Rescuers Recover Bodies of 11 Coal Miners

Need Help on Lions TV?

One of 'em Sits Very Near You, Governor Told

State Rep. Farrell E. Roberts, West Bloomfield Township Republican, today urged Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams to "do something practical" to get the Detroit-Cleveland football game televised in Detroit and "stop the talk for publicity."

Roberts said in a telegram to the governor:

"Suggest you stop wasting funds on telephoning Bert Bell telling him to televise the Lions-Browns game Sunday and do something practical to get the game on TV in the Detroit area.

"Lt. Gov. Phil Hart has an office on the same floor of the Capitol building as yours, he is a stockholder and member of board of directors of the Detroit Lions, he is a member of the Briggs family long prominent in Detroit sports affairs.

"If you want to do something more then just get publicity in televising this game you might walk down to Lt. Gov. Hart's office and enlist his aid. He certainly should have a lot of influence in the league because of his position and connection.

"Let's stop the talk for publicity and take some action to benefit the hundreds of thousands of fans who can't get into the stadium Sunday."

The Lions and Browns meet in Briggs Stadium for the national football league championship. All seats have been sold. The championship game is under the supervision of Commissioner Bell, who has ruled that under league regulations there can be no telecast within 75 miles of the game site.

★ ★

President Edwin J. Anderson of the Lions has urged Bell to lift the TV blackout. Anderson said he had unanimous support of Lion directors. He said other league members had voted 11-1 against him.

★ ★ ★

Bell steadfastly has declined to raise the ban, and said upon his arrival to take over direction of the game yesterday: "It wouldn't be fair to the fellows who have bought their tickets to tell them now you could have stayed home and seen it for nothing on TV."

★ ★ ★

Around 40,000 seats went to season ticket holders at $10 and $7.50 each. The remainder, including bleacher seats and 4,000 standing room admissions at $5 each, went on public sale yesterday. The stadium seats 52,555.

The Lions expect to crowd in close to 57,000.

Prenatal Stress Can Affect Baby

Psychologist Describes Results of Rat Tests at Scientific Parley

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—New tests indicate babies can be emotionally scarred by what happens to their mothers during pregnancy.

Pregnant rats made emotionally anxious in the tests produced offspring which were abnormal emotionally. The effects are relatively permanent.

In one surprise, mice born to normal mothers developed emotional changes when reared by foster mothers who had been subjected to emotional stress.

The experiments were described today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by William R. Thompson, psychologist of Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

He said some human studies indicate that emotional upsets suffered by a woman can seriously affect the unborn baby. The influence is possibly transmitted by changes in the mother's hormone system.

★ ★ ★

Thompson devised elaborate tests to measure the effect when pregnant rats were made highly anxious, or subjected to electrical shocks.

While results are not clear-cut, they appear to confirm earlier work Thompson did with smaller numbers of animals.

"They strongly suggest that stress . . . has definite effects on the emotional behavior of the offspring," he said.

New Regulations to Aid Traffic Flow on Dixie

Ban Left Turns at Williams Lake, Walton Intersections Soon

Left turns from Dixie Highway onto Williams Lake Rd., on the west, and onto Walton Blvd., to the east, will be prohibited within the next week, according to acting District Traffic Engineer Joseph Marlow of the Michigan State Highway department.

No Left Turn signs will be installed and will serve until two new cut-offs have been constructed at that intersection to better handle the heavy traffic flow, Marlow said.

The proposed roads have been planned for more than two years, and construction should begin about May 1, Marlow added.

Motorists approaching Pontiac from the north, who want to make a left turn from Dixie Highway to Walton Blvd., will turn right on the new cut-over to Walton Blvd., then cross Dixie Highway to Walton.

If the motorist is going north (towards Flint) and wishes to turn left on Williams Lake Rd., he will turn right on a new cut-over to Walton Blvd., then cross Dixie to Williams Lake road.

★ ★ ★

Another troublesome spot that is past the planning stage, is located at the point where Scott Lake road ends at Dixie Highway.

★ ★ ★

Right-of-way crews are now acquiring 80-feet on the east side of Dixie Highway. Eventually a motorist approaching Scott Lake Rd. from Pontiac, wishing to make a left turn onto Scott Lake Rd., will bear to the right, then loop back across Dixie Highway, Marlow explained.

A signal light will also be installed at that point.

Records show that Dixie Highway in the Waterford Township area, has an average traffic flow of 25,000 vehicles during a 24-hour period. In the summer months, the number is increased by some 10,000 motorists.

Tours Quake Region

TEHRAN (AP) — The Shah of Iran today flew to Kermanshah on a two-day tour of the Zagros Mountain area of west Iran, where 1,288 persons were killed in recent earthquakes. The Shah will supervise the start of erecting prefabricated wooden houses for nearly 30,000 homeless.

New York Thief Grabs Himself a Bag of Woe

NEW YORK (INS) — Somewhere in New York there is a snatch-and-grab thief whose first New Year's resolution ought to be to look before grabbing.

That way he would avoid a repetition of the nasty moment yesterday when he opened a package whisked out of the hands of Allen Barnett, 16, in a New York subway station. His loot: One four-foot boa constrictor and 11 iguana-type lizards.

They were pets, the youth told police, and very gentle. So far both the thief and the reptiles, all non-poisonous, are missing.

Call for Claims on Antarctic

Two GOP Congressmen Want U. S. to Press for Pole Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senior congressional Republicans today called on the U.S. government to stake out its claims to the antarctic.

One of them, Rep. Tollefson (R-Wash), said he has been informed that the nation's top strategy-making group—the National Security Council—"approves the objectives" of Tollefson's antarctic claims bill now before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Rep. Judd (R-Minn), a senior committee member, said, "Our government ought to press now for a settlement (of antarctic claims) that will be just and equitable."

RIVALS MAY STALL BID

Otherwise, Judd said, rival claimants are likely to get into years of hassling as the claims get firmer and new values are found for the vast subcontinent.

The legislators spoke in interviews on the heels of fresh reports of international interest in South Pole area. Moscow radio reported two heavily laden expeditions are heading for the magnetic pole and the geographic South Pole.

British and New Zealand groups also are on their way to the geographic center, where a U.S. scientific expedition is already encamped. The Soviets are hurrying an icebreaker to survey along the shore of an unclaimed area.

HAVE NO CLAIMS

Although American expeditions have explored far more of the frozen land than has any other nation, the United States has not laid claim to any territory there. It also refuses to recognize claims of other countries.

Yule Snow Is Tardy, to Stay a Few Days

Predawn snow arrived late for Christmas in the Pontiac area, and the weather Bureau predicts it will be with us for the next few days.

Tonight will be cloudy and colder with a low around 20 degrees and tomorrow will be partly cloudy also.

The forecast for Monday is partly cloudy with snow flurries, and little change in temperatures.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac, preceding 8 a.m. was 34. The reading at 2 p.m. was 37.

Survivors of Coal Mine Blast

EMERGE THIS MORNING — Some of the survivors of the mine explosion at Amonate, Va., last night that took the lives of 11 companions are shown as they emerged from the mine this morning. Fourteen men were rescued.

Rescue at Mine Must Go Slowly

Crew Has to Protect Trapped Workers and Itself, Too

AMONATE, Va. (AP) — A mine rescue operation is an inch-by-inch process that must seem like an eternity to loved ones waiting above and those trapped below the ground—if they're aware of anything.

But it's a process that's deliberately inch by inch — for the safety of those trapped and those seeking to rescue them.

Such an operation was carried on early today as three crews of six men each battled their way forward toward 11 men trapped and killed 500 feet under the earth by a gas-produced explosion in Mine No. 31 of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

★ ★ ★

Fourteen men were rescued after five hours of painstaking labor. It took that long — and longer — to negotiate another 1,000 feet to the 11 others, found dead.

★ ★ ★

"The mine was in very good shape, all things considered," reported Arnold Bostic, a member of one of the rescue teams. "The roof is in very good shape and there were no heavy slate falls."

Bostic reported "lots of smoke as a result of the blast, but there was no fire. Tracks were ripped up from the ground. Some timbers and supports were knocked down and they had to be replaced before we could go forward."

★ ★ ★

Complicating the operation is a 38-pound, two-hour oxygen tank each man must carry on his back as he slowly inches his way along.

'Mostly We Just Prayed'

Explosion at Mine Rocks Men Beneath the Ground

AMONATE, Va. (AP)—A few men were working, several were eating, one was cleaning up when a gas-produced explosion trapped 25 men below the earth in the Pocahontas Fuel Co.'s Mine No. 31 late yesterday.

Fourteen were brought to safety early today—all nervous, all shaken but all uninjured. The other 11 were found dead.

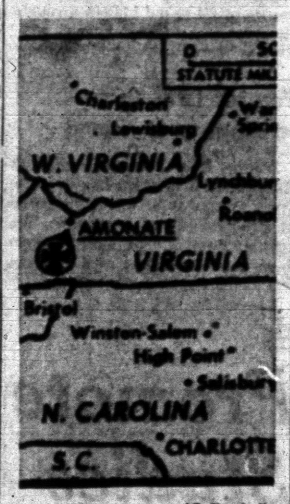

"The explosion at 6:30 p. m. didn't have any sound, but the concussion was heavy," said Mitchell Harris, 28, Cedar Bluff, a 10-year veteran at the mine.

"I know—it knocked the sandwich out of my hand and knocked me over. It busted my ears when it hit."

★ ★ ★

Harris said he "knew what happened, although it was my

Youth, 15, Gets Life for Slaying of Child

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A 15-year-old reform school escapee, described as "vicious, treacherous and cold-blooded," Friday was judged guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment for killing a two-year-old girl.

★ ★ ★

The youth, John Lawrence Miller, had pleaded guilty to slaying Laura Helen Wetzel Nov. 11 on the Palos Verdes Peninsula while overdue from a weekend pass from a reform school.

Arrested four days later in Reno, Nev., he told police he smothered the child under blankets "because I felt like killing somebody.'

Dep. Dist. Atty. Ted Sten said the only reason the State didn't ask the death penalty for John (Larry) Miller was because the law forbids execution of one so young.

Miller will serve his sentence at a state prison for adults.

14 Other Men Survive Blast, Being Trapped

Gas Causes Tragedy at Colliery Underneath Virginia, West Virginia

AMONATE, Va. (AP)—Rescue workers today recovered the bodies of 11 miners killed late yesterday when a gas explosion trapped 25 men below ground in a mine straddling the Virginia-West Virginia border. Fourteen miners were brought out of the colliery uninjured shortly after midnight.

Canvas was draped over the victims, carried out of Mine No. 31 of the Pocahontas Fuel Co., on a coal car. About 100 persons looked on in the first gray light of an overcast day.

The miners were hemmed in 500 feet underground. Company officials said all the men originally trapped by the explosion were believed to be accounted for.

Amonate is in southwest Virginia, 20 miles west of Bluefield, Va.-W.Va.

Bodies of the dead were removed from the sprawling mine through a shaft located in West Virginia, nearly three miles from the main entry shaft where the survivors were brought out.

★ ★ ★

This was the second disastrous explosion in Pocahontas Fuel Co. mines in the border coalfields in 11 months. A February gas explosion at a mine near Bishop, Va., snuffed out 37 lives.

William Fullarton, special assistant to the president of Pocahontas Fuel Co., said the bodies of three men were reached about 4 a. m. The other eight were located about two hours later. Plans were made to remove all the bodies at one time.

The blast trapped men in two sections—a joy loading area (site of an automatic coal loading machine) and a continuous mining area (also the site of automatic coal loading equipment). The survivors were found by rescue workers at the site of the joy loading section some 1,000 feet from where the 11 other men met death.

The rescue work was painstaking as rescuers were forced to inch their way along slate-clogged passages filled with smoke and deadly gases. They carried oxygen tanks strapped to their backs.

Officials said the mine was known as a "gaseous" mine. It was indicated that equipment used to disburse the gas, present in varied quantities in all coal mines, had failed to function properly and the accumulation had been touched off by a spark of unknown origin.

Fullarton said the families of the trapped miners had kept a vigil at a station two miles from the disaster scene through most of the night but had been urged to return to their homes early this morning to await developments.

Although only eight men had been listed as working in the continuous loading area, company officials later discovered 11 men were there.

Ironically, some of the 11 might have been due for a layoff today because of a 70 per cent cut in personnel.

Officials of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. said 534 of the 775 men employed at the operation-Mine No. 31—were due to be cut off because of a decrease in coal orders.

U. of M. Economist Calls for Cities to Rely on Other Levies

Seeks to Replace Property Taxes

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Sales taxes, income taxes and service charges should gradually replace property taxes as the major source of big city revenue, a University of Michigan economist declared today.

★ ★ ★

Associate Prof. Harvey E. Brazer said in a speech prepared for the American Economics Assn. that reliance on property taxes should be "diminished substantially over time."

Property taxes, he said, now account for 60 per cent of the total tax revenues in the top 17 cities in the United States, excluding Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

Substantial property will be removed from the tax rolls, Brazer said, with the continued shift of manufacturing activity to the suburbs and the development of city roads. At the same time, he predicted, the per capita financial needs of central cities will grow.

★ ★ ★

"Wide taxing powers that permit a broadly diversified tax system to provide the needed revenues with comparatively low tax rates are likely to produce fewer harmful effects than would one or two taxes imposed at higher rates," Brazer declared.

STATE AID TO FAIL

In arguing the need of major metropolitan cities for broad tax powers to handle their growing financial crises, Brazer said "state aid distributed on the basis of population will increasingly fail to reflect the relative needs and obligations of the central cities of major metropolitan areas."

★ ★ ★

"Wide taxing powers extended to the major metropolitan centers would not involve the confusion and compliance difficulties associated with sales or income taxes imposed by clusters of small municipalities," Brazer said.

Discussing municipal spending, Brazer said a major change is needed in financial support given public transit systems.

"Continued failure of the federal and state governments and the cities themselves to recognize this can only lead to ever-increasing economic waste and the increasingly ludicrous spectacle of higher and higher transit fares, accompanied by deteriorating service, driving more and more people to the private automobile," he said.

★ ★ ★

If cities are to avoid "economic strangulation through traffic congestion," Brazer said, all levels of government should cooperate in reversing current trends. "Aid should be forthcoming for transportation—not solely or specifically for highways," he declared.

★ ★ ★

"Even the less densely populated major metropolitan centers can succeed in providing fast, comfortable, cheap mass transportation if construction and maintenance money is diverted from arterial streets, moving from the center to the peripheries, to mass transit facilities, coupled with construction and improvement of streets that provide access to public transit," Brazer said.

Soviet Cheered by Afro-Asians

Delegates to Red-Hued Parley Praise Russian Economic Aid Offer

CAIRO (AP) — The African-Asian People's Conference plowed ahead in anti-Western fields today as the spotlight centered on Russia's sweeping economic aid offer.

Subgroups of the conference's main Political Committee plunged into a discussion of such controversial East-West topics as imperialism, disarmament, racial discrimination, Algeria and Palestine.

The Soviet "big brother" offer of economic aid to all Asians and Africans was well received yesterday by the delegates from 42 nations and colonies at the nongovernmental conference, which is stacked with supporters of Communist policies.

Many of those voicing loud praise for the offer are exiles or fugitives from areas that receive U.S. economic aid. Some of the leftists here are frowned on by home governments that try to stay officially disconnected from Communist propaganda lines.

The offer, obviously designed to drive Western enterprise out of the East, was accompanied by broad hints that African and Asian countries should nationalize Western-operated businesses and exploit their profits as Egypt has sought to do with the Suez Canal.

This apparently appealed to many elements who shouted their assent when Soviet delegate Apushavan A. Agafonovich lauded Indonesia's takeover of some 1½ billion dollars in Dutch investments.

The Soviet offer recalled Western predictions that the Kremlin would launch a drive in 1958 to win more friends in Africa and Asia with a view towards driving the West from these sources of oil and other natural resources.

Mexican Beauty Denies Romance With Aga Khan

KITZBUEHEL, Austria (AP) — A dark-haired Mexican beauty denied today there is a romance between her and the Aga Khan, who abruptly left a resort where she is staying.

The 21-year-old Aga early this morning broke off a holiday skiing vacation at Kitzbuehel in the Austrian Alps and drove toward Switzerland. There were reports he had quarreled with his mother because she refused to permit his engagement to the beauty, Sylvia Casablancas, 17, daughter of a wealthy Mexican.

Recent tornadoes in the middle section of the United States surprised many and caught people unprepared. Are these storms "out of season" in mid-winter?

Yes, to a certain extent, tornadoes are "out of season" in mid-winter. They are not extremely rare, however, for they can occur at any time during the year.

Tornadoes occur most frequently in turbulent and changing air masses, when heavier air (possibly moist) becomes inverted—suspended above lighter air.

Eventually the heavier air (above) is certain to break through and this may produce the awful power of these small funnel storms.

Violence Flares in Battle Creek and New York

Youths Go on Killing Spree

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Youth on a rampage of violence made news today in New York and in Michigan.

From Battle Creek, police report a 17-year-old high school student fatally wounded himself last night in the deadly game of Russian roulette.

Declaring "I have nothing to lose," Robert Eugene Keller put a shell in the cylinder of a .32 caliber revolver, spun the cylinder, put the weapon to his head and pulled the trigger. The gun fired.

MOTHER ON DUTY

Keeler died two hours later at a hospital where his mother, Mrs. Theodore Keeler, was on duty as a desk clerk.

Police said the youth had been target shooting with two companions in the basement of his home. His father was in a hospital recovering from a recent operation.

In New York City, another 17-year-old youth walked into a Brooklyn police station last night and told of shooting his mother to death with a rifle because she nagged him about using the telephone.

"Honest, I'm not kidding," blond John Jessup told a police officer. "I put two bullets in the back of her head and dragged her body from the hall into the bathtub.

"I was there half an hour trying to clean up the blood. Honest, I'm not kidding. Go there and see."

HE WASN'T KIDDING

Police went to the ground-floor apartment about a block away and found the body of Mrs. Gladys Jessup, 35, an attractive blonde divorcee, just where her son said it would be.

Jessup, booked on a homicide charge, said in a statement released by police: "I lost my temper. I have a very quick temper."

In Bath, N. Y., still a third 17-year-old, described as a mild-mannered boy who uses neither alcohol, tobacco nor coffee told police last night he had slain two men who gave him lifts while hitchhiking.

One victim was the father of 10 children, on his way to a hospital to visit his wife and newborn baby.

Authorities said Fred Sommer Jr. of Cameron Mills, near this south-central New York community, admitted in written statements that he shot Cecil Stratton, 42, Dec. 13, and Leo W. Brown, 38, Thursday night.

WANTED THEIR CARS

He said he killed both men for their automobiles. He used the same pistol to put bullets through both of his victims' heads.

Sommer, a tall, thin youth with curly blond hair, told police he wanted his victims' cars for hold-ups he pulled to get some money to pay a former employer for some allegedly stolen items. He said Stratton tried to fight him off and cried, "There's no sense shooting me. I've got a wife and 10 kids."

Justice caught up with four other New York youths convicted of the slaying of a 61-year-old shop owner.

The quartet range in age from 17 to 22. Two of them, Thomas Frye and William Wynn, 17, were unarmed and took no direct part in the killing of William Boser, a delicatessen owner.

But since they stood guard when Ralph Dawkins and Jackson Turner committed the murder, in order to rob the store, they also were found guilty of first degree murder.

A jury of 11 men and one woman brought in a guilty verdict on the defendants on Dec. 11 and did not recommend mercy. This made yesterday's death sentence mandatory. The execution was set for February.

Company Identifies Miners Who Died

AMONATE, Va. (AP)—The 11 miners killed in a coal mine explosion here yesterday were identified today by the Pocahontas Fuel Co., operators of the mine. The victims, their mine job, and survivors, are:

Archie Reece Alicia, 32, Rt. 1 Cedar Bluff, Va.; brakeman; wife, Dora C. Alicia, three children.
William R. Amos, 50, Warriormine, W. Va., fireboss; wife, Melvina Amos, seven children.
James Chiles, 31, Valls Creek, W. Va., boom man; wife, Myrtle Chiles, two children.
Howard Fields, Brandy, Va., section foreman; married, two children.
Main B. Harrison, 43, Bandy, Va., machine operator; wife, Irene Harrison, five children.
Gilmer Eugene Monk, 26, Rt. 1, North Tazewell, Va., electrician; wife, Bobbie Joyce Monk, two children.
John Edmond Nunlay, 30, Rt. 1, Bluefield, Va., roof bolter; wife, Alease Nunlay, four children.
Harman Boyd Perry, 50, North Tazewell, Va., motorman; wife, Frankie Perry, three children.
James Robert Rutherford, 28, Warriormine, W.Va., machine helper; wife, Ruby Rutherford, two children.
Lloyd E. Vest, 36, Freeman, W. Va., machine operator; wife, Sadie Vest, three children.
Arnold W. Young, Newhall, W. Va., roof bolter; wife, Thelma Young, five children.

Aid Program Reported

U.S. to Promote Science Studies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration reportedly will propose to Congress a program of matching grants to states to encourage improved teaching of science and mathematics in the high schools.

The plan calls for the federal government to provide more than 100 million dollars to help the states supplement salaries of science and math teachers, employ additional teachers, purchase equipment and strengthen state education departments.

Other proposals also are being prepared to help meet the clamor for more emphasis on scientific and technical training in the nation's schools and colleges. The demand has been growing since Russia's lauching of two earth satellites emphasized an increasing Russian technical capability.

The program, to be administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, would be patterned after the present federally aided vocational education program.

That department also would be authorized to set up a federal scholarship program, aid expansion of graduate schools, help the states provide more and better testing and counseling of high school pupils, and promote the teaching of foreign languages.

College scholarships, to cost eight to 10 million dollars the first year, would be provided for talented high school students who could not otherwise go to college. Fellowships also would be provided in graduate schools.

In a related effort, more than 50 million dollars a year would be provided to the National Science Foundation for expansion of its present effort to expand teaching of science and math at all levels.

Most of that money would go for updating science textbooks, providing more fellowships and conducting more seminars and institutes for teachers in those fields.

While plans went forward for a boost in the specialized training, the Office of Education reported a record enrollment in colleges and universities this fall.

The office reported a preliminary total of 3,068,000 students enrolled in 1,890 institutions, a gain of 4.1 per cent over the 2,947,000 listed in the fall of 1956. The total by the end of this school year is expected to reach 3,460,000, the report said.

The announced total is 45 per cent above that for the fall of 1951.

first time—and I hope it's my last."

W. C. Carrico of Amonate, a mechanic, was repairing a shuttle-car and was lying on the ground at the time of the blast.

"I was rolled over against the wall by the force of the blast," said Carrico. "My first thought was that the car had dropped. After I got up and saw all the smoke and dust, I knew what had happened and started calling the men together."

A LITTLE SCARED

Harris admitted being "a little scared and I wanted to get out. But I settled down and joined the others. Everyone in the group was a little scared, but all the men were swell."

He said Woodrow Evans, a foreman, was "specially nice. He called us together and said, 'I am no longer your boss. We have to put our heads together and get out of here.'"

The men started out twice, Harris said, "but were forced back each time by smoke. After the second time, we moved out to a protected spot and bratticed ourselves in. Then we built another brattice (canvas barricade) inside the first one. Then we wrapped up and sat and waited."

"A few times we called out to each other just checking up," Harris said, "but mostly we just sat, thought and prayed."

Harris paused a moment, then added: "If some of those men didn't pray, they should have."

When rescue teams finally reached the section in which the 14 men had taken shelter, Harris said, "You can bet I was sure glad to hear those voices after five hours."

Graham Giving Truculent Ram to Church Camp

MONTREAT, N. C. (AP) — A religious camp in New York state is getting a present from evangelist Billy Graham — a truculent ram that butted him down a hill at his farm several weeks ago, putting him in bed with injuries for several days.

★ ★ ★

Graham said yesterday the ram, originally a present to his four children, will be shipped before the year's end to "The Word of Life" religious camp at Schroon Lake, N.Y.

"I'm mighty anxious to be rid of him," commented the evangelist.

★ ★ ★

Billy said the ram showed temper again Christmas Day when the evangelist was feeding him a dinner of oats, hay, lettuce, celery and a carrot. Graham said that when he was slow in handing over the carrot, the ram lowered his head to charge.

"But I was on the right side of the fence this time," commented Graham.

Pair Witnesses Slaying of Mom

Horrified Couple Sees Woman Shot to Death, Son Abducted

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A young mother was shot to death in front of her home last night while two people watched in helpless horror.

Mrs. Margie Bell Kirby, about 30, was clutching the hand of her son David, 4, when she was gunned down.

Her assailant grabbed the little boy's hand and fled, but the boy turned up two hours later at the home of an uncle.

Police were seeking the woman's husband Carroll Lane Kirby, about 39.

Bob Jeffries and his wife Gale, both 19, witnessed the shooting. Jeffries, a newspaper carrier-salesman, was collecting at the time.

★ ★ ★

"Gale had gone to the Kirby house and I was next door," he said. "I thought they were playing. Then there was this noise like a firecracker and she fell."

Wagner, Wood Marry in Phoenix Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (INS) — Screen players Robert Wagner, 19, and Natalie Wood, 19, were married today in the Methodist Church in Scottsdale, a Phoenix suburb.

The guest list had been restricted to members of the immediate family and a few close friends.

President Rests at Farm Home

Will Do Some Work on State of Union Talk Over Weekend

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A quiet weekend broken only by some thought of future planning lay ahead today for President Eisenhower.

No weekend business appointments were scheduled at the Eisenhower farm here. But White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would do some work on his State of the Union message, in which he will outline to Congress Jan. 9 his program for the coming year.

Eisenhower's pet dog was among the passengers in the five-car motorcade which brought the presidential party to Gettysburg yesterday. The dog, Heidi, is a mole-colored Weimaraner, an exclusive German hunting breed.

★ ★ ★

Hagerty told newsmen Heidi normally stays at the farm, but had been at the White House for Christmas. On the trip here, she had free run of the back seat of one of the official limousines, which carried also a chauffeur and Eisenhower's valet, John Moaney.

★ ★ ★

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, three of their four grandchildren and Dr. Walter Tkach, one of Eisenhower's physicians, made the two-hour journey in bright sunshine. They were followed later by Eisenhower's daughter-in-law Mrs. John Eisenhower and granddaughter Barbara Anne.

Maj. John Eisenhower planned to arrive today to complete the family circle.

Eisenhower has arranged for conferences here next week with some government officials. He plans to remain at least through the New Year holiday, but is expected to return to Washington next week.

4 Hurt in Accident on South Boulevard

Four persons, two of them from Pontiac and another from Avon Township, were injured in a collision on E. South boulevard at Plainfield Avenue last night, according to Pontiac Police.

Agnes Price, 48, of 3172 York St., Avon Township, was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with multiple cuts and bruises and is reported in fair condition today.

Police said she struck the rear of an auto driven by Charles R. Davis, 30, of 88 Bloomfield Terrace, who was stopped to make a turn. Davis and his wife, Ruth, 29, were treated and released.

Florence Smith, 46, of Milford, Ohio, a passenger in the Price auto, was also treated for minor injuries and released, said the hospital.

Death Stills Prolific Pen of James W. Clapp

"Mr. Letter Writer," Pontiac's James W. Clapp, was laid to rest today in Oak Hill Cemetery.

His death Wednesday at Pontiac General Hospital stilled the pen of a man known to letter box editors of newspapers throughout southeastern Michigan as their most prolific correspondent.

Mr. Clapp was 82 when he died. No one has an accurate count of the number of letters he wrote to newspapers from the time he retired at the age of 55 after a successful career in animal breeding in the East.

His letters to The Pontiac Press alone are believed to number in the thousands and his last letter received Dec. 13 is still to be published.

★ ★ ★

When he settled in Pontiac, Mr. Clapp lived with his wife and a son, Donald, at 25 Matthews St. Later he moved to 154 S. Johnson Ave. His wife died four years ago.

He was widely appreciated by editors and their readers for his wide span of knowledge, lively style and interest in politics and history.

★ ★ ★

A conservative Republican, Mr. Clapp not only defended his party in print, but was a regular attendant at Oakland County and state conventions.

★ ★ ★

A familiar figure around the court house, Mr. Clapp spent a great deal of time in research, writing and visiting his friends.

Mr. Clapp was an adopted child and was raised in Milford. His family moved to a farm near Wixom and it was here that he acquired his knowledge of livestock that became his life's work.

In after years, Mr. Clapp's wide-ranging interest turned to sports and he became an authority on the subject as he had on every subject that caught his fancy.

Last Monday, he awoke from sedation at the hospital and his first words to his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Ellis, of Detroit, were "How did the Lions do Sunday?"

Funeral services for Mr. Clapp were held at 1:30 p.m. today from Huntoon Funeral Home. Rev. James H. Luther, of Silvercrest Baptist Church, officiated.

Sales of 1958 Licenses Lagging at Pontiac Branch

Sale of 1958 license plates at the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's office is lagging about 1,000 behind 1957 sales for this time of year, Willis M. Brewer, branch manager, reported.

Through Friday, the Pontiac office at 53 N. Parke St., had sold 7,048 plates out of 70,000. The annual deadline for the purchase is Feb. 28.

From Nov. 14 through Dec. 27, 1956, the office had sold 8,413.

Brewer said there were still some motorists coming to the office without titles to their vehicles.

The office is opened daily from 9 a.m. until 5 and on Saturdays from 9 until 1 p.m.

The Day in Birmingham

Churches Invite Students to New Year Services

BIRMINGHAM — Area churches will begin welcoming in the New Year tomorrow with special services and programs. Many churches also have announced the plans for their traditional New Year's Eve observance.

At 4 p.m. tomorrow, Redeemer Lutheran Church will honor college students and their parents, with the Rev. Theodore Wuggazer speaking on "What Is Your Life." A reception in the Fellowship Hall will follow.

Another service will be held at 8 o'clock New Year's Eve with high school students conducting the program.

College students will be honored at both the 9:30 and 11:25 a.m. services tomorrow at the First Methodist Church.

At St. James Episcopal Church college students will be welcomed at an open house from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Rectory.

First Baptist Church has scheduled a watch-night prayer service for 8 to 9 p.m. New Year's Eve. The following day, Dr. and Mrs. Emil Kontz will host friends and members at a 3 to 7 p.m. open house at the parsonage. Dr. Kontz is the pastor.

While area youngsters with as yet unused skis, sleds and tobogans grew hopeful as snow whitened the ground this morning, police departments of Birmingham Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township issued an appeal for extreme highway caution as the New Year holiday approaches.

Streets and highways were slippery early this morning until salt and sand was scattered. With the probability of more snow and freezing rain, police pointed out that side roads and city streets may become hazardous.

With the thousands of college students, military personnel and others on the highways, police advised that extra care in driving can help assure that happy New Year.

A Clarkston youth, David Chatfield, waived examination Friday and was bound over to circuit court. Bond was set at $5,000.

Detective Sgt. Robert Schauly said Chatfield was arrested by State Police in Lenawee County Tuesday. They said he admitted stealing a customer's car from the Harold Turner Co., here.

Police said he told them he had taken the car to drive to Ohio where he intended to seek work.

James E. Tweedie

Service for James Ernest Tweedie, 56, of 3145 Southfield Rd., Birmingham, will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. The Rev. Dr. Glen W. Harris of the First Presbyterian Church will officiate. Burial will be in Roseland Park Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Tweedie died early this morning at home after a short illness.

A native of Greenfield, New Brunswick, Conn., he had been a resident of this area for 30 years. He had been with General Motors Corp. for 33 years and at the time of his death was office supervisor for the Ternstedt Division, Detroit.

He was a member of City Straits Lodge 243, Knights of Pythias, and El Cairo Temple 56, Dramatic Order of Knights Khorassan.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his wife, Margaret; a daughter, Mrs. Allan O. McCrae of Birmingham; two sons, Donald D. of Birmingham and Gerald E. of Clawson; a sister, Mrs. Dow Henderson, and a brother, Guy E., both of Florenceville, New Brunswick.

Four Youths Held in Armed Robbery

Pontiac Police are holding four youths, one a juvenile, for investigation of armed robbery.

★ ★ ★

Andrew Ferick of 386 E. Kennett Rd. told police he was attacked by two men while walking south on Ivy street, between East Kennett and Lowell street, at 11:25 last night.

He said one of the men knocked him down and took his wallet containing $15.

Under arrest are Phillip G. Asbell, 19, of 102 S. Saginaw St.; Richard P. Denihan, 20, of 29 S. Paddock St. and Robert E. Vallard, 18, of 2185 Pompey St.

★ ★ ★

Ferick was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for cuts and bruises.

Here's One for the Road

Tot Decides to Drive

WASHINGTON, England (AP)—Motorists blinked as a small truck weaved through the traffic here, apparently without a driver.

They watched as the truck scraped against the wall of the police station and shuddered to a halt. Then the driver got out.

The driver was Jim Brennan, just 7 years old and four feet high.

★ ★ ★

He had driven the truck, which belonged to his uncle, 1½ miles along busy streets, around five sharp corners, across a railroad crossing and up and down three steep hills.

He couldn't see over the driving wheel. He had great difficulty reaching the pedals. And he had no idea how to stop.

It all happened because Jim went to his uncle's house on an errand and missed the bus home. His uncle was out. He saw the truck standing there in climbed in.

★ ★ ★

After the truck hit the police station, an officer drove Jim home in a police car.

Under British law no one under 8 can be prosecuted. Jim's father, however, was under no such restrictions. He spanked the boy and canceled a present of a new bicycle.

Miriani Will Retain Piggins, DPW Chief

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins and Department of Public Works Commissioner Glenn C. Richards say they will remain in their jobs as long as Mayor Louis Miriani requires their services.

There had been speculation the two top city jobs might be up for grabs after Miriani starts his full four-year term Jan. 7.

But Miriani said the two officials will be retained indefinitely. Both Piggins and Richards receive $19,389 a year.

Miriani took over as mayor after the death last September of Albert Cobo. Miriani was then elected to a full term.

★ ★ ★

Piggins, 51, has been police commissioner since 1954. Richards, 58, has headed the DPW since 1944.

Mexico Attempting to Deport Two Men

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Two men the Mexican government is trying to deport turned up again yesterday, registered at a hotel in Nuevo Laredo just across the border. They had dropped out of sight earlier this week, but Mexican officials said they were in custody.

★ ★ ★

Max Shlafrock Lederman and Samuel Novick are waiting for the Justice Department to decide if they actually are naturalized citizens of the United States as they claim. Mexico tried to expel them on charges of violating immigration laws, but U. S. immigration authorities refused them entry.

Mexican officials also accuse them of being part of a group financing Communist activity in Mexico.

It Seems to Me . . .

Justice Acts in Recent Case of "Bomb Scares"

"Bomb scares" in school houses aren't quite as funny as they were.

At least they aren't in Belleville.

★ ★ ★

Justice of the Peace, Harry A. Agge, just sent two "pranksters" to the local pokey where they can spend the next thirty days ruminating on the ways of transgressors. Then upon the payment of a fine of a hundred dollars apiece, they will be released. If they don't pay, that will be quite all right with Justice Agge. The iron doors will simply clank shut again and they can spend an additional thirty days thinking it all over in a little more detail.

★ ★ ★

That isn't a very enviable way to live the next few weeks; but Justice AGGE has had enough of these "fun loving" youngsters who make a mockery of discipline.

I applaud the justice.

He rates a straight "A."

★ ★ ★

Everyone loves jokes and humor. They are a definite part of life and a necessary and leavening influence. However, when "humor" denies the rights of society in general, it ceases to be humor. It's merely unwarranted encroachment upon the freedom guaranteed other peoples.

★ ★ ★

We're far enough behind in our general educational program these days without sacrificing a full day unnecessarily for 200 pupils. We're trailing Russia as it is in many educational aspects and our objective is to gain back lost ground instead of losing further because some misguided young men lack a sense of normal decency.

★ ★ ★

Tampering with the schools must stop. We have had some evidence of it right here in Pontiac, and The PRESS is watching patiently for the authorities to come up with the guilty parties and invoke the law.

This nation needs more justice like this.

More Names . . . . .

Last week in praising the fine work of the panels that assist the Pontiac Area United Fund, we named the individuals.

This list was provided by the United Fund office. Now I find they left out no less than a dozen and so twelve fine people have gone unmentioned. I am very happy to add the unsung group.

★ ★ ★

Here they are:
Noyce Strait
Harvey Johns
Harry Vernon
Enoch Eley
John Fitzgerald
Felix Ballard
William Brace
Donald Adams
Rosanne Agree
Jack Bell
Marjory Gates
Owen O'Neill

★ ★ ★

To this honored group: a low bow and loud applause.

To the office of the Pontiac Area United Fund: the Bronx cheer and a request to get on the ball.

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

An excited and vocal television audience at the C. E. WILSON party at The Bloomfield Hills Country Club watched the Lions win the playoff. About 75 crowded around an elevated screen and yelled as though they were in Frisco. The crowd represented a fair share of the Lions' ownership. . . . . It was good to see Postmaster General ARTHUR SUMMERFIELD looking so well. I saw him a year ago in the hospital in Ann Arbor. . . . . WILBER BRUCKER, Secretary of the Army, was another distinguished guest at the WILSON soiree.

★ ★ ★

One of the keenest observers of the Rose Bowl game will be our own Bob Critchfield who graduated from Ohio State. . . . . And speaking of the Critchfields, Helen looked mighty spiffy at the Wilson affair. . . . . Bill Ewart says the current Oakland County Board of Supervisors is a group of very earnest, capable men. . . . . Our own 'Mike Jordan has dropped from a gross tonnage of 223 to 198 and has a sylphlike objective of 185 by March 20th. . . . . When Ava Gardner made her flying trip to this country, a pal of mine had dinner with her and he says when Ava decides to turn it on, things pop all over the place.

★ ★ ★

Overheard at the City Club: "He's one of those men that's afraid to go home after the office Christmas party." . . . . . Personal nomination for one of the staunchest citizens in this area: DAVE LEVINSON . . . . . And who knows a more congenial and smiling soul than debonair "BUD" CAREY? . . . . . Bingo is legal in New Jersey and so many special bus loads leave New York to play, Gotham may make it legal. . . . . 'Outside Antitrust Law'

Hits Steel Control

MSU Economist Reports on Joint Subsidiaries

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Joint subsidiaries in the steel industry may call for antitrust action, a Michigan State University economic expert said today.

Dr. Daniel R. Fusfeld said his findings, never before published or otherwise available to the public, showed there apparently is more concentrated control in the industry than was generally believed.

★ ★ ★

The MSU researcher made his report in a paper prepared for delivery before the American Economic Association. His paper was selected as the best in an open competition conducted by the association.

The control, he said, takes the form of jointly-owned subsidiaries which are outside antitrust laws.

Fusfeld said he found 70 jointly-owned subsidiaries—companies controlled by two or more parents companies—in the iron and steel industry. He said these were about twice as many as were thought to exist.

"Present antitrust policies toward joint subsidiaries should be given serious consideration," he said. "The Department of Justice has opposed merger of companies in the two interest groups but has not questioned the merger that the groups of joint subsidiaries represent.

"If we are committed to a policy of competition in the American economy, quasi-mergers like joint subsidiaries should immediately by suspect, especially when they involve large firms in the same industry."

Dr. Fusfeld said there are two "clearly defined" interest groups of major producers in the iron and steel industry.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

The POWER of FAITH — by Howard Brodie

"GOD called me to His service," wrote Florence Nightingale at 16. The daughter of a wealthy, social family at a time in England when nursing was considered a low occupation fit only for disreputable women, she made nursing her career. She traveled abroad, studying the methods of hospitals and nursing sisterhoods. Thus she was no romantic idealist but the best qualified woman in England when the government asked her to superintend the nursing of wounded soldiers in the Crimea. Doing actual nursing herself as well as spending unbelievable hours on administrative work, she became an inspiration and a legend.

Days of All Faiths

Thomas a Becket Frees Church

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

In the narrow sense, St. Thomas a Becket died for a political theory, and he was on the wrong side at that. But in the larger view he gave his life to free the Church from domination by the state. His death brought to a head the long struggle between king and Church in England, and because of him the Church won out.

★ ★ ★

Becket was Archbishop of Canterbury in the 12th century, when Henry II was king. The two had been the closest of friends. Becket was Prime Minister of England at the age of 36, a brilliant lawyer and capable diplomat, with no thought of a career in the Church.

But when the See of Canterbury became vacant, in 1162, Henry insisted that his friend take it over. He was ordained priest on June 1 and bishop two days later.

Becket had tried his best to talk the king out of this appointment. He knew it would be the end of their friendship. The first thing that annoyed Henry was Becket's resignation from the office of Prime Minister, on the ground that the Archbishop and the Prime Minister frequently represented conflicting interests.

But the big row came when Henry insisted the clergy should be tried, like everyone else, in the civil courts, while Becket held out for trying them in ecclesiastical courts. Today we would say the king was right.

But here something deeper was involved. The real issue was whether or not an aggressive king was to gain control of the church. Becket had to flee the country.

After four years Henry permitted the exiled Archbishop to come home, thinking, of course, he would now be submissive and easy to handle. But not at all — Becket hadn't given in one inch.

The king, wild with anger, screamed to his court, "Cursed be they that eat my bread unless they deliver me from this insolent priest!" The courtiers rushed to the cathedral, found Becket at the altar of the Blesesd Virgin, and there hacked him to death with their swords.

A wave of horrified indignation swept over England at this brutal murder of an archbishop in his cathedral. Henry now had the entire populace against him. Far from eliminating his opposition, he had lost the battle for himself and his successors.

Only 45 years later King John I was forced to sign the Magna Charta, which begins with the statement "The Church of England shall be free."

Does Rheumatiz Attack Only Low-Bred Persons?

DR. BRADY

"On the subject of arthritis you wrote: 'If any reader be low-bred enough to have physical degeneration of joint tissues . . .' Kindly explain — I have been told arthritis attacks all classes . . . if defects in breeding . . . (Col.—)"

Answer—Physical degeneration of joint tissues is rheumatiz. What "arthritis" may be, the doctors who diagnose it do not define. I meant to make fun of people who have a notion that "arthritis" is for us snobs and rheumatism is for washerwomen and day laborers.

But there's no reason for feeling offended, Colonel. Slip me 35 cents and a stamped, self addressed envelope for the booklet Chronic Joint Disability. When you have studied the booklet, I hope you'll see that I'm only trying to help you.

"Son has had colitis since he was 15. His wife is going to have a baby soon. Is colitis inherited? '(Mrs. R. T.)"

Answer—No. If you and your son are not indoctrinated with a lot of pseudo-scientific notions about colitis, he may get some helpful advice in the booklet Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene, for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"We used to enjoy your column so much (in the Springfield Morning Sun). Do you still advocate somersaults? (E. W. S.)"

Answer—And roll 'em. For instructions send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for Invitation to the Somersaultauqua. But remember, if you roll 'em, it is at your own peril.

"Have just about cured migraine headaches with your calcium advice. None of the three doctors I went to recommend it. One said it would not only not help my migraine but would bring on coronary trouble or chronic arthritis . . . (T. E. R.)"

Answer—The doctors were just parroting what they imagine some eminent but unidentified medical authority had said. They didn't understand that the amount of calcium and vitamin D you took was not greater than you should get from adequate diet and adequate exposure to sunshine. For pamphlet Why Have Headache? send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Our children grew up allowed to wear as little clothing as they pleased in any season or weather, thanks to your kindly teachings. Now they are raising their own children in the same way . . . (O. T. G.)"

Answer—The kids were lucky in choosing such sensible parents.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Gives Medical Facts of Conception

Biblical Sarah and Hannah and Rachel were probably just like Laura, who lacked the simple medical facts offered below. For we have learned some new data about pregnancy in the past few years. Be grateful you have a great newspaper to release this vital information for the creation of happier homes! Newspapers don't produce divorces. They help prevent them!

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-384: Clyde R., aged 31, is the husband of Laura, the frenzied wife described yesterday.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I certainly want to thank you," he began during our interview six weeks later.

"Laura is a wonderful wife but she has been frustrated and irritable and neurotic ever since the second year of our mariage.

"Now that she has taken an active interest in the Camp Fire Girls, she has calmed down and is an entirely different person.

"But I do wish we could have some children of our own, for we both really enjoy youngsters."

PREGNANCY FACTS

So I had Clyde and Laura come in for a talk and informed them of the latest facts about pregnancy.

★ ★ ★

Laura's periods for the previous year had run as follows: 29, 28, 29, 30, 31, 30, 29, 30, 30, 28, 29, 28 and 29 days.

That meant she varied between 28 and 31 days, with 29 being her typical menstrual month.

Modern scientific data suggest that about the 15th day prior to the onset of the next period is the most likely time in the entire month for a wife to conceive.

Furthermore, many researchers believe the ovum (egg) may lose much vitality after rupture from the ovary. They think it cannot be fertilized by the male sperm cell after 12 to 48 hours.

And some investigators likewise say that the sperm cell may lose its capacity to fertilize the ovum after 6 to 24 hours.

Thus, it is possible that a matter of six hours might be the only time in the entire month when a wife could conceive.

★ ★ ★

Many otherwise normal couples may remain childless throughout 20 years of marriage just because they accidentally have missed this narrow range of fertility.

ACID DANGER

Furthermore, some wives have greater acidity of the vaginal secretions than others and acid kills the activity of the sperm cells.

So an alkaline douche is often desirable. It can be formed by mixing one teaspoon of ordinary baking soda in a quart of warm water.

"Laura, you have relaxed from your constant tension," I informed her, "and have now begun to function normally.

"Extreme fears or apprehension and prolonged tension may alter the internal secretion. That's why a wife who adopts a baby, may later conceive and have children of her own.

★ ★ ★

"So I'd suggest you and your husband utilize the facts I have just explained, and see if God may not give you a baby of your own.

"If so, then have a second child about two years later, in order that the youngsters can be playmates and help socialize each other."

Sure enough, just 60 days later Clyde telephoned exultantly to inform me that he and Laura were going to have a baby.

This procedure often works if both husband and wife have no organic or surgical obstacles to conception.

Childless Sarah and Hannah and Rachel of the Bible, probably were cases just like Laura.

★ ★ ★

And there have been millions of others, even in modern times, who went childless just for lack of these latest medical facts.

Send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It also explains the "Rhythm Theory."

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Don't Blame Eisenhower for Democrats' Errors'

Suppose you do blame Eisenhower for all the Sputnik business and suppose you blame him for all the Little Rock bust up and suppose you blame him for a lot more. He hasn't declared war on anyone and that's more than the last flock of Democrat presidents can say.

22-Year-Old

We will not blame the poor old Democrats for the unemployment list creeping up. But we do blame them for the Korean mess that Ike had to get us out of. If the Democrats had remained, it might still be going on.

Harry S. had a nice recession with the unemployment list creeping up, but he fixed it by starting the Korean fracas.

He could not keep peace and prosperity both. Ike has kept the peace so far.

'They Don't Know Extent of Wrong'

I agree that every child ten years old knows basically what's right or wrong, but what children and teens often don't know is how wrong something can be.

It's wrong to steal an apple and it's wrong to kill, but there a terrific amount of difference in the two. Children must be taught magnitude of their acts, and a certain amount of maturity is necessary to comprehend such things.

That's why some allowance must be made for the youth of an offender.

Recently I had the pleasure of viewing the new Public Service Building for the City of Pontiac. I am proud, as a taxpayer, to have contributed in a minute amount for its construction.

I was particularly impressed by a beautiful green phone in the Chief of Police's office. It must have administrative value and be a personal source of pleasure to the occupant of the office to admire during dull moments.

I understand it only cost seven fifty extra. I suggest every city department head be furnished with a different colored phone for an added attraction to the viewing taxpayer.

Soviet Military Cut Stirs No Alarm in Washington

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Soviet Communist leader Nikita Khrushchev's indication that Russia might soon cut the size of her armed forces will not cause any excitement in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Thus far, Khrushchev has said his government is "considering" such a step, in line with an announced 1956 reduction of troops.

In May of that year, the Soviet government said it planned to cut the armed forces by 1,200,000 men by May 1, 1957. Last January the Russians said they had reduced their armed forces by 1,840,000.

But the United States and other western powers have no actual evidence of any such cut, and even if it was effected Russia remains the world's largest military organization. And one that is being equipped with hydrogen bombs and other nuclear weapons.

As long ago as May, 1956, Soviet armed strength was estimated at 4,200,000 men, with an army of 2,500,000 men compared to U.S. strength of 2,850,039 men, including an Army of 1,064,000

It is believed that today there are 6,500,000 men under arms in Russian or east European uniforms.

There is no way of ascertaining actual Soviet strength. The United States tells her people the facts on the numbers in the various military services. The Kremlin not only keeps such information secret, but refuses any international inspection plan aimed at cutting production of nuclear weapons and the size of conventional armies.

★ ★ ★

This refusal by the Soviets of any adequate inspection plan is the root of the failure to make any advance in years of talks about disarmament. All the Soviet proposals on disarmament call only for paper promises, not guaranteed disarmament.

President Eisenhower's call for an "open skies" plan of aerial inspection was rejected by the Soviets as an espionage wedge, despite the fact that it would be aimed at inspecting areas on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

It may be true that the Russians have lopped off part of their arm forces in view of the missile age and that they may be planning another reduction.

But the Washington administration view is that the probable reason is the need for greater manpower in industry and agriculture.

Khrushchev himself, in telling of a possible cut in armed forces, disclosed that Russia's 1957 grain harvest had suffered a setback.

Booming Jokes of 1957 Show Historical Value

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Fifty-seven was a boom year for jokes, and the one about Sputnik trailing a sign saying "Washington Slipped Here" (or "Slept Here," as you wished)— which I first heard from a bartender at Bleeck's—may have historic value in the year 2,000, if there is a year 2,000.

WILSON

The TV comedians weren't working—so they made up gags about the TV cowboys and singers, who were. Adult westerns were called that "because the plots were all over 21 years old." Perry Como was so relaxed on TV—Jack Carter said—that one night he accidentally fell awake. The Como show was also nicknamed, "Have Stool. Will Sing." Como, somebody said, sleeps a half hour before the show," and 20 minutes during."

"Hollywood macabre humor"—mostly unprintable—spread through the land.

★ ★ ★

Bing Crosby's son Gary supposedly sang, "I want a Girl Just Like the Girl Who Married Dear Old Dad." . . . Commedienne Sue Carson said, "Jayne Mansfield will go far—she's halfway there already."

★ ★ ★

After Carmen Basilio couldn't dethrone Sugar Ray Robinson, Hal Block said Carmen had gone on a diet and found Sugar "non-flattening." Henny Youngman took note of "18,000 chums" who had to buy their champagne at Madison Sq. Garden by saying, "I don't have to do this for a living—I was a waiter at Mike Todd's party."

★ ★ ★

"A certain governor's got Little Rocks in his head," said Elmer Reilly, and Lee Segall asked, "You hear about the Texan who went to Europe tourist class? He only did it to save money." Elsa Martinelli, the Italian countess and picture star, who learned all about baseball during the World Series, defined a home run: "When de ball goes where de people sit, den dat's good."

VAN DOREN

A sign in Detroit said: "Volkswagens, go home!" Mrs. Macdonald Carey, mother of six, telling how she almost became an actress, said, "Just imagine—then I would have had six husbands instead of six children."

Comedian Larry Nixon, down in Miami, spoke an appropriate line for the holiday time when he said, "I'm getting to the age, when I pull my stomach in, somebody says, 'Why don't you pull your stomach in?'"

After the Albert Anastasia slaughter came the barbershop gags such as "Shave and a Haircut, Bang, Bang!" . . . A girl singer came along with a new gimmick: she had a voice . . . Time Magazine said "Nobody's brow furrows like Edward R. Murrow's" . . . Mamie Van Doren said kids get to be 16 now before they know "damn" and "commercial" are two words.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Actor Fred Clark, now on B'way in "Romanoff and Juliet," says, "I've been appearing on so many TV panel shows I don't recognize myself when I'm standing up."

Jack Carson rejected a Las Vegas cafe booking, in which he would have followed Joe E. Lewis. "It's tough enough playing after a great act in the cafe," said Carson, "but who can follow him at the crap tables!" That's earl, brother.

Teamsters Seek 42-Cent Boost

Hoffa Heading Talks With Mid-Southwest Trucking Operators

CHICAGO (AP)— An increase in wages and other benefits totaling 42 cents an hour over the next three years is the goal of James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters Union officials in current talks covering trucking employes in 22 states.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters, is heading negotiations with trucking operators from the Midwest, Southeast and Southwest. He said the negotiations directly affect about 96,000 union members, but would set a pattern for about 500,000 others.

★ ★ ★

Talking with reporters between sessions yesterday, Hoffa was optimistic about an early settlement.

Jaycees Seeking Nominees for Waterford Honor

Church groups, service clubs and PTA's have been asked to help the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce select the area's Man of the Year, according to chairman Byron Merritt.

Deadline for the honor of the most outstanding young man in the township, has been set for Saturday, Jan. 4 and the winner will be announced at the Boss' night dinner, Jan. 14.

Candidates must be between the ages of 21 and 35, and have made outstanding contributions to the community, his job, church and family.

"There are plenty of young men in Waterford Township who have these attributes," Merritt said. "In inviting the various organizations to help the Jaycees this year, we hope to have more entries than ever before," he added.

Any individual living in the township is qualified to nominate a candidate and may do so by sending a letter to any Jaycee or to Merritt at 335 Ascot St.

Woman Free on Bond in Death of Spouse

Mrs. Mae Louise Russell, 44, of 262 Hughes St. was arraigned on a second degree murder charge yesterday in Municipal Court.

Mrs. Russell stood mute and Judge Maurice E. Finnegan ordered a plea of not guilty entered for her. Examination was set for Jan. 8, and bond fixed at $300. She furnished the bond.

Chattanooga Judge Denies Taking Teamster Bribe

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Criminal Court Judge Raulston Schoolfield denied last night that he had ever taken a bribe. He said that allegations that he had done so stemmed from what he called a contemptible plot and conspiracy.

★ ★ ★

In an hourlong television speech, delivered first here and then in Nashville, Schoolfield answered charges made against him last week before the Senate Rackets Committee by saying:

1. That he emphatically denied any implications that he had taken a bribe to quash conspiracy charges against 13 Teamsters Union members.

2. That Asst. Attorney General Harold Brown had testified correctly that he, Brown, gave the judge $1,000 for his 1954 gubernatorial campaign fund from a bondsman named Sam Jones, but indicated he had no knowledge that it may have been contributed by a defendant who was later paroled in his court.

3. That he acknowledged his failure to report expenditures in his segregationist campaign for governor.

4. That investigators for the committee, which he called a federal engine of tyranny, had aimed not at labor-management cases but only at him because of his stand against centralized government and for states rights.

Schoolfield in his speech defended in detail the allegations that $20,000 was passed to fix the cases against the 13 Teamsters and another $1,000 to free Spence Galloway, who had been convicted of receiving and concealing stolen property, and that he had not reported his campaign expenses.

Alberta is estimated to have more than 80 per cent of the total coal reserves in Canada.

New School Permit Tops Building List

A permit for a $450,000 one-story school at 661 Franklin Rd. was among several building permits issued recently by Carl F. Alt, Pontiac's building inspector.

Also included was a permit for a $20,000 medical office of Dr. J. R. Blakeslee at 441 E. Pike St.

★ ★ ★

Others were:

A $4,000 refinishing of an existing building at 896 Joslyn Ave. to be used as a dry cleaning store.

★ ★ ★

Four permits for the construction of frame one-family homes with full basements on Emerson avenue between Eston and Hotchkiss in the Pleasantdale Subdivision. The valuation of the homes, as shown on the permits, was $8,500 each.

★ ★ ★

A $7,000 one-story addition to the YMCA at 131 Mt. Clemens St.

A new Cities Service Oil Co. gas station to be built at 435 Auburn Ave. The permit listed a valuation of $20,000.

Insurance Man Gets Fiery Aid in Making Sale

MONROE (AP)—A radiator repairman was working underneath an automobile when he remarked to insurance salesman Bob Turner, "Nothing ever happens around here. I don't need insurance."

★ ★ ★

He barely got the words out when a spark from his wrench ignited a gasoline fire.

The blaze ran through the shop and touched off a fire in a nearby sewer.

Robert Vermett, the repairman, escaped injury and firemen quickly quelled the blaze.

"Give me your fountain pen," said Vermett to Turner.

Confident Living

Understand Yourself 1st; Spiritual Renewal Ensues

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A friend of mine used to make quite a nuisance of himself as far as I was concerned. He kept coming to me for help, but never did anything to help himself. "Bill," I told him once, "I can't do anything for you."

DR. PEALE

"Then who can?" he asked.

"Only God and you," I said, But I didn't seem to make much of an impression on him.

One day I was getting ready to drive to Allentown, Pennsylvania, to make a speech there, and he dropped into my office just as I was about to leave. He asked where I was going and I told him.

"Fine,' he said, "I'll go with you.

Well, this didn't fill me with any burning enthusiasm, but I agreed to take him when he promised he wouldn't talk along the way and get my mind off the speech I was to make.

OLD STORY AGAIN

He kept his promise, we got to Allentown, I made my speech, and we started back to New York. It was a beautiful moonlit night, and I was enjoying the drive. But Bill felt that he was now freed from his promise and began again telling me about himself, that he was so mixed up, that he couldn't get hold of himself, and so on, and so on—the same old story like a record needle stuck in a groove.

I had heard the story a good many times. We had made corrective suggestions, but he wouldn't do anything about himself. So frankly, I was getting a little tired of listening.

It was about midnight when we came to a roadside diner. We stopped and went in for hamburgers and coffee. They were good and we ordered a second round. Bill was just about to bite into his second hamburger when suddenly he stopped, bounced the sandwich down on his plate and shouted, "I've got it! I've got it!"

"What have you got?" I asked, startled.

"I've got the answer to my problem. This is it. The reason everything goes wrong with me is because I am wrong myself. I'm all messed up inside because my thoughts are all wrong. How do we fix this?"

I was greatly impressed by Bill's sharp insight, but I said, "We don't fix it, but we're going to call on someone who can." I took him outside and we stood by the car. "Let's do some praying," I suggested. "You pray."

PRAYER EFFECTIVE

I can see him now, saying very simply and sincerely, "Lord, I see my trouble. I'm wrong on the inside. I ask you to make me right, because I can't make myself right." That was his prayer, and it was effective, as subsequent events proved.

God helped him right then and there, because all the way back to New York, he acted like a changed man. He talked quietly and intelligently. I enjoyed being with him for the first time in weeks. I became hopeful that something had really happened to him, and it had for certain.

That was almost twenty years ago and today that man is happy, useful and respected. He has learned how to make things go right. Right thinking and spiritual renewal made this possible.

We have reached the end of one year and another is about to begin. What better time is there to begin the attmept to understand yourself as Bill did? This is most important, for when you do understand yourself, then the process of rehabilitation can begin.

So to gain increased assurance that things may go right for you in 1958, since most of our failures are within, start by seeking to know and really find yourself. This will give you insight into the inner blocks and conflicts that now frustrate your full effectiveness. The next step after that might well be a spiritual change. Bring God more completely into your thinking. In so doing you will bring your life into that harmony that will enable you to make a splendid new beginning in the new year.

Students to Participate in St. Andrew's Services

The Rev. Hugh C. White, chaplain of the Detroit Industrial Mission, will be guest preacher at both the 9:30 and 11:15 Youth Participation services Sunday morning in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 5301 Hatchery Rd.

★ ★ ★

"Being a Christian in the Industrial World of Tomorrow" will be his subject. The title was selected especially to interest the junior and senior high school and college age young people of the community.

★ ★ ★

A graduate of Cranbrook School for Boys, the Rev. Mr. White was ordained at Christ Church Cranbrook. He served as rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Ypsilanti, before joining the Parishfield community in 1953 to head the Parish Renewal program.

The youth members of St. Andrew's will be called upon to lead the Psalm reading, to read the Bible, sing in the choir and usher.

Fay Ellen Hanson will play the organ offertory numbers.

★ ★ ★

Leaders in the services will be Douglas Read, home from studies at the University of Michigan, Bryce Landon, a hospital corpsman apprentice at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, and Michael Odle of Lawrence Institute of Technology.

★ ★ ★

Others will be Duane Gardner, Martin Ashley and John L. Richardson of Waterford Township High School.

★ ★ ★

According to the rector, the Rev. Waldo R. Hunt, more than 50 young people are expected to participate.

Special Service Set for Sunday

Bethany Youth to Have Opportunity of Asking Questions on Faith

Reception of members and dedication of children will be held at the 11 a.m. service Sunday in Bethany Baptist Church.

Dr. Joseph I. Chapman, pastor, will speak on "To Whom Does the Future Belong?" at both the 9 and 11 o'clock morning worship hours.

At the early service, Jean L. Hilton will sing a solo and the Senior Choir will present "As Lately We Watched." "Under the Stars" will be given by the Junior Choir at the later service.

At the Senior Baptist Fellowship at 7 p.m., the young people will have the opportunity of asking questions on faith or any subject of interest to them. Percy M. Walley Jr., minister of education at Bethany, and Dr. Chapman will be in charge.

From 9 p.m. until midnight, Bethany Baptists will celebrate the closing of the year 1957 and the dawn of 1958.

Seventh Day Adventists Contribute Clothing, Food

Mrs. H. R. Wallace, Dorcas leader of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, and her helpers prepared 30 baskets of food for needy families in Pontiac, the day before Christmas.

In addition to the Christmas work, the pastor, Elder James Cunnington, reports over 13,000 articles of clothing were distributed, 377 food baskets given and 2,320 persons helped this year.

Religious Stamp Placed on Sale

New Issue Marks 300th Anniversary of Bid to Preserve Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—A new 3-cent religious freedom stamp went on sale today in Flushing, Queens.

Postmaster General Summerfield, in remarks prepared for the ceremonies, said that taking religious freedom for granted could be the first step toward losing it.

The issue of 100 million stamps commemorates the Flushing Remonstrance of 1957—a demand for religious freedom for all.

★ ★ ★

Three hundred years ago today, a group of Flushing residents drew up the remonstrance in defiance of Gov. Peter Stuyvesant. It was directed at the governor's ban on Quakers.

The majority of Flushing freeholders, not themselves Quakers, signed the remonstrance. It demanded that the government extend to all others the liberties enjoyed by themselves.

★ ★ ★

Summerfield said a number of the signers suffered severely in the ensuing 15 years, but were willing to endure persecution, prison and loss of wordly goods rather than relinquish their beliefs.

The stamps will go on sale generally in the nation's 38,000 post offices tomorrow.

Hartford in 2nd Century

To celebrate entering its second century, the Connecticut Council of Churches has announced plans to erect a headquarters building in Hartford. New president of the council is Dr. Russell Henry Stafford, Congregational Christian minister and scholar, who retires next June as president of the Hartford Seminary Foundation.

Seekest thou great things for thyself? seek them not.

Tokyo Expects 4,500 for Church Convention in '58

More than 4,500 people are expected to meet in Tokyo next summer at the 14th World Convention on Christian Education, the Rev. Nelson Chappel, general secretary of the World Council of Christian Education, announced recently.

★ ★ ★

This assembly will be one of several planned for 1958 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the coming of Christianity to Japan.

Some 1,000 church school teachers, youth counselors, ministers and missionaries will join other thousands of Christian education leaders in Japan for the sessions, he said, in "an adventure in worldwide friendship," August 6-13, 1958.

In a recent report, the Rev. and Mrs. Norman Koehler, Presbyterian U. S. A. missionaries, said that a goal of 80 new self-supporting Japanese churches has been set to mark the centenary.

★ ★ ★

The report, presented to the National Council of Churches' Division of Foreign Missions, also said that 43 new self-supporting churches were organized in 1956 alone and many others are in the pioneer stage of development."

REV. EARL MORGAN

Missionaries to Italy to Speak at Parkdale

Guest speaker at 7:30 Sunday evening in the Parkdale Church of the Nazarene will be the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Morgan, missionaries home on furlough from Italy.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Mr. Morgan went to Italy five years ago to establish mission work there as a representative of the Church of the Nazarene.

A native of Royal Oak, he is a graduate of Olivet Nazarene College and Nazarene Theological Seminary. With his talk he will show pictures of his work.

At 6:45 p.m., Mrs. Morgan will be speaking to the youth group. The Rev. Wayne E. Welton is pastor.

Officials to Discuss Future of Pontiac

The Pontiac Pastor's Association will meet at 10:30 a.m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church.

A panel, comprised of City Manager Walter K. Willman, Mayor William W. Donaldson and Henry Smith, city planner will discuss "Looking at Our City, Present and Future."

The Women's Association of First Presbyterian will serve luncheon at noon to ministers wishing to remain.

"Pastors of all faiths are welcomed to meetings of the association," said the Rev. Duncan D. McColl, of First Christian Church, president.

Now therefore keep thy sorrow to thyself, and bear with a good courage that which hath befallen thee.

Religious Work in National Parks Receives $50,000

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Religious ministry to the nation's national parks has received a $50,000 gift from John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The gift was announced here by Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., which administers the parks program.

Each year, college and seminary students serve hundreds of thousands of summer tourists and staff personnel in 24 national parks and monuments from Texas to Alaska. They receive special training at five regional conferences which prepare them for this service.

Director of the program is the Rev. Warren W. Ost, who once worked as a bellhop at the Old Faithful Inn in Yellowstone.

Churches of Nazarene to Mark 50th Anniversary

Looking toward the golden anniversary year of the Church of the Nazarene in 1958, Dr. S. T. Ludwig, general church secretary, has outlined a series of events in which every church of the denomination will participate.

The First, Parkdale, Zion and Clintonville Churches of the Nazarene will be among the 4,500 congregations of the international Protestant church that will pray at special Watch Night services Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Other services around the world include worship service marking the opening of the anniversary year on Jan 5; Easter offering for world missions on April 6; 50th anniversary Sunday services, Oct. 12; and on Nov. 23 Thanksgiving offering for world missions.

Official birthday of the Church of the Nazarene was Oct. 13, 1908 at Pilot Point, Tex. when a group of smaller churches in the East, West and South formally united.

Sharing a belief in the Wesleyan doctrine of entire sanctification, the original 228 churches and 10,000 members have increased in 50 years to 4,500 churches and 300,000 members.

Among the first five denominations in stewardship, members believe in and practice tithing.

Among U.S. Protestant denominations, it is 30th in membership, 15th in Sunday School enrollment and ninth in publishing house sales.

If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me. Tribulation worketh patience; and patience, experience; and experience, hope.

Weddings in Focus as Couples 'Ring In' New Year

MRS. ROBERT L. WILSON

Married today were Mary Danevieve O'Leary, daughter of the Frank O'Learys, and Robert L. Wilson, son of Mrs. Alice Wilson.

Mary O'Leary Becomes Bride of Robert L. Wilson

Arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. Mary Catholic Church, Hemlock, for the wedding today of Mary Danevieve O'Leary and Robert Lee Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Leary of Hemlock are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Alice Wilson of Bloomfield Terrace.

★ ★ ★

The bride's gown was fashioned with a Chantilly lace bodice, portrait neckline and pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt of silk mist featured a self-shirred cummerbund with bustle-bow back falling into a chapel train. An imported silk illusion veil fell from a Juliet cap of matching lace and silk. She carried an arrangement of holly and white orchids.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mrs. Raymond Harvey of Saginaw was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Kaye Wilson of Washington, D. C., Therese Goebel of Grand Rapids and Margaret Ann Wilson.

Their emerald green satin frocks featured boat necklines, princess line skirts with Empire waistlines and floating back panels. They wore white fur headpieces and carried white fur muffs accented with Christmas roses.

★ ★ ★

Byrant Wilson of Saginaw acted as his brother's best man. The guests were seated by Raymond Harvey of Saginaw, Jack Tibbs of Manitou Beach and William Burke of Saginaw.

DINNER AND RECEPTION

A buffet dinner was held at the bride's home for relatives and out-of-town guests. Saginaw Gun Club was the setting for an evening reception. To receive guests the bride's mother chose a Dior blue dress and a white rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark blue dress with a corsage of white roses.

For traveling to Florida the new Mrs. Wilson changed to a red wool sheath dress and pinned an orchid from her bridal bouquet to her fur cape.

The bride was graduated from Mercy College, Detroit. The bridegroom is a graduate of Eastern Michigan College, and has a master's degree from Wayne State University.

The couple will live on Myrtle Court.

Clean Up Ashtrays

A room filled with stale air is annoying and tiring. Particularly irritating is stale tobacco odor. One way to avoid this is to keep ashtrays emptied and clean. A room will look neater too.

Walker--MacManus Nuptials Held

Alice Holdridge MacManus and Joseph C. Walker Jr. were married today in the church built by the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. MacManus. The Rev. Francis T. Stack perfromed the ceremony at 11 a.m. in St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. MacManus Jr. of Stonycroft, Bloomfield Hills. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Walker of West Iroquois road.

GOWN OF PEAU DE SOIE

A gown of white peau de soie was the bride's choice for her wedding. The gown featured Alencon lace bordering the Sabrina neckline and forming insets in the full skirt, ending in a chapel train.

She wore a tiny fitted cap which held a triangular veil of illusion and carried a mother-of-pearl prayerbook, belonging to an aunt, Mrs. John J. Ellwood. The prayerbook was covered with white orchids, ivy and holly.

★ ★ ★

Theodora MacManus was her sister's honor maid, and Mabel Harabedian, Nancy McKenzie and Louise Ploe were the bridesmaids. Margaret Mary MacManus was her sister's junior bridesmaid.

They were gowned in afternoon frocks of white peau de soie with fitted bodices, high round necklines, long sleeves and bell skirts. They wore matching hats and carried Christmas-red carnations with holly.

ATTENDS BRIDEGROOM

John Ryor of Battle Creek was best man. Charles Crittenden of Drayton Plains, Theodore F. MacManus III, the bride's brother; Clarence Sproull and David Gordon of Buffalo, N. Y., seated the guests.

For a wedding breakfast at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, Mrs. MacManus chose a turquoise satin street-length dress with small matching hat. Mrs. Walker wore a champagne colored costume suit with matching hat and cypredium orchids pinned to her purse.

Following a honeymoon in New York City, the couple will live in East Lansing, where the bridegroom will complete his studies at Michigan State University.

MRS. JOSEPH C. WALKER JR.

Janet Guoin Married in Rite Today

Becomes Bride of Robert L. Alflen at Walled Lake

Red poinsettias and pine banked the altar of St. William Catholic Church, Walled Lake, for the wedding of Janet Elizabeth Guoin and Robert Louis Alflen. The Rev. Raymond Jones performed the noon ceremony today before 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guoin of Oakley Park road are the bride's parents, and the Albert Alflens of Orchard Lake are the parents of the bridegroom.

GOWNED IN VELVET

The bride wore a white chiffon velvet gown, fashioned on princess lines with fitted bodice, short sleeves and bouffant ballerina-length skirt. The V-neckline was trimmed in Alencon lace. Her ballerina-length veil of French silk illusion was held in place by a pillbox chiffon velvet headpiece with white fur trim.

The bridal bouquet was a semi-cascade arrangement of white carnations with holly berries on white velvet leaves and centered with red rosebuds.

★ ★ ★

Maid of honor was Donna Guoin, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Joan Thomson and Mrs. Lyle Guoin. They were gowned alike in red velvet sheath dresses with full nylon net overskirts and short sleeves.

They carried semi-cascades of white carnations, with holly berries on white velvet leaves, tied with white satin ribbon. Their headpieces were of white fur with pearls.

SERVES BRIDEGROOM

Tom LaMarre of Alpena served the bridegroom as best man, and Kenneth Alflen, a brother of the bridegroom and Tom Kerns of Almont seated the guests.

★ ★ ★

To receive guests at Edgewood Country Club, Mrs. Guoin chose an emerald green iridescent crystalette dress with fitted jacket. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink silk cocktail dress with white feather hat.

★ ★ ★

For traveling to northern Michigan and Boyne Mountain, the new Mrs. Alflen had selected an aqua wool sheath dress with black accessories.

The couple will live in East Lansing, where the bridegroom will be a senior at Michigan State University. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Janet E. Guoin and Robert L. Alflen exchanged wedding vows today. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guoin, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Alflen.

MRS. ROBERT L. ALFLEN

News of Area Folk

Marcia J. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall L. Smith of Elizabeth Lake road, has been selected by the Experiment in International Living to spend the summer of 1958 in Switzerland.

MARCIA

She is a graduate of Waterford High School and is now in her junior year at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. She is studying secondary education, majoring in art.

★ ★ ★

The 20-year-old coed will leave by ship sometime after June 15 for Europe, where she will travel with a group of Experimenters and will also spend some time living with a French family in Switzerland.

★ ★ ★

Although similar to the Community Ambassador program, anyone may make application himself to travel with an Experiment group.

★ ★ ★

On campus Marcia has been very active, serving as treasurer of the Canterbury Club, and holding membership in the Art Club, Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority, International Students' Club and French Club.

★ ★ ★

On Western's campus she lives in Zimmerman Hall, newest residence for women.

STUDENT IS OFFICER

Serving as 1957-58 secretary of the Bob Jones University Ministerial Association is Thurman W. Wisdom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Wisdom of Walled Lake. He is a junior, enrolled in the University School of Religion with a major in Bible.

★ ★ ★

During the school year, Thurman has been active in the extension work of the ministerial group. Most of his work has been in Augusta, Ga., where he teaches Child Evangelism classes and speaks in the military hospital and chapel at Fort Gordon. He also is active in the work of the Christian Servicemen's Center in Augusta.

★ ★ ★

Among area students enrolled at Marquette University, Milwaukee, are Louise D. Ploe of Orchard Lake, Barbara L. Wentworth of Bloomfield Hills, and Carolyn M. Link of Birmingham, all liberal arts majors. Howard F. Smith Jr. of Birmingham is a student in Marquette's School of Dentristy.

United in marriage today were Karine M. Klinkhamer and Eugene N. Russell. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Klinkhamer and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dora Mae Russell.

MRS. EUGENE N. RUSSELL

Karine Klinkhamer Wed to Eugene Neil Russell

Red poinsettias banked the altar of St. Michael Catholic Church for the 11 a.m. wedding today of Karine Margaret Klinkhamer and Eugene Neil Russell. The Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly performed the Nuptial High Mass before 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Klinkhamer of Thorpe street are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Dora Mae Russell of Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The bride wore a princess style gown of peau de soie featuring a scoop neckline with a lace insert and a molded bodice. The gown was fashioned with a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a seed-pearl and sequin crown. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of red roses.

ASSIST BRIDE

Honor maid was Joan Blizman of Wyandotte, and the bridesmaids were Winnie Haley of Ithaca and Mary Russell of Ithaca, a sister of the bridegroom. They were gowned in cherry - red satin sheath dresses of demi-length, topped with velvet boleros. The jackets were styled with bateau necklines, which formed V backs, and sleeves of bracelet length. Back interest was in a large velvet bow with hem length streamers.

All wore headpieces of cherry red velvet with scattered seed pearls and circular veils. Their flowers were cascades of peppermint carnations.

★ ★ ★

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Robert J. Russell of Ithaca. Richard Dilsworth of Ithaca and James Liegh of East Lansing seated the guests.

CLUB RECEPTION

For a reception at Oakland County Sportsman's Club, Mrs. Klinkhamer wore a silver-blue silk sheath dress with winter white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses and white carnations. Mrs. Russell's choice was a mink brown crepe sheath dress with dark brown accessories, and a corsage of sweetheart roses and white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Before leaving on a trip to Chicago the new Mrs. Russell had changed to a brown tweed suit with brown and azure blue accessories.

The couple will live in East Lansing while the bridegroom completes work for a master's degree at Michigan State University. Mrs. Russell is an MSU graduate.

To Mark Birth of Joan of Arc

On Jan. 6, Domremy, France, the home town of Joan of Arc, will celebrate the 545th birthday of the maid of Lorraine who saved France from the British, and whose story has been heralded ever since.

★ ★ ★

Tourists may see in Domremy the house in which Joan was born, the garden in which she heard the voices which led her to battle, a museum devoted to her life.

Treatment Needed

Children never "outgrow" crossed eyes, according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Unless competent help is received in time, they may actually lose vision—even though the crossed eye returns to a normal position.

Married Friday evening were Janet L. Symons, daughter of the Dorval D. Symons, and Richard D. Bergesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berger J. Bergesen.

Richard Bergesen Takes Janet Symons as Bride

Sixty guests witnessed the Friday evening wedding of Janet Lee Symons and Richard Dale Bergesen. The Rev. Robert S. Graham performed the double-ring ceremony in First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorval D. Symons of Birmingham are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Berger J. Bergesen also of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

The bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white satin brocade trimmed with seed pearls and white velvet. Her veil was of fingertip length, and she carried a cascade of white roses with holly.

SISTER TAKES PART

Gail R. Symons, sister of the bride, was honor maid. She wore a red taffeta waltz length gown with matching accessories, and carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations with holly.

★ ★ ★

A brother of the bridegroom, Andreas J. Bergesen of South Williamsport, Pa., served as best man. Ned S. Bearden, Stephen D. Stubbs and James E. Bergesen seated the guests.

HOME RECEPTION

For a reception in the home of the bride, Mrs. Symons wore an aqua silk suit with matching accessories and a pink orchid corsage. Mrs. Bergesen's choice was a black velvet dress with a corsage of pink orchids.

Before leaving on a trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the bride had changed to a brown tweed two - piece dress with matching accessories.

The couple will live in Oak Park.

United in marriage today were Esther L. Nevins and William G. Winchester III. She is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Nevins, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Girard Winchester.

MRS. WILLIAM G. WINCHESTER III

Esther L. Nevins Wed in Birmingham Church

Esther Louise Nevins and William Girard Winchester III, both of Birmingham, were united in marriage at 2 p.m. today by her father, the Rev. L. J. Nevins of Clare. Also officiating at the candlelight ceremony in First Methodist Church of Birmingham was the Rev. A. F. Runkell.

The bridegroom's parents are the William G. Winchesters of Detroit.

IN GOWN OF SILK

A gown of mousseline de soie was the bride's choice for her wedding. Embroidered medallions in magnolia blossom motif decorated the front of the gown and formed a garland in back. Triple rows of material formed a petal decolletage for the molded bodice and the long sleeves were tapered. The skirt fell from the princess waistline into a chapel train edged with an embroidered magnolia garland.

The bride's tiered fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a court cap of matching blossoms and petals. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white poinsettia blossoms.

★ ★ ★

Maid of honor was Mary Elizabeth Nevins of Birmingham, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Nancy Jane Gillard of Rochester and Mrs. Robert Douglas MacGregor.

★ ★ ★

All wore bouffant dresses of Christmas-red taffeta featuring Sabrina necklines and bracelet sleeves and bustle bows. Matching bandeaux of iridescent paillettes with circlet veils, and fur muffs decorated with red poinsettias completed their costumes.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Best man was John T. Humphreys. Robert D. MacGregor, Edmund F. Rushton and Allan M. Warner seated the guests.

★ ★ ★

To receive guests at a reception in the church parlors, Mrs. Nevins, the bride's mother, chose a gown of blue peau de soie with a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a powder-blue lace and peau de soie sheath dress with Copenhagen blue trimming. She also wore a white orchid.

★ ★ ★

For the wedding trip to Sun Valley, Idaho, the new Mrs. Winchester selected a green and black tweed coat-suit, collared in mink, with black accessories and a white Amazon lily corsage.

The couple will live in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wood of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Winifred Sharon, to Alfred L. Glasby, son of Mrs. Beatrice Glasby of Saginaw and the late Alfred Glasby. Miss Wood attended Ferris Institute, and her fiance is a graduate of Ferris Institute. An early spring wedding is planned.

WINIFRED S. WOOD

SALLY BOYD

Mr. and Mrs. George Boyd of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Sally, to Ralph Springfield, son of the Leslie Springfields of Garden City. The bride-elect attends Alma College and is a member of Alpha Theta Sorority. Her fiance was graduated from Alma. A summer wedding is planned.

Dear Abby:

Mom Must Organize--Not Agonize

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My husband complains because I don't have supper on the table when he comes home. How can I? I have four kids. They are 5, 4, a pair of twins 32 months old and they all walk. I have only two eyes. I can't take them to the store with me and I can't leave them alone to go get groceries so I have to wait till he gets home to watch the kids.

"He yells his head off every night about this and I get so mad I could kill him. If you can figure out a way to solve my problem, Abby, I'll treat. Thank you."

TOOTIE

DEAR TOOTIE: Surely you could make arrangements with your neighbor to watch your children while you grocery-shop, and then return the favor by watching hers? Or why not do your marketing once a week and plan ahead? Don't agonize, Tootie—Organize!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am 37 years old and have been married for 12 years. For the past 8 years I have been on the 4-to-12 shift and I was recently changed to the 8-to-4 shift.

"Now that I am home in the evening, if the phone rings and I answer it the party on the other end hangs up. When my wife answers it and I ask who it was she says it is a wrong number. Should I get suspicious?

4-TO-12

DEAR 4-to-12: "Better have a chat with the little woman. Those "wrong numbers" could be for the Coast Guard . . . someone wanting to know if the coast is clear!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: How come so many girls get mixed up with married men and then are sorry? If every woman who was asked for a date by a married man would give him a good hard slap in the face, there wouldn't be any problem.

I was married 32 years and had my home broken up by a girl the age of my daughter. I blamed my husband at the time but I was wrong. I should have blamed her."

TOO LATE

DEAR "TOO": Someone once said, "The chains of matrimony sometimes get so heavy, it takes three to carry them." Maybe you should have blamed yourself!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am 16 but look like 19 or 20 so when I met Vic I told him I was 19 because he said he was 23 and I figured if he knew I was only 16 he wouldn't bother with me. He bothered with me and we fell in love.

"When I told him I was only 16 he admitted that he was 27 but didn't want me to know it because he was afraid I would think he was too old for me. I am 16 and he is 27 but that doesn't make any difference to either of us.

"My mother thinks he is 23 and fights with me because she says he is too old for me. How can I tell her his real age? Do you think age matters?"

SIXTEEN AND IN LOVE

DEAR SIXTEEN: Age matters—especially when the girl is 16. Give yourself a chance to grow up before making any decisions as important as marriage. A 27-year-old "man" who says he is 23 is no bargain.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MIKE: There is no real LOVE without FAITH. What your girlfriend means is that you APPEAL to her but she can't TRUST you.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Keep Gums Healthy

Healthy gums mean as much to your appearance as sparkling teeth. A good diet, regular brushing and gum massage should keep them pink and firm.

Romantics Are Upset About Gown

But Today's Bride Prefers Practical Wedding Dress

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Do you consider it too unsentimental to choose a wedding dress with the idea of converting it into a wearable evening dress for the months after our wedding? Some of my mother's friends are shocked at the idea of not putting this dress away and keeping it, if only on the chance that a future daughter might want to wear it."

Answer: It may be "unsentimental" to some few of the older generations, but it is realistic. The idea of putting away a dress for a daughter yet unborn appeals to relatively few today, not only for the reason that fashions change but personal tastes and dress sizes as well.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Are high table centerpieces in good taste? I've been noticing some very high ones used on tables set for display in some of the stores."

Answer: At a table seating up to 10 or 12 guests, the guests should be able to see one another across the table. And even at a large table seating many guests, where conversation is generally limited to those next to each other, the decoration should not be one unbroken barricade down the length of the table.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband will be chairman at a large civic dinner soon. He feels that he should try to locate someone else to introduce the principal speaker of the occasion; says that seems to be customary. Is this true?"

Answer: If the principal speaker is a very notable person, it is more usual than not for the chairman to turn over his introduction to someone who knows him rather well — as a rule another person of some note.

Plain Food Welcome Right Now

Mrs. Odil's Way With "Goulash" Is Quick and Easy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Everyone all fed up with rich food? Then it's time to feed the family Mrs. James Odil's goulash. Her family polishes off a recipe of this one-dish meal in no time flat.

Mrs. Odil (we had fun with the similarity of our names) has one youngster. She belongs to two groups of faculty wives from Waterford High School — one a sewing group. Sewing is her main hobby.

GOULASH

By Mrs. James Odil

1 pound ground beef
1 onion, chopped
Salt and pepper
½ pound cooked macaroni
2 cans (No. 2) tomatoes

Brown onion and meat in hot fat. Add rest of ingredients and simmer gently until heated through. Serve with a salad and rolls for a complete meal. Serves 4.

Avoid the Offense of Cigarette Breath

Many women are immaculate in their dress but overlook a cigarette breath. Just as in the case of bad breath from many causes, this should be avoided because it offends others.

Usually mints, or even water, will help clear this away until one can brush her teeth or gargle.

Our hopes for the New Year: Peace on earth, and may your home be bright with blessings!

Guatemala to Try Again on Presidential Election

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala makes another try at regaining political stability in elections Jan. 19, but a split between the moderates and the Conservatives may open the back door to an active leftist party.

Many observers expect violence no matter what the vote count shows.

Once communism's beachhead in Central America, this strategically located republic has been in political ferment since the assassination last July of President Carlos Castillo Armas, who kicked out the Communists in a 1954 coup.

The country was ruled by the Castillo government until the Oct. 10 elections, in which leftists were kept off the ballot. The government party, the Nationalist Democratic Movement (MDN), then claimed an overwhelming victory for moderate Miguel Ortiz Passarelli.

But his Conservative opponent, Gen. Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes, claimed fraud. Riots brought a military junta to power briefly and forced Congress to nullify the election. Former Vice President Guillermo Flores Avendano is now provisional president.

Now Guatemala will try again to elect a president. Ydigoras again is on the ballot representing the Conservative interests. The MDN has put up Lt. Col. Jose Luis Cruz Salazar, former ambassador to Washington.

Col. J. E. Ardon, former manager of the national lottery, is running as a lone wolf with negligible backing. But this political unknown may siphon off even more anti-Communist votes from any united front.

There is no candidate with government backing, which often counts heavily in Latin-American elections.

★ ★ ★

Facing this split in the anti-Communist ranks is Mario Mendez Montenegro of the Leftist Revolutionary party.

Observers doubt that any of the major candidates can gain the necessary majority. This would leave Congress a choice between the two front-runners.

During the campaigning more than a dozen figures of the Communist-tainted regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman have returned from exile either openly or in secret. Some are former Cabinet ministers.

The government has expelled only a few, who were called outright Communists. The others remain.

The Communists are not believed happy with Mendez Montenegro, who has denied any ties with them. But they are reported to be working quietly for him in the hope that his victory would build a bridge for their return to influence.

'Big Leak' on Bank Rate Dramatic

Dull Government Inquiry Now London Hit

LONDON (NEA)—The best show in London is not an American musical or a French bedroom farce, but a humdrum government inquiry into the recent Bank Rate increase—"The Big Leak," as it is called—to which admission is free.

There is none of the gilt and red plush atmosphere usually associated with a smash-hit. The banking drama is being unfolded at Church House, Westminster, where the bishops of the Church of England meet in solemn conclave once a year.

If there are no bishops on hand for the government hearings, everyone else of importance seems to turn up. Audiences range from Members of Parliament, financial editors, stock brokers and civil servants to society dames and Nubar Gulbenkian, the Armenian oil king ("Absolutely fascinating; I wouldn't miss this for worlds," Gulbenkian declares).

A government tribunal headed by Lord Justice Parker is investigating rumors that a "leak" prior to the Bank Rate being raised from five to seven per cent on Sept. 19 led to a few speculators making a tidy profit on the stock market from their inside tip.

★ ★ ★

Leakages aside, the Royal Stock Exchange was the scene of feverish activity the day before the Bank Rate was boosted two per cent to become the highest in 30 years.

Over $12,000,000 worth of gilt-edged securities were unloaded by three London banking firms, alone, and stock jobbers complain that selling continued long after the exchange closed.

But this is only a small part of the drama being played before the Parker tribunal. Spectators at Church House are led on a conducted tour of a whole new world, one which is often discussed, but seldom glimpsed in action — the world of high finance.

Take the case of pretty, 19-year-old Susan Chataway, who works for the Conservative Central Office. One has the impression that she is merely acting as the agent of a larger destiny when she steps into the 9:08 commuters' special for London on Sept. 25.

For there in her compartment is her second cousin who works for the Foreign Office. What imp, one wonders, pushes Susan to boast of her job at the Conservative Party headquarters.

"I say, what a lark," the cousin exclaims. "I suppose you get an opportunity to leak all sorts of information."

"I wouldn't be surprised if the police call around any day," Susan replies mysteriously. Then, enjoying her cousin's bewilderment, she adds, "It's about this Bank Rate business."

★ ★ ★

The cousin is plainly aghast. "Good God," he cries, you didn't know of it in advance?" "Yes, we knew," Susan replies, relishing her triumph.

And now here is Susan before the Parker tribunal explaining that it was all a joke. Is it her fault if her cousin lacks a sense of humor?

After this curtain - raiser, the scene shifts from the money marts of the city to a lonely grouse moor near Dumfries, Scotland. Here, early in September, William Keswick, chairman of Matheson and Co., bankers, is entertaining as his guest Nigel Birch, Economic Secretary to the Treasury.

What was said? Why did Keswick cut short his holiday in Scotland and hurry back to London to advise a Hong Kong subsidiary to sell over $3,000,000 worth of gilt-edged securities and to buy American bonds and equities? "It is anti-British and derogatory to sterling," Keswick wrote to the Hong Kong firm, "but it makes sense to me."

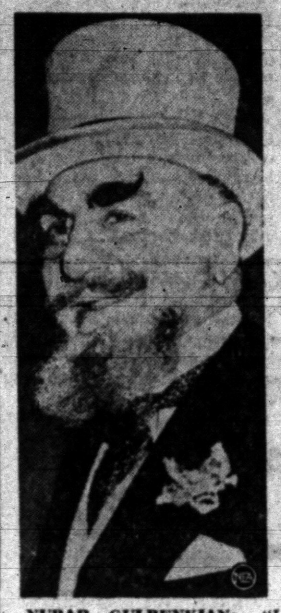

Now to center stage advances Lazard Brothers, the banking firm founded by three French brothers who got their start in the New Orleans cotton trade in 1847, and who followed the gold rush to California to make their fortune.

★ ★ ★

As a Bank of England director, Lord Kindersley has prior knowledge that the Bank Rate is to be raised. As chairman of Lazards, he must blot this knowledge out of his mind. Indeed, Lord Kindersley isn't even consulted when Lazards decides to sell $4,000,000 worth of gilt-edged securities—it is too trivial a matter to bother the chairman with, his associates claim.

All the same, Lazards makes a $90,000 profit on the deal, for the firm buys back nearly half the securities after the Bank Rate has been raised.

How to divorce the "public sector" of his mind from the "private sector" is Lord Kindersley's dilemma. A lesser man might crack, develop a split personality under the strain. Indeed, Lord Justice Parker finds the effort called for to be "superhuman." "One must be good at poker," is his lordship's acid comment.

Good Display of Wares Danny's Success Story

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It's the difference between having your merchandise in the basement or having it in the street window."

★ ★ ★

This was Danny Thomas's explanation of his phenomenal success in leaping to the top area in the TV viewer polls this season.

★ ★ ★

It has been a fantastic feat. Danny's family show had been on TV four seasons. Last year his rating hit the skids.

★ ★ ★

"By all rights, I should have been off the air by now," said Danny. "Every law of television would dictate that I was through.

★ ★ ★

"And I could have done very well financially if I had quit. I then could have released our four-year backlog for reruns and made a lot of money. But everything in me revolted against quitting that way.

"So the success we've had is truly 'art for art's sake.'"

I asked him if he thought his show was any better this year.

"I don't see how I can say that it is," he replied, "except that in our fifth year we should be working even better as a team. But I don't think that we have ever had a really bad show; at least that's what people tell me.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly we couldn't have asked for more awards or critical raves than we got in our first three years. And we got up to a good rating too. But last year we came right in the middle of 'Climax' and we couldn't do a thing."

★ ★ ★

Fortunately, Danny had allies in his desire to keep the show alive. One was advertising executive Tom McDermott, who sold a sponsor on buying Danny. The cause wasn't hurt by Desi Arnaz, who commented that Danny's was the one show which could sustain the ratings in the time I Love Lucy was vacating.

★ ★ ★

Against considerable opposition, Danny inherited the prime Monday spot. He scored the top ratings for a comedy show.

How long can he continue in the TV grind?

★ ★ ★

"I have options for two more years after this one," he said. "I'd like to do at least one more year in deference to the sponsors. Then I'd like to slow down and let the reruns work for me."

Orson Welles Changes Trip for Dog's Sake

NEW YORK (AP)—Where Orson Welles goes, his dog goes.

Movie man Welles learned half an hour before sailing time yesterday that the French liner Liberte couldn't permit him to carry with him his toy dachshund named Columbina.

So Welles switched his entire party — including Columbina — to the American Export liner Exochorda.

He was headed for Rome for a vacation, but had scheduled his trip through France. After the change, he sailed directly for Italy.

The French recently restricted the entry of dogs because of an outbreak of rabies in the Mediterranean area.

Tries to Use Stamps

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—You've got to say one thing for Elmer M. Fitzgerald of Boyds Tavern, Va.—he tries.

Police picked him up for pasting a block of green trading stamps on his windshield, instead of a car inspection sticker.

Now He Can Gab All He Wants

Talked His Way to Jail

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Robert Rutledge, 65, will have plenty of time to talk with his buddies during the next 45 days. It's legal now.

★ ★ ★

Rutledge got into trouble with Kalamazoo police Tuesday when he violated a city ordinance against talking to jail inmates without permission. Rutledge, who had just been released from jail after serving a brief sentence for a traffic violation, earlier had left some tobacco for some friends.

That was all right with police, but when he went to the windows of a cell and told two prisoners about his Christmas gift, he was haled into court.

Municipal Judge Clark Olmsted found the onetime Schenectady, N. Y., resident guilty, suspended sentence and sent him on his way again.

Today, Rutledge was back behind bars and free to exchange small talk with several acquaintances.

★ ★ ★

He pleaded guilty to drunkenness after police arrested him near the city's railroad station, and was sentenced to 45 days by Judge Olmsted. It wasn't suspended this time.

Wanted to Be Helpful to Helpful Prisoner

OSCEOLA, Iowa (AP) — A fellow who worked around the Clarke County Courthouse while serving a 90-day jail sentence was so pleasant and handy that when he was released, courthouse employes passed the hat and gave him $18 to help him on his way.

Beck's Attorney Calls Prejudice

Files Affidavit Saying Jury Foreman Made Remark About Client

SEATTLE (UP) — Attorneys for Dave Beck, president of the huge Teamsters Union, have submited an affidavit in court which accuses the foreman of the jury which convicted Beck on a grand larceny charge of saying before the trial "they ought to throw the bok" at Beck.

★ ★ ★

The foreman denies making the statement.

★ ★ ★

The affidavit was sworn to by Robert Paulson of nearby Edmonds, who said in his signed statement that Charles Hickling, a Bellevue hydroplane driver and boatbuilder, made the statement in October.

★ ★ ★

Beck went on trial Dec. 2 on charges he misappropriated $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned automobile. He was found guilty Dec. 14 and his attorney Charles Bundell gave immediate notice he would seek a new trial.

★ ★ ★

In his affidavit, Paulson said Hickling's alleged statement was made during a conversation they had while they were neighbors at Edmonds and while both were working at an Everet aircraft plant.

Sandwiches, Not Speeding, Concern Officer

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UP)—A patrolman with wailing siren halted a truck to ask not "Where's the fire?" but:

"Do you have a sack of turkey sandwiches?"

Joe Alegria, astonished, said he did.

"Don't eat them," the officer told him. "Your wife says the meat has gone bad."

Alegria learned then that his wife, after making the sandwiches for him and their three children back in Santa Barbara and seeing them off to Red Bluff yesterday, decided the turkey didn't look good.

★ ★ ★

A doctor confirmed her suspicion. The California highway patrol was alerted to flag down the truck before lunchtime. Alegria was stopped just before noon.

Teacher Tells Tales of Teachers Abroad

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—Don't tell the kids, but teachers can be troublesome when abroad.

"They get so interested in what they are seeing that they straggle behind and are liable to get lost," says Dr. Wesley Childers, of Albany State College for Teachers.

★ ★ ★

The professor should know. He has escorted teachers to Europe seven times, usually in groups of about 20.

Box-Office Poll All-Male Affair

Rock Hudson Tops List of Money-Makers, as Gals Fail to Place

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Rock Hudson has won top place in a theater owners' poll of box-office money-makers that for the first time in 26 years includes no actresses.

Observers had no immediate explanation for the all-male aspect of the Motion Picture Herald's annual list of the 10 top box-office stars, announced yesterday. Marilyn Monroe and Kim Novak placed Nos. 8 and 9 last year.

Otherwise the poll supported a belief long held by experts: that most of today's movie-goers are teen-agers.

Hudson, born Roy Fitzgerald 32 years ago in Winnetka, Ill., made his first appearance on the list. Singers Pat Boone and Elvis Presley, who took the third and fourth places, also are first-timers.

Reliable John Wayne, who led the poll in 1950, 1951 and 1954, broke up the youngsters by taking second.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Lewis indicated he can go it alone. He and Dean Martin were No. 1 in 1952 and No. 6 last year. Theater men gave Lewis alone the No. 9 spot in 1957.

The 10 winners: Hudson, Wayne, Boone, Presley, Frank Sinatra, Gary Cooper, William Holden, James Stewart, Lewis, Yul Brynner.

Angry Drivers Wait While She Finishes Letter

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP) — Topeka Policeman S.R. Purdue found a line of cars with impatient drivers waiting and honking as he approached a drive-up mail box at the post office.

★ ★ ★

After about a five-minute wait in the line himself, Purdue investigated. A woman in a car alongside the mail box was penning the last lines of a letter.

★ ★ ★

Oblivious of the furious drivers behind her, Purdue said, she finished the letter, addressed the envelope, stamped it, dropped it in the box and pulled away.

Heroic Dog Loses Life at Hands of Gunman

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A German shepherd's bravery in trying to protect his owner's property from a gunman has cost him his life.

The 3-year-old dog, Baron, was shot two weeks ago by a man who held up Robert Nelson's liquor store in nearby La Mirada. Veterinarians removed the bullet, which paralyzed Baron, and for a time thought he would recover.

"But today the vet said he was getting worse, and in pain," Nelson said. "So—we had to put him to sleep. I know it was the only thing to do, but still. . . ."

Magazine Told to Name Names

Judge Orders Details in Flynn Case Against Confidential

NEW YORK (AP) — Confidential magazine has been ordered to name names, dates, and places in connection with its story that claimed actor Errol Flynn spent one of his wedding nights with a call girl.

★ ★ ★

State Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol yesterday ordered Confidential to name the alleged call girl and give other details. Flynn is suing the magazine for a million dollars.

The actor claims the story, published in the magazine's March 1955 issue, was a mass of fabrications.

In a two-page opinion, Judge Saypol said: "The call girl with whom the plaintiff was said by the defendant to have spent his wedding night and the witnesses to the lewd and obscene performances which the plaintiff assertedly staged and participated in should be named now."

★ ★ ★

The court papers did not indicate which of Flynn's weddings allegedly was involved. Flynn, married since 1950 to actress Pat Wymore, was married from 1943 to 1949 to the former Nora Eddington and had been married previously to Lili Damita.

Teenagers Flee Bombed Show

Explosive Tossed Into Jammed Texas Theater Injures Four

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—A homemade bomb exploded with a blinding flash last night in a crowded theater, sending scores of panic-stricken teenagers fleeing into the lobby of the smoke-filled building.

Four youths suffered minor burns and cuts.

Police said an unknown person tossed the bomb into the theater near the screen. The blast, described as a "blinding orange and red flash," hurled one youth out of his seat and blew the seat cushion 15 feet.

Jerry Brewster, 12, was treated for burns and lacerations on both legs and released.

David Palmer, 15, James Birchfield, 12, and Charles Ray Cox, 11, suffered minor cuts.

The lower floor of the theater was filled to near capacity, mostly with teen-agers and children watching a Walt Disney movie.

Detective Lawrence Glover said officers think the bomb was made from firecrackers. He said officers found pellets resembling gunshot where the bomb apparently landed. He said whoever threw it apparently escaped unseen.

★ ★ ★

The theater filled with smoke, but there was no fire, and except for the seat, little damage.

Bill Limiting Hiring by Government Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa) said today he would ask Congress to impose the "Jensen rider" on every appropriation bill next year in a move to cut government personnel by 10 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The "Jensen rider" first was approved by Congress in 1952 and again in 1953. It limited the power of any agency of the government to fill vacancies until personnel in the department fell below 90 per cent of normal.

The 1952 and 1953 provisions allowed the agencies to fill one out of every four vacancies. Jensen's new proposal would allow one out of every three vacancies to be filled.

★ ★ ★

"By this method alone," Jensen said in an interview, "we can save upwards of 500 million dollars in payroll and related costs alone without hurting anything. Nobody gets fired, because my rider applies only to vacancies."

California Raises Pay

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin Knight announced yesterday he would provide funds in his 1958-59 budget for a 3 per cent salary increase for 80,000 state employes at a cost of $10,155,000. The California State Employes Assn. countered with a request for 5 per cent.

Expert Warns of Holiday Drinks

Cocktails High in Calories

LANSING (AP) — Count the calories if tempted to take an extra drink over the holidays, a nutrition expert urged today.

The advice came from Mrs. Alice H. Smith, chief of the nutrition division of the State Health Department.

★ ★ ★

"The nutritional truth is that alcoholic beverages are high in calories and almost completely void of proteins, vitamins and minerals," Mrs. Smith said.

"A diet limited to alcoholic beverages can't support life," Mrs. Smith said. 'However' since many people insist on combining imbibing with holiday festivities, we call their attention to the vital need for balancing carbohydrates, proteins, minerals and vitamins."

Too many calories lead to obesity, Mrs. Smith said, declaring that the average cocktail contains about 150 calories and a bottle of beer or a highball around 170 calories.

★ ★ ★

"A few drinks can add up to as many calories as an extra meal," she said. "If you must drink, protect yourself with proteins."

Man-Carrying Moon Planned by Lockheed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Examiner said today that a contract betwen the Air Force and Lockheed Aircraft Corp. to build the Pied Piper, a potential man-carrying satellite, is reported near completion.

★ ★ ★

The story from the Examiner's Washington bureau said an unmanned version will be ready about 1960 and the manned version about 1965.

★ ★ ★

"When the Pied Piper reaches the man-carrying stage, it is expected to orbit for a month with the big problem that of a safe return to earth," the story said.

★ ★ ★

There was "no comment" from Lockheed. There have been previous references to such contemplated projects in Washington but the Pentagon has given no official comment.

Dallas Mapping Integration Plan

U. S. Court's Delaying Ruling Pleases Texas School Officials

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas school officials, happy over a federal appeals court ruling which lifted an order for them to integrate schools next month, today turned back to mapping deliberate plans for desegregation.

The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans yesterday ruled that school authorities here "should be accorded a reasonable further opportunity" to integrate schools.

Last September Federal Judge William H. Atwell ordered integration of local public schools at midterm. Twice before he issued decisions saying Dallas need not integrate and said his third ruling was done so reluctantly.

Dr. Edwin L. Rippy, school board president, said that "naturally we are pleased with a decision of the Circuit Court which again allows us the opportunity of dictating our own timing and suggesting our own methods."

★ ★ ★

He said surveys made in connection with eventual integration here were not merely delaying actions. "We've learned a great deal —not only from the studies but from observation of other communities that have integrated."

Rippy declined to make known the board's specific plans on integration.

Detroit Soldier Drives Off North Carolina Hill

HENDERSON, N. C. (INS) — Pvt. David King, 25, of Detroit, a soldier assigned to Fort Bragg, drove his car over a 30-foot embankment near Henderson, N. C., last night, injuring himself and an expectant mother who was a passeger.

Pvt. King was hospitalized for severe shock. The woman, Mrs. Norman Madak, was critically hurt. Mrs. Madak's husband, also a Fort Bragg soldier, escaped injury.

Long Arm of the Thief Takes Liquor, Wine

WILLIAMSTOWN, N.J. (AP)—The long arm of the law-breaker cost a liquor store operator seven half-gallon jugs of wine and five fifths of liquor.

★ ★ ★

A thief smashed panes of glass in both the rear and front doors of Wilmer Lane's store. He apparently was unable to reach and unlock the safety chain. He settled for what he could reach — the jugs and fifths, which Lane valued at about $60.

Forests cover almost one-third of Montana's area.

Singer's Husband Hit for Income Tax

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A $392,644 federal income tax lien was filed yesterday against George A. Mellen and his former wife Mildred.

Mellen, now married to Kay Starr, popular singer, was formerly president of Ambrosia Minerals Inc. His present adress is listed as Paulden, Ariz., north of Prescott.

The lien was signed by Matthew J. Scott of the Phoenix office of the Internal Revenue Service and covers income tax allegedly due for 1956.

Last April 16 a $39,171 lein was filed against Mellen in Albuquerque. It was for the year 1955. That lien was released last May, when Mellen's residence was sold.

LOUVERED WALL — This louvered wall is in a bedroom of the Milton E. Proutt home on Maceday drive. An unusual construction detail, this wall allows free circulation of air and provides a little extra light for an otherwise dark corner of the living room. On the bedroom side the plywood wall beneath the louvers has built-in drawers. The Proutt home was featured in the Home Section on March 9.

GRACIOUS STAIRWAY — We remember with pleasure this beautiful curving stairway in the Southern Colonial home of the Henry W. Axfords on North Rochester road. The dado and woodwork are painted white while the hand rail is mahogany. Striped paper on the lower walls and a more intricate design up the stairs are both in muted metallic shades. Grandfather's clock is an heirloom. You saw this home on August 3.

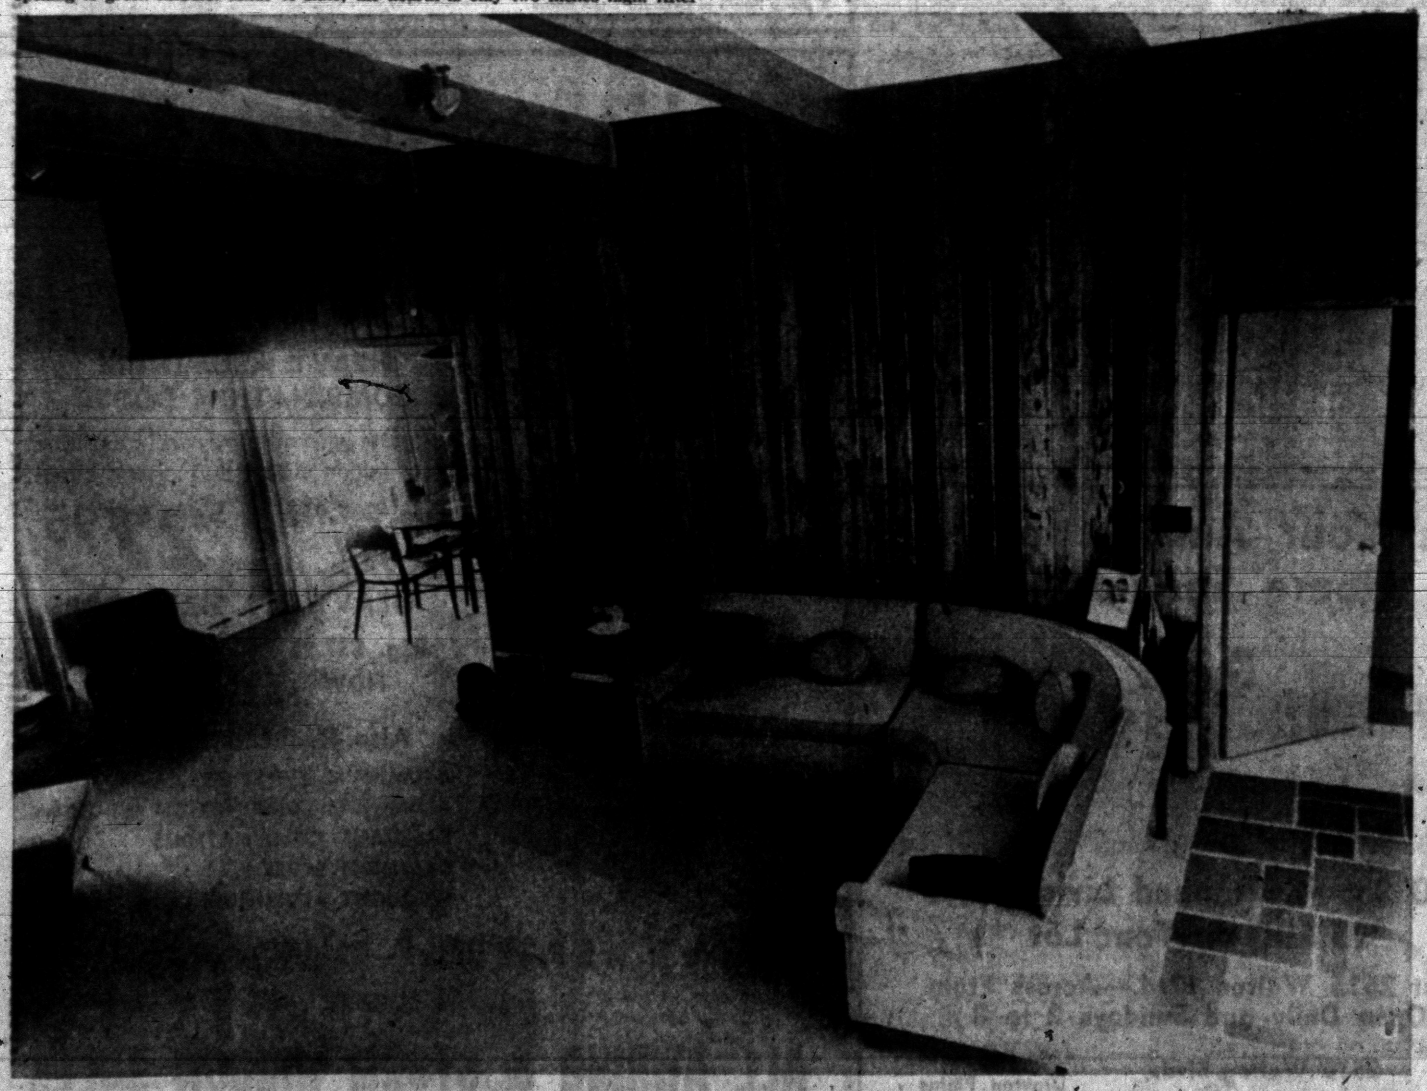

REMODELED FARMHOUSE — Mr. and Mrs. George Souter remodeled an old farmhouse that has stood on Metamora road for about a century. This fireplace was the only thing left in the interior before remodeling was begun. With split rocks from the property it was made a little deeper. The frame around the fire opening is green marble. Made of slate, the hearth is only two inches high. After building in cupboards and bookshelves the Souters gave the entire wall a coat of white paint to contrast with the gray green of the other three walls. The room is charming with its comfortable chairs and conveniently placed little tables. The Souter home was featured October 26.

PEGBOARD CUPBOARDS — Interesting use of pegboard for cupboard doors is a feature of the kitchen in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Valade on Livernois road. The walls below are covered with plastic brick. This home was shown on April 6.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK — The Alex C. Mair home at Wing Lake, featured November 25, was the first one brought to our attention as being built with House of the Week plans. The exterior is brick and aluminum siding with black and white shutters.

ISLAND STOVE — Mrs. Fred Houghton of Rochester has an island stove in her new kitchen. From this point she can keep her eye on the activities of her four children, yet be out of the line of traffic. This home was featured March 30.

More Space, Less Cost in Squared Ranch Type

By JOHN G.B. WALLACE

Artfully designed, this seven-room ranch house can save you a saddle bag of gold dust in the cost of a lot! Why? Almost square in shape, it takes full advantage of its depth to give you added living space on a plot normally intended for a much smaller residence.

A one-story house this size would have larger side-to-side dimensions and would require a minimum lot 90 ft. by 100 ft. This house, however, because of its quadrilateral design, could fit a lot 75 ft. by 85 ft.

With land prices as they are today, this point can be a matter of great consequence to a home buyer. It was a major point certainly in the objective of the renowned architect who created this HW-84 design for the House of the Week Series. It is the work of Rudolph A. Matern.

Beyond this point, Matern says of HW-84, "another design feature was to provide a more than modest sized family room-kitchen arrangement with easy access from all parts of the house and outdoors and yet keep its location removed from the living and sleeping area.

"To add a final touch of interest, the chimney core was located in the center of the house so that back-to-back fireplaces could serve both family room and living room."

The result of this, of course, is that you have fireplaces in both rooms. Although back - to - back, each fireplace has its own distinctive character.

In the living room, which incidentally is sunken one step below the level of the rest of the house, the log-burning fireplace has a raised seat and a planter hearth. The planter hearth is a touch borrowed from Puerto Rico by Matern, who often visits there. It lends a charming, tropical note to the living room.

The living room fireplace has a brick face, which can be utilized as a striking background for any number of interesting art or sculpture arrangements.

The fireplace in the family room also is raised, but its design has been changed to better fit the atmosphere of a family room.

LIGHT THROUGH IN CEILING

This fireplace is flanked by wood-faced cabinets — an exceptional and original treatment. An additional feature of this fireplace is a light trough, built into the ceiling above.

The three bedrooms, including the 12 ft. by 15 ft. master bedroom, are set in a private wing. Here, again, an unusual note — the bedroom hall bath has a double lavatory vanity with a planter at one end and a vertical window strip above.

Wrought iron rail dividers separate the sunken living room and the dining room, and six-foot-wide sliding glass doors open from the dining room onto a screened-in dining porch.

Similarly in the family room, sliding glass doors open onto a family room terrace. The correlated arrangement here is worthy of note — a dining porch for the dining room, and a family room terrace for the family room. A touch of Puerto Rico again, Senor Matern?

A STRIKING EXTERIOR

For the man of the house, there is a long bank of storage cabinets and shelves along the entire left wall of the garage.

Exterior details are equally striking:

There is a copper-roofed cupola on the front gable.

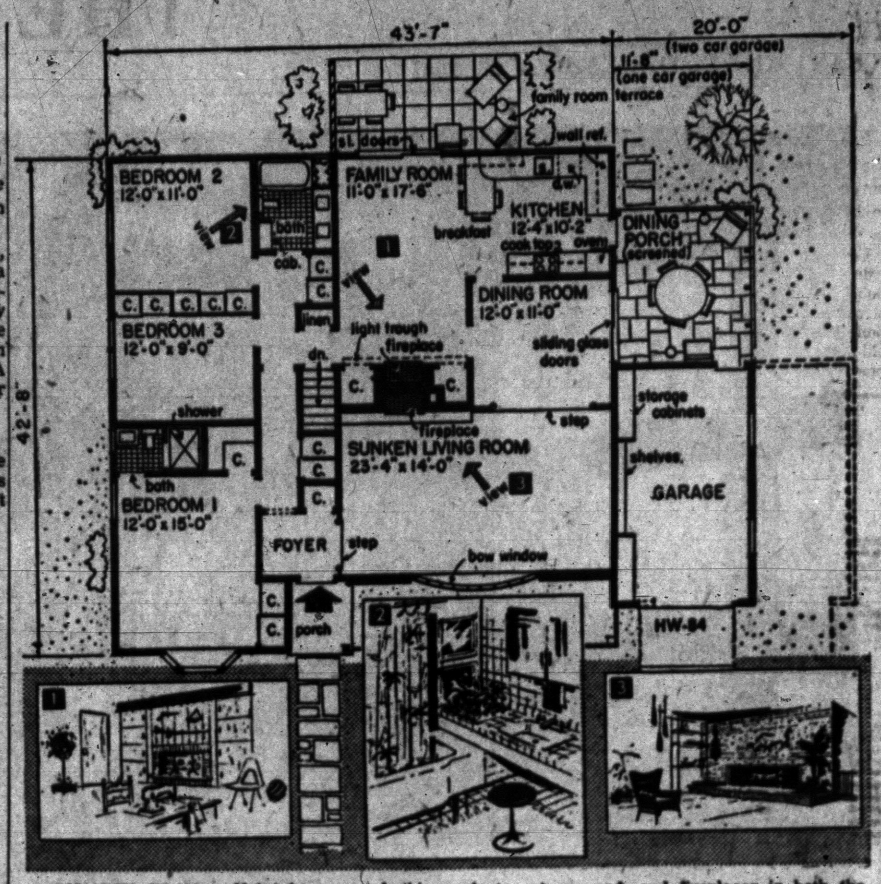

A picket fence encloses a front garden area just outside the vastly wide bow window in the living room.

An octagonal bay window in the master bedroom accentuates the clean, vertical board and batten siding.

Brick veneer frames the living room window.

The rear dining porch is screened from floor to ceiling; its floor is flagstone.

The floor of the family room terrace is scored concrete, the chimney is brick — and the roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

SQUARED PLAN — Uniquely arranged, this floor plan includes a porch off the dining room and a terrace off the family room. Interior features include a double lavatory vanity with a planter at one end, and fireplaces in both the sunken living room and the family room. Inserts give the views indicated by arrows.

ENCLOSED GARDEN — A short picket fence encloses the front garden area just outside the bow window in the living room. Other exterior features of this ranch home are a copper-roofed cupola and an octagonal bay window in the master bedroom. The exterior is vertical board and batten siding.

WIDE VIEWS — This interior view takes in portions of the family room and the kitchen, looking out toward the family room terrace. One wall of the family room has low, built-in cabinets with a peg board finish overhead.

10-Month Survey Shows Bldg. Down

DETROIT — October contracts for future construction in Michigan amounted to $101,002,000, or one per cent below October 1956, Marvin J. Brokaw, F. W. Dodge Corporation district manager, reported today.

Contracts by the major construction categories in October compared to the like month last year showed non-residential at $39,588,000, up 36 per cent; residential at $52,212,000, down six per cent, and heavy engineering at $9,202,000, down 47 per cent.

Construction contracts for the first 10 months of 1957 compared to the year-earlier period showed non-residential at $452,646,000, up one per cent; residential at $507,611,000, down 17 per cent; heavy engineering at $207,423,000, up six per cent, and total construction at $1,167,689,000, down seven per cent.

Use only waterproof wood glue for outside work, not merely water-resistant glue.

Simple Wood Walls Are More Popular

Wall decoration is no longer an intricate matter, according to leading home decorators.

Superficial ornamentation on walls is being discarded and handsome woods in different grains and paneling patterns now form the primary decorative element of a home.

★ ★ ★

Wood paneling has long been used in the great ancestral homes of America and Europe, but in this day and age you needn't be the owner of a manor house to have such distinctive woods as west coast hemlock grace your walls.

★ ★ ★

Hemlock, long prized for its rich graining and lovely, champagne coloring, is within the price range of most young homemakers, as are western red cedar and Douglas fir, two other fine woods.

Reflecting the rise in job homeownership, the nation's savings and loan associations are now serving 6,700,000 home loan customers, an increase of more than 5 million since the end of 1945, according to the United States Savings and Loan League.

Statistics

The square footage of HW-84 is 1,685, excluding porch and garage. Add 157 sq. ft. for porch and 241 sq. ft. for one-car garage. Overall house dimensions are 42 ft. 8 inches b y43 ft. 7 inches, nearly square. One-car garage increases the 43 ft. 7 inch length to 55 ft. 3 inches; two-car garage increases length to 63 ft. 7 inches. Even with maximum length, house will fit a lot 75 ft. by 85 ft.

Hot Water Heat Keeps Up With Times

Hot water heat today provides many advantages hardly possible a generation ago — and even then it was rightly regarded as a standard of luxurious comfort. This evolution touches both the heat production and heat distribution aspects, and in the former the gas-fired boiler plays an outstanding role.

Trim, compact, often squarish in shape and brightly finished, these boilers are a far cry indeed from thir counterparts of years back. The trend has been toward reducing the amount of hot water needed in a system, thus improving flexibility and responsiveness to automatic controls. A small expansion tank is usually tucked away under the ceiling.

Boiler sections have been designed to squeeze the last possible bit of heat from the burner flames below. Water heated in them is circulated by an electric pump to room areas to be heated.

If Tree Sheds, It's Hard

Don't be confused by the designations "hardwood" and "softwood." In nearly all cases, woods obtained from trees that shed their leaves every year are hardwoods, while woods from trees which have all-year-round needles are softwoods.

Tile Cement Stainproof

A new boost for tile kitchen countertops has just come out of the laboratory. It's a new type cement, called a countertop grout, for sealing the joints between tiles. The material, developed by researchers of the Tile Council of America, is proof against all stains from foodstuffs and other typical household items.

Kitchen counters of real tile have been popular for some time, especially in the West. In other areas, countertop grout that stained easily or turned gray with age was held to be an obstacle against tile's use. Ceramic tile itself is stainproof, of course.

"The problem of staining grout won't exist any more," says Dr. J. Vincent Fitzgerald, research director for the tile trade group of 26 manufacturers who produce 90 per cent of the domestic wall and floor ceramic tile.

"The industry now has a permanently white, sanitary, stainproof grout that's ideal for kitchens. It's hard and durable, too, and just can't crumble out.

"However, if white is not preferred," he explains, "it's possible to have other colors. They'll be just as permanent."

The new countertop grout, just recently licensed for manufacture, will open large additional markets for ceramic tile, Dr. Fitzgerald says. This new improvement in installation methods, coupled with tile's more than 200 different colors, its wide variety of shapes, sizes and textures will go a long way toward increasing tile's kitchen popularity.

Pantry Behind Cabinets Delights Homemakers

One of the greatest kitchen blessings—after miles of ceramic tile counters—is an "end pantry." This homemaker's delight is one of the most ingenious methods of utilizing wasted space at the narrow end of an oblong kitchen.

The pantry extends wall to wall, passes back of the cabinets on one side and the appliances on the other. It has a sliding door in the middle giving access to every inch of shelf space. Small items are accommodated on upper shelves. Large equipment stores best on the bottom.

Hydronic System Lets You Mix Heating Units

One of the features that makes the equipment for hydronic (forced hot water) heating so attractive to homeowners is its adaptability in modernization work.

For example, suppose you decide to junk an old-style bulky boiler for one of the new and streamlined space - saving cabinet boilers, at the same time replacing old-fashioned radiators with baseboard heating units.

You may have a room so cut up with French doors, windows, stationary cabinets or a fireplace that there isn't space enough left over to accommodate a baseboard of sufficient capacity to satisfy heating requirements.

But, that needn't be of concern. Heating units supplied by a boiler can be mixed in the same system. You can use a recessed convector or slender tube modern radiator to give you the heat you need where the right size baseboard won't fit, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau explains.

Both concentrate heat output in an installation requiring relatively little floor space. There's only one thing to remember, the Bureau adds. In mixing heating units, stick to the same metal, because different metals have different thermal characteristics.

You'll like baseboards for giving home heating a refreshing new look. Heating baseboards are off the floor and out of the way once installed. Painted to match the wall above, they're the identical twin of the wooden baseboards they replace.

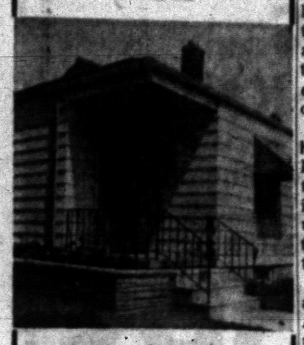

You can move furniture around at will in a baseboard-heated room. And when it comes to laying wall-to-wall carpeting, there are no exposed pipe connections to cut and fit around.

Hollow Walls Are Useful

Frame house construction provides hollow walls. The National Lumber Manufacturers Association points out two of the advantages of this feature: Space within the walls for heating ducts or pipes, plumbing and wiring, with easy access to them; and a maximum air space, which provides good insulation in itself or gives plenty of room for sufficient insulating material to be effective in extreme climates.

It's a good idea to paint the handles of your work tools the same color so that you may get them back when your neighbor borrows them.

NEW PLASTIC — Winter-long suntans in warmth and comfort—even in the coldest and snowiest of regions, are now a possibility, thanks to a new plastic called Sisal-Glaze. The clear-as-glass plastic is durable, easily applied, and will transmit 92 per cent of the sun's rays, thus allowing healthful suntanning on any sunny winter day. This sunhouse, made with Sisal-Glaze, can be built for less than $100.00, including cost of lumber and other materials.

Winter Suntans Possible in Plastic Sun House

Something new in plastics — a versatile outdoor film that can be used by do-it-yourself enthusiasts to build year-round sunhouses and greenhouses, enclose patios and porches, make storm windows and doors, and replace glass in garages and out-buildings — has been introduced nationally by an Attleboro Mass., concern.

One of the unique features of the semi-rigid film, known as Sisal-Glaze, is that it will transmit almost 100 percent of ultra-violet tanning rays and infra-red heat rays. Sun tan addicts now will be able to renew and retain the fading tans of summer in warmth and comfort, according to American Sisalkraft Corporation, the manufacturers. The material is available in rolls 36 and 42 inches wide through local retail lumber dealers and other specialized retail outlets throughout the country. It is equally adaptable for portable cabanas, cold frames, swimming pool enclosures, and numerous buildings around the farm.

Plans for bachelor and familiy size sunhouses are now available for $1.00 from lumber dealers or American Sisalkraft Corporation. An attractive 7 x 7 x 7-ft. structure can be erected from these plans at a total cost of less than $90.00, including lumber, hardware, and Sisal-Glaze.

Equipped with a roll of Sisal-Glaze, a pair of scissors, a hand stapler, and tools normally used around the home; practically anyone can construct a sun-house. Once completed, the structure will withstand wind, impact and hail, will support heavy snow loads. Occupants will be able to remain warm, for the material effectively traps the heat of the sun in addition to allowing the entrance of tanning and heating rays.

Hotels, motels, resorts and hospitals will find the material ideal for solariums. Firms seeking small, inexpensive, speedily erected industrial warehouse structures also will find the plastic economical and practical. Another possible use is for home gardeners — small greenhouses that will allow a much longer growing period for plants, flowers and vegetables can be erected quickly and at low cost.

The clear, strong plastic material will not deform or sag and has great strength, which gives it high resistance to bursting under blows of blunt objects.

The sunhouse will be a relief for harried mothers, who now can safely place baby's crib or playpen in the sunhouse without bundling him up in heavy outdoor clothing. However, care must be taken to insure proper flow of air, for even on cold winter days, the temperature can build up to 80 or 90 degrees. For this reason, plans for the backyard sunhouse, developed by Easi Bilt Pattern Company of Pleasantville, N.Y., include adjustable swing-up ventilators in the roof as well as other instructions on how to avoid initial over-exposure to the sun.

★ ★ ★

Although many new plastics have been developed for indoor-outdoor use over the past few years, Sisal-Glaze is the first that will transmit such a large percentage of sunlight, yet be sufficiently rugged to stand up out of doors. It also does away with glass cutters, window breakage, and puttying. For these and other reasons, it should have wide appeal for the home owner. Besides the previously mentioned applications, it can be used for breezeways, beach cabins, poultry house glazing, carports and many other home, farm and industrial uses.

Black, White Back in Style

NEW YORK (INS) — If everything about your house is in black and white, you're back in style.

★ ★ ★

The pale pastels and warmer shades that were making the big hit in modern furnishings have given way again to severe but striking combinations of black and white.

Take for example a white-walled bedroom seen in one of the model room's on display at a major New York department store.

A white spread was skirted with a black and white thin-striped duster. A similarly vertical black and white stripe made up the upholstery on the room's easy chair. Off-white curtains had a black and white striped valance, and the curtains themselves were trimmed with alternately black and white ball fringe.

The black and white trend fits in with many color accents. A black and white small scale medallion print papered the walls of another model room, while a black couch and white chair continued the color combination

★ ★ ★

The natural curtains had a painted black thick curtain rod, and the black and white scheme was further carried out in some of the lamps. The accent color was green, to be found in rug, lamps and throw pillows

★ ★ ★

Other possible accent shades include orange, red, blue and yellow.

Nebraska Homemaker Does All Home Painting

SUPERIOR, Neb. — One of the prettiest young matrons in this town is known for the fine job she personally does in painting the exterior of her house. Mrs. George F. Day sees nothing spectacular in her assuming this chore. She says it is just a matter of taking your time and using ordinary precautions in having steady, strong and satisfactory equipment.

She and her husband agree thoroughly in choice of color and decided on a barn red for their home. She says that for the interior, they are fond of using latex paint as it completely hides the blemishes and she pointed out that latex was particularly applicable to interior painting because it can be cleaned so successfully. Mrs. Day frequently changes the colors of her living and bedrooms.

The latest TV antenna also serves as a garden trellis. Easy to set up, the weather resistant aluminum antenna is 36 inches wide, 72 inches high.

Learn What Color Will Do to Rooms

Most homemakers want splendor and dignity in their homes. Even if they're inclined toward the casual style of decorative treatment, some stateliness is in order.

Maroon and wine, for example, will help you obtain a rich and stately effect. These warm colors are ideal for formal rooms, living and dining rooms, and dens. But they're a bit heavy for bedrooms.

Brown, or one of its derivatives that we now popularly tag as the "earth Colors," is a good choice if you want a room to appear warm but conservative. Too heavy on the brown, though, and you cause a drab effect.

CONSOLE-DINING TABLE introduced by John Stuart Inc. in the Danish Craftsman Collection performs miracles in space. Only 18" with the drop leaves down, it is narrow enough to act as a room divider behind a sofa, or as a console against a long wall. With drop leaves raised, 8 people can dine comfortably. The picture frame or sleigh base, another example of carefully conceived design with practical purpose, opens to form a sturdy support. Solid Bangkok teak is artistically cut and matched to show up the natural swirled grain. A hand-rubbed oil finish protects and displays the beautiful wood any hostess would hesitate to cover with a cloth. Matching teak chairs combine sculptured curves with graceful straight lines, an attractive feature of Danish design. Closely woven sea grass seats in natural green-beige tones are comfortable, durable and handsome companions to this table.

Winter Is Fine for Roofing

Don't wait for warmer weather to have a new roof applied on your home, warns Andrew C. Lang author of the new book, Home Repairs.

"A new roof of asphalt shingles can be applied successfully in winter," says Lang, "and if a house has an old, worn roof, waiting until spring for reroofing can be dangerous."

Lang explains that winter's hardest punch lands on the roof. Ice, snow, harsh winds and low temperatures give the roofing material a beating in colder sections of the country. In warmer areas, the roofing takes a pounding from heavy winds and rain.

If the roofing is old and weathered, says Lang, it's apt to spring leaks which can cause serious interior damage before the homeowner is aware of it.

Water can seep into roof decking, causing it to warp. Leaks also can cause expensive damage to interior ceilings and walls. If water gets into electric wiring, dangerous short circuits may result.

One particular advantage of reroofing in winter, says Lang, is that most contractors probably will be able to schedule the job at the home - owner's convenience, since roofers' work calendars are not so crowded during winter months.

New Mortar Mix Strong

A new mortar mix discovered by researchers for the Tile Council of America has a bonding strength in ceramic tile installations twice that of conventional type mortar. And all this is accomplished with an application of the new mix about one sixteenth-inch thick as compared to the usual one-inch thick or more application of conventional cement. The new mortar mix can cut tile installation time and costs.

Materials and Firing Determine Kind of Tile

There are three basic types of ceramic tile — glazed, unglazed and quarry. The color of unglazed tile is the result of exposing a mixture of clay, flint, feldspar and other ceramic materials to intense heat. The color extends all the way through the tile.

Glazed tile is a colorless bisque, which is sprayed with a liquid glaze. Firing in a kiln brings out the color of the glaze. Quarry tile is an especially rugged material made of unrefined clays. Its color depends on the hue of the raw material and the intensity and duration of firing.

Be Cautious With Acid Used to Clean Tile Floor

Even a ceramic tile floor can acquire a dull film if neglected over a long period and grime is allowed to accumulate. Aggravated cases may require more drastic treatment than a series of thorough scourings with detergent and hot water. Muriatic acid may be used, but only if diluted in the ratio of one part acid to 10 parts water. Even then try the solution at first only on an inconspicuous corner.

If the material used to fill the joints between tiles shows the slightest sign of damage from the acid, either dilute further or get the advice of a professional floor maintenance consultant.

A wire fence can be painted quickly and evenly by using a paint roller.

New Roofs Help Families Stay Cooler

A new roof on a house doesn't necessarily mean the old one was worn out, especially if the new roof is white or a light pastel color.

A New Jersey roofing contractor found this out during his annual inspection of roofs in his area when he came across a number of reroofed homes which his records indicated had not needed new roofs. Talking with owners of the homes, he learned that summer comfort was a key factor in their decision to reroof.

★ ★ ★

Although the old roofs had at least another year or two of wear left in them, the home-owners decided to reroof with white or light-color asphalt shingles because of their heat reflecting quality and because of the immediate improvement in appearance a colorful new roof gives a house.

Tough, light-color mineral granules embedded in each asphalt shingle reflect the sun's rays, preventing penetration of a great amount of solar heat into the house. The granules also provide a rock-like wearing and weathering surface, and make the roof fire-resistant.

One Teaneck, N.J., housewife reported her new white roof had made her upstairs rooms livable during a June heat wave. In previous summers, she said, the rooms were uninhabitable. Another home-owner said his house, reroofed with a pastel blend of asphalt shingles, was "unusually comfortable" during the summer's hottest days

Decorators often paint baseboards the same color as the carpet. Frequently, this is a color different than the trim and makes the room seem larger.

Rejuvenate Old Tray

Trays that look the worse for their long service can be renewed with a new top surface of plastic-finished paneling. Some trays with a rail border can be reconditioned simply by inserting a piece that has been cut to fit, or it may be fastened permanently by using contact cement. Available in plain colors and wood and marble patterns, it is both decorative and functional. Its baked plastic finish resists moisture and stains, and is easily cleaned.

White Elephants Are Profitable

A successful plan to convert old mansions and hotels from "white elephants" to havens of retirement for the aged is reported. A builder or realtor buys up an old building, reconditions it, and rents out rooms at low cost to elderly persons, who do most of the work of servicing, maintaining, and administering.

The plan is already paying its way in Philadelphia, Dallas, and Miami — in some cases at a profit.

More than 2,000 prefabricated homes in Southern Louisiana successfully weathered the winds of Hurricane Audrey.

Protect Space for Plants From Water Damage

The flower lover need not be frustrated by lack of yard space for a garden or by limitations on the use of cut flowers. Along with the usual attention to landscaping outside the home, give some thought to the many different kinds of plants suitable for growth inside. A visit to a garden supply shop, or a few hours with a seed catalog will provide ideas.

Whatever your horticultural fancy, remember to protect the interior of your home from possible damage by water, soil or heavy plant containers. One effective and ornamental method of protection is to line your planters, window sills and shelves with scratch-proof and waterproof ceramic tile. The many colors—more than 200 in all—offered by real tile will dress up your rooms even when the plants are not blooming.

Paint Matches Blinds

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Dorothy Liebes, famed color consultant and textile weaver, said in a recent speech, that the gay colors in her much discussed "Liebes blind" can be easily matched with harmonizing colors in paint. Mrs. Liebes also said that the materials and colors used in the blinds have been tested for cleanability and durability.

Use Iodine for Scratches

To conceal scratches on red-finished mahogany, you can use new iodine. For mahogany that has turned brown or is cherry colored, use iodine that has turned dark brown. For maple, dilute iodine with denatured alcohol, using a half-and-half mixture.

SPANISH INFLUENCE — Bold curlicue motif on all-cotton area rug is reminiscent of Spanish iron grillwork. Homespun casement draperies, painted chest and X-legged chair also reflect early Spanish designs. Designers feel that the real Spanish look is one of dignity, simplicity and graciousness. They feel, too, that it is very adaptable to the informal American suburban living.

Do's and Don'ts on Using Aluminum Paint

DO . . . use aluminum paint where a tough, wear-resistant finishing material is desired that will reflect a large amount of light, provide an excellent barrier against moisture and prevent rust.

DO . . . keep in mind that there are three basic types of aluminum paint — for metal and masonry; for the exterior of a wooden house; and for either wood or metal indoor surfaces.

DO . . . remember that for priming wood, brushing on aluminum paint gives better adhesion than spraying it on.

DO . . . consider aluminum paint for brightening cupboard interiors, dark closets, etc.

★ ★ ★

DON'T . . . make the common mistake of using aluminum paint as a prime coat over rusty metal, which should first be rubbed with steel wool and then covered with a coat of red lead or one of the other rust-inhibitive materials.

DON'T . . . overlook the many uses of aluminum paint on the farm . . . on metal roofs, for the protection of tools, on metal fences, to keep milkhouses sanitary and to reduce damage from condensation on the inside walls of stock barns.

DON'T . . . use this type of paint over whitewash, as it will not adhere well.

DON'T . . . forget that, while aluminum paint can be cleaned from a brush with turpentine or any other ordinary paint thinner, it should be cleaned with a powder-type cleaner if the brush is to be used for some other kind of paint.

Portable Bar Folds Flat

In St. Paul, Minn., Sterling Products Co. has come up with a portable, fold-away bar, easy to carry and store, and handy for grownup or teenage parties. Called the Sterling Fold-A-Bar, it's 40 inches high, 48 inches long and 20 inches wide. Its top is covered with a damage-resistant plastic. The front and side is finished in a vinyl cloth available in five colors. When not in use it can be folded flat and stowed away easily.

Exposed Floors Back in Vogue

"The eyes have it!"

That could explain today's growing homemaker vote for exposed floors of glamorous oak or other attractive hardwood.

In more and more households these days lovely hardwood floors, now found in about 85 per cent of modern homes, are being displayed as an integral part of the decorative plan. The trend is endorsed by leading interior decorators and designers who point out that such floors lend a feeling of inviting warmth and elegance. They are famed for their inimitable natural beauty of grain and coloring.

Set off with distinctive area or accent rugs, they not only contribute a high degree of eye appeal but also offer practical housekeeping advantages. For one thing, they stay glistening with only moderate care. Cleaning and waxing two or three times a year are sufficient in the average family. Daily sweeping with an untreated dust mop, plus occasional polishing between waxings, requires little time or effort.

Indicative of the swing toward smaller rugs, as opposed to complete floor covering, is the report of Edward Fields, Inc., a New York custom producer of top quality coverings of both types.

Four years ago, the company says, its sales of complete coverings were four times greater than its volume of area rugs. Recently its sales of area rugs have represented about three-fourths of its total volume.

A table saw is called a 6-inch saw, an 8-inch saw, and so on, depending on the maximum diameter of the blade that can be used in it.

Tips for Women Home Buyers

Women often find themselves shopping in both the supermarket and the housing market in this day of unconventional division of family assignments.

If you, Madame, have been delegated to look for larger family quarters in the used-home department, the following suggestions may help you separate the hulks from the houses:

1. Flooring. Should be free of warping. Don't consider any house where sagging floor beams have been propped. Where floors lack such permanent surfaces as ceramic tile, the condition of finishes should be inspected closely. Check exposed floor joists on basement ceilings for signs of sagging.

2. Doors and windows. Beware of door and window frames that are not level or doors and windows that stick badly. These are signs of walls that have settled unevenly. Frames should be sound and free from signs of decay.

3. Walls. Should be straight and true. Check masonry walls for cracks, wood walls for deterioration and ceramic tile walls for condition of the grout (material that fills joints and protects bond of tile to wall). If grout lines have been neglected and grime has accumulated, a series of gentle scrubbings with fiber brush and scouring powder should accomplish a restoration. Vast improvements have been made in materials for grouting during the past few years, and faulty material can be replaced easily and inexpensively.

4. Plumbing. Open all faucets simultaneously. Weak flow at any one faucet is a symptom of corrosion in piping. Discolorations on ceilings under bathrooms reveal leaks in plumbing fixtures.

5. Chimneys and fireplaces. Brick on outside chimneys should fit tightly. Check inside for crumbling. Unsightly fireplaces can be glorified by removing mantels and setting ceramic tile over chimney breast and hearth.

Strongest 'Toe' May Decide NFL Championship

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Briggs Stadium will be filled with Browns Sunday afternoon. One of them, Coach Paul Brown, will be after the Associated Press honor as National Football "Coach-of-the-Year."

★ ★ ★

Another will be the best candidate for "Rookie-of-the-Year" honors, fullback Jim Brown.

The rest of the Browns will be the Cleveland team which will be playing in its 12th championship game in 13 years, and shooting for its 5th world title in eight games.

JIM BROWN SHOO-IN AS ROOKIE

As it appears, Jim Brown looks like a sure bet to take rookie honors in the league, and oddly the big fullback credits the player he replaced, Ed Modzelewski, as the one who did most to help him in his first season.

"I have found no one more helpful to me this year than 'Big Mo'," said Brown. "Because he played my position, he knew every angle and trick, and I was very surprised to find a veteran, especially since I was his competitor, so helpful to me," Brown told Cleveland writers recently.

Brown, a 220-pounder who will go on active duty for six months as an Army reserve officer after the season ends, played his first pro game in his home town when the Browns whipped the Giants two weeks ago.

His parents, who live in Manhasset, L. I., saw him play his first pro game, except for television, that day against the Giants.

As the rushing champion of the league, Brown ran 202 times for 942 yards, including a league record of 237 yards in one game against Los Angeles.

HATES WET FIELD

After the last game in Briggs Stadium when the Lions beat the Browns, Jim Brown admitted he has trouble on a slippery turf.

"The Lions made it tough to run against with a tight line, but because I am accustomed to digging into the ground when I run, I found it difficult because of the wet turf," he said after the last Lions game.

Whatever the result Sunday, there is no doubt the Cleveland Browns under Coach Paul Brown are the Eastern Division champions because Jim Brown has been the key in the offense.

It could be a "Brown" afternoon for the Lions.

SPORTS

BROWNS' JIM BROWN — Fullback Jim Brown (left) of the Cleveland Browns and quarterback Tommy O'Connell are the two big reasons why Cleveland took the Eastern Division championship this year and why the Detroit Lions will have to be careful in the NFL title game at Briggs Stadium tomorrow.

Two Field Goal Specialists to Play Key Roles

Groza Tied for League Scoring Lead With 15 Boots, 32 PAT's

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — Sunday may be the battle of "toes" when the Lions and Browns meet for the championship of the National Football League at Briggs Stadium.

The men of the hour will be two of the oldest players from the point of service in the league, automatic Lou Groza of Cleveland and Jim Martin of the Detroit.

Weather forecasts indicate a slow field for running and a wet day for passing, thereby putting Martin and Groza in the field goal spotlight.

Groza, a veteran of 12 years, is one of the greatest field goal specialists in NFL history. He has scored 38 points in six championship games for the Browns and this year he tied for NFL scoring honors with 77 points with Sam Baker.

Baker of Washington kicked 14 field goals of 23 attempts and had one touchdown and 29 extra points, while Groza booted 15 field goals of 22 attempts and added 32 points without a miss.

Martin, a 10 year veteran, has been a key factor in the Lions' last four games leading to the Western Division crown. He has booted six field goals, one of which went 42 yards, and in addition he has converted nine straight extra points since taking the job after Bobby Layne's injury.

If the Browns get anywhere near midfield or closer to the Detroit goal, Lions' coaches are not expecting any punts. Detroit figures that Paul Brown will call on Groza at every opportunity when a punting situation arises.

Groza is the last of the original Browns which won four straight All-America titles before getting into the NFL in 1950. This will be his 11th championship game in 12 years.

Coach Brown decided that he would start quarterback Tommy O'Connell against the Lions. O'Connell took passing honors in the league this year, even though he was out of the lineup in the last meeting with Detroit three weeks ago when the Lions won, 20-7.

Besides the injured Layne, the only other player who may not get into the game is tackle Charley Ane out with a leg injury.

The big gun in Cleveland's running attack is rookie Jim Brown, the big fullback from Syracuse University who has replaced the veteran Ed Modzelewski, and who is the league's number one ground gainer.

The Lions have a couple rookies of their own who have performed admirably in the past few weeks. End Steve Junker and defensive back Terry Barr have been outstanding for Detroit, and according to coach George Wilson, the rookies may have the last word in Sunday's game.

Cleveland has 12 rookies on its roster led by Brown, and including such players as quarterback Milt Plum and tackle Paul Wiggin.

Wiggin it will be remembered was the culprit who put Layne out of action with a broken ankle after a bruising tackle. He is a 237 pounder from Stanford.

Kickoff time is 2:00 p.m.

LITTLE SAMSON — The smallest but probably the most courageous member of the Pontiac Central wrestling team is 75-pounder Bobby Kaiser. The hard-working sophomore has to compete in the 95-pound division, the lowest weight class in the mat sport.

75-Pounder Great on Spirit

Tiny Kaiser Inspiration to Pontiac's Mat Team

Short of stature but packed with an abundance of competitive spirit is Pontiac Central wrestler Bobby Kaiser.

★ ★ ★

Weighing only 75 pounds soaking wet, the 15-year-old matman has to grapple boys at least 20 pounds heavier in every match since the 95-pound division is the smallest weight class in high school wrestling. But he loves it.

The big weight difference and his inexperience have made Bob by the victim of some quick pins thus far but Chief coach Bill Wilson thinks things will change later on.

"I feel he has above average ability and is learning rapidly. I am sure he will become a fine wrestler with more experience," says Willson.

★ ★ ★

Kaiser's interest and hard work have been an inspiration to the other members of the team, according to Willson. "He is conscientious, works hard and has never missed a practice," commented the coach.

The latter fact is remarkable when you consider the fact that the (4-6) sophomore takes quite a battering even in workouts. And no wonder. The only boys available for Bob to drill with are Jack Keller, 103, and 112-pound Bill Stephens.

Kaiser comes by his lack of size naturally with his mother measuring only (4-11) while his father is (5-6).

But Willson has hopes he is still in the "growing boy" class and can sprout up around 95 by his senior year. Bob has added 23 pounds and grown nine inches in the last three years so the coach may get his wish.

Many observers feel the little guy deserves a whale of credit just for competing in the rough sport—win or lose.

It is easy to understand why the tiny 75-pound Samson has become so popular among his fellow students. He has the respect of everyone for his untiring efforts against such difficult odds.

Jays Face Bentley for Title; Vikings Win

Southfield in Finals

By BILL CORNWELL

It's Southfield against Livonia Bentley for the championship of the Northwest Suburban Christmas Invitational basketball tournament.

Coach Bob Watts' Bluejays, turning in their most solid performance of the season, advanced to the title round with an impressive 75-53 win over Redford High School.

Bentley, shooting at a torrid 48 per cent clip, moved into the title game by crushing host Farmington yesterday afternoon, 76-52.

Southfield and Bentley will collide for the crown next Monday evening at 8:30 to climax the four-game finals of the holiday tourney. The Jays dropped a 61-49 decision to Bentley in their 1957-58 season opener.

Walled Lake, nipped by Southfield in Thursday's opening round, bounced back to thrash winless Detroit Thurston last night by a 61-40 margin in a sloppy contest.

East Detroit, a victim of unbeaten Bentley on Thursday, also rebounded and did it convincingly with a 55-42 victory over Hazel Park in Friday's other afternoon game.

The Vikings and East Detroit fight for 5th and 6th positions on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In Monday's remaining finals, Union and Farmington battle for 3rd and 4th places at 3:30 while Hazel Park squares off against Thurston in the 7th and 8th place struggle at 7 o'clock.

Union managed to stay respectable with Southfield for one quarter. The Jays held a 22-16 lead entering the 2nd period, then broke loose for a 46-32 halftime edge and Union was all washed up.

Forward Bob Shull headed the Southfield scoring column with 27 points, 25 of them coming in the 1st half. Tom Ridley was next for the Jays with 22. John Kraft tallied a dozen for Union.

Bentley had a blazing 70 per cent shooting average in the 1st half and a 48 per cent figure for the route while racing to its 7th straight triumph. Ten Bentley cagers scored, four in double figures, with 16 points by Tom Eveland showing the way. Dewey Nichols topped Farmington with 18.

Walled Lake was in complete command as the Vikings handed Thurston its 6th straight loss. Dennis McClelland scored 20 points to pace the Vikings to their 3rd win in five starts. Cliff McIntyre netted 10 in defeat.

East Detroit was equally in control of Hazel Park. Four players did all the Shamrock scoring, sparked by Gary Ballman's 17 points. Len Nowicki was high for the Parkers with 11.

Wyoming Quint Beats Michigan

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — A 33-point performance by Tony Windis of the University of Wyoming gave the Cowboys an 88-76 victory over the University of Michigan in a basketball game here last night.

The contest was close until the closing minutes when the Wolverines tired noticeably.

Michigan held a 45-44 lead at the intermission.

M. C. Burton led the Michigan scoring with 25 points. Pete Tillotson followed with 23.

MONEY MAN— Dick Mayer, 33-year-old pro from LaJolla, Calif., led the golf money winners for 1957 with a total of $65,835 in official earnings.

First Among Pro Golfers

Mayer Top Money Winner

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Dick Mayer, the blond, 33-year-old LaJolla, Calif., pro, led all golf money winners this year with a grand total of $65,835 in official earnings.

The final tabulation released today by the Professional Golfers Association gave Mayer, the U.S. Open and "world" winner, a lead of more than $20,000 over his closest competitor, Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y.

Ford earned $45,378. Third with $32,872 was Don Finsterwald, the lean Ohio University graduate who turned pro only six years ago.

In fourth place with $28,260 was Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the top money winner of all time. Significantly, the 45-year-old Snead was the only member of golf's "old guard" to finish among the first ten.

★ ★ ★

Finsterwald captured the PGA Vardon Trophy with an average of 70.30 strokes a round. Ford was second in this competition with an average of 70.45 and Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, N.Y., was third with 70.93.

First place in the PGA "top-ten-tournament" point standings went to Ford. He accumulated 1,255.50 points, compared with 1,197.50 for Finsterwald, who was second.

Snead ended the year in first place in Ryder Cup points compiled since Aug. 1, 1957. Sam has 168 points to 115 for Finsterwald.

Final official money winners for 1957:

1.	Dick Mayer, Lajolla, Calif.	$65,835.00
2.	Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y.	45,378.56

Knicks Slap Pistons; Celtics Lose Another

NEW YORK (AP) — Repeated last minute efforts failed to pull the Detroit Pistons from behind a 125-120 defeat at the hands of the New York Knickerbockers in a National Basketball Assn. game at Madison Square Garden last night, before 18,255 fans.

Boston's lead was trimmed to 7½ games in the first game of the doubleheader when the Celtics lost 110-96 to Philadelphia.

Detroit, trailing by 12 points, poured in 11 successive markers to narrow the margin to 116-115 with two minutes remaining. But new York pulled away again on three straight baskets by Carl Braun, Richie Guerin and Mel Hutchins.

With a minute to go, Chuck Noble and Gene Shue threw in one-handers as Detroit pulled to 122-119, but Guerin ended the threat by dropping in a free throw and adding a two-pointer after stealing a pass.

George Yardley, the NBA's leading scorer, led the Piston scoring with 31 points. Teammates Sweet Water Clifton and Harry Gallatin scored 27 and 25 points.

★ ★ ★

Braun was high for the Knicks with 28 points.

The victory gave New York its sixth straight home triumph.

Detroit remains tied for second place in the NBA standings with Cincinnati who lost to St. Louis 97-96.

In making it two straight over Boston, Philadelphia rallied in the last period behind the fine shooting of Joe Graboski and Jack George. Three straight baskets, two by Graboski and one by George, put the Warriors in front 99-98 with five minutes remaining.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics regained the lead at 103-99 but the Warriors stormed back with seven straight points, three of them by George.

OCSC Regains NSSA Tourney

By H. GUY MOATS

Confirmation of a recent decision by the National Skeet Shooting Association to hold it's 1958 shotgun tourney in Pontiac, was given today by NSSA secretary, George White, of Dallas, Tex.

Oakland County Sportsmen's Club will be again the site for the tournament, the country's most important shotgun competition for followers of skeet. Nationals were held at the Waterford club's fine layout two years ago, setting many new records for the event. Participants praised the tournament there as the best in the association history, and its facilities as among the best.

Tourney dates had not been set today. Chet Crites, Detroit, who headed the OCSC arrangements group in 1956 is again in charge. He was unavailable today for comment.

Detroiters Advance in Badminton Test

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stanley Ash, Detroit, Mich., advanced to the quarter final round of the Eastern Junior Open Badminton championship for players under 18 years by upsetting second seeded Bill Campbell, Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada, 14-18, 11-10, 15-1 here yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Two other Canadians, Dave Frost and Andy Henderson both of Niagara Falls, also entered the quarter finals along with Jack Keating, Detroit; Dan Rudy, Baltimore, Md., and Len Pleafants Marblehead, Mass., all seeded players.

Basketball Aids Bosox' Rookie Keep in Shape

YPSILANTI (AP) — Boston Red Sox bonus rookie Don Schwall of Ypsilanti is going to keep in condition by playing basketball here in a top flight amateur league until he reports for spring training in February.

★ ★ ★

Schwall has agreed to play with the Huron Valley Van Lines team of the Ypsilanti Open Basketball League. Many ex-collegians play in the league made up of teams in Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

The 6-foot-5 bonus pitcher was a regular on the Oklahoma Cage team until the Red Sox signed him to a $50,000 bonus contract two weeks ago.

8 Ring Deaths Occurred in '57

NEW YORK (INS) — Eight ring fatalities, the second smallest number in 11 years, were recorded throughout the world in 1957.

Ring Magazine reported today there were no fatalities in professional boxing matches in the U. S. during the year.

France, South Africa and Germany each listed one pro death. In all, six foreign fighters and two Americans, both amateurs, died as the result of ring injuries.

Americans Take Thrilling Tests in Cup Windup

Beat Anderson, Cooper in Singles; Aussies Capture Famed Trophy

MELBOURNE (INS)—The U. S. salvaged two singles victories to prevent its third straight Davis Cup shutout by Australia today after losing the famed trophy to the Aussies' mighty tennis dynasty.

Veteran Vic Seixas and rookie Barry Mackay turned the trick for Uncle Sam at Melbourne's Kooyong Stadium with thrilling victories over Mal Anderson and Ashley Cooper. The matches were played in near 100-degree weather.

Seixas, the 34-year-old "old pro" of American tennis, beat Anderson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 0-6, 13-11.

In the fifth and final match of the series, Mackay looked like a future champion in beating Cooper, 6-4, 1-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

It was a battle of big services and both players thrilled the jammed stadium with brilliant volleying and serves.

In the vital fifth set, Cooper twice held the advantage during the seventh game on Mackay's service. But the 22-year-old Dayton, O., rookie, (former University of Michigan), who was playing in his first major tournament, showed his crisis abilities by serving two aces and a beautiful backhand cross-court winner to collect the game.

The 6-foot, 4-inch Mackay got an important break in the eighth game when two double faults, and a missed smash by Cooper helped him to a 5-3 lead. Serving brilliantly, Mackay held the service.

The windup matches, which ordinarily would have been mere exhibitions after the Aussies had clinched the cup, took on significance because the Americans were trying to prevent Australia from making a clean sweep of the challenge round.

The Aussies won the coveted cup—emblematic of world supremacy in amateur tennis—when Anderson and Mervyn Rose combined to beat Seixas and Mackay in straight sets in Friday's doubles. In the opening singles matches, Mackay bowed to Anderson, and Seixas was defeated by Cooper.

The 34-year-old Seixas, who is going to be tied down by business interests from now on, drew wild applause from the capacity crowd of 20,600 at the Kooyong Stadium.

Rarely has a more courageous Davis Cup performance been given. The old Philadelphia war horse was almost out on his feet, but he was determined to make his swan song a success and that he did. The pressure-packed final set lasted 51 minutes.

The U. S. hasn't scored a challenge round win since 1954 when Seixas and Tony Trabert beat the Aussies for the cup.

Georgia Tech to Face Detroit

Motor City Classic in Finals

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — Georgia Tech and the University of Detroit moved into the finals of the 6th annual Motor City Tournament to be played tonight at the U. of D. fieldhouse by virtue of victories over Marquette and Columbia respectively in the opening round last night.

The Engineers from Georgia took the lead from the start and never fell behind in defeating a lackadaisical Marquette quintet, 67-58, in the opener.

In the nightcap, the Titans put together a balanced scoring attack with five men in double figures, to dump Columbia, 78-71.

★ ★ ★

In the first half of the Tech-Marquete game, both teams were lifeless. The Warriors got within two points, 54-52 with five minutes to play, but the Engineers made it 58-52 and Marquette never got close again.

Guard Terry Blemker had 20 points for Georgia Tech to lead both teams.

U. of D., led by unheralded John Belholavek, had the lead for only a short spell in the first half as Columbia went out with a 41-37 halftime advantage.

The Titans stayed within two points for the first four minutes of the second half and finally tied the score at 47-47. The game was then tied four times and the lead exchanged hands four times when, with nine minutes left, U. of D. made it 59-57 and held the lead for the rest of the game.

★ ★ ★

Belholavek got 14 of his 19 points in the second half. Four other Titans in double figures were Mike Walsh with 16, Don Haase with 17, Ralph Uchison with 15 and Ray Elbee with 10.

The evening's top scorer was Columbia's Jim Iverson who hit 27 points on easy push shots. U. of D. in keeping the middle closed allowed Iverson to shoot from the outside and as result the 6-foot-1 guard hit on 11 of 18 attempts from the field.

In the consolation game tonight at 7:30, Marquette and Columbia will tangle. The championship game will be held immediately afterward, which is about 9:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

U. of D. will be favored over Georgia Tech despite the height advantage of the Engineers. The Titans appear to have better outside shooting strength, with Walsh, Elbee and Uchison showing long range accuracy.

5 Days of Grid Feasting

Bowl Activity Starts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A five-day feast of football started today with two sectional all star games and a Gator Bowl contest headlining a lame duck coach named Bear.

★ ★ ★

Four All America players led the East against the West in the 33rd annual Shrine game before 60,000 in Kezar Stadium, San Francisco. The East was favored by nine points.

Ken Ford, the Hardin-Simmons passer, accounted for the South's favorite role—by a point—in the annual Blue-Gray battle before 21,500 in Montgomery, Ala.

Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant sent his Texas Aggies (8-2) against the experienced Tennessee Volunteers (7-3) before 42,000 in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. The Aggies were favored by 2½ points in the Bear's swan song.

★ ★ ★

Bryant recently resigned from Texas A&M to become head coach and athletic director at Alabama, his alma mater. The A&M contract ends the first of the year.

The games were televised nationally. NBC showed the Blue-Gray game, 1:45 p. m., EST, and the East-West game, 4:45 p. m., EST; CBS telecast the Gator Bowl 1:45 p. m., EST.

The games open a crowded climax to 1957 football. Sunday's games include the Satellite Bowl in Cocoa, Fla., between Ft. Dix, N. J. (9-0) and Ft. Carson, Colo. (7-3) at 2:15 p. m., EST; and the pro football title windup between the Detroit Lions and Cleveland Browns at Detroit, 1:45 p.m., EST.

★ ★ ★

Monday and Tuesday will be the lull before the New Year's Day storm, when about 380,00 fans are expected to see seven bowl games.

The Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 11 and the Pro Bowl in Los Angeles Jan. 12 should wind up football until late summer, 1958.

The East All Americas were tackles Alex "The Rassler" Karras, Iowa, and Lou Michaels, Kentucky; end Jim Phillips, Auburn and back Jim Pace, Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Ford, who learned his tossing under Coach Sammy Baugh, all time pro quarterback, at Hardin Simmons, threw against a Blue lineup packed with 10 Big Ten players.

★ ★ ★

John Crow, All America back, was Bryant's best bet against Tennessee, in its 12th bowl game. Bobby Gordon headed the Vols single wing attack, the first the Aggies faced in several seasons.

★ ★ ★

In Wednesday's major bowl games, Ohio State (8-1) is favored by 19 over Oregon (7-3) in the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Calif.; Navy (8-1-1) is a point favorite over Rice (7-3) in the Cotton Bowl, Dallas; Oklahoma (9-1) is a 10-point favorite against Duke in the Orange Bowl, Miami; and Mississippi (8-1-1) is a two-point choice over Texas (6-3-1) in the Sugar Bowl, New Orleans.

Other games New Year's Day are the Tangerine Bowl, Orlando, Fla.; Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex.; and the Prairie View Bowl, Houston, Tex.

Area Poloist's Rating Boosted

The U.S. Polo Association has upped the handicap rating of area poloist Don Beveridge to four goals for 1958.

Beveridge, captain and sponsor of the Detroit Triple C polo team, currently the national champions, resides in Birmingham.

In six years his handicap has risen from zero to four goals. Beveridge's nephew Bob, a 21-year old Flint polo player, also had a rate boost from four to five goals.

POLOIST— Polo player Don Beveridge of Birmingham, captain and sponsor of the Detroit Triple "C" polo team which is the 1957 National champion, was one of the poloists whose handicap rating was boosted for 1958.

Spartans Nip UCLA, 63-61

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Undefeated Michigan State squeaked past UCLA last night, 63-61, in an exciting scoring scramble before some 7,000 basketball fans in Pan Pacific Auditorium.

The game was part of a double header. Southern California knocked off Ohio State 87-71 in the opener.

The fast moving Bruins tied the ball game with less than five minutes to go on an 18-foot push shot by Jim Halsten.

Jim Anderegg, who collected 14 points for the evening, put the Spartans back in charge, however, hitting on two foul shots.

Larry Hedden, high point man with 18, added 2 more points for Michigan State on a fast break, and Anderegg drove in with a layup and Michigan State led 59-53.

UCLA pulled up to within four points—59-63—on clever ball handling and good shooting by Cliff Brandon and Denny Crum.

With 55 seconds left, the Spartans began a stall. UCLA intercepted and with just 15 seconds left Crumm hit on a jump shot and the Bruins had closed the gap to 63-61.

UCLA's Jim Steffen tried a jump shot from just to the side of the key, but Michigan State's lanky John Green blocked the ball, which popped erratically into the stands as the gun sounded. Green had controlled the boards excellently all evening.

Michigan State built up an 8-2 lead early in the game, but the Bruins chipped away and moved into a 22-19 lead with about eight minutes left in the first half.

The schools switch opponents tonight with Ohio State meeting UCLA and Michigan State facing Southern California.

Sunday Baseball on TV Planned

CBS Will Broadcast Game-of-Week Series of Six Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System yesterday announced four American League teams and two from the National League have contracted to appear on the network's planned Sunday game-of-the-week next season.

★ ★ ★

The announcement, first by the network after almost a month of controversy followed an exclusive Associated Press story last week that reported the Sunday TV series was being readied as a companion telecast to CBS' Saturday game-of-the-week.

The National Broadcasting Co. also has a Saturday game.

★ ★ ★

Bill MacPhael, CBS sports director, said the Chicago White Sox, Cincinnati Redlegs, New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians, Philadelphia Phillies and Baltimore Orioles have sold their Sunday network TV rights to Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, Inc., an advertising agency representing a brewery. MacPhael said the agency selected CBS to carry the games.

★ ★ ★

Since news of the Sunday TV plan first leaked out at the annual baseball meetings early this month, the minor leagues, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and several congressmen have attacked the plan.

Search on for '58 Bowlerama Champs

By CHUCK ABAIR

Who will be Oakland County's individual handicap bowling champions for the 1957-58 season? That question will be answered Feb. 22 in the finals of the 2nd annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama tournament.

Last year's winners Joe Tinson of Pontiac and Mrs. Donna Verhey of Drayton Plains will be back to defend their titles in the two divisions, men's and women's singles.

Tinson even expects to bring other members of his family in with him this time in hopes they can take home some of the loot.

Bill Furlong, the latest Pontiac resident to bowl 300, has signified his intention of giving the Bowlerama a try along with veteran local kegler Ford Newcombe.

Also expected to be on the firing line when the men start qualifying Feb. 8 is Lee Miller of the Land-O-Lakes alleys. He was a top qualifier in the 1st tournament last season to win a handsome trophy. Lee has been going strong in recent weeks.

Large contingents from Rochester and the Pontiac Elks Club and various other groups and individuals from every part of the country are expected to swell the entry list far above the 500 of a year ago.

Interest in the tournament has spread throughout the area since the successful debut made by the 1956-57 event. Every bowling establishment in the county has entry blanks which may be mailed or left at the Pontiac Press Sports Dept., or at any bowling alley.

The tournament is open to men and women sanctioned bowlers who are residents of Oakland County.

Scoring again will be on the 70 per cent handicap 200 scratch basis with the top 10 per cent of all the bowlers including ties eligible for the finals at Huron Bowl.

Qualifying houses will be Montcalm Centre and Motor Inn Recreation in Pontiac, and Howe's Lanes in Clarkston. All are different qualifying alleys from last year.

Men entries will qualify at Montcalm or Howe's. All women will compete at Motor Inn Feb. 15 for the right to go on to the finals.

The deadline to get your entry blank in is getting closer every day with top prizes totaling $450 and $250 and a long list of others hanging in the balance.

Men's entries will be accepted until midnight, Feb. 2. Women have until Feb. 10 to join the ranks to their later qualifying date.

Clark's Return to Action Increases Bucks' Stature

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— Ohio State, already an overwhelming favorite to defeat Oregon in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, gained new stature today as Don Clark, the Bucks' most scintillating ball carrier, returned to action.

★ ★ ★

The Akron, Ohio, junior, sparkplug of the team which won the Big Ten title three of the last four years, is rounding into form after being on the shelf with a game with Purdue.

Clark celebrated his 21st birthday yesterday by getting into active practice for the first time in almost two months. Coach Woody Hayes, who had given up hope that his No. 1 back would see action here, said he was "much encouraged, and that Clark probably would play, although he wouldn't start."

★ ★ ★

Oregon's Pacific Coast Conference co-champions, believed by the experts to have about as much chance as General Custer had, ran through what coach Len Casanova termed an "unsatisfactory and sluggish" workout yesterday. Hayes termed the Buckeye practice "better than average."

Denver Blanks Tech

DENVER (AP) — Denver's once-beaten Pioneers got a shutout performance from goalie Rodney Schneck and punctured Michigan's Tech's strong defense for a 3-0 Western Intercollegiate Hockey League victory last night.

Lapeer Wins in Tourney

The up-and-down Lapeer Panthers loomed as a strong threat to take the Flint St. Michael holiday tournament today following an impressive 79-62 trouncing of Flint Beecher in the opening round last night.

★ ★ ★

Lapeer battles rugged Flint Tech in the semifinals of the winner's bracket tonight. Finals are set for Monday.

★ ★ ★

The one-two punch of Jerry Bennington and John McKillen was too much for Beecher. They combined for 50 points, 30 for Bennington. Lapeer led 33-29 at halftime and pulled away in the final session.

Human Living Won't Be Easy Out There

Semi-Nuts May Do Well in Space

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A scientist said today that semi-screwballs might make the best crewmen for space ships.

Or perhaps Eskimos, or calm Buddhist monks.

The reason is that spacemen will face very tough psychological ordeals on long trips, and will need training or particular mind-sets to do it, said Donald M. Michael, Ph.D., Stamford, Conn.

Space exploring won't be all a delightful easy adventure, he told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

It could mean living for months in cramped quarters . . . so cramped that in human reactions a close buddy becomes insufferable . . . long boredom . . . danger of meteors puncturing the ship . . . few if any games or recreation . . . silence . . . little stimulation of the ordinary human senses.

Dr. Michael, senior research associate of Dunlap and Associates, Inc., said volunteers "will necessarily be personality deviants" because so-called normal people wouldn't take such risks.

But this might not necessarily be so bad because the "normal" people might not be able to put up with the psychological problems, he continued.

Schizophrenics or hermits might meet one condition—they don't depend upon others for psychological support. But they might not feel enough social obligation to do their jobs.

Eskimos or Buddhist monks might make good crewmen, since they aren't so concerned with time and are more sedentary, Dr. Michael said.

Some psychological problems might be solved by mixing the sexes, but this "might also add new but not unique problems."

WOODEN YOU KNOW IT — A man whose "stock-in-trade" is obviously lumber, farmer Otto Brueggemann checks his "house" of fire wood, sawed, split and stacked, for use during the winter. Brueggemann, 54, a third-generation farmer on the homestead he lives on in Venedy, Ill., still likes "the old ways and methods." He's one of the few farmers who still utilizes the wood on his farm for winter fuel.

Ambassadors to Lure Firms

Williams to Pick Corps of Agents Who Will Bring Business In LANSING (UP) — A team of 125 "Industrial ambassadors" will be named by Gov. Williams next month to help attract new industry to Michigan.

The state Economic Development Commission, announcing the plan, said the "ambassadors" will be men who travel frequently out of the state and have extensive contacts with corporations and financial institutions.

"These men will carry the invitation to industrial leaders in other sections of the United States to consider Michigan when thinking of expansion or relocation," the commission said.

★ ★ ★

Former U.S. Sen. Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace, was named chairman of the ambassadors.

"This is a new approach to industrial development," said Williams. "Through the ambassador program, which has the operation of the state's top industrial and business management, the Michigan story will be told on a friend-to-friend basis. We expect this to be one of the most effective industrial developments any state has undertaken."

Names of the ambassadors were not announced.

Lower Grain Costs Aid Livestock Man

Hog Prices Rise Sharply in 1957

By EARL AYKROID

CHICAGO (UP)—The nation's livestock producers got a better return for their efforts in 1957 than they did a year earlier, particularly in hogs.

★ ★ ★

Prices for hogs rose substantially, reflecting smaller marketings than in 1956. Prices for cattle and sheep averaged higher. Lower prices for feed grains the latter part of 1957, resulting from an increased feed-grain supply, favored the livestock producer.

Hog prices at Chicago started the year higher and, except for one or two instances, stayed above the comparative 1956 figure throughout the year.

The top price for hogs in the Chicago market in 1957 was $23.35 a hundred pounds, paid Aug. 1, peak hog price in 1956 was $19.00. In 1955 it was $22.75 and in 1954 it was $28.75. The all-time top was $31.85 in 1948.

Low in 1957 was $16.75, paid Oct. 28, compared with $12.00 on Jan. 5, 1956.

Cattle also moved higher at the beginning of the year and held there through the first seven months. Commencing in August, however, top-grade slaughter steers fell back to equal or dip below comparative prices for 1956.

Top 1957 price for high prime steers was $29.50, paid a number of times in August, compared with the 1956 top of $34.00. The record price is $43.50, paid in 1949.

Lamb prices moved upward the first four months of 1957, dropped below comparative 1956 prices in May and June, and then renewed the higher trend the remainder of the year.

Department of Agriculture economists predict prices for cattle in 1958 will likely average as high or higher than in 1957; hogs may be nearly as high in the first half of the year but will be appreciably lower by fall; prices for sheep and lambs probably will change little from 1957.

Church Planned for New Parish

St. Vincent Established to Serve 700 Families in Madison Heights

MADISON HEIGHTS — A new Roman Catholic parish has been formed here. Known as the St. Vincent Parish, it will serve 700 families.

★ ★ ★

The parish is bounded by 13-Mile, Lincoln, John R and Ryan roads, and includes parts of areas formerly belonging to St. Denis and St. Mary Magdalene Parishes in Royal Oak and Hazel Park, respectively.

Masses will be celebrated temporarily at Lamphere Elementary School, 13-Mile and John R, by the Rev. James B. Heary of the Dominican Order.

Father Heary said plans are under way to construct a church within a year on 10 acres of land at Gardenia and James Couzens highway. A school also will be built in the near future.

Church Women to Meet

LATHRUP—The Women's Association of the Community Church will meet at 10 a.m., Jan. 8, at the church.

Miss Jean Walter, superintendent of Child Social Welfare for Oakland County, will be the main speaker. She is in charge of child placement and is counselor for disturbed children. Her subject will be "Child Welfare in Oakland County."

Devotions will be led by Mrs. Harold Nash. Members of Circle II will serve as hostesses for the luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Church to Close Year

ROCHESTER — The traditional closing service of the year for the First Congregational Church will be observed on Sunday at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Special music will be played under the direction of guest conductor Robert Glick. New members will be received into the church and the coffee hour will be held at the close of the 11 a.m. service. The Rev. E. John Yuells will speak on "When the Great Moment Has Gone." Miss Bonnie Axford will be soloist.

The largest tribe of Indians in the United States today is the Navajos with a population of about 75,000 on their reservation in New Mexico and Arizona.

Rochester Club Hears Harpsichords

Old Music Comes to Life

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Tuesday Musicale will meet at 8 p.m., Jan. 9 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Axford, 4090 N. Rochester Rd. This will be Men's Night and will feature "Music of Long ago."

★ ★ ★

Special guests at the affair will be harpsichordists Phillip Stienhaus of Kalamazoo, Norman L. Scheck of Romeo and soprano soloist Miss Mary Lewis of Detroit.

Scheck, an organ builder by profession, builds harpsichords in his studio on Dequindre road. Although the instrument is patterned after the 16th century originals, he sees it as more than just something of historic curiosity.

The harpsichord's small proportions fit into many a compact scheme of modern living, Scheck says. The tinkling notes are produced by a mechanical plucking of the strings in contrast to piano notes produced by pads that hammer strings.

Scheck presently is installing an organ in Old Mariners Church, Detroit.

Stienhaus, another harpsichord enthusiast, is building his own instrument in Scheck's studio. An organist and choirmaster at the All Saints Episcopal Church, Pontiac, he has spent considerable time abroad studying European organs.

Stienhaus has studied under Robert Hehren and Marilyn Mason at the University of Michigan. He also is a recording artist for Boston Records.

Miss Lewis is a voice major at the University of Michigan.

Hosts and hostesses at the meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. John Boeberitz, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Hinkel, Mrs. Robert A. Woodruf, Mrs. George Marquart, Miss Lucille Boeberitz and Mrs. Edward Callahan.

Will Move Oak Park Hebrew School

OAK PARK — A branch of the United Hebrew Schools of Detroit, a nursery primary school, will move from its present quarters at 1511 W. 10-Mile road to 13855 W. 9-Mile road.

Supervisor Rabbi Jacob Levi said Friday the children's studies will include art, music and Hebrew studies.

The new school is a one-story, airconditioned building with wood panel classrooms.

Rochester Kiwanians Will Hear Traveler

ROCHESTER—Darrell Bordine, 1835 S. Rochester Rd., will be the featured speaker at Monday's Kiwanis dinner meeting. He will describe highlights from his many recent far-flung trips.

Twenty members of the club made a total of 18 visits on their tour of the village caroling for shut-ins. A supper followed at Bebout's.

Forty-four Christmas gifts were delivered to three different convalescent homes in this area, and 20 food baskets were distributed to needy families, the club reports.

First mention of raisins was in the Bible, where in I Samuel 30:12, the passage says: "And they gave him a piece of a cake of figs and two clusters of raisins and, when he had eaten, his spirit came again to him."

Junior Editors Quiz on THE BIBLE

Question: Why did Joshua pray for the sun to stand still?

ANSWER: When the Israelites settled in the Land of Canaan —the Promised Land—they were surrounded on all sides by peoples who wanted to chase them away. In the wars that followed, Joshua, leader of the Israelites, fought many battles, and won them all, including the famed Battle of Jericho.

Then five kings—of Jerusalem, Hebron, Jarmuth, Lachish and Eglon—joined their forces for a major assualt against the Israelites, Joshua led a determined army to resist the invasion and the battle was fought on the plains near Gibeon. Joshua knew that the victory must be won on the first day while the spirit of his people was at a peak and before the enemy could reinforce its army. So he faced the sun and prayed to God that it stand still until the battle was won. God answered the prayer, the sun stopped, and the Israelites routed the enemy, thus assuring themselves their Promised Land.

Six Are Injured in County Crash

2 Automobiles Collide at 12-Mile and Lahser in Southfield

SOUTHFIELD—Six persons were injured at 9:55 last night in a two-car collision at 12 Mile and Lahser Rds. One of those hurt was an 80-year-old Northville woman, who is in William Beaumont Hospital with possible concussion.

A witness told Southfield Police that a car driven by Frank B. Knight, 57, of 726 Thayer St., Northville, ran a red light at the intersection and crashed into an auto driven by Mary Bazen Locniskar, 41, of 3876 Wedgewood Rd., Birmingham.

J. P. Birwell, 3719 Edgar Rd., Royal Oak, said he was following the Locniskar car and that it had the green light, police said.

Cora Johnson, 80, 726 Thayer St., was listed in fair condition this morning by the hospital. She was in the car with Knight and his wife, Esther.

Knight suffered possible concussion, hip and knee injuries and was unable to make a statement, police said. His wife was treated at the hospital and released.

In the car with Mrs. Locniskar were her two children, Roger, 5, and Mary, 8. All three were treated at the hospital and released.

Walled Lake Library Adds 300 New Books

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Community library has added 300 new books to its shelves, many of them being of particular interest to teenagers.

While the majority of the new books are fiction, there are several biographies, including one of President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Dorothy H. Meagley, in charge of community relations for the library, has issued a call for volunteers to act as assistant librarians either during daytime or evening hours.

The library is supported by the sale of library cards and by donations. It serves the city of Walled Lake and the surrounding area.

Auto Ticketed as Driver Pays Speeding Fine

VAN NUYS, Calif. (UP) — While Robert Newbold, 31, was paying a $20 fine for speeding in the court of Municipal Judge Julian Beck a policeman was writing a new ticket on Newbold's car, parked in the lot outside.

Charge: illegally parking in Judge Beck's reserved space.

Newbold popped back into court and pleaded innocent. Judge Beck set Jan. 23 for his court trial.

More Rivers Flood in Ravaged Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (INS) — The trail of devastation in Ceylon's floods began spreading across the island today as more swollen rivers swept over their banks.

★ ★ ★

There were unofficial reports that the death toll in the disaster has climbed above the 200 mark.

★ ★ ★

Officials said there was no trace of 100 families marooned near a large irrigation tank.

News in Brief

Pleading guilty Friday before Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum on a charge of failure to identify himself at an accident was Jim Adams, 53, of 604 Bloomfield Ave., who paid a fine of $50 and was sentenced to spend four days in the Oakland County Jail.

Thieves took 87 boxes of 22 caliber ammunition from the McKenna Hardware Store, 900 Joslyn Rd. Also taken were 21 flashlight batteries. Total value of the goods stolen is $52.

St. Paul's Slates Party

ROCHESTER—Seniors and high school graduates have been invited to the big New Year's Eve party at St. Paul Methodist Church. There will be fun, fellowship and dancing from 9 to 11:30 p.m., at which time the group will go to the Sanctuary for watch-night meditation. After the service, a New Year's Supper will be served.

Wixom to Have 8-Mill Tax Limitation in Charter

WIXOM—Members of the Wixom Charter Commission have agreed upon a tax limitation of eight mills to be included in the proposed city charter.

★ ★ ★

This limitation, according to Commissioner Herbert R. Abrams, provides citizens of Wixom an opportunity to voice an opinion on how any additional tax money should be spent.

The eight mills allowed by the charter appear to be ample to defray operating expenses. Any additional taxation must be approved by the Wixom electionate.

The commission is meeting periodically to complete a charter within a specified 90-day period which began with its first meeting on Dec. 2. Once the commission approves a resolution adopting its proposed charter, it must then send the charter to Gov. G. Mennen Williams for approval.

The proposed charter will be placed before Wixom voters at a special election to be held soon after the charter is approved by the Governor.

★ ★ ★

Wixom electors decided to change from village to city status at a special election held last Nov. 26.

Rochester Man Takes New Chrysler Post

Appointment of Arvid F. Jouppi as assistant manager of shareholder relations is announced by James A. Baubie, director of public relations for Chrysler Corporation.

JOUPPI

In this post, Jouppi will have a major role in continuing development of the corporation's information services to shareholders and the financial community.

Jouppi has held previous posts with General Motors, The Associated Press in the Detroit Bureau, and the Sperry Gyroscope Co., at Great Neck, N. Y. Now a major in the Marine Corps Reserve, he served in the Pacific area in World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Jouppi and their four children reside at 5660 North Livernois Rd. in Rochester.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING — The Annual meeting of The Monitor Mutual Insurance Company of Michigan, authorized to write insurance in the state of Michigan will be held January 20, 1958 at 1:00 o'clock P.M. in the Auditorium of the Roosevelt Hotel located at 125 North Perry Street, Pontiac, Michigan for the purpose of electing a President and one Director full term and to transact such other business as may lawfully come before the meeting.

Ann Sothern, Lucille Ball Sought as Comedy Team

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Ann Sothern and Lucille Ball clowning it up behind bars under the influence of too much Cuban rum in the season's first king-size "I Love Lucy" TV show gave several movie producers a hangover — how to get them as a comedy team into a big screen movie.

★ ★ ★

The gals are willing — if the script is right — and both are chuckling about the irony of it all.

Ann was the queen of the RKO movie lot when Lucille first started there and Lucy still likes to tell it:

"I always had to play the roles Ann didn't want."

★ ★ ★

What's new with Ann since she checked out of the "Private Secretary" series with a big check for her rights to 104 films?

ANOTHER SERIES

She may do another series next year — "But not a Western," she laughed — and she's recorded a soon-to-be-released song album titled, "Sothern Exposure."

★ ★ ★

She's "swingin' way out with a real modern beat," she says, on old songs like "Always," "Summertime" and "Ballin' the Jack" in her first pro warbling since she introduced "Let's Fall in Love" and "The Last Time I Saw Paris" in pre-TV movies.

Unhappy about all those "Malsie" flickers now on the airwaves?

"Unhappy? — are you kidding?" she smiled. "Why, they're giving me a new generation of fans. I'm getting mash notes from 9-year-old boys."

Ann Arbor Station to Suspend Telecasts

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Station WPAG-TV of Ann Arbor will suspend operations for six months Tuesday to await a Federal Communications Commission ruling on a petition for change of channels.

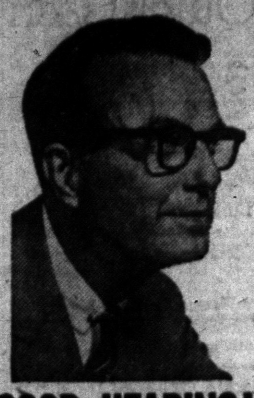

The station telecasts on channel 20, an ultra-high frequency channel. It has asked the FCC for channel 12, a very-high frequency channel. VHF can be received on standard television sets while UHF cannot.

Edward F. Baughn, president of the Washtenaw Broadcasting Co., which operates the station, said he was informed the FCC will not announce a decision of the petition for six months.

He said the 4-year-old station has been operating at "great financial loss." The firm also operates radio station WPAG here.

YOUR TV and YOU

Your TV set and you are probably inseparable companions on most of these cold winter days and evenings. This means extra hours of operation for your set and that is like putting extra miles on your car. It generally means that additional maintenance will be required. When this need arises be kind to your TV set by giving it competent professional service. Contact a reliable and experienced Oakland County Electronics Association Member. Eliminate guesswork and experimenting. Get professional service.
