Northwest and West
Hit by Snowstorms;
2,000 Flee Flooding

By The Associated Press
Winds up to 100 miles an hour roared through Colorado today and caused extensive damage in the university city of Boulder. Two persons were hurt.

The winds blew off roofs, destroyed fences and knocked out power lines for several hours in Boulder and outlying areas.

One wall of the University of Colorado cyclotron building was blown down.

Jefferson Airport, east of Boulder, reported 100 m.p.h. winds. Denver also had high winds, but no damage was reported.

In Wyoming, a snowstorm moved into the western part of the state dropping up to 6 inches on some areas.

HUGE DRIFTS

High winds up to 70 m.p.h. piled up huge drifts. Highways were impassable in Hoback Canyon, Atlantic City and over the South Pass, south of Lander. Visibility was poor.

Farther northwest, huge snow slides closed several east-west routes across the Cascade Mountains as storms continued to batter across the West Coast from California to Washington.

The snow slides piled down on the Snoqualmie Pass highway near North Bend, Wash., but no one was hurt.

Tax Package No Present, Says County

Oakland County officials were wondering this morning if there really is a Santa Claus.

The Michigan State Tax Commission notified the County Equalization Department yesterday that local assessors must follow the commission's new assessment schedule for personal property in 1965.

The revised schedule, which increased depreciation allowances on industrial machinery and equipment, will take a healthy bite out of the county's estimated tax revenue for next year.

County officials are estimating a $25-million loss in state equalized valuation, resulting in a $1.5-million loss in estimated receipts.

County officials declined comment on the commission's announcement this morning.

ACCEPT SCHEDULE

The County Equalization Committee voted at a meeting this morning to accept the state schedule and advise county assessors on the new procedures. Oakland and several other counties, at the invitation of the commission, had submitted their own versions of a revised depreciation schedule that would have meant smaller losses of revenue.

The state's plan is designed to provide a "tax break" for Michigan industry, but it provides no means for counties, cities and school districts to recoup their losses.

CHARLES F. BROWN

Chamber Picks Slate of Officers

Charles F. Brown, Pontiac Division manager of Consumers Power Co., was elected president of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the board last night.

Brown, of 683 Lyndale, Avon Township, has been active in chamber of commerce activities since 1960, and was first vice president last year.

He has also been active with the Oakland County Planning Commission and the Oakland County Chapter, American National Red Cross.

Brown served as chairman of the industrial division of the 1964 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign.

OTHERS ELECTED

Other officers elected were: Kenneth S. Miller, assistant traffic manager of GM Truck & Coach Division, first vice president; William C. Dickinson of Dickinson's Men's Wear, second vice president; Gaylord L. Herrington, of Associates Discount Corporation, secretary; and Harold A. Cousins, City Beverage Company, Inc., treasurer.

Elected to the board for a two-year term to fill the unexpired term of Leslie Gillian, who has been transferred, was Ray Smith, manager of Kresge's Store at the Mall.

The new officers will be installed after the first of the year, according to Max T. Adams, manager of the chamber.

Purge Stymies Viet War Plans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The military purge of South Viet Nam's civilian government has stymied plans being worked out to extend the war against the Communist Viet Cong outside South Viet Nam, American officials said today.

The United States had made plans to step up aid to the Saigon government and for new measures against Communist infiltration. But these were contingent on the existence of a stable South Vietnamese regime.

American officials said that since the military dissolution Sunday of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's provisional legislature, a stable government has not existed and planning talks are indefinitely in abeyance.

The talks will resume only if the young generals who carried out the purge capitulate to the extent of creating some kind of legislature with real authority, the Americans said.

As factions of Vietnamese generals jockeyed for position, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh appeared today to have been ousted from command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

No talks of any kind were held today between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and ranking Vietnamese, civilian or military.

Since a one-hour meeting Sunday with four of the young generals, Taylor has had no direct contact with any of them.

POLITICAL PRISONERS

The U.S. mission has made even preliminary talks between the ambassador and the young generals contingent on the surrender to the custody of civilian officials of all political prisoners arrested Sunday.

All the prisoners were reported still in military hands today.

The situation in Saigon seemed to be slipping rapidly into chaos following the week-

Acting Road Chief Named

of Mackie's Duties

LANSING (AP)—Howard Hill, managing director of the State Highway Department since 1959, has been named acting director of the department — temporarily assuming some of the duties of Commissioner John Mackie.

The new State Highway Commissioner appointed Hill as acting director yesterday, to take office as soon as Mackie, highway commissioner since 1957, leaves.

Mackie said he expects to resign as the nation's last elected highway commissioner when he takes a seat as a congressman, Jan. 4, although the new Michigan Constitution allows him to finish out his present term, ending June 30.

Hill's appointment, designed to prevent disruption in the state's highway program, does not prevent his being selected permanent director, said Ardale Ferguson, commission chairman. But, he added, a talent search for a new director has not been called off either.

Hill, 57, is the department's former deputy director for engineering and former chief engineer for the Detroit District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

'WISE CHOICE'

Mackie called the selection of Hill "a wise choice."

"A lot of my concern (about an orderly transition in the department) has been resolved by this appointment," he said.

Thursday's prediction is little change.

To Develop Music Concept at Oakland U. in Summer

A new concept in music will be developed at Oakland University next summer, Walter S. Collins, dean of Oakland's newly formed Meadow Brook School of Music, revealed today in Detroit.

In its unique approach to training serious orchestral and choral students and conductors, Oakland will combine the capacities of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the university in four credit-granting sessions beginning July 6, 1965.

The first summer session will run through Aug. 14.

Six-week instrumental programs for orchestral students and conductors and four-week sessions for vocal students and directors will be scheduled to coincide with the distinguished Meadow Brook Music Festival launched to national acclaim by the university last summer.

Under the guidance of Oakland faculty, eminent Detroit Symphony musicians and visiting solo artists, students will be offered valuable musical experience with the opportunity of earning up to six hours of college credit.

Oakland has assembled potential forces for its new Meadow Brook School of Music.

TO DIRECT SCHOOL

Sixteen Ehrlich, Detroit Symphony conductor, has been appointed professor of music at the university and will be director of the summer school, OU Chancellor D. B. Varner reported.

Robert Shaw, founder of the celebrated chorale bearing his name and associate conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra, has been named director of the school's Institute for Choral Studies.

Albert Tipton, noted Detroit Symphony solo flutist and conductor, has been appointed assistant director of music and conductor of the student orchestra.

Instrumentalists will have the opportunity to study privately and perform in concert with members of the Detroit Symphony under Ehrlich's direction.

TO STUDY TECHNIQUES

In Shaw's new institute for choral studies, singers and conductors can study the techniques of choral music and perform the finest literature with the Detroit Symphony under his direction at formal concerts on the festival series.

Enrollment will be limited to 350 professional musicians, college students, graduate students and high school students who have completed their junior year.

License OK'd for Adult Show

Strippers Allowed in Waterford Lounge

Waterford Township Board members last night opened the door for floor show entertainment — including strippers — at the 300 Bowl.

Six of the seven board members voted to grant an entertainment license to the establishment at 100 S. Cass Lake. Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin cast the lone dissenting vote.

Seeterlin objected to the license because he felt "adult entertainment" was "out of place at the 300 Bowl which combines a bowling alley, billiard room, lounge and restaurant under one roof."

"I don't think we have enough police to enforce this type license," Seeterlin said. He maintained that "adult entertainment" should be offered only in a building to which minors have no access.

SHOWS BOOKED

Joseph Puertas, owner of the 300 Bowl, said he has several shows booked for the coming weeks but that no strip acts have been contracted.

"If we hear of a good stripper though, we'll hire her," Puertas added.

TFX Makes Successful Airborne Test

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The sleek fighter plane which figured in the stormy TFX debate successfully executed an airborne test yesterday although a minor malfunction cut short the maiden flight.

The supersonic F111, a multi-purpose craft commonly called the TFX, made a 21-minute test hop from Carswell Air Force Base and its brief performance brought praise from many quarters.

Citations came from both the Air Force and the Navy, for whom the swept-wing aircraft was designed.

The test was scheduled for 40 minutes but was cut in half because the two-man crew was unable to retract the plane's wing flaps after takeoff.

Project directors called the malfunction minor and said a second test would come in a week or 10 days.

Test pilot Richard L. Johnson and copilot Val E. Frahl flew the craft at a top speed of 220 miles per hour. Plans had called for a maximum speed of just under 350 m.p.h.

Worth, Tex., yesterday on its maiden flight. A minor malfunction cut the trial run to 21 minutes.

LBJ, McNamara, Generals

Defense Budget Eyed

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson went over the Defense Department budget today with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

McNamara and the military leaders of the Pentagon flew to the LBJ Ranch from Washington for final decisions on what gets how much in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Accompanying McNamara were Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs; Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff; Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations; Gen. Curtis

E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, and Gen. Wallace M. Greene, commander of the Marine Corps.

While the Texas White House didn't say so specifically, the military leaders presumably were brought along so they could appeal directly to the President to restore any Budget Bureau reductions in their requests for funds.

Dr. Donald Hornig, presidential assistant for science and technology, said today Johnson is "determined that we are going to maintain the leadership" in science and technology. Hornig has been sitting in on the budget conferences at the Johnson ranch.

Hornig said the government is spending about $15 billion a year, or about 15 per cent of the total budget, on science and technology.

"On the basis of anything published," Hornig said, this country is ahead of Russia in space. He also told newsmen at a briefing at press headquarters in Austin that the United States, on the basis of the present schedule, could place a man on the moon in this decade.

Replying to a question, Hornig said he does not favor establishing a Cabinet post for science. He explained he feels a diversity of approaches to scientific problems, including research projects in colleges and universities, provides a better way.

FEELS STRONGLY
Hornig reported that Johnson feels very strongly that there should be further geographical spreading of college and university research centers.

Defense spending accounts for about half of all federal outlays.

McNamara has predicted the defense budget will not exceed $50 billion and may even be a little less. This is about the same as in the current fiscal year and may determine whether Johnson holds spending for the year starting July 1 within the $100 billion mark.

Fourth Man Buried

3 Survive Mine Cave-In

WIKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Three of four men survived a cave-in at a coal mine. The fourth, buried under some 60 to 70 tons of coal more than 300 feet underground, was declared dead.

State mines officials said today workers would continue digging on a snow-swept mountain side near this eastern Pennsylvania community for the body of Lawrence Malachuk, 37, of nearby Plymouth.

TO KEEP DIGGING

They said workers would keep digging an underground tunnel in an effort to reach the body, a task they estimated would take several days. Malachuk was caught directly beneath Monday's rock fall, mines officials explained. The three others were some feet away.

Two of the men had been dragged to safety an hour after the cave-in and were reported in good condition at Wikes-Barre General Hospital with lacerations over most of their bodies. They were Albert Kotch, 42, of Lakesville and Anthony Salita, 59, of West Pittston.

PULLED TO SAFETY

The third man, Peter Byczkowski, 54, of Plymouth, was pulled to safety around midnight. He had been trapped for about 10 hours in the underground chamber.

Ed Schroder, a reporter for the Wikes-Barre Record, said Byczkowski was in good spirits and talked freely to his rescuers before being taken to the hospital. His condition was reported as fair, with an injured right leg and a fractured rib.

Describing the rescue operation, Leonard Stankiewicz, a union member of District 1, United Mine Workers of America, said "it was touch and go all night long."

HELPED OWN RESCUE

"When I first arrived in the mine we were about 20 to 45 feet from Pete. He was in good spirits. He didn't complain. As a matter of fact, he helped his own rescue," Stankiewicz said.

"While we prepared to take Pete from the mine, there was evidence of another movement. We quickly made Pete as safe as we could by placing some timber and bradshut work to protect him from another fall."

Roberts' Entry in Race Elates GOP Chiefs

The group includes Charles Lyle, Oakland County GOP chairman; Rep. Robert Waldron, Wayne County GOP chairman; John Cojens, 19th Congressional District GOP chairman; and Leonard Hippler and Mrs. Betty Jacobus, GOP leaders in the Livonia, Northville and Plymouth areas.

They announced in a statement that they are "concerned that citizens of the 14th Senatorial District be given the opportunity to elect someone of the same high caliber as Paul Chandler."

"We have discussed the announced candidacy of Farrell Roberts and found ourselves mutually elated to have a candidate of his background and qualifications in the race."

Roberts was a two-term senator from the old 18th District which was divided as a result of the reapportionment of the legislature.

UNSUCCESSFUL

In November he was an unsuccessful candidate for the new State Court of Appeals.

Chandler, who died of a heart attack on Dec. 12, was described by the group as "truly an outstanding man and a dedicated public servant."

His death leaves the district without representation until a special election is held on April 5. The district includes most of western Oakland County, a part of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville in Wayne County.

Robert D. Terry of 423 Parkdale, Rochester, was named an assistant vice president. He has been with the bank for eight years and is currently manager of the Auburn Heights office.

Brief Agenda for Commission

A brief agenda will confront city commissioners at their regular weekly session tonight.

In addition to several routine public hearings, the commission is slated to okay extension of the city's contract with Pontiac Transit Corp.

The agreement for local bus service will be extended 90 days, ending March 31, 1965.

The commission will also receive a resolution from the Orin Township Board.

Find Auto Near Site of $511,000 Robbery

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A stolen car that may have been used by bandits in the half-million dollar cash robbery of a bank panel truck has been recovered, police said today.

The car was found Monday night within a few blocks of the church rectory where the hold-up was staged in the morning by three masked men.

The vehicle had been reported stolen more than a month ago. Police Chief Marinus Ritter said.

Until now, two jackets, a pair of pants and a ski cap were the scant clues police had to work with. The car was impounded and being checked out, Ritter said.

NO DESCRIPTIONS

Police said they had no description of the men — except that they were white and, in the words of a witness "appeared to be past their youth."

The clothing, identified by the victims, was found lying on a road on the outskirts of this city 10 miles west of New York City.

The men, wearing Halloween masks, took over a church rectory during a church service, held four priests and a janitor at gunpoint, ambushed two bank messengers as they entered the rectory, and escaped with $511,000 in cash from the bank truck and $1700 in church funds.

Working swiftly and speaking rarely, the trio vanished less than half an hour after they drove up to the rectory adjoining St. Anthony's church about 8:45 a.m.

'Want No Pressure on Guard Hearing'

Find Auto Near Site of $511,000 Robbery

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney declared today he will not allow any public or private pressure to interfere with the hearing planned for two suspended National Guard officers.

The officers and Col. Versel Case were fired by Romney Oct. 8 after revelation of a National Guard land, money and liquor scandal. They were later reinstated and suspended. McDonald and Neifert are awaiting a formal hearing in front of the governor.

Monday, lame duck Sen. Joseph Smeekens, R - Coldwater, introduced in the Legislative Audit Commission a resolution declaring the officers were innocent of wrongdoing. Romney and Smeekens have often feuded.

FEELS OBLIGATION

Romney said it is his "public obligation" to conduct the hearings and take whatever steps are necessary to correct and prevent the irregularities revealed by the auditor general's investigation.

No criminal charges were involved.

The officers will not be ready to start next year. He said the delay is resulting from recent appointments of attorneys to prepare the charges.

The officers must have the charges for 20 days before the hearing can begin.

New Zoning Rule Aid to Luxury Apartments

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission last night opened the way for the development of luxury apartments near the central business district.

By a 5-2 vote, the commission amended its R-7 multiple dwelling zoning code to encourage the construction of four- and in some cases, five-story buildings within walking distance of downtown.

The properties affected by the change generally are bounded by Merrill, Southfield, Brown and Henrietta.

Opposed to the plan, submitted by the Planning Board after a two-year study, were commissioners Carl Ingraham and David Breck. Ingraham said he felt the area was best suited for row housing.

According to City Plan Director William R. Brownfield, the revised classification will give incentive to developers to build larger apartments, while maintaining existing densities.

MORE EXISTED

The new requirements will allow a developer with a 20,000-square-foot lot to build a four-story apartment building with 15 1,200-square-foot units. Under the former ordinance, only eight such units were permitted.

An apartment can be developed only on a lot of 8,000 square feet or more under the new formula. However, when a lot in the district contains between 4,000 and 8,000 square feet, a two-family use will be permitted.

Any development proposed for a lot containing over 8,000 square feet will be subject to "site plan approval" of the planning board.

The purpose of site plan approval is to provide flexibility in the placement and interrelationship of the buildings.

EXTRA ALLOWED

While the revised zoning ordinance will only permit the construction of four-story apartments, the planning board has the power to allow one additional lot floor to provide for off-street parking at ground level.

The change in the zoning ordinance came after a one-week delay requested by the commission to allow the planning board to write minimum side and rear setback requirements into the proposal.

Originally the board was going to use its discretion in determining these factors after a thorough study of each proposed development.

The minimum setbacks now begin at eight feet for a one-story building and are graduated up to 16 feet for a five-story building.

Leone Surges to Lead in Italy

Victory Seen Possible in Presidential Vote

ROME (UPI) — Neapolitan lawyer Giovanni Leone surged toward possible future victory in the Italian presidential elections today as the parliament cast its 11th ballot to select a chief of state.

Warring factions of the Christian Democratic party finally pulled together and Leone polled 382 votes, 100 short of the majority he needs to succeed alighting Antonio Segni as president.

Leone's previous high in seven days of voting was 319, received in the first day of balloting last Monday. It appeared that he could win in a later vote of the 963 deputies gathered for a joint session of parliament.

Voting was to continue later today (at 11 a.m., Pontiac time).

The Christian Democrats, chief party in the center-left coalition government of Premier Aldo Moro, began to unite early today when former Premier Amintore Fanfani withdrew his candidacy.

Another dissident Christian Democrat, Giulio Pastore, also withdrew. It appeared that votes from minority parties might fall to Leone, bringing him victory in Italy's longest and bitterest presidential election.

CHIEF CHANCE

His chief chance for victory would be to gain the support of the Socialists and Social Democrats. Support could come from the Neo-Fascists on the other end of the political spectrum.

Communist candidate Umberto Terracini ran second in the 11th ballot, with 252 votes. Socialist Pietro Nenni was third with 98.

Fatal Shooting Ruled Accident

The fatal shooting of an Independence Township man by his stepson has been ruled as accidental by Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard.

Judge Barnard dismissed any action against Daniel F. Goley, 16, following a hearing in Juvenile Court yesterday.

After hearing testimony, Judge Barnard said there was no basis for a charge to be brought against the boy.

Goley shot and killed Jesse Lyons, 43, during a family argument in their home at 9905 M-15 on Dec. 1.

Judge Barnard said that the shooting was not deliberate and that the rifle Goley was holding discharged when he was struck by Lyons.

The newspaper charged the minimum weekly wage as stipulated by the agricultural wages board for the "eight maids a-walking," went to the musicians union for the wages of "twelve drummers drumming" and estimated "a fair price for a troupe of 11 dancing girls" at $22.

No Sign of Life in Aleutian Debris

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The wreckage of a freighter has been discovered in the storm-swept Aleutian Islands, but searchers have been unable to find any of its 32 crewmen and four lifeboats.

The 521-foot Liberian vessel San Patrick, bound for Japan with a load of grain, went aground Thursday on a reef off Ulaik Island 120 miles west of Adak.

The 10,000-ton converted tanker, manned initially by a crew from Spain, left Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 9 for Yokohama.

Three SOS distress calls were sent from her Thursday night, saying she was aground in a storm with waves 20 to 30 feet high, blown by wind of more than 40 knots.

RACES TO SCENE

The Teshhuo Maru, a Japanese ore carrier, raced to the scene, and the Navy tug Tawakoni from Adak joined the search, but they found nothing.

An oil slick and pieces of lumber which might have come from a ship were found two days later.

Sunday the pilot of a Navy search plane reported seeing the "badly battered" wreckage. A search for survivors centered in islands northwest of Ulaik. Lifeboats would have drifted in that direction if they were launched.

KEPT SECRET

Nothing about the plight of the ship was made public by the Navy and Coast Guard until the Alaska agent for Lloyd's of London tipped the Anchorage Times Monday.

Captain Left Vessel After Futile Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — For more than 24 hours after most of his crew had abandoned ship, the captain of the American freighter Smith Voyager battled to keep her afloat in the turbulent Atlantic.

There was little he could do for his 7,000-ton vessel, however, so Capt. Frederick W. Mohle took to a rescue ship Monday with three crewmen who had stood at his side.

The 450-foot ship, its hull cracked at the seam under the pressure of a shifting grain cargo, wallowed atop 2,000 fathoms of white-capped water Monday, 780 miles southeast of Bermuda. Mohle was still at the scene, watching from the Coast Guard cutter Rockaway and refusing to give up hope that his vessel could be saved. A tug on the way to try to tow her and her 10,000-ton cargo to port wasn't expected to arrive until Thursday.

WERE RESCUED

Four members of the 42-man crew died and 34 were rescued by a German freighter Sunday after Mohle's order to abandon ship.

True to the tradition of the sea, on which he has spent more than 40 of his 59 years, the German-born skipper had stayed with his ship. So did his third mate and two seamen.

Mohle's wife, Elly, 54, commented from their home in Queens: "It's what he felt he had to do. A captain stays with his ship. He wouldn't leave as long as there was a chance." The Rockaway radioed its New York headquarters that the Smith Voyager was adrift but "in condition to revive" if it could withstand the 15 to 18-foot waves through Monday night and if the seas subsided. She was listing badly.

The German freighter Mathilde Bollen steamed toward Puerto Rico with the 34 survivors and the bodies of the four who died. She was expected in San Juan Wednesday night.

The Rockaway messaged that Mohle and his three crewmen were taken from the Smith Voyager in a 26-foot rowboat as the freighter lurched in winds of 30 knots.

The rowboat was damaged and some of the cutter's crew received bruises in the transfer operation, the Rockaway said. Mohle also received bruises which were reported as "not serious but very painful."

3 Escaped Lions Killed in Australia

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI) — Police armed with hunting rifles shot and killed two lions and a lioness which escaped from a circus cage here last night and killed their keeper.

A third lion was prodded back into the cage by Michael O'Connell, the lion tamer who owns the circus.

The big cats escaped sometime last night, apparently because keeper George Herzel — the man they killed — decided to throw their food directly into the cage instead of using a safety-trapdoor feeding system.

In Washington, D.C., a spokesman for the Coast Guard said the position of the vessel given in its original distress message varied from a position given by the ship's agent in New York. He said that raised a question of whether there really was a ship in distress in the Aleutians.

He said bad weather delayed an air search.

A spokesman for C. Gardner Johnson Ltd., Vancouver agents for the freighter, said a man who came to the Canadian city from Yugoslavia eight years ago, stayed six years and applied for Canadian citizenship before moving on was an engineer on the vessel. He would not identify the crewman.

CONVERTED SHIP

The San Patrick, registered to the Manor Investment Co. of Monrovia, Liberia, and operated by the Westland Marine Corp., New York, was on her first voyage since being converted to a bulk carrier. The vessel, which carried the name Good Hope when she was a tanker, was carrying 19,000 tons of grain and Canadian cattle feed when she left Vancouver.

On Troy Apartments

Rezoning Request Denied

TROY—The City Commission has denied a rezoning request which would have made a new apartment construction project possible just south of the K-mart at Livernois and Maple.

A request for rezoning from industrial to multiple dwelling classification for a 20-acre parcel was turned down at last night's special meeting, following a public hearing.

Detroit developer Herman

Ross had asked for the change in zoning so that he could build crescent-shaped apartment buildings on the land.

Ross told the commissioners at a previous meeting that he was ready to start building Jan. 1 if his rezoning request were approved.

Approval had been recommended by the planning commission in a 4-1 vote, with several abstentions.

APPARENTLY RELUCTANT

The city commissioners were apparently reluctant to decrease the amount of land zoned for industry, which would have been the case if the Ross request had been granted.

Further general discussion of zoning in the area south of the K-mart will take place at next week's regular meeting.

In other action, Troy's first City Pension Board was appointed, to administer the pension plan for city employees.

The commission selected commissioner Wallace B. Hudson and Ben Jones to serve on the board.

In accordance with the city charter, City Manager Paul York appointed Troy Finance Director Kenneth L. Courtney and Chief Building Inspector Frederick Stanley to board positions.

The fifth board seat is occupied by the city manager.

The old police radar unit, which has been out of order for some time, will be replaced with a new one as a result of commission action.

The commissioners authorized the taking of bids for the new unit, expected to cost about $1,200.

BEST DECORATED—The Anthony Grech home at 3660 Thienken, Avon Township, 1st night was selected as the winner of the 1964 Home Decorating Contest sponsored by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce. Almost every theme of Christmas is used in the display, only a portion of which is shown here. Set up on the broad expanse of front yard are a church, choir boys and organ, open Bible, Nativity scene, lighted grotto and trees, and Santa, his elves and reindeer. Second place honors went to the Basil Eaglings, 2073 Wallon, and third to the Arthur Lamberts, 4252 Collins.

Home Winner of Yule Prize

Clarkston Area Has Decoration Contest

CLARKSTON—First prize in the annual outdoor Christmas decoration contest was awarded to R. T. Novotny, 6294 Snow Apple, Independence Township. Judging in the contest sponsored by the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce took place Saturday night. Awards were announced yesterday.

More than 500 residences were judged, according to contest chairman Gordon Spelberg.

Tied for second place in the competition were last year's winner, Jerry Dark of 53 Robertson Court and his neighbor, Charles Robinson, of 40 Robertson Court.

The third prize went to Henry Brendle, 8809 Lakeview, Independence Township.

YEAR'S TROPHY

As the 1964 winner, Novotny will receive possession of a trophy until next year's champion is crowned. He also won a $25 gift certificate.

Second place winners earned $15 certificates and a $10 certificate was the third prize.

See Increase in '65 Winter Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department yesterday estimated the 1965 winter wheat crop, planted this fall for harvest next summer, will total 1,042,056,000 bushels.

The prospective crop next year compares with 1,024,888,000 bushels of winter wheat produced in 1964 and a 1959-63 average production of 996,560,000 bushels.

If the spring wheat crop reaches 200,000,000 bushels, the total 1965 wheat crop would be about 1,242,056,000 bushels.

Combined winter-spring wheat production in 1964 was 1,230,468,000 bushels.

Under present farm law, the 1965 wheat crop will be grown under a program calling for reduced production.

Used Fire Training to Aid Trapped Man

Clarkston Area Has Decoration Contest

DETROIT (UPI)—Anthony H. Barraco's first thought when he saw the burning building was that there might be children trapped by the flames.

Barraco, the father of two sons and a daughter, was on his way to the movies Sunday with his wife when he saw the fire in a two-story building on the city's West Side.

Calling on his training as chief of fire prevention at the Ford tractor plant in Highland Park, Barraco ran to the rear of the building and tried to enter by breaking windows.

Then he heard someone screaming. He looked up and saw Hector Diaz, 36, outlined through an upstairs window. His hair was on fire and his T-shirt was in flames.

Barraco coaxed Diaz to come

Church Slates Yule Services

ROCHESTER—Two services are planned at St. Philip's Episcopal Church to mark the Christmas holidays.

On Christmas Eve there will be a festival celebration of Holy Communion with music and sermon, starting at 11 p.m. Church rector, Rev. Wilbur R. Schultze, will preach, assisted by Rev. Ralph Lee of Birmingham.

On Christmas Day the communion will be celebrated at 10 a.m. with a sermon by the rector and special music.

Yule Pageant Set in White Lake Twp.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—A Christmas pageant following the theme "Beside Thy Cradle, Here I Stand" will be presented Sunday night at Christ of the Lakes Lutheran Church.

Children from all Sunday school classes at the church will participate in the 7 p.m. program.

A Christmas Eve communion service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the church, 9101 Highland.

CAUGHT HIM

Barraco then said he coaxed Diaz into jumping and caught him in his arms.

He used his body to smother the flames in Diaz's hair and clothes.

By that time firemen arrived and Barraco told them to go to the second floor where another person was screaming.

Pedro Garcia, 46, was found alive and Pedro Villa, 36, was dead.

DIED OF BURNS

Garcia died last night in Receiving Hospital of his burns.

Diaz, a friend of the two men whose home he was visiting, was reported in critical condition.

Firemen said a carelessly discarded cigarette was apparently the cause of the fire.

UTICA—There's a relatively new agriculture industry "mushrooming" in the Utica area.

A group of 13 farmers are engaged in large scale commercial production of mushrooms.

While a number of the growers have been producing mushrooms for more than a decade, the entire industry has recently grown by leaps and bounds.

"Production of no other agriculture commodity in our country has made the phenomenal growth seen in this relatively new industry," says Jack Prescott, director, Macomb County Cooperative Extension Service.

Annual production 15 years ago amounted to only 400,000 pounds. The 1964 output will be 5.5 million pounds, enough to rank Michigan fourth among the states for mushroom production.

SEES INCREASE

Prescott believes production will undoubtedly increase by another million pounds next year, thanks to better management practices.

'Intruder' Asks for Jury Trial

Wants Romney to Appear as Witness

LANSING (AP)—Charles P. English, committed as mentally ill after invading Gov. George Romney's office with a loaded gun and a knife last May, asked Monday for a jury in a new trial.

English, appearing at a pre-trial hearing, said he wants the governor to appear as a witness in the circuit court jury trial.

Because of a crowded court calendar, the new trial probably will not be held for several months, said John Dethmers, assistant Ingham County prosecutor.

English, 37, formerly of Miami and Bogota, Colombia, was seized by a state police bodyguard when he barged into Romney's inner office. The governor was not hurt.

UNDERCOVER AGENT

English said at the time he wanted to talk to Romney about funding for President with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a running mate. He also claimed to be an undercover agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Central Intelligence Agency. Both federal agencies disclaimed him.

English was found mentally ill last May by Probate Judge James Kallman and was ordered committed to the Kalamazoo State Hospital. Two psychiatrists testified English was mentally ill and in need of hospital care and treatment.

'Yule Look' Is Worth $25 Bond

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP—For having a house that "just looked like Christmas," the L. E. Leiblers were awarded a $25 savings bond by the Davisburg Jaycee Auxiliary last night.

Judges gave the first prize in the group's decorating contest to the Leiblers' ranch house at 10602 Bigelow.

They found the house and four large windows in it outlined with multicolor lights. A handmade net wreath is in the center of the windows.

Greeting holiday visitors on the front door is a large Santa Claus.

Lights trim a tree in the front yard and the interior one visible from the road. Judges noted that even the kitchen curtains feature a Christmas theme.

CASH AWARDS

Cash awards were presented to the second place winners, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Farmer of 12797 Andersville, and those in third place, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pierce, 8245 Tindall.

Honorable mentions went to A. J. Turner, Ed Wright, William Criger, H. H. Erickson, Shirley Wallis, James Halsey and Bruce Banks.

Judges for the contest, initiated this year, were Township Supervisor John L. Carey, Margaret Samuel of 794 Broadway and Mrs. William Wilson of 974 Davisburg.

They spent about three hours last night touring the township in search of winners.

River Body Identified

GROSSE ILE (AP)—Police have identified a body recovered from the Detroit River near here as that of George L. Walker, 62, of Southgate. The body was recovered Monday.

Dryden Okays Bond Issue to Finance Fund Addition

DRYDEN—Thanks to 183 voters in the Dryden School District, the Dryden School will have a new look this time next year, and a new capacity.

The electorate turned out in light numbers yesterday to approve a $875,000 bond issue to finance an addition to the present facilities.

The final vote was 183-55, with about one-third of the qualified voters in the district casting ballots.

Schools Supt. Fred W. Patterson said that it was hoped construction on the addition could begin early in the spring, and "we're hoping we can get it into next September."

Requires a 4-mill ($4 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation) levy for financing, the net increase to district residents is expected to be only 2 mills.

CUT NET INCREASE

This is because retirement of a 1964 bond issue and a reduction of rates on a 1957 bonded debt will cut the net increase over present rates.

Current school tax levies amount to 14.35 mills, the lowest of any high school district in Lapeer County.

The addition will provide 10 classrooms, including kindergarten.

North Branch Senior Wins DAR Award

NORTH BRANCH—Candice Ryder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryder, 4369 Ward, has been chosen DAR Citizen at North Branch High school.

Candice is a member of the National Honor Society, is secretary of her senior class, co-editor of the school paper and a member of the senior play staff. Her other activities also have included membership in the psychology club.

Three other Cox children, Elbert Jr., 15; Frank, 14, and Thomas, 8, were saved when a young Elbert tied together sheets and lowered the two younger boys to the ground. Elbert then jumped.

The children's mother, Marie, 35, was reported in critical condition at Holy Cross Hospital with burns and cuts received when she smashed through a downstairs window.

The father, Elbert Sr., 40, was returning home from his second job as a part-time taxi driver when the flames broke out.

Cash pledges amounting to almost $1,000 have been made to the surviving members of the family. Also given have been clothing, furniture and the temporary use of an apartment.

Two Killed in Crash Northwest of Vassar

VASSAR (AP)—Faith M. Brown, 26, of Flint, and Herbert D. Rigby, 31, of Amherst, Ohio, were killed today when the car in which they were riding ran into a ditch about two miles northwest of this Tuscola County community.

Police said the auto went into a 12-foot deep drainage ditch.

School Official Is Promoted

Walled Lake Names Acting Superintendent

WALLED LAKE—Rolland J. Langerman, assistant superintendent of Walled Lake schools since 1967, has been appointed acting superintendent.

Langerman was named at a special school board meeting last night to head the district following Langerman's resignation of Clifford H. Smart, effective Dec. 31.

Smart, superintendent for 19 years, resigned after being elected to the Michigan House of Representatives from the 9th District.

Langerman, 43, was born and educated in Birmingham. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from Eastern Michigan University in 1943.

After graduation, he served for the remainder of World War II as an Air Force captain in the Pacific.

MASTER'S DEGREE

Having earned a master's degree in physical education administration from the University of Michigan, Langerman took his first teaching job in 1947 with the Walled Lake School System.

For six years he coached track at Walled Lake High School and in 1953 was named assistant junior high school principal. He became principal in 1954.

As assistant superintendent, Langerman's areas of responsibility have been transportation, new construction, buildings and grounds, elections, supervision of maintenance and custodial employees and the employment of certified personnel.

Langerman, his wife Mary and their 12-year-old son Donald live at 1185 Wabasha.

CHURCH TRUSTEE

The acting superintendent is a trustee of the Walled Lake Methodist Church.

His other memberships include the Michigan Education Association, the Association of School Business Officials of America, Michigan School Business Officials Association, the Oakland County School Business Officials Association and the Association for School Personnel Administrators.

SLEEPING VAGRANT — Harassed by tourists, police and climate, the Paris vagrant pursues his own way of life. For these vagabonds, known as clochards, the Christmas season is a special time of the year.

Christmas Is Special to Tramps in Paris

PARIS (NEA) — Yes, it's Christmas time for the Paris clochards, too.

What is a clochard? He is a vagabond, a displaced person from society — in short, a bum. But a special kind of bum.

While his counterparts elsewhere in the world sleep by railroad tracks and factories, the clochard of Paris sleeps under the mighty bridges of the Seine, with historic Notre Dame Cathedral and the Louvre Museum as a backdrop.

Harassed by police, camera-carrying tourists and the great enemy winter, the clochard pursues his way of life with dedication.

Not all of them are old. Some younger men have chosen the life of a tramp perhaps to escape the regimentation of factory or in reaction to the severity of military service.

No exact figures are available. Estimates place the clochard population of the French capital at from 10,000 to 30,000.

CHRISTMAS
For the past few decades Christmas has had a special meaning for these men — and women.

With funds provided from street collections by the Salvation Army, the Red Cross, the Catholic Aid Society and other private organizations, hundreds of clochards are served a bountiful midnight supper on Christmas Eve.

Students of all nationalities dole out the thick hot soup, the yards of bread and garlic sausage, washed down by rivers of red wine — the food and drink they most appreciate.

All are set up on long tables under the bridge of Sainte Genevieve.

NO INVASION
At any other time the clochards will not tolerate an invasion into their privacy and anonymity, even when offered enough to buy a bottle of wine.

The curious tourist or social worker is most often rebuffed with a string of oaths.

Charitable organizations are taboo. To these people outside aid implies a degrading hostel bed, a bath, an alcohol cure and the offer of a steady job.

One of the habits of the Pont Sainte Genevieve has "furnished" his particular spot with a derelict sofa and a couple of springless easy chairs.

UPTURNED CRATE

He holds "open house" once or twice a month and thoughtfully provides empty cans. His guests are expected to bring their own red wine.

Visitors consider the clochards a picturesque sidelight of Gay Paris. But the Parisians prefer that this 1964 throwback to the medieval "Devil's Kitchen" did not exist.

Some politicians have suggested that the condition of "clochard" be outlawed.

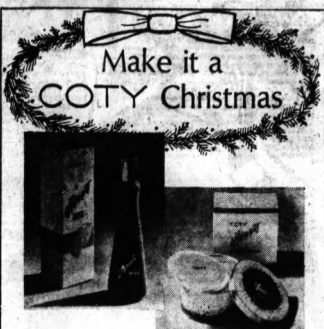

FRENCH TELEVISION
Last summer French television transported two clochards to Biarritz, the swanky resort, to appear in a film.

They were housed in a de luxe hotel, given Bermuda shorts for the beach, tuxedos for the Casino and introduced to golf.

Their comments afterward amounted to: "It was fun while it lasted, but we were mighty glad to get back to our favorite street."

Christmas Tree Charm Should Not Bode Harm

Don't let that seasonal symbol of joy and spiritual goodwill—the Christmas tree—become a realistic source of danger or tragedy.

Each yuletide, many fires spring from thoughtless procedure with the trees—be they natural or artificial.

Fire-prevention authorities warn against locating trees where their lights will overload electrical circuits, and in the same breath admonish us never to leave a tree unattended without disconnecting its light cord at the outlet.

Other practices recommended to spare potential heartache are:

- Don't string lights on artificial (metal) trees.

- Natural trees should be sprayed with fireproofing liquid when setting up, and tree stands kept fully filled with water. A dried-out tree is many times the hazard of a moist one.

- Dispose of all paper wrappings from presents immediately. Paper is one of the fastest burning and hottest combustible materials, and an accumulation of it—however temporary—is a real and unnecessary risk.

Another fire precaution, not exclusively related to Christmas, is urged by Fire Marshal Charles Metz of the local fire department. It is to put the number of your local department in a place of ready reference for fire-emergency use.

The marshal concedes that quick contact can usually be made merely by dialing "0," but points out that in a couple of recent cases precious moments were lost because telephone traffic was unusually heavy at the time and there was operator delay in answering the "0" dial.

Attention to these simple and easily-observed rules of safety will insure that your Christmas will indeed be a merry, not a sorry, one.

U. S. Faced With Need to Jack Up Coin Stock

Storm warnings on the worsening silver crisis have become almost as common as weather reports. Economists and precious metal experts have proposed remedies ranging from reducing the silver content of coins to outright substitution of other metals.

Steelage magazine points out that stainless steel has served well for several governments since 1939 and might be worth considering for U. S. coinage.

Costa Rica, France, Italy, Albania, Turkey and Vatican City have found that steel coins sustain hard wear and retain their brilliance.

While there is a divergence of opinions of what to do, there is general agreement that silver shortage has, unlike a coin, three sides:

- The shortage of silver coins—dimes, quarters and half dollars—which are being minted fast enough to meet the needs of the growing U. S. economy.

- The fast-dwindling government stockpile of silver.

- The inadequate supply of both domestic and world supply of new silver.

An official of a precious metal and fabricating firm recently called for the minting of coins without silver. He pointed out that at the present rate of use, the U. S. Treasury's stocks of silver, now about 1.4 billion ounces, would be exhausted within a few years.

"This year alone," he said, "about 215 million ounces of silver will be used for minting coins in the U. S. Industry consumed another 110 million ounces in 1962. But annual domestic silver production of 40 million ounces is only enough to cover about one-eighth of the total national needs."

Supply is no problem with stainless steel. In addition, steel is durable and economical, with low intrinsic value. Silver, on the other hand, has recently risen in price and is in greater demand for photographic materials, sterling ware, dental supplies, electrical and space application.

Like most problems, we expect this one of coinage will be solved. But it could be in such form as to make observance of the old warning "Don't take any wooden nickels," a costly practice.

LBJ Can Enjoy This Christmas

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—President Johnson couldn't have a much better Christmas. He has everything going for him.

There's no crisis in sight. He has four years as president ahead. The country is prosperous. His own Democrats, in control of Congress, outnumber the Republicans tremendously. Worse than that for his position, the decimated Republicans are even divided on where they go from here.

The Russians, having scuttled Nikita Khrushchev, are trying to get acquainted to being without him, but the Red Chinese are just as mad at them as they were at Khrushchev.

Johnson made so few promises in the election campaign he is free to go in almost any direction now, and by self-peddling what he has in mind he has saved himself from criticism before he gets started.

Although the United States is the strongest military power on earth, the NATO allies are disagreeing among themselves but they have been doing that quite a while and Johnson can not be blamed for it.

MUCH OF THE CREDIT
In fact, if they start getting along soon, he will probably get much of the credit since, instead of baring into the differences, he presents himself as the spreader of oil on troubled waters.

Even the civil rights turmoil has subsided a bit. And, thanks to the Supreme Court's approval of the ban on discrimination in places like hotels and restaurants, one big cause of trouble has had much of the sting taken out.

Johnson would like to keep the budget for next year below $100 billion, and he will be working at it on his Texas ranch this week, getting ready to present his figures to Congress in January.

But even here if he cannot reach the desired figure, a storm is unlikely because he has already done such a good job of creating an image of himself as a penny-pincher.

HOW TO HANDLE PRESS
True, he does not seem to have figured out yet how to handle the press. He has been trying it every which way: in big news conferences announced ahead of time; in peripatetic conferences with a handful of reporters on the White House lawn; or in his office with small, select groups of newsmen who can report what he says so long as they do not say he said it.

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Talk Seems to Ignore Voter

WASHINGTON—Most of the dialogue going on now among Republicans as to how to reshape their party seems to ignore the moods and desires of the American voter.

A lot of talk is being heard, for example, about a "positive" program or platform, the assumption being that every LAWRENCE thing that's "negative" is bad.

Yet the simple truth is that the American voter often wants to express his negative attitude in a more positive way than moderates or middle-of-the-roads seem to realize.

Likewise, a campaign that is confined to clichés and the language of the highbrow and the intellectual becomes neither positive nor negative but simply incomprehensible to the voter himself.

The average man is interested in the retention of his job, in higher income, in better living conditions, in education for his children, and in keeping out of war.

Under these circumstances, those who would reorganize the Republican party will be wasting time if they confine themselves to such words as "exclusionary" or "extremism" or "moderation" or even "positive" or "negative."

They would be better advised to go to some book of simplified English for words to tell the voter what they intend to do is to enable him to get higher wages, to make it possible for his dollar to buy more than ever before, to build more and better roads, to win the war against crime and render the city streets safe again, to provide tuition grants to educate all children in both public and private schools, to build an armament program that will require fewer and fewer soldiers and depend more and more on apparatus, and to make sure that our defense is sufficient to deter any enemy and keep us out of war.

LOTS OF PLATITUDES
There are lots of platitudes which haven't been used in a long time, but in previous campaigns have been successful.

But, above all, the program of a political party cannot resemble the thesis written to attain a master's degree in one of the Ivy League Universities.

Nigeria, New Africa's Keystone

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Year-end elections, the first in five years, could have an important effect on the value of the United States dollar.

This relatively sturdy rocky, whose $5 million a year, plus receiving other benefits from the United States would "discuss" the old treaty or negotiate. Panama has benefited from the canal, through subsidiary income, to the tune of about $65 million a year, plus receiving other benefits from the United States would "discuss" the old treaty or negotiate. Panama has benefited from the canal, through subsidiary income, to the tune of about $65 million a year, plus receiving other benefits from the United States would "discuss" the old treaty or negotiate.

As the United States investigates the possibilities of sea-level canals in Panama, Colombia, Nicaragua and Nicaragua, Costa Rica these are lessons that must be borne in mind.

In the elections called to fill 312 seats in Nigeria's lower house, two major coalitions of parties are arrayed in what could prove to be a close fight. Most of the individual parties have a strongly regional base in a nation with sharp regional and ethnic divisions.

Caught up though it is in the confusions of an ardent campaign, Nigeria nevertheless speaks dramatically in the United Nations in opposition to 18 lesser African states which, in strident racist tones, lashed the U.S.-Belgian air rescue of beleaguered whites and blacks from the Congo.

Voice of the People:

'Parents Should Enforce Curfew for Teen-agers'

Recently a teen-age girl knocked on our door at three a.m. and asked if we would call the police to take her home because her date refused to. We live in Pontiac Township and the Pontiac police told us to call the Oakland County Sheriff. The Oakland County Sheriff informed us to call the police because the girl lived in Pontiac. Finally, the State police were called and took the girl home.

Where is our protection if anything should happen to us or our teen-agers? It is my firm belief that concerned parents should enforce a curfew for their teen-agers.

'Drivers Do Not Heed One-Way Streets'

Construction of Wide Track has necessitated limiting Cass and Lafayette to one-way traffic as they lead to and from the loop road. A few irresponsible citizens are driving in the wrong direction on these one-way streets. Apparently they believe the convenience and time gained by disobeying the law taken precedence over the safety and rights of other fellow citizens. Let us exercise responsibility instead of manslaughter.

RESPONSIBILITY

'Let's Remember Our Letter-Carriers'

In reply to "Just Concerned" regarding Christmas mail, we must remember that mail carriers are trying to make a living and the pay is quite low. They must be experts at decoding the names and addresses on many envelopes and deliver the mail regardless of the weather.

We all receive mail that is of no consequence but an attempt must be made to deliver it. Our carriers put up with dogs chasing and biting at them, rescue children from all sorts of tragedies and aid the senior citizens whenever necessary.

A POSTMAN'S WIFE

Reader Says We Should Face Realities

Mr. Christenson's amateur psychoanalysis (without facts) of Daniel DeLeon makes one wonder how he'd classify Abe Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Edison and many others whose contributions to our society are still being enjoyed.

He further speaks of our high standards of living under capitalism. If he'd face reality he'd find that some of our old people are dusting off their pennies to pay taxes on homes they worked a lifetime to acquire. He'd find we have elderly people and children burning to death in firetraps. He'd know we have a poverty program in progress in the land of plenty. Why?

Our divorce and crime rates are at all-time high. Our mental health care is questionable. Where does this leave our sons who are forever fighting and dying for our way of life? Daniel DeLeon lit the candle but there's none so blind as one who will not see.

'What Was the Cost of Christmas News?'

How much did it cost to bring us the good news of Christmas? Christ was born in a manger—how low that is. God entered the life of man in order that man might find new life in God. If he is to be born in our lives, how much lower He would have to stoop. If we really want to get ready for Christmas we will have to clean our spiritual house for a special guest. We are not ready for Christmas until we can celebrate Him as being born in our own hearts.

Would Supervise Federal Programs

Hubert Studying Need for New Rights Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who will coordinate federal civil rights efforts after he becomes vice president next month, says he hopes to know within 10 days whether the job will require creation of a new supervisory agency.

Humphrey said in an interview that he is conducting "a very detailed study" of existing federal programs in an effort to see how best to "assure prompt and direct action to those whose civil rights have been denied."

He meets today with Justice

Department officials who have played a key role during the past few years in government efforts to bar discrimination in such areas as education and voting.

Humphrey said he met Monday with Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, and earlier with officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and a number of sub-Cabinet officials.

CLOSE RELATION

Shriver's office, which seeks to implement what President Johnson has called a "War on Poverty," is closely related to civil rights, Humphrey said, because "the elimination of poverty will help greatly in relieving the social tensions that cause civil rights problems."

Since President Johnson designated him Dec. 10 to coordinate all administration programs in the civil rights field, Humphrey has been working mainly with his own staff in reviewing existing programs.

The Minnesota senator said he was "extremely pleased and gratified" that Burke Marshall, the retiring assistant attorney general for civil rights, has agreed to be a consultant. Humphrey called Marshall "the outstanding expert in the country" in the civil rights field.

Marshall resigned as assistant attorney general last Friday, saying that the policy focus of federal civil rights efforts in general "should not be in my judgment any longer rest in the Department of Justice."

REPORT ON STUDY

Humphrey said he expects to report to President Johnson on his study by Jan. 1.

The agencies that he will coordinate include the Justice Department's civil rights division; the Civil Rights Commission; the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Employment and Housing; the Community Relations Service in the Commerce Department; and the soon-to-be created Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Besides coordinating federal agencies, Humphrey said he would work with state and local officials.

"We want to be sure we're doing all we can to improve the administration of the law and to make sure it's not arbitrary," Humphrey said. He said he was particularly concerned with the need for "uniformity of pattern, regulation and administration."

CLOSE WATCH

Humphrey said a close watch was under way on compliance with the 1964 rights law, which granted the government broad new powers to halt discrimination in education, voting, public accommodations and public facilities and employment.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said Monday in a telephone interview from Debary, Fla., that he plans to discuss with other GOP congressional chiefs the need for a methodical check on civil rights enforcement.

Referring to the prediction by LeRoy Collins, director of the Community Relations Service, that more racial violence could be expected this summer, Humphrey said he hopes to avoid such situations by working in advance to relieve racial tensions.

CHRISTMAS
DECORATIONS5812 HIGHLAND RD. (M59)
Just East of Pontiac Airport Phone OR 3-7147Spirit of Santa Claus Lives On for Virginia

By DAVE HARRISON
NORTH CHATHAM, N.Y. (AP) — Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas, whose childhood question has become nearly as much of the Christmas spirit as holly and mistletoe, celebrates her 78th Christmas this year — the 67th since she asked the New York Sun "Is there a Santa Claus?"

That question undoubtedly has been raised about as many times as 7-year-olds have become worldly 8-year-olds. But it is doubtful whether any parent ever answered better than Francis P. Church in his editorial reply.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus," the editorial said. "He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist. . . . Alas, how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerance this existence. . . . The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished."

SILVER-HAIRED WIDOW
Virginia, now a silver-haired widow with seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, lives with her only daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Temple, in this community about 15 miles south of Albany. She moved here in 1959 after teaching in the New York City school system for 48 years.

The youngest of her grandchildren, Patty, is 8 — the same age as Virginia when she asked The Sun to confirm her childhood faith.

"This is the first year Patty has not believed in the childhood Santa Claus," Mrs. Douglas told a reporter. "But all of the children believe in the spirit of him."

RECEIVES CARDS

She said she was overwhelmed at the number of Christmas cards — more than 100 — she has received this year.

"When there are so many things so very difficult and seemingly impossible in the world, yet people feel kindly to a little girl and a wonderful editorial."

She has been worrying about how to acknowledge the cards. "I'm not very good at correspondence, but I do want to thank everyone. It is a wonderful tribute."

FAMILY TOGETHER

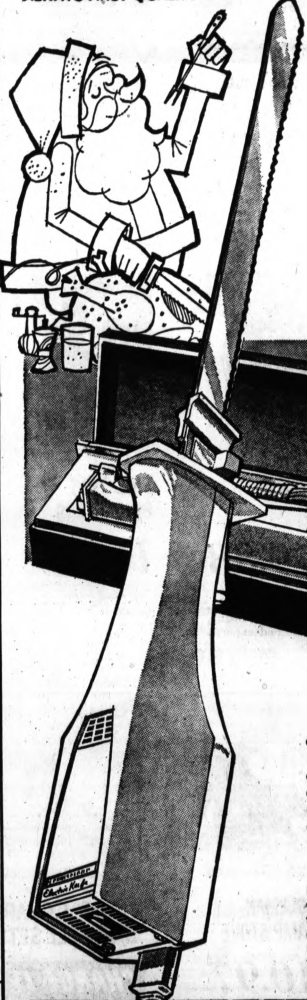

All the family expects to be together on Christmas, including Mrs. Douglas' great-grandchildren — two born last December and one in August. For them, the spirit of Santa Claus is just beginning and confirms Church's explanation:

"No Santa Claus! Thank God he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times then thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood."

ESCAPE DEATH — Two teen-age boys escaped death yesterday when this car spun out of control on the San Diego freeway in Los Angeles, struck a concrete abutment and wound up like this. One youth escaped with lacerations, the other was cut and bruised. Police (center background) run down the highway to remove a section of engine which dropped from the wrecked vehicle.

'Big Picture' of the War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is telling its 970,000 men around the world that "in terms of the issues at stake, the war in Viet Nam is as critically important as any in history."

This statement is contained in a publication entitled "Our Mission in Viet Nam." Army officials said the 12-page publication is being distributed to Army men everywhere.

The Army is carrying a large part of the load in South Viet Nam. About 65 per cent of the 21,000 American military men there are wearing Army uniforms.

Most of the U.S. casualties have been sustained by Army men—171 of the 237 combat dead and more than 1,270 of the 1,400 plus wounded.

NO OTHER WAY

"Experience has shown that there is simply no other way to teach the techniques of effective combat to any Army at war," the publication said in seeking to explain why American soldiers accompany Vietnamese formations in fighting operations.

The pamphlet, illustrated with a map and action photographs, traces the origin of the present crisis in South Viet Nam: Communists setting out to gobble up the country and the United States coming into the picture when South Viet Nam asked for help.

In answering the question: "Why are we in Viet Nam?" the troop information publication attempts to project the significance of the Vietnamese struggle beyond its present dimensions.

"South Viet Nam has clearly become a major testing ground for a comparatively new Communist strategy," the publication says.

This strategy was described as cloaking subversion in the guise of "wars of liberation," which is the way that the Communists portray the war in South Viet Nam.

"If the Communist strategy of subversion and guerrilla insurgency were allowed to succeed in Viet Nam," the Army said, "communism would be encouraged to exert similar efforts in other countries of Southeast Asia and eventually in other parts of the world."

Nab 2 in Bizarre Milwaukee Holdup

Police Search Maternity Ward

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (U-P) — A mad scramble that had shot-gun-toting policemen warily searching a hospital maternity ward, room-by-room, finally ended in the capture of two armed Californians.

A $1,100 holdup of the Brookfield National Bank Monday touched off the wild pursuit.

One of the Californians was arrested in the downtown hospital, where his wife and newborn daughter were patients.

The other was caught at a nearby bus terminal.

Before the chase ended, the two stepdaughters of one of the men, and their pet monkey, got a wild ride in a getaway car; a bank cashier was abducted, and so was a state patrolman.

IDENTITY PAIR
The men were identified by police as Harry Shinn, 21, of Costa Mesa, Calif., charged with robbery of a federally insured bank, and Frank Michel, 21, with "aiding, abetting and counseling" Shinn.

They waived preliminary hearing before a U.S. commissioner and were jailed under bonds of $10,000 each.

Shinn's wife, Kathleen, 22, who had given birth prematurely Saturday to a 5-pound girl, remained in Milwaukee Hospital. The girls in the getaway car were her children by a previous marriage, Melody Salatin, 5, and Cynthia, 3. They were placed in the county home for dependent children.

POLICE ACCOUNT
Police gave this account of Monday's bizarre incident:

Shinn entered the bank about 11:30 a.m., shoved a portfolio toward teller Jean McConahey, 24, and said, "Give me everything." She saw he had a gun and complied.

As Shinn fled, Miss McConahey shouted, "I've just been held up." Cashier David Reddemann dashed out a back door and saw a red panel truck heading toward a freeway ramp. He gave chase in his car. Two blocks away, the truck halted.

Shinn got out and climbed into a parked car which started off with Reddemann still in pursuit.

SPOTS POLICE
Reddemann, spotting a state patrol car, tried to pass the suspect's car and sideswiped it. Both vehicles and the car driven by patrolman James Stock came to a halt. The holdup men forced Reddemann and Stock at gunpoint to get into their car, which bore Utah license plates.

The girls were in the front seat. Stock persuaded the men to release him and Reddemann at a shopping center.

Police got on the trail when they found the abandoned getaway car. In it they discovered Stock's service revolver and a monkey, later determined to be a pet of the girls.

BACKTRACK
Backtracking on the Utah plates, police located the motel where Shinn, his wife, the two girls and Michel had been staying. The motel operator told officers Mrs. Shinn had been taken to Milwaukee hospital.

The holdup men and the two girls arrived at the hospital by taxicab. Shinn was arranging for his wife's release when police arrived and overpowered him. Michel slipped away.

About 60 police officers, some armed with rifles and shotguns, began a room-by-room search of the maternity pavilion. While the search was on, other officers assigned to a bus terminal spotted Michel sitting in the waiting room. He offered no resistance.

Police said they had accounted for $962 of the $1,100 loot.

Detroit Police Ask for Increase in Pay

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Police Officers Association has asked for pay increases for officers that city officials estimate would cost nearly $4.8 million a year. The request calls for increases ranging from $387 to $1,500 annually, with starting pay boosted from $6,115 to $6,502.

An agricultural census has been taken regularly since 1840—every ten years until 1930 and every five years since then. Agricultural censuses now are scheduled for years ending in "4" and "9."

Junior Editors Quiz on PINEAPPLES

QUESTION: Why the name pineapple—since it's neither a pine nor an apple?

ANSWER: Pineapples do not grow on trees as do pine cones and apples. But they have the rough scaly look of the pine cone and the general shape of the apple, this combination being the reason for the name.

The pineapple plant is a native of tropical and sub-tropical America. Columbus, Sir Walter Raleigh and others found these fruits growing in the West Indies.

Soon they spread to Africa and India, the crowns of fruit on shipboard being cut off and these later planted.

Planting is also done by using suckers near the base of the stalks, slips at base of fruit and ratoons or bud roots.

The plant has 30 or 40 stiff leaves spaced around a thick stem. A flower stalk appears with separate flowers of lavender color; then these fuse to form the fruit, which takes from five to six months to ripen.

The best flavor comes when the fruit is allowed to ripen on the plant, which is the reason so much of our pineapple comes in canned form, preserving all the delicious original flavor.

Our new state of Hawaii gives us most of our pineapple preserved in this way, although we also get pineapple from Florida, the Bahamas, the West Indian islands, and the Philippines.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here's a suggestion you'll like: For a tropical-tasting treat, try some crushed canned pineapple on vanilla ice cream.

In State Guard Probe

Backs Reinstatement for Pair

LANSING (U) — Sen. John Smeekens, R-Coldwater, Monday urged the Legislative Audit Commission to recommend reinstatement of two suspended National Guard generals.

The commission heard testimony last week from Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, state adjutant general, and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert, quartermaster general, on details of their suspensions.

Both are awaiting a hearing before Gov. George Romney following a report by Aud. Gen.

Billie Farnum of land, liquor and money irregularities in the Michigan military establishment.

Smeekens presented a resolution to the commission asking "recommendation that Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons 46th Infantry Division commander revoke the orders removing the two generals of the Michigan National Guard."

With only five of its 10 members present, the commission could not act on the resolution. If a quorum had been present, Smeekens said, the resolution would have passed.

Sens. Elmer Porter, R-Blissfield, chairman, and Raymond Drendzel, D-Detroit, who have said they favor reinstating the officers, were among the absentees. Others were Sen. Arthur Deibel, R-Udonville, and Reps. William Romano, D - Warren, and John Sobieski, D-Detroit.

The group, Smeekens' resolution said, "has determined from its investigation of all the matters concerned in regard to the alleged allegations that the officers involved have followed procedures historically approved by the military board as well as the auditor general's department and further finds that no charges of misfeasance or malfeasance can properly be sustained."

McDonald and Neifert have been charged with administrative irregularities, but not with criminal activity.

Ladder Idea for Expressway

Aid Trapped Drivers

DETROIT — Motorists trapped in the big ditches of Detroit's expressway system now will be able to escape handily because a fireman played with his children's build-it-yourself toys.

William A. O'Dell, a fireman attached to Engine Co. 42, has designed a ladder which would let motorists escape from depressed sections of the expressways if they were trapped, it was announced by the Fire Department Monday.

Officials said they would order a half-dozen built to replace rope ladders currently in use. The ladder has three 13-foot sections. It can be extended to full length with a rope and pulley and then hung by hooks over the expressway guard rails.

WAS CONCERNED

O'Dell said he became concerned as to what would happen if motorists were trapped in the big ditches. He said, "It would be almost impossible for them to get out, and it would be very difficult for fire fighters to get down to them from the service drive if the freeway approaches are jammed with other cars."

He said the rope ladders weren't practical because "it takes a young, strong and experienced man to go up a free-swinging rope ladder."

TOY EXPERIMENTS

He experimented with his children's toys and designed the compact extension ladder which can be carried on small Fire Department panel trucks.

Among those who watched the ladder successfully tested Monday was O'Dell's wife, Dorothy. She remarked, "Our children will be happy about this. Now they can have their Tinker Toys back."

Back Legality of Union Vote on AMC Pact

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The legality of the Dec. 7 vote by which Local 75 of the United Auto Workers ratified a contract with the American Motors Corp., was upheld Monday by Circuit Judge Ronald Drechsler.

"So far as this action is concerned, the union will be free to proceed with the execution of the proposed contract," the judge said.

Judge Drechsler rejected the arguments by three members of the local which represents production employees at the Milwaukee body plant of AMC. The three had challenged the legality of a second ratification vote at plant gates on the grounds that it violated the constitution of the international union requiring a union meeting prior to balloting.

In the first vote, held at a union meeting on a Sunday, ratification was rejected by a narrow margin with less than one-third of the membership participating. The executive board ordered a second vote at plant gates in an effort to get a bigger vote.

Halleck Comes Out Fighting to Save Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Indiana's Rep. Charles A. Halleck, an "old pro" with 30 years experience in the political wars, today came out battling against a drive to unseat him as House Republican leader.

Applying the weapons at hand, the 64-year-old Halleck was reported checking his bankroll of political credits and calling in old loans.

Duties Cease for State Board

Responsibility Ends for Road Advisers

LANSING (AP)—The 45-year-old advisory board of the Michigan State Highway Department was retired today.

The five-member board, created in 1919, held its final meeting Monday as the new State Highway Commission prepared to take over responsibility for state road building and planning.

The board, which met with the highway commissioner periodically to discuss road building plans and programs, was created by the same legislative act that first provided for the construction, maintenance and improvement of trunkline roads throughout the state.

It has played a key role in establishing Highway Department policies, said Commissioner John Mackie, who also is bowing out as the state's road-building boss.

LAST MEMBERS
The last members of the board were Stacey De Camp, Flint attorney; E. J. Eagen, a weekly newspaper publisher in Menominee; J. Carl McMongie, a Michigan State University professor and former director of the physical planning and traffic department of the State Highway Department; J. Paul Smith of Detroit, a member of the Chrysler Corp. legal department, and former Republican State Sen. George Higgins, a Ferndale auto dealer.

Of these he has plenty outstanding, having done favors at one time or another for most of the 120 returning GOP members and for at least some of the 20 elected for the first time on Nov. 2.

In addition, an associate said Halleck was considering naming as "assistant Republican leader" a popular member of the GOP group plotting to arrange Halleck's replacement.

Beneficiary of this move would be Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis. The intended victim would be Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., the 51-year-old "new face" candidate tapped by the conspirators to take Halleck's job.

MIGHT LOSE STEAM

Some members believe Laird's elevation to a new post in the GOP would take much of the steam out of Ford's drive against Halleck.

Laird and Ford are close friends. Laird was not available for comment on the report he might be offered a post on the Halleck team.

Neither was Halleck, who has confined his public statements to the fact that he is running for reelection and figures to win on his record.

"I expect to continue as Republican minority leader in the House of Representatives and will do all that I properly and reasonably can to that end," Halleck said yesterday.

Halleck then ducked a question-and-answer session with newsmen and settled down to the job at hand. He had expected to spend this week in Florida, but when Ford announced against him on Saturday he flew back to do battle.

CALLS MEMBERS

Halleck spent yesterday afternoon on the phone, calling members who owed him favors and seeking their promise of aid. Some gave it. Some hedged.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS

By Ralph Lane

But the Angel of the Lord who had announced Christ's birth was well aware of what Herod had in mind, for wickedness cannot be concealed from an angel.

Joseph thought he was dreaming when he heard the voice saying: "Arise, and take the young child and his mother and flee into Egypt, and be there until I bring thee word: for Herod will seek the young child and destroy him."

Joseph obeyed the voice of God's angel, and they departed.

Seek Overturf of Detroit Law

Home Owners' Act
Object of Court Suit

DETROIT (AP)—A controversial Detroit home owners' rights ordinance was under legal attack in court today from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and 23 white home owners.

A suit seeking to overturn the ordinance was filed Monday in Wayne County Circuit Court. Voters adopted the law in a primary election last Sept. 1.

CLAIM VIOLATION

The NAACP and fellow complainants contended the ordinance violates both the federal and state constitutions by permitting home owners and real estate brokers to discriminate on racial grounds in buying, selling or renting property.

Adoption of the ordinance came despite opposition from Gov. George Romney, Detroit mayor Jerome Cavanagh and several civic and religious leaders.

Ironically, Cavanagh is named one of the defendants in the complaint, and the city is required to defend the ordinance in its court test.

Prisoners Vow They'll Be Home for Christmas

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — "I'll be home for Christmas," is the promise repeatedly coming from inmates at the Southern Michigan State Prison these last few weeks.

Under the so-called "Christmas parole" policy of the State Corrections Department, any prisoner eligible for parole between Dec. 14 and Jan. 10 can be released to his family by Christmas.

Parole officers have been working overtime lining up job promises and making sure the men have a home or place to live waiting for them.

All will hear the traditional last words from the releasing guard: "Good luck, and try not to come back."

Post Office Lauds Public Cooperation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans have shown "unprecedented public cooperation" in their Christmas mailing this year and 99 per cent of the cards and packages will be delivered by Christmas Eve, says Postmaster General John A. Gronouski.

The Postmaster General said in a statement Monday that a record of 7 billion pieces of Christmas mail will have been delivered by Thursday night. Last year's figure was just under 7 billion.

During the 1963-1964 fiscal year, the United States Postal Inspection Service instituted 1,986 investigations in the category dealing with people ordering merchandise fraudulently by mail.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

By LUCHECE BEALE

(Synopsis—The snowman succeeds in fixing George's jaw, but when the turtle rushes to warn Santa of his danger Womp grabs both him and the snowman and takes them off into the woods.)

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Womp carried the turtle and the snowman into the woods. George squeaked for help and the snowman hollered through his nose, but no one could hear them.

Santa was having lunch in the fairy queen's palace and all the little fairies and pinks and Storybook folk were so busy chattering they could not have heard a clap of thunder.

"What are you going to do with us?" asked the Snowman plaintively.

It was difficult for him to talk because Womp had such a tight hold of his carrot nose.

NO INTERRUPTIONS "Leave you in the woods," said Womp, "so there will be no interruptions while I play my tune for the Music Festival."

"But, can't we hear you play?" quavered the snowman, hoping to flatter the manwhitch.

George swung his head around and blurted, "If we heard him we would perish! The tune he plays will put Santa and all of Fairyland to sleep."

for a hundred years! He told me so himself!"

"That is the reason you can't come to the performance," said Womp. "You know too much."

"CAN'T STOP US" "You can't stop us!" said the snowman heatedly.

"But I can," replied Womp. "And you will have a fate worse than Santa himself!"

With that he set George down upside down between two rocks and said, "You will stay there forever because you can't get on your feet again."

The turtle thrashed his feet and his head and his tail but he could not flip himself over again.

To make matters worse, the more he struggled the deeper he wedged himself between the two rocks.

Then Womp pushed the snowman into a nearby well that once held fairy water and now was empty.

"That will hold you," said Womp coldly.

SIDES SLIPPERY It was true, because sides of the well were slippery and the snowman's fingers were made of snow.

Everytime he tried to climb out of the well he slid back to the bottom with an awful crash.

The manwhitch went off and left them but before he went he lit his pipe and threw the match on the ground.

The match was still lit and it flickered in the dry leaves among the rocks.

TINY FLAME Womp stared at the tiny flame thoughtfully. Finally he shrugged his shoulders and returned to the festival.

The snowman shouted from the bottom of the well. "Don't worry George! We'll get out of this! Something will happen. It always does."

The turtle was too busy to answer. He twisted and turned and beat on the rocks with his upside-down head.

"Have to warn Santa," he muttered over and over. "Have to warn Santa!"

QUEEN'S GARDEN He could hear the fairy folk leaving the palace and taking their places in the queen's garden for the afternoon festival. Soon Womp would begin to play his flute.

"George," called the snowman cheerfully. "Someone will be along to help us by and by. Don't worry."

George raised his head and looked wildly around as though by some miracle he might really see someone coming to help. What he saw instead caused his eyes to nearly pop from his head.

He opened his mouth to warn the snowman but only a thin high shriek came out.

GEORGE'S VOICE

"Ah, George, your voice is the very best," said the snowman. "You surely would have won the festival if you'd only had the chance!"

"Fire!" shouted George, making his voice work at last. "The brush is on fire! It's all around me! In a minute I'll be in it!"

He gasped and coughed in the smoke that swept across him. "Help!" he gasped. "Help!" Tomorrow: Womp Starts to Play.

Couldn't Face Joyless Yule

Despondent Mother Survives Bridge Leap

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Isabelle Kainoa, 30-year-old Oakland, Calif., housewife and mother of four, faced a joyless Christmas.

She would be separated from her youngsters on Christmas Day.

There was the chance she might be pregnant with a fifth child. She feared pregnancy would reactivate her arrested case of leprosy.

Early Monday morning she slipped out of the house while her husband slept, got into the family car, and joined the commuter traffic to San Francisco.

CLIMBED RAILING

Midway across the Bay Bridge she stopped, got out of the car, climbed the railing, and plunged 232 feet into the chill, storm-whipped San Francisco Bay.

Six minutes later a Coast Guard boat on patrol near the bridge plucked her alive from the water.

Within minutes she was taken to San Francisco Hospital, still clad in her dripping, blood-stained housecoat. Doctors operated to repair a severe pelvic laceration and a broken pelvis.

Late Monday night she was in critical condition, but an as-ist administrator at the hospital said she was responding.

HUSBAND WAITS

Royal Kainoa, 37, a big, black-haired mechanic, maintained a vigil in the emergency ward's waiting room. His eyes filled with tears as he told of the last few bleak days.

"We didn't do much about Christmas," he said. "She told me what to buy for the kids and I went out and bought the presents. I didn't buy a tree for us. We didn't even send out Christmas cards this year. She didn't want to be reminded about Christmas."

ISABELLE KAINOA

His wife, he said, has had leprosy since she was quite young — an arrested case that flared up again with the birth four years ago of their youngest son. Two of the children, Royal Jr., 10, and John, 4, live across the street with her parents because the disease is believed communicable only to children. Two older children were adopted by a family in Honolulu when the couple left Hawaii for the mainland in 1957.

WATCHED SON

She could watch through the windows when Royal left for school and came home again. On Sundays, with a U.S. Public Health nurse present, she could sit near John in a nearby park. "But she couldn't kiss him," Kainoa said. "There could be no physical contact."

"Last week she was afraid she was pregnant again," he said. "She thought the pregnancy would reactivate the leprosy. She told me she had an appointment with a doctor today. When I woke up she was gone."

Only one other person has leaped from the bridge and lived. In 1937 professional stuntman Ray Woods plunged from nearly the same spot. He broke his back and could not walk for three years. In 1942 Woods fell overboard on a quiet river fishing trip and drowned.

AF Reports 2 Space Shots

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — A secret satellite and a space probe employing a Scout combination rocket were launched from this base yesterday, the Air Force reported.

The secret satellite was hurled toward polar orbit by a Thor Agena booster about 3 p.m., EST. About eight hours later the space probe was launched, presumably to gather information on the earth's upper atmosphere.

No further information on either launching was available under current Defense Department policy.

There are more than 400 million Muslims throughout the world.

Johnson Moves to Block Atlantic, Gulf Dock Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The Johnson administration moved today to try to head off an Atlantic to Gulf Coast dock strike as wildcat walkouts crippled pier operations in New York and Baltimore.

James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, headed for Houston to sit in on stalled negotiations between representatives of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and shippers.

REPORTS CONCERN

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, after talking with President Johnson at Johnson City, Tex., Monday, said "we are very much concerned about seeing to it that there is a settlement."

Reynolds also will discuss the problem involved in talks at Galveston, Tex., Wirtz said.

The New York walkout involved 6,700 of the 12,000 dock workers normally employed on a Monday. The Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor reported 92 ships were berthed in 40 piers in the port, but only 30 ships were being worked.

Two passenger liners sailed without difficulty. A series of meetings in Baltimore involving that port's six longshoremen's locals broke up Monday night amid indications the wildcat strike of 1,000 workers might spread.

All cargo handling was suspended in the port of Baltimore so longshoremen could attend the meetings. Nine of 24 ships tied up at cargo berths were affected.

Longshoremen at other major ports continued working. Union locals in Southern ports were awaiting the outcome of the Galveston negotiations.

PUZZLED BY WALKOUTS

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the union, expressed puzzlement at the wildcat walkouts. Union leaders had approved a proposed new contract with New York shippers last week and this was expected to set the pattern for the East and Gulf Coast ports.

Tourists in the Middle East have been advised not to enter a mosque unless invited and never to smoke or expectorate in front of one.

CAROL ANN McQUAID

The engagement is announced of Carol Ann McQuaid, daughter of Mrs. Orrin McQuaid of North Berkshire Road and the late Mr. McQuaid, to Paul William Becker, son of the William P. Beckers of Ferguson, Mo.

College Senior Is Engaged to Missouri Man

Mrs. Orrin McQuaid of North Berkshire Road announces the engagement of her daughter, Carol Ann, to Paul William Becker, son of the William Beckers of Ferguson, Mo.

The bride-elect, presently a senior at the Maryville College of the Sacred Heart, St. Louis, Mo., is an alumna of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, Bloomfield Hills.

Her fiancé, a graduate of St. Louis University, attends the University of Missouri School of Medicine.

A late summer wedding is planned.

Fight With Son on Issues That Really Matter to You

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a mother should have any say about how her 18-year-old son wears his hair?

HIS MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Mothers, it seems, are constantly criticizing the hair of their teen-agers about something.

They would be wise to save their prodding for more important things, such as integrity, cleanliness and insisting that their sons give their best efforts to their studies.

When a boy expresses his rebellion in an off-beat and perhaps freakish hair style, if his hair is clean, skip it, Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone I ask tells me something different and by now I am dizzy. Maybe you or one of your readers can help me decide.

Should we sell our house? We've lived here 26 years and my husband and I are all alone now, having just married off our youngest daughter. My husband says we should keep the house so that when the children come to visit us with their children we will have room for them.

He says that after living in a 14-room house we will never be happy in an apartment. I say if the children want to visit us, we can rent them an apartment in the same building or somewhere near us.

The steps in this house are too much for me, we don't need a yard any more and it's hard to keep up. A big house is a lot of work to keep clean, it's expensive and, besides, now that the children are gone, it's lonesome.

Any ideas?

NOT GETTING ANY YOUNGER

DEAR NOT GETTING ANY YOUNGER: (And who is?)

This is one decision you and your husband must make for yourselves. I say, do whatever is easier for YOU.

DEAR ABBY: After 22 years of marriage my husband has left me. I have consulted marriage counselors, ministers, friends and relatives. In short, I've tried everything, but he still refuses to come home.

He simply said he had been "thinking about it" for a long time, and he packed and left. As far as I know, he hasn't started any legal proceedings. I will not start them, and I told him that if he did, I would fight him.

People refer to our "separation." Technically we are not "separated." We are still legally married; only he left me.

Why do respectable people invite HIM over for dinner, and entertain him for bridge week-ends, camping trips and parties? Everyone knows we are still married, yet they treat him as though he were a gay bachelor. Are they not condoning his actions by inviting him?

My lawyer tells me as long as he pays the bills there is nothing I can do but wait. Is this fair? What do you suggest?

ALONE DEAR ALONE: There is rarely "fairness" in the personal tragedy of divorce. Listen to your lawyer. And find interests of your own.

DEAR ABBY: I think the woman who signed herself "CONFUSED" has my ex-husband. There can't be TWO men in the world like that.

Tell her that she isn't NUMBER THREE, she is NUMBER FIVE. When I married him I thought I was NUMBER FOUR. (I just got rid of him last summer, so I doubt if he could have married anyone in between.)

Also, tell her she should stay out of Georgia, West Virginia and North Carolina, as he is wanted for felonies there.

Man Rises to Greet Visitors

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I have just been made manager of a large manufacturing company. When a visitor comes to the office to see me on business, the receptionist rings my office to announce his presence.

Should I then go out to meet him or merely ask her to have him come in?

A: It is more polite to go out to meet him, but it would not be discourteous if you fail to do so. You should, however, rise and greet a visitor when he comes into your office.

Q: I have been a bridesmaid in three different weddings in the past year and a half. I am not extremely close to these young women all the time, but I do see them at social functions occasionally and visit with them every once in a while.

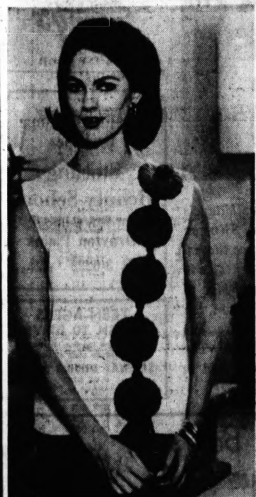

I am going to be married this winter and would like to know if I am obliged to return this courtesy by asking them to be in my wedding party. There are several other girls with whom I am more friendly and would prefer to have them instead.

A: It is not at all necessary to ask these three young women to be in your wedding party simply because they asked you to be in theirs. It will be entirely proper to choose your other more intimate friends in their place.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

A drawstring closure adds dash to a basic pullover and gives it a suggestion of the nautical. Garland's sweater, knitted of "Orlon" acrylic, is candy-striped in vivid bands—appropriately festive for the holidays. About $12. Coral with white, yellow and green stripes.

At the left is a sassy Studio Knits design by Samuel Freund. It has south-of-the-border ways, but is elegant for after skiing or at home anywhere. Hand crocheted trim adds excitement to a basic sweater shape, knitted of "Orlon" acrylic. In black or white with blue and green. About $30.

Very raffine is Brownie's party sweater (right), knitted of "Orlon" acrylic. Ladylike good looks include sleeveless styling and delicate hand-crocheted loops etching the neckline. Pink, blue, yellow, black and white. About $13.

Glue Memories on Fake Tree for Friends

A Memory Tree is fun to make for the family or a dear friend. You take an out-sized Western pine cone, (obtainable at garden centers), perhaps twelve or fourteen inches tall.

The cone is sprayed with shellac and firmly anchored in a plaster of paris base about the size of a large hamburger. At this point, the tree is ready to be adorned with its tiny ornaments which are carefully glued to the pine petals.

Gets Ph.D. Degree

Milton J. Hill of Covert Road was one of 40 receiving his doctor of philosophy degree in audiology from Wayne State University at recent commencement exercises in Cobo Hall.

He holds a bachelor of science degree from Western Michigan University and a master of science from Pennsylvania State University.

Take Care in Making Slip Covers

You can make slip covers for your furniture, but it takes time and care to do it properly if you want them to look well and wear long.

Be very careful in selecting your material. Choose a pre-shrunk material that is both durable and pretty.

Flowered, plain and striped materials may be combined in the same room if desired if the colors harmonize. One of the very best materials is a medium - weight fabric that does not ravel too much.

Materials should not be too porous, as dust sifts through such material to furniture. Some good materials for this purpose are chintz, durable poplin corduroy, velveteen, cotton gabardine and cretone.

CUT PATTERN

Before cutting the slip cover, cut a pattern from inexpensive cotton muslin. See that it fits perfectly when basted before cutting into your more expensive material.

Save this pattern for future use when the present slip cover is worn out and you need to make a new one.

Be sure, when cutting the final slip cover, that the grain of the material is straight. If there is a pattern stripe or figure, see that it is centered.

An intriguing idea that makes the most of the instant Christmas atmosphere that this year's gay and colorful wraps imparts, is a set of stockings to hang from the mantlepiece, one for each member of the family. Lengths of gift wraps are just glued to a grocery bag or brown paper, the stocking shape outlined and then stitched on the sewing machine. Loops of ribbon are used for trimming. The papers were selected from the Norcross collection.

Shores Club Has Party

Sylvan Shores Women's club held its annual Christmas party Monday at the home of Mrs. Winford Holt, Sylvan Shores Drive.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Clyde Haskill, Mrs. Edward Casey, Mrs. Fred Ziem, and Mrs. Roy Lynn.

A short program and exchange of gifts was held.

Preview Gift Games

DEAR POLLY—My husband and I make a point of playing all the games the children are to receive on Christmas before the great day comes. We want to be sure that we understand the rules (in case help is needed) and to see if every part is in good working order.

With the excitement of this special day, children tend to become overanxious and are all fingers and thumbs. Our before-time-trouts have saved many a child's tears and parent's temper.

We add a few sheets of paper and colored crayons, if needed, so the gift is in GO condition anytime the kids are.

My husband and I also have a lot of fun being kids again. —ROSE

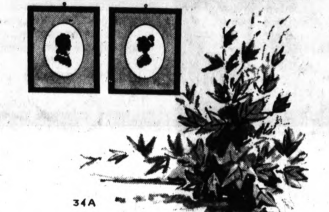

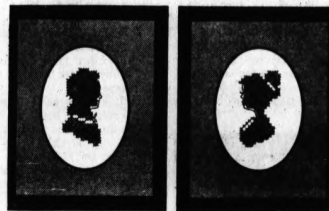

GIRLS—Another necessary before-Christmas-Day check should be made for batteries. I have made the mistake of having gifts for the children and no batteries to make them run. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Take the handle and the lid off an old straw summer purse. Decorate the purse with holly or pine cones and you will have a Christmas card holder or a holiday mailbox for the front door. If the finish is marred, spray paint will soon give it a fresh look. —EDITH

DEAR POLLY—If you have the misfortune to break the clasp on a string of beads and do not have another, replace it with a hook and eye.

Use the loop-type eye and press the prongs together. Be sure to lace the thread through both sides of the hook and eye so that they will lay flat against the neck. —MRS. B.

Needlework Kit

Stitched Silhouettes

Real antique silhouettes are prohibitive in price, but you can enjoy all of their quaint charm in your home with this pair of delightful Colonial ones copied from rare old treasures.

You don't have to be a fine needlewoman, for these are to be embroidered in easy cross-stitch with a little, just as easy, outline stitch to give form to the shadows.

The winsome young girl is sketched by a handsome young blade. The designs are stamped on fine quality cream color, 100 per cent linen.

Black embroidery floss is included in the kit. Each picture will measure approximately 7 by 9 1/4 inches. You can obtain for them either oval or rectangular frames in black or gilt.

Takes Southern Cruise Following Wedding

A cruise in the Bahamas will follow a brief stay in Miami Beach for the William Alexander Sandersons who were wed recently in St. Paul's Methodist Church, Rochester.

The former Clara Jean Willett is the daughter of Mrs. Laura J. Willett of Shortridge Road, Avon Township, and Carson E. Willett of Harrison.

Her princess-line gown and train of white chiffon velvet featured floral self-applique. A Dior rose of white satin cradled her French illusion bubble veil.

During the ceremony performed by Rev. J. Douglas Parker, the bride held cascading Stephanotis and ivy, surrounding a white orchid.

Mrs. Carl Bonkowski, Judy

MRS. W. A. SANDERSON

Townsend, Rochester, and Mrs. Roger Reibel, Utica, were bridesmaids. Nancy Sanderson was flower-girl.

Robert Sanderson stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the James Sandersons of Tienken Road, Avon Township.

RECEPTION IN HALL

Heather Is for Luck at Christmas

From the heart of the Highlands comes the ancient belief that white heather brings luck — and when is a better time to wish for luck than during the holiday season?

The Society of American Florists suggests several ways of using heather. Perhaps one of the most attractive is to feature a large spray of the dainty flowers on one side of a wreath of mixed greens instead of the much more usual bow of red satin.

Since the flowers are so delicate, it is wise to select small-leaved greens such as box to avoid overpowering the dainty spray.

Many people traditionally give a plant of either white or purple heather at Christmas time. It is believed that luck will hold as long as the plant flourishes.

Thanks to a hardiness which belies its fragile appearance, the little plant is likely to flourish for a long time when given proper care. Growing originally in the misty moors of Scotland, heather likes moisture and should be kept well-watered.

Occasional spraying of the leaves is advantageous, too.

An amusing little fancy might be to make small corsages of heather tied with a bright ribbon. These could be kept on a tray near the front door and given as a token of affection and Godspeed to parting Christmas friends.

Cheese Roll Has Zing

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Here is a cheese roll that you can make now and keep in the refrigerator for the holiday season. To serve, slice and place on crackers. Our cook today is Mrs. Henry Prokoff of Lakewood Village. She didn't tell us much about herself, but did suggest a cooking tip, put just a dash of black pepper in your dark fruitcake.

CHEESE ROLL
By Mrs. Henry Prokoff
1 pound very sharp cheese
3 small or 1 large package

cream cheese
1 cup pecans
Clove of garlic
Chili powder

Grind sharp cheese and nuts, but not together. Mix cheeses. Mash garlic and blend in well.

Using your hands, knead smooth and form into two rolls about the size of a silver dollar and 10 inches long. Sprinkle with chili powder. Roll in ground pecans.

Wrap in foil and chill in refrigerator until ready to slice and serve.

Influenced by Mediterranean design, here's a table that is equally at home with Oriental accessories. Called "Martinique," the style has bold, dramatic, square lines that give an appearance of lightness by graceful open arches. The design runs through an oblong and round cocktail table, lamp, snack, wedge, drum and this end table, veneered in a warm, walnut-pecan combination with a distressed finish. The Lane Co. Can be ordered locally.

Fat Man Basking in Shadow of Santa

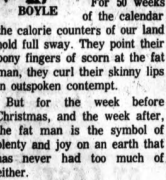

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every person has a reason to enjoy the Christmas season.

But the fat man has the most reason. It is his time of year. He basks in the shadow of the overpowering public acceptance of the plumpness of Santa Claus.

For 50 weeks of the calendar the calorie counters of our land hold full sway. They point their bony fingers of scorn at the fat man, they curl their skinny lips in outspoken contempt.

But for the week before Christmas, and the week after, the fat man is the symbol of plenty and joy on an earth that has never had too much of either.

BOYLE

EVERYBODY LOVES HIM

The phrase, "Nobody loves a fat man" becomes the phrase, "Everybody loves a fat man." It is no longer un-American to be overweight.

The fat man becomes a kind of walking Christmas tree, spreading gladness and contentment wherever he goes.

The people who used to laugh at him now laugh with him. Anything he says is cheery and jolly and funny. All he has to do is murmur "Hello," and all within hearing break into smiles. They nod and remark to one another, "Doesn't he have a marvelous sense of humor? What fun it is to see one with such a zest for living!"

They love to see the fat man's chuckle spread from one dimple across his wide facial horizon to the other dimple, then ripple down his three or four chins and echo back with a deep belly laugh.

PAT HIS TUMMY

Those who normally punch his protruberant tummy in ridicule now pat it with affectionate respect, for it stands for something they recognize as important: mankind having a good time in a sorry century.

And the fat man, the ambulant shaven image of Santa Claus, loves his role to the hilt. "Pass me the mashed potatoes," he cries deliciously. "Where's the gravy? Be sure to save me two pieces of mince pie for dessert."

And strangers in the restaurant look up and smile and beckon to a waiter and tell him, "Send that fat fellow over there an after-lunch drink, and put it on my bill."

Yes, the fat man is the hero of the hour. All are pleased as Punch to see him waddling merrily by. Cops stop traffic to let him cross the street, nippy high school girls leap to their feet to give him a seat on the home-ward bus. Tired shoppers wipe the weariness from their faces at the mere sight of him, and give a good-natured grin.

To them all, the fat man is laughter on the hoof, humanity at its most expansive best.

And what about the fat man himself? Does he really relish this unexpected bonus of adulation? Is he all that happy within?

No, and to relate, he is only playing Fagelplac for the fickle crowd, hollering "Ho, ho, ho!" outside, while inside he is crying to himself, "boo, hoo, hoo!"

During the Christmas season he stuffs himself more than he really wants to, he overeats to please the mob, because this is what they demand of him. He is an actor who must satisfy his audience. The show must go on.

Face U.S. Court Action

Dearborn Police Officials Free on Bond

DETROIT (AP) — Two top police officials of suburban Dearborn were free on $1,000 personal bond each today, awaiting federal court action on charges they were derelict in their duties when a white mob attacked a building in the mistaken belief a Negro family was moving in.

The defendants are Police Chief Garrison Clayton and Safety Director George Lewis. Both stood mute at arraignment Monday.

U.S. District Judge Fred Kaess entered pleas of innocent for the two officials and assigned the case to Federal Wade McCree Jr.

Dearborn City Attorney Ralph Guy Jr. said he would seek to have the charges dismissed.

Clayton and Lewis are accused of failing to prevent the "wanton destruction of real and personal property" when a mob of about 400 tossed rocks, bottles and eggs at the house of Giuseppe Stanzone and poured sugar into the gas tank of his auto.

The mob action took place on Labor Day, 1963, when it was rumored Negroes were moving in to Stanzone's apartment house.

Actually, a white couple had hired two Negroes to help move furniture into their newly-rented apartment, and one of the workers brought his wife to help.

Stanzone charged that police officers idly stood by during the mob attacks, including what he said was a beating he suffered from a man using a bed rail.

ALSO INVOLVED

Clayton and Lewis, 13 police inspectors and lieutenants and Dearborn Mayor Orville Hubbard also are involved in a civil suit in which Stanzone seeks to obtain $250,000 in damages.

City Attorney Guy said his investigation showed Clayton and Lewis "at all times used the best judgment and proceeded in a proper legal manner under the circumstances."

In addition to the federal case, Dearborn officials are faced with a hearing before the Michigan Civil Rights Commission on charges they have deliberately attempted to stimulate anti-Negro sentiment by displaying derogatory newspaper clippings on the city hall bulletin board.

STUDENTS AT WORK — Marcia Aronoff, 20-year-old Oberlin College senior from Middletown, Ohio, drives a stake into the ground in ankle-deep mud prior to the pouring of the foundation of the Antioch Baptist Church at Ripley, Miss. Miss Aronoff is one of 26 Oberlin students rebuilding the Negro church, destroyed by fire after a civil rights rally.

Hope to Rebuild Church for Christmas Service

RIPLEY, Miss. (AP) — A determined band of college students worked hard today to put up the walls and roof of a Negro church in time for a Christmas service.

The "Carpenters for Christmas," most of them from Oberlin College in Oberlin, Ohio, started Sunday on their project of rebuilding the rural Antioch Baptist church, destroyed by fire last Oct. 30 after a civil rights rally in the building.

Two of the white students working on the project spent the night in an auto parked at the church site — a lonely place bordered by a cotton patch and a wooded area. They said they were taking no chances on anything happening to their work.

LAY FOUNDATION

Student workers, aided by several Negroes from the neighborhood, laid a concrete foundation Monday and began the task of setting concrete blocks to support the framework.

While residents of this north

Mississippi town, which is about seven miles from the church site, were somewhat resentful and puzzled by the project. There has been no serious racial troubles here and civil rights workers have held their program in the area without any major problems.

"There has never been any indication that the fire was set deliberately," said Mayor Lowrey Smith of Ripley. He said the townspeople did not understand why the Antioch church, which was not a current arson case, was selected for the Oberlin project.

Sheriff Wayne Mauney also said there was no evidence of arson in the church fire.

Members of the Oberlin group said that one of the main reasons they decided to rebuild this church was that some students from the Ohio college had taken part in civil rights activities in this area. Some of them attended the last rally in the church.

Gls Brighten Berliners' Yule

BERLIN (AP) — More than 2,000 West Berliners will have a merrier Christmas this year because of "Operation Good Cheer" by the Berlin brigade of the U.S. Army.

Wednesday, the last 2½-ton truck will roll out of McNair barracks, home of the combat infantry, loaded with baskets of food, a Santa Claus and soldiers as his helpers.

They will head for the homes of 33 families in the Neukölln district of the U.S. sector to distribute the goodies.

Soldiers of the 5,500-man American garrison dug into their pockets not only to provide Christmas for some West Berliners but also for some of their own comrades.

LONDON (AP) — Abolition of the death penalty in peacetime Britain is expected soon following a 2 to 1 vote in the House of Commons.

By a vote of 355-170, the House Monday night approved in principle a bill to end hanging as the penalty for murder. The 165-vote majority, backed by the votes of some 80 Conservatives, was far larger than expected.

The bill still faces detailed committee examination and has to pass through the House of Lords, which has always thrown out anti-hanging measures. The Commons vote, however, was so decisive that parliamentary observers believed the Lords would either go along or the Commons would override an adverse vote by the upper house.

ONLY ONES LEFT

End of the death penalty in Britain would leave France and Spain the only West European countries that execute murderers.

Two men are under sentence of death in Britain — a 26-year-old cropper convicted of killing during a holdup, and a 20-year-old mobster convicted of killing twice in one year. Although the Home Office announced Monday that one of them would be executed Jan. 5, it was assumed that both now would be spared.

Another double murderer, Frederick Allen Smith, 35, escaped from London's Wormwood Scrubs jail an hour before the Commons debate started.

Prison officers were critical of the Commons decision. Their general secretary, F. C. Castell, said: "It seems clear that murderers already serving prison sentence can kill fellow prisoners or prison officers in the near future virtually with impunity since, as they will be already serving life sentences, it is difficult to see what further punishment can be imposed."

The Commons bill would abolish the homicide law of 1867, which provides hanging for capital murderers and life imprisonment — in practice seldom more than 10 years — for others. Capital murder includes killing to avoid arrest, in furtherance of theft, by shooting or explosives, of a police or prison officer or for a second time.

Sir Frank Soskice, the Labour home secretary, backed the abolition bill on behalf of the government. He warned that killers of inherent viciousness might have to be confined for the rest of their lives.

Soskice got unexpected support from Henry Brooke, home secretary in the last Conservative government, who said that he ruled a man must die six times. By the end of his Home Office service, he said, he was convinced that hanging no longer was justified as a deterrent.

The House of Lords has power to reject any bill from Commons except a money bill. If, however, the bill passes Commons in three successive sessions and is rejected a third time by the Lords, it can receive royal assent without Lords' approval proving two years have elapsed between its second and third readings.

Put Meat Balls in Soup for Change

Interest in main dish soups rises as the thermometer falls, so the season for soup suppers is at hand. Savory, satisfying meals may revolve around quick soups made with canned or dried mixes, or the long, slow cooking traditional recipes. In either case, a little wine added to the broth puts them in a gourmet class.

A glass of dry red wine, such as California Burgundy or Claret, adds festivity to a simple meal.

- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon chili powder
- 1 small onion, grated
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup pine nuts or cooked rice
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup Sherry
- 2 (10 1/2 oz.) cans bouillon or consommé
- 2 cans water
- 1 lb. beef
- Mix beef, salt, chili powder, onion, bread crumbs, nuts, egg and 1 tablespoon Sherry together. Shape meat into tiny balls about 1-inch diameter.
- Turn consommé, water and bay leaf into a large saucepan. Cover and bring to a slow boil. Add meat balls, a few at a time so that boiling remains constant. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until tender about 25 minutes.

Just before serving remove bay leaf and add remaining Sherry. Makes 6 servings.

Economical Pork Is Glaze Baked

Glazed Boneless Pork Butt

- 1 medium or large smoked boneless pork shoulder butt
- 1/4 cup currant jelly
- 1/4 cup grenadine syrup
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

1 tablespoon lemon juice

Simmer the butt in water until tender, according to wrapper directions; drain. Gently heat and stir together the jelly, grenadine syrup and mustard until jelly melts; stir in lemon juice.

Pour over butt in a small shallow pan; bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven, basting a few times, for 20 to 30 minutes. Slice and serve with the glaze.

Comes in Loaf Too

Do you know that Edam cheese comes in loaf form as well as in the familiar cannonball shape? Edam is delicious served with fruit for dessert; if there's some leftover, grate it and add it when making polenta.

Ever add chopped figs to that breakfast oatmeal? Serve with brown sugar and cream.

Mexican Meat Ball Soup

1 pound ground beef chuck

MEAT BALL SOUP — This main dish soup has Mexican ancestry. Meat balls seasoned with chili powder, onion and pine nuts are added to Sherry-flavored bouillon from a can to make a substantial meal.

Unkneaded Bread Is Spicy

Although most Creole specialties bear the stamp of their combined Spanish, American Indian, and French ancestry, New Orleans-style breads are direct descendants of the French. Long loaves of "pain ordinaire" grace almost every dinner table; rich brioche is standard breakfast fare. But lesser known are a number of intriguing breads with obscure origins.

- 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 4 cups unsifted flour
- Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture, cinnamon, nutmeg and flour. Stir until well blended, about 2 minutes. Cover.

Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until more than doubled in bulk, about one hour. Stir batter down. Beat vigorously, about 1/2 minute. Turn into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Bake immediately, uncovered, in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for about 1 hour, or until done. Makes one loaf.

Creole Casserole Bread

- 1 cup milk
- 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 cup warm water (105 degrees-115 degrees F.)

Create Fish Masterpiece

NEW YORK, N. Y. — This is party time, the most invigorating time of the year for entertaining family and friends. There's nothing to match the holiday season for setting a gay mood for any get-together from a hot punch party after skating to a sumptuous evening affair.

Buffet entertaining, where everybody helps themselves, is the easiest way to set a gala spread before a crowd, and leads itself to our present way of life better than the limitations of a sit-down meal.

But there are so many holiday weekends to prepare for, so many excuses for planning a party that, what to serve that is different is often a vexing problem.

The baked ham, the succulent roast turkey are always welcome on the buffet table, but other dishes are needed to add contrast of flavors, colors and textures; other dishes that are eye-catching, yet as delicious to eat as they are spectacular.

One dish that fits these adjectives is a "Horn of Plenty" a delicious salmon salad, full of nuts and fruit, and bound with mayonnaise. This was especially designed for this holiday season in the shape of a horn of plenty to take its place in the center of the buffet table as an edible centerpiece.

It can be made well in advance and kept in the refrigerator until ready to serve. So toss another log on the fire, light the candles and relax. Your party is bound to be a smashing success.

Salmon Horn of Plenty
2 1-pound cans salmon
5 envelopes plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups mayonnaise
4 cups chopped apple
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup chopped pineapple
1 cup mandarin orange sections

Chocolate Cake Flavored With Cardamom

Cardamom and chocolate flavor easy-to-make demon cake.

Cream 1/4 cup of butter or margarine until consistency resembles mayonnaise. Add 1 cup of sugar gradually, continuing to cream.

Add 1 unbeaten egg and 1 egg yolk; beat well. Blend in 2 packets of premelted unsweetened chocolate or 2 squares of unsweetened chocolate, melted.

Mix and sift 1 1/2 cups of all-purpose flour with 1 teaspoon of baking soda, 1/2 teaspoon of ground cardamom and 1/2 teaspoon of salt; add to chocolate mixture alternately with 1 cup of milk. Spoon into greased, floured 8-inch-square cake pan.

Bake 55 - 60 minutes in preheated 350-degree oven. Cool on rack. Frost with 7-minute frosting, using leftover egg white.

1 cup seedless green grapes, halved
1 cup coarsely cut walnuts
Orange sections and cranberries for garnish

Drain liquid from cans of salmon into a small saucepan and heat. Soften gelatin in cold water. Add to hot salmon liquid and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir into mayonnaise and cool.

Flake the salmon into a large mixing bowl. Add apple, lemon juice, pineapple, oranges, grapes, and walnuts. Mix lightly. Fold in mayonnaise and chill until mixture begins to set.

Spoon salad onto serving platter and shape with spatula into a "horn of plenty." a cylinder about 7 inches in diameter at one end and tapering to about 3 1/2 inches at the other. Fashion a "handle" from crumpled aluminum foil, stud with fresh cranberries, and fasten onto narrow end with toothpicks.

Spread surface of salad with mayonnaise and garnish with orange sections. Chill until ready to serve, and decorate platter with nuts and fruit. Serves 12.

HORN OF PLENTY SALAD — Let this be the center of interest on a holiday buffet. Made of tender flakes of colorful salmon, fruits and crunchy nuts, bound with mayonnaise, the mixture is extraordinarily easy to fashion into the shape of the symbol of the bounty of this great country.

Pork Chops Will Hit the Spot During Colder Months

Appetites soar with the arrival of cooler weather, and hearty main dishes are popular with the whole family. Pork, always a favorite, is used here in two multi-dish recipes — one recipe combines savory brown chops and golden yams, the other shoulder or loin chops with tangy sauerkraut and the surprise of caraway seeds.

Pork Chops With Yams
4 pork chops, about 1 1/4 pounds
2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet
1 can (1 lb.) yams
3 tablespoons catsup
1/2 teaspoon powdered marjoram

Brush chops, which should be about 1-inch thick, with kitchen bouquet and brown on both sides, over moderate heat, in lightly greased skillet. Cut yams in two and arrange around pork. Add 1/2 cup of juice from can of yams. Blend catsup and marjoram with kitchen bouquet remaining in dish and brush over surface of chops and yams.

Cook, covered, until chops are done and yams are hot, about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Pork Chops and Sauerkraut
4 to 6 large shoulder or loin pork chops
2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet
2 tablespoons fat
1 cup sliced onion
1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) sauerkraut, drained
1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce

Brush chops with kitchen bouquet. Brown chops in fat melted in a skillet over moderate heat. Add onion. Cover and cook over low heat until chops are tender, about 30 minutes.

Combine sauerkraut, caraway seed and tomato sauce in skillet, mixing well. Place chops on top of sauerkraut. Bring to boil. Cover and cook slowly 10 minutes longer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Applesauce Plus
Ever add a little grated lemon rind and a suspicion of nutmeg to prepared applesauce? Good to serve with pork.

FESTIVE BAKED HAM — Serve this baked ham with mandarin cheese filling when you want festive buffets the year around. It's elegant, exotic, easy to prepare and delicious!

Crunchy Peanut Brittle Is Delicately Flavored

Do you have a problem Christmas gift list? For example, "What in the world shall I give to Aunt Daphne?" The answer is a fancy glass jar filled with homemade Honey Peanut Brittle.

Do you wonder what season greeting to send to friends across the country? "It should be different, delicious, inexpensive and a good traveler," you say. A box of Honey Peanut Brittle would be just right. Do you ever get caught without a gift to give when an unexpected visitor stops in during the holidays? An extra pretty package of Honey Peanut Brittle will come to your rescue and your guest will never know you hadn't planned on his visit.

Do you like to have your holiday candy dishes hold a personal touch of sweetness? Honey Peanut Brittle is what you need.

Honey Peanut Brittle is a crunchy, nutty, Honey-flavored confection. It is easy to make having only five quick-to-mix ingredients. In fact, it's so simple the preparation of Honey Peanut Brittle might be made a project for an evening of family fun.

Honey Peanut Brittle

1 cup honey
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup peanuts

Boil honey gently for 3 minutes in a heavy skillet, stirring constantly, to prevent burning. Add sugar and continue to cook, stirring constantly until sugar is completely dissolved, and syrup quite thick. Remove from fire. Add baking soda and butter. Stir until blended.

Add peanuts and stir until well mixed. Pour out in a thin sheet on a well-greased platter or marble slab. Crack into pieces when stiff.

HONEY PEANUT BRITTLE — You've eaten peanut brittle, perhaps you've even made it. But have you ever made Honey Peanut Brittle? This mild flavored candy is perfect for gift giving or for serving to guests who drop in.

Slits in Baked Ham Hold Mandarin Cheese Filling

Serve baked ham with mandarin cheese filling when you want an exotic, elegant, easy-to-prepare buffet main dish. It's hard to believe this ham is so simply prepared.

In fact, to save last minute fixin', this ham may be prepared several hours before serving time, arranged on the serving tray and covered with clear plastic wrap and stored in the refrigerator until serving time.

The canned ham is heated and glazed with preserved ginger syrup of honey. After cooling diagonal V-shaped slashes are made across the top of the ham and the slashes filled with mandarin cheese filling. Presto! It's finished as quickly as that.

Complete the menu with a tossed salad, hot rolls, coffee and a glamorous dessert — perhaps peaches flambe' or angel food cake slices topped with whipped cream sweetened with crushed peppermint stick candy. An ideal menu for festive entertaining the year around.

Ham With Mandarin Cheese Filling

1 canned (6 to 8 pound) ham
1/4 cup preserved ginger syrup or strained honey
1 package (8 ounce) cream cheese, room temperature
1 tablespoon cream
1/4 cup finely chopped drained preserved kumquats
1/4 cup finely chopped preserved ginger

Brush ham surface 2 or 3 times for 30 minutes using syrup drained from preserved ginger or honey, as desired. Cool ham.

Blend cream cheese and cream until smooth. Stir in kumquats and preserved ginger. Make 1-inch, deep V-shaped slashes in top of ham on the diagonal and 1-inch apart.

Fill slashes and garnish top with cheese mixture. Chill. Slice the thickness desired. Serve sliced ham with additional cheese pie?

Sacred Spot for Recipe

Upon the pulpit of St. Ambrose Cathedral in Milan is carved a banquet scene commemorating a meat recipe.

As part of his work in feeding the poor, the 4th century bishop, St. Ambrose, conceived the idea of flattening meat slices and covering them with egg and bread crumbs before cooking. His recipe bears the name

"Costoletta alla Milanese" (veal chop Milanese), certainly more poetic in sound than breaded veal chops, says the American Meat Institute. The Feast of St. Ambrose is celebrated on December 7.

Green, but Good

Know your lobster terminology? The greenish part you sometimes see when you split a cooked lobster is called the tomalley—it's the crustacean's liver which turns green when the lobster is boiled.

Dressing Has Base of Orange Juice

A new and interesting dressing for green salad includes curry.

India Dressing

1 can (8 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
1 small onion minced
3 tablespoons minced green pepper

1/2 cup salad oil
1/4 cup cider vinegar
3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
Tabasco sauce to taste
Mix together the undiluted orange concentrate, onion and green pepper; let stand about 1 hour. Strain mixture and discard onion and pepper. Into the seasoned orange concentrate, beat the remaining ingredients until blended. Shake well before using. Store in refrigerator. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Keep Seasoned Flour for Coating Poultry

Do you keep seasoned flour on hand for coating chicken that is to be fried?

The usual proportions for the mixture are 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 1/4 teaspoon pepper; but many cooks like to add, also, 1/4 teaspoon paprika. The paprika helps give the chicken ruddy color.

Head Coach Gets Contract for Indefinite Period

Wilson Retained, But 5 Lions' Aides Fired

Coach George Wilson survived a Detroit Lions house-cleaning Monday, but his staff of five assistants didn't.

William Kay Ford, the Ford Motor Co. executive who purchased the Lions for $6 million last January, said at a news conference that Wilson's contract had been extended "for an indefinite period."

Ford said Wilson and General Manager Edwin J. Anderson jointly agreed to fire assistant coaches Aldo Forte, Don Doll, Bob Nussbaumer, Les Bingham and Sonny Grandelius.

It confirmed earlier reports that Nussbaumer, Bingham and Doll had been fired, but scouted speculation that Wilson also was on the way out.

There was speculation that because Ford no longer had confidence in the men Wilson had hired, he no longer had confidence in Wilson, and was trying to force his head coach to resign.

"No, I wasn't trying to get George to quit," said Ford. "I think he's a good head coach and that's what I want him to do. I felt these guys should go and he went along with it."

There had been earlier reports that some of the Lions' players were unhappy with the coaches and had gone to Ford over Wilson's head.

"We've had disgruntled players before," Wilson said. "Every team has them. It's part of the game."

"But it really shakes me to think they would go behind my back to the front office to air their gripes. And that they would take it out on my assistant coaches, and not on me. That's the part I really don't like."

Wilson would not comment on why he agreed to fire his assistants, including long-time aides Forte, Bingham and Nussbaumer.

"The point is that I want coaching and not conversation," explained Ford. "To suggest that some complaining player had anything to do with it is ridiculous. I'm not going to have the players running my club."

"I'm very proud of the talent we signed off this year's draft and when they come into camp next summer they will not be flustered half-players. We all know that. A college kid needs help, no matter how great he's been."

"And when they come into camp I want them to have the finest coaches in the country there to help them and George has to find some new ones because I didn't think these are the ones. Is there anything wrong with that?"

Ford was asked especially about Nussbaumer, who was replaced as chief talent scout this year by Russ Thomas and stayed on as an assistant only at Wilson's urging.

"I think he's one of the best talent scouts in the country and will have no trouble going anywhere. He had the option to do this job (as an assistant to Thomas) for us and elected not to," Ford said.

Nussbaumer, uncovered such Lions standouts as end Gail Cogdill and defensive tackle Roger Brown.

REACTION

Reaction of the fired coaches ranged from surprise to silence.

"It came as kind of a jolt," said Grandelius, who learned of his ouster while watching television in his native Muskegon, Mich. "I have the greatest respect for Mr. Ford, the Lions organization and Wilson."

"I thought I did my utmost for the players," he added, "and right now it's too early to tell what the future holds."

Doll, who heard a news leak of the firings while watching a televised football game Sunday, wryly said: "Merry Christmas!"

"I can't understand it," he added. "You'd think they at least would have the courtesy to tell us first."

Nussbaumer, a 12-year veteran of the coaching staff, said: "I can't think of any reason for it."

Bingham declined comment and Forte was not available.

The five men have another year to go on their contracts at salaries in the $12,000 to $15,000 range.

TO NEGOTIATE

Wilson, who has a year to go on a three-year contract calling for a reported $47,000, plans to negotiate a new pact with Ford.

Wilson became head coach in 1957 when Buddy Parker quit suddenly. The Lions won the National Football League title that year and have finished second in three other years under Wilson. They were fourth this year with a 7-5 record.

Wilson indicated some of the coaching replacements would come from within the Lions' organization. This would include veteran line-backer Joe Schmidt, who has said he may retire if a dislocated shoulder suffered this year does not respond with painful surgery.

Nussbaumer and Forte came to the Lions shortly after Wilson in 1948. Bingham, former All-Pro Lions' middle guard on the early 1950s championship team, became a full-time coach this year after three years as a part-time assistant. Grandelius was in his first year with Detroit, and Doll in his second.

Reports of player dissatisfaction arose earlier when defensive tackle Alex Karras and Cogdill asked to be traded.

Karras changed his mind after conferring with Ford and Wilson, but Cogdill said: "I think a change of scenery would do me good. I'm in a rut here. I need more motivation and I think a trade might do it."

Michigan Gridders in Good Condition

Open Practice on West Coast

Enjoy Weather After Indoor Sessions

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Michigan Coach Bump Elliott admitted Monday he was very pleased with the condition of his football team.

The Wolverines drilled in the morning, and we just didn't get to practice for an hour, and held both offensive and defensive drills in the afternoon.

The practice sessions were the first for Michigan in preparation for its Jan. 1 Rose Bowl meeting with Oregon State.

"We drilled some back in Michigan during our final examination, and we just didn't get to practice with all of our players at one time," Elliott explained. "I was especially pleased with their physical condition — they are in better shape than I thought they might be."

GOOD WEATHER
Elliott admitted his team enjoyed the weather, which saw temperatures soar to the high 70s by the time the afternoon drill began. The Wolverines had been forced indoors last week by 15-20 degrees temperatures back in Michigan.

Oregon State Coach Tommy Prothro, meanwhile, expressed some concern about getting his players to think about football again.

"They are enjoying the plush accommodations at the hotel and are probably eating too much," Prothro told a group of reporters.

FOOTBALL THOUGHTS

"This Bowl trip is actually a reward for the completed season," Prothro said. "Getting the players to think about football again will take some time, but I'm sure they will come along."

The OSU coach said some of his regulars suffered minor injuries Monday. He refused to name them, saying, "Let's publicize the players who are healthy."

The two teams were to meet for the first time this afternoon — at Disneyland.

7-1 Lone Ranger Needs Support

Scoring Points

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Chamberlain was a 7-foot-1 Lone Ranger for the San Francisco Warriors long before he put on his mask. But the fastest gun in the National Basketball Association could use a little help.

While Chamberlain, wearing a mask to protect a broken nose, added to his league-leading point total last week, the Warriors dropped three of five games and remained bogged down in the Western Division cellar.

Walter Beach Makes Study of Colt Star's Waistline

Walter Beach is studying to be an expert on Ray Berry's waistline.

The former Pontiac Central griddler who plays in his first NFL championship as cornerback for the Cleveland Browns has the job of guarding the Baltimore job end when the two teams meet next Sunday.

Beach has never played against the Baltimore a.c.e. Walter was signed as a free agent by the Browns last season and stepped into a starting role when Jim Shofner retired this year.

How is Beach preparing for his job? He studies Berry's moves by watching Colts' game film and by charting the end's patterns on paper.

"I keep my eyes on the receiver's waist," said Beach. "If I look at his head or his eyes or his shoulders — or just about any other part of his body — he can fake me too easily. Like throw his head one way and cut the other.

"But not his waist. Whenever he mid-section goes, he's got to go too. And once he makes that final cut, then it becomes a matter of timing on my part."

Beach has the speed. He ran the 100-yard dash in 9.6 at Central Michigan College, where he played both offensive and defensive halfback for two years before being drafted by the New York Giants in 1959. He had already spent four years in the Air Force.

GOES TO CANADA

Instead of going to New York, Beach signed with the Hamilton Tiger Cats of the Canadian Football League. He was released after leaving to play in the College All-Star game. Beach returned to the Giants, was cut, and wound up playing for the Boston Patriots of the American Football League until he was released in 1962.

He decided to give it one more fling and tried out for the Browns. Coach Blanton Collier tried him at the cornerback spot and Beach improved with each performance. He has been a regular ever since.

Beach, 29, has been around long enough to know a defensive back can't stop every thing that comes his way.

"I don't want any man to catch anything at all," he said, "but what you really have to do is decide that if he's going to get one, it's going to be in front of you, where you can stop him, not the long pass behind you, the bomb."

Beach has gained respect for Berry by watching the Colts moves.

"Berry has more good moves than anyone I've played against, but other guys, like Del Shofner of the Giants and Terry Barr of the Lions, are much faster," he said. "What I've got to do is keep my position and not commit myself until he commits himself."

"Then I've got to go where he takes me, all the time keeping him between me and Colts' quarterback Johnny Unitas. The thing that makes those two so rough is their perfect timing and Unitas' ability to anticipate Berry's moves."

"Berry gives you two or three takes before he makes his final cut. The average receiver comes at you, makes one fake, then goes."

Beach has been home in Pontiac since last Friday, but returned to Cleveland today as the Browns resumed drills.

Colts Prepare for Scrambler

BALTIMORE (AP) — A spectator at Sunday's National Football League game between Baltimore and Cleveland says he is going to be interested in how the Browns' passer fares.

"The Colt rush on the passer Frank Ryan has been dumped almost the least," observed the observer.

"The thing most people don't realize about this guy Ryan is that he's a good scrambler. A tough runner when it's necessary."

The astute commentator was Don Shula, coach of the Colts. The figures that intrigued him were his Colt pass rushers having thrown rival quarterbacks for losses 57 times while the Cleveland passer was smothered only 28, one more than the season low by San Francisco.

Because of the presence and publicity about hard running Jimmy Brown, Shula says another thing about Cleveland that "since Blanton Collier became coach they've got a passing game going."

"When you play against them you realize it, and it presents a lot of problems. This Ryan has been throwing good and Cleveland presents a real tough offensive picture."

"We got to rush Ryan and put tough coverage on his receivers," summed up Shula.

He left unsaid that this was exactly a strong forte of Baltimore's drive to the Western Conference title. The defense spilled rival quarterbacks for a total of 490 lost yards and gave up the least touchdowns, 28.

Bill Pellington, the proud leader of the defense, boasts "we'll win 24-7. We'll give 'em two field goals by Lou Groza."

Tickets Are Limited

A limited number of adult tickets will go on sale next Monday and Tuesday only at Pontiac Northern for the Central-Northern game to be played at PNH Tuesday, December 29th. Adult tickets are $1.00 and students 75 cents.

WORKOUTS START — Members of the University of Michigan football team trot onto the practice field yesterday at Pasadena, Calif., to start workouts for the Rose Bowl Game Jan. 1, against Oregon State. Leading the parade are tackles Arnie Simkus (70) and Mack Thomas (96) with guard Dennis Flanagan (64).

22 Receive NCAA Scholarships

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The NCAA awarded post-graduate scholarships worth $1,000 each today to 22 players who are also standout scholars. The new program is financed by football television fees.

Each candidate qualified by maintaining a minimum 3.0, or straight B grade average and by showing outstanding talents in football. Both requirements were rated equally.

Eleven scholars went to university division, or major college players. One alternate was selected in each division, in case one of the winners in his division is unable to accept.

A. D. Kirwan of Kentucky, chairman of the NCAA committee on post-graduate scholarships, announced the 22 winners.

10 MORE PENDING

He added that 10 more scholarships will be given to basketball scholar-athletes.

The major college winners were John Kelly of Brown, Pat Donnelly of Navy, Tom Bell of Clemson, Arnold Chonko of Ohio State, Ron Oelschlaeger of Kansas, Mike Kennedy of Baylor, Ed Faust of Air Force Academy, Jim Ellis of Texas Tech, Russell Mowrer of Colorado State and Bill Eastlake of Xavier, Ohio.

of Montana State College, Robert Jones of Redlands, Steven Ingram of Bowdoin, Steven Miller of Cornell, Iowa, and Phillip Stearns of Ripon.

Alternates were Joe Neal of Stanford and Pete Smith of Tufts.

Sixty-six players were nominated and district selection committees pared this list to 48. The NCAA receives four per cent of the football television rights fees and this was used to start the post-graduate scholarship program.

Five of the 22 winners plan to study medicine, four mathematics, three engineering and three law.

Other committee members besides Kirwan are Robert Bernreuter of Penn State, Capt. Peter Dawkins of Army, Leo A. Harris of Oregon, Jerome H. Holland of Hampton, Laurence C. Woodruff of Kansas and Carl A. Troester, American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Ducks Prevent Try for Mark by Bluebird

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Ducks, hundreds of them, prevented Donald Campbell, the British speed ace, from giving his Bluebird an all-out tryout at Lake Dumbleyung today.

Flocks of wild ducks flew overhead as Campbell gunned his powerful craft to 150 miles per hour. Some of the birds darted within a few feet of the boat.

Campbell muttered through his microphone at one stage.

"I'm touching 150," he said. "Ducks all over the place. One just missed me. I'll need machine-guns to beat them off."

After the run Campbell said any further high speed runs would be impossible until something could be done about the ducks. He said he planned to consult experts.

He is attempting to break his own world water speed record of 200.3 m.p.h., which he set on Lake Coniston, England, May 14, 1959.

POST MORTEM — William Clay Ford (left) head coach George Wilson and general manager Edwin Anderson announce the decision to fire the Detroit Lions' five assistant coaches after a press conference yesterday evening. Wilson was retained as head coach and would be given a new contract.

Catholic Fives May Form Loop of 8 Schools

CINCINNATI (U) — Eight Midwestern Catholic colleges may band together to form a basketball conference for the 1965-66 season, Xavier University's athletic director James J. McCafferty said Monday.

"Eight schools are involved, and thus far four schools, including Xavier, have already expressed interest," McCafferty said on being told that such a project was discussed at a basketball writers' luncheon in Chicago.

McCafferty declined to name the other three interested schools, but said the eight colleges involved in the project are Canisius, Dayton, DePaul, Detroit, Duquesne, Loyola of Chicago, Marquette and Xavier.

Loyola officials indicated they would not be interested.

"We used this simply as a starting point, since all of the schools are within a 400-mile radius of each other. We are interested in other schools and if the conference proves attractive enough, we then perhaps could have an East and West division," McCafferty said.

Hoosiers Have 7-0 Record

By The Associated Press

Basketballs don't bounce much back home in Indiana. They're too busy dropping through the hoop. Indiana's unbeaten Hoosiers parlayed the deadly outside shooting of Tom VanArsdale and Al Harden into a 107-81 rout of upstate neighbor Notre Dame at Fort Wayne Monday night. It was the seventh victory for the Big Ten dark horses, whose 93.6 points-per-game pace has carried them to eighth place in the Associated Press national ratings.

VanArsdale one of the Hoosiers' 6-foot-5 twin-brother tandem, potted nine of 12 shots from the floor and took game scoring honors with 21 points.

Harden came off the bench midway through the first half and hit six of seven field goal attempts, turning the contest into a runaway.

Indiana shot just under 500 from the field and missed only two of 27 free throws in handling the Irish their third straight setback.

HOTSHOT

Another Hoosier hotshot, Purdue's Dave Schellhase, connected on 16 of 26 shots and nine of 11 free flips, pulling the Boilermakers from a 20-point deficit to a 79-75 decision over Ohio U. at Lafayette, Ind.

Schellhase bagged 28 points in the second half as Purdue ran its season mark to 5-1. Providence and Utah extended their winning streaks to seven and Morehead's 49-42 loss to Murray State in the first round of the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament at Louisville cut the major college unbeaten list to 10 teams.

Wolverines Bounce Back to No. 1

Chargers Top Scorer May Miss Title Game

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (U) — Flanker back Lance Alworth's injured knee is playing a key role in the San Diego Chargers' plans for the American Football League championship game Saturday with Buffalo.

With Alworth a doubtful starter, Coach Sid Gillman is preparing Jerry Robinson to take over as flanker.

Alworth, the Chargers' leading scorer with 90 points, will play in the championship game if he is able — and he hopes he will be.

"I'll be all right," Alworth said, and team trainer, Jim Van Dusen thinks he has a good chance to play. Alworth hurt his knee Sunday in the Chargers' 21-20 loss to Oakland.

RARE DRILL

Robinson, who has not scored this year, ran through the assignments Monday as the Chargers held a rare, day-after-the-game drill.

"Robinson will do a good job," Gillman said. Gillman has not picked a quarterback for the title game.

It will be either John Hadl or Tobin Rote and the choice would have been easy a month ago when Hadl was on a winning streak.

But Hadl has been slumping lately and Gillman may pick retiring veteran Rote, the man who directed San Diego's 51-10 defeat of Boston in last year's championship game.

Gillman, as is his custom, said he will announce his choice at the end of the week.

While the Chargers will practice in San Diego until Thursday, Gillman is in no hurry to get the team exposed to Buffalo's brand of weather.

"If it would be possible to go later, I would. For a one-game proposition, I don't believe in going early."

"I don't believe you should get in the weather just for the sake of being in the weather."

"When we had our three-game undefeated trip to the East, we worked out in the West Point field house while it was cold and rainy," Gillman said.

"It's all on the line this week. Let's get it going."

Wismar contended that he permitted Bryant to buy 200 shares of stock, originally allotted to Wismar, with the understanding that when Bryant decided to sell, Wismar would be given the first option to buy.

Bryant was the sole stockholder to dissent when the Lions were purchased for $6 million last year by auto millionaire William Clay Ford.

Oilers to Name Coach

HOUSTON (U) — The Houston Oilers were expected to name Hugh Bones Taylor, 41, their new head coach at a news conference today.

The Dallas, Tex., golfer won $29,000 in official tournaments and $2,120 in non-sanctioned tournaments, Leonard F. Wirtz, tournament director of the LPGA, announced Monday. She won 11 official tournaments.

Wirtz said the $341,400 total money paid this year was the highest ever in 32 official and one unofficial event. Fifty-six women golfers shared the money.

WANT PRO RULES

Sixty-five voters advocated the adoption of other pro rules by the colleges, including 43 for the return of the goal posts to the goal line. Nine favored a change in the rule that would enable a ball carrier to continue running after he had slipped to his knees or fallen without being tackled. Eight others said the defensive team should be permitted to advance a fumbled ball.

Other suggested changes included sudden death overtime to avoid tie games, the elimination of face masks and nose guards and increasing the value of a touchdown from six to seven points.

ers held a rare, day-after-the-game drill.

"Robinson will do a good job," Gillman said. Gillman has not picked a quarterback for the title game.

It will be either John Hadl or Tobin Rote and the choice would have been easy a month ago when Hadl was on a winning streak.

But Hadl has been slumping lately and Gillman may pick retiring veteran Rote, the man who directed San Diego's 51-10 defeat of Boston in last year's championship game.

Gillman, as is his custom, said he will announce his choice at the end of the week.

While the Chargers will practice in San Diego until Thursday, Gillman is in no hurry to get the team exposed to Buffalo's brand of weather.

"If it would be possible to go later, I would. For a one-game proposition, I don't believe in going early."

"I don't believe you should get in the weather just for the sake of being in the weather."

"When we had our three-game undefeated trip to the East, we worked out in the West Point field house while it was cold and rainy," Gillman said.

His speech to the team before practice was brief and to the point:

"It's all on the line this week. Let's get it going."

Wismar contended that he permitted Bryant to buy 200 shares of stock, originally allotted to Wismar, with the understanding that when Bryant decided to sell, Wismar would be given the first option to buy.

Bryant was the sole stockholder to dissent when the Lions were purchased for $6 million last year by auto millionaire William Clay Ford.

Oilers to Name Coach

HOUSTON (U) — The Houston Oilers were expected to name Hugh Bones Taylor, 41, their new head coach at a news conference today.

The Dallas, Tex., golfer won $29,000 in official tournaments and $2,120 in non-sanctioned tournaments, Leonard F. Wirtz, tournament director of the LPGA, announced Monday. She won 11 official tournaments.

Wirtz said the $341,400 total money paid this year was the highest ever in 32 official and one unofficial event. Fifty-six women golfers shared the money.

Mike Murphy scored 23 points last night to lead St. Frederick to a 59-52 non-league basketball victory over Warren Woods at Madison junior high.

The game was shifted from tonight because the gym wasn't available.

Murphy received scoring help from Tony Bellisario who netted 16 points. The Rams led most of the way, although they were unable to open a comfortable margin.

Rangers Start Promised Move With Duff Deal

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Rangers, winless in their last six games, have started the shakeup Coach Red Sullivan promised when the club began its slide.

The Rangers swapped left wing Dick Duff, a major disappointment this season, to the Montreal Canadiens for forward Billy Hicke in a four player National Hockey League trade Monday night.

As part of the deal the Rangers received a 19-year league goaltender Jean Guy Morissette from Cleveland of the American League and sent left wing Dave McCob from their Central League farm club at St. Paul to the Canadiens' organization.

Other receiving voters, listed alphabetically: Kentucky, Miami, Ohio (1), New Mexico, Providence, St. John's, N.Y., St. Joseph's, Pa., Tennessee, Utah, Utah State, Vanderbilt, Villanova.

Players of NAB Loop Slapped With Penalties was assessed a $35 fine for the fight. Muskegon's Joe Roberts was fined $20 for threatening a game official after the contest.

LATE ARRIVAL

Chicago's Frank Merrillweather and Porter Burks were hit with $25 fines apiece for arriving late at the tilt, which Chicago won in overtime, 111-110.

The fines must be paid before the players can participate in the next NABL tilt, announced Todish, a Grand Rapids' sporting goods dealer.

Chicago's next game is Christmas night in Grand Rapids and the Bombers will visit Benton Harbor the following night. Muskegon will be host to the Pontiac Nationals Saturday, also.

The local pros will be unhappy if Burton balks at paying the stiff fine (which amounts to one game's salary for him) since he is among the leaders in points scored and rebounds.

He was a hardwood terror for three periods before he ran out of gas as the Nationals pulled out a fourth-quarter, 109-103 victory there in November, their first NABL victory.

Vern McNeal of the Bombers

Commissioner Bob Todish is in his first season as leader of the North American Basketball League; but he has shown he'll take no shenanigans from the veteran players.

Todish Monday announced fines for three Muskegon Panthers and two Chicago Bombers stemming from two incidents at their game Dec. 5th.

"Big Ed" Burton, 6-6 and 220 pounds, was hit the hardest. The Muskegon center was slapped with a $100 fine for his part in an extensive fight with several Chicago players during the game.

U.S., Egypt Join in Plane Incident Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — American and Egyptian officials are cooperating in the investigation of an incident Dec. 19 in which an American oil company plane was shot down near Alexandria by United Arab Republic jets, according to the State Department.

Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said yesterday that no diplomatic action has been taken and none is expected before the investigation ends.

The plane's American pilot, Hoyt Williams, a 44-year-old Texan, and the Swedish flight mechanic, 35-year-old Kjell Grupp, were killed.

McCloskey said an account of the incident, which combines details communicated to the U.S. Embassy in Cairo by the UAW government and a report received from the American consular general in Alexandria, agreed in general with Egypt's claim.

McCloskey said he did not know if the plane's owner, the John W. McCorm Oil Co. of Houston, Tex., or the pilot had filed flight plans for the trip across UAW territory from Amman, Jordan, to Benghazi, Libya.

FOUR-DAY WEEK: Howard Coughlin, president of the Office Employees' International Union

(AFL-CIO), held out the prospect yesterday of a four-day week which "if translated into jobs as of this moment would immediately eliminate our unemployment in the United States."

"We may be able to announce the first (contract) acceptance of the four-day week at a very early date," Coughlin said.

The union is proposing a four-day, 32-hour week with salaries the same as for the present five-day week. White-collar workers would work on one of three shifts, Monday-Thursday, Tuesday-Friday or Wednesday-Saturday.

Coughlin said the proposal "would not reduce efficiency. It would mean more expense to the employer. It would also give him a sixth day to do business and I think this would more than compensate him for the reduced workweek."

NORTHEAST: O. Roy Chalk, chairman of Trans Caribbean Airways Inc., has offered to buy Northeast Airlines and operate its New York-Jakarta passenger service at low cost jet rates.

His proposal was sent yesterday to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Chalk said his offer "is based upon our belief that a third carrier, who could offer the traveling public low-cost jet transportation at less than four cents a mile, would open up a whole new market that the existing carriers to Florida have not yet penetrated."

Both Eastern and National air lines currently operate the Florida route along with Northeast. Northeast has been fighting a CAB ruling that only two lines are needed on the route and that Northeast's authority be ended.

King's College, now Columbia University, was founded in 1754.

Most conventions are adopted by experts first, then by writers and teachers and finally by regular players.

This procedure was reversed in the case of the Blackwood convention. It was enthusiastically accepted by ordinary players while experts disdained it for a long while. Even today there are some who try to avoid using it.

Of course, there are some hands with which you don't want to use Blackwood, but if you are able to count enough strength to warrant a slam bid all by yourself, if you are not void in any suit, and don't hold two quick losers in a suit bid by your opponents or unbid by your side, it is downright silly not to check for aces as a precautionary measure before bidding a slam.

I was strongly reminded of this by one of the hands shown in the American Contract Bridge League's book of hands from the World Bridge Olympiad.

It seems that both East players opened with one diamond and both South players overcalled with two spades. In each showed a good six card suit and 12 to 15 high card points. So each North player decided that his hand warranted a six bid.

One checked for aces with Blackwood—the other simply jumped to the slam.

This time it didn't matter. South did have an ace for his two spade call, but he might have held the king of diamonds and queen of clubs and no ace of spades.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
 West North East South
 1♦ 1♠ 1♥ 1♠
 Pass 1♦ Pass 1♦
 You, South, hold:
 ♠ 7 5 4 3 ♠ 8 5 4 ♠ 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2
 What do you do?
 A—Pass. You have four spades, but no hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION

West bids two clubs. North and East pass. What do you do now?

New Design for Overpass

LANSING (AP) — A new type of overpass, designed to increase motorist safety, will be built on two Michigan freeways next year, reports the State Highway Department.

The new design will eliminate the need for two of the three supporting piers now used in building overpasses. Ellipse-tion of the two outside piers will increase visibility, provide more side clearance and remove potential traffic hazards, State Highway Commissioner John Mackie said.

Use of the design is restricted to crossings where local roads cross at right angles and where the total length of the overpass is less than 225 feet. A single continuous steel beam span is used.

Eleven of the new type of overpasses will be built on I-49 in Branch and Calhoun counties and five on I-75 in Bay County.

A paint that will help keep a house warmer in winter and another that can protect buildings against the extreme heat of a nuclear explosion reportedly can be developed with the aid of a new mathematical formula.

'Virginia Woolf' to Be His First

Mike Nichols Will Start at Top in Directing Movies

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD—"What makes you think you can direct a movie?" I asked Mike Nichols. "I don't know that I can," he replied. "The only way to find out is to try it."

So he's trying it, and he's starting at the top. Next March 22 he will begin directing "Barfoot in the Park" for Warner Brothers.

THOMAS
Afrail of Virginia Woolf? for Warner Brothers.

Nichols has been successful at nearly everything to which he has turned his hand.

ENJOYED SUCCESS
As comedian-actor he enjoyed enormous success with Elaine May, their satires knifing to the quick contemporary society. They could have sustained a long career in night clubs, television and on the stage.

Elaine has turned to writing and is working on a play for Gwen Verdon, Nichols reports. His own bent has been toward directing, and he has been hailed as the brightest new director on Broadway.

His direction of "Barfoot in the Park" helped make it one of last season's hits, and the three-character "Luv" is one of this year's few successes.

Nichols, 33, here for conferences with studio boss Jack L. Warner and producer Ernest Lehman, said he has aimed at directing films for 10 years. He had already contracted to do two movies when "Virginia Woolf" came up. He is well-acquainted with the Burtons and believes that they asked for him.

A SECRET
How does he plan to put the lengthy, talky and sometimes bawdy Edward Albee play on the screen?

"That's a secret," he said. "I'd rather put my energy into making the picture rather than talking about it. I think it's better that way."

He did reveal that he plans to spend two weeks of rehearsing before turning a camera; he hopes to shoot in sequence, from the beginning to the end—"I think it's easier to do that when you're not concerned with large bodies of troops."

The idea of operating without an audience doesn't faze him. "I'm an audience," he said. "And I hope that the preview system would provide enough of a response to make certain changes in cutting if they were needed."

Does he miss performing? "Not at all. Elaine and I will still do a few things like the Jack Paar Show. But we're both happy with what we're doing."

Chief Detective Retires

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Chief of Police Detectives Thomas E. Cochill, 50, announced his retirement Monday to take a post as chief of police in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores.

Legendary Tree Is in Blossom

Claim English Site Was Visited by Christ

GLASTONBURY, England (AP) — A thorn tree is blossoming today in Glastonbury, where legend says Christ once walked. All around the other trees stand bleak and bare.

Every year for centuries, the old stories go, the strange tree blossoms in the peaceful Somerset town when men celebrate the birth of Christ.

The garbled thorn in the churchyard is supposed to have descended from the staff of Joseph of Arimathea, who provided Christ's tomb and who legend says visited Glastonbury almost 2,000 years ago.

People call it the Holy Thorn. NO ONE KNOWS

No one really knows how much truth and how much legend there is in the story of the Glastonbury Thorn.

It is known that the tree is of Palestinian origin and that as a species it has been in Glastonbury a very long time. Through the centuries it has been reproduced by cuttings. It rarely flourishes in England outside Glastonbury.

The tree in the churchyard is 60 years old, the biggest specimen in the town. On this spot, the legend goes, the first sacred thorn tree grew.

In Glastonbury and England's West Country the story is devoutly believed by young and old. On Christmas people drive up to peer over the churchyard wall at the splash of white amid the winter drabness.

WHITE BLOSSOMS
"The thorn always puts out white blossoms at Christmas-tide," says the vicar, the Rev. Hugh Knapman. "By Christmas-tide I don't necessarily mean Christmas Day. The blossoms come some time in late December. Sometimes we get groups of people who look at the thorn as though they were expecting it suddenly to go whoosh in a burst of blossom."

One legend says Christ visited Glastonbury during the years before his ministry. It is the basis for the words in William Blake's "Jerusalem":
"And did those feet
In ancient time
Walk upon England's Mountain's green?"

Here, many believe, Christianity in England was born.

"I personally think it is very unlikely that Joseph of Arimathea ever came here and even less likely that our Lord did," says the Rev. Mr. Knapman. "But there are people who find that it strengthens their faith to pay attention to these stories and I would never criticize them."

Ruling Expected on Halting Train Run Across State

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan State Police Commission (PSC) is expected to rule within two weeks on a proposal by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad to abandon two passenger trains daily between Detroit and Grand Rapids.

Action on the proposal can be expected shortly, a PSC spokesman said, because the railroad plans to discontinue the trains effective Jan. 4.

The C & O contends that it is losing about $70,000 a year in operating the two trains, one of which leaves Grand Rapids at 7:30 a.m., arriving in Detroit at 10:30 a.m., and the other leaving Detroit at 5:30 p.m., arriving in Grand Rapids at 8:25 p.m. Both trains travel by way of Lansing.

At a public hearing Monday, a motion by John Holden, attorney for the railroad, that the hearing be dismissed was denied. He contended that the railroad may cut off the trains without PSC intervention as long as two passenger trains operate over the route daily.

QUESTION ARISES
But Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said there was a question of whether two other trains from Detroit and Grand Rapids which depart around midnight fit that definition. These trains mainly carry mail, and if they are not true passenger trains the railroad must apply to the commission for permission to discontinue the other service, he said.

Nationalist Chinese Pilot Captured

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced today it captured a Nationalist Chinese pilot whose reconnaissance plane was shot down over East China.

Peking radio said the pilot was Maj. Hsieh Hsiang-bo. The Nationalist air force announced Saturday that one of its RF101s was missing on a coastal mission.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union has cast its 103rd veto in the U.N. Security Council, killing a U.S.

British resolution deploring the fighting on the Israeli - Syrian border last Nov. 13.

Soviet delegate Platon D. Morozov said in Monday's proceedings that the resolution put Syria on the same footing as Israel. The council vote was 8-3, with Czechoslovakia and Morocco voting with the Russians.

Last Thursday the council rejected a Soviet-backed Moroccan resolution condemning Israel for the clash.

MOSCOW (AP) — Congolese

Charge d'Affaires M. Gaston Ngambani, expelled by the Soviet Union for "hostile activities," left by plane for Brussels today after unusual delays in passing through customs.

Ngambani carried a diplomatic passport and his belongings were not searched. But Soviet officials spent more than 30 minutes examining the luggage of his chauffeur, Jean Nkizinduli. They even played a tape on Nkizinduli's recorder.

MANILA (AP) — President

Diosdado Macapagal ordered Justice Secretary Salvador Marino today to make an on-the-spot inquiry into three recent incidents at U.S. military bases which have touched off anti-American sentiment.

The incidents include the fatal shooting of two Filipinos by American guards and a reported attempt to bomb an American elementary school at Clark Air Base.

Opposition congressmen have called for a congressional investigation. Some demand that the U.S. waive jurisdiction so the guards can be tried in Philippine courts.

PARIS (AP) — Four French doctors have made what they believe is a new discovery in the cultivation of cancerous growths.

The doctors, led by Prof. Bernard Halpern, reported to the Academy of Sciences Monday that separate cancerous cells cultivated under special conditions tend to stick together and from a cancerous "structure." Healthy cells treated under the same conditions did not form into a mass.

When the massed cancerous cells are grafted onto a healthy animal, the animal quickly develops malignant tumors, the doctors reported.

Taft-Hartley Change Splits Farm Units

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Major farm groups have lined up two-to-one against organized labor's intensified drive to knock out a federal law which allows individual states to adopt "right-to-work" statutes.

Allied with labor in the campaign is the National Farmers Union. Opposing the drive are the American Farm Bureau Federation and the National Grange.

The goal of the labor push is early action in the new Congress to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act.

This is the legislation authorizing states to ban the inclusion contracts between unions and employers. Some 20 states have adopted right-to-work laws under the mantle of Section 14B.

The Democratic platform for 1964 pledged the party to oppose such laws.

SURE OF SUPPORT

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, announced after a meeting with President Johnson this week that he was sure the President would support the platform. But Johnson gave no commitment on just how he would do that.

The National Grange, at its recent annual convention, adopted a 1965 policy resolution endorsing "continued state jurisdiction over 'right-to-work' laws."

The Farm Bureau Federation took the same stand at its annual convention earlier this month, reaffirming its past positions in the labor field. It also advised its state units to actively support adoption of right-to-work legislation in their home states.

The Farmers Union, which has frequently been allied with organized labor on major issues, has listed repeal of the controversial federal law as one of eight top-priority items for "immediate action" by the new Congress.

'ABUSE OF POWER'

Farm Bureau policy-makers said their endorsement of right-to-work laws was based on the belief that "no person should be deprived of his right to work because of membership or lack of membership in any organization."

The farm group's resolution said "compulsory unionism contributes to abuse of power by labor union leaders..."

Farmers Union leaders charged that the Taft-Hartley section which permits state union shop laws "has served to undermine our free trade union institutions, and threatens the job security of millions of men and women, many of whom are from rural America."

The pro and con lineup is somewhat unusual. On most agricultural policy questions in recent years, the Grange and Farmers Union have backed Kennedy-Johnson programs against attacks from the Farm Bureau.

Purge Stymies Viet War Plans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U)—The military purge of South Viet Nam's civilian government has stymied plans being worked out to extend the war against the Communist Viet Cong outside South Viet Nam, American officials said today.

The United States had made plans to step up aid to the Saigon government and for new measures against Communist infiltration. But these were contingent on the existence of a stable South Vietnamese regime.

American officials said that since the military dissolution Sunday of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's provisional legislature, a stable government has not existed and planning talks are indefinitely in abeyance.

The talks will resume only if the young generals who carried out the purge capitulate to the extent of creating some kind of legislature with real authority, the Americans said.

As factions of Vietnamese generals jockeyed for position, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh appeared today to have been ousted from command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

No talks of any kind were held today between U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and ranking Vietnamese, civilian or military.

Since a one-hour meeting Sunday with four of the young generals, Taylor has had no direct contact with any of them.

POLITICAL PRISONERS
The U.S. mission has made even preliminary talks between the ambassador and the young generals contingent on the surrender to the custody of civilian officials of all political prisoners arrested Sunday.

All the prisoners were reported still in military hands today.

The "situation in Saigon seemed to be slipping rapidly into chaos following the weekend power bid by the group, known as the 'Young Turks.' Khanh was reported struggling to preserve his authority but apparently it was a losing battle.

MAY LEAVE
Reliable sources said Khanh's wife would leave the country soon and that he might accompany her.

Secret meetings were being held in Saigon, with generals, civilian leaders and U.S. Embassy representatives hurrying from one office to another.

American officials were discouraged at the military return to the political arena.

Burch Ties Fate to Undecided on GOP Unit

Vows Fight to the End to Keep Post as Party National Chairman

WASHINGTON (U)—An uncommitted group of from 15 to 30 National Committee members appeared likely today to decide whether Dean Burch holds on to his job as GOP national chairman.

Burch made it clear Monday after a conference with Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller, that he intends to go down to the wire fighting to retain his $30,000-a-year post.

The chairman told an informal news conference in the driveway in front of Goldwater's apartment he believes he has the solid backing of 65 of the 122 National Committee members who will meet in Chicago Jan. 22 and 23 to determine whether he will continue to head the party machinery.

He said he thinks 15 to 30 additional members are leaning in his direction but said they are "assailable" by the party progressives who have been calling for his scalp as a symbol of the Republicans' Nov. 3 defeat.

Miller told a previous news conference he thinks Burch should stay on even if he wins a test by only one vote.

FORMER CHAIRMAN
Miller, a former GOP chairman, said he thinks Burch could build up the broad support he said any chairman would have to have by demonstrating in a few months that "he wants to be national chairman of all Republicans."

Tax Package No Present, Says County

Oakland County officials were wondering this morning if there really is a Santa Claus. The Michigan State Tax Commission notified the County Equalization Department yesterday that local assessors must follow the commission's new assessment schedule for personal property in 1965.

The revised schedule, which increased depreciation allowances on industrial machinery and equipment, will take a healthy bite out of the county's estimated tax revenue for next year.

County officials are estimating a $25-million loss in state equalized valuation, resulting in a $1.5-million loss in estimated receipts.

County officials declined comment on the commission's announcement this morning.

MEETING SET

A meeting of the county equalization committee was scheduled to discuss the ramifications of the commission's decision and plan a course of action.

Oakland and several other counties, at the invitation of the commission, had submitted their own versions of a revised depreciation schedule that would have meant smaller losses of revenue.

The state's plan is designed to provide a "tax break" for Michigan industry, but it provides no means for counties, cities and school districts to recoup their losses.

New Music Concept to Be Formed at OU

A new concept in music will be developed at Oakland University next summer, Walter S. Collins, dean of Oakland's newly formed Meadow Brook School of Music, revealed today in Detroit.

In its unique approach to training serious orchestral and choral students and conductors, Oakland will combine the capacities of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the university in four credit-granting sessions beginning July 6, 1965.

The first summer session will run through Aug. 14.

Six-week instrumental programs for orchestral students and conductors and four-week sessions for vocal students and directors will be scheduled to coincide with the distinguished Meadow Brook Music Festival launched to national acclaim by the university last summer.

Under the guidance of Oakland faculty, eminent Detroit Symphony musicians and visiting solo artists, students will be offered valuable musical experience with the opportunity of earning up to six hours of college credit.

Oakland has assembled potential forces for its new Meadow Brook School of Music.

TO DIRECT SCHOOL

Sixteen Ehring, Detroit Symphony conductor, has been appointed professor of music at the university and will be director of the festival series.

TFX Makes Successful Airborne Test

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The sleek fighter plane which figured in the stormy TFX debate successfully executed an airborne test yesterday although a minor malfunction cut short the maiden flight.

The supersonic F111, a multi-purpose craft commonly called the TFX, made a 21-minute test hop from Carswell Air Force Base and its brief performance brought praise from many quarters.

Citations came from both the Air Force and the Navy, for whom the swept-wing aircraft was designed.

The test was scheduled for 40 minutes but was cut in half because the two-man crew was unable to retract the plane's wing flaps after takeoff.

UP AND AWAY — The U.S. Air Force F111 supersonic fighter, known around the world as the controversial TFX, lifts off the runway at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday on its maiden flight. A minor malfunction cut the trial run to 21 minutes.

Heavy Rains Whip Areas in Far West

Record Snowfalls
Pile Up in Northern Plateau Regions

By The Associated Press

More than 2,000 persons were evacuated from their flood-stricken homes in communities in the Eel River Valley in Northern California during the night as more heavy rain swept areas in the Far West.

Rain and strong winds also lashed sections of Oregon and Washington and 50 families near Portland were forced to leave their homes.

About 800 residents of Orick, Calif., 45 miles north of Eureka, were forced from their homes as Redwood Creek, a normally placid stream, inundated the community.

All highways leading into the town were flooded.

Earlier more than 1,300 persons were evacuated from their homes in communities in the Eel River Valley in Northern California.

600 LEAVE

Some 600 residents in the summer resort town of Weott, Calif., 50 miles south of Eureka, fled their homes as the Eel River rose toward a record crest.

The community was under 5 feet of water. Weather Bureau officials predicted the river.
