'Big 3' Praises Law Requiring Car Price Tags

President Signs Bill Designed to Eliminate 'Packing' by Dealers

DETROIT (UPI) — Auto industry representatives said today they hoped a new law requiring factory-suggested price labeling of new cars might give sales a shot in the arm by boosting buyer confidence.

President Eisenhower signed the bill into law yesterday.

It required auto makers to label new cars with their suggested retail price, including cost of accessories and transportation.

Spokesmen for the auto industry's "big three" were unanimously in favor of it. They said their companies had favored the bill even before it became law.

The law was aimed at auto price "packing" — hiking the manufacturer's suggested list price to mislead the purchaser into believing he received an exceptionally large discount or used car trade-in allowance.

The law, sponsored by Sen. Mike Monroney, (D-Okla) after a study of auto pricing practices, would require auto makers to show make, model and serial number, the final assembly point, delivery data to the dealer and the form of transportation, including whether the cars have been towed.

The price of each accessory would have to be included along with the charges to the dealer for transportation.

It also was designed, through its requirements for listing of transportation data, to let the buyer know if he was buying from the original dealer or if the car had been "bootlegged" from one dealer to another.

It provided a $1,000 fine for failure to label new cars properly or

Today's 2-Minute Mystery

Fits Natty Nat to a 'T'

By DONALD J. SOBOL

"I'm sorry to bother you with his one, doctor," said Inspector Winters. "But unless we nab this Natty Nat character soon, the newspapers will take us for a sleigh ride."

"You're satisfied it was Natty Nat's work?" asked Haledjian, using the nickname bestowed by reporters on the nattily dressed gunman who specialized in tailor shop holdups. In the past month he'd victimized a dozen.

"The description tallies with those given by the other victims," replied the inspector. "It's as if he's thumbing his nose at the whole police department."

"Mind if I question Browski?" inquired Haledjian.

He ordered me to lean my forehead against the wall.

At Inspector Winters' nod, Browski, the little tailor, recounted this latest holdup.

"I had just finished on the telephone in the shop when I heard the front door open. As I stepped into the showroom I saw this man with the stickpin facing me. Immediately he drew a gun and ordered me to lean my forehead against the wall. I heard him clean out the cash register behind me. Then he told me if I turned around before he'd had a chance to beat it, I'd get shot."

"And you obeyed?"

"Of course. Last week Barney Fine didn't, and he got a bullet in the hip. Me, I wasn't taking any chances. When I looked around, he was gone."

"Had you ever seen the man before?"

"Never, but I read the papers. This fellow had the same big stickpin in his tie, and the cashmere overcoat with the belted back and velvet collar, and the black homburg."

"How much did he steal?"

"Three thousand and sixty-eight dollars and twelve cents. I'd just counted the money. When the telephone rang, I shut the money in the register and went to the back to answer it."

"I'm certain you are insured against loss," said Haledjian. "But you can hardly expect me to support your claim."

WHAT WAS WRONG WITH BROWSKI'S STORY?

Haledjian knew Browski had taked the holdup. His description of Natty Nat, drawn from newspaper accounts, was too complete. As he'd seen the gunman only from the front, he could not have known the overcoat was belted in the back.

Goldfine Gains Day's Reprieve

Warned to Cooperate at Hearing Tomorrow When He'll Testify

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Harris subcommittee granted Bernard Goldfine a one-day postponement in testimony today but warned, "We are going to expect cooperation."

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) chairman of the subcommittee investigating the gift-giving Goldfine's relations with federal officials, gave this reply to a request from Goldfine's attorneys for a postponement.

Attorney Roger Robb said this Boston millionaire client came to Washington Sunday to prepare to answer committee interrogators again but had gone into a state of physical and mental exhaustion after a chain of spectacular events yesterday.

Robb told the subcommittee at 10 a.m. — when Goldfine himself was supposed to have returned to the witness stand—that the discovery of a hidden microphone near a hotel suite occupied by Goldfine aides and theft of some of Goldfine's papers yesterday had left Goldfine with little sleep and given him no time to bone up on committee questioning.

"He has every expectation that he will be able to appear before the committee tomorrow and answer these questions," Robb said.

INVESTIGATOR FIRED

In the aftermath of the microphone incident, the subcommittee fired its chief investigator, Baron I. Shacklette, who had rigged electronic recording equipment in a room next door to the Goldfine aides.

Shacklette denied any connection with the reported removal of Goldfine papers.

When agreeing to a postponement of Goldfine's testimony, Har-

Sullenberger Wants Charges Clarified

By PETE LOCHBILER

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger complained last night that he is being charged with instances of professional misconduct.

The 42-year-old surgeon, entering the fourth session of a hearing to determine whether he will be allowed to practice again at Pontiac General Hospital, asked the Board of Trustees for a ruling.

"I have to know what kind of charge I'm facing in order to defend myself," said the surgeon, temporarily suspended from the hospital eight months ago.

He said that the hospital's medical staff, which is seeking his permanent ouster, had gone on record as charging personal misconduct only.

The staff has also gone on record saying it would have to limit the charges because the Board of Trustees appeal hearing, which Dr. Sullenberger requested, does not offer witnesses courtroom immunity.

But Dr. Sullenberger complained that several charges touched on professional misconduct, especially one involving an operation that has resulted in a $100,000 malpractice suit being filed against him.

Although City Attorney William A. Ewart observed that this charge was "not of personal misconduct," the attorney for the medical staff, Glenn C. Gillespie, maintained "there has been no testimony of professional misconduct."

"I'll fly upside down if that's the case," retorted Dr. Sullenberger.

Later, Gillespie admitted Dr. Sullenberger was right about the charge.

The medical staff has said its 14 charges against the surgeon involve conduct "detrimental to the efficient operation of the hospital." It also said that it was avoiding reference "to any incident which would involve an evaluation of Dr. Sullenberger's competence and skill as a surgeon."

"But one of these charges accuses me of leaving a sponge with-

Southfield Man Drowns in Lake

Flounders in Shallow Water, Fights Off His Wouldbe Rescuer

Gordon K. Hilton, 20, of 20710 West Haven Rd., Southfield, drowned in shallow water on the west side of Lower Straits Lake, Commerce Township, yesterday.

Hilton was swimming with two friends, Jerry David, 17, and Theron Dirette, 15, also of Southfield, about 55 feet off shore near Fox Rd., Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Suddenly he began struggling and floundering around in about six feet of water, David told deputies. "I saw him go under a few times and tried to hold him up but he fought me off."

Hilton's body was recovered by Deputy William Jackson an hour later at 4 p.m.

Hilton was the eleventh drowning victim recorded in Oakland County by the sheriff's department this year, and the first to drown while swimming.

President Visits Canada Capital

Large Crowds Cheer Ike's Arrival in Ottawa to Repair Relations

OTTAWA, Ont. (UPI) — President Eisenhower came here today for a three-day visit and a round of fence-mending talks with Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

The President's plane, Columbine III, touched down at nearby Uplands Airport at 9:55 a.m. EST. Governor-General Vincent Massey, Diefenbaker and other government and military officials greeted the President.

Eisenhower was accompanied by his wife and Secretary of State and Mrs. John Foster Dulles.

A large crowd of spectators waving flags of both countries stood underneath overcast skies to greet the visiting President.

Eisenhower, making his first visit to Canada since 1953, inspected the guard of honor after the band had played the American National Anthem.

The two heads of state open their talks today against a background of the most elaborate documentary preparations ever made in this capital for a visiting head of state.

The visit was being made for discussion primarily of economic differences with Canada that have developed in the past year or so. However Dulles said world problems as they affect the two countries jointly also would be brought up.

The main economic differences include U.S. disposal of surplus wheat overseas for foreign currencies, pressures within the United States to increase tariffs on lead and zinc and restrict their imports, and joint water resources in the northwest United States and southwest Canada.

Others were restrictions on U.S. imports of Canadian oil, failure of U.S. companies to use Canadians extensively in management of their subsidiaries in Canada and Canada's so-called "unfavorable balance of trade" with this country of about one billion dollars a year.

Soviets Insist AF Transport Had to Land

Nine Weary Airmen Hold Joyous Reunions With Families

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Nine weary U.S. airmen arrived by plane today from Iran after being held captive in the Soviet Union for 10 days.

Hugs, kisses, and tears from members of their families greeted the airmen as they stepped from the four-engine plane that brought them from Tehran to this U.S. air base.

Air Force officers shielded them from reporters and hustled them off to hot meals. A news conference will be held tomorrow.

Their plane was forced down in Soviet Armenia by Soviet jet fighters after it had strayed across the border on a flight from Germany.

All the airmen seemed to be in good physical condition, although weary from their long pourney.

After the airmen had greeted their families, they were taken to an Air Force hospital for physical checks.

STORIES DIFFER

The Soviet version of the incident was that the USAF transport was compelled to land after it had flown into Soviet territory and that the plane burned on the ground.

Today's Air Force announcement said the American fliers reported they were intercepted by MIGs and set afire at 15,000 feet altitude.

"A combination of extensive thunderstorms, instrument flight conditions and unreported high winds had caused inadvertent crossing of the Soviet frontier," the statement said.

FORCED TO JUMP

"Five crew members were forced to parachute to safety," the Air Force announcement said. "The remaining four attempted to make an emergency landing at a crude strip 75 miles east-southeast of Lake Sevan.

"With five parachutes in the air and the aircraft in flames, the MIGs made another firing pass on the crippled plane while it was on its final approach for a forced landing."

The burning plane exploded on the ground. The four crew members who rode it down were able to reach safety.

All members of the crew are

Accident Proves Fatal for Boy, 15

Succumbs to Injuries Suffered Yesterday in Mishap on U.S. 10

A 15-year-old Saginaw boy, Robert Pritchard, died at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday afternoon from injuries received in an accident earlier in the morning, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

County Prosecutor to Crack Down

Warns Beer-Drinking Minors

The state law forbidding possession of beer by minors will be enforced "to the hilt," warned Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem today.

The warning from Ziem and his Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long followed reports from officials of parks in the county of frequent violations of the law.

"We will not tolerate people coming into our many parks and ruining the fun for others," Ziem said.

There have been several 90-day jail sentences passed out to minors who have been caught drinking beer in the county parks, he added.

Ziem reminded teenagers and parents alike that the state law is more specific than just prohibiting drinking by minors in parks.

He cited the law, which reads in part: "No person under the age of 21 years of age shall purchase, or knowingly possess, transport or have under his control in any motor vehicle" any beer or alcoholic beverages.

Adults furnishing minors with beer or spirits "will be severely dealt with," Ziem pointed out also.

"Officers at the different parks report an influx during the warm weather of many Detroit and Lincoln Park youths mostly between the ages of 17 and 20 years," Long said.

He asked that parents be particularly careful to see that their children planning picnics do not include beer in their lunch baskets.

"The behavior of these youngsters after they have this beer spoils the enjoyment of others using the parks properly," he said. "It also results in a dangerous traffic hazard when the kids leave the parks."

Ike Signs Alaska Bill; Almost Forgetting Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statehood for Alaska now is up to the Alaskans themselves. And President Eisenhower almost forgot it.

He signed the Alaskan statehood bill yesterday and commented: "Okay, now that's 49 states."

But he quickly corrected himself and said, "No, maybe we don't do that until the plebiscite."

That was a reference to a provision in the bill requiring all Alaskans to vote whether they accept immediate statehood and terms of the bill itself.

Voting on acceptance, plus election of national and state officers, are the last remaining steps before issuance of a presidential proclamation formally admitting Alaska to the union.

Alaskan Gov. Mike Stepovich predicted the territory would endorse statehood by a margin of as much as 10 to 1. The election will be held either Dec. 1 or 15, he indicated.

The President said he personally believed Hawaii "has qualified for statehood equally with Alaska. The thousands of loyal, patriotic Americans in Hawaii who suffered the ravages of World War II with us and who experienced the first disastrous attack upon Pearl Harbor must not be forgotten."

Michigan Bell Rates Upped

State's Public Service Commission Reveals Breakdown on Hike

LANSING (UPI) — A breakdown of the $2,212,000 rate increase granted Michigan Bell Telephone Co. last month was announced at noon today by the Public Service Commission.

The increase became effective today.

One-, two- and four-party residential service in the Detroit suburban area and the entire outstate area will go up 10 cents a month—except Center Line, Roseville, Royal Oak and Warren, where the two-party rate goes up only five cents.

The message unit charge in Detroit will be hiked from four cents to 4.2 cents per call above the normal maximum contracted for.

"Detroiters who are not on the message unit charge will escape the rate increase," said Commission Chairman Otis Smtih.

Detroit business telephone rates will go up five cents a month, while business line costs outside of Detroit will go up 20 to 25 cents a month.

The charge for additional directory listings for residences will go up 10 cents a month, while additional business listings will cost an extra 25 cents a month.

Mobile telephone rates went up $10 a month.

The extra charge of one dollar for spiral cords has been dropped.

The outstate area will absorb $1,006,000 of the rate hike, Detroit will absorb $834,000 and the suburban area $375,000.

The figures add up to $2,215,000—but Smith said "that was as near as we could come to the original order of $212,000,000."

Michigan Bell has about 1,800,000 customers.

Smith said he considered the distribution "fair and equitable."

Part of Civil Defense Test

Hunt Radioactivity in Pontiac

A civil defense team began tracking down a source of radioactivity in Pontiac today, as part of a field exercise in radiological monitoring.

The source was brought here from Detroit in a protective lead container and hidden somewhere on Pontiac's east side, said assistant city manager Robert A. Stierer, who is also deputy civil defense director.

"It will be up to the team to find the source and measure it, just as would have to be done in the event of a nuclear attack," explained Stierer.

He added that the source was so slight as to be "in no way dangerous."

The hunt began after the 15 city employes, trained in monitoring a year ago, assembled at City Hall at 10 a.m. They were issued survey meters and dosimeters from the city's stock of civil defense equipment.

"The survey meters (like Geiger counters) indicate where the radioactivity is located and how strong it is, while the dosimeters measure how much radiological exposure there is over a period of time," Stierer said.

Isolation of contaminated areas and an accurate forecast of how long the contamination will last would be important steps for the city's civil defense team to take in the event of an attack, Stierer said.

"That's why it's important for our monitor-trained personnel to maintain their proficiency with the measuring instruments," he said.

Today's refresher course, Stierer said, is under the direction of Charles Cohen, city sanitarian and Fred McDermott, state sanitary engineer.

Although the 15 civil defense workers are acting as a team today, under actual conditions they would operate individually with the city departments they are attached to.

Three of the monitors are from the health department, four from the fire department, three from the police department, two from public works, and one each from engineering, parks and recreation and the water department.

"I can see that unless there is a change in attitude," Harris said, "there's going to be a clash, and if there is, the committee will be prepared to meet it.

"We are going to expect cooperation and compliance."

The committee chairman acknowledged that Goldfine may have had very little sleep because of practically round-the-clock incidents yesterday.

But he said he himself had received telephone calls at midnight and still came to work yesterday and today.

RECOUNTS DIFFICULTIES

Then Harris recounted difficulties he has had with Goldfine since the House group first started checking whether Goldfine has received favored federal treatment because of his friendship with Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

Goldfine himself is testifying voluntarily, but there has been a long subpoena battle over his records.

Harris said every step of the way has been contested as to what the committee should have. He indicated he feels Goldfine has gone in for propagandizing the public.

Branch Office Ground Broken

Federal Savings, Loan Association to Build in Drayton Plains

Ground was broken in Waterford Township today for a $100,000 branch office of the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The site, located next to the Drayton Plains post office on Dixie Highway, was purchased in early April. Bids for construction of the building were immediately awarded, according to James Clarkson, executive vice president of the association.

The building will be centered on approximately one-half acre of ground. Ample parking space will be available across the alley to the rear of the building.

A kitchen and lounge for employes will be featured in the basement section. The main office on the ground floor will be of the same design as the other two branch offices and main building, Clarkson said.

The Ernest Hull Construction Co. will be general contractor, with other contracts awarded to the Sylvan Plumbing Co., A. Elbling & Sons, and Paul's Electric.

Opening date for the new branch office will be sometime in the middle of November, Clarkson said.

Car Price Tag Law Praised by 'Big 3' for tampering with labels once they were applied.

A General Motors spokesman pointed to testimony given by William F. Hufstader, GM vice president in charge of distribution, before a Senate committee considering the bill as typical of the company's feelings.

Hufstader said the law could make a "real contribution to the re-establishment of sound business practices in our industry."

"We are all aware of the conditions which have developed in our industry in the last few years as a result of price packing," he said. "These conditions have become progressively worse. Today the customer who desires to buy a new car is confused as to the true asking retail price.

"It is General Motors' view that the legislation would eliminate price packing or give the customer enough information to determine the 'pack' and determine the true cost of the vehicle."

Ford Motor Co. spokesmen cited similar testimony by Walker A. Williams, Ford vice president, in which he endorsed the "general purpose" of the law.

"We feel the bill will help clear up some doubts and uncertainties which have existed in the past," said Byron J. Nichols, vice president in charge of automobile sales for Chrysler Corp. "After all, it is the consumer that must be satisfied he is getting a fair deal."

Parking Fees Called Illegal

Cass Lake-Dodge Park Residents Warned by Waterford Board

It is illegal for property owners in the Cass Lake-Dodge Park area to collect fees for parking cars on their land, and violators will be prosecuted.

This was the stand taken by the Waterford Township board at last night's meeting.

For years, the overflow traffic from the state park has been the chief summer headache of area residents as well as township officials.

In April, the board indicated that property owners who were harassed by parked cars jammed in front of their homes, could charge a fee providing neighboring residents did not complain.

Protesting residents recently appeared before the board complaining of debris littering their subdivision and of people undressing in their cars for swimming.

Board members agreed to uphold the residential zoning code. Violators could receive a maximum fine of $100 or 90 days in jail, or both.

At a meeting this morning, building inspector Carl Walton and Police Chief Millard J. Pender were authorized by Supervisor Elmer Johnson to issue summonses to offenders.

Red Boss Hits Plan for Arms in West Germany

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived today for a visit to East Berlin and called for a harder fight against plans of West Germany to equip its army with nuclear and rocket weapons.

With a grim, brooding look, the Soviet Premier stood bareheaded before the East German railroad station at a welcoming ceremony. He declared Communist East Germany must take the lead in the battle against atom and rocket weapons arming by West Germany.

East Germany, he said, was steadily gaining in international prestige.

Khrushchev heads a six-man delegation from Moscow to the East German Communist Party congress. It opens Thursday and continues to July 16.

He received a cool welcome. East German officials, and organized delegations were on hand to cheer. But there was only scattered handclapping from others in the crowd.

During his stay here he is expected to give the East Germany party bosses the latest Kremlin line.

Khrushchev probably also will. The East German regime in turn was reported looking to Khrushchev for advice on facing the international flurry whipped up by the prolonged imprisonment of nine U.S. Army men who strayed behind the Iron Curtain in a helicopter June 7.

The Day in Birmingham

Street Paving Approved Over Strong Objections

BIRMINGHAM — Once again protesting residents saw their arguments fall flat as Birmingham city commissioners overrode objections and approved the necessity of street paving.

About 12 Graefield subdivision property owners last night told the commission "we like the ruts" on Graefield road. They claimed the ruts discourage traffic and keep the cars that do use the road from speeding.

Commissioners countered the "rough road is a safe road theory" by citing incidents in which cars went out of control on bumpy, rutted street surfaces.

The cost of the Graefield paving project, from Derby road south to the subdivision line, will be approximately $6,300. It will be shared by about 60 taxpayers.

Commissioners also approved removal of the right turn on the flashing red arrow at the Willits-Woodward intersection. T. M. Vanderstemple, traffic engineer, said the volume of southbound traffic on Woodward avenue makes this right turn an extremely dangerous practice.

The first step toward the permanent improvement and beautification of Shain Park in Birmingham has made the area look as though it had been struck by a tornado.

Crews from the city forestry department are removing trees and shrubs in preparing for cleaning out all greenery which cannot be incorporated into the final plans for the park.

The second step in the program will be the removal of the flagstone walks which now bisect the park from corner to corner.

Edwin Kirbert was seated as president of the Birmingham Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Monday in the Community House. Serving with him for the year will be William Restrick, vice president; Forbes Hascall, secretary and James F. Moore, treasurer.

Directors are Richard A. Fischer, Charles Mortensen, Otis Thompson, Bertram Campbell and Walter R. Forbes.

Plans were announced for the annual inter-club golf tournament to be held July 23 at Sunnybrook Golf Club. The Rotarians, under the direction of Dr. George Martin, will host the current tournament.

The teeter board pattern continued in building within the city of Birmingham as the year reached the half-way mark. Permits ranged from a low of 15 (January) to a high of 64 (May) with 42 issued last month. Estimated costs went from $84,950 (February) to $753,318 (May). The June estimate was $343,130.

Comparison of the first six months of the current and past year shows a total of 221 in 1958 to 255 a year ago. Construction costs for the same period are $2,059,298 so far in 1958, compared to $2,274, 537 last year.

The Birmingham Area Humane Society is conducting a drive for funds to construct a cement block kennel to house its growing family of lost or injured animals.

Organized two and a half years ago, the group has expanded to serve all communities in the Birmingham area, according to Mrs. Karl Kocher, secretary.

The society is now boarding about 22 dogs, 18 kittens, 7 cats and a number of parakeets, she said.

Donations may be sent to Mrs. Kocher, 275 E. Maple, Birmingham, or to Mrs. Gladys Carl, president, 619 W. Frank St., Birmingham.

The Lake Paving Co., Birmingham, was awarded a $2,662 contract for work at the Selfridge Air Base, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers District office in Detroit announced today. The contract was one of 11 awarded to Michigan firms for construction work totaling more than three million dollars.

Sullenberger Wants Ruling on Charges in a patient and another makes allegations about how many home calls I made," said Dr. Sullenberger.

"If we take the medical staff at its word, I don't see how these charges are germane to the case."

No ruling was made last night, but Ewart and one of the board members said privately that he expected the board would eliminate those charges about which there has been no testimony before undertaking to reach a decision.

Dr. Sullenberger also complained that he was having difficulty in getting witnesses to appear in his behalf.

"Some just laugh at the city's subpoenas," he said.

Others who are employed at the hospital, he said, hesitated to testify at a hearing at which medical staff members were present in the audience.

"They might be jeopardizing their bread and butter," he said.

Producing only one witness last night, Dr. Sullenberger repeatedly declined to name others who he maintained refused to appear.

After a heated discussion, the surgeon agreed to serve his subpoenas again, then furnish the board with a list of his witnesses.

Board Chairman Willis Brewer promised to enlist the help of the city to take action if any witness does not show up.

Ewart said the hospital derives its powers to subpoena from the City Commission. "You might also obtain a criminal warrant against a reluctant witness," he told the surgeon.

Dr. Sullenberger said he plans to serve "a number of witnesses" to appear when the hearing resumes Wednesday night.

Last night's wittness was a former City Commissioner, Dr. Roy V. Cooley Jr., a member of the medical staff, who also is involved in a fight with the hospital. He claims hospital by-laws violate his rights and is suing for full surgical privileges.

Dr. Cooley testified that Dr. Sullenberger had performed surgery on many of his patients. He said that Dr. Sullenberger was "very prompt" for his operations, "especially in emergencies."

Dr. Cooley recalled two instances in which two other Pontiac General physicians refused to operate on his patients, although one was the surgeon on call, he said, and the other had been involved in the case earlier that day.

Dr. Sullenberger came to his aid in one of the cases, Dr. Cooley said.

The testimony was aimed at refuting charges that Dr. Sullenberger disrupted normal operating room procedures by temper tantrums and failure to show up for his scheduled operations.

Boat Owner Faces Charges

Lifeguard Claiming Wanton Action Placed Children in Danger

The Sheriff's Department today advanced its drive for lake safety by obtaining its first warrant charging reckless motor boating on complaint of a private citizen.

The warrant was signed by Waterford Township Justice Donald E. Adams on recommendation of Assistant Prosecutor Edward H. Shigley.

In it, a Pontiac Lake Recreation Area lifeguard, Norman Mattheson, 452 W. Woodland, Ferndale, accuses a Warren man of running his motor boat through a swimming area Saturday, "narrowly missing a group of small children."

Named in the warrant is Fenton Degrondchamp, 3711 Dallan St.

Deputy Donald K. Kratt, who obtained the warrant, said he expected to pick up Degrondchamp in time for arraignment before Justice Adams tomorrow.

Kratt, coordinator of the sheriff's water safety program, said that about 50 similar warrants have been obtained so far this year by special deputies patrolling the county's lakes.

"This is the first time, however, that we have obtained a warrant on the basis of information furnished solely by a private citizen," Kratt said.

Mattheson was able to note the registration number of the motor boat, Kratt said, and with this information police files were checked for the name of the boat owner.

The lifeguard also was prepared to identify Degrondchamp in court as to whether or not he was the person operating the boat, Kratt said.

"This is all that any citizen has to do in order to cooperate with the Sheriff's Department in cracking down on reckless boating," said Kratt. "Obtain the boat registration number and be prepared to identify the boat operator in court."

The state requires registration numbers this year for the first time to aid law officers in enforcing the new boating restrictions.

Children to Run Wild on 'Dream' Playground

CLEVELAND (AP) — Here's a fun playground where children can live it up:

4.45 Inches of Rain in San Antonio

5 Tornadoes Over Texas

By United Press International

Texas bore the brunt of the nation's weather, recording five tornadoes and severe rains last night.

Officials said the tornadoes apparently caused no damage.

San Antonio, Tex., measured 4.45 inches of rainfall throughout yesterday. Bus terminals, autos and homes were flooded and San Antonio police rescued at least 75 rain-stranded motorists.

One funnel cloud was sighted 30 miles northeast of Waco, Tex.

The night rains extended in a broad band from eastern Texas northeastward through the Ohio Valley and into the northern Appalachians.

In the Appalachians, cool air maintained a slow movement southeastward into a region of warm, humid air, causing some locally heavy showers along the air mass boundary.

Akron, Ohio, recorded 1.5 inches of rain while the Wilkes Barre-Scranton, Pa., area recorded 1.25 inches.

Rains also struck the eastern slopes of the northern and central Rockies, extending westward across northern Idaho. Miles City, Mont., recorded .83 of an inch and Helena, Mont., measured .33 of an inch.

Clear skies covered the Western Great Basin and desert region although a light drizzle fell along the Northwest Coast.

Today's forecast called for mostly fair skies through the northwest interior until mid or late afternoon, when scattered thundershowers were predicted. Other portions of the nation slated for afternoon showers were the southeast quarter, extending northward through the Upper Ohio Valley across the Atlantic States, and a second area covering much of the plains.

Clear skies were forecast for the southwest quarter of the nation and from the Upper Mississippi Valley across the Great Lakes Region.

Capone Hoods Face Charges

Accused of Infiltrating Labor Relations With Chicago Restaurants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rackets Committee charged today that Capone gang hoodlums have been getting the gravy from labor-management relations in the Chicago Restaurant industry.

Gangster penetration into this field came under study as the committee got down to actual cases in its new investigation of the underworld. It developed the general theme of the inquiry last week.

Virgil Peterson, veteran director of the Chicago Crime Commission, was scheduled as the lead-off witness, reviving the role he played in the Senate Crime Committee Hearings of 1950-51.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Peterson would give the Rackets Committee the background on the Chicago restaurant business which is famed for fine food and naughty night life.

Other scheduled witnesses included four restaurant operators, a former waitress and a former union official. Some of the best known names of the Chicago underworld will be called to testify later.

The Chicago Restaurant Assn. was expected to figure prominently in the hearings.

Waterford Residents Get Precinct Change

Approximately 17,500 registration cards have been mailed to Waterford Township residents, regarding new alterations and divisions of the 12 township precincts, and the addition of six more, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

The change was necessary because of over-crowded precincts, due to the greatly increased population within the last few years, Seeterlin said.

With the purchase of three new automatic voting machines this year, the township now has 37 machines in operation in all of the precincts.

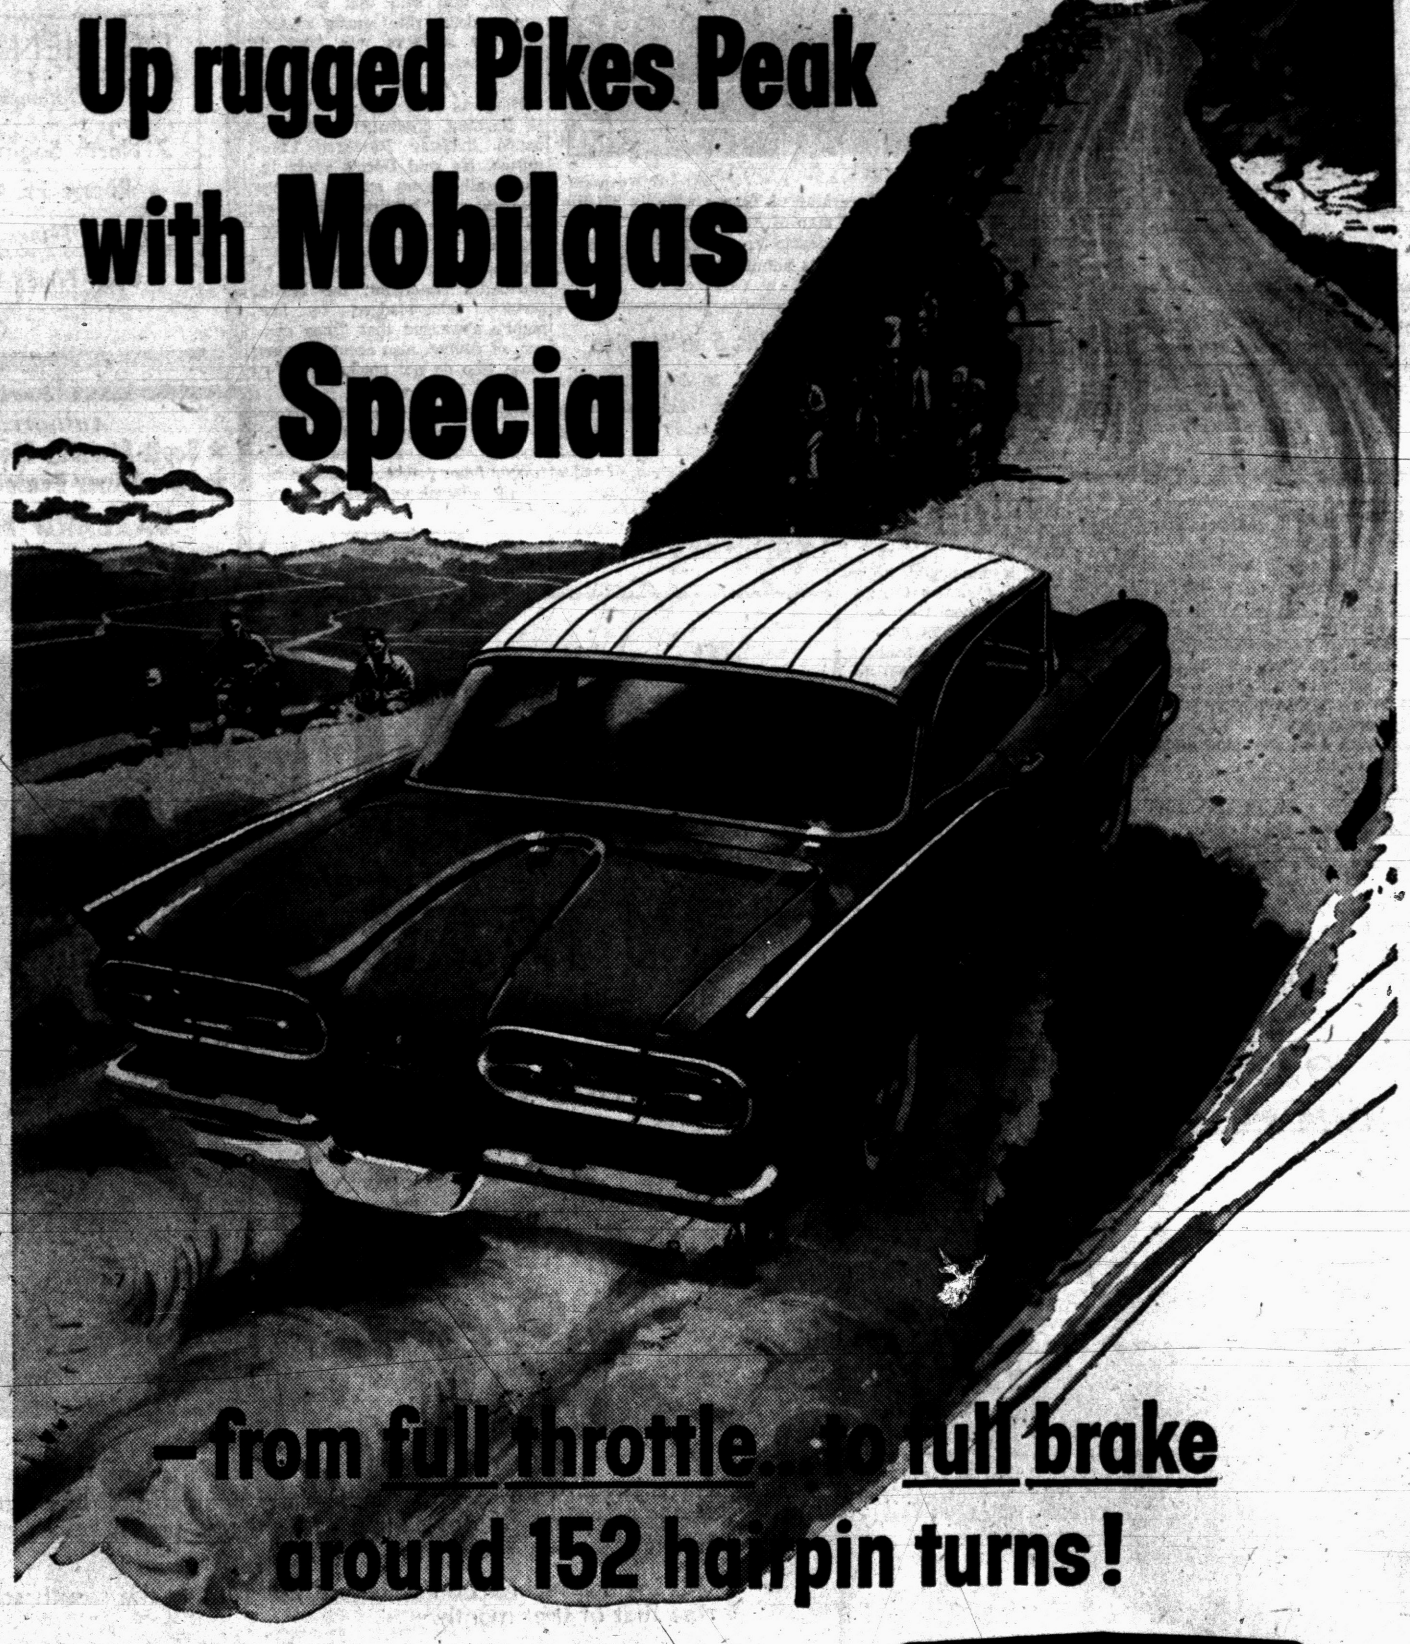

Residents who have not received a registration card, and who wish to vote in the August 5 primary election, have been urged to contact the township clerk's office.

European Shipowners Say: Just Give Us the Cargo From the Lakes

(The St. Lawrence Seaway project is nearing completion. Since trade with Europe will be a vital factor in the financial success of the Seaway, the Toledo Blade recently sent staff writer Alan F. Schoedel on a three-week tour of European ports to evaluate developments across the Atlantic. Here is a three-part series on the seaway outlook in the eyes of Europeans.

(This one tells how European shipping interests, with generations of experience in world trade, look on their chance to send big ships into the heart of the American Midwest.

(The second will relate the hopes of some European nations that the seaway may be the answer to some of their own trade difficulties. The third describes various European ports, their problems and their plans to get their share of seaway business.)

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — If Great Lakes ports are noisily optimistic about the prospects of St. Lawrence Seaway trade, the big ports of Europe could be described as quietly hopeful.

Patience, born of generations of experience with the vagaries of nations and world trade winds, is the keel of the attitude among European shipping and port interests.

And for this patience, the European appraisal of the seaway potential is perhaps the more long range and significant.

After a three-week tour of European ports, Toledo Blade writer Alan F. Schoedel reported that generally Europeans feel nothing but good can come when the seaway is completed next year. But just how much, they believe, only time can tell.

Their patience does not mean the European interests are sitting on their sterns waiting to see what floats in from the seaway before getting up steam.

In West Germany, a shipowner's firm is literally stretching little freighters into big ones with its sights on seaway business.

In Amsterdam, port interests are trying to change long-established shipping patterns they believe might scuttle the city's chances in competition for seaway trade.

In several nations, organizations have been formed to promote use of the seaway and stretch trade lines directly into the heart of the American Midwest.

For an example of the European mixture of hope and caution with regard to the seaway, consider developments in England.

For many years, the Dutch-Norwegian Fjell-Oranje Lines that pioneered service from the United Kingdom to the Great Lakes in the early 1930s was all alone on the run.

In 1952, the British Manchester Lines entered the picture, building some vessels especially designed for the 14-foot-deep channels of the St. Lawrence River.

More recently, some half dozen other British lines started sending ships into the Lakes.

In the words of Williams McGilligray, a director of the British Furness Line, steamship lines now are moving into Great Lakes trade "like flies around a jam pot."

NEED MORE CARGO

At the same time, McGilligray notes, the Great Lakes cargo has not increased as fast as the number of ships to haul it.

With more and more ships entering the Lakes to divide up available cargo, McGilligray sees only two alternatives:

Either the ports generate enough cargo to make the expanded service worthwhile for the shipping lines or some of the operators on the Lakes "will go to the wall."

Another shipping executive, Norman Hughes, manager of the Cunard Lines' London office, was asked whether the various steamship lines would give the Lakes ports ample time to prove their capacity to generate cargo.

"We've been in the business a long time, and we're patient," Hughes replied. He said Cunard was proceeding cautiously, but is counting on the growing industrial population of Midwest America to produce more business activity and eventually more cargo.

Donald A. Jelly of SLA, Ltd., London agents for Fjell-Oranje, advised Lakes ports not to be misled by the steamship lines' first flurry of interest in the seaway because "everyone will want to have a go at it."

If the cargo doesn't materialise, he added, "you don't sail big ships half empty."

In experimenting with Lakes trade, the shipowner's firm of Sartori & Berger in Hamburg, West Germany, is trying to have its fresh water and drink it, too.

The firm wanted to get into the Lakes and decided it couldn't wait for the seaway to provide room for the bigger ships. So within the last four years it built five small vessels which appeared to have the typical "little laker" design.

But the ships had one important difference. Special reinforcement and outsize power plants made them expansible.

The first, the Catherine Sartori, already has been stretched out.

Originally 258 feet long and able to get through existing locks on the St. Lawrence River, the ship was cut in two after a year of Lakes service. A 32-foot section of hull was welded and bolted into the gap. The lengthened ship is 290 feet long and her cargo capacity has risen from 2,240 tons to the present 2,842 tons.

Kansas Schedules Vote on Barring Union Shop

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit closed or union shops in Kansas will be submitted to the voters at the next general election.

The Kansas Supreme Court yesterday ordered that the "right-to-work" issue be placed on the November ballot. The proposal would make it unlawful to require membership or nonmembership in a labor union as a condition of employment.

The court, called upon to rule whether the title of the amendment was misleading, directed that the title be stricken but that the rest of the amendment be printed on the ballot.

Sentenced to Prison for Issuing Bad Check

A former Birmingham man, who Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said has a long record of passing bad checks, yesterday was sentenced to prison by Oakland County Judge Clark J. Adams for violating probation.

Jack Bell, 28, of 2130 Votrobeck Ct., Detroit, received the 1 to 2-year sentence after he violated a two-year probation term by issuing a check without an account.

Hungry, Dirty, Fearful Trip Leads to U. S. Citizenship

Korean Ragamuffin Makes Good

By RUSSELL LANE

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—It's hard to believe that nine years ago Joseph Anthony was a ragged, dirty, hungry boy of the streets in Seoul, Korea.

Today, at 18, he's a pleasant, scholarly young man, preparing to take his oath of U.S. citizenship and to enter Quincy College in the fall.

"Oh, I'd have become a full-fledged citizen long ago," he said. "But the law requires that an immigrant reside in this wonderful country five years before he may be naturalized—and that is wise."

Joe was a hard-bitten, veteran ragamuffin when he encountered American soldiers and fell in love with the United States at the outbreak of the Korean War.

His American dream began with kindness of an Army sergeant who fed him, and was nurtured by the good will he found everywhere doing odd jobs for soldiers and airmen. GIs translated his name from Shu to Joe, or, more often, Little Joe.

An Air Force colonel smuggled him to Japan, where a chaplain, the Rev. Donald Werr, took charge of his fortunes. Father Werr, now assistant to the president of Quincy College, gave Joe his last name — in honor of St. Anthony, patron of lost objects. He prepared Joe for coming to the United States, and hundreds of servicemen helped.

Today, Father Werr is Joe's legal guardian.

Joe spent the first year of his residence in the United States as a citizen of Boy's Town, Neb. He has lived in Quincy for the last four years. Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Biller, friends of Father Werr, have provided him with a home.

He graduated from Notre Dame High School May 30 in the upper 5 per cent of his class and won a scholarship from the Adams County Medical Society.

Joe is polishing up a 100,000-word book, "The Boy from Korea," which tells his story. He has talked on freedom and citizenship before 52 high school audiences, and won fifth place this year in the National High School Oratorical Contest.

And what does Joe think of his adopted country?

"I now hear church bells instead of fearful machine-gun shots," he says. "I read newspapers instead of propaganda leaflets. I speak freely instead of hesitantly. I walk with pride instead of suspicion. I live in a home instead of a hut. I eat three full meals instead of two soup meals a day. I experience laughter instead of tears. I know kindness instead of bitterness. All these and so much more make up the voice of democracy that is constantly making a deep impression on me."

HOW TEXAS COMPARES — Map of Texas, with its 267,339 square miles, is superimposed on map of Alaska, with its 586,400 square miles. Alaska is more than double the size of Texas, which has been largest U. S. state since its admission to the Union in 1845.

5 Held for Smashing Vehicles in Garage

NEW YORK (AP)—Five boys, the oldest 15, were accused today of causing $25,000 worth of damage in a three-day campaign of vandalism at a garage on Manhattan's West Side.

Police said the teen-agers broke into the Clark Equipment Co. garage on Independence Day and, using powerful fork lifts as battering rams, spread devastation among five panel trucks, two automobiles and 31 of the cargo loaders.

Again and again, they rammed the loaders into each other, their two-pronged forks ripping apart every obstacle.

They had so much fun, police said, they returned to the garage the next two days.

All five were picked up and booked on juvenile delinquency charges and released in their parents' custody for children's court appearances.

Blast Kills 5 in Mexico

TORREON, Mexico (AP)—Five Mexicans were killed yesterday by the explosion of a tank of anhydrous ammonia as it was being unloaded at a ranch 40 miles northwest of Torreon for use as fertilizer. Thirty persons who breathed the fumes were hospitalized. Three were in serious condition.

Report Issued on Smoking

Public Health Service Says Cigarettes Not Sole Cause of Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Public Health Service says, "it is obvious that heavy smoking is not the sole cause of lung cancer."

But the service said last night a new study "adds further to the growing weight of evidence that there is a high degree of statistical association between lung cancer and heavy and prolonged cigrette smoking."

The health service issued the statement in connection with a report made public over the weekend that a study of the deaths of 7,382 veterans found a much higher death rate among cigarette smokers than among nonsmokers.

The report, compiled by Dr. Harold F. Dorn, chief statistician of the National Institutes of Health, also said that the lung cancer death rate among regular cigarette smokers was bout 10 times that of nonsmokers.

This was challenged by Timothy V. Hartnett, chairman of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee. He said Dorn's study ignored all factors except tobacco smoking and "admittedly included no clinical or laboratory research. . . ."

Without directly referring to Hartnett's statement, the health service acknowledged in last night's statement that "lung cancer, of course, also occurs among those who do not smoke."

And it added that "the factors in heavy and prolonged cigarette smoking which may cause lung cancer have not been demonstrated by clinical or laboratory research."

Tibet has about twice the total area of Texas.

Soviets Explore Death, Revival

Scientists Make Studies in Seeking Method of Restoring Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet scientists, in an extraordinarily comprehensive way, are "exploring the problems of death and revival," an American doctor recently returned from Moscow said today.

Dr. Jean Henley of Columbia University medical center said she knew of no comparable program in this country.

She said in an interview that the Soviets are carrying on thorough, highly systemized research into the complex bodily changes that occur at death — and seeking means for combatting them to restore life.

"They're studying every imaginable thing that happens, from every physiological standpoint," she said. Biochemists, neuroanatomists, neuro-pathologists and others are all coordinating their skills on the problem, she said.

"They're trying to determine what happens to the cells, the nerves and reflexes at death, what chemical and physical changes occur, and to find the maximum limits of revival," she said.

Dr. Henley, who toured Soviet medical institutions with five other American women scientists, said she watched a Soviet experiment in which a dog, drained of blood and dead for five minutes, was brought back to life.

"It was a very impressive experiment," she said. "But I don't think it was world-shaking." She said she thought similar work has been done in the United States—although three minutes is considered here to be the longest period of death from which normal brain recovery can be expected.

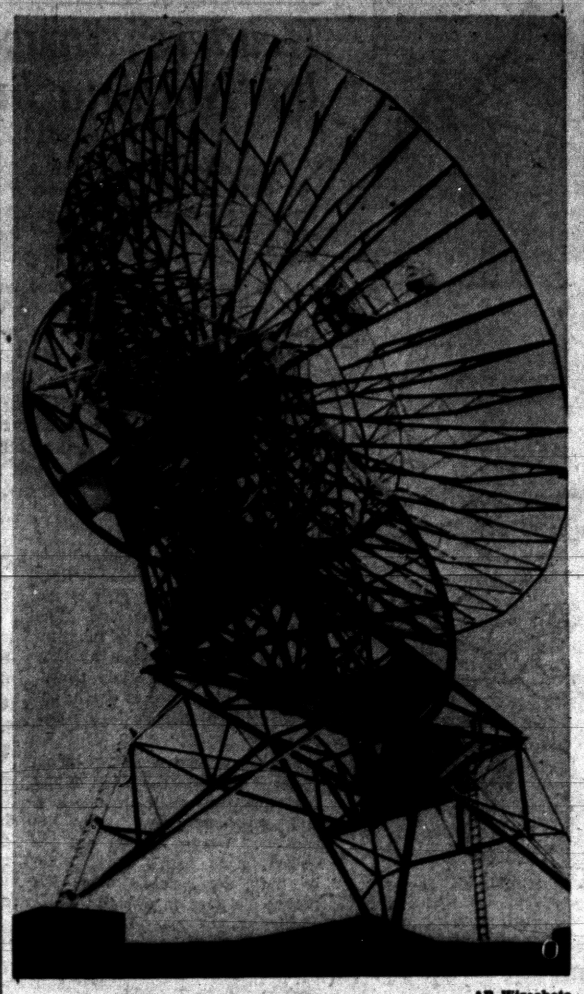

An American Heart Assn. spokesman said he knew of no identical experiments with like results.

Soviet medical reports have told of dogs being revived after being dead up to an hour, through artificial refrigeration. However, Dr. Henley said that in the experiment she witnessed, "no hypothermia (refrigeration) was used."

"The dog's temperature was normal," she said.

"They (the Soviets) did have some techniques—some tricks — that may be of use," she said.

SPACE PROBER — This is a model of a radio antenna sensitive enough to contact space vehicles beyond the moon which soon will be built on California's Mojave desert. The Defense Department said it will be built by the Army's Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., and installed at Camp Irwin. It said construction of the giant antenna is the first step in building the ground equipment to use in the lunar probe program. The open steel bowl will be 85 feet in diameter.

Finland Elects 50 Communists

But Reds Not Expected to Form Government in Spite of Gains

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The Communists made the biggest gains in Finland's general elections but competent sources said today there was no chance of their forming the next government.

In the balloting Sunday and yesterday, the Reds and the Social Democrats each won 50 of the 200 seats in the single-chamber Parliament, a gain of seven for the Communists and a loss of four for the Social Democrats.

The Socialist losses were due chiefly to a split within the party last September. Otherwise they would have had the largest parliamentary group, with 53 members.

The Agrarians, who have dominated most of the postwar coalition cabinets in this small Scandinavian neutral next to the Soviet Union, finished third with 48 seats. They dropped five seats to the Communists, mostly in the north.

The Red Gains were primarily attributed to unemployment and a reaction against increased activity of rightist groups. The campaign was fought mainly on economic issues.

Liquor Bottles Give Headache to Violinmaker

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Leonard V. Porter, 72, has a liquor problem.

Ten years ago, just about the time Porter took his last drink, he started collecting unusual liquor decanters—reluctantly. His daughter Mrs. Vivian Andrea sent him the first one, simply because she liked the design. Before Porter knew it, his three sons and friends got in the act, sending him unusual bottles as gifts.

All the bottles were full, and that's the problem. They still are.

Porter, a Kansas City violin maker, is moving into a smaller house which doesn't have storage room for his 56 decanters and uncounted two and three ounce containers.

He can't sell them because he doesn't have a liquor license, and, he said, "I can't afford to give this stuff away."

Bomb Kills Many in Beirut Dime Store

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An incendiary bomb wrecked Beirut's leading 5 and 10 cent store today, killing or wounding at least 30 persons.

Flames quickly whipped through the building, evidently trapping some of the occupants. At least 100 salesgirls are usually employed in the store, which was doing a bustling business when the bomb went off at 10 a. m.

The bomb was in a soft drink delivery truck parked in front of the building. The truck was demolished. The blast shook buildings throughout the area and shattered glass for blocks.

It was the worst act of terrorism in Beirut since a bomb exploded in a crowded streetcar May 26, killing six and wounding 20 persons. The bombings are the work of extremists among the Lebanese rebels trying to enforce a general strike called in an effort to paralyze the government.

The explosion occurred after several days of relative quiet in downtown Beirut. Shopkeepers had begun to ignore the general strike order and the bombing probably was intended as a warning to them.

Eight Persons Killed in Panama Accident

PANAMA (AP) — Seven high school students and a woman were killed yesterday in Panama's worst traffic accident. At least 12 other students were injured, four critically, when their bus was crushed between two trucks.

The bus smashed into a truck that had stopped. A second truck rammed it from behind.

Released After 8 Days of Captivity

Treated Well by Rebels, Michigan Man Reports

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A Michigan metallurgical engineer freed by Fidel Castro's Cuban rebels says he was well treated during his eight days of captivity.

In a telephone interview from Havana with the Grand Rapids Herald, Andrew Poll, 37, of Grand Rapids, said the State Department had thrown a screen of secrecy over the entire affair and he had been ordered to give no details of his capture.

A State Department spokesman confirmed the news embargo, and told the Herald:

"We fear that any clue that might be given to the rebel hideouts might lead to air and land attacks and possibly result in dead Americans."

The Cuban rebels still hold 30 kidnaped American servicemen, three civilians and a Canadian.

Poll said he was held prisoner in an area deep in rugged, mountainous terrain, forrested by dense tropical jungle. But he refused to talk about the type of food he had eaten, or whether he had seen Castro and his brothers.

The newspaper reported Poll said he was abducted the morning of June 30 by a group of heavily armed men, although they did not threaten him with their weapons.

Poll was met at the United States Guantanamo Bay Naval base by his wife, Florence, and their two children Janine, 4, and Cynthia, 7, when he was brought back by helicopter from the rebels' mountain hideout.

He returned Monday night to Mayari, Cuba, where he has lived since moving to the island in 1954. Poll is an employe of the United States-built Nicaro nickel plant.

Ships Ram Off France, at Least One Man Killed

BOULOGNE, France (AP) — Two tankers collided in the English Channel off Boulogne early today. One sailor was known to have died and two others were injured.

The tankers were the 11,209-ton Dona Eugenia, of Panamanian registry, and the 12,906-ton Rvje, out of Oslo.

The French tug Jean Bart went to the aid of the Evje, which was damaged in the stern and lost power. The Dona Eugene was damaged above the waterline and continued under her own power.

Lock Gates Replace Historic Town Sites

With the opening of the lock gates at Iroquois, Ont., the familiar canal which paralleled No. 2 Highway from Cornwall west for seven miles and in places not more than 100 feet away, is no more. Exchange of greetings between motorists and crews is a thing of the nostalgic past.

Beautiful and historic town sites, farms, cemeteries and homes are under 90 feet of water. The scenic Long Sault Rapids are flooded over and the ship canal now is on the American side utilizing the Eisenhower and Snell Locks and the 10 mile long Wiley-Dondero Channel.

For those of us who may be a little hazy on the St. Lawrence route, and who isn't a bit confused, we learn that coming up river westbound from Montreal a vessel is lifted 69 feet above sea level at the first lock around the Lachine Rapids, into Lake St. Louis. Across that lake are two more locks at Beauharnois, Que., which raise the ship into Lake St. Francis 153 feet above sea level.

Now the boat crosses to the American side and the Snell Lock, then the Wiley-Dondero channel, thence through the Eisenhower Lock and lifted 242 feet above sea level into the new 28 mile long "power pool" tentatively named Lake St. Lawrence. Next the Iroquois Lock raises the vessel 246 feet above sea level into Lake Ontario, then through the Thousand Isles, where Sec. DULLES has a summer home, to the Welland Canal connecting Lakes Ontario and Erie.

On the Canadian built 129 year old canal eight locks are needed to lift the ship into Lake Erie, bypassing Niagara Falls. These are the last locks in the Seaway chain and may have to be enlarged to meet expected increased traffic. Much is still to be done in deepening interlake channels and harbors. By 1959 the entire project will be open for ships up to 27 foot draft, instead of the present 14.

In the meantime a huge power development athwart the international border is being built by the State of New York and Province of Ontario and will be shared equally. On July 1 the New York side started delivering hydroelectric power to Massena where numerous industries have been drawn by the prospect of limitless power.

The whole vast project is a good example of the best kind of international co-operation. The United States and Canada have worked together for mutual benefit.

Senators in Congress Working Full Speed

The U.S. Senate is often pictured as a sort of leisurely club where lawmakers talk a lot and don't do much.

The present session of the 85th Congress doesn't fit into this frame at all. For instance, since January the Senate has studied and passed 29 bills on the domestic economy, 14 on foreign affairs and 21 dealing with miscellaneous problems. On 23 matters of major legislation, says Congressional Quarterly, the Senate has completed work on 15 and has all but two ready for final passage.

Senate Majority Leader LYNDON JOHNSON is the driving force behind these accomplishments. The Senate is in session nights and Saturdays and Senatorial leaves are being refused, thus keeping Senators from political rallies all over the country.

By mid-August, Sen. Johnson told his colleagues, they could get back home for campaigning if they passed a housing bill, a public works measure, re-organized the defense department and extended the reciprocal trade program. Otherwise, they'd be kept that much longer in Washington.

Why the sense of urgency? Perhaps the explanation lies in an interview with the Milwaukee Journal. Said Sen. JOHNSON:

"Since the last Congress adjourned, a Russian sputnik began circling overhead, a business recession set in and jobs began to fold. The country is in great peril. We must work as though no other Congress would ever have an opportunity to meet this challenge, for, in fact, none will have an opportunity comparable."

The Man About Town

Our Newest State

Local Items About What Has Been Doing Up There

Failure: What comes when we work too little or too many.

An air mail letter from that former Pontiac man,

Harley Brearson,

whom I visited at Skagway, says: "We surely tore this ghost town loose when the good news came the other night. Even the ghost of walked, and the weeds in main street perked up." Harley has been there since the Klondike rush, married an Eskimo woman, and is a real sourdough—and brags about it.

A salient fact about Alaska comes from a speech in Congress on July 1 by our

William S. Broomfield:

"Already found there are 31 of the 33 metals necessary for our nation's defense—and only two per cent of Alaska has been surveyed."

I distinctly remember the remark of our

Harry J. Klingler

when he visited Alaska four years ago: "It should be our 49th state."

got out a 100-page issue, with a 49-star full-page flag in colors, boosting the statehood movement four years ago, that was the biggest newspaper effort I ever saw in such a humble plant.

After two trips to Alaska, on both of which I interviewed

William Prescott Allen,

publisher of its capital city (Juneau) Daily Empire, I can appreciate their joy and enthusiasm in becoming our 49th state.

It is quite appropriate and highly fitting that the big canal recently opened in the St. Lawrence Waterways Development be called as these two men had much to do with making the whole project possible. This is especially true of our own who worked days and dreamed nights about it, both during and since his service in Congress.

In connection with the Board of Supervisors recognizing his two-thirds of a century of civic service, in connection with the celebration of his ninetieth birthday, has only one comment: "Why all the fuss. I only endeavored to do the right thing."

George J. Scott

Old Faithful . . . Beginning to Steam

David Lawrence Says:

Adams Probe Smears Congress

WASHINGTON — The "mess in Congress" continues. Now it turns out that a chief investigator for a congressional committee arranged for a hidden microphone in the hotel room of a witness. He was promptly fired, but will the committee use the information unlawfully gathered for nearly a week? Also, a portion of the witness' papers was stolen from his locked room over the weekend. Responsibility for the theft has not yet been fixed by the Washington police or by the FBI.

LAWRENCE

This is a sequel to many other strange happenings which indicate that a committee of Congress has allowed itself to be used to carry on a personal vendetta between businessmen.

What the country is told is that this is somehow all germane to an investigation of independent commissions and boards and the way persons seek to influence them.

SMEAR OF CONGRESS

Actually it is developing into a smear of Congress itself, as well as of men in public office. To imply, in effect, that men in Washington, both in the executive and legislative branches, are crooked because they take gifts from someone who does business with the government is to besmirch officialdom as a whole. For the emphasis now is on suspicion and not on evidence of wrongdoing.

The Supreme Court of the United States again and again has frowned on what it terms "fishing expeditions" by congressional committees. There is no authority under the Constitution to require a witness to disclose in public his private business affairs unless it can be proved that some particular piece of information is germane to the hearing.

But the technique used is to leak something out to a hostile press representative who is also engaged in a smearing job. Then, unless the witness reveals all the details of his business, no matter how irrelevant it may be to the inquiry itself, he is held up in the headlines as having suppressed something. The end result is to force him to testify on unrelated matters concerning his methods of fighting business competitors.

PROBES IMPORTANT

Congressional investigations are important to the conduct of government. They have been of inestimable value in exposing weaknesses in the governmental structure. But the inquiries have been most successful when the committees have kept their eyes fixed on those weaknesses, rather than allowing their inquiries to be used as a vehicle of mudslinging.

Today the revelation that Sherman Adams accepted gifts from a businessman who happened to be his close friend has been exaggerated into a widely spread charge that something unlawful was done. Actually no such evidence has been produced.

Even the businessman who showered his gifts, including vicuna coats, on governors of states as well as employes in the federal government has not been found to have exerted any improper influence on any governmental agency. His inquiries were lawfully made.

But the congressional committee has not been content to confine itself to pertinent evidence. It has delved into the realm of tax deductions and tax returns as if to imply that because the businessman made an inacurate computation on some expenses involving negligible amounts of taxes, this constitutes proof of his intent to exert an improper influence on a governmental commission through the medium of a friend.

There have been excesses in congressional hearings before, but never has a committee allowed itself to be used in this way as a vehicle for the venting of spleen by one businessman against another. Nor have committee investigators before engaged in such highhanded tactics as now are being revealed.

The quicker the "mess in Congress" is cleaned up by the Democratic Party's current leadership, the sooner the country will begin to think better of its legislators.

The Country Parson

WC 7-10

"There are more members who can tell you how the church should be run than are willing to help do it."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Faulty Nutrition Causes Low Fertility in People

"What is worrying me" (writes a Boston reader)) "is that my daughter, 24, who is built like my husband's five sisters, may not have any children. My sisters-in-law are all married, aged 28 to 40, all have mannish figures, some have hair on their chins and none has a child. Is sterility inherited? What would you do if you were in my place? (Mrs. L. F.)"

DR. BRADY

Some students of the question believe infertility or low fertility is inherited. To the best of my knowledge, this belief is untenable in respect to human beings, though it may apply to animals.

In view of the mannish figures of the aunts, if I were in your place, I'd want my daughter to consult a gynecologist, that is, a physician who limits his or her practice to diseases of women. Your family physician will refer her to a good one.

Being what you might regard as hipped on the subject of nutrition—I believe most everyday ailments are manifestations of nutritional deficiency—I am more impressed by the view of those students who think infertility or low fertility in human beings is a consequence of faulty nutrition, not just till payday but inadequate diet the year around.

With this thought rattling around in my cranium I'd want my daughter to substitute plain wheat for refined white flour in her everyday diet. Wheat, cracked or ground every morning or at least two or three times a week, supplies some of the nutritional essentials which are required to maintain good nutrition. In women good nutrition promotes femininity and fertility.

Whether the value of wheat in your daughter's diet is referable to the vitamin B complex, the vitamin A or the vitamin E content, I don't know. I know only that plain wheat is the best source of B complex and E and a good source of A.

Vitamin E in concentrated form (wheat germ oil) has been peddled as a kind of magic cure for what have you. But the fact remains that a good chew of plain wheat—if you can chew anything so crude—gives you all of these vitamins in the most potent form. So does anything made of freshly cracked or ground wheat. If you want further suggestions, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet "Wheat to Eat."

Principle reason for consulting the gynecologist is that such a specialist would be the better judge whether sex hormone would promote normal development.

Voice of the People

Readers Answer Letter by 'Nothing but a Woman'

Three cheers for Nothing but a Woman. I, too, am getting tired of this debate about women's clothing. Biblical men wore robes, which are, after all, shirts. If men then felt shirts were proper attire for both men and women, that invalidates the claim pants are improper for women simply because men wear them.

As for the Bible, in the past, men who believed the Bible was the only arbitrator of ethics have committed unspeakable crimes. In the name of God and Bible, some who considered themselves prophets in Biblical times would wind up in prison today, and justifiably.

Those ancient moral codes were founded on needs of a savage, primitive people and many of their rules can't apply today. Only the Ten Commandments are ageless and even these can be, and are, interpreted in many ways. We don't really know what God is, but for me one thing is sure: He would disown the Bible if He could.

Nothing but a Woman clearly represents what the Bible defines as the carnal mind which is not subject to the Law of God. The Word came not by will of man but holy men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. To be carnal minded is death, but to be spiritual minded is life and peace.

As for women wearing men's dress, it helps to rob them of the finer qualities which are due her, and supplants them with the coarser. Where women are required to do men's work, while on duty, for safety's sake, it's best to be done in overalls.

'Ticket Parents of Child in Street'

I wonder if any of the dogs and small children living in the area two blocks south of Auburn avenue along Parke street have any parents. I drive home that way each night.

They spend half their time in the street. Fast thinking of a bus driver and a mail truck was the only thing that saved two small children from perhaps being killed when they ran into the street. Brakes are applied but never a mother comes out to see why.

Believe me, if the police were to give out a ticket to parents each time a little one is found in the street, it might save a life. One of them is going to get it yet, and I just pray I'm not the driver, as I have little ones also.

Replies Come in About Alcoholics

Alcoholics aren't developed by sales of a mild beverage on one day of the week, in one small city, as a recent letter implied. Alcoholics are a problem as are polio, TB, cancer, etc., and the letter asks why we don't make an effort to save these people. The answer is in education, logical argument and common sense, not rules and regulations. Don't, I pray, bring back prohibition. That's what made a beer drinker out of me.

Still Hopping

A letter in Wednesday's paper lists statistics regarding drinking drivers. Please don't quote statistics. They prove women are safer drivers than men, yet many men are seen driving like women. They prove that speed is contributory in a high percentage of accidents, yet all drivers at one time or another exceed posted limits and are thus speeders.

The letter also asks why we make liquor sales legal. For the same reason we issue driving licenses without a real examination, which is to avoid doing anything that will jeopardize sale of automobiles, reduce employment and lower the standard of living.

Letters Disagree on Child Cruelty

In answer to Mrs. Robert Auer's article upholding Mrs. Voss' cruel and horrible act against her little daughter, I wouldn't care to visit either home. They aren't in my class of fine people. Let's put the two of them in their small car under the same existing conditions and see how they feel.

Mrs. William Primeau

Clarkston

I agree that making a child stay in a car for misbehaving downtown shouldn't constitute cruelty. When we were small and went downtown with my parents, we knew we either had to behave or stay in the car, summer or winter. There were plenty of times we stayed in the car, and I can't say that it did us any damage, but we sure got to know our folks meant business when they said to behave. This "child cruelty" thing is getting out of hand. If it's something that will do permanent damage, that's one thing, but a little discomfort can be a good lesson to a child. There are too many do-gooders running around these days.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Teach Child to Swim—Right Way

Deborah's uncle taught her to swim. But he employed the wrong method. All dads should make it a point to teach their children to swim even before the youngsters enter first grade. But use the correct method outlined below which I employed with our five Crane children. Don't produce a swimmer and meanwhile give him a lifelong fear of the water.

By DR. GEOORGE W. CRANE

CASE Y - 356: Deborah J., aged 11, was visiting her uncle who is a medical friend of mine in Chicago.

Deborah came from Kentucky and had never learned to swim, partly because there were no lakes in her home territory.

DR. CRANE

Her uncle took her to the beach. But Deborah refused to venture out into deep water, because so many people were splashing all around her.

Her uncle coaxed, but to no avail. He is a dominant, go-getter type of man who doesn't like to see people surrender to fear and indecision.

So he finally grabbed Deborah, despite her screams of terror, and actually tossed her off the pier into water that was over her head.

Deborah came up choking and panicky. She was so hysterical she didn't even realize she was swimming till she finally touched the pier.

Since then she has been scared almost to death of water and refuses to go near a beach.

HOW TEACH SWIMMING

Her uncle was scolded by his wife for his rough method, but he argued:

"Well, she learned to swim, didn't she?"

True enough, but she will probably have a lifelong fear of the water!

It is far better to initiate youngsters, even before the kindergarten age, into a LIKING for water. Then, when they finally do learn to swim, their hearts will not beat so rapidly and they will not need to breathe so often.

I taught all five of our children to swim and started at the wash basin stage.

"Let's play a new game," I suggested. "Take a big breath. Then hold it and stick your face in the filled wash basin. See if you can keep your face under the water till I count to five."

They tried this, and I was very liberal with praise. If one of the youngsters was a little fearful, I would speed up my counting rate so he could qualify.

After they all reached five seconds easily, we went for ten, etc. Then we tried a variation. We'd fill the tub and let them sit therein.

At a given signal, they'd submerge their whole head while I counted. After this became commonplace, I let them support themselves on their hands while they floated in the tub.

Then they would hold their breath while lying face downward and lift both hands out, while I counted.

Soon they were at ease. The next step occurred at our little farm in Indiana. I'd have them wade into the creek till they were up to their waist.

Then they'd hold their breath and fall forward with a splash, as I counted. This gave them the sensation of sinking entirely under water but in a moment they would rise and float, though face downward.

Whenever they wanted air, they could stand up for the water was only waist deep.

Next, I let them hold their breath and fall into the stream, then dog paddle while I counted to 10.

Then I let them open their eyes and lift their faces out of water. They found they could now swim, and they had no terror about the water.

All of them became expert swimmers. In fact, Daniel and David were captains of their college swimming team. And they are regular water dogs, for they do not cherish the constant fear that besets Deborah.

So use tact and take a little time in teaching your child to swim. But be sure he is a swimmer before he enters first grade, for it is good life insurance.

And it gives him social poise, for a non-swimmer feels shy and inferior in the usual beach or picnic party.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

A GLASS OF MILK A DAY

You'll say one glassful isn't enough! But to thousands of children overseas, who rarely know how it feels to have a full stomach, it's like a gift from heaven. Some will gulp it down. Others have to be taught to like this white liquid they can't remember ever having tasted. Providing a glass of milk a day for millions of children is one of the vital aid programs carried on by America's 3 great faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish. It's only one small phase of programs that save countless lives overseas. Support your faith's OVERSEAS AID PROGRAM.

Senators Eye Kidnap Ransom

Seek to Find Out What Happened to Money in Greenlease Case

WASHINGTON (AP(— The Senate Rackets Committee is turning its spotlight on a $300,000 mystery — that of the missing Greenlease ransom money.

Committee counsel Robert F Kennedy has confirmed a report by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that a number of St. Louisans who figured in the sensational kidnap-murder case during its missing money phase have been subpoenaed to appear before the committee.

The $300,000 is part of $600,000 that six-year-old Bobby Greenlease's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greenlease of Kansas City, paid kidnapers Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady in 1953. The other half was recovered.

Kennedy said committee investigators have developed information that some union officials might know something about the money. But he said no more.

Kennedy said subpoenas have been issued for Joseph Costello, owner of the Ace Cab Co. of St. Louis; John Hager, former driver for the cab company; and Robert B. (Barney) Baker a reputed aide of Teamster Union President James R. Hoffa.

Hager was the cab driver credited with giving police the tip that led to Hall's arrest. He picked up Hall in St. Louis in October 1953 after Bobby Greenlease had been slain.

Baker reportedly was trustee of the Teamsters cab drivers local in St. Louis during the case.

Kennedy said that other subpoenaes have been issued in the case and the names would be announced in two or three weeks.

Hall and Mrs. Heady died together in Missouri's gas chamber Dec. 18, 1953.

Two Men Fight, Using Knife, Bow 'n' Arrows

CHICAGO (AP) — Police broke up a fight last night between two men, one armed with a knife, his opponent with a bow and arrows.

Sgt. Victor Carlson and policeman John Curtin said the trouble started when Charles Bateo, 37, arrived to visit his former wife Dorothy, 34, at the home of Elden Carlson 27. Carlson and Bateo, police said, started arguing and Bateo drew a knife.

Carlson got his bow and three steel-tipped arrows. As Bateo started to drive away from Carlson's North Side home, Carlson hit Bateo's car with one arrow. At that time, Sgt. Carlson and Curtin drove up and took both men in. They were held for further questioning.

You May Be Able to Stake Some—Free!

That's Land in Them Thar Alaskan Hills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — That's land in them thar Alaskan hills and you may be able to stake a claim to some—free. At least that's what Alaskan Gov. Michael A. (Mike) Stepovich hints.

The federal government now owns 99 per cent of Alaska's 586,000 square miles. Stepovich, appearing on a TV program yesterday, said when one-fourth of the land is handed over to the new State of Alaska "We hope to be more lenient in our rules and regulations as far as homesteading is concerned."

The statehood bill Congress passed last Monday provides for 25 per cent of the federal land to go under state ownership. Alaska will not become a full-fledged state until later this year—probably in December.

Stepovich said the land would be used to attract industries and settlers to the sparsely-settled northern territory which is more than twice as big as Texas.

"In all probability we'll sell some of the land and lease some of the land," Stepovich said. He did not give any details of the homestead plans. Under homestead laws, settlers gained title to millions of acres of western lands by cultivating them.

Stepovich also said he believed Alaska financially could support a state government. Opponents of the statehood bill said the federal government would have to subsidize Alaska. But the governor said his territory had a 10 million budget surplus this year.

The lack of adequate transportation, highways and businesses are Alaska's main problems, he said.

He predicted Alaskans "overwhelmingly" would accept statehood in the referendum required before the territory can become a state. He predicted a margin of 7-1 or 10-1 in favor of joining the union. The referendum will be held Dec. 10 or Dec. 15, he said.

2 British Soldiers Slain on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Two British soldiers were shot to death in the east Cyprus port of Famagusta today.

The first official announcement did not attribute the killings to EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground. But there was speculation the shooting was in retaliation for the death of two Greek Cypriots killed by British troops who fired into a crowd of demonstrators at Avgorou Saturday.

An EOKA wreath laid on the graves of the two Cypriots carried the inscription "Your deaths will be avenged."

The soldiers were shot in the crowded shopping center of Famagusta's Greek sector. Moments after the shots rang out, shopkeepers hurriedly closed up and shoppers and bystanders rushed to their homes.

Plan Opening New Hospital

Tentative Date Set Oct. 1 for Community Hospital Near Romeo

ROMEO — A tentative date, Oct. 1, has been set for the opening of the new 32-bed Community Hospital on Van Dyke road, between Romeo and Almont, a hospital spokesman announced today.

Meanwhile, plans are being made to move the hospital offices now located on S. Main street in Romeo into the hospital within the next two weeks. Hospital director Miss Lauretta Paul said she and her staff will make the transfer as soon as the new office furniture is recieved and installed.

In addition to interviewing personnel to staff the hospital, Miss Paul is working with the Board of Directors on plans for the dedication scheduled for early in September.

Special ceremonies will mark the event which also will feature an open house for residents of the 12 communities to be served by the new medical facility.

Although the closing date of the current hospital fund drive was set originally for July 1, contributions are still being received which will be credited to the campaign. The total now exceeds $100,000 with workers' reports still being turned in to area captains.

The drive will continue until all contacts have been made at which time a final tally will be taken, Harold L. Prescott, drive chairman, said today.

Rebel Demands Snag Release

Castro's Forces Hint They'll Free Last Four Kidnaped U.S. Civilians

HAVANA (UPI) — New Cuban rebel demands apparently snagged the release of 30 American servicemen today but the Castro forces indicated they would free the last four kidnaped civilians before nightfall.

There was no indication whether the rebel demands included some assurances against renewed Cuban government warfare in mountainous Oriente Province or some sort of U.S. "recognition" of the Fidel Castro movement.

But apparently the rebels wanted some "high level negotiator" to talk with them before the marines and sailors won their freedom. Earlier, the rebels had asked unsuccessfully to dicker personally with U.S. Ambassador Earl Smith.

Three more American civilians were flown out of the rebel mountain stronghold in Oriente Province yesterday, bringing to 16 the total freed.

They said the last four civilians, three Americans and one Canadian, probably would be freed today while the 30 U.S. marines and sailors probably would be freed "in the next two or three days."

However, reports from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo indicated that the return of the servicemen may be a prolonged affair.

Rear Adm. Robert B. Ellis, commander of the naval base, after conferring with the newly-released hostages yesterday, disclosed that the servicemen had been split into groups of three and four men.

He said this had made it difficult to communicate with the scattered rebel bands holding the men, he said, thus delaying their release.

2 Chrysler Plants Closed by Dispute

DETROIT (AP) — Recurrence of a dispute over work quotas assigned individual employes today closed Chrysler Corp.'s Plymouth body and assembly plants in Detroit for the fifth time in recent weeks.

Chrysler sent 2,700 employes home today, as it did yesterday. It accused body plant trim workers of refusing to do assigned jobs.

In two previous plant-closing incidents, the United Auto Workers Union local at the body plant accused the company of a speedup through assignment of additional work loads. Chrysler denied this.

All June graduates of Clarkston High, the three girls organized the group, known as the Clarkston Summer Stock Theater, to provide a recreational activity for students as well as entertainment for the community. Slayer Returned to State Hospital

Escaped Mental Patient Murdered Man Who Wanted to Turn Him In

LAPEER — The confessed slayer of Pearl Snover, 71, wealthy Metamora farmer, Monday was returned to Northville State Hospital.

Paul Sims, 23, escaped mental patient who last week confessed shoting Snover to death April 25 in his Metamora home, will be transferred to Ionia State Hospital which has maximum security facilities for the criminally insane, according to Lapeer County Sheriff William J. Porter.

State law permits the transfer of patients who commit murder to other institutions on the petition of the superintendent of the hospital at which they are confined, Porter said.

Sims said he killed Snover because he wanted to send him back to the hospital. The two became acquainted while working together several years ago at a Girl Scout camp near Metamora.

Reveal Arson Cause of Fire

A $7,000 fire which swept through a Pontiac photography studio Sunday evening was the result of arson, it was announced yesterday by the fire marshal's office.

Assistant Fire Marshal Allen Tunney filed a complaint with the Pontiac Police Department stating that an investigation of the fire at Kendales Photographers, 14 S. Saginaw St., had shown the blaze to be an act of arson.

Inspectors said that their findings were based on the fact that "there was no other way for the fire to start."

The building was vacant at the time of the fire and the electrical wiring is all overhead. Inspectors reported that the fire's point of origination was on the floor.

The fire which took more than an hour to extinguish caused an estimated $6,000 damages to the building and $1,000 damage to the contents.

Bus, Truck Collide; 2 Killed, 13 Injured

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two men were killed and 13 persons hurt when a bus and a truck collided yesterday. The bus smashed into a house after the collision.

Killed were Greyhound driver Anthony Piazza, 44-year-old winner of 13 annual safety awards, and a bystander, George Ortman, 40, of suburban Lemay, where the crash occurred.

All the injured were passengers on the bus. Truck driver Angelo A. MacNufo told police he was about to make a left turn when the bus struck the rear of his truck. The Memphis-bound bus then brushed a parked car, knocked down a tree and careened into the house.

There are about 1,200,000 high school graduates in the U. S. annually.

Ernie Ford Puts Hymns Aboard Best Selling List

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Amid the rock 'n' roll and show tunes on the best selling list, one record album Tennessee Ernie Ford's "Nearer stands out like a beacon. It is the Cross."

No stomping beat. No sophisticated lyrics. Just solid, old-fashioned hymns sung with simple reverence.

There's another Ford album among the best sellers. It's called "Hymns," and it has been on the list for 78 weeks, a phenomenal record.

Ernie isn't smug about these achievements, but he's certainly happy. They are the result of a steady campaign of his to bring hymns to the mass audience.

"As long as I've been in show business—and that's not very long — I've been trying to promote hymns," he remarked. "It seemed to me that here was a great form of expression that was being overlooked.

"I don't mean it merely for religious purposes. I just felt that it was a crime to overlook these wonderful melodies and the fine messages they convey.

"You just don't know what a battle I had puting them over. When I tried to sing hymns on my TV show, they told me, 'You just can't do it. You can't take your audience when they're 'way up there and bring them 'way down.'

"Why, that was ridiculous to me. How can you bring an audience down with a hymn? The very nature of hymns is to uplift."

When he finally won his point, the TV minds came up with a big production number to accompany his hymn. Singers and dancers all over the place.

"Now let's just cut out all this gingerbread and just sing the hymn," Ernie declared.

That's the way it was presented, and he continues to do his hymns in a simple manner. The response has been enormous, he said. Viewers are effusive in their praise; many send him stacks of hymn books, even torn-out copies of their favorite hymns.

He's of the opinion that folks should do more hymn singing at home. And he feels the urge is there. He reported about a visit to meet his big auto bosses: "It was a very fancy party, and what did they want to do? Sit around the piano and sing old hymns."

RETURNING HOME — Actress Olivia de Havilland cuddles her daughter Gisele, 2, recently at Idlewild Airport in New York before they boarded a plane to return to their home in Paris. Accompanied by her husband, Pierre Galante, Olivia had been on a U. S. tour to promote her latest film, "Proud Rebel."

Rebel Leader Gets Token Job

Gen. De Gaulle Names Soustelle to Cabinet as Information Minister

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle made a token payment to the French colonials in Algeria today, appointing Jacques Soustelle to his Cabinet as information minister.

Soustelle was the political brains behind the Algerian colonials' May 13 revolt against the Paris government which brought De Gaulle to power. His omission from the Cabinet had been a sore spot with the French Algerians.

The colonials still probably will not be entirely satisfied. They want Soustelle named resident minister for Algeria, figuring they could count on him to preserve their dominance of the government in Algeria and to block any compromise with the Moslem rebels.

So far De Gaulle has been his own minister for the North African territory, using Gen. Raoul Salan—the military commander in chief in Algeria—as his man on the spot.

In the Cabinet, Soustelle succeeds Andre Malraux, the brilliant writer and art expert who had taken the job only as a fill-in. Malraux remains in the Cabinet in charge of cultural affairs.

De Gaulle also named Bernard Chenot minister of Health and Andre Boulloche minister attached to the Premier's office.

A former governor general of Algeria and leader of the rightists in the National Assembly, the heavy-set, beetle-browed Soustelle was the chief instrument in bringing down several governments he accused of conceding too much to the North African Moslems.

His appointment as information minister renews a close association with De Gaulle extending back to the Free French movement in World War II. Soustelle was the general's chief of intelligence, then his information minister and postwar minister for the colonies. He also led the Gaullist forces in the National Assembly, but after De Gaulle disbanded his party and withdrew from active politics, there were rumors the general had cooled toward Soustelle, now 46.

North Korean Makes Attack on U.N. Shelter

SEOUL (AP)—A North Korean soldier armed with hand grenades and a submachinegun stole through the U. N. portion of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea July 4 and made a one-man attack on a U. N. military police shelter.

The Communist soldier tossed a grenade into the shelter, killing one South Korean soldier and wounding another. He started to throw another grenade, but a third South Korean soldier who had gone outside to investigate a noise shot him.

The intruder fell on his own grenade and was killed by its blast.

The story was told today in a communique from the U. N. Command, which termed the attack "one of the most bizarre incidents of the cold war in this bitterly divided peninsula."

The U. N. Command said Communist representatives on the joint observer team for the demilitarized zone claimed the incident was instigated by the U. N. Command. The Reds refused to acknowledge the attacker as one of their side or to accept his remains "in spite of a North Korean uniform and other material which pointed to his Communist origin," the communique said.

Lt. Col. William R. Washington of Crozet, Va., chief of the U. N. observers, rejected the Red charge. He told the Communists the U. N. Command would give the attacker a decent burial if the Reds wouldn't accept the body.

Arrest Bigshot in Underworld

Reputed Head of Mafia Nabbed by Treasury Dept. Narcotics Agents

NEW YORK (AP)—Vito Genovese, reputed head of the Mafia, was arrested last night by Treasury Department narcotics agents.

Also seized as the government began a major crackdown on underworld bigshots was Vincent L. Gigante, a lower-echelon hoodlum acquitted last May of the attempted murder of rackets kingpin Frank Costello.

Genovese and Gigante were arrested on the basis of a sealed federal grand jury indictment charging a narcotics conspiracy.

U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams, in announcing the arrests, said the identities of others named in the indictment would become known when the indictment was opened today.

"The arrest of Genovese is one of the most important arrests ever made in this field," Williams said.

"Our investigation disclosed that Genovese was the hub around which this entire conspiracy revolved, and Gigante was one of his proteges and a rising star."

Genovese, 61, was picked up at his Atlantic Highlands, N. J., home. Gigante, 30, was nabbed here.

Genovese has long been known to be at or near the top of the Mafia, the worldwide syndicate spawned in Sicily many years ago.

His record of arrests goes back to 1917 and includes one for homicide, which was dismissed after the death of two witnesses.

The Senate Rackets Committee has heard testimony that Genovese ruled the New York underworld and was worth at least 30 million dollars.

He invked the Fifth Amendment more than 150 times when called before the committee. One question he refused to answer was whether he was a member of the Mafia.

State Administrators OK Funds for New Building

LANSING (UPI) — The State Administrative Board authorized use of the state employes retirement fund in financing a new 10-million-dollar state office building in Lansing.

The board authorized Treasurer Sanford A. Brown to offer use of the fund to a special legislative committee established to plan for the building.

The board also heard a report that the Highway Department is drafting plans for a three-million-dollar department building.

State Building Project Wavers

Funds Accumulate Too Fast, Must Be Invested Soon, Says Treasurer

LANSING (AP) — The oft-discussed 14-story, 10-million-dollar new State Office Building behind the Capitol may be ready soon to burst through the talk stage and into reality.

And again it may not, if the views of Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) prevail.

The project came up at a meeting yesterday of the State Administrative Board when State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said financing money had accumulated in the State Employes Retiement Fund.

It is out of this fund that financing must come under arrangements made by the Legislature. Brown said that unless something is done soon he will have to tie up the money in some other form of investment.

The board instructed Brown to sound out the State Office Building Committee of the Legislature, the group with final authority to proceed on financing and construction.

A little later, Porter, committee vice chairman, told newsmen he personally was opposed to going ahead now.

There are better ways to overcome congestion in present state-owned buildings, he said, and moreover there is empty commercial space in downtown Lansing that could be rented.

Porter favored pushing construction of a new three-million-dollar building out of highway funds to house the sprawling highway department, the state's largest employer.

The administrative board was told $200,000 in planning money already has been spent on the more expensive general office building.

Makes Storm Shelter Out of Ancient Auto

FRONTENAC, Kan. (AP)—Machinist John Sinkovic has made a tornado shelter out of an old automobile.

He stripped off the wheels, bumpers, fenders, front seat, windshield and motor, and sank the body 30 inches deep in the ground.

Steps were rigged through the windshield opening and benches were placed inside. Rocks were racked up around the sides, the top was covered with dirt and seeded to grass.

Latticework conceals the front entrance from the street.

Making Memory Donation

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A business friend of mine died recently. His widow requested that no flowers be sent but that donations be sent to the Heart Association instead. I would like to send a check in his memory but am not sure to whom this should be sent. Should it be sent to the widow or direct to the Heart Association? If the latter is correct, how is the widow informed of this?"

Answer: You make your check payable to the Heart Association and enclose with it the name of the deceased and the address of the bereaved family. You also send your name and address.

A printed card is later sent out by the Heart Association stating that a donation has been received in memory of . . . and the name of the donor. Another card is sent to you acknowledging receipt of the donation and stating that notification has been sent to the bereaved family.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible for a wife to buy her husband a wedding ring after five years of marriage? Our anniversary is next month and I can think of no other present I would rather give. If it is all right to give him this ring, will you please tell me what date I should have put in it, the date of our marriage or the present date?"

Answer: If he himself would like to wear a wedding ring, by all means give it to him; otherwise another kind of ring would be more suitable at this late date. Your wedding date would be best if your gift is to be a wedding ring.

Dear Abby....

Maybe He's Tone Deaf! Better Test Hearing

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Every night my father comes home and turns on the Hi-Fi. You can hear it all over the house and it is so loud it goes right through me. It is driving my mother and me crazy. He says it is supposed to be loud like that or there is no sense in having Hi-Fi. We can't ask him to turn it down or he gets mad. Have you any solution?

VICTIMS OF HI-FI

DEAR VICTIMS: If a Hi-Fi is working properly it is not supposed to be loud enough to drive anybody crazy. Suggest that he have the Hi-Fi people check his equipment...then suggest that your father have his own hearing tested.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with the most wonderful boy in the world. He is in the reformatory now, but I know he couldn't have done what they said he did. He is 16 and I am 14 and my problem is my mother won't let me write to him and she says if any letters come from him she will tear them up as soon as she sees them. Don't you think my mother is very narrow-minded? Please help me convince her that my boyfriend is innocent and if he knows I believe in him it will help him to live a better life when he gets out.

A WOMAN IN LOVE

DEAR "WOMAN": At fourteen years old, you are hardly experienced enough to be mature in your judgment. You'd be wise to listen to your mother. When your boyfriend gets out—give him lots of time in which to prove that he can lead a better life. In the meantime, watch from the sidelines.

DEAR ABBY: I am eleven years old and in the sixth grade and my problem is a terrible one. I still wet the bed and everybody knows it and makes fun of me. I have had pills and needles and don't drink anything after three o'clock in the afternoon but nothing helps. I can't stay over to anybody's house and no camp will take me. I wish I could die. Just sign this "UNHAPPY" and please answer in the paper real soon, if you have help for me. UNHAPPY

DEAR UNHAPPY: Continue working with your doctor. This is a VERY common problem and eventually you will overcome it. In the meantime, it's nobody's business. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a middleaged woman who comes to dance in a taxicab and has the taxicab call for her again just before the dance is over? She does not give her name, address or telephone number to anyone she dances with. She says she doesn't care to carry on the friendship after the dance. Don't you think if she is so selfish as all that she should not be asked to dance? SOL

DEAR SOL: It is plain that the only reason she comes to the dance hall is to dance. That's her privilege. Dancing cheek-to-cheek does not always lead to seeing eye-to-eye. Give her credit for being honest.

DEAR ABBY: Every year I give a birthday party for my two daughters whose birthdays fall in the same week. I invite the relatives and make a big supper. They all come and bring gifts except this one old-maid cousin. She works and makes good money, but she comes to the party empty-handed, stuffs herself to the brim, wraps food to take home and thinks nothing of it. Should I leave her out next time or what? — ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: Don't leave her out or she might get the idea that the only reason you invite these people is for the presents.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BASEBALL WIDOW: Don't let him throw you a curve—give it to him right off the bat.

PHYLLIS ANN DEFOE

Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis Ann, are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Defoe of East Square Lake road. Her fiance is Barry G. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Baldwin of Birmingham. A fall wedding is planned.

Build Up to Strenuous Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Our heart is so essential to life itself that we even attribute our emotions to it. Existence on this earth ends when this amazing organ stops beating. Today, with heart trouble on the rapid increase it behooves us to give extra thought to protecting this important human pump.

No doubt many factors enter into the alarming number of fatalities each year from heart disease. It is a well known fact that chronic unhappiness and worry can cause certain kinds of heart trouble. It may be that the strains and stresses of modern living are telling on the human race in this way.

When I was studying to be a teacher of physical education, my instructors constantly reminded us to protect the "heart curves" of our future pupils as well as our own. They meant the curve of the heart from inactivity to the peak of activity during exercise and then back to inactivity again. The rate of the heart beat should build up gradually to strenuous exercise and then slow down gradually following it.

No doubt many people have injured their hearts by too often calling upon them suddenly for vigorous exercise. When you do this you do not give the valves of the heart a chance to expand gradually, but send sudden large spurts of blood to them before they are prepared to handle them. This may injure the valves permanently.

Always walk about the room, first slowly, and later briskly, before you do your exercises. When you have finished, you can end by again walking about the room briskly at first and then gradually slowing down. "Begin easy and end easy" is a good slogan.

Always walk about the room, first slowly and later briskly, before you do your exercises.

Remember, too, that it is not a good idea to jump out of bed and dash about your duties without first warming up to the day with some stretchings and walking or mild exercise. You can take some stretching exercises in bed before arising.

Perhaps if we discipline our emotions, exercise sanely and avoid overweight and cut the fats in our diet some, we may miss heart disease. It also seems to me to be a splendid health measure to have a cardiograph once a year. Heart trouble can be managed today with the new therapies if it is discovered in time.

Tart Summer Pie Calls for Vinegar in Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When is a lemon pie not a lemon pie? Why, when it is a vinegar pie, of course. Mrs. Frank Kiteley whose recipe we publish today says this unusual pie recipe has been handed down in her family for years.

There are two teenage boys in the Kiteley family as well as a married daughter. Mrs. Kiteley is active in church work, sews and raises African violets.

Vinegar (Mock Lemon) Pie
By Mrs. Frank Kiteley

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
Dash of salt
2 teaspoons lemon extract
3 teaspoons vinegar
1 cup boiling water
2 eggs
Sugar for meringue
Vanilla

Mix together dry ingredients and add flavoring and vinegar. Gradually add, boiling water and cook until thick and clear. Cool.

Add egg yolks and pour into 8-inch baked pie shell. Beat egg whites for meringue, add 4 tablespoons sugar and vanilla. Spread over filling and brown in oven. Chill before serving.

Mrs. Kiteley says not to be afraid of the vinegar—the pie will not taste pickled!

MARY KATHERINE JANN

Mr. and Mrs. Boydon Jann of Birmingham announce the engagement and approaching marriage Sept. 7 of their daughter, Mary Katherine and Duane T. Wuggazer. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore Wuggazer Jr. of Birmingham.

The bride-elect attended Wittenberg College and is a member of Phi Beta sorority. She will enter Washington University in the fall. Mr. Wuggazer is a senior at Concordia Seminary.

Leah Josephine Chastaine became the bride of Jack Austin Coleman July 4th in a ceremony performed at the bride's home in Lake Orion.

MR. and MRS. JACK A. COLEMAN

Leah Chastaine Is Wed in Congregational Rite

Leah Josephine Chastaine and Jack Austin Coleman were married Friday evening at the bride's home. The Rev. Robert A. Harrison of the Congregational Church of Oxford performed the ceremony.

The bride's parents are T. J. Chastain of Tahlequah, Okla., and Mrs. Lois Chastain of Lake Orion. Parents of the bridegroom are Harry E. Coleman of Deerfield, Fla., and the late Mrs. Coleman.

For her wedding, Leah chose a ballerina-length dress of pale blue organza with matching shoes and headband. Pink and white roses comprised her colonial bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Dexter Kowalsky of Lake Orion served as matron of honor wearing a lavender organza dress and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Dale Carlson.

A reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home. Mrs. Chastain chose a semi-formal dress of light blue chiffon and lace for her daughter's wedding.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan, having received her master's degree in education and the bridegroom attended Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Both are members of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, in which Leah plays the French horn and Jack has first trumpet position.

The couple plans a honeymoon at the end of August after which they will reside on Granada drive.

Go All-Out on Color in Bathroom

NEW YORK (UPI) — John and Earline Brice think a bathroom should be as "decorated" as any other room in the house.

So this husband-and-wife design team suggests fancy bottles, flowering plants, pretty lamps, mirrors, curtains and carpeting as "dress-up" for the plumbing.

"And color—you can really go heavy on bathroom color," they say. "This is one room where people go in and go out, so you don't have the problem of living with bright colors."

One of the Brices' ideas for a modern bath is a combination of beige-orange-black-and-yelow, suitable for a bathroom with white fixtures. They'd make the wall yellow, shelves orange, floor black and accessories beige. The shower curtain would be plain transparent film.

"Red plush is another good idea with white fixtures," Mr. and Mrs. Brice advise. The "plush" would actually be flocked red wallpaper, set off by beige accessories like sheaves of wheat in fancy jars.

For a traditional bath, the Brices advocate pale green and pale pink, spiced with pink jars, black tole lamps and flowered green wallpaper.

And if you want style without color, the Brices' solution is "mirrors"—lots of mirrors — especially on the wall above the tile."

Carry Rubbers

It's hard to keep shoes shining and immaculate in rainstorms. But one way that helps is to carry a pair of thin rubbers in a zip case which fits into your handbag. Then you have them when you need them against a surprise shower.

Barbecued chicken should have the sauce brushed or sprayed on each time it is turned during cooking. Turn every four to five minutes.

Socks, Stockings Feature New Colors, Designs

Because lots more leg is on view this summer, hosiery stylists have created intriguing new designs for socks and stockings.

Lightweight cotton, so perspiration absorbent and so launderable, is being used in stunning socks for men and women. Colors and intricate ribbing are used to flatter leggy expanses below Bermuda shorts.

Come hot weather, not even a garter belt is necessary for women who wear new stretch nylon stockings—many with stay-up tops knitted to reach five or six inches above the knee. Like all nylons, these should be washed after every wearing to maintain elasticity

Go Hubby One Better, Agree With Ravings

By RUTH MILLETT

"My husband seems to take great delight in making me jealous," writes a wife.

"He is always raving about how good-looking some girl is. He never misses a chance to flirt with a waitress or to be extravagant in his compliments to other women. Since I can't help being jealous, what can I do to make him stop trying to keep me constantly stirred up?"

You can spoil his fun by failing to react the way you always have in the past and the way he expects you to.

Next time he raves about how good-looking some other woman is, out-rave him. Agree to all he says and point out a few things he hasn't mentioned.

When he flirts with a waitress, join in the banter, instead of sulking. Instead of acting like a hurt wife, act like a gay companion who couldn't care less.

Add your compliments to his when he starts paying them to another woman. And, above all, when you get him alone keep right on being gay and unconcerned.

If you can manage to do all this—and it's a big order for a jealous wife—you ought to have everything under control in short order.

For there is no point in trying to make a wife jealous if she obviously isn't the least bit concerned. In fact, if you do your play-acting convincingly, your husband will probably be so surprised he will begin to wonder WHY you aren't jealous any more—and then he can do the worrying and wondering, for a change.

But go on showing your jealousy and your husband will continue to feed his ego by stirring you up at every opportunity.

Heavier fabric rather than flimsy types becomes the larger woman because it doesn't cling to her ample contours.

Evening fabrics can be divided into two categories, organdy or faille. Organdy is the overwhelming flatterer on young girls. Faille or any of the weightier silks or cottons are for the mature woman and heavier figures.

Put a little lemon juice in mashed potatoes to keep them really white.

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
United Press International

Congress, a giddy match-maker, has paired "Case" and the "Keef" for a legislative encounter which staggers the mind.

"Keef," of course, is Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), slow-spoken chairman of the senate anti-monopoly subcommittee. The subcommittee is considering bills to exempt professional team sports from anti-trust laws.

"Case" is Casey Stengel, double-talking manager of the New York Yankees. He has been invited to testify tomorrow on the exemption bills.

Their meeting promises to steal the show from other baseball royalty invited to appear for the subcommittee's hearings—stars like Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, Mickey Mantle of Case's Yankees and Stan (the Man) Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals.

It isn't that Case is untutored in the world of interstate commerce. He is, after all, a Glendale, Calif., banker, who is interested in oil properties.

Nor is Keef a misfit in sports. He played tackle for the University of Tennessee back there in the early 1920's — even if he wasn't drafted by the pros.

But Keef, whose speech is often slower than the Boston marathon, has been known to urge a crowd to vote for another senator—and then call him by the wrong name. And Case's rambling comments on "this feller" and "that other feller" lack the exactness of complicated anti-monopoly legislation.

"Well now, Mr. Steinway," Keef might well say, "what do you think of the, uh, special reserve clause?"

"Senator," Case could well reply, "if that clause is junked which is so necessary why this game supporting these fellas might just as well go back to those guys on the reservations."

Kefauver, announcing hearings the morning after baseball's All-Star game in nearby Baltimore, said Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, National League player representative, and Eddie Yost of the ball-playing Washington Senators have also been invited to testify. Yost is American League player representative.

Kefauver said interested government officials and the commissioners of baseball, football, basketball and hockey will be among witnesses called to testify later on the exemption measure recently passed by the House, and on a companion bill sponsored by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo).

Hennings disclosed that 25 other senators have asked to co-sponsor his bill. He called it "a clean-cut approach to preserving professional league sports in their present form" and said it will give the other sports the same exemptions now enjoyed by baseball under Supreme Court rulings.

RIVALS AGAIN — Managers Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves (top photo) and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees were baseball rivals again today when National and American League All-Star teams met in the annual classic at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium. Casey is piloting the American League team while Haney guides the National loop All-Stars. Haney drew first blood in the managerial rivalry last fall when his Braves defeated the Yankees in the World Series.

City Golfers Fight for Life in Publinx

Andonian, Smith Have Woes

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Special to The Pontiac Press

CHICAGO — If flaxen-haired Randy Petri, a lanky Texan from Austin, stays in the groove, he could become the youngest player ever to win the National Public Links golf crown.

Petri, 17-year-old son of a sterpotyper, is a comer. Although he has been playing golf only four years, he won the Texas State High School title in 1957 and was runnerup this year.

The Stephen F. Austin High School student fired a 39-34—73 to match par over the 6,866 yardage of the gently rolling Silver Lake course yesterday to be grouped among the first qualifying round leaders.

The field of 150 "pay-as-you-play" golfers finish their qualifying test today with the 64 low scorers entering match play tomorrow.

Mike Andonian and Wally Smith of Pontiac were in trouble at the end of the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying test in the 23rd annual USGA tournament.

Andonian was in the top 64 with a 76, while Smith, who confessed to a nine, was far back with an 80.

Andonian holed a neat 20-footer on the final hole to give him a 40-36, while Smith had a 44-36. On the 3rd hole, Smith, who already was one over par, ran into real trouble.

He put his 1st drive out of bounds, then grounded two woods before hitting into a trap. It took him two to get out and he settled for a nine. Smith played the next 15 holes in two-over-regulation figures.

The top Michigan golfer was Sam Lima of East Detroit with a 37-36—73, even par at Silver Lake.

The youngest player ever to win the Publinks title was Les Bolstad, now golf coach at the University of Minnesota. He was 18 years and 3 months old when he took it in 1926.

NL Seriously Considers 10 Teams

BALTIMORE (AP) — The National League is going to devote "serious, good sensible thinking" to the idea of expanding from eight to 10 baseball teams, promises Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves.

You can take that as gospel since he's been one of the most ardent exponents of increasing the membership. And he has shown the National League, at least, that a change is profitable.

Perini moved the Braves from Boston to Milwaukee six years ago. It was the first time a National League team lifted stakes since 1900. The Braves hiked the league attendance record last year to 2,215,404 and won the World Series. This year, the Dodgers and Giants were transplanted from New York to California and the scanning of new horizons in baseball resembles the race to shoot rockets to the moon.

Perini is all for it.

"The country is ready for expansion, the question is whether baseball is" in Perini's opinion.

He endorsed, naturally, action of the National League yesterday in authorizing President Warren Giles to name a committee of three to study feasibility of the expansion.

The resolution was prompted by the appearance before the league of Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City and the chairman of his committee to replace the void left by the Dodgers and Giants.

They assured the league that if it would provide a franchise, the city would come up with 12 million dollars to build a stadium seating 52,000.

Giles agreed that the city's proposed charge to the National League baseball user was one that anyone would consider fair.

"I feel definitely we have to get a franchise back in New York City, if only because it's the nerve center of the world," agreed Perini.

A 10th team would have to be added to avoid complex schedules and leaving one team idle daily if only New York was returned.

Perini said he is heartily in favor of a suggestion that a Canadian location be added, preferably Toronto over Montreal.

Perini visualized major league baseball in Canada as "fantastic, it would be terrific."

Boys' Club Nine Unbeaten on Trip

Members of the Pontiac Boys' Club Mighty Mite baseball team made a holiday weekend trip to Cheboygan, returned with two fine victories over a Cheboygan club.

Dave Tinkis won the first test, 5-4 when Walter Logan tripled in the deciding tally in the final frame. Dennis Luskin blanked the All-Stars 5-0 after retiring the last 14 batters in a row, 8 on strikeouts.

Fourteen boys, members of the club's city league midget division entry, made the trip along with club directors Mike Forillo, Joe Chevalier and Dick Goldsworthy, team coach.

Yes, This Story Is True

Billy's a One-Man Gang

CINCINNATI (AP) — First of all, this is all true.

They have a Knothole Baseball League here, with boys through 11 years of age playing in Class C, the youngest group. That's plausible.

Well, Saturday, the Plumbers were playing the Sky's for first place, with Billy Steinau pitching for the Plumbers. Here we go.

Billy walked in the first inning, stole second, stole third and scored on an infield out. That was the only run Billy had going into the fifth and final inning. He had given up just two hits, but trailed 4-1.

In the fifth, Billy's catcher was hit by a pitched ball and was out of the game. Since the Plumbers had used all their reserves, the Sky's manager said, okay, Billy can run for the hit batter.

Billy stole second, then stole third. The next two batters walked and, with the bases loaded, it was Billy's turn to bat.

"Okay," said the Sky's manager you gotta like this guy's sportsmanship, "Billy can bat and somebody can take his place on third."

Billy hit a double, clearing the bases and tying the score.

Then he stole third.

Then he stole home with the lead run.

Then he struck out the side in the bottom of the fifth and won the game 5-4.

No. He didn't catch his own pitches. Some other kid filled in for the injured catcher.

National Loop Slim Underdog in All-Star Tilt

Record Baltimore Crowd of 49,000 Is Predicted for Baseball Classic

BALTIMORE (AP)—A record big league Baltimore crowd of more than 49,000 was expected to jam-pack Memorial Stadium today for its first look at the underdog National Leaguers in the 25th annual All-Star Game.

Although the Nationals appeared to boast the stronger starting line-up, the Americans ruled a 14 to 10 favorite to win their second straight and their 15th since the spectacle originated in 1933. There was no game in 1945. The oddsmakers based their claim on the American's stouter pitching and a better bench, led by Ted Williams and Yogi Berra.

The only disinterested person appeared to be the weatherman who forecast showers late in the afternoon. Since the game was scheduled to start at 12 noon, EST, it was hoped the rain would hold off long enough to get it in. If it should rain sooner, they'll try to play it at 7 p.m., or tomorrow, either at 9:30 a.m., or in the afternoon.

An added feature was the resumption of the rivalry between last October's World Series managers, Fred Haney of Milwaukee and Casey Stengel of New York. Both wasted no time expressing their determination to pull out all stops in an effort to win.

Haney hurled a couple of early surprises naming Warren Spahn, his own left-handed ace, to open on the mound for the National League, and selecting Willie Mays, the San Francisco Giants' slugging center fielder, as his leadoff batter.

Stengel, who nominated his veteran right hander, Bob Turley (12-3), to open for the American League, countered with a surprise of his own, announcing Mickey Mantle, the Yankees' strong boy, as the No. 2 hitter.

The sly Stengel, probably with tongue in cheek, significantly, named Boston's Jackie Jensen and Kansas City's Bob Cerv, as his third and fourth hitters.

The selection of the 37-year-old Spahn (10-5) was perhaps the biggest surprise since the AL batting order is packed with right-handed hitters. Leadoff man Nellie Fox of Chicago is the only southpaw swinger, with Mantle batting from either side of the plate.

Haney, in his first All-Star managerial attempt, gave several reasons for his unorthodox mound selection.

"Spahn has proved through the years that he is just as effective against right-handers as he is against left-handers," he said.

"A good pitcher doesn't worry what side of the plate a batter hits from. Also, Spahn is well rested. He hasn't pitched since Friday and if the Braves were playing a league game today, he would be my pitcher.

"Besides, it is a real big ball park, and Spahnie likes to work in a big park."

CIO Takes All Except Game

Grill Baseball Winner, 6-4

Something wasn't quite right in Monday's Class A City League baseball game at Wisner Field.

Griff's Grill employed 13 players, including three pitchers. CIO Local 594 used just the regulation nine men and Jim Wagner hurled the seven-inning distance. Griff's was outhit, 9 to 8. Six Union batters walked while Wagner passed only one.

Final score: Griff's 6, CIO 4.

Toney Lothery led off the 2nd inning with a home run for Griff's in the cockeyed contest and the Grill club was ahead the rest of the way.

Timely hitting and four Union errors made the difference as the winners tallied twice in the 2nd stanza and three more times in the 3rd. The CIO scored three runs in the 4th and one in the 6th, then Griff's pushed across a 7th-inning insurance marker.

Marshall McGuire started on the hill for Griff's and received credit for the win, even though he gave way to Jerry Kruskie after four innings. Jim Hoy came in to pitch the final inning.

Ex-Coach Fires Ace at Morey's

Corky Foster, former Ferndale St. James football coach, fired a hole-in-one yesterday at Morey's Golf and Country Club. Accompanied by his wife Barbara, Foster aced the Red Nine's 135-yard 7th hole with a 7-iron and he carded 35 for the round.

Witnessing the hole-in-one were Mrs. Eleanor Pritchard and her son Peter of Wixom Road near Milford, who were putting on the green when the ball rolled into the cup.

'Smoky' Burgess Twirls No-Hitter

Police Hurler Fans 15, Shuts Out Post Office in City Softball

There was some great pitching in the City Softball League last night, but Elmo (Smoky) Burgess of the Pontiac Police stood out at the head of the class after hurling a no-hit, no-run game against the Pontiac Post Office at North Side Park.

Burgess struck out 15 batters, nine of them in a row, to smother a sterling two-hit mound chore by Art Weiss as the Policemen scored a 2-0 victory. Two walks and Burgess' own error gave the Mailmen their only base-running opportunities.

Jim Bird's 2nd-inning single ruined a no-hitter for Fred Konchis of the VFW. Konchis had to settle for a one-hit shutout as he outpitched Verle Sheldon of Stadium Inn to give the VFW a 1-0 triumph at Beaudette Park. Sheldon was touched for six safe blows.

Bob Santelle allowed six safeties in a steady pitching performance at Beaudette as Birmingham downed the CIO, 5-2. Perc McConner and Jake Mazur combined for 13 strikeouts during Shaw's 5-2 verdict over the Elks in an exhibition game at North Side. Mazur was the winner in relief.

THIS ONE'S NO PIKER! — Charles P. Berch, Pontiac watchmaker, proved the other day he's a pretty good fisherman, as well as a watchmaker. Berch took the fine northern pike, he displays above, at Oxbow lake on a small minnow. The fish, which assumes the top spot in The Press Derby, pike division, was 36 inches long, weighed 11½ pounds.

Doctoring Your Golf

By Dr. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Unrewarding Practice.

DIAGNOSIS: Aimless Practice.

TREATMENT: I used to think that, if I went to the practice tee and hit out practice balls for an hour or so, I had done enough practicing. That was a long time ago—if I'd kept thinking that way, I would never have won a golf tournament. Effective practice calls for more than just banging out some balls — and that applies to duffer and expert alike.

Here are a few rules to observe to make your practice sessions pay off in lower scores:

1. After a bad shot, don't hit another ball until you try to figure out what went wrong and try to correct it.

2. Always pick out a target and try to hit it. Simulate actual playing conditions. Don't just bang out shots aimlessly.

3. Practice with the clubs that give you the most trouble, not the ones you like to hit with the best.

4. Practice chips and pitches—even though it's more fun to hit wood shots from the practice tee.

2-Year Wait Ends for Lane

By ED MARKAITY

MUSKEGON (AP) — Style note for lightweight boxing champion Joe Brown:

Challenger Kenny Lane of Muskegon never has lost a bout while wearing black trunks.

For the record, Lane has a 53-5 mark since turning professional in April 1953. He avenged all but one loss through rematches. Lane still bristles over failure to get a rematch with Paddy DeMarco.

He tangles July 23 with Brown in a 15-round title bout at Houston, ending two years of frustration as the National Boxing Association's No. 1 contender without a shot at the crown.

"Don't worry about the color of the trunks," Lane says. "Black or white, it makes no difference to me. I'm not superstitious."

The stubby ("I have to stretch to make 5-feet-6"), usually good-natured southpaw goes a bit steely eyed talking about the title fight.

"I can't see any pantywaist act. Sure, you shake hands before the first bell, but it's do or die—pound the other guy into the ground," he says.

Mild-mannered outside the ring, the 26-year-old Lane is married to a girl he met while both were schoolmates in their home town of Big Rapids. They are parents of two children.

Lane was tutored through his amateur days by ex-pro Pete Petroskey who became his manager in the professional ranks.

By May 1955, Lane had entered the lightweight division's charmed circle of rated fighters with victories over such opponents as Orlando Zuleta, Danny Joe Perez, Jackie Blair and Larry Boardman.

He gained the No. 1 contender spot two years ago after beating Ralph Dupas at New Orleans to avenge an earlier loss.

Petroskey offered a co-managership to veteran Jack Kearns, hoping to add firepower to a championship bid. The move was not an immediate success. Congressmen from Michigan and NBA officials entered the act.

Finally the NBA ordered Brown and Dupas to post $5,000 guarantees for the winner of their recent title match to meet Lane. Brown won easily via TKO and his camp signed with Kearns and Petroskey for the July 23 fight.

Lane trained for a week before admirers in his adopted home town. The training routine stepped up its pace Saturday when Lane reached New Orleans. His handlers believe the Bayou climate will help him prepare for Houston's atmosphere.

While still at home, Lane relaxed by skindiving, "fooling around with a hobby of pulse jet motors for models" and working on an outboard boat he has started building.

Lane has fought twice this year. He outpointed Johnny Gonsalves at Oakland, Calif., Jan. 9 and knocked out Davey Dupas in six rounds this spring.

He never has been knocked out, but has been stopped twice on eye-cut technicals. Brown has scored 32 knockouts in his 72 victories.

Lane says he once agreed on a 10-day notice to fight Brown in a Miami battle of top lightweight contenders, "but the match was called off suddenly and inside two months Brown got his title shot."

Brown, 32, took the crown in 1956 from Wallace (Bud) Smith.

WHO'S A PANTYWAIST?—Kenny Lane, challenger for the world's lightweight boxing crown, frolics with his five-week-old son Kenneth Jr. at his home in Muskegon. Lane, who has not been knocked out in 58 pro fights, goes for the title against champion Joe Brown on July 23 in Houston, Texas. He says, "I can't see any pantywaist act. Sure, you shake hands before the first bell, but it's do or die—pound the other guy into the ground."

Boys Club Is 9-2 Victor on 3 Hits

Pontiac Boys Club made only three hits, but took advantage of 10 bases on balls for an easy 9-2 victory over Kuhlman Electric in a Class B City League baseball game Monday at Jaycee Park.

Dick Goldsworthy hurled the route for the winners nd gave up just five safeties while striking out 11 batters. Clyde Conner and John Marshall shared mound duties for Kuhlman's with Conner the starter and loser.

Boys Club iced the decision with five runs in the 3rd inning after scoring twice in the opening stanza. Mike Lindblom and John Bovee each made two hits for the losers.

State Amateur Starts Wednesday

Syron's Crown at Stake

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — The grueling struggle for the State Amateur Golf Championship starts tomorrow at the Belvedere Country Club course.

Nearly 220 of the state's finest "simon pures" will be on hand for the 36-hole qualifying test Wednesday and Thursday over the rolling layout situated in this scenic section of Michigan. After 18-hole rounds each day, the field will be trimmed to the low 63 scorers.

Then they begin the scramble for the crown won last year by Lloyd Syron, the 22-year-old Notre Dame student from Pontiac. It was Syron who ended Glenn Johnson's bid for four straight state amateur titles over this same layout a year ago.

Johnson, the 35-year-old veteran from Grosse Ile, was downed in the semifinals by Detroit's John Kurach.

"I was in a tough bracket," said Johnson. "That's no excuse, because I should have won it anyway. But this year I'm going to Charlevoix for just one purpose—to win back the title."

The field will include six former champions, including Johnson and Syron. The others are Fred Turner of Flint, the 1952 champion; Sam Kocsis of Detroit, the 1941 winner; Tom Draper, the 1949 winner from Royal Oak, and Lou Wendrow of Lansing, the 1946 champion.

3 Birmingham Golfers Busy

State JC Tourney Begins

Pete Green, Tommy Grace and Bud Badger, three-fifths of the Birmingham golf team which teed off today in the opening round of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce Junior Amateur tournament, will be busy young shot-makers this week.

All three are also entered in the State Amateur Championship, which begins 36-hole qualifying rounds Wednesday at Belvedere Country Club in Charlevoix.

Green, Grace and Badger have been given special permission to do all of their Michigan Amateur qualifying on Thursday in order that they may also compete in the State Jaycee tourney, which ends its two-day 36-hole run tomorrow at Ann Arbor's Barton Hills Country Club.

Thirteen players representing three Oakland County chapters were on the firing line when the annual Jaycee event began this morning at 8 o'clock. Waterford and Pontiac joined Birmingham in the search for individual and team honors.

The Pontiac chapter sent three boys—Larry Beaupre, Joe Keller and Melvin Law. Waterford's five golfers were Chuck Canterbury, Don Stipcak, Jon Shaw, Terry Kelley and Ed Tokarski. Gary Mouw and Mike Jackson completed the Birmingham delegation.

Both individual and team awards will be presented. Tomorrow's final 18-hole round also starts at 8 a.m. The four lowest shooters will represent Michigan in the International Jaycee golf tournament Aug. 18-24 at Tucson, Ariz.

Triples Provide Edge in Avon League Tilts

Lake Orion RLDS and Stone Baptist teams of the Avondale Church Softball league won close contests last night, both with the help of timely triples.

Lake Orion defeated Parkdale Nazarenes, 5-2 with triples in the 5th by Duane Saldswedel and winning pitcher Earl Koonce scoring the deciding run. Four of LO's six hits were extra basers, including three triples. Three double plays were turned in by the teams, two by Orion.

Stone edged Pontiac RLDS, 4-3, on Cameron's single that scored Man VanKuern, who had tripled, in the 7th. Walker homered for winners, Siefert for the losers.

United Presbyterian defeated Nike 13-11, scoring all its runs in the first three frames. Nike got six in the 7th. In another loop contest, Elmswood Methodists swamped Avon Baptists 18-3, although Baptists led for the first four innings.

Hall Spins 1-Hit Tilt at Drayton

Sno-Bol nosed out Nonne's Drive-In, 2-1, behind the one-hit hurling of Doug Hall to feature Monday night's Waterford Softball League doubleheader at Drayton Plains.

Hall outpitched Arlo Flesher, who allowed seven hits in the American League contest. Sno-Bol spotted Nonne's a 1-0 lead in the 5th inning, then scored twice in the 6th and Hall's arm protected the slim edge.

In National loop action, Spencer Floor Covering collected a dozen safeties, three by Gary Mellema, during a 14-4 rout of the Eagles. Dick Shell hurled two-hit ball for Spencer and the game was stopped in the top of the 7th inning by the 10-run rule.

Compton's Electric surprised Elliott's Furniture by scoring a 1-0 shutout win in Waterford Little League activity yesterday.

Hold Holiday Races, So WLYA Idle Sunday

Because of an Independence Day race for Watkins Lake Yachting Assn. sailors, in lightning, snipe and thistle divisions, there were no events for Sunday. Association's July meeting is set for Friday at which time plans may be announced for the annual Venetian night.

Host Pro Picks Winning Score

HAVERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The man who knows the course best says it will take from four to six strokes under par to win the 40th annual Professional Golfers' Assn. championship scheduled for Llanerch County Club here July 17-20.

Marty Lyons, veteran Llanerch pro, predicts a 274 to 276 over the par 280 course in suburban Philadelphia should win. This marks the first time in PGA tourney history the 72-hole championship will be decided in medal competition.

All the top professionals are expected to play with attendance for the four days expected to reach some 30,000, weather permitting. The annual PGA show actually gets under way July 15 with driving and pitching contests and a sand trap clinic. The championship winds up Sunday with the top 60 scorers, plus ties, in the final 18-hole round.

Pine Lake Linksman Left-Hander Winner

Long-time golfer at Pine Lake Country Club, Andy Anderson has just won his 3rd senior left-handers title in the national tourney for portsiders. Andy fired a 337 total for the 72 hole test. He played in the division for 50-54-year-old shotmakers.

Tourney was held over the well-known Plantation course at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. It began last Wednesday, concluded Sunday. Field included 107 lefthanders, 12 in Anderson's bracket. Andy brought back a fine trophy.

Anderson, who lives at 18 Selmar street, has been runnerup in Pine Lake Club title play several times, still hopes for another crack at the honor.

'Close' Game Really a Rout

Followers of the two Pontiac teams in the Latin-American Baseball league had figured the weekend clash between the Aztecas and Los Mayos would be a tight battle. But somebody forgot to tell the Aztecas about the idea, for they crushed Las Mayos 19-1 when the tilt was played here Sunday.

Ted Reaver hurled a fine two-hitter for the winners, allowing the single unearned tally in the 8th to spoil his bid for a shutout.

Los Mayos play at Port Huron next Sunday, when Aztecas visit Capac.

Ike, Dulles Seek to Patch Up Differences

Canada Has Inferiority Complex

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Just before Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip flew to Canada last Columbus Day, they were vaccinated against Asian flu, then raging in North America.

But President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, flying there today, have no such protection. There is no handy vaccine to dispel what ails Canada in its relations with the United States.

Sigmund Freud might have diagnosed it as an inferiority complex. But say that in Ottawa and you'll get a cross look, if not a right cross to the jaw. Ask almost any American and he's baffled, if he's thought about it at all. Chances are he takes Canada for granted.

Eisenhower and Dulles have thought about it a great deal, especially Dulles. It's mighty disconcerting for a secretary of state, wrestling with problems in not-so-friendly places far away, to have trouble erupt next door across the unpatrolled border in friendly Canada.

Dulles has had his share of this, mostly in the economic field. Canada has complained in recent years that the United States is hurting it by dumping surplus U. S. wheat on the world market, restricting Canadian oil imports, selling Canada more than it buys, and so on.

There is also the problem of security information. The Canadian Mounties have been supplying the FBI with security data on Canadian citizens for years. But Canada threatened to stop that last year after the Senate Internal Security subcommittee published a report naming one of her diplomats.

E. Herbert Norman, then Canada's ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after the committee said he had been active in Communist circles. Canada's indignant fury was enormous.

Eisenhower and Dulles are tackling all these problems with their Canadian counterparts at Ottawa. There is hope for progress, although the security issue is especially knotty since, under the U.S. Constitution, the executive branch can make no promises binding on the Congress.

The United States and Canada have been friendly so long that almost nobody remembers when they were enemies. American revolutionaries invaded Canada in 1775-76, took Montreal and besieged Quebec. Most Canadians are convinced Theodore Roosevelt bullied them into a disadvantageous settlement of the Alaska-Canada boundary in 1903. And some may be wondering today whether efforts might be made to acquire Canada's west coast for a land linkup with the 49th state!

It is not hard to argue for the theory of an inferiority complex.

Canada's radio reeks with rock 'n' roll, Canada's television leans to I Love Lucy and similar U. S.-made programs, the books and even the magazines come overwhelmingly from the United States. Canadians talk like U. S. residents—those that don't talk French, that is—even though they swear allegiance to Queen Elizabeth.

Many may be satisfied with the situation but others would prefer that Canadians achieve more of a national identity.

They Go Further Than Expected

Speed, Distance Kill Most Vacation Victims

DETROIT (UPI)—The Fourth of July weekend slaughter on the highways prompts a look today at what the experts say about weekend and vacation travel.

Speed and distance are big killers of holiday and vacation travelers. A look back over the longer holiday weekends shows the daily toll increases when auto travelers tackle "endurance" trips in four or five days.

How far should you travel? An auto finance firm which recently issued safety information said pleasure trips should be limited to 100 miles a day or less. A three-day weekend should include no more than 300 miles of driving, a seven-day vacation 700 miles.

The safety information included a statement that one of every 13 drivers involved in fatal highway accidents are below par physically and many of them were fatigue victims.

It was also stated that three of every 10 drivers in fata laccidents are violating a speed law. On the open highway, speed was counted as a factor in more tha one-third of all accidents.

Despite all the highway speed laws which have been passed in recent years — cutting top highway speeds to 60 to 70 miles an hour daytime and even lower at night—American drivers continue to drive faster.

The Bureau of Public Roads said 833 speed studies in 24 states showed drivers of all vehicles on rural highways last year averaged 50.8 miles per hour. These surveys included 255,544 vehicles and their average was 0.2 m.p.h. above average speeds in 1956.

Cars averaged 52 m.p.h., trucks 46.6 and buses 53.2.

Vacation and weekend drivers are inclined to "brag" about two matters—the distance they cover and the gas mileage they got.

But if you have to travel far and fast, forget about holding down the fuel bills.

One auto company here reported that its low-priced car will average 20 miles to the gallon at steady 40 m.p.h. driving, 18 miles at 50 m.p.h., 16 miles at 60 m.p.h. and 14 miles at 70 m.p.h.

The driver of this car would spend 1½ cents per mile for gas when driving at 40 m.p.h., but it would cost him 2 1-7 cents per mile when driving 70 m.p.h.

Michigan's Idle Rolls Shrink 7,000 in June

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's unemployment rolls shrank 7,000 in the month ended June 15, the Michigan Employment Security Commission estimated today.

An MESC spokesman predicted an unemployment upturn for both July and August as the automotive industry shuts down for changeovers to 1959 models. He emphasized the May 15-June 15 estimate was based on preliminary figures.

Despite the drop in the number of unemployed, MESC estimated 455,000 were without jobs June 15. This number is 15.5 per cent of the state's labor force.

Detroit had 275,000 unemployed, an even 18 per cent of its labor force, on June 15. But Detroit reported a drop of 5,000 in the number of unemployed between May 15 and mid-June.

In the state as a whole 2,315,000 were reported employed on June 15. Detroit's employment totaled 1,240,000.

For the week ended June 26, MESC reported total claims for unemployment compensation numbered 272,880. It estimated 25,000 unemployed exhausted claims in June.

June unemployment compensation payments were estimated at $38,070,000, leaving a trust fund balance of $149,403,019.

Grain Futures Dealings Light

CHICAGO (AP) — Decisive influences were lacking today in grain futures trading and early dealings on the Board of Trade were unusually light with prices narrowly changed from previous closes.

Dealers said commercial demand was very scant and the wheat buying by flour millers which imparted firmness to wheat yesterday appeared to have dried up again.

Trading was almost at a standstill near the end of the first hour with wheat ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ¼ lower, July $1.82⅝; corn ⅛ to ½ lower, July $1.31¼; oats unchanged to ½ higher, July 64⅞; rye ¼ higher to ¼ lower, July $1.25½; soybeans ⅛ to ½ lower, July $2.24½; lard 3 cents a hundred higher to 8 cents lower, July $12.45.

The Department of Agriculture accepted export subsidy bids on more than 2½ million bushels of corn but rejected all bids on oats and rye.

Reprieve Granted in Child Cruelty Case

An adjournment to July 29 has been granted in the pre-trial examination of the 24-year-old Pontiac housewife accused of child neglect in leaving her three-year-old daughter locked in a car during 90 degree heat while she shopped.

The attorney for Mrs. Jack L. Voss, Wallace Temple, of Detroit, asked West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle for the postponement from today because of another case.

Mrs. Voss, of 500 Kuhn St., is charged with child cruelty for leaving her daughter, Jan, locked for three hours and 15 minutes in a small foreign car while she shopped at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center June 30.

Market Uneven; Changes Slight

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was uneven with most changes slight in moderate early trading today.

Key stocks showed gains or losses in fractions for the most part.

An exception was Reichhold Chemical, yesterday's most active stock, which jumped more than a point in a recovery from yesterday's net loss after earlier gyrations.

Little group activity was apparent as the market found heavy going after eight days of consecutive rise on average.

Steels showed scant change as the price situation in the industry remained cloudy. Motors also were little changed, although Chrysler dropped a fraction. Oils were easy.

Small gains were posted by Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Phelps Dodge and International Nickel.

Lower were Boeing, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Du Pont and Liggett & Myers.

Summit Meeting After All?

New Red Bid Hovering

By CHARLES M. McCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Soviet Russia may be trying to lay down a new basis for a "summit" conference on world issues.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's letter to President Eisenhower on providing safeguards against a surprise nuclear attack seems to be one move in that direction.

Russia's participation in the current talks in Geneva, Switzerland, on means of enforcing a ban on the testing of nuclear weapons may constitute another move.

It is possible that Russia's attitude on the detention of nine American Army men whose helicopter landed by mistake in East Germany is still another.

In what seems to be a pattern, the aim of the Soviet government apparently is first to get negotiations for a summit conference really started again and secondly to insure that if there is a conference, it will be held on Russia's terms.

Khrushchev's letter on surprise attack was based, though Khrushchev did not say so, on a proposal made by Eisenhower last January 12 in a letter to former Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Eisenhower suggested a study by experts on this problem.

Khrushchev's letter of last Wednesday suggested that experts representing the United States, Russia and possibly other countries "study jointly the practical aspects of this problem" and within a definite time limit recommend measures to prevent surprise attack.

"The results of these discussions could be considered at a meeting of heads of government," Khrushchev said. That is, they could be considered at a summit meeting.

Before the Geneva talks on means of enforcing a ban on nuclear weapons tests started last Tuesday, Russia tried hard to get the United States to pledge itself in advance to agree to suspend tests.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was too smart to make any such commitment.

The Soviet government then, in a note of June 28, tried to get the United States to agree that the Geneva talks would be made "subordinate" to the task of "immediate cessation" of tests.

"Naturally the decision on the suspension of tests should be taken by the governments themselves and not by experts whose tasks include the preparation of control over compliance with the agreement on the discontinuance of nuclear tests," the Soviet note said.

This might be interpreted to mean that Russia would settle, if necessary, for a decision on suspension at an early summit meeting.

In its insistence that the United States deal with the East German regime on the release of the helicopter crew, the Soviet government made no attempt to conceal the fact that it is using meat-axe diplomacy. It is simply trying to force the United States to recognize the East German puppet government.

Such recognition would be a surrender to Russia's insistence that the puppet regime is a sovereign government and that in any summit or other talks on German unification, it must be left to the East German and West German governments to negotiate that issue.

Three-year-old David P. Thacker, of 155 Wall St., was injured Monday when he fell from a car being driven by his father Paul, 28, according to Pontiac Police.

"Continued growth of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn. is revealed in the association's statement of condition at the end of the first six months of 1958," said President R. C. Cummings today.

"The association loaned $2,686,937 during the six-month period, bringing its mortgage portfolio to $12,877,975. At the same time it added $101,000 to its reserves, which now total more than $905,000.

Floodwall Devoured

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Ashland's floodwall has been invaded by termites. The insects have eaten away a cork-like filler from the joints in an eight-block-long section of the wall. Floodwall Supt. L. E. McGuire says it will cost about $5,000 to replace the filler. About 290 seams will be refilled with termite-repellant sealer.

New Telephone Facilities Set in Oakland

The first phase of Michigan Bell Telephone Company's $1,400,000 expansion program in fast-growing northern Oakland County has been completed with the construction of the Auburn Heights telephone office building on Crooks road, just south of South boulevard, the company announced today.

The area served by the new central office building will become the ninth zone of the Pontiac District Exchange, and will consist of the area east of Pontiac, and south of Rochester.

"Telephone service from this building is scheduled to begin at 2:01 a.m., Sunday, Dec. 7," according to R. H. Storm, the company's district manager here.

"The establishment of this new service will affect 4,000 telephone users in the area in two ways," Storm said.

"First, these 4,000 customers will get new telephone numbers, with a new prefix name of ULysses. Some of these users now have FEderal numbers, and some, OLive.

Storm emphasized that the telephone number changes will be accomplished with a minimum of inconvenience to the subscriber because the ULysses numbers will be in the new directory to be delivered in December. In addition, a transfer of calls will be provided for as long as possible.

Second, ULysses users, after Dec. 7, will be able to dial their own long distance calls direct without dialing 112 and giving the billing operator the number of the telephone they are using, Storm said.

Each of the 4,000 users who will be affected will be receiving detailed information concerning the change. They will be notified of their new telephone numbers sometime next fall, he said.

UNLOAD UNDERGROUND CABLE — Linesmen (from left) John Campbell, Jim Wilkins, Bud Hallock and Richard Lamzeu are unloading the last reel of underground cable at rear of Michigan Bell Telephone Company's new Auburn Heights office, on Crooks road near South boulevard. This is one of 100 reels being used by the company to meet expanding service needs in northern Oakland County.

Goldfine Probe Casts Motley Crew of Characters

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — First there is the House subcommittee on legislative oversight. Then there is Bernard Goldfine. Each has a staff.

The resulting conflict has turned into one of the zaniest shows Washington has had in years.

Here's a cast of characters that may, or may not, help you keep up with what's going on.

Bernard Goldfine—a millionaire textile manufacturer. Rightly or wrongly, he has acquired a reputation as a man who is handy with a gift, especially for those who might be in a position to help him when he deals with the government.

Goldfine was born in Russia 67 years ago. Although he has been in this country for 59 years, has hobnobbed with the very best people, and has lived at the very best address (72 Beacon St., Chestnut Hill, Boston), he still fractures the English language wonderfully.

CHANGING ROLE

The role of Goldfine has changed as time has crept along. Originally he presented himself as a big-hearted immigrant boy who liked to do things for people — hence the gifts to Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's No. 1 White House man.

Then, under questioning, he became the cagey businessman, able to survive in the harsh textile field, but still a babe in the fiscal woods. "Paper work" is the way Goldfine described his seemingly tangled business dealings.

Finally, over the long weekend, he has emerged in the role of a victim, his or his employes' conversations presumably picked up by a microphone planted in the next hotel room, his papers stolen.

Baron I. Shacklette—A committee investigator until he was ousted yesterday. He planted the microphone because, he said, he was trying to find out who—if anyone — was tapping the telephone of his boss, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), the oversight committee chairman.

Now 48, Shacklette has spent 18 years as a federal investigator, has gumshoed his way up to his present $16,300-a-year post.

To tap a telephone, and disclose conversations heard thereby, is considered by most legal experts to be a crime. To eavesdrop, including electronically, is considered by most experts to be legally blameless but horribly embarrassing, if caught.

"I guess all of us are imprudent at some time," Shacklette said.

Jack Lotto — a newspaperman turned public relations expert, who joined the Goldfine team over the weekend.

The microphone was found next to his room, and he announced the burglary.

A former International News Service man, out of work when INS was taken over by United Press, the 36-year-old Lotto has called himself a "general investigative reporter."

In digging up prize-winning stories, Lotto has posed as a policeman, a thief, an FBI man and an undertaker.

Oren Harris — The 54-year-old pride of El Dorado, Ark., a congressman for 18 years. The chairmanship of an investigating committee can buck a man into the headlines, but it can be a very rough ride.

Harris, the trim athletic type, has stuck on through one of the roughest rides of all. He has made no attempt to minimize the strange turn of events.

"The integrity of the subcommittee is at stake," he said grimly.

The cast is much larger, of course.

Roger Robb, the ever-smiling, ever-alert head of the Goldfine legal staff.

Robert W. Lishman, the quiet, pipe-smoking, businesslike committee lawyer.

Mildred Paperman, Goldfine's bookkeeper-secretary who says her room was burglarized. Her testimony will be needed if the committee ever is to figure out her employer's financial transactions.

THE PURPOSE?

Oh, yes, the purpose of all this.

Despite the sideshow, it's deadly serious: to find out if undue pressure is brought on regulatory agencies whose yes or no can mean millions to a businessman.

But whether the subcommittee ever will get back on the main track now, nobody knows.

Ike's Freer Trade Bill Weighed by Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—A closely divided Senate Finance Committee begins today its closed-door consideration of President Eisenhower's reciprocal trade bill.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) said he hoped the group could finish work on the measure and report it to the Senate floor by Friday. A floor battle is considered certain.

The key questions to be decided in committee appear to be:

1. Whether to grant the full five-year extension of the 24-year-old Trade Agreements Act asked by Eisenhower.

2. Whether to cut down the President's powers to reject Tariff Commission recommendations for quotas or higher rates in escape clause cases under the act.

Earlier in the 1958 session, many senators said they expected no more than a three-year extension would be voted by their branch.

But supporters of the full Eisenhower program say they have a chance to hold the full five-year renewal although conceding the issue is close.

Man in DSR Uniform Robs Driver of Bus

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Street Railway bus driver Robert Graham saw a man dressed in a DSR uniform and a woman standing on a street corner early today.

Graham, who was taking his bus back to the garage, said "I stopped, thinking I could give him a lift to the garage. They got on and he drew a pistol."

Graham said the man hit him on the head with the gun and robbed him of between $70 and $80.

"He had no badge on," Graham said, "but I'm sure he is a bus driver I've seen around."

Police said the robber might be a discharged driver which would account for his lack of a badge.

RESUMES SINGING — After 121 consecutive performances in "Lassie" on television, Jan Clayton's returning to her first love—singing. She has just starred in "Carousel" at the Brussels World's Fair. She first achieved fame in the same musical 14 years ago on Broadway.

Jan Clayton in 'Carousel'

Singer Returns to Role That First Made Her Famous

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — From Lassie's aproned "mother", to Uncle Sam's gay singing star of "Carousel" at the Brussels World's Fair is the latest proof that there's no business like show business. But then again, there's no Jan Clayton like the Jan Clayton who wears a gold medallion on a charm bracelet that proudly pingle-jangles the engraved words:

"To the Greatest 'Lassie' of Them All."

It was presented to Jan by the "Lads and Lassies" of the crew when she left the Lassie TV show after 121 consecutive telefilms.

That sweet-faced, sweet-voiced Jan has stolen the show in Brussels, in a two-week engagement of "Carousel."

She's recorded a Disney album, "Jan Clayton Sings Carousel at the Brussels World's Fair," and her warbling of "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," I'm sure, will win friends and influence people.

BROADWAY STAR

Now stop acting surprised about Jan Clayton as a musical lark.

She wasn't always getting Lassie's supper, you know. Or maybe you've forgotten, or didn't ever know, that 14 years ago this month she zoomed to stardom in the original Broadway production of "Carousel."

Two fellows who didn't forget were the show's producers, Rodgers and Hammerstein, who picked her for the Brussels revival of the hit show.

But it is escaping the shadow of Lassie that counts the most now with Jan, eager for a return to singing and greater acting challenges after five years as the Ellen who mothered Lassie, Tommy Rettig and Gramps before the show changed casts last fall.

It was great while it lasted but as Jan says, "I wasn't learning anything and an actress has to keep learning."

Jan's favorite memories of the Lassie show range from sitting at home on Sunday nights and saying, "Oh, no!—how could they do it?" when some of her best scenes were cut to make room for closeups of Lassie, to the cameraman's words one day about fast-growing Tommy:

"We just can't go on like this. I've tried everything. I've done my best. I can't hide it any more. It has to happen now. Tommy has got to shave."

Kim Gives Formula for Success in Acting

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Kim Novak was wearing her bare feet. The rest of her outfit was horrible. It consisted of trousers and a shirt. It was awful—it covered her all up.

"Would you please advise the young ladies of the world how to become a great actress like you?" I asked her.

WILSON

"Well," dimpled Kim, "instead of studying in acting school, some of them should work in different jobs learning about life. I had no acting training but I had the experience of life—I'd been a salesgirl, a receptionist, a model.

"I'm not patterned after somebody teaching in a school," Kim assured me—and I must say I don't know anybody exactly like her though I wish I did. "I would suggest getting all kinds of jobs, and studying in spare time."

Kim brushed her bare feet because she said they were dirty. They were NOT dirty!

"They should also stand on their own two feet," Kim said. (Let's face it, this is a column about feet—kind of a feeture story.)

"People want you to give them a helping hand, or talk somebody into giving them a part. I wouldn't do that for my best friend — it makes them weak. Go around by yourself without expecting favors. If nothing happens—"

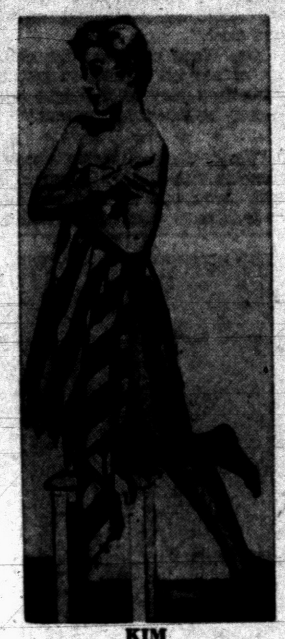

"Yes, yes?" I said eying Kim anxiously.

"Go into some other field."

"What about dieting?" I asked Kim, who put her feet under her because they weren't even nail-polished. (Is there a pedicurist in the house?)

"I never diet," Kim said. "If I wanted to be a New York model, I'd have to, but I don't think men like it. These girls aren't bodies, they're just hangers for dresses. How awful for the men! They must get black and blue from the jagged bones of girls like that."

KIM

I was about to ask Kim what a girl should do about gifts when—honest to goodness—some gifts arrived in her hotel suite.

"Can those be from Trujillo?" I said, and Kim didn't mind or didn't notice—she was getting so excited.

I looked at the box and wondered if it could be a foreign car. It wasn't quite large enough; it was a box of peonies from a night club and also a bottle of perfume.

Kim, whose studio has put her on the road to keep her out of the Trujillo publicity, got absolutely squealy with delight and let herself go to the extent that she exposed here bare feet.

I slunk away because I hadn't brought her anything. But I have in mind a nice gift. Some bedroom slippers.

Pisa's Tower Leaning at a Quickening Pace

PISA, Italy (UPI) — The Tower of Pisa leaned a little more today and worried city fathers appealed for help to keep it from toppling.

Nobody noticed the new lean, but scientists said it was there.

Yesterday was the day for measuring exactly how far the top of the white marble bell tower has leaned away from the bottom during the past 12 months.

The scientists got out their leaning-tower-measurers and tower is now four meters, 55 centimeters and 6 millimeters out of plumb (about 14 feet).

Last year it was only four meters, 55 centimeters and 4.5 millimeters at tilt.

INCREASE FASTER

Year after year the leaning tower has been leaning a steady one millimeter more toward falling down. It takes 25 millimeters to make an inch.

But the increase for the last 12 months was half again that.

At that snowballing rate, the 784-year-old tower will hardly last another three centuries or so.

So the ministry of public works in Pisa today issued an appeal for engineers of the world to unite and tell Pisans how to make their tower stop leaning.

The tower's foundation rests on a big glob of soft clay which allows one side of the structure to sink year after year, century after century.

Massive injections of concrete into the clay base earlier this century apparently did not help.

Neither did the suggestion of one Texan that the whole thing be dismantled, stone by leaning stone, and taken over to his ranch where the soil is solid and dry.

Goldfine Asset to Community

'Uncle Joe' Perley, Civic Leader in New England, Blasts Senate Attack

LEBANON, N.H. (AP) — Bernard Goldfine, millionaire industrialist, means substantially more to this community than vicuna coats or Oriental rugs.

His two local mills represent a million-dollar annual payroll.

"Mr. Goldfine has been a big asset to Lebanon and to the area," is the way Joseph B. Perley puts it. "Uncle Joe" has been connected with Lebanon's civil government more than a quarter of a century.

Referring to Washington inquiry into Goldfine's gifts to presidential assistant Sherman Adams and others, Perley commented: "This situation is no different than has happened to congressmen.

"It is better to have business and keep people working rather than to have heavy taxes. I think that people should be thanking God they have a man like him (Goldfine) instead of criticizing him."

Goldfine's Lebandale and Lebanon woolen mills employ more than 350 persons and have operated on a three-shift basis the past 12 years.

Thomas Williams, international representative of the Textile Workers Union of America, said the mills "are the backbone of Lebanon."

"For the past 12 years there have been normal labor relations between us. He (Goldfine) has neither given nor taken more than normal procedure. His relationship in the past 12 years has met industry's demands. He has not chiseled any special favors to my knowledge."

Elfrida Loses $33,000, Title in '21' Defeat

NEW YORK (AP)—Elfrida von Nardroff lost $33,000 and one of her two titles last night.

The Brooklyn quiz whiz finally was ousted from NBC-TV's Twenty-One after 21 appearances. Robert Leicester, an assistant director of a private high school in New York, beat her 21-10. They were playing for $3,000 a point difference in their scores.

Thus, Leicester's 11-point margin of victory gave him $33,000 and the same amount was subtracted from Miss von Nardroff's previous winnings leaving her with $220,500.

The Brooklyn woman remains the record money winner for a single TV quiz show. Her loss to Leicester drops her total winnings below the $224,000 won by Robert Strom, an 11-year-old Bronx boy, on two different shows.

She missed the first question asked her last night. She correctly named the late Robert Jackson as prosecutor at the Nuernberg World War II war crimes trials and the late Martin Bormann as the Nazi leader tried in absentia at the trials.

But she hesitated between Hermann Goering and Paul Joseph Goebbels as the Nazi leader who cheated justice by committing suicide. Finally, she said Goebbels and was wrong.

Leicester answered two questions correctly to score 21 and Miss von Nardroff answered her second question correctly to score 10 points and limit her losses.

Miss von Nardroff, 32, quit her job as a personnel manager to concentrate on the show. After taxes she will keep about $50,000 of her winnings.

Request New Trial in Caribou Inn Suit

The condemnation of the Caribou Inn property in Clarkston was a "conspiracy to steal" the land and an attempt to "run the owners out of town," the attorney for the owners charged yesterday.

The charges were leveled by Pontiac attorney Milton R. Henry in asking Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick to set aside a June 26 "necessity" verdict condemning the property.

Seven men and five women, all Clarkston residents, returned the verdict which allowed the village to take the property for off-street parking. Jurors also fixed $20,000 as the price to be paid owners Ernest A. Felice, his wife, Louise T., and Felice's mother, Rose.

Henry, in his request for a new trial filed in Circuit Court yesterday, said no jurors, impaneled from the village residents, could return a fair and impartial verdict because "of personal interest in the outcome of the litigation."

When informed of Henry's request, Judge Hartrick said, "It appears on the surface that there are no legal grounds to grant a new trial." He said he did not know when he would rule officially.

Mother Insists Her Robber Son 'Humble Child'

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Lilly Walker said of her son, "He's just a humble child; he doesn't think."

Her son is James Walker, 31-year-old itinerant strawberry picker, charged with grabbing a bag full of $849,538 in securities from a Brinks, Inc., guard.

Mrs. Walker, of Chicago, appeared yesterday before Judge John H. Druffel in U.S. District Court. Walker's attorney, W. J. Dammerell said she could add to the story of Walker, "who has been doing stupid things all his life."

Investigators said Walker got only four steps with the bag of securities before Brinks guards surrounded him.

Judge Druffel agreed to defer sentence until after Walker has a psychiatric examination.

Sewer Proposal to Be Weighed

City Commission Gets Waterford Hookup Plan at Tonight's Meeting

Pontiac City Commissioners will be asked tonight to approve a new agreement covering the Waterford Township sanitary sewer hookup.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the agreement already has been approved by the township.

He described it as a "rewriting" of the 1935 agreement which is now in effect.

"I want to stress that the new agreement does not extend the area being serviced by Pontiac and that no extension is possible unless the City Commission first approves it," Willman said.

Under the agreement, a new rate formula is established of 16 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet of flow entering the Pontiac system. The flow will be measured by two Pontiac-installed meters.

Commissioners, in other matters, are to hear a request for a new railroad siding between Rapid and Diston streets west of Franklin road. The Elco company has asked for approval of the site.

A public hearing is scheduled on assessment rolls for a sanitary sewer on Stanley avenue, Hopkins to Yale.

Commissioners are expected to approve estimated costs on three other improvements and schedule hearings on them for next week. Two involve sidewalks, on the north side of Baltimore avenue, Stirling to Melrose; and on both sides of Robinwood avenue, Perry to Baltimore, except where sidewalks already are installed.

The third is a proposed sanitary sewer on Stanley avenue from Yale street about 100 feet south.

AF Transport Crashes, 2 Die, 1 Hurt Critically

TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Air Force C47 crashed and burned in a field today two minutes after taking off from Tachikawa air base. Two of the three men aboard were killed, the other critically injured.

Those killed were Lt. James E. Hooten, 29, North Little Rock, Ark., the copilot, and Lt. Clifford J. Bueschel, Chicago, Ill., the copilot.

The name of the injured man, the navigator, was withheld. The Air Force said his life probably was saved by a passing motorist, Capt. Lafayette R. Jamison, who pulled him from the wreckage.

Polio Strikes Indians

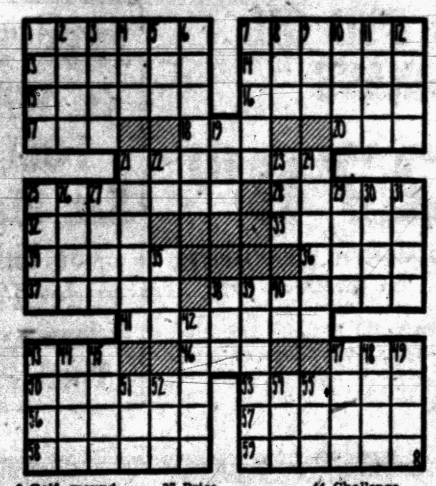

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Six Blackfeet Indians have been stricken by polio during the past week, and Indian Health Service officials fearful of an epidemic ordered a mass vaccination campaign. Dr. Charles S. McCammon said plans are under way to inoculate some 4,000 of the Blackfeet reservation's 4,500 Indians.

In 3 Victims of Leukemia

Discover Mystery Dots

LONDON (AP)—Mystery dots that look like viruses have been discovered in three human victims of leukemia, scientists reported today.

The finding may be new evidence that leukemia—cancer of the blood—can be caused by a virus.

Two bits of evidence linking viruses with cancer were reported to the seventh International Cancer Congress under way here by Doctors Clifton D. Howe, Leon Dmochowski, C. E. Grey, J. A. Sykes and C. C. Shullenberger of M. D. Anderson Hospital, Houston, Tex.

They looked through the powerful electron microscope at incredibly thin slices of tissue from lymph nodes or glands of 11 human victims of acute leukemia. They saw changes like those in leukemia in animals which are known to be caused by viruses.

And in 3 of the 11 persons, they saw virus-like particles inside the cells and in spaces in between. The mystery dots had visible characteristics of viruses.

Plane Lands in Denver After Bomb Report

DENVER (AP)—A big airliner with 25 persons aboard made an unscheduled landing here yesterday after an anonymous caller told police in Chicago that a bomb had been planted aboard.

United Air Lines said a thorough search of the Chicago-to-Portland flight turned up nothing unusual. A UAL spokesman termed the bomb call a hoax. The plane continued on after a 2½-hour delay.

Thief Steals Organ

Hal Boyle Says:

Now's Time to Dust Off Good 3-Act Play

NEW YORK (AP)—If you have a good three-act play collecting dust in your trunk, now is the time to take it out and storm Broadway.

But it has to be good.

"The theater today is wide open," said Audrey Wood, one of the nation's top theatrical agents. "There's a tremendous need for new talent. If you have any kind of talent at all, it sticks out—it cries out to be helped.

"But a play has to be good to succeed now. There is room only for quality now."

Miss Wood, who looks like a perky, blue-eyed, auburn - haired visiting schoolteacher, is little known to the playgoing public. But she is a real power in the theater. She has helped put between 80 and 100 plays on the boards here, including some of the most famous of the last generation.

For 17 years Miss Wood and her husband, Bill Liebling, ran their own theatrical talent agency. Four years ago they sold out to the Music Corp. of America, which promptly found out it needed Miss Wood to handle the talent it had acquired.

Broadway gossip is that MCA paid half a million dollars for the Liebling agency, and still pays Miss Wood about $1,000 a week for her services.

She represents such playwrights as Tennessee Williams, William Inge, Robert Anderson, Carson McCullers, Garson Kanin, and Dorothy and Dubose Hayward.

Among other theater celebrities she serves as agent are Shirley Booth, Leslie Caron, Siobhan McKenna, Michael Redgrave and Ben Gazzara.

Her greatest joy is to take a young unknown playwright and help guide him to the maturity of his powers, as she did with Williams.

"The relation between a writer and his representative is as intimate as marriage," she remarked. "Each must believe completely in the other's honesty, endeavor and integrity. It is a day-by-day devotional work that is impossible without mutual respect and trust."

Miss Wood said that the chief art of her job consists in getting "the right play to the right producers at the right moment."

"Very often a writer doesn't come in with a play. He comes in with two-thirds of a play. You have to have valid critical ability, and he has to be willing to listen to your suggestions," she says.

"If an established playwright comes to me, I still have to tell him, 'I've got to be able to talk to you as if you were just a new boy from Dubuque.'"

Miss Wood has been notably successful in creating personal loyalty to her among some of the world's most temperamental types.

"The ideal way to handle a writer is to be there when he needs you—and not be there when he doesn't need you," she said.

"Most of the playwrights are men. They have pride, and must feel they are standing on their own two feet, making most of their own decisions. It is very important, particularly when they are young, that they get a personal adulation they can only earn themselves. They must feel they whipped that big world all by themselves.

"And yet," she smiled, "you must be that still small voice they listen to when they need to. A good agent should be faceless."

One of the great needs of the theater today, she believes, is some way to endow talented young playwrights—to keep them afloat during the struggling period when they are mastering their craft.

"A real writer isn't ruined by help," she said firmly. "In all my years in the theater I've never seen any young writer given that much money."

The nickel-sulfide ores of northern Ontario have become the largest sources of copper in the British empire and are probably the world's greatest single cource of platinum.
