Reds Execute Rebel Leaders

Nagy, Maleter, Two Others Die in Hungary

Five More Sentenced to Prison in Apparent Purge of Titoists

VIENNA (AP)—Communist Hungary has executed two leaders of the Soviet-crushed Hungarian revolt in October and November 1956, former Premier Imre Nagy and Defense Minister Pal Maleter.

The executions of Nagy, Maleter and two lesser figures in the popular uprising against Communist rule plus prison sentences for five others were announced today.

Moscow broke the word first in what looked to Vienna observers like the start of a new Kremlin purge of Titoists in the satellites seeking some independence from Moscow's domination.

Foreign diplomats in Belgrade viewed the execution of Nagy as a direct Kremlin slap at the Yugoslav President.

Budapest radio said Nagy and Maleter refused to make full confessions to the people's court bench of the Supreme Court, which tried them secretly in Budapest. The dates of the trial and of the executions were not made public.

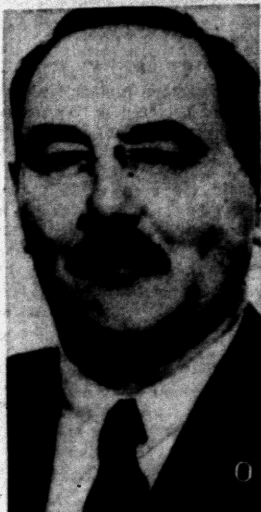

All nine were charged with "organization of a plot aimed at overthrowing" the Hungarian government. Nagy also was convicted of "betraying the motherland" and Maleter of "organizing a military uprising."

Budapest radio said Nagy, Maleter and Jozsef Szilagyi denied the charges "but later under the weight of incriminating evidence they made partial confession." Szilagyi and Miklos Gimes were Communist journalists executed with Nagy and Maleter.

The most prominent of the five men sentenced to prison was Zoltan Tildy, Hungary's first post-war president, who was given 5 to 12 years.

Nagy was a political refugee in the Yugoslav Embassy in Budapest from Nov. 4 until Nov. 22. He left the embassy on a promise from Kadar of safe passage across the border. Instead, he was arrested. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Fair Weather Ahead but Continued Cool

The weatherman promises fair weather for Pontiac but warns cool days and nights will continue for a time.

Tonight will be fair and cool with a low of 44 to 50. Winds are to be light and variable.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with little temperature change, generally light winds and a high near 68 to 74. The outlook for Thursday is continued fair and cool.

World Famous Water Show Will Appear Here in July

For a summertime festival, the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a world famous water show here next month.

Appearing in five performances on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 11-13, will be the "Water Follies of 1958," billed as the world's largest aquacade and stage show.

The follies has already been a feature attraction at the Brussels World's Fair and will return for repeat performances a few weeks after the Pontiac appearance, said John A. Riley, chamber president.

"We think this show will have tremendous appeal to Pontiac area residents and will be an ideal way to start off our campaign for an annual summertime festival here," Riley said.

The Water Follies is a lavish combined musical revue in water and on stage, with Olympic divers, swimmers, famous stage acts, comedy and ballet.

Produced by Sam Snyder, originator of the modern aquacade, the follies will be presented in Wisner Stadium by means of huge portable swimming pools and stage, 175 feet long and 35 feet wide, Riley said.

"We hope to make this show the nucleus of a localized, summertime festival that will stress Pontiac's role as one of the finest lake centers in the world," he said.

"Besides providing wonderful summertime entertainment for us, the show should call attention to what too often we take for granted in Pontiac—that we live in the midst of a wonderful outdoor playground and sporting area."

The chamber's special events committee, headed by Ralph Eastbridge, is coordinating the Water Follies appearance here. There will be three evening shows and two matinees.

Labor Control Nears Reality

Final Passage of Bill in Sight as Senate Goes Into 5th Day of Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate heads into a fifth day of debate on the bitterly fought labor control bill today with final passage now in sight.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chief sponsor of the bill, lost his first floor fight on an amendment yesterday. But he and other backers appeared to be in position to keep the bill largely to their liking.

Over Kennedy's opposition, the Senate voted 66-30 to require both employers and union officials to file non-Communist affidavits before they can use the services of the National Labor Relations Board.

That amendment, by Senators Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) and James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), was substituted for a provision of the bill which would have repealed the present Taft-Hartley law requirement that union officials file such oaths.

The Senate adopted an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC) to permit a union member to sue for recovery of money embezzled from the union if the union's officers did not bring such a suit.

A proposal by Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) would have permitted union members to sue for recovery of any of their dues money spent on election campaigns or any other purposes not connected with collective bargaining.

After a hot fight, it finally was beaten 51-30. Many Republicans charged that union money was being used to try to defeat them. Kennedy and Morse both argued the amendment could seriously jeopardize many legitimate functions of a union.

A Suit for Williams, Too

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams today admitted he received material for a suit at the 1955 governors' conference but said it was not a gift for which a favor was expected by Bernard Goldfine.

2,400 Pupils to Get Topical Treatment

Waterford Starting Fluoridation

More than 2,400 Waterford Township pupils have signed for the summer topical fluoridation program, which got under way this morning at the high school.

A "trial basis" program held in three schools last summer proved so successful that all 17 schools in the district are participating this year, according to coordinator Mrs. John Hoke.

Sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Associations, volunteer workers from each school will assist Dr. William K. Baer, consultant representing the Michigan Dental Society and University of Michigan senior dental students John Solverson, Joseph Valentin and Herbert Gardner.

The university students giving the treatments, have had a rigid orientation course, before being permitted to work, and the volunteers have been recruited through the Health Committee of each PTA unit.

Parents of elementary school children have been scheduled and notified by mail as to their appointment date for the four treatments given, Mrs. Hoke said.

Approximately 90 children a day will receive the fluoride applications scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. daily. Portable dental equipment loaned from the state and the Walled Lake school system is being used.

Still No Agreement Between Big 3, UAW

DETROIT (UPI)—Contract talks between the United Auto Workers and the big three automakers dragged on today, with no hint either side has changed its position since contracts expired more than two weeks ago.

The UAW met with General Motors and Ford negotiators this morning, with the Chrysler meeting scheduled this afternoon.

There was no indication the latest contract signings between the automakers and unions representing small groups of employees would have any effect on the UAW, which represents a half million workers in the big three.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler have now signed contracts for 13 groups of employees numbering more than 2,000. Twelve of the 13 contracts were two-year renewals of expiring agreements. These contract renewals gave workers involved a 2½ to 3 percent annual wage increase and cost of living pay boosts.

But the UAW turned down similar two-year contract renewal offers from the three auto companies, UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the UAW will never sign a contract which does not provide better unemployment benefits, pensions and job loss protection.

Unions which have now signed two-year contract renewals are: —At Ford, the Employees Protective Assn., Des Moines Tractor plant, laboratory workers, Detroit area; and six unions of the Chicago Aircraft Engine Division, firemen and oilers, operating engineers, teamsters, metal polishers, plumbers and Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

—At Chrysler, United Plant Guard Workers of America and operating engineers.

—At General Motors, metal polishers and Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Ford also signed a one-year contract with the National Maritime Union, the agreement following the pattern for Great Lakes shipping and covering employees on Ford's ore carriers.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Keeping abreast of the news, a New York department store advertised today: "Special cutting. Superb vicuna coat, made to order, usually $599 — $299. Sumptuous is not too strong a word . . . No down payment, always a year or longer to pay."

Subcommittee Counsel Robert Lishman said a law violation stemmed from a telephone inquiry Adams had made in 1954 about an FTC investigation of a Goldfine mill for alleged misbranding of the content of a fabric.

As a result of the call, Lishman said, Goldfine learned the name of a complainant and also that the matter might be settled if the mill would agree to change its labels. He said that giving this information to Adams was a violation.

Earlier testimony before the committee brought forth evidence that Adams had received expensive gifts from Goldfine and that the chief assistant to the President also had made telephone calls to at least two federal agencies concerning cases involving Goldfine.

Adams told the investigators he was prepared to give them "full and frank" answers to their questions.

But the White House branded as "a lie" a published story that the President had received a Vicuna coat from the Boston millionaire or ever had conferred with him.

Caucus Room Tense as Ike's Aide Testifies

Tells House Probers He's Prepared to Give 'Full, Frank Answers'

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams told House investigators today that never in the course of his White House duties had he attempted to influence the decision of any administrative agency or any governmental official.

Adams went before the House influence-investigating subcommittee to tell of his relationship with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine shortly after the White House said that President Eisenhower had received some vicuna cloth from Goldfine in 1956.

But the White House branded as "a lie" a published story that the President had received a Vicuna coat from the Boston millionaire or ever had conferred with him.

Earlier testimony before the committee brought forth evidence that Adams had received expensive gifts from Goldfine and that the chief assistant to the President also had made telephone calls to at least two federal agencies concerning cases involving Goldfine.

Adams told the investigators he was prepared to give them "full and frank" answers to their questions.

tions about "the propriety of any actions of mine in relation to Bernard Goldfine."

Adams opened his appearance before the committee with a prepared statement of more than 1500 words, a statement prepared during the night and early morning in consultation with other White House officials.

"Neither I nor any member of the staff has ever attempted to influence any administrative agency or any governmental official in any decision which he is charged by law to make," Adams said.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert Lishman said a law violation stemmed from a telephone inquiry Adams had made in 1954 about an FTC investigation of a Goldfine mill for alleged misbranding of the content of a fabric.

As a result of the call, Lishman said, Goldfine learned the name of a complainant and also that the matter might be settled if the mill would agree to change its labels. He said that giving this information to Adams was a violation.

New Look—but Only on Two Sides

Courthouse Gets a Sand-Blasting

The courthouse is getting its first bath since it was built in 1904. But only two sides are going to get the "new look."

"Economy," answered Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, when asked why the south and west sides would remain covered with 54 years of grime. But the sides the public sees most often—the east and north sides—are being cleaned of their collection of debris by a sandblast gun.

The $990 job is being done by the Fidelity Weatherproofing Corp. of Detroit. It was approved by the Board of Supervisors last year.

Moore was asked another question: "Why is the work being done now after so many years?" "It got to looking so terrible we got ashamed of it," Moore said.

He added that it looked like "some time" before Oakland County might realize a dream of a new courthouse.

PAINT, TOO!

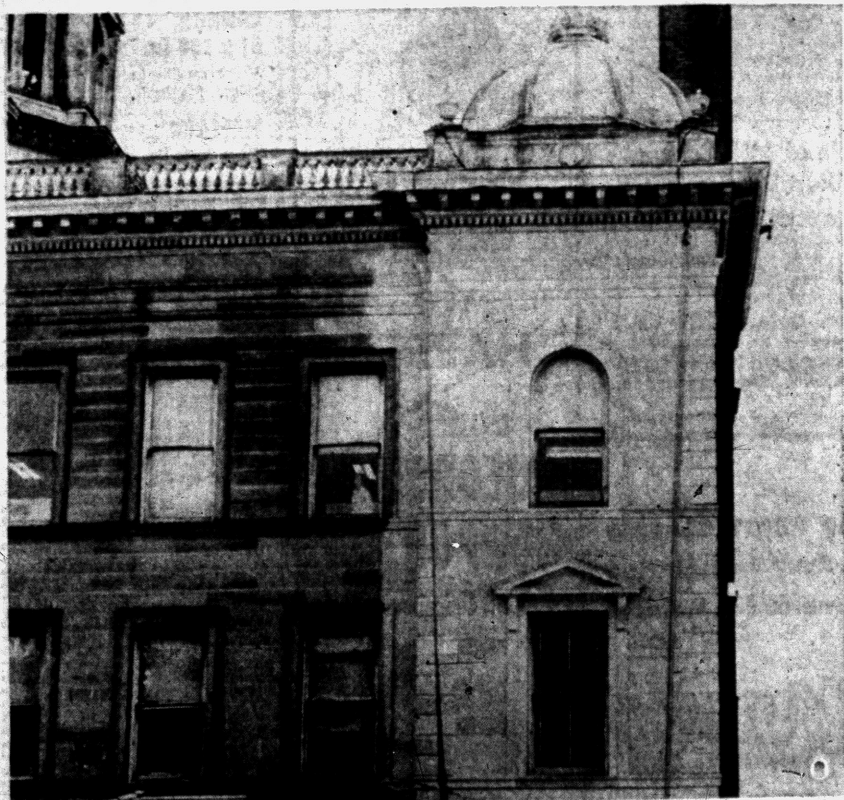

More frills are promised as part of this unexpected face-lifting. George Atchison, maintenance superintendent for the county, said the weather-beaten tower and woodwork would be painted by county maintenance crews.

"What's more," he added happily, "we're even considering restoring the scales of justice to the gal on top."

2 Officers Held for 10 Holdups

Detroit Policemen Say They Netted $100,000 in Bank Robberies

DETROIT (U) — The FBI arrested two Detroit policemen today on charges of holding up 10 banks and savings and loan associations and taking $100,000.

Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins said the two officers, Patrolmen James R. Burke, 33, and David Tapp, 26, both of McGraw station, admitted the holdups and resigned from the department immediately.

It was the second time in less than a week that a Detroit policeman was nabbed as a bank robber. Patrolman Marmion S. Pollard Jr. resigned last week after pleading guilty to two attempted bank robberies.

Police and FBI agents said there was no connection between the two sets of bank robberies.

Piggins said the arrests, which followed an anonymous tip two weeks ago, led to solution of the bank robberies which covered a four-year period.

FBI agents also took Mrs. Dorothy Donovan of Detroit into custody and charged her with withholding knowledge of a felony. They declined to elaborate immediately on her role in the robberies.

Burke and Tapp reportedly used a variety of disguises ranging from Army fatigues, railroad workers' garments, hunting clothes, rubber masks and sunglasses during the holdups.

Burke, a policeman since 1949, and Tapp, who joined the department in 1954, both had been cited several times for outstanding police work. Neither had any demerits during their police careers. Even under arrest today, Burke and Tapp had a word of praise for their fellow officers and the FBI. "They must have done one hell of a job to catch us," Burke said.

News Flash

MONTREAL (UPI) — Joel Reisman, 24-year-old heir to a woman's retail clothing chain fortune, was kidnapped Saturday and is being held for $10,000 ransom, police disclosed today. The husky, good-looking youngster, the only child of Dorothy, 25, and Cyril Reisman, 29, disappeared Saturday between 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. (EDT) with his maid, Miss Grete Goede. Mrs. Reisman, under doctor's care at her "showplace" home in the upper-middle class suburban town of Mount Royal, urged the kidnappers in a tape-recorded plea to leave Joel in any church or public building.

2 Twisters Hit Texas, Ruining Miles of Wheat

By The Associated Press Stormy weather—with two tornadoes—hit Texas late yesterday and ruined nearly 200 square miles of wheat in the Panhandle area alone.

The Panhandle twister, touching ground near Hereford, unroofed 15 buildings. Heavy hail was responsible for the wheat damage. The second twister hit the Lake Texoma area, between Texas and Oklahoma.

Rain depths in the storm area extending from the Plains through the lower Mississippi Valley included 2.62 inches at Alpine, Tex., 1.48 at Lamar, Colo., 1.50 at Shreveport, La., and a 24-hour total of 2.10 at Jackson, Miss. Rain also fell in interior New England, parts of the Midwest and in diminishing amounts in sections of the Southeast.

FORCED FROM FLOODED HOME — This couple uses a small boat to evacuate their home in West Terre Haute, Ind., after a levee on Sugar Creek gave way Monday. About 40 per cent of West Terre Haute was flooded, with this section covered to a depth of five feet.

Thousands Fleeing Homes

Floods Ravage Indiana

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI) — Debris-laden floodwaters from the Wabash River spilled over levees into two states, continuing the rampage termed by the Red Cross "one of the most widespread disasters ever to strike Indiana."

The major breakthrough occurred just south of West Terre Haute yesterday, washing away 300 feet of levee wall and pouring over thousands of acres of rich farmland. Some 1,500 persons were forced to flee their homes.

Other breaks occurred at Grayville on the Knox-Sullivan County line, farther south at Oaktown where hundreds of volunteers fought a night-long battle to reinforce the bulwarks, and at Hutsonville, Ill., where waters poured through with such velocity sandbag crews gave up any attempt to stop its flow.

At Marion, disaster relief headquarters of the Red Cross said reports from 10 counties indicated about 2,300 families have been forced to abandon their homes since the flood situation was created little more than a week ago. Nine homes were total wrecks, and another 1,854 have been damaged by water, the Red Cross said.

Ten square blocks of West Terre Haute remained under water today. The river splashed through 40 per cent of the town yesterday and left some homes with only their roofs showing.

Illinois families on the west side and Indians on the east side of the dividing Wabash evacuated their homes to sit out the danger. A half-dozen Watseka, Ill. families fled their homes when backwater from the flooded Iroquois River swept into town and caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage.

The breakthrough at West Terre Haute proved to be a blessing in disguise. Officials feared flood damages would have been much worse if the drain-off had not eased the flood pressure at the city proper. Terre Haute, however, remained under a state of emergency by proclamation.

Companies of National Guardsmen and Air National Guardsmen moved into the two cities to guard against looting and to assist in evacuations.

Goldfine Admits Political Friends Got His Support

NEW YORK (UPI)—Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine says his philosophy of gathering political friends has been to "always support my friends as I could within my means."

In an interview with Time Magazine in June 23 issue, the magazine said the real estate and textile tycoon freely admits that in his rise to wealth he discovered friendships to be quick and warm among the political officials of states where he had factories.

"You operate in the state and you have problems. Who do you go to? Why go to your congressman or to your senator or to your governor, not to some schmoo," he told the News Magazine.

In addition to presidential assistant Sherman Adams, Goldfine said he had many other friends in New England politics.

"He's a name dropper and scotch drinker, and he has a weakness for talking too much, dropping too many names and things," the magazine quoted one of his closest Boston friends as saying.

$30,500,000 for Jobless

DETROIT (AP) — The sum of $30,500,000 is now available as additional unemployment compensation to idled workers in Michigan.

The money, the state's part of a federal grant, is for eligible persons who have exhausted their prior state compensation. Governor Williams signed the government contract yesterday with the observation that the federal money will work two ways to the aid of Michigan.

One is the direct benefit, he said. The other is the circulation of money in other states which will help to spur industry, including the car industry, he said.

Michigan is the fifth state to become eligible for the federal benefits. The others are Pennsylvania, New York, Alabama and Rhode Island.

An estimated 115,000 Michigan persons are eligible. Applications may be filed the week of June 23. The first checks are expected to be ready June 30.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESCC) estimates the average check will be $36.06 for 7.3 weeks. Beneficiaries will get half of what they originally received in compensation.

Lke's Aide Denies Using Influence

tion to Goldfine was in violation of law and regulations.

"I DIDN'T KNOW"

Adams commented: "So far as I am concerned, he got information supplied by the responsible official. I made no special request. I am ignorant of the rules and regulations of the commission. . . I had assumed quite obviously that what he got he was entitled to under rules and regulations."

Under questioning then, Adams testified that had he known of the rules, "my decision might have been different" in interceding with the FTC for Goldfine.

In earlier testimony, Adams had acknowledged he had received a rug and a coat from Goldfine and let the textile magnate pay hotel bills for him in Boston, New York and Plymouth, Mass.

But he said the rug — which reportedly cost $2,400 — was only lent to him, and he depreciated the value of the coat. Adams said he had checked and the coat material cost the industrialist's mill about $68.

The total of the hotel bills, as developed in testimony before the committee, was something in excess of $2,000.

GAVE IT AWAY

Before Adams came before the committee, the White House had reported that Goldfine gave Eisenhower some vicuna material, but that the President gave it away.

As to his contacts with federal agencies in relation to Goldfine's affairs, Adams said they gave the industrialist no benefit that he could not have received had he gone directly to the agency involved "and he and I had been complete strangers."

Adams came before the committee with a 1,500-word prepared statement, but frequently departed from a reading of it to fire off-the-cuff remarks.

In one of these, he tossed squarely back to Congress the question whether an official who makes an inquiry or sets up an appointment for a friend is behaving improperly.

"Is there any member of this Congress who has not made a phone call for a constituent?" Adams asked. "Is there any member of Congress who has not made an appointment for some constituent who found himself concerned with some activity of the government?"

"Is there any member of Congress willing to stand and say that by reason of that appointment or activity his vote was affected on any public question?" The white-haired Adams gave his testimony in a firm, conversational voice, leaning forward on the witness table with arms folded.

He stressed at the outset that he was appearing at his own request—having volunteered yesterday to testify at about the same time the committee invited him to do so.

Sitting at his right elbow was the President's special counsel, Gerald D. Morgan.

Also accompanying Adams to the hearing was his wife, Rachael.

Mrs. Adams wore a light blue dress and a button-up sweater to match. She did not seem to be enjoying the occasion.

SMILING AND CALM

Adams, in a gray suit and striped shirt, arrived smiling and apparently calm.

As he approached the hearing room, where the crowd of spectators overflowed into the corridor, Adams half smiled and remarked, "I've seen times when my audience left something to be desired. Apparently that won't be the case today."

The caucus room in which the hearing was held was jammed to the walls. There was an air of tension the like of which has not been seen on Capitol Hill for many a month.

House attendants said there were 153 newsmen at the hearing, not counting radio and TV newsmen and technicians.

Perhaps 400 spectators had seats. Another 100 persons at least had to stand, including some congressmen.

At one point there weren't even enough seats for the witnesses. Folding chairs were rushed in by aides.

Adams was sworn in at 10:15 a.m. by the subcommittee chairman, Oren Harris (D-Ark.), vowing to tell the truth.

Former Pontiac Fisher Head Dies

Don R. Larkin Served Here From 1942 to '52; Was Living in Oscoda

Funeral service for Donald R. Larkin, 57, manager of Pontiac Fisher Body plant from 1942-52, and widely known as a civic leader will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. at the William Vasu Funeral Home in Royal Oak. Burial will be at Glenwood Cemetery, Flint.

Mr. Larkin, who was retired and living in Oscoda, died Sunday morning at St. Joseph Hospital, Tawas City, of cancer.

He entered the automobile business as a time clerk for Dort Motor company in Flint in 1918. In 1919, he joined the Buick Motor company and four years later, joined the Fisher Body division at the Flint No. 2 plant. He was also resident manager of the Fisher at Tarrytown, N. Y.

He was assistant manager of the Pontiac plant from 1940 to 1941, managed the St. Louis, Mo. plant for four months and then returned to Pontiac as manager.

Marine Engineers Continuing Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators renew efforts today to settle a two-day old strike of 1,700 marine engineers.

The strike eventually could halt 448 passenger and dry cargo ships operating out of East and Gulf Coast ports.

Four hours of almost continuous negotiations between the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn. and the shipowners ended in failure at midnight.

So far, the strike has had a relatively small effect. Twenty-eight dry cargo ships have been immobilized in the Port of New York.

A strike of 10,000 oil-tanker seamen was settled late yesterday. More than 125 ships — 84 of them oil tankers — were caught in ports from New York to Mobile, Ala., early in the strike, which began at midnight Sunday.

The Day in Birmingham

Brothers to Fill Benches Vacated by Father, Son

BIRMINGHAM — The posts of municipal and associate judge in Birmingham are becoming a family affair. After being held for several years by father and son, the positions soon will be filled by two brothers.

The Birmingham City Commission last night approved the appointment of John C. Emery Jr., 132 Water Fall Lane, to fill the vacancy of Municipal Judge John J. Gaffill who retired June 1.

Emery was appointed associate judge in 1953 when Gaffill's son, John W., resigned. Emery's brother, Edward B., of 1213 Stanley St., last night was appointed associate judge.

It also was decided to have City Manager L. R. Gare confer with the senior Gaffill on his offer to complete formulating rules of procedure for the municipal court and clerk's office.

Commissioners in other business last night declared a "no necessity" on the Lake Park drive storm sewer. Action was taken, commissioners said, because they felt residents in the area would prefer street paving and installing a storm sewer at the same time.

Approval was given to the Chamber of Commerce for its Fourth of July fireworks display in Birmingham High School parking lot.

The First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham today announced that two of its members will enter the ministry. They are Richard M. Gray of 186 Pilgrim Rd. and David Ebert of 1046 Wimbledon Rd.

Gray for the past 16 years has been associated with N. W. Ayer and Son, Inc., as creative advertising director. He will enter San Francisco Theological Seminary in the fall. Mrs. Gray and their two daughters will make their home in Carmel, Calif.

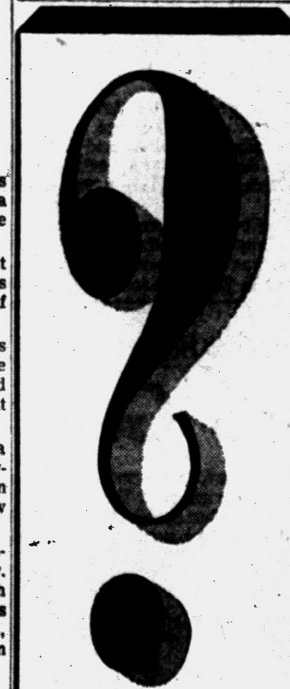

3 Candidates Run for Seat in Congress

The race for Oakland County's seat in Congress loomed as a three man battle today as a third candidate—Zigmund J. Niparko of Hazel Park—yesterday submitted nominating petitions for the post bearing 1,400 signatures.

The 38-year-old Hazel Park councilman and former mayor, will try for the Democratic nomination in the August primary against Leslie H. Hudson, Pontiac's representative in the Legislature. The incumbent is William S. Broomfield, Republican.

Niparko, of 72 Chestnut St., is a former teacher in the Ferndale school system, member of the Hazel Park Board of Education for two years, and served three years on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

He is also a Navy veteran of World War II and Korea.

Britain to Tell Cyprus Plans

Plods Doggedly Ahead Despite Advance Greek and Turkish Rejection

LONDON (AP)—Britain went doggedly ahead with preparations to announce its new plan for the future of Cyprus today despite advance Greek and Turkish rejection.

New violence and bloodshed were feared on the east Mediterranean island. British troops, reinforced by paratroopers flown out from England, were on the alert to meet new trouble.

The plan was to be announced by Prime Minister Macmillan in London and Gov. Sir Hugh Foot in Nicosia.

It is expected to provide some measure of self-government for the British colony, a cooling-off period that the Greek and Turkish governments would be asked to help sponsor, and perhaps a promise of a self-determination plebiscite in the future in which the island's Greek majority presumably would vote for independence as a prelude to joining Greece.

The population of Cyprus includes about 500,000 persons of Greek extraction and 140,000 of Turkish descent. The Greeks have been waging a sporadic guerrilla campaign for Enosis—union with Greece—while the Turks demand that Cyprus be partitioned between the two communities.

Britain gave both the Greek and Turkish governments an advance look at the new plan. An informant close to the Athens government said the Greeks would turn it down as not going far enough. The Turkish parliament earlier adopted a resolution declaring Turkey would accept nothing but partition.

Fourteen Greek Cypriots and two Turks were killed in weeklong rioting last week by Turks in Nicosia and other Cyprus cities. A tense, uneasy peace was finally restored by virtually round-the-clock curfews.

The curfew was lifted yesterday morning, and there was no new outbreak. But Greek Cypriot families began moving from homes in Turkish sections in fear that new attacks would follow announcement of the new British plan.

Straits Ferry Will Bed Down Eighty Troopers

STRAITS OF MACKINAC BRIDGE (U)—There'll be sleeping, but no dancing on the ferry Vacationland during the dedication of the Straits of Mackinac Bridge next week.

State Police authorities here said they had arranged quarters for about 80 troopers on the state-owned Vacationland while the bridge celebration is going on June 26-28. They'll be needed to handle the crush of traffic expected in the Straits area.

Hopes have faded for enlivening festivities by operating the big ferry as a floating dance pavilion.

"That's an expensive piece of merchandise, and we don't want to take a chance of having it messed up for a potential buyer," said Alfred H. Lawrence, finance director for the State Highway Department.

The Vacationland and the other four ferries in the state-owned fleet at the straits were declared surplus with the opening of the bridge in November. All are up for sale, but no buyer has yet made an offer satisfactory to the state.

Laurence said public access to the Vacationland also would violate provisions of insurance policies carried on the fleet by the state.

Parke, Davis Pleads Innocent to Charge

TRENTON, N.J. (U)—Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit and four co-defendant drug companies pleaded innocent yesterday to antitrust charges in the sale of Salk polio vaccine.

More than a dozen lawyers appeared in U. S. District Court to enter the innocent pleas. The companies are accused of violating antitrust laws in sales to government agencies.

Indictments by a federal grand jury May 12 said the companies conspired to fix prices and prevent competition. Pretrial hearings are expected to start this summer with a trial date likely for the fall.

Besides Parke, Davis & Co., the defendant firms are Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis, Allied Laboratories Inc., of Kansas City, Mo.; the American Home Products Corp. and Merck & Co. of Rayway, N. J.

SMALLER CARS, SMALLER PONIES—Small cars appear to be gaining favor, and now comes a Shetland pony believed to be the world's smallest. It was sired by a 36½-inch mare and a 40½-inch stallion.

Japan Again Urges Nuclear Arms Ban

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Kishi appealed again today for a total worldwide ban on nuclear weapons coupled with reduction of conventional armament by the major powers.

The alternative, he warned, is a nuclear war which would mean the extinction of the human race.

It was Kishi's first major policy address since his conservative Liberal-Democrats were swept back into power in the May 22 election. Speaking to the Diet (Parliament), he also:

1. Promised no change in Japan's policy of expanding trade with Communist China but refusing diplomatic recognition.
2. Said he would crack down on extremists of left and right, including groups that "restrain by group pressure the free operation of the Diet," an obvious reference to his Socialist opponents.
3. Expressed hope for exchanging visits with leaders of other nations to ease international tensions.
4. Supported a summit conference as an endeavor to resolve antagonisms between nations.

Text of Testimony for Committee Probers

Adams Asks Questions and Answers Them

WASHINGTON — Following is the text of testimony prepared by Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, for the house subcommittee investigating federal regulatory agencies:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee:

Yesterday I requested permission to appear before the committee today. My purpose here this morning is three-fold:

First, to review with you fully the questions that have been raised regarding the propriety of any actions of mine in relation to Bernard Goldfine;

Second, to give full and frank answers to any questions you may wish to ask me in that connection; and

Third, with specific reference, to the matters with which this committee is immediately concerned, to outline for you what I consider to be the duties of the Assistant to the President and the manner in which such duties, under our system, should be performed.

I. DUTIES OF ASSISTANT

If I may, I should like to begin with this last topic. During the past five and one-half years, I have tried to make myself available to every person—whether a member of Congress, an official of the government, or a private citizen—who had a legitimate problem with any of the federal departments or agencies that he wished to bring to the attention of the White House or members of the White House staff.

Obviously, I could not hope to cope with every problem presented to me personally. But I have tried to see to it that the President's staff has made every effort to deal with every proper request that has been presented.

Were I or the members of the staff to refuse to entertain such requests that came to us from members of the Congress, officials of the government, or private individuals, we would not, in my opinion, be fulfilling the duties which have been assigned to us in our position in the government. Personally, I hope the day will never come when a member of the Congress or a responsible government official cannot perform such services.

In this process, of course, there is always involved the differentiation between requests that are proper and requests that are improper. Realizing this, however, I can without reservation express to you my belief in the scrupulous honesty of the members of the White House staff in performing their duties in a manner consistent with the responsibility we all have. If mistakes are made, they are mistakes of judgment.

In the processing of proper requests, it is obviously necessary for some contact to be made between a member of the White House staff and the appropriate government official.

A letter of a person-to-person statement when made by a White House staff member to an individual in an agency of the government receives prompt attention. But I would not wish to place myself in the position of insulting either the intelligence or the integrity of these officials by implying that they might allow themselves to be influenced in their decisions by such a telephone call, letter or statement.

We relay the request, for instance, for information or for appointment and then rely upon the judgment of the individual as to the merit of the request and the actions to be taken.

In this portion of our many duties, we have innumerable requests covering a great variety of matters which the staff and I handle as best we can in the manner I have described.

In all of these, to the best of my knowledge, neither I nor any member of the staff has ever attempted to influence any administrative agency or any governmental official in any decision which he is charged by law to make.

That, gentlemen, is a quick description of the manner in which proper requests that come to our attention are handled and a very brief digest of the rules under which we handle them.

II — FRIEND MR. GOLDFINE

Let me now discuss with you in some detail, my relationship with Mr. Bernard Goldfine.

On Thursday, June 12, I sent Chairman Harris a letter which I hoped might serve to answer the questions raised. Since this, quite apparently, has not wholly proved to be the case, let me now enlarge upon the contents of that letter.

In so doing, it is not my intention to repeat here the success story of an immigrant boy who came to this country, founded a business, raised a family and made a success of himself.

You gentlemen are familiar, I am sure, with many such success stories among your own constituents. We all, I am equally sure, recognize the contribution those stories and the meaning back of them have made to the growth of America.

I did not know Bernard Goldfine when he first came to my state in the early 1930s. At that time, I was an employee of a corporation producing lumber and manufacturing paper in New Hampshire. Bernard Goldfine came to Lebanon, the largest community in my county, and acquired two textile mills there.

He built up a going business when other manufacturers were finding it necessary to leave New England. He revived the mills and saved the jobs of many of the people in the community.

To Total More Than $6,000 in Taxes

Independence Facing Loss

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—A loss of more than $6,000 in taxes is faced by Independence Township as a result of the tax allocation of 1.32 mills handed down June 2 by the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

This statement was made by Township Supervisor Duane Hurstfall in the township's appeal of the allocation to the State Tax Commission.

The allocation, Hurstfall said, "constituted a material mistake of fact, fraud upon the Township of Independence."

The township requires an allocation of 2.74 mills to meet its proposed budget he said.

The Allocation Board trimmed the township's tentative tax allocation of 1.80 to 1.32 mills to give the additional millage to township schools, board members said.

The cut, Hurstfall added, "invites bankruptcy by one local unit of government, while causing an increase of 37.5 per cent of tax dollar income to the County of Oakland over its actual income in 1956."

The township won an appeal of its 1956 allocation from the State Tax Commission.

Dam Building Lacks Support

C. E. Wilson Will Head Committee to Study Township Lakes

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—About 50 members of a property owner's association here last night tackled a dam situation.

And when a show of hands was asked of those who favored having two dams built to control levels of Island, Lower Long and Forest Lakes, only one went up.

But this unidentified citizen had some vocal support from Charles E. Wilson, former Secretary of Defense and General Motors Corp. president, whose home is located on Island Lake.

"I'd favor the job," said the gray-haired Wilson, "but if we do the job right as individuals I think it will work out okay until someone dumps more water on us."

So the Island, Lower Long and Forest Lake Property Owners Assn. appointed a committee to watch over land developments in the area which might result in drainage into the three township lakes. Named to the committee was Wilson.

Rejected by a sound majority was a proposal of the Oakland County Drain Commission that the dams be built for $8,500 (including $1,000 for a survey) to control lake levels during exceptionally heavy rainfalls.

Reminds Wheat Growers Referendum Set Friday

William F. Porritt, chairman of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, today reminded wheat growers of the referendum on wheat marketing quotas to be held Friday.

Only about 4,000 of the 22,000 eligible state growers turned out last June for the referendum that placed 38 commercial wheat states under the 1958 Federal Marketing Plan. Nearly 3,000 growers in Michigan favored the plan.

Eligible to cast ballots are those who will have harvested more than 15 acres of wheat for grain in 1959 and who have not entered the feed wheat program, Porritt said.

If two-thirds of the voters approve, quotas will remain in effect, with penalties on "excess" wheat, he said. The level of price support also will be affected by the vote.

The two important questions to be decided are whether quotas, with penalties on "excess" wheat are to be in effect and what level of price support should be made for those who comply with farm wheat allotments.

Polling places in Oakland County, which will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., include: Oxford Co-operative Elevator Implement Building in Oxford for Addison, Oxford, Brandon, Independence, Orion and Oakland townships.

Hamilton Feed and Seed Store in Holly for Holly, Rose, Groveland and Springfield townships and the portion of Highland Township north of M59.

Lyon Township Hall in New Hudson for Lyon, Novi, Milford and Commerce townships and the part of Highland Township south of M59.

Oakland County ASC, 323 Hubbard Building, 181 S. Perry St., Pontiac, for Farmington, West Bloomfield, White Lake, Waterford, Pontiac, Avon, Troy, Bloomfield, Southfield and Royal Oak townships.

The issue has been given added interest in Michigan this year because of several disputes involving farmers who refuse to pay fines for exceeding federal acreage allotments. A Dowagiac farmer has ignored a $3,403 fine on wheat grown for chicken feed and the State of Michigan refused to pay a $382.80 penalty for exceeding quotas on a prison farm.

Michigan is one of 38 commercial wheat states voting Friday. It will come under the plan if two-thirds of the growers voting in the national referendum approve the quotas—even if Michigan farmers are against it.
