impregnated paper which does the filtering.

Cheese Potato Salad Original

TOASTED CHEESE POTATO SALAD—Turn the heat on potato salad, summertime favorite, and it becomes a dish with winter appetite appeal. The salad under the bubbly cheese topping is icy cold. Watch your guests beam as they dip into this unusual treat.

This Toasted Cheese Potato Salad originated in the test kitchen of a national food company. It is suggested particularly for Saturday night supper parties when the gang gathers.

It's easy and economical to make and needs only broiled frankfurters or hamburgers to round out the main course.

Toasted Cheese Potato Salad

8 to 10 medium sized potatoes
½ cup French dressing
2½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup finely chopped celery
8 to 10 stuffed olives, sliced
½ cup real mayonnaise
1 cup grated American cheese
Watercress - tomatoes

Cook potatoes, until just tender, in boiling salted water. Peel and slice. While still warm, pour French dressing over potatoes and season with salt and pepper. Toss with a rubber spatula or fork until thoroughly mixed. Allow to cool and add celery, olives and real mayonnaise. Mix well.

Line a bread pan or 8-inch square cake pan with waxed paper. Pack salad firmly into pan and chill several hours.

Just before serving unmold on a cookie sheet. Sprinkle with cheese and broil until lightly browned and bubbly. Garnish with tomato wedges and watercress. Yield: Six servings.

Snacks With Mother Always Taste Good

After-school snacks are important for growing youngsters, nutritionists agree, because many boys and girls who work and play hard quickly use up the energy mealtime food provides.

Snacks count, too, because boys and girls need the warm feeling of having Mother welcome them with a treat, ready to listen to anything they want to tell her about the day's happenings before they're off again for before-supper outdoor play.

A crunchy red apple to bite into! A juicy orange! A crisp cookie full of brown sugar, spice and everything nice!

A chunky slice of oatmeal quick bread, studded with dates or figs! Frosty glasses of milk! Snacks like these tasted good when the first little red schoolhouse was built, and they still do.

EXCELLENT WITH ANY SEAFOOD

2 Recipes Make Eggless Cooking Easier, Tastier

Is someone in your family allergic to eggs? If so, you find it difficult to cook for them, we're sure. Here are two recipes that require no eggs, yet should be tasty.

Eggless Mayonnaise

¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Few grains pepper
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
½ cup salad oil
4 teaspoons lemon juice

Mix salt, paprika, mustard and pepper together in bowl. Stir in milk. Beat in salad oil gradually. Stir in lemon juice. Keep in refrigerator in covered jar. Makes three-fourths cup.

The second recipe is for a dessert to tempt those on eggless diets.

Orange Custard

2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Mix thoroughly cornstarch, sugar, salt. Add one-fourth cup milk; blend until smooth. Heat remaining milk in double boiler. Add cornstarch mixture; cook until it begins to thicken.

Add orange juice and grated rind; cook until thick, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. Cover and cook 20 minutes. Turn into cold, wet molds and chill. Serves four.

Nutmeg Squash

2 cups hot cooked mashed yellow squash
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

TUNA GUMBO SAUCE—Here's a tasty spaghetti dish featuring a flavor-rich sauce with a southern accent. Pictured also is a tossed salad with fresh vegetables and cheese, plus elbow macaroni and canned tuna. Both are hearty and satisfying.

Spaghetti and Tuna Team Together Again in Gumbo

Look over a list of America's favorite meals and you'll find that most are made mainly of just two foods—ham and eggs, frankfurters and beans, corn beef and cabbage to name a few of the famous combinations.

Canned tuna and macaroni are another popular pair, outstanding for flavor, economy and excellent food value. Delicious recipes of every kind can be made with these invaluable ingredients.

The autumn season is the time to treat your family to a variety of tasty dishes featuring these two fine foods.

Spaghetti with Tuna Gumbo Sauce

2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup chopped onions
1 large stalk celery
1 No. 2 can okra
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 cloves garlic, impaled on toothpicks
1 teaspoon thyme
Salt and cayenne pepper to taste
1 tablespoon salt
2 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti

Drain tuna and reserve oil. In a skillet, blend tuna oil and flour; cook over low heat until lightly browned. Add onions and cook until tender.

Chop celery and celery leaves. Add celery, okra, tomatoes, green pepper, garlic, thyme, salt and cayenne to taste; mix well. Cook covered 15 minutes; uncover and continue cooking 30 minutes.

Break tuna into pieces with a fork and add to tomato mixture, cook 15 minutes longer. Remove garlic before serving.

About 10 minutes before sauce is done, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender.

Drain in colander. Arrange spaghetti on heated serving dishes and pour sauce over spaghetti. Makes four to six servings.

Pie Brightened With Cinnamon

Nothing can equal the real down-to-earth goodness of a freshly baked homemade pie with a tender, flaky crust. Today, with quick pie crust mix, your pie too can be a masterpiece.

Just give this Red Cinnamon Apple Pie a try and see for yourself how easy it is to make a delicious pie.

Red Cinnamon Apple Pie

1 10-ounce package pie crust mix
¾ cup sugar
½ cup water
2 tablespoons red cinnamon drops
6 medium apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter

Prepare pie crust according to directions on the package for a double 9-inch pie. Fit into pie plate.

Combine sugar, water and cinnamon drops in a saucepan. Place over heat; bring to a boil and simmer five minutes.

Peel, core and slice six medium apples. Add to syrup with lemon juice. Cover and cook five minutes longer.

Turn apples and syrup into pie shell. Dot with butter. Adjust top crust. Cut slits to allow steam to escape. Bake in a hot oven 425 degrees about 40 minutes.

Your Meringue Can Be Really Failure-Proof

First, be sure the bowl for whipping eggs is scrupulously clean and wiped dry with clean towel. Use five egg whites, a pinch of salt, eight to 10 tablespoons of powdered sugar and a few drops vanilla extract.

Place three-quarters of the egg whites in a bowl and beat with salt until nearly dry. Then slowly beat in sugar and at the last moment add the remaining quarter of egg whites and give a quick and brief final beating.

'Electric Eye' Adds Up to Better Cup of Coffee

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Electronics are contributing to a better cup of coffee for the American consumer. One of the country's largest coffee importers is now using a battery of 24 "electric eyes." As the coffee beans pass before them, suction cups pick up each bean and "show" it to the "eye."

If the bean is not up to standard, it is ruthlessly pushed aside by the mechanism as the "good" beans pass along through on their way to becoming a cup of excellent coffee.

"Counting calories" nowadays? You should know that generous amounts of Domino Granulated Sugar, used in your favorite foods and beverages, contain fewer calories than usual servings of many foods regularly included in reducing diets.

Nutritionists say that no single food is fattening unless you take in more calories than your body uses up. Prunes and squash are excellent foods . . . but, sugar, too, is nutritionally important in the well-balanced diet you need for good health.

So don't deny yourself the pleasureful extra flavor that Domino Sugar adds to your daily meals. And always insist on Domino Pure Cane Sugar because only one sugar is Domino pure!

Exclusive double-wrapped Aluminum Package keeps GOOD LUCK better tasting than any other margarine!

Read the proof! In flavor tests, new Reynolds Wrap kept GOOD LUCK sweet as the day it was made—even after 8 weeks! Only GOOD LUCK has it!

NOW YOU can serve perfect table spread every time—sweet and delicious as the day it was packed! Just look for GOOD LUCK margarine in this revolutionary new package made of shiny Reynolds aluminum foil.

To test this package, we put GOOD LUCK in a refrigerator along with other table spreads wrapped in ordinary waxed cartons. Next to them we placed sliced onions—and the strongest cheese we could find.

Sweet and Delicious After 8 Weeks

After eight weeks, GOOD LUCK in its new aluminum package was still as sweet and delicious as the day it was made! But the other quality margarines in the usual waxed cartons had last flavor and picked up odors very quickly, some after only six days.

Here's the reason for the difference: We wrap each quarter-pound print in pure Reynolds Wrap, then we put the quarter pounds in a waxed carton for extra protection, and finally, we seal the whole carton in shiny aluminum foil.

As a result, GOOD LUCK not only tastes delicious when we wrap it, but keeps its glorious flavor better—and longer—than any other margarine.

Remember, GOOD LUCK in its new package is unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company, 390 Park Avenue, New York 22, New York.

We stored GOOD LUCK in the refrigerator next to strong cheese and onions for 8 weeks. When the new aluminum package was opened, GOOD LUCK's flavor was sweet and delicious as ever!

Keep GOOD LUCK in Your Refrigerator—It Spreads Easily!

The delicate flavor of this fine quality margarine is perishable. That's why we carefully refrigerate GOOD LUCK during processing—also while awaiting shipment, and in transit.

If you want to enjoy GOOD LUCK at its delicious best, always keep it in your refrigerator. You'll find GOOD LUCK spreads smoothly even when cold.

Gelatin Advised for Nail Health

Brittle, fragile fingernails . . . a problem common to young and senior citizens alike . . . have been successfully treated in many instances by including unflavored gelatin in the daily diet.

A medical test made at a New York hospital first showed the possibilities of the gelatin treatment for improvement of soft and easily broken fingernails. Since the test, hundreds of people have taken the gelatin treatment, and where clinical observations have been made, results were favorable.

An envelope of the unflavored gelatin must be taken at least 90 consecutive days because it takes that long to grow a new nail. The gelatin can be taken in water, fruit or vegetable juices or bouillon.

If used in water or juices, sprinkle the envelope of gelatin into a glass of the liquid, let liquid absorb the gelatin, then stir and drink. If the liquid thickens, add more liquid and stir again.

When taking the gelatin in bouillon, soften the envelope amount in three-quarters cup of water in a small saucepan; add one chicken or beef bouillon cube, place over low heat and stir constantly until the gelatin is dissolved and the bouillon is of serving temperature.

Unflavored gelatin is all protein; no sugar is added. Therefore, the daily gelatin drink is also popular with senior citizens on reducing diets where a high protein intake is the menu regime.

As a mid-morning or mid-afternoon snack, the drink provides supplementary protein and a low-caloric pickup.

Nothing Ordinary About Hamburg Cooked This Way

Mediterranean Hamburgers

1 pound ground chuck beef,
4 pitted green olives (any size),
2 flat anchovy fillets,
Salt.

Divide beef into eight even portions. Flatten each portion so it will be 3½ inches across. Chop olives and anchovies and sprinkle over four of the patties. Cover with remaining four patties and press edges together.

Heat a medium-size iron skillet until very hot, sprinkle lightly with salt; arrange hamburgers in skillet and cook over high heat for two minutes on each side; turn heat very low and cook another minute if you want hamburgers rare in center, longer for medium or well-done patties. Serve at once.

Cooking the hamburgers this way will get the kitchen smoky, but it's worth it because they taste so good!

Note: Use anchovy fillets from a two-ounce can for this recipe; put the remaining anchovies and their oil in a small jar, cover tightly and refrigerate. Use some of the drained anchovies in green salads or in a cream-cheese spread.

Try Broiled Frosting but Avoid Scorching

Try Broiled Frosting on the next cake you bake. It's so quick and easy to prepare, carries will to a potluck or church supper, and tastes heavenly.

Broiled Frosting

⅓ cup chopped, blanched almonds
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅓ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon evaporated milk

Spread almonds in shallow pan and brown lightly under broiler. Melt butter in small saucepan; mix in toasted almonds, sugar and milk. Spread on baked cake. Place under broiler until mixture is bubbly. Watch carefully, for this frosting scorches easily. Remove from broiler and cool.

Sausage Cakes Given Glamour

Take a relatively unglamorous meat — pork; combine it with a tarty fruit — cranberry. Simple case of addition and you get a cold-weather twosome that easily rates college cheers.

Perhaps you have noticed how well certain tart fruits serve as a colorful and tasty relish with meats — contrasting their sharp flavors with the meat. Apples . . . oranges . . . sickle pears . . . prunes . . . any spiced or pickled fruit is the touch to spell glamour in a simple meal.

The delicate, subdued flavors of the sausage meat are brought forth merely by adding monosodium glutamate, now well established on the seasoning shelf as a vital means for awakening all food flavors and assuring you and your family of experience upon experience of happy eating.

Cape Cod Sausage Cakes

½ teaspoon MSG
1 pound pork sausage meat
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
2 cups fresh cranberries

Add MSG to sausage meat; mix well. Form into six cakes. Fry until well-browned; drain on absorbent paper. Combine sugar and water in saucepan; cook, stirring, until sugar dissolves; simmer five minutes.

Pour cranberries into shallow baking pan; add hot syrup. Arrange sausage cakes in pan. Bake in hot oven, 400, 30 minutes or until cranberries have popped open. Makes six servings.

CAPE COD SAUSAGE CAKES—Browned sausage cakes nestle in colorful tart-tasting cranberries to bring glamour to an inexpensive dish. Use the abundant little fruit to make an attractive casserole dish that's good enough for a party.

Delicious Chutney Adds Zip to Meat

This spicy and delicious fall favorite is an excellent relish to serve as a meat accompaniment—try it on a generous slice of pot roast tucked inside a bun. Apple Chutney makes a bright flavored accent for pork and lamb too.

Apple Chutney

5½ pounds (16 medium) Jonathan apples, pealed and cored
1 pound (4 medium) onions, pealed
½ pound (2 medium) green peppers
1 4-ounce can pimiento, drained
1 cup seedless raisins
4 cups white vinegar
2½ cups beet or cane sugar
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon ground ginger

Put apples, onion, green peppers and pimiento through food chopper, using coarse knife. Combine these with remaining ingredients in a large preserving kettle, stirring to mix well.

Bring mixture to a boil on high heat, then turn to medium and cook slowly until thick, about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes about six pints.

Try U. S. Version of Pork Tetrazzini

Pork Tetrazzini is served in Italian restaurants. But there's no reason in the world why you can't serve it from your own kitchen.

This recipe has been Americanized a bit, but the flavor is still there. It's a rich combination of tender pork, spaghetti in tomato sauce and cream of mushroom soup. It's a wonderful disguise for leftovers.

Pork Tetrazzini

1½ cups diced, cooked pork
1 tablespoon shortening, fat, or salad oil
2 15½-ounce cans spaghetti, tomato sauce and cheese
1 10¾-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
¼ teaspoon rubbed sage or crushed dried rosemary
¼ cup bread crumbs

Heat oven to 375 (moderately hot). Saute pork in fat until brown. Remove pork, leaving excess fat in skillet. Combine pork with spaghetti, soup and rosemary in a 9x7x2-inch baking dish or a 2-quart casserole.

Toss crumbs in fat left in skillet. Sprinkle over spaghetti mixture. Bake, uncovered, at 375 for 35 minutes or until hot. Makes six servings.

For two: Use 2 tablespoons bread crumbs, and half of each remaining ingredient. Make as directed; bake in 1-quart casserole 30 minutes or until hot.

Slit Fruit Pie at Center

When making fruit pies, make the slits in the top crust near the center to keep the juice from running out into the oven. Berry pies are done when the juice which bubbles out these slits is the consistency of thick syrup.

Start with a smalll amount of water, when you are cooking frozen vegetables, and add more water as it is needed.

Defrost Refrigerator

You do food a disservice if you don't defrost your refrigerator regularly. When frost on the refrigerator unit is more than one-quarter inch thick, it keeps the cold from circulating throughout the food compartment.

Next time you make chocolate brownies, substitute shredded coconut for nuts—it gives a nice and wonderfully different flavor.

Burgers Elegant Plank Cooked

Hamburgers de luxe — that's just about the only way to describe the transformation of this simple, inexpensive meat dish when served on a plank handsomely decorated with creamy smooth mashed potatoes. They're so elegant, so delicious, so easy to make.

Just pan fry or broil your hamburgers. Place them on individual planks or chopping boards. Ring them with mashed potatoes, top with onion slices and run under the broiler just long enough to brown the edge of the potato.

Use a food mill to mash the potatoes. Boil new potatoes, cook them with the jackets on and then run them through the food mill, jackets and all.

You'll find the only real work to this treat is the real "fun" job of decorating the planks with fancy edge of mashed potatoes squeezed through a pastry tube.

And just wait 'til your family tastes mashed potatoes made this easy, vitamins-sealed-in way — the skins of the potatoes give the mashed potatoes a sort of baked-potato flavor. They'll love it.

PLANKED HAMBURGERS—Plank (that is, cook on a smooth piece of thick wood) your hamburgers, top with onion slices and surround with fluffy mashed potatoes. Simple food makes a really elegant treat. Whirl the potatoes through a food mill for quick smooth mashing.

Keep Staples Handy

Keep staple ingredients for baking cake and cookies on one shelf in a kitchen cabinet and you'll save time and steps. Flour, sugar, baking powder, baking soda, cream of tartar, salt, cornstarch, flavorings, molasses, honey, corn syrup and ready mixes can all go on this shelf.

Deer Season Almost Here So Brush Up on Cookery

By JANET ODELL

With the deer season but a few days away, many housewives will have to look up their recipes for cooking game. We thought you might like to have a reminder about some of the differences between the cooking of wild and domestic meat.

The widespread taste for game is not new; it is actually a survival of our ancestors. It is generally accepted that game is a man's dish, the inference being that women do not especially care for it. Of course, many readers will challenge that statement.

Hunters often have their own special way of cooking the venison they have shot. However, there are some general principles to follow.

The unusual flavor and texture of game call for skill and good judgment in methods of cooking and seasoning.

Cook all tender cuts, such as sirloin, back, ribs, and round and shoulder steaks from young animals, with dry heat, by broiling, frying or roasting. Less tender cuts and meat from older animals may be braised or broiled. Pressure cooking, also, is a good method. It can cut cooking time in half, when 10 pounds of pressure are used.

The liver of a young deer is as delicious a dish, when carefully cooked, as any liver with bacon.

Wild game often is lacking in fat, so some should be added in the cooking. This can be done by inserting slices of salt pork into the lean meat with a skewer. Or, the meat may be basted during cooking with oil or butter or bacon fat. Meat that is braised, of course, will have added moisture and gravy.

Hanging for a few days is almost compulsory for really mature game. You may want to marinate it, that is, soak the meat in tomato juice, vinegar, sour milk or lemon juice before cooking. These also contribute to the flavoring of the final dish, so choose one that will blend with the recipe you will use.

Remember that the longer the marinating process, the stronger the gamey flavor. Twenty-four hours of marinating will leave the game more or less in its natural flavor; 48 hours will bring out the high strength of the game, and above that will be even stronger.

All kinds of fruit garnishes are appropriate for game; they may be fresh or cooked in any manner. Tart jellies, green peppers and nearly all types of relishes are also appropriate.

Smothered Venison

3 pounds venison (round or rump)
Salt and Pepper
Flour
1 teaspoon celery seed
2 tablespoon horseradish
1 cup strained tomatoes

Season the venison with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Place in heavy covered pan or skillet and brown on both sides in melted fat.

Add the celery seed, horseradish and tomatoes. Cover and simmer until tender, about three hours.

Wash Venetian Blinds

The secret of washing Venetian blinds well is to use an almost dry cloth. Dip the cloth in soap suds and then wring out most of the water. Go over each slat, resudsing your cloth often. Then wipe the slats dry with a clean cloth.

Cheese has always been a popular food because of its versatility. It can make a tempting appetizer, a meal in itself or a delectable dessert.

Guided Missile May Stop Destructive Tornado Force

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A guided missile may someday be fired into the roaring heart of a tornado and save a city like Waco, Tex., from such damage and death left there last spring.

Two scientists believe it completely practical and possible of achievement in the near future.

* * *

Dr. Fritz O. Rossmann, a German physicist and meteorologist brought to this country by the Air Force six months ago, has propounded a new theory that contradicts a 50-year-old idea about tornado behavior.

* * *

Col. Rollins H. Mayer, electronic scientist at the Air Force missile test center, Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., where Rossmann is working, says the theory makes possible a national tornado-damage prevention net capable of saving millions of dollars and thousands of lives.

Rossmann and Mayer were here to present papers and propose the net at the 125th annual meeting of the American Meteorological Society.

* * *

Rossmann claims there is a terrifically powerful downdraft in the funnel of a tornado—not an updraft as has long been believed.

His plan is to pinch off this funnel from the cloud that is feeding it its destructive, whirling, downdraft power. He thinks a guided missile exploded into the air mass overhanging the funnel will do the job.

The old impression of an updraft in a tornado's funnel is created, he told The Associated Press, by the downdraft jet striking the ground or water then bouncing back upward outside the funnel.

Mayer predicted tornado destruction might be achieved in 5 to 10 years if sufficient support can be mustered for necessary study and research.

* * *

The kind of net he proposes would consist of mobile antitornado stations, assembled at airports near large cities where tornadoes might be expected.

* * *

Into the net would be fed tornado forecasts, radar detection, warning and tracking data. Jet planes with tornado destruction missiles could be standing by.

"If only a 1 per cent tornado damage prevention could be realized, a great advancement in science will have been made and the welfare of mankind promoted," Col. Mayer said.

Sending Planes to U. S.

DUNEDIN, N. Z. (UP) — Nineteen Mosquito airplanes, formerly used by the Royal NZ Air Force, have been purchased from the government for aerial mapping and survey work in the United States. The planes, idle for two years, will be shipped from here in a few months.

China Claims 6 Million in Communist Party

HONG KONG (UP) — The Chinese Communist Party claims 6,000,000 members, or one-fourth of all party members in the world.

In an article in the pro-Communist Ta Kung Pao, it was reported that there are a total of 24,000,000 Communist Party members in the world. It reported the largest Communist Party in capitalist countries is found in Italy where in 1952 the Communists claimed 2,130,000 members.

Fishpole Is New Twist in Angler's Tall Tale

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Figure the odds on this fish story occurring again.

Dorothy Purvis, 17, of Buffalo went fishing with her uncle in a small boat two miles out on Lake Erie. When the two arrived, Dorothy found that her fishing pole apparently had fallen from the boat on the way out and she was forced to use a handline.

A week later, Dorothy's father, Edwin C. Purvis, took her fishing to the same spot. He was elated when he snagged what seemed like a good one but was completely shocked when he land his "fish."

It was Dorothy's missing pole, in perfect condition.

Best for Snake Bite

JACKSON, Miss. (UP) — When bitten by a water moccasin on a recent fishing trip to Dump Lake, Gene Allen killed the snake, lanced the wound with a rusty tackle knife, made a tourniquet of a fish stringer, paddled a mile and a quarter to the boat landing, drove to the hospital and went back out to get some anti-venom serum at a drug store. He drove home the next afternoon.

$2-Million City Hall Owned by 5,000 People

WICKLIFFE, Ohio (UP)—Wickliffe, 15 miles east of Cleveland, officially is the nation's smallest city, yet it boasts a city hall that cost $2,000,000.

The 1950 census showed Wickliffe just two persons above the 5,000 mark that divides villages and cities.

For $130,000, city fathers recently bought the old Coulby estate which contains a $1,000,000 mansion now housing municipal offices, the police and fire station and a jail.

Laying Pipeline Was Hard Job

'Operation Big Pull' at Mackinac Required Six Months of Planning

ST. IGNACE (UP)—"Operation Big Pull," the laying of a four-mile pipe line across the Straits of Mackinac is described as the most complex engineering job ever undertaken in Michigan.

The Straits run 240 feet deep in places. In addition., there are tricky currents, and engineers were hampered by the many freighters passing between Lakes Michigan and Huron.

The actual laying of the pipeline began early in August and was completed in about a week. The 20-inch pipe was laid out in eight sections, each 2,500 feet long.

Nearly six months of planning were required before the $8,500,000 Straits project could be started. The construction company in charge first had to build roads, set up a telephone network and install its own electrical system.

Nearly 500 engineers, workers, newsmen and spectators were on hand when the first section was laid.

Booster Injections Not Always an Aid

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Booster shots, designed to strengthen immunity against typhoid fever, actually may make a person more susceptible to the disease, according to Dr. Louis Goodman, assistant professor of pathology at the University of Pittsburgh.

Recently he told a meeting of the College of American Pathologists here that his observations have uncovered little evidence that supplementary anti-typhoid injections give additional protection over long-standing shots.

Goodman said that, in a study of 335 female patients of a New England mental institution where a typhoid epidemic had broken out, he found a greater susceptibility among those who had received "booster" inoculations.

He pointed out, however, that typhoid shots are valuable and that they protect the vast majority of people.

Boy Scout Not Stopped by Ravages of Polio

CATSKILL, N. Y. (UP) — An attack of polio has not swerved Robert Nagel, a high school senior, from his determination to earn his Eagle Scout badge.

Robert's right leg has been paralyzed since he was stricken with the disease in June 1950. But the paralysis has not kept him from winning 14 merit badges, including one for swimming 250 yards.

Set Designer Has Big Job

Must Know Psychology, History, Semantics and How to Stay in Budget

NEW YORK — Even Merlin would have had none too easy a time, had he been set designer for television's "You Are There," which each week recreates famous pages from history as if they were currently unfolding before viewer's eyes. Each broadcast places the designer squarely on the firing line of criticism and challenge.

When the program broadcasts an event like "The Execution of Joan of Arc," there are bound to be some among the millions of television viewers who have made that particular period of French history their life specialty. They can be counted on to spot an anachronism quicker than you can spell it.

When "You Are There" cameras recreated the death of John Dillinger, fully half the audience was old enough to remember the detailed newspaper accounts of his demise in 1934. Some had actually trooped past the Chicago theater where he died. Confronted with critics like this, the network soon learns of any inaccuracies or misrepresentations.

So far, says Ken Krausegill, set designer for "You Are There," there have been no glaring errors on any production. "At least, none that have been caught," he adds with commendable conservatism.

Since the script may call for a situation that happened anywhere from 20 to 2,000 years ago, museums and libraries offer great help. But frequently the set designer must go beyond their recources.

When the program recreated "The Discovery of Anaesthesia" in Boston in 1846, the script called for the original crude ether-inhaling bottle to be shown. Ken flew to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where the first ether operation was performed, and returned with not only the original bottle but a set of 1846 surgical instruments.

For the "Boston Tea Party," the National Tea Council donated both antique tea chests and the tea itself. For broadcasts like those on the death of Jesse James and the Hamilton-Burr duel, the pistols were the most important props. Both Hamilton and James were appropriately killed with pistols of their own era.

Set designer Krausegill says designers are made not born. Among the fields in which a designer must be an expert, he adds, are budgets (how to stay within them), semantics (how to understand what writer and director really want) and psychology. He must also know something about talent, stagehands, supply sources, history, research and decoration itself.

Easy for anyone with two heads and six arms. If he doesn't have this equipment, says Krausegill, he can still become a set decorator, but it isn't easy.

Chief Continues Tour

Retired Mailman Gets Caught Up on Lost Sleep

TOLEDO, O. (UP)—Charles W. James is sleeping late these mornings, for he has just retired as a letter carrier for the post office here after 37 years on the job without being late.

"I used to get there a half hour early," James said, "just to make sure, and, believe me, it was plenty tough sometimes."

He started carrying mail when he was 18 years old and got to that job at 5:20 every morning.

James has another job now, but this time he starts at eight a.m.

Reading Stays Popular as Local Pastime

Despite the advent of "new-fangled" entertainments, the time-honored pastime of reading for pleasure and education remains popular in Pontiac.

In fact, figures supplied by City Librarian Adah Shelly indicate that the local "bookworm" population is increasing.

Total books loaned during October were 30,898, compared with 27,091 during the same month in 1957.

Last month the main library loaned 10,278 volumes, the bookmobile, 7,489; schools, 2,381; and the East Side Library Branch, 708.

Local readers seemed most interested in medical knowledge, biography, religious subjects and realistic fiction, as indicated by the five volumes most in demand.

They were Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female," "Childbirth Without Fear," by Dr. G. B. Read; a biography by Dale E. Rogers, a book of compiled sermons and the novel, "From Here to Eternity," by James Jones.

Books purchased by the library system from January through October this year total 2,662, Miss Shelly said, an average of 266 per month.

Average cost was $2.35, she explained. Many children's books with special bindings sell at $3 to $3.50, while some technical volumes run up to $15, the librarian added.

According to Miss Shelly about 1,000,000 local persons have borrowed some 3,000,000 books since 1927 — over 100,000 each year.

UM-MSC Game May Be Decided by Flint Talent

Pressure All on Bratton in Title Meeting

Gavilan May Aim for Olson, Win or Lose, Friday Night

CHICAGO (AP)—Pressure will be on Johnny Bratton to win as never before in his welterweight title scrap with Champion Kid Gavilan at Chicago Stadium Friday night.

He risks just about everything in his long awaited shot at the 147-pound crown. He owned the National Boxing Association version of it two years ago, and the Cuban Kid defeated him at New York to become undisputed champion.

This will be Gavilan's 7th defense since then.

Gavilan, who is not expected to have trouble making weight, has little to lose no matter what happens. If he wins he can yield his title and take a crack at the middleweight crown held by Bobo Olson, or can carry on as a welterweight.

If he loses, he can have a rematch with Bratton or forget it and go after Olson in a weight class more to his liking. Win or lose, it is said Gavilan will aim next for the middleweight championship.

Bratton, a one-time flashy spender who is said to have gone through $100,000 before he reached 20, can get out of hock and be set-up in business with this fight.

He stands to receive about $36,000—20 per cent of the expected net gate of $130,000 and $10,000 from television receipts. Champion is cut in for 40 per cent. Crowd may surpass the 17,450 for Gavilan's easy defense against Chuck Davey in the Stadium last Feb. 11.

Bratton thinks Gavilan has slipped.

"When he tries to crowd me this time I'll bang away and trade punches," he said. "His mind still is willing, but his body is weak."

Stonewall Jackson, who serves as Gavilan's main sparring partner, said the only way Bratton can win is to knock out the Kid.

"And he can't do that," he added. "Gavilan uses his head now where he used to use his speed. He's got art."

Odds are around 7-5 for Gavilan but may be down to 6-5 by ring time at 10 p.m. EST. Fight will be televised nationally with the Chicago area blacked out.

Only 4 Points Divide 4 Teams

Leafs Down Canadiens While Bruins Gain Tie With Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top teams in the National Hockey League were bunched today with only four points separating the 4th place Boston Bruins from the front-running Montreal Canadiens.

Runnerup Toronto Maple Leafs, currently hottest team in the loop, downed Montreal 4-1 last night to move to within two points of the Canadiens.

Third place Detroit Red Wings tied Boston 2-2.

In the other game 5th place Rangers edged the Black Hawks 3-2 to push the Hawks deeper into the league cellar.

Toronto, with four victories and two ties in its last six games, scored once in each of the 1st two periods and added a pair of insurance goals in the final periods to build up a 4-0 lead. George Armstrong tallied twice for the winners.

Rookie Bob Chrystal's first NHL goal provided the Rangers with their winning margin in the 3rd period over the Hawks.

RETURN BOUT—Confusion reigns in the reporting of today's battle of the antlers in Golden Gate Park in San Francisco, where the crown will eventually go to an undisputed king of the large deer herd. One account claims that this was a return match after the battle of a week ago; another, that the deer on the right is a new challenger challenging last week's unbeaten challenger. At least we know the pair are giving an enthusiastic demonstration of the four-footed equivalent of "put up your dukes."

Duncan's Arm U. of M. Hope

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Young McDonald has an arm. Ee-eye, ee-eye, oh.

That's the tune of the railbirds of Michigan's football camp where preparations for Saturday's nationally televised meeting with high powered Michigan State are under way.

But whether or not coach Bennie Oosterbaan's tune will be in harmony with the sideline observers is another question altogether.

The boy in question of course is Duncan McDonald, the Flint lad with the fine passing arm. He is undoubtedly one of Michigan's sharpest offensive weapons.

And he could be the one to pull the unexpected against the heavily favored Spartans who have beaten Michigan for the past three years.

The sandy-haired junior has accounted for 26 of the 37 points Michigan has scored in four Western Conference games this year. And he did that in an actual playing time of 51 minutes, and 40 seconds.

Because of a defensive superiority in regular quarterback Lou Baldacci, Oosterbaan has given him a major share of the load, bringing McDonald in for spot assignments only.

However, against a Michigan State team that would appear to threaten a thrashing Saturday, McDonald might hold the greatest hope.

• • •

Baldacci was out of the lineup in yesterday's practice because of a bad cold. The tough regular quarterback has been badly nicked in the face in the last two games and has twice required stitches about the nose and mouth.

• • •

Oosterbaan says he proposes no drastic change in the Wolverine alignment for this game, but he doesn't definitely say he won't use McDonald more.

• • •

In two of Michigan's four Big Ten games, the boy from Flint scored four of the five Wolverine touchdowns, and against Illinois he directed the only serious Michigan threat, a 71-yard drive that expired on the Illinois six.

So sideline observers can't help but wonder if the Michigan coach isn't going to give McDonald a bigger role in this red-hot gridiron rivalry with Michigan State.

6 Others Near Top

Big 10 Gridders Bates, Watkins Lead Point Race, May End Under 100 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — Chances are that the 1953 major-college individual scoring champion is going to be a rarity on two counts—he's likely to score less than 100 points and he may be a Big Ten player.

• • •

NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed today that Bobby Watkins of Ohio State, Mickey Bates of Illinois and Joe Ulm of San Jose State, each with 11 touchdowns for 66 points, are the nation's top point makers. Since Ulm has been ineligible for four weeks now, the real leaders are Watkins and Bates, although seven other players are within easy reach of the top.

• • •

Only once in the last 15 years has the major-college scoring champ failed to score 100 or more points. That was in 1947 when Maryland's Lou Gambino had 96. And not since Tommy Harmon of Michigan took top honors in 1939 and 1940 has a Big Ten representative held that distinction.

• • •

Watkins and Bates, with two games apiece to go, however, are far from safe. Four players have 10 touchdowns for 60 points—VMI's Johnny Mapp, Denver's Fred Mahaffey, Oklahoma's Larry Grigg and California's Al Talley. Wyoming's Joe Mastrogiovanni, the season-long total offense leader, is right up there with 59 points while Jack Parker of Mississippi State, the defending champion, has 58.

• • •

Georgia's Jack Garson is clinging to first place in pass receiving with a good chance to stay there.

Carson has caught 37 passes for 532 yards, leading the country in both respects, and has three games to go. College of Pacific's Ken Buck, who caught 22 in his first three games, has grabbed only 13 in his last four for a total of 35 and 476 yards, for runner-up position in both departments.

Bob Garrett of Stanford, Paul Giel of Minnesota and Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame lead, respectively, in interceptions, punt runbacks and kick-off runback efficiency.

Loaded With Drama

Rivalry Between MSC, UM Among Nation's Best

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Dramatic football rivalries vie for the fans attention all over the country each fall. But the one that has grown up right in our back yard is a match for any of them.

Saturday's clash between Michigan and Michigan State packs more drama to the square inch in this state than all but a few of highlight each season.

Since Michigan State's ascendancy to the ranks of the nation's top collegiate football powers in 1947, the annual set-to has bulged with drama and highlight.

That was the year that the Spartans took a 55-0 lacing from Michigan and put it down as the last one-sided game in the 55-year-old series.

Michigan managed 13-7 and 7-3 victories over the rapidly growing giants at East Lansing the next two years. But from then on, it was MSC.

Last year, there was the quick two-touchdown explosion by Michigan that startled the fans into the belief that the Wolverines migh upset the nationally-rated Spartans. The 70-yard run by Don McAuliffe that put MSC back in the game and on the road to a 27-17 victory will remain as vivid in the memory as your first date.

The game has grown into one of those great rivalries that make football the real peak of the sports fans calendar. There's been lots of heat in the rivalry.

But that is slowly giving way to the realization that the state of Michigan has one of the greatest football rivalries in the land, right in its own back yard.

Pro Golf Official Says 13 Winter Events Scheduled

DETROIT (AP) — A professional Golfers Assn. spokesman claimed today that 10 weekend tournaments and three pro-amateur events have been lined up for the winter golf circuit, despite a revolt claimed by the Winter Sponsors Assn.

The spokesman declined to name any clubs with which agreement has been reached "until we have the whole thing wrapped up." He predicted it would be "late tonight." Previously he had forecast announcement for Tuesday and then Wednesday.

Winter Sponsors Assn. claims to represent 10 Southwestern and West Coast cities. When the PGA demanded a minimum purse of $15,000 everywhere, among other things, M. P. (Monk) Wilson packed up and went home Sunday.

He is president of the Winter Sponsors, and said members would go ahead with scheduled tournaments whether or not they got PGA sanction.

PGA said one thing complicating lining up of a winter schedule was the fact that 17 clubs were seeking spots for the 14 weekends between the January football bowl games and the Masters Golf Tournament of Augusta, Ga., April 8-11. The events open and close the "winter" golf season.

PGA also voted to establish a pension plan for its members.

New Machine Transmits Grid Plays, Orders

'Wreck Coach Says It Hurries, Simplifies Job of Helping Teams

By MERCER BAILEY

ATLANTA (AP) — Pushbutton football? Don't be ridiculous. But Georgia Tech has inaugurated a mechanical device which its coaches think will bring a better brand of footbal.

The machine which has Tech coaches hepped up permits an assistant on the stadium roof to transmit diagrams to the coach on the sidelines.

Tech tried the machine — which the manufacturer, TelAutography Corp., calls a telescriber — during the Clemson game Saturday.

Backfield coach Frank Broyles who watched the receiving set, was particularly enthusiastic about the new medium's advantages over roof-to-bench telephones.

"I believe every big college team in the country will be using it as soon as the word gets around — probably inside a year," Broyles said.

The telescriber works much like a teletype machine, except the writing is in long hand, which permits diagraming. The person transmitting writes on a special sensitized paper and his writing comes out simultaneously on a strip of paper in the receiver.

"If you want to," Broyles explained, "you can tear off a diagram and send it is to the quarterback. Then each player can see his assignment. That's a lot better than the man on the roof phoning me, me telling a player and sending him in to tell the quarterback, who then must tell the other fellows.

"It's especially valuable in setting up defenses and solving your opponent's defensive formations."

Head coach Bobby Dodd said he believes the machine — which has been used for several years by hotels, large restaurants, police stations and other organizations—has "great possibilities" as a football coaching aid.

Bolden, Duckett Pitted Against Dunc McDonald

Zagers Replaces Wells; Munn Seeks Victory in 'Rubber Game'

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Michigan-Michigan State game here Saturday should help decide who got the best deal when the football talent from Flint Northern High school was split up three years ago.

Michigan State carried off halfback Leroy Bolden and end Ellis Duckett. Michigan captured Duncan McDonald, the passing quarterback of the championship high school team of 1950.

Bolden and Duckett started starring as freshmen for Michigan State. McDonald was mostly a bench jockey until he emerged from obscurity this season to start throwing touchdown passes and winning games for Michigan.

Bolden is Michigan State's best ground-gainer and most consistent scorer this season.

Every Saturday or so he runs like crazy and has himself a field day. Against Minnesota, Bolden made all three touchdowns that accounted for the 21-0 victory.

Against Ohio State last Saturday, it was Bolden again running wild for three touchdowns. And his old running mate, Duckett, caught a pass from Tom Yewcic that accounted for final score of the game.

Only thing that figures to hurt Michigan State's scoring punch is the loss of Billy Wells, who will be missing from the MSC "pony" backfield because of pneumonia.

Bert Zagers, a comer from Cadillac, will be running in place of Wells.

His teammates feel badly about the loss of Wells. They're already talking of "winning this one for Billy"—so Michigan State might even gain a psychological advantage from the circumstances.

"I regard this as the rubber game in my series with Michigan," remarked coach Biggie Munn of the contest.

"Michigan has won three and we've won three since I've been coaching at Michigan State. This is the deciding one as far as I'm concerned."

Maurice Mozzali, first baseman for the Red Birds in the American Association, is in his sixth full season.

Two players, Roger Hornsby and Ty Cobb, batted over .400 three seasons.

Competitive Pro Net Tour Set This Season

Fans Promised Better Play as Pay Depends on Winning

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional tennis is about to outgrow its swaddling clothes and become a real grownup sport. The official date for the transformation is next Jan. 3, the site Madison Square Garden.

• • •

On that and the following night, the four greatest players in the world—Jack Kramer, Frank Sedgman, Pancho Segura and Pancho Gonzales—are scheduled to embark upon a genuine competitive tour in which they will battle for cash prizes in some 95 cities. There will be no guarantee to any of the four, though Kramer, as the promoter, will have something extra going for him.

• • •

This will mark the first departure from the exhibition racket, and now the fans of this and other countries may look forward to seeing tennis at its best.

Under the new setup the four stars will draw for opponents at the start of each "tournamnt," the two winners to meet in the "final." The eventual winner in the two-night Garden stand will take down $4,000, the runner-up $2,333. The pair beaten at the start will play off for the difference between $1,333 and $666.

The prizes will not average that high, especially on one-night stands where one-set matches will be played, but the minimum has been set at $2,000 per city.

NCAA Council Lists Proposals for Convention

Group Would Limit Practice, Total Games for Colleges

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The NCAA will be asked to consider new proposals dealing with the shorter practice and playing seasons for football and basketball at its annual meeting next January.

• • •

The 18-man policy-making council of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association completed plans for the coming convention at Cincinnati in a two-day session which ended here yesterday.

The convention also will be asked to consider such matters as disciplining member institutions on probation and postseason all-star high school basketball and football games.

An amendment to NCAA regulations that basketball preseason practice not begin before Nov. 1, the game schedule not before Dec. 1 and the season limited to a maximum of 26 games, will be offered by the council.

The 26-game limit would be exclusive of the NCAA championship tournament, but preseason and in-season tournament games would be counted. The council noted that some schools played as many as 31 games, including the various tournaments.

• • •

Ten games, instead of 11 as some schools are now playing, would be the maximum in football. The postseason games approved by the NCAA would be excluded in the total number allowed.

If the convention writes into the bylaws the council's recommendation, football preseason practice won't start before Sept. 1. Spring practice, already abolished by some conferences, primarily in the East, won't be affected.

• • •

The council also recommended that institutions subject to disciplinary action should not be permitted to serve as host for any NCAA event during their period of probation. However, this would not affect any of the association's events presently scheduled.

Only one member of Tulane's football squad hails from above the Mason-Dixon line. He is Bill Spollen, tackle, from College Point, N. Y.

Caroline, Miller Duel Seen for Saturday Game

Top Runner in Nation, Big 10's Top Passer to Clash

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's leading ground gainer will meet the Big Ten's top-ranked passer when Illinois and Wisconsin meet Saturday in a pivotal conference game.

Illinois' J. C. Caroline has piled up 1,075 rushing yards in seven games and has rolled up 738 in four conference contests. He needs only 37 more to break the season Big Ten record of 774 set in 1951 by Wisconsin's Alan Ameche.

The Badgers' sophomore quarterback, Jim Miller, has taken over first place in passing, according to Big Ten statistics released today. He has accounted for 498 yards, completing 28 tosses, four for touchdowns, for a completion average of .518.

Another Wisconsin "find," Bob Gingrass, has become the Big Ten's leading punter with a 49.4 average.

Illinois is rated the conference's No. 1 team on offense and also shares the top defensive spot with Michigan State. Illini's attack is averaging 387 yards per game, 324.3 of these by rushing. Conference record average is 320.

Michigan State has allowed opponents 194.4 yards per game to 196.5 for Illinois. But the Illini have yielded only 7.5 points to 8.8 for the Spartans' foes and have permitted only 11 first downs per game against 11.8 for Michigan State.

• • •

Illinois has given up only 127.5 yards a game on the ground to take over the lead in this defensive phase from Iowa, which has yielded 134.

Van Dyke Ends Unbeaten Year

Malone Paces 13-6 Win Over CL; Utica Defeats Romeo Eleven

Van Dyke High School added an unbeaten season to its Inter-Lakes Conference championship to close a highly successful football season Wednesday. Abes, sparked as usual by John Malone, downed Center Line, 13-6.

In another area game played Wednesday, Utica whipped Romeo, 33-6.

Van Dyke won its 8th game (one tie was played) by scoring twice in the 2nd period. Art Grimes scored from the six-yard line after Malone had paced the offensive.

Bob Jasacr' intercepted pass and a 40-yard aerial from Malone to Ron Baker set up the winning TD. Malone tallied from the two for his 19th touchdown of the year.

Jim Smith scored for Center Line on a 26-yard run in the 2nd half. Center Line closed 7-2, with losses only to Van Dyke and Warren, both unbeaten.

Utica held only a 7-0 advantage over Romeo at the half, but used a "steeper" play to score on the 1st play of the 2nd half and made a runaway thereafter. John McFall scored on an 11-yard run for Romeo in the final period.

Chief Cagers Start Full-Scale Practices

By BILL MARTIN

Followers of Pontiac High School's athletic teams will switch their interest from the gridiron to the basketball court Monday, when the Chief cagers hold their 1st full-scale practice session.

Coach Art Van Ryzin has had a small group working out for the past month, but the majority of his 1952-53 lettermen are members of the football team and will make their 1st appearance Monday.

Exchanging football pads for basketball gear will be Walt Poe, Jimmy Williams, Leroy Moore, Dick Ayling, Marvin Caswell, Bill Rose and Homer Harrison. All are 1952-53 lettermen.

Another veteran, 6-foot 3-inch center John James, reported this week after the close of the cross country team's season.

The only letterman among the group that has been working under Van Ryzin's supervision is Bob Johnston. The 5-foot 11-inch guard developed fast as a sophomore last year and took over a starting assignment early in the season.

Two promising prospects out for the 1st time are Dave Ballard and Dick Blacklaw, 6-foot 3-inch junior forwards who will add height to the Chiefs' front line. Also expected to clinch varsity berths are guards Paul Bersche, who was brought up from the junior varsity for last spring's regional tournament, and Albert Hatchett.

Pontiac opens its season at home against Royal Oak on Dec. 4 and moves into Saginaw Valley Conference play the following Friday at Flint Northern.

Complete schedule:

Dec. 4—Royal Oak; Dec. 1—at Flint Northern; Dec. 15—Port Huron; Dec. 18—at Flint Central; Jan. 8—at Lansing Sexton; Jan. 15—at Saginaw; Jan. 22—Bay City Central; Jan. 29—Arthur Hill; Jan 29—Flint Northern; Feb. 5—Flint Central; Feb. 6—at Highland Park; Feb. 12—Ferndale; Feb. 19—Saginaw; Feb. 26—at Bay City Central; Mar. 5—at Arthur Hill.

Lessons in Public Relations Prescribed for Major League Owners O'Malley, Macks---Godfrey Too

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—If you have nothing else to do this coming winter you might arrange to set up a school for public relations. It sounds like an excellent idea. A school session would be good for the O'Malleys, the Godfreys, the Mack family in Philadelphia and several others.

• • •

This won't be a matter of correcting mistakes, but of stopping stupidities of the worst kind. The Walter O'Malley-Chuck Dressen flare-up was entirely without sense or meaning. Mr. O'Malley is supposed to be a sane, conservative citizen in control of his actions.

• • •

He was anything but this in handling Dressen's contract renewal. It wouldn't have been so bad if he hadn't been named as one of the top baseball owners. Not another Tom Yawkey, but in this vicinity.

It is incredible to figure out what he did and why he did it in spite of any letter by the Dressens. The O'Malley case would make a fine lecture for the Front-Office Class to work on. It could take up most of the winter season.

I don't believe Mr. O'Malley and the other Brooklyn magnates know how many fans are pulling for the 1954 Brooklyn season to be a bust, or at least not to shine too brightly.

Fortunately, the case of Mr. Arthur Godfrey is far from our domain.

• • •

The case of the Mack family vs. Jimmy Dykes is about as bad.. I recall Jimmy Dykes being a member of the Athletic party almost as long as I do Connie Mack and his veteran offspring. A nicer fellow than Jimmy Dykes never came along. No one tried harder.

• • •

But in his declining years, when his bosses came along and left a carload of trash at his doorstep, you couldn't blame him for not breaking his neck. Or even his leg.

The Macks have won a number of gay and gaudy pennants. But don't forget they also have left behind the rankest collection of talend teams in the history of baseball. We can't figure Connie Mack, the Connie Mack that we have known since 1905, being a party to the Dykes episode.

Lightning Bug Juice Is Used by Fisherman

ELLINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Ray Dusenberry claims the Clearwater Lake record for the biggest fish taken there on a fly rod. And he credits his success to the use of lightning bug juice.

His catches in three weeks included a 24-pound carp as well as three catfish, one weighing 30 pounds. All were caught on a dry fly.

He ties the fly with rabbit fur and a chicken feather on a tiny minnow hook. But what makes it a killer, he says, is the lightning bug juice. He smears the bug juice on the fly to give it a lininous effect. He carries a pint bottle of lightning bugs because the fly needs a new treatment every 15 minutes.

Ohio Scrapper Meets Michigan's Champion

DETROIT (UP) — Walter Hafer of Warren, O., takes a crack at Michigan heavyweight champ George Powell tonight in the eight-round feature bout at Motor City arena.

Hafer, who has won his last three fights, was expected to be Powell's last opponent before the champ defends his title against Embrell Davidson.

Rams, Jackets, Mikes, Oxford in Friday Tilts

Both Tests Take City Elevens Away From the Home Fields

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac's two parochial football teams wind up their scheduled Friday in "road" games against non-conference opponents.

St. Frederick's Rams play at Avondale in an afternoon contest starting at 3 p. m., while St. Michael's Suburban Catholic League Co-Champions go to Oxford for a night game at 8 o'clock.

Shamrocks, with a season's record of five victories and a tie against two losses, will be slightly favored over Oxford. Wildcats have a .500 mark in seven starts, winning three, tying one and dropping three.

St. Michael may be without the services of fullback Wayne Magnan, who injured his knee in Sunday's game. If Magnan isn't ready, Bud Schwartz will move to fullback, with Mike Clever taking over Schwartz' halfback slot.

A season-long injury jinx that has dogged the thin St. Frederick team struck again this week. End Don Cox will definitely be out of action because of an ankle injury, and wrenched knees may bench guard Mike Wells and tackle Mark Peck.

Tenth-grader Don Picmann will replace Cox, bringing to five the number of sophomores in the Rams' starting lineup. Other sophs are backs Tom Monroe and Larry Morrow, end Howard Dalton and tackle Tom Sweetman.

Japanese Paper Says Giants Got $1,000 Apiece

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Yomiuri reported today that New York Giants baseball players left Japan Tuesday with $1,000 each plus expenses and a deluge of gifts after a 14 game exhibition tour in Japan.

The newspaper sponsored the visit.

The Giants, led by manager Leo Durocher, won 12 games, lost 1 and tied 1 against all-star Japanese pro teams.

A spokesman for Yomiuri called "not true" a story in the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes which said the players were disgruntled over the money received.

"The players were very happy," he said.

Bettenhausen Ends His Phoenix Jinx

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill. today had shaken off his Phoenix auto racing jinx. He won the 4th annual 100-mile AAA big car championship race here yesterday, lapping everybody in the famous No. 99 Belanger Motors Special.

Bettenhausen, who hasn't done any AAA titular racing since the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis last Memorial Day, has been plagued by hard luck here in previous years. Twice he lost out due to tire trouble.

Bettenhausen didn't make any mistake this time even though the track was dust-free and fairly slick.

Pass Interception Rated Big Weapon for Pro Wins

NEW YORK (UP) — What coach Lou Little of Columbia calls "the well-directed intercepted pass," has become one of the main reasons for success and failure in the National Football League.

Three players who lead the league in passing—Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns, Bobby Thomason of the Philadelphia Eagles and Norm Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams — also have the least interceptions in proportion to the number of passes thrown.

Graham, who had 24 out of 364 passes intercepted last season, has had only six out of 150 stolen in seven games this year.

Thomason, second to Graham in the current passing race, has had five out of 143 tosses intercepted. The Eagle quarterback had only nine out of 212 passes stolen in 1952, best mark recorded among throwers with more than 200 attempts.

Van Brocklin had 17 out of 205 throws stolen last year when he won the passing title. He currently ranks third but his interception rate is less. Only seven of his 174 attempts have been caught by rival defensive players.

Layne had 20 out of 287 throws stolen while leading the Lions to the 1952 championship. Bobby's interception rate is running about the same this year. He ranks fourth in passing and 11 of his 149 attempts have been intercepted.

U. S. Net Stars Win 1st Australian Test

SYDNEY (AP) — America's tennis stars today breezed through the first round of the New South Wales championships, their first tournament in this year's search for the Davis Cup.

Seeded Australians also had easy wins.

Only American who had anything like a workout was Tony Trabert who took just over an hour to beat 22-year-old Kevin Myer, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Earlier Trabert had beaten Bruce Gulley 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Current Single Platoon Rated Better Than '41

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury may still be out concerning the merits of single and multiplatoon college football, but here is some testimony aimed at showing that the 1953 brand of game is faster and more effective than its 1941 counterpart.

• • •

It was in 1942, you'll remember, that the unlimited substitution rule went into effect. So Bernie Hammerbeck, director of the Service Bureau of the Pacific Coast Conference, and Frank McCormick, head of the conference's officials, dug in with pencil and slide rule to evaluate 1941 and 1953.

Hammerbeck came up with game averages per team during the first eight weekends of play and compared them to the full season of '41.

• • •

He found that the 1953 teams ran off more plays, both runs and passing, gained more yards, scored more points, and proved more effective.

• • •

McCormick said the improved game might be attributed to better coaching, improvements in playing technique, such as the development of pass patterns, increased use of game movies for instruction, more emphasis on offense and more over-all hustle by the players.

• • •

Hammerbeck's statistics showed an average of 158.7 yards gained per team in rushing in 1953 compared with 142.9 in 1941; an average of 8 passes completed in 1953 compared with 5.6; an average of 112.4 yards gained on passes compared with 75.3; and an average of 15.6 points scored compared with 13.4.

An average golfer's chances for making a hole in one have been estimated to be 10,881 to one.

Jimmy Dykes Becomes Third Manager of Orioles as Ehlers Fires Marion

BALTIMORE (AP)—Genial Jimmy Dykes, who lost his job as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics a week ago, was back in business today at a new stand, working for his old boss.

He became the third manager on the rising payroll of the Baltimore Orioles after Marty Marion was fired late yesterday with a year still to go on the $30,000-a-year contract he had with the St. Louis Browns. Marion joined former Browns Manager Rogers Hornsby on the inactive pay list.

Altogether, the Orioles will pay nearly $100,000 for the three managers and get work out of only one of them. Both of the surplus contracts expire after next season, as well as that of Dykes, which was bought from Philadelphia. Hornsby is believed to draw around $40,000 and Dykes $30,000.

• • •

Dykes, 57, was picked by General Manager Art Ehlers, his recent boss at Philadelphia, to guide Baltimore in its return to major league baseball after nearly half a century.

Ehlers said he was firing Marion because of his "defeatist attitude." He called Dykes "forceful and energetic" and said he knew first hand he could work well with the club.

• • •

Marion said at St. Louis: "I don't feel too bad about it, honest I don't. To go to Baltimore with two strikes against you, like I had, would have been a pretty tough operation. But I wish 'em a lot of luck."

He said someone in the old Browns organization had given him a bad name with the Oriole management.

As for Dykes, he said he was "tickled to death" to be back at work as a manager again and especially pleased to be "back with Art Ehlers."

• • •

The Athletics dropped him last week as manager after he had piloted the club through three seasons—boosting them from eighth to sixth place in 1951, climbing to fourth in 1952 and slumping to seventh place last season with a team hampered by injuries.

Marion said his plans for the future were uncertain.

Had 108-82 Record

Max Lanier, released by the Browns this season, had a lifetime major league pitching record that showed a total of 108 wins and 82 defeats.

SPARTAN BAND LEADER—Pontiac's Gene Hickson, former PHS band drum major, now the Spartan "strutter" makes his last "big" appearance Saturday. Gene, above, has been MSC's drum major for the last four years.

4-Year Colorful Drum-Major Career Nears Close for Spartan 'Strutter'

Perhaps the student at MSC with the toughest job during the football season is Gene Hickson, popular drum major for the Michigan State College marching band. Leading the 120 members on the gridiron each Saturday in a fast-stepping, dazzling manner, Gene is ending his fourth year as the "signal-caller" for the marching unit.

Gene first started drum major duties for Washington Junior High School band in Pontiac in 1946. From 1947 to 1949 Gene worked with the Pontiac High School band. Then he entered Michigan State and the first year he understudied drum major Jim Dye. He was also awarded a band scholarship in his sophomore year. He has maintained the requirements to renew this grant for the past three years.

With the Spartans playing a 9-game schedule this fall, the band has performed at seven of these games. This means each week a new half-time show has to be staged. Gene spends many hours learning formations and then teaching the formations to the rest of the marching unit. He not only has to know all this information, but on the side, he helps write scripts for the show.

Gene has led a popular life on the gridiron during the fall and at the same time has made his niche on campus. He was tapped for Blue Key, junior men's honorary, and last year was approved for Excalibur, senior honorary. Besides being elected class treasurer, Hickson served as president of Sigma Chi.

Recently Gene, along with 19 other Spartans were listed in "American College Student Leaders," a student "Who's Who."

During his career as the drum major, Gene dropped the baton only twice, once in 1950 when the Spartans lost to Maryland, then again in Columbus when the cold caused him to drop it—but this time the football team won!

This Saturday Spartans meet the University of Michigan in the "TV Game of the Week." And since Gene will be graduating in December, this will be his last appearance before a capacity crowd and on TV.

Hoople Predictions Slip? Just Typographical Errors

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Egad! Several of my zillions of loyal dyed-in-the-wool readers have written me to ask about a number of games which they thought I should have listed in my predictions, but did not appear.

One asks about the Marquette-Boston U game. Would you believe it! I just found that prediction among my notes, and the score? Exactly 7-6, as it came out. (Printers left it out).

That was just one of similar "typographical mistakes" that resulted in leaving the EXACT scores out. But there should be no skepticism on what will happen this weekend.

For sure—Spartans are favored everywhere but right here, but it's Michigan 28-27! Another upset, Purdue over OSU 20-14.

For the rest—Penn 20, Army 13; Harvard 21, Brown 0; Syracuse 14, Colgate 7; Columbia 14, Navy 7; Fordham 20, Temple 0; Marquette 20, Holy Cross 13; Illinois 27, Wisconsin 7; Indiana 14, Northwestern 13; Iowa State 21, Oklahoma 20; Iowa 20, Minnesota 14.

Kansas 28, Oklahoma A&M 13; Kansas State 14, Missouri 7; Notre Dame 27, N. Carolina 14; Georgia Tech 28, Alabama 14; Mississippi St. 20 LSU 13; Auburn 14, Georgia 7; Tennessee 21, Florida 13; Mississippi 28, Maryland 14; Arkansas 14, SMU 13; Texas A&M 20, Rice 14; TCU 21, Texas 20; Oregon 14, California 0; Wash. St. 14, Oregon St. 7 and Washington 20, UCLA 14.

Record Crowd at Laurel Sees 'Foreigners' on Top

By GEORGE BOWEN

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The second Washington, D. C., International provided more fuel today for those who argue which country produces the best thoroughbreds and confirmed that the ideal of bringing them together is a smashing success.

• • •

For the second time, three of the first four horses to finish were bred outside the United States. France's two entries both earned part of the prize money, Ralph B. Strassburger's Worden the $50,000 first award and Paul Duboscq's Silnet the $2,500 for fourth.

• • •

The runner-up Iceberg II was bred in Chile and now is owned by Arnold W. Hanger of the United States. The Brookmeade Stable's Sunglow saved the United States from a shutout by finishing third.

Schapiro, in matching 10 thoroughbreds from six countries, put on the most representative international race in history, surpassing even last year's inaugural in which three countries outside the U. S. were represented.

• • •

The finish lineup after the first four in yesterday's smash hit were Mrs. F. L. Vickerman's Chamier and Alfred L. Hawkins' Thirteen of Diamonds from Ireland, Thomas Robinson's Harwin from England, Argentine Stud's Mister Black, Robert Boucher's Wilwyn of England, and Charfran Stable's Crafty Admiral of the United States.

Jockey Willie Boland on Crafty Admiral, the 2-1 favorite, said his mount didn't like the turf on which he was running for the first time.

Special Trains Used to Bring Fans to Games

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP) — You won't find Notre Dame, Ind., listed on any railroad timetable or flight schedule. Nevertheless it's the destination of as many as 28 special trains and 175 private planes on Saturdays when the Fighting Irish play on their own gridiron.

An average of 10,000 cars and many buses also converge on the Notre Dame Stadium in the hours before game time. Many of the special trains unload passengers on spur tracks on the campus. Other trains transfer passengers to campus-bound buses in nearby South Bend.

The four railroads serving South Bend hire up to 400 extra employes to service the specials. Arrangements for some of the special trains are made a year in advance.

Carr-Hopp Is Columbia Football Passing Team

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Columbia's football followers call it the "drive in special" or the "roadside battery" when Dick Carr connects on a pass to Dale Hopp. Carr-Hopp, get it?

Dick Carr a 21-year-old Columbia junior who was called upon to take over the quarterbacking chores when the brilliant Mitch Price was graduated, has established himself as the most durable of the "Iron Lions," the leading passer in the Ivy League and the second-best in the east.

And they've done it for a team that has lost three of its five league games and has a 3-4 season record.

In the 1st season of two-way football, the 180-pound, six-foot youngster from Beverly, Mass., has played every minute of Columbia's first seven games.

In his 420 minutes of action this year, Carr has completed 55 of 147 pass attempts for gains of 968 yards. Eight passes have gone for touchdowns.

Neyland Product Hired

Another Bob Neyland coach has landed a major job. He is Phil Dickens who played at Tennessee under Neyland in the 1934-36 grid seasons.

Sidelights on MSC-M Contest

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan-Michigan State football facts:

Saturday's football game between Michigan and Michigan State will be the 46th meeting between the two schools.

Michigan has won 33, Michigan State has taken nine and there have been three ties in the series.

First game between Michigan and Michigan State was played at Ann Arbor in 1898. Michigan won 28-0.

Most lop-sided score came in 1902, when Michigan won 119-0 at Ann Arbor.

MSC has won the last three games, 14-7 in 1950, 25-0 in 1951 and 27-13 in 1952.

Largest Michigan State victory margin was the 25-0 score in 1951. Previous high was a 24-0 Spartan win in 1915.

Michigan and Michigan State have met every year since 1910 except in 1943 and 1944 when there were no games because of the war. Prior to 1910, the rival schools played in 1898, 1902, 1907 and 1908.

The 46th meeting of the two schools will mark only the sixth time the game has been played at East Lansing. Last game at East Lansing was in 1948, at the dedication of rebuilt Macklin Stadium. Previously, Michigan traveled to East Lansing in 1924, 1914, 1911 and 1908.

Michigan State has never won a game in the series played at East Lansing. All nine MSC wins were at Ann Arbor.

Man O'War Whip Goes to Museum

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. — A whip was used only once on Man o' War.

In the 1920 running of the Travers Stake at Saratoga, Jockey Clarence Kummer flicked Man o' War on the flank as John P. Grier, a tenacious thoroughbred, hung on. The single stroke of the baton was enough. Big Red pulled away from John P. Grier and won in a terrific drive.

The whip has been given to the National Museum of Racing here by Miss Margaret Daingerfield of Lexington, Ky.

Prep Grid Season Ends With 15 Games

Troy, Fitzgerald Dominate Oakland-B All-Star Team

Troy and Fitzgerald High Schools each placed three players on the Oakland-B all-conference football team, settled on after a stormy session at the Homestead Inn on Auburn Road Tuesday night.

Fitzgerald was co-champ, while Troy tied for 3rd place in league standings. Avondale, co-champ with Fitzgerald, was awarded two spots, while Roseville (tied for 3rd) and tailenders Clawson and Madison got one position each.

PECHOTA SCHWERIN

Heading the list were Bob Wagner of Roseville, all-state Class B end last year; Joe Schwerin, Avondale's stellar guard, and Troy captain Don Pechota, also a guard. Strangely enough, neither Schwerin nor Pechota were named at guard.

Because of an overabundance of good guards, Schwerin was named at a tackle and Pechota at center.

Back Marv Evans was Avondale's other selection, while Troy also placed tackle Stan Carpenter and back Fred Burnard. Tom Johnson, Ted Cunio and Dick Lukas of Fitzgerald; Roger Archambault of Madison and Ken Gibbard of Clawson round out the honor team.

A letter of application for league membership was received from Lake Orion High School, but any action was deferred until the loop's spring meeting in March.

The selections:

FIRST TEAM

HONORABLE MENTION

Award Back to Coast

When Bob Houbregs of Washington won the Helms foundation award as a college cager in 1952-53, it was the first time a Pacific coast player had won it since Hank Luisetti took it in the season of 1938.

Kegling Grandma Is 'Bowler of Year'

DETROIT (UP) — Marion Ladewig, a 39-year-old Grand Rapids grandmother, held the women's "bowler of the year" title today for the fourth straight year.

Mrs. Ladewig received 630 votes to take top honors in a National Bowling Writers Association poll. Doris Knechtges of Detroit was second with 490.

Mrs. Ladewig averaged 204.11 for 32 games to win the women's all-star title for the fourth time in a row during the past bowling season. She also paced her Fanatorium team to the world's match game title and second place in the Women's International Bowling Congress tournament.

TWO-WAY TERROR—Pontiac High guard Bill McLarty this season has developed into the Chiefs' top lineman and one of the Saginaw Valley Conference's most efficient linebackers. The 5-foot 7-inch senior will conclude his prep gridiron career Friday night at Saginaw.

Celtics' Owner Not Pleased With Cousy

BOSTON (UP)—President and co-owner Walter Brown today threatened to shake up the Boston Celtics as a result of their 78-72 National Basketball Association defeat by the Philadelphia Warriors.

"Some of our high-priced players are going to find themselves riding trains to other places if they don't start winning," Brown said. "I have three players getting more money than the whole Philadelphia payroll. I can lose this way with a cheap ball club."

Eliot Reluctant to Tab Caroline as 'Great' Back

CHICAGO (UP) — Carolina's J. C. Caroline may be the nation's leading running back, but coach Ray Eliot of the unbeaten and once tied Illinois football team won't say yet that his halfback is great.

"He's a hard runner," Eliot said, "and I don't want to say anything more about him."

Doubtless part of Eliot's reluctance was because the Illini are a full length ahead in the Big Ten battle for a Rose Bowl spot as well as the conference title.

"We've got two tremendous opponents to meet," Eliot said, "and anything can happen and we know it as well as they do."

What's happened to the Illini so far is Caroline. The Negro sophomore, from Columbia, S. C., has set a new Illinois ground gaining mark with 1,345 yards.

Caroline personally shows no inclination to talk about his deeds. When he was first questioned by Illinois publicity man Chuck Flynn, he had only one answer.

"Coach told me not to talk to newspaper men," he said.

KH, Northville Are Involved in W-O Title Scrap

By JACK SAYLOR

Fifteen games this weekend close the 1953 high school football season with the exception of the traditional Thanksgiving morning affair between Birmingham and Royal Oak.

All three city teams are in action with Pontiac at Saginaw, St. Fred's meeting suburban Avondale at Auburn Heights Friday afternoon, and St. Mike's at Oxford Friday night.

Keego Harbor, likewise, is on the road, playing at Northville and Waterford finishes the season in a Saturday night game at Owosso. Birmingham is host to Berkley, while Royal Oak bids for its 6th straight victory and 7th of the season against Highland Park.

Holly has its annual "big" game with neighboring Fenton, a football rival of long standing, while Imlay City gets its 2nd straight shot at an undefeated team.

Spartans failed last week, losing to North Branch, 6-0, as the Broncos finished with seven wins and a tie against Capac. Now Imlay faces Capac. Champs of the Southern Thumb circuit, Capac has won five games and played 13-13 ties with North Branch and Memphis.

Two league titles will be decided. Port Huron, assured no worse than a tie in the Eastern Michigan, plays at Hazel Park. Parkers, catching the Big Reds on the rebound from their stunning upset by Grosse Pointe, are decided underdogs.

Keego and Northville play for the Wayne-Oakland crown. Each has a 4-1 mark in the league. Presidents have five wins, one loss and a tie, while Northville has won six, while losing to Center Line and Holly.

Game shapes up as a test of Northville's offense vs Keego's defense. Shut out only once, the Mustangs have averaged over 20 points per game. On the other hand, the Guinnipmen have posted five shutouts and yielded 13 points to Holly and 6 to Brighton.

The schedule:

FRIDAY

SATURDAY

Waterford at Owosso.

Coach Has 'Know-How'

ATLANTA (UP) When Georgia Tech backfield coach Frank Broyles talks to his quarterbacks about passing they know they are getting the information from an authority on the subject. Broyles holds the major bowl passing of 276 yards set against Tulsa in the Orange Bowl game of 1945.

Willie Troy Kayos Sandy, Seeks Title Shot at Bobo

WASHINGTON (UP) — Al Weill, who manages heavyweight king Rocky Marciano, said today he's convinced he has another champion on the way, hard-hitting middleweight Willie Troy.

The Washington youngster looked every bit a champion last night in knocking out highly regarded Randy Sandy of New York at 50 seconds of the 7th round of a scheduled 10-round bout that was televised nationwide.

Weill said Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, has pledged to match the 22-year-old Troy with middleweight champion Bobo Olson for a title fight in May.

Troy, in winning the 23rd of his 24 fights last night, outboxed and outfought Sandy, who was staggered in the 5th by a left hook and in the 6th with a smashing right.

In the 7th a short left uppercut caught Sandy squarely on the chin. He reeled against the ropes and went down on his back. He didn't get up until he had been counted out. It was his 2nd defeat in 16 fights—both to Willie Troy.

Penn's Tackle Is Top Lineman

Jack Shanafelt Honored by AP for Great Play Against Irish

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Jack Shanafelt is the answer to those who say the current crop of college football players hasn't the stamina for the one-platoon game.

* * *

Shanafelt, the fine Penn tackle named yesterday as Associated Press Lineman of the Week, was a defensive player exclusively last year. This year he has played 386 of a possible 420 minutes in Penn's first seven games.

* * *

He played full time against Ohio State and Navy and 59½ minutes against Notre Dame. A trick shoulder snapped out of joint in the last 30 seconds of the N. D. game, forcing him to the sidelines.

* * *

Frank Leahy, coach of the unbeaten Irish, singled out Shanafelt for high praise after Notre Dame beat Penn 28-20.

"That big lad (Shanafelt) was terrific. We double-teamed him a couple of times and still he mussed up some of our plays before they really developed," said Leahy. It was typical comment of opposing coaches this year.

CASE—Long Slide Finish.

Holds Swing in Groove — The sketch shows Steve Nagy of Cleveland, one of bowling's greatest, about to move into his final step and slide in perfect balance. Left arm extended. Body low and feet straight ahead. In line for the spot at which he aims to finish at the foul line.

In using an unusually long slide, Nagy drops his body into a low, comfortable crouch to swing the ball in an arc within a fraction of an inch above the floor.

Four Wolverine Fans Face Big Washing Task

Told to Erase Paint From Campus Buildings at Michigan State

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Four suspended University of Michigan engineering students could get back in good graces today—by showing up at Michigan State College, apologizing for paint-brush pranks, and maybe using a little embarrassing elbow-grease.

The four were suspended by the engineering college's disciplinary committee yesterday, but also provided with a way to lift the suspension.

Go to East Lansing Thursday, the committee said, and apologize to assistant dean of students Elwood Veller of Michigan State for painting "beat State" on MSC campus buildings and bridges.

And, in addition, the committee ordered Either personally scrub off the Michigan blue paint or pay the cost of having it done.

The four, plus three Michigan transferees to MSC, were caught on the East Lansing campus Tuesday night. The three whose love remained with the Wolverines of Ann Arbor were nabbed with paint and brush as they neared Michigan State's heroic Spartan statue.

University of Michigan, which has no campus police, wasn't so lucky. Ann Arbor city police failed to find whoever splashed a couple of buildings here with Spartan green.

Presumably the warning won't apply Saturday. That's when Michigan and Michigan State renew their traditional football rivalry at East Lansing.

Aerialists Take Over

Passers Enjoyed Most Successful Day This Season Saturday Despite Snow

NEW YORK (UP)—It snowed all over the East last weekend and the temperature climbed into the 100s in California, but the result was the same on gridirons in both places—forward passers enjoyed their most successful day of 1953.

For instance Columbia and Dartmouth pitched each other dizzy, accounting for 611 yards (364 by Columbia) between them in the Lions' 25-19 victory at icy Baker Field in New York.

That's the 3rd highest 1-game 2-team passing yardage total in history, exceeded only by the 716 Detroit and Duquesne piled up in 1950 and the 619 Southern Methodist and Arkansas made in 1951.

And the 2nd and 3rd 2-team yardage highs of the 1953 campaign, three of the top four 2-team completion totals, and the top 2-team attempt total, all came on the one day. Specifically, California (349) and Washington (228) passed for 577 yards; Stanford (324) and Southern California (166) for 490; Columbia (19) and Dartmouth (15) completed 34, and the California and Stanford games produced 30 completions each Columbia (36) and Dartmouth (31) threw 67 times, and scored all seven of their touchdowns on passes. And Stanford and Syracuse (against Cornell) set the season's standard with 20 completions each.

As these games indicate, this year the passing strength seems to be concentrated on the sea coasts after being heavily Midwestern last year.

In 1st place is Stanford, with 181 yards a game to California's 166.1. Stanford, whose Bob Garrett is the nation's individual leader, also ranks first in completions with 100, touchdown passes with 14, and completion average with 56.8 per cent.

Texas Tech, rolling up 52 points against Arizona just two weeks after scoring 71 against New Mexico A. & M., brought its eight-game total to 292 points, an average of 36.5 a game. Texans lead the country in both total and average.

Illinois had ground out 395.9 yards a game to 286.9 for Cincinnati and 284.6 for Texas Tech.

Mistake Won Game in Western League

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—This is about a mistake that turned into a bit of good fortune and won a ball game.

* * *

Lincoln was playing Pueblo in a Western League game when a Lincoln outfielder was injured. Manager Walt Linden sent in a sub to run for the injured man but the sub was waved off the field. Linden had forgotten to list him on the pre-game roster. So pitcher Andy Bush was pressed into duty.

* * *

Bush, making his first appearance as an outfielder, made two nice catches. Then he hit a homer to win the game.

Longest Inning in '83

The big leagues' longest inning in history was the seventh between Chicago and Detroit in 1883. Chicago used 23 batters and scored 18 runs, the actual time not announced.

Carter's 'Best Punch' Flattens Savoie

By MURRAY ROSE

After knocking out rugged Armand Savoie of Montreal last night in 59 seconds of the fifth round with "the best single punch (a right) I ever threw," Carter immediately put in a pitch for a shot at the welter crown.

• • •

"There ain't nobody left in the lightweights now for Jimmy," said Manager Willie Ketchum, the loquacious member of the New York combination, "so he might as well fight for the welterweight title.

"The NBA said there wasn't any logical contenders in their last ratings. We could make big money with a Gavilan match—and money is what we're after."

• • •

Carter said the kayo punch "was a beauty—the best single punch I ever threw—traveled just about three inches.

(To ringsiders it appeared to be about 8 to 10 inches).

"I was looking for the opening and he gave it to me."

"I saw it (the right) coming fast," said the disgusted 23-year-old loser. "I was faking a left to the body and we both threw the right. He was lucky."

• • •

Carter, a 3 to 1 favorite, was trailing on the score cards of the three voting judges until he loosened with his blockbuster. A series of thumping body blows set the aggressive French-Canadian up for the kayo wallop.

When the right whistled over to Armand's chin, he dropped flat on his back. He desperately scrambled to his hands and knees as Referee Tom Sullivan counted 9 and 10.

• • •

For three rounds Savoie, who beat Carter by split decision in a nontitle 10-rounder here Feb. 16, gave the partisan crowd of 9,136 unexpected thrills as he carried the fight to the champion, a notorious slow starter.

Red Wings Still Winless Away From Home Ice

Howe and Reibel Lift Detroit Sextet to 3rd Straight 2-2 Tie

BOSTON (AP) — Detroit Red Wings still haven't won a National Hockey League game away from home this season.

And when they managed to tie the Boston Bruins, 2-2, here last night it marked their 3rd straight 2-all tie in as many games, at home and away.

On the road the Wings have lost two and tied four this season.

Gordie Howe smashed in rookie Earl Reibel's rebound with only 25 seconds remaining last night to get the NHL champions a tie with the Bruins.

For more than 45 minutes goalie Sugar Jim Henry of Boston blanked the Red Wings. Reibel got Detroit's first goal in the third period on a set-up by Howe in a scrimmage in front of the Boston net.

Greenberg Would Trade for Courtney, Wertz

NEW YORK (AP) — The annual baseball meetings are more than two weeks off but already the "Hot Stove League" is simmering with swap talk.

Art Ehlers, general manager of the Orioles, is reported dickering with Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians. Ehlers is seeking pitching help and Greenberg wants catcher Clint Courtney and outfielder Vic Wertz.

Chicago White Sox have a third base problem and are hopeful of making a deal with the Yankees for some of their infield surplus. If that fails, manager Paul Richards may switch outfielder Minnie Minoso to third base and move first baseman Ferris Fain to left field.

Red Sox are looking for a long ball hitter to follow Ted Williams in the batting order.

Philadelphia's Whiz Kids of 1950 are due for a face-lifting next year. Two youngsters — first baseman John Moskus and second baseman Ben Tompkins — are expected to win regular berths on the varsity next season.

Moskus, a husky youngster, batted .317, hit 28 homers and drove in 117 runs at Salt Lake City this season. Tompkins, former University of Texas star, batted .316, hit 15 homers and drove in 70 runs at Terre Haute.

A batch of top flight big leaguers are expected to be back from military service next year. They will include Don Newcombe, Brooklyn; Chet Nichols and Phil Paine, Milwaukee, Leo Kiely, Red Sox, Willie Mays, Giants, Frank House, Tigers, Tom Pholsky, Cardinals, Lloyd Merriman, Cincinnati and Harry Chiti, Cubs.

Prep 11s Replay Final 22 Seconds of Grid Contest

NASHVILLE, Mich. (UP) — Coach Dave McDowell has until Monday to dream up one play — good for one yard — that will spell victory, defeat or a tie for his Vermontville High School football team.

That's the day Vermontville and Bellevue meet here to replay the final 22 seconds of last Saturday's game. Vermontville, trailing 12-6, will have the ball on the Bellevue one-yard line.

It will be first down, goal to go with 22 seconds before the final gun.

The re-play was ordered by the Tri-County League when McDowell filed a successful protest after the Saturday game.

Carruthers Is Expected to Keep Title in Bout With Pappy Gault

SYDNEY (AP)—Australia Jimmy Carruthers remains the popular choice to keep his world bantamweight title against challenger Pappy Gault of Spartanburg, S. C., tomorrow night.

• • •

Interest is running high in Sydney. It's the first time Carruthers has defended his crown in his own country.

The two boxers, both 24 and both married, finished their training yesterday and retired to retreats in the country today. Carruthers punched the bag and skipped through seven rounds in his final workout. Gault boxed four rounds with sparring partners.

• • •

The only thing that worries the Sydney fans about their home boy is his relative lack of big-time experience. He has had only 16 professional fights and just one this year. Gault has fought 50 times as a professional, including 15 this year.

Says Foreigners Should Watch H-Bomb Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — An atomic energy commissioner suggests that foreigners, presumably including Russians, should see a U. S. hydrogen bomb exploded as a sample of the destructive alternate to world peace.

The idea, expressed by Thomas E. Murray last night, came as America was readying another and probably more fierce hydrogen test blast.

Murray, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) member who recently announced the launching of the first program for harnessing nuclear power as industrial power, made his H-bomb suggestion in a speech at Pittsburgh.

• • •

He said first-hand observation of an H-bomb's thunder "is an essential qualification for future negotiators of the great survival issues in the years ahead." Such an American showing, he added, might persuade the Russians to match it with a demonstration of their own.

Murray said the AEC hasn't yet studied the idea in detail or reached a decision.

The AEC has announced, without detail, that Bikini will be used in further atomic tests, supplementing the facilities of Eniwetok Atoll, used since 1948. There have been reports that the hydrogen test at Eniwetok last year disintegrated an island.

Murray said foreign observers again could witness a test "under very carefully controlled conditions of observation without loss of security."

This might mean they would be taken on a ship to a point within seeing distance of the explosion, but kept away from island installations of test equipment.

Israel Expected to Blame Arabs

Reported Ready to Tell U. N. About Neighbors' Unfriendly Acts

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel was reported ready today to heap full blame for recent Palestine violence on military and economic pressures by her Arab neighbors.

Sources close to Israeli Chief Delegate Abba Eban said he would review the whole field of Arab-Jewish relations before the U. N. Security Council today in his nation's most important statement of policy since an uneasy armistice ended the 1948 Palestine war.

The Israeli sources said Eban's review would include Jewish charges of Arab aggressions across the frontiers, economic boycotts against Israel by Arab nations and Arab opposition to such Israeli development projects as diversion of the Jordan River waters. Syria has brought the latter subject before the Security Council in a separate complaint.

The meeting of the 11-nation organization was called today to debate further the charges—backed up by the report of U. N. military observers in Palestine—that armed Israeli forces on Oct. 14 broke the Palestine armistice with a "calculated" attack on the Jordan border village of Kibya. Fifty-three Arabs were killed.

The Western Big Three on Monday condemned Israel for the attack but so far have not presented the council with a resolution of censure.

Israel already has contended that the Kibya attack was made not by her regular army but by village militia inflamed by a Jordan attack two days before.

The Israeli government made it clear it regarded the Kibya incident not as an isolated outbreak but as one of a long series of border violences resulting from Arab pressures.

Pert New Star Recalls Life Under Nazis

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What makes an actress?

Somewhere in a woman's past something happens to give her the creative urge. With Audrey Hepburn it was years of life under Nazi terror.

To look at Paramount's bright new star, you wouldn't think that she had anything but the nicest kind of life. She is pert and petite, with a gay, glittering personality. Her nature has been conditioned.

"After living the long months and years under the Germans," she explained, "you dreamed what would happen if you ever got out. You swore you would never complain about anything again."

• • •

Audrey was caught in The Netherlands during the Nazi blitz. Her life during those years was a story of fear and privation. But the worst came during the seven months between the battle of Arnhem and liberation in 1945.

"Arnhem was evacuated after the battle," she recounted, "but we lived just on the outskirts. Our presence there was tolerated by the Germans, but just barely so. For seven months, we had no light, no heat, no water. We had no food, because all the shops we closed. We ate what we could find.

"During the day we merely existed. At night our only diversion was gathering around the fire. That was the only light we had—whatever wood we could find nearby.

• • •

"We couldn't talk about the day's happenings, because nothing had happened to us. So we sat around and made up stories, invented things. We entertained each other, and it helped carry our minds away from the horrible life we were leading. We could do it too; we lived in another world during those nights around the fire."

Audrey admitted that if she had not been through such an experience, she might never have become an actress. "I had to learn to invent, to interpolate," she explained. "I had to create a make-believe world."

Audrey is making her first picture in Hollywood. It's called "Sabrina Fair" and she has such sterling suitors as Humphrey Bogart and William Holden seeking her hand. That shows you what Paramount thinks of its new girl.

Hollywood is a nicer place than she expected, said Audrey, who is not too sophisticated to be impressed. She seems to enjoy the attention she is getting, especially from comedians. Groucho Marx recently squired her to a party at the Bogarts, and her studio dressing room is between those of Danny Kaye and Jerry Lewis. That suits her fine: "I love to laugh."

She will leave after the end of the picture and head for New York, where she plans to do a play.

Gone Goose

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A Canadian goose which made a kamikaze attack on a Great Lakes freighter at dawn ended up in a goose dinner for the crew. An officer said he ducked the goose as it bore down on the ship. The eight-pound goose crashed head-on into the pilot house door and broke its neck.

Hal Boyle Says:

Device Lets You Relax While Building Muscles

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, I was just sitting there with my feet on the desk, contentedly watching a spider spin a cobweb between my two shoes, when the phone rang.

"Are you one of those lazy men who hate exercise?" demanded a voice.

"How would you like to exercise while you loaf?" asked the voice. "How would you like to build a tiger-trim figure without even moving a muscle yourself?"

"Can I do this lying down?" I asked cautiously.

"Sure," said the voice. "You can even read, eat, watch a TV program, or fall asleep—and all the time you are getting to look more like Hercules. We do it with a machine. Come over and see."

So I climbed out of my lethargy and into a taxi and trundled over to a Fifth Avenue salon that said on the door: "Relax-A-Cisor."

A brunette named Louise Simonet led me into a small room where a pretty blonde, Charlotte Rakay, lay stretched on a table. Miss Rakay wore a bathing suit and a series of damp felt pads that looked like an old-fashioned truss ad. Wires led from the pads to a small radio-like machine with knobs at her side.

"This machine takes the place of your nerve centers and electrically flexes your muscles for you," said Miss Simonet, "at the rate of 20 contractions a minute or 1,200 an hour. It does all the work for you. All you have to do is plug it in and turn the dials. It can tone up any muscle in your body while you relax."

She adjusted a pad on the blonde girl's left rib section, and tuned it in. Immediately Charlotte's splendid serratus anterior began a rhythmic twitch.

"Tingly. . . just tingly," replied Charlotte reservedly.

"Now, we'll test it on the muscle we sit on—the gluteus maximus," said Miss Simonet. She put a pad under each of Charlotte's hips, and a moment later the blonde lady was giving a completely relaxed imitation of Gypsy Rose Lee at her best.

"Wonderful thing — electricity," I murmured. "How does that feel?"

"Tingly. . . just tingly," said Charlotte coolly. "There is no feeling of shock at all."

Well, maybe not from her viewpoint. We went on from there, testing muscle after muscle, and Charlotte's pectoralis major responded as gamely as her vastus externus.

I had a feeling of regret when Miss Simonet switched the machine off without giving Charlotte's adductor magnus and sartorius a workout. I hate to see any good muscle slighted.

"You can get the effect of exercise without breaking your arm," said Miss Simonet. "Now, would you like to try the machine?"

Bashfully, I agreed to test the only muscles I had on display at the moment—those in my triple-threat chin. She held a pad under my chin like a buttercup, and immediately the muscles began automatically twitching. I had a wild sense of power—as if I could chew the biggest hunk of bubble gum in the world.

"How does it feel?" asked Charlotte.

A spokesman for the firm — a big fellow with powerful muscles—said sports figures like Sal Maglie, the pitcher, and entertainment notables such as Robert Q. Lewis, Frankie Laine and Judy Holliday used the Relax-A-Cisor to keep in shape painlessly.

Visitor From Asia Likes U. S. Ways

CLEVELAND (UP) — Though many folks won't agree entirely with Abdul Satar Kahn, the 29-year-old Pakistani legislator thinks the rough and tumble of American legislative bodies is just fine.

Satar, visiting the United States on a State Department-sponsored tour, has spent as much time as possible visiting city councils and state legislatures.

"In America you talk about the same things we talk about in Pakistan; but, oh, how differently you talk!" he said.

Besides looking in on U. S. legislative processes as much as possible, Satar, farmer and member of the provincial assembly in northwest Pakistan, has a great interest in agriculture here.

Not only has he been impressed with U. S. agricultural methods, but Satar said he was "amazed" at the way American women pitch in and help their husbands on farms. He was so struck by this that he wondered "why people in other parts of the world think American women take life easy."

Tears are useful in keeping eyes clean and free from infection.

Can't See Past Smoke to Judge Smoking Contest

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—There was a hot contest in the Bee Smoker competition at the 49th annual field day of the Pennsylvania Beekeepers' association.

TINY MOTHER — Mrs. Pearl Whitehead of Clare, is a candidate for the unofficial title of "Smallest Michigan Mother." Weighing only 69 pounds, she doesn't let her four-foot eight-inch height interfere with her job as a waitress or as the mother of three boys, 16, 14 and 11 years old. Mrs. Whitehead, 41, stands with a six-foot customer, Al Smith, of Bay City.

Federal Bureaus to Aid Their Fired Employes

CHICAGO (UP)—The Civil Service Assembly says many federal agencies may set up job placement bureaus for the benefit of the employes they have fired under the administration's cut-back.

The assembly said two such employment efforts already are underway in California. It noted that the civil service commission estimates that 80,000 government employes already have been discharged.

"The chances are that further moves for informal placements services will be made by federal offices throughout the nation," the assembly said.

The California region of the Bureau of Reclamation has begun an effort called "Operation Jopportunity," designed to find new jobs for several hundred workers who have been laid off.

The San Francisco office of the Production Marketing Administration has prepared a special pamphlet for out-going employes. The pamphlet notes that contacts have been made regarding prospective jobs in state agencies and in city governments, for federal jobs not covered by civil service and for openings in private business.

Fur-Bearing Mink Found Along State Waterways

ANN ARBOR—A frequent resident along Michigan waterways is the valuable fur-bearing mink, according to Karl F. Lagler, University of Michigan associate professor of zoology.

Long and lithe, with sharp features, the animal sports a rich dark brown fur, found most pleasing in coats for the feminine gender.

With mating season in February or March, mink usually are born in litters of three to eight. Born blind, they don't leave their dens for from six to eight weeks, Dr. Lagler explains.

Chicago 75th City Taxing Cigarettes

CHICAGO (UP)—Chicago is the 75th U. S. city to collect a tax on tobacco.

Other large cities with such a tax are Buffalo, N. Y., St. Louis, Kansas City, Mo., Washington, D. C., Birmingham, Ala., and Fort Worth, Tex.

Records of the Municipal Finance Officers Association show that other Illinois communities following Chicago's lead in taking advantage of this source of revenue.

Prior to the last session of the legislature, Illinois cities were not authorized to tax cigarettes.

Informal estimates by Chicago authorities indicate that the tax will yield more than $4,000,000 per year.

Iraq Taking Self-Inventory

Wants to Have Solid Statistics Behind New Economy

BAGHDAD (UP)—Iraq, an oil-rich nation struggling to convert its new-found resources into general prosperity, is in the process of getting a first good statistical look at itself.

The fact and figure lowdown on Iraqi agriculture is now in the process of compilation and assimilation following the country's first complete nation-wide census.

More than 100,000 farms, ranging from the plot of the poorest peasant to the estates of the biggest landowners, have been visited by well-trained enumerators.

The result will be an inventory of Iraq's entire agricultural resources, including lands, peoples, crops and livestock. Facts and figures which will give the government a solid foundation for investments of its oil profits in the second-ranking Iraqi industry.

The man responsible for bringing hard facts and figures to Iraq's administration is a graying Britisher who used to be director of statistics for the British food ministry.

Dr. K. G. Fenelon has been in Bagdad as statistical advisor to the Iraqi government for two years, and launching a long-range program for national census taking in many fields within a year of his arrival.

Next on the list is a top-to-bottom survey of Iraqi industry, ranging from the mammoth oil industry to the hole-in-the-wall shops in crowded bazaars.

This job is expected to begin soon, and the results, as with the agricultural survey, will give the government and commercial and banking houses the vital information needed to plan intelligently for Iraq's oil-based return to prosperity.

Although the use of "clipper" ships in the 1850s gave Americans an advantage on some ocean routes, America's brilliant era in merchant shipping already had begun to decline at this time.

England Very Interested in Dulles' China Comment

By PHIL NEWSOM
UP Foreign News Editor

Since Jan. 6, 1950, when the British Labor government recognized Red China, it has had nothing but grief in the Far East.

Not that it wouldn't have had trouble anyway, but the recognition not only failed to improve relations with the Reds but it also set up a source of irritation which constantly had threatened good relations between the United States and Britain.

Therefore, the British have been more than a little interested in Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' cryptic statement that the Eisenhower administration never has said it would be forever opposed to recognition of a Communist government in China.

It is being interpreted in Britain as a sign that the United States public is being educated and that eventually the United States will in fact recognize the Red regime.

It may be expected to be a subject for discussion when President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill and French Premier Joseph Laniel meet next month in Bermuda.

It already is a subject of worried discussion among Nationalist Chinese leaders in Formosa who learned of the Dulles statement at almost the same moment they were being reassured by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon told them that Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government was the only government of China the United States recognizes and he said the Nationalist cause "will in the end be victorious."

* * *

But, to come back to British relations with Red China . . .

Less than a year after recognizing Mao Tse Tung's Red regime, the British found themselves fighting Chinese "volunteers" in Korea.

Less than six months after that, British business firms established in China for more than 100 years began throwing in the towel, abandoning assets valued unofficially at around a billion dollars.

The net result was that recognition enabled the British neither to protect their investments nor their citizens in Red China. Nor did it assist in making anything like a world citizen out of Red China.

Now, as Britain speculates over the United States' intentions, there is rising resentment among the British people against the Reds.

The criticism gained momentum in parliament and in British newspapers as a result of the loss of six naval crewmen and a passenger aboard a British naval launch attacked by the Reds Sept. 9.

The British demanded only about $70,000 compensation, leading to the caustic comment that British seamen are valued at only about $7,000 each.

But despite its trials and tribulations, the British government view remains that Red China exists and, like it or not, must be recognized.

It holds further that relations between Russia and Red China at best are shaky and that the best way to further a rift is to furnish the Red Chinese with goods denied by Russia.

In addition, the British say that to even negotiate with the Reds at Panmunjom is to give them recognition.

Fails Spelling Exam

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UP)—Robert Barham, 29, went to prison for one to 10 years after he failed a spelling in a fictitious note that figured in the case corresponded with a "spelling exam" given Barham by detectives. He spelled bought "bout" and sale "seal."

Soybeans Up, Rest Lagging

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans spurted several cents in active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Other cereals were unable to follow beans, wheat and oats dipping under the previous close after a momentary display of strength. Corn held steady.

Stock Dealing Slows to Walk

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market declined quietly today — the third straight fall—but there was a sprinkling of good plus signs in the list.

Changes in prices in either direction came to around a point. Trading was brisk at the start after the recess for Armistice Day, and thereafter the pace slowed to a walk.

Lower on balance were railroads, motors, coppers, chemicals, aircrafts, and radio-televisions. Other areas of the list were mixed or steady.

Also lower were Illinois Central Railroad, Kennecott Copper, Du Pont, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft and Admiral Corp.

Higher were Santa Fe, Pacific Western Oil, American Cyanamid, American Can, Bethlehem Steel, and Boeing.

Kaiser Steel Company Expands in California

FONTANA, Calif. (AP)—Kaiser Steel Corp. has announced an eight million dollar expansion program to increase production of steel plate, sheet and tin plate by 120,000 tons a year.

German Method May Cut Auto Manufacturing Costs

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

GREENVILLE — A German-discovered industrial process used during World War II may help cut manufacturing costs in the automotive industry.

Gibson Refrigerator Co., now using the process—the cold extrusion of steel—in the production of 75 millimeter shells, is studying its application to peacetime production of automotive parts.

The advantages of the cold extrusion process, as described by Albert M. Gibson, vice president of the company, are

Closer tolerances and a higher degree of concentricity.

Gibson said the secret of the success of the operation is the use of a combination phosphate lubricant type of surface coating. Its use eliminates scoring and cuts the amount of friction during the press extrusion operation. Discussing the shell production he said:

"A heat treatment to anneal the metal follows the first two press operations after which the shell is cold formed by more press work. Type of die design is another factor in success of cold extrusion."

The Gibson Co. has been using the process in the production of 75 millimeter shells since last January. Thousands of these shells have been made since then.

School Kids Get Nov. 30 Holiday

Teachers to Use Day for 'In-Service' Sturdy of Science Teaching

Pontiac Board of Education decided to keep schools closed Nov. 30, and discussed Pontiac's future school needs at a regular monthly meeting Wednesday night.

Several other matters came before the board at this month's session.

Explaining the Nov. 30 closing, Frank J. DuFrain said teachers have planned a day of talks and discussions on ways to improve the teaching of science. The practice of giving teachers one day a semester for "in-service training" was started last year.

The problem of Pontiac's growing school enrollment came up again Wednesday as members talked over future schools and future sites.

Board member Louis H. Schimmel again pointed out that cost and location for the 10 rooms the system needs by next September should be settled so some decision can be made.

The board decided to look into the private Saturday instrumental music school supervised by Dale C. Harris, Pontiac High School band instructor, before deciding whether or not to heat Pontiac High School on Saturdays.

Board members commented that with some 30 rooms in use by students taking lessons from local band instructors, advanced band students and Detroit musicians, a maintenance man might be needed, too.

The board turned down a request from Jehovah's Witnesses, South Unit, for use of Bagley School on Sundays. Members commented that it is the school system's policy to lend schools for church use only in emergencies, such as when a church is destroyed by fire.

Keego Woman, Son Injured in Accident

A Keego Harbor woman was injured and her 10-year-old son was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital last night when they were involved in an auto accident at Telegraph Rd., and Orchard Lake Ave., according to State Police of the Pontiac Post.

Reported in good condition is Robert Sias who suffered a fractured collar bone. Mrs. Mary Sias, 48, of 2220 Maddy lane, was treated for cuts and bruises. They were passengers in an auto driven by Mrs. Sias' husband, Charles, 49.

Driver of the other auto, Theodore Sarson Jr., 37, of 104 Spokane Dr., was arrested on a drunk driving charge, according to State Police who said Sarson ran a red light at the time of the accident.

Highland Park Juveniles Caught in Stolen Car

BIRMINGHAM—Four Highland Park juveniles were arrested yesterday fleeing in a car they had stolen from a local repair shop.

The youngsters, ranging in age from 11 to 13, will be taken to juvenile court, according to Police Lt. Henry Timm.

Two of the boys had been missing from home for two days and all four had records for offenses. Last week they entered a closed theater in Highland Park and did considerable damage, Highland Park Police report.

A ticket was issued to the repair shop worker who left the keys in the car. The boys admitted they did not know how to drive and narrowly missed several cars before losing control on a turn and striking a tree on Rivenoak.

Eagles Lodge Robbed of $20 in Charity Funds

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A breakin at the Eagles Lodge at 4450 Highland Rd. netted thieves about $20 earmarked for the Damon Runyon cancer fund and local Christmas funds, according to Pontiac Post State Police.

Entrance was gained through a window in the building, police said. An undisclosed amount of liquor was also taken.

Injured by Buzz Saw

Wayne D. Fox, 45, of 347 Lowery Ave. Birmingham, was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today following an accident while at work. Fox suffered a compound fracture of the left thumb and index finger while operating a buzz saw, according to hospital attendants.
