

Legislative Blocks Stymie Solutions to Birmingham Parking, Pollution of River

From Our Birmingham Bureau: BIRMINGHAM — The city commission came up against legislative blocks on two major points last night—off-street parking and pollution of the Rouge River.

The lack of legislation is stymieing solution to both problems. The city is considering financing off-street parking by bonds based on parking meter revenue and annual service charge from nearby merchants, instead of assessments.

According to City Manager Donald C. Egbert, the passage of enabling legislation for this type of financing would be needed, plus favorable action by state courts before bond experts would give an approving opinion.

Egbert added that this might take two years, and the commission instructed him to study the assessment method as employed for parking finances in Kalamazoo and East Detroit.

As far as ending the pollution of the Rouge River, which Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield and Southfield Townships have been ordered to do by the State Water Resources Commission, lack of legislation poses another problem.

A $2,500,000 interceptor sewer up the Rouge River has been proposed as the solution. It would funnel the waste to Detroit for treatment.

However, townships at present cannot issue bonds based on special assessments, and this is necessary to finance the project. A new bill before the state legislature would allow the townships to levy such assessments, according to Egbert.

The lawmakers agreed to proceed with improving the city's present sewage disposal plant, by the installation of aeration equipment, and to study further improvements.

Reopen Ranch Room Is Teenage Petition BIRMINGHAM — Community House director Mrs. Carlton Isley has received a 62-signature petition from local teenagers to reopen the Ranch Room there, closed temporarily Jan. 28 until more adequate supervision could be secured.

Mrs. Isley said better supervision had not yet been secured, but that the youths themselves are organizing to establish rules of conduct. She added that the meeting place would be opened when this organization was complete.

Rowdiness in the Ranch Room was the prime factor in spurring representatives of the city's service clubs and civic organizations to meet and refer the city's juvenile problem to the Council on Community Services.

Says Military Victory Possible in Indochina

millimeter atomic cannon or tactical atomic bombs.

Wilson said: "That isn't anything I would advocate at this time. I don't think that is the kind of a place to use them and the people there don't know how to use them."

The defense secretary's statement that he believes a military victory "both possible and probable" in Indochina was also in response to a question.

Wilson qualified his statement by noting that of course it "always depends on what the enemy does and who shows up as an enemy."

Did that mean "if Red China moves in," a reporter asked. Wilson replied that such an eventuality could mean "delay and a different problem."

The secretary was asked whether Lt. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, now commander of the Army forces in the East Pacific, would become head of a military assistance advisory group in Indochina.

Wilson said O'Daniel might be sent to replace someone who is there now, but added that is not yet decided.

O'Daniel is in Washington for conferences. Wilson said it is just for a "routine report."

O'Daniel came here after an inspection trip to Indochina.

Stolen Car Found, Two Suspects Held

Combined efforts of three Oakland County police departments early today netted them a stolen car and two suspects now being held in Oakland County Jail for investigation of car theft.

Patrolman Harold Sizet of Oxford first heard the stolen car report as he was patrolling about midnight.

A short time later he spotted the stolen car, which had been abandoned about a mile south of Oxford on M24, and notified Lake Orion and Oakland County Sheriff's Departments to watch for suspicious pedestrians.

Patrolman Neal Leonard and Deputy Ted Kentros arrived, searched the area by car and found two Alanson men, Jerry R. Hency, 19, and Darwin J. Honeyette, 21, trying to hitch a ride.

Under questioning by the three policemen, the youths confessed to taking the car from Birmingham last night, according to Kentros.

Flint Mother, Child Die in Attic Blaze

FLINT — A 36-year-old mother and a son died in an attic fire at their home early today. Seven other children were rescued.

Mrs. Rachel Kendall and her son, Harvey Jr., 4, perished. The mother was burned and suffered a skull fracture in a 30-foot leap from an attic window. Her son was trapped in the flames.

Mrs. Calvin Langston, 30, whose family shared the home, led seven children from the flaming attic bedrooms. She said Harvey Jr. refused to leave.

Mrs. Kendall was watching television on the floor below when the fire was discovered. She ran to the attic but jumped from a window to escape.

Fire Marshal Harold Chirgwin said the fire apparently was caused by hot ashes taken from an attic stove and placed in cardboard boxes in the room.

Four families totaling 25 persons lived in the dwelling, Chirgwin said.

Nine Governors Meet in Detroit

Discuss Problems of Mental Health in 2-Day Conference

DETROIT — Training, research and interstate cooperation were up for discussion today as governors from nine states met with medical experts and legislators for the second session of the two-day Governors' Conference on Mental Health.

Minnesota Gov. C. Elmer Anderson was selected as presiding officer of the early session which expects to hear recommendations of the governors' conference on how the states may better prevent and treat mental illness.

The conference, first of its kind on a national scale, began yesterday with lawmakers and medical experts discussing formal plans to combat the problem.

Dr. Kenneth E. Appel, president of the American Psychiatric Assn., said mental illness is a billion dollar business. As such, he said, it should not be left to underpaid and inadequate staffs in central state bureaus and individual hospitals.

Dr. Appel said increased salaries and personnel befitting a billion dollar business would improve standards and alleviate help shortages.

He said, in a luncheon address yesterday, that research is the best and ultimate preventive in the problem of mental illness.

The conference is a result of a request made last August at the Seattle meeting of the governors' conference.

Baumgartner started the season at 3rd base for the Tigers but was shipped to the minors after seven games.

Two Teenagers in Stolen Car Caught Quickly

Freedom for two 15-year-old juveniles who escaped yesterday from the Oakland County Children's Home ended minutes after authorities broadcast their description and the license of their stolen car.

Pontiac Patrolmen James F. Bale and Gene Rodgers, who figured the boys would head towards Detroit because they live in that area, parked their patrol car at Woodward Ave. and Square Lake Rd.

About three minutes later the boys drove by and a two-mile chase began, ending in arrest for the youths in Bloomfield Hills.

An attendant at the home had first notified police that the car, owned by Mrs. Mildred Ramsey, children's home supervisor, was missing.

The youths, with records of auto thefts and burglary, were shoveling snow before they fled in Mrs. Ramsey's car.

Awaits Examination in Manslaughter

Edward R. Duncan, 19, of 163 W. Yale Ave., involved in a fatal auto accident Sunday, demanded examination on a manslaughter charge Monday after appearing before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

A warrant approved Monday by Homer G. Gerue, assistant Oakland County prosecutor, charges Duncan was driving under the influence of liquor when the accident occurred at Montcalm Ave. at Perry St.

The driver of the other car, Clyde E. Stewart, 34, of 61 Mechanic St., died in Pontiac General Hospital following the accident.

Duncan told authorities he didn't see the Stewart auto until the crash.

Top Court Rules Against Bookie

Conviction in California Upheld Despite Paying U. S. Gambling Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court says anybody who buys a $50 federal gambling tax stamp does not at the same time gain immunity from prosecution by state officials.

The tribunal voted 5-4 yesterday to uphold the conviction of Patrick E. Irvine, Long Beach, Calif., on bookmaking charges. Justices handed down five separate opinions, each of them critical of methods used by Long Beach police in getting evidence against Irvine.

Irvine contended the $50 federal tax is the equivalent of a license, but Justice Jackson said in the main opinion this contention could not stand against a provision in federal law that payment of the $50 does not exempt anyone from prosecution under state gambling laws.

However, Jackson denounced the Long Beach police for using what he termed "almost incredible" methods of collecting evidence against Irvine.

The officers broke into Irvine's house during his absence, installed a microphone, and listened to conversations for over a month.

Jackson cited a 1949 Supreme Court decision that the constitutional guarantee against unreasonable search and seizure protects citizens against such state action.

He and Chief Justice Warren suggested the high court ask Atty. Gen. Brownell to find out if Long Beach police violated Irvine's civil rights. The other seven justices refused to go along on this suggestion.

But the Justice Department said later the Supreme Court critics had prompted Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III to ask the FBI to make a complete investigation. The California attorney general, Edmund G. Brown, was notified of the coming probe.

Want to Lose Weight... Easy-Like?

Less Salt, More Pepper, Good Scales, All Will Help

By ELMER WHEELER
Chapter 13
Many diet queens just don't quite agree on this one, but here it is. You can "think away" your fat. Before you laugh, listen.

Hard thinking is really work and burns up energy. Of course, worry burns up more calories than peaceful thoughts. A worried frown burns more calories than a smile but keep on smiling.

That's why the great worriers are generally thin people. Fatties are too overloaded to think very fast. They'd rather snore. Ever see a hippopotamus with a worried look?

A Hollywood glamour gal once said that her reducing method was to "stay up late nights and worry a lot."

You see, there's a scientific saying: Where there's a will there's a way. Many doctors say, "If he'd only decide to live I could help him."

Some hospitals today won't operate if you say, "I don't think I'll come through."

It's mind over matter. That psychosomatic stuff we hear so much about today.

I better call a halt on this kind of talk, though. My wife thinks I'm nuts.

Now I'm no doc or diet expert. I'm just an avid reader, a fat boy who came to his senses just in time to see a good doctor and to read a lot of books on how to keep trim.

I learned such valuable things as "two glasses of water weigh a pound."

It is knowledge such as this that helped me reduce.

I learned that salt holds within the body 70 times its own weight in water. A spoonful of salt holds a pint of water — and that pint, as the expression goes, "weighs a pound the world around."

No wonder that, after dousing celery, butter and all my vegetables with salt and more salt, I became waterlogged. Instead of passing through me and washing me out, water was prolonging the visit like a mother-in-law.

So I stopped this "mother-in-law of the diet."

law of the diet," with its long-drawn-out visits. I put a halt to salt.

I found that the cook did enough salting on an average to take care of my salt requirements.

I wasn't a miner. I didn't work in a steel mill. Things might have been different then.

I often broke up my crisp bacon into my boiled eggs. That salted the eggs all I needed.

I also used lots of pepper. This gave more flavor to foods needing salt, so that I could cheat on my salt.

Early in my dieting I realized the value of buying a good pair of scales instead of the cheap variety that change every time you stand on them.

I found that scales often vary when moved from one part of a room to the other, due to slanting of the floor. That often the way you stand on them makes them vary — that is, cheap ones.

Knowing this, I guided myself accordingly.

Fat Boy's Diet Chart
Ready in Press Lobby

Fat Boy Wheeler's now-famous reducing chart, 3½ by 6 inches, may be obtained free in the lobby of the Pontiac Press or by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope. Address the Fat Boy's Diet Editor, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

I got a good pair. I realized the value of knowing accurately how much you gain or lose every three or more days.

Thus weight can never sneak up on me again without my knowing it.

I found I gained weight during the day, reaching the maximum after dinner at night.

During the night I would sleep off from 1 to 1½ pounds, which always amazed me.

And on rainy days I weighed more because my moisture content was highest then. On sunny days with low humidity, I weighed less.

Eating before bedtime doesn't put on any more weight than eating at any other time of the day. I soon found out.

It isn't when you eat those calories but how many that puts on the tonnage.

Eating and then lying down to rest doesn't make the food turn to fat any more than standing up and running a mile after eating.

Next: Three months tell the story.

KEEP YOU FEELING BETTER

The Rest of Your Life

Indrin statistics give 40 year old folks 500 more months to enjoy the things they've worked for all their lives. So isn't it rather foolish not to do something about those arthritis or rheumatism pains that hold you down, spoil your fun, keep you from enjoying the "releasing golden years."

OFFER A "TRUST"
Like pain due to other afflictions once thought untreatable, it is now known that certain drugs, when taken at home, work on recurring arthritis and rheumatism pains so fast and effectively that many victims mistakenly think the pains have gone for good. Arthritis and rheumatism pain attacks come and go with weather changes, with internal disturbances, with extra strain, work, motion or for no known reason at all. The modern informed sufferer learns to "live" with his or her affliction. And New Indrin Tablets are often a "cure," particularly the over 300 months in the lives of hundreds of thousands of these victims of arthritis or rheumatism pains.

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE
No arthritis or rheumatism pain victim should shirk off this wonderful opportunity to test the $1.50 New Indrin Tablets on the guarantee of satisfaction from five bottles or money back. When New Indrin fails to relieve it's time to see your doctor. Ask for a course of NEW INDRIN TABLETS today.

March 15 Is Nearer Than You Think

How About an Estimate?

Yes, It Is Very Possible

By RICHARD A. MULLEN

Article 13

This last article of the Primer shows a tax return filled out so you can see how hypothetical taxpayers, John and Jane Public, reported their 1953 income and deductions.

Even though your income and deductions aren't the same, you can use the sample return as a guide in filling out yours.

Note that the Publics are filing a joint return. This gives them the benefit of the "split-income" provisions of the law. If you file a joint return, be sure both you and your wife sign at the bottom of page 1 of the return.

Note also that the Publics have itemized their deductions. In that way, they get a deduction of $652.04 whereas the standard 10% deduction would only be $602.00.

Don't forget to keep a copy of your completed return in a safe place for at least three years. Attach to your file copy any figures or facts that will help answer possible inquiries from the Internal Revenue Service.

And now, just a brief reminder that some of you will also have to file by March 15th a declaration of estimated tax for 1954.

Economics Claimed as Campaign Issue

SALT LAKE CITY (U) — Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell heads for Seattle today after a day in Utah during which he advised voters uneasy over the economic outlook.

"Vote Democratic—the farm (or job) you save may be your own," Mitchell offered the advice as he opened the 1954 congressional campaign in Utah with a rapid-fire series of talks and meetings in Salt Lake City, Provo and Ogden.

At all of his appearances he pinpointed the economic outlook as this year's campaign issue. He said the elections will hinge on the voters' answer to the question: "Am I better off or worse off under this Republican administration than I was under the Democratic administration?"

And he confidently predicted the Democrats will return to control of both houses of Congress next fall.

Mitchell is on a tour of nine Western states in which six Senate and 16 House seats are at stake this year.

Zoo Skunks Thinned Out

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UP)—Cheyenne's zoo population was growing by leaps and bounds this year, but the city officials were not happy. They were forced to hire a hunter to thin out 17 skunks that found Lions' Park an ideal spot for operations.

Watch Out for 1954

Warn the Great Prophecies

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astounding 64 page book analyzing the great world prophecies covering these times. It shows that four of the greatest prophecies could not come true until the present time. But now they can and world-shaking events are due. He believes everyone should prepare for the future crisis. Thus many people will avoid catastrophe.

"The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

These strange methods were found in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he learned the rare wisdom and long-hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

The 64 page book he is now offering free to the public offers guidance for those who wisely wish to prepare themselves and their affairs for the great crisis ahead. It gives details of what to anticipate, and when. Those who do pull through will have little to fear, because a glorious era will follow. Meantime, it says, "Beware of These Days!"

The book formerly sold for a dollar, but as long as the present supply lasts, it is offered free to readers of this notice. This liberal offer is made because he expects many readers will later become interested in the entire system of mind power he learned in the Far East and which is now ready to be disclosed to the western world.

For your free copy of the astonishing prophecies covering these momentous times, as revealed in this 64 page book, address the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 South Hobart Blvd., Dept. J51, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard or in an envelope will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

Mountain Climber Tumbles to Death

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—An 18-year-old Colorado College freshman, whose father conquered the highest peak in North America three years ago, fell and rolled 400 feet to his death yesterday. The victim was Robert Albert Buchtel, son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Buchtel of Englewood, Colo. Buchtel and three other students were climbing in a rocky region of Williams Canyon near Manitou Springs when the accident occurred.

The youth's father, a widely known surgeon, is an accomplished mountain climber. With two others, he reached the peak of 20,270-foot Mt. McKinley in Alaska in 1951.

Workhouse Bum Sorry He Stole Bishop's Apparel

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Frank M. Mitchell, a notoriously sharp dresser even if he does spend most of his time in the city workhouse, was particularly distinguished in the topcoat, hat and gloves of the Rt. Rev. Richard A. Kirchdorfer, Episcopal bishop of Indianapolis. But he was apologetic after receiving a 120-day sentence for taking the bishop's apparel from Christ Church Cathedral last week. "I'm very sorry about the whole thing," he said. "Certainly I am no thief. I must have been greatly intoxicated." The bishop discovered Mitchell's clothes instead of his own when he prepared to dress after participating in the consecration of the Rev. C. Cresham Marmon Jr. as bishop of Kentucky.

The bishop's clothes were discovered among Mitchell's possession in the workhouse, where he was serving time for drunkenness.

Fishermen Adrift on Lake Saved Ere They Know It

MUSKEGON—More than a score of fishermen who were unaware they were adrift were rescued from floating ice on Muskegon Lake Monday.

Coast Guardsmen and North Muskegon Police and firemen discovered cracks in the ice near shore that would have isolated two groups of fishers and two dogs. Planks were placed across the ice cracks to enable all to reach shore safely.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1934

Frank B. Anderson

FRANK B. ANDERSON was a member of that relatively small group privileged to watch Pontiac grow from a country town of 10,000 to an automotive center of 73,000.

A resident for 83 of his 89 years, he also had first hand experience with the parallel growth of the city's post office. When he joined the staff in 1898 as a substitute clerk, employees numbered 13. Today there are 196.

After his 70th birthday in 1935, Mr. ANDERSON retired from the post of assistant postmaster which he had held since 1902. But after Pearl Harbor he decided he had had enough of retirement and, to help out, delivered messages in the downtown area for Western Union.

To know FRANK B. ANDERSON was to learn why he was one of Pontiac's most widely known and popular business men. His death will be mourned by hundreds who long will remember his friendly, jovial nature and cheery greetings.

Boy Scouts' Birthday

Ceremonies in which Pontiac Boy Scouts took over the reins of city government, for a day, fittingly launched observance of the organization's 44th anniversary week.

This illustrates the organization's new approach to the teaching of citizenship. In the civic phase of this program they are acquiring a knowledge of municipal government and our two party political system.

The community indeed can be proud of work being done by and for Scouts of the Pontiac District, Clinton Valley Council. Boys not only are being taught all the usual outdoor skills and ideals of good citizenship, but benefit greatly from periodic camping and motor trips.

Most important in the Scout picture, of course, are the Scout leaders. They spend one to three nights a week with other folks' boys, training them in skills, developing their leadership and personalities and helping them with their problems.

To them and to the boys for whom they are doing so much, we offer an anniversary salute and hope that the next year will be the most successful in the organization's history.

Canada's New Frontier

Americans haven't been familiar with the name Ungava long enough to know much more about it than that it is likely within a few years to be a very important source of iron ore.

Actually this vast area of northeastern Canada was a territory until 1912 when it was made part of the Province of Quebec.

It is so little known that it doesn't even appear on some maps. But today its 330,000 square miles make up more than half the area of Quebec, the Dominion's largest province.

More than that it rightfully can be called Canada's new frontier. Canadian born CYRUS EATON, the Cleveland financier, is so impressed with its possibilities that he has revised HORACE GREELY's advice into "Go north, young man!"

There are good reasons for the lack of knowledge about this rugged land. Bounded on the north by Hudson Strait, on the east by Labrador and on the west by Hudson Bay, much of it never has been explored. There are many lakes and rivers yet to be named and mapped.

An idea of Ungava's natural wealth was gained by Eaton's mining engineers. As a result of their prospecting, a supply of 400,000,000 tons of iron ore which can be mined by the open pit method, is assured.

Until recently Ungava was populated only by 2,500 Eskimos and 1,250 Indians with a few fur traders, government officials and missionaries. Today exploring parties of engineers and geologists roam, or more often fly the area seeking iron, manganese, copper, lead and zinc.

This frontier area's remoteness, more apparent than real, hasn't prevented rapid steps toward its development. Already a railroad to move the ore to the St. Lawrence and a plant for partial processing of it, are near completion.

American investors think so well of Ungava that they have financed much of the exploration and development work already done.

Boats Slowing Cars

The American Automobile Association says small pleasure boats are slowing automobile traffic and it wants something done about it.

AAA President RALPH THOMAS says draw bridges on inland waterways are being raised with increasing frequency to permit passage of small boats. Most of these boats, he adds, could go under the bridges if it weren't for outrigger poles, radio antennae or masts.

The organization wants boat builders to study the problem and provide boats with hinged or collapsible masts.

Any motorist who ever has waited in a long line of traffic on a hot summer day for a bridge to close, will second the AAA motion.

Says Too Many Leading Selfish, Ungodly Lives

The very atmosphere seems to be charged with selfishness and greed. We hear speeches and read many articles written by capitalists, politicians and union leaders and in most of them we can detect a strain of selfishness and greed. On the surface they may be high sounding and noble, yet back of it all there is the attempt to gain for some particular party or class at the expense of the rest.

We seem to allow this side of our nature to predominate and this contributes to the precarious position we find ourselves in. Too many seem to be obsessed with the idea of obtaining all they can for themselves.

The Bible tells us that the Kingdom of God is within us. Only God working through man can save us. If we listen to the spark of the Divine in us and encourage its growth by living according to God's laws we can overcome our selfishness and greed.

By helping God to work through us we will be happier and will be doing our part in creating a Heaven in the place of the Hell on earth that now exists.

Democrat Party Losing Valuable Time Finding New Leader, Rebuilding Prestige

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — With Republicans striving hard to develop unity in their party, the big unanswered question in American politics today is when the Democrats are going to do the same thing.

The problem really is whether the Democratic party will take to heart the true meaning of its defeat in 1952 or whether it is going to insist stubbornly on pursuing the same ill-fated course and suffer further defeats.

For the Democratic party has to choose between the discredited and depreciated leadership of former President Truman and a new leadership that will cover the prestige the Democratic party once had before it became the tool of special interests and the champion of privileged groups.

Today the Democratic party cannot count on the support of voters on the farms or independents in the cities because the party appears to be owned by labor-union bosses who furnish most of the campaign funds and campaign workers.

Also the Democratic party today cannot count on the support of the vast number of voters who think a cover-up job was done by the Truman administration on Communists in the government.

Nor is the party likely, without some evidence of repentance, to win the support of the citizens who think corruption and lax administrative practices were not ferreted out by the Truman administration.

The chief trouble with the Democratic party strategists is that they have not faced up to the necessity of ridding their party of Trumanism — a far worse form of demagoguery than McCarthyism as portrayed by the anti-McCarthyites.

It is ironical, for instance, to hear various Democratic leaders in Congress protesting indignantly about the "dastardly" attacks of a general nature on the Democratic party made by Republican speakers, though not a syllable of protest ever came from the same sources when Truman was going up and down the land in the last campaign making attacks on both the patriotism and integrity of Dwight Eisenhower.

Two wrongs, of course, do not make a right — And hence any attacks by Republicans today on Democrats as a party for being too soft on the Communists in government are as reprehensible as the attacks Truman has been making.

There were many Democrats in Congress like Sen. McCarran of Nevada who gave Communist sympathizers no quarter.

It sounds childish for certain Democratic spokesmen in Congress, on the other hand, to say they will not support some of Eisenhower's worthy legislative proposals just because some of his lieutenants are making speeches attacking the Democrats.

If the recommendations the President has made to Congress are really meritorious, it would seem illogical for any elected member of Congress to reject them just because of personal or political pique.

The Democratic party is still regarded by many people as a worthy institution which deserves to be given an opportunity some day to come into power in the executive as well as the legislative branches of the government.

But to win such a victory the Democratic party cannot allow itself to become the party of Socialist saboteurs who, under the pretense of being "liberal," want to bring on the economic chaos that would ultimately invite a destruction of human rights as well as property rights.

It is a curious thing that not a single Democrat anywhere who is being considered in the north as presidential timber has had the courage to adopt a conservatively liberal program or to take issue with the radicals in the party who now feel they can count on both Truman and Stevenson to keep the Democratic party on the radical side of the fence.

The Democratic party has been at its best with the conservative liberalism of Woodrow Wilson, which unfortunately was accepted only occasionally by the late President Roosevelt.

The time is long overdue for a new leader to emerge who can unite the Democratic party and rescue it from the extremists who act as if they have a permanent claim on the right to make its policies.

Usually new leadership emerges either among governors of states or members of the House and Senate. There is no sign of such a leadership as yet anywhere — and the Democratic party is losing valuable time letting the public believe that it has permanently embraced Trumanism.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Shy People Can Become Jolly Conversationalists

Clark is too shy to tell his girl he loves her! Yet he is a college student. So never think that timidity is banished by a school diploma. You must study conversation in order to be a jolly conversationalist. Steering an airplane doesn't help you steer a dialogue.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case K-320. Clark L., aged 20, is a college junior.

"Dr. Crane, I have been shy as far back as I can remember," he began. "Maybe most people wouldn't think a college student would be this way, but I am, and I know a lot of other shy fellows. 'I made good grades in high school but was always nervous around girls so I had very few dates.'"

"Finally, I decided to take a few drinks when invited to a party. That seemed to loosen my tongue, but I made a fool of myself, so I am laying off the bottle entirely."

"Now I have met a wonderful girl here at Ohio State University, but I haven't the nerve to tell her I love her."

"I wonder if I dropped out of college and joined the Air Corps, if the discipline would snap me out of my shyness?"

No, you can't learn how to be an interesting conversationalist by driving a jet plane or playing a violin or operating a punch press in a factory.

For habits are specific. To be gay and jolly and popular, you must practice the habits which make you gay and jolly and popular.

Most boys in high school are so shy, they require a lot of prodding before they'll ask a girl for a date. For they dread being turned down.

That's one reason why they wait till the last minute to invite you girls to go to the prom or a movie. For it takes them days or even weeks to whip up their courage. Oh, they soon may get over this and in a few years will deny they were ever so timid, but each new generation of boys goes through his shyness about asking for dates. If you now experience stage-fright with just one girl, or when you address an audience, the cure is much the same.

First, there is no royal road to popularity or easy speech. You must follow the lesson of the salesman and try-again, even though you shed "cold" sweat and get stagefright.

It is well to rehearse your conversation or speech in advance. We offer you a very successful "Formula for Being an Interesting Conversationalist," so send your dime and stamped return envelope.

But after you memorize that helpful formula, you must force yourself to put it into practice by trying it on everybody you meet, young and old, including your own sex as well as the heart-throbs among the other sex.

And to keep conversation rolling along, always remember to throw your companion a "cue" for re-entering the dialogue. This is best done by fading out with a question.

"That's a cute looking hat you're wearing, Sally," you might add, "Where did you get it?"

If another pause begins to loom large in your dialogue, or if you can't think of anything profound with which to perk up the conversation when it has lagged, just size up your companion quickly and pay her a compliment.

For compliments always are delightful to the recipient, and they help break those embarrassing pauses that seem like eternities, though they may be only 15 or 20 seconds in actual length.

So develop poise and conversational skill by conversing! You must practice the very thing in which you wish to become adept.

Learning to steer an airplane will not help you steer gay repartee on a date, and vice versa.

Deep, Deep Breathing Session Is Good for Heart Cases, Childbirth, Cold Feet

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

It is a well established therapeutic principle that belly breathing (natural breathing) prevents thrombosis in general medicine, surgery and obstetric practice.

This has been recognized for 20 years or more, but a good many physicians, surgeons and obstetricians have evidently not yet learned about it.

With possible exceptions, the nature of which I can't conceive at the moment, every medical surgical or obstetric patient confined to bed for more than 48 hours should do the belly breathing exercise three or four times a day and once in the night if awake.

Besides belly breathing and bed exercises, beginning not longer than 48 hours after major operation or childbirth, doctors today require patients to get out of bed and walk about while the bed is being made, beginning 36 to 48 hours after major operation or childbirth.

This has not only prevented thrombosis (clotting of blood in veins) and other complications but it has expedited healing and prevented loss of body tone and consequent flabbiness which occurs so soon when one lies abed.

A good many readers have reported that the practice of belly breathing on retiring helps them get to sleep—some of them say they drop off before they can finish the sentence.

Others say it warms-up their cold feet, and it is hard to get to sleep if your feet are cold. A session of belly breathing means six inflations of the belly. And I mean inflations.

The belly constitutes the front and side walls of the great body cavity called the abdomen. If you refer to it at all you must call it belly, for there is no other word for it.

The name is derived from the Anglo-Saxon belg or belig, meaning bag, bellows. Indeed it functions as a bellows.

In Little Lesson No. 2, CVD, dealing with heart and arteries, and Little Lesson No. 21, How to Breathe, I explain how belly breathing helps circulation.

Each inflation, in fact, pumps stagnant or idle blood out of the planchic pool and great veins of the abdomen back to the right side of the heart, whence it goes to the lungs for reoxygenation.

Physiologists call this booster pump action of natural breathing "inspiratory action of the thorax"—but for Pete's sake don't mention this to your doctor.

Anyway, please keep my name out of it, at least until you have mastered Little Lesson 21—for which send me 25 cents and a stamped envelope bearing your address.

Send letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Democrats Ask President to Repudiate GOP Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats snapped back today at accusations by Republicans that the Truman administration had opened the government's gates to Communists who betrayed security secrets to Moscow.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) fanned the mounting political fires anew with a declaration in St. Paul, Minn., last night that when the GOP took over last year it found "heaps of evidence of the stupidity, the corruption, even the treason of its predecessors."

He said the New Deal and "Fair Deal" had "even tampered with the security of the United States and permitted traitors to bring us close to military defeat."

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) replied in an interview he believes the people generally will resent such campaign talk, made at a Lincoln Day banquet.

"This kind of thing is an insult to the intelligence of the American people," Gore declared. "Deplorable as such tactics are, they are likely to have at least one good result—a Democratic victory next November."

Jenner's speech followed Democratic demands in Congress for President Eisenhower to speak out on what House Minority Leader Rayburn of Texas called "mean, untrue and dastardly" statements about his party.

In the Senate, Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) declared that "vicious and untruthful attacks" are being made by high administration officials and that they may bring national disunity which "can only play directly into the hands of a possible enemy."

Rayburn bore down in a House speech on an assertion by Sherman Adams, chief of the White are trying to foist a "Fear Deal" off on the country.

Rayburn said tartly that the Democrats are getting tired of being called Communist or being accused of being tinged with communism.

Declaring that such statements are "mean, they are untrue and they are dastardly," Rayburn said, "They should be stopped by somebody and there's one man in the United States who can stop them."

Symington said it's time for Eisenhower to "tell the people his position with respect to the unjust attacks now being carried on by many Republicans, including members of his White House staff and his Cabinet."

"If he endorsed them, should he not tell the American people, and why?" Symington demanded. "If he does not endorse them, then those of us who believe this growing discord is affecting the security of the United States have the right to ask what he intends to do about it."

He said he didn't think it "either fair or proper for the President, dependent on the patriotism and support of Democratic members of Congress, to continue to permit not only his party leaders, but even members of his own official family, to smear these same Democrats whose support he knows he must have."

Macfadden's Fourth Wife Will Tell More

NEW YORK (INS)—Jonnie Lee Macfadden, 48, fourth wife of Bernarr Macfadden, returns to the stand today to tell more of her story of what it is like to be wed to the octogenarian muscle builder.

"There was not a day he did not accuse me of being unfaithful," declared the blonde.

Testifying in her suit for separation and $500 a week temporary alimony before Supreme Court Justice Greenberg yesterday, she said she realized life with Macfadden wasn't all she expected when they returned to New York from Florida three months after their marriage in 1948.

Ex-Wife, Friend to Bury Writer

Bodenheim's Funeral Planned; Double Slayer Still Sought

NEW YORK (AP)—An old friend and a former wife today made arrangements for the burial of Maxwell Bodenheim, slain writer who flourished as a poet and novelist in the 1920s and then floundered in drink and poverty.

Author Ben Hecht yesterday offered to pay expenses for Bodenheim's funeral.

The dead man's first wife Minna last night arranged for him to be buried in a family plot at Cedar Park Cemetery, near Oradell, N.J.

Final arrangements, including the time of the funeral, remained to be completed.

No one has claimed the body of Bodenheim's third wife, the former Ruth Fagan, who was found slain with the destitute poet.

Meanwhile, New York police pressed their hunt for the slayer or slayers and alerted cities from here to Miami, Fla., to be on the watch for scar-faced Harold Weinberg, 25.

A police bulletin yesterday said Weinberg, a fast-talker and an apparent ne'er-do-well with a police record as a vagrant and thief, was wanted for questioning in the double murder.

The bodies of the Bodenheims were found Sunday in a $5-a-week furnished room rented by Weinberg, who had been washing dishes in Greenwich Village restaurants.

Weinberg, police indicated, apparently had given the Bodenheims a roof a few days ago to spare them sleeping in hallways and subways.

Yesterday a truck driver in Charlottesville, Va., reported giving a lift to a man who gave his name as Weinberg. The driver said his description fitted that of the dishwasher.

I FELT ALL RUN DOWN BEFORE I DISCOVERED O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good O-JIB-WA has done me," says Mr. Nelson Sanford, 4736 First St., Columbiaville, Michigan. "I am happy to tell everyone what it has done for me."

"For five months I had been bothered with stomach trouble and felt completely run down."

When I sat down at the table, nothing would taste good or even look good. I could hold in one hand all that I would eat in a day and that would turn to gas and pain me.

When I would go to bed at night I would toss and turn and never get a good night's sleep. In this time I had lost about twenty pounds and was feeling worse all the time.

My system was full of poison and I guess it was just getting the best of me. Then I decided to try O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I had heard of so many people that it had helped and when I look back I think that was the happiest day of my life. In just one week I felt like a new man. My appetite improved and I was able to eat anything I wanted without fear of suffering from gas pains and indigestion. I could sleep like a log and I began to feel better all around. All together I have only taken three bottles of O-JIB-WA BITTERS and it has helped me so much that I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good it has done me."

3,500 Packard Workers Included In Move to Utica Plant

Estimate Cost at $50,000,000

Engine, Transmission and Axle Manufacturing to Be Transferred

UTICA — Some 3,500 employees of Packard Motor Car Co. will be working in Utica under the company's announced plan to move its engine, automatic transmission and axle manufacturing operations to its huge plant here.

The announcement of the move was made yesterday by James J. Nance, president of the company, who said the switch to the single-story 1,000,000 square foot plant next to the proving grounds would be completed in time for production of 1955 models.

Nance said the move was the "largest industrial move in the company's 55-year history."

No figures on the cost of the transfer have as yet been announced. Estimates in automotive circles, however, place the cost at nearly $50,000,000.

The transfer of operations will be made as the first facility phase of the long-range Packard revitalization program launched a year ago, according to company officials.

In addition to the vast plant to be used for automotive production at Utica, the company will continue in an adjacent plant area some jet engine operations and testing. Jet machine operations will continue in the Detroit plants, with other defense facilities and diesel engine manufacturing.

The facilities program is under the direction of Ray F. Powers, vice president of manufacturing, who came to Packard six months ago from a similar position with the Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co.

Powers said the Utica operation would be completely decentralized and placed under management separate from the other company factories.

A survey of Packard employees in Detroit showed that 70 to 80 per cent affected by the transfer approved of the company's action. Under the union contract, employees with long seniority may choose to remain in Detroit.

Coffee Probe Going Deeper

Senators Seek to Find
if Speculation Caused
Price Rise

WASHINGTON — Senators probed deeper today in an effort to find out whether speculation has had anything to do with the American consumer paying around a dollar a pound for coffee.

Officials of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange were called for a second day of questioning by members of a special Senate Banking subcommittee.

The exchange now polices its own trading operations, but the Senate may act later this week on a bill to bring coffee trading under federal supervision. Passage of the bill was blocked yesterday by a technical objection. However, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, predicted easy approval when it is brought up again.

Testifying yesterday, Leon Israel, vice president of the exchange, dismissed speculation as a factor in the high coffee price. He also said he sees no prospect of relief as long as "normal" demand continues.

Israel and Gustavo Lobo, exchange president, told the senators the Brazilian government uses special rates to exchange U. S. dollars for Brazilian cruzeiros in the coffee trade.

This, they said, could have some connection with the price situation. However, they said they could not agree with Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) that this practice adds as much as 25 to 30 cents a pound to the price of coffee in this country. Brazil is the world's biggest coffee producer.

Israel and Lobo said there is no shortage of coffee, but that the world supply and demand might balance this year. Both said they doubt that frost damage to the Brazilian crop has been a big factor in the coffee price rise.

Man Gets Sentence for Shooting Stepson

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Frank L. Doty yesterday sentenced Anthony Weber, 37, of 2239 Bacon St., Berkeley, to from 5 to 15 years in the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Weber was found guilty of assault with intent to murder by a jury Jan. 13.

He shot and wounded his stepson, Larry Gabriel, 22, Sept. 18, 1953, at their home. A family dispute was given as reason for the shooting by Weber.

Pigeon Hunter, 4, Rescued From 100-Foot Perch

ST. LOUIS — "I was looking for pigeons," explained 4-year-old Stanley Stasiak after firemen retrieved him from a ledge of a Mississippi River bluff, 60 feet from the top and inches from a sheer 100-foot drop.

Fireman Merle Miller was lowered on a rope from the top of the South St. Louis bluff to the ledge and then pulled back up with the boy in his arms.

Stanley, who wasn't injured, didn't explain how long he had been there or how he reached the perch.

Asked if he was going to thank the fireman, he replied in bewilderment: "For what?"

Condition of Pope Keeps Improving

VATICAN CITY (INS) — A Vatican official said today that Pope Pius XII last night "spent the most restful night since the beginning of his illness" and "the burning sensation in his stomach is much attenuated."

The 77-year-old pontiff has been suffering from a stomach disorder and hiccups which weakened him by making it all but impossible for the Pope to take nourishment.

However, there has been a steady upturn in the Pope's condition in recent days and he has been able to resume some activity although confined to his room.

Armed Guards Cover Stray Hat in Front of Bank

BUFFALO, N. Y. (U) — A gust of wind swept in from Lake Erie yesterday and spun David Taylor's hat toward an armored car parked in front of a bank.

Taylor rushed to recover it but stopped short when he saw three guards waiting with drawn pistols.

"It's only my hat," he said hopefully.

"Oh," rejoined a guard. "Well, come and get it—we've got it covered."

Filing New Bill on MSC Name

College Opens Second Effort to Be Called University

LANSING (U) — A second front was opened today in Michigan State College's campaign to become Michigan State University.

Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-East Lansing) said he was filing a bill in the Senate to change the institution's name from "Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science" to "Michigan State University of Agriculture and Applied Science."

"That will preserve the institution's identity," he said.

An earlier bill to make MSC simply the Michigan State University lies in a House committee awaiting a possible public hearing. It got out on the floor once but was hastily snatched back after the regents of the University of Michigan protested.

Hittle said he gave his bill a "fairly good" chance of passage. The Senate passed and sent to the House last night a bill legalizing divorces if one spouse has been absent without trace for seven years.

The chamber approved a bill making it a crime to operate a motor boat while under the influence of liquor and to stiffen penalties for reckless driving of a boat.

Debate on a recodification of Michigan election laws was continued to Wednesday after Democratic senators asked time to study amendments.

The only major change from present law would combine the presidential and state ballots, but a Democratic caucus indicated it might accept that amendment.

Republican senators, who split the ballot in the Roosevelt heyday, now contend their party will benefit by rejoining them, but Democrats said they thought they would get the benefit.

The senate designated Senators Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson), Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), Frank Beadle (R-St. Clair), William A. Ellsworth (R-St. Ignace) and Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit) to attend the national safety seminar in Washington, D. C.

The House passed 73-4 a bill to raise witness fees in justice courts from $2.50 to $5 a day to conform with circuit court fees.

Passed unanimously in the House was a bill guaranteeing that old age assistance recipients will get the present $70 a month maximum even if the scheduled reduction of federal participation from $35 to $30 a month goes through.

George Has Substitute Paragraphs to Clarify Bricker Amendment

WASHINGTON (U) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today new language submitted by Sen. George (D-Ga.) will be studied by administration leaders as a possible compromise for the Bricker constitutional amendment on treaty powers.

George said in an interview that, on Knowland's suggestion, he had offered language aimed at meeting White House objections to his substitute for the proposal by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio). President Eisenhower has voiced unalterable opposition to Bricker's measure to limit the scope of treaties.

One section of George's substitute reads: "An international agreement other than a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only by an act of Congress."

The White House opposed this on grounds that the wording might interfere with the President's war powers and his authority to carry on diplomatic relations with other nations through executive agreements not subject to Senate ratification.

George said he has now proposed to add language which would make it clear that these specific powers were not being restricted in any way by the proposed constitutional amendment. He said he also added a clause which stated that because only these two powers were enumerated the amendment did not impair other powers the President holds under the Constitution.

"I have no idea whether the new language will be acceptable to the White House or not," George said. "I don't know whether Sen. Bricker would accept it."

No voting in the Senate is scheduled until next week.

Peter Lorre Back in U. S. for New Roles

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U) — The title of this story is "The Ghoul Goes West," or, "Creep in the Heart of Hollywood."

It concerns my favorite living Charles Addams character, Peter Lorre, who is back in filmville after a considerable absence. A little man with a large sense of humor, he takes a very view of his own fortunes.

Lorre left town four years ago for a number of reasons. For one thing, the film business was in a slump. Also, he had long wanted to set up his own film team to make movies but couldn't manage to do it here. But most of all he wanted to escape being a Peter Lorre type.

"I don't want to bore you with that story," the actor said kindly. "Surely you must be fed up with actors telling you how they want to escape playing a certain type. It is the most banal of interviews."

Treaty Wording Will Be Studied

Five Who Bailed Out Found Near Portugal

LONDON (INS) — The U. S. Air Force reported today that all five crewmen who parachuted from their four-engine bomber transport plane have been located near Caceres, Spain, 40 miles from Portugal.

Two of the men were said to be slightly injured.

The plane, en route from the Azores to Frankfurt, reported that one of its four engines had failed. The aircraft was 200 miles northwest of Santiago, Spain, at the time and the pilot said he would head for Madrid.

A few hours later, the pilot, estimating his position as 45 miles northeast of Lisbon, said his fuel was running low and that the crew would parachute.

The plane is believed to have crashed near Santarem, 50 miles north of Lisbon.

Having started as a killer in "M," Peter returned to menace. Starting with "Maltese Falcon," he teamed in several pictures with the late Sydney Greenstreet. Their target was generally Humphrey Bogart.

Lorre became a great favorite, particularly with night club imitators.

His European jaunt helped him vacate the pigeonhole Hollywood had stuck him into. He realized his ambition of setting up his own production team and made "The Lost One" in Germany. It has already won a number of international awards.

He made a couple of films in England and then teamed up with his old "Maltese Falcon" pals, Bogart and John Huston, in "Beat the Devil," which was filmed in Italy.

"That one was a healthy departure from my Hollywood roles," he commented, "and so is my next picture. I'm going to do '20,000 Leagues Under the Sea' for Walt Disney, and the role is not a heavy at all."

He will probably go to Nassau for locations on that one and then may return here for another film with Bogart, "Angels Cooking." That's Paramount's version of the Broadway hit "My Three Angels."

After that, he may return to Europe for another film with his own team. But he emphasized that Hollywood will remain his home base.

"These days an actor can't remain anywhere for any length of time," he remarked. "But I intend to keep my home here. I've missed California. When you've been gone so long, you realize that this is the best place in the world to live."

Dog Under Observation Disappears From Home

A sandy-haired male cocker spaniel, being watched for signs of rabies after it bit a six-year-old boy, disappeared from the home of Maurice DeLangis, at 653 Lakeview Dr., Cedar Island Lake, this weekend.

DeLangis says the rabies observation period will be up this Friday. He asks anyone with information about the dog to call him at EM 3-2204. The dog, he said, had a 1953 Detroit license tag numbered 44046.

Stops 2 Bad Cases of Bleeding Piles In Just a Few Days

"I suffered for several years with bleeding piles," writes a Mt. Clemens contractor, "and tried almost all kinds of pile ointments, suppositories, etc. with little or no relief. Then my druggist told me of the amazing results his customers had gotten with the new miracle drug called RECTORAL. So I tried a bottle and to my utter surprise the bleeding and accompanying soreness and irritation began to disappear in a few days and in a few days more all trouble was gone. Then my mother-in-law who had also suffered with bleeding for years tried a bottle and in less than a week all her trouble disappeared. It is now nearly two years since we took this wonderful medicine and neither one of us have had a bit of trouble since."

The same experience could be told by thousands of other former sufferers. And it is all so simple and easy. Throw away your messy, disagreeable-to-use ointments, suppositories, etc. Just take a tablespoonful of pleasant, harmless RECTORAL after meals and at bedtime. Usually in a few days bleeding with its soreness and irritation begins to disappear and in a few days more is entirely gone. If directions are followed. So why suffer any longer? Get a bottle of RECTORAL today at: Bimms-J.V. AFL Discusses Union Rivalry

Council Is Expected to Approve Solution for Jurisdictional Feuds

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U)—A compromise plan for solving union jurisdictional feuds within the AFL was expected to win approval today from the AFL Executive Council.

The plan was worked out last night by a special committee. It reportedly gives AFL unions this choice: submitting scraps to binding arbitration, or leaving them up to previously ineffectual AFL machinery.

The problem has long annoyed employers and contributed to inter-union warfare. It involved rival union claims over what types of work properly belong to particular unions. Employers are often harassed by conflicting union claims over the "right" to perform various jobs.

With rising unemployment AFL unions have indicated more frequently a desire to work out conflicting work claims in an orderly manner and the AFL convention in St. Louis last fall directed the AFL council to make some arrangement.

A special committee headed by AFL President George Meany agreed on a plan for the council's consideration today that halfway meets the problem. It provides that arbitration, or a binding decision by a neutral, will be offered in such disputes but unions can veto arbitrations and submit their troubles to the Executive Council.

In the past such council decisions have often been influenced by politics among council members and the resulting actions have been frequently ignored.

Even with the AFL council's endorsement of the compromise, it will have to be ratified at a meeting of all the AFL union leaders, probably in Washington, in mid-March. It can be put into effect then or checked to the AFL convention next September.

The council was expected to end its winter meeting today after handling the jurisdictional problem and considering a resolution recommending caution among AFL unions in handling union health-welfare trust funds.

Flower Show Officials Worry for Good Reason

LAUREL, Miss. (U)—Officials at a camellia show were discussing whether an out-of-town guest would drive back to pick up the door prize, a 100-pound camellia plant.

Disgruntled at the delay, one observer remarked: "You'd think there was somebody from Istanbul registered."

The first drawing produced the name of Miss Bessie Ellington of nearby Hattiesburg, so a second name was drawn in case Miss Ellington declined to return for the prize.

The alternate was M. Deha Vorkud, a visitor from Istanbul, Turkey.

Vorkud won't have to worry, however, Miss Ellington picked up the plant yesterday.

DUAL ROLES—Leslie Knox Munro, of New Zealand, is the first delegate to be president of two main United Nations Councils. A lawyer, he has been president of the Trusteeship Council since June, 1933. When the monthly alphabetical rotation of Security Council presidency passed to New Zealand, Mr. Munro had a new job. He expects to shuttle between the two council chambers during the month of February.

State Red Trial Nearing Finish

Judge Expects Jury to Get Communist Case Next Monday

DETROIT (INS)—Federal Judge Frank A. Picard said today he expects the trial of six Michigan Communists to go to the jury of seven women and five men next Monday.

Testimony in the four-months-long trial ended Monday with summation arguments by attorneys slated to start Thursday.

The trial lasted 56 days and transcripts of testimony covered 9,000 pages.

A final defense maneuver, however, proved a boomerang Monday.

It involved submission of Ford Motor Co. records involving Steve Schemanske, Defense Attorney Ernest Goodman sought the records to prove Schemanske a "labor spy" as well as a government agent.

The records, however, tended to show Schemanske exclusively an undercover agent. At that point, Goodman attempted to block introduction of the records.

The move drew a rebuke from Judge Picard, who said: "You wanted the records Mr. Goodman. You've got them."

Judge Picard ruled them evidence.

Cap Pistol Robber Gets 8 Year Prison Sentence

BALTIMORE (U)—A $13 robbery he pulled off with a cap pistol last December is costing Leon Booker, 27, eight years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

He was convicted and sentenced by Judge Emory H. Niles in Criminal Court yesterday. Booker, covering the pistol with a handkerchief, had held up a waitress in an ice cream store.

City May Authorize Bids on Branch Library Tonight

Pontiac City Commission tonight is expected to authorize accepting bids March 8 for construction of the new Northside branch library.

Bids were taken last November, but rejected as too high by commissioners. Estimated cost of the structure, to be located at Glenwood Ave. and Rundell St., is $60,000.

The building will be the first library construction undertaken by the city.

In other action, commissioners are expected to consider a request from Robert L. Starks asking that 44½ acres of section 15 on south side of Walton between Arlene and Galloway Creek be rezoned from residential to commercial.

A petition is scheduled from property owners protesting proposed public improvements for Colorado between Franklin and Motor.

Engineer's estimates for curb, gutter, drainage and related work are expected on projects including:

Reports from the City Plan Commission are slated recommending: That lots 503 to 512, inclusive, Dupont Heights Subdivision, be rezoned to C-1.

That the north 395 feet of lot 1 assessor's plat 37 be rezoned to C-1, provided an agreement is made for right of way for Miami road extension and a 20 foot alley.

Approving an ordinance to rezone to C-1 the west half of lot 21, lot 22 and parts of lots 23 and 25, assessor's plat 73, in connection with Tel-Huron Shopping Center Inc. A public hearing also is scheduled on the matter, followed by second reading of the ordinance.

Approving an ordinance to rezone to R-3 lots 80 to 106 inclusive of Linda Vista Subdivision, providing a revised plat showing streets and lots meets approval of the Engineering Department. Second reading of the ordinance making the change is also expected.

Commissioners are slated to consider a proposed agreement with Tel-Huron Shopping Center Inc. for improvement of an alley and easement for public utilities in the right of way.

A public hearing is scheduled on intention to construct curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Bondale from Earlmoor to east line of the subdivision.

Reports are scheduled from the city assessor on special assessment rolls for projects including:

Wilson from Going to East Boulevard East Beverly from Laurel to Highwood Westbrook from Joslyn to east end of the street.

Officials Expect Red Retaliation

Failure of Conference Could Bring Conditions Similar to Blockade

BERLIN (INS)—Allied officials are worried today that failure of the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference might bring new Soviet pressures on Berlin similar to, but not so drastic as, the 1948-49 blockade.

While no full-scale blockade is "pinpoint" pressure is anticipated expected, a possible series of by Allied observers long familiar with the Berlin story.

One official told International News Service that the Soviets might again slow up traffic on the Autobahn which crosses Communist-occupied territory between West Germany and West Berlin.

Merely by examining in detail all the numerous papers required for each truckload of merchandise, the Communist police practically could bring to a halt the flow of vital food and raw materials to West Berlin.

While not sufficient to paralyze life in free Berlin, this type of counter-measure would have an effect.

Such a slow-down of traffic would most certainly mean that the necessary foods—all of which are imported from West Germany—would have to be flown to West Berlin.

Stockpiles are ready in the free part of Berlin—just in case. But powdered and canned milk are poor substitutes for fresh milk. The same applies to vegetables and fruits.

Boy Converts Toy Guns to Fire .22 Dum-Dums

BALTIMORE (U)—The father of a 14-year-old boy complained to police yesterday about bullet holes he found in his kitchen door.

Police investigated and found that his son had been staging gun battles with a 15-year-old friend. They used homemade "zip" guns, fashioned from a toy gun, and dum-dum bullets—.22-caliber bullets with the rounded ends sawed off.

The younger boy was rated an expert zip-gun maker, with a standing offer to convert 75-cent toy guns for $1 apiece.

Lumber comprised 80 per cent of the construction material used in the U. S.

Young Actress Very Versatile

Now Being Featured on Red Buttons Show and The Big Payoff

NEW YORK (UP)—They're calling Betty Ann Grove "television's Jill-of-all-trades."

And with good reason. She's already proven her ability in five fields: Singing, dancing, comedy, drama and modeling.

Betty Ann, who's featured on "Red Buttons Show" and "The Big Payoff," had her eye strictly on musical comedy five years ago when she pulled up stakes in Massachusetts and headed for the Great White Way.

She knew then she could sing and dance well enough to make a living in show business — she'd been at it professionally since the age of 11. So she breezed into town with all the confidence in the world to cash in on her specialties.

But it took television to point up — and to Betty Ann herself — that her talents were not limited to two categories.

"Stop the Music" and the "Bert Parks Show" proved that comedy, along with song and dance, was one of her long suits. The "Red Buttons Show" took the wraps off her acting ability (as Red's girl friend). "The Big Payoff," on which she sings, and sometimes doubles as a model, projected her flair for displaying new fashions.

She had less than a dozen years behind her when she began getting paid for her song and dance numbers. She performed for every important showing of talent in and around Cambridge.

While attending junior high school, Betty Ann made frequent appearances as a featured singer at fashion shows in her home town.

Still in her teens, she headed for New York where she landed several guest appearances on television variety programs. These led to a contract with "Stop the Music" and later, the "Bert Parks Show."

At this point, Betty Ann's original ambition was fulfilled. Her vivaciousness and ability to sell a song got her the coveted role of Lois Lane in "Kiss Me Kate."

After months in the Broadway hit, Betty Ann received several television offers as a featured singer-dancer-comedienne.

Before joining "The Big Payoff" and the "Red Buttons Show," she was a popular fixture on a thrice-weekly audience participation show, then "Matinee in New York" and "Celebrity Time."

Betty Ann, now 24, is single. She lives in New York with her mother — and Cyran, her pet dachshund.

Reds Start Own Point 4 in Nearby Afghanistan

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet government, which often has charged the United States with attempting to dominate Afghanistan through Point Four aid, is itself sending money credits and experts for construction work in the west Asian nation on the Soviets' southern border.

The Soviet press announced the granting of the credits but did not publish the amounts. It said the money would be used for two grain elevators, a flour mill and a modern bakery.

Gun-Toting Texan Flunks First Lesson as G-Man

HOUSTON (UP)—Ledell Hampton, 34, arrested Dec. 30 with a tin "special police" badge on his shirt and a gun in his pocket, was fined $125 for carrying the pistol yesterday.

Hampton told prosecutors he was taking a correspondence course to become an FBI agent. He came into County Court armed with a books on how to make arrests.

Ex-TV Actress Wins Divorce From Golfer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP)—Virginia Hunter, 23, a TV actress in New York prior to her marriage in 1952 to golfer Henry (Mac) Hunter, has been awarded a divorce on cruelty grounds. She testified yesterday in Superior Court that Hunter, 24, "called me names—bad names" and asked for a divorce "about every month of our marriage."

OEDIPUS — Oedipus Wu, a Siamese sealpoint kitten, poses patiently in a brandy glass with some of the awards he is bucking for at the 37th annual Empire Cat Club Show in New York. The three-month-old kitten is owned by Mrs. Lillian King of Nutley, N. J.

Sec. Oveta Culp Hobby Lets Her Hair Down

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby has a new hair style these days.

She used to wear her hair braided over her head or in a bun at the back. Now she wears it shortened in a sort of loose wave.

The new style became evident when pictures were made yesterday of Mrs. Hobby congratulating Victor Christgau of Minnesota as he was sworn in as director of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance.

When coots share a pond with ducks, they often are used as scouts by the ducks to warn of danger.

Probe Fortune of Beaten Victim

Federal Tax Men Eye Half Million Found in Widow's Flat

DETROIT (UP)—Police guarded the home of Mrs. Carrie Wherritt today as government tax men today investigated the half million dollar fortune found in her dingy flat.

Presumably, the government was examining to determine whether a tax was due from the 86-year-old widow who lived in near rags despite her lavish holdings.

"We're looking into the tax matters," said A. M. Menninger, district director of the Internal Revenue Service. He made no further comment.

An estimated $500,000 in cash and a nearly equal amount in securities were found in a safe in the flat.

Mrs. Wherritt, victim of a vicious beating by burglars who failed to find her money, remains in Receiving Hospital. Police continued a search for her assailants.

The source of Mrs. Wherritt's money remained undetermined. She was known to have dealt in real estate. Her husband, an artist, died 30 years ago.

Her money and securities, after being taken to police headquarters, were removed to a bank.

Man Dies of Injuries After Being Hit by Car

DETROIT (UP)—Ivin Southworth, 65, Detroit, died in Highland Park General Hospital early today of injuries he suffered when he was struck by a car in suburban Redford Township.

Police said Southworth walked into heavy traffic and was hit by a car driven by John Eby, 41, Walled Lake. Eby was not held.

M'Carthy Gives Candidate Test

Asks Defeat of Solons Who OK Aid to Nations Trading With China

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is calling for the defeat next fall of any Senate and House candidates approving American aid for countries trading with Communist China.

Addressing a Lincoln Day dinner here Monday night, the Wisconsin senator framed for the 1,500 guests this question he said they should pose for all congressional aspirants:

"If we sent you to Washington, will you continue to vote our money to allies who are using that money to strengthen our mortal enemy, Red China?"

McCarthy said negative answers by the candidates "would give America an opportunity to 'curb communism that would be more effective than a blockade of the China coast.'"

As he has in the past, he cited Great Britain as a prime example of nations accepting U. S. dollars and yet trading with the Chinese. He said he anticipated that some would interpret his opposition to such trade as being anti-Eisenhower.

"But I am not fighting the President," he declared. "The President has done a good, over-all job in the year and a month he has been in Washington. But he is only one man and needs the help of all senators and representatives. Being so honest himself, he cannot conceive of traitors in government, or of being double-crossed."

Earlier, at a press conference, McCarthy said he had wired Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens asking that court-martial proceedings be started against every subversive in the armed forces. He said he told the secretary that "20 years of coddling of the military" have ended.

McCarthy, chairman of a Senate investigating subcommittee, said also that he would press for a contempt citation against Dr. Wendell Furry, Harvard University scientist who appeared before his group late in 1953.

"The true test of reformed Communists is whether they will disclose party tactics and brethren to investigators," the senator said. "Furry admitted before our group that he worked on secret radar material but would not reveal who worked with him."

"Furry will be cited for contempt if the Senate will go along with us, and I think it will."

McCarthy said the Benson program for sliding farm price supports was "unrealistic." He said he thought supports should not go below 75 points and that for every point they dipped below 90, they should go a corresponding degree above 100.

U. S. Gives $33 Million for Korean Recovery

SEOUL (AP) — The U. S. Foreign Operations Administration contributed 33 million dollars during January for Korean recovery. Economic Coordinator C. Tyler Wood reported today. The contribution was the biggest for any one month.

This raised to about 185 million dollars the recovery funds contributed by American and United Nations agencies for 1953 and this year, a spokesman said.

Altogether about 400 million dollars have been earmarked for Korea by the United States and the United Nations for the fiscal year ending in June.

The young man was reunited with his mother after a 13-year separation which began when he lost his memory at the age of 13. WEeping WATER, Neb. (AP) — Officers who arrested Allen Paul Melson in connection with a bank robbery last night found $1,200 sewn in a rag doll belonging to his 3-year-old daughter.

Easy Ideas

for putting a touch of Summer into these Winter Wonders!"

Golden, Summery Peach Shortcake

Bake Duncan Hines Yellow Cake in 2 layers and cool. At serving time, arrange canned or frozen sliced peaches over bottom layer, and spread with whipped topping. Put on second layer, arrange peaches and topping as in illustration.

Quick Treats - Cupcakes with Banana Slices

And easy! Make cupcakes with Duncan Hines Yellow Cake Mix (see package). Cool — then cut each $\frac{1}{4}$ way down in "Y" shape. Fill wedge with whipped topping and slice of banana. Put maraschino cherry in center.

Hot, Fragrant Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

Melt $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter in heavy 10-in. skillet. Sprinkle $\frac{1}{2}$ cup brown sugar evenly over butter. Arrange drained, canned pineapple slices on sugar mixture. Make Duncan Hines Yellow Cake Mix batter (see package). Pour enough batter over fruit to fill skillet $\frac{1}{2}$ full.* Bake 35 minutes at 350° or until cake pulls from sides of skillet. Immediately turn cake and skillet upside down on serving plate, but do not remove skillet for 5 minutes, to let brown syrup run down over cake. Serve warm with maraschino cherries placed in the center of each pineapple slice.

*Rest of batter can be used to make 8 to 10 cupcakes.

Easy because Duncan

Hines Yellow Cake Mix

does so much of the work for you . . . brings you home-fresh, home-flavored, home-textured cake to start with!

Better because of

- Duncan Hines' knowledge of food and recipes
- Duncan Hines' insistence on use of the finest ingredients
- The fact that you use your own fresh eggs!

"Planning meals gets to be quite a chore this time of year, doesn't it? It's difficult to vary winter meals. But a dessert can do wonders . . . and when you combine fruit with cake made from my mixes, it's the easiest way I know to bring a welcome touch of summer to your table.

"Of course, these are just a few of the many different desserts you can make with my cake mixes. In every case you can be sure of getting desserts with homemade goodness all their own, because of the special home-recipe blend of ingredients in my cake mixes — and because you add your own fresh eggs.

"No good cook would think of using dried eggs in her prized recipes, and yet that's the only kind that can be put 'right into' a cake mix package. That's why I ask you to add your own fresh eggs to my cake mixes."

John Coppin Will Assist Art Society

Noted Painter Will Analyze Work on Thursday

By WILMA GREENWAY
One of America's foremost portrait painters will come to this city Thursday evening to analyze the work of the Pontiac Society of Artists.

John S. Coppin of Bloomfield Hills, whose paintings include such eminent Michigan figures as Henry Ford, Gov. Kim Sigler and Gen. William S. Knudsen, will be at the home of Mrs. L. L. Sterling on Lorraine court, where he will evaluate original paintings by the Pontiac artists from the standpoint of technique and aesthetics.

Members of the group may well expect to receive from Mr. Coppin's visit not only excellent criticism, but also new and traditional concepts in the field of art.

This forceful artist has not limited himself to any one style, and he works in many mediums. In oils, his murals, nudes and moderns have gained him wide recognition. And many a busy man or woman with little time to visit art galleries will know him for his watercolor cover pictures on the AAA magazine.

For his portraits, Coppin paints as did the old masters with a lifelike truthness, scoring the planned distortion popular with many modern artists. Yet so compelling is his brush, so magnetic the quality of his art, that his portraits strike the viewer with the force of an impact.

In each case, it is as though he had garnered the essence of his subject, compressed it, and projected it forcibly through the stance of the body, the mobility of the head, a flash of the eye, and the curving, vibrant skin tones. His greatness lies in that his canvases appear to breathe the unique living spirit of their subjects.

Coppin can't remember how many famous Michigan people he has painted; casually estimates it must be "somewhere between 50 and 100." His portraits of the last three governors of Michigan—Harry Kelly, Murray D. Van Wagoner and Kim Sigler—hang in the rotunda of the State Capitol. A recently completed likeness of Detroit's "people's poet," Edgar Guest, will hang in the new Wayne University Center.

He's done newspaperman George Stark, Auto Club director Roy Hood, Packard Motors man Alvan Macauley, gingeale man James Verner, Consumers Power head Justin Whiting. His recent painting of actor Alec Guinness in the roll of Richard III is at Stratford, Ont., (Coppin's birthplace) where it is displayed as a permanent exhibit for the annual Shakespearean Festival.

The painter lives, with his beautiful wife, Sidni, and son, Torry, 3½, in a huge converted stable on Echo road. What originally was the loft has been made over into a spacious studio. Downstairs, Coppin's originals dominate the clean lines of the big, wide-windowed living room.

Dark-eyed Sidni paints, too—mostly moderns. So far young Torry has confined his talents to some original but highly impermanent sculpture, in the form of pipe-smoking snowmen. But Torry imitates his dad at the easel, even to insisting on the music that Coppin usually has playing while he works.

A past president of the Scarab Club, Coppin has three times won the Gold Medal (top) Award of that group—and he took the Clark Award in 1952. He has won prizes at the Detroit Institute of Arts in six different years.

Coppin is enthusiastic about the idea of the Pontiac artists society. He's all for anything that makes people—all people, geniuses, talented, or just plain dubs—want to paint.

"Painting is the most wonderful therapy in the world," he says. "More than that, it makes people think."

Hot Suds, Lemon Removes Mildew

Mildew stains are difficult to remove, but the best way to treat them is to use hot suds, then moisten them with lemon juice and salt.

Dry in the sun, if possible, and bleach with hydrogen peroxide if the stain is old. Be sure to rinse thoroughly.

Petticoats Swish Back Into Style for Summertime

NEW YORK (INS)—Petticoats, which "went out" of style last year with a swish heard round the world, have come back with a tentative rustle.

Most New York designers still stick to a basically slim line for next season. But there are several full-skirt fanciers—notably Jerry Parnis and Hannah Troy—who went all out again. Around the hips.

Jerry (the designer who took cottons out of the housedress category 15 years ago) shows practically no slender skirts in his summer preview.

Instead, there are voluminous cottons held out not only by layers of petticoats but also by a new, netty underlining called "formite." They are even more gracefully belled-out than they were in '32 when petticoat fever was disturbingly high.

Miss Troy is not quite so starched in her skirts. But the "feeling" in her collection is decidedly away from the slim "n" corseted look gathered skirt suit—with its jacket peplum puffing curvaceously over the hip fullness in the skirt.

OES Gathers Monday Night

Pontiac Chapter 228, OES, met Monday evening in Masonic Temple on East Lawrence street. Fifty-six members and guests attended the meeting where it was announced that several members will be guests of other chapters to aid in the initiatory work.

Mrs. Sylvan Clark will assist the Walled Lake chapter while Mrs. Leslie McClellan and Otto Schott will be guests of Berkeley chapter.

Chapter 228 will hold Friendship Night Feb. 22 in Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

The group voted to donate $100 to the worthy grand matron project and $15 to the Happy Club, a club of the order.

Refreshments were served by the 1933-40 Proficiency Club, with Mrs. Kenneth Anthony as chairman.

Perfume That Clings
Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one—Mrs. A. W.
A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Moubright Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

You Can Be 'Tragically Beautiful'

Balenciaga Offers Spring Collection a la Spain

PARIS (INS)—If you want to be "tragically" beautiful, Paris fashion designer Balenciaga is your man.

While Herbert de Givenchy stresses "falling in love" effervescence in tender pastel shades, Dior sticks to the "short look" and Fath proposes whalebones and "smiling décolletés," Balenciaga offers dramatic, Spanish lines that are his fashion trademark.

He has combined a mastery tailored type of "tragic beauty" with a collection of rather freaky gimmicks like ostrich feathers rising up or dangling down from tiny hats.

The classic Balenciaga suit with its semi-fitted waist, square-collared or collarless neckline and three-quarter sleeves again plays a leading role. So do his loose middie, complete with hip belts, his straight coats and Spanish-styled evening gowns.

And, of course, there is the dramatic Balenciaga lady with her head completely covered in white or black veiling—a veritable heroine of high fashion.

To season his 1954 menu Balenciaga has added some new details such as a white and gray tweed ensemble with the jacket buttoned down the left to right in masculine style. But the buttons are rhinestone studded to preserve a feminine touch.

On another suit Balenciaga offered a real surprise—genuine leg o' mutton sleeves.

Balenciaga uses black or white jersey for beautifully simple shirtwaist dresses with the back, and sometimes also the front, bloused.

One straight white wool coat has enormous lapels, notched at waist-height. A dressy black taffeta coat has a crown of pink roses as a collar band. The two front coat edges also are studded with rows of roses.

But Balenciaga's hats are his spiciest offerings. He places a red ostrich plume, 14 inches high, on a miniature black cap. The plume soars straight up toward the sky.

A little white hat, no bigger than your hand, has a long black ostrich plume—this time dangling down. For special theatrical effects there's a white ostrich fan for evening.

One Balenciaga hat seems to be intended to capture secret thought waves from the air. It is a little pancake with two thin antennae sticking out like horns.

For contrast, some of the other hats are cartwheels. One is covered up high with a foamy white chiffon draping that looks like a sugared cream puff.

Conquering Adverse Conditions Brings an Exultant Lift to the Spirits

Little Lights Shed Paths of Safety

By HUBBARD COBB

We don't go so far as to say that you won't fall down a flight of stairs if the stairs are well lighted or you won't trip over some object in the living room trying to reach the phone at night if there is a night light by the phone but adequate night lighting will certainly help reduce these accidents to a minimum.

Basement stairs, for example, are usually high up on the list of causes for home accidents and often this is because they are not properly lighted.

The best solution is to have a light on these stairs which can be turned on and off from switches at the top and bottom of the stairs.

The next best remedy is to rig up a light switch with a pull chain so it can be operated by means of cords and pulley from either end of the stairs.

If there is no light fixture on the stairs and you can't afford to have one installed, then a pin-up lamp at top and bottom of the stairs or even a flashlight will help considerably.

If you take the time, you'll find other spots about the house where light will prevent serious injury.

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 slices of bread
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine the milk, salt, butter or margarine, eggs and vanilla and pour over the bread. Bake in a 350 oven for one hour. Serve either warm or cool, with cream or ice cream.

Watches Club Members' Children

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Recently, a women's club in Long Island invited me to address its members.

The meeting was held in a large, attractive club house, and as we entered, I noticed a charming room full of little children. Supervising their play, and telling stories to them, was a woman in her early fifties.

During the talk, I was aware that everybody stayed put — there were no early departures, no uneasy coming and going.

Commenting on this, I was told that the explanation was simple. For years, the members with preschool children had either been unable to get to club meetings, or had had to leave the children with neighbors or sitters. This accounted for a drop in attendance, and an uneasiness on the part of many of the mothers who did attend.

Finally, the club decided to do something about it.

One of the members, a woman who had just lost her husband, volunteered to take care of the children in a group, right in the clubhouse. She adorned children, and it helped fill her life.

Each of the young mothers paid a tiny sum, and was able to bring her children with her, park them in good hands, and enjoy the club meeting.

Now the widow does it for several clubs, and makes a nice weekly income — not big, but very satisfying.

Many communities, it seems to me, could take advantage of this idea. The women's clubs, which accomplish so much for the community, are suffering from the loss in attendance by young mothers.

And invariably there is someone who loves children, and who would appreciate the chance to work with them, and at the same time augment her income.

If your club has worked out an arrangement like this, do let me know about it. Nothing pleases me more than to see an idea which was thought up in one part of the country, being used hundreds of miles away.

After all, a woman's life and her problems are much the same everywhere.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

It Takes Daring, Bravery to Dig, to Climb, to Explore

At last I know why I could never be an archeologist digging into germ-laden tombs, a mountain climber scaling Mount Everest, or an explorer in the Arctic where man never mushed before.

The plain truth is that I'm not brave nor daring enough to seek magnificent satisfactions. Byron de Prook, an archeologist friend of mine, first made me aware of this.

We were talking about his work and he said casually that every tomb he'd ever dug into was supposed to have a curse on it.

"I certainly don't believe in curses," he added emphatically, "but it's no wonder the stories get started. You see, it's mighty hard to keep from being scratched when we're excavating and any wound sustained in those surroundings may result — and has, in fact, often resulted — in serious, even fatal infections."

"Then why do you keep going all over the world to search out new tombs and more chances to risk your life?" I demanded, reasonably I thought.

"For the sake of that wonderful moment when you flash your electric torch upon something that nobody has seen for 7,000 years," he answered, his eyes shining.

"For that, you dare all things, even when you are much afraid."

Maurice Herzog who lost the fingers off both hands and almost gave up his life while getting to the top of Annapurna in the Himalayas, second highest summit yet attained by man, told me:

"In my worst moments of anguish, I seemed to discover the deep significance of existence of which until then I'd been unaware. The marks of the ordeal are apparent on my body but I gained the assurance and serenity of a man who has fulfilled himself. Never had I felt happiness like that, so intense and yet so pure."

A few years ago I talked to Constance and Harmon Helmericks just after they came back from the Arctic where they had lived in the wilderness for a year without seeing another human being. At one time they ran out of food and Harmon was sick besides. Just when it looked as if they might actually starve, they shot a moose. "It's surprising," Connie told me, "how quickly a person recovers from such an ordeal and then how unusually well he begins to feel and how perfectly amazingly glorious the whole world looks."

"We were filthy and in rags, but how minor, how unnoticeable are the humiliations of the body when the soul is gazing at sublime beauty! Suddenly we were so happy it seemed as though we would burst!"

Thinking about these encounters with men and women who have greatly dared I'm struck afresh by their exultation at conquering adverse conditions. I've known fierce joy, too, at accomplishment though mine seems paltry compared to theirs.

But I comfort myself humbly with the reflection that a lift of the spirit will come to anybody who persists toward a worthy goal, even a minor one.

Children Should Be Taught to Use Title, Not First Name

By EMILY POST

Today's first question is from a young mother who tells me: "I have a son who is just learning to talk and I have been teaching him to call our friends, Mrs. Jones, Mr. Greene, etc. I was taught to call my parents' friends by title and wouldn't think of calling them by first name."

"Today, however, all of our friends and neighbors permit their children to call everyone by first name, regardless of their age, and they think me terribly old-fashioned and tell me that I am making my child stilted and snobbish by insisting he call older people by title."

"I certainly don't want my child to be considered a snob, and yet I do want to bring him up properly. Am I being too strict in this present day of informality?"

I agree with you thoroughly and cannot approve of the growing trend of permitting children to call grown people by their first names.

Dear Mrs. Post: Two months ago a friend of mine was married and I sent her a very lovely wedding present. At the reception she mentioned the present and said thank you, but I have received no written thanks from her.

I am rather hurt over this and think my present warranted more than a verbal thank you. Am I wrong to feel as I do, or is such a thank you sufficient?

Answer: A verbal thank you, if appreciatively given, is all that is required.

Ed Furgol Wins Phoenix Open on Extra Hole

Middlecoff Blows Lead of 2 Strokes on 18th Green

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U)—Odds were heavy that it couldn't happen but it did.

Cary Middlecoff went into the 18th hole looking like a cinch to whip underdog Ed Furgol in their playoff for the $2,000 money of the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Middlecoff, a former National Open champion from Memphis, held a two-stroke lead as he and Furgol teed off on the 536-yard 18th and final hole.

Both were straight down the fairway off the tee. Then Middlecoff elected to use a wood for his approach. So did Furgol.

Middlecoff's shot sailed high and wide to the left, over the heads of the gallery around the final green. The ball finally came to rest hard by a heavy screen back of a practice tee.

Ball was moved out two club lengths, but the screen still obstructed the line toward the pin. Middlecoff had to shoot for the dry rough below the green. He finally got down with a bogey six. The gallery grew tense. So did Furgol. He had a putt of 15 feet, maybe 20, in front of him after coming out of a trap. He had to make it for a birdie.

"I felt like I was two hours lining it up," recounted Furgol later. He putted. It dropped in. The crowd, frankly rooting for the long-shot to win his first major tournament, went slightly mad.

Automatically with not a word between them, the two players headed for the 19th hole and a sudden death playoff.

Windup was anti-climactic. Middlecoff hit the trap on his second, dribbled the ball out to fall just shy of the green. He clipped past the pin. He had to take two putts to get down for a six.

Furgol was within one foot of a birdie four. Cary conceded the putt and the playoff.

Middlecoff got $1,400 for 2nd place.

Finnerty Scores KO Over Price

Detroit Is Stopped in Third Round; Tommy Leedle Wins

DETROIT (UP)—Irish Bob Finnerty of Cleveland, O., knocked out Detroit's Chuck Price at 2:42 of the 3rd round of their scheduled six-round slugfest at Motor City Arena Monday night.

In the six-round co-feature bout, Tommy Leedle, 162, Detroit, gained a unanimous decision over fellow townsman Len Barry, 162½. It was Leedle's first since embarking on the comeback trail.

Finnerty, 150, and Price, 151½, both appeared hurt in every round. Price went down for an eight-count early in the 3rd. But he got up and seemed to have Finnerty in trouble again.

Then Finnerty came off the ropes, caught Price flush on the jaw with a slamming left hook and that was it. Price's head rocked off the canvas with a resounding thud and it took several minutes to revive him after he was counted out.

Gray Is Still Dissatisfied, but Tigers Are Unworried

DETROIT (U)—Detroit Tigers' player contract negotiations still were a good way from completion today.

But whether management was feeling any misgivings or not wasn't apparent.

Pitcher Ted Gray, reportedly facing a pay cut because of his 10-15 record last season, has not three times with his bosses and there has been no agreement.

However, general manager Muddy Ruel showed no great concern. He said he and Gray were "not too far apart" in their thinking. Last year Gray, in his 6th season with the club, drew down a reported $18,000 to $20,000. There is talk that management is asking him to take a 25 per cent cut.

'47 Irish Hail Player, Coach Terry Brennan

AURORA, Ill. (U)—Members of Notre Dame's national championship 1947 football team last night hailed as player, coach and man the new head coach of the South Bend, Ind., university, Terry Brennan.

The occasion was a "reunion" called by Bill Fischer, guard on the '47 team. About 350 guests showed up. They included 10 '47 stalwarts and five members of the 1953 squad.

Brennan, who played halfback on the national championship team, spoke briefly, saying he always had looked forward to coaching at Notre Dame and hopes to have "a representative Notre Dame team."

Others of that famed Frank Leahy-coached aggregation who attended were tackles George Connor and Ziggy Czarobski, ends Leon Hart and Bill Wightkin, backs Johnny Lujack, Emil Sitko and Jim Mello, and guards Marty Wendell and Fischer.

Both Need Win to Challenge Loop Leaders

Orion Hosts Ortonville, Milford at Home, Falcon Five on Road

By JACK SAYLOR

The crucial Wayne-Oakland League game between Keego Harbor and Clarkston in the Presidents' gym highlights a slim prep basketball schedule in the Pontiac area tonight.

Pontiac High and St. Michael's are both in Highland Park to tangle with undefeated and highly-ranked teams. Chiefs bump into Highland Park, the state's top Class A quintet, and the Shamrocks face St. Benedict, leader of the Suburban Catholic League and rated one of the state's Class C powers.

Waterford, St. Frederick's and Avondale are idle tonight as are Walled Lake and Oxford. Only other Pontiac area teams in action at home tonight are Lake Orion and Milford.

Lake Orion entertains Ortonville and Milford is host to Brighton. Rochester is on the road at Davison.

Clarkston and Keego are struggling to stay alive in the Wayne-Oakland title chase. They trail Northville and Milford in the standings. Both the Mustangs and Redskins are favored tonight to set the stage for a showdown game at Milford Friday.

Sam Minard's Presidents rate a slight choice over Clarkston. They downed the Wolves, 52-43 at Clarkston and are fresh from a 36-35 upset of Milford Friday. However, Don Mauti's Clarkstonians have won four in a row, including a 6-point triumph at Milford.

Rochester has won 11 out of 12 this season, and takes a 3-game win streak to Davison. Ortonville, which now has won two straight, is a slight underdog at Lake Orion.

Elsewhere, Ferndale plays an Eastern Michigan League game against East Detroit. Dales have won all nine of their games and are the county and area's only unbeaten group. Utica and Warren, co-leaders in the Bi-County, are favored in league games against Center Line and South Lake.

Pontiac at Highland Park; Clarkston at Brighton; Rochester at Davison; Core at Lapeer; Ortonville at Lake Orion; Clarkston at Keego Harbor; Brighton at Milford; Chardonville at Northville; Eastland at Roseville East Detroit at Ferndale; Hazel Park at Port Huron; Eastland at Mt. Clemens; Center Line at Utica; Warren at South Lake; Lake Shore at Lakeside; Flint Tech at Cranbrook; Imbler at South Lyon; Shrine at Holy Redeemer; St. Mary at St. James; St. Rita at St. Mary; St. Anne at St. Benedict.

Rough Weather Favors Ti in Yachting Test

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—Men aboard 25 ocean sailing yachts hustled into rough weather gear today for a real test of seamanship in the 16th annual Miami-Nassau race.

Fifteen to 20 mile-per-hour northwest winds kept seas rough as the sailing beauties jockeyed for position at the noon (EST) start of the 184-mile classic.

Yachtsmen said the heavy going should favor the larger craft. Mighty Ti, the 73-foot ketch sailed by John Hertz Jr., of New York, set the St. Petersburg-Havana record in 1952 in just such rough going.

If the wind holds, Ti might have a good chance to win.

Aggies Pass Hilltoppers

Duquesne Trimming Kentucky's Edge in AP Poll; Indiana Clings to Third

By BEN PHLEGAR
NEW YORK (U)—Kentucky continued to win games by 40 points or more but the Wildcats' first-place margin over Duquesne in the Associated Press basketball poll is getting smaller and smaller.

This week the 97 experts who participated virtually admitted they couldn't choose between the two. Kentucky got the nod 757 to 751 on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second and on down the line.

Forty-nine of the voters named Kentucky first or second whereas Duquesne drew 12 first-place votes and 35 for second. Five ballots skipped Kentucky altogether. Only two omitted Duquesne.

Duquesne has won 18 games against college competition and two against service teams without a loss. Kentucky won its 17th straight last night, 97-55 over Florida.

Indiana's defending national champions continued the grip on third place that they have maintained since suffering their only loss—to Oregon State in the week before Christmas. The Hoosiers polled 687 votes, almost 150 ahead of fourth-place Oklahoma A&M.

Western Kentucky gave up its No. 4 spot to the Aggies after suffering its first loss but slipped only as far as fifth. Rounding out the top 10 were Notre Dame, La Salle, Seattle, Holy Cross and George Washington.

The leading teams on a 10-9-8-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

Hobson Seeks to Correct Three Basketball 'Evils'

NEW YORK (INS)—Yale basketball coach Howard Hobson sees three "evils" plaguing the hoop sport and he plans to do something about them.

Hobson, a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's basketball rules committee, said yesterday that today's game suffers from "too much intentional fouling, too much stalling and too much free throwing."

Hobson told the New York basketball writers that he plans to submit three suggestions to the rules committee at its meeting in Kansas City next month. The suggestions are:

1. Making all defensive fouls two free throws for the entire 40 minutes of the game instead of only in the last three minutes. On offensive fouls, infraction would be charged but fouled team would take ball out of bounds.

2. To eliminate stalling, place time limit on possession in which the team with the ball would be compelled to shoot within 30 seconds after putting the ball in play.

3. Widen foul lane from six to twelve feet as the National Basketball association has done.

One objection to Hobson's suggestion came from coaches who favor keeping the "freeze" tactic. Coach Kenny Norton of Manhattan, another member of the rules group, said the time limit would "eliminate freezing, which is one of the game's finer points."

CASE—Value of Loft.
It Pays On Run Alleys—If bowling operators had their way they would allow absolutely no lofting of a ball. They mean, of course, pitching 12 to 15 feet over the foul line.

Reasonable loft or pitch-out of the ball is part of the game, a necessary part. Particularly on run alleys. The ones that break sharply from right to left. On them it is difficult to hold the ball on the right side of the head pin and in the 1-3 strike pocket.

That's when getting the ball over the line anywhere from a foot to 25 inches, depending on how much run the alley has, pays off. As the sketch shows, the important thing is to get the loft with a free, smooth arm-swinging follow-through. No rush whatever.

The arm, you will notice, is straight and firm. There is little wrist turn, so that the thumb finishes almost straight ahead. This produces more of a slide on the ball, far down the alley, before the hook-spin, aided by alley run, takes place. A natural loft means control.

Scott-White Team Wins GM Tourney

Walt Scott and Dorothy White rolled 208 pins over their aggregate average last weekend to place 1st in the 8th annual General Motors Mixed Doubles tourney at West Side Recreation.

Meet drew 848 entries this year to hit an all-time high. Tourney was run off over two week ends.

High games (actual pinfall) were turned in by Julius Koprince, 257, and Hazel Clark, 213. Leading series totals were posted by Vic Stoddard (Class I, 657), Walt Scott (II, 606) and Cecil Couch (III, 598) and Ethel Howard (1,559), Catherine Ward (II, 486) and Dorothy White (III, 453).

5 Years Ago, Mindszenty Was Martyred by Reds

By PHIL NEWSON

United Press Foreign News Editor

Five years ago today the Communists put the finishing touches on what has been called a "miracle of evil."

In a gray, Gothic-style, block-square building in the heart of Budapest, a Hungarian people's court sentenced Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to life imprisonment on charges of treason, espionage, plotting to overthrow the government and black marketeering. It was Feb. 8, 1949.

And it was Communism's boldest stroke against one of its most bitter enemies in the satellite states—the Catholic Church.

Therein lay the miracle of evil. For Cardinal Mindszenty had been Hungarian communism's most unyielding and outspoken foe—a man of proven courage.

Of the Communist regime he had said: "The wolf has more security in the forest than an honest Christian in the Hungarian Communist State today."

Of himself he had said:

"In four months I shall probably be waiting my turn in a hangman's cell. But I shall never change my policy or take back any of the things I said against the Communist government."

He advised his clergy that any "confession" that might some day appear over his signature would be false and only the result of "human frailty."

Communist police seized the Cardinal the day after Christmas, 1948. On Feb. 3, they brought him to trial.

How the Reds, in the intervening days, wrung from him the "confessions" which in a flat, colorless voice he drooled on and on at the trial, may never be known.

New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman charged that Mindszenty had become the "victim of torturings and druggings that put him beyond the reach or realm of human help."

But neither the forged evidence nor the tortured "confession" could be made to align with the known facts of Mindszenty's life.

Among other charges, the Communists said he was anti-Semitic. But during the Nazi occupation of Hungary in World War II, he saved many Jews from Nazi persecution by hiding them in the cellar of his palace.

He himself was no stranger to persecution, even before his final imprisonment.

In 1919, as a young parish priest during Bela Kun's four months Communist reign of terror, he was paraded through the streets in "shame" by the Communists and imprisoned.

Hungarian Nazis also jailed him. He walked to prison in full robes, blessing the people as he went. The Nazis held him for five months.

Mindszenty anticipated and accepted his martyrdom, and all the Reds carefully laid plans could not prevent him from becoming a symbol of resistance to communism.

Ironically, Pope Pius XII almost foretold his fate the day he received the red hat of a Cardinal. The Pope is supposed to have said to him:

"You may be the first to see these blood red colors turn to red blood."

New Series of Classes to Begin at Union Hall

A new series of classes in public speaking and parliamentary procedure will begin Feb. 17, at the CIO Council Hall, 21½ E. Lawrence St.

The sponsors are the Pontiac Board of Education and The Oakland County CIO Council, according to H. C. Newingham, council education committee chairman.

The ten-week course will be conducted each Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., with classes open to the public. "Several series have been held in the past few years," said Newingham, "and have been quite successful."

Corn and Oats Ease Up Today

CHICAGO (AP)—There was enough selling pressure in wheat and soybeans on the board of trade today to keep both cereals under restraint while the feed grains eased.

Some of the selling in wheat and soybeans may have come from short-term traders willing to accept profits after yesterday's upsurge. That did not hold for corn and oats, however, as they were anything but buoyant yesterday. Main reason for their easiness apparently was liberal receipts of cash corn.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 cent lower to 1/8 higher, March $2.13 1/2, corn 1/4 lower to 1/8 higher, March $1.34 1/2, oats 1/4 to 1/8 lower, March 78 1/2, rye unchanged to 1/4 lower, March $1.23 1/2, soybeans 1/4 lower to 1 cent higher, March $3.18 1/2, and lard 3 to 12 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $16.80.

Hal Boyle Says:

Murder of Writer Directs Attention to 'The Village'

NEW YORK (AP)—The slaying of Maxwell Bodenheim, a futile poet and novelist, is a flamboyant epitaph to a Greenwich Village that is gone.

It is a kind of mortal farewell to a Bohemianism that died long ago, and for almost 25 years has become to the outsider a Manhattan tourist attraction. The tourists still feel they have to see Greenwich village just as they used to visit Grant's Tomb.

They go to Radio City now or visit the top of the Empire State instead of calling on Gen. Grant. But time doesn't dim the magic of some names. And so they still like to beam at the bums on the Bowery, gawk at the law-abiding chop suey dens of Chinatown that the late O. O. McIntyre pictured full of slant-eyed opium addicts—and they like to go to Greenwich Village, hoping to see the mad, bad, Bohemian artists at play.

The passing of poor Max Bodenheim is only the irony of the death of a symbol. He came here out of the Chicago literary school, as did his arch rival, Ben Hecht, who co-authored "The Front Page," with Charles MacArthur, another Chicago newspaperman.

At one time they all were regarded as midwestern Bohemians. Then the roads went different ways. MacArthur married Helen Hayes after, so the legend, goes winning her heart by holding out some peanuts and saying, "I wish they were emeralds."

But both MacArthur and Hecht went on to hit the literary jackpot. Bodenheim never became popular. His life resolved itself, according to many critics, into a victory of alcoholism over a fine talent.

He settled in Greenwich Village and became a character in an out-of-date Bohemianism. He died of a .22 caliber bullet through the chest, and the saddest and perhaps the truest thing you can say of Maxwell Bodenheim is that the guy who pulled the trigger picked the right size gun to measure his final stature as a writer. Max pulled the trigger on his own life long ago, or at least on the promise he made to himself. And why he did it is his own secret, and our mystery.

John Masfield mopped a bar-room floor in Greenwich Village. O'Neill dreamed and loved and probably drank there. So did Edna Millay, Alexander Hamilton, Edgar Allan Poe, and a very eloquent living friend of mine named John Lardner, and a hundred talented others.

My wife and I, when young, lived for seven happy years next door to the home where once had dwelt Richard Harding Davis, the Ernie Pyle of his day, and three doors from the apartment house where Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt lived for a time, too. As a matter of fact, Ernie Pyle lived in Greenwich Village briefly, and was unhappy there.

Greenwich Village today is one of the nicest residential communities for some of the most solidly respectable people in America. It has a few of the finest restaurants in the land. It also has a few cheap tawdry night clubs that are a disgrace to it and the people who come there looking for "atmosphere."

They are tearing down Mark Twain's old home to put up a big apartment house. New York University, where Thomas Wolfe taught English by day and brooded and wrote by night, is gradually ringing Washington Square, the heart of Greenwich Village, and some oldtimers fear, turning it into a campus.

Real estate men say that one out of three young, eager, ambitious people who come to New York want to settle first in Greenwich Village. They seek inspiration and atmosphere, and being young, they think they can find it where other people they have heard of found these things before them.

But, accepting Greenwich Village as a symbol, did Maxwell Bodenheim ever find it, although he came here, lived here and died here? He became a Greenwich Village character for the tourists while the real Bohemians were enjoying Park Avenue.

The lesson of Bodenheim, certainly, is that the best address for a man's inspiration is his own mind, and that the home of any true artist is always his heart, where he really lives.

Can you become another Abraham Lincoln merely by moving to Springfield, Ill.?

Buckled in High Chair, Baby Perishes in Fire

KINGWOOD, W. Va., (AP)—Buckled to her high chair, 14-month-old Shirley Bessie Thomas perished yesterday in a fire which swept through a two-room house when her mother went out to feed the chickens.

Five other children, ranging in age from 4 months to 6 years, were carried or led to safety by the mother.

Wife's Lawyers Ask Roosevelt's Checks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Attorneys for Mrs. James Roosevelt are seeking to serve subpoenas on her husband, one calling for a deposition and the other requiring that he bring canceled checks to a court hearing next Monday.

The session will be a continuation of last Friday's hearing into Roosevelt's ability to meet his estranged wife's demands for $3,500 temporary support until trial of their separate maintenance suits. Arthur E. Schifferman, one of Mrs. Roosevelt's lawyers, said he is subpoenaing Roosevelt's canceled checks from July 1, 1953, through last Friday, for "strategic reasons." He did not elaborate.

In separate maintenance suits, James Roosevelt has charged extreme mental cruelty and his wife Romelle has accused him of infidelity.

Drunken Gunman's Victim Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dist. Atty. Ernest Roll says a murder complaint will be issued against Albert Markie, 35, in connection with a shooting spree last Wednesday.

Mrs. Juanita Simmons, 41, died in a hospital yesterday from wounds suffered when she was shot three times. Her father, Charles Piers, 80, and her father's nurse, George Lawless, 58, were wounded in the legs during the shooting in a small Hollywood hotel. Markie confessed the shootings to the Rev. Frederick Lamb Jr. in Wadsworth Veterans Hospital, where he fled and talked for two hours before handing his gun over to police.

Mrs. Simmons told police that Markie, formerly a nurse for her invalid father, was drunk and argumentative when he came to the hotel room.
