Panel to Mull Government Revamp

Nixon Names Five to Advisory Council

From Our News Wires

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. — President Nixon created today a special advisory council to recommend reorganization of the federal government and named a career diplomat to be ambassador to Brazil.

Nixon set up a five-member council to look into organization of the executive branch "in light of today's changing requirements of government" and to try to find solutions to intra-agency problems and any hitches in federal dealings with states and cities in administering domestic programs.

★ ★ ★

Roy L. Ash, president of Litton Industries Inc., will be chairman of the council, which will hold an organizational meeting in Washington Thursday. Ash advised Nixon, when he was president-elect, in the general area of government reorganization.

Setting up of the council is in line with congressional approval of the reorganization act which gives Nixon the power to recommend measures to improve the efficiency of the White House and cabinet departments.

AMBASSADOR NOMINEE

To be nominated as ambassador to Brazil is Charles Burke Elbrick, 60, who has served most recently as envoy to Yugoslavia. He will succeed John W. Tuthill, retired, in Rio de Janeiro.

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon is moving "to final decisions" on the domestic messages he will begin sending to Congress after the Easter recess, April 14.

He said that the President's brain-trust meeting with his top urban advisers yesterday had brought him closer to setting up a priority list for proposals he will make covering the range of health, education and welfare matters as they relate to the cities.

He will focus again on his domestic program when he attends an Urban Affairs Council meeting at the White House early Monday morning.

COUNCIL'S GOALS

The announcement on creation of the blue-ribbon advisory council said the group "will provide over-all and specific recommendations for improved effectiveness" of the executive branch of government. It will deal with both immediate and long-range needs.

No date has been fixed for the group to complete its work.

★ ★ ★

Other members of the council are: Dean George Baker of the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration, Cambridge, Mass.; former Texas Gov. John B. Connolly, now with a Houston law firm; Frederick R. Kappel, chairman of the executive Committee of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., New York; and Richard M. Paget, of the Manhattan management consultant firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget.

Ziegler announced Nixon, who will return to Washington tomorrow night after an Easter stay at his waterfront home here, will throw out the first ball of the 1969 major league baseball season Monday.

★ ★ ★

Nixon also is expected to make an appearance at the traditional Easter Monday egg roll on the south lawn of the White House.

Turnpike Gunman Kills Woman, Self

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A man apparently shot a woman passenger along the Pennsylvania Turnpike and then killed himself today, state police said.

Officers said others were wounded.

★ ★ ★

Identities of the victims were not immediately available.

AP photographer Paul Vathis reported the bodies of a man and a woman were laid alongside the nation's oldest turnpike and covered by a yellow tarpaulin, near the Highspire service area about 10 miles west of Harrisburg.

Two rifles and one or two small arms along with spent cartridges were on the floor of a car, which had one side smashed in, Vathis reported.

The bodies were removed from the vehicle and were placed on the roadside, awaiting a coroner, Vathis said.

★ ★ ★

First police reports had said a sniper, firing from a car, had shot and killed "several persons" and wounded others.

But later reports, via interviews with motorists over Philadelphia broadcast stations WIP and WFIL-TV, said the gunman was standing alongside the turnpike.

Reports from the state police said the shootings occurred along a 20-mile stretch of the turnpike between the Harrisburg East Interchange and the Lebanon-Lancaster Interchange, in the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

A Lebanon hospital reported treating one man for wounds resulting from shootings, and a Harrisburg hospital said it was treating two "severely injured" men and one small boy who was not too badly hurt.

★ ★ ★

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, which links Ohio to the west with New Jersey to the east, was opened in 1940. It was the nation's first superhighway-turnpike.

World Christians Ready Easter Rites

By United Press International

In solemnity and joy, pageantry and song, the Christian world today anticipated Easter, the celebration of the risen Christ and the promise of life after death.

★ ★ ★

Much of the rites are unchanged from centuries ago. Thousands would throng to sunrise services in many lands Sunday to hear the stunning words, "He is Risen." Bells would peal, voices would join in the victory.

★ ★ ★

Across Rome, the tumult of 500 church bells was to ring out the good news and Pope Paul scheduled a Mass in St. Peter's Basilica that would mark the end of three days of mourning the crucifixion of Jesus 20 centuries ago.

In Jerusalem, clergymen read Biblical prophesies of the coming of Christ while Arab merchants stood in their doorways offering mementos to the throngs of pilgrims who came to the Holy City for Easter this year.

BREAK TEMPORARY

A friendly mood prevailed in the city, although the occasional sight of Israeli policemen serve as a reminder that the break in tension was temporary.

In Germany, thousands of city dwellers left their homes and headed for the Bavarian Alps, the Black Forest or Austria for the long Easter weekend and the first sunshine in weeks.

★ ★ ★

In West Berlin, Mayor Klaus Schuetz expressed regret that Communist East Berlin refused to allow West Berliners to cross through the wall and visit relatives over the holiday, as in years past.

Easter in Germany is a time of folklore, lamb and painted eggs. It is the only time of the year when Germans eat lamb, the symbol of Jesus's sacrifice.

SPANISH PROCESSIONS

Spaniards marked Easter with countrywide processions. Barefooted women, many dragging heavy iron chains from their ankles, trudged through Madrid and other cities to reenact the role of Christian slaves. Hooded faithful bearing heavy wooden crosses also marched, as did goose-stepping Spanish army units in combat uniform.

★ ★ ★

French children anticipated long Easter Sunday dinners before they could rush into their gardens and hunt for fat chocolate eggs they knew were there.

In Belgium it will be cheese, not eggs, that pageants feature. Floats representing various cheeses will parade through Herve on Monday to concelebrate Easter and the town's annual cheese festival.

Britons prepared for the annual Easter spate of protest marches, rallies, speeches and harangues by those with a cause. Scottish and Welsh ban-the-bomb groups planned Easter demonstrations at the U.S. Air Force Base at Ruislip.

JUMPING TRADITION

In the Philippines, the only heavily-Christian nation in Asia, children put finishing touches on angel costumes, complete with paper wings, which they will wear in stage plays reenacting the resurrection.

A secular custom ever-popular in the islands is for children to jump as high as they can three times when church bells ring at midnight tonight to mark Jesus' return from the dead. The higher they jump, the taller the children are supposed to grow.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Christians in Moscow attended services tonight in the apartments of Father Louis F. Dion, an American Roman Catholic, and the Rev. Roger Harrison, a protestant.

170 Drown in India

CALCUTTA (AP) — At least 170 persons were reported drowned when a boat overturned Thursday on a river near Chapra, Bihar state, about 200 miles northwest of Calcutta, newspapers said today.

About 200 Hindu pilgrims, including many women and children boarded the small ferry with a capacity of only 50 passengers, to cross to a temple and only 30 managed to swim ashore, the papers said.

Patient Receives Artificial Heart

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An artificial heart of fabric and plastic functioned today in the chest of a 47-year-old man, first recipient of such a device, as his wife appealed for a human heart donor.

"I see him lying there, breathing and knowing that within his chest is a man-made implement where there should be a God-given heart," said Shirley Karp.

★ ★ ★

Her husband, Haskell Karp, of Skokie, Ill., is the first human to receive a completely artificial heart transplant. A surgical team headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley performed the three-hour operation yesterday at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

Karp, father of three children, was conscious two hours after the operation and responded to commands to raise and lower his hands and open and close his eyes, a hospital spokesman said.

CONDITION SATISFACTORY

A tube placed in his throat to assist breathing was removed early today and he was able to murmur several words. The hospital said at 5:30 a.m. that he was "awake and alert and his condition remains stable and satisfactory as he awaits the availability of a suitable human heart donor."

His wife, who visited him briefly in early morning, wept as she appealed for

Parochiaid Raises Discrimination Issue

LANSING (AP) — A constitutional question involving religious discrimination is being raised in the controversy over granting an estimated $45 million in state funds for nonpublic schools.

"There will be discrimination on the basis of religion," says Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, chief sponsor of the bill.

Traxler emphasizes, however, that if a nonpublic school discriminated on the basis of race, it would not be eligible for state funds under his proposal.

The powerful Michigan Education Association, which plans to mobilize its 68,000 members against the proposal, questions any discrimination.

What about the State Constitution, the MEA asks, which states: "Every school district shall provide for the education of its pupils without discrimination as to religion, creed, race, color or national origin."

"That obviously refers to public education," Traxler counters. "Nonpublic schools don't have districts." Traxler also points to the sentence in the constitution immediately preceding the one quoted.

"The Legislature shall maintain and support a system of free public elementary and secondary schools," it says.

The proposal now pending in the House, Traxler says, would finance some 25 per cent of the cost of nonpublic schools.

"That means the parents or governing boards of the nonpublic schools will be paying 75 per cent.

"To say that nonpublic schools must accept every child who presents himself at that door is a gross injustice to the parent or governing board which is paying 75 per cent of that school's operating cost."

Jerry Coomes, executive director of the Michigan Catholic Conference, suggests "discrimination" is not the proper term. "It's preference," he says. "Schools give preference to the children of parents who as of now support 100 per cent of the school costs."

A long-standing Catholic Conference policy says that "under no circumstances shall an otherwise qualified pupil, whether Catholic or not, be denied admission because of his race or color."

3-From-1 Transplant

TORONTO (AP) — Surgeons at Toronto Western Hospital transplanted a woman's heart and kidneys into three men last night and said the recipients were responding well.

The donor, 41, died yesterday of natural causes, doctors said. She was not identified, nor were the three male recipients, all in their 30s.

OOPS—Periodically, and despite numerous low overhead warning devices, a truck comes to a screechin' halt at the Grand Trunk Western Railroad overpass on Orchard Lake, just west of West Wide Track. It happened again about 4 p.m. yesterday with this eastbound truck from Whitehouse Trucking Inc. of Toledo, Ohio.

Birmingham

Architectural Review Board Moves Nearer

BIRMINGHAM — The planning board is putting the finishing touches on plans for establishment of an architectural review board for the city.

The planning board will persent the architectural review proposal to the City Commission for discussion within a month, according to Planning Director William R. Brownfield.

★ ★ ★

The function of the architectural review board will be to study preliminary ideas and plans with any developer who proposes to construct a commercial or residential development in the city.

"The board's primary interest is making sure that any developer's plans conform to the standards stipulated in the Birmingham Urban Design Plan. In this manner, building problems can be more easily averted when building permits have been granted and final architectural plans organized," Brownfield explained.

Dr. William H. Reynolds told a group of hospital executives meeting in Detroit yesterday that hospital efficiency would be increased and costs reduced if staffs paid more attention to patients' real needs and desires.

Dr. Reynolds of 22 Hamilton is dean of the school of business administration at Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

He said decisions on health services, when left to physicians without taking into account the wishes of patients, often result in professional pressures that inevitably force the medical staff into conducting expensive procedures with only a small chance of positive results.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Reynolds also charged that hospitals are guilty of keeping patients in hospitals for an extended period of time for tests when the tests could be completed in one or two days.

'TWO-TRACK SETUPS'

Describing hospitals as "two-track organizations" with one track concerned with medicine and the other track with business functions of the institution, Dr. Reynolds said "every two-track organization must develop a three-track system in order to achieve maximum effectiveness.

★ ★ ★

"The only way for technical and administrative people to coordinate their efforts on a continuing basis is for both of them to think of the public served."

The Community House Annual Fund Drive has reached the halfway point toward a goal of $69,400, according to drive chairman Charles F. Adams.

★ ★ ★

Adams said he is encouraged by early reports, but he said more support from families, businesses and organizations in the area is needed to reach the drive's goal.

Tornadoes Prompt Friday Watch

Twister Season Starts in Midwest

By United Press International

The season of tornadoes apparently has begun in tornado alley as hopscotching twisters prompted tornado watches across sections of the Midwest late yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The tornado watches were lifted by the U.S. Weather Bureau today after at least one twister touched down south of Kansas City, Mo., inflicting minor damage at Lacyne, Kan., and Drexel, Mo.

★ ★ ★

The tornado then hopped across central Missouri, doing minor damage to several other communities.

Other funnel clouds were reported near Mexico, Mo., and between Tulsa and Fort Smith, Ark.

HEAVY RAIN, HAIL

Heavy rain and some hail also were reported in the general area of the nation's midsection. Beaver Crossing, Neb., reported 4½ inches of rain and an unofficial seven inches were reported four miles west of the southeastern Nebraska community.

Portions of east Kansas reported more than an inch of rain, with large hail and winds in excess of 60 miles an hour. Memphis, Tenn., was deluged by nearly two inches of rain, Columbia, Mo., had an inch and a quarter and Greenwood, Miss., and Quincy, Ill., each had about an inch.

★ ★ ★

In central and southern Illinois the rains were accompanied by wind up to 65 miles an hour and pea-size hail at some points.

A Shipman, Ill., woman was knocked unconscious when a bolt of lightning reportedly shot through her kitchen window and struck the aluminum sink where she was washing dishes. She was listed in satisfactory condition.

RIVER CONTINUES RISE

Cherokee, Iowa, Mayor Tom Boothby declared an emergency situation in that community when the Little Sioux River continued rising after flooding a bridge and two parks. The Army Corps of Engineers continued sandbagging efforts.

The Iowa River flowed out of its banks at Iowa City, Iowa, covering Riverside Drive near the fine arts center of the University of Iowa.

And at Sioux Falls, S. D., flood control workers continued to fill sandbags as Skunk Creek at the city's west edge ran at bankful.

The weather bureau said the main snowmelt over the Minnesota River upstream from Mankato, Minn., has "begun in earnest," but the main melt over the Mississippi River drainage area has not become significant.

Experts have predicted widespread flooding in some areas as these snow accumulations turn to water and run into already swollen streams and tributaries.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 23 at Jamestown, N. D., to 76 at Key West Naval Air Station, Fla.

1 Held, 1 Hunted in Hotel Holdup

Pontiac police arrested one suspect in an armed robbery at a city hotel last night and are searching for another man who escaped pursuing police.

Earl Campbell, 54, of 89 W. Longfellow was arrested on a charge of armed robbery after police, arriving at the Waldron Hotel at 36 E. Pike, chased the car in which Campbell was reportedly riding until it crashed into a wall on Water Street.

★ ★ ★

The driver of the car escaped on foot, police said.

Police were called to the hotel by a resident, Frank Carpenter, 34, of Detroit, who said he was robbed of a 38-caliber pistol valued at $50 and $43 in cash, some change and his wallet.

Ex-JP From Area Charged by IRS

A former justice of the peace and school board president in the area has been charged with four counts of failing to file income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) announced yesterday.

The allegations were leveled against R. Grant Graham, 2021 Auburn, Pontiac Township.

An attorney, Graham, 61, is accused of not filing returns for the four-year period 1962 through 1965.

The IRS said that Graham's income for this period was in excess of $58,000. If found guilty, he could be fined $10,000 or imprisoned for up to one year on each count.

★ ★ ★

A long-time justice of the peace in Pontiac Township, Graham was a member of the Avondale Board of Education for 15 years, resigning in October 1965.

He had been first elected to the board in 1949 and had served as president during most of his tenure.

Reds Are Ripped in U.S. Ambush

SAIGON (AP)—American forces lured Vietcong and North Vietnamese troops out of Cambodian sanctuaries today, then mowed them down with artillery, dive-bombers and helicopter gun-ships, U.S. officers said.

The two-hour battle 30 miles northwest of Saigon was the only significant ground action reported by the U.S. and allied commands as thousands of American troops prepared to celebrate Easter. There were 20 overnight rocket and mortar attacks across the country and three U.S. aircraft were shot down.

★ ★ ★

About 500 infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division sprung the border trap on 500 men of the Vietcong's 9th Division, most of them North Vietnamese soldiers. Spokesmen said 81 enemy were killed at a cost of four Americans killed and 13 wounded.

Officers said Maj. Gen. Ellis Williamson, commander of the 25th Division, enticed the enemy to cross the Cambodian border into South Vietnam by establishing an artillery and patrol base just across from the enemy's Angel's Wing sanctuary.

Less than 24 hours later the enemy soldiers camouflaged with rice straw on their backs, launched their attack across paddies under cover of a heavy mortar barrage.

HISTORY MAKERS — A mechanical device was used for the first time yesterday to replace the total human heart. Recipient of the artificial heart was 47-year-old Haskell Karp, a printing estimator from Skokie, Ill. The device, seen from the top, has two tubelike valves which tie onto the aorta and the pulmonary artery. This photo shows (from left) the right ventricle and the left ventricle. The operation took place at the Texas Heart Institute at Houston. Dr. Denton A. Cooley and Dr. Domingo Liotta perfected the process over a period of four months.

a heart donor. "Someone, somewhere, hear my plea. How long he can survive, one can only guess," she said.

★ ★ ★

"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh," she added. "But the Lord also gave us gifted men such as Dr. Denton Cooley and Dr. Domingo Liotta, who are instrumental in prolonging life. Maybe somewhere there is a gift of a heart for my husband. Please..."

★ ★ ★

When Mrs. Karp entered her husband's room, their oldest son, Michael, 22, watched from an operating room gallery. Two other children, Joel, 19, and Martin, 11, stayed home in Illinois.

SIZE OF MAN'S FIST

The artificial heart is about the size of a man's fist and weighs eight ounces. Its power plant is the size of a filing cabinet four drawers high and two drawers wide.

A hospital administrator emphasized that the artificial implant was "an interim step" until a human donor can be found with "irreversible brain damage, a good cardiac function and O positive blood."

A ray of hope surrounded the hospital in the predawn hours when word was received that a heart from a Cleveland, Tex., woman who died in childbirth might be available. The heart was maintained by a respirator but ceased to function a few blocks from St. Luke's.

Mrs. Karp, in her appeal made public by hospital administrator Henry Reinhard, said: "I cry without tears. I wait hopefully. Our children wait hopefully, and we pray."

Rededication to King Cause Urged at Services

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On the first anniversary of his assassination, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was memorialized in services, marches and vigils across the nation. Speakers pleaded for a rededication to his battle for human rights.

The observances Friday in hundreds of towns and cities were peaceful. But in Memphis, Tenn., where King was killed on April 4, 1968, a mass march was taken as an opportunity by vandals to smash store windows.

* * *

A curfew ordered by Mayor Henry Loeb and cool rain emptied the streets during the night. Police had arrested more than 70 persons by midnight for curfew violations, looting, burglary and assault.

In Montgomery, Ala., several thousand Negroes camped through the night in a huge field behind a Roman Catholic school. They were waiting the start of a march on the State Capitol today in memory of King.

TO LEAD MARCH

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who succeeded King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was to lead the march. He headed the services for King in Memphis Friday.

The day passed calmly in Chicago, the only other city where mourning was marred by violence. There were outbreaks in two neighborhoods Thursday by groups of Negro youths.

Police and 5,000 National Guardsmen stood by in case of further trouble but only one minor shooting incident was reported.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Sr., speaking at a special Good Friday service in suburban Evanston, called on blacks and whites to follow the nonviolent principles of his son.

MESSAGE TO WIDOW

President Nixon sent a message of condolence to Dr. King's widow, Coretta, in Atlanta which was delivered by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, on the eve of the anniversary.

Mrs. King avoided public ceremonies during the day but did visit her husband's grave with her four children.

In Nashville some 300 demonstrators marched to the grounds of the Tennessee State Prison where James Earl Ray is serving a 99-year sentence for King's murder. They said their purpose was to remind Ray "of what he did."

Boston Mayor Kevin White called on Congress to declare King's birthday a national holiday. Later hundreds of Negroes held a black-only rally in King's honor, at one point asking a Roman Catholic priest and four nuns, all white, to leave.

In Alaska a member of the John Birch Society led the opposition forces that defeated a resolution in the State Senate to ask Congress to declare King's birthday a national day of mourning.

Sen. Clyde R. Lewis, an Anchorage Republican and member of the Birch Society's National Council, said King had "contributed more than anyone else to the present campus rioting and street rioting."

* * *

In Selma, Ala., the scene of a bloody 1965 civil rights clash, about 2,000 persons marched under a blazing sun chanting "Soul power, soul power!

School officials in Kalamazoo, Mich., canceled an assembly to honor King. When it was postponed on Thursday, about 100 black students broke four windows and ripped down lockers. "The events of yesterday would have made an assembly today a mockery," said the superintendent, John Cochran.

Hunt for Killer of Policeman 'Going Fast'

Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The search for the slayer of a white patrolman last Saturday night "is progressing nicely rapidly," said the detective heading the effort, but he added no arrests are imminent.

"If we say it is close to a solution, it might lead people to think an arrest is imminent, which it is not," said Detective Inspector Delore Ricard, commander of the police homicide bureau.

Ricard was asked to comment on a statement made over police radio by Commissioner Johannes Spreen that investigators may be "nearing a solution" to the slaying.

Spreen declined to amplify on his statement.

CROCKETT BACKED

The presidents of four bar associations, meanwhile, said controversial decisions by Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett following the slaying are "entitled to be respected."

Crockett, hearing of mass arrests which followed the slaying and the wounding of another officer last Saturday night after the adjournment of a black separatist rally, set up an emergency court session and gave orders to release nine men whom police said had fired weapons in the incident.

"Our investigation into the events that took place last Saturday night are still going on," Spreen said in his police radio statement. "We feel we are nearing a solution to the shooting. . . thanks to the cooperation of many concerned citizens as well as the fine efforts of our own police department."

Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan took issue with a statement by Crockett that an attempt by the prosecutor to hold a prisoner ordered released by the judge "had racial overtones."

"Anyone who does know me, and does know my record, knows that none of my thoughts, words or actions have ever been with racial overtones," Cahalan said.

Legal Leaders Plead for Faith

Leaders of the legal profession have called for continued faith in the judicial process in the wake of the controversy regarding Detroit's Judge George W. Crockett Jr.

Issuing the plea were William T. Gossett, president of the American Bar Association, who lives at 420 Goodhue, Bloomfield Hills; Albert H. Davis, president of the State Bar Association of Michigan; Myron H. Wahls, president of the Wolverine Bar Association; and Arnold W. Lungershausen, of the Detroit Bar Association.

The joint statement of the legal leaders said, "Under Michigan law, there is an appropriate tribunal in which charges of misconduct against any judge may be tried . . . Meanwhile, he is presumed to have acted in good faith and in accordance with the law and his obligations as a judge."

"Pending any proceeding to test the conduct of Judge Crockett or his interpretation of the law, we earnestly urge that in the interest of fairnes and decency and due process of law, the citizens of this community renew their faith in the judicial process by refraining from conduct that would interfere with the orderly administration of justice," it concluded.

Champion Crasher Still Active

He's Really Great at the Gate

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Will Haskell Deaton make it to victory lane in the Indianapolis 500 auto race again this year? Don't bet against him.

Deaton, a 51-year-old tire sales exective from Charlotte, crashed the 1968 winner's circle despite the fact that he had no reason to be there.

* * *

It wasn't a novel experience for Deaton — he's been a gate-crasher for years.

At Indianapolis, he used borrowed credentials to crack the tight security. Once in, he helped properly accredited Bob Wilkie of Milwaukee, owner of the winning car, get past guards to join driver Bobby Unser in the celebration.

USED VENTRILOQUISM

Deaton said he has used ventriloquism to get into most major football stadiums in the South and a few in the Midwest.

"I just stand at the gate and throw my voice from inside to the gate man," Deaton said. "I tell him to let that man in. It worries them sometimes when I refuse to go in when I'm called. They start fidgeting when the calls keep coming and insist I'd better get on in there. So I hustle on through."

* * *

Deaton uses nerve, charm and a salesman's patter to join top personalities.

He broke through Secret Service protection to accompany President Harry S. Truman on a tour of the North Carolina State Fair. He beat the governor of North Carolina, the mayor of Raleigh and top Army officials in welcoming Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to the state for a tour.

His files are full of photos of Deaton with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Howard Hughes, Eisenhower and dozens of movie stars, race car drivers and politicians.

Not all of his exploits have been successes, however. Deaton had to pay for a window broken when a cook hurled a chicken the length of the restaurant after an exhibition of ventriloquism.

The cook was about to scald the chicken when it pleaded "Don't dip me in that water."

Deaton has no plans to retire from gate-crashing, but his face may be getting too familiar.

"I was invited to the 1965 presidential inauguration in Washington" he recalled. "It felt funny to go in with a ticket."

Stolen Horse Drowned in Pool

LA MIRADA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Clifford reported that his brown and white pinto saddle horse had been stolen from its corral. The gelding was found Friday morning drowned in a city swimming pool, its legs tied with canvas straps.

Sheriff's investigators said whoever drowned the horse sawed through a lock to get to the pool.

PICTURE SNAPPERS vs . . . PHOTOGRAPHERS

CALL A LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHER BE SURE OF FAIR DEALINGS

Every week, almost without exception the Chamber of Commerce receives telephone calls for information about a photographer who is taking pictures of children.

Usually when a household is approached by the "camera man," he says: "I'm taking pictures of little tots, etc., etc., for the prize pictures in the something somewhere." Sometimes, he tells you a tinted one will be thrown in.

The Business Ethics Board urges all persons to do business with local photographers who have a reputation to sustain, who are established and are known for fair dealings. Furthermore, their studios are well equipped with the proper lighting effects in contrast to the itinerant "man with a camera."

Rome Holy Week Films Now Unholy, Unveiling

ROME (UPI) — The movie ad in a Rome newspaper shows a voluptuous beauty in a state of undress with the words: "The film that put even the Swedish censors in crisis."

An ad for another movie on the same page reads: "A women lent her own body to win a battle already lost . . ."

* * *

All of which means that Holy Week in Rome isn't what it used to be.

Once there was a tradition that Rome movie houses offered only "uplifting" or family entertainment during Holy Week.

OBSERVANCE ENDS

But as one newspaper has observed, "The films don't observe Lent" any more, and, like as not, the posters in front of the theaters carry the notation: "Forbidden to minors under 18."

The Holy Week fare of old consisted of such films as "Golgotha," "Pastor Angelicus," "The Ten Commandments," "Francis of Assisi," "Pontius Pilate," "Barabbas" and "The Bible."

* * *

They were dusted off each year and put on the screens to lend a proper atmosphere to the Holy City.

But this year they have given way to "Delitium," "The Virgin of Nuremberg," "The School of Virgins" and "Lost Sex."

* * *

The Vatican has not commented on the Holy Week film programs, but it has been deploring for weeks the increasing, and increasingly frank, treatment of sex in Italian films.

Predictors of Quake Get Good Friday Jolt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cultists, mystics and soothsayers who said a severe Good Friday California earthquake would make Phoenix, Ariz., a seaport could point only to three jolts that came in a little weak and 1,300 miles off target.

Sharp shocks in the ocean off Mexico Friday morning cracked a few walls in seacoast towns and sent people scurrying into the streets.

And, scientists point out, there were hundreds of microquakes too small to be detected except by a seismograph. In fact, there are hundreds of microquakes every day and about 300 noticeable shocks each year.

The doom-sayers weren't interested in these. For months they said California would be sundered from the continent or even sink into the Pacific in April. Many said it would happen on Good Friday—the day of the disastrous 1964 Alaskan quake.

WORRIED CALLS

If the undersea quakes and the microquakes Friday weren't what soothsayers expected, the feeling of firm soil underfoot didn't reassure others. Civil defense officials and scientists were deluged with worried telephone calls.

Throughout the day citizens called the California Institute of Technology, the U.S. Geological Survey and the city's civil defense office demanding to know when the quake would come.

★ ★ ★

"Most were reasonable," said William Frank, a civil defense coordinator. "But there were a few from highly emotional people who didn't want to be told the truth and demanded to know who's behind the plot to suppress information on the earthquake."

The truth, said Caltech seismologists, is this: Nobody can predict earthquakes and there's no reason to believe April is a likely month for one, or Good Friday a likely day.

OTHER DOOM-DATES

But, said a Geological Survey scientists, "Nothing we say seems to help."

The civil defense office said it has received 1,500 phone calls and hundreds of letters in the past two weeks asking for help.

Scientists had a prediction of their own: "We'll be putting up with this for the rest of the month." Other doom-savers have picked other days—April 8 and 15 for example—as California's last.

★ ★ ★

"And if by chance there happens to be a major quake in April," said a Caltech spokesman, "we'll never hear the end of it."

Hippies to Flee San Francisco for Pocatello, Idaho?

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — City officials were told Friday to expect 10,000 hippies from San Francisco fleeing an astrologically forecast earthquake.

And Karl Cayford, Chamber of Commerce manager, said the townspeople were uncertain whether to believe the immigration would occur. He said law enforcement agencies and officials in the city of 30,000 population had been alerted and were "waiting developments."

★ ★ ★

Cayford received a bulletin from Bo Maverick, who identified himself as mayor of the San Francisco hippies. It told Maverick's followers that a computer showed the sun, moon and planets were in the position for a California quake April 19.

Multitudes Still Seeking Proof of Christian Faith

(Editor's Note: In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Easter message was written by Rev. Carl E. Price, pastor of Central United Methodist Church.)

By REV. CARL E. PRICE

". . . and Thomas said, 'Unless I see in his hands the print of the nails and place my finger in the mark of the nails, and place my hand in his side, I will not believe.'" (John 20:25)

There are multitudes today who find more kinship between themselves and Thomas than any of the other of Jesus' disciples. The Scriptures refer to him as "Didymus" which means "Twin," but it would seem that his family is much larger than that; many are raising questions concerning the Christian faith. Interestingly enough, the most vocal expressions of the doubt expressed today reduces itself to the same basic issue with which Thomas was concerned—the death of God.

Of course, we do not stand in quite the same time relationship with the Resurrection that Thomas did, and so what was a valid question for him must be framed somewhat differently for our day.

★ ★ ★

The person seeking literal, physical proof of the resurrection in our day is wasting his time. We cannot crawl back through the time tunnel and observe the event ourselves. We have the witness of the writers of the gospels and no serious study has satisfactorily refuted their testimony.

But more than this is the argument of changed lives because of that event.

★ ★ ★

The lives of the disciples was the real mark of nails. You do not get that kind of living from mass delusion; especially not with men like Thomas around to ask some pointed questions.

★ ★ ★

The real Thomases of today are keen enough to know that. They are not saying "Prove to me that Christ rose from the dead." They are saying, "So he rose from the dead: SO WHAT?" And that is a very valid question. What happens in the lives of people is still the real mark of nails and people have a right to look for that kind of evidence.

If we are going to claim that the Christian faith has something to offer the world, we have a responsibility to demonstrate the validity of our product; and it is going to have to be something more significant than our great cathedrals, our sacred shrines and our journeys to Jerusalem.

★ ★ ★

The world, like Thomas, is looking for more vital signs. If what we say is any indication of what we believe, then they have a right to expect honesty in business, justice in government, brotherhood in communities, concern in churches and sincerity in personal life.

★ ★ ★

We who celebrate this day as a day to crown all days have a responsibility to be the mark of nails for the Thomases of today.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

EASTER

"He is risen." So said the young man to Mary Magdalene, Mary the Mother of James and Salome, when they went to the sepulchre to anoint the body of Jesus that first Easter morning. Jesus had fulfilled his promise to them yet they "trembled and were amazed."

For 1969 years the Christian world each Easter has commemorated Jesus's triumph over death. Each Easter those three simple words "He is risen" give hope and strengthen the faith of all peoples in that triumph.

Voice of the People:

Suggest Youths Visit Religious Art Exhibition

The Religious Art Exhibition at Cranbrook is wonderful. I hope many people will make the effort to see it. The exhibit includes many beautiful, inspirational, "groovey" and "now" things about religion.

★ ★ ★

If there are any young people who consider religion as passe, dull and static, they should make this show a "must." If there are any parents who find it difficult making religion relevant to their children, they should give their children the opportunity to see this exhibit.

Supports Stand of Conscientious Objector

Recently a letter was published from a young man regarding his application for deferment from military service as a conscientious objector. I submit my complete and unreserved support for the convictions of this young man and may he triumph with the wisdom acquired for his tender years. His contribution to the causes of humanity cannot be gainsaid. The younger generation is great. May we have more of them.

Two Letters Discuss Nonpublic School Aid

Were it possible and legal, there are two directions that parochial parents could take. Either would break the taxpayer's back. If all parochial parents decide to quit paying the school tax and concentrate their financial help to parochial schools, where would that put the taxpayers? How much tax would you have to put on cigarettes, gas, license plates and anything else you could tax?

One more road for parochial parents to travel—if it were legal—is to close all the parochial schools and put all the children into the public school system. How many new schools would have to be built, how many new teachers needed, how many more school buses, custodians, dietitians, etc? The added costs would be astronomical. Do you think you could handle this additional load? Isn't it unconstitutional for us to have to pay public school tax for a service we don't even use, even if it is by our own choice?

JOHN G. PROSSER
2333 BINGHAMPTON, AUBURN HEIGHTS

As a matter of practical economics, all taxpayers should be for state aid to nonpublic schools. Public school systems are finding difficulty financing rising costs. Millage increase requests are being defeated and most responsible educators say that unless some other method of financing schools is found, the quality of the public school system will greatly deteriorate.

★ ★ ★

If something is not done to assist the financing of nonpublic education, nonpublic schools face financial collapse and the total burden of 315,000 students currently attending nonpublic schools will be shifted to the public school system. The taxpayer is faced with higher costs but wouldn't he be better off to finance $136 for every nonpublic student than face additional financing of $800 for each student forced to leave a nonpublic school?

Reader States Opinion on Cause of Wars

The United States has gone soft. Do you think mothers and fathers loved their sons any less when they sent them to fight in the Civil War or WWI or WWII? Death separated many of them. Death was the same then. In Vietnam those that wanted Communist rule went to the north. Those who wanted a free nation went to the south. Yet, as always, tyranny abides by no promises. Instead, it wants all others chained the same as it is. Free men will always have to fight for the privilege of being free.

Keego Harbor residents, Monday is election day. Whether you are satisfied with the city administration or unhappy about it, now is the time to express your opinion. We will elect a councilman for a two-year term and two councilmen for three-year terms. Get out and vote.

Youngster Tells Hopes for Peaceful Future

I hope the future I will live in will be peaceful and there will not be a lot of fighting. I hope we can walk the streets without being beaten up. I hope that the black and white will get along together and that when a gang of black people see a white person, I hope the black people won't beat him up. And when a gang of white people see a black person they won't beat him up.

Confident Living:

The Certainty of Things Unseen

By NORMAN V. PEALE

Twenty years old and already a widow. "I was married at eighteen, but my husband died suddenly three months ago. I love him so much and miss him so much, I can hardly stand it." So wrote a bereaved young wife.

DR. PEALE

"I'm sure," she continued, "that life does go on after death, but what frightens me is whether I'll ever be with him again. About a month ago, when I was praying, I had a strange feeling. I just felt loved — a perfect love, without strings and with no pride in it. And then I prayed that Fred and I should be together again some day, and I felt an assurance that we will be . . ."

I wrote back: "I can assure you that you will be comforted. Your experience means, I believe, that the Lord knew how much you needed reassurance and He drew near to give it to you. So please do not doubt. Put your trust and faith in it and build your life around it. That you and Fred will be together again some day I have no doubt."

★ ★ ★

To a great many persons at one time or another there actually come experiences that leave them with an unshakable conviction of having been in living contact with departed loved ones. Sometimes it's an overwhelming sense of the loved one's unseen presence. In some the loved one's voice is heard, usually with an "inner ear," but so clearly as to be very startling. There is a great variety of phenomena.

My mail quite frequently brings me letters describing such occurrences, some of which I have published in this column. Also I have shared experiences of my own.

Before you write this off as fantasy, consider the experiments conducted over many years at the Duke University Parapsychology Laboratory by Dr. J. B. Rhine, now widely recognized as the world's leading authority on extrasensory perception. Thousands of individuals have sent him detailed accounts of incidents involving such psychic or metaphysical phenomena. Mrs. Louisa E. Rhine has recently published a number of these case histories, with analytical comments on their significance from an evidential point of view.

Among the case histories presented in Mrs. Rhine's last book, "ESP in Life and Lab," is that of a woman who was in the final stages of pregnancy, when the placenta ruptured. She was rushed to the hospital. The unborn infant's oxygen supply was cut off; there was no detectable heartbeat. The woman was given oxygen, also blood transfusions, but no drugs. Her pulse was gone. The doctor rushed preparations for an emergency Caesarean, telling the family, "the baby is lost. We are trying to save Mrs. M. Don't give up." And here is the woman's story:

"The nurse at my head kept slapping my face and saying, 'Breathe, Mrs. M., breathe.' They ran down the hall with me, tanks and jars attached. I was placed on the table, the nurse still slapping my face. I want to stress the fact that I was conscious and I was praying so very, very hard that the baby would be given life instead of myself and that my husband and mother would be able to raise it well and correctly. I guess it was the first time I had ever really prayed. Because I had always had a little bit of doubt that God was real . . .

"But that day all of a sudden in the midst of feeling the incision being made and of having my face slapped, somewhere I saw Christ and my father who had died in 1957 standing guard. They weren't smiling . . . But they were with me, and they knew I saw them. Then they were gone.

"Then Dr. A. said, 'It's a girl . . .' But I didn't respond. I deliberately went to sleep. I knew everything was all right. When I awoke, my bed was surrounded with friends all looking at me as if I were a corpse. They all wanted to be the first to tell me it was a girl. I had been married 11 years and always wanted one so much. But I already knew. I hated to disappoint them, so I pretended to fall asleep again, for I wasn't half as thrilled over having a daughter as I was over knowing Christ does live and that my father is with Him. I kept repeating to myself, 'Now I know.'

"Dr. Rhine, the proof that this wasn't a dream is definite because the baby lives. Another proof is that, if I had been dreaming, Christ would have looked like the picture I have had in my house every day of my life . . . The difference is more than a three-dimensional movie compared to a snapshot! As for me, I don't need any proof. Nothing could make me doubt it was a real miracle made possible by 'mind.' That is, concentration in prayer, sincere and humble — and that, of course, has to come from the mind."

★ ★ ★

This certitude that death is not the end and that it does not terminate the earthly ties of love is meant, of course, for everybody. Whether it gets through to you or me depends partly upon receptivity of mind, whether developed through spiritual growth, the impact of some deep experience, or just inplicable intuition.

Easter therefore is for all humanity, commemorating the most stupendous demonstration of all time, to help us know that life continues after death and that those whom we have loved long since and seemingly lost awhile are not really lost to us at all.

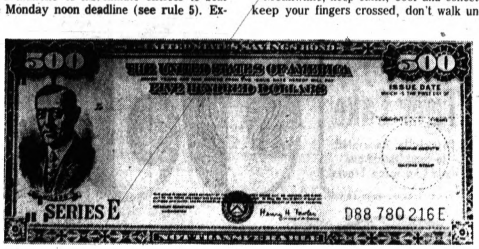
Last Call for Baseball Contest Entries

"Seeing is believing," as the fella said, and just to give the winner of The Press Annual Baseball Contest a preview of the reward he or she will reap, we show below a facsimile of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

Although they have been piling up increasingly since the announcement of the contest that traditionally touches off the national baseball season, the judges are braced for an avalanche of last-minute entries to beat the Monday noon deadline (see rule 5). Experience has shown that 50 per cent of entries for contests of any kind are received on the last day.

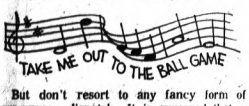


It seems as though we've pretty well covered the ground in previous discourses and there's little more to be said now EXCEPT to entreat late-blooming entrants to get their entries in before the contest clock runs out.

★ ★ ★

If this refrain has a repititious ring, it is only because a substantial number of entries unfallingly trails in after the whistle has blown, and has to be disqualified. Our judges have been known to weep salty tears over their distasteful obligation, but there's no help for it.

Although the postal service is pretty reliable, at this late date we'd suggest that entrants not trust their bids for fame and fortune to the mails but deposit them in the newspaper's Huron Street drop box.



But don't resort to any fancy form of emergency dispatch. It is rumored that a tardy contestant once attempted to transmit an entry by smoke signal. But, as luck would have it, the wind shifted and blew the entry back in his face. Moreover, the innovator was issued a violation ticket for illegal air pollution . . . tsk-tsk-tsk.

Within a few days after the opening of the baseball season, the Associated Press will issue a daily list of the American League's 10 Leading Batters. To keep contestants informed on their prospects until the close of the contest on April 19 (see rule 2) we'll publish the list on this page.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, keep calm, cool and collected; keep your fingers crossed, don't walk under ladders, and keep a wary eye out for black cats.

'By now.

CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone, and all members of families (except Press employes and close relatives), are eligible to enter contest. Entrants are limited, however, to one entry each.

2. To enter, submit name and batting average of the AMERICAN League player (and the club with which identified at time of entry) who you think will lead the league as shown by the Associated Press tabulation of batting averages appearing in sports section of the Saturday, April 19, edition of The Press—the closing date of the contest.

3. Entries should be written on postal cards or substitutes and addressed to The Pontiac Press Baseball Contest, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan 48056. They may be mailed or deposited in The Press Huron Street drop box.

4. The entrant who correctly picks the leading batter (or comes closest) will receive the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. The deadline for entries is Monday noon, April 7, and they must be received by The Press by that time. Entries received later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. Decisions by Pontiac Press judges will be final on all questions related to the contest.

Question and Answer

How often does the Waterford school board meet, who are the members and how much do they get for each meeting?

WATERFORD RESIDENT

REPLY

They meet at least twice a month, more often if necessary. Philip Hampton, Lewis Long, Tom Porter, Eldon Rosegart, Virginia Ross, Louis Schimmel Jr., and Peggy Wood are the members. They are paid $250 per year.

Question and Answer

Is it true 75 per cent of the cost of Mott High School in Waterford was donated?

MRS. S.

REPLY

No. One room in the school has carpeting (the library) and that carpeting is the only thing donated. The rest of the school was paid for through bond issues.

Jeff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Florentine Gallero of 296 W. Yale, is a ninth grader and is active in wrestling, track and concert band.

He plans to attend college when he graduates from high school to be either a science teacher or an airline pilot.

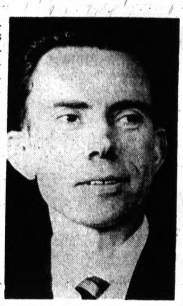
To Aid Alaskan Development

Nixon's Brother Gets U.S. Post



EDWARD C. NIXON

SEATTLE (AP) — Edward C. Nixon, a quiet worker in his brother's presidential campaign, has been named chairman of the Federal Field Committee for Development Planning in Alaska.

His appointment to the $30,000-a-year post was announced Friday by the Commerce Department. The committee is similar to the Appalachian Regional Commission and others in various parts of the nation which coordinate federal and state programs designed to develop the economy and resources of an area.

★ ★ ★

The appointment is effective May 3. Edward Nixon's 39th birthday.

Nixon brings a varied background to his new job—California oil worker, Navy pilot, geologist and, for the past two years, a commercial staff supervisor for Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

He took a leave of absence from that job last summer to handle correspondence at the New York headquarters of presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon. He later went to Washington to help with inaugural plans.

Nixon, who made an extensive private trip to Alaska in 1962, said he plans to move cautiously in his first major political post.

"I don't want to comment yet on what may be accomplished ... until I see first hand what has been done," he said. "I will be going to Alaska very shortly and meet with all officials that I can find."

Nixon said he hadn't looked at the programs developed by the incumbent, Joseph Fitzgerald, who resigned to go into private industry, but had heard "He's done an excellent job."

Nixon majored in geology at Duke University and holds a master of science degree in geological engineering from North Carolina State University. His skill as a flier—he is a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve and a helicopter pilot—and as a geologist will aid him in analyzing aerial photos of Alaska's geological deposits.

The committee's headquarters will be in Anchorage, but Nixon said he plans to keep his ranch-style home 20 miles north of Seattle where his daughters, Amy, 10, and Beth, 8, have their own horses.

★ ★ ★

"We like it here better than any place we've lived," said Nixon.

The move will be the eighth in the past 11 years for the Nixons.

At Sterling Heights Plant

Police-Picket Clash Likely

— Police and picketers appeared headed for a showdown at Chrysler Corp.'s stamping plant today, as Sterling Heights Police Chief Maurice Foltz says he would remove the pickets if they failed to obey a court order.

Foltz said he would enforce the order issued by Judge Edward Gallagher Thursday after several picket-line incidents led to mass arrests of strikers, mostly on charges of disorderly conduct.

About 3,500 members of United Auto Workers Local Union 1264 began the wildcat strike Wednesday for alleged unsafe working conditions, and suspension of 12 union officials.

Both police and the union had different interpretations of the judges order.

James Sexton, president of the UAW local, said there would be pickets at the plant today.

"We're not looking for a confrontation. But we agree with our attorney that the temporary restraining order issued by Judge Gallagher does not ban picketing," Sexton said.

However, Judge Gallagher was asked if the order prohibits picketing and replied "That's the way I construe it."

★ ★ ★

The walkout protested suspension by the company of Sexton and 11 other union officials who ordered workers not to handle jagged pieces of scrap steel in a conveyor pit. When the 12 men left the plant, 500 workers walked out and started picket lines.

Three Detroit-area Chrysler assembly plants closed Thursday for lack of parts from the Sterling facility.

Celebrate Christ's Resurrection

'He Goeth Before You Into Galilee'

Christians throughout the world will celebrate the drama of Christ's Resurrection tomorrow — Easter Sunday.

Young people will be up early rushing off to church where they will lead sunrise services and present plays portraying the life and death of Jesus Christ.

Breakfast will follow in many churches.

Children's and adult choirs after rehearsing for weeks will proclaim the story of Christ's love and majesty as they sing cantatas written by well known composers.

Women of altar guilds and church societies are busy today arranging lilies and other plants and flowers given in memory of loved ones.

Business Executive Uses Work to Spread His Faith

By HENDERSON BELK

Miguel was a little-known, un- distinguished barber in a small village in Mexico.

BELK

One day as he listened to a passing evangelist some years ago, Miguel was captured by the story of the Carpenter of Nazareth. The barber became a Christian and felt moved to tell everyone he saw about this Man, Jesus.

★ ★ ★

But Miguel was not a good speaker and few people listened to him. Then Miguel began traveling to neighboring villages to preach, but in those days most towns in Mexico had "manned" walls.

Miguel was usually not allowed to enter the gates when he told the guard of his mission. Still not discouraged, Miguel stood by the gates and noted that those who were allowed to enter were merchants and tradesmen.

EAGER TO HEAD

Back to his village went Miguel, where he gathered together the tools of his profession. As a barber he found he could visit any vilalge he wished.

From then on as he cut people's hair, he found customers willing and often eager to hear a barber's witness for Jesus Christ.

★ ★ ★

There is quite a message here for me, and I'm sure for many other business and professional people, too, who feel led to express their religious convictions to others.

The best answer: Find a creative way to share your faith within the framework of your profession.

BIBLES IN CARS

For over 10 years now I have found that most of my opportunities to witness have come out of my work. In addition to our department stores, I have interests in some radio stations, automobile agencies and motels. In each business, I have found different ways to tell others about the Man Who revitalized my life.

On our radio stations, we offer Gospel programs to listeners, trying to present the good news in the most interesting way possible.

★ ★ ★

In our automobile agencies, we have copied the example set by John Hodges of Indianapolis. Hodges puts a copy of the Bible in the glove compartment of his every car he sells (some 12,000 a year). Along with the Bible he includes a tract called "Your Road Map to Life."

We have begun doing the same, and now every car we sell carries a Bible, the best road map I know.

RELATES STORY

In our motel rooms, we place Bibles, tracts and other inspirational reading materials. Though it is difficult to assess the results of such efforts, we do know of cases where religious materials in motel and hotel rooms have diverted people from suicide, crime and immoral acts.

Not long ago one of my motel managers told me about a man and a woman who registered at his motel, but a few minutes later the man returned to the office with a funny look on his face. "We're checking out," he said.

"Something wrong?" asked the manager.

"No, the room's fine. The problem's with us," he replied.

Then with a candor seldom heard by any motel or hotel manager, the man went on to say, "The woman and I are not married to each other and we were about to make a mistake that could have ruined both our homes. When I walked into the room, there was a Bible on the bureau. Just the sight of that book made me come to my senses."

There is no question about Christ's challenge and admonition to those of us who want to be His disciples: "As thou has sent Me into the world, so have I sent them (you) into the world."

Junior Editors Quiz on FOLK TALES

QUESTION: What was the origin of the folk tales?

ANSWER: In a recent article on folk music, we pointed out that such music came from the hearts of many people and was not at first written down, but passed from singer to singer.

Folk stories had much the same origin. They were more mythical than true and were cherished because of their human interest or humor.

One can't say exactly how they originated, but almost all nations have had their folk story heroes, whose exploits people continuously retold and loved to exaggerate.

King Arthur and Sir Lancelot were heroes in Old World legends. In America, we have had many folklore stars, such as Paul Bunyan, Rip Van Winkle, Buffalo Bill and Casey Jones.

Some years ago, one such person was given new life as a famous song was written about him. You may guess that we are speaking of Davy Crockett.

According to the sing, Davy killed a bear when only 3 years old and our artist has illustrated this exploit in true folk tale manner. If you find it hard to believe — well, that's the spirit of the folk stories.

Jackson School Suspends 11 in Obscenity Case

JACKSON (AP) — Eleven students at Vandercook Lake High School were suspended Friday by Supt. Burdette W. Andrews after they refused an order to leave a hallway and go to classes.

School officials said the students were among 27 students demonstrating in support of Wanda Mullins, an English teacher who was suspended Thursday. The officials said Miss Mullins was suspended for condoning the use of obscene words in essays.

It was not immediately decided for how long the students would be suspended.

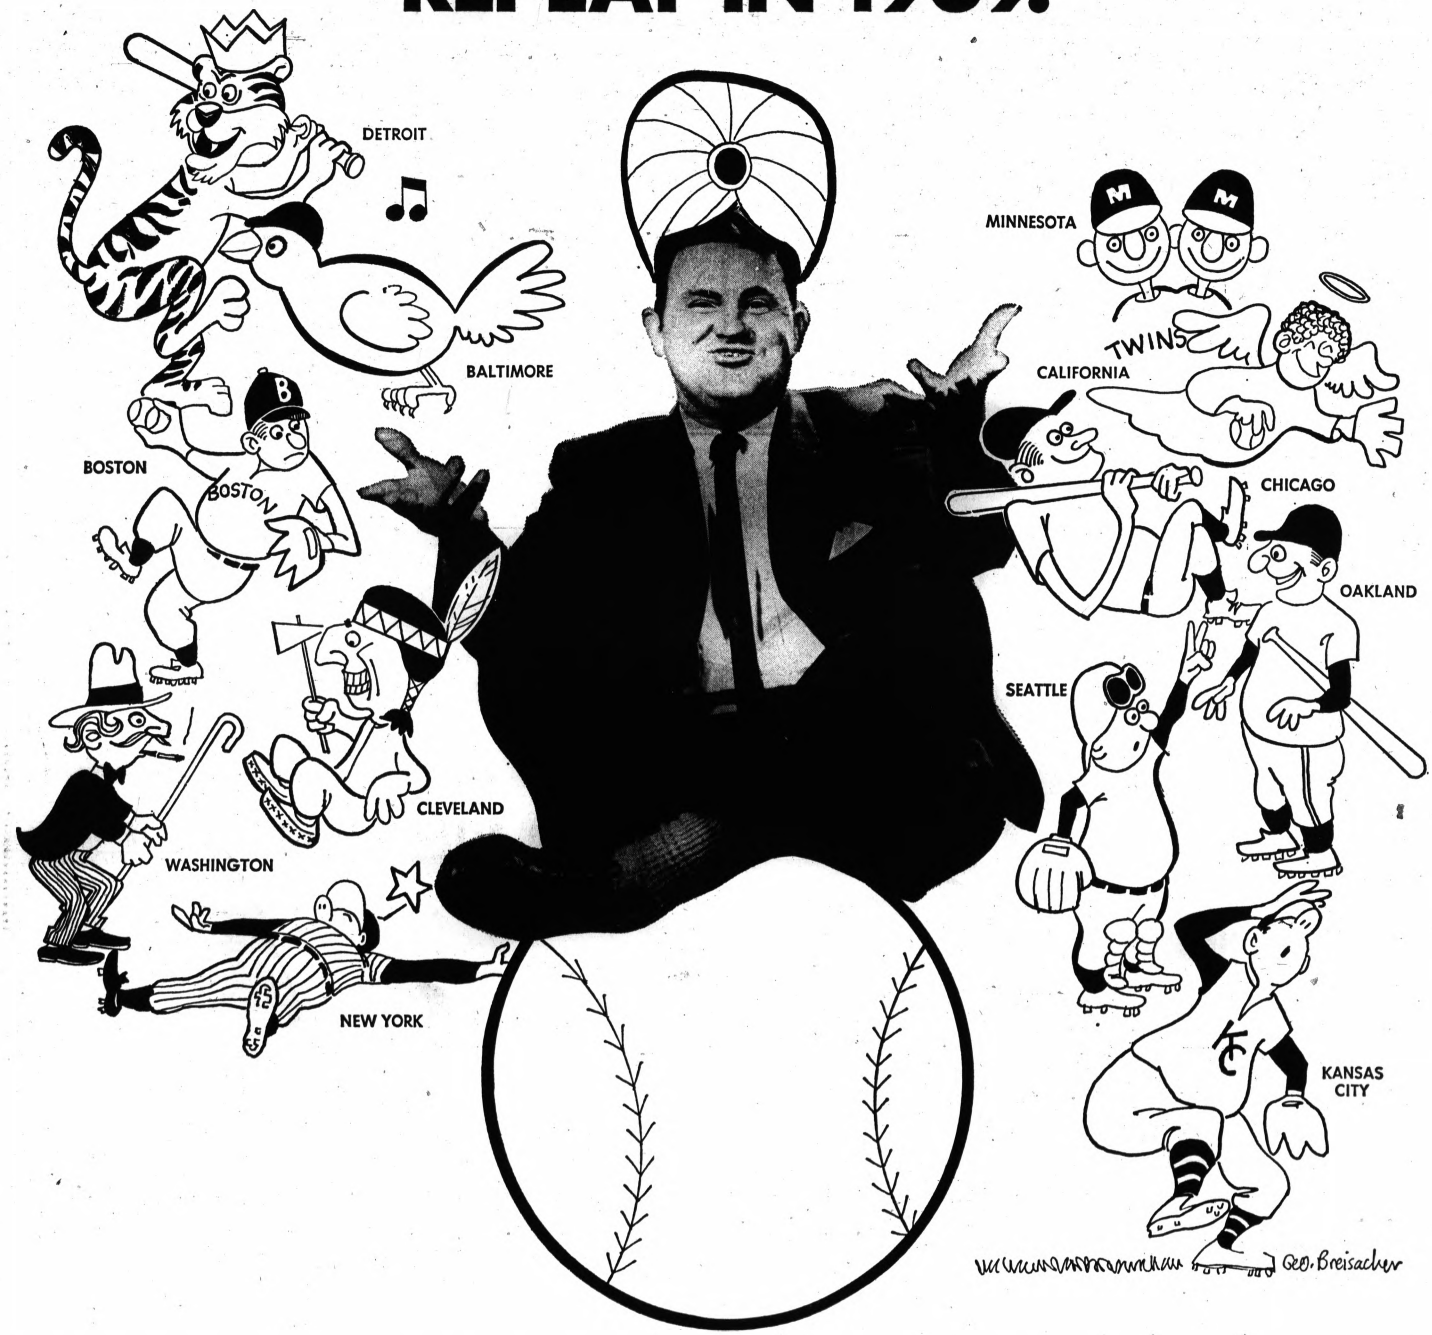
DETROIT TIGERS 1969

Tuesday, April 8, the umpire will shout "Play Ball", and another season of thrilling Big League Baseball will begin. Will the Bengals of Chairman Mayo do it again? Will Denny McLain win another 31 games? Is Bill Freehan's nose ready to slip behind the catcher's mask? How do the Tigers stack up against the rest of the league?

Pontiac Press and Associated Press Sports Writers, plus a host of experts have provided the information in this special section to give you material upon which to base your conclusions.

There is much, much more too! High Schools, Colleges and City League data, and schedules are also included in this complete reference section on "Baseball, Today". Play Ball! Throw the first pitch. Take your cuts. Here is Baseball 1969 presented by The Pontiac Press.

BRUNO SEZ: TIGERS TO REPEAT IN 1969.



Baltimore Expected to Challenge Tigers for Flag

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

"Two Too Tigers."

That's the Detroit Tigers' forecast for 1969.

For those who aren't "hep," it means win the American League pennant again.

And we are picking the Tigers to repeat.

The new divisional setup in Major League baseball, puts the Tigers in the toughest of the four divisions in either the National or American Leagues.

There are no expansion teams in the Eastern Division, and the top five teams in the East had better records in 1968 than the best record among the Western Division teams.

The struggle in the Eastern Division is sure to go three ways with Detroit, Baltimore and Boston; most likely four ways with Cleveland and how can anyone ever discount the Yankees.

Here's the Eastern Division forecast:

1. Detroit — The nucleous of the only team in Major League baseball last year which won over 100 games is intact. The pitching and power is still there, and be depth as well with youngsters giving help in the bullpen. With such tremendous outfield depth and the weak spot in the infield, it would almost seem that if Mayo Smith is going to use his nine best players, Mickey Stanley and Al Kaline will both be in the lineup and that may mean shortstop for Stanley and Kaline in right field against left hand pitching.

2. Baltimore — The Oriole's manager Earl Weaver is sure his team will overtake the Tigers. When he took over the team from Hank Bauer, the Orioles were 10½ games behind. For the remainder of the season, compiling a 48-34 mark, Weaver points out he was only 1½ games behind, and with Dave McNally, Jim Hardin and Tom Phoebus, we see the Orioles as the closest threat.

3. Boston — The Red Sox claim to have the outfield to match the Tigers especially with Tony Conigliaro. And they are depending on the big return of Jim Lonborg. This is a potent team with Carl Ystrzemski and Ken Harrelson, but there are a lot of infield changes and there's still a question as to the strength of pitching rotation.

4. Cleveland — The Indians certainly have the potential pitching to be a major threat to the top three, but there's not great power in the outfield and no strong consistent hitting in the infield, showing Tony Horton with .249 as best. The Indians are without doubt the darkhorse of the league.

5. New York — The Yankees are still the Yankees no matter how the leagues are split up, but you can't win pennants with a name alone. Mickey Mantle's spikes are retired and this weakens an already-weak infield. The outfield holds all of the topcards on the team.

6. Washington — If the disappointments of 1968, pitcher Frank Bertaina, catcher Paul Casanova and first baseman Mike Epstein can recover, we could see the senators sliding ahead of the Yankees under the leadership of Ted Williams.

Festive Opener Planned Tuesday for World's Champion Tigers

Top Baseball Flags to Fly at Stadium

For the first time since 1946, the World Championship banner will fly from the centerfield staff below Old Glory, in what is expected to be the most festive opening day in 23 years in Tuesday at Tiger Stadium.

On hand for the game against the Cleveland Indians to watch the World Championship and the American League banners raised will be baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The Commissioner also will hand out personally the Tigers' expensive World Series souvenir rings — his gift to them in recognition of the exciting race and series they staged last season.

The customary Opening Day ceremonies have been arranged to go with the presentation and the hoisting of the flags. The gates will open at 11:30 a.m. and Merle Alvey's Tiger band will play in centerfield from noon until 1:05 p.m.

Home plate ceremonies starting at that time will include the ring presentation by the Commissioner; a traditional floral presentation by the Detroit Fire Fighters Association; introduction of the teams and the flag raising.

★ ★ ★

For the customary first-pitch, Governor Milliken will make his first appearance and Mayor Cavanagh his seventh. It is the Mayor's turn to pitch, with the governor catching — and Commissioner Kuhn acting as the umpire.

Stadium Manager Jess Walls hopes to have Tiger Stadium sparkling for the start of the Tigers' 69th American League campaign and professional baseball's Centennial Season. The playing surface has been sodded and the grandstand decorated.

★ ★ ★

Pre-season ticket sales indicate an Opening Day attendance record may be set. Box seats were exhausted three weeks before the opener but Ticket Director Norman Otto reported some reserved seats and bleacher seats are still available.

The Opening Day attendance record was set in 1960 when 53,563 turned out in 80-degree weather to see the Tigers turn back the Chicago White Sox, 6-5. There were almost that many in 1946, the year after the Tigers won their last previous pennant and World Championship, with 52,118 on hand as the Tigers edged the St. Louis Browns, 2-1.

★ ★ ★

Last year's crowd was 41,429 and the Tigers lost to the Boston Red Sox, 7-3. However, that setback was followed by nine straight victories which started the Tigers on their way to the pennant and World Championship.

★ ★ ★

This year's opener will launch the Tigers into divisional play for the first time, with Manager Mayo Smith apprehensive about a tough race in the American League East which also includes Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, New York and Washington. In the American League West are California, Chicago, Kansas City, Minnesota, Oakland and Seattle. Kansas City and Seattle are expansion teams.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers will play each team in their division nine times at home and nine on the road while facing teams in the other division six times at home and six on the road. A playoff between the East-West winners will follow the 162-game regular season, with the playoff winner meeting the National League champion in the World Series.

★ ★ ★

Barring last-minute changes, the Tigers will present almost the same lineup in 1969 as the one which won the 1968 pennant and World Series with Denny McLain, Mickey Lolich, Al Kaline, Willie Horton, Mickey Stanley, Norm Cash and Jim Northrup in the most prominent starring roles.

★ ★ ★

Following Opening Day, the Tigers will meet the Indians again Thursday, then take on the New York Yankees in a weekend series April 11-12-13 before hitting the road.

Tigers' Big Year in Three Films

DETROIT — Three exciting baseball films are now available to groups of Tiger fans who want to relive the 1968 American League pennant race and World Series.

The "1968 World Series" is generally considered the best World Series film ever produced. Winik Films, Inc. has turned out a 41-minute motion picture that captures the highlights of the series and employs replays and interviews with players, both firsts for World Series films.

Particular emphasis is given to the Lou Brock-Bill Freehan play at home plate in the fifth game, "one of two key defensive plays that turned the series around," the script reads. The film is sponsored by Coca-Cola.

World Series action also is included in the Tiger season highlight film "Year of the Tiger-'68". The 34-minute movie should be of special interest to Tiger fans because it chronicles the Tiger story from the last out of the heartbreaking 1967 season to their World Series victory in 1968. It is sponsored by the National Bank of Detroit.

Several scenes of the Tigers in regular-season action and the World Series are featured in "Baseball-'68", a lively, 22-minute film presented by Investors Diversified Services. It features fast-moving, action-packed scenes that highlighted the 1968 season, including the Dick McAuliffe-Tommy John fracas.

All three are 16 mm films, in color and sound, and can be reserved by writing: Film Department, Tiger Stadium, Detroit, Mich. 48216.

"Year of the Tiger-'68" also can be obtained from Films, Woodward and Fort, Detroit, Mich. 48216, and "Baseball-'68" by writing IDS, P.O. Box 1414, Minneapolis, Minn. 55440.

Twins West Choice

A. L. WESTERN DIVISION

1. Minnesota—The season may have ended early for the Twins last year when big Harmon Killebrew was carried off the field in the July 9 All-Star game, but the Twins have a new manager in hustling Billy Martin and there's Tony Oliva, Rich Reese, Rod Carew and newly acquired Leo Cardenas which should put Minnesota at the top of its division.
2. California — It was a poor 9th place finish for the Angles last year but the youth and potential is still there and it could show up in what everyone says is a shaky pitching staff. That's a tough Keystone combination with Frefosi and Knoop and the outfield has lot of strong points.
3. Chicago — The White Sox have definite infield weaknesses, the outfield with Pete Ward flatered and the pitching has its problems, but as long as Al Lopez is manager, the White Sox could easily snap out of it and surprise a lot of people this season.
4. Oakland — This is the team everyone says will win the West, based on the fact that as a sixth place team in the American League last year, the Athletics would be on top of the new setup. Maybe so, and there's plenty of youth to support a fine year for the A's, but Charley Finley, the owner, and manager Hank Bauer don't "togetherness" on this team.
5. Seattle — Give or take a few games, how can anyone expect either Seattle or Kansas City, the expansion teams, to do anything more but to battle each other for the bottom spots. We don't pick the Pilots ahead of the Royals because of Ray Oyler at short, it's just a flip of the coin and besides we like Don Mincher at first and some of old veteran Yankees on the pitching staff.
6. Kansas City — The Royals have Joe Gordon as manager and too many untested kids at almost all positions. We look for Steve Whitaker, always considered strong potential as a Yankee youngster, to blossom into the hitting star of the team.

Tiger Odds Now 12-5 for Flag

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bookmakers said Friday St. Louis was an even favorite to win the National League pennant and Detroit a 12-5 favorite in the American League.

The odds:

American League

Detroit, 12-5
Baltimore, 7-2
Oakland, 4-1
Minnesota, 4-1
Chicago, 7-1
Boston, 7-1
Cleveland, 8-1
California, 10-1
New York, 2-1
Washington, 100-1
Seattle, 150-1
Kansas City, 150-1

National League

St. Louis, even San Francisco, 13-5
Cincinnati, 4-1
Chicago, 6-1
Atlanta, 7-1 Pittsburgh, 8-1
Los Angeles, 15-1 Philadelphia, 15-1
New York 30-1
Houston, 50-1
San Diego, 150-1
Montreal, 150-1

Few bookies are taking odds on divisions because of prohibitive odds in some races and chance of a tie and playoff.

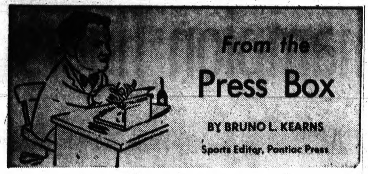
ALL STAR GAME AT WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22
•Night Game

TN-Twilight-Night Doubleheader
M-To Be Played in Milwaukee



Like to talk about the Greatest Tigers Ever?

Well now you don't have to just talk about them, you can help pick the team.

In conjunction with the Detroit Tigers' balloting and the American League, a ballot box is printed at the bottom of this page for you to make your selections.

Each Major League team is conducting similar ballots and when the balloting ends June 1, all of the teams picked will be submitted to the Baseball Writers of America and from the respective teams will come the Greatest Team Ever and the Greatest Player of the Century.

We would like to have all Pontiac area ballots sent to us at the Pontiac Press sports department and when the final Major League balloting is announced we would like to compare the local ballots with the national poll.

We must have the ballots by May 15. We will then forward all local ballots to the Detroit Tigers to be considered in the national voting in this the 100th year of baseball.

OUR GREATEST TEAM

How do we pick our Greatest Tiger Team ever?

The first place to start naturally would be with Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the greatest Tiger of them all, and in our book the greatest of the century.

This will certainly get a reaction from the Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig fans but with 12 batting championships, nine in a row, a record base stealer, plus, plus, plus, and more pluses he's our No. 1 player.

★ ★ ★

For the other two outfield positions, we go with Harry Heilman and Al Kaline. Of course the Sam Crawford fans will have something to say here, probably with an argument that Kaline should be considered only after his career has ended.

Hank Greenberg at first, Charlie Gehringer at second, George Kell at third and Donnie Bush at shortstop make up our infield.

Harvey Kuenn will probably get a lot of support at short where the biggest disagreement may come as far as the infield is concerned with Billy Rogell getting plenty of support.

As far as catching is concerned we must use the same argument against Bill Freehan that we use in favor of Al Kaline — in the next balloting, years from now, Freehan will probably get the vote.

Right now Michey Cochrane, a great catcher, a great leader and outstanding manager.

PRINCE SOUTHPAW

An easy choice for the greatest Tiger Southpaw of them all, Prince Hal Newhouser, whose records may go untouched for many years yet.

But now the vote for the Greatest Tiger Righthander will get plenty of reaction.

★ ★ ★

Tommy Bridges who was a strong half of the rotation staff with Newhouser in the pennant team 23 years ago is our choice.

George Mullin, Schoolboy Rowe, Bill Donovan and certainly Denny McLain will challenge for this honor, but like Freehan, Denny must prove his point for the next few years.

Disagree?

Let's hear from you with the enclosed ballot in this column of the page.

CANADIAN CAPER—One of the more promising left-handers among the younger Detroit Tigers is southpaw Mike Kilkenny, a 6-3, and 170-pounder from Bradford, Ont. He could help the Bengals in the bullpen.

ON THE BEAM—Detroit Tigers' trainer Bill Behm has his busy moments before and after many games helping to mend the aches and pains of the players. Behm takes some of the kinks out of John Hiller's shoulder during the Grapefruit Season. The veteran trainer, a native of Pittsburgh, has been with the Tigers four years.

Cool Florida No Bother

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Florida's weather was colder in February and March than in most previous years, but wives of the world champion Detroit Tigers didn't mind too much.

Detroit had a mild winter this year, but even if the Florida weather was unseasonably cool, it was welcomed by Tiger wives — comparing it with Detroit's normally freezing and usually snow-filled February and March.

★ ★ ★

Fourteen wives made the trip with their husbands this year, although the player-owner dispute delayed the arrival for spring training of most of the players.

SUNSHINE

"I always look forward to coming to Florida," said Connie Sparma, wife of Tiger pitcher Joe Sparma. "Just having sunshine is enough for me."

★ ★ ★

About half of the wives stay at Lakeland's Acernook Motel, primarily because of its kitchenette units. The players are paid $12 a day by the club for meal money and $4.50 for living expenses, plus an additional $40 a week for spending.

If a family has to eat out three times a day, seven-days a week it amounts to quite a bit of money.

MOTELS

Mrs. Pat Horton stayed at the Holiday Inn with her two children for a week. Several other Tiger families stay there and others find apartments in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lasher have their own trailer in a nearby camp.

★ ★ ★

"It is almost impossible to live in a motel with your children," Mrs. Horton added. "If they want a glass of milk at 7 a.m. they don't understand that the restaurant isn't open."

STANLEY STEAM(S) — Mickey Stanley, one of the big stars of the 1968 World Championship for the Detroit Tigers, as an outfielder and shortstop, melts away a few pounds under the sweat jersey he is wearing. Predictions are that the versatile Stanley will be seen at shortstop on numerous occasions this season, maybe even opening day.

Cards Stacked for N.L. Chase

NEW YORK (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals probably won their third straight pennant last October when they acquired Vada Pinson in a deal that was announced shortly after they lost the seventh World Series game to Detroit.

The Cardinals figure to become the first team since the St. Louis clubs of the 1942-3-4 period to make it three straight in the National League.

It won't be as easy as it was last year or the year before, not because the opposition will be tougher, but because of the new format adopted by the major leagues.

★ ★ ★

In addition to winning their own Eastern Division, where they will compete with Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Montreal, they must beat the winner of the Western Division in a best-of-7 series to get into the series with the American League champions.

As if the Cards were not strong enough already, they came up with an all-star outfield when they added Pinson, the former Cincinnati Red, to Lou Brock and Curt Flood.

It remains to be seen how much the swap that brought Joe Torre to the Cards for Orlando Cepeda will mean, but a switch of uniforms often helps both parties in a case like this.

The Cards will live or die once again on the pitching of Bob Gibson.

The Cubs figure to be a real threat in the East. Leo Durocher has that fine infield and the big bats of Ron Santo, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams. Much depends on the young pitchers behind Fergie Jenkins.

★ ★ ★

Despite injuries to men like Roberto Clemente and Gene Alley, the Pittsburgh Pirates seem to have enough to beat out the Phillies and the Mets for third place although there does not appear to be any real big gap.

The Mets have largely the same club but may have improved pitching from Jim McAndrew and rookie Gary Gentry.

★ ★ ★

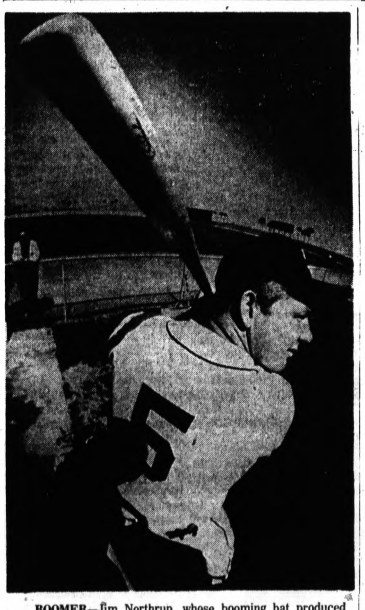
It is tempting to pick the Giants second again because they always finish there. However, their solid pitching gives them the edge over Cincinnati and Atlanta in a race that could turn on the fans.

★ ★ ★

If you were sure the Reds' pitching would be as good as Manager Dave Bristol thinks it will be, they would have to be the pick. Cincinnati has the best hitting club in the league and the major league batting champion in Pete Rose.

★ ★ ★

Atlanta has a 1-2 punch in Hank Aaron and Cepeda, plus Felipe Alou. They can be dangerous if the pitching continues to improve.



BOOMER—Jim Northrup, whose booming bat produced five 1968 grand slam homers, including one in the World Series, now has seven slam home runs for his career. He had 21 homers last year and has a total of 49 in his five seasons with Detroit.

Nixon to Help Celebrate Baseball Centennial Year

President Nixon is expected to throw out the inaugural ball to begin baseball's centennial year Monday.

The traditional presidential opener pairs Washington and the New York Yankees.

The right-handed throw by the former football bench-warmer will usher in the 1969 season which is being celebrated as the 100th anniversary of the founding of the first baseball club in Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

Nixon, a longtime fan, will be making his rookie start as president 16 years after being rained out as a relief pitcher at his first opener.

The centennial inaugural will mark the debut of Ted Williams, baseball's greatest living hitter, as new manager of the Washington Senators.

The Senators haven't won an opener in seven years. They haven't scored a run on opening day since 1966.

Although the White House kept its usual silence on its starting pitcher, there appeared to be little doubt that Nixon will be on hand to continue a baseball tradition that dates back to 1910.

Nixon is in Florida for an Easter weekend vacation Wednesday after the burial in Kansas of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. But he planned to return here late Sunday night or Monday morning — in time for the game.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower had stirred national controversy in his first year in the White House in 1953 when he decided to pass up the opener to go on a golfing vacation. But rain washed out Nixon's debut in a relief role and Eisenhower returned for the delayed opener.

★ ★ ★

Nixon will carry a 1-0 record into the inaugural game after hurling the Senators to a rare opening day victory in a later substitute appearance as Eisenhower's vice president in 1959.

The ceremonial opener will match the same two teams that met in the first major league game that Nixon ever saw in 1936. The Yankees swept that Fourth of July doubleheader from the second-place Senators to go in to win the World Series that year.

New York's 21-game winner, Mel Stottlemyre, who hurled a two-hit shutout in the opener here two years ago, is expected to start again for the Yankees.

Walled Lake Experienced

VETERAN INNER DEFENSE — Waterford will build its pursuit of the Inter-Lakes crown around a potentially top-notch infield which has letter winners at every position. Catcher Terry Crawford sets a target for teammates Steve Goit (third base), Mike Sheldon (shortstop), 1968 All-County choice Larry Hemmerly (second base) and Gary Lynn (first base). Inclement weather has kept the ball clubs inside for much of the spring.

WTHS Likely Title Prospect in Inter-Lakes

Northern Lacking Hitting; Farmington Looks for Hill Help

The experience gained through a successful summer American Legion baseball season has cast Walled Lake Central in the favorite's role this spring among the Inter-Lakes League hopefuls.

The Vikings won the District 18 championship in the legion program and there isn't any I-L entrant this spring who appears entrant this spring who appears strong enough to rate higher than WLC at this point.

Waterford seems to be the most dangerous rival. Pontiac Northern likely will have the circuit's top pitcher but little hitting; although Livonia Stevenson rode to the diamond crown last spring on Paul Tonnemacher's arm.

Tonnemacher's gone and the Spartans may not have the talent to fill the gap he leaves in their lineup. Nor does it appear PNH has the letter winners behind southpaw Rob Clancy to emulate Stevenson's 1968 efforts.

Farmington and debuting Southfield Lathrup must find the pitching to climb any higher than fifth place.

NEEDS RUNS

Coach Al Ropek at WL Central must find the runmaking to balance what appears to be a strong defensive combine behind junior right-hander Don Burlingame and junior lefty Dave Endress.

Wally Williams should continue as the premier prep receiver in the county, and Pat Pilo is expected to double as an infielder and relief pitcher.

Bill Welsh, Tom Evans, Dan McDole and Tom Johnson are other leading candidates among the returning seven regulars from last year's third-place league finisher.

Waterford has a defensively solid experienced infield returning anchored by keystoners Mike Sheldon and Larry Hemmerly. Slugging Steve Goit is back at third base.

Frank Ballard heads a mound staff that is five-player deep. Coach Bud Thomason has to find out who are the starters on the mound, and who can do the best jobs over-all in the outfield.

SEVEN DEPART

Nothern lost seven regulars off the team that surprised by winning the Pontiac Invitational Tournament after finishing fourth in the league race last spring.

Clancy and Larry Crivea, the shortstop, are back; and Jerry Reddeman, another southpaw hurler, promises to give the Huskies good mound depth along with right-hander Bob Hukka.

Warren Laturneau and Doug Talbott are dueling for the catching duties. Larry Heltsley, who joins Clancy and Crivea as the tricantains, is destined for second base.

Coach Arnie Wilson believes in running the opposition's defense into panic, but even the successful PNH coach hasn't devised a way to pilfer first base yet.

Stevenson will have talented third sacker Jerry Detter and durable catcher Ric Horstman to build around. The hill work will fall to Bob Sievert, Bob Hood and Clark Colton.

Farmington has to rely on batterymen Mike Daly (2-4 last year) and Vic Forrester. Mound help also came from Chris Debow and Tony Himmelspach, both of whom are slated for infield duty along with Mark Lucas. Mark Donoghue will be in the outer pasture.

BIG CHIEF — Husky senior hurler Vic Quince is the key man in Pontiac Central's bid for a Saginaw Valley Conference crown, based on his All-County pitching efforts of last spring.

P. Central to Battle Same Foes

A year hasn't made much difference in the baseball outlook among Saginaw Valley Conference teams.

It's still Pontiac Central, Midland and Flint Central, but not necessarily in that order.

That trio shared the conference championship last year with 8-4 records, and they've been tapped by rival coaches to continue their three-way scrap this year.

COACH WORRIED

Pontiac Central has a lot of talent returning from the 1968 team that posted a 16-5 won-lost record, but coach Mel Nuss is admittedly worried about the Midland squad.

★ ★ ★

Bolstering Pontiac Central's hopes is the return of a couple of All-County performers: Pitcher-first baseman Victor Quince and second baseman-pitcher Clyde Duncan.

SUPER SEASON

Quince, a 6-1, 195-pound right hander, had what could easily be described as a super season in '68. On the mound, he compiled a 14-3 record and he stroked the ball at a .300 clip with the bat.

★ ★ ★

So with Quince back, Nuss isn't likely to worry much about the pitching. The coach is looking for some help for Quince and he's likely to find it in Duncan — spot assignments — and senior Steve Bass who was 2-2 last year.

Along with his work at second base, Duncan batted .300.

TALENTED INFIELDER

Another of the talented PCH infielders is third baseman Terry Villereal, a .302 hitter last year.

★ ★ ★

Nuss is now looking for some good hands at shortstop and first base to fill in the infield. Among the outfield candidates are Phil Crawford, A. B. Davis and Phil Shaw. Andy Trevino is getting a look at shortstop, while Ed Holsworth is tabbed for work behind the place.

LOST RELIEFER

Midland, like Pontiac Central, is well stocked and coach Bob Stoppert lost only one relief pitcher from the '68 team that went 21-9.

★ ★ ★

The pitching talent is centered mostly in right-handers Woody Mills (8-3) and Steve Messinger (4-4), who fashioned a no-hitter last year.

GOOD HITTING

To go with that pitching, Stoppert has good hitting in Duane Burtch (.316), Lynn Kaweck (.311) and switch-hitting shortstop James Wright (.270).

★ ★ ★

Right-hander Dwight Raynolds of Flint Central ranks as one of the top pitching prospects in the conference. He was 9-2 last year as a sophomore.

Another of the league's top pitchers, Dave Frost, a senior right-hander, could singlehandedly make Flint Northern a contender.

Frost was 8-2 in '68 and coach Bill Adams will be looking for some more pitching help from Tom Cross (1-2) and Richard Smith (0-1).

Titans, Lakers Veteran Clubs

Pontiac Catholic, Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, and Ferndale St. James all depended heavily on sophomores and juniors last year in the Northwest Catholic League diamond race.

Whether they have matured enough to play championship baseball remains to be seen. The young PCHS team did develop quickly and captured second place with a 7-3 mark.

But the Titans must still show the mound depth necessary to offset the experienced teams expected to represent St. Francis de Sales and Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows.

★ ★ ★

Well-built Greg Main may be ready to bloom at FOLS as one of the best right-handed hurlers in the county. Lefty Bob Thiesen should complement him well, but the Lancers could have trouble defensively in the infield.

ONE MAINSTAY

Jeff Solwold will probably bear the brunt of the Pontiac Catholic mound duties, and coach Jim Conlen has to find another starter among Herb Larson, Tom Fisher or Dave Freeland. Fisher and Freeland are both transfer candidates.

The Titans' infield appears sound; Tom Jamnik, Pat Manion, Tim Boyer, Jim Boucher and Jim Lalonde all return reading from first base around to the plate.

Jamnik, Boyer and Manion all were in the .450-.275 range last spring. Conlen would like more speed in the outfield where sophomore transfer Steve Stroud is the leading hopeful.

MOUND DEBUT

All-State basketball player Tim Megge tried his hand at pitching last season and returns with a 4-4 record. When he wasn't throwing the ball, either from the hill or another infield slot, he was stroking it at a .421 pace for Orchard Lake St. Mary.

Mick Krogulecki and Frank Dubrovich also earned letters at infield berths last spring and did well at the plate. Walt Sakowski, a hefty freshman, should help out, too.

He is likely to see duty on the mound, also. Rick Trzcinski returns to claim an outfield spot. Added hitting is the quest of the Rev. John Rakoczy, the Eaglets' coach.

★ ★ ★

Hurlers Pat Charette and Eric Greyerbiehl will be counted upon to lead Royal Oak St. Mary's hopes. Ferndale St. James has outfielders Jim Yavello and Bill Moharter returning, plus right-hander Mike Brunker on the mound.

Waterford OLL had its first baseball season last spring and enjoyed only sporadic success as it was betrayed by a porous defense. The Lakers will continue to build this season under new coach Jos Sharpe.

Jerry Yezbick on the mound and Mike Webster behind the plate should form a strong duo. Roy Lilley shows promise at shortstop as does Tom Cantaneo in left field.

Defense could be a problem for the Lakers.

Michigan Entertains U. of D. in Twin Bill

The University of Michigan baseball team struggled through a rugged spring trip through Arizona but opens its regular campaign today with hopes for better results.

The University of Detroit Titans visit Ann Abor for a twin bill today. Several former Oakland County preps are key members of the Wolverines' squad.

★ ★ ★

Mike Rafferty, former All-County shortstop at Birmingham Groves, is an outfield regular for the U. of M. nine. The mound staff includes ex-prep standouts Jim Burton, Rochester; Dan Fife, Clarkston; and John Ritter, Royal Oak Kimball.

Bill Krug of Utica also in on the mound staff.

Brother Rice speedster Mike Bowen is an outfield hopeful, too.

Coach Moby Benedict can only hope the pitching staff will settle down and give the Wolverines the strength to better last spring's 17-16 mark and 9-5 fourth-place finish in the Big Ten.

Musial 'The Mostest'

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Stan Musial holds the all-time National League records for most games, most total bases, most at bats, most doubles, most runs batted in, most runs and most hits during a career.

Northville Still Strong in Wayne-Oakland

Don't knock the champion — that's the attitude most of the teams in the Wayne-Oakland League are taking as the 1969 baseball season approaches.

★ ★ ★

Northville won the title last year with a 12-2 record, and there are enough reasons returning to indicate the Mustangs could continue their reign.

It'll be tough, however, perennial contender Milford figures to field an impressive team, while Bloomfield Hills Andover, West Bloomfield and Clarkston could challenge.

KETTERING NEW

Kettering's Captains are new to the league but coach Tom Bryce will have a respectable ball club. Clarenceville and Brighton appear relegated to tailend roles.

★ ★ ★

GOOD HITTER

Heading the list is senior pitcher-outfielder Jeff Taylor, who batted .417, and right-hander Fred Holdsworth, a junior, who posted a 7-1 mark on the mound and swatted the ball at .376 pace.

★ ★ ★

Two other guys who'll carry big sticks are Barry Deal (.371) and Stan Nirider (.348), both infielders.

ALL-COUNTY STAR

Milford's hopes are bolstered by the presence of All-County star Mark Giegler, a shortstop - outfielder, who batted .492 last year.

★ ★ ★

Giegler's bat could make the difference if coach Jerry Ganzel gets the pitching he's looking for from Bob Clinard (5-3), Doug Powers (4-4) and Rick Sharpe (2-0). All are right-handers. The Redskins were second (8-6) last year.

GOOD PROSPECT

Andover has one of the top pitching prospects in the league in Larry Appleby, who'll also double at shortstop. The senior right-hander built a 1-1 record with a 1.853 ERA in 11 innings.

★ ★ ★

Appleby is one of two lettermen on the '69 squad. First baseman Dick Souther, who hit .297 last year, is back along with infielder Bob Foreman. Among the promising newcomers is Chris Smith, a pitcher-outfielder, who transferred from Ann Arbor Huron.

STRONG SUIT

Pitching just might be West Bloomfield's (6-8) strong suit and you can't win without it. Seniors Mickey Elwood (3-3) and Curtis Britton (1-3) figure to share the mound work and both are respectable batters.

★ ★ ★

Another letterman back is Robin Brennan, a third baseman who hit .277 last year. A blow to the Lakers came when catcher Bill Bullock, a .306 hitter, checked in with mononucleosis.

Defense is Clarkston's forte and the Wolves could make a good showing with some pitching and hitting. The Wolves have an almost veteran infield with Tom Lane (third), Gary McMillan (short) and Rich Porritt (second) holding jobs. A couple other veteran performers are Jeff Keyser (catcher-pitcher) and outfielder Steve Warman.

★ ★ ★

Good pitching, fair defense but a question mark with the bat — that's the picture with Kettering.

The Captains were 9-11 last year and six lettermen return. Among the holdovers are pitchers Dennis Wooster (5-4) and Wayne Smith (2-1).

Top hitters among the returnees are Steve Lyon, a junior third baseman, and senior outfielder Bob Earls.

WKHS FLYCHASER — Center fielder Bob Earl has the speed to track down long fly balls and also leg out infield hits. He hopes to make Waterford Kettering a contender in its first season of Wayne-Oakland League diamond competition.

Spartans Have Two Pitchers From Area

Sophomore Kirk Maas from Utica and junior Chuck Viane from North Farmington each has seen extensive mound duty already with the Michigan State University varsity this spring as the Spartans compiled an 8-5 log during their annual two-week Florida trip.

★ ★ ★

The Spartans open their regular campaign today in a doubleheader at Ball State in Muncie, Ind., and will be at Detroit next Saturday for two behind their home opener twin bill with Albion Apr. 16.

A shaky defense betrayed the MSU club when it placed second in the Miami Collegiate Tournament.

★ ★ ★

Despite a .342 mark at present by sophomore first sacker Tim Bograkos from Flint, and .300 tempos for five others who have seen extensive duty, coach Dan Litwhiler is concerned about the club's spotty hitting.

Maas has a 2.81 earned run average and a 2-0 mark in his first varsity campaign. Viane is saddled with two defeats and one win in nearly nine innings of work.

LAKERS' DUO — Senior moundsmen Mickey Elwood (front) and Curt Britton hope to pitch West Bloomfield into a contender's role in the Wayne-Oakland League chase.

Novi Bidding for Loop Title

A pair of untested, sturdy built pitchers hold the key for Novi as it attempts to reach the summit of the Lakeland C Conference baseball standings.

★ ★ ★

The Wildcats posted an 8-4 mark last spring to finish second in the title race aided by the ironman hurling of husky Lee Snow, who pitched in all but one of the games and was 7-4.

★ ★ ★

Senior Jim Poole and freshman Bob Pisha are out this spring in hopes of easing the burden of the 6-foot-2, 210-pound senior and perhaps making him a bit more effective.

ALL RETURN

Coach John Osborne didn't lose anybody from that team. Tom VanWagner will handle the catching. Rick Dale is in center field, while the second-short combination will be Phil McMillan and Gary Boyer, again.

★ ★ ★

Paul Faulkner is back at first base. He rapped the baseball at a .425 clip last season, and Snow helped himself with a .300 mark. VanWagner's .375 mark and third baseman Dan Flattery's .285 gave the Wildcats additional run-making power.

The club has expanded its schedule to 17 games this year.

Ex-Husky Star Infield Hopeful

Freshman Craig Deaton of Pontiac is a third base candidate for the varsity baseball team at Carthage College at Kenosha, Wis.

The former Northern High School standout has already earned letters in football and basketball at Carthage.

Gaps Need Filling in Holly's Lineup

There'll be a lot of gaps to fill on the Holly baseball squad this spring.

Coach Elmer Rose, now in the Flint Metro League, was 7-7 in the Wayne-Oakland League last year and gone are seven members of that team.

Tops among the holdovers are left-handed pitchers Roy Phillips, who was 4-1, and Hank Norton, who managed a 3-4 mark.

3 Years MVP

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dave Cash of the Pittsburgh Pirates played high school baseball in Utica, N.Y., and the shortstop was the only prep player to be named the city's most valuable player for three consecutive years. In 1967 at Gastonia, he led the Western Carolina League in batting and was named MVP.

Several Show Promise

Southern Thumb Chase Tossup

The Southern Thumb baseball race is a tossup.

Almont, Dryden, Anchor Bay, New Haven — take your choice, and as you make the selection, don't forget Memphis, Capac, Richmond and Armada. Any one could win it.

Anchor Bay and Capac won last year with 6-1 records. Capac has pitcher Carl Seidell (6-1) returning so the Chiefs figure to be just as tough. Southpaw Dan McCormack carries the load for Anchor Bay and he hit .380 last season.

Dryden and Almont are good bets for the title, too. Pitchers David Wilcox and Greg Ribble along with shortstop Gary Winslow are counted on to pace Dryden.

The Bacholzky twins — Frank and John — along with catcher Dennis Garner and pitcher Tim Reaume carry the load for Almont.

New Haven has a young club that's likely to be a power in the second half of the season.

SHORT STRETCH — Tom Jamnik, Pontiac Catholic's junior first sacker, isn't very tall as first basemen go but he still was proficient enough with the bat and glove last year to earn honors in the Second Division of the Detroit Catholic League. The Titans will enter their second season of play this spring.

Clawson Has Hurlers

Clear Choice in O-A

There's little doubt in the Oakland A League coaches' minds who belongs at the top and bottom of the preseason forecast list.

Clawson is a clear choice for the No. 1 spot, while Avondale's return after a year's absence from the diamond scene figures to find it behind the other seven members simply because of the year's inactivity and loss of experience.

★ ★ ★

The other six positions could produce some interesting scraps. Another factor not to be overlooked is the weather. No Oakland-A rainouts are made up and sometimes it's the whims of the weather that determine the final standings.

Clawson roared to second place in the circuit and all the way to the finals of the Pontiac Invitational Tournament last spring behind the strong-arm hurling of Dave Frezza and Larry Niedowicz.

ALL-COUNTY CHOICES

Frezza was on the All-County first team hill corps, while Niedowicz, a lefty, made the second team staff. Both return this spring along with promising catcher Bill Miller.

The two hurlers rotate between center field and the mound. Adding strength up the middle is shortstop Mike Heist, anothsr bright prospect.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion Utica, meanwhile, has lost the pitching power carried it to league, Macomb County and Southeast Michigan regional championships.

Coach Ron Moffatt expects to go with several sophomores this season in a rebuilding effort. Still, senior infielders Rob Dilday and Dave Walsh, plus junior outfielder Ron Ranoni could spark the Chieftains into a contender's role.

Rochester, too, seems certain to challenge for the runner-up slot, at least, if rugged Stan Babiuk Finds some hitting and pitching support.

POWER HITTING

The 6-foot-2, 190-pound first sacker opened some eyes with his power hitting last spring, earning All-County honors, and he'll probably share the mound duties with Al Thomas this season.

Mike Scally is slated for work behind the plate and possibly on the hill. Les Littlejohn at short and Ed Talley at third are strong on the left side of the infield.

★ ★ ★

John Havrelko and Gary Morrow return as an outfield-pitching tandem that should cause Madison's rivals some worries. Bob Tremblay is back to handle their slants. Dave Frizzell adds depth to the outer garden, but infield experience is lacking.

Romeo hopes to move up with speed and improved defense, but a young pitching staff could be a detriment. The Bulldogs will board around center fielder Mike Semp, plus infielders Jerry Bryan, Corky Semp and Dan Klein.

Pitchers Vance Green and Chuck Handshug earned letters as sophomores, while catchers Tom Lerchen and Bill Lasslett are junior newcomers.

YOUNG TEAM

Troy went with seniors last season and has only one experienced performer back. Kerry Brown may divide his time between the outfield and home plate. Juniors Fred Billings and Dave Kohl will have first call on the mound.

Steve Carls is slated for duty at first base and in the outfield.

★ ★ ★

Lake Orion's new mentor Doug Holcomb has Bill Baker on the hill and Jim Knapp probably will handle the catching. Don Upton and Paul Bailey will be the cornermen in the infield most likely.

Juniors are candidates for the other berths and Holcomb is hoping their defensive prowess will hold up while they develop with the bat.

★ ★ ★

Coach Charles Carpenter has his work cut out jelling the Avondale squad into a unit after a year's layoff. Only six seniors are listed on the 16-player roster.

COACHES' OAKLAND-A FORECAST

2. Rochester	6. Romeo
3. Madison	7. Lake Orion
4. Utica	8. Avondale

At Least Three Squads in SEM Diamond Race

A three-team scramble is probable in the Southeast Michigan baseball race and a fourth contender may move into the picture if its pitchers develop rapidly.

The coaches see Royal Oak Kimball, Hazel Park and Southfield as the strongest entries at this point. Birmingham Seaholm and Ferndale have question marks on the mound that could hurt them.

Berkley coach Don Lesher sees it as a rebuilding year.

Perennial power Southfield has a new coach in Bob Filar and he's blessed with talented pitching in Bob Muiter, a left-hander, and Dave Timassey, a righty. Muiter is a junior.

COSTLY BLOW

Doug Digue and Chuck Petrillo return; but Filar must produce some infield and catching strength. The untimely death of shortstop Dave Wieland in a recent auto accident could be a blow that will ruin the Blue Jays' chances.

Hazel Park puts its emphasis on senior southpaw hurler Mike Jones. The well-built mound ace was 6-2 last year and hit .300. Marc Pruss and Kem Zmikly both return with good averages, too.

★ ★ ★

While Kimball has fewer manpower problems than either the Vikings or S'field, it has the glaring weakness of an inexperienced hill crew.

Seven regulars return from 1968's 6-9 unit. Skinny lefty Bill Reetz was 1-1 as a junior and he's the only moundsman with a letter.

However, the Knights do have a potent hitting attack led by Carl Roehling (.339), the catcher. Third baseman Fred Shellnut also was a .300 hitter. Other returnees in the infield are Rick Runchey, Rick Campbell and Bub Hurst.

ALL-LEAGUE

All-League infielder Ken Tye is likely to share the mound work with infielder Bill Duncan at Berkley. Catcher Ken Parker is a threat with the bat.

Coach Don Sackett at Seaholm has a good hitter in third baseman George Metcalf; while outfielder John Sundquist and second sacker Rich Bowman are strong up the middle. Jim Hagen is another hard hitter in left field.

John Bratton and Mike Boston will probably bear the burden on the pitching rubber.

Ferndale lost ace moundsman Ray Laconis but catcher Bill Screws and shortstop Craig Fahoome return. The Eagles will be tough if they develop some hill strength.

COACHES' SOUTHEAST MICHIGAN FORECAST

2. Southfield
3. Hazel Park
4. Birmingham Seaholm

Shrine Lacking Pitching Power of Contender

Coach Al Fracassa has had Royal Oak Shrine in a contender's role the past three seasons but his final campaign may find the Knights struggling to make the upper half of their Double-A League standings.

Gone is the experienced pitching th eveteran coach has relied upon.

In a league where the three-ball, two strike policy prevails, pitching is practically everything.

★ ★ ★

Fracassa, who will move to Brother Rice next fall, does have a .310 hitting catcher in senior Tom Szostkowski, and a veteran infield.

Lou Troha, Bud Krause, Bill Simpson and Tim McGinnity appear set behind the pitchers, whoever they may be. Solidly built junior Dennis Evans should earn an outfield berth.

Class A Baseball Skippers Confab Monday Night

Several changes are likely when the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department holds its organizational meeting Monday night at 7 o'clock for the Class A baseball managers.

Already, Bob Rabaia has been named to head the Teamsters 614 squad; and other changes have been rumored.

★ ★ ★

The men's league is scheduled to begin play May 25 at Jaycee Park. Last year the R. T. Clippers won the city crown under the direction of Paul Johnson.

Last summer eight teams comprised the circuit and a similar lineup is probable this year.

Mickey Stanley Versatile Tiger

DETROIT (AP) — Mickey Grand Rapids played three Stanley of the Detroit Tigers other positions for the American proved his versatility during the League champions. 1968 baseball season.

Besides playing 130 games in the outfield without making an error, the 26-year-old native of only four errors in the infield.

Stanley played 15 games at first base, nine at shortstop and one at second base. He made

Cranes, Lahser Ready

Mott Coach Optimistic

One of the surprising baseball teams in the area could be the Corsairs of Waterford Mott.

The Corsairs are young and relatively inexperienced, but they posted an 8-6 record last year and coach Mike Kulinski sees better days ahead.

BOLSTERS HOPES

Kulinski's hopes are bolstered by the presence of catcher Terry Fuffatto and pitcher Randy Cooper. Both are juniors.

★ ★ ★

Ruffatto rapped the ball at a .320 pace while Cooper, a right-hander, compiled a 5-1 record on the mound. Some other hitters who could lend a hand are shortstop Roger Strader (.285) and outfielders Bob Marvosh (.280) and Gerald McNair (.260).

Oak Park, Groves Hoping

Raiders Boast Potential

North Farmington has a strong right side defense, pitching potential in Steve Eversman and Ron Weber, and a veteran catcher in Kevin Collins to spearhead its drive for the Northwest Suburban AA title.

The Raiders managed a second-place tie with a 5-5 season last spring. Coach Tom Wallis is uncertain about their bat power this time.

★ ★ ★

Jay Hazelroth, a diminutive first sacker, and not-much-bigger second baseman John Thomas could provide the one-two punch at the plate, too. Hazelroth was a .320 hitter last year.

Weber and Dan Emmitt also figure to see duty in the outfield when not forming the pitching-catching battery.

★ ★ ★

Oak Park is building its hopes around Ron Ekelman, who was an All-County outfielder last season.

★ ★ ★

The reports are slow coming from the other Northwest Suburban entries, but Westland John Glenn and Birmingham Groves are potential contenders.

★ ★ ★

Detroit Thurston is expected to bounce back from an off-season while Livonia Franklin expects to rebuild.

Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Cranbrook School are other teams with good possibilities.

Lahser has a couple of fine hitters in Jeff Kezlarian (.421) and Doug Wagner (.357) and a good hurler in southpaw Randy Mills (4-1).

Cranbook is now in the midst of a southern trip and the Cranes have shown lots of promise, particularly in the hittting department. Rod Fonda, Dirk Dieters, Norm Lerchan, Sandy Heavenrich and Mike Pavloff can all swat the ball with authority.

Trudeau Has Global Trial

Former Walled Lake prep standout Rick Trudeau is in the special combined Florida training camp of the newly organized Global Baseball League.

The ex-Western Michigan University diamond hitting star obtained his release from the Cleveland Indian organization after playing at Rock Hill, N.C., last summer.

The Global League will have United States teams at Mobile, Ala., and Jersey City N.J. Teams will also be entered from Japan, Latin America and South America.

NO. 1 RECEIVER—Walled Lake Central's Wally Williams earned All-County honors as a junior and is expected to improve upon his performance this season.

2 Mound Returnees Bolster Dondero 9

Six regulars return at Royal Oak Dondero from the Oaks' third place 1968 Border Cities League squad and coach Jack McLean foresees another promising campaign with good pitching and infield candidates available.

Don Newman and Rick Reid return after compiling five of the squad's seven victories last spring, and only lost once.

Jerry Campbell, Rich Green and newcomer Brady Doud promise excellent depth on the left side of the infield. Campbell is after his fourth baseball monogram at third base.

Newman managed a 3-1 varsity hill record as a sophomore.

Oxford Plans Victory Drive

Last season was embarrassing for the Wildcats of Oxford. They hope to atone for their 1-13 showing this season and they have the talent on hand to do it.

Coach Don Lovell lost only one player from that '68 squad, and among the eight returnees are some fair hitters plus solid pitching prospects.

HEADS PITCHERS

Left-hander Frank Leitheim, who posted a 1.94 ERA last year, heads the mound corps and he's expected to get some help from Dave Gemmel.

★ ★ ★

In the hitting department, shortstop Dave Kostelic swatted .328 and he's back. Also ready for action is senior outfielder Darrell Marsh who hit .307.

The Wildcats were on the bottom of the Central Suburban League ladder at 0-10.

Harper Woods, 5-5 in the loop last year, has a couple of fine hitters in Larry Bridgeman (.420) and Tom Whitcher (.400) and with some pitching the club could give Oxford a good run for the title.

Sports' Telephones Listed for Coaches

Coaches and their storekeepers are requested to call in the results of their Monday-Friday games to the Press sports department after 6:30 p.m. at 332-0103 or 332-0104.

Saturday games would be reported 6-8 a.m. the following Monday at the same numbers.

Collect calls will be accepted. Postponed games also should be reported to enable the staff members to keep an accurate listing of the records and games to be played.

The weekly county ratings will begin Apr. 29 based on team records and calibre of competition. The Pontiac High School Tournament invitations will be based on league standings.

Senators' Slugger Slims Down

Frank Howard Needs Crash Course

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (NEA) — The earth began to rumble, coconuts plummeted from trembling palm trees and fans at a Washington Senators' exhibition game here started scattering, fearing the worst.

Momentarily, hearts fluttered back to normal. This was no natural disaster. The small cataclysm was unleashed by Frank Howard, as he began running laps along the outfield fence.

When a 6-7, 280-pound two-legged creature quickens his pace, it is a one-man stampede. His cap is turned catcher-style, his massive head droops and sways, sweat forms rivulets as it courses along the banks of his ruddy cheeks and flows into the delta of his blond stubble; his gargantuan frame, supported by pillars of legs with six-pound ankle weights tied on, heaves with each lumbering, rumbling fall of a foot.

He is let out at the left-field foul line and pounds methodically off. One watches in anxious anticipation: Will he raise his head before he gets to where the fence curves in center field?

If not he will crash right through. Then a few teammates must give chase to round him up.

LATE ARRIVAL

This is all part of the care and feeding of the American League's home run champion. Howard came late to spring training after a long holdout which resulted in a typically mammouth contract.

He reported in at 285 pounds, about 20 over his playing weight. He hopes to be as svelte as a brontosaurus by Opening Day.

Howard arrives at the park each morning at 7:30 and runs, hits, throws, bends, runs, runs runs until late in the afternoon.

"This is the joyless part of baseball," he said, understating his plight.

★ ★ ★

George Susce, wizened and gnarled coach, oversees Howard's TOPS course. As they sit on the bull pen bench during a game, Susce will say, "A little bending now." Howard groans. "It's gotta be done and that is all there is to it," says Susce. They get up.

Fifty times, Susce lobs a ball a few feet to his left and Howard goes boom, boom, boom, boom and bends to retrieve. Fifty times, Susce lobs a ball to his right and Howard plods after.

Next, they go to left field and Howard begins his, well, amble. Susce says he must run 20 times to center field, walking back after each jaunt.

LOST COUNT

After awhile, Howard says it is 20. Susce says it is only 15. Howard says he is senile and can't count any more. Howard lumbers away, mumbling Hitler, Simon Legree, slave driver, inhuman oaf.

("Maybe," said Susce, with a hint of a grin, "I did mess up the count.")

"Frank's human like everyone else," Susce said later, unconvincingly. "And you gotta make this conditioning pleasant, get the players to like it psychologically. It ain't easy. And sometimes they don't enjoy it. Know how I know? Let put it this way. They never name their babies after me."

Port Huron Has Veteran Squad

With a little pitching, Port Huron High, 6-2 and second in the Eastern Michigan League race last year, could jump into the top spot this season.

The Big Reds have eight lettermen returning including most of the infield. Counted on to pace the squad are first baseman Mike Loxton, outfielders Stu Howe and Mark Secory, along with catcher Gary Barnett.

Coach John Heering is looking to senior Tim Owens and junior Ed McCabe to handle the pitching.

A couple of .300 hitters give rise to optimism at Brown City in the Greater Thumb Conference. Sophomore Kenny Hohler and senior Al Graham hit over the .300 mark last year and coach Max Sherman is counting on their bats to lift the squad above last year's 3-9 record.

16 Prep Teams in Tournament

The "sweet sixteen" of Oakland County prep baseball will bid for the 1969 Pontiac Invitational Baseball Tournament title beginning May 29 with a twin bill at Jaycee Park.

Cohosts Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern will join 14 other high ranking county prep squads in battling for the coveted crown, and a berth in the Southeast Michigan regional.

That competition involves the winners of the Livonia, Wyandotte and Macomb County tournaments in a showdown.

FIRST TIME

The Pontiac Invitational will be the eighth annual. Last June PNH became the first north Oakland County school to claim the championship, eliminating Clawson, 1-0, in the eight-inning finale.

Previous winners are Northville, Royal Oak Kimball twice and Southfield three times.

★ ★ ★

This year's competition will have two games Thursday, May 29, six more first round contests Memorial Day, and four quarter-final tilts May 31. The survivors will have two days off, then play the semifinals Tuesday, June 3 and the title game the following night.

COSPONSORS

Cosponsors of the tournament are the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department and The Press. All county prep varsity teams interested in participating should contact the recreation office at City Hall and a $10 deposit must be submitted.

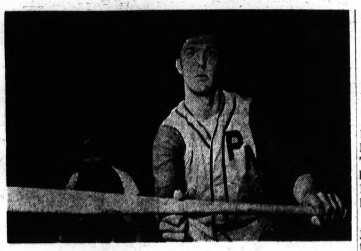
Those selected will be notified before May 25th. Those not chosen for the field of 16 will receive their deposit back.

Those cancelling their reservation prior to May 1 also will receive their deposit back. All teams must cover their own transportation costs. Games will be scheduled not to interfere with school work.

P.O.A. to Elect

The Pontiac Officials Association will have its annual election of officers 7:15 p.m. Apr. 12 in the recreation office at City Hall.

Baseball assignments also will be made. There will be no regular meeting Monday night.



PNH STRATEGY — Pontiac Northern coach Arnie Wilson likes to utilize the bunt and stolen base to ignite the Huskies' attack, and returnee Larry Criva, although expected to fill a key spot in the batting order, is ready to lay one down when ordered.

Oakland U. to Field First Diamond Squad

Coach Gene Boldon's first Oakland University baseball team will open its abbreviated 12 game schedule Apr. 17 on the new Pioneer diamond versus Oakland Community College-Orchard Ridge.

Practice for the 18-man squad was confined to the gymnasium of the Sports and Recreation Building during March.

Boldon has three familiar faces on the squad, those of baseketball men Mike Clancy, Ed Holloman and Greg Ranney.

With 7 dates and possibly 9 dates of competition in 10 days, Boldon is certain that a number of players will see double duty with five men slated for pitching and another slot.

LOCAL PROSPECTS

Pontiac products looking for spots are infielders Randy Sutt, Clancy, Leigh Dushane, Bill Curtis and Dana Hilton.

Holly Catcher CMU Hopeful

Sophomore backstop Dennis Walters of Holly is the only Oakland County candidate on the Central Michigan University diamond squad.

The rangy 175-pounder may have an edge in his battle for a regular spot since he's the only lefty-swinging catcher on the squad, and there are only three other non-pitching prospects on the roster who bat from the left side.

★ ★ ★

The Chippewas are currently touring the south and will begin their home schedule with a twin bill next Saturday against Hope.

Senior Gary Szalka from Lincoln Park is the CMU captain. He was an ALL-IIAC choice at third base last spring while hitting .342, but is moving to the outfield this season.

Hurons' Roster Includes Pair From County

Sophomore Tom Burkert, the 1967 most valuable player in the Pontiac Invitational Baseball Tournament, is the only left-hander among the Eastern Michigan University mound lettermen this spring.

The former Southfield star joins Berkley's Rick Krumm as the lone Oakland Country prep products who began a 12-game southern swing this week with the Hurons.

★ ★ ★

Cocaptains Ed McLaughlin of Detroit and Pete Casteel of Adrian are slated for duty at first base and left field respectively. Casteel was the regular catcher for two years.

But he's been moved to help fill the void left by graduation of EMU's first baseball All-American, John Clay. The Hurons' regular season will open Apr. 14 at Michigan.

Larry Baugh of Bloomfield Hills is a pitching prospect, and Larry Scharmen of Rochester is eyeing the catching job. Among the outfield hopefuls are Holloman of Ferndale, and Utica's Andy Wesley and Jim Beck.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians won 20 games or more six times in the seven year span from 1948 to 1954 and then did it a seventh time in 1956.

Opening lead—♥10

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Today's hand was played in a rubber bridge match back in 1930. North and South were playing the Culbertson system of that day, while East and West were playing less formalized methods.

South's hand counted 2½ honor tricks in the Culbertson system. West's two-spade bid was meant to show a strong playing hand with no real guarantee of highcard strength. It might well be the grandfather of the weak jump overcall except it was a good hand.

★ ★ ★ ★

The two-spade bid gave North a real problem. He couldn't bid three hearts. In that very early form of Culbertson, only a jump in a new suit was forcing. He might have bid three spades. They did play cue bids in those days.

He couldn't check for aces. No ace-asking conventions existed. He realized his partner could open without the ace of diamonds but that would be most unlikely. South couldn't have much in hearts and there was no reason to mark him with much in spades. Anyway, North did jump right to seven clubs.

★ ★ ★

Needless to say West saved at seven diamonds and it was up to North once more. He might have doubled and taken a sure profit. He might have passed the bid around to his partner.

The partner claimed afterwards that he would have bid seven no-trump if the bid had been passed to him. We still don't believe him.

Anyway, North did bid seven hearts. East wasn't sitting behind the door when brains were given out. He passed quietly and took his profit. He might have profited more by doubling but he also might have driven North and South to the winning no-trump contract.

17-Mill Ceiling Sought in Ionia

IONIA (AP) — Ionia voters will be asked Monday to approve a 17-mill tax ceiling and also to elect a mayor. Ionia now has a 10-mill maximum levy.

But City Manager George Felsch said 12.75 mills are needed to balance the estimated budget of $526,335 next year. Incumbent Mayor Foster Huber, meanwhile, is running unopposed for his post.

Wayne State Infield Includes 2 Key Players From County

DETROIT — Wayne State University's baseball team accomplished much on its spring practice trip into Tennessee last month, but the most important thing seemed to be the development of a winning attitude.

First-year Coach Bob Samaras counted that high on his list of goals as the club went South.

Four straight wins after an opening 1-0 loss put the club in the right frame of mind. He also noted that his team was moving the ball while at bat, mental errors on defense were being eliminated, the pitchers were coming around and that the first-year varsity players were coming through.

His first season at WSU depends heavily on the play of Farmington's Carl Misch and Royal Oak's Mike Clark, both veterans. First-year pitcher Dale Johnson, Farmington, is also expected to be of great help in the 25 games ahead.

Misch, a graduate of Farmington High school, is in his fourth varsity season. He co-captained last year's club along with Clark and the team sagged to 6-22 with an 0-7 spring trip record. Always a .300 hitter as a prep and sandlotter, Misch had that kind of a record during most of his freshman season before trailing off to .276.

EX-KNIGHT — Wayne State's cleanup hitter and field leader Mike Clark was a standout infielder at Royal Oak Kimball when the Knights were winning two straight Pontiac Invitational Baseball Tournaments in 1963-64.

GOOD TRIP

Now, the big third-baseman seems to be untracked at the plate. He led the team's regulars on the trip with a .333 mark and settled down in the field where he has had problems in the past. He also hit safely in the team's four straight victories.

Misch, now married and the father of a four-month daughter, Paula, has a career .257 average at WSU, but has the power to be a key RBI man.

★ ★ ★

Clark, perhaps the finest hitter WSU has even seen through his freshman and sophomore seasons, started slowly on the tour, but his .167 average included a homer and a double and he drove home three runs to lead a balanced attack that averaged nearly five runs per game, and produced three come-from-behind wins.

★ ★ ★

The Royal Oak Kimball graduate had the team's first hit of the year, a double. That hit made him WSU's career leader in hits with 73 and breaking a tie that had existed with Fred Wolcott, a Boston Red Sox farmhand.

LOW MARK

Clark sagged to .247 in last year's general decline, but led the team in RBIs for the second straight year. He has a career mark of .332 that includes previous .403 and .379 seasons. In his freshman and sophomore years, he finished one hit shy of the school record of 26 and set a school record with four triples during the 1967 season.

BEARS BIG BAT — First baseman Stan Babiuk enters his third season on the Rochester High School varsity carrying one of the most feared bats on the county prep diamonds. The All-County performer is also slated for some mound duty this season with the Falcons.

City, Waterford List Softball Plans

The emphasis appears to be on slow pitch softball in Pontiac and fast pitch in Waterford Township.

Both recreation departments are organizing their summer programs at the present. The township's program also features an extensive elementary school program.

There will be a meeting Apr. 14 for the Waterford boys' and girls' softball leagues. The second township meeting for the blooperball and the men's softball leagues will be Apr. 17; and a girls' summer softball league will be discussed Apr. 18.

All Waterford Township recreation meetings will be in Room 109, Schoolcraft School. The girls' summer league meeting will be one hour later than the 7:30 p.m. start of the other confabs.

The township elementary softball league will commence Apr. 19; while the men's fast-pitch circuit will begin May 5, and the blooperball May 12.

The Pontiac men's softball managers will have their final meeting May 5 and play will start May 19. A rules clinic for the umpires is scheduled for May 8.

Baseball Clinic Begins May 17

Township, Pontiac Have Youth Leagues

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's annual baseball clinic for boys 7-18 years old is scheduled to run four Saturday mornings beginning May 17 at Kelly Field, Jaycee Park and Perry Park.

Special coaching will be offered in hitting, running, throwing, fielding and sliding from 9 a.m. until noon. All boys desiring to play in the summer junior baseball program and not already on a team will be placed on a squad.

The clinics will be, also, May 24 and 31, plus June 7. The summer program of league play is set for a June 16 start.

There will be T-Ball for 9-year-olds and younger, Widgets (11-and-under), Class F (13-and-under), and Class E (15-and-under) at Perry Park. Class D (18-and-under) games are slated for Jaycee Park. Both the "D" and "E" leagues play in the evening.

The first managers' meeting for junior baseball will be 7 p.m. May 5 at City Hall in the Personnel Department conference room.

Waterford Township's junior baseball program will have a meeting Wednesday for all managers of players 11-and-under at 11:30 a.m., 1021 Airport Road.

The first regular junior baseball managers' meeting will be May 19 and the season is set to start June 16. A revamping of the age brackets is planned for the Waterford program this season.

Legion League Eyes Addition of Two Teams

The District 18 American Legion diamond program is considering expansion.

The eight-team league which plays a 108-game schedule in less than two months during the summer has had inquiries from the Oak Park, Pontiac and Lake Orion areas, and would like to add at least two teams.

★ ★ ★

Currently entries represent Waterford, Clarkston, Milford, Farmington, Berkley, Southfield, Troy and Walled Lake. The defending champ this summer will be Walled Lake.

Games are normally scheduled Wednesday and Friday nights, plus double-headers on Sundays. The season will begin in mid-June.

Lakeside Home Of The K. Edward Strines Found In Waterford Township

Country American Is Chosen

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The outgoing enthusiasm of the Edward Strines permeates their charming colonial home in Waterford Township.

"We've furnished the house together," said Strine, with a fond nod toward his petite wife. "That is . . . with the help of Clayton's interior designers."

★ ★ ★

Located on Eagle Lake in the Lakeland Estates subdivision, the two-story's exterior hints at its Country American interior with a split rail corner fence, black eagle and railing-enclosed porch.

White walls and sculptured flag-red carpeting complement the American blue velvet sofa in the formal living room. Above the sofa hangs a gold-framed mountain scene accentuating the room's color scheme.

Gold and red grapes spill over the sides of the urn held by a cupid figurine on the cherry coffee table.

A single red rose marks the pewter bud vase on the cherry hexagon table serving the sofa.

★ ★ ★

"My wife likes red roses," said Strine, "and I see that she gets them . . . every week."

CURIO CABINET

On the other side of the sofa, a cherry curio holds books and family mementoes. Matching white-on-red tapestry chairs are used against the room's sidewall.

★ ★ ★

In the adjoining dining room the gleaming floor and maple dado are accented by blue-and-gold-on-white wallpaper. Repeating the blue of the print are the room's boucle draperies.

The accent on comfort continues in the spacious family room overlooking the lake. Paneled in rough sawn pecan, the room is floored in oak parquet.

A broad raised hearth fireplace in used brick dominates one end wall. Pictures of the Strines' three daughters, Sheri, 12, Cathi and Geri are given the place of honor on the mantel.

SWIVEL ROCKERS

Mr. and Mrs. patchwork-quilt swivel rockers make fireside rocking and toe toasting a favorite family pastime. Olive green tie-backs frame the broad window wall before which stands a black iron kettle filled with blossoming geraniums.

★ ★ ★

"We saved the plants from last summer," said Mrs. Strine, "and they've done just beautifully."

★ ★ ★

A maple-cricket rocker with moss green cushions and an Early-American-print - covered footstool stand near the window wall.

Elegant Divided Back Door Is a Dutch Treat for Home

Although the back or side door of a house is used continuously — by family, neighbors and deliverymen — it seldom gets any architectural attention. Often, it's a neglected "poor relation" to the elegant front door.

If this is true of your house, why not transform the second entrance into a favorite "Dutch uncle" by installing an attractive ponderosa pine dutch door?

* * *

Because they can be opened by halves, dutch doors have a special advantage as back or side entrances.

* * *

With the top section open and the bottom part closed, you can let in air and sunlight, talk to tradespeople and still keep small children and pets safely inside.

VARIETY

Variety is another of the attractive features of dutch doors. Stock units combine top and bottom designs.

* * *

Upper and lower portions can be selected separately, customized to satisfy any architectural taste.

* * *

For example, you can buy stock units that include a top section of solid panels, glass panes or grills and a bottom section that has a single panel, open-Bible or Cross design.

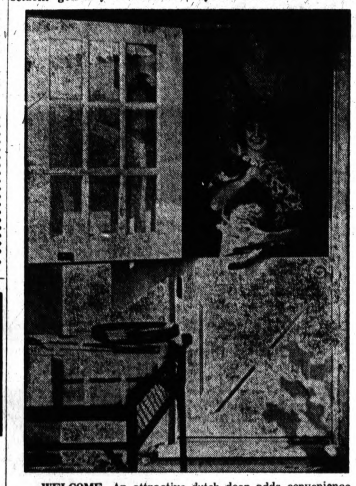
All ponderosa pine dutch doors have factory-applied weatherstripping around the edges and along the meeting rail so that the closed door is sturdy and tight.

TREATED

They also are treated with a chemical preservative to protect against termites, rot and weather abuse.

* * *

The doors are precision-fitted for easy installation and are ready to stain, paint or varnish.



WELCOME—An attractive dutch door adds convenience and brightens the appearance of the home's rear or side entrance. Here a housewife chats with guests on the patio while remaining close to her cooking center. The ponderosa pine dutch door lets light and air through the top section while keeping little children indoors.

Slick Spray on Market

A long-lasting release coating that assures that your drawers and windows, sliding doors and other tight squeezes will no longer stick has been introduced.

It penetrates porous surfaces of plastic, wood and fabrics and rubber to lubricate and waterproof them, and leaves no oily ring. Its effectiveness has been tested in temperatures ranging from 40 degrees F. below zero to 400 degrees F. above zero. It will not evaporate at room teperatures.

Bateman Reports Residential Sales

Residential sales for the month of March went over the $2½ million mark, announced Jack Ralph, vice president of Bateman Realty Co. of 377 S. Telegraph.

"This was exclusive of our commercial listings," said Ralph. "And much of the credit can go to the drawing power of our Pontiac Press advertisements . . . plus, of course, our fine sales staff."

Fifty men and women comprise the Bateman Realty's sales staff.

Make Old Door Into Play Table

An old door can be converted into an educational play table for small children. Make it splinter-free by removing the hardware and surfacing top and edges with smooth hardboard.

If it's a panel door, fill the depressions with insulation board before fastening the new surface with Royalcote all-purpose adhesive, contact cement or brads.

* * *

Finish with: slate paint on one area, for drawing or arithmetic; spar varnish on the largest portion, or a primer and paint; Peg-Board on the third, for playing games with marbles.

Install metal or wooden legs the right length for the size of the children.

Glass Panels Frame the View

When a house overlooks a view, architects often suggest narrow, floor-to-ceiling glass panels instead of a full glass wall.

Three or four-foot-wide panels of glass separate the view into segments of pleasing proportions, each effectively framed by wood mullions.

Panel Heating Can Be Zoned

This really isn't the time of year to be talking about heating your home — unless — you're building or remodeling one soon.

If you are, here's a tip you may want to include in your plans.

Hydroni paneling is built-in ing, is one of the most perfectly even and efficient systems of heating ever devised.

★ ★ ★

It differs from other systems both in the manner heat is provided and the quality of the heat produced.

Hydraonic paneling is built-in — included as part of the house itself during construction. Concealed pipe coils in walls or floors circulate hot boiler water and the surface over the coils becomes a radiant heating panel.

DISTRIBUTOR

Essentially, it's as though the whole floor or wall is a giant heat distributor. (While it provides maximum uniform comfort, properly regulated hydronic paneling is never hot to the touch.)

With this type of heating, the room itself warms up when the hot water is circulated. Panels give gentle, even warmth that completely eliminates cold drafts and hot blasts.

They assure an ideal indoor climate at all times by keeping a perfect balance between body heat and heat given off to surrounding objects.

★ ★ ★

Unlike other heating systems, panel heating doesn't evaporate moisture from the air to dry out furniture, drapes and carpets.

And it is out-of-sight, too— no vents, registers or radiators to restrict decorating.

REGULATE EASILY

Panels can be thermostatically regulated, and even zoned into separate control areas to provide different levels of heating in each.

Persons interested in giving their homes this heating system contractor for further details.

Dramatic Foyer With Wood Stripes

Want a quick dress-up treatment for an entrance hall? Try stripes. You can create a dramatic striped effect by applying 1x2-inch battens right over the existing wall surface.

Just nail the Douglas fir 1x2s vertically, leaving a three or five-inch spacing — or more — between them. But first, run a long piece of fir 1x2 along the top of the wall, next to the ceiling.

Next add a 1x4 at the bottom of the wall for a baseboard, if you don't already have one. Then cut the battens to fit between.

The wall can be finished many different ways. Probably the most exciting is to paint the wall white and finish the battens either clear or with dark stain.

AN ADD-A-SQUARE RUG may be used while it is growing, the 12-inch squares are ideal for pick-up work and require no frame for hooking. Pattern 201, which gives directions for rug hooking also tracing designs for the squares that fit together to make the rug shown here, is 50c. This pattern is also in the Hooked and Braided Rug Packet No. 21 which is a big value for $1.50. The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 50, New Windsor, N.Y. 12550.

Wood Less Work, No Scrubbing

Do you hate washing walls? That chore can be eliminated if walls are paneled.

When finished clear, vertical grain panel boards are as neutral as white paint, but upkeep consists only of a twice-yearly rubdown with the dustmop.

WHY WAIT?

4 bedroom, 1½ baths, fully carpeted, thermo windows with marble sills, Adler-Kay kitchen cabinets, all this with an attached 2 car heated garage for only $19,900! On your lot.

Ceramic Tile Dependable

Hair often turns gray with age, and it causes little comment. The same is true of many building materials in the home — they fade, crack, peel and need constant maintenance or replacement.

Not so with ceramic tile, however.

★ ★ ★

Real tile attains an even deeper luster with age, and often gives centuries of service without changing color or needing repairs.

Remodel Fence for Picket Detail

If you aren't fond of your picket fence but its condition is too healthy for replacement, just remodel it.

Remove the pickets and cut them to fit between top and bottom fence rails.

★ ★ ★

Add a 1x2-inch nailing strip to both rails, inset from the edge about one inch.

Then nail on the cutdown pickets, which are now just 1x4-inch boards. For additional pattern, alternate them with a 1x1.

EASE OF MAINTENANCE of this two-bedroom ranch with its potential for a retirement couple, is assured by the use of brick on all four sides. Door to right of garage leads to a laundry-utility room, which can also be reached from the garage and the kitchen.

Luxury Features in Retirement Home

Specialization, a characteristic of this era, also has its place in the design of a home.

This comfortable two-bedroom ranch has been created specifically for a retirement couple or a small family.

* * *

It is a charming and cozy, yet roomy house, well-zoned and laid out by architect Samuel Paul for ease of movement, privacy, quiet and convenience.

Beyond this are the luxury touches and features which take it out of the realm of the ordinary.

The exterior presented to the street is a simple ranch style with a large covered porch and picturesque bow window.

WOOD WINDOWS

The house is brick all around for ease of maintenance and features wood windows for warmth.

The entrance is from the porch into a central foyer with two guests closets.

* * *

Access to all rooms from there is easy and convenient, with the halls and doors extra wide so that movement is facilitated.

A spacious eat-in kitchen is immediately adjacent to the left of the foyer. It is highlighted by a sizable bow window in the eating area, designed to keep the room bathed in daylight all day long.

There is a sink area with knee space underneath, enabling the housewife to sit while working.

A dishwasher and a self-cleaning, eye-level oven and range eliminate the need to stoop.

These features are a luxury for the regular housewife, but they fill a true need for the elderly one.

* * *

To the rear of the foyer is a living room with a log-burning fireplace and a raised hearth. A lovely bow window overlooks the rear garden.

An adjoining formal dining room has convenience access to the kitchen plus rear sliding doors leading to a long screened rear porch.

Located on the porch is a brick barbecue adjacent to the same chimney.

To the right of the foyer is a private bedroom wing, which includes two bedrooms, a full bath and good-sized closets.

The front bedroom would make an ideal guest room or den if there are no children living at home.

* * *

The private rear bedroom has sliding glass doors leading to a rear terrace.

The bath has an oversize slip-resistant tub and a water closet hung from the wall for ease of cleaning.

* * *

Storage and work space have not been overlooked. To the rear of the attached one-car garage is a roomy workshop area, an ideal space for puttering.

STORAGE

Storage space for outdoor furniture is right off the screened porch. A large walk-in closet opens on the side of the garage.

Adjacent to the kitchen is a laundry-utility room, with a side door entry to the house only one short step off the driveway, plus interior access to the garage and a storage cabinet with a foldaway ironing board.

* * *

The garage itself is extra wide for additional storage and has an over-sized door for ease of maneuvering.

Although modest in size, with only 1,230 square feet of habitable space, this home has plenty of liability packed into it.

The living area is built on a crawl space with wood-finish flooring and is engineered to eliminate the need of any steps to the front stoop or out from the rear.

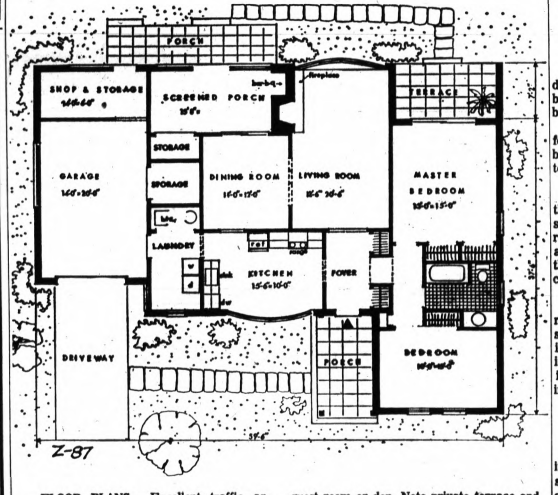
Z-87 STATISTICS

Design Z-87 is a ranch with a living room, dining room, kitchen, screened porch, foyer, two bedrooms and two baths, totaling 1,230 square feet. A utility-laundry room adjoins the kitchen, and there is a workshop-storage area behind the one-car garage. Over-all dimensions are 59' 6" by 37' 6".



FLOOR PLANS — Excellent traffic arrangement for a small family. A retirement couple could utilize the front bedroom as a guest room or den. Note private terrace and screened porch at the rear. Living room has large bow window and brick-walled fireplace.

Heat Duct Works in Cabinet Base

Don't let the location of heat ducts stop your plans for building a bookcase unit with base cabinets to the floor.

If the heating system is forced-air, floor registers can be enclosed in the unit's hollow toe base.

* * *

To allow the heat to flow into the room properly, measure the space occupied by the present register in square inches. Then add grillwork of equal space in the front of the toe base: match centers.

* * *

For example, if the floor register is 12 inches long and six inches wide, or 72 square inches, grillwork in the four-inch-high toe base should be 18 inches long (4x18 — 72 square inches).

Fir's a Worker

Douglas fir lumber, known for its strength and durability, is sometimes called the workhorse of the construction industry. But it is also valued as fine finish lumber.

How to Keep Your Home Fires Burning

A fireplace is a desirable feature in a home. Just note the number of house-for-sale advertisements that mention the fact that a house is so equipped.

Even in a home with a modern heating plant a fireplace in use is a cheerful spot for a family gathering. And on a chill evening the warmth from a fireplace can be amazingly comfortable.

If your fireplace puts out more smoke than heat, however, it is of no use at all.

If it puffs smoke in your face it may indicate a clogged chimney or an improperly designed fireplace.

To see if the flue is blocked, open the damper and hold a wad of burning paper in the opening. If it burns brightly and flame and smoke move easily up the chimney, the flue is not clogged.

* * *

But if the paper burns slowly and smokes a great deal then the chimney is clogged and needs cleaning. Make certain the damper works easily and opens all the way. A partially closed damper can also cause trouble.

* * *

But if the damper works freely the chimney needs cleaning and you better call in an outfit that specializes in that sort of work. While it can be done by a sure-footed amateur working on the roof (preferably on a one-story house) it is a messy job as well as one that is potentially hazardous for anyone working at a height.

* * *

If the flue is absolutely clean, then the fireplace design is at fault. The problem with most fireplaces is that the flue opening is too small for the size of the fireplace opening. Measure the flue and measure the opening in the fireplace. The flue area should be at least one-twelfth the area of the opening.

If it is less than this, it is giving you trouble.

Since you can't enlarge the flue, decrease the size of the fireplace opening. A metal hood across the top of the opening is the easiest way to do this. These can be purchased.

* * *

Before spending any money though, check to see if this will help solve the problem. Build a small fire. Then hold a board or piece of sheet metal across the opening. Slowly lower it until the draft is increased to the point that the fire is drawing well. After this you will know how large a hood you will need.

* * *

You also can fill in with masonry, a good method when a hood alone is not enough. You can build up the hearth with one or two more layers of brick. Or you can add vertical rows of brick on each side.

* * *

Occasionally the problem is a damper that has been installed too low. Again, lowering the top of the opening has the effect of raising the height of the damper.

* * *

Take a look outside to see that your chimney is tall enough and is not obstructed. It should extend about three feet above the top of the house. If it doesn't it can be extended with a cap. Overhanging branches also can cause interference. These should be pruned.

Water Supply a Vital Need

It may be hard to imagine three quarters of a ton of water but that's what a private water system should deliver each day for an average family of four.

But this supply of 200 gallons is only minimal, and 300 gallons would be more realistic to meet all of your family's needs.

* * *

Heart of the private water system is the electric pump. If yours is 5-10 years old, chances are that it is not meeting the demands of such modern-day conveniences as the automatic dishwasher, clothes washer and garbage disposer.

* * *

In replacing an undersized pump, the Council recommends you plan for future increased use by having a pump installed that can easily deliver 50 per cent more water than you now use.

DEMANDS UP

Providing for increased water demand now can eliminate the need to replace the pump before it has outlived its usefulness.

* * *

A private water system brings plentiful water into the house less expensively over the years than a municipal system can. Plus, the water from a private source is never restricted as is true in some communities during droughts or periods of high water consumption.

* * *

But to enjoy the maximum convenience and pleasure from a private water system it must be properly sized.

Hats on the Brim of Change

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — The brim that flops is the brim that's tops in the hats women are buying for spring.

Giving the big, "relaxed" brims strong competition, however, are the scarf hats, part of the millinery scene in recent years, but this spring better than ever before.

Faded from the picture are the traditional florals, with few exceptions. And gone too is the phrase "Easter bonnet" sorry about that, Irving Berlin from the hat industry's vocabulary.

The bonnet is not a 1969 fashion. And as the hatmakers explain, women no longer buy a hat just for an Easter Sunday. Not, that is, unles they are celebrities on parade or girls grabbing for television camera attention in Fifth Avenue's fashion spectacle on this Christian holy day.

Instead, women think in terms of a new hat or hats for a whole season, and often in terms of coordination with one specific outfit.

Coordination is a preachment of Mr. John, the milliner-clothes designer who uses the term "relaxed" to describe his spring best-sellers — "drooping onto the face, with chiffon drapes to the floor."

These chapeaux, some with brims nearly six inches wide and with "good round crowns" are ideal with the pants suits sweeping the feminine fashion scene, Mr. John said. They go well, too, with the smooth, "boy hairdo," which has replaced what he called the "orthopedic" coiffure twisted and combed into an artificial fantasy.

TODAY'S LOOK

"The look today is sort of like Marlene Dietrich riding off into the desert," said Mr. John.

A United Press International pre-Easter check of the Millinery Institute of America, trade organization for the industry, plus couture firms and volume manufacturers showed enormous popularity for brims and the big use of scarves as trims for felt or straw for to make the entire hat.

Churchill's Widow Takes Bad Tumble

LONDON (AP) — Baroness Spencer-Churchill, the 84-year-old widow of Sir Winston Churchill, was rushed to a hospital Friday after falling at her home. It was believed she broke a thigh.

"Her condition is comfortable, but she is suffering slightly from shock," said a spokesman at Westminster Hospital.

Lady Churchill was made a life peeress in 1965, three months after the death of her husband.

Friend Imposes on Another's Good Nature

By ELIZABETH L. POST
of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post. My husband and I have been asked to attend a wedding of a friend's son. This woman asked me to get someone to help me to serve at a pre-wedding party a week before the wedding, stating that she is willing to give the other person a few dollars to help, but of course I shouldn't expect to get paid as I will be going to the wedding.

★ ★ ★

My question is: Does she think I am beneath her station in life and making me serve in this fashion is just a way of saying "We had to invite them to the wedding because they work for us now and then"?

Others have told me she is belittling me in the guests' eyes. Are they right? — Joan

★ ★ ★

Dear Joan: Frankly, I think your "friend" is taking advantage of you. While she is not belittling you, she is hoping to get free catering service — Maybe she would have invited you to the wedding in any case, but she is certainly imposing on your good nature by suggesting that you "pay" for the invitation by helping her out.

I suggest that either you tell her you have another engagement and cannot serve at her party but will attend the wedding, or you refuse both.

GROOM CHOOSES

Dear. Mrs. Post: My sister asked me to be her maid of honor and I feel that my husband should be asked to be in the bridal party also. Since it does concern a married couple and since it happens to be her sister and brother-in-law, isn't this the correct thing to do? — Florence

Dear Florence: There is no reason that your husband should be included in the bridal party. The groom is the one who chooses his own attendants and unless your husband is a close friend of his, there is no requirement that the groom invite him.

Teens Intrude While Girl Is Working as Baby Sitter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was babysitting last Saturday night when a girl I knew from school came to the door. I opened it to let her in and a whole gang of kids (boys and girls) forced their way into the house.

It took me quite a while to get them out, but unfortunately they were in long enough for one of the kids to steal a coin collection valued at $600.

The people I sat for are holding me responsible, but I hope to get the money to pay them back some day.

The police questioned me, and naturally I had to give them the names of the kids I know were in the house. Now everyone at school knows that I gave names, and they say they are going to make trouble for me.

Abby, can you help me? I am considering running away. SCARED

DEAR SCARED: Don't "run" anywhere. Your biggest mistake was in opening the door in the first place. The girl who appeared "alone" and made it possible for the "gang" to gain entrance should be reprimanded.

And I hope this is a lesson to ALL sitters. NEVER open the door to ANYONE.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy with a crazy problem. I have a pen pal overseas. I asked for a girl, hoping that maybe we'd like each other and she could be my "girl friend," but I got a boy by mistake. Just for the fun of it I wrote to him saying I was a girl. I sent him a picture of a very pretty girl I know and now this pen pal is coming over for a vacation this summer.

He keeps writing me these love letters and now I am on the spot. What should I do? GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: Tell him the truth. And tell the girl whose picture you sent the whole story. Your pen pal "fell in love" with YOUR letters and HER picture. Perhaps the girl will want to correspond with him and give him a chance to "fall in love" with HER letters. It's a cinch he's not going to fall in love with YOUR picture.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE CHECKER IN A HESSTON, KAS., SUPERMART: No, you don't have to put up with a boss who has too many hands. Ring up "NO SALE" on the resister and be sure he sees it. If he doesn't improve his conduct, tell HIS boss.

101-Year-Old Widower Plans to Wed Again

DETROIT (AP) — A 101-year-old widower who came north from Mississippi some 20 years ago announced his engagement this week, but refused to identify the bride-to-be.

Allen Asup, who will turn 102 on Easter Sunday, told a reporter "I'll invite you to the wedding but I'll leave the formal announcement up to the lady."

"I've had me four wives already, but they just wouldn't live," he said Friday. "I don't like this living alone."

Asup, who lives with friends in Detroit, spends most of his days reading the Bible, watching television and cheering for the Tigers in season. He goes to church on Sundays.

Asup, asked to comment on short, short skirts, said: "Women have always followed fashions, but back then the fashions —or the women—wasn't so fast."

MARGOT FONTEYN

From Theatrical, Political Stage, They're Telling It Like It Is

By The Associated Press

Peter Cottontail of German Descent

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — In case the children ask, the Easter bunny first made the scene during a famine in Germany years ago.

A peasant woman put eggs in a nest outside. When the youngsters found them, a bunny hopped away. The boys and girls put two and two together, starting the rumor that rabbits bring Easter goodies.

Eggs got into the act centuries before. Ancients said these gifts from the hens stood for the new life returning to nature in spring.

Persians in that time before the scientific era liked the idea of eggs for another reason. They believed the earth had hatched from a giant egg.

AMERICAN CHILDREN

In the name of Easter, American children roll eggs, hunt for eggs, dye eggs and have been known to get sick from eating too many.

But all that's tame compared to Easter happenings for children in some other lands.

Firepower and flowerpower combine to make Easter eve exciting for boys and girls in Florence.

A cart loaded with firecrackers and posies pulls up to the cathedral door. Then, along a wire from the altar to the cart, a metal dove speeds along with a light for the fireworks' fuse.

Then it rushes back to the starting point. People think it's a good omen if the "Dove" makes it to the altar again before the fireworks go off.

Bells rather than bunnies are supposed to bring Easter eggs in Belgium and France. Historians say the legend stems from the fact that in many places in those lands people believe bells go off to Rome on Good Friday and don't return until Easter. On the way back, they drop off eggs.

Young people in Romania carry lighted candles home from church Easter eve. At home they gaze into mirrors by this candlelight and try to see their future.

In Finland, Denmark and Norway some children trim birch branches with gay paper streamers and "BEAT" adults until they get hot cross buns or decorated eggs.

Easter came a few days early for 10-year-old Luanne Lukacs (in bed) and her sister Kim, age four, of Stirling Street, Pontiac Township, with a little help from Kandy Brown (left) and Carol Oliver. Kandy, who lives on Litchfield Street and Carol, of Fieldway Drive, Bloomfield Township, are among several members of Maids of Athena, chapter 164, visiting area homebound children this weekend with deliciously packed Easter baskets donated by the group.

Family Gathering Set This Easter Weekend

Dr. and Mrs. Edward A. Christie of Bloomfield Hills have a houseful of company this weekend.

Their son, Edward Jr. and his wife and two daughters, Jane and Kathleene, are here for a week from Crystal Lake, Ill.

Their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Berghoff of Fort Wayne, Ind., have brought their four sons, Michael, Danny, Billy and Johnnie, to spend Easter with their grandparents.

Easter Sunday dinner for the whole group is being hosted by another daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bronsing of Walters Lake and their children, Christie and Peter.

Pet Parisian Python Prowls Plumbing, Peeks

PARIS (UPI) — Charles Clerin glanced at the toilet in his third-floor apartment and, much to his surprise, found a python peering back at him.

After a moment of stunned silence, the snake disappeared back into the plumbing and Clerin headed downstairs to report the matter to the concierge. On the way he ran into his first-floor neighbor, Lucien Peraldi, who reported, "I've lost a python."

"I've found it," Clerin replied.

A quick search failed to turn up the snake, but other apartment dwellers in the building decided not to wait around. They called the fire brigade.

A fireman was stationed at every toilet in the building and, after a five-hour wait, the python showed up in the first floor toilet. The waiting fireman bravely tugged him out.

★ ★ ★

Peraldi quickly sent the python off to a veterinarian to get over the experience. "The snake doesn't like people and gets frightened easily," he explained.

Consumers Bargaining Is Recessed

JACKSON (UPI) — Negotiations between Consumers Power Co. and the Michigan State Utility Workers Council on a new contract for 5,200 operating employes were recessed for the Easter weekend after bargainers spent nearly 11 hours at the table yesterday.

"Although agreements were reached on some issues, all parties agreed it was better at this time to recess during the Easter weekend and resume again Monday morning," a company spokesman said late yesterday.

★ ★ ★

All services, both electrical and natural gas, continued normally in the company's service area of 67 of the 68 counties in the Lower Peninsula. Workers have remained on the job despite having no contract.

The old pact expired at midnight March 31, but negotiations continued with state and federal mediators present.

3 Out on Bond in Beating Case

Three men arrested in connection with beating an off-duty Oakland County sheriff's deputy, pleaded not guilty in District court yesterday to charges of being drunk and disorderly.

Ronald Kopka, 22, of 530 Arenac, Commerce Township, Frank Valenzuela, 23, of 732 Cartwright and Daniel Hatfield, 24 of 9215 Funston, White Lake Township, were releaased on bond after they pleaded not guilty before Clarkston District Judge Gerald McNally.

★ ★ ★

An investigation is being made of the beating of Deputy Charles Huggins at the Stagecoach Tavern, 5803 Dixie Highway, Waterford Township, early yesterday.

Huggins was treated for numerous cuts on his face, swollen lips and rib and back injuries.

★ ★ ★

He said three men jumped him outside the building, pinned him against a wall, beat him and stole the revolver he was carrying off-duty.

On His Guard but Slipped on One Detail

NEW YORK (UPI)—Special guards who rushed to Nat Altman Jewelers early yesterday morning when the burglar alarm went off couldn't find anything unusual. The heavy steel door to the big jewelry vault hadn't been touched and there was no sign of trouble.

Just to be on the safe side, one of the guards remained on duty at the front door long enough to assure the first employe who arrived in the morning that "I stood guard over the premises."

★ ★ ★

But when they opened the vault they found a quarter of a million dollars in jewels missing. Burglars had entered a next-door hotel-restaurant and drilled a four-foot hole through the brick wall into the vault.

They carefully chose $250,000 in gold and jewels, mostly diamonds, and then left via the back door while the guard carefully watched the front entrance.

ITS MOTHER WAS A CLAM — Wilburn Dowell Cobb holds the Pearl of Allah, a 14-pound gem he has offered for sale for $3.5 million. The gem was found in a giant clam off the Philippines in 1934, and Cobb has kept it in bank vaults and museums for more than two decades while he worked as a guard at San Quentin Prison near San Francisco. He has retired and wants to return to his native Philippines to buy a plantation "for some of my old friends."

'Aided Militants'

2 Cubans Denied Visas

NEW YORK (AP)—Government sources say the United States denied reentry visas to two Cuban diplomats because they allegedly gave financial aid to militant Negro groups, including the Black Panthers, the New York Times said today.

The newspaper reported the sources said that five more Cuban diplomats might face similar denial of reentry visas the next time they leave the country.

★ ★ ★

The Times' story also said in part:

All of the Cubans are, or were, attached to the Cuban Mission to the United Nations. Though they have not made a secret of their contacts with such groups, the suggestion that they aided them financially is new.

ACTION SOUGHT

According to the sources, who asked not to be named, the identities of the two Cubans denied reentry are Chafik Saker Zenni, a former first secretary in the mission, and Jesus Jimenez Escobar, a counselor at the mission.

The sources said the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which is charged with internal security investigations, is seeking action against the other five. They were identified as:

Alberto Boza Hidalgo-Gato, a third secretary; Pedro Luis Pinero Elrin, a third secretary; Jorge E. Reyes Vega, a second secretary; Miguel M. Santana Fraiz, an attache; and Lazaro Espinosa, a third secretary.

The sources were reported to have been unspecific about the nature of the alleged "financial and directional" aid that the seven Cubans supposedly gave the militant groups.

Earnings from Japan's 1967 exports of industrial products rose 47 per cent to $2,642 billion.

THINK ABOUT IT!

LET US REJOICE!

This question appeared here last week. Psychologists ask the question in behalf of clients when examining employee applications.

"Of all the men you know, have known, met or heard of, what one man would you most like to be like?" Explain why — Some selections and reasons show peculiar, even fuzzy thinking. What person, at least of Christian faith, could possibly fail to select the One Man who not only changed the course of history but changed the calendar as well? Apart from the religious aspect, this Man was so remarkable, our calendar is dated B.C. and A.D. — before Christ and in the year of our Lord. Even non-Christians who deny His Divinity, knew He DID live on earth. From his birth to His crucifixion, He lived and exemplary life of selflessness; never a thought of selfishness. His life, His teaching — left an indelible imprint with more impact than any other man who ever lived.

At Easter, let us rejoice that He proved life is continuous; indestructible; that His resurrection proved eternity does not start with death, but from the moment of mortal birth; that He proved our physical life of imperfections is only a prelude to spiritual perfection He promises us in His Heaven. When we reject Him, we reject the precious gift of Easter. HUNTOON FUNERAL HOME, 79 Oakland Avenue, Pontiac. Member National Selected Morticians. Phone 332-0189.

Fate of This Season's New TV Fare Is No Surprise

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Winter is past, spring is here, and the voices of television's Monday morning quarterbacks are heard in the land.

The video season, in short, is virtually over, and it is an excellent time for hindsight on the new series and what happened to them.

★ ★ ★

To virtually no one's surprise, NBC-TV's "Julia," which stars Diahann Carroll, was an immediate hit, and never slipped from that status through the entire season.

The buildup over the fact that the series starred a Negro actress launched "Julia" with great publicity, and then the popularity of the show in all areas of the nation took over.

NEVER CAUGHT ON

However, another series with a Negro as costar, the ABC-TV Western called "The Outcasts," never did catch on despite some excellent episodes.

Up against CBS-TV's "Mayberry R.F.D." and "Family Affairs" and NBC-TV's Monday movies, "The Outcasts" just didn't have much chance at all.

It was fairly obvious that ABC-TV's "The Mod Squad," about three youngsters who work undercover for the police, would gain an audience, and it did.

★ ★ ★

And it was equally obvious that ABC-TV's "That's Life." a unique and highly pleasant musical series about a young newlywed couple, would not gain much of an audience, and it didn't.

NEEDS CORRECT SLOT

CBS-TV's "Hawaii Five-O," a cops-and-robbers epic, wasn't much to write home about, but it had that certain something that seemed to assure a fairly decent run if slotted correctly — and once it got the right time period, it took hold.

From the start, it was clear that Don Rickles' insult comedy show would be either a surprise audience hit or fold fast, and it folded fast.

★ ★ ★

It was likewise clear that "The Ugliest Girl in Town," about a boy who tries to pass himself off as a female model, would be a hit-and-miss entry, with little chance for routine success. It was a total miss with the audience.

ABC-TV's suspense anthology "Journey to the Unknown" was, meanwhile, a predictable quality failure, that is, good — but no oomph.

★ ★ ★

New 007 'Is' James Bond

(EDITOR'S NOTE — After five of the highly successful James Bond films, actor Sean Connery decided he'd had enough of Agent 007. The new movie superspy is George Lazenby, an Australian by birth, a former male model by profession. He'll star in the film, "On Her Majesty's Secret Service."

By GRANVILLE WATTS

LONDON (AP) — Actor George Lazenby, the new movie James Bond, sipped vodka and said: "I appear with 14 girls in this picture—not a bad average."

Australian-born Lazenby, 29, was taking time off between scenes of the new Bond film, "On Her Majesty's Secret Service," being made at Pinewood Studios near London.

For an untried actor with an $8.4-million film on his shoulders, Lazenby is supremely relaxed.

"I have made a happy discovery: I AM James Bond," he said in an interview.

"Well, let's say our personalities are similar," he added.

"I don't feel I'm really acting. I take chances as they come and, like Bond, I've got an eye for the chicks," he said.

★ ★ ★

Producers Harry Saltzman and Albert R. Broccoli, the makers of five other Bond films, surprised the film world by picking the unknown Lazenby for the plum part given up by Sean Connery.

Connery, 38, was three years older than Lazenby when he made the first Bond film "Dr. No" in 1962.

MORE ATHLETIC

Physically Lazenby is slimmer and less rugged than Connery, but is possibly more athletic in the part. He doesn't use stunt men doubles as Connery often did in the later Bonds.

Four hundred actors and male models were considered for the role. Among them was Lazenby, whose previous claim to fame was limited to his appearance in an advertisement for chocolate in a British television commercial.

★ ★ ★

Lazenby, whose father works as a grocer for the home town bowls club in Australia, was educated at the local high school in Goulburn, near Sydney, and began work as an apprentice motor mechanic.

He soon switched to car salesman and worked in various parts of Australia before deciding he wanted to see more of the world.

SAILED FOR BRITAIN

He sailed for Britain in 1964 with a one-way tourist ticket and one spare suit.

He got himself a job in the work he knew best—car sales—and soon was working as a salesman in London's affluent Park Lane.

It was there that a freelance photographer spotted him and persuaded him to try modeling. Within a year he was one of the best-paid male models in Europe.

He was in Paris when producer Saltzman and Broccoli called him to London to be tested for the Bond film.

'DREAMS COME TRUE'

"Playing Bond is like having one's childhood dreams come true," said the 6-foot-2 Lazenby, a bachelor. "You know, all that shooting and stuff. I enjoy it."

"I'm not exactly Laurence Olivier. But Sean Connery's acting experience was limited when he became 007. I'm doing what he did—placing myself in the hands of the highly successful team that molded Bond into a cinema figure.

★ ★ ★

If Lazenby makes the grade he could match the $480,000 per film that Connery achieved.

Lazenby plays opposite statuesque British actress Diana Rigg, former star of "The Avengers" television series, in the new film.

"That girl can really make me believe she is in love with me," he said.

West's in State of Agitation

Laundromats Being Jazzed Up

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The latest cultural outbreak in this country is the combination laundromat and discotheque.

Plans are afoot to open such places in New York and Chicago soon. According to the promoters, as many as 50 may be in operation on a franchise basis within the next 12 months.

Each will have a dance floor overlooking a battery of washing machines. A music box will provide appropriate tunes, such as "The Washday Blues."

WEST

If they so choose, patrons can perform the hornpipe, cakewalk and other terpischorean maneuvers while their dirty linen is sloshing in the suds.

Or, if they aren't in a dancing mood, they can sit out the rinse cycle at the bar.

INTIMATE TABLES

Or, if romance overtakes them while the spin drier is running, they can hold hands at intimate tables inare the rear.

This, as you can see, will be a big improvement over ordinary laundromats, where there isn't much to do except stare through the glass portholes in the washer doors.

★ ★ ★

That really isn't very entertaining, unless your idea of fun is watching an agitator pulsate.

Certain problems are bound to arise, however, once the laundromat - discotheques start functioning. Let's say, for example, that a boy makes a date with a girl.

"We'll have dinner, see a show and then do our laundry," he says.

This poses a moral question: Should a boy and girl wash their clothing together in the same machine before they are married?

UNDULY PRUDISH

Maybe I'm unduly prudish, or old-fashioned. But premarital comingling of soiled linen, doesn't sound like something a "nice" girl should do.

Married couples will have their problems, too, as we shall see in the following scene:

He is reading the paper. She is filing a fingernail and softly crying.

"Is something the matter, sweetheart?"

★ ★ ★

"It's just that you never take me out to do the laundry any more. Before we were married we used to have laundry dates four or five nights a week."

"But, honey, you know how much I enjoy home laundry."

"That's only an excuse. The truth is, you don't love me any more."

CBS Cancels Smothers Show for Next Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour television show has been canceled by the Columbia Broadcasting System for next season after several months of argument between the network and its stars about the program's content.

Robert Wood, president of CBS-TV, said Friday that Tom and Dick Smothers had broken their contract by failing to submit Sunday's program in time for a screening last Wednesday by the network and its affiliates.

★ ★ ★

"CBS has been trying to force us into a breach of contract," Tom Smothers replied in Los Angeles. "CBS is obligated by contract to air 26 Smothers Brothers shows next season."

"They've harassed us and want us off the air because they think we're a threat to them," Smothers told newsmen, "... they have lied to us consistently, we have complied with our contract at all times."

PREVIOUS DISAGREEMENTS

The brothers have disagreed previously with CBS over cuts which the network made in the show. The Jan. 5 show was dropped and an earlier one substituted after folk singer Joan Baez, who was appearing as a guest, dedicated a song to her husband, who is a draft resister.

In announcing the cancellation of the show next season, Wood said that the Smothers Brothers "had consistently failed" to deliver tapes of their shows in time for the network to review them.

★ ★ ★

In his telegram to Tom Smothers Friday, Wood said the tape of Sunday's show had not been received in time to be reviewed. He said a show originally broadcast on Nov. 10 would be substituted for it.

"On the basis of our information about parts of that program," Wood said, "we believe that the program in its present form would not be acceptable."

'OFFENSIVE' MONOLOGUE

He said the network understood that the program included "at the very least ... a monologue which in our opinion would be considered to be irrelevant and offensive to a large segment of our audience, and therefore unacceptable even if this were not the week of the Eisenhower funeral rites and even if Sunday were not Easter Sunday."

The monologue, CBS said, was by comedian David Steinberg and was described as a "sermonette," satirizing the religious lectures used by some stations to sign on or off.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the Smothers brothers said that Sunday's program was previewed by CBS broadcast officials in Los Angeles and that the Steinberg monologue was dropped from the program tape at their suggestion.

Even if it had been left in, the spokesman said, it would not have been "remotely offensive."

Tom Smothers said, "This show was taped before Gen. Eisenhower died, a man for whom we had great respect. It's just another case of harassment."

"I've told CBS that we prefer to have the affiliates censor our material rather than the network ...," the comedian said. "All I want to do is define program practices. I've asked the network to sit down and talk it over many times."

★ ★ ★

Two programs of the current season are still scheduled to be televised, the last on April 20. Reruns will continue through June 15. A summer series that was to have been produced by the brothers but in which they would not appear is now "up in the air," a CBS source said.

A Smothers spokesman said that their new contract was signed by the network March 14 and was to have gone into effect Sept. 22.

★ ★ ★

The brothers grossed over $4.42 million for their first 26 shows, but had to pay production costs out of this.

Although the Smothers Brothers program is a popular one, its ratings had dropped this season. The brothers felt this drop was caused by CBS restrictions on their use of material.

Sirhan Trial Nearing End

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The murder trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, is expected to go to the jury next week, its 14th week, after three days of closing argument.

In the jury selection phase, which began Jan. 7, Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker estimated the trial of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassin might last as much as three months.

★ ★ ★

The state says it expects to wrap up rebuttal Monday with testimony by a psychologist, Leonard Olinger, of the University of Southern California.

The three defense lawyers and two of the prosecutors are expected to deliver closing arguments. Predictions are the jury of seven men and five women will get the case Friday.

If they find Sirhan guilty of first-degree murder, a brief trial to fix his penalty would follow.

What Wall Street Did

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — "There was nothing to really inspire the stock market to do any better," an anlyst said of the market's losing performance the past week. "What it needs to set it off is a big piece of good news."

A solid breakthrough in the Vietnam peace talks would be such news.

The market has shown again and again that peace is bullish. In the two weeks preceding the past week's three-day session, the market racked up solid gains, mainly drawing its strength from continuing peace hopes. The Dow Jones industrial average, for example, collected 15.48 points in the previous week's regular five-day session but lost a total of 8.18 points in the past week's three trading days to close at 927.30.

The market was closed Monday in respect to the memory of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and again on Good Friday.

★ ★ ★

The trouble with peace hopes, according to Ralph A. Rotnem, Harris, Upham & Co. senior vice president, is that unless they are kept alive, "it is difficult to see too much enthusiasm on the upside. The sharply oversold condition that existed late in February has now been canceled out.

"The threat that the 10 per cent surtax will be continued and that the 7 per cent investment credit will be eliminated or reduced, the determination of the administration and the Federal Reserve to check inflation, and the signs that the money supply is increasing at a much slower rate than during the last quarter of 1968 suggest that caution is still necessary."

And investor caution stepped in at Tuesday's opening session. Early in the trading it appeared the market might keep the previous week's peace-hope rally going as it continued to push upward, but investors started moving over to the sidelines after Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said "the nation is confronted with an extremely difficult and dangerous economic and fiscal situation" and the market closed lower.

Investors realized once again that the administration was determined to cool inflation and put the brakes on the economy. They generally stood on the sidelines again Wednesday, waiting for that elusive piece of dramatic news that would spur the market. It did not come. The market closed lower.

The downtrend continued Thursday, as many investors decided not to commit themselves just before a long weekend. Analysts pointed out that three days off make people and institutions nervous since a lot of things can happen in that period of time which could affect the market when it reopens.

NEW YORK (AP) Banking the fires of inflation is proving most difficult.

The economy keeps rolling along at a rapid clip despite efforts of the government and private financial disciplinarians to cool the rate of growth.

There is increasing apprehension in substantial economic areas that unless galloping inflation can be reined in, a possible recession might not be far below the horizon.

Prices moved up at the high rate of 4.7 per cent in 1968 and now are rising at an annual rate of 5 per cent.

This has meant sharp increases in businessmen's costs for construction, machinery and equipment, in prices of new homes, in the costs of goods and services purchased by the government and in interest rates.

The higher costs have been equally oppressive on individuals, who since 1965 have seen costs of hospital care rise more than 50 per cent and prices of transit fares, doctors' fees, haircuts, shoes and movie tickets go up more than 20 per cent.

Chase Manhattan Bank warned this past week that this country could be headed for a recession. It said plans of corporations to increase their investment in plants and equipment by 14 per cent this year could "feed inflation now and create a reaction, possibly a recession, later on."

The bank said these ambitious spending plans "lie in the inflationary climate of the day."

It cautioned, unless continued monetary and fiscal restraint compel businessmen to defer some of their expansion plans there is a strong possibility of a recession in late 1969 or early 1970.

And new monetary restraints came this past week. The Federal Reserve Board boosted its discount rate—the interest it charges for loans to its member banks—to 6 per cent, the highest in 40 years, from 5½ per cent, and increased the amount of funds the banks must hold in reserve.

The discount rate affects the rate of interest charged by banks to their borrowers. The higher reserve requirement will withdraw $650 million from available lending funds.

The hike in the discount rate wasn't surprising to bankers and brokers, but the action on reserves was unexpected.

The Federal Reserve's actions generally were interpreted as evidence that it means business in its battle against inflation.

New business statistics which came out this past week showed that as recently as February the 10 per cent income tax surcharge—enacted last June—and other fiscal measures intended to lessen the flow of money into the economic stream had not taken hold with the hoped-for results.

Pontiac Central Wins Twice in CMU Track Invitational

THE PONTIAC PRESS
SPORTS
SATURDAY, APRIL 5, 1969 D—1

Spartan Meet Mark Set by Lahser's Relay Team

The Chiefs of Pontiac Central won twice in the Class A Indoor Invitational at Central Michigan University last night.

Officially, the Chiefs captured the CMU crown for the fourth time in a row. Unofficially, they claimed the Saginaw Valley Conference championship.

Since most of the SVC teams were on hand it figures that the Chiefs' showing at Mount Pleasant will be just a forerunner of what'll come in the conference meet.

MIDLAND SECOND

For the evening, the Chiefs totaled 47 points — 27 in field events — followed by Midland (31), Flint Northern (20), Flint Kearsley (18), Pontiac Northern (16), Saginaw (12), Bay City Handy (10), Muskegon (10), Bay City Central (9), Owosso (9), Saginaw MacArthur (6), Waterford Kettering (6), Waterford Township (5), Mt. Pleasant (4), Muskegon Mona Shores (3), Traverse City (2) and Saginaw Arthur Hill (0).

★ ★ ★

In the Class B Spartan Relays at East Lansing, Bloomfield Hills Lahser set a meet record in capturing the two-mile relay in 8:16.3. Another area winner in the Spartan event was John Stuyvenberg of Northville in the long jump.

ECORSE WINS

Ecorse piled up 32 points at East Lansing to win its second relays title in a row. The Red Raiders won last week at Eastern Michigan. Kalamazoo Hackett placed second (32), followed by Holly (14), Three Rivers (10), Muskegon Catholic Central, Northville and Bloomfield Hills Lahser (9).

★ ★ ★

Only one record toppled in the Central Michigan competition. Midland's Mike Murphy managed that with a 49.7 clocking in the 440-yard dash.

The Chiefs of PCH won four events. Jon Costello paced Central with a 4:30.2 time in the mile for first place points.

★ ★ ★

Horace Davis won the long jump for PCH at 21-2½ and sophomore John Ray flipped the shot 52-1½ to win that event. Campy Russell, star center on the Chiefs' basketball team, high jumped 6-1 to gain the title.

AREA WINNER

Another local winner was Kevin Reabe of Kettering with a 2:03.9 time in the 880.

Along with the three wins in field events, the Chiefs' Rollie Garcia was second to Davis in the long jump and they picked up two places in the pole vault. Roger Butler was second in the vaulting at 12-8 while teammate Bob MaLone was fifth at 12 feet.

★ ★ ★

Members of the Lahser 2 mile relay team were Rich Craig, Joe Caserio, Mike Oviatt and Jim Stewart.

The Lahser mile relay team was third with Bill Hafstad, Mike Oviatt, Jim Stewart and Harry Perry.

Cousin Jack's Golfing Lesson Proves Helpful

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Texan Jack Burke failed to make the 36-hole cut but his influence was being felt today as the $160,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament moved into its third round.

Burke's cousin, Dave Marr, the 1965 PGA champion, got a quick lesson from Burke here last Tuesday and profited to the extent of a five-under-par 66 Friday that gave him the halfway lead with a 134 total.

★ ★ ★

Marr, who says he was "playing badly" in eight tournaments before coming here, held a two-shot lead over Gene Littler, Gordon Jones and Rod Funseth in the chase for top money of $32,000.

Marr didn't win a tournament last year, but he earned $63,000 on the tour, then went into a playing slump this year.

★ ★ ★

A combination of cold mist and fog made the course play longer Friday and some players had a problem with club selection after Thursday's ideal conditions.

A score of 143, one over par, made the 36-hole cut, with 76 survivors.

'End of Strike Near'--Michigan Racing Official

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan racing commissioner Leo Shirley predicts a strike at Wolverine Raceway will be settled and "I think they'll be racing again Tuesday night."

A strike by Local 79 of the Service Employes International Union has kept the harness racing track — located at Detroit Race Course — closed since Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of Wolverine Raceway and the union were scheduled to meet for the first time in a week today to discuss a new contract.

Shirley said "I think both sides are ready to talk in realistic terms."

Also Friday, the union met with officials of Hazel Park, which opens a thoroughbred season April 14. However, no report was made on progress toward reaching a contract.

New 'M' Grid Coach Looking at '69 Season

ANN ARBOR (AP) — What will it take for the Michigan Wolverines to go to the Rose Bowl after the 1969 season?

It's not easy for new Coach Glenn "Bo" Schembechler to say after less than one week of spring practice but he says the big challenges are: 1. Finding capable replacements for Ron Johnson and Dennis Brown, and 2. Being able to handle a schedule that is much tougher than last season when Michigan rolled up an 8-2 record.

"I don't really know how far we can go," said the husky former Miami of Ohio head coach. "We've got a good attitude squad and I think it'll get better. How far it'll go will be determined by a lot of factors."

Tailback Johnson powered his way to many schools and Big Ten rushing records last season and quarterback Brown scrambled out of the pocket on numerous tight situations and turned them into sparkling plays.

Schembechler said, "the loss of Johnson and Brown have to be figured in" in the over-all outlook of the Wolverines for 1969.

In Contract Talks

No. 2 Cager Trying Harder

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Neal Walk, University of Florida basketball great, may be only No. 2 but he's going to try harder before he signs a six figure contract to play professional basketball.

Walk, 6-foot-10 center, arrived here Friday with his garrulous attorney-agent, Bob Wolff of Boston, who is short of stature but long on plans.

"Now that the National Basketball Association has signed Lew Alcindor, the American Basketball Association must come up with a good offer to their No. 2 draft choice," Wolff said.

WANTS PAY PROOF

"They've got to prove to ABA fans that they're willing to pay to get the best. And Neal Walk became the ABA's No. 2 draft choice when Houston took him."

★ ★ ★

"I'm going to listen to him because he knows a lot more about contract negotiatons than I do," Walk said.

"It will take six figures — six substantial figures — to get Neal's name on a three-year contract," Wolff said.

The agent said Houston, which is moving to the Carolinas next year, picked Walk in a secret ABA draft, and Phoenix — with top draft choice in the NBA now that Milwaukee has signed Alcindor — will tab Walk.

Wolff, Walk and his father flew to Phoenix today to see how far up in the six figure bracket the Suns are willing to shine.

"I think you'll find out by Monday what a great position Neal is in," Wolff said.

Walk would like to play for his hometown Miami Floridians in the ABA, but he said he will consider a lot more than just money and location when he does sign his contract.

Maple Leaf Out Three More Tilts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forbes Kennedy of the Toronto Maple Leafs won't see any more National Hockey League action this season unless his club wins two of its next three playoff games with the Boston Bruins.

Kennedy's "indefinite" suspension for striking an official on Wednesay was turned into a four-game suspension Friday by NHL President Clarence Campbell. Kennedy will also lose $1,000 of his share of the playoff money.

ALREADY STARTED

The suspension started with the second game Thursday and will carry through the fifth game.

But unless Toronto, which trails Boston 2-0 in the best-of-seven series, wins two of the next three games, the series will be over before Kennedy is eligible to play again.

★ ★ ★

In his report, Campbell said photos and motion pictures of the game show Kennedy "launched a hard right hand punch to linesman George Ashley's head, knocking him down on the ice."

Campbell said when the punch was delivered, "Ashley was straight in front of Kennedy and there was no Boston player within 10 feet of him. Ashley was not physically restraining Kennedy in any way and afforded no provocation for such a blow."

★ ★ ★

"In these circumstances the only rational conclusion is that Kennedy intentionally struck the official. This is a very serious offense which calls for exemplary punishment. Assaulting an official cannot be condoned at any time and Kennedy's record of misconduct over the past two seasons does not entitle him to leniency. It is intended that this decision will serve as a deterrent to others who may be similarly inclined."

Kennedy received two majors for fighting, an automatic misconduct and a game misconduct for striking Ashley.

Sore Arms Dampen Outlook for Bengals

DETROIT (UPI) — Sore arms are plaguing the Detroit Tigers as they prepare to open the 1969 season in defense of their World Champion crown.

Two key players in that defense — pitcher Denny McLain and transposed shortstop Mickey Stanley — have developed arm trouble and Mayo Smith might have to bench them for the season opener with the Cleveland Indians in Tiger Stadium Tuesday.

WAIT AND SEE

McLain, the 31-game winner of the 1968 season and the hope of the Tigers for a repeat this year, is slated to pitch the opener, but Tiger officials are taking a "wait-and-see" attitude about his chances.

The Tiger hurler flew home to Detroit from Lakeland, Fla. a day ahead of the rest of the team and underwent treatment at Ford Hospital Friday for the sore right shoulder, a problem that bothered him most of last season.

★ ★ ★

Denny was given a shot of cortisone and sent home. But, he'll be back in the doctor's office Monday to find out if he'll be able to pitch.

The trouble was diagnosed as tendonitis and should respond to treatment, according to Dr. Leslie Mitchell.

Stanley's sore arm wouldn't have bothered him so much if he was back in his old spot in centerfield.

But the Tigers, hurting for a hitting shortstop, are going to try a repeat of the World Series when Stanely moved to shortstop to make room for Al Kaline in the outfield.

EARLY INJURY

He injured the muscles in the arm in the very first day of spring training and admits it could be a problem for a shortstop.

★ ★ ★

"I'm really afraid of what might happen if I had to throw quickly from the hole or flip off balance while coming in," said Stanely. "I feel that I've got to hold myself back.

"I really wouldn't mind all this the change if I were feeling 100 per cent. It might take me 25 or 30 games before I really feel comfortable in the position, but I think I'll be able to manage," Stanley said.

Despite the sore arm, Stanley was at the shortstop position today when the Tigers meet Cincinnati in Montgomery, Ala., and Sunday against the Reds in Columbus, O.

★ ★ ★

The decision on both McLain and Stanley will be made as the Tigers last workout before the start of the season.

They're scheduled home Sunday afternoon and Mayo says he'll make the decision after the Monday morning workout in Tiger Stadium.

Golf Pro Raps Tourney After Fans Heckle

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Negro professional Charlie Sifford indicates he may never play in the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament again after the heckling he received during the tournament's second round Friday.

"This used to be a damn good tournament," said Sifford, formerly of Charlotte, N.C., but now of Los Angeles. "But it isn't worth a damn anymore."

★ ★ ★

His remarks came after four spectators were ushered from the Sedgefield Country Club course for allegedly heckling golfers. Sifford was the target of most of the abuse, club officials said.

FANS YELLING

"When Charlie was putting, after the stroke, some members of the gallery were yelling," said George Walsh, member of the Professional Golfers' Association field staff.

Sifford finished with an even par 71 for a 145 total, which failed to make the 36-hole cutoff.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the incident, tournament officials issued a prepared statement in which they apologized to Sifford.

"Charlie Sifford has always been a favorite of Greensboro golf fans," the statement said. "Indeed a warm relationship has developed between Mr. Sifford and GGO."

★ ★ ★

Pro Al Geiberger said the fans were saying some "pretty nasty things," but that he didn't believe the insults were racial.

★ ★ ★

"They were just picking on the guys who were missing the short putts," he said.

In 1961 the Greater Greensboro Open became the first Southern tournament to break the color line. Sifford played in that tournament.

Mouillee Deal Hearing Slated

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

Downriver sportsmen are kicking up a fuss over an impending land swap between the Department of Natural Resources and the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

They are objecting to the DNR turning over 260 acres — nearly two-thirds of it marsh — north of the Huron River in the Pte. Mouillee game area to the metro group. In exchange, the DNR would receive farmlands adjacent to the game area south of the river.

A hearing on the issue will be held Tuesday at the Wayne County Sportsmen's Club at 8 p.m.

"This is what you might call a semi-official hearing," said Donald W. Douglass, chief of the DNR's game division, "so that all interested parties can be heard on the subject." The sportsmen's club is located on Inkster Road, between Sibley and Eureka.

BOATING OUTLET

The metro authority owns land on the north side of the river, including the old Bluewing Club, and wants the land offered by the DNR to develop a boating outlet to Lake Erie and the lower Detroit River.

"We are getting equal value in exchange," said Douglass "and we consider the area north of the river far more valuable than farmlands to the south."

Although no definite amount of land from H-C has been announced, Douglass' statement would indicate parcels totaling well in access of 260 acres.

★ ★ ★

Duck hunters in the Rockford and Monroe areas are doing most of the protesting. However, they are expected to receive additional support from other areas at Tuesday's hearing.

They are objecting because hunting no longer would be permitted in the marsh. Huron-Clinton parks are closed to hunting.

David O. Laidlaw, director of H-C, said that "no definite timetable has been set up for developing boating facilities."

POSSIBLE REFUGE

"There is a good chance that all or part of the marsh will be reserved as a wildlife refuge as part of our nature program."

Hunters would be permitted to launch boats from the area, he pointed out.

"Our development north of the Huron River will serve as a buffer between expanding industry and the game area," said Laidlaw. "In addition to other park facilities, it will provide a good public access to the south end of the Detroit River."

★ ★ ★

Douglass said the marsh was badly damaged a number of years ago by high water.

"It has very low potential as a duck production area because there is too much water. Ducks and geese like to nest where it is dry, such as the farmlands we would receive."

The new lands eventually would be developed as waterfowl habitat, primarily through the construction of dikes and pumping stations.

SAME LOCATION

Douglass also pointed out that the game area's headquarters on an island north of the river would remain there indefinitely."

Douglass and Laidlaw both pointed out that Army Corps of engineers' work on the Detroit River's Trenton channel may benefit the north and south marshlands.

"Large pieces of concrete, stone and other solid materials from the channel are being deposited along the outer edge of the game area and may eventually form a sort of sea wall," said Douglass.

TIED UP—Archie Clark of the Philadelphia 76ers draws a personal foul while tying up Boston Celtics' John Havlicek (17) during the first half of their NBA playoff game in Philadelphia last night. Celtics won 93-90 to advance to the Eastern Division finals against New York.

Rebirth of Celtics Ends 76ers' Hopes

By the Associated Press

"Philly is dead, Philly is dead," yelled Emmette Bryant, leaving unsaid the obvious: the Boston Celtics are alive again, and kicking.

The rebirth of the Celtics, who finished a dismal fourth in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association this season, came Friday night when they wrapped up their playoff semifinal against Philadelphia with a 93-90 victory for a decisive 4-1 spread in the best-of-seven series.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics now open the East best-of-seven final set Sunday on national television at Madison Square Garden against the New York Knicks, a surprise 4-0 winner against Baltimore.

In the Western Division semifinals Friday night, Los Angeles closed in on a trip into the final with a 103-98 victory over San Francisco for a 3-2 lead while San Diego evened its set at 2-2 against Atlanta with a 114-112 triumph. Bryant thoroughly enjoyed his first playoff triumph in the otherwise quiet Celtic locker room until teammate John Havlicek, a veteran of many Boston playoff successes, told him to "cool it."

PLAYOFF VETERAN

But Philadelphia's Hal Greer, another playoff veteran, couldn't believe that Philly was dead.

"Sure, they're a great team," Greer said, "but to this day, I think the better team didn't win. I can't believe it's over."

It wasn't over until Billy Cunningham missed an off-balance jumper in the last minute after the 76ers had cut an eight-point deficit to 91-90 with 1:20 left. Then Bryant and Havlicek, who totaled 22 points, hit free throws to wrap it up.

Los Angeles, which dropped the first two games of its series before winning three straight jumped to a 20-point second quarter lead, but had to hang on when Jerry West fouled out with 4:43 left and the Warriors pulled within 100-98 with 16 seconds to go. Johnny Egan dropped three free throws to clinch the victory.

Oaks Triumph Without Barry

Sixth Straight ABA Win for Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — Without Rick Barry, the Oakland Oaks storm into the American Basketball Association playoffs tonight with confidence after closing the regular season with their sixth straight victory.

Gary Bradds, who has helped pick up the scoring slack when the Oaks lost Barry's 35-point average because of a knee operation a month ago, put in 24 points Friday night as the Oaks edged the Los Angeles Stars 111-109 at Oakland.

★ ★ ★

The Oaks, boasting pro basketball's best record of the year at 60-18, entertain Denver tonight and Sunday night in the best-of-seven series with the third-place Rockets.

In the other Western Division playoff opening tonight, fourth-place Dallas is at second-place New Orleans.

★ ★ ★

The Oaks never trailed after taking a 24-21 lead late in the first quarter, but they had to survive four ties, three in the third quarter.

Los Angeles, paced by Larry Miller's 33 points, finished in fifth place in the Western Division.

Winning Spurt Earns Pin Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Godman of Hayward, Calif., won 13 games in a row Friday to emerge as the man to beat in the Professional Bowlers Association's $100,000 Firestone Tournament of Champions.

Godman, 23, the PBA's 1965 Rookie-of-the-Year, ran up an amazing 11,457 pin total in 48 games to top a field of five finalists who will vie Saturday for the $25,000 first prize.

Braves' Carty Suffers Injury

New Astro Reliefer Checks Red Sox

By the Associated Press

Jack Billingham, one of Houston's replacements for disappearing Donn Clendenon, already has made his presence known to the Astros in his first appearance.

The young relief pitcher hurled two hitless innings Friday night and picked up the victory as the Astros beat the Boston Red Sox 5-2 in an exhibition baseball game in Houston.

Only two other games, also at night, were played on Good Friday. Richmond of the International League stopped parent club Atlanta 4-0 in Columbus, Ga., and California defeated Los Angeles 4-3 in 10 innings at Los Angeles.

PAYMENT PLAYER

Billingham had just joined the Astros from Montreal in payment for Clendenon, who retired when he was traded to Houston and then unretired to sign with Montreal.

While he stopped Boston, the Astros jumped on Ray Jarvis for three runs on two walks, a hit batter, a wild pitch, a run-scoring grounder and a single by John Edwards.

★ ★ ★

Cecil Upshaw, Larry Maxie and Dal Roberts held Atlanta to four hits, but again the pitcher who stole the show was ageless Satchel Paige. Old Satch, 62 and retiring again after the exhibition season, pitched a scoreless first inning for the Braves. He had blanked Richmond in one inning the night before.

The Braves could shrug off an exhibition loss, but maybe not the injury of outfielder Rico Carty, trying to make a comeback from tuberculosis which sidelined him all of last year. Carty suffered a dislocated right shoulder in a pregame warm-up and flew back to Atlanta today for an examination.

Ruben Amaro dashed home on a passed ball in the 10th inning to enable California to edge Los Angeles. Amaro led off the inning with a single, advanced to third on Bubba Morton's single before Tom Haller bobbled a Pete Mikkelsen pitch to give the Angels the victory.

★ ★ ★

Before the game California acquired outfielder Lou Johnson from Cleveland for outfielder Chuck Hinton, and pitcher Phil Ortega from Washington for the $20,000 waiver price.

Bob Gajda Has 150 at Taipei

TAIPEI (AP) — Kuo Chi-Hsiung of Nationalist China battled wind, rain and cold for a second round one-under-par 71 Friday and the halfway lead in the China Open Golf Tournament. He had a 36-hole total of 140.

Kuo, a 29-year-old pro, collected four birdies on the wet, slow greens to take a two-stroke lead over Hsu Chi-San, also of Nationalist China.

Jerry Stolhand of the United States shot a 73 for fifth place at 145. Bob Gadja, of Forest Lake, posted a 79 for a 150 to survive the cutoff point at 156 for Saturday's third round.

The weather conditions were so discouraging that four players in the field of 109 quit. They were Dennis Clark and Walter Godrey of New Zealand, Alan Murray of Australia and Jess Vaughn of the United States.

THE FIRST LADY

Mrs. Nixon became First Lady of the land on January 20, 1969. She wore this mimosa yellow gown at the Presidential Inaugural ball in Washington that night.

The way to the White House is never easy, or even expected. This has certainly been so for Pat Nixon. Her life, from its earliest years, has been characterized by quiet tenacity in the face of difficulties. She has worked hard and devotedly for those things which meant most to her: family, husband and children, and then the public duties consequent on the entry into political life. Love, unselfishness and determination have been evident in her tireless loyalty.

She was born Thelma Catherine Ryan on March 16, 1913, in Ely, Nev. Her Irish father, then a miner, gave her the nickname "Pat" because she was born on the eve of St. Patrick's Day. She grew up on a ranch which her father bought in Artesia, Calif., when he gave up mining. Her mother died when she was 12, and she looked after her two brothers and father. She nursed her father through his last illness; after his death, she went to New York, a 17-year-old, and worked for two years as an X-ray technician to earn the money for college.

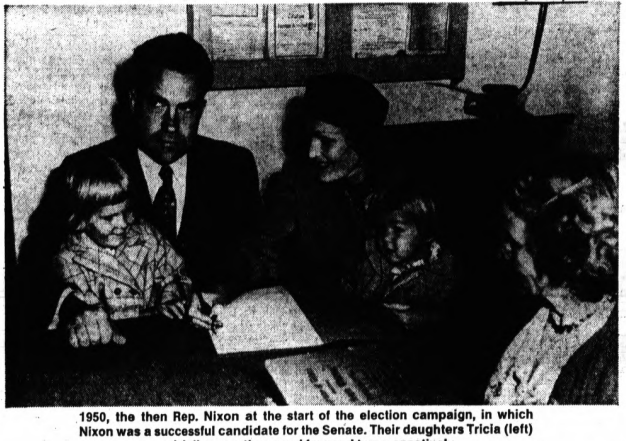
After working her way through the University of Southern California, she taught high school in Whittier, Calif., where she met Richard Nixon; he proposed the first night. They were married in June 21, 1940, but Mrs. Nixon continued to work up to and through the war to help with their joint finances.

The first political campaign was in 1946, when Nixon was elected to Congress. Since then, at his side, she has fought through seven other campaigns, two of them particularly bitter defeats. As the wife of the vice president (1953-1961), she visited some 60 foreign countries with her husband. In 1957, she won one of the many distinctions of her own: the Homemakers Forum awarded her a silver bowl as "the nation's ideal wife."

Mrs. Nixon could justifiably feel proud of the fact that her husband is President of the United States, since he himself says of her, in one of his frequent tributes, "She is my greatest asset."

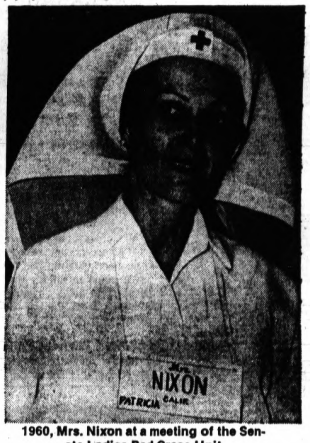
A photograph signed on the back "Patricia Ryan, April 7, 1937."

It was said of Mrs. Nixon, during the last campaign, that Nixon still won his loudest round of applause simply by mentioning Pat.



1950, the then Rep. Nixon at the start of the election campaign, in which Nixon was a successful candidate for the Senate. Their daughters Tricia (left) and Julie were then aged four and two respectively.

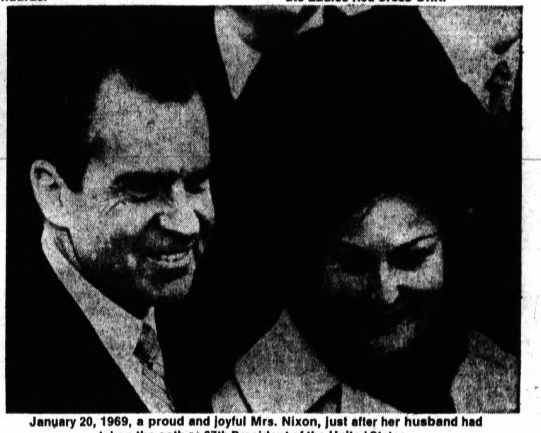
In 1955, traveling through South America with the then Vice President Nixon, Mrs. Nixon is greeted by a little boy in Honduras.



1960, Mrs. Nixon at a meeting of the Senate Ladies Red Cross Unit.

1960, Mrs. Nixon faced with bitter disappointment as her husband, Vice President Nixon, concedes the presidential election to his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

1968, a twentieth birthday party for Julie Nixon, cutting her cake as her mother watches; beside Julie is her fiance, David Eisenhower, behind are her father and her sister, Tricia.



January 20, 1969, a proud and joyful Mrs. Nixon, just after her husband had taken the oath as 37th President of the United States.

Mobile Missile Sites Urged for Great Lakes, U.S. Waters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some congressmen and lobbyists are suggesting a floating and highly mobile armada of missile-launching ships on U. S. lakes and bays as an alternative to the proposed landlocked Safeguard antimissile system.

★ ★ ★

Rep. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., a retired Navy captain, told a newsman Friday the idea of deploying the ships on the Great Lakes, Utah's Great Salt Lake, the Chesapeake Bay and waters adjacent to the Alaskan panhandle is entirely practical."

★ ★ ★

The Nixon administration proposes building the antimissile sites on the ground at 12 locations, the first two by 1973 in Montana and North Dakota.

But a paper, whose authors are unknown, is circulating through Capitol Hill offices suggesting the lakes and bays would afford better cover from snooping satellites and other tracking methods.

QUITE LARGE

"These bodies of water may look miniscule compared to the Atlantic Ocean, but they are quite large to make it impracticable for the Soviet Union to toss an ICBM at every area a ship could be in," it says.

★ ★ ★

And, it contends, the ships could do a better job at less cost than the landlocked missile bases.

★ ★ ★

The Navy has not commented on the paper, and the proposal has not been introduced at any ABM hearings on the Hill.

★ ★ ★

The paper raises the question, "What can we do to assure the survival of a second-strike capability without at the same time precipitating a disastrous arms race?"

'ARMS RACE NO GOOD'

"The most obvious answer," it says, "would be to keep well ahead of the Soviets in ICBM deployment. But this simply means an arms race and is obviously unsatisfactory . . .

★ ★ ★

"The alternative is to protect missiles from Soviet attack. The ABM is one way of doing this, but a very expensive, unreliable and de-stabilizing way.

★ ★ ★

"There are other ways," it continues. "Hardening missile bases . . . is no longer safe since the Soviet missiles are, or may become, too accurate.

★ ★ ★

"Assuming . . . that this is so, we could . . . turn to the classic alternative of hardening, namely making the missile launchers mobile," it suggests.

Pontiac Child Dies Following Fall on Stairs

One of two infants injured in a fall down a flight of basement stairs Thursday died yesterday.

Ryan T. Hall, 19-month-old son of Mrs. Suzette J. Hall of 168 Baldwin, and a companion, 17-month-old Rosalind Snell of the same address, were injured when they pushed open the basement door.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Josephine Snell, mother of the second tot told Pontiac police the children had climbed on a chair to unlock the door. Her child was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Young Ryan had been injured critically and admitted to Pontiac General Hospital.

Fund Drive On by New Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Detroit's top civic, police and governmental officials announced Friday that a major drive will be launched to obtain funds for a reward leading to the capture of a policeman's slayer and to rebuild a church shot up in a gunfight between police and a group of Negroes.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was made jointly by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and officials of New Detroit Inc., the group set up after the July 1967 riot to aid in rebuilding the city and improving racial attitudes.

Max M. Fisher, chairman of New Detroit, said the reward would be "substantial" for capture of the killer last Saturday of Patrolman Michael Czapski. Czapski was slain and his partner, Patrolman Richard Woronight when they sought to quesbec, was wounded last Saturday tion a group of armed men outside the New Bethel Baptist Church. The church had been rented for a meeting by a black separatist group, Republic of New Africa.

★ ★ ★

Some 40 police reinforcements stormed the church, and shots riddled its walls, pews and windows.

SEARCH CONTINUES FOR MINE VICTIMS — Rescue workers are pulled to the surface for rest after toiling in the depths of a Barroteran, Mexico, coal mine, where a methane gas explosion last Monday entombed more than 150 miners. Officials had little hope that any would be found alive. More than 30 bodies had been removed by yesterday morning.

2 Detroiters Charged in Drug Manufacture

DETROIT (AP) — Two men have been charged with illegal manufacture of hallucinogenic drugs—in a secret laboratory one-third of the way up Detroit's tallest fofice building, the 47-floor Penobscot Building.

★ ★ ★

Charged were George Jensen and Thomas Stoflet, both 22, of Detroit, said federal narcotics agents. The arresting officers said the men rented a 20-foot square office on the 17th floor of the downtown Detroit structure in the name of Paint and Color Research Co. They had occupied the space for about three months.

★ ★ ★

Daniel Addario of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, U.S. Department of Justice, said the arrests followed a two - month investigation in which city and State Police also participated.

WHOLESALE DRUGS

Addario said Stoflet did laboratory work in what he described as "a very sophisticated layout," while Jensen financed the operation.

★ ★ ★

Addario added the two were producing drugs for wholesale in Detroit.

Their equipment was valued at about $3,000, police said.

★ ★ ★

The apparatus was "capable of producing several thousand doses of hallucinogenic drugs a week," according to Addario. This included mescaline, DMT (dimethyltripamine) and DET (diethyltripamine) —all hallucinogenic drugs.

★ ★ ★

About one ounce of mescaline and 100 grams of suspected DET were seized in the laboratory, which was vacant when narcotics agents entered. Jensen and Stoflet were arrested later at their homes.

They were released under $1,000 bond each by U.S. District Judge Fred W. Kaess. If convicted, the two could be sentenced to up to five years in prison.

Area Food Mart Is Burglarized

A burglar stole $4,000 worth of hams, steaks, cigarettes and beer and $300 in cash from an Ortonville market last night, it was reported to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said the burglar may have gained entry to Tom's Market, 465 South, by breaking a window in a door.

State Roads Dept. OKs 2 Area Projects

Two area projects are included in bids approved by the State Highway Department for $5.8 million of construction and maintenance projects across the state.

★ ★ ★

The bid of $449,687 by J. C. Sachs Co. of Madison Heights was approved for the projected paving and construction of deceleration lanes and crossovers on 4.5 miles of U. S. 10 in Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Also approved was the bid of Max R. Frisinger Co. of Ann Arbor for the paving of median crossovers on M102 (Eight Mile Road) in Livonia and Southfield. The bid was $65,335.

★ ★ ★

Final approval of the bids must come from the State Administrative Board.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Charles L. Loucks, who passed away April 6, 1968.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not go alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home,
God gave us strenth to bear it,
The courage to take the blow,
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
You're not forgotten husband dear,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by wife, son, daughter-in-law & grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY of my husband, Walter M. Miller who passed away one year ago today, April 5, 1969:
Once in my life I had everything,
And once in my life I had someone
Who needed me
God saw you getting weaker so He took you away.
You asked me not to cry, but many tears I shed,
And told me always to remember,
God has been good to us.
He gave us love, happiness and trust.
I miss you more and more each day.
But you are always by my side.
God took my heart with you, but left me alone and sad.
In the beautiful Isle of Somewhere, where there is no more sorrow and pain.
God give me the strength and courage,
To go on until we meet again.
Sadly missed by his wife Catherine, daughter and son and brother-in-law.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. And the angel answered and said unto the women, "Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay."—Matthew 28: 2, 5 and 6.

CONNERY

By The Associated Press

Russia has invited Britain's most famous secret agent—007—to visit.

Sean Connery, who played agent 007 in the James Bond Film Series, flew to Moscow yesterday for two weeks of shooting scenes for a film called "The Red Tent."

Singer Injured in Motorcycle Accident

Singer John Gary, who planned an 18-city concert tour beginning next week, suffered a leg injury, bruises and possibly dislocation of both shoulders yesterday in a Los Angeles motocycle accident.

A spokesman said Gary, 36, would cancel engagements through May.

Gary's motorcycle hit a camper-bus turning at an intersection, police said. The other driver wasn't hurt.

Ex-Fighter Drops Decision to Goose

Joey Barnum, who won most of his 250 amateur and professional welterweight fights, lost a unanimous decision yesterday to a goose in Los Angeles.

"It was the hardest fall I ever took," said the former boxer, now a bail bondsman. A brown goose had chased him through a park near a sheriff's substation, cutting his legs and shredding his trousers.

"I've fought some tough men," said Barnum, who tested some of the best boxers of the 40s and early 50s. "But how do you defend yourself against a goose? . . . It's all below the belt."

Mrs. Eisenhower Returns to Gettysburg Farm

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the 34th president, returned to the privacy of her Gettysburg (Pa.) farm for an indefinite stay yesterday.

MRS. EISENHOWER

The usual tight security was maintained around the farm where she and her late husband, Dwight D. Eisenhower, retired after his two terms in the White House.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived in Washington early yesterday from Abilene, Kan., where funeral services for the general were held Wednesday. She and a sister, Mrs. Gordon Moore of Washington and Bellaire Shore, Fla., arrived at the farm around noon.

Before leaving for California on their winter vacation in late 1967, Eisenhower executed a deed transferring title of the farm to the federal government following his death.

This becomes effective in six months when the Interior Department plans to develop the 240-acre farm as a national shrine.

Ike's Brother Discharged From Hospital

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower has been discharged from Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington after five days of observation which showed he had a mild case of "coronary insufficiency."

EISENHOWER

Eisenhower, the poungest brother of the late Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, was admitted Monday and was unable to attend the former president's state funeral or burial. He is president emeritus of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

The former president's widow visited Dr. Eisenhower, 69, yesterday morning after returning from her husband's burial in Abilene, Kan. He was discharged later.

The hospital's notice of Eisenhower's discharge said:

"Dr. Milton Eisenhower . . . was admitted as an emergency last Monday, March 31, because of symptoms which were suggestive of coronary heart disease.

"A thorough evaluation has revealed that Dr. Elsenhower had a mild transient episode of coronary insufficiency. Dr. Eisenhower is returning to his home to continue convalescence under the care of his private physician who has been in consultation with the Walter Reed staff."

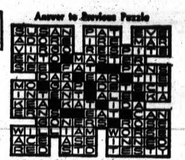
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Motorist to Pay for 456 Tickets

NEW YORK (AP) — Ernest Russell certainly must agree with a Traffic Court judge that a car in Manhattan "is a white elephant."

Russell, 25, appeared Friday before Judge Reuben Levy and pleaded guilty to ignoring 456 traffic tickets in the past three years. He owes the city $8,200. Russell, who earns $145 a week as a field representative with the city's community development agency, put down $400 and will pay $100 monthly for the next 78 months.

8 Die in Crash

TEHRAN (AP) — Eight persons were killed and 12 were seriously injured when two buses crashed head-on Friday night near Mashad in east Iran.

A city will be built at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island in the far north where 1,700 Eskimos and whites now live precariously.

Laugh-In's Ruth Buzzi Once Had Grave Outlook

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Where are you from?" we asked Ruth Buzzi, the former B'way actress who plays "glum Gladys" Ormphby in "Laugh-In."

WILSON

"Wicketytwock, Conn.," she said, explaining it's spelled Wequetequock but pronounced to rhyme with tickety-tock. "I was a cheerleader there and it was sort of hard to say 'Rah, Rah, Rah, Wicketywock." Wicketytwock is near Pequonoc and Boom Bridge Road.

★ ★ ★

"That's exactly the information we need," we said. "Now about your familiarity with cemeteries?"

My father sold gravestones and I guess I know more about cemeteries than any girl living. My father often didn't want to go alone to cemeteries and I'd go along and wander around. When I was very little I would take the flowers off fresh graves and take them home to my mother. She'd say "Isn't that nice?"

"Was this knowledge of cemeteries often useful to you?"

"Once when I was making a film in Hollywood, they had a cemetery scene. We rigged up one in the country and shot on Sundays. I had to fall in a grave and get buried. The third week, the police arrived. They thought we were grave robbers."

★ ★ ★

"Was there anything amusing ever happened in those Connecticut cemeteries?" we asked.

"Well, once I was going home and I didn't tell them I was coming. I told my girl friend Betty Sidebottom . . ."

★ ★ ★

"Betty . . . uh . . . uh?

"Betty Sidebottom!" she glared. "She met me and I changed into a costume like I wore as a charwoman, with a low-hanging straw hat and heavy stockings. I rang my father's office bell. He yelled out he was busy and go on and look around at the gravestone samples.

"My father finally came out, didn't recognize me, and for 10 minutes tried to sell me a tombstone. I finally said 'Daddy, it's me!' He laughed so hard, he said, 'We have to fool your mother.' He called to her 'Rena, you got to come out here and finish this sale.'

★ ★ ★

"She looked out the window and saw this strange old hag and she said, 'I'll go.' She came out and got down and looked into my face under the straw hat and she said, 'It's Ruthie!' She literally rolled on the grass laughing."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Dialogue: "My wife says she's gonna be 29 tomorrow" . . . "Yeah? What are you gonna give her?" . . . "The benefits of the doubt."

EARL'S PEARLS: Mike Forrest complains that his wife is late for everything: "Even cooking a three-minute egg takes her seven minutes."

Jordan Christopher finished his film, "Angel, Angel, Down You Go," in which he has nude scenes. Sybil Christopher says, "It got so that I didn't ask him 'How did it go today?', but 'How much did you take off today?' " . . . That's earl, brother.

SF Mayor Makes Light of Quake Talk

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto's antiearthquake party is come as you are. Bring your own water wings.

The San Francisco mayor — tired of listening to rumors the Golden State is about to crack like a stale brownie and drop into the sea — has decided on a giant public celebration to dispel the gloom.

★ ★

On April 18 — the 63rd anniversary of the quake and fire that nearly leveled the city — coffee will be served from Army field kitchens in downtown Union Square.

"We'll play Caruso records," says Alioto, "Maybe I'll even arrange for a special showing of the movie, 'San Francisco,' and join in a chorus or two with Jeanette MacDonald as she stands there in the ruins singing away."

WAITING FOR DISASTER

Only partially hidden by Alioto's levity, however, is the fact some Californians are actually awaiting a cataclysmic temblor which they think will strike sometime during April. Others are merely nervous.

Dozens of letters have flooded into the state disaster office in Sacramento. Many are from out-of-state residents worried about friends and relatives.

★ ★ ★

"A tremendous number of them are being addressed to Gov. Reagan personally wanting to know what he's going to do about it," says Charles Samson of the disaster office.

Herb Caen, columnist for the San Francisco Chronicle, claims Doubleday Books asked him to write a sequel to "Baghdad by the Bay" titled "Baghdad in the Bay." And Howard Hughes, so the wags have it, will own the best surfing beach on the Pacific Coast after California drops off and waves lap at the Las Vegas Strip.

NO DENIALS

Actually, neither California officials nor earthquake scientists are in a position to deny absolutely a quake will strike. That's the catch. For while it may be illogical to assume the probability of a big rocker in the immediate future, no one can be positive it won't happen.

Says the U.S. Geological Survey in nearby Menlo Park: "The plain fact is that a major earthquake will probably occur in one of the earthquake-prone areas of California. But whether it will occur this month or next or not until 10 or 20 years is something we simply cannot predict."

★ ★ ★

But if the federal government was reluctant to predict doomsday, not so a host of self-styled seers and prophets.

"God is going to punish southern California for its sons," said one southern California minister as he led his congregation out of the state.

GROUPS ON RUN

Other groups fled to the state of Washington and groups of hippies took up earthquake and flood watch in the Rocky Mountains near Denver.

"A few years ago," explains Dr. Charles Richter, the famed earthquake expert, "in 1965 to be exact, we received spurious earthquake predictions for Jan. 17, Feb. 4, March 17, April 1, April 16, all of May, May 30 and for the Imperial Valley sometime in June or July. But it was a normal year — none came true."

★ ★ ★

Actually, scientists point out, California's several major fault lines have been slipping for a long as 100 million years. Because of the movement of the San Andreas Fault, Los Angeles is literally moving toward San Francisco at the rate of one to two inches a year.

In at least one respect, the predictions of earthquake during April are accurate. Scientists say some 200 to 300 tremors are recorded every month in the San Francisco area alone. None is strong enough to be felt by man.

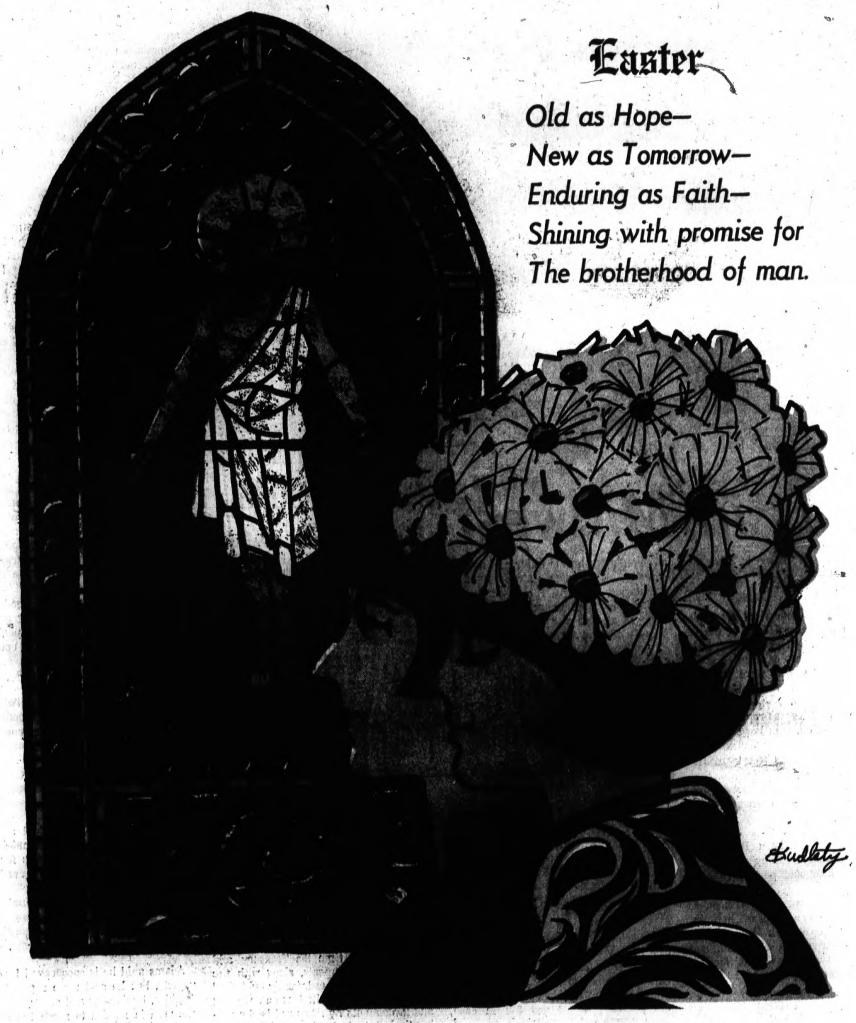
Man Gets Artificial Heart in Texas



Replacement Patient Waits Human Donor

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An artificial heart made of fabric and plastic functioned today in the chest of a 47-year-old man, the first recipient of such a device.

A surgical team headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley performed the three-hour operation yesterday at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The recipient, Haskell Karp of Skokie, Ill., was in satisfactory condition after physicians removed his ailing heart and replaced it with the mechanical device.

Cooley, who has performed 18 human heart transplant operations, more than any other surgeon, said the device "is built in a way that it could work indefinitely" but emphasized it will be used only until a donor can be found for a human heart transplant operation. The body of a Cleveland, Tex., woman who died in child birth was brought to Houston as a potential donor. The woman's heart was maintained by a respirator but ceased to function a few blocks from St. Luke's.

STILL WAITING FOR DONOR

"I'm disappointed over this, of course," Cooley said. "I'm waiting. We're still waiting for a donor."

Karp, father of three children, was conscious two hours after the operation and responded to commands to raise and lower his hands and open and close his eyes, the spokesman said.

Attendants reported a tube placed in the patient's throat to assist breathing was removed early today and Karp was able to murmur several words.

★ ★ ★

A hospital administrator reported at 5:30 a.m. today that Karp was "awake and alert and his condition remains stable and satisfactory as he awaits the availability of a suitable human heart donor."

WIFE VISITS

His wife Shirley visited him briefly in early morning and his son Michael, 22, watched from an operating room gallery. Two other children, Joel, 19, and Martin, 11, stayed home in Illinois.

The administrator reemphasized that the artificial implant was "an interim step" until a human donor can be found with "irreversible brain damage, a good cardiac function and 0 positive blood."

★★ ★ ★

Made of Dacron fabric and a plastic, the artificial heart has four valves and four chanbers like a human heart and is about the same size. It is hooked to a nearby electronic power source that maintains its pumping action.

Coo'ey said the artificial heart cost $5,000, and the power device $20,000.

About the size of a man's fist, the artificial heart weighs eight ounces. Its power plant is the size of a filing cabinet

Parochiaid Raises Discrimination Issue

LANSING (AP) — A constitutional question involving religious discrimination is being raised in the controversy over granting an estimated $45 million in state funds for nonpublic schools.

"There will be discrimination on the basis of religion," says Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, chief sponsor of the bill.

Traxler emphasizes, however, that if a nonpublic school discriminated on the basis of race, it would not be eligible for state funds under his proposal.

The powerful Michigan Education Association, which plans to mobilize its 68,000 members against the proposal, questions any discrimination.

What about the State Constitution, the MEA asks, which states: "Every school district shall provide for the education of its pupils without discrimination as to religion, creed, race, color or national origin."

NOT DISTRICTS

"That obviously refers to public education," Traxler counters. "Nonpublic schools don't have districts." Traxler also points to the sentence in the constitution immediately preceding the one quoted.

"The Legislature shall maintain and support a system of free public elementary and secondary schools," it says.

The proposal now pending in the House, Traxler says, would finance some 25 per cent of the cost of nonpublic schools.

"That means the parents or governing boards of the nonpublic schools will be paying 75 per cent.

GROSS INJUSTICE

"To say that nonpublic schools must accept every child who presents himself at that door is a gross injustice to the parent or governing board which is paying 75 per cent of that school's operating cost."

Jerry Coomes, executive director of the Michigan Catholic Conference, suggests "discrimination" is not the proper term. "It's preference," he says. "Schools give preference to the children of parents who as of now support 100 per cent of the school costs."

A long-standing Catholic Conference policy says that "under no circumstances shall an otherwise qualified pupil, whether Catholic or not, be denied admission because of his race or color."

Meanwhile, Sen. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, charged yesterday that the House Education Committee acted irresponsibly when it reported out the controversial parochiaid bill before considering state aid to public schools.

World Christians Ready Easter Rites

By United Press International

In solemnity and joy, pagentry and song, the Christian world today anticipated Easter, the celebration of the risen Christ and the promise of life after death.

★ ★ ★

Much of the rites are unchanged from centuries ago. Thousands would throng to sunrise services in many lands Sunday to hear the stunning words, "He is Risen." Bells would peal, voices would join in the victory.

★ ★ ★

Across Rome, the tumult of 500 church bells was to ring out the good news and Pope Paul scheduled a Mass in St. Peter's Basilica that would mark the end of three days of mourning the crucifixion of Jesus 20 centuries ago.

In Jerusalem, clergymen read Biblical prophesies of the coming of Christ while Arab merchants stood in their doorways offering mementos to the throngs of pilgrims who came to the Holy City for Easter this year.

BREAK TEMPORARY

A friendly mood prevailed in the city, although the occasional sight of Israeli policemen serve as a reminder that the break in tension was temporary.

In Germany, thousands of city dwellers left their homes and headed for the Bavarian Alps, the Black Forest or Austria for the long Easter weekend and the first sunshine in weeks.

★ ★ ★

In West Berlin, Mayor Klaus Schuetz expressed regret that Communist East Berlin refused to allow West Berliners to cross through the wall and visit relatives over the holiday, as in years past.

Easter in Germany is a time of folklore, lamb and painted eggs. It is the only time of the year when Germans eat lamb, the symbol of Jesus's sacrifice.

SPANISH PROCESSIONS

Spaniards marked Easter with countrywide processions. Barefoooted women, many dragging heavy iron chains from their ankles, trudged through Madrid and other cities to reenact the role of Christian slaves. Hooded faithful bearing heavy wooden crosses also marched, as did goose-stepping Spanish army units in combat uniform.

★ ★ ★

French children anticipated long Easter Sunday dinners before they could rush into their gardens and hunt for fat chocolate eggs they knew were there.

In Belgium it will be cheese, not eggs, that pagents feature. Floats representing various cheeses will parade through Herve on Monday to concelebrate Easter and the town's annual cheese festival.

Britons prepared for the annual Easter spate of protest marches, rallies, speeches and harangues by those with a cause. Scottish and Welsh ban-the-bomb groups planned Easter demonstrations at the U.S. Air oFrce Base at Ruislip.

JUMPING TRADITION

In the Philippines, the only heavily-Christian nation in Asia, children put finishing touches on angel costumes, complete with paper wings, which they will wear in stage plays reenacting the resurrection.

A secular custom every-popular in the islands is for children to jump as high as they can three times when church bells ring at midnight tonight to mark Jesus' return from the dead. The higher they jump, the taller the children are supposed to grow.

Foreign Christians in Moscow attended services tonight in the apartments of Father Louis F. Dion, an American Roman Catholic, and the Rev. Roger Harrison, a protestant.

Reds Are Ripped in U.S. Ambush

SAIGON (AP)—American forces lured Vietcong and North Vietnamese troops out of Cambodian sanctuaries today, then mowed them down with artillery, dive-bombers and helicopter gun-ships, U.S. officers said.

The two-hour battle 30 miles northwest of Saigon was the only significant ground action reported by the U.S. and allied commands as thousands of American troops prepared to celebrate Easter. There were 20 overnight rocket and mortar attacks across the country and three U.S. aircraft were shot down.

About 500 infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division sprung the border trap on 500 men of the Vietcong's 9th Division, most of them North Vietnamese soldiers. Spokesmen said 81 enemy were killed at a cost of four Americans killed and 13 wounded.

Officers said Maj. Gen. Ellis Williamson, commander of the 25th Division, enitced the enemy to cross the Cambodian border into South Vietnam by establishing an artillery and patrol base just across from the enemy's Angel's Wing sanctuary.

Less than 24 hours later the enemy soldiers camouflaged with rice straw on their backs, launched their attack across paddies under cover of a heavy mortar barrage.

President Confers With Key Advisers on Domestic Affairs

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, here with his family for Easter, is saying nothing about a domestic policy conference that brought five advisers to this sun-bather island.

Nixon and key figures in his domestic affairs brain-trust group met for more than two hours yesterday at the home of the President's close friend, C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo. There was no word however, on what decisions may have been reached.

In advance of the session, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler had said the conferees would talk about "the broad range of compelling needs that face the nation" and that the President will begin "to set priorities based upon the dollars that are available."

Participants in the meeting with Nixon were Arthur F. Burns, Cabinet-level White House counselor; John D. Ehrlichman, White House counsel largely responsible for coordinations policy planning in the domestic area; Daniel P. Moynihan, special assistant dealing with urban problems; and Bryce N. Harlow, another special assistant charged with smoothing the administration's dealings with Congress.

REBOZO NOT INCLUDED

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said, in response to questions, that Rebozo did not attend the meeting in the Rebozo home, next door to the residence of the President and a shrub-shrouded part of the presidential compound here. Rebozo, a millionaire banker with extensive real estate interests, sat in on some similar sessions in the past.

★ ★ ★

It was said that Rebozo's single-story home was chosen as the rendezvous because the Nixon family was at the chief executive's house.

Nixon's Saturday schedule was not announced in advance.

Architectural Review Board Moves Nearer

BIRMINGHAM — The planning board is putting the finishing touches on plans for establishment of an architectural review board for the city.

The planning board will persent the architectural review proposal to the City Commission for discussion within a month, according to Planning Director William R. Brownfield.

★ ★ ★

The function of the architectural review board will be to study preliminary ideas and plans with any developer who proposes to construct a commercial or residential development in the city.

"The board's primary interest is making sure that any developer's plans conform to the standards stipulated in the Birmingham Urban Design Plan. In this manner, building problems can be more easily averted when building permits have been granted and final architectural plans organized," Brownfield explained.

Dr. William H. Reynolds told a group of hospital executives meeting in Detroit yesterday that hospital efficiency would be increased and costs reduced if staffs paid more attention to patients' real needs and desires.

Dr. Reynolds of 22 Hamilton is dean of the school of business administration at Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

He said decisions on health services, when left to physicians without taking into account the wishes of patients, often result in professional pressures that inevitably force the medical staff into conducting expensive procedures with only a small chance of positive results.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Reynolds also charged that hospitals are guilty of keeping patients in hospitals for an extended period of time for tests when the tests could be completed in one or two days.

'TWO-TRACK SETUPS'

Describing hospitals as "two-track organizations" with one track concerned with medicine and the other track with busines functions of the institution, Dr. Reynolds said "every two-track organization must develop a three-track system in order to achieve maximum effectiveness.

Tornadoes Prompt Friday Watch

By United Press International

The season of tornadoes apparently has begun in tornado alley as hopscotching twisters prompted tornado watches across sections of the Midwest late yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The tornado watches were lifted by the U.S. Weather Bureau today after at least one twister touched down south of Kansas City, Mo., inflicting minor damage at Lacyne, Kan., and Drexel, Mo.

★ ★ ★

The tornado then hopped across central Missouri, doing minor damage to several other communities.

Other funnel clouds were reported near Mexico, Mo., and between Tulsa and Fort Smith, Ark.

HEAVY RAIN, HAIL

Heavy rain and some hail also were reported in the general area of the nation's midsection. Beaver Crossing, Neb., reported 4½ inches of rain and an unofficial seven inches were reported four miles west of the southeastern Nebraska community.

Portions of east Kansas reported more than an inch of rain, with large hail and winds in excess of 60 miles an hour. Memphis, Tenn., was deluged by nearly two inches of rain, Columbia, Mo., had an inch and a quarter and Greenwood, Miss., and Quincy, Ill., each had about an inch.

★ ★ ★

In central and southern Illinois the rains were accompanied by wind up to 65 miles an hour and pea-size hail at some points.

A Shipman, Ill., woman was knocked unconscious when a bolt of lightning reportedly shot through her kitchen window and struck the aluminum sink where she was washing dishes. She was listed in satisfactory condition.

RIVER CONTINUES RISE

Cherokee, Iowa, Mayor Tom Boothby declared an emergency situation in that community when the Little Sioux River continued rising after flooding a bridge and two parks. The Army Corps of Engineers continued sandbagging efforts.

The Iowa River flowed out of its banks at Iowa City, Iowa, covering Riverside Drive near the fine arts center of the University of Iowa.

★ ★ ★

And at Sioux Falls, S. D., flood control workers continued to fill sandbags as Skunk Creek at the city's west edge ran at bankful.

The weather bureau said the main snowmelt over the Minnesota River upstream from Mankato, Minn., has "begun in earnest," but the main melt over the Mississippi River drainage area has not become significant.

Experts have predicted widespread flooding in some areas as these snow accumulations turn to water and run into already - swollen streams and tributaries.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 23 at Jamestown, N. D., to 76 at Key West Naval Air Station, Fla.

1 Held, 1 Hunted in Hotel Holdup

Pontiac police arrested one suspect in an armed robbery at a city hotel last night and are searching for another man who escaped pursuing police.

Earl Campbell, 54, of 89 W. Longfellows was arrested on a charge of armed robbery after police, arriving at the Waldron Hotel at 36 E. Pike, chased the car in which Campbell was reportedly riding until it crashed into a wall on Water Street.

★ ★ ★

The driver of the car escaped on foot, police said.

Police were called to the hotel by a resident, Frank Carpenter, 34, of Detroit, who said he was robbed of a 38-caliber pistol valued at $50 and $43 in cash, some change and his wallet.

Firms Can Hike Foreign Outlay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American firms were free today to start spending more money overseas with the blessings of an administration determined to "stop treating symptoms and start treating causes" of the U.S. balance of payments ailment.

The nation's balance of payments, which is the difference between the total capital flowing into the country and that flowing abroad, showed a $150-million surplus last year after a serious 3.6-billion deficit in 1967. But only last Sunday, Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans said he expected another deficit "in the billions" this year.

Government economists say a large part of the problem stems from the nation's sharply declining foreign trade surplus which dipped from $3.5 billion in 1967 to a bare $100 million last year.

President Nixon, apparently convinced that a liberalized foreign investment policy would lead to a bigger U.S. trade surplus this year, ordered an immediate relaxation of the overseas spending restrictions imposed last year on American business by the Johnson administration.

At the same time the Treasury and Commerce departments, along with the Federal Reserve Board, jointly published new rules easing limitations on spending and investments by firms and banks acting through their foreign subsidiaries.

Ex-JP From Area Charged by IRS

A former justice of the peace and school board president in the area has been charged with four counts of failing to file income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) announced yesterday.

The allegations were leveled against R. Grant Graham, 2021 Auburn, Pontiac Township.

★ ★ ★

An attorney, Graham, 61, is accused of not filing returns for the four-year period 1962 through 1965.

The IRS said that Graham's income for this period was in excess of $58,000. If found guilty, he could be fined $10,000 or imprisoned for up to one year on each count.

★ ★ ★

A long-time justice of the peace in Pontiac Township, Graham was a member of the Avondale Board of Education for 15 years, resigning in October 1965.

He had been first elected to the board in 1949 and had served as president during most of his tenure.

Man Receives Artificial Heart

four drawers high and two drawers wide.

"It provides the backup we need in a heart transplant program," said Cooley. "This would permit us to maintain the life of a dead person until a cardiac donor may become available."

★ ★ ★

A working model of the artificial heart was developed in 1959 by Dr. Domingo Liotta of Argentina. Liotta, a professor at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, assisted Cooley in the operation.

Doctors first hoped to correct Karp's condition by removing a segment of the heart muscle and reconstructing a pumping chamber by plastic surgery.

TOO DAMAGED

"But exploration of the heart indicated that there was not sufficient healthy heart muscle present to perform a successful operation," the spokesman said. "The entire left ventricle, which is the major pumping chamber of the heart, was ballooned out with thin and weakened walls."

Karp, a printing company estimator, had a long history of heart attacks.

★ ★ ★

Cooley said the attachment of an artificial heart is the same as in a human heart transfer. The artificial heart required more time to sew into the chest, he said, because the material of the device is stiffer than human heart tissue.

★ ★ ★

"The only thing we're worried about is irritation, which could lead to infection," he said.

Multitudes Still Seeking Proof of Christian Faith

(Editor's Note: In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Easter message was written by Rev. Carl E. Price, pastor of Central United Methodist Church.)

By REV. CARL E. PRICE

". . . and Thomas said, 'Unless I see in his hands the print of the nails and place my finger in the mark of the nails, and place my hand in his side, I will not believe.'" (John 20:25)

There are multitudes today who find more kinship between themselves and Thomas than any of the other of Jesus' disciples. The Scriptures refer to him as "Didymus" which means "Twin," but it would seem that his family is much larger than that; many are raising questions concerning the Christian faith. Interestingly enough, the most vocal expressions of the doubt expressed today reduces itself to the same basic issue with which Thomas was concerned—the death of God.

Of course, we do not stand in quite the same time relationship with the Resurrection that Thomas did, and so what was a valid question for him must be framed somewhat differently for our day.

★ ★ ★

The person seeking literal, physical proof of the resurrection in our day is wasting his time. We cannot crawl back through the time tunnel and observe the event ourselves. We have the witness of the writers of the gospels and no serious study has satisfactorily refuted their testimony. But more than this is the argument of changed lives because of that event.

★ ★ ★

The lives of the disciples was the real mark of nails. You do not get that kind of living from mass delusion; especially not with men like Thomas around to ask some pointed questions.

★ ★ ★

The real Thomases of today are keen enough to know that. They are not saying "Prove to me that Christ rose from the dead." They are saying, "So he rose from the dead: SO WHAT?" And that is a very valid question. What happens in the lives of people is still the real mark of nails and people have a right to look for that kind of evidence.

If we are going to claim that the Christian faith has something to offer the world, we have a responsibility to demonstrate the validity of our product; and it is going to have to be something more significant than our great cathedrals, our sacred shrines and our journeys to Jerusalem.

★ ★ ★

The world, like Thomas, is looking for more vital signs. If what we say is any indication of what we believe, then they have a right to expect honesty in business, justice in government, brotherhood in communities, concern in churches and sincerity in personal life.

★ ★ ★

We who celebrate this day as a day to crown all days have a responsibility to be the mark of nails for the Thomases of today.

Last Call for Baseball Contest Entries

"Seeing is believing," as the fella said, and just to give the winner of The Press Annual Baseball Contest a preview of the reward he or she will reap, we show below a facsimile of a $50 U.S. Savings Bond.

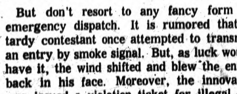
Although they have been piling up increasingly since the announcement of the contest that traditionally touches off the national baseball season, the judges are braced for an avalanche of last-minute entries to beat the Monday noon deadline (see rule 5). Experience has shown that 50 per cent of entries for contests of any kind are received on the last day.

It seems as though we've pretty well covered the ground in previous discourses and there's little more to be said now EXCEPT to entreat late-blooming entrants to get their entries in before the contest clock runs out.

★ ★ ★

If this refrain has a repititious ring, it is only because a substantial number of entries unfailingly trails in after the whistle has blown, and has to be disqualified. Our judges have been known to weep salty tears over their distasteful obligation, but there's no help for it.

Although the postal service is pretty reliable, at this late date we'd suggest that entrants not trust their bids for fame and fortune to the mails but deposit them in the newspaper's Huron Street drop box.



But don't resort to any fancy form of emergency dispatch. It is rumored that a tardy contestant once attempted to transmit an entry by smoke signal. But, as luck would have it, the wind shifted and blew the entry back in his face. Moreover, the innovator was issued a violation ticket for illegal air pollution . . . tsk-tsk-tsk.

Within a few days after the opening of the baseball season, the Associated Press will issue a daily list of the American League's 10 Leading Batters. To keep contestants informed on their prospects until the close of the contest on April 19 (see rule 2) we'll publish the list on this page.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, keep calm, cool and collected; keep your fingers crossed, don't walk under ladders, and keep a wary eye out for black cats.

'By now.

CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone, and all members of families (except Press employes and close relatives), are eligible to enter contest. Entrants are limited, however, to one entry each.

2. To enter, submit name and batting average of the AMERICAN League player (and the club with which identified at time of entry) who you think will lead the league as shown by the Associated Press tabulation of batting averages appearing in sports section of the Saturday, April 19, edition of The Press—the closing date of the contest.

3. Entries should be written on postal cards or substitutes and addressed to The Pontiac Press Baseball Contest, P.O. Box 777, Pontiac, Michigan 48056. They may be mailed or deposited in The Press Huron Street drop box.

4. The entrant who correctly picks the leading batter (or comes closest) will receive the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

5. The deadline for entries is Monday noon, April 7, and they must be received by The Press by that time. Entries received later, even though postmarked prior, will not be considered.

6. Decisions by Pontiac Press judges will be final on all questions related to the contest.

The POWER of FAITH BY WOODI ISHMAEL

EASTER

"He is risen." So said the young man to Mary Magdalene, Mary the Mother of James and Salome, when they went to the sepulchre to anoint the body of Jesus that first Easter morning. Jesus had fulfilled his promise to them yet they "trembled and were amazed."

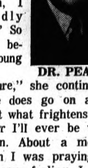
For 1969 years the Christian world each Easter has commemorated Jesus's triumph over death. Each Easter those three simple words "He is risen" give hope and strengthen the faith of all peoples in that triumph.

Confident Living:

The Certainty of Things Unseen

By NORMAN V. PEALE

Twenty years old and already a widow. "I was married at eighteen, but my husband died suddenly three months ago. I love him so much and miss him so much, I can hardly stand it." So wrote a bereaved young wife.



DR. PEALE

"I'm sure," she continued, "that life does go on after death, but what frightens me is whether I'll ever be with him again. About a month ago, when I was praying, I had a strange feeling. I just felt loved — a perfect love, without strings and with no pride in it. And then I prayed that Fred and I should be together again some day, and I felt an assurance that we will be . . ."

I wrote back: "I can assure you that you will be comforted. Your experience means, I believe, that the Lord knew how much you needed reassurance and He drew near to give it to you. So please do not doubt. Put your trust and faith in it and build your life around it. That you and Fred will be together again some day I have no doubt."

★ ★ ★

To a great many persons at one time or another there actually come experiences that leave them with an unshakable conviction of having been in living contact with departed loved ones. Sometimes it's an overwhelming sense of the loved one's unseen presence. In some the loved one's voice is heard, usually with an "inner ear," but so clearly as to be very startling. There is a great variety of phenomena.

My mail quite frequently brings me letters describing such occurrences, some of which I have published in this column. Also I have shared experiences of my own.

Before you write this off as fantasy, consider the experiments conducted over many years at the Duke University Parapsychology Laboratory by Dr. J. B. Rhine, now widely recognized as the world's leading authority on extrasensory perception. Thousands of individuals have sent him detailed accounts of incidents involving such psychic or metaphysical phenomena. Mrs. Louisa E. Rhine has recently published a number of these case histories, with analytical comments on their significance from an evidential point of view.

Among the case histories presented in Mrs. Rhine's last book, "ESP in Life and Lab," is that of a woman who was in the final stages of pregnancy, when the placenta ruptured. She was rushed to the hospital. The unborn infant's oxygen supply was cut off; there was no detectable heartbeat. The woman was given oxygen, also blood transfusions, but no drugs. Her pulse was gone. The doctor rushed preparations for an emergency Caesarean, telling the family, "the baby is lost. We are trying to save Mrs. M. Don't give up." And here is the woman's story:

"The nurse at my head kept slapping my face and saying, 'Breathe, Mrs. M., breathe.' They ran down the hall with me, tanks and jars attached. I was placed on the table, the nurse still slapping my face. I want to stress the fact that I was conscious and I was praying so very, very hard that the baby would be given life instead of myself and that my husband and mother would be able to raise it well and correctly. I guess it was the first time I had ever really prayed. Because I had always had a little bit of doubt that God was real . . .

"But that day all of a sudden in the midst of feeling the incision being made and of having my face slapped, somewhere I saw Christ and my father who had died in 1957 standing guard. They weren't smiling . . . But they were with me, and they knew I saw them. Then they were gone.

"Then Dr. A. said, 'It's a girl . . .' But I didn't respond. I deliberately went to sleep. I knew everything was all right. When I awoke, my bed was surrounded with friends all looking at me as if I were a corpse. They all wanted to be the first to tell me it was a girl. I had been married 11 years and always wanted one so much. But I already knew. I hated to disappoint them, so I pretended to fall asleep again, for I wasn't half as thrilled over having a daughter as I was over knowing Christ does live and that my father is with Him. I kept repeating to myself, 'Now I know.'

"Dr. Rhine, the proof that this wasn't a dream is definite because the baby lives. Another proof is that, if I had been dreaming, Christ would have looked like the picture I have had in my house every day of my life . . . The difference is more than a three-dimensional movie compared to a snapshot! As for me, I don't need any proof. Nothing could make me doubt it was a real miracle made possible by 'mind.' That is, concentration in prayer, sincere and humble — and that, of course, has to come from the mind."

★ ★ ★

This certitude that death is not the end and that it does not terminate the earthly ties of love is meant, of course, for everybody. Whether it gets through to you or me depends partly upon receptivity of mind, whether developed through spiritual growth, the impact of some deep experience, or just inplicable intuition.

Easter therefore is for all humanity, commemorating the most stupendous demonstration of all time, to help us know that life continues after death and that those whom we have loved long since and seemingly lost awhile are not really lost to us at all.

Suggest Youths Visit Religious Art Exhibition

The Religious Art Exhibition at Cranbrook is wonderful. I hope many people will make the effort to see it. The exhibit includes many beautiful, inspirational, "groovey" and "now" things about religion.

★ ★ ★

If there are any young people who consider religion as passe, dull and static, they should make this show a "must." If there are any parents who find it difficult making religion relevant to their children, they should give their children the opportunity to see this exhibit.

Supports Stand of Conscientious Objector

Recently a letter was published from a young man regarding his application for deferment from military service as a conscientious objector. I submit my complete and unreserved support for the convictions of this young man and may he triumph with the wisdom acquired for his tender years. His contribution to the causes of humanity cannot be gainsaid. The younger generation is great. May we have more of them.

Two Letters Discuss Nonpublic School Aid

Were it possible and legal, there are two directions that parochial parents could take. Either would break the taxpayer's back. If all parochial parents decide to quit paying the school tax and concentrate their financial help to parochial schools, where would that put the taxpayers? How much tax would you have to put on cigarettes, gas, license plates and anything else you could tax?

One more road for parochial parents to travel—if it were legal—is to close all the parochial schools and put all the children into the public school system. How many new schools would have to be built, how many new teachers needed, how many more school buses, custodians, dietitians, etc? The added costs would be astronomical. Do you think you could handle this additional load? Isn't it unconstitutional for us to have to pay public school tax for a service we don't even use, even if it is by our own choice?

JOHN G. PROSSER
2333 BINGHAMPTON, AUBURN HEIGHTS

As a matter of practical economics, all taxpayers should be for state aid to nonpublic schools. Public school systems are finding difficulty financing rising costs. Millage increase requests are being defeated and most responsible educators say that unless some other method of financing schools is found, the quality of the public school system will greatly deteriorate.

★ ★ ★

If something is not done to assist the financing of nonpublic education, nonpublic schools face financial collapse and the total burden of 315,000 students currently attending nonpublic schools will be shifted to the public school system. The taxpayer is faced with higher costs but wouldn't he be better off to finance $136 for every nonpublic student than face additional financing of $800 for each student forced to leave a nonpublic school?

Reader States Opinion on Cause of Wars

The United States has gone soft. Do you think mothers and fathers loved their sons any less when they sent them to fight in the Civil War or WWI or WWII? Death separated many of them. Death was the same then. In Vietnam those that wanted Communist rule went to the north. Those who wanted a free nation went to the south. Yet, as always, tyranny abides by no promises. Instead, it wants all others chained the same as it is. Free men will always have to fight for the privilege of being free.

Two Urge Keego Harbor Residents to Vote

Almost 400 voters turned out in Keego Harbor in last Monday's election. Let's double that number in the City election on April 7. Three councilmen will be elected from several candidates. If you don't vote, don't cry later.

MRS. HUGH LANE
2466 WILLOW BEACH, KEEGO HARBOR

Keego Harbor residents, Monday is election day. Whether you are satisfied with the city administration or unhappy about it, now is the time to express your opinion. We will elect a councilman for a two-year term and two councilmen for three-year terms. Get out and vote.

Youngster Tells Hopes for Peaceful Future

I hope the future I will live in will be peaceful and there will not be a lot of fighting. I hope we can walk the streets without being beaten up. I hope that the black and white will get along together and that when a gang of black people see a white person, I hope the black people won't beat him up. And when a gang of white people see a black person they won't beat him up.

Question and Answer

How often does the Waterford school board meet, who are the members and how much do they get for each meeting?

WATERFORD RESIDENT

REPLY

They meet at least twice a month, more often if necessary. Philip Hampton, Lewis Long, Tom Porter, Eldon Rosegart, Virginia Ross, Louis Schimmel Jr., and Peggy Wood are the members. They are paid $250 per year.

Question and Answer

Is it true 75 per cent of the cost of Mott High School in Waterford was donated?

MRS. S.

REPLY

No. One room in the school has carpeting (the library) and that carpeting is the only thing donated. The rest of the school was paid for through bond issues.

What Wall Street Did

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — "There was nothing to really inspire the stock market to do any better," an anlyst said of the market's losing performance the past week. "What it needs to set it off is a big piece of good news."

A solid breakthrough in the Vietnam peace talks would be such news.

The market has shown again and again that peace is bullish. In the two weeks preceding the past week's three-day session, the market racked up solid gains, mainly drawing its strength from continuing peace hopes. The Dow Jones industrial average, for example, collected 15.48 points in the previous week's regular five-day session but lost a total of 8.18 points in the past week's three trading days to close at 927.30.

The market was closed Monday in respect to the memory of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and again on Good Friday.

The trouble with peace hopes, according to Ralph A. Rotnem, Harris, Upham & Co. senior vice president, is that unless they are kept alive, "it is difficult to see too much enthusiasm on the upside. The sharply oversold condition that existed late in February has now been canceled out.

"The threat that the 10 per cent surtax will be continued and that the 7 per cent investment credit will be eliminated or reduced, the determination of the administration and the Federal Reserve to check inflation, and the signs that the money supply is increasing at a much slower rate than during the last quarter of 1968 suggest that caution is still necessary."

And investor caution stepped in at Tuesday's opening session. Early in the trading it appeared the market might keep the previous week's peace-hope rally going as it continued to push upward, but investors started moving over to the sidelines after Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said "the nation is confronted with an extremely difficult and dangerous economic and fiscal situation" and the market closed lower.

Investors realized once again that the administration was determined to cool inflation and put the brakes on the economy. They generally stood on the sidelines again Wednesday, waiting for that elusive piece of dramatic news that would spur the market. It did not come. The market closed lower.

The downtrend continued Thursday, as many investors decided not to commit themselves just before a long weekend. Analysts pointed out that three days off make people and institutions nervous since a lot of things can happen in that period of time which could affect the market when it reopens.

NEW YORK (AP) Banking the fires of inflation is proving most difficult.

The economy keeps rolling along at a rapid clip despite efforts of the government and private financial disciplinarians to cool the rate of growth.

There is increasing apprehension in substantial economic areas that unless galloping inflation can be reined in, a possible recession might not be far below the horizon.

Prices moved up at the high rate of 4.7 per cent in 1968 and now are rising at an annual rate of 5 per cent.

This has meant sharp increases in businessmen's costs for construction, machinery and equipment, in prices of new homes, in the costs of goods and services purchased by the government and in interest rates.

The higher costs have been equally oppressive on individuals, who since 1965 have seen costs of hospital care rise more than 50 per cent and prices of transit fares, doctors' fees, haircuts, shoes and movie tickets go up more than 20 per cent.

Chase Manhattan Bank warned this past week that this country could be headed for a recession. It said plans of corporations to increase their investment in plants and equipment by 14 per cent this year could "feed inflation now and create a reaction, possibly a recession, later on."

The bank said these ambitious spending plans "lie in the inflationary climate of the day."

It cautioned, unless continued monetary and fiscal restraint compel businessmen to defer some of their expansion plans there is a strong possibility of a recession in late 1969 or early 1970.

And new monetary restraints came this past week. The Federal Reserve Board boosted its discount rate—the interest it charges for loans to its member banks—to 6 per cent, the highest in 40 years, from 5½ per cent, and increased the amount of funds the banks must hold in reserve.

The discount rate affects the rate of interest charged by banks to their borrowers. The higher reserve requirement will withdraw $650 million from available lending funds.

The hike in the discount rate wasn't surprising to bankers and brokers, but the action on reserves was unexpected.

The Federal Reserve's actions generally were interpreted as evidence that it means business in its battle against inflation.

New business statistics which came out this past week showed that as recently as February the 10 per cent income tax surcharge—enacted last June—and other fiscal measures intended to lessen the flow of money into the economic stream had not taken hold with the hoped-for results.
