No Disturbances Reported

2,500 in Area Protest War

The appeal was for peace in Vietnam, and more than 2,500 persons turned out yesterday for area demonstrations marking the national Vietnam moratorium.

There were no reported disturbances.

The Pontiac Coalition to End the War Now assembled an estimated 150 to 200 persons — mostly young people from local high schools and Oakland University — for a Mourners March and rally.

The rally was held in the parking lot of St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church, late in the afternoon, following an earlier silent protest at the Federal Building at East Huron and Perry.

IN BLACK SHROUDS

Sixeen women in black shrouds carried candles as they led the Pontiac marchers behind a casket bearing signs reading "No More." The marchers moved from the Federal Building along East Wide Track to the Church.

An estimated 2,000 persons turned out in Birmingham to protest American involvement in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The sign-toting demonstrators, most of whom were college and high school students, marched up Hunter to Shain Park to hear the reading of the Vietnam war dead.

Several speakers called for troop withdrawal from Vietnam and for an end to a "war that is immoral and cannot be won," as one speaker said.

More than 400 Oakland University students jammed the Gold Room of Oakland Center for an early afternoon campus rally before leaving for Pontiac, Birmingham and Detroit demonstrations.

Among the participants, OU Chancellor Durward B. Varner called for withdrawal of American troops at the earliest possible date.

Varner's message was taken from a letter he was sending to President Nixon "not in my official capacity, but as a private citizen and the father of three children."

In Lapeer, a demonstration by some 200 persons was in contrast to others in the Detroit area. At a "pray-in" at the city's war memorial, most of the male participants, for example were short-haired, wore button-down shirts and tweed sport coats and were far removed from their teen-age years.

'AIDING THE ENEMY'

City Manager Arnold Whitney had warned that the police were very ready to defend against disorder. He also said that the war protesters were "aiding and abetting" the enemy.

Father Charles Goentges of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Lapeer led the pray-in, asking salvation for the souls of those killed in the war.

Among the Pontiac rally speakers, Prof. James Ozinga, an assistant professor at Oakland University, called for action "from the common people in the streets because we are the last voice of reason and common sense that can bring this war to an end.

"We have already lost 40,000 American boys and poured billions of dollars to defend a rotten carcus (the current South Vietnamese regime) that doesn't even have the support of its own people," Ozinga declared.

★ ★ ★

"We have no other solution than to get the hell out of Vietnam and let the Vietnamese decide their own fate, determine their own government," he asserted.

Dr. William Donnelly, Pontiac pediatrician, prefaced Ozinga's appeal by saying that the only honorable way out of Vietnam now would be to admit that U.S. involvement has been a mistake and to move troops out.

School Half Days Before High Court

Michigan's Supreme Court will decide whether two financially ill school districts, one of them Waterford Township, can legally operate half-day classes to avoid deficit financing.

In an order signed yesterday by Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennen, the high court took jurisdiction in the two cases from the state court of appeals.

Waterford and the Livonia School District are appealing lower court rulings ordering officials to restore classes to full-day sessions.

Parents in both districts had brought suit against the school boards, claiming that the constitutional rights of their children were being denied by the half-day sessions.

INSUFFICIENT FUNDS

Half-day sessions for some grades in Waterford and Livonia were implemented when school began last month because local millage elections had failed and both districts had insufficient operating funds.

Last month Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer upheld parents in Waterford Township that shortened school days were unconstitutional since, in his opinion, the state law requiring 180 school days each school year means 180 full days.

★ ★ ★

Beer's ruling was the same as that handed down earlier by Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman concerning the Livonia School District.

Both judges also held unconstitutional a law that bans deficit financing by school districts on the basis that the State Constitution requires the state to furnish a free education for each child.

SPEEDS UP ACTION

In accepting the two cases, a move that will speed up the decision by bypassing the intermediate appeals court, the supreme court ordered attorneys for both districts and opponents of the half-day schedules to file statements by Oct. 31.

★ ★ ★

The cases would be heard during the November court session which starts Nov. 4.

The State Board of Education was invited to file a friend-of-the-court brief on the matter.

Schools Open in Clarkston; Accord Is Hazy

Clarkston School District students returned to classes for the first time since Sept. 26 this morning following a "tentative settlement" of a contract between the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) and the school board.

Despite tentative affirmative votes by CEA and the board, both refused to give any further information regarding the contract, prompting the question of whether an agreement has been fully settled.

★ ★ ★

Both the board and CEA approved the agreement. But full ratification, according to CEA President Thomas Brown, will depend on "the working out of details in the contract."

Asked whether the money issue had been settled, Brown replied, "The contract settlement depends on how the details and language of the contract are worked out."

'DETAILS' READIED

Schools Supt. Dr. L. F. Greene said "details" of the contract are being prepared and examined by representatives of the negotiation teams.

"The schools are running. The negotiating teams are working on the details as fast as they can. Right now, I don't know when the final contract will be ready," Dr. Greene said.

He explained that the school board and CEA mutually agreed not to release any details until the contract is ready for final ratification votes by the board and CEA.

Bargaining began in March and lasted nearly seven months. The teacher strike lasted 13 school days.

School officials said all the missed days will be made up, but they have not determined just when. They added the scheduling of make-up days is subject to discussion.

Speculation is that the make-up days could be on Saturdays, at the end of the school year or during vacation periods.

Antiwar Rallies Span Nation

By the Associated Press

With parades, rallies, candlelight processions and church services, hundreds of thousands of Americans joined in the largest antiwar protest in America's history. Supporters of American policy on Vietnam also demonstrated publicly.

Every state had some form of protest yesterday and more than one million people, most of them young, may have participated. Opponents of the Vietnam Moratorium Day displayed the American flag and drove with headlights on.

★ ★ ★

There were isolated reports of disorders amid the many activities centered on the moratorium slogan: "Bring home the troops. All the troops. Now!" Many protests included reading the names of war dead.

When it was over, a spokesman for President Nixon said in Washington, "I don't think the President can be affected by a mass demonstration of any kind."

SECOND MORATORIUM

But a coordinator of the moratorium, Sam Brown, said in Washington, "If there is no change in Vietnam policy, if the President does not respond, there will be a second moratorium."

In cities throughout Michigan, more than 55,000 demonstrators marched, rallied and spoke out against the Vietnam war in generally orderly protests.

★ ★ ★

The day's largest rally was also its last, as an estimated 22,000 persons gathered in Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor to hear U. S. Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and longtime radical Thomas Rayden speak against the war.

★ ★ ★

RALLY AT MSU

Charges against those arrested ranged from inciting to riot to improper display of the American flag.

Meanwhile, in East Lansing, another rally of about 5,000 Michigan State University students was followed by a three-mile march to the State Capitol.

★ ★ ★

At most major colleges in the state, professors were allowed to hold classes as scheduled or dismiss them for moratorium activities. Class attendance at the University of Michigan dipped below 30 per cent.

Around the state, many high school students skipped classes to join the demonstrations.

LARGEST TURNOUTS

The large Eastern cities, traditionally the center of antiwar activity, had the largest turnouts. Boston police estimated 90,000 persons gathered on the Common, while 22,000 assembled at the Washington Monument and New York City had three rallies of more than 10,000 each.

★ ★ ★

But the scope of the moratorium was reflected across the nation. For example, in Iowa about 11,000 persons protested in various locations; in the State of Washington, an estimated 20,000 took part; in Arkansas, about 4,000 rallied in Little Rock.

★ ★ ★

Americans abroad and foreign students demonstrated in London, Paris, Rome, Brussels, Vienna, Tokyo, Dublin, Copenhagen and Bogota, Columbia. About 15 infantrymen fighting in South Vietnam wore black armbands to show their support for the protest.

2 Cosmonauts Will Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Russian cosmonauts will begin a two-week visit to the United States Monday as guests of American astronauts, and will tour from coast to coast.

Astronaut Frank Borman made the announcement today through headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The announcement said Borman invited the cosmonauts when he was in the Soviet Union in July.

Borman was commander of the Apollo 8 mission, the first manned flight around the moon.

Both the Soviet visitors are veterans of space flight.

FROM '64, '68 FLIGHTS

They are Major General Georgiy Beregovoy, who flew in the Soyuz 3 spacecraft in October last year, and Konstantin Feoktistov, the scientist member of the three-man Voshkod space flight in October 1964.

They are to arrive in New York Monday afternoon for a tour the details of which are still being arranged. NASA said, however, they are expected to visit both the east and west coasts, the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, and the Cape Kennedy, Fla., launching facility.

Beregovoy made the first successful flight in Russia's Soyuz series, orbiting the earth alone nearly four days before returning to earth on Oct. 30.

During the flight he made rendezvous twice with the Soyuz 2, an unmanned spaceship in orbit for two days of his flight.

Mets Could End It Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — This could be the incredible day when the New York Mets, of all people, become champions of the world.

Leading the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series three games to one, the Mets called on their flame-throwing lefthanded pitcher, Jerry Koosman, to gain the win they need to complete one of the most fantastic rags-to-riches stories in the annals of sports.

★ ★ ★

In the noon (Pontiac time) game at Shea Stadium, the backs-to-the-wall Orioles also called on a lefthanded pitcher, Dave McNally, whom Koosman beat in the second game of the series last Sunday.

Even though the oddsmakers have named them favorites — this time at 13-10 — for the fifth straight game, the Orioles are staring into the maw of disaster after a season in which they won their division title by 19 games and swept the American League playoffs in three straight games.

PLAY THAT HURT

It could turn out that one wild throw by pitcher Pete Richert on a dinky bunt yesterday could decide the world championship.

It happened in the 10th inning and gave the Mets a 2-1 triumph just when it seemed the Orioles might tie the series at two games each.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Grote opened the Mets' 10th inning with a double, actually a pop fly that left fielder Don Buford lost in the late afternoon sun.

Al Weis was intentionally walked, J. C. Martin was sent up to pinch-hit for pitcher Tom Seaver, and Richert was brought to pitch for the Orioles.

Everyone of the record 57,367 fans knew what was going to happen, and so did Richert — Martin was going to sacrifice. He bunted — a perfect bunt 10 feet up the first base line.

Richert fielded the ball, threw to first, and hit Martin on the left wrist. As the ball rolled free, pinch runner Rod Gaspar scored the winning run.

★ ★ ★

Seaver had nursed a 1-0 Mets' lead from the second inning when Donn Clendenon homered, until the ninth, when Frank Robinson singled for the Orioles and came around to score the tying run on a single by Boog Powell and a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson.

Actually it was no fly — but a crashing live drive that seemed headed for at least a double, until right fielder Ron Swoboda made an amazing diving catch.

Your Green Thumb May Turn Blue

With the average date of a killing frost Oct. 8, Oakland County gardeners and outdoor enthusiasts are on borrowed time and it looks like the time is up tonight.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts freezing temperatures as this morning's winds swing from south-southeast to the west-northwest.

★ ★ ★

Partially clearing skies are expected to end the day's intermittent showers by evening.

Tomorrow is due to remain cloudy and cool with the possibilities of rainfall declining.

Saturday's football fans better take along their lap robes, for temperatures are expected to be chilly and skies cloudy.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 70, tonight and tomorrow 20.

Domestic Satellite Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. (Comsat) said yesteray that with the proper governmental authority, it could arrange to satisfy the needs of the television networks for service through a domestic satellite system.

"Comsat has repeatedly stressed the need to move forward on the establishment of a domestic satellite system," the corporation said in a prepared statement.

2 Cosmonauts Land Safely

MOSCOW (AP) — Soyuz 6 and the two cosmonauts aboard it returned safely to earth today after testing several types of experimental welding techniques in space, Radio Moscow announced.

★ ★ ★

The announcement said the first of the three spaceships sent up last weekend made a soft landing early this afternoon in a "preset area" 100 miles northwest of Karaganda in Soviet central Asia.

The two cosmonauts "feel fine," the announcement said.

The return to earth of Soyuz 6 left two manned spaceships and five cosmonauts still in orbit.

CHIEF BUSINESS

The welding experiment was the chief business announced so far from the troika flight.

With it the Soviet spacemen sought to determine the best method of putting together the permanent space stations which the Soviets plan to assemble.

★ ★ ★

Early in the mass flight there had been speculation that two of the Soyuz spaceships would be joined together and left in orbit to become the world's first space platform. But prospects for this declined as the flight progressed, and the return of Soyuz 6 seemed a clear indication that construction of the space platform will wait for another flight.

"The mission of Soyuz 6 has been successfully completed," Moscow Radio said.

MET BY RESCUE TEAMS

The announcer reported that cosmonauts Georgy Shonin and Valery Kubasov were met by rescue teams as soon as they landed.

★ ★ ★

There was no indication when Soyuz 7 and Soyuz 8 would return to earth.

Money Squeeze Will Ease—Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration officials predicted today a downward trend in interest rates and a lessening of pressure toward higher living costs by the start of the new year.

These forecasts were given to newsmen at the White House after President Nixon met with ranking Democrats and Republicans on the congressional appropriations and finance committees to pledge perserverance in anti-inflation efforts.

At almost the same time, 44 House Democrats announced they are urging Nixon to mount what they called "a genuine war on inflation."

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said he hopes the counterinflation policies already pursued by the administration will begin to affect the price level — and thus living costs — by January.

RATE DROP SOON

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, another economist who serves as counselor to the President, said he foresees a downward movement in interest rates in the not too distant future.

In his meeting with the bipartisan congressional delegation, which lasted nearly two hours, Nixon threatened to veto federal pay raise legislation and also the tax reform bill to increase the budget deficit.

★ ★ ★

He has contended before that both could interfere with his determination to control inflation.

In a letter to Nixon, which they made public, the Democrats suggested a series of steps be taken to broaden the battle and pledged their cooperation if the President followed through.

COME TO GRIPS

"Orthodox fiscal and monetary measures, if properly applied, can be effective against demand inflation — too much money chasing too few goods," the Democrats said. "But they fail to come to grips with other types of inflation currently at work."

The Democrats urged that the President and the Federal Reserve Board issue a joint request to banks not to increase their business lending over the currently outstanding level.

Kopechne Inquest Coming?

BOSTON (AP) — Five Massachusetts Supreme Court justices have had an unscheduled consultation, leading to speculation that there would be a quick decision on a proposed inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne.

The body of Miss Kopechne, 28, was found in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car in a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island July 19.

Attorneys for the senator and nine other persons involved in the case asked the Supreme Court last week to rule that an inquest should be closed to the public and that attorneys should be permitted to cross-examine witnesses.

Normally the justices consult on pending cases on the last Tuesday of the month, which would be Oct. 28.

UNSCHEDULED CONSULTATION

A court source said an unscheduled consultation was held yesterday. He would neither confirm nor deny that it concerned the petition by Kennedy and his associates.

An inquest into Miss Kopechne's death was scheduled to begin Sept. 3 in Edgartown, but was postponed pending the Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of ground rules by Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown District Court.

Boyle held that the inquest would be public, but that only accredited newsmen would be admitted to occupy the 132 seats available in the Edgartown courtroom.

★ ★ ★

He also ruled that while lawyers for witnesses could be present when their clients were testifying they could not cross-examine witnesses.

Art Exhibitions to Begin

BIRMINGHAM — The Bloomfield Art Association (BAA) will open its 1969-70 exhibition schedule with a presentation of "Art For Young Collectors" Sunday, Oct. 19 at 2 p.m., at the BAA Gallery, 1516 Cranbrook.

The collection, designed with the beginning collector in mind, will include original graphics and painting. All works are for sale and priced under $300.

An Art Association spokesman said the artists represented in the show are some of Michigan's most outstanding artists. All artists are participating by invitation. Each artist or his gallery selected the works to be shown.

★ ★ ★

Art For Young Collectors which will run through Nov. 16 will be previewed for BAA members and their guests on Friday evening.

The Rev. Louis B. Gerhardt, pastor of the North Congregational Church in Southfield, will talk on the status of the American Indian before the Birmingham Senior Men's Club tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the Community House.

The discussion group will debate the subject, "What Kind of Teachers We Want."

FRANKLIN — Psychologist David W. Shantz will be the first speaker this Saturday for the Franklin Forum, sponsored by Friends of the Franklin Library.

He will speak on "How Personality Patterns Are Learned — Some Implications for Child-Rearing" at 1:15 p.m. in the Franklin Community Church. A luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

Dr. Shantz is assistant professor of psychology at Oakland University.

Previously, he was chief psychologist on Children's Service at Lafayette Clinic in Detroit and adjunct assistant professor of psychology at Wayne State University.

The Franklin Forum is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased at the door on the day of the lecture.

Lodge Rejects U.S.-VC Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said today "the other side" in the Vietnam peace negotiations had made a surprise proposal that "the U.S. engage in direct and private talks with the delegates of the self-styled PRG (Provisional Revolutionary Government-Vietcong.")

Lodge, talking to reporters after the 38th plenary meeting, issued a prepared statement containing this reply to the other side's proposal: "As far as we are concerned, we are ready and willing to carry on private and direct talks in which all those represented on each side of these meetings will participate."

★ ★ ★

"If the Nixon administration really wants to end the war and already has a timetable for the total withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, then why does it not dare make it public as requested by the American people?" he asked.

"If is precisely because it does not in fact want to withdraw its troops at all, rather it only wants to prolong the war," he continued.

Income Rise Dropping

WASHINGTON (AP) — September brought the smallest rise in personal income in 17 months, and government economists cautiously hailed the news as a signal inflation is lessening.

Personal income — the collective total of business and individual incomes before taxes — was $759.8 billion in September, the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

City's First Antiwar Protest Peaceful

Viet Protesters Stage 'Pray-In' at Lapeer

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

LAPEER — The "heart of dairyland" experienced its first anti-Vietnam demonstration yesterday afternoon, although it was in contrast to the hassling war critics of Detroit's Kennedy Square.

Some 200 persons — predominantly crew-cut, buttoned-down and tweed-jacketed — staged a "pray-in" at the city's war memorial, then marched peacefully down Nepessing Street, main business thoroughfare of this city of 7,000, and dispersed.

* * *

City Manager Arnold Whitney awoke the populous early yesterday morning via the local radio station reportedly to warn would-be war protesters that the police were prepared to defend Lapeer.

* * *

While Whitney said he was "opposed to the Vietnam war" he felt the boys should be supported as long as they are in Vietnam.

'AIDS THE ENEMY'

War protests, Whitney said, would "aid and abet the enemy." Mayor Bill Rowden was out of town.

* * *

Michael Carter, Lapeer attorney and chairman of the Lapeer County Republican organization, spoke at the afternoon rally in opposition to the war.

* * *

Rev. Charles Goentges of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church led the pray-in, a blessing of the souls of the American and Vietnam military and civilian men and women who had lost their lives due to the Asian conflict.

* * *

Father Goentges was the only member of the clergy to appear of seven who were invited by Lapeer Moratorium Day committee leaders Mrs. James Lawless of Mayfield Township and Mrs. Frank Senger of Lapeer.

STUDENT LEADER SPEAKS

Rev. Paul Killenger, a Flint Unitarian minister, also attended the Lapeer demonstration.

Lapeer High School Student Council President George Lutz Jr. (the son of Lapeer County Probate Judge George Lutz) addressed the group opposing the Vietnamese war and war in general.

* * *

By coincidence, Lapeer school students had been given the day off. During the school calendar scheduling time last summer, Oct. 15 was set aside as a one-day teacher institute.

Other speakers were Lyle Stewart Jr., a University of Michigan law student, a former Peace Corps volunteer and the son of Lapeer County Clerk Lyle Stewart; and John Senger, also an Ann Arbor law student and brother-in-law of Mrs. Frank Senger.

SOME OVER 30

Despite Mrs. Lawless' belief that few people "over 30" would "stand up to be counted" during the moratorium, it appeared that a significant minority of the 200 persons were over 30.

* * *

Said one 65-year-old hardware store merchant, "I close my store four times a year. This year, this day is one of those times." He sported a picket sign that read, "Peace is Groovy."

A retired businessman and his wife commented, "You don't have to be young to be opposed to killing."

"Throughout his (Nixon's) campaign, he appealed to the 'Forgotten American.' Now the 'Forgotten American' is saying 'Listen to me,' but Nixon said he's going to ignore them," Mrs. Lawless said.

Suspect Is Arrested in Officer's Slaying

Police in London, Ontario have arrested a suspect believed to be the Sept. 21 killer of Romeo Police Officer Omer A. Reygaert.

London Detective Sgt. Frank Christie said the man is believed to be Vernon H. Jones, a 36-year-old Walpole Island Indian who has been the object of the two-nation manhunt.

Provincial police received a tip from a fellow Ford employe who knows Jones, who said he thought he saw Jones on a London street.

The man phoned police but lost sight of the suspect. After hours of searching, police found he had checked into a hotel near where he was spotted.

DIDN'T RESIST

Christie said that the suspect did not resist and "acted like a perfect gentleman." Christie said he was unarmed and carried no identification.

A Romeo policeman and a representative of the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office were on their way to London this morning to ascertain whether the arrested man is Jones.

A federal district judge in Detroit had issued a fugitive warrant, authorizing the FBI to arrest Jones, a former Air Force sergeant. Canadian officials have also issued a warrant for Jones under the extradition agreement between the U.S. and Canada.

The Macomb County Prosecutor's Office has issued a first-degree murder warrant against Jones, charging him with gunning down Reygaert when stopped for questioning about a shooting in Lake Orion, earlier Sept. 21.

Jones is a suspect in the shooting of Thomas Arthur Jr., 24, of 41 N. Andrews, Lake Orion. Police said Arthur, a Vietnam veteran, and some friends argued over the merits of the various military services at American Legion Post 164 in Lake Orion with Jones sitting nearby.

Then Jones left, but he came back to the club and confronted Arthur as he was leaving, police continued. Arthur was shot in the stomach at point-blank range. He is in Pontiac General Hospital recovering from the wounds.

County Postpones Action on Budget

Democrat and Republican members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors caucused separately prior to meeting time today and decided to defer until Nov. 6 action on the county's record $30-million budget.

The action was taken because the parties could not agree on the budget.

Action was taken to set elected officials' salaries and to obtain state funds for the marine safety program.

A raise from $24,000 to $26,000 was approved for Prosecuting Attorney Thomas Plunkett and raises from $19,500 to $21,000 were approved for County Clerk-Register of Deeds Lynn Allen, County Treasurer Hugh C. Dohany, Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry and Sheriff Frank Irons. Raises for elected officials must be approved by Oct. 30, according to state law.

Circuit and Probate Court judges were kept at their present levels of $30,000 and $29,000, respectively. The state contributes $20,000 to the Circuit Court judges' salaries and $10,000 to the Probate Court judges' salaries.

* * *

Voting against approval were Democrats Carl O'Brien and George Grba, both of Pontiac and Thomas O'Donoghue of Ferndale. O'Brien and O'Donoghue contended that raises should not be allowed during an elected official's term of office.

William L. Mainland, D-Milford, chairman of the personnel practices committee, said the jobs were viewed in relation to other department head jobs and he said his committee had seen no reason to penalize elected officials.

The marine safety program, dependent for two-thirds of its $82,997 yearly budget from the state, was approved in order that application for state funds might be made.

Today's meeting started with verbal fireworks as O'Donoghue took issue with statements made by Grba at Tuesday night's Democratic county executive committee meeting.

* * *

O'Donoghue, absent from that meeting, asked that Grba, whom he called "O'Brien's No. 1 stooge," reverse the order of the three party "traitors or Judases" O'Donoghue's joking reference named at the executive committee meeting.

The Ferndale Democrat said he would prefer top billing in what he jokingly referred to as the "unholy trinity," noting that his name had followed that of Mainland and Alexander Perinoff in all accounts of the meeting.

* * *

None of the three had been present at the meeting when Grba charged them with being pro-Republican in their support of County Auditor Chairman Daniel T. Murphy.

O'Donoghue was ruled out of order by Board Chairman Charles B. Edwards Jr. —a Democrat—who nevertheless noted, "You did very well, Tom."

Skyjack Defense Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — A super-secret device to tip off authorities to gun-toting passengers has been put into general use by hijack-plagued Eastern Air Lines.

The disclosure yesterday by Federal Aviation Administration head John H. Shaffer noted that the airline is the first to employ such a defense against hijackers.

MAKE LOVE, NOT WAR — Oblivious, or not caring about the crowd, a teen-age couple practice a slogan of the day during a rally for the Vietnam moratorium yesterday at Memorial Park at 13 Mile and Woodward in Royal Oak. The young lovers were to be part of a Parade for Peace to downtown Detroit. The march became a symbolic gesture since the demonstrators broke up after only a few blocks.

Draft Lottery Wins 1st OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's plan to draft 19-year-olds first under a lottery system was approved 31-0 by the House Armed Services Committee today and sent toward the House floor.

An effort to eliminate all college draft deferments was ruled out of order by a roll-call 21-10 vote.

The lottery plan was recommended unanimously to the committee by a special subcommittee despite open hostility to the plan voiced by subcommittee members during five days of hearings this month.

The subcommittee said in a statement: "The subcommittee was not persuaded that the proposed change in the system of selection would provide any greater equity in the selection process than is provided by the present 'oldest first' system.

"However, in view of the strong recommendation of the President in this regard, urging the Congress to permit him to modify the existing system of selection, the subcommittee believes that this request of the commander in chief of our armed forces should be honored."

The play, a takeoff on guerrilla warfare entitled "Vietnam is as American as Apple Pie," was written, directed and produced by students as part of Vietnam Moratorium activities held on the OU campus.

Black Teachers Hurt

The black school principal and the black school teacher may be a vanishing breed in the South, says the National Education Association.

And the cause, ironically, is the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which was designed to abolish segregated schooling.

According to NEA Task Force report:

"It is clear that in the past Negro teachers were employed specifically . . . (to teach) Negro pupils in racially segregated schools . . . Segregated schools required segregated student bodies taught by segregated faculties . . . As a result, when Negro pupils in any number transfer out of Negro schools, Negro teachers become a surplus and lose their jobs."

★ ★ ★

Thousands of Negro teachers and administrators have either been fired or demoted to lower-paying and less desirable positions within integrated systems, says NEA. This has been especially disruptive of the careers of highly qualified Negro administrators.

A precedent-setting ruling by a Federal judge in July held that the wholesale dismissal of 71 black teachers and teacher aides in Mississippi was illegal discrimination on the grounds of race. Numerous similar cases are in the courts.

In the meantime, however, many Negro teachers have continued to teach without pay pending resolution of their court actions.

Another consequence of desegregation has been the closing down of former Negro schools. For while such schools may frequently be newer and superior buildings, white students refuse, or their parents refuse to allow them—to attend institutions that once were Negro.

★ ★ ★

"This is an insult to the Negro and an inexcusable waste of the taxpayers' money," says an NEA official.

It is not only wasteful of money; it is infinitely more wasteful of human resources.

But discrimination has always been an exceedingly expensive practice.

Hemline a Business Index

The most intriguing theory of economics ever devised is the one having to do with the relationship between women's hemlines and the business cycle. As hemlines go up, so does prosperity; as they fall, so does the economy.

Proof: The short-skirted flappers of the booming 1920s; then, after the stock market crash, the long dresses of the 1930s, which slowly crept up as the Nation recovered from the Depression; short skirts again as industry revved up for World War II; then the low hemlines of the "New Look" of the 1940s, anticipating first postwar recession; finally, the soaring skirts and economy of the 1960s.

Like the chicken and the egg, it's not quite clear which comes first—Dior or Dow-Jones. Nor has anyone ever explained why the theory did not operate in the last century, which had its cycles of boom and bust, even though dresses remained at ankle or shoetop length.

While impartial street-corner observers report no reduction in the miniskirt population and while economists as yet see no breakthrough against inflation, in the field of fashion, at least, something different seems to be emerging.

The miniskirt persists, but designers, together with their allies, the textile manufacturers, are claiming progress in getting women to adopt a variety of dress and coat lengths—the mini (apparently no upper limit) for daytime and casual wear, the midi (below-knee) for afternoon cocktail parties and such, and the maxi-(mid-calf or lower) for evenings and more formal occasions.

★ ★ ★

Maybe there is a connection between hemlines and economics after all, for isn't this changeable, perplexing trend exactly what most of us find ourselves in these days?

★ ★ ★

It might be amusin' if it weren't so confusin'.

Ray Cromley

China Spares U.S.-Trained Physicists

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Several curious aspects come to light from Communist China's latest nuclear explosions.

They were announced to the accompaniment of vigorous attacks on the United States — not Russia. But information reaching this reporter from Japan and Hong Kong indicates a thoroughgoing purge centered on top Chinese nuclear scientists with a history of Russian study, visits or scientific cooperation.

CROMLEY

The crackdown was extremely light on top Chinese nuclear scientists with a U.S. background.

The purges, in fact, seem to have left the American-trained men in firm control of both nuclear and missile development.

BOTH IMPRISONED

Take one example: The three top men in Communist China's nuclear program were Ch'ien San-ch'iang, Wang Kan-ch'ang and Chao Chung-yao.

Ch'ien San-Ch'iang and Wang had Soviet connections. Both were arrested and imprisoned on charges of treason and spying for the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Chao had an American-Western background. He received his Ph.D. from the California Institute of Technology. Chao was untouched.

The top man in Red China's missile program is Ch'ien Hsueh-shen, with a background one would think certain to lead him into trouble in Communist China today.

TRAINED IN U.S.

He graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1936, received his Ph.D. from the California Institute of Technology in 1939, was a professor of aeronautics at MIT from 1947-49. After World War II he was sent to Germany to investigate rocket development as a consultant to the U.S. Navy.

Yet Ch'ien Hsueh-shen is not reported to have come under any criticism even during the height of the cultural revolution.

★ ★ ★

The purges, though they dealt heavily with nuclear scientists, hit lightly over-all on men connected with Red China's missile program.

To some observers this indicates that in their political purging the Red Chinese are very practical men indeed.

★ ★ ★

It seems clear from the data now available that while there may be the normal interruptions connected with scientific developments of this magnitude (witness the problems of the U.S. space program) the men who rule Red China, whatever their preoccupation with political purges, are going to let nothing interfere with the development of a basic nuclear-missile capability.

We Owe Them Something!

Charles Bartlett

Controversy Humanizing Nixon

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon has tended up to now to snuggle in a cocoon of presidential reticence and the gathering pressures may usefully serve to pull him out of it.

BARTLETT

Mr. Nixon's necessity to cope simultaneously with the student protesters and the critics of Judge Haynsworth is bringing him into the open, outside the tight controls with which he has limited his own visibility.

Controversy is humanizing the Nixon presidency — for the first time the observer can almost hear a pulsebeat.

In dealing with the students he needed inevitably to soften the smug stiffness of his original assertion that he would not be influenced by their protests.

He cheerfully made concessions to the students, particularly in regard to the draft, but he argued long and hard against advisers like Secretary Robert Finch who urged him to yield the students the satisfaction of being told that their attitudes really do count with the policy-makers.

MORE CONTACT

Similarly, the President, finding it necessary to lobby for the confirmation of Judge Haynsworth, is being drawn into contact with Republican senators whom he has largely ignored until now.

Complaints in Congress that it is almost impossible to get firm directions out of the White House have led some to propose that Mr. Nixon shift his attorney general, John Mitchell, onto his personal staff to make him an alter ego who can convey, as Sherman Adams did for President Eisenhower, the President's attitudes on the issues that constituents raise.

★ ★ ★

Republican members complain that the White House is not geared to the tempo of modern politics, which demands quick answers.

Mitchell would certainly be less shy in reflecting presidential viewpoints than the present White House inner circle, a team of younger men still hobbled by inexperience in government.

'APOSTLE OF RIGHT'

But he has let himself be cast as the apostle of the right and until he can dissolve this impression, he will bring a bite of controversy into the White House that will not serve the President's taste for harmony.

The reticent nature of the administration is partly due to the President's character because he is a cautious loner. It is partly due to his sense of political timing because his full impact need not be felt before the elections of 1970.

★ ★ ★

A President makes the smallest target when he is least visible. The risk is that he may frustrate the popular appetite for strong leadership.

Bob Considine

Baseball Owners Remain Tight Men With a Buck

NEW YORK — The most unexpected quote of the 1969 World Series did not come from Casey Stengel, a predictable source of remarkable remarks. It came from Ron Swoboda of the Mets.

CONSIDINE

Ron's was the dissenting opinion in a majority ruling by the Orioles and Mets that the owners of the two clubs should be indicted for exploiting them in a World Series wherein the winners will be paid $15,000 each and the losers $10,000.

★ ★ ★

"Getting here is the important thing," the Mets' sometime outfielder said. He considered it obscene to associate the Series with filthy lucre. He said, "At this point, it gets to be a matter of pride. You prove something here."

The only "yea" Ron received for knocking mammon out of the box, or trying to, came from the owners. They couldn't agree more with the proposition that their ballplayers should think more of the honor of playing the World Series than the loot attached to participation.

'OWNERS GET DAFFIER'

Owners seem to get a little daffier each year but they are basically as cheap as, let's say, Connie Mack and Clark Griffith were in the old days when the game was a conscienceless monopoly and indeed the national pastime. Their contemporary, Charlie Comiskey, turned his White Sox into Black Sox with his penurious wages.

A year before that infamous 1919 World Series the Boston Red Sox, among them a great pitcher named Babe Ruth, staged a two-hour sitdown strike in their locker room until they were promised something more than a coolie's cut of the gate they had helped to attract.

Up to this time, the contestants in this World Series have not been paid a quarter for their successful efforts in the contrived playoffs that preceded the big show.

The players' beef for a bigger guarantee in the World Series is a legitimate one. But the owners will meet their demands only under pressure.

Commends Assistance During Unrest at School

I commend the parents, ministers and former graduates who helped monitor the halls at Pontiac Northern High School during the time of unrest. Also, the students who stayed in school, our teachers, school administrators, and the Pontiac Police who made it safe for our children that wanted to go to school for an education. Some parents took time off from work to help.

Tells of Theft of Son's Biggest Enjoyment

There is no excuse for one human to steal from another, let alone from a 3-year-old child. To the person who stole my son's tricycle, I am a mother on ADC and can't afford to pay for this theft. The tricycle was my son's biggest enjoyment.

Viewpoints Expressed on War in Vietnam

Haven't we learned yet? Korea should have taught us. I can see sending soldiers anywhere to win, but not just to hold, like Korea and Vietnam, and end up in a mess. Whose idea is it just to hold the line or go in to win? If U.N. members can't understand we've had it with this "hold-the-line" business, then close up that building. Let's supply food and guns, but not our soldiers unless we go in to win.

DISGUSTED CITIZEN

My second son is leaving for Vietnam this month. It is sickening how everyone is sitting back and listening to all this talk about troop withdrawals when they continue sending in as many as they pull out. The ones being pulled out are the ones due to come home anyway. It was our President's only way of trying to ease the minds of people until he could try to think up another good one to try.

★ ★ ★

We must insist that our government measure up to the ideals we teach our children to cherish. Every day that goes by that we have not pressed our representatives in Washington for a cease-fire, we all share responsibility for the deaths of the young men whose names we read in the newspaper every day.

MARIE JACKSON
4350 BUDD, WATERFORD

No one hates war more than I do, having been involved in two wars and being 100 per cent disabled. I still support my government to the extent that I would cheerfully die to preserve it so that my children and grandchildren can live in peace and live out their lives.

★ ★ ★

I feel we must take the civilian control and politics out of the army and with the tools that we now possess take on Hanoi and prove to the people of this country that our boys have not died in vain. We must do it with the backing and responsiveness of all Americans and with the utmost dispatch. The Communist world is jumping with joy at some of our stupid antics.

OLD SARGE

President's appeal for a 60-day moratorium on criticism of the war in Vietnam is a most ridiculous tactic. Calling for an end to criticism is absurd, but Mr. Nixon goes beyond absurdity when he calls his concerned and responsible critics extremists.

★ ★ ★

It is apparent that for our freedom and our Nation to endure we must remain a participatory democracy. All comments and thoughts on the subject of our government and its policies — sentiments of public officials or private citizens — should be heard. To make democracy lifeless is to not listen to the people. To Mr. Nixon's dismay, the people, in the the light of a terrible, disgusting and hopeless war, will not be silenced.

'Letter From School Had No Identification'

A letter was delivered at my place of business concerning a notice of a schedule change for a PTSA meeting in October. The envelope had been addressed to the parents of a school child — although the address used is the location of my store. Nowhere was there any clue as to the origin of this mailing — not even the name of the school was given. Surely mail that is worthy of first class postage is also worthy of identification.

'Suggest ADC Mothers Be Given Jobs'

We feel something should be done about the ADC mothers. They demand more money so they can buy things for their children to send them to school. They should be given jobs so they could earn some of the money they need instead of waiting for someone to hand everything to them. Sometimes it may be hard for them to work because they have to take care of their children. In these cases someone could probably be found to care for the children.

★ ★ ★

There are also some mothers who are not able to work because of health or other reasons. These are the only ones who actually need some type of help. Most of the mothers are just as able to work as our mothers who do work, and we hope the ADC mothers will work for their children's sake.

Questions and Answers

(Q) I read about a two-year-old boy in Highland Park being beaten to death by his baby sitter while his parents were both in jail on a marijuana charge. I don't approve of marijuana and I believe in upholding the laws, but taking both parents away from small children for six weeks seems wrong, especially when no one bothered to see they were properly taken care of. The boy's three-year-old sister was also hospitalized for neglect, malnutrition and severe body rashes. Is this what our courts are doing?

APPALLED

(A) We talked with the judge who refused to lower the bond and to the attorney for the couple. The bond was high because they had another narcotics charge against them. Their attorney said no issue was made of the children because the man who was later accused of killing the child was close to the family, and the mother had left the children in his care. Apparently the court is not at fault, because from all appearances, and to the satisfaction of the mother, the children were being well cared for.

(Q) How many men were needed to build the Mackinac Bridge?

JUST WONDERING

(A) 2,500 at the site; 7,500 in shops, mills, quarries, etc.; and 350 engineers.

(Q) I hear all about where hamburgers came from, but no one seems to know when the first hamburger stand was opened. This seems rather historic to me, and I'd like to know.

HAMBURGER PATTY

(A) The first hamburger was sold commercially at the St. Louis World Fair in 1904. It was chopped beef on a bun at that time.

Memorial Will Honor Pioneer U.P. Bishop

L'ANSE (AP)—Sculptor Jack Anderson of Lake Linden has presented his design for a $50,000 memorial to Bishop Baraga to be built in Baraga County in the Upper Peninsula.

Anderson's design from the 35-foot figure holding a cross in one hand and a pair of snowshoes in the other was presented to a committee working to raise funds for the shrine.

* * *

In Anderson's design, the statue would "float" on a stainless steel support held 25 feet above the ground by five arched wooden beams.

The idea for the shrine came from Baraga County Clerk, Bernard Lambert, whose book, "Shepherd of the Wilderness" is a biography of Bishop Baraga, founder of the Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette Roman Catholic diocese.

* * *

Local religious leaders have indicated they would hold services in the area beneath the figure of the bishop. Land for the project is being donated by L'Anse resident Paul Alico.

Benefits of School-Reform Plan Told

By MARY SUNDSTROM

Most school districts in the state would either gain financially or would be able to maintain their present level of educational benefits under Gov. Milliken's educational reform proposal, Oakland County School Business officials were told yesterday.

James Phelps, assistant director of the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform, spoke yesterday at a business officials' luncheon meeting at Oakland Schools new administration building.

* * *

Phelps said that the proposed statewide 16-mill property tax would be supplemented by state aid.

* * *

He said, districts now levying more than 16 mills in local property tax would not have to cut their educational services because the differences would be more than made up through a new state aid formula based on increased revenue from other sources, such as a state income tax.

HIGHER RATES

The Bloomfield Hills School District's present millage rate, for example is more than 31 mills, and the Pontiac School District operating millage rate is 24.63.

Phelps said the state aid formula would be changed so the distribution of funds would be based on a "classroom unit" rather than the present per pupil cost.

* * *

The classroom unit concept would take into consideration the pupil-teacher ratio in a classroom, the quality of teachers, and auxiliary services necessary to keep the classroom functioning, he said.

Phelps also said that individual school districts may vote three additional mills above the statewide 16-mill limitation, but that revenues from the additional mills may not be used to increase existing salaries.

STATE FORMULA

He said the millage levied in individual school districts would not be based on township assessments, but on some form of statewide assessment to be developed. If the Legislature approved a referendum on the proposed statewide 16-mill property tax, it is unlikely one would be held until Novenber 1970. Thus, taxation would not go into effect until after that date.

* * *

Phelps pointed out that the reform is a long-range plan and probably would not be completely in effect for another three to five years.

Phelps also discussed the regional school concept in Milliken's educational reform proposal.

'WONDERFUL SETUP'

"Everyone points to Oakland County when talking about what functions a regional school district should assume," he said.

"Why has Oakland County made it, and what can be done to make the other regional districts have the same kind of wonderful setup as here?" Phelps asked.

He said one of the major purposes of reducing the number of intermediate districts in the state from 60 to 10 or 15, is to promote better communication between the state and local levels.

* * *

He said that intermediate (regional) districts as reorganized would have the responsibility of leadership in its constituency, instructional services and business services.

Phelps said the reform committee also hoped regional districts would also be able to provide better services in the areas of special education and vocational education, as Oakland County now has.

MSU Is Recommended for Osteopath College

LANSING (AP) —The State Board of Education has received a recommendation that Michigan State University be designed as the location for a college of osteopathic medicine.

The board took no action on the recommendation Wednesday, delaying a final decision to a meeting scheduled for Oct. 28-29.

* * *

The recommendation that MSU be selected and that details be worked out with the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine, near Pontiac, was signed by former State Superintendent of Public Instruction Ira Polley.

Most of the work on the study project was done by Dr. John W. Porter, while associate superintendent in charge of the Education Department Bureau of Higher Education.

SWORN IN

Porter now has been sworn in to serve as acting superintendent of one year.

This would seem to give MSU the solid inside track.

* * *

Dr. Myron Magen, dean of the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine, reemphasized that so far no official action had been taken by the state board of education.

He added that the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine in Pontiac is not necessarily doomed, even if another site is established.

EXPANSION CAMPUS?

"Any state university encompasses the entire state, and many such institutions have more than one campus. Thus, even if the school is assigned to MSU, the Pontiac campus could be assigned to MSU and could become an extension."

The education board was instructed by the Legislature to assign the new school of osteopathic medicine to an established institution of higher education with an existing school or college of medicine by Nov. 3.

* * *

The University of Michigan and Wayne State University also were in the running for the nod from the state board.

Magen said a review showed the Wayne proposal does not meet the requirements of the legislative act and "we find it unacceptable."

ACCEPTS VALIDITY

Magen also said he did not believe the Nov. 3 deadline could be met by U-M.

* * *

"We accept the implications in your analysis that the statement of Michigan State University constitutes an acceptable basis for negotiations," Magen said.

* * *

"There are some points that we believe require further clarification, but we further believe this can be developed only through direct negotiations."

* * *

The MSU statement said it would accept the responsibility of establishment on the East Lansing campus of a college of osteopathic medicine headed by an osteopathic physician.

It further said the college would have the same privileges and restrictions accorded other colleges within the university.

* * *

"Michigan State," the statement said, "is in a position to integrate an osteopathic program into its structure in ways that would permit osteopathy to benefit maximally from the total university."

* * *

Osteopathic students, MSU said, would take many of the same basic courses available to other medical students, but special courses, or sections of special courses, would be added as necessary.

Clinic Offers Smoker Aid

Aid for area smokers who want to kick the cigarette habit will be available Sunday with the start of a five-day Smoking Withdrawal Clinic.

To be held at the Oakland County Courthouse Auditorium, 1200 N. Telegraph, the clinic runs Sunday through Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

There is no charge for the program, which is cosponsored by the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the Pontiac Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The clinic will be conducted by Dr. Raymond L. Mayor, M.D., and Dr. Robert A. Williams, director of guidance and measurements for Oakland County Schools.

Aiding in the nightly presentations will be Dr. Everette Gustafson of Pontiac, Dr. William Swatek, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, and Dr. Arthur Weaver of Veterans Memorial Hospital, Dearborn.

* * *

Movies showing physical effects of smoking will be shown each night of the clinic and pamphlets and personal guides with suggestions to overcome the smoking habit will be distributed, followed by discussion periods.

* * *

Dr. Williams is scheduled to discuss some of the psychological aspects of the smoking habit, while Dr. Mayor will discuss the medical aspects.

Happiness Is a New Telescope

SUNSPOT, N.M. (AP) — For Dr. Richard Dunn, an astronomer at the Air Force's solar observatory at Sunspot, Wednesday was Christmas.

Like a kid showing off a new toy, the 41-year-old expert on the sun helped dedicate a $3 million solar vacuum telescope he has dreamed of for 11 years.

"I just can't believe the thing is here now," the tall, youthful-looking astronomer said. He has nursed his idea of a unique solar instrument since 1958.

Several times the telescope project was almost canceled for lack of funds and other problems.

SITS ON RIDGE

The telescope sits atop a 9,200 foot ridge in the Sacramento Mountains of southern New Mexico.

"I just want to use it for a while. That's my next dream," Dunn said.

* * *

The visible portion of the telescope is a structure of striking beauty. A white concrete needle jutting 138 feet into the air.

The telescope's bulk is underground. Near the bottom of a 227-foot hole carved from the mountain rests a 64-inch focusing mirror—the telescope's heart.

The sun's rays enter the telescope at the tip of the needle, travel 321 feet to the mirror and are reflected another 180 feet to an array of sophisticated instruments.

In coming months, the scientists plan to begin an intense study of what Dunn calls solar active regions.

* * *

The eventual outcome of this research, the scientists hope, will be learning how to predict solar flares. The flares are eruptions of energy on the sun that shoot deadly streams of radiation bursting through space, endangering space travelers and disrupting radio communications on earth.

One of the unique features of the telescope is the airless optical system. Air is pumped out of the inside of the telescope, eliminating interference with the sun's image.

THERMAL CONTROL

The walls of the telescope housing are thermally controlled so that temperature differences will not affect the stability of the telescope, and the instrument's housing is built to resist vibrations from the wind.

Dunn says the telescope's unique characteristics, coupled with its high mountain location, should make its image extremely stable and may give sun astronomers some of their most detailed looks at the sun.

Picks Up Animal Temperatures

MSU Tests New Thermometer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A new infrared thermometer now being tested at the Michigan State University Center for Laboratory Animal Research may end the unpopular job of trying to catch and hold an animal to take its temperature.

The cone-shaped device picks up heat radiated from the animal.

"Just point the thermometer," Dr. Lawrence Julius of the MSU testing team told the American Association for Laboratory Animal Science meeting at Dallas, Tex.

The MSU scientist said the infrared thermometer is more accurate than the conventional type. The trick is to learn how to use it for different animals, he said.

'FIRST SUCCESS'

For example, he said, the best way to take the temperature of a chicken during egg-laying time may not be the best way to take the temperature of a gorilla during meal time.

"This is the first success with an infrared theremometer for laboratory animals that we know of," Julius said. "So far," he added, "we have tested it partially only on cats and dogs."

* * *

The method, Julius said, is accurate to within one-tenth of a degree centigrade. It takes only a fraction of a second to take the temperature of the animal, he reported.

The thermometer converts the radiated heat energy of the animal into electric energy, which then is used to determine the temperature.

Deputies Hear of Duck Tale

YPSILANTI (AP) — Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies quickly solved a ducknaping reported Tuesday by the Washtenaw Country Club. The motive, of all things, turned out to have been sex.

The club complained a woman had stopped her car and grabbed a duck off its pond. The car was traced through its license number to its woman owner in a nearby apartment complex.

She explained, deputies said, she didn't steal the duck, "just borrowed it for a while" to mate her with drake. It also was her plan, she said, to return the duck after the ducklings were born.

Deputies nipped the drake-duck romance, netting the club's duck in the woman's pen and returning it to the club.

Yank Combat Losses in Viet Stay Low

SAIGON (AP) — The total of American battlefield deaths in Vietnam last week remained near the lowest levels of the past three years, and enemy losses fell to their lowest point in a year. But South Vietnamese casualties climbed sharply.

The allied commands reported 82 Americans, 384 troops of the Saigon government and 1,687 Vietcong and North Vietnamese were killed in action. Another 573 Americans and 1,000 South Vietnamese troops were reported wounded.

It was the third successive week that the total of American dead was less than 100. The total the week before was 64, the lowest in nearly three years, while government casualties that week were 209 killed and 681 wounded.

The weekly casualty reports reflected a trend in the past 3½ months of generally decreasing American battlefield deaths, while the total of South Vietnamese dead has outnumbered the Americans each week for the past five months.

TAKING OVER

U.S. spokesmen said this shows that South Vietnamese regulars and militiamen are taking over more of the fighting.

"The South Vietnamese are generally getting into the act," said one officer. "They are pursuing the enemy and taking on a good bit of the fighting."

★ ★ ★

The weekly casualty report raised the reported total of American battlefield deaths to 38,969 since Jan. 1961, and the total wounded to 254,847. The enemy dead reported in that period total 560,908.

The allied communiques today again reported only light, scattered action, most of it in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon and along the infiltration corridors running south from the Cambodian border toward Saigon.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the third. One government unit men and marines killed 38 enemy soldiers and smashed what appeared to be a Vietcong propaganda center in three clashes in the delta. A spokesman said there were no government casualties in two of the fights and only light losses in the third. One government unit captured a television set, three amplifiers, a microphone, six loudspeakers, three reels of film and 11 sets of documents.

U.S. fighter-bombers killed 25 enemy soldiers and destroyed 19 bunkers in a strike 34 miles northwest of Saigon U.S. headquarters said.

American B52 bombers flew four missions overnight—two against North Vietnamese bases half a mile south of the demilitarized zone; the others against enemy bases 28 miles northeast and 73 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command reported 20 enemy rocket and mortar attacks, eight of which caused casualties or damage. Three Americans were reported killed and 10 wounded.

PEACEFUL CITY HIT

Ten of the 100-pound rockets crashed into the U.S. air base and an Alaskan barge company dock area at the usually peaceful resort city of Vung Tau, 43 miles southeast of Saigon. One U.S. soldier and one Vietnamese civilian were killed, four American soldiers were wounded, and damage to the base and the dock area were light, the U.S. Command said.

In Moscow, North Vietnam and the Soviet Union signed another military and economic aid agreement but Tass, the Soviet news agency, did not disclose the amount. Previously Washington has estimated Soviet aid to Hanoi at more than a billion dollars a year.

★ ★ ★

The aid agreement grants "new long-term credits" and requires Moscow to supply Hanoi "considerable quantities" of arms, ammunition, other military equipment, food, oil, metals, cloth, medicine and other supplies, Tass said.

Kidnaper Frees Teen After Ride of Terror

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A pretty 17-year-old blonde nursery school assistant says a kidnaper kept her terrified during a 300-mile ride up the California coast by brandishing two knives.

"I was scared to death," said miniskirted Kristine Anderson, found bound and gagged but uninjured Wednesday night in a Little League ball park on the grounds of a state hospital.

★ ★ ★

The kidnaper was believed by police to be a man who escaped Saturday while being held in the Santa Maria jail for investigation of two Pasadena holdups and a robbery-kidnap in Albuquerque, N.M.

"He had two kitchen knives, a big one and a small one," Kristine told newsmen.

FOUND BY GUARD

The girl was discovered by a guard at the state prison-hospital complex. The kidnaper sped off in a car when the guard approached to see why it was parked in an unauthorized area.

★ ★ ★

"He said he would call somebody to come and get me in the park," Kristine related. "He promised all the way up the coast that he would let me go."

The kidnaper was believed to be driving a station wagon belonging to Beth Peters, operator of the Peter Pan Nursery School in Arroyo Grande where Kristine worked part-time.

Mrs. Peters and a cook, Matilda Visser, were left bound in a closet Tuesday morning when the man kidnaped Kristine and took the car.

★ ★ ★

Robert Allen Harvey, 31, was sought by the FBI on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid confinement.

Social Security Hikes for 25 Million Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Higher Social Security benefits for 25 million Americans looked like a sure bet today, but it appeared doubtful Congress would link future increases to the cost of living.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., whose support is essential on any tax or Social Security matter, questioned the wisdom of automatic increases.

★ ★ ★

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which is holding hearings on higher benefits, noted Congress would be giving up some of its tax-raising powers under a cost-of-living proposal.

Under the Nixon administration plan, future benefit increases would be triggered automatically with a 3 per cent hike in consumer prices. Only one automatic hike a year would be approved.

AUTOMATIC HIKES

But Mills, during the opening hearings yesterday, noted there also would be automatic increases in the worker's wage base for Social Security taxes. Without rejecting outright a cost of living plan, Mills said there had been "no precedent" for Congress voting automatic tax hikes for future years.

Nixon proposed a 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, effective next March, and higher taxes to pay for the raise. Under his plan the present $7,800 base of a worker's salary would jump to $9,000 in 1972, and the base would go up automatically with cost of living hikes.

Barring an unforeseen crisis, Congress appeared certain to vote higher benefits with the major question only a matter of amount and timing.

★ ★ ★

House Democrats have voted a party position to support a 15 per cent increase, Dec. 1, and ways and means Democrats criticized the administration yesterday for holding off the first pay check with increases until next year.

The average payment now is $100 for retired workers, and $168 for aged couples. Under the Nixon proposal the average payment would be at least $110 for a retired worker.

Drug Profits Up

DETROIT (AP) — Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit pharmaceutical firm, has reported a 17.8 per cent net increase in earnings for the first nine months of 1969. Net income for the firm was $14,478,112, or 97 cents per share in 1969, compared with $12,290,619, or 83 cents per share in 1968. Total sales for the period were $204,477,824.

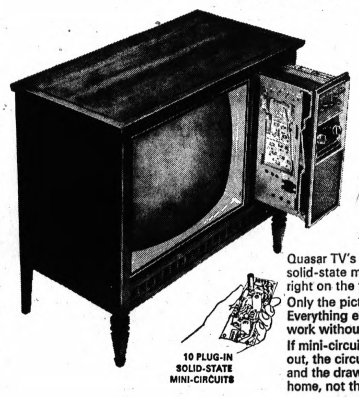
What's Quasar™ Color TV got that keeps it out of the repair shop?


The works in a drawer.
Quasar TV's "works in a drawer" are ten tubeless solid-state mini-circuits arranged in a pull-out drawer right on the front of the set.
Only the picture tube and the rectifier are not solid-state. Everything else is tubeless mini-circuits designed to work without burning out.
If mini-circuit service is ever needed, the drawer slides out, the circuit is unplugged, a replacement is snapped in, and the drawer is closed. It can be done right in your home, not the repair shop.

City Tells How to Rake It In

With the arrival of fall weather, the Pontiac Department of Public Works is again asking for the cooperation of residents in carrying out an efficient and economical leaf-pickup program.

* * *

The DPW points out several ways of disposing of leaves in the city:

- Leaves may be put in containers and placed at the curb where they will be collected by rubbish crews on the regularly scheduled day. Large, inexpensive plastic bags suitable for this purpose are available at local stores.
- Leaves falling on the area between the curb and property line may be raked into the street.

Loads may be taken to the city's sanitary landfill (North side of Collier Road, Joslyn and Baldwin)

Do not rake leaves from lawn areas into the street. This adds significantly to the already heavy task facing city crews in the leaf pickup program.

There is a city ordinance which prohibits the burning of leaves on payed streets.

Since it is the habit of small children to burrow into piles of leaves both off and on the street, the DPW cautions the motoring public against driving through piles of leaves large enough to conceal a child.

Street sweepers will follow leaf-pickup crews to give the streets a final cleaning before winter.

Shooting Spree in Florida

Student Accused of Killing 2, Wounding 2

PALM BAY, Fla. (AP) — A 21-year-old college student has been accused of killing two young neighbors and wounding two others in a shooting spree with a rifle.

Daniel Bernard Thomas, a laboratory assistant at the Florida Institute of Technology, was jailed on charges of murder and assault with intent to commit murder.

When the shooting broke out Wednesday Thomas was in his home awaiting a visit from two sheriff's deputies investigating the lovers' lane slaying of a teen-age boy and girl two months ago.

"This man was not a suspect in the case," said Leigh Wilson, Brevard County sheriff. He declined to say why the investigators wanted to talk with Thomas, but said the deputies were going to the home because Thomas failed to keep two earlier appointments.

VICTIMS

The dead were Elmer Hughes, 21, and Michele Smith, 15.

Wounded were Ronald Hire, 18, and Felipe Medina, 17, both expected to survive.

All of the victims lived near Thomas.

Deputies lobbed tear gas into the gray frame house in an effort to force Thomas out after the shooting but he emerged only after they telephoned assurance that he would not be harmed.

In the Melbourne Beach case George Perry Jr., 19, and Connie Ruth Ballard, 17, were found shot to death in a lovers lane parking spot Aug. 10.

Martin's bound, kneeling body was found in his parked car.

Arabs, Israel Trade Salvos

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab and Israeli guns blazed across the Jordan River again today as Arab guerrillas launched a bazooka and mortar attack on an Israeli army patrol and nearby military strongpoint in the Beisan Valley, reliable sources said.

The sources said the guerrillas opened fire on the patrol and the army position simultaneously. They said the patrol was moving along the river frontier east of the Kfar Ruppin kibbutz, 16 miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

The Israelis struck back with a 25-minute artillery barrage, the informants said. There were no Israeli reports of casualties or damage.

The Israeli military command said a civilian was injured when a Jeep he was driving touched off a mine on a roadside near the Nahal Oz settlement, less than a mile east of the Gaza Strip.

A Cairo newspaper reported today that Jordan is "reconsidering its defense policies" because the United States has refused to supply it with as many fighter planes as it is supplying Israel.

The newspaper, Al Gumhurriya, said informed Jordanian sources at U.N. headquarters in New York reported King Hussein, after declining all Soviet offers of military aid, now is taking a second look at the situation.

The sources said one reason for this was that the United States rejected a request by Hussein for warplanes last April "at the same time that it was undertaking procedures for the delivery of supersonic Phantoms to Israel."

N. Viets Won't Free Yanks

PARIS (AP) — The North Vietnamese told two American wives they won't release any American prisoners of war until all U.S. troops leave Vietnam, the wives said last night.

Sue Shuman and Martha Doss of Virginia Beach, Va., said the North Vietnamese advised them they could speed their husbands' release by demonstrating against the war.

Mrs. Doss and Mrs. Shuman, accompanied by the latter's mother-in-law, Mrs. B. C. Boeckeler, met for an hour and 15 minutes yesterday with two members of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks. They said they came away very disappointed.

"We wanted to obtain the release of all sick and wounded prisoners," Mrs. Shuman said, "but they told us we would have to wait until all the American troops are out of Vietnam and the war is over.

* * *

"We came here with fairly high hopes. We hoped to present the request for humanitarian reasons. They seemed to feel strongly that the prisoner thing is not humanitarian but political."

"Everytime we would bring up the humanitarian thing," Mrs. Doss said, "they would say if we wanted to get our husbands out, we would have to demonstrate."

* * *

"I would never demonstrate against my government," said Mrs. Shuman. "That would dishonor my husband."

Cmdr. Edwin Shuman and Lt. Cmdr. Dale Doss were shot down in North Vietnam and wounded March 17, 1968. Shuman was the pilot and Doss the navigator of a Navy A6 carrier plane.

The two women are returning home Friday.

* * *

Three other groups of American wives have visited the North Vietnamese in Paris—two from Texas and one from Oklahoma—but their husbands are all listed as missing, and their first request was whether they are being held prisoner. The North Vietnamese told all of them they would ask Hanoi for information and let the women know what they found out.

Laotian Troops Take Key Red-Held Land

SAM THONG, Laos (AP) — Laotian forces took the strategic Plain of Jars from the hands of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao with no help from any U.S. military personnel, the area commander said today.

Like Prince Souvanna Phouma, Laos' premier, Maj. Gen. Vang Pao denied in an interview in his mountain headquarters here that Americans are helping Laotian forces in the civil war.

* * *

But Vang Pao produced five captured prisoners who were identified as North Vietnamese to support the Laotian claim that North Vietnamese forces are in Laos fighting at the side of the Pathet Lao.

Speaking of reports that Americans are aiding his forces, Vang Pao said: "We don't want foreigners. We want to be purely neutral."

U.S. JETS OVERHEAD

U.S. jets streaked over the headquarters 100 miles north of Vientiane, the capital, as he spoke. But Vang Pao denied they were used on bombing missions.

"We use only our own T28s," he said. T28s are U.S.-made jet training planes that have been converted into fight-bombers.

"The U.S. planes fly over sometimes but only on reconnaissance," the commander added. "I have never seen a big plane. I have never seen a B52. I would like to."

B52s, the eight-jet bombers, are used by the U.S. Air Force in Vietnam. Some are based in nearby Thailand.

Vang Pao, who is 40 and has been a soldier for 24 years, claimed that his troops have routed enemy forces.

"I control almost all of the Plain of Jars," he said.

* * *

He contended that his 10,000-man force of Meo tribesmen and regular Laotian infantry had inflicted heavy casualties on Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese forces.

"They now have only 7,000 men—before they had 25,000," he said.

He claimed that in the offensive which began four months ago, his troops had captured or destroyed 6,000 guns, 20 tanks, 50 antiaircraft guns, 200 trucks and 6,000 tons of ammunition.

Asked about apprehension in the United States that Americans are involved in Laos, Vang Pao said: "Don't ask me, go to Vientiane and ask the politicians. I am not a politician."

* * *

Vang Pao even denied that Americans are involved as advisers in a passive or active role in the second military region, which he commands.

Vang Pao said there are only these Americans in his region: Four U.S. aid men overseeing relief supplies to refugees, one military attache and a surgeon at the Sam Thong Hospital.

City Man Injured in Two-Car Crash

A Pontiac man was injured yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision at North Perry and East Madison.

* * *

Joe Bannister, 49, of 671 Cameron, was listed in fair condition this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. His injuries were not revealed.

* * *

According to police, he was hurt when the car in which he was riding collided with one driven by Clifford E. Braden, 71, of 906 Stirling at 3 p.m. Bannister was a passenger in a car driven by Steven Schultz, 19, of 747 Whittemore.

* * *

Police said there were no other injuries.

'Red Troops Occupying 7 Cambodian Provinces'

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, said today that 40,000 North Vietnamese and Vietcong troops were occupying seven of his country's provinces bordering South Vietnam.

* * *

At the same time, the prince made a public appeal to three leftist deputies of Cambodia's National Assembly, who have joined Communist guerrilla rebels, to return to the national community "to reinforce unity with a view to fighting the enemies of the nation."

The Cambodian news agency reported that Sihanouk announced on Oct. 15 at a provincial rally he was prepared to renew diplomatic relations with Thailand, if the latter would agree to sign an agreement with Cambodia recognizing their common frontier.

* * *

The news agnecy also reported that six Cambodians were killed on Oct. 6 in an American bombing raid, and another was killed when he was hit by machine gun fire from an American plane.

Early Yule Mailing Urged for Overseas

A special Christmas stamp will go on sale at the Pontiac Post Office Nov. 4.

Post office officials, anticipating an onslaught of additional mail directly prior to Christmas, urge area residents to mail early to armed forces overseas to ensure arrival before Christmas.

* * *

The term "armed forces overseas," includes personnel of armed forces, members of their families and United States Civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an APO or FPO, New York, San Francisco or Seattle.

Postage must be fully prepaid.

Addresses must be legible and complete, prepared with typewriter or ink pen. APO and FPO numbers are the same as the Zip Code and must be shown on all mail.

People mailing gift parcels for distant states are urged to mail them before Dec. 1 to ensure delivery before Christmas. Girl parcels for local and nearby areas should be mailed no later then Dec. 13.

* * *

The name and address of both the sender and addressee should be inclosed in each gift parcel to permit identity in case of damage or loss of the outside address label.

Greeting cards for distant states should be mailed not later than Dec. 10 and those for local delivery not later than Dec. 15. There will be no delivery of Christmas cards and letters other than special delivery on Christmas Day.

ALASKA, HAWAII MAIL

Mail to Alaska and Hawaii should be mailed no later than Dec. 1 and airmail no later than Dec. 15, again, to insure delivery before Christmas.

Christmas cards all require six cents postage, and should contain a return address.

Lunar Rocks Put Holes in Formula for Dating Surface

By AL ROSSITER JR.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — The surprisingly ancient age of the moon rock samples returned by Apollo 11's explorers may force geologists to discard their practice of dating lunar areas by the abundance and sharpness of craters.

It had been assumed that the rate of meteoroid bombardment on the moon has been constant over the ages. Therefore, the older a surface area was, the more craters it would have and the longer a crater had felt the pounding of tiny bits of space debris, the smoother its edges would be.

* * *

"So if you get a subdued feature, you say that's an old one and if you get a sharp, crisp-looking crater, you say that's a young one," space agency geologist Jonn Dietrich said in an interview.

But he said it appears this may not work as a way of dating the relative age of lunar formations.

DON'T MATCH

The problem is that the age results from Apollo 11's expedition don't come close to matching expectations.

* * *

Based on estimates of meteoroid impact frequency, geologists generally had calculated the ages of the moon's vast plainlike "seas" to be in the millions of years age estimates of less than 1 million years.

* * *

But radioactive dating methods placed the minimum ages of Apollo 11's rock samples between 2 billion and 3.5 billion years — as old as the oldest known rocks on earth.

"It was really a shock to get the first age dates coming up in the billions of years from a Mare (Sea) region because if there's anything like a uniform speed of meteoroid impacts going on, we should have had it in the order of a few hundred million rather than a few billion," Dietrich said.

IN A BIND

"So we're kind of in a bind now on the use of this cratering as an indication of age, because of the one date that we have on the Apollo 11 samples.

"If that is supported, it means that our presupposition of a uniform flux of projectiles forming these craters is probably going to have to be thrown out the window."

* * *

The stretch of landscape in the eastern portion of the Ocean of Storms scheduled to be explored by the Apollo 12 astronauts next month appears to be slightly fresher than Tranquility base, based on the concentration and sharpness of craters.

Scientists are eager to see if laboratory analysis of Apollo 12's rock samples comes up with ages similar to Apollo 11's.

"In the area where Eagle (Apollo 11's lunar module) landed, we were in one of the older Mare regions, by the sharpness - of - crater definition," Dietrich said. "If we get over to where the craters are very sharp and jagged and still find they are that old, that means there just is no effective process for smoothing out the features of the moon."

"They can just sit there for billions of years."

* * *

Apoolo 12 astronauts Charles Conrad and Alan L. Bean hope to touch down within walking distance of the Surveyor 3 spacecraft that landed there in April 1967.

The little robot spacecraft photographed the surface around it, and Conrad and Bean will take similar pictures to see if any new craters have been gouged out by meteoroids.

* * *

"If the surface exposure ages are what Apollo 11 said they are, I would think the chances are pretty slim of finding any changes," Dietrich said. "If we find some changes, we'll have to take a look at the Apollo 11 data.

British Garbagemen in Bind Over Strike

LONDON (AP) — Robert Gilby has been a garbageman 17 years and likes the work. But his take-home pay is $31.20 a week, and that's a tight squeeze when you have four children.

Gilby is an example of the London garbagemen—dustmen, they're called here—who have been on strike two weeks, leaving piles of uncollected litter. The dustmen's plight is a shocker even to some Londoners, although British pay is low by American standards. The average wage for a manual worker is $50.40, but laborers on construction jobs frequently earn more.

★ ★ ★

"We want a livable wage," says Gilby, whose basic wage before taxes is 15 pounds 9 shillings, or $37.08. The dustmen seek $48.

"We are prepared for a long strike," says Gilby, 40. "We won't give in easily.

WIFE IS BEHIND HIM

"Fortunately my wife is behind me in this 100 per cent."

Maud Gilby, 47, ironed her children's clothes in their sitting room as her husband spoke.

★ ★ ★

"I think their pay is very bad for the work they do," she said.

"Sometimes he works right through the weekend to get some overtime. It's no life any more."

The Gilby tenement apartment, opposite an army barracks in London's Victoria district, has three bedrooms, living room, kitchen and bathroom. There are bare patches in the living room wallpaper. Maud and Bob try not to think about redecorating because they simply lack the money.

CAREFUL SHOPPING

It takes a good deal of imagination and careful shopping to manage. The rent for their government-subsidized apartment is $11.52 a week, plus $3.60 for lighting and heating.

"The rest goes on food and, when we can manage it, clothes for the children," she said.

★ ★ ★

"Gary—he's 11—had to have a new school uniform. That came to 10 pounds ($24). It soon goes, you know."

Her eldest son, Danny, 15, has started work in the post office and gives Maud $7.20 a week. She helps at a school for $9.60 weekly.

MONTHLY VISIT

"Without the extra money we wouldn't be able to afford a monthly visit to the cinema. And we couldn't take the children out at all.

"I don't buy anything for myself. The children have to come first. I bought a summer suit for myself a year ago and I pay it off at 14 shillings ($1.68) a month. I can't remember when I bought anything for myself before that."

★ ★ ★

She seems remarkably cheerful considering that the strike pay from Bob's trade union runs about $14.40 a week.

"We'll manage somehow," she said as she finished the ironing and made tea. "We eat quite well. But I have to shop very carefully. I look for all the bargains.

CHICKEN ON SUNDAY

"I buy a chicken for Sunday because it's cheaper than beef. But when we're getting a bit stuck for money I really have to use my imagination.

"I make meat-cakes. Then I buy sausages.

"Now it will get worse. I won't say I'm not worried. I am worried. But it's natural to back your husband, isn't it? If I don't who will?"

"We'll just have to tighten our belts a bit," said Bob. He is a tall, lean man with a cough.

"Some people say to me 'Why don't you get a better job?' but I like this kind of work. You are out in the open. You get a nice crew together and everybody's happy.

AP Wirephoto

Condor-Counters Concerned

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Conservationists counting California condors are here this week to scan the skies for the spectacular specimens.

The conservationists want to halt the condors' flight toward extinction.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday and today more than 90 bird watchers are scaling 48 mountains and ridges rimming the southern San Joaquin Valley to look for them.

A condor is an Ice Age relic. North America's largest bird. They have a 10-foot wingspread and can fly for hours with nary a flap by riding air currents.

ONLY 52 SEEN

Once the California condor ranged by the thousands from the Columbia River to Baja California in Mexico. In last year's annual count, only 52 were sighted.

Their last sanctuary is in craggy, brushy hills that anchor the southern end of the agriculturally rich Can Joaquin Valley.

★ ★ ★

Experts say their number has dwindled because of man. They're carrion eaters, and farms and subdivisions now cover much of the land they once patroled. Once they nested over a wide area but now are concentrated in two small sanctuaries in moutain vastnesses.

Despite their isolation, curiosity seekers occasionally invade the sanctuaries and disturb nesting. The birds are skittish. Conservationists have protested the granting of special permission to oil crews to drill in condor country.

★ ★ ★

The state fish and game officials use the information to determine population trends, areas of distribution and areas of nesting and roosting so they can update programs designed to ensure survival of the species.

In 1968, there were 2,059,000 marriages in the U.S., while the number of births was 3,470,000, the smallest since 1946.

They Came Singing Songs Of Peace And Brotherhood In Birmingham's Shain Park

Area Protesters Unite Against Viet War

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The Vietnam war, which has divided the United State, brought people together yesterday—to sing, march and pray for peace.

★ ★ ★

At Oakland University a long-haired "peace dove," in a draped sheet and limp, lone white feather, took the last victory over a corrupt American eagle as students presented a play entitled, "Vietnam is American as Apple Pie."

★ ★ ★

Others on campus spent the day discussing the political, economic and ethical questions that have kept us concerned over Vietnam for 10 years now at the cost of some 40,000 lives.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, 16 women donned black shrouds of mourning to lead a Mourners March of about 150 to 200 persons.

CROWD OF 2,000

In Birmingham, meantime, the crowd had swollen to nearly 2,000 by the time marchers reached Shain Park.

Here fathers strapped unconcerned babies to their backs or put them on their shoulders for a better view.

★ ★ ★

Students, grandmothers, businessmen and clergy were united for a few hours.

Waiting for the bus as the Pontiac march filed by in silence, Mrs. Vinetta Pierce of 44 Arthur looked up at the dark casket and the mourners that followed.

"What we need today is love and that's the truth," said the gray-haired Mrs. Pierce.

"Amen to that baby," mused an unidentified marcher.

Disparities Mark 9 Major Mayor Races

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

Campaigns for city hall in nine major cities are being fought over issues as diverse as race, water, crime and snow.

Seemingly subsided is last summer's law-and-order monsoon that swept former policeman Charles Stenvig into Minneapolis City Hall; spurred Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty to come from behind to defeat a Negro opponent and made New York Mayor John V. Lindsay — for the time being, at least — an outcast in New York City's Republican party.

* * *

Here is how the contests, all but two of them on Nov. 4, look now:

• In New York, Lindsay is running as an Independent against two opponents who have attacked his record on welfare, crime, labor relations, and city services such as snow and garbage removal.

• In Detroit, still scarred by 1967 Negro riots, a white sheriff opposes a black county auditor, but both have pledged high-level campaigns avoiding race as an issue.

• Cleveland's Carl B. Stokes, who in 1967 became the first Negro to be elected mayor of a major U.S. city, faces a tough fight from an opponent who promises to cut the city payroll and spend the money on police.

• Pittsburgh Republican John K. Tabor opposes Councilman Peter F. Flaherty, a maverick Democrat who won in the May primary over the candidate of the party's organization, which has held sway in the city for more than a quarter century.

• In Atlanta, where Maynard Jackson has become the first Negro elected as the city's vice mayor, a liberal Democrat Sam Massell and a moderate Republican Rodney Cook are contending in the Tuesday runoff for mayor as a result of the Oct. 7 election.

* * *

• In Houston's nonpartisan Nov. 15 contest, Mayor Louie Welch is opposed for an unprecedented fourth term by four candidates, including the first Negro to run for the office.

* * *

• Buffalo's Democratic Mayor Frank A. Sedita is running against Republican Councilwoman Mrs. Alfreda Slominski, known for her opposition to racial balancing in schools through busing, and Ambrose I. Lane, Negro former chief of the city's antipoverty program who is running as an independent.

• In Seattle, Republican R. Mort Frayn and Democrat Wesley C. Uhlman, just beginning their campaigns, seem agreed in their support of Negro job demands, a crackdown on drug pushers and institution of a commuter tax.

* * *

• Campaigning has not yet begun in Miami, where a nonpartisan election pits Mayor Stephen P. Clark against private investigator Ivan Nachman and William H. McMahon, a former city employe.

LAW AND ORDER

The law-and-order issue seems to have emerged most strongly in New York and Cleveland, and to a lesser extent, Detroit.

Both Lindsay's opponents, Democratic Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino and Republican State Sen. John J. Marchi, promise vigorous law enforcement, but both deny that they are anti-Negro.

* * *

Procaccino bristled with indignation at Sen. Charles E. Goodell's suggestion that he was running a tacitly racist campaign. And Marchi angrily called Sen. Jacob K. Javits a "pompous, posturing ass" when Javits said Lindsay's opponents "know only the nightstick."

* * *

In Cleveland, Democrat Stokes is thought to have lost substantial white support, vital in a city only one-third Negro, after racial violence broke out in 1968. Police have accused him of giving them too little support.

CALLS FOR 'CRUSADE'

Stoke's opponent, Republican County Auditor Ralph J. Perk, has called for "a crusade to lift our people from the fears which disturb them."

* * *

The Detroit Police Officers Association has endorsed Sheriff Gribbs, who rejects the "law-and-order" tag, saying he is for "firm, fair, just and humane" enforcement. Austin, however, accuses some of Gribbs supporters of "subtle and latent suggestions that black people are identified with crime and whites with law and order."

* * *

The contention that "law and order" is code for racism holds no validity in at least one case, where Houston's Curtis Graves, a Negro, calls the city "the murder capital of the world" and himself the "law and justice" candidate.

* * *

Nowhere is there, at least yet, a one-issue campaign. Lindsay campaigns on the strength of the city's riot-free summers, and is attacked for his handling of disastrous transit, sanitation and school strikes, a housing shortage and skyrocketing rents.

Stokes is hurt by perjury indictments against two of his city appointees to the city civil service commission and grand jury charges that the commission mishandled police examinations. Perk argues that he would have closer ties with the Nixon administration, turning around Stoke's 1967 contention that he would communicate well with President Johnson.

Austin and Gribbs have both been accused of avoiding the issues and speaking in glittering generalities about urban renewal, juvenile delinquency, low-cost housing and job opportunities. A group of moderate Negro leaders went so far as to say both "have not addressed themselves to the crucial issues affecting Detroiters."

* * *

Houston's Welch, a former auto parts dealer who was swept into office six years ago mainly on the strength of an unpopular water rate increase, has been criticized lately because of water rationing made necessary by a 40-day drought.

EAGLE SCOUT — David Sewell Jr., 14, of 3862 Oak Knoll, Waterford Township, recently received the Eagle Scout Award. He attends the Isaac E. Crary Junior High School and is a member of Boy Scout Troop 166, Waterford Township.

Spartan Meets Wolverine in Daily Partisan Preview

BY LINDA CABRAL

It's that time of the year again. The Michigan State Spartans and the University of Michigan Wolverines are ready to fight it out on the football field, for glory and alumni everywhere. And, it's none too soon.

You see, at my house, Dad is a U of M grad and Mom is a staunch Spartan alumna. As for me . . . well, my four years at MSU gave me the good sense to keep my mouth shut at this time of the year.

Two against one odds don't guarantee anything, so I prefer to align myself with the rear guard of conscientious objectors and spectators.

This weekend has been a long time coming for me. With great poise and self-restraint, I have listened to game after hypothetical football game played at our dinner table. As always, the scores have changed in order to antagonize the most vulnerable opponent.

"Michigan is really in top shape," comes from the patriarch.

"What was the score of the game last year, 68-14 or something, wasn't it?" he continues, carrying the conversation through a proverbial mine field.

"I'm going to hate to see you so disappointed, dear," says the little lady, feigning sympathy.

ANYTHING GOES

Unfortunately, there comes a time every season when anything goes. Twenty-three years of marriage, two kids and two cats don't mean a thing. This is it. Game Week.

There are no holds barred, no stones left unturned, no nicknames left unsaid. "Cow College," he shouts, with glee.

"Hippie Haven," she returns.

"We'll see, we'll see," they both echo.

Neighbors know the turmoil that exists. They come to add to the tempest, choosing sides at random.

Man down the street asks how the price of cheese is, so far from the "main factory."

Woman up the street asks how many buildings were destroyed in the latest love-in.

Neighbor across the way queries, "Did you say your degree is in animal husbandry?"

★ ★ ★

Area golfer adds, "I heard your fraternity just went coeducational."

Things just can't go on like this.

So here it is, the game is only hours away. At last our radios are safe from the two channel-switchers, each trying to hear the "good team" play for once.

Finally, both "good teams" will be out on the same field, at the same time, while "my" team takes to the bleachers for their day at the stadium.

They will get settled in their seats, the two teams will take the field and then play the required four quarters. One team will win, one team will lose, we all know that.

★ ★ ★

We also know that a tie will not be tolerated. No Michigan or Michigan State player who has shaken hands with a dues-paying alumnus could ever look him in his bifocaled eyes again if this game didn't have a winner.

And besides that, we have to get this thing settled at home, right, Mom and Dad?

If only for this year.

Mother Torn Between Right, Wrong Feeling

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My son and daughter-in-law have been divorced. There has always been a good relationship between my daughter-in-law and myself. They were simply incompatible. Now I have moved away from their vicinity and I don't know whether it will be proper for me to correspond with her or not.

★ ★ ★

There are four children. My son sees them every other weekend. I don't want to seem disloyal to him, but I feel he is as much to blame for the breakup as she.

★ ★ ★

The children are friendly and want to see me, and I them, but I think my son will not like it too much if I write to her. I would very much appreciate any help you can give me. — Mrs. S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. S.: You should certainly correspond with your son's ex-wife as often as you wish. Of course, you should not "take sides" against him in any way — that would be disloyal. But to continue your friendship with your daughter-in-law and, through her, your grandchildren, is natural and right.

★ ★ ★

And I compliment you on your fair and unprejudiced attitude — one often missing among family members affected by a divorce.

Divorce Begins Struggle for Many

BY JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

No one will deny that divorce poses a problem in this country. Nor will any thinking person argue that children are innocent victims in many cases of long bitter struggles between their divorced parents.

MRS. ODELL

It is the mother who usually gets custody of the children. Unless the court finds evidence that she is definitely unfit to raise a family, she finds herself head of the household. She may work or not; but she is dependent for the most part on the support payments ordered by the court.

Cadman Prout, Friend of the Court in Oakland County, says that 75 per cent of all divorced fathers live up to their obligations and pay the court-ordered support.

★ ★ ★

It's that other 25 per cent who cause all the trouble. It is the same 25 per cent that disgruntled mothers write letters about in The Pontiac Press Voice of the People column.

They have several complaints in common. Their ex-husbands are not sending the money as ordered and the Friend of the Court won't do anything about it.

★ ★ ★

This is particularly galling to the first wife if she knows her husband has remarried and seems to be living in high style while she struggles to make ends meet.

'Unlimited' Here for Rock Concert

The Young-Holt Unlimited, an instrumental recording group which became an overnight success with the release of its first record, will appear in concert at Oakland University Oct. 24.

The 8:30 p.m. program in the Sports and Recreation Building is sponsored by two student groups, the Off Campus and the University Activities Planning Committee. Tickets to the public are available at Hudson stores and at the door.

Co-leaders of the group are bassist Eldee Young and drummer Isaac "Red" Holt, the men who previously formed two-thirds of the Ramsey Lewis Trio.

Young and Holt have now combined talents with Ken Chaney, a Canadian singer turned pianist.

While Chaney is largely a self-taught musician, Young and Holt studied at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. Young began his career as a guitarist, then switched to bass. He has recorded several albums in which he plays cello and is credited with introducing "soul sounds" on that instrument.

Mrs. William Milliken will add modeling to her list of credits as Michigan's first lady. Joining her on Monday as models for the Oakland County Council of Republican Women's Clubs' fashion show will be (from left) Mrs. Brent Moffitt and Mrs. Watson Stringer, presidents of the Bloomfield and West Bloomfield clubs, respectively. Nine other county GOP club presidents will participate in the fund raising show in the Northwood Inn, Berkley.

Brenda's Early Start Could Lead to Her Untimely Finish

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old, Brenda, is our problem. All she thinks about are boys. Brenda is very mature for her age and has been wearing a 38 bra since she was 14.

Last semester she failed two subjects so we sent her to summer school to make them up. Well, she had such a "groovy" summer she failed both subjects again.

★ ★ ★

This year we have laid down the law to her. Instead of letting her stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1 a.m. on weekends, we told her she has to be in the house by 10 p.m. on school nights and 12:30 on weekends. Now she has her dates pick her up at 6:30. Isn't this too early for a girl to be going out? Brenda says since she has to be in by 11 she has to get an early start. What is your opinion?

BRENDA'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: I think Brenda is getting an "early start" for an earlier finish. In my opinion, a 15-year-old should not date at all on school nights (especially if she's failing in school) and midnight is late enough for her to be out on weekends.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: To whom does my blood belong, to my wife or to me!

I signed up to donate a pint of blood to the American Red Cross bloodmobile, and my wife found out about it and canceled my appointment. I would appreciate your opinion in this matter.

CANCELED OUT

DEAR CANCELED: Your blood belongs to you, not to your wife. And unless it's turned to "chicken soup," tell her so.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a hopeless invalid and will be confined to an institution for the rest of her life.

I am in the middle years. My wife's oldest sister (who is still younger than I am) lives about an hour's drive from me in another town. I live alone and have no children. This sister-in-law comes here once a week. She drives to town in the morning, changes the sheets, runs the vacuum and tidies up in general.

★ ★ ★

She appeals to me, as my wife did. Only she is prettier and resembles my wife in speech, mannerisms, etc. As the teen-agers would say, she "turns me on."

She is married, has children and she is very religious. I don't want to get her in trouble, and I must not get in trouble myself, but frankly, I need some loving, and I would like for this lady to be the one. What is your advice?

HURTING FOR LOVE

★ ★ ★

DEAR HURTING: Hire someone to change the sheets, run the vacuum and tidy up in general. Feeling as you do, it's only a matter of time before you get into trouble and make a fool of yourself.

Speaks for Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart called today for establishment of a permanent office of consumer affairs in the executive branch.

The Michigan Democrat suggested his proposal be added to a bill he is sponsoring along with Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, which would set up an entirely independent consumer council.

★ ★ ★

"Consumers are asking which of several legislative proposals deserves their support," said Hart. "The answer is, quite simply, a total package to give the consumer the diverse voice he needs to promote and protect his interest."

Hart outlined his proposal at a hearing of the Senate Consumer subcommittee.

Rainy Weather Is Reminiscent of Indian Visitor's Own Land

By SHIRLEY GRAY

A visitor from India might be excused for thinking Sunday that the monsoons had come to Michigan. That thought, in fact, may well have crossed the mind of Mrs. Sudhir Hari of Bombay, India, the houseguest since last Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Denton Anderson of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Hari, a friend of the Andersons since they met her in Bombay on one of their trips, was the guest of honor at a cocktail party given by her hosts Sunday evening.

★ ★ ★

Her stop in the Detroit area comes after a month or so of traveling in Europe. Since her husband was unable to get away, Mrs. Hari, young and adventuresome, is touring solo. It is to be hoped that Michigan weather, famed for its changeability, and noted for its perverse insistence on dishing out the worst when you want everything just so, doesn't cause our attractive visitor to go away mad.

Finally! A fashion show for healthy people. Instead of gaunt, bony models, normal-sized women. Not only Size 8s, but up through Size 18s. This refreshing change is the bright idea of the gals at the Village Woman's Club. Supplying clothes for the Wednesday event was Marion's Four Corners Fashion Imports, located in Adams Plaza in Birmingham. Models were recruited from club ranks.

COCHAIRMEN

Mrs. Richard M. Olsen was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Richard J. Nuffer and Mrs. John C. Sperrit.

On Friday VWC will have a champagne-punch reception welcoming new members from 7 to 7:30 p.m., just before the regular Friday night dinner dance.

In charge for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dann of Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

Sunday was a big day in the life of Mrs. Ella M. Kuhn of Lake Angelus, whose 84th birthday occurred Saturday. A total of 56 relatives and descendants, including nine sons and two daughters, celebrated the event with church attendance, a family dinner, gifts and good wishes.

Mrs. Kuhn is a former Michigan Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Fink to Speak at Woman's Club Tea

Mrs. Jerome Fink, board member of the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, will speak at Monday's meeting and tea of the Pontiac Woman's Club. The event takes place in PCAC at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. F. M. White is program chairman and Mrs. Alick Clarke, chairman of the tea.

★ ★ ★

Assisting them will be Mesdames: A. F. Hudson, Wallace Morgan, Arthur Nicholl, Roy Ward, Clarence Myers, R. W. Stogdill and Harry Dunwiddy.

The subject is skiing as three members of the U.S. Ski Team Benefit Ball meet to plan details for the Wednesday event at the Raleigh House in Southfield. Studying a potential ski boot and flowers centerpiece are Mrs. Sixten Ehrling (seated), an honorary chairman, and committee members Mrs. Paul Howe of Southfield and Don Thomas of Bloomfield Hills.

Ski Team Ball Planned as a Fund Raiser

In the world of skiing, "apres-ski" or after-ski means the social life following a day on the slopes.

* * *

Michigan ski people now are going to try a "before-ski" social event — before the ski season, that is. It is expected to be the largest gathering of ski enthusiasts ever held in the state. But instead of sweaters and stretch pants, they'll go formal.

* * *

The occasion is the U.S. Ski Team Ball to be held Wednesday evening at the Raleigh House in Southfield. A turnout of 1,000 is expected.

* * *

Ardent skiers from the worlds of government, society, business and sport are being invited to attend the 7 p.m. dinner dance benefit intended to raise funds for the U.S. Ski Team now training for the 1969-70 season.

TEAM MEMBERS

Two members of the team plus former U.S. coach Bob Beattie will be honored.

* * *

Swain Stuck on Steering

TORONTO, Canada (AP) — Some fellows become firmly attached to their favorite girl friends, but David Potter became firmly attached to his girl's car.

David, 23, a research analyst, became trapped while parked with Barbara McCulloch, 23, a University of Toronto student, when he stuck his left index finger into a hole in the aluminum spoke on her new sports car's steering wheel and it held fast.

* * *

The well-stuck beau collected an audience of four policemen, four firemen, six ambulance drivers, two interns and three nurses.

Toronto General Hospital failed to unstick the finger, but the fire department rescue squad had more success. Two large firemen climbed into the tiny car, but through the spoke with aid of bolt cutters and snipped off the remaining ring of aluminum.

Physicians estimate that there are some 1.2 million people in the U.S. afflicted with undiagnosed glaucoma.

Kids' Opinions Vary on Fathers

GLENWOOD, Iowa (AP) — Asked by the Glenwood Opinion-Tribune to answer the question, "What is a father?" students in the 3rd grade class of Mrs. Max Hammer came up with these deifnitions:

★ ★ ★

"A nice guy with money," "A person that makes decisions;" "He is a guy who married your mother;" "A man who plays golf;" "A guy who sleeps a lot."

Reported one student: "My dad is tired." And another answered the question "What is a father?" simply and factually: "One of my parents."

Costly Remedy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A maid in a home in the Pacific Palisades area decided the best way to smoke out a swarm of bees making itself at home in the chimney was to start a fire in the fireplace. A spark from the fire touched off a blaze on the rooftop. Fire damage was estimated at about $12,000.

Dental Health

Do-It-Yourselfers Often Waste Money

By DR. HOWARD E. KESSLER

"He who is his own doctor has a fool for a patient." I often think of this expression when I hear of someone sending to a mail order place or going to a drugstore and buying material to doctor-up or reline an ill-fitting set of dentures.

KESSLER

Instead of going to their dentist and getting an expert diagnosis and proper treatment, these people want to be their own doctor.

It is bad enough that they sometimes ruin a set of dentures which their dentist might have been able to refit to accommodate the tissue changes in the mouth. But still worse, they run the risk of injuring their mouth tissues, bone structure and health.

Your dentist knows how to examine the soft tissues and bone which support dentures. He understands the muscle balance which helps you to wear dentures successfully. He is able to recognize any suspicious areas or sores in your mouth.

Also, he is able to analyze your situation and tell you if your dentures can be relined successfully or whether it is necesary for you to have new ones made.

★ ★ ★

As time goes by, mouths usually change, some more than others. Sometimes the change is due to a natural process, and sometimes it is due to some disease or pathology in the mouth. Only your dentist can give you the expert answer.

Do-it-yourself relines are often more expensive in the long run. They sometimes are even bordering on the dangerous.

Some 4,000 young Americans start smoking each day.

La Leche League Has Area Group

There is a newly formed Birmingham area group of La Leche League. La Leche is a Spanish word meaning "the milk." All women interested in nursing their babies may join.

Mrs. Richard Lawler of Birmingham will host the first meeting Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

La Leche League began in a Chicago suburb 11 years ago, when one mother who had successfully nursed her baby, helped another who wanted to breastfeed.

Mrs. Frank Sherwood of Birmingham may be contacted for further information.

Attack Fall Chores With Fervor

It's the lively time to clean the house, fall is. The nip in the air livens your step; sharpens your determination to get down to the nitty gritty of fall housecleaning. It's down with dirt! So gather your gear and hark to a few suggestions.

Save your money for better things than a horde of cleaning and shining lotions. Invest in a single, inexpensive, all-purpose cleaner such as washing soda which you'll find with the laundry supplies in your local supermarket.

This unassuming white powder packs as much of a wallop in cleaning as it does in your wash. Mix up a solution . . . four tablespoons to the quart of hot water . . . and sponge it over your woodwork for the quickest erasing of smudges you've ever seen. If you want to really test its vigor try the wall behind the stove . . . a catch-all for hard-to-get-rid-of-grease splashes.

ALL-PURPOSE

It works an equally quick cure on dirt-dulled tile and linoleum, windows, mirrors, metal and plastic surfaces. And there's no saccharine smell left in its wake . . . just an honest freshness.

And where jobs call for scouring-powder power, use dry washing soda. It loosens the ground-in grime without scratching the surface beneath the dirt for it contains no grit or sediment and it dissolves when the rinse water hits it.

★ ★ ★

And while saving money, save your strength, too. Use your husband's ex-golf bag to caddy your mop, broom, sponges, rags and the rest of your cleaning paraphernalia from room to room. Besides giving you a certain flair, you'll find the combined weight of your load easy to take when it's slung over your shoulder.

And to save yourself from those back wrenching reaches, invest in a sponge or mop with a medium length handle to get to the back of those low cupboards. Or saw off a long-handled sponge to a comfortable length.

Print Club Invites Public to Lecture

One of the Detroit Institute of Arts' Founders Society groups, the Drawing and Print Club, invites the public to a slide-lecture, "Confessions of a Print Collector," as part of its third annual meeting at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, in the museum Lecture Hall.

The gentleman "confessing" will be Donald H. Karshan, founder and president of the Museum of Graphic Art, New York. Mr. Karshan's interest in graphic art began in his student years. His personal collection is the subject of a recent book, "The Language of the Print."

Karshan is the author of several other books on the arts, as well as many articles in periodicals. He participated in organizing two outstanding and definitive exhibitions of graphic arts recently shown at the Detroit Institute of Arts: Mary Cassatt and Winslow Homer.

The Drawing and Pint Club is open to all members of the Founders Society who are interested in an active program of special lectures, exhibitions, visits to other collections and artists.

★ ★ ★

The club was organized in 1966 when Ellen Sharp was appointed Curator of Graphic Arts at the Art Institute. It now has a membership of 200 persons, headed by current officers: Bernard F. Walker of Bloomfield Hills, president; Dr. Ernst Scheyer of Detroit vice president; Mrs. John Eemery of Grose Pointe, secretary; Kurt Michel of Franklin, treasurer.

Preceding the lecture, the membership's annual dinner meeeting in the museum will be arranged by Mrs. John Greenberg of Huntington Woods, at which members will select a print as their annual gift to the museum's permanent collection.

Women Vie for Award

The Waterford Jaycee Auxiliary is accepting nominations for its annual Community Service Award.

Young women between the ages of 21 and 36 are eligible. They must be residents of the township and have been engaged in community activities that will have lasting value.

The winner will compete in the state-wide contest for the four outstanding young women's awards to be given in February at the State Jaycee meeting in Flint.

Mrs. Cecil Stricklin of Angelus Drive may be contacted for applications. Deadline for entries is Nov. 17.

BAA Exhibition Features Art for Young Collectors

Original graphics and paintings will be featured in an exhibition of art for young collectors which will open the Bloomfield Art Association's 1969-'70 schedule Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Outstanding Michigan artists are participating, by invitation, including Aris Koutroulis, Wayne State University professor of art; Angelo Ippolito, artist-in-residence at Michigan State University and Ted Ramsay of the University of Michigan art faculty. All works will be for sale and all are priced under $300.

★ ★ ★

A preview for BAA members and guests is scheduled Friday evening in their gallery on Cranbrook Road. The show will run through Nov. 16. Gallery hours are 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

Picture Potential Aided by Framing

Ondescript pictures take on new importance as decorative accessories when framed and matted properly, the Picture and Frame Institute points out. Take a careful look at the pictures that now decorate your walls.

★ ★ ★

If any picutres are not doing their job decoratively, consider brightly colored mats or reframing them. You'll be surprised and pleased with the results.

1924 Visit Hasn't Ended

KENT, Ohio (AP) — In 1924, Kent State University President John McGilvrey invited Dr. and Mrs. Arville Ottis DeWeese of Louisville, Ky., to Kent for a brief visit.

★ ★ ★

Forty-five years later, the doctor and his wife are still in Kent.

★ ★ ★

"McGilvery was shrewd," recalls Dr. DeWeese. "He needed a director for his new student health service and physical education department I was his candidate." McGilvrey arranged a faculty wives' tea in honor of Mrs. DeWeese, which persuaded her to stay. The doctor agreed after Mc Gilvrrey showed him the house they would have. The DeWeese still live in that house.

★ ★ ★

Dr. DeWeese, 81, is now retired from active KSU service. He keeps busy as the executive secretary of the American School Health Association, headquartered in Kent. He helped found the organization 30 years ago.

Fringe Benefit

Bachelors should note that marriage could mean a much better chance to reach old age, according to the Health Insurance Institute. In a recent study of longevity, married men were found to live notably longer than single. The disparity in death rates reached a peak in the age bracket 30-14. At all age levels, divorced men showed the highest death rate.

Planning Nov. 21 wedding vows in Hawaii are Marlene Varajon and Spec. 4 Gerald E. Young, USA. Announcing their daughter's engagement are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Varajon of Troy. The bride-elect attended Oakland University. Her fiance, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Young of Flemings Lake Road, Independence Township, is stationed in Hawaii.

Sisters Chalk Up 100 Years

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Treister sisters, who live together as well as work together, have chalked up a century of employment with Halle Bros. here.

"I just marked 50 years here and my sister Rose reached that point last year," said Miss Hilda Treister, who started working in 1919 just after World War I when she was 18.

★ ★ ★

After working in the audit department she became a personal shopper in 1947 and has been at it ever since.

Miss Rose Treister is in credit files, having started in the store immediately after finishing business school.

Retire? "We haven't thought about it," they say.

At Christ Church Sale

Shoppers Arrive Early

That fabulous once-a-year rummage sale given by the women of Christ Church Cranbrook, is near at hand, announces Mrs. Daniel Webb, general chairwoman.

Buyers start lining up outside the giant church as early as 6 a.m. Mrs. Dorr Lovett and Mrs. Bruce Craig will assume their posts as coffee and doughnut hostesses for the early crowd this year on Oct. 30. Doors open at 9 a.m. and the sale continues until 2 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The entire church, including the clergy offices, with the exception of the sanctuary, will be stocked on the Monday prior to the now famous sale. The last conservative estimate of donated items totaled 25,000. The French Room (luxury gowns and high fashion ensembles) will again be a highlight of the sale.

It has taken months for the restoration of items, marking and sorting, but with the big day near, as in the past, the women who have worked so diligently will be treated to a luncheon and zany fashion show on Tuesday.

"Goodbye to the Sixties," an original skit directed by its author, Mrs. Harvey Sanderson, is geared to make the workers forget their drudgery.

★ ★ ★

Models for the show, commented by Mrs. Frankin Hitch, will all be heads of the 14 departments of the "rummage store."

70 Music Clubs Send Delegates to District Meet

Representatives from 70 local music clubs as well as state and national officers of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, will attend the annual Southeast District meeting next Wednesday in the Town and Country Club, Southfield.

The day begins with a coffee at 9 a.m. and closes with a business session at 2:35 p.m.

★ ★ ★

There will be morning workshops followed by a general business meeting and election before the noon luncheon. A musicale program will highlight the afternoon segment. Mrs. M. Cedric Dowling, state president, will address the group.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. George V. Cripps of Dursley Drive, Bloomfield Hills, is accepting reservations before Friday.

The average American works 127 days a year to earn enough to pay all national, state and local taxes.

MR. AND MRS. E. V. MYERS

Three Children of Couple to Host Sunday Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Myers of Coasta Mesa Road will be honored Sunday at a reception from 2 until 5 p.m. Their golden anniversary will be celebrated in the First Federal Savings of Oakland.

Their children, who are hosting the affair, are: Charles E. Myers of Clayburn Street, Mrs. James VanScoyoc of Costa Mesa Road and Mrs. William Walter of Horseshoe Drive.

★ ★ ★

The honorees were married Oct. 17, 1919 in Detroit and have resided in this area since that time. They have 10 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

Protects Business

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Supermarket-owner Frank Brierley feared that business would fall off if customers kept getting tickets when they parked too long outside his store. So he hired his own traffic "warden" to warn shoppers when their time was up by calling out registration numbers over a loudspeaker.

High by Pound

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Customers who complain about the rising cost of food in a supermarket here are referred to a sign posted for all to read. It says: "If you think beef is high, remember that cigarettes are $6.95 a pound."

Almost 100; Flies Ocean

NEW YORK (AP) — "If I had a chance, I'd go to the moon," commented Mrs. Giovina Pasquale Lippis of Italy, who demonstrated her spirit of adventure by flying from Rome to New York at the age of 99.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Lippis, whose relatives in this country include two sons, two daughters and 40 grandchildren and great-grandchildren, was greeted by many of them at the airport.

★ ★ ★

"I am interested in knowing America and the world," she said. "I intend to remain in step with the times."

Mrs. Lippis will return to Italy to celebrate her 100th birthday this month.

If You're Sick—Just Go to Bed—Hah

By BETTY CANARY
NEA Writer

I had the sniffles, pretended a fever, and the doctor said pleasantly, "Stay in bed for a day or two and rest. It's just a virus."

Humming a little tune, I set out a bottle of aspirin and a cup of tea, then with a chocolate almond bar and the copy of "Ada" I had wanted to real all summer, I went to bed. The telephone rang.

* * *

"Your daughter doesn't feel well," the principal said, "so perhaps you'd like to come after her."

I dressed, marked my place in the book, hid the remains of the candy bar, drove to school collected my child. I called the pediatrician. "Call back tonight," he said, "it's probably just a virus."

I tucked Babs into bed, gave her the prescribed aspirin. "Orange juice, books, doll, crayons," I said. "Mother is going to bed now."

STILL HUMMING

Back in my room, I hummed a little tune. Aspirins, more tea, nightgown, melted candy bar, book. The telephone rang. The principal at junior high school said, "Stu isn't feeling well. We seem to have a virus at school."

After that trip, I felt slightly rocky. "Stay in bed, take an aspirin," I said, and tottered off to my room. I wasn't humming, even tunelessly. Nightgown. Book. Couldn't find the candy bar. I pulled up the blanket and the telephone rang.

* * *

The nurse from the high school said, "Rick doesn't feel well."

"I'll be after him in a few minutes," I answered.

"Don't worry," she said. "I think it's just this virus." (Frankly, I think it was a conspiracy.)

* * *

Home from the third trip, I staggered up the steps. "Mstpflk," I said to my eldest son. But, after all, he has had a first aid course and knows about aspirins. I definitely had a fever now.

I found the candy bar. Stuck to the back of my bed jacket. Went to bed with my clothes on.

* * *

Rattling sound from upstairs. Babs had dropped her crayons. Crash. Stu had dropped his orange juice. Upstairs, I cleaned up the broken glass, collected the crayons, then went back to my room. Decided I should mix a meat loaf and stir up more orange juice while I was on my feet. A mother's job is never done, I thought loyally.

Two other children came in from school. Helped them fix chocolate pudding for a treat.

* * *

Back in my room, I struggled into my nightgown, threw my book on the floor, got into bed and dozed. Not for long, of course. Just until my helpful daughter came in and spilled a cup of hot tea on me. I changed the sheets, found a fresh gown, answered the telephone.

"What's the matter?" my friend asked.

"Sick," I answered.

"Then, for heaven's sake," she said, "why don't you go to bed?"

Marriages Announced

Oxford United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Sandra Sue Marshall and Edwin H. Streit.

The couple was honored with a reception following their candlelight wedding Saturday.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Eugene D. Overley and Leon Streit.

* * *

Gowned in satin with lace accents, the bride carried a bouquet of gardenias, Stephanotis and roses. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Marshall of Tanview Drive, Oxford Township.

* * *

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Streit of Tipton, Kan.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Toronto.

Parle-Ibarra

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Parle (Bertha Alicia Ibarra) are residing in Lawrence, Kan. following their recent wedding in the Church of the Sacred Heart, Juarez, Mexico.

One-Quarter of Divorced Fathers Fail in Support

We have been talking with some of these women. We have talked with Prout. He does not minimize the problems. "We sympathize but we cannot do much about it," he says.

★ ★ ★

When asked why staffers who answer the telephone are sometimes curt and occassionally tell the woman not to call again, Prout acknowledged that such incidents do happen — regretably. Telephone girls are only human and when they're overworked, they occasionally blow up.

MISUNDERSTANDING

But Prout also presents their case. It's often a communications problem. Sometimes the woman calling wants advice or action that is not possible without a letter or personal visit.

★ ★ ★

Some callers won't even give their names or say why they're calling. The telephone girls can't refer them to the right department unless the nature of the call is known.

★ ★ ★

Disagreements about visitation rights cannot be solved by telephone. Incidentally, visitation rights are not technically related to support although some persons try to use them as blackmail. If a mother witholds visitation rights, she can be judged in contempt of court.

★ ★ ★

The typical call coming into FoC office may be a demanding question:

"Where's my money?" or "Are you holding my money?"

"Have you sent my money to the wrong woman?"

★ ★ ★

Information about the sending of checks is rarely given out over the phone. There have been too many cases of some one other than the proper recipient intercepting the check before it reaches its destination.

Although the lawyers in FoC office interview clients on Monday afternoons and all day Tuesdays and Thursdays, the complaints outstrip the available time.

IN WRITING

Certain complaints must be put into writing, not just voiced in a telephone conversation.

"My ex-wife has a man in the house," may eventually result in an order for change of custody of the children. But the ex-husband must put it in writing before a caseworker is sent out to check the facts. Then the complainant can go to an attorney to start proceedings.

★ ★ ★

Changes of address must be put in writing to avoid mistakes and to be part of the permanent record.

"I signed a complaint two months ago and I still haven't gotten any money."

Possibly the ex-wife hasn't. Although a warrant may go out for a delinquent father, he can't always be found. The staff is not large enough, says Prout, to "do a lot of hound-dogging to find delinquent fathers."

★ ★ ★

If the ex-wife can furnish an address where the man works or lives, it helps. But sometimes other members of his family will not cooperate when a deputy shows up.

"I've told them where he is, but the report comes back, 'Sorry, but his mother doesn't want him picked up.'" This is the sort of thing that infuriates ex-wives.

The wife can go with the deputy to help identify the man but sometimes they're out-fumbled.

Many businesses do not want deputies from FoC to go in with warrants.

If a man has left the State, it is still possible for him to be located. FoC can write to the Social Security office in Baltimore and get the present whereabouts of such individuals. Then the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement Service act goes into effect. Files in other states are kept on such delinquent fathers, and the law is put into effect.

★ ★ ★

Service fees are something that the mothers hate. Some do not understand why their checks are short because of this. It's a common reason for a phone call.

CHARGES

Why is it deducted? The computer makes an automatic $9 deduction for service fees twice a year. This helps defray costs of the department.

The man is supposed to pay it, but if he doesn't, it is taken out of the check. However, he is billed for it and eventually it should be returned to the ex-wife.

This, is little help to the woman who is counting on a certain amount and has it already earmarked for certain expenses.

Mothers also complain that they are unable to get proper medical and dental care for their children.

Fathers, says Prout, are responsible for all necessary ordinary hospital, medical and dental expenses. Blue Cross now okys payment for medical bills, even if the child does not live with the father.

★ ★ ★

Orthodontia, contact lenses and some special cases do not come under the heading of necessary and ordinary expenses.

The mothers send in their bills which are, in turn, sent to the fathers. If they are unpaid, this fact goes into the files and the man may be judged in contempt of court for medical bills.

★ ★ ★

Between 1000 and 1500 cases are on ADC. When the father cannot pay or simply doesn't for an extended period, this is the only recourse. Then his child support money is assigned over to the state which has the power of attorney and the woman gets her allotment.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County sends about $350,000 a year to Lansing for ADC mothers. The state notifies the county if the man does not pay. FoC gives more time to ADC and welfare mothers than to others, because the public's money is involved.

The mothers complain that, even though they sign warrants, nothing happens. It may take three months or more to get the father into court and to get regular payments started.

★ ★ ★

With wage assignment orders becoming more common, this problem should be somewhat alleviated. But there will always be men who don't pay or pay only when threatened with jail.

One mother complained that her ex husband's weeks were 10 days long. "His weeks run 10 to 12 days, but the kids eat seven days a week."

Another says her ex-husband's present wife is now sending the money. Another complains because the checks are held in FoC office for 10 days; this man has had so many bad checks bounce.

POOR ARITHMETIC

One complained that FoC couldn't or wouldn't tell her how far behind her ex-husband is with his payments. A check of the files shows that the man in question is not only paid up to date, but is $35 ahead.

Some women make it a full time job calling FoC and swearing out warrants. The files of one case show that the woman did not get her child support as ordered by the court. But, on the other hand, she is only one case handled by the lawyer, who with the deputy have 4999 other cases to look after. It is humanly impossible to devote as much time to all of them.

★ ★ ★

This woman also complains that FoC is incompetent, has no understanding of her suffering and has a high-handed "could care less" attitude.

Yet, the incompetent, uncaring, disinterested and high-handed staff of FoC has devoted hundreds of hours to her case in the past eight years.

Granted that her ex-husband was frequently behind in his payments and had to be brought into court at least 16 times, FoC has really gone all the way for her. Once when a show cause was brought to court, it was found the father had overpaid almost $200.

★ ★ ★

Maybe because of cases like this, women are allowed only two show cause hearings a year. Harsh? Probably. But until more personnel is provided for the Friend of the Court office, such rules have to be made. Wage assignments have cured this type of case, but they are no good for the self-employed.

Prout and a number of other individuals working with divorce and child support cases believe that a family court should be set up; this, they think will help in all phases of domestic problems. It will take a state law and is still in the talking stages only. Prout would like to see a pilot program in Oakland County.

Special Dress for Newborns

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (AP) — New arrivals at St. Mary's Hospital could, if they liked, turn up their small noses at babies in the other hospital divisions of the Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens.

Not for them the swaddling garments usual for a newborn baby. Instead, the St. Mary's babies wear chic ensembles befitting the occasion. Made by Mary Jane Pettit, R.N., the outfits are appropriate to a holiday such as Easter, the Fourth of July or Christmas.

★ ★ ★

In the event there is no convenient holiday date, the babies are dressed in pastel outfits, with gay crib blankets and wee bouquets pinned to a welcome card.

Update That Medicine List

"Most medicine cabinets contain too much junk — including old, outdated medicines that could be harmful," according to Bernerd H. Burbank, MD. Medical Director of McGraw-Hill, a publishing firm.

Keep the family medicine simple, he recommends. Post in it an up-to-date chart with antidotes for poisons, and the telephone number of your nearest Poison Control Center. Include numbers of your family doctor or pediatrician, an alternate doctor, local hospital, police, and fire departments.

★ ★ ★

A clinical thermometer, adhesive dressings, sterile gauze dressings individually wrapped, a couple of rolls of roller bandage, a jar of vaseline, and a bottle of aspirin should be included.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Burbank adds that soap and water are good to cleanse skin and wounds, although he notes some prefer pHi-soHex (an antibacterial skin cleanser used by many physicians), or an antiseptic such as merthiolate.

Reject Loophole

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — (AP) — Thirfty-five years after Mr. and Mrs. Joesph Ross said "I do." in a marriage ceremony, they are asking the courts to rule their marriage as valid. Somebody had forgotten to record the wedding in 1934.

Bach to Be Major Part of Cranbrook Festival

Under the continuing direction of general chairman, L. James Schneider, the fifth annual spring music festival at Christ Church Cranbrook is set for May 1 and 2, 1970.

Music director, Kenneth Jewell, stated that the music of J. S. Bach will continue to be of major significance in the programming of Cranbrook Festival '70, successor to the highly successful Bach at Cranbrook series.

Works by Vivaldi, Handel, Haydn and Mozart will also be featured in an effort to broaden the Festival's appeal.

Jewell, cofounder of the Bach at Cranbrook series, will conduct the Kenneth Jewell Chorale, Detroit's only professional chorus, as well as the newly formed Cranbrook Festival Orchestra.

CONCERTMASTER

Concertmaster of the orchestra, drawn from the ranks of the Detroit Symphony, will be Mischa Mischakoff, former distinguished concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony and now special guest concertmaster of the Baltimore Symphony. Mischakoff will also be a featured soloist.

* * *

Latest addition to the festival orchestra is Albert Tipton, former principal flutist with the Detroit Symphony. He will perform as first flutist of the orchestra and soloist.

* * *

A highlight of Cranbrook Festival '70 will be the appearance of Paul Callaway, former student of Marcel Dupre and currently organist of the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C. In response to repeated requests by past Festival audiences, Mr. Callaway will perform toccatas, preludes and fugues by Bach on the Friday evening and Saturday afternoon programs.

* * *

"As in years past," said Mr. Schneider, "the Festival's objective will continue to be the performance of the finest music in the uniquely beautiful Gothic setting of Christ Church."

WORKING

Eight members of the executive committe have been with the Festival since the first year. They include Schneider, Mrs. Ernest A. Jones, honorary vice-chairman; Mrs. John P. Denio, ticket chairman; Mrs. Robert M. Sandoe, Mrs. Albert J. Silber, Thomas Grimes, and George Raptis of the Kenneth Jewell Chorale.

* * *

Others are Robert Bates, music director of Christ Church Cranbrook; and Mrs. Charles H. Huntoon, Cranbrook Music Guild. They have been joined by Mrs. William L. Mitchell, vice-chairman; Mrs. Kenneth T. Carlson and Mrs. David Booth.

Some 13 billion linear yards of domestic fabrics are sold annually at a total sale of about $21 billion.

JOHN DOVARAS

Raymond Benner Sets Rival May Concerts

Raymond Benner who was artistic director of the Bach at Cranbrook concerts for the past four years is starting a new Bach festival in Grosse Pointe.

The Village Bach Festival Association will present three concerts on May 1 and 2, 1970 in the Fries Auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. These are the same dates as the concerts at Cranbrook.

Benner is Village Bach Festival Association president and a member of its board of directors. Board members include Edward L. Kaminski, W. Ralph Jewell, Esq., Dr. Charles Kessler and Dr. Stuart Lottier.

* * *

In addition to an executive committee based in the Grosse Pointes, a committee headed by Mrs. David N. Eicher of Orchard Lake will handle tickets and public relations in the Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and Troy area.

TIE WITH OU

Another new development for the Village Bach Festival involves the recital hall currently under construction at Oakland University. When completed in the fall of 1970, the hall will be part of the Oakland University Center of Performing Arts.

At the suggestion of W. W. Kent, Dean of the School of the Performing Arts, the Village Bach Festival has been invited by Oakland University's Chancellor, D. B. Varner, to participate in the opening concerts of the new hall.

* * *

Benner has announced the appointment of John Dovaras as choral director of the festival. Dovaras, a resident of Birmingham and assistant professor of music at Oakland University, will organize and train a Bach-sized 20-voice group known as the Village Bach Singers.

Dovaras will conduct the a cappella works as well as sing in the group during cantatas. All vocal-instrumental works will be directed by the concertmaster as was the practice during Bach's day.

AUDITIONS

Auditions for the Village Bach Singers will be held at the First Baptist Church, 300 Willits, Birmingham, on Oct. 22 and 29 and Nov. 5 and 12 from 7:30 - 9:00 p.m.

Kenneth Jewell, music director of Cranbrook Festival '70 and Mischa Mischakoff, concertmaster of the Cranbrook Festival Orchestra, discuss programming for the fifth annual festival at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Advice on Rugs

DEAR POLLY — Like Mrs. D. S., I was undecided as to whether or not scatter rugs used on top of my carpet, where it receives a lot of wear, would make holes in the carpet. The store where I bought the carpet told me that washable throw rugs would not hurt it but that one should never use such a small rug if it has a rough back. — SHIRLEY.

* * *

DEAR GIRLS — When carpet is laid, many do have the left-over pieces made into small rugs for this purpose, as they are less noticeable than small, washable scatter rugs which, of course, are soft and would not harm the carpet underneath.

* * *

There is a word of caution concerning the use of rugs made from carpet (particularly the less-expensive grades) that has a rubber or rough backing, which might also discolor the carpet beneath it. — POLLY

* * *

DEAR POLLY — I am an economy not and cannot bear to throw away anything that might be usable. I cut old mattress pads into various sizes, according to the good parts, with some of the pieces square and some oblong.

* * *

After washing them, I use them as liners for pillow tops — like covers made from scraps and with extra flannel strips left at both ends. These strips made them easier to hang on the line after washing and they dry more quickly. My colorful pads are used as shoulder pads for burping my grandchildren and also to lay them on when they are being changed. —ELEANORE

Story Telling Offered Weekly

The Union Lake branch, American Association of University Women, is sponsoring a story hour each Wednesday at Dublin Community Center on Union Lake Road.

Volunteer story tellers will tell tales to all area pre-school children at 10:30 a.m. The series will last through Nov. 5.

This year will see the 100 millionth motor vehicle go onto the highways of the United States.

Dancers Slate a Performance at Andover

The Southbloon Dance Company, an avant garde troupe of young dancers from Antioch College, will perform at 8:30 p.m., Friday at the Andover High School auditorium, Long Lake Road west of Telegraph.

* * *

According to one of the dancers in the troupe, 'The purpose of dance is to shake people up — to break the barriers between people and to get them to breathe with me."

* * *

The event is co-sponsored by Roeper School and Oakland Community College in support of the Metropolitan Dance Project

Tickets are $2 adults, $1 students and may be purchased at the door.

For tickets or information, contact Roeper School or the OCC Community Services Division.

Mrs. Marvin L. Katke (left) and Mrs. Ben D. Mills with John H. De Carlo, new vice chancellor of Performing Arts at Oakland University. Both women with their husbands are past chairmen of the Meadow Brook Festival committee. They admire newly unpacked merchandise at the Abercrombie and Fitch store which will open the week of Oct. 20 at Somerset Mall.

Tours to Benefit Theatre, Festival

Abercrombi Fitch will present a series of private pre-opening champagne buffets for the benefit of The Meadow Brook Theatre and Festival of Oakland University.

The newly completed A&F Troy store will be the scene of the daily preview luncheons to be held Monday through Friday. Edward R. Wilbur III, A&F vice president and manager of the Troy store, will be host to approximately 300 women each day.

★ ★ ★

Following the luncheons, guests will be taken on a private tour of the store and five per cent of all purchases made during preview week will be donated to The Meadow Brook Theatre and Festival of Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

Durward B. Varner, chancellor of Oakland University and Earle K. Angstadt Jr., president of Abercrombie & Fitch will be the hosts at a cocktail party on Friday evening. Four hundred guests are expected to attend and the same percentage arrangement on any purchase made will be in effect.

The new A&F store opens officially on Saturday. It is a contemporary building of 20,000 square feet located at the midpoint of a new shopping center known as Somerset Fashion Mall.

Tickets Ticketer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Nancy Chambers, a Denver meter maid, parked her three-wheel motor scooter and walked some distance to put overtime parking tickets on some cars in places she could not reach in her vehicle. During the time she was on foot, another member of the police force slapped a ticket on her motor scooter for overtime parking.

Met Wife Competes, Too

NEW YORK (AP) — Nancy Seaver fell into the arms of a friend and cried.

"I feel like I pitched it myself," said this tall blue-eyed blonde after her husband won the fourth game of the World Series.

The people at the game treated her as if she had. If Tom Seaver has become king of the Mets because of his pitching, beautiful Nancy has become queen. Fans pressed around her in such numbers for autographs or just a look during the game that ushers were dispatched to her box near the Met dugout to chase them away.

★ ★ ★

Nancy Seaver, 24, gets nervous ulr2

Nancy Seaver, 24, gets nervous every time Tom pitches. She takes it harder than he does when he loses and when he wins, which is most of the time, she takes it in stride.

On this day, which meant so much to the winningest pitcher in baseball this year with 25 victories, his wife sat on the edge of her chair, her hands gripped together on her lap. When the Mets were at bat, and there was a long hit or a spectacular play, she stood on her chair and waved her blue and white Met pennant.

She wore a brown knit pants suit—no coat—and shivered as the shadows lengthened. A friend handed her a raincoat which she used as a blanket.

WIN OR LOSE

She behaves much the same way at every game, win or lose. "When they hit him, they hit me," she said after Seaver lost the opening Series game.

In Wednesday's game, the Baltimore Orioles hit Tom Seaver just three times through eight innings and he was working on a 1-0 shutout. But then, in the ninth, the Orioles got two more hits and a run to tie it up.

★ ★ ★

"I feel like someone broke my balloon," she said. "I especially want him to do well because he lost the first game. I can't even find words to say what winning would mean to him."

★ ★ ★

When J. C. Martin came in to bat for Seaver with two on base in the 10th, Nancy stared straight ahead. She pressed her hands against the raincoat. Martin bunted, the Baltimore pitcher threw wildly to first, the winning run scored.

Nancy Seaver grabbed hold of a friend and the tension poured out of her.

Linda Lou Snay, Ronald Bashore Given Reception

A reception in the bridegroom's parents' home on West Cornell Street honored newlyweds Linda Lou Snay and Ronald Frank Bashore.

They were married Saturday in Hillcrest Nazarene Church.

Honor attendants for the couple were the bride's sister and brother, Ruth Ann and David Shay. Gowned in organza with Chantilly lace, she carried a bouquet of roses.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lyle F. Snay of Robinwood Street and Mr. and Mrs. Noble Bashore of West Cornell Street.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in eastern Michigan.

Carol Kresge Is Married

Carol Kresge and Donald L. DeArment were wed Saturday in Rochester.

The bride chose a street length dress of brocade and was attended by matron of honor, Mrs. Stephen Couretas.

A reception in the bride's mothers home on South Avery Street followed the rites.

Kenneth DeArment performed the duties of best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John D. DeArment of Fort Lauderdale Fla.

★ ★ ★

The bride's parents are Mrs. Francis V. O'Rouke of South Avery Street and Walter H. Kresge of Auburn Avenue. She is the granddaughter of the S. S. Kresges of Lake Angelus.

Disposer Misuse Said to Cause Early Breakdown

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Joseph A. McCurdy, extension agricultural engineer at the Pennsylvania State University, says misuse is the greatest cause of premature failures of a food disposer.

McCurdy gives these hints for safe disposer operation:

— Refer to your unit's service manual to find out what it can and can not handle.

— Mix fibrous materials, such as cornhusks and peapods, with other kinds of food wastes and feed them into the disposer gradually.

★ ★ ★

— After the waste is ground, let the unit run with plenty of cold water for at least two minutes.

— Bulky food wastes, such as citrus fruit skins, watermelon rinds and corncobs should be cut or broken into small pieces before going into the disposer.

— Be especially careful that bottle caps, paper, string, glass, chemicals and solvents do not fall into the disposer.

— Grind all food in cold water only.

Dishwashers Need Correct Care, Use

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — Dishwashers may save mother but who'll save the dishwasher from mother?

"Dishwashers aren't miracle machines; they have to be helped," says Faith Prior, home economist at the University of Vermont Extension Services. "All the manufacturers emphaisze the importance of proper loading, adequately hot water, and the correct dishwashing detergent."

★ ★ ★

Dishwater should be hotter than your hand can take. About 145 to 160 degrees is best for reducing bacteria, the home economist advises.

Detergent made specifically for dishwashers is the only detergent to use in the dishwasher. Other detergents cause suds to build up and clog the machine, Mrs. Prior said.

"Dishwashers work best with conditioned soft water. Exceptionally hard water mineral deposits leave film and spots on your dishes," she said.

Demand Sincerity

GLOUCESTER, England (AP) — Gloucester Cathedral is closing is 900 year-old crypt to the general public because it attracted young lovers along with sightseers. From now on, visits who want to see the crypt will have to prove "genuine interest" before they are admitted.

He will graduate from the University of Michigan in December.

Set Annual Yule Market

The 11th annual Christmas Mart of the Planned Parenthood League Inc. opens Tuesday at 5 p.m. in Detroit's Veterans Memorial Building. All proceeds from this early Christmas shopping event are used for planned parenthood clinics in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac birth control clinic in the Riker Building is one of those supported by this endeavor.

Last year, nearly $25,000 was realized from sales. Thirty-one shops from all over the United States are represented, offering unusual items. The League staffs its own boutique.

Area women working with the League and the clinic include Mrs. Robert Sachs, Birmingham; Mrs. Leslie Carney, Utica and Mrs. Robert J. Carroll, Rochester. Mrs. Henry M. Hogan Jr. of Birmingham is cochairman of the Mart for that area.

In addition to Tuesday hours of 5 to 8 p.m., the Christmas Mart will be open Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Luncheon will be served Wednesday and Thursday from noon to 2 p.m. in the "Top of the Mart"; cocktails are also available. The entire event is open to the public.

Tips on New Fabrics to Be Given

The Oakland County Extension Service announces its first family living program of the 1969-70 year "Understanding and Using New Fabrics." The lesson will be taught on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Madison Heights City Hall and on Oct. 23 at 9:30 a.m. at the Baldwin Public Library, Birmingham.

This program will focus on some of the latest developments in textiles, particularly soil release finishes for durable press fabrics, bonded fabrics, and the new synthetic knits. Emphasis will be on the future of these fabrics, their advantages and limitations, and the changes in care procedures for them.

★ ★ ★

These fabrics are taking over a larger and larger share of the clothing market! Consumers will want to know what they can expect of these fabrics — are manufacturers' claims justified?

★ ★ ★

Anyone interested in this program is welcome to attend. For further information contact the Extension Home Economist, Mrs. Janice A. Kukar Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Variety of Laces Used for Trims

The wide variety of cotton sewing trims on the market includes dainty laces ideal for edging fancy petticoats or trimming yokes of party dresses.

Cotton lace comes in narrow flat widths or wide ruffled versions. The heavy lace comes in floral designs, in white or creamy beige. It often resembles old-fashioned hand-crocheted edgeing, reports the National Cotton Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Campbell of West New York Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Gale M., to Cpl. Robert C. Randolph, USA. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton L. Randolph of Thorpe Street. The prospective bridegroom is presently stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Reddaways Honeymoon

The First Congregational Church of Rochester was the setting for the candlelight marriage of Pamela Sue Lake and Gerald E. Reddaway.

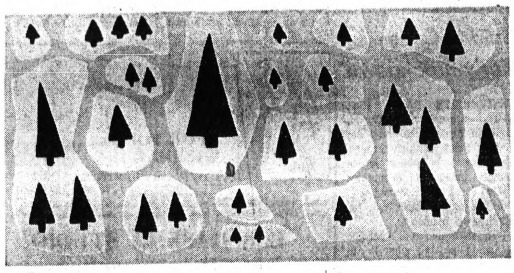
A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. They were joined by their honor attendants, Mary Oberliesen and Kenneth Kehoe.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Lake Jr. chose a gown of peau de soie in an A-line style. She carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and Stephanotis.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Reddaway of Gallaland Street, Avon Township.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in northern Michigan.



A two-color silk screen original executed by a 17-year-old young man for the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children is on sale now. The cards sell at $1.50 per package of 10 with matching green envelopes. Cards may be imprinted at a small charge. Mrs. Eugene Humpal of White Birch Drive, Orchard Lake, is taking orders.

Says 'Education Is Everything, to Deprived

SHELTON, Conn. (AP) — "Education is everything to people who don't have it," says Mrs. Susan Boda, who at 61 has just received her high school diploma.

Mrs. Boda, who was born in Hungary and came to the United States when she was 6 years old, had to leave school in the 7th grade to go to work. She was married in 1925 and raised two daughters.

★ ★ ★

She returned to school, and with the help of a granddaughter, Susan Lee Boda Weidig, graduated from the 8th grade a year ago and then finally got the coveted diploma.

"I would recommend to all youngsters who have had to quit school to try to return," she advises. "I had to work at many jobs in my life that I didn't like because of a lack of education."

And Still a Giant

Ex-Ram Now 'Indian'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Will I make it as a performer?" mused big Roosevelt Grier. "I have no idea. I've never planned anything in my life. I just live my life to the fullest and take what comes along."

THOMAS

Rosey Grier never planned to play pro football. But the opportunity came along and for 13 years his huge frame struck terror in the hearts of opposing quarterbacks.

* * *

Now his career is taking a different turn. He has been signed as a semiregular on the "Daniel Boone" television series, portraying a runaway slave who lives among the Indians. Not many series stars would tolerate a supporting player of Grier's size. Fortunately Fess Parker is an inch taller than Rosey's 6 feet 5.

"He's taller, but I'm bigger," remarked the former pro lineman, who declined to reveal his current poundage.

GRIER HAS OWN SHOW

Grier, who also heads his own television variety show locally, is enthused about acting: "It's fun to work with the stars and the rest of the cast and to try to complement their efforts with a contribution of your own. You do your share and try to make it stand up. There's real enjoyment in that."

There is special enjoyment for Rosey Grier because of his particular background. He was one of 11 children born to a Negro couple of Cuthburt, Ga. Neither of his parents had gone beyond the fourth grade, and of the 11 children, only Rosey and a brother graduated from high school and attended college.

"As a child I felt a strong desire to communicate, but I feared I would never know how," he recalled. "I felt my English was poor and my diction was not good enough, so I was afraid to talk. That happens to a lot of ghetto kids who are never exposed to anyone less ignorant than they are.

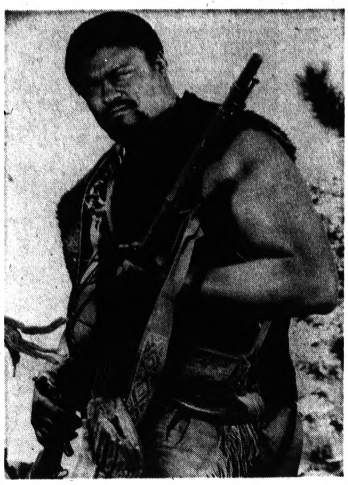
"I was ill at ease all through college (Penn State) and I'm still catching up. When I started playing pro ball for the New York Giants, I played the role of clown. I did that for the good of the club and also to cover up my inadequacies. Later, when I moved to the Los Angeles Rams, I started to take on more responsibilities."

GRID CAREER ENDS

Grier's football career came abruptly to a halt on Sept. 1, 1967. He was chasing Mike Garrett in an exhibition game against the Kansas City Chiefs when he suddenly dropped to the turf.

"I thought I had been clipped," he said, "and I looked around to catch the number of who did it—I'd pay him back later in the game. But no one was there.

Grier had torn his Achilles tendon. He recovered enough to play again, but decided it was time to quit. "You'll never get rich, not even wealthy, so why continue?" he told himself.



NEW CHIEF — Rosey Grier brings new blood to television's Daniel Boone series tonight at 7:30 on Channel 4 when he debuts as a dramatic actor. Grier will costar during the season as a runaway Negro slave who ends up as an Indian chief.

'Nip for the Nipper OK'

NEW YORK (AP) — Close the generation gap with a bottle of burgundy.

That's the advice of a Detroit psychologist who contends: The family that shares a bottle of wine won't have to worry about the youngsters switching to marijuana.

* * *

Dr. Robert Kastenbaum, professor at Wayne State University, spoke last week at a day-long "Symposium on Wine in American Life" sponsored by the Wine Institute.

Kastenbaum said that "Wine is a good symbol of togetherness" for the family. "You don't draw meaning out of smoking a cigarette or watching a televisio program," he said, but sharing a bottle of wine offers "symbolic relatedness to past generations, to tradition."

'LINKS PEOPLE'

He explained, "Wine links people to each other; drugs tend to increase the user's alienation from the community in general."

The psychologist added, "Part of the appeal in drugs to the young is the opportunity to be 'in' on something. But the wine-lover is 'in' on an exceedingly rich lode of potential knowledge and experience . . .

* * *

"This potential seems much greater than merely trying to discover whether or not one has purchased an authentic 'joint' (marijuana cigarette)."

Kastenbaum is married and has two children, a son, David, 5½, and a daughter, Cynthia, 1½. He said his daughter "loves little sips of wine."

Generally, Kastenbaum suggested, children should be introduced to wine "at the beginning of school age." He said, "Wine in water is very acceptable to a lot of kids."

Dr. Angelo Pellegrini, an Italian-born professor of English at the University of Washington in Seattle, said he encourages his children to learn about wine, adding: "My cellar adjoins my children's playroom so they may go from the one to the other. My study is directly in front of both so I can keep an eye on both."

TV's Star System Alive, Well

NEW YORK—Proof that television's star system is alive and well was supplied in recent days when CBS signed three top attractions, Andy Griffith, Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore.

NBC says it is negotiating exclusive contracts with four "enormous" stars.

* * *

New situation comedies will be created for the return of Griffith, Van Dyke and Miss Moore, who left CBS to pursue movie careers.

The signing of stars with no programs in mind is a fairly common practice. Most often the star forms his own production company for extra profits. That keeps the stars happy, but it is causing some grumbling by the movie studios, the traditional packagers of television programs.

ART TO SCIENCE

Popularity in one medium does not always transfer successfully to television, although that's always the hope.

It was CBS that raised the star system from an art to an exact science. And as a result the network has maintained a ratings superiority for 14 years, although its claim to first place last season was disputed by NBC.

The signing of Griffith, Van Dyke and Miss Moore, as well as Tim Conway earlier, is insurance against the retirement of such talent as Lucille Ball, Red Skelton, Ed Sullivan, Jackie Gleason and Fred MacMurray.

Griffith's new series is being readied for next season, as is a comedy vehicle for Miss Moore, who spent five years as Van Dyke's on-the-air wife. Carl Reiner, who created the original Van Dyke show, will develop a new show for the star for the 1971-72 season. Conway may be brought in at midseason in a comedy about a group of combat photographers.

RIVAL STARS

The star system is not lost on the other networks, particularly NBC, which has Bob Hope, Alan King, Johnny Carson and many others. NBC hopes to develop a series for Flip Wilson and is betting heavily—with a series of specials to start—that "Laugh-In's" Goldie Hawn will develop into a major star.

ABC has some heavyweights in the wings: Johnny Cash, Pearl Bailey, Englebert Humperdinck and Robert Goulet. Only Cash is a sure thing, with his country music show penciled in to return at midseason.

Because it's got a new longer lasting engine.

It's more powerful than the old engine. It has more acceleration. And most of all it doesn't have to work as hard.

Thus, it will last longer.

To make sure the engine leads a happy, fruitful life we have another surprise. VW Diagnosis. An exclusive series of four free check-ups that come with every '70 Volkswagen. Specially trained diagnosticians check the car with precision designed instruments. The equipment is faster and more thorough than any mechanic alive. It spots little problems before they become too big. And too expensive. Medi-Car. It's a whole new way of life for VW.

The 1970 VW will stay ugly longer.

The 1970 VW will stay ugly longer.

What hath Volkswagen wrought this year?

A longer-lasting engine, that's what.

It's more powerful than the old engine. (Top speed: 81 mph vs. 78 mph.)

It has better acceleration.

But most important, it doesn't have to work as hard to get you where you're going.

Thus, according to every calculation known to man, it will last even longer.

And just to make sure the engine and every other VW part leads a long, happy life, we have another surprise for 1970:

The Volkswagen Diagnostic Checkup.

Now before the name scares you away, listen to what it is:

VW Diagnosis is an exclusive free service checkup by trained technicians using special diagnostic equipment.

The equipment is faster and more thorough than any mechanic alive.

And it's so advanced, it can actually tell you you have a problem early, before it becomes a real problem.

For instance, let's say the resistance in one of your spark plug wires is too high.

Nothing serious, but it could reduce your gas mileage and eventually foul up your spark plugs.

During a Diagnostic Checkup, our equipment can find and we can fix this problem in a matter of minutes.

When you buy a new VW, you're entitled to four of these advanced checkups free.

What could be a better deal than that?

You buy a bug.

We take care of the bugs.

Fled Foreign Legion

Lion Tamer Is 'Safe'

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — In a sense there's protection for Jules Jacot at the St. Louis Zoo.

He ran away from the French Foreign Legion 61 years ago, and joined the circus. Now and again he wonders "if they're still looking for me."

★ ★ ★

If they are, they can find him six days a week in a cage with 19 lions, tigers, pumas and leopards. He's the lion tamer for the zoo now. He's also 79 years old.

★ ★ ★

Jacot was born in New York City in 1890, lived through his teen-age years in Leipzig, Germany, until he joined the French Foreign Legion at 17. He only stayed with them a year, returned to the United States and hooked up with the John H. Sparks circus in 1908 when circuses were what boys dreamed of.

MASTERS SPANISH

His wife of 35 years is Mexican, and Jacot mastered her language. Now he even talks to his big cats in Spanish.

The job of lion tamer is far more than just walking into the lion's den. It's working with the animals seven days a week, helping feed them the 225 pounds of raw meat they eat daily. "They have to know you and you have to know them," Jacot says. "If you stay away, they will forget you, and we don't want that to happen."

★ ★ ★

Not long ago, one of the lions apparently forgot. Jacot stuck his head in the cat's mouth, and the mouth closed part way. His wounds patched up, Jacot was back with the cats again, tickling their bellies and riding them bareback and defying the French Foreign Legion.

Foreign Press Finds Nixon Faltering as Troubles Mount

LONDON (AP) — Collapse of confidence, multiplying blunders, cracks in the climate of consensus—these are terms newspapers in Britain, France and Italy used this past week to describe President Nixon and the mounting problems his administration is facing.

★ ★ ★

Writing in the Times of London, Louis Heren, the paper's Washington correspondent, said Nixon's first nine months in office were relaxed. "He did little or nothing to reduce or ease many problems, presumably because he thought the country wanted a conservative and inactive president," Heren said.

★ ★ ★

The dispatch continued: "He has obviously enjoyed the presidency but, it would appear, more as a reward for years of political service than as an opportunity to lead . . . He seems to see himself as a constitutional monarch. The long vacations at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla., are reminiscent of British royal visits" to country estates.

★ ★ ★

Although admitting that it was possible to be unfair to Nixon because many of his problems—the war, racial conflict, inflation—are inherited, Heren concluded that Nixon "must try to carry as many groups as possible and in the process influence and improve their frequently uninformed or prejudiced views. That is what presidential leadership is all about. Nobody else can do it, and the collapse of confidence in Nixon suggests that many Americans believe he is incapable of it."

'LOSING CONFIDENCE'

The French newspaper Le Monde said, "Nixon is fascinated by immobility (and) is losing a large part of his most precious capital: confidence. Many Americans are making a tally of his first nine months in office; they are finding it negative."

★ ★ ★

France-Soir said, "Nixon's friends and foes alike agree that the President is multiplying his blunders: clumsiness in handling the Vietnam war, new delays in desegregation, the Haynsworth case, the Green Berets . . .

★ ★ ★

Nixon remains above these problems," the paper concluded, because he "can still count on the white middle class, displeased and frightened, a class which accounts for the majority of the U.S. electorate."

★ ★ ★

Milan's Corriere Della Sera said, "This October has shown the first serious cracks of confidence in the climate of consensus which accompanied" Nixon's election, and the paper wondered whether this signaled "the beginning of bigger storms" for Nixon.

TRANSITION PERIOD

Another Italian newspaper, La Stampa, said many of the present problems were the result of a transition period in American history that began with President Franklin D. Roosevelt and ended with President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"The new political and economic forces can no longer be seen in the traditional political framework. They have not found a definite position yet. Nixon's presidency is an expression of that moment in which the old and the new are mixed."

★ ★ ★

A Belgian newspaper Libre Belgique said, "President Nixon has not succeeded in clarifying his policy since he came into office . . . The disarray of advisers is so evident that Saigon as well as Hanoi are trying to impose points of view without concessions feeling that only extremism makes Nixon move. The Vietnam war destroyed Johnson, it is on the way to destroying Nixon."

Newsletters Dot D.C.; He Dashes Off New One

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are currently being published they don't have to worry about in the U.S. capital about 50 punctuation marks. They just newsletters that purport to give sprinkle a few dots . . . here the inside slant on what is hap- and there and that's about it. pening in Washington.

I have long envied the authors of these newsletters because

Not long ago I decided to start a newsletter of my own. After checking into the matter, I concluded the only field not already covered by a newsletter would be a newsletter for people who don't give a hoot about what is happening in Washington.

So I herewith offer the first issue of The Outsiders Newsletter:

. . . Senate may vote sometime soon on Haynsworth Supreme Court nomination if it hasn't already done so . . .

WEST

current guessing around Capitol is that nomination will be either confirmed or rejected . . . outcome hinges on whether majority of senators vote "yea" or "nay" . . . provided nomination isn't withdrawn before it comes to vote . . .

ODD NUMBER

. . . This year's tax-reform bill appears to be in trouble . . . nobody is saying tax-reform bill appears to be in trouble but that appraisal can be arrived at through historical perspective — . . . tax-reform bills in past have always appeared to be in trouble and this year is no different from last year . . . except that it's odd-numbered . . . Economists privately admit they are puzzled over economy . . . but when pinned down they refuse to say why they are puzzled . . . Treasury sources privately acknowledge that if economists weren't puzzled they wouldn't be economists . . . especially in an odd-numbered year . . .

* * *

. . . Look for new development in Paris peace talks before first of the year if the war isn't over by then . . . should war continue for the rest of October negotiators may agree to change calendar to November— . . . but end of fighting would rule out chances for progress in peace talks this year . . .

. . . Who is calling shots on foreign policy in Nixon administration??? . . . is it Secretary of State Rogers or White House adviser Kissinger??? . . . Rogers and Kissinger would like answers to these questions . . . President Nixon has been asking . . .

Katie Hepburn Attended No Galas Feting Her Film

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Put this away in your memory book, a souvenir of 1969, an October to remember in the twilight before the Swinging Seventies . . .

WILSON

Katharine Hepburn, the star, attended neither of two gala parties saluting the world premiere of her picture, "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

* * *

Her written and oral agreements usually include an understanding that she isn't asked to go to parties. The promoters of such parties are frightened to invite her to soirees which other ladies would give their husbands — or even boyfriends — to go to.

And so we guests shuttled between the Herbert Steinmann's supper (Pavilon & Stuart Levin catered) and one given by Alexander & Francine Parkas — where Francine told us a fine story about the Duke of Windsor once endeavoring to buy a shirt at Alexander's and asking, "Could I have it on approval for the weekend?"

"Your Highness," she replied, "you can have me on approval for the weekend."

He's been a steady customer since.

* * *

Lee Marvin had a lot of words with the Yale Glee Club about the way they were backing him up in the song he was rehearsing for the Ed Sullivan show — but next day he apologized and said: "Fellas, forgive me, I was juiced." They loved him all the more.

* * *

A chiropractor dropped in at Si Seadler's house-warming party, whereupon Si orated: "Don't go out with a chiropractor, girls. He soon knows every bone in your body."

* * *

Shirley MacLaine's traveling with two bodyguards — Sandy Vanocur and Rosie Grier . . . Jack Benny phoned Rodney Dangerfield from Beverly Hills to consider making a reservation at Dangerfield's for December. Just as he was about to make the reservation, Jack said, "By the way, what's the minimum?"

Ethel Merman endears herself to hostesses by standing in line at the door and saying, "My name is Ethel Merman and I want to thank you for inviting me." (Instead of bigshotting it.)

* * *

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Anne Jackson, at the Mayor Lindsay rally, kidded photographers: "Careful, boys, I do judo!" . . . Eddie Fisher gave a surprise birthday party for his girl, Yda Bjorn Hansen; she's 20 . . . Roman Polanski's in town; police are still stumped by the murders . . . Patti Duke arrived at Nepentha in a 1910 Locomobile.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A woman's place is in the home—and the modern husband expects her to go there immediately after she finishes work.—Joseph Salok, Quote.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Life is like an onion. You peel it off one layer at a time, and sometimes you weep."—Carl Sandburg.

EARL'S PEARLS: Anybody who can convince a girl with good legs that she looks good in a maxicoat must be descended from the man who was able to sell the bagpipe as a musical instrument.

Portugal Vote Campaign Discontent Grows

LISBON (AP) — Rumblings of discontent are growing in opposition circles about the Portuguese government's handling of the election campaign for a new parliament.

Disenchantment, with early promises made by Prime Minister Marcello Caetano of equal rights for all candidates running for the 130-seat National Assembly is so widespread that several opposition leaders have hinted at the prospect of boycotting the Oct. 26 vote.

* * *

Their withdrawal from the polls could damage the image Caetano is seeking to establish abroad.

The 63-year-old leader, a constitutional lawyer, succeeded the ailing Antonio de Oliveira Salazar last year, bringing a fresh impetus to Portuguese political life.

REFORMS OFFERED

Cautiously avoiding provocation of conservatives forces, Caetango began introducing reforms with the obvious aim of updating the country and help it cope with modern needs.

"We grant him at least the situation," a Socialist candidate said recently in private.

* * *

"Yet reality is another thing. The press censors allow only a fraction of the documents we issue to come out in print. Several newspapers editors have received ominous warnings. They know that all of them will be confronted with their actions after election day.

"Continuous obstacles are erected against our meetings. We cannot go into the streets and conduct an effective campaign. All our doings are closely watched by police."

LITTLE CHANGE

Another candidate, a progressive Catholic, said "Not much has changed since Salazar. The elections promise to be a farce."

All open-air demonstrations are banned. Indoor meetings must be reported to police 48 hours in advance. Some have been forbidden. A Socialist woman candidate, actress Maria Barroso, was questioned on a speech she made and police filed criminal charges against her.

* * *

The National Union, the only political party allowed in Portugal, will be challenged in all but one of the country's 18 constituencies by two main opposition lists, which cannot gather into a nationwide movement, and a small group of monarchists.

Making up the opposition are left-wing Socialists, undeclared Communists and progressive Catholics. The group consists almost entirely of moderate Socialists led by Mario Soares, a lawyer returned last year from exile by Caetano.

Arkansas spends the least per pupil of all the states for public schooling.

Nader Attacks U. S. Agencies

Says Withholding of Data Is Common

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some federal agencies "waved the Freedom of Information Act like a flag" in withholding information from the public, says Consumer champion Ralph Nader.

Nader's complaint was aired before the best of possible audiences—Herb Klein, the man President Nixon has charged with seeing that his is an "open administration."

* * *

The consumer critic—speaking Tuesday at a luncheon honoring Klein as recipient of the American University — Ruder Finn Public Information Award — said the agencies sometimes will promise to give out information but delay its release in hopes the request will be forgotten.

Other tactics include mixing confidential matter with nonconfidential material, Nader said. An official will say "we have the authority" to withhold information, he continued, but "it does not mean that they have to."

PRESS ARM

Nader said the press should create a litigating arm to specialize in freedom of information cases. Its lawyers then could develop special law with great efficiency, he added.

He was asked if he planned any freedom of information suits. "I think a couple of suits might be filed. And the Department of Labor and Department of Agriculture are prime candidates," Nader replied.

* * *

Klein, Nixon's director of communications, was selected to receive the award by a ballot of Washington newsmen who voted on which agency does the best job in providing information for the press.

Tiff and Max Don't Go Ape for Each Other

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — For Tiffany and Max it certainly was not love at first sight.

Tiffany, a 15-month-old female gorilla, arrived at the Topeka Zoo Wednesday to take up residence as a prospective mate for a young gorilla named Max.

* * *

Tiffany was bought from the Kansas City Zoo after a community campaign to raise $5,000.

Tiffany looked indifferently at Max. Max ignored Tiffany.

Zoo officials hope that in time it won't be contempt their familiarity breeds.

Station Dedicated

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — A new Consumers Power Co. station was dedicated Wednesday in Mackinaw City. The plant — which cost $21 million — produces 25,000 kilowatt hours.

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

One of the dividends from membership in the American Contract Bridge League is the monthly Bulletin. Today's hand is from an article on the Blackwood Convention written by Easley Blackwood, who is, obviously, the person most qualified to write about it.

The article is titled, "Avoiding Trouble With Voids." Easley points out that it is folly to count a void as an ace and that the prudent course for any except an experienced partnership is to ignore voids entirely in responding to Blackwood.

What should an experienced partnership do? They should simply show the correct number of aces but one level higher. Thus, six diamonds would show one ace and a void, six hearts two aces and a void, and so on.

* * *

He then adds that you must be sure that partner will identify your void suit. We are going to take slight exception here. We show a void the same way Easley does but our word is, "A void that we consider valuable."

Looking at today's hand, we see that North's six-diamond bid fits both definitions. North certainly thinks that his spade void is valuable and that South will identify it easily. North is sure that South does not hold the spade ace, because South might well have stopped to make a three-spade cue bid over North's three hearts.

As for South, he has a cinch to identify the void as being in spades. West has bid clubs. If, by some miracle, North was void of clubs, the chances are that he would merely have bid five diamonds and not confused matters by showing the void.

So, South bids seven hearts and chalks up the grand slam.

You, South, hold:

What do you do now?

A—Your minimum hand is looking up. Your partner is undoubtedly showing the spade ace and not spade support. Bid four hearts! This will show the ace of hearts, not real desire to play in hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to five diamonds. What do you do now?

Junior Editors Quiz on SQUIRRELS

QUESTION: We have seen some all-black squirrels recently. We didn't use to have them. Where are they from?

* * *

ANSWER: We all know the handsome, bustling gray squirrel, seen in so many parks, where they have become so friendly and trusting. This is a widely spread species, inhabiting the whole Eastern half of the U.S.

Did you ever consider why squirrels are so fond of parks? There is the matter of all the peanuts and so on that people give them, but one must also consider that parks are not places where the wild enemies of the squirrel are to be found, such as foxes, and especially hawks.

A black squirrel is not a distinct species, but rather an individual variation of the gray squirrel, one in whose hair there is an unusual amount of the black pigment melanin, found in many animals' skins.

Such an animal would be very obvious to a predator. Perhaps this is why there are so many more gray than black squirrels. Our correspondent's black squirrels are probably such variations, or they might be black squirrels which have wandered away from some safer park.

Course in Taming Big Cats Is No Snap, Even With Whip

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Here's one school where failing may be truly disastrous. It is a lion tamer's school in France—with postgraduate work in panther practice. Homework can be unusually tough.)

By JOHN VINOCUR

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — Five panthers and two men are in a cage, the panthers flatheaded and huomorless, the men each carrying a 4-foot-long stave and a practice whip that looks like a child's fishing rod.

One man is in khaki clothes and white tennis sneakers and moves so purposefully that the panthers seem fascinated by him. He is Jim Frey, a 74-year-old who teaches people who want to train and put on shows with big cats. He says his lion tamer's school is the only one in the world open to the public.

★ ★ ★

The other man in the cage is a student, an electronics technician named Georges Lopin, who is paying $130 a month for the schooling.

Next to the panthers, Lopin is stiff and still, his eyes too intent to blink. He watches as Frey takes a piece of meat on the end of his stave, puts it on a pedestal, then commands a panther to jump for it. But the animal lands heavily; the others roar and bellow and spit, opening their mouths so wide that their heads seem to have split open.

ANIMALS HUSHED

"Stay quiet, Georges," Frey says and hushes the animals. In a moment, they are calm again and being led out a chute and into their cages surrounding the circus training ring at the Marseille Zoo, where Frey is technical director.

After more than six months of watching, observing and feeding the big cats, it was Lopin's first time in the cage with the panthers.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Frey has worked me with lions, but they're different," he said. "Panthers are tougher and faster. A swat from a lion could knock you straight through the bars, but if he knocks you to the ground, there's a chance that a lion won't be interested and let you get up. A panther, never. He wouldn't miss out on a meal."

Lopin is one of Frey's five students, the enrollment limit. He spends his leisure time at the zoo because "it is a sport for me, a kind of conditioning." But others want to become circus performers. Frey says he has graduated seven or eight, including two women, who now are working in circuses.

SERIOUS SHOWMAN

At 74, Frey is the son of an American architect who, after being born in France, spent much of his young life on a ranch outside Helena, Mont. He is a showman with ringmaster-sleek hair, a great seriousness about working with cats and an unoffensively philosophical approach to the job.

"I find it very difficult to train anyone who isn't healthy, reasonably well-educated and intelligent," Frey said. "That involves obvious things mostly, but what I want my people to do is to make the jump from thinking about animals in human terms to their level. To think tigers. To think lion. That requires no small brainpower."

★ ★ ★

Frey starts his students by just having them observe the animals and reporting to him on what they notice. When he feels they have good perceptions, they move on to feeding and bringing water, unlocking and locking cages, and then sweeping them clean.

At the same time the students are learning how to crack a whip effectively — it doesn't frighten, but rather gives emphasis to commands — to pitch their voices, and walk easily. But the big thing is Frey's observations, his getting the feel of when it's what he calls "D-day, H-hour" — the time they go into the training cage.

"Sometimes the confidence does not really come at all and I've got to tell someone they'll jus never be allowed into a cage and that, frankly, that's it. I prefer that to disastrous publicity.

Culture's Thin Veneer Hides Bias Behind It

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

Most people are familiar with the facts about job discrimination against Negro workers, but an indication of just how pervasive such discrimination is can be seen by the unofficial ban on black artists by some cultural institutions.

YOUNG

An instance of this is a current case before the New York City Commission on Human Rights. Two musicians with wide symphony orchestra experience — one was a cellist with the Pittsburgh Symphony for four years — are charging that the prestigious New York Philharmonic refused to hire them because they are black.

The Philharmonic says no, color doesn't have anything to do with it, they're just not "qualified." But since the men have such high reputations and since the orchestra has hired only one black man in its hundred-year history, that explanation isn't very convincing.

A look at other major orchestras reveals the same picture: one black musician in Cleveland, another in Boston, other orchestras with no blacks. The numbers of black symphony musicians in major orchestras can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

KNOWN FOR SKILL

If there is anything Negroes have been known for in this country, it is musical skill. White Americans sing and dance to music written, played or inspired by black writers and peroformers. In fact, one of the stereotypes black people have been subjected to is the myth that we're "born with rhythm."

How strange it is then, to hear the Philharmonic's music director explain to the commission that his 99-per cent-white orchestra's audition standards take into account the "warmth that emanates" from a player, and his "rhythmic understanding."

The stereotype is used against blacks, and then discarded when it comes to evaluating black musicians for jobs that supposedly value the very same qualities.

It is shameful for a major cultural institution, one that gives concerts in a beautiful new hall financed by public subscription, to cling to the color bar while other fields are in the process of discarding it.

To claim that there aren't enough qualified black musicians is an ugly untruth, especially when New York also has the Symphony of the New World, an integrated ensemble. About 38 of that orchestra's 90 musicians are blacks, and the group has had excellent notices in its five-year history.

While the Philharmonic says it can't find qualified blacks and refuses to hire two eminently qualified musicians, the Symphony of the New World found 38.

But while the Philharmonic gets fat contributions to give summer concerts in the parks, the integrated Symphony of the New World can't raise enough money to give concerts for schoolchildren in the ghetto. Behind the red and gold facade of our major cultural instituions is the rotten stench of racism.

It extends to other fields, too. The movie industry depends on black stars like Sidney Poitier and Jim Brown to fill the movie houses, but the high-paying craft jobs behind the cameras are still lily-white.

Main Dishes Call for Small Amount of Meat

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor,
The Pontiac Press

All together now, are we going to let food prices get us down? No. We may not eat much steak, but we're going to have meat dishes in our menus.

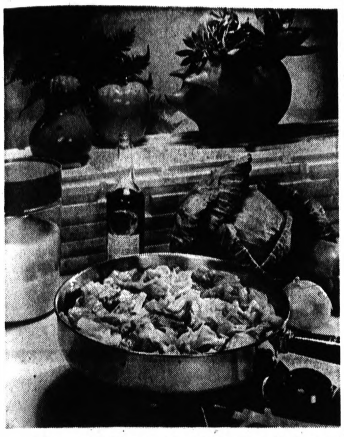
In this country we have such a tremendous variety of food that our meals should never be dull. It doesn't depend solely on money. Remember that some of the foreign dishes people consider in the gourmet class were originated by cooks who had limited supples.

The Chinese with their delicious meat and vegetable dishes are one example of how a little meat goes a long way. The secret is in perfect cooking and judicious combinations.

* * *

This week, there are good buys on both beef and pork cuts. If you have a freezer, perhaps you can put a couple of roasts away for the future.

Our first recipe is for an Oriental-style. Get a head of new cabbage and combine it with pork and other vegetables. Half a pound of meat will make four servings.



ORIENTAL CABBAGE AND PORK — Small pieces of pork are seared in hot oil to seal in the sweet flavor and the important B vitamins. Quick steam cooking tenderizes the cabbage quickly and helps retain the valuable vitamin C content and deep green color.

ORIENTAL CABBAGE AND PORK

½ lb. pork, cut into 1" pieces
1 cup finely sliced onion
2½ cups sliced onion
½ cup diced green pepper
1 teaspoon finely cut ginger root or ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 cup chicken broth (1 bouillon cube)
½ teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons oil
2 teaspoons cornstarch dissolved in ¼ cup water
Salt to taste

Prepare food first. Cut pork in 1" pieces. Cut onion in half lengthwise; then crosswise into fine slices. Cut cabbage in half; remove core and cut crosswise into ¼" shreds. Dice green pepper. Grate ginger root.

Combine soy sauce, broth and sugar. Brown pork and onions in hot oil. Keep turning the meat and onions with a spatula. Fry about 8 minutes or until pork is brown.

* * *

Add cabbage, green peppers, ginger root and liquid. Cover and cook on medium heat about 8-10 minutes. Check cabbage for tenderness.

Remove from heat and add dissolved cornstarch. Bring to a boil. Makes 4 servings. Serve with rice.

* * *

Lamb chops may be expensive, but breast of lamb is always an economical buy. From breast of lamb you get lamb riblets. Now you have the start of a succulent top-of-the-stove dish.

LAMB RIBLETS AND KIDNEY BEANS

3 pounds lamb riblets
Salt
Water
1 package (1½ ounces) spaghetti sauce mix
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) white kidney beans, drained

Combine riblets, 1 teaspoon salt and water to cover in large saucepan. Bring to boil; simmer, covered, 45 minutes. Drain riblets and trim off excess fat.

In same pan, blend sauce mix, tomato sauce and 2 cans of water; heat to simmering and add riblets and celery. Simmer covered 25 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add parsley, beans and salt to taste. Cook 10 minutes longer. Serve with additional chopped parsley on top. Makes 4 servings.

* * *

Stew doesn't have to take all day to prepare. You can have dinner ready in half an hour if your stew is made from this speedy recipe. Cubed steaks are the meat.

SPEEDY SAVORY STEW

6 medium-size cube steaks
1 tablespoon oil
1 envelope (¾-oz.) Au Jus gravy mix
1 cup water
½ cup dry red wine
2 small tomatoes, cut in quarters
1 can (6-oz.) sliced mushrooms
1 can (1-lb.) whole onions
1 tablespoon cornstarch, if desired

Cut meat into thin strips. In a large skillet quickly brown meat in oil. Stir in contents of gravy mix envelope, water and wine. Add vegetables and simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes or until vegetables are piping hot.

* * *

If a thicker gravy is desired, mix cornstarch with a little cold water; add to stew. Stir constantly until stew thickens. Serve in hot buttered noodles or rice. 6 servings.

* * *

Good old ground beef. It's been a lifesaver for more than one poor budget-struggler. Here, it stars in a recipe with Mexican touches.

ENCHILADA PUFF PIES

1 pound lean ground beef
1 cup chopped onion
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 can (2¼ ounces) sliced ripe olives
¼ cup water
1½ teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
6 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup shredded mild cheese (Monterey Jack, Cheddar or Swiss)
2 cups corn chips, coarsely crushed
Paprika

In skillet lightly brown meat with onion; pour off fat. Stir in tomato sauce, olives, water, chili powder, ½ teaspoon salt and cinnamon; bring to boil then keep hot.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; blend in remaining salt and flour then fold in cheese. Lightly fold in whites.

Cover bottoms of 4 individual baking dishes with corn chips; spoon on beef mixture. Pile egg mixture on meat; sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until topping is puffed and golden. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

SPEEDY SAVORY STEW — Break the time barrier with a stew that cooks in 10 to 15 minutes. The secret is cube steaks cut into strips and canned vegetables. Gravy mix and wine add flavor.

It May Be Potato Snack but It's Not True Chip

CLEVELAND, O. — When do you call a potato chip a potato chip?

That is the basic issue in a law suit filed by the potato chip industry against General Mills, charging the food giant with "falsely describing" a new potato snack as potato chips.

The Potato Chip Institute International, a trade association headquartered here which represents more than 90 per cent of the $900,000,000 a year industry, was joined in the suit by the Weaver Potato Chip Co., Inc. of Lincoln, Nebraska. The suit was filed Sept. 26, in Lincoln Federal Court because Nebraska is one of the states where General Mills is test Marketing it new snack, CHIPOS.

* * *

The suit claims that for years the American consumer has come to know potato chips as thin slices of raw, white potato, fried crisp in deep fat. The industry also said it has spent a considerable sum of money to advertise potato chips.

NOT REALLY

Though the new snack is described on the package and advertised as "new fashioned potato chips," it does not meet the time-honored description of potato chips, the suit contends. It asks that General Mills be enjoined from continuing to describe and advertise its product as potato chips.

"In fact, CHIPOS are not made from thin slices of raw, white potatoes, fried crisp in deep fat, but are made from potatoes cooked, mashed and dehydrated, resulting in potato granules, which are later moistened, rolled out, cut into pieces and fried," the suit asserts.

* * *

The suit further alleges that "additional and different" ingredients are used in the manufacture of the General Mills product than are used in the manufacture of potato chips.

They are distinctly different in taste, texture and appearance from potato chips, but are advertised through various advertising media as potato chips and are displayed in retail establishments along with potato chips, the suit charges.

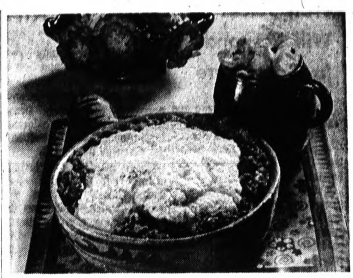
* * *

It claims that the acts of General Mills "tend to faslely describe or represent CHIPOS and constitute to the members of the Institute and to Weaver unfair competition."

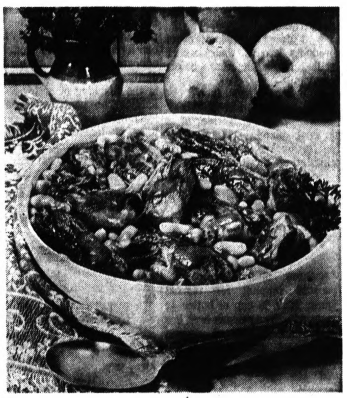
A CHIP IS A CHIP

"We have no objection to the product, but we do object to their being called potato chips," said F. X. Rice, president of the Institute.

"Great pains are being taken today to protect the American consumer from misleading advertising and packaging," Rice explained. "We believe that when a consumer purchases potato chips, she should get potato chips as she has always known them."



MEXICAN TOUCH — Serve Enchilada Puff Pies with a salad of sliced avocado, oranges and lettuce and hot corn muffins. For dessert top slices of angel food cake with ice cream and chocolate sauce.



LAMB RIBLETS — Lamb riblets simmered with tomato sauce, spaghetti sauce mix and kidney beans make a filling meal for a chilly night. Fresh pears go well for dessert.

Bunny Soup Has Kid Appeal

Take the rabbits' and kids' favorite vegetables (lettuce, carrots, celery, onion), add them to chicken broth and you've got a real ear-wiggling special. In a saucepan, cook 1 cup shredded lettuce, ½ cup thinly sliced carrot, ½ cup chopped celery with leaves, and ½ cup chopped onion in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine until carrot is tender.

Add 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken broth and 1 soup can water. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Fruit Juices Will Respond to Good Care

Thanks to their fine taste and high Vitamin C content, oranges . . . and citrus generally . . . are a real boon. Here are a few tips for their care and handling:

- Aeration of any of the processed citrus juices brings out the best in their flavor and appearance. Shake vigorously or beat for a moment before serving.
- You can hasten the defrosting of frozen citrus concentrate by holding the can under lukewarm tap water for a few minutes. Or leave at room temperature for about half an hour.
- Chilled juices and sections should be refrigerated rather than frozen.
- Flavorful canned citrus products are at their best if chilled for a few hours before serving.
- Fresh citrus should be stored unwrapped in the crisper section of the refrigerator or in a cool place. Do not store tightly packed ... citrus needs circulating air for longest storage life.

Brown Sesame to Flavor Yams

Sesame butter makes an unusual topping for canned yams. Melt ¾ cup of butter or margarine in saucepan over low heat; add ¼ cup of sesame seeds and stir until lightly browned. Remove from heat and stir in ¼ teaspoon of seasoned salt and a dash of white pepper.

Heat 2 (16-ounce) cans of yams; drain and place in serving dish. Pour sesame butter over yams. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Get Fact Kit About Vitamins

Are all Americans really adequately fed and well nourished?

More and more it is becoming apparent that many persons who have sufficient caloric intake may still not be getting all the essential nutrients.

Obese people, for instance, usually eat too much of the wrong foods — fats and carbohydrates — and too little of the foods rich in vitamins and minerals such as liver, milk, fresh fruits and vegetables.

How can American women achieve better nutrition in their own families?

Planning properly balanced meals is the first step in the right direction. And to help familiarize women with the fundamentals, the Vitamin Information Bureau has prepared a free "fact kit" for use by women's clubs, nutrition educators, nursing groups, dietitians, and others involved in the teaching of better eating habits. The kit includes an introduction and three suggested talks or lectures covering the history of vitamins, as well as current medical research.

The lectures also explain how one can provide nutritious and vitamin-rich meals for persons of all ages.

USEFUL MATERIAL

To augment the value of the speech kit, the VIB also offers its free booklet, "Vitamins and Your Health," and a full-color wall chart for $1.00. This pictures the body's major organs and systems, lists the 13 essential vitamins and illustrates foods richest in them. The Bureau also provides a 16mm color film widely used throughout the country, entitled "Vitamins and Your Health." It can be obtained for a rental fee of $4.00.

* * *

These materials are available from the Vitamin Information Bureau, Inc., 575 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10022.

Quick Topping

Warm honey poured over freshly baked cake is delicious. For variations of flavor, add some fine slivers of unsweetened chocolate or sprinkle the honey coating with shredded coconut.

Whole Fish Flour Is Additive to Increase Protein Content

At least one new food that was originally developed to help alleviate the protein shortage in developing countries has potential in the United States too. Developed by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, the product is whole fish protein concentrate, popularly known as fish flour.

Fish protein concentrate is made from whole hake and hakelike spieces of fish. Red hake and silver hake are abundant on the continental shelf, off the Northeast U.S. Canada and Mexico.

These fish have been used for human food for a long time. They do not enjoy a sufficiently broad market to utilize the resource fully because their delicate flesh does not stand up well under marketing procedures.

Only wholesome fish are used in the manufacture of fish protein concentrate. They are processed under the same sanitary conditions as are required for processing other fish products intended for human use.

HIGH STANDARDS

The resulting concentrate is odorless, tasteless and stable at room temperature. It must be at least 75 percent protein to meet government standards. The 75 percent level makes it equal in quality to the protein in milk.

For many people in the world the main sources of dietary protein are cereals and legumes because they're available and inexpensive. The proteins in these products are of lesser quality than are the more expensive and less-available animal proteins. By adding fish protein concentrate to cereal and legume products the proteins in them are greatly improved.

* * *

Fish protein concentrate is more than just nutritious. It can easily be incorporated into a variety of foods that are attractive, pleasing to the taste and compatible with existing food habits.

Changing food habits is especially difficult in countries where the literacy level is low. New foods that are unfamiliar or old foods that are significantly changed — regardless of their nutritional benefits — will not be acceptable.

An inexpensive, high-quality animal protein such as fish protein concentrate would be extremely useful in the U.S. too. Food budgets in schools, orphanages, hospitals and prisons are often very limited. Fish protein concentrate could be utilized to provide animal protein at a relatively low cost in palatable forms.

* * *

Generally speaking baked products, pasta and liquid foods seem to lend themselves particularly well to supplementation with fish protein concentrate.

For example, the protein content of cookies can be more than doubled by adding 10 percent fish protein concentrate. Granted cookies are not notably high in protein but when eaten in large quantities by children they can contribute significantly to protein intake.

The idea that we will go to the sea for a staple food is not new. Food shortages are now forcing us to buckle down to the job.

BONANZA PUDDING — Combine ½ cup gingersnap crumbs with 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine. Divide among 4 custard cups. Combine 1 can (15½ oz.) French vanilla pudding, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Spoon over crumbs. Top with 1 cup canned pie sliced apples. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Place custard cups on baking sheet. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes or until hot. Makes 4 servings.

Tomatoes Go in Mincemeat

As soon as the first frost or the last fall harvest provides enough green tomatoes, a born cook in Mississippi makes mincemeat. Different from most, her specialty is more like fruit jewels in heavy syrup than the mince name implies. Cooking the green tomatoes in sugar, to preserve their distinct firmness and unusual flavor, is a must.

But in other respects, this creative cook is likely to digress from her inherited "receipt." Instead of a peck of tomatoes which requires a 12-quart cooking utensil, smaller batches are made: sized for a 3-quart saucepan. If the measure of green tomatoes is scant, she might compensate with up to a cup of glazed, chopped fruit mix and halved cherries, adding them with the raisins during cooking.

SMALL BATCH

To make 3-pints (fourth of original) basic green tomato mincemeat, start with about 3 pounds (8 medium to large sized) green tomatoes. Wash, cut out blemishes, but do not peel. Cut into ¾-inch or larger cubes and wedges to measure 2 discard juice. Cook with 2½ quarts.

Let drain, at least 2 hours; cups packed, light brown sugar, and ½ cup cider vinegar, stirring as needed, until tomatoes are clear and fork tender but still firm: about 20 minutes. Add 1½ cups seeded raisins with 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and ½ teaspoon each of salt, cloves, nutmeg, and allspice. Boil about 5 minutes.

Remove from heat. Pack in sterilized jars and seal; or in glass container, cover, and refrigerate.

Sauce Bastes Roasting Duck

Roast duck is a delicacy that should not be by-passed. With little effort and the dramatic dark appeal of the California ripe olive in a bright and piquant sauce, it is a distictive dish that can be proudly and handsomely served.

* * *

The introduction of the mellow ripe olive to the delicate duckling makes for an interesting study of flavors. A complementing sauce of ripe olives with their special nut-like taste and meaty texture adds delicious emphasis to the roasted duck. Glazed lightly, the duck is carved into quarters and the remaining sauce is served with it.

* * *

Ripe olives are delicious as an ingredient and as a snack and are nutritious too. They are abundant in vitamins A and B, protein and important minerals such as calcium, phosophorus and iron but are low in calories. One extra large ripe olive has only about 7 calories.

PIQUANT DUCK WITH RIPE OLIVES

1 (5 pound) duck
1½ cups water
1 slice onion
1 stalk celery
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ bay leaf
1 medium-size tomato, peeled and diced
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ teaspoon gravy coloring
1 cup canned pitted California ripe olives

Preheat oven to 450-degrees. Combine neck and giblets from duck with water, onion, celery and salt; simmer while preparing and browning duck.

* * *

Pull out any fat from body cavity of duck. Tie legs close together. Place in shallow pan, and bake for 30 minutes. Pour off and discard all fat which has accumulated in pan. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 45 minutes longer.

SAUCE

Meanwhile, prepare sauce. Strain stock from giblets and vegetables; measure 1 cup (add water if necessary to make this amount). Melt butter and blend in flour. Add stock and bay leaf to butter and flour mixture.

* * *

Cook, stirring, until sauce boils and thickens slightly. Add tomato, parsley, gravy coloring and ripe olives. Again pour off and discard fat from roasting pan.

* * *

Pour sauce over duck, and bake 15 minutes longer, basting once or twice with sauce. Serve extra sauce with duck. Makes 4 servings.

Tomato, Bacon Top Hamburgers

Perk up hamburgers with a bacon and tomato topping. Cook ¼ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon pure vegetable oil until tender; stir in 2 cans (8 ounces each) OR 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce with tomato bits, ½ cup water and ¼ teaspoon thyme. Simmer 10 minutes.

Spoon over 6 cooked hamburger patties. Top with 3 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled. Makes 6 servings.

Frizzle dried beef in butter and serve atop scrambled eggs.

PIQUANT DUCK — Ripe olives play an important part in a sauce for roast duck. Duck, a bird often neglected by the average cook, is a fine choice for autumn dinners.

Horseradish Puts Zip in Beet Salad

Beets and horseradish team well with beef.

Beet-Horseradish Mold

1 can (1 pound) julienne beets
Water
1 package (3 ounces) lemon-flavor gelatin dessert
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons bottled white horseradish, undrained

Into a strainer set over a pint measure turn the beets; allow to drain thoroughly. Add enough water to the beet juice to make 1⅔ cups; pour into a saucepan and heat until almost boiling. Add to gelatin; stir until dissolved; chill until slightly thickened. Fold in beets and horseradish.

Turn into a 1-quart mold or into individual molds. Chill until set. Unmold. Garnish with salad greens and serve with commercial sour cream. Makes 8 servings.

If your yeast bread has a strong yeasty smell, it may be that you are allowing it to rise at too high a temperature.

Kraut in Salad a Crunchy Idea

Serve tomato-kraut relish in a large salad bowl for a cool change. To make about 4 cups, chop 1 green pepper, 1 medium onion, and 2 celery ribs. Combine with 1 pound 14 ounce can of sauerkraut, drained, ¼ cup of sugar, ½ cup each of chili sauce and catsup, juice of 1 lemon, and 1 teaspoon of paprika.

Cover and refrigerate until sugar has blended the sharp and mild flavors, or about 30 minutes.

Minor Change in Averages

Mart Advances Top Declines

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market advances of individual issues held a substantial margin over declines, but the averages showed only minor change.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.65 to 831.71.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was up .9 to 291.9, with industrials up 1.1, rails up .6, and utilities up .6.

Advances by New York Stock Exchange issues led declines by 688 to 454.

Trading was moderate, but an increasing number of big blocks began crossing the ticker tape.

* * *

Analysts said the profit taking that developed Wednesday after the big advances Monday and Tuesday was continuing. But they said it was to be expected in the wake of such a strong gain.

* * *

krafteo, which traded on block of 106,100 shares, led the most active list, off 1⅞ at 43¼.

Other big blocks included 33,000 shares of United Air Lines at 30½, off ¼; * 28,300 shares of Lykes-Youngstown at 16½, up ⅞; 38,000 shares of Philip Morris at 29¼, off ¼; and 30,000 shares of Trane at 61, off 1.

Among the most-active issues on the American * STock Exchange, Equity Corp. advanced ¾ to 5½, Inflight Pictures rose 1 to 15½, Poloron gained 1⅝ to 24½, VTR declined 1⅜ to 18⅞, and Solitron was up 1 to 43½.

Lady Luck Siding With Amazin' Mets

Upstart National Leaguers on Brink of Series Title

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets went into today's fifth game of the World Series on the threshold of their first world championship—and nothing about the amazing Mets is more amazing than the way they finally got both feet on the doorstep to the throne room.

For the implausible champions of the National League got there Wednesday on a double lost in the sun, a bunt that didn't roll 10 feet and a wild throw toward first. That combination gave the Mets a 10th inning run and a 2-1 victory over Baltimore's befuddled Orioles.

* * *

So the Mets, who turned the baseball world upside down this year by making the final team standings look topsy-turvy, took a 3-1 edge over the heavily favored Orioles and the opportunity to wrap up the Series today in front of Shea Stadium's banner-bearing fans.

TRANSITION

Once holders of the world record for ineptness, the Mets have made the amazing transition to the top on a combination of solid pitching, timely hitting —and plays that have provoked the gagline that "God is a Mets fan."

Look what happened in that almost unbelieveable 10th inning when the Orioles handed them the keys to the throne room.

It began when catcher Jerry Grote sent a short fly to left that was ticketed for an out

"I thought the ball was hit harder than it was," said left fielder Don Buford, "and I broke back to keep from giving up an extra base hit. Then I lost the ball in the glare and didn't pick it up until it got above the sun."

By that time, only shortstop Mark Belanger had a shot at the falling fly as he raced toward the point of impact with his back to the plate. But the ball fell beyond the reach of his outstretched glove as Grote went to second base.

Rod Gaspar went in to run for Grote and Al Weis was given an intentional walk.

TIME FOR STRATEGY

At this juncture, it was time for some strategy, and it's possible that the loss of Manager Earl Weaver—in the third inning he became the first manager ejected from a World Seris game in 34 years—may have contributed to what followed.

That may never be known. What is known is that coach Billy Hunter, who took over for Weaver, ordered pitcher Dick Hall to issue an intentional walk to Al Weis and then brought in Pete Richert to pitch to pinch hitter J.C. Martin.

Martin's orders from Manager Gil Hodges were simply: Bunt—and keep it down the first base line away from Brooks Robinson, the Orioles' brilliant third baseman. Martin complied on the first pitch, the ball trickling to the lip of the infield grass.

Now Gaspar was running and two Orioles—Richert and catcher Ellie Hendricks—were racing toward the ball, brushing against each other in the indecision of the moment.

* * *

"I calledfor the ball all the way," Hendricks said, "and maybe Pete did too. But with all the crowd noise, I don't know. The play was out in front of me."

It was out in front of a record crowd of 57,367 too, and they yelled and shouted and cheered as Richert grabbed the ball, hurried his throw and hit Martin in the left wrist. The ball ricocheted into the first base hole while Gaspar raced home with the winning run.

The resonses to what had just happened varied:

The ball just happened to hit J.C." said the cool Hodges. "I'm glad it did."

"I hope," said Richert, "his wrist's broken."

"I don't even know who threw the ball," said Martin, "but he made a good play because the ball had back spin. I knew they had no play so my job was to get to first. The ball hit me on the left wrist."

Says Ace Hurler

'Mets Will Win Again Today'

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Koosman's astonishing pre-World Series prediction was a four-game sweep for the New York Mets.

The Mets lost the Series opener at Baltimore last Saturday, but Koosman, their strapping southpaw pitching ace, still had a chance today to make good his boast.

"Yes, I remember distinctly predicting four straight," said Koosman, who went after the Series clincher in a mound matchup against Orioles left-hander Dave McNally. "But I didn't say the first four. I just said four straight."

* * *

Koosman beat McNally 2-1 last Sunday at Baltimore, holding the Orioles hitless for six innings as the Mets squared the Series at one game apiece.

They won 5-0 Tuesday at Shea Stadium and then squeezed out a 2-1 10-inning victory Wednesday on Jerry Grote's pop fly double, pinch hitter J.C. Martin's sacrifice bunt and a throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Richert.

"I think we can beat 'em tomorrow," said Koosman, surrounded by newsmen in a corner of the surprisingly serene New York clubhouse after the Mets' third straight Series victory.

* * *

"I can't say I'm familiar with the Orioles' hitters because I've only faced them once so far. But they'll be more familiar to me than when I went out Sunday."

* * *

Koosman had a six-day layoff before facing the Orioles the first time. He felt more confident about today's start after taking his normal three days off between assignments.

"I should have better control now, and with better control I think I'll have better rhythm and more speed," he said.

* * *

The 25-year-old fireballer thought the brisk, sub-60 degree weather predicted today's fifth game also would help him. "I'd much rather pitch in cold weather," he said. "I don't perspire, and I don't lose weight. If it's 50 degrees, I won't mind."

ONE DOWN, ONE TO GO — Baltimore's Ellie Hendricks slides into second base, in the second inning of yesterday's World Series game, in an attempt to distract Mets' second baseman, Al Weis, from making an accurate throw to first for the double play. Although forced out, Hendrick's strategy worked as Weis's throw to first was not in time to nail Bud Harrelson.

'All or None' Theme of MSU, U-M Clash

EAST LANSING (AP)—Both coaches agree you can throw the record book out the window in advance of the Michigan-Michigan State traditional grudge football games this Saturday at Spartan Stadium.

Before the book goes into the wastebasket, there are some fascinating facts about this ancient series dating back to 1898.

The Wolverines, rated No. 13 in the country, are the obvious favorites.

But it is unlikely they will win by a score such as the 119-0 blanking handed the then small, struggling agricultural school on the Red Cedar River in 1902.

MUNN'S FIRST

The most lopsided win of the modern era was 55-0 by Michigan in 1947. That was the first game at MSU for Biggie Munn, former coach and now athletic director.

Munn more than made up for it later with a 54-9-2 won-lost-tied record — tops for any Spartan coach. This included his 28-game win streak and back-to-back 28-0 shutouts of Michigan in 1961 and 1962.

The overall series record is 37-19-5 won-lost-tied for Michigan.

Coach Duffy Daugherty has a comfortable 9-4-2 record against the Wolverines.

This is the 22nd consecutive sellout in the series, backing the boast at East Lansing that this is the greatest football rivalry in the nation bar none.

There is plenty of proof the state Legislature takes it seriously. Several times, irate lawmakers have introduced bills asking for compulsory televising of the game.

They ran into Big Ten and NCAA regulations, however. Regional broadcasts have been allowed in some cases when the match is a sellout long in advance and does not bump heads with any other collegiate games in the area.

Closed circuit television on the MSU campus this Saturday will take care of some of the spillover from the 76,000-plus capacity stadium.

The winner gets one-year possession of the Paul Bunyan Trophy, the inspiration of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams in 1953. This is a four-foot statue of the legendary woodsman astride a base the size of a juke box.

Spartan students went berzerk celebrating after their first victory in the modern series. Under Munn in 1950, State won 14-7. They were a little more restrained when Munn repeated with a 25-0 win in 1951.

Bing Works Out, May See Action in Pistons' Debut

DETROIT (AP) — Dave Bing, star guard of the Detroit Pistons, has shown remarkable recovery from knee surgery and will accompany the team for its National Basketball Association season-opener in Milwaukee Saturday, the Pistons' coach says.

Bing underwent knee surgery three weeks ago for removal of bone chips left by an old fracture that failed to heal properly.

He has worked out the last two days with the Pistons, and Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff said he anticipated using him at Milwaukee, but would open with Howard Komives and Jimmy Walker at guards.

* * *

Eddie Miles and Terry Dischinger at forwards and either Walt Bellamy or Otto Moore at center against Lew Alcindor will complete the starting lineup.

Seeking to replace Steve Mix, lost to the Army, the Pistons acquired 6-foot-7 Tom Workman on waivers from Baltimore Wednesday.

Acquisition of Workman brought the Pistons' squad to the NBA limit of 12.

Newest Moratorium Says 'Stop Series'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A different kind of moratorium leaflet made its appearance in Washington Wednesday.

"Stop the World Series now," it proclaimed.

It was signed by "The National Committee for Preservation of the Baltimore Orioles."

Picture Shows Interference

Orioles Point to Mets' Illegal Play

NEW YORK (AP) — The play that beat them in the fourth game may turn out to be just the thing to revive the Baltimore Orioles against the amazing New York Mets in baseball's World Series.

"I'm going to hang this Associated Press photo in the clubhouse today and it might be just what we need to get started again," said Baltimore pitcher Pete Richert Wednesday night hours after the Mets had won 2-1 in 10 innings to take a commanding 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

The play that produced the winning Met run came with two on and none out. Pinch hitter J.C. Martin bunted in front of the plate. Richert dashed off the mound, grabbed the ball and threw to first base. The ball hit Martin on the left wrist and bounced away for an error, permitting pinch runner Rod Gaspar to score from second.

Few in the crowd of 57,367 noted at the time that Martin was running on the inside of the foul line in violation of rule 6:05 k and that therefore the Mets won the game on an illegal play.

* * *

It was not until an Associated Press photo showed Martin running on the inside of the foul line that a controversy developed at press headquarters and continued far into the night.

The picture showed Martin a few steps from first base, with the ball, thrown by Richert, in the air close to Martin. First base umpire Lou DiMuro is looking at the bag and Shag Crawford, the home plate umpire, is looking on from near the plate.

"What's Shag Crawford doing there with his hands in his pocket," Richert said after he had been shown the photo. "All he's got to look for is that play and he didn't call it.

"If the runner is inside the line he's supposed to be out. It's not Met luck. It's just the fact that a man did not make the call he should have."

CLUBHOUSE TALK

In the clubhouse after the game, Richert had said he would like to see a picture of the play. "I don't know if Martin was inside the foul line while running toward first. I tried to throw the ball inside the line."

Bill McKinley, a former American League umpire, saw the picture and commented: "The runner is not out in this case unless he interferes with the throw. If the first base ump is looking at first base as DiMuro is it should be up to the home plate

Gordie Scores as Red Wings Whip Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — Seemingly ageless Gordie Howe marked his 1,700th game by scoring his first goal of the young National Hockey League season. It was just another game for Frank Mahovlich, Bruce MacGregor and Wayne Connelly who each tallied in a decisive 4-1 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Wednesday night.

For Howe, the 41-year-old right winger in his 24th NHL season, the game was No. 1,550 in regular-season play plus an additional 150 in playoffs. The tally in the third period which put the Wings ahead 3-1 was his 733rd regular-season goal which, when combined with 65 in playoff competition, left him needing only two more to reach the 800-goal mark.

BREAK TIE

Mahovlich and Howe, two of the three Power Line stars, combined for their goals in the first 4½ minutes of the final period to break a 1-1 tie. MacGregor added the final tally at the 11:22 mark of the same period as the Wings stayed atop the NHL's East Division with a 2-0 mark.

★ ★ ★

Mahovlich got the winning goal on a Wings power play in the first two minutes and less than three minutes later Howe flipped a 40-foot wrist shot past Hawk goalie Tony Esposito to wrap up the win.

MacGregor scored while the Wings were shorthanded and the Hawks at full strength as he took a pass from Gary Berman and flipped a backhand from 25 feet.

The Hawks scored first when Gilles Marotte came out of the penalty box in the first period and got a pass from rookie Keith Magnuson for a breakaway on which he feinted Wings' goalie Roy Edwards out of position to score. But the lead lasted only four minutes before Connelly beat Esposito on an unassisted goal to tie the score.

Referee Vern Buffey called 14 penalties including a misconduct on Marotte. Detroit's Matt Ravlich drew four of the penalties, including a double minor for fighting with Doug Mohns in the first period as the fiery defenseman kept up a running battle with his former teammates.

The shots on goal, however, showed the Wings have more than just powerful scorers. Their defensemen were outstanding as the Hawks outshot the Wings 31-20.

DEFENSIVE STARS

The defensive stars were Edwards and defensemen Berman and Carl Brewer.

"Edwards played a helluva game," said a happy coach Bill Gadsby. "He made three or four really big saves, two of them on Stan Mikita, and that's what you have to have to win.

"Bergie played the best he has played ever since camp started and Brewer was even better than he was Saturday," Gadsby said.

★ ★ ★

Unhappy Chicago fans — almost all of the 16,000 in attendance — sent up chants for missing Hawks star Bobby Hull whohhasn't decided yet whether he'll play this season.

★ ★ ★

After the Wings made it 3-1, the fans started chanting: "We want Bobby." A few minutes later, with the Hawks still unable to narrow the margin, they became even more demanding.

"Where the hell's Bobby Hull?"

They finally started chanting in the closing minutes "Goodby Billy" to Chicago coach Billy Reay.

Boston's Bobby Orr Puts Spark in Bruins

BOSTON (AP) — There's only one season scoring record for defensemen that Bobby Orr doesn't already hold—most assists—and the brilliant young star of the Boston Bruins is starting out the 1969-70 campaign as though he intends to rectify that situation.

Orr helped set up both goals as the Bruins opened their National Hockey League season with a 2-1 victory over New York last Sunday night, then picked up three more assists Wednesday night as they routed Oakland 6-0 for their second straight triumph of the young campaign.

'MR. EVERYWHERE'

In addition to his scoring exploits, the 21-year-old superstar was all over the ice as usual Wednesday night. He brought the crowd to its feet time and again as he led rushes, he broke up plays and stole passes, and he put on dazzling skating displays to control the puck in penalty-killing situations.

"I don't try to compare Orr's games," Coach Harry Sinden said when asked if he thought this was one of the young star's better efforts. "You just can't do it. I'll tell you this, though, he's looking damn good right now. His condition, his knees—everything is falling into place for him right now."

First Orr blasted a slap shot which Johnny Bucyk tipped in. Next the blond "wunderkid" staged one of his patented skating displays, bringing the puck all the way up and then passing off to Ed Westfall for the goal.

Finally he fed Phil Esposito and wound up with another assist when the big center did a pretty piece of skating himself, faking out several defenders, going around the net and setting up Fred Stanfield right in front.

Orr's effort Wednesday night was outstanding in all ways, but like Sinden, Oakland coach Fred Glover wasn't about to start making comparisons.

OTHER GAMES

In other NHL action Wednesday, New York defeated Minnesota 4-3, Pittsburgh tied Philadelphia, 3-3, Montreal deadlocked Toronto 2-2, St. Louis downed Los Angeles 4-1.

The New York Rangers, ice cool for two periods, turned temper hot and wound up with their first victory of the young National Hockey League season.

New York got hit by three Minnesota goals in the first period Wednesday night in a game in which 20 penalties were called, got one back in the second and then ripped home three in the third, two within 26 seconds, for a 4-3 victory.

Brad Park launched New York's third-period barrage by beating Minnesota goalie Cesar Maniago at 7:34. Donnie Marshall, who scored the Rangers' goal in the second period, connected at 9:12 and then Vic Hadfield scored 26 seconds later. Minnesota's first-period goals against Ed Giacomin were by Barry Gibbs, Bill Goldsworthy and Ray Cullen.

Jim Morrison's 15-foot shot past goalie Doug Favell with just a little over four minutes left in the game gained Pittsburgh its tie with Philadelphia. Dean Prentice and Brian Hextall got Pittsburgh's other goals, while Larry Hillman, Earl Heiskala and Guy Gendron scored for Philadelphia.

Montreal tied Toronto when Ralph Backstrom scored in the third period about two minutes after Toronto's Paul Henderson had tallied. Brit Selby of Toronto and Mickey Redmond of Montreal scored in the opening period.

Ron Anderson scored in the first 36 seconds, starting St. Louis to its victory over Los Angeles. Ab McDonald and Noel Pickard also tallied in the first period for the winners and Frank St. Marseille connected in the third period. Los Angeles' goal was scored by Ross Lonsberry in the first period.

umpire to make the call."

There was no comment from Crawford or DiMuro. Neither was there any from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Johnny Murphy, vice president and general manager of the Mets, saw the photo and declared "it appears that Martin was a few inches to the left of the foul line. I don't think there's any problem, though. There was no interference."

The rule in question reads:

"A batter is out when, in running the last half of the distance from home base to first base, while the ball is being fielded to first base, he runs outside (to the right of) the three-foot lane or inside (to the left of) the foul line and in the opinion of the umpire's judgment in so doing interferes with the fielder making the throw to first base."

Condition Worsens for Montreal Winger

MONTREAL (AP) — Left winger Gilles Tremblay of the Montreal Canadiens has suffered another setback in his battle to overcome a bronchial condition that threatens his National Hockey League career.

★ ★ ★

Tremblay, one of the league's fastest skaters, was taken to a hospital just before midnight Wednesday.

He had tried to work himself into condition slowly at the Canadiens' training camp this season. He took part in several scrimmages but did not play in any preseason exhibition games.

★ ★ ★

His bronchial condition worsened last Thursday and that was the last time he skated.

IT'S SHOWER TIME — Earl Weaver, Baltimore Orioles manager, gets the familiar "You're out of the game" signal from home plate umpire Shag Crawford in the third inning of the fourth World Series game. A derogatory remark made by Weaver while Mark Belanger was at bat hit Crawford the wrong way. Crawford objected, then ejected.

Orioles Cite Ejection

'Victim of Prejudice

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harry Dalton, the Baltimore boss, is going to the commissioner regarding possible "prejudice" on the part of umpire Shag Crawford toward Earl Weaver, the Orioles' manager.

"My best ball club is on the field when my manager is in the game, and Crawford took him out," says Dalton, the Orioles' director of player personnel.

Dalton was talking about the ejection of Weaver by Crawford, one of the three National League umpires working the series, during the third inning of Wednesday's game while Mark Belanger was at bat.

"I was told Crawford said Weaver has been objectionable all series long," Dalton says.

WANTS CONFAB

"If that's what he actually said, then he came into Wednesday's game with prior prejudice and everyone knows no umpire is supposed to do that. I'm going to talk with the commissioner Bowie Kuhn and see what he has to say about it."

★ ★ ★

Here's what Earl Weaver says about it:

"A strike was called on Belanger that I didn't think was a strike. Everybody on our bench hollered and I got up and hollered at the top of my voice, 'We want that pitch, too.'

"He (Crawford) came over toward our dugout and pointed at me and said something. I couldn't hear what he said so I walked up to the plate and said, 'Shag' . . . and I never got a chance to say another word because he turned around and said 'You're outta the game!'

★ ★ ★

"'For what?' I said. 'For protesting balls and strikes,' I told him. 'You're still outta the game,' he said."

Some way or another, Weaver finally found out what Crawford said to him when the ump first approached the Orioles' dugout.

"I found out," Weaver says, "He said, 'Shut your mouth or you're outta the game.' "

Hanson Leading Firebirds in Touchdowns With Nine

Craig Hanson, glue-fingered receiver of the Pontiac Firebirds, continues to lead the team and the Midwest Football League in scoring.

Hanson has scored nine touchdowns, all as a passreceiver and his 54 points is just a shade of Firebirds running back Marty Malatin, who sat out the last six quarters of football with a leg injury.

Malatin was injured in the second period of the game at Lansing two weeks ago, but he along with quarterback Doug Holcomb are expected to be ready for Saturday night's en-

Sports Briefs

During the 1947-49 cross country seasons, Wayne State showed a perfect 15-0 record, one win better than the 14-0 mark of the 1933-34 seasons.

Rouge Park in Detroit has been Wayne State University's home site for cross country since the sport was instituted at WSU in 1929.

Wayne State University's 1921 football team did not allow a point in a 6-0-2 season while scoring 135 of its own.

Edge Jets on Offense, Chiefs Top Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — San Diego continues to hold a razor-thin edge over the New York Jets as the best offensive team in the American Football League, according to statistics released Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The Chargers lead the league in passing with 1,102 yards and have picked up an additional 700 on the ground for a 1,802 total, compared with the Jets' 1,793 total. The Jets have passed for 1,040 yards.

★ ★ ★

Kansas City remains the rushing leader with 756 yards, for a 151.2 average, while on defense the Chiefs lead in the total category—981 yards for an average of 196.2—and rushing defense—281 yards for a meager 56.2. Houston is tops in pass defense with 660 for a 132.0 average.

South End Wins Squeaker in City Touch Football

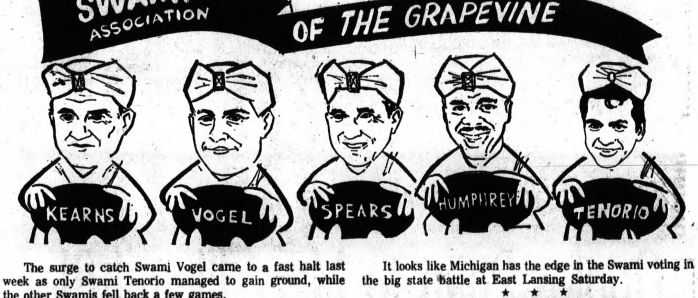
Cecil Jones scored on a one-yard sneak in the second quarter for the lone score in a 6-0 victory for the South End over Orchard Lanes last night in City Touch Football.

The win gave South End a 4-1 record and kept the squad in a tie for first place with Sashabaw Products.

Sashabaw overpowered the Papers Lions 38-0 in the second game. Tom Dabbs passed for four touchdowns, hitting Gary Hayward for two.

Ottawa Defeats Winnipeg, 38-31

WINNIPEG (AP) — Russ Jackson tossed a pair of touchdown passes in sparking the Ottawa Rough Riders to a 38-31 victory over Winnipeg in a Canadian Football League game Wednesday night. Butch Pressley kept the Blue Bombers in contention, scoring three touchdowns.



The surge to catch Swami Vogel came to a fast halt last week as only Swami Tenorio managed to gain ground, while the other Swamis fell back a few games.

The big pick of the week was Swami Spears choice of Wisconsin to beat Iowa, which the Badgers did to end a 23 game losing streak.

It looks like Michigan has the edge in the Swami voting in the big state battle at East Lansing Saturday.

Pneumonia Kills College Gridder

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (AP) — An autopsy has disclosed that a freshman on Platteville State's football team who collapsed Tuesday during a practice session died of acute pneumonia.

★ ★ ★

The examination on Steve Schoenecker, 18, was conducted by Grant county coroner Dr. Leo Becker and a team physician.

Cassius Clay's Fight License Not Allowed

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Cassius Clay will not be allowed to fight in Mississippi even though the state Athletic Commission acknowledged promoters of the former world heavyweight champion did receive a temporary license.

The three-man commission's decision Wednesday came as no surprise. Two members said earlier they would vote to oppose any permit.

Frank W. Chambers, commission chairman from Jackson, said he had issued the temporary license.

"It was probably a mistake to even issue the temporary license but they (Clay's promoters) stressed it was needed to line up another boxer to face Clay," he said.

"I told them at that time it was strictly temporary and could not be used."

On Prep Front

Loop Pacesetters Favored

The rich will have an opportunity to grow richer tomorrow night in the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland A leagues.

In the W-O, pacesetting West Bloomfield (4-0) is at Kettering and Bloomfield Hills Andover (4-0) visits Brighton, while the other games in the loop find Northville at Clarkston and Milford entertaining Clarenceville.

LEADERS FAVORED

In the South Division of the Oakland A, Bloomfield Hills Lahser and Clawson are setting the pace with 3-1 records and both figure to bowl over foes tomorrow. Lahser entertains Troy (2-2), while Clawson plays host to Madison Heights Lamphere (1-3). In the other divisional game, Rochester (1-3) visits Madison (1-2-1).

★ ★ ★

In the North Division, Utica (4-0) and Lake Orion (3-1) are heavy favorites but their tasks could be complicated. Orion is at Avondale (2-2), while Rochester Adams (1-3) entertains unbeaten Utica.

NO PUSHOVER

While Andover should roll past Brighton with ease, Kettering is no pushover, information that coach Art Paddy and the West Bloomfiled Lakers are no doubt aware of.

★ ★ ★

The Lakers, after dropping their opener, have come on to win four in a row, while Kettering, loser of its first three games, beat Brighton (34-6) before bowing to Clarenceville (22-13).

The Titans of Pontiac Catholic, struggling with a 1-3-1 record, have a Friday night game for a change and they'll be visiting Gabriel Richard in a 7:30 contest.

CORSAIRS TRAVEL

The Corsairs of Waterford Mott, 2-3 for the campaign, don road uniforms for a contest against strong Livonia Churchill.

★ ★ ★

In the Southeastern Michigan Association, pacesetting Royal Oak Kimball, 3-0 in the league and 5-0 over-all, is at home against Berkley.

Elsewhere in the SMA, Fernadle (2-1) visits Southfield while Hazel Park travels to Birmingham Seaholm.

LOOKING NORTH

Kimball, the No. 2 ranked team among the State's Class A squad, will have an eye on a game up north where Bay City Central entertains Midland.

★ ★ ★

Bay City Central is currently the top-ranked squad in the state and Midland is the No. 3 squad in the lineup. An upset by Midland could boost the stock of Kimball in the poll balloting.

In other games, Swartz Creek is at Holly, Flint Ainsworth is at Lapeer, Sandy Creek is at Novi, Linden entertains Ortonville Brandon and Wyandotte visits Royal Oak Dondero.

Buckeyes Piling Up Points While Bowling Over Foes

NEW YORK (AP) — The name of any game is to outscore the other fellow, and that's one reason why unbeaten Ohio State is No. 1 in the weekly rankings.

The Buckeyes are No. 1 in scoring with 157 points in three games, an average of 52.3. That figure has been exceeded only once over a full season—by Army's 1944 juggernaut with 56.0.

Only three major college teams have ever attained a higher scoring average in the first three games of a season—Tulsa's 58.3 in 1942, Army's 58.0 in 1944 and Michigan's 57.5 in 1947.

Auburn is runner-up with a 42.8 average in four games, followed by San Diego State at 42.7 and Houston and Louisiana State at 40.0.

The Buckeyes also rank fourth in team total offense and sixth in rushing offense. Houston is the total offense leader with an average of 532.5 yards a game, followed by Stanford, 512.5; San Diego State, 491.3; Ohio State, 489.0, and Dartmouth, 486.3.

Hoople Sees 'M' Win; Penn State to Falter

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Original Drawback

Egad, friends! Have you noticed how the collegiate footballers have been booting the dope bucket about willy-nilly week after week? We are just nearing the midpoint of the season and undefeated teams are as scarce—heh-heh—as brewmasters at a WCTU convention!

Georgia, Purdue and Alabama, along with several others, tasted defeat for the first time last week and this Saturday we look for a couple more of the unbeatens to fall.

★ ★ ★

The game of the day will be contested at South Bend, where Ara Parseghian sends his "Theismann Trophy" ace named Joe (who is not to be confused with the Heisman Trophy) against Southern California.

★ ★ ★

The Trojans journey to the Midwest sporting a 4-0 record, while the Irish stand 3-1. We foresee a high-scoring affair with Theismann, Gatewood and company carrying the day, 35-25—hak-kaff!

THE UPSET

In another classic struggle, I predict Ben Schwartzwalder and his Syracuse Orangemen will make it a great Homecoming Day as Syracuse shades favored Penn State, 22-21!

In the big one on the West Coast look for UCLA to keep rolling with a close 20-17 triumph over resurgent California. And at Minneapolis, it will be bad news for Murray Warmath's Minnesota Gophers as the Big Bad Buckeyes rack up their 18th straight win. Make it Ohio State 57, Minnesota 8. Undefeated Missouri will make it five in a row as they romp over Oklahoma State, 34-17. In an intrastate grudge battle, the Hoople System pegs Michigan to trim Michigan State, 28-21—har-rumph.

Now go on with the forecast.

Midget Grid Day Slated

The annual Midget Football Day is slated for Sunday at Wisner Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Fifteen games are on tap, beginning at 1 p.m. and running through 6 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department along with the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce and it's the windup of the midget football season.

★ ★ ★

Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. All money raised by the Jaycees will go to youth work in the city.

Sweden Boots France

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden defeated France 2-0 Wednesday night and qualified for the World Soccer Cup competition in Mexico City next May.

Unseld's Play Guides Bullets' Win, 98-93

By the Associated Press

Wes Unseld is picking up where he left off a year ago, but Bob Cousy is looking forward to a fresh start.

Unseld, Rookie of the Year and the Most Valuable Player in the NBA last season, scored only 10 points Wednesday night —but eight of them came in the last period to guide Baltimore to a come-from-behind 98-93 opening success over the Chicago Bulls.

The New York Knicks, meanwhile, came up with a closing rally to sidetrack Cincinnati 94-89 and spoil the NBA coaching debut of Cousy, former Boston Celtics star and Boston College coach.

★ ★ ★

Atlanta opened by handing Seattle its second straight loss 124-119 in the only other game scheduled.

Unseld drew four fouls during the opening period and sat on the bench during the second and third while Chicago was taking a 76-70 lead.

★ ★ ★

But his hot late shooting, along with help from Earl Monroe and Gus Johnson, powered the Bullets to an 84-79 lead with 3:47 left.

Chicago managed to cut it to 92-91 with a minute to go before Baltimore rallied again.

Monroe led the Bullets with 26 points and Johnson had 16 and 23 rebounds. Jerry Sloan scored 21 for the Bulls.

★ ★ ★

New York, picking up its second victory in as many nights, held a 52-42 halftime command before the scrambling Royals slapped on a full court press in the third period. The Royals forced four quick turnovers and Tom Van Arsdale hit four baskets as Cincinnati took a 65-64 lead heading into the final session.

★ ★ ★

But Cazzie Russell kept the Knicks alive with nine points in the fourth quarter, and in the final minute Willis Reed's first basket gave New York an 89-88 lead.

★ ★ ★

Dave Debusschere's jump shot, Reed's field goal and a free throw by Walt Frazier then put it out of reach.

'Louis Best,' Braddock

LONDON (AP) — James J. Braddock came to London town Wednesday and the former world heavyweight boxing champion said convincingly:

"Louis and Dempsey were the best heavyweights of them all."

Braddock, now 64 and scaling 218 pounds, is here as guest of the Anglo-American Sporting Club—the club that puts on boxing shows at London's Hilton Hotel.

Braddock won the world title over 15 rounds by outpointing Max Baer in 1935.

He lost the title to Joe Louis when he was knocked out in the eighth round at Chicago in June, 1937.

Braddock of North Bergen, N.J., said:

"Louis was the best heavyweight champion of all time," he said. "Louis would have flattened Cassius Clay."

Point Lead Stays Same

For the third straight week Royal Oak Kimball's Tom Brown reigns as the leader in the Oakland County prep scoring standings.

Brown's 60 point output is four points ahead of second place Dave Brandon of South Lyon with 56 and Steve Jones of Brother Rice who holds down third with 54.

While the top three leaders remain as they were last week, Milford's Tom Newcombe has vaulted into fourth place, replacing Jim Tracey of Waterford Our Lady, with a point count of 52.

* * *

A newcomer to the Oakland County scoring race this week is Tim Teasley of Bloomfield Hills Roeper.

Only a sophomore tailback on the Roughriders squad, Teasley bolted for three touchdowns and two conversion runs to up his personal output to 40 points to tie for ninth with Rochester's Steve Blair.

ON GUARD — Much of Walled Lake Central's hopes for a successful Homecoming tomorrow night rests with the play of these four linebackers who'll have the responsibility of stopping Pontiac Northern's Huskies. They are (from left) Mike Fragerlie, Bob Springer, Rick Baker and Joel Conrad. Walled Lake has beaten PNH 10 times in a row.

PNH Hopes to Burst Walled Lake Bubble

Pontiac Press Photo

BACK IN ACTION — Quarterback Perry Humphrey (17) of Pontiac Central, who missed last week's game because of an injury, is expected to return tomorrow night as the Chiefs play host to the Trojans of Saginaw. Behind Humphrey is Charles Clark, a member of the Chiefs' specialty teams.

Next in line is a game coach Dave Schmidt of Pontiac Northern will have no trouble getting the Huskies in a mood to play.

The foe is Walled Lake Central, a team the Huskies have never beaten, but Schmidt and the PNH crew know this season that the Vikings can be had.

CHIEFS AT HOME

While PNH is visiting the Vikings, Pontiac Central's Chiefs will be entertaining a Saginaw Valley Conference foe they've fared pretty well against in a series that began back in 1923.

Along with seeking an end to an embarrassing losing streak against the Vikings, Pontiac Northern will also be trying to keep alive its faint title hopes in the Inter-Lakes Conference.

STEVENSON UNBEATEN

Livonia Stevenson, entertaining Southfield Lathrup tomorrow afternoon, sports a 3-0 league mark and PNH's (2-1) only hope is that Lathrup (2-1) can spring an upset.

* * *

Another conference outing finds Farmington (1-2) visiting the Skippers of Waterford (0-3).

TEN STRAIGHT

PNH and Walled Lake Central began locking horns on the football field back in 1959 and the Vikings have won them all. PNH came close a couple of times, losing 9-6 in 1961 and 21-20 two years ago, but most of the games were of the no-contest variety and the Huskies would atone for that.

* * *

With the school split this year in Walled Lake — Walled Lake Western was formed — it figured the Vikings might be easy pickings for a number of foes but it hasn't worked out that.

'MEANS NOTHING'

As Schmidt said a while back, "That (split) doesn't mean anything. It's still Walled Lake."

* * *

The Walled Lakers have a habit of winning, and after getting off to a poor start in which they dropped their first three games, the Vikings upset Waterford (18-14) and played a good game in a losing effort against Stevenson (22-6).

Pontiac Central and the Trojans from Saginaw will be meeting for the 38th time with Saginaw holding a 20-16-1 edge in the long series.

* * *

The Chiefs and Trojans have taken turns in dominating their series. Wins come in clusters. The Trojans captured the last two after PCH had taken the previous three, and the visitors will be favored to make it three in a row tomorrow night at Wisner Stadium. Game time is 7:30.

* * *

Saginaw comes into the game with a 2-2-1 record and with one of the most explosive teams in the Saginaw Valley Conference. In those five outings, the Trojans have averaged 23.6 points a game compared to a 10.4 mark for the Chiefs.

SETTING PACE

Setting the pace for the Trojans are hard-running halfbacks Ed Moore and Dan Evans who have scored 20 points apiece to trigger the attack.

* * *

Coach Paul Dellerba and the Chiefs will be trying to improve on a 1-4 mark. The offense faded in the past two games with the squad dropping 24-0 and 8-0 decisions to Flint Northwestern and Bay City Handy, respectively.

* * *

Quarterback Perry Humphrey was injured in the loss to Northwestern and sat out the Handy game. He returned to practice this week and his presence could give the Chiefs a lift. He's the leading scorer on the squad with 18 markers.

After jumping off to a 1-0 record in their opener, Waterford's Skippers have proceeded to drop four in a row. The Skippers have played a good first half but they've been victimized by foes' second half surges.

Kansas to Host 1969 NCAA Fall Council Meeting

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The NCAA Council, policy-making body of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, will hold its fall meeting here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The 18-member body will receive reports from various committees, including the committee on infractions and the NCAA Olympic Committee.

Plans for the 1970 NCAA convention Jan. 12-14 in Washington, D.C., will be made.

Presiding will be NCAA President Harry M. Cross, professor of law at the University of Washington.

Martin Taking It Easy

DENVER (AP) — Billy Martin, the fired manager of the Minnesota Twins, says he has had several job offers but is in no hurry to make up his mind.

* * *

Martin, in Denver for the big game hunting season which opens Saturday, refused to criticize Calvin Griffith, the owner of the Twins who fired Martin earlier in the week.

* * *

"I really don't know what I'll be doing the next year but I have had several attractive offers and am expecting more," Martin said.

* * *

Martin said he has not been in contact with either Seattle or Cleveland, places where he has been mentioned as a possible managerial candidate next year.

He said he may remain out of baseball for a year and await future opportunities.

Martin formerly managed the Denver AAA club in minor league baseball before taking the Minnesota job.

Tough Foe Friday

The University of Detroit Titans, riding the crest of four straight victories, must ready themselves for their toughest football club test of the season Friday night at U-D. Providing the opposition will be the second ranked St. Louis University Billikens.

OU Cagers Start Tuneups

Coach Boldon Greets Seven Lettermen

By DON VOGEL

It will be quite some time before Oakland University basketball fans get a look at the Pioneers during a game — unless they hit the road.

OU opened cage practice yesterdyy, but won't play its first home contest until Jan 7, over a month after the start of the season.

★ ★ ★

"It would be nice to come home with a 7-0 record," said coach Gene Boldon who is starting his second season at OU. "That might be asking a little too much."

Boldon is working with seven lettermen from last season's squad which posted an 11-10 record. The starting lineup would have been intact except for Greg Ranney's decision to concentrate on studies so he will be able to graduate the first of the year.

BYPASSING SEASON

Geoff Linz, who stood a good chance of taking over Ranney's forward post, also has decided to bypass basketball to spend more time on the books. Another absentee was Connie Krogulecki.

However, the outlook remains one of "optimism for improvement," according to Boldon.

Center Tom Allan (6-6), forward John Eley (6-4) and six-foot guards Ed Holloman and Gordon Tebo are returning regulars. Guards Glenn Beier and Mike Clancy and forward Daryl Iwankovitsch saw considerable action as reserves last season.

★ ★ ★

Several freshmen are expected to push for varsity berths.

Among the newcomers are two 6-3 All-City players from Detroit — Calvin Melson of Murray-Wright and Cooley's Anthony Smith, Ronald Brown (6-5) from Detroit Southeastern; Bill West (6-6), Bloomfield Hills Lahser; Tom Pheister, Berkley; Clayton Burch, Pontiac Central; and Flint Central's Derrick Howard and Craig Cooney are other first year candidatass.

Don and Tom Kirkwood, transfers from Oakland Auburn Hills Community College, and freshman Dave Graham of North Branch also are bidding for positions.

"We hope to come up with separate varsity and jayvee teams this season," said Boldon. "Things became pretty hectic last season when the top five or six players on the jayvee would have to rush into the lockerroom after their game and change uniforms in time for reserve duty during the varsity game.

"I also plan to give (assistant coach) John Scovil more responsibility by having the varsity and jayvee practice separately. We practiced as one team last season."

Chicago Now 0-4

Lions Hoping to Add to Woes of Bears

The Detroit Lions are going to try to do something to the Chicago Bears Sunday which has only happened once before in the 50-year history of the Chicago pro gridders . . . that is hand them their fifth straight loss to start a season.

"We've lost five games in a row before, but only once have we gone 0-5 to start the season," said Bears' publicity director Dan Desmond.

"That happened in 1945 and do you know who beat us in that fifth game . . . the Lions," he added.

The Bears, although 0-4, are still the second best defensive team in the NFL behind the Minnesota Vikings who walloped them 31-0 last week.

REASON FOR RECORD

"How can we be the second best defensive team and still be 0-4?" noted Desmond.

"The way we lost to the Vikings last week has been the way our season has gone. We've lost in every conceivable way possible.

★ ★ ★

"The teams have scored on us with blocked punts, blocked field goals, tipped passes, fumbles, interceptions and you name it," Desmond added.

"It was only 7-0 in the third quarter of the Vikings' game, then we saw something we'll probably never see again . . . That was on our field goal attempt when the guy who blocked the field goal, caught it in mid-air and scored for the Vikings."

How about Gale Sayers?

★ ★ ★

"Sayers has been running as much authority as he did before his leg operation, but even he has had a series of bad breaks. "He's had long runs and touchdowns called back on penalties. The frustration for our team has been unbelievable, but our morale is still up. We're gonna start beating a few teams when the breaks begin coming our way," Desmond added.

The Lions dropped to third place in the NFL defensive statistics as the Central Division teams hold four of the top five spots in this category.

The Lions will start second year quarterback Greg Landry against the Bears who will counter with Jack Concannon.

The Vikings have allowed but 847 yards in four games. The Bears were in the runner-up spot, giving up 979 yards.

However the Bears were the toughest team to pass against, with an outlay of only 426 yards in four contests.

The Dallas Cowboys, undefeated in four starts, and on top of the Capitol Division, are the leaders in total offense with 1,579 yards after four games.

The Vikings are No. 2, with 1,435. The Cowboys top the league in rushing yardage while the Philadelphia Eagles are the production leaders in passing yardage with 935.

Campbell Mum on NHL Fight

MONTREAL (AP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said Wednesday his decision on the Ted Green-Wayne Maki stick-swinging episode of Sept. 21 will not be made public before Friday.

DON CARTER'S BOWLING TIPS

YOUR PROBLEM — If you are looking for clues that will help you determine what is wrong with your game, check the direction of your left foot after you've released the ball. It should be pointing straight ahead.

If your timing is bad, your foot will probably be turned well to the right because you've found it necessary to use the foot as a brake. A smooth finish will leave your toe pointing toward the pins, as illustrated.

Mentor Retires

GLADSTONE (AP)—Don Pfotenhauer, football coach at Gladstone High School for 21 years and one of the Upper Peninsula's most successful coaches, has announced his retirement effective at the end of the 1969 season.

Getting Too Commercial?

Senators Join Baseball Critics

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., says if baseball franchises can be switched from city to city it may be cause for congressional or U.S. Supreme Court action.

★ ★ ★

The senator said Wednesday he and fellow Washington Sen. Henry Jackson had sent letters to baseball officials expressing their concern over reports the American League franchise now in Seattle would be transferred.

★ ★ ★

Magnuson now says he plans to contact American League president Joe Cronin, and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's attorney.

"I'm going to tell them that if baseball can switch its franchise from city to city for purely commercial reasons, that may be cause for the Supreme Court to change its decision or for us to pass a bill declaring that this is a business, not a sport, and that it violates the anti-trust laws," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I'm going to do everything I can" to keep the Pilots in Seattle.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, a Seattle delegation plans to attend a meeting of American League owners in Chicago next Tuesday to add its voice to the fight.

RINK MANAGERS — Bill Lee (left), general manager Frederick Corr and Wiley Marshall of Roseland Roller Rink are all smiles after learning that Roseland has become the first all-black operated skating facility to be admitted into the Roller Skating Rink Operator's Association of America. Lee is the skate room manager and Wiley is rink manager.

Third Pontiac Roller Rink Admitted to Association

Pontiac now has three roller skating rinks eligible to send skating clubs into state, regional and North American competition.

Roseland Roller Skating Center, 980 University, has been admitted to the Roller Skating Rink Operators Association of America which governs the competition. Rolladium and University are long-time members.

* * *

"Roseland is the first all-black owned rink to be admitted by the RSROA," said Wiley Marshall, rink manager at the modern facility which was opened last January.

* * *

Whether the rink is able to establish a skating club in time for state competition next spring depends on how successful Roseland is in searching for a professional teacher, according to Wiley.

MAKING CONTACTS

"We are in the process of making contacts now," he said "but I don't know how soon we will be able to sign one."

The rink is operated by the Marshall Street Investment Company. Roland Corr is president and Frederick Corr is Roseland's general manager. Bill Lee manages the skate room.

* * *

The rink has open skating Wednesday through Sunday evenings and Monday and Tuesday nights are reserved for groups.

Black skaters have competed in North American championships over the years with most of them coming from the East Coast. The first black NA champion was crowned this year at Little Rock, Ark., in the junior girls' figures competition.

Arnie Testing Bursitis Hip

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer and 167 other guys who play golf for a living, more or less, tee off today in the first round of the $100,000, 72-Hole Sahara Invitational — despite the World Series.

* * *

Palmer and his colleagues who feel that golf and not baseball is the national pastime are shooting for the $20,000 first prize to be awarded Sunday at the Sahara-Nevada Country Club course, par 36-35—71.

* * *

Palmer just turned 40 on Sept. 10 and this will be the prime test of his recuperative powers. A hip ailment — bursitis — has been bothering him for some time.

* * *

All the pros have had a three-week rest, customary at this time. The absence of tournament action is planned because of the World Series the Sahara sponsors said.

'War to Be Nearly Vietnamized in 1970'

SAIGON (AP) — Official sources today revealed an accelerated military training program for the South Vietnamese armed forces and said the bulk of it would be completed by the end of 1970, permitting sizable U.S. troop withdrawals.

Sources said the training program has been more than doubled since 1966 and would be stepped up next year by as much as 32 per cent.

★ ★ ★

They said that by the end of this year 425,000 to 476,000 South Vietnamese servicemen will have been trained at 33 centers and 25 specialized schools. The program next year calls for training 560,000 servicemen.

The sources produced charts of the training program the U.S. military command is pushing as the top priority mission in Vietnam on orders from Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

LEADERSHIP GAP?

One criticism of the program is the lack of leadership and motivation on the part of the South Vietnamese. One source was asked if he had a chart to indicate progress in these areas.

The source laughed and replied: "That's an intangible, but with leadership and motivation the Vietnamese army could win the war. They will have everything else they require."

★ ★ ★

Sources said about 100 South Vietnamese pilots and aircraft maintenance personnel go to the United States each week for this specialized training.

"This program alone," said one source, "has increased by tenfold during the past eight months."

OWN PILOT TRAINING

By the end of 1970, the source said, South Vietnam will have its own pilot-training program but will continue to send some men to schools in the United States.

One major problem, the source said, is that the U.S. supervised training schools are short of combat-experienced instructors.

★ ★ ★

The source was asked about a published report that U.S. officials freely admit that building a stronger South Vietnamese army could take another two or three years at least and that, in the meantime, the United States will probably have to leave nearly 250,000 logistics troops in South Vietnam.

First the source replied: "I think that's a very valid statement. Certainly the program may take that long." But after thinking for a minute, he added: "I don't think the report can stand by itself."

INFANTRY DEALINE

He said that although it would take two to three years to complete the more sophisticated programs already begun, the bulk of the infantry training will be completed by the end of 1970.

President Nguyen Van Thieu has said the South Vietnamese armed forces can replace between 100,000 and 150,000 U.S. troops by 1970, the bulk of them infantry troops. This would be in addition to the 60,000 troops President Nixon already has ordered withdrawn from Vietnam.

Thieu also has said that plans call for the South Vietnamese armed forces to be increased by between 150,000 and 200,000 men next year, giving the country at least 1,150,000 men under arms.

Mystery Killer Issues a Boast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I like killing people," boasts a weekend killer who calls himself Zodiac and numbers five San Francisco Bay area persons among his victims.

★ ★ ★

Martin Lee, city chief of detectives, said Wednesday the handwriting on a letter acknowledging the killing of a San Francisco taxi driver appears identical to that in notes telling of four other slayings.

★ ★ ★

In each case the letters from the "Zodiac killer" have gone to newspapers and all have been marked with a crossed circle symbol like a rifle sight.

The latest started: "This is Zodiac speaking. I am the murderer of the taxi driver over by Washington St. and Maple St. last night, to prove this here is a blood-stained piece of his shirt. I am the same man who did in the people in the North Bay area."

MATCHES SHIRT

The enclosed piece of gray and white striped shirting matched the shirt of the cabbie, Paul Stine, 29, fatally shot in his cab Saturday night.

Among earlier messages, sent to three different newspapers, were portions of a cryptogram which when deciphered said: "I like killing people because it is so much fun it is more fun than killing wild game in the forest because man is the most dangerous animal of all."

Lee declared: "There's no question about it, he's a man who loves publicity. He's an extremely dangerous psychopath. I don't see a word of remorse in any of the letters. He seems to glory in what he's doing."

All the slayings were on weekends. All the victims were shot except Cecelia Ann Shepard, 22, who was threatened with a gun, tied, then stabbed by a hooded man Sept. 27 at Lake Beryessa near Napa.

All the victims except the cabbie were killed on lovers' lanes.

The other victims were Darlene E. Ferrin, 22, who died last July 4 near Vallejo; and Betty Lou Jensen, 16, and David Faraday, 17, both of Vallejo, who died Dec. 20.

The male companions of Miss Ferrin and Miss Shepard both were wounded.

Lee said he, Napa and Vallejo police officials are "pooling anything we can learn."

Witnesses to the Stine shooting described the killer as a white man, between 25 and 30 years old, with reddish-brown hair and wearing heavy-rimmed glasses and a blue or black jacket.

SLAIN LEADER — Somali today began a five-day period of mourning for its assassinated president, Dr. Abdirashid Ali Shermarke. He was shot yesterday by a 22-year-old policeman who is being questioned by authorities.

Man Charged in Police Death

DETROIT (AP) — A 53-year-old man, described as a drifter, has been charged with murdering Carl Lindberg, a young State Trooper who was shot to death last May.

Charges was James C. Payne. A plea of innocent was entered for Payne when he stood mute Wednesday at his arraignment on the first - degree murder charge in Detroit Recorder's Court.

★ ★ ★

Lindberg, a native of Iron Mountain in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, was killed May 26 when he attempted to stop a robbery by two men of another tenant at his Detroit apartment building.

Storm Systems Slug Midwest, Far West

By United Press International

The Far West and the Midwest continue to be dampened by storm systems today.

One in extreme northwestern Illinois was moving into Wisconsin, with rain, sometimes mixed with snow, common.

★ ★ ★

It fell from the Dakotas across parts of Minnesota and northern Wisconsin. Two inches of snow was recorded early today at Rochester, Minn.

Meanwhile, a cold front moving across the Pacific Coast spread rain from Washington to California and into Nevada.

TRAVEL WARNINGS

Traveler's warnings were in effect today for the Sierra Nevada Mountains for locally heavy snowfalls. Two passes — Sonora and Tioga—were closed and tire chains were a travel requirement for Ebbetts and Carson passes, with snow on the road.

The snow level was about 7,500 feet in the North and 10,000 feet in the South, but the U.S. Weather Bureau said it would lower to about 2,000 feet within the next 24 hours.

★ ★ ★

Travelers' warnings also were posted in northeastern Nebraska.

Scattered rain fell today in the southern Appalachians.

Clear skies and cool weather were common over the Rocky Mountains and much of the Great Plains, while most of the desert area in the Southwest remained clear with warm readings.

A high pressure in the Northeast maintained clear skies and cool weather for that part of the nation as well as the Middle Atlantic States.

Warm weather and fair skies remained over Florida and the Lower Mississippi River Valley.

'No' Vote for Haynsworth

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Another senator has joined those opposing the Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., but the outcome still rests with 24 uncommitted senators.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said yesterday he plans to vote against the South Carolina jurist when the nomination comes before the Senate, probably not until at least Nov. 6. Magnuson's opposition brought the number of opponents to 41 on the basis of previous Senate polls.

9 Prisoners on Bus Freed

MONTREAL (AP) — A bus carrying 32 prisoners from Bordeaux jail to the Montreal courthouse was attacked today by two gunmen and nine of the prisoners escaped.

Several shots were fired by police, who raced to the scene of the attack, at Sauve and Lajeunesse streets in north Montreal.

★ ★ ★

First reports said some of the escaped prisoners were trapped in nearby high-rise apartment buildings.

Auto Industry Needs Cited

GM Head Addresses Materials Engineers

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — General Motors President Edward N. Cole of 1371 Kirkway, Bloomfield Township, told materials technicians yesterday that technological breakthroughs are needed in the materials field during the rest of this century to help solve critical problems facing the auto industry.

Addressing the annual awards and distinguished service luncheon of the Materials Engineering Congress and exposition of the American Society for Metals, Cole said the need is for new and improved alloys, nonmetallic materials and processes.

★ ★ ★

"Significant advances have been made recently in the materials field," said Cole. "But the pace of progress must be accelerated if we are to meet the increasingly demanding transportation requirement of our society between now and the beginning of the 21st Century.

Among the most critical needs of the auto industry, Cole said, is a material that is strong but yielding and soft enough to be impacted by an occupant's head in a high-speed collision, for use in instrument panels of cars.

ANTIPOLLUTION AID

Another is a material that could undergo vast temperature changes up to 2,200 degrees in seconds with minimum expansion, he said. Such a metal would allow production of an exhaust manifold reactor system that could achieve almost complete combustion of any unburned fuels and virtually elminate the emission of harmful exhaust pollutants, Cole said.

Silverless Coin Stirs Talk of Wampum

WASHINGTON (AP) — The subject before the House was a new silverless dollar coin honoring the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But before debate was over Wednesday, there was talk about wampum coming back as currency and the use of coins which could double as lock nuts and fishing lures.

★ ★ ★

These suggestions came from Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, a conservative who argued the House was completing "the degradation and debasement of the metallic currency of this country."

But the House cast all this aside in voting 257-65 for a new copper and nickel-clad dollar coin with Eisenhower's likeness on one side and a design "emblematic of the symbolic Apollo 11 Eagle landing on the moon" on the other.

SENATE VERSION

Only hours before, the Senate had passed its own version of the bill which specified that the first 300 million of the coins be 40 per cent silver.

The differences are subject to resolution by a House-Senate conference committee and then final approval by both branches.

★ ★ ★

The House bill also would let the Treasury Department remove silver from the Kennedy half dollars, now 40 per cent silver, by 1971. There is no similar language in the Senate bill, or anything about the Apollo 11 design.

Gross several times during the debate pulled strings of brightly colored beads from his pockets, dangled them before the House and suggested something like that might be on the horizon.

'FUNNY MONEY'

"This would just be funny money," Gross said of the proposed silverless coins. "I don't know how long it will be before the Banking and Currency Committee brings in a bill calling for the use of wampum.

And, if that doesn't do the trick, I expect them to approve a bill for what the Narragansett Indians called wampumbeag, which is cheap wampum."

★ ★ ★

Other possibilities, Gross said, would include washers and lock nuts "and at least farmers could use them on tractors" or a stainless steel coin which is bright "and could double as a fishing lure."

But the House paid little attention to the views of Gross or Rep. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, whose amendment to put 40 per cent silver in the new coin was turned down, 73-45.

EFFORTS OPPOSED

The Nixon administration has opposed efforts, led by mining states, to put silver in the new coin. The House bill would authorize a new dollar coin made up of 75 per cent copper and 25 per cent nickel.

"Remember how your pockets used to jingle?" Gross asked at one point. Then he burst into song:

★ ★ ★

"Oh, when I was single my pockets would jingle. Oh, Lord, I wish I was single again."

But Gross said the new clad coins started in 1965 produce only "a dull thud."

Army Getting New Vehicle

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — The Twister, a new cross between a Jeep and a tank, will get its first usage by the Army this fall, a Lockheed Missiles & Space Co. spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

The eight-wheel vehicle can attain a speed of 65 miles an hour and give a smooth ride over the roughest terrain, Lockheed said.

The eight independently moving wheels enable it to move speedily and smoothly in contrast to the slow, rough ride in track vehicles like tanks and to "go over almost anything," a Lockheed spokesman said.

The Twister, prior to delivery, was tested in the rice paddies of the Sacramento Valley, the snows of the Sierra, the Nevada desert and the Santa Cruz Mountains and met all tests of that varied terrain, Lockheed said.

★ ★ ★

Two Twisters were delivered to the Army within the last month and the third is in production. A contract for the three vehicles, developed by Lockheed, was signed a year ago.

Hoffa Lawyers Make New Bid

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —Attorneys for Teamsters President James Hoffa, charging again that the government intentionally suppressed evidence, asked U.S. District Court today to overturn his 1964 jury-tampering conviction.

In a memorandum, Hoffa's attorneys stressed the government recording of a conversation between Ewing King, one of Hoffa's codefendants, and Edward Grady Partin, star government witness in the jury-tampering trial.

The memorandum was filed with Judge Frank Wilson, who was ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court to review the Hoffa case and decide whether government eavesdropping was used in the conviction.

"Clearly the government intentionally and deliberately suppressed evidence at trial favorable to the defense," by not disclosing the King-Partin recording, Hoffa's attorneys said.

Defense attorneys were unaware of the existence of the 1963 King-Partin recording, Hoffa's attorneys said.

AGA KHAN

The Aga Khan, spiritual leader of 20 million Moslems and one of the world's richest men, will marry Lady Sarah Crichton Stuart, a London socialite, in Paris Oct. 28.

The prince's secretary announced the wedding date yesterday. Their engagement was announced a week ago.

The Aga Khan is 32. Lady Sarah is 29.

Sinatra in Bahamas Despite N. J. Warrant

Frank Sinatra has arrived in the Bahamas for a stay, apparently not heeding an arrest warrant issued for him in an investigation of organized crime in New Jersey.

The warrant, enforceable only in New Jersey, was issued yesterday at the request of the New Jersey State Investigation Commission.

Sinatra and his retinue arrived Tuesday night and took up residence in an 8-room suite at the Lucayan Beach Hotel. He went yachting yesterday aboard a chartered boat, then gambled at several casinos.

Newsmen who tried to talk with Sinatra about the New Jersey subpoena were brushed aside. A bodyguard warned a photographer for the Nassau Tribune not to take any pictures.

Ravi Shankar Trying to Escape Pop World

Ravi Shankar, one of the great interpreters of Indian classical music on the ancient sitar, says he is trying to escape the frenzied embrace of the pop world which has turned him into an idol of worship.

"After the sitar was taken up by pop," the 49-year-old virtuoso said yesterday in London, "I found the wrong sort of people coming to my concerts. Some of them came drugged and dazed. I was often disgusted by what I saw. Young people behaving indecently with one another during the concerts."

Shankar became part of the pop culture three years ago when Beatle George Harrison became his pupil and later wove the sound of the sitar into a string of Beatle hits.

Spanish Prof at UCLA Wins Novel Prize

Raymon J. Sender, 69, a noted Spanish writer who has lived in the United States for 30 years, won the $15,715 Planeta novel prize last night for his novel entitled "Ignacio Morel's Life."

Sender is a professor of Spanish at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dayton-Hudson Corp. Reveals Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton-Hudson Corp., new parent company of the J. L. Hudson department stores, has announced expansion plans for the 1970-1972 period calling for construction of 64 new stores of varying sizes. Board chairman Bruce Dayton said the three-year expansion will boost the firm's current 11-million-square-foot retail space by 54 per cent.

Offshore Oil Leasing to Resume—Hickel

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel today announced resumption of federal offshore oil leasing which has been suspended since a well polluted the Santa Barbara Channel off California last February.

During the leasing moratorium which began last Feb. 20, Hickel imposed strict new regulations for drilling on federal offshore lands.

* * *

Hickel said a sale off Louisiana, suspended since February, will be held Dec. 16.

Another sale, off western Louisiana "will probably be held sometime during the first half of next year," he said. And a sale off Alaska is under consideration for the second half of 1970.

AT OIL EXPOSITION

Hickel revealed the plans in a speech prepared for the Louisiana Gulf Coast Oil Exposition here.

Hickel told oilmen he did not agree with complaints against his policy of holding oil companies absolutely responsible for cleaning up any pollution from offshore operations.

He called it "a logical extension of principles that the responsible industry has lived with for years."

Hickel also strongly defended the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance which gives oil companies a tax write-off for the oil they pump out of the ground.

UNDER FIRE

This tax allowance has been under fire in Congress, where the House approved a proposal to reduce it.

Hickel conceded the depletion allowance has been "conspicuously abused" in some cases.

* * *

"Its benefits, which were intended to be both reward and intended for the extraordinary costs and risk of mineral exploration have in many cases been distributed to those who incur neither cost nor risk," said Hickel.

"Others have diverted these benefits into other channels, some of them totally unrelated to oil finding."

* * *

But such abuses, he said, "can be corrected by provisions in law and in practice."

A Look at TV

Protests Put Into Focus

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The three major television networks devoted most of their early evening news programs to Wednesday's Moratorium Day activities. But the special programs arrived late when the viewing audience was likely to be comparatively small—NBC and CBS at 11:30 and ABC's wrap-up after midnight.

The late hour did give the network news staff a chance to put the pros and cons of the day into some balance and they also were able to use material gathered late in the day.

* * *

Generally, however, the late shows contained little that was not covered in more compact form in the early news periods.

In the early evening David Brinkley kicked off NBC's news program by emphasizing that the demonstrations calling for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam were "big but not enormous . . . substantial displays but not enormous." Maybe, but they certainly looked huge in the accompanying pictures.

FOCUSED ON PROTEST

Walter Cronkite of CBS, as well as Brinkley and ABC's Frank Reynolds, repeatedly pointed out that "not all were in favor" and each devoted some time to the opposition. But mostly the programs concentrated on the protests.

Especially apt seemed Howard K. Smith's quotation from Harry S. Truman that it was characteristic that "the critics be heard more than those who would support policy," followed by cautioning that the day of demonstrations and counter-demonstrations "has not told us which is the nation's will."

* * *

Cronkite with Harry Reasoner presided over CBS' late night roundup. Frank McGee handled the anchorman's job for NBC. The shows surveyed the more dramatic moments of the day—the Washington march toward the White House, the candle-lit gathering of crowds in mid-Manhattan after dark.

Both networks rounded up spokesmen for various viewpoints. Neither, however, was able to answer the question in most people's minds—how large a segment of public opinion the protesters represent.

NBC's "Music Hall" in a radical and not particularly happy change of pace, presented an hour of live coverage of the Country Music Association awards from Nashville, Tenn.

With Ernie Ford as master of ceremonies, it turned out to be a sort of Johnny Cash festival—the singer won half the awards, including "Entertainer of the Year" and "Male Vocalist of the Year."

* * *

Like most awards shows, it dragged along through the fussing with envelopes and heartfelt thanks. This one had the added disadvantage of being confined to a very special field with a very special body of devotees.

MONSTER KILL — Litter is bagged and hung yesterday at Kennedy Junior High School, 1700 Baldwin, Pontiac. A sign made by a student cleanup crew during an impromptu collection of refuse points out the monster problem litterbugs create. "Don't Feed Him Please!" it asks.

No Disturbances Reported

2,500 in Area Protest War

The appeal was for peace in Vietnam, and more than 2,500 persons turned out yesterday for area demonstrations marking the national Vietnam moratorium.

There were no reported disturbances.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Coalition to End the War Now assembled an estimated 150 to 200 persons — mostly young people from local high schools and Oakland University — for a Mourners March and rally.

The rally was held in the parking lot of St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church, late in the afternoon, following an earlier silent protest at the Federal Building at East Huron and Perry.

IN BLACK SHROUDS

Sixeen women in black shrouds carried candles as they led the Pontiac marchers behind a casket bearing signs reading "No More." The marchers moved from the Federal Building along East Wide Track to the Church.

An estimated 2,000 persons turned out in Birmingham to protest American involvement in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

The sign-toting demonstrators, most of whom were college and high school students, marched up Huner to Shain Park to hear the reading of the Vietnam war dead.

Several speakers called for troop withdrawal from Vietnam and for an end to a "war that is immoral and cannot be won," as one speaker said.

More than 400 Oakland University students, marched up Hunter to Shain Oakland Center for an early afternoon campus rally before leaving for Pontiac, Birmingham and Detroit demonstrations.

Among the participants, OU Chancellor Durward B. Varner called for withdrawal of American troops at the earliest possible date.

★ ★ ★

Varner's message was taken from a letter he was sending to President Nixon "not in my official capacity, but as a private citizen and the father of three children."

In Lapeer, a demonstration by some 200 persons was in contrast to others in the Detroit area. At a "pray-in" at the city's war memorial, most of the male participants, for example were short-haired, wore button-down shirts and tweed sport coats and were far removed from their teen-age years.

'AIDING THE ENEMY'

City Manager Arnold Whitney had warned that the police were very ready to defend against disorder. He also said that the war protesters were "aiding and abetting" the enemy.

Father Charles Goentges of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Lapeer led the pray-in, asking salvation for the souls of those killed in the war.

Among the Pontiac rally speakers, Prof. James Ozinga, an assistant professor at Oakland University, called for action "from the common people in the streets because we are the last voice of reason and common sense that can bring this war to an end.

"We have already lost 40,000 American boys and poured billions of dollars to defend a rotten carcus (the current South Vietnamese regime) that doesn't even have the support of its own people," Ozinga declared.

'MUST GET THE HELL OUT'

"We have no other solution than to get the hell out of Vietnam and let the Vietnamese decide their own fate, determine their own government," he asserted.

Dr. William Donnelly, Pontiac pediatrician, prefaced Ozinga's appeal by saying that the only honorable way out of Vietnam now would be to admit that U.S. involvement has been a mistake and to move troops out.

Wives Fail in Freedom Bid

N. Viets Refuse to Free Yanks

PARIS (AP) — The North Vietnamese told two American wives they won't release any American prisoners of war until all U.S. troops leave Vietnam, the wives said last night.

Sue Shuman and Martha Doss of Virginia Beach, Va., said the North Vietnamese advised them they could speed their husbands' release by demonstrating against the war.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Doss and Mrs. Shuman, accompanied by the latter's mother-in-law, Mrs. B. C. Boeckeler, met for an hour and 15 minutes yesterday with two members of North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks. They said they came away very disappointed.

"We wanted to obtain the release of all sick and wounded prisoners," Mrs. Shuman said, "but they told us we would have to wait until all the American troops are out of Vietnam and the war is over.

"We came here with fairly high hopes. We hoped to present the request for humanitarian reasons. They seemed to feel strongly that the prisoner thing is not humanitarian but political."

"Everytime we would bring up the humanitarian thing," Mrs. Doss said, "they would say if we wanted to get our husbands out, we would have to demonstrate."

★ ★ ★

"I would never demonstrate against my government," said Mrs. Shuman. "That would dishonor my husband."

Cmdr. Edwin Shuman and Lt. Cmdr. Dale Doss were shot down in North Vietnam and wounded March 17, 1968. Shuman was the pilot and Doss the navigator of a Navy A6 carrier plane.

★ ★ ★

The two women are returning home Friday.

★ ★ ★

Three other groups of American wives have visited the North Vietnamese in Paris—two from Texas and one from Oklahoma—but their husbands are all listed as missing, and their first request was whether they are being held prisoner. The North Vietnamese told all of them they would ask Hanoi for information and let the women know what they found out.

2 Cosmonauts Will Visit U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Russian cosmonauts will begin a two-week visit to the United States Monday as guests of American astronauts, and will tour from coast to coast.

Astronaut Frank Borman made the announcement today through headquarters of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The announcement said Borman invited the cosmonauts when he was in the Soviet Union in July.

Borman was commander of the Apollo 8 mission, the first manned flight around the moon.

Both the Soviet visitors are veterans of space flight.

FROM '64, '68 FLIGHTS

They are Major General Georgiy Beregovoy, who flew in the Soyuz 3 spacecraft in October last year, and Konstantin Feoktistov, the scientist member of the three-man Voshkod space flight in October 1964.

They are to arrive in New York Monday afternoon for a tour the details of which are still being arranged. NASA said, however, they are expected to visit both the east and west coasts, the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, and the Cape Kennedy, Fla., launching facility.

Beregovoy will be accompanied by his wife and son. Feoktistov is traveling without his family.

The Houston Post, which first reported the visit, said it was told that Borman will be the official escort for the cosmonauts.

School Half Days Before High Court

Michigan's Supreme Court will decide whether two financially ill school districts, including Waterford Township, can legally operate half-day classes to avoid deficit financing.

In an order signed yesterday by Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennen, the high court took jurisdiction in the two cases from the state court of appeals.

Waterford and the Livonia School District are appealing lower court rulings ordered officials to restore classes to full-day sessions.

Parents in both districts had brought suit against the school boards, claiming that the constitutional rights of their children were being denied by the half-day sessions.

INSUFFICIENT FUNDS

Half-day sessions for some grades in Waterford were implemented when school began last month because local millage elections had failed and both districts had insufficient operating funds.

★ ★ ★

Last month Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer upheld parants in Waterford Township that shortened school days were unconstitutional since, in his opinion, the state law requiring 180 school days each school year means 180 full days.

★ ★ ★

Beer's ruling was the same as that handed down earlier by Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman concerning the Livonia School District.

Both judges also held unconstitutional a law that bans deficit financing by school districts on the basis that the State Constitution requires the state to furnish a free education for each child.

SPEEDS UP ACTION

In accepting the two cases, a move that will speed up the decision by bypassing the intermediate appeals court, the supreme court ordered attorneys for both districts and opponents of the half-day schedules to file statements by Oct. 31.

★ ★ ★

The cases would be heard during the November court session which starts Nov. 4.

★ ★ ★

The State Board of Education was invited to file a friend-of-the-court brief on the matter.

Schools Open in Clarkston; Accord Is Hazy

Clarkston School District students returned to classes for the first time since Sept. 26 this morning following a "tentative settlement" of a contract between the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) and the school board.

Despite tentative affirmative votes by CEA and the board, both refused to give any further information regarding the contract, prompting the question of whether an agreement has been fully settled.

★ ★ ★

Both the board and CEA approved the agreement. But full ratification, according to CEA President Thomas Brown, will depend on "the working out of details in the contract."

Asked whether the money issue had been settled, Brown replied, "The contract settlement depends on how the details and language of the contract are worked out."

'DETAILS' READIED

Schools Supt. Dr. L. F. Greene said "details" of the contract are being prepared and examined by representatives of the negotiation teams.

"The schools are running. The negotiating teams are working on the details as fast as they can. Right now, I don't know when the final contract will be ready," Dr. Greene said.

★ ★ ★

He explained that the school board and CEA mutually agreed not to release any details until the contract is ready for final ratification votes by the board and CEA.

Bargaining began in March and lasted nearly seven months. The teacher strike lasted 13 school days.

★ ★ ★

All of the missed school days will be made up, probably at the end of the year. A minimum of 180 class days are required to qualify for state school aid.

Domestic Satellite Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. (Comsat) said yesterday that with the proper governmental authority, it could arrange to satisfy the needs of the television networks for service through a domestic satellite system.

"Comsat has repeatedly stressed the need to move forward on the establishment of a domestic satellite system," the corporation said in a prepared statement.

Mets Could End It Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — This could be the incredible day when the New York Mets, of all people, become champions of the world.

Leading the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series three games to one, the Mets called on their flame-throwing lefthanded pitcher, Jerry Koosman, to gain the win they need to complete one of the most fantastic rags-to-riches stories in the annals of sports.

★ ★ ★

In the noon (Pontiac time) game at Shea Stadium, the backs-to-the-wall Orioles also called on a lefthanded pitcher, Dave McNally, whom Koosman beat in the second game of the series last Sunday.

Even though the oddsmakers have named them favorites — this time at 13-10 — for the fifth straight game, the Orioles are staring into the maw of disaster after a season in which they won their division title by 19 games and swept the American League playoffs in three straight games.

PLAY THAT HURT

It could turn out that one wild throw by pitcher Pete Richert on a dinky bunt yesterday could decide the world championship.

It happened in the 10th inning and gave the Mets a 2-1 triumph just when it seemed the Orioles might tie the series at two games each.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Grote opened the Mets' 10th inning with a double, actually a pop fly that left fielder Don Buford lost in the late afternoon sun.

Al Weis was intentionally walked, J. C. Martin was sent up to pinch-hit for pitcher Tom Seaver, and Richert was brought to pitch for the Orioles.

Everyone of the record 57,367 fans knew what was going to happen, and so did Richert — Martin was going to sacrifice. He bunted — a perfect bunt 10 feet up the first base line.

Richert fielded the ball, threw to first, and hit Martin on the left wrist. As the ball rolled free, pinch runner Rod Gaspar scored the winning run.

★ ★ ★

Seaver had nursed a 1-0 Mets' lead from the second inning when Donn Clendenon homered, until the ninth, when Frank Robinson singled for the Orioles and came around to score the tying run on a single by Boog Powell and a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson.

Actually it was no fly — but a crashing live drive that seemed headed for at least a double, until right fielder Ron Swoboda made an amazing diving catch.

Your Green Thumb May Turn Blue

With the average date of a killing frost Oct. 8, Oakland County gardeners and outdoor enthusiasts are on borrowed time and it looks like the time is up tonight.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts freezing temperatures as this morning's winds swing from south-southeast to the west-northwest.

★ ★ ★

Partially clearing skies are expected to end the day's intermittent showers by evening.

Tomorrow is due to remain cloudy and cool with the possibilities of rainfall declining.

★ ★ ★

Saturday's football fans better take along their lap robes, for temperatures are expected to be chilly and skies cloudy.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today 70, tonight and tomorrow 20.

2 Cosmonauts Land Safely

MOSCOW (AP) — Soyuz 6 and the two cosmonauts aboard it returned safely to earth today after testing several types of experimental welding techniques in space, Radio Moscow announced.

The announcement said the first of the three spaceships sent up last weekend made a soft landing early this afternoon in a "preset area" 100 miles northwest of Karaganda in Soviet central Asia.

★ ★ ★

The two cosmonauts "feel fine," the announcement said.

The return to earth of Soyuz 6 left two manned spaceships and five cosmonauts still in orbit.

CHIEF BUSINESS

The welding experiment was the chief business announced so far from the troika flight.

With it the Soviet spacemen sought to determine the best method of putting together the permanent space stations which the Soviets plan to assemble.

★ ★ ★

Early in the mass flight there had been speculation that two of the Soyuz spaceships would be joined together and left in orbit to become the world's first space platform. But prospects for this declined as the flight progressed, and the return of Soyuz 6 seemed a clear indication that construction of the space platform will wait for another flight.

"The mission of Soyuz 6 has been successfully completed," Moscow Radio said.

MET BY RESCUE TEAMS

The announcer reported that cosmonauts Georgy Shonin and Valery Kubasov were met by rescue teams as soon as they landed.

There was no indication when Soyuz 7 and Soyuz 8 would return to earth.

★ ★

Soyuz 6 blasted off last Saturday at 2:10 p.m. Moscow time. The flight lasted 4 days, 22 hours and 42 minutes.

The welding was done in a depressurized compartment of the ship in conditions of high vacuum, Tass said.

★ ★ ★

It was the first time orbiting spacemen have attempted to weld metals together.

The other two orbiting spaceships and the five cosmonauts manning them took no part in the welding experiments.

Art Exhibitions to Begin

BIRMINGHAM — The Bloomfield Art Association (BAA) will open its 1969-70 exhibition schedule with a presentation of "Art For Young Collectors" Sunday, Oct. 19 at 2 p.m., at the BAA Gallery, 1516 Cranbrook.

The collection, designed with the beginning collector in mind, will include original graphics and painting. All works are for sale and priced under $300.

★ ★ ★

An Art Association spokesman said the artists represented in the show are some of Michigan's most outstanding artists. All artists are participating by invitation. Each artist or his gallery selected the works to be shown.

★ ★ ★

Art For Young Collectors which will run through Nov. 16 will be previewed for BAA members and their guests on Friday evening.

The Rev. Louis B. Gerhardt, pastor of the North Congregational Church in Southfield, will talk on the status of the American Indian before the Birmingham Senior Men's Club tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the Community House.

The discussion group will debate the subject, "What kind of teachers we want."

FRANKLIN — Psychologist David W. Shantz will be the first speaker this Saturday for the Franklin Forum, sponsored by Friends of the Franklin Library.

He will speak on "How Personality Patterns Are Learned — Some Implications for Child-Rearing" at 1:15 p.m. in the Franklin Community Church. A luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Shantz is assistant professor of psychology at Oakland University.

Previously, he was chief psychologist on Children's Service at Lafyette Clinic in Detroit and adjunct assistant professor of psychology at Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

The Franklin Forum is open to the public. Tickets may be purchase at the door on the day of the lecture.

Hanoi to Nixon: Tell Timetable

PARIS (AP) — Hanoi called on President Nixon today to announce his timetable for the withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam. U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge replied it is "up to your side to make the next move."

★ ★ ★

North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy, just back from a lengthy visit to Hanoi, told the 38th plenary session of the Paris peace talks that U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers said last week President Nixon had a timetable for troop withdrawal in mind.

★ ★ ★

"If the Nixon administration really wants to end the war and already has a timetable for the total withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, then why does it not dare make it public as requested by the American people?" he asked.

"It is precisely because it does not in fact want to withdraw its troops at all, rather it only wants to prolong the war," he continued.

★ ★ ★

Thuy said that because Nixon has not fulfilled the peace promises he made during his election campaign "he is now facing the opposition movement of the American people.

Skyjack Defense Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — A super-secret device to tip off authorities to gun-toting passengers has been put into general use by hijack-plagued Eastern Air Lines.

The disclosure yesterday by Federal Aviation Administration head John H. Shaffer noted that the airline is the first to employ such a defense against hijackers.

Income Rise Dropping

WASHINGTON (AP) — September brought the smallest rise in personal income in 17 months, and government economists cautiously hailed the news as a signal inflation is lessening.

Personal income — the collective total of business and individual incomes before taxes — was $759.8 billion in September, the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

Viet Protesters Stage 'Pray-In' at Lapeer

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

LAPEER — The "heart of dairyland" experienced its first anti-Vietnam demonstration yesterday afternoon, although it was in contrast to the hazzling war critics of Detroit's Kennedy Square.

Some 200 persons — predominantly crew-cut, buttoned-down and tweed-jacketed — staged a "pray-in" at the city's war memorial, then marched peacefully down Nepessing Street, main business thoroughfare of this city of 7,000, and dispersed.

* * *

City Manager Arnold Whitney awoke the populous early yesterday morning via the local radio station reportedly to warn would-be war protesters that the police were prepared to defend Lapeer.

* * *

While Whitney said he was "opposed to the Vietnam war" he felt the boys should be supported as long as they are in Vietnam.

'AIDS THE ENEMY'

War protests, Whitney said, would aid and abet the enemy." Mayor Bill Rowden was out of town.

* * *

Michael Carter, Lapeer attorney and chairman of the Lapeer County Republican organization, spoke at the afternoon rally in opposition to the war.

* * *

Rev. Charles Goentges of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church led the pray-in, a blessing of the souls of the American and Vietnam military and civilian men and women who had lost their lives due to the Asian conflict.

* *

Father Goentges was the only member of the clergy to appear of seven who were invited by Lapeer Moratorium Day committee leaders Mrs. James Lawless of Mayfield Township and Mrs. Frank Senger of Lapeer.

STUDENT LEADER SPEAKS

Rev. Paul Killenger, a Flint Unitarian minister, also attended the Lapeer demonstration.

Lapeer High School Student Council President George Lutz Jr. (the son of Lapeer County Probate Judge George Lutz) addressed the group opposing the Vietnamese war and war in general.

* * *

By coincidence, Lapeer school students had been given the day off. During the school calendar scheduling time last summer, Oct. 15 was set aside as a one-day teacher institute.

Other speakers were Lyle Stewart Jr., a University of Michigan law student, a former Peace Corps volunteer and the son of Lapeer County Clerk Lyle Stewart; and John Senger, also an Ann Arbor law student and brother-in-law of Mrs. Frank Senger.

SOME OVER 30

Despite Mrs. Lawless' belief that few people "over 30" would "stand up to be counted" during the moratorium, it appeared that a significant minority of the 200 persons were over 30.

* * *

Said one 65-year-old hardware store merchant, "I close my store four times a year. This year, this day is one of those times." He sported a picket sign that read, "Peace is Grovvy."

A retired businessman and his wife commented, "You don't have to be young to be opposed to killing."

"Throughout his (Nixon's) campaign, he appealed to the 'Forgotten American.' Now the 'Forgotten American' is saying 'Listen to me,' bnt Nixon said he's going to ignore them," Mrs. Lawless said.

Suspect Is Arrested in Officer's Slaying

Police in London, Ontario have arrested a suspect believed to be the Sept. 21 killer of Romeo Police Officer Omer A. Reygaert.

London Detective Sgt. Frank Christie said the man is believed to be Vernon H. Jones, a 36-year-old Walpole Island Indian who has been the object of the two-nation manhunt.

Provincial police received a tip from a fellow Ford employe who knows Jones, who said he thought he saw Jones on a London street.

The man phoned police but lost sight of the suspect. After hours of searching, police found he had checked into a hotel near where he was spotted.

DIDN'T RESIST

Christie said that the suspect did not resist and "acted like a perfect gentleman." Christie said he was unarmed and carried no identification.

A Romeo policeman and a representative of the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office were on their way to London this morning to ascertain whether the arrested man is Jones.

A federal district judge in Detroit had issued a fugitive warrant, authorizing the FBI to arrest Jones, a former Air Force sergeant. Canadian officials have also issued a warrant for Jones under the extradition agreement between the U.S. and Canada.

The Macomb County Prosecutor's Office has issued a first-degree murder warrant against Jones, charging him with gunning down Reygaert when stopped for questioning about a shooting in Lake Orion, earlier Sept. 21.

Jones is a suspect in the shooting of Thomas Arthur Jr., 24, of 41 N. Andrews, Lake Orion. Police said Arthur, a Vietnam veteran, and some friends argued over the merits of the various military services at American Legion Post 164 in Lake Orion with Jones sitting nearby.

Then Jones left, but he came back to the club and confronted Arthur as he was leaving, police continued. Arthur was shot in the stomach at point-blank range. He is in Pontiac General Hospital recovering from the wounds.

Adults Avoid Demonstration

Apathy Felt in Birmingham

By NED ADAMSON

BIRMINGHAM — This city of the classic "Better Homes and Gardens look" practiced demonstration suburban-style yesterday.

It was the youth who virtually saved the Vietnam moratorium observance from having a sparse turnout.

* * *

Birmingham has been tagged with a somewhat moderate-liberal image ever since the citizenry squeaked through an open housing ordinance in the spring of 1968.

The Negro population became 300 per cent of what it was (from one to three families) which prompted one local cynic to offer "Give them an inch and they will take a mile."

ADULTS STAY AWAY

The town has been termed "with it, progressive."

ADAMSON

But yesterday, the adults who live here and in neighboring Bloomfield Township were conspicuous by their absence.

Or as one observer put it — "the power brokers — the possessors, the people who vote — were not there."

Neither the antiwars or the pro-wars won — but apathy did.

WALK TO PARK

The demonstrators assembled at Harmony Park near the central business district and walked quietly and orderly to Shain Park where the names of the Michigan war dead were read and speeches made.

Personal and police estimates of the number of marchers ranged from 1,500 to 1,800. The majority of this total was decidedly youngish high school students, students from Oakland University and younger children.

* * *

And there was a sprinkling of "over-30s" in button-downs and tweeds out in the street who were willing to question publicly the establishment.

Said one 50-year-old businessman who says he always voted Republican: "This war just isn't right, regardless of your politics: Something has got to be done. And if this is what it takes, I am for it."

HOLDS UP SIGN

At the corner of Willits and Hunter, a plump old lady with a broad smile and a thick coat of rouge on her face held a sign high over her head — "Do Your Part, Trust God and Support Our President."

Office workers pressed their noses to windows and watched the people in the street.

* * *

A crew-cut middle-aged man in a shiny suit with stiffly creased pants stopped, rested his briefcase on the sidewalk, looked and frowned.

Three middle-aged matrons who looked as though they jumped out of a Peck and Peck ad delayed their shopping trip long enough to look and comment.

"ALL KIDS"

Said one "I just knew many wouldn't show up. They are all kids — just a bunch of idealists, that's all."

A young mother toting her two mop-pets in a red wagon, who were both holding large "peace now" signs, observed the shoppers, caught the conversation and bit her lip.

An old man shook his head, made little mutterings to himself as he climbed into his large sedan with two American flag stickers on the rear window and a "Love It or Leave It" sticker on the bumper.

The signs carried by the protesters told the story: "Johnson Wasn't Listening and Nixon Isn't Either," "Greatness Is Admitting A Mistake," "Honor Is Withdrawl" and "Peace Now."

News Analysis

The marchers assembled in the park to hear a few speakers tell the story they had all head many times before.

Maurice Geary of Royal Oak, a civil rights activist and a man who has been there and back on the protest route many times, said it all . . . "The war in Vietnam is an outward sore of an inner cancer. We have shed enough blood in Vietnam — and for what? The troops have got to be removed now. Nobody can win this war. We have got to have peace now."

Other speakers commented on the same theme. A folk singer from Ann Arbor broke into song in an attempt to put the throng into a more enthusiastic mood.

Several policemen stood around — some of them scowling, some of them frowning and some of them laughing as if to say, "Let them have their fun!"

FEW HECKLERS

There were a few hecklers who attempted to shout down the speakers. Two scrubbed faced youths carried a large American flag about the grounds.

A VFW member distributed literature which quoted some comments of an Army officer who said, "I protest against those who condemn our country for any and everything while refusing to see any good in it."

* * *

Mrs. Irene Murphy of Birmingham retorted, "We are not attempting to attack the government or destroy the country. We have to have peace and make our will known to the President."

A small boy then passed a large post card with the word "Peace" inscribed on it. He held up a can for some change.

NOT CONVINCING

John Hoppin of the 18th District New Democratic Coalition, who organized the local demonstration, answered the question, "What about turnout?"

"We are pleased with the response," he said, but he did not look convinced with his words.

* * *

Hoppin would not say whether more such demonstrations would be in the offing. "The President has definitely got to recognize these demonstrations all around the country and take some sort of action. He can't help but to do so."

"Let's hope this can be a start. I am encouraged. The response has been good," he said. And then he shrugged his shoulders and smiled painfully. "Yeah, I have been getting a lot of phone calls since we organized this thing — a lot of Wallace supporters from Beverly Hills."

The speakers stopped and the crowd broke off into little knots of people talking over the problem of the war.

19-Year-Old Draft Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee that has shown little enthusiasm for President Nixon's lottery draft plan has indicated it will back the administration's idea of calling up 19-year-olds first.

Members of the special Armed Services subcommittee would give no details before sending recommendations on the lottery proposal to the full committee today.

* * *

But one source told a newsman, "You can quote the first paragraph of the President's list of priorities if you want to."

* * *

Nixon's first item called for a youngest-first draft call order "so that a young man would become less vulnerable rather than more vulnerable to the draft as he grows older."

'CAN DO NOW'

Opponents of the lottery idea said Nixon already could carry out a youngest-first system without new legislation.

Antiwar Rallies Span Nation

By The Associated Press

With parades, rallies, candlelight processions and church services, hundreds of thousands of Americans joined in the largest antiwar protest in America's history. Supporters also demonstrated publicly.

Every state had some form of protest yesterday and more than one million people, most of them young, may have participated. Opponents of the Vietnam Moratorium Day displayed the American flag and drove with headlights on.

★ ★ ★

There were isolated reports of disorders amid the many activities centered on the moratorium slogan: "Bring home the troops. All the troops now!" Many protests included reading the names of war dead.

When it was over, a spokesman for President Nixon said in Washington, "I don't think the President can be affected by a mass demonstration of any kind."

'SECOND MORATORIUM'

But a coordinator of the moratorium, Sam Brown, said in Washington, "If there is no change in Vietnam policy, if the President does not respond, there will be a second moratorium."

In cities throughout Michigan, more than 55,000 demonstrators marched, rallied and spoke out against the Vietnam war in generally orderly protests.

★ ★ ★

The day's largest rally was also its last, as an estimated 22,000 persons gathered in Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor to hear U.S. Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and longtime radical Thomas Hayden speak against the war.

One of the few demonstration-connected incidents of trouble during the day occurred in Detroit, where about 30 persons — mostly juveniles — were arrested during a march and rally which drew some 10,000 persons to Kennedy Square.

RALLY AT MSU

Charges against those arrested ranged from inciting to riot to improper display of the American flag.

Meanwhile, in East Lansing, another rally of about 5,000 Michigan State University students was followed by a three-mile march to the State Capitol.

★ ★ ★

At most major colleges in the state, professors were allowed to hold classes as scheduled or dismiss them for moratorium activities. Class attendance at the University of Michigan dipped below 30 per cent.

Around the state, many high school students skipped classes to join the demonstrations.

LARGEST TURNOUTS

The large Eastern cities, traditionally the center of antiwar activity, had the largest turnouts. Boston police estimated 90,000 persons gathered on the Common, while 22,000 assembled at the Washington Monument and New York City had three rallies of more than 10,000 each.

But the scope of the moratorium was reflected across the nation. For example, in Iowa about 11,000 persons protested in various locations; in the State of Washington, an estimated 20,000 took part; in Arkansas, about 4,000 rallied in Little Rock.

★ ★ ★

Laotian Troops Take Key Red-Held Land

SAM THONG, Laos (AP) — Laotian forces took the strategic Plain of Jars from the hands of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao with no help from any U.S. military personnel, the area commander said today.

Like Prince Souvanna Phouma, Laos' premier, Maj. Gen. Vang Pao denied in an interview in his mountain headquarters here that Americans are helping Laotian forces in the civil war.

★ ★ ★

But Vang Pao produced five captured prisoners who were identified as North Vietnamese to support the Laotian claim that North Vietnamese forces are in Laos fighting at the side of the Pathet Lao.

Speaking of reports that Americans are aiding his forces, Vang Pao said: "We don't want foreigners. We want to be purely neutral."

U.S. JETS OVERHEAD

U.S. jets streaked over the headquarters 100 miles north of Vientiane, the capital, as he spoke. But Vang Pao denied they were used on bombing missions.

"We use only our own T28s," he said. T28s are U.S.-made jet training planes that have been converted into fight-bombers.

"The U.S. planes fly over sometimes but only on reconnaissance," the commander added. "I have never seen a big plane. I have never seen a B52. I would like to."

B52s, the eight-jet bombers, are used by the U.S. Air Force in Vietnam. Some are based in nearby Thailand.

Vang Pao, who is 40 and has been a soldier for 24 years, claimed that his troops have routed enemy forces.

"I control almost all of the Plain of Jars," he said.

★ ★ ★

He contended that his 10,000-man force of Meo tribesmen and regular Laotian infantry had inflicted heavy casualties on Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese forces.

"They now have only 7,000 men—before they had 25,000," he said.

VAST BOOTY HAUL

He claimed that in the offensive which began four months ago, his troops had captured or destroyed 6,000 guns, 20 tanks, 50 antiaircraft guns, 200 trucks and 6,000 tons of ammunition.

Asked about apprehension in the United States that Americans are involved in Laos, Vang Pao said: "Don't ask me, go to Vientiane and ask the politicians. I am not a politician."

★ ★ ★

Vang Pao even denied that Americans are involved as advisers in a passive or active role in the second military region, which he commands.

Vang Pao said there are only these Americans in his region: Four U.S. aid men overseeing relief supplies to refugees, one military attache and a surgeon at the Sam Thong Hospital.

A SECRET BASE

He admitted, however, that a secret base existed at Long Chien, 25 miles from here, but he would not give details of activities there.

Sources in Vientiane have said a large group of U.S. military advisers is working at Long Chien, Vang Pao's operational headquarters.

"I can swear by Lord Buddha there are no Americans in Long Chien," he said.

'Red Troops Occupying 7 Cambodian Provinces'

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, said today that 40,000 North Vietnamese and Vietcong troops were occupying seven of his country's provinces bordering South Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the prince made a public appeal to three leftist deputies of Cambodia's National Assembly, who have joined Communist guerrilla rebels, to return to the national community "to reinforce unity with a view to fighting the enemies of the nation."

★ ★ ★

The Cambodian news agency reported that Sihanouk announced on Oct. 15 at a provincial rally he was prepared to renew diplomatic relations with Thailand, if the latter would agree to sign an agreement with Cambodia recognizing their common frontier.

★ ★ ★

The news agnecy also reported that six Cambodians were killed on Oct. 6 in an American bombing raid, and another was killed when he was hit by machine gun fire from an American plane.

Tourists from West Germany spent a record total of $1.574 million on vacations abroad last year.

City Man Injured in Two-Car Crash

A Pontiac man was injured yesterday afternoon in a two-car collision at North Perry and East Madison.

★ ★ ★

Joe Bannister, 49, of 671 Cameron, was listed in fair condition this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. His injuries were not revealed.

★ ★ ★

According to police, he was hurt when the car in which he was riding collided with one driven by Clifford E. Braden, 71, of 906 Stirling at 3 p.m. Bannister was a passenger in a car driven by Steven Schultz, 19, of 747 Whittemore.

★ ★ ★

Police said there were no other injuries.

Early Yule Mailing Urged for Overseas

A special Christmas stamp will go on sale at the Pontiac Post Office Nov. 4.

Post office officials, anticipating an onslaught of additional mail directly prior to Christmas, urge area residents to mail early to armed forces overseas to ensure arrival before Christmas.

★ ★ ★

The term "armed forces overseas," includes personnel of armed forces, members of their families and United States Civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an APO or FPO, New York, San Francisco or Seattle.

Postage must be fully prepaid.

Addresses must be legible and complete, prepared with typewriter or ink pen. APO and FPO numbers are the same as the Zip Code and must be shown on all mail.

People mailing gift parcels for distant states are urged to mail them before Dec. 1 to ensure delivery before Christmas. Girl parcels for local and nearby areas should be mailed no later then Dec. 13.

★ ★ ★

The name and address of both the sender and addressee should be inclosed in each gift parcel to permit identity in case of damage or loss of the outside address label.

Greeting cards for distant states, should be mailed not later than Dec. 10 and those for local delivery not later than Dec. 15. There will be no delivery of Christmas cards and letters other than special delivery on Christmas Day.

ALASKA, HAWAII MAIL

Mail to Alaska and Hawaii should be mailed no later than Dec. 1 and airmail no later than Dec. 15, again, to insure delivery before Christmas.

Christmas cards all require six cents postage, and should contain a return address.

They Came Singing Songs Of Peace And Brotherhood In Birmingham's Shain Park

Area Protesters Unite Against Viet War

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

The Vietnam war, which has divided the United State, brought people together yesterday—to sing, march and pray for peace.

★ ★ ★

At Oakland University a long-haired "peace dove," in a draped sheet and limp, lone white feather, took the last victory over a corrupt American eagle as students presented a plan entitled, "Vietnam is American as Apple Pie."

★ ★ ★

Others on campus spent the day discussing the political, economic and ethical questions that have kept us concerned over Vietnam for 10 years now at the cost of some 40,000 lives.

★ ★ ★

In Pontiac, 16 women donned black shrouds of mourning to lead Pontiac's march of about 150 to 200 persons.

CROWD OF 2,000

In Birmingham, meantime, the crowd had swollen to nearly 2,000 by the time marchers in Birmingham reached Shain Park.

Here fathers strapped unconcerned babies to their backs or put them on their shoulders for a better view.

★ ★ ★

Students, grandmothers, businessmen and clergy were united for a few hours.

Waiting for the bus as the Pontiac march filed by in silence, Mrs. Vinetta Pierce of 44 Arthur Street looked up at the dark casket and the mourners that followed.

"What we need today is love and that's the truth," said the gray-haired Mrs. Pierce.

"Amen to that baby," mused an unidentified marcher.

Spartan Meets Wolverine in Daily Partisan Preview

BY LINDA CABRAL

It's that time of the year again. The Michigan State Spartans and the University of Michigan Wolverines are ready to fight it out on the football field, for glory and alumni everywhere. And, it's none too soon.

You see, at my house, Dad is a U of M grad and Mom is a staunch Spartan alumna. As for me . . . well, my four years at MSU gave me the good sense to keep my mouth shut at this time of the year.

Two against one odds don't guarantee anything, so I prefer to align myself with the rear guard of conscientious objectors and spectators.

This weekend has been a long time coming for me. With great poise and self-restraint, I have listened to game after hypothetical football game played at our dinner table. As always, the scores have changed in order to antagonize the most vulnerable opponent.

"Michigan is really in top shape," comes from the patriarch.

"What was the score of the game last year, 68-14 or something, wasn't it?" he continues, carrying the conversation through a proverbial mine field.

"I'm going to hate to see you so disappointed, dear," says the little lady, feigning sympathy.

ANYTHING GOES

Unfortunately, there comes a time every season when anything goes. Twenty-three years of marriage, two kids and two cars don't mean a thing. This is it. Game Week.

There are no holds barred, no stones left unturned, no nicknames left unsaid.

"Cow College," he shouts, with glee.

"Hippie Haven," she returns.

"We'll see, we'll see," they both echo.

Neighbors know the turmoil that exists. They come to add to the tempest, choosing sides at random.

Man down the street asks how the price of cheese is, so far from the "main factory."

Woman up the street asks how many buildings were destroyed in the latest love-in.

Neighbor across the way queries, "Did you say your degree is in animal husbandry?"

* * *

Area golfer adds, "I heard your fraternity just went coeducational."

Things just can't go on like this.

So here it is, the game is only hours away. At last our radios are safe from the two channel-switchers, each trying to hear the "good team" play for once.

Finally, both "good teams" will be out on the same field, at the same time, while "my" team takes to the bleachers for their day at the stadium.

They will get settled in their seats, the two teams will take the field and then play the required four quarters. One team will win, one team will lose, we all know that.

* * *

We also know that a tie will not be tolerated. No Michigan or Michigan State player who has shaken hands with a dues-paying alumnus could ever look him in his bifocaled eyes aagin if this game didn't have a winner.

And besides that, we have to get this thing settled at home, right, Mom and Dad?

If only for this year.

Mothern Torn Between Right, Wrong Feeling

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of the Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: My son and daughter-in-law have been divorced. There has always been a good relationship between my daughter-in-law and myself. They were simply incompatible. Now I have moved away from their vicinity and I don't know whether it will be proper for me to correspond with her or not.

* * *

There are four children. My son sees them every other weekend. I don't want to seem disloyal to him, but I feel he is as much to blame for the breakup as she.

* * *

The children are friendly and want to see me, and I them, but I think my son will not like it too much if I write to her. I would very much appreciate any help you can give me. — Mrs. S.

* * *

Dear Mrs. S.: You should certainly correspond with your son's ex-wife as often as you wish. Of course, you should not "take sides" against him in any way — that would be disloyal. But to continue your friendship with your daughter-inlaw and, through her, your grandchildren, is natural and right.

* * *

And I compliment you on your fair and unprejudiced attitude — one often missing among family members affected by a divorce.

Divorce Begins Struggle for Many

MAKE OVER PAGES

SOC — DIVORCE — 42 T.L.— SET 21.6
TAKE 1 OF 3— THURS

BY JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

No one will deny that divorce poses a problem in this country. Nor will any thinking person argue that children are innocent victims in many cases of long bitter struggles between their divorced parents.

MRS ODELL

It is the mother who usually gets custody of the children. Unless the court finds evidence that she is definitely unfit to raise a family, she finds herself head of the household. She may work or not; but she is dependent for the most part on the support payments ordered by the court.

Cadman Prout, Friend of the Court in Oakland County, says that 75 per cent of all divorced fathers live up to their obligations and pay the court-ordered support.

* * *

It's that other 25 per cent who cause all the trouble. It is the same 25 per cent that disgruntled mothers write letters about in The Pontiac Press Voice of the People column.

They have several complaints in common. Their ex-husbands are not sending the money as ordered and the Friend of the Court won't do anything about it.

This is particularly galling to the first wife if she knows her husband has remarried and seems to be living in high style while she struggles to make ends meet.

'Unlimited' Here for Rock Concert

The Young-Holt Unlimited, an instrumental recording group which became an overnight success with the release of its first record, will appear in concert at Oakland University Oct. 24.

The 8:30 p.m. program in the Sports and Recreation Building is sponsored by two student groups, the Off Campus and the University Activities Planning Committee. Tickets to the public are available at Hudson stores and at the door.

Co-leaders of the group are bassist Eldee Young and drummer Isaac "Red" Holt, the men who previously formed two-thirds of the Ramsey Lewis Trio.

Young and Holt have now combined talents with Ken Chaney, a Canadian singer turned pianist.

While Chaney is largely a self-taught musician, Young and Holt studied at the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago. Young began his career as a guitarist, then switched to bass. He has recorded several albums in which he plays cello and is credited with introducing "soul sounds" on that instrument.

Pontiac Press Photo by Ed Vanderwarp

Mrs. William Milliken will add modeling to her list of credits as Michigan's first lady. Joining her on Monday as models for the Oakland County Council of Republican Women's Clubs' fashion show will be (from left) Mrs. Brent Moffitt and Mrs. Watson Stringer, presidents of the Bloomfield and West Bloomfield clubs, respectively. Nine other county GOP club presidents will participate in the fund raising show in the Northwood Inn, Berkley.

Brenda's Early Start Could Lead to Her Untimely Finish

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old, Brenda, is our problem. All she thinks about are boys. Brenda is very mature for her age and has been wearing a 38 bra since she was 14.

Last semester she failed two subjects so we sent her to summer school to make them up. Well, she had such a "groovy" summer she failed both subjects again.

* * *

This year we have laid down the law to her. Instead of letting her stay out until 11 p.m. on school nights and 1 a.m. on weekends, we told her she has to be in the house by 10 p.m. on school nights and 12:30 on weekends. Now she has her dates pick her up at 6:30. Isn't this too early for a girl to be going out? Brenda says since she has to be in by 11 she has to get an early start What is your opinion?

BRENDA'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: I think Brenda is getting an "early start" for an earlier finish. In my opinion, a 15-year-old should not date at all on school nights (especially if she's failing in school) and midnight is late enough for her to be out on weekends.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: To whom does my blood belong, to my wife or to me!

I signed up to donate a pint of blood to the American Red Cross bloodmobile, and my wife found out about it and canceled my appointment. I would appreciate your opinion in this matter.

CANCELED OUT

DEAR CANCELED: Your blood belongs to you, not to your wife. And unless it's turned to "chicken soup," tell her so.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a hopeless invalid and will be confined to an institution for the rest of her life.

I am in the middle years. My wife's oldest sister (who is still younger than I am) lives about an hour's drive from me in another town. I live alone and have no children. This sister-in-law comes here once a week. She drives to town in the morning, changes the sheets, runs the vacuum and tidies up in general.

* * *

She appeals to me, as my wife did. Only she is prettier and resembles my wife in speech, mannerisms, etc. As the teen-agers would say, she "turns me on."

She is married, has children and she is very religious. I don't want to get her in trouble, and I must not get in trouble myself, but frankly, I need some loving, and I would like for this lady to be the one. What is your advice?

HURTING FOR LOVE

* * *

DEAR HURTING: Hire someone to change the sheets, run the vacuum and tidy up in general. Feeling as you do, it's only a matter of time before you get into trouble and make a fool of yourself.

Speaks for Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart called today for establishment of a permanent office of consumer affairs in the executive branch.

The Michigan Democrat suggested his proposal be added to a bill he is sponsoring along with Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, which would set up an entirely independent consumer council.

* * *

"Consumers are asking which of several legislative proposals deserves their support," said Hart. "The answer is, quite simply, a total package to give the consumer the diverse voice he needs to promote and protect his interest."

Hart outlined his proposal at a hearing of the Senate Consumer subcommittee.

By SHIRLEY GRAY

A visitor from India might be excused for thinking Sunday that the monsoons had come to Michigan. That thought, in fact, may well have crossed the mind of Mrs. Sudhir Hari of Bombay, India, the houseguest since last Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Denton Anderson of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Hari, a friend of the Andersons since they met her in Bombay on one of their trips, was the guest of honor at a cocktail party given by her hosts Sunday evening.

* * * *

Her stop in the Detroit area comes after a month or so of traveling in Europe. Since her husband was unable to get away, Mrs. Hari, young and adventuresome, is touring solo. It is to be hoped that Michigan weather, famed for its changeability, and noted for its perverse insistence on dishing out the worst when you want everything just so, does't cause our attractive visitor to go away mad.

Finally! A fashion show for healthy people. Instead of gaunt, bony models, normal-sized women. Not only Size 8s, but up through Size 18s. This refreshing change is the bright idea of the gals at the Village Woman's Club. Supplying clothes for the Wednesday event was Marion's Four Corners Fashion Imports, located in Adams Plaza in Birmingham. Models were recruited from club ranks.

COCHAIRMEN

Mrs. Richard M. Olsen was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Richard J. Nuffer and Mrs. John C. Sperrit.

On Friday VWC will have a champagne-punch reception welcoming new members from 7 to 7:30 p.m., just before the regular Friday night dinner dance.

In charge for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dann of Bloomfield Hills.

* * *

Sunday was a big day in the life of Mrs. Ella M. Kuhn of Lake Angelus, whose 84th birthday occurred Saturday. A total of 56 relatives and descendants, including nine sons and twp daughters, celebrated the event with church attendance, a family dinner, gifts and good wishes.

Mrs. Kuhn is a former Michigan Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Fink to Speak at Woman's Club Tea

Mrs. Jerome Fink, board member of the Pontiac Creative Arts Center, will speak at Monday's meeting and tea of the Pontiac Women's Club. The event takes place in PCAC at 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. F. M. White is program chairman and Mrs. Alick Clarke, chairman of the tea.

* * *

Assisting them will be Mesdames: A. F. Hudson, Wallace Morgan, Arthur Nicholi, Roy Ward, Clarence Myers, R. W. Stogdill and Harry Dunwiddy.
