Public's Generosity Helps Ease the Loss of Pet Pony

By JEAN SAILE

Where last week there were two saddened families, broken-hearted over the cruel death of a pet Shetland pony, today there are happy children, one pony, and another due to arrive today.

A load of hay was delivered yesterday to the revamped garage at the Richard Ayers home, 3901 S. Rochester, Avon Township, in anticipation of the increase in the pony population. Ayers has also been asked to board a third pony.

Radar Plane Down in Sea; 19 Missing

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — An Air Force Constellation with 19 men aboard is missing today and presumed to have crashed in the Atlantic some 125 miles east of Cape Cod.

The four-engine EC121H, a radar patrol plane out of Otis, vanished from radar screens early this morning while on a routine air defense mission.

Officials said there was no indication the plane was in trouble when contact was lost. First word of a possible crash came by radio from a small fishing vessel.

A massive search was organized immediately after the fishing vessel reported seeing a plane hurtle through the fog into the rough seas.

Rescue planes from Labrador and Bermuda and other Atlantic bases swarmed over the area, seeking the lost craft.

Weatherman Sees Chance of Light Snow

The weather outlook is rather dismal with skies gray and temperatures cold. There's a chance of snow or flurries tonight.

The official U.S. Weather Bureau report looks like this:

TODAY — Mostly cloudy with little temperature change today and tonight. Chance of some light snow or flurries tonight. High today 40 to 46. Low tonight 33 to 38.

Winds mostly west to southwest 5 to 15 miles per hour today becoming northerly tonight.

SATURDAY — Partly sunny, little colder.

SUNDAY — Partly cloudy, cold. The five-day forecast calls for about one-half inch of snow early next week and snow or rain Wednesday.

Frisky arrived yesterday afternoon, the gift of the J. L. Hudson Co., Westland.

He was cheerfully greeted by 15-year-old Veronica and 3-year-old Danny, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jurkiewicz, 1061 Glaser, Troy.

CONSIDERED HIM SPECIAL

The Ayers children considered him special, not knowing that today Conway was to make his appearance and be the Ayers children's horse.

Conway is a pedigreed two-year-old Shetland, from the stable of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson of Meadow Brook Farm who offered it to help make up for the loss of Timber.

Timber was the small Shetland, owned by the Jurkiewicz family but cared for by the Ayers, which was found dying alongside Rochester Road, early the morning after Halloween.

A vandal had apparently let the pony out of its pen and then shot it five times with a 22-caliber rifle.

Veterans Day Marked

Two Pontiac veterans today laid a wreath at the feet of the bronze soldier guarding City Hall in Veterans Day ceremonies.

In a moment of silence, these men commemorated the end of World War I and honored the 35.7 million—living and dead—U.S. war veterans.

PROCLAIMED IN 1919

In 1919, Nov. 11 was proclaimed Armistice Day by President Woodrow Wilson to commemorate the signing of the peace pact and to act as a reminder of the tragedies of war.

In 1954, Congress changed the name to Veterans Day to honor all those who have fought in American wars.

Cook-Nelson Post at 206 Auburn was named after two local men who were killed in World War I at the same time with the same shell.

Gas Perils State Town

Train Carrying Deadly Cargo Topples Tanks

1,000 Residents of Homer Leaving as Menacing Fire Rages

HOMER (AP) — A New York Central freight hauling three tank cars which the train master said were filled with deadly gas hurtled the track in this southern Michigan town today and crashed against gasoline storage tanks.

The derailment started a fire among the storage tanks. State police said there was no spillage from the tank cars but they were "in the middle of the fire."

There were no immediate reports of injuries.

Police ordered 1,000 of the town's 1,700 residents evacuated from nearby homes and a school.

'COULD BURN FOR DAYS'

"This gas can be deadly," he said. "We may have to let it burn. It could burn for days."

A spokesman for the New York Central said the tank cars carried vinyl and acetate chloride which can, under heat, combine to produce phosgene.

"A Dictionary of Science" says phosgene is a poisonous, colorless gas with a penetrating smell resembling musty hay that was widely used during World War I. It can produce nausea when inhaled and can be fatal in great quantity.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A fiery Atlas rocket thundered into the sky today, pushing an Agena satellite toward orbit as a target for the Gemini 12 astronauts.

GASOLINE TANKS BURN—Two of four gasoline storage tanks are ablaze while two others lie along the railroad tracks at Homer as a result of a train accident when a freight train carrying deadly gas derailed. The tank cars bearing the deadly gas were reported to be in the middle of the fire. One thousand of the town's 1,700 residents have been ordered evacuated.

Farnum Says Future Plans Are Indefinite

Congressman Billie S. Farnum, defeated in Tuesday's election, said today that his future plans are indefinite but that he is thinking seriously of starting a consulting firm in Pontiac.

"If anything it would involve the problems of mental health and related fields which I became extremely interested in during the past two years," said Farnum.

Farnum, a former Michigan auditor general, was distinguished by being named to the appropriations committee, the first time a freshman representative had been so honored.

Some close associates feel that Farnum's popularity in Washington could easily gain him a presidential appointment.

To this, Farnum says only "It is not out of the question."

Gemini 12 Astronauts Set for Today's Double Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Rested and ready, the Gemini 12 astronauts today prepared to rocket into orbit for a four-day adventure that will wind up the Gemini project and perhaps determine man's physical limitations in weightless space.

All the news was good for Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. when they awakened at 10:30 a.m. for their midafternoon launching date. They had slept for 9½ hours.

The countdown for the double-launching was proceeding without a hitch and a bright sun sparkled through cloudless skies.

Lights burned green at Gemini 12 launch pad consoles and at tracking stations around the globe as technicians, their skills honed sharp by nine straight successful launches, methodically checked out each system.

"Everything is going very well with the countdown at this time," Mission Control Center reported.

TRADITIONAL BREAKFAST

While Lovell and Aldrin ate the traditional launch day breakfast of steak and eggs, and underwent a final physical examination, their spaceship was checked carefully by their backup team — Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Navy Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan.

Among the items packed in the cabin was a picture of a pretty, 14-year-old Houston, Tex., girl who has spent half her life battling an incurable disease called ulcerative colitis.

Lovell promised to take the picture of Barbara George, a friend of the Lovell family, into space and return it to her as a souvenir.

U. S. Court Favors New Georgia Vote

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A three-judge federal court said today it takes the strong tentative view that the Georgia Legislature cannot choose a governor in the no-win race between Republican Howard Callaway and Democrat Lester G. Maddox.

But the court entered no order immediately.

"This court is of the very strong view at the moment that this provision of the Georgia Constitution cannot stand," Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals told a state attorney.

Vote Woes in Orchard Lake Cited

It was almost 2 p.m. Wednesday before Orchard Lake's election tabulations for Tuesday's vote were complete and officials blame the delay on two "firsts."

It was the first statewide election since the village was incorporated as a city in 1964. Thus it was the first experience election workers had in handling county and state ballots in addition to local ballots—and they were all paper ballots.

It was also one of the largest voter turnouts in the community's history.

The combination of the two delayed final tabulation of the ballots until many hours after results were in from the rest of the county.

The official record showed that 567 persons cast ballots. Normally, a turnout of 300 voters is considered heavy, according to City Clerk Lucille M. Smith.

COMPARISON

"It was after 11:30 p.m. election night before we even started counting," Mrs. Smith said. "We had 3,600 ballots to open and it took us almost three hours." Each voter received six ballots.

By comparison, the county's only other two paper ballot districts—Brandon and Grove-Land townships — delivered returns to the county clerk's office before 6 a.m. Wednesday.

Brandon had almost 1,100 voters, nearly twice as many as in Orchard Lake, while Grove-Land had a turnout of more than 450 voters.

In addition to the four election workers in Orchard Lake, Smith and her deputy had to be sworn in to help count the returns.

The election workers were Mrs. Clarence Brown, 5605 Shore Drive; Mrs. Leon Tonge, 4033 Beach; Mrs. Hugo Manley, 5565 Shore Drive, and Mrs. William Gotshall, 308 Walma.

Waterford Dems Tie Blitz to Romney Coattail, Ballot

By HUDSON WILSE
Whitewashed in Tuesday's election, Waterford Township Democrats today attributed their downfall more to Gov. Romney and a new ballot arrangement than to their local Republican opposition.

In dropping all five major contests in the township, the Democrats — all incumbents — lost control of the Township Board for the first time since the spring of 1967.

All five Democratic losers felt no local issues were involved in the outcome, which will send them into at least temporary political retirement April 10 when the Republicans take over.

Treasurer James F. Schell perhaps summed up the feelings of the defeated Democrats. "I feel I was running against George Romney, not my opponent" (Mrs. L. Catherine Wolters), said Schell.

INSURANCE BUSINESS
Schell, who plans to return to full-time status in the insurance business after April 10, is uncertain whether he'll take another crack at politics.

So are Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson, Clerk Elmer R. Fangbender and Trustees William J. Dean and Rudy Mansfield, all defeated by 1,000 to 2,000 votes by their Republican opponents.

Mrs. Olson, who was beaten after winning election to the treasurer's post five straight terms prior to being appointed supervisor in 1965, pointed out that township candidates were on the same ballot lines as state office-seekers this year for the first time.

She said that many persons who pulled the lever for Romney's state, consequently, voted for Republicans seeking township office.

"I think it was the same all over," she said. "This was no different. I think it was Romney and his 'action team.'"

So Mrs. Olson, who was swept into office as treasurer in 1957 when the Democrats blanked the Republicans in Waterford Township, leaves in an opposite sweep.

She said if she had been elected, she probably would have served only one term, anyway.

"Maybe I'll enjoy staying home, but probably not for long," said Mrs. Olson, who has worked most of her life.

SOMETHING ELSE
She implied she would find something to do, even if it was volunteer work.

Her husband, Luther, is manager of the Royal Oak branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office.

Appointed treasurer late last year, Schell said, in reviewing local results, "I can't sense a resentment toward the party in office. I don't feel they gave the local vote consideration."

Fangbender, a township official since 1958 when he was named the community's first full-time fire chief, also singled out the blending of township with state candidates on the ballot as significant in Tuesday's GOP sweep.

'FEW SPLIT VOTES'

"People didn't bother to split their tickets," said the 63-year-old two-term clerk. "There were very few split votes, other than Kelley (Atty. Gen. Frank) and Hare (Sec. of State James)."

"I think if we had been separated (on the ballot), we probably would have been reelected," said Fangbender.

Mansfield, owner of Mansfield Auto Sales, also figured Romney was the reason for the Democratic setback. "Romney pulled them all in," he said. "I don't think there were any local issues."

"I'm looking forward to spending some time with my wife," said Dean, remarking about the many hours required of a township official.

"We just have five more neighbors who will represent the people," he said. "I just filled a vacancy on the Township Board for two years. I enjoyed it and I feel I know more about Waterford Township now."

ONLY ONE SURVIVES—Only one of the eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Polmateer of Farmington Township survived an early morning fire at the family home yesterday.

Fire Fatal to 7 Is Investigated

By DAVID J. COOK

State fire marshals and Farmington Township detectives today readied for laboratory analysis a large sampling of materials taken from the ruins of a fire which claimed seven young lives in the township yesterday.

Chief of Detectives Russell Conway said it would be "about a week" before indications as to the cause of the fire would be received from State Police analysts in Lansing.

"We're sending everything we have," said Conway after completing with two state investigators a thorough check of the gutted home of Harold Polmateer, 2284 Colgate.

Polmateer, an industrial welder, was at a friend's home helping repair an automobile when flames erupted at his family's four-room house.

The intense heat and choking smoke sufficed out the lives of seven of his children — Carol, 12; Lisa, 9; Suzanne, 6; David, 5; Randolph, 3; and 2-year-old twins Dennis and Denise.

ONE CHILD SURVIVES

Only Cynthia, 9, escaped.

The tragic blaze was the third multiple-death fire in the Pontiac area this year. By a margin of two lives, it was also the worst.

In each instance, one child managed to survive.

When flames ravaged the Waterford Township home of Mrs. Barbara Brown Jan. 5, her three daughters and a son were killed.

BATTLED FLAMES

Only Larry, 14, was spared. Hysterical, he battled the early-morning fire until forced by the flames to leap to safety from a porch roof.

Investigators who probed through the wreckage of the two-story home at 3980 Arcadia Park attributed the fire to a faulty oil space heater.

Less than two months later — Feb. 23 — fire, also traced to an oil space heater, gutted a two-story Troy home.

Four sisters, aged 14, the children of Mr. and Mrs. David Kirby, 6729 John R., died in the fire.

ESCAPES DEATH

Escaping the fate of his sisters was 5-year-old Kris Kirby, attending a morning kindergarten class when the fire broke out.

Harold Polmateer, whose 9-year-old daughter Cynthia escaped yesterday's fire, indicated he, his daughter, and wife would probably move.

"My wife told me 'I don't want to live in this place anymore,'" he said. "We could maybe rebuild the inside but we won't."

"I lived for my children and loved them."

Opposition Is Repeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Col. Daniel O. Omer, deputy director of Selective Service, reiterated today the agency's opposition to a draft lottery — a system Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says would help eliminate deficiencies in the present procedure.

Omer, in an address prepared for a national conference on the draft, said Congress intended that the selection of draftees be made by judgment rather than lot.

U.S. May Duplicate Red Antimissile Net

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says the Soviet Union is developing an antimissile system and the United States is considering whether to set up one.

The cost of such a system designed to fend off long-range ballistic missiles would be enormous, ranging perhaps as high as $30 billion.

McNamara also disclosed plans for what amounts to a U.S. offensive countermeasure — a start on the multibillion-dollar conversion of America's Polaris submarines to handle the more powerful Poseidon missile.

BIGGER CAPABILITY

The Poseidon, in addition to carrying a nuclear payload double that of the Polaris weapon is credited with greater capability for penetrating enemy defenses.

McNamara said funds are expected to be sought in the next defense budget to start production and deployment on the Poseidon.

McNamara made his statement, believed to be his first public comment on the Soviet defense system, to newsmen Thursday at President Johnson's Texas ranch. He said he and the President had discussed the anti-ballistic missile system and will have further talks about them.

The defense chief stressed there is "no question of our capability to penetrate Soviet defenses with missiles and aircraft" at this time.

BEGAN SEARCH

The money was accumulated and Richard Overton, garage superintendent, began hunting around for ponies. That's when Mrs. Wilson heard of the plight and made her offer.

Now the money collected by the drivers will go to purchase riding equipment, according to Overton.

Vote Woes Hit Orchard Lake

"The township always handled county and state ballots before," she said. "We never had in, except for the primary election, until we became a city."

"There was a lot of paper work involved and it was complicated by the fact that so many people split their tickets."

Next time things should be different because the city plans to rent voting machines.

3 U.S. Planes Downed, Pilots Caught—Hanoi

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Hanoi said that two U.S. F4 Phantom jets and an L19 observation plane were shot down over the central area of North Viet Nam today and "several pilots" were captured.

Each craft ordinarily carries two men.

If the Hanoi story is true, it would mean a day's loss of four planes and a rise in the total downed north of the border to 425.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon had announced the 422nd, an Air Force A1E Skyraider felled by ground fire just above the demilitarized zone between the two Viet Nam. He said the Skyraider pilot was rescued unharmed.

Site for Author's Talk Moved

BIRMINGHAM—So many requests have been received for tickets to a talk by former Judge John D. Voelker next Tuesday that the location has been changed from the Baldwin Public Library to the Unitarian Church Social Hall, Woodward at Lone Pine.

Voelker's talk is sponsored by the Friends of the Baldwin Public Library at 8:15 p.m.

A former Michigan Supreme Court Justice, Voelker is author of several books including "Anatomy of a Murder" and "Laughing Whitefish."

Anyone interested in hearing his talk and who is not a member of the Friends organization may still secure a membership at the registration desk at the Baldwin Public Library.

A five-year plan to improve the quality of education for all students in Birmingham Public Schools will be reviewed at a combination breakfast-press conference Monday.

Known as the Birmingham Plan for Excellence, the program is now in its second year.

More than 20 pilot programs have been developed and incorporated in the educational program. Each one is designed to provide a better way of teaching and teaching the individual student.

Under the program, teachers are involved beyond the traditional school year. During the summer of 1965, 120 teachers, along with coordinators and administrators worked on the development of 22 programs. This past summer, 160 teachers worked on the programs.

The program was made possible when voters approved an increase in operating millage in June of 1964.

The Birmingham Post Office is now accepting applications for employment as Christmas assistants. Application blanks are available at the office.

Applications are also being accepted for vehicle hire with driver, and particularly those persons owning panel trucks, station wagons, and so forth, on a contract basis for the use of the vehicle, plus salary.

GOP Plans Take-Over of State Senate

LANSING (AP)—Republicans taking over the Senate next January when they face the immediate problem of state expenses outrunning expected revenues by about $65 million for fiscal 1967-68.

They reelected Sen. Emil Lockwood of St. Louis as their leader and set up 15 committees, 14 of them made up of the Republicans and two Democrats each. The lone exception will be the Appropriations Committee, with five Republicans and either two or three Democrats.

"The biggest problem will be to raise additional revenue," Lockwood told newsmen after the GOP organization meeting. Even with no new programs, he said, expenses would exceed state income.

"I think on most major issues, we will have complete solidarity in the Republican caucus," he said.

Supervisors Adopt Legislative Goals

Included in the program were five primary legislative goals.

opposition to five existing programs and support of four other legislative matters which will be initiated by other organizations.

The five primary goals are:
• Amended legislation to Act 181, Public Acts of 1963, which would abolish the office of coroner to establish the office of medical examiner and clearly define the functions of this office.

• An amendment to Act 336, Public Acts of 1947, to ensure the public that law enforcement officers will not be placed in a position of dividing their loyalties between their oath of office and labor union ties by holding membership in unions that admit nonpolice personnel.

• An amendment to Act 98, Public Acts 1964, that would require law enforcement officers to file reports of child abuse. An amendment, passed last year, specified the same requirement for nurses, social workers and school administrators.

• Legislation, similar to Senate Bill 407 which failed to pass last year, which would increase the amount of state matching funds for foster children care.

• An amendment to Act 265, Public Acts of 1915, which would assure counties of necessary operating expenses in connection with school facilities of Probate Court.

• Proposed legislation that would require the State Highway Department to reimburse utility companies for costs they might incur when required to remove their facilities from a public road right-of-way.

• Legislation that would allow the use of metal tire studs in passenger and truck tires. Studies by the State Highway Authority which, in the opinion of the County Road Commission, is premature in view of the present Talus study on transportation habits.

• Legislation that would make it mandatory for road commission members to be elected rather than appointed.

• Legislative efforts to finance activities that are remotely connected with road construction and maintenance from the restricted Gas and Weight Tax funds.

Five-year and one-year leader awards were also given out.

Key Club awards went to Kirby Bess, Marilyn Hillier, Gail Kilbourn, Brenda Long, Carolyn Middleton, Norman Mills, Diana S. Mirakian, Bridget Puyt, William Rathbun, Karen Rose, Rosemary Theriot and Susie Wilson.

It had previously been recommended for denial by the planning commission.

The land is owned by John F. and Edythe V. McDonald, 1411 E. Commerce. Village Manager Joseph S. Brophy said the owners contend the council has no jurisdiction over zoning of the land because of certain deed restrictions.

Examination Held in Bruce Slaying

BRUCE TOWNSHIP — A 46-year-old migrant worker, Melvin Bell of Sebring, Fla., was held without bond Wednesday in Macomb County Jail on charges of first-degree murder.

Bell is charged with the fatal stabbing of another migrant worker, Robert Broughton, 44, of Ithaca, N. Y., following what a police said was a gambling session at Stoney Creek Orchards in Bruce Township last Oct. 30.

Bell was examined Wednesday by Harrison Justice Edmund Schmidt. No date has been set for the trial in Macomb County Circuit Court.

The public hearing was rescheduled for the next regular council session Dec. 12.

Voters will be asked to approve the sale of some $340,000 in bonds as the city's share of a proposed $1.2-million project.

Sewer, Water Need Forcing New Talks

AVON TOWNSHIP — An immediate need for sewer and water service, despite the township's recent agreement to participate in the Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor, is necessitating new negotiations with the village of Rochester.

Bedford Square, a proposed development of 300 apartment units north of Tenken at the end of Winry, requires assurance of sewer and water service before a building permit can be obtained.

This week, the Avon Township Board informed developers, Hermandoff-Slatkin, that township consultants would be asked to meet with their village counterparts to work out an agreement.

Up to this time, such service has been provided on the basis of a fee in lieu of taxes and at one-and-a-half times the village rate.

News of the Area

Certain state health department when usage promises to be above a normal residential level.

CONSTRUCTION — The township board Wednesday also approved rezoning to allow construction of apartments on part of the McGregor property along Walton Boulevard.

The matter of rezoning to allow construction of a supermarket by Borman Foods, Inc., on land at Adams and Walton was referred back to the zoning committee on the presentation of fresh plans.

A former petition had been denied. The board voted to advertise for bids on new township cars designed for police usage.

Appointment of a new Justice of the Peace was deferred. Applications for the position vacated by the resignation of Judge Luther Green were received from four attorneys.

The board voted to put up $800 in matching funds with the Oakland County Road Commission to correct a poor drainage condition in Hitchman Haven subdivision.

Memories of WW I Revived

Old Soldiers Gather in Rochester

By JEAN SAILE

ROCHESTER — Slowed now by age and illness, but alive to the memory of such places as the Argonne, Chateau Thierry and the Voges Forest, twenty-six World War I campaigners gathered this morning in tribute to their dead comrades.

Members of Rochester's World War I Last Man's Club—the ones who were able—attended the annual breakfast served at Bebout's Restaurant in Rochester. Those who couldn't, sent wires and telegrams to be read to their old friends.

The 26, many of them still retaining a full head of hair and active in the business of the village, are the survivors of an original membership of 45, organized between the years of 1918 and 1943.

Of their original number, 16 are now dead and three others have not been heard from for years, according to Earl Dean, 342 Linwood, acting secretary.

Most of the survivors still live in the Rochester area.

CHAIRMAN FOR EVENT

Chairman for this year's breakfast was Jesse White, 2936 Gravel Ridge, Avon Township.

According to Dean, White is one of the youngest World War I veterans in the area.

White enlisted when he was 15 from St. Louis, Mo., but it was difficult.

White tells the story of how he went up to the fourth floor of the Federal Building there and attempted to enlist in the Marines.

SAME OLD STORY

They said he was too young—White then dropped down to the third floor where he approached the Navy. Same story.

He dropped again to the second floor and talked to the Army recruiters. Same thing again—but as he was leaving the recruiter asked White what skills he had.

White said he was a baker and the recruiter forgot immediately about the age restriction. White was accepted.

'LES TERRIBLES'

Composed of men from Michigan and Wisconsin, the division became known as Les Terribles by the French. The men became known for their ability to pierce the German lines.

Dean speaks of battlefields with the names of Chateau Thierry, Rheims, the Argonne, the Voges Forest.

It was at such places that the division lost 25,000 of its 40,000 enlistment—killed, wounded or missing.

Today Michael Macella of Detroit, state commander of the Veterans of World War I, reminded the old soldier of their heritage of honor.

There was a memorial service for the dead, and then the group sat down to a morning of cards and conversation.

Troy Civic Center Dedication Near

TROY — The new $800,000 Civic Center, in use since last September, will be dedicated in ceremonies at 1:15 p.m. tomorrow.

Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich, Episcopal bishop of the Diocese of Michigan, will be guest speaker. Welling Akin, chairman of Troy's Building Authority, will give the history of the Civic Center.

All residents of Troy have been invited to attend for the program, a tour of the building and an informal meeting at which refreshments will be served.

Clergy Invited to Join Group Forming in Area

MILFORD — Clergymen from Highland and White Lake townships have been invited to join a citizens committee now in the process of being formed.

Persons interested in becoming part of the committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. George Episcopal Church on East Commerce.

Village Manager Joseph S. Brophy said the clergymen from surrounding communities are being asked to join the committee and suggest ideas in keeping with the committee's purpose of finding a means of occupying the young people of the community and keeping them off the streets and out of trouble.

He said it is also hoped that more programs aimed at the excellence bound students can be included in the curriculum of the area schools.

Bulk scotch.

The taste of it. The cost of it. Is it risky whisky?

"Crawford's Bulk Scotch" is such a funny-sounding name, you might expect it to be an odd-tasting whisky.

Don't. Crawford's is as fine a whisky as ever came down from the Scottish Highlands; a pale blend of delicate grain and malt whiskies chosen from among 41 distilleries.

As for the name, well, it is a bit odd. But think of it this way: all it means is that the whisky travels to the bottling place in barrels—that is, it travels in bulk.

The bottling place for some barrels of Crawford's happens to be in the U.S.A.

That changes the taste of the whisky as much as you might expect.

Not at all.

But does change the cost. Because we import this whisky in bulk, we pay a far smaller tax on it. We also save a good amount on shipping costs.

The savings add up to roughly $2 per fifth.

And that's how much you save on a fifth of Crawford's.

Now you know the cost of it. (The cost in Scotland, by the way, is somewhat higher. In spite of that, it's the favorite scotch over there. Last year alone, the Scots enjoyed over one million bottles of Crawford's.)

As for the taste of it, all we can do is promise you it will compare favorably with any scotch whisky you have ever tasted.

An unknown whisky could sound risky. But you know about Crawford's Bulk Scotch. Sounds risky, didn't it?

Crawford's Bulk Scotch

China's Middle Generation Is Crushed by Young, Old

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
HONG KONG (AP) — China's bypassed generation is stirring restlessly.

Young men beyond the age of 20 dislike the prospect of what they see as a strange alliance between the old and the very young, suggests one of them, a former Red Guard, the rampaging army officer who led the main land only two years ago.

The very old are the top leaders of the Politburo. Their average age is somewhere above 60.
The very young are the teen-age
Red Guards, the rampaging youngsters the old men are using today as a political weapon.

In between is a generation bypassed in a grim power struggle at the top in Peking. That generation includes the many millions in the Young Communist League. It is now virtually dismantled, probably because its members were too mature to be used in the way the Red Guards are used to push what the new leaders, headed by Defense Minister Lin Biao, call the "great proletarian cultural revolution."

DEEP CRISIS

The young officer said there was no question in his mind but that Red China now is in deep crisis and that if it continues on its present course it could lead to collapse of the regime. But, knowing his Chinese brethren he did not feel that the regime would collapse. When the danger became too acute, he predicted, there would be a compromise.

Much of what is going on — and has been going on for some years now in the slowly unfolding power struggle — is unpopular, he said. But one development is generally welcomed among the Chinese.

"It was good to get rid of the Russians," he said with an air of grim satisfaction. "It was good to get rid of foreign domination."

If he is a sample of Chinese thinking, there never was any love for the Russians. Even his fellow officers, he said, welcomed the split although some professionals regretted the loss of Soviet military assistance.

NATIONAL SPIRIT

"The break came from within Chinese national spirit, and we all thought that China should be built up in a spirit of self-reliance."

Speaking through an interpreter, the ex-officer said that when he left mainland China he felt the people were not happy, that they were hoping for political and economic changes.
Mostly, the literate element wanted less restrictions on their individual lives.

This did not mean, he added, that collectivization was considered wrong. China for ages has been accustomed to collectivization, but he felt the people wanted it only with a framework of more individual liberty.

"This didn't mean we wanted
Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China back," he added quickly, even though he judged things for many had been better before 1949 than they are today.

STATE CONTROL

What he did not want — and one of the reasons he fled — was so much control over the individual by the state, such as in the "people's communes."

The Chinese people in general, he said, did not think highly of the Communists or communism, but didn't think highly of the Americans either. His friends tended to believe that Americans were aggressors and that they were threatening China's security.

Americans Salute Their Valiant

Today is Veterans Day. Originally known as Armistice Day to commemorate the end of World War I and those who gave their lives in the conflict, the observance now honors not only the Nation's fallen heroes but all Americans who answered the call to the colors.

It was the patriotism and self-sacrifice of gallant Americans that gave birth to the Republic and have for nearly two centuries preserved it against the enemies of democracy.

When the theater of war is far from our shores, as has characterized the armed involvement of the United States since the Civil War, it is easy for the Country's civilian sector to lose sight of the danger and hardship that is the daily lot of those on the distant battlefield.

That is not to say that those at home are unaware or ungrateful for the sacrifice suffered on their behalf or that a ceremonial reminder is necessary to bring alive their debt of gratitude.

It is, however, visible expression of the solemnity and honor deep in the hearts of every American for the brave men and women who have shown their dedication to the Stars and Stripes.

Let each of us then on this Veterans Day pay homage to the memory of our heroes, and tribute to those now in the armed service of their Country.

West Europe's Economic Harmony Hits Discord

When national self-interest is matched against international economic solidarity, it is the former that usually wins out.

Currently, the European Coal and Steel Community, first of the grand international alliances undertaken by Western Europe after World War II, is having internal trouble.

Considered a model for international development out of which grew the Common Market, national enmities have at last reared its ugly head.

When the organization was established in Luxembourg in 1952, coal and steel were an urgent need for the reconstruction of Europe — hence the need for a unified, controlled, continental concept toward that end.

At the time, coal supplied 75 per cent of Europe's energy needs. But competitive products have cut the percentage to a current 35 per cent. Western European steel production has also declined from a normal production rate of 90 per cent to today's 78 per cent. Moreover, the price has dropped from $107 a ton two years ago to the present $99.

This has led to bickering and scrambling for preferential position among the six members of the coalition. West Germany and France the foremost.

The fractured fraternal front is well epitomized by a Coal-Steel official: "The Community will crumble if the member nations go their separate ways and seek national solutions instead of international. In two years the problem will only be worse when the national solutions have failed. The experience of the 1930s proved that Europe is too small to try to export your problems to your neighbors."

Apparently the idealism that once sparked the European economic union has degenerated into the self-defeating philosophy of opportunism: "All for one and none for all."

Latter-Day 'Minutemen' Befoul Honored Term

New York State authorities are to be commended for nipping a "Minuteman" plot that would be farcical if it were not so frightening.

These self-appointed patriots had planned to blow up a few left-wing study camps in the state and for that noble purpose had assembled a fantastic arsenal of weapons. They also planned to sow racial hatred by distributing fake leaflets from non-existent Negro extremists.

They're real Americans, they are. If the original Minutemen could see the kind of people who have stolen their name they'd wonder why they ever bothered to fight a war against the British.

Unlike their intended victims, however, the "minute men"—in this case, the words mean small, little, almost nothing—will have their day in court where the rules of civilized behavior are observed.

Eyes on LBJ for Next Two Years

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — How President Johnson sweats out the 1968 elections will be one of the most fascinating spectacles of the next two years.

Johnson, to this writer, is not quite the same self-assured man who won the presidency overwhelmingly on his record in 1964.

If he wants to run for reelection in 1968, his two main talking points will be his record with this new, but still Democratic-controlled Congress and his foreign record, particularly with the war in Viet Nam.

In the newly elected Congress, the Republicans will have more seats, the Democrats fewer, although the latter, still retaining their majority, will be in charge.

The difference in party members will make it tougher for Johnson to get what he wants, which may be a little disquieting for him, in view of what happened these past two years.

He did remarkably well with this last Congress in 1965, less well in 1966. The decline in his influence there paralleled the decline of his popularity in the public opinion polls.

Before the political campaigns began to reach their peak in mid-October, it was known some of the Democratic candidates were in trouble and could well use the kind of help Johnson could give: a visit, a speech, an endorsement.

DOING FAVORS

One of the secrets of Johnson's political success has been doing favors for politicians whose help he might need later. Besides, it would have been a natural and expected ritual for a president to campaign for his party.

But a strange thing happened, foreshadowing perhaps other changes in Johnson's tactics. Instead of campaigning, he made a 17-day trip to Asia, although it seems reasonable to believe this might have waited until after election.

Among other questions his action produced this one about a man of such endless energy and political enthusiasm as Johnson: Was he afraid he would appear repudiated if he campaigned for candidates who lost?

This wasn't the only strange occurrence. Another was his sudden, fierce denunciation of his constant critic, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It was Johnson's most personal attack on a political opponent.

STRANGE BEHAVIOR

What made it strange was that he has always carefully avoided this kind of performance. Perhaps the exhausting Asian trip had frayed his nerves. But these two events don't seem like the Johnson of old.

Gradually in the next two years a different kind of Johnson may emerge.

'Hey, Mac, The Next Show Isn't Until '68'

David Lawrence Says:

House No Longer in LBJ Grasp

WASHINGTON — Despite the mathematical majority of 30 seats above the 218 mark which the Democrats have retained, the truth is that President Johnson has really lost control of the House of Representatives on many pivotal issues.

His party's margin of 30 could be wiped out by anywhere from 50 to 70 Democrats from Southern states who have usually voted against the administration not merely on civil-rights questions, but on government spending and issues involving the "Great Society."

There are, to be sure, from 10 to 20 Republicans in the House who regularly move over to the so-called "liberal" side, so the net deficiency would be 40 to 50 votes — enough to keep the President from getting a majority.

To put it another way, Mr. Johnson may be able always to count on 185 Democrats and possibly 15 Republicans for a total of 200 votes. But the opposition could at times muster 235.

The situation in the Senate is somewhat more favorable to the President but, again, an actual majority on highly controversial issues is in doubt.

SPENDING PROGRAMS

Most of the opposition to the President in the last session of Congress was related to the spending programs. Members did not want to antagonize the White House, but they avoided voting on issues which would commit the government to larger expenditures.

Incidentally, much of the legislation for the "Great Society" program is in the form of "authorizations," and the actual appropriation of the funds has not yet been made.

It is in this category of legislation that the President will find it hard to command a majority in the House or Senate.

Union labor, too, is finding itself in difficulties. Some estimates show that labor has lost nearly 50 of its supporters in the House.

A United Press International survey reveals that at least 184 members of the House endorsed by the AFL-CIO committee won election. But this is 34 votes less than a majority.

ity. The labor unions support 332 candidates for the House, including 14 Republicans, but 148 lost.

BIPARTISAN COALITION

All this indicates that there will be an effective bipartisan coalition against the President on labor-unions matters as well as on other major questions.

Mr. Johnson will have to be cognizant with more compromise and will find it necessary to give up some of his pet projects.

He probably will not be too disappointed about this, as he may prefer to go into the 1968 campaign with a record of legislation that is less objectionable and easier to defend than would have been the case if he himself had had to go before the voters this year.

Bob Considine Says:

Bishop Sheen Accepts Transfer Like a Soldier

NEW YORK — Somebody wrote a letter to Bishop Fulton Sheen the other day stating, "What kind of church do you work for? It sends a thousand-horsepower tractor to plough an acre of land!"

It was a reference, of course, to the decision by Pope Paul VI to move the golden-voiced intellectual to serve as bishop of Rochester, N.Y.

For the past 16 years Bishop Sheen has been national director in the United States of the Holy Father's Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

His magnetic campaigning through the land, his television, radio, magazine, book and newspaper column have been largely responsible for more than two-thirds of all the funds sent to the Vatican for the church's missionary work throughout the world.

The bishop's new diocese is microscopic compared to his previous travels, but I found him quite chipper about his new job when I called on him at his Fifth Avenue offices.

'A SHEPHERD'

"I'm a soldier," he said with the familiar grin that illuminated countless millions on TV screens. "I go where the general sends me."

In days of adversity, a bishop should be a shepherd. In days of affluence, as we now have, a bishop is called upon to reemphasize his shepherd's role.

"What's a bishop consecrated for, really? He's consecrated to be a shepherd of sheep, of lambs."

"I've been dealing long enough with the circumference of the world. Now it is time to deal with a point within that circumference."

"I'm overjoyed. Rochester is one of the finest dioceses in the United States."

He looked at his watch and got up lightly.

"Time for prayers," he said. "Come along with me." He led me out into a large office, the headquarters of his missionary work.

Everyone in the room knelt by the side of his or her desk and joined in.

Then the bishop picked up a Bible and said, "Let's get along with a little more of the story of Matthew, and what he learned of Christ from Peter."

It was a gifted performance, fascinatingly smooth as his TV shows.

And all through the room there were the faces of those who had worked with him so long, faces that seemed to be mutely asking, "Why?"

Hoffa's Tax Settlement Stirs Readers' Interest

I see James Hoffa gets off the hook by paying approximately twenty-five cents on each dollar of an enormous tax bill owed his Country.

Over the years many people in high places have gotten away with this and I would like to know why. I'm sure if I owed money to the government, I would have to pay in full and a high interest besides.

Do we have two sets of laws in this Country—one for the rich and another for the poor?

MRS. EDNA TORREY

Recently I've read about and listened to our President pleading with us to make sacrifices to help stabilize the economy of our Country.

I'm overjoyed that our economy has recovered so rapidly the Federal government is able to relieve James Hoffa of his terrible tax burden.

Perhaps this year we should all figure our taxes as usual and then pay approximately twenty-five cents on the dollar as Mr. Hoffa is privileged to do.

Last year, in my neighborhood, some kids soaped a neighbor's window and later a policeman came to the door with a complaint about our boy, who did not commit the deed alone and meant it simply as a Halloween joke.

Tax Favoritism

The Ann Arbor News

A lot of eyebrows were lifted some weeks ago when American Motors Corporation won special privileges as a result of its having been declared one of the nation's "small businesses."

But if the government is interested in helping small businesses, why does it allow such practices as depletion allowances on oil? It is a fact of life in Washington that the oil lobby swings a lot of weight in Capitol corridors, and that it has successfully protected its interests for a good many years.

Way back in 1950 President Truman stated he knew of "no loopholes in the tax laws so inequitable as the excessive depletion exemptions now enjoyed by oil."

He wanted to correct this abuse of the tax laws, but to no avail.

Again this year, a proposal by Rep. Ray J. Madden, Indiana Democrat, to cut the 27½ per cent depletion allowance on oil and other extracted products to 15 per cent was too controversial for Congress to handle.

If, as alleged, a number of oil companies are using what amounts to a federal subsidy to diversify their operations into such competitive areas as the motel business and paints, where does this leave the small businessman who isn't so favored?

The concession to oil is indefensible. It is a drag on taxpayers and businesses no so fortunate as to win special favors. One New York congressman estimated the cost to the Treasury of oil depletion exemptions is more than that appropriated for the war on poverty.

So simple and obvious a need as tax reform has been ignored by Congress for years on end. Maybe the new Congress can bring itself to stand up to the oil lobby just long enough to make the tax laws more equitable.

A Moderate

The New York Times

By electing Clifford P. Case to a third term in the United States Senate, the voters of New Jersey have done well for their own state and the Nation. Senator Case has proved repeatedly in his twelve years in the upper house that he is a bipartisan foreign policy, his consistent efforts to improve the ethical tone of politics and to regulate campaign expenditures, he has made many friends and admirers. But he has made enemies also; and we are glad that the marked lack of enthusiasm for him shown by the conservative wing of the G.O.P. did not cost him reelection.

Mr. Case's continued popularity shows where future success lies for the Republican party in the state. His keen interest in urban problems and his lively concern with education, particularly his work on behalf of two-year community colleges, are in sharp contrast to the negativism of too many G.O.P. leaders at the state level. Solving problems rather than denying their existence is not only good government but — as Senator Case has again demonstrated — a prescription for political success.

The Underachiever—11

Fear at Test-Taking Time Can Be Overcome

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is fear of losing 'face' among your the eleventh in a 12-part series of columns. It may have your on a severe problem in today's thinking apparatus tied up to schools — the underachiever — the point where you will actually fail.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of Southern California

In high school and college, control of fears is often a major key to successful test-taking.

DR. NASON

When I discover with specific thoughts of how fear as a factor you are going to write the test, I say something. Plan your attack on a true-like this:

"So you 'I will concentrate on one 'choke' up on question at a time. I will read tests! Perhaps the question carefully and with your mind is an open mind, remembering to filled with fears watch for absolute words such — fear of failure, as always and never, for tricky fear of letting statements, and double or triple parents down, negatives."

"I'll mark it and forget it. Then I'll center all my thoughts on the next question."

Complete attention to each question in turn is the secret.

There is no need to fear that the teacher or reader will think you stupid for missing any particular question. They will probably grade the test with a key and never know which questions you missed.

WRONG ANSWER

You can be tricked in multiple choice tests. The author has chosen them so that a slight misreading will make a wrong answer appear to be right.

The correct approach is to read the question carefully before looking at the list of possible answers. Hold the question firmly in mind while checking for the correct answer.

Cramming for tests can wear you out without teaching you the subject or even insuring good grades.

A crammer starts out depending on quick reviews to prepare for tests, instead of doing the necessary study during class.

JOBS NOTES

Next, he jots down notes to be glanced at just before taking tests. As time goes on, more complicated courses result in longer cramming sessions and more elaborate "cribs" or "ponies".

Once the habit of dependence upon cramming is established it usually takes a complete overhaul of the student's study procedures to accomplish the needed change.

In my experience with such students the most effective approach involves planning and preparation at least three weeks before the start of a new semester.

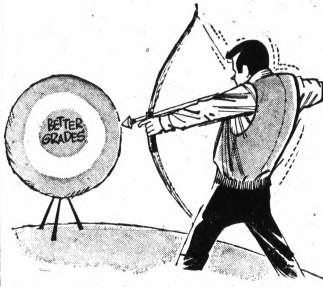

The organization of knowledge is the basis of efficient review.

Each time the subject is reviewed from the beginning, as it should be done frequently during the course of a semester, the general basic outline of the subject should become progressively clarified in the student's mind. He can easily fit new facts into this outline.

Woman Is Killed

LUDINGTON, Mich. — Mrs. Dorothy Brown, 37, of Branch was fatally injured Thursday when her car struck a freight train at a Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad crossing 14 miles northeast of Ludington.

Feuds, Fasts, Pregnancy Eyed

NEW YORK (UPI) — In odds and ends of old scientific experiments, Dr. Paul LeMonde found hints that fasting, fighting, pregnancy or mild infections now and then rouse natural body defenses against cancer.

He asked himself, what would happen if you combined such rousers of natural defenses in the same body? Then he looked for an answer in experimental animals.

These were members of an inbred line of mice extremely prone to developing blood cancer, leukemia, and dying of it early in life.

In 10 females, he combined repeated pregnancies with periodic fasting. In 10 males, fasting was combined with occasional fighting among themselves.

Each group had 10 "controls" of the same sex. They neither fasted nor fought and the females were not allowed to become pregnant.

All of them developed leukemia in the time expected for their line. Two of the fasting-fighting males and one of the fasting-reproducing females didn't, and lived at the usual mouse life span. But those which became leukemia lived longer than leukemia mice usually do.

In more mice, LeMonde added a mild infection to his combinations of natural defense rousers, using a weakened strain of tuberculosis bacteria. None of 10 males developed leukemia in the course of normal life spans, and only half of 10 females did. In their "controls," 96 per cent of the males and 91 per cent of the females died of leukemia.

Nixon Sees Danger of Viet Concessions

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon warned today that both Republicans and Democrats might make unwise concessions to the Vietnamese Communists for a politically popular peace during the 1968 presidential campaign unless President Johnson ends the war next year.

Exhilarated by Republican victories in Tuesday's election, Nixon surveyed the situation in Southeast Asia before flying off to a fishing vacation in Florida.

Nixon said in an exclusive interview that Republican victories provide a "bulwark of support for a policy of no reward for aggression in Asia, and Lyndon Johnson should move to end this war without appeasement in 1967."

Flying north from a campaign rally in Kingsport, Tenn., last week, he remarked: "The peace party always wins. I know my own party. If the war is still going on in '68, there is no power on earth can keep them from trying to outbid the Democrats for the peace vote."

NO CONCESSIONS

With the '66 election out of the way, Nixon said: "I am convinced that this war must be ended without appeasement in 1967—because if it is not, both parties will be sorely tempted to propose concessions for peace in the 1968 election that may be politically popular, but which will, in effect, jeopardize the American commitment in Asia, and jeopardize not only our national interests but the interests of all free Asia."

"With his hand strengthened in the House," Nixon said, "now is the time for the President to stop making incessant peace offers which only convince the enemy that he will pay an even higher price for peace."

To begin with, he said, Johnson should make it absolutely plain that the United States will not agree to a coalition government in Viet Nam that would include Communists.

Then, he added, the time has come for "the President to bring to bear upon the enemy the military and economic pressure that will convince him that aggression has no chance of success and that its continuance will be more and more costly for the aggressor."

Doctor, Engineer Team Up on Hip Device

LONDON (UPI) — The surgeon was familiar with the condition — in an aging population, hip injuries are becoming more common — but he was not satisfied with the usual treatment.

Then he had an idea. The human body moves on engineering principles, so why not ask an engineer what could be done to restore mobility to people suffering from arthritic hips or injuries due to falls.

The result of three years of collaboration has just been unveiled by the government-supported National Research Development Corporation.

The surgeon and the engineer have produced an ingenious new device whose full name is "The Osborne Ball jig-loaded osteotomy plate."

Osborne is the surgeon. The rules of the British Medical Association forbid full identification. The engineer is Kenneth Ball of the mechanical engineering department in the bio-mechanical research unit of the University of Liverpool.

CLINICAL TRIALS

The Ministry of Health is conducting clinical trials of the invention although licenses for its manufacture have already been granted.

One of the common injuries to elderly people is the fracture or splitting of the upper end of the thigh bone.

What the surgeon and the engineer have come up with is, in its simplest terms, an angled steel bracket which acts as an artificial joint.

But they have, at the same time, developed a special guide frame or jig so that a surgeon can accurately work "blind" while drilling into the bone and fitting in the surgical bolt which helps support the plate.

Home for Draft Rebels

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first in a two-part series on young Americans who have gone to Canada to avoid the draft.)

By ROGER RAPOPORT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
TORONTO — This month about 50,000 men will be inducted into the U.S. armed forces. Bob Thomas will not be among them.

It's not that Bob isn't eligible — he has been I-A for the past five months.

Rather, he has left his native Indiana to live here in Canada where American draft laws do not apply. He is an expatriate.

Bob (not his real name) is one of a growing number of Americans — estimated at 2,000 during the past two years — emigrating to Canada to escape the draft.

About 400 to 500 have settled in this modern Ontario provincial capital of nearly two million.

LITTLE IN COMMON
Aside from their determination to escape military service and the warm reception they are getting in Canada, the draft dodgers have little in common.

They are a surprisingly disparate group, ranging from Bob, an outspoken left-wing radical, to Harry, a right-wing conservative from Arizona.

IVY LEAGUER
A cum laude English graduate of a top Ivy League school last June, he returned home to find I-A greetings from his local draft board.

Bob had no intention of following the footsteps of his 18-year-old brother who joined the Air Force in April. ("My brother and I gave up discussing Viet Nam. It's useless," he says.)

He carefully weighed alternative means of avoiding the draft. Bob is not a pacifist or a conscientious objector.

"I think C.O. status is meaningless," says Bob. "I have no intention of cooperating with the military system in any way."

OTHER ROUTE
The other route was jail — up to five years and $10,000 for failing to report for induction. "But that wouldn't have done anyone any good," he explains. "I see no reason to make a martyr of myself."

So he decided the only way out was north. He told his father who was dismayed and his mother who "cried a lot."

When he arrived here in June, Tony Hyde of the Student Union for Peace Action, a Canadian affiliate of Students for a Democratic Society, found him lodging.

Bob took a job at the University of Toronto library and applied for landed-immigrant status (a prerequisite to Canadian citizenship) to remain legally in Canada.

NO RESTRICTIONS
Except for the fact that he can't go home again (where he would face that five-year jail sentence and fine) Bob's life is free of restrictions.

A long-standing pact between the American and Canadian governments prohibits a long-standing pact between the American and Canadian governments prohibits nadian governments prohibits his extradition.

Canada has no draft which makes the country "far more relaxed than the United States" according to Bob.

Predictably, Bob's attitude toward the United States is a bitter one. "From up here," he claims, "America really looks like it's going nuts."

He goes so far as to articulate a claim that America is "on its way to a collective nervous breakdown."

Still, Bob contends that his decision to move to Canada was not motivated by the dire course he feels America is on. "Personal freedom is the reason I came up here. I want to have the right to say 'no' to people."

Teen Meeting on Road Safety Saturday at PNH

Teen-agers and motorcycles and debate as to whether the legal driving age should be raised to 17 are among items slated for discussion tomorrow at a Pontiac area teen-age traffic safety conference.

The meeting is to be held at Pontiac Northern High School beginning at 8:30 and will last approximately until noon.

This eighth annual teen-age conference is being organized by the traffic safety committee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsors of the conference are the Michigan State Highway traffic safety center, the Pontiac Police Department and the General Motors Tech Center.

Interested area teen-agers are invited to attend the meeting, which will include a GM-produced movie on safety and a four-topic group discussion period.

Groves Slates 1st of 2 Plays

By LEESA MATTHEWS

"Thieves' Carnival," the first of two plays to be given at Groves High School this year, will be presented Nov. 17-19 at 8 p.m., with a Saturday matinee at 2 p.m.

As indicated by the title, the play deals with three thieves posing as Spanish noblemen, who move into a villa with a wealthy widow and two young girls creating many situations.

The three thieves are Peterbone, played by John Otto, sophomore; Hector, Chip Gerda, senior; and Gustave, Bob Young, sophomore.

The girls are Linda Appleblatt, senior; and Renay Weiner, junior, with the widow portrayed by Marg Strange.

Floyd Hyatt portrays Lord Edgar, a close friend of the widow.

It has been a hectic time for the various crews involved in the show.

The scenery crew, headed by Bob Rahly, discovered that all the scenery from past plays had been burned, forcing them to start from scratch.

To be ready for the play they have worked for more than a month after school and Saturdays.

The stage manager Leslie Carnick, demanded that the sets be perfect and it looks like she will have her wish.

The publicity committee, with chairman Marcia Proctor, started putting up posters last week to advertise the production.

They have a series of stunts planned for the days immediately preceding the play.

"Thieves' Carnival" was written by the late Jean Anouilh, one of Europe's most popular playwrights.

Anouilh, born in Bordeaux, France, in 1910, began writing at the age of 10 and since has earned much fame. The play was first presented as an off-Broadway production in 1955.

WTHS Boosts Spirit

By CONNIE PHILLIPS

Spirits have been high this week at Waterford Township High School, as students anticipate tonight's rival game with Waterford Kettering.

The Varsity Cheerleaders sponsored Spirit Week, under the direction of Sue Richter, cheerleaders' coach.

"We hope this will encourage the majority of the students to attend the game," said Miss Richter.

A car caravan will leave the school for the Kettering field at 7:00 p.m.

Spirit Week included Sweat Shirt Day Monday and Slave Day Tuesday, when girls were slaves to boys who had purchased Spirit Tags.

SLOGAN DAY

Wednesday was Slogan Day, with students saying, "Beat the Captains!" before every sentence.

Mourning Day, Thursday, was the day to wear black and mourn the death of the Captains.

Today, students wore blue and gold, school colors, for Victory Day.

Sponsors of Pep Club are Donna Harris and Barbara Cook.

PLAY TO OPEN

Rehearsals for "Stage Door" are drawing to a close as the actors and technicians prepare for opening night. Curtain goes up at 8 p.m. Nov. 17, 18, 19.

Open to the public, tickets will be available at the door.

Michael Job, director, is assisted by student Rachel Schelling. Anne Hobart is producer. Thirty-one students make up the cast.

Excitement Mounting at Oxford

By CATHY OBERG

Excitement is mounting at Oxford High as the Lake Orion football game approaches. At stake will be the Double "G" trophy, the pride of beating the archrival and 20 tickets to a Lions' football game.

The bronze football "up for grabs" is not the original trophy of the series.

When it was first offered, there was a stipulation in the rules that any team that won the series three years in a row had the right to keep the trophy.

Lake Orion won it to keep a few years ago.

The Wildcats are out to try to win a second trophy. It now rests in the Oxford showcase and we hope to keep it there. The student body is backing the Cats all the way.

Posters cover every wall at school.

SNAKE DANCE

Thursday night a snake dance and bonfire were held.

During the bonfire, Assistant Coach Lee Noits introduced the senior players on the team, and the climax was reached when Captain Rick Rowley threw a dragon on the fire to burn in effigy.

The game will be played on Oxford's field at 8 p.m. Friday.

Senior announcements were picked out this week by the senior executive committee composed of Gretchen Dahl, class president; Jim McGraw, vice president; Brenda Jones, secretary; Rick Rowley, treasurer; Cathy Oberg, representative and Terry Lee Hallad, sponsor.

The Science Club is planning a trip to the Cranbrook planetarium in the near future. Arrangements are being made by Mike Miloeh, president.

By LYNN BAUER

Exams at St. Michael's High School last week brought the first quarter to a close.

Several clubs and organizations have recently held meetings and are busy in planning activities for the near future.

Preparations for a Nov. 27 holiday are being made by St. Michael's Teen Club.

Roger Magerman, vice president of the club, is in charge of the arrangements.

The holiday will be open to St. Michael and Lake Orion teen club members only.

The Varsity Club has held a couple of meetings in the last few weeks.

Newly elected officers of the club are Greg Glynn, president; Mike Oliver, vice president; Pat Thornberry, secretary-treasurer, and Mike Lezano, student council representative.

The Student Council dance which was canceled last Friday night has been rescheduled for tonight from 8 until 11.

Airwave Squeeze Felt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission is searching for more broadcast room as everyone from Uncle Sam to commercial television producers, taxi drivers and mobile restaurant owners flood the airwaves.

The FCC feels the biggest pressure for a spot on the communications dial now is the fast-growing land mobile radio service, uses of two-way radios.

Some feel the government may have to turn to television's Ultra High Frequency channels to find the room for expansion as more and more governmental agencies and private firms reach for a microphone.

Land mobile service includes fire and police departments, the military and public service companies whose need for quick communications is obvious.

PIZZA PARLORS. Less apparent is the need to equip city garbage trucks with two-way radios and radio-dispatched portable pizza and enchilada parlors. But they are none the less. Even the Archdiocese of New York has a radio setup.

A segment of the FCC says that the only available space for these services is now currently occupied by the government and commercial UHF television channels 14 through 83.

There apparently is little chance the FCC will be able to free the government-held frequencies. The Defense Department has most of them and contends they are needed for military matters.

That leaves only the UHF channels and, even though they are sparsely populated with television stations, any decision to allocate them—even if it's only two or three channels—for the two-way radio users would be painful to the FCC. The commission for years has been trying with some success to develop them for commercial and educational use.

DEPEND ON RADIO The FCC even battled for the legislation which now requires television set manufacturers to include on all their receivers facilities for receiving all UHF channels.

But in the past few years police, fire departments and businesses have come to depend on radio for their operations.

Since World War II the land mobile radio service has grown from practically nothing until today there are more than 230,000 authorizations for such systems in the United States. Of these, 155,000 are for business. Each system can range from a single base station and one mobile unit in a delivery truck to several base stations and—as in the case of Yellow Cab of Chicago—more than 700 mobile units.

COMPLAIN OF CROWD Users of these mobile radio systems have been complaining that their channels are so crowded that base station interference is blotting out communications. Interference is greatest in metropolitan areas where there may be several hundred stations on each channel.

Conditions have become so bad that the Los Angeles Police Department blames crowded radio channels in part for failure to gain quick control of the 1965 riots in Watts.

Because of complaints from users, congressmen have been pressuring the FCC to relieve the crowded conditions.

SPARSELY SETTLED

Nobody doubts that the UHF television spectrum is sparsely settled. Nationwide there are 121 stations on the 70 channels available while 495 stations are crowded on the 12 Very High Frequency channels—2 through 13.

But the FCC has not wanted to cut down the number of UHF channels available for future expansion.

In a recent letter, FCC Chairman Rosel H. Hyde said the commission is investigating the allocation of some UHF television channels to the land-mobile service. But he indicated that television industry officials have opposed it.

Hyde noted also the extent to which the FCC is concerned over the future expansion of television activity on the UHF channels. He said federal requirements for UHF receiving equipment on all television sets unquestionably has "stimulated development of both commercial and educational broadcasting facilities and a critical stage in this development is now being reached."

"An adverse action now could have serious repercussions and might defeat the whole program."

Housing Case Trial Adjourned

DETROIT (AP)—Trial has been adjourned until Jan. 16 on assault and battery charges against seven members of the West Central Organization. The seven were arrested Sept. 19 in front of a condemned house in Detroit during a demonstration against alleged housing in the city. Recorder's Judge Elvin L. Davenport said the trial was postponed because of an overloaded court docket.

Perennial Loser Has 'Success'

DETROIT (AP) — Markus Simon, defeated in elections for the State Legislature for 34 years, says this year's loss "is a success and I've been receiving congratulations."

The 57-year-old lawyer is a white Republican in an almost all-Negro, Democratic district.

"They apparently went home and sold their parents, and the parents voted for me."

"Except for shoe leather," Simon reckons he spent $25-$30 on his campaign. Expenses over the last 34 years: "I doubt if it would run over $200."

Simon said he doesn't particularly want to win because "politics wouldn't pay enough. He would serve, if elected."

"I'm what you may call the goat," Simon said. "My wife's constant statement is, 'If she thought I had a chance of being elected she wouldn't let me run.'"

But Simon got a bigger loser's total—7 per cent of the vote—than ever before when he was whipped in Tuesday's election by State Rep. Daisy Elliott, D-Detroit.

Simon, a father of 10, described as "quite gratifying" his 1,010 votes. Mrs. Elliott had more than 4,000.

'HIGHEST PERCENTAGE'

That was 11 times more votes than he received in the primary.

"There's no other district in Michigan that did that," said Simon, lowest vote getter in metropolitan Detroit. "Mine is by far the highest percentage of gain from primary to final."

He also lost a Recorder's Court race this year.

Police Find Bogus Bills Are Fake, Too

DETROIT (AP)—Police said even the counterfeit money was counterfeit when two Louisville, Ky., men and a Detroit allegedly tried to sell a packet of bills to a U.S. Secret Service agent.

What was touted as $50,000 in counterfeit money turned out to be dime store play money sandwiched between two real $100 bills, officers said.

Arraigned on charges of conspiracy to cheat and defraud were Arthur Smith, 25, of Detroit, and Albert Ridley, 41, and Thomas Harris, 39, both of Louisville. Their examination in Recorder's (Criminal) Court was set for Dec. 8. Bond was set at $1,000 each.

The trio was accused of meeting the Secret Service agent in a bus station and offering to sell him the purported $50,000 in counterfeit money for $25,000.

52nd Ingathering Is Over

Pontiac's Needlework Guild Ingathering took place yesterday in the First Presbyterian Church. The Ingathering has become a tradition in the Pontiac area, taking place on the second Thursday of November for the past 52 years.

Some 1,000 women contributing clothing yesterday. The articles were immediately sorted and price tags from purchased items removed.

Anyone may contribute to the Guild and Guild membership may be obtained by contacting any member and contributing two articles of clothing annually. The only stipulation is that the clothing be new.

The purpose of requesting new clothing is that needy people may have something new for Christmas instead of items that have been previously used.

OFFICERS

New officers elected for the next two years are, Mrs. James Aldrich, president; Mrs. Forest Wood, vice president; Mrs. William Freymuth, secretary and Mrs. Philip Francis, treasurer.

Shown arriving at the First Presbyterian Church Thursday with articles of clothing for the Needlework Guild of America, Inc. annual Ingathering are Mrs. Robert Isgrigg of Menominee Road and Mrs. Carroll Braid of Rosewood Drive.

Not Your Cup of Tea

Tell Husband of Feelings

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in the retail business. I am strictly a wife and mother. There is a very attractive woman who comes to town and calls on my husband for business reasons. She stays at the hotel for several days at a time. When she's in town my husband doesn't even know he has a family. He has all his meals with her and keeps ridiculously late hours.

This woman is married, has a family and is about 10 years older than my husband. Her husband must trust her implicitly to let her travel the way she does.

My husband seems "preoccupied" lately, and is considerably less romantically inclined. We've been married for six years and were very happy — until now. Do you believe in a woman's intuition? Or am I unjustly suspicious? I need advice, Abby.

LUMP IN MY THROAT

DEAR LUMP: Your husband appears to have a premature case of the seven-year-itch. Don't scratch the "evidence." Let him know you are jealous, suspicious, and unwilling to put up with any philandering.

DEAR ABBY: We need help desperately! Last summer a new family moved into our neighborhood which is in one of the nicer suburbs of this city. These people are a disgrace! They let their yard go until the weeds were nearly three feet tall. They haven't washed their windows since they moved in.

They have dogs, which they have trained to use everyone's yard but their own. And to top it off, they hang their wash in their living room windows! They have no draperies, and it can be seen from the street.

This is a high class, respectable neighborhood, Abby. Everyone else takes pride in his house and yard. What can we do with people like this?

SICKENED NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: First, call on these neighbors and recite your complaints directly to them. If that doesn't bring results, ask a lawyer if these people have a right to impose that kind of eyesore and inconvenience (the dogs!) on their neighbors.

The lawyer's fee could be split up among the offended neighbors, and might be well worth it.

DEAR ABBY: If baby sitters ever form a union, these rules should be included:

- Time and a half for people who come home later than they say they will. I don't mind if they're half an hour or even 45 minutes late, but folks who say they'll be home "around midnight" and then trail in at 3 a.m. should pay some sort of penalty.

- Nonmembers of the family who are "added" to the sitters' care at the last minute should not be looked after free. (This goes for neighbors and relatives who leave their children to "play" with those in the sitters' care.)
- Everything a sitter is expected to do should be spelled out. Sitters shouldn't be expected to do the ironing just because there is a basket of clothes to be ironed and the children have been put to bed.

If sitters and those who hire them had a better understanding of the above mentioned, everyone would be a lot happier.

Others taking office were Mrs. Ralph Graham, Mrs. John E. Bray, Mrs. Henry Hight and Mrs. Hilda LaLonde.

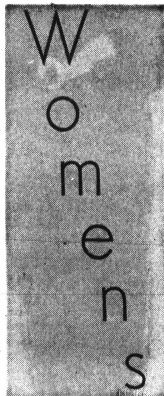

Mrs. Luther Bailey of West Yale Street was hostess for the luncheon meeting.

Pontiac Press Photos by Roll Winter

The task of sorting into groups and removing price tags falls into the hands of Mrs. William Isgrigg (left) of Cherokee Road and Mrs. Bruce Hubbard of Ottawa Drive. Some groups in the area spent the entire year making clothing for the pre-Christmas Ingathering. The clothing was distributed yesterday to area organizations representing needy people of all age groups.

She's Asking for Talk by Actions

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The 22-year-old daughter of a friend is being rushed by a young man with whom she is spending several evenings a week in his apartment, frequently until two o'clock in the morning or later.

She has been well brought up and has never, until now, flouted propriety and discretion. Her parents are quite upset and she is amazed and hurt that they don't trust her. She maintains that this is no longer considered indiscreet.

They would like your opinion.

— Mrs. R.R.

Dear Mrs. R.R.: Any woman, whether she is 22 or 32, is asking for criticism when she remains in a man's apartment until two in the morning.

A girl of 22 is certainly old enough to dine with a man and spend the evening with him. It isn't even a question of "trust" but rather of the reputation she will make for herself. I'm all for the current relaxations in rigid rules, but within limits, and I think two o'clock is beyond the limit.

If you are in a position to suggest that either they go out to dance or visit friends when they want to make it a late date, otherwise that they say good-night shortly after dinner?

So you're planning to give a shower? A new booklet by Elizabeth L. Post tells you everything you need to know for a bridal shower, a welcome party for a new neighbor, the local minister or anyone else.

To get a copy, send a quarter to cover booklet and shipping expenses to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

A food basket and clothing for a needy area family, also a donation for a juvenile in an area foster home will be sent.

Mrs. John Guenther will be hostess for the Christmas party with Mrs. Mabel Miller assisting.

Guests included Mrs. Ray Koskela, Mrs. William Edgar and Mrs. Russell See.

Hear Talk on Trouble Spots

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Speaking on "Trouble Spots in Focus" before a Birmingham Town Hall audience, Willem Oltmans yesterday clocked 60 minutes of enlightenment punctuated with humor and anecdote.

Although the "spots" are nearly as numerous as those on a youngster beset with chicken pox — showing in Latin America countries, most of Africa, and India — it was on Indonesia that the Dutch journalist and television reporter centered his discourse.

From a first-name, break-fast-companion relationship with President Achmed Sukarno, Oltmans described Indonesia as the Communist nut in the United States' South Viet Nam-Australia nutcracker.

SUKARNO NOT OUT

In doing so, he emphatically dispelled the current notion that Sukarno has had it, and retains nominal title as head of state of the 3,000-island republic only by sufferance of the military junta.

"As far as Sukarno is concerned," said the correspondent, "things are little changed. The man who wrested Indonesia from the Dutch 21 years ago is an ideological blank. He works both sides of the street and the middle to further the interests of his bankrupt, wholly corrupt, inflation-ridden country."

After American aid dried up, explained Oltmans, the dictator turned to Russia for military and economic help.

When the Kremlin closed the spigot, he reached out a beckoning hand to Red China.

Now with that country's domestic turmoil making it a dubious source of aid, he is making goo goo eyes at Japan—and the dollar signs portend that the Nipponese are soon to be nipped.

How then could so fallacious a belief in the eclipse of Sukarno have gained credence?

"Because," explained Oltmans, firing a blast at the international news media, "of the tendency to rely on observations and conclusions of reporters with insufficient background and interpretive depth to see Indonesian conditions as they really are, instead of screening the evidence to match preconceptions or accommodating it to wishful thinking."

COMMUNICATION

The urgent need of modern civilization is greater international communication between both governments and peoples.

Pointing out that basic objectives are common to all nationalities, Oltmans found most disturbing the fact that man has made so much progress in scientific and technological fields and so little toward a global spirit of fellowship.

In this regard, he had praise for the cultural and humanitarian agencies of the United Nations, but none for its international political effectiveness.

A celebrity luncheon at Bloomfield Open Hunt following the lecture at Birmingham Theater brought forth a wide range of questions which the lecturer fielded with authority and engaging frankness.

Packaging many queries regarding the outcome of America's involvement in Viet Nam, the "Flying Dutchman" stuck out his prophetic neck to predict that it would end in a Korea-style armistice.

But he warned that neither bullets nor dollars can eradicate communism until the lot of the destitute is brightened by present amelioration and a hopeful future.

Ended Career

By the time Marlene Dietrich was seven years old she had learned to play the violin; but at 18, a serious wrist injury ended her dream of becoming a concert violinist.

Area U. of M. Students Busy

By ROBERTA WINE

The past few weeks have been busy ones for all University of Michigan students. Homecoming, "First-a-Fall 66" was held last month. This was followed immediately by midterm exams.

Christine Anderson, Bloomfield Hills, was selected as U of M's first homecoming queen. Chris is also president of her sorority, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Many of the sororities, fraternities, and dormitories entered floats in the parade.

Gail Majour, a junior in Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, worked on her sorority's float which won first place. Gail lives on Lansdowne in Drayton Plains.

Anne Hubbard of Ottawa Drive served on the homecoming tickets committee.

Those students who pledged sororities and fraternities are presently experiencing the "joys" of being a pledge.

THE GREEKS

In addition to those mentioned in a previous article are Diane McCall, Delta Sigma Theta; Jan Carline, Tri-gon; Doug Shelton, Delta Chi. They are all from Pontiac.

Bob Mersky of Cove Road in Orchard Lake pledged Sigma Alpha Mu. Bob is also working on the University Yearbook "The Ensign".

At a university of this size a student can find an organization adapted to almost any of his interests.

Judy Eames of Pontiac joined the University Sailing Club.

Penny Young of Desmond Street spends some of her spare time working on the campus newspaper, "The Michigan Daily."

Carol Bacak of Pontiac is working with underprivileged children through the Office of Economic Opportunity. In many introductory Psychology courses this is required.

COOPERATIVE

Lucy Alix of Birmingham is living in the Oxford Co-operative Housing Unit and was elected to the judiciary committee of her house, Geddes House.

Peggy Joos of Ottawa Drive joined the Wesley Foundation Youth Organization and is presently teaching Sunday School at the Methodist Church in Ann Arbor.

Ann Honhart and Sue Shutt, both of Birmingham, are members of the University Concert Dance Club. The club stresses ballet and modern dance.

Sour Cream, Crumbs Baked on Fillets

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
If you are wondering how to vary the way you prepare fish fillets, here is a suggestion from Mrs. Norman Cheal of Wormer Lake.

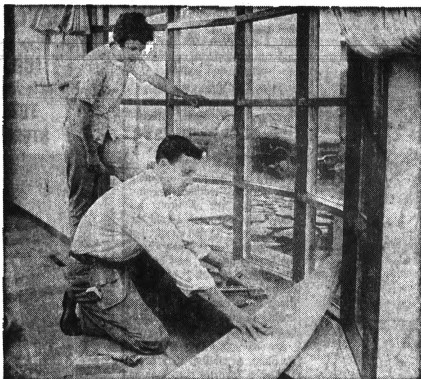

Six children keep her busy at home. But she finds time to pursue her interests in painting and music and to serve in various religious and community organizations.

BAKED FISH WITH SOUR CREAM

By Mrs. Norman Cheal

1 package (1 lb.) frozen fish fillets, or fresh fish
1 pint sour cream
1 cup soft bread crumbs
Grease a shallow baking pan well. Place fresh or thawed fish fillets in pan, skin side down. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread with sour cream mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes, or until delicately brown. Makes six servings.

Other donations will also go to the Iron Mountain Veteran's Hospital and the U.S.O. Milk Fund.

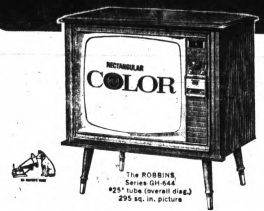

Plans were discussed for an annual card party sponsored by the national board on Nov. 28 at 12:30 p.m. in Federal's community room, Clawson.

A Christmas party by this unit is planned for Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. George Kage of East Walton Boulevard.

Sharing Her Shame Will Ease Heartache

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I am divorced, remarried and the mother of a 22-year-old girl by my ex-husband. I've known for some time that she had a worried look on her face. But until last weekend when she was home I didn't know that he was married or that he was sleeping with her.

I suspected the sex relations because she was so upset over one of their quarrels. When I asked her if she was having them, she screamed at me, "Why shouldn't I? Why should I care about his marriage vows when you broke yours to daddy?"

I can't even think any more...

ANSWER: She sounds as though she were about to end this affair. Not tomorrow, of course. But soon. So the question for you is: Can you let her blame you for it? Can you allow her to compare it to your second marriage? I hope so.

For what she cried out to you was, "Don't despise me, mother! I am as good as you are! I am not bad! Don't despise me because I so despise myself that I can stand no more contempt!"

She's trying so hard to wrest some dignity for herself out of this humiliating situation. If she had to get it by likening it to your second marriage, let her, in mercy's name, do it.

Otherwise, self-contempt may overwhelm her and she may fling herself into trouble that makes this mess look like child's play. So please find an immediate occasion to say to her: "Do you imagine that I think I'm better than you are? Because I do not, I've made so many poor judgments in my life I can't even count them. I just wish I could feel this hurt for you. But I'm not worried about it. You're very like me. We're both healthy people who do not enjoy hurt."

If you support her likeness to you, she'll soon be able to let her resentment of this man become conscious. Now she's afraid to feel it because feeling it means feeling ashamed of herself, too. But if you quiet her sense of shame, the resentment will be able to explode into her awareness and she'll end this affair.

After that's done, she'll be able to say, "It was my fault, mother." But now the responsibility for fault is just too much for her.

Just as a tired toddler will lift up his arms to say, "Carry me, mommy," so is this child of yours saying to you, "Take the blame for this folly of mine, mother. I am too tired to carry it myself."

Take it, fellow parent. Take it and she will recover her moral strength just as the carried toddler recovers his physical strength.

Card Party Will Aid Students

Raising funds to augment a scholarship fund for nursing students is the purpose of the annual card party sponsored by the University of Michigan Alumnae Club of Pontiac.

The party this year is scheduled for Tuesday evening at First Federal Savings Oakland at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Raymond Rapaport is general chairman.

Cheryl Hight, daughter of the James H. Hights of Mark Street, is the current recipient of the group's scholarship. She is a sophomore nursing student.

Assisting Mrs. Rapaport are Mrs. John Maturo, Iama C. Hook, Mrs. Earl Martin, Helen Swanson, Marion Lehner, Gertrude Overton and Margaret Steward.

The event is open to the public and tickets are available from members or at the door.

Mrs. W. E. Beebe, East Iroquois Road (left) and Mrs. John Maturo, Fourth Avenue, regard Mrs. Beebe's nurse's cap as a symbol. Both women are working on the sixth annual benefit card party of the University of Michigan Alumnae Club of Pontiac. Proceeds from the Tuesday evening event go to a scholarship fund to help a U. of M. nursing student.

Polly's Pointers Use Hot Then Cold

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for Mrs. W. V. who wanted to know how to easily remove light labels from jars. Fill the bottle or jar with HOT water, put the cap on and then lay it in a pan of COLD water.

The labels come off in one piece after a little soaking. Thank you for this privilege of expressing my knowledge. — E. C. R.

DEAR POLLY — I found an easy way to soak off labels. Put enough water in a pan to cover the label and add a teaspoonful of vinegar. Leave the bottle with the label in the water for a few minutes, then start peeling the edge carefully and the label will peel right off. — M. S.

DEAR POLLY — This Pointer involves a bit of expense, but it certainly saves work for me. I bought full-sized plastic mattress covers with zippers for our beds at the lake. In the fall, I put these ON the beds and fill with folded, clean linens, spreads and son on.

Mine are about 10 inches deep and I am able to slide drawers into them without emptying the drawers. In the spring everything is clean, dust-free and ready to go.

There are so many cleaning uses for old toothbrushes but the handles are all wrong for many such purposes. I hold the handle over a lighted candle, not too closely, and slowly bend the handle upright, just beyond the bristles, until I have the desired angle. This makes them much more usable for cleaning behind faucets and other hard-to-get-at places. — M. H. Q.

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaker idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

Does Budget Include Cost of 'Goodies'?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant
In Money Management

"Do the figures you quote for a week's food for two people include goodies for six men at a card game three times a month?" asks a wife in Spring Valley, N.Y., who has just about had it. She adds:

"My husband and I, many times in two and one-half years, have fought the same battle over what I spend for food. He, too, reads your column and feels we should spend the same as you say two people can get along on. However, we have a 14-month-old son with marvelous appetite!"

To Mrs. H.K. I say: Put the potato chips, soda, and pretzels for the card game under the heading of Entertainment, and keep your week's regular grocery money separate.

It's not fair to ring in those extras, any more than it would be to charge up a new blanket to butter and eggs. If you don't for an Entertainment Fund in the budget, you ought to because you'll find you spend it anyway.

And you can't pretend Junior's meals don't really count, when he probably eats at least $5 worth all by himself.

In fact, prices have been continually sneaking up, a few cents at a time on this food item and that. The estimated weekly budget figures have gone up as much as $6 cents each for Low, Moderate, and Liberal food plans since I quoted those figures. And we can expect to see the next figures released by the Department of Agriculture showing a still greater rise.

The encroaching cost of eating prompted a Midwest reader to report on a recent suggestion I made about letting complaining husbands take over the food shopping for awhile.

"I know someone who has had difficulty with her husband about the food money," she writes, "so she compelled him to do the shopping. After 10 days, he was happy to return the job to his wife with a substantial increase for food."

All husbands, however, don't "compel" easily. Mrs. W.S., in Chicago writes: "I'm one of those wives who is allowed $25 a week for food—supposedly. But my husband won't admit that it goes for many more things than food."

To name some: paper toweling, napkins, toothpicks, kitchen cleanser, hand soap, laundry soap, ammonia, wax paper, sandwich bags, scouring pads, detergents, aluminum foil, copper polish, pet food, etc.

"My husband knows $25 isn't enough, but he works constantly to make himself think it is."

Which brings up one of the chief causes for confusion in so many arguments over what's to be spent at the market. Food is what you eat. Housekeeping supplies belong in another category of spending: Household Operating Costs.

This is as realistic as food, but most shoppers just lump it under "supermarket costs" and don't make the distinction they should. Then when the head of the house complains that he ought to get a better meal considering what his wife spends for "food", she wails.

If she would show him in figures what per cent of the "grocery" money goes for paper goods, storage wrappings, cleaning products, laundry aids, etc., her case would be infinitely stronger.

He might be willing to put out a little more in the interests of good eating. It's really not fair to the man who never shops to leave him with an unjustified grudge. Why let him keep on thinking that it's neglect he's suffering from, when it's really Household Operating Costs?

The Clarion Cookes of Cedar Shake Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to Ronald Arahamian, son of the Abraham Arahamians of Covered Bridge Drive. She attends Oakland Community College and is a member of Chi Delta sorority. Her fiancé is affiliated with Theta Chi fraternity at Michigan State University. A June 17 altar date in the Covenant Baptist Church, Detroit, is set.

Sorority Plans Bazaar Sale

A bazaar featuring hand made items and baked goods will highlight a meeting Tuesday for members of Alpha Gamma Delta North Suburban Alumnae Club. Assisting the hostess, Mrs. Arthur Underwood of Birmingham, will be Mrs. Marlowe Alsager and Jane Graf.

One way to separate food cost from that of supplies is to go over your cashier's tabulation slip when you get home. You know pretty well what your cleaning supplies cost per item and can recognize them in the list.

Or, use the two-cart shopping method for awhile: put only food purchases in the cart on the first go-round, check them out, and put them aside for the moment. Then go round again for non-edibles only. This process takes a little longer, of course. But less time than it takes to have a family row.

Air Gals Fly High in Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Members of the Sky Belles, a new club for airline stewardesses, are taking flying lessons from private instructors.

The club roster is composed of girls from National, Pan American, Delta, Eastern, American and standard airlines.

The commander-in-chief of the group, Rennie Donahue, hopes that stewardesses from other airlines serving the Miami International Airport will join the organization.

The club's biggest problem is getting 20 widely traveling girls to the same place at the same time for monthly meetings.

Another problem is that stewardesses are flying so much for the airlines that they have little time to devote to learning to fly for themselves.

Soap Scissors for Easy Cutting

Rub soap on scissor edges before cutting materials that ravel easily.

Also, place a bar of soap under material that has a tendency to ravel before cutting buttonholes. Not only does the soap help the material not to ravel but it protects the cutting surface on which you are working.

After the first buttonhole, the razor blade will also be soaped for the remaining holes that must be cut.

Turn On the LSD Device

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON — If you were channel-hopping during the election coverage Tuesday night, you undoubtedly encountered one or all of the vote projection systems used by the television networks.

These electronic methods of interpreting returns were called "Pa," "Eva" and "RSVP." With only a small percentage of the ballots counted, the computers would forecast the eventual winner. Usually, at some point in the evening morning, after a long evening of dial twiddling, I must have gotten kind of punchy. I could have sworn I heard one of the networks refer to its projection system as "LSD."

Plenty of Turkey for Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the average American is gobbling down more and more turkey each year, supplies are plentiful for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. A spokesman for the National Turkey Federation and the Poultry and Egg National Board said today current per capita consumption of turkey is estimated at 7.9 pounds last year and 6.2 pounds in 1960.

There will be plenty of turkeys for Americans to enjoy during Thanksgiving and the Holiday season this year," he said.

Junior Editors Quiz on KENTUCKY DERBY

QUESTION: Why is a famous horse race called the Kentucky Derby?

ANSWER: Since early Egyptian days, men have enjoyed racing horses. Stallions of the beautiful and fast Arabian breed were brought to England in the old days. From these the Thoroughbred racing breed developed.

Horse racing was called the "sport of kings" because, beginning with James I in 1603, so many English monarchs patronized it.

A number of annual racing events with prizes began to be held at such places as Epsom, Newmarket and Ascot. But the race at Epsom Downs, established by the Earl of Derby in 1780, became the most famous. Its name, the Derby, became known in many places of the world.

In America, race horse breeding became highly developed in the state of Kentucky, centering about the prosperous town of Louisville. In 1875, a large racing track was built there called Churchill Downs, and the running of an annual horse race began, called the Kentucky Derby after the famous English event. It is a 1 1/4-mile race for 3-year-old horses and is held each May.

Although other races have higher purses for winners, the Kentucky Derby is generally considered the most glamorous horse race in the United States.

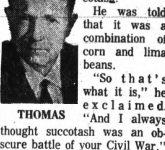

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the picture, with chestnut on the horses and some bright color notes on the jockeys.

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — The speaker at the opening of the Dwight D. Eisenhower Library in Abilene will be opened for research workers Nov. 17.

Discourse Shows Ustinov Feeling His Oats

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "Succotash," said Peter Ustinov, peering over the menu of the Disney Studios commissary.

THOMAS
He was told that it was a combination of corn and lima beans.

"So that's what it is," he exclaimed. "And I always thought succotash was an obscure battle of your Civil War."

"So that's what it is!" he exclaimed. "And I always thought succotash was an obscure battle of your Civil War."

His size seems fitting for his current assignment, the title role of "Blackbeard's Ghost," and he looked properly piratical in his bandanna and buccanier's costume. He also seems well suited to the philosopher's robes in "Barefoot in Athens," tonight's NBC special in which he portrays Socrates. It is his first venture into television drama since he played Samuel Johnson on an early "Omnibus" program.

SMALL ROLE
As usual, the Ustinovian career is proceeding in all directions. Currently in release is "The Lady L," which he wrote and directed and also played a small role.

"I have a book of short stories called 'Frontiers of the Sea,' which is being published this month," he reported. "Two new plays of mine will soon be produced in London—'The Unknown Soldier and His Wife,' which is being done by the Royal Shakespeare Company, and 'Halfway Up the Tree.'"

Also in Ustinov's future is a novel. It concerns the sheriff of a small Southern town who wins a European trip and gets into a rest of the book concerns the argument in an English pub English government's dilemma of how to punish him for doing out badly because we were en-habit," said the author. "The first Hollywood film for Ustinov since the debacle of 'John Goldfarb, Please Come Home' ('I had an inclination it would turn out badly because we were enjoying it too much!')."

Kettering Looks for Happy Ending

Captains Host Rivals Under New Lighting

Waterford Will Try to Stop Kettering's Unbeaten Streak

Pontiac Press Photo

SPARKS DEFENSE — Opponents of Waterford Kettering have found the going rough this season and one of the big reasons that it has been rough is linemen Ken McLean, a 5-11, 205-pounder, who is bidding for All State honors. McLean and his teammates meet Waterford this evening at 8 p.m.

Cautious Trip for Purdue 11

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bridgesmaid Purdue takes another cautious trip to the altar here Saturday, hoping finally to tie the knot that binds the Boiler-makers to their first Rose Bowl trip in history.

The Boiler-makers have been down the aisle many times in the past, only to watch another bride walk away on the honeymoon to Pasadena.

Minnesota's Gophers are the last big hurdle standing in the way of Purdue and Coach Jack Mollenkopf finally being united with the elusive Rose Bowl groom.

Purdue is favored to make it this time, but first will have to prove its team against a stubborn Minnesota team that has risen from the ashes of a 49-0 lacing at Michigan three weeks ago to remain in contention for the roses.

U.S. Leads Golf Teams in Canada Cup Tourney

TOKYO (AP) — Handsome George Knudson of Canada, rallied for birdies on the 16th and 17th holes today to regain the lead in the annual Canada Cup golf competition.

Knudson earlier had slipped behind Arnold Palmer after his record-setting 64 Thursday put him in the first-round lead. Knudson's 36-32 gave him 66 for the day and a 36-hole total of 132. Palmer shot 34-33—57 which with his 66 of Thursday made his score 133. Par for the 6,962-yard hilly course is 72.

Tied for third in individual honors were Lu Liang-huan of Nationalist China with 67-68 and Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan, the local club pro, who shot 69-69.

Table Tennis Race Tightens; Five Contending

The Pontiac Table Tennis Association's weekly league standings received a considerable tightening Thursday night as Pine Knob knocked Elliot Engineering from the lead.

The resort town posted a 5-1 conquest of Elliot, drawing the first-place battle into a five-team battle with Pine Knob only a couple points from joining the fray, too.

Dorris & Son Realtors notched the night's only sweep, taking all six points from Richardson's Dairy, and moved into the top spot by one point.

Francis Fuel dropped Club 99 5-1, to tie the engineers for second. Bustner Cleaners & Pepsi-Cola (5-1 over the County Guidance Clinic) moved into the race, also.

First Line, Crozier Star

Red Wings Win in Top Style

DETROIT (UPI) — That long give, however, is the scoring figures which opponents have registered against the Wings. After Crozier and a leaky defense gave up 17 goals in the first three games, only 12 goals have been scored in the last seven contests.

The Wings came up with one of their infrequent victories over the Chicago Black Hawks, 3-0, as Crozier registered his second straight shutout and Alex Delvecchio scored a pair of goals. Boston topped Toronto, 4-0, in the other game.

The loss was only the second in eight games for Chicago, which was skating without Bobby Hull for the first time this year.

Crozier's shutout kept Detroit on the comeback trail, with its fourth win against a tie and a loss in the last six games.

What is even more impres-

Neither team could score in the first period but midway through the second period, Prentice took the puck in the end shot of the night past DeJordy.

Devecchio showed his skates to Chicago's Pat Stapleton, left him flat on the ice and skated in to beat Denis DeJordy.

In the final period, Boivin gave the Wings an insurance goal with assists from Howe and Prentice, sinking a long shot which was screened and never gave DeJordy a chance.

Howe gave Devecchio the puck on a perfectly placed pass as he crossed center ice. Devecchio outmaneuvered the only Chicago defenseman near him and effortlessly flipped his second shot of the night past DeJordy.

The win moved the Wings into a tie for third place with Montreal and left them just two points out of second place and three out of first. Their next game will be Saturday night at Olympia Stadium against Toronto.

At Boston, Rookie goalie Gerry Cheevers won his first NHL shutout for the Bruins against Toronto.

Cheevers stopped 30 Toronto shots. Murray Oliver, Johnny Bucyk, Phil Martin and Wayne Connelly scored the Boston goals.

Saturday's games match Toronto at Detroit and New York at Montreal.

LEADS CAPTAINS — Kettering has an all-around performer in quarterback Dick Miceli, who handles the kicking and passing. The senior signal-caller passes well, punts and he can kick field goals as he proved last Saturday night by booting a 25-yarder as a runner and a downed Pontiac Northern, 15-6.

'The Bomb' Hopes to Burst on Arrows

MFL All-Star Game Sunday

Tom "The Bomb" Tracy has been affiliated with the Midwest Football League for only one year, but he's already "brainwashed" as to in equal every team in the circuit.

Beat Pontiac—that's the goal of everyone in the six team league and the best chance the MFL teams will have to do this will be Sunday when Tracy sends the MFL All-Stars against the Arrows at Winder Stadium.

The Arrows have never lost a game in Pontiac in two seasons, including the All-Star game last year when Karl Sweetan directed the Arrows to a tough 7-6 triumph.

Tracy, former NFL grid star, coached the Ypsilanti Vikings this year and moved them up from next-to-last to second place with a 7-3 record.

In the season opener, the Arrows defeated Ypsilanti 18-0 and in the return at Ypsilanti, Pontiac won again 13-6. Up to the season finale in Dayton, these were the lone losses for the Vikings who were in the title chase all the way.

In the season final at Dayton, the Vikings were smashed 50-6 in a game played in snow, rain and mud.

"We fumbled the first three times we had the ball and they scored on them all. It was a slaughter from there on," said Tracy.

But Tracy wants to beat the Arrows more than anything and will have the best players the league has to offer Sunday to try it.

"Add the best players from the Pontiac team to this All-Star squad and I'd say this team could give some of the bigger boys in other leagues a run for their money," he noted.

The All-Stars will have the best passer in the league Pete Mikolajewski; have the top receivers, the leading rusher, three of the top defensive backs and a huge defensive line to go against the Arrows.

Pontiac coach Lyle Wells looked at the All-Star roster and noted, "They really stacked the deck against us, but we'll show them why we're the champions."

The Arrows' physical condition has improved over the past two weeks. Little running back Chuck Wiseman is ready again for the injury list mount.

When the injury list mount, Wells moved end Tony Od-neal into the backfield and the rugged grider from Mississippi Industrial College responded with five running touchdowns in two games.

Jim Johnson, another all-purpose back, closes the season as the leading scorer in the league, having distinguished himself as a runner and top flight pass receiver.

Ron Bishop gets the starting nod at quarterback and he will have to get some help from front line to ward off the huge defensive linemen led by 275 pound Mike Cunningham of Ypsilanti, 280 pound defensive ends Denny Spencer and Gordy Jensen also of Ypsilanti.

The game is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are available in advance at Osun's Men's Store, Griff's Grill, Bob-Ken's Bar and VFW Post No. 1370.

Gates will open at 11:30 a.m. At 5:30 p.m. immediately following the game, the MFL All-Star team and the Arrows will be honored at a dinner at the VFW Post. A limited number of seats was made available for the public.

"He's the champion and he's fast. I give him credit for that. But there's not a man living, and very few animals that I'm scared of."

"He tried to put the scare in me. That don't work. What he don't remember is I've been there before with this kind of thing. He ended up sounding like a little boy."

Rules and regulations for the fight were adopted at a meeting of officials of the Texas Boxing Commission and representatives of the fighters.

"He's a cute guy," Williams said. "He tries to con you. He tried to get me shook up. He don't bother me a bit."

Miami-Pitt Contest Opens Grid Weekend

By the Associated Press
Miami, a giant killer that operates on a thin margin, tonight faces Pitt, which last week fought the biggest college football giant of them all on even terms for one half.

In their last five games, the Hurricanes have scored just five touchdowns but have managed to knock off previously unbeaten Southern California and Georgia.

Pitt held Notre Dame to a 7-0 lead in the first half last week before the No. 1 Irish came on with a rush and won 40-0. Pitt Coach Dave Hart has moved on to fresher worries.

"I'm worried about Miami," said Hart. "Too many people think they're on a vacation when they go down there."

Miami's problem, needless to say, is scoring. In the five previous games, it has been inside its opponent's 20-yard line 12 times without scoring and inside the 10 six times with nothing to show.

TITLE GAME

The rest of the major colleges are active Saturday and there is no bigger game around than the Arkansas-Southern Methodist contest that will go a long way toward deciding the Southwest Conference champion. Arkansas, No. 6 in the Associated Press poll, is 4-1 in the conference, while SMU is unbeaten in four starts.

Top-rated Notre Dame and Michigan State should have an easy time of it the week before they square off in East Lansing, Mich., in a game for the national championship.

The No. 1 Irish meet Duke. The No. 2 Spartans meet Indiana. Also a prohibitive favorite to improve on its undefeated record is third-ranked Alabama, which meets South Carolina.

Nebraska, No. 4, is a two-touchdown pick over Big Eight Conference foe Oklahoma State.

EX-COACH DIES — Eddie Erdelatz, 52, former coach at Navy died yesterday in Peninsula hospital near San Francisco. He was hospitalized three weeks ago.

Michigan Strong Favorite

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan is a 16-point favorite over Northwestern in Saturday's final home game for 23 seniors on the Wolverine squad.

Jack Clancy, the record-breaking Michigan end, is through for the Blue after this season. So is three-quarters of what has been called the best backfield in collegiate football—Jim Detwiler, Carl Ward and Dave Fisher.

Guards Don Bailey and Henry Hanna and tackle Jim Hribal, the big blockers, are graduating. Linebackers Frank Nunley and Berry Dehlin and the secondary of Ron Rowser, Mike Bass, Rick Sygar and Rick Volk all will be gone next year.

Clayton Whitte, a first string offensive end until he hurt his shoulder earlier this year, is expected to start Saturday. But injuries to tackle Dick Williamson and defensive end Tom Stinch may keep them on the sidelines. Last week snow and a slick field hampered Michigan's running attack, especially the end pichouts to Dave Fisher on end sweeps.

The weather has been bad all this week. "It's disturbing," said Michigan Coach Bump Elliott. "It doesn't give us the greatest opportunity to get ready."

"Northwestern is a good tough team," Elliott warned.

Michigan, up and down all year, could be caught off stride by the Wildcats. The Wolverines dropped a close one to Illinois last week, losing on a 98-yard runback of an intercepted pass.

And they could be pointing too much for their final opponent, Ohio State at Columbus, Nov. 19.

Georgia Tech, No. 5, bids for a bowl bid when it goes up against Penn State. Southern California, No. 7, has a week off.

Eight ranked UCLA battles to keep its Rose Bowl hopes alive which it faces Stanford, Georgia, No. 9, hopeful of some postseason action, meets Auburn. Tennessee, No. 10, meets Mississippi.

Full Claim on Title Is MSU Goal

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Mighty Michigan State, at full strength except for injured fullback Bob Apisa, comes to Indiana Saturday with the second half of the Big Ten football championship at stake.

The undefeated Spartans already own half of the title and can assure themselves undisputed possession by beating Indiana, which has only one victory and one tie to show for eight games.

Sophomore Regis Cavender is expected to fill in again this week for Apisa, who missed the Iowa game last week because of a knee bruise.

A week away from the big game with Notre Dame, No. 1 team in the nation, the No. 2 Spartans may have trouble keeping their minds on the business at hand. But they need only recall last year to remind themselves that the Hoosiers can be dangerous.

Indiana took a 2-6 record to East Lansing a year ago and lost the undefeated Spartans 13-10 after three quarters. Michigan State pulled out a 27-13 victory in the final period.

RUSHING ATTACK

Michigan State is likely to stay on the ground much of the time. The Spartans have averaged 246.6 yards by rushing and 113.5 by passing in eight games. Clint Jones leads the team with 676 yards in 129 carries.

Against a Michigan State defense that has given up only an average of only 54 yards by rushing, Indiana is expected to try to travel by air, with Frank Stavoff throwing and Bill Couch doing much of the catching.

Stafford has completed 92 of 171 passes for 1,045 yards and five touchdowns, with 10 interceptions. Couch has caught 40 tosses for 480 yards and two touchdowns.

Martin, Dave Johnson, Guy Riddle and Nick Ochao. The team will run in the Junior College meet tomorrow in Pensacola. Coach Reed is holding the trophy won by the squad in regional competition earlier in the week.

Highland Lakes Heads South

OCC Harriers Point to Nationals

Winning can be a problem, but when you win, it's a nice problem to have. Take the cross-country squad of Oakland Community College's Highland Lakes campus.

The Highlanders started the year with their first cross-country run, and few outside of coach Lynn Reed and the team itself, expected any great effort in the first campaign.

Everyone was willing, piling up a 12-0 record, and earlier this week captured the U. S. regional junior college championship. Winning the regional title produced a problem.

With such a good squad, one that had just won the regional crown, it was only reasonable to assume that the next stop would be the national event in Pensacola, Fla.

The problem was: How to raise the $1,800 to get the team to Florida and back.

Campus clubs and organizations chipped in. Individuals tossed in a few dollars. Looking around, the administration, with no funds on hand for such an event since it had not been anticipated, dipped into a few dollars and accounts that contained a few dollars and came up with the $1,800.

Reed and the squad left Metropolitan Airport this morning for the national event tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. and return Sunday at noon.

County Point Crown Is Battle to Finish

With a little luck, Dick Kraatz, of Bloomfield Hills could wind up with the Oakland County football scoring title.

Mike Smith and Kenyon Murphy of Bay City Central continue to run one-two in the Saginaw Valley Conference race.

The speedy Kraatz is sitting atop the ladder this week with 108 points, but has finished the season, while his nearest competitor, Cliff LaFord of Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, has one game remaining.

Smith has pushed across 81 points while Murphy has collected 72.

LaFord has 103 points and he'll wind up the season Sunday against Wayne St. Mary in the Detroit Catholic League second division playoffs.

McFarland, Milford

Holding down the third spot is Bob Davenport of Detroit Country Day with 98 points. He has also finished the season.

UHF Channel Gets White Sox Games

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago ultra high frequency UHF television station, WFLD, signed Thursday a multi-million dollar, five-year contract to telecast a majority of White Sox baseball games beginning in 1968.

The nation's first major league baseball telecasting by a UHF station also will be carried in Milwaukee, Wis., by a proposed affiliate station of WFLD, operated by Field Communications Corp.

The corporation is a subsidiary of Field Enterprises, Inc., publisher of the Chicago Daily News and Chicago Sun-Times.

Kathy Goes 'Home' for Golf Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Kathy Whitworth, leading the ladies golf tour in titles and money this year, returns to her home course today in an attempt to win her third Alamo Women's Open Golf Tournament crown in four years.

The $12,500 event will be played over the 6,600-yard Pecos Valley Country Club course, which Miss Whitworth represents on the tour. And she represents it well.

The lanky better has won eight tournaments this season, one more than the perennial queen of the fairways, Mickey Wright. Miss Whitworth also heads the money listings over second place Sandra Haynie.

Keen Rivalries to Close Prep Campaign

The annual showdown between Royal Oak's two gridiron Class A rivals highlights tonight's prep schedule though several other keen rivalries also are bidding for the spotlight.

Birmingham will have a night contest on the Groves' field between Seaholm and Brother Rice, while the Falcons are invading Southfield.

Oak Park visits Berkley, Port Huron travels to Ferndale and Walled Lake is at East Lansing for other non-league season ending contests.

A postponed Oakland A encounter finds Madison's Eagles journeying to Rochester. Avondale goes to undefeated Marysville with the Yellow Jackets missing regular guards Jim Wood and Jim Isenhardt, who are injured.

TRADITIONAL
The annual Fenton-Holly clash is set for the Broncos' field, Utica is invading Romeo in search of the Little Brown Jug and Lake Orion seeks its initial victory in the finale at Oxford.

Pontiac Central's last league contest has it traveling to Bay City Central. PNH is not scheduled.

The Dondero-Kimball tilt on the Oaks' field pairs the champion of the Border Cities' League and the Southeastern Michigan Association titlist.

Dondero is the state's second-ranked Class A team in the weekly Associated Press prep poll and has an 8-0 mark. The Knights have won six straight after two opening losses.

Seaholm's engagement with Brother Rice brings together two teams with winning records and impressive halfbacks. Greg Pilette paces the Warriors while the annual tilt while Orion is Seaholm's Chris Charlton is at-0-8.

Walled Lake boasts a 6-1 record after last week's Plymouth cancellation knocked a game off the schedule. The Vikings could be ambushed by a so-so East Lansing unit (4-2-2).

Expect Snow for Deer Hunt

A snowstorm expected to move across Northern Michigan today could have two possible effects on the opening of Deer hunting tomorrow in the Upper Peninsula.

A severe storm would drive the deer into heavy cover and keep them there. Light snow couldn't bother the whitetails too much and hunters would have good tracking conditions.

The season in the Lower Peninsula doesn't open until Nov. 19.

The Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest also opens tomorrow. Residents of Oakland County are eligible and only bucks taken in Michigan during the split firearm seasons can be entered. Weight is the only determining factor.

The hunter entering the heaviest buck will receive $150 in savings bonds. The deer and a weight slip, signed by the hunter, person weighing the animal on state approved scales and a witness, must be brought to The Press between 7 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

ball Association players might have been paid extra for all the overtime they worked Thursday night.
The Detroit Pistons came from behind in the fourth quarter but ended with a tie and had to work overtime to beat the Los Angeles Lakers 133-132.

Veteran Eddie Miles combined with rookie Dave Bing for the Detroit victory.
The Lakers were leading 119-117 with only seven seconds remaining, only to have Piston Player Coach Dave DeBusschere calmly drop in a pair of free throws to send the game into overtime.

TOP SCORER

Jerry West scored his season high of 34 points to pace the Lakers.

The Pistons got off quickly in the opening quarter with DeBusschere and Ray Scott scoring for Detroit. They led 17-9 and 23-15 before West and Tommy Hawkins cut the margin to 30-27 at the end of the quarter.

State Elevens to Wrap Up
'66 Seasons

By United Press International
With all of the conference decided and the trophies put away, nine Michigan colleges will head into the wrap-up of their 1966 football seasons Saturday.

Only eight games involving Michigan teams are on tap for the weekend.

The Broncos wrapped up a share of the Mid-America Conference title last week with a 5-1 mark.

Western's final contest is against a rugged southern opponent, West Texas State.

Alma College, which finished in a tie for second place in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association, will be in Detroit Saturday afternoon with the only intrastate battle of the day, with Wayne State University.

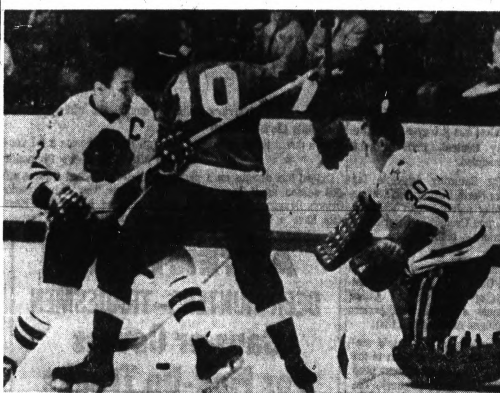

Eastern Michigan will wrap up its season at home against a victory-hungry Eastern Illinois team and Kalamazoo will be at home against Wittenberg.

The Motor Mart Bandits "gravely" eliminated two City Men's Touch Football League contenders last night but must hope for help from one of them Sunday morning.

The Bandits blanked defending champion Orchard Lanes, 13-0, as Chuck Graves scored both touchdowns in a victory that clinched a share of first place for the winners.

Hutchinson's Sales gained a forfeit win from the Independents but was eliminated along with Orchard Lanes. Both have three defeats while the Bandits, hoping to regain the title they held three seasons ago, are finished with two losses.

But the Packers, also, have lost only twice and will make up their final contest with Hutchinson's at 11 a.m. Sunday on the Jaycee Park field. The Packers must win to tie the Motor Mart and force a playoff.

Graves' last night took an eighth-yard scoring aerial from Tom Dabbs in the first quarter, then led the verdict by scoring from the 31 with an intercepted pass. Dabbs passed to Dick Nichols for the final PAT.

Prep Harriers in State Meets

YPSILANTI (AP) — The high school state cross country championships, scheduled for a 45th annual running at Washtenaw Country Club Saturday, have been a yearly fixture in Ypsilanti since their birth here in 1924.

A total of 468 runners, representing the cream of more than 2,200 cross country team members throughout the Lower Peninsula, will compete. Team championships will be decided in classes A, B and C-D individual titles will be determined in classes A and B.

Hazel Park and Pontiac Central are among the Class A favorites.

"It's gotten to be quite a tradition for Eastern Michigan to conduct the meet each year," reflected George Marshall, who has been meet director since 1937.

Marshall will retire after the current school year as Eastern's track and cross country coach, a position he has held for the past 24 years.

Dr. L.W. Olds, retired head of Eastern's athletic department and former Eastern track coach who inaugurated and directed the state harrier meet through 1937, seconds Marshall's statement.

FIRST MEET

Dr. Olds actually conducted the first high school cross country meet in 1922, inviting five teams from the Ypsilanti area. In 1924, the Michigan High School Athletic Association took over sponsorship of the meet to make it an official state championship.

Contestants in that first meet—probably 25 runners took part—started from the water tower in front of the Eastern Campus and followed a course through the nearby residential area back to the water tower. There was no exact distance.

Record Throng of Harriers Set to Go Tomorrow

WHEATON, Ill. (AP) — A record field of nearly 400 runners from more than 60 schools competes Saturday in the ninth NCAA college division cross country meet.

San Diego State, loser only to San Jose States in dual competition this season, is defending champion. Considered top challengers were the Chicago Golf Club home course of Wheaton College are Western Illinois, Eastern Michigan and Ball State.

Other strong contenders include Long Beach (Calif.) College, Eastern Kentucky, Indiana State, South Dakota State and Luther.

The individual title is up for grabs with the 1965 winner, Gene Takle of Luther, not returning.

in Golf Meet

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Caracas Golf Open went into the second round today with Jim Ferree of Savannah, Ga., leading the field.

Ferree burned up the course Thursday with a 31 on the front nine and a four-under-par 66 over-all. He was four-under par on the front nine with a string of five birdies, despite a bogey on the ninth.

What began as a father-son outing, then became a family affair and now is a solo effort has led 16-year-old Bob Finkle to his biggest sport thrill and another top moment in Airway Lanes' history.

The Waterford Township sophomore last Saturday morning posted a 297 game in the Airway Majors Mixed Juniors' League, the second highest sanctioned game in the establishment's history.

If good things do happen in three, then this could complete the cycle for Airway. Less than a month ago the house's Tuesday night Classic produced Airway's initial 300 game.

Two Saturdays ago in the same Mixed Majors League Garry Majors, a WTUS junior, bowled a 688 series that had the house personnel excited.

Now once-a-week regular Finkle connects for 11 straight strikes before leaving the 6-10 pins.

The former Pontiac Press carrier—who lives at 5620 Eldridge and works for his father, a mason, to earn money for bowling—admitted he was shaking on the final delivery and missed his spot.

BEGINNING

He began bowling three years ago when his father Floyd, an ex-league legler, took him. Their informal sessions soon included Barbara, the lady of the household. Then some neighborhood buddies led Bob into the Airway League.

Bob averaged 150 last year, his second, but only began spot bowling recently and his 634 series last week boosted his current average from 168 to 181.

He also bought his own ball this fall. Prior to last Satur-

BOB FINKLE

Keg Lead Stretched in Classic

Al Pietz stretched his Huron Bowl Classic leading average to 202 last week by blasting a 278-224-693 for the Greendale Screw Products team.

Arnie Osta hit 235-242-679 and Tom Bayless a 257, while the third-place Moose Lodge No. 182 improved itself by taking eight points with a 3006.

The Moosemen couldn't gain on runner-up Veterans' Disposal who also won by a sweep. Herk's Auto Supply, too, bettered its season team high series mark with 3038 pins. Jim's Standard Service posted a 1080 game for the season's second best effort.

Monday's West Side Lanes Classic action featured a 255 game (634 series) by Bob Grano of the North Hill Lanes' entry that swept eight points.

Bill Bull hit 213-237-653 as Sport Center Trophies moved into a third-place tie by winning eight. Dick Carmichael's 248 aided the cause. Fairgrounds Bowl also won with a sweep.

There were several records set by the Sylvan Manor Civic League Bowlers Sunday at Sylvan Lanes. Marie Reynolds led the way with a 222-220-629. In the team records, Sniki Tiki now has high game and high series with 786-2303 actual totals. Mary Lavrack had her first 500 series in the Sylvan loop's nine-year history with her 530 effort.

Open Calls 'Earlybirds'

1st Qualifying in Two Weeks

Four Sites to Host City Championship

It's early bird time for bowlers getting ready for the annual Pontiac Open Bowling Championship, Nov. 27-Dec. 18.

There will be many feature trophy and money awards for the bowlers in the tournament this year and one will be the extra $25 going to one of the bowlers on the "early bird" list.

A list will be kept of the first 150 bowlers to submit their entries for qualifying, and the best score from this list will gain the $25 regardless of any other prize he may win.

Trophies will go to the low qualifiers from each of the four qualifying houses—Huron Bowl, 300 Bowl, Airway Lanes and Cooley Lanes.

The big feature of the three weekends of qualifying will be the target score of "600." A bowler need only to add his handicap to his actual score and if it totals 600, he has earned his way into the tournament semifinals.

This qualifying procedure proved popular with nearly 1,000 men bowlers last year.

From the semi-finals, the bowlers will move into the finals and at this point every bowler is assured of a prize. For high-average bowlers and those with any kind of handicap who reach a certain total of actual score in qualifying, there will be a good chance of his entering the Actual's Invitational part of the tournament.

Here again, he has a chance for trophy and money prizes.

The top guaranteed prizes begin at $800 for first place and are followed by $500, $300, $200 and $150. Additional money could be added to these prizes depending on percentage of entries.

TROPHY AWARDS

Entry blanks have been placed in most area establishments and at the Pontiac Recreation Department, co-sponsors of the event.

Defending champion of the Pontiac Open is Joe Sawyer with Ken Bressett as runner-up. Actual's champion in 1965 was Bill Johns.

A breakdown of the bowlers in the prize list last year showed that the money was shared from bowlers with averages ranging from 108 to 207.

The largest number of winners has been in the 145-167 average category.

Bowlers should follow the rule closely in submitting entries. The tournament is sanctioned by the ABC.

Decision on Refuse Study Reaffirmed

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday reaffirmed previous action by again designating County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry to conduct a countywide refuse disposal study.

A decision on which county agency will implement a refuse disposal program will be made by the board when the study is completed.

A dispute over whether the drain commissioner or County Board of Auditors would handle the study apparently was settled Oct. 5 when the board of supervisors voted 40 to 39 for the drain commissioner.

But at its meeting Oct. 19, the board of supervisors voted 61 to 18 to reconsider its previous action and tabled the issue for the future.

A recommendation was agreed upon Wednesday at a hurriedly called joint meeting of the supervisors' Wednesday.

ways and means and drain committees for the drain commissioner to conduct the study and apply for federal grants for the project and it won approval of the full board.

CRITICISM SMITH
Herbert A. Smith, supervisor from Madison Heights, and a member of the drain committee, voiced criticism yesterday because he was not notified of a hurriedly called joint meeting of the supervisors' Wednesday.

He termed failure to notify a committee member of a meeting as "playing politics at the expense of the people."

Anton J. Guyer, committee clerk for the board of supervisors, explained that he attempted to call Smith over a 40-minute period but that Smith's phone was reportedly out of order.

A quorum of both committees was present for the joint meeting.

County Drain Commissioner Barry retained an engineering firm for the study project a week after the board's initial designation for his office to handle the study. Barry notified the engineers of the supervisors' later tabling action.

Board Authorizes Switch to Gas for Heating the Service Center

Gas service for heating the Oakland County service center was authorized yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors.

A heating plan that will utilize gas for all but three months of the year is expected to save the county $28,000 annually, according to the building and grounds committee of the supervisors.

Previously only oil heat has been used in the service center.

In acting on the switch to gas, the supervisors authorized Consumers Power Co. to utilize a 10-foot easement in the service center for laying pipe at no cost to the county.

In other business yesterday, the supervisors authorized the buildings and grounds committee and the County Board of Auditors to prepare rules and regulations for the safe and proper use of parking lots owned by the county.

PARKING RESTRICTIONS

When completed, the parking restrictions will be submitted to the full board of supervisors for approval.

Board members also authorized a permit for construction of an artificial lake in Holly Township and specified that the County Drain Commissioner establish a special assessment district.

Establishment of a normal lake level also was ordered. In other business, the board requested that the State Department of Conservation Boat and Water Safety Section authorize a $28,000 grant to aid the marine enforcement program conducted by the sheriff's department.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

The Board of Education of Bloomfield Hills Schools, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, will receive sealed bids for construction and completion of Auditorium Seating for the new Bloomfield Hills Senior High School located on Lahser Road near Long Lake Road until 1:00 p.m., E.S.T. Thursday, November 10, 1966, at which time bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Separate proposals will be received at County, Michigan.

Labor Took Bad Beating in Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor took a substantial drubbing in Tuesday's election, primarily in the House.

Some 37 House members who supported labor on most key votes in the last session were defeated for reelection and another 13 retired. Only a handful of labor foes were beaten or have retired.

The result cast considerable doubt on the prospects for revival next year of such labor-supported measures as unemployment compensation reform and repeal of Section 14B of the Taft Hartley Act which permits states to ban the union shop under which workers must join unions.

A tally today showed that 47 House members who voted last year to repeal Section 14B will be missing from the House in January, 35 through defeat. Two others were beaten in Senate bids. Only 18 House members who opposed repeal will be gone, most through retirement.

Most of the 47 were among 39 defeated members who voted to bring small businesses under minimum wage coverage and were among 33 beaten congressmen who opposed GOP efforts to slow down minimum wage hikes.

The 14B repeal move faltered in the Senate and was abandoned after Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen led a filibuster against it. But it became an issue in a number of campaigns this fall.

Reed Larson, executive vice president of the National Right to Work Committee, the principal national group opposing repeal, said in an interview today that the issue "contributed substantially to the majority by which the administration was repudiated" in Tuesday's balloting.

He pointed out that most of the pre-repeal House members beaten Tuesday lost out to opponents of repeal. The handful of repeal opponents who were defeated had opponents who felt the same way on this issue, he said.

UP IT GOES — Checks for $1,000 each from four local firms boosts the total collected for the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, Inc., to $55,000. The funds will be used to transform the former Pontiac City Library into a gallery and art workshop for area residents. With their checks are from left

And Urge Strike Study

Griffin to Push Union Fund Safeguards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said yesterday he will press in the 90th Congress for better federal safeguards over labor union welfare and pension funds.

He told a news conference he also will urge a study of the problem of nationwide strikes and ways to prevent them.

"Federal laws give a false sense of security to a lot of people about the billions of dollars being accumulated in welfare and pension funds," he said.

"There actually are not many safeguards against the opportunities for conflict of interest, or for companies going out of business and leaving the workers high and dry."

Griffin is a member of the Senate Education and Labor Committee which has jurisdiction over the matter.

He said he hoped to remain there when committee assignments were made next year, but that he plans to investigate the chance for a transfer from his second committee, public works.

Griffin was delighted by the support he received in Tuesday's election from Wayne County (Detroit) — estimated at 49.8 per cent of the vote — and said his stand on city-oriented legislation like mass transit will be influenced by "the fact that I now represent the whole state."

Republican Surge Extends to Legislatures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have gained 19 chambers and about 700 seats in state legislatures, most of them apparently as a side effect of their gubernatorial and congressional election comeback.

The biggest GOP legislative surge from Tuesday's balloting was in the Midwest, an Associated Press survey shows. Republicans recaptured the Senate and created a House tie in Michigan, and picked up one house in each of five other Midwest states.

Republicans won both houses in Alaska, Arizona, Maine and Utah.

The results added a prognosis feather to the cap former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who had predicted precisely a 700-seat gain for Republican state lawmakers.

Only in Connecticut was there a major Democratic victory — but it came mostly because ancient rural - oriented boundaries of the General Assembly were redrawn to give urban areas equal voice.

But state after state reported Republican legislative pickups along in line with statewide or congressional races.

Many victories simply canceled gains the Democrats had registered in normally Republican states during the 1964 Johnson landslide, when Republicans lost 529 seats.

In several states, reapportionment changed the size of law-making bodies, complicating precise before-and-after comparisons. And scattered races remained in doubt, such as the two-vote victory by one Republican in Hawaii.

2-1 DEM EDGE — But the approximate totals showed Republicans gaining nearly 900 seats in 68 of the 87 chambers for which there was balloting. Democrats cut the net GOP gain back to about 700 by gaining in 12 chambers — but 129 seats of their pickup came only chamber in the country/state senates in Democratic hands, 19 with Republicans and one tied. Democrats control 25 lower houses to 23 for the Republicans and one tied.

Yank Carrier, N-Sub Collide

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus and the aircraft carrier Essex, damaged in a collision off the North Carolina Coast, were homeward bound today for repairs.

The two Navy ships collided Thursday, some 360 miles east of Morehead City, N.C., as the Nautilus practiced an attack on the Essex.

The Navy said the Nautilus, the world's first nuclear submarine, received "extensive damage" to its sail (conning tower) and the Essex's damage was confined to her hull.

Father Turns In Daughter, but All Ends Happily

LONDON (AP) — Maj. Henry Alexander, former British chief of Ghana's defense staff, looked into his daughter's handbag and found drugs. He called the police.

Jane Alexander, 23, appeared in court Thursday on a charge of possessing Indian hemp. The magistrate discharged her with a warning "not to go on with this."

Jane kissed her father after the court hearing.

"I've been silly," she said. "Daddy meant well and I love and admire him."

Said the general: "I think that any parent, faced with this sort of dilemma, should do what I did."

Brooke Called '68 Possibility

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Republican Gov. Dan Evans yesterday elected Edward M. Brooke in a list of possible GOP Presidential nominees for 1968.

Evans, chairman of the Republican Governors Campaign Committee, said Michigan Gov. George Romney is "obviously a leading candidate but not necessarily the leading candidate."

He said the election this week proved that Republicans "have a much larger stable of top-flight national leaders."

On Evans' list in addition to Romney were new Republican Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Brooke of Massachusetts, California Gov. — elect Ronald Reagan and former vice president Richard Nixon.

Jackie Heads Art Aid Unit

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy will head an American fund raising committee formed to help restore Italian art treasures damaged in recent floods. Prof. Bates Lowry of Brown University said Thursday.

Lowry, chairman not the university's art department, said Mrs. Kennedy agreed several days ago to be honorary president of the committee.

He is executive director of the group of museum and art history experts throughout the nation which was formed recently to plan a program of assistance for the Italian government.

UNDER ESCORT

The Nautilus is under escort to New London, Conn., her home port, by the destroyer Purse. She was expected to arrive "within a couple of days," a spokesman said Thursday night. The Essex steamed toward Boston. Her home port is Quonset Point, R.I.

The Navy said the cause of the collision had not been determined.

The Essex was refueling from the fleet oiler Salamone when the accident happened at 9:45 a.m. The Nautilus surfaced immediately and turned homeward at 1:45 p.m.

The Essex is the flagship of a small antisubmarine group, composed chiefly of destroyers.

ON A MISSION

Such groups practice continuing education. The Nautilus is on a mission to the Atlantic Ocean where the U.S. Navy said the nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus collided with the aircraft carrier Essex yesterday.

IMPACT SITE — A cross locates the spot in the Atlantic Ocean where the U.S. Navy said the nuclear-powered submarine Nautilus collided with the aircraft carrier Essex yesterday.

Sell Safety, Exec Advises

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A Chrysler Corp. executive said yesterday the nation's automobile dealers should "sell safety" as well as cars.

V. E. Boyd, a Chrysler vice president, said there are "big jobs" to be done in the safety field, and industry and government alone can't be expected to handle them.

Grants to U. of D.

DETROIT (AP) — Two federal grants totaling $65,000 have been received by the University of Detroit Center for Human Relations. The center got $33,000 to extend a program on educational desegregation problems, and $32,000 to start a program for community leaders on metropolitan problems.

New LBJ Sore Spot: His Shoulder

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, already attached to the White House, was seen kneading his right shoulder following a news conference Thursday at his ranch home near Johnson City.

The nature of the soreness in the President's shoulder was not known. Presumably it is the kind of ache that occasionally plagues any middle-aged man. Johnson does not necessarily attribute the soreness, which extends down into the arm, to his industrious shaking of many hundreds of hands during his 17-day Asian tour.

'My Place Is With Them'

Priest Killed Tending Dying GI

DAU TIENG, South Viet Nam told him. "You just stay right here at forward headquarters. My place is with them." Chaplain Michael J. Queally replied when a 1st Division officer tried to dissuade him from boarding a helicopter to join American troops under heavy jungle attack. Hours later, he was killed by Viet Cong fire as he gave the last rites to a dying soldier.

Father Queally, a Roman Catholic from New York City, was the fifth U.S. chaplain to die in Viet Nam. He had volunteered for Army duty after three years at a church in a suburb of Mobile, Ala., and arrived in Viet Nam Jan. 25.

Father Queally was assigned to the 2nd Battalion of the 1st Division's 28th Regiment, but when word reached forward headquarters Tuesday morning that the regiment's 1st Battalion was heavily engaged in the battle in Tay Ninh Province, he decided to go to it.

"No, Father," a senior officer climbed into a helicopter with medics and troop reinforcements. He reached the battalion in War Zone C, northwest of Saigon. A Viet Cong attack before dawn had been repelled with the help of artillery but the enemy was regrouping.

The Viet Cong made another assault as Father Queally moved forward to a platoon of Bravo Company where several men were dying. Ignoring the battle, he gave the last rites to each.

The Viet Cong made another attack. A Communist soldier carrying a machine gun jumped from the bushes as Father Queally attended the last of the dying men and shot the chaplain in the head and stomach.

Father Queally died moments later, not knowing that the Viet Cong attack had failed.

The last entry in the diary he carried read: "So will my heavenly Father treat you unless each of you forgives his brother with all his heart."

Lunar Orbiter Joins Soviets' Trio

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — America's Lunar Orbiter 2 — on a mission to take pictures of 13 possible astronaut landing sites — has company in lunar orbit: three Soviet spacecraft.

But scientists said Thursday after the 850-pound craft was locked in orbit that there is no danger of collision or radio interference.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory who are controlling the craft ordered a braking rocket to be fired for 10 minutes Thursday, showing Orbiter 2 from 3,126 miles an hour to 2,678 and allowing it to slip into an orbit 1,147 to 119 miles high.

The Soviet craft in lunar orbit are Luna 10, Luna 11 and Luna 12, also sent to scout landing sites. The first two sent no pictures, but Luna 12 has transmitted

NOT OF HIGH QUALITY

The United States' Orbiter 1 sent back pictures, but they were not of high quality.

Orbiter 2 will circle the moon every three hours and 40 minutes until Nov. 17 while controllers plot its track and study the moon's gravitational field.

2 Die in Crash

MARSHALL (AP) — Two Consumers Power Co. employees Mike Field, 22, and Larry Palcowski, both of Jackson, were killed Thursday in a fiery auto accident, eight miles north of Marshall. A third man was seriously injured in the crash. Their car veered off a road, hit a tree and erupted in flames.

Flood-Torn Florence Still Devastated

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — With all the effort and frustration of a man in quicksand, Florence struggled today for survival a week after the most destructive flood in its history.

Mud and litter covered two-thirds of the renaissance art capital. It was as though the legion of Florentines and Italian soldiers working for seven days and nights had never put a hand to the wreckage.

The smell of decay and filth was everywhere.

All drinking water was still brought in by truck. Electricity lit only the third of the city spared from the raging Arno River when it poured over its banks Nov. 4 and rose as high as 25 feet up building walls.

"Nothing could have lived as deputy director of operations more than three minutes if not of the State Commerce Department above the first floor when the river broke," said Giuseppe Giffuni, a teacher who had been working with relief teams since Saturday.

No one knew how many died in the city. Municipal officials said about 35. But each day more bodies are found.

Among the rescue workers who have toiled with few hours of sleep, it was difficult to find anyone who estimated the dead under 100. Some insisted the toll would be 200.

State Dems Looking to Hart as Leader

LANSING (AP) — Michigan Democrats suffering from the pangs of a Republican spanking in Tuesday's elections, may begin looking to the state's senior U.S. senator for new leadership.

The name of Sen. Philip A. Hart was brought up yesterday by House Speaker Joseph Kowalski. Kowalski said the Democratic party in Michigan was left without a titular head after the defeat of Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency for governor and G. Mennen Williams for senator.

Damage Heavy for Businesses in Venice Flood

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Nearly all shops, bars and restaurants in this canal city were damaged in last week's flood, officials reported today.

They said 56 per cent of all bars and restaurants were very badly damaged, while damage to 40 per cent was heavy but less serious. Two to three per cent were destroyed.

There was widespread damage to antique church furnishings. In the Marciana Library, Italy's oldest, water drenched 2,000 volumes and some precious manuscripts.

In the old sector of Venice and on the island of Murano, the center of the glass industry in the Venetian lagoon, factories were forced to close.

Preliminary official figures showed damage to farmland and equipment in Venice Province amounted to $40 million and damage to industries was extensive.

AF Man Wins Ohio Seat

OLD FORT, Ohio (AP) — Paul E. Gillmor Jr. won a state senate seat in Ohio while serving as an Air Force officer in Tennessee.

He credits his parents, his wife, the U.S. mail and a Republican landslide with helping him to victory in his first political race. He says reapportionment helped, too — he won in a new district.

"I think it was because of all the work people did for me," said 1st Lt. Gillmor, 27, a lawyer stationed at Stewart Air Force Base near Nashville, Tenn. He cited his father, Paul Sr., who said, "I did quite a little bit."

"I contacted everybody I knew pretty well and some I didn't know."

BRIEF CAMPAIGN
The candidate got home to campaign only twice, in August and October, for about 10 days each time. His wife, Brenda, spent July and August touring the district, then returned two weeks before the election.

"We attribute a lot of this to the mail campaign," said Paul Sr., vice president of a trucking company in Toledo who lives in this hamlet of 200 population 30 miles southeast of Toledo. About 700,000 copies of a brochure were mailed in the district which covers part of East Toledo and its suburbs along with Crawford, Ottawa, Sandusky, and Seneca Counties.

A record victory by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes, the Gillmors agreed, "is bound to have helped."

Running in a new district also helped Gillmor decide to run.

Africans Push on Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African members of the United Nations mobilized today to observe the first anniversary of Rhodesia's declaration of independence with a General Assembly resolution urging Britain to use force if necessary against the rebellious white minority in the African territory.

The Africans put pressure on the assembly to sidetrack other business and ratify the toughly worded draft on the anniversary of the declaration of independence from Britain by Prime Minister Ian Smith's government.

The proposal cleared the assembly trusteeship committee Thursday by a vote of 84-2. But Britain and the United States, who were among 17 abstainers, made clear they would resist demands for use of force.

The resolution denounced South Africa and Portugal — which cast the two negative votes — for "support of the illegal racist minority regime in Rhodesia."

Food Cost Spiral—2

Bread, Milk Stir Emotions

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the last in a two-part series on the factors behind spiraling food costs.)

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food and Nutrition Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — At today's supermarket prices, an 8-ounce glass of milk costs approximately seven cents.

The same amount of beer costs 14 cents. The average price of a slice of white bread is about one cent. A stick of chewing gum costs the same.

All four grocery store items ride side by side in many market carts. But only the price of bread and milk indicates budget outrage.

Bread and milk seem to have built-in emotional triggers, despite their relatively declining emphasis in today's family menus.

Each year since 1930, we have been consuming less whole fluid milk.

Although stressing milk's importance in the diet as the best available source of calcium, nutritionists now lower their estimates of minimum amounts needed daily, particularly for post adolescence and up to old age.

The increasing awareness that cholesterol may be associated with heart disease has curtailed whole milk consumption.

Sales of nonfat milk, both dry and fluid, however, have climbed.

Bread sales have been going down, too. In an increasingly affluent society, families buy more meat, poultry, fruit and vegetables and less bread products.

OVERWEIGHT

Another reason is the national preoccupation with overweight and the recent propaganda for low-carbohydrate diets.

Yet whenever the price of bread or milk plays penny ante with the family budget, consumers instinctively suspect industry hanky-panky.

Under public pressure, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman asked the Federal Trade Commission to determine whether milk and bread price increases reflected evidence of unjustified market operations or deliberate stifling of competition.

The commission released a preliminary report Oct. 25 which revealed that the increase in bread prices to the consumer was three times the increase in prices of farm products used in the bread.

MILK PRICES

Also, the increase in milk prices was about double the increase in milk prices received by dairy farmers.

In most respects, these findings paralleled those of the bipartisan National Commission on Food Marketing, which in June stated:

"In some markets, milk handlers follow practices of price leadership with little evidence of active competition. There is strong suggestive evidence that in many of the medium-to-small markets, milk dealers have from time to time limited competition by agreement on price policy or common inclination not to compete on price."

Whatever the causes behind higher milk prices, consumers must face the fact that dairymen predict a diminishing supply of fluid milk unless they can get a realistic return for their investment and labor.

Woman Has Son,
Loses Husband

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Bernard Kistler of Meadville gave birth Thursday to a son, her second child, in Meadville City Hospital.

An hour later, she was informed by the Army that her husband, a 26-year-old lieutenant and 1965 West Point graduate, had been killed in Viet Nam.

PROTEST OF PRICES — Demonstrations, such as this one in Levittown, Pa., have caused some supermarket chains to lower food prices. But economists say that, in the long run, the nationwide protests will have little or no effect.

Grocery Store Gimmicks:
Do They Hike Food Prices?

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK — Do grocery store trading stamps, bingo games and horse race contests boost food prices?

Picketing housewives in Decatur, Ga.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Pittsburgh; Washington; Wilmington, N.C.; Van Nuys, Calif.; Newark, Ohio; and Marietta, W.Va., say yes. So do some economists.

But the stamp companies argue that stamps encourage competition, and that prices tend to be lowest where competition is most intense.

Store managers are split. Since picketing and boycotting over high food prices began, some stores have dropped stamps and contests; some have added them.

'SOMEBODY HAS TO PAY'

"Somebody has to pay for these things and I have a pretty good idea it's us," says Mrs. J. B. Lasseter of Atlantic City.

The chief economist for the Federal Trade Commission, Willard F. Mueller, has said a supermarket offering trading stamps could absorb, or pass on to its customers, the 2 per cent margin represented by the cost of trading stamps.

The New York City markets commissioner, Samuel J. Kearney Jr., said stores could cut prices 2 to 4 per cent if they eliminated stamps, and other promotional giveaways.

But William S. Beinecke, president of Sperry & Hutchinson Co., a stamp firm, disagreed.

"It is wholly irresponsible to suggest that trading stamps cause higher prices or that eliminating them would result in lower prices," Beinecke said. His firm sells S&H green stamps to one out of five supermarkets and a host of other businesses in the United States. Merchants pay about 2 cents for the stamps they had out for each $1 the customer spends.

$150 A BOOK

At one stamp for every 10 cents, a shopper will spend $120 to fill one stamp book which can be redeemed for about $3 worth of merchandise — toasters, sheets, toys, furniture, etc.

Since the recent protests began, there have been no cancellations and no decline in sales, S&H said. It said the firm has added three stores in Lima, Ohio; six in Jackson, Mich.; seven in Monroe, Mich.; and two in Helena, Mont.

Safeway Stores, Inc., the nation's second largest food chain, has announced it will drop its Gold Bond trading stamps in Montana at the end of the year. Safeway said it would mean lower prices, but it didn't say how much.

Purity Stores, Inc., which operates 84 stores in Northern California, called off its sweepstakes game, and said it would offer the option of trading stamps or a cash discount.

"It has become abundantly clear to us that games have lost their popularity," said Harold G. Ward, president. He added that "the great majority of our customers" still want to save stamps.

In San Francisco, some stores have stepped up their contests in an attempt to hold customers. One chain raffles off color television sets, another has a game with cash prizes.

A Los Angeles store, called the Food Giant, advertises a televised horse race game called "Post Time," with $250,000 in cash prizes.

TRAFFIC INCREASE

Strategic Merchandising Corp. of New York, originator of Bonus Bingo, Play 21 and Presidents and Prizes games, has sold the promotions to 4,800 supermarkets — including Safeway, A&P and National Tea. It estimates that in the year ended Sept. 30, the games paid off nearly $8 million cash to 1.9 million winners.

William J. Jeffery, the president, claims the games have increased store traffic as much as 50 per cent.

"The entire cost of our games, including prize money, comes from existing national advertising budgets," Jeffery said.

The National Food Commission said that when trading stamps were introduced they more than paid for themselves by increasing store volume.

"As more and more of the industry adopted stamps and competing forms of promotion, it was no longer possible for retailers to obtain additional volume by using trading stamp promotion. As a result, the cost of stamps represented an additional cost of retailing and prices rose," the commission said.

INCREASE NOTED

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, in a 1958 survey quoted by the stamp companies, found that prices in stamp-using supermarkets increased about 6 per cent. The retail value of the merchandise obtainable with stamps was substantially greater than the difference in price between stamp and nonstamp stores, the USDA said.

Other things being equal, a consumer can figure trading stamps are a discount of 2 or 3 cents on a dollar, the New York State Cooperative Extension Service said. A stamp company spokesman says stamps have about reached the saturation point in the supermarket field.

Dutch-Shoppell and Waldbaum, two New York chains, dropped stamps last year. So did Stop & Shop of Boston.

"The dropping of trading stamps by Waldbaum and several other independent regional chains at about the same time initiated a series of extreme sales promotion campaigns," said Ira Waldbaum, president of Waldbaum, Inc. "Gross profit margins were reduced while expenditures for a broadened advertising program were substantially increased."

FIGHTS BACK

Stop & Shop reported its competitors resorted to stamps, games and some price cutting, so it advertised hundreds of lower prices.

"We know that it just isn't possible for our competitors to use stamps, gimmicks, games and other artificial stimuli that cost money and give the consumer the same values that we are giving," Donald H. Gannon, Stop & Shop spokesman, told stockholders.

"If the store at which you like to shop also gives stamps, take them," the New York State Cooperative Extension Service advises. "But remember that wise planning and careful shopping are worth far more in cash than the value of the stamps you receive."

Diamond mines in the Republic of Africa and South West Africa yield about 36 per cent by value of the world's supply of gem and industrial stones.

'Great Society' Slowdown Due

LBJ Sees Difficulty in Larger GOP Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's announcement he will lay fewer "Great Society" proposals before a new Congress with swollen Republican ranks pointed today toward a resurvey of the nation's domestic course.

"I think it will be more difficult for any new legislation we might propose," Johnson told a news conference at his Texas ranch yesterday in assessing the GOP gains of 47 House members and three senators in Tuesday's balloting.

Asked if he would be sending Congress many new recommendations or would concentrate on refinement and expansion of program he has been highly successful in wrangling from the 89th Congress, the President said he would have some new proposals but fewer of them than in 1966.

He added that his principal job will be to find ways of financing programs already authorized.

Among politicians, there was general agreement that the President was recognizing the realities of a situation in which the Republicans can combine with conservative Southern Democrats to balk almost any welfare legislation they oppose.

Masked Bandit Takes $80 From Local Driver, 26

A gunman in a Halloween mask robbed a Pontiac man of $80 early today at a city intersection, Pontiac police were told.

Theodore D. Houle, 26, of 949 Lakeview said he was waiting for a traffic light at the intersection of East Pike and Sanford about 4 a.m. when the bandit approached his car.

After taking the money, Houle said, the robber fled on foot.

Stokes said he has had other problems with Freeman, but, nevertheless, gave him the chance to resign before discharging him.

Police Chief William Stokes said today patrolmen working the midnight shift are expected to perform fatigue duty, which includes sweeping and mopping the floors.

Two Arrested Near Scene of Break-In Try

Apprehended last night near the scene of an attempted break-in on the city's North Side, two Pontiac youths were held today at the Oakland County Jail.

Pontiac police identified the pair as Andy Cummings, 17, of 38 Short and Bruce C. Cowley, 17, of 802 Blaine.

Patrolmen Joseph W. Gallardo and Travis A. Lively arrested Cummings and Cowley in front of Reliable Transmission Co., 922 Oakland, about 11 p.m.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Beer Guzzling Suspect in Heart Ailment

In August 1965 the first case of a new type of heart ailment was reported in Quebec. Of the 48 victims observed in that city since then 20 have died.

The one thing all of the victims had in common was that they had consumed three to six quarts of beer daily for at least five BRANDSTADT years.

As mysteriously as it started, the epidemic ended in May of this year.

Meanwhile, the same disease has been reported in Omaha and Minneapolis. Doctors in other cities are now on the lookout for evidences of this disease.

The trouble starts with shortness of breath, rapid pulse, waterlogging of the tissues and the bluish cast characteristic of a lack of oxygen in the blood.

Within three or four weeks after the onset, the functional impairment of the heart becomes acute.

Damage to the heart muscle and to the liver is seen at autopsy.

All of the victims were men, predominantly in their early 40s. None were the skidrow type of alcoholic; they all had steady employment.

Different theories have been put forth to explain this disease. One possibility is a deficiency of some essential dietary element.

Small Animals Taboo in Mail

By Science Service WASHINGTON — The U.S. Postal Service has made it quite plain that the mails are not the place for rabbits, pigeons, squirrels, white mice and other small warm-blooded animals.

In the first place, sanitation is a big problem. Also the service is not equipped to water and feed the small creatures.

Consequently, Postmaster Gen. Lawrence F. O'Brien has announced that the animals from now on will be specifically listed as nonmailable.

A few animals, including snakes, poisonous lizards and insects, were clearly listed as nonmailable, but the status of the warm-blooded animals has been open to confusion at local post offices.
