

$140,000 Building Burns

Blaze Destroys Novi Firm

Fire whipped through a plastics factory in Novi early this morning completely destroying the single-story cement block building.

Six fire departments from the southwest end of the county battled the blaze at the American Plastic Products Co., 40261 13 Mile, for more than four hours.

Damage to the building was estimated at $140,000 by owner Torkum Prince. Company representatives said the contents would be valued "much higher."

Because of the stubborn blaze, firemen were not expected to get inside the building until about noon.

Cause of the fire was attributed to a break in an oil line on a plastic molding machine, according to a company foreman. The oil hit an electrically-heated cylinder and burst into flames.

Midnight shift foreman Daniel McFadden said that the 11 persons working had no chance to fight the blaze and were forced to flee the building.

No one was injured.

McFadden, 1699 Ashton, Walled Lake, claimed that it took about 45 minutes for the first fire trucks to arrive.

He added that the roof fell in just as fire fighting equipment arrived. The building was practically gone by then, he said.

Firemen, however, said their log showed trucks arrived within 15 minutes after the alarm was received.

NEIGHBOR CALLS

The fire broke out at about 5:30 a. m. Mrs. Irene Whitworth, whose home is located about 400 feet west of the plastics plant, called firemen.

Firemen were hampered by lack of water. Tankers had to be used to transport water from Walled Lake, about two miles away.

30 YEARS AGO

Novi Fire Chief Frederick Lyons said that firemen ran out of water a couple of times.

Fighting the fire besides the Novi department were firemen from Milford, Walled Lake, Wixom, Northville, Farmington (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

OUT OF CONTROL—A plastics manufacturing factory was hit by an early morning fire that sent huge clouds of black smoke skyward. The flames, started from an oil leak, destroyed the single-story structure.

Midnight shift workers, slated to go off at 8, fled the building and were unable to fight the fast-spreading blaze. (See additional photo, page D-7).

Two Days Left for Legislative Compromises

Senate Ups Fund Fee for Uninsured Drivers, Kill Milk-Pricing Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature moved into a final two days of compromising in the wake of a calendar-clearing yesterday that brought surprising changes to the motor vehicle accident claims fund bill, death for milk-pricing, and property tax "rebates for elderly renters."

Only differences between Senate and House versions of several bills remained to be ironed out by tomorrow, when legislators will go home until Dec. 30.

In a burst of activity that kept both chambers in session through most of last night, there were these developments:

• The Senate increased the accident claims fund fee for uninsured drivers from $25 to $50 and lowered the minimum property damage claim level from $200 to $100. House concurrence is pending.

• The Senate essentially agreed with House action in increasing the veterans' property tax exemption from $2,000 in state-equalized value to $3,500 but heard one set of arguments against certain veterans' benefits.

• The Senate twice refused to take from the table the controversial milk-pricing bill, which would prohibit the sale of milk for a loss at any stage of distribution or production.

• On a 59-38 near-party line vote, the House approved the renters' bill—a companion to the senior citizens property tax relief bill passed in the regular session.

It would rebate over 45 cents an average of $93—technically an amount equal to the local property tax on the first $2,500 of state equalized value of the rented property.

Don't Let Red China in U.N., Says Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Naming Red China "the main barrier to peace in Southeast Asia," Secretary of State Dean Rusk opposed Peking's admission to the United Nations today on grounds this would encourage the Red Chinese global "strategy of violence."

"The prospects of peace are not served by any action or any words which may encourage Peking to think it is on the right track—that it can reap rewards by adhering to its strategy of violence," Rusk told the convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists.

"This is a point which should be very seriously considered by those who favor seating in the United Nations a regime which is openly committed to the use of force to expand the Communist domain."

At a time of renewed campus teach-ins critical of U.S.-Viet Nam policy, and in advance of annual U.N. debate over whether to seat Red China, Rusk asked that "intelligent citizens" bear in mind the complexities which American foreign policy must face.

"Critics of our policy in Viet Nam have usually ignored some of the most relevant facts," he said. "He listed these as 'an aggression from the North,' including North Vietnamese regular army infiltrators, which prompted the sending of U.S. troops to South Viet Nam."

Also a world power like the United States "must be prepared to take steps which are unpopular — steps which alarm some or are misunderstood by others," he said.

U.S. ACTIONS

He said that the U.S. actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic were "for the survival of freedom" and have wide support from other nations.

World War II illustrated the "elementary points" that "aggression feeds on aggression," and "the penalty for ignoring it now would be catastrophic," he stated.

"We are especially concerned about the militant doctrine preached and practiced by Communist China," Rusk continued.

Briggs, at various times ambassador to Brazil, Uruguay, the Dominican Republic, Peru, Spain, Greece, the Republic of Korea and Nationalist China, called the Alliance for Progress "a Pandora's box, with welfare state handles," ripped the U.S. handling of the Dominican crisis, and said "stogoes from the White House" were interfering in the work of resident diplomats.

For Latin American political leaders — "whose first duty is to survive politically"—Briggs charged, the Alliance for Progress "threatened to create as many problems as it promised to solve."

"And if there is a more pernicious doctrine that compels the sponsor of an economic and social program to throw lighted gasoline into his neighbor's woodshed, it has yet to come to the attention of history," he said.

Largest Draft Since Korea Is Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department requested today a draft quota of 45,221 men in December, the biggest quota since the Korean War.

This compares with 35,600 called for in the November quota.

The Marine Corps, which resumed draft calls with the November quota, requested 5,824 men for December.

The Army's share of the December quota is 40,200.

The Navy, which had requested 4,500 men in the November quota, made no request for December. The Air Force, as has been its custom, also requested no inductees.

The Army procurement objective for enlisted men with no prior military service in 40,200 will come from the draft. The Marine no-prior-service procurement objective is 8,424 with 5,024 coming from the draft.

Romney Urges National GOP Confab in '67

Cites Need for Party Program That Is Not Alternative or Choice

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Gov. Romney of Michigan yesterday proposed the Republican party hold a national conference in early 1967 to develop a "better program, not an alternative or a choice."

The GOP governor told a news conference such a program "would not be a formal thing, but a cross-section of the thinking" of party leaders.

Romney said he questioned whether former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "could have won (in 1952) or that he would have even been a candidate without a program."

The governor said the Republican program in effect when Eisenhower won in 1952 started developing in 1945 when a Republican advisory council met at Mackinac Island, Mich.

Romney spoke last night at a Republican fund-raising dinner celebrating Eisenhower's 75th birthday and honoring past and present Maryland members of Congress.

Romney said his proposal was "not necessarily to be taken as dissatisfaction with the 1964 party platform."

SOUND PROPOSALS

But he indicated some persons involved in the 1964 convention presented some "sound proposals" from being adopted. He mentioned no names.

Romney said the platform "doesn't get the attention it needs" at a national convention.

The governor said he had discussed his proposal informally with some other GOP governors.

He said that from other party leaders he has had a "clear indication that something of this nature is desirable."

Proper Design of Highways Could Cut Toll—Researcher

ANN ARBOR — "Proper road way design could prevent most single- and many multiple-car accidents," reports Dr. Donald P. Huelke, associate professor of anatomy at the University of Michigan Medical School.

He is concluding a four-year research project during which he studied 171 traffic fatalities.

The other alternatives in reducing traffic accidents would be to change driver attitude, update state laws or improve auto design, Dr. Huelke explained.

"The campaign for added auto safety features would decrease the severity of injuries, but would have much less effect in reducing fatalities than would improved roadways," he said.

"Of course the major cause of any accident can be blamed on the driver, but driver attitudes were harder to change than roadway design."

"Many medians separate oncoming lanes by less than 30 feet. A car traveling at 60 miles per hour could cross that distance in less than half a second."

Dr. Huelke said that on "slaughter alley," a strip on an interstate route between Ypsilanti and Romulus, there have been 12 recent deaths in "innocent" cars (in which the driver was not at fault) alone.

Guard rails, another design feature, would reduce deaths if space is not available to broaden the median, explained Dr. Huelke.

Los Angeles uses a chain-link fence on the freeways — a fence now full of dents but able to keep swerving cars from the opposite lane.

Removal of trees, deep ditches and other stationary roadside hazards would markedly reduce fatal accidents. One tree growing at road's edge was reported three times before causing a fatal accident in 1963.

"The tree is now finally marked for removal — because of Dutch elm disease."

Diplomat Speaks Out at IAPA Conference

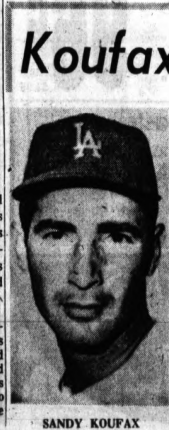

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The Inter-American Press Association (IAPA) moved to conclude its 21st general assembly today with the election of officers and closing business sessions.

Most delegates, however, were still discussing the blistering attack on United States Latin American policy delivered yesterday by retired U.S. diplomat Ellis O. Briggs. Pontiac Press Publisher Harold A. Fitzgerald and Business Manager Howard H. Fitzgerald are among the delegates.

Briggs, at various times ambassador to Brazil, Uruguay, the Dominican Republic, Peru, Spain, Greece, the Republic of Korea and Nationalist China, called the Alliance for Progress "a Pandora's box, with welfare state handles," ripped the U.S. handling of the Dominican crisis, and said "stogoes from the White House" were interfering in the work of resident diplomats.

SANDY KOUFAX

Koufax Tabled for 7th Game

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (UPI) — Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers to day picked Sandy Koufax, baseball's leading pitcher, to start the seventh and deciding game of the World Series against the Minnesota Twins.

Koufax, going with only two days rest, was chosen over the Dodgers' ace right-hander, Don Drysdale, to oppose Jim Kaat of the Twins.

It will mark the third series meeting between the two southpaws. Kaat beat Koufax, 5-1, in the second here while Koufax beat Kaat, 7-4, in the fifth game at Los Angeles.

The Dodgers were favored 7-5 to win today's game and the series.

Helping Hand Plan Offered

Will Give Emergency Aid to Schoolchildren

A plan aimed at providing assistance for school age children facing an emergency away from home was presented to the Pontiac Board of Education last night by William J. Lacy, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and pupil personnel.

Under the Helping Hand program, any youngster, frightened by dogs, bullies or an alarming stranger; struck with sudden illness or an accident, would be within a few hundred feet of help.

A parent at the home would have a list of police, school and rescue authorities to call. The parent would not be expected to break up fights or give medical attention — only to notify proper officials.

"I think it's a good thing," said Lacy. "I hope that we can get it going in the Pontiac schools."

Squally Weather Halts Cuba Exodus

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Squally weather stymied the exodus of Cuban refugees today while Washington and Havana dickered over terms for a systematic movement of those sands.

Only one small boat braved the tossing Gulf Stream to put out from the Cuban port of Camariaca Wednesday. It was the 30-foot Mistral, with 23 refugees.

At least 10 small boats carrying more than 200 Cubans from their homeland have left Camariaca and sailed to Florida.

since Prime Minister Fidel Castro opened the doors.

HAS REPLIED

The State Department reported Wednesday that Castro had replied to the latest U.S. note on movement of the refugees with an flatly turning down a proposal that political prisoners be among the first to leave.

"That's a surprise," said one U.S. official. "I didn't imagine he would give it a second thought." Castro accepted U.S. proposals that immediate relatives of refugees already in the United States to be the first to leave.

But the proposal that political prisoners be next "requires further talks," said Marshall Wright, State Department press officer.

'Medicare Not Likely to Jam Hospitals'

By JOHN TROAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — Social Security officials are confident Medicare won't jam the nation's hospitals.

Robert M. Ball, chief of the Social Security Administration, says fears that Medicare will "result in such crowding of hospitals that care will deteriorate" are unfounded.

"I don't think that this is likely," he says.

However, Ball acknowledges that "the shortage of high-quality" nursing homes poses "a major problem."

Nursing home benefits will become available through Social Security to persons past 65 Jan. 1, 1967. Hospital benefits start next July.

SLACK MONTHS

Ball points out that July and August are usually slack months for hospitals. On the average, the patient load is 10 per cent lower than during the peak months of February and March.

Thus, he says, the initial impact of Medicare "will hit the hospitals at the best possible time" — a period when they will have extra beds available to meet "any backlog of need for hospital care among the aged."

Over the long run, Ball adds, hospitals should be able to handle an added 20 per cent increase in aged patients — which is a much higher demand than Social Security anticipates.

He notes that "people past 65 use only about one-fourth of the total number of hospital days." So even a 20 per cent rise in aged patients would equal only 5 per cent increase in the overall demand for hospital beds.

Ball concedes the impact of Medicare will be "uneven" so some hospitals may find it "a problem" to handle all their patients.

But, he contends "where there is crowding, obviously the solution is more hospitals — not denying the aged the care they need because they cannot pay for it."

Indeed, Ball says, by helping to pay the bills of aged patients Medicare will reduce the number of "charity cases" hospitals must handle. Thus it should be easier to finance necessary hospital expansion.

AGENCIES DESIGNATED

All but 11 states and the District of Columbia have designated agencies to help determine which hospitals can qualify to treat Medicare patients. The Chiang will deliver the principal same agencies, will help screen nursing homes and organizations that provide health care in the patients' own homes.

The states which have not yet taken the first step toward qualifying their hospitals, home-health agencies and nursing homes for the Medicare program are:

Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, Utah and West Virginia.

Mme. Chiang to Talk at Childhood School

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Wesleyan College official says that Madame Chiang Kai-shek will visit next week the school she attended 47 years ago as a 10-year-old.

Dr. W. E. Strickland, Wesleyan president, said Madame Chiang will deliver the principal address at the college's fall convocation, Oct. 20.

'Police Brutality' Seen Lawless' Red Herring

Abuse of authority is deeply repugnant to Americans. Their forebears fled Europe to escape tyranny. A primary concern of the founding fathers of our republic was to protect citizens against tyrannical authority. So it is not surprising that there is considerable sensitivity to recent charges of "police brutality" that have been sweeping the Country as an aftermath of riots in major cities. Many wonder if the police have been brutal.

U. S. News & World Report recently conducted a searching study in the most notorious trouble spots. No evidence was found of any "wave" of brutality on the part of police toward citizens of the United States.

On the contrary, the study revealed that civilian "brutality" against the police is being practiced widely.

FBI figures on police brutality cases that come into Federal courts tell a story in themselves. Between mid-1964 and mid-1965, 1,700 complaints of police brutality were referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Forty-seven such cases were presented to grand juries. Five cases led to conviction in Federal courts.

On the other hand, the FBI records show that 57 policemen were murdered by criminals in 1964 alone; 197 in the last four years. The number of policemen murdered annually in line of duty has doubled since 1960. There were 18,000 police officers assaulted in 1964. That was one out of every 10 policemen in the Country. In 1964, 7,738 were injured in assaults, or one out of every 24.

The career of a policeman is hazardous at best. Unless he has the support of all law-abiding citizens, his job becomes virtually impossible as well as hazardous.

The trained, legally constituted police officer is our first line of defense against crime and violence. As and if his status becomes diluted, to the same extent will the constitutional security of Americans decline.

State Warned Against Toying With Elements

SEN. ROBERT C. BYRD, D-W.Va., thinks that modern meteorologists, armed with electronic devices such as radar, laser beams, and computers may eventually be able to modify the weather — thus possibly altering man's natural environment and changing the course of civilization.

"But," he warns, "judging from bureaucratic controls of every other type that we are familiar with, I can think of no good effect that would result from a bureau's control of the weather."

The senator suggests we all start praying, "Please, Mr. Government, try to get to the moon if you will, but leave the rainmaking and the sunshine to God. He's always managed to come through virtually in the nick of time, up to now."

To which we add a solemn "Amen."

U.S. Success Image Mirrored by French

Despite President CHARLES DE GAULLE's declaration of independence from the United States and his attempts to bolster the national pride of his countrymen, and despite a fairly booming prosperity in France, the word "American" apparently still has a magical ring for the French.

An advertisement for a correspondence school that appeared in a recent issue of Paris Match magazine was decorated with skyscrapers and the Statue of Liberty. Against this background was a drawing of a young, briefcase-carrying businessman walking from his car to his pleasant suburban home as his well-dressed family rushed to greet him.

Large type proclaimed: "Successful in the American Way."

The fact that to foreigners we are a "race of realists" who worship the dollar sign and that the "American way" is a get-rich-quick method that can be packaged as an advertising gimmick indicates a sad failure on somebody's part either to understand or to explain just what our experiment in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is supposed to be all about.

Labor Leaders Mourn for 14B

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON — Labor chiefs are holding a wake over the union shop bill put to rest in the Senate.

While some profess to detect a faint heartbeat that might be fanned to life next year, one top labor lobbyist summed up the feeling of most: "It's dead—period."

The bill, blocked by a Senate filibuster and shelved Tuesday for the session by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, would have repealed the right of the states to outlaw union shop contracts. These are labor agreements in which union membership is compulsory. Nineteen states now have such laws.

Organized labor had waited 18 years until it thought the climate was right in Congress. This was supposed to have been the year.

In their frustration at losing the No. 1 legislative goal on which they had staked so much prestige and political power, labor spokesmen are variously blaming President Johnson, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who led the filibuster, and each other.

SIGN OF DEFEAT

One sign of defeat was the rapid disintegration of the united front that warring and unfriendly elements of the labor movement had built behind the drive to repeal section 14B of the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act.

The AFL-CIO, riding a crest of political power in the Johnson administration, lays the blame squarely at the door of Dirksen.

But a top spokesman for one major independent union also blames both Johnson and the AFL-CIO.

"He (Johnson) broke the filibuster on civil rights. He could have broken the filibuster on this one," he said, adding that the AFL-CIO failed to stir enough grass roots pressure on Congress or the White House.

NECKS STICKING OUT

"Why should the President stick his neck out when the labor movement wouldn't," this spokesman added.

"The old arm-twisting certainly wasn't there," said a spokesman for another big independent union, in claiming the support Johnson gave the bill wasn't full measure.

At any rate, the 1964 Democratic campaign pledge to repeal 14B was effectively broken by Dirksen and his band of Republican and Southern Democratic "buccaners" — Dirksen's own translation of the Spanish word "filibuster."

About the bravest front labor can muster at present is "wait'll next year," but union leaders have long privately conceded their chances would be far dimmer in a congressional election year.

"An awful lot of people will be afraid of it," as a campaign issue, one union spokesman said.

David Lawrence Says:

14B Setback Freedom's Victory

WASHINGTON — Such words as "filibuster" and "cloture" and "repeal of 14B" may not mean much to the average man, so it can be simplified by noting that a victory has just been recorded for individual freedom—which is something everybody can understand.

It was not just a tempo-LAWRENCE victory, either, when the Senate voted 47 to 45 against taking up the bill, which, if enacted, would have deprived the states of their right to forbid compulsory unionization and thereby making it the price of a job in America.

There is, indeed, something of far more significance than the issue of whether an employer shall be coerced to do the bidding of a union in the hiring or firing of his employees.

The real question that faces the country today is whether trade unions shall continue as a form of supergovernment which imposes a kind of tax on the individual worker and then does what it pleases with his money.

If the controversy was merely over the repeal of 14B — the section in the National Labor Relations Act which specifies that states shall have the power to pass their own "right to work" laws — there might be doubt that a delay of a few months would hurt the chances of taking up the measure in the next session of Congress.

GOES DEEPER

But the problem now goes deeper. It centers on the issue of what shall be done about the monopoly power of labor unions themselves.

The right of a group of workers in a given industry to form a union of their craft is unquestioned, but, when they strike, have they any right to conspire with other unions to keep other employers from going to work?

A dispute may have no relationship to the collective-bargaining objectives of another union, but the practice has grown up that, when one union strikes, all other unions in the same plant are virtually compelled to join in the work stoppage.

Congress, however, has been indifferent to this and hasn't even proposed any law to abolish such monopolistic power by forbidding unions to conspire with each other to fix wage levels by a process known as industry-wide bargaining.

DOMINANT ISSUE

But what will happen next time? The labor union leaders realize that the congressional election in November 1966 could have as a dominant issue the question of compulsory unionization.

They know, too, that public opinion has been shifting and that, as a result of recent strikes, has developed a public demand for some form of mediation or arbitration to be specified by government in the event that a settlement is not reached within a reasonable length of time.

There will be some soul-searching done between now and the January session of Congress.

The Johnson administration itself, which has been indebted to labor and sponsored the proposal to make compulsory unionization applicable in all states, may have some second thoughts when the issue comes up again.

The change in the attitude of the Senate, where union leaders thought they had a stable majority, is a victory for an informed public opinion throughout the country.

Public Universities Feel Brunt of College Crush

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — On a schedule as inexorable as the sun's rising, the college crush hit the nation's campuses this fall.

With rare exception, the campuses weren't ready.

The final figures aren't yet in, but there are approximately 5.4 million college students enrolled this fall.

This is almost two million more than the 3.6 million students enrolled just five short years ago, and an 8 per cent increase over last fall.

The biggest burden has fallen on the public colleges and universities, which enroll about 65 per cent of all undergraduates.

FRESHMAN CLASS

For example, the University of Minnesota enrolled a freshman class of 9,614 last month. This is more than the combined freshman enrollment of 9,240 in all eight Ivy League schools — Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, Brown, the University of Pennsylvania, Columbia, Cornell and Princeton.

To cope with the hordes of students, the public institutions have started classes in early morning and run them late into the night.

They have taken over private homes as dormitories, and rented space in motels. They have squeezed three students into rooms designed for two, increased the use of classroom television and opened branch campuses.

And, tragically, they have shut the doors on thousands of qualified applicants for lack of space.

25,000 TURNED AWAY

In New Jersey, 25,000 were turned away, some of them hon- or students and valedictorians.

In North Carolina it was 5,000. The University of Illinois alone had to reject 7,000.

The college crush didn't just sneak up on the United States. Educators have seen it coming for years.

They saw it coming when the number of births jumped from 2.8 million in the 12 months ending June 30, 1946, to 3.9 million in the next year.

ZOOMED UPWARD

They saw it coming as the something over a decade ago percentage of high school graduates going on to college zoomed upward.

In 1939-40, only 14 per cent went on to college. In 1954-55 it was 29 per cent. In 1964-65 it was 43.2 per cent.

Although college enrollment will continue to climb, from this year's 5.4 million to 10 or 11 million by 1975, the crush may never again be as bad as it is now.

First, the birth rate leveled off after that 1947 peak. Second, the public institutions are laboring almost frantically to expand their facilities.

Officer Specialized in Ambushes

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—"The Viet Cong are very patient. They wait until you're tired. They wait until you're hungry. They wait until you're thirsty. They wait until you're alone. They wait until you're in a trap. They wait until you're in a ambush."

Today, Tran Nam Trung is a lieutenant general and commander-in-chief of the Viet Cong armies in South Viet Nam. So his ambush concepts are of particular interest.

The colonel continued: "Truong would spend hours working out new ambush quips. He invented a number of new techniques, showed a great deal of imagination in devising better ambushes. He was really good at this; it won him considerable acclaim. Then when a job came up, he'd plan his own ambush in the greatest of detail."

"One of Truong's specialties was the double ambush. His men would attack an outpost. Then they'd ambush the relief column. But they wouldn't wipe out the whole column. Instead, Truong's men would destroy a spare about a third of the enemy — so they'd call for help from another outpost. Then Truong's men would ambush this second relief column."

"Truong liked the idea of letting a certain number of the

Reader Offers Suggestion for True Fiscal Reform

If we cut legislative salaries at least 20 per cent, the number on the State payroll 20 per cent, the price paid for highways 20 per cent, legislative expense accounts at least 50 per cent, and those on ADC and welfare at least 50 per cent, the savings could be used to cut state taxes at least 25 per cent and to finance programs absolutely essential — education, elimination of air and water pollution and protection of the public against thieves and criminals.

We could use these savings to finance the programs for which government was originally intended—the protection of life, liberty and property of its constituents.

Comments on Education of Amish Children

I agree with Rep. Charles Zeller on the Amish religious rights. These people who are a credit to any community and mind their own and God's business, are threatened with a compromise to have an "outside" teacher teach their children subjects they would never have use for, or their school closed until this compromise is accepted.

If the State wants to know what's being taught and how, why not ask for monthly visitation rights by their school by a reputable person.

FOR THE AMISH

Disagrees With Editorial on Pope's Visit

A recent editorial: "Pope Paul's memorable visit to America and his plea for eternal peace and coexistence for mankind are of utmost timeliness and significance." How one supposedly intelligent man can on one hand cry for peace and on the other cry for the conditions of war, and still be venerated, mystifies me.

The Pope in opposing birth control is actually supporting the conditions of overcrowding, with all its concomitant evils of famine, poverty and countless frustrations. When any man's statements deny, by implication, overcrowding, poverty, etc., what he affirms by acclamation—peace, love, etc.—I do not see how his statements can be called timely and significant.

Asks Drivers to Slow Down in Work Areas

We are a group of five men painting a bridge on 1-96 and South Hill Road. The lane we work in is blocked off for half a mile to our rear, making only one lane of traffic until you pass our scaffold which hangs 14 feet in the air. We have lights and "reduce speed" signs along that half-mile stretch, but it seems many drivers think we are just out there for our health. They don't slow down and tail-gate each other at a good rate of speed, laughing at us as they whiz by.

Our lives are at stake at all times. Please slow down. Those few minutes you lose may save a life and it may be your son or your brother who is working with us some day.

Protests Using Bunnies in United Fund Drive

What a disappointment to see the front page picture of September 30 displaying the latest protest by the directors of the Pontiac Area United Fund find it necessary to recruit volunteers from the Playboy Club.

Certainly the only ones to profit from such so-called civic contributions are the employers and a promoters of "bunny-type morality," more commonly known as pleasure for pleasure's sake. They feed on the publicity and prestige gained at the expense of respected groups such as the United Fund.

It is illogical that a group which contributes, even indirectly, to the cause of the disease confronting society is permitted to be associated with the organization dedicated to the cure of the same moral disease through its support of many social agencies.

'United Fund Interest Grows'

The general chairman of this year's Pontiac Area United Fund campaign is Calvin J. Werner, a General Motors Corp. vice president and general manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division. The following is Werner's message marking the kickoff of the 1965 UF campaign:

"Since accepting the general chairmanship of the 1965 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign, I have sensed a growing interest in the relationship between our voluntary community-supported service agencies and the federal tax-supported anti-poverty program.

"To those closely identified with our 55 United Fund agencies, the effect of this new program is obvious. It will stimulate many agency activities.

"Those in need are now becoming more aware of the services available to them.

"The new governmental activity will not displace our existing service agencies.

"Services of all United Fund agencies meet a diversity of health and welfare needs.

"They are community services, budgeted for and planned for by local citizens — services that frequently stimulate government action through pioneering efforts in the health and welfare field.

"No outside authority can intelligently pinpoint the most pressing needs of a local community. Recognizing this, the government seeks guidance from the United Fund and its member agencies for this determination.

CONTROL NEEDED
"As citizens, we pay for both voluntary and governmental services and, as citizens, we must control them both.

"For several months, the 75 public and private health, welfare and youth-serving agencies in our immediate vicinity have been under study.

"This survey, sponsored by the Pontiac Area United Fund, is conducted by a team of experts from every phase of the social welfare field.

"Its purpose is to insure that your United Fund dollars are buying the best possible services now, and will continue to do so in the future.

AREA CITIZENS
"Your United Fund and its 55 member agencies are all governed by boards of directors composed of area citizens. The funds for the agencies are raised by volunteers in a single fall campaign.

"There are 55 campaigns in one fund-raising effort. Last year, these 55 agencies served almost 30,000 families — more than three out of every five persons in the Pontiac area.

"Recognizing the problems of a growing community, the campaign goal this year is $875,000 — the largest in our history.

"It exceeds last year's objective by more than seven per cent, and represents a real challenge to the civic spirit and responsibility of all of us.

"Each one's contribution will be turned into a helping hand to the sick, the aged, the young, the handicapped and the emotionally disturbed citizens in our area.

"Weighed against its humanitarian purpose, this is the best investment anyone can make.

"Our United Fund campaign — the largest civic and charitable event of the year — looks to every individual for its success.

"Your past contributions were appreciated more than you will ever know by the thousands of persons who received benefits from United Fund agencies.

"It's a fact that united giving is the best and most efficient method for helping us to help each other.

"By achieving our goal on Nov. 4, we will prove again that we care — that we are ready to give help when help is needed.

"Please do your part."

Club Growing for Area Boys

The Auburn Heights Boys' Club has experienced tremendous growth rate since the spring of 1963, escalating from an enrollment of 241 to a present membership of 473.

Director Samuel Sheehy predicts that the Pontiac Township organization will have a membership of 600 in 1966.

Located at 220 S. Squirrel, the club provides facilities for boys 5-18.

Clubhouse activities include movies, dances, parties, table tennis, shuffleboard and other games.

However, facilities are provided by Avondale Schools and Oakland University, allowing club members to participate in basketball, touch football, baseball and swimming.

EFFECTIVE YOUTH AGENCY

"An effective youth agency must make maximum use of community facilities," asserted Sheehy.

A United Fund-supported agency, the club serves boys from Pontiac Township, Troy, Bloomfield Township and Avon Township. Sixty per cent of its membership live in Pontiac Township.

"Because of the community need, we will be including some coed activity in our 1966 program. We will also make our staff and facility available to organized community groups."

Primary function of a boys' club is to provide opportunities for a boy to grow in a manner that prepares him to meet the obligations he must face today and the demands society will place upon him as a man.

The club also participates extensively in activities sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, according to Sheehy.

"Thus, the 'core-city' concept brings Auburn Heights much closer to Pontiac than the mere two miles that separate them geographically," said Sheehy.

Teens Got Close-Up of Cancer Research

The tiniest body of life — the cell — captured the fascination and interest of at least 10 area teen-agers last summer.

The students took part in a program sponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation to learn the techniques of research by working on individual projects.

One of the behind-the-scenes activities of this Pontiac Area United Fund agency is the George W. Clements Summer Scholarship Program which seeks to encourage science-minded students to go into research.

Each day from Monday through Friday the 10 students attended classes under the direction of Sister Ann Margaret, IHM, at Marian High School in Bloomfield Township.

The classes ran nine weeks, from June 28 through Aug. 27.

Each student received a stipend of $180 from a bequest of the late George W. Clements of Detroit, whose wife was a cancer victim.

The young scientists with their test tubes, microscopes, and slides were finished with their projects by the end of the session.

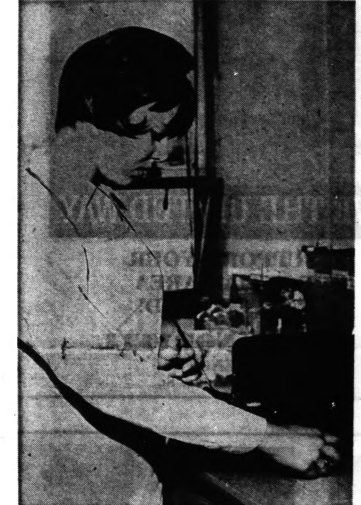

The program was open to senior high school students in the three counties of the Metropolitan area of Detroit and Monroe County. Applications were made through their science teachers.

A committee of the Michigan Cancer Foundation Board selected the 10 students from a file of about 60 applicants.

They were chosen on the basis of scholastic achievement and interest in science.

Their teacher, Sister Ann Margaret, is head of Marian High School's biology department and a graduate of Marygrove College. She holds a master's degree from Catholic University, Washington, D.C. Her students for the summer were Thomas Abraham, 705 E. Farnum, Madison Heights; Suzette Barry, 508 Oakland; Charles Charnawskas, 5115 Old Court; and Vicki L. Detlefs, 31515 Bellevue Trail, all of Birmingham; and Kathryn Kollas, 4041 Auburn, Royal Oak.

Also Kurt Carter, 5745 Cobb Creek, Oakland Township; Rita Freedman, 17441 Westhampton, and Sanford Levinson, 19228 Birch Ridge, both of Southfield; Jeanine Price, 25125 Bruce Lane, Franklin; and Stephen Sherman, 23840 Jerome, Oak Park.

INSULIN'S STORY — What's the effect of insulin on the pancreas, liver and kidney of a rat? Suzette Barry, 18, of 508 Oakland, Birmingham, found out that answer this summer in her project at the Michigan Cancer Foundation's science seminar. A graduate of Marian High School, Suzette will attend Wayne State University in the fall to study medical technology.

United Giving Idea Has Long History

Last year 2,200 United Fund and Community Chest organizations raised more than $520 million to support 34,500 voluntary health and welfare agencies serving American men, women and children.

It is estimated that nearly four million volunteers helped raise the money and budget it across the United Way agencies among the nation.

The present day United Fund had its beginnings right here in the Pontiac area in the late 1940s.

However, the idea of a united community effort had its origins in 1887 in Denver, Colo., when two ministers, a priest and a rabbi joined in a united drive to seek funds to support 23 charitable agencies in the frontier town.

From then the movement burgeoned until it reached today's far-reaching United Fund campaigns.

UF Contributions Do Year-Round Service

Last year when you were asked to contribute to the Pontiac Area United Fund, did you wonder what would happen to your contribution?

It seems every year campaign times comes right around on schedule, but where did your money go?

In case you didn't realize it, you have helped a sick person get well; a homeless child find love and security.

You have helped cut down on juvenile delinquency through constructive youth guidance programs, and helped a troubled family find domestic tranquility through counseling.

Your contribution helped the aged find comfort and care, helped members of the armed forces find wholesome recreation, and provided relief for people caught in disaster.

SERVICES PROVIDED
These and many more services you have provided through your contribution.

Your contribution, along with thousands of others, worked hard for you all year long.

The sum total is what gave strength to what each of us gave. By itself it could have done little.

NEXT ASSIGNMENT — Pontiac Visiting Nurse Association staffers Mrs. James Deno (left) of 2228 Liverpool, Pontiac Township, and Mrs. J. A. Varion, 171 E. Pike, pack a kit prior to making a visit to an ill person's home. The group made 12,793 home visits last year.

Visiting Nurses Active Agency

By RUDSON WILLSE

Organized in 1921, the Pontiac Visiting Nurse Association is one of the most active and most impressive of the 55 agencies supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund.

With eight registered nurses included among its staff of 11, the Visiting Nurse Association provides home service to individuals and families in a 150-square-mile area with a population of 200,000.

The area covered by the organization consists of the City of Pontiac and Avon, Brandon, Waterford, West Bloomfield, Orion, Oakland, Oxford, Independence and Pontiac townships.

However, 65 per cent of the 12,793 home visits made last year were in Pontiac.

The organization strives to provide, on a part-time basis, skilled nursing care and to administer treatment under medical direction.

TEACH FAMILIES
Another aim is to demonstrate, teach and supervise the nursing care that families or other workers can assume safely in the absence of a nurse.

Besides receiving allocations from the United Fund, the association accepts fees from patients based on the actual cost of a visit.

However, there are no economic restrictions. Persons who can afford to pay are expected to do so, while others pay what they can.

The nurses will not make more than one home visit unless the patient is under a physician's care.

The number of visits depends on the type of illness, the family's situation and the physician's orders. Patients can be referred to the association by families, friends, physicians, hospitals or other social agencies.

A visiting nurse must be versatile. She is a skilled nurse first, but also a teacher.

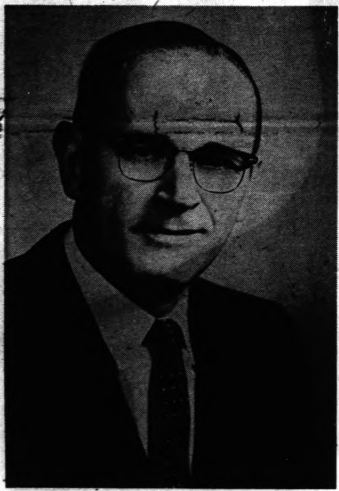

On daily rounds, she may be asked to tell a young mother how to care for her baby or to care for incapacitated elderly persons or severely handicapped patients who depend greatly on this service.

Or she may teach a diabetic how to take his own insulin or apply dressings, give hypodermic medications or any of the nursing procedures that may be carried out safely in the home.

BETWEEN VISITS
The nurse also teaches the family to care for the patient between visits.

She may teach them to do dressings, irrigations and other types of patient care.

When the family has mastered these techniques, members become more confident, creating an atmosphere more conducive to a patient's recovery.

CAI Had Its Beginnings in Old Barn

Community Activities, Inc., 5650 Williams Lake, Waterford Township, actually had two beginnings.

This in itself distinguishes the community center from the other 54 agencies supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund.

It was marked by a humble beginning 21 years ago when an old horse-sale barn was its home.

The large barn was remodeled and various programs began. The new venture grew rapidly.

Regular weekly activities, such as Saturday dances, youth nights, Rotary Club luncheons and group meetings, were conducted.

HAD BEGINNINGS
The township library and Christ Lutheran Church had their beginnings in the old barn.

Then, three years later in 1947, disaster struck. The barn was burned to the ground, leaving nothing but ashes.

However, original incentive was not destroyed.

With enthusiasm rekindled, CAI members began an intensive drive to construct a new two-story building. Within a year, the new structure was nearly completed and activities resumed on a limited basis.

NUMEROUS ACTIVITIES
Today, activities at the building are numerous. There are 31 different activities offered to adults and 23 for children and teen-agers.

In addition, CAI hosts 30 meetings for scouting groups.

Last year more than 68,470 persons made use of the building.

Services are offered to all age groups.

Girl, 4, Is Steady Clinic Customer

Little 4-year-old Gwen Lenoir, of 200 Going is a "special" case at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Clinic.

The same holds true for the rest of the 300 patients treated at the hospital's outpatient department each day.

The Pontiac Area United Fund provides an annual allocation to the clinic to help defray the cost of treatment to indigent patients.

Not in a serious-enough condition to require hospitalization, these persons receive treatment for a variety of ailments.

Hospital personnel provide X rays, minor surgery, laboratory tests and other services with the same good-naturedness and cooperation offered to overnight patients.

Gwen, however, is likely to be greeted with broader and friendlier smiles than most patients because she has been a regular clinic visitor since January 1963.

KIDNEY CONDITION

Plagued by nephrosis — a degenerative and noninflammatory kidney condition — Gwen has received medication monthly at the clinic ever since her first visit.

Each visit she is given a blood test and urinalysis, in addition to a complete physical examination.

Although, Gwen has been hospitalized three times for her condition, she has improved to such an extent that medication is expected to continue for only one or two more years.

Once she was referred to the University of Michigan's Kidney Disease Clinic. Officials there indicated the care she had received at the St. Joseph Mercy Clinic was adequate and made no suggestions.

DAILY VISITS

Daily visits to the clinic, including emergency cases, total 9,000 a year. Ten years ago, the figure was 53,000.

The current building program at the hospital will eventually provide new and much larger quarters, featured by 12 examination and treatment rooms, specialty clinics and a waiting room.

Pontiac Press Photo

FAITH IN HER DOCTOR — Gwen Lenoir's expression indicates she has complete confidence in Dr. J. Patrick Quigley and registered nurse Mrs. W. H. Frakes while being examined at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Clinic. Gwen, 4, of 200 Going has been receiving treatment at the clinic

Doing Valuable Work

Funds Aid Area Groups

The Camp Fire Girls, Michigan Children's Aid Society, Salvation Army and YMCA are greatly dependent on the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Camp Fire Girls, Pontiac Area Council, received $26,131 this year from UF. It specializes in homemaking, citizenship, outdoor living and community service programs for girls 7 to 17.

The Girl Scouts, Northern Oakland County Council, also is directed to girls 7 to 17 years of age, received $38,157 from UF this year.

The organization inspires girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service.

The Michigan Children's Aid Society has an office in Pontiac at 132 Franklin. It received $49,042 from UF this year.

FOSTER HOMES

The society provides temporary foster home care for children of broken homes and places children for adoption. It also offers counseling and planning to unwed parents.

The Pontiac Citadel, Salvation Army, is located at 29 W. Lawrence.

It is a religious and charitable welfare agency providing emergency assistance, counseling and spiritual guidance, transient welfare, and maternity services for unmarried mothers.

The Salvation Army received $38,038 from UF for this year's operations.

YMCA FUNDS

Located at 131 Mt. Clemens, the YMCA received an allocation of $47,014 this year.

It conducts recreational and spiritual programs for children and adults, including planned recreational, cultural, vocational, athletic and social activities.

Included are special interest group activities and a camping program.

'INJURED SKIER' — Red Cross first aid instructors Mr. and Mrs. Vern L. McCracken (right), 3212 Loon Lake Shores, Waterford Township, and James Basigow, 788 Porteous, Lake Orion, demonstrate to a class the proper way to treat a skier with a fractured leg. Portraying the victim is Chuck Newmann, 140 Highland, Rochester. Special emphasis in the Wednesday night class is placed on preparing persons for ski patrol duty.

Programs of Red Cross Fill Wide-Ranging Needs

Perhaps best-known for its blood program, American Red Cross also provides services in first aid and water safety instruction, disaster preparedness and offers aid to hospital patients and military families.

The Oakland County chapter at 118 Franklin Blvd. receives the largest appropriation of all 55 agencies of the Pontiac Area United Fund to carry out these extensive services.

More than 11,000 pints of blood were collected in the county last year for use in hospitals. The endeavor required 2,655 volunteers who contributed 26,630 hours of their time.

In the program, blood is collected from volunteer donors and processed. The blood is used for the therapeutic care of the sick and injured.

The Oakland chapter is part of a network consisting of 56 separate regional blood programs in which 1,500 Red Cross chapters participate.

BLOOD GATHERED

The network collects more than 200,000 pints of blood a month. In event of a local disaster, blood from the other regional centers would be available to victims here.

The 84-year-old organization also provides assistance to military families, helping to solve their problems, offering financial aid and use of an emergency system.

Last year, the Oakland chapter assisted 1,271 servicemen and their families and recently discharged veterans.

Training in first aid, water safety and home care for the sick and injured have been very successful Red Cross programs. In the past 12 months, the Oakland chapter issued 2,906 certificates to persons who successfully completed a first aid class.

In addition, 48,451 county residents learned the mouth-to-mouth artificial process.

Red Cross instructors in Oakland County have issued water safety certificates to 9,588 persons.

Red Cross hospital volunteers and affiliated youth service have provided more than 60,000 hours of service to patients and their families.

HURRICANE HELP

Effectiveness of the Red Cross in time of disaster may best be exemplified by the recent storm in the Southeastern states in which Hurricane Betsy claimed many lives.

Nearly 100,000 persons were either housed or fed by Red Cross workers. Several million dollars were spent on the concerted effort.

In Oakland County, a disaster preparedness program also prevails, with 244 registered nurses on the roster.

Success Marks UF History

Since its inception in the fall of 1949, the Pontiac Area United Fund has consistently been able to organize successful campaigns.

Only in 1957 did campaign pledges fail to at least match the goal.

In that year, the goal was $612,202 compared with a pledge total of $802,671.

Last year, the pledge amount exceeded the goal by more than $100,000, pledges totaling $921,855 against a goal of $815,500. The first campaign goal in 1949 was $255,000, which benefited 42 local, state and national agencies.

$875,000 GOAL

Today there are 55 agencies with a goal for the current campaign set at $875,000. The current UF board president is Glenn Griffin.

Members of the first board of trustees were Henry J. Klingler, William B. Hartman, Milo J. Cross, Alfred Girard, Leonard A. Lewis, William McAulay, Harold A. Fitzgerald, Otis Briney, Morgan Douglas, Harry Pryle, Goodloe Rogers, Abe Lapidus and Donald Larkin.

Instruction in Lifesaving Another of UF Benefits

What does your Pontiac Area United Fund contribution help to buy?

One thing it helps to buy, through the Michigan Heart Association, is instruction in the lifesaving technique of Closed Chest Cardiac Resuscitation (CCCR).

CCCR saves lives. It saved the life of Eugene P. Muldoon, 66, of Detroit, who dropped dead from a heart attack July 17 while playing golf at Hickory Hill Club near Mount Clemens.

"I was very lucky," said Muldoon. "I am very grateful to the United Fund and to the Michigan Heart Association, too," added Muldoon, who returned home from Mount Clemens General Hospital Sept. 19.

DOCTORS BEHIND

His luck, he said, was simply in the fact that three holes behind him were two Mount Clemens physicians, A. Lewis Katzowitz, 37, and Gerald Hoffman, 30, who had become experts in CCCR at heart association classes.

"We found Muldoon clinically dead," explained Dr. Katzowitz.

"He had no heart beat and his eyes were fixed and dilated."

"We took over - nobody was doing anything effective - and I massaged his heart and Dr. Hoffman applied mouth-to-mouth breathing."

CCCR IN AMBULANCE

"We did CCCR in the ambulance. It was about 35 minutes before we got him to the hospital and applied electric shock to restart his heart," he added.

"We were physically exhausted, but it was a thrill to see Muldoon come back to life. He is a very fine person and it will always give us a sense of satisfaction to know that we helped bring him back."

"I don't remember much of what happened that day," explained Muldoon.

"I was putting, I remember, and then I woke up in the hospital some time later."

OTHER WONDERERS

The Michigan Heart Association has performed many other wonders since its inception in 1949.

It helped to finance the pioneering experiments which led to the development of a practical, working heart-lung pump.

This machine substitutes for heart and lungs during operations performed on the heart's interior.

Previously this type of operation, performed to repair congenital heart defects or renovate valves damaged by rheumatic heart disease, was impossible.

PERFORMED ROUTINELY

Today, the operation is performed routinely and has saved countless thousands from death and invalidism.

The association, through research, has reduced the death toll attributed to heart attack, stroke and allied diseases.

These diseases cause about 55 per cent of all deaths on a state and national level.

RESEARCH PAYS OFF — Dr. Gerald Timmis of Harper Hospital in Detroit uses a fluoroscope to thread a wired catheter through a vein in the thigh of a patient up into her heart. The catheter was connected to a pacemaker. The patient then stopped on the operating table. As expected, her heart restarted and returned her heart, and she survived the operation and recovered.

Year Without Nikita Has Solved Few Problems for Soviets

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A year without Nikita Khrushchev seems to have solved few problems for the Kremlin. Government by committee has been the rule since the unpredictable Khrushchev faded as premier from the Soviet scene. Veteran party men are in control, but younger men are pushing steadily toward the top. For all of them, the Khrushchev legacy has been a maze of domestic, foreign policy and world Communist problems. The collective leadership seems to be groping — and perhaps nervous as if indicating there might be significant changes before long.

Khrushchev's bulky shadow has not been entirely banished. Khrushchevism — much of what he initiated in 10 years remains without the Khrushchevian dynamism behind it. A confusing struggle seems to persist between two elements of the Communist party, liberal and conservative.

The domestic atmosphere suggests a slowly developing cultural and economic revolution. Abroad, the Kremlin is alert to flashing danger signals warning of the possibility of major war. The collective treads warily through thorny dilemmas provoked by the Moscow Peking schism.

ONE YEAR AGO

A year ago this week, the word on most Soviet lips was "Voshkod"—surprise—the name Ever Hear of SFABE?

You Might Be One

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Ever hear of the SFABE? Lots of the members of the 1945 graduating class of Abilene High School hadn't either — until they were informed that they were members and were invited to a 20-year reunion.

The initials stand for "Society for Aging and Balding Eagles."

of a new spaceship. As Voshkod's three-man team of cosmonauts whirled in orbit, Khrushchev excitedly voiced his happiness that "everything was all right up there."

While Khrushchev talked to the orbiting specimen by radio from a Black Sea resort, the Communist party Central committee quietly gathered in Moscow. The day after Khrushchev's talk with the cosmonauts, they came down ahead of schedule. The following day, Oct. 15, down came Khrushchev.

The Central Committee announced it decided to grant his request for retirement because of his age and his health.

It became clear that the ploters had kicked him out, accusing him of hare-brained schemes, blundering in foreign and Communist policy, damaging the economy and other sins.

How have his successors done? Today the picture looks like this:

POLITICAL—

Two veterans of the Stalin era, Leonid I. Brezhnev, 59, and Alexei N. Kosygin, 61, hold the top jobs of party chief and premier, respectively. Much authority seems vested in Anastas Mikoyan, 70, the last of the old Bolsheviks in the hierarchy. He is chairman of the Parliament's—Supreme Soviet Presidium, a sort of president of the U.S.S.R.

Younger men are on the move, men like Alexander N. Sholepin, 47, and Kirill T. Mazurov, 51, from Byelo Russia, both a generation removed from the revolutionary fever of original Bolshevism.

Sholepin is a man with wide experience as onetime head of the Young Communist League, then head of internal security forces, and now chief of the party and State Control Commission. He is outspokenly sharp on the subject of Red China, but seems to maintain a balance between the liberals and conservatives.

Mazurov has been increasingly prominent both in foreign and domestic affairs. He tends toward the conservative elements who worried that Khrushchev's liberalism and de-Stalinization had gone too far.

Late in September, the party

Central Committee adopted profits and incentives for consumer industries. In this, it had to deal with conflicting views of the military and other conservative elements concerned with Soviet defensive might.

The results of the meeting and indications in the party and government press indicate that reformers in the U.S.S.R. still wield great power. They seem intent on a more flexible economy, a system of prices keyed to consumer demand, a modified profit system within a Communist framework.

Poor harvests required Moscow again to purchase grain abroad, but the Russian public was not told about it. One of the sins attributed to Khrushchev was creating conditions which made such purchases necessary.

CULTURAL—

The liberal wing seemed to be holding its own against conservative, Neo-Stalinist elements. The party still seems to keep a rein on its writers and artists, but it frequently extends the olive branch.

WORLD COMMUNIST—

If the new regime intended to mend the tear in the world Communist fabric, it failed. Khrushchev had been Red China's main target in the debate on how world revolution should be pursued. Today Peking accuses Moscow of "Khrushchevism without Khrushchev," of a cowardly attitude on questions of war and peace, of retarding revolutions.

In East Europe, the Soviet grip has weakened. The trend has been toward more independence of action, notably in economic policy.

FOREIGN—

The frustrations are as great as, if not greater than, during the Khrushchev era. The Russians have been bedeviled by Red Chinese attempts to shut them out of the Asian sphere and by the danger of Viet Nam. The policy, over-all, remained the Khrushchev brand of peaceful coexistence, recognizing a danger that small wars could lead to a big one. But as the professed leader of world communism, the Kremlin evidently has felt it had no choice but to denounce the U.S. role in Asia.

Relations with the United States, improving for a while, deteriorated after the Russians rejected a plea by President Johnson for easing tensions. On the surface, at least, a new freeze developed.

Despite this, and despite Viet Nam, there was some easing. The United States welcomed a Soviet stand demanding an end to the Indian-Pakistan fighting over Kashmir, a coincidence of Soviet-American interests which moved the Chinese to call the Russians allies of the United States.

In Europe, there were signs the Russians were withdrawing, at least for a while, from any showdown over questions of divided Germany and Berlin.

Survey Shows Many in County Want Job Training

Almost one-third of 278,298 Oakland County residents more than 14 years old — interviewed in a recent survey — desire vocational training.

This fact was revealed in a preliminary report of Oakland County Schools' vocational survey, taken in conjunction with the May school census.

According to the findings, 26 per cent of the women and 37 per cent of the men canvassed indicated their desire for some kind of job training.

The report shows that nearly one-half the men and one-third of the women who want training aspire to professional, managerial or technical operations.

In the house-to-house check,

MOST POPULAR

Foremost in popularity among women was training in the clerical and sales field, 13,532 showing an interest. Only 5,962 men desired training in this field.

In the service category, 5,856 women desired training for employment compared with 4,688 men.

Of the persons interviewed, 725 men and 58 women desired training in farming, fishery and forestry occupations, while 6,229 men and 496 women expressed interest in acquiring skills in the machine trades.

The report indicated that 1,062 men and 343 women desired training in processing industries, 1,548 men and 415 women in bench work jobs, 3,060 men and only 65 women in structural work.

MISCELLANEOUS JOB

Miscellaneous job training was checked by 4,853 men and 2,305 women.

Almost one-third of the employed people interviewed, work at professional, managerial or technical jobs. Of 115,306 men and women not in school, 34,449 were counted in this category.

The second largest vocational group — clerical and sales positions — consisted of 23,740 persons.

Of those canvassed, 16,023 held machine trade occupations and 15,467 were employed in service occupations.

STRUCTURAL WORK

Structural work accounted for employment of 7,114 persons: bench work jobs, 5,455; farming, fishery and forestry, 686; and processing jobs, 3,964.

In addition, miscellaneous occupations provided livelihood for 9,447, while 2,855 were reported as unemployed.

Two-thirds of the persons in school did not expect to enter the labor market within the next year. However, 9,395 of the 50, 585 enrolled in school or college were already employed and 8,202 more wanted jobs.

Among those who did have jobs, men outnumbered women

Romney Main Speaker at NY Fete for Ike

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan will be the principal speaker tonight at this city's "Happy Birthday, Ike" dinner.

The $100-a-plate dinner will be one of 19 Republican fund-raising dinners across the country being held on the former president's 75th birthday.

almost 3 to 1. There were 6,858 employed men over 14 and 3,901 women.

JOB HUNTING

In the other categories, there was less difference between the numbers of men and women. Of those students not employed but job hunting, 4,361 were men and 3,901 were women.

More women than men did not plan to look for jobs. This group included 16,363 men and 16,533 women.

The survey was made with the cooperation of each of the 29 independent school districts in Oakland County and coordinated by David Soule, Oakland Schools director of vocational education.

Individual data cards made

COMPILED REPORTS

Dr. Loyal Joos, director of systematic studies, compiled the reports.

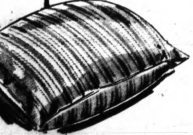

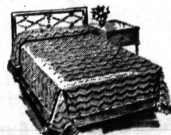

The survey was initiated at the request of designates from boards of education of school districts in the county and financed in part by a $28,400 federal grant.

Silverless Coins Set for Shopping Season

Auditions Slated by OU Chorus for Yule Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mint has produced 100 million new silverless quarters and production is running ahead of schedule, a Treasury official said today.

The new coins will be put into circulation in time for the Christmas shopping season at about the date for release has not been set.

By the end of the year, the official said, the mint will begin turning out silverless dimes and half-dollars. Original plans called for production of these coins early next year.

The new quarters and dimes consist of a layer of copper sandwiched between two layers of cupronickel, a copper-nickel alloy of which the nickel coin is made.

The change was authorized by Congress because of a potential shortage of silver. The silver content of the half-dollar was reduced from 90 to 40 per cent.

Production of the new quarters is being rapidly accelerated. Although almost 2½ months were required to manufacture the first 100 million, the mint will turn out an estimated 435 million in the remaining 2½ months of the year.

Some 1.9 billion quarters and 1.4 billion dimes are scheduled to be produced in the first six months of 1966.

The coin shortage which has plagued banks and businesses for several years has eased considerably, the Treasury source said. "There is no evidence of further hoarding, except for a few businessmen putting away what they expect to need during the Christmas season — and these will come out at that time."

BIG SUPPLIES
The government has sizable inventories of nickels and pennies.

The half dollar is the only coin — beside the almost extinct silver dollar — which appears to be in short supply.

$2 Million Invested

WASHINGTON (AP) — An investment of approximately $2 million in La Internacional, a textile company in Ecuador, has been announced by the International Finance Corp., an affiliate of the World Bank.

Auditions for soloists to appear with the Oakland University Chorus' presentation of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio," scheduled for Dec. 12, have been announced by George V. Cripps, director of the chorus. Cripps is seeking interested sopranos, tenors and basses.

Auditions have been set for Oct. 31 in his studios in North Foundation Hall on the OU campus.

Time reservations should be made with Prof. Cripps or Alice Engram at the university.

Life expectancy in the United States was only about 42 years in 1850 compared with 70 years today.

Georgia Rally Still On—Klan

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan leader has rejected a request by Georgia's chief law enforcement official to cancel a rally in this rural town Saturday after a Negro spokesman pledged to curtail demonstrations.

The desegregation drive, centered on schools, spread to still another county Wednesday.

Negroes planned an attempt today to pull pupils out of their school at Lincoln, 36 miles to the northeast, in the protest over segregation and tokenism.

This tiny town's racial dispute headed toward a weekend climax of Klan rallies in the area. Although two Klan vigilante leaders agreed to leave, a rival Klanman said his order would stage its rally here Saturday.

WON'T CANCEL

"We are not going to call it off," said Grand Dragon Calvin F. Craig in Atlanta. Craig, who belongs to the United Klans of America — the largest and dominant of 42 Klan groups — was asked by Col. Lowell Compton, director of the Department of Public Safety, to cancel the gathering.

Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton Jr., Tuscaloosa, Ala., is scheduled to speak.

"We might march ourselves," Craig said. "We want to spotlight Crawfordville."

He said the rally at the courthouse, the scene of almost daily Negro demonstrations, had been scheduled too long to be canceled.

NEGRO RALLIES

Craig has been urging white residents to ignore the Negro rallies.

Craig also said he had received a subpoena to appear Oct. 28 before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in its probe of the Klan. "It won't amount to anything," he said.

Negroes suspended their marches to the courthouse at the request of their attorneys in a federal court hearing on the school segregation dispute here. Demonstrations began Sept. 27 in protest of the transfer of all 189 white pupils of Tallapoosa County to schools in other counties. The white school here closed as a result; 87 Negroes had applied for admission.

* * *

At Augusta, where the federal panel is hearing testimony, attorney Howard Moore Jr., representing Negro complainants, said Tallapoosa civil rights leaders agreed to halt the daily attempts to board buses with white children and demonstrations aimed at disrupting Negro schools.

Women in Top Jobs on Kansas U. Paper

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Women have just about taken over the newsroom of the University Daily Kansan, student newspaper at the University of Kansas.

Ten top news positions, managing editor and four assistants, city editor, features and a society editor, two editorial writers, and sports editor are held by women.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — In about 100 cities across the country, demonstrators plan to rally, parade, and speak tomorrow and Saturday in protest against U.S. military involvement in Viet Nam.

Organizers also claim participation by groups in 20 foreign lands and have dubbed the 48-hour demonstration "International Days of Protest."

The undertaking was blueprinted in the Madison headquarters of the National Coordinating Committee to End the War in Viet Nam.

The chief draftsman is Frank Emspak, 20, a native of Yonkers, N.Y., who received a bachelor's degree from the University of Wisconsin in January.

Emspak, a National Committee chairman, says, "all our demonstrations will be peaceful."

MADISON TARGET

Trux Air Force Base in Madison will be the target Saturday of a demonstration. About a dozen University of Wisconsin students will attempt a citizens' arrest of the base commander, Col. Lester Arrowsmith.

"That's a splinter group and not part of our committee," said Emspak. "The committee voted that action down about 115 to 12 last week and now they're going to do it anyway. Our meetings are open, and you can't always know who walks in."

Headquarters has compiled a list of activities by local committees to end the war in Viet Nam. It shows demonstrations planned the next two days in the following major cities:

LBJ Tired During Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson winds up a week in Bethesda Naval Hospital today, recuperating but feeling more tired than he thought he would be.

He had nothing on his schedule for the day. And Wednesday, like Tuesday, he had no official callers.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers reported Wednesday night that the President had "less pain and less strain" Wednesday. But Johnson confided to Moyers that he was more tired than he thought he would be.

Moyers said Johnson slept most of the afternoon and was "continuing to recover from his operation."

DINNER PARTNERS

The President had dinner Wednesday night with Mrs. Johnson, daughter Luci and one of his secretaries, Miss Marie Fehmer.

During the evening, evangelist Billy Graham called and talked with Mrs. Johnson. He asked her to tell the President to take it easy. And he told the First Lady "Don't let him get back to work too soon."

Moyers said "My guess is that the President will continue to take advantage of this opportunity to rest and gain his strength and recover as rapidly as possible."

Johnson's doctors say he is recovering in excellent fashion from last Friday's surgery in which his gallbladder and a kidney stone were removed.

Class Tells President to Get Well

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"Dear Mr. Lyndon B. Johnson, 'We read in my class that you were in the hospital, and you were going to have an operation. I hope you will feel better from the operation.'

"Get out of the hospital pretty soon and go to work."
"Yours sincerely, Dabarra (sic) Cook."
That's a sample of the more than a dozen letters that will be mailed to President Johnson today said Alice Hawkins, a teacher at Dade Elementary School.

Mrs. Hawkins asked her "level eight" class — the school is nongraded, and level eight includes children who elsewhere would be in the third and fourth grades — to write get-well letters to the President over the weekend.

They wrote with varying degrees of formality, some inviting themselves to the White House, others inviting the First Family to their homes and to their school.

All the letter writers are between 8 and 11 years old. Their letters speak for themselves:

"Dear President Johnson, 'I hope you get better soon. You are a nice president. My mother and father like you because you're very nice. My mother and father hope nothing will happen in the hospital.'

"We all are talking about you. We all hope you get well. Would you send me your picture and your autograph on the bottom of your picture so I can hang it on my wall in memory of you."
"Sincerely (sic), Grace Powers, age 9 1/2."

John Chisso had a different idea. He wrote:

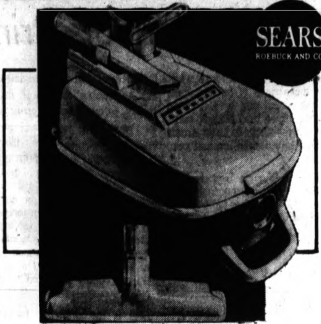

"I hope that you will be well soon. I hope you can come and get sunshine in Florida. When you come to Florida I would like for you and your wife to come for dinner at my home — 2225 SW 31st Ave., phone HI 4-0862."

"Also come to Dade Elementary School, 3501 SW 28th St., and see how we work, and meet our principal Miss Flora Sampson. My teacher is Mrs. Hawkins."

"I wish you good luck."

SHOWS CONFIDENCE
Dr. Willis Hurst, the President's heart specialist, left Wednesday for his Atlanta home — a further indication of the confidence Johnson's medical team has in his progress.

The President has been on a bland diet since intravenous feeding ended Monday.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Fidel Castro, badgered by internal political and economic problems, has issued a message of defiance to Moscow: Help us, but don't try to dominate us; don't try to prevent us from taking risks to foment revolution in Latin America.

Castro wants more Soviet arms and wants to be the sole judge of what to do with those arms. His words indicate. His tone suggests he is running into an argument in Moscow.

A copy of the new paper Gramma, "organ of the Central Committee of the Communist party of Cuba," has reached this country with the text of a Castro speech to the committee. This was the speech in which he paid tribute to Ernesto Guevara, his long-time guerrilla war expert.

Generally overlooked was Castro's florid peroration, obviously directed to Moscow, where at this moment Maj. Raul Castro, Fidel's brother, supposedly is seeking more arms from Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

ARM TWISTED
The passage suggests that Moscow has twisted Castro's

arm. It indicates Moscow wants no more risks of nuclear showdown occasioned by Castro adventuring — that Moscow wants to call the shots in Latin America on Communist-inspired revolution.

Castro, though begging help, still objects strenuously. He wants to run the Latin-American revolution — and his own Cuban revolution — in his own way.

He wants Red revolution without Moscow dictation, but with Moscow support.

Here's how Castro put it: "We know quite well where the enemy is. In order to defeat the aggressive policy of that enemy, to continue to oppose it, we need the resources and weapons, because here, thousands of miles away from any other Socialist country, thousands of miles away without being able to depend on anything other than our own forces and our own weapons, we are running today and will continue to run. We must be armed to the teeth and totally prepared."

LATIN BANNER
That is the challenge to the Soviet Union. Castro wants revolutionary banner in Latin America. But he wants arms without strings. Let the rest of the Communist world quarrel, but let him go his own way.

"We can disagree with any party on any point," said Castro. He added that he refused to view communism as a church "with its Rome and its Ecumenical Council." Castro announced he will develop his own revolutionary program. And he will continue to be friendly to both sides in the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

Castro obviously has been annoyed by the Russians, who took away his missile bases in the terrifying showdown between Nikita S. Khrushchev and the late President John F. Kennedy. Moscow apparently has drawn the reins on his schemes, fearful of new showdowns. Perhaps the Russians even had a hand in stifling Castro ambitions in the Dominican Republic.

Castro was highly emotional in his address. He read an alleged letter from Guevara resigning citizenship and all posts in Cuba. It read almost like a self-written obituary. There is a strong suspicion that, prodded by the Russians, Castro had to clash with Guevara on theoretical problems of revolution in Latin America. At any rate, Guevara is gone; and Castro, still needing help, has nowhere to look but Moscow.

That seems to be what annoys him most.

THERE'S NOT ONE DISSATISFIED OWNER OF AN Whirlpool APPLIANCE

A bold claim? You bet. One no other appliance company has ever dared make. And we openly challenge any RCA Whirlpool appliance owner to dispute it. We're selling what we honestly believe to be the finest appliances on the market today... top-quality RCA Whirlpool appliances. Whirlpool quality starts at the factory, where one of every ten men on the production line is directly involved in quality control. This rigid quality control is practiced right on down the line... by the distributor, by your local RCA Whirlpool dealer and by our factory authorized service organization. Neither factory nor distributor nor dealer nor serviceman wants an RCA Whirlpool appliance in the field that can cause its original purchaser any dissatisfaction because of mechanical malfunction. An amazingly low incidence of service is proof that we're measuring up to this purposely high standard of performance. That's why we feel confident when we say, "There is not one dissatisfied owner of an RCA Whirlpool home appliance in the Pontiac area."

CONFIRMED HYPOCHONDRIAC — Thomas Kruger (right) of 6009 De Guise, Avon Township, checks his hypochondria patient, played by Duane Utech of 305 Oak Lane, Avon Township, in a scene from the Avon Players production of "Send Me No Flowers." The play will be presented at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow and Saturday at West Junior High School, Avon Township.

Avon Players Raise Curtain Tomorrow

AVON TOWNSHIP — "Send Me No Flowers," a play about a hypochondriac who believes he has an incurable heart ailment and sets out to find a husband for his wife, will be presented by the Avon Players tomorrow and Saturday.

Chapter Will Install Officers

CLARKSTON — Joseph C. Bird Chapter 294, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its annual installation of officers at 8 p.m. Saturday in Clarkston Junior High School.

Mrs. Richard Young, 5328 Hummingbird, Independence Township, and Gordon Stoy, 3185 Sassafras, Waterford Township, will be installed as worthy matron and worthy patron, respectively.

Also scheduled to take office are Mrs. Marjorie Bolton, 4618 Midland, Waterford Township, associate matron, and Grant Gilbert, 2406 Pauline, Waterford Township, associate patron.

Other new officers are Mrs. Robert Landis, 27 Easy, Pontiac, conductress; Mrs. Margaret Bryant, 143 Exmoor, Waterford Township, associate conductress; Mrs. Roger Bennett, 974 Hummingbird, Independence Township, secretary; and Wilma Doehler, 620 Pine Knob, Independence Township, treasurer.

The installation is open to the public.

Blood Drive Set Oct. 19

WALLED LAKE — With donations especially needed for two open-heart surgeries, the Wallied Lake Commerce blood bank drive will be held Oct. 19.

Donations will be taken from 3 to 9 p.m. at the Wallied Lake Baptist Church, 309 Market.

Appointments can be made by contacting Mrs. Robert Gilmore, 1681 Wilshire, Wolverhampton.

Informational Programs Slated to Explain School Vote Issues

FARMINGTON — Informational programs on the Nov. 13 special election are being scheduled now by the Farmington Board of Education.

Board members and school administrators are accepting invitations to explain the three propositions on the ballot.

Being sought in the election is approval of a $4.1-million building program, renewal of a $-mill levy and addition of a $-mill to the levy for operations.

Groups can obtain speakers by contacting the board of education office.

Among the presentations already scheduled are those at Beechview Elementary School, 8 p.m. Monday; Cloverdale Elementary School, 7 p.m. Oct. 25; East Junior High School, 8 p.m. Oct. 25; and William Grace Elementary School, 8 p.m. Nov. 2.

Shiloh Elementary School, 8 p.m. Nov. 3; Farmington High School, 8 p.m. Nov. 3; and Farmington Junior High School, 8 p.m. Nov. 10.

Board Ponders Weed Problem

Ordinance Pending for Avon Township

AVON TOWNSHIP — A proposed weed control ordinance is still pending before the township board while further estimates on the cost of destroying the weeds are obtained.

The board postponed a decision last night because weeds are becoming less of a problem at this time of year.

The proposed ordinance would make property owners responsible for destroying noxious weeds on their property in an unincorporated area of the township where 60 per cent or more of the lots have buildings erected on them.

If they failed to do so, the township would destroy the weeds and charge the cost to the individual.

In other action Supervisor Cyril E. Miller reported that a problem with wild parties in the Culbertson and Michelson street area "seems to be letting up."

CLOSE EYE

He said he and the police have kept a close eye on the "activities." He said, however, that extra patrols would be put in the area on Halloween night.

Complaints have been received in the past about excessive noise and drinking in cars at the end of Michelson.

Stolen cars had also been taken to the area and stripped and burned.

Lions Club Conducts 4th Annual Candy Sale

The candy can be purchased through Saturday. Proceeds from the sale are used for community projects and the Lions' sight conservation program.

Orion Women Picket Capitol

LAKE ORION — Protesting the lack of response from state officials on their requests for council action, nine women from the Lake Orion Homeowners Association yesterday picketed the Capitol in Lansing.

Led by Mrs. Charles Robbins, vice president of the organization, the group conducted an orderly demonstration which lasted nearly two hours.

They carried signs, some of which read: "Tell us, Mr. Romney, how long shall we wait for a decision from you?"

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN

Dr. Richard A. McNeil, chairman of the committee, said plans are to submit the petitions to the governor if Rossman does not resign.

Rossman has already stated publicly that he will not resign from the office to which he was elected last spring.

Government of the village has been beset by several problems in recent months, including a conflict between Rossman and the village council over the status of Parenti and Robert J. Swem, who was elected assessor last spring.

Parenti's contract was terminated by Rossman June 1, but he has been retained by the council to represent the village in pending litigation.

RESIGNED IN MAY

Swem resigned his post last May because he was unable to obtain the assessor's records. He later asked to have the resignation withdrawn, but it was accepted by the council.

PETITIONS STUDIED

"These petitions have been studied by my legal adviser and by the staff of the attorney general. It was their joint conclusion that because Parenti is appointed rather than elected, there is no legal basis upon which I, as governor, would have power to remove him from office."

The petitions the assessor referred to were sent to the governor's office several months ago.

Reorganization In Huron Valley of School District Dublin PTA Topic

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The reorganization of their school district will be discussed by the Dublin Board of Education members at the Tuesday night meeting of the Dublin School PTA.

School trustees will explain the changes required by new K-12 school legislation and will give a report on progress made to date.

A question-and-answer period will follow the board's report.

Junior high students, under adult supervision, will provide a baby-sitting service for the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Substitute Teachers Needed

MILFORD — An SOS has been sent up in the Huron Valley School District for additional substitute teachers.

The current supply is in a state of emergency, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Truman Owens.

He is seeking qualified persons to fill the gap. They may be former teachers or others who have earned at least three years of college liberal arts credits.

There now are only 12 substitutes available for elementary needs and six for secondary positions, he said.

"Eighteen substitutes are not enough to do the job when you have a full-time staff of 211 teachers," he noted.

To meet the emergency, secondary teachers are giving up their conference periods and all principals are taking their turns in the classroom whenever needed.

Persons qualified to serve as substitute teachers can contact Stanley Soltysinski at the board of education office.

Junior Editors Quiz on FISH SCALES

HE WAS HOLDING THE FISH, TAKING OUT THE HOOK, WHEN SUDDENLY...

OOPS—
LOST HIM!

QUESTION: Why do fish have scales?

ANSWER: Since fish are animals whose ancestors developed in the sea, their shape is one adapted to ocean life. In the enormous spaces of ocean water that fish inhabit, there are few places to hide.

A fish must rely on speed and agility for protection from enemies. He also needs the same speed and agility to capture food on which to live.

The result of these needs is that smoothness of outline and streamlining are characteristic of fish who live in open water. Hard scales are a part of this streamlining.

The smooth-polished surface presents a minimum of friction to the water, and the fact that the scales overlap allows the fish to make the necessary bending movements while swimming (below, left) without any folds developing which might also slow speed.

The scales secrete a slimy substance which helps fish swim away. In some cases, from other animals which have captured them, sometimes allowing them to make a getaway even if caught by a human angler (main picture).

The scale of a salmon at lower right shows how a fish's growth can be seen on a scale, since the scales get new material added to their outer edges as the fish gets larger.

FOR YOU TO DO: Fish are fun to draw. Draw the fish in our picture in a larger size so you can suggest the scales. This is a yellow perch. It is yellow in color but there are seven or eight darkish bands going up and down which our artist left out to show the scales. You can put them in.

Alarm Was False, but Theft Was Real

FRESNO, Calif. — The members of the Mid-Valley Fire department rushed out in answer to a fire call only to discover it was a false alarm from a non-existent address.

When they returned to the fire station, their alarm was real. While they were away, a thief had stolen about $110 from the wallets they left behind.

Slow Columbus Just an Also-Ran

By TOM HENSHAW

NEW YORK (AP) — I don't think anyone has noticed it yet, but that 15th-century map that has Yale University and the Italian Historical Society flinging scholarly stiletos at each other actually proves them both wrong.

Christopher Columbus did not discover America. But neither did Leif Ericson and his Vikings, as the Yalies say their map shows.

On the far right of the map, between what appears to be China and what could be Japan, is the notation: "The Tartars affirm beyond doubt that a new land is situated in the outermost parts of the world."

DOESN'T SAY

It doesn't say how the Tartars knew about it.

But I know.

Hoel-shin told them. And Hoel-shin, as any connoisseur of 5th century Chinese yearbooks can tell you or Yale or the Italian Historical Society, was the Buddhist priest who discovered America in the year 499.

I kid you not.

5th CENTURY

It is so recorded that, in the last year of the 5th century, Hoel-shin visited a country called Fusang which he pinpointed for future travelers as lying 15,000 li east of Tahan.

Unfortunately, the precise value of the li in 499 was not handed down with the story and Tahan is mythical.

Anyway, Hoel-shin must have had himself a ball.

He fell among peace-loving people who had been converted to Buddhism by five beggar monks 30 years before. They had no weapons but a lot of gold and silver which they treated with contempt.

They were ruled by a king called the Ichi who, for some apparently religious reason, changed the color of his clothes every two years for a cycle of 10 years. The color, not his clothes.

PROUDEST POSSESSION

Their proudest possession was a tree, bamboo-like shoots which provided food, its red fruit kept a whole year without refrigeration, and its bark could be made into linen and paper.

In case you think you have noticed a resemblance between Fusang and the Mexico of the Aztecs or the Peru of the Incas, then you're in a similar boat to Columbus. Somebody beat you to it 90 years ago.

But, now that Yale and its map have proved beyond doubt that Hoel-shin discovered America in 499, who prefer our speculation undisturbed by fact must turn elsewhere for the real discoverer of the New World.

Maybe it was the Romans in the 1st century, else why would a bronze cup resembling one found in the ruins of Pompeii turn up under 18 inches of topsoil by the Roanoke River in Virginia?

PERHAPS PHOENICIANS

Or perhaps it was the Phoenicians as early as the 5th century B.C., else why would the image of one of their ships be carved on a rock in Middleboro, Mass., and their Semitic alphabet on stones in Mechanicsburg, Pa.?

Okay, Yale, let's see how you handle that one.

OU Soph Is Named to Circle 'K' Post

Charles A. Olsson, Oakland University sophomore, of 2438 N. Rochester, Oakland Township, was elected secretary of the Michigan District Circle "K" at a recent board meeting.

His election is the second district office for an OU student. James Girardot, sophomore, of 408 Second, Rochester, is district governor.

SOME OF THE BEST FILMS

YOU CAN SEE ARE OUT AT DRC

The Scientific Touch.
Thoroughbred racing, more than any other sport, has utilized the advances of Science to refine its techniques and modernize its operation. Every idea adopted has been designed to improve the attraction, increase the Fans' pleasure and build greater public confidence.
I have been connected closely with racing from boyhood, and have watched these developments with keen interest. Past and present, they vitally concern our daily operations at the Detroit Race Course.
In my years in racing, I have seen the old web barrier, with the walk-up start (which still is used in Europe), replaced by the highly efficient Starting Gate. I have watched the introduction of the Film Patrol, the Saliva Test, Lip Tattoos for the identification of horses, and the Photo Finish Camera.
Each advance has been of tremendous importance. I think the Photo Finish Camera, however, is the step of greatest interest to the average racing fan. He is aware of its use and its importance every time he visits the DRC or any other major track.
The Photo Finish Camera eliminates the chance of human error in determining the outcome of a race. Its speed is amazing, its accuracy unchallenged.
Within ELEVEN SECONDS after the horses have crossed the Finish Line, the Pacing Judges have flashed on a screen a picture which shows the first five finishers in the race.
Jones was one of the two pioneers in this unique field. In the 1930's, James J. Jones

Comparable experiments in the same period were made on the Pacific Coast by Glenn Laird, now President of Confirmation Photos, Inc., whose services are used by many tracks, and an associate, Glen Wilson.
Laird and Wilson developed the idea of photographing the finishes of horse races from an assignment during the 1932 Olympic Games at Los Angeles. Movies they made of the finishes of all Olympic track events planted the idea of doing it for thoroughbred racing.
Photo finishes were first introduced at thoroughbred tracks in 1935. Their value was recognized immediately and the acceptance was quick by major tracks.
At the DRC, two Jones Precision Cameras are used on each race. In addition to photographing the actual finish, the cameras also "catch" the horses on a Mirror Image, a feature which is an infallible double check.
The Photo Finish is one of the many "extras" designed to increase your Racing Pleasure at the DRC. We have a new Clubhouse, which is one of the Show Places of the Sports World. There are two excellent dining terrace restaurants, beef buffets and snack bars. We have close-in parking for 12,000 cars. We will race daily through November 6. I invite you to visit us soon.

China Aiming New Campaign at Thais

By K. C. THALER
LONDON (UPI)—Communist China is masterminding a new campaign against Thailand in an apparent attempt to open another front in Southeast Asia. Diplomats say Peking's campaign against Thailand is aimed at provoking a revolt there against the present government.
The move is part of China's "flexible strategy" in South-east Asia, the reports said.
The growing American build-up in Viet Nam and the Viet Cong failure to score a major victory during the recent monsoon season were understood to be causing anxiety both in Hanoi and Peking about the Communist prospects in that part of the world.

China is therefore looking for possible alternatives with stepped up subversion in Thailand as the immediate target. TOUGHENING POLICY
Peking's toughening policy is also partly prompted by recent severe setbacks on other international fronts which threaten China once again with diplomatic isolation.

Peking was understood to be increasing assistance to the clandestine Thai Communist party's campaign to win power in Thailand. The party is largely pro-Peking oriented.
The reports said there are growing indications that Peking is trying to build up puppet regime as a "front" for the Communist party which it hopes could help to undermine and overthrow the present pro-Western regime.

Peking's designs have been spotlighted by a meeting a few days ago between Mao Tse-tung and Pridi Phanomjong, a former Thai premier who has been living in exile in China for many years, the reports said.

There was speculation the move signaled Peking's intention to use him as a possible front man for a new major "L134-589" campaign.

Peking has set up "liberation movements" in Thailand as part of its campaign of subversion. They are "independence movement" and the "patriotic front."

Liaison with the Thai Communist and liberation movements is maintained by Wu Hsiu Chun, who is the contact man between China's Communist party and foreign parties.

Just how far and how fast Peking intends to go at present in its campaign of subversion on Thailand remains an open question.
Peking apparently is "probing" presently, but some diplomats believed it is set for an all-out onslaught.

Peking's rulers were believed in a "troubling mood" a present, and the recent diplomatic setbacks in other international theaters—Algeria, India, Indonesia—appear to be prompting China's leadership to look hurriedly for alternative fields of activity.

Architectural Contest

LUXEMBOURG (AP)—The European Coal and Steel Community is setting up an architectural contest with prizes totaling $80,000. Architects and engineers from any country in the world can take part. Entries will close Dec. 31.

The idea is to build a house made of mass produced steel prefabricated parts. It must house a family of five living in one of the six Common Market countries—France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg, Holland.

Premiere Scheduled

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Opera has scheduled a premiere for its 1966 season—the first American performance of Arnold Schoenberg's opera "Moses and Aaron." The Schoenberg work will be presented next May 22 and repeated May 29.

The per capita consumption of eggs by Americans during 12-month period has declined from 376 a decade ago to 316.

Use a Little Rhyme; Spell Right Every Time

exceptions to the rule about final silent e before suffixes. Recall that the general rule, which covers about 98 per cent of your spelling situations, went like this:

When suffixes begin with

When suffixes begin with vowels,
Silent e grabs crying towels,
When suffixes start other ways,
Then silent e—make sure it stays.

Suppose we take the word change and add the suffix able. Apply the rule strictly, and you get changable. That happens to be a misspelling. So why is the rule violated?

And why do we have courageous instead of couragous? Why did not the final silent e of change and courage disappear, since both the suffixes -able and -ous begin with vowels?

The answer is in our verse at the top of the column. The letter e is pronounced hard (like the g in go) when it precedes a suffix that starts with a, u, or o. In order to keep the soft g pronounced like the j in just, change and courage, you have to retain that final silent e in changeable and courageous. That is the reason behind the exception to the rule.

just. Fine. Now we have to keep the soft g in words which are built upon outrage. You are told to add ous. What to do?

Follow the rule and drop the final e of outrage? If you do, then that g is smack up against a suffix beginning with an o, and that will be a hard g like the g in go. What to do? "To save soft g, keep e you must." So you write outrageous.

* * *

What our rhyme says about hard g and soft g applies also to the letter c. Just like the letter g, c also is hard c (like c in can, could) before suffixes that start with a u o.

We shall close out the whole business of what to do with final silent e before suffixes in our next column with a two-line rhyme.

Right now, however, let's be sure you have the rule and the

1. This letter is (tracabla) (tracable) to your staff.
2. Memorizing spelling ditties is (advantagous, advantageous).
3. Are you (practicing, practicing) these spelling rules re (checkbox)?

8. Are you (desirous, desirous) of becoming proficient

ANSWERS

1. traceable. To keep the soft c in the original word trace, we have to keep the final e. If the e were dropped, the word would be pronounced like the final e of able. ("To save an s (or c) keep a y you must...")
2. advantageous. ("To save soft keep a y you must...")
3. practices. No problem here because the soft c is not followed by a vowel. ("When sufficient begins with vowels, silent c grabs gray's vowels.")
4. Memorizing. Rapidly. ("When sufficient begins with vowels, silent c grabs gray's vowels.")
5. changing. Same as 4.

new acquisition most unknown, but years ago now employs over 40,000 men and women in the U.S. and abroad, and is looking for trained personnel. This exciting new field is Electronic Data Processing (EDP). EDP is the use of computers to make up and program the thousands of problems that can be solved by computers. The pay is excellent, starting at $12,000 or more per year. This demand for EDP personnel is why EDP programming is so great that SPECIAL COURSES have been set up. No previous background is needed. No previous college education is needed. A high school Math background is needed. Now through the end of 1971, IBM is offering a special GRADUATE INSTITUTION, one of the premier IBM schools in the country. This is the IBM Graduate Institute of Technology, 16411-15 West Division Street, Chicago, Illinois 60656. Phone 312-290-3120.

Remember: Keep that final silent e only before suffixes starting with a, u, o. If you have the word mangle and you add the suffix y, you have mangy. No need to keep that final silent e because your suffix did not begin with a, u, o.

Also, this rule has to do with retaining the soft g. If you have a word which has a hard g and you must add a suffix, just follow the regular rule. Rogue becomes roguish; plague becomes plaguy.

KEEP IT SOFT
You are told to add able to notice. Now the c in notice is soft (like the c in perceive), and you want to keep it soft after the able has been added. If we follow the rule ("When suffixes begin with vowels, silent e grabs crying towels.") then we shall have noticable.

But that soft c of notice is now hard because a suffix, able, follows which begins with an a. What to do? "To save soft g (or c), keep e you must." So you write notice-able.

4. Memorizeing, Memorizin, these verses will solve your spelling woes.

2. desirous. Same as 4 and 5.

Most Congolese Take Replacement of Tshombe in Stride, but Foreigners Dismayed

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo country. Who else is going to replace Tshombe in foreign money?"

(AP) — Foreigners in Leopoldville expressed dismay today at the replacement of Premier Moise Tshombe by Evariste Kisumba. Most Congolese took the news in stride.

"This is terrible," said a Belgian businessman. "This crazy dismissed Tshombe's 15-month-back from exile in July 1964 to

one. But Kasavubu said the Tshombe regime did not conform to the Congo's "constitutional norms, the election results or the imperative political equilibrium."

MEASURE OF STABILITY The Congo had achieved a measure of stability after Tshombe, the leader of the Kasanga secession, was brought back from exile in July 1964 to one diplomat said he thought

Kasavubu wanted a less prominent premier who wouldn't rival him for attention as Tshombe being "Human ingratitude is no doubt great, but your work has been such that nobody can for him from the most advantageous position from which to try for the presidency."

The governor of East Katanga Province, Godefroid Munongo, sent a message to Tshombe saying "Human ingratitude is no doubt great, but your work has been such that nobody can for him from the most advantageous position from which to try for the presidency."

Rhodesian Prime Minister Going Slow on Secession Move

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith is delaying his call for a declaration of independence but he shows no sign of bowing to world pressure against the move.

Smith, the leader of the British colony's ruling white minority, told a television audience Wednesday that no decision had been reached to break away from Britain.

"I believe that if I was to say there is still room for negotiation, I'd be misleading people in this country," he added.

Speaking after a three-hour Cabinet meeting, he said there would be "a lot more discussion" before Rhodesia unilaterally declares its independence.

Commenting on British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's proposal for mediation by a Commonwealth mission, Smith said: "I like to come here so we can rule of Rhodesia's 250,000 pence, the other members of placed before the Security Council hear his views." But as to other whites, Smith last week again the British Commonwealth and Council as a threat to world peace.

Ike, a Sprightly 75 Today, Sounds Off on Current Events

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower celebrated his 75th birthday today, a busy, happy, forward-looking man. He prepared to spend it in Phoenixville, playing with his four grandchildren. In his office in Gettysburg, Pa., secretaries struggled to handle an avalanche of birthday messages and telegrams. They have been pouring in at the rate of about 500 a day since last birthday dinners. In 18 cities, from Juneau, Alaska, to Atlanta, Ga., thought have been pouring in at the rate of about 500 a day since last birthday dinners.

And in New York City, two aides, Brig. Gen. (ret.) Robert L. Scholz and Sgt. John Moneys, set up a surprise. Eisenhower spent the night in the Biltmore Hotel.

Unknown to him, his aides taped some of his favorite Army songs, played by the U.S. Army Band and sung by the U.S. Army Chorus. The songs included "Dog Face Soldier," "The Corps," anthem of the U.S. Military Academy, and some marching songs.

"We're going to wake him up on his birthday with the music," Scholz said. Through the past week, Eisenhower, surprised through a crowded calendar of appointments. He held press conferences, gave interviews, appeared on television and radio, received an Austrian decoration, signed autographs in his latest book, "Waging Peace," and attended a number of business luncheons and dinners with his business.

politician out of office becomes a statesman. "But you were never defeated," the reporter noted. "So maybe I'm not a statesman," Eisenhower said. He looks ahead to the future in several fields. He is working on another book, "sort of personal reminiscences." But he says, "It is quite clear that I'm not a writer. I'm a hack. I don't pretend to have a style. I just report the things that came to my personal attention."

LOOKING AHEAD

Eisenhower indicates that he may be more explicit about his feelings for the next Republican candidate for president than he was before the 1960 nomination. "I may not be so reticent in 1968," he said.

He also is interested in the Eisenhower Library and the Eisenhower Museum in Abilene, Kan., his home town.

He said he has not been playing much golf lately. However, he intends to go to Georgia late in the fall and then to California. Golf is one of the objectives in both places.

In a news conference in New York Wednesday, Eisenhower

COLLEGE UNREST

One is the public demonstrations by college students and other persons against American policy in Viet Nam.

"I think it's terrible," he said. "Very unwise. Not good Americanism."

He emphasized that policy decisions on Viet Nam are made on thousands of pieces of information from there which are analyzed and weighed before the decision is made. Referring to the demonstrators, he said, "What do they know about it?"

His face flushed and an acid note came into his voice. "None of us is so stupid he can't see that if we don't stop communism then indeed we are ready to engage in another Munich on a grand scale."

The Munich agreement of 1938, ceding a portion of Czechoslovakia to Adolf Hitler, is generally regarded as a milestone in the events that brought on World War II.

Eisenhower also expressed anxiety over signs of "moral deterioration" in the United States.

He said he had seen a television show about evading the military draft and that "homosexuality" was given as one means of avoiding being drafted.

"This is to me was just about as depressing, or say alarming, as anything I've ever heard," he said.

Eisenhower disclosed that, in 1959, he received a promise from the governments of both India and Pakistan not to go to war over Kashmir. He said he found the late prime minister of India, Jawaharlal Nehru, "inflexible" on the issue, whereas, Eisenhower said, Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan "seemed ready to negotiate a satisfactory compromise."

Suicide Center Being Formed

To Conduct Research on Causes, Symptoms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Institute of Mental Health is establishing a suicide prevention center in an effort to cope with the dimly understood but increasing problem of suicides. Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, director of the institute, made the announcement today in a paper prepared for delivery before a seminar on suicide sponsored by the George Washington University School of Medicine.

Twelve of the world's leading authorities on suicide took part in the day-long seminar, one of the few scientific meetings ever devoted solely to the problem of self-destruction. Yolles said the actual number of suicides in the United States doubtless is "far greater" than the officially reported 20,000 a year, because many suicides are listed as "accidental deaths."

Even at the official figure, he said, suicide "is the tenth leading cause of death in this country."

PART OF COMPLEX
The new suicide prevention center will be part of the huge National Institutes of Health complex operated by the U. S. Public Health Service in suburban Bethesda, Md.

It will conduct research into the causes of suicide, symptoms of suicidal intent, and "techniques for aiding the suicidal individual."

It also will disseminate to doctors, clergymen, police, editors and others throughout the nation the best available data on how to cope with the suicide problem. And it will provide support for experimental regional and local projects in suicide prevention.

Suicide prevention centers have been set up in several cities, but this is the first such project on a national scale.

ANNUAL RATE
Dr. Jack P. Gibbs, professor of sociology at Washington State University, told the seminar that the national suicide rate is approximately 10 deaths annually per 100,000 population.

Within this national average, he said, there are wide variations from group to group.

The suicide rate tends to rise with age, reaching a level of 26 per 100,000 among persons 85 and older.

On the other hand, when the number of suicides is correlated to the number of deaths from other causes, the highest risk is found in the late teens and early twenties. Suicide ranks as the second leading cause of death in this age group.

PONE TO SUICIDE
Males are three times as likely to commit suicide as females, and whites are three times more prone to self-destruction than Negroes.

The most dramatic differences, however, are by marital status.

The suicide rates per 100,000 population for middle-aged males is 17 for married men, 30 for single men, 92 for widowers and 113 for divorced men.

"Contrary to what one might expect," Dr. Gibbs said, the hectic pace of modern living apparently has not caused more people to end it all. The U. S. suicide rate today is "virtually identical to the rate in 1900."

Outdoor Advertising Firms Not Dismayed by Passage of Billboard Law

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK—The outdoor advertising industry is looking to the future through rose-colored billboards despite congressional passage of the highway beautification bill.

Industry spokesmen point to the prospects for voluntary compliance, increased revenues, higher rates and changing ideas about billboards.

The Senate Wednesday passed and sent to President Johnson the beautification bill, which his wife backed enthusiastically. It curtails billboards and junk yards along 225,000 miles of the nation's main roads but permits them in commercial and industrial areas.

Owners will be compensated, largely from federal funds, for billboards they have to remove.

NO OPPOSITION

The outdoor Advertising Association of America, which speaks for more than 800 billboard operators across the country, didn't oppose the legislation.

"The industry should expedite taking down the boards that are not in accordance with the bill," said Ross Barrett, president of Foster and Kleiser Division, Metromedia, Inc.

"The sooner they're taken down, the better for everybody," he said.

Barrett said his firm would have any conflicting boards down within one year, although the bill allows until 1970.

3,500 BILLBOARDS

Foster and Kleiser has about 3,500 billboards, concentrated largely in urban areas. Only about one per cent of its boards would be affected.

The bill is aimed primarily at billboards in rural areas, where the National Advertising Co., a division of Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co., is the largest operator.

National Advertising issued a statement saying the bill encouraged highway beautification but curtailed the chances of success of many small roadside businesses.

"Those who are given the responsibility for administering the bill must take into account the needs of the small roadside businesses and the motoring public," a spokesman said.

BILLBOARD PRICE

Advertisers are paying $200 million for billboard space this year, up 5 per cent from 1964, according to latest estimates.

Bookings for 1965 are running 10 per cent ahead of last year, Barrett said.

rates would go up 4 to 5 per cent in January to meet inflation and labor costs. That will make the standard rate in Los Angeles, for example, $85 to $90 a month per board.

Barrett said the bill would mean major changes in outdoor advertising.

More Training for Select Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Reserve will be reorganized by about twice as many men and reservists who will form a first line backup force. But for the regular Army are in the National Guard will still about twice as much training dominate.

The force, drawn from all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, will include 31,000 Army reservists as against 15,000 National Guard units. The announcement said the will total 119,000 men, compared with 120,000 originally estimated. The over-all force will be 5,000 more than McNamara announced.

Army officials denied that the increased Reserve participation was in any sense to mollify critics of the McNamara plan in Congress and elsewhere.

They said the revamped roster, which includes 744 National Guard units and 232 from the Reserve, resulted from a judgment that more combat support type elements were needed to balance the force and these were available in the Reserve.

HEART OF FORCE
The heart of the force is three

National Guard infantry divisions and six independent infantry brigades.

The announcement referred to "increased readiness training beginning next month."

This training and other measures are designed to put the select force in shape to deploy within eight weeks of mobilization.

Among other things, units will be required to drill 72 times during a year — a 50 per cent increase in the number of training assemblies.

Men now belonging to 751 Reserve units being disbanded as unneeded may volunteer to join Guard or Reserve units in the select force.

To Tap Michigan Units for Army Backup Force

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Army National Guard unit specifically designated as a part of Reserve will be tapped for more than 4,500 men for a select, highly trained Army backup force to support the active armed forces.

Their training time will be stepped up 50 per cent so that they will be immediately available.

Gov. George Romney announced the plans Wednesday. He said 3,610 men will be taken from 20 National Guard units and another 1,071 from 10 Army Reserve units.

The force will be made up nationally of 976 units manned by 150,000 Guardsmen and reservists. They will be under orders of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

BACKUP FORCE
Pentagon officials made the announcement of creation of the backup force at Washington.

Tuesday at a meeting attended by all state adjutants general. Details of the plans were relayed to Romney by Maj. Gen. Clarence Schimpke, the Michigan adjutant general.

Romney said the 1437th Engineer Co. of Sault Ste. Marie and Cheboygan, with a strength of 225 men, is the only Michigan unit in training time.

Plenty.

First we took our fifth size bottle and redesigned it. (All other sizes, too.) Gave it a clean, elegant, handsome look, right?

But most important is what we're doing inside the fifth. We've added a Fifth Rose—the great new taste in Four Roses. The honestly good taste of Four Roses. The kind of whiskey taste you don't just say you like, but you really do like.

(A bonus note: see how surprisingly reasonable a good-tasting whiskey can be. The fact is, Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more.)

Origin of Meteorite Particles Is Debated

By Science Service

SEATTLE, Wash.—The small life-like particles riding to earth on fiery meteorites may have come from space or they may have been picked up on earth after the meteorite reached the surface.

The puzzling origin and structure of these organic compounds were debated at the National Academy of Sciences meeting here.

Chemical compounds of biological origin have definitely been found and identified in meteorites, Harold C. Urey of the University of California in San Diego, reported.

The problem now is to determine their origin, Dr. Urey said. He believes the particles result from contamination of the meteorites after they arrived on earth, not that they formed in outer space.

However, it is difficult to prove that they did originate on earth, although this could possibly be proved by eliminating all possible sources of contamination.

DIFFERENT TYPES

The possibility of finding life originating in outer space arose a few years ago when a team of scientists discovered two dozen different types of life-like particles from a meteorite that fell in Orgueil, France, on May 14, 1864.

These scientists included Dr. Bartholomew Nagy, now at the University of California, San Diego; Dr. Warren G. Meinschein of Esso Research and Engineering Co., Linden, N. J., and Dr. Douglas J. Hennessy of Fordham University, New York.

Using such techniques of analysis as infrared and ultraviolet spectroscopy, X-ray diffraction and high molecular weight mass spectroscopy, the scientists detected certain organic compounds, hydrocarbons believed to indicate life.

These hydrocarbons are similar to those occurring on earth in living matter, and seem to have been produced by earth-type organisms.

SHAPE OF PARTICLES

Some of the particles were polygonal and others were round in shape. Some appeared to be covered with spines, and others had folded wing-like appendages.

The compounds that have definitely been identified include saturated and aromatic hydrocarbons, fatty and aromatic acids, nitrogenous and sulfur-containing organic compounds, reported Drs. Nagy, Meinschein and Hennessy in one analysis of the problem. Mineralized microstructures resembling microfossils have also been identified, as well as alkanes or saturated hydrocarbons.

Robbery Nets $3,500

Assault Case Bound Over

A 41-year-old Pontiac man charged with assault with intent to commit murder has been bound over to circuit court for arraignment yesterday.

Joseph W. Franklin of 324 W. Wilson was released after posting bond of $500 in municipal court at preliminary examination.

Franklin is charged with the shotgun shooting of Joseph Austin, 43, of 556 Wyoming, in what police said was an argument over a $3 debt.

Austin was hospitalized by the shooting but recovered.

SALAD AND CHOWDER—Any of three new flavor gelatins—celery, mixed vegetable, or the Italian seasoned with onion and garlic — may be used for these delicious chicken and grape molds. Serve them with a hearty corn chowder and you'll have a fine fall meal.

Molded Chicken Salad, Chowder Are on Menu

There's a wealth of progress in the foods industry represented by this Molded Chicken and Grape Salad and tureen of Corn Chowder. It's far easier to get a meal with foods that have built-in maid services.

For instance, the gelatin. The 1965 salad gelatins are available in celery, mixed vegetable, seasoned tomato, and Italian flavors. The seasonings are built right into the mix, ready for you to add your own combination of vegetables or other ingredients.

Then there's the chicken in the salad. The USDA developed a fast-growing fryer that matures in six weeks and requires only two pounds of feed to put on one pound of meat.

Twenty years ago, it took 14 weeks to produce a fryer, and five pounds of feed for each pound of meat. Result, tender spring chicken the year around at a retail price about 20 per cent below the price of a decade ago.

Sweet corn with more vitamin A is one of the breeding successes in the vegetable world. Potatoes with shallow eyes, so there's less waste, are another. Both are in the chowder.

Molded Chicken and Grape Salad

1 package (3 oz.) mixed vegetable, Italian, or celery flavor salad gelatin
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/4 tray (7 to 10) ice cubes
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1/4 pound red or black grapes, halved and seeded (about 1/4 cup)

1/2 cup diced celery
1/4 teaspoon tarragon

Dissolve gelatin and salt in boiling water. Add lemon juice and ice cubes; stir constantly until thickened — about 3 minutes. Remove any unmelded ice.

Stir in remaining ingredients. Spoon into 4 individual molds. Chill until firm — at least 2 hours. Unmold on salad greens. Garnish with orange slices and watercress, if desired.

Serve with mayonnaise or mayonnaise thinned with milk and seasoned with a little curry powder, if desired. Makes 4 entree salads.

Corn Chowder

2 tablespoons diced salt pork
1/2 cup diced onion
2 cups cubed raw potatoes
1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 package (10 oz.) frozen whole kernel corn
2 cups milk
Chopped parsley or paprika (optional)

Saute salt pork in saucpan until crisp. Add onion and saute over low heat until tender but not browned. Add potatoes, water, salt, and pepper. Cover and cook about 10 minutes. Then add corn.

Continue cooking, covered, until vegetables are tender — about 5 minutes longer. Add milk; heat thoroughly. Garnish with chopped parsley. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Use Apples, Other Fruit for Conserve

Use this conserve as a spread or as a cake filling.

Apple Conserve

1 large tart orange
12 (about) medium apples
5 cups sugar
Juice of 1 large lemon
1 can (8 1/2 ounces) crushed pineapple
1 jar (8 ounces) maraschino cherries, chopped with syrup reserved
1/4 teaspoon each salt, ginger and mace
1/4 teaspoon each cinnamon and cloves

Peel orange and discard half the rind; cut remaining rind into paper-thin short pieces. Dice peeled orange.

In a small saucepan, with just enough water to prevent sticking, cook orange peel and pulp until peel is tender; reserve.

Cut each of the cored, pared apples into 10 or 12 wedges; slice 1/4 to 1/2 inch thin; measure; there should be 8 cups.

In a large heavy kettle, mix together the orange peel and pulp (including water in which it was cooked), the apples, sugar, lemon juice, undrained pineapple, chopped cherries, reserved cherry syrup, salt and spices.

Boil rapidly to, or almost to, the jellying point. Remove any foam; pour hot conserve to within 1/4 to 1/2 inch of top of pint- or half-pint fruit jars.

Place dome lids on jars; screw bands tight. Invert jars for 2 or 3 minutes; stand upright to cool. Makes 3 to 3 1/2 pints.

You put the butter in, it must sizzle briskly, but not brown. NEVER WASH

Omelet pans are never washed, just wiped out. If you get some food stuck, rub the pan with plain steel wool and wipe it out with vegetable oil. Sauce that is put on food to be broiled should be thicker than sauce you pour over a completed dish.

Cream will never turn to butter when beaten, if you place it in a metal bowl and set that bowl in ice-water. Beat with a wire whisk. Always beat cream slowly.

Never wash parsley before chopping it. Chop to the desired size, then wrap in two thicknesses of paper toweling.

Hold under the faucet and let cold water run through. Squeeze the paper to dry the parsley and store in the refrigerator in a covered container.

Women, says Mrs. Lucas, are all born with built-in teaspoons. Fill the well of your hand for a perfect teaspoonful of salt or other dry ingredient.

When a recipe calls for two cups of canned tomatoes, you can use a one-pound can. Use kitchen tongs when lifting platter. It's easy to arrange whole cooked vegetables from a platter neatly this way without cooking utensil to the serving. The nutritional needs of older persons are much like those of any other age group. Ever season cream of mushroom soup with a suspicion of nutmeg?

Fresh Bread Rolled Into Sandwich

Corned Beef Appetizer Roll is a conversation piece if ever there was one! Excitingly different, glamorous and colorful, resembling at first glance cake rather than sandwich, it is bound to start complimentary talk the minute it appears on the table.

And once the diners sample it — well, the thoughtful hostess might be prepared with copies of the recipe to give her feminine guests.

The appetizer roll resembles a huge pinwheel sandwich, complete with olives down the center.

However, a non-sweet egg-rich bread, leavened only by the air beaten into the eggs, is used for the roll. It is mixed, baked, spread and rolled just the same as for jelly roll.

The filling is a savory spread of canned corned beef made zippy with horseradish and mustard, and spreadable with mayonnaise. Once the roll has been filled, shaped and chilled, it is "frosted" with soft cheese spread and "decorated" with chopped nuts and parsley.

For best results, the can of corned beef should be at room temperature when used. That way the meat flakes easily into fine, tender pieces which make an easy-to-apply spread that doesn't tear or mash the soft egg bread.

When the roll is chilled, the filling will firm up beautifully so that slices are easy to cut and serve.

Corned Beef Appetizer Roll
4 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley

Onion Butter Has Many Nice Uses

Blend 1 (1½ oz.) envelope onion soup mix thoroughly with ½ pound (2 sticks) butter or margarine. Makes 1½ cups. Store, covered, in refrigerator.

Use as a spread for breads or sandwiches; "buttered" rice, noodles, macaroni, spaghetti; potatoes — mashed or baked, corn-on-the-cob, cooked mixed vegetables; sauteing chicken livers, minute steaks, veal scallopini; broiling meats, fish or poultry, etc.

1 can (12 oz.) corned beef, unchilled and flaked
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup pickle relish
Pimiento stuffed olives
1 jar (5 oz.) pimiento cheese spread
Chopped nuts, parsley
Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add salt and sugar, beating until stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick. Gently fold egg yolks, flour, and parsley into egg whites.

Spread into a jelly-roll pan which has been greased and lined with greased wax paper. Bake at 400 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Using a metal spatula, pull back paper.

Spread with filling made by combining corned beef, horseradish, mustard, mayonnaise, celery, and pickle relish. Place olives along the long side and roll up tightly as for jelly-roll. Chill.

Spread roll with softened cheese spread. Garnish with nuts and parsley. Chill until ready to serve.

Yields: 14 to 16 slices.

CONVERSATION PIECE—You bake a special bread just for this interesting sandwich. The filling is a zippy concoction of corned beef and spicy condiments. After frosting, the rolled sandwich is garnished with nuts and parsley.

Good for Gravy

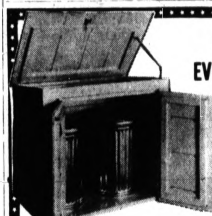

To deglaze a skillet or roast-iron pan means to remove the meat or poultry that was cooked in the pan and then to add a little liquid; the next step in de-glazing is to get up all the brown particles in the pan by stirring over low heat.

Ever flavor the coffee to be used in coffee jelly with whole cloves and a cinnamon stick?

Proclaim National School Lunch Week

Spend a billion dollars for food and you have a big business. That's the amount that school lunchrooms spend each year for the National School Lunch program.

Eighty per cent of it is spent on the local market. The remaining 20 per cent comes from the USDA in the form of food supplies.

Pontiac serves half of all its school children with a lunch program. This is above the national average of one out of three students.

About 8500 lunches a day are consumed with only three schools in the district not participating.

This week is National School Lunch Week. Many elementary schools have invited parents to have lunch with their children in order to give them first hand knowledge of the program. At one school visited during the week, this hearty combination was served: creamed turkey on mashed potatoes; jelly vegetable salad; biscuit and butter; applesauce; peanut butter brownie; milk.

Students pay 30 cents a day for lunch. If the family is unable to contribute this, there is a subsidy program set up for needy cases. A few youngsters earn their lunch by helping in the kitchen during serving time.

Whenever these young helpers or the adult workers handle food, they wear a disposable plastic glove on the hand that touches the food. Some kitchen helpers this week are wearing aprons with "National School Lunch Week" embroidered across the front.

A few PTA meetings are being devoted to school lunches. Trays with a complete meal for each day of the week have been frozen so that parents may see exactly what their children get to eat.

In order to qualify for the federal school lunch program, schools must serve a Type A lunch.

Each meal must have two sources of edible protein, three-fourths cup of fruit or fruit and vegetables; bread or its equivalent (not crackers); two teaspoons of butter in the food or on the plate; and eight ounces of milk.

Most kitchens add other foods to increase the calorie count and to make the meal more interesting.

In addition to Pontiac's almost 9,000 lunches a day, 46,000 more are being eaten by youngsters in other Oakland county schools.

There are cheese dips and there are more cheese dips. Most of them as bland as the next — or the previous.

Here's one, however, with a very special zest.

Peppery Olive Dip
 1 1/4 cup cream style cottage cheese
 1/2 cup milk
 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon crushed red peppers
 1/4 cup chopped stuffed olives
 Blend cottage cheese and milk until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Chill until a half hour before serving time.

Add New Flavor
 Add a new flavor to your favorite fruit, nut, or spice cake. Mix a cup or so of fresh or fresh-frozen cranberries in with the other goodies, for absolutely delicious results.

Freeze a Salad Full of Peaches

Party time is always busy time. Here is one way to use beautiful fresh Michigan peaches to make your party salad days ahead. And what a salad! It looks like and it tastes like it had to be made just minutes before your guests arrived.

Now is the time to perk up your next party with this tangy peach nut salad while the incomparable Michigan Peaches are still in full supply at your market.

Frozen-Ahead Salad
 3 cups sliced fresh Michigan Peaches or peach halves
 1 3-oz. package cream cheese, softened
 1/2 cup commercial sour cream
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
 1/2 cup broken nuts.

Arrange peach slices on bottom of "spring form pan". Thoroughly blend with mixer cream cheese and sour cream. Fold in whipped cream and nuts. Pour this mixture over peaches. Freeze 1 hour before serving.

Excellent to make several days ahead of serving time. Just let sit at room temperature 1 hour before serving.

Remove side of spring form pan and cut salad into wedges, place on crisp greens with a spatula. Makes 6-8 servings.

Dinner Fetes Miss Wright, Mr. Groves

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Groves of Beverly Hills will host the rehearsal dinner for their son, Daniel Blair Groves, and his fiancée, Jean Ann Wright, who will wed on Saturday.

A recent luncheon and kitchen shower in the home of Mrs. Albert Stephenson, Bloomfield Hills, honored Miss Wright and Mrs. Francis Pauler of Northville was hostess at a linen shower.

LINEN SHOWER

Cohostesses at a luncheon and linen shower in the Village Woman's Club were Mrs. Austin Conrad, Mrs. J. H. Nymberg, Mrs. Maynard Fleming and Mrs. William Brown.

Gifts of Early American accessories were opened preceding a tea in the Bloomfield Hills home of Lynn Schairer.

The William Wrights of Birmingham gave a cocktail party and bar shower. Mrs. T. J. Connell and Mrs. William King were cohostesses at a luncheon-shower in the former's home in Beverly Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wright of Pon Valley Road are parents of the bride-to-be.

Sharon Reedy Is Engaged

The engagement is announced of Sharon Diane Reedy, daughter of Mrs. Arthur T. Reedy of Hillcrest Drive, White Lake Township and the late Mr. Reedy, to Gerald Lee Osborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Osborn of Milford.

The bride-elect and her fiancé, who attended Michigan State University, are planning a spring wedding.

Girl's Idea for the Birds; Hold Onto Own Values

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The sorority house I live in is built so the back of our house faces the back of a fraternity house, which gives the boys at the fraternity house a clear view of our back bedrooms.

ABBY

I heard that the boys over there have more binoculars than a field division in Viet Nam. I have one of the back bedrooms. I keep my shades down all the time, but my roommate pulls them up whenever my back is turned. She says the room is "stuffy" and she likes fresh air.

I remind her that the boys could get a free show and she says, "Oh what's the difference?" How do I explain to her?

MODEST: DEAR MODEST: If your roommate doesn't know the difference, she ought to borrow a pair of binoculars and find out. If you can't change rooms, change your ideas.

DEAR ABBY: How should a son's wife introduce his parents to strangers? We have been introduced as "my in-laws." Isn't this a bit uncouth?

It seems to me that it would be more appropriate to be introduced as "Mother and Dad So and So."

"THE IN-LAWS" * * * DEAR IN-LAWS: There is nothing "uncouth" about referring to one's in-laws as in-laws. It is true, "Mother and Dad So and So" does connote more warmth and affection, but unless it's sincere and spontaneous, let it go.

* * * She might just drop the "Mother and Dad" and use only the "So and So."

DEAR ABBY: Last August my husband and I were invited to a wedding, and we personally delivered the gift to the bride's home the day before the wedding.

It seems the bride was too busy to send thank-you notes, so she combined them with their Christmas greetings. Their commercially-printed card read something like this: "Merry Christmas and thank you for the wedding gift." Since we were not on their Christmas card list, we didn't even receive one of these!

I am shocked by this breach of etiquette. And especially appalled because this girl is a college graduate and should have known better. Your comments, please.

APPALLED: DEAR APPALLED: Unfortunately, no college offers a course in Common Sense and Etiquette, although judging from my mail, it might be a good idea.

But even when people know what is proper, no amount of education can move them to do it if they're just plain lazy.

* * * DEAR ABBY: Now that school has started again I have the same problem I have had for years. My friends are beginning to ask to "borrow" my homework.

* * * I am an honors student and it bothers me to hand over homework that I have labored over to someone who "didn't have time," or "forgot" to do the assignment.

* * * If I refuse, they become angry. How can I turn them down without losing their friendship?

A STUDENT: DEAR STUDENT: If the friendship depends on your handing over your homework, it's not much of a friendship. You do not one a favor by helping him cheat. Say no, and stick to it.

* * * CONFIDENTIAL TO GIL: That's why there are more doctors than there are clergymen. It's easier to practice than it is to preach.

* * * Problems? Write to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * * Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press for Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters For All Occasions."

Give Gift on Another Occasion

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: During a recent illness, my next-door neighbor was very kind to me and really put herself out on numerous occasions to do things for me.

I have just learned that she will have a birthday next week and I would like to buy her a present to show my appreciation.

My husband advised me not to, not because he objects to my giving her a present but because he feels I may start a precedent and make her feel that she will have to give me a return present on my birthday. What do you advise?

A: I'm inclined to agree with your husband. It will be much better to give her a present at some other time rather than on her birthday, explaining that it is a small token of your appreciation for all the kind things she has done for you.

THANK-YOU NOTE

Q: Will you please give me some idea of what to write to those who sent presents and flowers to me while I was in the hospital? I find letter writing very difficult.

A: It is not necessary to write more than a very few lines, such as: "Dear Jane, Thank you for the lovely flowers and for your kindness in thinking of me."

Or, "Thank you, dear Mary, for the beautiful bedjacket and your loving note. Do come in and see me soon."

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Greeting patrons of Town Hall is Mrs. John F. Reineck, West Iroquois Road. An orange feathered hat complemented her gold suit with brown suede accessories.

A Panoramic Viewing of Club Activities

Mrs. John Newton opened her Holbrook Street home for the first fall meeting of the Queen Mary section of Needlework Guild Wednesday.

Mrs. William Coleman was in charge of the meeting and plans were discussed for the annual Ingathering.

MOMS of America

The unit No. 2, Moms of America, Inc. gathered in the East Pike Street home of Mrs. S. Edgar Thomas Tuesday for a luncheon.

Mrs. Duncan McVean gave a report on the Michigan State convention held recently in Detroit.

Omega Mu Sigma

Omega Mu Sigma sorority members completed plans for the benefit sale, Oct. 29, in the CAI Building, on Tuesday, in the Royal Oak home of Mrs.

Harold Heyer. Mrs. Merritt A. Snyder were cohostesses.

The club room of First Federal Savings of Oakland has been reserved for the annual benefit card party, Nov. 3, with Mrs. Harold Clifford as chairman.

The committee is comprised of Mrs. John Guenther, Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Mrs. Leo Halpinny, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Patrick Cullen and Mrs. Leonard C. Coster.

A donation to the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra was approved.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Marjorie Safford and Mrs. Mabel L. Miller.

Beta Sigma Phi

Xi Beta Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi gathered at the YWCA on Tuesday where plans were made for various fall activities.

In keeping with the chapter's series of programs on hobbies, Mrs. Ray Slaughter gave a talk on china painting.

Margaret Fraser Is Honoree at Gay Showers

Four area showers have honored Margaret Ann Fraser who will become Mrs. Robert Lynn Morrow, Saturday, in St. Benedict Catholic Church.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald E. Fraser of Niagara Avenue. Her fiancé's parents, the Russell J. Morrises, are of Ledgestone Drive. Mrs. Theodore Johnson and daughter, Sally, gave an 'around-the-clock' shower in their home on South Berkshire Road.

Cohostesses at a recent dinner and shower were Mrs. Ronald LaBerge and Sheryl Morrow.

Mrs. Leroy Juliano of Bloomfield Terrace was hostess at a dessert, followed by shower, and Mrs. Lloyd Stiverson also of the Terrace gave a luncheon preceding a shower.

UF Volunteers on the Go

Women solicitors for the Pontiac area United Fund campaign get around their districts in a number of ways. For instance, Mrs. Sidney T. Pettis of Lake Angelus can call on her neighbors by boat. Mrs. Richard Huttenlocher, Clarkston bundles three-month-old David into his carriage and takes John William, 2, along as she asks for a UF contribution from Mrs. Lewis Sutton and Jayne Ann, 3, also of Clarkston. To cover her assigned territory, Mrs. Joseph Coy, Mohawk Road, chooses a Pontiac Tempest.

U.S. Makes Gains

Town Hall Speaker Optimistic

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Fresh from a four-month, 15-country look-see at the news-making areas of the globe, Dwight Cooke on Wednesday regaled a Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall audience that packed the Huron Theater with an interpretation of international events and trends.

A veteran journalist and radio commentator, he beamed his analytical spotlight on the shifting status of Indonesia, the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, the political evolution of Soviet Russia and the challenge posed by the emergence of Red China as a world power.

Considerable authenticity is lent Cooke's conclusions by the accuracy of his evaluations of past developments. "I predicted," he said that if a truce were negotiated in Korea in 1952, the United States would be fighting in Indo-China (now Viet Nam).

He also scooped the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency in the prophetic department. "At the time the Agency predicted the Red Chinese would have an atomic bomb in two years, I insisted they'd have it in one," he recalled. "Actually, I missed it by one day."

THREAT LESS

Declaring that the greatest threat of nuclear war loomed in the 1940s, when it was a 50-50 bet that Russia and the U.S. would be exchanging bombs within 10 years, the speaker thinks the threat of an atomic holocaust is steadily declining.

"Man's basic concern for survival will deter national leaders from sending bombs flying toward another country when retaliatory destruction is inevitable."

The speaker sees Russia and the United States — the world's two foremost powers — growing closer as the radicalism of the Communist ideology is diluted under the influence of a new generation of leaders.

The same evolution is predicted as the destiny of Red China. Leaders who fiery fanaticism sparked the conquest of the Chinese mainland are now well past their effective time of life and must soon give way to a more internationally-minded and conciliatory regime.

Our fortunes in Viet Nam are definitely on the rise. We are getting through to the South Vietnamese the nobility of our purpose in joining hands with them and instilling a sense of pride in country and confidence in leaders.

QUESTIONS

During a celebrity luncheon at Devon Gables following the programmed address, many questions dealt with the implications of the world population explosion ahead and the specter of starvation for millions.

Cooke took a candidly grim view of the social forces that could be loosed by such dire extremity, and said that only America — the lone power today with a beneficial global outlook — could bring salvation to surging masses of desperate people and avert universal rebellion.

By what means? By continuing its programs to take enlightenment to the teeming millions in the underdeveloped countries and awakening a spirit of self-help. As a necessary part of constructive measures to alleviate worldwide misery, Cooke asserted that our civilization must accept the principle of limitation on population.

While conceding that waste and maladministration have smudged the over-all image of foreign aid, the speaker emphasized that, if for no other reason than self-interest, it would be tragic folly for the United States to curtail it.

"Let's quit calling it 'foreign aid' and give it a realistic designation — 'group life insurance,'" he concluded.

To Entertain Nursing Unit

A breakfast for nursing trainees from Oakland Community College will be held Saturday by the Women's Auxiliary to the Pontiac General Hospital.

Mary Jensen, assistant professor of Para-Medical Technology, will accompany the students to the hospital for the event.

Members of the nursing and administrative staff will welcome the students who are about to begin training at PGH.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I bought some very heavy seamed fabric to make the bodice for an evening dress. When I stitch the darts, they are so bulky, what would you suggest?

Mrs. R. V.

Dear Mrs. R. V.:

Try to choose a pattern with as few darts as possible. Often the waistline darts are replaced by ease and a blouse appearance rather than being extremely fitted.

If you do machine stitch darts, cut the dart open and catch each side of it to your garment. This will give a more pressed and less bulky look. NEVER press seamed fabric. It usually melts or dulls the sequins. The sequins may be cut out of the seam areas. However, when you cut the thread you are also taking a chance that others will ravel off, since they are usually attached by a chain stitch.

Dear Mrs. Farmer:

I am 13 years old and taking sewing for the first time in school. Our teacher told us to make a "scrapp book" of all your good ideas so that we can use them later. You always talk about lining things, yet the ones we can afford to buy are not lined. Do we have to line the ones we make?

Sally

Dear Sally:

It's wonderful that you are learning to sew in school. Did you know that there are about 10 million teen-age girls who make their own clothes today?

We must always consider the fabric you will be sewing. Most of the fall clothes are made of wool flannel, orlon flannel, corduroy, tarpon cloth, bonded wool, etc. All the fabrics I have mentioned have a great deal of body and are strong and firm. I would say that it would not be necessary to line these jumpers, skirts and dresses.

Lining takes so much more time and adds so much more to the cost of your garment that it often discourages you from wanting to sew. I have looked over all of the clothes sold to teen-agers and find that very, very few of them are lined, even those costing $30 or more.

As you learn more about sewing and work with more difficult fabrics, there will be more incentive to go to the extra work and eventually you will probably want to line every garment you make.

Why Grow Old?

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Skiing is such a wonderful sport and has become so popular that I thought it would be of interest to my readers if I talked with an expert about it. If you have the idea that this sport is for the very young only, forget it. "Taint so!"

I called Wendy Cram, one of America's most distinguished skiers. Wendy was selected for the Olympics in 1940 but the war put an end to that. He was later chosen for the F.I.S. team (Federation of International Skiing).

He told me that his most prized possession or trophy is his Diamond Sun pin. He is one of 17 to hold that out of hundreds who have tried for it. This was won on a course at Sun Valley which is one of the most hazardous courses in the world.

When talking with Wendy you sense the authority of an expert and the enthusiasm of one who loves the sport in which he excels. His accomplishments are too many to list. He has been champion, teacher and manager of a number of famous ski shops.

When I thanked him for the interview he said, "If I can give a fraction of the pleasure to others I have gotten from skiing I will be very happy."

I asked Wendy Cram what factors he thought had contributed to the boom in skiing, especially for women. He replied, "This may sound funny, but I think women became interested with the advent of stretch pants."

"Before that there were no appropriate or comfortable attractive clothes for them to wear when skiing. Also weak ankles are no longer a problem. Properly fitted boots take care of that."

He continued, "Skiing was really sort of rugged in the early days. There were no chair lifts, only rope tows. There were no good inns, only tourist homes."

He also thinks that the social angle has contributed to the increased interest in skiing. A girl's boy friend may like to ski and she goes along. A group of friends may become interested. Then they become engrossed when they find that they can ski.

I asked if there is any age limit so far as learning to ski. Wendy feels that this is a sport which is not limited by age if certain rules are observed.

YoungStars Perform at the Fisher

A group of 32 brilliant young singers will serve as the principal artists when the Metropolitan Opera National Company appears in a week-long repertory of grand opera at the Fisher Theatre, Detroit, October 18 through 23.

Included in the seven performances to be offered will be three of Puccini's "Madama Butterfly", in Italian opening night Monday, October 18 and at the Saturday matinee October 23. An English version will be offered Friday, October 22.

Bizet's "Carmen" will be the attraction Tuesday, October 19 and Saturday night October 23. Rossini's "Cinderella" will be performed Wednesday, October 20 and Carlsie's "Susannah" Thursday, October 21.

NEW COMPANY
The newly formed Metropolitan Opera National Company, in its inaugural season, has won critical acclaim in the Midwest since its debut in Indianapolis in September.

young voices has already won The effort to present grand opera with a cast of brilliant, young voices has already won widespread acceptance.

Visiting Detroit recently Rise Stevens, co-director of the company with Michael Manuel, would not single out individual members of the group for special praise. However, Miss Stevens did predict that several of them would step into principal roles with the senior company of the Metropolitan within the next two years.

All six of the evening performances will begin at 8 p.m. The Saturday matinee will be presented at 2 p.m.

Wedding Bells Ring Out for Them

Reception in Roma Hall, Livonia, followed the recent vows of Janet Mary Simon and Roy Norris Hedding in Christ the King Catholic Church, Detroit.

Parents of the couple are the Robert A. Simons of Detroit and the George E. Heddings of Rowley Drive.

CHAPEL LENGTH
For the ceremony performed by Rev. Robert J. Burroughs, the bride wore a chapel length gown of white peau de soie with a silk illusion veil.

An orchid corsage, centering her bouquet of white roses and English lily, was removed for the honeymoon trip to the Great Smoky Mountain area.

With Mrs. Kenneth York, matron of honor, were bridesmaids Sandra Schultz, Ruth Bolten, Mrs. Harold Fuqua, Linda Talboy and Cynthia Cardinal.

Edward Hedding was his cousin's best man. Thomas Hampton, James Campbell, Richard Martello, Robert Lerner and Richard Brown were ushers.

The bridegroom attends General Motors Institute where his fraternity is Phi Delta Theta.

Off on a honeymoon at Delray Beach, Fla. are the Marvin James Webers (Judy Marie Cornett) who were wed recently in St. Perpetua's Catholic Church.

Rev. Bernard Zaglaniczny performed the ceremony and the evening reception was at Maurice's.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Glen F. Cornetts of Clayburn Drive and the Gerald J. Webers of Hillcliff Street.

With her chapel-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, touched with pearls and sequins, the bride wore an illusion veil. She carried white carnations.

Mrs. Bernard Leonard was honor matron and bridesmaids were Cathy Drum and Donna Chambers.

With best man, Bernard Leonard, were the ushers, Rodney Shaul, Tom Jones, Gerald McKelvey and Grant Ward.

The Mark Wayne Mamayeks (Terry Jean Arnold) are in northern Michigan for a honeymoon following their recent marriage in the Marquette Community Church.

Seed pearl applique accented a gown and cathedral train of white satin for the daughter of the Robert B. Arnolds of Millward Street, White Lake Township.

For the ceremony performed by Rev. Dorr W. Fockler, she also wore an illusion veil with satin petal headpiece and held a bouquet of white carnations and ivy.

Honor maid was Cathy Leahy with bridesmaids Lou Ann Arnold and Candy Mamayek. Sharolyn Arnold was flower-girl.

Robert Bokar was best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatz Mamayek of Thorndale Street, White Lake Township. Ushers were Glenn Peck and Ted Gould.

Put seeds and spices in a cloth bag. Add sugar and horseradish with them to vinegar. Boil five minutes. Cool slightly.

Add vegetables and simmer 20 minutes. Bring to boiling point and pack boiling hot in jars. Seal at once.

Have You Tried This?

Use Green Tomatoes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

For those of you who still have a quantity of green tomatoes and don't know what to do with them, here is a suggestion from Mrs. Gerald Smith of Oxford.

She makes pickles. With one little daughter to sew for, Mrs. Smith finds also that she is dressmaker to a doll. She likes to garden and to collect recipes.

GREEN TOMATO AND ONION PICKLES

By Mrs. Gerald Smith
1 gallon green tomatoes
6 onions
1/4 cup salt
1 1/2 cups sugar

- 1 tablespoon mustard seed
- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- 1 tablespoon horseradish
- 1 tablespoon allspice
- 1 tablespoon pepper corns
- 4 cups vinegar

Find New Clues to Riddle of Diabetes

Diabetes is a mysterious disease whose cause is still being sought by medical scientists.

Not the least of its many puzzling facets is the fact that it strikes older women with peculiar intensity. Up to age 25, diabetes is about as frequent among men as among women. But after age 40 — which is when the disease usually shows itself — women victims outnumber men about two to one.

Authorities estimate that there are at least two million diabetic women in the U.S. today, of whom half don't even know they have the disease.

SOME ANSWERS

While they don't yet have fundamental answers to its mysteries, doctors are discovering more about diabetes — how to treat it, and how to prevent the complications that made it a dread disease before the discovery of insulin almost 40 years ago and, more recently, the oral anti-diabetic drugs.

Today a majority of these so-called "maturity-onset diabetes" can lead active healthy and long lives by taking these oral pills and watching their diets; some may even be able to control the disease on diet alone.

Others and most juvenile diabetics require insulin injections to help prevent the buildup of excess sugar in the blood.

New clues strongly suggest that this age-old ailment may not be a separate disease at all, but the result of some defect in the body's metabolism which also seems to be associated with heart disease, high blood pressure, gout and other ills.

COMPLEX PICTURE

In fact, researchers have turned up an astonishing complex of illnesses which frequently are paired with diabetes in the same patients.

The obvious conclusion: Patients with heart disease, high blood pressure, and so on, should be carefully tested to see if they also have diabetes.

New research, reported at the recent American Medical Association Convention by a Philadelphia physician, indicates that a possible culprit in this complicated disease picture is a high level of a particular type of fat called triglycerides in the blood.

High levels of triglyceride often are coupled with an inability to convert glucose (sugar) to the body's uses. When glucose, derived chiefly from carbohydrate foods, accumulates in the blood the result is diabetes.

High triglyceride levels seem to be a sort of common denominator in heart disease, hardening of the arteries, and other disease states, including diabetes.

Thus a patient with high blood pressure or gout, for example, may be considered a potential diabetic and should have appropriate tests whether or not the usual symptoms of diabetes have appeared.

MAY PREVENT ONSET

On another tack, researchers are now investigating the possibility that Orinase — a pill that can be taken by mouth — may help prevent or delay the onset of symptoms in older diabetics who do not yet have the full-blown disease.

This opinion is based on a study in which half of a group of symptomless diabetics was given Orinase while the other received placebos — "dummy pills."

In follow-up tests, those who took the active drug had consistently lower blood sugar levels than their untreated colleagues.

This investigation involved patients whose average age was in the late 40s. Even more impressive results were achieved in earlier work at the University of Michigan in which Orinase was given as a preventive measure over long periods to symptom-free juvenile diabetics, mostly in the early 20s.

Although results in both instances are preliminary, the tentative conclusion is that the oral drug has the capacity in many cases to preserve, or perhaps improve, the body's capacity to produce and use natural insulin. This, of course, is the key to effective control of diabetes.

A Change of Pace

Add seasonal fresh flowers to your planters of green foliage plants for a change of pace, the Society of American Florists suggests. The flowers may be placed in special water-holding tubes for insertion in the planter's soil. The inexpensive tubes, available at most florist shops, provide a water supply for each flower in the planter.

No Sparks Are Flying

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE X-419: Hal B., aged 29, is a very eligible bachelor.
"Dr. Crane," he began, "I'd like to get married and my parents are also eager to have me do so.
"But I have never found the right girl.
"By that, I mean the girls that excite my pulse rate don't have the assets which I want in a wife.
"And the one young woman who would make a perfect wife for me—as regards her religious idealism, culture, gay personality and even her good looks, leaves me cold emotionally.

"She lives next door, so maybe that's the flaw!
"For she has run in an out of our home about like a sister!
"I like her and wish that I could feel inflamed about her, but once when I actually dated her, I couldn't even force myself to kiss her goodnight.
"It seems there is an invisible barrier that prevents my growing romantic over her.
"Dr. Crane, if you can tell me how to get over this 'sister' complex about her, everything would be perfect."

In childhood the usual cultured family soon puts the idea across to its children that they cannot marry each other.
"It just isn't done," is the clinchier argument that may be used.
For at the kindergarten age
a little boy may exclaim:
"I'm going to marry Mamma when I grow up."
But he is immediately told that such a union is impossible.
"Then I'll marry Sislie," he says, choosing his sister as second choice.
Again he is told very firmly that brothers and sisters simply cannot marry!
This idea then becomes so thoroughly ingrained in the normal home that it even spreads to neighboring children who run in and out and then seem almost like real brothers and sisters.

Oil Company Sets Awards for Projects

An expanded awards program recognizing the work of women's clubs of Michigan in stimulating better education for young people in their communities has been announced by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Shell Oil Company.

The 1965-66 GFWC-Shell Education Program will now give a total of 150 awards—three in each state—to women's clubs judged to be conducting the best educational programs. All entries will be judged without regard to the population of the community or size of membership of the club, as was the case in previous years.

The state awards will consist of a first prize of $500, a second prize of $300 and a third prize of $200.

Mrs. William H. Hasebrook, president of the GFWC, said, "The awards program—now in its fourth year—has significantly increased the interest of women's clubs throughout the United States in sponsoring education programs for young people and the awards themselves have given recognition to the clubs for their efforts."

Entries for the 1964-65 program must be submitted to each State GFWC representative by February 15, 1966.

Women Must See Education as Their Life Pattern

EAST LANSING — "There is an unfinished revolution going on in the education of women."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bandy of Cramlane Drive, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra Lynn to Gary Leroy Willets, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Willets, of North Coats Road, Oxford Township.

Tots Believe Us Physicians say children shouldn't be told that medicine is candy.

LIFE PATTERN

Education, she said, is for a total life pattern — for family, occupational and community roles for both men and women.

"Education," Miss Allan added, "is larger than ourselves. It is to find ourselves, and then use learning for the benefit of all society."

Growth, she challenged, should be a daily objective.

"The life of women," she said, "is lived in phases. Girls must be taught to look ahead, beyond age 20 and the one goal of marriage."

Nine out of 10, she allowed, will marry; but 8 or 9 out of 10 will also work outside their homes.

Miss Allan saw great need for imaginative ways of preparing girls for their multiple roles.

She set three objectives for responsible women in education: to be, to understand and to act.

"Responsible women in education," she said, "should demonstrate the use of a college education and their belief in lifelong learning. They should understand that education is for a total life pattern. They should respond quickly and creatively to the needs of society; recognize the power of a concerned people, and alert at the policy-making level, they should speak up for the needs of all groups, particularly those of girls and women, she added.

Education is not at its meridian, Miss Allan emphasized. It is just at the stage of the cock's crowing and the morning star, she said.

"The possibilities are immense," she told the deans and counselors. "The responsibilities are ours."

Trunks Yield a Film Find

In Madrid, costume designer Phyllis Dalton uncovered a treasure-trove of authentic Russian costumes, circa 1905-1917, with which to dress minor players and extras in David Lean's film of Boris Pasternak's "Doctor Zhivago."

She located the costume bonanza through a curio merchant at Madrid's famous "fleamarket," the Rastro.

He had purchased three trunks of personal belongings from a White Russian emigre and the authentic Russian suits, coats, underwear and shoes of half-a-century ago had been carefully stored in them.

Washing Glasses?

DEAR POLLY—It used to be that when I started to set the table for a meal I would find most of my cups and glasses were on the kitchen counter where they had been used by one member of the family or another as everyone used a clean glass every time they wanted a drink.

I solved the problem by buying a tray that came with different colored glasses. I now leave this on the counter and each member of the family knows which color is his and that he is to re-use it when another drink is wanted.

How can we get the dish manufacturers to make sugar bowls that can be easily passed at the table? Mine is about the size of a small ball and has no handles.

I have to set it in a soup bowl so it can be passed. Many of my friends have spoken of having this problem and one says her gets turned over at every meal. I wrote to the manufacturer about this but had no acknowledgment.

A man in the advertising field told me manufacturers do not care for opinions from the grass roots level. Is this true? —MRS. H.

Mrs. H. — I could not say whether or not this is true in all cases but my impression has always been that most manufacturers want to style items so they will be practical and that women will like them. Perhaps there have never been enough complaints for them to feel this problem might be rather widespread.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — This past school year my three children each attended a different school. Weeks before school started I cut any articles pertaining to any of the three schools out of the newspaper and put them in a large manila folder marked school information.

In it went bus schedules, luncheon menus, their teacher assignments, PTA meeting dates, other organization meetings and so on. Also included were the starting and closing times of each school as well as small sheets of paper to use for writing excuses or any messages to the teachers.—BARBARA

DEAR POLLY — When your child is going on a visit, trip or to camp write a list of everything that is put into his or her suitcase and tape it to the inside so the child can check off everything when packing to come home. This helps to get everything back home again.—LUCILE

Share your favorite home-making ideas... send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Neck Wrinkles All Too Common

Have you noticed the lines many young women develop on their throats? Girls under 21 shouldn't have such telltale signs of aging.

The fault, according to cosmetician William Loew of Charles of the Ritz, comes from constant bending of the head. When studying, he suggests, sit comfortably erect, hold your head up instead of ducking it between your shoulder blades.

Keeping the Children Children Is a Must

By MUEL LAWRENCE

If your 10-year-old enters the room while you're telling a friend the dirty joke your husband brought home from a convention, you suspend the story, don't you?

Of course you do. Instinctively, you and I keep the dirty joke from the child. Instinctively, we protect him against material which our sexual experience can put into perspective; and which his lack of sexual experience can't cope with.

We don't have to think about the rights or wrongs of refusing to share the dirty story with him. It is refused him out of our intuitive recoil from violating his childhood with stuff that could only burden it with distorted impressions and confused, possibly worried, speculations.

Yet, we submissively permit children access to pornographic movies, magazines, books and television programs.

Writing in a recent issue of a national magazine, Dr. Benjamin Spock asks that children be denied access to this stuff by firmer legal protection. He may not get his wish. In view of the Supreme Court's rejection of Maryland's and New York's film-censoring procedures, effective legal protection of children against pornography may be indefinitely delayed.

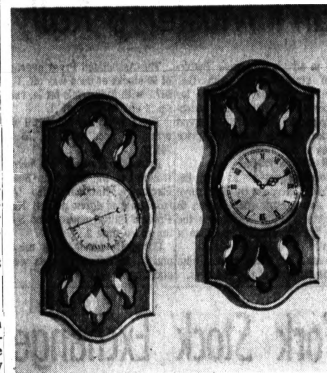

So, as usual, it's back in our laps. And darn mean it is, too, when we consider the enormity of the problem of keeping children in this sex-obsessed society of ours.

Anyway, because it's back in our laps, I want to stress the point contained in our intuitive recoil from continuing with dirty jokes when children enter a room.

Unless we become conscious of that intuitive feeling of inappropriateness, we can't respect or trust it. And we will helplessly permit our 10-year-old to tune to television's Peyton Place or spend his allowance on dirty movies. Dr. Spock attributes our tolerance of children's access to this sleazy stuff to our "permissiveness."

I don't. I ascribe it to the damage done to trust of our own feelings by those "mommies" and "daddies" of ours—the child training "experts."

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

The Italian team took the lead early in the second day of the International Match but the American team came back to lead by five International Match Points. The key deal was No. 94 when both sides played four JACOBY spades. The Americans made it. Italy went down.

The bidding in the box is unusual by American standards but normal for Italy. The Italians prefer to open four card suits in preference to five carders.

West made the fine opening lead of a heart. South had to lose a heart, two clubs and the ace of trumps and was down one.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is sending three of its members to the South to study compliance with the new voting rights law and other civil rights legislation.

Chairman of the special subcommittee is Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis. Rep. James C.orman, D-Calif., and a Republican yet to be named also will serve.

In announcing this Wednesday, the committee chairman, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said the subcommittee will decide if the parent group should hold hearings on civil rights violations.

Fair Workers' Plan Varied

Many Intend to Try to Remain in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of World's Fair employees will be catching the next boat or plane to the ends of the earth after the fair closes Sunday.

But some will not be in such a great hurry, and some will not be going home at all.

In each of the dozens of foreign pavilions at the fair, there are a few courageous young men who intend to try to stay in this country or make their visit here part of a world tour.

And a certain number, impossible to estimate, will stay in the United States and set up housekeeping with husbands or wives they met at the fair.

MET AND MARRIED
One of these is Yoko Minemura, who, while working at the Pavilion, met and married a young New York bank employee named Benson Takami, an American of Japanese descent. She left her fair job for a honeymoon before settling in New York.

A spokesman at the Japanese Pavilion said most of the fair employees would like to stay in America for some time, but their visas permit them to remain two weeks after the fair and "they already have air reservations."

Of the six pretty girl guides at the Vatican Pavilion, Dorothea Fahl from Germany is going to try to teach in a New York Catholic parochial school.

Of the two girls from Rome, Grazia Truffa is seeking immigration authorities' permission for an extended tour of the United States. Giose Minadeo has hopes of working as a United Nations guide.

RESUME SCHOOLING
Two Mexican sisters, Lucille and Nadine Palau, will resume the college education they interrupted to work at the Vatican Pavilion for some time. Maria Rodriguez of Peru plans to move on to the Sorbonne in Paris for further study.

Out of 70 German frauleins who worked at the Lowenbrau Gardens — including a courtesan and a baroness — about 35 are planning to return directly to Germany.

The baroness, Angela von Bueldring, will head for Morocco to marry a Moroccan engineer, and the courtesan, Schibilla von Krockow, plans to study in New York.

But the employees of the Belgian Village cafe, known as the "Au Rugbyman of Brussels" which specializes in lobsters, not only are not going home, but neither is their restaurant. It plans to remain here, as one waiter put it, "maybe on 57th Street and maybe in Ohio."

Say Parochial School, Church Dying in Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Churches and parochial schools have been virtually eradicated in Communist Cuba, according to a Library of Congress study published today by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

The study said religion never has been an important influence in Cuba and that, as a result, Prime Minister Fidel Castro's campaign against the Church was easier and more successful than similar campaigns in other Communist countries.

Hollywood Cold Shoulder

Carol Channing Recalls Rebuff

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "Oh, yes, remember this town. This is where it all started."

Carol Channing enjoyed the reminiscence. But then, she appears to enjoy everything she does, and her pleasure seems to be a bit larger than life.

The eyes grow in wonderment to seemingly impossible widths, and they are further magnified by tinted glasses the size of beer bottle bottoms — quarts.

Miss Channing's triumphs with "Hello, Dolly!" have been boundless. After reigning over Broadway for a year and a half, she left to join the road company here. Each week brings new records at the Music Center, the latest gross being $143,000.

On a warm afternoon in the Hollywood Hills, Carol recalls another time when the town treated her differently.

LOOKING FOR WORK
"I came here to find work and had a dickens of a time finding it," said San Francisco-born Carol. "Nobody could figure out what to do with me. Oh, they were very sympathetic, mind you, but they didn't give me a job."

"So I had to find the job where I could. I played the Shakespeare Club in Pasadena, the Elks in San Pedro, the Rotary in Bakersfield. When I didn't have dates like that, I'd go down to the joints on Manchester Avenue where the winos hang out."

"That's where I developed my Marlene Dietrich impression. They loved me down on Manchester. They said I could come back any time I wanted."

But Carol kept aiming for better things. She thought she might have a chance when Marge Champion took a shine to the Channing style. Her husband Gower was casting an intimate revue called "Lend an Ear" at the Las Palmas Theater in 1946.

ALLOWED MINUTE
"Gower was auditioning a thousand people and he cut down the auditions to a minute apiece," Carol recalled.

"When my turn came, I said he couldn't get the real effect unless I did all 12 of my numbers. He said that was nice, but he could only give me a minute."

I said I would cut each number down to one chorus. "Well, I started anyway, and Marge was there to tell me to change numbers each time she saw Gower's interest fade. And that's how I got the job."

"Lend an Ear" launched Carol on to Broadway, where she later triumphed in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." The Champions went on to success as a dancing team in nightclubs and films. After he had returned to directing, he created "Dolly" for his onetime discovery.

ANOTHER CONTRACT
When will "Dolly" ever end? "I don't know," said Carol. "I just signed another contract that will take me into 1967. And Mr. Merrick (David Merrick, the producer) says he'll let me play it after that, too."

Zany Entertainer's Film May Link Laughs and Love

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Dick Shawn's been tipped off that he may become tomorrow's new screen-legend, a wild-eyed, wild-haired Cary Grant with a New Jersey accent.

"They tell me in Hollywood," Dick said, on a quick visit here, "there aren't too many guys who can play comedy and also get the girl."

"In the picture I'm making now, 'What Did You Do in the War?' I don't get the girl but I get German colonel. I wear a purple dress and high heels and play an Italian madam."

"Television keeps offering me strange parts. 'Superman' who to play 'Mr. Terrific,' who's 'The woman' who doesn't quit make it. He jumps off a building to another building and falls on his head. They also asked me to play a Neanderthal man, 2 million B.C. living in a cave in Cleveland. I keep thinking of myself as Louis Jourdan and they think of me as an animal."

Blake Edwards, the director, is steering Dick toward the Cary Grant, Jack Lemmon, Fred MacMurray career. Shawn came back to Englewood, N.J., to see his family — and to play with his comedian pals.

"But they're no fun to play with. Buddy Hackett won't bet except for a meal... Phil Foster won't pay; we once played double or nothing for golf balls and he owes me 1,000 golf balls... Peter Falk plays with old balls which he buys from the caddies (he carries his own clubs to save money)... comedians really mean it when they say they play for laughs. They won't play for money!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Barry Goldwater and mayoralty candidate William Buckley Jr. huddled at Voisin (and that's one of Vee Humphrey's favorite spots, too)... Andre Pommebeane, recently divorced by heiress Gamble Benedict, is drafting a Greek shipping tycoon's dr... Bob Hope and Frank Sinatra'll get no billing for their cameo stints in "The Oscar."

Announcer Duward Kirby'll make his Broadway debut in a comedy, "Me and Them" (with his son Randy)... Warren Beatty flew into N.Y. from L.A. (en route to London and Leslie Caron)... A TV actress is undergoing hypnosis to lose her need for sleeping pills... Jane Fonda may do the movie about Barbell, France's hottest new comic strip (about a lightly-clad lady).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Some of our rock 'n' roll stars are working very hard, so they can make enough money to study music.—Sidney G. Simons.

REMEMBERED 'QUOTE: An optimist is a woman who leaves the dinner dishes in the sink because she thinks she'll feel more like washing them in the morning.—Anon.

EARL'S PEARLS: "There are two ways to handle women and both of them are wrong."—Arnold Glasow.

Bob Newhart explained that he was once an accountant, but quit: "It was merely a matter of equilibrium. I could never get the books to balance."... That's earl, brother.

Foe Winless in SVC

Chiefs Face Challenge at Saginaw

A big challenge faces Pontiac Stadium mud last Saturday Central's unbeaten Chiefs this when unbeaten, but not very week at Saginaw... and also impressive Bay City Handy held them to a 6-6 tie.

The Chiefs suffered a disheartening blow in the winless press on the now-occasional necessary impetus for a strong finish.

A fair showing against the Trojans, however, wouldn't help it in the poll or raise its stock as a SVC title contender; although certainly, a win will keep PCH in the race.

Two other loop contests Friday will pit league-leading and No. 1 rated Bay City Central Flint Southwestern at Handy.

Arthur Hill has a non-league encounter with Saginaw McArthur and the city series at Flint will begin with unbeaten Northwestern meeting Central.

State Southpaw Takes Seniors Golf Tourney

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Olsee of Grand Rapids, Mich., is the winner of the second annual Golden 65 Seniors Golf Association Championship.

With a total handicap of 21 deducted, southpaw Olsee posted a 204 in the 54-hole wind-up culls to Midland (12-6), Wednesday. The tourney was held over three different courses.

Andy Cowan of Chicago was second with a net of 210 and J. Clark Espe, Jr., of Indianapolis was third with a net of 212.

Central has beaten Midland (18-4) and Northern (21-4) soundly. Another solid victory at Saginaw could provide the necessary impetus for a strong finish.

The Lumberjacks were expected to be the stronger of Saginaw's two SVC entries this season. There is suspicion, though, that it may not be so.

Saginaw's Trojans, while not meeting any opponents to date that Arthur Hill has, has lost close tittles to Midland (12-6), Flint Northern (14-12), and Handy (7-0).

Central has beaten Midland (18-4) and Northern (21-4) soundly. Another solid victory at Saginaw could provide the necessary impetus for a strong finish.

B'ham Lights Two Gridirons

For the first time since Birmingham has had two public high schools, there will be two Friday night football games in town.

Both Seaholm and Groves will play important league games tomorrow under the lights of their respective fields.

Unbeaten and highly rated Royal Oak Kimball will invade Seaholm hoping to continue in at least a share of the lead for the Southeastern Michigan Association crown.

Groves, meanwhile, must face a rugged, undefeated North Farmington squad which currently paces the Northwest Suburban Activities Association grid race.

The other games Friday will have Ferndale at Hazel Park and Berkley at Southfield in the SEMA. NWSAA tilts Saturday afternoon have Oak Park at Detroit Thurston and Wayne Glenn at Livonia Franklin.

NEW LIGHTS

This is the first season Groves has had lights on its field. Whenever the two schools had home games the same day previously, the Falcons would play in the afternoon.

Neither team appears a contender in its league race, though both have enough talent to spoil the hopes of title hopefuls.

Last year Kimball and Seaholm battled to a 13-13 tie that kept the Knights from a share of the title. The Maples (2-2) would like to spoil Kimball's hopes again.

They have played one mutual foe. The Royal Oak squad was a 28-34 winner at Southfield while Seaholm took the Blue Jays, 32-14, at home last week in what may be an indication that the Maples have suddenly jelled. Ferndale is presently sharing first place with Kimball and has developed rapidly after losing its opener.

Neither Groves or North Farmington's Raiders have played a common foe yet. However, both have showed good defenses with the Raiders also displaying a fine offense.

Two of the more talented quarterbacks in the county will match talents in the tilt. Bill Oldershaw has sparked North Farmington with fine passing and running, and Mike Rafferty has done likewise for Groves.

Gain Grid Awards

TORONTO (AP) — Quarterback Bernie Faloney and flanker Terry Evanshen, the Montreal Alouettes' outstanding pass combination, were named Wednesday as the Eastern Football Conference's most valuable player and rookie of the year, respectively.

Pontiac Press Photo

BACKFIELD COMBINATION — Royal Oak Kimball's Knights will invade Birmingham Seaholm tomorrow night for an important Southeastern Michigan Association game. Quarterback Eric Sorenson (24) and halfback John Gabler are two key players in the Kimball backfield. Gabler currently is tied for second place in the county scoring race with 42 points.

MSU, Texas Choices of Good Ole Major

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

"Offensive Expert"

Greetings, friends! Several letter writers have requested in recent days that I give my permission for a write-in campaign on Nov. 2, for the Mayor's office or Alderman-at-Large. (Ed. Note: There's a job he's qualified for.)

One correspondent suggested I offer myself for the post as canine collector! My, my, what a fancy title for dog catcher. Dog Catcher! Egad, the man can't be serious—un-kumpli!

Please don't think I'm ungrateful, dear readers, because I do—half-half—appreciate your confidence in me! However, my many business interests preclude my serving in public office.

Later this month, for instance, I must take time to make a personal inspection of my banana plantation. (Ye Ed Again: That's a lot of banana oil.)

Three top-flight inter-conference engagements will occupy center stage this Saturday. In a Big Ten showdown, Michigan State takes on the rough, tough Buckeyes of Ohio State. I predict the Spartans will stay undefeated by downing the Ohio lads, 29-12.

In the Southeastern Conference the Kentucky and L.S.U. powerhouses will meet at Baton Rouge. We look for L.S.U. to treat its Homecoming fans to a 36-24 triumph! The game of the day matches mighty Texas and the defending Southwest Conference champion Arkansas Razorbacks. The Hoople System forecasts a spine-tingling 17-14 conquest for Texas—harrumph!

Now go on with the forecast. Predictions are for games of Oct. 16.

Inter-Lakes 11s in Prestige Tilts

Not only will at least two Inter-Lakes League teams be looking for victories in non-loop tilts Friday, they will also be seeking prestige.

In the case of Walled Lake, it is very much needed prestige. The Vikings haven't shown the football power that is almost synonymous with Dave Smith-coached teams.

They will have an excellent chance to prove they're among the state's better teams that night as they entertain Ann Arbor — currently rated third in the weekly Associated Press state class A poll.

Farmington's Falcons, meanwhile, have a 3:30 p.m. home game with unbeaten and unscored upon East Detroit. The Shamrocks are the state's fourth-rated team.

Pontiac Northern will continue to seek that elusive first victory with a journey to Mount Clemens and Waterford will go to Roseville in quest of its third victory.

Walled Lake is 3-1 and has clinched a share of another I-L League title, at least, after losing a 7-6 opener at Royal Oak Kimball, the ninth-rated grid power.

INCONSISTENT

The Vikings haven't been able to put everything together yet, but Smith is confident they are able to beat Ann Arbor and East Detroit, whom they'll visit Oct. 29. If so, a high state ranking is likely to follow.

Pistons Dump Philadelphia 5

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The Detroit Pistons wound up their exhibition game series Wednesday night by defeating the Philadelphia 76ers 110-86 in a National Basketball Association game.

Leading all the way except for a couple of minutes in the second quarter, Detroit was ahead 52-48 at the half and broke open in the third with 40-35.

Detroit's Joe Caldwell led the scoring with 21, and Eddie Miles tipped in 13. Rookies Joe Strasser and Bill Buntin held the 76ers' Wilt Chamberlain to 16 points.

The Pistons start their regular season Saturday in New York against the Knicks, and Philadelphia opens in Baltimore.

PACES REDSKINS — Halfback Mike Yeager of Milford has moved into a tie for second place on the Oakland County football scoring ladder with 42 points. The fleet back has paced the Redskins to a 3-1 record.

Jets Pick Up Flanker

NEW YORK (AP) — Kern Carver, 8 1/2-pound flanker dropped by the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, was signed Wednesday by the New York Jets.

To make room for Carver, the Jets put Cosmo Iacavazzi, Princeton's All-America fullback of a year ago, on their last squad.

Rochester Seeks New Start

The second half of the 1965 football schedule holds a little more promise for Rochester's winless Falcons.

Already behind them are losses to Ulica, Madison, Fitzgerald and Clawson.

But coming up are Lake Orion, Troy, Avondale, Cossino and Clarkson, and the Falcons are hoping to win them all and finish 5-4.

The improving Falcons dropped a 13-7 decision to Clawson last week after leading briefly, 7-6.

DRAGON FINGERS—Lake Orion ends Mike Raab (23) and Bill Olds practice receiving technique while preparing for Friday's journey to Rochester. Both teams are seeking their first win of the season.

Tomorrow night, Rochester will play host to another winless Oakland A squad, Lake Orion, and the Falcons are two-touchdown favorites to extend the Dragons' losing streak and bring their own to a halt.

Elsewhere in the O-A, Avondale will play at Fitzgerald, Troy has a date at Clawson and Madison will entertain Cossino.

Regional TV for Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — A regional network of 11 cities has been lined up so far for home television of the middleweight title fight between champion Joey Giardello of Cherry Hill, N.J., and Dick Tiger of Nigeria at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 21, the Garden announced Wednesday.

Northville for a Wayne-Oakland League football game.

The Barons (3-0) hold a half game lead over Holly and a loss probably would knock them out of first place.

Holly (2-0-1) is favored to win at Brighton (0-3). Milford (2-1), the other challenger, is home for a game with West Bloomfield (1-2). Clarkson (1-2) goes to Clawsonville (1-2).

Northville (1-1-1) has been up-and-down. The Mustangs opened with an impressive rout of Plymouth and then were upset by Clarkson. They have rebounded for a victory over Clawsonville and a tie with Holly.

The contest is expected to match Northville's passing attack against the crunching

Bloomfield Hills' ground game.

Motor City Motorcyclist

Surpasses Speed Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (UPI) — Brash Bob Leppan, a speedster from the Motor City, can claim the title of being one of the nation's fastest men on two wheels.

Leppan established an American Motorcycle Association record for gas driven cycles Wednesday at Bonneville Salt Flats as he gunned his steam-lined cycle to an average speed of 117.64 miles per hour.

The Detroit broke the previous mark of 212 m.p.h. set at Bonneville in 1962.

Wolves' running attack. The Wolves have found out that quarterback Dan Fife's passes can't carry them past the strong clubs.

Milford's strong defense will be a major obstacle for West Bloomfield which is another team that has trouble with its ground attack. The Redskins have a balanced ground game led by a veteran line.

Holly had to scramble to overcome Milford and tie Northville. But Mark Phalen is the big threat and Brighton's defense doesn't appear strong enough to contain the fleet-footed halfback.

In parochial action Friday, Emmanuel Christian will be trying to halt its two-game losing streak with a Homecoming en-voir at Wigner Stadium with Grosse Pointe University School.

tiator trainer who helped Gene Linscott and Dick LaForge into national amateur boxing prominence, will head the Pontiac area training program.

The local elimination fights, sponsored by American Legion Post 377, would take place in the final three weeks of January.

Dugan announced that the main training center for Golden Gloves' boxers would be set up on Perry Street under the All-Star Bowling Lanes.

Several organizations, UAW 653, Northside Civitan Club and Fraternal Police Association, are cooperating in setting up the main boxing center which would be a year round training place.

OTHER CENTERS

Other local centers are also being arranged for Rochester, Waterford, Clarkston and Walled Lake, with the main activity prior to the local Golden Gloves eliminations being directed at the downtown site.

Several outstanding names on the local fight front will assist in training, including Bill Strange, Boris Bisogni and Chuck Spieser.

Boys 16 and over are welcomed to workout and tryout for the Golden Gloves matches. Younger boys are not eligible for the tournament but can train and workout at the centers. The downtown center is expected to be ready by next weekend.

N. Michigan Slips

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Northern Michigan, upset by Central Michigan last week, dropped to the 10th spot in this week's NAIA college football poll. Concordia, Minn., is top-ranked while St. Norbert's of Wisconsin, NMU's opponent Saturday, is fourth.

A CUTTING REMARK — The No. 1 hole at the municipal golf course in Chattanooga, Tenn., turned out to be no place for diffusers after the city commission ordered the sign up, hoping that it would soothe the feelings of home owners who have complained that errant balls bombard their houses, yards and children. The city fathers say the sign should help until a permanent solution is found.

Three Regulars Gone

U-M Cage Practice Set

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Coach Dave Strack begins the job of trying to find replacements for three regulars when Michigan's defending Big Ten basketball champions open practice Friday.

Two-year All America Cazzie Russell and Capt. Oliver Darden top the list of returning lettermen for the Wolverines, ranked No. 1 nationally last year and runners-up in the NCAA tournament. The University of Detroit also opens practice Friday with returnees Dorie Murrey, Lou Hyatt and Jim Boyce heading a roster of a dozen candidates for Coach Bob Calihan's team.

Chisox Owner Against Deputy Commissioners

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Arthur C. Allyn of the Chicago White Sox said Wednesday he strongly opposed a plan for a three-man committee to assist the man to be selected as baseball's new commissioner. "The commissioner can hire all the advisers he wants, but naming deputies is just passing the buck. The commissioner loses authority which eventually will disappear."

Major league club owners meet here Tuesday and Wednesday to consider further selection of a successor to the retiring commissioner, 71-year-old Ford Frick.

TO MEET

The Associated Press learned in Minneapolis Tuesday night that Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, will "Let the co-chairmen John Feter of the Detroit Tigers and three deputy commissioners John Calbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates come up with their reports," said Wrigley. "I'd rather go into the meeting with an open mind."

The plan, causing speculation that the new commissioner may come from outside baseball, would designate the two league presidents and Judge Robert Cannon, representing the players, as the deputy commissioners.

Asserted Allyn: "What we need is a commissioner. I don't care what you call the plan, this is rule by committee and it would be a suicidal move by baseball."

EMU Harriers Win 5th

BEREA, Ohio (AP)—Eastern Michigan won its fifth straight cross country dual meet Wednesday, defeating Wakefield-Walpole, 21-7. Terry Norman of Eastern finished the four miles first in 20 minutes 51.5 seconds.

200 at MSU Protest Arrests

Back 5 Who Passed
Out Anti-Viet Leaflets

EAST LANSING (AP)—About 200 Michigan State University students staged a "free speech" rally Wednesday to protest the arrest by MSU police of five youths who were passing out leaflets opposing the Viet Nam war.

"Hopefully we come to a university to be stimulated to think independently and creatively. Rules which hamper the free expression of ideas cannot possibly facilitate this goal," leaders of the MSU Committee for Student Rights (CSR) declared.

The five were arrested Tuesday after they refused to leave the area around a Marine Corps booth in the Student Union Building, MSU police said.

They stood mute on arraignment Wednesday and were released on bond pending trial Dec. 17 on charges of trespassing and violation of MSU rules against distributing literature without proper authorization.

IDENTIFICATION

They were identified as Howard Harrison, 23, of East Lansing; Albert Halprin, 17, New Rochelle, N.Y.; Fred W. Janvrie III, 21, Dearborn; James J. Dukarm, 19, San Antonio, Tex.; and Peter V. Hornbeck, 18, Lexington, Ky.

In a publication distributed at the two-hour rally, CSR leaders replied to the trespassing charge by asking: "Who conducts the normal flow of business in the MSU Student Union? Students or Marines?"

CSR also complained the university was vague about regulations for distribution of material, such as their own publication, called "Logos." CSR executive secretary, said the group planned to issue an edition of "Logos" Thursday night after a hearing in U.S. District Court in Grand Rapids on a suit filed by a former student who was denied admission to MSU. The former graduate student, Paul Schiff of New Rochelle, N.Y., violated university rules by distributing "Logos" in dormitories, MSU officials said earlier.

Richard Bernitt, director of MSU's Public Safety Department, said officials were allowing no distribution of literature inside university buildings without permission from the university secretary.

Redistricting of U.S. Senate Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan would be lumped together with four other states into one Senatorial district under a proposed constitutional amendment to reapportion the U.S. Senate on a population basis.

The amendment was introduced, with tongue in cheek, Wednesday by Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo.

He said he doesn't favor his own proposal, amendment but was introducing it to call attention to the direction of recent Supreme Court rulings. These rulings have favored a "one man-one vote" representation in which legislators represent people rather than land area or political divisions, he said.

Under Ichord's proposal, Michigan would join in a district with Wisconsin, Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

HUGE AREA
The population of this huge area would entitle it to nine senators.

Since each state currently is allowed two senators, the five states would lose a senator under the Ichord proposal. The states now have 10.

Diplomat Speaks Out at IAPA Conference

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) —

The Inter-American Press Association (IAPA) moved to conclude its 21st general assembly today with the election of officers and closing business sessions.

Most delegates, however, were still discussing the blistering attack on United States Latin American policy delivered yesterday by veteran U.S. diplomat Ellis G. Briggs, Pontiac Press Publisher Harold A. Fitzgerald and Business Manager Howard H. Fitzgerald are among the delegates.

Briggs, at various times ambassador to Brazil, Uruguay, the Dominican Republic, Peru, Spain, Greece, the Republic of Korea and Nationalist China, called the Alliance for Progress "a Pandora's box, with welfare state handles," ripped the U.S. handling of the Dominican crisis, and said "stooges from the White House" were interfering in the work of resident diplomats.

For Latin American political leaders — "whose first duty is to survive politically"—Briggs charged, the Alliance for Progress "threatened to create as many problems as it promised to solve."

"And if there is a more pernicious doctrine that compels the sponsor of an economic and social program to throw lighted matches into his neighbor's woodshed, it has yet to come to the attention of history," he said.

'SHAMEFUL' — Attacking the U.S. handling of the Dominican intervention, Briggs said "what happened in Santo Domingo was nothing less than shameful, if not crazy."

OUT OF CONTROL — A plastics manufacturing factory was hit by an early morning fire that sent these huge clouds of black smoke skyward. The flames, started from an oil leak, destroyed the single-story structure. Midnight shift workers, slated to go off at 8, fled the building and were unable to fight the fast-spreading blaze. (See additional photo, page D-8).

6 Departments Battle Blaze This Morning

Damage to Building
Said $140,000; Value of Contents 'Higher'

Fire whipped through a plastics factory in Novi early this morning completely destroying the single-story cement block building.

Six fire departments from the southwest end of the county battled the blaze at the American Plastic Products Co., 40561 13 Mile, for more than four hours.

Damage to the building was estimated at $140,000 by owner Turkum Prince. Company representatives said the contents would be valued "much higher."

Because of the stubborn blaze, firemen were not expected to get inside the building until about noon.

Cause of the fire was attributed to a break in an oil line on a plastic molding machine, according to a company foreman. The oil hit an electrically-heated cylinder and burst into flames.

FORCED TO FLEE

Midnight shift foreman Daniel McFadden said that the 11 persons working had no chance to fight the blaze and were forced to flee the building.

No one was injured. McFadden, 1969 Ashtan, Walled Lake, claimed that it took about 45 minutes for the first fire trucks to arrive.

He added that the roof fell in just as fire fighting equipment arrived. The building was practically gone by then, he said.

Firemen, however, said their log showed trucks arrived within 15 minutes after the alarm was received.

NEIGHBOR CALLS — The fire broke out at about 3:30 a.m. Mrs. Irene Whitworth, whose home is located about 400 feet west of the plastics plant, called firemen.

Firemen were hampered by lack of water. Tankers had to be used to transport water from Walled Lake, about two miles away.

Novi Fire Chief Frederick Lyons said that firemen ran out of water a couple of times.

Indian Summer Due to Continue in Pontiac Area

The mild, pleasant weather of Indian summer will continue through Saturday. There's a chance of scattered showers late today.

Skies will be mostly sunny and little haze tomorrow.

Temperatures falling into the high 40s tonight will head for a balmy 65 to 73 tomorrow. Cloudy with showers and little temperature change is the forecast for Saturday.

Thirty-nine was the recording at 6 a.m. today. By 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 61.

Helping Hand Plan Offered Could Cut Toll—Researcher

Will Give Emergency Aid to Schoolchildren

ANN ARBOR — "Proper roadway design could prevent most single- and multiple-car accidents," reports Dr. Donald F. Huelke, associate professor of anatomy at the University of Michigan Medical School.

He is concluding a four-year research project during which he studied 171 traffic fatalities.

The other alternatives in reducing traffic accidents would be to change driver attitude, update state laws or improve auto design, Dr. Huelke explained.

"The campaign for added auto safety features would decrease the severity of injuries, but would have much less effect in reducing fatalities than would improved roadways," he said.

"Of course the major cause

LANES SEPARATED

"Many medians separate oncoming lanes by less than 30 feet. A car traveling at 60 miles per hour could cross that distance in less than half a second."

Dr. Huelke said that on "slaughter alley," a strip on an interstate route between Ypsilanti and Romulus, there have been 12 recent deaths of "innocent" cars in which the driver was not at fault alone.

Guard rails, another design feature, would reduce deaths if space is not available to broaden the median, explained Dr. Huelke.

Los Angeles uses a chain-link fence on the freeways — a fence now full of dents but able to keep swerving cars from the opposite lane.

LIGHT POLES — Highway signs and light poles that would bend on impact could also save lives, he noted.

"Removal of trees, deep ditches and other stationary roadside hazards would markedly reduce fatal accidents. One tree growing at road's edge was reported three times before causing a fatal accident in 1963."

"The tree is now finally marked for removal — because of Dutch elm disease."

REPORTED MISSING — Mrs. Bujack had reported her husband missing during the day yesterday.

Police said she reported hearing a man's voice in the house that she thought was that of Schubert and that her husband and the other man disappeared in her husband's pickup truck.

A father and son told officers they discovered Bujack's body after they had been approached by an unidentified man who told them he had killed a man.

Schubert was sentenced to two to 20 years on conviction of a charge of trying to take his wife's life while they lived in Cincinnati, police said.

Helping Hand Plan Offered

Will Give Emergency Aid to Schoolchildren

A plan aimed at providing assistance for school age children facing an emergency away from home was presented to the Pontiac Board of Education last night by William J. Lacy, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and pupil personnel.

Under the Helping Hand program, any youngster frightened by dogs, bullies or an alarming stranger; struck with sudden illness or an accident, would be within a few hundred feet of help.

At the front of one house in every block of a school or church area would be a small sign showing a Helping Hand.

A parent at the home would have a list of police, school and rescue authorities to call. The parent would not be expected to break up fights or give medical attention — only to notify proper officials.

DIRECT INSTRUCTION

Lacy said Police Chief William K. Hanger would direct instruction of Helping Hand parents in observing, evaluating and reporting an emergency situation.

School officials, on the other hand, would explain to students the purpose of the homes — and when they should be used.

"We don't want kids running to the home for anything less than an alarming situation — circumstances in which any citizen would be expected to act," Lacy said.

State Man Slain

Police Search for Killer

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Spurred on by a report that the unidentified killer of a Benton Harbor man "has two more to get rid of," police here and in Kentucky today intensified their search for him.

The Berrien County Sheriff's Department said an ex-convict, former husband of the victim's wife, was being sought for questioning in connection with the gunshot slaying.

Deputies meanwhile kept the wife in protective custody and put her home under guard.

The shooting victim, Charles Bujack, 34, was found in an orchard 4½ miles north of here. He had been shot once behind the right ear.

Sheriff's men said Bujack, according to a story of terror told by his wife, may have been taken from his home by his killer earlier yesterday.

MAN IDENTIFIED

Deputy Sheriff Jim Sawyer identified the man being sought as Willard Schubert, 49, of De Kalb, Ill., former Ohio penitentiary inmate.

Sawyer said Mrs. Oriane Bujack, 43, mother of a 21-year-old daughter, Wilma, told of having received threatening letters from Schubert after his escape last August.

Mrs. Bujack told a newsman today that she had received a letter yesterday from Schubert who wrote that he was "going to clean house and that includes Wilma."

Schubert was sentenced to two to 20 years on conviction of a charge of trying to take his wife's life while they lived in Cincinnati, police said.

Last Two Days for Legislators

Senate Ups Fund Fee for Uninsured Drivers

LANSING (AP) — The Legislature moved into a final two days of compromising in the wake of a calendar-clearing yesterday that brought surprising changes to the motor vehicle accident claims fund bill, death for milk pricing, and property tax "rebates" for elderly renters.

Only differences between Senate and House versions of several bills remained to be ironed out by tomorrow, when legislators will go home until Dec. 30.

In a burst of activity that kept both chambers in session through most of last night, there were these developments:

—The Senate increased the accident claims fund fee for uninsured drivers from $25 to $50 and lowered the minimum property damage claim level from $300 to $100. House concurrence is pending.

—The Senate essentially agreed with House action increasing the veterans' property tax exemption from $2,000 to $3,000 and set of arguments against certain veterans' benefits.

—The Senate twice refused to take from the table the controversial milk-pricing bill, which would prohibit the sale of milk for a loss at any stage of distribution or production.

—On a 59-38 near-party line vote, the House approved the renters' bill — a companion to the senior citizens property tax relief bill passed in the regular session.

It would rebate over-65 renters an average of $93 — technically an amount equal to the local property tax on the first $2,500 of state equalized valuation of the rented property.

Shelved, and then revived, in a bitter, nonpartisan fight, a bill to require all new automobile insurance policies written by Michigan to offer uninsured motorist coverage — which could be accepted or rejected by the insured.

A record goal of $875,000 is sought.

Coach Billy Martin called it "the difference between night and day. We can hit here, and the Dodgers have their swings geared to cut down on the ball and ground it through their hard infield."

"It's just that you can see the ball better here," said Harmon Killebrew. "Maybe the guys feel better here, but I don't care where I play — just so I can see the ball when the pitcher throws it."

Don Mincher added: "It means a heck of a lot to get out of Dodger Stadium. That ball park just gave us fits, and part of the reason was the back-draft against the pitcher. We can see here."

Twins Hope Home Field Key

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The home field, just like home cooking, appeared to be the key factor in the first six games of the 1965 World Series — and the Minnesota Twins hoped it would be the deciding factor.

"Sure, I think it's a big difference being home," Twins Manager Sam Mele said yesterday after the Twins had beaten the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1 and squared the Series at three games apiece.

His players — and the record — backed up Mele. Neither side had been able to break the home team's "service" in the first six games of the Series.

Dodgers swept three in a row in Los Angeles.

Mele hinted it was mostly a psychological advantage for his club to come back home. "I think the fans had a lot to do with it," he said. "The boys were down a little coming back from Los Angeles, but being greeted by about a thousand fans in the cold weather at the airport was a big lift."

BIGGER LIFT

His players, however, tended to think getting back to Metropolitan Stadium was a bigger lift. But not for the same reason as the Dodgers, who didn't like the loose dirt on the infield here.

"It's just that you can see the ball better here," said Harmon Killebrew. "Maybe the guys feel better here, but I don't care where I play — just so I can see the ball when the pitcher throws it."

3 Musketeers Over Science Are Awarded Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Three French scientists probing the mystery of life were awarded the 1965 Nobel Prize for medicine today.

They discovered a new type of regulatory gene which acts

Delay Reply on County Judgeships

LANSING (AP) — Legislative conferees, hoping to be helped by attorney general's research, are delaying their answer on the thorny question of who should run for which Oakland County circuit judgeships when.

A complex situation is tangled among a 1964 election, addition of one judge to the circuit court bench and a staggering of terms so that all judges won't run at once.

"We may have to ask the Supreme Court to settle the question," admitted Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, Senate Judiciary Committee chairman, as he explained the problem on the Senate floor Wednesday.

Earlier 1965 legislation expanded the county's bench from seven to eight judges.

Three judges were elected in 1964. They are James S. Thorne, Philip Pratt and Arthur E. Moore.

EXISTING LAW

Under existing statute they were through to have two-year terms. But provisions of the new constitution may have given them minimum six-year terms.

That's the question the attorney general's office is studying.

If the three judges must run again in 1966, then voters will pick in that year eight judges for six, eight and ten-year terms.

But if the three have minimum six-year terms, they actually serve through 1972. Then voters in 1966 would pick five judges for the different terms.

OTHER EVENT

In other event, all terms filled from 1972 on will be for six years each.

Sen. Farrell Roberts, R-Pontiac, said he thought the legislation should also be worded so that the incumbent judges will be running for the longer terms, leaving newcomers to vie for the six-year slots.

The three scientists who will share the $56,000 award equally are Prof. Francois Jacob, 45, Andre Lwoff, 63, and Jacques Monod, 55.

They are known to their colleagues at the Pasteur Institute in Paris as the "three musketeers."

Genes are the mysterious ultramicroscopic factor in a human cell which determines a person's characteristics. They are believed in some way connected with the factors which cause cells to produce tumors or cancer.

HEAD GROUP

The three men today headed a group of 20 scientists at the Pasteur Institute who have done research for 20 years in this line.

The research is confined to a highly specialized field usually comprehensible only to top biologists, but already such work has led to a better understanding of cancer.

Jacob, Monod and Lwoff brought their effort to bear on the genetic and biochemical mechanism of bacteria and viruses to better understand the functioning of genes and the regulating mechanism of cells which make up the body.

The Caroline Committee which announced the prize today said the regulatory genes control other genes and improve survival in a changing environment. The "message" is transmitted chemically to the other genes.

The cell of a bacteria or virus is, like any other cell, similar to a small production plant. Inside each bacteria are proteins, enzymes, the matter which acts as an engine and catalyzes biological reaction.

Their study showed that some cells there are the newly discovered regulatory genes which control the activity of the other genes.

Mental Health Board Has New Member

The appointment of Franklin Fricker, 401 Pleasant, Birmingham, to the Community Mental Health Board was announced today by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Police Nab 2 After Holdup, Chase in Area

Law officers in eastern Oakland County this morning captured two men in a chase following the armed robbery of a Sears Roebuck & Co. store at the Oakland Mall, in Troy.

The apprehensions came after pursuit by State Police troopers, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies and Troy police.

Store Superintendent Allen Yates said an undetermined amount of money taken about 8 this morning had been recovered with apprehension of the two men.

Yates said the money was taken about an hour before the store's regular opening time of 9 a.m. The mall is located at 14 Mile Road and John R.

The association has promoted the plan on a national basis.

Local president Frederick Kline said retired persons in the Pontiac chapter would assist Parent Teacher Associations and the school board in establishing Helping Hand homes in the area.

Board members were involved in backing the program.

Mrs. Lucille D. Marshall said Helping Hand homes "could be of extreme importance" in meeting emergency situations.

Odd New Satellite Orbited for Studies

VANDENBURG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A strange-looking satellite billed as the most versatile unmanned spacecraft yet was fired into polar orbit today.

Ogo 2, which looks like a flying coffin with a jumble of fishing poles protruding from it, was designed to conduct 20 delicate experiments analyzing the host of particles, rays and waves that surround the earth.

Scientists hope its data will enable them to better understand space events and better evaluate hazards of manned space flight.

Orbit was confirmed at 7:40 a.m. A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the craft's solar panels and instrument-carrying booms folded out as planned, and its stabilizing sensor had locked on the sun.

VALPARAISO, Chile (UPI) — An earthquake caused considerable alarm and some minor damage in this central Chilean seaport last night. No casualties were reported.

Children Pitch In

Homework for Mrs. Hart

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Now, mother, here's an atom, here's a proton, and here's an electron whirling around."

"Hey, mother, I think this is the way to work out this equation, don't you?"

The children of Janie Hart, wife of Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., are helping her with her homework, and vice versa.

Blonde Mrs. Hart, heiress, airplane pilot, amateur painter, political campaigner and mother of eight, is back in school, resuming an education interrupted when she took to driving Red Cross cars.

Cheering her on are her children — Ann, 18; Cammie, 17; Walter, 15; Jimmie, 14; Michael, 13; Clyde, 11; May, 9; and Laura, 8.

Four are at school out of town, so there are only four plus mother for the homework sessions. During these sessions, television is out.

Push button automatic transmission, dashboard and visor padding, and recessed knobs and handles were among the interior safety features suggested by Dr. Paul W. Gikas, a pathologist at the U.M. who is working with Dr. Huekle on accident investigation.

Safety belts, a responsibility of the driver, also have been stressed.

"Altering human nature and driving habits is the most difficult alternative, however," says Dr. Huekle. In 55 per cent of auto accidents the driver has been drinking, yet liquor by the glass is allowed in roadhouses and inns which are only accessible by car.

Sweden has a mandatory jail sentence for drunk driving offenses, while drivers in most of the U.S. can refuse a blood-alcohol test.

CONSENT LAW

"We need an implied consent law," says Dr. Huekle. "So that whenever one holds a Michigan driver's license he is consenting to body fluids analysis for alcohol. If he refuses, his license would be revoked."

"We also need a good vehicle inspection system. Too often we have vehicles in extremely poor condition on our roads."

"Many counties continue not to record the driving accidents of teen-agers under 18. I've seen 16-year-old drivers laugh at police officers after an accident, knowing their license would not be revoked."

"Michigan should have the best driver training program of any state. We're the automobile capital of the world. Our state should therefore lead in the victory over traffic fatalities."

Dr. Huekle's study of traffic accidents — and how to prevent them — is supported by a grant from the U.S. Public Health Service.

Education Unit Effort Backed

BIRMINGHAM — A move by the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) to gain recognition as the sole bargaining agent for Birmingham teachers today received the support of school trustees and administrators.

The BEA formally has petitioned the State Labor Mediation Board to supervise a representation vote among the district's 750 teachers.

Under recently adopted legislation, boards of education are legally required to "bargain in good faith" with teachers.

However, the laws stipulate that supervisors and administrators can not take part in the negotiating process.

"We do not approve of the exclusion of supervisors," BEA President Don Cameron said. "At the same time, the BEA recognizes that this new legislation is generally good and desirable for teachers."

KEPT INFORMED

Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith today noted that he and the board of education have been kept informed of the intent of the association.

He said Cameron had told him the association planned to file the petition.

"He later very thoughtfully sent a copy of the petition to George Coombe, president of the Birmingham Board of Education," Smith said.

"The Birmingham Board of Education and the superintendent believe that the election as proposed is a good procedure and they will aid in every way to expedite it," he said.

NO DISTURBANCE

"Over the years, the board of education and I have enjoyed excellent relationships with the Birmingham Education Association and we see nothing in the new legislation to disturb this."

Cameron said the BEA has a membership of better than 90 per cent of the professional staff, including administrators.

More than 95 per cent of the teachers have signed authorization forms designating the BEA as their negotiating agent to the board of education.

"Before the new legislation was passed, the BEA always informally represented teachers to the board. But now, the new laws simply make it a legal process," Cameron said.

ALL FACETS

He emphasized that the BEA is "vitaly concerned with all facets of education, and not just teacher welfare to the exclusion of all else."

"By calling for an early election, we can concentrate on improving education and upgrading the teaching profession," he said.

Robert B. Blackwell, executive secretary of the labor mediation board, said a meeting among interested parties would be held late this month or early in November.

Purpose of the session is to set up the machinery for the vote, establishing the date and terms, he said.

Squally Weather Halts Cuba Exodus

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Squally weather stymied the exodus of Cuban refugees today while Washington and Havana dickered over terms for a systematic movement of thousands.

Only one small boat braved the tossing Gulf Stream to put out from the Cuban port of Camarioca Wednesday. It was the 36-foot Mistral, with 23 refugees.

At least 100 small boats carrying more than 200 Cubans from their homeland have left Camarioca and sailed to Florida since Prime Minister Fidel Castro opened the doors.

A possibility developed that Castro might free political prisoners who are in jail because they oppose his regime.

HAS REPLIED — The State Department reported Wednesday that Castro had replied to the latest U.S. note on movement of the refugees without flatly turning down a proposal that political prisoners be among the first to leave.

"That's a surprise," said one U.S. official. "I didn't imagine he would give it a second thought."

Castro accepted U.S. proposals that immediate relatives of refugees already in the United States be the first to leave.

But the proposal that political prisoners be next "requires further talks," said Marshall Wright, State Department press officer.

Officials Are Confident 'Medicare Not Likely to Jam Hospitals'

By JOHN TROAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — Social Security officials are confident Medicare won't jam the nation's hospitals.

Robert M. Ball, chief of the Social Security Administration, says fears that Medicare will "result in such crowding of hospitals that care will deteriorate" are unfounded.

"I don't think that this is likely," he says.

However, Ball acknowledged that "the shortage of high-quality" nursing homes poses "a major problem."

Nursing home benefits will be made available through Social Security to persons past 65 Jan. 1, 1967. Hospital benefits start next July.

SLACK MONTHS

Ball points out that July and August are usually slack months for hospitals. On the average, the patient load is 10 per cent lower than during the peak months of February and March.

Thus, he says, the initial impact of Medicare "will hit the hospitals at the best possible time" — a period when they will have extra beds available to meet "any backlog of need for hospital care among the aged."

Over the long run, Ball adds, hospitals should be able to handle even a 20 per cent increase in aged patients — which is a much higher demand than Social Security anticipates.

He notes that "people past 65 use only about one-fourth of the total number of hospital days." So even a 20 per cent rise in aged patients would equal only 5 per cent increase in the overall demand for hospital beds.

EMPTY BEDS

And, he says, on the average 24 per cent of the hospital beds Ball concedes the impact of Medicare will be "uneven" — some hospitals may find it "a problem" to handle all their patients.

Indeed, Ball says, by helping to pay the bills of aged patients Medicare will reduce the number of "charity cases" hospitals must handle. "Thus it should be easier to finance necessary hospital expansion."

AGENCIES DESIGNATED
All but 11 states and the District of Columbia have designated agencies to help determine which hospitals can qualify to treat Medicare patients. The same agencies will help screen nursing homes and organizations that provide health care in the patients' own homes.

The states which have not yet taken the first step toward qualifying their hospitals, home-health agencies and nursing homes for the Medicare program are:

Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

Mme. Chiang to Talk at Childhood School

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Wesleyan College official says that Madame Chiang Kai-shek will visit next week the school she attended 47 years ago as a 10-year-old.

Dr. W. E. Strickland, Wesleyan president, said Madame Chiang will deliver the principal address at the college's fall convocation, Oct. 20.

'Police Brutality' Seen Lawless' Red Herring

Abuse of authority is deeply repugnant to Americans. Their forebears fled Europe to escape tyranny. A primary concern of the founding fathers of our republic was to protect citizens against tyrannical authority. So it is not surprising that there is considerable sensitivity to recent charges of "police brutality" that have been sweeping the Country as an aftermath of riots in major cities. Many wonder if the police have been brutal.

U. S. News & World Report recently conducted a searching study in the most notorious trouble spots. No evidence was found of any "wave" of brutality on the part of police toward citizens of the United States.

On the contrary, the study revealed that civilian "brutality" against the police is being practiced widely.

FBI figures on police brutality cases that come into Federal courts tell a story in themselves. Between mid-1964 and mid-1965, 1,700 complaints of police brutality were referred to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Forty-seven such cases were presented to grand juries. Five cases led to conviction in Federal courts.

On the other hand, the FBI records show that 57 policemen were murdered by criminals in 1964 alone; 197 in the last four years. The number of policemen murdered annually in line of duty has doubled since 1960. There were 18,000 police officers assaulted in 1964. That was one out of every 10 policemen in the Country. In 1964, 7,738 were injured in assaults, or one out of every 24.

The career of a policeman is hazardous at best. Unless he has the support of all law-abiding citizens, his job becomes virtually impossible as well as hazardous.

The trained, legally constituted police officer is our first line of defense against crime and violence. As and if his status becomes diluted, to the same extent will the constitutional security of Americans decline.

State Warned Against Toying With Elements

Sen. ROBERT C. BYRD, D-W.Va., thinks that modern meteorologists, armed with electronic devices such as radar, laser beams, and computers may eventually be able to modify the weather — thus possibly altering man's natural environment and changing the course of civilization.

"But," he warns, "judging from bureaucratic controls of every other type that we are familiar with, I can think of no good effect that would result from a bureau's control of the weather."

The senator suggests we all start praying, "Please, Mr. Government, try to get to the moon if you will, but leave the rainmaking and the sunshine to God. He's always managed to come through virtually in the nick of time, up to now."

To which we add a solemn "Amen."

U.S. Success Image Mirrored by France

Despite President CHARLES DE GAULLE's declaration of independence from the United States and his attempts to bolster the national pride of his countrymen, and despite a fairly booming prosperity in France, the word "American" apparently still has a magical ring for the French.

An advertisement for a correspondence school that appeared in a recent issue of Paris Match magazine was decorated with skyscrapers and the Statue of Liberty. Against this background was a drawing of a young, briefcase-carrying businessman walking from his car to his pleasant suburban home as his well-dressed family rushed to greet him.

Large type proclaimed: "Succeeded in the American Way."

The fact that to foreigners we are a "race of realists" who worship the dollar sign and that the "American way" is a get-rich-quick method that can be packaged as an advertising gimmick indicates a sad failure on somebody's part either to understand or to explain just what our experiment in life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is supposed to be all about.

States Unhurried on Amendment

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (U) — Labor chieftains are holding a wake over the union shop bill put to rest in the Senate.

While some profess to detect a faint heartbeat that might be fanned to life next year, one top labor lobbyist summed up the feeling of most: "It's dead—period."

The bill, blocked by a Senate filibuster and shelved Tuesday for the session by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, would have repealed the right of the states to outlaw union shop contracts. These are labor agreements in which union membership is compulsory. Nineteen states now have such laws.

Organized labor had waited 18 years until it thought the climate was right in Congress. This was supposed to have been the year.

In their frustration at losing the No. 1 legislative goal on which they had staked so much prestige and political power, labor spokesmen are variously blaming President Johnson, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who led the filibuster, and each other.

One sign of defeat was the rapid disintegration of the united front that warring and unfriendly elements of the labor movement had built behind the drive to repeal section 14B of the 1947 Taft-Hartley Act.

The AFL-CIO, riding a crest of political power in the Johnson administration, lays the blame squarely at the door of Dirksen.

But a top spokesman for one major independent union also blames both Johnson and the AFL-CIO.

"He (Johnson) broke the filibuster on civil rights. He could have broken the filibuster on this one," he said, adding that the AFL-CIO failed to stir enough grass roots pressure on Congress or the White House.

NECKS STRICKING OUT

"Why should the President stick his neck out when the labor movement wouldn't," this spokesman added.

"The old arm-twisting certainly wasn't there," said a spokesman for another big independent union, in claiming the support Johnson gave the bill wasn't a measure.

At any rate, the 1964 Democratic campaign pledge to repeal 14B was effectively blocked by Dirksen and his band of Republican and Southern Democratic "puckers" — Dirksen's own translation of the Spanish word "filibuster."

About the bravest from labor can muster at present is "wait'll next year," but union leaders have long privately considered their chances would be far dimmer in a congressional election year.

"An awful lot of people will be afraid of it," as a campaign issue, one union spokesman said.

Verbal Orchids to —

Mrs. Josephine VanDyke of 558 California Street, Berkeley, Calif., Mrs. Lena F. Green of 233 Chandler, 30th birthday. Mrs. Edna Harpman Daniels of 353 Long Lake Road, 3rd birthday. Mrs. Seymour Arnold of Holly, 30th birthday.

'O.K., Mr. President, Now How About Slipping Back Into Bed And Taking It Easy?'

David Lawrence Says:

14B Setback Freedom's Victory

WASHINGTON — Such words as "filibuster" and "cloture" may mean much to the average man, so it can be simplified by noting that a victory has just been recorded for individual freedom—which is so something everybody can understand.

It was not just a tempo-LAWRENCE victory, either, when the Senate voted 47 to 45 against taking up the bill which, if enacted, would have deprived the states of their right to forbid compulsory unionization and thereby making it the price of a job in America.

There is, indeed, something of far more significance than the issue of whether an employer shall be coerced to do the bidding of a union in the hiring or firing of his employees.

The real question that faces the country today is whether trade unions shall continue as a form of supergovernment which imposes a kind of tax on the individual worker and then does what it pleases with his money.

If the controversy was merely over the repeal of 14B — the section in the National Labor Relations Act which specifies that states shall have the power to pass their own "right to work" laws — there might be doubt that a delay of a few months would hurt the chances of taking up the measure in the next session of Congress.

GOES DEEPER

But the problem now goes deeper. It centers on the issue of what shall be done about the monopoly power of labor unions themselves.

The right of a group of workers in a given industry to form a union of their craft is unquestioned, but when they strike, have they any right to conspire with other unions to keep other employees from going to work?

A dispute may have no relationship to the collective-bargaining objectives of another union, but the practice has grown up that, when one union strikes, all other unions in the same plant are virtually compelled to join in the work stoppage.

Congress, however, has been indifferent to this and hasn't even proposed any law to abolish such monopolistic power by forbidding unions to conspire with each other to fix wage levels by a process known as industry-wide bargaining.

But what will happen next time? The labor union leaders realize that the congressional election in November 1966 could have as a dominant issue the question of compulsory unionization.

They know, too, that public opinion has been shifting, and that, as a result of recent strikes, has developed a public demand for some form of mediation or arbitration to be specified by government in the event that a settlement is not reached within a reasonable length of time.

There will be some soul-searching done between now and the January session of Congress.

The Johnson administration itself, which has been indebted to labor and sponsored the proposal to make compulsory unionization applicable in all states, may have some second thoughts when the issue comes up again.

The change in the attitude of the Senate, where union leaders thought they had a stable majority, is a victory for an informed public opinion through out the country.

Public Universities Feel Brunt of College Crush

By G. K. HODENFELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — On a schedule as inexorable as the sun's rising, the college crush hit the nation's campuses this fall.

With rare exception, the campuses weren't ready.

The final figures aren't yet in, but there are approximately 5.4 million college students enrolled this fall.

This is almost two million more than the 3.6 million students enrolled just five short years ago, and an 8 per cent increase over last fall.

The biggest burden has fallen on the public colleges and universities, which enroll about 65 per cent of all undergraduates.

FRESHMAN CLASS

For example, the University of Minnesota enrolled a freshman class of 9,144 last month. This is more than the combined freshman enrollment of 9,240 in all eight Ivy League schools — Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, Brown, the University of Pennsylvania, Columbia, Cornell and Princeton.

To cope with the hordes of students, the public institutions have started classes in early morning and run them late into the night.

They have taken over private homes as dormitories, and rented space in motels. They have squeezed three students into rooms designed for two, increased the use of classroom television and opened branch campuses.

And, tragically, they have shut the doors on thousands of qualified applicants for lack of space.

25,000 TURNED AWAY

In New Jersey, 25,000 were turned away, some of them honor students and valedictorians.

In North Carolina it was 5,000. The University of Illinois alone had to reject 7,000. The college crush didn't just sneak up on the United States. Educators have seen it coming for years.

They say it's coming when the number of births jumped from 2.8 million in the 12 months ending June 30, 1946, to 3.9 million in the next year.

ZOOMED UPWARD

They saw it coming as the percentage of high school graduates going on to college zoomed upward.

In 1939-40, only 14 per cent went on to college, in 1954-55 it was 29 per cent. In 1964-65 it was 43.2 per cent.

Although college enrollment will continue to climb, from this year's 5.4 million to 10 or 11 million by 1975, the crush may never again be as bad as it is now.

First, the birth rate leveled off after that 1947 peak. Second, the public institutions are laboring almost frantically to expand their facilities.

Officer Specialized in Ambushes

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — "The Viet Cong are very patient," said the captain wryly outside

Tay Ninh near the Cambodian border.

"They occupy a lot of this area. So we have to go out every morning to clear the road. For some reason we go out every morning the same time — at 10 o'clock. I've told headquarters that's pretty stupid. It makes us sitting ducks."

"But the Viet Cong are smart. They don't hit us every day. We may go out every morning for a week or two weeks and everything is quiet."

"So the men relax a little. Then the Viet Cong hit. They wait until we make some little mistake."

Sometimes a war takes on the characteristics of its commanding general.

A former colonel in He's guerrilla armies, sitting over a cup of tea, told me about a young Viet Minh officer, named Tran Nam Trung.

The two had known each other something over a decade ago when they both commanded

Reader Offers Suggestion for True Fiscal Reform

If we cut legislative salaries at least 20 per cent, the number on the State payroll 20 per cent, the price paid for highways 20 per cent, legislative expense accounts at least 50 per cent, and those on ADC and welfare at least 50 per cent, the savings could be used to cut state taxes at least 25 per cent and to finance programs absolutely essential — education, elimination of air and water pollution and protection of the public against thieves and criminals.

We could use these savings to finance the programs for which government was originally intended — the protection of life, liberty and property of its constituents.

Comments on Education of Amish Children

I agree with Rep. Charles Zollar on the Amish religious rights. These people who are a credit to any community and mind their own and God's business, are threatened with a compromise to have an "outside" teacher teach their children subjects they would never have use for, or their school closed until this compromise is accepted.

If the State wants to know what's being taught and how, why not ask for monthly visitation rights to their school by a reputable person.

FOR THE AMISH

Disagrees With Editorial on Pope's Visit

A recent editorial: "Pope Paul's memorable visit to America and his plea for eternal peace and coexistence for mankind are of utmost timeliness and significance." How one supposedly intelligent man can on one hand cry for peace and on the other cry for the conditions of war, and still be so mystified me.

The Pope in opposing birth control is actually supporting the conditions of overcrowding, with all its concomitant evils of famine, poverty and countless frustrations. When any man's statements deny, by implication, overcrowdedness, poverty, etc., what he affirms by acclamation—peace, love, etc.—I do not see how his statements can be called timely and significant.

We are a group of five men painting a bridge on I-96 and South Hill Road. The lane we work in is blocked off for half a mile to our rear, making only one lane of traffic until you pass our scaffold which hangs 14 feet in the air. We have lights and "reduce speed" signs along that half-mile stretch, but it seems many drivers think we are just out there for our health. They don't slow down and tail-gate each other at a good rate of speed, laughing at us as they whiz by.

Our lives are at stake at all times. Please slow down. Those few minutes you lose may save a life and it may be your son or your brother who is working with us today.

Protests Using Bunnies in United Fund Drive

What a disappointment to see the front page picture of September 30 displaying the latest "new low" for charity drives. It is nothing less than tragic that the directors of the Pontiac Area United Fund find it necessary to recruit volunteers from the Playboy Club.

Certainly the only ones to profit from such so-called civic contributions are the employers and promoters of "bunny-type" morality," more commonly known as pleasure for pleasure's sake. They feed on the publicity and prestige gained at the expense of respected groups such as the United Fund.

It is illogical that a group which contributes, even indirectly, to the cause of the disease confronting society is permitted to be associated with the organization dedicated to the cure of the same moral disease through its support of many social agencies.

wounded go. He'd say the Vietnamese peasants would see them and know the French had been defeated again. He believed that the sight of considerable numbers of wounded would have a psychologically discouraging effect on the morale of their fellow troops, especially when these defeated men would talk about how their comrades died.

"Trung never used more than one company for his ambushes. They'd move in at least a day in advance. He'd put about one-third of his ambushers in foxholes and two-thirds in trees. Then they'd wait from 24 to 36 hours for the column they were to attack."

The effectiveness of Trung's techniques shows up daily in the news reports. This explains why the Department of Defense has ordered a crash program of research and development on electronic ways to detect ambushers before they hit.

Castro Seeks Russian Aid Without Strings; Wants to Call Latin Shots

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Fidel Castro, badgered by internal political and economic problems, has issued a message of defiance to Moscow: Help us, but don't try to dominate us; don't try to prevent us from taking risks to foment revolution in Latin America.

Castro wants more Soviet arms and wants to be the sole judge of what to do with those arms, his words indicate. His tone suggests he is running into an argument in Moscow.

A copy of the new paper Gramma, "organ of the Central Committee of the Communist party of Cuba," has reached this country with the text of a Castro speech to the committee. This was the speech in which he paid tearful tribute to Ernesto Guevara, his long-time guerrilla war expert.

Generally overlooked was Castro's florid peroration, obviously directed to Moscow, where at this moment Maj. Raul Castro, Fidel's brother, supposedly is seeking more arms from Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

ARM TWISTED

The passage suggests that Moscow has twisted Castro's

arm. It indicates Moscow wants no more risks of nuclear showdown occasioned by Castro adventuring — that Moscow wants to call the shots in Latin America on Communist-inspired revolution.

Castro, though begging help, still objects strenuously. He wants to run the Latin-American revolution — and his own Cuban revolution — in his own way.

He wants Red revolution without Moscow dictation, but with Moscow support.

Here's how Castro put it: "We know quite well where the enemy is. In order to defeat the aggressive policy of that enemy, to continue to oppose it, we need the resources and weapons, because here, thousands of miles away from any other Socialist country, thousands of miles away without being able to depend on anything other than our own forces and our own weapons, we are aware of the risks we are running today and will continue to run. We must be armed to the teeth and totally prepared."

LATIN BANNER

That is the challenge to the Soviet Union. Castro wants revolutionary banner in Latin America. But he wants arms without strings. Let the rest of the Communist world quarrel, but let him go his own way.

"We can disagree with any party on any point," said Castro. He added that he refused to view communism as a church with its Rome and its Ecumenical Council." Castro announced he will develop his own revolutionary program. And he will continue to be friendly to both sides in the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

Castro obviously has been annoyed by the Russians, who took prodded by the Russians, Castro had to clash with Guevara on theoretical problems of revolution in Latin America. At any rate, Guevara is gone, and Castro, still needing help, has nowhere to look but Moscow.

That seems to be what annoys him most.

Castro was highly emotional in his address. He read an alleged letter from Guevara resigning citizenship and all posts in Cuba. It read almost like a self-written obituary. There is a strong suspicion that

THERE'S NOT ONE DISSATISFIED OWNER OF AN RCA Whirlpool APPLIANCE

A bold claim? You bet. One no other appliance company has ever dared make. And we openly challenge any RCA Whirlpool appliance owner to dispute it. We're selling what we honestly believe to be the finest appliances on the market today... top-quality RCA Whirlpool appliances. Whirlpool quality starts at the factory, where one of every ten men on the production line is directly involved in quality control. This rigid quality control is practiced right on down the line... by the distributor, by your local RCA Whirlpool dealer and by our factory authorized service organization. Neither factory nor distributor nor dealer nor serviceman wants an RCA Whirlpool appliance in the field that can cause its original purchaser any dissatisfaction because of mechanical malfunction. An amazingly low incidence of service is proof that we're measuring up to this purposely high standard of performance. That's why we feel confident when we say, "There is not one dissatisfied owner of an RCA Whirlpool home appliance in the Pontiac area."

Most Congolese Take Replacement of Tshombe in Stride, but Foreigners Dismayed

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo country. Who else is going to old government Wednesday and deal with a rebellion and financial difficulties. (AP) — Foreigners in Leopoldville expressed dismay today at the replacement of Premier Moise Tshombe by Evariste Kimba. Most Congolese took the news in stride. "This is terrible," said a Belgian businessman. "This crazy dismissed Tshombe's 15-month-back from exile in July 1964 to government Wednesday and deal with a rebellion and financial difficulties. But Kasavubu said the Tshombe regime did not conform to the Congo's constitutional norms, the election results or the imperative political equilibrium." One diplomat said he thought Kasavubu wanted a less prominent premier who wouldn't rival him for attention as Tshombe did. Tshombe's dismissal removed him from the most advantageous position from which to try for the presidency. The governor of East Katanga Province, Godefroid Munongo, sent a message to Tshombe saying "Human ingratitude is no doubt great, but your work has been such that nobody can forget it." "The East-Katanga population and government assure you of their sympathy during the new trials you have now to face," he said. Munongo then called on the population of Katanga to remain calm. Police patrols in Elisabethville, the capital of Katanga, were reinforced Wednesday night, but aside from a few fights between supporters of Kimba and of Tshombe, no incidents were reported. Assault Case Bound Over

A 41-year-old Pontiac man charged with assault with intent to commit murder has been bound over to circuit court for arraignment yesterday.

Joseph W. Franklin of 324 W. Wilson was released after posting bond of $500 in municipal court at preliminary examination.

Franklin is charged with the shotgun shooting of Joseph Austin, 43, of 558 Wyoming, in what police said was an argument over a $3 debt.

Austin was hospitalized by the shooting but recovered.

Active Market Advances

Steel Stocks Continue to Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel stocks continued to rise in an active stock market which advanced on balance early today.

Bethlehem followed the lead of U.S. Steel in raising prices for tinplate used for cans, bolstering hopes for further selective steel price increases in an industry which is facing the larger costs of a new labor settlement.

Lehigh, U.S. Steel and Republic continued to rise in an active stock market which advanced on balance early today.

Interest continued very high in lower-priced, speculative issues. Higher-priced items in the "growth" stock category, Polaroid was heavily traded and up 1/4. Fairchild Camera rose 3/8 and Xerox 2.

The picture was not so bright among many blue chips. Du Pont sank 2 1/2 to 23 1/2 on a stock exchange.

Views County Board Makeup

Don't Let Supervisors Do Shaping--Lawyer

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The task of reappointing county boards of supervisors should not be performed by the boards themselves, attorney A. Robert Kleiner said here Wednesday.

He testified before a four-man House subcommittee on appointment.

The hearings result from a September 1964 decision by Kent County Circuit Judge Fred N. Searl, who held the Kent County Board of Supervisors must be appointed on a population basis.

He held failure to do so was a violation of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution and left to the legislature a means to implement the ruling.

Kleiner noted the State Supreme Court will hear arguments in November on a Kent County appeal from Searl's ruling.

He offered a three-point formula which he said the state could adopt.

Kleiner suggested county government be composed of representatives of districts consisting of contiguous territory and as equal in population as possible; that political unit boundaries be followed to the extent possible and that the districts be as compact and regular in shape as possible.

He said the task of formulating an apportionment plan should fall on a four-member commission from each county with the county chairmen of both major political parties appointing two members to serve with pay on such commissions.

His plan would give each commission 90 days to complete its work and hold public hearings.

Failure to agree on a plan would present the matter to the new State Court of Appeals, Kleiner said.

OTHER PLANS

At least three other plans were offered to the subcommittee.

City Controller Charles Lawyer suggested an apportionment plan that follows state representative district lines.

Supervisor Robert Blandford of Grand Rapids offered a plan which would give Grand Rapids 32 supervisors on the board with the balance of the county electing 28 for a total membership of 60.

Supervisor Richard Lynch also argued for partisan elections. He proposed a board of some 30 members.

News in Brief

William C. Rogers of $28,193 reported to Pontiac police yesterday the theft of $220 in cash from an envelope in a china cabinet at his home.

Mrs. Geraldine Bowden, 3983 Baldwin, Orion Township, told Waterford Township police yesterday that someone took $65 from her purse while she was shopping in a department store at 2045 Dixie, Waterford Township.

Double Ad Revenue Seen for Papers

Newspaper advertising revenues are expected to more than double in the next 10 years, according to the American Newspaper Publishing Association (ANPA) predicted yesterday.

Speaking to the Los Angeles Advertising Club, Charles T. Lipscomb Jr., president, bureau of advertising, ANPA, said that newspapers are "perched on the launching pad with all systems go for a epoch-making flight nearly $10 billion in 1975, on a peak population of newspapers, with continuation of the present into the space age."

Lipscomb based his prediction that advertising would reach burgeoning population growth of 60 million by 1975.

Maintain Current Rents, Selfridge Officers Ask

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Air Force officials at Selfridge Air Force Base have asked Air Force Secretary Harold Brown to maintain current rents at the base.

Rent increases averaging $20 are scheduled to go into effect Nov. 1. Rentals currently range from $70-$100 for quarters built in World War II and occupied by families of enlisted men.
