Twister Ravages Miami, Over 100 Injured

Loan to Beck Proper, Roy Fruehauf Replies

Roy A. Fruehauf, West Bloomfield Township industrialist, today denied he did anything wrong in lending money to former Teamsters President Dave Beck.

In a statement to The Pontiac Press, the trailer manufacturer said of the five-year-old money arrangement:

"This matter was brought out in detail before the McClellan Committee.

"The honesty of the whole thing was developed right then. I answered all the questions and there's nothing out of order in any way."

Fruehauf, Beck and another trailer manufacturer were indicted yesterday by a New York federal grand jury on charges of violating a provision of the Taft-Hartley Act that prohibits union officials from accepting payments from management officials and vice versa.

The indictment charged Beck with accepting a $200,000 loan in 1954 from Fruehauf and Burge Seymour, president of Associated Transport, Inc. of New York.

In another statement released through his office at the Fruehauf Trailer Co. in Detroit, Fruehauf said:

"I have earned and enjoyed an unblemished business and personal reputation for more than 30 years. I am positive my involvement in a matter affecting Dave Beck will be found to be entirely innocent."

Fruehauf's Washington attorney, Clark M. Clifford, called the indictment "fantastic," and said he was "convinced there is no merit in it."

"I know Mr. Fruehauf will plead not guilty," he said.

Clifford was mystified as to the nature of the charge and complained about lack of details in the indictment.

"It is difficult to reply to the charge since practically no facts or information were given in the indictment," he said. "But if we are provided some more information, we will be able to make a full and complete reply."

Fruehauf, 5330 Middle Belt Rd., has been president of the giant truck-trailer manufacturing firm since 1949. The Fruehauf company is described as the largest of its kind in the world.

Beck and Seymour also denied there was anything wrong with the loan, which Beck received while still president of the transportation union.

Fruehauf and Seymour said the loan, since repaid, was made to Beck because he had previously made them loans when they needed them.

The indictment did not specify its accusations, nor would U.S. Attorney Hazard Gillespie elaborate. Gillespie participated in bringing the case before the grand jury.

Beck loaned Fruehauf $1½ million from the Teamsters Union treasury in 1953 when Fruehauf was embroiled in a battle with the late George Kolowich for control of Fruehauf Trailer Co.

With the loan and last-minute purchases of stock, Fruehauf won the battle. He now is chairman

U.S. Jets Won't Escort Patrols Over Far East

Navy Denies Report From Congress Despite Shooting by MIGs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said today it has no plans to provide fighter escorts for patrol planes over the Sea of Japan where Communist fighter planes attacked a reconnaissance plane Monday.

The navy added that it had canceled a plan to send escorts on a single patrol flight sometime this week.

The statement came after Congressional sources reported that jet fighters armed with deadly accurate sidewinder missiles would accompany patrol planes on future flights over Far Eastern international waters.

A Navy spokesman said "we are not escorting patrol planes, we are not escorting commercial airliners or surface ships operating through free air or sea spaces of the world." He added: "This attack on the Navy patrol plane on June 16 was an attack of lawless banditry."

Vice Adm. Wallace M. Beakley, deputy chief of naval operations, said the report by congressional sources that fighter escorts would be assigned to future patrol flights probably grew out of a misunderstanding of information given the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee yesterday.

He said that the committee was told then that naval authorities in Japan planned to send jet fighters with one flight during this week.

The Defense Department subsequently said that "no orders have been sent to the Far East Command to provide jet escort for patrol flights."

But, the department added that "under existing orders commanders may or may not provide escort at their own discretion."

The report at the capitol that jet fighters would be assigned to future patrol flights came after members of the House subcommittee held a secret huddle with naval officials.

STORM UPSETS AUTO — This car was caught up by tornado winds that slammed Miami last night, and was turned upside down against a house. Injured persons, tipped over autos and damaged homes were left in the twister's wake.

Pouring Rain Adds to Misery of Stunned City

Damage Tops Million as Houses, Cars Flip; No Deaths Reported

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Pouring rain added to the misery of tornado-scarred Miami today as weary householders tried to patch up damage caused by the vicious storm which swept the city last night, injuring at least 100 persons.

The highway patrol, which gave the injury estimate, also calculated damage at over $1,000,000. There were no deaths.

Meanwhile, the weather bureau said the threat of a central Florida tornado has ended. A warning had been issued for a broad band starting just east of Tampa and running east to the Cape Canaveral missile test center.

Farther up the east coast, tornado like winds swept across Jupiter Island, just north of Palm Beach. The island, a millionaires' resort, was visited by the late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, shortly before his death.

However, property damage was minor. Most of the homes were boarded up for the summer.

The Miami storm was the first of its kind since the late 1940s when a hurricane-spawned tornado destroyed property.

The Red Cross reported over 1,000 families were affected by last night's storm and 100 homes suffered major damage. Five hundred other houses were less seriously damaged. At least three homes were completely destroyed and nearly 100 business establishments were severely damaged.

Scores of bayfront homes were left in wreckage amid tangles of tree trunks, signs and overturned automobiles as the storm leapfrogged over a 12-mile path. Hundreds of persons were driven from their homes.

Hardest hit was a four-block residential and business area around the 79th street causeway where Police Sgt. Stewart Cooley estimated the damage would run to a million dollars.

But the storm also belted a Biscayne boulevard area 24 blocks south of 79th street and toppled trees and power poles on Coconut Grove, 10 blocks south of the causeway. It missed downtown Miami en route.

L. S. Pope, picked up bleeding on the causeway, said he was on the second floor of a five-family dwelling when its roof blew off. His bed was flung into the air.

Don Shoemaker, who lives in the area, said: "I've been through two tornadoes and have never seen anything like this. It looked like a bomb had hit."

Mrs. Nola Cone, 40, scrambled out of wreckage of her bar with six patrons, shaken but unhurt.

"I've seen Oklahoma tornadoes but none like this," she said. "I heard this roaring sound and yelled 'Everybody hit the floor and get under something.'

"Then it struck. Bottles flew through the air. The cash register—it takes two men to lift it—fell off the counter. Parts of the ceiling fell down.

"The tornado must have lasted two minutes. As soon as it let up, I shouted 'Count off. I want to Tojo's Daughter Arrives to Begin Studies at U. of M.

DETROIT (AP) — Kimie Tojo, youngest daughter of Japan's World War II premier, was greeted with a kiss when she stepped from a plane yesterday to begin studies at the University of Michigan.

"We're pleased to have you, dear," said Mrs. Roscoe Bonisteel, wife of a university regent, as she bussed the 27-year-old Miss Tojo on the cheek.

She spoke briefly to newsmen before being whisked away to the university at nearby Ann Arbor in the Bonisteel Cadillac.

Miss Tojo's father, Hideki, was executed as a war criminal. He was premier of Japan when the United States and his country were plunged into war in 1941 by the attack on Pearl Harbor.

"I am very excited and nervous," she said as she faced reporters. When asked about her father, she quickly veered from the subject.

She plans to study political science at the University of Michigan on a scholarship donated anonymously. First, however, she will attend the university's English Language Institute to improve her English.

Miss Tojo will be among 140 students, 23 of them from Japan, at the institute. They will tour the university Saturday.

The new arrival has a master's degree in international politics from Japan's Hosei University.

614 Plans Drive at Gas Stations

Local Teamsters Unit Hopes to Organize All Attendants in State

Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 tomorrow will begin an all-out drive to organize more than 100,000 gas station employes throughout Michigan it was announced today.

The disclosure came after Joseph Cory, president of the 17,000-member Michigan Gas Attendants Union (MGAU) revealed his membership had authorized a merger with the Teamsters International Union.

The merger agreement is now in the hands of Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and his legal advisers, said Cory.

Under the merger, the Teamsters stand to gain more than $500,000 a year from per capita taxes and a share in initiation fees it was estimated.

Floyd B. Harmon, secretary-treasurer of Local 614, said the gas station employes would constitute a new division at Local 614, with the entire state as its territory.

Harmon and Cory are scheduled to become directors of the new division, along with Robert McLaughlin, MGAU secretary-treasurer, and Roland McMasters, member of the Teamsters Joint Council 43 in Detroit.

Main target in the new organizational drive will be Standard Oil Co. and "several other major companies," said Cory and McLaughlin.

One Standard station in Detroit already has been organized by the Teamsters, they said.

The MGAU, a miscellaneous union, up to now has centered its activities on small, independent oil companies.

While MGAU gas station workers will form the new division, other types of workers represented by the MGAU will go into other unions, the Teamsters where possible, said Cory.

Junior College Proposed Here

Lutheran Church Mulls Over Michigan Group's Bid at Convention

The Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church is considering establishment of a new $6,000,000 junior college in Oakland County.

The opening of such a college was recommended yesterday by Michigan district representatives in San Francisco.

If approved by delegates later this week, the college would be built on a 140-acre site already purchased for approximately $600,000 at 15-Mile and Middle Belt roads, near Walnut Lake.

The Rev. Theodore A. Daniel, pastor of Detroit's Outer Drive Faith Lutheran Church, said building costs would be about $6,000,000. He headed a committee that raised funds to buy the land.

The junior college's primary function would be to serve as a training center for prospective ministers and teachers for the church and its parochial school system.

"No plans for the proposed junior college have been drawn," the Rev. Mr. Daniel said.

Just where the junior college should be established is one of the major convention issues, said the Rev. Gilbert Otte, pastor of Detroit's Trinity Lutheran Church and public relations director of the Michigan District of the Missouri Synod.

A bid for the junior college has also been entered by the California District.

"Since 75 per cent of the people belonging to the Missouri Synod live in the Midwest, the recruitment potential for ministers is greater here than on the West Coast," the Rev. Mr. Otte said.

He said California's bid for the college is centered about the increasing population of that state.

Kaline Hit by Throw, Out for Six Weeks

BALTIMORE (AP)—Centerfielder Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was struck in the head by a thrown ball and carried from the field in the first inning of today's game with Baltimore.

Kaline came to bat with the bases loaded and grounded to Oriole shortstop Chico Carrasquel. Carrasquel relayed to second baseman Billy Gardner for a force of Charlie Maxwell.

Gardner's relay to first base was wide and hit Kaline in the head. The Tiger slugger was knocked unconscious and removed from the field on a stretcher.

You Are Now Worth $1.17 to a Chemist

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Inflation has finally caught up.

For years scientists have estimated the value of the chemical contents of the human body at 98 cents.

But on the basis of present day prices, the value has now gone up $1.17, says Tom Keller, instructor in chemistry at Texas Southmost College.

Want County to Keep Contagious Hospital

It will be recommended to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Monday that the former Contagious Hospital be retained by the county as temporary offices during construction of a new court house.

This decision was made yesterday despite a flood of requests that the Telegraph road edifice be used for the temporary housing of the county's mentally ill.

A special committee of supervisors and county officials, which for a year has been looking for a use for the 33-year-old building, opposed these requests as "pressure tactics."

Also rejected by the committee yesterday was a new offer from officials of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital to lease the empty hospital for five years at $30,000 a year.

Harry Whitlow, POH director, provided, too, that a room would be set aside for the emergency examination of the mentally ill, but not beds.

FOR THE BIRDS

David Levinson, Birmingham supervisor and head of new courthouse planning, said of this provision: "That's for the birds."

Money — or the lack of it — proved the deciding factor as the special committee, directed by Fred W. Smith, Royal Oak supervisor, decided to reject all outside offers and keep the 80-bed facility for the county.

Elmer Hartwig, Royal Oak attorney and chairman of a special committee of the Oakland chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health, expressed disappointment upon hearing of yesterday's decision.

"As long as the hospital was built for hospital purposes," he said, "I think the taxpayers have the right to expect it will be used for that and not county offices."

"Oakland County desperately needs facilities for the mentally ill," he said.

Such a use was the most often considered as Smith's committee received many suggestions. It was the mental health chapter which prompted 43 municipalities, townships, civic organizations and PTAs to submit resolutions to the Board of Supervisors urging the hospital be used for the short-term diagnostic care of the mentally ill.

★ ★ ★

Urging that these suggestions be approved, Mrs. Lawrence Hark, deputy probate register in charge of mental patients, appeared before Smith's committee, but to no avail.

She said Oakland County presently has 54 patients awaiting admission to mental institutions.

Cloudy Skies Won't Change Temperatures

This morning's fair skies will become partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow with little temperature change, the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts.

Low tonight will be near 50 degrees. Friday's high will rise to around 75, the weatherman said. Today's calm to three mile an hour winds will become 5-10 miles tonight.

Lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a. m. was 51 degrees. The thermometer read 70 at 2 p.m.

Grandma Really Flips

When the current Pontiac was on the drawing boards, management aimed to attract a larger percentage of younger drivers. The officials sought to incorporate features to capture the eyes of our youth. And they succeeded—handsomely.

Hence, they get a double thrill out of the following letter which just came in:

"Dear Mr. Knudsen:

"For years I have been an avid reader of TIME. For nearly two years I have been an enthusiastic Grandmother. For three days I have been an ecstatic owner of a new Pontiac Bonneville Convertible.

"Proof positive that your past three years' efforts may not only make the teenagers shout, 'Cool, man, real cool' . . . but us grandmothers raise our voices in chorus with 'Crazy, man, crazy . . . like it's the most!'

He is at present in England on a Fulbright engaged in research on his doctoral dissertation, and will receive a Ph.D. degree this fall from the University of Wisconsin, where he is regarded as one of that university's most promising graduate students.

Dr. Robert F. Hopkins, as director of counseling and testing, effective July 15. Dr. Hopkins, 34, received his undergraduate work and the doctoral degree in education at MSU. He has had extensive experience in guidance and counseling in the public schools of the state, and the State Department of Public Instruction.

Hollie L. Lepley, swimming coach at the University of Nebraska, as director of physical education, recreation and intramural athletics effective July 20. Lepley will also be director of physical education, recreation and athletics of the Pontiac School system.

A native of Wisconsin, Lepley, 46, did his undergraduate work at Carroll college, took a master's degree at the University of Wisconsin, and will receive the doctoral degree next month at Indiana University.

He is chairman of the President's Physical Fitness program for Nebraska and during the war served as a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve V-5 flight training program instructing swimming and water survival.

According to D. B. Varner, MSUO chancellor, "These appointments serve as further evidence of the enthusiastic reception being accorded the educational philosophy of Michigan State University-Oakland.

"The faculty members appointed today include some of the most promising young teachers and scholars in the country, and the fact that they have accepted our invitation to join the charter faculty at Michigan State University Oakland, gives us added confidence, that our program is destined to be both productive and exciting.

Fruehauf Defends His Loan to Beck of the company's board of directors.

In 1954, Beck, according to testimony before the Senate Rackets Committee, got $200,000 from Fruehauf and Seymour. The trailer makers said it was a loan and Seymour said yesterday it had been repaid with interest.

Last March, both Fruehauf and Seymour testified about the loan before the committee.

Both denied any union pressure to advance the money.

Beck's attorney, Charles S. Burdell, said that "naturally we'll fight this indictment."

Burdell said the indictment "involves a legal interpretation of the Taft-Hartley Act I've never heard of before." He did not elaborate.

Burdell indicated he would seek a postponement of the June 24 date on which Beck and the two trailer manufacturers are expected to enter pleas.

Conviction of violating the Taft-Hartley provision carries a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $1,000 fine for each principal involved.

hear seven voices.' And thank God, they all spoke up. We got out of there."

John Brandt, 54, said he and his wife were in their small apartment when something wrenched their front window out of its frame.

"We ran into the bathroom," Brandt said. "I braced my back against the door and my feet against the bathtub. If I hadn't the tornado would have been in there with us."

★ ★ ★

City police, sheriff's deputies, a Florida Highway Patrol detachment, and Civil Defense auxiliaries shunted curiosity seekers away from the area and guarded against looting from stores and homes where building fronts stood wrenched open.

Firemen and power company crews coped with sputtering wires that sparked in rainswept streets.

Plans were under way to feed people chased from their homes by the storm. Emergency kitchens were to begin operating today in some areas.

"Everything we had is gone—leveled," said Dr. George Ferro. "My $40,000 house is destroyed. There's a grapefruit tree where our living room was—our pool's been ripped out of the ground."

The pressbox at Miami Stadium, 100 feet high, provided a frightening look at the storm.

Luther Evans, sports writer of the Miami Herald, said for five minutes he had watched "the awesome black funnel as lightning and seeming explosions frequently brightened the stormy sky."

In a single block of north Bayshore Drive, in the area of greatest destruction, more than a dozen automobiles lay overturned or crumpled. Some had been slammed against buildings.

A 15-foot boat lay upside down in the middle of the street. Neighbors said it was blown off a trailer a block and a half away.

The winds were freakish. They pounded the front of a north Bayshore Drive veterinary clinic to wreckage but only raised dust in caretaker Billy Hardin's home, just behind the clinic.

Residents of the causeway area said the rain-laden storm had struck about 10:20 p.m. with no warning other than their lights flickering out. Violent showers had lashed portions of the city earlier.

Elsewhere over the country the weather generally was fair to partly cloudy, except for scattered areas of rain.

There were showers or thunderstorms over sections of the central southeastern New England.

The outlook was for widely and northern plains states and scattered showers late today across the southern and central Rockies and from the Texas Panhandle through the plains into much of the upper Mississippi Valley. Showers or thunderstorms again were forecast for the entire Gulf Coast and Florida peninsula.

One-Man Grand Jury Repeal Seems Doomed

LANSING (AP) — From all indications, the ax was due to fall today on the House-approved bill to repeal Michigan's one-man grand jury law, the only one in the nation.

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), chairman of the Senate judiciary committee and a vigorous foe of repeal, predicted it would be shelved by a comfortable margin.

It appeared likely that none of the five Republicans on the seven-member committee would support the bill, passed last week by the House.

Cite Pontiac's Need of Community Center

The need for a community center in southwest Pontiac is great, members of the City Commission were told last night.

Recreational facilities, guidance for teenagers and young adults, a focal point for cultural activities are all sorely needed, it was declared.

Attending were Mayor Philip E. Rowston, commissioners Robert A. Landry and Wesley J. Wood and City Manager Walter K. Willman.

A tentative plan for a $450,000 community center was described and tentative arrangements outlined for land, funds and design for a one-story, glass and brick building housing bowling alleys, a roller skating rink, conference rooms and a combination gymnasium-auditorium-dance floor.

The city was asked to consider taking over such a community center on a lease-back basis and running it if private interests were to finance and build it.

IDEA ATTRACTIVE

Rowston and Willman asked the group to submit a definite proposal covering costs and building design.

"The idea has many attractive features," said Willman.

Speaking besides Henry in behalf of a community center were Clarence Simuel, an Oakland County probation officer, and James E. Roberts, an assistant Oakland County prosecutor.

Both law officials believed that recreational facilities would help cut down on the juvenile delinquency and crime rates.

A community center, they said, would cost far less in dollars and cents than the price taxpayers pay to prosecute and imprison lawbreakers.

"And to deter youth from crime is an invaluable saving," Roberts said.

A fourth speaker, William Goodman, said a group of private investors were interested in financing a community center here if the investment were profitable.

"They would want a return on their money, of course, but no more than is experienced on the average land contract," said Goodman, who is the owner of Goodman's Department Store, 520 S. Saginaw St.

FEES WOULD PAY

He believed that fees charged for use of the center's facilities would be sufficient, on a long-term basis, to pay off the original investment plus interest.

Goodman, who owns a large tract of land in the southwest area, said he would be willing to sell a parcel for a community center site "at a nominal cost."

Owner of the Specialty Builders Co., 443 Orchard Lake Ave., Durant said his firm had already voluntarily prepared several designs.

Give Gov. Long Physical Exam

New Orleans Hospital Director Says He Can Leave if He Wishes

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Gov. Earl Long, pale and quiet after 18 stormy days in a Texas mental ward, underwent a physical examination today at Ochsner Foundation Hospital here.

Dr. Edward Leveroos, hospital director, said psychiatrists would be called in, but he emphasized that Long is "an entirely voluntary patient. The governor can leave the hospital any time he wishes to."

There was widespread speculation last night when Long returned in an Air National Guard plane from John Sealy Hospital in Galveston that he would take over the state again and run the governor's office from his fifth floor hospital room.

But a hospital staff member who watched him enter the hospital last night said Long was "a very far cry from being governor."

The Day in Birmingham

New High Schools Named for Former Board Heads

BIRMINGHAM—During its Tuesday night meeting the Birmingham Board of Education approved names for the city's two high schools.

The school now under construction at 13 Mile and Evergreen roads was named in honor of the late Wylie E. Groves, a former board president. The new school will be ready for limited occupancy in the fall.

The present high school located at Cranbrook road and Lincoln avenue was named for Ernest W. Seaholm, also a former Board of Education president.

Mr. Groves, who died last month, served on the Board of Education continuously from 1940 until his retirement in 1958. He was treasurer of the board for 13 years, and president from 1957 until his retirement.

Mr. Seaholm was a member of the board from 1939 until his retirement in 1956, serving as president for the nine years previous to his retirement. He lives at 1587 Fairway Rd. in Birmingham.

Richard Eastham, 19, of 474 Oakland Ave., Pontiac, charged with armed robbery in yesterday's Bloomfield Township holdup of John R. McAlevy, 29, of the Roosevelt Hotel in Pontiac, was to be arraigned this morning before West Bloomfield Justice of the Peace Elmer Dieterle.

Eastham was captured following the holdup early yesterday morning when he returned to his automobile at the scene of the robbery.

Meanwhile, Bloomfield Township police are seeking Eastham's brother, David, 24, of the same address, believed to be an accomplice in the robbery.

"A Unique Magic Carpet" summer reading program has been set up by Mrs. Dorothy Burns, Children's librarian at the Baldwin Public Library.

The "Magic Carpet" theme introduces young readers to a variety of books, carrying them from place to place through literature.

Boys and girls from the second grade upward are invited to select books beginning tomorrow for participation in the program.

The summer reading program is a tradition of more than 10 years' standing at the Baldwin Public Library.

Following the conference at Columbia, Miss Lloyd and Miss Tuttle will attend the annual conference of the American Library Assn. in Washington, D. C.

Beginning this Sunday, the Congregational Church of Birmingham, 388 N. Woodward Ave., will implement its summer schedule. Worship service and church school will be at 9:30 a.m.

Automation has come to Bloomfield Hills mailboxes.

No longer must Hills' citizens walk to the corner to mail that letter. Now they simply lean from their automobiles and drop the letter into a waiting snorkel-type mail shute.

The snorkel-type boxes went into service in Bloomfield Hills yesterday. Snorkels have an extra-wide opening on the street side, and drivers can drop letters without moving from behind the wheel.

Three of the effort-saving snorkels are now in operation — at the City Hall on East Long Lake Road, on Lone Pine Road at Academy, and on West Long Lake Road at Telegraph.

Three more snorkels are planned for the near future, according to Postmaster Herbert J. Dyble.

Patrick R. Benolken

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Service for Patrick R. Benolken, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Benolken of 1210 Ashover Rd., will be held at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Pontiac. Burial will follow in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Rosary will be recited at 7:30 tonight in Moore Chapel of the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Auburn Heights.

Patrick died unexpectedly Tuesday in Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Surviving besides his parents are two brothers, Michael Neil and Timothy Alfred; and three sisters, Laurie Ann, Mary Louise and Sandra Jean, all at home.

Although the highlands of Scotland are more famed in song and story, it is the central lowlands which have the rich agricultural farms and the profitable coal mines.

New Hoffa Probe to Start Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers said today they now expect to start next Thursday new hearings on the affairs of James R. Hoffa and scandals in the Teamsters Union which he heads.

★ ★ ★

The new date follows a series of postponements. The hearings are scheduled to wind up more than 2½ years of investigation by a Senate committee into alleged misdeeds by Hoffa and the Teamsters. It has accused him of an alliance with racketeers and gangsters.

School Boards Push Tax Plan

Pontiac Support Urged on Move to Gain 30 Pct. of New State Levies

The Pontiac Board of Education has been asked to pledge support to a move to retain for the county and schools 30 per cent of all money from any new state tax legislation.

★ ★ ★

The "earmarked" taxes, which would be in the form of a rider affixed to new tax bills, already has been endorsed by the Oakland County School Boards Association.

It is the association which seeks the Pontiac Board's pledge.

The six-county Supervisors Inter-County Committee, in cooperation with other boards of education of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties, is pushing this "share and share alike" proposal.

If put into operation, the 30 per cent would be split so that 20 goes to the schools and 10 to county government.

At present the move is only in the mouth-to-mouth lobbying stage, although the request, on paper, was presented to all state senators and representatives.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Board is considering the proposal and probably will make no commitment for at least two weeks, according to William Anderson.

Anderson has a seat on the local board and is a member of the legislative committee of the county boards association.

Vernon Man Car Death

OWOSSO (AP) — Henry A. Cutter, 69, of Vernon, died Wednesday night of injuries he suffered Tuesday when his car collided with another on the main street of Vernon, seven miles southeast of here.

School Aid Gets State Priority

With 9 Working Days Left, Legislators Seek 'Package' Formula

From Our News Wires

LANSING—School aid and other long-awaited appropriation bills were before the Michigan Legislature today, just nine working days before the end of the fiscal year.

Legislators dug into the money measures, the most important of which was a school aid formula that came from the House Ways and Means Committee exactly as it was a year ago. It was almost certain to be changed.

A few Republican and Democratic leaders worked behind the scenes to develop a mutually acceptable "package" for taxes to pay for these appropriations.

Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston), House GOP floor leader, wouldn't talk much about the package but did say a corporate profits tax wasn't being considered.

The House yesterday delayed preliminary action on a use (sales) tax hike and Green predicted it wouldn't be acted on at all this week.

Wearied by a five-month stalemate, Republican and Democratic floor leaders in the House huddled for more than an hour yesterday in an attempt to start the ball rolling on a new compromise solution to Michigan's long-range money needs.

PLAN EMERGES

A rough sketch of a three-point plan came from the discussion between Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit) and Allison Green (R-Kingston). Reportedly it proposed:

1. Enactment of the Republican bill to add a penny to the three-cent use (sale) tax.

2. Revision of the business activities tax to produce a sizable revenue increase and at the same time ease the burden of firms with large payrolls and small profit margins.

3. One or two new "nuisance" taxes to bring the total yield from the three-point package to about 140 million dollars.

Green said they would work over the proposal again today.

Michigan's 32,000 state employes all got their bi-weekly paychecks on time today.

The State Treasury, scraping bottom for months, hit a new low as the checks went out. There was grave doubt whether the July 2 payroll could be met barring liquidation of veterans trust fund bonds.

★ ★ ★

After subtraction of $4,100,000 in warrants (checks) chargeable against the state general fund, the fund's so-called "check stub" balance plunged $4,858,000 into the red.

Want to Use Hospital for County Offices

most of whom are at home for lack of temporary facilities.

Mrs. Hark, appearing in the absence of Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, the leading advocate of a mentally ill hospital, said restrictions prevent many of these patients from being committed to Detroit's St. Clair Hospital, where most of the county patients are being sent.

Smith's committee decided most of the offers made for the Contagious Hospital, vacant since last August, had to be turned down because under them the county would have had to shoulder too much of the operating costs.

Costs to the county for the mentally ill ranged all the way from $250,000 to $438,000, Smith said.

Although yesterday's committee decision, concurred in by the Board's Ways and Means Committee, was unanimous, Avon Township Supervisor Cyril E. Miller criticised fellow supervisors for not making their decision sooner.

"I would have accepted the osteopaths first offer," he said. This was for 10 years at $25,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

The offer was ruled out because "of the feeling between the osteopaths and the medics," Miller said.

Holding out for its retention by the county, Levinson remarked, "I think we're in a position to say that within two years we will have a need for it."

He suggested it might house the Friend of the Court's Office, left out in plans for the new $3,000,000 courthouse, which will be erected across Telegraph road in another section of the County Service Center.

Or, Levinson suggested, it might be used to house other county departments while the courthouse is being finished.

In an additional part of its resolution to the Board of Supervisors Monday, Smith will ask that his year-old committee be disbanded, its work completed.

Smith described his own committee as one that "went around and around, but didn't go anywhere."

ELMER M. BAYS

Elmer M. Bays of 769 Owego Dr., manager of Graff Sheet Metal, 54 N. Parke St., died of a heart attack yesterday in Pontiac General Hospital after an illness of several days. He was 48.

He was a member of Elks Lodge 810.

Surviving are his wife, Marian; a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Kelley of Pontiac; a son, Donald O. at home; and three grandchildren.

An Elks Lodge of Sorrow will be conducted at 8 p.m. Friday at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the funeral home with burial in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

JOHN F. KETCHEL

Service and burial for John F. Ketchel, 67, a former Pontiac resident, took place in Los Angeles, Calif. this afternoon.

Surviving besides his wife, Sarah, are four sons, Belmont of New York City, Eugene of Pontiac, Dr. Melvin Kechel of Boston, Mass. and Dr. Bertram Ketchel of Los Angeles; a sister, Mrs. Edsel Kershenbaum of Pontiac; and six grandchildren.

Mr. Ketchel died Tuesday at his home in Los Angeles after a long illness.

GILBERT McGREGOR

Gilbert McGregor, 81, of Colton, Calif. who made his home for several months each year with his daughter, Mrs. Naomi Decker of Pontiac, died this morning following an operation Monday.

His body will be brought to Deckerville for service and burial.

A member of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, he was owner of a general store in McGregor for 50 years.

Other survivors include daughters, Mrs. Helen Bowerman of Colton and Mrs. Ethel Brockmeirer of Imperial Beach, Calif.; a son, Lawrence of Detroit; 20 grandchildren; and three brothers.

JAMES H. McMICHAEL

James H. McMichael, 82, of 388 E. Sheffield St., died unexpectedly of a heart ailment at his home yesterday afternoon.

He was a member of the Oakland County Sportsman's Club.

Surviving are four sons, James H. of Davison, Charles F. of Ortonville, William and George W., both of Pontiac; seven grandchildren; a brother, Ernest of Pontiac and a sister.

Service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home with burial in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

WALTER K. WRIGHT

Walter K. Wright, 58, of 632 Markle St., died yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital of a heart condition.

He was a member of Oakland Park Methodist Church and an employe of Pontiac Motor Division.

Mr. Wright leaves his wife, Crystal; four sons, Robert of South Bend, Ind., John stationed in Virginia with the Army, Dolph and Kenneth Wright, both of Pontiac; a sister, a brother and five grandchildren.

Service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at the Huntoon Chapel with burial in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

Laws on Sex Offenses Must Be More Stringent

The PRESS has advocated in the past that some change in law enforcement agencies and the judiciary in regards to KNOWN SEX OFFENDERS is absolutely necessary.

★ ★ ★

These beastly attacks such as the recent one in Detroit are a disgrace to our communities. Is it expecting too much to think that our wives and small children can walk the streets without being molested by known sex deviates? We repeat — we mean KNOWN DEVIATES that already have police records.

★ ★ ★

The number of serious crimes that are committed by second, third and fourth time offenders is astounding. These men, or boys as the case may be, are definitely sick. They need help.

But first and foremost our children and women deserve protection from these unjustifiable immoral acts. It does not seem practical to continue to release these unfortunate deviates.

Under our present setup, whether it is the law or the courts, we are harboring criminals that are jeopardizing our own families. The problem is a large one and we do not know the remedy. But it is perfectly obvious that some immediate steps should be taken.

Until such time as proper legislation and laws can be enacted, it would seem reasonable to believe that all known sex deviates should be locked up. They should be in some institution under proper surveillance rather than roaming our streets.

Pleading temporary insanity is plain hogwash. Far too many guilty parties are escaping their just punishment or treatment by claiming to be temporarily mentally upset.

★ ★ ★

Immoral and ravishing sex acts are costing the lives of far too many children and women. It is up to the courts or the law enforcement agencies to institute an immediate investigation to curb these unnecessary crimes.

Keralans Awakening to Communist Danger

Hostile demonstrations show the strength and extent of the movement to oust the Communist government. This may not happen until the next election because it could undermine constitutional procedures and thereby help Communist propaganda in India and elsewhere.

In addition to opposing the recently passed Education Act which gives Communists control of appointment of teachers to several thousand government aided schools in the state, the Congress party accuses the administration of corruption and of conversion of public funds to party purposes.

By a very small majority the Communists took over Kerala in April 1957. Strangely enough it has the highest literacy rate and the worst economic conditions, fertile grounds for Communism. By August of that year reports indicated there was a complete breakdown of law and order.

However, opposition to the government is so divided that Prime Minister NEHRU, who has been harsh in his denunciation of domestic Communism, may have to use his constitutional power to restrain the government if "its acts are not in the best interests of India."

★ ★ ★

In the past Mr. Nehru seems to have preferred letting the Keralans make their own mistakes and work out their own salvation. It is encouraging to note that the people themselves are now taking action.

Prize Again Offered for Best Display at 4-H Fair

A $50 U.S. Savings Bond will again be given by The Pontiac Press for the freckle champion at the annual

to be held Aug. 11 to 14. I have the assurance of County Extension Director that it will be accorded a top place on the program.

Lyle Abel

Judy Fay Blaylock

of Lake Orion, who surely glorified freckles.

Judges will be named by the fair management. There is no entrance fee, and both boys and girls are eligible. Plenty of advance notice is given to nurture, coax, pet, foster, breed, train, fertilize, sustain, fondle, urge, humor, coddle, embrace, flatter, beguile and charm your freckles before the contest takes place.

That national magazine of the jewelry business,

Jewelers' Circular-Keystone,

in its current issue, under the heading of "Ride and Shop," says: "Merchants in downtown Pontiac, Mich., were concerned, too, when the city's bus lines were threatened with failure. No public transportation for suburban shoppers would be tough for everyone.

"It was a jeweler who thought up the scheme for reviving bus traffic. 'Why not hand out a bus token with each $2 purchase?,' he suggested to the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

"And that's what's happening right now with 34 merchants cooperating. First returns indicate that the bus company's financial woes are on the wane, and that downtown trade is getting the shot-in-the-arm it has needed."

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Jumps on Navy, Not Reds

WASHINGTON—So the American plane was unable to return the fire of the enemy planes. What a strange impact this has had on Congress. One would have thought there would be a great deal of indignation expressed against the enemy's wanton act.

LAWRENCE

Instead, an avalanche of criticism was directed against the Navy for allowing a plane assigned to a reconnaissance mission to be without adequate armament. But wasn't the American plane's peaceful errand thereby emphasized?

One might infer that Congress is ready to say that unidentified planes in the Far East should be destroyed when they open fire. Yet if anyone were to suggest that such an enemy plane be pursued to its base and punishment inflicted on the base from which the plane came, this would be denounced as an action likely to bring on a full-fledged war.

The attack on the American plane occurred on the high seas far from any territorial waters. Under international law any plane of any country has a right to travel. The bombardment of the American plane was a hostile act. It was an act of war. It was an attack on the American flag.

What will Congress do about it? Will those same members who are so ready to criticize the Navy because its plane had its armament removed to make way for reconnaissance equipment now stand ready to demand redress from the Communist country which started the shooting?

Will there be any group of congressmen who will advocate that diplomatic relations with the Kremlin be severed, since that government is primarily responsible for what its Allies—Red China and North Korea—do?

It was Russian MIG fighter planes which attacked the U.S. Navy plane. The survivors of the attack say they saw a red star on one of the enemy planes.

SEND NOTE?

Will the Department of State send a note to the Soviet government holding it to a strict accountability for its act in the Far East?

There was a time when America resented attacks on its citizens traveling the high seas. It was this very issue which caused the United States to enter World War I.

There has been some suggestion that the incident was provoked so as to have some bearing on the course of the Geneva conference by creating new tensions. If the objective was to bring about a situation that would make it necessary to hold a "summit" meeting in order to deal with newly arisen problems of importance to world peace, whoever thought up the plan could not have known American psychology.

For this kind of occurrence can only lessen the chances of a "summit" meeting. The Western Allies certainly will not be bludgeoned into the holding of conferences under any form of duress.

In any event the decision now will be to escort all such patrol planes. But will this lessen the chance of conflict? Who is to say which side fired first. Sometimes it isn't wise to wait for the other fellow to swoop down on your plane and open fire. It's better to intercept or ward off the attacker.

In a sense the whole incident reflects what can happen on a large scale as unidentified planes bearing atomic weapons could suddenly drop their cargo of death and it would be difficult to establish which country sent a plane on such a terrible mission.

The problems involved in the latest episode are not new. They have been dealt with at conferences in Geneva recently on the subject of "surprise attack," but unhappily they have not produced any favorable result, largely because of an indifferent public opinion.

Maybe the Communist MIGs that assaulted the Navy's reconnaissance plane performed a service after all in arousing the free world to the danger of appeasing the Soviet dictatorship.

The Country Parson

"I'd rather see a fellow find God at work in the world today than in something written thousands of years ago."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Vitamins Are Important to Prevent, Cure Colitis

"Dear Dr. Brady: On your suggestion, I began supplementing my very restricted diet with calcium, phosphorus, iodine, vitamin B1 (thiamin), vitamin B2 (riboflavin) and vitamin D (sunshine vitamin). At the time I was having quite a siege of colitis and the doctor had me on an inadequate diet of baby food.

DR. BRADY

"I have always felt that this supplement was responsible for overcoming the colitis. From time to time I have had slight attacks but am not troubled at all in recent years.

"At the same time, on your advice, I stopped all laxatives and other 'aids' and, sure enough, found that I no longer needed them.

"Now I wonder whether, getting along in years, I get enough calcium and D from tablets to prevent my bones from becoming brittle and breaking from slight injury, as happens to so many elderly people. Sincerely, Mrs. S. W. —"

If you eat 6 calcium and vitamin D tablets daily you get all the calcium anyone needs, and all the vitamin D anyone needs to insure utilization of calcium. Even if your diet is as calcium-deficient as is the everyday diet of most Americans.

If your diet supplies, say, half as much calcium as is necessary for good nutrition, 3 calcium capsules a day will bring your calcium intake up to approximate the minimum daily requirement.

If you consume less than 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk daily you probably suffer from calcium deficiency. I describe the most frequent manifestations of calcium deficiency in the booklet, "The Calcium Shortage." For a copy send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Most physicians today are cognizant of the importance of vitamin B complex in the prevention and cure of colitis. As Sir Robert McCarrison, M.D. said in his "Studies in Deficiency Diseases":

"One of the most constant results of food deficient in vitamins is colitis . . . It may arise as a result of vitamin B deficiency along . . . or of long continued use of vitamin-deficient foods from childhood onwards."

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

In regards to Emily and Rosie's letter in Saturday's paper, I'd like you to go visit the Little White House in Warm Springs, Ga. Reader Praises Downtown Flowers

Downtown merchants are certainly to be complimented for the lovely tubs of geraniums. They're about the prettiest thing I've seen in a long time. I noticed that many merchants have remodeled the stores and almost all are air-conditioned.

★ ★ ★

Today I noticed that many geraniums have been pulled off and even some dirt scattered around. Why can't some people leave things alone? What is it that makes them want to tear everything up? If that happened to me, I'd be most discouraged.

It's always been a mystery to me why some element of our population must destroy everything and can't keep its dirty hands off anything that's attractive.

Don is like the typical high school graduate, for he has no specific career ahead. So he wonders about the wisdom of going to college. And should he take up his Dad's profession? It is often smart to do so, though many boys like to branch out on their own to avoid being accused of riding papa's coattails.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"But, Dr. Crane," he protested, "I don't know what courses to take.

DR. CRANE

"My father is a very successful dentist. And I know he would like for me to go to dental college.

"But I don't feel any great fondness for dentistry. However, I don't dislike it, either.

"And I don't have any great desire for any other profession either, so what should I do? Stay home or go to college?"

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

If you graduate from a large high school with creditable grades, then that means you have an I.Q. that will permit you to carry college work.

★ ★ ★

So try to take at least one year of college, as the minimum, for Dr. Paul C. Glick, of our Census Bureau, showed that one year of college will add $25,000 to your lifetime earnings.

If you can devote only one or two years to college, then a business college will normally give you a far better training for practical success than one or two years of liberal arts.

As regards liking for one subject versus another, that is largely a matter of habit.

At birth, you never liked ham or eggs or steak or bread or potatoes or any single type of food, with the exception of sugar.

Those other food preferences were learned. You were in a cheery, jolly family group at the table when mother slipped you the first taste of potatoes or spinach.

After several repetitions on other days, you finally transferred your generalized emotional mood to the new food. It now tastes good whereas it was a neutral flavor at the outset.

HOW PICK CAREER

Most of our college students don't know what career they will enter, even when they have spent two years in college.

So pick out the one that will permit you to render a valuable public service.

Then study for that career. As you become acquainted with its vocabulary and techniques, and as you make good grades therein, you will begin to like it.

Your fondness for a trade or profession will follow the very same pattern as your original development of an appetite for spinach or steak.

Furthermore, any professional training will pay dividends all your life, even if you don't stay in that field forever.

Man, dentists thus have attained eminence in politics, including the U.S. Senate.

Zane Grey was our most famous writer of tales of the western plains and he started out as a dentist.

Other dentists are heads of corporations, industrialists, etc., so don't feel that you cannot change, even after you obtain your doctor's degree.

But the usual reaction is to like your profession by the time you acquire reasonable proficiency thereat.

So study for something, even though you change your destination, for your education is listless and lacking motivation if it has no specific goal.

Send for my "Vocational Guidance Kit," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (nonprofit).

It will add many other ideas and give you familiarity with objective tests and college exams.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Tokyo Amazes in War Rebound

Possibly Largest and Fastest - Growing City in the World

WASHINGTON — Tokyo is a phoenix among capitals. It has risen from the ashes of World War II fire raids to become possibly the largest and fastest-growing city in the world.

Geographers generally agree that the 500-year-old Japanese metropolis has surpassed London and New York. The estimated populations are, respectively: 8,774,000; 8,251,000; 7,795,500.

Size notwithstanding, Tokyo has the dubious honor of being the world's most congested capital. It lacks the open spaces of comparable cities; many streets are narrow and winding. The city is growing at a rate of 300,000 a year.

DISORDERLY CONTRAST

The huge concrete buildings and television towers planted so solidly in downtown Tokyo contrast with the disorderly march outward of suburbs. The city is largely built of wood.

The peace treaty of 1952 restored Tokyo's bustling habits and confidence. The modern symbol is the concrete mixer. Along the Ginza, Tokyo's great white way, shops display fine silks, brocades, kimonos, lacquer ware and cloisonne.

But many people dress in Western style. Restaurants offer steaks and chops, Southern fried chicken and the driest of cocktails.

Another postwar innovation is the coffee shop. Patrons have a choice of thousands where they can listen for hours to hi-fi recordings of jazz, classical music, German lieder or rock 'n' roll.

With its rapid growth, Tokyo suffers chronic shortages of many necessities — housing schools, hospitals, water, gas, and public transport.

It is estimated that three billion fares squeeze themselves each year into the available buses, streetcars and subway trains.

ORDINANCE NO. 1389

An Ordinance to Amend Ordinance No. 1329 Entitled the "Nuisance Ordinance" by Adding to said Ordinance Subdivision (d) to Section 1.

Adopted June 16, 1959; Effective June 16, 1959.

The City of Pontiac Ordains:

Section 1.

That Ordinance No. 1329 be and the same is hereby amended to add Subdivision (d) to Section 1, said Subdivision (d) to read as follows:

(d) On any parking area adjacent to or operated in conjunction with a commercial business and used for automobile parking, public nuisance dust conditions may be abated in the manner hereinafter provided:

When the dust conditions on any parking area as above defined become a public nuisance as determined by the City Manager, such nuisance shall be abated by the following procedure:

(1) The City Manager shall cause notice to be given by certified mail or personal service, of such dust nuisance to the owner and shall request abatement of the same.

(2) If the owner, after service of such notice, fails or neglects to comply with the notice, the City Manager shall cause an adequate dust layer to be applied to such parking area or lot above defined which is the source of such nuisance. Additional applications may be applied to control the nuisance if, in the opinion of the City Manager such applications are necessary.

(3) The cost of such work if not paid after demand therefor shall be referred to the City Commission by the City Manager and the City Commission shall institute special assessment proceedings in accordance with the City Charter.

Section 2.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 3.

This ordinance shall take immediate effect as an emergency ordinance within the meaning of Chapter VI, Section 3, of the City Charter.

Made and passed by the City Commission of the City of Pontiac, this 16th day of June, A.D. 1959.

Appeal Likely on Integration

Gradual Plan Adopted by Nashville Schools Rapped by Pro Group

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—An attorney for Negro parents says a decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals upholding Nashville's gradual desegregation plan probably will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

"I will want to confer first with my clients before making a definite announcement," said Z. Alexander Looby, who represented parents of children seeking immediate desegregation.

The city school superintendent and the federal district judge who originally approved the plan both expressed satisfaction with the appellate court's ruling.

The court's Sixth Circuit, in upholding the plan at Cincinnati Wednesday, said Nashville's school board had acted in good faith in setting up the program, which calls for integration in the public schools to be spread over a 12-year period.

Supt. W. H. Oliver said that "we are very grateful" for the ruling. "We will continue to carry out this plan with faithfulness and integrity," Oliver said. "I have felt sure in my own mind all along that it is the best plan we could have here."

U. S. Dist. Judge William E. Miller, whose ruling the appellate court upheld, said: "I am pleased . . . I believe it is the best plan for Nashville, though it may not be the best plan for all Tennessee cities."

Vetoes Publicizing South's Racial Stand

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Leroy Collins has vetoed the bill to set aside $500,000 for presenting the South's racial philosophies to the rest of the nation in a paid publicity campaign.

"Although the plan purports to seek understanding for the South, in my judgment its effects could be to create even more misunderstanding," Collins said in his veto message Wednesday.

The bill would have authorized the expenditure only if four other Southern states came in on the publicity campaign with similar amounts.

Smoke Got in Her Eyes

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—John Baulding, 35, was sent to the penitentiary for 50 days as the result of a barroom disturbance that was touched off when he blew cigar smoke in a lady patron's face.

Big 3 Parley to Get Plan

U. S. Suggests Satellites to Monitor Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States was reported ready to propose an agreement with Russia and Berlin for jointly launching 12 earth satellites that could police a ban on high-altitude nuclear tests.

Officials said that the U. S. plan would be presented next week to the East-West scientific conference at Geneva on ways of detecting nuclear tests above the atmosphere. The conference starts Monday.

Wolfgang Panofsky, Stanford University physicist, will present the proposal. He headed a 15-man U. S. committee set up to study detection methods above a height of 30 miles.

The committee's report said the 12 satellites, which would blanket the earth and be in orbit at all times, could adequately detect with sensitive electronic equipment any high-altitude explosion. However, they would be unable to pinpoint where the blast occurred.

The satellite system would monitor the fourth area where nuclear test shots might be set off. The United States, Russia and Britain previously have agreed that a network of 180 stations would be able to monitor most underground, surface and within-the-atmosphere tests.

Under the U. S. proposal, it was reported, six of the satellites would be sent into orbit at 600-mile altitudes, spaced and timed to cover all the earth area below them.

The other six would be rocketed into 40,000-mile-high orbits, 16 times higher than any satellite launched thus far. They would be on guard for any clandestine shots conducted in the area between the sun and Mars.

Military and space agency officials expressed confidence that the United States could carry out its part of putting up any satellite patrol.

Minimum estimates for the time required to launch the satellite series were from one to three years.

The detection system might take much longer to establish, according to the officials, if an attempt were made to provide the satellites' equipment with long-term power to last for years or indefinitely.

Spaniel Best Student

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI)—Trouper, a spaniel, was given a grade of A in biology at Lynchburg College. He attended classes regularly for two years and not only showed interest in lectures but was termed the top student in seeking specimens on field trips.

New Teachers to Be Named

Supt, Shunck to Give Waterford Board His Suggestions Tonight

Waterford Township Schools Supt. William Shunck tonight is expected to make his annual recommendations for changes in school personnel to the Board of Education.

Many of the new appointments will be necessary due to the opening of the new Laura B. Haviland elementary school in September.

It is also expected that the board will determine a date for a special meeting for the election of its oficers.

A request from the Township Recreation Board for use of a school bus for the summer day school program will be considered.

Bids will be opened and contracts awarded for workmen's compensation insurance, and for furnace coal for next winter.

A report from the building committee regarding possible school building sites also will be presented.

Grandfather Files Suit in Baby Sitting Mishap

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Sol E. Handler, 60, is suing his daughter and son-in-law for $25,000 becausehe fell out of a chair while babysitting at their home.

The suit alleges he suffered a leg injury which aggravated a heart condition when he fell from a defective chair. He was watching his grandson, Adam, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Messinger.

Girl Slayer, 17, Judged Insane

Wisconsin Jury Rules Jane Dakin Innocent in Parents' Death

MAUSTON, Wis. (AP)—A ury decided Wednesday night that attractive Jane Dakin, 17, who likes to read Shakespeare and play the piano, was insane at the time she killed her wealthy parents.

The Circuit Court jury of 11 men and one woman, after deliberating three hours, found that Miss Dakin was innocent on two counts of first degree murder because she was insane at the time of the act. This was the plea she had entered for her trial.

The girl admitted shooting her mother, Elizabeth, 43, and then her father, Thomas, 46, with an automatic .22-caliber rifle the night of Dec. 1. Seventeen shots were fired from the gun, most of them striking the parents. Afterward she went to a friend's home and told of the double slaying.

She testified at her trial that she had discussed "Hamlet" and other works of Shakespeare with her mother shortly before she shot the mother to death in their home here. She killed her father when he entered the home a short time later, she said.

Miss Dakin, who maintained remarkable composure during her 15-day trial, wept on the shoulder of her uncle, Phillip Dakin of Milwaukee, when the verdict was read to Judge Bruce Beilfuss.

Judge Beilfuss remanded the girl to the custody of the Juneau County sheriff and said he would confer with public welfare officials before deciding whether the girl should be sent to an institution for a determination of her sanity now and whether she should have psychiatric treatment.

He Guessed Wrong, of All People

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Henry Adams once had to walk nearly a mile to his home after his car was halted by a snowstorm that arrived earlier than the weatherman predicted.

Another time he planned a big family picnic, only to have it rained out by an unexpected storm.

Bible Museum Set Up

The exhibits number more than 300, some dating from the first century A.D. Roger W. Babson, noted statistician and founder of the Open-Church Foundation, started the collection.

One-half of the employed males in the U.S. are 40 or more years old.

Grocery Dollar Split

NEW YORK (UPI)—It has been estimated that nearly 40 cents out of every consumer food dollar goes for meat, poultry, fish and eggs. Dairy products, excluding butter, account for about 15 cents, and fresh fruits and vegetables 10 cents. The remainder goes for spices, seasonings, leavening agents and beverages.

Lost Gun Battle With Police

Murder Trial Awaits 1, Grave for Other Coyle

WAREHAM, Mass. (AP) — A speedy murder trial for one and burial in a pauper's grave for the other were in prospect today for the notorious Coyle brothers who shot it out with police and lost.

John Coyle, 24, charged with killing a Philadelphia policeman, said he is ready to return to Philadelphia voluntarily to face trial.

Coyle's younger brother, William, 22, was mortally wounded by police in an exchange of gunfire at the edge of a Middleboro cranberry bog Wednesday.

John dropped his two guns and surrendered when 12 state troopers, all with guns blazing, pumped four bullets into the younger Coyle.

Each of the Coyles had fired on the police with guns in both hands, but none of the troopers was touched.

The gunfight ended one of the most intensive manhunts in Massachusetts history. More than 300 policemen had kept the Coyle brothers in a five-square-mile swampy woodland since last Monday.

They had fled into the woods after exchanging shots with two policemen who tried to nab them for robbing a nearby liquor store and firing a shot into the store's counter. As they fled they abandoned a hostage they had held captive, nearly foodless, for 10 days.

William Sedgwick, 49, said he had been grabbed in Philadelphia June 6, and driven in his car, while tied in the back seat, to Massachusetts.

Police said the Coyles were fleeing after they had shot to death Patrolman James Kane, 27, who had spotted the brothers stealing milk from front porches.

John Coyle said his brother had shot Kane and added: "I was prepared to shoot the officer if he had survived."

The surviving brother showed no remorse when informed William was dead. He told police: "Well, you killed him, you worry about burying him. We have no relatives."

The end of the long manhunt came when Walter Schmidt of Union City, N.J., glanced out the window of his mother-in-law's home and saw a man crawling in the nearby brush.

Schmidt telephoned police, and in a moment three state police cruisers were on the scene. The officers alighted with drawn pistols and carbines, and the battle began when the Coyles were spotted barely 15 feet away.

Later John Coyle said he and his brother had seen Schmidt through the window and intended to take him as a hostage for their getaway if he would only step outside. Schmidt went to the telephone instead.

Well, nobody can say I didn't make my play.

First I went to the dice table, and tried to throw the dice that are hereditary in my family and once won one of my ancestors in Missouri the right to build a canal between Sedalia and London—God speed being granted beyond state lines.

They wouldn't take my dice, and I got riled up and refused to use their dice.

By then my wife had got control of the family exchequer.

I explained I would break the bank at Monte Carlo at roulette. She said I was welcome to do so and God speed, but all she could lend me was 1,000 francs.

For a moment I thought she was bleeding generosity until I found out that 485 francs equals a dollar and 1,000 francs is only the sunny side of two bucks.

I found a roulette table where the going bet was 200 francs. Came to about 40 cents.

The table was surrounded by people who looked like they were either family advisers to the last Czar of Russia, or at least displaced cousins of Tovarich Trotsky. Each had a system.

They noted down the results of every turn of the wheel. They bet only about once out of every 50 times.

I passed up the 200,000-franc-limit table myself and sportingly put down 200 francs on No. 29, a lucky number in my vocabulary because it has always seemed to me the last number before 30. And you know what 30 is. Finis. Exit. So long.

I played it five straight times. It never came up.

Yet when I walked away from the table you could almost feel the respect of those sick foreign aristocrats. They had seen the last of the boy plungers of the Western world spend his entire wad—about $2.10—and stroll away tight-faced but smiling, bowing to a duke here, a duchess there.

I looked yearningly at a tree as I left, hoping that in the old tradition of Monte Carlo the management would figure me as a potential suicide by hanging and put 10,000 francs in my pocket. Nobody passed me the money. Some clown did put a footstool under the tree.

In the Minnesota iron ore range, apple trees grow 2,500 feet down in underground mines. Seeds apparently were tossed aside by apple-eating miners.

Much Blamed on Castro's Success

Latin America in Grip of Violence, Unrest

By CHARLES STAFFORD
AP Feature Writer

Trouble has settled like a fog over the pocket-sized nations of Latin America.

Countries surrounding and dotting the tropical Caribbean, and extending into South America, are almost unanimously in the grip of political unrest, economic woe, or questions involving the future course of government.

The recent fighting in Nicaragua is only the most spectacular manifestation of this trouble. Honduras, British Honduras, Guatemala, Colombia, Venezuela, Panama, The Dominican Republic, Haiti, Cuba, Ecuador, Puerto Rico — all these have problems.

Nicaragua's president, Luis Somoza, who inherited the dictatorship from his assassinated father in 1956, has warned: "I am no Batista (Cuba's ex-dictator) who can be forced to leave the country in a plane. I am going to die in my post right here, and here my body will remain."

Somoza's country is surrounded by unfriendliness. Costa Rica is a haven for anti-Somoza exiles and the national assembly has voted its support of the revolutionary movement in Nicaragua. Somoza's government expects trouble from El Salvador. And relations with Honduras have been poor.

Honduras, however, has its own troubles. Violent incidents have occurred periodically since the government of President Ramon Villeda Morales squashed an uprising early this year.

In neighboring British Honduras, a crown colony, there is agitation for independence. Talks in London between native leaders and the government about the colony's future broke down when the British charged that a conspiracy was afoot to unite British Honduras with Guatemala.

ROOTS IN CUBA

Much of the current unrest in Latin America has roots in Fidel Castro's successful revolution in Cuba.

Nicaragua, Guatemala, Haiti and the Dominican Republic have voiced fears of an invasion by Cuban revolutionaries. A handful of Cubans actually took part in an abortive attempt to start a revolution in Panama about May 1, but they were quickly captured.

Though there was some internal unrest in Panama because of disclosures of corruption in the Panama City government, the invasion attempt was not accompanied by internal revolt.

In Haiti, where President Francois Duvalier has had dictatorial power since last July 28, the political situation is complicated by famine and unemployment. Little rain has fallen for more than a year.

The Dominican Republic, which shares the island of Hispaniola with Haiti, has been ruled for 29 years by hardfisted dictator Rafael Leonidas Trujillo. While Trujillo has a firm grip internally, he earned the hostility of Cuba by granting asylum to ex-Cuban dictator, Fulgencio Batista, along with ex-Argentina dictator, Juan Peron.

* * *

In Cuba, Castro has internal problems which he must solve soon. Unemployment is high, the construction industry is almost paralyzed, and the lucrative tourist trade is almost stagnant.

OTHER TROUBLE SPOTS

Three countries along the northern fringe of South America are troubled. Several persons have been expelled from Venezuela on charges of spreading false rumors about the government of President Romulo Betancourt, who was elected following overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

Bandit bands, blamed by the government on extremist elements and Communist agitators, have left a trail of blood in Colombia. Riots, touched off by a personal grudge between an army recruit and his captain, have caused more than two score deaths in Ecuador.

Even Puerto Rico, a free associated commonwealth of the United States, has a political problem, though a peaceful one. Gov. Luis Munoz Marin wishes to continue the island's commonwealth status while a rival political party is agitating for statehood. A once-and-for-all referendum on the question might be held in the fall.

Spare Unneeded but Still Wanted

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Five representatives of tire manufacturers have agreed that the spare tire is probably here to stay simply because the public wants it.

The five outlined some of the plans devised for eliminating the spare tire in a report prepared for the annual summer meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

They said elimination of the spare could save weight, contribute to the design of lower silhouettes and give the car owner more trunk storage space.

Statistics were cited to show that punctures are getting fewer and tire troubles rarer—yet the psychological fact remains that the car owner insists upon having a spare tire along.

R. P. Powers of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. listed such possible replacements for the spare as two-chamber tires, multicompartment tires and a thin steel disk with rubber covered outer edge that could give 100 miles of emergency service.

The use of self-sealing puncture-proof tires was proposed by R. E. Davies of the B. F. Goodrich Tire Co., with the spare replaced by an air container for inflating any tires which develop slow leaks.

Walter Lee of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. recommended the use of dual compartment tires. He estimated that such tires would reduce service failures to about two per cent, making them as infrequent as brake trouble.

H. B. Hindin of the United States Rubber Co. suggested several alternatives.

He said his company has developed a sealant for tubeless tires which reduces the rate of air leaks until repairs can be effected.

Another development is a reserve chamber tire in which the failed section is reinflated at roadside and will carry the car to the nearest repair station.

Two research engineers received the SAE's horning memorial award for their technical paper on high compression engines presented to the society last year.

The award winners, both of the General Motors engineering staff, are Darl F. Caris of Detroit and Edwin E. Nelson of Warren, Mich.

Top State Salaries Often Go to Aides

LANSING (UPI)—State officials are beginning to worry about losing assistants even though some aides get higher salaries than their bosses.

And the aides, who come under civil service, will get a 7 per cent pay hike next month.

Lawmakers are concerned too. A proposal now in the House would give the Legislature power to reject or approve pay increases granted by the Civil Service Commission.

Rep. Frank Williams (D-Detroit) called the idea a step backward. He assailed the plan as a return to the spoils system because legislators could get salaries as they pleased.

GOP House floor leader Allison Green, (R-Kingston) criticized present lack of control over the commission as giving it a "blank check" on pay scales.

It should be the lower salaried state workers who get the bulk of the pay hike, Green said.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams yesterday told the State Administrative Board at least 29 members of his department make more than his own $12,500 a year salary.

"But some doctors working for the state get even more than our own people do," Adams said.

QUICK TALLY

A quick computation by La Roy Froh, chief of research for the Civil Service Commission, showed some members of the attorney general's staff make as much as $17,038, while 25 state employed doctors get from $18,000 to $25,683 yearly.

The State Health Commissioner, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, gets $18,000 a year and no member of his immedaite staff is paid more than that. The higher pay is for specialists in state hospitals and institutions, Froh said.

"Michigan compares very favorably with other pubilc employers of professional people," Fron said.

"While no current comparisons are available, studies from several years ago show salaries for doctors are lower than could be earned in private practice but the difference is made up in fringe benefits," he said.

Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said an attempt would be made to give pay raises to State Agriculture Director George McIntyre and "some" other department heads.

The corrections budget as reported out of committee yesterday includes a provision to boost State Corrections Director Gus Harrison's pay from $14,850 a year to $16,500.

The two highest paid members of the elected Administrative Board—except for Gov. G. Mennen Williams — are Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett and Highway Chief John C. Mackie, who get $17,500.

But one of Mackie's aides gets $19,270 a year and two others are eligible to receive up to $18,541 under the Civil Service Commission's classification system.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, another $12,500-a-year man, recently lost deputy Charles N. Lentz to an Albion Bank where he became a vice president.

"Some of these people can make a lot more money by going with private business instead of working for the state," said Auditor General Frank Szymanski.

"How can you blame them for leaving," he said.

Goal of U. S.: Top Safety for Astronaut

DETROIT (UPI) — The United States will not attempt to put a man into orbit until reasonably certain we can bring him back alive, a space scientist said.

★ ★ ★

"No effort is being spared to provide a buildup of experience and reliability until the first manned orbital flight will involve no greater risk than that faced routinely by test pilots," said Wilson H. Hunter.

"It is one thing to protect a high-yield nuclear payload during its re-entry to the point of detonation, but quite another to safeguard a human being until recovered from a water landing."

Hunter, assistant to the director of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, spoke at the second annual industry missile and space conference.

Hunter said America's first spaceman will have only two chances to land in the Atlantic Ocean after Project Mercury puts him in a 90-minute orbit around the earth.

Post Office Opens Isle Royale Season

ROCK HARBOR, Isle Royale (AP) —The post office here was formally opened for the season yesterday with Homer Orsborne of Elgin, Ill., as postmaster.

He reported that cancellations were heavy yesterday for Michigan's mostisolated postal facility.

The Isle Royale post office opened last year for the first time. It is open four months a year during the vacation season. Mail is transferred from the Island to Houghton by way of the new passenger ship Ranger III.

The post office is the only one on 200 square miles of archipelago formation. It is only 15 miles from the Canadian shore of Lake Superior but 55 miles from the Michigan shore.

Russians Improve Longfellow Poem

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russian translation of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's "The Song of Hiawatha" not only has the same rhythm as the English original, but at times it's even better, in the opinion of noted translator Samuel Marshak.

Writing in "Literary Gazette," Marshak said Ivan Bunin's popular translation of the poem "lives a life of its own and at times more directly transmits the splendor of the folk story."

Canada Willing to Meet U.S. on Water Diversion

OTTAWA (AP) — The United States has proposed consultations with Canada on the proposed division of more Great Lakes water into the Chicago Drainage Canal, Foreign Minister Howard Green has told the House of Commons.

He said this was the reply to Canada's latest protest against the American proposal. He welcomed the suggestion for joint consultation.

The Canadian protest of April 9 said the alarms created by repeated proposals for diversion which inevitably disturb the people and industry of Canada are a source of profound irritation to the relations between our two countries which we can ill afford."

Canada has maintained that division of more water would lower lake levels and peril shipping and power development in the St. Lawrence basin.

Floral Concept Is New

NEW YORK (UPI) — Only in modern times have flowers been cultivated for their beauty alone. In earlier days, they were used in medicine and cooking and for religious purposes. The Romans were the first to use flowers for decoration, but just as heaped petals or garlands instead of arrangements in vases.

Vatican Hill Mystery Solved

Nero's Gardens Found Where Early Christians Met Cruel Deaths

WASHINGTON — The discovery of Nero's gardens in Rome unriddles a mystery long hidden beneath the soil of the Vatican Hill area.

Italian archeologists believe they have uncovered the ruins of the imperial palace and grounds where Christian martyrs, according to the historian Tacitus, "were sewn up in the skins of wild beasts to be torn to pieces by hounds, or they were crucified, or burnt at dusk to serve as torches."

At the same place, tradition holds, St. Peter was crucified head downward in about A.D. 67 and buried in a nearby cemetery on the hill.

Thus the summit and slopes of Mons Vaticanus, a low eminence on the right bank of the Tiber, became one of the most hallowed spots in Christendom, the National Geographic Society says. But traditions relating to it have lacked hard proof. And the precise locations of certain structures remained in doubt.

The hill itself was a place of worship in pagan times, though it lay outside the city and was not one of the famed seven hills of Rome. A temple to the great Phrygian goddess of Cybele stood there.

Vets' Housing Bill Goes to White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran's housing loan bill, cut down in accordance with White House wishes, was passed yesterday by the House and sent to the President.

The House originally had voted for a 300-million-dollar program but the Senate scaled this to 100 million in the face of threats that the larger amount might draw a veto.

The House accepted the Senate change by voice vote.

Beer Major Sponsor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major league baseball broadcasts are brought to the public by beer, oil, tobacco companies, auto dealers, banks and bakeries, in that order of frequency.

A survey by the United States Brewers Foundation found that beer companies sponsor 28 separate radio and TV broadcasts; gas and oil companies sponsor 17 and tobacco companies 16. Many broadcasts are sponsored by two or more companies. The survey also disclosed that the sponsorship lineup for this year is virtually the same as last year's.

Never Revealed Meaning of Gathering

Crime Convention Host Dies Last Night

JOHNSON CITY, N.Y. (AP)—The man who played host to one of the largest gatherings of gangsters in the annals of crime in this country died Wednesday night.

Joseph Barbara, who suffered a heart attack May 27, carried with him to the grave another key to the mysterious meeting of 60-odd hoodlums and friends at Apalachin, N.Y., on Nov. 14, 1957.

The 53-year-old, short, once-swarthy, bespectacled Barbara, shriveled and paled by illness, had lived on the fringes of death since he fell unconscious at his home in nearby Endicott May 29.

He lost the fight for his life at 7:35 p.m. But he won his fight never to divulge the sinister meanings behind the crime cabal at his plush, hilltop estate.

Only last April it looked as though state investigators finally had him cornered. A State Supreme Court justice ordered Barbara, ill or not, to testify before the State Investigation Commission, an agency that has managed to jail some of the delegates to the underworld meeting for refusal to talk. No date was set for Barbara's hearing, however.

In his only public appearance after the gangland meeting, Barbara, looking drawn and haggard, sat silently in a wheelchair in U.S. Dist. Court in Syracuse April 27 while his attorney entered an innocent plea for him to charges of evading payment of nearly $40,000 in federal taxes.

Barbara died in Wilson Memorial Hospital during a routine visit by his wife, two sons, and a daughter, all of whom were seen departing later, weeping. A Roman Catholic priest accompanied the family.

Barbara had suffered a heart attack prior to the gangster convention at his home in 1957. In fact, many delegates to the meeting maintained they had visited Barbara only to see "a sick friend."

His brushes with the law also antedated the so-called summit conference of crime.

His police history dated back to 1931 when he was arrested by Pennsylvania State Police on suspicion of a gangland slaying. His only conviction came in 1946, when he was fined $5,000 for illegal acquisition of sugar. He operated a soft-drink bottling business in Endicott and also distributed beer.

In 1956 Barbara held a meeting of hoodlums at a Binghamton, N.Y., hotel. The meeting, smaller than that of 1957, was supposed to be a gathering of bottlers. Police did not learn of it until the participants had dispersed.

The 1957 meeting, however, threw Barbara into the national and international spotlight.

The first faint suspicions of the meeting were aroused on Nov. 13 when an alert state trooper, Sgt. Edgar D.Croswell, noticed several big, flashy cars cruising into tiny Apalachin, 15 miles west of Binghamton, in south-central New York.

The drivers all had a certain similarity — big rings, big cigars, big hats, monogrammed handkerchiefs, silk ties, and expensive suits.

The next day, while the "boys" whooped it up around a barbecue, Croswell, a Treasury agent and a group of troopers blocked off the road leading to Barbaras isolated estate.

The gay picnickers, bewildered by the sudden raid, galloped for cover. But 60 were rounded up, and a flock of investigations soon got under way. However, the boys all adhered to the code of the underworld: don't talk.

On May 21, in the largest attempt to crack the wall of silence surrounding the famed meeting, a federal grand jury in New York City handed down indictments against 27 men. They were charged with conspiring to obstruct justice. A nationwide roundup began. Only a handful remain at large.

Barbara was named a coconspirator but not a defendant, since he had not been questioned.

They Work Late to Fight Bootlegger Competition

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Bootleggers are forcing state liquor stores in Alabama to work overtime to meet the illegal competition.

★ ★ ★

State liquor stores in five cities were ordered yesterday to remain open three hours later each night "to improve the state's position in competition with illegal operators and distributors," according to Ed Azar, administrator of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

★ ★ ★

Azar said the new hours will apply to Birmingham, Montgomery, Mobile, Huntsville and Phenix City.

Summer School Registration Is Under Way Here

Registration is under way for Pontiac Senior High Summer School scheduled to begin classes Monday at Central.

The summer session at Central will also accommodate Northern students.

Classes in English, mathematics, social studies and business administration will be offered on a six-week basis from 8 a.m. to noon.

No more than two courses may be taken in the summer term, according to Donald E. McCracken, administrative assistant of Northern High School.

The same credit is granted upon the successful completion of each course as the regular semester of high school work.

State's Congressmen Seek Army Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's congressional delegation today renewed efforts to land a 4,000-vehicle contract from the Army which would create 1,300 new jobs in the state.

The entire 20-member delegation signed a letter to Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker urging that the contract be given to Ford Motor Co., the only Michigan bidder.

Contract, for 4,050 M151 quarter-ton trucks, will be awarded on a negotiated basis. A Pentagon spokesman said the contract may be awarded this month.

Cuba to Buy Boats

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban treasury has appropriated $9,900,000 for the purchase of 15 Coast Guard cutters and three motor torpedo boats for the Cuban navy. The announcement did not indicate where the vessels will be purchased.

New Map of Isle Royale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Interior says a new map of Michigan's Isle Royale National Park in Lake Superior has been published by the geological survey. It is available in two editions to the public at $1.50 each.

Four to Attend Alcohol Institute

Four Pontiac residents will be attending the 1959 Midwest Institute on Alcohol Studies on scholarships granted by the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism.

Attending the one-week session beginning Sunday through Friday on the Western Michigan University campus in Kalamazoo are Mrs. Rose McDonald and Mary Rubert, Pontiac Central High School teachers; Yvonne Rocheleau from the Pontiac Alcoholism Information Center; and the Rev. William LaFountain of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension.

The purpose of the institute is to study and discuss recent educational and social developments as well as advances in therapy for alcoholism.

3 State Air Bases to Get 50-Bed Hospitals Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Bids will be sought next month on 50-bed hospitals at three Michigan Air Force bases, the Detroit District of the Army Engineers said today.

The hospitals, designed to serve base personnel and dependents, will be built at K. I. Sawyer, Kinross and Wurtsmith Air Force bases.

D. T. Graham, chief of the district's design branch, said the units at Kinross and Sawyer will have 43,000 square feet of space each. The one at Wurtsmith will have 50,000 square feet.

The hospitals are scheduled for completion in the fall of 1960.

Grounded Ship Freed

DETROIT (AP)—The Benson Ford, aground on a sandbar in the Amherstburg channel of the Detroit River since Friday, finally was freed Wednesday. It took much huffing and puffing on the part of the Ford Motor Co. ship, plus the efforts of the Coast Guard cutter Kaw and five tugboats.

200 Honor Avondale School Head

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Some 200 persons, including area educators, school board members—both past and present—and friends, gathered at the American Legion Hall here last night to pay tribute to Avondale Schools Supt. Raymond N. Baker.

Baker is leaving the school system this month after 14 years of service to the community. The local Board of Education, in a split decision last December, decided not to renew the superintendent's contract. In recognition of his efforts, his friends and associates staged the testimonial dinner last night.

★ ★ ★

The program opened with the invocation by the Rev. William Palmer, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church here.

First guest speaker was Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of Avondale schools for 19 years before Baker took over the job. Smart is now superintendent of the Walled Lake Public Schools.

In his tribute to his successor, Smart said Baker had guided his district through two major undertakings—consolidation and a major building program. And through his 14 years as superintendent, Baker had the children primarily in mind, the Walled Lake administrator emphasized.

Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools, also told of Baker's accomplishments and cited particularly his "loyalty, talent and diligence, and the many days and nights spent on the job" during his years of service to the schools and the community.

Included among the other men who spoke on Baker's behalf were past members of the local board of education, who called the departing superintendent "a sincere, dedicated educator."

Baker's family was present at the dinner, as were many past presidents of the local PTA and teachers in the Avondale School system.

★ ★ ★

Another highlight of the program was community singing led by Mrs. Helen Schlie. Chairman of the dinner was Mrs. Basil Doan, and program director was Mrs. Max Wilson.

Climax of the affair was reached when Arnold Ojala, assistant superintendent of the Avondale Schools, presented Baker with a transistor radio and case.

Baker, visibly touched by the tributes paid to him, said, "This is a good community, and I'm going to continue to live here."

His plans for the future are still indefinite, Baker said today.

DONNA VANCE

Mrs. Edith Vance of 414 W. Fourth St., Rochester, announces the engagement of her daughter, Donna Lorraine, to Howard G. Moshier, son of Mrs. Clement Baumunk of 343 Parkdale Rd., Rochester, and Clarence Moshier of Airport road, Waterford. The bride-elect and her fiance are 1959 graduates of Rochester Community High School. No date has been set for the wedding.

EDUCATOR FETED — Fellow schoolmen and friends attended a banquet at the American Legion Hall, Auburn Heights, last night to honor Raymond N. Baker, center, superintendent of the Avondale Schools who completes 14 years of service to the school district this month. He was ousted by a split vote of the Board of Education last December. Among those who paid tribute to the outgoing administrator were Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of the Walled Lake Public Schools, left, and Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools.

Independence Gives Fire Truck Contract

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Only two bids were submitted to the Township Board for a new fire truck chassis, and low bidder, the Haupt Sales and Service of Clarkston, was awarded the contract for $3,677.

A close second bid of $3,772 was submitted by the Haskins Sales and Service of Pontiac.

A bid of $475 for the repair of the ceiling in the living quarters of fire station No. 2 was accepted by the Board. The contract was given to the Deer Lake Lumber & Supply Company. A second bid of $458 submitted by the McGill & Son Lumber Company was turned down.

The Board appointed Edward Gunter to replace Walter Wilberg as a member of the Township Recreation Committee.

Avon Couple Engaged

AVON TOWNSHIP—Announcing the engagement of their daughter, Judith Ann, to Maynard C. Sherman, are Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Grund of 2545 Frankson St., here. Maynard's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sherman of 2783 Frankson St., Avon Township. The couple plans an Aug. 22 wedding at Gethsemane Lutheran Church, Brooklands.

Church Group Plans Strawberry Festival

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—The Westminister Fellowship of the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church on Maybee road will sponsor a "Strawberry Festival" from 5 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday on the church lawn.

★ ★ ★

Nancy Walker, is chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Ross Woodworth, Christian Youth Education director. Proceeds will be used to send fellowship group members to camp.

First successful oil pipeline was laid in 1865.

Beauties to Vie for State Title at Walled Lake

July 4 Winner to Compete in Miss Universe Contest

WALLED LAKE — The holiday weekend of July 4 will only not be celebrated by the traditional fireworks, but also with one of the greatest beauty shows of all when Michigan's candidate for Miss Universe title will be chosen at Walled Lake Park.

The contest, sponsored by the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce will take place July 5 beginning with a bathing suit show in the afternoon. There will be an early evening pageant with the girls wearing formal gowns.

The winner will be given a trophy, a suitable wardrobe and an all-expense trip to Long Beach, Calif., for the national pageant that runs from July 16 to July 26. There Miss Michigan will compete with entries from all over the world for the title of Miss United States of America and Miss Universe.

Contestants must be between the ages of 18 and 28 years and single. The winner will be required to furnish proof that she was born prior to July 1, 1941.

She must be an American citizen and a resident of the state of Michigan for at least 6 months.

Deadline for state entrants is June 26. Information and entry blanks may be secured by contacting Walled Lake Park, Walled Lake. It is important to forward a photograph with the entry blank, with name, address and telephone number on the back, officials said.

Purdy Re-Elected Rochester School Board President

ROCHESTER — Henry Purdy was re-elected president of the Board of Education of Rochester Community Schools during the Board's organizational meeting last night.

★ ★ ★

Incumbents Mrs. Mary Ann Beatty and Wallace Hodges also returned to their respective offices of secretary and treasurer.

The regular business meeting followed the elections at which time the recommendation that Rochester branch of the National Bank of Detroit be named depository for school operating funds was accepted.

Also included on the agenda was a change in the starting time of the regular bi-monthly meetings. In future they will begin at 7:45 p.m. instead of 7:30.

Youth for Understanding Program

Chorale Slated at Oxford

OXFORD — The Oxford service clubs will present the "Michigan Chorale" as the next in their current Town Hall series of concerts at 4 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium of Oxford Area Community High School.

The "Michigan Chorale" is a mixed ensemble of 100 young singers of the Michigan Teenage Exchange Program of Youth for Understanding, sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

Its members have been chosen on the basis of vocal talent, scholarship and leadership. Each member has been recommended by the music department of his own high school or by his minister.

The choral group, which has been rehearsing since last November, sings all types of music, including great works of the classical, romantic and contemporary periods.

Preparing for both formal and informal programs, the Chorale includes compositions of American composers and American folk material in its repertoire.

The purpose of the Chorale is to interpret America to people of other countries through music. Its program is designed to develop understanding and friendship between countries, using one of the oldest arts in the world.

The vocal group will leave by chartered plane for Europe Wednesday to give concerts and programs in North Ireland, England, southern Germany, Berlin, Hamburg, Copenhagen, Stockholm and Helsinki.

While in these foreign countries, members of the Chorale will live with families in each community where they are scheduled to perform.

After their 10-week tour of the British Isles and Europe, the young vocalists will return on Aug. 31.

Their director is Lestor McCoy.

Tickets to Sunday's concert may be purchased from any member of the sponsoring organizations, the Junior Women's, Music, Rotary or Lions clubs, or from the high school ticket office.

MORRIS C. PLACE JR.

Area Youth Wins Scholarship Award

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Morris C. Place Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris C. Place Sr. of 1025 Washington Rd., has been notified that he has tied for first place in the recent Universal Oil Products Co. scholarship examination.

Place's award is $600 to be paid in three installments at the beginning of each term of his coming years at Michigan State University. He will be a senior next year.

The award is contingent on Place's maintaining a satisfactory record while working for his degree in chemical engineering.

Mackinaw Leases Dock

Bob Considine Fearfully Ponders:

Think of Ruin if FCC Controlled the Press

NEW YORK — The spectre of what sort of press we'd have in America if the newspapers were under the domination of the organization which besets radio and TV —the Federal Communications Commission—can readily be pictured from FCC's latest decree.

★ ★ ★

In one of the more asinine verdicts of our times, FCC has upheld the right of any political crackpot or dangerous demagogue to receive equal time on network and local station newscasts which present news or pictures of another politician.

The case took shape in Chicago when Mayor Dick Daley officially welcomed a visiting potentate, as is his job. The Chicago radio and TV stations dutifully covered the event.

They were promptly bombarded by requests for equal time from one Lar Daly, who calls himself Lar "America First" Daly, likes to dress up in red, white and blue Uncle Sam suits and runs for most available offices in Chicago.

LAUGHED AT FIRST

He ran once on a platform opposed to taxes and schools.

The stations laughed at him, as have the Chicago newspapers for a long time. Then to the consternation of station operators, the FCC—to which this character had appealed—ordered the stations to put him on, on the grounds that even though Mayor Daley was simply performing a public service, he was at the same time a candidate for re-election.

He had not spoken one partisan word, but in the eyes of the FCC the only voice of reason in the debate was the man in the red, white and blue suit.

The FCC decision is a complete perversion of a reasonable, well-intended clause written into the Communications Act in 1927.

It provided, in effect, that a radio station (there was no TV) which sold time on the air to one candidate in a political race could not tell his opponent that equal time was not available for sale.

Even that was a ruling most newspapermen found hard to take, though it made them thankful that the free press of the printed word was under no compulsion to suffer the humiliation of going hat in hand to a panel of political hacks in Washington annually to ask permission to survive.

COMPARATIVELY MODERATE

Still, it was moderate compared to the interpretation now given to it by the FCC. The FCC has expanded it to news reporting on the air and warped it out of context.

I, for one, would like to see Lar "America First" Daly announce his White House candidacy for 1960 today and submit his claim to FCC that he is entitled to as much time on the air as Vice President Nixon, Nelson Rockefeller, Sens. Kennedy, Humphrey, Symington and Johnson, and Govs. Meynor, Brown and Williams are given between now and next summer.

I'd also like to see him demand equal time on the air to that given to President Eisenhower's opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, the President's news conferences, and his possible appearance at the summit.

If the FCC wishes to remain consistently screwy, it would have to offer Daly that time—even if he spent the entire time flicking his lower lip with his forefinger and looking cockeyed at the camera.

In the 1956 presidential race the candidates were not confined to Eisenhower and Stevenson. There were a dozen others in the race, in scattered states which permit anybody to run.

There was a candidate on the Greenbacks Ticket and a Vegetarian candidate.

As Leif Ead pointed out on Morgan Beatty's fine summary of his medium's governmental persecution the other night on NBC, if they all demand equal time in 1960 there will be no air coverage of next year's conventions and campaigns.

Suppose some hack from Washington had this power over the newspapers of the country? Our free press will become about as free as Russia's, or as chaotic as the minutes of the French Assembly before De Gaulle.

President Eisenhower has twice called the FCC stand "ridiculous." That must be a new AAU record for understatement.

Fewer Auto Accidents for Men Than Women

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men get into fewer automobile accidents than women, according to a newly published report by the Bureau of Public Roads.

The report says the accident involvement rate for female drivers is about 18 per cent higher than for males in the daytime and 38 per cent higher at night.

When professional drivers are omitted from the comparison, however, the men are only slightly ahead of the women.

Rubbish Collections Barometer of Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rubbish collections shape up as the latest barometer of business conditions.

In one Eastern city, the municipal incinerator superintendent reports that collections fell more than 15,000 tons during the recent recession.

Taken to Hospital After Telling of Episode With Boy Found Dead

MERIDEN, N.H. (AP)—A 14-ear-old girl was taken to the hospital attached to the County House of Correction early today after she had admitted, officials said, firing a "warning shot" at a 14-year-old boy. She said he had forced his attentions on her at a woodland swimming hole.

The boy, Loring Spalding, was buried Wednesday. His body, a bullet through the head, was found Saturday in a forest clearing. He had been missing since June 10.

County Atty. George Zopf disclosed the girl's story.

Zopf said this is the story she told:

She and the boy went swimming in Newton's Brook, a steam which feeds Carlson's Pond, which was drained during a search for Spalding.

He forced his attentions on her, "got rough with her," and they had "a real fight." She broke away, went to her home, obtained a rifle and, returning, encountered the boy near the swimming hole.

She told the boy "you better get out of here," but he didn't move and she fired a warning shot.

The boy started to run and she followed.

Mother Doing Fine After 27th Child Is Born

The child, a seven-pound, five-ounce boy, was born last Sunday, two days after Helidore Cyr, 52, and his wife, Marie, had celebrated thir 31st wedding anniversary.

The couple live on a 400-acre farm at Ledges, New Brunswick, with 14 children. Five are married and residing elsewhere. Seven of the children have died.

Pay Boost Backed for State Bigwigs

LANSING (AP) — Pay incrases for several high ranking state government officials were recommended in appropriations bills reported to the House floor last night.

The biggest one, $1,500, would boost State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs to $16,500 a year.

One thousand dollar hikes were recommended to put Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford up to $12,500, Banking Commissioner Alonzo L. Wilson to $13,000 and Corporation and Securities Commissioner Lawrnce Gubow to $11,000.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) said the public health bill, nearly ready for Senate Appropriations Committee release, would boost the daily hospital care allowance for crippled children from $19 to $22 a day, and that for

Parents Will Receive Notices

Tells of Fluoride Clinic

Parents have been asked to wait until they receive a notification card from the health chairman of the Parent-Teacher Assn. of the school their child is enrolled in before going for the fluoride treatment.

A different school is scheduled every six days from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. The project is being conducted at the Schoolcraft School, Maceday drive, at Williams Lake road.

Many parents have been bringing their children to the school for the fluoride treatments thinking it is operated like the polio clinic, Mrs. Hoke said.

"The fluoride program is much more involved than the polio clinics," she said. "Students from the University of Michigan and University of Detroit, about to graduate in dentistry, along with more than 60 volunteers from area PTAs, administer the treatments."

More than 1,400 children in the 4, 7, 10 and 13-year age groups have been registered for the four $3 treatments.

Williams Hit on Gunaca Case

GOP Solon Asks Law to Stop Long Delays on Extraditions

LANSING (AP)—Miffed by Gov. Williams' role in the John Gunaca extradition case, a Republican legislator says he will draft legislation to prevent long delays in acting on extradition requests.

"In my opinion, events show that the governor did not display a responsible exercise of his power of extradition in this case," said Rep. Robert E. Waldron (R-Grosse Pointe). "This power should be used to protect, not impede, the public welfare and the security of society."

The Democratic governor refused for more than four years to extradite Gunaca, former United Auto Workers organizer, who was charged with felonious assault in connection with the UAW strike at the Koehler Co. plant in Sheboygan, Wis.

Now a Detroit bartender, he was sentenced to three years in prison Monday for the 1954 beating of a father and son in Sheboygan.

"Obviously, the plea of no contest by Mr. Gunaca and the sentence imposed is a serious reflection on the judgment exercised by Michigan's governor," said Waldron. "The 'no contest' plea destroys entirely the governor's argument about fair trial to justify his delay in signing the extradition papers."

Says U.S. Was Ready to Carry War to China

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton says the Eisenhower administration was prepared to carry the Korean War into Red China if the Communists hadn't agreed to a truce in 1953.

"We weren't going to pay any attention to that Yalu River line," Morton told a Utah Republican gathering here Wednesday night.

It was United Nations policy to keep its fighting units south of the Yalu River, the border between Korea and Red China. Some military critics claimed this gave the Communists a sanctuary.

Morton, Republican senator from Kentucky, said he was in the State Department at the time and knew the facts.

Journey To Love

CHAPTER XIX

Her telephone was ringing when she reached her room. It was Bea Powers. "Where have you been, child! You're joining us for lunch, aren't you?"

"I didn't realize it was so late!" Kathie exclaimed.

"We're all in the lobby. Can you come right down?"

"In just two minutes," Kathie promised.

As she freshened her make-up once more, she reflected soberly on her interview upstairs.

Sam's grandfather had been openly contemptuous of her deed, and his assertion that it was worthless was corroborated by what the man at the Office of Records had told her. And yet Mr. Ward had offered her $5,000 for it.

Kathie's values had changed since Uncle Job's $1,500 had looked like such an enormous sum to her.

She realized that $5,000 was not much to a man as wealthy as Sam's grandfather. But she was shrewd enough to know that even a man as wealthy as Mr. Ward would not throw money away.

It was when she saw Alex standing with Leilani and Bea Powers in the lobby that she suddenly remembered he was a newspaperman.

Who would know better about the value! A queerly sharp pain went through her in the region of her heart. Her eyes were shadowed as she greeted him, and her smile was not quite true.

★ ★ ★

He stood between Leilani and Bea Powers, both looking fresh and pretty in pastel linen dresses, and he towered above them. His gray eyes seemed to hold a quizzical expression. A curious wave of weakness went through her. She still could not trust him. And she wanted to so desperately.

"I'VE BEEN BUSY"

"Where have you been all morning?" Bea demanded of Kathie. "We were sure you were lost."

"I've been busy," Kathie said evasively.

"I'm starved," Leilani said. "Let's go in."

"Don't you love it here?" Bea Powers asked. "You know, Sam will inherit all this. He's being groomed to take it over now, they say. I believe his grandfather intends to retire soon."

"Oh, have you met him?" Bea pounced on her at once, her eyes sharp with curiosity.

Kathie had spoken before she thought, and she was immediately sorry. She nodded, somewhat embarrassed.

"But, my dear, he's a fabulous man!" Bea cried. "He's one of our leading citizens. Of course, he isn't very active any more.

"Just sits up there in his penthouse and pulls the strings. But he's quite famous in the islands. A philand—What am I trying to say, Alex? Not philanderer!"

Alex laughed, his eyes crinkling almost shut. "A philanthropist! A philanderer Mr. Ward may have been in his younger days, but certainly not now."

They consulted the menus and discussed the island fish offered.

Alex was sitting between Kathie and Leilani — Bea's maneuvering again — and his hand suddenly brushed Kathie's when he made a suggestion, pointing to her menu.

She could feel the spot he had touched tingle after he had turned to talk with Leilani.

LET'S FLY TO HILO

Bea Powers' eyes were speculative. "Kathie, why don't you fly to Hilo with us tonight?" the older woman asked abruptly. "Wouldn't you like to see the place where your Uncle Job was raised?"

"Of course it's changed unbelievably since his time, but you would enjoy it, I know."

It often seemed incredible to Kathie that this talkative, worldly, effervescent woman could be a niece of Uncle Job. Yet there was one trait they had in common. For all her light and gushing chatter, Bea Powers was a shrewd woman, Kathie knew. And Uncle Job was no fool.

Belatedly, Kathie realized that this woman might hold the key to her strange deed. She couldn't have known Uncle Job well, for she must have been a child when he left the islands.

But through her father she must have learned some details of that early life of Uncle Job's that was so shrouded in secrecy.

Distrust and the urge to keep the conversation away from the object of her visit to Hawaii had kept Kathie from discussing her uncle with Bea Powers after that first discovery of their kinship. Now she realized she may have been making a mistake.

'WE'LL HAVE FUN'

Leilani was urging her to return home with them. "You'll love Hilo!" she said. "And we'll have such fun!"

"Oh, I do hope there's a seat left on the plane!" Bea exclaimed. "I'm going right now and telephone."

"Wait a minute," Alex protested with a lift of his eyebrows. "Give Kathie a chance to accept your invitation. Are you sure you want to leave all us fascinating Honolulans so soon, Kathie?"

★ ★ ★

"When do you work?"

His grin slanted wickedly. "I'm always snooping."

"I'd love to go," Kathie said, and Bea excused herself to go and telephone.

"What about your deed?" Alex asked Kathie when she had gone.

So that was what he wanted to know.

LONDON, England (UPI)—The three-minute length of a round is the only surviving rule of boxing as drafted by the Marquis of Queensbury in 1865.

Makers of Plastic Bags Start Warning Drive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Makers of plastic, in cooperation with others, launched a nationwide advertising campaign Wednesday to warn of the danger of improper use of one of their own products—plastic bags.

The move came with the disclosure that 61 deaths in the United States so far this year could be attributed to asphyxiation because of the plastic bags.

William T. Cruse, executive vice president of the society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., told a news conference the campaign would be intensive for the next six weeks.

"We want to blanket the country with a blockbusting campaign in the shortest possible time," he said. "Our aim is not to have one more death through ignorance."

The campaign is being undertaken in cooperation with the National Safety Council, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and other groups.

Dr. James L. Goddard, chief of the accident prevention program of the Health Department, said that of the 61 deaths this year, 54 were due to suffocation of children, 40 of them under 6 months old.

Cruse, in answer to questions, said about a billion plastic bags were sold last year, with the industry grossing about 20 million dollars. He said research is going to make the bags safer but "it is a slow process."

Most of the deaths have come when the bags were used as crib and pillow covering for infants. They get the thin plastic against their mouths and nostrils, and cannot remove it.

"We hope people will take the same care in keeping plastic bags away from infants and small children as they do with matches, knives, electrical appliances and similar useful items around the home," Cruse said.

The best selling book in 1776 was "Common Sense" by Tom Paine, selling 100,000 copies in three months.

Argentina Army Gains Support

Force Replacement of Official by Anti-Peronist in 3rd Day of Crisis

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Support grew today for dissident army groups that already have forced the replacement of Argentina's undersecretary of war by a fervid anti-Peronist.

★ ★ ★

As President Arturo Frondizi's government entered its third day of crisis, heavily armed units manned all military establishments and fortified the War Ministry in Buenos Aires with machinegun posts.

★ ★ ★

At least two powerful army garrisons—in Campo de Mayo, near Buenos Aires, and at Salta, in northern Argentina — were reported supporting the stand of the Cordoba Army Command, which forced Col. Manuel R. Raimundez to resign as undersecretary of war.

Raimundez, felt by his fellow officers to be an ultranationalist, was replaced by Gen. Rosendo Frago, described as closely linked with the Cordoba group led by Gen. Roberto Grotz.

Grotz demanded a thorough investigation of a rumored pact between Frondizi and ex-president Juan Peron to assume Frondizi's election last year. The Cordoba faction also is demanding an end to the government's use of troops and its military powers to block or break strikes on the railroads and other key enterprises.

★ ★ ★

Frondizi has denied any pact with Peron, though the ex-dictator and his supporters claim one was signed. The pact was again denied Wednesday night by Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo in a rough debate in the House of Deputies.

Cost Prohibitive Now

Official Foresees Plastic Cars

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Fenders that won't crumple or dent, comfortable seats without springs, a floorboard that looks like luxury carpet.

These and more are ideas which a Detroit industrial designer says can be incorporated in the cars of the near future by using plastics.

Montgomery Ferar does not design automobiles but his firm does dabble in designs for almost everything else from the giant Univac computers, through Whirlpool appliances to toilet seats.

And Ferar is a great advocate of plastics. Strength, durability, fine appearance — these are no problem, he says. Cost? So far that's the stopper.

"The plastic business has been mainly in the hands of the chemists," Ferar said in a recent interview. "So far no one has really explored the field of developing the automated machinery necessary to produce plastics suitable for the major body parts of automobiles. And until they do, the cost will be prohibitive.

★ ★ ★

"The plastic car will come gradually. Undentable plastic fenders are being tested now. An entire door could be molded as a single unit filled with plastic foam that would deaden the noise and act as wonderful insulation.

SINGLE-PIECE SEATS

"Seats could be molded in a single piece, without springs. The other day I saw samples of a vinyl carpet. It looks just like the finest grades of wool. But it could be developed in molded form to fit the intricate contours of an automobile floor and used as the floorboard proper."

Ferar sees all of these items as cutting the cost of assembling cars.

"You only have to look at an assembly line in an appliance factor where plastics are used extensively and compare it with an auto assembly line to see the great difference in the amount of labor required," he said.

He also believes the use of such easily replaceable parts as plastic fenders would help cut the rising insurance rates on cars.

"Lighter weight is another advantage," he said, "especially with the coming of the new small cars. Weight will continue to be an important problem.

Ferar ventured into automotive styling just once, for the old Packard corporation just after World War II. His firm designed a full line of cars but it was never put into production because of a lack of capital.

He feels the stylists let themselves be carried away when they designed the 1959 model cars.

TOO MUCH GLASS

"They are things of beauty," he said, "but the stylists have forgotten the passengers' comfort. All that glass under a hot sun on a long trip can be terrible.

"Styling in the industrial field is so much a matter of timing—whether you can come up with a good product at a time the public is willing to accept it.

"For example, I think the ideal 1959 car would have been the 1953 Plymouth jazzed up a little on the outside. The public would have eaten it up."

The 1953 Plymouth was billed as "smaller on the outside, bigger on the inside." It had a short wheelbase, two-piece fenders, a comfortable ride. But it was a sales flop.

"The public hadn't yet learned to value those features," Ferar said. "Now it's a different matter. I think the small cars for 1960 are a step in the right direction, if the manufacturers will just remember that an automobile must offer utility and comfort as well as beauty."

Policeman Has Doggondest Job at Grass Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Policeman Kenneth Shipp had the doggonedest time fighting a grass fire Wednesday.

He hastily reported the blaze after spotting it heading for a large wooden house. In the backyard, he found about 50 dogs in kennels. He freed them and heaved each one over the fence to safety.

Then Shipp broke down the front door—and found the house full of dogs in kennels. More than 100, he estimated. It took him 15 minutes to empty the building.

After the fire was out, Shipp rounded up all the dogs. He never did learn the name of the kennel owner. Didn't have time.

Notre Dame Men Jest at Judge Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee, hearing testimony on the nomination of Leonard P. Walsh as a federal district judge, asked if there were any objections to him.

Two lawyers, both graduates of Notre Dame, came up with one.

Walsh had caught a touchdown pass for Minnesota in 1927 that blocked a victory for Notre Dame, said the smiling lawyers, Joseph P. O'Hara and James F. Reilly. The football game ended in a 7-7 tie.

Nobody Dares to Win Too Fast in Middle East Tinder Box

(Editor's Note—William L. Ryan is winding up his eighth tour of the Middle East. On each visit he tries to seek out the underlying elements of the news there and to appraise prospects in that cockpit of East-West contention. This is a sumup of of his findings.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

CAIRO (AP)—Nerves are raw in the Middle East. One thing is keeping the area from exploding into a crisis like the one that brought U.S. Marines to Lebanon last year.

The brake on everybody seems to be this: none of the participants in the developing contest dares to win too much too fast.

For all involved there are serious dangers connected with swift victories. Those victories already chalked up by one side or the other have themselves a vaporous, unreal quality.

This cautious, alert waiting may be connected with Geneva. It may continue at least until after this summer's talks. Then perhaps the cold war spotlight will swing back to the Middle East, and inevitably something must explode.

Possibilities for explosion involve Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Israel and the position of Arab leadership still held by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and the United Arab Republic.

In Iran, the Persians apparently have set back the Communist timetable. The example of neighboring Iraq, where the Communists are almost in control, has moved the Shah and his government to strong defensive measures.

SOVIET CORRIDOR

The Turkish and Azerbaijanian areas of northwest Iran offer the only likely prospect for a Soviet corridor to Iraq. With such a corridor, the Russians might exercise direct control over Iraq. But to move too swiftly now would mean either risking defeat or touching off World War III.

In Iraq the Communists had seemed willing and eager to take full control. Once again there was danger in winning too much too fast. The Communist hold in Iraq would be tenuous. Events elsewhere in the Middle East could overwhelm the Communists at any time. Moscow then would have gained nothing in return for sacrificing gains made previously among the Arabs.

Maj. Gen. Abdel Karim Kassem, Nasser's opposite number in Iraq, has been built up to the role of hero, seemingly accepted as such by most Iraqis at the moment. The Reds helped build him up. If he should be removed suddenly, the Communists might feel forced by circumstances to move in.

WON'T RISK DEFEAT

Nasser has moved cautiously with regard to Iraq, unready to risk another defeat like that in the abortive Mosul revolt in March. Even should he be able now to provoke a counterrevolution in Iraq, the result might throw the whole area into turmoil, even threatening a general Middle East war.

★ ★ ★

In Jordan, young King Hussein remains in constant danger of a coup against his throne. It would be executed in the name of the Pan-Arab nationalism which Nasser heads. But it is doubtful that Nasser wants any such victory in his name in Jordan in the foreseeable future.

Nasser cannot afford Jordan, its budget, its vast economic problems. With the memory of the Suez invasion of 1956 still fresh, Nasser likely is far from ready for a new showdown. If he lost that, it could destroy him.

Israel seems intent on keeping Nasser off balance, unable to turn too much attention to his internal problems. Any Israeli thrust against Nasser could strengthen his position of Arab leadership.

The United tSates acquired what is now the state of Colorado in two separate transactions — the area east of the Rockie as part of the Louisiana Purchase and the area west of the Rockiee as a resutl of the Mexican War.

FIND ICE AGE TUSK OF MAMMOTH — Ralph Dury, left, director of the Cincinnati Museum of Natural History, and Charles Oehler, the museum's preparator of exhibits, dig out a portion of the tusk of an ice age mammoth unearthed at a Cincinnati gravel pit. Dury said this section weighed more than 40 pounds, and that the elephant died between 8,000 and 12,000 years ago. It was the first to be unearthed in gravel in that part of the country.

King to Address Group by Phone

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—King Paul of Greece will address—by telephone — the 1,000 delegates to the national convention of the Pan-Arcadian Federation of America June 29.

The Kansas City chapter of the federation said it had received confirmation today that the King will make the 15-minute address.

The speech will be carried by radio telephone from Athens through Rome to London, then by transatlantic cable to New York and over long distance lines to Kansas City. It will be broadcast over loudspeakers in the convention hall.

Fire Destroys 6 Homes, Damages 2 in Illinois

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Fire ravaged a section of Negro homes late Wednesday, demolishing six, damaging two others and leaving 25 persons homeless.

Chevy Gives You Smarter Style Today...

Don't take it from us—take it from independent experts and from facts and figures that are now a matter of record. POPULAR SCIENCE sums up Chevy's unmistakably modern style this way: "The fact is, in its price class Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." This is one more reason your new Chevrolet will bring a higher allowance at trade-in time, as Chevy has over the years. A look at last year's used car prices* shows Chevrolet averaged up to $128 more than comparable models of the other leading low-priced two.

PLUS 5 MORE BIG BESTS OVER ANY OTHER CAR IN CHEVROLET'S FIELD!

Best Brakes. Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in repeated highway speed stopping tests conducted by NASCAR.* And no wonder. Chevrolet's brakes, built for up to two-thirds longer lining life, are the biggest in the low-price field.

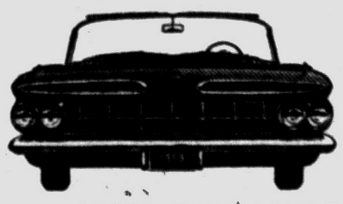

*National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

Best Engine. Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Economy. No doubt about this: a pair of Chevrolet sixes came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car.

Best Room. Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

Best Ride. A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS IN '59 THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Torpid Americans Face Hazard of Summer

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Dr. Richard E. Winter, a specialist in internal medicine, sat behind a tall glass of iced coffee and contemplated its swirling muddle of caffeine and calories.

He was not personally concerned about these calories — being tall, lean, athletic and in his 30s.

But in them he saw a reminder of the 33-million overweight men and women in this country—and the "disastrous" risks they may take this summer.

"You know this as well as I do," said the doc. "Our country today is threatened with 'creeping sedentarism';" sedentarism being "the tendency to sit down."

"Unfortunately, lots of sedentary people begin to stand up this time of year—all at once, in a high fever of athletic ambition. It is expected of them, they think, to be boys again on their vacations or after work.

"So they go racing to the beaches, the mountains, the golf links and the tennis court and try to forget their sedentary winters." He shook his head. "It can be disastrous . . .

"The average executive gives his body too little thought in the winter, and too much activity in the summer."

With the sharply stepped-up pace involved with moving from the office into the swimming pool, say, comes an entire roster of summer vacation ailments. The least of which may be severely strained muscles. The worst of which may be anginal syndrome (when the heart muscle has to work with an inadequate blood supply).

Doc Winter notes that the working girl generally has a bad case of "winter sit-down," which causes her to gain weight. "The electric typewriter alone probably cuts down enough work in the course of a year to allow the average secretary to gain a few pounds if she keeps her food intake constant."

And he cited a recent symposium at Boston University about children, revealnig that sedentarism in the United States starts at "frighteningly early age."

"The urban child is too 'protected' from exercise. He's put in a playpen, carried to school by family auto or school bus, comes home again and flops in front of TV." The results are flattening chest and protruding stomach and a juvenile jump toward the obese condition which has become America's national disease.

Dr. Winter speaks as an expert. He is director of "Executive Health Examiners," an organization of 22 specialists who conduct complete physical exams for private citizens and employes of such corporations as Ford Motors, Bulova Watch, Sylvania Electric, etc.

Almost all the major companies in America now send their executives annually for such examinations, as "preventive" procedure against all the dangerous illnesses to which sedentarism and pressures can lead.

And a good thing, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which (says Winter) reports that: Out of every three men tested in these corporation programs, two have been found to have conditions which would have led to prolonged illness, disablement, or even death—had they not been discovered in time.

The doctor's advice to Americans heading for vacations is fourpointed:

Get a physical checkup before you go; at that time, ask the doctor what activities are safe to indulge in; when you exercise, use moderation; and at the first sign of fatigue, quit.

Shaken by Lack of Legal Ethics

Absence of Emphasis in Education Bothers Bar Assn. President

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The president of the American Bar Assn. believes there is a "shocking" lack of emphasis on ethics in legal education.

★ ★ ★

Ross L. Malone used this term yesterday in describing the results of a recent survey by the American Assn. of Law Schools to a national conference on legal education at the University of Michigan.

He told the conference the survey revealed that less than half the law schools queried offered courses on professional responsibility and ethics.

Malone also charged the teaching of law has become too "fragmentized" and called for tighter integration of courses in legal education.

★ ★ ★

Some Advice About Enjoying Your Old Age

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Medical Association offers a few tips to the senior citizens of the nation which it says will enable them to maintain an active and happy life.

Associate frequently with young people and try to understand their point of view, the association urges.

Learn to delegate authority to younger persons while at the same time retaining the power of judgment to temper youthful enthusiasm. Develop wide interests and broaden your friendships to include persons with different ways of thinking.

Try not to think back to "the old days" but rather look ahead to the future. And remember that the human mind does not reach full maturity until age 40 or so and doesn't lose its sharpness very easily.

He Was Popular Target

Raising Children Gives Gable Fresh Outlook

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Clark Gable says of his fifth marriage, "I am a very happy man, and for the first time I'm enjoying the wonders of being a father."

Though he's been married five times, the moustachioed actor doesn't give the appearance of being a lady's man.

Basically he's shy and self-conscious among strangers. Whenever possible, he channels conversation away from himself.

He and former actress Kay Williams (once married to millionaire sugar satchem Adolph Spreckels II) live quietly at Gable's 20-acre Encino estate in the San Fernando Valley. They avoid Hollywood's social swim.

"In the past six weeks we've only been out twice," Gable said, "and then it was to visit friends. Neither of us cares for night-clubbing or big parties."

Since Kay (who is 17 years his junior) and Clark eloped to Nevada four years ago, Gable has been having the time of his life raising his wife's two youngsters, Adolph, 10, and Joan, 8½. He refers to them as "my kids."

'FUN RAISING KIDS'

"Of course I think of them as my own," said the childless star. "It's fun raising youngsters at this stage in my life. Everything is new to them. And seeing things through their eyes gives me a fresh outlook on life, too.

"I've never been around children very much. My second wife (Rea Langham) had two children but they were already grown up.

"We are all going to Europe soon for my new picture. My little girl has never been on a train, so we'll take a train from here to New York. And instead of flying to the continent we will take a boat for the benefit of both kids."

"Kay and I have rented a house in Salzburg for the month of July and will take side trips through Europe with the children. I have to report to Rome Aug. 3 to begin 'Bay of Naples' with Sophia Loren.

"I'll be tied up on the picture until about Nov. 1. Kay and I will stay over there. The kids will come home early enough to start school."

"After we get back from Europe I'll take it easy for a while," he said. "It's always tough making a movie over there.

"Maybe I'll find some time to hunt and fish. Funny thing about that, I read in papers and magazines that I'm off hunting in Africa when actually I'm sitting by my pool at home.

HUNT LEGEND

"Nobody could hunt as much as I'm credited with doing. There isn't that much game in the entire world. I only hunt about 10 days a year."

Though he's in top physical condition, Clark doesn't go in for the strenuous outdoor life that formerly occupied so much of his time. Kay, who has a mild heart condition, is forced to lead a quiet life.

The future?

"I just don't know," Gable answered.

"If I didn't work again I would have to make a few adjustments. But not too many financially. I'd live about the same way I have for the past 10 years or so.

"I will say this," Gable concluded soberly, "I love the movies. They've done an awful lot for me—given me a wonderful life. And as I look back over the years I realize it beats working in the oil fields."

Three-Term Year for Colleges Urged

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — An Amherst College faculty committee has recommended splitting the college year into three terms with the middle session used for a "change of pace."

Under the proposed system, there would be 13-week terms in the fall and the spring and a five-week midwinter term during which students would concentrate their studies on one or two general subjects.

The committee's report said the short midwinter term "makes it possible to derive greater educational benefits from a portion of the year which, under existing conditions, cannot always be put to the best use."

Cotton Still Popular

NEW YORK (UPI)—A pair of work pants requires 1.5 pounds of raw cotton to manufacture, according to the National Cotton Council. The council also reports that nearly half the garments in Italian fall-winter fashions were 100 per cent cotton.

Attempt to Save Sight of Victim of Lye Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — Her eyes seared by lye hurled by a mysterious assailant, a bride-to-be faces delicate surgery today in an attempt to save the sight of one eye.

Dr. Milton Berliner, eye specialist, said Wednesday night regarding the condition of 22-year-old Linda Riss: "The right eye is hopeless. The left eye is badly damaged."

Bringing in a dress box, the man opened it, removed a glass jar and hurled lye into the face of mother and daughter. The assailant fled. Mrs. Riss suffered slight burns but did not require hospital treatment. The Risses are white.

Police believe the assailant might have been hired by a jealous suitor. Members of the Riss family have refused to name former admirers of Linda or her present fiance.

Coded Face Parts Boon to Police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sheriff's office here has a new identification system it describes as the greatest help to law enforcement since fingerprints.

Sheriff Peter Pitchess said his men now can assemble in about 20 minutes the likeness of a criminal suspect drawn from descriptions of witnesses.

The system is based on a device called Identi-Kit in which the suspect's image emerges by use of overlaying transparent films. Each of the films bears a line drawing of a coded facial characteristic. A total of 62 billion facial combinations are possible by using the 500 transparent films.

The system was developed after 16 years research by the department's chief, Hugh C. McDonald.

We're Cleaning Rugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — The do-it-yourself trend in rug cleaning could push sales of carpet cleaning compounds to $20 million this year—a 20 per cent increase over 1958 and double 1954 volume.

'Good Comedy—Like Marriage—Best in Small Doses'

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI) — Groucho Marx said today that both marriage and comedy should be used sparingly.

A comedian should limit his appearances on television to four or five a year," Marx said.

Married couples should have separate bedrooms, he said, and take long annual vacations from each other.

Marx, who was in New York for the publication of his autobiography in a national magazine, said in an interview that comedians disappear from television because of "overexposure."

"The familiarity breeds contempt," he said. "It also breeds indifference on TV. This all sounds so trite to me, but the reason bromides last is because they are true..

"A comedian has a certain number of tricks. He's like a trained dog. If you see him every week, you get tired of him.

"That's why married couples should have separate bedrooms. Matrimony and comedy are not very dissimilar anyhow. Marriage and comedy should be used sparingly. Indifference breeds contempt. If you have contempt, you do not have much laughter.

"In an ideal situation, a man and wife, after the first three or four years, would be away from each other a couple of months a year — I mean, without cheating."

Marx said comedians are as plentiful as pretty girls, but there are only about 50 comedians in the world he regards as really good — and only about a dozen women he enjoys talking to.

ENOUGH'S ENOUGH!

"There is no shortage of comedians," he said. "They just have to be careful about being seen too much."

Among Marx's favorite comedians are Charlie Chaplin, Jackie Gleason, Sid Caesar, Jack Benny, Red Skelton and George Gobel. He thinks highly of three other fellows named Marx, too.

"Comedy is a fragile thing, like a young girl," Marx said. "I mean, some of the girls I've known, like Alice in Wonderland.

"Comedians should be cherished."

★ ★ ★

Marx said comedy is so basic that the jokes told today are pretty much the same as the jokes of 50 years ago, except that a few "fringes" have been added.

★ ★ ★

"The audiences are getting smarter," he said. "They've heard most of the jokes now. I have to disguise them. I put bears on them, like beatniks.

"We tell beatnik stories now, but they are the same jokes we told about F. Scott Fitzgerald's lost generation, only now they have beards.

WORLD SICK, TOO?

Marx indicated he would rather talk about women.

"There is no contact at all between the sexes on 90 per cent of the subjects," he said. "When I tell my wife I'm going to the ball park, she wonders how you can go all the way up there to watch 18 people play ball when you can go to Elizabeth Arden's.

"At parties, the men are in one part of the room and the women in the other. Women have much more interesting things to say to each other than men have to say to women. Women have a great deal in common with women, and once they are past sex, they have very little to say to men.

"I could name a dozen women I have known in my life that I enjoy talking to. Nearly all other women hate these 12. They are real femmes fatales. If a woman is good looking and talks like a man, other women hate her."

Marx was asked to name the fascinating dozen, but he balked.

"I can name them, but I won't," he said. "That's one trap I won't fall into."

All Out but Manager

CHICOPEE, Mass. (UPI) — Workmen didn't bother to see if anyone was in the Falls Theater when they boarded up the windows and the doors. Manager Lydia Allen called for help on a telephone that was to be disconnected the same day.

That's Nicobar Ritual

Her Hand on Man's Wrist Means She's His Bride

NEW DELHI (UPI) — If you want to get away from it all — away from the cares and troubles of present-day civilization — the Nicobar Islands await you.

Here no one owns property, nor does he need any. The law is broken so rarely the islands' policemen become scholars and teachers.

There are no rich or poor, no struggle for existence. All live on equal terms. People obey community opinion. The chief of each village wields great influence but has no power and can command no obedience. His only weapon is persuasion.

This land — a string of 19 islands strewn in the Bay of Bengal — used to be known as The Abode of the Naked.

FEW EVEN BAREFOOT

But nowadays the islanders wear clothes and hardly anyone in the population of 12,000 even goes barefoot.

Women take after the Burmese in their dress—a sarong and blouse. Men sport a vest and trousers.

But the Nicobar wardrobe lacks color. So does the weather. The air is languid. Even the sea pounds softly on the coral shores. The people talk lazily and low, although this may be because there never are any arguments.

Coconut is the staple food. Plantations are tended individually but they belong to the village.

People carry their own produce to the cooperative — one for every village — to exchange for clothes. They live in huts built on stilts, seven to eight feet tall.

Their marriage ceremony is as simple as everything else in their way of life. When a man desires to marry a girl, he makes friends with her family, assists them in their work and woos the girl.

REST SIMPLE

If she is won over, the rest is simple. The marriage rite consists of placing the girl's hand on the man's wrist.

Divorce is equally simple. There are no public proceedings. The couple simply parts. If there are any children, the rule is that they go "where they do not cry."

Women hold equal status with men in theis quiet little paradise. They share formation of village public opinion and have as much voice in the decisions as the men do.

The women do a fair share of the work, too — plowing, planting, rearing pigs, paddling canoes and cooking.

This leads to various superstitions. Dead bodies are exposed to the sea winds for three or four days before burial. The purpose is to scare away devils.

RELY ON SELVES

They build roads, organize cooperatives and meet their own requirements without government help. They are self reliant and have full faith in themselves.

They do not want the modern world. They like things the way they are.

Dalai Picked Famed Resort

Indian Hill Station Refuge Long Favorite Vacation Spot

WASHINGTON —Tibet's Dalai Lama is living in exile at Mussoorie, a North Indian hill station that has been popular with vacationing Britons and Indians for more than 130 years.

The invigorating climate was responsible for Mussoorie being founded as a health resort in 1826, the National Geographic Society says. Since then, it has become a recreational and educational center as well.

The Tibetan ruler chose the old resort for a temporary home because the cool, bracing air and high altitude—about 7,000 feet—are much like those of his native land.

Motor traffic is barred from Mussoorie, often called the Queen of Hill Stations. A road winds from Dehra Dun, a valley town south of Mussoorie, to Kin Craig, a motor terminal 5,000 feet up the mountainside.

All vehicles must stop there. Long lines of garages branch out from the terminal. A garage reservation is as important as hotel space for visitors. One Mussoorie college derives a portion of its income from the rent collected on 200 garages.

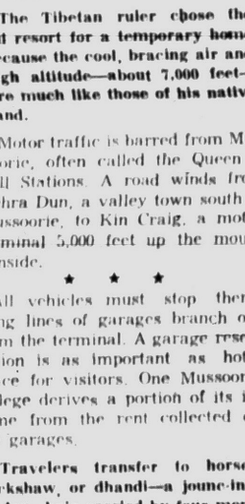

Travelers transfer to horse, rickshaw, or dhandi—a jouncing sedan chair carried by four men. Porters lug the baggage up the mountain; in the city they often take small children for sightseeing rides in baskets strapped to their backs. Rickshaws are the favored conveyance in town.

Mussoorie stands on a ridge of the outer Himalayas, and the spectacular snow-topped mountains of the range rise in the distance. Ridges and deep, wooded gorges run north of the resort. They are covered with oak, rhododendron and fir trees. Apricots, apples, pears and cherries flourish in sheltered places.

To the south, the resort overlooks a broad valley and the Siwalik Hills.

IN FROZEN FOOD CABINETS EVERYWHERE

Casseroles Will Freeze for Future

Like to avoid it? You can, if you prepare some partially cooked meals and freeze them before those sweltering days arrive. This suggestion comes from Evelyn Appel, instructor in foods and nutrition at Michigan State University.

Combination dishes, for instance, can be frozen up to two or three months ahead of time, says Miss Appel. If you cook the ingredients before freezing, your casserole will only have to heat thoroughly before you serve it to your family.

If your combination dish includes such food as macaroni, noodles, potatoes or rice, Miss Appel makes this suggestion: either undercook them if you add them to the combination before freezing, or add them just before you place the casserole in the oven. This will keep them from getting mushy.

Beware of spices in combination dishes that are to be frozen, says the food expert. Freezing intensifies the flavors of such spices as sage or clove. It is also best to add cheese and crumb toppings after removing the combination dish from the freezer and just before heating it.

You'll find the texture and flavor of your combination dish will be better if you don't thaw it before you put it in the oven, says Appel. However, if it should defrost, be sure to cook it right away.

Mail-Order House Offers Cookbook

Outdoor barbecuing from A (apple on a stick) to Z (zuccini) is the subject of a new recipe booklet now being offered by Sears, Roebuck and Co. through its retail stores and catalogs.

Titled "Let's Cook — Outdoors," the 64-page booklet contains complete directions for almost 100 taste-tempting dishes which are guaranteed family pleasers when cooked on patio or porch, in picnic areas or yards.

In addition to its recipes, the booklet contains 12 pages of illustrated how-to-do-it information covering important tips on starting the fire, the use of smoke chips, and the correct use of barbecue-gril accessories, to mention a few.

Instructions for the preparation of steaks, roasts and shish kebabs are contained in the booklet as well as for a wide assortment of salads, dressings, sauces, relishes and even desserts and beverages suitable for outdoor dining. Forty full-color photographs accompany these directions.

Many exotic dishes are listed including such things as fruit recipes —peaches 'n berries, bananas, apple on a stick, a pineapple boat and even fruit kebabs.

Deviled Egg Wedge Tops Baked Potato

There are many different and delicious recipes for "deviling" eggs. They're all based on the idea of adding a tangy flavor to the natural blandness of egg yolks. Start by mashing the egg yolks while they are still warm. You probably will want to include salt, pepper and melted butter in your flavoring mixture.

From that point on, take your choice of such things as mustard, vinegar, mayonnaise, anchovy paste, cayenne, chili powder, lemon, thyme, and garlic salt. Mix these flavorings with the mashed egg yolks and then press back in the cooked whites.

After you've prepared the deviled eggs, one interesting way to serve them is on top of baked potatoes. Cut an "X" in the top of each baked potato while it is still hot, and press the ends together so the potato will pop up. Then press a wedge of deviled egg into the top of the potato and top with a dollop of chive-filled sour cream.

All Meat Contains Same Food Value

Meat is meat, so let's eat.

The less tender, less expensive meat cut will give the family the same nutritional value that more expensive cuts do. The amount of food energy, vitamins, minerals and protein is figured on the amount of fat, bone and lean present in the meat relates the MSU Marketing Agent.

If the money you have for meat is less than you'd like, explore recipes using hamburger, frankfurters, shoulder cuts and variety meats.

To clean sticky dried fruits from your food grinder run a slice of dry bread through it.

Flavor Goes to Town on Charcoal Grill

Cut a garlic clove or two in half and toss it on the coals while you're grilling steak or burgers. The aroma will delight your kibitzers, the flavor will be subtle. When you roast pork or ham on the rotisserie, wait till the meat is almost done, then drop a spiral of orange or lemon peel in the fire.

Wait until the charcoal burns down to a cooking fire before adding damp hickory. Soak disks or hunks in water for an hour; dampen sawdust or chips when you light the charcoal. Hickory is used for its taste merits, not as a fuel. If it flares, haul it out with tongs, soak again in water, and toss back on the coals.

New Drinks for Kids, New Ideas for Mom

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If your children ask all day for something cool to drink, they will be happy with two new flavors in packaged drinks. One, a tablet that fizzes when it is dropped into water, now comes in root beer flavor. The other is a new pineapple-grapefruit flavored drink powder.

If all your life you have wanted to make egg rolls, noodles and spaghetti, here's your chance. There is now a machine on the market that will turn out all these products. We had the information from the company which sells the machine, but we understand one of the mail order houses is listing a similar one in the present catalog.

The most exciting news in the frozen vegetable line is that a national frozen food company is putting out what they call Miracle-Packs. Such tempting dishes as Broccoli au Gratin, Creole Succotash and Creamed Spinach are cooked and put into plastic packages.

All you, as the cook, need to do is to drop this solidly frozen, unopened plastic package into boiling water and let it boil for 14 minutes. Slit open the package and serve. We'll be telling you more about this later. There are seven vegetable combinations now being marketed.

Flexible Straws

Straws appeal to youngsters and most mothers keep a supply on hand. Look for the new plastic straws that are so flexible you can tie them in knots or bend them. They may be rinsed and used again if you like.

Since we made the mistake in print, we shall acknowledge it in print. Not until we had a letter from the company did we realize that "Thermos" bottle is a trade name. From now on we shall call the items vacuum bottles. Did you know that?

Did your grandmother have a fireless cooker? Ours did and we can still smell the heat it generated. The West Bend people who have made cooking utensils for a long time have a new electric waterless cooker on the market. It's a five-quart size, large enough to make an entire dinner.

Cooking with oil instead of solid fats can present problems. You will have some of them solved if you will send for the new booklet put out by the Corn Products Company, 17 Battery Place, New York City 4. Ask for "Cooking for Health with Mazola Corn Oil." The booklet is free.

Special Brussels Sprouts

Brussels sprouts are a special treat when you serve them with pineapple. Cook 2 pounds of Brussels sprouts (or 2 packages of frozen) in boiling water until barely tender. Add one cup of drained pineapple tidbits and continue cooking 5 minutes longer. Melt 3 tablespoons butter and add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Place drained sprouts and pineapple in serving dish. Pour lemon butter over and season with salt and pepper.

Herbs for Green Beans

Glamorize green beans by serving with herb mayonnaise. Add a little dill and rosemary and a dash of lime or lemon juice to mayonnaise, blend and serve.

Freeze and Jam Berries While They're at Peak

The food situation is ever changing. Production cycles, weather conditions and consumer preferences are just a few factors that influence the size of food supplies from year to year or week to week.

This is a big week for Michigan strawberries! Heavy supplies are being harvested in the Benton Harbor area where most of the berries are grown. Cantaloupes, peaches and plums are on the "increasing supply" list.

Fewer porkers are being marketed and prices are rising. Beef and veal hold at about the same steady prices, but retailers report some increase in lamb and poultry prices.

Corn, cabbage, green beans and salad vegetables are in good supply, and you'll find prices correspondingly low or lower than a week ago.

PRODUCE — Let's not wait to freeze or jam strawberries. Robinson and Premier are the two leading varieties in Michigan. The Robinson berry is noted for its larger size and bright color but is really best for fresh use. Take the Premier for freezing, if you have a choice. Other recommended varieties for freezing are Dunlap, Catskill, Sparkle (Paymaster) and Gem.

"Added sweetness" helps preserve color and texture of strawberries for 8 to 12 months in your freezer. Use a cold syrup made from one cup of sugar to one cup of water or mix one cup of sugar with each four cups of berries. Dry pack strawberries will keep quality only 3 to 5 months in the freezer.

Did you know that strawberries are short on calories but long on Vitamin C? You'll have only 54 calories in a cupful of strawberries and four-fifths of your daily supply of Vitamin C.

Strawberry jam or preserves might be your way of using small berries, remarks the MSU Marketing Agent. Whichever you choose for freezing or conserving in other ways, select berries with full red color. Some berries in the market are underripe and will not ripen once they are picked.

Recent rains in the south have influenced the harvest of peaches, blueberries, potatoes and watermelons. Peach prices are slightly lower now that several states are contributing to present supplies. Watermelons are 7 to 10 cents a pound in most stores, with cost depending upon whether you buy a piece or the whole melon.

MEAT FOR YOUR CHOOSING — In view of rising pork prices, several cuts rate consideration. Picnics, loin roasts and Boston butts are within the 16 to 25 cents per serving price range. Picnics yield 2 servings per pound; loin roasts 2½ and Boston butts 3.

If you haven't served ham lately, you might wish to check this week's prices on smoked or canned hams. Whole smoked hams will serve three people from each pound while canned hams will yield four servings.

Warm weather brings greater consumer demands for steak. Just remember that if you plan to broil a steak it is best to choose one that grades U.S. Choice or Prime. Have it cut at least one inch thick (or better yet, 1½ to 2 inches). Blade chuck roast or the top muscle of the round will broil if they grade this quality and if you broil them rare to medium well-done. To make them more tender, cover them with your favorite barbecue sauce or French dressing and leave in the refrigerator overnight.

Have you noticed the older hen turkeys in the markets? Unless the turkey is marked "Young" on the label, plan for longer cooking time with steam in foil or with the cover on. These older turkeys are like stewing chickens. They are covered with a heavy layer of fat, have coarser skin and require more cooking to tender them. Prices for these older hen turkeys are less than for the "Young" hens.

Vacation Bible Students Find School Can Be Fun

Pontiac Press Photos

Attending morning classes of Vacation Bible School at Central Methodist Church are, from left, Donna Heivey of Mary Day avenue, Linda Vannatter of Adams street and Jimmy Boone of North Francis street. The three are making statues of the Bible characters they are studying.

Mrs. J. H. Shaffer Named President of New Chapter

Organizational meeting of Dixie Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph H. Shaffer of Birmingham.

Mrs. Shaffer was named president; Mrs. David Ayers Jr., registrar; and Mrs. Thomas F. Plant, recording secretary.

Charter members of the chapter are Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. W. D. Caughman Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Flagg, Mrs. Kenneth Kilbury, Mrs. Judson Peckham, Mrs. Plant, Mrs. Bennett T. Robertson, Mrs. Fred D. Sawyer, Mrs. Shaffer, Mrs. Roger C. Smith and Mrs. Albert H. Stump.

This new chapter, with Robert E. Lee Chapter and Stars and Bars Chapter in Detroit, will entitle Michigan to organize a division.

A splash party, rain or shine, will be given by Birmingham alumne chapter of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Morris Driefuss in Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

The party and luncheon will celebrate the 10th anniversary of the chapter and all college members and alumnae are invited.

Co-hostesses are Mrs. Stanley Carr of Royal Oak, Mrs. W. D. Gallentine of Pontiac and Mrs. William Reddig of Birmingham.

Mrs. Thomas Jensen of Birmingham, president, and Mrs. Carr, secretary, will attend the 26th national convention as delegate alternate. The convention will be held June 27 to July 2 in Glenwood Springs, Colo.

Pastor Speaks

The Rev. Merle Eastman, pastor of Baptist Church, Grass Lake was guest speaker at the meeting of Fellowship Bible Class of First Baptist Church held Tuesday evening at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Vernier were in charge of the dinner.

Interesting Women

Fritzi Stoddard Leads Colorful Life

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

"Here, you'll get a bang out of this," said Fritzi Stoddard as she jumped out of her chair and reached for a miniature Bible that was more than 100 years old.

Perhaps one of Pontiac's most colorful and genuine figures, a visit with her at her home is like being spirited away to a setting from the Arabian Nights.

Mrs. Stoddard, "Fritzi" to her friends, has literally been just about everywhere and seen everything and has more enthusiasm and joy for life than 10 average people.

She was well known in Pontiac as the owner of a high fashion dress store and before that, as a buyer for Waite's.

★ ★ ★

Her first appearance in New York's garment district, like many of her first appearances, she says caused a startled look or two. At that time she was about the only woman buyer. However her outgoing manner and insight into the women's wear field, soon won her the respect and admiration of her competitors.

At one of her dazzling fashion shows in Pontiac she showed a gown loaned her by Madam Lydia Sechia, designer. The gown, valued at more than $1,000, was never shown by anyone else including the big name stores.

MRS. FRITZI STODDARD

Mrs. Stoddard estimates that she must have made more than 2,000 trips to New York City so far, both for business and otherwise.

Now she is retired and advises, "Don't retire, I got more done when I was busy than I do now."

Women's Auxiliary of Pontiac General Hospital, Women's Association of Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, Tuesday Musicale Group, Blue Star Mothers, Soroptimists and League of Women Voters of Pontiac, are just a few.

Mrs. Stoddard, "who likes people (an understatement) is forever putting on benefit functions at her Ottawa drive home.

One time it may be a Chinese dinner with hostesses in Chinese garb, another time an Italian evening complete with native food and decor.

Her home is full of all manner of fascinating things reflecting her endless interests. There is a large screen, that once belonged to the Shah of Turkey; a real antique spinning wheel and tables, and in one corner of her living room a lighted gold fish pond with real fish.

She has a collection of more than 1000 books, many autographed by the authors. Currently she is embarking on a collection and study of the Bible.

She is the proud owner of a set of Shakespeare, believed to be about 200 years old which she is saving for her grandchildren. She has seven and three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Stoddard is constantly amazed at how small the world is because wherever she goes she runs into someone she knows or someone who knows mutual friends. And she has traveled widely both here and in Europe.

Among her personal accomplishments are painting, modeling and dramatics. At one time, she appeared on the stage in the chorus of a light opera company in Chicago—her home town. She was active in organizing and playing in the Pontiac Players.

Judith Palmer Honored on Approaching Nuptial

Insurance Women Installed

Mrs. George O'Brien, parliamentarian of Insurance Women of Pontiac installed new officers at a luncheon held Wednesday at Hotel Waldron.

Installed were Mrs. Russell Lehigh, president; Mrs. Harry Hall, vice president; Mrs. Earl Arthur, recording secretary; Mrs. Vern Hartman, corresponding secretary and Ernestine Neubauer, treasurer.

Mrs. Lehigh appointed these committee chairmen: Mrs. Mildred Sage, education; Mrs. Robert Godfrey, Jr., publicity; Mrs. Harry Stuart, membership; Mrs. O'Brien, safety and Joan Morang, telephone.

Plans were made to attend a dinner and play at Northland Playhouse. An executive meeting will be held June 24 at Hotel Waldron.

DOROTHY L. ROACH

Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Roach of Manila, Ark., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Laverne, to Darryl R. Mahan, son of former Pontiac residents Mr. and Mrs. Q. R. Mahan, of Clearwater, Fla. Both are students at Stetson University. An August wedding is planned.

Pillar Club Has Book Review

State's Entry Wins Mrs. America Test

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Michigan's entry in the Mrs. America contest — Elizabeth Stokes of Traverse City —won a preliminary victory in the laundry contest yesterday to go with her second place award in menu-planning.

Back-home greetings to Mrs. Michigan also made the headlines again. She got a six-foot square card of best wishes from the cherry growers of Michigan. The day before it was a 21-foot long telegram from 800 home-towners.

Some Combination

Grandmother knew what she was doing when she used a foot bath of salts or baking soda. The warm water solution brings relief to tired, aching feet and also helps soften any rough spots. Keep your feet immersed for about three minutes.

Dear Abby . . .

Hubby No Sitter for 18-Year-Old

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: On Oct. 10, 1958 I sent a wedding gift to the daughter of a friend. I know this girl got the gift because her mother said she did. But as yet I haven't received a thank-you note from the girl.

ABBY

Her mother said a bride has a year in which to acknowledge her wedding gifts. Is that a fact? This girl had plenty of time before the wedding to sit down and send out over 300 wedding invitations to people all over the country (she didn't know half of them) but she can't find time to thank them for the gifts. What is my next move?

MRS. L.

DEAR MRS. L: The next move is hers, not yours. The well-bred bride acknowledges her wedding gifts within 30 days after she returns from her honeymoon trip.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I wanted to send for your pamphlet on "How to Get Boys to Notice Me," but my father says too many boys notice me as it is. I am 10 years old but sometimes I pass for 12. Dear Abby, can you help me with my problem? I would like to have boys notice me.

NOT NOTICED

DEAR NOT: Girls your age have a lot of time in which to be noticed. Be your sweet 10-year-old self, and let Nature take its course.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: If those immature parents who squabble over who should meet their son when he comes back from overseas had a real worry, they wouldn't have time to think about such a trivial thing. The important thing is that the boy is coming home. I met my sons at the train—two of them.

But they were in boxes, draped in flags.

Sincerely yours,
HATTIE HAMILTON

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have lived in this apartment for seven years and we have watched a little golden-haired girl grow up. She is now 18 but is childish in many ways although she is as developed physically as I am.

I work odd hours at the hospital around the corner. Many times I will come home and find this neighbor girl sleeping on our day-bed. She says she is afraid to sleep alone.

My husband is young, good-looking and only human. While I trust him and realize this girl is sweet but simple-minded, how long should I put up with this? I tell my husband it doesn't look right but he kids me out of it. Please advise me.

UPSET

DEAR UPSET: Doesn't "his "sweet but simple-minded 18-year-old child" have parents? Tell her in words of one syllable that your husband is not a baby-sitter for 18-year-olds and be sure your husband understands that YOU are NOT kidding!

★ ★ ★

"Why don't my parents trust me? For What Every Teenager Wants to Know, send 25c and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

Soap Saves the Day on Sahara

Here's another unusual use of our old friend, soap! A British doctor recently found himself in the middle of the Sahara a thousand miles of dry desert ahead, his car's radiator burst. He filled the radiator gaps with yellow soap and drove hopefully on.

According to the London Daily Mail quoting the doctor, "At first the radiator bubbled over with soapsuds but it settled down and carried me safely for another five thousand miles."

Accenting the skirt was a front panel of Chantilly lace and a chapel train. A crown of iridescent sequins and seed pearls held her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion, and she carried a white prayer book with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Her headpiece was a matching organza bow cloche with blusher veils, and she held a basket of yellow roses.

Housewives Biggest Single Group

Women Top U.S. Stockholders

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Those women you see in stockbroker's boardrooms in increasing numbers these days aren't just resting their feet.

They're buying stocks in ever greater volume. In the list of Americans who have bought their first share of stock in the last three years, housewives lead all the rset.

Women shareowners have outnumbered men for some time. But they have increased their lead since 1956.

Some four million women classifying themselves as housewives now own stock, the biggest single group in the New York Stock Exchange's 1959 census of shareowners.

This shows that women now are 52.5 per cent of all adult shareowners, compared with 51.4 per cent in 1956 when the last census was taken. Altogether there are 12,490,000 men and women who have at least one share.

BIG GAIN SINCE 1956

And among the newcomers to corporate stockholder lists since 1956 women outnumber men by 56.3 per cent to 43.7 per cent.

Altogether there are 6,347,000 women shareowners in the land, the Stock Exchange estimates through its survey, or about 11.5 per cent of the nation's adult female population.

Three years ago 4,260,000 women held stock, or 8.1 per cent of their total number.

Of all women shareowners 1,275,000 are housewives who have jobs outside the home.

The increase in working housewives could be one reason that women are more and more involved in the stock market. Women have more money nowadays to spend — and to invest.

Another could be that women live intimately with inflation. As handlers of the family spending they know what has happened to their bills and to the purchasing power of their dollar. Many may look on stocks as a good hedge against this.

Capital gains through risking stock prices appeal to them, too, as compared to fixed interest returns on other investments.

Brokers add that their women customers are active bargain seekers — although finding bargains in stocks has become harder to do in a soaring bill market.

LEAD THE WAY

While the career girls and the other women employed in business are taking to the stock market, too, it's the housewives who are the shining lights in the boardrooms these days.

They now total one third of all the shareowners in the land. Their numbers have increased by 1,170,000 since 1956.

Next largest group of shareowners are: proprietors, managers and officials; professional and semiprofessional; and clerical and sales. There are many women among each of these three occupational groups.

Some 1,340,000 of both sexes are now investing regularly under these plans, and an estimated total of 2,500,000 shareowners got their first shares in this fashion.

Even those who don't work for corporations tell the Stock Exchange pollsters they think these plans are a good thing. The exchange says 9 out of 10 of all shareowners feel that way.

Many women own shares in more than one company. Coporation books list a total of 14,429,000 female owners, along with 7,289,000 joint accounts. And the total of stocks held by women comes to 2,013,000,000.

Some Folks Get Upset Too Easily

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine recently married and she and her husband are living with his mother, the mother being a widow and living alone in a big house. I invited these young friends of ours to dinner the other evening but did not invite the mother. I understand that she is put out over this and thinks me very rude for omitting her. Will you please tell me if I was wrong not to invite her too?"

Answer: If it was a small dinner of your own personal friends, there was no reason why you should have included this one friend's mother-in-law. If she invites you to dinner and you accept, then you should invite her in return if you possibly can.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I shall be going to an engagement party soon and I am in doubt as to the type of gift I should give. Should it be something for her personally or should it be something for her future house."

Answer: If it is customary in your community to take presents to an engagement party, then you may take either something for her personal trousseau or something for her future house—either would be correct.

Americans have tripled their demand for turkeys since 1930.

Mrs. Walter K. Willman of West Iroquois road is planning to serve the two men in her household steak on Father's Day. After broiling it she seasons it with salt, pepper and butter.

The Man Comes to Dinner

She Broils Steak for Father's Day

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

When Pontiac's City Manager Walter K. Willman comes to dinner, he wants steak. His 91-year-old father, Albert Willman, who lives with him and Mrs. Willman is also a steak eater. So dinner on Father's Day will be steak.

Baked potatoes are a must with the steak. The Willmans are fond of sour cream dressing on top of the potatoes. Then Mrs. Willman will combine as many salad greens as she can find in the market and toss them with a roquefort cheese dressing — another favorite food her husband wants.

Nowadays the Willmans skip dessert. Like most Americans they are calorie conscious. But if Mrs. Willman were to make a pie, she would have to make a custard pie. She says she makes one strawberry and one raspberry pie each year; the rest of the time it's custard.

Here's her recipe for custard pie:

CUSTARD PIE
By Mrs. Walter K. Willman

4 eggs
6 tablespoons sugar
Dash of salt
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pastry for one crust
Nutmeg

Beat rest of eggs slightly, add sugar, salt, milk and vanilla. Stir to dissolve sugar. Pour into pastry-lined tin. Dust lightly with nutmeg.

Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until custard is set, about 30 minutes. A knife cut into the custard will come out clean.

Mrs. Willman takes her custard pie out of the oven while it is still a little wobbly. Then when it cools, it is never tough or leathery.

Can Add Inches

Short Girl Must Stand Tall

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have often said that it seems little short of tragic to me to measure happiness in inches. Yet it is true that many women who are above or below average in height are extremely self-conscious about it.

I wrote recently about some of the advantages which the tall girl or woman can enjoy. Today I would like to make some suggestions about the very short woman.

Beautiful posture is important to every woman but especially so to the one who is unusually tall or short. I receive letters from many women who are unhappy about their lack of inches.

If you have been careless in the past about your carriage, you actually can add an inch or so to your height by improving it. Not only this but you will give the impression of more height if your posture is queenly. A short woman can look dainty and fascinating, lovely and petite, or she can look like a little old woman much too early in life. This depends to a great extent on the way she carries herself and the grace with which she moves.

As we grow older our spines tend to settle, thus we get "shorter" unless we fight it. Therefore we should begin walking and talking and thinking tall. Stretch your spine all the way by pushing toward the ceiling with the top of your head. Also, here are two stretching exercises.

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor. Do not raise head, shoulders, hips or legs from the floor but try to make yourself as long as possible by pushing forward with the legs (push from hips) and back with the head. As you do this try to touch as much of the neck to the floor as possible. Hold while you count to five slowly. Relax. Repeat and continue.

2. Stand facing the wall. Place your fingertips on the wall opposite your bust. Begin moving your fingers up the wall (walking with your fingers). Go as high as you possibly can. Rise high on tiptoes and reach even higher. Feel the stretch? Slowly walk down the wall with your fingers and continue.

If you are short in stature, remember to forget large plaids or prints, round and round stripes, jewelry which is very chunky, and large hats and bags. Do not wear costumes of contrasting colors.

Tips to Graduates on First Job Hunt

By RUTH MILLETT

Tips for the high school graduate looking for his first real job:

Remember that you are a job hunter, not a professional teenager. So dress and act like an adult; heels instead of socks and loafers for girls, suits instead of dungarees for boys.

Go alone when you go job hunting. It may bolster your courage to take a friend along, but you'll have better luck if you job hunt by yourself.

If you are asked to fill out a form, do it neatly and give some thought to the answers you write down.

Give a lot of thought to what you have to offer a prospective employer. He isn't interested in what he can do for you, but what you can do for him.

If you really want a job don't look disinterested if the hours seem long, or if the pay isn't as much as you've heard some other graduates are getting. The important thing is: will you have a chance to move up if you work hard and prove that you are reliable and trustworthy?

Don't get discouraged if the answer is, "We don't have anything right now, but we may need someone later." Go back later so that you won't be forgotten.

If you give anyone's name as a reference be sure to tell the person about it. And don't forget to thank any person who goes to the trouble of writing a recommendation for you.

Let good manners and a straightforward approach help you sell yourself to any person who interviews you for a job.

Try to learn something from every interview so that you will have a better idea of what is expected of a young person looking for a job.

What Young People Think:

Teenagers Plan–but Don't Save–for College

By EUGENE GILBERT

More than 7 out of every 10 youngsters in the country want to go to college, but only one of those seven has saved a cent towards his or her education.

With teenage allowances at an all time high (our last survey showed more than $10 a week), most youngsters apparently do not feel obligated to put a little away each week to help defray the cost of realizing their college dreams.

Who do they think should foot the bill?

Surprisingly, their answer was NOT the government. More than 54 per cent of the boys and 74 per cent of the girls were flatly opposed to allocating government funds at any level to pay college tuition costs.

With the government apparently out of the picture, how did they expect to meet college costs?

Silghtly more than half said they would rely on good old Dad, as usual. But 34 per cent of the boys and 20 per cent of the girls planned on working their way through.

About 8 per cent of the girls hoped to win scholarships. The rest planned to get by on a loan or with help from friends and relatives.

Most of the youngsters interviewed in this nationwide survey of 13-to-17-year-olds had a pretty realistic idea of what it costs these days to put a boy or girl through college.

A recent graduate of the University of Michigan College of Engineering, with a B.S. Degree in mechanical engineering, is Richard L. Selvala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Selvala of Judson street. Richard was affiliated with the Evans Scholars while in school.

About 23 per cent figured the cost somewhere between $1,000 and $2,000 a year, and another 23 per cent thought $3,000 a year would be more like it. Few went below $1,000 in their annual estimates and about 12 per cent went over $4,000.

Their estimates included all costs: tuition, books, lab and other fees, room, board, clothing, transportation.

About 55 per cent of both boys and girls said they would prefer to go away from home to attend college.

George Dunlop, 16, of St. Louis, regarded going away to college as an important part of the process of growing up.

"A lot can be learned by going away for the first time and not depending on your parents for everything," he commented.

But not all youngsters wanted to go away to college just for the sake of leaving Mom's apron strings. Some, like 16-year-old Beverly Kelly of Detroit, planned to leave home because "the college I want to attend for my career is out of town."

From time to time various critics of mass education have commented that America might be better off if it had fewer but brighter students in college, putting the accent on quality rather than quantity.

Teenagers, however, are not in sympathy with this line of thinking. Of those interviewed, nearly 60 per cent think that more students than now should go to college, 15 per cent would be content if about the same number as now attended college in future years, and only 10 per cent favored cutting down on the college crop.

FAVOR RESTRICTIONS

Even the minority who favored government aid to college students placed heavy restrictions on such a program.

Slightly more than half thought the government should provide some help to students in the science field, about 30 per cent would also include the engineering field.

What form should government aid to scholars take?

Again there was no ground swell for direct handouts. About one in every four youngsters favored government loans, which would be paid back at low interest after graduation.

About the same number favored giving the money to the school rather than the student, and 40 per cent would restrict government aid to the most qualified applicants.

Perhaps many teenagers are opposed to outright government grants to college students because they feel, as does 17-year-old Tom Greenspon of Charleston, W. Va., that there are "plenty of scholarships available to bright students. It's the not-so-bright ones who need the help."

June brides—and all others—can actually boil their diamond rings clean in a pan of soap or detergent suds. First line the pan with a "cushion" of folded cloth.

MIAMI — People don't get excited any more when a woman succeeds in what is generally considered a man's job, says a woman who's done just that.

Mrs. Sally Kilbourne, probably the only woman manager of a major hotel in the United States, explained the change in attitude this way: "There's just as much competition between men in business today as between men and women."

Therefore, said Mrs. Kilbourne, manager of Miami's largest hotel, the Everglades, a woman who successfully competes against a man is no more noteworthy than another man.

Greek Orthodox Rites Unite Couple in Pontiac

Bessie Karakasili, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Karakasili of Athens, Greece, became the bride of Frank Fotineas, son of Mrs. Christina Fotineas of Hill street, Sunday afternoon at St. George Greek Orthodox Church.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Mary Fotineas who wore blue organza and lace with a matching colonial corsage of carnations.

The attendants, Tula Fotenas and Mary Peluras of Detroit and Bessie Gianokos of Pontiac, wore pink organza and lace gowns and headpieces and carried colonial corsages of pink carnations.

Best man was George Ginaokos. Ushers were John Pope of Pontiac and Nick Peluras and Harry Ballard of Detroit.

Before leaving for a honeymoon at Mackinac Island, the bride changed to a beige sheath dress with matching sheer jacket and beige accessories. The couple will live in Pontiac on their return.

Think About White

Upkeep is something you should consider each time you make a purchase. You'd love a white coat? Remember, it must be dry cleaned about every third wearing. And you must consider this as part of the cost of the coat.

Building card castles on the living room floor has entertained many a youngster for hours on end. Many people are unaware there is a special architecture involved.

For You, Electricity is a Triple Value...

MODERN LIVING

If you're like most people and we believe you are, you seldom notice the over-all pattern as electricity influences your daily living. You simply flick the switch and take the results for granted, thinking only of the individual unit as you operate it. In the kitchen, you make toast, coffee or a complete meal without a thought for the energy source. The same thing's true when you do the laundry, sewing or vacuum cleaning —and again when you turn on the radio, record player or television. The list could go on and on. The point is, this is the way it should be. Electricity works for you so quickly, cleanly and quietly, you need never give it a thought. That's ideal. And more ways to use this versatile energy are discovered every year; ways to raise your standard of living. Electric heat, for example, is bringing new levels of comfort and convenience to many families in this area. As its advantages become known, it will take its place with the hundreds of familiar items that help you live better today the all-electric way.

MORE SERVICES

Here in Southeastern Michigan, Detroit Edison gives its customers complete electrical services. Besides producing and delivering the power for modern living, it supplies you with a number of extra services through 74 neighborhood offices. You probably know that this is where you can exchange your burned out light bulbs, fuses and appliance cords for new ones without charge. And you may know that these offices also repair many appliances, large and small. But perhaps you do not know that you can also have a free HOUSEPOWER analysis made to be sure your home is properly equipped for full electric living. Or that Edison Home Service Advisors are ready to give you expert help in applying this versatile energy source to household tasks. There's even an advisory service for industrial, commercial and farm operations. We believe that our customers are deserving of all these services. And we shall do our best to continue to provide the finest electric service in the country.

MATCHLESS ECONOMY

Although we have touched on a few of the ways electricity serves you, the situation is different in each home. To get an idea of the value of electricity to you personally, look around and see what it does for you in your home. Then divide your bi-monthly bill by 60 to find how much it costs per day. You're going to be surprised. All these different Edison services, some of them absolutely essential, are yours for so little—and the cost has not changed for more than ten years. Naturally, the more electricity you use, the better you enjoy living. And in recognition of families who add such new, modern conveniences as electric heat, Detroit Edison announces a new lower rate step.

Effective June 1, residential customers will benefit from a lower rate of 2c per kilowatt-hour for all monthly usage over 750 kilowatt-hours. This is an 11 per cent reduction from the 2¼c rate which formerly applied. Though living costs generally have been rising during the past several years, electricity remains one of the biggest values—and for you, an Edison customer, a triple value.

DETROIT EDISON

Kitchen Fire Sends Infant to Hospital

A seven-month-old baby was rushed to Pontiac General Hospital yesterday after inhaling smoke from a kitchen fire at its home on N. Saginaw street.

The infant was treated and released by hospital attendants.

The infant, Roger Lee Knight, inhaled the smoke when a pan his mother, Ila, used for sterilizing plastic milk bottles boiled dry. The bottles then caught on fire.

Mrs. Knight was outside at the time.

Admiral Denies Wire Keeps Ships Afloat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. R. E. Dixon, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, said today that pending budget requests "will provide an adequate but austere program" for the Navy.

Dixon denied published reports that the Navy has been holding ships and planes together "with baling wire to stay within its budget" for lack of spare parts.

"I have never said such a thing and I know it is not true," the admiral said as he waited to testify before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

A Detroit newspaper used the "baling wire" language today in a Washington story on the budget and spare parts situation.

Three Lifers Up for Parole

County Men Jailed Years Ago Considered for Release

Three men sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Court judges more than 10 years ago are among 12 Jackson Prison inmates whom the State Parole Board is considering for commutation of sentence or release under the lifer law.

Being considered are Eddie Collins, sentenced by Judge Frank L. Doty to life for rape Dec. 8, 1941, Aubrey L. Moore, sentenced to life for second-degree murder April 8, 1946, and Edward J. McFadden, sentenced July 22, 1932 to life for first-degree murder.

Public hearings for the three and the other inmates will be held at Lansing June 19, 23, and 25, the State Corrections Department announced yesterday.

The group also includes two women, Anna N. Hampton of Kent County, and Julia Kulinich of Lapeer County.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem emphasized the Oakland County men are only being considered for possible parole, or, in the case of first-degree lifer McFadden, commutation of sentence. Should the Parole Board favorably consider McFadden for commutation of sentence, this then would have to go to Gov. Williams for his approval, Ziem said.

Under the law, he said, written protests against release or commutation of sentence can be made by either the sentencing judge, or his successor, or the county prosecutor.

Ziem said he would have to study each individual case before he could decide on such protests.

DIVORCED — Singer Peggy Lee was granted an interlocutory decree from actor Dewey Martin in Santa Monica Superior Court. They were married in April 1956, and separated in July, 1958. Miss Lee charged Martin was moody, jealous and upset her prior to singing engagements. She waived alimony.

Jet Airliner Speeds Her on Way

Queen Leaves for Canada

Fog will force the royal party to land first on U.S. soil the air base at Argentia, Nfld.

Bad weather over St. Johns, the Newfoundland capital, forced British Overseas Airways Corp. to switch the landing spot.

Fog has shrouded much of the rocky coast of Newfoundland for days.

From Argentia, the Queen, Prince Philip and their 11 attendants will make the 85-mile trip to St. Johns by car.

★ ★ ★

The shift in the landing spot postponed the Queen's arrival ceremonies at St. Johns about three hours, until late afternoon, and meant a curtailment of her first drive about St. Johns.

Canadian warships and plans were posted on the comet's flight path in the Western half of the Atlantic in case of trouble.

British vessels and the Royal Air Force furnished protection along the first half of the route.

Newfoundland was chosen as the start of the royal tour partly for political reasons. This year marks the 10th anniversary of the Act of Confederation making Newfoundland a Canadian province. Before that it had been governed from London.

Million Autos in 3rd Quarter

That's Predicted Output of U.S. Manufacturers for July-September

DETROIT (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said today that American manufacturers will build more than one million cars in the third quarter of this year.

First quarter production was 1,600,359 and estimates for the second quarter are 1,680,000.

The industry normally builds at least a million cars during the July-August-September quarter. In the last 12 years it has failed to reach the million mark only twice—in 1947 and 1958.

The statistical reporting agency said the production would break down to about 520,000 cars in July and between 225,000 and 275,000 in both August and September.

The windup of 1959 model production begins in July with many assembly plants shut down in August.

Ward's said the projected production will find each of the companies building in about the same proportion of the total market as they have over the first six months.

Pontiac Small Car Possible

Buick Almost Certain to Make One, Alone or With Other GM Lines

DETROIT (AP) — Indications are stronger today that Buick, either alone or with other medium-price divisions of General Motors, will offer a new, smaller car in the not-too-distant future.

Industry gossip has said that Buick will combine with Oldsmobile and Pontiac to produce a second smaller car for General Motors for 1961. GM's first little one, the Corvair, will be built by Chevrolet for the 1960 model year.

In his first news conference since becoming general manager of Buick, Ed Rollert last night talked around the subject but neither confirmed nor denied such small car plans.

He did say that "surely we have reached the limit on overall length—at least in the foreseeable future."

"We will continue to sell the Opel," Rollert said. The Opel Rekord is a German-made GM car now sold by Buick dealers. "On my recent tours I have found the Opel in short supply everywhere. We get only about 3,200 of them a month and regardless of anything else that develops, we will continue to handle them."

There has been speculation that GM would soft-pedal its imports—the Opel and the English-built Vauxhall now sold by Pontiac—once it put the American-made Corvair into production.

Rollert predicted Buick would sell about 300,000 cars in 1959, up some 10 to 15 per cent from 1958. "That's not as many as we would like to sell," he said, "but it is an improvement."

He said his aim at Buick, which he joined May 1, is solid growth, rather than any particular sales spot, either in the industry or within the General Motors Corp. Buick in 1955 was GM's second biggest seller. Now it is running fourth out of five, beating only Cadillac.

School Used Clothing Drive Called Success

The Pontiac School Used Clothing Drive has netted a total of 11,539 pounds of clothes, announces chairman P. C. Allison.

The program was made possible through three local agencies, the St. Vincent De Paul Society, Salvation Army and Seventh-Day Adventist Dorcas Society.

"Students and PTAs have contributed greatly to the success of the program by providing 14 tons of clothing," said Allison.

"More than 500 families have been able to benefit from these clothing drives. Through the three agencies these families have been able to obtain good clothing both spring and fall so that their children might remain in school."

The drive's goal is one-pound per child. Pontiac Central High School brought in the highest total of 4,234 pounds, or 2.4 pounds per student.

Florida Paper Sold to Rival

Rising Costs Blamed for Newspaper Merger in Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Sale of the Jacksonville Journal to the Florida Times-Union was announced today.

John H. Perry, president, said rising production costs caused the sale.

Terms were not announced.

The Journal, an afternoon paper and successor to the old Metropolis with a history dating back before the turn of the century, becomes the property of the Times-Union on July 1.

Further details on afternoon operation after June 30 will come from the Florida Publishing Co., owner of the morning paper.

"We are selling the Jacksonville Journal to our morning competitor because operating costs have risen at a much more rapid rate in recent years than we have been able to increase our revenue. The cost of labor and rising prices in materials is not balanced out by our revenue from advertising and circulation," Perry said.

"This is despite substantial savings in our operation in recent months as a result of strong and sincere efforts to stem the economic tide.

"But operating two separate papers in Jacksonville is such an exceedingly high expense that a complete merger appears absolutely essential.

Youths Plead Guilty to Theft of Wine

Two youths, accused of stealing wine from a Pontiac grocery store pleaded guilty yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Neil Potter, 17, of 852 Stirling Ave., and David Reid, 17, of 933 Kenilworth St., will be sentenced sometime today.

Both pleaded guilty to stealing wine from the Perry Friendly Market, 1220 N. Perry St., Tuesday evening.

DETROIT (UPI) — Two Detroit area television stations will carry programs today including the first television film transmitted across the Atlantic Ocean. CKLW-TV and WWJ-TV will carry special programs which will include films of Queen Elizabeth's departure from London for her tour of Canada.

The films will be transmitted via telephone cable and will be reassembled in New York and seen on American television stations within two hours after the Queen's departure.

Studio Sets Ambitious Film Making Program

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The president of Warner Bros. says the big movie studio is embarking on the most ambitious film making project in its history.

★ ★ ★

Jack L. Warner told a Warner Bros. sales convention Wednesday that the studio plans to produce 34 movies through 1960. He said the total cost will be about 85 million dollars.

★ ★ ★

He said the studio will stress story values and the development of new stars to supplement the appeal of established film personalities.

Lyle H. Brown Named Chief of City Legion Post

Lyle H. Brown, 37, of 4820 Oak Vista Ave., Drayton Plains, has been elected commander of Chief Pontiac Post No. 377 of the American Legion.

★ ★ ★

Also serving as officers are Richard West, chaplain; Donald C. Richmond, historian, and Marshall F. Carter, judge advocate. Carter was commander for the 1958-59 year.

Brown is employed as a member of the engineering staff of the General Motors Technical Center in Warren. He is married and the father of two children, a boy, 7, and a 10-month-old daughter.

He joined the Chief Pontiac Post in 1957 and served as adjutant the past year.

Royal Oak Mall Bill Set for OK

Senate Ready to Pass Measure Paving Way for Financing

A bill paving the way for Royal Oak's proposed $2,610,000 downtown shopping center was ready for a passage vote in the Senate in Lansing today.

State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains) accepted an amendment to the bill which would make it acceptable, he said, to both out-state and metropolitan interests.

As it now stands, the legislation is free of a Senate committee amendment opposed by Lodge and other backers, but carries one offered by Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit).

Ryan's amendment was offered as a compromise to gain sufficient support for passage, Lodge said.

Basically, the bill permits the city to issue special assessment bonds to retire $220,000 in outstanding revenue bonds sold to finance existing off-street parking facilities.

Ryan inserted language to limit the special assessment to downtown property owners who would benefit directly from the project.

Lodge said this limitation was "unobjectionable."

At Lodge's suggestion, the Senate earlier had stricken an amendment that would have required two-thirds approval of the refinancing plans by affected property owners.

Lodge said this arrangement would have been "unwieldy, effectively stymying the carrying out of the plan."

Proponents of the plan want to make all downtown municipal parking free. They propose to triple the parking system to provide stalls for 3,400 vehicles.

The new parking system would encircle a downtown shopping mall along Washington avenue, which would be converted into a landscaped plaza.

Plastic Mattress Cover Kills Colorado Baby

DERBY, Colo. (AP)—The baby had drawn the plastic bag to her mouth when Mrs. Frank Guerrero looked in on the infant's nap Wednesday. She smoothed the plastic and tiptoed out.

When she returned the next time, 6-month-old Frances Cecelia Guerrero was dead. She had worked her head into the bag and suffocated.

Mrs. Guerrero was using the plastic as a liner for the child's mattress.

Hollywood Headlines

Calls Latest Oriental Star Chinese Anna Magnani

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

APACHE TRAIL, Ariz. (AP)—While a host of film makers sweated in the Arizona sun, one member of the movie company remained fresh as a lotus flower.

Her name is Lisa Lu, and she has the feminine lead opposite James Stewart in "The Mountain Road." Her lovely face remained unflushed under her broad coolie hat. She viewed the trek of extras up a desert canyon with oriental placidity.

★ ★ ★

"Don't let that coolness fool you," warned director Danny Mann. "She's a Chinese Magnani," he said, comparing her to Italy's fiery Anna Magnani.

Only that praise brought a blush to Lisa's cheeks.

"The hardest thing for me to do when I started learning to act was to let myself go," she said. "It is entirely against our nature. All Chinese children—and Japanese, too—are taught from early childhood to restrain their emotions. It was very difficult for me to learn to shout and be angry."

But she learned, and now she is the latest addition to Hollywood's growing list of oriental leading women.

It has been a long pull for Lisa, who wanted to be an actress since her early years in China. Even though her mother was an actress in the classical theater, her parents would not allow her to take roles that were offered her.

She came out of China in 1947 and settled in Honolulu, where she became a newspaper librarian and covered Chinese society. But the yen to act still was strong.

It remained after she came to the mainland to teach Mandarin at the Army Language School at Monterey, where her husband, Shelling Hwong, was also an instructor. She had met director advice about her ambitions. His reply: study.

So she enrolled at Pasadena Playhouse and started learning how to doff her native reticence. She drew small parts in "China Doll" and "One-eyed Jacks." She had a brief but important scene with Maron Brando in the latter.

The future? She doesn't know. "Being Chinese is both an advantage and a disadvantage for an actress," she said realistically. "There is less competition for roles, but there are fewer roles."

Electric Heating Units for Car Seats on Way

NEW YORK (UPI) — Auto makers should keep close tabs on the progress of one William Pickles, British inventor who recently gave the world "heating for seating."

British Information Service, which credits Pickles with successfully installing electric blanket-type heating units in couches and chairs, discloses the inventor is now hard at work on similar units for auto seat covers.

Total Control of A-Tests Out

Ike States Perfect System Not Possible in Detection Field

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said the United States would be foolish to expect any nuclear test control system to work 100 per cent.

The statement was in reply to a question at his news conference yesterday as to wether he believed scientific findings on test concealment made it unsafe to sign an agreemnt with the Russians.

A committee of scientists appointed by Eisenhower's scientific adviser, Dr. James Killian, has reported that it would be possible to muffle a 10-kiloton underground nuclear explosion, for instance, so that it would show on detection instruments as a one-kiloton blast.

The committee, headed by Dr. Fall showed that detection of any blast under 5 kilotons is much more difficult than originally believed.

However, Eisenhower said new techniques makes the possibility of detecting clandestine explosions very much better. In fact, he said, progress in detection has progressed at an equal rate with advancement in concealment methods.

Techniques must be perfected to minimize the risk involved in such a system to the greatest degree possible, he said.

Will Use Rail Ticket After 52-Year Wait

Smith paid the 15-cent fare for the five-mile trip from Estill Springs to Decherd, Tenn., on June 24, 1907 but didnt make the journey.

Arrangements have been made for the Louisville & Nashville's Dixie Flyer to make an unscheduled stop Wednesday at Estill Springs to take on Smith as a passenger. Smith said the conductor has been instructed to honor the old ticket, which at current prices would cost 25 cents.

Ice Cream Gets Around

NEW YORK (UPI)—Corner drug stores and soda fountains no longer have the bulk of the ice cream trade, according to the New York State Food Extension Service. Supermarkets, groceries, delicatessens and other food stores now account for about half of the total ice cream sales.

Dodgers Win Twi-Night Doubleheader

Milwaukee Losing NL Hold

By The Associated Press

What's with the Milwaukee Braves

They've lost 10 of their last 15 and have been shut out three times in the last five games. Is this the beginning of the end to their hold on the National League pennant — or is this just another of those slumps, such as they had and shrugged off while winning the flag the past two years?

★ ★ ★

Either way, they have only a half-game edge left from what was a bulging, 4½-game lead a month ago after dropping a twi-night doubleheader at Los Angeles last night. They were checked on five hits by left-hander Sandy Koufax while losing the opener 10-2, then were blanked on two hits by Danny McDevitt, another lefty, as the Dodgers took the second game 4-0.

★ ★ ★

That put second place San Francisco, a 7-5 winner over Cincinnati, just one game behind in the "lost" column and within .009 percentage points of the champs. The sweep hoisted the Dodgers into fourth place, one percentage point behind Pittsburgh following the Pirates' 5-2 loss to the Chicago Cubs. Both the Dodgers and Bucs are only 2½ games from the top.

St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 10-4 in the other NL game.

The Braves lost behind their best pitchers in this present skid, with Lew Burdette dropping two, Bob Rush three and Bob Buhl one. And in last night's opener, southpaw ace Warren Spahn failed to finish a five-run first inning for his third defeat in his last four decisions.

Spahn (8-8) retired just one man. He left after giving up Junior Gilliam's leadoff homer and a three-run triple by rookie Frank Howard. Spahnie, is 0-3 against Los Angeles this season and has lost four of five decisions in three years under a jinx that has produced only a 14-28 lifetime mark against the Dodgers.

The Braves, getting a first game home run from Johnny Logan against Koufax (3-1), who gained his first complete game while beating Milwaukee a second time this year, had only a pair of singles by Hank Aaron in the nightcap. McDevitt (5-6), walked three, struck out two.

The Giants broke a 2-2 tie with five runs in the sixth against Orlando Pena (3-5) on three singles, one a two-run smack by Willie Kirkland, three walks and an error. Johnny Antonelli won his 10th, but needed help in the eighth from Sam Jones.

Cal Neeman, who singled and scored the tying run in the seventh for the Cubs, hit a three-run, inside-the-park homer in the eighth to beat Pirate southpaw Harvey Haddix (4-5), who has lost four to Chicago. Bill Henry (5-3) won it in relief.

The Cards made it nine out of 11 with Ray Jablonski and Bill White each driving in three runs. A five-run fifth put it away against reliever Humberto Robinson (1-1) while lefty Marshall Bridges held the Phils to five hits and one run for a winning, 5 1-3-inning relief job in his major league debut.

HAPPY BIRDS — Milt Pappas (left), Chico Carrasquel and Gus Triandos are a trio of happy birds. They stopped the high flying Detroit Tigers last night, 4-0. Pappas pitched a 2-hitter while Carrasquel and Triandos added homers hit off Jim Bunning. It was the first Major League shutout for Pappas.

Former Detroit Cooley Hurler Allows Two Hits

Bunning Again Rapped With Pair of Oriole Home Runs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Just when the Detroit Tigers got their sights trained on second place, along came a skinny 20-year-old who learned his baseball in their backyard.

The Tigers' front office won't admit that its scouts missed on Pappas, but there's no denying the Tigers' hitters missed him in Memorial Stadium. The bubble-gum chewing righthander struck out six batters and did not permit a runner to get as far as second base.

Pappas, hiking his record to 6-3 and squaring his lifetime mark against his hometown team at 2-2, started in perfect game style. He retired the first 14 batters before Lou Berberet scratched a fifth inning single off the glove of shortstop Chico Carrasquel.

The kid from Detroit's Cooley High School also gave up a seventh inning single to Jim Bunning. No other Tiger batter reached base. Pappas finished as strongly as he began, setting down in order the last 11 men.

Detroit's defeat, although only the third in the club's last 13 games, came at an inopportune time. The Tigers knew when they took the field they could tie for second place by winning, since Chicago had lost to New York in an afternoon game.

As it now stands, the first five teams are crammed sardine-style in the American League standings.

Bunning, lifted after seven innings, pitched creditably. But the gopher ball trouble that plagues the lean righthander every time he walks to the mound got him in hot water again.

Losing for the sixth time against the same number of victories, Bunning retired the first 13 men before catcher Gus Triandos slammed a tremendous home run well over 400 feet. Later in the fifth inning, the light-hitting Carrasquel cracked a home run over the left field fence.

The Orioles scored twice in the seventh, Gene Woodling driving across one run with a booming triple off the scoreboard. Third baseman Eddie Yost made a wild throw on a double play grounder and let in the final run.

The Tigers move on to Washington for a four-game stand against the Senators, starting with a night game Friday. A Saturday afternoon game and a doubleheader Sunday conclude the road trip. The Tigers open a two-week home stand Tuesday night against Boston.

5 Horses Die in Stable Fire

TORONTO (AP)—At least five racehorses were burned to death Wednesday night and dozens of others stampeded to safety when flames swept the stables at old Woodbine Race Track.

★ ★ ★

Track officials said approximately 200 horses, the overflow from new Woodbine track in suburban Malton, were stabled at old Woodbine when the blaze broke out.

The 200 horses were worth more than $600,000.

3 Sophs in Semis of Golf Tourney

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Three teenaged sophomores and a 21-year-old senior, none of whom has played in the tournament before, formed the semifinal group today in the Women's National Collegiate golf championship.

Medalist Mary Mills, 19, who has survived three days of upsets, was to meet 18-year-old Judy Eller in the first match with Julie Hull, 19, engaging Wanda Sowell in the second.

Miss Sowell, University of Texas student from Tyler, Tex., is the senior in the group.

Miss Hull, representing Purdue, is from Anderson, Ind., Miss Eller, daughter of an old Hickory, Tenn., golf pro, is carrying the University of Miami (Fla.) banner and Miss Mills, from Gulfport, Miss., attends Millsaps College at Jackson, Miss.

Vie for Tennis Title

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Top-seeded Bill Lenoir, a wiry 5-9 blond from Tucson, Ariz., and second-seeded John Karabasz, a 6-3, 190-pounder from Coral Gables, Fla. clash today for the National Scholastic tennis championship.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Wiffi Smith, the freckled red-head who still likes to call St. Clair Shores her home, was taking a "vacation" from the LPGA circuit during the USGA Open at Mamaroneck last weekend.

"Decided to take a week off and maybe get a pointer or two here at Winged Foot," she said in a visit to the Press tent.

"I think I have over-played a little and figure I should relax a little before our own Open at Churchill Valley in Pittsburgh," she added.

"And how's everything in Michigan?" she asked local writers staffing the Open. "Sure would like to play a tournament back there as least once during the tour, but I understand we can't get a site for the Wolverine Open."

Wiffi is no longer the pudgy little teenager who was queen of Michigan golf for a few years.

"Maybe something could be arranged for a $25,000 or $30,000 tournament in Michigan for the lady pros," jested one of the writers.

"Of course we would need time to consider it," she said, "at least ten seconds."

"I see the men will be out your way in the National Open in a couple years," she continued, "and if you guys in Pontiac are going to have a city celebration, there's a good chance to set up a tourney for the lady pros."

Of course what Wiffi was hinting at was something for the women similar to the Warwick Hills Buick tournament in a couple weeks.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

A persistent writer wants to know why The Press sports pages use the runs-batted-in column, designated as "BI" in Major League box scores. He is opposed to it and says he would rather use only the three columns for AB, R and H.

The Press box scores are Associated Press style. Papers which do not carry the BI column are not conforming to AP style.

A PERSONAL COMMENT:

The Bloomfield Hills Hunt Club Horse Show, which takes place next week, is one of the largest events of its kind in the country from the standpoint of name riders and prizes, yet it falls far short of its potential in publicity and spectator interest.

The competitive angle closer to the realm of athletics need be stressed more, and the first step in all events where animals are involved would be to eliminate the word "show", which has become strictly a social and not sports term.

City Best Ball Tourney Saturday

The 1959 edition of Pontiac's annual City Best Ball golf tournament will be held this Saturday over an 18-hole route at Municipal golf course.

Several strong two-man teams are entered in the event, which gets under way at 12 noon.

Among the leading entries are Dick Robertson and Charley Barker, Glenn Harding and Dick DeWitt, Andy Lindsay and Euell Smith and the team of Bob and Joe Gaines.

Other tandems worthy of title consideration are Bob Isgrigg and Rube Wideman, Jack Reynolds and Gary Looney, Jim Pettiford and Rufus Anderson and the Burton brothers, Avery and Columbus.

The defending champions are Paul Bada and Ed Wasik and they are expected to return for the tourney, although they are not yet entered officially.

Mike Andonian, three-time Michigan Publinx champion, is also expected to register for the event. Who his partner will be is still uncertain, but Ron Rothbarth looks like a good candidate.

Saturday's best-ball competition inaugurates the 1959 calendar of city golf events at Municipal course. Next on the summer program will be the Mixed Two-Ball Foursome tournament July 11.

★ ★ ★

Post entries will be accepted for the best-ball tourney this weekend, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced. The Recreation department hopes to have upwards of 30 teams competing.

Ramblers, All-Stars Play Benefit Match

The Michigan Epileptic Society will be the beneficiary of funds from an interesting polo match, Saturday at 2 p.m. at Walnut Ridge Polo club's field at Roy's Ranch, 7571 Walnut Lake Rd. just east of Hagerty Rd.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham Ramblers, composed of Ben Levenston at No. 1, Gwen Brown, No. 2, and the state's only active woman poloist, Phyllis Kohlmeier at No. 3, will oppose the All-Stars, with Ben's 14-year-old son, Franklin, at No. 1 Howie Miller, fine young Rochester rider and his dad, Gordie Miller, at No. 2 and No. 3, respectively. Mr. Miller will alternate with Leonard Foley of Berkley.

★ ★ ★

Big Fleet Coming for Invitational

Pontiac Yacht club will be host Saturday and Sunday for the two-day second annual invitational lightning invitational regatta, at Cass Lake. Between 35 and 50 speedy craft are expected. It was expected that some 25 or so outstanding Michigan skippers would be on hand.

Program calls for three races, one Saturday afternoon, and a morning and afternoon race, Sunday.

Visiting skippers will be guests at dinner at the club, Saturday night, and the club will have one of its renowned pot-luck picnics on Sunday.

General chairman for the regatta is rear-commodore Fred Prince. Club commodore this year is Fred Sage.

Two-Way Tie for Legion Lead

Second Wins Posted by Birmingham and Southfield

Gary Van Geison flipped a 3-hitter in Birmingham's 4-3 win over Clawson. Southfield nipped Troy 2-1 with all the runs scoring on errors and Milford and Royal Oak battled to a 2-2 tie in Wednesday's action.

Rod Ruddy swung the big bat for Birmingham again. His 3-run home run and single accounted for the runs giving him seven rbis in two games. Clawson had a 3-1 lead on unearned markers before Ruddy cleared the fence.

Tom Ridley paced Southfield again. His long fly was dropped allowing one run to score. He later singled and scored on a wild throw. Dave Newsome was the winner.

Milford kicked away a 2-0 lead making most of its eight errors in the last two frames. Bob Scheuring, who allowed just two hits, had a one-hit shutout until the 6th. Darkness halted play after seven.

Render's Home Run Triggers 6-1 Win

A four-run first inning, highlighted by Harvey Render's home run over the fence with a teammate aboard, sent Sno-Bol on its way to a 6-1 victory over Lakeland Pharmacy in Waterford League softball activity last night at Drayton Plains. Dale Badder was the winning pitcher on a three-hit chore.

★ ★ ★

Harry Dearborn's triple and a double by Al Sharrard were the big blows as Nonne's scored four times in the 6th inning to clinch a 7-4 conquest of the Arrows. The big uprising followed a three-run homer by Mickey George in the top of the 6th which tied the score at 4-4.

Title Bout Official

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi of France and Jose Becerra of Mexico formally signed contracts Wednesday for their 15-round title fight July 8 at Los Angeles' new Sports Arena.

Denver Seeking Basilio-Fullmer

DENVER (AP) — Joe Dupler, Salt Lake City mink rancher and fight promoter, said Wednesday he has offered a $225,000 guarantee for a fight in Denver between Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer for the middleweight title.

Dupler said if the fight is awarded to Denver, it would be held in the Denver Coliseum which seats 12,500.

Doctoring Your Golf

TREATMENT: An exact and resolute approach to the problem is the ticket on those short pitches from just off the green—the ones that differ from a normal chip shot in that you must get the ball up quickly to clear the bank of the green.

The thing to do is to fix in your mind the picture of how the shot will look if played successfully. Pick out the spot on the green where the ball will land. Make it a spot at least eight or ten feet past the edge of the green so as to give yourself ample safety margin. Then picture the bounces and roll that will take the ball up near the cup.

With the picture in mind, approach the shot resolutely. Fix your eyes on the back of the ball and keep them there till the shot is on its way. Hit down and through—crisply.

A general tendency here is to fidget and stay over the ball too long. This sets up tension. Avoid it!

AAU Track Meet May See Numerous Marks

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — World record performances in some of the weight events are shaping up for the National AAU track and field championship here Friday and Saturday.

The entry list has swelled to 445 with 87 teams and clubs represented. Southern California is defending team champ.

The first two finishers in each event will compete on the U.S. team that meets the Russians in Philadelphia July 17-18. The first three finishers will qualify for the U.S. team in the Pan American Games at Chicago Aug. 27-Sept. 7.

Pontiac's Hayes Jones, only double winner in the NCAA championships last week, will meet a select group in hurdles competition.

Jones, a junior at Eastern Michigan, set a world record in the low hurdles with a time of :22.5, but it was not allowed because of wind advantage.

Olympic champion Parry O'Brien defends his AAU title against five of the six men who have tossed the shotput more than 60 feet.

O'Brian heaved the shot 63 feet 8 inches at Pomona, Calif., Tuesday to top his listed world record of 63-2. He made a 64-foot throw in a warmup this year.

Stiff challenges from Dallas Long, Southern California's sensational freshman, and Lt. Bill Nieder, former Big Eight champion from Kansas, are expected to provide the kind of competition O'Brien loves.

Two others who have topped 60 feet are Charlie Butt, former University of California star entered by the Southern California Striders, and Dave Davis, the Southern California ace who won the 1958 NCAA championship.

Marine Al Cantello who set a world javelin record of 282 feet 3½ inches in the Compton, Calif., Relays June 6 will try to dethrone Bud Held, the current AAU champion from the San Francisco Olympic Club. Held's AAU mark is 260-3 but he has recorded a 270-foot throw.

Defending champion Harold Connolly of the Boston Athletic Assn. is rated first in the hammer and he may top the world record of 225 feet 4 inches, which is also the AAU mark he set last year. Connolly has thrown the hammer 226-1½ this season.

Fortune Gordien's discus world record of 194 feet 6 inches looks like one weight mark that will withstand this year's assault. The chief competitors are Rink Babka, former Southern California performer, who has a 190-2 throw this season, and Olympic champion Al Oerter of the New York Athletic Club whose best this year is 184½.

City Boys Given Chance to Enter Softball League

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department will conduct a new softball program this summer for boys 15 years of age and under and 13 years old and under. Competition will be held in classes E and F.

Any group of boys wishing to form a team and enter either of these two leagues — E or F — must contact the Parks and Recreation Department by Thursday, June 25. Each team will be limited to 16 players plus a manager who must be of high school age or older.

All players must live within the Pontiac school district and birth certificates and contracts are among the requirements for the summer program. Each league will be limited to eight teams and they will be accepted on a first come-first serve basis.

Any team wishing to enter this new softball program should file an intent to enter with the Parks and Recreation Department by June 25 at which time a meeting will be held in the Recreation office at 2 p.m.

Hooray for Harvard

CRANSTON, R. I. (AP)—Harvard led Boston University by four points Wednesday at the end of 12 races in the 23rd annual National Intercollegiate Dinghy Championships.

About one in 10 Jacksonville, a., residents owns a pleasure at. About 25,000 craft have been timated here.

350 Entries in Horse Show

With more than 350 horses, some 200 or more riders of top caliber, and an expected attendance of more than last year's 40,000 the 42nd annual Detroit Horse Show appears headed for a record showing next week.

The Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, East Long Lake road, site for the June 23-28 event, regarded as the biggest outdoor hunter, jumper show in the United States, is ready for the 6-day affair.

Mentioning statistics, there is the $15,000 the show has spent for preparation of the jumps; more than 51 kinds of obstacles have been designed for the 450 jumps which have to be put into position and then taken down quickly during the competition.

All of which led show manager Bert McIntire to say that "our jumps are the finest in the country. It has taken 8 to 10 years to build them up to the competitive standards we're determined to have. They are the most interesting and demanding in the entire country."

Facilities for this kind of show, at BOH, are acknowledged to be the best in America.

It was pointed out by Mrs. Susan (E.E.) Fisher, show secretary, that while the BOH jumps conform to Olympic standards, they retain their own individuality, which is both varied and interesting.

Exhibitors this year come from a dozen or more states and from a number of Canadian cities. The metropolitan area, and Michigan boast more than half of them. Oakland County has some 50 or more exhibitors alone.

Among the widely known stables with the largest entries are: Lexington Ky., Man O'War Stables with eight; Ted Marzano's Ten-Pin farm, Palos Park, Ill. with seven; Waverly Farms of Warrenton, Va., with six, and Chicago's George W. Jayne, The Warners of Wayzata Minn., A. J. Long of Cincinnati, and Harold A. Knight of Guelph, Ont., all with five horses. Man O'War, the Warners, are new this year.

Mrs. Robert Haass of Northville, Phillip Monaghan of Bloomfield, Sue and Peter Foley of Birmingham, former show chairman Irving A. Duffy, Bloomfield Hills, the Merrill Bates of Bloomfield, Mrs. E. E. Fisher and Sue Fisher, Johnny Wallace of Northville and the Charles G. Grants of Birmingham are all back again.

Up to today, however, the show's top jumper champion, Charles Dennehy and his great horse, Pill Box, have not been listed. Dennehy, from Wadsworth Ill., said last summer, he would be back for his third title.

Browns Sign Groza

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lou Groza, 35-year-old tackle and star placekicker, has signed a contract to play his 14th season with the Browns when the club was formed here in 1947.

The Browns also announced signing of four new men: halfback Dick LeBeau of Ohio State, end Joe Wenzel of Lehigh; linebacker Ray Reese of Bowling Green, and end John Stillwell of Northwestern who has just completed Marine duty.

Local Golfers Win

2 Share Seniors' Crown

PORT HURON (UPI) — Dr. Donald J. Jaffar, Detroit, and Owen D. Campbell, Ann Arbor, today shared the title in the 29th annual Michigan Senior Golf Association spring tournament, which ended at the Black River Country Club yesterday.

Jaffar, the defending champion, and Campbell had identical 36-hole totals of 154 in the two-day tourney. It was the first time in the 29-year history of the contest that a double-winner was declared.

Clifford Rugg, Pontiac, and C. H. Whitelaw, Bloomfield Hills, tied for third with 156 totals.

The tournament saw another first when a foursome from Detroit all birdied on the par three 153-yard seventh hole. The foursome included Wesley Reid, Jaffar, William F. Streit and Ben Ruhl.

Class winners in the tournament were Robert R. Thomson, Battle Creek, with an 18-hole total of 92 in class A for entrants over 75 years old; George Egan, Dearborn, with a 169 in the 70-74 age class; Ruggs in the 65-69 division; John A. O'Brien, Birmingham, with a 159 in the 60-64 category and Jaffar in the 55-59 age division.

There were 185 entries in the tournament, limited to golfers 55 or more years of age.

Trailing the co-champions, both of whom competed in class E for those 55-59 years of age, were:

Fred Andreae, Port Huron, 81-74—155.
C. H. Whitelaw, Bloomfield Hills, 80-76—156.

A (75 and over)—Robert R. Thomson, Battle Creek, 44-48—92. (Class limited to 9 holes daily.)
B (70-74)—George Egan, Dearborn, 84-85—169.
D (60-64)—John A. O'Brien, Birmingham, 79-80—159.
E (55-59) Jaffar and Cambell.

Knights Down Pirates Early

Home Run by Thomas Decisive as League Leaders Win, 4-3

The pace-setting Knights of Columbus did their damage early and held off the rebounding Pirates in the late innings for a 4-3 Class A City League baseball victory yesterday at Wisner Field.

The Knights scored twice in the second inning on Ernie Zubalik's single, a walk and some costly throwing by Pirate hurler Larry Demrick, who made two wild pitches plus a bad heave.

Don Picman pitched the distance for the Knights and scattered eight hits, two by Bob Lovell. Zubalik made two of the four hits off Demrick, who also hurled the route for the Pirates.

Annual Tourney at Spring Lake Reaches Finals

The two met on the 6,049-yard Spring Lake Country Club course which has a women's par of 37-37—74.

Experience favored Mrs. Edgar Reynolds of Lansing, a southpaw competitor who won the Spring Lake title in 1952 and 1955.

★ ★ ★

Her opponent is Patti Shook, whose golf pro father Lorin Shook had her swinging a club at the age of three. Miss Shook is in the championship flight for the second straight year, this time after winning qualifying medalist honors with an 8-over-par 82.

Grill Reinforces Lead in 'B' Loop

The Grill team wrapped up the decision in the 6th inning, scoring two runs to break a 1-1 deadlock. A hit batsman, error, walk and singles by pinch hitter Roger Rogers and pitcher Jerry Pointer did the damage.

Pointer allowed only three hits, two by Mike Slivensky. Pointer also made two safeties to lead Griff's seven-hit attack against Dick Deschaine.

Whip Chicago Again; Senators Down A's

Yanks Reach .500 Mark

From Our Wire Services

The strong relief pitching of Ryne Duren and Mickey Mantle's 14th home run lifted the 5th place New York Yankees back to the .500 mark yesterday.

Washington tripped Kansas City 7-2 and Baltimore blanked Detroit 4-0 in the only other American League games played. Cleveland and Boston were rained out.

Loser Ray Moore was the victim of Mantle's blast. The blow, which came with two on, capped a five-run 2nd. It landed in the 3rd deck in right field at Yankee Stadium.

Coming in with runners at 1st and 3rd with one out, Duren throttled Chicago by getting Sherm Lollar on a foul pop and Earl Torgeson on strikes after walking Larry Doby to fill the bases. He was in command the rest of the way.

It was Moore's 5th defeat against just one victory. Turley has bowed seven times.

Camilio Pascual, who had lost three in succession and had not won since May 27 despite five consecutive complete games, handed the A's their fourth straight defeat with an eight-hitter.

He fanned eight and was backed by two-run home runs by rookie Bob Allison and Reno Bertoia. It was Allison's 17th and No. 8 for Bertoia boosting the Senators' loop-leading total to 80.

Pascual is now 5-7. Loser Ned Garver is even at 5-5.

Runs 2 Miles in 8:55.2 Time

DUBLIN (AP) — Dyke Benjamin of Harvard ran two miles Wednesday night in 8:55.2 for one of the best performances ever put up by an American over the distance.

★ ★ ★

A combination track and field team from Harvard and Yale was competing against a group of Irish and British athletes.

★ ★ ★

The Americans won five of the nine events. There was no official team score.

Dawkins Feted in Capitol by State Leaders

LANSING (AP)—Peter M. Dawkins, who distinguished himself at West Point, was to be feted in the state capitol today.

Dawkins, son of a Royal Oak dentist, was praised in a resolution adopted by the legislature yesterday for his exploits on the football field, captaining the West Point brigade and winning a Rhodes scholarship.

The athlete and some members of his family were invited to Lansing to lunch with Gov. Williams and legislative leaders. They were to be introduced to the senate and house in the afternoon.

Dawkins last fall was named halfback of the Associated Press All America football team.

Diamond Dust

By CHUCK ABAIR

Several of the 900 boys taking part in the Parks & Recreation junior baseball program are mighty happy this week's games are only for practice purposes.

The wins and losses don't start counting in the standing until next week with Monday the official opening day.

Many of the youngsters, ranging in age from about 10 to 18, are hoping they are getting the errors of both omission and commission out of their systems now.

A good example was yesterday's Lake Orion-Braves Class E contest. When that wild one was over scorekeeper Tom Nichols had totaled 39 miscues for 6½ innings of play. Orion "only" made 16 to win 10-7 featuring homers by Mike Snarey and Jeff Kenyon. There were 22 hits and 20 walks besides the boots.

One member of the Braves was charged with 12 errors. The same club had made 14 the day before as part of a total of 22.

Fred Staley fired a one-hitter as Pontiac Boys Club walloped West Bloomfield 14-1 in "D". B & B Sewer Cleaners, West Side Kiwanis, Dixie Dairy and the Little Eagles were Class F victors.

B & B took only three innings to belt Pontiac Yankees 20-0. The Kiwanians came from behind to outscore the combined Northside All-Stars and Keigley's Wildcats 17-10 in four frames. Mike Bradley, who homered earlier, stole home in the final inning of Dixie's 16-15 win over the Eagles. The Little Eagles romped 22-0 with 16 hits against Don Nicholie.

Ron Coleman's three run homer sparked the Moose to a 7-2 Widget triumph over J & A Engineers. The Eastside Rockets piled up 31 runs on 24 hits while Bob Church got all 15 outs on strikeouts in blanking Weaver in the same loop. He walked four missing a perfect job. Ted Joyce belted three homers and two singles. Auburn Boys Club downed the Senators, 14-9.

Lake Orion tallied three times in the 1st and held on to defeat Union Lake 5-2 and the Atlas Midgets edged Hudson's Dinder 3-1 in other games.

EKTRA INNINGS

Tom Bardsley got hits in his first six times at bat in Junior Legion ball playing for Birmingham . . . City officials say the addition of Sno-Bol of Waterford men's softball play has been a big boost . . . Farmington baseball star Chuck Thomson will move to Minneapolis.

PGA Circuit's Leading Money Pros Entered

Second Annual Tourney July 2-5 at Warwick Hills G&CC

Fifteen tournament winners on the current PGA circuit already have entered the $52,000 Buick Open, it was announced today by Waldo E. McNaught, general tournament chairman.

The second annual Buick Open will be played July 2-5 at Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club in Grand Blanc.

The 15 top golfers have accounted for 21 tournament victories during the 1959 season and include Bill Casper Jr., the new National Open titlist who in addition will defend his Buick Open championship.

Battling to dethrone Casper will be Art Wall Jr., the leading money winner of the year and victor in the Masters, Crosby National and Azalea Open; Gene Littler, also a triple winner with triumphs in the Phoenix, Tucson and Arlington Opens; and double winners Arnie Palmer at the Thunderbird Invitational and Oklahoma City Open, and Don Whitt in the Memphis and Kentucky Derby Opens.

Other champions in the Buick Open field include Sam Snead, in the Snead Festival; Dave Ragan, Eastern Open; Mike Souchak, Tournament of Champions; Paul Harney, Pensacola Open; Bill Collins, New Orleans Open; Howie Johnson, Baton Rouge Open; Wes Ellis Jr., Texas Open; Marty Furgol, San Diego Open; Ernie Vossler, Tijuana Open, and Ken Venturi, Los Angeles Open.

Famous 1934 Team Feted in St. Louis

Gashouse Gang in Uniform Last Night

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Dizzy Dean proved he was as brash today as when he was a member of the Gashouse Gang and showed he never forgot who buttered his bread.

The famous 1934 team had been invited to the festivities honoring them by August A. Busch Jr., owner of the St. Louis Cardinals and also president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

"I'd like to thank my sponsor, the Falstaff Brewing Corporation, whom you might say makes the choicest product of the brewer's art, for being here," Diz said.

A combination of gasps and chuckles from some 18,000 fans followed. They had come to see the Cardinals play the Philadelphia Phillies and to see the Gashouse Gang in uniform once again.

It was a busy night for Diz. He did his famous rendition of the "Wabash Cannon Ball" with the help of a 10-piece "German band" then took to the mound to give a sample of the hurling that made him famous.

Several "fans" showered Medwick with "vegetables," re-enacting the battle of produce row in the 1934 world series. He was removed from the last game of that series because spectators showered him with ripened fruit following his hard slide into Marv Owen who was playing third base. The Cards won that game 11-0 and took the series from Detroit four games to three.

But instead of being removed from the "game" tonight, Medwick was allowed to bat. He lined one off Dean 350 feet, just foul of a home run.

Others of that famous team of 25 years ago who were on hand were Dean's brother, Paul, coach Buzzy Ware, Jesse Haines, Tex Carleton, Jim Mooney, Bill Hallahan and Bill Walker; catcher Virgil (Spud) Davis and outfielder Ernie Orsatti.

Shortstop Leo Durocher was not able to attend because he was recovering from minor surgery in the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

Three other members, outfielder Chick Fullis and catchers Bill Delancy and Frank Healy are dead and four others were unable to attend.

Oklahoma State Battles Arizona for NCAA Title

OMAHA (AP)—Oklahoma State and Arizona meet tonight in the championship game of the NCA college baseball world series with each seeking a first title. The game starts at 9 p.m. EST.

Oklahoma State moved into the championship game via a 4-0 win over Fresno State last night. Four hit pitching ry Ray Peterson and a home run by Jim Dobson did the job for State.

Both Arizona and Oklahoma State have won three and lost one in the double elimination tourney. State's loss was to Arizona, 5-3, on Monday and Arizona's defeat was a 2-0 whitewashing by Fresno State Tuesday.

Swedish Boxer Takes It Easy While in Camp

Unbeaten European Has Only 3 More Workouts Before Title Fight

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP) — Is Ingemar Johansson a bum or is he holding back in training?

The chances are the question won't be answered until the night of June 25 when the Swedish challenger steps into the ring against world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson at Yankee Stadium.

The unbeaten European champion has only three more boxing workouts left. He plans to box late again today, on Friday and Saturday. After that just light loosening up exercises.

His workout Wednesday was a typical one for the solidly built 26-year-old from Goteborg. He showed a snappy, and sometimes stiff left jab against three regular sparmates and his brother, middleweight Rolf. The touted right again was used sparingly and once more without power.

Walcott liked Johansson's aggressiveness, his jab, his ability to cover up, and said he didn't think it mattered whether the challenger used his right hand often in training.

Braddock and Lesnevich both noted a major defect in Ingo's defense. The six footer has a tendency to drop his left hand after he jabs with it. That leaves his jaw uncovered.

When the inevitable question about his failure to use his right hand power came up, Ingemar turned to Walcott.

"You know, Joe," said Johansson, "it only takes one punch to do it. When I throw my right hand I cannot see the opening. I do it instinctively. First I am doing else to set up the opening and then I let go—poof."

Sign With Senators

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP)- Centerfielder Doug Hoffman and shortstop Larry Bagwell of Atlantic Coast Conference champion Clemson College have signed contracts with the Washington Senators. They are to report next week to Sanford, Fla. of the Class D Florida State League.

Mazur Beats Grant, 1-0

It was Jake Mazur over Lynus Grant in a stirring pitchers duel last night as Stadium Inn gained a 1-0 victory over Elks No. 810 to highlight City League softball action at Beaudette and Northside parks.

★ ★ ★

Mazur allowed only two hits while fanning seven. Grant was touched for seven safeties, two in the 4th inning when Stadium tallied the game's lone run on a double by Jim Bird and Ray White's single.

★ ★ ★

The Lakeside Royals got off to a 3-0 first inning lead and hung on to defeat Casa Mia, 4-3, with Perc McConner gaining the mound decision over Roger Reynolds.

Another mound battle saw Moose Lodge 182 pick up a 2-1 verdict over Harrison's Grill behind the two-hit hurling of Bill Ryan. Roger Voorheis permitted six hits in defeat.

★ ★ ★

Blue Star collected 10 hits, two of them home runs by Vern Cork, on the way to a 9-2 rout of Huron Bowl. Cork homered in the 5th and 7th innings, the latter coming with a man aboard.

Prep Mound Star Signed by Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves Wednesday signed an 18-year-old southpaw who had nine no-hitters in high school and American Legion baseball.

★ ★ ★

Dennis Overby of Chetek, Wis., was signed by scout Eddie Dancisak to a contract with the Braves' Sacramento farm in the Pacific Coast League. He was optioned to McCook in the Class D Nebraska State League.

★ ★ ★

City Must Show Interest, Says IOC Member

Detroit 'Never Had a Chance' for Olympics

DETROIT (AP)—If the city of Detroit ever expects to secure the Olympic games, it must build a stadium and show the International Olympic Committee a tangible interest in the event.

That is the opinion of Doug Roby, the sole vice president of the United States Olympic Committee and a member of the IOC.

Although a Detroiter, Roby says the city "never had a chance" in the recent voting at Munich when the IOC awarded the 1964 Olympic games to Tokyo.

"Detroit has been seeking the games for 20 years," Roby explained, "but to date nothing tangible has been constructed. We have gone there with a lot of talk, and some plans on paper. That is not enough.

"The Olympic games are only a two-week festival. If the facilities were needed only for those games it would be silly to build them. The fact is that a 100,000-seat stadium here — on the proposed state fairgrounds site—could be used for Detroit Tiger baseball and Detroit Lion football.

"The stadium could be a city in itself, with shops, restaurants and things like bowling alleys in the understructure. Tokyo went out and did what Detroit promised it would do. That's the difference."

Other things that worked against Detroit were the way this country kicked around the 1959 Pan-American games, switching them from Cleveland to Chicago, and the early haphazard operations in preparing for the Winter Olympics next year at Squaw Valley, Calif.

"The Pan-American games countries had seven votes in Munich and our difficulty in preparing for those games cost us votes," said Roby.

"The Squaw Valley thing threatened to become a political football. They're over the hump now, because of 11 million dollars in grants. But before that, for three years it was touch and go whether they could do the job, and whether they could do it in time. That hurt, too, in the final IOC voting."

On the other hand, Tokyo put forth a spirited and dignified effort to get the 1964 Olympic games, Roby added.

"The entire nation is behind it," he explained. "They built a beautiful stadium, a fine swim stadium and put out over a million dollars in promotion. They had a fine showcase when the Asian games were staged there in May 1958. Thirty-two members of the IOC were present for those games and could not help but be impressed not only with the facilities, but also with the manner in which the games were organized.

"There is enthusiasm and interest from the Emperor of Japan on down—real salesmanship—and the governor of Tokyo is a member of the IOC. Another factor was that the Olympic games never have been staged in Asia, our largest continent. I'm most anxious to see the games come to Detroit, but I must admit that Tokyo did a far better job this time.

"Detroit has a chance in 1968 and 1972 but it must get its house in order; show some real, concrete enthusiasm and prove that it is prepared for the thing."

Fleet of Hydros in Detroit Race

Annual July 4 Regatta to Feature West Coast Entries

DETROIT (AP) — A formidable fleet of hydroplanes from the West Coast will compete with Detroit entries July 4 in the 13th annual Detroit Memorial regatta.

Seattle is scheduled to send Miss Thriftway, Maverick, Miss Bardahl and Facination. Regatta officials said Miss Pay-N-Save and Hawaii Kai, winner of last year's Gold Cup, may also be among the Seattle entries.

★ ★ ★

Competing from Detroit will be Gae V, Gale VI, Miss U.S., such Crust III and Miss Detroit.

Cuban Boxer Called 'New Kid Gavilan'

MIAMI BEACH, Fa. (AP) — Cubans in the Miami area today hailed what they called "the new Kid Gavilan" in the person of Luis Manuel Rodriguez, a lanky, fast-punching youngster from Camaguey.

Rodriguez soundly whipped former welterweight champion Virgil Akins of St. Louis in a 10-round nationally-televised fight last night and made a solid impression in his first appearance in this country.

Kid Gavilan ruled the welterweight division from 1952 to 1954 and Rodriguez, 22-years-old, hopes to follow. The young Cuban is unbeaten in 22 fights and operates much on the order of the speedy Gavilan.

ing basketball star at Georgia Tech. In his first game as a freshman he tallied 30 points.

Retiring GM Executive Critical

Auto Paints Fail to Do Full Job

By JACK VANDERBERG

DETROIT (UPI) — Today's modern new automotive finishes still are not doing fully the job paint was intended to do for a car, a retiring General Motors Corp. executive said today.

★ ★ ★

In an exclusive interview Ralph J. Wirshing said the acrylic lacquers used today on GM cars and the enamels used on competitors' cars are a big improvement over the varnishes used when cars first appeared on the roads about a half century ago.

But he said chemical engineers still have to solve the problem of protecting the metal from which a car is built—the original purpose of painting a car.

Wirshing acknowledged that paint also was intended to beautify a car but he said the prevention of rust was the major reason for putting a finish on a car.

Although he was hesitant about making any definite predictions about the future, Wirshing said he was sure there would be improvements in automotive paints which would go a long way toward preventing body rusting.

With developments coming at an increasing rate it would be impossible to predict how soon these improvements will come. However, he said.

The trouble with all paints today is that the thin film which covers the metal body of a car can be broken, he said. This allows moisture to get at the body and rusting takes place.

The ideal paint, if it is ever developed, will withstand the abrasion a car finish gets from stones thrown up from the road and won't chip off when one surface comes into contact with another, he said. As long as moisture can't get at a metal surface it won't rust—and that's the ideal of those working on new finishes for cars.

Wirshing, however, did not mean to be critical of the progress that has been made in developing new automobile finishes in the last half century.

Far from it.

He was part of the progress that was made during that period and is proud of the part he played in it.

When he retires June 30, Wirshing will have completed almost 41 years of technological revolution in automotive finishes.

Since he joined General Motors in 1918 as a member of the "Boss Kettering group," he has seen automotive finishes progress from hand varnishing, through introduction of Duco quick drying lacquers in 1923 to today's high gloss finishes of acrylic lacquer and enamel, both of which are much more resistant to cracking and peeling than were the early finishes.

But Wirshing has the mind of a true scientist. He is never satisfied with what has been done but wants to continue pushing ahead toward an ideal—in this case, a paint which will prevent all rusting on the body of a car.

In his efforts to improve paints on cars, Wirshing has made two noteworthy contributions. He established the first "outdoor" laboratory for testing paints on a roof-top in Miami, Fla., a laboratory which has grown until it now covers 10 acres. He also established GM's "parking lot patrol," a group which goes around to parking lots inspecting finishes on cars to see what is happening to them.

Most of his other contributions are hidden in the records of various technical societies and associations to which he belongs . . . or in memos to GM divisions and suppliers or in reports from the outdoor laboratory.

Hasn't Met Mao, Nikita

India's Red Embarrassed

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

He has never met such party dignitaries as Nikita Khrushchev, Mao Tse-tung or Chow En-lai, whom Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru counts among his friends.

"Of course," he says, "I have seen them."

He was especially irked by an article in the official Soviet magazine New Times which said that India now is "taking the path of socialism by peaceful methods — that path has been advocated for many years by Jawaharlal Nehru."

As leader of Indian Communism, Ghosh has had to undergo more than one embarrassment. He made no attempt to defend Soviet brutality in crushing the Hungarian revolt. Instead, he deplored it in terms stronger than Nehru's.

Especially embarrassing and almost reducing him to silence was Red China's crushing of the revolt in Tibet.

Socialist and Congress Party leaders have seized upon Communist attempts to gain control of private schools to launch a passive resistance campaign whose ultimate goal is to force the Communist government's resignation. It has Nehru's sympathy if not approval.

Communist Party figures for India never have been published but are believed to run anywhere from 60,000 to 100,000.

But with this small core they were able to capture 27 seats in the parliamentary elections of 1957 and to become the largest and most vocal opposition group.

Nor have the aims of Indian Communism ever been very clearly defined beyond the general terms of land for the landless, nationalization of large industries, confiscation of foreign business interests and severance of ties with the British Commonwealth.

In recent years it has modified its policy of violence and sabotage which prior to 1950 bordered on open revolt.

But while small in numbers, the Communists have been a consistent thorn in the flesh of Nehru's Congress Party and their gains have forced Congress Party leaders to assess their own weaknesses.

Two White Men Held in Negro Woman's Rape

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—Prosecuting Atty. Lawson E. Glover said two white men had been charged Wednesday with raping a 21-year-old Negro.

He identified the two as Ben Sanders, 26, of Ferndale, and Bobby Burnett, 21, of Little Rock, and said both had admitted the attack.

The two picked up the young woman Saturday at her home in Little Rock on the pretense of having her baby sit, then drove to Burnett's car to a nearby side road, where the alleged rape took place, Glover said.

The young woman said she had caught a ride to Little Rock later and notified the sheriff's office.

ROBERT E. MILLER

Birmingham Man Joins Realty Firm

Robert E. Miller, 4097 Reduth Ct., Birmingham, has joined Partridge and Associates, realtors, 1050 W. Huron St., as sales manager.

Miller attended Andover and Dean academy and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1934 with a degree in business administration.

He was a major in the Air Force and a graduate of the command and staff school.

Miller was central western manager for a national manufacturer of air conditioning equipment, and then became the Michigan representative for Lycoming - Spencer (airplane engines, steel boilers).

He also served with the Howard T. Keating Co., Bill Schuele Realty in Florida and was vice president of the Klem Construction Company.

Travel Service Here Appointed Aquarama Agent

Pontiac Travel Service, 698 W. Huron St., has been appointed as an Aquarama Agency for 1959, manager Russel Gustafson announced today.

"This office will handle all ticket sales in this area for Aquarama cruises out of Detroit, including group and family trips," said Gustafson.

The giant luxury liner begins its Detroit to Cleveland cruise season June 25. Thursday through Saturday each week until Sept. 5, it will leave for Cleveland at 9:30 a.m. from its Detroit dock at the foot of W. Grand boulevard.

Business Notes

William Bronsing, 1169 N. Woodward Ave., Birmingham, has been appointed vice president of administration for Data Processing Institute, Inc. in Detroit.

With 20 years experience in all phases of selling, Bronsing was head of the Vacant Land Department for the Benjamin & Stevens Real Estate Co. prior to joining DPI, an IBM processing and tabulating school.

Alois Vincler, 8550 Golfside Dr., Commerce, manager of Metropolitan Life Insurance in Pontiac, has been elected secretary-treasurer in the Michigan Life Agency Management Association.

Stock Market Continues Rally

Key stocks advanced from fractions to about a point.

Prices were higher from the outset in a resumption of yesterday's recovery move which came after three straight days of quiet decline. Wall Street technicians said the market apparently had "tested" the lows of June 9 and bounced up.

Steels improved their gains of yesterday when they inspired the market to a broad rally. U.S. Steel rose about a point. Fractional gains were scored by such leaders as Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin.

American Motors was exceptionally active, gaining about a point. Chrysler had a similar rise. Ford and General Motors were up fractionally.

Rye Weakens, Others Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—Rye futures were weak but other grains and soybeans were steady to only slightly easier in initial transactions today on the Board of Trade.

Brokers said there appeared to be a little more hedge selling in wheat but that other grains eased on scattered liquidation with offerings fairly well accepted all around.

A BROTHER'S LOVE — Tears of joy and shock roll down the face of Larry Spitz, 12, of Pueblo, Colo. as he comforts his sister, Laura Lee, 11, after she was nearly drowned in the municipal pool. She was rescued from the pool by lifeguards and revived.

GOP Wants Delay on Strauss Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) —Republicans appeared confident today of putting off a showdown vote on Lewis L. Strauss until they can muster their maximum strength next week.

★ ★ ★

They failed to get an agreement however, on the time of the vote on Strauss' confirmation as secretary of commerce. A sometimes angry Senate session lasted until four minutes after midnight, with part of the time devoted to other matters.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), pressing for a vote this week, blocked the proposed unanimous consent requested by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader. Dirksen's plan called for a vote Monday.

Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo) blocked a unanimous consent agreement proposed by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex), the majority leader, contemplating a vote on the nomination some time Friday.

Mitted Brigitte Storms, Weeps at Wedding

PARIS (AP) — Brigitte Bardot and Jacques Charrier were married at the town hall of suburban Louveciennes this morning by a nervous mayor.

Charrier said Tuesday they had already been married. Anne-Marie Bardot, Brigitte's mother, confirmed that Wednesday. But both refused to be specific about where or when the ceremony had been held and no one was able to find a record of the event.

When the wedding party arrived at the little Town Hall, members rushed up the stairs to the wedding hall. Attendants tried to close the door, but the push from photographers was too great.

Brigitte refused to permit photos. The argument grew violent and there was a brief scuffle. Brigitte and other members of the party stalked out to another room, where she broke down in sobs.

Brigitte's father heatedly accused the mayor of failing to have enough police on hand and said he wouldn't permit the ceremony to go on under such conditions. He got ready to leave.

Maine Man Observes Quiet 105th Birthday

STARKS, Maine (AP)—Barlow D. Nichols treated Wednesday like any other day, but his family noted it was his 105th birthday.

The family said he isn't allowed much excitement now, in contrast to his life when he was a cook for the mule trains supplying the gold fields in the Dakotas in the 1870's.

Woman Juror Winks When Liberace Wins

By DENNIS NEELD

LONDON (AP)—A gray-haired woman member of the jury that awarded Liberace libel damages of 8,000 pounds—$22,400—against a British newspaper turned up at his hotel afterward and told newsmen she thought he was wonderful — "a real smasher."

Three minutes before the high court verdict was announced Wednesday, the woman, Mrs. Jean Friend, 49, had given the American piano player a broad wink to tip him off that he had won his suit against the Daily Mirror.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Friend's wink came as the court reassembled to hear the verdict. The jury was out 3 hours and 22 minutes.

Liberace, wearing a subdued dark gray suit and a patterned gray silk tie, swept in with his entourage. He was mopping his brow with a monogrammed handkerchief.

She smiled, winked and nodded. Then she mouthed silently: "It's all right." Murmurs of "He's won" ran through the courtroom.

Three tense minutes ticked by before the official announcement that the jury had found that a column in the tabloid Daily Mirror by William N. Connor had implied Liberace was homosexual.

Liberace announced he was "delighted my reputation has been vindicated."

The Mirror announced it will file an appeal. It devoted three full pages to a factual report of the verdict, including a photograph of a smiling Liberace. But there was no editorial comment. There was also no mention of Mrs. Friend.

★ ★ ★

After the verdict Liberace hurried through a throng of women fans, some of whom cried, "Well done." He was driven to the nearby Savoy Hotel and immediately telephoned the good news to his mother in California.

Downstairs in the Savoy grill Mrs. Friend and two companions were having tea.

Mrs. Friend declared: "Of course I didn't let my feelings prejudice me while I was sitting on the jury."

At Chiswick Liberace told a cheering audience: "It has been said many times, ladies and gentlemen, that English justice is the fairest in the world. I am absolutely convinced of that now."

Sweden May Buy Mackinac Ferry

LANSING (AP) — A Swedish transportation official has told the State Highway Department his government as well as several Swedish companies might be interested in buying the queen of the Mackinac Straits ferry fleet, the Vacationland.

The official, Arne Sjoberg, was in Lansing to observe operations of the Highway Department. He is head of the Finance and Economic Research Division of the Swedish State Railways Board.

Sjoberg told Alfred H. Lawrence, Highway Department finance chief, that the Vacationland would fit in well with marine operations along the Scandinavian coast. Lawrence gave him a brochure on the vessel to take back to Sweden.

The 345-foot diesel-operated Vacationland was acquired in 1952 at a cost of $4,745,000. It is the only member of the five-ferry Straits fleet not to be sold as surplus property since the Mackinac Bridge opened in November 1957.

Civil Service Reduces Vets' Preference Points

LANSING (AP)— Veterans' preference points on examinations for state jobs have been reduced by the Civil Service Commission.

Preferences for disabled veterans were cut from 15 to 10 points and non-disabled vets from 10 to five points.

The commission also ordered preferences for non-disabled veterans be limited to three years after discharge. Disabled vets can still apply for their preferences at any time.

Will Study Fallout

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. Scientific Committee on Radiation says it will give priority in the coming year to a study of the life of radioactive fallout occurring after a nuclear test. In a progress report, the committee said its work also will include the effect of such radioactive isotopes as strontium 90 and carbon 14 on the human diet.

TV News and Reviews

Some Steel Would Do Steel Hour Some Good

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) —CBS-TV's U.S. Steel Hour occupies the most peculiar position on TV: it could fill an important niche as the only hour drama of worth on television, but it tries deliberately not to be too good.

It is quite apparent at this stage of the game that the gentlemen who put the Steel Hour together are not interested in dramas of quality. It is also quite obvious that its show-makers are afraid —there is a real smell of fear about the show, a fear of offending, a fear of ideas, a fear of take-a-chanceness. The object of the show is serviceable mediocrity.

Last night, the Steel Hour poured out its 100th play and, like so many other offerings on this showcase this season, it rested in a middling groove. "No Leave for the Captain" wasn't a terribly bad show — its final 15 minutes contained a decent serving of tension despite some cheap musical effects, and the hour packed some fairly useful performances by James Kenny, Maurice Evans, Geraldine Brooks and Donald Moffat.

But the play as a whole was just another supine, lukewarm, unambitious, second-rate slab of neuter blah.

On some future date, I wish the men of steel would take a flinty look at their dramatic showcase and compare it with the making of their own product. It takes proper heat treatment to make an alloy steel hard and strong and tough — and those are the virtues that help make steel such an admirable commodity.

SHORT SHOTS: NBC-TV's Jack Paar was shooting live bullets at Newsweek Magazine last night for its recent profile of him . . . . ABC-TV's Music for a Summer Night unspooled another hour of moderately pleasant entertainment last night — what the show could use is a little less stiffness and more of a sense of drive and urgency.

It's difficult to understand why NBC-TV's Bat Masterson decided to divide its story of John Surratt, a participant in the Lincoln assassination plot, into two parts —last night's opener could have been jettisoned without much pain . . . A lady winner on NBC-TV's The Price is Right last night won the chance to put together a 2230-piece jigsaw puzzle in the window of a Manhattan department store starting today. This is a winner?

Eskimos Gain Friends Stealing Others' Wives

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One way to make a man your friend in northern Alaska is to steal his wife.

It's a chancy thing to do, however, and in special circumstances might lead to blood-letting.

Wife-stealing among northern Alaskan Eskimos was discussed by Dr. Robert F. Spencer of the University of Michigan in a bulletin published today by the Smithsonian Institution.

Spencer studied the subject under grants from the Office of Naval Research and the Arctic Institute of North America.

Wife-snatching, he found, is a "still-prevailing practice" among primitive bands who inhabit the region between the ice-covered Brooks Mountains and the Arctic coast.

If you covet a married woman, you tell your kin. They either help or try to dissuade you. If they decide to help, "The woman simply is dragged off."

So far, no harm done. But the husband might want his wife back. If so, he enlists the help of his kin. This could end in bloodshed.

If a husband demands compensation and gets it, the theft became a trade. The two men not only become friends but from then on "shared an interest in children resulting from either union."

The term for the two men in such cases is "Nuliinuroak." It connotes "not shame or disgrace but rather a quasi-kinship."

If a woman connived in her own abduction, and the husband knew it, he wouldn't lift a finger to get her back. The "resultant situation might be wholly benign" for all concerned.

It might, on the other hand, generate hard feelings. Spencer reported the case of a man who found his wife's captor asleep and tied a dog to his leg.

This indicated he had the thief at his mercy but contemptuously "declined the opportunity to kill him."

Exam Sellers to Be Expelled

MSU President Says Buyers to Fail Courses Automatically

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University students who stole or sold final examination questions will be expelled, MSU president John Hannah said last night.

His announcement came in the wake of a revelation that campus police had cracked a ring of students selling stolen exams for up to $40 a copy.

Hannah also promised the severest academic panalties —including automatic failure in the courses concerned — for any students found to have bought stolen questions or benefited from access to them.

The MSU president added:

"There is no room at Michigan State University for students who have so little regard for the value of the opportunity given them by the people of Michigan, and such a perverted concept of the purpose and meaning of education."

Hannah called it tragic that a handful of students would jeopardize the reputation of the university and the welfare of their thousands of fellow students.

Campus police said the names of three students who admitted stealing and selling the exams would be withheld.

Police added these details:

Orchestra Has Negro

NEW YORK (AP) — A 20-year-old Negro violinist will be the first of his race to play as a regular member of the Lewisohn Stadium Symphony Orchestra. He is Sanford Allin of Brooklyn, who studied at the Juilliard School and the Mannes College of Music. The orchestra begins its 42nd summer season of outdoor concerts next Monday.

Ike Playing Nikita's Game, Masks His Thoughts in Double Takes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bouncy Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may have had President Eisenhower guessing what's on his mind. Now Eisenhower probably has Khrushchev a little puzzled, too.

That's because Eisenhower seemed to be agreeing with the Russian on one point, but not quite, and softening Wednesday what he said two weeks ago but, as it turned out, not quite.

It all started months ago when Khrushchev made a threat: Either the Allies get their troops out of Berlin or he would turn over to the East German Communists control of the ground, air, and rail routes leading to Berlin.

This would put the Allies in a pickel. They refuse to recognize the German Reds as the lawful government of East Germany. But if the Communists shut off their supplies to East Berlin, they'd have to deal with them or fight.

And dealing with them would be a form of recognition. At the same time Khrushchev called on Eisenhower to meet him at a summit conference where all kinds of things could be discussed. That would include Berlin.

Khrushchev reluctantly agreed to the foreign ministers' meeting but low-rated its importance. He argued only the top men make decisions. Therefore, the ministers are errand boys. So, he claimed, a foreign ministers' meeting just wastes time.

The ministers met and made no progress. At his June 3 news conference, Eisenhower seemed to agree with Khrushchev that the ministers are only transmission belts for the top men.

"These foreign ministers are, after all, acting for someone else . . . and these matters (such as Berlin) have to be brought back and studied carefully," Eisenhower said.

But he seemed to attach much more importance to the ministers at his news conference Wednesday. He said they are "people who go to conferences clothed with a great deal of authority."

Next he appeared to be leaning a bit toward Khrushchev's view. He pointed out the ministers, every night after their day's session at Geneva, have to communicate with their governments back home.

He said they provide "the mechanism . . . through which (agreements) are supposed to be obtained."

But then he parted company with Khrushchev, if he ever was in his company, by refusing to agree to any assumption the ministers' meetings are useless. He implied that unless they prepared the ground for a summit meeting, there was no sense in holding one.

At his June 3 news conference Eisenhower emphasized that the Russians had created the Berlin crisis and then called for a summit meeting to settle it.

Before there is a summit meeting, Eisenhower continued, the Russians should agree the Allies can stay in Berlin until the whole problem of German unification is settled. In effect, since it won't be settled for a long time, this meant indefinitely.

Asked if this is what he meant, he said: "I don't see how the head of any self respecting government can go to an international conference in response to any kind of thing that can be called a threat."

He meant the Soviet threat to the West: Get out of Berlin, or we let the East Germans take over.

At his news conference Eisenhower was reminded of that June 3 statement. He was asked if Soviet failure to withdraw its threat about Berlin meant he could not go to a summit meeting on other things.

Eisenhower's reply seemed to imply he was softening his position about agreement on Berlin being a precondition to a summit meeting. He said he had just tied in his June 3 statement about Berlin as an example of progress.

He added: "If there is any kind of reasonable progress that justifies a summit meeting, why of course I would never decline the opportunity to go."

But after the news conference Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, talked with reporters.

"Even though the President didn't specifically repeat that (June 3) statement, that is still just where he stands," Hagerty said. "He won't go to any summit conference under any threat regarding Berlin."
