88th Congress Opens as House Battle Looms

Romney to Urge Districting Setup

JUDGE H. RUSSEL HOLLAND

Judge Holland Gives Notice of Retirement

Notifies State Today After 27 Years Service in County Circuit Court

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland said this morning he would submit his retirement application today to Gov. George W. Romney and the state retirement board.

Judge Holland said he has listed Feb. 15 as the effective date of his retirement after 27 years on the county's circuit bench.

The jurist will become eligible for retirement Jan. 17, the 65th anniversary of his birthday.

His retirement application already has been filed with the county's retirement commission, he said.

Reason for his decision to retire, the judge said, is that "the tempo of the times is getting too fast for me."

Referring to the heavy case load at the courthouse, Judge Holland said the county needed two more circuit judges to handle cases properly.

He said the fact that his health has not been good since an operation about two years ago was "a minor factor" in his decision.

The county's other four circuit judges have tried to persuade Judge Holland not to retire now. He had been expected for several months to anounce his retirement after Jan. 1.

SUPREME COURT PROSPECT

Some of the judges indicated Judge Holland may be considered a good prospect for appointment in the future to a Michigan Supreme Court vacancy or to the new state appellate court that would be established if the proposed new state constitution is approved.

"I'm quite appreciative of the fact that I've been permitted to serve as a circuit judge

Fight Pending on Expansion of Rules Unit

Kennedy Assured by Dem Leaders They'll Push for Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unpredictable 88th Congress swung into action today.

Families, friends and the merely curious packed the galleries of both houses to watch the colorful ceremonies of swearing in new and re-elected members.

But in the offing — for a likely midafternoon decision — was a grim political battle to determine whether the House will set up its rules committee in such size and complexion that it will not bottle up President Kennedy's major legislative proposals.

Kennedy got earlier assurances at a White House meeting of Democratic leaders that this will be done. He also got their promise they will make every effort to put through a constructive program.

The President will outline his requests in a personally delivered message on the state-of-the-union Monday.

Senate leaders reached informal agreement to wait until after that time before members begin wrangling over whether to change the rules to make it easier to kill off a filibuster. This effort is certain to provoke a filibuster.

Republicans challenged the Democrats' confident predictions that Kennedy will get a major share of his program through what could be a lengthy session. They looked to conservative Democrats to help them defeat some proposals and water down others.

LBJ BANGS GAVEL

In the Senate, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson banged the gavel to get the session under way.

In the House, this duty fell on Clerk Ralph R. Roberts. For the moment, the House was without any elected officers and its first order of business was to organize —mainly meaning to go through the formality of electing Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as speaker. McCormack was speaker in the last Congress.

Senate Democrats, at a pre-session caucus, re-elected Sen.

Gerald R. Ford New Chairman of GOP Caucus

WASHINGTON (AP)— Michigan's 49-year-old Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Grand Rapids is the new chairman of the House Republican caucus, having been elevated to that post yesterday by GOP Congressmen demanding more representation in party councils for new members.

In an upset, Ford was elected over 67-year-old Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa, a House veteran of 20 years and caucus chairman since 1957.

Ford won 86-78 in a secret ballot of Republican House members. Two GOP members did not vote.

The campaign for Ford was led by Rep. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York. They told newsmen their sole objective was to give newer members more representation in GOP councils and said they had no quarrel with

State Solons Begin Session

LANSING (AP)—The 1963 Michigan Legislature convened at noon today with house Republicans prepared to refuse a seat to a new Democratic member—and Democrats still looking for a way to fight the move.

Republicans announced following their organizational caucus last night they will introduce a resolution to bar Leonard Walton, of the Wayne County 12th District, from taking the oath of office.

Walton is awaiting trial in Detroit next month on charges that the word "re-elect" was used on his campaign literature in violation of state election laws.

The law makes it a crime to falsely claim incumbency in a state office.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, re-elected house minority leader in the Democratic caucus this morning, said he still is uncertain whether Democrats can resist the GOP resolution.

"I just don't know what we can do about it," said Kowalski.

The partisan fight over the seating of Walton threatened to upset the apparent bipartisan harmony under which the 72nd legislature prepared to convene.

Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, nominated by the GOP caucus to the post of speaker of the house, and Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, selected as majority floor leader, said Walton's right to a seat is questioned on the basis of his fitness.

GOP leaders said the house can refuse, by a simple majority vote, to deny any prospective member a seat on this basis.

The Republican resolution called for appointment of a five-member bipartisan committee to investigate the Walton matter and make a ruling by Jan. 24.

If Walton is ultimately refused permission to take the oath of office, a special election will be called by Gov.

O. LEO BEAUDETTE

Death Claims O. L. Beaudette

Son of Auto Pioneer Succumbs Here at 71

O. Leo Beaudette, son of one of Pontiac's pioneer automobile industrialists, died suddenly of a heart attack at his residence 269 W. Huron St. yesterday. He was 71.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Beaudette, he was born in Pontiac on April 10, 1891 and received his early education here.

After attending the University of Michigan he was associated with his father in the Beaudette Body Co.

After Henry Ford had incorporated his Highland Park company in 1903, the Beaudettes built bodies for the automobile firm for the next 19 years.

SOLD TO FISHER

Two-and-a-half million bodies were produced here during the period. Fisher Body purchased the company in 1922 and was in turn absorbed by the giant of automobile business, General Motors.

In more recent years Mr. Beaudette was engaged in the investment business.

Although they were not accepted by the city, in 1956. Mr. Beaudette offered to deed Pontiac his home and eight acres of land in the block bounded by West Huron, Williams, West Pike and Franklin Boulevard if the entire block were eventually converted to a city park.

He was a former vestryman of All Saints Episcopal Church where he had been a life member; a past president of Bloomfield Hills Country Club and a member of Orchard Lake Country Club.

During World War II, Mr. Beaudette served as chairman of the drive to collect scrap metal for the government.

Wants Legislature to Get Itself Prepared for Reapportionment

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Romney said today he will urge the new legislature to set up machinery for reapportionment of Michigan's House of Representatives this year, so the job can be done in case the proposed new constitution fails at the polls.

Under Michigan's present constitution, the house must be reapportioned every 10 years. This is the year for changes according to the 1960 census.

Under the proposed new constitution, both houses of the legislature would be reapportioned before the 1964 election.

"It is my feeling that the legislature should prepare itself for house reapportionment in case the new constitution is not adopted," Romney told newsmen. "It should not be ignored."

The governor noted that there are other aspects of government covered by the proposed new document and for which legislation will be introduced in the session beginning today.

But he said he would reserve comment on them until after his "state of the state" message.

Romney supports the proposed new constitution and indicated he will make reference to it in his "state of the state" message to be delivered to a joint session of the legislature tomorrow.

"I believe the new constitution fulfills many of the state's needs and it would be difficult to discuss these things without a reference to it," he said.

Romney said he was pleased with the outcome of yesterday's house Republican caucus, which selected leaders for the new session.

Tshombe Threatens to Scorch Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — President Moise Tshombe declared today he intends to fight back with a scorched earth policy if the United Nations attacks Kolwezi, the war headquarters he quit only yesterday to return to Elisabethville.

Katangans have every major industrial installation mined and ready for demolition, Tshombe told a news conference a few hours after the British government made public in London a statement from him indicating he would give up the fight for a free Katanga.

The mercurical secessionist leader broached again at the news conference the possibility of negotiations, on which he had been snubbed by the United Nations.

"On the matter of liberty of movement of the United Nations—that's one of the subjects we can discuss," he said. "We are men of good will."

The British-issued Tshombe declaration, reported drawn up after British and Belgians conferred with him Tuesday, had been received with suspicion at U.N. headquarters in New York since it has become standard performance for Tshombe to agree with every one in sight one day and forget all about it the next. Tshombe was quoted as saying in it:

"I have come back to Elisabethville with the sole purpose of bringing back as early as possible calm and peace to Katanga and to all its people.

"This consists essentially in rapidly applying the U Thant plan (for Congo unity) without new effusions of blood and useless destruction.

"It follows from this that I shall abstain in these circumstances from any declaration hostile to the United Nations."

Realtors Urged to Sell More

Pontiac realtors heard a dynamic sales pep talk last night by W. Heartsill Wilson, former assistant general sales manager of Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth Division, who urged them to work from 5 'til 11 instead of 8 to 5 if they really want to be successful.

Wilson, who now heads his own sales promotion program, spoke at the 47th annual banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors, attended by over 400 at the Elks Temple.

A plaque in testimony of outstanding service and a portable radio were presented to O'Neil.

Other 1963 officers installed along with Irwin included Thomas Bateman as vice president; former Mayor Philip Rowston, secretary; and Kenneth G. Hempstead, treasurer.

Named directors, along with Irwin, Bateman and Rowston, were M. A. Benson Jr., James Clarkson, John K. Irwin, Ward E. Partridge, Edward A. Maier, John P. Niggeman, John Q. Waddell, O'Neil and Helen Hagstrom.

Only Romney Knows Holland Successor

Both leading candidates for the vacancy on Oakland County's Circuit bench that will open up when Judge H. Russel Holland retires Feb. 15 appear headed for county circuit judgeships.

But, which of the two — Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore or Royal Oak attorney James S. Thorburn — is more likely to be appointed by Gov. George W. Romney to succeed Judge Holland is something only Romney knows.

The other is expected to be appointed to a new circuit judgeship the State Legislature is expected to create for the county during its 1963 session.

Judge Moore, 61, who has built a reputation in youth work and reducing juvenile delinquency that reaches beyond state borders during his 24 years as county probate judge, has the solid support of the Republican county organization for Judge Holland's post.

★ ★ ★

It would be neither new nor particularly surprising, however, if Gov. Romney declines to follow the GOP's recommendation.

MAY FAVOR THORBURN

There are indications that Romney may favor the 44-year-old Thorburn for the vacancy.

A Royal Oak Board of Education vice president who never has sought county or state office and who has not been active in Republican party affairs in the past, Thorburn was chairman of Oakland County Lawyers for Romney during the governor's campaign.

Thorburn is president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

Both Judge Moore and Thorburn live on Vinsetta Boulevard in Royal Oak — Judge Moore at 1407 and Thorburn at 2600.

If Judge Moore is appointed either to the vacancy left by Judge Holland or later to the new judgeship, County Corporation Counsel Norman R. Barnard may take his place on the probate bench.

Barnard has been mentioned as the leading prospect to fill such a vacancy.

Judge Holland today urged at least one and preferably two more circuit judgeships for the county to handle the ever-increasing case load.

One is needed to permit judges to spend more time on each case, Judge Holland said, and another to help reduce the case load.

Although creation of a new circuit judgeship for the county by the legislature is considered definite, reports indicate the possibility of two more circuit judgeships instead of just one, along with a third probate judgeship for the county.

DISCUSS SIXTH JUDGE

County Board of Supervisors Chairman Delos Hamlin said the need for a sixth circuit judge has been discussed informally by supervisors and "it is taken for granted there is a definite need."

Although the supervisors have taken no formal action recommending a new circuit judgeship and are not expected to, Hamlin said he did not think there would be any objections to a move by the legislature.

A new judgeship would cost the county between $50,000 and $100,000 a year.

Judge Holland's successor would serve in the $23,500 circuit judiciary post until the November 1964, general election.

Judge Moore's moving to the Circuit bench would make Probate Judge Donald E. Adams the senior probate judge.

First elected to the second probate judgeship in 1960 after it was created, Judge Adams was re-elected to a four-year term in November.

in the county for 27 years," Judge Holland said.

"I have no ambitions about appointment to a higher court, but if my services were asked, I would feel not only glad but obligated to help out."

With Judge Holland's retirement, an era will end. For 20 years—Jan. 1, 1936, to Jan. 1, 1956—the Oakland County Circuit Court was Judge Holland, Judge Frank L. Doty and Judge George B. Hartrick.

The three built a reputation for the county circuit judiciary as the finest in the state, according to Judge Holland's four contemporaries on the county bench today.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams joined the three, becoming the county's fourth circuit judge, on Jan. 1, 1956.

Judge Hartrick died suddenly Aug. 12, 1958. Judge Doty retired in 1959 after 32 years on the bench and died Jan. 11, 1962.

Judge Holland and Judge Hartrick were first elected to the circuit bench in 1935, taking office Jan. 1, 1936.

OTHER SERVICES

He had been Pontiac municipal judge from 1931 to 1935, and was the city's parttime associate municipal judge from 1929 to 1930.

Judge Holland's court clerk, Sam Cooney, and court officer, Stanley Kevern, also will be retiring, effective Jan. 31.

Cooney, a lawyer who will be 65 in May, volunteered to help out in Judge Holland's court one day eight years ago and stayed on as court clerk.

Dems Await Tax Reform by Romney

LANSING (AP)—Democratic party leaders yesterday proposed a six-point program of "immediate priority" legislation but told Gov. Romney, in effect, that the first move on state fiscal and tax reform is up to him.

They urged the Republican governor to offer his fiscal reform program in specific terms as soon as possible, and said April should be a tentative deadline for enactment.

On the eve of the 1963 legislative session, the Democrats—with Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski serving as chief spokesman — declared themselves willing to work for accomplishment of any legislation "which will serve the best interests of the state" without regard to who proposes it or gets the ultimate credit.

"We are offering the olive branch to Romney," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, last year's House minority floor leader.

Lesinski said the Democratic party's position on fiscal reform is based on a belief that the time is ripe for sweeping changes that will result in a more equitable distribution of taxes from various sources.

"We are awaiting action from Gov. Romney on the question of fiscal reform," said Lesinski. "We do not want to form our own specifics until we see what he offers and what we can support."

However, the lieutenant governor said Democrats almost certainly would oppose continuance of the so-called "nuisance" taxes, the business activities tax and other "stop-gap" levies, and seek to gain revenue from sources that would take pressure off cities to pass income taxes, such as a state income tax.

"Our position is to see that lower income people get relief. We intend to do whatever we can to assist Gov. Romney to bring about fiscal reform," he said. "We would want these points to be included, in essence, in fiscal reform, but we don't want to jeopardize the chances for compromise."

Congress Opens as Battle Looms

Mike Mansfield of Montana as their floor leader, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota as assistant leader or party whip.

They also re-elected Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida as secretary of the Senate Democratic conference. Southern senators, at a meeting yesterday, had unanimously requested Smathers to reconsider his announced intention to quit that post.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., had said he understood Smathers felt he should resign because of criticism that he did not vote with the administration enough.

Among the house visitors was Edward McCormack, nephew of the speaker, who lost a bid for the U. S. Senate to President Kennedy's brother, Edward, in last fall's Massachusetts primary.

With the preliminaries out of the way, the House plunges into a battle Kennedy is favored to win over the size and political complexion of the Rules Committee, which calls the signals for action on major legislation.

A decision was expected by midafternoon on whether to fix the membership of the committee at 15.

This would give Kennedy nominal assurance that liberal-leaning representatives could outvote a conservative coalition of Democrats and Republicans and thus get major administration measures before the House.

The alternative would be return to a 12-member lineup with the conservatives in control.

Firemen Battling Blazes High in Empire State Bldg.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Firemen fought a series of fires today a quarter mile up in the Empire State Building — the world's tallest.

They were able to confine the fires to a shaft running from the basement to the observation tower, but they said it would be an all-day fight to extinguish the blazes.

The fires were still burning more than eight hours after they were discovered in the 1,472-foot structure.

One report said electrical wiring in the shaft, which also houses steam lines and vent pipes, had caused the blaze. Another said fire first broke out in the insulation on a steam pipe.

Firemen had to hack their way through walls to get at the blazes in the five-foot-wide shaft.

No injuries were reported and by 10 a.m. most of the 16,000 persons who work in the building had been permitted to go to their jobs. Several hundred of them had been evacuated about 8 a.m.

Even as they worked, firemen continued to hack into the five-foot wide shaft, stripping insulation from wires.

Other firefighters roamed the building, checking all its offices. Maintenance workers mopped up water.

The fire in the midtown Manhattan skyscraper first was reported at 4:35 a.m. It was declared under control about 8 a.m., but the fire-fighting operation was expected to continue all day.

Republican leadership in the House.

It was the first battle in recent history for the caucus chairmanship, and while he took no open part in the Ford-Hoeven contest, House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was reported by sources close to him to have favored Hoeven.

Election of Ford was the first open display of dissension in Republican ranks since Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts was replaced as majority leader by Halleck four years ago.

Backers of Ford quickly won another victory — without a fight—when they obtained more representation on the Republican policy committee. There will be three additional members each with voting rights.

In the past, each so-called "class" or group of new members was given one seat on the committee, but no voting rights.

Under a complicated new formula for elections to the 33-man policy committee, House members first elected in the last three elections will get two members each, instead of one.

Traditionally, members elected in the last five elections could name only one policy committee each from their "classes."

Under the new plan, any "class" with 21 to 40 members will get two spots. Those first elected in 1954 and 1956 will retain only one spot, since fewer than 20 Republicans first elected in those years still are in the House.

It's Really Complicated

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) —State Sen. Laurin W. Jones admitted today that government is becoming complicated. The Dodge City Republican is chairman of the committee on committees.

Raise Draft Quota for January Calling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has set the Army's draft quota for March at 9,000 men — the biggest monthly quota since January 1962.

The higher quota, announced Tuesday, was signaled in November when the Army disclosed it would increase its strength by 20,000 men through larger draft calls for six months. The aim is to build the Army manpower to 980,000.

The quota for January and February is 4,000. In December, 6,000 were drafted.

A year ago, the Army drafted 15,000 in January as part of the buildup during the Berlin crisis.

Viet Cong Jail Fare: Rat Soup

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The menu in a Communist Viet Cong prison camp: rice, salt and oil; occasionally rat soup and barbecued rat or gopher. In five months as a Communist prisoner of war, U.S. Army Sgt. 1.C. Roque S. Matagulay lost 30 pounds.

Matagulay told a news conference yesterday the Viet Cong were preparing him a special Christmas dinner to cheer him up, but more cheering news came to him on Dec. 24. He was told he was being released.

Matagulay didn't say what the Communists had planned for his special Christmas feast.

The Viet Cong claimed the American prisoner was well-treated. He ate what they ate.

The 31-year-old soldier from Richmond, Calif., nevertheless seemed healthy and spoke with confidence on his first meeting with newsmen since his return to South Viet Nam.

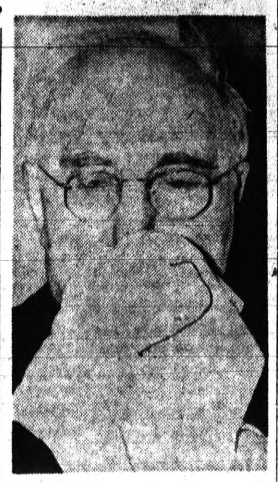

SIGNED STATEMENTS

Matagulay said he had signed Communist propaganda statements but did so while ill with malaria. He said he was submitted daily to Viet Cong indoctrination.

He said he signed the documents and then read them into a tape recorder when he felt his health no longer would hold out.

Since he returned, he said, there has been no criticism of this from American authorities in South Viet Nam. They said he would be sent home in six days because of his health. His wife, Connie, and child live in San Pablo, Calif.

Matagulay was captured July 23 while on a hunting trip 90 miles east of Saigon. He had been assigned as an American adviser to a Vietnamese detachment at Phan Thiet.

U. of M. Researchers See Prosperity Next 6 Months

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan Survey Research Center yesterday predicted a prosperous economy for the next six months. But beyond that, the future is doubtful, researchers said.

Improved consumer attitudes and strong automobile demands should mean a good first helf, but a general tax reduction may be necessary to stimulate the economy later in the year, the center said in a report on its quarterly survey of consumer attitudes and inclinations to buy.

During the next few months, demand for automobiles will continue to support the economy: about one family in 10 intends to buy a new car this year, and a similar number hopes to purchase used cars, the report said.

Three major factors influenced consumers' willingness to buy, researchers found. They were:

— Recent changes in income (some 39 per cent of those interviewed said they were making more than they did a year ago);

— More favorable economic news in general in recent months;

— A relaxation of international tensions.

Researchers said they foresaw no important factors which could maintain lasting prosperity. The report added:

"In this respect, a tax cut may be of great importance as a psychological stimulus on the American consumer."

Some two-thirds of American families remain in favor of a cut, the report said. There is evidence, it added, that a tax cut for middle income families would spur sales of durable goods, home additions and repairs, as well as spurring leisure time expenditures.

Won't Repair Radar Towers

Nature, Technological Progress Take Tolls

OTIS AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP) — The two remaining Texas Towers in the Atlantic Ocean off the Massachusetts coast have fallen victim to nature and technological progress.

The Air Force announced this week that a routine inspection of the two radar installations revealed extensive erosion of sand and rock around the supporting legs.

The announcement said it is not considered practical to repair the tower foundations because semi-automatic airborne radar equipment is expected to be available soon with the same capabilities as the towers.

Texas Tower 2, located about 100 miles east of Cape Cod, will be abandoned immediately.

Texas Tower 3, about 60 miles southeast of Cape Cod, will be maintained on a standby basis until the end of February. It will be manned by seven men when the wether is favorable.

Three towers were built by the Air Force in the mid-50s as part of the radar network designed to spot enemy aircraft approaching U.S. shores.

Tower 4 collapsed in January 1961 during a gale. Its crew of 14 Air Force men and 14 civilians was lost. Two other towers, 1 and 5, were planned but never constructed.

Congressmen Deny Planning for Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress said Tuesday they knew of no plans for boosting salaries of members of Congress this year.

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, was asked to comment on a published report that members are laying plans to vote themselves a big raise in their current $22,500 salaries.

He told a reporter: "This is news to me. I know of no plans for members of Congress to change their salaries."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the GOP minority leader, said he knew of no such move.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said, "I never heard of it."

Publisher to Build in West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — West German publisher Axel Springer announced yesterday he will build a 17-story skyscraper publishing house and printing plant at a cost of 45 million marks ($11.25 million) on the western side of the Berlin wall.

Springer said the construction would begin as soon as the weather improves and will be completed by the end of next year.

He said the building will house the Berlin editions of his "Welt," the "Welt Am Sonntag" and the "Bild Zeitung" and the Ullstein Publishing House's "Morgenpost" and "B.Z"., along with the trade journals "Bauwelt," "Bauwelt Katalog" and "Export Echo."

The new plant will be built one minute from the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie in the old Berlin newspaper district on Kich Strasse.

It will go up next to the existing 21-million mark ($5.25 million) Springer building.

Springer said, despite the wall, he was building in Berlin a plant that in technical quality and equipment would be one of the biggest and best on the continent.

As Springer made the announcement at a reception in the old building, Communist police blew up houses on the Eastern side of the wall to prevent them being used for escapes.

"We are building up, they are tearing down," Springer said.

Work Overcomes Left-Handers' Handicaps

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Do you feel awkward and handicapped because you are left-handed?

Most people have one or more areas in which they feel inept. But these seeming handicaps can be overcome when a person is willing to expend the effort.

Recently, I received a letter from Mrs. G. S. of Santa Ana, Calif., which clearly describes the problem and solution. She wrote:

DR. NASON

"Bright students are sometimes unconsciously handicapped by the ease with which their knowledge accumulates. They may literally never have had to try to develop a particular skill.

"A bright son, now a National Merit scholar, found band music difficult because he did not already know each piece. He received "C" in typing (he never practiced at home). In his senior high school year we persuaded him to take drafting. He was most reluctant. He insisted he was uncoordinated. He referred to his sloppy, left-handed penmanship as dooming him to failure.

SECOND IN CLASS

"However, he attempted the course. We felt that his mathematical ability would give him a little time edge in his actual drawing, which proved to be the case. Soon he was second in his class. He could not beat the best boy in examinations, but he could make as many extra-credit drawings as possible.

"He took minutes salvaged from a heavy sports program and graduated with an 'A' in this course.

"The satisfaction gained from this success was a greater incentive than all the A grades and awards which had previously been his with so little effort. I think the experience was invaluable in his character development."

This lad's typing, handwriting, and feeling of uncoordination also can be overcome if he makes the same persistent effort which solved the drawing problem.

Perhaps he will, now that he has discovered that some things can be achieved only through struggle.

STUDIED TEST MANNER

Here is a letter from Ted of Long Beach, Calif., to illustrate my point. He writes:

"I am left-handed. My test grades have always been lower than grades on work done at my desk at home. After reading one of your discussions of handwriting I studied my manner of taking tests.

"I found that I wrote in a very awkward position, since I used my left hand on the table-arm arranged for right-handed students. My arm and elbow were always in mid-air.

"With the permission of the teacher, I have since either worked at a table or moved a second chair into position beside me. My grades on exams have improved markedly.

Thank you for the hint. Right-handed students could well follow your example of analyzing the situations in which their work is not proving satisfactory.

★ ★ ★

Another tip may help. Left-handed students should grasp the pen or pencil at least an inch from the writing end. This allows them to see what they are writing without assuming a cramped position.

You may obtain a copy of Dr. Nason's "Help Your Child Succeed in School" by sending $1 to "Help Your Child" Box 1277, General Post Office, New York.

LOOK FAMILIAR? — These tailor's dummies are shown in the window of a London store before being removed yesterday because they looked too much like President Kennedy, Prime Minister Macmillan and Prince Philip. The store decided to remove the dummies from the window after an official from the office of Lord Chamberlain, Britain's official censor, paid a visit.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". Get FASTEETH at drug counters everywhere.

WKC President Plans to Resume Business

This entire area extends its most sincere regrets to all the economic victims of the WKC fire. It stands as one of the worst downtown blazes in history.

★ ★ ★

The one bright feature out of an otherwise drab and regrettable circumstance is the instant proclamation by J. J. Wainger: "We will resume," said he, "at the earliest possible moment."

WAINGER

Indeed, this is a heartening and gratifying declaration, for Pontiac cannot afford to lose a long-time merchant and civic supporter like Mr. Wainger.

★ ★ ★

WKC began as a tiny business with a small frontage but it was blessed with an ambitious and capable manager. He and his organization added size and prestige to their business from the beginning. In fact, not too long ago, Mr. WAINGER bought the long and well established Grinnell Brothers.

★ ★ ★

Big, damaging fires are always a depressing circumstance. Everyone loses in a fire. In this case Mr. WAINGER is closed indefinitely, a large number of people are out of work and the block itself which belonged to the Stockwell Estate is razed. Even when the structure is re-established, the insurance never covers the cost and in the meantime all economic benefit from this substantial location is lost, in addition to a well established place for comfortable shopping by a large number of people.

"I have unlimited faith in Pontiac and the general area," said Mr. Wainger to The Press. "This is a solid, substantial community based on the most important economic commodity in modern life —automotive transportation. Advancement simply surrounds the future."

Already plans are under way for an interim location on a modest scale during the rebuilding period.

Florida's Crop Damage Affects Many Areas

The Agriculture Department will be reporting Thursday on the extent of the Florida citrus crop damage from the cold spell of Dec. 12-13.

This will be the first comprehensive report. Just three days before the bitter cold wave hit the groves with the lowest Florida temperatures since 1898, the Agriculture Department had predicted a record-making 120-million boxes of oranges for the season.

Foreshadowing the January orange harvest report was an estimate, Jan. 2, by the Florida Crop Reporting Service that 72 per cent of the state's early midseason orange crop sustained center damage. But some of these oranges still were fit for processing, and crop experts won't know all the affected production for some time.

Before the freeze, overproduction had brought the tree prices down to only 60 cents a box. Now there is talk of a boost to $4 a box if the loss is as great as some growers believe.

Hurricanes and frost have taken their toll of Florida citrus crops before, however, and the industry always has bounced back bigger than ever. Even the great freeze of 1962 is not likely to reverse this history of long-term growth.

We can't help but feel sorry for the growers and the tremendous loss they will have. Also, they are all potential customers for cars and trucks from Pontiac, and any adverse condition such as this may well forestall sales of our local products.

Any catastrophe such as this is twofold and affects more than just the immediate area.

Better to Say No Than Be Unkind

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — I rarely make a luncheon date. Or a cocktail, dinner or theater date. Balk at joining clubs, too, because meetings are "dates," and date planning in advance is not my cup of tea (don't make dates for that either).

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

The reason for this seemingly unsocial attitude is not a dislike for people, but rather a knowledge that no matter when the date is expected to take place, something will "come up" that makes it an unappealing prospect.

It may be a work assignment, a sniffle, a sudden, thoroughly expected preference for the company of my husband and baby. Whatever it is (I know from long experience) that comes up, it makes me wish I'd never made the date in the first place and I'm faced with the uncomfortable prospect of either breaking the date or going through with it resentfully.

This attitude of mine must be considered unadmirable, because everyone knows that civic activities make the world go round, and social get-togethers are — well, they're supposed to be — the basis for a happy personality.

Still, in defense of my selfishly realistic refusal to be pinned down for the duration of a chicken salad, I must say it is better to refuse dates than to break them. And it has seemed to me, in more social years past, that the world already has an overload of chronic, fickle, immature and inconsiderate "date-breakers."

The people (we all know them) who blithely make appointments and then cancel them at the last moment, are the kind who cannot bear to say no, because they want everybody to love them.

CAN'T SAY NO

They cannot bear to say no, that is, until the final moment of truth when on the day of the date they realize that they really love themselves better than the person they made the date with. . . . That they have something better to do with their time . . . That, indeed, their time is more invaluable than anyone else's.

Like the boy who cried wolf, they cry terrible headache. Or, if they're more candid types, they say "a business thing has come up, I'm sure you understand."

If they have a garden club meeting, and someone offers them tickets to the theater, they have no hesitation in backing out of the flora session.

If they have a date with a girl, they think nothing of switching to a date with a man. Even if they have a date with a child, they feel they can cancel it if the excuse is valid enough.

Always, the friend, the girl, the club, even the child, is expected to "understand."

I understand all too well. I have seen the date breakers operate (occasionally on me) most of my life. They are a peculiar breed of social ammoral who thinks of a date as a tangible proof that they are desirable as company, but no more than that.

To them, a date is not a promise, a pledge to be at a given place at a given time. It is as unimportant as the phone call it takes to destroy it.

So my theory is that, unless I am convinced that a date will look as appealing at the witching hour as it seemed the day I made it —unless I am certain that I can bring to a meeting the affectionate cooperation which a club or a person or a party deserves—Why say yes?

Dear Dad:

David Lawrence Says:

U. N. Silent on Soviet Aggression

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union set up offensive missile bases in Cuba that threatened this country, but the United Nations, which piously proclaims itself as the champion of moral force in the world, has decided not to speak, officially or otherwise, any word of condemnation of this flagrant act of Soviet aggression.

The Security Council has dropped the matter, presumably because the Soviets can veto any uction taken there. Action by the General Assembly, however, is not subject to veto by any single power. Yet nothing is to be done there either about the Soviet aggression, which many people think could have brought on a world war.

LAWRENCE

President Kennedy was commended widely in the press for having influenced the Soviets to withdraw their missiles from Cuba. Nikita Khrushchev was commended by the President himself, who described as "statesmanlike" the Soviet premier's decision to withdraw those missiles.

The American and Soviet representatives then took up the problem in New York at the U.N. and now have agreed to announce their abandonment of any further steps.

This leaves the Soviets with a distinct victory and the United States with a defeat and a reversal of its own historic policies. For the Soviets have exactly what they had before the missiles were sent into Cuba — plus a pledge by the President that there will be no military invasion of Cuba either to secure on-site inspection or to rid that country of the Soviet military base and 17,000 Soviet personnel.

They today occupy and control the first European colony established in the Western Hemisphere since the Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed by the President of the United States in 1823.

WILL RETALIATE

Mr. Kennedy, of course, has said that, if there is an attack from Cuba directed against any country in this hemisphere, the United States will feel free to invade Cuba and to take whatever measures elsewhere that it may decide are necessary. But, so far as activities confined to Cuba itself are concerned, the President has adopted a "no invasion" policy.

While he wants to see the people of Cuba liberated and hopes they will be some day, the United States is today committed against any military invasion to accomplish that purpose.

Mr. Kennedy's last official statement on this point was read by him at the opening of his news conference on Nov. 20, 1962. He said:

"We will not, of course, abandon the political, economic and other efforts of this hemisphere to halt subversion from Cuba, nor our purpose and hope that the Cuban people shall some day be truly free. But these policies are very different from any intent to launch a military invasion of the island."

So the Soviet government's occupation of Cuba continues — with 17,000 Russians, mostly troops, along with "defensive" missiles and other weapons — while the United States makes no effort to get them out.

★ ★ ★

Not since the Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed has any European power successfully invaded the Western Hemisphere, set up a military base with its own troops, and maintained control of the civilian government of any country, as has just happened in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

The United Nations has authorized its military forces to intervene in such situations as have arisen in the half-civilized Congo, but not a single resolution condemning the Soviet aggression has even been sponsored in the United Nations by any government, including that of the United States.

Federal Employes

The Burlington (Vt.) Free Press

John F. Kennedy received 34,227,096 votes in the Presidential election of 1960. His opponent, Richard M. Nixon received 34,108,546 votes. Thus Kennedy won the Presidency by 118,550 votes.

★ ★ ★

Between Jan. 20, 1961 (when Kennedy took office) and June 30, 1962, federal civilian employment increased by a grand total of 143,618. This means that in 17 months, 25,068 more people were added to the federal payroll than the total number of voters who provided Kennedy with his margin of victory in 1960.

★ ★ ★

According to estimates based on the budget, 88,000 more employes will be added to the federal bureaucracy before the end of this month. If Kennedy adds 5,482 employes between Jan. 1 and Jan. 20 (which seems certain), he will have increased federal civilion employment by 237,100 in two years.

★ ★ ★

Vermonters will note that the number 237,100 is exactly twice the number 118,550 — which was Kennedy's margin of victory in 1960. Are there still any Vermonters who are not disturbed by the explosive growth of the federal bureaucracy?

Time for Silence

Asked what it did in 1962, the world can reply curtly that it survived. It will be excused if, breathing hard, it declines to prophesy about 1963.

Railroads

The Chicago Sun-Times

A curt reminder, carrying White House weight, has been given unions that the railroad industry exists primarily to provide the nation with transportation and not jobs for workers.

The dictum deserves repeating until it sinks into the minds of labor negotiators.

In the Southern Pacific case, the brotherhood concerned about 4,500 jobs that have been eliminated since 1957, demanded that each year the railroad be limited to a fixed percentage that could be abolished. The railroad said this would amount to a job freeze. If the railroad was required to keep people it did not need, it would be sadled with an expense that would keep it from progressing.

The presidential board said the union asked much and gave nothing. It said the union seeks to "protect the job itself."

"This board," it said, "cannot sanction an approach which would inhibit the carrier's efforts to remain competitive. Only if railroad management is free to introduce cost-saving innovations will this nation enjoy an adequate and efficient system."

The board had a heart for workers who might become displaced. It suggested part of the savings from automation be used to help clerks laid off or downgraded; that moving expenses, retraining and other benefits be furnished.

★ ★ ★

The abandonment of the Skybolt missile program is bringing layoffs of some 6,000 aircraft employes. No one suggests they be kept on the payroll because their jobs come first. There must be work for them to do.

★ ★ ★

Diehard opposition to the necessary changes in the changing railroad business is expressed by Louis J. Wagner, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen. He asks: "If management cannot manage the railroads in the public interest, then should we not in the public interest have public ownership of railroads?"

★ ★ ★

Translation: If the owners of railroads can't provide us with jobs whether we are needed or not, then Uncle Sam should take over the roads to provide us with jobs at the taxpayers' expense.

★ ★ ★

An outright dole would be a more honest solution to the problem, but we are confident most American workers want to work in jobs where they are useful and needed.

Judge Holland Ends 27 Years on County Circuit Bench

By JIM DYGERT

A man of firmness and integrity, yet of fairness and compassion.

A man of judicial courage and conscientiousness, yet of gentle humor and unswerving courtesy.

In a word, a gentleman.

That's how those who know him describe Oakland County Circuit Court Judge H. Russel Holland, a man who never really planned on being a lawyer or a judge but who became one of the most respected judges in the state.

★ ★ ★

Judge Holland today set the date for the end of an era when he announced his retirement after 27 years on the county's circuit bench.

TRUE TO WORD

For 27 years the county had in Judge Holland, a magistrate who was always dignified, but never somber, a man who was always true to his word, outside as well as in the courtroom.

Take back in 1933 for example: "If grass grows there, I'll mow it," he said to Sheriff Roy N. Reynolds as the sheriff disclosed his plan to cultivate grass in the brown clay rutted by rainstorms in front of the county jail.

The next May, when the green blades had grown tall and thick, and it was time for the first mowing, there was Judge Holland, then Pontiac's municipal judge, giving the grass a judicial trimming.

The judge sometimes softens his courtroom manner with a touch of humor and a twinkle in the eye "to put witnesses and attorneys at ease when things get tensed up," he says.

A young man once refused to give his first name in Judge Holland's court on the grounds that it was a "lousy name."

★ ★ ★

"I'll make you a deal," said the judge. "My name is H. Russel Holland. You don't know what the 'H' stands for. I'll tell you what it is and you tell me yours, all right?"

SECRET OUT

When the judge's secret was out, the young man laughed. He had to concede that his was no worse. And, what does the "H" stand for? Hezekiah.

It's the same first name as that of the judge's 26-year-old son, H. Russel Holland II, a University of Michigan Law School graduate who lives in Anchorage, Alaska, and plans to practice law there.

Judge Holland also has a daughter, Sharon L., 23, who is a novice at St. Mary's Convent in Monroe. She has taken the name, Sister Marie Russell.

Their mother, the first Mrs. Holland, died of cancer in 1953. She was the former Ruth H. Cleary of Marquette. The Hollands were married in 1931, the same year Judge Holland became Pontiac's municipal judge.

Judge Holland married his present wife, the former Nell Rogers of Pontiac, in 1958. They live at 117 E. Iroquois Road.

Born Jan. 17, 1898, near rural Wilmington, Va., Judge Holland originally wanted to be a doctor.

After a two-year premed course at the University of Richmond, he ran up against a frequent bugaboo of eager students—no money. And the medical school permitted no part-time jobs.

★ ★ ★

So, he completed liberal arts studies at the university in 1920 and became a history teacher.

IN LOVE WITH LAW

Hoping to acquire a background of constitutional law for teaching English history, he enrolled in a 1922 summer course at University of Michigan Law School, where he fell in love with law.

The cases that stand out in Judge Holland's memory are those that involved important legal points, rather than sensational criminal trials, he says.

His most fascinating case? The Twelve Town Drain litigation. "I really learned something about drainage."

Following a nine-day trial in December 1957, Judge Holland upheld the constitutionality of state legislation permitting the county to initiate the $44-million drain project and assess municipalities to pay for it.

Most interesting type of cases? Zoning suits, because they have been so important to the pattern of growth and development in the county.

Judge Holland taught at two Detroit high schools while at U. of M. After receiving his degree in 1926 and passing the bar exam, he entered the law office of William J. Griffin in Detroit.

He came to Pontiac in 1927, opening a law office at 22½ N. Saginaw St. In 1929, a part-time associate municipal judgeship was created, largely through the efforts of friends of a man named John Colden, who expected to get the post.

But Judge Holland was appointed, only to learn a few days later that the city charter required the associate judge to have three years in the practice of law. The judge lacked a couple of weeks of fulfilling the requirement, so he resigned.

By the time the matter of filling the vacancy came up before the city fathers again, however, Judge Holland had reached the three-year mark and he was reappointed. Colden got his revenge by defeating Judge Holland's reelection bid in the 1930 spring election.

CAMPAIGNED

In 1931, with his law practice depleted by the depression, Judge Holland campaigned for election as the city's full-time municipal judge and won.

In the words of Judge Stanton G. Dondero, "The public became so enamored of his courteous ways and his gentlemanly conduct," that he was elected to the county's circuit bench in 1935, taking office Jan. 1, 1936.

It was the last time the election of a circuit court judge was a partisan contest. Judge Holland won as a Republican.

His first circuit courtroom was in the basement of the recently demolished courthouse in downtown Pontiac. He was there until the second-floor library was converted into a courtroom, a matter of several months.

"I have many fond memories of the old courthouse and was sorry to see it go," Judge Holland says. "But it's certainly nicer to work at the new courthouse."

Judge Dondero recalled the first Circut Court case he ever tried—it was before Judge Holland.

"He treated me then with the same courteous treatment he accords lawyers today," the jurist said, "even though I was strugging in an attempt to complete a case in a very inexpert manner."

County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy described Judge Holland as "the most conscientious man I've ever worked for. He took whatever time was necessary to give everyone his say in court. He has lots of compassion."

Murphy was Judge Holland's court clerk from 1947 to 1952.

He recalled the judge's habit of writing notes during a trial and handing them to Murphy, to the puzzlement and curiosity of jurors.

The notes often commented on an attorney's handling of a case or the quality of cross-examination for the benefit of Murphy, then a law student. Murphy wouldn't tell the jurors what the notes contained, however, when they cornered him later in the corridor.

Until a few years ago, Judge Holland annually visited all his "dissatisfied customers," the men he had sent to prison, as a further check on whether justice had been done.

GOT NEW TRIAL

One man he sentenced to life for first-degree murder convinced the judge it should have been second degree.

After a new trial at which the man pleaded guilty to second-degree murder, he later was paroled and went on to an exemplary life, Judge Holland recalls with satisfaction.

The judge always hated to send men to prison, especially when it meant fixing young offenders with hardened criminals. He often put first offenders on probation.

Yet, he considers divorce cases, "the most tragic part of the work."

Have the courts changed much since 1936? "Most of the work today is done in chambers, especially since the advent of the pretrial conference a few years ago."

"But I still like trial work best."

NO SPECIAL PLANS

Although he has no special plans, he plans to travel a little at first.

"He'll be greatly missed," say the other circuit judges, who had urged Judge Holland not to retire.

"He was recognized as one of the best," says Probate Arthur E. Moore.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer: "He has been a great judge because he had judicial courage combined with a full sense of fairness. Litigants and lawyers always had his ears."

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem: "A fine gentleman and a great judge."

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams: "He has meant so much to the stature of the judiciary in the county. He contributed greatly to the fine reputation of the county bench by his conduct, his hard work and his fine legal mind."

Probate Judge Donald E. Adams: "While he followed the strictness of the established law, he at the same time was able to apply to it a touch of human kindness and resourcefulness."

Court Clerk Sam Cooney: "A fine gentleman to work with."

An era is ending.

Truman Invited to Shipyard

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman who compared the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard here to a closet, has been invited to come see for himself.

★ ★ ★

"I humbly extend to you an invitation to visit the Northwest at our expense," said Mayor H. O. Domstad in a telegram to Truman Tuesday. "The citizens of Bremerton have raised the money through individual donations, we hope you can find time."

BLAMED IKE

In a letter to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Truman criticized the stationing of the battleship Missouri at Bremerton in 1954 and blamed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower for it.

"If Eisenhower wanted to place it in a closet he couldn't have found a better place," Truman said.

Eisenhower has declined to comment

Truman suggested few persons could visit the Missouri in Bremerton and that it should be moved, preferably to the Brooklyn Naval Yard where it was christened.

Frank Eddy, president of a bus company which conducts Navy Yard tours here, estimated 100,000 of his patrons had visited the historic ship in the last five years.

The Japanese surrender was signed aboard the Missouri in 1945.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Government Studies Aid Medical World

The National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., is a government agency working toward a better understanding of the major health problems of the population.

★ ★ ★

From the agency's studies, many discoveries have already been made which are helpful in the early recognition or treatment of various diseases.

BRANDSTADT

There are seven institutes and a clinical center. The National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases is making important studies of influenza, rheumatic fever, tuberculosis, malaria and allergies.

The National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases is studying the nature of the rheumatoid factor found in the blood of patients with rheumatoid arthritis.

Since there is some evidence that rheumatoid arthritis may be the result of some form of hypersensitivity, close cooperation with the Institute of Allergy is maintained.

The National Cancer Institute is investigating the effects of radiation and various drugs and hormones on cancerous cells.

Tests are being devised for the recognition of cancer in its earliest stages, when there is a better chance for cure.

★ ★ ★

The National Institute of Mental Health is searching for a better understanding of the causes of mental disease and such emotional and behavioral disturbances as juvenile delinquency, alcoholism, and drug addiction.

HEART DISEASE

The National Heart Institute is interested in all phases of heart disease, abnormalities of blood pressure, changes in the blood vessels, and improved methods of operating on the heart.

The National Institute of Dental Research is studying the manner in which various chemical agents in our diet affect the teeth.

The National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness investigates cerebal palsy, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis, brain tumors, cataracts and glaucoma.

The most recent addition to the Institutes is the Clinical Center. Although it is not an institution for medical care as such, it is the one and only unit that admits patients.

While these patients are given the best of care, the purpose of their admission is the study of some unusual condition in which the staff is interested.

This means that the patient will be kept busy undergoing a battery of tests far exceeding anything he would encounter even in a well-equipped university hospital.

He is often expected to remain in the Center for three or four months.

★ ★ ★

He is accepted for study only after his private doctor submits a complete medical history with the results of all the usual laboratory tests and the staff of the Center has decided that such a patient would further the investigations they were making at the time.

★ ★ ★

Patients are accepted from any part of the United States but they must pay their own transportation to the Center.

Michigan a Leading User of Federal Road Funds

LANSING (AP)—Michigan is one of seven states that already has started using federal interstate funds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, reports the State Highway Department.

Other states leading the nation in highway fund use are California, Connecticut, Illinois, New York, Ohio and Oregon. There are 25 states working on 1963 fiscal year funds and 18 states still are using 1962 funds.

Padre Island off Texas was sighted in 1519 by a Spanish explorer, Alphonso Alvarex di Pineda.

Escanaba Set to See Romney Receive Oath

ESCANABA (AP) — Fulfilling a 1962 campaign promise, Gov. George Romney will return to this Upper Peninsula city Feb. 23 to take his second oath of office.

Romney had said he would participate in a second inauguration to demonstrate the unity between Michigan's Lower and Upper Peninsulas.

He was inducted into office at Lansing Jan. 1 as the state's first Republican chief executive in 14 years.

John Wallbridge, Delta County Republican Chairman, said Michael O'Hara of Menominee, a new member of the Michigan Supreme Court, has asked to administer the second oath.

★ ★ ★

Ceremonies will take place in front of the state office building here at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 23. There will be an evening reception at the House of Ludington Hotel, followed by an inaugural ball for Upper Peninsula Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Gov. and Mrs. Romney and GOP leaders from all parts of the state are expected to attend, Wallbridge said.

State Tourist Business Had Biggest Year in '62

LANSING (AP) — Vacationers spent an estimated $680 million in Michigan last year to give the state its best tourist season in history, reports the State Tourist Council.

Robert Furlong, Council Director, said the tourist business was at least 5 per cent better than the previous year, an estimated $30 million increase.

National travel experts, he said, estimate the gain in tourism throughout the United States at 8 per cent.

Michigan's gain is still significant, he said, because the state's annual income has remained at about the $650 million level since 1958 while many competing states were recording increases.

LOSING GROUND

"In a highly competitive and expanding vacation travel market, Michigan was actually losing ground by standing still," he said, "because our share of the market was growing smaller."

Of 46 Michigan communities throughout the state reporting to the council, 33 reported gains ranging from 2 to 50 per cent, nine said they had decreases of from 2 to 40 per cent and four said business remained the same.

Michigan's new freeways caused changing traffic patterns, he said. New freeways are drawing tourists from old routes. Communities located near the freeways benefit while those less conveniently located lose some business.

Other indicators of improved tourist business were cited as:

—A 15 per cent rise in camping permits issued and an up to 15 per cent increased use of state forest campgrounds.

—A more than 5 per cent increase in general highway traffic.

—A 5 per cent increase in fishing and hunting license sales.

—A more than 4 per cent increase in Mackinac Bridge crossings.

—A 3 per cent increase in requests for information and literature.

Factors responsible for better tourist business were mentioned as including:

—Generally improved economic conditions throughout the country.

—Improved accommodations in many sections of the state.

—Improved highways including the more than 1,000 miles of freeway now open in the state.

How much money do we lose during Osmun's Annual Storewide Sale?

Answer: None.

There isn't a legitimate store that can stay in business by selling below cost . . . or even "at cost." A third grader knows this.

Yet, his parents often forget elementary arithmetic at this time of the year when so many "fabulous" sales are in full swing. Granted there are many items which must be moved out of inventory regardless of the loss involved (normal odds & ends, for example, or broken lot sizes). But how can the average shopper know when real value is being offered?

Simply by knowing the store behind the sale.

This is why so many of our friends literally drop everything when we announce our annual winter storewide sale. They know it really is a sale. And they know only first-quality merchandise is being sold.

At a profit? Of course. The smallest profit we can manage and still bring you the things you come to Osmun's for: top service . . . top quality . . . and over thirty years of complete satisfaction. Come in now. Whether you buy one tie or four suits, you'll find our gain is your gain.

A study meeting on the proposed new state constitution by Oakland County Democratic party leaders is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. Saturday at Northland Center in Southfield.

Constitutional convention delegates Adelaide Hart, Dick Austin and Melvin Nord are expected to give reports on the document slated to face voters for approval April 1.

Airlines to Stop Fines of 'No-Show' Patrons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The major airlines have decided to stop fining persons who fail to cancel reservations they don't use. But they will continue fining themselves for selling too many tickets for a flight.

The controversial "no-show" penalty, which levied a $5-$40 fine on passengers who neither showed up nor canceled their tickets, will die Feb. 1, eight months after it started.

But the airlines agreed to continue paying fines to passengers who hold reserved space but are "bumped" from a flight because the airline has overbooked it.

A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) spokesman said yesterday that all 11 major domestic carriers have filed an agreement extending the over-booking penalty indefinitely after its present expiration date of Feb. 1.

The agreement made no mention of the "no-show" penalty, which ends the same date.

Industry spokesman gave four main reasons for the death of the plan:

—Some airlines refused to continue the plan unless the local service carriers participated, which they refused to do.

—Not all the major airlines were in favor of the plan to begin with.

—Most airlines said the penalty reduced "no-shows" from about 10 per cent of all passengers to 5 per cent, but several felt the costs of administering it outweighed the revenues.

—Most of the carriers found passengers frequently irate about the penalty, resulting in collection difficulties and ill will.

CD Instructor Resigns Post

The resignation of Mrs. Marie Rodriguez as a Civil Defense training director has been accepted by Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County health director.

The county personnel director, John Witherup, said Mrs. Rodriguez resigned effective Jan. 1 for personal reasons.

Mrs. Rodriguez is widely known throughout the county for her work in training Civil Defense volunteers at the local level.

She has been teaching methods of establishing emergency hospitals and emergency nursing care in the event of disaster since starting her employment with the county in March 1957.

Witherup said it isn't decided yet whether Mrs. Rodriguez' position will be refilled.

"An intradepartment study is being conducted which might entail several administrative changes in the county's Civil Defense Department," he said.

★ ★ ★

U.S. to Show Arms Strength in Red Sea

LONDON (AP) — The United States plans a display of sea and air power in the Red Sea to bolster Saudi Arabian confidence against challenges from the revolutionary regime in Yemen, informed diplomats said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The American show of strength reportedly will take the form of visits by ships and planes at Saudi Arabian ports and air bases. It is said to be prompted by a resurgence of military activity on both sides of the Saudi-Yemeni border.

★ ★ ★

The Saudi Arabian government radio said Monday that President Kennedy in a secret exchange of letters two months ago pledged support to safeguard the Saudi Arabian kingdom. The broadcast was seen as a possible forerunner of a Saudi Arabian demand that the United States put the reported pledge into effect.

Township Trustee Mute at Arraignment

Royal Oak Township Trustee Ernest Wilson Monday stood mute at his arraignment before Oakland County Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero on a four-count charge of extortion, conspiracy and bribery.

Wilson is accused by state police of being involved in numerous payoffs or attempted payoffs ranging from $25 biweekly to a lump sum of $800, including a demand for a kickback from the township's former urban renewal director who was fired last month, James F. Estes.

Wilson was released on $2,500 bond pending trial.

Ike, Mamie Not Moving

By The Associated Press

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower does not intend to make his permanent home in California, an aide said as the general and his wife arrived at Palm Desert, a Southern California resort, for their sixth winter vacation there.

The aide, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, said there was no basis for a rumor that the Eisenhowers would give their Gettysburg, Pa., farm to the Department of the Interior as a national shrine and move permanently to California.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Among the flood of bills introduced in the state senate today was one to repeal an obsolete law prohibiting the sale of cotton after dark.

Brazilians Favor Powers for Goulart

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Brazil is 5 to 1 in favor of giving President Joao Goulart the formal powers he was denied 16 months ago by generals who charged he was linked with communism, it was reported today.

Nearly-complete returns from Sunday's referendum showed 4,682,019 votes in favor of "American - plan" government, making Goulart the nation's official chief executive, to 912,321 for continuance of the European plan.

A European-plan government, nominally vesting power in a premier and making the president a figurehead, was installed in this country when President Janio Quadros resigned in 1961 and the generals refused to consent to a full grant of power to Goulart, Quadros's vice president.

ADA's Note to JFK Loses Its Punch

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — ADA's annual love letter to the President was no love letter at all this time. Rather, it was an abrupt instruction to "get off it young fella, and fight."

ADA is American's for Democratic Action, a loosely organized political lodge of new New Dealers with encampments scattered around the nation, like the Eagles or the Elks.

WILSON

The new old Dealers mostly are dead or politically inactive. The new New Dealers are motivated by nostalgia, an aggressive homesickness for the Washington that was when FDR was in the White House.

★ ★ ★

Those were the good old days for the egghead cell within FDR's New Deal community. A casual idea from a Georgetown think-party could spark an executive order or new legislation, almost overnight.

But those days have passed from the Washington scene along with Harry Hopkins and FDR. Times have changed!

So it is that the annual appearance of the ADA heirarchy in Washington with ADA's annual message of the state of the Union no longer is reckoned a political event in terms of megatons.

Decibles are more accurate for this measurement. This message for the information of the President instructs what should be his administration's objective in the new Congress.

★ ★ ★

The message was made public here last week, a mixed broth of shimsy and of frustration. There was a certain whimsy in ADA's annoyed insistence that President Kennedy make good on certain promises in the 1960 Democratic platform.

ADA's special emphasis was on the civil rights promises of 1960.

SOME IMPLICATIONS

ADA implied that the President lacked courage in that area of legislation.

There was whimsy, too, in ADA's instruction on tax reduction and government spending. Kennedy's intentions now are pretty well known —corporate and personal income tax cuts across the board and hold-the-line on spending except for national defense, space and for interest on the public debt.

Kennedy also wants tax reform but tax reduction appears to have priority if there must be a choice.

★ ★ ★

The ADA'ers want lower and middle bracket tax reductions and a big boost in federal spending. Really big.

ADA opposes top-bracket reductions pending tax reform to close loopholes.

In view of Kennedy's known position on taxes and spending, ADA had lost that argument before it was put on paper. And, if that isn't political whimsy, it's worse.

Kennedy was accused of pillow fighting on the issue of the House Rules Committee and of running out altogether on the issue of Senate filibusters.

In these areas, ADA's annual message was more a peevish show of dissatisfaction than a serious political document.

The frustration of ADA seems to lie in its inability to shape or much modify Kennedy administration policy. The good politician in the White House isn't listening.

ADA, in fact, is a captive lodge of a President who won't listen. ADA has no one else to go to.

The organization would be much happier, perhaps, with Adlai E. Stevenson, a first love, or, maybe, with anyone. To these new New Dealers, Kennedy has been suspect ever since he put Lyndon Johnson on the 1960 ticket. ADA regarded Johnson as a disaster. Still does.

Stolen House Is Deductible

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A Chicago man, Edward G. Pence, wants to list a stolen house as a tax deduction.

★ ★ ★

Pence wrote Sheriff L. C. Boies that his one-room house about 16 miles north of Phoenix disappeared between last August and October.

Pences said tractor tracks led from the spot where the house had stood.

"I would like this complaint made a part of your records," he wrote Boies, "because I intend to claim the loss on my 1962 income tax."

Rare Lightning Storm Jolts Hawaiian Island

HONOLULU (AP) — Bolts of lightning—a rarity in Hawaii—polted downtown Honolulu yesterday.

Snowfall in the mountains marooned two men overnight and the heaviest rain in five years drenched the city for the second straight day.

Parrot Takes No Chances

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Penelope is a canny—and cautious—cockateel.

This small Australian parrot lives, uncaged, in a biological chemistry laboratory in the University of Michigan Medical School. She is surrounded constantly by chemicals — many of them poisonous.

So, to be on the safe side, Penelope refuses to eat or drink anything until a human, usually Wendell P. Drouyor, preparator in the laboratory, has taken some first.

"She'll eat almost anything—if I eat some first," he said.

Ford Executive Dies

At the time of his death, Kipp was general operations manager of Ford's special military vehicles operations.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

It's not just another tea party even though refreshments were served. From left, Mrs. Jack Habel, Miami Road; Mrs. Robert Hefty, Sedum Glen; and Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, Highfield; are reviewing the progress of the Women's Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund. The occasion was the annual board meeting Tuesday.

At Annual Board Meeting

UF Women Review Year

The annual board meeting for members of the Women's Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund was held Tuesday afternoon at the Community Services Building.

During a review of the progress of the work during 1962 reports were given for the Tribute Fund, Friendly Visitors, Motor-Aide, Speaker's Bureau, Campaign and the Central Volunteer Bureau.

"The accomplishments of these committees summarize the purpose of our program," said Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, Women's Division Chairman.

"By studying the needs of the community and coordinating the activities of women interested in community service, we have been able to initiate activities and programs to serve the need of the Pontiac area."

BIG INCREASE

Mrs. Robert Hefty reported a 95 per cent increase in the growth of the Motor-Aide program. Forty-nine volunteer drivers made 615 trips during 1962.

Mrs. Joseph Fox, Women's Campaign Committee Chairman, reported a record high for her committee with 105 per cent of the 1962 quota raised.

★ ★ ★

A promotional brochure explaining the Tribute Fund has been sent to clubs, lawyers and funeral directors in the areas, according to the fund's chairman, Mrs. Jack Habel.

EXPLAINS PLANS

Mrs. Joseph Coulacos explained plans for expansion of the Friendly Visitor service to include nursing homes.

New appointments, announced by Mrs. Noffsinger, include Mrs. Paul Bruestle as chairman of the Friendly Visitors Committee and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Speaker's Bureau Chairman.

Mrs. Maxwell Shadley, Mrs. Allan Monroe, Mrs. Gelston Poole, Mrs. Ralph Norvell and Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson are new board members.

You Could Help With the Dishes

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I have been invited to spend a long weekend at the home of my boy friend and his parents. They live in another city and this will be my first visit.

How much would I be expected to help his mother with household chores?

Do I make my own bed every morning and keep the room clean, help with the dishes, or what?

A: Make your own bed and keep your room tidy.

Unless she tells you not to, you will make a good impression on your boy friend's mother by helping her with the dishes.

Q: My employer's wife died and I would like to know how I should express my sympathy. I have been his secretary for the past five years.

Ours is strictly a good business relationship. I never met his wife but have spoken to her on the telephone. Should I send flowers or write a condolence note?

A: While not expected, sending flowers to the funeral will be nicest way of showing your sympathy.

Q: I am a widow with two small children and plan to marry again this spring. I would like to have a luncheon after the ceremony for friends and relatives.

Someone told me it would not be proper to send out engraved invitations for this second marriage.

A: It is unusual for a widow to send out engraved invitations to her second marriage. But if your wedding is to be large enough to warrant them, they will be proper.

Do you find it difficult to eat spaghetti? The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Table Rules of Importance," describes how to eat spaghetti as well as other difficult foods. To obtain a copy, send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Each member will bring white goods and two white elephants to the meeting.

Novelty bowling, prizes and dinner will highlight the annual husbands' night affair, Feb. 23, in the 300 Lounge. Assisting Mrs. Carl Rose, entertainment chairman, are Mrs. Robert Bradley, Mrs. Ray Brasch and Mrs. T. V. Hruska.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Eva Beacom and Mrs. Malcolm Kahn.

PEO Chapter Has Meeting

Mrs. William Miller opened her Elizabeth Lake Road home Monday evening for the meeting of Chapter AW of the PEO Sisterhood.

The program "Tea for Two" was presented by Mrs. Charles Coppersmith and Mrs. Ashton Emery.

Mrs. A. D. McKillop, a nonresident member from Gladwin, attended and Mrs. H. Delos Nicholie was a guest.

Call Him, Says Abby

Love Foiled by Stars

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A very well-to-do, retired gentleman has been dating me off and on for three years.

He finally asked me to marry him.

I didn't want to seem too anxious although I am no spring chicken myself.

I went to my fortune teller and told her all about him.

She said my horoscope was not in favor of marrying a redhead, and also my stars warned me against marrying this year.

ABBY

She said my stars would be different next year and I should wait.

I told this man what my fortune teller told me and I haven't heard from him since.

I really should have grabbed him. What should I do now?

GEMINI

DEAR GEMINI: Call HIM! Maybe you can still get another crack at him — if he isn't already married to your fortune teller.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been making a habit of taking his secretary to lunch every day. She is a young married woman with marriage problems and has been crying on my husband's shoulder.

Now I am not saying there is anything going on between them, but I do not like the talk it's been causing.

I told my husband I wanted him to stop this, but he says she pays for her own lunch so there is nothing wrong with it.

NEEDS AN OPINION

DEAR NEEDS: The way to a man's heart is not always through his stomach. It can be through his shoulder, moistened with tears.

Tell your husband that he is neither a Dear Abby nor a Father Confessor to his secretary.

If you value your marriage, Madam, break up the luncheon dates. They can result in marital indigestion.

DEAR ABBY: I never had a dog when I was young because my mother was one of those crazy clean housekeepers who wouldn't put up with one.

I am a mother myself now (our baby is 13 months old) and my husband and I are going to see to it that our child is raised with a pet.

We have heard it is a good idea to get a puppy and let it grow up with the baby. Others say to get an older dog. Which is better?

PET SHOPPING

DEAR SHOPPING: Contrary to popular opinion it is unwise and often inhumane to match up a small puppy (or kitten) with a very young child.

Older and more placid animals are better for small children.

RICHARD H. RUSH

In lectures and in his latest book, Mr. Rush tells audiences and readers how to "discover" a painting, how to gather a collection, which school and artists are increasing in value, how to detect forgeries and, above all, how to evaluate a painting.

All this is discussed in terms easily understood by the layman and applicable to persons of limited means who wish to collect fine paintings.

Mr. Bush is an investment banker and consulting economist first, an art collector in his spare time. He was formerly Director of the Aircraft Division, National Security Resources Board, and later Executive Assistant to J. Paul Getty, the oil financier.

He is a Dartmouth alumnus, class of 1937, a Rufus Choate Scholar and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Career Women Lose Right to Male Respect

TORONTO (AP) — Now that women have won their freedom, can they still expect men to open doors for them, hold chairs for them and show other signs of respect or have they lost the right to these considerations?

Joy Davies, a Toronto fashion commentator who operates charm schools for both men and women says yes, women have lost this right, but if they remain feminine the traditional etiquette relationship will continue.

What is being feminine?

"Femininity involves both an attitude and an appearance—an attitude of gentleness and kindness and an appearance of good health, softness, neatness, poise and radiance."

Since women have been working in the business world, men have lost a great deal of respect they once had for them and justly so, says Miss Davies.

"Many career women have a hard shell—they are loud, they swear, they overdrink and they oversmoke because they think this is all part of their new more-aggressive role. And I have seen men deliberately flaunt rudeness at such women.

"It is possible to be aggressive in a feminine, charming way."

Tolora String Quartet Plays for Tuesday Musicale Session

By MARY C. BUCK

Tuesday Musicale members and guests were privileged to hear an outstanding musical treat yesterday afternoon when they gathered for their monthly meeting in Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church.

Following a brief business meeting, Mrs. J. K. Rosenthal introduced the Tolora String Quartet.

This group is composed of women from the Toledo Symphony Orchestra. Its members consist of violinists Louise Wear and Kathleen Harbaugh, violist Catharine Melhorn and cellist Mary Lee Eliason, a former Tuesday Musicale member.

Performing with superb technical skill, they achieved an ensemble or "togetherness" that is the goal of every group of performers but is seldom attained. The fine individual training and musicianship of each was most evident throughout their varied and difficult program.

COMPOSED AT 16

Their first group consisted of Mozart's "Divertimento I, K.136," composed by him at the age of 16. The grace, charm and beauty characteristic of Mozart's music were particularly well executed by the Quartet in the three movements.

Excellent intonation, singing melodies, precise contrepuntal parts and a joyousness of spirit were produced by the Quartet with seeming effortlessness.

Second on the program was soprano, Dreama Royal, former soloist at Central Methodist Church and at present soloist at Kirk in the Hills. Accompanied most ably by Lois Holmes on the piano, Mrs. Royal opened her group with two art songs by the great master of this form, Franz Schubert.

In both "Gretchen, am Spinnrade" and "Du Bist Die Ruh" her flowing legato, fine breath support and lyrical style were especially suited to this form.

NOSTALGIC ARIA

The seldom-heard aria "Pourquois dans les Grands Bois" from the opera "Lakme" by Delibes was sung beautifully in French, expressing both joyousness and nostalgia. Two Moravian folk songs by Martinu were performed in English. "Secret Love" was sung with simplicity while "Lads of Zolyn" stressed rhythm and was sung with more gusto.

"Snowdrops" by Progofieff presented the opportunity for Mrs. Royal to display the agility of her lyric voice. In her final number, the lovely minor composition by Cimara entitled "Snow", Mrs. Royal again demonstrated her fine breath control and excellent intonation.

For their second group the Tolora Quartet returned with a demonstration of the concert procedure they use when performing for students in the Toledo school system. For the past four years they have been employed by that system to present two concerts weekly to acquaint the students with the beauty of chamber music. This is unique in the entire United States.

INTERESTING COMMENTS

Catherine Melhorn, the violinist, introduced each number with interesting comments, showing how the music of different countries, while written following the same rules of theory and harmony, varies due to the character of its people.

The Lento and Vivace movements from Dvorak's "American Quartet" represented first the beauty of an Indian love song and then the revelry and spirit of fun of the farmers as they gathered to harvest their crops.

★ ★ ★

The Quartet next imitated oriental instruments most effectively as they performed "Air Chinois" by Pochon. The powerful beat and simple repetitious melody of African music was represented by Bloch's "Tongataboo." In "Nocturne" from Borodin's D Major Quartet the beauty of Russian music spoke most eloquently through the solo performance by Mary Lee Eliason.

FINAL NUMBER

For the final number the music of Hungary was represented by Kroll's "Magyar", performed by the Quartet with perfection. This music spoke most eloquently for the high-spirited and warmhearted Hungarian people and the Quartet captivated the audience with their exciting performance.

★ ★ ★

Greeting members at the door were Mrs. P. H. Kemp and Mrs. G. M. Watson. Mrs. R. C. Irwin arranged the tea table centerpiece. Tea table hostesses were Mrs. R. H. Austin and Mrs. Frank Kirby. Mrs. Herman Dickstein, social committee chairman, was assisted by Mrs. C. J. Barrett, Mrs. M. A. Calbi, Mrs. Nat Morrison, Mrs. Irving Steinman, Mrs. H. B. Stenbeck, Mrs. C. G. Uligian, and Mrs. C. D. Whitfield.

Divide Splurge Fund—Don't Fight Over It

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: For some time, my husband and I have been keeping a "splurge" fund, separate from our regular savings. We both contribute to it—I save a little here and there on household expenses, he puts in lunch money saved, etc.

But then we never agree on how it's to be spent! We've had more hassles over this little amount—most months it's about $35 or $30—than over anything else. How do other couples work it out?

Mrs. McC., Princeton, N.J.

Dear Mrs. C.: They face the fact that men and women like to spend money in different ways. They're just geared that way. Why don't you and your husband just split the splurge at the end of the month?

Since one of you will contribute more one month, the other more the next, just divide it. If he wants a new fishing rod, and you want two on the aisle, then each of you build your individual splurge fund till you get what you want.

With this amicable procedure, you may even find yourselves agreeing sometimes.

Dear Miss Feeley: I'm a new girl in a swanky office, and my take-home pay is $80 a week. My rent is $20 a week, food costs about $25 including lunches, and there's not much left.

Everybody in the place, especially the other girls, look like walking fashion ads, and I feel I have to keep up with the surroundings.

I borrowed a friend's expensive suit when I applied for the job! But now what?

Elsie B., New York City

Dear Elsie: Now you've got to get smart. One of the best-dressed women I know licked the problem with brains and footwork.

She read the fashion report diligently. She'd dye a blouse or a bargain dress some high-fashion color, predicted for next season. She'd look for a line, or silhouette, when she chose an inexpensive dress, then strip off the ornaments and gew-gaws.

She discovered two bargain-priced link bracelets in a hole-in-the-wall antique shop and sewed them onto a length of ribbon for a stunning belt.

She haunted the thrift shops for a jacket, and watched for sales. She made good use of bleaches, and dyes for unexpected color effects.

It doesn't take many clothes to look well-dressed. Just a few standouts.

If you'll hold your food bill to $20, you'll keep your figure and still have something to put on it. Buy washables the year round. Take meticulous care of your clothes—spot—cleaning, brushing, hanging properly.

Use the new coin-op dry cleaners for your nonwashables. You can have clean gloves every day, with just one pair of quick-drying washables.

But in your campaign to look affluent, don't forget it helps to be affuent too. Put something in the savings back every payday—if possible on your way home from the office.

You may write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press.

Doctor Says It's All in the Mind

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Your heart pounds. You overperspire. You overeat. You can't sleep. These symptoms may tell your doctor that the disorder is not at all somatic but psychosomatic, reports Dr. Ivan C. Berlein, University of Miami School of Medicine. Pounding heart, cold sweats, feeling of jitteriness are but ways in which the body is saying — "I feel threatened."

Dr. Berlein noted also that if one cannot sleep or wakes too early and cannot get to sleep, the meaning can be that the patient fears self-destruction or sex impulses. The doctor said these are but a few among the many signs of mental illness a physician should be able to recognize.

Jewelry to Make Noise

Spring costume jewelry will be heard as well as seen. Previews of pins looking like a steal from the crown jewels featured clusters of stones the size of eggs. The noise comes from the jingle-jangle of three to four-inch streamers of pearls and beads stuck to the clustered jewels.

Has Bearing on Health

Aging Must Watch Diet

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

All of us look forward to older years which will be rewarding and productive. We cannot change chronological aging but we can influence functional aging by our habits of life. The food we eat is one of the most important factors which we can control to influence our health and energy, now and in later years.

Yet, habits in eating are so strong that folks are loathe to change them. Usually it takes an illness or a dire warning from a physician to make a person do so. Taste in food is so individual and is also so closely tied in with nostaligic thoughts of childhood and emotional experiences that it is especially difficult to change. Then, too, many people just do not know very much about nutrition.

To quote from a recent Public Affairs Committee booklet, "The competence of healthy older people is in many ways a matter of nutrition. Eating a reasoned and seasoned selection of food in accordance with the facts of nutrition brings gains in physical comfort, efficiency and employment that are evident from day to day."

The tissues of many people from 60 on do not get an adequate supply of minerals and protein. The sedentary life speeds up the loss of protein and calcium at any age. Many folks from 60 on are anemic, or iron poor, and should have more lean meat, fish, liver, and fruits, cheese and milk.

The distinguished Dr. Henry C. Sherman of Columbia University once said, "We cannot select our ancestors but we can select our foods. Right nutritional selections promote higher health, an extension of the prime and longer life."

If any of you would like to have the pamphlet, "Food Hints for Mature People," send 25 cents to The Public Affairs Committee at 22 East 38th Street, New York 16, N.Y. This pamphlet is authorized by Charles Glen King, president and scientific director of The Nutrition Foundation, and George Britt, contributor to many national magazines.

The food we eat is one of the most important factors we can control in influencing our health and energy.

Dad Buys New Car for Mom

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dad still makes the final decision when it comes to buying the family car—but his choice is depending more and more these days on what Mom wants.

★ ★ ★

The power of the distaff side in influencing car-buying verdicts has increased in direct ratio to the increase in the number of women drivers, reports C.I.T. Credit Corp., auto financing firm. The number of women drivers has burgeoned from 15 million in 1950 to more than 36 million this year.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice Farmer: What can be done about plain buttonholes that have torn out of children's coats?" Mrs. C. M.

Dear Mrs. C. M.: If you can find scraps of real or imitation leather, you can make a long tab, cut a buttonhole in one end, machine stitch to your garment and it will look as good, if not better than new with your original touch.

Possibly felt could be used also; in either case, use a double layer. If you extend the leather tab beyond the finished edge of the coat, you will have to move the buttons over also.

"Dear Eunice: Now that everyone has wished everyone else 'Happy Holidays' and we have a few extra minutes, may I suggest a way of saving your valuable sewing tips.

"Take a loose-leaf notebook, using dividers for each of the many subjects covered and file in their proper places. I call my book my 'SEWING BIBLE' and couldn't get along without it." Mrs. C. E.

Dear Mrs. C. E.: Your suggestion is very good because I seldom repeat the same questions. May I also add my good wishes for 1963 to all my readers and although I cannot answer your letters personally, I love to hear from you and answer the most commonly asked questions.

Cut a slash in a scrap of your garment fabric, the width of the buttonhole. Take it with you when you go shopping for buttons.

Slip the fabric over a button and you can easily see how the button will look on the completed garment.

This suggestion is the Tailor Trix pressing board winner of the week for Mrs. Emma Butler, Ashland, Oregon.

"Dear Eunice: Unfortunately, I cut out a wool jersey dress just before I read your column about cutting this fabric that is woven in a tube and has two folded edges.

"Yes, you're right, I have a crease down the center front that I can't seem to get out. Do you have any suggestions for me?" Mrs. M. H. E.

Dear Mrs. M. H. E.: May I suggest you rub the crease with carbonated water or white vinegar.

So many of our readers have written to tell me how wonderful the carbonated water worked in removing the crease from hems without leaving an odor, that I am sure it would work in removing the crease in your fabric. I'll be eager to hear how it works.

"Dear Eunice Farmer: In a recent article on sewing, they kept mentioning 'mounting fabric.' What does this refer to?" Mrs. B. L.

Dear Mrs. B. L.: Mounting the fabric means using two layers of fabric as one. It is the same as under-lining. The weight of the under-layer of fabric would depend on the stiffness you desire, which will be determined by the effect you wish to achieve and the weight of your fabric.

Some of the fabrics you could use would be lawn, organza, and woven or un-woven types of interfacing in many different weights.

Each section of your pattern to be mounted is cut out of the two fabrics. They are basted together and from this point on, are handled as one piece.

Mrs. E. R. says: "When tinting or dying material or articles of any kind, drop a spool of white thread into the dye bath at the same time. You will have perfectly matched thread and can save much shopping time trying to match the color."

If you would like the free leaflet which shows how to make bound buttonholes, send a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Be Glad Child Demands Help From Father

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our 15-year-old boy has deeply hurt his father.

First, he told my husband that he wished he was like the father of one of his friends who is helping his boy with his choice of a college. Then he said, "You are so busy with your own life you have no time for mine."

When I tried to calm him down, he turned on me and yelled, "Have you ever looked at my college catalogs?

We have purposely avoided interfering in his choice of a college to give him a sense of independence . . . .

ANSWER: Trying to make sense of college catalogs is America's toughest puberty rite. If kids can sift the verbiage of the catalogs, they're in.

The tribal elders in the universities think, "This one has endured. We can make a man of him. Let us invite him to join in our councils."

Your son is entitled to yell for help.

Instead of feeling "hurt" by his accusations, his father should congratulate himself. For when the adolescent hurls this kind of reproach at us, he is saying, "Lend me your wisdom for it's greater than mine."

If we hear this humble admission behind the angry words, we can use just such an occasion to start becoming a person as well as a parent to our near-grown child.

We can look at the accusation and think: "Is it true that I have allowed my own affairs — my own needs to justify myself to my family, my business firm — to blind me to this younger creature's needs to justify himself, to his fear of failing us?"

And we can see in his anxiety over those college catalogs a junior version of the same tensions that fill us under pressure of obligation to make sense of the complicated demands made on us by the tribe — our bosses, our political leaders, our business competitors.

If I may say so, total independence is a horrible solitude to impose upon adolescent people.

Poor young things, they like to pretend that they can manage it. But the burden of composing all their decisions by themselves is too heavy. Then they will express their rage at it by anything from chronic sulks to stealing from parking meters. When they express it by yelling for help, as your son has yelled, we should thank God.

You are fortunate parents. If your boy hadn't had reason to trust you to come through to his needs of help he'd never have yelled at you.

The greatcoat, cut straightaway and easy, is winter's fashion delight in rich, warm, all-American wool. Styled by Kay McDowell, it has inset belt, double-breasted buttoning, deep side pockets, and slot seaming to accentuate the tailored details. Fabric is by Packard. Style No. 281; sizes: 5-15; price: about $40 retail; colors: Camel and bright fall colors.

Mrs. Devin Hostess to Gathering

Mrs. Astolf Devin opened her Dwight Avenue home Monday for the Women's Literary Club of Pontiac meeting.

Following a dessert luncheon, members listened to Mrs. Cecil Dumbrigue of the occupational therapy department of the Pontiac State Hospital discuss her work as head of that department.

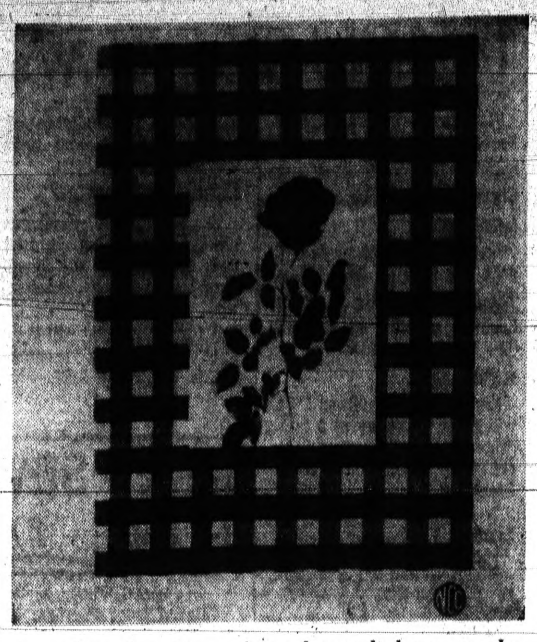

A discussion of needs of the patients which might be met by the club followed.

The club plans to visit the Detroit Institute of Arts to view the Van Gogh collection on Friday.

Mrs. Raymond Swaney of Middle Belt Road will entertain the February meeting of the club.

Proper Length

A long sleeve is at its proper length if it covers the wrist bone.

Snobs Irk Hard-Working Mother

By The Associated Press

One upon a time there were two little snobs who almost broke their mother's heart. But just in time the mother regained her composure and now the little girls may rue their bad dispositions.

The hard - working mother kept her two daughters at a very good college, by every means, even mortgaging the old homestead. She took the second mortgage when Anna went off to school.

A year later when the second girl was ready to go, she decided she would go to work, opening a beauty parlor business in her home. That way she could be home with two younger children.

LITTLE NAGGERS

She has been nagged incessantly by the two girls, Anna and Maria (not their real names).

Anna, a junior, is a clothes-horse and complains constantly that she can't bring friends home because of her mother's business.

There is no business sign on the house, and the room the mother works in has a private entrance. When Anna doesn't come home for a regular visit, she uses the beauty parlor as an excuse.

Maria has taken the same tact as her sister. Her most recent threat was that she would quit school, knowing that her mother's fondest dreams are to have the girls educated.

★ ★ ★

Maria wants to quit because she "can't dress like the other girls, bring friends home for the weekend because the furniture is shabby and cheap." Home for a vacation recently she complained that her mother looked "tacky," and hoped that she "wouldn't disgrace her by coming to the school for a visit."

NEITHER WORK

Maria also threatened to quit school unless her allowance is increased. Neither girl has off-hour jobs because their mother wanted to give them a real chance to a social life she couldn't enjoy, since she worked her way through college.

We have our share of spoilt brats in this generation, but some parents are getting fed up. This mother is one who has taken as much as she can stand.

"I suddenly don't care what happens to either one of these girls," says the mother. "I've done the best I can for them. The only mistake I made was in taking their bad tempers for so long."

She plans to yank them out of school at the next possible peep, and she'll do it.

HUMILITY WON'T HURT

But this mother realizes that she has been so intent on producing the money for the education of her girls, that she may have neglected other areas of their development.

★ ★ ★

She feels that a little humility won't do them any harm. The plan is to send them to the local college where they'll rub elbows with girls in their own circumstances.

In their present state of living with delusions of grandeur, their mother feels that there will be no punishment so effective as the one she plots.

"I don't know where the first mistake was made," says their mother, "I just felt they deserved to have the best that I could give them, no matter how much of a sacrifice it required.

But they weren't big enough to accept it without an argument."

PATRICIA MARIE WOOD

July vows are planned by Patricia Marie Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Wood of Bigham Avenue and Charles Bruce Wyant, son of Mrs. Mary Wyant of Pontiac Road.

Dale V. Springers Wed

Announcement is made of the marriage of Dawn Ellen Janke to Dale Victor Springer Dec. 26 at Kirk in the Hills. Rev. Harold C. DeWindt officiated.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are Mrs. V. Arnold Janke of Middlebury Lane and Norman E. Janke of Royal Oak. The bridegroom's parents are the Cecil H. Springers of Lansing.

A buffet dinner followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Arnold Jr. of Pebbleshire Drive.

The newlywed Springers live in Chicago where he attends the University of Chicago Law School.

Salt Water Helps

Sweet potatoes will not turn dark if immersed in a solution of salt water immediately after peeling. The proper proportions are five teaspoons of salt to each quart of water.

Todes Wed in Pontiac Ceremony

Rev. Paul Johnson officiated at the marriage of Mrs. Tussie Holden Bell of West Rundell Street and Ross William Tode of West Strathmore Avenue in the First General Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Homer Foster, Weston, W. Va., te late Camden W. Holden, Mrs. William Smith, Lansing and the late Stewart Tode of Oxbow Lake.

Mrs. William Yates and John W. Spears attended the couple at the Dec. 31 ceremony.

A new bottle cap has a tab and requires the push of a finger to open it.

Moose Chapter Has 1st Meeting of New Year

The Women of the Moose, Chapter 360 held their first meeting of the new year Monday at the Moose Home on Mt. Clemens Street.

★ ★ ★

Emotionally Immature

Bachelor Fixated on Mom

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE O-427: Tony T., aged 41, is a very attractive bachelor.

"Dr. Crane," his fiancee protested, "what is wrong with Tony?

DR. CRANE

"We have been engaged for six years, yet he always keeps putting off our wedding day.

"And it's not because he isn't devoted to me, for he vows he loves me with all his heart.

"Besides, he is very generous and kind. And he is reasonably affectionate, though maybe not as ardent as some men I have dated.

"His elderly mother lives with him, so do you think that is what holds him back?

MAMMA'S BOY

Yes, whenever you see a man or woman past the age of 35 and still unmarried, the most logical guess is that they are "fixated" on either their elderly mother or daddy.

"I can never find a man as nice as daddy" many a woman has boasted.

And she probably never will. For such a remark suggests that she probably has an abnormal fondness for father.

"Mother is my best sweetheart," many a bachelor like Tony will fondly exclaim. And his doting mamma then purrs happily.

But all good parents should not be so selfish.

Indeed, it is usually an insult to parents when their children remain unmarried after the age of 30, or at least 35.

For that means those children have not been adequately trained in childhood to become self-reliant adults or are victims of psychic trauma.

Their parents are still figuratively their adult "baby-sitters" and wet nurses.

In childhood, parents are naturally the emotional and psychological crutches on which the youngsters lean for support and comfort.

But every human parent needs to take a lesson from the typical mother bird.

The latter will work from dawn to dark to feed and shield her fledglings.

But when the mother robin sees that the youngsters are well able to fend for themselves, what does she do?

Well, if an occasional fledgling wants to remain perpetually on fowl "welfare", Mamma Robin literally pushes him out of the nest.

CODDLES, PAMPERS

But many human mothers get so flattered at the continual dependence on them by adult sons like Tony, that these mothers further pamper and coddle those immature sons.

Remember, too, that emotional immaturity can exist in a grown man as old as Tony, who may have a doctor's degree and be a prominent physician or college professor or business executive.

Tony will probably never marry, at least while his doting mamma is alive.

So his fiance better decide right now whether she is willing to remain as a platonic sweetheart all her life.

If not, then she better look elsewhere for a virile male who is mature and willing to establish a home.

Girls, never wait very long for a man to add the wedding ring to the engagement ring.

If you don't get action within 12 months, then tell him it is again "open season" and you are starting "husband hunting" all over again.

So send for my "Tests for Sweethearts", enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20c. It furnishes a lot of ammunition for "husband hunting."

Write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 5 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Polly's Pointers

Soak Off Used Stamps

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Here is a tip for stamp collectors. To remove the stamp from paper, soak in cold water for 10 minutes. Then slide off the paper. To dry, place stamp between two paper towels and go over with a warm iron. PATRICIA ANNE

DEAR POLLY — As I go through magazines before throwing them away, I cut out all articles for children. Some are patterns for puppets, easy-to-make gifts, decorations, etc. I keep these in a box along with scraps of felt, paper and other materials. Whenever the neighborhood children come to visit or when I baby-sit, they enjoy seeing what I have to make that day. STEPHANIE

DEAR POLLY — I find that plastic baby bottles in which milk has been used get to smell sour, so I put in one-half teaspoon of baking soda, fill with water and let stand overnight.

I also use soda to clean combs and brushes. Just add a couple of teaspoons to a pan of water. After five or 10 minutes soaking, dirt floats out of combs and brushes and leaves little or no scrubbing for me. MRS. D. G.

DEAR POLLY — When packing to move, I label each carton in big black letters with the name of the room where it is to be unpacked. For example, a box with dishes, pots and pans would be marked "KITCHEN" on the outside. When the box arrives at the new house, one quick look will tell the movers where to put it. MRS. P.M.

DEAR POLLY — When making circular felt skirts for growing girls, cut them two or three inches longer than the present skirt length. Finish the skirt and cut off a circle of two or three inches from the bottom and put this away until the skirt needs lengthening. How happy you will be to have those extra inches. Just sew that circle of felt on to the bottom of the skirt and cover the seam with a fancy braid. stitching or rickrack and the skirt will be good for another year or two. MOTHER OF THREE GIRLS

Large Cubes Melt Slower

If regular ice cubes melt too fast in the lemonade, iced tea or iced coffee pitcher, make large size ice cubes with concentrated fruit juice cans. Fill the cans with water and freeze. Ice cubes will slide out under tap water.

Michigan and Minnesota each have 11,000 lakes.

Remove Coffee

To prevent a coffee cream stain from ruining a tablecloth, grease the spill with unsalted shortening before washing the tablecloth with detergent.

Expect Tie-Up of Tax Cut Plans and Budget Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to tie his proposals for tax cuts and reforms to the federal budget he will present to Congress this month.

Thus he would disclose right off the bat not only how much the proposals would reduce the public's individual tax bills but how big a deficit they would likely create.

The figures now are as closely guarded as the Mona Lisa.

Officials foresee a record peacetime budget of about $99 billion. Not eager to set a red ink record, the administration reportedly is determined to shape its tax and spending proposals to prevent a deficit of more than $12.4 billion. That's the peacetime peak reached in 1959 when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president.

The most optimistic revenue estimates for the fiscal year starting July 1, combined with Kennedy's forecast of higher spending for defense and space, suggest a deficit of $10 billion or more.

By all accounts, Kennedy seeks tax reduction of between $5 billion and $10 billion a year for individuals and corporations. But he plans to recommend decreasing the rates in stages to avoid a sharp, immediate drop in revenues and to mollify those in Congress who are distressed at the thought of increasing the deficit.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy may discuss his program in general in his State of the Union message next Monday. He will give the particulars in a special tax message following the budget.

★ ★ ★

No date has been fixed for the budget message. When it comes, informed sources said, it will include the date and amount Kennedy thinks best for the first stage of a cut.

TAX PLAN CONTROLLER

Many administration planners are keenly aware that whatever develops this year will be as much or more a product of Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., than their own. Mills will exercise great control over the extent and timing of tax legislation as it passes through the Ways and Means Committee, which he heads.

Kennedy advisers know they face a fierce battle in the Senate, too. Even so, they believe a reduction and reform package can be delivered this year. They concede success depends upon a lengthy session, perhaps running into October.

Their immediate concern is the intrusion of another controversy—the debt ceiling—and the political pressures it will generate. Legislation to retain or raise the present ceiling of $308 billion is due for action before March 31, when it is scheduled to drop to $305 billion. Unless something is done, the limit goes back to $285 billion on June 30.

Looking ahead to the task of consolidating votes for tax reduction, one official said:

"If we have to go to the mat twice on the debt, it's going to make it much tougher the third time on taxes."

JFK's Got 3 Worries as Congress Convenes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three things President Kennedy has to worry about with the new Congress opening today are a conservative preservative, a demolition coalition and an attitude of lassitude.

But his greatest worry is how to get his Democrats to act like a party by voting together in a Congress where — if they did—they are so plentiful they could grant him anything he asked.

They outnumber the Republicans 67 to 33 in the Senate and 258 to 176 in the House. There's one vacancy there.

★ ★ ★

A conservative preservative is any device—like the House Rules Committee — which conservatives of both parties can use in unison to bottle up a Kennedy program they don't think is conservative enough.

A demolition coalition is a wrecking crew of Democrats and Republicans working together to dynamite one of his projects after it has somehow escaped from a bottle.

And an attitude of lassitude is the tardiness—to use a nice word—which sometimes overtakes legislators, as it did last year, putting them so far behind in their work they may go home without finishing it.

OVER-DRAMATIC JFK

Kennedy over-dramatized the importance of the Rules Committee, which he made his first concern of the year, when he said he hopes it is kept at its present size because "we can't function . . . we're through . . . if it isn't"

This committee, long famous for its concentration of conservatives from both parties, can bottle up a program, if enough of its members choose to, by not letting it up to the floor of the full House for a vote

This can't work at all if a simple majority of the House members—218 of the 435—have enough interest in a program to want to vote on it. They can, by a vote of 218, force it out of the committee and up to the floor.

So this shouldn't be any problem for Kennedy at all—since the Democrats number 258 in the House—and the Rules Committee could be only a minor nuisance if only 218 out of the 258 Democrats saw eye to eye with him.

In 1961, under Kennedy's urging, but only on a skin-tight vote, the House enlarged the membership of the committee from 12 to 15. This was supposed to dilute the conservative influence by liberalizing it.

At today's opening the committee was to revert to 12 unless the full House voted to keep it at 15. Unless it stays at 15, Kennedy says, all is lost.

The committee conservatives are headed by a very conservative chairman, Rep. Howard Smith, D-Va. He and the Kennedy forces have been having some fierce verbal gymnastics.

ARGUE COMMITTEE SIZE

Smith insists the committee must go back to 12. His opponents protest the figure must be 15. If the truth were known, Smith may have been fighting tongue-in-cheek without caring much whether the figure stays at 15.

It's easy to see why:

1. If the membership goes back to 12—a Kennedy defeat — the committee is apt to be blamed for all kinds of Kennedy setbacks this year, whether Smith and his conservative teammates are responsible or not.

Kennedy could even use it as a whipping boy. He already has by insisting it needs 15 members. He has less room to complain if the membership is 15.

2. Smith and his friends on the committee probably feel no matter what the size is they can still make their conservative view prevail whenever they want to bottle up what they don't like.

As for demolition squads, no president has solved this one completely in recent history.

Would Help on Medicare

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. W. Pat Jennings, D-Va., indicated today that—if given a chance—he would help push some modified version of President Kennedy's medicare program through the House Ways and Means Committee.

Jennings is one of three Democrats who are competing for two vacant Democratic seats on the powerful committee.

The new assignments—to be decided by House Democrats at a caucus later this month — could determine the fate of Kennedy's medicare program in the 88th Congress. Medicare sponsors were unable to line up enough votes to squeeze even a skeletonized version through the committee in the last Congress.

Kennedy aides believe it is almost essential that the two new committee Democrats be supporters of the controversial program if it is to be enacted by this Congress.

"I generally favor some kind of medicare for the aged," Jennings said in an interview. He said that if such a program is enacted, he would favor financing it through new Social Security taxes.

Although Jennings emphasized that he would not necessarily support other features of the President's proposal, his statement aligned him closer to Kennedy's approach than the public position taken previously by the other two candidates for the committee posts.

'UNFILLED NEED'

Rep. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., has confined himself to saying that he feels there is an unfilled need in this area. However, Democratic liberals and labor union lobbyists are fairly confident he would line up with the administration on a showdown vote.

The third candidate, Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga., has given no indication whether he would support or oppose new legislation in this field. For this reason, Democratic liberals and labor lobbyists have feared that Landrum as a member of the Ways and Means Committee, might join in blocking action on medicare.

Nevertheless, there is widespread belief among House Democrats that Jennings is the least likely of the three candidates to be assigned to the committee.

In an effort to get Landrum on Ways and Means, Georgia Democrats have been lining up with Speaker John W. McCormack in his battle to prevent conservatives from capturing control of the House Rules Committee and the legislative machinery of the House.

However, one Kennedy aide said that he did not believe Landrum would win the coveted assignment unless he gave some assurance—public or private — that he would not use his vote on the committee to block action on medicare.

Calm Replaces Riots in Integrated Town

"LIFE IS WONDERFUL" — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, one of only 10 interracial or Negro families in Levittown, Pa., say they encountered none of the harassment confronting the first Negro family to move there. Ford, a Negro, is active in community affairs. Rochelle, his wife, is white.

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—There were fiery crosses, violence and bloodshed five years ago when a Negro family moved into all-white Levittown.

Today about 10 Negro or interracial families are scattered through this community of mass-produced homes that rose out of a marshland 10 years ago and now has 60,000 residents.

BACKGROUND

SPECIAL REPORT

OF THE NEWS

Several of the Negroes are active in community affairs.

Henry Ford, 31, who played professional football for Cleveland and Pittsburgh, lives in the house the first Negro family occupied. Ford is a Negro. His wife, Rochelle, is white. They have a son, Mike, almost 2, and another child on the way.

How do they find life here?

"Wonderful," they tell you. They have lived here 1½ years and receive many dinner and party invitations. Henry is an assistant manager of a supermarket and Rochelle, 26, a substitute schoolteacher.

★ ★ ★

The first Negroes to move here were Mr. and Mrs. William Myers. After 3½ years they left for Harrisburg, where he is an air conditioning technician for the state and she a social worker.

The second Negro family was that of Kenneth Mosby, who arrived with his wife and three children a year after the violence at the Myers home.

"Things went just fine," Mosby, an aircraft mechanic, said. He is president of a 37-member model airplane club. Mrs. Mosby is secretary of the Levittown Arts Association.

No incidents were reported when the other Negro families moved in. Some bitterness, however, remains on both sides—white and Negro.

MYERS BITTER

The Fords say the Myers were bitter when they moved.

"I can't blame them too much," Ford says. "After all they went through."

"Mrs. Myers told me," says Rochelle, "that whenever she saw someone in the street or talking with her children she'd ask herself, 'Did I see that face before? Was that one of the faces in the mob?' "

The Myers say they moved to take better jobs.

"We had nothing to be bitter about," says Mrs. Myers. "We couldn't have been happier. I don't see how anyone can pass an opinion on how we felt. Even when the crowds were outside the house we never felt bitter about anything."

Ford speaks often at father-son banquets and church meetings. He had one of the leading roles in a play being put on by the Levittown Players, "Toys in the Attic," by Lillian Hellman. He played a chauffeur who has an affair with his employer, a wealthy lady in New Orleans.

His wife says she kidded him into trying out: "It had a big part for a Negro and how many handsome, young Negroes are there in Levittown?"

He's also in constant demand for football practice sessions in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Ford is a member of the fellowship Singers of Delaware Valley and the Women's International League for Peace.

In 1957 three days after the Myers and their three children started moving in, rocks crashed through their front windows. Mobs of several hundred people formed outside their house for about 10 nights, shouting threats and curses.

State police were called in. One night 22 state troopers swinging clubs chased a crowd of 500 through backyards.

A few months later the state won a permanent injunction against seven Levittown residents who were ordered to stop harassing and terrorizing activities.

One of the seven was James Newell, an electrician and a native of North Carolina, who lives about eight doors away.

"I'd still rather have it the way it was before they moved here," he said.

Joseph Thorpe, his wife and two children moved into the house across the street from the Myers a year after the Myers arrived. He says he understands the previous owners objected to living near Negroes and so he got a bargain, buying the house for $9,400.

He says other houses nearby have been selling for $11,000 to $12,000.

The Quakers, other church groups and human relations councils are working to make it easier for the Negro to move peacefully to the suburbs.

Charlotte Meacham, national representative for housing programs of the Quakers' American Friends Service Committee, says, "We can almost guarantee that if we are given a chance to help local committees prepare a neighborhood for its first Negro, to set up a favorable climate of support, that what happened in Levittown five years ago can be avoided."

Mrs. Meacham and other interracial leaders predict that virtually every white neighborhood in the North will have a Negro in it within 10 years.

Friends Suburban Housing, Inc., a real estate agency, estimates there are 60 Negro families in previously all-white suburbs around Philadelphia.

Negroes have also moved into the other Levittowns, about 40 in New Jersey just across the Delaware River from here and a dozen in Levittown, NY. Inter-racial councils smoothed the way.

The Quakers advising local committees how to prepare their neighborhoods for Negroes have offices for the suburbs of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia. One will open soon in Washington, D.C.

Volunteers are doing the same type work in Seattle, Denver and Dayton areas.

The Quakers work closely with the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing, which has headquarters in New York City.

Monacan Tax Hassle Ends

MONTE CARLO (AP)—French and Monacan officials reportedly will agree in Paris Thursday to end the 10-month tax dispute that has ruffled the calm of this Riviera haven from taxes.

Informed sources said the agreement will continue much of Monaco's privileged tax situation but will close many loopholes.

French authorities have been trying for 10 months to pressure the 370-acre principality gently into aligning its tax system with that of France.

Monacans don't deny the French charge. They just phrase it differently. They say that one of Monaco's most endearing attractions has been its lack of income taxes on corporations and individuals. They proclaim proudly that Monaco doesn't need the money.

TALKS FUTILE

With the French seeking to eliminate Monaco's status as a tax-free refuge in a tax-bound world, and Prince Rainier III zealously guarding Monaco's sovereignty, negotiations between the two countries broke down in October. Prince Rainier, however, said then that agreement had been reached on basic principles.

★ ★ ★

Sources here said the agreement to be announced Thursday will continue to spare Monaco's citizens—about 2,000 in a population of 23,000—from paying income taxes. French citizens who have resided in Monaco five years or more will continue to be exempt from French taxes.

LOWER RATE

Corporation and commercial enterprises will be required to pay the same types of taxes imposed in France but the rates will be lower in Monaco and will take effect over a period of several years.

Throughout the dispute, neither side has resorted to anything stronger than gentle pressure, discreet silence and feigned indifference.

Mail to Monaco has had to carry international postage—double the French internal rate.

A handful of French customs inspectors and bored police have showed up most days at the border for a few hours of customs checks which have been polite, perfunctory and speedy.

Since 85 different streets or roads lead from Monaco to France, anyone in a hurry—or reluctant to explain a truck cargo—can turn around and seek another exit.

The tax clouds have not interfered with Monte Carlo's usual pleasures. Hotels were jammed with Christmas and New Year visitors. Princess Grace was busy with the annual Red Cross drive for funds. This week she and the prince flew to London for one of their periodic visits.

Trunk Killer Still Out in 7th Escape

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Three months ago last night, trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd slipped out an unlocked door at the Arizona State Hospital and disappeared.

That was the last trace of the 58-year-old killer, who has escaped seven times since she was confined to the hospital in 1933.

Winnie Ruth killed two women friends in the fall of 1931, stuffed the bodies in a trunk and shipped them to Los Angeles. An offensive odor prompted a look into the trunks and led to the arrest of Mrs. Judd.

In the past, the escapes of the once notorious "tiger woman" sparked vast manhunts, newspaper headlines and fear.

Today her case rests in the Missing Persons Bureau at the Phoenix police station. She no longer is considered dangerous.

Police Sgt. Preston Pettus said "We check out all new leads on her whereabouts, but that's about the extent of the search."

For a few weeks after the escape, police were swamped with information.

Mrs. Judd was reported seen at Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport. There was a rumor she was hiding in Santa Barbara, Calif. A store detective said he spotted a woman answering Mrs. Judd's description in Reno, Nev.

"But now," Pettus said, "we seldom get a call."

Mrs. Judd was sentenced to hang but on the eve of her execution she was declared insane and placed in the hospital. Her sentence was commuted to life imprisonment in 1953.

Auto Market Research

Some Have Seen '65 Models

DETROIT (UPI)—Several hundred people around the United States probably don't know it but they've already seen pictures of cars that won't go on sale for another year or two.

They were the "guinea pigs" in a testing program for the 1964 and 1965 model Ford cars.

Gar Laux, marketing manager for the Ford division, described the survey work as part of a routine production evaluation program which all the companies conduct before bringing out their new cars.

"We try to get a cross section of the public and show them pictures of the proposed cars," Laux said. "We tell them these are possible future models."

The market researchers ask the people what they like or dislike about the cars and why.

"What they tell us is important, naturally, and in the long run has a bearing on the cars we build," he said.

NECKS OUT

Laux said: "We've got our necks out all the time. It's hard to try and outguess the American public. The public is pretty discerning and our job is to come up with the right car at the right time."

That doesn't always happen, of course. The classic example —one that still makes the Ford people wince—is the Edsel automobile.

Research studies in the middle '50s showed there was room for another medium-priced and sized car on the American market.

★ ★ ★

But by the time it got into production, the market had shifted and the compact car started to catch on. As a result, the Edsel failed.

Some companies go to great lengths in market research. For instance, a couple of months ago people in Philadelphia were shown pictures of future Chrysler Corp. models and asked questions about them.

What the people didn't know was that their reactions were secretly being observed by some top Chrysler executives. The automen were watching from behind a two-way mirror.

Comments elicited from the people were tape recorded and gone over thoroughly back in Detroit.

This sort of thing is only a part of market research, according to Laux.

After the researchers survey a new car concept and then show people advance pictures of the models, they have to determine how a particular car should be presented to the public — what features should be stressed—and then how many of each model should be built.

It all adds up to a little-known but highly important area of the industry.

As Laux said: "If we make a mistake, it could be a big one."

Navy Plans Launch of Two Polaris Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two more Polaris missile-firing submarines will be launched Saturday, the Navy said yesterday.

The Nathan Hale will be sent down the way at the yards of the Electric Boat Division, General Dynamics Corp., Groton, Conn.

The John Adams will be launched at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in New Hampshire.

Both are of the advanced Lafayette class, 425 feet long and displacing 7,000 tons fully loaded.

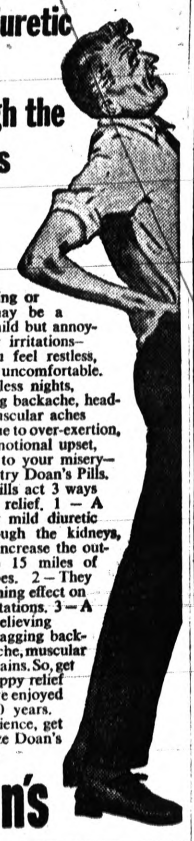

Like all other Polaris subs, the Nathan Hale and the John Adams will be nuclear powered and will mount 16 missiles each.

With the double launching, the Navy will have nine Polaris submarines with the fleet, one in commission but not yet sent out on patrol, seven launched and 18 more building or authorized.

To Offer Area Firm Master Plan Job

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP —Vilican-Leman & Associates of Southfield will be offered the job of developing a master plan for West Bloomfield Township.

Township Supervisor John C. Rehard said today that the firm of professional planning consultants was recommended for the project last night by the Township Planning Commission.

Members of the planning commission will meet with Vilican-Leman representatives this week to see if it will accept the job, said Rehard.

The supervisor explained that the Township Board is expected to approve the planning commission's recommendation at its regular meeting Jan. 16.

Vilican-Leman is the company which prepared applications for a federal grant under the 701 Planning Program, Rehard said.

However, the firm has not yet been contracted for any planning work here.

The township received word Monday that a $21,176 grant has been approved by the federal government to help finance development of a master plan over the next 18 months.

Certain details covering the grant still are unresolved today, according to Rehard.

He said the township has sought a total of more than $30,000 to cover planning costs over a two-year period.

In its 701 application, Rehard explained that the township had asked for the grants to be paid in two payments, each covering one year.

The supervisor said he is awaiting clarification from Washington on why the $21,176 grant was approved for 18 months.

The only notification he has received on the grant approval is a telegram from Michigan's U.S. senators, Patrick V. McNamara and Phil A. Hart.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Will Ask Farmington Twp. to Transfer 20-Acre Plot

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Township Board will be asked Monday night to allow annexation of a 20-acre parcel of property to the City of Farmington.

The land, currently undeveloped, is located south of Nine Mile Road adjacent to the eastern city limits of Farmington.

The annexation proposal has been submitted by the Farmington Economic Development Committee, a citizens' group appointed by the City Council to aid development of this area.

Under committee plans, six acres of the property would be set aside for industrial development. The other 14 acres would be used for residential purposes.

QUICKER DEVELOPMENT

City Manager John Dinan said the committee believed the vacant land could be developed more quickly if it became part of the city.

If annexation were approved, water and sewer services could be extended to the site by the city.

Development of the vacant property would help both city and township residents, according to Dinan, since it would increase the tax base of the Farmington School District.

★ ★ ★

The City Council has indicated it favors the annexation proposal and Dinan has been directed to ask the township board for approval.

★ ★ ★

An affirmative vote is necessary from the council and township board in order for the property to be annexed.

Veronica Bohez Wed

MRS. ROBERT B. TURPIN

UNION LAKE—Veronica Lynn Bohez became the bride of Robert Bruce Turpin in a Nuptial High Mass Saturday morning in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Rev. Raymond R. Schlinkert performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Bohez, 8780 Wise Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. David Turpin, 554 Union Lake Road, and the late Mr. Turpin.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown featuring floral appliques on the skirt and accenting the modified Sabrina neckline. The bouffant skirt, which was pleated in back, extended into a chapel train.

A pearl crown held her fingertip veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Messel of Pontiac Lake, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bridal party received guests at an afternoon reception at the Dublin Community Center. The newlyweds are residing in Union Lake.

They will remain for about six months, said Dinan, while construction is under way on Farmington's new $125,000 Municipal Building.

Tuna Dishes Inspired by Japanese

In an atmosphere of peaceful tranquility the Japanese partake of their evening meal. The menu is simple, the service unhurried and there is little conversation as each member of the family enjoys his food.

* * *

Wouldn't you like to duplicate this scene some night in your own home? Make a party of it, complete with chopsticks, and let everyone try his skill at using them on a wonderful sweet'n sour dish made with canned tuna.

* * *

Perhaps you are unaware of the fact that about 40 per cent of all the tuna packed by American canners is caught by Japanese fishermen.

With this particular dish serve hot fluffy rice and a salad of greens including spinach . . . another Japanese favorite.

Far Eastern Tuna Dinner

1 can (1 pound, 4 ounces) pineapple chunks
⅔ cup vinegar
⅓ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water
3 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained
1 medium green pepper, cut in 1-inch squares
Hot cooked rice

Drain syrup from pineapple into measuring cup; add water to make 1 cup. Combine in skillet with vinegar, brown sugar, salt and soy sauce; bring to a boil. Blend cornstarch with ¼ cup water; add to skillet. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils 1 minute. Add pineapple chunks, tuna and green pepper. Cook over medium heat, just until green pepper is crisp-tender, about 2 minutes. Serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

* * *

Tuna Almond Pot Pie

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
¾ cup milk
1 can (6 ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup blanched slivered almonds
2 cans (6½ to 7 ounces each) tuna, drained
8 small white onions, cooked
¼ cup dry sherry wine
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
Biscuits*

In saucepan, melt butter over low heat; blend in flour. Gradually add milk and liquid from mushrooms, stirring constantly until thickened. Stir in mushrooms, pepper, almonds, tuna, onions, sherry, Worcestershire sauce and pimiento. Pour into 2-quart rectangular casserole.

Arrange biscuits around edge of tuna mixture. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) about 20 minutes, until done.

*Biscuits: Mix together 1 cup biscuit mix and ⅓ cup milk, according to package directions for rolled biscuits. Roll into a 6-inch square, cut dough into 3-inch squares and cut diagonally in halves.

Marinate Scallops, Broil on Skewers

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you enjoy scallops when you "eat out," and haven't yet cooked them at home, we suggest that you try broiling this seafood.

Why? Because the scallop is a delicate morsel that toughens if it's over-cooked. If you put the scallops under the broiler, you have a good chance of grabbing them away from the heat at the just-right point.

The latest method we've tried for scallop kebabs is delectable. The seafood is given an olive oil and lemon juice marinade before it goes under the heat; then the scallops are once again brushed with the mixture when they're turned. In the meantime you can heat the remaining marinade to serve as an extra dip.

Along with a salad and crusty rolls, scallop kebabs make an excellent Sunday night supper. If you like, you can preface the scallop course with soup.

Sunday Night Scallops

1½ pounds (18) sea scallops (fresh or frozen)
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste
¼ teaspoon paprika
3 strips bacon (cut into 18 crosswise pieces)
2 green peppers (cut into 18 squares)
3 medium tomatoes (cut into 18 wedges) or 18 cherry tomatoes.

Thaw scallops if frozen; wash in cold water and drain; dry on paper toweling. In a flat dish beat together with a fork the olive oil, lemon juice, salt, pepper and paprika. Marinate scallops in mixture for about 1 hour, turning a few times.

Alternately thread scallops, bacon, green pepper and tomatoes on skewers; leave a tiny space between the scallops and bacon to give the bacon a chance to crisp. Broil fairly close to high heat 3 to 5 minutes; brush scallops with marinade; turn and broil another 3 to 5 minutes or until scallops are cooked through. Edges of bacon and green pepper may char slightly but they taste good this way.

Heat remaining marinade and spoon over scallops before serving. Makes six servings.

Grind Turkey, Add Two Eggs to Make Spread

Turkey sandwiches are tasty treats you'll be proud to serve family and friends. You can serve them as a main dish for lunch or suppertime, and have lots of the makings for turkey sandwiches on hand for those bedtime and between meals snacks so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

FINE FOR CHRISTMAS — Beef standing rib roast is a fine choice as main dish for any occasion. Yorkshire pudding is a traditional accompaniment.

Simplicity Describes These New Dishes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Just a little tired of cooking? I am. When the holiday period is filled with entertaining, there is bound to be a let-down after New Year's.

With that in mind I looked through some of my material for simple dishes that are a bit out of the ordinary. Nothing complicated, you understand. But they will be a contrast to the rich holiday food you've been cooking and eating.

First comes a fish skillet dish. Use the kind of frozen fish you prefer. A little wine or some lemon juice gives added flavor.

Captain's Casserole

1 package frozen fish rectangles or squares
3 large potatoes, peeled and cut into 2-inch chunks
2 carrots, sliced
1 cup peeled small white onions
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup sherry or sauterne (or ¼ cup water plus 1 teaspoon lemon juice)

Remove fish portions from freezer. Cook vegetables in boiling salted water to cover for 10 to 15 minutes or until potatoes are barely tender. Drain.

Heat butter in large skillet which you can use for serving. Add vegetables and saute until lightly and evenly browned. Push vegetables to one side and place fish portions flat in skillet. Cook to lightly brown one side, then turn.

Sprinkle all with parsley, salt and pepper, then pour wine (or lemon juice and water) over all. Cover and simmer gently 10 to 15 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Serve from skillet, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Eggs can replace meat in a menu. These colorful scrambled eggs can grace your brunch or luncheon table or even be served for a late evening supper. Look for the chives in your store's frozen food counter.

Blushing Scrambled Eggs

8 large eggs
1 8-ounce can (1 cup) tomato sauce
1 12-ounce can whole kernel corn, drained
3 tablespoons frozen chopped chives
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup grated sharp cheddar cheese

Break eggs into bowl; add ¾ cup tomato sauce (¾ can) and beat well. Blend in corn, chives, Worcestershire sauce and pepper.

Melt butter in large skillet. Pour in egg mixture and cook slowly, gently lifting from bottom and sides with spoon as mixture sets. Avoid constant stirring. Cook until just set.

Serve topped with remaining tomato sauce and grated cheddar cheese. Makes six servings.

If you're watching the budget right now, this next recipe is for you. Only half a pound of sausage will feed 6 people. Risotto is the Italian word for rice.

Pimiento Risotto

½ pound firm hot sausage (such as pepperoni, etc.)
1 onion, chopped
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 tablespoon minced parsley
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 can or jar (4 oz.) pimientos, drained and chopped
4 cups hot freshly cooked rice
Pepper and salt to taste
2 cups cooked green peas
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Slice or dice sausage, combine with onion, mushrooms and parsley in hot oil. Saute 3 or 4 minutes. Stir in pimiento. Add sauteed mixture to hot rice and season to taste. Toss lightly and shape into a ring on serving platter.

Meanwhile, heat peas and drain. Stir in butter and cheese. Add other seasonings if desired. Heap peas in center of mounded rice ring. Serve hot. Makes 6 servings.

Don't let the thought of making a souffle scare you. Follow directions exactly and you'll have a delicious dish. Mashed yams and ground ham make it a hearty one.

Yam Ham Souffle

6 tablespoons butter or margarine
5 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon ginger
2 cups milk
6 eggs, separated
1½ cups mashed yams (about 3 medium yams, cooked and peeled)
2 cups ground ham (about ¾ pound)

Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour, salt, mustard and ginger. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring until mixture comes to a boil and is very thick. Stir a little hot sauce into egg yolks. Stir egg yolk mixture slowly back into sauce. Cook over low heat 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; stir in yams and ham.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into yam mixture. Turn into 8-inch buttered souffle dish or 2-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 50 to 60 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean. Serve immediately.

Rutabaga—Fruit Salad? Well, It's Worth a Try

Rutabaga fruit salad uses the familiar root vegetable in a new way. Mix lightly together 2 cups each of shredded raw rutabagas and diced unpeeled red apples, and 1 cup of grapes, seeded.

Toss with 2 tablespoons each of mayonnaise and sour cream. Turn into salad bowl lined with head lettuce and sprinkle with 1 cup of shredded raw rutabagas. Serves 6.

Nationality Is Large Factor in Food Choice

Many studies have shown the strong effect of such factors as national origin, education and occupation on choices of foods, including fruits and vegetables. A study has been made by Frederick C. Fliegel of Pennsylvania State University which adds further information along this line.

Families in the higher educational categories, he found, serve dairy products and fruits much more often than those in the lower categories, while those in the intermediate educational groups emphasized beef.

His study showed white collar families served cheese, ice cream, fruits and fruit juice and nonleafy green vegetables more often than blue collar families, but did not serve whole milk, meats or poultry more often.

Considering families of Polish, Italian, German or third generation American background, he found American families were more likely to include fruits and fruit juices in their menus than the others.

Italian families tended to serve leafy green and yellow vegetables more frequently than any of the other groups. Polish families stressed green and yellow vegetables when eating at restaurants, treating these as luxury items.

Fresh Decoration

Fresh kumquats make colorful Christmas tree ornaments. Thread a long, large-eyed needle with black No. 8 thread. Push needle through stem end of a kumquat, and cut thread leaving both ends long enough to tie to tree branches.

Standing Rib Is Tops in Roasts

A beef rib roast is a tender cut and so easy to prepare. A 2 or 3-rib roast will provide several generous servings, the number of course depending upon the weight of the roast. A good guide is to allow ⅓ to ½ pound uncooked meat for each serving.

To make the roast easier to carve, have the chine bone removed at the market.

Roast in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) to the desired degree of doneness. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for cooking a rare roast; 22 to 25 minutes for medium and 27 to 30 minutes per pound for well don.

A favorite accompaniment for roast beef is Yorkshire Pudding. Many families reserve this combination for meals at Christmas.

Yorkshire Pudding is cooked in the drippings after the roast has been removed. Since a beef roast is easier to carve if allowed to stand for a short time before it is served, the pudding can be made during this time.

Sift together 1 cup sifted enriched flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Gradually add 1 cup of milk, stirring to form a smooth paste. Beat 2 eggs and add to the mixture.

Pour off the drippings from the roasting pan and measure back 3 tablespoons into the roasting pan or into an 8 by 8-inch baking dish. Pour in the batter.

Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F) for 30 to 40 minutes. Cut into squares and serve hot.

Hungarian Chicken Is Yummy

A perfect combination of ingredients flavors a sauce for economical chicken.

Hungarian Chicken

1 large broiler-fryer
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons flour
4 small scallions (sliced with green tops to make about ½ cup)
1 cup (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms
2 medium tomatoes (skinned, seeded and chopped to make about ¾ cup)
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon dry crusted thyme
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 cup commercial sour cream
Salt, pepper, paprika

Have chicken cut in 10 pieces; wash and dry. In a large skillet brown chicken in hot butter; cover and cook over low heat until tender, turning as necessary. Remove chicken and keep hot.

Pour any excess fat from pan; stir flour into drippings over low heat; add scallions, drained mushrooms (reserving liquid), tomatoes, sugar, thyme and parsley. Stir with a wooden spoon to get up browned particles at bottom of pan to cook slightly.

Stir in room-temperature sour cream; thin sauce if necessary with reserved mushroom liquid. Add salt and pepper to taste and paprika to give color. Heat but do not boil. Pour sauce around chicken; serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

Soup for Sauce

An easy shrimp sauce for halibut steaks can be made with frozen cream of shrimp soup. Simply thaw the can of soup, heat and spoon over baked, broiled or poached halibut. Do not reconstitute the soup unless you want to "stretch" it — then add ½ cup of light cream.

Income Tax Primer (3):

More Room for Name on '62 Tax Form

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third of eight articles in the Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Income Tax Primer, for readers who want more information than is supplied in the official instructions.)

BY RICHARD A. MULLENS and CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN
Written for NEA

The first thing you may notice about your 1962 income tax return is that the place for printing or typing your name is longer.

If you look at the space next to it you will notice that the spot for your Social Security number is being emphasized by bold-faced print.

This new importance given your Social Security number is part of the preparation for the use of electronic automatic return processing.

The Internal Revenue Service for 1962 requires all persons with Social Security numbers to use them.

JOINT RETURN

In the case of a joint return of husband and wife, in most cases only the Social Security number of the husband is required.

However, if the wife has a separate income of more than 600 (or $1,200 if she is over 65) or if she has self-employment income (or most other income paid to her alone), her number must also be on the return.

For filing purposes, everyone covered or not covered by the Social Security Act, must have a Social Security number.

If an individual does not have a Social Security number and is not furnished a form to obtain a number by the Internal Revenue Service during 1962, he must apply for one.

★ ★ ★

Form is available from any district director of Internal Revenue or from any district Social Security office.

OVERPAYMENT OPTION

Another innovation in your 1962 return is the option to have any overpayment applied to the purchase of series E United States Savings Bonds.

And do bear in mind this often-overlooked item about filing your return:

SIGN IT—Now, on the long form 1040 on page 2 instead of page 1, husband and wife must both sign on joint returns.

Even if you use a separate schedule for such items as rents, dividends, or interest, in preparing your return, make sure you transfer the total to the applicable lines on the return itself.

The Internal Revenue Serive also requires for the first time that your Social Security number be entered on all attachments to your return.

The penalty for failure to submit your Social Security (or other account) number on your return is $5 for each violation.

Next: About dependents.

Long Form or Short Form?

Q—Under what conditions can the short form (1040A) be filed?

A—If your gross income was less than $10,000 (including your wife if you file a joint return), and if your (and your wife's) total income (except for no more than $200) was from wages or salary on which tax with withheld by your employer.

Q—When must the long form (1040) be used?

A—If you were self-employed you must use the long form. But even if you are an employe, when you have over $10,000 total income or you have more than $200 from sources other than wages and salary subject to withholding, the long form is for you.

Also, if you are claiming the status of either "Head of Household" or "Surviving Spouse."

If you wish to claim credit for retirement income or for dividends, or you wish to exclude sick pay (in most instances), you must use the long form.

If you itemize deductions (and do not claim the "standard deduction")—you must file the long form.

However, you can file a long form, and still claim "standard deduction."

Q—If you were divorced in '62, can you file a joint return?

A—No. You are considered to have been single for all of 1962. But if your divorce is not final as of Dec. 31, and you were not then legally separated, you can file a joint return for 1962 even though you were living separately on that date.

Death of Four Actors Spurs Cancer Tests

DETROIT (AP) The Michigan Cancer Foundation yesterday reported a sharp increase in the number of men seeking cancer examinations, apparently a result of the recent cancer deaths of four prominent actors.

Edward W. Tuescher, foundation executive vice president, said the increase followed a pattern.

"When a prominent man dies of cancer, we always feel the effects," Tuescher said.

Within a recent three-week period, actors Thomas Mitchell, Charles Laughton, Jack Carson and Dick Powell all died of cancer.

Refreshments were banned from the Circus Maximus, Imperial Rome's municipal stadium, which often held a quarter of a million spectators at chariot races.

To Integrate Schools in British Protectorate

MBABANE, Swaziland (UPI)—Racial integration will begin in this British protectorate's schools when the 1963 term opens next week, it was announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said the first step in the integration program will apply only to first grade pupils up to 7 years of age. Swaziland's schools always have been strictly segregated.

Liquor Store Robbed 'Afraid of the Dark'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles D. Everett, 20, told Washington police who arrested him Tuesday he held up liquor stores during the daylight hours only.

"I'm afraid to be out on the street at night with all that money," he said.

Czechs Get Jail Terms

VIENNA, (UPI) — Czech newspapers reported today that 13 postal philatelic service employes, including a sales manager, were sentenced to prison terms of one to six years recently for stealing stamps.

France Plans First H-Bomb Test Explosion

PARIS (UPI) — France is starting preparations to explode her first H-bomb in the remote Gambier Islands in the Pacific Ocean about 1,000 miles southeast of Tahiti, possibly within two years, reliable French sources said today.

The government refused official confirmation.

The sources said both the Armed Forces Ministry and the French Atomic Energy Commission have started active preparations for the test.

The Gambier Islands are an Archipelago belonging to France. The actual explosion will take place on Mangareva Island in the Gambier group, the sources said.

Mangareva has a population of about 500 persons.

This would be France's first hydrogen bomb test. The French have set off four above-ground atomic explosions in their nuclear testing ground in the Sahara Desert since February 1960.

There have also been one or two underground tests there.

France has never tried to explode a hydrogen device in the Sahara. French officials said the danger would be too great.

Pair to Discuss 'Constitution'

Dem, Republican to Talk at Area Meeting

Two constitutional convention delegates — a Democrat and a Republican — will speak on the proposed new state constitution at the public meeting of the recently formed Oakland County Non-Partisan Committee for the New Constitution (CNC) Jan. 17.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at Lincoln Junior High School in Ferndale.

Majorie McGowan, a Detroit Democrat, and Richard C. Van Dusen of Bingham Farms, Republican, will be the main speakers.

Van Dusen, now legal adviser to Gov. George W. Romney and assistant state attorney general, was chairman of the rules committee at the constitutional convention. Miss McGowan was vice chairman of the committee.

Miss McGowan is a trial attorney for the criminal division of the U.S. Department of Justice in Washington, D.C.

Purpose of the public meeting is to acquaint county residents with the provisions of the proposed document, according to CNC Chairman Henry S. Booth.

Similar meetings are planned for Birmingham, Pontiac, Rochester and Walled Lake before voters decide on the new constitution in the April 1 election.

Chairman for the Ferndale meeting is Mrs. Martin Barr, 23831 Manistee St., Oak Park, of the Oak Park-Huntington Woods League of Women Voters.

2 Years Make Difference in JFK

BY RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy enters the decisive homestretch of his first term this week with the convening of the 88th Congress.

These are the senators and representatives who, barring a few inevitable deaths and replacements, will go with him to the finish line. On the basis of their legislative accomplishments, the Kennedy administration may stand or fall.

JFK has already made plain that he intends to seek re-election. His personal popularity is at an all-time high for a mid-term president, judging by public opinion polls, and there is little doubt that if he were running today, he would win.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Two years is a long time in politics, however, and the brash young politician who was promising the world with a string around it during his 1960 campaign has considerably sobered, since assuming the burdens of the free world's highest office.

This was never more apparent than in his broadcast to the American people last month. Asked by a television interviewer to assess his first two presidential years in light of his expectations, JFK replied:

"Well, I think in the first place the problems are more difficult than I had imagined they were. Secondly, there is a limitation upon the ability of the United States to solve these problems."

ENUMERATES

He enumerated some of these problems, and then spoke these words which must have evoked a wry smile from Gen. Eisenhower, the president whose actions JFK so sharply criticized during the campaign.

★ ★ ★

"And there are greater limitations upon our ability to bring about a favorable result than I had imagined . . . and I think that is probably true of anyone who becomes president, because there is such a difference between those who advise or speak on legislation, and between the man who must select from the various alternatives proposed, and say that this shall be the policy of the United States. It is much easier to make the speeches than it is to finally make the judgments."

To this Dwight D. Eisenhower would undoubtedly say "amen." Ike, during his two terms, had an opposition Congress for six of those eight years.

JFK is much more fortunate, since he will have had an overwhelmingly Democratic Congress for his entire first term.

★ ★ ★

The new Congress is barely distinguishable from the last one, the Democrats having gained three senatorial seats and lost only two in the House. The proportion remains at approximately two-to one in the upper chamber, and five-to-two in the House.

NOT RUBBER STAMP

As the first half of the Kennedy first term passes into the history books, however, it is well to keep in mind that the 87th Congress was anything but a rubber stamp for the head of the Democratic party.

It thwarted many presidential proposals, and flatly rejected such "must" bills as medicare, a new department of urban affairs, and federal aid to education.

President Kennedy will try again this session for most of his defeated proposals, and will also press strenuously for a tax cut, although numerous leaders of his own party oppose such a move without corresponding reductions in expenditures, and no reductions are in sight.

In fact, JFK has already called for the creation of a domestic peace corps and an academy of foreign affairs, plus increased spending for space, defense and education.

Being a realist, JFK undoubtedly does not expect all of his legislative requests to be enacted into law. A president up for re-election would sometimes prefer the issues to the accomplished fact.

He can thereby claim credit for asking something for everybody, but privately rejoice that the purse - holding Congress kept down the mounting deficit.

Kennedy may find himself in a somewhat embarrassing dilemma, however. As he goes before the voters in 1964, he can scarcely blast a Congress which is as overwhelmingly Democratic as this one.

De Gaulle, Cabinet to Discuss Polaris

PARIS (UPI) —President Charles de Gaulle summoned his cabinet today to discuss key foreign policy questions, including President Kennedy's offer of Polaris missiles for the French navy.

De Gaulle has made no commitment on Kennedy's offer to give the Polaris to France as well as Britain as part of a European nuclear defense.

The offer was made following the Bahamas meeting last month between Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. During the meeting, Macmillan agreed to accept the Polaris instead of the Skybolt missile, which the United States has decided to scrap.

Stonewall Henderson Strikes Stone Wall

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Stonewall Henderson yesterday drove his truck into a stone wall.

"I lost my brakes and thought maybe a utility pole would stop me," Henderson said. "But it was like going through a toothpick, so then I chose the stone wall. It stopped me."

New York City Conventioners Feel Pinch of News Blackout

NEW YORK (AP)—What does the newspaper blackout mean to New York City convention visitors?

Disappointment, frustration and a feeling of being in the dark make up their action of some executives attending the convention of the National Retail Merchants Association to the month-old strike that has closed nine New York dailies.

The NRMA's five-day meeting brought 5,000 merchants and their families to the city. It is one of the bigger conventions held each year in this greatest of convention cities.

Delegates from far away are attempting to keep abreast of the news by watching radio and television programs in their rooms. Some from such cities as Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago are able to buy their hometown papers at hotel newsstands.

"It's a great disappointment to come to the greastest city in the world and not have the news at our fingertips before breakfast," said George W. Dowdy, executive vice president of Belk Bros. Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

GLAMOUR GONE

"Much of the glamour of the city is missing," said Joseph T. Meek of Chicago, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

★ ★ ★

"My daughter is here with us for the first time, and she feels frustrated, not being able to find out in the newspapers where to go and where to shop. We don't know who the entertainers are."

Delegates say, too, that they are hampered in business activities by absence of newspapers.

★ ★ ★

"We come here not only as delegates to the convention but as observers of New York stores and their advertisements," said Nathan J. Gold of Gold & Co., Lincoln, Neb., department store. "Now we don't know what's going on."

★ ★ ★

Harold H. Bennett, outgoing president of NRMA and president of Zion's Cooperative Mercantile Institution, Salt Lake City, Utah, department store, commented: "It is most disappointing to have this void in a most important media.

"I think the problem of the New York stores is greater than it would be in smaller cities like mine where television and radio are more local."

Gold said that mail orders, generated by newspaper advertising, are more important to New York stores than to merchants in smaller cities.

"With all respect to other media, you can't give adequate coverage without newspapers," he said.

May Regulate Stamp Firms

State Official Eyes Bonding Measure

LANSING (AP) — A law to regulate trading stamp companies has been drafted by the state attorney general's office and will be recommended to the 1963 legislature, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said yesterday.

Trading stamp companies would be required to file a performance bond with the state guaranteeing the value of unredeemed stamps, under Kelley's proposed law.

The attorney general said "there is an intense and immediate need for legislation in this area to protect Michigan consumers."

Other requirements of the proposed law:

—All trading stamp companies shall be licensed by the state.

—The state shall audit stamp companies books periodically, as is now done with insurance companies.

—Companies shall file a copy of their gift or premium book with the state and shall be bound by the provisions in the book.

—Redemption centers shall be located in locations convenient to areas where the stamp firms distribute stamps.

Outline Lansing Plan for Urban Renewal

LANSING (AP)—Plans for a $7,-million urban renewal project for a section of Lansing's downtown business district were outlined to the City Council this week.

The area will cover approximately 10 blocks in the North Washington Avenue business district near the state Capitol.

Informal approval already has been given by the federal government for the release of about $100,000 in planning funds, the council was told.

Councilman Malcolm Milks said a majority of the buildings within the project area will be cleared.

The federal government is expected to supply funds for about two-thirds of the cost.

At least 70 different postage stamps, including 15 different three-cent stamps, have borne the likeness of George Washington.

Twelve Farmers to Sue Dutch Electric Firm

THE HAGUE, Holland (UPI) — Twelve farmers said today they planned to sue the South Holland Province Electricity Co., for damages.

They said "broom-length ice needles" falling from newly installed high tension wires are damaging their hothouses.

Moscow Suffering From Acute Urban Overcrowding

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow, sometimes called "the beautiful lady" by its natives, is suffering from a bad case of urban overcrowding.

The problems include chronic shortages of housing, office space, stores and public services, as well as a shortage of municipal transportation.

The Soviet regime is making an effort to solve the major problem — the housing shortage.

BACKGROUND SPECIAL REPORT OF THE NEWS

The city fathers have allocated 455 million rubles for housing construction in their 1963 budget. This is about half the total budget.

Soviet authorities set the value of the ruble at $1.11 but there is no free exchange on it.

Soviet propaganda chiefs deny vigorously that the impressive housing construction rate in Moscow is a special effort to put up a showplace front. However, the city of Moscow, with probably 6½ million residents, represents less than 3 per cent of Soviet population. The capital is getting about 9 per cent of total national appropriations for housing construction.

Moscow officials say 400,000 Muscovites got new living quarters last year. But Moscow has grown at a rate of 400,000 a year for the past three years. It would appear officials are managing just to keep roofs over the heads of the population without substantially improving the lot of the vast majority.

The officially prescribed sanitary living space form here is 9 square meters—96 square feet—per person. This is about the size of many American bathrooms.

Most Russians don't have that. It is estimated that the Moscow average is 6-7 square meters.

In practice this means that three, four, sometimes a half dozen people are crowded into one room. Young people frequently cannot marry for lack of a place to live.

SHARED ROOMS

Divorced couples often share rooms with their new spouses. Most Soviet families have a crowd of in-laws living with them. A family rarely has a private bath and kitchen. Sometimes a single large room is divided among tenants who live in cubicles divided by curtains.

City authorities have quadrupled their planned expenditures in 1963 for cooperative housing. They are pinning hopes to an effort to get citizens to help finance new apartments.

The co-op member puts up 40 per cent of the cost of a new apartment. The state furnishes the remainder as a long-term loan.

Office space in this administrative nerve center of the Soviet Union has been a perennial problem. A few institutions, such as the Foreign Ministry and Council of Ministers, have skyscraper quarters. The bulk of government offices are crowded into ramshackle prerevolutionary buildings—usually the confiscated mansions and townhouses of the tsarist aristocracy and middle class.

Public transportation is groaning under the load of Moscow's constantly moving population. Almost a billion persons rode the efficient and comfortable subways last year. This represents only 40 per cent of the total transient load—the other 60 per cent rode antiquated buses, trolley buses and street cars. Taxi service, by Western standards, also is inadequate.

Municipal authorities have made sporadic efforts to increase retail trade outlets and other service points, but still have a long way to go to streamline stores and markets. It is not unusual to spend 15 minutes buying a pound of butter.

In recent years, auto traffic has become a problem on major thoroughfares. The administration has taken a few measures such as closing some streets to trucks, and introducing one-way arteries.

To drain off cross-city traffic the government built a highway around Moscow, called the Ring Road. Many trucks use the road but it appears to have made little difference on the slow-moving stream of traffic in Moscow.

Despite these problems, many Russians dream of living in Moscow, a so-called closed city since 1931. Those who do have permission to live here wouldn't think of leaving it to live in the backwoods, as they call the provinces.

Goes to Prison for Slaying Pal

Clifton Johnson, 40, of 20787 Glenlodge St., Royal Oak Township, Minday, was sentenced to 10 to 15 years in Jackson Prison for the June 14 knife slaying of his 21-year-old Detroit friend.

Johnson was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, before whom Johnson pleaded guilty Dec. 7 to a manslaughter charge.

He was accused of killing Fred Anderson in an argument over some clothes Anderson allegedly borrowed and had not returned.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE TROJANS

QUESTION: Was the legendary city of Troy ever found?

ANSWER: Homer's famous Iliad and Odyssey tell about the destruction of Troy, a rival of Greece in ancient times. According to these stories, Paris, son of King Priam of Troy, fell in love with Helen, wife of the Spartan king. Paris persuaded Helen to flee from Greece to Troy.

Then the Greeks declared war and for ten years besieged Troy without success. Finally, they built an enormous horse, in which their best fighting men were concealed. The main Greek force hid not far away. The Trojans thought the horse was a peace offering and drew it inside their city. At night, the concealed soldiers came out and opened the city gates to the Greek army.

Then Troy was completely destroyed. This is legend; the question is, was there a real Troy? In 1871 a mound was found which fitted descriptions in the stories, and remains of nine separate cities were found on it or thereabouts.

By comparing remains of pottery and so on, many experts have come to the conclusion that the sixth of these cities was the one described by Homer. Others think that Troy 6 was destroyed by earthquake instead of by enemies and that Troy 7 is the Troy of Homer.

★ ★ ★

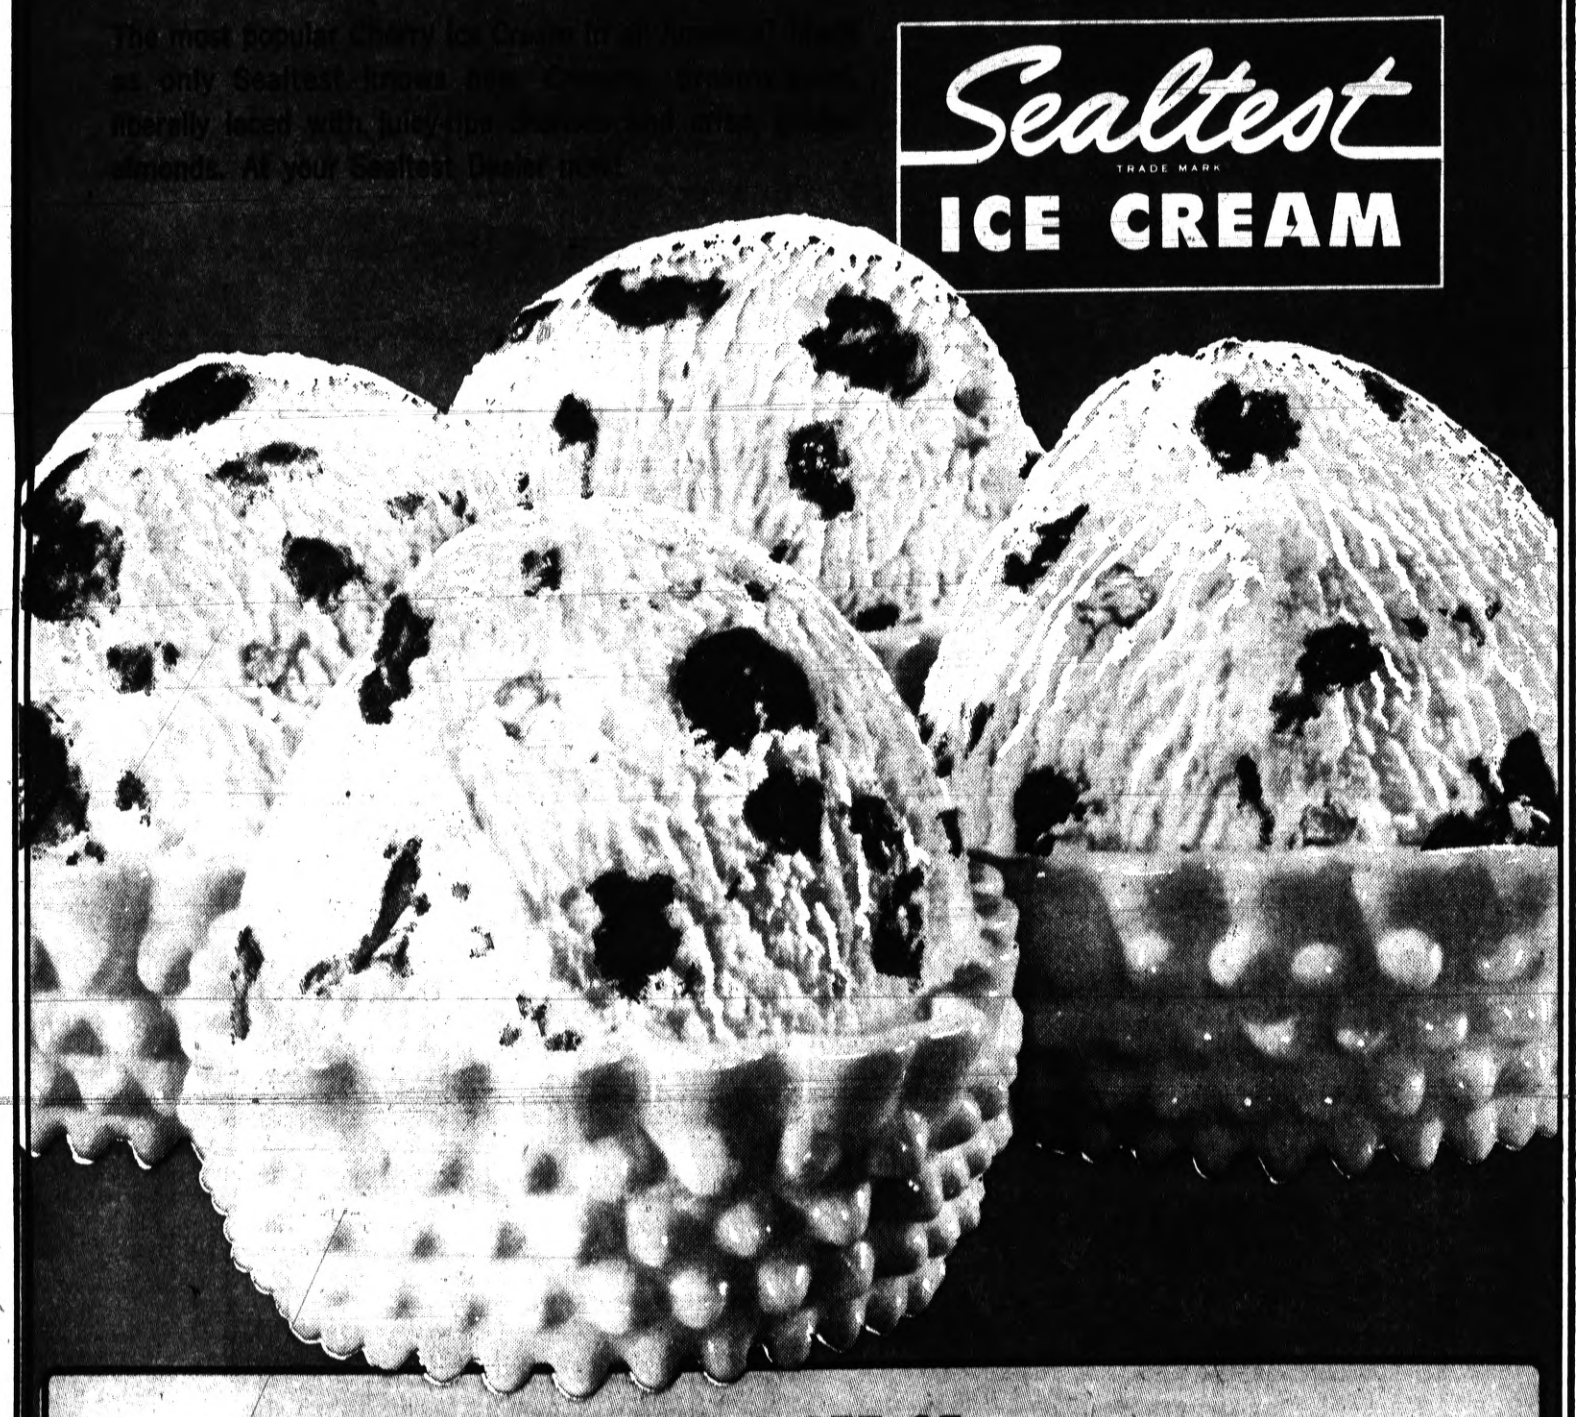

FOR YOU TO DO: The big horse would be fun to carve out of a piece of soap. If the whole horse looks too hard, just carve the head. Draw the profile on the soap first and cut down to this with a sharp knife. Then carefully finish the details.

Lions' Players Deny Gamblers Influenced Play

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When the chilly bus, cooled with wide open windows, pulled away from Green Bay's cold, wet city stadium, a big be-spectacled figure sat alone in one of the rear seats staring at the nearby crowd congratulating the just victorious home team.

The Packers had just defeated the Lions, 9-7 in an unbelievable finish and the Green Bay players were unmodestly taking bows for what one would believe must have been a convincing two-point victory.

"Go ahead, mouth off, you guys will be sorry when you come to Detroit," mumbled the big Lion, who apparently was thinking out loud.

He then turned to the occupants of the nearby seats, shook his head and commented, "I just can't believe that we lost that game out there. It sure would be a lousy deal if this game meant the difference in winning or losing the championship."

PROPHECY

It was the "Golden Greek" Alex Karras talking and his words were almost a prophecy. By standings, the game was not the difference as the Lions had three losses and the Packers one.

But, psychologically in the final weeks it certainly did have a bearing on the season as the Lions walloped the Packers and sat back frustratedly knowing the teams to follow hardly had a chance to do the same.

When the Thanksgiving Day rout was over, no one was more happy than Karras. He and the other members of the Fearsome Foursome has just fed the Packers to the Lions.

By individual performances the Lions had many that day. But in the eyes of a national TV audience big Roger Brown was King Lion for the day.

What many did not know was that the Packers with greater fear of Karras had to use half of their offensive line to contain him, thereby giving Brown more freedom.

As one NFL coach put it, "you might contain one of the Lion tackles and use half of your line doing it, but you can't stop them both at the same time."

ALL PRO CHOICE

When the all-pro teams were announced, Brown's sterling Thanksgiving Day performance was remembered and he was chosen to the first team. Karras was named to the second team.

The NFL players' own selections however listed Karras and Brown as the first unit defensive tackles, which actually was the more sensible thing. There are no two better players at their positions than this pair, and in the minds of most people close to the pro ranks, Karras is the No. 1 interior defensive lineman in pro football.

In the current pro controversies regarding "undesirable associations" of NFL players, the ridiculous conjectures made against Karras because of his tavern business are certainly unfair to his integrity as pro football's best tackle.

"I've always given 100 per cent on the field," said Karras.

If anyone has any doubts ask John Unitas, Bart Starr, Y. A. Tittle, Bobby Layne, Zeke Bratkowski who probably wish the "Golden Greek" was shipped back to parental fatherland.

Northern Michigan Presses Bradley 5

By The Associated Press

Michigan's small colleges went up against some strong out-of-state competition — including Bradley, ranked among the nation's top 20 basketball teams—and all but one fell by the wayside Tuesday night.

Hope, the lone survivor, salvaged some state pride by downing Wheaton of Illinois, 88-73.

Bradley's Braves, paced by Mack Herndon's 40 points, stormed from behind in the second half and defeated Northern Michigan 91-64.

In other games, Ohio Northern heaped more misery on Northwood Institute, handing the Michiganders their seventh loss in eight starts, 117-73, and Western Reserve had no trouble stopping Wayne State 64-50 in a Presidents' Athletic Conference clash.

In the game at Holland, Hope's Dutchmen took a 36-30 halftime lead as they ran their season's record to 5-4. Gary Nederzeld paced the Hope attack with 26 points. John Pfund led Wheaton with 21.

Bradley's Braves were trailing 38-34 at the half in the game at Peoria, Ill., when Herndon caught fire. He scored 28 points in the final half, including a spurt of 13 within four minutes.

10TH VICTORY

The victory was the 10th in 12 games for Bradley, while Northern Michigan suffered its third defeat against five triumphs. Gary Silc scored 18 points for the losers and Bob Armsted added 17.

Ohio Northern had three men in double figures in its game with Northwood at Ada, Ohio. Bob Woods led with 22 points, followed by Mike Muterspaw, 21, and Larry Miller, 19.

Northwood's Herman Montoy matched Woods' 22 points, and Jack Wachter and Dick Goedetier added 14 and 13, respectively, for the losers.

Wayne State, playing in Detroit, trailed throughout the entire game with Western Reserve as the Tartars suffered their third loss in as many PAC starts. The victory evened the Redcats' league record at 2-2.

Rams Lose to ROSM; St. Mike's Wins

By BILL MONAHAN

St. Frederick found a four-point first quarter too much to overcome and dropped a 39-29 cage decision to Northwest Catholic League leader St. Mary of Royal Oak last night.

The Rams battled the shorter, sharper Irish on nearly even terms for the remainder of the game played at Royal Oak Kimball High, but had to settle for league defeat No. 3, which just about kills their title hopes. They have won four.

St. Michael tied Orchard Lake St. Mary for second place with a 52-38 decision over Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows and Detroit St. Agatha garnered its second straight league win in five days by whipping Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, 53-45.

St. Mary jumped to a 6-1 lead in the first period and withstood a spirited St. Fred rally midway in the final stanza for its sixth victory without a defeat in league play and a 7-1 over-all record.

St. Fred managed to close the gap to 29-25 with four minutes remaining in the game on a field goal by Charlie Dean and a free throw by Lowrey Holland, but the Irish refused to panic and pulled out of trouble with buckets by forward Rod Bannister and guard Pete Taylor.

POOR SHOOTING

The Rams, who experienced a poor shooting night, also had rebounding troubles with the scrappy Irish beating them to the punch often during the contest.

Forward Charlie Dean, who couldn't find the basket in the first half, fired St. Fred's short-lived rally in the second half, hitting for five baskets and finishing with a game high of 11 points.

St. Mary displayed a well-balanced team effort which featured the fine outside shooting of guards Tom Wagner and Taylor.

Taylor led the league leaders with 10 points, followed by Bannister, Wagner and forward Don Wells, all with eight.

Mike Pope tallied 22 markers in the St. Mike win and Mike DeConnick added 11. The Shamrocks are now 4-2 in league play while FOLS is 1-5.

Waterford Our Lady raced to a 28-20 halftime lead in the small St. Agatha gym, but folded in the second half. Lou Mettler paced the Lakers with 16 points. Wes Borys hit 10.

Howell, Big Dave Spark Pistons Into Third Spot

From Our News Wires

The Detroit Pistons continued their dominance of the New York Knickerbockers last night with their third straight victory, a 109-93 decision.

Bailey Howell scored 28 points to lead the Pistons' cause and Dave DeBusschere added 21.

Detroit was down one point, 28-27, at the end of the first quarter but Howell and DeBusschere got hot and at the half, the Pistons led 56-51.

The Knicks refused to give up and closed the gap to two points in the third period but Don Ohl, Howell and DeBusschere hit for six straight points to swell the lead.

★ ★ ★

THIRD STRAIGHT

The Pistons, scoring their third consecutive win, tied their longest winning streak of the season and moved into third place in the Western Division.

The Pistons meet the Los Angeles Lakers at Detroit tonight as a part of a National Basketball Association doubleheader. The other game pits New York against the St. Louis Hawks.

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, a deadly duo, have scored another knockout punch to snap St. Louis' 13-game home court winning streak as the Los Angeles Lakers increased their lead in the western division.

West revived the Lakers in their game with the Hawks and Baylor put over the crusher with two baskets in the final 16 seconds for a 99-96 victory.

In other games, Bob Cousy's six points in the last 3 minutes enabled the Boston Celtics to defeat the San Francisco Warriors 118-112. Hal Greer paced Syracuse to a 119-116 conquest of Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

Greer scored 31 points, including four in the last two minutes, as Syracuse downed the Royals.

DON SHULA
New Boss of Colts

Shula Replaces Ewbank

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have fired Weeb Ewbank as head coach. Replacing him is Don Shula, defensive backfield coach of the Detroit Lions.

Ewbank's dismissal confirmed weeks of speculation that he would lose his job. He coached the Colts to NFL championships in 1958 and 1959 but, since then, Baltimore has been just another team in the western division.

Shula, 33, accepted a two-year contract for 1963-64 in his first head coaching position. Salary was not disclosed. He will come to Baltimore for a news conference Thursday afternoon.

In Detroit, Shula said: "Before I make any appraisal of the Colts, I have to go over movies of the club and study them in detail."

Ewbank, 55, was offered another job with the Colts and probably would announce his decision on it later this week.

Shula played four seasons for the Colts under Ewbank as defensive halfback and signal caller. The squad he inherits from his former coach includes nine former teammates, plus two who joined the team the year he was dropped.

★ ★ ★

Released by the Colts during the 1957 exhibition season, Shula was acquired by the Washington Redskins on waivers and played one year there. He coached at Virginia in 1958, moved on to Kentucky in 1959 and joined the Lions' staff in 1960.

Walker Makes Lie Detector Test Offer

'Just Hope They Get to Bottom of This,' Says Wilson

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit Lions' football players, strung out across the nation, today admitted knowing gamblers in the Motor City but stoutly denied these associations in any way had affected their play.

In Detroit, linebacker and place kicker Wayne Walker offered to take a lie detector test to deny his acquaintance with gamblers ever influenced his play.

In Los Angeles, defensive tackle Alex Karras, all-pro in three of his five seasons and playing in the NFL All-Star game Sunday, said, "I've played 100 per cent football in every game."

In Delray Beach, Fla., Lions coach George Wilson expressed faith in his players and said, "I just hope they get to the bottom of this."

From Miami, Fla., Lions general manager Edwin J. Anderson stated, "until, and unless, someone comes up with some concrete evidence of wrongdoing, I think we would be doing a terrible disservice to these boys to participate in a public controversy in the news media." He expressed "complete confidence" in the integrity of the team.

THE EVIDENCE

Then just what associations and evidence have been turned up so far to put the Lions in a spotlight on gamblers and pro football? Just this:

Detroit police commissioner George Edwards yesterday revealed that a police report was submitted to the Loins' owners Dec. 30 and to National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle Jan. 2.

Without naming the players, Edwards' report said a group of Lions had associated with "notorious gamblers" Vito and Anthony Giacalone, "convicted burglar and murderer" Anthony Thomas, convicted gambler Sammy Gioradano, and Anthony and Dominic Corrado, "sons of the late Peter Corrado, who was known as 'the enforcer,'" and other gamblers and hoodlums.

Most of the evidence of this "association" was based on a bus trip to a Cleveland game. Several Lions, Edwards said, rode back to Detroit in a bus owned and outfitted for game trips by Vito Giacalone, named in Ohio and Canadian investigations as the czar of gambling in Detroit.

Edwards' report also said a number of Lions frequented the Grecian Gardens, a near downtown Detroit restaurant and bar, owned by the Corrado family and a hangout for known gamblers.

In New York, Rozelle issued another statement. "The only evidence it (the police report) shows is that of undesirable associations by some of the players," he said.

Anderson issued a statement denying that he had ever 'paid or implied that I would 'pressure' Alex Karras into giving up his proposed ownership in a Detroit bar."

The bar, soon to be moved to a new location, is the "Lindell," a hangout for professional athletes in all sports. It is owned by James and John Butsicaris, brothers who have no police records and deny any close connections with the gamblers. However, James Butsicaris admitted being on the Giacalone bus trip from Cleveland and to inviting Karras and Gordy to ride back, too.

Butsicaris said he and the two players played gin rummy all the way back to Detroit and that's all there was to the trip.

Chiefs Pin Skippers

The Pontiac Central wrestlers have a week to prep for their first Saginaw Valley meet with Flint Central Jan. 17 and will be trying to better a 2-3 mark posted last year in the loop.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs utilized Waterford last night to get ready for their big debut beating the Skippers 33-11 on the Waterford mats.

Hazel Park, boasting the toughest squad in Oakland County with a 6-0 mark, gave Walled Lake a 34-5 shellacking.

PCH took nine of a possible 12 events, paced by Pete Beavers, Harold Whiting and Paul Thompson who are all undefeated in duel meets.

Gary Koshiba and Thompson took the only falls of the evening for Central pinning Mike Jones and Gerry Gebrowsky.

WATERFORD PIN

Waterford's Dave Jones managed a pin over Lowell Vollmer of PCH in the 180 weight group and Butch Crowe took a decision from Jan Anderson. Randy Rhodes completed the Skipper outpointing Chuck Fowers, 4-1.

It was Hazel Park's biggest margin of victory over any opponent yet and the Vikings would have been able to shut out the Walled Lake group if scrapping Terry Oslin, sporting an individual 4-0 record, had not fought to a 2-1 victory over Dick Woodward and Pat Fitzgerald managed a tie with HP's Ron Carpenter.

Need 2 Extra Periods for Win

Lakers Rally to Avert Surprise

By JERE CRAIG

The stopper was almost pulled on the surging Lakers of West Bloomfield last night.

Unbeaten in six starts and ranked fourth in the state in the Class B weekly AP prep cage poll, West Bloomfield built up a 43-29 third quarter lead on Walled Lake, a solid underdog; and then it had to rally from a five-point deficit with less than three minutes remaining to earn a 78-73 victory in two overtime periods.

There were multiple heroes for both teams but the two who stood out the most were Dan Greig of West Bloomfield, who hit nine of 15 field goal attempts in his 21 points, and John Thomas who had 20 for the visiting Vikings.

The Vikings missed winning the game in regulation time when Thomas picked up a loose ball in the West Bloomfield forecourt with less than 10 seconds remaining and raced the length of the floor only to have a teammate in the clear under the basket drop his pass as time ran out.

Thomas pumped in half of Walled Lake's 22 points in the furious fourth quarter rally, and added four more crucial points in the first overtime period, including a driving layup that tied the score, 69-69, with only five seconds remaining.

LAST TIE

The Vikings, who have won only once in their last 25 basketball starts, tied the score for the last time, 71-71, at the onset of the second overtime. The Lakers' Dave Helmreich had scored a layup to start the final session, and then George Bullock scored on a jump shot from the left corner to knot the game for the last time.

Dan Armistead actually put in the winning points when he hit three foul shots following the 71-71 tie. He made the score 74-71 with 1:02 left in second overtime by converting one of two from the line.

Aumaugher and Greig added two point plays in the closing minute while the Vikings could only counter with a field goal by Neal Watkins.

OFF BENCH

Bullock came off the bench for the second consecutive game to hit double figures for coach Jim Horein. He tallied 15 last night.

Watkins with 10 was the only other Walled Lake player in twin figures.

Coach Art Paddy at West Bloomfield, on the other hand, inserted seven players into the game and saw six of them hit double figures.

Bill Eliason had 11, Charlie Robison and Armistead hit 10 each, and Aumaugher and Helmreich each scored 10. Aumaugher and Armistead tallied six and five, respectively, in the overtime play.

The Lakers built up a 35-27 lead at halftime as Eliason, Robison and Grieg tallied 29 markers. Four different players hit field goals at the start of the second half and the winners led 43-29 before Thomas, Bullock and Doug Walters sparked a comeback that had the small crowd on its feet and roaring.

An Inter-Lakes League team, Walled Lake is now 1-5 for the season. West Bloomfield, a Wayne-Oakland loop squad, is 7-0.

It was no contest for Imlay City last night as the Spartans ran up their fifth win of the campaign by trouncing winless Yale, 76-46.

Tom Hall scored 22 points on 10 field goals and two fouls for the winners while Larry Clark and Ed Lomerson added 12 and 11, respectively.

Nelson LaPla tallied 16 for Yale. Imlay City led 36-17 at halftime before erupting for 40 markers in the second half as 10 players scored.

Capac Cagers Win Handily

Brown City Hits 91 in Beating Almont

Capac remained the undisputed Southern Thumb League leader last night posting an 71-45 triumph over Memphis and strengthening its hold on the second spot in the Associated Press prep cage polls behind Ontonagon in the Class C division.

Anchor Bay chalked-up win No. 4 in loop play taking a 58-47 decision from Dryden while New Haven outscored Armada 46-36 and Brown City blasted Almont, 91-43.

The Bay squad is second behind Capac with a 4-1 record, New Haven is third at 2-2, Dryden and Memphis are knotted with 2-3 marks and Brown City is 2-4.

John Scheuer led Capac with 18, Ken Adamski had 12 and Dan Petz 13 while Mike Santo of Memphis took in 17.

Alvin Martus led the Brown City rout over Almont with 30 points while Ken Brown threw in 16, Arden Lobstein 13 and Larry Stephens 12.

Chuck Herpolsheimer accounted for 19 and John Hough 11 for the losers.

1-2 PUNCH

Dryden's 1-2 scoring punch of Paul Grondin (16) and Ron Hebert (13) failed to stop the Anchor Bay group which saw Dennis Folan, Larry Teller and Cecil Haggard score 15, 12 and 10 in that order.

★ ★ ★

Armada got cold in a second half rally and saw the door shut in its face with Dwight Lee leading a tough New Haven defense which controlled the backboards while Jack Belt hit for 12 and Lee 11.

Armada high man was Marv Thompson with 13.

BOWLING

Two local women bowlers have been credited nationally with unusual feats and two well known veterans of the national circuits have reached new high points in their careers, according to recent publicity releases from the Woman's International Bowling Congress and the Bowling Proprietor's Association of America.

In its first edition for the new year, the WIBC News has given recognition to Pontiac's Jane Spellicy for her unusual feat of hitting a 116 triplicate the first night of the winter season, after averaging 116 in two summer leagues.

Also, Lillian Prodell of Pontiac received mention in the Can You Top These Department for bowling 477 series three consecutive weeks in the Ladies Community League.

Marge Merrick of Columbus, Ohio, one of the nation's leading woman keglers bowled her first 300 game in 18 years of competing only one week before Christmas. She is only the third woman in the country this season to roll a sanctioned 300.

On the male front, Andy Varipappa of Hempstead, N. Y., has been voted the third All-Star Award of Merit by the BPAA. He was selected for "his outstanding performance in past All-Star tournaments and also for the colorful contributions he has made to the bowling game over a period of 50 years."

LOCAL NEWS

On the local bowling scene, Monroe Moore and Kay McSorley made the big news last week. Moore hit his eighth straight 600 series in the Westside Mobil All Star Classic last Thursday at 300 Bowl and, in the process, equalled the high series for the season with a 706.

His league-leading average is 208. Last week he combined games of 233-237-236. His 706 came in a makeup match; in the regularly slated competition Moore rolled a 637 but yielded high honors to teammate Pat Treacy who bowled 223-222—651.

"Mo's" brother Ron had 255—637 and Bill Johns scored 254-223—636.

Kay McSorley bowled well in the 300 Trio's League last Thursday and, as a result, now has season highs for the league in three different categories.

Her 219 actual, plus 44 handicap pins for a 263 game, left her three pins shy of Nora Jones 222 actual game high; but she now holds the top score for high-game-with-handicap (263), high actual series (563) and high handicap series (695).

Millie Collier had a 214 actual in the loop play last week.

The 300 Bowl's Guys and Dolls League is led by the Four A's with The Ten Pins only three games behind the leaders. Shirley Vincent had the top scores last week, 183—481.

The Goodfellows circuit at 300 Bowl reported Mike Mellardo with 234—601 and Dick Dalby also had a 234.

At Airway Lanes, the Airway Angels League saw Carol Jarvis score a 206 actual despite her 127 average. In Montcalm's Junior League, Ted Rabaja set a season's high with a 602 actual total. Ted Laverdure bowled a 538 actual.

ATTENTION BOWLERAMA ENTRIES: Checks for the Bowlerama have been mailed out, but several of them have returned because of poor addresses. Four of these can be picked up at The Press sports department: Ed Raszkowski, George Graves, Bob Frick and Jack Bailey.

Deer Moving Despite Cold

Whitetails Yarded in Western U. P.

Deer took the recent sub-zero temperatures in stride and continued to move about freely in most parts of Northern Michigan.

Except in a few deep-snow sectiors, whitetails roamed outside sheltered, swapland areas while weathering the coldest days of the winter season.

Minimum temperatures ranged between zero and 23 degrees below during the period. The high reading was 35 degrees above zero.

The start of the year found deer yarded in the Upper Peninsula's extreme western counties. In other deep-snow areas of this region and the northern Lower Peninsula, the animals ranged near heavy cover and commercial timber cutting sites.

Maximum snow depth for the Upper Peninsula was nearly two feet, recorded at Wakefield and near Melstrand. The region's western counties had an average depth of 14 inches; most other areas had one foot of snow or less.

★ ★ ★

The northern Lower Peninsula's greatest snow depths through Dec. 31 were in the Kalkaska-Gaylord areas; between 18 and 22 inches. Most of the region's other areas had up to a foot of snow.

Light snow cover allowed whitetails to feed on acorns in Baldwin and Gladwin districts.

Perch Derby Set Saturday on St. Clair

Several hundred fisherman are expected to gather for the 10th Ice Fishing Derby Saturday at Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair.

Contest hours are from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. and fishermen must fill out official entry blanks before going out on the ice to fish along the Black River, canals, marina basins and Lake St. Clair in front of Metropolitan Beach.

Prizes will be awarded for the top perch catches, with prizes awarded to the first and second place winners in men's, women's and children's divisions (boys and girls up to 16 years of age).

A grand trophy and prize will be awarded for the longest perch caught in any classification.

To be eligible for an award all contestants must be present for the judging at the conclusion of the contest at Derby headquarters in the food bar at Metropolitan Beach.

The annual Ice Fishing Derby is sponsored by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five-county park and parkway agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

State Boating Rules Backed by Opinion

LANSING (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley said in an opinion today local units of government cannot apply boating restrictions to waters they control other than those recommended by the state boating committee.

The 15-page opinion, which was made in response to a request from Gerald E. Eddy, director of the Department of Conservation, also said violations of the boating committees regulations are not in themselves misdemeanors.

But a township can adopt an ordinance conforming to the committee's regulations and "provide that any violation thereof shall be deemed a misdemeanor."

The opinion said the Motorboat Act, adopted by the legislature in 1962, "superceded township ordinances regulating operation of motorboats on inland lakes within the jurisdiction of township enacted under authority" of previous state laws.

Kelley said the prior ordinances had to be considered revoked because it was the intent of the legislature in its new act "to prevent a 'multitude of varying local controls and regulations,' which could arise from the exercise of independent power by the many townships of the state."

★ ★ ★

Because of the act and other legal precedences, the attorney general said, "We conclude that the power of a township to enact ordinances relative to regulation of boating on the waters within its jurisdiction is now exclusively based upon and limited by the provisions" of the motorboat act.

Conciliatory Move at NCAA Meeting

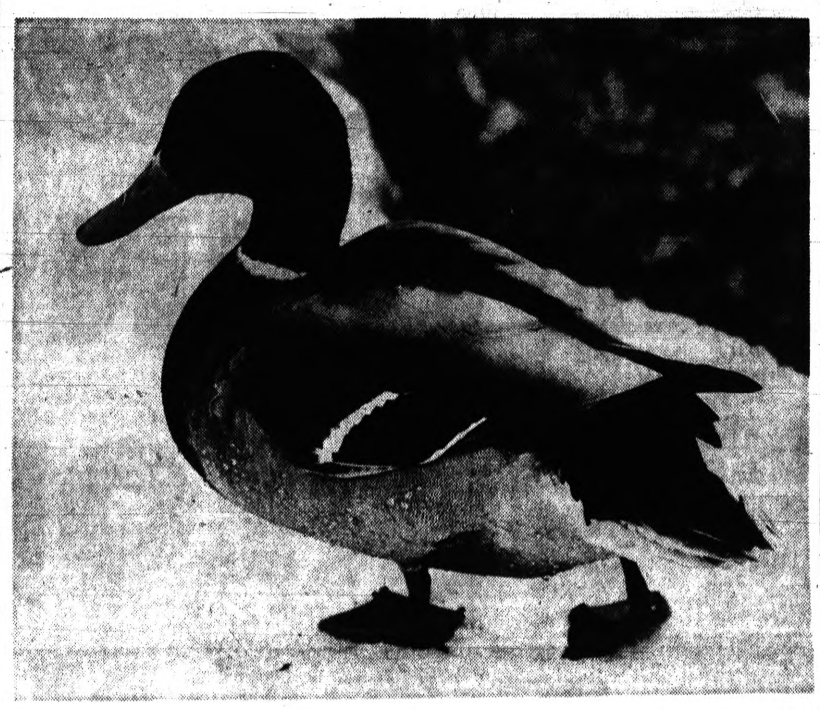

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The first dove of peace made a preliminary pass over the battle lines between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union today, prompted by President Kennedy's efforts to settle the fight.

The conciliatory move was made by the NCAA at its 57th annual convention. An announcement of an exchange of telegrams between the president and the collegiate group was followed with the statement that NCAA threats of ineligibility against athletes would be withdrawn.

An NCAA spokesman after reading the President's telegram to the convention and the NCAA reply yesterday announced plans to withdraw the controversial amendment which had drawn the fire of the AAU and the apparent retaliatory suspension of Jim Dupree of Southern Illinois University for participating in a track federation open meet.

WINTER SWIM — With ice covering most of the area's lakes, open water comes at a premium for wild ducks. The front duck in this picture spun around so fast when Pontiac Press photographer Ed Noble tripped the shutter that water reached to the mallard's neck. The ducks were on the Clinton River near Walton Boulevard.

Officials Satisfied With Fees

Public Accepting Park Permits

LANSING, (UPI) — Michigan's park permit fee system went into its third year Jan. 1 and conservation officials say they are well satisfied with it but anticipate improvement in its public acceptance.

On the continuation of the fee system hinges the greater part of the department's plans for park expansion and improvement in future years.

The legislature in 1960 authorized the department to issue bonds "not to exceed $10 million" to finance improvements and expand the park system. In the same year the legislature gave the department approval to sell the first $5 million of the authorized amount and spend it as the department saw fit.

The legislature specified, however, that bonds should be sold only as the money was needed so the interest rates could be kept as low as possible.

Late in 1961 the first $2 million in bonds was sold. A similar issue was sold last April, and the final $1 million of the approved $5 million will be issued at next month's conservation commission meeting.

EYE FUTURE

Department officials now plan to ask the legislature to approve $3.5 million for future issues. Harold C. MacSwain, assistant chief of the parks and recreation division, said the entire $5 million of the authorized amount could not be sold next year because the permit revenues did not provide sufficient collateral for the entire sum.

Income from the 50-cent daily and $2 annual park use permits has been sufficient during the past two years to provide the department with $770,000 in surplus moneys MacSwain said.

The department will ask the legislature this year for authority to spend this on additional park improvements.

Of the $3.5 million bond issue being sought for approval this year, the department hopes to spend $1.5 million for land acquisition and $2 million for improvements to existing facilities.

Four million dollars of the first bond issue was earmarked for improvements and $1 million for acquisition.

MacSwain said there was a good possibility that revenues coming from the permit sales would increase this year or next.

The fee system brought in about $716,000 the first year and the 1962 receipts were estimated at $730,000.

Mild Weather Helps Fishermen

The mild weather seems to have the same effect on fish as it does on anglers—makes them want to move around.

★ ★ ★

Many fishermen have been moving their gear to Pontiac Lake where good catches of pike in the 28 to 30-inch class have been taken. The action was slow yesterday, but in general the take has been good.

Another gook pike producer has been Tan Lake near Oxford. Oxbow and Lower Straits are other good bets for the shovel-nosed fish.

Square, Deer and Cass are producing top catches of calicos with evening fishing using a lantern the best. Bluegills are being taken from Loon and Grahame Lakes.

Sugden and Union, along with Lake Oakland, are best for perch these days.

Rainbows have been inconsistent.

The Press is still searching for the top fishing lakes in the county. For those who missed the first printing of the ballot, it can be found on this page and will be run again next week.

HATCHERY ON BLOCK

The hopes of some area sportsmen that the Drayton Plains fish hatchery will be reopened were shattered last week by a Conservation Department announcement that the facility and land will be sold this spring.

Department officials indicated that the grounds, closed for almost a year, will probably be purchased for use as a park or general recreation area.

The Michigan Audubon Society's annual meeting will be Jan. 25-26 at Delta College, located in the Bay City, Saginaw, Midland Triangle.

Exhibited in the West Concourse will be a selection of water bird photographs by noted wildlife cameraman Allan D. Cruikshank. And arrangements are being completed for an exhibit of paintings by Arthur Singer from the book "BIRDS OF THE WORLD."

On Saturday afternoon, members—via an auto caravan—will journey to nearby Freeland High School to visit the Miller Empey Natural Science Room. This is a permanent home for the hundreds of birds and mammals which the late Mr. Empey collected and mounted.

The MAS bookshop, binocular sales and registration tables will be set up in the West Concourse.

All persons attending will receive a large selection of booklets, leaflets and other publications—from federal, state and industrial sources — dealing with many major conservation topics, including wilderness areas, national parks, water pollution, forest management, wildlife refuges and chemicals.

Routine Matters Before Commission

Beaver and otter trapping regulations for 1963, routine land matters and timber sale proposals will come up for consideration by the Conservation Commission Thursday and Friday during its meeting in Lansing.

Conservation Department game officials are recommending a generally more restrictive trapping season than a year ago, with regulations to again be set on an area basis to allow for differences in beaver and otter numbers throughout various sectors of the state.

Purchase of nearly 180 acres is proposed at Deford and Tuscola state game areas in the Thumb area. Much of the acreage will provide food and cover for deer, grouse, rabbits, pheasants and squirrels from a minimum amount of devolopment work.

Money to acquire these proposed public hunting lands would come from the Department's Pittman-Robertson budget, with federal funds covering 75 per cent of the costs.

Freed 3,125,000 Fish

Approximately 3,125,000 fish were planted in Michigan's inland lakes and streams by the Conservation Department during 1962.

Speculative Signs

Mart Irregular in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK — (AP) — In the week's heaviest trading, the stock market moved irregularly early this afternoon.

Signs of renewed speculative demand for specific issues mingled with profit-taking on recent gainers.

The market was mixed from the start as some trading profits were taken on the new year advance, but many stocks held firm or rose.

Volume of 2.35 million shares for the first two hours was the largest for that period this week. The ticker tape lagged.

Wall Street opinion was generally optimistic. The business news looked good and prospects for a tax cut figured prominently.

SOME AUTOS UP

Some of the auto stocks rose at the start. Chemicals, aerospace issues, tobaccos, and utilities maintained a slightly higher trend. Steels, oils, and rails drifted lower on balance.

American Telephone was active and up a point. Consolidated Edison and Consolidated Natural Gas added fractions.

Ford and Chrysler made fractional gains at the start, Chrysler touching another 1962-'63 high. When Ford's directors declared the regular 45-cent dividend, however, the stock sold off fractionally. Many Wall Streeters had looked for a dividend hike to 50 cents a share.

Bond Market Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond prices opened mixed to a shade lower today in quiet trading.

Over-the-counter dealers in U. S. government bonds quoted intermediates and long maturities unchanged to off 1/32 or 2/32 in some cases.

The new 4s of 1988-93, sold yesterday at competitive bidding, were quoted at 100 2/32 bid in when-issued trading. The reoffering price when the issue was sold yesterday was 100.

Rails edged higher in corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange but industrials and utilities were mixed.

Building's Up, Value's Down

Despite a 16 per cent increase over 1961 in building permits issued last year in Waterford Township, total valuation in 1961 was far higher.

A total of 1,176 permits were issued last year compared to 1,014 in 1961. Valuation of the 1962 permits was set at $6,570,326 or 32 per cent off the 1961 figure of $9,670,760.

Commercial permitting accounted for most of the $3,100,434 differential in total permit valuation during the two years.

Extensive shopping center development in 1961 was the basis for a commercial valuation of $3,491,740 on 33 permits. During the past year, 27 commercial permits were issued but their total valuation was just $740,734.

Residential building activity changed little during the two-year period. In 1961, some 244 permits for houses were issued at a valuation of $3,876,376. Last year, a valuation of $4,151,142 was set on the 240 housing permits.

Permits for additions to existing homes increased from 156 at $359,218 in 1961 to 198 at $430,883 during the past year.

Greater activity in garage building was also experienced in 1962 on 300 permits at $403,958 compared to the prior year's 257 permits at $335,150.

HOME REMODELING

Activity and valuation in home remodeling also increased during 1962 when 237 permits were issued at $253,043. In 1961, 187 home remodeling permits were issued at $208,616.

The single permit valued at $887,360 issued for the Central Methodist Church contributed substantially to the 1961 permit valuation total.

During the past year, two church permits were issued but the valuation amounted to just $77,800.

Only five swimming pool permits were issued during the two-year period; three in 1961 and two last year.

Valuation of the 1961 permits was set at $9,750, while the two issued this past year totaled $9,000.

The building department which also handles electrical and plumbing and heating permits issued a total of 4,548 permits during 1962 compared to 3,855 the previous year.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

The first international bridge match was played in 1935. The American team that defeated the French, who were then the champions of Europe, consisted of Howard Schenken, Michael T. Gottlieb, David Bruce and this writer. Our team, known as the Four Aces, won so handily that the next match was in 1950. This time we beat Great Britain. Howard and I were members of that team also, but I did not play. In between the time that we won our right to represent the United States and the match, I found myself back in uniform and over in Korea.

JACOBY

Howard and Peter Leventritt will be members of this year's American team and Howard's comment was, "It is a good omen to be playing with Jacoby again."

Of course, this time Jacoby is my son, Jim. I agree about the good omen and hope that when my newborn grandson reaches playing age, he will find himself on a team with Howard, someday.

★ ★ ★

Howard believes in showing strength quickly. Hence his jump response of two spades followed by his later jumps to four and six. On the way, Howard found time to show diamond support. Peter was able to count to thirteen tricks without much trouble. The game was duplicate. Since honors do not count in that game, Peter put the grand slam in no-trump which counts more than spades.

Disappeared 8 Months Ago

McKay Adventured in Paradise

BY BOB THOMAS
(AP) Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "Well, I thought I would pick up some money by appearing at a department store in Philadelphia. Then I went on the Bermuda yacht race and the whole thing snowballed. I just kept on going."

This was Gardner McKay's casual explanation of his eight-month disappearance from Hollywood. He spent that time on the waterfronts of the Caribbean and in the jungles of South America. Judging from his account of these travels, his life was almost as adventurous as anything he played in his television series, "Adventures in Paradise."

THOMAS

Lean, handsome McKay declined to fit the Hollywood mold from the start. The reason for his departure was more basic than he first stated. It stemmed from growing discord with his studio, 20th Century-Fox, after the series was concluded.

"One factor was a summer theater offer for $10,000 a week," he explained. "The studio said I could do it—at my regular salary, and they would get the rest.

"The other was the Marilyn Monroe picture, "Something's Got to Give.' They wanted me to do the old Randolph Scott role (in the original, 'My Favorite Husband'). I figured if I had acquired any value in three years on television, I was worth more than that."

TOOK OFF

So he took off. He kept on going, alone and virtually incognito behind a black beard that still hides much of his face. An expert sailor, he shipped aboard sailing vessels in the Caribbean. One of them sank with the loss of two men, he said.

His travels took him into the jungles of the Guianas, Venezuela and Brazil, often with only an Indian guide.

He said he found the monoplane of Jimmy Angel, discoverer of Angel Falls, who crashed-landed his plane nearby and walked out in the 1930s. McKay brought back a compass card from the plane as proof of his find and said that the craft was remarkably well preserved.

He found he could write for the first time and he filled notebooks with his experiences and reflections. He has already sold articles to a sports magazine and may get a travelogue out of his movie film. He also is resuming his acting career, now that he is free of his Fox contract. To signal his return to civilization, he bought Tony Curtis's Rolls-Royce.

Heart Unit Elects Chairman for 1963

The Greater Pontiac Heart Unit of the Michigan Heart Association has elected Dr. Murray B. Levin, of Pontiac, as its chairman for 1963.

The election took place Monday at a luncheon at the Fox and Hounds in Bloomfield Hills.

Josephine Seeley, a registered nurse and director of the Pontiac School District's health education department, was elected secretary.

Pontiac Schools to Start Annual Clothing Collection

Pontiac public schools again will aim at collecting 20,000 pounds of wearables this year in their sixth annual clothing drive.

The drive is to be held from Jan. 14 to 18.

Last year, the schools collected 14,415 pounds of clothing, according to Perry Ninotti, principal of Willis Elementary School and publicity chairman of the drive.

During the drive, pupils in kindergarten through grade 12 will take home to their parents information regarding the type of clothing needed, Ninotti said.

FOR PONTIAC CHILDREN

All of the used clothing collected will benefit the Pontiac school children. Clothing gathered during the drive will be distributed to one of three local charitable organizations.

The agencies, acting as clearing houses for the Pontiac school system are: the Salvation Army, 29 West Lawrence Street; St. Vincent de Paul Society, 11 West Wilson Street; and Dorcas Society, Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 168 Mt. Clemens St.

After gathering of bundles at the city's 27 elementary and 7 secondary schools, the maintenance department takes over distributing the clothes to the respective agencies.

During the year, clothing is made available to needy children in the school district. The teacher or principal is usually first to notice that a student needs shoes or a winter coat.

Persons having clothing to contribute, who don't have children in school, may call the nearest school. Collection will be made by either the school or PTA.

Madison Heights Bachelor Dies in Home Blaze

MADISON HEIGHTS — A 27-year-old bachelor died early this morning in a fire which damaged the two-family home in which he lived with his twin brother.

An autopsy was to be performed today on the body of Gaylord Adams at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, to determine the cause of death.

His twin brother, Sheldon, was treated for first and second degree burns at the same hospital.

Local firemen said the fire started in a space heater in the living room and spread to the two downstairs bedrooms where the two men were sleeping. No estimate of damage was immediately available.

As time goes by,
We miss you more.
Your loving smile,
Your gentle face.
No one can fill your vacant place.
Sadly missed by Husband, Joe, children, and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF GLEN F. Allen who passed away Jan. 9, 1961.

The hill too steep to climb
He gently closed his weary eyes
And whispered, peace be thine.

Mary Martin's Sailing Woe: 'Can't Read About Strike'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "The only place that has any more strikes than New York," somebody said, "is a bowling alley" . . . Anyway, Mary Martin and her husband Dick Halliday have been scheduled to depart for Brazil on a Swedish freighter since Dec. 28. They're waiting for the dock strike to end, but, says Mary, "we can't find out much about it—due to the newspaper strike."

WILSON

Sammy Davis and May Britt—who have a small daughter of their own and an adopted son—will adopt a little girl in the fall, Sammy revealed to me at the Copacabana. "We want to have three of our own and to adopt three," Sammy said. "We feel that people who can afford to do it should adopt several." Their adopted son, Mark, 2, saw Sammy's show at the Copa the other dinnertime—Proprietor Jules Podell having made the show earlier so Mark could watch it before falling off to sleep.

The revival of "Telstar" by New Jersey scientists has also brought back George DeWitt's line about it. George asked an expert, "Can that little satellite really cost $18 million?" The "expert" allegedly answered: "No, the satellite only cost 15c . . . all the rest of the money was spent for the extension cord."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The "in-the-know rumor" persists that some Broadway producers—to boost their shows during the newspaper shutdown—are using actors to "shill" for them. They allegedly stand in line and pretend to be ticket-buyers thus making shows seem extremely popular . . . Choo-Choo Colins, who already has a pretty crazy name, is trying out for the role of "Ginger Gluckenschmidt" in Padula's "The Student Gypsy" . . . Maureen O'Sullivan's daughter, Mia, 17, one of her six children, came here from England to see her mom emote in "Never Too Late"—and decided to stay and try to become an actress.

Is Perry Como going in the bullring? He just might! At least he's investigating the possibility of doing a TV show from Mexico City (as from Guantanamo recently). On the latter visit, he had a fighter plane escort. One sailor said, "Perry, we're using more planes for you than were used for the revolution."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: After reading that Joseph Kennedy has either $400 million or $600 million, Nipsy Russell says at Basin St. East, "He's so rich, he can write a check and make the bank bounce."

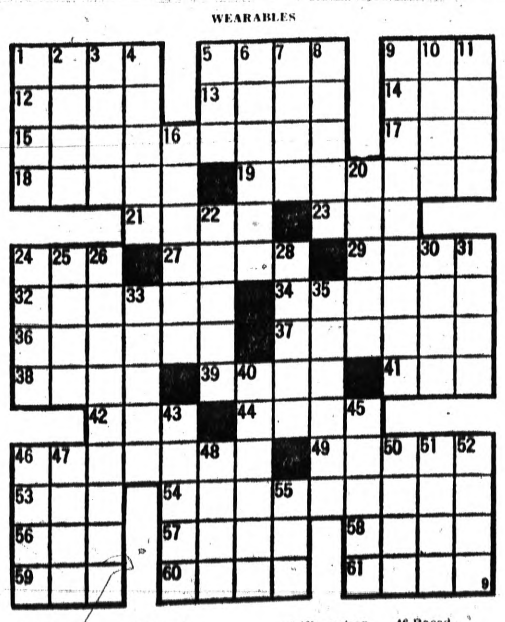

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Times of London has an ad for "My Fair Lady" which urgently nudges ticket buyers: "LAST TWO YEARS . . ."

EARL'S PEARLS: A good way to get away from it all nowadays, opines Herb Stein, is to visit any Hollywood movie studio.

Despite the expense account crackdown, one big spender is still spending money like it was water. Showgirl Taffy Tuttle explained, "That's right . . . a drop at a time" . . . That's earl, brother.

Receives Prison Term for Accepting Money

A 38-year-old Pontiac man was sentenced to 7½ to 20 years in prison Monday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams for accepting some $135 from the earnings of a prostitute Oct. 1.

Nathaniel Moore, of 23 Chapman St., was found guilty of the charge by a Circuit Court jury Dec. 20.

DIES IN CRASH — Mrs. Lois Reid, 45, of Clio, was killed yesterday when the car, occupied by she and her husband, Elwin, 46, rammed a freight train at a crossing on the southeast edge of Flint. Reid was hospitalized with a possible leg fracture and other injuries.

Former Official Dies in Detroit

Served in State Posts Under Six Governors

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Betty Allie, a former state commissioner of labor and industry, died Monday in a Detroit nursing home. She was 69 and had been ill two years.

She was the widow of Reuben (Roob) Allie, former Detroit newsman and publicist for the New York Central Railroad.

Mrs. Allie first was named labor and industry commissioner by Gov. Frank Fitzgerald in 1935 and reappointed by Gov. Harry Kelly in 1943.

She also had held state posts under four other governors and long was in charge of the Buick stenographic department at Flint when Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris asked her to come to Lansing as his secretary. She accepted.

Gov. Albert E. Sleeper appointed her executive secretary in the governor's office and secretary to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles in 1917.

In 1927, Gov. Fred Green appointed her superintendent of private employment agencies.

Survivors include a son, Franklin Wallace Allie, a Merchant Marine captain; a brother, Robert Wallace of Moran; and a sister, Mrs. Elson Leonard of Flint.

Funeral service will be held in Detroit Friday at 1 p.m. Burial will be in Davison

Meeting at City Hall

Planners Studying Rezoning

A public hearing on a proposal to rezone 50-acre South Park Subdivision from Residential-2 and -3 classifications to Manufacturing-1, will be held tonight before the Pontiac Planning Commission.

★ ★ ★

The move was suggested by city planners and commission members at last month's meeting, as a step toward boosting the city's dwindling supply of vacant land available for industrial development.

The motion came after an earlier request to rezone part of the subdivision for construction of single-family dwellings was denied.

Planners have long felt the land is an ideal position for industrial use, lying directly north of GMC Truck & Coach Division.

The subdivision consists of about 350 lots, all but 12 of them vacant. The 12 existing homes are all inhabited.

LACKS SEWERS

About a half-dozen parties own land in the subdivision, which has gone undeveloped largely because it lacks adequate sewer facilities. That problem can be licked when the city's new sewage treatment plant opens.

The area recommended for rezoning is bounded by South Boulevard, East Boulevard, the Michigan Airline Railroad tracks and Bradford Street.

Following the hearing tonight, the planning commission will forward its recommendation on the proposed rezoning to the City Commission for further action.

Tonight's hearing tops a lengthy agenda for the planning group's January meeting at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

Also to be considered is a request from Frank L. Slaybaugh to rezone from Residential-1 to Manufacturing-1 a six-acre parcel he owns on the northeast side of Oakland Avenue.

PLANS AUTO WASH

The land lies south of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad Belt Line with about 300 feet of frontage on Oakland. The owner wants to build an auto wash on the site.

Planners will also consider a request to rezone the southeast corner of South Boulevard and Franklin Road from commercial to manufacturing.

A hearing is slated on a revised request to rezone a parcel at the southeast corner of Glendale Street and Telegraph Road to commercial for attorneys' offices.

A previous recommendation to deny the rezoning was returned to planners for further study by the City Commission.

Also to be acted on are requests to vacate alleys lying between Lounsbury and Montcalm, Blaine to Stanley; between Walton and Lehigh, from University west to an existing alley; and at the northwest corner of Oakland and Wisner.

Three zoning ordinances already tentatively okayed by the City Commission are to be reviewed by the planning group before final approval by city commissioners.

Venus May Be Windy Desert

Studies Reveal Heat Around 600 Degrees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radar and radio studies of Venus have etched this apparent picture of that mysterious planet: a waterless desert swept by winds of hundreds of miles an hour and a temperature of around 600 degrees Fahrenheit.

The picture results from astronomical research done by the Naval Research Laboratory here and the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., the Washington Post reported this week.

How accurate a picture it is will be at least partly determined when the bulk of the information gathered by the U.S. Mariner 2 satellite is evaluated and made public, possibly later this month.

★ ★ ★

The Post story said scientists at the naval laboratory here determined by means of a radio telescope that there is little if any water in the atmosphere around Venus, suggesting a temperature of 600 degrees, far too hot for human life as it's known on earth.

Radar signals bounced off Venus by the scientists at the California laboratory indicated the surface of Venus is more like a desert than an ocean.

Delta College Group to Study Link to U. of M.

SAGINAW (AP) — The Delta College board of trustees last night appointed a committee to meet with representatives of the University of Michigan to weigh the possibilities of establishing a U. of M. campus at Delta.

★ ★ ★

Delta College, a two-year community college serving Saginaw, Midland and Bay counties, has sought unsuccessfully to gain recognition by the state legislature as a four-year, degree-granting institution.

Chamber Exec Blasts Mackie

HOUGHTON (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie was the verbal target for Harry R. Hall, executive secretary of the State Chamber of Commerce, in a talk advocating approval of the proposed state new constitution at Houghton last night.

Hall told the Houghton-Hancock Chamber of Commerce that Mackie and his public relations staff has made a determined effort to build up an image of a great road-builder.

Because of his opposition to the new constitution, he will soon be known as "the great road-blocker," Hall said.

★ ★ ★

"This occurs at a time when Michigan is at long last on the road to a heretofore unequaled economic revival," Hall said, "at a time when all controllable and uncontrollable forces that determine economic growth are pulling in the same direction—all except 'Mr. Mackie's lackies' and the strange combination of self-seeking bedfellows who fight against the unavoidable improvements so necessary for our advancement."

JUDGE H. RUSSEL HOLLAND

Judge Holland Gives Notice of Retirement

Notifies State Today After 27 Years Service in County Circuit Court

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland said this morning he would submit his retirement application today to Gov. George W. Romney and the state retirement board.

Judge Holland said he has listed Feb. 15 as the effective date of his retirement after 27 years on the county's circuit bench.

The jurist will become eligible for retirement Jan. 17, the 65th anniversary of his birthday.

His retirement application already has been filed with the county's retirement commission, he said.

Reason for his decision to retire, the judge said, is that "the tempo of the times is getting too fast for me."

Referring to the heavy case load at the courthouse, Judge Holland said the county needed two more circuit judges to handle cases properly.

He said the fact that his health has not been good since an operation about two years ago was "a minor factor" in his decision.

The county's other four circuit judges have tried to persuade Judge Holland not to retire now. He had been expected for several months to anounce his retirement after Jan. 1.

SUPREME COURT PROSPECT

Some of the judges indicated Judge Holland may be considered a good prospect for appointment in the future to a Michigan Supreme Court vacancy or to the new state appellate court that would be established if the proposed new state constitution is approved.

"I'm quite appreciative of the fact that I've been permitted to serve as a circuit judge in the county for 27 years," Judge Holland said.

"I have no ambitions about appointment to a higher court, but if my services were asked, I would feel not only glad but obligated to help out."

With Judge Holland's retire-

Tshombe Ends Katanga War Against U.N.

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, The Congo—Katanga President Moise Tshombe announced an end to his war against the United Nations today and said he was ready to talk peace with the Congolese central government.

But even with the agreement in Katanga, the turbulent Congo still was without peace as a full-scale tribal war was reported raging in a diamond-rich Kasai province. More than 370 Lulua tribesmen and two whites were reported killed in the fighting, with unofficial sources saying the toll was far higher.

Travelers returning from Kasai told United Press International this morning that "you can see strings of burning villages from the air, where the slaughtering rages among the tribes."

Confirmation of the fighting was messaged to the central government capital of Leopoldville by Congolese Army Maj. Gen. Victor Lundula.

Europeans in the area surrounding the Kasai capital of Luluabourg said the death toll is much higher than reported. Other sources placed it at between 600 and 800.

Congolese Minister of Interior Cleophas Kamitatu said in a radio broadcast last night that the "situation (in Kasai) is becoming more and more explosive."

NO U.N. CONNECTION

There appeared to be no connection between the fighting in Kasai, which is the province just north of Katanga, and the recent battle between U.N. and Katangese forces in Tshombe's secessionist area.

The only link appeared to be that the withdrawal of U.N.

Death Claims O. L. Beaudette

Son of Auto Pioneer Succumbs Here at 71

O. Leo Beaudette, son of one of Pontiac's pioneer automobile industrialists, died suddenly of a heart attack at his residence 269 W. Huron St. yesterday. He was 71.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Beaudette, he was born in Pontiac on April 10, 1891 and received his early education here.

After attending the University of Michigan he was associated with his father in the Beaudette Body Co.

The Beaudette plant, founded in January 1890, first manufactured furniture, metal stampings, buggies, cutters, carts and other horse-drawn vehicles.

After Henry Ford had incorporated his Highland Park company in 1903, the Beaudettes built bodies for the automobile firm for the next 10 years.

SOLD TO FISHER

Two-and-a-half million bodies were produced here during the period. Fisher Body purchased the company in 1922 and was in turn absorbed by the giant of

WKC to Occupy Vacant Site on N. Saginaw

Jack J. Wainger, president of WKC, Inc., announced today that the firm's showroom and offices will be housed in the building formerly occupied by the Homade Restaurant, 144 N. Saginaw St.

It will serve as temporary headquarters until WKC is rebuilt. The home outfitting and jewelry firm was gutted by a $230,000 fire Monday night.

Wainger said all business transactions will be conducted at the new address, to be open as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

Plans are under way now to rebuild the WKC building at the present location at a cost exceeding $200,000.

Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles Metz today continued his investigation fro the cause of the fire that gutted the one-story building.

JFK Meets Today With Russian Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy meets with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov today in the first high level U.S.-Soviet discussion since the formal windup of the Cuban missile crisis.

Kuznetsov's White House date is for late afternoon. He has a noon appointment Thursday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk to be followed by a luncheon at the State Department.

U.S. authorities said no special agenda has been set up for the talks with Kuznetsov, who has been in New York since October representing the U.S.S.R. in the negotiations for a Cuba crisis settlement.

★ ★ ★

The negotiations officially ended Monday with a joint U.S.-Soviet report to the United Nations saying the two sides were unable to resolve all the problems over Cuba, but voicing hope for future "adjustment of other difficulties."

FOCUSES ON ISSUES

Since the crisis began the United States has focused on the Cuban issues in its diplomatic dealings with the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Now, U.S. officials say, the way is open for a wider range of discussions. Kuznetsov, scheduled to head back for Moscow Friday, is in a position to carry back to the Kremlin a fresh impression of Kennedy's views.

Among the subjects deemed likely to come up at the White House meeting are disarmament and nuclear testing. The United States and the Soviet Union have made little progress toward solving either problem.

The United States also is concerned about recent Communist attacks on American relief-carrying planes in Laos.

Washington also wants the Soviet Union to remove its military establishment in Cuba. Some 17,000 Soviet military personnel are reported to be still on the island.

Predict High of 36 in City Tomorrow

Mostly cloudy skies with slightly colder temperatures is the area weather picture for tomorrow. A high of 36 is predicted.

A low of 32 with mostly cloudy skies is the forecast for this evening.

Temperatures for the next five days are expected to average near the normal high of 30-34 and the normal low of 13 to 21.

Precipitation will total from four to six-tenths of an inch mostly as snow Friday and Saturday, and a few flurries at other times.

★ ★ ★

The lowest temperature recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 33. At 1 p.m. the mercury measured 42.

Realtors Urged to Sell More

Pontiac realtors heard a dynamic sales pep talk last night by W. Heartsill Wilson, former assistant general sales manager of Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth Division, who urged them to work from 5 'til 11 instead of 8 to 5 if they really want to be successful.

He spoke at the 47th annual banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors, attended by over 400 at the Elks Temple.

Last year's president, Raymond L. O'Neil turned the gavel over to his newly elected successor, Robert C. Irwin.

A plaque in testimony of outstanding service and a portable radio were presented to O'Neil.

Other 1963 officers installed along with Irwin included Thomas Bateman as vice president; former Mayor Philip Rowston, secretary; and Kenneth G. Hempstead, treasurer.

Named directors, along with Irwin, Bateman and Rowston, were M. A. Benson Jr., James Clarkson, John K. Irwin, Ward E. Partridge, Edward A. Maier, John P. Niggeman, John Q. Waddell, O'Neil and Helen Hagstrom.

The Realtor of the Year Award and accompanying plaque were presented to Bateman.

May Not Seat Michigan Dem

LANSING (AP) — A partisan squabble over Republican refusal to seat a new Democratic house member charged with violating election laws threatened today to mar the opening session of the 1963 Michigan Legislature at noon today.

An atmosphere of bipartisen harmony for the opening of the session was upset late yesterday when house Republicans, in an organizational caucus, voted in favor of a resolution which would bar taking of the oath by Leonard Walton of Detroit.

Walton, elected Nov. 6 from the Wayne County 12th District, faces trial next month on charges of violating election laws by listing himself falsely as an incumbent on campaign literature.

Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, who was nominated as speaker of the house by unanimous vote in the caucus, said the resolution will be introduced immediately after the 72nd legislature convenes at noon.

Angry Democrats were expected to decide on a course of action when they held their own organizational caucus for the house this morning.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D Detroit, house minority leader, termed the Republican plan "ridiculous" and said he thought the matter should wait until it is resolved in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Kowalski said he wasn't sure what Democrats would do about the GOP resolution.

"They have no right to do this," he said angrily. "Maybe nobody will be seated at all."

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATION

Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, nominated as GOP floor leader by the caucus, will introduce the resolution, calling for a five-member, bipartisan committee to conduct an investigation of the Walton case and make a ruling by Jan. 24.

GOP leaders said the house has the right to refuse to seat any member before he takes the oath of office, by majority vote of a quorum which has been sworn in.

If Waton is refused his seat,

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 88th Congress opens its doors today for a politically charged showdown on the reception it intends to give President Kennedy's legislative program.

The President called Democratic leaders to a White House breakfast for a last-minute review of his proposals before the formal convening of Congress at noon.

In both Houses, new members will be sworn in as the new session gets under way.

After that session, House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, speaking for the group of top party men from both branches, said Kennedy was assured every effort wil be made to put through a constructive program that will strengthen the country both at home and abroad.

McCormack also said the President was advised House leaders were very hopeful of winning the first contest in that branch, over the plan for a permanent expansion of the Rules Committee to 15 members to give the group a liberal leaning.

All House members begin new two-year terms, and on the other side of Capitol Hill, 41 newcomers will take the senatorial oaths.

Additional Stories on Page B-8

NEW LINEUP

The new House lineup will be 258 Democrats, 176 Republicans and one Democratic vacancy. Democrats will have a 67-33 edge in the Senate.

That's a net loss of two Democratic House seats and a net gain of three Senate Democrats who lean toward the liberal side.

The House then goes through the motion of re-electing Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., as its speaker. Republicans put up their party leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, as a candidate foredoomed to defeat.

★ ★ ★

With the preliminaries out of the way, the House plunges into a battle Kennedy is favored to win over the size and political complexion of the Rules Committee, which calls the signals for action on major legislation.

A decision was expected by midafternoon on whether to fix

Science Flop Foils Mona Lisa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mona Lisa is a sight to behold, but it must be related with sadness today that her American debut was spoiled by a failure of science.

The loudspeaker system in the marble-halled National Gallery of Art, where President Kennedy introduced her Tuesday night amid hands across the sea felicitations with France, could not cope with the acoustics.

The result was that a gorgeously dressed lady in the front row of VIPs, not 25 feet from Mona, registered a complaint at a crucial moment.

"I cannot," she said, "hear a word."

This was when a linguistic expert was translating remarks in which Andre Malraux, French minister of cultural affairs, was trying to soive the enigma of Mona Lisa's smile.

★ ★ ★

Da Vinci, a man of science as well as an artist, might have been able to do something about the technical defects Tuesday night, but nobody on the scene could.

First failure came when President and Mrs. Kennedy arrived at the gallery after eating dinner at the French ambassador's.

The elevator failed to work. Mrs. Kennedy had to hitch up her long pink chiffon dress, a strapless number embroidered with pearls and brilliants, and hiked up the broad marble stairs.

So also did Mme. Malraux, looking like a Renaissance picture in a black velvet dress with a rope of pearls looping down to her waist.

★ ★ ★

When it came Kennedy's turn, he realized that he must talk real loud and he did so. He paid tribute to France, "the leading artistic power in the world."

★ ★ ★

With a bit of a joke about President Charles de Gaulle, who pursues a tenaciously independent course among Western allies, Kennedy said:

"I want to make it clear that we will continue to press ahead with the effort to develop an independent artistic force and power of our own."

Gerald R. Ford New Chairman of GOP Caucus

WASHINGTON (AP)— Michigan's 49-year-old Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Grand Rapids is the new chairman of the House Republican caucus, having been elevated to that post yesterday by GOP Congressmen demanding more representation in party councils for new members.

In an upset, Ford was elected over 67-year-old Rep. Charles B. Hoeven of Iowa, a House veteran of 20 years and caucus chairman since 1957.

Ford won 86-78 in a secret ballot of Republican House members. Two GOP members did not vote.

The campaign for Ford was led by Rep. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York. They told newsmen their sole objective was to give newer members more representation in GOP councils and said they had no quarrel with

Judge Candidates Headed for Positions

Both leading candidates for the vacancy on Oakland County's Circuit bench that will open up when Judge H. Russel Holland retires Feb. 15 appear headed for county circuit judgeships.

But, which of the two — Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore or Royal Oak attorney James S. Thorburn — is more likely to be appointed by Gov. George W. Romney to succeed Judge Holland is something only Romney knows.

The other is expected to be appointed to a new circuit judgeship the State Legislature is expected to create for the county during its 1963 session.

Judge Moore, 61, who has built a reputation in youth work and reducing juvenile delinquency that reaches beyond state borders during his 24 years as county probate judge, has the solid support of the Republican county organization for Judge Holland's post.

★ ★ ★

It would be neither new nor particularly surprising, however, if Gov. Romney declines to follow the GOP's recommendation.

MAY FAVOR THORBURN

There are indications that Romney may favor the 44-year-old Thorburn for the vacancy.

A Royal Oak Board of Education vice president who never has sought county or state office and who has not been active in Republican party affairs in the past, Thorburn was chairman of Oakland County Lawyers for Romney during the governor's campaign.

Thorburn is president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

Both Judge Moore and Thorburn live on Vinsetta Boulevard in Royal Oak — Judge Moore at 1407 and Thorburn at 2600.

If Judge Moore is appointed either to the vacancy left by Judge Holland or later to the new judgeship, County Corporation Counsel Norman R. Barnard may take his place on the probate bench.

Barnard has been mentioned as the leading prospect to fill such a vacancy.

Judge Holland today urged at least one and preferably two more circuit judgeships for the county to handle the ever-increasing case load.

One is needed to permit judges to spend more time on each case, Judge Holland said, and another to help reduce the case load.

Although creation of a new circuit judgeship for the county by the legislature is considered definite, reports indicate the possibility of two more circuit judgeships instead of just one, along with a third probate judgeship for the county.

DISCUSS SIXTH JUDGE

County Board of Supervisors Chairman Delos Hamlin said the need for a sixth circuit judge has been discussed informally by supervisors and "it is taken for granted there is a definite need."

Although the supervisors have taken no formal action recommending a new circuit judgeship and are not expected to, Hamlin said he did not think there would be any objections to a move by the legislature.

A new judgeship would cost the county between $50,000 and $100,000 a year.

Judge Holland's successor would serve in the $23,500 circuit judiciary post until the November 1964, general election.

Judge Moore's moving to the Circuit bench would make Probate Judge Donald E. Adams the senior probate judge.

First elected to the second probate judgeship in 1960 after it was created, Judge Adams was re-elected to a four-year term in November.

Judge Gives State Retirement Notice

ment, an era will end. For 20 years—Jan. 1, 1936, to Jan. 1, 1956—the Oakland County Circuit Court was Judge Holland, Judge Frank L. Doty and Judge George B. Hartrick.

The three built a reputation for the county circuit judiciary as the finest in the state, according to Judge Holland's four contemporaries on the county bench today.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams joined the three, becoming the county's fourth circuit judge, on Jan. 1, 1956.

Judge Hartrick died suddenly Aug. 12, 1958. Judge Doty retired in 1959 after 32 years on the bench and died Jan. 11, 1962.

Judge Holland and Judge Hartrick were first elected to the circuit bench in 1935, taking office Jan. 1, 1936.

OTHER SERVICES

He had been Pontiac municipal judge from 1931 to 1935, and was the city's parttime associate municipal judge from 1929 to 1930.

Judge Holland's court clerk, Sam Cooney, and court officer, Stanley Kevern, also will be retiring, effective Jan. 31.

Cooney, a lawyer who will be 65 in May, volunteered to help out in Judge Holland's court one day eight years ago and stayed on as court clerk.

Kevern, 68, Bloomfield Hills chief of police for 27 years before his retirement there, has been court officer for five years.

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) —State Sen. Laurin W. Jones admitted today that government is becoming complicated. The Dodge City Republican is chairman of the committee on committees.

Dems Await Tax Reform by Romney

LANSING (AP)—Democratic party leaders yesterday proposed a six-point program of "immediate priority" legislation but told Gov. Romney, in effect, that the first move on state fiscal and tax reform is up to him.

They urged the Republican governor to offer his fiscal reform program in specific terms as soon as possible, and said April should be a tentative deadline for enactment.

On the eve of the 1963 legislative session, the Democrats—with Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski serving as chief spokesman — declared themselves willing to work for accomplishment of any legislation "which will serve the best interests of the state" without regard to who proposes it or gets the ultimate credit.

"We are offering the olive branch to Romney," said Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, last year's House minority floor leader.

Lesinski said the Democratic party's position on fiscal reform is based on a belief that the time is ripe for sweeping changes that will result in a more equitable distribution of taxes from various sources.

"We are awaiting action from Gov. Romney on the question of fiscal reform," said Lesinski. "We do not want to form our own specifics until we see what he offers and what we can support."

However, the lieutenant governor said Democrats almost certainly would oppose continuance of the so-called "nuisance" taxes, the business activities tax and other "stop-gap" levies, and seek to gain revenue from sources that would take pressure off cities to pass income taxes, such as a state income tax.

"Our position is to see that lower income people get relief. We intend to do whatever we can to assist Gov. Romney to bring about fiscal reform," he said. "We would want these points to be included, in essence, in fiscal reform, but we don't want to jeopardize the chances for compromise."

In more recent years Mr. Beaudette was engaged in the investment business.

Although they were not accepted by the city in 1956, Mr. Beaudette offered to deed his home and eight acres of land in the block bounded by West Huron, Williams, West Pike and Franklin Boulevard if the entire block were eventually converted to a city park.

He was a former vestryman of All Saints Episcopal Church where he had been a life member; a past president of Bloomfield Hills Country Club and a member of Orchard Lake Country Club.

During World War II, Mr. Beaudette served as chairman of the drive to collect scrap metal for the government.

Mr. Beaudette leaves his wife, Adrienne; a daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Wilson of Clarkston; two sons, Palmer T. of Santa Ynez, Calif., and Bruce L. of Santa Barbara, Calif.; 13 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Arrangements are pending at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home. The family suggests any memorials be made to the Heart Association.

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germans consumed 1,320,000 gallons of beer during the 12 months ending Sept. 30, 1962. This is an average of 23¼ gallons per head of population. High spirited Bavarians accounted for 30 per cent of the total.

SURPRISE WINNER — Rep. Gerald of Michigan (right) talks to reporters yesterday after he was elected chairman of the House Republican caucus. Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, is beside him.

the membership of the committee at 15.

OUTVOTE ASSURANCE

This would give Kennedy nominal assurance that liberal-leaning representatives could outvote a conservative coalition of Democrats and Republicans and thus get major administration measures before the House.

The alternative would be return to a 12-member lineup with the conservatives in control.

Kennedy has said the fate of his legislative program could hinge on the makeup of the committee. As for the House as a whole, he has said that it is "slightly against us more than it was" in the last Congress.

The bright spot for Kennedy was the Senate. But easy going in the Senate would do the administration little good if the House blocked its proposals.

A coalition of liberal Senate Democrats and Republicans has delayed seeking a rules change which would make it easier to stop filibusters against civil rights and other measures.

It plans to move after Kennedy delivers his State of the Union message to Congress next Monday.

LIKELY FILIBUSTER

Since Southern opponents expected to filibuster against this rules move, there was little likelihood of reaching any early decision on a proposal to give a majority of the 100 members the right to end debate.

Presently this can be accomplished only by a two-thirds majority of those voting.

In preliminary action, younger, House Republicans ousted 67-year-old Rep. Charles Hoeven of Iowa Tuesday and replaced him with 49-year-old Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan as chairman of their party's caucus.

Caucusing Senate Democrats hoped to retain their leadership intact under Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. However, Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida submitted his resignation as secretary of the party conference. Mansfield and other leaders asked him to reconsider a special election will be held in his district to fill the vacancy.

OTHER PREPARATIONS

Aside from the Walton issue, lawmakers prepared for the 1963 session in an atmosphere described by one as "cautious bipartisanship" and with predictions of a long and productive session.

For the first time in 14 years, the legislature will meet with the same party controlling both houses and the governor's office as well.

Aides to Republican Gov. Romney expressed satisfaction with the outcome of the GOP caucus which, in addition to Green and Waldron, selected Rep. Wilford G. Bassett, R-Jackson, to retain his post of speaker pro tempore, and named Rep. Martin D. Buth, R-Comstock Park, as assistant floor leader.

"It looks like able and intelligent leadership in both houses and we are looking forward to a productive session," said an aide to the Governor.

In an earlier GOP caucus in the senate, self-styled Republican "moderates" gained control of key posts and pledged their support for Romney.

Business Assn. Elects Board

Unanimously Select Slate of Directors

The Downtown Pontiac Business Association last night elected a new board of directors during a meeting at the Waldon Hotel.

The entire slate submitted by the nominating committee was unanimously elected.

Chosen for three-year terms were Cliff Grovogel, manager of Waite's Department Store; John Riley, secretary and advertising director of The Pontiac Press; Howard Nelson, manager of the Sears Roebuck & Co. store here; Stuart Whitfield, vice president of the Pontiac State Bank, and John Waddell, Pontiac realtor.

GET 2-YEAR TERMS

Selected for two-year terms were Sid Barnett, proprietor of Barnett's Clothing Shop; Roger Rummel, assistant cashier at Community National Bank; Harold Muldowny, manager of the Riker Building; Harold Jacobsen Jr. of Jacobson's Floral Shop; and Wayne McCandless of McCandless Carpets.

★ ★ ★

Elected to one-year terms were John Butterfield of Dawson & Butterfield Insurance Co.; Joel Goldberg of Thomas Jewelry Co.; Lyneer Spees, manager of Arthur's Women's Apparel-Shoe shop, Monroe Osmun of Osmun's Mens Wear store, and George Surowitz of George's department store.

Tshombe's apparent capitulation came after he hinted that sabotage might still be used to combat unification by force.

Delay Public Hearing on Bloomfield Zoning

BLOOMFIELD HILLS—A public hearing on Bloomfield Hills' long-awaited zoning ordinance will be delayed while city officials study proposed changes in the new document.

Revisions to the proposed ordinance, which will set land uses in all sections of the city, were presented to city commissioners last night.

Commissioners agreed to schedule a joint meeting with the City Planning Commission in order to review the suggested changes.

The meeting will be held before the next regular city commission session Feb .12.

★ ★ ★

The suggested zoning revisions were not made public, according to City Clerk Robert Stadler.

TO SET HEARING

A public hearing date will be set by the commission after the revisions are studied. It was believed earlier that a hearing would be scheduled by the commission last night.

The City Commission also asked planning commissioners not to adopt Bloomfield Hills' just-completed master plan until details of the zoning ordinance are settled.

Installation ceremonies for Birmingham Temple No. 94, Pythian Sisters, will not be held until 8 p.m. Jan. 16, according to the chapter's press correspondent, Mrs. Stella D. Edgar. It was announced yesterday that the ceremony would be held tonight.

David Craighead, organist, will be the second artist to appear in the St. James Concert Series Jan. 22 at 8:15 p.m. at St. James Episcopal Church, 355 W. Maple Road.

Craighead is head of the organ department at the Eastman School of Music and organist at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Rochester, N.Y.

The Columbus Boys Choir will appear next in the concert series March 1.

Fred Bennett

Fred Bennett, 69, of 1732 E. Maple Road, died unexpectedly last night in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. His body is at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

The former owner of an automobile repair shop in Birmingham, Mr. Bennett is survived by his wife Josephine, two sisters and one brother.

Gerald Ford Gets GOP Post

Republican leadership in the House.

★ ★ ★

It was the first battle in recent history for the caucus chairmanship, and while he took no open part in the Ford-Hoeven contest, House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana was reported by sources close to him to have favored Hoeven.

FIRST OPEN SPLIT

Election of Ford was the first open display of dissension in Republican ranks since Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts was replaced as majority leader by Halleck four years ago.

Backers of Ford quickly won another victory — without a fight—when they obtained more representation on the Republican policy committee there will be three additional members each with voting rights.

In the past, each so-called "class" or group of new members was given one seat on the committee, but no voting rights.

Under a complicated new formula for elections to the 33-man policy committee, House members first elected in the last three elections will get two members each, instead of one.

Traditionally, members elected in the last five elections could name only one policy committee each from their "classes."

Under the new plan, any "class" with 21 to 40 members will get two spots. Those first elected in 1954 and 1956 will retain only one spot, since fewer than 20 Republicans first elected in those years still are in the House.

Early excise taxes were levied on distilled spirits, carriages, refined sugar, snuff and snuff mills, property sold at auction, bonds and slaves.

Airlines to Stop Fines of 'No-Show' Patrons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The major airlines have decided to stop fining persons who fail to cancel reservations they don't use. But they will continue fining themselves for selling too many tickets for a flight.

The controversial "no-show" penalty, which levied a $5-$40 fine on passengers who neither showed up nor canceled their tickets, will die Feb. 1, eight months after it started.

But the airlines agreed to continue paying fines to passengers who hold reserved space but are "bumped" from a flight because the airline has overbooked it.

A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) spokesman said yesterday that all 11 major domestic carriers have filed an agreement extending the over-booking penalty indefinitely after its present expiration date of Feb. 1.

The agreement made no mention of the "no-show" penalty, which ends the same date.

Industry spokesman gave four main reasons for the death of the plan:

—Some airlines refused to continue the plan unless the local service carriers participated, which they refused to do.

—Not all the major airlines were in favor of the plan to begin with.

—Most airlines said the penalty reduced "no-shows" from about 10 per cent of all passengers to 5 per cent, but several felt the costs of administering it outweighed the revenues.

—Most of the carriers found passengers frequently irate about the penalty, resulting in collection difficulties and ill will.

Prices Mixed, Up Slightly

Market Mills in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market milled in heavy trading early today. Prices were mixed with a slightly higher tendency.

Changes of most kev stocks were fractional.

Ford and Chrysler edged up fractionally, Chrysler touching another new 1962-'63 high. General Motors eased from the latest historic peak it reached in yesterday's vigorous market rally.

Profits were being taken mildly, brokers said, but there were signs of active buying as well. A number of leading issues opened on sizable blocks.

★ ★ ★

U.S. smelting, which rose more than 20 points in three weeks until it dropped 3¼ yesterday, was subject to renewed selling and fell about 3. A dissident stockholder group was reported to have bought large amounts of the stock.

★ ★ ★

Kansas City Southern Industries continued to meet demand, rising another point.

Steels had a slight edge to the upside, with movements small. Rails were narrowly mixed, with many leaders unchanged. Tobaccos were higher, Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco posting small gains.

Opening blocks included: GM, unchanged at 60⅛ on 7,700 shares; Chrysler, up ½ at 79 on 7,000; Brunswick, up ⅛ at 20¼ on 4,300; and Ford, up ⅜ at 47¼ on 4,000.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included Paddington "A," Molybdenum, Heli-Coil, Aerojet-general, and Brazilian Traction. Among losers were Creole Petroleum and Aeronca.
