Adenauer's West-Red Pact Plan Gets Icy Eye From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—While keeping silent officially, U.S. diplomats today privately turned thumbs down on West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's proposal for an eventual nonaggression pact between the free West and the Soviet bloc.

Requests for official reaction to Adenauer's suggestion, made in a speech here yesterday, were met with a "no comment" at the State Department.

However, officials familiar with American policies over the past several years confided the Adenauer proposal goes far beyond any position the U.S. could take in the foreseeable future.

The chief reason cited was that neither President Eisenhower nor Secretary of State Dulles has any intention of sanctioning, even indirectly, Red domination of great areas of the world.

Felix von Eckhardt, West German information chief, apparently sensed the possibility of U.S. objections to the Adenauer plan because he called a news conference several hours after the chancellor's talk to the National Press Club.

City Unemployment Lowest Since June

Unemployment in the Pontiac area this week hit the lowest level since June 17, it was reported yesterday by Luther Olson, manager of the Pontiac office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Figures showed 2,762 persons applied for unemployment compensation this week, a decline of 831 from the previous week.

Olson, who several weeks ago predicted unemployment would level off at around 2,500, revised his estimate to 2,000. "Maximum production has not been reached and the plants are still hiring," he said.

Here's How to Do It

You Can Split Your Ticket

Rumors are circulating that voters cannot split their ticket in Tuesday's general election.

This just isn't so. You may vote a straight party ticket; mix your vote between candidates of the several parties; or vote a "split" ticket. Here is how, as outlined in state election laws:

Straight Party Ticket—Place a cross in the circle at the top of your party ticket. That is all you need to do to vote for all candidates of that party.

Mixed Ticket—Instead of placing a cross in the party circle, place a cross in the square opposite the name of each candidate you choose, regardless of party, and your vote will be recorded for each candidate you designate. (Be careful, of course, not to mark for more than one candidate on the general ballot for the same office).

Split Ticket—If you want to vote for most of the candidates in one party and only a few in another party, place a cross in the circle above your party, and then mark crosses in the squares after the names of the several candidates you prefer in other parties.

In operating a voting machine the split ticket is accomplished in this manner:

Trip the party name lever which sets your machine for a straight ticket. Then raise the small lever above any name you want to eliminate from your vote in that party's list of candidates. Trip the corresponding lever of the candidate or candidates in other party rows whom you have selected in the other parties.

The voting machine, then records your vote as you move the red handle to the left to clear the machine and open the booth curtains.

Trick or Treat Slayer Sought

Police Hunt 'Thin Man' After Girl's Nude Body Is Found in Graveyard

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 30 (AP)—Nine state policemen pressed relentlessly today to find the slayer of 6-year-old Karen Mauk, killed while she was making a "trick or treat" tour of the neighborhood in true Halloween fashion.

Sgt. J. A. Blair, a veteran of the force and the father of three children, heads the squad which has been ordered to stay on the case indefinitely.

Blair says there's only one real clue to the man who killed Karen and left her unclothed body in a cemetery at nearby Conemaugh Borough where it was found early yesterday by a volunteer fireman. He declared:

"A tall thin man has been reported seen in the Conemaugh area the past two days. We've had different descriptions of him and he is reported to have approached several children. . . . Just before Karen was reported missing a 14-year-old girl told us the man touched her shoulder as she walked along the street but she broke away quickly and went home."

Police said a "trick or treat" bag of candy lay near her head. An apple was near one of her clenched fists.

He adds the nation has "come far" toward blocking Communist aggression and winning lasting peace; unemployment is going down sharply; people have more income after taxes than ever before.

ADLAI STEVENSON — Says the election will determine "whether the extreme right wing of the Republican party will continue to dominate, or at least frustrate, the conduct of our foreign affairs." There's a revolt, he adds, against "the family quarrels and hopeless divisions of the Republicans, and against policies which consistently favor the few at the expense of the many."

VICE PRESIDENT NIXON — Says the administration has brought back "honesty and decency in government" and is building a sound foundation that means "real prosperity in America." Contents the Truman security program "covered up and cleared the Communists and security risks." Says Republicans are "best qualified to keep us out of war."

STEPHEN MITCHELL — Says the Republican program is a "story of drift in foreign affairs and drift in the face of economic recession and unemployment at home." Also, he says, it is a story of "Republican favoritism to one small segment of our population—big business."

British Dock Strike Settled

Workers Vote to End 27-Day Walkout During Mass Union Meetings

LONDON (AP)—British dockers voted today to end their 27-day strike and return to work Monday.

The walkout of 43,000 dockers crippled Britain's major ports and struck a heavy blow to her foreign trade, the lifeblood of this island nation.

The back to work vote was taken at a nationwide series of mass meetings called by the strike leaders.

The men agreed to go back on condition that the question of compulsory overtime be submitted to further negotiations and that men who refuse to work overtime until the issue is finally settled will not be disciplined.

The walkout started in the Port of London to support demands that overtime be on a voluntary rather than compulsory basis. Management maintains that the dependence of ship arrivals and departures on the tides makes compulsory overtime a necessity.

Snow Flurries, Wintry Weather Predicted Here

Winter weather descended on Michigan last night, bringing very light snow flurries to the Pontiac area but not predicted freezing temperatures.

Four inches of snow blanketed the Houghton area in the upper peninsula, where the heaviest snowfall and lowest temperature, 24 degrees, were recorded.

Fairly heavy snows also blew into lower Michigan, as cheerleaders at a Grand Rapids football game amused themselves by tossing snowballs.

Detroit was hit by rain and sleet for a while yesterday, but left in time for a sunny afternoon.

The forecast for the Pontiac area is cold with snow flurries again tomorrow. U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters say the low tonight will be 30-34, high tomorrow 38-42.

Downtown temperatures yesterday zig-zagged all over the chart, reading 40 at 7 a.m., 47 at 1:30, 40 at 2, 45 and 3 and back down to 40 at 4:30. Today at 8 a.m., the mercury registered 36, rising to only 39 by 1 p.m.

New Pontiacs Displayed Today With Motorcade

Crowd Braves Weather to See Procession and Unveiling Ceremony

Spectators braved icy winds and snow flurries this morning to witness the motorcade of new 1955 Pontiac cars.

Shoppers came out of stores to stand, shivering, on the sidewalks as the 17-car procession led by Pontiac High School band rolled northward up Saginaw street.

At the courthouse, the motorcade stopped for a ceremony in which Chief Pontiac, complete with feathered headdress and buckskins, watched the unveiling of a 1955 Star Chief 4-door sedan which will be given away Nov. 20 by the Retail Merchants Assn. The car will be on display on the courthouse lawn until that date.

Assisting in the unveiling were 25 members of Boy Scout Troop 244, sponsored by Grace Lutheran Church. Four senior patrol leaders who uncovered the auto were Duke Cummings, Jerry Powers, Ray Smith and Gordon Jackson.

The scouts, also in Indian costumes, which they made themselves, then performed a war dance around the car while the band under the direction of Dale Harris played the Pontiac Fight Song.

Leonard Speaks in City

Leonard Charges Williams With Distortion of Facts

By BURDETT C. STODDARD
Charges of irresponsibility in office and distortion of facts were hurled against Michigan's Democratic Governor G. Mennen Williams here yesterday by Republican gubernatorial candidate Donald S. Leonard.

Leonard addressed a GOP rally in the Elks Temple at 1:30 p.m. following a meeting with President Eisenhower in Detroit.

"I feel confident of a resounding Republican victory next Tuesday," he stated.

Leonard termed as "crucial" the election of a Republican governor to work with a GOP legislature and also called for continued Republican control of the U. S. Congress to implement Eisenhower's program.

"The Governor knows he can propose any sort of a give-away program," said Leonard.

This is possible, he asserted, because Williams knows any irresponsible program he proposes will be studied and ruled out by Republican legislators.

Williams is not responsible to the Legislature and can blame them for the resulting stalemate, Leonard declared.

"But if the people send a Republican governor to Lansing he must have responsibility to his party majority in the Legislature and work in harmony with them. He can't pass the buck to the other branch."

Predicting victory Nov. 2, the campaigner said, "I've talked to miners, farmers, laborers, businessmen and persons representing all other groups throughout the state."

"I know there's a demand for a new face in Lansing and we're going to have that change."

He stressed the importance of Republicans of bringing out every possible vote in strong GOP count. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Plans Pyramid Telephone Calls to Swing Victory

Ike Happy Over Detroit Welcome Yesterday as Sun Decides to Shine

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, happy over his get-out-the-vote tour of four states, was reported ready today to try personally to set off a nationwide "telephone your neighbors" campaign to win votes for Republican congressional candidates.

A Republican official said that starting at 11:35 a.m. EST Eisenhower will start telephoning 10 "plain ordinary" persons around the country.

The President will ask each to vote and to phone the same request to 10 others, he said, to touch off a "pyramid system" aimed at reaching every citizen who might go to the polls next Tuesday.

The GOP informant declined the use of his name. He was not a member of the President's staff, but it was known the idea of chain phone calls in a drive to turn out a big pre-GOP vote was getting serious study at the White House.

Eisenhower tried out the idea on an audience at Wilmington, Del., last night at the conclusion of his swift serial tour into Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Delaware.

He said in advance of the 1,600-mile trip that he was making it to try to dispel what he termed puzzling voter apathy. But he told a police-estimated crowd of 4,000 at the Wilmington Airport that he had been pleasantly surprised—that instead of apathy all along the way he had "encountered enthusiasm, belief and confidence" that the Republicans will win continued control of Congress.

"If everybody votes, we're in," Eisenhower declared, touching off a round of cheers.

Then, dealing with the more practical problem of persuading citizens to go to the polls, the President said:

"You know, if everybody in this audience would go home this evening and start calling up—would call up 10 voters and ask them to call 10 voters, you cover the state of Delaware with every man, woman and child in it in about two hours."

"You would reach millions in that time. That is what we want." Presidential associates said later the chief executive had made no idle, spur-of-the-moment suggestion.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat said in a Washington dispatch that, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

The Day in Birmingham

Predict Heavy Vote Tuesday for City, Bloomfield District

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—Cautious predictions of a fairly heavy vote next Tuesday are being offered in Birmingham, Bloomfield Township and Bloomfield Hills.

Local City Clerk Irene Hanley said 309 absentee ballots already issued here are a good indication of the citizenry's interest in the current election. An increased registration figure since the August primary shows a possible vote of 12,600.

This same situation holds true in Bloomfield Township, where absentee voting applications have been given to 130 of the 4,500 registered voters, according to Mrs. Ann Birrell, deputy clerk.

Bloomfield Hills City Clerk Robert Stadler also predicts a heavy turnout of the 1,145 voters who are registered.

Of six proposals to be voted on in Birmingham, only one is a local issue, on the proposed sale of lots 505-515 in Sheffield Estates Subdivision No. 1. The city-owned lots are located on the north side of Lincoln avenue near Eton road.

Surrounded on three sides by industrial property, the logical use for the lots is for industrial purposes, the city believes. Rather than hold the land the city proposes to sell it, using the income derived from the sale for park improvements. A buffer area would be planted for the protection of nearby residents.

Birmingham can claim two of the candidates running for state office, with Philip A. Hart, 577 Westwood Dr., running for lieutenant governor; and Richard C. Van Dusen, 1722 Pine St., candidate for state representative in the third district.

Two other Birmingham men seeking county office are Ralph A. Main, 1819 Fairview Dr., running for re-election as drain commissioner; and Robert L. O'Connell, 1587 Henrietta, competing for the job of prosecuting attorney.

Reformation Sunday will be marked here tomorrow with the sixth annual observance sponsored by the local Council of Churches. Guest speaker at the 8 p.m. service at the First Methodist Church will be the Rev. Frank D. Slutz, noted lecturer and writer of Dayton, Ohio.

A Christian layman and a lay preacher of the Methodist church, Dr. Slutz will speak on "The Best News in the World." The former school principal has also authored several books.

Dr. Harry O. Martin, president of the church council, will preside over the observance, with Rodney M. Peterson, minister of music at the First Methodist Church, in charge of choir music.

The service will be opened by Dr. Martin and closed by the Rev. William C. Norvell, one of the ministers at Christ Church Cranbrook. Along with cooperating churches, the public is welcome.

Holding a speedy meeting this week, Recreation Board members passed a motion asking the City Commission to build a shelter house at Eton Park, and complete a softball diamond for Little League play. These are at the top of the board's list of projected park improvements.

It was also decided to purchase a new diving board for the Barum School swimming pool, since the board is granted the use of the pool all summer and on Saturdays during the winter months by the Board of Education, as part of the city recreation program.

Holding its first service at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow will be the newly established Presbyterian Church here. Since the church building itself is not yet a reality, the Rev. Mackay Taylor and his wife will begin holding services, complete with church and nursery school, at their home at 2588 Windemere, on the corner of St. Andrews.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor was brought here by the Detroit Presbytery. He invites all those interested to attend the service or send their children to the church school.

Thugs Force Grocer to Reopen Market

DETROIT (AP)—Three fast moving bandits broke into the home of a Grosse Pointe supermarket manager last night, held his family at gunpoint, and forced him to accompany them to his store and open a safe.

Miller let them into the store where two employees were still working. The gunmen bound the two employees and ordered Miller to open the safe.

President Sparks Gel-Out-Vote Drive

In addition to 10 calls by Eisenhower today, party leaders expect the 33 Republican governors will start a similar telephone campaign in their states.

Eisenhower, his hat in his hand and a smile on his face, never appears to be too busy to greet someone—and worry secret service agents in the process.

He left Detroit's City Hall yesterday after speaking to a crowd of 50,000 and caused a quick shuffling of a dozen secret service agents who were following him around.

A double line of Detroit Police snapped to attention, forming an honor guard that would see him out of the building. Silence prevailed until a song filled the air.

Three Republican women were singing "When the Cassions go Rolling Along"—with lyrics to fit Eisenhower.

Suddenly he stopped. He jerked toward them, shook hands and said "God bless you," while the secret service agents stopped short, shoving around him.

Later, when he stepped to the ramp to board the presidential plane to leave, another stir took place.

Five-year-old Michele (Mimi) Cashman, the daughter of a Detroit Air Force captain, pushed away the agents.

She looked up and stepped her way. "Here is a bouquet of fresh flowers I picked from our yard for you to take home, Mr. President," she said.

"I'll take these home to my Mamie."

And the weather-almost like magic—paved a bright path for the President.

From the moment the presidential plane touched the ground, a drizzling rain stopped and the sun broke through. A light sprinkle started again as the motorcade neared Wayne Airport where his plane was waiting to leave.

The Golden Gate bridge was opened in 1937. It has a channel span of about 4,200 feet.

Ike Sees State Doing Good Job on Peacetime Switch

FROM AP DISPATCH
Excerpts from the text of President Eisenhower's speech at Detroit City Hall yesterday:

I am going to talk about something today that I think is of particular and important interest to all of you, and that is some of the dislocations that come about as a nation passes from war to peace, and what your government can and is doing about it.

This subject is of importance to a city like Detroit, because here is centered these great industrial facilities that make so much of our war armaments.

Consequently, as we pass to peace and to a peace economy, a greater dislocation occurs here than it does in most places.

The goal of your government is a strong, stable, growing, expanding economy, an economy that will bring higher standards of living to all of us, greater prosperity and strength at home, so that we can support the kind of military strength that makes us safe abroad.

For twenty years we have lived under the false belief that the only time America is really prosperous is when she is at war.

The only times in twenty years we have had full employment have been the height of war years, and so we have the impression that the two words "war" and "prosperity" were connected.

If there is one accomplishment that I believe your government has some justifiable right to brag about, it is that in the last two years it has succeeded in working with industry in developing a co-operative attitude that has brought us about from the war economy to a peace economy with a minimum of dislocation, and at this moment, growing prosperity throughout our land.

When you take America's heart and American industry and the

Among the scores of churches taking part are the following:

Tuesday a Family Night dinner is scheduled, and Wednesday another evening service will begin at 7:30.

Imlay City

Imlay City First Methodist Church will join the Spiritual Life Mission, with the Rev. Edson F. Vane of Fenwick as guest preacher for the week. The mission will seek commitments from members as to church attendance, family devotions, private prayer, tithing and personal witnessing, according to the pastor, Rev. Leo Burch.

A Family Night dinner will be held Tuesday. Wednesday a special young service will be held. Theme for a Thursday night service will be "Stewardship of Life and Possessions."

Father's Pre-Halloween Efforts Pay Off in Big Night for Goblins and Witches

By WILMA GREENWAY

Tonight, again, goblins will walk, ghosts will haunt and witches will mount their brooms, just as they did when grandpa was a boy.

But there's a big difference. The witches won't sweep through nearly so destructive a path. The goblins' mischief will be considerably mitigated. The spooks will do their haunting with a decided air of caution.

Outside of the initial cash outlay for Halloween treats and costumes, Mr. Homeowner will hardly notice the affect on his pocketbook.

Maybe, come Monday morning, he'll have to hire an errand boy to do a cleanup job on the overturned garbage pails, or pay for a new paint job on the mailbox. His wife may have to wash a few soaped-up windows. But that's about all.

Grandpa can tell about the days when Halloween was a mighty expensive holiday. Getting a buggy or wagon off the barn roof was a costly business—usually an axle was broken before the wheels again were resting on terra firma, and then there still was the problem of the hole in the roof.

Turned-over outhouses were a dime a dozen the day after Halloween, and if putting them back in place wasn't expensive, it was definitely unpleasant and often hazardous.

Such stunts as leaving a cow shut up all night in the school of rice can do more damage than a tornado, as the board of education will be quick to tell you.

Replacing bent, broken and otherwise mutilated street signs and

Homer V. Sipperley Dies at Rochester

ROCHESTER—Homer V. Sipperley, 77, a well known building contractor and lifelong resident of Rochester, died early today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bethel Sherridan, 1310 Nottingham St., Grosse Pointe Park. He had been ill five months.

Mr. Sipperley was born Oct. 16, 1877, the son of E. H. and Annette Everett Sipperley. Prior to his present address, he made his home at 410 West Fifth St. He was a life member of the Rochester Volunteer Fire Department, and a member of Rochester and Lost Lake Woods Hunt Clubs.

Mr. Sipperley is survived by his daughter; a sister, Mrs. Guy Zay Jenney of Cornum, and two grandchildren, Robert and Loz Zay.

Funeral service will be at 2 p.m. Monday from Pixley Funeral Home, with entombment in Rochester Mausoleum.

misplaced road barricades is still a headache for city or township officials, but not nearly so painful a one as it was 30 years hence.

What's put the soft pedal on Halloween destruction? That's a matter for controversy.

Grandpa has one answer. He says the modern kid is just a weak-kneed facsimile of the rugged specimen of his own rough-and-tumble day.

But dad just smiles wisely at that one and looks as though he'd enjoy debating the question if he only had time. Just now he has to meet with the Halloween Recreation Committee to make last-minute preparations for feeding 8,000 kids at the community-wide party.

Also he has it in mind to make sure the Signal Committee doesn't fail to sound the whistles and sirens promptly at dark so residents will know it's time to light up the railroad flares that will illuminate the area when the kids go begging.

He has to arrange for the judges to be at the right spot for the costume parade, make sure the clown acts and the trained-animal show are escorted to the youngsters' party, keep tabs on the teenage followup, and try to work in time to shake hands with the name bandleader who will play for their dance.

Altogether it's going to be a safe and sane Halloween—thanks to Organized Recreation.

When it's over, Dad'll breathe a sigh of relief, get out a well-seasoned pipe and take time off to read the newspapers and catch up on what's the latest in the political mud-slinging.

Gramps will grouse that Halloween just ain't what it used to be.

The only ones who won't have a beef will be the kids. Somehow, whether it's organized play or disorganized pranks, on Halloween the younger generation always manages to have a roaring good time.

Incinerator Set for Inspection

Area Officials to View South Oakland Plant at Open House Nov. 6

Invitations are being received this week by city and township officials in southern Oakland County to the open house to be held Nov. 6 at the new incinerator plant in Royal Oak Township.

The $1,900,000 plant of the South Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority is scheduled to begin operations by Dec. 1.

George Schmid, engineer-director of the authority, said the open house will include a tour through the plant.

The more than 200 invited officials will inspect the project, which will destroy the garbage of the 12 communities which united to build it.

A section of Birmingham-owned land in Troy Township is being used in a sanitary land-fill method of disposal until the plant is ready.

India has about 266 million acres under cultivation and more is being added.

Pontiac Press Opinions on Next Tuesday Elections

We face an interim election.

Off-year balloting is just about as important as the four year presidential poll, but it is usually slighted by an unfortunate number of good citizens who are willing to "let George do it."

As a result of this apathy in late years, the control of both houses has usually reversed. Hence, those who believe in President EISENHOWER and the strength of his program must go to the polls to re-affirm their belief.

Do you believe in him?

If you do, vote for his party.

If you prefer former President TRUMAN and his policies, go to the polls and vote Democratic. Usually it is easier to get a protest vote to turn out than it is a vote of confidence.

The Press believes that President like has done a very creditable job. He ended the bloodshed in Korea and kept the Nation out of war elsewhere. He has swung a war time economy to peace time with a minimum of unemployment and today it is about normal. Financial "prosperity" in a war era is relatively simple. Millions work on machines that destroy themselves and murder men in the process.

President EISENHOWER's party has reduced taxes, something the Democrats failed to do for twenty consecutive years. The Republicans have been taking the Government out of private industry. Oakland County's Secretary of Defense has reduced the expenditure for armament and provided us with greater military strength. C. E. Wilson has used the know-how of private industry. Inflation has stopped. Living costs hold level.

No one thinks for a minute that the Democratic administration fostered Communism, but THEY DID VERY LITTLE TO STOP IT. Apparently, TRUMAN and his aides were afraid.

The Republicans aren't. Reds have been sent to jail. They've been kicked off Federal payrolls. J. EDGAR HOOVER has received ASSISTANCE FROM THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT instead of suggestions to wait and watch.

The Press believes the United States is much better off than it was twenty-two months ago when Mr. EISENHOWER went into the White House and the control of the House and Senate fell into GOP hands.

We believe Donald Leonard will make a much better Governor than G. Mennen Williams. We believe Homer Ferguson possesses several times the ability and stature of Mr. McNamara as a Senator in Washington. Senator Ferguson has become one of the powers in our Federal Government. We do not believe his opponent would ever reach his current level of senatorial achievement.

We believe GEORGE DONDERO is a strong, capable and assertive Congressman.

He has fought for the St. Lawrence Seaway for twenty years and FINALLY WON OUT. President EISENHOWER grants a large part of the credit goes to GEORGE DONDERO. Michigan and the entire Middle West will prosper forever from this Seaway. He has been a leading opponent of Communism since the day he first reached Washington.

The Press favors a vote for PHILIP HART of Birmingham for Lieutenant Governor. We feel this fine candidate deserves the wholehearted support of his fellow citizens.

The special issues of the day will be covered Monday.

Amendment No. 4

By far the most controversial of the State amendments on Tuesday's ballots is No. 4 which if approved, would legalize so-called charity bingo lotteries.

As it appears on the ballot, the amendment asks this question: Shall Section 33 of Article V of the Constitution be amended to permit the Legislature to authorize lotteries to be conducted by and lottery tickets sold by non-profit charitable organizations.

Such a Constitutional change long has been advocated by veterans and charitable groups. Nonetheless, we believe its approval would work against the best interests of the people of Michigan.

Our fear is that the amendment is so worded that there is danger it would open the door to all kinds of games of chance. As experience shows, there just isn't any such thing as "a little gambling." Once the bars are let down, the professionals move in and control soon is taken over by undesirable elements.

We suggest a "No" vote on Amendment No. 4.

THE wide experience a man gains in fooling a woman into marrying him doesn't enable him to fool her afterwards.

THE best acting we've seen on TV in nine moons was that of a male commercial spieler going into ecstasies over a hair-do concoction.

The People's Business

Election Forecast
 Williams Probable Victor;
 Reid-Hart Race Close

By JACK I. GREEN

LANING—Now comes the time when political seers must face life and guess who is going to be elected—or turn in their walking stick and spats.

If the self-appointed experts don't know who is going to win an election, then who does? Probably nobody.

But if you listen long enough (to the right people) and observe enough (understanding what you observe), you come up with some ideas. Even if they may be wrong.

No political writer has ever been quite the same since 1948. That year's victory by Frea. Truman over Thomas E. Dewey forever wrecked their fine confidence.

The year 1954 has some of the earmarks of 1948. There is the same general idea that one party (the Democrats, this time) are leading. There is the same silent calmness among the people—although on a smaller scale because it's not a presidential year. We again have the administration fighting an uphill battle with real determination in the face of a general belief it can't win.

But if you take the guesses of the real and fabled experts, the conflicting reports of the politicians, the evidence of your own ears and eyes, you come up with these observations.

1—That Gov. Williams will be elected to a fourth term.

2—That Lt. Gov. Clarence E. Reid, Republican, and Philip A. Hart, his Democratic opponent, are in a horse race—so close that neither can honestly say what will happen.

3—That U.S. Sen. Homer Ferguson, the Republican incumbent, will defeat Patrick V. McNamara, the Democrat.

4—That the remainder of the state Republican ticket will be re-elected, although Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard may be in trouble.

The trouble with guessing the 1954 election is that no one in Michigan can predict the size of the Republican falloff, noted nationally.

If it weren't for that question one could say that Republican Donald S. Leonard had a good chance to defeat Williams.

Leonard has proved himself a better campaigner and a more appealing candidate than either of his two unsuccessful predecessors. Williams won by such narrow margins in 1952 and 1950 that Leonard normally would be considered to have a better chance.

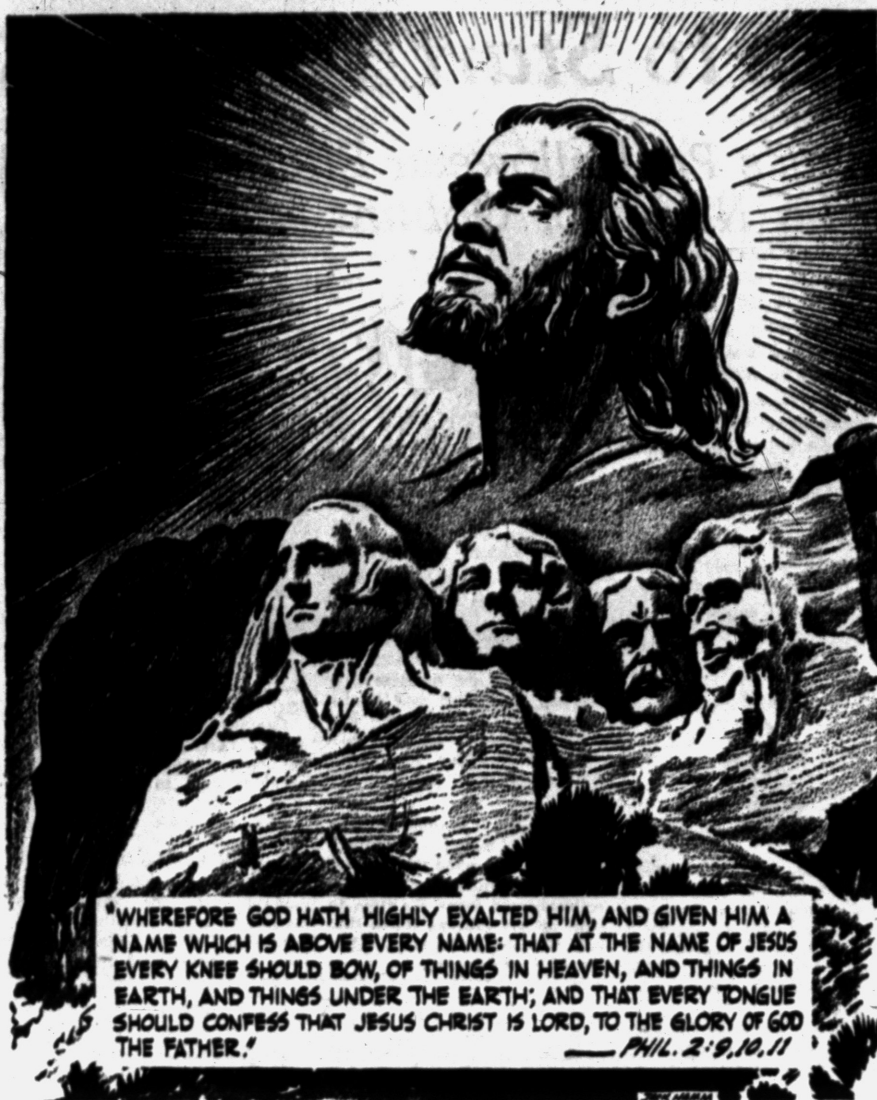

But—how many Michigan folks are switching to the Democrats this year, staying with the Democrats or just not voting because of a downturn in business, employment and farm prices?

Another imponderable is the vigorous Republican counterattack which has mushroomed in the past week.

Republicans, and many Democrats, feel that the Republicans have made gains in the past two weeks, while the Democrats apparently hit their peak 10 days ago.

Leonard has been a slow starter and a stronger finisher in two campaigns. There are indications that he still is coming up and also that Williams has not gained much for 10 days. The question: Can Williams hold what he has?

Most politicians think Williams has enough head start to stage off Leonard's stretch drive—but Leonard is confident he will overtake.

any because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

As Chairman of the Oakland County Bingo and Raffle Association, it is my job to try to protect our association from the attacks upon us by the uninformed but well-meaning people who are screaming that racketeering and slot machines will be everywhere.

It is true, we that have had a part in promoting charity bingo and raffles have left it entirely up to our Legislature to draw the law according to the people's wishes.

Just to set the record straight, I want to say that I have been associated since the beginning in this pro-bingo movement, both on the county and on the state level and I assure you that we are not backed by any racketeers or gambling interests.

I have the complete membership list of our organization and have access to the state organization rolls and I suggest before any more insinuations are cast against the people behind the pro-bingo movement, they contact me and I will be glad to show them our membership rolls for their inspection. If they can find a racketeer or gambling interest in same, I will then be glad to join forces with them.

As far as paying for radio and newspaper advertisements, we are raising the money from every lodge. Veteran's Post, Metropolitan Club and other charitable institutions. So have faith in your Legislature and your fellow man and vote "Yes" on Proposal 4!

Isn't it a funny world? We who want to see bingo made legal are called racketeers, gamblers, crooks and many other things. We are the sinners of the world and why do we want it?

We only want it to keep up our charity work; to be able to help little children have a happy Christmas, buy wheelchairs for polio sufferers, give to the hospitals and dozens of other charities. If that is the work of sinners, I'm all for it.

I meet these "goody-goody" people every year who think we are such a bad lot. They are the ones who give you a nickel on Poppy Day and want two pennies. If bingos stop, will they come forward and help with our charity work?

Use your common sense, folks, and don't let that word, lottery, on the ballot fool you. We want licensed bingo with all books opened to audit. No racketeer wants that. No organization will get rich from bingo.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Person With Just Average Intelligence Often Runs Circles Around a Genius

Alfred Binet gave us our first great I. Q. test in 1905. It permits us to get an accurate index of a child's mental horsepower with output. Many a genius with a very high I. Q. doesn't accomplish anything in life.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case M-353: Patrick O., aged 29, is the father of a little girl, aged 4.

"Dr. Crane, she is as smart as a tack," he boasted proudly, and truthfully, too, for she was a very bright child.

"What do you suppose her I. Q. (Intelligence Quotient) is? And how do you psychologists go about the job of figuring out a child's I. Q. anyway?"

When Alfred Binet launched his famous I. Q. experiments in Paris at the beginning of this century, he set a new milestone in psychology.

For he started comparing a child with other youngsters of the same calendar age, instead of against some abstract standard of perfection.

Patrick's little girl is named Eileen. She is just four years of age.

Our I. Q. tests thus let us see how well she can perform tasks or problems which normal 3-year-olds can do.

We also give her a chance to try the items that normal 4-year-olds can perform. Then we test her on the tasks of the normal 5-year-old, etc.

If Eileen could do only the 3-year-old items, then she would obviously be under par. So her I. Q. would be represented by 3/4, which gives us the number 75 as her I. Q. (decimal points omitted).

But if 4-year-old Eileen can perform the 4-year items, then her I. Q. is found by solving the fraction 4/4, which gives 100 as her I. Q.

If, however, she can do the tasks and test items which average 5-year-olds can perform, then we'd use the fraction 5/4 to find her I. Q., which would be indicated by the figure 125.

And an I. Q. of 125 indicates a very alert child.

Actually, one's I. Q. is much like the horsepower of an automobile engine. That engine might have 125 horsepower but never be driven over 30 miles per hour.

Some people with an I. Q. of 125 may likewise never use their superior intelligence very constructively. They rust out in disuse.

Thus, a person with a lower I. Q. but with a lot of determination, may run circles around another individual with a high I. Q. who has poor study habits.

The classical story of the tortoise and the hare illustrates the great virtue in plodding steadily toward one's goal.

Thomas A. Edison, our greatest inventor and a firm believer in hard work, gave the following definition:

"Genius," said Mr. Edison, "is 99 per cent perspiration."

That is probably not far from the truth. For we have plenty of men and women with high I. Q. who drink themselves into alcoholic stupor each night and never utilize their mental horsepower.

Others, with average I. Q., faithfully attend church and serve as the mainstay for the moral and civic life of the community.

So society profits far more from a hard working average person than from a lazy loafer or alcoholic genius who never does anything.

The real payoff in life is thus your actual output, not the horsepower of your mental machinery. (Copyright, Hopkins Syndicate Inc.)

But if 4-year-old Eileen can perform the 4-year items, then her I. Q. is found by solving the fraction 4/4, which gives 100 as her I. Q.

If, however, she can do the tasks and test items which average 5-year-olds can perform, then we'd use the fraction 5/4 to find her I. Q., which would be indicated by the figure 125.

Days of All Faiths

Tomorrow Commemorates 'Reformation' Sunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The Sunday nearest October 31 is always observed as Reformation Sunday. Tomorrow the Sunday falls on the right date.

It was on October 31 in 1517 that a young German monk by the name of Martin Luther started a great deal more than he had any idea of starting.

He was upset because a man named Tetzel was in the neighborhood selling "indulgences." The idea behind indulgences was that man can deserve, through good works, to be forgiven for his sin. Luther merely wanted to debate this proposition. The next day was All Saints Day. There would be a great throng of pilgrims in the town of Wittenburg, and a debate would have a fine hearing. The church door was the medieval bulletin board.

So Luther nailed on the door of the Castle Church a paper on which he had written 95 statements, all of which added up to the idea that "man's sins can be forgiven only by grace through faith in Christ." In other words, man does not merit forgiveness—God simply gives it, free, to those who believe and accept Jesus.

The surprising thing—and Luther was more surprised than anybody else—was that no debate resulted. Nobody took the other side. Instead of thinking of Luther's 95 statements as a challenge people accepted them as fact. Within a month the young monk's point of view had spread over all of Europe.

This was the beginning of Protestantism. It was, more directly, the beginning of Lutheranism, the denomination whose 51 million members now comprise the largest of all Protestant groups in the world. Their basic tenet of faith is still that man is saved not by what he does but by his faith in Jesus as Lord.

Many of the results of Luther's action are now a normal part of American life and thought. Lutherans claim that their founder is to be credited with the following modern religious and social developments.

The open Bible—free access to the Holy Scriptures by all persons, in all languages.

Private judgement—the idea that decisions in matters of religious belief are made by the believer for himself and by himself, and not made for him by another man or by an organization.

Universal education—in order that any individual may be equipped to make intelligent decisions for himself it is essential that everyone be provided with the materials of education.

Civil liberty—the rise of the common man in religious matters was naturally accompanied by a rise in his status as a citizen of the state.

It is said that an "Inquiring Reporter" recently talking to a number of people about whether Halloween should be abolished, found only one person who knew anything whatever about the original meaning of Halloween.

It is, of course, the "eve" of All Saints Day—or, as the Anglo-Saxons called it, All Hallows' Day—the day on which all Catholics and many Protestants memorialize all the departed Christians, known or unknown, who have entered Paradise.

As early as the Fourth Century the Eastern part of the Church was observing, on the first Sunday after Pentecost, a day of honor for all the lesser saints who could not have a day of their own in the Church calendar, or whose records had not been preserved.

In the West, the observance did not catch on until much later, when, in the Seventh Century, Pope Boniface IV took over the old pagan building known as the Pantheon (all gods) and dedicated it to the Virgin and all martyrs. This happened on a May 13, and the Pope set the day apart as a time for honoring all the saints at once, much as the Easterners had been doing for 300 years.

A little while later, however, another Pope, Gregory III, consecrated a chapel in St. Peter's, Rome, in honor of all the saints, and because this happened on November 1, he moved Boniface's day to that date, and November 1 has been All Saints Day ever since.

And more important in the Middle West, South and Far West, politics is outdoors.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Behold, I will send a blast upon him, and he shall hear a rumor, and return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.—Isaiah 37:37.

Enemies carry a report in a quite different form from the original.—Plautus.

Answer—I'm sorry for your little girl. It is wrong to regard a "shot" shop as a clinic. There is no evidence that medicine, serum, vaccine or other remedy an administered has any beneficial effect upon a child's tendency to have frequent nose, throat, or ear infections. It is downright stupid to keep her indoors and bundled up. Children of that age generally have three or more acute respiratory infections in the months from November till May. If your child is exceptional you should consult a physician who practices under his own name.

Goose Skin
 What makes my skin so goosey? It has been so since I was a little girl. Have tried all kinds of baths and creams. It is so goosey on the outer surface of legs and back of arms. (P. R.)

Answer—Perhaps insufficient daily intake of vitamin A. Send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson No. 9, "Save Your Skin."

Masked Gunmen Hold Up Store

Force Royal Oak Man, Wife Into Icebox; Flee With $290 in Cash

ROYAL OAK—Wearing Halloween masks and armed with an automatic, two gunmen held up Schoner's Market at 3821 Rochester Road early last night and escaped with $290, after forcing the owner and his wife into a walk-in icebox.

Police today linked the crime to another holdup Thursday night, where another grocery store at 1686 John R. Troy Township, was held up under like circumstances.

Nick Schoner and his wife were alone in the store when the masked gunmen demanded the cash and forced them into the refrigerator at gunpoint. They then scooped up the money and an undetermined amount in checks and fled in an old model car, according to Royal Oak police.

One of the bandits was described as short and stocky and wearing a blue shirt. The other wore a brown shirt and was about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing about 170 pounds.

Help the Homeless By Voting Right

VOTE YES

for PROPOSAL #4 "CHARITY BINGO"

(Proposal #4 will limit lotteries solely to charity causes.)

"Smart Salesmen Are Still Trapping Unwary Householders With the 'Referred Lead' Gimmick!"

In a typical case, the housewife wanted a clothes dryer which she knew she could not afford. While watching a television program, she heard the fast-talking "pitchman" say she could have one "at no cost."

After calling the number given, our lady friend was assured that she could, indeed, have the dryer without cost. All she would have to do would be to give the company the names of her friends who might be prospects.

Came the dawn!! After signing the purchase contract, she slowly came to the realization that she was obligated to pay far more than the market price for the dryer—and that the referred leads just did not pay off!

A number of legitimate dealers may offer you money or credit for buyers that you may refer to them—but they make this offer only after you have made your purchase!

Never buy merchandise in the belief that referred leads will make your payments.

Reflections

VOTE!

We have the greatest Country on earth; you, I, and a million others like us go to the poles to keep it the greatest.

A ballot is for the strong and brave, for men and women who inform themselves on all sides, then use their intelligence to choose the right man for the position. We have propositions that may go deep into our pocket.

book; if they are on the side of right, for the greatest number, we endorse them, or if they are not we reject them.

Our Country is as weak as a simpering female when emotion sways our judgment. To vote without weighing our actions is cutting the thread holding an "H" bomb suspended over our heads. Vote for what you think is right. Vote as your conscience dictates. Vote as a determining factor in the welfare of all the people, for strength, power as it stems from God, and the right to raise our voice in the affairs of The Greatest Country on Earth.

Choose Snowsuit That'll Wear Well

A snowsuit is an appealing investment. Get it good, for the next one to wear. One-piece, while not so fondly regarded by the young, is more sensible than two-piece, if he likes to tumble in the snow. Be sure it has a substantial zipper and tight cuffs on ankles and wrists. Waterproofness is important. Patch the knees in advance with heavy fabric or a corduroy pad. It will probably fit only one winter, so get it to fit now.

He was also head of the music department at Adelphi College and director of music at St. Paul's school.

Dr. Garabrant was founder and director of the Long Island Choral society, currently featured in "Cinemas," the Long Island Bach festival and the Diocesan Choral Institute.

Guest carillonist, Frederick Marriott of the Kirk-in-the-Hills, will give the final recital November 1th. He was previously connected with the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel in Chicago.

Nondenominational School Is Planned

By Religious News Service
MIAMI, Fla. — A non-denominational Christian elementary school will open here next fall. Trustees for the Miami Christian School were elected at a meeting here and officers were instructed to complete negotiations for a six-acre building site.

Lutherans operate two elementary schools here and there are 16 Roman Catholic parochial schools, but this will be the only non-denominational Christian school in the area.

Frank Esty, an insurance salesman and president of the local Gideon organization, is temporary president of the group of parents who are backing the school.

Everyday Religion

Barbershop Benevolence
By DON D. TULLIS

People who are interested in everyday religion as well as the Sunday-go-to-meeting type, appreciate the many striking examples of practical service to those in need, offered by various groups outside the bounds of organized religion.

The New Hampshire Association of Journeymen Barbers of the American Federation of Labor has set up a "UNION BARBERS' DAY FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN." Each member is pledged to give one day's wages, including tips, to aid these unfortunate youngsters.

If Peter, James and John were here today I believe they would sacrifice their long locks and get themselves "crew-cuts" in order to have a part in this splendid project. Even Elijah and Elisha might join the march to some near-by tonsorial parlor. Surely the Master would pause at the shop door to say "Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto Me."

If each citizen would donate one day's income; if Hollywood would give one half of its divorce court costs; if everyone would pledge a like amount of what they spend for gambling and guzzling, for the education, housing, health, happiness and moral uplift of less fortunate folks, it would not mean a new heaven, but it would be a long step towards a new earth.

Excellent as is this special day for crippled children, barbers as well as others, give other days to charity, for which there is no publicity. After all, charity is a full time task.

But our gifts are meager compared with God's gifts to us. He gives not one, but everyday to our care and keeping. If He limited the earth's nurture of seeds to one day, we would all starve. If He provided oxygen for one day only, we would stop breathing. If He stoked the sun but once a year we would freeze in a ball of ice.

And these gifts through Nature are surpassed by His gifts through grace. Man's longing to see beyond the skyline, his yearning for the unknown, his wishing to do God's will, his capacity for friendship and his love of the beautiful, these are but a few of God's charities, without which man would be companion to the beasts.

We give one day, two days, three days mayhap for "His sweet sake, and charity" but He gives everyday, all day, and for good measure throws in ETERNITY.

St. Louis School Is Microfilming Vatican Papers

By Religious News Service

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — About 100,000,000 pages of books and documents in the Vatican library already have been copied on microfilm for preservation at the University of St. Louis, the Rev. Joseph Donnelly, S.J., the university's director of libraries, said here.

He predicted that the entire project, which calls for duplication of more than 600,000 manuscripts, would be completed next year. The university plans to build a new Pope Pius XII Memorial Library to house the collection.

Father Donnelly said the project had "done more for scholarship in America than any other single thing."

Permission to duplicate the aged and valuable documents was given by Pope Pius XII, who commented that only Americans had time to pursue scholarship on a large scale.

Some of the papers in the collection date back to 5,000 B.C. They deal with "just about everything outside the Church," said Father Donnelly, including law, medicine, astronomy, literature and physics.

Monday the guest lecturer will be Rabbi Philip Kieval, Spiritual Leader of Congregation Beth Israel of Flint.

Rabbi Kieval is a graduate of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and John Hopkins University. He is a member of the Commission for Jewish Education and a contributor to "Conservative Judaism." His address will be "What Is Conservative Judaism?"

Following the talk, Rabbi Kieval will answer questions raised by the audience. Chairman of the Institute and of the evening is Morris Kampner.

Martin Luther Sermon Subject

Reformation Day Will Be Observed in Pontiac Churches Tomorrow

Four hundred and thirty seven years ago on October 31, 1517, Martin Luther posted on the door of the Castle Church in Wittenburg, Germany, 95 arguments against indulgences and for a right understanding of repentance.

A FRIENDLY PLACE TO WORSHIP

Spiritual Insight Aids in Solving Daily Problems

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I was staying in a hotel once when the manager asked me to call upon one of the guests who was ill. As he was taking me to the room, he explained that the doctors had been unable to find anything specifically wrong with this man except that his mind was clouded with self-pity, fear, hate and depression.

His appearance and conversation bore this out. We found him in bed, looking forlorn and unhappy. We talked for a while and finally he looked up at me and said, "How can I stop what's bothering me?"

I did what I could to help him, and subsequently he found peace and with it a much better health condition. When we left, we went back to the manager's office. He sat down at his desk, swung his swivel chair around and looked out the window. "I guess that man's question is my question," he remarked, his back still to me. "I would like to know how to stop what's bothering me." And so, in that manager's office, we applied the same principles of understanding and then of spiritual renewal. Through the weeks that followed, this man also got new insights into what was bothering him and he also was able to improve himself.

When I got back to my room, I picked up the Gideon Bible, placed in many hotel rooms for travelers, and it chanced to fall open at the Twenty-third Psalm, where it says: "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of my enemies." I had a quick flash of the meaning of those familiar words.

Of course, this does not mean that a man sits down to a table piled high with food while his angry enemies watch him. I am sure it does mean, however, that if you live with God, He fills your life with such richness that fear, anxiety, domestic and financial trouble—all your enemies—have no power over you. It means, in short, that God can give you power over everything that bothers you. He anoints your head with oil, meaning that He fills your mind with peace. And so boundless is His mercy that your cup is more than full, it runneth over.

If you continue in this attitude of faith, He will give you this mercy and goodness all the days of your life.

And once you begin to live on this spiritual basis one of the things certain to happen is that you gain deeper and sharper insights. Many people are haunted and made miserable all their lives by so many things they do not understand within themselves. It isn't necessary for you to go through life being hurt, annoyed, or bewildered, for the application of faith to your problems and to yourself helps you to understand and then to find answers.

Some years ago, in my own church in New York, we organized a religious-psychiatric clinic for the simple purpose of helping people who are unhappy and don't know why they are unhappy. There are similar clinics in other churches and communities; your minister, priest or rabbi can suggest one of your own faith.

If you apply the wisdom of modern science and the ancient insights of religion to human nature in an objective, scientific manner, you can discover what lies at the root of your unhappiness. When you know definitely what it is that bothers you, and why, then you can cure the trouble. Here, as I have pointed out so often, faith is the answer—there is no better way to stop what's bothering you.

Says Courthouse Title Is Clouded

Atty. William Wilnot Claims County Can't Give Clear Deed

Question as to marketability of the title to the present courthouse property has been raised by a group opposing sale of this property and removal of the courthouse to another location. William H. Wilnot, a Pontiac attorney, has prepared the following statement:

"On Oct. 1, 1954, an opinion was rendered to the special county building committee of the Board of Supervisors regarding the title of Oakland County to the present courthouse property and old jail site, by Harry J. Merritt as corporation counsel for Oakland County. His opinion is founded entirely on the case of County of Oakland vs. Mack. This case was tried in the local circuit court in 1927, appealed to the Supreme Court and decided by that court in 1928.

"It is claimed by those who desire to sell these properties that the case above referred to cleared the title from a reverter clause in the deed to the county, executed and recorded in 1823.

"The concluding paragraphs of Mr. Merritt's opinion, and quoted in the Press shortly thereafter, read as follows:

It seems to me at this time that any lawyer, conversant with the facts, who repudiates what that committee did, in other words, who still maintains that the county cannot deliver a marketable title to Lots 134, 135, and 117 is dragging the proverbial red herring across the courthouse trail.

It is my opinion that the County of Oakland has marketable title to Lots 134, 135 (courthouse site) and 117 (old jail site) and could deliver a warranty deed without fear of any successful attack thereon.

"Before the election of Aug. 3, 1954, by publicity from the county, and various newspaper stories, we were told that the property could be sold to private interests and would come back upon the tax roll subject to taxes of which it produces none at the present time. "Since the matter was defeated on Aug. 3, a pamphlet has been circulated among county employees containing again the claims being pushed by the Board of Supervisors, couched as follows:

Q.—What does the Board of Supervisors propose to do with the present courthouse and other properties located in the downtown district of Pontiac if the ½ mill question is approved on Nov. 2 for financing a new county building?

A.—These properties would be offered for sale. Funds derived from such sales would be used to assist in financing the new building.

Q.—Is there any cloud on the title of the present courthouse property which would prevent the county from giving a marketable title in the event of sale?

A.—No. The Michigan Supreme Court rendered a decision reported in Volume 243 of Michigan Reports, pages 279 to 300, to the effect that the reversionary rights, once held by Stephen Mack, trustee for the Pontiac Company, were extinguished. Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, has given an opinion that the county has marketable title and can successfully defend any attack thereon.

"Mr. Merritt infers that any lawyer conversant with the facts should and must concur with him; that the title is marketable and should not be questioned.

"Here are, however, facts which appear on the record in the case itself and others which have arisen since the decision in 1928.

"County vs. Mack was first started as an action against the original fifteen proprietors of the Pontiac Company (all of whom were dead at the time) for whom, including himself, Stephen Mack acted as trustee, and their heirs, etc. An order of publication was filed to bring in certain persons not reachable for service by summons. Only about 32 Mack heirs appeared, though the record shows that the attorney for the county had a list of 120 Mack heirs, and more.

"Nothing appears to show that any heirs of the other fourteen had appeared in person or by attorney. Some time prior to the trial, for reasons best known by the attorney for the county, the case was voluntarily dismissed as to the fourteen—everyone except Mack.

"On the first day of the trial, this appears from the record:

Mr. Lynch: I would like, in order to clarify the situation, Judge, I would like at this time to have an order of discontinuance as to all defendants in this case, except only those represented by counsel today.

Mr. Kennedy: It is my understanding, if Your Honor please, and Mr. Lynch's, that all process by publication is discontinued? Mr. Lynch: No effort will be made in this proceeding to do anything further concerning any of the defendants other than those represented by counsel.

"This quotation emphasizes the conclusive fact that the case was not tried nor intended to be tried as to any defendants except the selected 32 Mack heirs. In plain English, a very large group—all other heirs of Mack and the heirs of the other original 14—have never had their day in court. Their rights have never been passed upon and they would have the right to object to the sale.

"So much for some facts with which we are conversant from the records. These facts have not appeared in the public press so far as I am informed.

"What is more important, however, is that the rule of law upon which County vs. Mack was predicated—that the right of reverter was lost by a deed to Elon Farnsworth—has been reversed by an act of the Legislature passed in 1931.

"The heirs of Stephen Mack and of the other 14 Pontiac Company proprietors, who have never been parties to the 1926-28 litigation, are in a position to insist that the 1928 rule of the courthouse case no longer applies and that the right to enforce a reversion of title, if the property is sold, is very much alive and a living issue.

"It will take a new case and a new decision of the Supreme Court to decide the matter again. If the old rule applies we might expect one result, when all persons entitled to be heard are before the court. If the new rule applies then there may be a different result; with the county facing very serious litigation if any sale is made or attempted.

"To repeat—it is going to take litigation which might extend over a period of years, to finally determine whether the old or the new rule applies. I think that the new rule must apply here because no innocent purchaser bought between 1928 and 1931 in reliance upon the decided case. If a sale had been made within that three year period a different story might be presented, but such is not the case.

"The actual events present facts with which all persons—and not just lawyers—should be conversant, in passing upon marketability of title.

"No serious-minded businessman is going to buy himself a lawsuit. I would be perfectly justified in advising any prospective buyer that under all the circumstances above outlined, the title is not marketable. Should a client of mine ask, Shall I buy the courthouse property? I would tell him, No, and turn to Escher vs. Bender, decided Oct. 13, 1953, which states:

A title may be regarded as unmarketable if a reasonably careful and prudent man, familiar with the facts, would refuse to accept the title in the ordinary course of business. It is not necessary that the title be actually bad in order to render it unmarketable. It is sufficient if there is such a doubt or uncertainty as may reasonably form the basis of litigation.

"This quotation is not technical, its description is not confined to lawyers' language.

"Do you, the voter, want to buy or sell a lawsuit? It looks to me as if that is about all Oakland County has to sell to assist in financing the new buildings.

Army Sending 'Honest John' Units Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced today it is sending to Europe "several batteries" of the new long-range rocket "Honest John" which is capable of carrying an atomic warhead.

The new weapons "will be deployed to Europe within the next few months for support of the military forces under Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther," the announcement said.

Gruenther is commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

The Army noted that this is the third type of new weapon to be sent for the defense of Western Europe. Previously units of the 280 mm. atomic cannon and the "Corporal" guided missile—which also can carry an atomic warhead—have been deployed to the Western European defense zone.

The Honest John units are now in training at Ft. Sill, Okla., and Ft. Bragg, N.C.

The maximum accurate range of the Honest John is about 8 or 9 miles. The weapon is a ballistic rocket, not a guided missile.

WHY VOTE FOR THIS MAN?

1. The tax experts of Michigan entrusted to him four Bills to amend the tax laws so the tax machinery would work. He introduced and procured the passage of these four Bills. No longer must our Tax Allocation Board work in the dark. These Bills did not increase your taxes but they really streamlined the taxing machinery.

Fred Beardsley procured the passage of these laws.

2. The census regulation giving credit for college students to the cities where the colleges were located cost Oakland County citizens much money. A resolution was offered to the Legislature, passed and forwarded to Washington protesting this regulation as being unfair to non-college localities.

Fred Beardsley offered the resolution and secured its passage.

Why would the important tax bills be entrusted to him? Well, 13 years as a Supervisor made him familiar with the taxing machinery. He knew what was wrong and how to correct it.

Why did he offer the resolution on the census?

The answer to that is that he is alert to the interests of his constituents.

He procured the passage of the bill which enabled the state to stop leaks on the used car sales tax. This picked up $3,000,000 sales tax which previously escaped.

Why was it possible for him to procure the passage of these and other pieces of legislation?

The answer is that he enjoys the respect and confidence of every member of the Legislature.

300 Watermelons Crack as Truck Takes Plunge

MT. STERLING, Ky. (UP) — When a truck driver, Orville Harris, 34, Huntington, W. Va., went to sleep while driving, he woke up to find 300 broken watermelons and a banged-up truck.

Harris suffered a broken leg as the truck went over a 10-foot embankment and hit a large tree. To top it off, someone stole the 100 good melons in the load while he was being treated at the hospital.

Yule Shopper Helps Out GIs

With Only 56 Days Left, Capital Woman Is Busy Buying for Servicemen

WASHINGTON (UP) — With Christmas still 56 days away, there would seem to be plenty of time left for gift shopping. But not for Mrs. William M. Galvin, a silver-haired mother of three grown children.

Mrs. Galvin since 1943 has been executive secretary of a free Christmas shopping service for overseas servicemen who want presents picked out and sent to their families and friends. A busy hunt is already on for gifts which, in other years, have numbered in the hundreds and ranged from hymnals to harmonicas.

"I love it," she said today. "It's like having a huge family of your own. We bend over backward to help these characters. God bless 'em. Sometimes I think they want to spend too much money for their children's toys. But, if they want to spend $15 on a fire engine for a 3-year-old that's what they get."

The service, a Community Chest affiliate, grew out of Pearl Harbor and except for a period after World War II, it has been rustling up gifts ever since.

To use the shopping service, all a GI has to do is send details about himself, his military address, description of a gift, information about the receiver and a money order to the Armed Services Hospitality Committee in Washington. If everything goes right, the gift is on its way shortly afterward.

Mrs. Galvin, aided by a group of volunteers, says her committee goes to great lengths to make sure the gift that's ordered is sent, and on time.

Last year, a pair of pink pajamas almost threw her. A young sailor asked to have sent to his wife a certain kind he had seen in a magazine.

Mrs. Galvin asked Mrs. Joseph Place, the committee's official shopper, to see what she could do. After at least 25 phone calls to local stores, still no pajamas. Finally a call to the manufacturer in Massachusetts resulted in success, but only after the manufacturer waived his long-standing rule to accept orders only from regular merchants.

Mrs. Galvin says the most popular gift is flowers: "Long stem" roses, orchids, potted plants of all kinds.

The most curious request? "Well," says Mrs. Galvin, "I guess it was from a sailor. He asked us to buy two sets of lingerie — one for a girl in New York City and one for a girl in San Francisco."

After West Rearms

Adenauer Urges Treaty With Soviet Bloc Nations

WASHINGTON (UP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today the Western world should seek peace through a treaty with the Soviet bloc — but only after making itself strong militarily and economically.

Adenauer, now seeking approval by his own and the other Western parliaments of agreements to make Germany a sovereign, armed partner, solemnly warned "Let us beware of illusions. We in Germany are particularly well informed about the difficulties which must be surmounted on the way to an easing of tension with the Communist-dominated world. We also know that extreme caution and vigilance are called for."

He also repeated, in a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, the judgment in which President Eisenhower joined him yesterday — that Russia's proposal of last week for four-power talks on German reunification, European security and an Austrian peace treaty offer nothing new.

Just before the luncheon speech Adenauer and Secretary of State Dulles signed a new German-American treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation. In the formal ceremony at the State Department, Dulles hailed the pact as a far-reaching step culminating the German leader's three-day round of talks with top American officials.

The treaty, first to be signed by the new West German government, requires Senate ratification. The four main points are that each country:

1. Agrees to give treatment to each other's citizens and corporations on a basis no less favorable than it accords its own nationals and companies.
2. Reasserts adherence to the principles of nondiscrimination in trade and shipping.
3. Sets up standards protecting property and interests of each other's citizens.
4. Recognizes the need for special attention to stimulate international movement of private investment capital.

Cop's Son Shoots Self

CINCINNATI (UP) — Donald Leon Grut, 13-year-old son of a Cincinnati policeman, shot and killed himself yesterday with his father's service revolver. Police said the boy may have been twirling the weapon in play when it went off.

"SELF-HELP"

Increasing sales and expanding its market have been foremost objectives of this cooperative during the past three years.

Through the mediums of advertising and publicity "Milk as a Beverage" has been promoted as never before in the greater Detroit market with gratifying results.

Creating new markets and strengthening old ones is a "self-help" project instituted by the members of this organization as a cooperative means of protecting farm income by the same methods as are used in successful private industry. It is a demonstration of forward thinking on the part of farm cooperative membership.

Let's Really Think This Over Before We Vote Extra Tax Millage!

What location for the Courthouse really is most convenient? Did the "experts" get estimates for buildings on both locations? How many MORE buildings will need to be built by moving the Courthouse? Can the present property be legally sold?

DOES SIMPLY PROVIDING PARKING MEAN CONVENIENCE?

No. Besides a place to park there are other conveniences that should be considered in re-location of such an important building as the courthouse. What about people's time? For years the county has spent time and money to locate near the present courthouse offices and buildings which house files, records, services and prisoners . . . all allied to the functions of the courts. Must these be re-located, too? Must the people, county officials and attorneys be asked to park two or three times instead of once to take care of their business?

WHAT ARE THE COMPARATIVE COSTS OF BUILDING ON EACH SITE?

Has a study been made and bids received on the cost of building at each site? The current location has all utilities now ready for rebuilding . . . the new site must be developed from a relative raw state . . . has this cost been considered. How does the suggestion that a new building on the present site with rental space to recover building costs figure against a building without such space at the new site.

NOT ALL WHO USE THE COURTHOUSE ARE LAWYERS, JUDGES, POLICEMEN.

In fact the judges, lawyers and policemen are a small number of the folks who must do business with the county offices in the courthouse. Most people plan to accomplish as much business as possible in the time they can be away from their homes and work. By isolating the courthouse and its offices away from the other businesses and places people must go to it is adding to their travel, adding inconveniences in time and extra parking.

OTHER COUNTIES HAVE FOUND IT GOOD BUSINESS

to rebuild on the existing sites of their courthouse. This has saved their taxpayers considerably because it has kept the added costs of re-locating other offices, buildings and services out of the picture. This is food for real thought before voting extra tax millage. They found no inconvenience, no undesirability in keeping the courthouse in a central, metropolitan location.

YOUR VOTE ON THE MILLAGE PROPOSAL is your expression on this question. Besides affirming an increase in the tax millage to be paid you will express approval of a change in the courthouse location. Before you vote give this matter careful consideration.

Benny's Wife May Appear in Skit on His TV Show

By JANET KERN
NEW YORK—Look for Mary Livingston to appear with her husband, Jack Benny, on his upcoming TV show in a dramatization of how the Bennys first met.

And, expect the next "March of Medicine" to take viewers on a scientific tour of one of the largest mental hospitals in the country; Gertrude Berg to start reappearing, with some regularity, on the Milton Berle show and various drama programs, now that Dumont has kissed "The Goldbergs" goodbye.

It's turning out that Sid Caesar, on his Monday night program, is the one "Show of Shows" refuge, to keep his head above water. The last Caesar show, for example, was a good deal better than most of the old "Show of Shows" productions. The dialogue included some of the sharpest and funniest lines to be heard on TV so far this season.

Sid is, of course, aided tremendously by Carl Reiner. Reiner, actually, is a far more polished, professional and skilled comic than Sid. But, regardless of who's best on "Caesar's Hour," the fact remains that it is Caesar's hour... and it is unto Caesar that due praise must be rendered.

For half an hour Monday night, history was reported, recorded and made by the TV industry. For the first time, the doors to the Presidential cabinet room were thrown open to millions of citizens—by way of TV cameras.

While the President made it clear that he had only approved this precedent-smashing telecast "for this one time," the fact remained that a tradition had been smashed, and a new precedent established.

The dignity of the televised cabinet meeting should have done much to counteract any mistaken impressions which might have followed the Army-McCarthy hearings, that governmental sessions are customarily loud-voiced, circus-like or undisciplined.

Woman Strikes Thief 'While Iron Is Hot'

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — When a burglar threatened to harm Mrs. Eleanor Ann Dunlap's two small children unless she surrendered her household money, she let him have it — pow, right in the kisser. Mrs. Dunlap didn't use her fist, but what happened to be handy at the moment — the hot iron she held in her right hand. "I got him right on the button," she told police. "He yelled and fled with the $4 in small change he had stolen from my purse."

Ham Radio Patrols Set to Aid Control of Pranks

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — Radio hams will help authorities cope with Halloween pranks tonight. Several amateur operators will patrol the streets in radio-equipped cars to notify police and firemen of trouble spots, property damage and false alarms.

ONE OF SEVEN—Howard Keel follows up his big hits in "Kiss Me Kate" and "Rose Marie" with another rousing role as the backwoodsman hero of M-G-M's new CinemaScope musical, "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers." Blonde Jane Powell is her co-star in the film which starts Sunday at the Oakland.

Chicago Police Kill Ex-Convict

Fugitive Shot on Busy Street Corner Trying to Escape Trap

CHICAGO (AP)—Police last night ambushed and killed Agostino (Gus) Amedeo, a cop-slaying ex-convict.

The elusive 26-year-old fugitive was shot down at a busy North Side intersection as he tried to escape a trap carefully laid by nearly a score of detectives.

Amedeo had been the object of an intensive police search since he fatally shot Detective Charles Ammerino, 30, of the robbery detail in a North Side saloon Oct. 21.

The police had been ordered to "shoot to kill" Amedeo on sight. Lt. Frank Pape, chief of the robbery detail and the force's ace machine gunner, laid the trap. Detectives William Murphy and John Bosquette, Ammerino's partners, were among the detectives who helped spring it.

The detectives, dressed as hunters, workmen and cab drivers, stationed themselves in buildings, cars and trucks at Berwyn and Clark Streets and waited for Amedeo to keep an appointment with a woman.

As Amedeo reached the corner, one of the policemen called: "Give up, Gus!" Amedeo drew his gun and, starting to run, fired twice.

A fusillade of police bullets riddled him with possibly a dozen shots.

A bystander, Louis Molnar, 35, was hit by a stray bullet and suffered a minor chest wound. Traffic was halted in Clark Street by a crowd of more than 2,000 who jammed the intersection after word spread that the hunted killer had been slain.

Clear Companion in Poison Death of Golfer's Wife

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Police have cleared Roy Arthur Ford of suspicion in the poison death last Wednesday of Mary Von Elm, wife of former amateur golf champion George Von Elm.

Ford was charged with a morals offense, however, and his bail set at $3,000 at his arraignment yesterday. He was returned to the county jail pending preliminary hearing Nov. 5.

Detectives said they had located a pharmacist who said he sold a nicotine compound to Mrs. Von Elm. Ford was found in a car with her body after an all night drinking spree. At that time Ford was booked on suspicion of murder.

Ninth Fireman Dies in Philadelphia Blast

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The death toll of firemen from the explosion of a tank containing textile treating solvent Thursday has reached nine. Four more firemen who fought the fire died yesterday. The number of deaths represents the worst tragedy in this city's fire department in 44 years.

Hoseman James Doyle, 32, hoseman Thomas Wilson, 36, ladderman James Vivian, 32, and Lt. Charles Holtzman, died yesterday. City chemists reported the blast gave off lung damaging phosgene gas, the type widely used by armies in World War I.

The death toll is exceeded only by the 14 killed in a fire Dec. 21, 1910.

New Cabinet in Syria Assumes Government

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A coalition cabinet headed by Faris El Khouri, Syrian delegate to the United Nations, took over the Syrian government last night. It replaces Sayid Ghazzi's caretaker regime, which resigned Oct. 14 after holding parliamentary elections.

The new government is composed of representatives of the People's party, which won a majority in the new Chamber of Deputies, Independents and National and tribal blocs.

Scoring Punch Missing, Chiefs Bow to Acorns 13-0

By BILL MARTIN
Pontiac High's hapless Chiefs suffered their 5th consecutive loss of the 1954 football season here last night, bowing to Royal Oak

13-0 in a non-conference game at Wisner Memorial Stadium. With the exception of two plays—a pair of scoring gallops by Royal Oak fullback Roy Soldan in the 2nd quarter—the contest was evenly-played and somewhat dull for the scattering of fans that braved Friday night's inclement weather.

Chiefs outgained their southern Oakland County rivals 169 yards to 144 on the ground, but couldn't uncover a scoring punch. The Pontiac offense, geared for the short gain, gave the Chiefs possession of the ball for 56 plays. Royal Oak had the ball for only 33 plays.

Soldan, a 170-pound powerhouse, was the big difference. The chunky Acorn fullback scored both touchdowns, on runs of 46 and 20 yards. He was the game's top runner with 96 yards in nine tries. Soldan scored his 1st marker early in the 2nd period, after a holding penalty against Pontiac moved the ball to the Chiefs' 45-yard line. Quarterback Frank Finney tried one unsuccessful pass and then sent Soldan over the center. He exploded through the secondary, cut to the sidelines and went all the way. Darrell Harper's conversion try was wide.

Acorns recovered a Pontiac fumble on the following kickoff to start a 39-yard drive to their 2nd tally. Soldan went the final yards on a spinner. Harper's kick was good. Pontiac bounced back with a 52-yard march, to Royal Oak's 25, but halftime halted the threat.

Chiefs completely dominated play in the 2nd half. Royal Oak managed to hold on to the ball for only three series of plays, and never advanced beyond their own 35-yard stripe.

Pontiac threatened twice, but each time threw away the opportunity. PHS reached Royal Oak's 23 early in the final quarter but lost the ball on a fumble. Chiefs drove to the 13 in the waning moments, only to have RO's Gene Filippus intercept a pass in the end zone to again squash the bid.

Game marked the 1st time this season that Pontiac has failed to score.

Top ball-toters for the Chiefs were halfback Dick Slade, with 62 yards in 12 carries, and fullback Coley Gracey, with 50 yards in 12 attempts. Sophomore Jimmy "Red" Taylor added another 37 yards in seven tries.

Missed Boot in Last Minute Dumps Titan 11

Marquette Collects 6th Straight Victory, 14-13 in Detroit Contest

DETROIT (AP) — Football, among other things, is a game of frustrations. Just ask the University of Detroit.

With 49 seconds to go, halfback Jim Lobbokovich tried a nine-yard field goal from in front of the goal posts. But his boot squirted up in the air like a pop fly—and Marquette's 14-13 margin was preserved.

In whipping Detroit for the 6th straight time, Marquette took a 14-0 lead in the 1st half and rendered the Titans almost helpless. Detroit failed to make a 1st down in those first 30 minutes; failed to make even an inch in forward passing and, as a topper, was thrown for a minus 13 yards rushing. Bob Cirman and Dick Shockey had scored Marquette's touchdowns on short line thrusts.

In the 2nd half, Detroit was a new team. Fullback Tom O'Neill fell on a fumble in the end zone to give the Titans their 1st touchdown at the 5:15 mark of the 3rd period. Then, as the 4th session started, they recovered a fumble and Lee Riley eventually scored on a nine-yard sweep around left end. But Joe Belluso's kick was wide—and so was Lobbokovich's a while later.

GRIDIRON MUDDER—Spattered with mud and soaking wet from a soggy field and dripping sky, Royal Oak's Darrell Harper sets off on a short gain in the final period of last night's Pontiac-Royal Oak football game in Wisner Stadium. Player behind the runner is Coley Gracey of Pontiac. Acorns blanked Chiefs 13-0.

Rochester, Holly Victors

Avondale, Fitzgerald Tie, Oxford Wins; Skippers Edged, Keego Harbor Is Upset

By JACK SAYLOR
Avondale and Fitzgerald have reached the decision that half a loaf is better than none. These 2 undefeated Oakland-B conference teams battled to a 0-0 tie Friday and very likely will share the league championship for the 2nd straight year.

Oxford, Oakland County's lone unbeaten and untied 11, scored its 7th straight victory, 33-7, over Clarkston, but the Wolves had consolation in defeat. Milford was upsetting Keego Harbor, 12-0, thus Clarkston backed into the Wayne-Oakland lead.

Berkley squeaked by Waterford, 13-12, to clinch undisputed possession of the Inter-Lakes crown. Walled Lake downed Farmington, 20-6. Buzz DeBaene and Jerry Hunter put on sparkling individual shows as Rochester tripped Romeo, 20-13, and Holly defeated Northville, 19-12.

Avon and Fitzgerald displayed strong defenses. Yellow Jackets marched to the Fitzgerald 11 in the 1st quarter, but lost on downs. Don Van Gilder's passing kept Avondale worried, but the Jacket defense stood up.

Van Gilder's punting also was a prime factor in keeping Avondale back on its heels.

Dale Spiker's 45-yard run on Oxford's 1st play from scrimmage set off the Wildcat triumph. Larry Spencer tallied twice, before Bob Yahnke passed to Vern Carman for the Clarkston touchdown.

After intermission, Mike Benedict tossed TD passes of 50 and 40 yards to ends Fred Bergin and Duane Willey.

Lanky Dick Radatz caught touchdown passes of 26 and 15 yards, the latter in the final 3 minutes to spoil Waterford's upset hopes. After Berkley's 1st score, Skippers tied it up on Tom Bryce's pass to Dave Larkin. Lyn Salathiel added the point, but a penalty nullified it and he missed the 2nd attempt.

Skippers drove to a 3rd quarter tally with Laine Hetherington going over from the 1. Point again was missed. Berkley drove, but Waterford held for 4 downs inside the 10, only to punt out and have Williams pass to Radatz for the TD. Bruce Dolohan ran the vital point.

Milford's defense was outstanding.

ing in its victory over Keego. Line-men got the touchdowns as Tom Gould intercepted a pass and ran 50 yards to score. Herb Edwards, 135-pound guard, blocked a punt and end Don Perkuchin recovered for the other tally.

Walled Lake scored 3 times in the 2nd half for its decision. Don Pongratz went 55 yards, Dick Woodworth tallied after John Walker's pass interception, and John Reid went 10 yards on an end-around.

Hard-running Buzz DeBaene of Rochester scored on runs of 35 and 65 yards and added 2 points to highlight the Rochester triumph. Bruce Jones got the 1st Falcon score on a 25-yard run. Long passes tied the score at 13-13 setting the stage for DeBaene's clincher.

Jerry Hunter scored on runs of 60, 35 and 2 yards, featuring Holly's victory. Darwin Sanders, Al Dickinson had 2 touchdowns each, and Ed Kasuba got 3 as Orionville routed Mayville, 44-0. Birmingham bowed to Port Huron, 19-7.

Summer Tan Is Favorite in Garden State Stakes

By JOHN CHANDLER

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — A red-hot horse for the 1955 Kentucky Derby may pop up Saturday as 15 2-year-olds take off in the richest dash for cash ever staged on a race track.

This is the $100,000-added Garden State Stakes, a mile and one sixteenth scramble for the folding green that will net the winner a cool $151,095.75 if all 15 start.

Mrs. Russell A. Firestone's Summer Tan is the probable 2-1 favorite.

Quaker State Helps Tartar Grid Staff

The State of Pennsylvania has provided Wayne University with some good football talent and also with three members of the Wayne staff. Football Coach Lou Zarza was born in Groveton, Pa. Baseball Coach Joe Truskowski in Sugar Notch, Pa. and Athletic Publicity Director Paul Pentecost in Pittsburgh.

Conley Quits Pros

BOSTON (AP) — Gene Conley, the 23-year-old Milwaukee Braves pitcher, has decided to quit professional basketball in order to devote full time to his promising baseball career.

ite in the second running of the event at Garden State Park, (to be televised on CBS network starting at 4 p.m., EST) With 15 facing the starter the pot will hit a staggering $269,965, or $570 more than in the 1953 race. However, the net to the winner will be slightly less than a year ago when the Cain Hoy Stable's Turn-To banked $151,282.25. Larger entry fees made the difference this year.

Summer Tan, a 3-1 times stakes winner who lost only by a head to Nashua in the Belmont Futurity, may be the public choice, but he'll have to turn on all jets to grab the jackpot.

Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy is the fly that could get into the soup again this time with the entry of Flying Fury and Racing Fool. Flying Fury captured the Eric Guerin rides Summer Tan, while Eddie Arcaro has Racing Fool and Henry Moreno, who rode Turn-To, will pilot Flying Fury.

A special "three-in-one" racing program will be presented at Lake Angelus Speedway Sunday afternoon. A number of Detroit area cars have been signed for the combination hardtop, old model stock and Powder Puff Derby show.

Time trials start at 1:30 p.m. at the track which is located on Lake Angelus near Baldwin.

Arthur Hill Surprises Indians 13-6, When Fumble Turns Into TD

By JOE FALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAGINAW ARTHUR HILL — A new "Cinderella" team — Arthur Hill — wrecked Flint Central's perfect record last night and boldly but firmly moved into 1st place in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

Rated a mere also-ran at the start of the season, coach Kurt Kampe's Lumberjacks jolted Flint Central 13-6 as Jim Rappuhn—a guard—rambled 65 yards with a fumble for the winning touchdown.

It gave Arthur Hill a 2-0 record in conference play and set up a "natural" next week against Bay City Central, which stayed in contention with a 36-19 victory over Flint Northern—also something of a surprise.

It was, however, a night of surprises as two other Class A teams (in addition to Flint Central) were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten-untied.

Benton Harbor, which had rolled up 12 straight victories (six this season), fell before Muskegon Heights, 21-18, and Detroit DeLaSalle, unscathed on in five games, lost to Detroit St. Anthony, 27-19. But not all the perfect-record teams were humbled. Grosse Pointe slammed to its 7th straight victory, defeating Dearborn Fordson, 45-19, to clinch its 1st Border Cities title in history.

In other leading games, Ann Arbor squeezed past Ypsilanti, 13-0, and Battle Creek turned back Holland, 25-7.

Big 4 League Faces 'Day of Decision'

By The Associated Press
This is a day of decision (Saturday) in the playoff scramble of Canada's Big Four Football Union with the Toronto Argonauts and the Ottawa Roughriders holding the keys to a delayed conclusion of post-season competitors.

If the Argonauts win at Montreal against the first-place Alouettes and the Roughriders upset the Hamilton Tiger-Cats at Ottawa, the second playoff spot will not be filled until the 14-day schedule ends in two weeks.

Fast Field Races in Final Jackson Feature

JACKSON (AP) — Seven horses have been nominated for the featured Detroit Pace tonight on the final night of racing at the Jackson Harness Raceway.

Field includes Cardinal Abbe, the pacer who holds a track record for 9-16ths of a mile at the raceway.

Libby Abbe, owned by Al Mathews of Saginaw, won the featured Grand Rapids Pace last night. The six-year-old chestnut mare went the mile in 2:17.

But nothing could halt the Miami stampede. In the second half, a demoralized Fordham team was unable to hold off the Hurricane fourth string.

Nine Hurricane backs crossed the Fordham goal as Miami's magnificent machine hit a new peak of offensive power. It was the sixth straight victory for the nation's 10th-ranking team.

Program, which will also include a variety floor show, will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Jockey Killed as His Mount Falls in Race

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A horse fell on a wet track in the second race of last night's program at Cahokia Downs Race Track, killing the jockey, Lester W. Brokaw, 17, of Granite City, Ill.

New York's DA Probes Boxing Guild Records

Subpoenaes Books to Determine Need For Grand Jury

NEW YORK (INS) — New York district attorney Frank Hogan has disclosed that his office is investigating charges of "extortion, conspiracy, collusion, discrimination, boycott and blackmail" against the International Boxing Managers Guild.

The DA's office said last night it has subpoenaed books and records of the Guild and Tex Sullivan's group promoting boxing matches at St. Nicholas Arena to determine if a possible grand jury investigation will be held.

Charges were leveled by the newly organized Metropolitan Boxing Alliance against the International Boxing Guild, its leaders Charles Johnson, Bill Daly, Hymie Wallman, and the promoters of Madison Square Garden and St. Nick's bouts.

The Alliance picketed the offices of the Boxing Commission yesterday until the regular commission meeting heard testimony from veteran managers Al Braverman, Lew Meyers, Frankie Jacobs, Duke Stefano and Joe Chap.

She was Polly Riley, the Fort Worth amateur who won the event in 1948 and who has finished as runner-up in the last two tournaments.

Miss Riley gained the fourth round with a 2 and 1 victory yesterday over Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, also of Fort Worth.

Betsy Rawls, medalist and defending champion from Spartanburg, S. C., blasted Mrs. William Harston, Dallas, 7 and 6. Betty Hicks, Manhattan Beach, Calif., sidelined Betty Jameson of San Antonio, 6 and 4, and Betty Dodd, San Antonio, whipped Betty MacKinnon, Savannah, Ga., 6 and 5.

Baltimore, Ohio Men in Seniors' Finale

PINEHURST (UP) — Spencer Overton of Baltimore and John W. Roberts of Columbus, O., meet today in the finals of the North-South Seniors Invitational golf tournament.

Overton reached the championship round Friday when he defeated medalist Thomas C. Robbins of Larchmont, N. Y., one up, where Robbins three-putted a "sudden-death" 19th hole.

Roberts, meanwhile, beat Douglas W. Hill of Cincinnati, O., runner-up in last year's tournament, 5 and 4.

Lions Favored to Topple Los Angeles Sunday, but Rams' Running Game May Be Key to Upset

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Champion Detroit Lions are favored to topple the Los Angeles Rams tomorrow, but the prediction may be amiss if the Rams can come up with another powerful running attack to match their overhead game.

The hosts expect around 65,000 to witness the National League football contest, which finds the Rams hoping to win and gain a 2nd place tie with Detroit in the Western Conference race.

Last Sunday Los Angeles overpowered the Chicago Bears with a ground attack that netted 314 yards. Of this, halfback Tank Younger blasted out 186 yards in 27 carries.

Ignores JC Test Golf Sponsor Pursues Plans for LA Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Golf sponsor William MacDonald Jr. of Miami Beach, Fla., went ahead Saturday with plans to stage a $25,000 open tournament at suburban Inglewood regardless of plans by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce for the 29-year-old Los Angeles Open on overlapping dates.

MacDonald, who also calls Chicago, Battle Creek and Los Angeles part-time homes, said he has the complete backing of the powerful Professional Golfers Assn., and two prominent members of the PGA backed him up.

Playing star Lloyd Mangrum said bluntly he would not compete in any tournament sponsored or controlled by the junior chamber.

Joe Novak, honorary lifetime president of the organization, said he felt it would be impossible for the junior chamber to stage a tournament without PGA blessing. No professional would compete, he declared.

MacDonald, who said he was asked by the PGA to step in and sponsor the tournament, has his event scheduled for Jan. 6-8, with a $5,000 tournament Jan. 6-8 for women tossed in extra.

He will call it the Pan-American Open but he said he is willing to change it to the Los Angeles Open if the chamber decides it wants to "co-operate."

Mack Blasts AL Owners for Rejecting Bid

President of A's Says Team Destined to Be Moved to KC

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Connie Mack blasted the American League for rejecting the bid of eight Philadelphians to buy control of his beloved Athletics and said he believed the team will play in Kansas City in 1955.

The 91-year-old president of the Athletics said last night that "the Kansas City setup wants the club. Everything works to that end. No matter what the Macks say or do, the answer will still be Kansas City, of course."

Mr. Baseball, as he is known to fans the world over, said American League club owners just didn't want the Philadelphia syndicate to have the team. "They simply didn't want those men to have the club. It's a runaround with an awful lot of pressure to take the A's to Kansas City."

"They wouldn't get away with that stuff on me. They'd have to show me," said baseball's elder statesman. He said if he were a member of the syndicate he would "demand" to know the objection to the group.

In an open letter to the Philadelphia fans read to newsmen by his wife, Katherine, the grand old man of baseball not only lashed out at the league, but rebuked his son, Roy, key man in the many proposed deals to decide the fate of the bankrupt franchise.

"He (Roy) has been behind everything since May, telling everybody one thing and doing something else," said Mack.

Mack refuted a hint by Roy that the Mack family might operate the team in Philadelphia next year. "There isn't a chance of the family operating in Philadelphia next season," he said.

The Philadelphia syndicate died legally yesterday afternoon when T. R. Hanft, one of the group, received from a midcity bank the $1,400,000 that had been held in escrow for payment to the Macks.

At the same time, J. Channing Ellery, team counsel, took back the club stock certificates held in the same bank.

RECESSED LIGHTS—Highlighting the unusual lines of the ceiling of the Damon Gall home is recessed illumination. Note the two white posts which perform dual roles of support and decoration.

Your Neighbor's House

Damon Galls Carry Pink Theme from Exterior to Interior of Two-Level Home on Maple Road, Birmingham

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE
Pink by any other name would still be a favorite color to Mr. and Mrs. Damon Gall of West Maple Rd., Birmingham.

In fact, varying tones of this hue (with mauve predominating), form the basic color scheme for not only the exterior of this gracious two-level home, but for the interior decor as well.

It really started out to be a small house, confesses Mrs. Gall. But somehow it grew and grew until there were six rooms on the second floor, five rooms on the ground level, three bathrooms and an extra-sized two-car garage.

Because of design and color plan, every room blends into the other and one story appears to be part of the other.

The exterior, built of Roman brick, is painted a soft pink with deeper tones for the porch and window trim. In the back of the house, which is actually a second "front," various widths of the same brick create interesting lines.

Unique treatment of an overhang gives the Galls a balcony porch overlooking the golf course greens in the distance. It serves to invite the sun inside in the winter and to discourage it in the summer.

By extending the floor out the same width as the overhang, and by using decorative wrought iron for railings and portals, the combination overhang-porch adds a most attractive note to the house.

The winding sandstone walk leading to the front door is also tinged with pink.

Entering the large Grecian-keyed panel door the eye is drawn towards the ceiling first.

Architect Cyril E. Sligh, A. I. A., has achieved interesting lines by sloping part of the living room ceiling and installing parallel beams in natural finished fir at regular intervals.

Departing from the traditional straight lines where the walls meet the ceiling, he has designed different steps in soffits to break the straight vision line. Walls of this room are in off-white.

One wall, facing the backyard, is in ceiling-to-floor windows; another in a Roman brick painted to match the carpeting (gray with deft pink cast). The fireplace centers this.

Another wall has a balcony railing which edges a curved stairway leading to the first floor. Finished in a pale turquoise, this accent color is used throughout the Gall's pink house.

For furnishings Mrs. Gall selected a long, curved sofa upholstered in pink nylon fabric. A marble-topped coffee table with brass legs matches the huge brass andirons flanking the fireplace.

For conversation chairs, twin turquoise models are placed in front of the window-wall. Draperies, raw silk in a deep pink background, have turquoise, gold and brown floral patterns.

A family room is adjacent to the living room. Here a series of built-ins provide everything from bookcases to china cabinets in lined oak. Twin lounge chairs are again upholstered in nylon turquoise, and by carrying out the same carpet color, drapery color and wall tone, the two rooms although not actually a part of each other appear to be.

The kitchen, a confection in pastel pink, gray and turquoise. (Continued on page 16)

SECOND "FRONT" VIEW—An overhang which grew into a balcony porch is shown on the second "front" of the Gall home. By extending a floor to match the width of the overhang, and by using pink-painted wrought iron railings and portals, there is a porch which overlooks the golf course greens and the spacious backyard.

Picture at the right shows the master bedroom with its full-wall of built-in chests, bureaus and desks. Painted turquoise, brass hardware complements this color with pink the accent tone of the room. Adjacent is a pink dressing room and gray and pink bathroom.

GALL LIVING ROOM—A slightly sloped ceiling lined with natural finished fir beams, soffits designed in different steps and horizontal lined Roman brick fireplace wall all combine to make the Gall living room an object of conversation. Colors, in true tones of pink, off-white and turquoise are used in this room and throughout the 11 rooms of the home.

NYLON FABRIC CHOICE FOR CHAIR—Mrs. Sophie Peters, mother of Mrs. Gall, is shown standing by a nylon fabric upholstered pink chair in the family living room. Mrs. Peters makes her home with the Galls and although she is fond of traditional designs in furnishings, finds the softness of the new contemporaries both comfortable and beautiful.

A huge maple chopping block is placed at one end of the work counter and beneath it is a drop table with mixer attached. This can be pushed into the lower cupboard without removing. Built-ins are also features in breadboxes, concealed towel racks and tray racks.

In the bedroom section of the house, the large turquoise bedroom has only the beds and two chairs which are movable. All of the other facilities are built-in.

Along one wall, a multitude of drawers with brass pulls are actually dressers, chests and a desk. The opposite wall houses ceiling-to-floor closets with the three center doors mirrored to form a triplicate vision facility.

Beds are covered in pink quilted taffeta with floral print plaited skirts to match the window draperies.

A small dressing room adjacent to this is done in pink and its bathroom is in gray and pink. Built-ins for this room are designed for a man with special doors and accessories for ties and belts.

The master bathroom is deep pink tile with turquoise fixtures.

Mrs. Sophie Peters, mother of Mrs. Gall, makes her home with her son-in-law and daughter and her room has corner built-in bookcases and desk. She selected rose floral curtains, bed coverlet and chair cover for her room.

The third bedroom is a guest room. In the first-floor recreation room, pink is used for the brick walls and Roman brick fireplace. Turquoise plastic coated texture paper covers the base of the bar.

The laundry room, downstairs bathroom, storage rooms and garage are also located on this story as well as the two-car garage with its motor controlled doors.

Mr. Gall's den-office is located in this section where he works on material for the Pathfinder and Country Gentleman. He is an executive with these two publications.

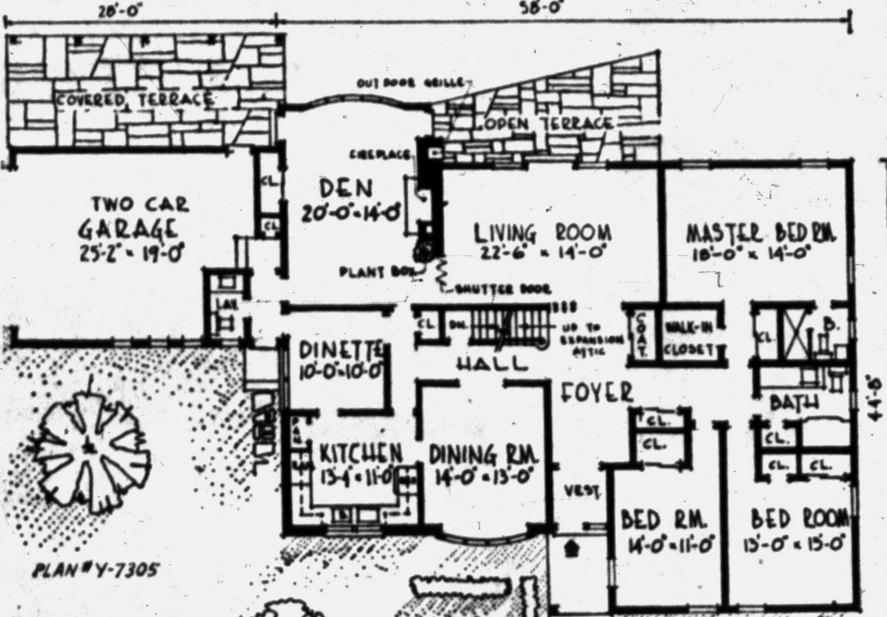

Contractor for the Gall home was Neil Barker of Birmingham.

Try These Tips to Avoid Backache of Housework

If your back is "breaking" after a little housework, here are some tips that might help. Stand erect, sit to do your work whenever possible, and keep utensils within easy reach. Move slowly and gracefully. Never work from a bending position; kneel down, instead.

Of course, having your kitchen basically sound to begin with will save you a lot of "back-breaking" work. Besides modern appliances, the single most important work-saver is floor and wall surfacing that's easy to clean.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

LUXURY HOUSE—With eight rooms on one floor plus an expansion attic, this dwelling is designed to cover 2,808 square feet without its two-car garage. A large den with a fireplace provides

To Silence Squeaks in Floor and Stairs

Floor and stair squeaks are caused by boards that rub against each other or a nail. Sometimes you can silence floor squeaks by using a squirty-type dispenser to blow powdered graphite between the boards, but the surest way to get rid of the squeaks permanently is to nail the offending boards to the sub-flooring below.

Drive two-inch finishing nails in at an angle, close to the edges of the boards. Use a nail set to sink the heads of the nails a little below the board surface. Fill the holes with plastic wood, building it up slightly above the surface. When the plastic wood has hardened, sand it down with medium-fine sandpaper. Touch up with paint or shellac to match floor boards.

Stair squeaks will usually yield to the same treatment. Use a couple of finishing nails on each noisy step. Drive the nails at an angle, through the step and into the upright that supports it. Again, countersink the nail heads and fill the holes above them with plastic wood. Sand and touch up the filler, as already described.

Special Accessory Simplifies Cleanup

After-meal cleanup is simplified with a special convenience accessory on some steel undersink cabinets. When the door of a cabinet is opened, a refuse receptacle pops out, lid raised.

It's a handy arrangement even if you install an automatic garbage disposer in your sink, for there always are some wastes that can't be put in the disposer.

Kerosene Lamp Gone From Farm

Agriculture Department Speaker Tells State Extensionists of Gains

EAST LANSING (AP)—The kerosene lamp has become a museum piece now that 98 per cent of all Michigan farms are fully electrified, Michigan agricultural extension personnel were told today.

Dr. B. T. Shaw, chairman of the Agricultural Research Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, spoke before the agricultural specialists at Michigan State College.

"Improvements have come so fast, it is hard to realize how much the farmer's way of life differs today from a few years ago," Dr. Shaw said.

"Trucks, tractors and electric motors have turned all our earlier ideas about farm work upside-down. The 175,000 tractors and 75,000 trucks on Michigan farms have multiplied rural horsepower farms beyond the wildest dreams of 35 years ago."

Dr. Shaw praised the county agents, home demonstration agents and other agricultural specialists for their part in this advance.

"But we can't rest on our laurels," he said, "for science and education are the soundest long term approach to solving the farm problems that still exist today."

Bride Needs Minimum of Kitchen Equipment

The young bride preparing her husband's meals needs only a minimum of kitchen equipment, but a few extras will certainly make her job much lighter. For a minimum she needs two frying pans, three saucepans, one eight-quart kettle with lid, one medium-size double boiler, and one coffee-maker.

Extras that will cut her work time almost in half include a pressure cooker, work areas and splashbacks of easily cleaned tile, and an automatic dishwasher and garbage disposer.

Dahlia, Finest Fall Flower Grown for Food in France

By HENRY FREE

The modern dahlia, with its great range of color and form is tops among the great array of autumn flowers. Since its introduction in Europe, where it was made popular by the Empress Josephine, the dahlia has occupied a place of honor in the garden.

All the thousands of modern varieties are derived from a handful of seeds sent in 1789 by Vicenta Cervantes of the Botanic Garden, Mexico City, to his friend, the Abbe Cavanilles, who was at that time in charge of the Royal Gardens at Madrid.

Some years later the Abbe named the new flower in honor of Andreas Dahl, one of the leading botanists of the day who had been a pupil of the great Linnaeus.

Dahl was very proud of the plant which bore his name although it had but little resemblance to our modern beauties; in fact, no one would be more surprised than he to find it among the floral favorites of the world, with societies in many countries looking after its interest. He visualized a very different future for it.

House hunters ask real estate agents if this lovely "home" is for sale.

THE HOUSE THAT'S NOT A HOME—Wouldn't you like to own the attractive brick residence, above, with its white shutters and well-kept lawn? Lots of people would, and they ask real estate agents if it's for sale. Door-to-door salesmen try to rouse the occupants and one firm even sent a letter, saying they would be glad to reproduce the house on the owner's Christmas cards. All in vain, however. That's because the "dwelling" is no dwelling at all. It's a pumping station for the Mission Hills sewer district of Kansas City, Mo., under the jurisdiction of Johnson County. Inside there are neither family nor furniture—just a mass of pumping machinery and its attendants, as lower picture shows.

From gable to basement, the interior is a mass of pumps, pipes and valves.

Westacres Family Finds House Maintenance-Free

Taking care of the regular maintenance chores—painting, mowing grass, planting flowers, repairing siding—provides a good change of pace for the average husband and gives him something to occupy his leisure time.

But what about a fellow like John Laffery? He and his wife and their four children live in Walled Lake, West Bloomfield Township.

Laffery would be happy to spend his leisure time doing maintenance work, if he had enough leisure time. His job with a nationally known accounting firm keeps him on the road during the week. When he does get home for a night during the week it's usually too late for working around the house. His weekends are taken up with family activities which he can't enjoy during the week.

So when the Lafferys went househunting a year ago they went with the hope of finding a home that would be easy to take care of.

Their search took them to Westacres, a suburban housing development on the estate of the late Senator James Couzens, one of Michigan's best known public figures for more than a generation.

Laffery bought a six-room home at Westacres. Admittedly, the large lot meant more landscaping than John Laffery wanted to undertake, but the four children agreed to help out.

The house itself was as near maintenance-proof as anything Laffery had seen. It was built with a combination of brick and insulating siding. Since neither material needs painting during its lifetime, the only painting to be done was on the comparatively small area of wood trim.

The garage door was enameled steel. All the siding corners were carefully finished with metal corner trim to seal out moisture. Caulking was used liberally around all window door and chimney openings. These are just a few of many features that make the Laffery home easier to take care of than any house they have ever lived in.

After a year of living in Westacres the Lafferys are sold on "maintenance-free" living. They say it gives them more time to enjoy life together.

Housing Act Aids Builder

Lower Down Payment and Other Benefits to Help Millions

Lower down payments on both old and new homes is now possible for the would-be home owner as a result of the Housing Act of 1954, the most complete rewriting of such law in twenty years.

The new act prevents profiteering and other abuses of government-backed housing projects. Important too, is the creation of a committee to step up FHA mortgages in smaller communities where this financing hasn't existed in the past.

The new act is expected to bring home ownership within immediate reach of millions of homeowners. On the purchase of a new home, the law increases mortgage amounts insured by FHA to 95 per cent of the first nine-thousand dollars of value plus seventy-five per cent of the remainder up to a maximum amount of twenty thousand dollars.

While the purchase of a new home still is an advantage in the act's terms, the recent new law greatly narrows the difference that existed under previous FHA regulations.

The new law also gives a shot-in-the-arm to home improvement. Homeowners who have remodeling in mind for a home bought on either FHA or VA mortgage can now finance the improvements on terms identical to their first mortgage. This is the first time that so-called "open end" mortgaging has had government backing.

At the first glance, it appears that the liberalized terms for older houses might hold down new building. Most housing authorities feel, however, that instead it will give new construction added impetus, and have a direct effect on the all-time record high construction forecast for 1955.

SIMPLICITY STRESSED—Architect Eugene Holt achieves a high point in simplicity in this L-shaped house, which appears in the current edition of Small Homes Guide. Construction of the tiny home would be inexpensive in any area.

Note, that the living room extends from the front of the house to the back and that the bedroom area is secluded from the rest of the house. The total area is 720 sq. ft. Home Meeting Is at Columbia

Educators and Editors in Laundering Field Invited to Attend

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Educators, editors, extension workers, home economists in various fields and others from more than thirty states will assemble in New York City early next month for three days' discussion of fabrics, soaps and synthetic detergents, water-conditioning, appliance design and other subjects similarly related to home laundering.

The Home Laundry Workshop, Horace Mann Auditorium, Columbia University, Nov. 3, will be sponsored by the Department of Home and Family Life, Teachers College, of which Dr. Helen Judy Bond is the head.

The Eighth National Home Laundry Conference, Hotel Commodore, Nov. 4-5, will be sponsored by the American Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association, which also is assisting in presentation of the Teachers College Workshop.

Attendance at both events is without charge to educators, editors, utility workers, home economists and other women directly engaged in home laundering instruction.

American farmers and farm co-operatives are using more credit this year than in any year since 1942.

Cedar Closet Is Bonus Item in New Home

Cedar closets, which once ranked as a luxury feature in American homes are enjoying a new wave of popularity among home buyers.

It has been sparked to a great extent by the fact that many contractors, faced with a buyers' market after years of easy selling, are now including one or two cedar closets in each new house.

The plan is paying dividends for both sellers and buyers. Builders sell their houses faster, and purchasers receive a "bonus" in the form of attractive moth-repellent storage facilities.

"Women inspecting a new home on display are always delighted when they spot a spacious cedar lined closet in the house," one prominent Chicago builder reports. "They are immediately impressed both by the moth-repellent feature of the closet and its beauty and fragrance. They realize too, that it's a mark of quality construction that imparts distinction to a home."

Public Rejects Dingy Facilities

The Traveler Expects Restroom to Be Clean and Adequate

Public demand for more adequate and modern plumbing facilities is clearly reflected in the present trend among owners of business establishments to provide better restrooms for their clientele, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Hotel owners, for example, were shocked to discover during a recent survey among the traveling public that more than half of all complaints having to do with the comfort, appearance or adequacy of transient accommodations dealt directly with their bathrooms.

Another survey shows alert hotel managers hewing the line regarding popular ideas of what is or is not adequate plumbing. Over 57 per cent of all hotels surveyed indicated that they are planning major revamping of their baths and restrooms.

Successful restaurant owners perhaps most of all agree that efficient, attractive plumbing has markedly improved on their business. Few customers ever get through the kitchen doors, but the restrooms are open to them at all times.

Dingy, unkempt restrooms are scarcely appetizing, even to the most indiscriminating of customers. Also, there is the ever-present likelihood that people associate the appearance of a restaurant's washrooms with the cleanliness of its kitchen and table staffs—perhaps even with the character of its management.

While some businessmen still attempt to hide the truth under a coat of paint, most are coming to realize that paint won't cover an ancient restroom. Outmoded or worn plumbing fixtures should always be the first concern of any business establishment in modernizing its plumbing. Ancient fixtures more than any other item, will be a constant reminder to patrons of the age and inadequacy of a public washroom.

Grass Growing During Winter Is Heating Cue
If the grass grows green around your basementless house this winter, chances are you're in for a chilly time.
According to the experts this phenomenon is not just a quirk of nature, but tangible evidence that your home is being improperly heated. Engineers from Minneapolis-Honeywell explain that in basementless houses built on concrete slabs, heat inevitably escapes to the outdoors unless special provisions are taken.
Often there's enough heat escaping from the outer edges of the floor slab to warm the ground—and cause the grass to grow in mid-winter.
This wasted heat also causes heating bills to rise and floors to be uncomfortably cold. To correct the situation the engineers recommend installation of radiant floor panels, hot water radiant baseboards or warm air heating ducts imbedded in the concrete slabs. Adequate insulation is also necessary, they add.

New Fabric Shuns Iron
Fiberglass Draperies of Sheer or Heavy Texture, Washable
Whether you need curtains or draperies for a houseful of windows or for just one, you'll find your answer among the latest trend-setting fashions in Fiberglass ready-mades.
In sheer fabrics, from the finest, true marquisette to those of heavier texture, are styles in pastels and white for the most discriminating. There are trim, tailored panels. Elegant, ruffled curtains for living or bedrooms. Tiers in many lengths and widths good for any room. Plus panels and tiers trimmed in brilliant colors or gay checks, just right for kitchen and dining corners.
Casement weight boucles—in white, pastels, and rich tones of greens and gold—are to be found in smartly styled draperies in widths and lengths to accommodate the narrowest casement or the grandest picture window. Other draperies, also in any size, are fashioned from heavier textures, almost opaque. Choose these in soft shades for warmth or if you plan a formal setting.

For a filip, and just what the imaginative homemaker seeks, are fresh, cheerful cafe curtains in the boucles. They add a touch of charm wherever they are hung. The number of ways cafes may be used is limited only by the number of windows in a house—alone, as curtains, in single or double tiers, as draperies (they are available in many lengths), and even as room dividers over a favorite chest. Or use them in a bright shade at your bathroom window.
The beauty of window treatments of Fiberglass fabrics will stay crisp and fresh regardless of washings, for as long as you keep them, and with less care than any other window fabric. They stay cleaner longer. When ready to tub, they can be hand-washed, damp-dried, and rehung in minutes with no ironing, stretching, or starching—and without a wrinkle.
Since Fiberglass yarns retain properties of glass, they will not rot from sunlight, or moisture nor will they stretch, shrink, sag, or burn.
But Fiberglass fabrics are not indestructible. To enjoy the labor-saving and long-life characteristics of these window fabrics they should be handled with reasonable care. Avoid constant flapping against furniture and sill and excessive rubbing in washing.

MAKE A COBBLER'S BENCH
COFFEE TABLE OF SOLID PINE
PATTERN 235

Modern home furnishing schemes frequently attempt to capture the atmosphere of bygone times. This may take the form of reproductions of Early American furniture or the standard equipment of hand craftsmen such as a cobbler's bench. The design shown above follows in exact lines and proportions those used a century or more ago. As this piece may have a prominent place as a coffee table a close-grained wood of cabinet-makers' grade should be used. The pattern for making this reproduction gives the saw lines for the simple curves with sizes of the various parts. The assembling directions are shown in 3-dimensional sketches. Pattern 235 is 25 cents and is included in the packet of Early American reproductions at $1. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

School Boy Cooks Learning to Clean Up

Junior cooking classes for high school boys are a wonderful invention. Somehow, men do have a faculty for turning out terrific meals even though they manage to litter the kitchen with dishes. Well, instead of leaving this clean-up job for mother, the boys learn at school the latest techniques in dishwashing and that soap and water is their best helper. The suds help to soak sticky substances off bowls and pans—and using suds to tidy up the place when the cooking is finished helps to keep "public relations" in the family at a high level.

Stone-Like Board Used Easily as Wood

A material that looks and wears like stone but can be worked as easily as wood is now available at most lumber dealers. Known as asbestos-cement board, it comes in 48-foot sheets and in several thicknesses. Among its unique advantages are that it won't rot, rust or burn. It does not need paint to preserve it. Asbestos-cement board can be used for interior or exterior walls, for partitions, for table tops and for hundreds of other purposes.

Today's Homehunter Demands Quality Plus

One of the greatest influences on business today is the intelligent consumer. Industry itself must take much of the credit for this, because it has helped educate him to demand quality. This is especially true in the housing field. Homehunters are cognizant of value; and they're getting it, too.

They look for reinforced foundations, airtight windows, attic ventilation, tile surfacing in bathrooms and kitchens, and provision for possible room expansion. Just to mention a few. Builders, aware of quality competition, are seeing to it that home buyers get these things.

The deepest cave known to man is the Lepineux cavern near Pierre St. Martin in the western Pyrenees. It extends 2,395 feet beneath the surface.

Newest Type Garage Door Made Locally

A unique and radically different design garage door that embodies an entirely new principle of construction, is currently being introduced nationally by the Steel Door Corporation of Pontiac.

Carl Reynolds, one of the nation's outstanding industrial designers, has designed these so that they will blend and become an integral part of the over-all architectural pattern.

This new type Berry Custom Garage Door is available in eight basic suggested designs. These designs are made by applying two and one-eighth inch wide moulding of different lengths to the face of the door. Mouldings are connected by standard sized corner pieces.

An infinite number of additional designs can be created by using these various length mouldings and corner pieces which can be easily attached in the field. This feature allows anyone to create their own design to suit any unique or unusual architectural motif.

These new doors boast such exclusive features as a stabilizing arm on each side of the door to eliminate all side-sway, sound deadening sponge rubber enables the door to operate in almost complete silence, nylon rollers, adjustable track hangers, factory assembled hardware. Installation is amazingly simple.

Blinded, Man Trains Own Dog

Saved Wood for Pulp During War; Canine Even Found Mittens

WINTER HARBOR, Maine (U)—Truck Driver Truxton Coombs never had heard of a seeing-eye dog when an explosion destroyed his eyesight 20 years ago, but he trained one, and now has trained a second. His first dog, Lady, was eight months old when Coombs began to train her.

"She learned to fetch anything I wanted," he says. "I don't know how many words she learned, but it was hard to stump her. Coombs learned chair caning and braille at the Maine Institute for the Blind. Antiquary dealers and summer folks keep him busy spring and summer. He wishes they'd spread the work into the winter. During war years, he went into the woods with Lady and sawed pulp wood into cord lengths.

"Lady could take me anywhere in the woods and not get lost. Then when I worked she would help me find the logs I wanted and find my mittens for me."

She died at 17. Three years ago Coombs got another dog, Judy. "She is a smart dog, but not as smart as Lady," says Coombs, rubbing Judy's head in a little gesture of apology.

Valley in Straits Bed Delays New Bridge

MACKINAW CITY, Mich. (U)—A "hidden valley" which man has never seen is proving the biggest obstacle to one of man's greatest engineering triumphs.

This valley, or channel — well over 250 feet deep in places — made many think for years construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac was impossible. The structure is no longer considered impossible but it is taking some of the best engineering minds in the country to conquer the channel in the bottom of the strait and gain a "toehold" on either side of it for the supporting piers of the 100 million dollar span.

The number of American nationals in India dropped by a thousand during 1933 to 5,211.

Hal Boyle Says

Famous Dress Designer Finds Luxury Nonexistent

NEW YORK (U)—"There isn't any real luxury left in the world today," says Charles James, who designs dresses that sell for $1,000 up.

"Luxury is nonexistent. We live in a period that is little better than a gilt-edged communism. That is what makes it dangerous — the fact there is plenty of money here, but it reflects the average taste, not the peak taste."

James, a designer who has twice won the national critics award, numbers among his clientele some of the best-dressed ladies of royalty and international society, including the former Queen of Spain, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mrs. C. V. Whitney and Lily Pons.

An intense, slender man of 48, he feels the American fashion industry lacks prestige because it spends too much money trying to please people of average taste.

"That makes the average person the leader in style," he said. "This is ridiculous. The middle group destroys taste. It doesn't create it. Most great changes in taste have come from extravagant people with powerful original personalities."

"Millicent Rogers is the last person who had any real influence on American taste."

Thirty gowns and coats James designed for the late oil heiress have become part of the permanent collection of the Brooklyn Museum.

An open admirer of the aristocratic tradition when it comes to matters of style, James feels it takes up to 20 years for peak taste in new fashions to dribble down to the masses, and that's quite all right with him.

What lady of great wealth today, even though she comes from Texas, can measure up to the great ladies of the past? None, according to James.

"Did you know that the Empress Josephine, Napoleon's wife, once had a dress made of thousands of rose petals for a special occasion?" he mused. "She wore it only for an hour."

"The first Queen Elizabeth left 3,000 dresses when she died. But the greatest wardrobe in history was assembled by Empress Yang Kuei-fei in the 8th century. She had more than 5,000 garments."

"Unfortunately, members of the court were jealous of her political influence with the emperor. She finally hanged herself."

Naturally, she used a cord of purest silk. No lady of fashion would consider wearing a common rope for her final public appearance."

Although James sells his adapted dress designs for lower prices, it annoys him when startled husbands ask him what makes his original custom creations worth $1,000 to $1,250.

"A $1,250 dress is really cheap," he insisted. "We lose an average of $300 each on these creations."

With James they are a prestige factor. He also custom designs jewelry, foundation garments, theatrical costumes and furniture. "America is losing international standing by being content to accept French leadership in the world of fashion," he said.

"The best fashion talent in this country cannot find employment here. The best schools for fashion technology turn out year after year talent trained for invention which can only starve.

"That is why you find so many young American fashion designers working for French houses. Only in Paris do they find the freedom to experiment and show their originality."

Find Jake the Snake Coiled Under Shrub

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Jake the snake was back in his cage at Crandon Park zoo today after being AWOL for 24 hours, and everybody concerned breathed easier.

Jake, an 11-foot Indian python, was found coiled under a bush. He had traveled the equivalent of a city block.

Head zoo keeper Ralph Mallink was happy because he was afraid some startled person would come face to face with Jake and kill or injure him. He is harmless and friendly, said Mallink.

Jake willingly rode on Mallink's shoulders back to his cage.

Work on Arms Reduction Treaty Good News to All

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet: The good.

1. The United Nations Political Committee voted unanimously to start a five-nation subcommittee at work on a world disarmament treaty. The subcommittee will consist of delegates of the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France and Russia.

There is no indication that Russia is ready to agree to a system of inspection which would keep it from cheating. But delegates of the Western powers have some hope that an agreement to stop the arms race and outlaw nuclear weapons may finally be worked out.

2. Russia's first attempt to sabotage the Paris agreement for the armament of Western Germany failed quickly. The day the agreement was signed Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov called for a Big Four foreign ministers conference on unifying Germany and negotiating an "all European" security organization.

The United States and Britain said at once that they would hold no meeting with Russia before France and Western Germany ratify the Paris pact. After that, they said, maybe Molotov can have his conference—if he still wants it.

3. Revelations made by Josef Swiatlo, a high Polish secret police official who came over to the West, forced the Polish Communist government to free Hermann Field, an American citizen whom it had imprisoned for five years on false charges.

Field, his brother Noel and Noel Field's wife Herta disappeared in 1949. Swiatlo told how the Poles arrested Hermann Field and the Hungarian Reds arrested the Noel Fields. Neither of the Red governments ever had admitted the arrests. There is now hope that Noel Field and his wife may be released also—if they are still alive.

The bad.

1. The wives of two American

Dem Party Worker Is All Tired Out

WASHINGTON (UP)—George E. Reedy Jr., staff director of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, came back from a long trip with various candidates. George looked a little tired, and admitted it. Plane, train, bus, cab, and streetcar travel can wear one down.

"There was among other things the problem of laundry," George said. "Washing your own shirts on the train. There also was eating in the 'greasy spoons'."

"And kissing babies that had been kissed before they left home and didn't need any more kissing and resented same..."

George, an old newspaper man himself, has done this kind of traveling before. His wife doesn't like it. The old reporter comes back an old man, every time.

15 Italian Youths Admit Flying Saucer Tale Fib

ROME (UP)—Fifteen youths who threw the northern Italian town of Tradate into a tizzy with a story about seeing men from mars in a translucent flying saucer told police last night it was just a joke. Authorities didn't find it funny. They said the pranksters would be disciplined on a charge of spreading false reports—a misdemeanor carrying penalties of up to three months in jail and fines up to 24,000 lire ($40).

Man, 74, Slays Wife, 70, Then Commits Suicide

NETTLETON, Miss. (UP)—Sheriff Joe Sheffield said 74-year-old Howard Sumner committed suicide yesterday after beating his sleeping 70-year-old wife to death.

Sumner told a neighbor about the beating, then returned home and put a bullet in his head, Sheffield said.

The Sumners were married six months.

In the past 20 years the death rate for U.S. boys 5 to 14 years old has been cut from 158 to 47 per 100,000 a year and for girls from 126 to 37.

Food Bureau Chalks Up Perfect Conviction Record

LANSING (UP)—The State Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, which tries to protect housewives from watered-down sausage and weighted-down scales, reported a 10 per cent conviction record for the past two years.

The bureau's biennial report said 1,341 cases were prosecuted and all of them resulted in convictions. The bad food practices cost violators about $50,000 in fines and court costs, and 21 days of jail sentences.

The violations covered insanitation, adulteration, misbranding and faulty weights and measures.

Some of the violations uncovered by the bureau seem strangely out of place in an age of super-sanitation.

The bureau's inspectors reported they found soft drinks contaminated with bacteria, parasites in codfish and meat from diseased livestock.

There were rotten eggs by the bushel, rotten apples used for apple juice, and mice in the bottoms of unopened soft drink bottles, they said.

Inspectors reported many cases where producers tried to get away with adulterating their products with cheap substitutes in order to save a cent or two. There was maple syrup containing mostly water and little (if any) maple; bacon "fattened" out with a mixture of gelatin, corn meal, and water, and cereal or tomato juice in hamburger.

Misrepresentation of foods continued to be a big problem with the enforcement agency. Some salad dressing, labeled Roquefort cheese dressing, was found to contain 12 times as much blue cheese as Roquefort, the report said.

And there was much misuse of descriptive terms such as "king size," "jumbo," or "super deluxe." The report gave as an example the case of a 26-ounce loaf of bread labeled "king size," when the bread standards in Michigan provide for two larger and two smaller sizes.

The report said the bureau checked some 270,000 weighing and measuring devices, and condemned about 42,000 of them as inaccurate.

Most of the unfit food never reached the public. The bureau seized over 2 million pounds of fruits and vegetables, about 60,000 pounds of meat, and some 110,000 eggs that were spoiled, rotten, or otherwise below standard.

Misbranding and marketing fraudulent packs was the most common offense over the two year period, the report said. There were 406 such cases, against 404 instances of adulteration and 84 of short weight or measure.

The bureau prosecuted and obtained convictions on 190 proprietors of restaurants, poultry farms, bakeries, flour mills, and food processing plants who failed to clean up after they were ordered to do so by the inspectors.

The Alma Mater statue on the Columbian University campus in New York was unveiled Sept. 23, 1903.

John Roosevelt Asks GOP Victory Nov. 2

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The youngest son of Franklin D. Roosevelt has urged Republicans "to go out and work for the second great crusade, election of a Republican Congress next Tuesday."

John Roosevelt said yesterday a Republican Congress is needed because the Democrats "won't support President Eisenhower if they win."

Roosevelt spoke at the Citizens for Eisenhower headquarters here.

Disabled Vets Have Traveling Curiosity Show

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—Accompanied by a ringtail monkey, a whale's rib and 150 rusty guns, two disabled war veterans have toured 44 states on a 270,000-mile jaunt since 1944. Fred Sheldon and Bill Sellers like the life.

Packed in their ancient truck are such attractions as a bear trap baited as the only one in the world which catches the bear by the head, and an assortment of pictures of hangings.

Visitors are welcome to inspect the display. If they wish to contribute a dime or quarter, that's fine; if not, that's fine too. The show is seldom seen twice in the same town—but not because the two veterans and their show aren't welcome.

We just enjoy seeing the country," Sheldon grins.
