Hospital Board Asks Two on Staff to Resign

'Acted Contrary to Procedures, Practice' in Deaths of Patients

Two anesthesiologists, involved in the ether-injection deaths last month of three patients, have been asked to resign from the staff of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Administrator Harry H. Whitlow announced yesterday the immediate resignations were sought because "certain members of the staff acted contrary to hospital procedures and practices."

CONFIRMS REPORT

However, he confirmed a report that, in the future, the hospital would administer anesthetic from individual doses, rather than prepare a batch for use in several operations.

Yesterday's board meeting was called by Whitlow to review the findings of an investigation by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Whitlow said: "It was most reassuring to learn that . . . Bronson's investigation paralleled our own inquiry into the unfortunate deaths and that there is no basis for criminal action.

'VITALLY CONCERNED'

"The administration is vitally concerned with the total findings of both investigations and has taken action to prevent, insofar as humanly possible, the conditions which led up to these accidental deaths.

"The administration does find that certain members of the staff acted contrary to the hospital procedures and practices and, therefore, has requested the immediate resignations . . ."

Whitlow concluded his statement by reporting that the hospital's board of directors had passed a resolution commending the staff and administration for their persistent investigative efforts and for cooperating with other investigative agencies.

As Rights Group Watches

Shoving Marks Romney-Ferency Row

LANSING (AP) — An argument and some shoving between Gov. Romney and Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency climaxed a human rights group's appeal to the governor today that he call a series of conferences on open occupancy in housing.

The Greater Lansing Coordinating Council on Human Rights talked first to the State Administrative Board and then to Romney about its proposal.

The argument between Romney and Ferency broke out in the office of a Romney aide when the governor said Michigan would not have had a constitutional law prohibiting discrimination if opponents of the new constitution had their way.

Ferency said he figured the governor was referring to him and declared "most of the evidence points to the fact we were right and you were wrong" on the question of whether to adopt the constitution.

This switched to an argument about how much money the Civil Rights Commission was given to operate.

CONTINUED TO TALK

"You let me finish," Romney repeated four times in succession at one stage of the argument as Ferency continued to talk.

Romney started to leave at one point, then returned to the small crowded office.

"No state in the union has anything to equal the Michigan Civil Rights Commission," he declared. He then moved again to leave.

"I'll leave and you stay and talk to these people," Ferency said. Romney pushed him aside and departed.

Chief Casualty for Michigan Is Kincheloe

Some Installations to Close, Others to Readjust Under Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Half a dozen military establishments in Michigan will be closed out or readjusted in operations under the Defense Department's new plans.

Kincheloe Air Force Base at Sault Ste. Marie, to be closed out by Oct. 1, 1970, is the chief casualty in the economy planning.

Kincheloe houses a bombardment wing of the Strategic Air Command along with KC135 tanker planes and an air defense fighter intercepter squadron.

The base also is the headquarters for a missile squadron

at Raco, 20 miles away. The missile squadron will remain at Raco.

★ ★ ★

The action at Kincheloe will affect 2,128 military personnel and 253 civilian workers, and it is believed it will result in an annual savings of $14,633,000.

Other actions by the Defense Department in regard to Michigan bases included:

Detroit: The Naval and Marine Corp Reserve Training Center will be closed and its functions transferred to the Naval and Marine Training Center at Dearborn and Pontiac, at an annual saving of $96,050.

Selfridge Air Force Base, Mount Clemens: One of the two fighter interceptor squadrons will be transferred to Richards Gebaur Air Force Base in Missouri and the 927th Reserve Troop Carrier Group will be disbanded.

★ ★ ★

The latter will be replaced at Selfridge by two Air National Guard groups now at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport. The reshuffle at Selfridge will result in the release of 436 military personnel for reassignment and the elimination of 133 civilian jobs, at an annual savings of $4,597,000.

City to Consider Next Step in Downtown Traffic Plans

City Commissioners tonight are slated to consider an agreement with the Michigan State Highway Department for further revamping of downtown traffic patterns.

The city essentially has taken the biggest step by construction of the loop road, Wide Track Drive.

However, two other projects remain to complete the revamping of traffic flow. One is the construction of an interior loop road.

The second, and the one slated for discussion tonight, calls for modernizing and channeling of the Oakland-Cass-Montcalm intersection.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

In other business, the commission is scheduled to act on a plan by the County Department of Public Works for construction of a sanitary trunk sewer along the city's north end.

Formerly planned as a city project, the proposed trunk sewer would connect and form part of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor system being proposed for eight Pontiac area communities.

In other business, formal action is expected on pay raises for the city clerk, finance director, city attorney, assistant city manager and city manager.

★ ★ ★

Gemini 7 Is Preparing for Rendezvous

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Frank Borman jammed the Gemini 7 into a new orbital pattern today — a preliminary move toward the historic, 17,500-mile-an-hour meeting of two spaceships in the skies.

The rendezvous with the Gemini 6 spacecraft being rushed to readiness for blast-off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., could be achieved Sunday — a day earlier than planned in this most ambitious of U.S. space adventures.

Gemini 7 began its 44th orbit at 11:12 a.m. EST.

Between Australia and Canton Island over the Pacific, as Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. hurtled along in the 44th orbit of their 14-day marathon journey, Borman fired his aft thrusters for 16.5 seconds.

This apparently succeeded in boosting the speed of the spacecraft by some 12 feet a second and raised the low point of its

Over Canton Island, Borman reported to a tracking station below that the thrusters burned and cut off exactly on time.

"It should have been a good one," he called down.

A second firing later will bring the Gemini 7 into a circular orbit 185 miles out and place it in position for the pursuit by Gemini 6.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford originally were scheduled to blast off next Monday. But at Cape Kennedy, both rocket and spacecraft crews were running 24 hours ahead of schedule. A Sunday launch became a strong possibility.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a simulated flight test of Gemini 6, set for tomorrow, now is definitely planned for tonight. In this test, the spacecraft and booster function together as in a regular countdown.

Flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. was in no hurry to make the final decision on an early launch. Thursday, he said, would be time enough for that.

But in anticipation of an advanced firing, he instructed Borman and Lovell to make the preliminary maneuver today. If Gemini 6 is to thunder aloft on Sunday, Gemini 7 will be worked into its circular orbit on Thursday.

Refreshed after another night of light sleep in silent, drifting flight, Borman and Lovell sped serenely on around the world today, with plenty of other chores to carry out. All systems in the space chariot still were working with clocklike precision.

LBJ Calls Advisers for Viet Talks

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, moving closer to Viet Nam policy decisions, summoned top national security advisers to a conference today that officials said bore no relation to an announced increase in the Soviet military budget.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were called to the President's ranch before the Soviet announcement was made.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said "I don't know of any relationship" between the meeting and the Moscow announcement.

The President was up early today, doing paper work and studying documents in advance of the arrival of the two Cabinet officers.

"We will discuss defense needs rather fully," Johnson said.

The President emphasized that no big decisions have yet been made in the wake of McNamara's inspection trip to Saigon last week.

He did not say when the decisions would be made.

Johnson did tell reporters that "until we do have peace, we are going to continue to help the people of South Viet Nam resist aggression and we are going to supply whatever men will be needed in that effort."

The subject came up after a reporter reminded the President of a published report from Saigon that Viet Nam troop increases possibly matching those of the Korean war were being discussed.

Some 500,000 U.S. troops were in Korea at one point, compared with 165,700 now in South Viet Nam.

"I wouldn't want to make any predictions or prognostications," Johnson said. "We no doubt between now and the first of the year will have to make plans for what changes will take place. But so far as I am aware, these plans have not been made yet, and these decisions have not been made."

LBJ, Pakistan Chief to Confer in Capital

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The White House announced today President Johnson will return to Washington for a Dec. 14-15 conference with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

Soviet Hikes Defense Fund $666 Million

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced a 5 per cent increase in its defense budget today because of what the finance minister called "conditions of international danger."

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament, that 13.4 billion rubles will be spent on defense in 1966.

That is more than $14.8 billion at the official exchange rate and $666 million more than the announced figure for 1965.

Many Western experts consider that the Soviet defense budget does not give an accurate picture of Soviet military spending since it does not cover all of the items normally included in the defense budgets of Western countries.

U. S. defense spending for 1966 was originally budgeted at $49 billion. Some sources in Washington estimate that it will be $52 billion or $53 billion.

ISSUED APPEAL

In announcing a defense expenditure reduction last year of 500 million rubles, Garbuzov had appealed for other countries to follow the Soviet lead.

Today he said that an increase was required by "conditions of aggravation of international danger." He accused "imperialists" of trying to create new tensions in the world.

OU Makes Budgetary Overture

Six representatives of Oakland University presented the school's 1966-67 operating budget of $4.5 million to the State Department of Administration, budget division, at a two-hour hearing in Lansing yesterday.

This is the first time OU has been alloted a hearing of its own. In the past, the university's proposed budget presentation has been linked with that of Michigan State University.

In addition to the operating budget, OU is requesting monies to cover two deficiency items: $348,150 for library improvement and $107,000 for the noncontributory retirement program for the nonprofessional staff.

The total budget represents a 67.8 per cent increase over this year's $2.6 million appropriation.

Of the total, $209,000 is earmarked for wage adjustments to cover all staff members including faculty, professional, clerical and hourly workers.

★ ★ ★

Meeting with the budget committee were Chancellor D. B. Varner, Donald O'Dowd, provost; H. N. Stoutenburg, assistant to the chancellor; Thomas B. Dutton, dean of students; Robert Swanson, director of business affairs; and Troy Crowder, director of university relations.

Interest Rate Hike Hit Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's order boosting interest rates has drawn new congressional criticism after a meeting between President Johnson and board chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. produced no change in their opposing stands on the increase.

Some Democrats who attacked the board's Sunday decision, which raised interest rates to the highest level in 35 years, suggested the possibility of curbing the board's independent status.

But indications were that critics would vent their wrath against Martin in congressional hearings next month and subside temporarily to see what happens with the economy before proceeding further.

The board looks upon the increase as an anti-inflation move. The administration says higher rates may put a damper on the economy.

"He didn't address himself to changing my mind and I didn't address myself to changing his," Johnson told a news conference after his two-hour meeting at his Texas ranch with Martin and other economic advisers.

REAL THREAT

Martin said that while he was optimistic about the future of the economy, he looks on the threat of inflation as "a very real one." He said the board had moved to combat inflationary pressures.

"This is a matter of judgment," the Federal Reserve Board chief said, adding that the move "was not intended

Fair, Not So Cold Through Thursday

The weatherman has decided to aid Christmas shoppers through Thursday. He promises fair and not so cold tonight with lows 22 to 28.

Sunny and warmer with highs 43 to 48 is tomorrow's forecast and Thursday is expected to be fair and mild.

Two Ships Collide; Damage Said Minor

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The destroyer Perry and the tank landing ship York County collided early Monday 50 miles northwest of Puerto Rico, Atlantic Fleet headquarters reported today.

Soviets Fail Again in Bid for Soft Landing on Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's fourth attempt this year to make history's first soft landing on the moon failed early today. The unmanned spaceship Luna 8 crashed into the moon's surface.

But unlike after other unsuccessful attempts, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced the failure only 2½ hours after the spaceship's radio went dead at 12:51 a.m. — 4:51 p.m. Monday EST.

The failure of the last attempt for a soft landing, on Oct. 8, was not announced for 13 hours.

Unlike other recent tries, the Russians announced Luna 8's mission immediately after it was launched Dec. 3. Missions of its last two moon ships were made known only after they failed.

Tass said Luna 8 worked without a flaw in all stages until the touch-down.

"As a result of the flight of the station Luna 8, a further step was made toward the realization of a soft landing," Tass said in its brief dispatch.

★ ★ ★

Before the Tass announcement, the Jodrell Bank Observatory in England reported "some evidence of a near-success of a soft landing."

"The general impression here is that the Russians must have really come close to success," said Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank's director.

MORE WEIGHT

Luna 8 weighed 3,421.5 pounds, 101.5 pounds more than its predecessor, Luna 7. This indicated that perhaps additional equipment had been installed.

Tass described the last moments of the flight this way:

"When the station was approaching the moon, the functioning of the soft landing systems was checked and the checking showed that the systems of the station were functioning normally at all stages of the landing except the final touch-down."

A soft landing is a prerequisite to landing a man on the moon. It is extremely difficult because the moon has no atmosphere. The Soviet space shots have used retrorockets to deal with the problem, and apparently it was a slipup in the braking mechanism that caused Luna 8 to land too hard and destroy its radio mechanism.

The Soviet Union started its attempts at a moon landing in 1959, when Luna 1 missed the moon on Jan. 4 of that year and went into orbit.

Interest Rate Hike Draws New Attack

in any way to defy the President or the administration. The press ought not to cast me in that role," he said.

And Johnson commented to reporters: "It's your job to provoke fights and my job to prevent them."

Johnson also said that "both of our positions have been clearly, fairly and accurately stated" and that he expected to continue to meet regularly with Martin.

Specifically, the Federal Reserve Board authorized an increase from 4 to 4.5 per cent in the discount rate on interest charge by regional Federal Reserve banks on loans to member commercial banks, and an increase in the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 per cent to an all-time peak of 5.5 per cent.

The administration had opposed the increases, which are expected to have the general effect of eventually boosting borrowing costs throughout the economy — taking in such things as homes, cars and other goods bought on the installment plan.

A number of Democratic congressmen said they felt the Federal Reserve Board was trying to defy both Johnson and Congress.

Sen. Russell B. Long, the Louisiana Democrat who becomes chairman of the Senate Finance Committee when Congress meets next month, said the committee should study and act on the rate boost.

"The Federal Reserve Board action brings into question the advisability of the so-called independence of the Federal Reserve, when the board, appointed by the President . . . embarks on a policy contrary to that of the President, and a policy which cannot meet the approval of a majority in Congress, which is supposed to be responsible for the board action," Long said.

Romney to Speak at OCC Campus Ceremonies

Governor George Romney will speak at ground-breaking ceremonies at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College.

The Farmington Township campus will be constructed in three phases and will ultimately consist of 15 buildings which will accommodate 5,000 students.

Classes for 3,000 students in the partially completed development will begin in September, 1967.

Salary Hike Backed

LANSING (AP) — A staff recommendation for a $13.5 million pay hike for state Civil Service workers was unanimously adopted today by the State Civil Service Commission.

★ ★ ★

The four - member commission made only minor changes to the pay scale drawn up by its staff, adding some $74,000 for salaries of hard-to-get social workers and vocational instruction teachers.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dorothy Judd of Grand Rapids, commission chairman, said this might appear "shockingly high" compared to past increases.

FOLLOWS POLICY

But in a statement for the commission, she said this follows a policy of maintaining state workers' salaries at a level where they compete with public and private jurisdictions.

Michigan's current high level economy also was cited as justifying the boost.

The commission decided to wait until a further study before deciding on demands for time and a half instead of straight pay for overtime.

It also took no action on one proposal that the pay hike be made effective Feb. 1 instead of July 1.

A plea for an added salary boost for prison guards was put off after it was noted that the current scale provides for hikes from 5.3 to 7.3 per cent.

RAISES MEDIAN

The increase raised the median salary for state workers from $5,700 to $6,042.

The commission also took under advisement a request by the Michigan State Troopers Association for a reduction of the current work week.

★ ★ ★

The proposed hike would average six per cent for some 34,000 state workers under civil service.

INCREASE RANGE

The increases generally would range between 4.7 and 7.3 per cent for the bulk of the workers and from 8 to 11.6 per cent for employes in hard-to-get classifications.

Any civil service decision on salaries is subject to review by the Legislature. Lawmakers can cut the recommendation by a two thirds vote of both houses but not below present pay levels.

Local Police, Families Will Protest Today

Pontiac policemen and their families were to stage a protest demonstration at City Hall starting at 4 p.m. today, aimed at what the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) feels is inadequate pay for city policemen.

Announcement of the planned demonstration was made yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Charles A. Lindeberg, who presided over a PPOA meeting attended by some 55 patrolmen, officers and detectives.

Patrolmen also declared their intention to discontinue voluntary manning of a six-day work week for straight-time pay.

Guy White Jr., a plainclothes patrolman and member of the wage committee of the PPOA, said the demonstration was to last until the start of the City Commission meeting.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief William K. Hanger said the department would be able to maintain "essential services" in spite of a work curtailment.

TURN DOWN $351

The PPOA, which recently won designation as bargaining agent for policemen, turned down the city's proposed $351 annual wage hike based on a salary and job study by the Michigan Municipal League.

Policemen are asking for a $400 increase and a 2½ per cent longevity increment, a benefit recommended in the study but not included in the city's offer.

Board to Act on Title I Plan

To Air Nonteaching Units' Recognition Bid

Implementation of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and recognition of bargaining units for nonteaching employes are among items scheduled for discussion tomorrow night at the regular meeting of the Pontiac Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

Specific proposals developed by the committee have been reviewed by both public school administrators and representatives of parochial schools and will be reported on by Asst. Supt. William J. Lacy.

★ ★ ★

Requests to negotiate wages, hours and working conditions have been sent to the board from two organizations, both representing nonteaching employes.

TWO GROUPS INVOLVED

Letters from the two groups—the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes and the Pontiac School Lunch Managers—will be presented to board members by Supt. Dana P. Whitmer.

Dr. Whitmer is also scheduled to outline a plan for provision of auxiliary services by the school district to non-public schools.

★ ★ ★

Sharing of auxiliary services, according to Whitmer, is intended to go into effect immediately pending approval by the board.

Pound Possible Bases; Ground War Slackens

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fighters and bombers pounded suspected Red bases and supply routes in South Viet Nam today while ground fighting again slacked off.

A battle-scarred battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division skirmished briefly with Communist forces on the jungle outskirts of the abandoned Michelin rubber plantation 40 miles northwest of Saigon while both sides were apparently searching for combat dead in the big battle they fought there Sunday.

The infantrymen captured one enemy trooper who identified himself as a North Vietnamese regular in a heavy weapons Cong regiment prowling the area, U.S. spokesmen said.

But U.S. and Vietnamese aircraft flew 408 strikes against suspected Viet Cong targets in the South and dropped 330 tons of bombs.

★ ★ ★

They smashed jungle village buildings and sank 14 sampans on the Viet Cong's river and canal supply routes, spokesmen said.

Off the Vietnamese coast, the 76,700-ton carrier Kitty Hawk sent aloft her jet fighter-bombers again after the crew battled a series of fires for three hours yesterday.

Two sailors died of smoke inhalation and 28 and a civilian were injured when flash fires broke out below decks near a munitions storage area while the carrier was taking on fuel from a tanker.

Urge County Buy Frontage on Telegraph

The ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors today recommended that the county purchase approximately 300 feet of state-owned frontage on Telegraph.

★ ★ ★

Located immediately south of the county complex, the approximate six-acre parcel has been appraised by the state at $83,750.

The county several months ago had asked for a state appraisal and had acquired from the Michigan Legislature the right to buy the land at the appraised price.

Approval of the purchase, opposed by both the administration of Pontiac State Hospital and some mental health organizations, will be on the agenda of the Dec. 21 Board of Supervisors meeting.

The ways and means committee also accepted the recommendation of the supervisors' Building and Grounds Committee that work begin on final drawings for the proposed courthouse wing.

He is the author of five books. "Beyond the Urals" describes his life in the Siberian steel mills and chemical plants.

This was followed by "Duel for Europe," "Europe in Revolution," "Political Warfare" and "Democracy Is Not Enough."

A candlelight carol service will be presented Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church, 1669 W. Maple.

★ ★ ★

The 4 p.m. service will feature the church's six youth choirs, a harpist and soloists.

80 VOICES

The cantata entitled "When the Christ Child Came" will be performed by the 80-voice Calvin High School Choir.

★ ★ ★

The program is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Furbay has traveled more than four million miles by airplane.

The distance equals eight round trips to the moon or more than the total of all the great explorers of history — Magellan, Balboa, Vasco de Gama and Columbus.

Hospital Asks Pair to Resign

said the two anesthesiologists were not at the board meeting.

58 YEARS OLD

The 58-year-old Dr. Goodwin of 48 Oxford, Pleasant Ridge, was the hospital's chief anesthesiologist. He had been on the staff for about three years.

"After all this, I don't want to stay here," he said.

With his voice choked, Goodwin called the deaths "a terrible tragedy" and said he had been "praying every day" for the victims' survivors.

★ ★ ★

"I'll never get over this as long as I live," Goodwin said.

'HAD NO IDEA'

"I had no idea how this happened. I just did my work as I always do."

He said he had planned to resign before the hospital board's decision. He said he would return to his home state of Maine and go into private practice.

Dr. Abrams, 42, of 7127 Brookridge, West Bloomfield Township, has been on the staff for about a year. He refused to comment.

Operating room privileges for both doctors were suspended when the investigation began Nov. 22.

Prosecutor Bronson's report did not single out any individual as he called the tragedy the result of a "cumulative responsibility."

Although Bronson concluded that criminal charges were not warranted, he charged there was "abundant evidence of inexcusable laxity and deplorable negligence in the use and control of anesthetic procedures as well as in other related procedures."

A supplemental report, detailing step-by-step the death of the two young children and a 24-year-old mother of two, showed the key roles reportedly played by Dr. Abrams and Dr. Goodwin.

The report stated that Dr. Abrams was seen draining ether from an anesthetic machine into a bottle, later discovered to have contained a small amount of Surital, another anesthetic.

Dr. Goodwin reportedly injected two of the patients with the fatal anesthetic.

Bronson said that the three deaths resulted primarily from failure to observe usual hospital rules.

The three patients involved were Kimberly Ann Bruneel, 8, of 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township; William M. Ketchum, 12, of 250 W. Webster, Ferndale, and Mrs. Gerald Covington, 24, of 236 Roland.

Oakland Community College's Board of Trustees tonight will reconsider the purchase of a parcel of land it rejected a month ago.

The board called a special meeting because the owners of the land at Opdyke and Hickory Grove have submitted an offer to sell substantially below the previously negotiated figure, according to Board Chairman George R. Mosher.

A negotiable price of $375,000 was rejected by the board which offered $325,000 for the 15-acre site ocntaining a vacant building. It is located mainly in Bloomfield Hills and partially in Bloomfield Township.

All S. Carolina Fires Under Control Today

BARNWELL, S.C. (AP) — Fire fighters gained control today of all 224 fires that have blackened 6,500 acres of woodlands and claimed the lives of three young girls in lower South Carolina since Monday.

John Shirer, assistant state forester, said no large fires were burning at midmorning but weather conditions remained hazardous and the situation critical.

9 Trainmen Injured in Head-On Collision

COALINGA, Calif. (AP) —Two Southern Pacific Co. freight trains collided head-on Monday night on a trestle which collapsed, injuring nine trainmen and killing a number of cattle.

The California Highway Patrol said both engines and two cars fell from the trestle into a creek near Highway 33, a half-mile east of this central California town.

Complaints in Waterford

Future Cloudy for Teen-Age Dance Hall

The future of Waterford Township's new teen-age dance hall, Mr. G's House a Go-Go, remained in doubt last night as several complaints were reported to the Township Board.

Located at 6959 M59, the club was opened last week. The owner is Robert Griffin of Ortonville.

Griffin was issued a permit to open the business at the Nov. 29 board meeting. However, certain requirements verbally consented to then apparently haven't been met.

Police Chief William Stokes and Juvenile Officer David Putnam contend that Griffin has not complied with standards, pointing out that policemen already have been sent to the dance hall.

"We can expect more trouble," said Putnam.

Stokes called the operation "disorganized" and said there are "too many loopholes." He asked the board to grant the police department more authority in the matter.

Putnam presented the board with a state statute which implies that youth under 17 years of age cannot enter dance halls.

★ ★ ★

Building Inspector E. R. Lawson noted that 750 persons patronized the dance hall last Friday, adding that an ordinance prohibits such overcrowded conditions.

EAST DETROIT

Youth from such places as East Detroit, Highland Park and Madison Heights were present.

"The biggest concern with my department is that he (Griffin) is overloading the building with occupants," said Lawson.

The board, weighing the possibility of passing an ordinance to allow 15- and 16-year-olds to use the dance hall, tabled any action on the issue until next Monday.

★ ★ ★

Stokes, bent on establishing order in the teen-age establishment, offered the following regulations to govern the business:

- Dress in good taste. Dresses for girls, possibly stretch pants, but no levis or shorts. Suits, slacks, shirts and sport coats for boys, but no levis, boots and leather or club jackets.

★ ★ ★

- Smoking only in designated areas — not on the dance floor.

★ ★ ★

- If a customer leaves the premises, he will have to pay admission to return. This will help deter any drinking or other activities.
- No one will be admitted with the smell of alcoholic beverages on his breath.

- No jackets or coats will be worn on the dance floor.
- Ages will be checked at the door.

- Dancing will be limited to good taste.
- Strict supervision inside and outside the premises.
- The owner will cooperate with the police in case of any trouble and will sign a complaint against any lawbreakers.

Touring Yanks Target of Jibes

Legislators Accosted by Pakistani Group

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A U.S. congressional delegation was the target of an anti-American demonstration today in Azad Kashmir, the portion of the disputed Himalayan state occupied by Pakistan.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., said about 100 students shouted anti-American slogans, displayed such placards as "Go home" and "Yankees no, no," and "painted the cars of the American delegation red."

★ ★ ★

"We were a mission from a friendly country and we did not expect such treatment," said Zablocki, who heads a group of nine members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee touring the Far East.

The American group met with Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan and complained about the demonstration, which occurred in the town of Mirpur.

HARMED IMAGE

Zablocki said he thought local authorities could have prevented the incident. He said the demonstration not only hurt the Americans' feelings but also harmed Pakistan's image in their eyes.

★ ★ ★

Newsmen with the party said the demonstration reflected the resentment of the students against support which they claimed the United States is giving to India's Kashmir policy. Zablocki said the United States had given no aid to India to fight Pakistan. He said the delegation was trying to ascertain certain facts and demonstrations were no help.

★ ★ ★

The Pakistani News Agency reported from Mirpur that Zablocki during his visit there backed Pakistan's demand for a plebiscite to settle the future of Kashmir.

India has said repeatedly it will never agree to a plebiscite in Kashmir, which it says is irrevocably Indian territory.

★ ★ ★

Zablocki's group includes Reps. Harris B. McDowell Jr., D-Del., William T. Murphy, D-Ill., Ronald B. Cameron, D-Calif., William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., J. Irving Whalley, R-Pa., Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis., James G. Fulton, R-Pa., and Spark M. Matsunago, D-Hawaii.

The congressmen's wives are with them.

2 GIs Freed by VC Now in Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — Two American soldiers released by the Viet Cong on Nov. 28 arrived on Okinawa last night for medical examinations and debriefing.

★ ★ ★

Military authorities imposed tight security on the two former prisoners of war — Staff Sgts. George Smith of Chester, W. Va., and Claude McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn.

At a news conference in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, last week McClure and Smith spoke out against U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war and said they wanted to campaign for peace when they returned to the United States.

Lt. Col. Anthony Kamp, official spokesman for the U. S. Army command on Okinawa, said McClure and Smith arrived from Bangkok, Thailand.

An announcement from the commander-in-chief of Pacific forces in Honolulu said the two men "will undergo detailed medical examinations and debriefing involving their captivity and release by the Viet Cong."

UNDETERMINED DATE

The Honolulu announcement said the date of the soldiers' return to the United States has not been determined.

Kamp refused to reveal the specific location of the two men on Okinawa.

McClure and Smith had been captives of the Viet Cong for more than two years.

★ ★ ★

The Communists said they were released in honor of American demonstrators for peace.

'Dec. 7 Confusion Eliminated by U.S.'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department believes it has eliminated a factor that contributed to the military debacle at Pearl Harbor — the inability to contact swiftly the top officials of the American high command.

★ ★ ★

Changes in organizational setup and in the machinery of communications which were started almost immediately after a Japanese carrier strike force blasted much of the Pacific Fleet in Pearl Harbor 24 years ago today make remote any chance of similar confusion on contacting officials, a Pentagon spokesman told a reporter.

★ ★ ★

In 1941, almost everything went wrong in the weeks preceding Dec. 7 and on the day itself.

The possibility of a Japanese attack somewhere had been foreseen for months. The United States had accomplished a dramatic breakthrough in intelligence, cracking the cipher code used by Japan. Still matters went awry.

CRACKED CODE

Using information from the cracked code, intelligence experts were able to decipher on Dec. 6 most of 13 parts of the 14-part radio messages sent by Tokyo to the Japanese Embassy in Washington.

The 13 parts contained information indicating that negotiations were to bended and that war was to follow — but still lacked a clue as to where and when the attack would be launched. It still is not clear at what hour part 14 became available. Still another message told the embassy to destroy its code machine and all secret documents. The Tokyo government ordered the embassy to deliver the 14-part message to the American State Department at 1 p.m. EST on Dec. 7 — which was dawn at Pearl Harbor.

The late Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Adm. Harold P. Stark, the chief of naval operations, were not reached for delivery of the latest vital information, which showed that only hours were left before an attack.

Investigations and subsequent statements by Marshall and others seem to show that Stark was away from his home for the evening but that Marshall was at his quarters in Ft. Myer, Va., just across the Potomac River from Washington.

SPECIAL BOARD

A report by a special Army board which investigated in 1944 says that the important information reached the Army's G-2 (the intelligence division) not later than 9 p.m. on the evening of Dec. 6, was placed in a locked pouch for delivery to then Col. Bedell Smith with a warning that it contained a vitally important message. Smith was Marshall's top aide.

The board commented: "Whatever was the reason of Col. Bedell Smith for not conveying this message to Gen Marshall on the night of Dec. 6 it was an unfortunate one. Standing operating procedures should have required delivery of this vital information to Gen. Marshall at once."

Marshall, in his initial appearances before the several investigating bodies, seemed uncertain whether he was at home that night, but subsequently said that he was.

Dr. Forrest C. Pogue, official Army historian, told a newsman Monday, "There has been no evidence that indicates he wasn't there."

HIGH COMMAND

What does the military high command have now to prevent another fumble in contacting its officials if a new crisis comes?

As described by Pentagon sources, it operates this way:

The minute-to-minute whereabouts of the secretary and deputy secretary of defense, the service secretaries, the chiefs of staff and other key personnel is kept on record at all times.

★ ★ ★

The civilian and military chiefs have telephones in their homes connecting with switchboards in the National Military Command Center and the White House.

CLEAR LANGUAGE

In addition to "clear language" telephones, there are alternate lines using electronic scrambling of the voice to make possible discussion of secret information.

Aside from the "hot line" phones in the homes and offices of the top officials, there are radiophones in the staff cars used by the officials. Air Force transport planes used by the top officials have elaborate communication systems.

In Lake Orion

Charter Vote Set

LAKE ORION — The question of revising the village charter will be on the March 14 ballot here.

Village councilmen last night set the date for the special election to coincide with balloting on village officials.

The decision was made July 19 to call for an election on general charter revision, which it is presumed will lead to converting Lake Orion to a home rule village.

Voters will be asked whether they want the charter revised.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, they will elect a five-member charter commission which will begin work if the revision proposition is adopted.

ESTABLISH PAY RATE

Councilmen last night established the pay rate for the charter commissioners at $5 a meeting.

It has been estimated that the rewriting will take a year. Upon completion, the new charter will be referred to the voters for approval.

Candidates for the charter commission are to be nominated by nonpartisan petitions, signed by 20 to 30 registered voters.

★ ★ ★

These petitions, and those nominating candidates for village offices, will be available at the Village Hall Dec. 16.

Deadline for filing them is Jan. 24.

QUALIFICATIONS

To qualify as a commission candidate, a person must be a registered voter, a freeholder and a village resident for at least two years.

PAVING COMPLAINTS

In other action last night, the council listened to and discussed complaints about the paving of Bellevue.

Improvement of Bellevue, Hauxwell and Glen was started a month ago, although the work on Hauxwell has not been completed.

★ ★ ★

Residents have complained that the Bellevue improvement does not meet specifications.

NO BASE

Village President Clarence Rossman noted there are pieces of clay in the asphalt and that there is no base under the pavement in some places.

The gravel base was to be eight inches deep.

Village Engineer J. B. Jewell of Pontiac will be asked to make tests to determine whether the Bellevue project meets specifications.

While A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham is responsible for the work, the firm let the job to a subcontractor, it was noted last night.

FIRST CUSTOMERS—Among those who lined up for hot lunches when the new cafeteria opened at Highland Junior High School yesterday were assistant principal Kenneth Gmelin and Dr. Truman Owens, Huron Valley School superintendent. Cafeteria supervisor Mrs. Lionel Cahoon served them and gave them a cook's tour of the new facility. The kitchen, expected to serve about 500 elementary and junior high pupils at Highland, also will supply meals to Duck Lake Elementary School after Dec. 13 and Johnson Elementary School after Jan. 1.

Pontiac Press Photo

Teacher Units Hit Vote Plans

The Avondale Board of Education will meet with representatives of its two teachers' organizations next week in an attempt to straighten out differences over election grounds-rules.

Representatives of the Avondale Education Association and the Avondale Federation of Teachers last night protested the board's planned adoption of the rules. An AFT delegate said that if the board adopted the rules, the only recourse for teachers would be through the courts.

Melvin Leasure, representing the Michigan Education Association, said the disagreement is with the procedure with which the rules were drawn up rather than with any specific item at this time.

He said a meeting between the three groups was canceled two weeks ago and that last night was the first time the teachers had seen the document.

★ ★ ★

He also said he felt the matter should be discussed in private.

ADOPTION TABLED

Following an executive session, during which time the board changed the date for removal of all campaign literature from Jan. 10 to Jan. 12, adoption of the rules was tabled until next Monday night.

The board will meet with the teachers in private but a public meeting has also been declared in case the matter is settled and the rules can be adopted.

The teachers' organizations are each seeking to become the sole bargaining agent for the district's teachers. A vote is scheduled for Jan. 11.

★ ★ ★

Also during the executive session, the board reviewed and then decided to defer action on Schools Supt. George E. Shackelford's contract.

BOARD WARNED

A year ago, the board told Shackelford his contract would not be renewed in June 1966. Last month, the board was warned by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that it could not terminate his contract without giving him a written evaluation.

In other action, new board member Thomas Rocker of 1254 Ashover, Birmingham was sworn in to replace R. Grant Graham who recently resigned.

Rocker had to be officially sworn in and notarized because a 20-day limit lapsed before the board made an appointment.

Holly Teachers Hear Unionist

HOLLY — A campaign was started here last night to organize a union among Holly School District teachers.

The movement was kicked off by a speech by Mrs. Mary Ellen Riordan, Detroit Federation of Teachers president.

Speaking to about 75 of the district's 102 teachers, Mrs. Riordan explained the position of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT).

Richard Jacobson, who headed the Michigan Education Association committee which recently negotiated $200 raises for teachers, was named temporary membership chairman for the Holly AFT local.

Jacobson said Mrs. Riordan listed advantages offered by the union, such as development of community support, legal assistance and aid in negotiating.

NO HELP

"We felt we weren't getting any help from the MEA in negotiating," he said.

While union cards have been distributed to teachers,, Jacobson said he thought many would wait to make a decision after an MEA representative speaks here next week.

If the union obtains signatures from 51 per cent of the teachers, it will seek a representative election conducted by the State Labor Mediation Board, Jacobson said.

Parents' Visit Is Still On at New School

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—School officials are going ahead with plans to open their new junior high school to parents tomorrow and Thursday.

★ ★ ★

They dismiss as slight the chance that the building will not be in operation.

Classes were not held at the unit yesterday or today because of repairs necessary to the school's water pump. But the pump was to be back in working order for tomorrow.

To facilitate parking, parents are to visit the school according to their last names and the grades their children are in.

The schedule is: 7th grade, A-L, 7-8 p.m. tomorrow; 7th grade, M-Z, 8-9 p.m. tomorrow; 8th grade, A-L, 7-8 p.m. Thursday; and 8th grade, M-Z, 8-9 p.m. Thursday.

Scheduling of Novi Vote Postponed Until Dec. 20

NOVI — The scheduling of a special election on incorporation of Novi as a city has been postponed until Dec. 20.

Village councilmen were expected to act last night on petitions calling for the election.

But Village Attorney Howard I. Bond noted the petitions must be on file for 30 days before the council can consider them.

Signed by 126 registered voters, the petitions were filed Nov. 8. Therefore, no action can be taken until the council's next meeting.

At its meeting last night, the council denied a request to allow motorcycles to be run in the Walled Lake Casino.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Meckler, operators of the casino, were seeking permission to extend the limitations of their dance permit.

The denial pends further investigation by Police Chief Lee Begole, Village Manager Harold Ackley and the state fire marshal.

In other action, the council approved an emergency appropriation to add $5,000 to the police department's budget, which orginally was $41,000 for the current year.

The appropriation provides for the addition of one patrolman to the department and a $300 across-the-board raise for the chief and six patrolmen.

4 Parks Offer Winter Events

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, announced today that its four major parks will offer recreation facilities for the 1965-66 winter season.

Skating is provided at the ice rink on Kent Lake from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. The boat rental building, complete with fireplace, rest rooms and food service through vending machines, is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The tobogganing and sledding area is open from 8 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Ice skating is permitted until 10 p.m. daily.

STONY CREEK

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, six miles north of Utica, will offer ice fishing on Stony Creek Lake in both sections south of 28 Mile.

Ice skating is available at the Winter Cove picnic area, depending on weather conditions. No sledding areas have been provided as yet.

On Sewer System Plan

Troy Hearing Is Set

TROY — The City Commission will conduct a public hearing Jan. 10 to confirm assessments for a $165,000 sanitary sewer system in a 110-home subdivision.

The hearing was scheduled by the commission last night for the Stumpf Beech Grove Subdivision project.

The area is bounded on the northwest by Rochester Road, on the south by Maple and just east of Stephenson.

The bulk of the project—$146,000 — will be borne by home owners. The remainder will be assumed by the city.

Industrial and commercial properties on Rochester and Maple will be served by the system.

Assessment for individual properties has been figured at $10.11 per front foot, according to City Assessor Ernest Reschke.

A tap-in fee of $315 will be charged for each home in addition to the assessment, which only covers the lateral sewer expense.

In other business, the commission received an opinion from City Attorney Stanley Burke relating to the operation of an airstrip on industrial zoned property.

The opinion was requested after property owners last week complained that noise created by executive jet planes using a landing strip at the Jim Robbins' plant was a nuisance.

Burke noted that the city provides for airport facilities in its industrial zoning.

Judge Asks Concern for Police Work

DETROIT (AP) — Federal Judge George Edwards Monday urged Americans to show "more concern about police work" in the war against crime.

★ ★ ★

Edwards, of the 6th United States Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, made the remark at the Midwestern Conference of the National Association of Attorneys General in the Sheration Cadillac Hotel.

"I would like to see more concern about police work—not less," Edwards said.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark told the conference "there can be no question that organized crime is a national conspiracy operating interstate from coast to coast.

DOPE SUPPLY

"It has its own international connections for the supply of a tide of narcotics . . . moving every day toward the United States from Itlay, France, the Middle East, through Canada, Mexico and the Latin American countries," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The New York crime hierarchy runs the 'Eastern Seaboard,' and it numbers some 360 well known hoodlums in New York and 50 others in New Jersey," he declared.

"The Chicago-Detroit-Kansas City combine runs Midwestern crime, and federal records list 45 hoodlum czars in Illinois, 43 in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"The Los Angeles branch, numbering some 60 members, directs the Pacific Coast operations, including Las Vegas and Reno," he said.

$45 BILLION NET

Clark said the national "take from organized crime has been estimated to be as much as $45 billion a year, with the most lucrative fields being gambling, organized vice and narcotics."

★ ★ ★

To combat crime, Clark suggested attorneys general seek stronger laws, encourage the formation of citizens crime commission, enlist the support of the news media, apply grand jury proceedings more vigorously and strengthen cooperation with federal authorities.

READY FOR OPERATION — Jose Rafael Pacheco, 5, enters the Seattle Children's Orthopedic Hospital for the first step in an operation which may help him walk without crutches for the first time in his life. With him is Lorraine Charvet, 24, of Grandview, Wash. who became interested in Jose while in the Peace Corps in a hospital in Santa Marta, Colombia.

Yule Spirit Comes Early

Lorraine Charvet, 24, is a nurse from the central Washington farming community of Grandview who went to Colombia with the Peace Corps.

Five days before Christmas, thanks to Miss Charvet and others, Jose will have an operation which doctors hope will give him the use of his crippled left leg.

The leg was fractured while Jose was a baby and the fracture was never treated.

It doesn't seem to have hurt his personality a bit. Miss Charvet met him and fell in love with him during 18 months as a nursing supervisor in the pediatrics department of the school for practical nurses at San Juan de Dios Hospital in Santa Marta, Colombia.

She wrote to her mother, who is active in the Grandview unit of the Seattle Children's Orthopedic Hospital Auxiliary. Back to Santa Marta went a letter from Dr. Abraham Bergman of the hospital staff, asking for Jose's history and X rays.

The Rotary Club in Santa Marta raised the money for an airline ticket to Seattle. Jose had an examination at Children's Orthopedic yesterday.

Then he went home to Grandview with Miss Charvet to wait for what may be the biggest Christmas present he'll ever get.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A former aide to Leon Trotsky claims that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro liquidated his minister of industries, Ernesto Guevara, because Guevara advocated adherence to Peking.

Felipe Alvahuante implied the order to kill Guevara came directly from Moscow. Trotsky was killed by a Soviet-sponsored assassin in Mexico in 1940.

Leads Sought in Identification of Teen's Corpse

ALLEGAN (AP) — Luck and citizen help are expected to play key roles in identifying a teen-age girl whose skeletal remains were discovered Nov. 22 in a shallow grave near Hamilton.

Det. Clayton St. John of the Allegan County Sheriff's Department said the investigation also awaits more information from University of Michigan medical laboratories.

"We're waiting now for medical experts to tell us something about what the girl looked like before we can check further on missing person reports," St. John said Monday. Even then, he added, "it will take a lot of luck and maybe someone's unexpected telephone call to put us on the right track."

The sheriff's department was told last Friday by university technicians the skeleton was that of a human female, 17 to 18 years of age, buried not more than two years ago.

'Bama Acts to Plumb Racial Justice Scales

On the premise that half a loaf is better than none, the conviction of three Alabama Klansmen on conspiracy charges in connection with the slaying of Mrs. VIOLA LIUZZO last March is most gratifying.

The Nation had about despaired of seeing justice done in Alabama when Negroes were the victims of criminal acts by whites, and indeed President JOHNSON had advocated new legislation to "prevent injustice to Negroes at the hands of white juries."

Significantly, and to the credit of the South where since 1960 but one prison-term conviction had resulted in 34 Civil Rights slayings, it was an all-white jury that returned the verdict of guilt against the three members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Previously, one of them had been tried twice in state courts for the murder of Mrs. LIUZZO. The first trial resulted in a hung jury, the second in acquittal.

Spurred by the shocking miscarriage of justice, the Federal government took over and initiated prosecution of the accused on charges of conspiracy to violate the constitutional rights of any citizen. Ironically, the law, enacted in 1870, was originally drafted for protection of former slaves.

★ ★ ★

The conviction of the three defendants and imposition of maximum 10-year prison terms followed by a day the second-degree murder conviction of the first of three white men accused of murdering a Negro in another case with Civil Rights background. Again, it was an all-white jury which heard the trial.

★ ★ ★

These two developments have been widely hailed by Government officials, Civil Rights leaders and the responsible element of the South as foreshadowing a better day for the unbiased administration of justice south of the Mason-Dixon line.

We add our own word of commendation for these signs of an awakening spirit of equality in Alabama and for the juries that signalized it.

Court Rulings Ease Commies' Union Path

In view of the recent Supreme Court ruling on Communists, Congressmen in January should be given a chance to reconsider their previous votes on repeal of Section 14-b of the Taft-Hartley Act, the National Federation of Independent Business feels.

In the session just ended the lower house voted by a very slim majority to repeal the section which permits states to enact and enforce "right to work" laws, but final action was held up in the Senate.

The latest Supreme Court ruling declares it illegal to require Communists to register with the government. A ruling earlier in the year invalidated sections of the Landrum-Griffith Act which prohibited Communists from holding union office.

"Obviously," comments Federation President C. WILSON HARDER, "there is little protection now against Communists taking over control of the unions. The only recourse the citizenry has against workers being forced to pay dues in support of Communist programs is for states to pass 'right to work' laws."

HARDER says that in view of the danger created by the court decisions some Congressmen who previously voted for repeal of 14-b on the basis of party regularity would like to change their votes on the measure.

Under Congressional procedure, the House will not get another opportunity to vote on the issue despite recent developments unless parliamentary procedures are employed.

Reserve Board Had own Ideas

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is finally baffled.

He put the heat on business and labor to prevent inflation by keeping prices and wages down.

MARLOW

Martin, just a few days short of 59, is a conservative, tight-money man and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board which, under law, is set up to operate independently of the President and Congress.

Martin's seven-man board thought one way to put a brake on inflation was to raise interest rates, which was the opposite of Johnson's thinking. He feared higher interest would put a brake on the booming economy.

HIKED THE RATES

Sunday night, the board, ignoring Johnson, went ahead, boosting the rates.

The man whose foresight in all this turned out best was Johnson's fellow-Texan and Democrat, Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee.

Last June, Martin made a speech at Columbia University, saying there were "disquieting similarities" between the present prosperity and the boom that preceded the 1929 market crash and the depression of the 1930s.

★ ★ ★

The stock market promptly took a dive. Many brokers thought Martin's speech was a factor in that.

PARTED COMPANY

Patman said Martin had parted company with the Johnson administration and should step out, letting the President appoint his own chairman.

The President appoints the board members, with Senate approval, but he can't fire them. They have fixed terms.

Martin's is 14 years. He was first appointed by President Harry S. Truman, was reappointed by President John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's secretary of the Treasury, Henry H. Fowler, took a sunnier view than Patman. He said he didn't see anything in Martin's words foretelling action by the board to raise interest rates.

SAW NO REASON

Johnson talked with Martin, said he saw no reason for "gloom or doom."

But months passed and Johnson must have sensed or learned what the board had in mind, for Sunday, the Washington Post said that last week Johnson phoned Martin from his ranch, asking him down for a weekend talk.

On Friday, Martin called a Reserve Board meeting which Sunday night ordered an increase from 4 to 4.5 per cent in the discount rate banks pay when they borrow money from the Federal Reserve.

This would immediately affect major borrowers like corporations. The rates would also affect mortgage borrowing.

'Your Check, Sir!'

David Lawrence Says:

LBJ Has Alibi on Interest Rates

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has set up for himself a flexible alibi — he can't be blamed for what happens now that the Federal Reserve Board has increased interest rates.

But if the economy proves strong enough to weather the storm, the administration could be in a position anyway to claim credit for having prevented an economic setback.

LAWRENCE

The President, while criticizing the Federal Reserve Board for raising interest rates, pointedly referred to the board as an "independent agency."

Thus, he indicated that he does not feel responsible for the consequences of the action taken.

★ ★ ★

The President's reasons for differing with the board may be politically expedient, but they could also turn out to have a restraining effect in keeping the board from taking further steps in raising interest rates.

THREE OCCASIONS

In this instance, the Federal Reserve Board has increased its rates on three successive occasions — in July 1963, in November 1964 and this week.

On each of these occasions, the interest rate was raised by one-half of 1 per cent — in all, from 3 per cent to 4½ per cent.

It is not the amount of the increase itself that is so significant as the trend that it starts, because restraints upon borrowing are applied gradually but with steadily mounting pressures.

★ ★ ★

Businesses that might have been planning more and more expansion based on borrowed money now may find interest rates too high and decide to postpone such plans until conditions become a little more settled.

HARD TO DETERMINE

Just what the effect of such hesitancy in a cumulative sense will be is hard to determine at this time.

The impact on government policies is of prime importance. The President had already announced that government spending would go up considerably above $100 billion this fiscal year, and the deficit will be between $7 and $8 billion.

Mr. Johnson has been reluctant to cut down nonmilitary expenditures, as he has been convinced that a welfare program for the Great Society is popular and will help in job-creation.

★ ★ ★

But now it is apparent that the government may try to hold down on some of its own borrowings in order to ease the upward pressure on interest rates. For rates are likely to go higher and higher unless federal deficits are reduced.

The Johnson administration will, therefore, have to give up some of its extravagances and begin cutting down on expenses.

★ ★ ★

So, while the President may appear to be unhappy that the restrictions were applied, he may not really be too displeased that some restraining influence has been introduced for which his administration may not be required to take the political blame.

(Copyright, 1965, New York Herald Tribune Syndicate, Inc.)

Bob Considine Says:

Gemini 7 Maneuvering Bodes Well for 'Big Test'

CAPE KENNEDY—The Russians on two occasions have had two spaceships in orbit. We intend to try it for the first time Dec. 13, when astronauts Schirra and Stafford go Up There to play a game of hare and hound with Messrs. Borman and Lovell.

CONSIDINE

Cosmonauts Popovich and Nikolayev came within four miles of a space rendezvous in August 1962. A year later, cosmonaut Bykovsky and cosmonette Tereshkova were as close as three miles.

The Borman-Lovell team was able to edge up to within 200 feet of the tumbling second stage of their Titan II as it wobbled around the world in orbit before its plunge back into the mushy atmosphere—where it burned up like a minor meteor.

★ ★ ★

It won't be a true docking in space. But it will be a good test of radar and maneuvering systems which have been designed to achieve such a berthing.

Schirra and Stafford were deprived of their chance of scoring this spatial "first" last Oct. 25 when their target Agena, launched a bit earlier from the cape, blew up as it approached orbital speed.

Another of these $14-million Agenas is now being groundtested, but it won't be ready for use until next March.

In the meantime, Project Gemini will turn its attention to what is called EVA, for extravehicular activity.

★ ★ ★

During Gemini 8's two-day voyage, astronaut Dave Scott will "walk" all the way around the world in approximately an hour and a half, then climb back in his spaceship.

WITHOUT CORD

There is even thought of letting an astronaut go out without the security of an umbilical cord attached to the life-supporting elements functioning inside the spacecraft.

He would maneuver and then return to the mother ship by means of an improved version of the Buck Rogerish "zap gun" used briefly by Ed White during Gemini 4.

By that time, Project Apollo's testing period should be well advanced.

★ ★ ★

Apollo's success is wholly dependent on rendezvous. The astronauts who have prospected on the moon's surface will have to take off from the moon and rejoin the command post of Apollo, which will have remained in lunar orbit, bolt the two ships together and head back for earth.

EVA must be mastered if we are ever to learn how to move about independently in space.

The Air Force has a program which would see its people leave their MOL, manned orbital laboratory, for a closer look at suspect objects in orbit, or even their destruction.

The Better Half

"That'll be 30 cents — a quarter for the shine and five cents for the rental of my comic book."

Readers Voice Opinions on Selection of Employe

I am surprised and distressed at the selection of a 24-year-old inexperienced and untrained individual to fill an $8,500 per year position as Oakland County Deputy Treasurer—a post formerly held by a County employe with nearly 30 years employment with the County and who achieved that position through promotions and with less salary. I feel the selection was made without regard for the public interest.

★ ★ ★

Even though Mr. John D. Murphy's son may have scored well on his tests, I am sure it was a general knowledge exam which all applicants take for less responsible positions with the County. It can be certain those tests results were not sufficient to qualify him for handling advanced accounting techinques or solving problems in financial management.

★ ★ ★

Patronage jobs in Oakland County, which this position is, are not filled by competitive exams because of their very nature. Patronage at the policy-making levels has its merits but it appears to me that such positions should be held by responsible, experienced and qualified personnel. Not only is the selection of this individual in utter disregard of the public welfare, but such selections have a bad impact on the morale of County employes. County employes and the public deserve selection according to some objective standard of qualification. Selections like the one in question contribute to the public's lack of confidence in the qualifications and potential of our public servants. Might this be a political payoff?

M. A. D.

As a citizen I question the removal of Lloyd Sibley from the position of Chief Deputy of Oakland County Treasurer. His 30-year unblemished record deserves nonpolitical recognition. This important position should demand the best qualified person we can find. Will someone please explain in this column the reason for this change and the qualification of the person who filled this position.

RUTH KADELLA

After reading Mr. Collom's letter regarding the recent appointment of Mr. Murphy, I can't help but wonder who he was throwing darts at. The Press, Mr. Murphy, or possibly Mr. Seeterlin?

INTERESTED

Somehow I cannot get vocal about the Seeterlin-Murphy episode. I keep humming part of a song of yesteryear. As I recall, the chorus started something like this: "Praise the Lord and keep passing the ammunition."

Comments on Increases for City Patrolmen

Recently emphasis has been placed on the understaffed police department because of the tremendous increase in major crimes. The Pontiac Police Officer's Association has always endeavored to improve police protection in our community.

Police Officers cope with situations not common to the average citizens, yet are compensated at a lower rate. Negotiations fail to bring about the needed increase. The survey conducted by the Michigan Municipal League recommended a longevity plan for the police department. "Based upon the established trend of municipalities over 50,000 to provide additional pay for long service employes, it is our recommendation that the City adopt a longevity pay plan." This was not considered feasible by the City. However, certain City officials have been granted raises that were not recommended in the survey, some as much as ten times the amount recommended for patrolmen.

Negotiations for a small added request of $49 per man annually have met with failure. Therefore, the P.P.O.A. finds it necessary to take further action.

'Committee Opposes Charter Amendment'

We would like to join with other community groups in ridding Pontiac of a disenfranchising amendment to the City charter. Citizens of a particular district have no control over the men that represent them. This has resulted in a city commission completely deaf to the wishes of the City. Commissioner Marshall of District 7 voted against a proposal supporting the poverty program in Pontiac, when many of the citizens of his district desperately needed such services. Marshall succeeded the late Emmett S. Wellbaum who finished third in the primary but was elected by the "city at large." By Kreigh Collins

The Age of Microelectronics—2

Role Isn't Limited to Space Exploration

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second of four dispatches on present and future applications of the revolutionary new technology of microelectronics.)

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space explorers who go to the moon and planets won't be flying blind or by the kind of guesswork which pioneers of aviation called dead reckoning.

They will be kept on course by fantastically precise and quick - thinking guidance systems built around ingenious electronic brains.

Any space guidance contraption conceived a couple of decades ago would have been so big and so heavy that no rocket now existing or planned could have got it far off the ground.

Thanks to microelectronics, which has reduced vital complex circuits to microscopic size, it is possible to build elaborate space navigation units weighing only a few pounds and not much bigger than a cigar box.

LIES IN PRESENT

The contribution of microelectronics not only to space exploration but also to military, industrial, and civilian operations lies in the present as well as the future.

It produced the dime-sized sensors which monitor the physical condition of astronauts and lock unmanned spacecraft on to various heavenly "landmarks" such as the sun or a star.

* * *

Microelectronics enabled Mariner 4 to fly to Mars and photograph its craters.

EXPLAINS SUCCESS

It explains the success of the Tiros weather satellites. Hardly a one of the many communications and scientific spacecraft now flying or planned could perform at all without the tiny devices provided by microelectronics.

The guidance "package" which will steer the Apollo astronauts to the moon later in this decade is crammed with the integrated circuits of microelectronics.

Since microelectronics has cut the size and weight of complicated gadgets by a thousand or more to one, you might think this one fact was its greatest claim to consideration in the planning of space payloads in which mass and volume always will be at a premium.

* * *

But there are other considerations — notably reliability, cost, calculating speed. Microelectronic devices perform their elaborate tasks practically instantaneously with no "warming-up" period like that required by old-style vacuum tube gadgets.

FRACTION OF POWER

They require only a small fraction of the power to operate. But what about reliability? A model of the Apollo guidance pack has operated nearly 1,400 days in tests without a failure. A lunar round trip is expected to take no more than eight to 14 days.

A recent report by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) says, "All tests have shown that microelectronics is by far the most reliable form of electronic packaging ever developed."

As for cost: "Any standard form of microelectronic circuitry is by far the least expensive form of electronic packaging."

* * *

The military has been using microelectronics for years — in artillery shell fuses, missile guidance, nuclear warheads, and field communications.

IN SOLDIER'S HELMET

A soldier can easily pack in his helmet a communications system that a decade ago would have required a bulky mobile unit easily spotted by enemy gunners.

One U.S. firm is working on a system, based on microelectronic sensors, which it says will reveal the existence of a single enemy soldier in a jungle glade.

* * *

Microelectronic computers can coordinate simultaneous land, sea, and air attacks. And in industry they can provide moment-by-moment checks on inventory and such things as profits and taxes.

MANY USES

Hotels and airlines use them in making reservations, and libraries and laboratories depend on them for instantaneous location of needed data.

They are used for a host of automatic operations — from traffic control to food processing.

The story of the transistor radio is well known. But tinier radios are at hand. The first "Dick Tracy" wristwatch radio receiver went on the market in 1955 — price $29.95. It is now possible to make a radio in which the electronic parts occupy far less space than the control knob.

Right now you can buy microelectronic hearing aids so small they can be concealed in an earring or even embedded out of sight under the skin.

Geneva Agreement Means Little to Viet Foes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The division of Viet Nam came about in 1954 after the French defeat there and eight countries got together in Geneva to plan the country's future. The following gives the background to that agreement and what has grown out of it.)

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1954 Geneva agreement, by which Viet Nam was divided, is one of the most thoroughly violated pacts in history.

Both sides in the Viet Nam war say they want the agreement carried out, even now. But each side accuses the other of wholesale violations.

* * *

Despite this situation, suggestions regularly appear, usually from critics of the U.S. policy in Viet Nam, that provisions of the 1954 pact could yet be the basis for a peace settlement.

But, says Secretary of State Dean Rusk: "These people on the other side won't even come to the conference table to try to bring the situation back to those basic agreements."

NEVER SIGNED

One fact sometimes overlooked: The United States and South Viet Nam governments never signed the agreement. The United States did declare at the time that it would view with grave concern any aggression "in violation of the aforesaid agreement."

Here is the background:

In 1954, after more than seven years of fighting with Communist-led forces, France had lost its war to hang on to a colonial empire in Indochina. A peace conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland.

* * *

Taking part were representatives of the three states which were created out of Indochina, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, plus five great powers which were concerned with the southeast Asia situation — France, Red China, Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States.

UNDER AGREEMENT

Under the agreement finally signed July 21, 1954, by Britain, France and representatives of North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia:

—Viet Nam was divided, the North going to the Communists and the South to a non-Communist government.

—No person, military or civilian, was to cross the dividing line without permission of an International Control Commission.

* * *

— The conference powers agreed to respect the sovereignty and the territorial integrity of the Indochina states "and to refrain from any other interference in their internal affairs."

—The opposing parties agreed to make sure that their areas were "not used for resumption of hostilities."

* * *

—It was forbidden to introduce troop reinforcements or new weapons into Viet Nam. Also barred was the creation of any military base under control of a foreign state.

—Elections were to be held in July 1956 with the aim of reunifying North and South Viet Nam.

* * *

The U.S. and South Viet Nam representatives refused to sign. The American refusal was not officially explained but was attributed generally to John Foster Dulles, then secretary of state. Dulles was said to have disliked the partition of Viet Nam, and to have opposed the presence of Red China at the conference.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower told a news conference in Washington the agreement "contains features which we do not like," but added he was glad agreement had been reached to stop bloodshed.

LAUDS SUCCESS

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill sent his congratulations to the chief British representative in Geneva, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, on "the success which has rewarded your patient, persevering skill."

The Viet Nam elections planned for 1956 were never held. The South Viet Nam government balked on the grounds that conditions for a free expression could not be guaranteed in the Communist-held North. The United States supported this position.

* * *

The United States charges that, beginning in 1958, the Communists embarked on a terrorist campaign to capture control of South Viet Nam. It says the Communists by aggression against South Viet Nam broke the Geneva agreement and that U.S. intervention was a proper and legal response to a call from South Viet Nam for help.

The Communists contend that it is the United States that is guilty of military aggression, in violation of the Geneva pact.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police used tear gas Monday to subdue an 80-year-old pensioner who went on a shooting spree when he didn't receive his government check.

Police said James Lee, apparently angered because he didn't receive his pension check, fired two wild shots at the hotel manager and three more at investigating policemen.

(before it stops you cold!)

"My advice, sir - get De-Icer!"

Here we go again. Wintertime driving is here and with it, those built-in problems that make life miserable. Like a frozen gas line. When moisture collects in your gas line, then freezes, the supply of fuel to the engine is choked off. You're stopped cold. But you can avoid the tow truck trip—just use American, Regular or American, Super-Premium Gasoline. Each contains the real thing—DE-ICER—to prevent gas line freeze down to 40° below. # Bankers' Hours Fit Her Schedule

MRS. JAMES R. MADDOX JR.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the third article in a series for which local working mothers have shared their thoughts regarding their busy schedules and family life.)

By MARGARET BROWN

The ready smile of Mrs. James R. Maddox Jr. has greeted area residents with banking transactions for some 13 years.

"I enjoy meeting the public," said Mrs. Maddox whose son, 8, and daughter, 5, attend Jayno Adams Elementary School where their father teaches sixth grade.

★ ★ ★

Home for a time after the arrival of her youngsters, Mrs. Maddox says she returned to work, as she often felt "isolated" and experienced an "afternoon emptiness." She is one who prefers arising and completing household tasks early in the day. "I guess I worked too long," said Mrs. Maddox.

Not one to underrate the nonworking mother, however, she added, "I think it's a high calling and great responsibility to be a good stay-at-home mother."

Fortunately, my hours are such that most of the time I'm gone the children are in school." Her work schedule is from 1 to 6 p.m. six days a week.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Until this year, the couple needed a sitter, but now that both youngsters are in school their father is home waiting as they alight from the school bus.

The Maddoxes' new brick colonial home in Waterford Township is an "added reason" for Mrs. Maddox to work. "My job also helps in buying the children's clothing," she said.

★ ★

Since the children always have known a working mother, there have been no weighty adjustment problems.

★ ★ ★

"Of course, they love it when I have a day off, which happens fairly often in the banking business," she said.

THINGS GET DONE

Although the perky and pleasant mother has no domestic help (Wish I did!"), she feels she has ". . . time for nearly everything.

"I'm able to do most household tasks before leaving for work; and I try to prepare something at noon for the evening meal."

Mr. Maddox's teaching schedule permits him to join his wife for lunch.

★ ★ ★

Her eyes twinkling, Mrs. Maddox exclaimed in mock exasperation, "Keeping up with those ironings is my worst bugaboo!"

★ ★ ★

An acquaintance of the effervescent mother recently said, "She can just walk into the room and lift your spirits."

A 7 a.m. riser, Mrs. Maddox still feels she usually gets enough rest. "Except for a little ironing, I don't try to do much evenings, as it's generally nearing 8 p.m. when dinner dishes are finished."

Much of Mrs. Maddox's "spare time" is spent in activities at the family's church, Christian Temple. A Sunday School teacher, she is musically gifted, playing the piano and sometimes singing soprano solos as a choir member.

★ ★ ★

"With our busy weekend schedule, we almost have to eat dinner out every Sunday, and it's a pleasant opportunity to be together as a family," said Mrs. Maddox.

★ ★ ★

"I guess I really feel more efficient because of my particular job's hours," she went on. "When a woman works — especially without domestic help — she knows she has to manage well or things just don't get done. Nothing is more disturbing than a list of accumulated chores so long one doesn't know which to tackle first."

SOME GUILT

Asked if she ever experienced the "working mother guilt complex," she reflected, "Yes, I used to feel a little troubled about working, but now that Craig and Kim are both in school and gone mostly when I am, things seem better. They've always had good care, particularly when my mother watched them for us."

★ ★ ★

Concluding comment for our interview came from Mr. Maddox, home for a holiday vacation, who kidded, "The reason she's such a good working mother is that she has such a wonderful husband."

Mistletoe Is Kiss of Death for Berry-Eating Children

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can print this before Christmas. It might save a child's life. Last year I bought a package of fresh mistletoe to decorate my house for the holidays.

ABBY

My two-year-old daughter got into the package, which was sitting on my kitchen table. The mistletoe berries looked as though they would be good to eat, so she ate some. (No one saw her eat them, and even if I had seen her eat them I probably wouldn't have been alarmed because I didn't know mistletoe berries were poisonous.)

Later that evening she became violently ill. We called a doctor and fortunately she hadn't eaten enough to kill her, but she was very, very ill. Please warn other mothers, Abby.

SAN BRUNO MOM

DEAR MOM: Thank you for your informative letter. I thought mistletoe was to inspire kissing. I didn't know it was the kiss of death.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I broke up with a fellow about a month ago and now he wants to go back with me, but I don't want to date him any more.

My mother is on HIS side and is doing everything she can think of to help him. (She coaches him on how to get a date with me. If I tell him I'm busy she tells him to ask me for the next night, or the next, until I have a free evening.)

I think the only reason she likes him is because he has a car, and if he takes me some place, like to a game or a dance, SHE won't have to. I am only 15. He is 18. How can I get my Mom to let me make up my own mind about the guys I want to date?

OLD ENOUGH

DEAR OLD ENOUGH: Since you are on to his strategy, it shouldn't be difficult to beat him at his own game. But why the minuet? Tell the fellow you don't want to date him. And tell your Mom that giving aid and comfort to "the enemy" is treason.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband who is close to 50 and has not yet learned to say NO to anyone?

If someone calls and invites us some place we would rather not go, he says, "Thank you for the invitation, I'll ask Jane," (me) then he tells me when they call I should tell them we can't make it.

If someone asks him for a favor he is not in a position to grant, I am the one who has to turn them down and give the reason. If someone has owed him for a long time, I have to coax him to remind them because he could never bring himself to ask.

I realize that kindness is a fine trait, but I wonder if that's what it is? I am tired of constantly being the "bad-y." Why can't my husband do the job?

"THE BAD-Y"

DEAR BAD-Y: Because he has a wife who not only CAN do the job, but WILL. You may grumble, but he figures you are easier to handle than the others. At age 50, you aren't apt to change him. He's sensitive, gentle, kind and—SMART.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "BURNED UP IN ILLINOIS" not to be so sure that people don't smell like animals. In a book by an Asian, I read that non-vegetarians have a different odor than vegetarians. So, at a party for foreign students, I asked an East Indian guest if this were true.

"Yes," she said, "Meat-eaters smell like meat, and it is offensive to vegetarians."

Travel articles report that the huge Asian water buffalo will allow a tiny native child to boss him around, but let the cranky beast get one whiff of a meat-eating foreign adult, and the latter may have to run for his life. Sincerely,

MRS. C. G. OF FLORIDA

Marcus Aurelius Will Be Subject

Mrs. K. B. Valentine will lead the discussion at the Friday meeting of the Waterford Great Books Group at 8 p.m. in the CAI Building.

★ ★ ★

The subject will be "Meditations" by Marcus Aurelius, Roman emperor and stoic philosopher of the second century. Presenting the author's life and times will be Mrs. Arnold Simson.

Mrs. Dolan Is Hostess

Mrs. Glen Dolan of Menominee Road hosted the Christmas meeting for members of the Pilot Club of Pontiac, Inc. Monday evening.

Mrs. Mallory Coleman served as cohostess.

In addition to exchanging gifts, club members prepared a list of items to be included in the Christmas baskets which will be distributed to needy families.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Frances Arnold gave details concerning the Christmas party for patients at Seminole Hills Nursing Home which the club will sponsor on Monday evening.

Calendar

Tea Honors Area Foster Parents

The staff of the Boarding Home Department of the Oakland County Juvenile Court will honor some 160 families who board children for the court, at a recognition tea, Sunday.

Hours for the tea to be held at one of the new units of the Children's Village will be from 2:00 to 3:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The Hon. Donald E. Adams, probate judge for Oakland County will address the boarding parents. Refreshments will follow a brief program with some of the youngsters at the Children's Village participating.

★ ★ ★

James VanLeuven, director of child care facilities, has announced that some children presently residing at the Children's Village are ready to be placed in the community.

★ ★ ★

Any interested county residents may contact the Boarding Home Department, North Telegraph Road.

Gal Writers Feted

Baked Doughnuts Lower in Fat

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

With so many individuals on a low-fat diet, it is not surprising that we have had requests for baked doughnuts.

We're giving you two versions, one with baking powder, the other with yeast. Mrs. Richard Lovelace contributes the first recipe. The second was a winner in a Pillsbury Bake-Off.

BAKED DOUGHNUTS
By Mrs. Richard Lovelace

4 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Sift dry ingredients. Cream shortening and sugar and beat well. Beat in eggs. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Roll out ½-inch thick. Cut with doughnut cutter.

Let stand uncovered for 20 minutes on greased cookie sheet. Bake 20 minutes, or until lightly browned, in a 350-degree oven. Makes 3-4 doz.

TEA TIME DOUGHNUTS

1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
½ cup hot scalded milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon instant tea
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 unbeaten egg
3 to 3½ cups flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Combine scalded milk with sugar, tea, orange rind, butter, orange juice and salt. Cool to lukewarm.

Blend in unbeaten egg and softened yeast. Gradually add flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and satiny, 3 to 5 minutes.

Place in greased bowl. Cover. Let rise in warm place until doubled in size, 45 to 60 minutes.

Let either kind of doughnut rise in warm place until light, about 30 minutes. Bake 12 to 15 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Group Joins Chorus

The Oakland University Chorus will present Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" at 3:30 p.m, Sunday in the OU Sports and Recreation Building.

Joining the University Chorus for this major work will be a group of some 35 adult singers now known as the Birmingham Chorale, made up of persons from Pontiac, Orchard Lake, Birmingham, Royal Oak, Bloomfield Hills, Clawson and Berkley.

According to George V. Cripps, director of the chorus, the Chorale was organized this fall under sponsorship of the OU Division of Continuing Education.

Regular meetings have been in the Nativity Episcopal Church on 14 Mile Road near Lahser. OU students have rehearsed with them occasionally to increase the size and scope of their group.

The community singers will bring the Chorus to some 170 voices for the performance of the Oratorio.

ORCHESTRA TOO

The special Christmas presentation will also include a by Mr. Cripps, using OU musicians, plus artists from the Detroit Metropolitan area.

These include pupils of Detroit Symphony members, last summer's Meadow Brook Music School Orchestra, and Professional musicians.

A group of volunteers, under the leadership of Mrs. Stephen DuBrul of Lake George Road, Oakland Township, has completed the task of making the gowns for the Chorus and two sets of reversible capes for the singers.

This is the third time in OU history that Mrs. DuBrul and her coworkers provided the help required to outfit the growing community organization.

Miss Leach Heads Group

Those who will take over new duties in January include Martha E. Leach, most excellent chief; Mrs. Hugh Endries, excellent senior; Mrs. Harry Winkley, excellent junior; Mrs. Louis Grimm, secretary; and Mrs. Andrew McEvoy, treasurer.

Remembrances will be sent to shut-in members at Christmas.

Let Youngsters Make Ornaments

R. E. Fergusons Honeymooning in North

A reception in Devon Gables followed the recent marriage of Susan Jane Wennsten to Roger Earl Ferguson, in the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

Parents of the couple who will honeymoon in Upper Michigan are the John G. Wennstens of LaSalle Street and the Earl Fergusons of Motorway Drive.

Santa's Helpers

Add a Christmas touch to your gift of a green philodendron hastatum or cordatum plant. Tie a red ribbon vertically around the totem pole—that supports the foliage—with the bow at the pole's bottom. Then place pixies or miniatures of Santa's helpers, in red garb, at the pole's top and at its bottom, suggests the Society of American Florists.

Keep Handy

Church Rite Unites Pair on Saturday

At an evening ceremony, Saturday, in the Five Points Community Church, Carolyn Jane Collins became the bride of Ronald Andrew Gable of Lapeer Road.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Carman J. Collins, Post Street, West Bloomfield Township, Andrew Gable of Detroit, and Mrs. Frank Jankiewicz of Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Lucas attended the bride at the rite performed by Rev. Gordon Lindsay.

Card Centerpiece

Couple Is in Chicago on Honeymoon Trip

In Chicago for a week's honeymoon are Seaman Rec. Michael Alan Hart and his bride, the former Sharon Lee Clark, who were wed recently in the First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham.

LACE ACCENTS

Linda Linn Is Wed

The Sylvan Lake Church of Christ was the setting for the recent marriage of Linda Lee Linn to James Ronald Hughes.

Mrr. and Mrs. James W. Hughes of South Hospital Road are the bridegroom's parents.

Smocked Frock Pretty on Tot

One of the prettiest sights at any Christmas party is a little girl in a smocked dress — and some of the nicest of children's fashions this holiday season are the colorful smocked frocks with built-in washability.

Made of synthetic fiber or blends, these can be laundered repeatedly, then drip-dried without ironing. The only finish needed is to indent the smocking "dimples" with a fingertip.

Brightens Buffet

If you're having a buffet dinner during the holiday season, highlight the table setting with a pair of miniature Christmas trees fashioned of green boxwood and trimmed with golden garnette roses and glistening gold-colored baubles, suggests the Society of American Florists.

Pack a Punch

Freeze a certain amount of your holiday punch in various shapes — stars, trees, bells and so on. Leave in the freezer. If the punch becomes too warm, add these frozen shapes to cool it and the punch will not be weakened.

2 Voting Rights Examples Show Reward of Patience

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director,
National Urban League

Patience, too, has its reward, particularly when it's of the kind found almost exclusively in the Negro whose life in this society is so complicated and tormented by social injustice.

But the human spirit is a powerful force for good, and it frequently serves to enrich the lives of the oppressed with a sense of dignity and courage which enables them to withstand the most flagrant misdeeds of their oppressors.

But he isn't the only one who waited.

EVEN LONGER

Mrs. Cora Lee Williams, a resident of the same city, had to wait even longer — 84 years.

Under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, both the Rev. Mr. Carter, 100, and Mrs. Williams, 105, recently registered with a federal examiner at the Montgomery Post Office to become the oldest voters in the county.

"President Johnson, he has done the most," he said, remembering that his voting rights were taken from him in 1890 because he was not a landowner.

OF SLAVE PARENTAGE

"The Bible says, 'As ye sow, so shall ye reap,'" the minister continued, "I knew the vote would come."

The Rev. Mr. Carter, born of slave parents the year the Civil War ended, picked cotton at the age of 4, "dropped corn" at 7, and hoed the cotton fields as a child of 10.

He remembers voting for the first time as a young man of 21, and the time, a few years later, when Negroes were no longer allowed to vote unless they owned land.

"Before that you had to be at least 21 years old and a citizen. That's all."

He remembers, too, when Negroes in Montgomery had a strong political organization until their leader was killed.

"President Hoover had bad times," he said, "but I thought President Roosevelt gave us two things — equal rights and jobs — with NRA and WPA, when we all went in the ditches. He was coming on good, then he died."

President Johnson was also praised.

* * *

BORN A SLAVE

Mrs. Williams, a great-grandmother born a slave, had neither registered nor voted before.

Her reason for coming to do so recently, she said, was "to do something . . . to do what I can."

"Don't ask me all that stuff," she snapped, "I ain't got time."

UNDER 45

The examiner informed her that she did not have to pay the poll tax since it was only required of persons under 45 years old.

Listening, she twitched a bit in her chair, giving the impression that such obvious fact should have remained unmentioned.

There were routine questions like: "Have you ever been crazy?"

* * *

CAUTIONED HER

Her granddaughter, who was present, cautioned her to answer the examiner's questions with a simple yes or no.

"Let me have my way," demanded Mrs. Williams.

And when it was over, she rose slowly from the chair and walked away from the examiner's desk with all the grace and dignity of her 105 years.

Of course, she had her voting certificate in her hand.

U.S. Traffic Toll in October Is Highest of 1965

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 4,820 persons in October, the highest toll for any month this year, the National Safety Council said today.

The October figure is 5 per cent above the number killed in October 1964, the safety council said, and puts the national total for the first 10 months this year at 39,760 — 2 per cent above the 39,050 killed during a comparable period in 1964.

* * *

The safety council added, however, that travel is running 4 per cent above 1964 and reached an estimated 736 billion miles for the first 10 months this year. The mileage death rate thus decreased from 5.5 per 100 million vehicle miles during the first 10 months of 1964 to 5.4 for the same period this year.

Dies Before Naming Assailant

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The chief prosecution witness collapsed on the witness stand Monday while testifying in the trial of a man charged with a 1959 jewelry store holdup and died before he was able to name his assailant.

Curtis Keentz, 72, pistol-whipped by the bandit in the holdup, slumped in the circuit court witness chair while being questioned by Prosecutor James K. Miller. He died shortly after admittance to a hospital.

* * *

He was testifying in the case against Birney T. Chick Havey, 42, a three-time bond jumper who was extradited from Portland, Ore., to face trial on a charge of armed robbery in Grand Rapids nine years ago.

Havey and Kenneth Midling, 39, of Kalamazoo, are accused in the robbery of $10,000 in gems and $150 cash in the 1959 holdup at Phillips Jewelry Store. Midling is named in a warrant as a codefendant but now is in custody in Ohio on a burglary charge.

WAS ALONE

Prior to his collapse, Keentz had told the court what the bandit allegedly said to him and what he had replied. He had not reached the point of identifying his assailant.

Judge Stuart Hoffius said later he would have to declare a mistrial "in view of what took place." He indicated that Havey would have to stand trial in the next term of court.

U.S. Tactics in Viet

Plan 'Roving Strikes'

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. forces probably will use intensified "roving strikes" by helicopter-borne fighting men against a heavier inflow of Communist North Vietnamese troops.

Barring a major change in national policy, it is considered highly unlikely that the United States will send troops into Laos to form a fence to cut off the movement of North Vietnamese regulars into beleaguered South Viet Nam. Also, Cambodia's cials believe Communist troops professed neutrality will be respected, even though U.S. offi- have used that country as a sanctuary.

* * *

There is a body of opinion in the military which favors the idea of sending U.S. troops into Laos and thus to try to sever the infiltration lines over which a growing number of North Vietnamese regulars are believed moving south.

NEED BUCKET

Within the present policy, sources said, the United States is basically fighting a strategic defensive in its efforts to save South Viet Nam from being overrun by the Communists.

* * *

The best way to do this, experts said, is to take the tactical offensive — "to find the Communists and cut them to pieces."

This is a course of action which U.S. ground combat forces have been following for months and which apparently will be amplified.

REMEMBER IA DRANG

Officials cite the recent bloody battle in the Ia Drang Valley as an example of what could be expected in the future.

In that running fight, troopers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division and their South Vietnamese allies killed nearly 2,300 of the enemy. U.S. losses totaled less than 10 per cent of the Communist dead.

* * *

There is every indication that the section of the infiltration network extending from North Viet Nam through Laos is in for some heavy aerial pounding.

Information available here suggests that the Communists have made progressive improvements over the past year in their ability to move both northward and southward through Laos.

One informant said there is "a significant amount of evidence that the roads have been improved and that the network of roads and trails has been extended."

U.S. sources said the Communists had used bicycles to supply their men in the 1954 battle of Dien Bien Phu in which the Communists inflicted a defeat on French troops, a defeat which led to French withdrawal from Indochina.

Tentative OK Given Project

The proposed $16.5 - million Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System moved a notch nearer realization last night, thanks to a vote of confidence by the Waterford Township Board.

The board unanimously accepted in principle the first draft of a proposed agreement with the Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW), but withheld signature until the final form is presented for consideration.

Admittedly the key to the entire hookup, which eight communities would utilize, Waterford Township would finance approximately 40 per cent of the cost of the project.

"If Waterford didn't go along, it would die like that," flatly stated R. J. Alexander, director of the county DPW.

★ ★ ★

Alexander and other DPW officials attended last night's meeting to answer questions and further explain the huge project.

BOND ISSUE

The project would be financed by a 30-year bond issue. There are at least five methods a community may choose to meet the cost, according to county officials.

Other municipalities which would be served by the sanitary sewer system are the townships of Avon, Pontiac, Independence, West Bloomfield and Orion and the cities of Pontiac and Orchard Lake.

Waterford Township, reportedly, is the first community to take the initial step, although all but one prospective customer have been approached, according to county officials.

★ ★

After all eight communities have signed the contract, the DPW will be able to proceed with acquisition of necessary easements, according to Alexander.

HOPE EXPRESSED

He strongly urged the township proceed with its proposed $22.9-million sanitary sewer system simultaneously with the county project, so connections can be made without delay.

"We are very fortunate that we have not had an epidemic," said Alexander, pointing out the need for sanitary sewer systems in this area. "And we are not trying to scare people."

★ ★ ★

Internal systems would feed into the trunkline which, in turn, would flow into the Dequindre Interceptor which the city of Detroit plans to extend from 14 Mile to 23½ Mile.

FINANCE BASE

Cost to the eight would-be Clinton-Oakland subscribers is based on a projected population of 210,700 by 1990.

Waterford Township, with a projected population of 85,000 and an anticipated 24,286 connections, would be the primary user.

Alexander previously estimated interest of $12,127,500 on the 30-year bond issue for a total cost of $28,627,500.

Income over the 30-year period, mainly from connection charges, has been set at $33,340,900.

SERVICE FEE

Like other benefitting communities, Waterford Township residents would be assesed a $350 connection charge and a $14 per year debt retirement service fee.

The DPW head observed that rates would be based on the township's master water meter, roughly estimating the charge would be $1.75 per 1,000 cubic feet of water.

Alexander called it an advantage to the township that much of the proposed trunkline would flow through it.

★ ★ ★

Also mentioned at last night's meeting was a trading-flow agreement among the county, township and city of Pontiac.

1958 AGREEMENT

Based on a 1958 agreement between Pontiac and the township, the city would provide sewage treatment service to a portion of the township and, in turn, a small part of Pontiac would be serviced by the Clinton-Oakland system.

The Township Board also requested the DPW to proceed with plans to construct sanitary sewers in the West End Drain area, as ordered by the State Water Resources Commission.

Adult Class Format Listed

Next Session Starts Jan. 3 in Waterford

The next session of adult education classes in Waterford Township Schools will begin Jan. 3, according to Donald Arsen, program director.

Registration currently is being conducted from 7 to 8 p.m. through Thursday at Waterford Township High School, where classes will be held.

Twenty-seven high school credit courses will be offered, according to Arsen.

The following courses will be offered Monday and Wednesday:

Algebar I, algebra II, American history, blueprint reading, chemistry, introduction to computers and computer concepts, economics, English, French, geometry, typing, world geography, and drawing, painting and sketching.

Classes scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday are American government, biology, bookkeeping, commercial law, introduction to unit record equipment, mathematics, physics, shorthand, sociology of the family, speech, trigonometry, advanced typing and office machines, welding and world history.

Registration for noncredit classes will be held the first week in February, Arsen said.

Yule Concert Next Tuesday

The newly formed civic chorus of the Waterford Township Recreation Department will combine with the host Mason Junior High School chorus to present a Christmas concert at 8:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

The program will consist of three phases, led off with five special arrangements sung by the Mason group.

★ ★ ★

The civic chorus, featuring soloist Mrs. Virginia Gedz, will sing eight numbers. The combined choruses will complete the program, singing several selections.

Give him Osmun's for Christmas

What can make a gift sweater better? Osmun's.

For example, take our gift box. Go ahead . . . take our gift box. It's free. And that's just one example. Want more? Then come to Osmun's. Because Osmun's has more. More sweaters, for example. Osmun's has more sizes. Osmun's has more styles. Osmun's has more colors, shapes, buttons, zippers, collars, stitches, and—But don't think we're just trading on our name. We trade on other people's names, too. (Robert Bruce and Arnold Palmer for example.)

So if you want to give an Osmun's gift certificate, or make that gift sweater better, you can. Give more than a sweater. Give him Osmun's.

Camera Captures Varied Expressions

Magic of Christmas Toylands Delights Youngsters

Someone once said, "Beauty is altogether in the eye of the beholder."

What better place to behold the beauty of Christmas than in the eyes of children?

* * *

They were so engrossed in the magic of it all they hardly noticed he was taking their pictures.

With such a wide variety of toys to choose from, as shown in the middle photos, they must have been giving considerable thought to what they would order from Santa Claus.

* * *

Air Base's Fate Rocks the Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A Defense Department decision to close out Kincheloe Air Force Base — five years from now — rocked this city.

★ ★ ★

Other civic leaders expressed deep concern. At the same time, still others called for steps in the future to cushion the loss.

Kincheloe AFB, a community of about 10,000 persons to itself, is a vital part of the economy of this Upper Peninsula city, a Great Lakes port on the St. Marys River.

Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor brought America into World War II.

The big air base, 18 miles south of the Soo, was created originally in 1942 to provide defense of the Soo Locks against enemy attack.

★ ★ ★

The base, with heavy bombers and tanker planes, has become an important link of the Strategic Air Command in the years since.

Now, it is to be closed out by Oct. 1, 1970.

DEPENDENT

The Soo, pop. 19,000, and neighboring Rudyard, pop. 3,000, have been dependent on the airmen's installation for much of their economy.

President Kenneth Shouldice of the Soo Chamber of Commerce urged "very agressive planning" by the tri-county area of Chippewa, Luce and Mackinac Counties for the future.

★ ★ ★

"Certainly this will necessitate a deep study," Shouldice said. "This is a blow to the economy and we don't underestimate the value of the air base to our community."

Like others, Shouldice said the dismantling of Kincheloe was not wholly unexpected.

MIGHT CHANGE

"We have all been aware that the status of Kincheloe might change some time," he said.

At first word of the plans, Mayor Foster expressed shock and disbelief.

"Is that a shock to me! I can't believe it," he said.

Calling it a "catastrophe" for Chippewa County, Foster said "I could not estimate the consequences. It would be tragic for the people."

EXTRA ATTENTION

U.S. Sens. Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara released the information about Kincheloe.

The two said in a joint statement they "do not quarrel with the military economics" of the move but said they hoped the Defense Department would give "extra attention to working out a transition that will be as painless as possible."

Members of the Soo's City Commission expressed surprise, though one, Merle King, termed it "no news to me." King said he had expected it for the last three years.

"The Defense Department has repeatedly attempted to do this and only political interference has kept it (the base) going this long," King said. He did not elaborate.

$2.5 MILLION

Kincheloe has 2,128 military personnel and about 275 civilian workers. Its annual payroll, including military and civilian, is $2.5 million. An estimated 60 to 70 per cent of this goes into the local economy. About $2 million is spent annually for locally procured supplies and services.

Kincheloe, situated off I-75, has almost 1,400 homes. Children of Air Force personnel comprise the bulk of Rudyard's 2,680 public school enrollment.

The base was named in honor of the late Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe, World War II air hero from Cassopolis who lost his life in a crash while testing a jet plane July 26, 1958.

Congress Is Likely to Fuss, Fume

By DANIEL RAPOPORT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress will probably fume, fuss and threaten for the next several weeks — but when all is said and done the Pentagon will go ahead with its latest round of military base reductions and shutdowns.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said yesterday that 126 facilities in 39 states and the District of Columbia and 23 overseas would be closed or reduced over the next four years, starting in 1966. This would eliminate 53,000 jobs and save $410 million a year.

McNamara said the bases were not needed and could be curtailed without hampering the war effort in Viet Nam. He plans to announce which bases get the ax tomorrow.

Many congressmen are expected to disagree. Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee said that in view of the escalating nature of the conflict "now was not the psychological time to close any of our defense installations."

★ ★ ★

Undoubtedly this theme will be picked up by other lawmakers, especially those representing districts where the bases are located.

CRITICAL BARRAGE

McNamara has been closing or downgrading bases he feels are unneeded ever since he became secretary in 1961.

Even during years when U.S. servicemen were not engaged in combat he faced a barrage of attacks from Congress and local communities.

It will be more intense this time. But the secretary has not relented in any of the 703 previous base actions and there is little likelihood he will do so this time.

★ ★ ★

Under a law enacted this year, no military installation employing more than 250 persons can be shut down or trimmed until Congress has 30 days to review the plans.

CONSIDERABLY MODIFIED

The law, considerably modified after a presidential veto of an earlier version, reflected congressional indignation over widespread base closings.

In effect, it did nothing more than let Congress blow off some steam. The 30 days — which in this case begins Jan. 10, 1966, when Congress returns to work — does not offer enough time for the proposals to be adequately studied.

Even if Congress should pass a bill to keep all or some of the installations open, the President does not necessarily have to abide by the mandate.

★ ★ ★

It is a constitutional question whether Congress can force a chief executive to spend money he does not want to spend or to operate a facility he does not want to operate.

To Sell Wheat to UAR

CAIRO (AP) — Mexico has agreed to sell the United Arab Republic 52,140 tons of wheat, a spokesman says. The statement did not mention the cost.

AP Photofax

GETS WATTS REPORT — Gov. Edmund G. Brown holds a copy of the McCone Commission report on the causes of last August's Negro riots in Los Angeles as he thanks the commission chairman, John A. McCone, seated beside him, and other commission members at a news conference. Seated next to McCone is Terrence Lee, commission secretary.

Will Try to Remedy LA Riot Ills—Brown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's governor says he'll try to implement his riot commission's report, which suggests possible violence worse than last August's in Los Angeles if Negroes' "explosive" conditions aren't improved.

What's more, Gov. Edmund G. Brown said as he accepted the massive, 101-page study, he'll call the commission back in six months so it can check progress.

★ ★ ★

But considerable unfavorable reaction also greeted the eight civic leaders' report Monday on the deadly, destructive six days in a 46½-square-mile area including shattered Watts.

"Totally inadequate," said a union labor official. "Deeply disappointed," said a civil rights leader.

30,000 WORDS

Tucked into the graphic, 30,000-word report, 100 days in the making at a cost of $250,000, was this paragraph:

"So serious and so explosive is the situation that, unless it is checked, the August riots may seem by comparison to be only a curtain-raiser for what could blow up one day in the future."

★ ★ ★

The commission proposed "expensive and burdensome" programs in job development, education and law enforcement to prevent a recurrence of the fire-bombing, gunfire and looting that left:

★ ★ ★

Thirty-four persons dead, scores injured, 3,952 arrested, property loss over $40 million, more than 600 buildings damaged, more than 200 of them destroyed.

ROAMED STREETS

At the height of the Aug. 11-17 violence, the commission said, perhaps 10,000 Negroes took to the streets in marauding bands.

"They looted stores, set fires, beat up white passersby whom they hauled from stopped cars, many of which were turned upside down and burned, exchanged shots with law enforcement officers and stoned and shot at firemen," the report said.

Gov. Brown asked his commissioners — educators and community leaders, including a housewife, a Negro judge and a Negro pastor — to study basic causes of the violence and suggest how best to keep it from happening again.

★ ★ ★

Chairman John McCone, former chief of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Central Intelligenece Agency, handed the report, "Violence in the City — An End or a Beginning?" to Brown Monday.

'NO ONE CAUSE'

The commissioners reported they found no one cause of the August terror, but "sowing the winds" were:

Too few jobs, especially for untrained Negroes.

★ ★ ★

FAN PROBLEMS

The report said these problems were intensified by:

"What may well be the least adequate network of public transportation in any major city in America." In Watts, where only 14 per cent of the families own cars, a resident "may have to ride on several separate bus systems to reach certain destinations in the immediate area."

An exploding Negro population up nearly tenfold from 75,000 in 1940 to 650,000 now. Frustration and disillusionment have met the high hopes of many Negroes from Southern states.

★ ★ ★

Local controversy over handling of federal poverty projects, which didn't live up to advance publicity.

Frequent "exhortations, here and elsewhere, to take the most extreme and even illegal remedies."

FELT AFFRONT

"Many Negroes here felt and were encouraged to feel that they had been affronted" when in November 1964, voters repealed 2-1 a so-called state fair-housing act.

Recommendations to remedy "the sickness in the center of our city" included:

"Cooperative programs for employment and training, participated in by the Negro community, governmental agencies, employers and organized labor."

"A new and costly approach to educating the Negro child, an emergency program" including language classes for 3-year-olds. The average fifth-grader in Watts apparently can't "make use of reading and writing for ordinary purposes in his daily life."

'POLICE BRUTALITY'

From Negro witnesses, the commission said, "We have heard evidences of a deep and long-standing schism between a substantial portion of the Negro community and the police department. 'Police brutality' has been the recurring charge.

"One witness after another has recounted instances in which, in their opinion, the police have used excessive force or have been disrespectful and abusive in their language or manner.

"On the other hand, the police have explained to us the extent to which the conduct of some Negroes when apprehended has required the use of force in making arrests."

The commission said Chief of Police William H. Parker is "a man distrusted by most Negroes" but that even his critics consider him a capable chief.

NO COMMENT

Parker didn't immediately comment on that.

The commission said Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson "hesitated when he should have acted" on the police chief's request for National Guard help in the riots.

★ ★ ★

Anderson replied that he "acted as fast as possible." He called it "the fastest mobilization of the National Guard in history."

The Rev. H. H. Brookins, chairman, said the United Civil Rights Committee was "deeply disappointed with the report."

NO SOLUTIONS

He said he couldn't see "any forthright solutions" workable "in the dark corners of the ghetto."

People in the heart of the Negro area probably won't even read the report, said the Rev. Mr. Brookins. "What they're looking for is jobs."

Paul Schrade, Western regional director for the United Auto and Aerospace Workers Union, said: "The commission's recommendations for more training, information and reporting, in the absence of enough jobs, are totally inadequate to meet the need to create at least 50,000 jobs now."

Quarry Record Set

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP)—Shipments of crushed stone from Drummond Dolomite quarry broke all records this season when over 2.5 million tons were loaded after April 9, according to Jerry Gabel, assistant plant manager. The previous record was 2.45 tons in 1954.

High Court Blasts Desegregation Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eleven years have passed since the Supreme Court's landmark school desegregation decision and the justices are becoming impatient at the slow pace of the process in some southern communities.

Without waiting to hear arguments yesterday, the court ordered local authorities at Fort Smith, Ark., to permit a group of Negro students to transfer immediately to white high schools which have been kept segregated under the city's grade-a-year desegregation plan.

The court also directed a lower federal court to hold hearings on charges that faculty members at Fort Smith were being assigned on a racial basis.

The brief, unsigned opinion declared that Negro students in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades were being barred unconstitutionally from taking certain courses offered at the white high schools but not in the still-segregated Negro school.

The opinion noted that, although Fort Smith adopted the grade-a-year plan in 1957, high school students still are segregated.

"Petitioners are entitled to immediate relief," it declared. "We have emphasized that 'delays in desegregating public school systems are no longer tolerable."

The ruling said other Negro students as well should be allowed to transfer because the white school "has the more extensive curriculum . . . from which they are excluded because of their race."

The Fort Smith plan started with the desegregation of the first grade in 1957 and was scheduled to reach the senior class level in high schools by 1968. The court refused to brook this delay.

★ ★ ★

The law suit was initiated in 1963 by Mrs. Corine Rogers, who unsuccessfully tried to transfer her two daughters from the Negro to the white high schools. One of the daughters now has been graduated.

Mrs. Rogers contended that while gradual desegregation is taking place, Negro pupils are attending an inferior high school.

U.S. District Court Judge John E. Miller at Fort Smith refused to disturb the plan. He was upheld last May 7 by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

What Is a High School Equivalency Certificate?

It is now possible for men and women who never finished High School to earn a special High School Certificate. This diploma is called the High School Equivalency Certificate, and receives general acceptance in business and Civil Service as the equivalent of a regular 4 year High School Diploma.

More than 63,000,000 adults are presently without High School Diplomas. These people have been held back from better pay because they have never completed High School.

State Education Departments were deeply concerned with this "DROP-OUT" problem. Exams were set up to qualify these adults for a Special High School Equivalency Certificate.

The National School of Home Study, chartered by the Board of Regents of the State of New Your, offers a short course that helps prepare "DROP-OUTS" for the Equivalency Certificate Exams.

Recent government reports show that a person who has a High School Diploma earns $120,000 more during his lifetime than a non-graduate. This means that a High School Diploma could be worth $25 to $50 more a week. So why be held back from better pay. For a free Home Study High School Book, write to National School of Home Study, Dept. PP, 27753 Mound Rd., Warren, Michigan.

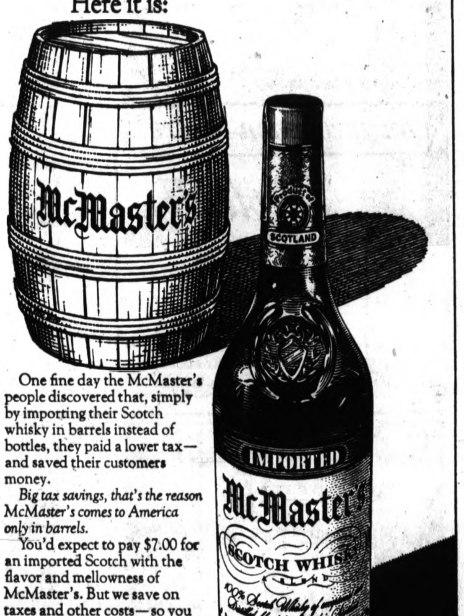
A $7.00 Scotch for only $4.97?

What's the gimmick?

Here it is:



One fine day the McMaster's people discovered that, simply by importing their Scotch whisky in barrels instead of bottles, they paid a lower tax—and saved their customers money.

You'd expect to pay $7.00 for an imported Scotch with the flavor and mellowness of McMaster's. But we save on taxes and other costs—so you pay only $4.97 a fifth, only $2.50 a tenth (tax included).

A $6.50 Canadian for only $4.80?

Sure. McMaster's gives you the same big tax savings on its fine imported Canadian whisky, too. (Tax included.) Also available in ½ gallons at only $11.95.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

(SYNOPSIS: Mr. D got tired of driving a bus up and down Main Street. He wondered what the world was like beyond the town. Finally he took down the bus sign saying "Main Street," put up on saying "Zabbazara" and started off.)

'This Isn't The Main Street Bus'

CHAPTER TWO
AP Newsfeatures

How the people stared when they saw Mr. D and the Zabbazara bus drive down the Main Street of the town!

"Hey!" they called. "Wait! Stop!"

They were in the very midst of their Christmas shopping. Their feet hurt and their tempers were short.

They couldn't believe the bus wasn't going to take them up and down Main Street the way it always had.

★ ★ ★

The bus came to a corner where the traffic was so heavy Mr. D had to stop.

PUSHED OPEN DOOR

The shoppers pushed open the door and cried out, "Let us on. We want to go down Main Street, you dunce!"

He said, "This isn't the Main Street bus anymore. This is the Zabbazara bus. You want to go to Zabbazara?"

★ ★

"ZABBAZARA! Where's that?"

'DON'T KNOW'

"I don't know," said Mr. D. "But that's where this bus is going. If you want to go, hop on."

Well, who wanted to go to a place with a name like that which no one had ever heard of?

The people fell back grumbling and glaring at Mr. D as if he had taken leave of his senses.

★ ★

KEPT GOING

When he came to the end of Main Street he didn't turn the bus around the way he always had. He kept right on going straight out of town.

Without his glasses he saw two roads instead of one. He decided to take the left road. It was rough but he liked it because it was taking him further and further from Main Street.

★ ★ ★

Presently he came to a crossroads where an ugly old woman with a shawl over her head flagged him down.

'NOT REAL'

"That's real enough for me," said the old woman and she climbed on board.

Mr. D slipped his glasses back up his nose and he saw that it wasn't an old woman at all, but a crocodile.

★ ★ ★

"Everyone is afraid of me. I am so ugly," said the crocodile as she settled herself in a seat. "I've been standing on that corner more years than I can say, and no bus has ever stopped for me before."

THIS IS THE LIFE

Mr. D had never had a crocodile on his bus before, but he thought, "Perhaps this is the way things are away from Main Street and this is the life I wanted to see."

So he let the crocodile stay on the bus. He shut the door and started away.

He hadn't gone far when he was stopped by a foolish looking animal standing in the middle of the road.

"Who are you?" asked Mr. D.

"I don't know," said the animal unhappily. "I never went to school and I don't know anything."

A DONKEY

"It's a donkey," said the crocodile from the back seat. "Donkeys don't have much sense."

"You better get out of the road," said Mr. D kindly. "You'll be hit standing there."

"It's just as well. What do I have to live for? Everyone despises me."

★ ★ ★

"Take him on the bus," said the crocodile. "He wants to go to Zabbazara."

'MADE IT UP'

"But, there is no Zabbazara!" protested Mr. D. "I made it up!"

"So what? It doesn't matter. Let the donkey on."

★ ★ ★

Mr. D did as he was told. The donkey climbed on and the Zabbazara bus continued on its way.

New Group of Chemicals to Aid Plants

Science Service

LONDON — A new group of chemicals called morphactins may help create green carpets of short, bushy healthy plants to beautify the edges of highways and sports fields.

The compounds are basically fluorene-9-carboxylic acids, report Drs. Gerhart Schneider, Dietrich Erdmann, Sigmund Lust, Gunther Mohr and Konrad Neithammer of the Research Laboratories of E. Merck AG Darmstadt, Germany.

Peculiar, stunted and malformed plants with bushy leaves, which often become gradually darker green, result from the compounds, the scientists reported in Nature Dec. 4).

Plants with these odd characteristics could be attractive along highways, railroads, ditch banks and other areas where foliage should be healthy, green and not grow too tall to save time and effort in cutting and caring for them.

★ ★ ★

These compounds could also be used in orchards and vineyards to keep certain weeds under control.

The compounds, once in the soil, retain their strength for only a few weeks, after which they are broken down by microbes. The chemicals are not harmful to mammals or fish.

'Thieves in Temple' Appropriate Topic

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Two choir members at the First Methodist church surprised a youth in his late teens as he rifled a woman's purse in a choir room.

Brandishing a hammer, he crawled out a window and fled. Rev. Gaston Foote's sermon continued without interruption. The topic: "Thieves in the temple."

British surgeons have succeeded in regulating a patient's heart beats by electrical pulses but without using direct wire connections.

An uncommon luxury!

THE PONTIAC PRESS

Left-Handed? You Can Knit

This enlarged photograph from the new leaflet for left-handed knitters shows you the first stitch that has been cast on. Notice that the needle is held in the left hand and the yarn in the right. In addition to showing you how to cast on stitches, this leaflet also gives instructions for both knitting and purling, which are two basic stitches used in almost all knitted things. There's also a key to the abbreviations used in knitting instructions, directions for increasing and decreasing stitches, as well as advice on how to bind off stitches.

Who would have guessed there are so many left-handed folks interested in knitting? How long have they wished for and wanted an easy instructional guide to help them enjoy this art-interest? Their unfilled desire might have gone on and on and on had it not been for this news item on the Women's pages of The Pontiac Press. So it was just natural that they should write Janet Odell, our Women's Editor for the details of how to get the leaflet.

Every day there is so much news and information in the Women's Section, grocery section, sports section and all throughout The Pontiac Press you just should not miss an edition.

RADAR DOME IN ZAMBIA — A British Royal Air Force ground unit inflates a 50-foot high radar dome yesterday at the airfield at Lusaka, Zambia. Units of the RAF arrived in Zambia last week to take over air defense of the country after neighboring Rhodesia declared its independence from the mother country. In London the government defied demands of 36 African nations to crush Rhodesia's rebellion by mid-December.

Foreign News Commentary

African Group's Unity Carried Too Far

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

If there was one thing that could unify the African nations, it was their opposition to the white supremacy government of Rhodesia.

NEWSOM

As the foreign ministers of 35 African nations met in futuristic Africa Hall in Addis Ababa, they carried this seldom-found unity to a point which seemed unrealistic and irresponsible.

An ultimatum to Britain demanded the overthrow of the all-white government of Rhodesia's premier Ian Smith by Dec. 15.

Failure would result in a break in relations with Britain by all members of the Organization for African Unity, including eight members of the British Commonwealth.

* * *

UNDERSTANDABLE

That the African nations were impatient was understandable, but for Britain to overthrow the Smith government by Dec. 15 was impossible.

The economic sanctions imposed on the Rhodesians by Britain, the United States and others will take many months to show their effects.

Obvious intent of the Addis Ababa action was to force Britain to take military action now, a course equally impossible and more likely to result in the fall of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government in London than in the fall of the Smith government in Salisbury.

* * *

Man in the middle was President Kenneth Kaunda of neighboring Zambia, whose copper industry depends upon the Rhodesian railroad and upon the jointly owned Kariba hydroelectric dam across the Zambesi River.

RHODESIAN END

Kaunda wants British troops to guard the Rhodesian end of the dam against what he believes is possible Rhodesian sabotage.

But, with more caution than displayed by others farther removed from the scene, he also has declared he does not want a racial war . . .

"This we would not like history to record against us . . ."

* * *

Nor, he says, does he wish a war which might eventually involve the great powers, including the Soviet Union, "for this would mean a shooting war based on ideology."

MORE THAN TOKEN

Among the African states, only five, Ethiopia, the United Arab Republic, Nigeria, Ghana and Guinea, could offer more than a token military force.

Rhodesia already has indicated it believes its 10,000-man army and its 40,000-man police more than a match for any force the Africans might muster.

Kaunda has suggested he may turn to the United States for military help, or, as a last resort, to the Soviet Union.

* * *

Any kind of military intervention in Rhodesia carries with it the danger of a major conflict, a danger even greater perhaps than already exists in Viet Nam.

The hope is that African home governments will have second thoughts and cooler heads than those on display at Addis Ababa.

British Agency Gives 'Dolly' Guarantee

LONDON (AP) — Britain's biggest theatrical ticket agency, Keith Prowse, said today it had guaranteed the American musical, "Hello, Dolly!" $630,000 in advance seat sales.

Opening of the Mail Is Meat for the Columnist

By HAL BOYLE

If your child is overweight, don't just dismiss it as "baby fat." It has been found that they tend to retain their obesity in adulthood.

BOYLE

This will come as no surprise to Santa Claus, but chances are you don't know in what respect reindeer differ from other members of the deer family. Among reindeer, both bucks and does have antlers.

The good old days? In 1851 when ice cream was first manufactured in the United States, the price ran as high as $1.25 a quart wholesale.

A LITTLE WATER

It isn't true that Frenchmen drink nothing but wine. A recent survey disclosed that nearly half of all French citizens drink at least some water every day.

A cultural note: Americans last year spent $580 million on rock 'n' roll records, according to Ebony magazine.

* * *

Quotable notables: "When I am dead and buried, on my tombstone I would like to have it written, 'I have arrived.' Because when you feel that you have arrived, you are dead" — Yul Brynner.

You're safer with a gun in the field than in the home. Firearms accidents in 1964 took 1,000 lives outside the home, 1,200 in the home.

ZENITH, ALCOHOL

Know your language: Sofa comes from souf, the Arabic word for wool. Other words derived from Arabic include spinach, sherbet, algebra, zero, soda, alcohol, nadir, zenith, muslin, damask and syrup.

Nature lore: No wonder snakes are so grouchy. Because they have no eyelids, they have to sleep with their eyes wide open. Buffalo can run at speeds up to 40 miles an hour. If you think an elephant drinks through its trunk as if it were a straw, you're wrong. It merely fills its trunk with water, then squirts it into its mouth.

* * *

Not all dropouts fail in life. Louis Untermeyer, 80, poet, editor and author, quit high school in his sophomore year in disgust because he couldn't solve a geometry problem. In the 65 years since then he has written more than 90 books.

The wealthiest living author is believed to be J. Paul Getty, who recently wrote "How to Be Rich." The 74-year-old oilman is reputed to be worth at least a billion dollars which, at 4 per cent interest, gives him $40 million a year to starve on while he waits for his royalty checks.

DIED IN DEBT

History lesson: At least four U.S. presidents left no estate at their death, or died in debt. They were Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, W. H. Harrison, and U.S. Grant.

Although Grant left no estate, a manuscript of his memoirs later brought $500,000 to his family.

How healthy are we? Well, last year 25,987,000 — one of every seven Americans — received hospital treatment. That's up 720,000 from the year before.

ODD LAWS: King Henry VIII of Britain once forbade the playing of football because he thought it took too much time off from warfare.

School Grant OK'd

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

Today's hand illustrates a classic squeeze situation. South has 12 top tricks and there is a potential 13th trick available in either clubs or diamonds. If either suit breaks 3-3 for you a squeeze is unnecessary.

JACOBY

If neither breaks but one opponent is long in both of them, he will be squeezed out of one stopper or the other.

The simple way to work the squeeze is to cash all your spades and hearts immediately. This brings everyone down to seven cards and as you can see it takes eight cards for one man to stop both minor suits so the squeeze will have operated provided, as stated before, that one man started long in both clubs and long diamonds.

All this represents pretty good odds in your favor. You can only lose the slam if each opponent is long in a minor suit.

The expert increases his chances by giving his opponents a chance to go wrong. Neither one is looking at that fourth club in his hand. They both are looking at dummy's four diamonds. There is no hope for deception there but expert South starts proceedings by winning the spade lead with dummy's queen and dropping his seven-spot.

Then he runs off three diamonds and three hearts. Suppose that one opponent had started with four clubs and four spades. He would have to discard one black card and while he probably should not throw a club, he might just do so.

This type deception constitutes what is known as a pseudo-squeeze. There was no real squeeze but a defender let himself be squeezed anyway.

FAA Readies 3-D Radar to Avoid Crashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency is moving to equip the nation's major airports with a three-dimension radar technique designed to prevent accidents such as Saturday's collision of airliners over New York's Westchester County.

★ ★ ★

An FAA official said the technique has been satisfactorily developed during the past five years in a program to establish a national air space system.

But he said the highly sophisticated, computerized system — costing in the millions of dollars — won't be introduced into the busy New York area for about two years.

★ ★ ★

RADAR BLIPS

Under the technique, the radar blips of an approaching airliner are electronically tagged with luminous letters and numerals called alpha-numerics. This tag instantly tells air control tower personnel the plane's identification, altitude and location in distance and direction.

A device called a transponder automatically flashes the information from the airliner to the tower radar screen. This eliminates considerable voice communication, including perhaps faulty altitude readings, between the pilot and the tower.

★ ★ ★

FAA and Civil Aeronautics Board officials declined to speculate whether the alpha-numerics technique would have prevented Saturday's collision of an Eastern Airlines Constellation and a Trans World Airline jet.

Officials are still investigating the accident, they said.

4 KILLED

The prop-driven Constellation crashed near North Salem, N.Y., after clipping the wing of the TWA jet. Amazingly, only four of the 58 persons aboard were killed. The jet made it safely to New York's Kennedy International Airport.

"Until we get a finding on the cause, it's too early to say the alpha-numerics system would have prevented the accident," said David D. Thomas, associate administrator of programs for the FAA. "But generally speaking this is the type accident the system is designed to avoid."

★ ★ ★

Prototype alpha-numerics systems have been successfully tested in recent months at Indianapolis and Atlanta airports at a cost of $5 million each.

In perhaps five years the FAA hopes to have the system in all 22 major terminals and many of the 50 medium en route terminals, Thomas said.

$250 MILLION

Total cost will be about $250 million.

Airline companies will pay the cost of installing transponders, the transmission devices, in the planes, he said.

★ ★ ★

"We're satisfied with this system," Thomas said. "It's going into the Jacksonville, Fla., airport in about a year, and then we will extend up the Eastern seaboard."

Max (Jethro) Baer Dislikes Most Actors and Reporters

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Appearances can deceive, as in the case of Max Baer.

Folks who think of him as the happy-go-lucky Jethro of "The Beverly Hillbillies" should take a closer look. That's not easy, since Max sees few persons outside his close circle of friends, mostly nonactors — "I am not fond of actor types."

★ ★ ★

Nor does Max cotton to interviews; he has eluded them in recent times. Inexplicably, he consented to a lunchtime chat, perhaps to explain why he doesn't like interviews.

★ ★ ★

"Did you see that show about Sinatra on CBS?" he asked. "Sinatra was explaining his attitude about publicity and he quoted something Bogart had told him. He said, 'All I owe the public is a good performance.'

"That's how I feel. I am damned good at what I have to do and don't try to tell me that playing Jethro is easy, because it isn't. Well, I do my job and that's it. That's all the public is going to get from me."

HE'S HONEST

Anyway, he is honest. He demonstrates that by turning down the big-money offers to play state fairs, Las Vegas night spots, shopping centers, etc.

"I tried that early in the game and I hated it," he explained. "I'm not an entertainer; I can't sing or dance or tell funny stories. So people would be paying just to see me in the flesh. That is demeaning. They couldn't pay me enough to do it again."

★ ★ ★

The why of Max Baer is not easy to determine, since he reveals little of himself. A restless spirit is evident. He graduated in business administration from the University of Santa Clara, but he indicated that his real education came afterward.

"A friend and I spent four months traveling all over the country in freight cars," he recalled. "We lived in hobo jungles and of course we had to steal a little to survive. I mean like a can or two lifted from a grocery store."

AF STINT

After six months in the Air Force, Max came to Hollywood, but not necessarily to act.

★ ★ ★

"I went into acting because I was hungry," e explained. "I mean like starving. Before that? I was in bookmaking. I wasn't a gambler, really, because you can't lose paying track odds. I was doing very well until I got raided.

★ ★ ★

"After that was when I got hungry. So I turned to acting, and I made it entirely on my own; I didn't trade on my father's name. That's another reason I don't owe anybody anything. I did it all by myself."

Movies' Self-Censor Dies in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joseph I. Breen, who set up the motion picture industry's self-censorship office and headed it for 20 years is dead at 77.

Breen, who died Sunday, was director of the Production Code administration of the Motion Picture Producers Association of America from 1934 until his retirement in 1954. He edited more than 3,000 movie scripts a year.

Road Crews Set for Winter

LANSING (UPI) — It is expected to cost $10.76 million to keep state highways clear of snow and in good repair this winter, the State Highway Department said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

In an average winter eight feet of snow falls on Michigan, requiring 217,000 tons of salt on state highways plus the operation of hundreds of snowplows, scrapers and graders, the department said.

Sam Cyderman, assistant maintenance operations engineer, said the department has established a county radio network that will broadcast alerts when a storm whips down from the north or across Lake Michigan.

It will supplement the hourly weather forecasts and conditions transmitted by teletype to county headquarters, he said.

★ ★ ★

Storm warnings send sanding trucks and scrapers to stations or trouble spots miles from home garages. Their jobs are to keep roads clear of drifts and hazardous slippery spots.

20 COUNTIES

The highway department operates snow removal equipment in 20 counties, and is billed for the cost of snow removal by county workers in the 63 other counties plus 164 cities that maintain state highways.

To help keep roads clear in those 20 counties, the department operates 302 snowplow attachments, nine rotary plow attachments called "sno-gos," 10 wing plows and 194 underbody scrapers, plus 56 motor graders which are used in emergencies.

"We rarely 'lose' a road, unless an abandoned car or a ditched truck prevents plows from getting through," Cyderman said. "We had to laugh when an eastern travel agency requested that we list the state highways that are closed during winter months.

"No state highways anywhere in Michigan ever are closed, not if we can help it," he said.

Four Decrees Proclaimed by Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The last four decrees of the Vatican Ecumenical Council were proclaimed by Pope Paul VI today as the worldwide assembly neared its end.

The religious liberty declaration repeats the traditional teaching that Catholicism is the one true faith and that whoever believes this must embrace it. But it declares, among other things, that no one must be forced to accept a faith he does not believe in, that governments are obliged to ensure religious freedom for all, that parents have a right to give their children a religious education and a right to share in whatever school subsidies governments make available.

★ ★ ★

The decree on problems of the modern world states that all forms of racial, social and religious discrimination must be crushed.

On war and peace, the document asserts that legitimate self defense cannot be denied nations. But it warns against the danger of stockpiling nuclear weapons.

On birth control, the decree reminds Catholics that they must not use methods forbidden by the Church. But it opens the way to a new approach by stressing conjugal love along with procreation as an aim of marriage and stating that "further diligent study is still needed" on the question of artificial methods of contraception.

★ ★ ★

The decree on missionary activity enjoins Catholic missionaries to collaborate with non-Catholic Christians and to avoid a "senseless rivalry" in mission areas.

The council's decree on the priestly life reaffirms the doctrine of celibacy for priests.

Regional Lab Okay Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., Monday urged early approval by the Office of Education of a regional education research laboratory proposed by Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Kentucky.

In a letter to John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, Jacobs recalled that he had written to Gardner previously after the proposal was submitted in September.

Since that time, Jacobs said, additional enthusiasm generated for this four-state proposal has resulted in endorsement by 18 state and municipal colleges and universities, 15 private schools and hundreds of school corporations.

Jacobs said that Indianapolis remains the suggested site for the laboratory which envisions a $17,585,000 planning and operating budget over a six-year period.

★ ★ ★

He said he is optimistic the four-state proposal will be among the six or eight approved for initial funding by the end of this month under provisions of the new education law.

Yule Liquor Sales to Halt for 58 Hours

LANSING (AP) — Because Christmas falls on Saturday, Michigan will have a 58-hour period during which alcoholic beverages cannot be sold or consumed in licensed establishments, the Liquor Control Commission said Monday.

Normally sales and consumption are halted for 34 hours between 9 p.m. Christmas Eve and 7 a.m. Dec. 26. But a 1952 state law provides when Dec. 26 falls on a Sunday, the dry period shall extend until 7 a.m. Dec. 27.

Judav Wants Pro Chance

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Juday, Michigan State's forgotten All-America quarterback, still hopes to impress the pros—but he refuses to go begging.

"I have one distinction, I am probably the only All-America quarterback in history passed up by the pros," the signal-caller of Michigan State's Rose Bowl-bound No. 1 football team said Monday.

"I would like a crack at pro ball. I think I can play it, but they seem to think I'm too small. Maybe, I can convince them in the Rose Bowl."

Juday, six-foot, 180-pound passing whiz from Northville, acknowledged that he was deeply disappointed when his name wasn't called in the recent National and American League drafts.

★ ★ ★

"Being quarterback on the country's top team, being an All-America and having a good record, I felt pretty confident," he added. "But maybe they just weren't sure I could make it."

Juday is one of eight scholar-athletes from throughout the country being honored Tuesday night at the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame dinner. They are men who distinguished themselves both on the football field and in the class room.

OTHERS NAMED

Others include Sam Champi Jr., of Army, an end; Charley Arrobio, co-captain and tackle of the University of Southern California; Alan Roodhouse, Navy fullback; John Cochran, Auburn line-backer; Willard Sander, Ohio State fullback; Dan Jones, defenseive halfback at Texas Christian and Dave Frenek, Wisconsin captain and quarterback.

The dinner also will see the induction of eight new electees to the Hall of Fame and a series of other awards for outstanding contributions to the game and society.

★ ★ ★

The chief award, the Gold Medal, previously won by such dignitaries as Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy and General MacArthur, will go to Juan Trippi, head of Pan American Airways.

During the past season, Juday completed 89 of 168 for 1,173 yards and seven touchdowns. He erased all the career marks of the Spartans' Al Dorow.

HE'LL WAIT

Juday said that if, after the Rose Bowl game against UCLA, the pros still don't make an offer, he won't go shopping.

★ ★ ★

"I refuse to go begging," he said. "With my selection on the All-America and this honor here Scholar-Athlete Award, I have a lot of things going for me. It won't be the end of the world." He majored in marketing and transportation.

Big 10 Has 15 Players on East 11

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fullback Jim Grabowski of Illinois, and defensive stalwarts Aaron Brown of Minnesota and Dwight Kelley of Ohio State, a trio of All Americans, head the East squad for the Dec. 31 East-West game in San Francisco.

The Big Ten dominates the East squad with 15 of the 25 players named Monday by Managing Director A. H. (Bert) Jacobs of the Shrine Charity game.

TWO QBs

The quarterbacks are John Hankinson of Minnesota and Gary Snook of Iowa.

Halfbacks are Karl Noonah, Iowa; Eric Crabtree, Pittsburgh; Bill Wolski and Ken Ivan, Notre Dame; Dick Gingrich, Penn State; and Charles Brown, Syracuse. The latter three are expected to play defense.

Tom Barrington of Ohio State was named along with Grabowski for the fullback spot.

Ends are Phil Sheridan, Notre Dame; Harris Elliott, Syracuse; Bill Mainchak, Indiana, and Brown, who is expected to see action both on offense and defense.

Ohio State's Kelley is the "little fellow" among the interior lineman at 220. Tackles named were Bill Yearby, 230, Michigan; Jerry Shay, 225, Purdue; Gale Gillingham, 240; Minnesota, and Doug Van Horn, 236, Ohio State .

★ ★ ★

Head coach will be Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, assisted by Murray Warmath of Minnesota and Jerry Burns, recently of Iowa.

Big Splash at PNH

It's been a long time since Pontiac Central swimmers came out of the pool with a victory over crosstown rival Pontiac Northern, and tonight the two squads will face each other for the 14th time in their series.

The meet should be interesting as both teams match their sophomore - junior talents against each other after impressive starts this season.

Central whipped Flint Central 78-27 in its opener last week, and on Saturday Northern went to Flint and came home with the Vehicle City Relays' title.

PNH has won the last four outings and six of its last eight meets against Central.

There will probably be some maneuvering of swimmers in the various events with PNH favored to make it five straight in the all-time series. The meet starts at 7:30 p.m. in the PNH pool.

When the series began in 1958-59, Central won five in a row until PNH took a 61-44 decision in 1961. The Chiefs came back the same season however in their own pool for a 56-49 verdict.

The 1962-63 season produced a couple close meets, Northern winning the first 54-51 and Central taking the second meet, 53-52.

This is the All-Time Series between the schools:

1958-59—Central 58, Northern 34
1959-60—Central 68, Northern 48

'Open' Bowlers Finish Qualifying

Bowlers are marking time awaiting the final two rounds of of the Pontiac City Open Championship next Sunday.

Some 255 keglers, boosted by an additional nine qualifiers last night, will take to Huron Bowl the lanes Sunday morning starting at 9:00 a.m. in the semifinal three games of the tournament.

Squads for the semifinals are set for 9:00 a.m., 10:15, 11:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m.

While percentage figures of those going into the finals are being determined, the Actual's Invitational is expected to start at 300 Bowl at 1:30 p.m.

The finals of the tournament proper then will begin at 300 Bowl with 3:00 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. squads.

★ ★ ★

Bowlers assigned to squads in the semifinals and finals must bowl at the designated time or default.

It is expected that nearly 40 per cent of the semifinal total will move into the finals and earn a share of the purse headed by $800 and $500 as the top two prizes.

Bowlers must register 15 minutes before their designated squad times and pay $2.00 to cover cost of bowling, scoring and clerical help, in the semifinals, and also in the finals.

Averages are currently being checked and the squad of semifinalists will be announced Friday. The Actuals' men will be extended invitations Thursday.

Hospital Exam Set for Lions' Halfback

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Don Looney, Detroit Lions halfback was to enter Henry Ford Hospital here Tuesday to take tests that will try to determine the cause of recurrent headaches.

Looney has been used for only two plays in Detroit's four games since then.

Mikita Takes Lead in NHL

Black Hawk 'Scooter' Has 29 Points

MONTREAL (AP) — Stan Mikita, the Czechoslovakian-born center who puts the scoot in Chicago's Scooter Line, strung consecutive three-goal hat tricks last week and shot in to the National Hockey League's scoring lead.

But Mikita, scoring champion in each of the last two seasons, did not produce the best individual performance of the week according to figures released by the NHL today. That honor went to Detroit's Normie Ullman, who scored 10 points, three of them on a hat trick, and moved up seven notches in the scoring race.

ONE AHEAD

Mikita's six goals in his last two games gave him 14 for the season and 29 points, one better than teammate Bobby Hull and Montreal's Bobby Rousseau.

Ullman, who led the league in goals with 42 last season, moved into a fourth place tie with Montreal's Jean Beliveau after his big week. Ullman has 11-12-23 and Beliveau 8-15-23.

The Leaders:

| Player Team | G | A | Pts. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1. Mikita, Chicago | 14 | 15 | 29 |
| 2. Hull, Chicago | 17 | 11 | 28 |
| Rousseau, Montreal | 12 | 16 | 28 |

'Float' Fund for Spartans

Parade officials waived the regular Aug. 4 deadline to allow the Lansing area to enter a float. They also guaranteed the Spartans' home cities a spot in the televised section of the pageant.

Chicago Holds Bowling Lead Over Detroit

HIGHLAND, Ind. (AP) — Hamm's of Chicago led Stroh's of Detroit by 139 pins going into the last three rounds of the National Men's Team Match Game Bowling Championship today.

Hamm's built a score of 7,021 in three rounds Monday, including 1,000 points for victories in four of the six games. Stroh's, also winner of four games, had 6,882. Edmond Oldsmobile of Detroit, also 4-2 in games, was 85 pins farther back at 6,797.

Heilman's of Minneapolis stood 70 pins behind Edmond at 6,727 on a 3-3 split. Calumet Construction of Hammond, Ind., at 6,256, and Shaw's of Cleveland, at 5,878, were virtually out of the running.

Hamm's and Stroh's split the two games of their match Monday night, Stroh's taking the lead in the standings after winning the first game but losing it back to Hamm's.

Wolverine 5 Doesn't Please Coach Strack

Charity Tosses Enable Titans to Post 78-75 Win Over Hoosiers

By The Associated Press

Michigan whipped Ball State, 107-70, as expected, but the University of Detroit needed exceptional free-throw shooting to trip Indiana, 78-75, in college basketball games last night.

Although Michigan chalked up its third win in as many starts — all at home, coach Dave Strack was not pleased.

"We played as expected, well enough to win, but not as efficient for 40 minutes as I would have liked," said Strack.

The Big Ten defending champions, No. 2 in the nation, were off in their foul shooting, the same as in the previous 108-70 victory over Bowling Green.

REJECT CHARITY

The 37-point spread between the Wolverines and Ball State might have been even larger had Michigan been sharp at the foul line. The Wolverines made 11 of 28 shots.

"I can't understand it," said Strack. It's usually good. That kind of foul shooting can be fatal."

★ ★ ★

Against Bowling Green, Michigan shot 16 of 29 free throws.

Otherwise, Michigan had a soft time with Ball State in another tuneup for threatening Wichita here Wednesday night.

Six men, led by Cazzie Russell's 22 points, scored in double figures as Strack emptied his bench.

BOARD CONTROL

The taller Wolverines, dominating the backboards, got to an early lead over the invaders from Indiana and never lost it. They led at the half 63-35.

★ ★ ★

The Wolverines' 45 field goals represented 52.3 per cent shooting. Oliver Darden took down 18 rebounds, topping that department. Greg Truex led Ball State with 17 points.

Bruce Rodwan led the Titans with 26 points on 8 of 12 from the field and 10 of 12 free throws. Dorie Murrey was held to 6 field goal attempts and hit 3 but added 16 of 18 free throws for 22 points. Max Walker led Indiana with 20 points on 9 of 19 and 2 of 2.

★ ★ ★

Detroit wrapped Indiana in a tight man-to-man defense and used only six men. Indiana used a zone until the middle of the second half, then switched to man-to-man and cut an 11-point margin to 3.

The Titans led all the way after taking a 33-32 advantage with 7:19 left in the first half. It was 50-43 at halftime. Detroit hit 20 of 47 shots, Indiana 29 of 79.

Suspended Fighter Has Short Flurry

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —The World Boxing Association, which really doesn't take in much of the globe, suspended Zora Folley several months ago because he wouldn't fight Bob Foster.

Except for a flurry in the 10th round, the stone-faced Folley didn't fight Foster here Monday night, even though he'd agreed to the bout and was taken off suspension.

Oh, it was billed as a big match — with Folley the No. 2 heavyweight contender in the WBA rankings and Foster the No. 3 light-heavy. But somebody forgot to tell Folley he was supposed to do something besides stand in the ring.

Nevertheless, the 33-year-old Arizonan, weighing 212¼, scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Foster, who was 31 pounds lighter.

With a minute go to in the 10th round, Folley cracked Foster good and the 26-year-old fighter was reeling. He backpedaled the rest of the round, although he was groggy.

Dutriex scored it nine rounds for Folley, none for Foster and one even. Judge Lucien Joubert had it 6-3-1, Judge Ernest Cojoe 8-1-1 and The Associated Press 6-3-1.

"I thought I had him," Folley said afterwards about the 10th round. "The punch didn't travel far, but it caught him on the chin."

Football Coaching Changes Under Way

By The Associated Press

Gomer Jones is out at Oklahoma, Dave Hart is in at Pitt and the annual game of musical chairs in the football coaching ranks is well under way.

Jones resigned at Oklahoma and Hart, a Navy assistant, was hired at Pitt in rapid fire order Monday, while Dartmouth's Bob Blackman continued to weigh the possibilities of a shift to Iowa.

★ ★ ★

All of which just pointed up the annual post-season shifting of major college coaching jobs, just getting underway this season.

Here's a thumbnail sketch of the situation at the moment:

Pitt—John Michelosen was fired Nov. 24 after a miserable 3-7 season. Hart, an assistant at Navy, was hired to fill the vacancy Monday.

Oklahoma—Jones quit Monday after a 3-7 record that was the worst in the school's history. He remains as athletic director. Job is open.

Iowa—Jerry Burns and his entire staff were fired Nov. 16 — with one game still to go — after losing all seven Big Ten games in a 1-8 season. Job is open, and Dartmouth's Blackman appears to have the inside track.

★ ★ ★

Duke—Bill Murray quit Nov. 20 moments after Blue Devils whipped North Carolina 34-7 for a 6-4 record. Job is open.

Tulane—Tommy O'Boyle quit Nov. 24 after disastrous 62-0 rout by Louisiana State in season finale. Job is open.

Hart, 38, was given a three-year contract at Pitt. Salary terms were not disclosed. Pitt Athletic Director Frank Carver said Hart was picked "because he is aggressive and articulate."

Michelosen, who had a 55-49-7 record in his 11 years as head coach, has been offered another job at Pitt, his alma mater.

NO INDICATION

There has been no indication who Jones' successor might be, but he said:

"I think it's probably good for football at Oklahoma to have somebody new. I would imagine it would be much better to have someone who hasn't been connected with the university."

The selection of a coach there — if he's currently a head coach — and Blackmans' decision, could open up even more jobs.

Blackman, whose Dartmouth team had a 9-0 season and won its fourth Ivy League title in eight years, has admitted he is "seriously considering an offer at Iowa."

AP Photofax

QUITS SOONERS — After one of the poorest seasons in Oklahoma history, Gomer Jones resigned yesterday as head football coach with two of a four year contract remaining. He will continue as the school's athletic director.

BOWLING

The 700 series continue to mount at North Hill Lanes in the Wednesday Night Classic League.

Little Joe Myers followed his 708 of the preceding week with a 739 last Wednesday to boost the National Twist Drill team to a four-point sweep of Potere Funeral Home.

Myers had 257-246-236; but had to share the spotlight with Bill Johns of the North Hill team. The veteran rapped the pins for a 289-229-205—723 performance.

Johns' 289 was his second game and decided the match by just one pin over Robertson Builders. In all, 14 league members hit 602 or better.

There was a scoring slump in the Wednesday Nite "A" League as just five men made the "600" level. The top scorer was Bob Harris of the Wolverine Entertainers who posted 235-230—622.

* * *

Loop-leading Frayer's Home Furnishings won eight points and built its lead to 10 points led by Bill Crocker's 200-210—601. Floyd Thornton of Wolverine had 214-225—603.

Led by Bill Easlick's 230-224—676, Don Plumb's 237-231—652 and Joe Hogan's 254, the team recorded new season team highs of 1058 and 3039.

* * *

City Cagers in Test Run

The City Parks and Recreation Department held the first trial run of its three-league adult basketball program last night at three sites.

The American League winners included the All-Stars, Booth Homes and McDonald's Drive-In. In the National League, Highland Campus Amigos Club and Tasty Bakery posted wins.

The department has tentatively assigned seven teams to Class A, seven to Class B and four to the "C" International League. All games presently count in the regular season standings unless there proves to be an improper alignment.

* * *

The 18-team program is the city's biggest men's basketball lineup in several years.

TOP GAME

Last night's top game saw Booth Homes top the No. 1 Unbeatables team, 70-62, aided by 27-6 first-period edge. Brothers Roger and Gary Hayward had 21 points each. Roy Couser's 19 and Cliff Benson's 17 paced the losers.

McDonald's whipped the Packers, 80-55; and the All-Stars toppled the Auburn Heights Campus quintet, 56-46, despite 19 points by Bryan Boss of the losers.

In National League play, the Highland Campus entry ripped Stanfill Sinclair, 58-35, as Gary Ross hit 22 points for the collegians. The Amigos Club blasted the No. 2 Unbeatables, 61-30, with Earl McKee's 12 points topping the scoring.

Messiah Baptist Church forfeited to Tasty Bakery.

* * *

International League activity tonight at Madison JHS has Autobahn Motors playing UAW No. 2 at 7 o'clock and Coulacos Insurance tangling with the All Stars at 8.

Backcourt Men Now Dominate NBA Scoring

Five of the top six scorers in the NBA are backcourt men, official league statistics revealed today. The only big man among the leaders is perennial scoring champ Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, who is third with 689 points in 21 games.

* * *

Jerry West of Los Angeles leads the pack with 841 points and a 32.3 per-game average. The Lakers ace has played five more games than Chamberlain, however, and Wilt's 32.8 average is the top mark.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson is the No. 2 scorer with 723 points while ball-handlers Don Ohl of Baltimore, Dick Barnett of New York and Guy Rodgers of San Francisco hold down the fourth, fifth and sixth spots behind Chamberlain.

* * *

The top rebounder is Cincinnati's Jerry Lucas, who also is No. 7 in scoring with 564 points. Lucas has hauled down 579 rebounds, an average of 23.2 per game. Rodgers, averaging just under 11 assists per start, is the leading playmaker.

The scoring leaders:

| | FG | FT | Pts | Avg. |
|---|---|---|---|---|

Namath Classified 4-F

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (UPI) —Local draft board No. 24 said Monday New York Jets' quarterback Joe Namath has been classified 4-F because of a physical disability.

Francis Replaces Sullivan

Rangers' GM Takes Over Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Francis, who traded angry words with a goal judge and swapped punches with a fan two weeks ago, has a tougher fight on his hands today.

The scrappy New York Ranger general manager has the task of guiding the Blues back up the National Hockey League ladder after replacing Red Sullivan as coach Monday. It could be more easily said than done.

* * *

Francis, who has rebuilt the club with a series of major trades in the 13 months since he took over as general manager, takes command with the Rangers in the midst of a six-game winless string that has dropped them back to fifth place, only two points in front of cellar-dwelling Boston.

* * *

New York has managed just one victory in the last 10 starts and only two in the last 14. Sullivan, starting his third full season as coach, was caught in the middle of the slide, blaming first the players for not giving 60 minutes of effort in every game and then backing off and blaming himself for overworking the team.

TALENT SCOUT

Sullivan, who remains with the club as coordinator of player personnel and talent scout, was downcast over the change.

"Emile had to make a move," he said. "I gave the job everything I had and I'm only sorry I couldn't have done better. I was paid to win hockey games and we just weren't winning them and that's the name of this game — winning."

* * *

"We're making the change with the hope that we can get the club moving along toward the Stanley Cup playoffs," Francis said. "We've hit a bad streak recently but we feel the club can snap out of it."

Sullivan agreed. "This was the time to make a coaching change," Red said, "before it was too late. I think we still have a good shot at the playoffs and if anybody can do the job, Emile's the guy."

* * *

Emile's also the guy who nearly precipitated a full-scale riot in Madison Square Garden two weeks ago when he raced from his side arena seat to argue with goal judge Arthur Reichert over a disputed call.

The scrappy ex-goaltender got into a squabble with some fans and a dozen Ranger players had to scale the glass partition to rescue their diminutive boss. The incident cost Francis and his players $1,800 in fines from NHL President Clarence Campbell.

Cage Nets Given to Winning Coach

By The Associated Press

South Carolina's Frank McGuire is baiting his fish hook today after making the first big catch of the college basketball season.

McGuire's Gamecocks stunned Duke, the nation's third-ranked team, 73-71 Monday night and jubilant South Carolina students showed their appreciation by cutting down the nets at each basket and presenting them to the coach.

"Now I can go fishing," quipped McGuire, who has started his second season at South Carolina with a 3-0 mark after a dismal 6-17 finish last winter.

When McGuire said before the season that he'd settle for 10 victories he wasn't counting on the powerful Blue Devils for one of them. But soph Frank Standard's field goal with 15 seconds to play pulled off the upset, capping a second-half comeback that wiped out a seven-point Duke lead.

The Blue Devils, who play successive games against top-ranked UCLA this weekend led until Al Salvadori's three-point play gave South Carolina a 71-69 edge with less than a minute to play. Duke's Steve Vacendak tied it at 71-71 before Standard hit the game-winning shot.

Bradley No. 9 overpowered New Mexcio State 89-78 in the only other games involving members of The Associated Press' Top Ten.

Gary Gray scored 36 points and Jerry Lee Wells 35 as Oklahoma City blasted Chicago Loyola 106-89 for its fourth straight victory and five other clubs went over the 100-point mark.

Orioles Trade Two Players for Reliever

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles traded outfielder Jackie Brandt and pitcher Darold Knowles to the Philadelphia Phillies Monday for reliever Jack Baldschun in an effort to strengthen their bullpen.

* * *

It was the third trade in recent weeks for Baltimore. The Orioles previously traded Norm Siebern to the California Angels for outfielder Dick Simpson and catcher John Orsino to the Washington Senators for Woody Held, a utility man.

Former Navy Star 'Tentative' Cowboy

By The Associated Press

The ex-Navy quarterback, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1963, signed an optional contract with Dallas of the National Football League Monday, but it will be at least four years before he can climb into a Cowboy uniform.

Staubach, who graduated from Annapolis in 1964, is legally bound to serve in the Navy until June, 1969. The Cowboys made it clear that their agreement does not obligate Staubach to leave the Naval service.

U.S. Policy Holding Reins on Declaration of War in Viet Nam

(EDITOR'S NOTE: There has been no formal declaration of war by the United States even though more than 165,000 American men are stationed there and are actively participating in the fighting, many being killed and wounded. Why not? The reasons are explored in this article.)

* * *

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has used the word "war" to describe the conflict in Viet Nam, but he has not sought a formal declaration from Congress.

The following question-and-answer discussion summarizes the administration's policy against seeking such a declaration:

Q. As the fighting in Viet Nam expands, is it possible that the President will ask Congress to declare war formally?

A. There's no visible chance of this now, according to present administration thinking. Top officials argue such a step would make the whole situation harder to handle — especially U.S. efforts to limit the war and to achieve a negotiated settlement.

* * *

Developments obviously could force a review of this policy if the war were greatly enlarged.

USING POWERS?

Q. Isn't Johnson exercising powers which properly belong to Congress when he sends U.S. troops to fight and perhaps to die in a foreign country?

A. The Johnson administration's answer is no.

Officials cite these congressional actions in support of U.S. Viet Nam policy in the President's use of the authority they say he has under the Constitution:

* * *

In 1954, the Senate approved the Southeast Asian Defense Treaty — SEATO — 82-1. In August 1964, the Senate and House by combined votes of 512 to 2 adopted a resolution asserting U.S. readiness to use armed force if necessary to help South Viet Nam "in defense of its freedom."

MEASURES PASS

This year, the House passed 408 to 7 and the Senate 88 to 3 a $700-million appropriation asked by Johnson "to persist in our efforts to halt Communist aggression in South Viet Nam."

Q. How does the President get the power to commit U.S. fighting men to the war in Viet Nam?

CHARTER ACTION

A. Administration legal authorities say the President derives his basic authority from the constitutional provision which makes him commander in chief of the armed forces.

* * *

They say that more than 100 times, presidents have employed the armed forces abroad without a war declaration.

That was true in the Korean War, although President Harry S. Truman acted under the United Nations Charter and U.N. Security Council decisions.

Q. How did the United States reach its present stage of participation in the Vietnamese struggle without a declaration of war?

A. The process began 10 years ago and developed by slow stages until this last year of rapid escalation. Only in the last year has the war declaration issue arisen seriously in public or congressional discussion.

* * *

The French yielded control of Indochina in 1954. A conference at Geneva declared the independence of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, but recognized the temporary division of Viet Nam into the Communist north and anti-Communist south. Provisions to merge the two were never fulfilled.

TERROR CAMPAIGN

Viet Cong Communist guerrillas gradually developed a terror campaign in the South. President Dwight D. Eisenhower extended economic assistance and limited military aid to the south.

In late 1961, Kennedy made the basic decision to send military advisers in increasing numbers to assist the Saigon government in fighting the Viet Cong.

* * *

In 1964, North Viet Nam began to send regular army units to reinforce the guerrilla fighters in the south. Last January, the United States had 23,000 troops as advisers in Viet Nam.

ORDERED BOMBS

In February, with the war going badly for the anti-Communist forces, Johnson ordered bombing of North Viet Nam and a heavy buildup of U.S. troops in the south.

In July, U.S. forces, numbering about 75,000, switched from their declared assistance role to offensive combat alongside South Vietnamese forces.

A. Was a declaration of war against North Viet Nam seriously considered by the administration at any of these stages?

* * *

A. Apparently not, though officials say the issue has been talked about among policy-makers from time to time.

NOT SERIOUS?

Q. Why has such a step never been seriously considered?

A. Several arguments are advanced by those who support the nondeclaration policy.

The first is that a formal war declaration would probably provoke Communist China — and possibly the Soviet Union — into taking formal positions themselves and thus would risk converting the limited conflict into a major war.

* * *

A second argument is that the U.S. aim is not to destroy North Viet Nam but to compel it to stop trying to take over South Viet Nam by force.

INTERPRETATION

A war declaration, it is said, could be interpreted as a determination to destroy North Viet Nam.

Another argument is that a declaration of war would bring into operation many emergency laws which the President does not need for limited war.

Such laws deal with foreign money exchange, communications, security measures and defense information, domestic transportation and merchant shipments of aliens in the United States.

* * *

Q. What does the experience of Korea and Viet Nam mean for the future; is the practice of declaring war obsolete?

NOT OUT LOUD

A. No government official says so out loud but in the long run it could prove to be so.

Experience suggests that in similar future circumstances, the President might choose to follow the precedents set by Truman in Korea or by Johnson in expanding the U.S. combat role in Viet Nam step by step.

A nuclear war conceivably could develop slowly out of a declared nonnuclear war involving the great powers, but U.S. officials consider that unlikely.

* * *

The widely accepted concept of a nuclear war is that it would occur quickly, with missiles used immediately by both sides and with no time for a formal declaration.

POWER GREATER?

Q. Does presidential use of armed forces since World War II without a war declaration by Congress mean that the power of the President over the fateful issues of conflict is now greater than the power of Congress?

A. Administration officials say no because Congress still controls all the legislation, such as appropriation bills, which make it possible for the President to act.

Associates say Johnson has kept in close touch with congressional leaders on all major developments in Viet Nam to assure himself of strong congressional support in each stage.

* *

They also point out that Congress could at any time declare opposition to the President's Viet Nam policy.

But it is true that once U.S. prestige and U.S. troops are committed in a war — declared or not — Congress traditionally gives strong support to the President's leadership.

Ripe Bananas Cure Children's Ailments

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A 3-year-old child with what doctors call "anorexia nervosa" (absence of appetite, refusal to take food) not only refused all food but regurgitated liquid food fed through stomach tube. Finally the child was offered a ripe banana.

This proved acceptable, and then the child began to take other food in more or less normal amount. But when no banana was given, there was a relapse. Only when more banana was given did the child resume eating other food.

For obstinate chronic constipation in young infants or young children, the prescription is the same—ripe banana and plenty of it.

In the "Brady Baby Book" (35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I say: At the age of 4 or 5 months, begin feeding the baby ripe bananas daily.

SOLVES PROBLEM

Only a teaspoonful a day at first, gradually increased, week by week, until the baby takes half a banana at the age of 8 months. This solves the constipation problem and makes puny, sickly, badly nourished infants thrive.

Banana is an excellent source of vitamin A and vitamin C and a good source of vitamin B. Ripe raw banana also contains enough vitamin C to prevent and cure scurvy.

For instance, in the case of an infant 8 months old with scurvy (marked pallor, severe anemic, bleeding gums, rapid heart, tenderness of the legs which makes the baby cry when handled or moved), a banana-milk diet proved curative.

One ripe raw banana whipped into a pint of milk was the formula—such mixture constituted the diet—the baby took about half a pint of the mixture every four hours.

"When I was carrying my third child I read in your column about giving banana. Having had such a time with my first two with colic and constipation I decided to follow your advice.

"Had my baby at home on a Sunday and fed him banana on Monday. He has been a happy, healthy baby." (Mrs. B. G. M.)

* * *

Come, come, Mrs. M., you didn't follow my advice. I have never advised bananas for babies less than four months old — although I'll admit that perhaps that's because I'm old fashioned and hide-bound about it.

However, I hope I'm not too old to learn new tricks. If other mothers have had similar experience in feeding banana they should tell me about it for the sake of countless other babies who otherwise may not get their banana manana.

Little Is Known of Cong Health

Science Service

WASHINGTON — Although the American soldiers in Viet Nam reportedly have the best modern medical care, Surgeon Gen. of the Army Leonard D. Heaton, who has spent considerable time surveying the medical needs of the troops in Southeast Asia, admitted that he knew little of the health of the Viet Cong.

The Viet Cong, as well as many South Vietnamese, are immune to some viruses that affect U. S. men who have lived in a sanitary environment, he said.

Dysentery, malaria, hepatitis and other ailments that send Americans to the hospital apparently have little effect on soldiers who have grown up with these diseases and are no longer affected by them.

The greatest need medically, not surgically, is for newer malaria drugs and for a vaccine against hepatitis, Gen. Heaton explained.

* * *

Quinine is used against malaria viruses that have become resistant to synthetic drugs such as chloroquine. Gamma globulin is given to combat hepatitis.

10 Live Embryos Taken From 600-Pound Shark

BRANDENTON, Fla. (AP) — A Bradenton doctor has removed 10 live embryo sharks from their 11-foot, 600-pound mother after a pier-side operation with a skin diver's knife.

The shark, found on a trapline by a fishing pier owner, was killed after the surgery. The 10 offspring were reported well and jumping.

But they may not be able to afford the facilities, equipment and qualified teachers to train these potential leaders.

That makes it our problem.

We urgently need leaders to plan wise use of our national resources, manpower and human skills.

A loss in leadership would be a threat to our economy. It would affect jobs, opportunities, living standards.

Keep our leaders coming, by helping colleges meet the cost of educating them. Give to the college of your choice.

Trading Is Heavy

Stock Mart Rebounds Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rebounded sharply today, recouping virtually all of the losses taken in yesterday's selloff on news of higher interest rates. Trading was heavy.

The snapback was especially dramatic in the Dow Jones industrial average, which surged ahead 11.02 to 950.55 — but a six-point jump by du Pont was a big factor in this out-size advance.

★ ★ ★

Wall Street returned to its old favorites which have been pacemakers this fall — color televisions, other electronics, aerospace defense stocks, airlines, photographic and office equipment issues.

The boost in the Federal Reserve discount rate to 4½ per cent from 4 per cent was viewed more calmly today than yesterday. It was reported that most businessmen favored the rate rise.

AP AVERAGE UP

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 2.4 at 353.1, almost recovering its loss of 2.6 yesterday. Industrials were up 4.8, rails .7 and utilities .7.

Prices advanced in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex gained 7, Alloys Unlimited and Kaneb Pipe Line (ex dividend) about 3 each, Solitron Devices nearly 4, National Video more than 3, Ansul, Dennison and Hycon Manufacturing about 2 each. Ahead about a point were Valley Metallurgical, American Book, Atlantic Research, Chromalloy, Data-Control Systems and Mohawk Airlines. Radiation Inc. lost 1.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds edged higher.

Meany Blasts Wage 'Greed'

Says Bankers Spurred Interest Rate Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's labor leaders, gathering in San Francisco today, made it clear they want a bigger share of America's prosperity for their members.

The tone of the AFL-CIO's 10th anniversary convention was set by the organization's president, George Meany, who criticized what he called "the naked and ruthless greed of American financial interests."

He demanded "a better division of America's riches" in the form of bigger wage increases out of soaring profits; he blamed "greedy Wall Street bankers" for forcing up interest rates.

He said the bankers influenced the Federal Reserve Board's increase in discount rates from 4 to 4.5 per cent.

DISCOUNT RATE

The discount rate is the amount charged by the Federal Reserve System on money it loans to member banks.

"It means higher interest rates for everybody and every single activity in America that calls for credit," Meany declared.

He spoke Monday to the federation's Maritime Trades Department convention in advance of the opening of the AFL-CIO convention, which starts Thursday.

Meany said the same U.S. financial interests that influenced the Federal Reserve Board action also dominate federal shipping policies which he blamed for the recent sinking of the passenger ship Yarmouth Castle with a loss of 90 lives.

HITS ATTITUDE

He described the attitude of U.S. financiers as: "The hell with the workers, the hell with the country and the hell with everything else."

Meany said the Yarmouth Castle, which burned and sank in the Caribbean last month, was registered by its owners under the Panamanian flag to avoid higher U.S. labor costs and stricter safety regulations.

Declaring that the AFL-CIO was stronger than ever with a record 12.8 million members in its 130 affiliated unions, Meany said the labor movement is the only force that can curb irresponsible businessmen.

"Anyone who thinks the American trade movement is getting too strong, let them think twice," he told the meeting.

Private Plane Crashes, Killing Six in Kentucky

HINDMAN, Ky. (AP) — A private plane flying through haze and light snow flurries over the eastern Kentucky mountains crashed at the head of a hollow on Puncheon Creek, killing its six occupants, all from New York State.

The wreckage was found Monday night, three hours after the craft went down apparently without sending a distress signal.

★ ★ ★

State police said the bodies of pilot Earl S. Rumsey, Liverpool, N.Y.; and copilot nAthony Rusyniak, 40, Baldwindsville, N.Y. were taken to the Appalachian Regional Hospital at Harlan for an autopsy.

The four passengers were officials of the Agway Corp., a farmer sales cooperative in New York State, and were en route in the chartered plane to Chattanooga, Tenn., to undergo training in accounting methods.

Price Tactics Split LBJ, Board Chief

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—What's the best way to keep prices from rising too high too fast?

DAWSON

President Johnson thinks the way is to put government pressure on businessmen and bankers to hold the price and interest lines. William Mc Chesney Martin thinks the better way is to take some of the speculative steam out of the money and credit markets.

★ ★ ★

Each is going his own way now. And the country should soon see which method works the better, or if neither works.

The President has used federal defense stockpiles, White House supervision of labor negotiations, controls dubbed voluntary against the sending by businessmen or bankers of U.S. dollars abroad where they can earn higher returns. The President thinks all this will hold the economy on the fairly steady upward course of the last five years.

DIFFERENT TACK

The Federal Reserve Board is taking a different tack. It is raising the discount rate, usually regarded as the pacesetter for the cost of borrowing. It thinks that will cool down an incipient speculative boom that could send prices sky high if too much money and credit is floating around.

Will other interest rates rise fast? Some may follow the Fed's discount rate, which is what it charges banks for money they borrow to lend to businessmen.

But many observers note that interest rates have been going up steadily for some time. In that sense, the Fed is following the trend, not setting it.

Yields of U.S. Treasury securities have gone well above the 4.5 per cent which the Federal Reserve will now charge the banks. The commercial banks themselves have been lending to most businessmen well above the 4.5 per cent prime rate they list officially.

RATES UP

Interest rates that lending institutions pay for deposits also have gone up in recent months. Savers have had a choice: higher rates at the commercial and savings banks and the savings and loan associations, or corporate and government securities paying yields unmatched for returns there.

And for Americans there was a temptation to send their savings abroad to get still higher returns there.

Interest rates in themselves don't determine consumer prices. But the bankers say they have a long-term effect. That is because a large supply of cheap money and credit gives the nation lots of dollars with which to bid up prices in the marketplace. An abundance of money also can feed speculation. And that usually leads to a big boom, with rising prices, followed by a bust.

The President obviously believes no such speculative boom is in the making and that no monetary check rein is called for. He thinks government persuasion can hold prices and wages in line. And he fears that Martin, by moving toward tighter money and credit, may discourage some of the plans for expansion counted upon to keep the economy climbing in 1966.

BASIC CONFLICT

The conflict of ideas is a basic one. It puts the new economics of the Johnson administration at odds with the conservative monetary policies of the bankers. The President thinks inflation can be held in check by government-business cooperation. Martin thinks inflation can be checked by keeping the money supply a bit less plentiful. It has been expanding rapidly this year to record levels.

Consumers hope one or the other will work — that neither prices nor interest rates will rise to burdensome heights. Some suspect the two ideas might even work together toward the same desired goal.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 60-years-old, in poor health and receiving a disability pension of $115 a month. I would like to buy stock that would let me add even a little more to my pension. I bought San Diego Imperial at 8, which makes no cash payments. Should I hold or sell and lose money? I have $9,350 in the bank at four per cent interest and a paid up house. Any assistance will be appreciated." H. L.

A. I would sell San Diego Imperial and replace it with a cash dividend-paying stock. Your loss would be negligible.

I suggest a switch into Libbey-Ownes-Ford Glass, yielding 5.2 per cent. I believe you should leave $5,000 in the savings bank for contingencies and invest the balance in Maytag, the great Midwestern appliance company, which also yields 5.2 per cent, and Puerto Rican Cement, selling on a 5.1 per cent basis.

Q. "I am 69, and my wife is 67. I am retired, drawing $129 per month and earning $1,200 per year. We are living comfortably on our income and our home is paid for. We have $7,000 Series E bonds, some of which are 20-years-old and $7,000 in savings. Should we put $3,000-$5,000 in higher quality common stocks as a hedge against inflation?" T.M.

A. Since all your savings are fixed as to principal, you are indeed vulnerable to further inflation which appears to be inevitable as the Viet Nam war is stepped up. Your Series E bonds have been extended and are now yielding 3¾ per cent, if held to maturity.

I would keep these bonds, and withdraw $3,000 from savings, which I would put in equal dollar amounts of American Hospital Supply and FMC Corporation. Each of these stocks has sufficient growth potential to give you some inflation protection.

Grand Trunk Tonnage Up

The auto industry's current record year and Michigan's buoyant economy were reflected yesterday in a report to the board of directors of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

★ ★ ★

Harry A. Sanders, GTW's vice president and general manager, reported a carload freight revenue tonnage increase of 1.2 million tons, or 12.5 per cent, in the first nine months of 1965.

"This increase," he said, "was principally in commodities directly associated with the automotive industry."

Automotive bi-level and tri-level rail traffic was up almost one-third over the same period in 1964. Piggyback traffic improved steadily, calling for sizable increases in Grand Trunk's fleet of flat cars.

Nearly 700 freight cars, many specially designed to meet shippers' needs were delivered, or are to be delivered by year's end, Sanders said. New equipment expenditures amounted to $20 million.

Brauer was formerly a senior production engineer for the Buick Motor division of GMC, where he was responsible for reorganization of several production departments and coordination of model changes.

Unconscious Pilot Flies 2,000 Miles

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—The West German air force announced today it will investigate the crash of a supersonic jet fighter which apparently flew 2,000 miles with an unconscious pilot at the controls.

The aircraft, an E104G Super Starfighter, crashed last night four miles south of Narvik, northern Norway, after a nonstop flight from Noervenich near Bonn. The pilot was dead when he was removed from the wreckage.

An air force spokesman said the pilot, a 33-year-old major, apparently lost consciousness shortly after he took off from Noervenich air force base for a night navigation flight over West Germany. The pilot's name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The air force announced it had dispatched an investigation commission to Norway to determine the cause of the crash.

★ ★ ★

Radio communication with the pilot failed after he passed over Dortmund, 60 miles northeast of Noervenich. He presumably was already unconscious from an undetermined cause, the spokesman said.

HEADING NORTH

The German air force, tracking the supersonic airplane, alerted the Danish and the Norwegian air forces when it became apparent the plane was heading north. The aircraft carried no arms.

Danish and Norwegian pilots failed to make voice contact with the German pilot and when closing in on the German plane noticed that he was slumped forward against the cockpit dashboard, the air force spokesman said.

The pilot apparently used the jet's autopilot. Air force sources said this possibly explained why the plane flew on until it crashed four miles south of Narvik with its fuel exhausted.

Seek Estimates in Waterford

The Waterford Township Board last night authorized Johnson & Anderson, engineering consultants, to make cost estimates of two proposed street blacktopping projects.

Streets involved in the special assessment district projects are Lynn, Woodbine, Sylvan Shores, Elsinore and Shoreview.

In other business, Ivan Craycraft of 90 S. Josephine, Waterford Township, submitted the top bid of $1,001 for lot 626 of Huron Gardens Subdivision, which the board accepted.

A request to rezone from RO-1 to C-2 a parcel of land on Telegraph between Haddrill and Elizabeth Lake for the establishment of a restaurant was introduced.

★ ★ ★

Recommended for approval by both the Township Planning Commission and Oakland County Coordinating Zoning and Planning Committee, the proposal will be acted on at next Monday's meeting.

Construction in Waterford Tops $1-Million Mark in November

The estimated cost of new construction in Waterford Township last month topped the $1-million mark and raised to $14,143,854 the total for the first 11 months of this year.

★ ★ ★

Altogether, 112 building permits were issued last month for construction worth an estimated $1,218,772 or $733,518 more than the previous November when 74 permits were granted.

According to E. R. Lawson, building inspector, 46 of these permits were issued last month for construction valued at $802,100.

TOPS LAST NOVEMBER

Issuance of six building permits for commercial development estimated at $256,450 also was a factor in last month's impressive total.

Included are a restaurant on Elizabeth Lake Road, $70,000; a store building on M59, $65,000; a carport sales business on Dixie Highway, $53,950; a boat storage establishment on Cass - Elizabeth, $50,000 and a trailer sales business on M59, $16,000.

Other permits issued last month were 10 for home additions, $23,850; 19 for home remodeling, $24,995; 23 for garages, $25,602; two for commercial remodeling, $4,000; one for fire repair, $1,500; one for a gas tank, $400 and one for a sign, $375.

Corrections Chief Quits Over Salary

LANSING (UPI) — State Corrections Director Gus Harrison has submitted his resignation, reportedly in order to accept a civil service job in the same department.

Commission Chairman Max Biber of Detroit said yesterday that Harrison submitted the resignation for "a variety of personal reasons," including his pay.

Biber added that Harrison will be offered a post as deputy director of field services for the Corrections Department.

Both Harrison's present job and the deputy director job pay $20,000 a year. However, the deputy's job offers retirement pay and other fringe benefits.

★ ★ ★

Biber said Harrison, who has been department director for 12 years, is under considerable pressure to withdraw his resignation.

ON VACATION

Harrison was reported to be on a one-week vacation and was unable to be contacted.

Officials in Gov. George Romney's office said they had not been informed of the resignation as yet.

Romney recommended that the correction director's salary be boosted to $24,000 annually after governmental reorganization. But the Legislature rejected the pay raise.

NEWS BY CANDLELIGHT — One link in emergency procedures which kept the flow of news moving at New York City's Associated Press office during the recent Northeastern power failure was candlelight. A staff newsman phoned the running story to Washington, which took over as a central transmitting point for the national wire circuit.

Camera Angles

Pictures of a Blackout

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

When lights go out, does photography die?

That question confronted thousands of camera fans the night of the "Big Blackout," the night which darkened northeast America in the largest power failure in history.

Moments after the sudden darkness, flickering pinpoints of light appeared throughout the powerless 80,000 square miles as man-made stars of matches, candles and flashlights probed the mystery.

And with the flickering lights, no matter how inadequate, the question was answered as photography came alive again.

The old adage, "If you can see it, you can photograph it," proved true again — provided you had a camera handy and made an attempt to use it.

USE DARKNESS

It was not a case of shooting by available light, but of shooting by available darkness.

To tell the visual story of resourceful men and women carrying on vital duties in hospitals, transportation, police stations, newspapers, radio and communication fields, pictures had to show them as they worked — by candlelight, civil defense lamps and moonlight.

★ ★ ★

Flash might have been used effectively perhaps if the flash unit were placed low, off the camera, to create high shadows and a mystery-light feeling.

MOST AUTHENTIC

It meant experimenting with the low end of the shutter speed scale and trying half-second, one-second and longer time exposures.

When the power paralysis hit New York, I was in the Associated Press office in Manhattan's Rockefeller Center.

It was most heartening — almost inspirational — to see how quickly all necessary activities were detoured into alternative channels to keep the news flowing in a "service by candlelight." It was a sight to remember . . . and to record.

BORROWS CAMERA

But I had to borrow a camera first, for, despite years of sermonizing on the advantages of always having a camera handy, mine was "safely" at home.

We toured the AP office and recorded the emergency news operations by candle and flashlight by exposing for two and three seconds each.

LONGER PERIOD

In processing, the film was developed for six minutes instead of four minutes. If an error was made, I preferred it to be on the side of overexposure and overdevelopment.

Sure enough, the negatives were quite dense in the highlights but they could be printed. If they have been underexposed or underdeveloped to the same degree, they could not have been printed.

A graphic pictorial story has undoubtedly been recorded on that unforgettable night by thousands of photographers in their individual enrivonments in the eight states and two Canadian provinces affected by the blackout.

It was an experience that brought out the versatility and adaptability of cameras and photographers in emergency situations and added another page of memorable pictures to the photographic record book.

Last Big Ship Clears Seaway

Rush Ends to Escape Usual Winter Freeze

MONTREAL (AP) — The last ocean-going ship in the St. Lawrence Seaway cleared the St. Lambert locks early today, ending the annual rush to escape the winter freeze-up.

Five lake ships were still moving up the Seaway to winter in the Great Lakes. But the water at the St. Lambert locks, usually the first to freeze, was still only 35 degrees compared with 32 at the same time last year.

★ ★ ★

The 13,000-ton Norwegian tanker Anina was the last of the "salties" to clear the Seaway and enter Montreal harbor. She was scheduled to start her trans-Atlantic voyage Thursday night.

There was still no sign of ice in the St. Lawrence River, and shipping was operating without hindrance.

CLOSED FRIDAY

Last year four ocean-going ships were trapped in the lakes when ice closed the Seaway before they could get out. The waterway closed officially on Friday, but was kept open on a day-to-day basis because the water temperature remained above freezing.

★ ★ ★

Other unfinished business included the 7,259-ton Greek freighter Protostatis, grounded at Kingston, Ont., and abandoned by her captain.

★ ★ ★

A Department of Transport official in Ottawa said Monday that the owners of the ship, abandoned here over the weekend, could be saddled with the cost of salvage.

He said Canadian law forbids owners to abandon a ship "while they are still responsible."

Ballet Star to Wed Italian Nobleman

ROME (AP) — Red-haired Anastasia Stevens, first American ever to dance with Moscow's Bolshoi Ballet, will marry an Italian nobleman, Aurelio Ferrari, in a yuletide wedding in Rome.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — The New Jersey American Legion has collected $50,000 worth of gifts for American servicemen in South Viet Nam, Commander William R. Huggard says.

Earl Sees Bull Business Enjoying a Bull Market

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The goofiest trip I've ever gone on as a saloon editor—except to cover a nudist convention—was to go calling on some bulls.

These were very exclusive bulls, as you won't catch me hanging out with any other kind. I visited the bull factory of the Black Watch Farms at Wappingers Falls, N.Y. where the genius of the bull business, Jack Dick, has some Angus bulls that are worth $1,000,000 or thereabouts for breeding purposes.

WILSON

So one noontime we're in the beautiful plane flying up the Hudson over Tappan Zee, Ossining, West Point, and Bear Mountain Bridge . . . and finally we're at Black Watch Farms talking to Jack Dick who's surely a New York rancher if I ever saw one.

He's whipping us around the farm in his Cadillac and talking about "recessive characteristics" of the bulls—and "favorable rate of depreciation"—because a bull does depreciate, let's face it—and Jack Dick says right out, "Perhaps I am not the bucolic picture of a gentleman in a straw hat leaning against a tree."

He says all the bulls and the girl cow, too, are IBM-indexed, and the girl cows are factories for calves. If she isn't expecting by the time she's 18 months old, a girl cow's name comes up mud on the IBM computer, and she's considered naughty, and she's advised she'd better get with it, sister.

'Little Pig' Gets Queen Treatment

HOLBROOK, Mass. (AP) — This little piggie went to market — and this piggie, Sandra by name, stayed home.

Sandra, an 800-pound blond, is enjoying life secure in the fact that she will not end up as a side of bacon. Her daily bread is 20 pounds of cake and 10 pounds of choice garbage.

★ ★ ★

She is a Chester White sow and she has enjoyed queenly status since she reached 200 pounds.

Her owners, Fred Padula and Joseph Ruggiero, who have a livestock farm in this south shore Massachusetts town, vow "she will die of old age and we'll bury her right here."

CHASED TRUCK

It began soon after she was born in 1962. As a pigling, Sandra ran after her owners' truck as it drove away and they would have to hoist her aboard.

Sandra didn't know it, but she was getting the best garbage to eat — collections from local hospitals. Ruggiero was priming her for his own freezer.

★ ★ ★

But when her number was called — at 200 pounds — Padula begged his partner to spare her. Ruggiero gave in.

Sandra stays in her own pen where she spends most of her day snoozing, half submerged in comfortable sawdust and wood shavings.

NO HOGWASH

Her diet of bakers' cakes is no hogwash. It is unsold surplus returned to baking companies after one or two days on the shelves.

Sandra, now three years old, still comes when her owners call her by name. But she is too heavy to chase after their truck anymore. "We'd need a derrick to pick her up now," Padula said.

★ ★ ★

Ruggiero says Sandra could reach 1,000 pounds and both partners are worried she might have a heart attack.

"We may have to get her on a diet," Padula said. "She's getting to be a real hog."

Junior Editors Quiz on EELS

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: We do not know the exact nature of the instinct which causes a big eel which has lived for some years in an inland pond (1) to slip into the outlet stream one autumn night (2) and begin the long journey toward the sea.

Eels are lovers of warmth and darkness. They are born in the deep waters of the semi-tropical Sargosso Sea (check with map).

Does some vague memory or yearning for this place of their birth stir them? All we know is that they follow the movement of the streams into the rivers and down to the sea.

The eels which have lived in the ponds are females; at the sea's edge they are joined by the males, who have lived in brackish marshes. Now great numbers of eels head toward the area where sargosso weed floats in patches on the water (3 and 4).

Meanwhile, eels from the streams of the old world have also been moving toward the Sargosso Sea. Here, female eels lay millions of eggs which hatch into tiny transparent larvae (4).

By some amazing instinct, the old world larvae know to head eastward to reach the rivers from which their parents came, while the American larvae turn to the west and northwest.

After a year, the little creatures, now 3 inches long and called elvers, reach the rivers. Now the female elvers move to some upland pond, and the cycle begins again.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Cut out this article and picture and paste it in your scrapbook on animals or nature. As you think over this life story of the eel, you may come to regard it as one of the most mysterious and remarkable of nature's many wonders.

Door Rap Fails; 'Mama' Doesn't

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Bob Fain recalls the time a friend, who travels extensively, came home late and without his keys.

He rapped at the door but couldn't raise anyone; the wife and children were asleep.

She awoke.

Gemini 7 to Answer Medical Questions

By RONALD THOMPSON
AP Aerospace Writer

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex.—As the strange world of space gradually puts its imprint on the Gemini 7 astronauts, the answer to a critical question in the U.S. program comes closer to reality.

★ ★ ★

Can man survive a 14-day flight to the moon, the longest now planned by the United States?

In search for assurance man need not fear space, doctors have turned the two-week voyage of Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. into the most ambitious medical study ever made of astronauts in flight.

★ ★ ★

The medical package boils down to seven basic experiments probing such questions as: How well do astronauts sleep while darting around the world? Do their hearts get lazy and do their bones become brittle?

MEDICAL SURVEY

"No question about it," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, the flight's medical director. "This is the most important space flight to date. We have tried to put as much medical investigative effort into it as possible."

★ ★ ★

No serious problems have been detected thus far with medical gear aboard the Gemini 7 spacecraft.

Borman, whose depth of sleep has been measured since launch by four tiny sensors pasted to his scalp, apparently knocked the sensors loose Monday night. Earlier, one had dropped off. With Lovell's help, they were repasted.

NOTHING WRONG

Berry said nothing had gone wrong that could endanger the accomplishment of any of the experiments.

The most sophisticated experiment is a calcium balance study. Doctors want to know if astronauts lose excessive amounts of calcium from their bodies while in space, and over a long period of time should there be any fear their bones might become dangerously brittle.

★ ★ ★

X rays indicated that the Gemini 4 astronauts, Air Force Lt. Cols. James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, suffered bone calcium losses of 8 to 10 per cent in their heels and small fingers during their four-day flight.

Air Force Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. experienced a 12 to 15 per cent loss in the same ones during eight days aloft.

CALCIUM LOSS

Berry said that he did not think the calcium loss would ever be a liming factor to man's flight in space. "We know we can put people in positive calcium balance by giving them an adequate exercise program in their spacecraft," he said.

★ ★ ★

For exercise, the astronauts have a stretchable cord attached to the floor of the capsule. The exerciser also serves as an experiment to see if hearts get lazy while pumping blood in the relaxed state of weightlessness.

★ ★ ★

Inflatable cuffs that fill with oxygen two minutes out of every six have been strapped around each of Lovell's thighs to stimulate the reflexes that return blood.

Purpose of the pneumatic cuffs is to see if Lovell will be less susceptible to blood pooling in the legs, low blood pressure and dizziness once he returns earth's gravity. For comparison, Borman has no cuffs.

Gov. Scranton Won't Let It Happen Again

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton, who suffered a bloody nose several months ago when he walked into a transparent glass door, signed into law Monday a bill requiring that such doors in public places be painted or marked at eye level.

The bill was introduced shortly after Scranton had his encounter with the door.

Pays Tribute to Lost Comrades

Captain Recalls Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—Just before 8 o'clock on a sunny Sunday morning 24 years ago today, an aircraft skimmed low over Pearl Harbor.

★ ★ ★

The young officer from Batavia, N.Y. — just 18 months out of the Naval Academy — had just gone on watch 'topside.' He gave the plane only a passing glance as it zoomed overhead. Low-flying planes were commonplace.

Then hell broke loose.

TO VISIT MEMORIAL

Today Capt. Sidney Sherwin was to visit the memorial straddling the sunken hulk of the battleship Arizona and pay tribute to those of his comrades who lost their lives on Dec. 7, 1941.

★ ★ ★

Sherwin, 47, now holds a top job at Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard and lives in Honolulu with his wife, the former Jane Blewitt of Newport News, Va., and their three children. He lost 10 classmates in the 1941 attack —three on the Oklahoma and seven on the Arizona.

More than 1,100 U.S. Navy men remain entombed in the sunken Arizona. Another 900 were killed on other ships, 1,700 were injured, and eight battleships were sunk or disabled.

One of those which capsized was Sherwin's ship, the Oklahoma. Some 400 members of the crew were killed.

COULD SEE OIL STAIN

Sherwin, recalling the morning's events, said the plane he spotted came in so low "I could see the oil stain on the engine, and the pilot looking out over the side."

But he said he didn't see the "meatball" — the Japanese Rising Sun emblem — on the side "and I doubt whether it would have meant much at the time if I had."

★ ★ ★

Then the bombs began going off.

Sherwin said there was a lot of "milling around" but someone quickly got on the bullhorn to sound general quarters.

BATTLE STATIONS

"We headed forward to our battle stations and got into offi-cers' quarters," Sherwin recalled. "I felt the first explosion, then there were a number of others. We went up a ladder through an escape hatch."

Sherwin said that as he reached topside, the battleship began to roll slowly over on its side and settle in the mud. He said he neatly stacked his watch, wallet, shoes, and part of his uniform on the capsized vessel, then jumped into the oily water with two sailors.

★ ★ ★

He and one of the enlisted men, named Curtis, could swim. The other man couldn't so they towed him through the water to the battleship Maryland, moored alongside the Oklahoma at Ford Island.

Ford Island sits in the center of Pearl Harbor, and was the site of the now famed "Battleship Row."

SHAMBLES OF SHIPS

At this point, battleship row was a shambles of burning, exploding ships. Oil which gushed from them left a mark on the banks of Ford Island which can still be seen today. It looks like the scum around a bathtub. Even now oil slicks occasionally appear on the calm, blue surface of Pearl Harbor above the Arizona.

★ ★ ★

"I remember looking at the clock," he said. "It was 18 minutes since the attack began but it seemed a lot, lot longer."

Holiday Eve Fire Takes 17th Victim

She was Vera Pilkington, 44, of Nauvoo, Ill.

Mrs. Pilkington was flown here Nov. 30 with six other victims of the Keokuk fire. Susan Hoambrecker, 33, died here last Wednesday.

An inventor has patented a two-stage bullet which is claimed to make a single gun practical for hunting animals of any size.

HIGH POWER PELLET RIFLE
SUPER-POWER

ONLY $11.95
with free leather sling and can of pellets

Developed in one of Europe's great arms factories, this rifle has high penetration power, astonishing accuracy. It's powerful enough to knock over small game —

Ideal to sharpen your aim for bigger game hunting. All parts are precision-made of steel—no die-cast parts. Needs no cartridges, no pumping, easy to shoot. Opens like expensive English rifles. Opening action cocks powerful air compressor piston. You insert pellet, snap closed and shoot . . . with deadly accuracy and power. Genuine rifled barrel, adjustable rear sight. Stock is polished, hand-rubbed, Caucasian hard-wood.

6 Installations to Be Closed or Readjusted

Kincheloe Is Major Casualty in Defense Department Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Half a dozen military establishments in Michigan will be closed out or readjusted in operations under the Defense Departments new plans.

Kincheloe Air Force Base at Sault Ste. Marie, to be closed out by Oct. 1, 1970, is the chief casualty in the economy planning.

Kinchelee house a bombardment wing of the Strategic Air Command along with KC135 tanker planes and an air defense fighter intercepter squadron.

The base also is the headquarters for a missile squadron

at Raco, 20 miles away. The missile squadron will remain at Raco.

The action at Kincheloe will affect 2,128 military personnel and 253 civilian workers, and it is believed it will result in an annual savings of $14,633,000.

Other actions by the Defense Department in regard to Michigan bases included:

Detroit: The Naval and Marine Corp Reserve Training Center will be closed and its functions transferred to the Naval and Marine Training Center at Dearborn and Pontiac, at an annual saving of $96,-050.

★ ★ ★

Selfridge Air Force Base, Mount Clemens: One of the two fighter interceptor squadrons will be transferred to Richards Gebaur Air Force Base in Missouri and the 927th Reserve Troop Carrier Group will be disbanded.

★ ★ ★

The latter will be replaced at Selfridge by two Air National Guard groups now at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport. The reshuffle at Selfridge will result in the release of 436 military personnel for reassignment and the elimination of 133 civilian jobs, at an annual savings of $4,597,000.

WURTSMITH BASE

Wurtsmith Air Force Base at Oscoda: This base will receive a fighter interceptor squadron now stationed at Kincheloe which flies F106 planes and will replace a squadron at Wurtsmith now flying F101 planes. This will result in the employment of 73 additional personnel.

★ ★ ★

Battle Creek: The Naval Reserve training center will be closed by June 1970 and be transferred to the Naval and Marine Corp Reserve Training Center at Kalamazoo, at an annual savings of $53,460.

Bay City: The Naval Reserve Training Center will be closed and transferred to the Naval Reserve Training Center at Saginaw at an annual saving of $52,360.

Hospital Board Asks Two on Staff to Resign

'Acted Contrary to Procedures, Practice' in Deaths of Patients

Two anesthesiologists, involved in the ether-injection deaths last month of three patients, have been asked to resign from the staff of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Administrator Harry H. Whitlow announced yesterday the immediate resignations were sought because "certain members of the staff acted contrary to hospital procedures and practices."

Whitlow read a brief prepared statement after the noon meeting yesterday of the nine-member board of directors for the hospital.

★ ★ ★

CONFIRMS REPORT

However, he confirmed a report that, in the future, the hospital would administer anesthetic from individual doses, rather than prepare a batch for use in several operations.

Yesterday's board meeting was called by Whitlow to review the findings of an investigation by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Whitlow said: "It was most reassuring to learn that . . . Bronson's investigation paralleled our own inquiry into the unfortunate deaths and that there is no basis for criminal action.

'VITALLY CONCERNED'

"The administration is vitally concerned with the total findings of both investigations and has taken action to prevent, insofar as humanly possible, the conditions which led up to these accidental deaths.

"The administration does find that certain members of the staff acted contrary to the hospital proecdures and practices and, therefore, has requested the immediate resignations . . ."

Interest Rate Hike Draws New Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board's order boosting interest rates has drawn new congressional criticism after a meeting between President Johnson and board chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. produced no change in their opposing stands on the increase.

Some Democrats who attacked the board's Sunday decision, which raised interest rates to the highest level in 35 years, suggested the possibility of curbing the board's independent status.

But indications were that critics would vent their wrath against Martin in congressional hearings next month and subside temporarily to see what happens with the economy before proceeding further.

The board looks upon the increase as an anti-inflation move. The administration says higher rates may put a damper on the economy.

★ ★ ★

"He didn't address himself to changing my mind and I didn't address myself to changing his," Johnson told a news conference after his two-hour meeting at his Texas ranch with Martin and other economic advisers.

REAL THREAT

Martin said that while he was optimistic about the future of the economy, he looks on the threat of inflation as "a very real one." He said the board had moved to combat inflationary pressures.

"This is a matter of judgment," the Federal Reserve Board chief said, adding that the move "was not intended in any way to defy the President or the administration. The press ought not to cast me in that role," he said.

★ ★ ★

Johnson also said that "both of our positions have been clearly, fairly and accurately stated" and that he expected to continue to meet regularly with Martin.

OKAYS INCREASE

Specifically, the Federal Reserve Board authorized an increase from 4 to 4.5 per cent in the discount rate on interest charge by regional Federal Reserve banks on loans to member commercial banks, and an increase in the maximum interest banks may pay on specified time deposits of more than 30 days from 4.5 per cent to an all-time peak of 5.5 per cent.

The administration had opposed the increases, which are expected to have the general effect of eventually boosting borrowing costs throughout the economy — taking in such things as homes, cars and

LBJ, Aides Set for Viet Talks

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson moves closer today to Viet Nam policy decisions he has said will become known next month. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were called to the LBJ Ranch.

"We will discuss defense needs rather fully," Johnson said.

The President emphasized that no big decisions have yet been made in the wake of McNamara's inspection trip to Saigon last week.

He did not say when the decisions would be made.

★ ★ ★

Johnson did tell reporters that "until we do have peace, we are going to continue to help the people of South Viet Nam resist aggression and we are going to supply whatever men will be needed in that effort."

PUBLISHED REPORT

The subject came up after a reporter reminded the President of a published report from Saigon that Viet Nam troop increases possibly matching those of the Korean war were being discussed.

Some 500,000 U.S. troops were in Korea at one point, compared with 165,700 now in South Viet Nam.

"I wouldn't want to make any predictions or prognostications," Johnson said. "We no doubt between now and the first of the year will have to make plans for what changes will take place. But so far as I am aware, these plans have not been made yet, and these decisions have not been made."

Yanks Hit VC From the Air

Pound Possible Bases; Ground War Slackens

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fighters and bombers pounded suspected Red bases and supply routes in South Viet Nam today while ground fighting again slacked off.

A battle-scarred battalion of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division skirmished briefly with Communist forces on the jungle outskirts of the abandoned Michelin rubber plantation 40 miles northwest of Saigon while both sides were apparently searching for combat dead in the big battle they fought there Sunday.

The infantrymen captured one enemy trooper who identified himself as a North Vietnamese regular in a heavy weapons Cong regiment prowling the area, U.S. spokesmen said.

But U.S. and Vietnamese aircraft flew 408 strikes against suspected Viet Cong targets in the South and dropped 330 tons of bombs.

They smashed jungle village buildings and sank 14 sampans on the Viet Cong's river and canal supply routes, spokesmen said.

Off the Vietnamese coast, the 76,700-ton carrier Kitty Hawk sent aloft her jet fighter-bombers again after the crew battled a series of fires for three hours yesterday.

Two sailors died of smoke inhalation and 28 and a civilian were injured when flash fires broke out below decks near a munitions storage area while the carrier was taking on fuel from a tanker.

A two-seat F4C Phantom jet crashed 280 miles north of Saigon, apparently killing both crewmen. One ejected but his parachute failed and the other was believed to have died in the crash. Spokesmen said they did not think the supersonic plane was hit by ground fire.

The skirmish on the rubber plantation occurred as a 1st Division battalion, battered in the Sunday action, searched the area for three missing American bodies. They ran into a large Viet Cong group also apparently searching for its dead.

Fair, Not So Cold Is Local Forecast for Next 2 Days

The weatherman has decided to aid Cnristmas shoppers through Thursday. He promises fair and not so cold tonight with lows 22 to 28.

Sunny and warmer with highs 43 to 48 is tomorrow's forecast and Thursday is expected to be fair and mild.

Morning west to northwesterly winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour will become southwest tonight and tomorrow.

A frosty 18 was the low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 1 p.m. reading was 32.

Gemini Doubleheader

Early Rendezvous Hopes Up

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. sped serenely on around the world today as prospects brightened that America's great doubleheader space adventure could be performed a day earlier than planned.

Refreshed after another good night of sleep in quiet, drifting flight, Borman and Lovell were ordered to make the first of two shifts in the Gemini 7's orbital pattern in preparation for the historic meeting in the skies with Gemini 6.

Gemini 7 began its 43rd orbit at 9:37 a.m. EST.

But at Cape Kennedy, Fla., both rocket and spacecraft crews were running a full 24 hours ahead, and the possibility of a Sunday launch became a strong possibility.

FINAL DECISION

Flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. said a final decision would not have to be reached before Thursday, but in the meantime he instructed Borman and Lovell to make a preliminary maneuver toward bringing the Gemini 7 spacecraft into a circular orbit.

About noon, between Australia and Canton Island in the Pacific, during the 45th orbit of the 14-day marathon, Borman was to switch his space chariot into an elliptical orbit ranging from 145 to 196 miles.

If Gemini 6 is launched a day early, Borman will carry out another maneuver, Thursday that will bring the Gemini 7 into a circular orbit 185 miles from earth.

SPACECRAFT BOOSTER

This test requires both the spacecraft and booster to function together as they would in a regular countdown.

Air Force Lt. Col. Borman and Navy Cmdr. Lovell reported themselves in fine fettle when the tracksters at Carnarvon, Australia, called up this morning at the end of their sleep period.

For this flight, the last of Gemini's long-duration missions, must prove that men can function safely and well in the strange environment of space long enough to get to the moon and back.

OU Budgetary Request Made

Hearing Is Conducted With State Officials

Six representatives of Oakland University presented the school's 1966-67 operating budget of $4.5 million to the State Department of Administration, budget division, at a two-hour hearing in Lansing yesterday.

This is the first time OU has been alloted a hearing of its own. In the past, the university's proposed budget presentation has been linked with that of Michigan State University.

In addition to the operating budget, OU is requesting monies to cover two deficiency items: $348,150 for library improvement and $107,000 for the noncontributory retirement program for the nonprofessional staff.

Of the total, $209,000 is ear-

City to Consider Next Step in Downtown Traffic Plans

City Commissioners tonight are slated to consider an agreement with the Michigan State Highway Department for further revamping of downtown traffic patterns.

The city essentially has taken the biggest step by construction of the loop road, Wide Track Drive.

However, two other projects remain to complete the revamping of traffic flow. One is the construction of an interior loop road.

In other business, the commission is scheduled to act on a plan by the County Department of Public Works for construction of a sanitary trunk sewer along the city's north end.

Formerly planned as a city project, the proposed trunk sewer would connect and form part of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor system being proposed for eight Pontiac area communities.

The raises were announced last week.

Cite 'International Danger'

Soviets Up Defense Spending

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced a 5 per cent increase in its defense budget today because of what the finance minister called "conditions of international danger."

Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov told the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament, that 13.4 billion rubles will be spent on defense in 1966.

Many Western experts consider that the Soviet defense budget does not give an accurate picture of Soviet military spending since it does not cover all of the items normally included in the defense budgets of Western countries.

U.S. defense spending for 1966 was originally budgeted at $49 billion. Some sources in Washington estimate that it will be $52 billion or $53 billion.

ISSUED APPEAL

In announcing a defense expenditure reduction last year of 500 million rubles, Garbuzov had appealed for other countries to follow the Soviet lead.

Today he said that an increase was required by "conditions of aggravation of international danger." He accused "imperialists" of trying to create new tensions in the world.

The finance minister did not mention Viet Nam or other specific trouble spots. But the Soviet press has been saying for many months that the Viet Nam conflict requires a strengthening of Soviet defenses and defenses of the Communist nations.

Soviets Fail Again in Bid for Soft Landing on Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's fourth attempt this year to make history's first soft landing on the moon failed early today. The unmanned spaceship Luna 8 crashed into the moon's surface.

★ ★ ★

But unlike after other unsuccessful attempts, the official Soviet news agency Tass announced the failure only 2½ hours after the spaceship's radio went dead at 12:51 a.m. — 4:51 p.m. Monday EST.

The failure of the last attempt for a soft landing, on Oct. 8, was not announced for 13 hours.

Unlike other recent tries, the Russians announced Luna 8's mission immediately after it was launched Dec. 3. Missions of its last two moon ships were made known only after they failed.

NO FLAWS

Tass said Luna 8 worked without a flaw in all stages until the touch-down.

"As a result of the flight of the station Luna 8, a further step was made toward the realization of a soft landing," Tass said in its brief dispatch.

★ ★ ★

Before the Tass announcement, the Jodrell Bank Observatory in England reported "some evidence of a near-success of a soft landing."

"The general impression here is that the Russians must have really come close to success," said Sir Bernard Lovell, Jodrell Bank's director.

MORE WEIGHT

Luna 8 weighed 3,421.5 pounds, 101.5 pounds more than its predecessor, Luna 7. This indicated that perhaps additional equipment had been installed.

Tass described the last moments of the flight this way:

"When the station was approaching the moon, the functioning of the soft landing systems was checked and the checking showed that the systems of the station were functioning normally at all stages of the landing except the final touch-down."

A soft landing is a prerequisite to landing a man on the moon. It is extremely difficult because the moon has no atmosphere. The Soviet space shots have used retrorockets to deal with the problem, and apparently it was a slipup in the braking mechanism that caused Luna 8 to land too hard and destroy its radio mechanism.

The Soviet Union started its attempts at a moon landing in 1959, when Luna 1 missed the moon on Jan. 4 of that year and went into orbit.

A number of Democratic congressmen said they felt the Federal Reserve Board was trying to defy both Johnson and Congress.

Sen. Russell B. Long, the Louisiana Democrat who becomes chairman of the Senate Finance Committee when Congress meets next month, said the committee should study and act on the rate boost.

INDEPENDENCE OF BOARD

"The Federal Reserve Board action brings into question the advisability of the so-called independence of the Federal Reserve, when the board, appointed by the President .. . embarks on a policy contrary to that of the President, and a policy which cannot meet the approval of a majority in Congress, which is supposed to be responsible for the board action," Long said.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, had already called for action to strip the Federal Reserve of authority "to thumb its nose" at the President.

Support for the board's action came from Republican Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, who said its "mild restraint on the increase in the money supply" was needed to head off inflation.

State Employes

Salary Hike Backed

LANSING (AP) — A staff recommendation for a $13.5 million pay hike for state Civil Service workers was unanimously adopted today by the State Civil Service Commission.

★ ★ ★

The four - member commission made only minor changes to the pay scale drawn up by its staff, adding some $74,000 for salaries of hard-to-get social workers and vocational instruction teachers.

★ ★ ★

The raise for the next fiscal year follows a $7.5 million annual hike authorized for the current year.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dorothy Judd of Grand Rapids, commission chairman, said this might appear "shockingly high" compared to past increases.

FOLLOWS POLICY

But in a statement for the commission, she said this follows a policy of maintaining state workers' salaries at a level where they compete with public and private jurisdictions.

Michigan's current high level economy also was cited as justifying the boost.

The commission decided to wait until a further study before deciding on demands for time and a half instead of straight pay for overtime.

It also took no action on one proposal that the pay hike be made effective Feb. 1 instead of July 1.

A plea for an added salary boost for prison guards was put off after it was noted that the current scale provides for hikes from 5.3 to 7.3 per cent.

RAISES MEDIAN

The increase raised the median salary for state workers from $5,700 to $6,042.

The commission also took under advisement a request by the Michigan State Troopers Association for a reduction of the current work week.

★ ★ ★

The proposed hike would average six per cent for some 34,000 state workers under civil service.

INCREASE RANGE

The increases generally would range between 4.7 and 7.3 per cent for the bulk of the workers and from 8 to 11.6 per cent for employes in hard-to-get classifications.

Any civil service decision on salaries is subject to review by the Legislature. Lawmakers can cut the recommendation by a two thirds vote of both houses but not below present pay levels.

The Michigan State Employes Association, representing some 14,200 state workers, contended this still was not enough to close the pay gaps between state workers and those in private employment.

It especially urged a greater percentage increase for those in the lower-paying jobs. The association previously had asked for a 12 per cent overall hike.

The Michigan State Employes Union, representing some 6,000 workers, also urged higher pay for those in the lowest brackets.

Local Police, Families Will Protest Today

Pontiac policemen and their families were to stage a protest demonstration at City Hall starting at 4 p.m. today, aimed at what the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA) feels is inadequate pay for city policemen.

Announcement of the planned demonstration was made yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Charles A. Lindeberg, who presided over a PPOA meeting attended by some 55 patrolmen, officers and detectives.

Patrolmen also declared their intention to discontinue voluntary manning of a six-day work week for straight-time pay.

Guy White Jr., a plainclothes patrolman and member of the wage committee of the PPOA, said the demonstration was to last until the start of the City Commission meeting.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief William K. Hanger said the department would be able to maintain "essential services" in spite of a work curtailment.

TURN DOWN $351

The PPOA, which recently won designation as bargaining agent for policemen, turned down the city's proposed $351 annual wage hike based on a salary and job study by the Michigan Municipal League.

Policemen are asking for a $400 increase and a 2½ per cent longevity increment, a benefit recommended in the study but not included in the city's offer.

Board to Act on Title I Plan

To Air Nonteaching Units' Recognition Bid

Implementation of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and recognition of bargaining units for nonteaching employes are among items scheduled for discussion tomorrow night at the regular metting of the Pontiac Board of Education.

★ ★ ★

Specific proposals developed by the committee have been reviewed by both public school administrators and representatives of parochial schools and will be reported on by Asst. Supt. William J. Lacy.

★ ★ ★

Requests to negotiate wages, hours and working conditions have been sent to the board from to organizations, both representing nonteaching employes.

TWO GROUPS INVOLVED

Letters from the two groups—the American Federation of School Custodians and Maintenance Employes and the Pontiac School Lunch Managers—will be presented to board members by Supt. Dana P. Whitmer.

Dr. Whitmer is also scheduled to outline a plan for provision of auxiliary services by the school district to non-public schools.

The plan — provided by Public Act 343 — was developed in consultation with principals of parochial schools in the district.

★ ★ ★

Sharing of auxiliary services, according to Whitmer, is intended to go into effect immediately pending approval by the board.

2 Clergymen Called in Trial

With Minister When Clubbed in Alabama

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Two clergymen who were with Rev. James J. Reeb when he was clubbed fatally on a Selma street nine months ago have been called to testify in the trial of three men charged with the slaying.

The two ministers, subpoenaed as prosecution witnesses, were accompanying Reeb the night of March 9 when they were attacked by several white men. Reeb, 38-year-old Unitarian minister, was hit with a club and died two days later.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Solicitor Blanchard McLeod, the prosecutor, said he had summoned Rev. Orloff F. Miller of Boston, where Reeb lived, and Rev. Clark Olson of Berkeley, Calif., the slain minister's companions. They were struck in the attack.

CALLED TO TRIAL

Called to trial today on first-degree murder charges were William Stanley Hoggle, 37, a salesman; his brother, Namon O'Neal Hoggle, 31, an auto mechanic, and Elmer L. Cook, 42, manager of a novelty company.

★ ★ ★

Kelley and the three defendants all have been charged under a federal law with conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Reeb and his companions. No trial date has been set for the federal charges.

On the list from which the jury would be chosen were 107 persons, including 13 Negroes.

Soviets Boost Defense Funds

Garbuzov said defense will take up 12.8 per cent of the 1966 budget which he presented to the Supreme Soviet. Defense spending was estimated at 12.9 per cent of the 1965 budget, but the total budget was smaller then.

BUDGET ITEMS

The budget for 1966 lists income of 105.4 billion rubles and expenditures of 105.3 billion rubles. Revised corresponding figures for 1965 are 103.5 billion and 102.7 billion rubles. A ruble equals $1.11 at the official exchange rate.

The new budget contained more heavy investment in industry with the stress again on heavy industry rather than consumer goods.

Planned investment in agriculture was increased by 800 million rubles to 13.2 billion rubles.

New housing construction was increased 700 million rubles more this year to 5.4 billion rubles.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was scheduled to address the Supreme Soviet at a later session on efforts to restrict the spread of nuclear weapons, West German policy and the abortive Algiers conference of African-Asian nations.

Complaints in Waterford

Future Cloudy for Teen-Age Dance Hall

The future of Waterford Township's new teen-age dance hall, Mr. G's House a Go-Go, remained in doubt last night as several complaints were reported to the Township Board.

Located at 6959 M59, the club was opened last week. The owner is Robert Griffin of Ortonville.

Griffin was issued a permit to open the business at the Nov. 29 board meeting. However, certain requirements verbally consented to then apparently haven't been met.

Police Chief William Stokes and Juvenile Officer David Putnam contend that Griffin has not complied with standards, pointing out that policemen already have been sent to the dance hall.

"We can expect more trouble," said Putnam.

Stokes called the operation "disorganized" and said there are "too many loopholes." He asked the board to grant the police department more authority in the matter.

Putnam presented the board with a state statute which implies that youth under 17 years of age cannot enter dance halls.

★ ★ ★

Building Inspector E. R. Lawson noted that 750 persons patronized the dance hall last Friday, adding that an ordinance prohibits such overcrowded conditions.

EAST DETROIT

Youth from such places as east Detroit, Highland Park and Madison Heights were present.

"The biggest concern with my department is that he (Griffin) is overloading the building with occupants," said Lawson.

The board, weighing the possibility of passing an ordinance to allow 15- and 16-year-olds to use the dance hall, tabled any action on the issue until next Monday.

★ ★ ★

Stokes, bent on establishing order in the teen-age establishment, offered the following regulations to govern the business:

- Dress in good taste. Dresses for girls, possibly stretch pants, but no levis or shorts. Suits, slacks, shirts and sport coats for boys, but no levis, boots and leather or club jackets.

★ ★ ★

- Smoking only in designated areas — not on the dance floor.

★ ★ ★

- If a customer leaves the premises, he will have to pay admission to return. This will help deter any drinking or other activities.
- No one will be admitted with the smell of alcoholic beverages on his breath.

★ ★ ★

- No jackets or coats will be worn on the dance floor.
- Ages will be checked at the door.

★ ★ ★

- Dancing will be limited to good taste.
- Strict supervision inside and outside the premises.
- The owner will cooperate with the police in case of any trouble and will sign a complaint against any lawbreakers.

The hospital administrator said the two anesthesiologists were not at the board meeting.

58 YEARS OLD

The 58-year-old Dr. Goodwin of 48 Oxford, Pleasant Ridge, was the hospital's chief anesthesiologist. He had been on the staff for about three years.

"After all this, I don't want to stay here," he said.

With his voice choked, Goodwin called the deaths "a terrible tragedy" and said he had been "praying every day" for the victims' survivors.

★ ★ ★

"I'll never get over this as long as I live," Goodwin said.

'HAD NO IDEA'

"I had no idea how this happened. I just did my work as I always do."

He said he had planned to resign before the hospital board's decision. He said he would return to his home state of Maine and go into private practice.

Dr. Abrams, 42, of 7127 Brookridge, West Bloomfield Township, has been on the staff for about a year. He refused to comment.

★ ★ ★

Operating room privileges for both doctors were suspended when the investigation began Nov. 22.

Prosecutor Bronson's report did not single out any individual as he called the tragedy the result of a "cumulative responsibility."

Although Bronson concluded that criminal charges were not warranted, he charged there was "abundant evidence of inexcusable laxity and deplorable negligence in the use and control of anesthetic procedures as well as in other related procedures."

A supplemental report, detailing step-by-step the death of the two young children and a 24-year-old mother of two, showed the key roles reportedly played by Dr. Abrams and Dr. Goodwin.

The report stated that Dr. Abrams was seen draining ether from an anesthetic machine into a bottle, later discovered to have contained a small amount of Surital, another anesthetic.

Bronson said that the three deaths resulted primarily from failure to observe usual hospital rules.

The three patients involved were Kimberly Ann Bruneel, 8, of 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township; William M. Ketchum, 12, of 250 W. Webster, Ferndale, and Mrs. Gerald Covington, 24, of 236 Roland.

OCC to Reconsider Land Deal Tonight

Oakland Community College's Board of Trustees tonight will reconsider the purchase of a parcel of land it rejected a month ago.

The board called a special meeting because the owners of the land at Opdyke and Hickory Grove have submitted an offer to sell substantially below the previously negotiated figure, according to Board Chairman George R. Mosher.

A negotiable price of $375,000 was rejected by the board which offered $325,000 for the 15-acre site containing a vacant building. It is located mainly in Bloomfield Hills and partially in Bloomfield Township.

Geneva Agreement Means Little to Viet Foes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The division of Viet Nam came about in 1954 after the French defeat there and eight countries got together in Geneva to plan the country's future. The following gives the background to that agreement and what has grown out of it.)

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1954 Geneva agreement, by which Viet Nam was divided, is one of the most thoroughly violated pacts in history.

Both sides in the Viet Nam war say they want the agreement carried out, even now. But each side accuses the other of wholesale violations.

★ ★ ★

Despite this situation, suggestions regularly appear, usually from critics of the U.S. policy in Viet Nam, that provisions of the 1954 pact could yet be the basis for a peace settlement.

But, says Secretary of State Dean Rusk: "These people on the other side won't even come to the conference table to try to bring the situation back to those basic agreements."

NEVER SIGNED

One fact sometimes overlooked: The United States and South Viet Nam governments never signed the agreement. The United States did declare at the time that it would view with grave concern any aggression "in violation of the aforesaid agreement."

Here is the background:

In 1954, after more than seven years of fighting with Communist-led forces, France had lost its war to hang on to a colonial empire in Indochina. A peace conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland.

★ ★ ★

Taking part were representatives of the three states which were created out of Indochina, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, plus five great powers which were concerned with the southeast Asia situation — France, Red China, Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States.

UNDER AGREEMENT

Under the agreement finally signed July 21, 1954, by Britain, France and representatives of North Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia:

—Viet Nam was divided, the North going to the Communists and the South to a non-Communist government.

—No person, military or civilian, was to cross the dividing line without permission of an International Control Commission.

★ ★ ★

— The conference powers agreed to respect the sovereignty and the territorial integrity of the Indochina states "and to refrain from any other interference in their internal affairs."

—The opposing parties agreed to make sure that their areas were "not used for resumption of hostilities."

★ ★ ★

—It was forbidden to introduce troop reinforcements or new weapons into Viet Nam. Also barred was the creation of any military base under control of a foreign state.

—Elections were to be held in July 1956 with the aim of reunifying North and South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. and South Viet Nam representatives refused to sign. The American refusal was not officially explained but was attributed generally to John Foster Dulles, then secretary of state. Dulles was said to have disliked the partition of Viet Nam, and to have opposed the presence of Red China at the conference.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower told a news conference in Washington the agreement "contains features which we do not like," but added he was glad agreement had been reached to stop bloodshed.

LAUDS SUCCESS

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill sent his congratulations to the chief British representative in Geneva, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, on "the success which has rewarded your patient, persevering skill."

The Viet Nam elections planned for 1956 were never held. The South Viet Nam government balked on the grounds that conditions for a free expression could not be guaranteed in the Communist-held North. The United States supported this position.

★ ★ ★

The United States charges that, beginning in 1958, the Communists embarked on a terrorist campaign to capture control of South Viet Nam. It says the Communists by aggression against South Viet Nam broke the Geneva agreement and that U.S. intervention was a proper and legal response to a call from South Viet Nam for help.

The Communists contend that it is the United States that is guilty of military aggression, in violation of the Geneva pact.

Voting Rights Examples Show Reward of Patience

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director,
National Urban League

Patience, too, has its reward, particularly when it's of the kind found almost exclusively in the Negro whose life in this society is so complicated and tormented by social injustice.

But the human spirit is a powerful force for good, and it frequently serves to enrich the lives of the oppressed with a sense of dignity and courage which enables them to withstand the most flagrant misdeeds of their oppressors.

But he isn't the only one who waited.

EVEN LONGER

Mrs. Cora Lee Williams, a resident of the same city, had to wait even longer — 84 years.

Under the Voting Rights Act of 1965, both the Rev. Mr. Carter, 100, and Mrs. Williams, 105, recently registered with a federal examiner at the Montgomery Post Office to become the oldest voters in the county.

"President Johnson, he has done the most," he said, remembering that his voting rights were taken from him in 1890 because he was not a landowner.

OF SLAVE PARENTAGE

"The Bible says, 'As ye sow, so shall ye reap,' " the minister continued, "I knew the vote would come."

The Rev. Mr. Carter, born of slave parents the year the Civil War ended, picked cotton at the age of 4, "dropped corn" at 7, and hoed the cotton fields as a child of 10.

He remembers voting for the first time as a young man of 21, and the time, a few years later, when Negroes were no longer allowed to vote unless they owned land.

"Before that you had to be at least 21 years old and a citizen. That's all."

He remembers, too, when Negroes in Montgomery had a strong political organization until their leader was killed.

"President Hoover had bad times," he said, "but I thought President Roosevelt gave us two things — equal rights and jobs — with NRA and WPA, when we all went in the ditches. He was coming on good, then he died."

★ ★ ★

BORN A SLAVE

Her reason for coming to do so recently, she said, was "to do something . . . to do what I can."

"Don't ask me all that stuff," she snapped, "I ain't got time."

UNDER 45

The examiner informed her that she did not have to pay the poll tax since it was only required of persons under 45 years old.

Listening, she twitched a bit in her chair, giving the impression that such obvious fact should have remained unmentioned.

★ ★ ★

CAUTIONED HER

Her granddaughter, who was present, cautioned her to answer the examiner's questions with a simple yes or no.

"Let me have my way," demanded Mrs. Williams.

And when it was over, she rose slowly from the chair and walked away from the examiner's desk with all the grace and dignity of her 105 years.

Of course, she had her voting certificate in her hand.

After all these years, she was not about to forget that.

U.S. Traffic Toll in October Is Highest of 1965

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 4,820 persons in October, the highest toll for any month this year, the National Safety Council said today.

The October figure is 5 per cent above the number killed in October 1964, the safety council said, and puts the national total for the first 10 months this year at 39,760 — 2 per cent above the 39,050 killed during a comparable period in 1964.

The safety council added, however, that travel is running 4 per cent above 1964 and reached an estimated 736 billion miles for the first 10 months this year. The mileage death rate thus decreased from 5.5 per 100 million vehicle miles during the first 10 months of 1964 to 5.4 for the same period this year.

Dies Before Naming Assailant

Curtis Keentz, 72, pistol-whipped by the bandit in the holdup, slumped in the circuit court witness chair while being questioned by Prosecutor James K. Miller. He died shortly after admittance to a hospital.

★ ★ ★

He was testifying in the case against Birney T. Chick Havey, 42, a three-time bond jumper who was extradited from Portland, Ore., to face trial on a charge of armed robbery in Grand Rapids nine years ago.

Havey and Kenneth Midling, 39, of Kalamazoo, are accused in the robbery of $10,000 in gems and $150 cash in the 1959 holdup at Phillips Jewelry Store. Midling is named in a warrant as a codefendant but now is in custody in Ohio on a burglary charge.

WAS ALONE

Prior to his collapse, Keentz had told the court what the bandit allegedly said to him and what he had replied. He had not reached the point of identifying his assailant.

Judge Stuart Hoffius said later he would have to declare a mistrial "in view of what took place." He indicated that Havey would have to stand trial in the next term of court.

U.S. Tactics in Viet

Plan 'Roving Strikes'

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. forces probably will use intensified "roving strikes" by helicopter-borne fighting men against a heavier inflow of Communist North Vietnamese troops.

Barring a major change in national policy, it is considered highly unlikely that the United States will send troops into Laos to form a fence to cut off the movement of North Vietnamese regulars into beleaguered South Viet Nam. Also, Cambodia's cials believe Communist troops professed neutrality will be respected, even though U.S. offihave used that country as a sanctuary.

There is a body of opinion in the military which favors the idea of sending U.S. troops into Laos and thus to try to sever the infiltration lines over which a growing number of North Vietnamese regulars are believed moving south.

NEED BUCKET

Within the present policy, sources said, the United States is basically fighting a strategic defensive in its efforts to save South Viet Nam from being overrun by the Communists.

The best way to do this, experts said, is to take the tactical offensive — "to find the Communists and cut them to pieces."

This is a course of action which U.S. ground combat forces have been following for months and which apparently will be amplified.

REMEMBER IA DRANG

Officials cite the recent bloody battle in the Ia Drang Valley as an example of what could be expected in the future.

In that running fight, troopers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division and their South Vietnamese allies killed nearly 2,300 of the enemy. U.S. losses totaled less than 10 per cent of the Communist dead.

★ ★ ★

There is every indication that the section of the infiltration network extending from North Viet Nam through Laos is in for some heavy aerial pounding.

Information available here suggests that the Communists have made progressive improvements over the past year in their ability to move both northward and southward through Laos.

One informant said there is "a significant amount of evidence that the roads have been improved and that the network of roads and trails has been extended."

U.S. sources said the Communists had used bicycles to supply their men in the 1954 battle of Dien Bien Phu in which the Communists inflicted a defeat on French troops, a defeat which led to French withdrawal from Indochina.

Meany Blasts Wage 'Greed'

Says Bankers Spurred Interest Rate Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The nation's labor leaders, gathering in San Francisco today, made it clear they want a bigger share of America's prosperity for their members.

The tone of the AFL-CIO's 10th anniversary convention was set by the organization's president, George Meany, who criticized what he called "the naked and ruthless greed of American financial interests."

He demanded "a better division of America's riches" in the form of bigger wage increases out of soaring profits; he blamed "greedy Wall Street bankers" for forcing up interest rates.

He said the bankers influenced the Federal Reserve Board's increase in discount rates from 4 to 4.5 per cent.

DISCOUNT RATE

The discount rate is the amount charged by the Federal Reserve System on money it loans to member banks.

"It means higher interest rates for everybody and every single activity in America that calls for credit," Meany declared.

He spoke Monday to the federation's Maritime Trades Department convention in advance of the opening of the AFL-CIO convention, which starts Thursday.

Meany said the same U.S. financial interests that influenced the Federal Reserve Board action also dominate federal shipping policies which he blamed for the recent sinking of the passenger ship Yarmouth Castle with a loss of 90 lives.

HITS ATTITUDE

He described the attitude of U.S. financiers as: "The hell with the workers, the hell with the country and the hell with everything else."

Meany said the Yarmouth Castle, which burned and sank in the Caribbean last month, was registered by its owners under the Panamanian flag to avoid higher U.S. labor costs and stricter safety regulations.

Declaring that the AFL-CIO was stronger than ever with a record 12.8 million members in its 130 affiliated unions, Meany said the labor movement is the only force that can curb irresponsible businessmen.

"Anyone who thinks the American trade movement is getting too strong, let them think twice," he told the meeting.

Price Tactics Split LBJ, Board Chief

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—What's the best way to keep prices from rising too high too fast?

DAWSON

President Johnson thinks the way is to put government pressure on businessmen and bankers to hold the price and interest lines. William Mc Chesney Martin thinks the better way is to take some of the speculative steam out of the money and credit markets.

* * *

Each is going his own way now. And the country should soon see which method works the better, or if neither works.

The President has used federal defense stockpiles, White House supervision of labor negotiations, controls dubbed voluntary against the sending by businessmen or bankers of U.S. dollars abroad where they can earn higher returns. The President thinks all this will hold the economy on the fairly steady upward course of the last five years.

DIFFERENT TACK

The Federal Reserve Board is taking a different tack. It is raising the discount rate, usually regarded as the pacesetter for the cost of borrowing. It thinks that will cool down an incipient speculative boom that could send prices sky high if too much money and credit is floating around.

Will other interest rates rise fast? Some may follow the Fed's discount rate, which is what it charges banks for money they borrow to lend to businessmen.

* * *

But many observers note that interest rates have been going up steadily for some time. In that sense, the Fed is following the trend, not setting it.

Yields of U.S. Treasury securities have gone well above the 4.5 per cent which the Federal Reserve will now charge the banks. The commercial banks themselves have been lending to most businessmen well above the 4.5 per cent prime rate they list officially.

RATES UP

Interest rates that lending institutions pay for deposits also have gone up in recent months. Savers have had a choice: higher rates at the commercial and savings banks and the savings and loan associations, or corporate and government securities paying yields unmatched for returns there.

And for Americans there was a temptation to send their savings abroad to get still higher returns there.

* * *

Interest rates in themselves don't determine consumer prices. But the bankers say they have a long-term effect. That is because a large supply of cheap money and credit gives the nation lots of dollars with which to bid up prices in the marketplace. An abundance of money also can feed speculation. And that usually leads to a big boom, with rising prices, followed by a bust.

The President obviously believes no such speculative boom is in the making and that no monetary check rein is called for. He thinks government persuasion can hold prices and wages in line. And he fears that Martin, by moving toward tighter money and credit, may discourage some of the plans for expansion counted upon to keep the economy climbing in 1966.

BASIC CONFLICT

The conflict of ideas is a basic one. It puts the new economics of the Johnson administration at odds with the conservative monetary policies of the bankers. The President thinks inflation can be held in check by government-business cooperation. Martin thinks inflation can be checked by keeping the money supply a bit less plentiful. It has been expanding rapidly this year to record levels.

Consumers hope one or the other will work — that neither prices nor interest rates will rise to burdensome heights. Some suspect the two ideas might even work together toward the same desired goal.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I am 60-years-old, in poor health and receiving a disability pension of $115 a month. I would like to buy stock that would let me add even a little more to my pension. I bought San Diego Imperial at 8, which makes no cash payments. Should I hold or sell and lose money? I have $9,350 in the bank at four per cent interest and a paid up house. Any assistance will be appreciated." H. L.

A. I would sell San Diego Imperial and replace it with a cash dividend-paying stock. Your loss would be negligible.

I suggest a switch into Libbey-Ownes-Ford Glass, yielding 5.2 per cent. I believe you should leave $5,000 in the savings bank for contingencies and invest the balance in Maytag, the great Midwestern appliance company, which also yields 5.2 per cent, and Puerto Rican Cement, selling on a 5.1 per cent basis.

Q. "I am 69, and my wife is 67. I am retired, drawing $129 per month and earning $1,200 per year. We are living comfortably on our income and our home is paid for. We have $7,000 Series E bonds, some of which are 20-years-old and $7,000 in savings. Should we put $3,000-$5,000 in higher quality common stocks as a hedge against inflation?" T.M.

A. Since all your savings are fixed as to principal, you are indeed vulnerable to further inflation which appears to be inevitable as the Viet Nam war is stepped up. Your Series E bonds have been extended and are now yielding 3¾ per cent, if held to maturity.

I would keep these bonds, and withdraw $3,000 from savings, which I would put in equal dollar amounts of American Hospital Supply and FMC Corporation. Each of these stocks has sufficient growth potential to give you some inflation protection.

2 Families Real Close

UNION CITY, N. J. (UPI) — Since 1958, four of the six Vanacore sisters have married four of the six De Palma brothers.

Of the eight children in the four marriages, three have been named Concette after the De Palma mother, two Charles after the De Palma father, and two Ester after the Vanacore mother.

Eavesdropping Pays for Off-Duty Policeman

Off-duty policeman Theodore Arroyo listened attentively, then walked to a phone and called for help. Cordova was arrested a few minutes later and charged with the robbery of a nearby tavern.

Lack Native Frogs

LONDON (UPI) — A lack of native English frogs needed by school biology teachers has opened up a new market for the importation of frogs from France.

Lt. Col. Dragi C. Lazin, 649 Hilltop, White Lake Township, was commander of the C-119 aircraft which departed Selfridge Field last week with more than two tons of Michigan-donated Christmas gifts for United States forces in Viet Nam.

Grand Trunk Tonnage Up

The auto industry's current record year and Michigan's buoyant economy were reflected yesterday in a report to the board of directors of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

* * *

Harry A. Sanders, GTW's vice president and general manager, reported a carload freight revenue tonnage increase of 1.2 million tons, or 12.5 per cent, in the first nine months of 1965.

"This increase," he said, "was principally in commodities directly associated with the automotive industry."

Automotive bi-level and tri-level rail traffic was up almost one-third over the same period in 1964. Piggyback traffic improved steadily, calling for sizable increases in Grand Trunk's fleet of flat cars.

Nearly 700 freight cars, many specially designed to meet shippers' needs were delivered, or are to be delivered by year's end, Sanders said. New equipment expenditures amounted to $20 million.
