Glass and Porcelain Dress Up New Hospital

Pontiac Press Photo

NEW LOOK AT CITY HOSPITAL — A striking feature on the West Huron Street side of the General Hospital addition is this green porcelain-on-steel front on an area which will house administrative offices when the wing is completed next summer. According to Robert Pullar, supervisor for the architectural firm, work on the near $5,000,000 addition is about two months behind schedule. All seven floors are expected to be enclosed by the end of the week, he said, and plastering will begin shortly. The entrance of the new building will be on Seminole avenue.

Residents Lose Battle to Block Railroad Yard

Judge Says City Zoning Ordinance Does Not Prohibit Construction

Nine Pontiac residents have lost their fight to block construction of a Grand Trunk Railroad switchyard in Pontiac's northside.

Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick this morning dismissed their petition for an injunction against the railroad and the city. The residents, all of whom live in the vicinity of the proposed yard, had sought an injunction on the grounds that the switchyard would be a neighborhood nuisance in violation of zoning.

Construction of the $750,000 yard is proceeding under an agreement by the city and railroad, which includes the sale of city-owned property on the switchyard site, west of Baldwin Ave. and south of West Walton Blvd.

In his decision, Judge Hartrick said the city zoning ordinance contained extensive prohibited activities in the area of the switchyard site, but failed to prohibit the construction of a railroad yard.

In other districts, his decision said, a railroad right of way including passenger stations . . . "and freight stations and yards are strictly excluded."

Taking up the argument of the residents that the switchyard would produce odor, dust, fumes, noise and vibrations during switching, Judge Hartrick's decision pointed out that the City Commission had legislated to avoid what might be a reasonable and factual violation of the zoning ordinance.

"The city has the duty to enforce its ordinances," the decision said. "It cannot be said there was a wilful neglect of that duty or that the use could have been prohibited in view of the acquiesced precautionary measures as agreed to by the railroad."

The decision contended that none of the public hazards in the city zoning ordinance were nui-

Civil Service Commission Meets

Mull Complaints, Rules for Police

The Pontiac Civil Service Commission met privately yesterday to discuss rules for the police department and to consider grievances filed by the Police Officers Assn. against Chief Herbert W. Straley.

A division of opinion between the commissioners was apparent at the meeting, although they agreed generally as to their course of action.

Chairman Theodore Carlson felt that some of the charges against Straley are violations of the state Civil Service Act and are still going on, such as refusing to grant raises to certain officers.

But Commissioner Gerald Guinan maintained, "we will have a new set of rules shortly and we should start fresh with them." "Then if anyone, high or low, violates those rules, we should crack down on them.

Guinan and Commissioner Stuart Austin agreed they would see City Manager Walter K. Willman when he returns from his vacation Monday and discuss the grievances with him in an effort to avert a public hearing.

Carlson agreed to this, although he feels a public hearing is desirable.

Guinan and Carlson both said they thought the new set of rules would be ready for discussion at the Aug. 7 commission public meeting.

Another area of disagreement among the commissioners is the promotions of four officers by Straley before civil service went into effect.

Carlson thinks the promotions were provisional and, under the city charter, expired 90 days after they were made. Guinan says that if they were appointed prior to six months before civil service went into effect, they are legal.

They have asked the state attorney-general to rule on the legality of the chief making permanent appointments under powers delegated by the city manager. It is not clear as to whether the city manager approved the appointments to give them permanent status.

The city attorney has been asked to check the dates on which the appointments were made. Carlson alleges there is no record at city hall of permanent appointments.

6 City Doctors Continue Fight

State Supreme Court Asked for Writ Ending Certain Hospital Rules

Six Pontiac doctors have climbed the legal ladder to the State Supreme Court in a second attempt to win unrestricted surgical privileges at Pontiac General Hospital.

They seek a writ of prohibition to stop hospital authorities from enforcing rules which they claim "deprive them of the right to practice their profession freely in a public city hospital."

Named as defendants in the suit were the city of Pontiac, the hospital, the 165-member medical staff, the executive and credentials committees of the staff, and the Board of Trustees.

The same six doctors in March filed a suit in Oakland County Circuit Court seeking an injunction against former hospital director Miss Lauretta Paul from enforcing the disputed regulations.

Judge Frank L. Doty dismissed the suit in April when the trustees agreed to appoint a committee to investigate grievances.

CLAIMS NO ANSWER

City Commissioner and Dr. Roy V. Cooley, one of the six plaintiffs, said proper procedures for filing grievances were followed. But we never received the courtesy of an answer that said they were either rejected or being considered," he added.

Dr. C. T. Ekelund, head of the credentials committee, Dr. Arnold L. Brown, chief of staff, and Edward P. Barrett, chairman of the Senate Cuts Out One Key Section on Enforcement

Measure Now Allows Judge to Jail Violators of Court Injunctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's civil rights bill, with one key section sheared off by the Senate, ran into a new cross fire of dispute today over a proposed jury trial amendment.

The jury trial proposal was called up hard on the heels of the 52-38 vote by which the Senate late yesterday ripped out of the House-passed bill all enforcement authority except that to safeguard the right to vote.

The measure, as it now stands, would permit the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of voting rights, but not to enforce other civil rights.

In the latter category, under decisions of the Supreme Court, fall racial integration in public schools, buses, swimming pools and other public places.

Authority to use injunctions to enforce these and other civil rights generally was erased from the bill with the adoption of an amendment offered by Senators Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt).

Thirty-four Democrats and 18 Republicans voted for the amendment, while 13 Democrats and 25 Republicans voted against it.

BATTLE BEGAN IMMEDIATELY

The next major test in the battle over the legislation began to shape up immediately when Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called up a jury trial amendment proposed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Under the bill, persons accused of violating injunctions obtained by the government could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said in an interview he thought the amendment would be defeated and the bill's supporters could preserve its voting rights section intact.

He said the issue was not likely

Wager Prince Will Announce Grace 'Expects'

MONTE CARLO (INS)—All the gambling is not going on over the tables at the Monte Carlo Casino these days.

Smart sophisticates, who reportedly are very much in the know, are wagering over bridge tables that Princess Grace's second baby is well on the way.

Ever since the royal couple flew back for two days last week from Switzerland, where they are vacationing, gossips have been in full bloom at cocktail parties and other social gatherings.

Close friends, who watched the couple, commented the Princess was never more radiant and never looked happier. They noted the couple stayed at the Red Cross Gala Ball until 3 a.m., which is unusually late for Rainier and Grace.

Friends believe that when the Prince and Princess return the official announcement that Grace "is expecting" will be made.

Air Passenger Presumed Dead

15 Other Persons Safe After Blast Rips Plane High Above Desert

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A mysterious explosion in an airliner 10,000 feet over California's Mojave Desert today blew a passenger to almost certain death. The plane, a gaping hole in its side, made a safe emergency landing.

Three crewmen and 12 other passengers including a baby were not harmed.

The blast ripped a 7x4-foot hole in the twin-engine Western Airlines Convair, en route from Las Vegas, Nev., to Los Angeles, at 3:37 a. m. — 47 minutes out of Las Vegas.

It occurred on the right side of the ship in the vicinity of the washroom in the ship's tail. That was where the missing passenger, S. F. Binstock of North Hollywood, Calif., had just gone.

Western officials expressed puzzlement at a blast in that area. One said there are no fuel tanks or lines near the washroom. No explosives or inflammables are stored there. The main baggage compartment of the 40-passenger Convair 240 is in the front of the plane. There is, however, a small baggage compartment just to the rear of the washroom.

The FBI began an investigation, questioning passengers at George Air Force Base near Victorville where the craft landed safely. A helicopter started searching the desert for Binstock's body and any fragments of the plane.

The flight—No. 39—originated in Minneapolis. Most of its passengers are from southern California.

Binstock's wife, Eva, said he was 62 and they have three children. Until recently he operated a jewelry store in the San Fernando Valley suburb of Canoga Park, she said. He was returning from a business trip to New York.

Profits Slightly Lower

General Motors Increases Sales in First Half of '57

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. increased its worldwide sales this year but its profits fell slightly.

This is disclosed in the big auto builder's financial report for the first six months of 1957.

Total sales climbed from $5,869,000,000 in the first six months of 1956 to $5,914,000,000 in the reeent half-year period.

But unit sales of the company's U. S.-built cars and trucks, traditionally the biggest source of profits, declined 11 per cent. Included in this group are GM's Cadillac, Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Chevrolet models.

The net result was a 4.4 per cent dip in what the company earned after taxes — from 503 million dollars in the first six months of 1956 to 481 millions in the first half of 1957.

Profit for the recent six months was equal to $1.71 a share, compared to $1.80 a share in the year-ago period.

GM's U. S. factories sold 1,763,836 cars and trucks in the first six months this year. In the first half of last year they sold 1,983,720.

Increased sales of diesel locomotives and other nonautomotive products, and of foreign-built GM cars, took up the slack.

FOREIGN CARS SET PACE

Sales of GM's foreign cars (including the British Vauxhal and the German Opel) smashed all prior records.

For the three months ended June 30 GM reported net income of $220,000,000 or 78 cents a share on sales of $2,837,000,000. This compared with $221,000,000 or 79 cents a share on sales of $2,804,000,000 a year ago.

General Motors, in the first six months this year, had fewer employes on its payroll.

GM's total employment in the United States averaged 363,132, as against 392,106 in the first half of '57. Employment in the April-May-June quarter dipped to 339,056 from 363,073 a year ago.

The report stressed that the recent first-half sales total of $5,914,000,000 was higher than in any first-half year except 1955, when a total of $6,513,000,000 was re-

Big TV Networks Report Tougher Sales Resistance

NEW YORK (AP)—The major television networks were reported today facing what one network official called "the toughest selling season we've ever had."

Noting that in recent years at least two of the coast-to-coast chains usually reported at this time that they had sold out their choice evening hours, New York Times television writer Jack Gould said now all three networks have time available.

BARCELONA (AP)—Comedian Red Skelton announced today his family will continue a European tour.

Skelton, his wife, their leukemia-stricken 9-year-old son Richard and daughter Valentina arrived in Barcelona unexpectedly last night from Rome amid reports they were returning immediately to the United States. But today Skelton said they would fly to Paris tomorrow night, visit London and possibly Norway and Sweden, and then fly home.

You needn't bother to name the temperature. The date and exact moment are all we're interested in. Deadline for this weather derby is 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, July 31. All entries must be in the Press office, mailed or delivered in person, at that time. Only one entry per person.

Fair, Warm Weather for Pontiac Tomorrow

The weather outlook for this area tonight is fair and warmer with a low near 60 degrees.

Tomorrow will be fair and warm. The mercury is expected to reach a high near 85. Winds will be southwesterly at 10 to 12 miles an hour.

The U. S. Weather Bureau has predicted that temperatures will average two or three degrees below the normal 84 high and normal 63 low for the next few days. Thundershowers are expected late Friday or Friday night.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 55. At 2 p.m. the temperature was 78.

Traffic Record: 44 Violations

Milton Henry Pays for 27 Tickets; Still Has 17 to Be Settled

Pontiac Attorney Milton R. Henry, currently awaiting examination on a charge of assault and battery against a police officer who was preparing to tow his car away, is a major collector of traffic tickets, all growing out of his parking habits.

There are 17 unpaid parking violation tickets outstanding against Henry dating back to 1953:

March 4, 1953, expired meter.
March 28, 1953, parking in alley.
April 18, 1953, parking in taxi stand.
April 24, 1953, blocking a door with auto.
April 27, 1953 parking in alley.
April 28, 1953, expired meter.
May 29, 1953, parking in alley.
Dec. 1, 1953, expired meter.
Dec. 16, 1953, expired meter.
April 4, 1954, parking in "no parking" zone
Sept. 10, 1954, expired meter.
April 11, 1955, expired meter.
Feb. 15, 1956, expired meter.
April 26, 1956, parking in "no parking" zone.
Aug. 7, 1956, expired meter.
Aug. 14, 1956, parking in "no parking" zone.
May 14, 1957, parking in "no parking" zone.

Henry's traffic record also shows that he paid up 27 other traffic tickets at one time.

His extensive collection of violation tickets and his tardiness in paying them, caused Police Chief Straley to comment that he seemed to have contempt for the law unbecoming an attorney.

Straley said he thought the Oakland County Bar Assn. should look it to 38-year-old Henry's record and attitude toward the law.

Tuesday, when Henry tangled with officer Clarence Smith, he was arrested by two detectives who witnessed the fight from the Prosecutor's office. He pleaded innocent before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum who released him on his personal recognition pending examination.

State Planning 8 Artificial Lakes, 5 to Be in Oakland County Area

Michigan, which proudly calls itself the "Water Wonderland," has mapped out a five-year program to beat the heat.

It's going to construct eight man-made lakes, the State Conservation Department announces.

Five of these will be in the Oakland County area, which already boasts more than 400 natural water sites.

It seems that Michigan's 3,000 miles of Great Lakes shore line, 36,000 miles of streams and 11,000 inland lakes are of little comfort to the populace of the state.

The best recreational areas for swimming and wading are in the north. Most of the people are in the south.

Except for the Great Lakes fringes and a few crowded inland lakes, southern Michigan is beachless. That is where the conservation department is going to build the new lakes.

Included in the plans for Oakland County are artificial impoundments in the Bald Mountain Recreation Area, Holly Recreation Area, Island Lake Recreation Area, Ortonville Area, and the Proud Lake Recreation Area.

Average cost of a lake will be approximately $50,000. But, said John Rogers, chief of planning and construction of the State Parks & Recreation Div., by the time facilities are installed in Oakland, the total cost of the lakes might well run to $1,500,000.

★ ★ ★

Construction is scheduled to begin in 1958. The smallest of the lakes, said Rogers, would be 30 acres in the Holly area, while the largest would be the Island Lake development of 300 acres.

On Waterford Sewer Job

Pumps Battle Quicksand

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
(Of Our Waterford Bureau)

The bottom literally dropped out of the Sylvan Shores sewer project in Waterford Township this week, when workmen ran into a large section of quicksand.

A hole approximately 40 feet long, 25 feet wide and 20 feet deep, developed in front of a home at 2732 Woodbine Ave. The subdivision is located near M59 and Voorheis roads.

SOFT SPOT — Special equipment shown above is being used on a Waterford Township sewer project to conquer quicksand. Two diesel engines operate day and night to pump water, in an effort to find a dry, solid foundation.

The sewer project has been the number one headache of township officials since last November when contractor Joseph Mancinelli, as low bidder, was given the $110,000 job.

At that time Mancinelli dug ditches along the subdivision street and found that the area had many small springs that would gush out of the soil, causing the ditches to collapse.

Work was discontinued in February when the ground froze. Mancinelli was given an extended deadline to May 1. However, he was not able to fulfill his contract and the job was taken over by the Seymour Weissman company.

Work was resumed in June and the company did not run into much trouble until they struck the quicksand, bringing construction work to a complete standstill.

Steel frames were built to hold the sides of the ditches, then water "boiled up" under the bottom, according to Pontiac inspector, A. C. Rodenbough, who checks the job daily.

He explained that the area in that section of the township is surrounded by a 'strata' of heavy blue clay. This forms a pocket—which holds the water.

Yesterday new pointing equipment costing more than $10,000 was installed around the hole, in an effort to remove the excess water.

Two big deisel pumps are connected to pipe fittings resembling well points. These are driven into the ground then the pumps suck the water out of the sand.

There are 160 of these points now in use, 24 hours a day, at the trouble spot, and Rodenbough said that they would continue pumping until the sewer line can be laid on a dry foundation.

Dr. Ward to Address Pontiac High Grads

Sixty-two summer graduates of Pontiac High School will receive their diplomas tomorrow night during commencement exercises beginning at 8 p.m. at the school auditorium.

Addressing the summer class will be Dr. Ted Ward, resident coordinator of the Michigan State University Teacher Education Center in Pontiac.

Dr. Ward, an assistant professor of education at MSU, will speak on "Living in a World of Ideas." He will be introduced by Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Board of Education.

Diplomas will be awarded by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools; after Francis W. Staley, principal of Pontiac High, introduces the graduates.

R. Dean Perkio will speak briefly as president of the senior class.

Dr. Ward was assistant professor of education at the University of Florida before coming to Pontiac last September. He holds degrees from Wheaton College in Illinois and from the Florida Institute.

He lives in Pontiac at 217 Oneida Rd.

Residents Dislike Proposed Drain

Object to Plan to Stop Flooding in Whitfield Estate Subdivision

Residents living in the Maceday Lake area of Waterford Township are protesting the proposed drainage plan to relieve flooding in the Whitfield Estate subdivision, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Johnson said he had been receiving telephone calls from some Maceday area residents, who feel that if the excess water from the subdivision is dumped into the lake, it will bring mud and debris into the lake.

After the heavy July 4 rains, Whitfield Estates residents had flood conditions at the end of Homestead drive, and asked the township board to help solve the problem.

The engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson presented plans for a drain from the subdivision to the lake, at Monday nights' board meeting.

Supervisor Johnson told inquiring lake property owners that the plans were only being studied, and as yet no action has been taken to drain the water into Maceday Lake.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Why did Hurricane Audrey cause so many casualties on the Gulf Coast recently? Is the weather bureau able to track the course of these storms fairly accurately today?

Evidence being compiled indicates that poor forecasting by the weather bureau, a frequent occurrence in hurricane crises, caused some of the casualties in Louisiana and Texas. What has confused the situation is an apparent effort to hush up the wrong guesses made by the bureau.

At Cameron, La., where the hurricane pushed water into homes several feet deep before daylight 27th June, the people had been told that the hurricane would not strike until the afternoon of the 27th. They went to bed thinking they had plenty of time to evacuate the town next day.

Several of the lessons learned from the behavior of Audrey will be discussed in tomorrow's release.

New Battle Looms on Civil Rights Bill

to come to a vote before the first of next week.

Other parts of the bill, not yet taken up for consideration, would establish a civil rights division in the Justice Department and create a bipartisan civil rights investigating commission, appointed by the President.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Senate's vote gave "aid and comfort to those who would nullify the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment."

But both Anderson and Aiken said the adoption of their amendment increased the chances of passing a civil rights bill and lessened the possibility that Southern senators would try to filibuster it to death.

Just before the vote, Johnson told the Senate that the outcome might determine "whether we have a bill or no bill."

"The issue is simple," he said. "We can write an adequate bill to safeguard the right to vote. We can create a commission which can study the problems and return to us with recommendations.

"Or we can attempt to write into law new and drastic enforcement procedures to cover a wide variety of vaguely defined, so-called civil rights."

A strikingly different view was expressed by opponents of the Anderson-Aiken amendment.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said its effect was to "sweep under the rug the entire category of individual civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution."

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) protested the amendment had "the effect of nullifying the historic Supreme Court decision desegregating public schools."

McNamara and Potter both voted against the Anderson-Aiken amendment.

McNamara, trying to bolster voting rights in the administration's civil rights bill, said today he will introduce an amendment to reduce Congressional representation of states which deny any citizens the right to vote.

McNamara said the number of House members to be cut would be determined after each election by a joint Congressional committee. The recommendations of this committee would be subject to rejection by Congress, he added.

The number of senators would not be affected. It is fixed by the Constitution.

Continue Search for 'Mad Killer'

Question Californian in Slaying of 2 Women, Truck Driver

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—A statewide search continued today for a "madman killer" wanted for the brutal slaying of a truck driver and two women.

Officers in Carlsbad, N.M., continued their questioning of a 48-year-old California man, but expressed doubt he was the killer.

Sheriff Hartsill Martin of Carlsbad said Jack Smith, San Diego, Calif., would be kept in custody there for 1 to 30 days on a vagrancy charge "and we may still run him out to the scene of the killings."

The bodies of J. D. Cantrell, 27, Carlsbad truck driver, and Mrs. Barbara Lemmons and Mrs. Dorothy Gibson, both 23, of Hobbs, were found riddled with bullets early Tuesday.

Officers said the killer had pumped eight bullets from a .22-caliber weapon into the body of Cantrell. He then drove the two women 29 miles from where the body of the truck driver was found and killed them.

Sheriff Jewell McAdoo of Lea County, where the killings took place, said Cantrell apparently had stopped to help the two women on U.S. 180 about 36 miles west of here.

County May Get Relief for Floods

Williams Asks Benson to Give State Special Crop Loans

Oakland County was included in 14 Michigan counties named by Governor G. Mennen Williams today as emergency areas due to flood damage.

The governor urged Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to accept recommendations of the Farmers Home Administration citing the counties eligible for special crop loans.

"Of the 15,000 acres of wheat in Oakland County, approximately 25 per cent has been severely damaged," Walter Cook, office manager of the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today.

Cook said the storms and 12 Mile road tornado on July 4 caused "considerable crop damage throughout the county."

Wheat was hit the hardest although the heavy and steady rains hampered the corn crops since it has begun to grow before it should, and will only be good for animal feed, he added.

Cook said the proposed FHA loans would allow farmers to receive loans at a low interest.

He indicated several weeks ago Oakland County had not been included in the federally-named disaster areas.

"I feel if the service becomes available, Oakland County should be included," Cook said.

Other counties listed in Williams' proposal were: Clinton, Shiawassee, Midland, Isabella, Saginaw, Genesee, Gratiot, Livingston, Bay, Ingham, Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola.

Residents Lose Fight to Block Switchyard

sances in themselves in connection with the railroad. The allegations of nuisances are in the nature of conjecture rather than factual, the decision said.

It was further observed that the mere apprehension that a nuisance might be created did not authorize the issuance of an injunction.

Judge Hartrick said, in his opinion, that he had viewed the area under dispute.

The homes of the residents, the decision said, are "seemingly dependent" upon the industrial health of the city, and the proposed expansion of the yard is essential to this condition.

"Any diminution of facilities for adjacent industrial plants or their expansion . . . would have a more depreciating influence upon the homes in the area than the establishment of a yard," the decision said.

The decision, in dismissing the suit, concluded that the City Commission had taken every precaution to avoid the establishment of a nuisance and that the switchyard's location next to the belt line in the industrial area could have been long foreseen as a probable contingency.

Small Crowds at Graham Rally 'Normal Delay'

NEW YORK (INS) — Dwindling attendance at the Madison Square Garden rallies of Billy Graham's crusade to "bring God to New York" was blamed today on the "normal delay" between planning for the crusade's extension and its announcement.

"It doesn't discourage me in the least," said Graham, who last night preached to 14,500 — only 1,000 more than the smallest crowd since the drive opened May 16.

"The decision to extend the revival only last Friday didn't leave enough time to spread the word to get new church groups 'into the pipeline'" Graham said. Church groups generally total 8,500 nightly.

Graham's subject last night dealt with the evils of self-righteousness and pride.

Canadian GM Workers Will Get Pay Boost

OSHAWA, Ont. (AP)—General Motors today announced a wage boost for approximately 16,000 hourly-rated Canadian employes to take effect Aug. 1. Increase is provided for in the firm's contract with the United Automobile Workers.

Wage increases will be six cents an hour or 2½ per cent of their straight time hourly rate—exclusive of cost-of-living allowance and shift premiums — whichever is higher.

Some 5,000 salaried employes will receive increases of $10.50 a month or 2½ per cent.

Hold for Circuit Court

Alexander T. Bermudez, 23, of 409 W. Palmer St., Detroit, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday for the illegal use of a credit card.

He will be arraigned Monday and was released on $100 bond, after waiving examination before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Bermudez is charged with using another man's credit card to buy five tires from Giles Standard Service, 23 Oakland Ave.

Girardin Announces Drop in Swimming Pool Fees

BIRMINGHAM—A ten cent drop in swimming fees at the Derby School pools becomes effective today according to recreation director, Robert Girardin.

The department said the reduction would apply only to those persons under 18. The adult fee remains at 75 cents.

The department also has agreed to allow children to use the pools during the family afternoon hours even though their parents are not present.

Girardin said that during the first month more than 9,000 people had used the pools with a total revenue of $3,800. The reason for charging on the pools is the operational cost which totals approximately $20 per hour. This includes life guards, janitor service and water treatment.

Representatives of the Birmingham "Y" Men's Club at the 28th international convention of Y's Men at Toronto will be Gerald Lucking of Royal Oak.

Lucking will be accompanied by his wife during the July 28-Aug. 1 conference. More than 1,000 delegates from 37 foreign countries will join the North American delegates in the various plenary and discussion groups.

Among the most important topics will be the pending Civil Rights Bill now before United States Congress.

Birmingham real estate men at a recent meeting of the Real Estate Board voted to discontinue sales operations on Sundays. One real estate man said that they were joining what appears to be a growing trend in the business.

He said that with more and more types of business being closed on Sundays, real estate brokers are of the opinion that their patrons can be served as well through the regular work week.

Stephen M. Velkoff, 2359 Cheltingham Ave., Pontiac, a teacher at Bloomfield Hills High School, is attending the institute for high school physical science and mathematics teachers being held at Michigan State University.

The institute, sponsored jointly by the University and the National Science Foundation, is a six-week program featuring courses in chemistry, mathematics and physics, with supplementary lectures on recent advances in science. Delegates have come from several states and Puerto Rico.

William T. Grant, 48, of 176 Jewel, Ferndale, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac last night.

Bloomfield Hills police said Mr. Grant was stricken about 6:30 last night while playing golf at the Stony Croft Golf Club.

First aid attempts by the Bloomfield Hills Fire Department proved useless.

Mrs. Carl Pelton Taken by Death

Former City Resident Dies in Flint Hospital; Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Ethel Pelton, widow of the late Carl Pelton, Pontiac attorney of the firm, Pelton & McGee, died yesterday in Flint Osteopathic Hospital. She was 75.

A past president and charter member of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale, Mrs. Pelton had been active in the Bloomfield Highlands Branch of the American Red Cross before moving to Flushing several years ago.

★ ★ ★

She was a life member of the First Congregational Church and a past president and charter member of the Jury Club.

Mrs. Pelton was born here May 13, 1882. Her parents were John and Sarah Collins Allshouse.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Campbell of Flushing; two grandchildren, Ann Laurie and Robert L. Campbell II; and a sister, Mrs. George A. Sutton of Pontiac.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Brace-Smith Funeral Home with the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton officiating. Burial will follow in Oak Hill Cemetery.

School Aid Bill Voting Is Today

Many House Members Give Measure Little Chance of Passing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House votes today on the 1½-billion-dollar school construction bill amid predictions the measure will be killed.

But although many members said privately the measure had no chance, Rep. McConnell (R-Pa), one of those leading the fight for it, said he still thought it had better than a 50-50 chance.

Opponents, during two days of debate, have emphasized the program's cost and what they refer to as the danger of federal control of schools.

Those favoring the bill contend that without federal aid, many states cannot afford the schoolrooms needed to educate the increasing numbers of school-age children.

Still to come was the issue of segregation.

Rep. Wainwright (R-NY) said he would offer an amendment to deny federal aid to school districts making no effort to obey the Supreme Court decision against segregation in the classroom.

★ ★ ★

The House killed a school aid bill last year after adopting a similar amendment by Rep. Powell (D-NY).

Rep. Lanham (D-Ga) predicted that even if no antisegregation provision is written into the bill, the same effect would be obtained—if the bill is passed—by injunction or by executive order.

"I think everyone knows we aren't going to get any of the money in the South," he said.

Drop Stealing Charge Against 17-Year-Old Girl

Charges against a 17-year-old girl, accused of taking a patient's watch while working at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, were dismissed by the prosecutor and the complainant yesterday in Municipal Court.

Patricia A. Perry, of 816 Ledyard St., maintained she forgot to return the watch and finally lost it.

Approve Zoning Change for Waterford Property

At a special meeting of the Waterford Township Zoning Board last night, members approved a change from residential to commercial, on Walton Boulevard, near the Indian Pointe subdivision.

The property is filled-in swamp land, and the request for change was presented by Lloyd Kirby, of Clarkston. The recommendation will now go to the Oakland County Coordinating Zoning committee, and then will be routed to the township board for final approval.

Six Doctors Continue Hospital Rules Fight

special committee of trustees, could not be reached for comment.

The high court has asked the city to file briefs by July 30 showing why the writ shouldn't be granted. The doctors seek the discontinuation of the rules until the case can be heard when the court convenes again in September.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said yesterday the writ should be denied as the doctors "haven't availed themselves of all other remedies." (A writ of prohibition is issued by the Supreme Court where other remedies are ineffectual.)

Ewart said the doctors could seek settlement again with Circuit Court, or with the City Commission or with the Board of Trustees.

The doctors are Robert W. Albrecht, Douglass A. Haddock, Maolin Han, Rodman C. Jacobi, Leonard Blackwell, and Dr. Cooley.

In their suit they charge other staff doctors with "exceeding their jurisdiction" by allegedly setting forth what operations the six may perform at the city hospital.

They charge this is a direct violation of the Michigan State Board of Registration in Medicine, under which they were granted their licenses. All six are general practitioners.

The suit lists portions of the by-laws which the six charge prohibits their "unrestricted use of their licenses."

Staff members and trustees have defended these questioned rules as being necessary to protect the welfare of the public.

The defendants claim that the hospital has established, among others, four requirements which doctors must comply with before they become eligible for major surgical privileges. Only the state board can do this, the suit states further.

Ford Subsidiary Will Fire Space Rocket in 3 Months

GLENDALE, Calif. (INS)—Aeronautronic Systems Inc., a subsidiary of the Ford Motor Co., announced today that it will send a research rocket into outer space within three months to gather data on conditions thousands of miles from earth.

The company said the four-stage, solid propellant rocket will be launched from the largest balloon ever sent aloft and will carry three and one-half pounds of scientific instruments to record what man will encounter when he invades outer space.

The exact altitude range the rocket will reach was not announced, but the firm said it would be "a height never before achieved." The rocket will travel at speeds of more than 17,000 miles an hour.

The 1,900-pound rocket will be launched 100,000 feet above the earth from the balloon in order to place it above the high drag coefficient of the lower atmosphere.

The first test of the balloon flight experiment, tiled 'Operation Far Side, was conducted last month at the General Mills flight test center near New Brighton, Minn.

BALLOON STABLE PLATFORM

A 3,750,000-cubic foot helium-filled balloon hoisted 2,300 pounds to an altitude of more than 104,000 feet. The test showed that the balloon made a stable launching platform.

The 23-foot Far Side rocket will be shot into space by four stages of engines combining 10 solid propellant rockets. After the fourth stage burns out only 26 seconds after the initial firing, the six-by-four-inch package of instruments and the last stage rocket will hurtle upward as a free projectile.

During the ascent and descent, a miniature radio transmitter will send measurements of cosmic rays and other data back to earth.

Plan Stockpile of Hospitals

Defense Officials Eye Use of Portable Units in Case of Emergency

NEW YORK — The Federal Civil Defense Administration plans stockpiling fully equipped portable hospitals.

By 1962 a total of 6,000 such units may be available to provide emergency aid to as many as 2.5 million victims in the event of a major natural disaster or an enemy air attack.

These van-transported emergency hospitals, equipped to handle 200 bed patients at a time, are bing distributed throughout the U.S. and will serve somewhat to relieve the worries of Civil Defense officials who early discovered that nearly 75 per cent of available hospital beds in this country are now located in critical target areas.

The official publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said that to a nation chronically short of peacetime hospital needs by at least 800,000 beds, these extra cots and equipment plus readily availabe medical care could spell national survival in a nuclear war.

WITHIN 4 HOURS

The magazine said that the portable facilities and supplies can turn a pre-selected empty school or church into a hospital within four hours, complete with its own water, power and light, three operating rooms, an X-ray room, a sterilizing room, a reception and sorting room, laboratory, a pharmacy and medica needs sufficient to last 36 to 48 hours.

Ten doctors, 20 graduate nurses, 125 trained nurses' aides and orderlies, and 75 litter bearers and helpers are required to staff the treatment rooms and wards of a single such emergency hospital, operating at capacity. Each fully-equipped hospital cost approximately $25,000.

Detroiter Killed Averting Holdup

Police Hunt 2 Youths, One With Revolver, as Shooting Suspects

DETROIT (UP) — Police were hunting two teenagers, one armed with a revolver, today following the shooting of a Detroit tobacconist while he apparently attempted to avert a holdup in his store.

Charles W. Fox, 52, was killed by a bullet which pierced his right jaw. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Henry Ford Hospital yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Police said they believe Fox was shot by two youths ranging between 17 to 19 in age. They said one is armed.

The young hoodlums ran from the tobacco store after firing a shot at Fox, police said. They apparently left without taking any money.

Fox's wallet containing $58 was found in his pocket, police said. Inside the cash register, police found about $300. There was another $800 in a cigar box toward the rear of the store on busy Woodward Ave.

WITNESS HEARD SHOT

A witness, Dan Fields, 8, who lives in a neighboring apartment house, told police he heard a shot as he walked from the building.

The boy said he saw two men run past, police declared.

"I shot him," one of the fleeing men was heard to say.

A few minutes later, Bobbie Askew, 14, another neighborhood boy, passed the shop and heard Fox moaning inside. He saw Fox's legs protruding from beneath a counter and notified police.

Plan Education Unit at St. Philip Church

ROCHESTER—The vestry of St. Philip's Episcopal Church has decided to make plans for the building of a new educational unit to the present church building.

A committee men with Ralph Calder, architect, and presented the preliminary plans as to the needs of such a unit. Calder will have sketches and plans within two weeks for review by the parishioners.

The finance committee is ready to make a report on one plan of fund-raising, and has scheduled two meetings, Monday and Tuesday. Both will be held in the undercroft at 8 p.m.

It is advisable that all members of the parish over 18 years of age attend both meetings.

KETCHIKAN — Total annual rainfall in this Alaska city amounts to about 12½ feet.

Twin Sisters Like Two Peas in Pod

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash. (UP) — There are two notable differences in Port Townsend's twin Foy sisters.

1. Cecile Annette is valedictorian of her 1957 high school graduating class and Yvonne Marie is salutatorian.

2. Cecile has a straight "A" record for four years. Yvonne has one lonely, miserable "B" to mar her record.

★ ★ ★

Otherwise the 17-year-old twins are like the proverbial peas in a pod. Both were named after the Dionne quintuplets, on whose birthday anniversary they were born in 1939. They plan to go to different colleges.

4 Prisoners Drink It Up in Office of Sheriff

McKEE, Ky. (UP) — Four prisoners who broke out of jail had a breach of peace charge filed against them after their recapture.

They got out jail by sawing bars, then entered the sheriff's office by smashing a glass door.

The prisoners then found 15 cases of confiscated beer and two pistols.

The noisy celebration ended when the sheriff returned.

By 1960, it is estimated, the U.S. will have at least 16 million persons over 65 drawing $10 billion a year in retirement funds and the totals are expected to increase annually.

Think Job Step Up for Demoted Red

MOSCOW (AP) — Mikhail G. Pervukhin, demoted in the Kremlin shakeup last month, has been named the Soviet Union's new foreign trade czar.

The Soviet government last night announced the establishment of a new state committee for foreign economic relations with Pervukhin, 52 and a former first deputy premier, at its head.

The announcement said Pervukhin would be succeeded as minister of medium machine building by E. P. Slavsky. The Medium Machine Ministry supervises the Soviet Union's atomic industry, and Slavsky has been in charge of the section on peaceful use of atomic energy.

★ ★ ★

Because of the increasing importance being given Soviet economic relations with other countries, Western diplomats viewed Pervukhin's new appointment as evidence that he still is one of the powers in the Kremlin. Until the recent shakeup, he had been considered one of the top Soviet economic planners.

Thomas Jefferson was first a Republican, then Democrat.

Coins 'Mennenism' to Describe Attitude

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A new word, "Mennenism," has been injected into Michigan's political language.

It was coined by Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer to describe what he said is an attitude fostered by Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

★ ★ ★

Lindemer told the Kalamazoo Republican Women's Club yesterday that "Mennenism" is an attitude of antagonism toward the business and industries which produce jobs for Michigan workers.

GOP leaders have accused Williams of driving industry from the state with high industrial taxes.

Lindemer said a Bureau of Labor Statistics report shows Michigan lost 1,800 jobs from 1950 to 1956 while employment rose 12 per cent in the nation as a whole.

U. of M. Engineers Fire IGY Rockets

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan engineers have fired two rockets so far in International Geophysical Year (IGY) and each was successful, a University spokesman said today.

The launchings took place at Fort Churchill, Man., last Saturday and Tuesday, said Leslie M. Jones, a research engineer. He spoke via telephone to Michigan aeronautical engineers at the Canadian firing site.

The rockets both were aerobees. The first soared 58 miles into the upper atmosphere and the second reached a height of 56 miles. The University, working in conjunction with the U. S. Army Signal Corps, will launch several more data-gathering rockets before the close of IGY.

French Watch Sales Up

PARIS—Sales of French watches have increased regularly in recent years and doubled from 1954 to 1956. Finished clocks and watches constituted 65 per cent of last year's exports of timepieces; parts and incomplete works made up the rest.

Large Oil Refinery Slated for Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey — Turkey will have the second largest oil refinery in the Mediterranean basin when a new $48,000,000 facility is completed through the cooperation of four American and British oil companies, under a new agreement signed in Istanbul.

The companies are California - Texas Oil Co., Socony Mobile Oil Co., British Petroleum Co. and Royal Dutch Shell Oil Co. Location of the new refinery, which is scheduled to go into production in 1960, has not yet been announced. It will have an initial production capacity of 65,000 barrels a day, making it one of the most important in Europe. The agreement of the four oil companies is valid for 80 years.

Vacation Time Ideal for Self-Appraisal

August beats January for New Year's resolutions.

When you come back to work after a couple of weeks separation from your business or work, you are really making the fresh start that never seems to come off January 1.

★ ★ ★

Caught in the ebb of the holiday season, serious thinking about improvements, changes, and new plans, come hard. The pace is too fast, and there's not much to mark the beginning of the new year as separate from the old one.

But returning from a vacation, there is truly a new year beginning.

The vacation has given both mind and body some rest — a chance to think over how the business stacks up, how the county, state, country and world are doing, and how you as an individual, are living and thinking.

In the rushing existence that marks our "more leisure hours" life today, the two or three week respite is really the only time for a deep "annual think."

★ ★ ★

Personal inventories come naturally, and piercing scrutiny and insight are easier than any other time. In the brief rest before another storm of competition, time for a general reappraisal is not wasted.

Foreign Aid Loans on Long Term Basis

In the past most foreign aid has been on a grant basis but now Congress has decreed that part of the aid will be in long term loans.

Under the new law a fund of $1.5 to $2 billion will be made available to the International Co-operation Administration (ICA) over a three year period. From this fund the ICA will make loans to underdeveloped and friendly nations. The money will be used on carefully investigated long term projects that will contribute to their economic strength, security and independence.

★ ★ ★

ICA Director John B. Hollister told Congressional committees that "the very creation of the fund will inspire borrowing nations with a greater sense of zeal and responsibility. Loans, rather than gifts, will encourage self-reliance and the long term availability of the fund will encourage thoughtful long term planning rather than frantic emergency action."

★ ★ ★

This long term loan plan seems to us to be a much-needed and businesslike change in our foreign aid program.

The fund is not to be used in competition with private lending agencies. But it will be more directly an instrument of foreign policy than is the Export-Import Bank.

Tempest Hits Ranks of Beauty Contestants

Those "beauty queens" are becoming a minor pain in the neck.

The "champion" had to plead guilty to a husband and a couple of children.

The Press isn't against husbands. We think they're grand.

So did the reigning beauty queen, for it soon developed that she had had two (count 'em—2). She shucked the first several years ago.

The rules said the contestants must be "unmarried." Miss U.S.A. was tossed out and they dropped back to the gal that finished second.

When Miss Universe took her seat on the throne it was a moment of triumph.

Then more things happened. Number Two was disqualified.

Miss Universe was only 17 years old and the rules stipulated that you should be 18. Her parents proclaimed that the young lady was "a great, big 17" and could be regarded as "practically 18."

This is a type of mathematics they didn't teach when your humble scribe worked his way painfully through the lower grades.

★ ★ ★

Further, one of the little dears had the bad judgment to "go on television" where she was considerably less than a sensation. She wept and wrung her dainty hands. Frankly, it was just a good, big belly laugh . . . one that echoed across the nation. When beauty trips lightly through the open portals, more basic things fly out the window.

★ ★ ★

We like our women easy on the eyes. We like 'em shapely and essentially feminine.

But primarily, we like 'em when they tell the truth.

That comes first.

Chuck went out in a very steady 35, one under par, and then came back in a brilliant 32, four under par for a 67.

It didn't look as though he had a "hard" shot on the whole round. "I didn't know golf could look that easy," said one of our boys who is still in the freshmen ranks on the links.

Kocsis is on the U.3. Walker Cup team which plays the British in Minneapolis later this summer.

If He Can Do It —

David Lawrence Says:

Civil Rights Could Punish Labor

WASHINGTON — Little noticed in the vague phrases of the "civil rights" bill as passed by the House of Representatives is a provision from which the Federal government would derive the right to punish any labor union whose members, by concerted action, close down a newspaper or broadcasting station or plant that prints publications.

LAWRENCE

The First Amendment, which hitherto has been interpreted to mean only that no state can take any action which abridges the freedom of the press, could be invoked so that the activities of private individuals in closing down a publishing or broadcasting company would become a matter for the United States to challenge as a party at interest.

Hitherto there has been no way to proceed against persons who might engage in a conspiracy to shut down a newspaper but under the much-talked-of section three — which can still be enacted if the House insists on it in conference — the Federal government would be authorized to enter such disputes and act in behalf of private persons whose rights were denied.

Aside from the right of all citizens to vote, the pending "civil rights" bill is designed to defend the individual whose Constitutional rights may be infringed by any state action or by anyone else.

Up to now, it has been the rule that the Federal government could not intervene to protect freedom of the press unless the injury was inflicted by state action. There was no way of proceeding against individuals or organizations like labor unions.

CIVIL RIGHTS INTENTIONS

The "Civil Rights" bill, however, as passed by the House, is intended to permit the Federal government, through the Department of Justice, to take up the cudgels against private citizens who interfere with the exercise of any Constitutional right whatsoever.

Merely by substituting, for the name of the aggrieved party to the suit, the name of the United States, the Department of Justice can enter the proceedings.

This means that, while any citizen might himself refrain from working, he could not engage in a concerted plan with one or more persons to bring about a strike that impaired a Constitutional right. A strike could then be regarded as a conspiracy on the part of two or more persons to interfere with the freedom to publish.

Thus, in 1953, when there was a strike among the New York City newspapers, some unions which had contracts and which were not directly involved in the dispute walked out and forced the closing of the plants.

A case of breach of contract might have been made under state laws, but Department of Justice officials said at the time there was no way the Federal government could become a party to any proceeding to punish the conspiracy.

EVERYTHING TO BE CHANGED

Now, however, everything is to be changed if the bill, as finally passed, retains the provisions which permit the attorney general to intervene whenever any Constitutional right is impaired.

Another important right that would be strengthened by the "civil rights" bill relates to the position of the minority or workers in any plant — not necessarily in the publishing business. The Taft-Hartley Act, for instance, gives the worker the right to refrain from joining a union or, if he is a union member, to choose not to join with the strikers in ceasing work.

If the union majority or its agents should attempt to force a reluctant employe to stay away from work or if he is injured because he refuses to join the strike, the present Federal "civil rights" statutes relating to conspiracies might possibly be invoked.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Here's Summer Advice for Windows in Winter

With no artificial heating it makes no difference whether you do or do not open your bedroom window before you go to bed. If there is any kind of fire—gas, wood, coal, coke, oil burning in the house it is a good rule to leave your bedroom window open all night.

DR. BRADY

This is a measure of protection in case the burner gives off odorless, colorless, tasteless but deadly carbon monoxide when you are asleep.

★ ★ ★

If the weather is extremely cold, rainy or snowy, use either an unbleached muslin window screen or a wire screen with fine mesh. Full sash screens of unbleached muslin have proved ideal for ventilating and air conditioning schoolrooms, workrooms, offices, kitchens.

They admit fresh air, but exclude wind, rain, snow and dust. They admit moisture which is always desirable when the indoor air is artificially heated.

A screen of unbleached muslin in a bedroom window may save life when the heater gives off carbon monoxide in the night.

AIR JUST AS FRESH

The air in the house is just as fresh when the windows are kept closed as when one or more windows are open, day or night.

Some people, maybe some doctors or specialists, believe one with chronic sinusitis should keep bedroom windows closed at night. This is indeed puzzling.

It seems that many victims of real or spurious "sinusitis" harbor the notion that night air may be safe for a healthy person or one with tuberculosis to breathe, but the less night air one with sinus trouble breathes the better.

★ ★ ★

This I can't savvy.

But keep your shirt on! If you feel more comfortable and breathe better at night with your bedroom window closed, it is just as hygienic and healthful to sleep that way as it is to keep the windows closed all day.

Except for the hazard of carbon monoxide already mentioned, indoor air is as "pure" or "fresh" as outdoor air, day or night.

The night air generally carries less dust, is cooler and contains more water vapor.

In any case, it should be unnecessary to say that in order to get the benefit of night air one must be comfortable. It does neither child nor adult any good to be uncomfortable for lack of sufficient clothing, covers or artificial heat to the body.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Separate Vacation Advice Receives Varied Replies

This being the first time I've written, I'd like to say how much we enjoy The Pontiac Press.

I can't resist attempting to reply to Evelyn in regard to her advice. Poor girl, I think she could use some advice. Why shouldn't a vacation be the ideal time for any couple to get closer to each other. I suppose it depends on what one appreciates or what your idea of a vacation is.

If you're going to a resort, you'll need money and separate vacations will cost twice as much as one taken together. Personally, I wouldn't know what to do after I got wherever I was going. Things like sand on the beach, sunshine, beautiful skies, northern pines smelling as fresh as anything you can imagine — I could go on and on — who wouldn't want to share these things with the one who should be the closest person in the world to you?

God is Love. Marriage should be in harmony with Him. Then He will bless the couple.

Lucky 13 (Years)

★ ★ ★

Eveyln advises couples to vacation apart. I'm wondering if Evelyn is one of the many hundreds who have jumped into marriage without being prepared or really in love, thus expecting so much more from marriage than she was willing to give, and neither of the couple being willing to try to understand the other. The trouble now is that too many husbands and wives go their own ways and the courts of our land are full of divorce cases, a most shameful condition in a so-called Christian nation.

Happy Wife

That writer that wanted vacations apart for husband and wives must have an unfortunate relationship with the man she married. My husband and I have been married 22 years and I'd rather take a vacation with him than any way I know. I'm sure he feels the same. It all depends on whether you get along. Fortunately, our family does.

Emily

★ ★ ★

Evelyn is right about vacations apart. After a week, it's just like a second honeymoon or the 18th or 19th. Some people get set in their ways and habits so they can't recognize things that brighten life and make it fresher.

Tells of Short Life of Baby Song Bird

Two little linnets of sweet song chose a ledge over our back door to build a nest. Happy chirpings and busy doings went on, and we took our garbage around the front and met the milkman at the curb to avoid frightening the little bird. Then came the feeding of the little ones. At last the great day arrived when the little ones left the cozy nest. Less than one day of joy lasted. A cat, an unwanted trespasser, sneaking around the gardens, left the feathers of the little birds and went home to be stroked and called "nice kitty."

Former Resident of China Writes

Recently an acceptable authority said there were 12 million Communists in China. If China's population is the 600 million that it's supposed to be now, it would look as though the Reds had a long way to go. Some fine day the 588,000,000 can quietly absorb the little group and that'll be that. The ways of the Chinese are inexplicable in song and in fact.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

It's Amazing What a Kiss Can Do

Charlotte said she'd like to have a husband like Harry but she just didn't feel romantic when she was with him. Their relationship was somewhat brotherly-sisterly. But Harry finally shattered that with his new kiss.

By DR GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-346: Harry J., aged 27, is the athletic coach who has been dating Charlotte, as described yesterday.

DR. CRANE

Charlotte was worried because she didn't feel as romantic about Harry as she had felt toward her former fiance who died in an airplane crash.

But I reassured her that "earned" love was much safer and productive of fewer divorces.

"Just keep on dating Harry, since he harmonizes well with your personality and family background," I concluded.

So Charlotte went out with Harry two or three times per week. They had many common interests and belonged to the same church.

"Harry is a wonderful man," Charlotte later admitted. "But I feel almost like a sister to him. He is good and reliable and a lot of fun, but I don't get goose pimples and heart palpitation even when he kisses me."

GOOSE PIMPLES

Goose pimples are often an indication of sexual infatuation, plus the novelty of the first serious romance.

You can often be more deeply in love with somebody else who doesn't give you palpitation of the heart and goose pimples, so beware.

★ ★ ★

True love is based on an unselfish desire to make the other person happy, rather than a wish to enjoy personal thrills like goose pimples and butterflies in your stomach.

"Dr. Crane, I feel that Charlotte really loves me," Harry later confided, "but I don't think she knows it. So what can I do to wake her up to this fact?"

Sometimes a friendly, almost brother-sister type of dating can become jerked out of the stodgy, platonic sort by the matter of a new kiss.

For example, Harry didn't realize a basic sex difference as regards kisses: Men are often quantity minded, whereas women are quality minded about such things.

Harry had kissed Charlotte many times but no kiss had ever been prolonged.

★ ★ ★

So I suggested as an experiment that he add a few seconds to the duration of his kiss when he bade her goodnight on their next date.

"And if she seems to respond better than formerly,, give her an encore," I added.

SHATTERING KISS

Harry followed that suggestion. Charlotte was accustomed to his usual kiss of farewell, so Harry surprised her by not releasing her on schedule.

She finally squirmed a bit when his kiss lengthened, and she pushed him away with a "Harry, you mustn't do that!"

★ ★ ★

"Who says so? Harry belligerently replied, and gave her the encore.

And this time she wilted in his arms. In fact, she voluntarily put her arms around his neck and pulled his head down so she could give his kiss right back again!

"Dr. Crane, I don't know what happened to me last night," she told me next day.

"But all of a sudden I lost my former attitude toward Harry.

Don't you remember that I told you he seemed like a brother to me?

"Well, after his second kiss, I forgot all about being a sister to him. I began to tingle and feel romantic. And I am so happy, for he is the man I really should marry. Now I am really in love with him. I guess I loved him long ago but just didn't know it."

In cases where a boy has too long regarded a fine neighbor girl like a kid sister, sometimes the proper type of kiss will shatter the comradely relationship and get them upon a sweetheart basis

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 30c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Artful Columbus Cop Very Quick on Draw

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thugs in this city are beginning to learn that the robbery squad of the Columbus Police Department has the assistance of a young patrolman who is quick on the draw.

Patrolman William M. Needles, 30, isn't any world beater at unlimbering his service revolver, but the "bad guys" are finding out that he's a whiz with pencil and charcoal.

Needles is a police artist and he has developed a knack of drawing fast and remarkably accurate pictures of criminals from word-of-mouth descriptions furnished by witnesses.

Needles started this kind of sketching in 1953 with remarkably good fortune. His first two sketches resulted in arrests.

The second attempt of the young police artist was particularly noteworthy.

FAST ACTING ART

Just two hours after Needles' sketch appeared in a Columbus newspaper, a youthful gunman who had robbed a number of places was in police custody.

The accuracy of the sketch was attested to by the fact a newspaper reader recognized the criminal and tipped off police.

Sgt. Robert Gloekner, head of the robbery squad, puts a lot of faith in Needles' "composites" — a term applied to such sketches in police circles.

A policeman since 1950, except for 18 months' active duty with the Navy during the Korean conflict, Needles paints in oil on his own time.

SEVEN HOURS REQUIRED

Once, when called on to sketch two men involved in a $3,600 holdup, he recalls he worked with seven witnesses from 8 p.m. until 3 a.m. He has turned out a finished composite in only five minutes.

How does he do it? Needles explains:

"I start out with an egg shape and then gradually add details of the nose, eyes, ears and other appurtenances from descriptions given by witnesses."

The more witnesses of various ages he has to help him, the more accurate his drawing, Needles points out, adding:

"An older person will remember quite a bit about clothes and physical characteristics, but a young kid will remember a lot that adults don't notice."

Petoskey Boosts Pay

PETOSKEY (AP) — Sixty-nine Petoskey city employes will receive an average pay boost of 10 per cent beginning Aug. 1. The City Council authorized the hike in a special session, but served notice that the city may have to cut out some services to finance it.

Monday Last Day Humphrey at Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey leaves his government post next Monday.

The White House announced Humphrey's departure date yesterday, and said Robert B. Anderson will be sworn in that morning as Humphrey's successor. Anderson is a former deputy secretary of defense.

On May 29, the White House disclosed what had been expected—that Humphrey would leave the Cabinet. But no effective date for the resignation aws given at that time.

Both men attended yesterday's Cabinet meeting, and both were among the 19 government officials invited to a presidential stag party last night. A spokesman said, however, the dinner was not specifically intended as a farewell for Humphrey.

There have been reports the outgoing secretary may become chairman of the board of National Steel Co.

Public Warned of Bogus Scouts in Pontiac Area

The public was warned todsy of bogus - boy scouts who have been fleecing householders under the guise of collecting funds for youth.

Edward H. Leland, scout executive director for the Clinton Valley Council, said a number of persons have complained of boys claiming to be boy scouts who have sold raffle tickets door - to - door or sought money for scout projects.

He pointed out that scouts are never sent out to solicit funds, sell lottery tickets or peddle merchandise.

He urged the public to demand identification of those claiming to be boy scouts and to report such cases to the scout office or to the police.

Colonel Says Stags Like Being Hunted

LONDON — Despite the assertions of some huntsmen that stags like being hunted, a great hue and cry is being raised in Britain by the League Against Cruel Sports. The league is out against blood sports of all types and stag-hunting in Somerset has drawn the immediate ire of Britons. It is predicted that the Government will have to act. Colonel Brian Gooch, master of the Norwich Staghounds, is one who says stags like being hunted.

"They know us and realize we will not hurt them," he said. "Damn it, we are practically on Christian name terms." He and 25 others chased a stag for three hours recently till the yelping hounds ran it to earth in a cowshed. Then it was bundled back into its crate. A veterinary surgeon, K. E. Cabban, said: "I am firmly convinced that no cruelty was involved."

"And they lived happily ever after with the money they saved by taking their clothes to FLASH CLEANERS."

Many Fear Ocean Tragedy Was in Vain

Andrea Doria, 50 Persons Died One Year Ago

By JOSEPH R. MARSHALL
INS Staff Writer

A year ago today a great and beautiful ship died, and 50 men, women and children died with her.

There are those who say the tragedy was in vain—that nothing has been done to prevent its happening again.

★ ★ ★

It was on July 25, 1956, that the Andrea Doria, expensive pride of the Italian Line, and the Swedish-American Line's swift, graceful Stockholm collided with one another and sent a wave of shock and sorrow around the world.

Yet today, one year later, other ships sail over the Doria's ocean grave still following the same courses, the same rules she followed.

And each day, by marine statistics, somewhere on the oceans eight to ten other large ships still collide.

BLAME NOT SET

No official blame, except allegations of inadequate safety and sea rules, has yet been set for the near-midnight collision that sent the Doria to the bottom, and the Stockholm limping back to port.

Those "inadequate" safety and sea rules, says Congressman Herbert C. Bonner, "still exist" He adds: "There is still the same danger."

Bonner is chairman of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. After the Doria dove 225 feet to the ocean bottom some 45 miles south of Nantucket, he named a panel of seadogs and marine engineers to find out what should be done to prevent another such tragedy.

★ ★ ★

The panel eventually filed with Congress a tentative blueprint for improving sea safety.

The blueprint included required sea lanes for ships, additional safeguards in ship design, better use of radar, installation of radio-telephone for bridge-to-bridge calls between passing ships and better cooperation in developing electric aids.

The recommendations are still only recommendations. Bonner said, "I'm certain nothing has been done."

WILL CALL FOR REPORTS

Nevertheless, in hopes of future action, the North Carolina Democrat plans to call on various agencies concerned, probably next week, for reports on whether they have taken any action at all.

And what of the captains involved on the fateful night of collision?

Captain Piero Calamai, who lost the Doria, has gone into seclusion at his Genoa home. Neither his servants nor friends of his two daughters will speak of him. The captain spends most of his day reading papers and books.

Sometimes neighbors spot him taking a walk. But he is never alone. At his side is his devoted wife, Signora Annamaria Piccardo, who is related to one of the big shipowning families of Genoa, the Accamos.

Some neighbors say the captain wants only to be "completely forgotten." Others speak of him as being in "retirement," although he is 59 and technically, according to the Italian Line, still in service.

Capt. Gunnar Nordenson, Massachusetts-born skipper of the Stockholm, is anything but retired, as he made evident when he brought his new ship, the Gripsholm, into New York Harbor on its third round-trip voyage last week.

The newly commissioned liner is the largest and fastest of the Scandinavian ships, and flagship of the Swedish-American Line.

IN GOOD HEALTH

"Yes," Nordenson said, sitting in spotless whites in his cabin, "Yes, my health is good. I've been examined by so many doctors it couldn't be anything else." He smiled calmly.

The 63-year-old captain did not want to talk about the collision, with millions in claims still outstanding. He is looking forward to his mandatory retirement for age sometime next year. "I have no particular plans," he said.

"We have a house in the islands (near Goteborg). On vacation I often go fishing for mackerel and whiting from a small boat."

The two biggest victims of the collision were the Stockholm, which lost her bow, and the 29,000-ton, 700-feet long Doria, which was valued at $29,000,000. The Stockholm had a new, million-dollar bow within three months.

The Doria still lies in about 39 fathoms. No such large ship ever has been raised from such a depth, but Russell Adams of North Scituate, R.I., is still seeking funds to try.

He would use special plastic balloons that would be stuffed into the hull and inflated with air. "It would cost about two or three million dollars," he estimated this week.

"But the hull, delivered to dry dock as raised, would be worth about seven and a half million. I'm still trying. I'd do the job tomorrow if we could get the money together."

Offshore Oil Production Begun in Saudi Arabia

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Oil production has begun in the Safaniya field off the Saudi Arabian mainland about 180 miles north of Dhahran.

This is the first offshore oil development in the Middle East. Initial production is 50,000 barrels a day. Expansion to 175,000 barrels a day by mid-1958 is scheduled. The present cost of facilities in this new field is about $21,000,000.

The U.S. Army has just published two volumes reviewing the work of the Army Signal Corps from the time of Pearl Harbor through the first 18 months of World War II.

Steamship Lines Spend Big Money in U.S.

WASHINGTON — United States-flag steamship lines in foreign and coastal trade are major customers for the nation's farmers and manufacturers, spending an estimated $500,000,000 for American goods and services annually.

They spend some $168,000,000 on fuel oil each year, $99,000,000 on maintenance and repairs, $72,000,000 on insurance services, $47,000,000 on food, and $44,000,00 on stores, supplies, and equipment.

U. S. fishing industry uses more than six million tons of ice annually.

Post Offices Dwindle but Increase in Size

WASHINGTON — The Post Office Department handled a record 56 billion pieces of mail in 1956 and did so with about as many Post Offices as the Department had in 1877 — 37,345 then and 37,515 in 1956.

Not since 1877 had there been fewer Post Offices than in 1956. In 1901 the United States had a record 76,945 Post Offices and only 7.4 billion pieces of mail. Today's Post Office's are larger, naturally.

'Little Bob' Taylor Imposing

Judge in 'Clinton Trial' Takes Care With Law

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

"Little Bob" Taylor takes great care with the law, and with his own dignity, as he presides over the Knoxville, Tenn., federal court.

"If I didn't act imposing up there," the 5-foot, 5½-inch judge has explained, "I'm afraid I might become too lenient.

"Before becoming a judge I was a small-town lawyer for 25 years. I have always liked and been interested in people."

★ ★ ★

Judge Robert L. Taylor also has always liked a smile and a touch of wit. He would be the first to see the humor in his warning to the jury in the just-finished segegationists' trial.

He told the jurors, "If you receive any threatening phone calls pertaining to this trial, don't answer them, and if you get any letters about this trial, don't open them."

The judge saw the trial end with the conviction of John Kasper and six fellow defendants for contempt in interfering with the peaceful integration of the high school at Clinton, Tenn.

Judge Taylor is the son and nephew of the two Taylors who battled against one another for the governorship of Tennessee in 1896, and succeeded one another in the governor's chair.

FOLLOWED UNCLE

His father was a Republican, but "Young Bob" became a Democrat after his uncle, for whom he was named.

He attended Yale University, practiced law in Johnson City, Tenn., and was appointed to the bench in 1949 by President Harry S. Truman. Now 57, he and Mrs. Taylor have a daughter 21 and a son 18.

The judge is nearly bald now, and when he smiles his face forms a nearly perfect circle so that he appears somewhat like a happy sun in a child's drawing book.

He never loses his dignity on the bench, although he reacts with expression to what the lawyers say and sometimes cannot resist a light quip.

But when a lawyer challenges his authority, the judge's voice can be cutting, as for example when he sustained an objection in the Kasper trial and the lawyer repeated the question.

Judge Taylor's voice crackled through the courtroom: "I sustained the objection . . . and I direct you not to ask it any more."

Raise School Budget

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — A record school budget of $970,208, an increase of $46,612 over last year, has been adopted by Grand Haven. The budget calls for a tax rate of $23.09 per thousand and requires an increase of 92 cents per thousand of assessed valuation.

Says Woodward Plan Would Create 'Mess'

DETROIT (INS) — Mayor Albert E. Cobo's plan to convert Woodward into a landscaped mall between Grand Circus Park and Michigan drew unfavorable comment from the Streets and Traffic Commission.

Commissioner John W. Southworth agreed with fellow commissioner Paul Ackerman as he candidly commented that such a move would create "a helluva mess."

Wayne Detention Home Costs Leap $750,000

DETROIT (INS)—Probate Judge Nathan J. Kaufman said estimated costs of the new Wayne County Juvenile Detention Home have leaped $750,000 above the original estimate of $4 million.

Judge Kaufman, in charge of juvenile court, said most of the increase is due to the fact that $950,000 will be required to buy the site (a two-block area bounded by St. Aubin, E. Hancock, E. Forest and Rivard)..

Casey's Whistle Saved

ST. LOUIS—The famous whistle on Illinois Central locomotive No. 382, which engineer Casey Jones rode to glory on a curve near Vaughan, Miss., April 30, 1900, can be seen in a museum in Bonne Terre, Mo. The whistle was given to his widow, who lent it to her brother. He used it on his own locomotive until he retired. Later it was used for a time on Missouri-Illinois engine No. 7.

Watch Production Up in French Industry

PARIS—Some 4,700,000 watches were manufactured in France in 1956. In 1938 France produced slightly more than 2,000,000 watches, but the greater part of those included Swiss parts.

Today the French watch industry, which numbers 500 companies and more than 8,000 employees, is completely independent.

About one-half the U. S. natural gas supply comes from Texas.

RENOUNCES TITLE—Father Andrei Urusov, a Catholic priest and teacher of anti-communism at the University of San Francisco, renounced his title of a prince of Imperial Russia to become an American citizen. Born in Moscow in 1914, the son of Prince Alexander Ouroussoff, he was taken eastward by relatives during the Red revolution in 1917 in which his parents were slain. He came to the U. S. from the Philippines in 1949.

Medical Conference Held Today, Friday

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The annual Coller - Penberthy Medical Conference will be held here today and Friday.

More than 200 physicians are expected to attend the annual meeting honoring two of Michigan's most prominent surgeons, Dr. Frederick A. Coller and Dr. Grover C. Penberthy.

Dr. Coller recently announced his retirement as chairman of the University of Michigan's Department of Surgery. Dr. Penberthy is clinical professor of surgery at Wayne State University.

The first such conference was held in 1922 and was originated by Coller and Dr. E. L. Thrilby of Traverse City, a 1902 U. of M. graduate. In 1937, the conference adopted its present name.

Former U. of M. President Alexander G. Ruthven will address the doctors this evening on "Education." Dr. Gordon Scott, dean of Wayne's College of Medicine, also is on the program.

Needed Seeing Eye to Drive Automobile

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A man came into A. J. Bishop's dry cleaning shop, asked for his suit, then asked Bishop to confirm the color.

"I don't see well," the customer explained. "Will you take your money from this bill and give me the change?"

Bishop made change, put the suit on a hanger and placed it in the man's hand.

The man turned, fumbled for the doorknob, and stepped outside to an automobile. He felt for the door handle, opened the door and gropingly hung up his suit.

Then he got behind the wheel and drove away.

Less Sperm Oil Taken

NARVIK, Norway—Final figures from the nine Norwegian expeditions that took part in this year's antarctic whaling show total production of 855,489 barrels of whale oil, or 200,641 barrels more than the previous season. Sperm-oil production was substantially less — 97,784 barrels against 128,810.

From 1946 through 1950 there were 48 new coal mines opened in Kentucky with a daily capacity of 11,200 tons.

Mission Load Eased

MONROVIA — Until very recently, education in Liberia was carried on largely by missionary and private groups. As late as 1944, seventy-eight per cent of all the education in the country was under those auspices. Today the Government provides 53 per cent of educational opportunities and missions 47 per cent.

Term Signifies Colorless Clump of Humanity

No One Likes to Be Called Average

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Research into the living and lazing habits of Americans reveals today that, if I am an "average" citizen, my household furniture will be sufficiently decayed for replacement 10 years after I bought it.

★ ★ ★

This is heartening news. It so happens that my furniture is only seven years old and already is abominably shabby—especially in those areas where derriere meets horsehair, and cigarette bids adieu to ashtray—so no one, thank heaven, can call me "average."

If there's anything the average person can't stand, it's to be called "average." Researchers —such as those at Battelle Memorial Institute in Columbus, who made this survey on how soon Americans' appurtenances-of-living run down and have to be replaced — should recognize this.

Revealing to the public that the "average housewife" kisses her husband at the door an average of four days a week, for instance, is quite enough to make a bothead like myself give up smooching altogether.

★ ★ ★

And I'm pretty sure that's the way such terminology affects millions of others, who refuse ot consider themselves a part of that colorless clump of humanity which Webster describes as "typical," "usual," "average" and "mean."

IGNORE THE FACTS

Thus, when the survey indicates further that the average family's refrigerator operates 12 years, the kitchen range 15 years, and the washer and ironer only 5, the inclination is to ignore the facts and consult the pocketbook.

Maybe the "average" family can keep a stove for 15 years, but not ours, buster. We'd rather be associated with the above-average Joneses who have a new pink range with a windshield wiper on the broiler door.

Proof of this spirited American fight against being pigeonholed with the proletariat is the Battelle Institute's final bit of true, but ignorable, information.

They say that the life span of the average car, being operated by the average family doing an average amount of traveling, is 13 years. Thirteen years, they say, from factory to junk-heap.

★ ★ ★

Well, any American who kept a car 13 years these days would be considered the average odd-ball.

He'd rather be caught typically dead!

Speaking of averages, the law of same said it had to happen . . . what has happened to next fall's fashions, that is.

★ ★ ★

Things had been rather quiet and refined for two long years in the dress and coat department. After all, how long could a woman be expected to assume her normal shape, her reasonable style sanity, her conservative good grooming, without causing the European designers to get restless?

So next fall, the top European couturiers say, the ladies will wear shapeless chemise dresses for daytime and spherical balloon dresses for evening. That's the average well-dressed ladies, of course.

We off-beat eccentrics may just go right on belting in our a-typical middies.

Commonwealth Train Climbs to 9,130 Feet

KAMJALA, Uganda—The Uganda Railway, now part of the East African Railways, originates at the Indian Ocean port of Mombasa and runs to Kampala, Uganda's biggest city.

The journey takes 47 hours and carries travelers from a point 70 feet above sea level to a height of 9,130 feet, making this the highest railroad in the British Commonwealth.

Family Dispute Aired in Classified Ad Section

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — A family spat was thoroughly aired in the classified ad section of the Casper Tribune-Herald.

"I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by anyone other than myself," the husband asserted in his ad.

It was followed by another from the wife:

"I have always been responsible for your bills and mine, too."

Horse Paid Deer Price

REEDSVILLE, Wis. (AP) — Arthur Wagner took extra precautions to prevent irrational hunters from mistaking his brown riding horse for a deer. But he wasn't quite careful enough.

Wagner kept the $275 horse in the barn during Wisconsin's nine-day deer season.

Three minutes after the season closed, he let the horse into a pasture for exercise. A few minutes later, he heard a shot. He found the horse dead, shot through the chest with a shotgun slug.

Admits Stealing Auto, Worried About Wife, 15

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Highway patrolmen said a 18-year-old Detroit youth quickly admitted stealing the car in which he was arrested while en route to an Ohio race track.

But, officers said, the youth was troubled about how to make another kind of admission. He did not know how he would explain it to his wife, 15, whom he married three months ago.

TV Teaches Typing

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University has found television a better teacher of typewriting than a classroom instructor.

In a test conducted by MSU's bureau of business research television-taught students, who had no instructor in the classroom, not only learned to type faster, but made fewer errors than did students taught in a classroom. The bureau conceded the television technique's novelty might have been a factor.

Hal Boyle Says:

Office Loafers Can Outact Actors

NEW YORK (AP)—Anyone who loves the theater can have a wonderful time in the average business office just watching how its inhabitants kill time.

This form of free entertainment holds more dramatic interest than a trip to the theater because at a theater you can see only one play at a time. In the average office, however, you watch anywhere from 10 to 100 actors putting on individual shows at the same time.

Nor is office acting in any sense on a lower level than that seen on Broadway. Actually, it's far more subtle. Almost any showoff can be taught to step up on a stage and mouth a few memorized lines or gestures. But the acting skill shown by an office actor who is pretending to work while really only killing time requires an ability to improvise under pressure, the real test of greatness in any field.

★ ★ ★

In this respect, it must be admitted, the American business world produces hundreds of thousands of unsung Barrymores every year.

They are "the great pretenders"—whose highly polished art consists in appearing to be vitally busy while actually doing nothing but keeping an eye on the clock until quitting time.

If you look around, maybe you'll find some of the following types of timekillers acting in your own office:

1. The Efficient Housekeeper—Every morning he spends cleaning out his desk, every afternoon rearranging his files. But he is never quite ready tomorrow to attack the day before yesterday's work.

2. The Prowling Ferret—With brows knit in agonizing thought, hands locked behind his back, he stalks endlessly around the office as if in search of one single answer to all the firm's problems. His box score at nightfall: 20 trips to the water cooler, 7 to the men's room.

3. The Dubious Lover — This married Romeo, holding a business letter in his hand as a prop, goes from stenographer to stenographer, whispering, "Next year I'll take you to Havana but right now how about a weekend in Philadelphia." But if one of the girls really took him up on his proposition, he'd melt away faster than the abominable snowman.

4. The Harried Debtor—He rolls up his sleeves and buries himself up to his armpits in a pile of important papers on his desk. He keeps a wary eye, however, so that no one can peek over his shoulders and see that the papers consist of his personal bills, his household budget, his state and federal income tax returns, and a small pamphlet entitled, "Ten Easy Ways To Pay Off A Home Mortgage."

5. The Lonely Heart—Believing that two can act better than one, he goes over to the other fellow's desk and asks him nonsense questions such as, "Do you think the light in here is ruining our eyes?" or, "If you could retire right now, where would you want to live?"

6. The Dull Cowbird—This witless pest doesn't have enough originality to invent his own methods of shirking work, so he imitates the others. But he does it so poorly that he endangers the whole office, and everyone has a desire to poison him.

7. The Daredevil—Figuring that all life is merely a bold bluff, this wily gambler does no work at all. But after sitting for two hours with both feet on his desk, he strolls into the boss's office at 11 a.m., and says cheerfully, "All clear, chief, what can I do for you now?"

★ ★ ★

There they are—seven office characters in search of an audience. And in case the boss should suddenly choke to death on a martini olive during an important business luncheon, which of these seven career timekiller's will get his job?

Naturally the best actor wins. Nine out of 10 times The Daredevil will become boss—if he isn't fired first.

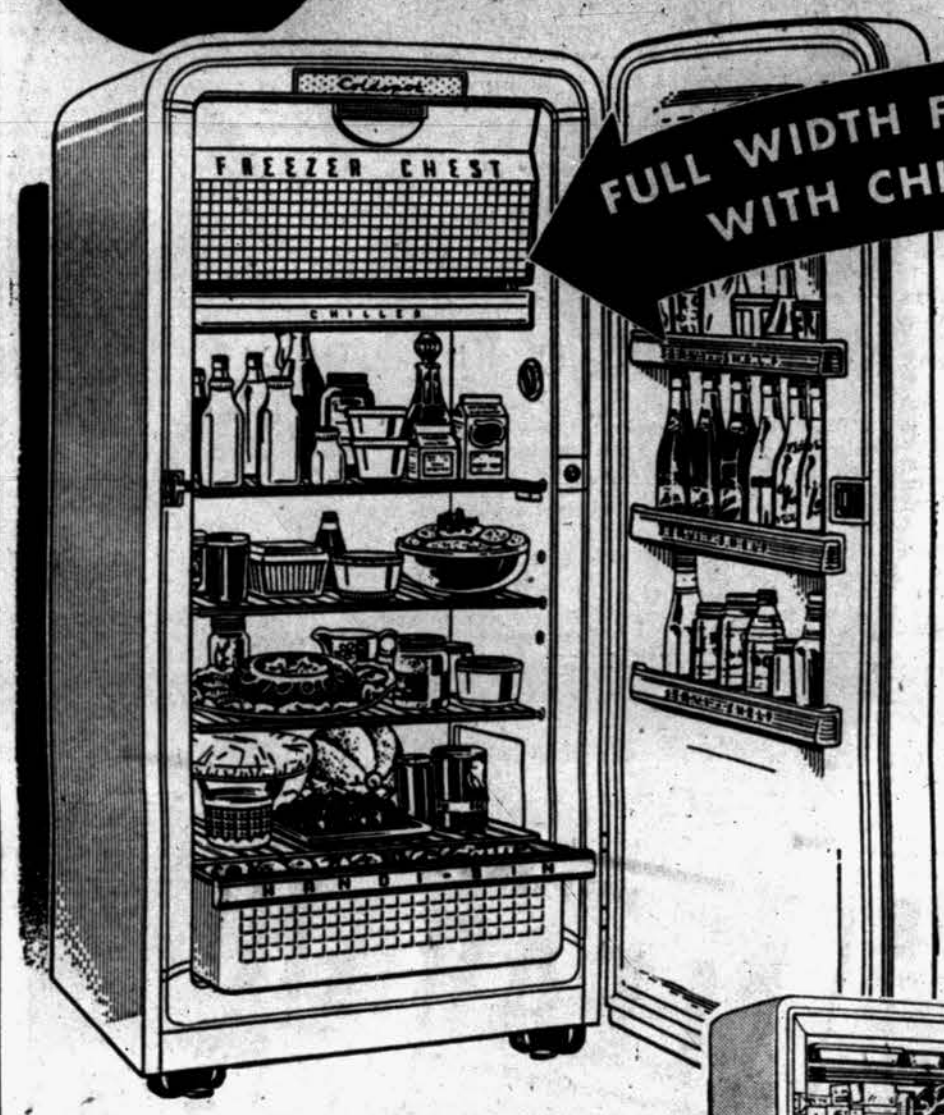

Approximately 40,000 foreign students representing 136 countries came to United States schools for study during the 1956-57 year.

'Holiday From Rules' for Education

By ELEANOR G. DUCKWITZ
Walled Lake Correspondent

Take four active elementary students, a good script, intriguing sets, camera man, lighting and wardrobe assistants, the narration of Bob Maxwell, the inspired direction of Bill and Laurette Murray, two weeks time—and you have the recipe for the latest local Portafilms production, "Holiday from Rules."

Incredible? Yes, but possible with all the advance planning which was done to insure the success of the venture. It all began last fall when a committee of Walled Lake school faculty met as an audio visual committee to develop the script.

With Nina Kropidloski, Walled Lake elementary supervisor as chairman and principals Cecil Scott, Max Burt, Duane Fisher, and Floyd Chowen as members of the committee the enterprise was launched. In addition the following teachers served as advisors: Jack Simonton, June Zimmerman, Jim Poteet, and Doris Chellis.

The general area which the group was considering was citizenship training in which they delved into respect for property, taking care of things, respect for authority and sportsmanship.

From this there evolved the script involving "rules" on which there was unanimous agreement. But just to make sure that the group was not prejudiced, the completed script was sent to the audio-visual or curriculum heads of the Los Angeles, St. Louis, and Detroit schools for thorough checking. All expressed approval so filming plans were put into operation.

As in some of their previous films, Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of the Walled Lake schools, gave the Murrays permission to use students in the elementary schools of the district in the cast.

Approximately 40 students read parts of the script under the direction of the Murrays and at last four were selected. They were Janet Moody, Ellen Rand, John Hoehner, and Bill Irons, all of whom live in Westacres.

As soon as school closed for the summer the four were picked up each morning and taken to the Murrays' home on Warner drive. There for the first time they saw a complete script and began to read through it. During the first week also, they were thoroughly acquainted with the camera, the lights which were to be used, make-up, and were outfitted in the wardrobes they were to wear the next week.

One day, too, Bob Maxwell, well known Detroit radio and television personality who was to narrate the script, worked with the children to acquaint them with the continuity and timing of the scenes. One night they took their scripts home to share with their parents.

In the opening scene, the children in their bright clothes are disclosed against a black background, a device which the Murrays have used previously to concentrate attention on the actors.

They are wishing that there weren't so many rules which they have to obey. When asked what they would like to do about it they respond that they would like to go where there are no rules. Since rules are always found wherever there are any people they realize they must go somewhere that has never been discovered—perhaps some far-away island. By pretending, they suddenly find themselves on such a fabulous island, which has pink bushes and purple trees, among its other fantastic attributes.

On the island they are immediately beset by all sorts of problems. One of the first is how to convince the man-eating sharks to leave them alone so they can swim. Then they find an animal and because there are no rules they fight over it and it gets away.

The beautiful seashells they discover are broken because each tries to get them from the others. Because they won't share a coconut they attack it like animals. Before long they are bruised, dishevelled and accusing each other of being unfair.

REASON FOR RULES

The accused always responds that nothing is unfair because there are no rules. In this sorry state of affairs they come to the conclusion that rules are made to be helpful and to protect them, as well as property.

Once again they wish very hard and are back home where rules keep things orderly and their play fair. They conclude that if you find out why rules are made you obey them.

Now all are anxiously waiting to see the final takes. The two weeks were not all work however, as each day there was time for a swim in Green Lake. The Murrays are particularly pleased about the fact that the two non-swimmers have learned confidence and ventured into deep water at the end of the time. There was also a picnic lunch each day eaten under the trees. When weather prevented swimming, other games such as basketball were played. All of the children expressed the wish that the film had not ended so soon.

When the art work, the animation between scenes, sound editing and cutting are completed, the film will be ready for distribution. The Murrays hope that this will be accomplished by September.

Although comparative newcomers in the educational film field, Bill and Laurette Murray have already gained fame. Last year their film, "Helping Johnny Remember," was judged the best educational film in the elementary field produced in the United States. It received a silver award at the Golden Reel Film Festival.

In addition to those already mentioned who helped produce "Holiday from Rules," there was Mrs. David Eicher who served as script girl and wardrobe mistress; Paul Loman, the cameraman; Richard Teneau, sound recorder, and Earl Noodel, gaffer.

BRANDON THEATER DATE — "Mr. Barry's Etchings," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the Brandon Community Players at 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday. The play, directed by Bill Solley, is a popular offering by amateur groups which features a "man of the world" who dabbles in the arts — especially copper etchings and counterfeit. Above are players (left to right) Marian Troyer, Catherine Tower and Jim Bush. Others in this fourth production of the players are Marge Coventry, Paul Cook, Arnold Hungerford, Hazel Solley, Ann Filhart, Solley, William Grappan, Barbara Jarvis, Maxine Benitez and Dmitri Svetcos.

Leonard Area Obtains Clinic

Three Doctors Start Service After Months of Preparation

LEONARD—Located in the Lanphar Building here will be a new clinic staffed by Drs. P. S. Marsa, E. A. Calkins, and W. W. Oliphant, all of Lake Orion.

A committee has been working for several months to secure the services of a doctor for this community. Meetings and coffee hours have been held to acquaint the citizens with prospective physicians.

Office hours are 7-9 p.m. Mondays; 10 to 12 a.m. Wednesdays; and Thursday evenings. The telephone number is OA 3-1110 with an emergency number to be announced later.

Mrs. Marlene Mallia will be on duty at the center as nurse. The doctors have expressed their appreciation for the work done by the committee in charge of Mrs. Hiram Terry, making is possible for them to serve the area.

Drs. Calkins and Oliphant will alternate with their services at the clinic as Dr. Marsa will be on duty in the Belgian Congo for about three years.

Accepts Post in Hawaii

Romeo Educator to Resign

ROMEO — Walter Sewell of Washington, president of the Romeo Board of Education, has accepted a position with the Hawaiian Sugar Planters Assn. in Honolulu.

He will serve as an agricultural engineer for the firm.

Sewell, his wife and three children will sail Aug. 29 on the SS Lurline for Hawaii.

He will resign from his present position at the Ford Tractor Division in Birmingham Aug. 1, and he and his family plan to leave Aug. 6 for the west coast.

★ ★ ★

Acceptance of this new job will necessitate Sewell's resignation from the local school board. He was re-elected to his term in June and named to the presidency shortly afterward.

★ ★ ★

Fellow board members will appoint a new member to fill his unexpired term as soon as they are officially notified of his resignation.

Men's Group to Meet

UNION LAKE — The Business Men's Assn. here plans its next luncheon meeting for Monday at 12:30 p.m., in the Cooley Lounge Restaurant. The group yesterday chartered a boat at Caseville for a fishing excursion.

British Planes Bomb Fort Held by Rebels

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — The rebel-held fort at Nizwa, ancient capital of Oman, was the Royal Air Force's target for today as Britain kept up its jet-powered drive to put down an uprising against the Sultan of Muscat and Aman.

British jets firing rockets and machine guns flew 12 sorties against rebel tribesmen in the rugged desert region yesterday and claimed they gutted Ft. Izki, in the Wadi Halfin area.

Officials in London said the use of ground troops in support of pro-British Sultan Said bin Taimur was not planned, but two companies of the Cameronian Rifles from Kenya arrived at the RAF's Sharja base in Oman. The veteran campaigners were fully equipped for desert action.

Husband Found Dead

A Brighton man was found shot to death in the home of his estranged wife in Walled Lake yesterday. A shotgun was between his legs.

Everette Davidson, 43, of 7495 Butcher Rd., Brighton, was the victim.

His wife told Sheriff's deputies he had struck her after an argument and she fled to a neighbor's house. Davidson attempted to get into the house but was unable to, she said, and returned to her home after which she heard a shot.

Throws Out Haircut Conviction

Air Commander Reverses Decision of Court-Martial

TOKYO (AP)—A U. S. Air Force commander today threw out the conviction of an airman who refused to get a "white sidewall" haircut freeing him from four months at hard labor, a $200 fine and reduction in rank to private.

The airman, 20-year-old Donald Wheeler of Cortez, Colo., was convict d of disobeying an order. He ler of Cortez, Colo., was convicted of disobeying an order. He claimed he had only "challenged" it and said today if given the order again "I'd probably refuse it . . . or I'd challenge it . . it would not be a legal order."

★ ★ ★

As for future haircuts, an Air Force officer said there's no longer any requirement on "white sidewalls"—prescribed for the Far East Command Honor Guard of which Wheeler was a member—because the unit has been disbanded. A "white sidewall" strips the head bare to the crown.

Col. Charles W. Johnstone of Reno, Nev., Wheeler's base commander, tossed out the conviction, saying he had found legal procedural errors in the summary court-martial that ended Monday. He added there would not be another trial.

"I have talked with Airman Wheeler and am convinced that he has undergone a considerable change of attitude," Johnstone said in a statement. "I do not consider that further trial would serve the cause of justice, the interests of the Air Force or the individual."

Wheeler was released from the Air Force stockade at Haneda Air Force Base, where he had been confined since Monday night. He was restored to his rank of Airman 3rd Class.

At a news conference following his release, Wheeler said:

"Yes I have changed my attitude . . . I'm going to do whatever it takes to be a respectable airman, to prove to them that I have been one and also to be one."

However, Wheeler said, "I'm not going to change any principles.

"I'd rather obey an order than go through all this trouble, but not in the case of a real ridiculous order."

★ ★ ★

Wheeler said he plans to get a regulation haircut—the kind he contends he always has had—the first thing tomorrow.

"It's gotten kind of long—I haven't had a haircut for five days," he said with a grin.

Asked about his lawyer's statement during the trial that Lt. Shortt was "out to get" him, Wheeler replied:

"Maybe he was, maybe he wasn't. Let's put it this way—I forgive him. You can't hold a grudge against everybody all your life. If you did, you wouldn't have any friends."

★ ★ ★

He disclosed that he does not plan to re-enlist when his time is up in September 1958. He is scheduled to leave Japan on Aug. 18 for Chandler Air Force Base in Minnesota.

The charges against Wheeler did not mention haircuts. The Air Force argued that the case was a "routine" matter of military discipline. The conviction could have brought a maximum penalty of six months in prison, a bad conduct discharge from the Air Force and loss of two-thirds pay for six months.

Fresh Crews Join Idaho Fire Fight

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Fresh crews were sent to the foothills north of Boise today to fight a fire that had swept an estimated 5,000 acres and remained out of control.

A state of emergency, ordered by Idaho's governor was in effect to permit the use of National Guard troops and equipment. Three soldier-operated bulldozers were on the scene and men were alerted.

At one time during the night the fire reversed itself suddenly, racing down a canyon toward this capital city, but another shift took the blaze back up the hill and it lacked a mile or so of reaching residential areas.

The Bureau of Land Management said no homes or other buildings had been damaged and no injuries had been reported.

25 Men Attend CD Police Course Opening Session

Twenty-five men attended the first meeting of the Civil Defense Auxiliary police training course held at the Waterford Township hall last night.

Trooper Gerald Tafel of the Pontiac State Police Post presented a movie of the Flint tornado disaster, and gave instructions to the men regarding the organization of various sectors in the township.

The men were fingerprinted, and will be issued armbands, helmets, and police night sticks in the near future, according to Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson, who is acting as director of the township civil defense group.

Meetings of the police group will be held at 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday for the next six weeks, and applications are still being accepted for work in this phase of the CD program, Johnson said.

Bus Collides Headon, 10 Hurt, None Critically

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—A Greyhound bus with 38 passengers aboard collided headon early today with an automobile on U. S. 40 about two miles east of Cambridge. Ten persons were hurt, none critically.

The state highway patrol said a New York-to-St. Louis bus pulled out of line to pass a slow-moving truck and struck a car driven by a Dayton, Ohio, man.

3rd Year at Interlochen

Ortonville Girl Wins Scholarship at MSU

By MARTHA LEWIS
Ortonville Correspondent

ORTONVILLE — Carol Burt a graduate this year from Brandon Township High School now is a student at Camp Interlochen for her third year. She is taking university work and is enrolled for eight weeks.

★ ★ ★

At present, she is working for six credits. She also is a member of the Festival Choir, the band and is studying theory.

One year, Carol was awarded a scholarship by the Band Parents Club of Brandon township, which entitled her to one term at the music camp.

Though she has not studied voice, the young student received first rating in solo and ensemble in state contests during her high school years.

When she is home, one may find her each Sunday morning, singing in the choir at the Baptist Church here. She also is an advanced student on the tenor saxophone and often is heard either vocally or with her "sax" at different organizational gatherings.

Last winter Carol had a part in the chorus at Flint when the "Messiah" was presented. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Burt of West Mill street here.

Carol will enter Michigan State University this fall, where she has been awarded a scholarship and will major in music.

Strangely-shaped maps on walls in many NATO military offices show the world as it would look to a man looking down from above the North Pole.

The European and North American continents stretch out like two parallel columns on which are marked the important places in the Northern Hemisphere.

There are Moscow, capital of the Russians; Paris, capital of the French; London, capital of the Britons; Washington, capital of the Americans, and Omaha, capital of the atomic bombers.

Washington and Omaha, in fact, are the only U. S. cities shown on the map.

The fact that the home of the U. S. Strategic Air Command is one of the two American cities worth pinpointing on this global map is mute evidence that:

1. NATO and its military leaders are convinced that SAC is of critical importance in persuading the Russians to keep the peace.

2. Although SAC is a purely American command, Western Europe does not feel it could be safe without it.

For SAC and the British Bomber Command are the biggest clubs the Free World holds to keep the Russians peaceful.

Some day the two commands will become obsolete or will be given guided missiles instead of airplanes that men have to fly.

But until that day comes, until nations are certain they have enough missiles of absolute accuracy and intercontinental range, SAC and Bomber Command must fill the breach.

Bob Considine Says:

Jaunt Provides Tale for Grandkids

WASHINGTON (INS) — We may not make the first trip to the moon, but when that great-great-grandchild climbs on our knee and asks, "What did you ever do interesting?" we can always give off a reflectively toothless cackle and say, "Wal, nipper, there was that first trip of the D. C. Transit Company's Silver Sightseer. Must have been back in July of '57, thereabouts."

It was something at that.

* * *

Our 20-cent streetcar sight-see took shape at the stroke of 1 p.m. in front of the Raleigh Hotel. Bandsmen aboard two museum-type open-air cars, circa 1890, were dressed in police helmets and the mustachios of that era.

Behind the old cars purred the pale, pea - green refrigerated sightseeing car. And behind this group—stalled by the christening ceremony — was a line of ordinary Washington streetcars, probably filled with fine lady government clerks trying to get to emergency hospital to have the baby during the lunch hour.

Lots of dignitaries were cutting up on the loading platform, all conscious that they were being televised. ("Remember these old cars running around Washington?" "Can't hear you on account of the band and the rain falling on the mike." "Didn't get that question about Mike . . .")

* * *

At last the intrepid pioneers were piped aboard. The photographers spotted Virginia Warren, the dear daughter of the chief justice, and commanded her to point out a rain-streaked window.

She obeyed, pointing at what appeared through the fog to be the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, a sullen brown building. And off we went.

PRETTY HOSTESSES

Two pretty stewardesses, Dorothy Collins and Celeste Stewart, trim in their uniforms, braced themselves at the front of the car, introduced themselves as well as the operator ("It's too nice a streetcar to call him a motorman," explained O. Roy Chalk, the line's president), and then told the purpose of the trip.

* * *

Miss Collins had barely reached the second paragraph of her spiel when a photographer sat down in the seat before her. She gave off a little gasp and then cried, "You're sitting on my speech." Turned out that her script was pinned to the seat.

Miss Collins gave it up as a bum idea and went to the back of the car, while we soundlessly whirred past an equestrian figure completely shrouded in starling tokens, and skirted the hole that once was the Washington Post.

"Do you think you should start telling them?" Miss Collins sang out to her colleague, still standing up front. We were screeching round the bend near the Treasury.

* * *

"We'll start with the Treasury, where most of you all's money is," smiled Miss Stewart. The car shook with muffled cheers and catcalls. "This is where the treasurer of the United States, Ivy Baker Priest, works. She . . ."

THERE HE IS!

"There's Les Carpenter!" Ymelda Dixon broke in, and we all swiveled our heads and waved to the startled Washington correspondent of the Houston Post, standing on the curb. It is not known whether he will be a regular attraction.

* * *

We tooled along a five - yard stretch identified hurriedly by Miss Stewart as "known as the financial section of Washington." She got in a word about the statue of Gallatin—something improbable about the Treaty of Ghent—and now we were abreast of the White House.

The British burned it once, Miss Stewart charged, lowering her voice. It's a real old one, she added. "George Washington walked through it just before his death with his wife," she said, touched.

Blair House and the eager sightseers were dealt with succinctly. "Here's where Robert E. Lee signed his commission in the Army and where foreign dignitaries stay. Thank you for coming."

* * *

The trip was over. The adventurers piled out, assured by the management that this was just a preview of a much more extensive trip that included the Capitol, the Washington Monument, and the Bureau for the Standardization of Nuts, Screws and Bolts.

Yes, sir, it was well worth the trip. Washingtonians, after all these years, now have something to do.

The name of the Dominican Republic, in the West Indies is evolved from Saint Dominic, patron saint of the father of Columbus.

Court Must Decide on 'Baby Switch'

ROUBIAX, France—A "switched babies" case that started six years ago in Roubiax, France, still is undecided. Two tearful mothers have failed to agree. Both of them want the girl baby in the mixup — neither wants the boy. Madame J. Piesset was told by a hospital nurse that she had a boy baby. About the same time Madame R. Derock was told she was mother of a girl.

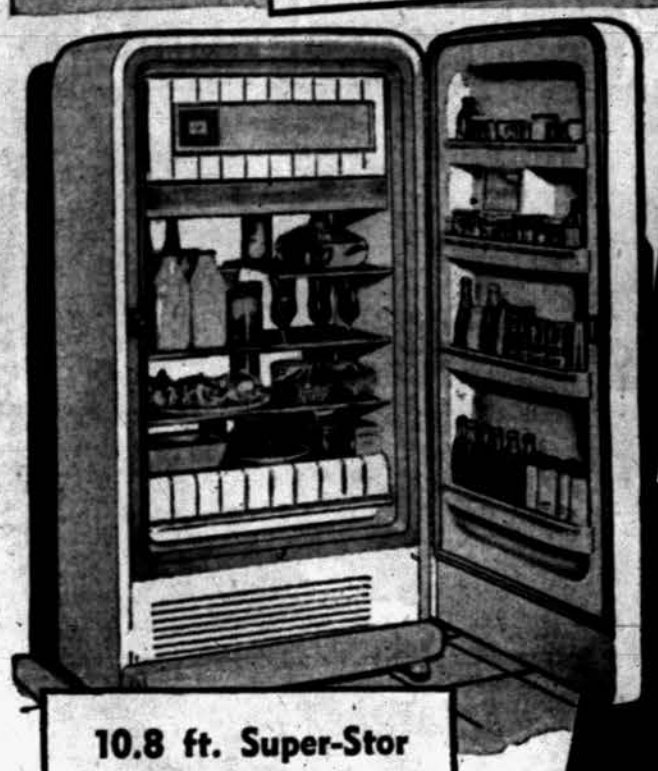

Ten days later, back at home, each found she had been misinformed. The hospital insisted no mistake had been made. Blood tests were inconclusive as all four parents are of the same blood group. Since then, the Piessets (who have the little girl) have thrived, while the Derocks are in poor circumstances. The courts must decided whether the little boy is being deprived of his birthright.

Rail Grade Mishaps Decline 5.7 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission says railroad grade crossing accidents declined in 1956—with the casualty rate hitting a 10-year record low—despite a 2' million rise in motor vehicle registrations.

The ICC said rail carriers reported 3,379 rail - highway grade crossing accidents involving motor vehicles last year. In 67 per cent of them, trains hit vehicles and in 33 per cent vehicles ran into the sides of trains.

In the mishaps, 1,202 persons were killed and 3,629 injured. However, the accident total was 204 or 5.7 per cent under 1955.

39 Bills Enacted This Year

Congress Includes Control of Red Ants Among Major Measures

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—By including such items as control of imported red ants, the 85th Congress this week laid claim to enactment of 39 "major" measures during the almost seven months it has been in session.

The claim was made in the periodic summary of "major legislative actions" prepared by the Office of Coordinator of Information.

In addition to the ant control and 38 other measures it listed, the summary shows that the Senate ratified one treaty—on atomic energy—and the House condemned one foreign nation — Red China. Eleven of the bills enacted were appropriation measures.

More moderate claims on "major legislation" are made in the equally official calendars of legislation published daily by the clerk of the House and the secretary of the Senate. The calendars list 13 appropriation bills, including two minor measures, and three "major" legislative measures as having been enacted.

The three are the new housing law, extension of corporate and excise tax rates, and a law to carry out President Eisenhower's plan for Middle East economic and military cooperation.

Many other bills are in a position to be acted on finally before adjournment of the present session, now scheduled for late August, unless the Senate's civil rights debate prevents consideration of them.

In the field of "major" legislation, the coordinator's office lists these measures as having become law, in addition to the calendar listings and appropriation bills:

Extension of the law suspending limits on the size of the armed forces

Continuation of legislation permitting the induction of doctors, dentists and other specialists into the armed forces.

Extension of authority for enlistment of aliens in the regular Army.

Deferment of payments on United Kingdom loan.

Extension of the operating authority of the Export-Import Bank.

Authority for agreements to construct atomic reactors in West Germany.

Extension of existing law suspending duties on scrap metal imports.

Requirement that the Atomic Energy Commission obtain specific authority from Congress for civilian power project appropriations.

★ ★ ★

Increase in lending authority of the Small Business Administration.

Increase in borrowing power of the Federal National Mortgage Assn.

Authority for the Treasury to pay interest up to 3.26 per cent on savings bonds.

Extension of duty-free importation of gifts from members of the armed forces serving abroad.

Consolidation of laws governing veterans' benefits.

★ ★ ★

A grazing and feed program for farmers in drought areas.

Increase in acreage allotment of durum wheat.

Authority for using 50,000 bales of long-staple cotton from the defense stockpile to relieve a market shortage.

Price supports for the 1957 crop of extra-long-staple cotton.

A program to control and eradicate plant pests, including imported fire ants.

Amendments to the 1956 small reclamation projects law.

Increase in borrowing authority for the St. Lawrence Seaway Corp.

★ ★ ★

Approval of a New England states flood control compact.

Extension of time for completing assessment work on uranium-lignite mining claims.

Minor revisions in the Social Security laws.

Continuance of federal aid for the blind in Pennsylvania and Missouri.

Revision of the formula for computing Social Security grants to states for medical and other assistance.

Communist China was censured in a House resolution for failure to account for war prisoners taken in Korea.

The treaty ratified by the Senate was the international atomic energy agency agreement.

Agent 'Murders' 36 to Collect Insurance

FIFE, Scotland — A part-time insurance agent in Fife, Scotland, for the Savation Army Assurance Society "killed" 36 people in two years and benefited to the extent of $8,400 through their "deaths." "There must have been an epidemic," the London office of the insurance society thought when claims began to come in through their agent, Birell Davidson, in the village of Konnoway (population 1,783).

He had created fictitious people and sent documents insuring them under life and endowment policies. He paid premiums and forged signatures when he claimed a death. Fifty-five policies were involved and 36 forged certificates. He told the court, when sentenced to two years, that he had needed the money to meet betting losses.

Mrs. Roosevelt, Stassen Guests at Student Confab

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Harold Stassen and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt are expected to attend the 10th annual National Student Congress at the University of Michigan Aug. 20-30.

A thousand delegates from American colleges are expected to attend the conclave sponsored by the U. S. National Student Assn. (USNSA). The University described the congress as a meeting of "the world's largest single democratic student organization."

The representatives will discuss segregation in higher education, federal aid to undergraduates and college athletic policies.

The widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Stassen, U. S. delegate at the United Nations disarmament talks in London, will receive awards from the association. Stassen formerly was governor of Minnesota and president of the University of Pennsylvania.

The USNSA represents 350 colleges and universities with combined enrollments totalling more than 800,000 students.

Contractors Will Bid on U.S. 2 Widening

LANSING (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie says bids will be taken Aug. 14 for widening and resurfacing a three-mile section of U. S. 2 near the northern approach to the Straits of Mackinac Bridge.

The project will widen the highway for four lanes in St. Ignace and north to Castle Rock and will connect with the four-lane divided highway now under construction from Castle Rock north toward Sault Ste. Marie.

Mackie said he also has ordered department planners to draw up a blueprint for a four-lane divided highway from the northern end of the bridge around St. Ignace to connect with U. S. 2.

Prepare Regulations for Driver Training

LANSING (INS) — The State Department of Public Instruction is preparing regulations governing the use of commercial driving schools in the state's Juvenile Driver Training Program.

A department spokesman said the regulations must be approved by Gov. Williams and only local boards of education will be able to authorize driver education by private concerns.

Sliding Into Retirement Now Possible

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Retirement, like education and jazz before it, may be going "progressive."

It is, at least, for the people working for the Bell & Howell Co., marketers of photographic and optical equipment.

Next January, the Chicago company will put into effect a plan which will make it possible for its workers to slide into retirement, rather than fall into it.

Here's how it will work:

Age 65 will be considered the normal retirement age. But, any physically fit employe who wishes to continue to work after 65 may do so. However, during the first year after his 65th birthday, he must take a month off, plus his vacation, on his own time. The second year he must take off two months, the third year three months. On the Jan. 1 nearest his 68th birthday, he must retire.

Whether this sort of "progressive retirement plan will catch on is anybody's guess. Right now, it's one of the few of its kind, if not the only one.

One of its problems was its old policy of letting its people work as long as they were able and retire voluntarily.

To make its plan of compulsory retirement more acceptable, it started a profit sharing retirement program to replace a less liberal pension plan.

Then, it set out to make the road from work to retirement as smooth as possible.

It found that its older workers had five main reasons for not wanting to retire:

(1) Not enough money saved up to retire with any real feeling of financial security.

(2) Would be "bored to death" with so much leisure time.

(3) Feeling of being all "washed up and ready for the shelf."

(4) Loss of self-respect and respect of friends.

(5) Fear of major illness and its result: loss of savings.

With these as the basis for action, the company got a university to work out an 11-week discussion group program and invited 160 employes over 60 to a meeting to see if they'd be interested in the program.

Most said they were and the group discussions were started in a short time. That was three years ago. Since then, more than 150 people have graduated from the seven group sessions which have been held.

How successful has the program been?

Here's what one company official said:

"We have been able to change the very negative mental attitude toward retirement on the part of may of our maturing employes to one of anticipation in numerous cases and one of resignation in others.

"The program has paid off as far as the company is concerned through the satisfaction the management receives from doing something worthwhile for its employes."

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge of this service.)

Asks Review of Dismissal

NEA Ends Investigation of Firing of Teacher by Monroe Board

MONROE (AP)—The National Education Assn. last night asked the Monroe Board of Education to review its decision in the dismissal of school principal Ruth Amen.

The NEA ended a three-day investigation of the dismissal of Miss Amen with criticism of the Board of Education.

"It is of immediate concern to the citizens of Monroe that the Board review its decision in the Amen case," the NEA investigating committee said in a statement.

"The committee finds it difficult to justify the Board's failure to give her (Miss Amen) a year's probationary period in which to correct her failure to go along with the Board's policies."

Board members saw in the statement a threat of a teacher boycott by the NEA.

STATEMENTS SIMILAR

The "immediate concern" portion of the committee statement was similar to an earlier statement by the Michigan Education Assn. that it would be unethical for members to work for the Monroe Board.

At the end of last night's hearing, committee members said they will convene in two or three weeks to evaluate the testimony given at the hearings.

The NEA defense committee came to Monroe after the city school board refused to renew Miss Amen's contract. Miss Amen has served as an elementary school principal for 11 years.

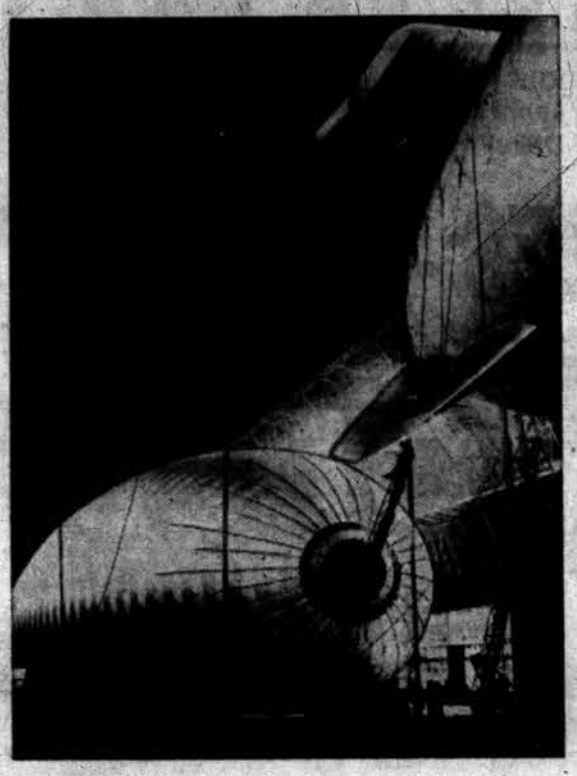

School Board President William L. Taft told the new group last night the threat of a teachers' boycott conflicts with "the cooperation the NEA says it seeks."

Taft said Miss Amen's contract was not renewed because she was "unable to get along with parents, pupils, the superintendent and Board policies."

Army Can't Scalp Injun

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Pvt. Harold Brokeshoulder of Ft. Carson, Colo., a native of Lawton, Okla., is the only member of the 39th Infantry Regiment allowed to deviate from the standard GI haircut. The reason: He's a full-blooded Apache Indian. Brokeshoulder has a strip of hair down the centre of his scalp which, he says, is traditional for the Apaches.

The Statue of Liberty weighs 225 tons.

WORLD'S LARGEST — The largest nonrigid airship ever built nears completion in the world's largest hangar at Akron, Ohio. The huge envelope (or gas bag) of the U. S. Navy's ZPG-3W airship is undergoing finishing touches in Goodyear Aircraft Corporation's huge hangar. Project details have not been released, but it is believed to be at least one and a half times the size of the largest airships currently in Naval service for airborne "early warning" missions.

65-Ton Earth Block Used in Water Tests

COSHOCTON, Ohio — Researchers of the Agriculture Department's Watershed Hydrology Station near Coshocton are using a 65-ton test plot of earth, resting on its own giant scales, to learn what happens to water after it falls to earth.

The 1/500th-acre block of earth appears to be just a plot about 6 feet wide and 14 feet long, bordered on all sides by narrow, ground-level concrete walls. But actually the walls go 8 feet into the ground. Earth beneath the block has been cut away to make room for highly sensitive scales and other measuring equipment.

The weight of the huge chunk of earth is automatically recorded every 10 minutes, accurately measuring the lightest dew or the heaviest rainfall.

Suing Utica-Bend to Recover Losses

DETROIT (AP) — The Macomb Electric Co. of Mt. Clemens is suing the Utica-Bend Corp. in federal court here to recover losses which it claims total $150,000 on a sub-contract for repair of jet engines.

The suit was filed yesterday. It said Macomb entered into a $219,907 defense sub-contract with Utica-Bend, a subsidiary of Curtis-Wright Corp. Utica-Bend has a plant in Shelby Township.

Macomb claimed that "many factors and conditions" of enacting the contract were not made known during the bidding. The firm said the repair job cost $370,000.

★ ★ ★

The suit asked the court to raise the price of the contract to the larger amount "to enable the defendant to recoup losses and realize some profits."

Swim-Suit Sales Rise

LOS ANGELES — Four West Coast companies account for nearly 50 per cent of the women's bathing suits sold in the United States. Last year more than 100 manufacturers in this country sold about $85,000,000 worth of women's swim suits, worth $145,000,000 at retail. This was a 15 per cent increase over sales in 1955. This year manufacturers expect the women's beachwear bill to top 1956 by 15 per cent.

Million Dollar Fair to Toast Seaway

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago plans to celebrate the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in July 1959 with a million dollar fair.

The opening of the Seaway, linking the St. Lawrence River with the Great Lakes, will make Chicago a port for all types of ocean going vessels. Present waterway facilities limit the size of ships coming to Chicago.

Thomas C. Coulter, head of the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry, announced plans for the exposition and said:

"We want to put on a world marketing conference the like of which has never been held before. The fair will give Chicago an opportunity to focus attention on the fact that it is the focal point of international trade."

U.N. Chalks Up More Polygamy to 'Progress'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Economic progress is promoting polygamy among some colonial peoples.

The U. N. Secretariat makes this point in a report on farming in dependent territories. The report refers specifically to African tribal chiefs permitted by custom to practice polygyny, or the keeping of more than one wife. Cases have been recorded of chiefs "exercising their polygynous privilege for mercenary motives and turning their wives into a perpetually indentured labor force needed by their enterprises."

★ ★ ★

"In spite of fiscal pressures and agitation by the churches," the report concludes, "polygyny, wherever it has been found favorable to the money-gaining power of the family undertaking, has rather spread than diminished."

It also notes another effect of the economic changes in tribal Africa:

Young men who once bought brides with cattle given them by relatives now buy with cash they have earned themselves. So "marriage is becoming increasingly a matter of personal choice rather than an arrangement between groups in which the elders have a dominant say."

About 34,000 foreign students are enrolled in U.S. colleges and universities.

Junior Editors Quiz on RUBBER

QUESTION: Does rubber come only from rubber trees?

ANSWER: Rubber is just one more wonderful thing that the Indians of America gave to the world. Not until 1876, however, was a rubber tree plant smuggled out of Brazil so that its culture could start in Malaya and other regions.

Meantime an American, Charles Goodyear, learned to vulcanize the stuff with heat and make it much more useful than its untreated state. Today it is extremely important, and is used in automobile tires and hundreds of other articles.

You may know that now it is produced not only from rubber trees but artificially in big factories. But did you know that, besides the rubber tree, hundreds of other trees and plants yield rubber to greater or less degree? In getting it from the rubber tree, workers cut grooves in the bark, so that the raw latex drips down like sap.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Find some milkweed or goldenrod if you can, break off the stem, and see how sticky the sap is. These are among the plants that can be made to yield rubber.

★ ★ ★

(Have you a good question for Junior Editors? It may be worth $10 if sent in care of this paper to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures. Tomorrow: Why is the shrike called the butcher bird?)

This One's Got Things Twisted—He's 'BWOL'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Army authorities say Henry Carrington of Bethel, N. C., was the opposite of AWOL. He was on the base without official leave.

Carrington, 24, a fugitive from a North Carolina jail, was arrested here yesterday on bad check charges. Detectives found Army clothes in his hotel room.

Carrington, an ex-GI, says after escaping from a lockup he identified only as the "Jackson jail" in North Carolina, he came North, stopping at home first to take his old Army uniform out of moth balls. At Ft. Dix, N. J., where he had once been stationed, Carrington checked in for a bunk.

★ ★ ★

For the past few weeks, he says, he has been sleeping and eating at the Army base.

In 1947, Shannon airport near Limerick, Ireland, became the first duty free airport in the world. The airport shops sell Swiss watches, German cameras and whiskey without import or export duties.

Japanese Shun 'Orphan' Island

TOKYO (INS) — The Japanese have copied American customs from silos to fried chicken on the lonely northern frontier island of Hokkaido.

But they've forgotten to copy one thing — the frontier spirit. That largely sums up the story of Japan's vast "orphan" island where a glorious potential is not yet realized.

NO ENTHUSIASM

The Japanese have never been able to work up any enthusiasm "to go north, young man" to an island of great natural beauty with a climate similar to that of Denmark and an area approximately twice its size.

Despite government prodding to go to sparsely-settled Hokkaido, only a handful of Japanese—71 families—went last year to live in the heavily forested island with rolling hills, barn and silos reminiscent of America.

Last winter's worst crop failure in 40 years didn't help matters. Relief rice from the rest of Japan, and even Thailand, had to be shipped to snow-blanketed Hokkaido farmers to keep them alive. Many packed up and came back to Japan's three other main islands.

DOWN TO TRICKLE

This year the government-sponsored drive to develop Hokkaido has been reduced to a trickle as only 44 families have volunteered to "rough it" on the frontier.

But even before the recent publicized crop failures due to severe coldsnaps, Hokkaido land has gone abegging. A combination of migratory apathy on the part of the Japanese, poor government planning and lack of development cash has kept the Hokkaido population to just under 4,700,000.

Hokkaido thus has approximately six per cent of Japan's 90,000,000 population in one-fifth of Japan's total area. Farm experts say Hokkaido could truly become Japan's bread basket and dairy supplier and easily double or triple its population.

MERELY TAPPED

The island's timber, coal, oil and other natural resources have merely been tapped.

Japanese are reluctant to go to Hokkaido because of the relatively cold temperature and the need for revamping their farming practices and living habits.

An Hokkaido resident for more than 30 years, Carl W. Raymon, of Hakodate, says Hokkaido must adopt a western pattern of life—warm, substantial homes instead of paper-thin shacks and grain and cattle agriculture instead of rice cultivation.

Attempts to make rice paddies a portion of Hokkaido's dry, cold soil have been blamed for the crop failures last year.

Nevertheless Hokkaido has made a head start on western practices. American agriculture experts who came to Hokkaido in the 1870's left their imprint.

Out-of-place red barns, silos, plows and rakes used by farmers make you think you're in Iowa instead of Asia. Fried chicken dinners are even served at public gatherings and horses, strangely enough, respond to "Whoa."

Sheppard Lead Being Checked

Convict Who Confessed Slaying Marilyn Awaits Questioning by Lawyer

DELAND, Fla. (INS) — Convict Donald Wedler, who has "confessed" the July 4, 1954, slaying of Marilyn Sheppard in a Cleveland suburb, today awaited the arrival of William J. Corrigan — defense attorney in the celebrated trial.

Corrigan said he would "check out evey angle of Wedler's story" in an effort to aid his client, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, now serving a life sentence for his wife's murder.

Also reportedly en route to Deland was merchant seaman Ernest J. Kolofolias, "mystery witness" who claimed Wedler gave him a ride in the vicinity of the Sheppard home at suburban Bay Village the night of the slaying.

Cuyahoga County (Ohio) Coroner Dr. Samuel Gerber and James McArthur, ex-chief of detectives in Cleveland, already have questioned Wedler and declared his story "phony."

On McArthur's return to Cleveland yesterday, he criticized the "Court of Last Resort" of mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, an unofficial investigating group of citizens who specialize in post-conviction probes of criminal cases.

* * *

Gardner withdrew — at least temporarily — from the case after Ohio Gov. William O'Neill first promised, then reneged on allowing the "Court" to give Dr. Sheppard a lie detector test. Gardner said he entered the case at the request of Sheppard's family.

Memorial to Hero Who Didn't Exist Draws Tourists

SPAARNDAM, Holland—Visitors to Holland now flock to see a statue to a hero who never existed in real life. It started after the end of the last war when Americans began touring Holland again. They asked: "Where did Peter put his finger in the dyke? Where's the monument to him?" The Dutch were nonplussed.

They had never read the book "Hans Brinker," by Mary Mapes Dodge—a book loved by American children. One chapter told how Peter, aged 8, took some cake to a blind man who lived across the dyke. Returning in the rain, Peter was horrified to see a trickle of water coming through the dyke. He leaped down and stuck his finger in the hole, crying "Holland won't be flooded while I am here." Delighted with the legend, the Dutch have built a bronze statue of Peter at Spaarndam.

Truck Has 'Bedroom'

CHICAGO — A newly developed moving van has a toilet, shower, and "bedroom" for the driver and his helper. One big American moving firm says it believes the new van will speed deliveries by reducing the number of stops required.

The area of Europe is 3,842,000 square miles.

FUN FOR INGRID AND FAMILY — Actress Ingrid Bergman and the children of her two marriages enjoy the sea in a motorboat near the actress' villa at Santa Marinella, Italy. The actress is holding Isabella on her lap and the hand of Isabella's twin sister, Ingrid, five. In the rear are Jenny Ann Lindstrom, 17, daughter by her marriage to Dr. Peter Lindstrom, and Robertino, 7, son by her marriage to Italian film director Roberto Rossellini.

Birthday in Hospital for Lana's Daughter

DENVER (AP)—A quiet birthday celebration was planned in Children's Hospital today for the injured daughter of actress Lana Turner.

★ ★ ★

Miss Turner and one of her former husbands, Stephen Crane, flew to Denver yesterday to be with their daughter, Cheryl Christine Crane. She was injured Sunday while riding a horse bareback at Estes Park, Colo.

★ ★ ★

Cheryl, who is 14 today, reportedly stood well the auto trip to Denver from Estes Park yesterday. A hospital spokesman said she was "very comfortable."

★ ★ ★

The girl suffered a compression fracture of the vertebrae, internal injuries and a slight brain concussion when she fell from the horse.

Pretty Bad Combination

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police found Arthur D. Hewitt, 73, hanging by a rope. They said a note in his apartment read: "Too many sleeping pills and too much loud television playing at night and I have hardening of the arteries too."

Won't Run for Mayor

DETROIT (AP) — Councilman Edward Connor has announced he will seek re-election to the city council this fall instead of running for mayor.

They Don't Forget Tiny Murder Victim

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A spray of white gladiolus on the small white coffin was tagged "From the members of the homicide squad."

★ ★ ★

There was no one else to pay final respects to the unidentified boy whose murder has baffled the detectives of the squad. The child, thought to be from 4 to 6, was found murdered Feb. 26 in a wooded area of Philadelphia, his unclothed body wrapped in a blanket and stuffed in a cardboard box.

★ ★ ★

The boy's body was kept in the city morgue on the chance that someone could say who he was. The detectives chipped in to give him a decent burial yesterday. Each of them attending dropped a single red rose on the open grave.

Manager Pleads Guilty to Applesauce Charge

The manager of a local supermarket pleaded guilty Wednesday when accused of falsely advertising applesauce.

Harry Clark, manager of the Wrigley Store, Inc., 536 N. Perry St., paid a $15 fine. Applesauce jars contained two ounces less than advertised, according to James Mc Collum, Oakland County food inspector for the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

BRIDGE UNCLE SAM DIDN'T NOTICE — A bridge worker stretches his arms to demonstrate the clearance beneath a steel bridge built across the wide Colorado River in the state of California without the approval of the United States government. The river, navigable, is the state line between California and Arizona. Cotton farmers banded together and built the 410-foot span as a toll bridge at a point where there is no other means of crossing. Now the surprised federal government wants the bridge altered to permit "reasonable" navigation, something the owners contend is already possible.

Trooper Has Trouble Finding His License

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — State Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill, whose troopers ask to see many drivers licenses, almost couldn't find his.

Appearing on a TV program where listeners telephone in questions, Sturgill was asked to show his drivers license.

There were several tense moments as he shuffled through a large stack of cards in his wallet. The license was on the bottom.

Man Drives 12 Miles to Punch Time Clock

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—J. C. Sullivan, caretaker at the University of South Carolina football stadium has a house on the stadium grounds, but he still has to drive 12 miles a day to and from work.

The stadium is three miles from the campus, and each morning and afternoon Sullivan makes the trip to the campus to punch the maintenance employes' time clock.

See Time Running Out on Pressured Tunis Bey

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Time is running out on Sidi Mohammed Lamine, the Bey of Tunis, who has surrounded himself with 2,000 beloved clocks in his magnificent palace near the ancient site of Carthage.

The once - penniless 76-year-old bearded monarch, accused of reaping a "scandalous fortune" in 14 years of rule, is about to be deposed if he does not abdicate.

Tunisia's stong man, Premier Habib Bourguiba, and his Neo-Destour political party consider the monarchy corrupt and archaic. They want to declare a republic in North Africa, ending the 252-year reign of the Husseini family.

Sidi Lamine, lean and distinguished - looking, was an obscure member of the House of Husseini when the Allies landed and took over Tunisia in 1943 in World War II. He could scarcely read or sign his name.

But the story is that the Allies advanced him a few hundred dollars to buy himself a uniform and put him on the throne. His predecessor Moncif Bey was kicked out for collaborating with the Germans.

BARRED INSIDE PALACE

Since the day Bourguiba's nationalists won independence from France they have been putting pressure on the old man, who now is barred inside his big, white-walled palace.

With him are 17 "generals," who command his personal bodyguards, and hundreds of princes and princesses, all relatives who have been living off the royal cuff. The Bey has 12 children, three sons and nine daughters.

Besides his passion for grandfather clocks, the Bey believes in astrology, reputedly refusing to see visitors if the stars are unfavorable.

★ ★ ★

He wears several thousand dollars worth of jewel-encrusted rings and a heavy gold bracelet, but he has not been seen in public for some time.

Last weekend the police took action against his youngest son Prince Salaheddine, 32.

A police inspector on duty in front of the palace gates said the prince tried to run him down in his fast sports car.

Prince Minoun, nephew of Salaheddine, claimed that his uncle was "framed" by Tunisian police who once had no redress against members of the royal family.

But the police this time seized Salaheddine—clad in beach shorts — and tossed him into jail.

But Wouldn't the Papers Get Just a Little Damp

LONDON (INS) — There's a real shortage of manpower in Britain today, and a recent help wated ad acknowledged the situation this way:

"Wanted—octopus with knowledge of shorthand-typing and bookkeeping, General Electronics, 129 Portobello Road, London, W.11."

Demand Live Pin-Ups

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Some boys put pin-up pictures in their school lockers but three over zealous collectors at a local junior high school decided they wanted something better than paper dolls. A 13-year-old girl student complained to school authorities that the trio locked her up in one of their lockers.

One Case of Polio in County Last Week

Although polio cases have declined throughout the county in the past year, another one was reported during the past week according to Dr. John D. Monroe, director of health.

This one was in Southfiled Township and brings the 1957 total to five compared with 36 the same time last year.

The disease with the largest number of cases in the county was mumps with 19. Chickenpox was second with eight.

A complete breakdown of reports on communicable diseases in county and city health departments follows:

Battle Livestock Pests

ORLANDO, Fla. — Screw-worm flies, which infest livestock, cost Florida farmers $10,000,000 in 1956. Researchers are testing a scheme to trap female screw-worm flies, which mate only once, into an heirless alliance with mates that have been sterilized by radioactivity. The idea was a success in tests made on a tiny island off Florida, and new tests are now under way near Orlando.

Local Historians Back Them Up

Norway Farm Couple Claims Ancestry to a Barbarous Ninth Century Viking

By LEE BELSER

HARDANGERFIORD, Norway (INS) — An elderly Norwegian farm couple, whose gnarled hands and weatherbeaten faces attest to a life of honest toil, claimed today to be genuine descendants of a barbarous Viking chieftain.

Through an interpreter, Mr. and Mrs. Anders Ovrehus said they could trace their ancentry back to the ninth century.

★ ★ ★

Two local historians corroborated their claim and declared a number of priceless antiques had been discovered on the Ovrehus property, including a hand-carved silver ring, similar to those owned by the state museum, a stone altar and the burial ground of a long dead Viking chief.

The stone paintings on the grave show the chieftain died heroically in battle and in all probability went to Valhalla, the Viking "heaven."

The 76-year-old farmer and his 70-year-old blue-eyed wife have lived in Hardangerfiord all their lives. So did their forbears.

EXTRAS IN MOVIE

They can remember when they earned only 10 cents a day. Now, as extras in a Hollywood film, "The Vikings," being filmed within a stone's throw of their ancestor's burial ground, they are making $12 a day — the most they have ever earned in their lives.

"That's 40 kroner for her," Ovrehus said, grinning at his wife, "and 45 kroner for me. The most we ever made on our farm was $500 a year."

There also are others in the Hardangerfiord area who claim to be descendants of the Vikings.

★ ★ ★

There's Johannes Huus, 83, Samson Lie, 72, and Nils Erickson, 73, all of whom claim such distinction.

Erickson, who lived and worked off and on for some 30 years as a railroad man in the United States, said he had come home "to die" on the land of his forefathers.

Few of these fair-skinned, blue-eyed modern day Vikings have electric lights, modern cooking conveniences or hot and cold running water. Most of them never heard of hot dogs or hamburgers and when you ask them about Marilyn Monroe they think it's a brand name for farm machinery.

They no longer live on raw fish. They cook it these days. But they still are only three hours by air from the Aretic Circle, their winters are black and cold and their outlook is bleak as a glacier in the twilight.

Hotel Has 'Toy Service'

NEW YORK—Children can now call "toy service" at a New York hotel and toys and games will be sent to their room for free use during their stay.

The service, conducted in cooperation with a toy manufacturer, is designed to make the children more contented and less homesick.

Norway Has to Import

STAVANGER, Norway — Norway's textile industry meets only about 54 per cent of domestic needs. Production volume rose from 13,200,000 tons in 1955 to 14,300,000 tons in 1956.

Retiring Head Has Inside Story

Dr. Beno Guttenberg Studied Earth's Interior for 50 Years

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Of the earth's two billion-plus people, few if any, are as familiar with their planetary dwelling as Dr. Beno Guttenberg, retiring head of the seismological laboratory at the California Institute of Technology.

★ ★ ★

For 50 years, Dr. Guttenberg has explored and examined the materials of which this world is fashioned. The things he learned —and guessed at—have added immeasurably to man's knowledge of the earth and the tremendous forces at work in it.

Guttenberg, 68, is small, gentle and soft-spoken. His major outside interest is growing roses and camellias at his home a few miles from Cal Tech.

In 1912 as a 23-year-old graduate student at the University of Goettingen he made what many scientists believe to be the first correct determination of the composition and size of the earth's central core. He later deduced that there was an inner core of solid metal and an outer core of molten metal.

His research and discoveries greatly advanced knowledge of earthquakes and other shock waves, including the tiny microseisms that keep the earth's crust in a state of jitters.

And he has even ranged into the upper atmosphere, using sound waves to determine temperatures of upper air currents long before instrument-carrying rockets were developed. Rocket flights have since proved his findings to be extraordinarily accurate. And the most advanced calculations on the size of the earth's core are within 10 miles of what he deduced 45 years ago.

Guttenberg came to Cal Tech in 1930 from the University of Frankfurt, in Germany. Under his direction the seismological laboratory has become one of the most important in the world for the study of earthquakes.

PLENTY OF FRESH AIR ON JOB — Don Johnson, of Littleton, N. H., stands atop the carriage of an ascending car of the Cannon Mountain Aerial Tramway as he makes daily inspection of the mile-long track cable. The state-owned tramway, used by skiers in winter and tourists in summer, rises over 2,000 vertical feet to 4,017-foot summit. That's Echo Lake in the valley below.

Plan to Stockpile Portable Hospitals

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Civil Defense Administration plans stockpiling fully-equipped portable hospitals.

By 1962, a total of 6,000 such units may be available to provide emergency aid to as many as 2.5 million victims in the event of a major natural disaster or an enemy air attack.

These van-transported emergency hospitals, equipped to handle 200 bed patients at a time, are being distributed throughout the U.S.

Steelways, offical publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, said that the portable facilities and supplies can turn a preselected empty school or church into a hospital withing four hours, complete with its own water, power and light, three operating rooms, an X-ray room, a sterilizing room, a reception and sorting room, laboratory, a pharmacy and medical needs sufficient to last 36 or 48 hours.

Pet Parakeets Can Be Taken Along on Trips

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (INS) — Your pet parakeet can go along for the ride on a family vacation.

Take the parakeet along in his regular cage during an automobile trip, advises Buell Culver, executive Director of French's Pet Bird Institute.

★ ★ ★

For the trip, Culver said parakeet owners should strip the cage of jingling toys so that "constant noise from them while the car is in motion" won't alarm the bird.

The bird and his cage should be kept out of direct drafts or sunlight—at least partly covered to protect the parakeet.

During the trip, keep a supply of seed right on the floor tray of the cage. Don't cover the tray with paper because the seeds may slide underneath.

★ ★ ★

Place a small sponge in the drinking cup to prevent water from spilling.

Culver said parakeets should never be left in a closed car parked in the sun. Nor should they be allowed freedom of the car while parked, or, of course, in motion.

Many parakeets can be taught the family's telephone number, said Culver. But, as a precaution, owners should put a band on the bird's leg with address and telephone number.

Lignin Cements Trees

SHELTON, Wash. — Lignin, a waste product of paper, pulp, and cellulose production, is a complex chemical. It acts as the "cement" of wood and makes up nearly a third of the tree. For almost all uses of cellulose the chief ingredient of wood, the lignin, must first be removed.

Reporter Missed Something

Mythical Joe Smith Written Out of GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mythical Joe Smith who was unceremoniously banished from the 1956 Republican convention has now been virtually written out of the party.

At least so it would appear from an examination of the official record of the proceedings, released yesterday by the GOP National Committee.

The now-famous utterance of Convention Chairman Joe Martin —"You take your Joe Smith and get out of here"—is nowhere to be found in this account of the San Francisco proceedings.

There also is no mention of the fact that delegate Terry Carpenter of (Scottsbluff) Nebraska was escorted from the convention hall after he tried to nominate Smith for vice president.

Caspenter reappeared shortly, confessing to newsmen that Joe was an imaginary fellow and saying he's tried to nominate him only to enliven "a pretty dull show."

The official record does record this exchange between Martin and Carpenter:

"Mr. Terry Carpenter, delegate from Nebraska—We are going to nominate Joe Smith.

"The permanent chairman — Joe—who?

"Mr. Terry Carpenter of Nebraska—Joe Smith. (laughter).

"The permanent chairman—Nebraska reserves the right to nominate Joe Smith, whoever he is. (laughter)."

But somewhere around there Martin banged his gavel and told Carpenter to take his Joe Smith and depart.

It was an unforgettable picture for many of the millions of television watchers, and the nonexistent Joe Smith whom the Republicans didn't want was welcomed into the Democratic party many times in the ensuing campaign.

"There was no censorship (of the record) . . . no intentional deletions of any major matter," a committee aide said yesterday.

Did Martin tell Carpenter to take Joe Smith and get out?

★ ★ ★

"Oh, he said it all right," the aide said, "but there was a lot of hubbub at the time around the rostrum. I guess the official reporter didn't hear him say it."

As it turned out they nominated someone else anyway. Name of Nixon.

Military Vehicle Expert Named to Army Post

DETROIT (INS) — One of the nation's leading authorities on military vehicles, Col. William A. Call has been appointed deputy commander of the Army's Ordinance Tank-Automotive Command.

Col. Call has been program coordinator in the office of Maj. Gen. Nelson M. Lynde Jr., commanding general of OTAC. Col. Call succeeds Col. Elmer M. Webb, retired after 30 years of military service.

Woman Invades School

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—St. Augustine High School, which had an all-male faculty for its all-male student body since it was found 35 years ago, now has a woman teacher.

Mrs. Ann Petlewski received the appointment just by being on the scene and available when the emergency arose. One of the instructors was transferred.

Mrs. Petlewski was doing volunteer filing for the school. She was willing, she was qualifed, and she was hired.

Ho-Hum! Someday, They'll Have Election

COLUMBIA, Va. (AP)—Town council is pretty deliberate here in this community of 119 residents. There hasn't been a council election since 1951 and nobody gave it much through until Bernard Dickenson wanted the town to open a street that was first planned 179 years ago.

Council opposed the idea and stood off a challenge to its legality in office when the circuit judge said members, in effect, had been legally reappointing themselves over the years.

Relieved, council members decided they better have an election this year and win undisputed legal status. But they missed out on this one too. The county attorney said the town charter provides for candidates to file for office 60 days in advance of an election set for the fourth Thursday in May. Nobody got around to filing.

Measuring Built In

NASHUA, N.H. — A Nashua concern is marketing a wood-frame shelf with clear plastic containers for kitchen use which it says can store an entire pantry of staples for a household. Each container has a contour-curved handle with built-in pouring spout. The drawers are graduated in cups and corresponding ounces for automatic measuring.

New Zealand Battles Rabbits Via Airways

WELLINGTON, New Zealand — New Zealanders now are using aerial control in their battle against the bunny and it is being predicted in Wellington that rabbit will disappear from dining tables. Already it has ceased to be cheap food for the housewife who buys her meat in a store. In 1934 one could buy for seven cents the same size rabbit that now costs 80 cents. History indicates that it took some time to get rabbits to thrive in New Zealand.

The early missionaries brought them in from Australia in the 1820s but they didn't do well. It was after 1860 that enthusiasts made further liberations, which proved only too successful. For many years rabbit skin exports brought millions of dollars annually to New Zealand, until the erosion and vegetation depletion that rabbits caused became too great a menace to tolerate.

Tallow Losing Market

CHICAGO — In the past 10 years tallow and grease have lost 75 per cent of the granulated-soap market to detergents, but they still retain almost 100 per cent of the toilet-soap market. Soapmaking consumed 813,000,000 pounds of tallow last year, a decline of 47 per cent from the 1947 record.

Air Will Be Employed by Summer Theater

NEW YORK (AP)—Comes now the theater in a balloon.

Two summer theater impresarios, working independently, have announced plans to utilize the air-house principle in future projects.

Under the plan, a fabric structure is kept in position with a small amount of air pressure, instead of requiring the poles and supports of an old-fashioned carnival tent.

★ ★ ★

Buildings sufficiently large to house 2,500 show fans are practical, say backers. It probably will be another year or so, however, before the first air theater is erected.

Truck Explosion Burns Spectators

At Least 50 Persons Showered With Gas Watching Rescue Try

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Hundreds of curious spectators watched for nearly an hour while rescuers tried to free an injured driver's helper from the battered cab of a trailer-truck last night.

Then, at least 50 of them were burned as the truck's exploding gas tank showered them with flaming gasoline.

★ ★ ★

The injured onlookers fled. So did the rescuers, leaving the truckman dangling helplessly head downward from the cab window. All but his legs had been freed prior to the blast.

From a distance, a fireman played a hose on the trucker, Wilfred Godfrey, 35, of Hartford. Witnesses said this action probably saved his life.

The fire was extinguished in about a minute. Godfrey, who had been given an anesthetic earlier to ease his pain, was pulled from the wreckage three minutes later. He was suffering from extensive body burns and was reported in critical condition at a hospital.

★ ★ ★

Godfrey was trapped in the cab when the truck stopped short to avoid a dog. The truck's cargo, a smaller truck, snapped its bonds and rolled forward, bashing in the rear of the cab.

The driver, Underwood Woodford, 59, also of Hartford, was pulled from the wreckage minutes after the crash with minor injuries.

Police said the gasoline exploded with a hissing whoosh. Orange flames mushroomed 25 feet in the air.

All but three of the fleeing bystanders were treated at hospitals for minor burns and injuries and released. The three, a 43-year-old man and two 10-year-old girls, were admitted with burns of the hands, arms and legs.

About 475 million tubes of toothpaste are sold in the United States every year which figures out to be about three tubes per person.

Tranquilizers Ease Jitters

Doctors Differ on Danger

DETROIT (AP) — You've got to make a speech, you're jittery, and so you take a tranquilizer pill to ease the tension.

The pressures of business weigh heavily on your nerves. So you take a tranquilizer pill to ease the tension.

The irritating aspects of a conference or a personal ordeal are dusted off with a pill.

Doctors who have studied this relatively new antidote for the universal human ailment of nervousness differ in their opinions of its affects.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Keith F. Killam of Los Angeles, an authority on the effect of tranquilizers on the brain says flatly:

"These things are too potent to be messing around with over-the-counter sales."

DOESN'T AGREE

But Dr. James G. Miller, a University of Michigan psychiatrist who has conducted extensive tests on the effects of tranquilizers, says:

"I see no reason why people should not take tranquilizers for their whole life if they feel better for it."

With the help of a tranquilizer drug, things that used to bother you are brushed off with a minimum of worry, anxiety and tension.

Tranquilizers are billed as a way to beat the tensions of the fast modern pace without the dangerous effects of habit-forming drugs such as narcotics.

"But," said Dr. Killam, "counting on tranquilizers is like driving a car without a clutch pedal—pretty soon you don't want to go back to a car with a clutch pedal."

★ ★ ★

He believes there is danger in the prolonged use of tranquilizers. "The dangers of selfmedication are great," he said, "and probably worse than meeting the original problem."

A study, conducted by the Mental Health Research Institute of the University of Michigan Department of Psychiatry, showed tranquilizers caused no effect on reflex ability to drive a car, on steadiness, mental alertness or vision, he said.

Report First Polio Death

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department has reported the first polio death in Michigan this year. It was that of Mrs. Robert J. Leeth, 27, of Albion. The department said four polio deaths were recorded in the first seven months of last year and 13 were reported in the like period of 1955.

Comics 'Satire' on Life

PETOSKEY (AP)—Joseph J. Irwin, head of Albion College's English Department, says historians 100 years from now will be reading today's comics as examples of contemporary American life. "I read them for educational purposes," he told Kiwanians here. "Many of them are satires on today's conditions."

Checking Ability to Fight Fires

Three-Week Survey in City to Obtain New Insurance Information

A survey is presently being conducted in Pontiac to determine the city's fire fighting capabilities, Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager, announced yesterday.

The three-week study is being conducted by three engineers from the National Board of Fire Underwriters acting as consultants for the Michigan Inspection Bureau.

"Out of the study," Stierer explained, "we hope to get a more favorable classification for insurance purposes on homes and businesses."

George P. Stahl is studying Pontiac's water supply, Marvin J. Myrick, fire department and fire alarm system, and Fred S. Gartz, fire protection, electrical systems. Gartz is making a field survey including a map layout of the city showing location of fire halls.

Stierer said the last similar rating study was conducted in 1929. A revision of the classification was made in 1944, he added.

"We have had many departmental and water supply improvements since 1944, and certainly since 1929," the official remarked.

Results of the study are expected six months after its completion.

Plan 2 New Schools

HOLLAND (AP) — The Christian School Society has authorized preparation of plans to construct two new grade schools at a cost of $330,000, Christian School Superintendent, Dr. Bert Bos announced.

This Medicine's Name Is Easy to Remember

BERLIN — Guttajoo is the trade name under which a German-patented drug product is to be placed on the world market. It is described as a prophylactic and as a remedy for the common cold, influenza an dallied diseases.

It is presented in a pill form, each pill containing a specially-prepared iodine which enables it to be safely taken by children and adults.

Frederick A. Rissik of Rutland, England, is said to hold rights for distribution of Guttajoo in the United States and to be seeking a licensing arrangement with some United States firm for it.

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—The village of Ferrysburg, which lies adjacent to Grand Haven, will celebrate its centennial Saturday with an all-day festival.

OK Building Purchase to Widen Detroit Street

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit's Common Council has approved the purchasing by the city of the downtown Gately Building for $250,000 to allow for widening of Wayne street at Michigan.

Purchase of the building is part of the current program of widening Wayne from Larned to Michigan to serve as the primary entrance to the Convention and Exhibits Building when it is completed in the Civic Center.

Geologists estimate that 1,500,000 square miles in the United States may be potential oil-producing territory.

Baby Want to Play— Money Sails Away

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Trooper Fred Henry saw bits of paper being thrown from a car. As he pulled up behind, Mrs. Mary Tramel, 25, Pryor, Okla., slammed to a stop.

She told Henry she had just discovered her 2-year-old son casually tossing one dollar bills out the window.

Henry helped Mrs. Tramel recover $9 of the $10 she estimated was thrown out.

Then he gave her car a push when it failed to start.

More than three million new homes were built in the U.S. from 1950-54.

Try Fillets in Jellied Mold Head Stand Aids Beauty

With all the intriguing molds for jellied main dishes on the market—as well as a myriad of trustworthy recipes—there's no need to serve dreary unappetizing food on hot, humid days just because you don't want to stay in the kitchen long enough to turn out an attractive, nutritious meal. One of the happiest solution is to mold flaked fish and chopped raw vegetables in a flavored gelatin. It's fun to use a fish-shaped mold, but other shapes will do, of course.

The National Fisheries Institute suggests further that you combine two kinds of fish for an unusual taste treat, such as this Spicy Jelled Fish Mold, which calls for a cup of flaked fish fillets (a good way to use leftover fish) and a small can of anchovy fillets.

Spicy Jelled Fish Mold

½ teaspoon tarragon
1 cup boiling water
1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup cold water
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup cooked and flaked fish fillets
1 green pepper, diced
½ cup celery, diced
½ cup cucumber, diced
3 stuffed olives, sliced
1 hard cooked egg, sliced
1 small can anchovy fillets

Add tarragon to boiling water. Pour over gelatin. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add cold water and lemon juice. Rub fish mold with salad oil. Pour enough gelatin into the mold to make a thin layer on the bottom. On this, arrange anchovy fillets to resemble tail and fins. Place hard-cooked egg slice or olive slice for each eye.

When thin layer is set, add fish, pepper, celery, cucumber, olives, egg slices and remainder of anchovy fillets. Pour in remainder of gelatin. Chill. To remove jellied fish, loosen around the edges with a sharp knife. Place a platter at the base of the mold and turn right side up. Serve with lemon wedges and a sharp French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Forget to Count Those Calories

You don't have to forego delicious summer coolers because you are dieting. Remember the best way to keep your figure glamor is to watch calories. Eat what you like by using sugar-free, salt-free carbonated beverages. You'll find them delicious and full-bodied—just as fine in flavor as the sweetened beverages. Pick your favorite—there's ginger, root beer, lemon, orange, black cherry and cola to choose from.

Here's a fine drink, low, low in calories and so good to serve while fresh peaches are at their best. The food coloring is optional, but it does give the drink the tint of a blushing peach.

Peach Bloom

2 ripe peaches
5 tablespoons non-fat dry milk solids
1 12-oz. bottle sugar-free ginger drink
Few drops red and yellow food coloring

Pare and pit peaches. Put through sieve or food mill. Combine all ingredients in blender or shaker. Blend or shake until thick and foamy. Divide between 2 tall glasses.

Tasty Kabobs Need Bit of Imagination

Kabobs means "skewered." This method of putting meat with combinations of fruits or vegetables on skewers and cooking over a grill makes outdoor eating more fun. Each person can choose the combination he likes.

If you are wondering what meats to use for kabobs, the list is almost limitless, says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Canned meats cut in 1½ to 2 inch cubes are perhaps the easiest to prepare. Franks cut into 2 inch lengths or ground lamb or beef rolled into 2 inch diameter balls are thrifty choices.

U. S. Prime or Choice grade beef chuck or round steak is tender enough for kabobs, if you marinate it overnight in the refrigerator. For pork kabobs you may want to try cubes of Boston butt or steaks.

Low Calorie Dressing Tops Luncheon Salad

A Slim-Jim Salad is an excellent luncheon dish. Chill cooked or canned asparagus. Team the tender green spears with hard-cooked egg slices, pimiento strips, and lettuce.

And, for a low-calorie topping, add Silhouette Dressing: In jar, shake one 8-ounce can (1 cup) of seasoned tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons terragon vinegar, 1 teaspoon each onion juice and Worcestershire sauce, and ½ teaspoon each salt, dill seed, and basil.

Celery Good Nibble Food for Weight Watchers

Hungry between meals? Need to watch weight? Then curb your appetite with a large stalk of celery. Celery is a good food for use as roughage in the diet. Seven calories a stalk makes it attractive to most between - meal-munchers.

Cool weather delayed the growth of Michigan's early summer celery, but the crop is now being harvested. When you buy look for medium stalks that are solid, firm and thick suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Stalks 15 to 18 inches long and 1' to 2' inches around the base usually are tops in quality.

If your cheese sauce has curdled slightly, beat with a rotary beater just before serving.

If white anklets could talk, they'd say—

STOP RUBBING—use . . .

ROMAN BLEACH

It's easy to wash white anklets spotlessly clean, snowy white with Roman Bleach. It removes stains, grimy spots without the work or wear of extra rubbing. Just try it.

Of Course You Can Eat Dessert

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Since weight watching and calorie counting have become a national pastime—with the result that more people are eating better balanced diets—it behooves us occasionally to cater to dieters' wishes for some low-calorie desserts. In the summer time it is easier to substitute fruit and light desserts for the heavier ones served during cold weather.

Knowing that members of the various reducing clubs in the Pontiac area are vitally interested in this problem, we called on Mrs. Edward Cook, president of the Fashionettes. With two other members of that particular club we discussed the kind of desserts they ate.

Fruit was the unanimous choice of all of them. Canteloupe rated highest as a summer favorite. They all made use also of low calorie angel food cake. Rather surprisingly, none of them had ever tried the low-calorie puddings and gelatins on the market. And none of them use nonfat dry milk as an ingredient in desserts.

Now that fresh peaches are in season, how about making Peach Royale, a smooth bavarian-cream type of dessert? If you get eight servings from one recipe, each serving will contain just under 100 calories. Best of all, you can serve this dessert to the whole family without any apologies.

Peach Royale

¼ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
⅓ cup sugar
2½ cups pureed fresh peaches (about four large peaches)

Pour 1-3 cup water and almond extract into deep 1-quart bowl; sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder over surface. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in refrigerator.

Soften gelatin in ½ cup of the cold water. Combine remaining water and sugar in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to boil. Boil one minute. Remove from heat. Add gelatin; stir until dissolved. Stir into peaches.

Rinse a 1-quart mold with cold water. Pour 1 cup of the peach-gelatin mixture into mold. Chill just until set. Chill remaining mixture over ice water, stirring constantly, until consistency of unbeaten egg white; fold in whipped milk. Pour into mold on top of peach-gelatine mixture. Chill about 2 hours. Unmold just before serving.

Another molded dessert using nonfat dry milk is this Blueberry Orange Mold. Made with dietetic gelatin, each serving adds only 34 calories to your day's total. If you have to use regular orange gelatin, the calorie count will be increased to 100.

Blueberry Orange Mold

2 envelopes low-calorie orange-flavored gelatin
Non-caloric sweetener (to equal 2 teaspoons sugar)
1½ cups hot water
½ cup orange juice
½ teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup whipped non-fat dry milk
1 cup fresh unsweetened blueberries

Dissolve low-calorie gelatin and sweetener in HOT water. Add orange and lemon juices. Place ½ cup of mixture in large mold and chill until almost set.

Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Whip dry milk, according to package directions. Fold into gelatin mixture with blueberries. Pour mixture over gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with sprigs of mint, and orange slices. Makes 8 servings. About 34 calories per serving.

One more recipe using nonfat dry milk. Do you know what a good whipped topping it makes? To whip it, merely combine equal amounts of dry milk and cold water in your mixer bowl.

Sprinkle the milk powder over the water. A teaspoon or two of lemon juice will stabilize the finished product. Add sugar and vanilla as desired.

For a different tasting topping try this cinnamon flavored whipped milk.

Cinnamon Creamy Topping

½ cup water
½ cup instant non-fat dry milk powder
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Pour water into 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff, about 10 minutes. Gradually beat in sugar and cinnamon and continue to beat until stiff and mixture holds soft peaks, about 3 minutes. Chill ½ hour in refrigerator before serving. Makes 1¾ cups topping.

Note: Mixture will not be stiff, but a rather soft and creamy consistency. Calories total for 1¾ cups: approximately 177 calories. Calories for one tablespoon: approximately 6 calories.

Sherbet is such a refreshing dessert that it deserves to be included often on our summer menus. This recipe makes six servings of 58 calories each. You can vary the fruit juice used without changing the calorie count much. There are a number of unsweetened fruit juices on the market.

Fruit Sherbet

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1½ cups unsweetened orange juice
2 cups skim milk
½ cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons liquid no-calorie sweetener

Sprinkle gelatin over ½ cup orange juice; let stand 5 minutes; dissolve gelatin over boiling water. Blend milk, lemon juice, remaining orange juice, dissolved gelatin and no-calorie sweetener. (The mixture will curdle, but there's no harm done.)

Pour into refrigerator tray; chill until firm near edges, but still soft in center. Turn into chilled bowl; beat well. Return to refrigerator tray; chill until firm. Makes 1½ qts. sherbet 6 servings (58 calories each)

Sweeteners vary; sweeten to taste.

Let's conclude this list of low-calorie desserts with a fruit dessert. The recipe suggests using pears, but peaches also would taste delicious prepared in this manner:

Pear-Orange Compote

6 fresh pears
2 cups unsweetened orange juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon water
⅛ teaspoon noncaloric liquid sweetener
1 tablespoon grated orange peel

Pare pears. Heat orange juice to boiling point. Add pears; cover and cook, turning occasionally, until tender. Remove from juice and place in sherbet dishes.

Blend cornstarch and water; add to juice with sweetener and orange peel. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Pour over pears; chill. Makes 6 servings. Total calories: 810. Per serving: 135.

Next time you stew whole fresh peaches, try adding a tablespoon mixed pickling spice (tied in a cheesecloth bag) to the boiling syrup, using 1½ cups water, ½ cup sugar and 6 large peaches. What a difference, to be sure.

Plank Main Course, Broil and Serve

Here's a recipe for a planked ground beef and vegetable dinner that's sure to make a hit with the family.

Combine 1½ pounds of ground beef, salt and pepper and shape into a loaf two inches thick. Insert in broiler so the surface of the meat is three inches from the heat. Broil until brown on one side for about 10 minutes.

Then turn onto plank or oven ware platter and arrange the halves of two large tomatoes, along with six medium-sized cooked onions, around the meat. Brush the vegetables with two tablespoons of melted butter or margarine. Tube or spoon three cups of seasoned mashed potatoes around the meats and vegetables.

Place bacon slices on the meat. Then return to the broiler and continue broiling until the meat is done and the vegetables are lightly browned. This will provide from 4 to 6 servings.

Available for Garden

For garden plants that need greenhouse conditions, there is a new plastic plant-tent made of polyethylene film.

This tent can be put together quickly over aluminum ribs that are provided in the kit. And since it can be sponged off with warm soap or detergent suds, the tent is reusable for a long while.

Slip a few slices of pimiento on a cheddar cheese filling for a tangy toasted sandwich.

BANANA ORANGE COOLER — Active youngsters need nourishment for the play-filled summer days. Here's a healthful refreshment idea — Banana Orange Cooler, made with liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, and served with Graham Star Stacks, also enriched with instant nonfat dry milk.

Nonfat Dry Milk Enriches Drink

Hard-hitting Little Leaguers need nourishing food at all times, especially for spirited activity on the baseball diamond. Provide them and their active growing sisters with healthful beverages and snacks for extra energy during play-filled summer days.

★ ★ ★

Colling drinks made with instant nonfat dry milk are nourishing and delicious refreshments. "The Heart of Milk," instant nonfat dry milk is an abundant source of these important milk nutrients: 1. High-quality protein, "the building blocks of the body," to build and repair muscle and tissue; 2. Calcium needed for strong bones and teeth; and 3. Riboflavin for growth and general good health.

★ ★ ★

The active small fry will go for these refreshments—Banana Orange Cooler and the Graham Star Stacks, also enriched with instant nonfat dry milk.

Banana Orange Cooler

3 tablespoons orange juice concentrate
6 teaspoons sugar
2 ripe bananas, mashed
3 cups chilled liquefied instant nonfat dry milk

Add orange juice concentrate and sugar to bananas; blend well with rotary beater or electric mixer. Slowly add liquefied instant nonfat dry milk; beat until blended. Serves 4.

Graham Star Stacks

1 (3-oz.) package cream cheese
2 tablespoons instant nonfat dry milk powder
1 tablespoon honey or
2 tablespoons maple syrup
20 graham crackers (2½ inch squares)

Combine cream cheese, instant nonfat dry milk powder and honey in small bowl; beat with fork until well blended and fluffy. Spread on 15 of the graham crackers. Place crackers in stacks of 3 each; top each stack with one of remaining five graham crackers. Makes 5 stacks.

Plan a Picnic French-Style for a Change

By International News Service

"Le picnic" is a favorite in France, and French-style picnicking can also be fun for your family.

Preparations are simple. The menu is delicious and hearty.

Start with a small canned ham—a two-pounder will make eight big sandwiches. If the picnic hamper sits in the hot sun at the beach or lakeside, there's no spoilage danger.

Add a long loaf of crusty French bread or several of the small rolls. Two or three packages of cheese—creamy Camembert to spread, sliced Swiss in a plastic packet, or sharp cheddar. You can assemble ham and cheese Dagwoods with a Gallic flavor.

A French family would include a bottle of wine. You can copy this or pack a thermos with iced tea or lemonade.

Fresh fruit for dessert and the picnic basket is ready.

Meal Including Liver Healthful, Inexpensive

For a nutritious, inexpensive meal try liver.

Liver should be cooked at low temperature, she says. If it is from young animals use dry heat and if from older animals use moist heat. High quality beef and lamb liver can be cooked the same way as calf's liver, she adds.

Canned Corned Beef Easy to Barbecue

From all standpoints, this sandwich takes the blue ribbon prize. It's pretty, tasty, hearty and a "seconds please" demander. Serve it proudly at your next outdoor party. Melt 1 tablespoon shortening in medium-size frying pan. Add 1 small onion, chopped; cook 3 to 4 minutes, or just until tender. Add 1 can (12 ounces) corned beef which has been cubed. Brown lightly.

★ ★ ★

Combine 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup with 2 tablespoons light brown sugar, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons water and dash of allspice. Stir in corned beef mixture. Simmer about 5 minutes to blend flavors. Serve on toasted buns to 4 people.

Mrs. Frear Speaks Up for Dems

Heads Campaign to Get Women's Vote in 1958 and 1960

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Mrs. J. Allen Frear, wife of the Democratic senator from Delaware and new president of the Women's National Democratic Club, says "the woman's voice makes the choice."

★ ★ ★

Using this as the theme of her administration, Mrs. Frear and her cabinet of prominent Democratic women, many of them congressional wives, are launching a program to make that voice an intelligent and effective one.

HOPES FOR VICTORY

She hopes it will inspire a Democratic victory in the 1958 Congressional and 1960 presidential elections.

★ ★ ★

Since coming to Washington in 1949, Mrs. Frear has been active in many organizations.

When Congress adjourns she will be joined by her husband and daughter, Clara Louise, 14, at their usual vacation retreat, Sea Island, Ga. Their son, Fred, 23, is married and stationed with the Army at Ft. Meade, Md.

★ ★ ★

"We're anticipating grandparenthood," she told me, "and for that we need to rest up."

Though the senator is not up for re-election until 1960, his wife says "he never stops campaigning."

She helps with speechmaking throughout his district. When he can't get back to his constituency to keep an appointment, she makes his speech for him.

MANY HIGH HONORS

Miss Pearl McIver, who retired recently after more than 24 years with the U. S. Public Health Service, has received many high honors during her career as a public health nurse.

★ ★ ★

Now her name is being perpetuated in an award to be given to others who distinguish themselves in the profession.

The Pearl McIver Public Health Nurse Award, in the form of a medallion, will be given to a nurse at each biennial meeting of the American Nurses Assn.

★ ★ ★

Miss McIver entered the Public Health Service in 1933 as its first public health nurse consultant. She was chief of the Public Health Nursing Services upon her retirement in July.

WORK IN MISSOURI

Before that, the Minnesota-born nurse had served 10 years with the Missouri State Public Health Service. She was its first director of public health nursing.

Do Your Best—You'll Be Rewarded

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Though the mills of God grind slowly, they grind exceedingly small."

★ ★ ★

I think of that old saying whenever I see a case of delayed action, where reward comes late in life; a case, in short, like Adelaide's.

A GIFTED PAINTER

Adelaide was really a gifted painter. However, it is difficult to make a living at painting; most artists do it on the side.

That's the way it was with Adelaide.

She had had first-class training when she was young, but found it would not be possible to spend her life in the fine arts if she wanted to eat regularly. So she went to work in industry.

She did a good and conscientious job, but kept up her painting on the side.

Occasionally, a friend would have her do a portrait, and she had several exhibitions and sold a few paintings; but she never made anything much from her art.

★ ★ ★

She advanced in her job through the years and, at 60, retired with a pension which would enable her to live decently, if simply.

EVERYTHING HAPPENS

"Then everything good began happening at once," Adelaide writes.

★ ★ ★

"I had always dealt with a certain small art supply store here in town, because they were reasonable and did fine framing at modest prices.

"I became well acquainted with the owner, through the years, and with his wife who worked with him.

"After she died, some 10 years ago, he hired a series of women to work in the shop, but none of them was very good.

"The week after I retired, I stopped by to see him — and he offered me a job! He needed a part-time salesperson and in the afternoons he wanted to know if I would teach painting. Some of his customers wanted to study art, but there wasn't a class in our town.

"So I'm teaching three afternoons a week now, and I love it. He also insisted that I hang some of my paintings in his window, and we've even sold a few.

UNHAPPY YEARS

"When I think of the years I was so unhappy! If I had known what wonderful things I had to look forward to, it would have made things so much easier.

"Now, on top of everything else, I'm marrying the boss! And I'm a young 63."

★ ★ ★

If you knew that in a few years, wonderful things were positively guaranteed to happen, you'd be a lot happier right now, wouldn't you?

Just remember, "The mills of God grind slowly."

★ ★ ★

If you can go about your business conscientiously, doing the best you can — that's the key — you'll guarantee a happy ending for yourself. I've never known it to fail!

African caps . . . done in luxury furs, are the newest things on the fashion horizon. Sally Victor designed the white broadtail cap and ascot (left) and the mink cap (right).

Furs Cap Winter Fashion Climax

Fur fashions start at the top this fall, and the woman who faces winter without a fur hat is going to feel definitely underprivileged.

This may be construed as a break for husbands and fathers who foot the bills, because the girls probably are going to be satisfied to ask for a fur hat instead of a fur coat this year.

Plain cloth coats and winter suits with fur added in small doses in the form of accessories are going to be seen in many fashionable spots, come fall. They look new, exciting and flattering.

ALL SHAPES

Fur hats come in all shapes, sizes and pelts in the fall collection of Sally Victor, but the favorites of this pint-size designer are caps in infinite variety.

★ ★ ★

She shows African caps with pointed backs, worn far back on the head in the manner of belles of the African Gold Coast, with white broadtail and dark mink the favored makings.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes the caps grow to king-size berets, dramatic in leopard with giant handbags to match. These may be worn in any number of ways, to suit the taste and type of the wearer.

★ ★ ★

Among the furs that will be seen on fashionable heads this fall are silver fox, red fox, leopard, ermine, cheetah, broadtail and all mutations of mink.

This leopard beret has a knit headband and has a matching handbag.

Music Director Resigns

Charles E. Hutton of South Pontiac road has resigned as director of the Pontiac Women's Chorus, concluding his 14th year with the organization. He will devote himself to his position as director of music at the Detroit Institute of Arts, and as vocal coach and technician in sacred repertoire.

★ ★ ★

After accepting the local chorus appointment in 1943, following the resignation of Dr. Vernon Kellett of Cranbrook, Hutton was director of music at Central Methodist Church for nine years, during his Women's Chorus association.

★ ★ ★

He has been director of music for Self-Realization Fellowship at the Detroit Institute of Arts for the past six years.

Say Money Unimportant

Rate Love First for Marriage

By EUGENE GILBERT

President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

The modern teenager's recipe for a successful marriage:

Love, compatibility, similar religious background, common interests, and a sufficient income—in approximately that order of importance.

In this lineup, our nationwide survey of young people's opinions shows, love leads all the rest by a huge margin. No less than 77 per cent of the girls and 68 per cent of the boys queried regard it as the one indispensable key to marital satisfaction.

"It's easy enough to say 'I'm in love,'" an Ohio high school girl cautions, however. "But if you're not positive, the game is up before the orange blossoms wilt."

Extolling love is one thing, knowing exactly what it's like is another. Some are sure they'll recognize true love when it comes along:

WHAT IS LOVE ANYWAY?

"I'll strike like a thunderbolt," a Washington, D. C. boy says. And a New York girl: "Every time I look at him I'll have a wonderful feeling inside." "Buterfly-in-stomach feeling," ventures another girl.

They'd rather stay single, say teeners, than marry without being sure they're in love. Money rates nearly last with them.

Far less romantic is the prescription of a University of North Carolina student for determining the marriage partnership: "Through a realistic evaluation of both parties, with the aid of psychiatrists, counsellors, and so on," he suggests.

Over 50 per cent of the youngsters say they would prefer staying single to marrying without being certain of their feelings.

"If you think it might not work," a Florida girl said, "for goodness sake don't get married." A Cleveland lad warned tersely, "Don't go into it blindly."

Honored at Shower

Patricia Pankotai was the honoree at a bridal shower given by Ruth Silverthorn of Cheltingham drive. Cohostess was Lorraine Hotchkiss. Eighteen guests were present for the Friday affair. The bride-elect will become the bride of George Hotchkiss.

Program Presented

Mrs. Brady Adams presented a program to Elizabeth and Dorcas Circles of First Christian Church, Mrs. Paul Beam of West End avenue hostessed the Tuesday luncheon meeting.

Little Girls Like Most to Dress Up

Much as most little girls enjoy making mud pies, they also enjoy dressing up. They may have to be lifted into the house and scrubbed up under protest but once the soaping is over, the notion of pretty clothes is exciting.

When visitors come or there's a party or a trip to grandma's house a girl likes to look her best. And she can this summer in clothes which have many of the fashion points seen in mother's wardrobe.

Some of these small fashions have a yacht club look in blue and white. And many of them offer their own capes or jackets for cool days or early evening excursions.

When it comes to a wedding, there's nothing like organdy for a small girl who's a guest. She can have it this year in many designs. One of the nicest places white organdy over a coin-dotted navy underdress.

Party Is Given

Eleven guests helped Kristine Helen Knaus celebrate her 10th birthday at a lawn party given by Mrs. Wilson Knaus of North Edith Street. The hostess was assisted at the Saturday affair by Mrs. Gilbert McClellan.

Newlyweds to Reside in Drayton Plains

MRS. RICHARD L. CHILDRESS

Palms and vases of gladioli decorated the altar when Marbara Lee Hammett became the bride of Richard Lee Childress of Drayton Plains at 7 p.m. Saturday. Rev. Willard Stallcup performed the ceremony in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert D. Hammett of Going street and the Lacy Childress, of Janey, Va., are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride chose a floor length gown of net over satin featuring two lace panels on the skirt. The gown was fashioned with a scalloped neckline and a fitted bodice of French imported satin with lace sleeves that tapered to points over the wrists.

She wore a tiara of lace, decorated with seed pearls, which held a veil of silk illusion edged with lace, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

Mrs. Richard Navarre served as her sister's matron of honor. The attendants were Barbara Chapdelaine, Mrs. John McLarty and Patricia Martin. The attendants wore floor length gowns of white nylon eyelet over light blue taffeta accented by wide blue cummerbunds. They wore matching eyelet picture hats.

The matron of honor carried an arrangement of red roses on a white lace fan.

The bride's niece, Marbara Lea Navarre, was the flower maid. She wore a floor length white nylon dress and carried a basket of flowers.

Richard Navarre served as the best man. D. Truman Hammett, a brother of the bride; Charles Lambert of Dearborn and John McLarty seated the guests. Richard P. Navarre, the bride's nephew, was the ringbearer.

A reception was held in the church parlors.

Mrs. Hammett wore a navy silk lace dress over white with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a light gray dress and a red rose corsage.

'Built In' Colors Must Be Lasting

Today's budget-watching homemakers like bright color in kitchen appliances, but they know that beauty of finish has to be more than "skin deep." They want nonfading colors and gleaming white that will not yellow with age.

Homemakers prefer the glass-like porcelain enamel finishes now offered on appliances because a specially-formulated color stability has literally been "built-in." Lustrous new porcelain enamel colors are oven-heat-proof, freezer-cold-proof, acid resistant and non-porous for easy cleaning, and come in a wide selection of shades to suit any decorator scheme.

Have Home 'Valet'

Surprise the hard-working husband of yours with quick home "valet service." To steam out the wrinkles in his favorite wash-and-wear slacks, toss them in your automatic dryer along with two damp turkish towels. After five or ten minutes, remove from dryer, and run slacks through your automatic ironer to set the press.

SAGINAW AT WARREN, PONTIAC

If you need slimming, stick with single row of buttons, because double buttoned dress on wide panel widens the figure.

Double-breasted closing is smart on the slender figure but since it directs the eye across the body, overweight women and girls should choose the vertical line of single row of buttons.

Make it a habit, at dishwashing time, to dip a sponge into clean soap or detergent suds and wipe the refrigerator. This erases tell-tell finger tracks and food splashes.

Water Composes Over Two-Thirds of the Body

You Need 6 Glasses of Fluid Daily

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

WATER. Do you realize that you are all wet? If you got rid of all the water in your body there would be less than one-third of you left! In other words you are more than two-thirds water. That makes you sound sort of wishy-washy, doesn't it?

★ ★ ★

Man can live for a long time without food but he can survive only a few days without water. Few people drink as much water as they should for best health. It is true that 90 per cent of the content of fruit and vegetables is water but we require more than the liquid we obtain in food for smooth bodily functioning.

Six glasses of fluid a day should be a minimum. This can include milk, tea, coffee and other beverages. However, you would profit by more than this.

In the winter most folks forget to drink water. In the summer we do not have to be reminded of this need but in summer we need more than in winter.

★ ★ ★

CONSTIPATION. A too small intake of liquids is one of the factors causing this trouble. Other causes are lack of exercise, a diet of highly concentrated foods without enough roughage, and lack of habit formation.

IODINE. Lack of iodine in the diet may lead to goiter. Watercress, vegetables and fruits grown near the sea, cranberries and seafoods are good sources. If you live inland, iodized salt might be a good measure.

WATER WITH MEALS. This long has been a controversial subject. The latest thought seems to be that it doesn't matter one way or another, with the following exception: If you drink too much water at meals it will fill you up and may cause you to eat less of the foods essential to good nutrition. So far as reducing, it has no effect either way.

★ ★ ★

POWDERED MILK. Many women wish to know whether or not powdered, fat-free milk loses any of its health value. The only difference is the loss of fat from the milk. You get all the fat you require, and maybe more, from your other sources if you eat a well-balanced diet.

Many people are using skim milk and powdered, fat-free milk in order to cut down on calories and also because of the latest idea that too much fat in the diet may contribute to hardening of the arteries.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Watchwords of Science for Youth After 40" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 61 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "13-Year-Old (37-23-37) Is Teased by Boys."

Few people drink as much water as they should for best health. If you are a working girl, frequent trips to the water fountain will help.

Chairman Named

Mrs. Gilbert Smith was named program chairman and vice president of the Soroptimist Club of Pontiac Tuesday evening at an annual picnic of members and husbands.

★ ★ ★

Chairman of projects will be Mrs. Kenneth Wright. In charge of ways and means is Mrs. Richard Paschke and Mrs. Leon Glynn will be in charge of Pontiac State Hospital recreation project. Mrs. Frank Anderson is heading public relations while Mrs. Arnold Hillerman wil fulfill the duties of historian.

The picnic was held at the Opdyke road home of Mrs. Carl Schultz. Arrangements were handled by Mrs. Ray Swackhamer. Richard Paschke, Gilbert Smith, Arnold Hillerman, Harold James, Carl Schultz and Ray Swackhamer were guests of the club.

Requirement for Clocks—Versatility

NEW YORK (INS) — If you buy a clock strictly because it tells time, then climb back into your raccoon coat because you are strictly passe.

Clocks today don't just tick-tock the time away with reasonable precision—they have to do something.

One new clock, for instance has a switch that turns on a night light concealed in the upper portion of the front panel. This little light doesn't just illuminate the dial, it also spreads sufficient light to grope your way around, but not so much that it threatens to awake anyone sleeping.

Another new clock wakes you up—not once but three times. Each time you collapse back in bed it gives you just enough time to doze off, then it brrrrrings you awake again.

This handy little device also is available in combination with a clock-radio, but then it only rings twice.

Even little children can have clocks that are active. The face of one new model is decorated by a little doggie who holds the joint of the hour and second hands in his mouth like a ball.

Americas Offer Exotic Floors

The best of the two Americas, North and South, now combine to create unusual and exotic floors.

Ceramic tiles, so skillfully used in tropical climates, are being interspersed with vinyl plastic tiles to give dramatic floor interest to living rooms and entrance ahlls. Colorful ceramic tiles—placed as borders, as corner ornamentation, or as centerpieces that cover a large part of the mid-floor area—are usually surrounded with vinyl tiles of neutral tones.

The effects are startlinglu beautiful but the results are practical, too. Both kinds of tiles can be mopped clean with warm water and thick soap or detergent suds.

Cotton knit shirts that won't stretch, sag or shrink are a handy addition to a summer wardrobe.

Beau Told He Showed Disrespect

Should Have Gone to Porch for Talk With Girl

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I drove up on front of a girl's house on the way home from work, to ask her to go to a movie that evening. As I noticed a neighbor sitting on the porch with her, I asked the girl to come down to the car because I wasn't presentable, and neither did I like asking her for a date in front of the neighbor.

"The girl bawled me out because she said my behavior in staying in the car was disrespectful to her and belittled her in front of the neighbors. I'd like your point-blank answer to this situation."

Answer: The girl was quite right. You should have gone up just the same and apologized briefly for your appearance, given your message and left promptly. That you could have called out, "Come here," is unthinkable.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Why are some invitations enclosed in two envelopes? Are these only formal engraved ones?"

Answer. Formally engraved wedding invitations are correctly enclosed in two envelopes. The reason being that the inner one free of stamping and post office cancellation can be kept as a souvenir — at least that was originally the sentimental intention.

At one time wedding invitations were the only ones for which two envelopes were required. Today, however, graduation invitations are often enclosed in two — and for the same reason.

"Dear Mrs. Post: To settle a discussion, will you please tell me the correct way of serving candy to guests? Should it be put in a candy dish or may it be served directly from the box? I would appreciate hearing from you."

Answer: At the table, it should be taken out of the box and served in a dish. Do the same when serving at any sort of a party. If you are merely proffering candy in your living room you leave it in the box.

Clean Hands Help Improve Bowling Score

If you want a bowling score to rival the experts, lather, rinse, and dry your hands thoroughly before you launch your ball down the alley.

★ ★ ★

Oily perspiration on hands lessens your control and prevents you from putting the proper "English" on the ball. Since the thumb and finger holes can also collect a film of oily perspiration, swab them out with a well-sudsed cloth before you start your game.

Rinse Dirty Dishes

If you can't wash dishes immediately after a meal, at least rinse stainless steel pieces promptly with hot water. This prevents damage from acid or salty foods, but needs to be followed by regular washing in hot soap or detergent suds later.

'Second' Often Long

Don't ask a person to hold the telephone "a second" while you answer the door or see what Johnny wants. It's much better to ask if you may call back. For the "second" sometimes takes five minutes.

If You're Keeping Hubby, Accept His Shortcomings

Worrying, Complaining Only Result in Lifetime of Unhappiness

By RUTH MILLETT

Any wife who is making herself miserable fretting and fuming over the faults and shortcomings of her husband ought to ask herself one question: "Would I be better off with no husband at all than with the one I've got?"

★ ★ ★

If the answer is "No"—and chances are it will be if the wife is really honest—then the wife ought to make up her mind to be happy with her husband "as is."

FORGET HIS FAULTS

Maybe he isn't the most generous husband, the most companionable, or the best natured. But if the wife knows that she is better off as his wife than she would be as his ex-wife, her best bet is to forget about his shortcomings and concentrate on his good qualities.

★ ★ ★

Why should a woman deliberately make herself miserable over a situation she has no intention of changing or over faults which she can do nothing about?

If she is going to keep her husband, then she must keep faults and all.

★ ★ ★

Worrying, complaining and being miserable because the faults are there won't help her, her husband or their marriage.

Since the faults aren't likely to disappear and she has made up her mind that the marriage is worth maintaining, her happiness depends on how she acts.

★ ★ ★

Too many women who expect to keep their husbands until death parts them live a life of unhappiness because they aren't willing to accept them "as is."

Socks Stop Mars

If you're moving or just re-arranging the furniture, watch those floors. Slip heavy cotton socks over furniture legs to prevent marring the floors.

Long Garters Out

Garters long enough for the tall girl are a welcome feature of new lace-elastic garter belts. These brief garments, of course, are washable in soap or detergent suds. Garters usually need a light scrubbing with a sudsy brush to remove finger soil.

Check Suspect's Shooting Story

Fugitive Not Eliminated as Possible Murderer of 2 Policemen

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Los Angeles County officers painstakingly checked today the bragging story of William T. Allen, 25, Illinois mental hospital fugitive, that he shot and killed two El Segundo, Calif., officers Monday.

"We have not completely eliminated him," said Richard Tiernan, Los Angeles sheriff's detective captain, after he and Vern Woods, assistant police chief at El Segundo, had questioned Allen more than three hours last night.

"We're going to check him out some more today."

Police Capt. Anthony Bolger of Oakland said he believes "Allen is a psychopathic braggart" but reported solid identification had linked Allen with the shooting of a St. Louis officer and with tavern robberies in Chicago.

Bolger said Chicago police planned to ask extradition of Allen to face robbery and flight charges there. He escaped Feb. 9 from Illinois deputies while being taken from the Chester County Mental Hospital to Chicago for trial on tavern robbery charges.

★ ★ ★

Inspector Magner Thompson said Allen told Oakland officers he held up 50 taverns in Chicago. "He said he robbed a bar about every night there, skipping a night occasionally to go to a movie," Thompson reported.

St. Louis police identified Allen as the man who shot and wounded Police Cpl. Joseph Moose in a tavern holdup there June 22, 1956. Moose recovered and returned to duty.

Fiji Islanders Turning to Credit Union Idea

SUVA, Fiji Isles — Credit Unions are playing an even larger part in the life of Fijians. The Credit Union is a village organization under which a committee of villagers receives savings from individuals and makes loans to individuals from funds thus accumulated.

Membership in the union increased in 1956 from 16,623 to 21,586 and there are now 187 unions compared with 66 in 1954. Total assets have reached nearly $313,600, a gain of 75 per cent last year. Savings have recently shown a drop, however, due to severe floods that caused crop losses in some areas.

The volcano, Popocatapetl, is 40 miles south of Mexico City. It is sometimes moderately active, but has not erupted to a damaging extent since 1540.

CATS ARE NICE PETS — BUT THEY GROW — David Snowden, left, of Memphis, Tenn., plays with "Dandy Lion," a six-month-old, 60-pound family pet, who is becoming a little bit of a problem around the house. David and "Dandy Lion" hit it off perfectly but the latter just keeps on growing, so David wants to give him away if he can. Elizabeth Green, 12, has no trouble at all getting her pet "cat" to drink his milk. "Caesar," a 140-pound tamed cheetah from Tanganyika, laps up the milk at high speed in the girl's Fairlee, Vt., home. Elizabeth's father, big game hunter Bill Green, plans to have "Caesar" perform at his rare bird and animal farm in Fairlee. Cheetahs are supposed to be the world's fastest animals and "Caesar" has proven it. He's been clocked at 72.3 m.p.h.

Buried to Neck, Still Manages Joke or Two

DETROIT (AP)—With only his head sticking from a pile of rubble, Dino Tempesti was buried alive yesterday—but he maintained his sense of humor.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, rescuers dug to free the 42-year-old Detroit Edison Co. worker from the mountain of debris 12 feet below street level.

"Call the hospital and reserve me a pretty nurse," quipped the trapped man to his rescuers.

"And get me out of here by 4 o'clock—that's quitting time," he joked.

The unearthing job took 30 minutes. By quitting time, Tempesti was in a hospital with leg and chest injuries. His condition was reported as good.

★ ★ ★

He was trapped by the falling rubble from a cavein while relocating steamlines beneath a downtown street.

Hollywood Headlines

Pat Boone Shies Away From Kissing on Screen

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Pat Boone is wrestling with his conscience today. The problem: Shall he kiss his leading lady in his new picture?

★ ★ ★

The problem didn't arise in his first picture, "Bernardine," but in "April Love" there is a scene in which the handsome 23-year-old rock 'n' roller is supposed to kiss Shirley Jones.

He asked the writers to get around it if they could. They fixed things so that Shirley turns her head just as Pat starts to kiss her.

"However, the director feels that there should be a kiss to give the scene greater impact," Boone said. "So far we have been shooting around it and I have to make up my mind within the next three weeks whether to kiss her or not."

Boone, called by his studio the most important singing-acting discovery since Bing Crosby, has long held a personal belief that he shall not have physical contact with any woman other than his wife.

"I've had many a conference with myself over this belief recently," he told a reporter. "I still don't know whether I can reconcile myself to doing something on the screen that I wouldn't do in my personal life."

★ ★ ★

He had a similar problem recently on an NBC-TV spectacular. He had several scenes with dancer Shirley MacLaine in which he was supposed to hold her while dancing. He politely refused.

"I was able to solve that one partly because I've never learned how to dance," he said.

This is no publicity stunt on Pat's part. Nor is he a "goody-goody" prude. Friends say he is tolerant of other people's beliefs and also of their vices.

He will go to a Hollywood cocktail party if his job demands it. Yet he doesn't drink, smoke or cuss.

★ ★ ★

His pretty wife Shirley also is opposed to his kissing other women on the screen.

"But," Pat said, "not violently. Her main concern is what our three children will think about their daddy kissing other women."

He realizes what his belief would do to his movie career—how it would limit roles. One 20th Century-Fox executive said he had never heard of a similar situation in the history of the movies.

★ ★ ★

He emphasized that the belief is not a tenet of his church, although many members of the church hold similar views.

Phoned Bomb Scare to Delay Friend

NEW YORK (AP) — FBI agents seized a 21-year-old unemployed laborer yesterday and said he telephoned a bomb scare to an airline to delay departure of a friend to a Georgia Army camp.

Held in lieu of $15,000 bail was Christian John Robinson, also known as Chris Roberts.

Phony bomb scares to airlines are punishable by a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The phony call, authorities said, was placed early Tuesday to Port New York Authority police at LaGuardia Field. The male caller said: "Listen to this carefully. Eastern Airlines leaving to Atlanta 12:37. There is a bomb on board."

★ ★ ★

It delayed departure of the plane's passengers for several hours. They eventually left aboard another plane while their original craft was searched. No bomb was found.

Girard Key Witness Convicted in Brawl

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—A Japanese court today convicted and fined one of the key Japanese witnesses in the coming trial of Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard.

★ ★ ★

The Maebashi Summary Court found Hidetsugu Onozeki, 29-year-old farmer, guilty of slightly injuring Pfc. Wilbur R. Smith of Mound City, Mo., in a brawl June 9.

The Japanese was fined 10,000 yen ($27.78), about what he makes a month.

★ ★ ★

Girard is scheduled to go on trial Aug. 26 on a manslaughter charge growing out of the killing on a military firing range Jan. 30 of Mrs. Naka Sakai, who was collecting empty shell cases for scrap metal. Onozeki told police he saw Girard entice Mrs. Sakai onto the range before she was hit and killed by an empty cartridge case fired from Girard's grenade launcher.

★ ★ ★

Girard's attorneys are expected to cite Onozeki's conviction in an effort to discredit his testimony.

Inflation, You Know

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—Elwood Edward Lairson is charged with breaking and entering a cafe, for which, if convicted, he could be sentenced to one to three years. His haul consisted of 25 pennies.

The Spaniards who accompanied Columbus on his fourth voyage gave Costa Rica, or "rich coast," its name when they saw Indians there wearing gold ornaments.

11 Still Seeking Hospital Post

New Pontiac General Director May Be Named Next Month

Eleven applicants are still in the running for the post of director at Pontiac General Hospital, Willis M. Brewer, Board of Trustees chairman, said today.

He said a decision might be made by the August board meeting.

"We don't want to rush this thing," he said, "because we're after an outstanding man."

He said the board has received 60 applications for the job when Miss Lauretta Paul left in May.

"Our committee has trimmed this down to 11, of which Acting Director Warren W. Simonds is one," Brewer said.

Brewer, elected this month to head the board, said the board was willing to pay a substantial salary to "get a good man." He would not elaborate on what the pay might be.

The chairman said applicants had been asking between $12,000 and $20,000—with one as high as $25,000.

Miss Paul's salary was $13,000 when she left.

We Use Imported Water

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Because of the prolonged drought Clarence Hubbard can't use any local water in his car wash business. So he imports 500 gallons each day from nearby Chicopee, where it is more plentiful.

Many Indian women in western United States wash their hair with "amole," the root of one species of Yucca, the state flower of New Mexico.

A City Learns a Lot About a Newspaper in 115 Years —especially when the paper is still in the same type of constructive hands that brought it up from infancy.

As you circulate around this area, you can't fail to notice the personal relationship between the people and the Pontiac Press—people in all walks of life from the mothers, fathers and school children to the officials. The Press is part of the family.

Growing pains at the age of 115 simply indicate we're still expanding. We refuse to stand still or stagnate.

We ran 20,619,427 lines of advertising in 1956, a convincing proof that we're a most vital force in this community.

Circulation yesterday was 58,435.

National C. of C. Sponsors Clinics

Study Issues Nationally to Get More Mileage From Congressmen

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — Want to know how to get the most mileage out of your Congressman or when to trade him in on another model?

The national Chamber of Commerce is flying a panel of experts to 12 American cities to hold one day "congressional issue clinics" with local members of the organization.

The results should keep congressmen fixed to pen, paper and telephone for some time to come. The chamber is leaving no path to the representatives' door obscured.

The purpose of the panel discussion between the Chamber's four experts and local members is to equip businessmen to influence more effectively on legislative climate.

Any other organization could take the same instruction and use it to their ends.

COURAGE OF CONVICTIONS

"Congress," according to Arch Booth, Chamber vice president, "is composed of people who have the courage of their constituents' convictions."

The Chamber would like to see the views of its members on such issues as federal spending, taxes, wages and labor, more vigorously impressed on lawmakers.

In addition to its congressional clinics, the Chamber of Commerce is making legislative services available to local congressional action committees.

★ ★ ★

Every major issue with economic consequences facing congress gets a detailed presentation in a special report issued by the Chamber.

So there can be no question about on whom to put the pressure. A booklet is issued each year listing the members of each congressional committee.

The Chamber of Commerce divisional offices have staffers whose specialty is organizing "legislative programs" in local chapters.

The aim of this concerted effort is simple: Businessmen mail your memos to Washington. You've nothing to lose but congressmen.

Lumber Usage Drops

PORTLAND, Ore. — The United States consumed 39.3 billion feet of lumber in 1956, a decrease of seven per cent below 1955 consumption, but two per cent above 1954, three per cent above 1953, and about the same as in 1952.

That's Dam Heavy

SPOKANE—Grand Coulee dam contains 10,230,776 cubic yards of concrete and weighs an estimated 22 million tons.

Former Star Trains Youngsters

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Want to throw a surprise party for your husband?

Call in the press to interview him while you get everything ready behind his back.

So while Rose Bampton, who used to sing at the Metropolitan Opera, prepared for a whopping wing-ding of a party, I interviewed her husband, Wilfrid Pelletier, for 33 years Met conductor, on his 61st birthday.

Pelletier, whose Met career ran from 1917 to 1950, came to this country as a youngster—and it is youngsters that he works with here now a great deal, and youngsters he seems to like most to talk about.

For three years conductor of the New York Philharmonic children's concerts, he says youngsters no longer can be tempted with the musical fare they liked even a few years ago.

"They are not interested in games, or stunts, they want Debussy's 'La Mer,' Ravel's "Daphne et Chloe,' and things of that caliber."

BORN IN CANADA

A Montrealer born into a large musical family, he spends half his time in Canada, half here—unless it's a third in each place and a third traveling in between. There, too, in the conservatory he trains young people, and likes them to start as early as possible.

"For voices," he said, "you wait till the teens. But for strings, if you get them in their first years, they develop a suppleness in fingers and wrist which are otherwise apt to stiffen beyond remedy.

"Get them early and they become proficient, and so proud of it that when they are older they ignore the distractions of the sports field and stick to music."

The National Federation of Music Clubs' 1957 Award of Merit went to Pelletier for his efforts in encouraging the study of strings. At a children's concert he used 25 school-age youngsters as substitutes for some Philharmonic players in part of his program.

MUSICAL MARRIAGE — Wilfred Pelletier, Metropolitan Opera conductor for 33 years until 1950, plays piano for his wife, Rose Bampton, who used to sing at the met.

Commercial TV Ends Hour of Daily Silence

LONDON — "That wicked uncle, commercial television" is being blamed in Britain for the fact that "the one-eyed Monster in the Corner" has obtained a further hour of life. TV hours now have been extended to fill in that important 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. gap known as the Toddlers Truce — formerly silent. "Ask any mother and she will tell you how invaluable that peaceful hour was," suggests a London commentator. "It enabled her to get the youngest children to bed; the older ones could make a sizable hole in their home-work. Father could perhaps tackle one or two of the odd jobs about the house. Now it is all changed." Commercial TV stands to earn more from advertisers but it will cost B.B.C., with no "ad" revenue, $1,400,000 a year, it is claimed.

Foreign Cars Invade Market in Britain

LONDON — Even if the gasoline squeeze ends soon, foreign car makers are intent on moving into the British market. Their aim, British manufacturers say, is to corner the market for the "basic runabout" — a baby economy car.

At least two Continental car makers plan to produce their "basic babies" in England, to avoid the considerable import duty. About 100 Geoggomobils (60 horsepower, 60 miles to the gallon) arrived recently from a German works. They are expected to sell in Britain for about $1,750 to $1,800. The Heinkel ultra-economical three-wheeler also is arriving from Germany and the B.M.W. Isetta is increasing sales. British firms are preparing to meet the issue.

Advises on Everything

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—There isn't much that Guidance Director Kenneth Marantette of Sarasota High School doesn't give advice about. He even keeps catalogs of auto parts and accessories in his office so he can tell anxious young hot rodders whether or not they're getting good buys.

Gate in Berlin to Be Restored

East, West to Cooperate in Reconstructing Noted Brandenburg Monument

BERLIN (INS) — East and West are cooperating in Berlin to restore one of Germany's most famous monuments, the Brandenburg gate.

To western eyes the greatest improvement will be the removal of the great Red banner which has flapped over the gate since the end of World War II.

REPLICA ON GATE

In place of the banner will go a copy of the original "Quadriga," a massive piece of bronze statuary in which the Goddess of Victory in a chariot is being towed along by four two-ton horses.

Because of disagreement between East and West, the gate had been left to stand in ruin since 1945. But last October the two halves of Berlin agreed on a $60,000 reconstruction plan. The trouble was over the "Quadriga."

The gate lies a few yards inside Red Berlin and the Communists wanted the restoration of the gate all to themselves. But the casts to make a new "Quadriga" were stored in West Berlin.

REFUSED REDS

West Berlin authorities refused to turn over the casts.

Finally it was agreed that East Berlin would rebuild the gate itself and West Berlin would make the "Quadriga." Both phases of work have already begun but are not likely to be finished until 1958.

The Brandenburg gate was built in 1781 and the Quadriga was added a few years later. Napoleon carried off the statues in 1806 but after Waterloo they were returned to their owners.

Despite this 156-year history, the gate has probably reached the height of its fame in the last decade as the only legal breach in the Iron Curtain. Easterner and Westerner can cross there freely.

★ ★ ★

It stands in a waste-land of shattered buildings which once were the headquarters of Hitler's Reich. There is an informal agreement between East and West Germans that this government quarter will eventually be rebuilt when the country once again has an all-German government.

Foundation Gives Grant for Animal Health Work

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which buys 100,000 monkeys a year for polio research has granted $15,000 to the Florida State Board of Health to continue a study of how to protect the health of the animals.

The monkeys, also used in the manufacture of Salk vaccine, cost about $50 each and are prey to many virus diseases.

Variety of Attractions

Although It's Now a Modern City Venice Still Has Ancient Charm

VENICE — Though a modern, maritime city, Venice has lost none of her ancient charm. Her ribboned gondoliers, winding canals and carved old palaces continue to cast a spell like no other city on earth.

In summer, this floating fairyland tends to gild its age-old charms with any number of special attractions. The season from June through September, for example, is crammed with music, theater and film festivals, art exhibitions, gondola races and folk fetes. Added to this array of events are, sunbathing, sightseeing and gambling at the Lido.

The result of all this glamour and glory means Venice is jammed to the gunwales at peak season. As benefits a metropolis of its size, the resort offers accommodations of every variety and price to the traveler who reserves his room in advance.

Hotels range from big luxury palaces, fit for a Venetian Doge, like the Danieli on the Grand Canal, to tiny family-type inns like the Gallini on a sequestered byway. Prices range accordingly from $2 a day to $14 a day, depending on the splendor of the establishment.

★ ★ ★

When traffic is heavy on the Grand Canal and hotels are crowded, tourists do well to make their headquarters out along the Venetian Lagoon. Ideal is Chioggia, a fisherman's port, built on tiny islands at the tip of the estuary.

Chioggia, like Venice, has its own arched bridges, canals and ancient monuments. Quays are draped with lobster nets hung out to dry, and canals are bright with the gaily painted sails of fishing boats.

RATES ARE LOWER

Chioggia's sun-basking strip, the Lido of Sottomarina, is one of the best beaches on the Adriatic. A string of little hotels and bright cabanas dot the white sands, and rates are a shade or two less than in Venice.

Chioggia is a 19-mile, two-hour cruise south across the Lagoon from Venice. Steamship service also operates north of Venice to the Lido di Jesolo, another sandy stretch with comfortable hotels on the beach.

Venice itself, with its 177 canals and 400 bridges connecting dozens of little islands, rises lige a mirage from the blue lagoon. Her splendid monuments — Byzantine Basilica, Palace of the Doges, rococo villas and ornate churches — reflect the heyday of Venetian prosperity, when her argosies ruled the Adriatic for 800 years.

No one, however, can see all the great showplaces of Venice without a trip to the islands of the lagoon. Launches leave daily from Fondamenta Nuove for a circular tour of the islands.

Just a few oar strokes from Pigeon-crowded St. Mark's Square is the Island of San Michele, a Venetian cemetery. Visitors stop off to admire its church, built in 1469 by Coducci, and to glimpse a typical Venetian funeral cortege. On these somber occasions, gondolas, draped in black velvet and heaped with flowers, glide silently in single file across the water to San Michele.

Next stop on the island circuit is Murano, sprawled over five islands in the lagoon. The art of glass-blowing, a technique handed down from father to son for generations, is still a big business. Though Murano glass is sold in smart shops around the world, the most exquisite pieces are bargain-priced at local factories.

BYRON LIVED HERE

Within view of St. Mark's Square, the heart of Venice, lies the romantic isle of San Lazzaro degli Armeni. When he wasn't challenging swimmers to a race in the Grand Canal, the English poet, Byron, lived on San Lazzaro and spent his time studying Armenian.

The world's most famous island in the lagoon is, of course, the Lido, a 15-minute boat ride from downtown Venice. Its white beach, swank casino, luxury hotels and plush villas have drawn the international set to Venice since the turn of the century.

Whether one chooses the popular Lido or remote Tocello, there's not much chance of running out of islands in the Venetian lagoon. Each has its own charm whether one wants to join in the heady delights of the present or lose himself in the romantic way of the past.

Venice is overnight by train from Rome. Tourists can now fly round-trip from New York to Rome for $551 on a 17-day excursion.

Cold Weather Kills 33

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Freezing temperatures have killed at least 33 persons so far this week, the Bureau of Deaths reported. It said the victims were poor persons who have been sleeping in the streets. This is the Brazilian winter season.

Now There Are 8 Harts

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Jane Hart, wife of Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, gave birth to her eighth child Wednesday at Harper Hospital. The child, a 7 pound 4 ounce girl, was named Laura Elizabeth. Doctors said both mother and daughter were "doing fine."

Last of Breed Graze 'n' Gaze

Texas Longhorns Now Number 300 at Refuge in Oklahoma

WASHINGTON — The ornery longhorn that built the American cattle kingdom has finally become a national pet.

Sixty years ago, cowboys still roped and branded these bad-tempered, money-making Texas bovines. Now visitors come to gaze at a few hundred survivors of the breed grazing in private paddocks, game refuges, and zoos.

Among the longhorn's distant ancestors were Spanish cattle introduced into Texas in 1690, says the National Geographic Society. Dispersed by Indian raids, many animals ran wild, earning a reputation for fearless savagery.

Early Lone Star ranchers collected hodgepodge herds liberally laced with this hot Spanish blood. Gradually, the longhorn developed. Big-boned and narrow-hipped, cows weighed in at up to 1,600 pounds and came in a variety of drab colors, none particularly beautiful. Horns sometimes stretched eight feet from tip to tip, with dagger-sharp points.

RESIST TICK

Impervious to the tick that carried Texas fever to more effete breeds, the longhorn seemed to thrive on lean grazing and infrequent water holes, on summer's blazing heat and winter's blue northers. Herds expanded to make Texas a huge reservoir of beef.

★ ★ ★

The end of trail driving finished the longhorn's career. Accessible transportation and new methods of tick control allowed fat beef breeds to prosper. Gradually, cowmen bred their longhorns away. They had been too tough to succumb to the frontier. Unfortunately they were often considered too tough to eat, compared with such sleek newcomers as Herefords, polled Angus, and Brahmans.

★ ★ ★

But America's old-time longhorn carries on, notably at Oklahoma's Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge, where some 300 idle away the hours. They're too tough for extinction.

IS MADAME PLEASED? — Trainer Art Brown and Nancy Craig fit Julius the chimp with a new costume by Mr. Shultz, couturier for chimps at the Detroit Zoo.

Detroit Zoo Furnishes Clientele

Designs for Chimpanzees

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Shultz is a designer. And his colorful creations elicit Oohs and Ahs like those of a Paris couturier when they go on exhibition.

Shultz has an exclusive clientele —an even dozen customers who'll wear a total of 49 of his creations this year.

★ ★ ★

But those creations likely will be seen and admired by more Detroiters than all the Christian Diors in motordom.

Shultz is the designer for the Detroit Zoo's chimpanzees, whose daily shows draw thousands upon thousands of spectators over the summer.

The costumes are fitted as meticulously as any grande dame's. Shultz estimates four sittings are necessary for every one. Arms must be free fitting for trapeze work, and the chimps have no patience at all with anything that's tight around the neck.

★ ★ ★

Special fabric is necessary, too. Shultz looks for drip-dry cottons, mostly. With two or three shows a day, the finery must be washed every day or at least every two days.

With it all, Shultz, proprietor of a suburban Royal Oak dry cleaning establishment, says designing for chimps is a lot easier on the temperament than designing for humans.

Why?

"The chimps can't talk."

Old-New Combine to Spread the News

GHANA — Something like the wandering troubadour of old has been created in this new country of Ghana—the Messenger-Interpreter, who spreads news and information in the sparsely settled Northern Territories.

There distances are vast and urban life exists only in one or two towns in a land of some 38,000 square miles. Messenger-Interpreters are government employes, agricultural assistants or those whose jobs involve constant trekking.

The Northerner has an insatiable appetite for news and the M-I, rather than lecture, tells news stories in the vernaculars. Under a shady tree, perhaps around a calabash of pito (wild pineapple), villagers will sit for hours listening to stories of developments in the next village, little efforts at self help or an episode of valor in neighboring compound.

In is estimated there are about 3,500,000 acres of peat, generally used as a fuel, in many parts of Great Britain.

Jack Adams has been to hockey what Branch Rickey was to baseball. Both have been known in their respective sports as shrewd masterminds for making trades.

★ ★ ★

When with St. Louis and Brooklyn, Rickey was in his prime. He engineered a few swaps which brought the pennant to the Cards and to the Dodgers. When Rickey went to Pittsburgh it seemed he left his trading power in Flatbush.

★ ★ ★

Like Rickey, Adams has been hailed as the man who has rolled out the red carpet of success from the Olympia to the many championships of the National Hockey League by his trading power.

★ ★ ★

With yesterday's deal, however, in which Ted Lindsay and Glenn Hall were shipped to Chicago for four players and "considerable" cash, some of the most loyal Red Wing fans are beginning to wonder whether or not Adams may have lost the magic touch in player deals.

There was a big furor when Terry Sawchuck was sent to Boston in 1955. Adams practically admitted the mistake when he went all out to get Terry back recently.

Not many, but a few unhappy words were heard when Adams shipped out a couple of players to Boston. The deal ultimately put a flame under the Olympia ice when Jerry Toppazzini and Real Chevrafils helped the Bruins to win four out of five games in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

★ ★ ★

Now the anti-Adams clan has new fodder. Some feel the Wings could have gained a much better return for a pair like Lindsay and Hall.

Others are less disturbed about whom the Wings received. They are just angry that after 13 years, one of Detroit's most popular sports figures will now be a foe.

★ ★ ★

Only time will tell whether this trade aimed to bring the "youth movement" to the Wings will make Adams the hero or the goat.

Anyway, it won't seem the same when the lineup announcement blares out Howe and Wilson instead of Lindsay and Howe.

15 Veterans Still Unsigned

Lion Rookies at Cranbrook

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Rookie camp opened for the Detroit Lions at nearby Cranbrook today, but most of the concern by Lion officials is centered on the half empty file cabinet which houses the contracts of the veteran players.

With regular sessions only five days hence, only 18 of the 33 veteran players have inked their 1957 contracts. The latest to enter the fold was Charley Ane, 260-pound center, now in his 5th season with the Lions.

A group of 27 rookies reported today and started setting up housekeeping at the Cranbrook school dormitories. Most of the next two days will be spent with physicals, lectures and movies.

First day of actual drills is slated for Sunday when two sessions are planned. While the veterans begin arriving Monday another pair of workouts will be held that day, and Tuesday afternoon the entire squad will get into action.

Three of the top Lions' draft choices are missing from the scene today. Tackle John Gordy of Tennessee, halfback Terry Barr of Michigan, and end Steve Junker of Xavier are currently working out with the College All-Stars and they will join the squad August 10th.

Quarterback Jerry Reichow, who will be understudy to Bobby Layne this season, is expected to arrive tomorrow morning. He will join veterans John Henry Johnson and Dick Kercher who reported today for preliminary activity.

Johnson was obtained from San Francisco in the trade which sent Bill Bowman and Bill Stits to the coast, and Kercher is a service returnee.

Despite the absence of 15 contracts from veteran players like Jim Doran, Leon Hart, Dave Middleton, Gene Gedman and others, general manager Nick Kerbawy feels most of the group will enter the fold over the weekend.

The Lions have their pre-season opener less than three weeks from now when they entertain the Cleveland Browns at Briggs Stadium, August 14.

Over the past five years, Detroit has proven to be the best financial club in the league. It was noted at the NFL hearings in Washington yesterday that the Lions were high in net profits after taxes with $622,055 in a five year span.

★ ★ ★

The financial statements given the antitrust subcommittee showed that each team except the Chicago Cards made money in the 1952-56 period. The Cards lost $798,524.

This year the Lions are expected to set a record high in season ticket sales, surpassing the 36,586 sold last year. Regular season home opener will take place against the Rams, Sunday Oct. 13.

IN FOLD, 15 TO GO — Veteran center Charley Ane was the latest of the Detroit Lions to sign his contract, however with only a few days to go before the opening of training camp, there are still 15 veterans not under contract. The rookies opened camp today at Cranbrook.

Tiger Pitcher Permits 4 Hits in 5-1 Verdict

Victory Puts Tigers Half Game Short of First Division

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitchers always boast more of their hitting than their feats on the mound and Paul Foytack of the Detroit Tigers has earned the right to be prouder than most.

The slugging Bengal hurler is sporting a solid .302 batting average today, highest of all the Tigers.

Of course, Foytack would be first to admit he's in something of a slump after he managed to swat nothing but a measly single in four trips last night.

But that seventh inning safety drove in what turned out to be the deciding run in the Tigers 5-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

While he wasn't hitting Foytack spotted the Birds an early lead in the third and then went on to limit them to four hits.

So suddenly with two straight over Baltimore, the Tigers are just a half game behind fourth-place Cleveland. The Indians split a double-header with Washington. At the same time, the Tigers quieted fears Baltimore would catch up and pass them, a three-game spread separated the two teams after last night.

Foytack batted himself to his 11th win of the season to tie Jim Bunning as the team's top winner. It was his best-pitched game since early May.

He got god batting support from Charlie Maxwell, Al Kaline, Frank House and Frank Bolling. Maxwell led the 13-hit attack off Billy Loes, Bill Wight and bonus rookie Jerry Walker with three singles. Kaline, whose hitting seems to be picking up again, House and Bolling contributed two hits apiece.

Foytack lost his shutout bid in the third when Brooks Robinson doubled home Jim Busby with the Orioles only run.

The Tigers close out their three-game visit to Baltimore this afternoon. Frank Lary (4-12) was slated to try it again for Detroit. He was to be opposed by Connie Johnson (7-6).

Tiger Castoff Torgeson Hitting .319 at Chicago

NEW YORK (AP)—Earl "Specs" Torgeson, 33, who appeared to be making just another stop on his sojourn through the major leagues apparently has found a home in Chicago.

The veteran first baseman, tabbed as "all washed up" by Boston and Philadelphia in the National League, and Detroit in the American, has been enjoying a new lease on life since joining the White Sox six weeks ago.

Never a .300 hitter in 10 previous seasons in the big leagues, Torgeson has not only been batting well over that mark with the Sox, but his hitting has been timely and run-productive. His fielding, always smooth and finished, has been as slick as ever.

Torgy was highly instrumental in Chicago's 7-2 victory over New York yesterday which evened the series at one success apiece and pulled the White Sox to within 4' games of the front-running Yankees. He singled twice, drew two walks, scored twice, stole a base and drove in a run.

"It's the steady playing diet," explained the 6-3 Floridian. "That's the perfect tonic for a ball player. Nobody, I don't care who he is, can do justice to himself, sitting on the bench and seeing action only once in a while. Baseball is my business and I'm not going to make any money not playing. Lopez (Manager Al Lopez) has given me the opportunity and I'm just doing my best to make the most of it."

Since Chicago acquired him from Detroit in a trade for Dave Philley June 13, Torgeson has been hitting at a .319 clip. His 29 hits have driven in 16 runs. Always a man with a good batting eye despite his glasses, Torgy has drawn 19 bases on balls.

Die & Stamping Squad Tops Michigan Giants in City Baseball

You just never know from one day to the next what's going to happen in the Class A City Baseball League.

Cellar-dwelling Thomas Die & Stamping, victim of a 20-7 massacre by Griff's Grill Tuesday, furnished an example of this yesterday with a 7-2 decision over the Michigan Giants at Wisner field.

Rocky Forton effectively scattered eight safeties and his teammates backed up his steady pitching with a 10-hit attack. Bill McGuire hurled the distance for the Giants.

Thomas scored all the runs it needed in the 1st inning, getting three on successive singles by Tom Moore, Bob Uhan, Dick Young and Jim Moore plus a two-out single by Glen Funck. Three more runs were added for insurance in the 5th.

Franklin Takes Lead in IL

Franklin Products seized a half-game edge in the International League race and a four-homer barrage rocked Beaudette Park to feature Wednesday night's city softball action.

Bill Campbell twirled a nifty two-hitter as Franklin defeated Deni's Corner, 4-1. A three-run outburst in the 2nd inning iced the decision.

The victory moved Franklin into 1st place, half a game ahead of the Pontiac Police.

Bicmar Inn and Stadium Inn provided the slugging exhibition with Bicmar getting the best of it for a 9-3 triumph.

Jack Ganzel, Jerry Ganzel and Harrison blasted home runs to place Bicmar's 11-hit attack. Eldon Sharrard clouted a round-tripper in a losing cause. It was the heaviest long-ball display of the season.

Al Emsley and Ed Miller joined forces to hurl six-hit ball as Elks No. 810 upended Birmingham, 3-1. Cal Atwood pitched a four-hitter in defeat.

Verlyn Dawson spun a neat three hit game as league-leading Commerce Drive-In Theater trimmed Gingellville, 8-1, in women's activity.

Blinded Ex-GIs Top Contenders for U.S. Crown

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two men who were blinded in World War II combat are favorites in the National Blind Golf Tournament Saturday and Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Eight times champion Charley Boswell of Birmingham is rated No. 1. The other front-runner is Joe Lazaro, 39-year-old one-time caddy from Waltham, Mass. Lazaro was seven strokes back of Boswell when the Birmingham man won his eighth crown at Chicago last year.

Lazaro was blinded by a land mine in Italy. Boswell lost his sight from German shell fire in the Battle of the Bulge.

The 17 players competing have coaches who guide them around the course and line them up for their shots.

Hole-in-One for Meyer

J. A. Meyer, retired Pontiac clothier who lives at 111 Oneida, experienced the greatest thrill of his golfing career recently when he shot a hole-in-one at City Municipal Golf Course. Meyer used his driver to ace the north side's 190-yard 5th hole. Witnessing the feat were Dr. Barney Sarokin and Rod Landrey.

Father Rakoczy Mixed Sports and Religion

Remember the Sports Stars of Yore?

(This is the 10th of a series of articles about outstanding athletes from Pontiac and the Oakland area and what they are doing today. We feature today Father John Rakoczy former sports star who now devotes his life to God. Tomorrow we feature one of the city's prominent sports figures, Jack Bender. Saturday, Charles Cross of Clarkston will be featured.

Father John Rakoczy is the dean of athletics at Orchard Lake St. Mary High School in more ways than one.

He holds the title of athletic director at the school while coaching three of its four major sports as well as ranking with its all-time outstanding athletes.

★ ★ ★

The youthful priest, teacher and coach is one of those rare individuals you come across who once turned down a good opportunity to play Major League baseball. Most fellows in the game spend years trying to make the big time.

Religion won out when the former infield star known as "Rocky" had to decide on which way he wanted to go in his career.

"It was a tough decision to make," said the OLSM sport boss today. "But I haven't regretted it a bit. I have been very happy in the life I have." The big league offers had come from Brooklyn and the St. Louis Browns while he was starring in a rough Class A sandlot league in Detroit in the late 40s.

Fr. Rakoczy's feats at St. Mary High School will likely never be matched. He later attended the former St. Mary College there playing three years of basketball, the only sport the school had.

To this day, the 39-year-old River Rouge native claims baseball was his best sport although he once scored 54 points in 24 minutes in a basketball game and averaged 21 per game during the 1943-44 season. He was still hitting an impressive 16 per game in college despite being a little guy at five-foot-nine.

But you have to go along with his baseball claim looking at the records. He hit an amazing .420 as a freshman, followed with .390, zoomed to .571 as a junior and finished with .395. "I played forward in basketball, 2nd base, 3rd, shortstop and pitched some in baseball," commented the priest.

The 1943-44 Eaglet quintet won 21 straight before bowing out in the state regionals to Lakeview. Fr. Walter Glemba, also now on the school faculty, and pharmacist Joseph Korlozyk were on that hoop team which also won the Catholic crown. It was coached by Fr. Bruno Newman.

Fr. Rakoczy, who was one of six brothers and has a sister that is a nun, was ordained at St. John's Seminary in Plymouth in 1951 following two years of study at Mt. St. Mary in Ohio. He was assistant pastor at a Hamtramck church and organized CYO baseball and basketball teams before coming to St. Mary.

He returned to St. Mary in '54, coached baseball and basketball, and later added football.

★ ★ ★

He has kept rival coaches guessing ever since winning district and league championships. The three sports plus classes in physical education and religion keep him moving all through the school season.

National Guard Inducts Consolo

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Red Sox shortstop Billy Consolo is scheduled to be inducted into the National Guard tonight and will report for six months of active duty Oct. 1.

Consolo, 22, will be inducted at Somerville.

Consolo currently is the regular Bosox shortstop with Billy Klaus out due to an injury, and is batting .318.

Hurlers Take Charge in NL

NEW YORK (INS) — Whatever became of the "jackrabbit" in baseballs that everyone—most of all the pitchers—said would ruin the game?

That's the question being asked by the National League's long distance sluggers, who ordinarily blast homers at a dime-a-dozen clip but who have been happy lately to settle for singles.

It was bad enough when the four N.L. games Tuesday produced three shutouts and a total of just 15 runs, including five homers, but yesterday the pitching became even more effective.

There were two more shutouts, no team scored more than three runs and the entire league in four games could deliver a total of only 12 runs.

To top off the pitchers' evening, there was only one homer—and that by Milwaukee's Wes Covington to prevent a third shutout.

The whitewash jobs were applied by Larry Jackson of St. Louis, who threw a three-hit, 3-to-0 masterpiece at Brooklyn, and Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall, who blanked Pittsburgh, 2 to 0, on eight hits.

Covington's homer was Milwaukee's only run as the Braves went down, 3 to 1, before the five-hit hurling of Philadelphia's ace rookie, Jack Sanford, who won his 13th game in 16 decisions.

In the league's only day game, Don Elston pitched a seven-hitter as the Chicago Cubs whipped Johnny Antonelli and the New York Giants, 2 to 1.

With front-running Milwaukee and Brooklyn losing their games, and the other three contenders winning, the N.L. flag picture finds the Braves still leading the Dodgers by one game with St. Louis 1-½ out, fourth-place Cin-Phils 3-½ back.

In outpitching Milwaukee's Gene Conley, Sanford struck out eight Braves to lift his league-leading total of whiffs to 124. He also drove in one run with a double. Another came in on Richie Ashburn's triple.

Jackson also struck out eight as he silenced the Dodgers. Del Ennis doubled in the first run off Sal Maglie and Al Dark tripled twice and scored the other runs. Jackson is 11-and-5.

Three 1-Hit Games in Junior Leagues

Two Class E teams and a Midget American League nine were the victims of one-hit mound performances in city league baseball action yesterday.

Wally Liley and Jerry Bates combined for one of the 'E' efforts to easily beat the Red Sox 13-2. Roger and Carl Williams teamed for the other as Lake Orion blanked Dick's Sales 11-0.

Dave Tinkis hurled seven full innings for the Midget one-hitter as the Boys' Club walloped Auburn Heights BC 19-1. He allowed the hit between two walks in the 6th to fill the bases with no outs and then struck out the next three batters. Dave fanned 14 for the game.

"HURRICANE" AND "LITTLE TWISTER" —Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson who is scheduled to meet champion Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight boxing title Monday, had little Brian Brennan, 4, of Jersey City, get into the act during his limbering-up work at his training camp. The youngster just decided to sit down alongside Jackson and imitate him.

'Hurricane' Relaxed for Title Bout

COLUMBIA, N.J. (AP) — On the shores of the Delaware River, not far from the retreat where Gene Tunney trained for Jack Dempsey over 30 years ago, Tommy "Hurricane" Jackson is trying to build up a storm for Floyd Patterson.

The No. 1 challenger who is a 5 to 1 underdog to the heavyweight champion in Monday's 15-round title match at the Polo Grounds in New York is completely satisfied with his physical condition. So is the New York State Athletic Commission.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the commission examined the Hurricane yesterday before his three-round workout with Chubby Wright of Reading, Pa. The doc found Jackson as "cool as a cucumber". Comparing the pulse readings with those reported from Patterson's camp, he found Jackson even more relaxed than the champion.

Jackson looked calm and carefree as he came down the steps of his white cottage at his Harry's Farm camp and sat under a big maple with visiting boxing writers. As the questioning continued he became restless and jiggled his legs as though about to leap into the dance he does between rounds.

★ ★ ★

"Do you have any ideas about Patterson's leaping right hand lead?," he was asked.

"I got quite a few plans I'm keeping for him. I'm keeping them to myself."

Lippe Breidbart, his manager, interrupted.

"He solves situations with his own methods," said Lippe. "You saw how he handled Ezzard Charles (beat him twice).

"My fella is like a fella that wise cracks and makes up his own stuff as he goes along. He wants to pull surprises."

"What's your best punch?" queried a visitor from jolly old London.

★ ★ ★

"I just go in and go to work. I like both of them. The double uppercut? That's tough. Tough on the other guy if I catch him."

"Was Hurricane mad at Patterson? Was there a real feud?", another asked.

"I'm not the mad type. I realize it's a sport. He (Patterson) used to be my friend but not any more, not the way he used to be."

Jackson was tapping his taped hands together, looking sideways at his trainers, Whitey Bimstein and Freddie Brown as though eager to escape to the punching bag. He still wore his mustache and long sideburns but the chin whiskers had been shaved off since the last visit.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not a knockout artist," he told somebody who asked about his chances of stopping Patterson. "I just like a fight, period. I just like to make a good fight. I never talk about winning or losing."

Dubie Bows Out

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Chris Crawford, of Piedmont, Calif., was the only survivor among the top six seeded players in the junior bracket today as the Western junior and boys tennis tournament entered the quarter-finals.

Crawford, top seeded, defeated the midwest's last junior hope, Gerald Dubie of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-0, 1-6, 6-3 yesterday.

Ford Tops Field in Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (AP) — The dozen leading golfers in a new method of ratings this year were among 162 to tee off today in the 72-hole Eastern Open Tournament at the long and arid Mount Pleasant course.

Doug Ford, leader in two of three other measuring systems, led the parade of topnotch performers in an attempt of the Professional Golfers Assn. to recognize frequent competition and high finishes.

The innovation this year awards points from 45 down to 1 according to standings in the almost weekly tournaments. Winners get a bonus of 20 points and early entries are rewarded with 10.

Ford, the aggressive 35-year-old New Yorker by way of Connecticut, has compiled 844 points. Trailing him are Dow Finsterwald, Bill Casper Jr., Marty Furgol, Art Wall Jr., Arnold Palmer, Jay Hebert, Paul Harney, Ed Furgol, Al Balding Al Besselink and Mike Souchak.

The four-day Eastern Open field also includes Lionel Hebert, winner of the National PGA, Dick Mayer the U. S. Open champion, and George Bayer, the Canadian Open victor.

Rodeo Driver Hurt in Freak Accident

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Hank Willard, a chuck wagon driver from Milo, Alta., Canada, was injured critically last night in a freak accident at Cheyenne's 61st Frontier Days rodeo.

★ ★ ★

Willard had just completed a figure eight maneuver around steel barrels when his wagon rolled and broke in half. He was trapped under the rear part. His four terrified horses ran away with the front part, banging into another wagon.

Willard underwent emergency surgery at Laramie County Memorial Hospital and doctors said he had a brain concussion, a broken hip and internal bleeding.

JUSTICE IS BACK — Charley Justice, who gained recognition as one of America's greatest softball pitchers while hurling Pontiac to national fame in the late 30's, will make a return appearance here Saturday night. Justice will be on the hill for the old Big Six team in an exhibition game with Shaw's Jewelers at Beaudette Park. A women's contest between North Side Auto Sales and Commerce Drive-In Theater will open the program at 7 o'clock.

Charley Justice Revives Past in Softball Exhibition Saturday

Glorious moments of yesteryear will be revived for one of two fleeting hours Saturday night at Pontiac's Beaudette Park.

★ ★ ★

Charley Justice and his famous Big Six teammates will turn back the pages of history for Pontiac softball fans when they meet Shaw's Jewelers in the feature attraction of an exhibition doubleheader.

Justice, long recognized as one of America's greatest softball hurlers, will go to the mound against Shaw's Pere McConnell, who learned a whale of a lot about pitching from Charley as a youth.

The colorful Justice, who has a tremendous flare for showmanship, operates a service station in Detroit these days and still does a little twirling in Canada.

★ ★ ★

No one seems to know Charley's exact age and he, somewhat in the manner of the immortal Satchel Paige, keeps everybody guessing by refusing to tell. The general concensus has him crowding 50.

★ ★ ★

Utilizing blazing speed and excellent control, Justice windmilled the Big Six club to the World's Negro championship in 1937 at Memphis, Tenn. The following year they finished 2nd in the world's tournament at Belle Isle.

From 1936 through 1940 the Big Six was state champion in almost mechanical fashion. The late John Gallimore furnished the managerial strategy and Justice used his arm to gain national fame for the Pontiac team.

Many other names familiar to softball followers are expected to comprise the Big Six lineup when the 8:30 game gets under way.

★ ★ ★

Among the personnel will be Hubert Price, Herb Taylor, Jimmy Taylor, Dan Hooper, and Charley Kelley, outfielders; Steedy Stafford, Rubird Taylor, Dee Jenkins, Wilbert King and J. C. Jenkins, infielders; pitchers Elijah Burt, Alex Childs and Jim Wallace, and catcher Alex (Pop) Spears. And, of course, Justice.

Commerce Drive-In Theater will tangle with North Side Auto Sales in a women's exhibition in the opener of the twin bill. Game time is 7 p.m.

Walker Loses Race by Close Decision

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (AP) — Bob Walker of the Detroit Boat Club last night lost a close decision in the junior 155-pound singles final of the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

★ ★ ★

Walker was edged by a length by winner Tom Diamond of the Philadelphia Bachelor Barge. Diamond eclipsed the 7:55 record for the event by 19 seconds.

★ ★ ★

Walker had won the junior 135-singles in the record time of 8:17 two years ago. But he was only a spectator when that record fell last night as Stan Murdza of the host St. Catherines Rowing Club won the lighter event in 8:17.

4 Games Scheduled

Jr. Baseball Night Friday

The Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department is sponsoring a Junior Baseball Night Friday at Jaycee Park. First game starts at 5.

The purpose is to give the fans and parents an opportunity to see their teams in action. On softball diamond 1 the fans will be treated to a game involving boys 10 years old and younger. This is a new league this year in the expanding baseball program in Pontiac. Teams representing the Wever School area and LeBaron School will play in this league.

The Midget league is divided into the National and American Leagues. The reason is to keep a balance in the league and keep the boys playing with and against each other of the same ability.

The age of this group is 12 years and under. The two teams representing the American League are the Tigers and the Pontiac Boys' Club. They will play on baseball diamond 2. In the National League, the Yankees and Little Eagles will play on softball diamond 2.

The fourth game will involve boys who are 14 years and under, the Class F league. Some of these boys have already played two and three years in the junior leagues. It is possible for a boy to play 6 years of baseball before he reaches high school. This league will be represented by Pontiac Boys' Club and the Clarkston Merchants.

Jaycee Park is located at Walton Blvd. and Joslyn Rd.

Red Grange Carrying Ball Today for NFL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red Grange, whose No. 77 flashed over the nation's gridirons three decades ago, carries the ball today for the National Football League.

Grange and a small platoon of latter-day stars were called to give Congress their opinion of pro football's operations.

★ ★ ★

The House Antitrust Subcommittee is investigating the legal status of pro sports.

Grange, the old Galloping Ghost, and his teammates at the witness table said in advance of the subcommittee session they had no serious quarrel with NFL methods.

"I think it's the best system worked out yet," Grange told newsmen.

The ex-Illinois and Chicago Bears' back, reputedly one of pro football's highest paid performers, said conditions are so good he'd "like to be playing today."

Grange added that "in all my years in pro football I have never heard any complaints about the reserve clause." That provision gives each club a second-year option on a player with every contract he signs. Grange, heavier than in his playing days but still unmistakably the athlete, is now an insurance broker and TV football commentator.

His fellow witnesses included Sid Luckman, former Columbia and Chicago Bears' quarterback, now president of a cellophane manufacturing company.

Others were George Connor, assistant coach for the Bears and former Notre Dame and Bears' lineman; Chuck Bednarik, Philadelphia Eagles' linebacker who formerly played at Penn, and Jack Jennings, Chicago Cards' tackle via Ohio State.

George Halas, Bears' president and a pro football pioneer, also awaited his turn as the subcommittee continued its sports investigation.

The Supreme Court has held football subject to, but baseball immune from, federal antitrust laws. The subcommittee headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY) is conducting hearings to determine whether all team enterprises should be treated alike—wholly exempt or covered, or covered except for non-commercial practices.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell started to preach football's case yesterday but was questioned at such length he didn't get halfway through a detailed statement. He was to return to the stand after the subcommittee finishes with the players.

Rogers Downs Elliott to Top Waterford LL

Combining three hits with several walks, Rogers Electric scored all its runs early and held on to hand Elliott Furniture its 1st defeat and take over 1st place in the Waterford Little League yesterday.

Spencer romped over Rocco's in Junior League softball 16-3.

Murray New Manager

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Ray Murray is the new manager of the Springfield Giants of the Eastern League.

HANGS ON—White Sox shortstop Luis Aparicio, foreground, and left fielder Jim Landis, both going after a short fly, collide in the game against the Yanks yesterday, but Aparicio hangs on to the ball as he falls. The White Sox defeated the Yankees in New York, 7-2, behind the pitching of Billy Pierce. AP Wirephoto

49ers Seek Grid 'Nuggets'

Albert Sifts Field of 31 Rookies

MORAGA, Calif. (AP) — Coach Frankie Albert of the San Francisco 49ers looks again for some big football nuggets when he opens his rookie camp at St. Mary's College here Saturday.

Thirty-one hopefuls and seven veterans report for the week of work preceding the start of regular drills.

★ ★ ★

Albert, the erstwhile star quarterback starting his second season as head coach of the National Football League pros, faces problems and hopes some answers come from the rookies.

The 49ers who rallied for a third place finish in the NFL Western Conference last season, need offensive strength in the center of the line.

Once again the search is on for defensive strength at halfback and linebacker. Plus that, the team looks for offensive backs capable of spelling such stars as Hugh McElhenny and Joe Perry.

★ ★ ★

Three top draft choices, quarterback John Brodie of Stanford, halfback Jim Ridlon of Syracuse and guard Mike Sandusky of Maryland, are with the College All-Stars and won't report until later.

Two top rookie candidates for center are Karl Rubke, former USC lineman who was No. 5 on the 49ers draft list, and huge, 265-pound Frank Morze, drafted No. 2 in 1955 before going into the service.

The seven veterans reporting are quarterbacks Y. A. Tittle and Earl Morrall, end Charlie Smith, fullback Paul Goad, defensive halfback J. D. Smith, defensive end Bruce Bosley and middle guard John Gonzaga.

★ ★ ★

Rookie backfield talent includes Larry Barnes of Colorado A&M, Bill Rhodes of Colorado's Western State, a Little All-America last season, Fred Wilcox of Tulane, Gene Babb of Austin, and Jerry Drew of California.

Linemen include end Jim Cox from Cal Poly, Sid Deloatch of Duke, Dave Kuhn of Kentucky, R. C. Owens of College of Idaho, Ron Warzeka of Montana State, and Bill Yelverton of Mississippi.

End Charley Mackey of Arizona State at Tempe is one of those to be tried at flanker back, a virtual third end.

Kramer, Peaks Among Punters

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—If the college All-Stars have to do much punting against the New York Giants Aug. 9—and coaches hope it won't be necessary—they will be well provided with talent.

★ ★ ★

Head Coach Curly Lambeau has combed the ranks to determine which of his collegians can boot the Stars out of trouble if the need arises in the midsummer football classic at Soldier Field.

He found plenty of ability in this group:

★ ★ ★

Ron Kramer, Michigan end; Paul Hornung, Notre Dame quarterback; Len Dawson, Purdue quarterback; Jack Johnson, Miami, Fla., end; Clarence Peaks, Michigan State back; Del Shofner, Baylor back; Jim Ridlon, Syracuse back, and Abe Woodson, Illinois back.

Baker Through With Fighting

Says He's 'Fed Up', After Dropping Bout to Eddie Machen

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Baker, his face puffed from Eddie Machen's whiplash left jabs and sneak rights and his mid-section puffed from eating high on the hog, says he's through with fighting.

In an unusual dressing room scene after the plodding Pittsburgh trial horse lost a lopsided 10-round nationally televised decision to Machen in the Chicago Stadium last night, Baker said:

★ ★ ★

"I've lost the will to fight. This is my last fight. I'm fed up. I couldn't feint, duck or anything against Machen. I just walked in and—bam! — got hit. I was a sucker in there. When a fighter lets himself get hit, he's no longer a fighter."

Referee Walter Brightmore, who exhorted Baker to "make a fight of it" several times, voted for Machen, 50-40, the same as Judge Jim McManus. Judge John Bray favored Machen 49-36 and The Associated Press card had it 50-37 for Machen.

Wiffi Cast in Favorite's Role

Former Detroit Area Pro Heads Wolverine Field

Play Begins Today in 72-Hole Tournament at Lochmoor Layout

DETROIT (AP) — A field of nearly 60 lady golfers including 26 touring professionals headed into the $7500 Wolverine Ladies' Open tournament today.

It will be a 72-hole medal play event with the winner grabbing off $1350.

The sentimental favorite in this one is Wiffi Smith, the long-hitting 20-year-old who has been a professional only since last December. The 1956 British and French Amateur titlist, Wiffi is a former Detroiter now playing out of Orange, Tex.

She has won $8,234 in her brief professional career and her long driving will be a major factor over the 6406-year layout at Lochmoor Club in nearby Grosse Pointe Woods.

"I'm more serious about my golf now," says Wiffi, who practices only about a half hour a day. "I'm more careful with each shot. You realize just how much each shot counts when you're playing for keeps."

Marlene Bauer Hagge, the leading money winer last year, will be trying for a repeat victory in Detroit. She won the LPGA title last year at Forest Lake Country Club, beating the veteran Patty Berg in a playoff.

Jackie Pung, the husky Hawaiian pro who was disqualified as U. S. Women's Open champion earlier this summer when she signed for an incorrect score kept by one of her opponents, withdrew from the Wolverine event on doctors' orders.

There will be no cut in the original field, said officials of the club.

Lochmoor pro Chick Rutan predicted the ladies would have a tough time beating par on the flat but confining layout. Par has been hiked to 37-38 —75 for the women, with three of the par-4 holes extended to par fives.

Tops Majors With 14 Wins

Pierce Whips Yanks

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

The big bat of Luis Aparicio, some fielding flaws by the usually reliable Yankee defense and a good pitching performance made Billy Pierce the winningest pitcher in the majors yesterday.

He chalked up his 14th victory by beating the New Yorkers 7-2 to even the current series between the two top AL clubs at one apiece.

Elsewhere, Tom Brewer notched No. 12 for Boston whipping Kansas City 6-5, Detroit downed Baltimore and Billy Loes 5-1, and Cleveland split a pair with Washington taking the 1st 4-3 and then bowing 5-4.

Pierce, the pride of Highland Park, scattered seven hits while his mates were collecting 13 in shelling Whitey Ford. The only damaging blow off Billy was a homer by Yogi Berra.

★ ★ ★

Aparicio had one of his best days in the majors belting a triple and three singles to help chase Whitey Ford early.

The Yank mishaps afield included a two-run error by Jerry Coleman that led to three Chicago runs in the 1st, a misjudged fly ball by Mickey Mantle, and a wild throw by Yogi Berra which enabled Earl Torgeson to go all the way from 1st to 3rd on a steal during a rally.

It was the 3rd time Pierce has beaten the Yankees this year. He has lost the same number. Ford is now 6-2 overall, both losses to the Chisox.

★ ★ ★

A six-run outburst in the 4th inning gave Brewer all he needed to continue his lifetime perfect record against the Athletics. He is now 10-0 against them.

A sacrifice fly by Ted Williams scored what proved to be the winning run following a two-run single by Sammy White off loser Ralph Terry. Woody Held's homer with a man on in the 6th put the A's back in the battle but Brewer settled down to retire the last 10 men in order.

Two-run ninth innings decided both ball games at Washington with winning club coming from behind in each case.

The Tribe beat Camilio Pascual in the opener on three singles and sacrifice flies by Joe Altobelli and Al Smith. Cal McLish got the triumph in relief. Roy Sievers homered for the Nats.

Pinch-hitter Lou Berberet was the nightcap hero. His two-out, two-run roundtripper gave Chuck Stobbs a 4-13 record, three of the wins being over Cleveland. Al Smith swatted two homers in the losing cause as Early Wynn was beaten for the 11th time.

Harding Most Optimistic

City Optimists Golf Kings

The Pontiac Optimist Club is even more cheerful than usual today, thanks to its four-man golf team and Glenn Harding in particular.

★ ★ ★

With Harding in the driver's seat the local squad grabbed all the honors yesterday in the 17th district Optimist Club handicap golf tournament at Ann Arbor's Barton Hills Country Club.

Tom Thum, Gay Herrington, Chuk Manz and Harding combined their talents to win both team events—low net and low gross. They carded a net score of 329 and their gross total was 339.

Harding, Pontiac's golfing insurance salesman, took a lion's share of the individual laurels in the 18-hole tourney.

★ ★ ★

Playing the Barton Hills course for the 1st time, he fired a par 72 to win the low gross title. In addition, he won the driving contest and took the least number of putts —26.

Three other city Optimist teams also played in the tourney, but they met with little success.

Newcomer Bowls 300

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—Lyle Elledge, 20, who took up bowling just six months ago, rolled a perfect 300 game last night.

Elledge's series score was 173-300-164—637.

Milwaukee — The Braves won 17 of 22 games from the Giants during the 1956 season.

New York — National league baseball games in 1956 listed 281 players as participants.

Tribe, Nats Muff Tries as Cat Catchers

Stray Feline Delays Washington Game for Five Minutes

WASHINGTON (INS) — Neither the Cleveland nor Washington players missed any flies in their doubleheader last night, but they had a terrible time trying to catch a cat.

A wildly galloping stray cat held up proceedings at Griffith Stadium for five minutes. It streaked from the home plate area into right field in the seventh inning of the second game and play was stopped while players from both teams tried to round up the feline.

Cleveland left fielder Dick Williams muffed his attempt and center fielder Al Smith made a vain pursuit to the Washington bullpen where NAT relief pitchers proved just as unsuccessful as cat catchers.

★ ★ ★

Finally, when the cat backtracked against the wall, Smith grabbed it and hoisted it over the fence to an usher.

Pontiac Skaters Add to Honors

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

OAKLAND, Calif.—Pontiac roller skaters took added honors in the National Amateur Roller Skating Championships being held in Oakland Auditorium.

Ricky Martins and Sue Welch took first place in junior pairs and were 10th in junior dance. Richard Larpenster and Sandra Perry of Detroit were second in pairs.

In juvenile singles David Marchewka finished third and Diane Grassi was 5th.

The juvenile boys singles title was won by Randy Kline of St. Louis, and the senior fours-event went to a Peoria, Ill., quartet who used aerial gymnastics. They were Bob Anderson, Judy Clark, Ron Jellfe and Ruth Koch.

International Field Plays in Round of 8

HAVERFORD, Pa. (INS)—Four Americans, two Australians, a Mexican and a Japanese were paired off today for the quarterfinal round of the 58th Pennsylvania lawn tennis championships.

Philadelphia's Vic Seixas, top-seeded U. S. entry, faced Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., while second-seeded Sam Giammalva of Houston took on Japan's Kosei Kamo.

Australia's Ashley Cooper, top-ranked foreigner, met Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., and second-seeded Aussie Neale Fraser tangled with Joaquin Reyes of Mexico.

Seixas stopped Art Andrews of Iowa City, Ia., 6-1, 6-2, as Giammalva ousted George Ball of New York, 6-2, 6-4.

Gidley's Sixth Inning Rally Sparks 6-5 Win

A three-run 6th inning, featuring a home run by Stan Roosa, enabled Gidley Electric to come from behind and gain a 6-5 triumph over White Brothers Realty in the Waterford Softball League last night.

Jerry Walsh's single, an error, passed ball and stolen base accounted for the other two runs in the winning rally. Monty Tipton had a two-run homer for White's to pace an early 4-1 lead.

Pucker Up Wins $57,225 Matron Handicap Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pucker Up probably will not win any high honors on the American turf this season despite her consistent record over the last three seasons. But one thing you can say for Ada L. Rice's 4-year-old. She doesn't ask that a track be carried around for her.

★ ★ ★

The fleet daughter of Olympia has raced in every section of the country, building up a record of being out of the money only twice in 19 starts.

With Willie Shoemaker flying in from California to handle her reins, Pucker UP yesterday won the $57,225 Matron Handicap at Arlington Park. It was her third victory in nine outings this year. She also finished second three times and was third in two other starts.

New German Dolls Negotiate Traffic

NUREMBURG, Germany — Remote control toys made the biggest hit at the Nuremburg, Germany, toy show this year. They included remote control dolls that cross a road when the traffic lights are green, but wait at the curb when they change to red.

In the doll world there are also kitchen and household gadgets that really work — vacuum cleaners, mixers, irons and washing machines. For the boys there's a plane with four battery-driven motors. When the starter button is pushed, the motors start up one after the other, just as with a real four-engine plane, at intervals of five seconds. The plane then takes off and rises into the air. Its flying is remote-controlled and when the battery runs down, the plane makes a perfect landing.

Rails, Steels Boost Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market inched higher in early trading today with rails and steels providing most of the forward thrust.

Trading quieted after a fairly brisk start. A handful of minus marks dotted the list, giving it a somewhat mixed complexion.

Changes either way were mostly in fractions.

★ ★ ★

In the rails division, Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central, Southern Railway, Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central moved ahead slightly.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Lukens and Jones and Laughlin advanced cautiously in the steels group. General Motors, which yesterday reported lower first-half earnings, was unchanged.

Chrysler, which will announce its mid-year earnings after the close of the market today, added a small fraction.

Market enthusiasm was dulled by a rash of none-too-favorable business reports, including word of falling machine tool backlogs and a decline in demand by major advertisers for time on the big television networks.

A feature in early trading was Schenley which added ⅝ at 21⅜ after directors declared a stock dividend of 2½ per cent on top of the usual 25-cent quarterly in cash previously declared.

Grains Advance, Then Fall Back

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains moved higher in early dealing on the board of trade today, but later fell back, on hedging and liquidation action.

★ ★ ★

Wheat moved fractionally higher at the start on commission house buying in the December contract. Offerings were well taken on the moderate upturn, but later prices eased as some hedging became apparent.

Soybeans showed greatest strength, advancing more than two cents at times. The advance in beans was attributed to the government's report of soybean stocks in all positions on July 1, which indicated a much smaller supply than was expected. This was construed as bullish.

Demand for corn, especially the September contract, was good, with commission houses buying liberally at the outset. The demand was attributed to the drouth situation in the East.

Favorable crop weather held most advances in check.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅜ to ½ lower, Sept. $2.14¼; corn was unchanged to ¼ higher, Sept. $1.33⅛; oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, Sept. 66¼; rye ¼ to ⅞ lower, Sept. $1.27; soybeans were ¼ lower to ⅞ higher, Sept. $2.49½; and lard was up to seven cents a hundred pounds higher, Sept. $13.55.

Merchandising Revolution in Pressure Cans Spray

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—You push the little valve down and the trichloromonofluoromethane goes down and around and the pigeon repellent comes out here.

That is pretty much how the pressure cans that have revolutionized a large segement of American merchandising work. A shake of a can, a press of a button, a gas expands and out comes the product — everything from pigeon repellant to dry vermouth, fire extinguishing foam to whipped cream, rose dust to scouring powder.

★ ★ ★

And more and more cans are being shaken, buttons pressed and products sprayed every year. In 1956, some 240,000,000 assorted pressure cans, carrying a total value of $250,000,000 were manufactured; back in 1947, the first year sales were large enough to measure, the figure was a paltry 5,000,000 units manufactured.

That's a gain of 4,800 per cent in about nine years, which is a fairly high pressure percentage.

The reason for the gain is simply that pressure cans offer the consumer a handy dispenser of a wide variety of products.

★ ★ ★

The pressure can dates from World War II. Scientists developed a "bug bomb" for fighting insects in the South Pacific and for delousing in occupied countries. The bug bomb carried over into civilian use after the war, and insecticides are still the number one seller in the pressurized can field.

But what once was a wide lead is now a slim one. So many products have been adapted to pressure cans that the insecticide can's lead is being threatened by several other types.

In 1956, 56,000,000 cans of various kinds of insect spray were made; 53,700,000 cans of assorted hair sprays; 45,400,000 cans of lather shaving cream; 32,100,000 cans of room deodorants; and millions upon millions of cans of odds and ends like shampoos, paints, artificial snow, perfume, sun tan oil, waxes, oven cleaners, rug cleaners, and virtually anything you can imagine.

And there are other millions of cans of products for industrial use made, too.

Actually, there are two kinds of pressure cans, technically known as two-phase or three-phase. Sometimes people call them "aerosols," but that is a misnomer unless applied strictly to two-phase cans. Aerosol means to diffuse through the air, which is what an insecticide or room deodorant does but nobody difusses whipped cream or paint through the air unless he's sneaky.

The two-phase can is the true aerosol. It's a gas-tight package with a pipe extending from the valve at the top to the bottom of the can.

Two-thirds of the can is filled with the liquid phase of the operation, a mixture of the active ingredient (like, say, insecticide) and liquified gas. The top third has the gas itself, the propellant.

This top layer of gas continually exerts pressure downward. But nothing happens until the button is pressed, which opens the valve. Then the pressure of the gas forces some of the liquified matter up the pipe and out into the air. The gas in the liquid vaporizes on hitting the air and expands some 24 times, a physical change so powerful that the active ingredient (insecticide) is blasted apart and sprays around the room.

Meanwhile, back in the can, there's now more room in the top, or gassy, phase of the can. So some of the gas in the liquid vaporizes within the can, joining the gas layer, thus keeping the pressure constant.

The three-phase is used for products that will not mix with the liquid gas. Thus, there are three layers inside the can—the gas, the liquid active ingredient (like hair spray) and the liquid gas. When the valve is pressed, just the ingredient is forced out.

A variation on this is the foam-type can—like the shaving cream dispenser. There are the same three layers, but, when you shake the can, the two liquids are mixed. And, when the valve is pressed, enough gas is ejected to vaporize and whip the soap solution into a foam.

All three types must be packaged carefully. Shipping, packing, storing are all closely watched, for pressure cans can, under certain circumstances, explode.

The success of pressure cans and the problems of packing have created a new subsidiary industry —the contract fillers.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR Mother, Agnes Massa, who passed away 1 year ago, July 25, 1956.
A loving mother, so true and kind,
No friend on earth like her we find;
For all of us she did her best,
May God grant her eternal rest.
Sadly missed by son, Dominic & Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF AGNES Massa, who passed away July 25, 1956.
You bid us not farewell,
You said goodbye to none;
Your loving heart had ceased to beat
Before we knew you were gone.
God saw that you were suffering
And the hills were hard to climb;
And so he closed your weary eyes
And whispered "Peace, be thine."
—Sadly missed by daughter & Family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF BERnice McPee, who passed away July 25th, 1953.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
I do not think of you.
Sadly missed by her daughter, Eleanor Blanchard.

PLEASANT PROMISES — Edward J. Montagne, producer of "The Phil Silvers Show," says there'll be no changes in format next season. However, Sgt. Bilko (Phil Silvers, left), Pfc. Doberman (Maurice Gosfield, right) and the other members of the famed platoon will find themselves involved in many new comic adventures both here and abroad.

Bilko's Platoon May Go Abroad

Viewers Are Promised Funny New Situations Next Season

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Of all the comedy reruns on television these summer evenings, this department's favorite is the Phil Silvers Show.

Even though you've seen some of them before, Bilko and the boys of his platoon come through with freshness on the screen.

Meanwhile, work on next season's films has begun. The producer of the program, Edward J. Montagne, said the other day that Silvers' fans can look forward to these pleasant things next season:

1. There will not be any basic changes in the format of the program. It still will be Bilko in and out of uniform and the same members of the platoon.

2. The kick-off program on Sept. 17 will be a presentation of "The Merry Widow" in which Sgt. Bilko actually sings.

3. The chances are that the platoon will move to Europe for a while. That is, the story line will move to Europe while the platoon maintains its production schedule in New York using films for the European backgrounds.

"There are possibilities of a lot of fun if the platoon has some new commanding officers for a brief change," Montagne said. "Maybe, for example a haughty British type. But we have to be careful not to offend our allies. The Army has given us the fullest cooperation in the show, checking us out on authentic details.

The Army likes us fine. In the Pentagon they feel that Sgt. Bilko has been a real help in increasing enlistments. . . ."

Approval of the Phil Silvers Show extends, in fact, all the way to the Commander-in-Chief in the White House. After President Eisenhower missed one program in March, Montagne said, CBS received a White House request for the film.

Montagne, who has a long history as a TV and movie director and producer in both Hollywood and New York, believes "it would not be the same show if we did it from Hollywood instead of New York. The actors in the platoon are all New York boys. If we'd begun it in Hollywood inevitably there would have been familiar actors' faces in it and we'd have lost some of the freshness."

Police Hold Four After Argument Over Seven Cents

Four youths are held today by Pontiac Police after allegedly threatening a gas station attendant with a knife over seven cents worth of gasoline.

★ ★ ★

According to Billy Patterson, attendant at the Oak Station, 128 S. Saginaw St., the four drove in at 3:10 a.m. today and bought 75 cents worth of gasoline.

★ ★ ★

After he had completed the sale' the youths followed him into his office and demanded that he sell them seven cents more, Patterson said.

★ ★ ★

He refused because he did not want to run the pump for so small an amount, he added, so one of them pulled a switch knife and held it to his throat.

★ ★ ★

This Fib Gains More Than the Truth Would

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Leona Gage is reaping big profits from her little old fib at the Miss Universe contest, and big-hearted Wilson's helping her enjoy them.

"Your chauffeur's waiting," Charlie, the stage doorman, told the dethroned Miss United States after she went on the Ed Sullivan TV show a few nights ago (for about $1,000).

★ ★ ★

Leona, her husband Sgt. Gene Ennis, and I rode over to a local cafe—in a style to which we are all unaccustomed. Boss Ed Wynne sent over champagne.

"I've never tasted champagne," she said.

★ ★ ★

"Well, how do you like it?" I asked.

"Ooooh." She wrinkled her nose. "It tastes like sour beer."

"Just what my wife says," I said. "Here, I'll drink it for you," I added helpfully.

WILSON

Marx and others congratulated her. The tall Maryland brunette—who was born in Longview, Tex., and attended 13 schools reaching the ninth grade—was quite frank about a marriage previous to the one to Ennis.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, producer Sam

"It was just for one day when I was 13," she said.

"And when I found out what it was all about, I ran home to my mother and threw myself on the bed and cried."

GENE, LEONA

"I have pictures of her when she was 12," her husband said proudly. "She looked just as pretty and mature as she does now."

It's funny hearing him say that now," she giggled.

★ ★ ★

"When I told him I was going to enter the 'Miss Maryland' contest, he said they'd laugh me off the runway."

Leona's next problem was getting back her older son from her mother-in-law who broke the story of her marriage, costing Leona the Miss U.S. title.

"It was for the best that she told it," Leona said.

"Otherwise I wouldn't have all these offers. But I'm sure telling the truth from now on. Lyin," she muttered, "is too hard on the nervous system."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joanne Gilbert, here for a Steve Allen show, said she's "lonely"; and went to the movies alone . . . Joe Louis, who's overweight, has a new record: "Keeping Physically Fit" . . . Fred Astaire and his daughter Ava will vacation in Japan . . . Hume Cronyn's investment in "Life With Father" has paid him back 60-to-1 . . . Marie (The Body) McDonald will have a copy of The Body in London's famed wax museum.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A man marries for better or worse; a woman marries for 'you'd better or else.'"

Unlawful Bridge Plaguing Army

Threaten to Remove Part of Structure Built by Arizona Farmers

CIBOLA, Ariz. (AP)—There are going to be some changes made in that "unlawful" bridge which some Arizona farmers flung across the Colorado River.

Recovering from its surprise upon learning that the bridge is there, the Army Corps of Engineers cracked down on the builders today with this ultimatum: "The bridge will be modified to provide adequate vertical and horizontal clearance compatible with navigation interests, or a section of the bridge will be removed pending such modification."

The 410-foot span was built by nine farmers 20 miles south of Blythe, Calif., and 40 miles north of Yuma, Ariz., at a cost of $50,000. They ignored the half-dozen federal and state agencies that are supposed to be consulted about building bridges across navigable rivers.

★ ★ ★

Business has been great. The builders have been collecting tolls of $1 on cars and $2 on trucks moving over the bridge at the rate of 5,000 to 6,000 a month. A manganese mine is hauling 130 tons of ore daily to a government stockpile. The farmers' cotton and grain crops are going to market over the bridge.

The federal agencies didn't know about the bridge until private boat owners started complaining that it was obstructing their movements.

Training Ahead for Pontiac CAP

15 Cadets Will Receive Taste of Air Force Life at Illinois Encampment

Fifteen cadets from the Pontiac Squadron of the Michigan Civil Air Patrol will receive a real taste of Air Force life as they depart Sunday for their annual summer encampment at Chanute Field near Champaign, Ill.

During the training, which will last through Aug. 9, the cadets will attend classes covering different phases of military training. They will live on the base and awaken to the bugler's blast at 5 a.m.

Part of their instruction will be in the link trainer (mock plane) on the art of blind flying.

Upon completion of training, each cadet will receive a certificate of accomplishment and a ribbon signifying he, or she, has fulfilled encampment requirements.

Leaving Sunday from Selfridge Air Force Base for Chanute will be: David E. Bennett, Delmar D. Benson, Ronald J. Contor, Elizabeth W. d'Argy, John D. Fromm, George G. Lucia, Paul C. Powers, Bruce R. Quayle, all of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Others include James D. Puglise and Richard B. Rice, Waterford Township; Dennis R. Thomas and Marvin J. Kipp, Rochester; Darrel G. Lotridge, Auburn Heights; Lorraine T. Juliano, Clarkston; and Myron D. Bogue Jr., Washington.

TV Jungle Queen, Real-Life Mate Part

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Television's "Sheena, Queen of the Jungle," has won a divorce from the husband she said "never wanted to go home from a party."

Irish McCalla, 27, the statuesque heroine of the jungle series, won a default decree yesterday against publicist Patrick H. McIntyre, 30. She said he ridiculed her when she wanted to go home from parties where he wanted to be "the last to leave."

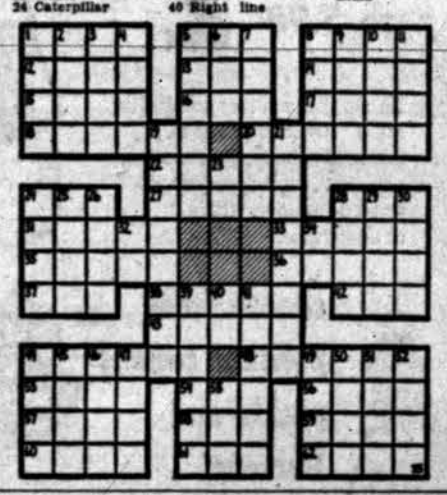

She won custody of two sons, Kim, 5, and Sean, 3, plus $150 support and $1 alimony per month. She and McIntyre were married in Las Vegas, Nev., in June 1951 and parted last month.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

End to Sewage Problem Nearing at Pine Center

The first glimmer of hope that the sewage disposal problem in Pine Center Subdivision, West Bloomfield Township, may be nearing an end occurred today.

Pontiac Testing Laboratories which had been running tests on a large filter bed to handle the wastes through a private sewer system in the subdivision, reported that the bed was working successfully.

The firm stated in its report that no trace of salt had been found in Pine Lake or on the beach from the filter system.

For 10 days large quantities of salt were added to the water being pumped into the filter bed on the edge of Pine Lake to see if pollution of the lake or beach would occur.

The test results have gone to the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson, of Pontiac, which will write a report for the State Health Dept.

If both the health department and engineering firm agree that the filter bed is working, it will receive approval to begin handling subdivision sewage.

Pine Center residents have been without satisfactory sanitary facilities for many months as the result of the failure of original individual septic tank systems to work properly.

Bessemer Steel in '50s

GARY, Ind. — With the invention of the Bessemer-converter process in the mid-1850's the Steel Age was born.

With this process steel could be made rapidly in large quantities at low cost. By 1864 the commercial production of Bessemer steel was under way.

Russian Icebreaker Frees Jap Ship

ANTARCTICA — How the Russian icebreaker OB freed the Japanese research ship, Soya, trapped in Antarctic ice 13 feet thick, was told in Cape Town by officers of the Russian vessel. The Soya's despairing SOS was quickly answered by the Russians and though neither crew could speak the other's language, rescue operations were satisfactorily carried out in English. "English is the language of the sea," a Russian officer explained. When big charges of T.N.T. failed to break the ice, the Japanese thought they were trapped for the bitter Antarctic winter of 10 degrees below zero. It was only after a hard fight that the icebreaker freed the research ship.

Ex-Nun in Swimsuit Disappoints Athens

ATHENS—An ex-nun in a bathing suit had the men of Athens swarming into a cinema recently to see a Greek film, "Jeep Kiosk and Love." Billed as "the notorious Sofronia," she was acquitted two years ago of complicity in the murder of a Cretan monk with whom she was friendly.

He was hacked to death by his fellow monks, jealous of Sofronia's favors. As a film star, however, she proved a let-down to the men of Athens. Curves were not enough. The film was bad, critics agreed, the story was trite and Sofronia's acting was the absolute end. Sofronia, however, seemed oblivious to all this. She was quoted as saying: "What can I do with my success? I like the cinema—but I would rather get married and have children."

We Spend to Move

DETROIT — About 10 per cent of the U. S. national income is spent for the purchase or maintenance of private motor vehicles.

Irish Grocers Lean to Self-Service

DUBLIN — Self-service is a rapidly growing trend in Irish grocery stores, Dublin reports, and they have profited by American experience. "Most of the major snags had been ironed out before the idea arrived in this country," one self-service store owner explained.

"Grocers in Eire turned to self-service because they were fed up with their losing battle against rising overheads, and they find it is paying off," he added. "It's all done by impulse. You splash a special line — say soap or wheat flakes — and then place the special in such a way that the customer must pass every other line in the shop before she reaches it. By the time she gets there her basket is filled with the things she saw en route."

Venezuela Oil Rises

CARACAS — Venezuela's average crude-petroleum production in 1956 was 2,500,000 barrels a day. This compared with 2,200,000 in 1955.

Want Site for Post Office

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An offer to the federal government of a six-month option to buy a plot of valuable, downtown city-owned land for $180,000 to be used as a new post office site was recommended by the City Commission.

More American babies are born in summer than any other season.
