Haiti Invasion Interrupted by U.S. in Florida

Latin Exiles, Yank Adventurers Arrested; Boatload Gets Away

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A Cuban exile said today that a vest pocket invasion of Haiti, designed to eventually lead to a war against Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, was squelched by the arrest of a heavily armed band of Latin exiles and American adventurers.

However, the chief of operations, Rolando Masferrer, controversial former aide of ousted Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista, said 50 commandos got away in a boat before customs agents made the arrests in a raid at a beach-front home in the middle of the Florida Keys last night.

But one of the company commanders said he escaped the roundup by crawling away in the darkness and hitching a ride to Miami.

The commander, Aton Constanzo Palau, later detailed the battle plans, which he said involved about 75 Cuban exiles, 30 Haitian exiles and 28 Americans.

He said 20 exiles had already been sneaked into Haiti and were supposed to attack and seize the airport at Cape Haitian this week.

BOMBING BASE

A fledgling air force of five planes — a B25, a B26, a DC3 and two P51s — would then use the airport as a base to bomb the garrison adjacent to the presidential palace at Port au Prince, Constanzo said.

The remainder of the little army was to land at Port au Prince, rally the rebels already in Haiti and replace dictator Francois Duvalier with Father Jean Baptiste Georges, Constanzo said.

Within 30 days the invaders hoped to build an army strong enough to strike across the narrow Windward Passage and overthrow Castro, Constanzo said.

Masferrer, one of the 70 arrested in the raid, was bitter at the United States for stopping his foray against Haiti, which also ended his plans for fighting Castro.

1963 SLAYING SCENE — This is the scene at the Dallas Police Station on Nov. 24 as nightclub owner Jack Ruby gunned down President Kennedy's assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, as he was being transferred to the Dallas County Jail. After a stormy trial, Ruby was convicted and sentenced to be executed. However, a Texas appeals court this year overturned the conviction.

Oswald Killing Brought Ruby World Infamy

Days After Shooting Spent Behind Bars or at Hospital in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, the slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, died today in Parkland Hospital, where he had been suffering from cancer since Dec. 9.

Ruby was moved to the hospital after complaining of an illness which jail doctors had been treating as a bad cold for three weeks.

At the hospital, his illness was first diagnosed as pneumonia and then as cancer which had spread into the lymph glands, lungs and pancreas.

X ray and surgery would do no good, doctors said. Ruby's death came at 10:30 a.m.

A LITTLE LATE

Sheriff's deputies had been issuing twice-daily bulletins on Ruby's condition but this morning said the bulletin would be a "little late."

See Story, Page B-5

A product of the Chicago slums, Ruby was little known even in Dallas until he stepped in front of television cameras with a snub-nosed revolver and shot Oswald.

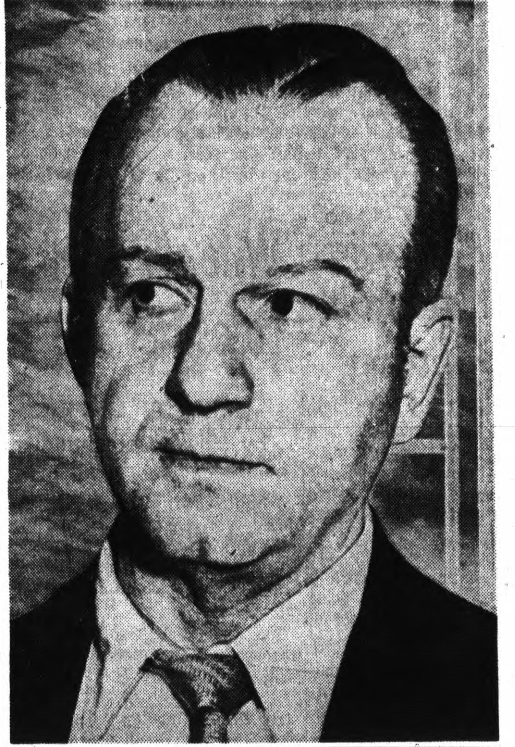

That was on Nov. 24, 1963, and the onetime Chicago tough kid had gained the world recognition friends said he always had wanted.

He spent the rest of his life behind bars. MAN OF 80

In Chicago today, Elmer Gertz, one of his lawyers, said Ruby "looked like a man of 80 years" when Gertz saw him just before Christmas. Ruby was 55.

In Ruby's room when he died were his brother, Earl Ruby of Detroit; his sister, Eva Grant of Dallas, and Eileen Kaminsky, another sister from Chicago.

Visitors were rare after Ruby was jailed. He was inaccessible except to his family, lawyers and investigators.

N. Vietnam Rejects British Peace Plan

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam today rejected the British proposal for peace talks with the United States and South Vietnam, declaring the British purpose was to force the Vietnamese people to "accept the insolent terms put by the U.S. imperialists."

Both the United States and South Vietnam gave a favorable response to British Foreign Secretary George Brown's proposal last week that they join North Vietnam in peace talks on British soil.

North Vietnam's official newspaper Nhan Dan reiterated Communist terms for peace today and rapped Britain for suggesting a conference.

"Hypocritical words cannot cover up the foul contents of the proposal by the British Labor government," it said.

"This proposal is only rehashing of the deceitful, shopworn clamor of the U.S. imperialists about 'unconditional discussions,' 'cessation of hostilities,' 'deescalation by both sides,' etc.

"It is the U.S. imperialist aggressors who have started the war in Vietnam. If this war is to be ended at all, the United States must stop its aggression and withdraw its troops from Vietnam. This glaring truth has been known to the whole world people, but has never been mentioned by the British Labor government."

"Such a foul act on the part of the British government completely runs counter to the responsibility of Britain as a co-chairman of the 1954 Geneva Conference on Vietnam," it said.

Flurries Predicted to End by Tonight

Snow flurries predicted for today are expected to end late this afternoon with skies clearing tonight.

Temperatures will slide to a low of 17 to 22 during the night and rise into the high 20s tomorrow.

Thursday's outlook is increasing cloudiness and cold.

Morning west to northwesterly winds at 8 to 18 miles per hour will continue late this afternoon and tonight.

Twenty-six was the low reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had moved to 36 by 2 p.m.

Car Safety: Big Rift Exists

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's first highway safety boss and the auto industry face a major task this month in reconciling differences in their views on how cars could be made safer.

U.S. auto makers, together with foreign car companies, appeared unanimous in their belief that they could not meet immediately the first 23 safety standards proposed by the federal government.

General Motors, giant of the industry with more than 50 per cent of U.S. car production and sales, was the latest to raise questions about some of the standards.

Dr. William Haddon Jr., administrator of the National Safety Agency and the National Traffic Safety Act, first outlined his 23 point program last Nov. 29 and gave auto companies until Jan. 3 to comment on it.

His suggested program included almost every part of the car, from windshields to tires, as he took aim on his goal of cutting the nation's traffic death toll of nearly 50,000 a year.

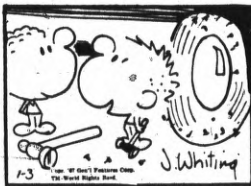

Auto companies took him at his word and deluged him with voluminous reports and technical data supporting their belief that some of his suggestions were inadvisable or premature.

The thinking of the auto makers differed somewhat, but in general, they suggested to Dr. Haddon that three of the big obstacles were time, money and lack of sufficient test data.

All four U.S. firms, for example, reportedly took issue with the suggestion that the front parking lights of future autos should be 20 inches above the ground, instead of 17 as most of them have it now.

Will A. Scott, director of automotive safety for Ford Motor Co., said in an interview that such a change would mean scrapping much of the work that has been done already on 1968 Ford bumper areas, quarter panels and grilles. Other firms agreed.

Drivers Hailed on Holiday Toll

By the Associated Press
Safety officials congratulated the nation's motorists today for a sharp decrease in traffic deaths during the long New Year weekend.

The tally of traffic fatalities from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight yesterday stood at 460, down sharply from last New Year's record toll of 564 deaths.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated that motor vehicle accidents would result in between 460 and 540 deaths, said motorists were driving more safely and the toll "proves that improvement is possible."

"Drivers appear to be doing a better and safe job than would be expected on the basis of past performance," a council spokesman said.

He said that although there was some snow and rain in scattered areas, weather conditions had little to do with the final toll.

The council had expressed hope that the death toll would be only slightly above that of a three-day, nonholiday weekend.

Traffic Deaths Take Holiday

Oakland County motorists have chalked up a second straight major holiday weekend without a traffic death, according to unofficial reports from local police agencies.

No fatalities were reported in the three-day New Year's weekend which ended last night. The Christmas holiday a week earlier was similarly unmarked by death.

Fight Foreseen on Filibusters

Six Senators Launch Move to Change Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six senators — three Democrats and three Republicans — have launched a move to facilitate ending Senate filibusters.

In a letter to their colleagues seeking support, the senators said a change in Senate Rule 22 "must be secured that, while protecting the right of full debate, will enable a majority of senators ultimately to resolve an issue by voting."

Senate Rule 22 requires a two-thirds majority of senators voting to cut off debate.

The six senators said "the large body of senators favoring modification of the cloture rule 'is divided among those favoring a change from two-thirds to three-fifths of those present and voting; those favoring cloture by constitutional majority, or 51 members; and those favoring a simple majority of the members present and voting.'"

NOT DIVIDED

But they added that the groups are not divided on the principle that after a reasonable time for debate "a majority of the Senate has the constitutional right to change its rules free of obstruction from past Senates."

Senators opposing any change in Rule 22 contend that the Senate, with only one-third of its members elected every two years, is a continuing body and its rules automatically carry over.

The letter, saying a fight for a change will be launched soon as the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10, was sent by Democrats Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Philip A. Hart of Michigan and William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Republicans Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, Jacob K. Javits of New York and Thomas H. Kuchel of California.

Trouble in Jordah, Saudi Arabia

Arab Terrorism Is Stepped Up

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Armed troops stood guard outside government buildings in Jordan today after 10 new bomb incidents in the capital of Amman, and reports reaching Beirut said a terrorist ring had been arrested in Saudi Arabia. Bomb explosions in the two countries signaled increased terrorist activity against the regimes of Jordan's King Hussein and Saudi Arabia's King Faisal, the two moderate monarchs of the Arab world.

Reliable reports said a bomb rocked the government radio station in Amman last Friday, damaging a studio and cutting off transmissions for about five minutes.

Two other explosions damaged the radio station Wednesday, and demolition experts discovered seven more bombs planted inside the building on the outskirts of the capital, the reports said.

NO CASUALTIES

There were no casualties from any of the explosives, the reports added.

Jordanian soldiers were posted at government buildings. Witnesses said everyone entering them was searched so thoroughly that even women's hairdos were combed out for explosives.

There was no confirmation of reports from the Israeli side of Jerusalem that two explosions went off in the Jordanian sector of the city Sunday night.

Earlier reports from Jordan said the bomb blasts last Tuesday damaged the wall of the Soviet Embassy in Amman and West Germany's Goethe Cultural Institute, and another bomb went off near the Ministry of Information.

3 EXPLOSIONS

In Saudi Arabia, according to unconfirmed reports, 33 members of a Yemeni terrorist ring were arrested after three bomb explosions in Riyadh, the capital. The ring presumably was working against Saudi support for the royalist forces in Yemen's suspended civil war, in which Egyptian troops support the republican regime.

Mary, 17, of Yonkers, N.Y., was one of five persons rescued from the stricken yawl Petrel after the 70-foot ocean-going yacht fought mountainous Atlantic seas and hammering winds for two days and nights last week.

The five were brought to Norfolk, Va., Monday on the British freighter Cotswold, which picked them up from the Petrel last Friday.

LIFE PRESERVERS

From Norfolk, Mary, her friend, Heidi Van Nes, 17, also of Yonkers, and Mrs. Barry Conway, wife of the Petrel's skipper, flew to New York.

When they disembarked from the plane, they were, carrying the orange life preservers they had worn when they leaped from the deck of the Petrel into the Cotswold's lifeboat.

Along with her life jacket, Heidi also clutched a big teddy bear that was given to her by a seaman aboard the rescue ship. Her father, Hans Van Nes, who owns the Petrel, her mother and an older sister, Brett Kormmacher, greeted her at the airport.

Police Seek Pair in Double Slaying

LANSING (AP) — Police throughout Michigan today were seeking today two gunmen who calmly waited on customers while they robbed a gas station on the outskirts of Lansing and killed a deputy sheriff and the station attendant.

Victims were Eaton County Deputy Dean Foster, 24, of Charlotte and Harold Peterson, 27, of Lansing, who were found shot to death Sunday in the service station garage.

State police, meanwhile, were questioning three teen-age boys, arrested in Detroit in connection with a Brighton jewelry store burglary to determine if they had anything to do with the Lansing shooting.

Orion Township Supervisor

Dedication Is Family Tradition

By JEAN SAILE

ORION TOWNSHIP — Whenever you eat chicken soup, you may be savoring some of the fruit of the labors of Orion Township's supervisor.

Though his main interest is civic responsibility, 58-year-old John Lessiter is a smart and modern farmer — well-versed in the field of egg production.

His 2,000 chickens are top egg producers and have been recognized for their profit-producing qualities by Telefarm bookkeeping service of Michigan State University.

In order to keep them that way, Lessiter gets rid of the chickens at 16 months of age, and a good many of them wind up in soup cans.

As one of the two Democratic supervisors in Oakland County to make it through last November's election, Lessiter is well-liked in his township.

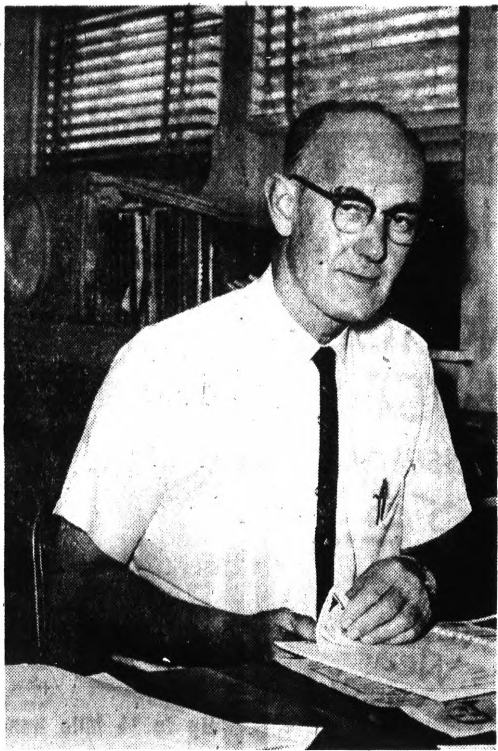

3 GENERATIONS

Now graying and with his hairline receding a bit in front, he personifies the concern for his community and country that has been prevalent in three generations of his family.

The family home is a centennial farm at 501 Baldwin.

His grandfather settled there in 1852 and was the first man in Oakland County to raise purebred Shorthorn beef cattle.

John Lessiter, Orion Township Supervisor

Methodist Church, Orion Lodge as board president. His father was on the school board and was also supervisor of Orion Township during the 20s.

SERVED BOARD

Lessiter, himself, served the Lake Orion Community Board of Education for nine years — four the enqui of the people in regard to voting.

He watched as Mrs. Margaret Stephen, Orion clerk, was in the process of removing some 1,000 registrations from the voter files — people who had failed to exercise their rights in the last election and in the previous presidential election.

"Those cards belong to teachers, to well-educated businessmen, and to people who have no business nor excuse for not voting," he said.

NOT WORKING

"I suppose the answer lies in education of the young, but it doesn't seem to be working," said the usually calm and accepting Lessiter.

"It really isn't asking much," he said, "even if they have to wait in line, to devote a little time every two years to the safeguarding of the country through voting."

Lessiter's day begins about 7 a. m. with breakfast and farm chores. A man comes in to take care of the flock at about 9 a. m. and Lessiter shows up at the township office at 9:30 a. m.

A typical day will see everything from zoning inquiries, complaints on old cars, garbage and junk to an emergency when the fuses blow in the Judah Lake Water System.

A GOOD DAY

"It's a good day when everybody goes home satisfied," said Lessiter.

The supervisor is married and is the father of two children. His wife is nearly as active in the community as he is.

A son, Frank, 27, is managing editor of a farm magazine in Milwaukee and a daughter, Janet, is a 20-year-old junior at Michigan State University.

7 Eye Council if Rochester OKs Cityhood

ROCHESTER — Seven men — all but one of them having been a councilman — will seek and presumably win council positions should the village vote in favor of cityhood Jan. 24.

There will be seven positions open on the new council, and Clerk Maxine Ross reports that seven men met the deadline Friday for filing nominating positions.

Voters, besides deciding for or against a city charter, will be asked to give a vote of confidence to Thomas B. Case, secretary of the Charter Commission; James C. Hill, chairman of the commission; former councilman Harold Milton; and current council members John Boerhert, Samuel Howlet, Burdette Lewis, and Roy Rewold.

All but Case are or have been members of the council at some time.

Library Millage May Be Put on Troy Ballot for April 3

TROY — Commissioners were to consider placing a half-mill library proposal on the April 3 ballot at 7:30 tonight.

The public library, which now operates in the Troy Senior High School, has long been looking for new quarters. A consultant librarian was recently hired by the city to supervise the acquisition and display of books.

The amendment to the city charter as proposed for public approval reads, "Shall Chapter 9, Section 9.16 of the Charter of the City of Troy be amended by the addition of the authority of the Commission to levy in any one year general taxes in an amount not to exceed one-half mill for the establishment and maintenance of a Public Library."

In other business tonight the Commission was to consider aeronautical reasons set forth by attorney Stanley Burke as to why the Jim Robbins Co. airport should not be allowed to become public.

The airport hassle has caused great concern in Troy since it was learned that the Michigan Aviation Commission had permitted a public use license to the airport last August.

LICENSE LIFTED

The license has since been lifted, but the city has been instructed to find "valid aeronautical reasons" why it should not be reinstated.

Reports are also due tonight on the proposed extension of Somerset Park apartments north of 16 Mile Road east of Coolidge.

The zoning has not yet been permitted for the extension of the large apartment complex, the project of Biltmore Development Co. of Oak Park.

The company purchased the land some two years ago at the time the central core of the development south of 16 Mile Road was being constructed.

2nd Swimming Pool Vote Set for Feb. 25 in Milford

MILFORD — Huron Valley School District voters will be given a second opportunity Feb. 25 to approve construction of a swimming pool at Milford High School.

The new proposal will be identical to the $650,000 bond issue for a pool which was turned down by voters 1,357 to 1,173 last June.

School officials said that because the question failed by such a small margin last time they feel they owe it to those who voted for it "to give it a second chance."

"This is a real need for the students," said Schools Supt. Dr. Truman Owens.

Dr. Owens indicated prior to the vote in June that if the issue failed, it would have to be resubmitted "because it is a necessity."

NOT INCREASE TAXES

Officials stress that the proposal will not increase taxes. Approval of an $8,313,000 bond issue last June raised the bonding tax rate to 7 mills which permits the district to borrow money for additional building from the State School Bond Loan Fund.

If the pool is approved, it will probably be incorporated into plans for a proposed addition to the high school. The $1,161,000 addition was part of the $8,313,000 bond issue.

A completion date, in the event of a favorable vote, has been tentatively set for September, 1968.

The entire community will benefit by the pool, according to officials. The YMCA, the YWCA, the Red Cross and other community groups will be involved in the planning in order to make it "a real community effort."

OUTSIDE GROUPS

It would be available for use by outside groups after school and in the evenings.

The vote is being held on a Saturday "because more people will be home to vote," according to a spokesman.

March Vote on Charter Hoped For

LAKE ORION—Officials here hope that the village's new charter can be placed on the March 13 ballot.

The charter, with two small amendments, has been returned to Lansing for final approval, according to Wesley Allen, charter committee chairman.

Yesterday's deadline for nominating petitions revealed no-contest races in March for the position of village president, clerk, treasurer, assessor and three trustees.

Lake Orion, operating under the provisions of a general law village which provides for a two-party system, this year received application only from the Republican party, according to Mrs. Mary Parkinson, clerk.

Seeking reelection are Wallace Crane, village president; Mrs. Parkinson, clerk; Mrs. Geraldine J. Campbell, treasurer; and Albert J. Rhodes, assessor.

THREE CANDIDATES

Dorrance A. Galloway, 601 Central, Arlie A. Reed, 207 Slater, and Mrs. Mildred Edward, 24 Highland, have applied for the positions of trustee.

They would replace Robert S. Hauxwell, long-time village official having served about 17 years; Stewart J. Drahnner, having served two terms; and William D. O'Brien who has held the position of trustee several times in the past. They did not seek election.

The elected officials would continue to function even if the new charter were approved. Provision has been made to that effect, according to Allen.

Biggest change foreseen by the village president if the charter is approved is the hiring of a city manager to carry out village business.

Deadline for voter registration is Feb. 13, according to Mrs. Parkinson. She believes the village will not be required to conduct a primary since there is no contest for the openings.

Search Finds Body of Man

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Authorities say Erwin Van Sigel, found dead Monday in a field four miles north of town, apparently suffered a stroke and died from exposure.

Van Sigel, in his 80s, had been the object of a wide search since he disappeared Dec. 23 while waiting in a car downtown for his wife to finish Christmas shopping.

25 Killed on State Roads Over Holiday Weekend

By the Associated Press

Twenty-five persons, including five teen-agers in an automobile and train smashup, died in Michigan traffic over the New Year's weekend holidays.

The toll was three fewer than over a similar 78-hour Christmas holiday span a week earlier, and eight fewer than in the similarly long weekend that started 1966.

The five teen-agers, all of Three Rivers, were killed New Year's Eve when their car was smashed by a train at a double-track crossing near Kalamazoo. They were en route to tobogganing runs. One survived long enough to say they saw one train and estimated they had plenty of time to clear the crossing. But they didn't see an 80-mile-an-hour second train approaching on the other tracks.

RECORD BROKEN

With 15 of the weekend's deaths coming before New Year's Day, they boosted the 1966 Michigan highway toll to 2,243, which broke a 29-year-old record.

The previous one-year record of 2,175 was set in 1937, when there were only 1.4 million cars on the state's roads, compared with more than 4 million today.

The Associated Press began its New Year's weekend tabulation at 6 p. m. and ended it at midnight Monday.

MDs, Police Split on Cause of Teen Death

OAK PARK (AP)—Police and doctors who performed an autopsy disagreed today on what caused the death of a 14-year-old Oak Park boy who was found dead in the snow near his home Sunday.

Doctors at William Beaumont Hospital said an autopsy shows Kenneth J. Biel Jr. died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

But police in this Detroit suburb said they can find no evidence Biel was near any source of carbon monoxide. They said they believe he died of exposure. Biel was found about 1 a. m. Sunday lying in the snow about five blocks from his home. Police said five unopened bottles of beer were near him.

STARTED HOME

Officers said Biel and two 14-year-old friends had spent the evening drinking whisky at several homes in the neighborhood and had started home shortly after midnight. Biel, police said, refused to go any further and told his companions to leave him alone so he could rest.

Four other youths came across him sitting in the snow later. Police quoted them as saying he appeared drunk. Biel also told them to leave him alone.

Lake Mishap Takes 2 Lives

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A snowmobile crashed through the ice of Lake St. Clair Monday, killing two members of a Chesterfield Township family. A third was rescued by nearby ice skaters.

Dead were Clifford Kroenke, 42, and his stepdaughter, Lorna Crowden, 10. Kroenke's wife, Verna, 41, was hospitalized suffering from shock and exposure.

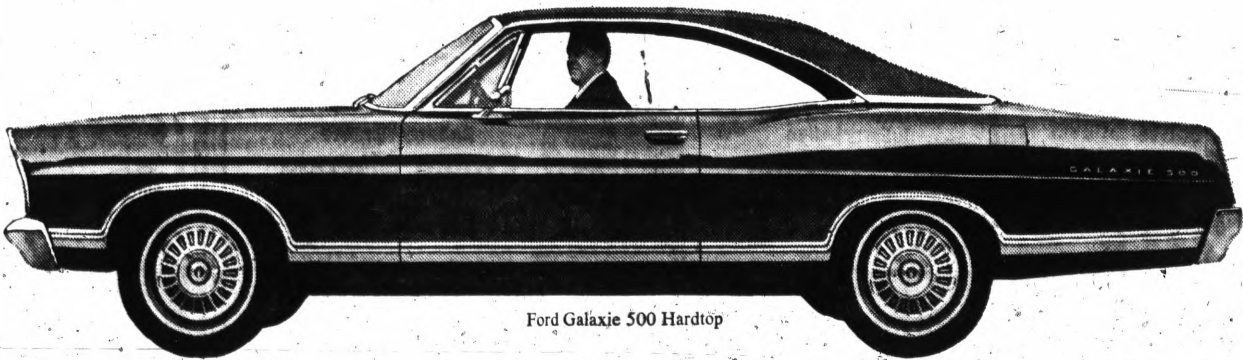

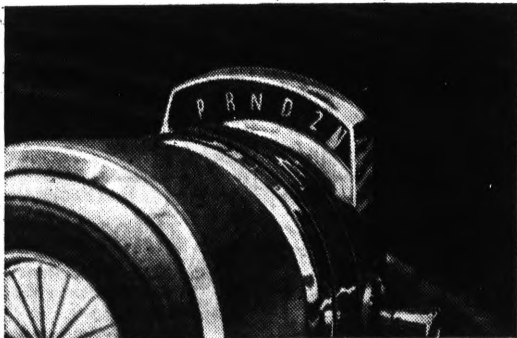

The accident occurred about a quarter mile offshore and about a mile north of Selfridge Air Force base.

New Jeepsters Are Introduced

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Kaiser Jeep Corp. today introduced a new series of four-wheel-drive Jeepster models designed to combine luxury with utility — for example wall-to-wall carpeting on a snowplow.

The new series of four models includes a convertible, station wagon, roadster and pickup.

All models are built on a 101-inch wheelbase and offer a choice of a four-cylinder, 75-horsepower or V6, 160-horsepower engine.

Full floor carpeting is offered as an option on the interiors of all models, together with utility accessories such as winches and snowplows.

Peking Leader Urges Shuffle of Army Chiefs

TOKYO (AP) — Defense Minister Lin Piao has called for a shake-up in the leadership of the Chinese Communist army and warned veteran commanders not to relax their "revolutionary integrity."

At the same time, the "leftist revolutionary" wing of the Chinese Communist party, which Lin and party Chairman Mao Tse-tung lead, acknowledged that its enemies are still around and promised an all-out effort in 1967 to bring them to heel.

These notes of doubt and change were in year-end editorials of the Liberation Army Daily and the combined staffs of the Peking People's Daily and the theoretical organ Red Flag.

Despite the generally confident tone of the editorials, they left the impression that the struggle against the "rightist reactionary" faction led by President Liu Shao-chi continues at white heat.

INDICATION OF SUPPORT

Their failure to single out Liu or party General Secretary Teng Hsiao-ping by name may be a clear indication that the anti-Maoists continue to enjoy substantial support from local and provincial party committees and even in the Central Committee itself.

The Liberation Army Daily editorial, which presumably was dictated by Lin Piao, expressed concern over the future of the army, saying the kind of cadres promoted "affects the question of whether or not our army will be in the hands of comrades truly loyal to Mao Tse-tung's thought, and whether or not the policy and the line of the party will be thoroughly carried out in the army."

It said one of the army's tasks in 1967 is "to strengthen the revolutionizing of the organization and boldly promote the really finest commanders and fighter to responsible, crucially important posts."

"It is all the more essential," it added, "for the older comrades to retain their proletarian revolutionary integrity in their later years, so as to make still greater contributions to the revolutionary cause."

U. S. Industry Growth Is Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department has forecast continued expansion by much of American industry during 1967.

At the same time, it said the volume of construction will drop moderately this year.

The annual "outlook" published by the department's Business and Defense Services Administration says 14 of the 78 industries accounting for 60 per cent of all manufacturing will grow by more than 10 per cent during 1967.

It says 37 other industries anticipate increases between 5 and 10 per cent and 24 expect to expand by less than 5 per cent. It made no comparable estimates for the other 3.

DOLLAR VOLUME

The report also forecasts a slight increase in construction dollar volume to $76.1 billion. It says the increase will be offset by rising prices.

It predicts the volume of mortgage funds will be at a relatively low level during 1967 despite some expected easing of tight home loan money.

The report says housing starts, which dropped last fall to their lowest level since World War II, would rise, but not to what the industry considers normal.

Area Population Zoom Spells Boom

People Make News—and a Wayne State University study sees them producing a lot of it for Pontiac and Oakland County in the years ahead.

Prepared for the guidance of the County Planning Commission, the survey indicates that Pontiac's estimated 1965 population of 84,000 will grow to 96,000 by 1970. But thereafter it will remain relatively unchanged until 1990, the termination of the survey, mainly because of lack of growth area within the municipality's confines.

Waterford Township, with much more room for population expansion, shows a projected population of a whopping 140,000 by that date. In between, its 1965 calculated head count of 53,700 figures to rise to 61,000 in 1970 and reach 105,000 by 1980.

The County's population, needless to say, reflects parallel growth of the two neighboring municipalities. Its population of 690,259 shown by the 1960 census and now estimated at 850,000 is pegged at 1.2 million by 1980 and 1.5 million by 1990.

Purpose of the population study is to enable the County to keep abreast or a jump ahead of the pyramiding need for governmental facilities and services. The growth pattern projected, while posing manifold problems for area municipalities, holds promise of incalculable economic and social advancement for the community.

Congress Gives 'Food for Peace' New Life

The Food for Peace program, designed originally to dispose of the Country's surplus agricultural products entered a new phase Sunday. In extending the program for two more years, Congress last October provided $7.4 billion to finance expansion of American food production. More food must be grown if the United States is to have enough for domestic and foreign commercial sales as well as for shipment to hungry nations.

Food for Peace has been the subject of a behind-the-scenes power struggle involving the State Department and Agriculture Department. The new Food for Peace legislation, however, gives the President power to decide how much food should go to which countries, whether it should be sold for cash or on credit, and whether recipient countries are meeting the self-help requirements of the program.

American Food assistance may eventually be merged with that of other developed countries in a vast international program similar to the one operated since 1962 by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Agriculture Secretary ORVILLE L. FREEMAN has indicated that the Administration favors such an approach in dealing with India's food crisis. At a news conference, FREEMAN urged the rest of the world to match American wheat shipments to India with either grain or money, adding that "the United States alone can't feed all hungry nations."

The Secretary's quote is both portentous and about the most realistic to come out of Washington in many a day.

No Solid Ground for Burying Power Lines

Another example of futility of seeking to alter our environment by the simple process of writing a law may be seen in the state of New Hampshire where the legislature is considering a bill requiring all future power lines to be installed underground and all present lines to be so installed within 20 years.

Assuming such a program is technically feasible, the cost estimate for two companies is staggering. Combined, they have 1,330 miles of high voltage transmission lines and 6,975 miles of low voltage distribution lines.

The high voltage lines represent an initial investment of under $13 million. The estimated cost of putting them underground is $386 million. The low voltage system was developed at a cost of under $48 million. To bury it would cost an estimated $446,500,000. Therefore, the ultimate increase of investment to place present lines underground is $832.5 million — thirteen times as much as the total capital invested in the two companies at the present time.

It does not take any imagination to predict what would happen to power rates if the companies were compelled to expend over three-quarters of a billion dollars. Power lines will go underground when technology makes it possible. Laws alone cannot put them there.

Fighting for a Temple of Peace

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The dove of peace is being threatened with hawkish condemnation procedures by the Smithsonian's soon-to-be-constructed National Armed Forces Museum.

At issue is an idyllic 20-acre bluff overlooking the Potomac, which was recently dedicated as the site for a $5-million Temple of Understanding "to advance the hope of peace through worldwide education in inter-religious understanding."

The temple, designed by famed architects Edward Durrell Stone and Lathrop Douglass, is to have six wings, one each for Buddhism, Christianity, Confucianism, Hinduism, Judaism and Islam.

The inspired brain-child of Mrs. Dickerman Hollister of Greenwich, Conn., it has become an international undertaking, having won the enthusiastic endorsement of many world leaders and 14,000 well-wishers in 66 countries.

Having amassed $200,000 to purchase the land, the nonprofit organization recently launched a drive to raise some $5 million for the unique building, its exhibits and endowment, so that visitors from every part of the world can become better acquainted with all major religions.

The wooded bluff on the Maryland side of the Potomac, seven miles downstream from Washington, seems ideally suited for such a center devoted to meditation and study.

The area similarly appeals, however, to Smithsonian officials who have been authorized by Congress to select a 610-acre site for a museum to commemorate the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, the War of 1812, the Spanish-American war, and the great conflagrations of this century.

RIVER SITE

Since naval engagements sometimes played a decisive role in those wars, a Potomac River site was required to display historic ships, and the 20 acres bought by the temple for peaceful pursuits lies in the heart of the coveted tract.

The matter is now before the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, which has recommended that an accommodation be found for the Temple of Understanding adjacent to the museum.

Finley P. Dunne Jr., executive director of the temple and namesake son of the late author of the "Mr. Dooley" columns, sees no real incongruity in a shared area for the temple and the war museum, if Smithsonian officials will refrain from condemning the 20 acres.

He points out that most of our wars have been waged to restore peace, "and faith is sometimes highest on the battlefield."

A miracle may be required to settle the conflict and complete the temple by the 1970 target-date, but Mrs. Hollister has become familiar with miracles in the seven years since she first took her idea to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, whom she did not know.

When doors closed she prayed, and they reopened. The latest barrier, too, will doubtless pass away.

David Lawrence Says:

Spellman Right to Defend War

WASHINGTON — Many clergymen in America have said things about the Vietnam war that amount to aid and comfort to the enemy. But the moment a prominent churchman defends and supports his own country, he is jumped on not merely by the Communist press but even by some editorial writers in the United States.

Cardinal Spellman visited American servicemen in Vietnam and other Far East areas during Christmas week. Should he have told them that they must not fight hard and that, if guns are directed at them by the enemy, they must not fire back?

Or was he right when he told the troops that they are "defending the cause of righteousness?"

In a Christmas Eve sermon at a military base near Saigon, he said:

"This war in Vietnam is, I believe, a war for civilization. Certainly it is not a war of our seeking. It is a war thrust on us, and we cannot yield to tyranny, and so has said our President and the secretary of state."

"We do hope and pray... we shall soon have the victory for which all of us in Vietnam and all over the world are praying and hoping, for less than victory is inconceivable."

VICTIOUS ATTACKS

How does one improve the morale of the fighting men? Can it be done by telling them, in effect, that they must compromise on the battlefield itself?

Such doctrines are in line with recent utterances by those clergymen who assert that the military forces of the United States must not retaliate against the vicious attacks that are made by the Communist guerrillas on South Vietnamese civilians as well as on American troops.

It was natural for the Communist press abroad to assail Cardinal Spellman and denounce him as "Satan in a priest's cloak." But it was surprising to read an editorial in this country which declared:

"What the cardinal said has shocked a great many people. It would have been possible for him to have comforted, inspired and encouraged young Americans enduring a cruel and often agonizing experience so far from home without calling for what amounts to total victory."

There is really no difference, incidentally, between the Vatican's point of view and Cardinal Spellman's, though reports from Rome are that there are some discrepancies.

The actual conditions of war can hardly be ignored by any writer in the American press. Nor can patriotism be considered to have been abolished either for troops in the front line or for Americans back home.

Smiles

Divorce means that home life has reached the split level.

Snow tires relieve winter driving problems, but they don't relieve you from driving carefully.

C'mon, Lets Give LBJ Week Off From Gripes

NEW YORK — Let's everybody lay off LBJ this week.

He didn't start the war in Vietnam. All he's trying to do is stop it.

He didn't raise the cost of living. You did.

He is abundantly aware — being an ardent poll-watcher — that his popularity quotient isn't what it used to be.

But why must he be reminded of this every time he reads a pundit or tunes in a fresh channel?

He didn't defer George Hamilton and Cassius Clay. Their draft boards did.

He didn't make money tight. He's trying to stretch it.

He knows what they said about him in the unedited copy of William Manchester's book. So why must the "leaks" be phrased as if he were the last to know?

He never turned down a peace feeler, as Adlai Stevenson charged posthumously via Eric Sevareid.

He'd leap at any fair proposition. There's only one American more disgusted with the war in Vietnam than you are. Him.

ON THE SPOT

Have a heart. Here's a man who can count on distressing or alienating the affections of tens of millions of fellow Americans every time he makes a move that pleases other tens of millions.

Here's a man who must say yes or no and put a positive end to 10,000 arguments pro and con.

The yes or no can make or break the country he loves, preserve the man himself as a titan among the great presidents or consign him to the limbo of Harding.

Give the man a chance. Destiny decreed that he be saddled with the hardest job in the world.

He wasn't the one who wanted to go to Dallas. He loathed Dallas.

Dallas insulted him and his wife when they campaigned there in 1960. A rightist mob which included a congressman virtually laid siege to the hotel where the Johnsons were staying.

They say he "took charge" immediately after the death of his wonderful predecessor. Who else could have?

In Washington:

'Readers Should Be Fair to LBJ'

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The millions of Americans who very shortly will be able to read magazine excerpts of William Manchester's "The Death of a President" should understand that they will be looking at a political document as well as one man's record of John F. Kennedy's assassination.

It is political because, by all accounts of those who have seen the work in advance, it lays important stress upon the painful estrangement between two great power centers in the ruling Democratic party—the one focused upon President Johnson, the other upon the Kennedys.

If we are to take at face value Mrs. John F. Kennedy's statement issued after settlement of negotiations which led to the exciting of certain passages from the Manchester work, the changes do not affect the political content.

Deliberately, and consciously, however, Mrs. Kennedy sought to reflect adversely upon that content, saying, "I have been told there are historical inaccuracies and unfair references in this book."

In time, history will deal fairly and justly with this period.

Resident Has Complaint About Post Office

What is wrong with our Pontiac Post Office? A check postmarked Dec. 13th arrived at our Pontiac mailing address December 23. A package mailed from Springfield, Ohio, December 19th arrived the same day. If out-of-state packages arrive in four days, how come inter-city, first class mail takes 11 days?

On more than one occasion our mail has been returned to the sender stamped "no such address," "moved, left no forwarding address," "no such number," etc. Our mail is put in other boxes and we receive mail for people who don't live on this street which consists of four houses.

Magazine covers are torn off when they are jammed into the mailbox and the choice issues of Life magazine never reach us although the company states they have been mailed. We've been at this address for over ten years.

Questions Example Set by Some Clergymen

I was always under the impression that our clergymen were supposed to help set an example in our nation, in serving God and our country.

A certain few are trying to tell President Johnson to stop the bombings in North Vietnam because a few civilians were supposedly killed by our bombs in recent bombings in and around Hanoi. They make no mention of the thousands of civilians the Vietcong have killed in South Vietnam.

There was a seminar in Detroit recently where a few clergymen were trying to recruit spineless draft dodgers. I don't believe in war any more than the next man but the Communists have to be stopped. Are those few clergymen trying to set an example?

Faint Voice Cried for Help Over Phone

By the Associated Press

HOLLAND — Jane Meeuwse, 55, recently underwent surgery for throat cancer. Still recovering, she could barely talk. But as smoke filled the trim little house in this Western Michigan town where she and her husband lived, Mrs. Meeuwse picked up the telephone and tried to call for help.

The telephone operator on duty when the call came at 7:15 a.m. Monday was Mrs. John Van Dam, 22 of Holland.

"Her voice was muffled and I had a lot of trouble understanding her," said Mrs. Van Dam. "I kept asking her to repeat what she said. But even then I couldn't understand her because someone was coughing in the background."

ONE WORD

"Police" was the word Mrs. Van Dam did understand.

"I called the Holland police and they listened in on the call," she said. "But we couldn't make out the address."

Five policemen fanned out through the West Side. But they didn't know it was a fire they were looking for and had to wake the residents of each house. It was a slow process.

"I stayed on the line," said Mrs. Van Dam. "I didn't know what was wrong. Then the phone sort of clicked and I kept saying 'hello, ma'am, hello, ma'am.' Finally she must have dropped the phone in the cradle because we were cut off."

CALL TRACED

While police checked some 20 houses, Mrs. Van Dam started to trace the call. By 8:05 a.m. it was complete and she gave officers the correct address. Then she started to call the house.

"I kept calling every half minute or so, but no one answered," said Mrs. Van Dam.

"The officers said they heard the phone ringing inside the house when they arrived," said Jim Fairbanks, a police dispatcher.

Smoke kept police from entering the house although the fire, which apparently started in a living room chair, had pretty much extinguished itself from lack of air.

PAIR FOUND

When Holland firemen arrived with gas masks they found Mrs. Meeuwse in a rear bedroom and her husband Dennis, 56, in a front bedroom.

They were still conscious, officers said, but both were dead on arrival at a hospital.

"I just feel bad that we couldn't understand the number," said Mrs. Van Dam. "Maybe if we could have understood it they might still be alive."

Marcos Orders Agents to Jail

MANILA (AP) — President Ferdinand Marcos has ordered the arrest of the Philippines' army of honorary secret agents.

Marcos, in a wide-ranging shake-up of the nation's police forces, ordered all unpaid agents arrested, their weapons seized, and criminal action started against them for "usurpation of authority, illegal possession of firearms and violations."

His directive was aimed at a vast army of so-called secret agents, appointed by mayors and other politicians, who act as armed bodyguards and investigators for various power groups. A recent congressional inquiry suggested there may be as many as 10,000 of the agents.

Almost all of them carry guns and badges and many have been accused of murder, extortion and other crimes.

Junior Editors Quiz on GUNS

QUESTION: What makes guns shoot?

ANSWER: When gunpowder is set off inside a gun barrel, the explosion forces out the metal bullet in front of it with tremendous speed. In old days, the powder was put down the muzzle of the gun and a lead bullet rammed down on top. In the flintlock gun (top) a flash was made by a flint striking steel in the lock. This set off powder placed in the flash pan. The flash went through a hole, igniting the main charge.

In 1805, percussion caps began to be used to make the first flash, being set off by the falling of the hammer. Later, cartridges were invented, in which the ball and powder charge were combined in a metal case. The case was slipped into the barrel at the breach end, toward the shooter. The head of the cartridge contained a special explosive compound set off by the falling hammer.

In small rifles, such as the one Sam is firing, this compound is in the rim of the cartridge. With larger guns, like the M14 U.S. Army rifle (below), the gun pushes a firing pin into a primer in the center of the cartridge, which contains the explosive compound.

FOR YOU TO DO: All guns are deadly weapons. Don't use them unless you have your parents' permission and thoroughly understand them.

Viet Teen Girl, Now in U.S., Tells of Brushes With Cong

HOUSTON (UPI)—The young French schoolteacher slowed the car on the empty Vietnamese highway, as two men in black pajamas stepped from the jungle with carbines cradled in their arms.

The auto halted beside them. One of the men—a Vietcong tax collector — stepped forward.

"How many batteries did you bring?" he demanded of the teen-age Vietnamese girl sitting beside the driver. She pulled two from her purse.

"No more?" The girl shook her head. "Okay, but bring more next time."

DROVE AWAY

The man gave the pass to the driver, the girl's brother-in-law, Pierre. He shifted the car into gear and drove away. The rest of the trip to the capital was uneventful.

That is how Thu Nhi Do Quang, 19, described one of her many brushes with the Vietcong in an interview here with United Press International.

"The VC always wanted batteries," she said. "We told them we could not carry more than two or three. It is the law because they are in demand to make plastics."

"Plastics," is the layman's word for a high explosive used by the Vietcong in their terrorist bombings. The batteries are necessary for the electric timing device.

ALLOWED TO TRAVEL

As long as the French and Vietnamese brought batteries and paid a cash road tax, Thu Nhi said, they were allowed to travel the highway freely. But with the Americans, it was different.

"They kill Americans. They would shoot Manford," she said, glancing at Manford Foster, 31, sitting beside her. Foster, who spent six months in Saigon as a construction engineer, is responsible for her coming to this country. She plans to study sociology at Sam Houston State College in Huntsville, Tex.

When he returned from Vietnam, Foster organized a campaign to raise funds to pay her fare and finance her education. He has enough to pay the first year, but is still seeking help for the other three.

He is also seeking funds to buy her an artificial limb to replace a foot she lost after she was hit by a truck last fall.

Thu Nhi, who made straight A's at the best French girls' school in Saigon, wants at least a master's degree in sociology before returning home to work with the children orphaned by two decades of war.

"They have nobody to care for them," Thu Nhi said. "They don't have a family. They don't know what is love."

She said these children have turned to crime to survive and built a systems of value where the greatest virtue is to be tougher than the rest.

"They go around stealing and hitting people," she said. "They want to be like people in American films. They want to be tough, not to be sentimental."

UPS AND DOWNS

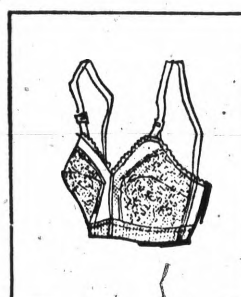

Although not orphaned, Thu Nhi has also known the topsy-turvy ups and downs of war and oriental politics.

Within the past 10 years, her father has drifted from a top-flight job as minister of information to the publisher of a newspaper to a translator and novelist earning $150 a month.

At his zenith, the girl's father, Do Quang, served in President Ngo Dinh Diem's Cabinet.

As the regime grew more repressive, however, he resigned in protest in 1957.

Nassau Has a Charming Problem

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NASSAU, BAHAMAS — (NEA) — There is concern in the Caribbean that some of the better-known tourist Edens may end up like San Juan, Puerto Rico — too big, too slick and too American.

The problem is with charm. So far as tourism is concerned, what is a small island without it?

On New Providence, where Nassau, the capital of the Bahamas, is located, residents are largely dependent on the tourist dollar but at the same time they're concerned about room.

"I spend all week peddling land," said an American-born real estate salesman and developer, "then I think sometimes that I'd hate to see Nassau and some of the out islands turned into one big hotel."

More than a year ago President Johnson's administration irked islanders with the bill that reduced the duty-free allowance of American tourists from $166 to $100 retail value.

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS

Also, duty-free liquor allowance for each American was reduced from one gallon to one quart.

Purpose of the law, of course, was to help offset the U.S. balance of payments deficit. But the law was aimed mostly at Europe, not the Caribbean.

The law has since evoked mixed reactions. It has slowed any process that would turn Nassau and other popular islands into "one big hotel" but at the same time many livelihoods were on the line.

Nassau is a haven for shoppers — everything from china-ware to clothing to knickknacks imported from Mother England. Purchases had to fall off, but not as drastically as expected, Bahamians say.

AMERICANS ADJUST

"Now," said the real estate man, "Americans have made the adjustment — completely forgot about the law, in fact — and things are getting back to boom."

"Actually, when they talk 'boom' in Nassau, they talk about a boom within a certain crowd — a young through middle-age swinging crowd.

Prices in most restaurants and most hotels are reasonable for what is offered. Shops are loaded with bargains.

The swiftestest clubs — such as Charley Charley's and the Lemon Tree — are simple and guardedly uncommercial.

SPORTS PARADISE

They do not begin to roll until the wee hours because tourists spend the early part of the evening at dinner, in the fine casino, the Bahamian Club, or watching a show in one of the hotels.

Nassau is a paradise for water sports, really untapped relative to other aspects of tourism. Equipment is readily available and at reasonable prices.

Most important, New Providence and Nassau still have what they fear losing — charm.

It is, to Americans a combination of English custom and native vitality and the exotic feeling of simply being on a friendly, sun-splattered island.

UNSPOILED BY MONEY

Nassau so far is unspoiled by big money (even many natives discourage big tipsters) and super plush facilities.

Still, it is probably inevitable that Nassau and other islands in the Caribbean will some day become "one big hotel."

Now Bahamians seem to be trying hard not to let things grow too fast. In promotion, it is a tricky matter of selling charm and at the same time maintaining it.

Blind as a Bat? You're Batty!

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — It is hardly accurate to describe someone who only picks at his food as "eating like a bird," since birds voraciously spend almost all of their waking hours in search of something to eat.

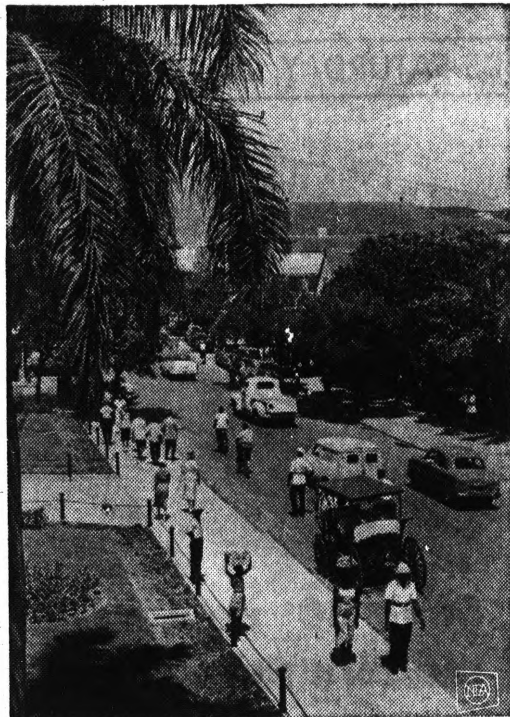

"Quiet as a fish" became virtually meaningless with the discovery by oceanographers that undersea creatures actually make a wide variety of surprising noises.

Now another cliché has bitten the dust. Bats, heretofore occupying the pinnacle of the peak of creatures that one could be described as "blind as," can see after all!

Just a Little Out of Date

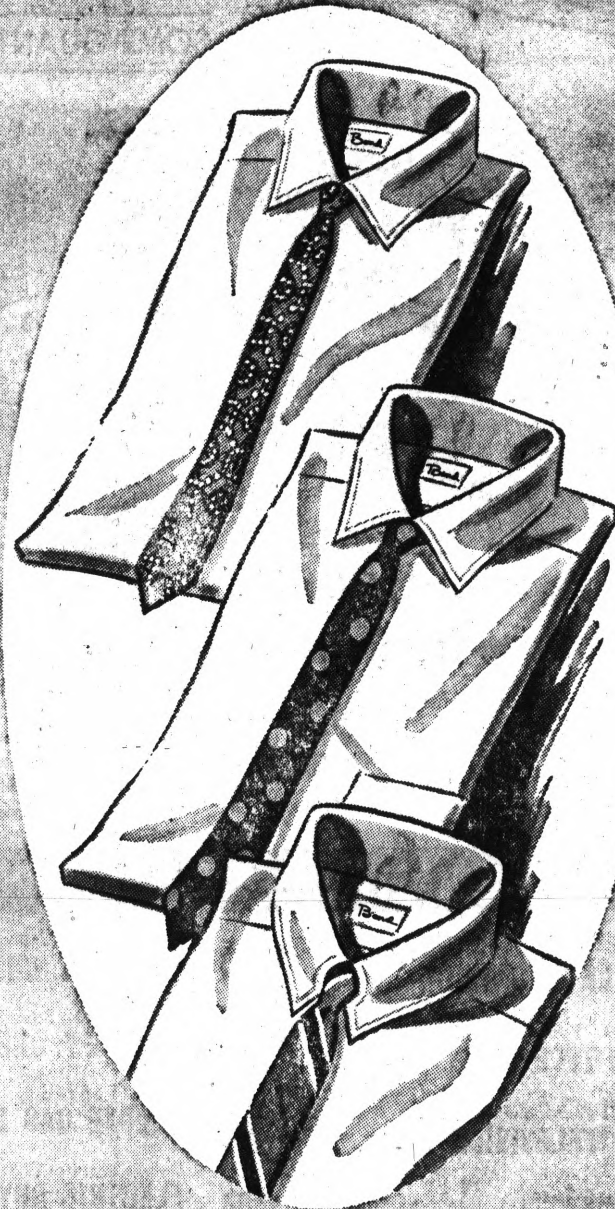

SANTA FE, New Mexico (AP) — Maurice Trimmer, press aide to Gov. Jack Campbell, reports that a letter has been received addressed to "Lew Wallace, governor of New Mexico."

Lew Wallace, the author of "Ben Hur," was territorial governor of New Mexico from 1878 to 1881.

GROWING PAINS — The boom in the Bahamian capital of Nassau continues. But with any boom, especially in the area of tourism, come problems — namely, traffic, commercialism and, since Nassau is on an island, space.

June vows are planned by Anne Kiley Monaghan, daughter of the Peter J. Monaghans of Bloomfield Hills, and John Hart Norris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Norris of Birmingham. She is an alumna of Tobe Coburn School, New York. Her fiance attends University of Michigan Law School.

Mercenary Hosts Ask for Money

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I just received a "reception invitation" for a couple that was married a few weeks ago. The parents of the groom are giving the reception in their home.

My gripe is that written on the bottom of the invitation were the words "Money Preferred." These same parents gave a reception for their youngest son (a Marine) and his wife three years ago when he was home on leave from Hawaii. At the bottom of that invitation were the same words.

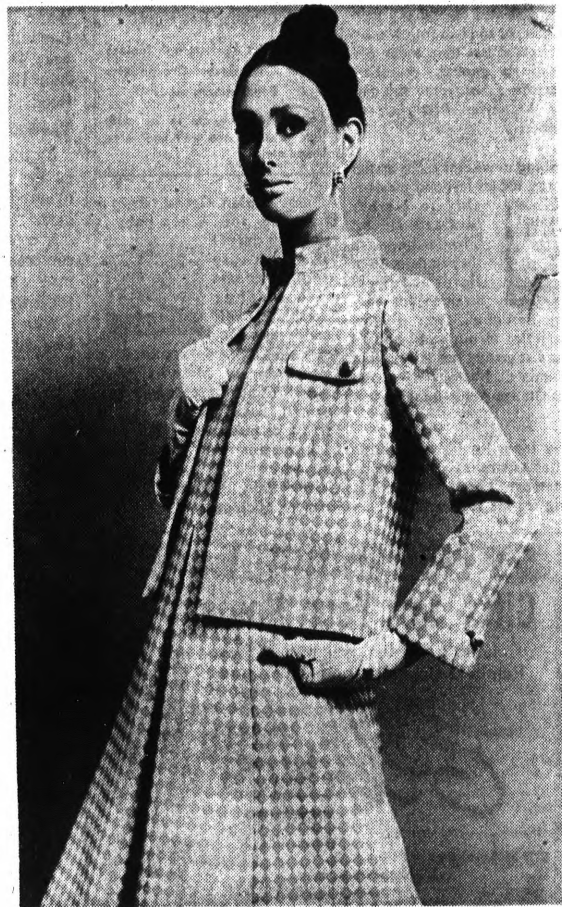

At the time of the first invitation, my husband and I, among other friends who received this same invitation, were pretty provoked by this request. Please print my letter in your column expressing your personal opinion about people who send their friends and family an invitation of this type. — Fed Up

Dear Fed Up: I'm delighted to express my opinion. I think it's the most mercenary thing I've ever heard of! In the first place, one never asks for a gift of any kind, and to specify that money is preferred is incredible. If a friend asks what the bride and groom would like, the parents might conceivably say, "I am sure a small check would be welcome." But to suggest the nature of the gift when the information was not solicited, is contrary to every principle of etiquette.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Fragile and feminine one piece culotte. Black French chantilly lace coin dot over nude crepe. Deep flounces on the sleeves and pants legs for flattery and flip. For Spring '67. Designed by Marie McCarthy for Larry Aldrich.

Ave de Prado... soft gold and white in a harlequin pattern make this expertly cut costume from Jack Sarnoff's Spring '67 collection by Molly. The brief jacket has a crisp, stand-up collar, button-down flap pockets set high, and long sleeves. Underneath: the short sleeved dress in matching Italian fabric has a wide front pleat creating an A-line silhouette with high shaping.

June vows are planned by Carole Ree Mihay, daughter of the Pete Mihays of Rosewood Drive and James Lawrence Ragsdale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roach of Richmond, Calif. She is a graduate of Michigan State University.

Cranbrook to Feature Yearly Event, Exhibit

The 17th annual "Twelfth Night" gala of the Cranbrook Institutions will take place from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday. The Henry S. Booths (he's chairman of the board of trustees of the Cranbrook Foundation) will be hosts. Following a candle procession, the Nativity scene will be reenacted and there will be a mummery. Details are never revealed in advance.

Cranbrook House, home of the late founders of Cranbrook, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Booth, will be the scene for the serving of the traditional flaming plum pudding.

Guests will include members of the faculty and staffs of the six Cranbrook Institutions, trustees and directors, board members of the Music Guild and St. Dunstan's Guild with spouses.

CERAMICS EXHIBIT

Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries will present an invitational exhibition featuring work by Michigan ceramists for the first time in its history. The show title is, "16 Michigan Ceramists," and will open Jan. 10 and continue through Jan. 29.

Because Michigan is one of the strongest ceramics' states in the country, decisions on who would be included were difficult to make.

Thirteen professionals and three graduate students from

Mrs. Edward Pierson of Fox River Drive will play hostess Thursday to members of the Tri Deltas of Birmingham Area Alumnae, Group II.

Mrs. William Malloy Jr. will serve as cohostess at the 8 p.m. event.

the University of Michigan will be presented in the show.

They are: John and Suzanne Stephenson, Donna Nicholas, Richard B. Leach, Fred and Patricia Bauer, James R. Black Jr., John P. Glick, Robert H. Diebboll, David F. Counts, Gordon Orear, Marc Hansen, James H. Powell, Mrs. Michele Doner, Wayne Higby and Lewis Simpson.

The galleries are open Tuesdays through Fridays from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, except major holidays. Admission is free to the public.

Area Girls Reveal Plans for Wedding Dates

Colburn-Sauls

Dr. and Mrs. Ned M. Colburn of Hi-Crest Drive, Orion Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita Louanne, to Engil Ray Sauls, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Sauls of Keego Harbor.

A mid-April wedding is being planned.

Pentlicki-Shaver

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pentlicki of Dickert Drive, Commerce Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Lorraine, to Donald C. Shaver, son of the Raymond R. Shavers of Alpena.

A summer wedding is planned.

The engagement of Jeanee Carol Slinkard to Arnold L. Taylor is announced by her mother Mrs. Elvis Slinkard of Paramus Drive, Independence Township.

His parents are Mrs. Robert Taylor of Dixie Highway, Independence Township and the late Mr. Taylor.

She is a freshman at Oakland University and her fiance is a sophomore at Michigan State University. June vows are planned.

Wilkinson-Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilkinson of Young Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to John Thomas Smith, son of the George Smiths of Louella Drive. The March bride-elect is an

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is there any way I can get my daughter-in-law to "catch on" without coming right out and telling her? She has a family of four. My family consists of four, also.

My daughter-in-law has invited us over for supper several times, which I appreciate, but she will set her table for eight and then serve the same amount of food as she would for four!

Naturally nobody takes very big helpings, and she wonders out loud if maybe the food isn't "good."

Once I brought her an extra pound of stew meat and she seemed more offended than pleased.

"Oh, I always buy only one pound of stew meat," she exclaimed. I wanted to say right then and there, "Yes, for four, but not for eight," but I kept quiet.

How can I get through to her, Abby? She's a sweet girl and I don't want her to hate me.

DELICATE PROBLEM DEAR DELICATE: It's hard to believe that anyone would have to be told to prepare twice as much food for eight as they would for four, but I'll take your word for it. Get your son aside and ask him to explain it to her.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and I have always said I wanted to devote my life to acting. Next Wednesday I am supposed to portray an ugly monster named Medusa in a school play. A boy is supposed to cut off my head (my real one). How can I get myself out of this mess?

D.D.

DEAR D.D.: Tell the boy who is supposed to cut off your head not to take his role too seriously. It's only a play, so don't lose your head, honey.

Federation Plans Event

A day-long meeting Friday, beginning with a coffee at 9:30 a.m., will take place for members of the Oakland County Federation of Women's Clubs in the Community Congregational Church, Lathrup Village.

Hostesses for the event will be members of the Lathrup Village Women's Club. President, Mrs. Henry Ohrt will deliver the welcome speech.

Others on the program will be Mesdames; Walter Kowalczyk, Cecil Sykes, Ross Rife, Robert Harner, Helge Rognlie.

Joseph Brown of the American Cancer Society will show the film "Cancer Detection."

Following luncheon, members of the Federation will present a play, "Strickly for Laifs." Taking part will be Mesdames; Forbes Hascall, Harry Vernon, Richard Cogger, Vernoh Jeans, Lee Hill, Robert Meshew and Steven Korol.

More include Mrs. Elmer Sykes, Mrs. Harner and Mrs. Joseph Phillips.

Reservations should be made by today to Mrs. Cogger or Mrs. Craig.

Three-piece elegance that go together to make up a sure, clean look for spring 1967—by Monte-Sano and Pruzan. Neat laped jacket and floppy, front-panel skirt have the young dash that makes masculine heads do a double take. The black silk blouse jauntily raises a standing collar above the suit jacket.

Over 30's—Stand Up

Help! It's the 'Little Folk'

NEW YORK — Okay, all you old folks over 30.

Start buttering up the young folks who live in your house, walk your streets, work in your office or factory, buy in your store.

Within three years, one-half the population will be under 25 years of age. By the mid 1970's at least two-thirds and perhaps three-fourths of the population will be under 35.

If that doesn't set you to shivering, consider this: Rumblyings accompanying the youthquake bring with them an ambition to lower the voting age to 18. It's enough to pale ruddy politicians.

Some of the prospects for the old folks over 30 are noted in "Tomorrow Through Research," published by Southwest Research Institute of San Antonio and Houston, Texas.

Listen: "We have been invaded and conquered by the little people."

"Within the next few years, we will experience such a change in the national population that a complete change in our social organization seems inevitable."

Once they get the voting age lowered to 18 — would you believe 16 — the young of the land, as the social scientists see it, might wage campaigns to draft everybody over 35, to push through young age pensions. One of their biggest questions will be:

"After puberty what?"

While all those over the hill — 35 or 40 — watch and wonder what will happen next as youth questions will be:

• Will they lower the retirement age to 40 in a move to get rid of deadwood in existing organizations?

• Will they only elect to local, state and national office candidates under 40 so youth can really run things?

• Will they revamp the tax laws to reduce the take so they can have more of their hard-earned money for well-deserved creature comforts?

By 1975 we will have a population whose only knowledge of the depression was garnered from childhood remembrances of their parents or from history books.

As youth comes to the front, the most urgent question, the report noted, is this: "By 1975, can we convince this three-fourths majority a decent respect for old age."

"This is the prime concern of everyone who is over 26 years old today," the Southwest egg-heads said.

Bringing Up Baby.

NOTES ON NEWBORNS

It has always been believed that newborns could only distinguish between light and dark and could follow moving objects only after several weeks. Not any more! Recent clinical studies indicated that many newborns can see and can follow moving objects at less than a day old. Interestingly enough, countless mothers have discovered this fact all by themselves. Pretty clever, you mothers.

Refreshing news story. No matter what age, babies respond pleasantly to Gerber Strained Juices. That's because they're delicate in flavor and finely strained for easy sipping. Best of all, there are now 10 varieties to multiply baby's pleasure at getting his daily ration of vitamin C. Newest flavor: delicious Orange-Apple-Banana.

Head-y idea. Brand-new parents are often astonished at the size of their new baby's head. Seems much too big for the rest of that adorable body. But as baby grows, his body proportions change. Limbs grow more than his torso, the head grows less and suddenly baby is sized just right. Good to know that everything catches up with everything else.

Toddler in the house? He (or she) will love this cooling Apricot-Orange Refresher:

1 jar Gerber Apricots with Tapioca
2 cans chilled Gerber Orange Juice
2 tablespoons sugar

Combine ingredients in jar with tight cover. Shake well and serve immediately.

All-around plan. Cereal variety is important, too. When baby is ready for cereal variety, it's easy to rotate cereals with Gerber Cereal Sixes. This handy sextet contains small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Barley, Mixed Cereal, High Protein Cereal, and two Oatmeal. Such an easy way to serve a different one each day. Each cereal is enriched with iron and important B-vitamins. Gerber® Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan.

Candlelight Setting for Recent Vows

Paulette Rae Hardy and Pvt. Jerald A. Rathka were wed at a recent candlelight ceremony in the Cedar Crest Lutheran Church.

Their parents who reside in White Lake Township are the Randall P. Hardys of Hillwood Drive and Mr. and Mrs. John Rathka of Cripple Creek Road.

TAFFETA GOWN

An illusion veil complemented the bride's gown of white nylon taffeta and Chantilly lace.

A corsage of Yuletide roses centered a bouquet of miniature white carnations on her white prayer book.

With maid of honor, Penny Lawson were bridesmaids Sue Batzloff and Ladonna Hardy.

Bryan Weinman was best man with ushers Dale Lawson and Donald Thorson. Bryant Thompson carried the rings at the evening rite.

After the reception in White Lake Township Hall, the couple left for Fort Sill, Okla. where he is presently stationed.

Shade Idea Is Solution to Smallness

Paul Krauss, ingenious designer of window shade ideas, recently planned an exciting window treatment for a small, one-window room. He used gaily striped window shades and then, instead of curtains, attached window-height, floor-length two-ply screens of chip board at both sides of the window. He covered them in the same striped shade cloth and added bands of matching braid to shade, screens and window frame. The result — an illusion of height and added drama.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I am bringing you a few thoughts for the New Year.

All over the world young men and women, older men and women are searching for happiness. Yet, this is the surest way to lose it.

Happiness becomes very elusive when we look for it because it is a byproduct of vibrant living.

It is a strength which comes from investing in life with all of our heart and mind, from a keen awareness of and interest in, the whole world and those about us, from self respect, from the ability to enjoy the beauty and inspiration which every day brings us, from the larger view, from a rapport with the great forces of life.

FOLKS SEARCH

Many folks search for happiness by accumulating material possessions, by becoming famous or socially prominent, in travel, in myriad other ways, only to realize, some sunny morning, that all the time, it was in their backyard or perched over their own mailbox.

We are apt to blame any lack of happiness on our job, our family relations or on bad luck. Psychoanalyst Erich Fromm says, "Happiness is not a gift from the gods. It is achievement, brought about by inner productivity." For this inner productivity we must get our values straightened out and be at peace with ourselves and our lives.

It is amazing what a difference one's approach to life can make. What one person may find hectic another may find humorous, what one considers a disaster another may think of as a challenge.

Your face often reflects your emotions, and you will want to keep your face free from tell-tale lines. Send for my free leaflet "Facial Exercises." For your copy send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Trent of Big Lake Road, Springfield Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn Ann, to J. Frank Miller. His parents are the Lloyd Millers of Owosso, formerly of Pontiac.

An October wedding is planned by Linda Margaret Arno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theophilus Arno of McKinley Drive, and Allen E. Seyffert, son of the Walter H. Seyfferts of Center Line. She is attending Oakland Community College.

The engagement of Ruth Naomi Damon to Phillip Edwards Parks is announced by her parents, the Robert L. Damons of Cloverlawn Street, Pontiac Township. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marion E. Parks of Tull Road.

June vows are planned by Betty Lou Payne, daughter of the Francis Paynes of West Rutgers Street, and Lance Cpl. Gordon Lester Jr., son of Mrs. Marcella Lester of East Boulevard North. He is stationed with the U.S. Marine Corps at Beauford, S.C.

Pair Takes Recent Vows at Ceremony

An evening ceremony, Friday, in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church marked the vows of Diane Marie Meger and Pvt. Robert Hester of Fort Campbell, Ky.

Their parents are the Chester C. Megers, Oakmont Street, Pontiac Township, and the Carl Hesters, Pompano Beach, Fla.

MRS. R. C. HESTER

With her A-line gown and court train of white satin and Chantilly lace, the bride wore a silk illusion veil caught pearl and crystal tiara. She carried white carnations and red Sweetheart roses.

Susan Meger and Mrs. Roger Houck attended their sister as maid of honor and bridesmaid respectively, along with Anita McLaughlin and Mary Pruente, flower girl.

Larry Meger was best man. Jack Bishop and James McLaughlin were ushers.

After greeting guests in the American Legion Hall, the couple left for a brief honeymoon. He will return to his base.

Divided Slips Offer Freedom

For coeds who wear the short or swing skirts there is a great short-ee Panti-slip that works under short skirts, regular skirt lengths and culottes, too. It gives you freedom to move for bowling, biking, riding and dancing.

This divided skirt also does away with slip twisting and bunching, and will give you a smooth waist-to-knee look.

Don't Lose Rings

When washing your hands, put rings and watches in your pocket or purse. Putting them on the sink is one way to lose them.

Ruth Hoffman Feted

Ruth Ann Hoffman, daughter of the Olin Hoffmans of Miller Street was honored at a kitchen shower, Saturday, in Bad Axe. Her aunt, Mrs. Lee Ross was hostess.

Mrs. Glen Bedford and Mrs.

Austin Cornell, both of Elkton, attended their granddaughter's party, also Mrs. Tage Guldbrandsen of Plymouth. Her son, Dale Richard, is Miss Hoffman's fiancé.

Mrs. Robert Dais and Mrs. John Manes gave a recent surprise shower in the Davis home on Mark Street. Susan Putnam came from Madison, Wis. and Mrs. Robert Pomerooy from Bay City.

St. John's Student Parish, East Lansing, will be the setting for the Friday evening ceremony.

Cool Before Use

Canned meats can be sliced easier if chilled in refrigerator and both ends of can are removed before pushing meat out.

Suds Save Your Shoes

Along with winter, come thoughts of salt-streaked sidewalks and splashed footwear.

J. J. Gerard, owner of a shoe store in Indiana, advises that these spots should be washed from shoes and overshoes before the calcium chloride has a chance to dry and set into permanent stains.

The best way to do this is with warm soap or detergent suds. Good leather shoes can be veritably ruined unless this sudsy precaution is taken.

SMOKE TELLS STORY — Black smoke rises over the underbrush of the Boi Loi woods northwest of Saigon as a 55-gallon drum with powdered riot control gas is exploded in a former Vietcong bunker complex. The nauseating gas fumes will remain in the area for at least two weeks.

AP Wirephoto

MAKING IT UNCOMFORTABLE—U.S. demolition men set a charge on a 55-gallon barrel of riot gas in the crater of a bomb that earlier smashed a Vietcong bunker complex in the Boi Loi woods northeast of Saigon. Smashed tin roofing lying around was used by the Vietcong to make the bunker waterproof.

VC Cling Stubbornly to Boi Loi Woods

By HORST FAAS

BOI LOI WOODS, South Vietnam (AP) — There's a deadly stillness in the Boi Loi Woods.

No birds sing as the sun rises. Trees that once blanketed the forest with green are charred. They stick up black and stark, like splintered spires.

The usual jungle night sounds of scurrying animals are missing. Even the trill of the cicada is gone.

"Everything in its right mind has gotten out of here... except the Vietcong," a GI said.

His outfit of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division was making another attempt to crack open this battered but unyielding bastion of the Vietcong.

Steel-shod troop carriers of the division's 1st Battalion, 5th Cavalry, were rolling in. Infantrymen stayed on the outskirts because of the thousands of enemy mines and booby traps that spiked the area.

STAY AROUND

The Communists had stayed around despite more than a year of smashing by jets and B52 Stratofortresses with 1,000-pound bombs; by artillery shells; by fiery napalm and white phosphorus. They only burrowed deeper.

The woods, covering 10 square miles, are on the southern bank of the Saigon River about 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

The position is valuable to the Vietcong. It has excellent access to War Zone C to the northwest and War Zone D to the east. And here the guerrillas can receive supplies both overland and from the river. It has become a showplace of their resistance.

In the late 1930s the French earmarked this area for a rubber plantation. Before it could be established, Red guerrillas moved in and took over.

ANTI-FRENCH BASE

From 1946 on they used the Boi Loi Woods as a base, from which to unleash attacks in Ho Chi Minh's war against the French, who gave up in 1954. Control of the rich farmlands surrounding the woods stayed with the Communists after a Geneva conference had divided Vietnam.

After years of avoiding the woods, the Saigon government sent in a Ranger battalion on New Year's Eve, 1963. The Rangers penetrated the inner sanctuary. Then the Vietcong closed a spider's web and strangled the battalion into submission.

Several months later a Vietnamese airborne brigade tried to clear out the dreaded Boi Loi. The troops walked into an amazing network of tunnels and bunkers. Again the Vietcong sprang their trap.

The defeat of the airborne so stunned the government that no further campaigns were tried here until the Americans arrived.

Vietnamese and American air forces bombed the woods. On one occasion they lathered it with defoliants, gasoline and napalm. The resulting fire blazed so fiercely that an officer in Saigon told a news conference "the Boi Loi Woods are no more!"

He didn't know that a late-breaking torrential rainstorm was at that moment drenching the fire.

From that time on, the woods were a free-bomb zone. Planes returning to Saigon and Bien Hoa airbases unloaded their unexpended ordnance there.

The U.S. 25th Infantry Division moved in last spring.

To the Americans the Boi Loi Woods were not the terrible place the Vietnamese had come to think it was. The GIs pushed through, and the Vietcong tried to stand and fight. The Communists took the worst of it against the mobile armor and modern weapons.

STOP STANDING

The Viet Cong stopped standing and resorted to hit-and-run swipes, antitank mines, pellet-spraying Claymore-type mines and ingenious booby traps.

This was costly to foot soldiers, and the casualty figures rose. Armored units took over the attacks.

This was the situation as the 1st Battalion of the 5th Cavalry headed toward the woods recently.

The men could see the columns of black smoke from napalm and the white smoke from phosphorous billowing from the woods.

The armored personnel carriers, bristling with machine guns, rumbled past deep bomb craters ripped in the undergrowth and past great brown swaths of torn earth.

Unburnt napalm was strung like icicles from the leafless trees.

VAST MINEFIELD

The floor of the forest was like one vast minefield.

"We usually figure on losing about 10 APCs (armored personnel carriers) on an operation," one young officer said on the third day of a five-day operation.

"We've had seven knocked out so far," he said, "so 10 should be about right this time, too."

The men had adapted their riding habits to the mines and, despite the loss of vehicles, there wasn't a similarly high casualty rate.

The tankmen keep their arms at their sides and their feet tucked up with them as they sit outside the carriers.

"When we hit one of those Alpha Tangles (antitank mines, it usually blasts the turret clean off," a soldier said.

"Guys with their arms hanging over the edge of the armor plating will be carried off right with it. If they keep their arms at their sides the turret probably will just fly off and leave them okay except for a few bruises and scratches."

SIGNS OF REBUILDING

As their vehicles clattered ahead, the men saw signs that the bunkers and tunnels they had destroyed on their last visit had been rebuilt.

"There, you see that," one man shouted. "What is Charley doing? He knows he can't win."

We beat him and beat him and he just keeps fixing these damned things again.

"How many times do we have to destroy this stuff?"

The battalion rumbled into an expansive empty base camp with bunkers, deep tunnels and fortifications.

It was so large the vehicles pulled back, and a strike by B52s was ordered. The big bombs screamed down in a tight pattern that covered the camp.

Next morning the armor rolled back in. Wherever the men spotted a still-useable position they called Skyraider fighter-bombers to zero in with special 1,000-pound deep-penetration bombs.

RIOT CONTROL GAS

To cap the process, they placed 55-gallon barrels of pow-

Moon Triggers Quakes, Soviet Scientist Asserts

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The moon, as well-known folklore bears out, makes men mad from time to time. (See Lunacy in any encyclopedia.) It also creates tides on the world's sea-coasts.

Can it trigger earthquakes?

In special instances, at least, it can and does, according to Soviet scientist V. V. Lamakin.

Lamakin has made a study of earthquakes in the Baikal region of Russia and compared their frequency with the moon's periodic excursions above and below the equator.

The moon orbits the earth at angles to the equator varying from 18 degrees 10 minutes to 28 degrees 40 minutes.

HIGH DECLINATION

The periods of so-called high declination are separated from periods of low declination by intervals of 9.3 years.

There are times when the moon's gravitational pull on the earth reinforces the sun's and times when it has a counteracting effect.

Lamakin made an historic analysis of two different kinds of Baikal earthquakes — those that occur along faults (fractures in the earth's crust) and those known as "displacement" quakes (perhaps resulting from subterranean rock slides.)

Earthquake scientists all over the world would like very much to find a sure way of predicting these frightening and horrible events which kill so many people and destroy so much property.

MAY HAVE SOMETHING

Has Lamakin got hold of something? He may have, but the catch is that it appears to have only limited application.

The records of the past 150 years, he found, show "a complete agreement between Baikal earthquakes of the two types and the periodic changes in lunar declination.

But under normal conditions the stresses created in the earth's crust by lunar-solar tides couldn't possibly cause quakes — they are 100 times too feeble.

Under the special geological and latitudinal circumstances which exist in the Baikal region, however, tidal strains might well have "a triggering effect," Lamakin said.

IN A GENERAL WAY

Given such conditions, and knowing as astronomers do the moon's changing angle to the equator, it should be possible to predict the occurrence of earthquakes in at least a general way.

So Lamakin went out on a limb.

"Strong earthquakes should occur in 1967-68," he said, "along the northwest, faulted side of the Baikal depression, and about 1976 in its axial zone and along the southeastern coast."

The world's earthquake scientists undoubtedly will be watching to see whether Lamakin's predictions come true.

A new port recently was constructed in Cambodia at Sihanoukville with French aid.

KILLERS OF CHILDREN

Diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, pneumonia! These were some of the big killers of children — a quarter-century ago. But today, we rarely hear of anyone dying from one of these diseases. The explanation? These diseases have been conquered by new drugs — drugs that were unknown 25 years ago — but are now found in every drug store.

Auto Firms Back in Swing After Holiday Shutdown

DETROIT (AP) — The U. S. auto industry rolled up its sleeves today and got back to the business of building cars after a long New Year's holiday shutdown.

Preliminary figures showed 1966's auto production totaled 8,607,278 cars, second highest figure in automotive history. It was topped only by 1965's record 9,335,208 cars.

Auto makers set a goal of about 720,000 cars for January, as all four major firms trimmed their original production goal of about 790,000 cars. In January last year, about 816,000 cars were built.

General Motors planned to have plants at Pontiac, Lansing, Flint, Wilmington, Del., Linden, N. J., and Kansas City on reduced schedules by Jan. 9 and output cut about 4.4 per cent over original plans. Several thousand workers will be involved.

4 PLANTS TO CLOSE

Chrysler said that four of its seven U. S. plants will be closed for a week this month, while Ford accomplished its cutback by cutting out planned overtime at some plants and putting some others on three-day operations this week.

American Motors also announced earlier that its assembly lines will be idled for 10 working days between Jan. 9 and 23.

U. S. truck production finished strong in 1966, as the final unofficial tally of 1,765,700 was the second best on record and less than 2 per cent behind the record of 1,785,100 built in 1965.

Ruby Denies Kennedy Plot in Recording

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Ruby insists in a recorded statement that there was no conspiracy involved in his killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, named by the Warren Commission as the assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Ruby made the recording secretly in Dallas' Parkland Memorial Hospital where he lies gravely ill of cancer, according to Elmer Gertz, a member of Ruby's legal team.

In a telephone interview from Chicago Monday night, Gertz said Ruby's denial takes up three minutes of a 46-minute Capitol record called "The Assassination."

TO BE PLAYED IN PUBLIC

The recording, which also features the voices of other persons central to the drama, was to be played in public for the first time at a news conference here today.

Man Faces Exam in Hotel Murder

DETROIT (AP) — David Lee Gauthier, 26, faces examination Jan. 9 on first-degree murder charges in the slaying of the night clerk at the plush St. Regis Hotel.

Gauthier stood mute at his arraignment over the weekend in the death of Gottfried Engelhard, 35, who was shot to death during a holdup at the hotel Dec. 27.

Gauthier had been night clerk at the St. Regis until the past Oct. 3 when he was fired.

DI AN, South Vietnam (AP) — True to the motto "The Big Red One takes care of its own," men of the U. S. 1st Division have raised more than $50,000 from poker, dice and beer blasts to help send sons of fallen comrades to college.

A dozen scholarships already have been awarded with money collected in the past four months and 80 more are being processed.

The scholarship fund was inspired by the heroism of Sgt. Ralph Nunez of San Pedro, Calif., whose reconnaissance patrol was ambushed by the Vietcong in the jungles of War Zone C.

Before he died, Nunez saved the lives of his comrades by radioing the forward air controller to call in an air strike.

Beginnings of OU Still Vivid in Memory

A PASTURE NO MORE — Only seven years elapsed between the taking of the aerial photograph above in 1959 and the one below last fall. Taken from nearly identical angles, the two pictures indicate the "boomtown" growth pattern of the campus on the southeast corner of Walton and Squirrel roads. When the first students were welcomed to OU in 1959, they attended classes in North and South Foundation halls, newly erected on a parcel of property which had previously been pasture land. A portion of Oakland Center had been completed when the above picture was taken. Now there are 18 structures on the campus, along with parking lots and a lake.

Chancellor Recalls Talks Which Led to University

By PAT McCARTY

Durward B. Varner was several hours late in getting home for dinner Dec. 17, 1956.

His wife, who had been entertaining guests without assistance, "was less than pleased when I got home at 9 p.m.," Varner recalls.

"I'm sure that Mrs. Varner would agree in retrospect that it was worthwhile," he says now.

For on that day, Mrs. Varner's husband had made his first visit to Meadow Brook Hall and the 1,400-acre estate that was to become the site of Oakland University—developed under his leadership.

Chancellor Varner's recollections of the events which led up to the founding of the university 10 years ago today are vivid.

MEETS WILSONS

They begin on Nov. 3, 1956, while the 38-year-old Texan was serving as vice president of Michigan State University under Dr. John A. Hannah.

"He (Hannah) was hosting legislators at a luncheon before a home football game with Wisconsin," Varner said. "At 11:30 Mr. Hannah summoned me to a room at Kellogg Center and it was there I first met Mr. and Mrs. Wilson."

The Alfred G. Wilsons had sought out Hannah to discuss an idea which had been presented to them by the Oakland County Planning Commission.

Planners had suggested that the huge Meadow Brook Farm would be an ideal location for an institution of higher education.

RESPONSIVE CHORD

"Apparently this struck a responsive chord in their hearts and minds and they wondered whether MSU would be interested," Varner said. "Hannah's quick reply was that MSU certainly would be interested."

Besides the legislative luncheon, the university president also was preparing for a six-week trip to the Far East for the U.S. State Department.

Hannah asked Varner to continue the discussion with the Wilsons.

Varner missed the football game, which the Spartans won, 33-0.

FIRST VISIT

On a snowy Saturday two weeks later, he made his first visit to Meadow Brook.

"I must say, I was awestricken," he recalls. "I had heard of a great home, but I had no notion of what this was."

The conversation began about noon and proved so absorbing that it wore on into the evening.

About 5:30 p.m., the Wilsons and Varner were joined by J. Robert F. Swanson, Oakland County Planning Commission chairman, who had cut short a hunting trip to participate in the discussion.

DURWARD B. VARNER

MOVE TOWARD DECISION

"During the course of the day, I think the Wilsons came a long way toward a decision," Varner said.

He went home with this thought and the commitment for another meeting Dec. 26.

For Mrs. Varner, he took two dozen of the dinner-plate-sized chrysanthemums grown by Mrs. Wilson at Meadow Brook.

At the Dec. 26 meeting, "Mr. Wilson made it clear they would give 1,400 acres, holding a life reservation on Meadow Brook Hall and 127 acres."

$2 MILLION

Noting the financial straits the state was in at that time, Hannah suggested it would be helpful if the university had, say, $2 million for the first academic buildings on the Oakland County campus.

"The Wilsons agreed readily — almost casually," Varner recalls.

The formal announcement of the gift was made by Mrs. Wilson Jan. 3, 1957, at a luncheon given at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club for a group of industrial, business, educational and political leaders from Oakland County.

Value of the gift, including the $2-million endowment, was estimated at $10 million.

COMPLETE CAMPUS

"This is the most generous benefaction ever received by Michigan State," Hannah said at the luncheon. "It reaffirms Mrs. Wilson's interest in young people and the desire to help them which characterized her service as a board member and her subsequent activities on behalf of Michigan State."

To complete the campus, MSU proceeded to acquire an adjacent 200 acres from various property owners.

The university earlier had been the recipient of the 365-acre farm of Sarah Van Hoesen Jones, five miles east of Meadow Brook.

Community response to the Wilsons' gift was quick and enthusiastic.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Varner recalls that a citizens advisory committee was established about two weeks after the announcement luncheon.

The group, which since its inception has been headed by Pontiac Press Board Chairman Harold A. Fitzgerald, later was incorporated as the Michigan State University-Oakland Foundation and now is the Oakland University Foundation.

Its establishment is significant in OU's history, Varner said, "because I attribute to the foundation a great measure of the good things that have happened to OU."

Record must also be made of the role of the bold young Texan who stepped in for a university president at a critical moment and stepped up to be drafted when the time came for the selection of an OU chancellor.

There have been many dinner parties in the intervening years, not the least of which the Varners are giving tonight in honor of Mrs. Wilson.

Your husband will be there on time, Mrs. Varner.

Funds for University

Aid From Many Areas

Oakland University, established through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, has grown during the past 10 years with support from a combination of sources.

A state institution, it has received appropriations for operation and capital outlay from the Michigan Legislature.

However, these funds have been supplemented by voluntary contributions from individuals, industry, foundations and the federal government for the many projects of a growing university.

To support OU's expanding program, its operating budget has increased eightfold over the eight years since the university was opened.

Consisting of legislative appropriations and student fees, the university's operational income has moved from $670,000 for the 1959-60 fiscal year to $5.5 million for the current year.

ENROLLMENT SOARS

In this same period, enrollment went from 570 to 3,142.

Of the university's existing buildings, the $2-million Science Building and the $2.5-million Matilda R. Wilson Hall were constructed entirely with state funds.

The $5-million Dodge Hall of Engineering, now under construction, is being built with $3.6 million in state funds and $1.4 million in federal funds.

Plans are being completed on a $4.2-million classroom-office building to be under way by spring 1967.

COMMUNITY AID

The university also has received community support for many of its other projects.

The $1.5-million Kresge Library, North and South Foundation halls, Kettering Magnetics Laboratory, the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion, Trumbull Terrace, Pryale House and Hill House, all were built with gift money.

In addition, Fitzgerald House, Anibal House, Oakland Center and the Sports and Recreation Building were financed by combinations of gifts and loans.

The two newest dormitories on the OU campus, Van Wagoner House and Vandenberg Hall, are self-financing projects constructed with borrowed funds.

PAYING FOR ITSELF

The seventh dorm, for which construction contracts have been awarded, also will pay for itself through student fees.

Total value of the capital projects completed or under way is in excess of $30 million.

Of the amount spent on construction, 31.7 per cent came from state funds, 31 per cent from gifts and 37.3 per cent from construction loans.

The university also has received annually substantial contributions for scholarships, library acquisitions, special projects and for unrestricted purposes.

Mainly through the efforts of the Oakland University Scholarship Committee, for instance, nearly $100,000 is raised every year to provide assistance for OU students.

The Meadow Brook Music Festival and the new Meadow Brook Theatre each receive contributions from industry, foundations and individuals to help underwrite their programs, which get no financial support from the university.

Although Oakland University is primarily an undergraduate institution, the number of research grants accepted in behalf of faculty members is substantial and growing.

In the past fiscal year, research grants from the federal government, industry and foundations have totaled more than $800,000.

CONTINUOUS PLANNING

Development of plans for the future is continuous at the university, where officials are mapping further growth on the basis of the combination of fiscal sources which has shaped OU's eight-year history.

They now are preparing presentations to be made before legislative committees which will consider the university's budget for 1967-68.

A $7,265,203 budget request for the coming fiscal year was submitted to Gov. Romney in November and soon will be passed on to the Legislature with his recommendations.

Funds are being sought to operate a campus for an anticipated enrollment of 4,071 students.

BUILDING PROGRAM

As proposed, the budget would require a $5,666,988 appropriation, with the major portion of the other funds to come from student fees.

Submitted with the operational budget request was a five-year building program calling for a legislative expenditure of $46 million.

Capital outlay proposed for the 1967-68 fiscal year includes $3.3-million for two projects already approved, the Dodge Hall of Engineering and the classroom-office building.

Also being sought in the $11-million capital outlay package for 1967-68 are funds to begin a central heating plant and service facilities, a building for the School of Education and social sciences and a library addition.

Planning funds are requested for a science building and another classroom-office building.

WATER-WINTER WONDERLAND—Freezing temperatures have made an ice rink out of the artificial lake which was added to the Oakland University campus when Van Wagoner Hall (background) was built last year. Wistful students quickly assigned a "Beer Lake" moniker to the body of water. University officials, who usually find themselves several months behind students in naming campus landmarks, have not yet formally dedicated the lake.

She Makes Founding a University Seem Easy

Founding a university sounds so simple as Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson tells, it that one wonders why everyone doesn't do it.

A look at Meadow Brook Hall, in which Mrs. Wilson makes her home, gives the answer.

The Tudor-style mansion stands as a magnificent statement of the wealth necessary for such generosity.

Part of the Wilsons' $10-million gift to Michigan State University, the massive structure shares a 1,600-acre estate with the young Oakland University campus.

Looking at the hall and the huge farm surrounding it in the 50's, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson began to think of the future.

DISPOSITION
"We were considering what disposition would be made of it," Mrs. Wilson said recently in a rare interview. "We wanted to decide rather than leave the decision to someone else."

"Various ideas had been presented but none of them appealed to us."

J. Robert F. Swanson, Bloomfield Hills architect who was then chairman of the Oakland County Planning Commission, approached the Wilsons, in 1956 with an idea that captured their interest.

mission had identified the need for an institution of higher learning in the county.

NO SCHOOL
"At that time there was no school of higher education in either Oakland or Macomb County," Mrs. Wilson recalls.

Mrs. Wilson, an MSU trustee emerita, and her husband sought the counsel of MSU President Dr. John A. Hannah.

"We wondered whether this was the thing to do, whether the community was ready for a college or university," she said.

Before the establishment of OU, Mrs. Wilson supervised the operation of the huge Meadow Brook Farm while participating in civic, political, industrial and social activities.

She served as Michigan's lieutenant governor from Nov. 19 to Dec. 31, 1940.

ORGANIZATIONS

Mrs. Wilson still finds time to devote to a multitude of organizations, among them the Salvation Army, First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and the Village Women's Club of Bloomfield Hills.

She is modest concerning her own role at OU.

The answer was an emphatic "yes."

Mrs. Wilson, who earlier had toyed with the idea that the estate should become an MSU-operated arboretum, has found the growth of the university to be "extremely satisfying and thrilling."

'FIRST LADY'
The university's 83-year-old "first lady" has been twice widowed. Her first husband, John F. Dodge, was one of the two brothers who started the Dodge Automobile Company.

She and Mr. Wilson had been married 36 years at the time of his death in 1962.

Before the establishment of OU, Mrs. Wilson supervised the operation of the huge Meadow Brook Farm while participating in civic, political, industrial and social activities.

ORGANIZATIONS

Mrs. Wilson still finds time to devote to a multitude of organizations, among them the Salvation Army, First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association and the Village Women's Club of Bloomfield Hills.

She is modest concerning her own role at OU.

"I don't begin to spend the time the volunteer women or committee members give to it," she said.

And yet, to the delight of students and faculty, she frequently is seen at university functions — as either an honored guest or "one of the crowd."

TWO GENERATIONS

Her relationship with the young people attending OU is a unique meeting of two generations.

To say the students are fond of her is an understatement.

Their attitude is best reflected in the annual student-organized celebration of her birthday, which consumes a weekend near Oct. 19 and is the height of social life on campus.

"I think they have been most gracious and considerate in many ways," Mrs. Wilson said. "I enjoy being with younger people — and with the older people who are there, too."

SEES AND HEARS

She frequently sees and hears from alumni, including several who are now living in foreign countries.

"I feel very fortunate to see it while I'm still here — the growth of the university and how the students are being accepted in industry and education," she said.

Referring to OU's chancellor, she commented, "They selected a very good man when they selected Mr. Varner for this position."

"This anniversary belongs to Chancellor Varner and those who are associated with him in this endeavor, and to the pioneer students. This is their success."

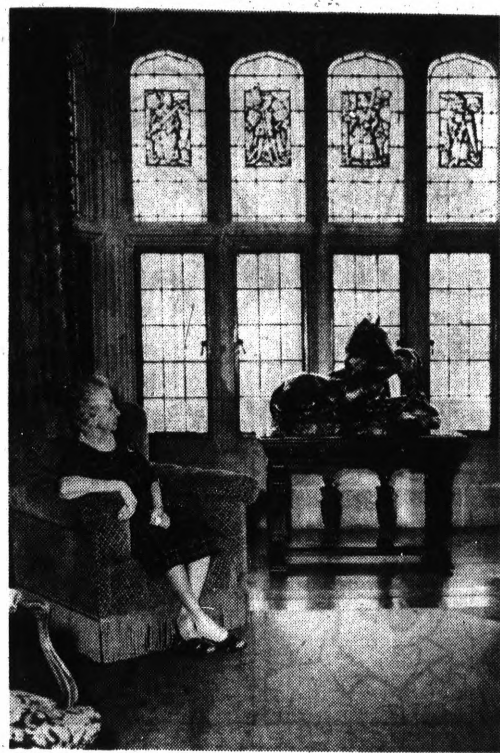

Reviewing the last 10 years, she commented that "it would have been difficult for Mr. Wilson and I to envision what might take place here or what has taken place."

Community response to the Wilsons' gift came as a "marvelous surprise."

"I couldn't say enough about what has been done with it after they received it," she said. Proud of OU's educational achievements, Mrs. Wilson also is pleased with the development of the Meadow Brook Music Festival and now with the Meadow Brook Theatre.

A gratifying experience for Mrs. Wilson is attending the concerts in the Baldwin Pavilion just over a hill from Meadow Brook Hall, "where I can see a group of people just enjoying the place."

"...extremely satisfying..."

'FIRST LADY' AT HOME—Sitting before a glass window in the Tudor-style mansion which is her home, Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson reflects on the gift she and her husband made 10 years ago today. They announced they would give their 1,400-acre Meadow Brook estate and $2 million to found a university.

OU Offers Rare Chance to Ambitious Educators

The potential of a new university extends a promise to ambitious young educators, offering them an opportunity that is rare in the academic world. Has Oakland University kept its promise to those who are helping to shape it?

Chancellor Durward B. Varner believes it has.

"We have moved clearly and consistently toward the objective of providing a first-class educational program," he said.

He is proud of the fact that 16 of the 30 original administrators and faculty members have stuck with OU during its formative years.

REQUIREMENTS TREMENDOUS

"We have not had as much genuine innovation as I had anticipated. But we have a good deal and we're getting more now," he said.

"There is a very good reason for this kind of development. The energy requirements for launching a new institution are tremendous."

"You try to do a good job today and prepare for a pretty exciting future. Innovation requires free time — and we've had none."

Varner noted that the "spirit of adventure" has not diminished at the university.

It was this spirit that attracted countless inquiries when the news broke that OU was seeking faculty members for its first year of operation in 1959.

"The faculty was very carefully selected. I did almost all of this personally," Varner said.

He contacted major graduate schools in the country and built up a file of promising young educators.

"We wanted bright young people with the ability to build a university — those with intellectual horsepower, not just bright people with their heads full of ideas."

"We sought those who wanted to put their fingerprints on a new and emerging educational enterprise."

The faculty is considered the key to OU's growing reputation as an outstanding educational institution.

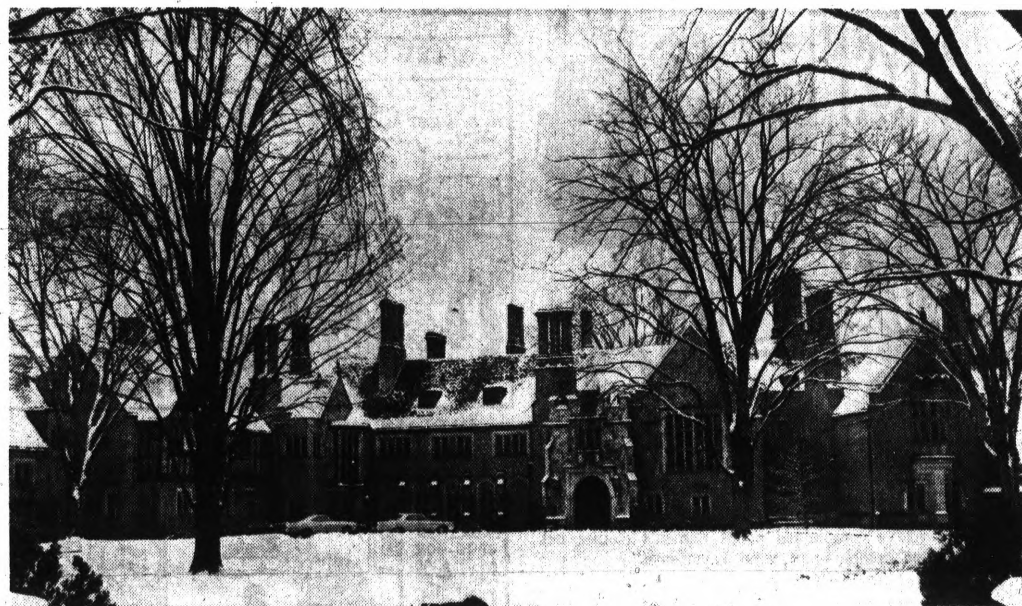

Of the present 175, three-fourths have earned doctoral degrees — a percentage which OU officials believe may be the highest of any public university.

On the faculty are 18 who hold Phi Beta Kappa keys. Twenty-four have won postdoctoral fellowships, including 15 Fulbright and three Woodrow Wilson scholars.

The average age of the faculty members is in the mid-30s.

Among them, they have published 22 books during their OU tenure. Another 30 books are in preparation and more than 100 faculty research projects are in process.

Yet the emphasis is on their relationship to students — on conferring as often as possible on a one-to-one basis.

MAJESTIC MEADOW BROOK—The massive structure built in the late 1920s as a country home for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson is part of the estate the couple gave to create an institution of higher education in Oakland County. It stands as an eloquent symbol of their generosity. Architect William E. Kapp recalled later that he "nearly fell over" when Mrs. Wilson told him about the kind of home she wanted. He knew there was nothing like it in the United States, he said. No monetary limit ever was placed on the building of Meadow Brook Hall, under construction for three years.

'Rah-Rah' Absence Not Mourned at OU

Yell no "rah-rah's" for Oakland University.

Still that cheer — for it falls flatly on OU ears.

You will look in vain for collegiate traditions on the young campus and they are mourned not.

"The culture here is not a collegiate culture," Assistant Provost Frederick Obeir said.

without apology. "Our students are not rah-rah."

Look at them. They have no school song. No Kissing Rock. No mascot. And they have stoutly refused to organize a student government.

LAKE IS CALM

"They do not throw someone into the lake on May 10 just because it's May 10," Obeir commented.

Almost without exception, OU is tradition-free.

There are several factors which could account for this attitude.

For the last couple of decades, traditions have been dying on campuses throughout the United States.

DOORS OPENED

Opening its doors to students just eight years ago, OU had no traditions to kill.

There also has been a shift in emphasis in the aspirations of students.

Rather than being an extension of their childhood, college to these modern young people serves specifically as a training ground for the professions they will enter.

They are preoccupied with their vocational goals and under academic pressure.

COLLEGE ENTRANTS

In a sense, teen-agers entering college today are older than their parents were at the same age.

They also are more socially aware — more concerned with the world's problems, Obeir maintained.

"This attitude almost tends to solemnity," he ventured. "There is not very much rah-rah hilarity."

The trend away from the collegiate traditions began in this country when GIs returned to campuses after World War II.

Remarkably on this, Obeir noted the average age of OU faculty members is in the mid-30s and that they received their college educations in the post-war era.

Oakland University does have one tradition and a couple of other events that have potential.

These were outlined by Mrs. Norman E. McNeil, a secretary in the dean of students office, who has been at OU since it opened.

BIG EVENT

The weekend-long celebration of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson's birthday is "The big event" on campus each year, Mrs. McNeil commented.

It started in 1962 when students organized a surprise luncheon to honor the university's first lady on her Oct. 19 birthday.

The celebration now has been expanded to include a concert or play, usually a building groundbreaking or dedication and a formal dance.

There also is a Snow Carnival in February, Mrs. McNeil said.

UP THE LADDER

Miss Oakland University is selected at this time and, for the last two years, has gone on to the Miss Michigan contest.

The carnival includes a snow sculpture contest.

"Traditionally, there's no snow."

With no football games, OU has no homecoming.

But, in 1964 and 1965, alumni reunions were held during the summer Meadow Brook Music Festival.

"I don't know what happened last summer," Obeir said.

JOURNALISTIC

"We labored for five years to get a yearbook out," he said. "Then it was more of a journalistic undertaking than a conventional yearbook."

While OU students don't get excited about rah-rah stuff, they do get enthused when the need arises.

Give them a Vietnam village to collect food and supplies for — or an appropriation bill to back — and they'll give you a campus full of gung-ho students.

"But it's got to have meaning," Obeir said. "Ask them to serve on a committee for a lecture-concert series and you're much more apt to get support than when you ask them to decorate a hall for a dance."

MSU President Gratified by Growth in First Decade

The following remarks are by Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University:

"To look back over the 10 years since the establishment of Oakland University is a gratifying experience for anyone who had anything to do with bringing this unique institution into being."

"We laid what we considered then to be bold and ambitious plans, but now we see that we were much less daring than we believed, for achievements have far exceeded those early expectations."

"For example, community support has been much greater and sustained than was anticipated, and that support has made possible the resounding success of the annual Meadow Brook Music Festival, a cultural achievement not even anticipated 10 years ago."

"This has now been buttressed by the establishment of the resident theater company, which seems destined to have a comparable cultural influence on the community, the state and the Middle West."

PHYSICAL PLANT

"The physical plant has been developed within the decade far beyond original expectations, thanks to the generous support of the state, philanthropic foundations and public-spirited private citizens."

"Buildings do not make a university, but good universities must have good facilities, and those at Oakland rank with the best."

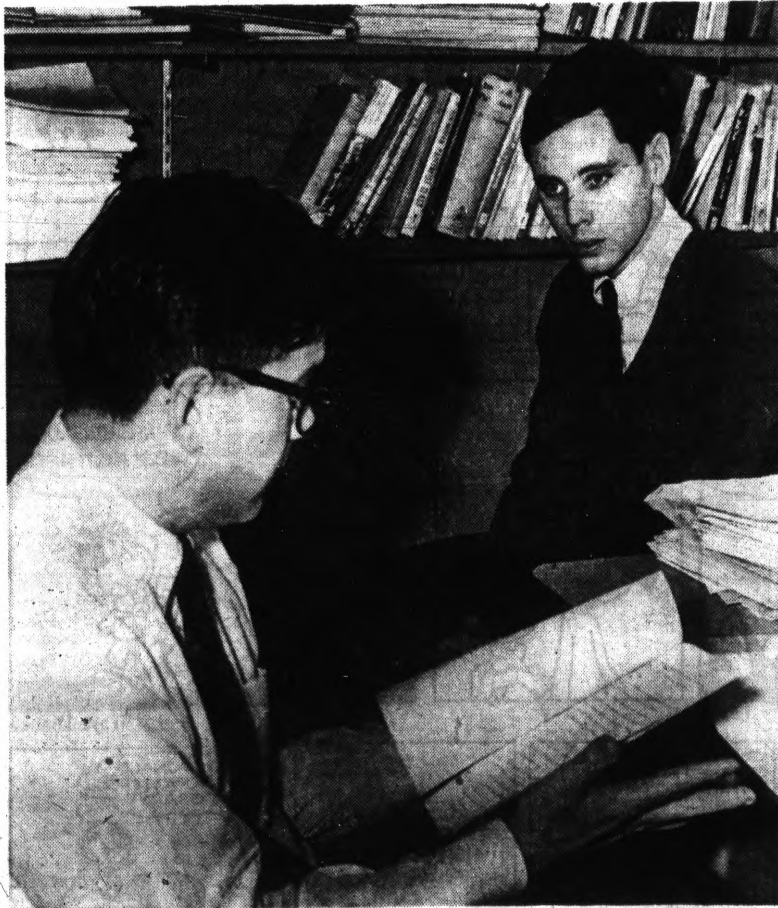

"The educational philosophy, developed after painstaking thought and extensive consultation, has proved to be viable and well-suited to the needs of both students and society."

"The strong undergraduate program is proving to be an adequate foundation for a modest program of graduate studies, and research."

"Oakland University has succeeded in developing an individuality and prestige of its own while enjoying the benefits of its affiliation with Michigan State University, and this, too, must be counted as a remarkable achievement."

"Oakland was fortunate in its relationship to Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and her late husband."

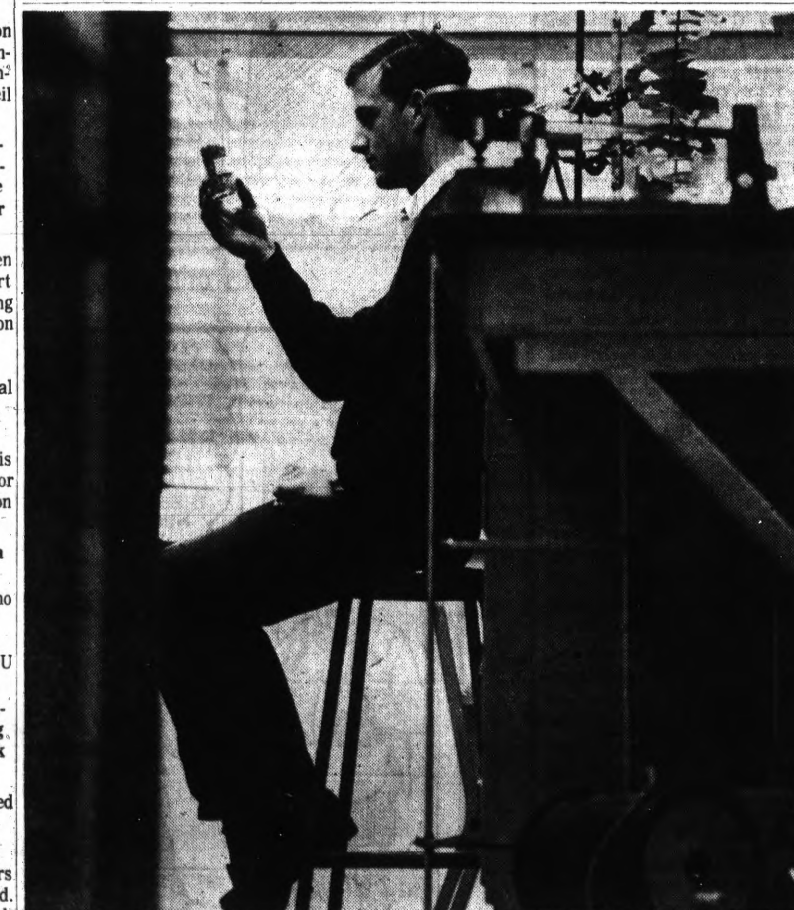

"It was fortunate in that those who were selected to provide leadership in the early years, when men of vision, courage, and a great deal of energy, the very qualities a new educational venture demands if it is to succeed."

age in the mid-30s, has been characterized by a genuine interest in students and willingness to spend time with them on a one-to-one basis. The faculty has grown from 22 in 1959 to 175 this year.

PENSIVE STUDENT — An opportunity to meditate without interruption is provided in a chemistry professor's office-laboratory to Detroit sophomore James A. Limberg, one of 3,140 Oakland University students. The university's Science Building soon will be Today's West has been a great bridge player for more than 35 years. As a young man everyone thought that he would become one of the two or three greatest in the world.

JACOBY

He had only one weakness—carelessness. Everyone makes an occasional careless error. He made lots of them. People thought that he would outgrow this habit but he never has.

He doubled three no-trump happily and he had a good double. True, his partner would probably show up with a bust but West was looking at four potential spade tricks, the ace of clubs, four to the jack in diamonds and the jack and another heart.

Unless declarer could run off eight tricks in the red suits, a sure set was in prospect.

West opened the queen of spades, South won with dummy's king and promptly knocked out West's ace of clubs. West cashed his ace and jack of spades but that was as far as he could go with the suit and South made his contract with an overtrick.

"Tough luck, partner," said East.

"Sorry, partner!" replied West. "I made a careless opening lead. Had I opened the ace of spades we would have shown a profit instead of a big loss."

West really had made a careless lead. Every book on play from the year 1 to date lists the queen as the proper lead from ace-queen-jack against no-trump but this was one time to disregard the books.

West knew that his partner would never get in the lead. Therefore West should have continued with a low spade and cashed three more spade tricks when he got in with the ace of clubs.

Studebaker Kin Reports Theft

CHICAGO (AP)—A member of the Studebaker family has reported to police the theft of a pearl necklace she valued at $42,000.

Mrs. Lillian Studebaker, 64, of South Bend, Ind., widow of J. M. Studebaker III told police Monday that two pieces of her luggage were stolen in the Union Station as she changed trains. She said the necklace, purchased in Paris for $42,000 in 1935, was inside one of the bags.

She said the bag also contained two diamond rings worth a total of $3,000.

Police quoted her as saying she had left her luggage with a redcap, stepped away for several minutes, and returned to find the redcap and two of the bags missing.

Studebaker, a diversified industrial company, several years ago stopped producing passenger automobiles.

Vietnam War Is Forging New Role for Reservists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The armed forces performed something of a manpower miracle in going to war in Vietnam without calling up the military reserves. As a result, a new view of the Reservists' role is emerging in high Pentagon quarters.

Despite the strains and weaknesses that occurred in some areas, the armed forces have expanded by 650,000 men in less than 18 months and increased the number of U.S. troops in Vietnam by 290,000.

Top military strength now is 3.3 million men with about 100,000 more to be added. There are 370,000 men in Vietnam now with 400,000 level to be reached soon.

Having achieved all this without getting into a manpower troubles elsewhere in the world, officials are developing new ideas about the future role of the Reserves, particularly the Army National Guard and the Army Reserve.

"Before Vietnam," says Major Gen. Thomas A. Kenan, "the active Army depended to a considerable extent on the Reserves."

for units to provide sustaining combat support for some of its divisions."

SUPPORT NEEDS

Kenan, the Army's deputy chief for Reserve forces, says the Army in the future will more likely provide within its active strength all the units it needs for supporting and deploying its combat forces.

That would mean less dependence on the reserves to flesh-out active Army units in limited wars.

Instead, the reserves would constitute a self-contained force, like the new 150,000-man selected Reserve force, ready to be called up in strength to expand the nation's total military power if contingencies require.

This approach has considerable support from high civilian officials.

DISRUPTIVE EFFECT

Mobilizing Reserves has a disruptive, unsettling effect on family and community life and, as Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson told Congress, "can send shivers through the world when a power like America does it."

Despite all this, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, faced in mid-1965 with a mighty buildup halfway around the earth, wanted to mobilize some Reserves.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara possibly felt the same way, although this remains unclarified.

But President Johnson decided the buildup would be accomplished through the regular forces, with expanded draft calls, corresponding increases in voluntary enlistments and a broadened training establishment.

TURBULENT PERIOD

This meant the military forces rather than the civilian economy would go through a turbulent period as they simultaneously expanded and fought.

It meant most particularly that several Army divisions in the United States would have to do training, vastly reducing their combat readiness.

The risk and the capabilities of all potential enemies for making trouble were carefully assessed. It was decided to go ahead.

The military forces are now well over the hump in their expansion and the Army has been able to cut the draft and expand the training of young Reservists who have not yet completed their required minimum of four months on active duty.

DOMESTIC FACTORS

The administration has balanced such domestic factors as the effect of further military buildup on the national economy with the military situation in Vietnam and has concluded a leveling off is now in order.

In a nutshell, this means there is almost no prospect that Vietnam will require Reservists.

The Reserves remain a ready asset, however, if other emergencies develop.

The President's way of handling the buildup was a source of friction with Congress throughout the last session.

2 LINES OF ATTACK

There were two main lines of attack. Failure to call Reserves to duty-weakened active units that had to turn to training new men. The Reservists became a draft-exempt haven because young men chose to enlist in programs Congress itself had authorized and financed.

POVERTY WITH ENGLISH ACCENT — Mrs. T. and her five children live in this one room in the Notting-Hill section of London. She pays $14 a week for the room, which is a kitchen, living room, bedroom and toilet, combined. The Rev. Bruce Kenrick, a Scottish Presbyterian minister, has organized a nationwide campaign called "Shelter" to improve living conditions for the poor of England.

Britain's Hidden Homeless: New National Emergency

LONDON (AP) — By the standards of Charles Dickens' day, Britain today is an affluent society where the combination of private enterprise and the welfare state provide for most needs. Yet three million families live in slums, near-slums or grossly overcrowded conditions.

Social workers call them the hidden homeless — families crowded into single rooms, in damp basements, often sharing a toilet and cold-water faucet with up to 20 other people, threatened by imminent family breakup because of the tensions under which they live, but still paying high rents.

These families have a roof, however leaky. Their children are not barefoot or in rags as the poor were a few decades ago. They are not underfed, though dieticians say they are often undernourished.

A dedicated group, headed by a Scottish Presbyterian minister and his Boston-born wife, has decided the plight of the hidden homeless adds up to a national emergency. Three million families, they point out, mean at least 10 million people. All political parties agree it will take at least 10 years to meet their needs if existing slum clearance programs are fulfilled. By that time, with normal population increase, there will be more seeking aid.

The Rev. Bruce Kenrick, at 46, knows what living in slum conditions is like. A wartime paratrooper officer, he is a graduate of Edinburgh University and Princeton Theological Seminary. While in America he married Isabel Howland Witty of Cambridge, Mass., and together they worked weekends in an East Harlem, N.Y., Protestant parish in what he calls "the muck and dirt of God's world."

The result was a book, "Come Out of the Wilderness." After returning to be ordained in the Church of Scotland, he went to work in India but was brought home with typhoid. When he recovered, the Kenricks cast around for a place where they could be useful. They picked the drab West London section of Notting Hill, then notorious for race riots. There the Kenricks made a home.

"I didn't ask permission from the church to go there," the Rev. Mr. Kenrick says. "If I had, it might have taken five years to get it. So we just went."

He says he wants to find new ways of making Christianity visible.

"DON'T CARE"

"There are millions of people who don't give two hoots for the organized church and I can well understand that," he says. "But nevertheless they want a way to express their Christian convictions."

He started his Notting Hill housing trust on a shoestring but within a year it had $140,000 gifts and raised five times that in loans and grants from authorities. Today it owns 54 houses and has rehoused 800 people.

The minister and his growing family — they now have four children — live on a grant from the Gulbenkian Foundation, supplemented by his earnings from writing and teaching. But Notting Hill was too small to contain people like the Kenricks for long.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

This month he announced a national campaign for the homeless to be called Shelter.

"We have to publicize the human need behind the statistics. By pouring large sums of money into a few carefully chosen black spots, we intend to show that dramatic results in terms of relieving human need can be achieved if everybody unites to deal with the emergency," he said.

"We are trying to express the faith in terms of bricks and mortar — in terms of decent homes for people who at this moment are living in appalling conditions."

"In a national emergency, none of us expects the government to meet the crisis on its own. We recognize our responsibility to pitch in and work with the state to help meet the emergency. That's why Shelter is here."

ability to pitch in and work with the state to help meet the emergency. That's why Shelter is here."

FOCAL POINTS

The organization will concentrate in chosen black spots — London, Glasgow, Birmingham and Liverpool.

It has the cooperation of five national housing associations — Christian Action, the Catholic Housing Aid Society, Housing the Homeless Central Fund, the British Churches Housing Trust and the Housing Societies Charitable Trust. Seven local housing associations are also helping.

Shelter claims that each dollar it receives will do the work of six when multiplied by local government loans and improvement grants. Its target of $2.8 million could mean nearly $17 million worth of housing each year.

Asked how he found English slum conditions after those in America, the Rev. Mr. Kenrick said:

"Housing conditions in Harlem are worse on the surface, but behind the front doors it's just about the same in Notting Hill. But there is the same wonderful gaiety among the people, which so often covers the tragedy lying underneath."

"There is very much the same poverty and prejudice. There is not yet the same narcotics problem here, but I'm afraid it's on the way in."

"There is a very big prostitution problem, which stems in part from the bad housing situation. Where you have whole families herded in a single room, some girls want a room of their own more than anything else in the world."

Chicago Gangland Days to Be Revived in Rome

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP) — Italian movie makers are going to revive the gangland days of Chicago's Little Caesar right here in the hometown of ancient Rome's big Caesar.

And it should shock some of the prohibition-day old-timers who thought they were tough.

The movie makers say their Italian-style American gangster films will exaggerate Chicago just as their Italian-style American cowboy movies exaggerated Yuma and Dodge City by making things rougher and bloodier than they ever really were.

The idea came from Luciano Vincenzoni, whose scripts for some of the made-in-Italy Western which made American six-gun classics seem like nursery tales.

LOVED BY AUDIENCES

The Italian hits had the bloodiest fist fights and the most wholesale shootings ever shown on an Italian screen, and audiences loved it.

Vincenzoni said producers were eager about his plan to apply the same treatment to speakeasy Chicago and he had the first three gang glorifiers under way.

Vincenzoni pointed out that filming should be easier than for the Italian cowboy movies. Film companies had to hunt all over Italy for the right kind of deserts and wild prairie country

Glass Fiber Used for Ships' Hulls

By Science Service

SOUTHAMPTON, England—Glass-fiber hulls, hitherto confined to small boats, can now be extended to ships of 1,000 tons and more than 200 feet long.

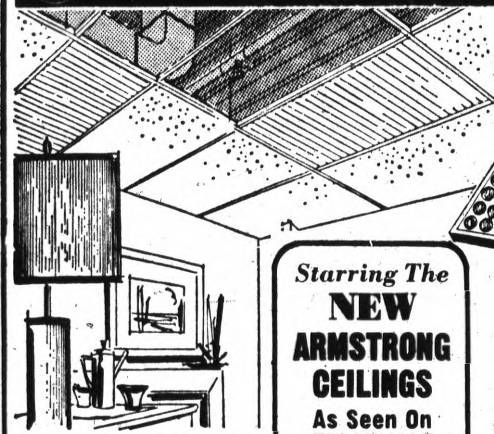

The technique has been developed jointly by Bristol Aeroplane Plastics and John I. Thornycroft, the Southampton shipbuilders. W. R. Farnes, managing director of Bristol Aeroplane Plastics, said the material, which is known as a watertight cellular sandwich, results in a 50 per cent saving in weight compared with conventional hulls, combined with high strength and freedom from corrosion.

A quality product at a low price, that's a bargain...
that's our A&P Brands.

More than a century ago we decided our own brands would be our finest values.
They are...and we're proud of it.
So proud...so sure,
we unconditionally guarantee your full satisfaction.

Are A&P Brands a good reason for shopping A&P?
They're one of many.

'Victory Satisfying'—Boilermaker Coach

Purdue Triumphs as USC Fails in Point Gamble

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Purdue and Southern California, the undistinguished throughout the season, remained consistent to the end, playing an undistinguished 60 minutes before 101,455 in the Rose Bowl.

Purdue won, 14-13 but USC provided the dramatic Monday, scoring with 2:28 remaining and going for a two-point conversion, only to miss and lose the gamble.

Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf, whose Boilermakers were making their first start in the Rose Bowl, said: "This was my most satisfying victory."

But at the same time, Mollenkopf conceded: "We have moved the ball better."

Purdue, with star quarterback Bob Griese failing to baffle the rugged USC defense, compiled only 244 yards in total offense. Griese hit for 10 of 18 passes and 139 yards, but four completions came on a first-quarter drive stopped on the USC five-yard line.

TWO MARCHES

Griese later directed Purdue touchdown marches of 57 and 37 yards, and fullback Perry Williams plunged across from the one and two yard lines.

Said Griese: "It was a great win, a great thing for the team, but I don't think I played a particularly good game."

Purdue came to Pasadena with an 8-2 record, including losses to the two outstanding teams it faced — Notre Dame and Michigan State.

Michigan State dominated an abnormally weak Big Ten, but the Spartans were here a year ago and Big Ten teams are ineligible to repeat in the Rose Bowl.

Southern California lost three of its last four regular season games, climaxing the year with a 51-0 humiliation by Notre Dame. The Trojans' 14-7 loss to UCLA cast a shadow on their bid, granted because USC had one more Pacific-8 Conference win than the Bruins.

USC scored on halfback Don McCall's one-yard run and quarterback Troy Winslow's 19-yard pass to flanker Rod Sherman in the final minutes.

Said USC Coach John McKay: "I told my team I was proud of them. I think we played about as well as we can play."

But McKay conceded: "I can't say I'm satisfied. We were playing to win."

With Purdue's margin 14-13, McKay called a pass for the deciding two-point attempt. Winslow rolled to his right and threw toward halfback Jim Lawrence in the end zone. But Purdue back George Catavolos cut in front of the receiver and picked off the crucial throw.

McKay has no second thoughts: "I talked to the kids for three or four weeks about beating Purdue. I couldn't make a decision not to try when the time came."

Mollenkopf added a final note of agreement: "Johnny McKay had to go for it. I'd have done the same thing. There's no choice."

Alabama, Florida Impressive Victors

Crimson Tide Rips Nebraska in Sugar Bowl

Cornhuskers, Again, Unable to Contain End Ray Perkins

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Nebraska is going to have nightmares for a long time about Alabama's All-American end Ray Perkins.

The superb Alabama athlete — Bear Bryant calls him a "superstar" — spoiled not one but two bowl trips for coach Bob Devaney and his Cornhuskers.

Perkins' last game as an amateur came Monday in the 33rd Sugar Bowl Classic. Bryant's tiny Crimson Tide, outweighed 25-35 pounds per man, uncorked an awesome offense and a devastating defense to crush Nebraska 34-7.

Only twice in his 10 years as a college coach did teams ever score more points on a Devaney club.

A year ago, in Miami's Orange Bowl, the 6-1, 188-pound Perkins snared nine passes for 195 yards as Alabama whipped Nebraska 39-28. Devaney and his Big Red wanted revenge in the Sugar Bowl match this year.

"Perkins hurt us more than anyone else," said Devaney after the crushing defeat.

LONG PASS

On 'Bama's first play after receiving the kickoff, Perkins hauled in an aerial from Kenny (Snake) Stabler that covered 45 yards. It put the third-ranked Red Elephants on the Nebraska 27 and seven plays later Alabama had its first touchdown.

"We felt like we wanted to test them deep right away," said Stabler, a left handed junior quarterback. "So I sent Ray down the left side on what we call a go route."

"He just ran under control for about 10 yards, faked inside and took off. I just laid the ball up there."

Devaney said it was no surprise because he had warned his players to expect the bomb on the first play and had 6-foot-1 Kay Carstens, a 190-pounder, covering Perkins man-for-man.

"Castens is our fastest defensive back," said Devaney. "He let Perkins get a step on him and Stabler happened to throw a perfect pass."

At the awards dinner several hours later, Carl Selmer, a Devaney assistant, had this to say when offered condolences on the it was a tough game to lose theme:

"Tough hell. It was easy to lose that one. They beat us on the first play and there was nothing we could do. I don't like to say it, but we were whipped from the very start."

SIGNED PACT

After the Sugar Bowl Perkins — told once by doctors he would never play again after a head injury as a freshman — signed a contract to play with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

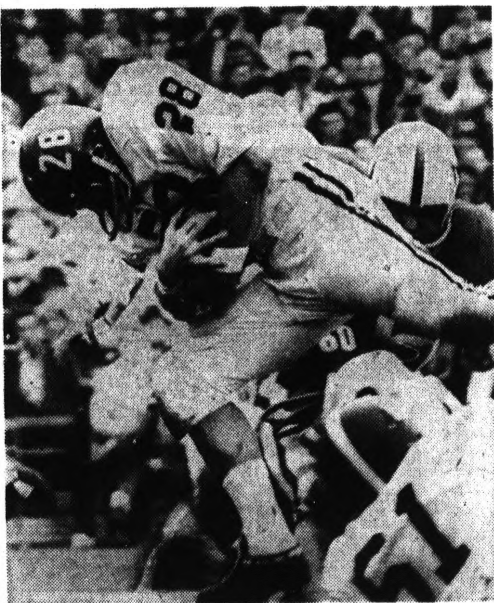

Perkins, redshirted his sophomore year because of the head injury, was drafted by the Colts and the American League Boston Red Sox.

RUNNING ON AIR — Alabama's Frank Centerbury (28) appears to be running in midair as he dives over the Nebraska line for an early lead in the Sugar Bowl game yesterday in New Orleans. Alabama's Byrd Williams (61) is in the foreground. Alabama led 24-0 at halftime and won 34-7.

League Play Begins

Big 10 Tuneups End

CHICAGO (AP) — In a reassessment of the Big Ten basketball title struggle, which opens in full force Saturday, coach Ralph Miller's well-balanced Iowa Hawkeyes must rank high on the list of contenders.

With victories over a pair of strong Missouri Valley Conference foes—Wichita and Cincinnati — last week, Iowa has emerged from the tune-up schedule with a 7-2 record, tops in the Big Ten.

Marks of 6-2 are held by Illinois, Purdue and Ohio State. Two heavy pre-season choices, Michigan State and Northwestern, slipped to 5-3 and 4-4, respectively.

In all, Big Ten teams have compiled a 52-30 record against outside opposition. They had a 10-12 showing in tournaments last week that involved eight conference clubs.

THIRD PLACE

Illinois, winner of three of four, starts since three key men were suspended in the university's athletic aid scandal, captured third place in the UCLA-dominated Los Angeles meet. Indiana took third at Portland. These were the best tourney showings for the Big Ten.

Among those taking the biggest lumps were MSU, dumped by Villanova and Bowling Green.

Coaching Aide Is Selected, at Vanderbilt

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Bobby Proctor, defensive backfield coach at Mississippi State for the past three seasons, was named to the Vanderbilt University football coaching staff Monday.

Bill Pace, who recently came here from Arkansas as head coach, said Proctor, 35, a native of Wynne, Ark., is joining his staff.

Pace said he hopes to complete his coaching staff in a few days.

Other aides named are George Bernhardt, who came here from the University of Kansas where he was an assistant, and Vandy holdovers Bob Patterson, Bob Cope and Don Riley.

in the Quaker City tourney, and Northwestern in the New York Festival. The Wildcats defeated St. John's 62-60 then lost to Providence and Rhode Island.

The conference title chase officially started two weeks ago with Illinois downing Wisconsin 87-74. It hits full stride Saturday. In afternoon games, Michigan State (5-2 over-all) is at Illinois (6-2), Northwestern (4-4) at Michigan (6-4), Wisconsin (4-5) at Purdue (6-2) and Ohio State (6-2) at Minnesota (4-5) on television.

Black Hawks Continue NHL 1-2 Scoring Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers, who share first place in the National Hockey League, also dominate the individual scoring race as the NHL season near its midway mark.

Linemates Stan Mikita and Ken Wharram of Chicago continue to run 1-2 in the scoring derby, according to weekly NHL figures released today, while a quartet of Rangers — Rod Gilbert, Phil Goyette, Don Marshall and Bernie Geoffrion — are among the top ten point-makers.

Mikita, who centers the Hawks' explosive Scooter Line, leads the pack with 49 points in 30 games — a pace that could wipe out the record of 97 points set last season by teammate Bobby Hull.

The Czech-born playmaker has 16 goals and a league-leading 33 assists. He set the assist mark of 59 in 1964-65 and appears certain to break it in his remaining 40 games.

Wharram, Mikita's right wing on the Scooter combination, has scored 18 goals and set up 15 for a total of 33 points, two more than Gilbert, Goyette and Montreal's Bobby Rousseau, who share third place.

Gator '11' Wins Big at Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Coach Ray Graves says Florida's football team finally has proven it belongs in the big time, and the Gators have a young halfback who should be able to keep them there for the next couple of years.

The Gators have had only one losing season in seven years under Graves, but they never have won a Southeastern Conference title and until Monday night never had won in a big bowl except at the Gator Bowl.

"A lot of people wondered if Florida was a big enough team for this kind of a bowl game, and I think we showed we are," Graves said after the Gators whipped Georgia Tech 27-12 in the Orange Bowl.

The victory gave Florida an 9-2 record for the season, and although the Gators lose Heisman Trophy winner Steve Spurrier, they have a youngster who may be able to take his place.

SOPH STAR

Halfback Larry Smith led the Gators' past Tech when Spurrier's passing arm faltered, and the 215-pound speedster is only a sophomore.

Smith rushed for a record 187 yards and raced 94 yards for his winning touchdown on the longest run from scrimmage in Orange Bowl history.

"Smith has been a good runner for us all year," Graves said after the victory. "About 15 times he has been within one shoe of going all the way, and this time he finally did it."

"That run couldn't have come at a better time," added Graves, who said that Spurrier had a sore arm and had missed practice because of distractions brought on by his Heisman award.

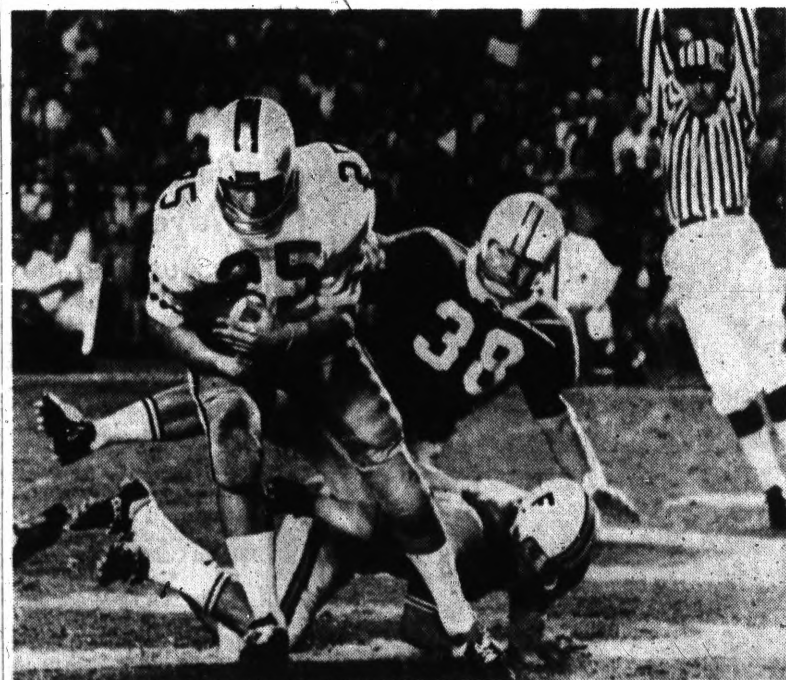

"Steve is still a great ball player, and he put that ball in the end zone for us just before the half when we really needed to get on that scoreboard," Graves said.

SCORING PLUNGE

Trailing 6-0, Spurrier sent the Gators on a 66-yard drive capped by Graham McKeel's one-yard scoring plunge which tied the score, and Wayne Barfield kicked the point to put the Gators in front to stay.

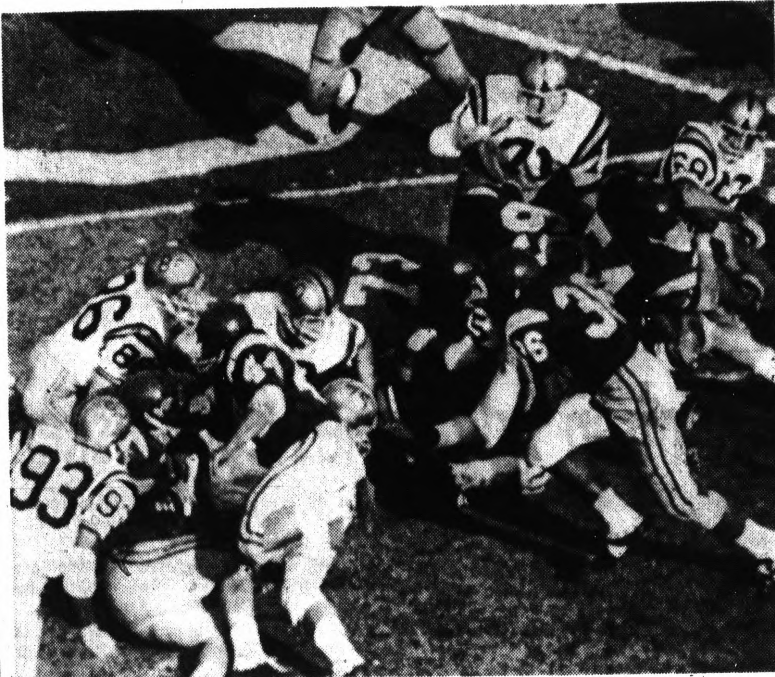

Smith contributed his record touchdown dash in the third quarter.

FIRST SCORE — Georgia Tech scored first in the Orange Bowl when wingback Craig Baynam (25) took a 10-yard pass from Kim King. Florida defender is Harry McCall (38). The Gators however led 7-6 at halftime and won the game in Miami last night, 27-12.

DRIVES FOR TD — Southern Cal's Don McCall (36) digs in to take handoff from quarterback Troy Winslow for a second quarter touchdown in the Rose Bowl against Purdue. The score tied the game at 7-7 but Purdue came back in the second half to lead 14-7 and then win 14-13.

Top-Rated '5s' Hold Positions in AP Poll

By the Associated Press

The top two teams in college basketball — UCLA and Louisville — held onto their positions by winning tournaments while three other teams — Providence, Kansas and Bradley — climbed into the Top Ten by doing the same thing.

The latest Associated Press poll — based on games through Saturday night and announced today — shows Providence in seventh place, Kansas in ninth and Bradley tied for 10th with another addition to the select group Mississippi State.

They replace St. John's, N.Y., and Vanderbilt, which each lost once last week, and Michigan State, which lost twice.

UCLA received 38 of the 39 first-place votes cast by a national panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Bruins extended their record to 8-0 with three victories in the Los Angeles Classic.

THREE WINS

Louisville won three games in the Quaker City tournament for an 11-0 mark while North Carolina, which received the other vote for first, remained third with two non-tournament triumphs for a 9-0 record.

Providence, 8-2, vaulted from nowhere to seventh on the strength of its second consecutive Holiday Festival championship in New York, and Bradley, 9-2, moved into a tie for 10th by capturing the Sugar Bowl title.

Kansas, which was in the Top Ten two weeks ago, climbed back in by increasing its record to 9-2 with three victories in the Big Eight tournament. Mississippi State extended its unbeaten streak to eight with a victory over Georgia Saturday.

Two other members of the Top Ten won tournaments and advanced one spot each. New Mexico, 9-1, moved into fourth place after winning its own Lobo Invitational, and Houston, 11-1, won the Arkansas State tourney and stepped up into fifth.

Texas Western, 8-2, suffered a 59-54 loss to little Southern Illinois in the Sun Carnival and dropped from fourth to sixth while Cincinnati slid from seventh to eighth after losing its first game, after eight victories, to Iowa 78-69.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. UCLA (38) 8-0	339
2. Louisville 11-0	339
3. North Carolina (1) 9-0	309
4. New Mexico 9-1	215
5. Houston 11-1	215
6. Texas Western 8-2	108
7. Providence 8-2	93
8. Cincinnati 8-1	93
9. Kansas 9-2	51
10. Bradley 9-2	44

Mississippi State 9-0

John Haarlow led the amazing accuracy show, hitting on 11 of 13 shots and finishing with 24 points. Joe Heiser added 19 and Chris Thomforde had 17.

Two other members of the Associated Press Top Ten won impressively while another was beaten.

Houston, ranked fifth, walloped Tennessee Tech 95-69 and New Mexico, fourth in the ratings, drubbed Denver 65-43.

Mississippi State, which made its debut in the poll by tying Bradley for No. 10, was beaten by Florida 63-54.

Larry Miller led North Carolina with 31 points but the Tar Heels missed the rebounding strength of 6-foot-11 sophomore Rusty Clark, who played only nine minutes because of intestinal flu.

Elvin Hayes poured in 26 points and grabbed a dozen rebounds, leading Houston to its romp over Tennessee Tech. The Cougars, who won their 10th straight and 12th in 13 starts, led by as many as 33 points and breezed to the victory.

STINGY LOBOS

New Mexico's aggressive defense limited Denver to 17 points in the second half and the Lobos ran their record to 10-1. Ben Monroe led the winners with 18 points and Mel Daniels added 16.

Ivy League Quintet Wins, 91-81

By the Associated Press

The fastest guns in the East belong to Princeton and Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff has them firing on target.

The Tigers shot an amazing 65.5 per cent Monday night and knocked off third-ranked North Carolina 91-81 at Chapel Hill.

"This is a better team than the one Bill Bradley led to the NCAA finals two years ago," said Van Breda Kolff. "We have better balance than that team. Our kids like to shoot. They can shoot with anybody."

Princeton showed it could do that against the Tar Heels, who had won nine straight without a loss. The Tigers canned 35 of 55 shots from the floor and even North Carolina's 50 per cent average wasn't enough to keep up.

John Haarlow led the amazing accuracy show, hitting on 11 of 13 shots and finishing with 24 points. Joe Heiser added 19 and Chris Thomforde had 17.

The slender Stabler nosed out Perkins for the most valuable player award. Stabler accounted for 218 yards passing, completing 12 of 18 tosses, and was also the game's top rusher with 38 yards.

Bryant let senior Wayne Trimble, his reserve signal-caller, play much of the game. "I thought it was my best game," said Stabler. "I think we could have beaten Notre Dame today."

Alabama wound up the regular season as the nation's only major college eleven with an unbeaten, untied record. But the Tide was denied its third consecutive national championship in The Associated Press poll.

Alabama finished third behind Notre Dame No. 1, and Michigan State, No. 2, the teams that played a 10-10 tie.

Goalie Stops Flag Barrage

By the Associated Press
The Des Moines Oak Leafs had a share of second place in the International Hockey League today and Russ Gillow was the man of the hour.

The Port Huron Flags, with six men up in the final minute, loosed a 17-shot barrage at Gillow Monday night. But the goalie withstood it to give the Leafs a 4-3 victory over Port Huron.

The triumph gave Des Moines 37 points and a tie with Port Huron and Toledo for second place. Idle Dayton leads the league with 43 points.

The Columbus Checkers won their second straight after a six-game losing streak, defeating Muskegon 4-2 in the only other IHL action.

At Columbus, sixteen penalties were called as the last place Checkers edged to within four points of the sixth place Mohawks.

Fighter on 'Leave' Is Arrested Again

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — V. P. Piyadasa, a featherweight boxer who was paroled from prison so he could represent Ceylon in the recent Asian Games on Bangkok, is in trouble again.

Piyadasa was arrested with two others Monday on a charge of holding up taxis and assaulting the drivers and passengers in a robbery spree Sunday.

Police said the boxer had taken over one of Colombo's busiest intersections. They said a policeman who tried to stop his activities was assaulted.

peeked through the overcast for a few minutes.

"We prayed for rain," said Devaney. "We should have prayed for a driving rain."

Not to be overlooked was the defensive play of Bobby Johns, a 6-1 175-pound junior defensive back. He intercepted three passes to equal the record by Mississippi's Raymond Brown in the 1958 Sugar Bowl.

Georgia Tech, which scored in the first quarter on a surge capped by Kim King's 10-yard scoring toss to Craig Baynham, cut the gap in the fourth quarter when reserve quarterback Larry Good scooted 25 yards for the last Tech touchdown.

Graves and Tech Coach Bobby Dodd both praised the Gators' defenses, which picked off four passes.

"Our defense played a great game," Graves said. "The pass rush was tremendous, and the secondary play was the best we have had in a long time."

KANSAS CITY (AP)

Twelve astronauts, including Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., the nation's first spaceman, will receive special commemorative plaques from the NCAA Jan. 10 at Houston at the NCAA's 61st convention.

The plaques will be presented at the NCAA's convention luncheon, at which former President and General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower will receive the first annual Theodore Roosevelt award, the NCAA's highest individual honor.

The plaques recognize the college athletic achievements of the awardees, in line with NCAA policy to honor special groups of individuals. Eight of the 12 astronauts are graduates of the service academies.

Others to be honored in addition to Shepard, a crew athlete at Navy, are Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., Army, track; Capt. William A. Anders, Navy, soccer; Dr. Edward G. Gibson, Rochester, N.Y., football and track.

LCDR Joseph P. Kerwin, Holy Cross, swimming; Dr. Harrison H. Schmitt, California Tech, golf; Maj. David R. Scott, Army, swimming; Lt. Col. Edward G. White II, Army, soccer and track.

Maj. Edward G. Givens Jr., Navy, lacrosse; Capt. Jack R. Lousma, Michigan, football; John L. Swigert Jr., Colorado, football, and Capt. Alfred M. Worden, Army, gymnastics.

Brazil's Net Team Defeats Filipinos

MANILA (AP) — Brazil's Davis Cup tennis team split the last two matches Monday for a 4-1 victory over the Philippines in a Davis Cup-style competition.

Eddie Cruz, 19-year-old Filipino, scored his country's only victory by upsetting Brazil's ace, Thomas Koch, 5-7, 8-6, 7-5. Jose Mandarino of Brazil beat Raymundo Deyro, 6-1, 7-5, 6-0.

All matches were for three complete sets regardless of the outcome of the first two sets.

Giddy Chiefs Face Return to Practice

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs were beginning to come down out of the clouds today, but still were savoring the way they grabbed the American Football League championship.

"We'll meet this afternoon to look over the Buffalo game film," said Coach Hank Stram.

A study of that 31-7 victory for the title is necessary because the Chiefs must shape up for the Super Bowl against Green Bay Jan. 15.

There were some mistakes in the Buffalo game, and Stram said at the time the errors would wait a while with the score 31-7.

The waiting period is over. The Chiefs can't afford mistakes against the Packers.

WON'T DELAY

The Packers plan to start workouts Thursday and wait until Monday to go to the West Coast.

The Chiefs won't dally that long.

"We'll leave for Long Beach Wednesday morning and work out Wednesday afternoon at Veterans Field," Stram said. "I've talked to George Allen (Los Angeles Rams' coach) and he says the facilities there are fine."

The Chiefs will live at the Edgewater Inn.

When told that oddsmakers had established the Chiefs as eight-pointed underdogs in the big money game, Stram brushed it off.

"I have no particular interest in such things," he said. He said he had talked to Coach Vince Lombardi of the Packers.

"We agreed to exchange three films," Stram said. "We had our choice of the ones we wanted."

SPECIAL REASON

Stram chose Green Bay's games against Cleveland, Minnesota and the championship battle against Dallas. He said he had a special reason for the selections, but wouldn't reveal it.

Lombardi picked films of the Chiefs' games with New York, San Diego and the championship tilt in Buffalo.

The Chiefs are all in good shape except Fred Arbanas, all-league tight end, and Denny Bledowski, relief guard.

X rays Monday showed Arbanas suffered a slight separation of the left shoulder, but Stram said he will be able to take part in the workouts and will be ready for the game.

"I'll play if Lamar Hunt

Bledowski has lame ankles, just as he did two weeks before the Buffalo game. But he was ready for the title contest and is expected to be set for the Packers game.

While Green Bay had to fight off the determined Dallas Cowboys for a 34-27 victory and the NFL title Sunday, the Chiefs made a surprising rout of their battle at Buffalo.

The Buffalo Bills gained only 40 net yards rushing and were not inside the Chiefs' 48 in the second half.

Dallas Kicker Changes Mind

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Kicker Danny Villanueva of the Dallas Cowboys talked today like he wouldn't be retiring from pro football anytime soon.

Villanueva, reported to have said he was quitting, declared he would confer with his family in Los Angeles Wednesday on whether he should retire or try another year of professional football.

"I think Dallas is going to win the National Football League championship next season and I'd like to be there," he said.

"I don't think another year would interfere with my running for Congress from California because the election isn't until 1968."

He has a job as sports director of a television station in Hollywood. Villanueva said it pays him more than he gets playing football but he still wants to extend his career.

He said he was going to leave it up to his family, however, to help him decide.

Unknown Net Player Wins in Australia

PERTH, Australia (AP) — A virtually unknown Australian, Gray Penderthy, upset Jim Osborne of Salt Lake City, Utah 6-4, 6-4 in the second round of the State Tennis Championships today.

American Davis Cup player Cliff Richey of Dallas also was hard pressed in defeating the West Australian champion, Richard Coulthard, 6-4, 7-5.

Top-seeded American Nancy Richey defeated West Australian champion Lesley Hunt 6-0, 6-4 in a second-round women's singles match.

Hawks' Coach Gets Final Second Basket

By the Associated Press

Most basketball coaches must limit to practice sessions their demonstrations on the correct way to do things. But Richie Guerin carries his examples over into the game.

Guerin's St. Louis Hawks, and the Detroit Pistons, should have learned the idea Monday night.

With 13 seconds remaining and the score tied 120-120, Player-Coach Guerin demonstrated for his boys: "This is how it's done."

He dribbled away 12 seconds and then went up for a jump shot from the corner and the basket that gave the Hawks a 122-120 victory over the Pistons in the night's only National Basketball Association contest, in Memphis, Tenn.

The Pistons had tied the score with 13 seconds left on Joe Strawder's two free throws after Guerin had spent the night demonstrating with 39 other points. His total of 41 led both clubs.

NFL Champs Savor Payoffs of Grid Wars

Green Bay Planning to Start Workouts in Snowy Setting

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)

The Green Bay Packers, apparently sound of wind and limb after winning their fourth National Football League championship in six years, relaxed today amid the whiteness of Wisconsin's winter wonderland.

But the thoughts of some members were green: —The green of the turf in Los Angeles Coliseum where they will meet the Kansas City Chiefs, champions of the American Football League, in the Super Bowl Jan. 15, and —The green of $15,000 guaranteed each man on the winning team in that game while each loser gets $7,500.

Each Packer earned an estimated $8,500 for defeating the Dallas Cowboys 34-27 in a thriller at Dallas Sunday for the NFL crown.

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi has called a meeting of the team for Wednesday. A club spokesman said workouts for the Super Bowl game will start Thursday.

The Packers plan to leave next Monday for the West Coast for practice sessions at a site which has not been announced.

FINAL PUSH

The title game at Dallas, as exciting a contest as any in NFL annals, began with the Packers apparently headed for a rout and ended with Cowboys storming the goal line in an effort to push the game into sudden death overtime.

It was fourth down, 28 seconds and still two yards to go after Green Bay's defense held firm. Meredith rolled out to pass but Dave Robinson broke through and got a hand on Meredith, who managed to pull away and get rid of the ball.

Tom Brown, a former major league baseball player, leaped high and intercepted for the Packers in the end zone.

That was the money play of the game, and Green Bay ran out the clock.

"It was the biggest play I ever made," Brown said. "Don had to throw the ball. It was fourth down . . . when I saw that ball coming on that pass, it looked, oh, so nice . . ."

The Kansas City Coach Hank Stram was quoted as saying his team will "tear apart" the Packers on Jan. 15.

Told of this, Lombardi said, "Good for Stram. If he said anything else, I wouldn't have any respect for him."

Guard Jerry Kramer summed things up in this fashion: "Every year you think winning this game can't get any bigger. Yet it does."

"With the Super Bowl ahead of us, winning this game was more important than ever. The money is unquestionably a big thing. But it's really more than that."

"We wanted to be in it. We like to think that we've been the symbol of the NFL over the last few years. And we want to win it for the NFL."

A DIFFICULT TRICK

One of the most difficult shots to make in pocket billiards is to sink the object ball which is frozen to a cushion. The margin for error is less than 1/16th of an inch.

To execute this shot the cue ball must hit the object ball and the cushion at the same time. If this is done, the object ball will roll directly into the pocket.

However, if the cue ball contacts either the object ball or the cushion independently you probably will miss the pocket.

This is the type of shot you should practice to familiarize yourself with the exact spot you

USSR Triumphs, 7-1,
in Centennial Hockey

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — "The way the Russians were shooting at me you'd think we were at war," sighed a perspiring Carl Wetzel.

The 28-year-old ex-professional, who tried out with Detroit in the National Hockey League in 1964, turned aside 43 shots by the precision-passing Russians in their first game of the centennial world hockey tournament Monday.

But seven got by and the defending champion Soviets had an easy 7-1 victory over the United States and a tie for first place with Canada in the four-team, round-robin tournament.

Canada beat Czechoslovakia 5-3 Sunday and is the next opponent of the United States today. "The Russians opened up strongly and they showed a good control of the puck," said Wetzel, who stopped 21 of 24 first period shots and 37 of 44 in the first two stanzas.

Chiefs Play in 'Packer Style'

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — No. 2 isn't proud.

It'll borrow from No. 1 any time if there's a chance of winding up in the driver's seat.

That's what happened last Sunday in Buffalo and if those proud old Green Bay Packers don't check their optional equipment, the underdog Kansas City Chiefs could cause it to happen again in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles on Jan. 15.

The Chiefs weren't proud at all about borrowing one of those handy accessories from the Packers.

What they borrowed was an air-tight defense, which has long been considered an exclusive piece of Packer property.

The Chiefs found it worked just fine, particularly in cold, icy weather, and the result was a heart-warming 31-7 AFL title victory over the Buffalo Bills.

The Packers, on the other hand, tried doing it the hard way in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

They tried it without much of a defense and if the Packers use the same patched up inner tube for the showdown two weeks from now, the Chiefs are liable to ride off happily into the sunset with the gold, the glory and the game ball.

Ever since they first were granted a franchise in 1922, the Packers always have been synonymous with one phase of football—defense.

NFL LEADER

Traditionally stingy about giving up either points or yardage, the Packers played it much the same way this season by leading the NFL in defense.

But something went radically wrong in Dallas. First they blew a 14-point lead. That rarely happens to the Packers. Then they allowed the Cowboys to gain a total of 420 yards against them. The NEVER happens to the Packers.

True, they dug in and held on their own two in the final minute and hung on for a 34-27 triumph, but that certainly wasn't the old Green Bay bear-trap defense in action all day long.

Under far more difficult conditions, Kansas City's defense looked twice as strong as Green Bay's.

The Chiefs' defensive unit had it much rougher because it was operating on a field in Buffalo that was half frozen and had visible patches of ice. Yet, the Chiefs confined the Bills to a mere 40 yards on the ground and 255 yards over-all.

There's something of a tendency now to make a case of Browns, the two clubs which let "revenge" for Kansas City quarterback Lennie Dawson in the upcoming Super Bowl.

He's supposed to be teed off at the NFL from the last pictures because it sent him packing once in the belief he didn't have it.

Actually, Dawson ain't mad at anybody. How could he possibly be with a chance to pick up an extra $20,000 for only two games?

By this time, the whole NFL knows Dawson has it. That includes the Steelers and the Browns, the two clubs which let him go, and the Packers.

straight, couldn't handle Florida's height and the taller Gators beat the 10th ranked Bulldogs off the boards.

Florida snared 56 rebounds to 30 for the losers and David Miller's 19 points led the Gators' attack.

Dayton got 58 points from Glinder Torain and Don May in a 100-78 romp over Harvard. Torain scored 30 and May had 28 and 19 rebounds for the Flyers, who ran their record to 10-1.

Marquette shot a hot 58 per cent from the floor and out-rebounded taller Brigham Young in an 81-70 victory. Bob Wolf led Marquette with 22 points while 6-foot-11 Craig Raymond had 20 for the losers.

BYU BOARDED

"I never expect any team to beat us off the boards like that," said BYU Coach Stan Watts. Marquette grabbed 34 rebounds to 25 for the losers.

Wayne Huckle, a sophomore, scored 30 points as Davidson topped Virginia 75-71. Chip Chase led the losers with 20.

BOWLING

Paul Rodriguez turned in one of the season's outstanding series last Thursday to conclude the year right in the West Side Lanes' St. Michael League.

His sharpshooting bagged 255-258-226 games for a 739 series, among the north Oakland County's best actual totals in several seasons.

The league's next high last week was a 236-211-612 by Bill Bookie. Jerry Perna hit 229-214-611 and Elias Vela 226-215-603.

Bill Willson paced the 300 Bowl Classic men the same night with 233-208-635. Al Schupbach rolled 211-225-625. Jerry Gohl 228-221-620, Carl Behrick 212-220-619 and Chuck Messer 212-213-615.

Walt Conta's 236 took game honors. Ed Reed posted a 226 and the Fontana Vending team a 211 series.

U. S. Quintet Arrives for Italy Tourney

VARESE, Italy (AP) — The Goodyear basketball team of Akron, Ohio, arrived here Monday to meet Brazil's Corinthians in a Thursday game counting for the intercontinental basketball cup.

The 12 players and Coach Hank Vaughn flew to Milan from Helsinki, where they played several exhibition games.

The winner of the Jan. 5 game will enter the tournament finals starting in Rome Saturday.

Other teams in the tournament are European champion Simmenthal of Milan, Slavia of Prague, and Ignis of Varese, which won the cup last year.

St. Mike Gets Fast '67 Test

The Mikemen of St. Michael had a ball in the old year, and now they're hoping to keep it rolling in the New Year.

Before time caught up with 1966, the Mikemen reeled off six straight victories on the basketball court, bringing the activities to a halt just before Christmas with a nip-and-tuck nod over Waterford Our Lady that left the Shamrocks alone in first place in the Macomb Parochial League.

The Mikemen, who shared the Macomb title with WOLL and St. Frederick last year, have shown a lot of poise under pressure, the kind of pressure that comes when a team wins twice in double overtime.

St. Michael opened the season with a double overtime victory over St. Frederick, and the Rams will be trying to gain a measure of revenge when the two square off this evening on the Pontiac Northern High School floor. The reserve teams open the action at 6:30 p.m.

Unless they meet in tournament play, this is expected to be the final basketball meeting between the Shamrocks and Rams since the two schools will merge as Catholic Central next fall.

GOOD COMEBACK

Coach Jim Niebauer and the Shamrocks came from behind to win the first meeting of the season between the two, 57-56.

The Shamrocks' other overtime decision was a 59-57 defeat they pinned on WOLL.

A key performer in the Shamrocks' 6-0 campaign has been Bill French, a 6-5 center who is scoring at a 20.1 pace.

With guards Butch Finnegan (5-9) and Greg Glynn (5-8) directing the attack and shooting well from the outside, the defenses have had to pull out to stop that twosome and it has given French a little breathing room along the bucket.

Along with his playmaking, Glynn is scoring at a 14.1 pace.

'MUST' WIN

St. Frederick must have a victory to remain in the Macomb race. The Rams are 4-2 in loop play and 5-2 over-all. The Rams have speed and, usually, good shooting.

Their inability to shoot over a zone forced them to take a 60-50 setback against WOLL early in December, but after that defeat, the team peeled off three straight wins before retiring for the holidays.

Clinic Slated for Baseball

Flint Hosts Event
January 21

It will be "June in January" come Jan. 21 as Flint hosts an experimental statewide Baseball Coaches' Clinic at Ballenger Field House.

Purpose of the workshop is "to improve coaching techniques as well as the quality of baseball played in Michigan."

Some 200 coaches from across the state are expected to attend. Eligible are college, high school and junior high coaches and assistants.

Instructors will include veteran baseball coaches members of Detroit Tigers' fielder star.

The clinic will be staged under the joint auspices of the Mott Program, Flint Community Junior College and the Industrial Mutual Association.

Deadline for registration is Jan. 14. Registration fee is $3. Application should be addressed to the community services department at the college, 14101 E. Court, Flint.

Center Gary Roediger (6-2), forward Sam Brady (6-2) and guard J. C. Bard (5-11) supply the punch for the Rams.

Bard's the playmaker and he's averaging 15.5 points a game.

Brady, along with Roediger, gives the Rams a good rebounding effort and he is currently moving along at a 13.7 scoring pace.

In a couple other Macomb games this evening, WOLL (4-1), holding down second place, is expected to take its fifth loop victory at Richmond St. Augustine, while Marine City Holy Cross (3-2) will entertain Detroit St. Rose (1-5).

Aussie Netter Refuses Offer

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — Margaret Smith of Australia, twice winner of the Wimbledon tennis crown, Monday turned down an offer to coach youngsters in the United States.

The 24-year-old Miss Smith said she was not interested in the job offered her two months ago, because it meant that she would have to turn professional. She recently announced her retirement from major competition.

Action on Courts

Rec Cage Schedule Begins Tonight

The action takes on added meaning this week in men's recreation basketball.

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation and the Waterford Township Recreation department's programs have featured only rehearsals until now.

Tonight the city's National League begins its regular schedule with a twinbill at Lincoln JHS.

Local 653 meets The Packers at 7 p.m. and the Unbeatables play the Amigos' Club at 8:30 p.m. Tomorrow, the All Stars will tackle Acker Construction (7 p.m.) and Auburn Hills will challenge McDonald's Drive-In at 8:30 p.m.

BIG SCHEDULE

The city's American League will commence with a double-header Thursday at Kennedy JHS, while the International League plays two at Madison and a single game at Pontiac Northern (along with an NL tilt) that night.

The township's regular action will start tomorrow night at Mason JHS. As last year, there will be triple-headers each night.

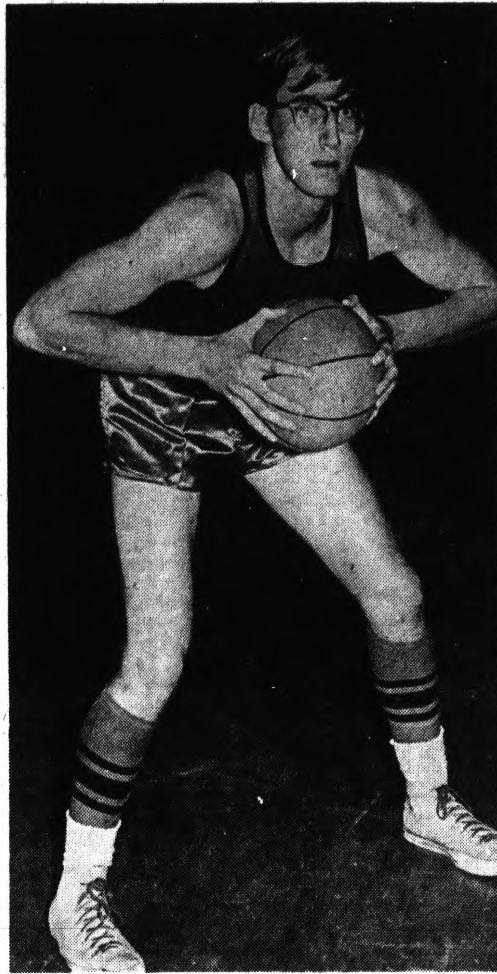

The Class A quintets will play Wednesdays at Mason, the Class B's Thursdays at Mason and the "C" squads Mondays at Pierce JHS except for next week's lid-lifters at WTHS.

Mexican Racer Captures Prix

36S-3-1-MEXICAN RACER JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Pedro Rodriguez avoided problems that forced out his chief competitors and three former world champions, and held on to win the South African Grand Prix Monday.

The steady driving Mexican, in his Cooper Maserati, thus picked up nine points in the world championship standings in the first event of the 1967 racing season.

Rodriguez was one of only eight of the 18 Formula One starters to finish the 80-lap, 203.5-mile race on the Kyalami circuit. His time was two hours, five minutes 45.9 seconds, an average speed of 97.095 miles per hour.

John Love of Rhodesia, who relinquished the lead with seven laps remaining because of a fuel stop in his Coventry Climax, finished 26.4 seconds behind. John Surtees of England was third in a Honda.

FLUID LEAK

Denny Hulme of New Zealand was fourth in his Repco Brabham after leading into the 60th lap before forced to stop for a brake fluid leak.

Defending world champion Jack Brabham of Australia finished sixth in his Repco Brabham after ignition trouble put him in the pits in the 41st lap when he trailed only Hulme.

Offer Made to Lease Porcupine Ski Area

WAKEFIELD (UPI)—The operator of the Indianhead Mountain Ski Resort near here has offered to lease the Porcupine Mountain Ski Area from the state conservation department, in the latest development in the controversy over state ownership of the Porcupine facility.

Jack English, Indianhead resort operator, said Monday, "I am ready to begin immediate negotiations with the Conservation Department" for leasing the facility.

In a telegram to Glenn Gregg, deputy director of recreation for the department, English said negotiations for leasing the ski area "should commence as quickly as possible to insure ample time to make additions for facilities for next season."

Earlier English had charged the state should sell the facility because it presented unfair competition to private operators.

Pension Plan to Be Eyed by Commission

A resolution will be considered tonight by the City Commission to put city employees under a reciprocal pension system.

According to provisions of a 1961 state law, the city can vote to join the system which essentially provides that local employees can retain their earned pension rights if they transfer to another unit of government.

City officials are making the proposal in light of the pending transfer of Pontiac Municipal Airport to Oakland County ownership.

In other business, final action is expected on an application to the State Municipal Finance Commission for approval to issue $1.8 million in revenue bonds for two trunk sewer projects.

Brazil Boy Takes Inaugural Honors

LANSING (UPI) — The honor of traveling the greatest distance to attend Gov. Romney's inaugural probably will go unchanged to 13-year-old Jim Brisse who came from Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Jimmy, the son of a Ford Motor Co. officer, was the guest yesterday of newly elected state Sen. George W. Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield.

Jimmy said he has been looking forward to meeting the governor for some time and added "I'd vote for him if I were old enough."

Illness Takes Life of Area Lumberman

John H. Rosso, owner and president of the Birmingham Lumber and Supply Co., died yesterday after a long illness. He was 71.

Service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery there.

Mr. Rosso, who lived at 1050 Henrietta, Birmingham, founded the lumber company in 1948. He had been a building contractor prior to that time. He served 12 years on the Birmingham School Board and was a member of Birmingham's First Presbyterian Church, the Rotary Club and Birmingham Lodge No. 44 F & AM.

Surviving are his wife, Beryl M.; two sons, William A. and John M., both of Birmingham; six grandchildren; two brothers, A. Shanley Rosso of Royal Oak and Neil Rosso of Rochester; two sisters, Helen of Birmingham and Mrs. Louis Hoffman of Cridersville, Ohio.

Memorial tributes may be sent to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

The funeral will be held Thursday in a Mormon chapel here.

Two Pontiac nursing homes, Seminole Hills, 532 Orchard Lake, and Grovecrest Convalescent Center, 121 Prall have announced they have been certified to provide the added Medicare benefits.

Dr. Howard H. McNeill, Grovecrest administrator, said he thought four or five Pontiac area nursing homes had been similarly approved. Grovecrest has 48 beds.

Four Perish in Plane Crash

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — An Air Force sergeant from Muskegon, Mich., and his wife, infant daughter and sister-in-law were killed Monday when their light plane crashed at Ardmore.

Killed were Staff Sgt. Gordon A. Hunter, 32; his wife, Johnnie Bell, 29; their 2-month-old daughter Michelle Renee, and Mrs. Ella Rodgers Dunn, 19, of Malvern, Ark.

Hunter, stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, Tex., recently had been reassigned to Korea.

The single-engine plane, a Mooney Mark 21, stalled while making a landing approach at Ardmore's Downtown Airport, a witness said. The craft hit the ground and cartwheeled short of the runway.

A spokesman from Sheppard AFB said the plane was en route from Malvern to Wichita Falls.

1965 Mother of Year Dead in Utah at 78

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Lorena Chipman Fletcher, America's Mother of the Year in 1965, died Monday in Salt Lake City hospital after a long illness. She was 78.

Mrs. Fletcher was the wife of Dr. Harvey Fletcher, professor of physics at Brigham Young University, an expert on acoustics and inventor of stereophonic sound.

She also is survived by five sons, all of whom are leading professional men: Dr. James C. Fletcher, physicist and president of the University of Utah; Stephen Harvey Fletcher, an attorney, vice president and general counsel of Western Electric Co., New York; Dr. Robert Chipman Fletcher, vice president of the Sandia Corp., Albuquerque, N.M., an atomic research firm; Dr. Harvey J. Fletcher, professor of mathematics at Brigham Young and Dr. Paul Chipman Fletcher, department head at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Research Center, Cambridge, Mass.

The Fletchers lived in New York for 36 years until 1952. For 33 of those years Dr. Fletcher was a research scientist at the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

The funeral will be held Thursday in a Mormon chapel here.

Medicare in Effect at Nursing Homes

Nursing home care under the federal government's Medicare program began Sunday.

Two Pontiac nursing homes, Seminole Hills, 532 Orchard Lake, and Grovecrest Convalescent Center, 121 Prall have announced they have been certified to provide the added Medicare benefits.

Dr. Howard H. McNeill, Grovecrest administrator, said he thought four or five Pontiac area nursing homes had been similarly approved. Grovecrest has 48 beds.

Castro Hints Vanished Red May Show Up

MIAMI (UPI) — Cuban guerrilla warfare expert Ernesto (Che) Guevara, missing from the island for almost two years, can be expected to turn up "any day now where Yankee imperialism least expects him," according to Premier Fidel Castro.

But the Cuban chief, in a lengthy Havana speech yesterday marking his eighth anniversary in power, once again failed to give any specifics about the Argentine-born Guevara's whereabouts.

"Someday we shall have very concrete news about Che," was all that Castro would say about his former confidant as he presided over ceremonies in Havana's revolutionary square.

He cryptically compared Guevara's supposed future reappearance with the Egyptian myth of the "Phoenix which was reborn from its own ashes."

Since Guevara dropped out of sight in March 1965, Castro has consistently employed only vague and guarded language in referring to him. Mention of Guevara's name yesterday drew prolonged applause by the throngs in the plaza.

RADIO SALUTE

It was late in the speech when Castro suddenly gave a radio salute to "Major Ernesto Guevara and his comrades, wherever they are."

The bearded ruler used the major portion of his address to attack "Yankee imperialism" and said U.S. economic policies aimed at squeezing his Communist regime out of existence were failing.

He credited past and pending trade deals with free European countries — in defiance of the United States — as being a major factor in Cuba's continued economic survival.

He denounced the United States for allegedly trying to pressure Britain into blocking a projected fertilizer plant sale to Cuba but expressed "doubt" that Britain will cancel the multimillion dollar deal.

CITES PRESSURE

He called the alleged U.S. pressure "criminal and absurd" and said "no sovereign nation will submit to such pressure."

Castro also disclosed his regime was negotiating with unnamed Italian firms and charged the United States "has been pressuring the Italian government to block the deals."

"Europe wants increasingly to become more independent from the United States and many European countries have confidence in Cuba," he said. "They want to sell their products to Cuba."

He claimed many Europeans shared his hatred of "Yankee imperialism, specifically mentioning Frenchmen and Spaniards as being among the leading critics of U.S. policy."

SOLIDLY BEHIND

Castro claimed the Cuban people are solidly behind him and "with each passing year a revolutionary fervor goes on growing instead of diminishing."

He repeated his pledge of all-out support for Latin American Red guerrilla leaders and saluted several of them by name — particularly those in Colombia and Venezuela.

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARY ANN and Lynette Wilson who were killed a year ago Jan. 3, 1966. The family of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner gave them the lovely daughters. They were taken away from us tragically. No pen can write no tongue can tell our sad and bitter loss. But God alone has helped us well, to bear the heavy cross. Sadly missed by their Mother, Sister, Brothers, Relatives, neighbors, and friends.

Composer Berlin Keeps His Artistic Talent Under Cover

By EARL WILSON

Irving Berlin, a secret painter, has hung 16 of his best oils on a wall in the midtown apartment of his dear friend, bon vivant Irving Hoffman. Like most geniuses, Berlin's shy about showing his work in another field. He's even forbidden Hoffman to have guests in his own apartment for fear they'll see this valuable art collection which includes still life, nudes and self-portrait.

In the past, Hoffman's apartment has been about as difficult to get into as an argument with a waiter on New Year's Eve. Lately he has been telling friends not to call, explaining, "You are not allowed to approach the Berlin Wall."

"Pearl's as great a comedienne as Lucille Ball — she should have her own TV show!" a ringsider enthused at Pearl Bailey's opening at the Americana Royal Box.

Suffering a cold, Pearl May sang, clowned, danced, got Tony Bennett, "Honey" Cole and his wife and artist Dong Kingman up on the floor with her, showed off her new chinchilla, borrowed a pair of size 10 shoes from a woman ringsider, and kidded Americana bass Bob Tisch whom she called "Tischie" and pictured as a frugal type in the salary department. Singer, James Brown showed his admiration of Pearl by bringing in a party of 30.

I haven't heard such unanimity of praise in years as Britishers Michael Flanders and Donald Swann got in their two-man show, "At the Drop of Another Hat," at the Booth. Producer Alexander H. Cohen was very happy at the Sardi's celebration because a producer can always use a hit.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Liz Taylor finished "Reflections in a Golden Eye" in Rome, flew to Dahomey, W. Africa, where Richard Burton's filming "The Comedians" . . . The Roz Russell film, finished two years ago and rumored to be sold to TV, will open in a N.Y. theater in February.

Sybil and Jordan Christopher took the kids to visit his parents in Akron . . . Stan Irwin formerly of the Las Vegas Sahara, was named entertainment consultant of the Las Vegas Aladdin . . . Gag at NBC: They're gonna follow "Man From U.N.C.L.E." and "Girl From U.N.C.L.E." with "A.U.N.T. From U.N.C.L.E."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A fellow complained that his gift tie is so loud he has to take it off passing a hospital zone.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Many of us have to learn over and over again that there is no Santa Claus . . . and besides, he's an awful liar."

Rights Groups Get $730,000

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Foundation has announced grants totaling $730,000 for general operation of the NAACP and the National Urban League and promised more funds in the future if the two civil rights organizations can widen their own fund-raising base.

The foundation granted $430,000 to the league and $300,000 to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A foundation spokesman said it was the first time Ford funds have been given to the two organizations without a specific purpose. Previous foundation grants earmarked for special projects have been given the league and the NAACP's legal defense and education fund, however.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS
McGeorge Bundy, Ford Foundation president, said additional one-year grants may be made over the next several years.

"Such a decision will be based in part on whether these organizations can achieve a substantially greater level of support from their members, from other private sources or funds, and from American society generally," he asserted.

Bundy said the foundation's one-year grants "cannot possibly sustain" the services and programs that the times demand of the Urban League and the NAACP. A whole new scale of financial support for them is essential.

"Nationally and in a growing number of cities, the services of the NAACP and the Urban League are in growing demand. They are already spreading their resources and staff thinly to meet these demands."

Sleeping Pills Fatal to Widow of Film Producer

LONDON (UPI)—Mrs. Alexandra Irene Metcalfe, Canadian-born widow of British film producer Sir Alexander Korda, died from an overdose of sleeping pills, a coroner's court was told here yesterday.

The 38-year-old daughter of a Canadian market gardener married Korda in 1953, three years before he died.

After his death, she sold a collection of paintings which he left her for an astronomical sum. She married stockbroker David Metcalfe in 1957. When their marriage was dissolved in 1964, she was given custody of their three children.

She died at her Surrey home, Penny Pot Cottage, last Wednesday night.

Bar Is Looted

DETROIT (AP)—Police reported burglars looted a bar on Detroit's East Side Monday and stole $4,500 in cash, $600 in checks, a .38-caliber revolver and six men's wristwatches.

5 Funerals Aftermath of Teen Holiday Trip

THREE RIVERS (AP)—Five funerals Wednesday in this southwestern Michigan community of 7,092 will mark the end of what was to have been happy New Year's Eve tobogganing for five teenagers from Three Rivers High School's junior class.

An automobile in which the boys were headed for an Echo Valley resort was struck by a train at a crossing five miles east of Kalamazoo Saturday night. It was Michigan's worst tragedy of the New Year's holidays.

David Hagerman's funeral will be first, at 10 a.m. from the Halverson Funeral Chapel.

Next will come a Roman Catholic high requiem Mass at 11 a.m. for David Hanchon at Immaculate Conception Church, then a joint service at 2:30 p.m. in First Presbyterian Church for Dennis Lockwood, Teryl Smith and Gary Warner.

ALL BOY SCOUTS

All were 16, except for Smith, who was 17, and all were Boy Scouts active in church work.

"They were all fine boys," said Leslie Christopherson, a gasoline station owner. The five were average or better students, said their principal, Edmund Blank.

Young Lockwood's father is a

U.S. War Film on Tokyo TV

TOKYO (UPI)—The feature movie on a Tokyo television station tonight was "The Sands of Iwo Jima," starring John Wayne and dubbed in Japanese.

A television program listing in one of Tokyo's major newspapers said the film portrays "one of the most drawn-out and terrible battles of World War II."

The film, which depicts the capture of Japanese-held Iwo Jima by American Marines, is well-known in the United States.

Tokyo's Channel 12 scheduled the film in prime evening viewing time as part of a holiday movie doubleheader.

Although American portrayals of World War II aren't especially popular in Japan, television stations end up screening several of them at this time of year, when television actors traditionally take a week-long New Year's holiday and the stations have to dig down deep into film libraries to fill up broadcasting time.

Bandsman's GI-Son Killed

NEW YORK (AP)—Hugh F. Winterhalter, son of orchestra leader Hugo Winterhalter, was killed in Vietnam Dec. 29 while on his second tour of duty there.

Winterhalter, 33, was attached to the Army's 160th Combat Engineer Battalion. He will receive a military funeral at Arlington National Cemetery Friday, his parents said Monday night.

During his first tour in Vietnam, he was a combat helicopter gunner with the 20th Aerial Artillery and received the Air Medal with six clusters.

Kentucky and Georgia are the only states which permit voting at the age of 18.

N. Viet's Toll of Casualties Used by Yank in Stories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian casualty figures listed in a Communist pamphlet on American bombings of North Vietnam are identical to those used in recent New York Times dispatches from Hanoi.

The 12-page document was distributed by a North-Vietnamese official to newsmen in Moscow in November, according to American intelligence. It is titled "Report on U.S. War Crimes in Nam-Dinh City."

A copy of the pamphlet was provided to the Associated Press by government sources Monday after the Washington Post compared the pamphlet's figures with those in the Times' stories reporting U.S. air attacks had killed many civilians in North Vietnam.

The dispatches in the Times by Harrison E. Salisbury have stirred new controversy over whether the United States deliberately has attacked civilian areas.

REGRETTED BY LBJ

President Johnson and administration spokesmen say only military targets are being hit. The President told a news conference last Saturday that "inevitably and almost invariably" there were casualties among civilians in war zones. He said he regretted every casualty — both in South Vietnam and North Vietnam.

In other developments relating to the bombings: —An American Air Force squadron commander reported Monday that he saw two Communist missiles explode on the ground at the edge of Hanoi on Dec. 14. That's one of the days on which U.S. fliers are accused of killing civilians in the North Vietnamese capital.

—Salisbury, in a Times story Monday, quoted officials in the Phatdiem area of North Vietnam as saying there have been more than 150 American

The Johnson administration has not challenged the reporting by Salisbury, a Times assistant managing editor and the first U.S. newsman admitted to North Vietnam in recent years. But government spokesmen believe Salisbury's stories late last month might have been viewed differently if many of the figures he used had been attributed at the time to official Communist sources in the North Vietnamese capital.

DETAILED FIGURES

Salisbury used detailed figures on civilian deaths and the destruction of civilian housing in U.S. raids on Nam Dinh and Phuly, both south of Hanoi. The sources for the figures was not given.

But two days later, a Salisbury story said "it should be noted, incidentally, that all casualty estimates and statistics in these dispatches are those of North Vietnamese officials. However, descriptions of bomb damage are based wholly on visual inspection."

Asked for comment on the Washington Post story, Times Managing Editor E. Clifton Daniel said "It is not surprising that the casualty figures reported by Harrison Salisbury and those given out by a North Vietnamese official in Moscow should be identical. They came from the same source — the North Vietnamese government."

Income Tax Returns Need Careful Study

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Several million Americans who never in their life have had to file an income tax return will be wrestling with the complexities of Form 1040 for the first time in 1967.

The thousands of U.S. servicemen in Vietnam who have young wives at home will be seeking answers to tax questions they hadn't dreamed of just a year ago. Do they get a special credit for combat service? How do you get a signature on a tax form from an infantryman waging guerrilla war against the Vietcong?

And how about you 65 million other taxpayers who are becoming old hands at this annual routine? Will you be filing your 1966 income tax return in identical fashion to the one you completed a year ago? You had better not if any of these events occurred in your family last year:

- A birth, a death, a marriage involving you or any of your children.
- You or your wife turned 65.
- You had unusual medical expenses.
- You sold your home.
- Money was made or lost in the stock market.
- You made contributions toward the support of a parent.
- You retired on pension or started to receive Social Security payments.
- There was a separation or divorce.
- You moved and changed jobs.

How these factors—and many more—can affect your return will be covered in this series of 14 articles of which this is the first.

(NEXT: Can separate returns ever mean a savings?)

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Each taxpayer should know the income tax laws. He should neither underpay nor overpay the amount due. The government expects him to take advantage of every legitimate break he can get in the tax laws and thus, in effect, cut his own taxes through familiarity with the regulations.

This is the contention of Ray De Crane, author of this series and for 25 years he has been advising the public on avoiding errors in the annual return and taking every advantage granted under the law. He has written a number of books on the subject.

The Internal Revenue Service honored him with their 1966 Meritorious Public Service award for his clear and concise explanations of the regulations.
