Henry Wallace, Vice President in the 40s, Dies

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Former Vice President Henry Agard Wallace, 77, died today in Danbury Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said he died late this morning. He had been ill several months.

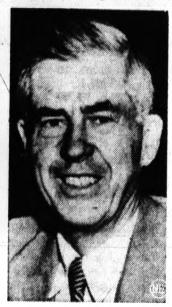

The cause of death was said to be arterial sclerosis.

Mrs. Wallace was with him when he died.

Wallace was taken to the hospital in Danbury this morning from his home in South Salem, N. Y.

Wallace had been hospitalized earlier at the National Institutes of Health in Washington. He was released Oct. 28 and he returned to South Salem.

The tall, gray-haired Iowa native served as vice president from 1941-1945 during the third term of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

HENRY WALLACE

BLOCKED BID

Southern Democrats and big city forces blocked his renomination to the post, and Harry S. Truman got the bid. When Truman became president, he ousted Wallace from a Cabinet post as secretary of commerce after a row over foreign policy.

Wallace, born a Republican, became a Democrat when he entered his public career in 1933 and eventually developed as a leading proponent of Roosevelt's New Deal policies.

His international views, however, prompted considerable controversy.

In 1948 Wallace ran for president under the newly formed Progressive party, campaigning for friendlier relations with the Soviet Union. Wallace accepted the Communist party's support, but as criticism developed during the campaign, he declared "I am not a Communist or Socialist or Marxist of any description."

After his unsuccessful presidential campaign, Wallace dropped from public view to become a gentleman farmer on his 115-acre farm at South Salem, N.Y.

There he spent his remaining years privately studying and experimenting with plants — cross-breeding corn. He enjoyed gardening but his specialty was raising strawberries.

"If you garden, you want to live and see how plants develop the next year," Wallace once said at his farm, complete with barns and windmill overlooking the greet hills and blue lakes of northern Westchester County, N.Y.

4 Bound Over in 1963 Raid

Arraignment Dec. 7 in Local Gambling Case

Former Pontiac bar owner Clovis Skelton and three other men were bound over to Circuit Court yesterday for arraignment Dec. 7 on a charge of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

A second count of conspiring to illegally publish racing odds or information was dismissed by Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Released on $200 personal bond each were Skelton, 51, of 33 W. Colgate; Roy A. Powell of 822½ Baldwin; Robert L. Barnett, 312 N. Saginaw; and Ellis C. Adler, 1910 Hopefield, Orion Township.

The four were arrested in Pontiac July 19, 1963, when federal agents, city and state police raided an alleged bookie operation at the Baldwin Rubber Tavern.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary examination on the charges was postponed more than a dozen times at request of the various defendants.

Yesterday's Municipal Court verdict follows by about six weeks Skelton's conviction in U.S. District Court in Detroit on a charge of failing to pay a federal wagering tax.

He awaits sentencing on that conviction pending a report from the federal probation department.

Conviction of the four on the conspiracy charge — a felony — is punishable by as long as four years imprisonment.

Major Copper Producer OKs Selling by U.S.

Agrees 200,000 Ton Sale Is Necessary; Industry Needs Metal

NEW YORK (AP) — A major copper producer approved today the government's decision to sell 200,000 tons of copper from the stockpile.

"We welcome the decision," said a spokesman for Phelps Dodge Corp., one of the big three U. S. producers.

"This additional metal is badly needed by U. S. industry, particularly to meet defense requirements growing out of the war in Viet Nam.

Defense Secretary McNamara announced the decision last night, saying the world copper situation threatens a disruption which could lead to strong inflationary developments.

★ ★ ★

The government also said its aim was to nip the climb in copper prices and ease a world shortage of the metal.

BRING DOWN PRICES

The Phelps Dodge spokesman said, "this additional supply should tend to bring down the very high prices which have been charged by nonproducers."

He continued that "the control of exports of copper and copper scrap and a temporary suspension of the 1.7 cents a pound import duty on copper during the period of market tightness are also considered constructive steps which should augment the supply of copper to U. S. industry."

The spokesman declined comment on whether the government's action might lead to a rescinding of the recent increase of the producer price to 38 cents a pound from 36 cents.

★ ★ ★

Governors of the Commodity Exchange in New York called a meeting for this afternoon to discuss the developments.

Prices of copper company stocks fell today on the New York Stock Exchange.

At White House Festivities

Meg Has 'Wild' Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as President Johnson launched the dancing with Princess Margaret at a candle-lit White House party honoring the royal British visitor and her husband.

★ ★ ★

The gay, informal festivities, also marking the Johnsons' 31st wedding anniversary — went on until 2 a.m. and the frug and waltz shared equal billing in the East Ballroom.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, were enjoying themselves "wildly," said lady-in-waiting Elizabeth Cavendish.

And the President, in a happy mood himself, drew rounds of applause and laughter with his champagne toast to the princess, capped by advice to Lord Snowdon from his own formula for a happy marriage.

He said: "I have learned that only two things are necessary to keep one's wife happy.

★ ★ ★

"First, let her think she is having her own way. And second, let her have it."

Johnson declared he was beginning his 32nd year of marriage "with the most wonderful woman in the world." And the dinner guests burst into applause.

The President was taking his first turn on the dance floor since his gallbladder operation Oct. 8, and he showed no signs of difficulty.

★ ★ ★

Princess Margaret, who ends her four-day unofficial visit to Washington today and flies to New York, made her appearance in a shocking-pink silk ball gown with dazzling diamond necklace, bracelet and drop earrings.

NO FAST DANCES

She preferred to sit out the fast numbers, while her husband enthusiastically danced everything from a Dixieland rendition of "12th Street Rag" to a popular Beatle number entitled "Hard Day's Night."

The dancing got off to a slow start when many guests seemed unsure whether royal protocol permitted cutting in on a princess.

"It's quite all right," the princess' lady in waiting and U.S. chief of protocol Lloyd Hand assured inquirers.

At dinner, which featured roast squab and wild rice, 14 small tables were set in the state dining room.

★ ★ ★

At the princess' table, she sat next to the President and actor Kirk Douglas.

IN EMERALD GREEN

Her husband's dinner partners included the First Lady, dressed in an emerald green strapless gown, and Mrs. Walt W. Rostow, wife of State Department policy planner.

In her toast, the princess said she would take home "superlatively happy memories of all that we have seen and done."

Johnson told the royal couple "your coming has been good for us. You have reminded us that we are a young and gay people who respond to the smile and warmth of a young couple."

Warming Trend Is Predicted to Take Off Chill

The sun darting in and out among a few clouds tomorrow will bring warmer temperatures with highs climbing from 38 to 46.

The mercury will drop into the mid-20s tonight.

The weatherman promises Saturday will be fair and slightly warmer.

The low recording prior to 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 26. By 2 p.m. the thermometer reading was 43.

AMC Reports Dip in Profits

Three-Week Strike Linked to Downturn

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp., skipping payment of its regular quarterly dividend, reported a sharp drop in profits for its fiscal year yesterday.

AMC, plagued by strikes in the United States and Canada during the year, thus ran against the profits increase trend of the rest of the auto industry.

The company, smallest of the four American car makers, attributed its profit downturn in part to what it called its "costly and regrettable" three-week strike at Kenosha, Wis.

AMC reported a profit for its fiscal year ended Sept. 30 of $5.2 million, equivalent to 27 cents a share, as compared with a net of $26.2 million or $1.38 a share for the prior year.

Sales were down from slightly over $1 billion in the prior year to $990 million this year.

The "Big Three" of the auto industry—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—all have reported record sales and profits for the first nine months of 1965. Their fiscal years are on the calendar year basis.

AMC's board siad it omitted the dividend payment because of the reduced earnings and to make funds available for product and sales development programs.

The company previously had slashed its quarterly dividend from 25 cents to 12.5 cents. For the 1965 fiscal period ending Sept. 30, it paid three quarterly dividends of 25 cents each and one of 12.5 cents, for a total of 87.5 cents per share for the year.

Yank Losses in Fighting Are Heaviest Yet

U. S. Copters Carry Battalion of S. Viet Troops Against Cong

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Depleted U.S. cavalry units exchanged fire again with North Vietnamese regulars in the Ia Drang Valley campaign, which balances the heaviest American losses of any engagement of the war against a Communist death toll now estimated at 1,200.

About 130 miles to the north, a fleet of 38 U.S. Marine helicopters bore more than a battalion of Vietnamese government troops into battle against hardcore Viet Cong who overran the government district headquarters of Hiep Duc and wiped out an outlying defense post yesterday.

Heavy Communist ground fire downed two of the helicopters.

Men of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division claimed at least 300 North Vietnamese were killed during the Communist ambush of a cavalry battalion in the Ia Drang Valley yesterday.

★ ★ ★

U.S. spokesmen previously had reported 890 North Vietnamese killed in the battle, which started last Sunday.

COSTLY FOR GIs

The ambush was also costly for the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, which may have suffered the highest American casualties of any single engagement of the war in Viet Nam.

One company was virtually wiped out and some other units of a reinforced battalion suffered serious losses.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon termed American casualties in the action moderate. He said U.S. troops still held the battleground today.

Skirmishing persisted tonight. U.S. sources said an enemy force estimated at one platoon — perhaps 30 or 40 men — fired mortars and small arms at one group of cavalrymen.

LIGHT CONTACT

Another U.S. force came in light contact with the Communists about six miles away.

Teen Foiled in Try to Hijack Jetliner

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An icy-nerved electronics executive and two of the nation's top space figures disarmed a teen-ager who tried to hijack a jetliner over the Gulf of Mexico.

Thomas Robinson, 16, who said he wanted to go to Cuba to help anti-Castro political prisoners, fired a barrage of shots into the deck of the lounge before he was wrestled to the seat last night 100 miles out of New Orleans. He was carrying two guns.

But the two space executives and a score of other top experts—the cream of the brainpower in the Gemini program—coming here to check out spacecrafts for the United States' next space flights escaped without injury.

"We thought all along the shots were blanks," said Paul Haney, voice of the U. S. astronauts, "until somebody pulled back the rug and we counted eight big holes in the metal floor.

★ ★ ★

"At that point I got a little weak in the knees," he said. "It was one hell of a 25 minutes."

HANDFUL OF COINS

It was electronics executive, Edward C. Haake of Seabrook, Tex., who actually got the jump on the youth, from Brownsville, Tex., by distracting him with a handful of gold coins.

Haney was sitting next to Chris Kraft, who directs U. S. astronauts as they circle the globe, when Robinson sat down on the arm of the chair across the isle.

Robinson dropped a newspaper he had wrapped around a 22-caliber automatic, galvanizing the 91 passengers aboard

By L. GARY THORNE

Legislation established for positive action toward the restoration and preservation of inland lakes offers serious problems for communities served by the Clinton River.

Application of two of the state's Inland Lake Improvement Acts could threaten the operation of Pontiac's sewage treatment plant and even shut it down.

Lake improvements permitted under the two acts could restrict or otherwise alter the amount of water in the Clinton River, the lifeblood of the plant.

Effective sewage treatment is dependent on the amount of water flowing in the Clinton River.

Should the water level fail, a substitute or supplement must be found for the 15 million gallons pumped through the plant daily.

If this is not done, the treated effluent dumped into the river is increasingly polluted. This, in turn, could provoke complaints by downstream users, who no doubt would initiate action with the Water Resources Commission.

★ ★ ★

The commission could order further treatment for the sewage or even shut down the plant.

OTHERS INVOLVED

Pontiac doesn't face this problem alone. There are 16 communities located on the river with sewage treatment plants.

How does the restoration of inland lakes peril the water in the Clinton River?

Although the complex law has already been labeled "a monstrosity" by some, the Inland Lake Improvement Act sets up procedures to clean and preserve inland lakes.

★ ★ ★

Essentially, this in itself bears no threat to the river. However, one of the usual steps in improving a lake is the establishment of a lake level. A second act—the Inland Lake Level Act of

She Gets Divorce

'Nice Egg' Spoils Wife

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A pampered wife has won a divorce because her husband was too good to her.

Leona P. Jeske, 60, of Hayward complained in Alameda County Superior Court that her husband, Carl, 68, would never let her make the breakfast coffee, did all the washing and ironing, wouldn't let her wash the dishes, jumped up and took things out of the oven when she was baking so she wouldn't burn herself, and insisted on tucking her in bed each night.

The Jeskes had been married for 18 months. Each had been married before.

Mrs. Jeske said she felt she was being "treated like a child" and became nervous and upset. It caused her "grievous mental suffering," she said.

★ ★ ★

"This is one of the strangest forms of mental cruelty I have ever come across," commented Judge Lyle E. Cooke. "Some men just can't win."

Red Battle Toll Stands at 1,200

There was no immediate report of casualties.

U. S. B52 bombers struck Communist positions overlooking the valley for the fifth and sixth times today to support the American troops.

After six and a half hours of hard fighting, dozens of dead Americans lay on the battlefield last night beside bodies of enemy dead.

Wounded Americans crowded aid stations in Pleiku.

U. S. patrols reported they counted at least 300 dead Communists on the battlefield, and a spokesman said the enemy toll appeared certain to rise.

Previously U.S. spokesmen had reported 890 North Vietnamese killed in the fighting which has raged in the valley in the central highlands since Sunday.

No U.S. casualty figures were announced, in accordance with U.S. security policy. But before the ambush the Ia Drang battle had caused the heaviest American losses in the war.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere, in South Viet Nam, Viet Cong battalions destroyed five U.S. spotter planes and inflicted moderate casualties on Vietnamese Rangers defending the Tan Hiep airfield 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

A U.S. adviser said 28 Viet Cong bodies were found. There were no American casualties.

Wintry Storm Strikes in Northeastern U.S.

A storm hovered over the northeastern United States today, packing strong winds, snow and cold.

The storm struck the Lake Huron area Tuesday before it swung over the coast of Maine Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Southern California, after a brief respite from four of the area's rainiest days on record, waited for another expected two-day deluge.

Freeze warnings were issued for portions of the South and Southwest.

BITTER COLD

Rain fell from the Pacific Coast inland to the Rocky Mountains, and bitter cold gripped the Midwest.

But the brunt of the attack today was in the Northeast.

★ ★ ★

Meadville in western Pennsylvania reported 9 inches of snow on the ground. A 62-year-old woman was killed when her car slid across a slushy highway and hit a tree.

Blairsville, Pa., reported 3 inches of snow. Temperatures were below freezing across all of Pennsylvania.

TOPPLED BUILDING

High winds toppled a 20-foot cinder block structure in northeastern Pennsylvania, killing a construction worker.

Gale warnings were up along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Cape Hatteras, N.C. Heavy snow warnings were in effect in sections of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

One to 3 inches of snow was on the ground in portions of the central and northern Appalachians.

The cold weather in New England followed a major storm which deposited 2 to 5 inches of snow on the northern hills Wednesday.

COLD WAVE

Cold wave warnings were out from the Mid-Atlantic states to the Carolinas. The temperatures dropped as much as 30 degrees in some parts of the Carolinas.

Freeze warnings also were issued for Kentucky, east central Tennessee, southeastern Oklahoma and extreme northeastern Texas.

Travelers warnings were posted for the Sierra Nevada Mountains of California and Nevada in preparation for an expected heavy snowfall. A freezing rain caused dangerous driving in Nebraska.

Northern California, soaked for almost a week by intermittent rains, braced as the Weather Bureau predicted new storms with heavy winds and rain.

HIGH WINDS

Santa Cruz was hit by winds measured at 60 miles an hour Wednesday, toppling trees and causing power blackouts.

Mud and water seeped into businesses and homes in Southern California. By early morning the storm had brought 4.28 inches of rain to Los Angeles. Chatsworth, in the San Fernando Valley, had absorbed 9.17 inches at midday Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The four-day rainfall total for Los Angeles is the greatest for a November since 1900, when 4.72 inches fell.

★ ★ ★

Mud slides had isolated persons at Lake Hughes in the mountains to the north, in the Simi Valley to the west, and Malibu on the coast. Four inches of mud squished into 20 shops in Newhall, Calif.

★ ★ ★

And the Weather Bureau predicted two more days of rain.

Ship's Owners Facing Suits

Two Cruise Survivors Want $3.25 Million

MIAMI (UPI)—Two court suits seeking a total of $3.25 million in damages from the owners of the ship Yarmouth Castle charged today there were failings of equipment and crew when the cruise liner burned and sank off the Florida coast with a loss of more than 80 lives.

The suits were filed yesterday by survivors of the Saturday disaster, one of them critically burned in a Miami hospital, as the Coast Guard sought to convene a board of inquiry to formally investigate the sinking.

The 365-foot liner, bound from Miami to Nassau with 550 passengers and crewmen aboard, went down about 125 miles east of Miami, ablaze from stem to stern.

A freighter and another cruise ship rescued 462 survivors.

★ ★ ★

One suit for $2.25 million was filed in the State Supreme Court of New York by Harry Ebner of New York City on behalf of himself and his wife, Sylvana, listed among the missing passengers.

OTHER FILING

Anne Martin Jackson, 22, critically burned in the fire and a patient in Miami's Jackson Memorial Hospital, filed the other suit for $1 million.

Her mother, Louise Jackson of Vero Beach, Fla., was a victim of the disaster.

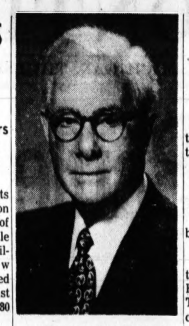

Both suits allege the Yarmouth Castle had inadequate fire fighting and life saving equipment and that the crew lacked the experience and efficiency necessary for dealing with the shipboard fire.

★ ★ ★

Miss Jackson's suit charged that the officers and crewmen of the liner were "wholly inadequate" to operate the vessel safely.

HITS OWNERS

The suit also charges the owners with registering the ship under a "flag of convenience" in order to escape U. S. safety regulations. The Yarmouth Castle was of Panamanian registry, owned by the Chadade Steamship Co. of Panama.

Nonpublic School Pupils to Get Special Services

BIRMINGHAM — It will mean cutbacks ranging from 20 to 30 per cent for public school students, but the Birmingham Board of Education has resolved to provide special services to nonpublic school students.

★ ★ ★

The board has authorized immediate implementation of the state act which requires public school districts to provide the auxiliary services on an equal basis.

Adopted early in the summer after most school boards had established their 1965-66 operating budgets, the act was not accompanied by any appropriation to cover the cost of implementation.

Representatives of the 10 nonpublic schools in the district were asked last month to submit written requests for services and to specify the number of students considered to be eligible in each category.

★ ★ ★

Eight of the 10 have replied.

HARDEST HIT

Hardest hit of the district's programs is that for remedial reading, where the service to public school youngsters will be reduced by 24 per cent.

Because the school system started the program before the act was passed, it cannot be reimbursed for a portion of the cost.

If additional teachers were available to maintain the program at its present level, the cost would be about $20,000.

★ ★ ★

But the teachers are not available, so the program will be maintained by reducing amount of time given to public school students, according to Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith.

TIME ALLOTMENT

"No public school child will be permanently dropped during the current school year, but the time allotment will be reduced," he reported.

The health and visiting teacher programs each will be reduced by one-third, the speech program by 25 per cent and diagnostician service by 20 per cent.

Hiring of the additional staff members necessary to maintain the programs would cost $65,300, with the school district getting reimbursed for $38,250.

★ ★ ★

Total cost to the district then would be $27,020 for the above programs plus $20,000 for remedial reading.

Luci Explains Ring on Finger; Not Engaged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Luci Baines Johnson cleared up a mystery today. She is not engaged.

Luci relayed through her White House press aide word that the ring she was wearing on the third finger of her left hand was one she has had since high school days. It was given to her as a "bread and butter gift" by a girlfriend.

The gold ring has two diagonal pearls with diamonds. The President's 18-year-old daughter wore the ring at the White House dinner dance last night for Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon.

Luci danced the frug and watusi with her boyfriend, Pat Nugent, 22.

Guests noted Luci's ring and wondered whether she had become engaged to Nugent, a Marquette University graduate from Waukegan, Ill.

Acts Affect Clinton River

1961—provides the mechanics for doing this.

POSES PROBLEMS

It is the establishment of lake levels that specifically poses problems for the Clinton River and its customers.

Lakes to the north, west and northwest of Pontiac serve as the headwaters for the Clinton River and are essentially the only reservoir for the river water. There generally is a straight flow between Pontiac and Lake St. Clair.

While the river gets rid of so-called high water conditions in the winter and spring, any artificial retention of the water in the lakes (to hold a certain level) in the dry weather months of July and August holds implications for the river.

★ ★ ★

In fact, some observers feel a lengthy dry spell could dry up the river, and along with it sewage treatment operations.

NO TALK YET

Public officials, in Pontiac and elsewhere, have not yet talked publicly of the problems posed for the river.

Privately, however, there is talk that the needs of the river's customers must be considered.

The idea has been advanced that lake levels be set on a regional basis, accounting for the demands on the Clinton River, rather than on an individual lake basis.

In so doing, it has been said that maximum and minimum lake levels might be established to accommodate wet and dry conditions.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the County Drain Commissioner's office indicated that in establishing a particular lake level nothing would be done to impair benefits to downstream users. Comprehensive engineering studies are completed before setting a lake level.

The spokesman did indicate that the 1961 law did not necessarily protect the downstream user.

When a lake level is set, and this is eventually done by a court, a "normal" lake level is determined and provisions are made through use of a dam, wells or other devices to maintain that level.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, should establishment of a lake level adversely affect the Clinton River, Pontiac does have a possible way out.

★ ★ ★

River water to the treatment plant could be supplemented or totally supplied from the city's system of wells, although the necessary connection would reportedly be an expensive one.

★ ★ ★

The wells, left idle when the city contracted for Detroit water, now exist on a stand-by basis.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps they might have to be pressed into service if upriver lakes some day require additional water.

FDA Asks Warning on Birth Curb Pills

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is asking all makers of oral contraceptives to label their product with a visual hazard warning.

The FDA said a special committee is to study reports of adverse effects on the eyes of women who had taken oral contraceptives.

* * *

It emphasized that it had established no cause and effect relationship, and said: "It is important to note that all" the conditions which have been reported as affecting women who were taking the contraceptive drugs "naturally occur in females of childbearing age who are not taking oral contraceptives or any drugs."

The FDA said it expects its special study to be completed about next March.

The first zoning ordinance in the nation was adopted in 1916 by New York City.

SCHOOL ON THE MOVE — Modern portable classrooms like this two-unit structure are scheduled for use in the near future at two Pontiac schools. The portables — with wall-to-wall carpeting and self-contained heating and plumbing — will be at Owen and Wisner elementary schools.

Portable Rooms for 2 Schools

Portable classrooms will not only save dollars for taxpayers but will also provide greater flexibility for future school growth, according to the 'architect' of Pontiac's proposed $1.13 million school building program.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent - business and staff personnel for the school district, said plans call for construction of portables at two sites.

One of the smart new two-room units — which come with wall-to-wall carpeting an optional air conditioning—is planned for Wisner Elementary at 441 Oakland and the other for Owen Elementary at 43 E. Columbia.

"Neither of these schools—one built in 1911 and one in 1927—lend themselves to permanent additions," Fell said.

★ ★ ★

"Not only would changing populations in the Owen and Wisner areas probably leave us with empty permanent rooms, but we're also limited by the school sites and building designs.

COMPATIBILITY

"Additions to permanent buildings have to be compatible with existing corridors and other things," he said. "In these cases, we think it can be done more easily if we go outside the framework."

The new units, according to Fell, can be in use within 45 days after order. Movement of a structure from one site to another would cost about $1,500.

Portable units cost up to $35,500, about half as much as the addition of permanent classrooms, Fell said.

The new portables are equipped with furniture, blackboards, a choice of carpeting or tile and have fully self-contained plumbing and heating.

BIG DIFFERENCE

"This is the big difference between these and ones we now have," Fell explained.

"The first wooden portables we got after the war had no plumbing and some had to be taken down because of deterioration.

"Steel portables purchased about eight years ago are still in use at Wisner, Wever and McConnell," Fell said, "but these don't have plumbing and that's a problem."

★ ★ ★

The new models are also more versatile in that they can be enlarged through addition of four-foot sections, Fell said.

18 Teachers in Training to Help Needy Children

Eighteen teachers began training at Oakland Schools this week as part of a program designed to help educationally deprived children learn the English language.

★ ★ ★

The special instruction seminar will last eight weeks.

It is the first step in extending the provisions of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act to Oakland County schoolchildren.

Cost of the seminar — approximately $720 per teacher—will be paid from federal funds granted directly to local school districts based on the number of children from families with incomes of less than $2,000 in 1960.

★ ★ ★

School districts represented in the seminar are Waterford Township, Pontiac, Lake Orion, Huron Valley, Southfield, Oak Park and Ferndale.

WATERFORD TEACHERS

Waterford Township teachers taking part in the program are Mrs. Eileen L. Earhart of Grayson School, Jerome Midtgaard of Pontiac Lake School and Mrs. Rose L. Evards and Mrs. Carla Acord, both of Lotus Lake School.

Representing Pontiac are Mrs. Helen Jesse, secondary helping teacher; Mrs. Louise Fournier, Bagley School special reading teacher; Mrs. Betty Buchanan, elementary helping teacher; and David Muxworthy, an English teacher at Pontiac Central High School.

The two Lake Orion teachers are Mrs. Phyllis E. Rachels of Webber School and Mrs. Frances Oviatt of Lake Orion Intermediate School.

★ ★ ★

Also enrolled in the seminar are Mrs. Rosemary Dunn, Big Beaver School, Troy; Mrs. Alice M. Keller, Leonard School, Troy; David Weiner, McKinley School, Southfield; Earl L. Frost, Andrew Jackson School, Ferndale; and Mrs. Irene Wisner, Bertha Baker School, and Mrs. Marjorie Bournes, Johnson School, both in the Huron Valley School District.

SEMINAR DIRECTOR

Directing the seminar is Dr. Lawrence Gold, head of Oakland Schools reading improvement services.

★ ★ ★

Courses will be taught by members of the Oakland Schools reading and psychological staffs.

Yule Suggestions for Difficult-to-Gift

For the dog who has everything, how about a solid mahogany indoor dog house, with a gold-plated crest of arms on the entrance?

This is just one of a number of "unusual" gifts for those difficult-to-gift people, and dogs, on the list. Others include, for junior, an electrically-operated, life-size stuffed gorilla and, for the golfer, a gold-plated putter with battery-operated siren, flashlight and compass.

On second though, maybe it's just as well that most people don't have everything!

OU Students to Petition for Bill on Funds

A mass movement to unite students and universities affected by State Senate bill 685 has been launched by 100 students at Oakland University.

The students propose to submit petitions and institute a letter campaign urging legislators to override a veto of the $1.2-million supplemental appropriation bill.

Bill 685, designed to ease increased enrollment costs at eight of the state's smaller colleges, has failed three times.

Gov. Romney vetoed it in the spring legislative session.

A Senate attempt to override Romney's action fell short of the two-thirds majority needed, and Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken vetoed a revised version in October.

SCHOOLS INVOLVED

State schools who would share the supplementary funds include OU, Eastern, Northern, Central and Western Michigan Universities, Michigan Tech, Grand Valley State and Ferris State.

"We feel by uniting our efforts," said Martin Reisig, chairman of the coordinating committee of the Student Committee for Bill 685, "we can show the legislators they have concrete backing on the passage of this bill."

OU's petitions will be presented to Oakland County legislators Tuesday in the Oakland Center Gold Room at 1 p. m.

MSU Goes All the Way in Big Ten Grid Run

Yep, in case you've harbored doubts, Michigan State, the Nation's No. 1 football team, has won the Big Ten championship and will go to the Rose Bowl.

Such was the official announcement Tuesday by the conference commissioner following a unanimous vote of Big Ten athletic directors.

★ ★ ★

It is the first time that the Conference has announced its Rose Bowl entry before the end of the scheduled season and the first time Michigan has sent back-to-back representatives to sniff the roses in Pasadena. University of Michigan went last year.

State, as if you didn't know, has an unblemished 1965 record with nine straight victories. The Spartans have but one game left to play, a nonconference tilt with Notre Dame Saturday.

★ ★ ★

We enthusiastically salute the gridiron greats of East Lansing and their inspirational coach, doughty DUFFY DAUGHERTY, on their magnificent achievement. They have our best wishes for a rewarding experience in the Golden State, Jan. 1.

Reds Get Green Light From U.S. High Court

The latest Supreme Court bombshell, one that in effect gives legal recognition to Communists and the Communist party, suggests that perhaps that august body should itself be a fit object of investigation by the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities.

By declaring unconstitutional the section of the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act requiring members of the Communist party to register with the government, the High Court by unanimous decision implicity gives status of respectability to a political philosophy one of whose tenets is the overthrow of the United States government.

★ ★ ★

The 11-page decision upheld the appeal of two Communist defendants from a U. S. Court of Appeals decision supporting the action of the Subversive Activities Control Board in its determination that they register their affiliation with communism.

The subversive activities legislation, so well implemented by the Hoover-led FBI, has played a major role in driving underground the American arm of the international Communist party and reduced its membership to negligible proportions.

Now, with the blessing of the High Court, communism crawls out from under the rocks into the sunshine of the freedom which it proposes to destroy.

★ ★ ★

GUS HALL, ostensible leader of the Communist party in the U. S., jubilantly hails the decision and announces that the party will call a national convention, the first since 1950, and take steps to enter candidates in the 1966 congressional elections.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said Monday's decision by the Supreme Court is not the first which has overthrown a provision of law enacted by the Congress against subversion.

"Either our government has the power to protect itself against subversion or it faces inevitable destruction," declared the senator.

★ ★ ★

During the past several years, the U. S. Supreme Court has excelled in overturning established social and political principles by which America has lived. The spirit of the Court's pro-Communist decision would seem to be consonant with the death of America.

To live a long time would be far more desirable if one didn't age in the process.

Rights Front to Boil in '66

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The whole civil rights front will be boiling in 1966.

President Johnson gave a taste of it Tuesday night when he said he will ask Congress in January for legislation "to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

MARLOW

No doubt he will ask for other legislation in the civil rights field. Thus those who may have thought that things might quiet down after the congressional battles over the Civil Rights acts of 1964 and 1965 were wrong.

In addition, in the spring there will be a civil rights conference at the White House on how to make equal rights a national reality.

Today, civil rights leaders representing groups from conservative to radical, began a two-day session to prepare for the spring meeting.

Even before the two-day meeting could get under way, the American Friends Service Committee and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People released recommendations in speeding school desegregation.

★ ★ ★

They noted that the Southern Regional Council had found "fewer than 6 per cent of the Deep South Negro pupils are in desegregated situations" and that "this is not just a statistic, this is a human tragedy."

ASK NEW LAWS

Over the past weekend the U.S. Civil Rights Commission asked for new federal laws and full enforcement of old ones to stop racial violence and injustice in the South.

Johnson, to whom the commission sent its 188-page report, said Monday night "we intend to make the jury box, in both state and federal courts, the sacred domain of justice under law."

He pointed out the government already has moved to join in three suits which, he said, challenge a biased system of jury selection. Johnson said, "We must do more, we will do more."

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the Justice Department is pushing a number of civil rights cases in the courts.

RESULTS EXPECTED

Johnson called attention to something else. He said he will expect immediate results from a letter just sent out by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach calling on all agencies to ferret out discrimination in every assistance program.

The Supreme Court is fed up with delays in school desegregation. In a unanimous ruling the court said Monday "delays in desegregation of school systems are no longer tolerable."

Voice of the People:

Readers Voice Opinions on Supreme Court Ruling

The news that the Supreme Court ruled it unconstitutional that Communist members register with the government was very disturbing. This had been required for several years but a few in power can make the rules according to their thinking.

★ ★ ★

The headline news of how the enemy is being coddled back home will be good reading for the boys fighting and dying in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

We can sing, "God Bless America" but it might be well to note the handwriting on the wall. If we love America and freedom we had better wake up before it is too late.

CONCERNED

We are sending our young men to Viet Nam to fight communism, but why not call them all home? The Supreme Court has been so liberal to the Communists here at home that they don't have to register any more. The door has been thrown wide open to them. Let's impeach the Supreme Court.

A GRANDMOTHER

When the highest court in the land goes against our own best interests and allows an enemy the aid and comfort of the Constitution, it can be due to ignorance of the issues involved, a blind blanket coverage of any man born or naturalized as a citizen, or an agreement with Marxian concepts; Fabian or Communist.

Someone had better start shouting "foul" or Gus Hall could make his promises stick.

E. L. SORENSON
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

A recent speaker in Oakland County pointed out that a cardinal aim of the Communist party is to abolish the rights inherent in the federal and state bureaucracies grasping for more power to control what belongs to us as once free individuals.

★ ★ ★

Note that there are circumstances now existing under which a house or property owner cannot rent or sell his own real estate as he desires.

★ ★ ★

Of course this whole fiasco was initiated by Earl Warren's Red-helping Supreme Court which in its latest act has ruled that the commies do not have to register. Just how much will we Americans take from these men who are abolishing true civil rights in the name of "civil rights?"

Answers to Letters on High School Bands

If "Concerned Band Parent" is concerned enough to attend a band boosters' meeting, he will come to a better understanding of Kettering's band program. Members of the band boosters organization appreciate the hard work and time-consuming efforts of Kettering's instructor. Through his tireless efforts we now have instrumental instruction in our grade schools. It is a real thrill to see these young people progress and be able to take an active part in band when they reach junior and senior high school.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID MEHLBERG
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

In answer to a letter concerning the Waterford-Kettering band, the members of this band believe that in order to achieve our goal of a superior band we must put forth a real effort. We, the students, have put into effect an awards system that will give us the initiative to work that much harder to achieve our goals. If a band member puts forth a worthwhile effort he can earn a letter in one year. We support the views and policies of our director, Mr. Fetter, and believe that he is the driving force behind our band.

David Lawrence Says:

Outcry on '64 Viet Offer Foolish

WASHINGTON — "So what?" This is about the only retort that can be made by the United States government to the hullabaloo over alleged failure to take seriously a hint in the autumn of 1964 by U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, that maybe the North Vietnamese were ready to talk peace.

LAWRENCE

The innuendo is being spread now that President Johnson didn't want to enter into any negotiations because this step would have been taken in the midst of the presidential campaign.

But who, having the slightest knowledge of political currents, doesn't know that peace maneuvers — which couldn't have possibly been completed before election day — would have been a clever piece of political strategy?

The families of young men facing military draft in the Viet Nam war would have been relieved. It would have gotten a greater number of votes than the promise to pursue the war intensively.

There is, however, something else which reduces to the level of nonsense the outcry that Secretary Rusk just didn't want to talk peace and didn't accept U Thant's suggestions.

If Rusk had thought for an instant that a mere decision to engage in talks with North Vietnam would bring peace, he would have gladly done so. But all available information indicated that the move would have hurt the United States and also would have won no peace.

★ ★ ★

U Thant appears to be one of those wishful thinkers in diplomacy who believe that merely talking with the enemy is a harbinger of peace. But much more is required. There must be a clear indication first that the enemy is willing to stop his aggression.

America has been tricked before — as in Korea — by the concept that merely to "negotiate" means the attainment of a satisfactory settlement.

The U. N. secretary general is talking now about "major concessions" that should come from both sides. But what "major" concession can the United States make?

Should it leave southeast Asia to the mercy of the Communist Chinese, who then will be encouraged to infiltrate and get control of other countries in the same region of the world which are entitled to self-determination and independence?

★ ★ ★

The United States now is winning in Viet Nam. Sooner or later the North Vietnamese will have to talk peace, but it will have to be on America's terms if the sacrifices of American youth in Viet Nam are not to be in vain.

Bob Considine Says:

Airline Passenger Data Leaves Me 'Flying Blind'

NEW YORK — As a longtime champion of our domestic airlines, I'd like to register a beef.

It has to do with the breakdown of communications, or rapport, between the people who keep an eye on flying weather and the people who must answer the customers' questions about it.

CONSIDINE

Last Saturday in New York was one of those mornings when even the birds take the train. You couldn't see across the street.

I had to get to Omaha in the worst way (for a talk before the National Newspaper Association), and, brother, I found it.

★ ★ ★

At the first airline I called the nice girl who answered said, "Why of course we're running on schedule!" almost as indignantly as if I had reflected on her Sunday school attendance record or chastity. I groped my way to a cab and the cabbie felt his way through the fog to Kennedy Airport.

FIVE MINUTES

He valiantly got me there with only five minutes to spare. I reached past a lady who was arranging a trip for next August to Reykiavik with stopovers in Des Moines and Fiji, and told the girl behind the counter that I had to buy a ticket immediately and get to the gate — a long hike.

"Relax," the girl said. "There's going to be a delay."

"But I called just before I took that ten-buck cab ride and somebody here said . . ."

★ ★ ★

"Oh, the weather must have closed in after you called," she replied. "We'll be departing on that flight at 11:30."

ANOTHER CALL

By the time my seat number had been decided, and given the Great Seal of the United States, the girl who had achieved this sterling goal got another call.

"The 11:30 won't be leaving at all," she said "It's weathered down in Newark. But Elysium Airlines has a noon plane to Chicago that'll make your connection.

The call board at Elysium said that Flite 0 was at Gate 31, hardly eight city blocks away. Gate 31 was there, okay, but it lacked something rather vital: a plane.

"Fogged in at Newark," the man behind the counter said, pulling out a timetable the size of the Manhattan phone book. "Your best bet, if you want to make that connection in Chicago, is to take a cab to LaGuardia and pick up Dingat's flight 1313. LaGuardia is open, clear as a bell. Flight 1313 becomes your connection at Chicago, so you won't have to get off . . . You'd better hurry, you're only got 45 minutes to catch it."

JUST HEARD

"Hold it! . . . I just heard from a friend here at Kennedy. LaGuardia is opening and closing. If you try to go there it might be closed when you arrive; then you won't be able to get back here in time to meet our Flight 10-E, if it can get in and turn around . . . On the other hand. . ."

★ ★ ★

P. S. — Made it to Omaha, three hours late.

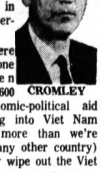

P.P.S.—Made a lousy speech, too.

U.S. Wages Nonmilitary Battle

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In very large measure, the nonmilitary war in Viet Nam is going to be won or lost by individuals.

CROMLEY

It's the war of creating strong local democratic government in the face of terrorism.

If this were as easily done as written about, the $600 million economic-political aid we're pouring into Viet Nam each year (more than we're putting into any other country) would quickly wipe out the Viet Cong.

On paper, it's not difficult. You create a strong police force. You give economic help. You hold local elections. You build a strong local militia. You set up schools, clinics, dig wells.

★ ★ ★

But there are no practical charts on how to build self-government among a people who have been ruled for decades by outsiders. There's little known practically on how to successfully wipe out terrorism in a hamlet. How do you give hope to people who have lost hope?

In practice, there are no guidebooks. Success or failure comes down to a local young American civilian adviser, improvising as he goes along, living in a forest of American and Vietnamese red tape and dealing with customs he does not understand.

Over a year ago, some of the old hands who had been in Viet Nam off and on since the early days, got the idea that what was needed was ruggedly individualistic young men with unorthodox original ideas and sharp, practical brains. They'd be nonbureaucratic. They'd improvise as they went along. They'd shy away from book solutions. If things went wrong and channels broke down, as they regularly do in Viet Nam, these men would find their own ways of getting things done.

★ ★ ★

This new breed of young men would be put out in the hamlets and work directly with farmers and other villagers. Their supervisors would, where possible, be the same brand of highly individualistic men.

All of these men would be ordered to stay out of Saigon.

To cap it all, these old-timers wanted as top aid man in Viet Nam someone who believed in these play-it-by-ear theories.

★ ★ ★

After working for months behind the scenes these "plotters" got a chunk of what they wanted.

They were allowed to advertise for 30 young men. They sent out the word. Five hundred volunteered. One old hand told me with amazement: "Three hundred were the quality we wanted." So instead of picking 30, they chose 60, then ran them through several months of training. "About half of them are rebels," one old-timer told me with a smile that stretched from ear to ear. "They aren't going to let red tape hold them." (The plan has since been expanded again.)

Among the volunteers, young and old, were former military men who had served tours in Viet Nam. They wanted to go back and do something more. There was one former promising army colonel who had resigned in anger over what he thought of as the "ineffectiveness" of the program in Viet Nam. This new experimental approach appealed to him.

It's still too early to tell how well this plan is going to work out or how many of these young men are going to get bogged down in details.

A few of them have sent me word. Some say the villages they're in aren't changing overnight. But they're getting better. Some of the people are less afraid.

There are others where things seem to improve one month and then go to pot the next.

It's going to be a long war.

LIVES ALONE AND LIKES IT — T. J. Call, 73, of Busch, Ark., has spent the last 30 years living alone in a cave in the side of a hill in the Ozarks. He says he wouldn't have it any other way.

Cave Dweller Happy Feller

BUSCH, Ark. (AP) — Summing up his 30 years of living in a cave tucked into an Ozark Woods, T. J. Call says: "Oh, I've missed some things. But it's been quiet."

Call, 73, grew tired of people and life in the big city and headed back to the woods and hills he knew as a child to get away from it all.

The place he selected is 120 acres of heavily wooded Ozark country between Rogers and Eureka Springs in the northwest corner of Arkansas. Call purchased the land in the 1920s.

"I've been down here for 30 years," he said. "First few years I lived in an old stable over to the south, but that burned down, so I moved in the cave. It's small. I've got bigger ones on the property, but this one is easier to heat."

His clothes hang loosely on a slender, slightly bent frame. A rubber band confines his long slate-gray hair, and his fringe beard and heavy moustache are the color of wood smoke.

It's four miles from Call's mailbox on U.S. 62 to the cave, deep in the woods and hills. There is no road, only a worn trail through the woods now barely discernible beneath a mantle of leaves. Far up the trail is a sign: "I will not be responsible for any accidents. T. J. Call."

★ ★ ★

Call hikes to the mailbox to pick up his monthly welfare check of $60 and hitches a ride into Rogers to buy groceries. He packed in 45 pounds of supplies last month.

His cave home is 20 feet long, five feet high and three or four feet wide. The floor is sand and the walls are bare except for a calendar on which he marks off the passing days.

A sheet-iron door almost covers the entrance. A pot-bellied stove stands just inside and the only light seeps through the door or comes from the stove.

Cushions spread on boards are his bed, and scattered about are papers, books, empty cans and religious tracts.

He shuffled outside and stood in the sun. "I need the sun," he said. "The cold is bad on me. That's why I need the sun."

Finally, warmed from the sun, he sat beneath an oak tree, unfolded an old newspaper and began to read about the world he left behind.

Lengthy Patent Suit Ends; Ruling May Strongly Affect Steels

DETROIT (AP)—The lengthy federal court trial of a patent suit, expected to have great impact on the U.S. steel industry, has ended here, but a ruling is not expected for about six months.

Kaiser Industries, Inc., of Oakland, Calif., charged McLouth Steel Corp. of Detroit infringed on a patent it holds on a process for using oxygen in producing steel.

Kaiser is asking for damages that may go as high as $4.5 million plus assurance of future royalties.

McLouth said its steel-making method differed sufficiently to make Kaiser's charge irrelevant.

Furthermore, McLouth said, Kaiser's process is so well known to the industry that it should not have been patented in the first place.

McLouth also said, in effect, Kaiser is violating antitrust laws because the licenses it offers stipulate holders must turn over any improvements they make in the general field of oxygen-blown steel production.

Closing arguments in the trial, which started in October 1963, were heard last week. U.S. District Judge Ralph M. Freeman is now reviewing 13,800 pages of testimony.

Regardless of the ruling, the decision is expected to be appealed and may go as far as the U.S. Supreme Court, a rarity in patent litigation.

The process in question involves blowing pure oxygen into molten pig iron, a method much quicker and more economical for producing quality steel than the old open-hearth method.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. patent in dispute was first applied for by a German scientist in 1961.

Kaiser Industries, the U.S. rights partner with Brassert Oxygen Technik of Switzerland which in turn controls the patents on behalf of an Austrian steel firm. Both are parties to the litigation.

★ ★ ★

Kaiser entered a contract with McLouth in 1954 in which Kaiser agreed to supply the know-how to build and operate basic oxygen furnaces.

TWO 'TRUNK' BUDDIES — A pair of pachyderms put themselves in a peculiar position while partaking of peanuts, but the pretzellike procedure is a peaceful process. The animals belong to a circus in Raleigh, N.C., and have developed this roundabout way of handing each other a snack.

Still Slow Starting

Push for Zip Code Usage Maintained

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than half the nation's letter writers are rejecting repeated government pleas to use the zip code.

But postal authorities aren't discouraged. They say it was inevitable the program would take some time to catch on.

* * *

With high hopes of hastening that day, they continue to relentlessly plug zip mail with a massive promotional campaign involving public service notices in newspapers, announcements on radio and television, colorful posters and press releases.

The campaign has taken more unique turns. A dog that began following a Texas postman along his route every day soon found himself wearing a jacket bearing the slogan "Use Zip Code."

When a popular comic strip tyke lost his security blanket in the mail, he received a letter from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski which read: "Dear Linus: If you had used your zip code in your return address, in all probability your blanket would be back by now."

FIRST CLASS MAIL

A spot check by the post office department indicates that 37.1 per cent of individuals and small businesses use zip codes when addressing first class mail.

About half of them, 49.9 per cent, put their zip codes in return addresses.

The department says 89 per cent of the 95,200 large business firms which it has contacted have agreed to participate in the zip program.

* * *

Public acceptance of the code, veteran postal officials say, is developing much faster than it did for zone numbers 20 years ago.

BREAKTHROUGH

A notable breakthrough in putting over the zip code occurred recently when the White House agreed to use it for the first time.

Former Postmaster General J. Edward Day, under whose regime the program was begun 27 months ago, says its progress has been good.

He predicts that "it will continue to grow with the proper constant push and promotion." But Day expressed disappointment "that so many big mailers are opposing it."

Gronouski, who is the new ambassador to Poland, says he left the Post Office Department convinced that zip "is the most important development of the last 100 years in postal history."

"Naturally, we expected some opposition to the program," he adds. "But I venture to guess that even its opponents will eventually concede that zip code in the long run will benefit postal employes, improve mail service to the public and save money for the taxpayer."

THIRD CLASS MAIL

Most organized opposition is coming from the associated third class mail users.

Members are wailing over a requirement that all second and third class bulk mailers begin using the code by Jan. 1, 1967, to retain their cheaper poundage rate.

They resent the money and effort required to overhaul their mailing lists.

* * *

The Post Office Department is tentatively planning to extend the requirement to first class volume mail later, but there is no talk of requiring individual mail users to write in the code.

PRESENT PLANS

Under present plans, however, letter-writers would have to use the code to assure overnight delivery anywhere in the United States. The government hopes to implement this by 1967.

Some individual opposition to the code is based on suspicion that it's all a plot to reduce man to a digit. But most of its nonuse is attributed to its nuisance value.

* * *

It can be difficult to remember your code. Unless you live somewhere like Newton Falls, Ohio, 44444.

Forms for Tax Relief to Be Ready Jan. 3

City Assessor James E. Kephart Jr. has announced that applications will be available after Jan. 3 for Pontiac home owners eligible for Senior Citizens Tax Relief.

Under a new state law, Act. 27, passed this year, senior citizens 65 and over can obtain an exemption on their property taxes up to $2,500 on the assessed value as equalized.

Kephart said home owners, either husband or wife, who reach their 65th birthday on or before Dec. 31, 1965 will be eligible for the exemption on their real estate taxes.

This act applies to persons owning their home or purchasing it under a mortgage or contract.

* * *

The tax relief is granted beginning with the 1966 tax year to persons over 65 who earn less than $5,000 annually, have lived in Michigan seven consecutive years immediately prior to application and don't own properties in Michigan with a total assessed value exceeding $10,000 as equalized.

* * *

Kephart said that home owners would be able to obtain the proper applications for the tax relief at the city assessor's office at City Hall.

LBJ Message Marks Thanksgiving Day

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (UPI) —Text of President Johnson's Thanksgiving proclamation:

For all the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past twelve months, it is a small thing to give thanks to Almighty God.

When the Pilgrims first observed Thanksgiving nearly 350 years ago, life was harsh and unrelenting.

Cold and sickness had diminished their ranks. Their shelter was crude. Their future was uncertain. Yet when their harvest was abundant, they considered themselves blessed — and their hearts were filled with gratitude.

* * *

Today we have much more than an abundant harvest. Our nation is rich and strong and united in the cause of liberty and justice.

UNMATCHED

Our physical comforts are unmatched anywhere in the world, our medicine has conquered ancient diseases.

In the past year we have added greatly to that national legacy. We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens. We have pledged dignity to our elderly—even in sickness.

We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor. And all the while, we have enjoyed the greatest prosperity in history.

* * *

But our real blessings lie not in our bounty. They lie in those steadfast principles that the early Pilgrims forged for all generations to come: The belief in the essential dignity of man; the restless search for a better world for all; and the courage —as shown by our sons in Viet Nam today—to defend the cause of freedom wherever on earth it is threatened.

ETERNAL BLESSINGS

These are the eternal blessings of America. They are the blessings which make us grateful even when the future is uncertain. They are the blessings which give us the strength to complete the unfinished tasks that remain before us.

For these blessings should we thank God most of all.

Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in consenance with the joint resolution of the congress approved Dec. 26, 1941, designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 25, 1965, as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day, let us gather in our homes and in our places of worship to thank God for His generosity. Let us make ourselves worth of that generosity by pledging to Him our everlasting devotion.

And let us pray to Him that the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth so that peace and understanding may reign supreme.

Automobile scrappage is nearing the six million mark annually in this country. That is more than a million above the number of cars scrapped two years ago, according to the American Automobile Association.

Cards Carry Recordings of Children

Computer Helps in Vocal Ills

Voices in a computer!

It "sounds" incredible. . . . but Robert Baynes, Oakland Schools speech and voice consultant, is doing just this.

Baynes has adapted a data processing card to carry a three-second sample of a child's voice via a sound tape strip compatable to machines in use in Oakland Schools data processing center.

A second strip on the tape carries the voice of the consulting laryngologist's report on his diagnosis of the child's vocal chords.

Seventy children had their voices recorded for computer study today during a voice clinic at the Oakland County Health Department building.

VOICE DISORDERS

Baynes and Dr. Dieter Wendling—an ear, nose and throat specialist — examined and recorded voices of youngsters suspected of having chronic or persistent voice disorders.

The voice clinic is conducted four times a year as a cooperative service of the Oakland County Health Department and the Oakland Schools speech and hearing clinic.

Since the inception of the voice clinic four years ago, 242 school children have been examined.

Most of them have been referred by local school district speech correctionists because they exhibited a persistent voice disorder.

WARTLIKE GROWTHS

Thickened vocal chords or nodules (wartlike growths) on the chords were found in 58 per cent of the 242 children examined.

"Most cases of voice disorders are temporary, caused by colds and throat ailments," Baynes said.

"This leads parents, teachers and sometimes physicians to neglect cases of hoarseness that persist.

★ ★ ★

"Both voice retraining and surgery may be necessary to correct chronic conditions," he noted.

"However, in many cases when the child with a voice disorder is retrained, nodules and thick vocal chords are eliminated or diminish, thus eliminating surgery."

USE OF TAPES

Baynes plans to use his collection of taped samples of children's voices to alert school speech correctionists to voice disorders.

His report on the 242 children already examined in the clinics was published in a recent issue of the Journal of the Michigan Speech and Hearing Association.

The report also was presented, along with a few sample tape cards, to the annual convention of the American Speech and Hearing Association in Chicago earlier this month.

★ ★ ★

Baynes ultimately hopes to have taped samples with medical diagnosis and other pertinent information on punched cards of all children found by the voice clinic to have conditions that require professional attention.

LITTLE RESEARCH

"There is very little research in the area of voice disorders in children," Baynes said.

"We need more information in the areas of early recognition, diagnosis, treatment and incidence of voice disorder as well as additional voice retraining techniques appropriate for young children."

Baynes' interest in this area began five years ago in research for his master's thesis at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

His initial study was of 1,012 children in which he found 8 per cent to be chronically hoarse.

LESS STRENUOUS WAYS

"Speech correctionists in the schools can learn to identify these boys and girls," he said, "and teach them less strenuous ways to produce voice.

★ ★ ★

"Proper use of vocal chords would have prevented the majority of the voice disorders we find in children today."

WEA Elects Music Head as President

The Waterford Education Association (WEA) has elected Robert G. Crumpton, 30, of 135 Rea, Waterford Township, as its president.

Crumpton, head of the music department at Waterford Township High School, succeeds Ronald Arnold who resigned last month.

Crumpton has been employed by Waterford Township Schools for five years.

A native of Iowa, Crumpton was graduated from Grinnell (Iowa) College.

In addition, he attended the Eastman School of Music, University of Michigan and University of Maryland.

Problem of Filling Posts Easing at State Hospital

The problem of filling staff positions at Pontiac State Hospital has eased somewhat, Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent at the hospital, said last night.

Speaking at a general staff meeting on the hospital grounds, Dr. Martin said, however, that lack of sufficient staff remains the most serious problem facing Pontiac State Hospital and all other state hospitals.

Even though the hospital has funds to hire new employes, Dr. Martin said that finding personnel is difficult due to the low wage level for hospital jobs compared to what industry offers.

He said, in citing the improved personnel situation, that 57 persons were hired last month and the gradual reduction in the number of beds has helped.

★ ★ ★

A total of 2,772 beds are now in use, Dr. Martin said. This represents an approximate 200-bed reduction in the last two years.

RATE INCREASE

He added that the rates of admissions and discharges at the hospital both have increased substantially in the past year, with admissions up 16 per cent and discharges up 19 per cent.

A waiting list of 300 prospective patients just 18 months ago has been trimmed substantially, the superintendent reported.

New, more efficient procedures at the hospital were credited with the increased admission-discharge rates and the waiting list reduction.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Martin told the 75 persons in attendance that he was hopeful the State Legislature would take early action on pay hikes for hospital personnel.

2 Take $770 in Holdup at Pontiac Firm

Two men, one of them brandishing a 32-caliber revolver, took $770 yesterday from a Pontiac hardware store after ordering the owner and an employe to the back of the store.

Charles J. Coleman, 60, owner of Fay Barker Hardware at 650 Auburn, told Pontiac police the two men came into the store shortly before 7 p.m.

One picked up a file he said he wanted to buy, according to Coleman.

Coleman said when he opened the cash register, the second man pulled the gun and forced Coleman and a clerk into a back room.

★ ★ ★

The men then emptied the register and fled on foot out the front door, Coleman said.

Pontiac police detectives are investigating.

CHAPLAIN AT WORK — A chaplain, Maj. Nevin Snyder of Norfolk, Va., talks to a wounded U.S. soldier at Plei Ku airstrip in South Viet Nam as the latter awaits evacuation to a hospital. The 1st Cavalry Division soldier was wounded in the fighting in the Ia Drang Valley, near the Carmbodian border, and was flown from the battle area by helicopter.

Yank Copter Pays Cong Tax Collector With Deadly Bullets

LAI KHE, South Viet Nam (AP) — Death caught up with Viet Cong taxes Wednesday night on bloody Highway 13.

The 1st Infantry Division was sweeping toward the huge Michelin rubber plantation, 50 miles northeast of Saigon. Maj. Roblie Davis, the 3rd Brigade's air officer, was climbing into his helicopter for an observation flight when an old man in a coolie hat struggled into camp.

* * *

The wispy bearded peasant had walked for more than two hours to report that a team of Viet Cong tax collectors was stopping all trucks and buses along Highway 13, near Bau Bang, where 146 Communist were killed in severe fighting last Friday. He told intelligence officers the collectors were demanding 1,000 piasters (about $14) to allow vehicles through.

Dusk was just settling over the endless rows of rubber trees around brigade headquarters when Davis, from Gilliam, La., took off in his bubble-topped helicopter to have a look. Riding with him was Lt. Col. Gordon Lippman of Lemmon, S.D., the brigade's executive officer.

ARMED COPTER

Davis' chopper is one of the few bubble-model H13s in Viet Nam armed with machine guns.

"No one over here thought these little jobs could lift those heavy guns until the boys got to experimenting," said Davis while describing his raid on the tax point.

* * *

He flew in low over the trees and found three local Communist commissars sitting at a table by the roadside between a pair of machine guns.

"They had quite a business-like operation going on there," said Davis, "sitting right out there in uniform, with web belts on and everything, and traffic backed up for ¼ of a mile. We swooped down on them and Colonel Lippman cut loose with those guns before their machine gunners knew what happened.

COPTER HIT

"We came in so low over the trees, they never saw us coming. On the way out, we drew some small arms fire from deep among the trees, and a carbine round shot the bubble out of my chopper."

Neither Davis nor Lippman was injured when the bubble burst. The maintenance crews had no trouble believing how low they had flown over the trees. They spent the better part of an hour picking leaves out of the gun mounts on Davis' ship before getting around to stitching up the plastic bubble.

Job Training to Start

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)— Some 70 trainees are expected to begin courses Nov. 29 at the job training center near here. Most of the trainees will be heads of families on welfare. The program is designed to help them get jobs.

Gen. Winfield Scott acquired the nickname of "Old Fuss and Feathers" because of his love for colorful military ceremonies and uniforms.

Report Sought by Early 1966 in Milford

16 to Study Water Problems

MILFORD — A 16-member citizens committee has been named to study Milford's hard-water problem and a $415,000 answer suggested for it.

★ ★ ★

Archie J. Noon, 217 Center, heads the group appointed by the Village Council.

Mrs. Damon L. Libbie, 720 Manordale, will serve as secretary.

The Village Council has asked for a recommendation from the group early in 1966.

Meetings of the group, open to the public, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesdays at the Village Hall.

INVITE ENGINEERS

For their first session next week committee members have requested the opportunity to talk to engineers from Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., of Bloomfield Township.

The firm prepared the report which estimated cost of a water softening unit for the village at $415,000.

The proposed facility would cut the hardness of village water from 325 to about 60 parts per million, also cleansing it of its odor and discoloration.

Citizens committee members are to consider the possibility of placing a bond issue for the facility on the March 1966 ballot.

BOND PROGRAM

According to the engineering firm, a 25-year general obligation bond program would add 3 mills to the current property tax levy.

★ ★ ★

Village Manager J. Stuart Brophy and Noon were to meet today with engineers from the Detroit Department of Water Supply about the prospect of piping Detroit water to Milford.

★ ★ ★

Brophy said they would seek estimates on how long it will be before Detroit water could be available here.

School Chief Will Quit Post

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Clarenceville Schools Supt. Louis E. Schmidt next summer will vacate the post he has held for 17 years.

Schmidt, 56, was asked to reconsider last month when he told the board of education he planned to resign.

"For various reasons, I didn't think I had made the wrong decision," Schmidt said today. "The position of superintendent gets a little bit more untenable every day.

"Not just here, but everywhere, there are tremendous pressures," he said.

The superintendent said he has no complaints about working relationships here.

He is considering several job offers, he said.

An educator for 33 years, Schmidt earned his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University and master's from the University of Michigan.

Before coming here he had served as high school principal in Plymouth, Eaton Rapids, Onaway and Kalkaska.

Schmidt and his wife, who live at 20405 Antago, Livonia, have two daughters.

HOSPITAL BOOSTERS — The Huron Valley Community Hospital fund drive last night received a $3,000 check, representing proceeds from a benefit bazaar the Women's Club of the White Lake Citizen's League held in October. Presenting the check to Dr. Norman Krieger, hospital board chairman, are bazaar cochairmen Mrs. Hartwell Gray (left) and Mrs. Arleigh Hess. The proposed facility would serve residents of 10 townships in western Oakland County and Livingston County.

Old-Timer Hikes to Keep 'on Toes'

By PAT McCARTY

A. H. SCOTT

If A. H. Scott had done all his walking in one general direction since his 90th birthday, he now could be tromping about in the jungles of Colombia, South America.

But the white-haired gentleman prefers the clime of his native Oakland County for his daily two-mile hikes.

In fact, he sticks pretty close to the Bloomfield Township home he shares with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Packer.

Scott, 1300 Winthrop, is looking forward to celebrating his 95th birthday Nov. 27.

★ ★ ★

He attributes much of his agility to the walks he has been taking for the last five years.

DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Scott's physician, Dr. Chauncey Burke of Pontiac, recommended the therapy.

"He told me, 'If you want to live awhile, get out and walk and walk,'" Scott relates.

The nonagenarian does just that, taking to the roads around his home shortly after his 7 a.m. breakfast and again in midafternoon.

He figures he averages 750 miles a year.

BAD WEATHER

There are few bad weather conditions which will keep him in.

"If I can't get out one day, I'll go for three miles the next," he said. "Some days I think I'm not going to go, but when I get out and walk a ways, I commence to feel better."

Stricken with just a touch of arthritis, Scott credits his walks with keeping him limber.

★ ★ ★

He's also trimmed some 40 pounds from his frame, he claims.

WALKING TIME

It takes Scott anywhere from 22 to 23 minutes to walk a mile, he reports.

His daughter said she gives him 25 before she starts worrying.

"If the neighbors are out, it might take me an hour," Scott said.

Born near Seymour Lake in Brandon Township, Scott for many years operated the farm on which Bloomfield Orchards Subdivision has since been developed. He's been a widower for 39 years.

DESCENDANTS

His progeny includes five children, eight grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Scott admits to being a bit hard of hearing.

"But I don't have to wear glasses to read," he said.

★ ★ ★

He carries subscriptions to four newspaers and five magazines and refuses to watch television — except for the World Series.

QUIT DRIVING

Until last June, Scott drove his own car but then decided he'd stick to walking.

★ ★ ★

His daughter notes he's never used tobacco, although he's been known to take a nip of apricot brandy from time to time.

Board Names Health Officer

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP—The community's first health officer has been appointed by the White Lake Township Board, which also promoted two policemen to sergeants this week.

Dr. Thomas E. Nugent, 2904 Steeple Hill, was named health officer to perform the duties formerly handled by the Oakland County Health Department.

Everett Gillow, assistant building inspector, was appointed Dr. Nugent's assistant.

The board also named Thomas Carl as day sergeant and Frank Thomas night sergeant of the police department.

The men, both of whom have been with the department since 1958, were recommended by Chief Louis Marsh for the promotions.

Installation Sunday

TROY — The Rev. David B. Colman will be installed as assistant minister of Northminster Presbyterian Church, 3633 W. Big Beaver, during the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

A reception in his honor will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the church.

32ND DEGREE — Kenneth J. Delbridge, 5889 Dunmore, West Bloomfield Township, recently was awarded the 32nd Degree in Scottish Rite Freemasonry in a ceremony at the Detroit Masonic Temple.

W. Bloomfield Center Site for Club Bazaar

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Cass Lake Side Women's Auxiliary will hold a bazaar Saturday at the community center on Greer.

★ ★ ★

Among the items to be featured at the 10 a.m.-3 p.m. event are baked goods, Christmas decorations, needle work and doll clothes. There also will be recreation for children and refreshments.

Population Figures Cited

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The population of the township is expected to more than double in the next 10 to 15 years, with school enrollment increasing accordingly, the chairman of the township planning commission noted last night.

Henry Moses outlined population projections for a citizens committee studying West Bloomfield School District, one of the six systems serving the township.

The number of persons living in the township will increase from the present 20,000 to 42,000 or 50,000 by 1980 or sooner, Moses said.

The figures will include some 5,390 elementary school pupils, 2,000 in junior high and 1,700 in high school, he indicated.

11-Member Panel

School Board Advisers Are Permanent

HOLLY — The local delegation to the Four District Study Committee has been established as a permanent advisory panel to the Holly Board of Education.

The 11 members of the group originally were named to represent the local district on a committee considering possible areas of cooperation among the Holly, Fenton, Linden and Lake Fenton School districts.

That organization's 13-month study has been wrapped up in a list of recommendations presented last week to the four boards of education.

Led by Joseph Lehman, the Holly delegation now will expand its sphere of concern to advise the local board on matters which may be referred to it.

In other action this week, the school board prepared a communication to the union which is seeking sole negotiating rights for the school system's noninstructional staff members, excluding secretaries.

PETITION BOARD

The International Union of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes has petitioned for recognition as the employes' representative.

A hearing on the matter will be held before the State Labor Mediation Board Dec. 17.

In the meantime, the school board will ask the union to demonstrate its strength by submitting authorization cards from a majority of the 55 employes affected.

The cards, authorizing the union to act as bargaining agent for the employes, are to be submitted to an impartial third party.

State Fruit Production Below 1964 Record

LANSING (AP) — Michigan produced an estimated 707,000 tons of major fruits this year, down 12 per cent from last year's record crop but still above average, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says.

★ ★ ★

The service said early reports suggest more than usual amounts of apples were left on the ground this season.

Board Appoints Assessor for Independence Twp.

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has named William C. Cobb, 49, of 9212 Evee as township assessor, replacing James Gardiner who died Nov. 8.

A local contractor and builder for several years, Cobb is currently a member of the township board of review.

The position pays $6,500 annually, according to Howard Altman, township clerk. Cobb will begin work by Dec. 1.

"We're very fortunate in acquiring his services," said Altman.

★ ★ ★

Gardiner had served as a township official for more than 12 years prior to his death last week.

PRELIMINARY PLAT

At Tuesday night's meeting, preliminary plat approval was granted for Cranberry Lake Estates No. 4 Subdivision, a proposed 41-lot development.

Located on M15 just north of I-75, the proposed subdivision is the fourth part of a development of Bloch Brothers, 5660 Dixie, Waterford Township.

Final plat approval has been given for the other three subdivisions.

The board also tabled a proposed junk yard ordinance until next Tuesday. The ordinance would place more restrictions on the dismantling of cars.

COUNTY OFFICIALS

Officials of the Oakland County Department of Public Works will attend next week's meeting to explain the proposed Oakland-Clinton sewer system in which the township may participate.

Justice Dept. Starts From Scratch on Bill to Halt Jury Inequity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Once again the Justice Department's civil rights machinery is gearing up to meet presidential demands for tough legislation aimed at securing the rights of Negroes.

Two years ago it was sweeping civil rights legislation. Last spring it was a law aimed at guaranteeing the ballot to Negroes.

* * *

And now the object is a bill aimed at taking racial discrimination out of the jury box at all levels of the judicial system, from county to federal.

President Johnson ordered the department this week to come up with a measure to present to Congress "clear in its purpose and specific in its aim, . .to prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of all-white juries."

STARTING FROM SCRATCH

High-level department sources indicated Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach in starting from scratch in his attempt to draw up a bill that will meet the President's demand.

"It's just too early to begin discussing the possibilities," one official said. "Right now what we've got to do is study the Southern jury system as it is today. And then we're faced with a whole batch of problems in coming up with legislation that will do the job without violating the Constitution."

* * *

Under the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the government already has intervened in several suits charging officials in Alabama counties with systematic exclusion of Negroes from juries. But without further legislation that is the limit of federal action in this field.

Some of the problems with which the Justice Department's civil rights strategists are wrestling:

1. How can the federal government constitutionally apply a jury law to state judicial systems in whose county juries the problems decried by Johnson have arisen?

* * *

2. How can it prove beyond a doubt that jury lists have been drawn up systematically to insure that only whites are listed?

3. If a finding of past discrimination in a local jury system is made, what happens to persons still in prison as a result of that jury system?

* * *

4. What federal laws can have any real effect on the vast discretion of county jury commissioners?

5. Even if a few Negroes are placed on Southern juries where they have never sat before, what effect — beyond a possible hung jury — can it have in trials in communities where attitudes are hardened against Negroes?

ONE POSSIBILITY

One possibility is that Congress could establish standards for selecting prospective jurors and give the attorney general authority to initiate civil suits if these standards are not met.

The Justice Department has never used the one Reconstruction era law against jury discrimination to prosecute local jury officials.

* * *

It has begun investigations under that law and gained voluntary compliance in some areas because of those investigations. And it has used the law as a basis for winning reversal of a number of convictions by juries from which Negroes have been excluded.

Troopers Get 5 New Tracking Dog Teams

EAST LANSING (AP) — Five new teams of trooper-handlers and their German Shepherd tracking dogs will be assigned to new posts Nov. 28 after completing 14 weeks of training, State Police report.

The dogs and their handlers will be assigned to the East Lansing, Mount Pleasant, Flat Rock, Paw Paw and Jackson posts.

Mechanic Licenses

DETROIT (AP) — Common Council agreed Wednesday to introduce an ordinance that would require auto repair men to be licensed. The ordinance would require the mechanics to pass a written examination administered by a board made up of auto maintenance instructors.

U-M Prof Sees 6 Pct. U.S. Output Rise, With Full Employment Resulting

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A 6/4 per cent unemployment, said per cent increase in America's Gross National Product (GNP) will take place next year, a University of Michigan economist predicted today.

The GNP rise will mean the nation will reach a condition of "full employment," the same as Prof. Daniel B. Suits. He predicted an increase of 1.5 million in the number of jobs.

★ ★ ★

Suits made his forecasts to the university's 13th annual Conference on the Economic Outlook. He said he based his predictions on America's economic growth.

Suits said the President's Council of Economic Advisers regards 4 per cent unemployment of the civilian labor force the same as "full employment."

The 6 per cent increase will bring GNP to an estimated $712 billion in 1966, Suits said. He estimated this year's GNP at $671.4 billion.

GNP, an economists' term, represents the nation's total production of goods and services.

Suits pointed out that current 4.6 per cent unemployment is the first time this figure has averaged less than 5 per cent for any full year since 1957.

"The expected growth in 1966 output," Suits said, "will mean over one and a half million more jobs, which in the face of a projected 1.1 million increase in the civilian labor force means a decline of one-half million in unemployment.

The economic forecasts have nually since 1953 under scientific research grants. The university says the forecasts have consistently pointed the direction of the nation's economy in the year ahead."

Suits also predicted an 8 per cent increase in expenditures on plants and equipment in 1966. He said there will be some firming of residential construction. Although inventories will continue to build up.

Romney: End Toll on Bridge

Says Fee Is Barrier Between Peninsulas

CADILLAC (AP) — Elimination of the tolls at the Straits of Mackinac Bridge was called for by Gov. George Romney Wednesday night.

Romney said "we should not continue the economic barrier between the Upper and Lower peninsulas and the way to do this is to eliminate completely the tolls on the bridge.

★ ★ ★

"Thus far the legislature has not seen fit to act. I don't see any reason why the bridge should be treated any other way than other state highway bridges."

He suggested a five per cent increase in auto registration fees to pay off the bridge bonds.

ON TELEVISION

The governor made his remarks on the "Eye on Michigan" program of television station WWTV here.

The governor also discussed water pollution and observed that "we are much too careless with our water, just as careless as we were with our timber resources."

★ ★ ★

He said he thought the state should take "aggressive and urgent actions" regarding the enforcement of pollution laws at the spring session of the legislature.

State Coeds' Cards Go to Yanks in Viet

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Bearing such addresses as "to a blue-eyed Michigander," some 300 Christmas cards are being sent from Aquinas College here to American troops in Viet Nam. The Women's Residence Council at the school addressed the cards to be relayed along with copies of the student newspaper, through the Red Cross. Coed Judy Konrek originated the plan.

First time ether was administered as an anesthetic was on Oct. 16, 1846, at Massachusetts General Hospital.

INDONESIAN INSURGENT — Former Lt. Col. Untung, leader of the abortive coup against Indonesian President Sukarno, is manacled as he is examined by the Indonesian army at a Jakarta prison recently. Untung, former commander of Sukarno's personal guard, was arrested in central Java last month.

Heart Attack Terms Confusing

By Science Service Medical

WASHINGTON — Public interest in the meaning of heart attacks is heightened by the chest pains of former President Eisenhower who is in the Ft. Gordon Hospital at Augusta, Ga.

★ ★ ★

The variety of "cardiovascular" (pertaining to the heart and blood vessels) diseases is so great that the average layman is confused by terms such as hardening of the arteries, myocardial infarction and angina pectoris.

Arteriosclerosis is the broad term for hardening of the arteries. It is a generic term including conditions that cause the artery walls to become thick and hard, thus losing their normal elasticity.

Atherosclerosis is a kind of arteriosclerosis in which the inner layer of the artery wall is made thick and irregular by deposits of a fatty substance.

★ ★ ★

By clogging the arteries with deposits called atheromata, atherosclerosis decreases the diameter of the internal channel of the vessel.

NOT ENOUGH BLOOD

"Insufficiency" results when not enough blood can get through the channel.

Angina pectoris, pronounced by medical personnel usually with the accent on the first syllable, literally means chest pain.

This is what Gen. Eisenhower's physicians first explained as the cause of his difficulty.

★ ★ ★

He had acute coronary insufficiency in their opinion, which progressed to myocardial infarction.

IN 'CARDIAC BED'

They placed the general in a "cardiac bed" as a preventive measure, treating him as though he had a full-blown heart attack.

★ ★

This would include either coronary thrombosis (in which a clot is formed in a branch of one of the arteries conducting blood to the heart muscle) or myocardial infarction (the damaging or death of the heart muscle, or myocardium, resulting from a reduction in the blood supply reaching that area).

Guilty in Wife's Death

ROSCOMMON (AP) — Carl Geiger, 24, of Houghton Lake Wednesday was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of his wife, Sharon, 22, by a Roscommon County Circuit Court Jury. Mrs. Geiger was dead on arrival at an Adrian hospital May 7.

Junior Editors Quiz on WEIGHTLESSNESS

QUESTION: Why do astronauts lose their weight while in orbit around the earth?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: At upper left, Jack swings a stone attached to a string, around his head. As long as he keeps it swinging, the stone tries to fly outward (by centrifugal force) but the string holds it back so it keeps going in a circle.

While whirling around like this, notice that the stone has kept up in the air above Jack's head.

This explains what happens when a capsule containing astronauts goes spinning around the earth. Jack had to swing the stone very fast to keep it whirling above his head, and so the astronauts' capsules have to be set moving (high above the friction of the atmosphere) around the earth at the terrific speed of about 18,000 miles an hour.

Don't imagine that they overcome gravity while orbiting this way, for gravity acts like the string holding Jack's rock; it hold them to the earth so they keep spinning around.

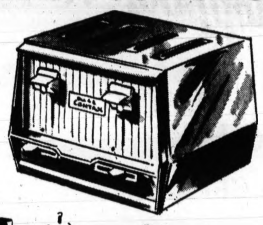

But even if gravity is operating, preventing them from flying off into space, it is not pulling them down toward the earth, as long as they keep up such terrific speed.

That's why, when orbiting, astronauts appear to have no weight; they are in a condition called zero gravity, weightlessness, or free fall.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Our picture is based on photos of astronaut Edward White during the wonderful moments, a few months ago, when he opened the hatch of the Gemini 4 capsule and slid out into space. Notice the glove which has floated out through the hatch, and orbits along with the astronaut and the capsule, at the same speed. Color earth, behind, a light blue to get the full effect.

Dollar Flow Abroad Again Forces U.S. to Press Businesses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration is bearing down harder on big business to help end the flow of dollars abroad.

The government so far has shied away from telling companies how much they can invest overseas. But it will suggest "formulas" to aid individual firms in reducing their foreign outlays.

Officials revealed the stepped-up campaign against the balance of payments fell back into deficit in the third quarter.

The red ink on the nation's international books totaled $485 million, after a surplus of $247 million during the second quarter — the first in nearly eight years.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler told a news conference that, despite this turn for the worse, he was "confident" the dollar drain could be ended in 1966.

But to make sure this happens, the government must follow through with the "voluntary balance of payments program initiated in February, Fowler said.

"Intensive review" is under way to prepare for 1966, Fowler said. Step No. 1 will be "some sharpening" of the targets" for U. S. business.

In the past, the administration avoided setting any dollar goals for the business part of the payments effort. Officials didn't want to lay themselves open to charges of failure if business didn't come up to the mark.

But now, an over-all payments target will be set for business as well as a separate target for business overseas investments. And a formula will be "suggested" to each firm to help it set its own investment goal for 1966.

Commerce Secretary John T. Connor said the government was looking to business for a "sizable increase" in its payments contribution next year.

The federal Reserve Board has already announced plans for continuing its efforts to curb bank loans next year.

The United States runs a balance of payments deficit when Americans spend, lend, invest or give away more overseas than foreigners spend, lend, invest or give away in the United States.

Despite the recurrence of the deficit in the third quarter, Fowler said, the payments picture showed "great improvement."

During the first nine months of the year, the deficit was at an annual rate of $1.25 billion compared to $2.8 billion during 1964 and $2.7 billion during 1963.

Fowler cited three factors in the swing back to red ink during July, August and September.

Bank loans to foreigners increased by $431 million, payments for U. S. military hardware declined by $176 million, and Americans increased their purchases of stocks and bonds by $162 million.

Another unfavorable factor, still unmeasured, was stepped-up tourist spending overseas, Fowler said.

These unfavorable points more than offset a $257 million improvement in trade and other improvements elsewhere.

Ford Doubts Power

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Less-reassuring reactions are now following the first comfort that the Northeastern electric blackout did not include our military continental defense network.

In an interview, one expert on military preparedness, Congressman Gerald R. Ford, R-Grand Rapids, voiced his "doubts" about the future dependability of existing independent military sources of electric power.

That this man "doubts" is significant because for years he was the knowledgeable ranking Republican on the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Involved is something over at the Pentagon called "cost-effectiveness" very cherished by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara in cutting the defense budget.

★ ★ ★

Ford said: "I am as much in favor of cost-effectiveness as Secretary McNamara, but first I want to be certain of the effectiveness."

FACT UNKNOWN

While the power plants supplying electricity to military communications and other operations did not falter during the recent blackout, it isn't known how long the military system could be sustained.

Generators do not last forever and they are expensive. It is tempting to save the cost of repairs or replacements and gamble on the effectiveness of the public power system.

A man with a long memory, Ford recalls that we stripped our own power capability during the Korean crisis to rush mobile electric generating units into the fighting area, and he asks, "Are we doing the same thing now to assist our fighting efforts in Viet Nam?

★ ★ ★

Ford contends the Congress should satisfy itself that the independent power-might of the military is sufficient to withstand any emergency.

He did not ask for an investigation, but implied that his old committee, and others dealing with the armed forces, should do some new checking on our mobile and semimobile equipment for its adequacy today and for the future.

Freshman Senators—4

Murphy Backs Live TV in Congress

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth of a 10-part series on freshmen senators. The subject is Sen. George Murphy of California, the first movie star to become a senator.)

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Freshman Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., still a showman if no longer a song-and-dance man, believes live television would shorten—not prolong — congressional sessions.

"It would cut down a lot of these long speeches when some of these fellows find out they can't hold an audience for more than 25 minutes," Murphy told UPI.

"If they realized they were being scrutinized by maybe two million or more people they would be more careful," put more work into preparation and be less long-winded, he said.

The former Hollywood and broadway singer - dancer also feels the Senate should install microphones so its soft-spoken members could be heard better. He belittled the objections of old guard traditionalists that it would lessen Senate dignity.

* * *

Murphy, 63, is one of only two Republicans in this year's standout Senate "freshman class."

GOP UPSET

He pulled off one of the GOP's few upsets last year when he unseated former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, who was holding the Senate post temoprarily by appointment.

Looking back over his first year in office, Murphy said, "The biggest problem has been trying to keep up with the work load."

This Congress, he said, "has been given a most ambitious program . . . too ambitious. We've passed a lot of things without time to find out what's in them."

* * *

Murphy said his biggest objection was that "we are getting too dangerously close to a one-man party running the country, which is even more dangerous than a one-party system."

TWO-PARTY SYSTEM

"It's time we got back to a two-party system."

Murphy said that his big work load has been increased by the enormous number of speaking requests he receives. They are running at the rate of 55 to 60 a day.

The California senator is a member of the labor-public welfare and public works committees. He said he was satisfied with his assignments, but hoped to move some day to the armed services or foreign relations committees.

* * *

His main effort in his first year was battling Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz to get more imported labor to help harvest California crops.

MAIN INTEREST

"That had to be my main field of interest so far," he said, adding that such progress as he had made was his biggest legislative satisfaction.

"But we're not through," he said. Next year's prime objective will be to try to get the farm labor problem worked out more permanently.

Murphy also joined forces with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen to oppose Senate repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits state "right-to-work" laws banning the union ship.

* * *

But Murphy stoutly contends he is not antilabor. He recounts with pride his two terms as president of the Screen Actors Guild (AFL-CIO) and the mine workers' card he held when he loaded coal at Portage, Pa., as a 20-year-old. He still carries an Actors' Guild card.

MISSES HOME

What's the biggest drawback or dissatisfaction in the new job, "I miss living at home."

Murphy's wife, Julie, and their 26-year-old son, Dennis, live in the family's Beverly Hills home, a frequent port of call for Hollywood sight-seeing buses.

"But I said I wouldn't live in Washington," Murphy declared. "I think a senator should live at home and spend as much time with his people as he can, learning about their problems."

* * *

What's the biggest legislative frustration?

POSSIBLE CURE

Probably taking part in an interesting debate with only a few senators on hand and few people in the galleries. He thinks television might help cure that.

The onetime movie star's hair is now iron grey but his ruddy face and bouncy manner belie his years. His last film was about 15 years ago, "Walk East on Beacon," a Communist spy thriller in which he played an FBI inspector.

How does it feel to shift from the public spotlight to a back row Senate seat?

* * *

No problem, Murphy says. Just being a senator and the multitude of speaking engagements give him plenty of limelight.

Besides, he quipped, "I'm still on the late, late show once in a while."

(Tomorrow: Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota.)

Climate Key to Ancient Africa Man

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Some 60,000 or 70,000 years ago, a cool dry climate spread over the African Sahara, breaking up long-standing prehistoric settlements called Acheulian and dividing the people to the north and the south.

Until the middle Pleistocene (glacial) age, the Sahara, with its abundance of water, had been very favorable to Acheulian hunting life. But water became scarce, vegetation changed and the people moved.

It was at this point, believes anthropologist J. Desmond Clark of the University of California, Berkeley, that Africa man began to separate into distinct cultural and physical groupings.

Acheulian populations in North Africa were penetrated and modified by Neanderthal man from Europe and the East.

* *

Meanwhile, other Acheulian groups spread south to be replaced by the Rhodesioids.

BECAME EXTINCT

Both Neaderthal and Rhodesoid men became extinct with the appearance about 30,000 years ago of the genes of modern man.

Thus, the Mediterranean people of North Africa and the basic Negro stock below the Sahara evolved into distinct genetic and cultural groups.

In North Africa, the Acheulian disappeared suddenly in rapid technological advance. An abundance of cutting and scraping instruments, closely resembling those of Palestine and Jordan, replaced the old hand-ax culture.

* * *

Throughout the rest of Africa, the Acheulian disappeared sporadically.

ARCHEOLOGICAL SITE

At the rich archeological site of Kalambo Falls in Central-East Africa, the final Acheulian has been set as far back as 52,000 years.

Dr. Clark reports in Science (Nov. 12) that at some time around 50,000 B. C., bands of Acheulian hunters entered the Congo basin (later than the Kalambo Falls settlement).

They quickly discarded their axes for wood-working tools, evolving a culture called Sangoan. The Sangoan "tool kit" reflects technical advances that had to be made by people living both in forests and on grasslands.

* * *

However, in parts of Ethiopia and South Africa, large herds of game roamed the open land, allowing the population to continue the unselective life of the Acheulian hunter.

Service Finds Jobs for Special Students

Pontiac Press Photo

K-MART EMPLOYE — Edwin Tripp of 644 Markle, one of 18 special education seniors in Pontiac Public Schools, is employed full-time at the K-Mart, 7 S. Glenwood at Glenwood Plaza. Thirteen of the 18 students have found full-time employment.

★ ★ ★

The operation of a full-time job placement service in Pontiac Public Schools this year for special education seniors of limited mental ability already is paying off in dividends.

★ ★ ★

Graham Lewis, work experience coordinator of the vocational adjustment program, points out certain accomplishments clearly showing that progress has been made.

Twelve of the 18 students in the program for example, have found full-time employment.

Some have been rated above average by their employers when compared with other employes.

Also, a few of these handicapped students are being paid more than adequate wages.

ADJUSTED STUDENTS

Lewis, who maintains an office at 87 Franklin Blvd., calls the program SAVE, meaning Students Adjusted Vocational Education.

The program is part of a countywide effort to make these students productive to the community so they can be self-supporting.

Much of the special education program is financed by Oakland Schools, which provides local school districts with evaluation and in-service training services.

★ ★ ★

Lewis admits that an attempt must be made "to bridge the gap between the student and the community."

POOR IMAGE

"The picture the community has of us is usually the special B-type" (children with IQs less than 50), he said.

"The program is only as effective as the community will receive us," Lewis insists.

Lewis, who has taught special education classes at Pontiac Northern High School and Madison Junior High School the past six years, plans to send information brochures to businesses and industries to narrow this gap.

Special education A-type students go to school full-time through their sophomore year. In their junior year, they attend classes one-half day and work the other half.

TRANSITION STAGE

Then, in their senior year, they go through a transition stage from school to community, seeking full-time employment.

Three of the 18 students in this year's senior class are currently employed at GMC truck and Coach Division, three in restaurants, two in retail stores, two as baby sitters, one at a laundry and one at a bottling company.

"In the right situation, these students will work out," offered Lewis, who tries to sell this belief to employers.

Special education students in Pontiac previously stayed in school until graduation.

Some were able to find permanent employment while others bounced around from job to job.

RIGHT ATTITUDE

Lewis contends these students must build a realistic attitude upon their own abilities.

"Some are afraid to work because they fear they will fail," Lewis noted.

"They need success badly. We've given the students the chance to go through school and to install confidence in certain skills."

In special education classes, emphasis is placed on vocational training and developing manual and basic skills.

FULL TRAINING

"You take the student as far as he can go," said Lewis.

"We can't specifically train for occupations. They need to be in a well-supervised position with a sympathetic employer. They must find the job that best suits their skills."

Each of the 18 seniors has an appointment with Lewis each week for counseling purposes.

The employed students are rated periodically by their employers, always in comparison with other employes.

If they are unable to cope with the job, dismissal may follow or an agreement may be negotiated between Lewis and the employer in which the student would receive partial pay on a training basis.

Under SAVE, Lewis hopes to make five-year follow-up studies of the students following graduation.

★ ★ ★

His findings would be incorporated in the classroom.

Lewis hopes to open a sheltered workshop in the near future so that students can learn skills to better prepare them for employment.

Pope Will Proclaim Key Council Decree

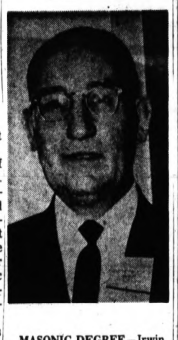

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI went to St. Peter's Basilica today to proclaim a key Ecumenical Council decree which gives scripture a greater role in the Catholic Church, encourages modern biblical scholarship and urges Christians to agree on a common Bible.

★ ★ ★

A second decree proclaimed today offers the Catholic laity a bigger role in church affairs.

In other action, Pope Paul today ordered the start of the beatification process for his two predecessors, John XXIII and Pius XII.

His action was a first step toward their possible canonization as saints.

MASONIC DEGREE—Irwin W. Mills, 98 E. New York, recently received the 32nd degree in Scottish Rite Freemasonry at the main Masonic Temple in Detroit.

To Study Four Major Areas

Waterford Unit Eyes Needs of Retarded

The Waterford Organization for Retarded Children (WORC), a group of interested citizens formed last spring, plans to undertake an extensive study this month.

The organization's survey of needs committee has designated four major areas for study.

★ ★ ★

- Continued development of educational programs for the mentally retarded.
- Diagnostic and family counseling services.
- Community education.
- Recreational programs.

In addition, members of WORC have a booth at Pontiac Mall this week in observance of Children's Week, Nov. 15-20. They are passing out pamphlets and displaying pictures.

The survey of needs committee declared that several important programs are currently needed for retarded children in Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Included are comprehensive preschool programs, a Type B program for Waterford Township Schools and a work-training and job placement program.

WORKSHOP NEED

The committee contends that sheltered workshop programs are needed for mentally handicapped children who aren't adequately served by existing school programs.

Public awareness and an understanding of the mentally retarded are paramount, according to spokesmen of the group. Active involvement of citizens is also necessary, it was added.

WORC meets at 7:30 p.m. the fourth Tuesday each month at Pierce Junior High School.

Members of the survey of needs committee include Dr. Robert E. James, 2082 Hammond Lake, West Bloomfield Township; Donald Place, consultant for special education at Oakland Schools; Rev. Lawrence Kaiser, assistant pastor of Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church, and Rev. Wilbur Courter, pastor of Four Towns Methodist Church.

Other committee members are Mrs. Robert L. McClendon, 1334 Alhi; John Dumas, 4100 Lanette; Thomas C. Simons, 2416 Silver Circle; and Mrs. Floyd Beauchamp, 2859 Marlington, all of Waterford Township.

Guild Strikes LA Paper as 11th-Hour Talks Fail

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Members of the American Newspaper Guild went on strike at 12:01 a.m. PST (3:01 a.m. EST) today against the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner when last-ditch contract negotiations failed, a spokesman reported.

★ ★ ★

A union spokesman indicated the major issues upon which agreement failed were a full guild shop and job security.

First Baby Is Always Big News

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My little girl is 8 years old and I am expecting another child soon. Would it be proper to send out birth announcements for this one also?

My husbnad does not think so. He says that announcements are sent out for a first child only. I can't see why the arrival of this second baby is any less important than the first.

A: I think it is true that the arrival of a first baby is always momentous news. Reports of others are taken each time more casually.

However, there is no rule against sending announcements, no matter how many times there may be occasion to do so. In this particular case, it seems to me that after eight years a second baby would cause quite as much interest as the first did.

ACKNOWLEDGING INVITATION

Q: When writing a formal acceptance, or regret, is it necessary to repeat the day and hour in the reply?

A: In accepting an invitation, the day and hour must be repeated so that, in case of mistake, it can be rectified and prevent one from arriving on a day or at an hour when one is not expected.

But in declining an invitation, it is not necessary to repeat the hour.

Remember, It Is the Oldsters' Money That Counts Today

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Commenting on television's intensified wooing of the teen market with prime-time spectacles of go-go chicks and thumping Beatle boys, New York Times columnist Jack Gould reminds the industry that it's we older family members who own the big green stuff to spend on its sponsors' products.

It's a point well taken.

Originally, when we better-heeled oldsters view these programs we're as enthralled as Squeedunk tourists viewing voodoo rites for the first time. In the Beatle boys' beat, the eel-like, boneless abandon of the go-go chicks, there's a certain horrifying fascination for the dotards among us who are obligated to wonder if the sudden twinge in the joint is the onset of arthritis.

★ ★ ★

But there comes a point. It's the point where the flapping hands at the end of the flopping arms of the go-go chicks begin to suggest that human screws have somewhere loosened and that we're watching, not boys and girls having fun but a convention of praying mantises gone suddenly maniacal.

As to the Beatles — well, I've done my tolerant best. I've said to myself, "Oh, come on, now, males don't HAVE to have short hair to be nice. Look at Charles II, Romeo, too, wore his hair long. So did John Milton and the Christian apostles. Remember George Washington, the father of your country, and maybe you'll feel better about these shaggy kids."

★ ★ ★

You never saw George Washington with a crew cut, did you? All right then, you're just prejudiced. Maybe if you put your hands over your ears so you can't hear these boys, you can just look at them, remembering how similar their hair style is to Abraham Lincoln's'

It hasn't worked.

Maybe because the long hair of the boys looks so unwashed and the writhings of the go-go chicks are so graceless.

★ ★ ★

Is it because our notion of the beauty of youth is affronted that we are revolted by the kids' present cult of untidy hair, stringy beards, too-tight pants and knobby knees in baby-girl dresses?

★ ★ ★

It becomes clear that the cult of personal sloppiness could become the new American way of life along with dirty air, the pollution of our rivers and lakes and highways disheveled by junk yards, pizza palaces and motel neon lights.

★ ★ ★

So we squares better take a stand while the taking is good. And join columnist Gould in reminding these television producers that their hep kid audience is still on allowance, and it's we seniles who control the big green stuff.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. Help! I am 13 years old and weigh 120 pounds. I am 5 feet 3 and my frame is medium. I know I am overweight but how much? Please answer this as soon as possible.

A. You are not very much overweight, just from six to eight pounds. You can lose that easily by cutting out some between-meal snacks and leaving off seconds.

Q. Summer is over and I hate to go back to school until I gain some weight. I saw a doctor in June and he said I just had to eat more, and that's what I've been doing—along with exercise and sleep — and I still weigh that same 97 pounds. Are there any foods which will make a girl gain weight?

NO SPECIAL FOODS

A. There are no special foods which will make you gain weight. The total number of calories you consume a day is the important factor. Of course some foods have many more calories than others and the thin woman can concentrate on these if she first plans a diet which is adequate in all foods essential to health.

* * *

Eat little snacks between meals and before going to sleep at night. These should not be heavy enough to make you skimp on your regular meals. Some would-be-gainers find that they succeed best when they eat five or six smaller meals a day rather than three larger ones.

* * *

Q. I have dark circles under my eyes although I am in excellent health. My mother has these also. I have heard that this is inherited. Is this true? Will my daughter have dark circles, too, and is there anything I can do about it?

SOMETIMES INHERITED

A. This characteristic does seem to run in families sometimes. However, this does not mean that your children will necessarily have dark circles. Thanks to modern cosmetics you can cover these so that they need not be the defect in beauty they once were.

* * *

Q. My eyes are too close together. How can I make this less noticeable with makeup?

A. Pluck the brows at the inner ends so that they are not so close together. Extend the outer ends of brows with eyebrow pencil. Use mascara only on the lashes toward the outer corners of the eyes. The same goes for eye shadow.

Bleach Does Best With Detergents

Good washing techniques reduce the need for bleaching. But when bleach is used, it's best to use small quantities frequently rather than a large quantity periodically.

* * *

The ideal point at which to add bleach is during the wash cycle. The effect of bleach and detergent when used together on your clothes is much greater than when either is used independently.

Sister Tells Abby Grave Tale of Late Brother's Will

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My brother, Joe, passed away last January and was buried in a plot with an empty plot beside it. I was told the other plot was for Hilda. (Hilda is his second wife.)

ABBY

I knew Joe had bought a double plot when his first wife, Zelda, died, and I was surprised that Joe wasn't buried next to Zelda. However, I didn't say anything.

Just yesterday my brother, Hymie, who was in charge of all the funeral arrangements, told me confidentially that in Joe's will he asked to be buried next to Zelda, but the will wasn't read until after the burial.

I told Hymie that I didn't think this was right, and we should take steps to do something about it. Hymie said, "Oh, what's the difference? Joe and Zelda are both dead now, and it might hurt Hilda." What do you think?

THE SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Let the sleeping man lie. No good will come from exhuming the issue.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Virgil and I have been married for 14 years and we have three children.

Our problem is our families—on both sides. They have made nervous wrecks of my husband and me. On the advice of several doctors, we have decided to quit associating with all our relatives, but they refuse to leave us alone.

They drop in all the time and irritate us by bringing up subjects they know we don't care to talk about. If they give us Christmas gifts this year, should we accept them or not? If you advise us to accept them, we'll have to give them gifts—right?

I hate the thought of such hypocrisy. There is no getting along with these people. They have stirred up nothing but trouble ever since our marriage. What is your advice?

VIRGIL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I advise you to follow your doctors' orders, and quit associating with all who irritate you. But let these people know of your intentions so they won't continue to drop in and annoy you. Once you have done this, you won't have to worry about any Christmas gifts.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest your answer to the roomer who had noticed things missing from his room, and later found it was the nine-year-old boy who had taken them.

I liked the answer you gave him, and hope for the boy's sake your advice is heeded.

If this roomer could sit down and visit with some of the 12- and 13-year-old boys in a Training School or Reform School, he'd learn that most of these boys blame their teachers and parents for letting them get away with small things until they were finally caught by the police, and then it was too late for parents to intervene.

I've worked with boys in trouble, and most of them tell me they never had a father who cared enough to [illegible]nish them unless he was dr[illegible], and then he used his fists or a club.

I know of some cases where the boy continued to steal until he tried the one "big job," which cost him his life with a bullet in his head or a car wreck while fleeing the police.

Maybe if you print this letter, parents and teachers will realize they owe the young people entrusted to them the time and effort to make sure they are punished for all wrong acts before it is too late.

Beach-bound gals will have a choice of lengths, as evidenced by these new bathing suits for next season. Mary Cleary (left) wears Catalina's tiny Bikini. Lynn Brophy (center) models an Elisabeth Stewart flowered jersey blouson suit, with matching cocktail skirt. Dee Margell (right) wears Cole's long Janes, a knee-length suit with striped top.

The 'Barely-There' Bikini Story 'Covered' in West

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Bathing suits for next year emerge barer than ever in the California designers preview, so bare, in fact, that they're covered by everything from carpenters' aprons to Tahitian trousers.

LITTLE LEFT

There was little left to the imagination in the barely-there bikinis and clinging and cut-out bathing suits displayed at the California fashion creators showing of resort and spring wear Wednesday.

Imagination, instead, concentrated on how to cover the swimsuits.

★ ★ ★

Catalina showed a denim carpenter's apron over a brief matching bikini. A cable knit overblouse topped a matching swimsuit.

★ ★ ★

But most popular of all were the knee-length, ruffled trousers variously called long jammies and surf britches.

The trousers, sometimes covering bikini trunks, at other times paired only with brief bikini bras, were patterned from the surfer trousers which first became popular in Tahiti, a Catalina spokesman said.

SAME AS SURFERS

They turned up in the Cole of California collection as well. They date back, a Catalina spokesman said, to the roomy bathing trunks male surfers used for comfort in riding the Pacific Ocean waves.

They come striped, flowered, and polka-dotted.

★ ★ ★

The results: Windbreaker jackets in everything from waterproof fabric to cotton prints; laced trunks and cotton-knit surfer shirts for both beach and campus wear.

★ ★ ★

The bare look, spurred by the topless swimsuit nearly two years ago, inspired a few daring numbers in last year's swimsuit collection. This year, however, a suit which was merely lacking straps, midriff or sides, is sans all three.

★ ★ ★

Elisabeth Stewart displayed the most lady-like suits, softly clinging to the body with a natural, Jean Harlow look.

★ ★ ★

She disguised her suits with ankle-length beach dresses, tailored jackets, ankle-length skirts and sweater-like pullovers.

GRANNY DRESS

The granny dress, an empire-waisted Mother Hubbard which California teen-agers stitched up for themselves last summer, was taken over by most of the sportswear manufacturers in fabrics ranging from floral prints to eyelet lace-trimmed solid colors.

"An Evening With Clifford West" is the theme for an event planned by the Bloomfield Art Association to honor the award winning film maker who was one of the founding members of the association.

At 8:30 p.m. the public will be invited to join the group and to see West's film "Harry Bertoia's Sculpture" which recently won the Golden Eagle Award of Cine.

Two other West films also will be shown.

A "Meet the Artist" session is planned after viewing the three films.

E. Berlin Truth Is Between Red Optimism, People's Pessimism

BERLIN (AP) — "The damned Russians," the old man said, leaning heavily on his cane. "They robbed us blind. And now our own Genossen (German Communist) comrades) say they will rebuild all this in five years. I don't believe it."

The old man looked around the square in East Berlin between the bombed-out twin German and French cathedrals, where so far the Communists have rebuilt one pillar to keep the French cathedral's main entrance from falling down.

* * *

Elsewhere, a wiry Communist party official outlined the regime's plan for a new Berlin. A glistening white plastic model of a new city center was at his elbow.

"It is important, that you see the naked truth," he told an American reporter. "That is all we ask."

'NAKED TRUTH'

The "naked truth" of East Berlin is hard to come by. The Communists speak solely in enthusiastic terms while people say very little of what they think.

The truth apparently lies somewhere between the pessimism of the old man and the optimism of the party functionary.

* * *

For the Communists, East Berlin has apparently become top priority, the place to put East Germany's best foot forward.

The year 1970 is their target date for completion of a facelifting. For years after World War II, East Berlin has been a drab, sad city still largely in ruins—in comparison with West Berlin.

EXPERT'S VIEW

A U.S. economic expert says: "The Communists have a real chance to accomplish what they have set out to do. They have taken a major decision to make East Berlin a showplace.

"Their economy is moving forward and for years now the Russians have quit taking everything the East Germans produced. The question remains, however, how good a job they can do, how long what they build will last, how good the workmanship will be. They still lack materials, as well as workers, and the workers still lack initiative.

* * *

"You might say there is much building in East Berlin but it is not what we in America would call a boom."

Nor is the lack of workers, materials, and initiative the only problem the Communists face in trying to match what has been accomplished in West Berlin.

YOUNG PEOPLE

There is resistance among young people, even after constant indoctrination.

When three East Berlin policemen formed a circle around the writer, giving him a traffic ticket, a blond of about 20 walked by. He looked at the green-clad, booted cops, sneered and said, "ihr schweine" (you pigs).

* * *

The police did nothing.

For the casual visitor to East Berlin, the downtown area has changed considerably in recent years.

The area along the Berlin Wall near the Brandenburg Gate, has been spruced up although guards with submachine guns remain there.

THICK CARPET

A thick carpet of grass stretches down the street behind a neat wire fence, curving over a mount that denotes the bunker where Adolf Hitler died.

Unter Den Linden, leading into East Berlin from the Brandenburg Gate and once the most famous of German boulevards, again is graced by trees. New glass and steel buildings are interspersed with the restored opera house and Humboldt University and the mammoth Soviet Embassy. An automobile salesroom shows brightly hued Soviet-bloc cars.

* * *

There is speculation that when all is ready, the Communists will reopen the Brandenburg Gate as a crossing point for foreigners, thereby making it possible to usher them directly into the heart of what they want to see.

The Berlin cathedral is a massive, if cleaned up, ruin. Unlike the German and French cathedrals which the Communists say they will restore, the Berlin cathedral will not be rebuilt—"it is not a work of art and therefor not worth the millions of marks rebuilding would cost."

DOMINATES SQUARE

The cathedral dominates Marx-Engels Square. If it were rebuilt, it would also dominate the heart of the new city center the Communists are planning.

In both halves of Berlin, busy city planners are mapping out new streets, highways, bridges and rail lines that project into the other half of the city.

The hub of the projected Communist city center is to be old Alexander Square around which are grouped department stores now run by Ho, a giant, all purpose, state-run store.

Ho's ads amuse the English speaking observer because "Ho-Ho-Ho-Ho" posters appear beneath Communist flags.

PAINTED HOUSES

Off Alexander Square, the Communists have built brightly painted apartment houses and cultural buildings that represent a first step toward the all-German Socialist look that the Walter Ulbricht regime is trying to create.

Rents in the new East Berlin apartments average 130 marks monthly—about $32 at the East German rate of exchange. They are about those in older Russian-style buildings.

East Berliners are better dressed, have more to eat and buy, than was the case a few years ago. But East Berlin as a capital leaves the impression of a police state, regulated by countless people in uniform.

Few Russians are seen in the streets, but thousands of Russian troops are just outside the city.

May Lighten Human Skin

By Science Service

LONDON — Dark human skin might eventually be lightened using information from studies of certain compounds that turn dark frog skin a lighter color.

For camouflage purposes of hiding and feeding in nature, a frog's skin can turn dark or light to a certain degree by expansion or contraction of dark pigment areas in the skin called melanocytes.

When cutoff portions of a frog's skin are experimentally treated with a chemical hormone called MSH, the pigmented melanocytes expand and the skin is darkened, report Joseph McGuire and Halvor Moller, Yale-New Haven Medical Center, New Haven, Conn.

Human skin can become darkened when this hormone is administered, the scientists state in Nature, Oct. 30 issue.

When the frog's predarkened skin is subjected to lightening compounds called melstonin, norepinephrine and acetylcholine, the melanocytes contract and the skin lightens.

They found a significant difference in the response of these two layers to the lightening compounds: The melanocytes of a darkened skin in the epidermal layers did not respond to melatonin, but those in the inner layers contracted and hence lightened the skin. When melatonin is added to human skin, there is no response, they said.

Expert Explains, Defends Power Grid---the System That Failed

NEW YORK (AP) — History's worst power failure apparently began in a piece of equipment the size of a household electric meter. But the larger question is what's to prevent it from happening again — accidentally or on purpose?

That question goes beyond the immediate cause of the recent massive blackout.

It is troubling defense planners, government officials, and power company executives, and has caused at least the 30 million persons whose utter dependence on electricity became dramatically clear Nov. 9-10 to wonder about the very nature of a power grid, the distribution system which enabled the failure to zip across the Northeast like a run in a stocking.

Power grids are interlocking networks of utility company lines which now extend to the Rockies and in a few years are expected to link 48 contiguous states in one big party line.

THEORY IS GOOD

"The theory is good," said electrical engineer Lawrence J. Hollander. "There is nothing wrong with the theory."

Hollander is assistant to the dean of New York University's School of Engineering and Science, and is one of a few academic men in the United States whose scholarly field is power generation, transmission, and distribution. When the lights went out last week Hollander was in the middle of a lecture on the effects of lightning striking transmission lines.

The power grid theory, in broad terms, involves companies with power to spare sending it quickly on interconnecting lines to companies with temporary shortages.

Years ago, each company operated independently. Each had to have what was called spinning reserve — spare generators rotating but not producing electricity, against the possibility of a working generator failing.

MADE SENSE

It made sense, then, for two companies to agree to keep a single spinning reserve to satisfy both. The more companies making such cooperative agreements, the better. In the northeastern United States, 42 companies are thus interconnected. Among them are more than 400 generators, all linked together.

Another advantage of such a network is that electricity can be delivered to customers more economically.

* * *

Old generators tend to be inefficient, producing electricity at costs as high as 8.5 cents a kilowatt hour. Newer ones can do it for as low as three-tenths of a cent. A kilowatt hour is the amount of electricity it takes to light ten 100-watt bulbs for an hour.

Many times it's cheaper for a company to buy extra electricity for demanding customers from another company, which has efficient generators operating than to produce its own with only tired old machines on hand. Electricity can't be stored; it must be produced the instant demanded.

COMPUTERS TELL

Computers tell companies at every moment where the cheapest electricity is available within the network.

These networks have been formed throughout the country, and all of them are connected with neighboring networks. But at present the internetwork connections are generally weak. Thus trouble in one network usually doesn't spread to another. They're much like big water systems connected only with garden hoses. The eventual plan is to replace the weak connections with strong ones, thus expanding the company buddy system between networks.

* * *

And thus also expanding the area vulnerable to a house-of-cards power failure?

"Not necessarily," said engineer Hollander. "Time zones and seasonal differences can save us.

TIME DIFFERS

"When it's 5 p.m. in New York, a time of heavy power load, there's plenty of surplus power in, say, Los Angeles where it's the middle of the afternoon." Similarly, power needs in sunny Dixie differ at any given moment from those in frigid New England, and each can bail out the other.

But how vulnerable is a network to — dare anyone mention it — sabotage?

"If I wanted to knock out the entire northeastern United States, just as happened Nov. 9," said Hollander, "I would pick a Thursday or Friday night just before Christmas. That would be a time of enormous load — lots of lights, stores open for shoppers, cold weather. That would be the time to do it. And I would simply cause some damage to the backbone line."

The backbone line is the extra high voltage — EHV — wire running from the big plants at Niagara Falls through Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Utica, Albany and Poughkeepsie to New York City. At some points along the route, but not all, there are double lines, providing a backup system.

LINKED TO BACKBONE

All the systems in the entire eight-state network are linked eventually to the backbone.

And, most significant, all the generators in the network are in precise synchronization, each turning as though on a single axle. They have to be, Hollander explained, so that the entire system will throb simultaneously at 60 cycles a second.

Should a generator accidentally get out of synchronization it must correct itself quickly — or get off the system. Automatic equipment is supposed to see that it does one or the other.

* * *

If a big bird should fly between the high-powered transmission lines, for example, or a tree limb fall and disturb the flow, a device called a relay detects it and causes a circuit breaker to open momentarily — for 1.5 to 3 cycles, the barest fraction of a 60-cycle second — then close again.

* * *

If the trouble hasn't passed, the process repeats itself. If after a third time it still hasn't fixed itself automatically, a repairman has to go out in a truck.

SUPPOSED TO DO

"That's what the automatic equipment is supposed to do," Hollander said. "Sometimes the equipment may not perform as expected. Perhaps the answer is more backup systems, more redundancy. Hollander said when the backbone lines is heavily loaded the generators are extremely sensitive, subject to the slightest disturbance. That was exactly the situation the night of the big blackout. New York City at that time was drawing enormous amounts of power from the huge Niagara sources.

Something caused a disturbance — nobody seems to know what — and the little relay box signaled a circuit breaker to open near the giant plant at Queenston, Ont., four miles north of Niagara Falls.

* * *

Instead of isolating the troubled line, the breaker sent its current to other lines, already loaded. They couldn't handle the excess. The current flowing to New York reversed itself and, like air in a punctured tire, rushed to the point of least resistance, draining the power from the city.

* * *

At a different time of day, under a lesser load, generators throughout the system might have met the sudden demand.

DO NO MORE

But generators, like donkeys, will do only as much as they are capable and no more. When they sensed electronically that they couldn't meet the demand they cut themselves off to protect their own wiring, click, click, click, click, and 80,000 square miles went dark.

Yes, Hollander said, it could happen again. But in his view expanding the grid system would do more to reduce that chance than increase it.

New Devices Aid to Divers

By Science Service

SMITH MOUNTAIN DAM, Va. — For the first time, divers can now spend a full eight-hour workday underwater in a new diving system.

In the first commercial application of a submersible pressure chamber of Westinghouse Electric Corp., divers are making repairs at the bottom of the Smith Mountain Dam Lake, 200 feet underwater.

Divers, using only scuba equipment, can stay at such depths only a few minutes, and even those with "hard hat" compression equipment can stay for only 20 minutes a day.

The equipment, called Cachalot after the deep-diving sperm whale, consists of a deck or surface pressure chamber, a submersible pressure chamber and all associated equipment needed to support life and the operation itself.

Cylinders on the diving chamber contain premixed oxygen and helium that divers breathe while thay are working, and lifelines supply divers with the air mixture, communications, power for lights and warm water for their diving suits.

CHOOSE TO CHEW — Attaching upholstery doesn't seem like too difficult a job, but it can be 'taxing' at times. Doing the job requires keeping a mouthful of tacks and also time to carry on normal activities. A worker (known as a "tack spitter"), Norman Cromer (left), shows how he loads up with chewing tobacco before taking on tax. John Hussey shows how he shoves the magnetized hammer into his mouth for a tack.

They Hammer and Yammer

Tack Spitting Task Is Taxing

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Cliff Kennedy can chew gum on one side of his jaw and keep tacks in the other while working.

That's nothing.

Norman Cromer can chew tobacco, keep a batch of tacks in the other side of his mouth and drink water at the same time.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy and Cromer are "tack spitters" at one of the many furniture plants in High Point.

★ ★ ★

A tack spitter throws a handful of tacks in his mouth, then spits them out head first onto a magnetized hammer he uses in upholstering chairs and sofas.

FAST WORKER

The speed of the workers is so remarkable that Bill Horne Jr., a plant superintendent and former tack spitter, said, "I wonder sometimes when I stand off and watch some of the workers if a tack is on the end of the hammer every time it hits."

Horne swallowed a handful of tacks once, but it didn't frighten him.

"Doctors said the acids in my stomach would dissolve the tacks. Apparently it did because I never had any ill effects from it."

"You can work with tacks so long," Horne explained, "that you become unaware they're in your mouth. I went to lunch one day and bit down on the food before I discovered I had forgotten to take the tacks out of my mouth."

FADING AWAY

The tack spitter is gradually being replaced in some plants by workers who use stapling guns.

E. O. Embler, who has been spitting tacks since 1930, said, "A lot of the work I do is handtufted upholstery, and I can do a better job with tacks than a stapling gun."

Bill Davis, 37, a tack spitter since he was 15, is exceptionally fast and can work with two sizes of tacks in his mouth at the same time.

"I guess I've swallowed a dozen or more in the past 22 years," Davis said.

KEEP TALKING

The workers carry on a running conversation with tacks in their mouths.

Kennedy considers himself lucky, saying: "I haven't swallowed a tack in 24 years."

John Hussey, a veteran of 27 years, said, "The first time I swallowed a tack it scared me. I've swallowed some since then, but I've driven more tacks into my left hand."

Pete Wood, 57, is an old-timer among tack spitters. He began in 1922 before the magnetized hammer came along. Wood said in those days the tack spitter would shove the tack out head first onto his thumb and push the tack into the fabric before nailing it.

TOBACCO CHEWERS

J. R. Deaton, 63, another old-timer, said in the old days many tack spitters chewed tobacco to counteract the metallic taste the tacks.

The tacks of today are sterilized and apparently tasteless.

Volunteers May Cut January Draft

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey predicts a drop in draft calls by January because of a heavy increase in voluntary enlistments for the armed services.

But he doubts that the upturn in the draft picture will bring any change in present plans to begin drafting married men without children.

He also adds that "all bets are off if there's any major escalation" in the war in Viet Nam.

Hershey said yesterday in an interview that the services have had an over-all increase of 60 per cent in voluntary enlistments since last summer's step-up in the war effort.

★ ★ ★

This, he said, should result in a reduction of the number of men that will be needed for the draft in January.

DRAFT QUOTA

January's draft quota is expected to be announced soon by the Pentagon. The draft call for December now stands at 40,000 men, the highest since the Korean War.

Hershey said that the expected decrease in the draft probably would not affect plans to call men married before last Aug. 26 because many local boards have exhausted their supply of single men in the heavy calls of the past three months.

The Pentagon is using the expanded draft calls to boost the total strength of the armed forces by about 340,000 men.

★ ★ ★

Despite enlistment increases, Hershey said, local boards were still scrambling to fill increased quotas. Many of the volunteers are men the draft had approved and alerted for induction, he said.

"They join rather than be drafted for such reasons as selecting their branch and where they want to go," Hershey said. "About 80 to 90 per cent of these volunteers were men who joined just to beat the draft."

Hershey said local boards are closely watching college students who fail to make the grade. Some boards have drafted graduate students and undergraduates making less than normal progress.

The Selective Service director said he has told local boards to request colleges and universities to keep tabs on students. "If the colleges can't tell the difference between good and bad students, who can?" Hershey asked.

★ ★ ★

But there are no plans at present to urge drafting of such college students, he said.

Hershey said he was continuing to press for induction and training of high school dropouts who cannot pass military entrance examinations.

★ ★ ★

He wants such men drafted, trained for six weeks and then tested and evaluated to determine if they are capable of remaining in service for a two-year stint.

Many Cooks Are Fixing Venison

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The cars have started coming back with deer draped over the fenders. It's a sight we'll see often in the next two weeks.

We hope that if your husband returns with a 200-pound deer, you like venison — and like to prepare it.

★ ★ ★

If he's up north hunting, you might drop in the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Office at 155 North Saginaw and buy a "Venison" booklet. Published by Michigan State University, it costs just 10 cents and has invaluable suggestions.

Josephine Lawyer, consumer marketing agent, says that "most of the strong disagreeable flavor in venison is due to inadequate bleeding, delay or carelessness in dressing, failure to cool promptly and thoroughly, or blood from a shot wound spreading along the membrane through the muscles."

How much edible meat will you get from a deer? About 70 to 75 per cent. You'll have between 85 and 105 pounds of meat from that 200-pound deer.

★ ★ ★

Needless to say, it is much easier if you can have the meat cut, wrapped and frozen for you. Most home freezers can't freeze that much at once.

Everyone we've ever discussed venison with has had one main suggestion. Venison need not be a strong gamey meat and won't be if you trim away the fat.

When you cook it, you must replace this fat with suet, butter or other fat.

★ ★ ★

Your deer may have been a young one so that chops and steaks can be broiled or pan fried. But chances are, he was older.

MOIST HEAT

Braising, pot roasting and stewing will give you more acceptable dishes. Use low temperatures.

A Jackson hunter gives this recipe for Deerburgers: two pounds ground venison, one-fourth pound of suet, a handful of moist bread, sliced onion and seasoning. Mix well and cook like hamburgers.

Perhaps you would like to try a recipe for venison stew with dumplings.

VENISON STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

3 pounds venison (use neck meat, shoulder meat, or shoulder chops)
2 teaspoons MSG, divided
1½ teaspoons salt, divided
1 teasoon paprika
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅓ cup flour
¼ cup bacon drippings or shortening.
3½ cups water
1 meduim onion, sliced
marrow bones, optional
1 bay leaf
4 parsley sprigs
2 celery stalks with leaves
12 small white onions, peeled
6 medium carrots, scraped and halved
3 medium potatoes, pared and halved
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon each, dry mustard, celery salt and poultry seasoning

★ ★ ★

Trim all tallow, cartilege and sinew from meat; cut meat into 1½ inch pieces. Sprinkle meat with 1½ teaspoons of the MSG.

Blend together 1 teaspoon of the salt, paprika and pepper with flour; roll meat in flour mixture. Melt bacon or shortening in a large, deep kettle. Add meat and brown on all sides.

Add water, sliced onion, marrow bones, bay leaf, parsley and celery. Cover; simmer 2 hours, or until meat is tender.

★ ★ ★

Refrigerate overnight or several hours. Carefully remove all solidified tallow from the stew, blotting around the edge of kettle with paper toweling.

Remove marrow bones, bay leaf, parsley and celery. Add remaining ½ teaspoon MSG and other ingredients; heat to serving temperature.

Drop Dumplings* by spoonfuls (6) on top of pieces of meat or vegetables. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Cover tightly and cook 10 minutes longer.

YIELD: 6 generous servings.

Dumplings

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup milk

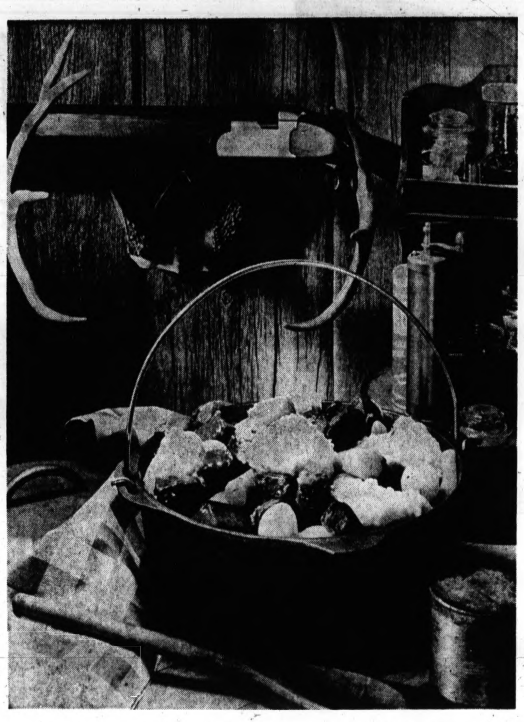

★ ★ ★

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening to resemble coarse corn meal. Add milk; mix just enough to combine all ingredients.

- Marrowbones add fine flavor to venison stew, and the marrow can be spooned out and eaten; it is delicious.
- Sauce for venison steak or venison chops: After pan broiling, add a little water, butter, ½ jar currant jelly, and 1 jigger sherry. Bring to a boil, stirring in the bits that cling to the pan, and pour over the steaks.
- Roast venison is delicious, but it has a tendency to dryness if not properly cooked. Either lard it or cover it with strips of fat, salt pork or bacon as it roasts. Cook as for rare roast beef.
- You will have plenty of meat for the freezer. Store the steaks and chops separately in vapor proof freezer wrap and label them.

Cut some of the remaining meat into 1-inch cubes for stew, wrap them the same way, and freeze them. If you are making a stew or the other cooked dishes, it's a splendid time-saver to make up a large batch at once and freeze.

Store the stew in plastic containers with tight-fitting lids.

HUNTER'S CHOICE — It's hearty Venison Stew with Dumplings. An expert hunter's recipe, as well as his tips for preparing other flavorful venison dishes.

Ever add curry powder to green pea soup? Serve hot or cold.

Interesting combination: cooked buttered snap beans sprinkled with flaked coconut.

Ever serve poached eggs on toast spread with deviled ham? Nice for Sunday brunch.

An A-Peeling Story

Review Your Knowledge of Onions

Difficult as it may seem to swallow (in thought only), the ubiquitous onion is a member of the lily family. They would hardly seem to be kissin' cousins, for while we do not eat the flowers, the vegetable relative certainly doesn't smell like one.

Just a bit of the flavorful root adds lively zest to nearly all our foods: bread and rolls, soups, stews, sauces, salads, meat, fish, poultry, eggs and other vegetables. But there are myriad ways to gild the edible lily to make it a delightful mealtime dish.

Onion can do much more than simply add sliced flavor to hamburger on a roll, as these imaginative recipes for Stuffed Onions, Onion Pie and Onion Relish will prove.

One thing all three have in common is Tabasco liquid red pepper seasoning, which adds piquant spiciness to the other recipe ingredients used with the onion.

There are numerous types of onions, varying in size, shape, color, flavor and aroma. Three-quarters of the almost two billion pounds of dry onions consumed every year in the U. S. are of the yellow varieties. The remainder are white, red and brown.

Onions should be stored in a cool, dry, dark place to prevent sprouting and decay, as heat and moisture encourage onions to resume growth.

If you buy them in an air-tight polyethylene bag, transfer them to a loosely woven bag or container to allow good circulation. Onions may be kept in the refrigerator in a tightly sealed container.

To remove the smell of onions from your hands or utensils, rub with lemon juice or rind, or vinegar; then wash with soap and water.

Onion Relish

7 cups chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup chopped red pepper
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon Tabasco
2 cups sugar
2 cups vinegar

Combine all ingredients in saucepan; bring to boil; cook, uncovered, 5 minutes. Pour into clean hot preserve jars. Refrigerate. If desired, drain off some of liquid. Yield: Approximately 4 cups.

Stuffed Onions

4 large yellow onions
¾ cup cooked ground meat
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup catsup
2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Peel onions, being careful not to damage outer layer. Cut a slice from stem end (no longer than ¼ the size of the onion). Gently remove inside, leaving a thickness of 2 layers all around.

Chop removed onion; combine 2 tablespoons of onion with meat; add Tabasco and salt to meat mixture. Stuff each onion with about 3 tablespoons of filling.

Place onions in skillet with melted butter mixed with catsup; cover and let simmer for about 30 minutes. Baste frequently with catsup mixture. Sprinkle with dry bread crumbs and parsley before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

Ground ham, veal or beef may be used.

Onion Pie

1 9-inch unbaked pastry shell
7 medium yellow onions, sliced
4 eggs
2 cups (1 pint) sour cream
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon dry basil leaves

Chill pastry shell. Saute onions until golden and transparent. Drain; arrange onions in pastry shell. Beat eggs slightly and stir into sour cream; season with salt, Tabasco and basil. Pour over onions.

Bake in 450 degree oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue to bake 45 minutes longer or until filling is set. Yield: 8 servings.

ONION DISHES — The ubiquitous onion does more than just flavor dishes. Feature it in onion pie, stuffed onions and a zesty relish, all seasoned with Tabasco liquid red pepper.

CAN'T RESIST TOUCH — This visitor to the Food and Culinary Arts Show in Detroit sneaks a feel of this statuette of Daniel Boone on a horse made of a lardlike substance. The carving was done by a chef at the Detroit Athletic Club and was one of many sculptures done in several substances, including ice.

Return to U.S. After 17 Years in Britain Staggers Newsman

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Hal Cooper recently returned to the United States after 17½ years on the AP's London staff. Here's his account of his first impressions of his native hearth after long absence.)

By HAL R. COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Saloons open all day long instead of decently closed 15 hours in 24. Private cars the size of pantechnicons. Rugby matches on the Sabbath. Race horses running counterclockwise. People running every damn which way.

We have made a prodigal's return from 17½ quiet years in England. It was assumed that adjustment would be difficult, but the reality is staggering. The mind, in fact, boggles.

* * *

There is, for example, the effect on two London-born sons aged 8 and 9. The 9-year-old, whose broad A's were the pride of the household, pipes up with "What are you, Daddy, some kinda nut or something?" In the purest accents of Long Island—this after one month in America.

There is the dizzying selection of programs on television, where in England you explored the only three channels, turned the thing off and went to bed.

77 VARIETIES

There are other trials:

The agonizing indecision when confronted by a bar's 77 varieties of bourbon and rye after nearly two decades of no choice but scotch.

The nagging fear of injury when staggering away from the newsstand with a Sunday edition which outweighs the combined Sunday editions in Her Majesty's tight little island.

The necessity to buy an automobile whether you want one or not because everybody else has one and the kids mustn't develop a feeling of inferiority.

True, there are compensations in living in America.

DON'T NEED LOAN

It is possible to buy a carton of cigarettes without first floating a bank loan-British price, 77 cents a pack.

* * *

You can go into a soda fountain and call for a chocolate malted milk and they serve you a chocolate malted milk. British reaction: "What's a malted milk?"

* * *

When it's cold outside you just pop inside somewhere and it's warm—central heating is the norm, not a novelty.

There are green vegetables the year around instead of nothing but brussels sprouts, the number of ice cream flavors seems unlimited, many highways outside urban areas were designed for the motor car rather than the horse and buggy and if you're bored on a Sunday afternoon there's the movies or pro football. In England Sunday is for church, or you can take a nice, long nap.

DISCONCERTING

The way Americans dash around to earn the wherewithal for the affluent life is a little disconcerting. Still, look at our Gross National product.

If a working stiff in England doesn't feel like facing his job on a given day and makes a phony sick call to his employer, how does he spend the time off? Sure, he may work in his garden. But more likely he'll sit around with his feet up in the morning reading the Race form and spend the afternoon in one of the 15,000 legal betting shops trying to root home a couple of winners. In Britain they run clockwise, but if you think that makes it easier to pick them you're some kinda nut or something.

* * *

Here, well. Two moonlighting hospital orderlies took two days off to clean up our rented house, a moonlighting carpenter replaced a dud unit in the electric stove and a moonlighting postal employe drives us to our commuter train every morning in his moonlighting cab.

Everything is a little easier going in England. Take students.

* * *

When English students are in a state of social ferment they are likely to work it off by draping a pair of black nylon panties on one of the spires of Westminster Palace, the home of Parliament.

Here, they burn their draft cards.

Georgia Car Licenses Top 2 Million Record

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Vehicular license tag sales have passed the two-million mark for the first time in Georgia's history.

A spokesman for the motor vehicle unit said Wednesday that plates sold during the first 10 months of the year totaled 2,037,583, compared with 1,942,286 during the same period last year.

Decision-Making Approaches Need Study for Children's Sake

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Children often have a great deal of insight about their own problems.

They are sometimes confused by parental and teacher decisions in which they are not consulted. The result is a lack of understanding and, possibly, rebellious action.

On the other hand, there can be too few decisions made. Neither approach solves the problem.

This can be emphasized by a number of questions written to this column by young readers?

Some of the individuals writing these letters are seeking to be involved in various parental and teacher actions. In other cases, the opposite is true.

ASKED WHY

Some writers have asked why their parents or teachers do not make decisions. Every time there is a question, the response is to form a committee to study the problem, or the answer is a question such as, "What would you suggest?"

Perhaps there is an important lesson in these letters. All those concerned with children should review their own approaches to decision making. The democratic process is not at stake here, but rather the responsibility of parents and teachers.

Obviously, children want and should have a balance between the two types of decision making.

It is not reasonable to expect a child to accept all decisions blindly nor is it a good idea to always avoid making decisions.

IN TWO WAYS

Where do we draw the line? This must be done in two ways.

Each problem or question which arises should be considered on its own merits. There should also be a periodic review to consider if a reasonable balance exists. At all times, it is necessary to consider the child and his particular needs.

A letter from Gail, a 6th grader, complains that her parents have scheduled homework, play, television and music lessons at specific times without talking to her.

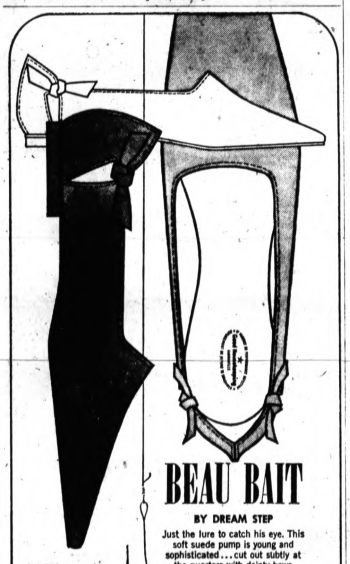

She indicates that she understands the need for a schedule but that this particular schedule does not meet her needs.

HOMEWORK DAYS

Most of Gail's homework is assigned on Tuesday and Thursday. These are the days on which her parents have scheduled music lessons. Play time has been scheduled when her friends are not available.

There is an obvious need for better communications between Gail and her parents. Gail is being most sincere about meeting her responsibilities.

It would seem that this kind of decision should involve the child both from the standpoint of planning a realistic schedule and helping Gail continue to be a responsible citizen.

Aircraft Plant Strike Looms

Could Cut Jet Output, Delay Gemini Shots

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Machinists at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. are preparing for a strike at midnight that would halt production of Phantom jet fighter planes used in Viet Nam and could delay two Gemini space shots.

Some 11,000 members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists jammed a downtown auditorium Wednesday and overwhelmingly rejected a company contract offer. The rejection is tantamount to a strike vote. The McDonnell plant has 35,000 employes, 17,000 of them machinists.

★ ★ ★

A strike would immediately hit production of the Phantoms, used by the Navy, Air Force and Marines in Viet Nam. About 50 now are on McDonnell production lines.

The walkout also may reach to Cape Kennedy, Fla., where about 500 McDonnell employes, including some machinists, are working on the launch of Gemini 6 and 7, scheduled for Dec. 4 and 13.

ACCEPTANCE

Machinists at the Cape voted to accept the contract proposal, but union officials said the local is closely aligned with the St. Louis local and might be tied in with what is done in St. Louis.

William Rollins, president of the union's District 9, said in St. Louis pickets will be set up at the McDonnell plant in St. Louis and at the Cape.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Houston said the effect of a strike on the Gemini launchings could not be forecast "until we know its extent and duration."

Eugene Glover, machinist union vice president, said the union must "take into account the situation at the Cape."

CONFER TODAY

He said he would confer today in a three-way telephone hookup with union officials in Washington and representatives of the Cape Kennedy members. One of the points to be discussed, he said, is a possible dispensation from striking for machinists working on the Gemini launchings.

★ ★ ★

Federal officials in Washington expressed their concern.

"The national interest requires that immediate further efforts be made to resolve the dispute," Director William Simkin of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said in a telegram to company and union officials. He asked them to meet with him Friday in Washington.

McDonnell offered a nine cents an hour wage increase in each of the next three years and improved fringe benefits and working conditions.

★ ★ ★

But Tom Stipe, head steward of District 9, called it "half a contract."

The union says its average wage is $2.77 an hour, $1 under some other major aircraft producers.

★ ★ ★

Power Cells' Trouble May Stall Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Trouble with power-producing fuel cells threatens to delay the Dec. 4 launch date of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr.

Sources said any postponement probably would be for two days. There was no indication when a decision would be made.

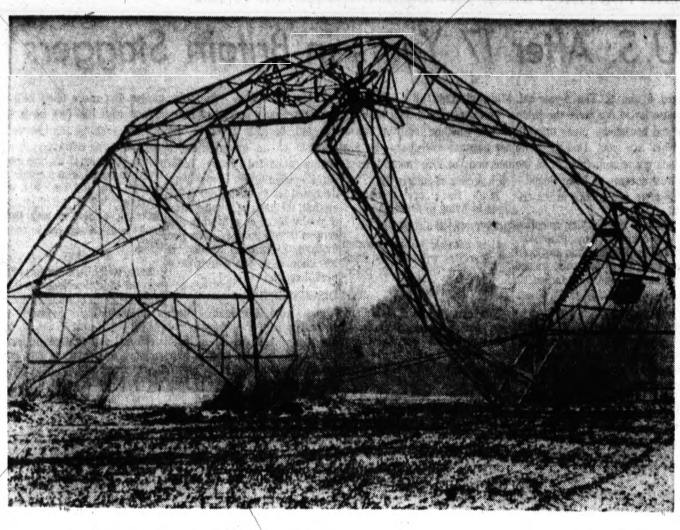

★ ★ ★

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration official said there was a possibility of keeping the Dec. 4 schedule by working on Thanksgiving and weekends, normally off days.

A NASA spokesman said that during a test Tuesday, pressure apparently built up and forced liquid hydrogen into the two fuel cells, which combine hydrogen and oxygen to produce electrical power. The spokesman said the cells may not have been harmed, but to be on the safe side for the intended 14-day mission, the decision was made to replace them.

★ ★ ★

If Gemini 7 is delayed, the companion Gemini 6' flight, to be launched nine days after Gemini 7, also would be postponed.

Severed Hand Sewn Back On

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Medical men say it will be several days before results of an eight-hour operation to save an East Texas cowboy's severed hand will be known.

Henry Brown, 58, lost the hand Wednesday when he roped a steer from horseback at a ranch near Elkhart shortly before noon. Part of the rope looped around his lower arm and, as the steer pulled away, his right hand was ripped off at the wrist.

★ ★ ★

Other ranch hands rushed Brown to a hospital at Palestine, and doctors packed the hand and arm in ice. He was then sped by ambulance to the Tyler Medical Center, where doctors performed the operation.

Brown remained conscious en route to Tyler and described the accident to ambulance attendants.

O. Henry was the pen name of William Sydney Porter.

France Ousts Nationalist China Scribe

PARIS (AP) — A Nationalist Chinese newsman, Francis Ting, was expelled from France today. Informed sources said the Interior Ministry ordered him to leave because France had established diplomatic relations with Peking.

Ting had been in France for 10 years. His paper will continue to be represented by his assistant, Shih-chien Chao.

France established diplomatic relations with Peking in January 1964 and broke them with the Nationalist government.

TOKYO (AP) — The defense agency's research institute today postponed the test of a Japanese-made ground-to-ground missile because of opposition from residents near the testing range.

The tests were to have been held Nov. 25-26 at a firing range at the foothills of Mt. Fuji, the same range where local residents last month forced the indefinite postponement of rocket firing practice by U.S. forces.

LONDON (AP) — By a 12-vote margin, the House of Commons defeated a Conservative motion Wednesday night to censure Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government for its economic policies.

The vote was 280-268, and the 10 Liberal party members abstained. Wilson officially has a two-seat majority in the 630-seat House.

LONDON (AP) — Pirate television came to Britain today with test transmissions from an abandoned fort 10 miles out in the Thames estuary.

The pirate, called Tower TV, is sending only test cards. But businessmen behind it said they plan regular programs early next year, transmitting movies and American thriller programs in the small hours after the legal British programs have closed.

Pirate radio stations beaming nonstop recorded music have become part of the British way of life in the past two years.

More Patrols Sent to Fight Detroit Crime

DETROIT (AP) — Police patrols of the lower east side were beefed up Wednesday after new complaints of crime by residents.

More scout cars, supported by the new Tactical Mobile Unit, were assigned to the area.

A housewife was kidnaped by two men from her home Tuesday. They stole money and belongings from the home and one of the men raped the woman.

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, in ordering a stronger force of men for the lower east side, said most of the crime was the work of juveniles for whom there are insufficient detention and training facilities.

Character Assassins, Says Senator

Phone Recordings Rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Gale McGee charged today that character assassins, hiding behind the anonymity of a telephone number, have been permitted to spew forth "absurdities, half-truths, innuendoes and insults."

"They have libeled and slandered distinguished Americans. And they have systematically sown the seeds of distrust and suspicion that are the grist of the right-wing extremist mill," the Wyoming Democrat said.

McGee made the accusations in remarks prepared for a Senate Communications subcommittee hearing on a bill he is sponsoring. The measure is designed to crack down on anonymously sponsored recorded telephone messages which may be heard when certain numbers are dialed in some cities.

McGee referred specifically to messages distributed by an organization called "Let Freedom Ring." Sponsors of such messages should be required to identify themselves, he said.

His bill would require that telephone companies maintain an open file of the sponsors and that the recorded message itself include the name and address of the subscriber or the telephone number dialed.

"This would not silence the recorded messages, but simply identify the source, affording those attacked the same recourse available to those libeled by newspapers, radio or television," the Wyoming Senator said.

McGee claimed that the messages sponsored by "telephonic purveyors of hate" have described the Peace Corps as akin to the Hitler youth movement "with a Communist twist," and have characterized the Parent-Teachers Association (PTA) as a left-wing group promoting "complete federalization of the schools in the Russian manner."

Rob Suburban Bank

LINCOLN PARK (AP) — A branch of Liberty Loan Co. in this Detroit suburb was robbed of $1,850 Wednesday by two gunmen. The men fled with the loot after locking four bank employes and a customer in a washroom.

A Slight Reminder

CRESTWOOD, Ky. (AP)—No one here can say he doesn't know the town's zip code number. Postmaster Fred Lindsay was given permission to have the zip number painted on the town's tall water tower.

Housing's a Thorn in Civil Rights Field

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 have brought substantial gains in the fight of American Negroes for equality. In this dispatch, UPI correspondent George J. Marder analyzes progress in another major area of the civil rights campaign — housing.)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the three years since the late President John F. Kennedy issued a much-publicized executive order to end discrimination in government-assisted housing, Negroes have made little progress in their attempts to live where they choose.

Government officials and civil rights leaders generally are agreed that housing is one of the last big areas of discrimination which shows little pattern of change. They say it may be the toughest to crack.

Kennedy's order was designed to aid Negroes in their efforts to move to better neighborhoods and to ones which, in the past, had not been open to persons of their race.

But of the thousands of new homes which federal money has helped to put up in suburbs in the past three years, few are occupied by Negroes.

In public housing, the record is somewhat better. It is still too early to tell what the results of the order will be in still-young urban renewal problems.

But in urban centers in the past, what has begun as open housing to all races often winds up all-Negro.

Civil rights leaders, government officials and builders are generally agreed there are two main reasons why progress has not been better:

- The Kennedy order has been largely ineffectual.
- Many whites who do not consider themselves discriminatory in other matters will not live next door to a Negro.

Congress recognized the sensitivity of the housing field by omitting it from the 1964 civil rights bill. It specifically exempted new housing being built under Federal Housing Agency (FHA) guarantees, the largest single segment of housing under the presidential order.

The Kennedy order was something for the future. When issued in 1962, it exempted existing commitments to builders.

It was recognized that there was enough work outstanding to keep builders going for perhaps two years. The real testing period would come in the third year—1965—and later.

For those builders who were getting government help outside the executive order, federal departments were told to use their "good offices" to get them to stop discriminating between the races.

Civil rights groups interviewed by United Press International unanimously agree the "good offices" were nonexistent. Government officials responsible for carrying out the order privately describe that section as "eminently unsuccessful."

In the three years since the order was issued, nine builders have been punished for refusing to sell to Negroes despite their written commitments.

Three were reinstated in the government's good graces after promising to obey the order in the future.

Civil rights people complain that not only is too little done under the order, but that too little is covered. The trend has been toward conventional financing, and only about 12 per cent of the housing field is now under the executive order.

There is really no way of accurately estimating the number of Negroes who have obtained homes in FHA-financed projects or those turned away on racial grounds.

Civil rights groups say the evidence for complaints is too difficult to obtain.

They also complain that the government makes no effort to follow through on the executive order.

* * *

They point out that in the field of employment, when a businessman signs a contract promising equal treatment for whites and Negroes, he has to file periodic reports to show how he's doing.

They say there should be similar safeguards in the housing field.

The government people concerned with enforcing the order say that to require builders to furnish such reports would be overly burdensome.

* * *

The fact is that the government officials responsible for carrying out the order, no matter how sympathetic they may be toward the civil rights groups, are finding themselves caught between builders short on cooperation and Congressmen long on harassment of any effective racial breakthrough in housing.

Rhodesian Africans Hit Smith Move

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The only African party represented in the Rhodesian Parliament told Prime Minister Ian Smith today that it will have no part in furthering his seizure of independence from Britain.

★ ★ ★

A statement issued by Josiah Gondo, leader of the United Peoples party, said:

"The United Peoples party has already condemned the unilateral declaration of independence as illegal. There can therefore be no question of the party sitting down with Smith and his colleagues to discuss ways and means of furthering the illegal action in any way. This is the attitude which the official and loyal opposition will adopt in Parliament."

CLAIMS BACKING

Smith repeatedly has claimed that he had the backing of the Africans for his declaration of independence.

Gondo's party has 10 members in Parliament, which is to meet Nov. 25 for the first time since independence was declared last week. Smith's all-white Rhodesia Front party has 50 seats, and there are five independent members — three Africans, one Asiatic and one white.

★ ★ ★

Smith stripped Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs of all his official privileges as representative of Queen Elizabeth II and named Deputy Prime Minister Clifford Dupont to take over the governor's functions.

Acting on instructions from the crown, Gibbs has refused to recognize Smith's independence grab.

★ ★ ★

Gibbs remained in Government House, a symbol of British authority, but he had only one aide left and his telephone was cut.

Gromyko Talks With Senators

Mansfield, 4 Others Discuss Viet in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Mike Mansfield, U.S. Senate Democratic leader, and four other senators discussed the war in Viet Nam with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko during a 2½-hour meeting today.

Mansfield told newsmen they had an interesting and "a very informative" talk with Gromyko.

★ ★ ★

He declined to elaborate.

The Montana senator, whose group had discussed Viet Nam earlier with high French and Polish officials, gave no indication of how much of the lengthy meeting with Gromyko was devoted to the war.

FROM GROMYKO

He said any statement would have to come from Gromyko.

The only Soviet statement was a brief official announcement that Gromyko had met with the senators at their request.

★ ★ ★

Mansfield repeated the statement he has been making throughout his secrecy-shrouded trip: "We are over here to look, listen, ask questions and report back to the Senate of the United States."

★ ★ ★

There has been general speculation that Mansfield, a confidant of President Johnson, is trying to sound out Soviet leaders on possibilities of Viet Nam peace negotiations.

IN ROMANIA

He said he would discuss Viet Nam again in Romania, the group's next stop, "if they want to talk about it."

The U.S. Embassy declined to say whether other appointments had been arranged for the senators. The group, which arrived Wednesday, is believed to be seeking to see Premier Alexei N. Kosygin also.

★ ★ ★

The senators are flying to Bucharest on Saturday and then go to Viet Nam.

With Mansfield are Sens. George Aiken, R-Vt., J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, and Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

Hunt Fails to Locate Missing Girl's Body

TUCSON, Ariz. ((AP) — After three days of searching the desert, officers still have not found the remains of 15-year-old Aileen Rowe who disappeared 18 months ago.

"We had 20 people out looking with a metal detector," said Sheriff Waldon Burr, "and all we found were beer cans."

★ ★ ★

Three persons charged with killing Miss Rowe still are in jail. Burr said the case would be pressed whether the body is found or not.

Held are Charles Schmid, 23; John Saunders, 19; and Mary Rae French, 19. Schmid also is charged with slaying Gretchen and Wendy Fritz, teen-age sisters whose skeletal remains were found on the desert last week.

GAVE STATEMENTS

Saunders and Miss French gave officers statements upon their arrest, but Burr said the statements haven't been any help in locating the body of Miss Rowe.

"I am beginning to fear her body was moved by the elements or by persons who caused her disappearance," Burr said.

★ ★ ★

"The kids we've got charged say they buried the girl under a tree, but there must be a thousand bushes and cactus plants in the area.

"Now we are concentrating the search for two rings she was wearing. So far the metal detector hasn't been any help, but we aren't going to give up this soon."

Officers also are searching for a diary which reportedly mentions the killing of a man. Police said they received information that Schmid had such a diary.

Blast Forces Airliner Down

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Delta Airlines DC8 turned back to Los Angeles seven minutes after takeoff early today after an explosion in its No. 4 engine.

There were no injuries among the 58 passengers or crew of six, an airline spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The Dallas-bound flight, Delta's Flight 820, took off at 1:55 a.m. and was about 1,000 feet in the air when the engine apparently ingested an unidentified object through its jet intake, said the pilot, Capt. W. D. Wood of Dallas.

★ ★ ★

Wood said there was a minor explosion and a bell of fire shot out through the jet exhaust.

Wood turned on the engine's fire control system, made aloop back to Los Angeles International Airport and landed without difficulty. Only the engine was damaged, officials said.

★ ★ ★

Lynn Police Chief George Donnelly said he received an anonymous telephone call from a man who said, "Sen. Kennedy will not reach City Hall alive." The man hung up. Police were not able to trace the call.

Donnelly quickly assigned extra police to help those already guarding the senator during his speaking tour here.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Actress Death Now Laid to Pill Overdose

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The death of actress Dorothy Dandridge last Sept. 8 was caused by an overdose of a drug used to treat psychiatric depressive cases, the county coroner's office has reported.

Coroner Theodore J. Curphey said Wednesday the compound, Tofranil, is a new drug. He said his office would not attempt to determine if the actress' death was accidental or a suicide.

★ ★ ★

Curphey's office reported last Sept. 10 that Miss Dandridge, 41, died of an embolism caused by bone marrow from a broken toe entering her bloodstream. Curphey said the first report was released early because of "lack of a complete study and pressure from news media."

He said the rarity of the reported death-cause prompted further investigation. He said the final report isolating the cause of death was made by the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

★ ★ ★

Miss Dandridge's body was found in her apartment by her manager, Earl Mills. Her films included "Carmen Jones," and "Porgy and Bess."

Ford Plans to Build Auto Safety Center

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has announced plans for construction of an automotive safety center in suburban Dearborn which it says will be the first of its kind in the auto industry.

The two-story, 40,000-square-foot building, to be started next spring, will be devoted exclusively to safety research and testing, according to the company.

Ford said the center is part of a program to double the company's investment in automotive safety research.

New Party For Wallace as President

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A new political party has been approved by the Alabama secretary of state's office and its organizer says the goal is the election of Gov. George C. Wallace as president in 1968.

A former Republican, Julian Elgin of Montgomery, heads the new group, called the "Third Party for America." In an interview Wednesday, he said the move is aimed at electing Wallace, now a Democrat, as president.

★ ★ ★

Elgin, unsuccessful as a GOP candidate for state offices in 1960 and 1962, had cards printed which indicate the party's goal is to elect a governor in 1966 who would then appoint Wallace to a Cabinet-level post of "governor-general" of Alabama.

Wallace then would be free to travel around the country speaking on behalf of his concept of constitutional government and states rights.

Settlement Large in Jet Crash Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — The widow and daughter of a financier who died in an American Airlines jet crash agreed yesterday in State Supreme Court to accept a $975,000 settlement.

It was thought to be the largest settlement for a single death claim in state history.

The financier, Arnold S. Kirkeby, 69, was one of 95 passengers and crew killed in the crash of a Boeing 707 jet in Jamaica Bay March 1, 1962.

Kirkeby was president of the Kirkeby - Natus Corp., a financing firm.

★ ★ ★

A Supreme Court jury awarded Mrs. Kirkeby and her daughter, Carla, 20, the amount of $985,000 on May 18. With interest, the verdict amounted to $1,720,000.

★ ★ ★

The details of the settlement became known when a stipulation was entered by lawyers for Mrs. Kirkeby and her daughter, who reside in Bel Air, Calif.

★ ★ ★

Waterford Township police said that Frizzell and a juvenile took the change after burglarizing the office of Dr. Joseph Drapek, 5721 Elizabeth Lake, on June 4.

★ ★ ★

Frizzell was charged with breaking and entering but was allowed to plead guilty to a lesser offense, entering without permission.

Threat of Suit in Ship Ramming

CHARLESTON, S.C. (UPI) — The angry captain of a 104-foot fishing cruise boat charged yesterday that a German freighter rammed his vessel and kept going, killing one crewman and sending the smaller craft to the bottom.

"It didn't even slow down," complained Capt. Samuel Vereen of the cruise boat Ocean Queen.

Only Vereen and 3 crewmen were aboard at the time of the mishap.

Vereen threatened to bring a $250,000 damage suit in Admiralty Court against the freighter, the Lutjenburg, and there was a question last night as to whether it would be permitted to sail for Europe.

★ ★ ★

The collision occurred off Charleston Tuesday night.

UNDER OWN POWER

The Lutjenburg proceeded to port under its own power, having suffered only minor damage to its bow.

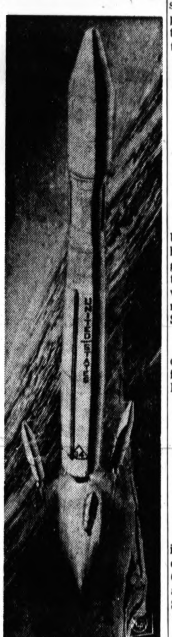

The Ocean Queen crewman lost and presumed drowned was identified as Edward Coffin 44.

Vereen said Coffin was never seen again after the freighter sliced his vessel in two.

★ ★ ★

The collision was the second mishap involving a cruise boat in the Atlantic in less than a week.

Saturday the 365-foot Yarmouth Castle caught fire and sank in the waters of the Bahamas with the loss of more than 80 lives.

U.S. Easing S. Viet Fears on War Settlement Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is understood to have promised the Saigon government it will never agree to a final Viet Nam settlement which would leave the Communists any political toehold in the South.

★ ★ ★

This has raised the question of whether there ever will be a formal peace settlement in Viet Nam.

Many authorities believe it more probable that the Communists — if and when the tide turns decisively against them — would prefer simply to "fade away" in the hope of returning some day to fight under more favorable circumstances.

This would be less humiliating to North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh and the Viet Cong rebels than having to sign a formal pledge to get out of the South and stay out.

★ ★ ★

The result would be to leave Viet Nam with a Korea-type settlement, with the possibility that a considerable number of U.S. troops would have to remain there for some time unless South Viet Nam felt itself competent to rebuff any renewed aggression by itself.

TOUGH ATTITUDE

The U.S. attitude toward Vietnamese negotiations has grown noticeably tougher as the news from the battlefront has indicated an improvement in the position of the anti-Communist forces.

The Johnson administration remains committed to the April 7 offer of the President for "unconditional discussions."

This means simply that neither side will demand any concessions as the price for meeting and talking with the other.

But the conditions upon which the United States would sign any final settlement appear to be taking a more specific and tougher form.

FUNDAMENTALS

In order to quiet Saigon's fears that the United States might "sell them out" in talks with the Reds, Washington has made it clear to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and his colleagues that it will firmly adhere to two fundamentals:

In any peace agreement, the National Liberation Front of the Viet Cong would be denied any political status which could lead to the formation of a coalition government.

There could be nothing in any peace treaty which would hinder the South Vietnamese government in its program of total "pacification" of the countryside.

This is considered necessary in order to deny the Red guerrillas any bases from which to make political inroads or a military comeback.

Car Overturned at Project Being Picketed by Union

LANSING (AP)—A group of men overturned the car of two workers leaving a construction project which was surrounded by union pickets Wednesday, Lansing police said.

Inspector Thomas O'Toole said neither of the men was injured. He said it was not immediately known who overturned the car and the incident was under investigation.

At estimated 50 construction projects in the Lansing area came to a halt as more than 2,000 members of the Lansing Building Trades Council took a day off to protest nonunion building projects.

The union members picketed four major building sites, including an apartment-office building project where the car overturning occurred.

Lansing police said records identifying the car's occupants were not immediately available. Don Govan, a partner of contractor J. B. Grammatico, said the driver was a floor covering workman from Grand Rapids.

Govan said none of the employes on the project was a union member.

He said several windows at the project were broken by rocks.

Four supplier firms also were picketed. At one, Sellers Sash Door and Lumber Co., a rock was thrown through the window and caused an estimated $150 damage to the window and equipment inside, said Dale W. Perry, company manager.

Thomas M. Borst, president of the Building Trades Council, said the walkout was designed "to inform the public."

He said a large influx of nonunion contractors was "threatening the gains made by our unions in the past 100 years." He contended the nonunion workers "are paid on an average of at least a dollar less an hour than union employes and many of them have no fringe benefits."

Wesley Jeltema, manager of the Michigan Chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, objected that the walkout was hurting union contractors.

"This will penalize employers they have been working for for years," he said.

Borst said the union members were to return to work today, but union workers from out of town would take up picketing at nonunion projects.

Latin Military Regimes Not Always Bad

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When, in 1961, the late President Kennedy announced his $20 billion Alliance for Progress to aid Latin American nations, he tied it firmly to social, political and economic gains achieved by democratic methods.

NEWSOM

In its beginnings, alliance planners tried to live by the Kennedy ideal. U. S. aid, later restored, was withdrawn from Peru, Bolivia, Honduras and Ecuador when military regimes toppled civilian governments.

Later, under President Johnson, came what has been called the pragmatic or practical approach.

This is the approach which holds that military regimes are not necessarily bad.

Thomas C. Mann, U. S. assistant secretary of state, put it into words in June 1964, when he declared that the United States would not be bound by a "doctrinaire strait-jacket" and that "in each case where a government is overthrown by force there should be a careful, dispassionate assessment of each situation."

It seemed not entirely by chance that Mann's new definition of U.S. policy came only a little more than two months after the military overthrow of President Joao Goulart's tottering leftist regime in Brazil, and susequent enthusiastic approval by the United States.

At any rate, the currect high-level meeting of the American states in Rio de Janeiro could not have been held under the Kennedy terms of reference since Brazil today is far from being a democratic state.

Under a tough new institutional act promulgated in late October, Brazilian President Humberto Castello Branco can suspend the political rights of any Brazilian, sack any public official, pass his own laws and declare a state of siege.

There are, however, undoubted compensations.

When the army rose up against Goulart in 1964, it was in revolt against years of graft, incompetence, disastrous inflation and a steady drift to the left.

And, while opposition forces declared that Brazilian democracy had been sent to the guillotine, the government was able to point to an impressive string of accomplishments.

Price rises this year were held to about 50 per cent as opposed to 85 per cent last year. Next year, they are expected to be no more than 10 to 15 per cent.

Brazilian exports this year zoomed to $1.5 billion and are expected to leave the country with a favorable trade balance of nearly $300 million.

A balanced budget promised for next year will include a $2.6 billion investment program.

New tax incentives are being granted to business to encourage a further expansion of exports. For a year, the Brazilian cruzeiro has been stable in relation to the dollar.

Castello Branco himself is a moderate who has eliminated himself from presidential elections now planned for 1966.

In Brazil, the military forces have a tradition of defenders of democracy. But they distrust most of the present crop of Brazilian politicians and the successes of the last 19 months have made a heady brew.

Whether they will know when it is time to get out will soon become Brazil's most important question.

Pan-American Updating Urged

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere set up working groups today following a strong call by Brazil's president for them to update inter-American machinery to combat infiltration and subversion.

"It is urgent that we, the members of the inter-American system, rethink our concepts and preconceptions in the light of the new realities," President Humberto Castello Branco declared in formally opening the special inter-American conference Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

The Brazilian chief chided past hemisphere parleys for "academically mulling over principles and provisions that, when a dispute comes up, we do not show any inclination to obey."

Stoutly defending the intervention in the Dominican Republic, Castello Branco said the hemisphere defense system was devised in the early postwar years to protect against direct armed aggression. Now aggression threatens more subtly "through infiltration and subversion" and "it is therefore imperative that we take a new look at the concepts of aggression and intervention," he said.

IN HARMONY

His keynote rang harmoniously with a theme sounded by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk after Washington ordered troops into Santo Domingo to save lives and prevent a Communist take-over. Of the five Latin-American nations which sent troops to join the Americans in the peace force formed by the Organization of American States, Brazil sent the biggest number.

Rusk, heading the U.S. delegation to the conference, declined public comment on the Brazilian's proposal at this time. He planned to deliver the American speech early next week, after some other delegates have had their say.

Neither Castello Branco nor the U.S. delegation have proposed that this conference create a standby OAS force to tackle future Dominican-type crises.

A U.S. delegation source said standby emergency units might well be desirable and probably a bare majority of the 19 hemisphere ministers here could be mustered for it. But he said the issue is worth discussing rather than forcing a division at this time.

OAS CHARTER

Further action, such as amending the OAS Charter, could be taken at another conference called for this prupose next spring. The current meeting is undertaking a basic review of the inter-American system but does not have power to amend the Charter.

Castello Branco, a former army chief of staff who came to power in a military coup last year, defended his regime and said it was promoting real "democratic renewal" rather than "empty phrases in which freedom is confused with indiscipline" and injustice.

★ ★ ★

While the Brazilian leader was telling the conference "we did not need lessons in democracy," police outside the conference building were quelling small but noisy demonstrations by leftists accusing him of dictatorship. Venezuela also is boycotting the conference because it broke relations with Brazil after the coup.

The beach-front hotel housing the conference suffered another temporary power failure shortly after the president's departure, the third in as many days. Such temporary blackouts are common in Rio because of inadequate equipment.

160,000 Soldiers in 2 Years

Desertion No. 1 S. Viet Army Drain

SAIGON (UPI) — More than 160,000 Vietnamese soldiers and militiamen have deserted from the armed forces in the past two years.

★ ★ ★

Within 24 hours of the time you read this, another 200 or so will have gone over the hill. At least 7,000 more will join them within the month.

The Vietnamese armed forces lost 10 times more men through desertion than are killed by the Viet Cong.

Vietnamese military records listed almost 75,000 desertions in 1964. Another 87,000 were reported by September of this year.

★ ★ ★

These figures may be slightly exaggerated by the Vietnamese soldier's tendency to quit one outfit, only to join another. Staff officers estimated that 10 per cent of the deserters reenlist in a unit that pays more, or is closer to home.

TURN UP AGAIN

The desertion figures also fail to allow for the many men who are caught by the military police, or who just turn up again at their own unit after a long "vacation."

But even when all these mitigating factors are taken into account, desertion ranks as the greatest drain on the strength of South Viet Nam's 630,000 man military force.

The 87,000 desertions in the first nine months of this year were far greater than all other military losses: 8,180 killed, 16,295 wounded, 6,140 missing and 23,000 legitimate retirements and discharges.

★ ★ ★

The army's apathetic draftees are the quickest to desert. More than half of them escape from the armed forces, usually during their first few months of military service.

MOSTLY VOLUNTEERS

But the regular army is made up 85 per cent of volunteers. Heavy recruiting has managed to increase its strength, even though 10 per cent of its men ran away between January and September.

The trouble is that desertions from the regulars hit hardest in the units where men are most needed—the 200 infantry battalions who do most of the fighting and receive most of the draftees.

Even worse hit are the Popular Forces, a local militia which is supposed to defend the countryside after Americans and Vietnamese regulars have driven out the Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

The Popular Forces are so unpopular that its members are deserting faster than replacements can be recruited. The militia has plunged in size from 170,000 in January to only 137,000 today.

SLIP BACK

This trend could make military victories meaningless, by permitting the Viet Cong to slip back into undefended villages as fast as they are liberated.

Most officers blame simple homesickness as the main cause of desertions. Many a regular has been knowa to slip away from his battalion, only to join up again in his home town's Popular Forces.

Desertions are increased by the fact that little or no moral stigma is attached to running away from the army. It is considered "smart" to dodge the draft.

When police finally lead an unwilling youngster down to the induction center, it is considered just as smart to try to get away.

NO INFORMERS

If the runaway gets back to his home town, none of his neighbors would dream of informing on him.

Punishments are as light as public disapproval. Commanding officers are so glad to get a deserter back in the ranks that they often let him off with a tongue-lashing.

The worst punishment a deserter gets is a few days in a barbed wire cage, which many units use for confining petty thieves and trouble-makers.

The present leadership of the armed forces is trying to fight desertion by making army life a bit more livable than it was before.

Training camps have cleaned up. The soldiers have got two pay raises in less than a year. Homes were built last year for the families of 40,000 soldiers. And 25,000 more units are under construction.

One of the soldiers' biggest complaints, and a leading cause of desertion, was failure to get furloughs for years on end. They were entitled to vacations, but most units were so short of manpower that leaves were never authorized.

The armed forces began urging commanders to carry out furlough regulations late last year. But it went a little too far by trying to adopt the American system of giving most soldiers a couple of weeks off when they left training camp to join their first unit.

★ ★ ★

The soldiers left the camps, but they never turned up at their units.

This problem seems to have been partly solved by withholding a soldier's first furlough until he has spent a month or so in his new outfit, made friends, and got over the fears which torment new recruits in any army.

Desertion rates have stabilized since this spring, but they leveled off at rates which are higher than a year before, and which still run at seven or eight thousand men per month.

Swan Halts Power in Area of Leelanau

LAKE LEELANAU (UPI) — About 2,000 residents of Leelanau County were without electrical power for about 2½ hours last night because of a swan.

★ ★ ★

Consumers Power officials said the power went off about 5 p.m. when a mute swan became tangled in some high voltage wires at their station here.

The power also was off until 7:30 p.m. in the villages of Leland and Good Harbor.

Skateboards Trigger Store's Burglar Alarm

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A burglar alarm called police to a clothing store here on a quiet Sunday, but no burglars were to be found and everything was in order.

It was discovered that the vibration of youngsters' skateboards on the sidewalk outside the building had triggered the sensitive mechanism of the burglar alarm.

Language Addition Proves Quite Wordy

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — A new word has been added to Lozi, the language of Barotseland.

Chief of Barotseland, Sir Mwanawina Lewanika, said the new word, now in daily use, is "Ku-Makmirana."

It means "to discuss at great length and to appear to get nowhere."

Subversive and Constructive; Anti-Communist but Nationalistic

Viet Collegians Are a Factor Any Regime Must Deal With

AP SPECIAL REPORT

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Most of the college students in Viet Nam have never known their country at peace.

★ ★ ★

They have been instrumental in bringing down two governments, and they are a factor any regime has to reckon with. Some are draft dodgers, and there often is the feeling that many come under the influence of subversive movements, but the constructive views of others cannot be dismissed.

Thousands of restless students staged an antigovernment demonstration last August in Hue.

★ ★ ★

For four successive days, about 3,000 students held heated meetings. They denounced the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu, as an incompetent and called for a return to civil rule.

END PEACEFULLY

The demonstrations ended peacefully.

In November 1963, students sided with Buddhists in the crisis that led to the death of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

★ ★ ★

Last February, they took to the streets again and helped topple Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

The students charged that Diem and Khanh were corrupt and that their governments did not represent the people. The students were criticized by many as being a disruptive influence whose actions had set back the war against the Viet Cong.

WERE JUSTIFIED

To this day, however, many of the nation's 20,000 college students feel they were justified in ridding the nation of Diem and Khanh.

"In South Viet Nam," said one student, "we are involved in a very complicated war. It is not only a military war but also a cultural, social and economic war. We have to go to other frontiers — those of poverty, ignorance and disease. And it is with this prospect that Vietnamese youth have to struggle to find a meaning for their lives."

★ ★ ★

Yet the feeling persists among many that the students are more concerned with their own security than with the welfare of their country.

Last summer, however, more than 8,000 youth and student volunteers went out into the country and built new roads, houses, schools, dug wells and built health centers in 300 hamlets. In another social service program endorsed by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, they are helping the government develop one of Saigon's poorest slum districts.

WRONG MAN

While many students remain apathetic toward Ky — they feel the youthful flier is the wrong man for the job — they appear more interested in channeling their energies toward improving rather than ousting the government.

Most students probably would support views of the chairman of the General Association of Saigon Students, the largest student organization in the country.

"We are intensely anti-Communist but also intensely nationalistic," says this man, Tran Quang tri, 26. "We support the U.S. military effort in our country, but we would prefer a civilian government and we are looking forward to the day when the war ends and your troops go home."

When the wave of noisy student demonstrations against U.S. involvement in Viet Nam broke out in the United States, the organization mildly reprimanded U.S. students in an open letter that said:

"Vast America, in which you live, and little Viet Nam in which we still struggle to win the right to live free, are already soaked with the blood of our ancestors. It seems, however, that those who live in happiness now and enjoy unbounded freedom do not realize what it takes to maintain freedom. Freedom can be obtained only through hard fighting."

Some of the young people favor a more vigorous military offensive against the Communists. They have called for a step-up in bombings in North Viet Nam. A few who have had relatives killed by the Viet Cong would like to see the allied forces launch a ground attack against North Viet Nam.

These are the students most likely to dismiss antiwar demonstrators in the United States as draft-dodgers, cowards, persons under Communist influence, or young persons who are misinformed.

A relatively small number of students have called for a neutralized settlement of the war and have urged a coalition government with the Communists. The majority of these attend the state-operated university in Hue, a traditional hotbed of agitation.

While students accept the presence of U.S. forces as necessary, they are sharply critical of many aspects of the U.S. military buildup.

For example, student papers have complained about the relations of U.S. troops with Vietnamese women and the lack of a status-of-forces agreement between South Viet Nam and the United States.

To some extent, the sentiments are echoed by students in Saigon. They are acutely aware that their government was not elected by the people and are disturbed that statements on negotiations with the Viet Cong are more likely to be made in Washington than in Saigon.

On the theory that the students need an outlet to "sound off," the nation's leaders have given them more freedom of expression than they probably have ever enjoyed. On the other hand, Ky has charged that intellectuals spend too much time talking about political abstractions.

There is some evidence that the Viet Cong have attempted to infiltrate student rings in Hue but apparently with little success.

Students insist that their military record is comparable to any other nation where universal military training is in effect. Draft-dodging, however, is relatively common, especially among students in rural areas.

Under present regulations a student becomes eligible for the draft at 18. Most students are 19, 20 or 21 when they graduate from high school. Those over 23 are not permitted to enter college but are subject to the draft.

GO TO COLLEGE

Perhaps only 15 per cent of the high school graduates go on to college because of stiff entrance examinations. If a college student fails in two successive years, he is subject to the draft. Otherwise, he is exempt until the completion of his course.

One U.S. observer who has worked closely with Vietnamese students feels the mass of them have been wrongly accused of being troublemakers because of the irresponsible actions of a few.

★ ★ ★

"The great majority of university students do not care about politics," he says. "Many who do are politically ambitious themselves, but the bulk of them are motivated by a sense of national service and humanitarianism."

Study Shows Benefits

Don't Shun Home for Elderly

By Science Service

LOS ANGELES—If you are guilt-ridden at the thought of putting an elderly relative in an "old people's home," you may be doing your dependent wrong, as well as yourself.

Some senior citizens may actually benefit psychologically from an environment away from their accustomed place of living.

A study by Valencia N. Prock, a nurse who is about to receive her Ph.D degree at the University of Chicago, has revealed that the oldsters showed less concern about their health, and were less excitable, tense and anxious when they were away from their usual homes.

Feelings of helplessness and dependency disappeared or were lessened in the old people's home, and there was less tendency to withdraw from those around them.

It is possible that the transition period while waiting to be admitted to an institution can be bad psychologically, but Miss Prock said that afterward, the institution appears to have a stabilizing effect on the elderly persons "disequilibrium."

The study, which was under the direction of Dr. Morton A. Lieberman, University of Chicago assistant professor in the department of psychiatry, and the committee on human development, compared a group of elderly persons about to enter old people's homes with a matched group that had been in such homes for some time.

The Ph.D. candidate reported the study at the 18th annual meeting of the Gerontological Society in Los Angeles.

Retired Air Force General in Command of Top Baseball Office

Eckert Picked as Successor to Ford Frick

Baltimore's MacPhail Selected by Owners to Aid Commissioner

MEETS PRESS —The new commissioner of baseball, William D. Eckert, held his first press conference yesterday right after his appointment.

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's new public image began forming today behind the leadership of a new commissioner — a retired three-star Air Force general who delights in being called Pvt. Spike.

He is William D. Eckert, 56, of Washington, D.C., a trim, sharp-visaged man with thinning steel-gray hair and the build of a high school football halfback, 160 pounds, 5 feet 8½ inches.

His unanimous recommendation Wednesday to the major league's 20 club owners ended a six-month search by a screening committee headed by John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates. They started originally with about 20 men.

The soft-spoken Eckert, a much-decorated officer who retired from the service four years ago, was a surprise choice to become baseball's fourth commissioner.

He follows a line that includes Judge K. M. Landis, who ruled with a mailed fist; A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who was ousted by owners in favor of Ford Frick, retiring at the age of 71 after serving since 1951.

Eckert's first lieutenant will be Lee MacPhail, baseball-wise 48-year-old president of the Baltimore Orioles and son of the stormy Larry MacPhail of years ago.

★ ★ ★

MacPhail was named to head a so-called cabinet as administrator in the commissioner's office. The new-image baseball government also will have departments encompassing player affairs, public information, television-radio and amateur baseball that includes Little League, American Legion, high school and college levels.

HEADQUARTERS

For the time being, at least, headquarters will remain in New York.

Whether directors of each of these branches will be named is yet to be decided, said MacPhail, who signed a three-year contract at $40,000 annually.

★ ★ ★

Eckert was given a seven-year pact at $65,000.

The new commissioner admits he knows little of the inner workings of baseball and that his first action will be to confer with as many club owners as possible and the presidents of the American and National leagues, Joe Cronin and Warren Giles.

★ ★ ★

Cronin prominently was mentioned as Frick's successor but eliminated himself Wednesday by accepting another seven-year contract as American League president at a salary increase.

Frick will be Eckert's conferee for the next three months and will aid in officiating at the baseball meetings in Miami next month. A year ago in Phoenix, Frick was successful in getting owners to restore the commissioner's power which had been clipped after the death of Landis.

Two Cage Games to Aid PTA Plans

A benefit basketball doubleheader will be played Saturday night at Jefferson Junior High School to aid the school Parent Teacher Association's Thanksgiving Day basket program.

★ ★ ★

The first game will have the Amigos' Club playing Flint's Jules Pawn Shop at 7:30 p.m. The nightcap will have Roy White's Unbeatables meeting Selfridge Air Force Base at about 8:45 p.m.

Both the Unbeatables and Amigos have many former Pontiac Central and local city recreation basketball stars on their rosters.

★ ★ ★

Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. All proceeds will go to the school PTA to provide holiday food baskets for needy families.

Orioles' Boss to Work More for Less Pay

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Lee MacPhail, 48, chosen to assist baseball's new commissioner, is an energetic administrator with a deep, family-nurtured love of baseball and a disarming smile.

MacPhail, son of Larry MacPhail, former part owner of the New York Yankees, will take a cut in pay in the newly created post of administrative assistant to William D. Eckert, chosen as commissioner of baseball to succeed Ford Frick.

★ ★ ★

MacPhail earned $35,000 annually and a percentage of the profits as president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles. His $40,000 salary as Eckert's assistant is expected to be substantially less than his Baltimore earnings.

But it will give him a greater diet of baseball administration and this apparently was enough.

★ ★ ★

MacPhail's new job in New York will be a far cry from the unlikely start of his administrative career — in a Florence, S.C., stockyard.

Group Approves Rules for 1966 Auto Racing

DETROIT (AP) — American rules for certain stock car races in 1966 were approved Wednesday at a meeting here of the subcommittee of the Commission Sportive International.

★ ★ ★

Spokesmen said the international group's approval, subject to final CSI action, could lead to adoption of worldwide uniform stock car racing rules.

The rules bear on stock cars of 5,000 cubic centimenter piston displacement and over.

Attending the CSI subcommittee meeting were representatives from the United States, including CSI Chairman Maurice Baumgartner, and from France, Italy, Germany, Great Britain and Switzerland.

PCH Leading Huskies, 4-1

Shutouts have dominated the Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central football series in recent seasons and tomorrow night's game should be low scoring based on recent showings.

PCH leads the intracity series with a 4-1 edge and there has been at least a 14-point difference in the outcome of each game.

Northern's only victory was 21-0 in 1963, sandwiched by the Chiefs' 14-0 (1962) and 18-0 (last fall) calciminings.

The Chiefs were too strong in the opening two games of the annual series — winning 54-14 and 27-12. The Central forces over-all are still stronger, but PNH has been making big strides toward evening the balance of power.

Early this fall it seemed the PCH squad would outclass Northern in the showdown clash. The Chiefs were whipping their foes impressively and PNH remained in the throes of a losing streak.

However, the Huskies have gained valuable momentum in recent games with an improved offense and stingy defense. PCH has shown a rugged defense and its offense has moved well in spurts.

DEFENSE KEY

Defense should be the key to Friday's sixth intracity meeting. Central can score. Its fast backs and experienced offensive line usually manage three or four good drives per game.

PNH, meanwhile, has an aggressive defense but lacks speed. The Huskies must prevent their faster fores from springing ball carriers and pass receivers in the open.

The passing attack for Northern has been spotty; and though coach Dave Schmidt has developed a fine inside running game in the recent victories, PNH is expected to probe the Chiefs' defense with passes.

Both coach Paul Dellerba at PCH and Schmidt report the two teams are healthy and eager for the Wisner Stadium collision.

The annual meeting also will feature the introduction of the ninth graders from the city's junior high school football teams in the pre-game ceremonies.

Some 175-200 city boys complete their junior high school grid careers each fall. This season, Lincoln JHS under Curt Cooper and Eastern JHS coached by Bill Harrington shared the title.

They had 4-1 records during the season and fought to a 6-6 tie in the playoff game. Other schools who'll be represented at the game Friday are Jefferson, Washington, Madison and Kennedy.

Tickets for the PCH-PNH game are on sale — 35 cents for students, $1.25 for adults — at the downtown Osmun's Men store, the Central Main office and the Northern Book Store.

General admission seats at $1 student) and $1.50 (adult) will go on sale at the stadium tomorrow night.

Substitute TV Offer Denied

ND-MSU Video Plan Rejected by NCAA

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company said Wednesday that its request to the National Collegiate Athletic Association to substitute the Princeton-Dartmouth football game for the Yale-Harvard game and Michigan State-Notre Dame for Ohio State-Michigan had been rejected.

The games this Saturday are part of four regional telecasts. Princeton and Dartmouth, both unbeaten, meet for the Ivy League title. Michigan State currently is ranked No. 1 in the nation and Notre Dame No. 4 and their game at South Bend could determine the national championship.

Asa Bushnell, chairman of the NCAA TV committee, said the NBC request had been received and reviewed but that under NCAA rules it was impossible to make the switch.

Hawks Trim Rangers, 5-3

Hull and Mikita Spark Chicago

NEW YORK (AP) — If you were starting a hockey club and could choose between having Bobby Hull or Stan Mikita as your first player, who would you pick?

★ ★ ★

Billy Reay, who has the great good fortune of having both of them playing for his Chicago Black Hawks, grinned at the question.

"I wouldn't choose between them," said Reay. "I like just the way it is with both of them on my side."

★ ★ ★

The two superstars picked the New York Rangers to pieces Wednesday night, guiding the Hawks to a 5-3 victory and moving Chicago back into a first place Montreal in the only National Hockey League game played.

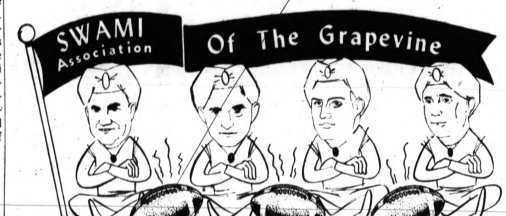

Hull scored his 13th and 14th goals of the season and Mikita also notched two goals and assisted on two others. The four-point splurge moved the scrappy scoring champion into third place in the NHL scoring race with 17 points, three back of Hull and one behind Montreal's Bobby Rousseau.

It was Mikita who keyed a first period Chicago rally that produced three power play goals and a 3-1 Black Hawk lead. He beat Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin on a slap shot less than two minutes after Rod Gilbert had given New York the lead.

Then Mikita sent the Hawks in front, picking up Ken Wharram's rebound and sweeping it past Giacomin midway through the period. The slick center set up Hull's first goal shortly later. He whipped the puck to the Blond Bombshell just inside the Ranger blueline and Hull's quick wrist shot caught Giacomin by surprise.

Cranes to Hear Gordy

John Gordy, a guard with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, will be the guest speaker at the letter awards banquet at Cranbrook School tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

A resurgence took place in the Swami Association last week as Swami Craig picked up three big games on the season-long leader Swami Spears.

The prep season has come to a close except for a couple games around the state, but the colleges are in their showdown stage as they look for bowl bids.

This could be the key week in the race for the top Swamis of the Grapevine.

Spartans' Kicker Could Boot Irish

AP Photofax

MSU Squad Meets Notre Dame Eleven

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

EAST LANSING, Mich. — It doesn't sound very glamorous but the year's most glamorous college football game, Michigan State vs. Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, Ind., may be decided by a toenail.

★ ★ ★

The toenail belongs to Dick Kenney, Michigan State's barefoot placekicker from Hawaii.

Everybody knows Kenney boots extra points and field goals with a nude right foot but few are aware of the great pains taken to see that the foot is in perfect shape.

The toenails, particularly the one on the big toe, are very important.

JUST RIGHT

They can't be too long, Kenney says, and they can't be too short. They've got to be just right for the ball to go through the uprights.

★ ★ ★

"I make a practice of cutting my toenails on Monday," the 6-foot, 207-pound specialist from Aiea, Hawaii, said Wednesday. "That way they grow out just right by game time.

"If the toenail on my big toe is too long, it breaks off and I get a sore. If it's too short, I get a callous."

★ ★ ★

Kenney says the toe he must watch particularly is his third toe.

"It gets a callous about the third game of the season," he adds.

"I have to sandpaper it every day. A doctor looks at it to see if it's okay."

NEEDS TRACTION

This year, barefooted, he has kicked 20 of 22 extra points and 11 field goals for 53 points. He also kicks off, barefooted, and punts, with shoe on. "Coach Daugherty (Duffy Daugherty) decided I should wear a shoe in punting in the Michigan game," Kenney explains. "Gives me more traction."

★ ★ ★

Kenney is one of Michigan State's so-called "pineapples" — football players from the state out in the Pacific and who have been coming to the university for the last decade.

★ ★ ★

It all started when Biggie Munn, former coach and athletic director of the Spartans, struck up an acquaintance with Tom Kaulukukui, coach of the University of Hawaii, in a home-and-home series in 1947 and 1948.

★ ★ ★

Kaulukukui later took graduate work here and became a Spartan booster. Since then, he's been talking good athletes into getting their education at Michigan State.

The first was William Kaae, a halfback, in 1955; later a center, Larry Cundiff, 1957-58-59; fullback Danny Ane, 1958; Roger Lopes, a fullback, 1961-62-63; Kenney, now a junior; Bob Apisa, a sophomore fullback, and the latest, a good looking freshman quarterback, Charley Wedemeyer.

★ ★ ★

How do so many Hawaiians get to Michigan State?

"They swim to the mainland," says Daugherty. "If they reach it, we know they're in good shape. We take them from there."

Knee Swollen, but MSU Star Eager to Play

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Bob Apisa, Michigan State's 215-pound sophomore fullback said Wednesday he was determined to play against Notre Dame Saturday despite a swollen left knee.

"I've played this far and I want to go all the way," the team's most effective ground gainer, with a 5.5 yard rushing average, said.

★ ★ ★

Duffy Daugherty, the Spartans' coach, said he would not make a decision until Thursday on whether to play the Hawaiian star in the game on which the national championship probable is riding.

"It is only a bone bruise, but the swelling restricts his movement," Daugherty said.

Buckeyes Have 4-Game Streak

OSU Aroused for Michigan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Crippled Michigan can expect to face an aroused Ohio State team when the two clubs resume their ancient grid rivalry at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes are riding a four-game winning streak after a shaky start that saw them split their first four games.

The Buckeyes are in second place in the Big Ten and can hold that lofty position with a victory over the Wolverines.

Ohio State-Michigan tiffs generally are unmatched in sheer bitterness and this week's skirmish should be no different.

The Buckeyes own a 5-1 conference record and a 6-2 seasonal record.

Hayes and his crew have no trouble recalling last year's 10-0 loss to Michigan that sent the Wolverines to the West Coast. A victory would have put Ohio in the Rose Bowl.

★ ★ ★

Ohio has lost only to North Carolina, in the season opener, and to powerful Michigan State. It has victories over Washington, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa.

Ohio has two of the better power runners in the league in Tom Barrington and Will Sander. Barrington has rambled for 535 yards in 132 tries and has reached paydirt six times.

Sander has eight touchdowns on 434 yards in 111 cracks. Barrington and Sander hit the middle often and hard.

The Wolverines need not fear any end sweeps because the Bucks lack over-all good speed.

Perhaps the key to the outcome is senior quarterback Don Unverferth who has come into his own as a first-rate passer. Unverferth has connected 84 times in 162 attempts for 938 yards and three touchdowns.

Only eight of his passes have fallen into enemy hands.

Proof that the Buckeyes have adopted a balanced attack can be seen in the statistics where the rushing game has netted 1,142 yards while the air attack has added 957 yards.

Unverferth's favorite target is elusive back Bo Rein who has nabbed 24 passes for 271 yards. End Greg Lashutka has caught 22 for 225 yards.

Michigan, with a disappointing 2-4 mark in the league and 4-5 over-all, could salvage some prestige by beating the Bucks.

Hayes is well aware of that and does not expect to have trouble getting his troops up for the big game.

Ohio has dominated series play in recent years but Michigan still holds a comfortable 35-21-4 advantage.

Irish to Test MSU Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — The Michigan State at Notre Dame football game Saturday took on added stature today with the release of the weekly major college team defense statistics by the NCAA National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

It pits the team, Michigan State, which leads in rushing defense, against the team that has scored the most in major competition.

The Big Ten champions from East Lansing, Mich., have yielded only 52 yards rushing per game or 1.52 yards per play on 307 enemy rushes. This compares to Notre Dame's rushing gains of 255.3 yards per game.

Amos Hoople Picks Big Day for Irish

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Sage of the Sidelines

Egad, friends, here we are at "Heartbreak Day," the name I gave years ago to the penultimate Saturday in November when the traditional rivals schedule their annual meetings.

★ ★ ★

Headlining the traditional battles is the Yale-Harvard classic, and I hasten to give the nod to my alma mater Yale as the winner, 17-14—Boola-Boola!

Selecting the winner at South Bend was one of the most difficult assignments your correspondent has ever tackled.

I finally resorted to the patented Hoople November formula, the details of which are too complicated to try to explain.

However, I'm sure the mathematical progression of the formula will intrigue you. Here is how it works:

★ ★ ★

Take Michigan State's official enrollment of 18,972 men, 12,296 women, subtract the women from the men and you have 6,676 stalwarts to do battle with Notre Dame's enrollment of 6,700 men.

Again by a process of subtraction, you arrive at a difference of 24. The home team is awarded a 6-point edge. Dividing the other 18 equally we see that the Irish will win 15-9.

And that, dear readers, is exactly the same score arrived at by our electrical computers after they were fed all available information — har-rumph!

In the other top games, I predict Texas Tech will upset the Razorbacks, and the Trojans will whip the Bruins.

Now go on with the forecast.

Predictions are for games of Nov. 20

Twins' Versalles Tops MVP Balloting

Iowa Search Grows for Next Grid Boss

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — The search for a new University of Iowa football coach to succeed dethroned Jerry Burns was heading somewhere today, mostly in the area of speculation as far as the fans were concerned.

* * *

Athletic Director Forest Evashevski, who could be ruled out only by himself, said he is looking for a coach, has talked to one prospect and has two others in mind. He would not name any names.

Evashevski said that when the board in control of athletics voted Tuesday night to fire the 38-year-old Burns, no mention was made of the possibility that Evy might take up the coaching reins again.

RUMORS FLOAT

The athletic director was asked that question because of rumors that have been floating around ever since the Hawkeyes went into a tailspin that resulted in Burns' ouster.

* * *

Iowa's 1-8 record this season, including an 0-7 last place finish in the Big Ten, left no doubt of what the board would do. Only when?

* * *

Burns, himself, said he was surprised, since Iowa has another game to go—against North Carolina State here Saturday.

"I think it's of utmost importance that we move rapidly," Evashevski said Wednesday. "The board waited until the Big Ten season ended. Then we felt it imperative to act."

At another point he said:

"We want the best possible coach we can get," he said. "Chances are we will lean toward an established college head coach."

What if a satisfactory replacement cannot be found in the near future?

* * *

That would leave the question whether Evashevski would take over on an interim basis.

Referring to the search for a coach, Evashevski said:

"We need someone who can rally the forces in the state, roll up his sleeves and go to work. I am not saying there was any lack of effort on Burns' part. He worked hard and long for Iowa."

Zoilo Sparked Pennant Drive

Teammate Oliva 2nd, Pitcher Fisher 4th

BOSTON (AP) — Zoilo Versalles, the spectacular shortstop of the Minnesota Twins, was a near unanimous choice today for the 1965 American League Most Valuable Player Award.

Versalles, who sparked the Twins to their first American League pennant, received 19 of the 20 first place ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The other first place vote went to teammate Tony Oliva, who won the AL batting championship for the second year in a row. Oliva finished second in the voting, being picked second on 13 ballots, and the 1964 winner, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, finished third.

The only other player named on all 20 ballots was relief pitcher Eddie Fisher of Chicago. The knuckle ball artist became the first relief pitcher in the American Lague ever named on every ballot.

Fisher finished fourth in the voting with 122 points, compared to 275 for Versalles, 174 for Oliva and 150 for Robinson.

Versalles' total was 100 points higher than the runner-up because each first place vote was worth 14 points while second place votes received 9 points and third place votes 8 points, etc.

At Altoona, Wis., where he was appearing with a Minnesota baseball promotion group, Versalles seemed overjoyed at the news of his victory:

"Boy, oh, boy," he exclaimed in surprise, "I cannot believe I got 19 of the 20 first place votes. This is the best thing that can happen to any ball player."

Here is the point-total of voting for the 1965 American League Most Valuable Player Award with first place votes in parenthesis, based on 14 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. (Top 20 listed only):

Okay Ring Rules for Clay's Defense

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There will be a mandatory eight count for a knockdown and the three knockdowns-in-a-round rule will be waived in the heavyweight title fight Nov. 22 between champion Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson, it was learned Wednesday.

There will be two judges and the referee to do the scoring in the five-point-must system employed in Nevada and not the reported possibility of three judges doing the scoring and the referee abstaining.

Virtually all of the Nevada boxing rules will prevail for the internationally-viewed match.

The bell at the end of a round can save a fighter. In other words, the countdown will not continue after the bell.

The ring will be 20 feet square inside the ropes.

In the event of an accidental butt—

1) The bout can be called a technical draw if the injured boxer is behind on points.

2) The injured boxer can be declared the winner on a technical decision if he is leading in points.

MAJORITY VOTE

A majority vote as disclosed by the scorecards shall prevail in determining the decision as specified in the above two paragraphs.

* * *

If all three scoring cards differ, the contest will be called a technical draw.

If an accidental butt occurs in the first round, the bout will be called a draw.

* * *

Intentional butting is a foul and shall be penalized as such.

Should an opponent fail to go to the farthest neutral corner and remain there on a knockdown, the referee will stop the count and will resume it (after the opponent gets to the corner) at the count at which he was interrupted.

* * *

A fight cannot be won or lost on a low blow. The contestants' contracts so agree.

Points for a foul will be deducted in the round in which the foul occurred.

Boxing Tourney Slated

Some 100 boxers representing at least three local clubs are expected to step into the ring in January to battle in the state Golden Gloves tournament.

The bouts will be at the Pontiac Training Center in the basement of the All-Star Lanes on Perry Street.

Harold Dugan, former boxer and trainer, heads the Pontiac committee in charge of Golden Gloves boxing.

He said the local tournament was slated for January with the eight Pontiac champions moving on to the state finals at Grand Rapids (Feb. 9-12).

The Pontiac Boys Club will enter a team in the GG tourney, and other teams are expected to come from Walled Lake and Clarkston.

WORKING OUT

"We have about 35 boys working out at the training center at present," said Dugan, "and there are about 20 boxing in Clarkston. When the tournament rolls around, we expect to have about 100 boys enter."

* * *

The club on Perry Street is open from 4 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and 1-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Boys in the age group, 16-26, are eligible for the tournament.

Kansas City Defender Collects Grid Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Robinson, a Kansas City running back who found happiness and success as a safety man, is The Associated Press choice as defensive player of the week in the American Football League.

Robinson intercepted two passes, made seven tackles and knocked down a pass to play a major part in Kansas City's upset of San Diego last Sunday.

Joe Cronin Given Raise, New Term

CHICAGO (UPI) — Joe Cronin has a seven-year extension of his contract as American League president with a raise in salary.

The announcement of Cronin's new contract was made by the Chicago White Sox.

A White Sox spokesman said Cronin was given the new contract at a meeting of American League club owners. The vote was unanimous, he said.

Terms of the contract were not released beyond the comment that Cronin's salary was increased.

Cronin, 59, has been head of the American League since February, 1959, when he succeeded Will Harridge, who retired.

Operation Puts Lions' Barr Out for Season

DETROIT — Terry Barr, one of the Detroit Lions' all-time great receivers, underwent his third knee operation of his career Wednesday and will be out for the remainder of the season.

* * *

Barr was injured in the Lions' game at Los Angeles three weeks ago. The veteran flankerback still leads the Lions in pass receiving with 24 catches good for 403 yards and three touchdowns.

Barr underwent his first knee surgery while starring at the University of Michigan and again in 1962 when he also was lost for the year. Wednesday's surgery removed cartilage from his right knee. His previous surgery was on his left knee.

Barr will be replaced by Pat Studstill who subbed for Barr in 1962.

Royals Hand Wilt, 76ers 131-115 Loss

By The Associated Press

Come sometime in February Wilt Chamberlain probably will become the all-time career scorer in the National Basketball Association with close to 21,000 points.

The Big Dipper, as the 7-foot-1 former Kansas All-America prefers to be called, became the No. 2 all-time scorer Wednesday night when he tossed in 46 points against the Cincinnati Royals.

There was just one flaw. Wilt's team, the Philadelphia 76ers, lost the game 131-115 as the Royals won their seventh straight and replaced the 76ers as the Eastern Division leaders.

Jerry West also scored 46 points in pacing the Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division leaders, to a 125-115 victory over the Boston Celtics in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday.

WAY TO PEACE — One way to quiet things in Viet Nam is to seize Cong weapons. Thousands of Russian and Chinese-made arms have been collected.

Strategy for Victory—3

Vietnamese Must Develop Concept of Belonging to a Nation

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the last in a three-part series on how the United States hopes to win the war in Viet Nam.)

* * *

By COL. RAY CROMLEY
Military Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — According to present official U.S. thinking, the war in Viet Nam will not be won by destroying the Viet Cong mainline regiments and brigades. But that must be the first step.

It won't be won by arming the hamlets and giving them self-government. But that must be the second step.

Top officials believe there must be a third ingredient — the creation of the concept of a nation.

The people in Thai Binh hamlet, for example, must feel they are citizens of Thai Binh Hamlet of Tay Ninh Province. But above that they must be brought to a proud loyalty as citizens of the nation of South Viet Nam.

Otherwise, what the Viet Cong fail to achieve militarily, they might win politically through the failure of Saigon to govern nationally.

* * *

The Communists could eat away one hamlet after another and fragment the country through political propaganda spread by well-trained agents.

PEOPLE BUFFETED

Until the organization of the Diem government in 1955, South Viet Nam had been buffeted for generations by the French and the Chinese. The people, capable of intense loyalties, have seen little of the central government, except for soldiers and tax collectors, over the past decades.

There's much argument today over how this national loyalty can be created.

One group believes it will best be built by federal, that is Saigon, aid to local communities in building and maintaining schools, hospitals, first-aid stations and other public works. Federal "county agents" would help farmers.

Another group believes national loyalty will be encouraged by having the Vietnamese army (which gets around more than any other national group) push enthusiastically in civic action projects all over the country.

This would mean primarily that soldiers, wherever stationed, would help local villagers with whatever they're doing for — from gathering rice to repairing roads. This was one technique Mao Tse-tung used successfully in his drive to power in China.

U. S. officials give lip service to the development of nationwide political parties as essential to nation-building. In practice, however, they seem to shunt this prospect aside as a concept too "risky" for Americans to actively and openly promote.

But some leading Vietnamese, including former Prime Minister Quat, think South Viet Nam will not become a nation except through the development of nation-wide political parties.

* * *

Political parties in Viet Nam are ridiculously small. Membership is almost wholly confined to Saigon and a few other major cities. Dr. Quat is a leader of the Dai Viet, largest of the parties.

RETURN EMPEROR

One former Viet Nam prime minister favors bringing back ex-emperor Bao Dai as a national symbol around which South Viet Nam could unite. He refers to the Japanese who built a modern sense of nationalist patriotism by using the emperor as the national symbol.

Most of the arguing groups believe that a major requirement in creating a sense of national unity is establishment of a stable, reasonably efficient, central government in Saigon. They are not agreed as to how this can be accomplished.

Meanwhile, one group or another sees nation-creating trends in several movements now being pushed in the South.

This summer, 7,000 students, mainly from Saigon and other major cities, moved into the countryside to help with civic-educational projects in rural Viet Nam. The movement was triggered by severe floods but it mobilized a nationwide drive on a host of problems.

The city students, rural teachers and young district officials are beginning to talk together, informally, about national problems.

Where this may lead is as yet unclear. But students in Viet Nam have never been slow to put political ideas to the test.

Some Vietnamese say the open belligerence of Mao Tse-tung and his government may do as much as anything to unify South Viet Nam. Vietnamese history is the story of one Chinese conquest after another.

Kashmir 'Truce' Only a Word

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — "Capt. Gautam Mubayi, son of S. N. Mubayi, was killed in action on the Kashmir front on the 3rd Nov., 1965."

Officially, a cease-fire prevails on the India-Pakistan front. But death notices such as that one keep appearing as tragic proof that there is no peace.

* * *

Bloodshed has continued since the U.N.-sponsored cease-fire supposedly went into effect Sept. 23.

U.N. observers on the front have been increased to more than 185 but they haven't been able to prevent jet fighter-bombers, tanks and heavy artillery from going into action.

DEATHS MOUNT

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament 10 days ago that 262 Indians and 378 Pakistanis had been killed since the cease-fire, along the 1,500-mile truce line stretching from Kashmir southwest almost to the Arabian Sea.

The continuing bloodshed has sent up danger signals.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri warned Indians not to relax their guard. Home Minister G. L. Nanda said only the first phase of the war with Pakistan is over.

President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan declared there can be no lasting peace until the underlying quarrel over possession of Kashmir is settled. He cautioned Pakistanis to guard against "Indian aggression."

DESERT WASTES

Much posttruce fighting has been in the desert wastes of India's Rajasthan State and adjoining parts of Pakistan's Sind.

Distant outposts are attacked by fast-moving bands of men, sometimes mounted on camels, and large chunks of useless sand and scrub brush are said to change hands.

* * *

The most dangerous sectors are to the north — the so-called Lahore and Sialkt sectors.

Huge armored forces are poised behind front-line infantry units that skirmish almost continually along the truce line.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant has acknowledged the difficulty of sorting out conflicting Indian and Pakistani claims about who is violating the cease-fire.

South Dakota and Utah are by far the largest gold-producing states, with the Homestake mine in South Dakota accounting for some 50 per cent of total domestic production last year.

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

The British team in this year's European bridge championship tourney employed a weak no-trump when not vulnerable. Thus, South, who held a normal strong no-trump opening, had to open with one club. North responded one heart and this gave East a chance to stick in a one-spade overcall.

JACOBY

South showed that he held a normal strong no-trump opening by bidding one no-trump and North raised him to game.

Wilkosz of Poland, who sat West, opened the eight of spades, and Kuklewicz in the East seat played the seven-spot, since he had no way to get in for the rest of the suit if he won that first trick.

Tarlo of Great Britain, who was declarer, counted a maximum of eight tricks and decided to attempt to collect one heart trick. He led the jack of hearts from his hand to give the impression that he was looking for the queen but Wilkosz refused to be fooled and went right up with his ace. Then he led a second spade and another contract had bit the dust.

East and West vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
1 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ 8.

Playing standard American, South would have opened one no-trump and North would just raise to three. West might find the spade lead, but the odds are that he would lead some other suit, whereupon declarer would have no trouble making at least nine tricks.

Incidentally, Great Britain suffered no loss. I don't know how the Poles bid the North-South cards but they arrived at four hearts, only to lose two spades, a ruff and the ace of trumps.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
			3 ♣
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	5 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ K Q J 10 6 5 4 ♥ A 3 2 ♦ 5 3 ♣ 7
What do you do?

A—Bid six hearts. You certainly want to be in a slam and there is a possible grand slam if your partner holds the ace of spades, a diamond suit headed by ace-king and the ace of clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five spades over your four spades, your partner has bid five clubs. What do you do now?

Children's Tastes Change Rapidly; Ask Parents' Aid

Choosing gifts for children this Christmas? Remember, as boys and girls grow up, their interests change rapidly.

★ ★ ★

What was most intriguing to them as little as six months ago may be "kid's stuff" by the time Christmas comes.

Especially for adults not in daily contact with children, it is particularly difficult to visualize the dynamic broadening of interests and capabilities that arrives, as the juvenile birthday score advances.

Parents are likely to be helpful sources of information as to what kind of gifts will fill significant needs on the home front. They appreciate the givers' generosity and are glad to help.

★ ★ ★

Many stores also provide lists of appropriate gifts for children, according to age.

Exercise Equipment

If his leisure time is in short supply, that man on the Yule list can get a lot of healthful pleasure out of "physical fitness" gifts, as a substitute for sports.

★ ★ ★

Exercise equipment could please him, and the whole family. In this category are chest pulls, bar bells, weight plates, door bar gyms. These are available from sporting goods stores and department stores.

Ferry in Port After Storm

Lake Michigan Blow Forced 22-Hour Delay

MUSKEGON (AP) — The Grand Trunk Western railway carferry City of Madison made port here safely Wednesday after riding out a howling Lake Michigan windstorm that delayed her for 22 hours.

Crewmen testified to the wrath of a north-northwest blow that forced the 348-foot steel ship to run for overnight shelter in the lea of the Wisconsin shore.

"I sailed salt water for nine years," said first mate Floyd Berg, former Pacific coast seaman, "but I never saw weather like this."

The winds, accompanied by a trace of snow, were measured at 60 mph on the ship's anemometer. Temperatures were in the low 20s.

34-MAN CREW

The City of Madison, with a crew of 38 men and carrying a full cargo of 28 railway flatcars and automobile chassis frames, left Milwaukee, Wis., on the across-the-lake trip at 2:30 p.m. (EST) Tuesday and was due here at 7 p.m. She arrived Wednesday at 5 p.m.

She carried no passengers.

Despite the force of the wind, the City of Madison reported no damage to herself nor to cargo and no injuries to crewmen.

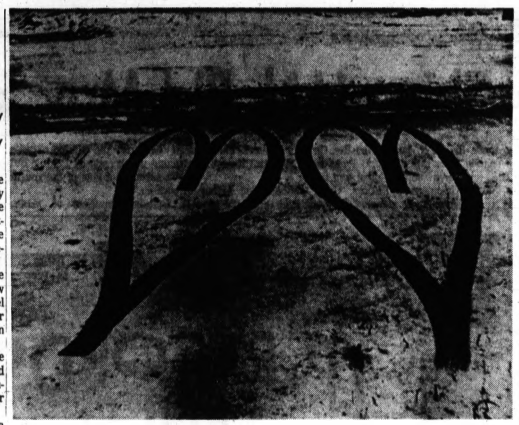

She unloaded here and prepared for a return trip to Milwaukee Wednesday night with the lake calm.

HID FROM STORM

The diesel-powered ferry, one of several plying Lake Michigan between Michigan and Wisconsin, hid from the storm overnight in the lea of Two Rivers, Wis.

"It was routine procedure for rough weather," said Capt. Ottmar A. Jahnke.

Fifteen to 20-foot seas broke over a sea gate and piled waves into the ferry's open rear end. The ship's radio became virtually useless in the noisy winds and static. Spray froze on the decks.

Global Jaunts Nothing New to Montana's Sen. Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., now heading a mission to Moscow, has had wide experience as an overseas troubleshooter.

He went to Asia for President Harry S. Truman during World War II. Truman also sent him to Paris for a United Nations meeting. And President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent him to Manila for a Southeast Asia conference.

* * *

President Johnson has made it plain he places great confidence in the sometimes hard-boiled Irishman, now in his third Senate term.

Speaking of Mansfield, the President once said: "He can be as aggressive as a tiger and as mild and meek as a mother. He never loses his head or his heart. There is no greater patriot in this country."

RUSSIAN TALKS

Mansfield's present mission is considered by some to be an effort to sound out the Russians on a possible Viet Nam settlement. But officially his congressional group is on a European fact-finding tour.

Born of immigrant parents in New York March 16, 1903, Mansfield's family moved to Montana when he was 3. By the time he was 19, he had been an eighth-grade dropout and had seen service in the Army, Navy and Marines.

* * *

After leaving the Marines in 1922, Mansfield spent eight bruising years working in the copper mines near Butte, Mont. For a time, it was work by day, school by night.

By 1934, Mansfield had gained bachelor's and master's degrees from Montana State University, where he taught history until 1943. In that year, he won a House seat in the 78th Congress and began his political career.

OFFERED POST

His penchant for hard work stood him well in Congress. In 1949, while serving his third term, he was offered and refused a State Department appointment by President Truman, who was impressed with the Montanan's scholarly speeches and knowledge of world affairs.

In 1952, Mansfield was elected to the Senate, where Lyndon B. Johnson got him a place on the Foreign Relations Committee. He was elected Democratic leader in 1961.

* * *

Tall, balding and with sharp blue eyes, Mansfield, now 62, has the dignified appearance of a college professor. He's a pipe smoker who puts a premium on plain, quiet talk. Newsmen find him readily accessible.

"He's very methodical and routine," says a long-time associate, "but once in a while he'll surprise you."

VA CLOSINGS

One of those times came early this year when President Johnson announced the closing of 11 Veterans Administration hospitals.

"He got mad on the floor, in committee, every place the subject came up," says one associate.

* * *

Johnsgn eventually ordered five hospitals to stay open, one of them in Montana.

The conscientious Mansfield is a serious senator, but there are some light moments.

RELAXATION

A favorite relaxation?

Listening to his collection of music from the roaring 20s — including ragtime — with his wife, Maureen, and daughter, Anne. The music is played on a modern stereo set.

The records, however, aren't collector's items. A staff member recalls that some of them were purchased after Mansfield had seen a newspaper advertisement offering three for $1.

Buckley Vows No More Races

Not Sorry He Ran or That Lindsay Won

NEW YORK (UPI) — Conservative William F. Buckley Jr., who says he would rather be right-wing than mayor, vowed today he would never, never enter politics again—"not unless I have a direct communication from my maker and its says, 'Run!'"

But he's not sorry he ran for mayor of New York, and he says he's not so sorry that he did not bring about the defeat of Republican John V. Lindsay.

"I'm just human enough so that I would have been a little depressed by three million New Yorkers refusing to speak to me for the rest of my life," he said. "Every time the eelctricioty failed in New York, they would have blamed me."

Buckley, 39, editor of the National Review, a conservative magazine, analyzed his own race in an interview with UPI, the first since the election.

He won 339,000 votes, 13.4 per cent of the total and acknowledged that he may have helped Lindsay, the winner, more than he hurt him.

BARRY TWITS

Barry M. Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate of 1964 and a friend of Buckley, twitted him last week as the "Wrong-Way Corrigan" of politics, who set out to defeat Lindsay and ended defeating Abraham D. Beame, the Democratic candidate.

But Buckley, lean and trim, hitching his thumbs into the belt of his herringbone-tweed trousers and packing his crowded office at National Review, denied that Lindsay's defeat was his intent. He said the purpose of his campaign was to win as many votes as he could for the conservative cause.

He relit his thin cigar and offered this argument to prove his point: Back in early October, the polls showed him with 10 per cent of the vote. He said he knew this was a normally Republican vote and if his percentage grew the new votes would be taken from Beame, not Lindsay.

"I could have tried to freeze my campaign," he said. "I could have flown off to the Bahamas with my 10 per cent.

The fact that I made it a point to carve Beame to pieces every once in a while lends credibility to my statement that I was out to get votes wherever I could."

Would he do it the same way again?

Yes—with some variations. Back in July, he defined the terms of his campaign:

"I do not propose to walk the streets. I will not go to Irish centers and go dancing. I will not go to Jewish centers and eat blintzes, nor will I go to Italian centers and pretend to speak Italian."

And he didn't. But, in retrospect, he said he would have abandoned his "platonic assumption that it is inherently 'infra-dig' to parade around in an open car.

"It may be it was too haughty —too sort of stuffily intellectual. It may be that the practice is not wholly indefensible."

As for eating blintzes, no. "That would be a form of condescension."

Don Adams' Wife Says He Really IS Maxwell Smart

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "My wife thinks I really am Maxwell Smart," laments comedian Don Adams, who plays the title role in the biggest hit of the new television season, "Get Smart."

THOMAS

In the series, which is the sole new show to make the hallowed top 10 in audience ratings, Adams plays an all-thumbs secret agent, the kind that could make James Bond cry U.N.C.L.E.

* * *

"My wife could be right," Adams sighed. "I'm the kind of a guy who is always knocking over water glasses and running out of gasoline. Whenever I do something like that, my wife says, 'You're Maxwell Smart, all right'."

The external evidence seemed to bear him out. When he arrived for lunch at the Brown Derby, he was catching a cold. He ordered scrambled eggs and burned bacon. Burned bacon?

ONLY WAY

"That's right," he confided. "That's the only way you can really get it crisp. Only rarely does some smart-aleck chef really burn it."

The bacon arrived — burned.

* * *

Despite occasional mishaps, Adams has had a good time of it in his chosen profession. Born Donald James Yarmy in New York City 38 years ago, he started writing comedy material while working as a commercial artist. His stuff clicked with the better comics, and Don decided to deliver some of it himself. He started climbing after winning on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts show.

"For seven or eight years, I appeared on more television variety shows than any other stand-up comic," he said.

RICH GYPSY

Bouncing back and forth between both coasts and playing night clubs all over, Adams found himself a rich gypsy. He was about to abandon performing for a career in production when he was cast for "The Bill Dana Show." A spin-off series was planned for him as the bumbling house detective, but the show was canceled before that happened.

Then came "Get Smart."

* * *

Adams is an easily overlooked man of conservative tailoring and eyes that disappear into slits when he is thinking hard. The best illustration of his similarity to Maxwell Smart concerns the garbage cans.

"I live up on this hill, see," he explained. "The garbage truck won't come up to the house to make the collection, so I have to take the cans down the hill to the street. One morning I loaded the two cans into the back of my car and went down the hill.

OTHERS STARING

"I was on Sunset Boulevard half way to the studio when I noticed other motorists were staring at the back of my car. I turned around and there were the garbage cans. I had to turn around and take them back."

When we parted, he said, "It's been nice meeting you, Jack."

"It's Bob," I said.

"Oh, yes," he answered, shaking his head as he walked away.

To Walter Reed

Ike to Be Transferred

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has recovered sufficiently from two mild heart attacks last week to undertake a move to Walter Reed General Hospital in Washington.

Indications are that the 75-year-old Eisenhower would be taken to Washington by rail sometime this weekend, tomorrow at the earliest.

Eisenhower's doctors announced yesterday their patient would be transferred.

The exact date will be decided after a consultation between the team of heart specialists attending Eisenhower at the Ft. Gordon army hospital here and Army Surgeon General Leonard Heaton, scheduled to fly here this afternoon.

* * *

The transfer to Washington was the latest in a series of announcements indicating that Eisenhower is on the road to recovery after suffering two heart attacks, the first on Nov. 9 and the second, described as a coronary thrombosis, the next day.

MILITARY AIDE

Eisenhower's military aide, Brig. Gen. Bob Schulz, said it was likely the former President's calendar will be cleared for the balance of the year.

All engagements will be canceled upon recommendation of Eisenhower's doctors.

The transfer to Washington would put Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, who has remained at his side, in closer proximity for a Thanksgiving reunion with their son, John, and possibly their four grandchildren. The younger Eisenhower lives in Phoenixville, Pa.

* * *

Yesterday Eisenhower was lifted from his bed and placed in a chair in the morning, the first time he had been up since he was confined.

SLEEPS LATE

His doctors said "the chair time" agreed with Eisenhower and they had scheduled him to leave bed again in the afternoon, but that he slept later than expected and was visited by a friend.

Eisenhower and his wife were vacationing at "Mamie's Cottage" on a fairway of the Augusta National Golf Club, one of their favorite retreats, when Eisenhower suffered a 30-minute attack of chest pains shortly after midnight Nov. 9.

Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, a Ft. Gordon public information officer who serves as the spokesman for Eisenhower's doctors, said a 24-hour notice would be given before Eisenhower leaves for Washington. That would make tomorrow the earliest departure date.

* * *

Doctors said present plans were to move the general from a railhead at Ft. Gordon directly to the station nearest Walter Reed Hospital.

* * *

Heaton, a lieutenant general, returned to the United States Sunday after visiting Viet Nam, and doctors said Eisenhower was "anxiously awaiting" Heaton's visit.

Dem Cautions on Bid Probe

'No Conclusions Yet in Road Investigation'

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. Charles N. Youngblood, D-Detroit, has cautioned against any premature conclusions being drawn from recent newspaper stories on an investigation into highway contract bidding.

In a news release distributed here yesterday Youngblood, who has been in New York this week, said:

"It has been brought to my attention that there have been several releases out regarding the highway investigation, and I want to make it very clear that at this time we have a great deal of fiction and very few facts.

"Therefore, until the attorney general, auditor general and Senate Investigating Committee are able to coordinate all of the evidence and until such time as we are able to give an honest and fair hearing to the members of the highway department, I don't believe that any one should jump to conclusions.

* * *

"It appears at this time that there are some irregularities; However, I do not believe in accusing any man until I have definite proof before me."

First U.S. president to travel by railroad was Andrew Jackson, who rode 13 miles by rail from Ellicott's Mills to Baltimore, Md.

Canada Train Derailment Injures 30

TORONTO (AP) — Canadian National Railways passenger train No. 6, en route to Toronto from Chicago and Sarnia, Ont., was derailed at suburban Rexdale Wednesday.

A CNR spokesman said 30 or more persons were taken to hospitals but none was seriously injured.

* * *

The spokesman said three of five crew members were in hospitals.

The other members of the crew were reported only shaken up.

100 ABOARD

A CNR employe said there were 100 passengers aboard.

The accident happened as the train was proceeding along a diversionary rail. The train consisted of two engines, a baggage car, two coaches and a chair car. One engine overturned.

* * *

A list of the injured was not immediately available.

Passengers were transported by bus to Toronto.

Lower Utility Rates Okayed for U. P. Area

LANSING (AP)—The Public Service Commission has announced approval of lower rates for mercury vapor and highway lighting by the Michigan Wisconsin Power Co. The commission said street lighting customers of the utility in the Upper Peninsula will realize a $3,650 annual saving under the rate change.

WATCH TALLY BOARD — U.N. Secretary General U Thant (left) and General Assembly President Amintore Fanfani watch the tabulation board as the U.N. voted yesterday on the seating of China. The vote ended in a tie, 47-47, with 20 countries abstaining, thus defeating the entry bid which would have required a two-thirds majority.

Squeaker on Two-Thirds Rule Indicative?

U.S. Victory in China U.N. Bid May Be Last

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The 47-47 split in the General Assembly on seating Red China plus waning support for U.S. demands that a two-thirds vote decide the issue, aroused speculation today that Peking cannot be barred much longer.

★ ★ ★

Supporters of the U. S. campaign to keep Red China out of the United Nations admitted privately that they may have scored their last annual victory.

Many diplomats believed the fact that the 117-nation assembly approved the call for a two-thirds majority by a margin of only 7 votes was more significant than the dramatic split over admitting Peking.

★ ★ ★

The procedural maneuver was approved 56-47 with 11 abstentions, a majority of 20 less than the last vote on the same question four years ago.

ON STRAIGHT VOTE

The consensus was that if Peking's supporters break the majority barrier next year, they can rally enough support to admit Red China on a straight vote.

Diplomats noted that if Indonesia had not quit the United Nations last March, Peking may have had the single vote needed to score a simple majority this time.

★ ★ ★

It was believed that Red China's backers could pick up a number of votes if they did not insist on coupling their call for admission of Peking with demands to oust Nationalist China.

Ceylon tried before Wednesday's vote to delete the ouster demand, but the sponsors refused. Peking has said it will not consider U.N. membership unless the Nationalists are thrown out.

ONLY BIG POWER

For the first time, the United States found itself the only big power opposing Red China. France switched allegiance after establishing diplomatic relations with Mao Tze-tung's regime last year. Britain supported the two-thirds demand, but voted to seat Red China which it has recognized since 1950.

Delegates expressed belief that two main factors worked against Peking.

—Its scornful attitude toward the United Nations.

—The Viet Nam war which has made the U. S. position on the seating issue inflexible.

The lukewarm support that the Soviet Union gave Peking this year disappointed some of Red China's backers, but it was considered doubtful it cost them any votes.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the ballot showed it was not the United States alone which opposed Peking but "a substantial vote of the membership."

Britain's minister of state, Lord Caradon, warned the assembly that the United Nations would suffer damage in the long run if Peking is not made a member.

Russia Collaborating With U.S.---Peking

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China fired another bitter broadside at the Soviet Union today, accusing it of collaborating with the United States in an attempt to dominate the world.

★ ★ ★

Peking accused the Soviet Union of deleting a passage from a recent speech by a top Soviet Communist official which, the Chinese said, showed the Soviet Union was more interested in peaceful cooperation than in world revolution.

★ ★ ★

The attack was made by an unnamed commentator in the official Peking People's Daily. He cited a speech at the Moscow celebration of the Bolshevik revolution by D. S. Polyansky, a member of the presidium of the central committee of the Soviet Communist party, and said these parts of the speech were deleted from the published version: "Communist world outlook is optimistic by nature. We are willing to believe in the possibility of a durable peace on earth and are working toward this goal.

"It is not through a world war, by rocket nuclear weapons, but in peaceful economic competition that the question of which system is better, capitalist or Socialist, should be decided.

"There are also possibilities for the improvement of our (Soviet) relations with the U.S.A."

★ ★ ★

He added that Soviet-U.S. relations were made difficult by the American position in Viet Nam.

These deleted statements, the Chinese commentator charged, showed that the Soviet leaders are still following the "revisionist" line of ousted Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The deletions were made only because "the successors to Khrushchev have learned to be a bit wiser than Khrushchev himself," the editorial said.

WSU Boosts, Modernizes Police Force

DETROIT (UPI) — Wayne State University Wednesday announced a modernization and expansion of its campus police force.

WSU President William R. Keast made the announcement before a hearing of the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Higher Education called after Abdul C. Accra, a Wayne student, was shot Oct. 24 in his car outside the Jeffries Housing Project.

The university leases three of the buildings at the project.

Keast told the subcommittee the university was aware its security force of two investigators and 13 watchmen was inadequate, and the school is trying to hire a qualified police administrator.

Cuban Sea Lift Is Stepped Up

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The United States has stepped up the Cuban refugee sea lift in an attempt to complete it by Dec. 1 when an airlift is to begin.

Two U.S. chartered boats arrived at Key West today with 169 more refugees from Matanzas, Cuba, to bring the sealift total to 169 — about one-quarter of the would-be refugees stranded when the small boat shuttle was stopped.

★ ★ ★

A third boat is to leave Key West tonight.

"We are going to bring out at least 200 Cubans daily hereafter," Cmdr. C.W. Wahl, Key West Coast Guard Commander, announced.

New Runways a State Need?

Official Says Jets May Be Too Large

LANSING (AP) — The many jet aircraft being ordered by many airlines may not fit present Michigan airport runways, warns James Ramsey, director of the State Aeronautics Department.

"Air travel by jets is certainly something we want to have come to our out-state communities," said Ramsey.

★ ★ ★

"However," Ramsey added, "it is time for the aircraft manufacturers and airlines to start building and buying jet aircraft to meet existing airport facilities and traffic requirements."

It is probable, said Ramsey, that jet service would cut down on the number of daily flights to each community. It is a definite fact, he added, that airport expansion will be costly to local, state and federal governments.

CONSIDERATION

"The dollars it will take to expand Michigan airports and the very real possibility of fewer flights a day, resulting in a lower level of service to many communities, will have to be considered by the Aeronautics Commission in allocating state funds for expanding runways to use the larger aircraft," Ramsey warned.

First Clear Pattern in 3 Days

Coppers Lead Market Tumble

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market fell today, soured by sharp setbacks to copper stocks.

Trading was fairly active.

* * *

Changes among key stocks were largely fractional but the lower tone marked a first clear pattern after three days of scrambled prices.

The government's decision to release 200,000 tons of copper from the stockpile to steady copper prices hit leading copper stocks.

Kennecott, the nation's No. 1 copper producer, skidded about 4 points. Anaconda was down more than 3 and Phelps-Dodge more than 2. American Smelting lost about a point.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off 1.3 at 354.4. Industrials were down 2.7, rails off .4 and utilities down .2.

* * *

The Dow-Jones average of 30 industrials at noon dropped 4.74 to 951.83.

Motors were mostly higher. General Motors and Chrysler were up fractions, as was American Motors, despite a $13 million quarter loss and an omitted dividend.

* * *

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly lower. O'Okiep Copper Co. was down 3. Benrus fell more than 2 points and National Video was off 1⅝. Lafayette Radio and Northeast Airlines were up a point or so.

* * *

U.S. Treasury and corporate bond prices were mostly unchanged in light trading.

HISTORY OF LIGHT — A new National Air and Space Museum planned for Washington's Mall will make possible for the first time full display of the Smithsonian Institution's collection of famous air and space craft from the Wright brothers' original "Kitty Hawk Flyer" to John Glenn's Mercury space capsule and the 85-foot Atlas missile. The $40-million structure also will house a library for space research. The Smithsonian hopes to begin construction next year with completion set for 1969.

Rum's Popularity Gaining in U.S.

'Whipping Boy Making a Comeback

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Rum, once a universal drink which languished in favor when temperance leaders made it a "de-mon" and a whipping boy, is making a comeback.

* * *

In the last decade or so, rum's popularity has grown sharply, particularly in the United States where consumption has doubled since 1955, though it still accounts for only 2.1 per cent of distilled spirits consumed.

* * *

The distilled spirits institute, calculating from tax returns, reported U.S. sales in 1963 of 2.1 million cases.

Rising affluence in Europe and industrialized nations elsewhere, the growing acceptance of the Western cocktail and rum's adaptability in this regard have worked in its favor.

COSMOPOLITANISM

So too, some observers say, is an increasing cosmopolitanism in the world, a factor that has propelled beverages once taken parochially by nationals across boundary lines.

In this regard, Russian vodka, France's cognac, Mexico's tequila and to a lesser extent Great Britain's scotch and gin — once consumed largely by nationals in the country of distillation — now enjoy wide favor elsewhere. Scotch, for instance, is said to be making great headway in South America, and vodka in recent years has won wide U.S. acceptance.

* * *

With Cuba out of the picture, Puerto Rico leads all rum producers with its scores of famous brands.

Made from sugar cane, rum comes in varieties ranging from 80 to a jolting 160 proof. The tamer varieties are favored in the United States, the greatest consuming country.

FIVE BREWERIES

As an example, one firm has five major breweries — in Puerto Rico, Brazil, Nassau, Spain and Mexico.

The Mexican operation alone bottles a million cases a year of 12 bottles each. About 10 per cent is exported to the United States, Canada, Italy, New Zealand, Australia, the Far East — approximately 40 countries.

* * *

The Mexican plants really blossomed when Fidel Castro took over Cuba — and the huge firm's parent plants there.

History shows that during the American Colonial period, rum was the top alcoholic drink, mainly because there wasn't much of anything else, and it made good hot drinks. Some say the Founding Fathers drank about 20 gallons each a year. It also was popular in Europe, with the West Indies supplying much of the rum for England and other countries. The British navy had a daily ration of rum for its sailors.

BEGAN TO WANE

Rum flourished in America for around two centuries, but began to wane when slave-trading with Africa stopped around the beginning of the 19th century. Slaves were part of a three-way trade, the other two parts being molasses, or sugar, and rum.

It became the "demon rum" for temperance leaders. This, and the fact it was not a native drink since much of its raw material had to be imported, caused it to die out in popularity.

Ironically, it was the Prohibition Era in the United States which helped start its climb back to popularity. It formed the base of the better bootleg.

Rum really began to zoom in the 1940s. Music helped. The song "Rum and Coca-Cola" played a major role. Then came the "Cuba libre" — just plain rum, a cola drink, a little lemon juice, and ice.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF AGNES TODOROff, who passed away Nov. 11, 1964.

Now we miss your smiling face.
That you left us to remember;
None on earth can take your place,
You sweet the memory still;
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by George, Ted and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. AGNES Todoroff who passed away Nov. 18, 1964

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
—Sadly missed by daughters, Carol and Debbie

IN LOVING MEMORY OF FRANK R. Bradford who passed away November 17, 1951.

Softly we turn back the pages of time to wander down memory's lane.
With laughter and tears we turn back the years and gently speak your name.
Your loving wife, Mary; daughter, Gladys; and son, Glenn.

HISTORY OF LIGHT — A new National Air and Space Museum planned for Washington's Mall will make possible for the first time full display of the Smithsonian Institution's collection of famous air and space craft from the Wright brothers' original "Kitty Hawk Flyer" to John Glenn's Mercury space capsule and the 85-foot Atlas missile. The $40-million structure also will house a library for space research. The Smithsonian hopes to begin construction next year with completion set for 1969.

Rum's Popularity Gaining in U.S.

'Whipping Boy' Making a Comeback

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Rum, once a universal drink which languished in favor when temperance leaders made it a "demon" and a whipping boy, is making a comeback.

★ ★ ★

In the last decade or so, rum's popularity has grown sharply, particularly in the United States where consumption has doubled since 1955, though it still accounts for only 2.1 per cent of distilled spirits consumed.

★ ★ ★

The distilled spirits institute, calculating from tax returns, reported U.S. sales in 1963 of 2.1 million cases.

Rising affluence in Europe and industrialized nations elsewhere, the growing acceptance of the Western cocktail and rum's adaptability in this regard have worked in its favor.

COSMOPOLITANISM

So too, some observers say, is an increasing cosmopolitanism in the world, a factor that has propelled beverages once taken parochially by nationals across boundary lines.

In this regard, Russian vodka, France's cognac, Mexico's tequila and to a lesser extent Great Britain's scotch and gin — once consumed largely by nationals in the country of distillation — now enjoy wide favor elsewhere. Scotch, for instance, is said to be making great headway in South America, and vodka in recent years has won wide U.S. acceptance.

★ ★ ★

With Cuba out of the picture, Puerto Rico leads all rum producers with its scores of famous brands.

Made from sugar cane, rum comes in varieties ranging from 80 to a jolting 160 proof. The tamer varieties are favored in the United States, the greatest consuming country.

FIVE BREWERIES

As an example, one firm has five major breweries — in Puerto Rico, Brazil, Nassau, Spain and Mexico.

The Mexican operation alone bottles a million cases a year of 12 bottles each. About 10 per cent is exported to the United States, Canada, Italy, New Zealand, Australia, the Far East — approximately 40 countries.

★ ★ ★

The Mexican plants really blossomed when Fidel Castro took over Cuba — and the huge firm's parent plants there.

History shows that during the American Colonial period, rum was the top alcoholic drink, mainly because there wasn't much of anything else, and it made good hot drinks. Some say the Founding Fathers drank about 20 gallons each a year. It also was popular in Europe, with the West Indies supplying much of the rum for England and other countries. The British navy had a daily ration of rum for its sailors.

BEGAN TO WANE

Rum flourished in America for around two centuries, but began to wane when slave-trading with Africa stopped around the beginning of the 19th century. Slaves were part of a three-way trade, the other two parts being molasses, or sugar, and rum.

It became the "demon rum" for temperance leaders. This, and the fact it was not a native drink since much of its raw material had to be imported, caused it to die out in popularity.

Ironically, it was the Prohibition Era in the United States which helped start its climb back to popularity. It formed the base of the better bootleg.

Rum really began to zoom in the 1940s. Music helped. The song "Rum and Coca-Cola" played a major role. Then came the "Cuba libre" — just plain rum, a cola drink, a little lemon juice, and ice.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF AGNES TODOROff, who passed away Nov. 19, 1964.

How we mis your smiling face,
That you left us to remember;
None on earth can take your place,
How sweet the memory still!
The world can never fill;
Sadly missed by George, Ted and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Agnes Todoroff who passed away Nov. 18, 1964.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
—Sadly missed by daughters, Carol and Debbie.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF FRANK R. Bradford who passed away November 17, 1951.

Softly we turn back the pages of time to wander down memory lane.
With laughter and tears we turn back the years and gently speak your name.
Your loving wife, Mary; daughter, Gladys; and son, Glenn.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Wool Makes Fine Sweaters

Musk Ox No Beauty . . . but

WASHINGTON—The musk ox has a face that only another musk ox could love, but it wears fleece that everyone loves to touch.

The soft underwool of these ungainly wild arctic cattle compares with cashmere and vicuna. Just four ounces are enough to knit a feather-light sweater that will resist below-zero cold. In spring a musk ox obligingly sheds enough for two dozen sweaters.

The University of Alaska plans to establish a breeding herd of musk oxen to test the commercial potential of the animals, the National Geographic Society says.

John J. Teal Jr., who has raised musk oxen in Vermont, recently flew to Nunivak Island, off the Alaskan coast, to round up the nucleus of the university's herd. The musk oxen on Nunivak were introduced from Greenland stock by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service in the 1930s.

★ ★ ★

Now found only in the Arctic of North America and Greenland, musk oxen once roamed the tundras of Europe and Asia as well, along with the hairy mammoth and woolly rhinoceros.

RETREATS

Retreating before the great glacial advances, musk oxen penetrated as far south as Kentucky and Kansas, then followed the withdrawing ice sheets back to the northlands.

Musk oxen were hunted relentlessly for their meat and coats by Eskimos, whalers, and explorers. Protected in recent decades, the herds have increased substantially.

With its thick body, short legs and tail, and dark brown hair hanging almost to white feet, the musk ox resembles a small, white-stockinged buffalo.

★ ★ ★

Eskimos call the ox oomingmak, or bearded one. Both males and females have horns — broad and massive at the base, sweeping downward then out and up to sharp points. A mature male may weigh 800 pounds.

NOT AN OX

The musk ox (Ovibes moschatus) is not really an ox, and there is some controversy about whether it is, in fact, musky. Zoologists usually classify the musk ox with a subfamily of animals related to sheep and goats. The European chamois and Rocky Mountain goat are relatives.

Some authorities say that Ovibos exudes a musky smell from glands beneath its eyes. Others maintain it has no musk glands at all, but gives off an odor during the mating season.

Mr. Teal, who has been in daily contact with the animals for 10 years, claims they have no characteristic odor.

Musk oxen usually live together in bands of five to a hundred or more. Through the Arctic's brief summer they roam the valleys, grazing or eating tender willow shoots, their favorite food.

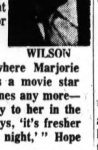

PAW FOR FOOD

In winter, musk oxen paw for food on higher ground, where frigid winds sweep hillsides almost bare of snow. Long hair and dense underwool protect the animals from temperatures dropping to 50 degrees below zero.

Phyllis Diller Seen Killer in Film Role Cast by Hope

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — The addicts of Phyllis Diller will be elated —and perhaps startled — to discover that Lima, Ohio's gift to glamour, is now destined to become a star of the silver screen . . . sort of an unglamour girl.

Bob Hope's promoting her elevation to stardom. Only Bob would have the sense of humor to want a cafe comedienne, noted for a monologue about how messy she can make the kitchen, to be cast as a housemaid. On reading the script of "Did I Get a Wrong Number?" in which he stars, Bob urged that Phyllis play his maid—and he would switch the script around so that she would resemble a maid named Eileen Taylor who works in his Palm Springs home.

"She's a character . . . she's a critic," Hope told me on the United Artists set, where Marjorie Lord plays his wife and Elke Sommer plays a movie star who says she doesn't want to do any nude scenes any more—and walks out on the highway nude. "I say to her in the morning, 'This coffee isn't fresh,' and she says, 'it's fresher than the jokes you used on your show last night,'" Hope said. WILSON

"And," Hope related, "if I complain about the toast, she's likely to say, 'Why don't you do something with your hair?' I wish I could," he added.

Debbie Reynolds was rehearsing a dance scene for "The Singing Nun" at MGM and Joe Pasternak walked me over there to show me Debbie's Rolls-Royce convertible which she drives to work . . . When Harry Karl will let her have it . . . "This car comes from little shoes," Pasternak said, referring of course to Karl's stores . . . "No," said Debbie, "it comes from little shoes and little shows."

Smog, smog, that's all they talk about here. "Smog," said Bart Lytton, the financier, "is only in the eye of the beholder."

True, and then it gets in his nose.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Barry Nelson'll join Lauren Bacall in "Cactus Flower" . . . Peggy Lee told the enthusiastic Copa audience, "I had a speech for you, but I spent so much time walking up and down stairs Tuesday, I forgot it." Comic Jack DeLeon was a bright, inventive addition to the big show.

Christina Paolozzi, who gave a party (with Steve Paul) for the Rolling Stones at The Scene; left early, explaining: "I know I'm the hostess — but I'm a pregnant hostess!" . . . Sammy Davis ordered 74 suits from H'wood tailor Steve Devore . . .

North Central College Asks State Funds

PETOSKEY (AP) — North Central Michigan College here has applied to the State Board of Education for $288,865 in matching funds for the fiscal year ending next June 30 to help speed a $3.3 million building program.

Dean A. D. Shankland said Wednesday applications soon would be presented to the federal government under the Higher Education Act of 1963 for the same purpose. A reply from the state is expected by mid-December.

The state application, if approved, would provide funds for completion of a science building now under construction. Also sought are funds for a start this fiscal year on a new $1.1 million general classroom building and money for planning a proposed student center to be started by July 1966.

The other two recruits were not identified.

Royal Opera House in Financial Crisis

LONDON (AP) — The Royal Opera House says it is in a financial crisis and has called on the British government for relief.

The opera house now receives a government subsidy of $2.45 for each $2.80 it takes in. During the year 1964-65 it received a subsidy of $2,153,570 for the opera and ballet.

The Earl of Drogheda, chairman of the board of the opera house, said Wednesday costs have risen so sharply that the estimated deficit for 1966-67 is given as $679,000.

Rio Putting Brakes on Taxi Population

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The state government has put the brakes to Rio's mushrooming taxi population.

With 18,000 taxis jockeying for fares on Rio's crowded streets, Gov. Carlos Lacerda has issued an order to block the licensing of new taxis in the city-state of Guanabara which covers Rio de Janeiro and its suburbs.

North Carolina Legislature Ends Ban on Communist Speakers at Public Schools

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The North Carolina Legislature, following months of bitter controversy that spread from the state capitol to university campuses to church pulpits, has lifted its ban on Communist speakers.

★ ★ ★

The law, enacted in the fading hours of the 1963 legislative session, prohibited Communists or anyone who pleaded the Fifth Amendment during loyalty hearings from speaking at state-supported schools.

★ ★ ★

An amendment approved Wednesday invests boards of trustees for North Carolina's 12 state colleges and universities with full authority to decide who campus speakers will be.

The House voted 75-39; the Senate 36-13.

The legislature was called into a special session by Gov. Dan Moore to act on changes recommended by a nine-member blue ribbon study commission.

★ ★ ★

The commission, headed by State Rep. David Britt, who originally voted for the ban, suggested the statute be drastically amended in an effort "to end forever this unrest which has split apart the state of North Carolina."

University officials had argued the act violated academic freedom and put politicians in charge of education matters.

Some ministers urged repeal, citing the loss of freedom of speech.

URGED REPEAL

The Southern Association of Schools and Colleges warned that state-supported schools would lose accreditation unless the law was repealed or amended.

★ ★ ★

In three days of heated debate, the legislature finally approved the recommendations from the study commission.

★ ★ ★

Supporters of the speaker ban law attempted in both legislative chambers to refer the issue to a vote of the people in May. They felt confident North Carolinians would vote overwhelmingly in favor of the ban.

These moves were defeated.

In the House, Speaker H.P. Taylor left his rostrum to speak on a bill. He argued that should the measure be placed before voters, "the state will be inflamed in the bitterest fight of its history."

Tree Cutters Find a Sturdy Opponent

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — After four power saw blades broke, workmen brought out an ax and discovered that the 80-year-old thorn locust tree they were cutting in Fairview Cemetery had a heart of stone.

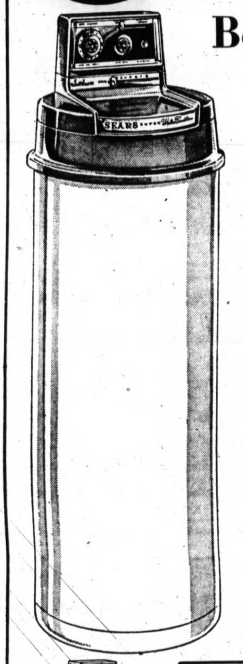

The tree cutting service said the base of the tree had grown around an old gravestone.

Oarfish are narrow and 20 to 30 feet long. Their dorsal fin extends the length of the body and they have anterior rays tipped with red.

U.S. to Release About 200,000 Tons of Copper

Aim Is to Nip Price Hikes, Ease World Shortage of Metal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government plans to release at least 200,000 tons of copper from its stockpile. It says the aim is to nip the climb in copped prices and ease a world shortage of the metal.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the decision last night, saying the world copper situation threatens a disruption which could lead to strong inflationary developments.

The announcement came one week after similar government proposals had forced a price-rise rollback in the aluminum industry.

There was no immediate comment from major copper companies as to whether they would follow the aluminum pattern and cut back prices.

★ ★ ★

Most U.S. copper producers increased their prices 2 cents a pound — from 36 cents to 38 cents — during the early stages of the aluminum controversy.

HELD FIRM

Only Kennecott Copper Corp. held firm at the lower level. The defense chief said speculative market prices in London and New York have been running between 67 and 70 cents a pound.

Speculators figure the price of copper for future delivery will soar if the metal becomes scarcer.

On the commodity exchanges these contracts call for delivery many months ahead and often are used as a hedge against possible shortages in the future or extreme prices advances.

Prices of such future contracts often vary widely from those in the spot market for immediate delivery.

McNamara said the release plus three other actions affecting the metal had been discussed with leading U.S. copper companies.

Teen Tries to Hijack Jet; Disarmed by Space Execs

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An icy-nerved electronics executive and two of the nation's top space figures disarmed a teen-ager who tried to hijack a jetliner over the Gulf of Mexico.

Thomas Robinson, 16, who said he wanted to go to Cuba to help anti-Castro political prisoners, fired a barrage of shots into the deck of the lounge before he was wrestled to the seat last night 100 miles out of New Orleans. He was carrying two guns.

But the two space executives and a score of other top experts—the cream of the brainpower in the Gemini program—coming here to check out spacecrafts for the United States' next space flights escaped without injury.

"We thought all along the shots were blanks," said Paul Haney, voice of the U. S. astronauts, "until somebody pulled back the rug and we counted eight big holes in the metal floor.

★ ★ ★

"At that point I got a little weak in the knees," he said. "It was one hell of a 25 minutes."

HANDFUL OF COINS

It was electronics executive, Edward C. Haake of Seabrook, Tex., who actually got the jump on the youth, from Brownsville, Tex., by distracting him with a handful of gold coins.

"I walked through the whole German army in World War II and I wasn't convinced he was all he was trying to be," said Haake, 46, a decorated B17 pilot.

"I'm no hero," he said. "I just did what I had to do."

★ ★ ★

Haney was sitting next to Chris Kraft, who directs U. S. astronauts as they circle the globe, when Robinson sat down on the arm of the chair across the isle.

DROPS NEWSPAPER

Robinson dropped a newspaper he had wrapped around a 22-caliber automatic, galvanizing the 91 passengers aboard the Los Angeles to Miami National Airlines Flight 30.

"He pointed it at Chris," Haney said. "It was only six inches off his jaw."

"What have you got there, boy?" Kraft said.

★ ★ ★

"There was a click which I thought was a cocking action," Haney said. "It did not fire. That's why I thought it was cocking action.

FIRE 3 SHOTS

"The kid stood up and backed toward the cockpit door and fired three shots in the floor of the lounge.

"Then he just stood there for five minutes and then he said 'I've got a gun and I'm not afraid to use it.'

"Then he fired three more shots in the floor."

Haake was the only other person in the lounge, Haney said.

CHECKING DAMAGE — National Airlines Capt. Dean Cooper (left) of Hollywood, Fla., looks at bullet holes put in his plane by a teen-age passenger on a flight from New Orleans yesterday. The youth said he intended to hijack the plane and shot bullets into the floor before being overpowered by passengers. Helping investigate is Lt. Joseph Mumfred of the Kenner, La., police.

Profits Take a Dive at American Motors

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp., skipping payment of its regular quarterly dividend, reported a sharp drop in profits for its fiscal year yesterday.

AMC, plagued by strikes in the United States and Canada during the year, thus ran against the profits increase trend of the rest of the auto industry.

The company, smallest of the four American carmakers, attributed its profit downturn in part to what it called its "costly and regrettable" three-week strike at Kenosha, Wis.

AMC reported a profit for its fiscal year ended Sept. 30 of $5.2 million, equivalent to 27 cents a share, as compared with a net of $26.2 million or $1.38 a share for the prior year.

Sales were down from slightly over $1 billion in the prior year to $990 million this year.

★ ★ ★

The "Big Three" of the auto industry—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—all have reported record sales and profits for the first nine months of 1965. Their fiscal years are on the calendar year basis.

LOWER EARNINGS

AMC's board siad it omitted the dividend payment because of the reduced earnings and to make funds available for product and sales development programs.

The company previously had slashed its quarterly dividend from 25 cents to 12.5 cents. For the 1965 fiscal period ended Sept. 30, it paid three quarterly dividends of 25 cents each and one of 12.5 cents, for a total of 87.5 cents per share for the year.

Chairman Richard E. Cross and President Roy Abernethy said strikes at both Kenosha and Brampton, Ont., had figured in the profits loss.

4 Bound Over in 1963 Raid

Former Pontiac bar owner Clovis Skelton and three other men were bound over to Circuit Court yesterday for arraignment Dec. 7 on a charge of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

A second count of conspiring to illegally publish racing odds or information was dismissed by Municipal Court Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Released on $200 personal bond each were Skelton, 51, of 33 W. Colgate; Roy A. Powell of 822½ Baldwin; Robert L. Barnett, 312 N. Saginaw; and Ellis C. Adler, 1910 Hopefield, Orion Township.

The four were arrested in Pontiac July 19, 1963, when federal agents, city and state police raided an alleged bookie operation at the Baldwin Rubber Tavern.

Preliminary examination on the charges was postponed more than a dozen times at request of the various defendants.

EARLIER RULING

Yesterday's Municipal Court verdict follows by about six weeks Skelton's conviction in U.S. District Court in Detroit on a charge of failing to pay a federal wagering tax.

He awaits sentencing on that conviction pending a report from the federal probation department.

Red Ambush Is Also Costly to U.S. Forces

May Have Suffered Highest Casualties of Any Single Battle

PLEIKU, South Viet Nam (AP) — American air cavalrymen today claimed at least 300 North Vietnamese killed during a Communist ambush of U. S. forces in the Ia Drang Valley.

The ambush was also costly for the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, which may have suffered the highest American casualties of any single engagement of the war in Viet Nam.

One company was virtually wiped out and some other units of a reinforced battalion suffered serious losses.

A U.S. spokesman in Saigon termed American casualties in the action moderate. He said U.S. troops still held the battleground today.

Skirmishing persisted tonight. U. S. sources said an enemy force estimated at one platoon — perhaps 30 or 40 men — fired mortars and small arms at one group of cavalrymen.

LIGHT CONTACT

Another U. S. force came in light contact with the communists about six miles away. There was no immediate report of casualties.

U. S. B52 bombers struck Communist positions overlooking the valley for the fifth and sixth times today to support the American troops.

After six and a half hours of hard fighting, dozens of dead Americans lay on the battlefield last night beside bodies of enemy dead.

Wounded Americans crowded aid stations in Pleiku.

U.S. patrols reported they

She Gets Divorce

'Nice Egg' Spoils Wife

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A pampered wife has won a divorce because her husband was too good to her.

Leona P. Jeske, 60, of Hayward complained in Alameda County Superior Court that her husband, Carl, 68, would never let her make the breakfast coffee, did all the washing and ironing, wouldn't let her wash the dishes, jumped up and took things out of the oven when she was baking so she wouldn't burn herself, and insisted on tucking her in bed each night.

The Jeskes had been married for 18 months. Each had been married before.

Mrs. Jeske said she felt she was being "treated like a child" and became nervous and upset. It caused her "grievous mental suffering," she said.

At White House Festivities

Meg Has 'Wild' Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as President Johnson launched the dancing with Princess Margaret at a candle-lit White House party honoring the royal British visitor and her husband.

The gay, informal festivities, also marking the Johnsons' 31st wedding anniversary — went on until 2 a.m. and the frug and waltz shared equal billing in the East Ballroom.

The princess and her husband, Lord Snowdon, were enjoying themselves "wildly," said lady-in-waiting Elizabeth Cavendish.

And the President, in a happy mood himself, drew rounds of applause and laughter with his champagne toast to the princess, capped by advice to Lord Snowdon from his own formula for a happy marriage.

★ ★ ★

He said: "I have learned that only two things are necessary to keep one's wife happy.

"First, let her think she is having her own way. And second, let her have it."

Johnson declared he was beginning his 32nd year of marriage "with the most wonderful woman in the world." And the dinner guests burst into applause.

The President was taking his first turn on the dance floor since his gallbladder operation Oct. 8, and he showed no signs of difficulty.

★ ★ ★

Princess Margaret, who ends her four-day unofficial visit to Washington today and flies to New York, made her appearance in a shocking-pink silk ball gown with dazzling diamond necklace, bracelet and drop earrings.

NO FAST DANCES

She preferred to sit out the fast numbers, while her husband enthusiastically danced everything from a Dixieland rendition of "12th Street Rag" to a popular Beatle number entitled "Hard Day's Night."

The dancing got off to a slow start when many guests seemed unsure whether royal protocol permited cutting in on a princess.

"It's quite all right," the princess' lady in waiting and U. S. chief of protocol Lloyd Hand assured inquirers.

At dinner, which featured roast squab and wild rice, 14 small tables were set in the state dining room.

★ ★ ★

At the princess' table, she sat next to the President and actor Kirk Douglas.

IN EMERALD GREEN

Her husband's dinner partner included the First Lady, dressed in an emerald green strapless gown, and Mrs. Walt W. Rostow, wife of State Department policy planner.

In her toast, the princess said she would take home "superlatively happy memories of all that we have seen and done."

Johnson told the royal couple "your coming has been good for us. You have reminded us that we are a young and gay people who respond to the smile and warmth of a young couple.'

Lakes Act Could Threaten Area Use of Clinton River

By L. GARY THORNE

Legislation established for positive action toward the restoration and preservation of inland lakes offers serious problems for communities served by the Clinton River.

Application of two of the state's Inland Lake Improvement Acts could threaten the operation of Pontiac's sewage treatment plant and even shut it down.

Lake improvements permitted under the two acts could restrict or otherwise alter the amount of water in the Clinton River, the lifeblood of the plant.

Effective sewage treatment is dependent on the amount of water flowing in the Clinton River.

News Analysis

Should the water level fail, a substitute or supplement must be found for the 15 million gallons pumped through the plant daily.

If this is not done, the treated effluent dumped into the river is increasingly polluted. This, in turn, could provoke complaints by downstream users, who no doubt would initiate action with the Water Resources Commission.

★ ★ ★

The commission could order further treatment for the sewage or even shut down the plant.

OTHERS INVOLVED

Pontiac doesn't face this problem alone. There are 16 communities located on the river with sewage treatment plants.

How does the restoration of inland lakes peril the water in the Clinton River?

Although the complex law has already been labeled "a monstrosity" by some, the Inland Lake Improvement Act sets up procedures to clean and preserve inland lakes.

★ ★ ★

Essentially, this in itself bears no threat to the river. However,

OCC Awards Bond Sale for Construction

A contract for the sale of $7 million in bonds to finance new campus construction was awarded last night by Oakland Community College to the lowest of five bidders.

★ ★ ★

The college's board of trustees awarded the contract to First of Michigan Corp. and Associates whose net interest proposal was 3.69 per cent.

County taxpayers presently are assessed one mill for operation of the college. The bonding obligation will increase this by .14 of a mill.

For example, the owner of a house with an equalized valuation of $7,000 now pays $7 annually.

★ ★ ★

The additional .14 of a mill, which would become effective next year, would boost this to $7.98 per year.

START BUILDING

Construction on the new campus will begin immediately with completion of the seven buildings included in the first phase slated for completion by the fall of 1967.

counted at least 300 dead Communists on the battlefield, and a spokesman said the enemy toll appeared certain to rise.

Previously U.S. spokesmen had reported 890 North Vietnamese killed in the fighting which has raged in the valley in the central highlands since Sunday.

No U.S. casualty figures were announced, in accordance with U.S. security policy. But before the ambush the Ia Drang battle had caused the heaviest American losses in the war.

* * *

Elsewhere, in South Viet Nam, Viet Cong battalions destroyed five U.S. spotter planes and inflicted moderate casualties on Vietnamese Rangers defending the Tan Hiep airfield 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

A U.S. adviser said 28 Viet Cong bodies were found. There were no American casualties.

The North Vietnamese in the Ia Drang Valley lay in the underbrush and hid in trees to ambush a battalion from the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Divison yesterday.

A relief force reached the scene at nightfall, and fighting was heavy during the night.

Dozens of wounded were flown to Pleiku, 35 miles to the north.

The relief force found American dead lying beside dead enemy troops and the wounded screaming in fear and pain.

Ring Adorns Luci's Finger; Engagement?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new gold and diamond ring sparkled on Luci Johnson's third finger, left hand, as she danced cheek-to-cheek with boyfriend Pat Nugent at a White House party.

The ring drew new speculation that the President's daughter, 18, is engaged to marry Nugent, 23. But the White House again would make no comment and Luci, herself, couldn't be reached.

* * *

Luci, in a strapless white faille evening dress, her hair bouffant, had a gay time at the dinner-dance last night in honor of Britain's Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon.

She danced some slow numbers romantically with Nugent and did some fast frugs with other partners during the evening to the blaring beat of Peter Duchin's orchestra in the East Room.

Rain fell from the Pacific Coast inland to the Rocky Mountains, and bitter cold gripped the Midwest.

But the brunt of the attack today was in the Northeast.

Meadville in western Pennsylvania reported 9 inches of snow on the ground. A 62-year-old woman was killed when her car slid across a slushy highway and hit a tree.

Blairsville, Pa., reported 3 inches of snow. Temperatures were below freezing across all of Pennsylvania.

TOPPLED BUILDING

High winds toppled a 20-foot cinder block structure in northeastern Pennsylvania, killing a construction worker.

Gale warnings were up along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Cape Hatteras, N.C. Heavy snow warnings were in effect in sections of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

One to 3 inches of snow was on the ground in portions of the central and northern Appalachians.

The cold weather in New England followed a major storm which deposited 2 to 5 inches of snow on the northern hills Wednesday.

COLD WAVE

Cold wave warnings were out from the Mid-Atlantic states to the Carolinas. The temperatures dropped as much as 50 degrees in some parts of the Carolinas.

Freeze warnings also were issued for Kentucky, east central Tennessee, southeastern Oklahoma and extreme northeastern Texas.

Santa Cruz was hit by winds measured at 60 miles an hour Wednesday, toppling trees and causing power blackouts.

Mud and water seeped into businesses and homes in Southern California. By early morning the storm had brought 4.28 inches of rain to Los Angeles. Chatsworth, in the San Fernando Valley, had absorbed 9.17 inches at midday Wednesday.

* * *

The four-day rainfall total for Los Angeles is the greatest for a November since 1900, when 4.72 inches fell.

* * *

Mud slides had isolated persons at Lake Hughes in the mountains to the north, in the Simi Valley to the west, and Malibu on the coast. Four inches of mud squished into 20 shops in Newhall, Calif.

* * *

And the Weather Bureau predicted two more days of rain.

Ship Tossing in Rough Seas

Loose Cargo Spurs Call for Assistance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —A large Norwegian motor ship radioed the San Francisco Coast Guard today for immediate assistance, saying her cargo was shifting dangerously in moderate to heavy seas.

* * *

The ship, the Martha Bakke, is 11,000 gross tons and 552 feet long. Coast Guardmen guessed she carries a crew of between 30 and 40 men.

* * *

The cutter Dexter from San Francisco Bay and aircraft were sent to the scene, 650 miles southwest of San Francisco in the Pacific.

International Telephone & Telegraph World Communications said it had picked up radio messages in which the ship's captain said deck cargo had broken loose and was endangering the vessel.

HELP ON WAY

The U.S. Navy ship General Patrick and the Tonishima Maru, a Japanese freighter, messaged they were in the area and were proceeding toward the stricken ship.

* * *

Later, the Coast Guard said the Martha Bakke had waved off all other merchant ships except the Santa Cruz Maru, which was closest.

* * *

The Martha Bakke's home port is Haugesund, Norway, and she is owned by Knutsen Lines. She was built in 1960 and is a refrigerated dry cargo ship.

* * *

She left San Francisco Tuesday, bound for Hong Kong.

Ship's Owners Facing Suits

Two Cruise Survivors Want $3.25 Million

MIAMI (UPI)—Two court suits seeking a total of $3.25 million in damages from the owners of the ship Yarmouth Castle charged today there were failings of equipment and crew when the cruise liner burned and sank off the Florida coast with a loss of more than 80 lives.

The suits were filed yesterday by survivors of the Saturday disaster, one of them critically burned in a Miami hospital, as the Coast Guard sought to convene a board of inquiry to formally investigate the sinking.

The 365-foot liner, bound from Miami to Nassau with 550 passengers and crewmen aboard, went down about 125 miles east of Miami, ablaze from stem to stern.

A freighter and another cruise ship rescued 462 survivors.

* * *

One suit for $2.25 million was filed in the State Supreme Court of New York by Harry Ebner of New York City on behalf of himself and his wife, Sylvana, listed among the missing passengers.

OTHER FILING

Anne Martin Jackson, 22, critically burned in the fire and a patient in Miami's Jackson Memorial Hospital, filed the other suit for $1 million.

Her mother, Louise Jackson of Vero Beach, Fla., was a victim of the disaster.

Both suits allege the Yarmouth Castle had inadequate fire fighting and life saving equipment and that the crew lacked the experience and efficiency necessary for dealing with the shipboard fire.

* * *

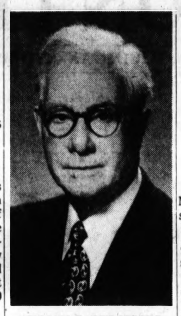

Miss Jackson's suit charged that the officers and crewman of the liner were "wholly inadequate" to operate the vessel safely.

HITS OWNERS

The suit also charges the owners with registering the ship under a "flag of convenience" in order to escape U. S. safety regulations. The Yarmouth Castle was of Panamanian registry, owned by the Chadade Steamship Co. of Panama.

As a foreign vessel, the Yarmouth Castle, built in 1927, was subject to international safety regulations established many years ago and less stringent than both U. S. safety regulations and international regulations governing more modern ships.

It will be up to the Coast Guard's board of inquiry to seek to determine the cause of the fire, assess the performance of the ship's officers and crew, and make recommendations and conclusions.

U. S. Moves to Delay Railway Clerk Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Mediation Board reported today it has stepped in to seek postponement of a railway clerks strike against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Co., and there are indications the walkout will be deferred.

* * *

That would involve a recess in a stoppage already ordered into effect. The 9,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Clerks walked out in a dispute involving demands for changes in work rules, pay scale adjustments, and fringe benefits.

He and his wife, Rena, are in the process of moving into a home in Waterford Township.

ship, will total $4,530,087 over 30 years.

The second low bidder proposed a 3.71 interest rate which would amount to $4,546,055 in interest.

* * *

Bids ranged to a high of 3.84 per cent, or $4,707,001 in interest.

* * *

Lloyd H. Van Buskirk, director of campus development at OCC, said some 80 to 90 financial institutions were involved in the bidding of the five major firms.

* * *

Bids on the bonds were higher than the 3.5 per cent interest expected when the bond sale was authorized by the board of trustees last August.

* * *

A rising market has resulted in the past seven or eight weeks as funds for loans have become "tight," according to college officials.

Birmingham Area News

Nonpublic School Pupils to Get Special Services

BIRMINGHAM — It will mean cutbacks ranging from 20 to 30 per cent for public school students, but the Birmingham Board of Education has resolved to provide special services to nonpublic school students.

* * *

The board has authorized immediate implementation of the state act which requires public school districts to provide the auxiliary services on an equal basis.

Adopted early in the summer after most school boards had established their 1965-66 operating budgets, the act was not accompanied by any appropriation to cover the cost of implementation.

Representatives of the 10 nonpublic schools in the district were asked last month to submit written requests for services and to specify the number of students considered to be eligible in each category.

* * *

Eight of the 10 have replied.

HARDEST HIT

Hardest hit of the district's programs is that for remedial reading, where the service to public school youngsters will be reduced by 24 per cent.

Because the school system started the program before the act was passed, it cannot be reimbursed for a portion of the cost.

If additional teachers were available to maintain the program at its present level, the cost would be about $20,000.

* * *

But the teachers are not available, so the program will be maintained by reducing the amount of time given to public school students, according to Schools Supt. Dr. John B. Smith.

TIME ALLOTMENT

"No public school child will be permanently dropped during the current school year, but the time allotment will be reduced," he reported.

The health and visiting teacher programs each will be reduced by one-third, the speech program by 25 per cent and diagnostician service by 20 per cent.

Hiring of the additional staff members necessary to maintain the programs would cost $65,300, with the school district getting reimbursed for $38,250.

* * *

Total cost to the district then would be $27,020 for the above programs plus $20,000 for remedial reading.

The husky 6-footer talked to Robinson calmly, pretending to go along with his wild plans about going to Cuba, even though Robinson now had a revolver in the other hand.

"He even fixed him a drink," Haney said.

Act Affects Clinton River

one of the usual steps in improving a lake is the establishment of a lake level. A second act—the Inland Lake Level Act of 1961—provides the mechanics for doing this.

POSES PROBLEMS

It is the establishment of lake levels that specifically poses problems for the Clinton River and its customers.

Lakes to the north, west and northwest of Pontiac serve as the headwaters for the Clinton River and are essentially the only reservoir for the river water. There generally is a straight flow between Pontiac and Lake St. Clair.

While the river gets rid of so-called high water conditions in the winter and spring, any artificial retention of the water in the lakes (to hold a certain level) in the dry weather months of July and August holds implications for the river.

* * *

In fact, some observers feel a lengthy dry spell could dry up the river, and along with it sewage treatment operations.

NO TALK YET

Public officials, in Pontiac and elsewhere, have not yet talked publicly of the problems posed for the river.

Privately, however, there is talk that the needs of the river's customers must be considered.

The idea has been advanced that lake levels be set on a regional basis, accounting for the demands on the Clinton River, rather than on an individual lake basis.

In so doing, it has been said that maximum and minimum lake levels might be established to accommodate wet and dry conditions.

* * *

A spokesman for the County Drain Commissioner's office indicated that in establishing a particular lake level nothing would be done to impair benefits to downstream users. Comprehensive engineering studies are completed before setting a lake level.

The spokesman did indicate that the 1961 law did not necessarily protect the downstream user.

When a lake level is set, and this is eventually done by a court, a "normal" lake level is determined and provisions are made through use of a dam, wells or other devices to maintain that level.

* * *

Meanwhile, should establishment of a lake level adversely affect the Clinton River, Pontiac does have a possible way out.

* * *

River water to the treatment plant could be supplemented or totally supplied from the city's system of wells, although the necessary connection would reportedly be an expensive one.

* * *

The wells, left idle when the city contracted for Detroit water, now exist on a stand-by basis.

* * *

Perhaps they might be pressed into service if upriver lakes some day require additional water.

Cards Carry Recordings of Children

Computer Helps in Vocal Ills

Voices in a computer!

It "sounds" incredible. . . . but Robert Baynes, Oakland Schools speech and voice consultant, is doing just this.

Baynes has adapted a data processing card to carry a three-second sample of a child's voice via a sound tape strip compatable to machines in use in Oakland Schools data processing center.

A second strip on the tape carries the voice of the consulting laryngologist's report on his diagnosis of the child's vocal chords.

Seventy children had their voices recorded for computer study today during a voice clinic at the Oakland County Health Department building.

VOICE DISORDERS

Baynes and Dr. Dieter Wendling—an ear, nose and throat specialist — examined and recorded voices of youngsters suspected of having chronic or persistent voice disorders.

The voice clinic is conducted four times a year as a cooperative service of the Oakland County Health Department and the Oakland Schools speech and hearing clinic.

Since the inception of the voice clinic four years ago, 242 school children have been examined.

Most of them have been referred by local school district speech correctionists because they exhibited a persistent voice disorder.

WARTLIKE GROWTHS

Thickened vocal chords or nodules (wartlike growths) on the chords were found in 58 per cent of the 242 children examined.

"Most cases of voice disorders are temporary, caused by colds and throat ailments," Baynes said.

"This leads parents, teachers and sometimes physicians to neglect cases of hoarseness that persist.

★ ★ ★

"Both voice retraining and surgery may be necessary to correct chronic conditions," he noted.

"However, in many cases when the child with a voice disorder is retrained, nodules and thick vocal chords are eliminated or diminish, thus eliminating surgery."

USE OF TAPES

Baynes plans to use his collection of taped samples of children's voices to alert school speech correctionists to voice disorders.

His report on the 242 children already examined in the clinics was published in a recent issue of the Journal of the Michigan Speech and Hearing Association.

The report also was presented, along with a few sample tape cards, to the annual convention of the American Speech and Hearing Association in Chicago earlier ths month.

★ ★ ★

Baynes ultimately hopes to have taped samples with medical diagnosis and other pertinent information on punched cards of all children found by the voice clinic to have conditions that require professional attention.

LITTLE RESEARCH

"There is very little research in the area of voice disorders in children," Baynes said.

"We need more information in the areas of early recognition, diagnosis, treatment and incidence of voice disorder as well as additional voice retraining techniques appropriate for young children."

Baynes' interest in this area began five years ago in research for his master's thesis at the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

His initial study was of 1,012 children in which he found 8 per cent to be chronically hoarse.

LESS STRENUOUS WAYS

"Speech correctionists in the schools can learn to identify these boys and girls," he said, "and teach them less strenuous ways to produce voice.

★ ★ ★

"Proper use of vocal chords would have prevented the majority of the voice disorders we find in children today."

Problem of Filling Posts Easing at State Hospital

The problem of filling staff positions at Pontiac State Hospital has eased somewhat, Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent at the hospital, said last night.

Speaking at a general staff meeting on the hospital grounds, Dr. Martin said, however, that lack of sufficient staff remains the most serious problem facing Pontiac State Hospital and all other state hospitals.

Even though the hospital has funds to hire new employes, Dr. Martin said that finding personnel is difficult due to the low wage level for hospital jobs compared to what industry offers.

He said, in citing the improved personnel situation, that 57 persons were hired last month and the gradual reduction in the number of beds has helped.

★ ★ ★

A total of 2,772 beds are now in use, Dr. Martin said. This represents an approximate 200-bed reduction in the last two years.

RATE INCREASE

He added that the rates of admissions and discharges at the hospital both have increased substantially in the past year, with admissions up 16 per cent and discharges up 19 per cent.

A waiting list of 300 prospective patients just 18 months ago has been trimmed substantially, the superintendent reported.

New, more efficient procedures at the hospital were credited with the increased admission-discharge rates and the waiting list reduction.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Martin told the 75 persons in attendance that he was hopeful the State Legislature would take early action on pay hikes for hospital personnel.

Worst dam disaster in history was in 1963 and took 2,600 lives in Italy.

2 Take $770 in Holdup at Pontiac Firm

Two men, one of them brandishing a 32-caliber revolver, took $770 yesterday from a Pontiac hardware store after ordering the owner and an employe to the back of the store.

Charles J. Coleman, 60, owner of Fay Barker Hardware at 650 Auburn, told Pontiac police the two men came into the store shortly before 7 p.m.

One picked up a file he said he wanted to buy, according to Coleman.

Coleman said when he opened the cash register, the second man pulled the gun and forced Coleman and a clerk into a back room.

★ ★ ★

The men then emptied the register and fled on foot out the front door, Coleman said.

Pontiac police detectives are investigating.

Bloomfield Miracle Mile

Report Sought by Early 1966 in Milford

16 to Study Water Problems

MILFORD — A 16-member citizens committee has been named to study Milford's hard-water problem and a $415,000 answer suggested for it.

★ ★ ★

Archie J. Noon, 217 Center, heads the group appointed by the Village Council.

Mrs. Damon L. Libbie, 720 Manordale, will serve as secretary.

The Village Council has asked for a recommendation from the group early in 1966.

Meetings of the group, open to the public, will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesdays at the Village Hall.

INVITE ENGINEERS

For their first session next week committee members have requested the opportunity to talk to engineers from Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., of Bloomfield Township.

The firm prepared the report which estimated cost of a water softening unit for the village at $415,000.

The proposed facility would cut the hardness of village water from 325 to about 60 parts per million, also cleansing it of its odor and discoloration.

Citizens committee members are to consider the possibility of placing a bond issue for the facility on the March 1966 ballot.

BOND PROGRAM

According to the engineering firm, a 25-year general obligation bond program would add 3 mills to the current property tax levy.

★ ★ ★

Village Manager J. Stuart Brophy and Noon were to meet today with engineers from the Detroit Department of Water Supply about the prospect of piping Detroit water to Milford.

★ ★ ★

Brophy said they would seek estimates on how long it will be before Detroit water could be available here.

School Chief Will Quit Post

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Clarenceville Schools Supt. Louis E. Schmidt next summer will vacate the post he has held for 17 years.

Schmidt, 56, was asked to reconsider last month when he told the board of education he planned to resign.

"For various reasons, I didn't think I had made the wrong decision," Schmidt said today. "The position of superintendent gets a little bit more untenable every day.

"Not just here, but everywhere, there are tremendous pressures," he said.

The superintendent said he has no complaints about working relationships here.

He is considering several job offers, he said.

An educator for 33 years, Schmidt earned his bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University and master's from the University of Michigan.

Before coming here he had served as high school principal in Plymouth, Eaton Rapids, Onaway and Kalkaska.

Schmidt and his wife, who live at 20405 Antago, Livonia, have two daughters.

HOSPITAL BOOSTERS — The Huron Valley Community Hospital fund drive last night received a $3,000 check, representing proceeds from a benefit bazaar the Women's Club of the White Lake Citizen's League held in October. Presenting the check to Dr. Norman Krieger, hospital board chairman, are bazaar cochairmen Mrs. Hartwell Gray (left) and Mrs. Arleigh Hess. The proposed facility would serve residents of 10 townships in western Oakland County and Livingston County.

Old-Timer Hikes to Keep 'on Toes'

By PAT McCARTY

If A. H. Scott had done all his walking in one general direction since his 90th birthday, he now could be tromping about in the jungles of Colombia, South America.

But the white-haired gentleman prefers the clime of his native Oakland County for his daily two-mile hikes.

In fact, he sticks pretty close to the Bloomfield Township home he shares with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Packer.

Scott, 1300 Winthrop, is looking forward to celebrating his 95th birthday Nov. 27.

★ ★ ★

He attributes much of his agility to the walks he has been taking for the last five years.

DOCTOR'S ADVICE

Scott's physician, Dr. Chauncey Burke of Pontiac, recommended the therapy.

"He told me, 'If you want to live awhile, get out and walk and walk.'" Scott relates.

The nonagenarian does just that, taking to the roads around his home shortly after his 7 a.m. breakfast and again in midafternoon.

He figures he averages 750 miles a year.

BAD WEATHER

There are few bad weather conditions which will keep him in.

"If I can't get out one day, I'll go for three miles the next," he said. "Some days I think I'm not going to go, but when I get out and walk a ways, I commence to feel better."

Stricken with just a touch of arthritis, Scott credits his walks with keeping him limber.

★ ★ ★

He's also trimmed some 40 pounds from his frame, he claims.

WALKING TIME

It takes Scott anywhere from 22 to 23 minutes to walk a mile, he reports.

His daughter said she gives him 25 before she starts worrying.

"If the neighbors are out, it might take me an hour," Scott said.

A. H. SCOTT

Born near Seymour Lake in Brandon Township, Scott for many years operated the farm on which Bloomfield Orchards Subdivision has since been developed. He's been a widower for 39 years.

DESCENDANTS

His progeny includes five children, eight grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Scott admits to being a bit hard of hearing.

"But I don't have to wear glasses to read," he said.

★ ★ ★

He carries subscriptions to four newspaers and five magazines and refuses to watch television — except for the World Series.

QUIT DRIVING

Until last June, Scott drove his own car but then decided he'd stick to walking.

★ ★ ★

His daughter notes he's never used tobacco, although he's been known to take a nip of apricot brandy from time to time.

Board Names Health Officer

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP— The community's first health officer has been appointed by the White Lake Township Board, which also promoted two policemen to sergeants this week.

Dr. Thomas E. Nugent, 2904 Steeple Hill, was named health officer to perform the duties formerly handled by the Oakland County Health Department.

Everett Gillow, assistant building inspector, was appointed Dr. Nugent's assistant.

The board also named Thomas Carl as day sergeant and Frank Thomas night sergeant of the police department.

The men, both of whom have been with the department since 1958, were recommended by Chief Louis Marsh for the promotions.

32ND DEGREE — Kenneth J. Delbridge, 5889 Dunmore, West Bloomfield Township, recently was awarded the 32nd Degree in Scottish Rite Freemasonry in a ceremony at the Detroit Masonic Temple.

Installation Sunday

TROY — The Rev. David B. Colman will be installed as assistant minister of Northminster Presbyterian Church, 3633 W. Big Beaver, during the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

A reception in his honor will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the church.

W. Bloomfield Center Site for Club Bazaar

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Cass Lake Side Women's Auxiliary will hold a bazaar Saturday at the community center on Greer.

★ ★ ★

Among the items to be featured at the 10 a.m.-3 p.m. event are baked goods, Christmas decorations, needle work and doll clothes. There also will be recreation for children and refreshments.

Population Figures Cited

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The population of the township is expected to more than double in the next 10 to 15 years, with school enrollment increasing accordingly, the chairman of the township planning commission noted last night.

Henry Moses outlined population projections for a citizens committee studying West Bloomfield School District, one of the six systems serving the township.

The number of persons living in the township will increase from the present 20,000 to 42,000 or 50,000 by 1980 or sooner, Moses said.

The figures will include some 5,390 elementary school pupils, 2,000 in junior high and 1,700 in high school, he indicated.

11-Member Panel

School Board Advisers Are Permanent

HOLLY — The local delegation to the Four District Study Committee has been established as a permanent advisory panel to the Holly Board of Education.

The 11 members of the group originally were named to represent the local district on a committee considering possible areas of cooperation among the Holly, Fenton, Linden and Lake Fenton School districts.

That organization's 13-month study has been wrapped up in a list of recommendations presented last week to the four boards of education.

Led by Joseph Lehman, the Holly delegation now will expand its sphere of concern to advise the local board on matters which may be referred to it.

In other action this week, the school board prepared a communication to the union which is seeking sole negotiating rights for the school system's noninstructional staff members, excluding secretaries.

PETITION BOARD

The International Union of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes has petitioned for recognition as the employes' representative.

A hearing on the matter will be held before the State Labor Mediation Board Dec. 17.

In the meantime, the school board will ask the union to demonstrate its strength by submitting authorization cards from a majority of the 55 employes affected.

The cards, authorizing the union to act as bargaining agent for the employes, are to be submitted to an impartial third party.

State Fruit Production Below 1964 Record

LANSING (AP) — Michigan produced an estimated 707,000 tons of major fruits this year, down 12 per cent from last year's record crop but still above average, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says.

★ ★ ★

The service said early reports suggest more than usual amounts of apples were left on the ground this season.

Board Appoints Assessor for Independence Twp.

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board has named William C. Cobb, 49, of 9212 Evee as township assessor, replacing James Gardiner who died Nov. 8.

A local contractor and builder for several years, Cobb is currently a member of the township board of review.

The position pays $6,500 annually, according to Howard Altman, township clerk. Cobb will begin work by Dec. 1.

"We're very fortunate in acquiring his services," said Altman.

★ ★ ★

Gardiner had served as a township official for more than 12 years prior to his death last week.

PRELIMINARY PLAT

At Tuesday night's meeting, preliminary plat approval was granted for Cranberry Lake Estates No 4 Subdivision, a proposed 41-lot development.

Located on M15 just north of I-75, the proposed subdivision is the fourth part of a development of Bloch Brothers, 5660 Dixie, Waterford Township.

Final plat approval has been given for the other three subdivisions.

The board also tabled a proposed junk yard ordinance until next Tuesday. The ordinance would place more restrictions on the dismantling of cars.

COUNTY OFFICIALS

Officials of the Oakland County Department of Public Works will attend next week's meeting to explain the proposed Oakland-Clinton sewer system in which the township may participate.

Clark, who was commander-in-chief of U.S. fighting forces during part of the Korean War, also said at a news conference yesterday in Chicago, that this country "shouldn't fight it out on a manpower basis" against the Reds in Viet Nam.

"They have more men than we have and they don't care how many they lose, while we do," he said.

CHILD RESCUED — Policeman Clifford Erwin clutches 2-year-old Linda Duckworth as he lowers her down a ladder from a second-story window of a burning house in Joliet, Ill., yesterday. Dollar Flow Abroad Again Forces U.S. to Press Businesses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration is bearing down harder on big business to help end the flow of dollars abroad.

The government so far has shied away from telling companies how much they can invest overseas. But it will suggest "formulas" to aid individual firms in reducing their foreign outlays.

Officials revealed the stepped-up campaign against the balance of payments fell back into deficit in the third quarter.

The red ink on the nation's international books totaled $485 million, after a surplus of $247 million during the second quarter — the first in nearly eight years.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler told a news conference that, despite this turn for the worse, he was "confident" the dollar drain could be ended in 1966.

But to make sure this happens, the government must follow through with the "voluntary balance of payments program initiated in February, Fowler said.

"Intensive review" is under way to prepare for 1966, Fowler said. Step No. 1 will be "some sharpening" of the targets" for U. S. business.

In the past, the administration avoided setting any dollar goals for the business part of the payments effort. Officials didn't want to lay themselves open to charges of failure if business didn't come up to the mark.

But now, an over-all payments target will be set for business as well as a separate target for business overseas investments. And a formula will be "suggested" to each firm to help it set its own investment goal for 1966.

Commerce Secretary John T. Connor said the government was looking to business for a "sizable increase" in its payments contribution next year.

The federal Reserve Board has already announced plans for continuing its efforts to curb bank loans next year.

The United States runs a balance of payments deficit when Americans spend, lend, invest or give away more overseas than foreigners spend, lend, invest or give away in the United States.

Despite the recurrence of the deficit in the third quarter, Fowler said, the payments picture showed "great improvement."

During the first nine months of the year, the deficit was at an annual rate of $1.25 billion compared to $2.8 billion during 1964 and $2.7 billion during 1963.

Fowler cited three factors in the swing back to red ink during July, August and September.

Bank loans to foreigners increased by $431 million, payments for U. S. military hardware declined by $176 million, and Americans increased their purchases of new foreign issues of stocks and bonds by $162 million.

Another unfavorable factor, still unmeasured, was stepped-up tourist spending overseas, Fowler said.

These unfavorable points more than offset a $257 million improvement in trade and other improvements elsewhere.

Ford Doubts Power

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Less-reassuring reactions are now following the first comfort that the Northeastern electric blackout did not include our military continental defense network.

In an interview, one expert on military preparedness, Congressman Gerald R. Ford, R-Grand Rapids, voiced his "doubts" about the future dependability of existing independent military sources of electric power.

That this man "doubts" is significant because for years he was the knowledgeable ranking Republican on the House Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Involved is something over at the Pentagon called "cost-effectiveness" very cherished by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara in cutting the defense budget.

* * *

Ford said: "I am as much in favor of cost-effectiveness as Secretary McNamara, but first I want to be certain of the effectiveness."

FACT UNKNOWN

While the power plants supplying electricity to military communications and other operations did not falter during the recent blackout, it isn't known how long the military system could be sustained.

Generators do not last forever and they are expensive. It is tempting to save the cost of repairs or replacements and gamble on the effectiveness of the public power system.

A man with a long memory, Ford recalls that we stripped our own power capability during the Korean crisis to rush mobile electric generating units into the fighting area, and he asks, "Are we doing the same thing now to assist our fighting efforts in Viet Nam?

* * *

Ford contends the Congress should satisfy itself that the independent power-might of the military is sufficient to withstand any emergency.

He did not ask for an investigation, but implied that his old committee, and others dealing with the armed forces, should do some new checking on our mobile and semimobile equipment for its adequacy today and for the future.

First Baby Is Always Big News

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My little girl is 8 years old and I am expecting another child soon. Would it be proper to send out birth announcements for this one also?

My husbnad does not think so. He says that announcements are sent out for a first child only. I can't see why the arrival of this second baby is any less important than the first.

A: I think it is true that the arrival of a first baby is always momentous news. Reports of others are taken each time more casually.

However, there is no rule against sending announcements, no matter how many times there may be occasion to do so. In this particular case, it seems to me that after eight years a second baby would cause quite as much interest as the first did.

ACKNOWLEDGING INVITATION

Q: When writing a formal acceptance, or regret, is it necessary to repeat the day and hour in the reply?

A: In accepting an invitation, the day and hour must be repeated so that, in case of mistake, it can be rectified and prevent one from arriving on a day or at an hour when one is not expected.

But in declining an invitation, it is not necessary to repeat the hour.

Car Overturned at Project Being Picketed by Union

LANSING (AP)—A group of men overturned the car of two workers leaving a construction project which was surrounded by union pickets Wednesday, Lansing police said.

Inspector Thomas O'Toole said neither of the men was injured. He said it was not immediately known who overturned the car and the incident was under investigation.

An estimated 50 construction projects in the Lansing area came to a halt as more than 2,000 members of the Lansing Building Trades Council took a day off to protest nonunion building projects.

The union members picketed four major building sites, including an apartment-office building project where the car overturning occurred.

Lansing police said records identifying the car's occupants were not immediately available. Don Govan, a partner of contractor J. B. Grammatico, said the driver was a floor covering workman from Grand Rapids.

Govan said none of the employes on the project was a union member.

He said several windows at the project were broken by rocks.

Four supplier firms also were picketed. At one, Sellers Sash Door and Lumber Co., a rock was thrown through the window and caused an estimated $150 damage to the window and equipment inside, said Dale W. Perry, company manager.

Thomas M. Borst, president of the Building Trades Council, said the walkout was designed "to inform the public."

He said a large influx of nonunion contractors was "threatening the gains made by our unions in the past 100 years." He contended the nonunion workers "are paid on an average of at least a dollar less an hour than union employes and many of them have no fringe benefits."

Wesley Jeltema, manager of the Michigan Chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, objected that the walkout was hurting union contractors.

"This will penalize employers they have been working for for years," he said.

Borst said the union members were to return to work today; but union workers from out of town would take up picketing at nonunion projects.

TELL OF HISTORIC FLIGHT — Capt. Robert N. Buck (left), Trans World Airlines pilot from Pipersville, Pa., and Flying Tiger Line command pilot Capt. Jack L. Martin grin happily yesterday as they tell of their historic flight around the world, taking a polar route. Their Boeing 707 jet touched down in Honolulu yesterday to complete the 26,000-mile journey.

Historic Globe-Circling Flight Ends

HONOLULU (UPI) — A Boeing 707 jet known as the "Tigers Polecat" completed history's first pole - to - pole, round - the - world flight yesterday, touching down at Honolulu International Airport just 62 hours and 28 minutes after its departure.

The specially equipped Flying Tiger plane carried a crew of 10 and 30 scientists, explorers, fliers and industrialists on the historic flight. The scientists gathered data about radar, cosmic rays, clear air turbulence and the jet stream.

The plane, which flew through storms and clear, sunny weather, departed from Honolulu Sunday in a driving rain.

It streaked over the North Pole, stopped in London, Lisbon and Buenos Aires, soared over the South Pole, refueled in Christchurch, N.Z., and landed in Honolulu under sunny skies.

The actual flight time was 51 hours and 20 minutes. The plane spent 11 hours and 7 minutes on the ground during various stops as a result of unexpected delays.

Latin Military Regimes Not Always Bad

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When, in 1961, the late President Kennedy announced his $20 billion Alliance for Progress to aid Latin American nations, he tied it firmly to social, political and economic gains achieved by democratic methods.

NEWSOM

In its beginnings, alliance planners tried to live by the Kennedy ideal. U. S. aid, later restored, was withdrawn from Peru, Bolivia, Honduras and Ecuador when military regimes toppled civilian governments.

Later, under President Johnson, came what has been called the pragmatic or practical approach.

This is the approach which holds that military regimes are not necessarily bad.

Thomas C. Mann, U. S. assistant secretary of state, put it into words in June 1964, when he declared that the United States would not be bound by a "doctrinaire strait-jacket" and that "in each case where a government is overthrown by force there should be a careful, dispassionate assessment of each situation."

It seemed not entirely by chance that Mann's new definition of U.S. policy came only a little more than two months after the military overthrow of President Joao Goulart's tottering leftist regime in Brazil, and susequent enthusiastic approval by the United States.

At any rate, the current high-level meeting of the American states in Rio de Janeiro could not have been held under the Kennedy terms of reference since Brazil today is far from being a democratic state.

Under a tough new institutional act promulgated in late October, Brazilian President Humberto Castello Branco can suspend the political rights of any Brazilian, sack any public official, pass his own laws and declare a state of siege.

There are, however, undoubted compensations.

When the army rose up against Goulart in 1964, it was in revolt against years of graft, incompetence, disastrous inflation and a steady drift to the left.

And, while opposition forces declared that Brazilian democracy had been sent to the guillotine, the government was able to point to an impressive string of accomplishments.

Price rises this year were held to about 50 per cent as opposed to 85 per cent last year. Next year, they are expected to be no more than 10 to 15 per cent.

Brazilian exports this year zoomed to $1.5 billion and are expected to leave the country with a favorable trade balance of nearly $300 million.

A balanced budget promised for next year will include a $2.6 billion investment program.

New tax incentives are being granted to business to encourage a further expansion of exports. For a year, the Brazilian cruzeiro has been stable in relation to the dollar.

Castello Branco himself is a moderate who has eliminated himself from presidential elections now planned for 1966.

In Brazil, the military forces have a tradition of defenders of democracy. But they distrust most of the present crop of Brazilian politicians and the successes of the last 19 months have made a heady brew.

Whether they will know when it is time to get out will soon become Brazil's most important question.

Retired Air Force General in Command of Top Baseball Office

Eckert Picked as Successor to Ford Frick

Baltimore's MacPhail Selected by Owners to Aid Commissioner

MEETS PRESS —The new commissioner of baseball, William D. Eckert, held his first press conference yesterday right after his appointment.

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's new public image began forming today behind the leadership of a new commissioner — a retired three-star Air Force general who delights in being called Pvt. Spike.

He is William D. Eckert, 56, of Washington, D.C., a trim, sharp-visaged man with thinning steel-gray hair and the build of a high school football halfback, 160 pounds, 5 feet 8½ inches.

His unanimous recommendation Wednesday to the major league's 20 club owners ended a six-month search by a screening committee headed by John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers and John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates. They started originally with about 20 men.

The soft-spoken Eckert, a much-decorated officer who retired from the service four years ago, was a surprise choice to become baseball's fourth commissioner.

He follows a line that includes Judge K. M. Landis, who ruled with a mailed fist; A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who was ousted by owners in favor of Ford Frick, retiring at the age of 71 after serving since 1951.

Eckert's first lieutenant will be Lee MacPhail, baseball-wise 48-year-old president of the Baltimore Orioles and son of the stormy Larry MacPhail of years ago.

★ ★ ★

MacPhail was named to head a so-called cabinet as administrator in the commissioner's office. The new-image baseball government also will have departments encompassing player affairs, public information, television-radio and amateur baseball that includes Little League, American Legion, high school and college levels.

HEADQUARTERS

For the time being, at least, headquarters will remain in New York.

Whether directors of each of these branches will be named is yet to be decided, said MacPhail, who signed a three-year contract at $40,000 annually.

★ ★ ★

Eckert was given a seven-year pact at $65,000.

The new commissioner admits he knows little of the inner workings of baseball and that his first action will be to confer with as many club owners as possible and the presidents of the American and National leagues, Joe Cronin and Warren Giles.

★ ★ ★

Cronin prominently was mentioned as Frick's successor but eliminated himself Wednesday by accepting another seven-year contract as American League president at a salary increase.

Frick will be Eckert's conferee for the next three months and will aid in officiating at the baseball meetings in Miami next month. A year ago in Phoenix, Frick was successful in getting owners to restore the commissioner's power which had been clipped after the death of Landis.

Orioles' Boss to Work More for Less Pay

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Lee MacPhail, 48, chosen to assist baseball's new commissioner, is an energetic administrator with a deep, family-nurtured love of baseball and a disarming smile.

MacPhail, son of Larry MacPhail, former part owner of the New York Yankees, will take a cut in pay in the newly created post of administrative assistant to William D. Eckert, chosen as commissioner of baseball to succeed Ford Frick.

★ ★ ★

MacPhail earned $35,000 annually and a percentage of the profits as president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles. His $40,000 salary as Eckert's assistant is expected to be substantially less than his Baltimore earnings.

But it will give him a greater diet of baseball administration and this apparently was enough.

★ ★ ★

MacPhail's new job in New York will be a far cry from the unlikely start of his administrative career — in a Florence, S.C., stockyard.

Group Approves Rules for 1966 Auto Racing

DETROIT (AP) — American rules for certain stock car races in 1966 were approved Wednesday at a meeting here of the subcommittee of the Commission Sportive International.

★ ★ ★

Spokesmen said the international group's approval, subject to final CSI action, could lead to adoption of worldwide uniform stock car racing rules.

The rules bear on stock cars of 5,000 cubic centimenter piston displacement and over.

Attending the CSI subcommittee meeting were representatives from the United States, including CSI Chairman Maurice Baumgartner, and from France, Italy, Germany, Great Britain and Switzerland.

PCH Leading Huskies, 4-1

Shutouts have dominated the Pontiac Northern-Pontiac Central football series in recent seasons and tomorrow night's game should be low scoring based on recent showings.

PCH leads the intracity series with a 4-1 edge and there has been at least a 14-point difference in the outcome of each game.

Northern's only victory was 21-0 in 1963, sandwiched by the Chiefs' 14-0 (1962) and 18-0 (last fall) calciminings.

The Chiefs were too strong in the opening two games of the annual series — winning 54-14 and 27-12. The Central forces over-all are still stronger, but PNH has been making big strides toward evening the balance of power.

Early this fall it seemed the PCH squad would outclass Northern in the showdown clash. The Chiefs were whipping their foes impressively and PNH remained in the throes of a losing streak.

However, the Huskies have gained valuable momentum in recent games with an improved offense and stingy defense. PCH has shown a rugged defense and its offense has moved well in spurts.

DEFENSE KEY

Defense should be the key to Friday's sixth intracity meeting. Central can score. Its fast backs and experienced offensive line usually manage three or four good drives per game.

PNH, meanwhile, has an aggressive defense but lacks speed. The Huskies must prevent their faster fores from springing ball carriers and pass receivers in the open.

The passing attack for Northern has been spotty; and though coach Dave Schmidt has developed a fine inside running game in the recent victories, PNH is expected to probe the Chiefs' defense with passes.

Both coach Paul Dellerba at PCH and Schmidt report the two teams are healthy and eager for the Wisner Stadium collision.

The annual meeting also will feature the introduction of the ninth graders from the city's junior high school football teams in the pre-game ceremonies.

Some 175-200 city boys complete their junior high school grid careers each fall. This season, Lincoln JHS under Curt Cooper and Eastern JHS coached by Bill Harrington shared the title.

They had 4-1 records during the season and fought to a 6-6 tie in the playoff game. Other schools who'll be represented at the game Friday are Jefferson, Washington, Madison and Kennedy.

Tickets for the PCH-PNH game are on sale — 35 cents for students, $1.25 for adults — at the downtown Osmun's Men store, the Central Main office and the Northern Book Store.

General admission seats at $1 student) and $1.50 (adult) will go on sale at the stadium tomorrow night.

Substitute TV Offer Denied

ND-MSU Video Plan Rejected by NCAA

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company said Wednesday that its request to the National Collegiate Athletic Association to substitute the Princeton-Dartmouth football game for the Yale-Harvard game and Michigan State-Notre Dame for Ohio State-Michigan had been rejected.

The games this Saturday are part of four regional telecasts. Princeton and Dartmouth, both unbeaten, meet for the Ivy League title. Michigan State currently is ranked No. 1 in the nation and Notre Dame No. 4 and their game at South Bend could determine the national championship.

Asa Bushnell, chairman of the NCAA TV committee, said the NBC request had been received and reviewed but that under NCAA rules it was impossible to make the switch.

Hawks Trim Rangers, 5-3

Hull and Mikita Spark Chicago

NEW YORK (AP) — If you were starting a hockey club and could choose between having Bobby Hull or Stan Mikita as your first player, who would you pick?

★ ★ ★

Billy Reay, who has the great good fortune of having both of them playing for his Chicago Black Hawks, grinned at the question.

"I wouldn't choose between them," said Reay. "I like just the way it is with both of them on my side."

★ ★ ★

The two superstars picked the New York Rangers to pieces Wednesday night, guiding the Hawks to a 5-3 victory and moving Chicago back into a first place Montreal in the only National Hockey League game played.

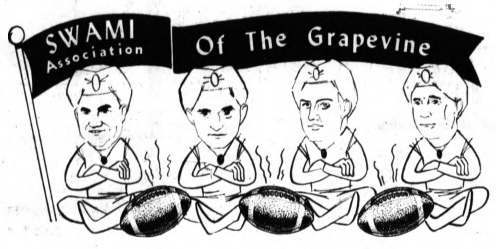

Hull scored his 13th and 14th goals of the season and Mikita also notched two goals and assisted on two others. The four-point splurge moved the scrappy scoring champion into third place in the NHL scoring race with 17 points, three back of Hull and one behind Montreal's Bobby Rousseau.

It was Mikita who keyed a first period Chicago rally that produced three power play goals and a 3-1 Black Hawk lead. He beat Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin on a slap shot less than two minutes after Rod Gilbert had given New York the lead.

Then Mikita sent the Hawks in front, picking up Ken Wharram's rebound and sweeping it past Giacomin midway through the period. The slick center set up Hull's first goal shortly later. He whipped the puck to the Blond Bombshell just inside the Ranger blueline and Hull's quick wrist shot caught Giacomin by surprise.

Cranes to Hear Gordy

John Gordy, a guard with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, will be the guest speaker at the letter awards banquet at Cranbrook School tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

A resurgence took place in the Swami Association last week as Swami Craig picked up three big games on the season-long leader Swami Spears.

The prep season has come to a close except for a couple games around the state, but the colleges are in their showdown stage as they look for bowl bids.

This could be the key week in the race for the top Swamis of the Grapevine.
