Kensington Park's 'Queen' on Shakedown

"QUEEN" AT SEA—A boatload of officials and newsmen were aboard yesterday as the Kensington Metropolitan Park's "Island Queen" made her debut on Kent Lake. The diesel-powered replica of a Mississippi stern-wheeler will be plying the lakes on weekends and Memorial Day until June 11, after which a daily schedule will be followed.

Pontiac Trucker Killed in Crash

Sheriff's Deputies Think James W. Rochester Fell Asleep

A Pontiac truck driver, 26, died of injuries early this morning when his one and one-half ton truck left the highway and smashed into a cement culvert seven miles west of Cassopolis in Cass County.

Cass County Sheriff's Dept. said apparently James W. Rochester, 258 Elm St., had fallen asleep at the wheel.

The truck was headed west on M60, deputies said, when it careened 110 feet through a sign and two mailboxes, smashed through the culvert 30 feet further on and finally halted half-way up a 12-foot embankment.

A coroner's report showed Rochester died of a broken neck and fractured skull. The truck did not turn over. His body was taken to the Kiger Funeral Home in Niles.

Senate Wants Soviet U.N. Chief Deported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators urged the State Department today to throw out of this country Arkady Sobolev, chief Soviet delegate to the United Nations, and one of his top subordinates.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee made the request in accusing Sobolev's staff of using "coercion, force and duress" in an effort to induce nine Russian sailors to return to their Communist homeland after obtaining asylum in this country.

Five of the sailors suddenly left New York by plane on April 7, under Soviet escort. Dispatches from Russia quoted them as saying they went home voluntarily. Four associates who remain here said the men were coerced.

The subcommittee rebuked the State Department and the Immigration Service, saying they failed to take effective action to protect the youthful sailors.

33½ Million Catholics

NEW YORK (AP)—The official Roman Catholic directory for 1956 shows a total church membership of 33,574,071 in the 48 states, Alaska and Hawaii. This is an increase of 998,315 over 1955.

Army Praises the Nike; Tells of a Better Weapon

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N.M. (AP)—Top Army officers today are mulling over the results of a near-perfect series of tests made during the last two days with the Nike guided missile.

The tests were made in southern New Mexico before more than 100 newsmen.

The Nike yesterday scored hits on three of the four tiny, speeding radio plane drones which zipped high over the target area. It exploded in close proximity to the fourth.

The first public demonstration of the Nike began Tuesday. One of yesterday's hits was scored on the 12-foot-long drone plane at an altitude of 16,000 feet and more than 23 miles from the Nike launching site. The day before a drone had been knocked down while speeding by at 500 miles an hour.

Mississippi Stern-Wheeler Is Launched on Kent Lake

A 60-foot replica of a Mississippi stern-wheeler churned around Kent Lake in Kensington Metropolitan Park yesterday, and the only thing missing was smoke from the dummy stacks.

Although the "Island Queen" is powered by a diesel unit, the remainder of the picture looks authentic, although scaled down.

The usual cargo of cotton bales and mustache-tugging gamblers will be missing this summer, however.

The 50-minute voyages in the island-studded lake will be with cargoes of sight-seers, and those seeking a cooling breeze.

Beginning June 11 the Island Queen will make hourly cruises over the lake, from noon to 6 p.m. Before 12 and after 7 p.m. she will be available for special trips, park officials said.

Until then, cruises will be made on Saturdays, Sundays and Memorial Day.

Manning the "Queen" will be a crew of two, with Capt. Robert Watts of Milford at the wheel.

When fully loaded with 55 passengers, the craft draws 11 inches of water. The cruising speed is five to seven miles per hour.

Home port will be the park's boat launching dock near the main entrance from Grand River, near New Hudson.

Carp Take Over as Lake Floods Area Golf Course

Take along a fishing rod next time you play golf at the municipal course on W. South Blvd.

Floods there may spoil your low score but as compensation you may take home a 'catch' of carp. Crystal Lake has inundated the fairway between the sixth and seventh greens, where several good-sized carp have been caught during the past two weeks.

Yesterday afternoon an archer hit his catch—nearly 18 inches long—with a nicely aimed arrow. They say that a skilled golfer can avoid the flood by a good shot with a No. 2 wood.

Those who hook their shots into the water can always wade in either in hope of finding the ball or of battling a stray carp on the head in anger.

The city is not charging any extra fees for fishing privileges.

The Army also disclosed there is a unit at this southern New Mexico rocket center trained to use atomic warheads to existing surface-to-surface rockets.

Maj. Gen. Robert J. Wood, commanding general of Ft. Bliss at nearby El Paso, Tex., where rocket crews are trained, told newsmen that development is continuing on the Nike "B"—a tremendously improved version of the slender surface-to-air rocket now figuring in a controversy over the nation's guided missile program.

Chiefs of Staffs Asked to Russia

New York Daily News Reports Invitation for Inspecting Forces

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily News said today in a copyrighted story that "Russia has sent word secretly to Washington that it would welcome a visit by the entire U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff for an inspection of the Soviet armed services."

The story, under the byline of Peter Wallenberg, quoted United Nations sources that "the invitation . . . may be formally issued soon."

The story said "the invitation to the Joint Chiefs could . . . be considered a Russian overture to arrange a long-sought invitation for Soviet chief Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin to visit the United States."

The U.N. source, the News said, obtained the information from a "Soviet informant" who insisted on the term "armed services" in the reported invitation.

In Washington, the News said, a Pentagon source gave this comment: "We have heard nothing of these operations but obviously the Defense Department is interested. But more obviously, this matter is of such magnitude that it can only be determined at the White House."

There was generally light frost in the Pontiac area last night when the mercury dropped to 36 degrees.

PARTY UNEASY

Even though Mendes-France is leader of the Radical Socialists, there is a wide difference of opinion within the party on how the Algerian problem should be handled.

His resignation and the fact that there appears to be little hope he can get his Algerian proposals adopted in the near future appears to have returned Mendes-France to the political isolation he endured for several years before becoming premier in 1954.

Open Fund-Raising Drive for St. Joseph's Addition

Announcement of a $98,000 check from the Ford Foundation last night launched a $6 million fund raising campaign for the new St. Joseph Mercy Hospital addition.

Some 160 medical, industrial, and businessmen from the Pontiac area heard Sister Mary William, hospital administrator, "kick-off" the drive with the announcement declaring it the "first large contribution of the 1956 campaign."

The occasion was the "kick-off" banquet held in the hospital's Nurses' Home Auditorium.

Sitting in the corner of the hall was a large illuminated color sketch of the wing which is expected to add 200 beds to the hospital's present capacity of 310.

Clarence E. Manion, former Notre Dame University Law School dean spoke to the group on the "dangers of unlimited government."

"It isn't a solicitation you are making here — you are resisting the fires of government," Manion said.

WARNS OF GOVERNMENT

"If there isn't a bed for that person your President of Staff (Dr. John M. Markley) was speaking of."

He said investigators from his office reweighed 126 tractors and 424 trailers owned by the company and found that 108 tractors and 247 trailers had been incorrectly reported, with the company claiming weights from 480 to 7,420 pounds under the actual weights found by the checkers.

Hare said his office is rechecking about 20 companies on which it has received complaints of cheating on license fees. Most of the complaints came from competitors, he said.

In the case of the Hess firm, the recovery was made in 1956 license fees only. But Hare said his office is checking to see whether recoveries can be made for previous years.

The truck license fee is based on the weight of the truck, starting at 70 cents per hundred pounds for trucks under 2,500 pounds and increasing to $2.25 per hundred for trucks weighing more than 15,000 pounds.

Hare said he has found some companies cheat by stripping down reporting at a weight station for the chassis on their trucks before the initial weighing. Afterwards, he said, they put a lot of additional weight on the chassis.

Who Says It's Lucky?

SANDSTON, Va. (INS)—Mrs. W. R. Pritchett found 16 four leaf clovers, 5 six-leaf and 2 five-leaf on her lawn. Then she fell through a first-floor window she was washing.

TO TAKE BIDS IN AUGUST

According to Adolph H. Roessling, architect for the project, bids will be taken in August for construction of the new structure to house the boilers and laundry.

Replaces Late Orrin McQuaid in Deeds Post

Announcement Follows Two-Day Deliberation by County Officials

Daniel T. Murphy, Jr., 32, of 1023 Berwick Blvd., was named this morning as Oakland County's new Register of Deeds.

Murphy, a former deputy clerk under Lynn D. Allen, one of three officials who made the appointment, will replace the late Orrin McQuaid, who died suddenly May 15 of a heart attack.

The appointment was made by Allen, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore and Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem after two days of deliberation.

In a statement issued today, the three officials said they are "unanimously convinced" that Murphy "presents the combination of energy, personality, experience and administrative ability necessary for the continuance of the excellent administration of the Register of Deeds office."

Murphy, who said he will assume his new post "as soon as possible," pledged to "devote full time and energy" to the office and "complete cooperation with all other county officials."

"Any person with a problem will be entitled to personal attention by myself," he added.

WILL SEEK RE-ELECTION

Murphy will hold the appointive position until January, and has said he will seek re-election for a two-year term in November if he wins nomination in the August primary. The post pays $9,750 annually.

Picked from a slate of 21 applicants, Murphy is presently employed as customer relations executive and salesman with a local contractor. He is married and the father of four children.

In his three-year tour of duty with the U.S. Army in World War II, Murphy served in China, Burma, India, Africa and Egypt. Active in Amvets affairs, he is past commander of the local Jimmy Dey post.

Murphy also serves as a Civil Defense representative, a district committee member of the Pontiac Council of Boy Scouts, a member of the Greater Pontiac Youth Advisory Council and a member of the Kiwanis Club of West Pontiac.

He also belongs to the Y.M.C.A. and the Oakland County Historical Society.

His wife, Carolyn, was chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee from 1950-1952. An Oakland County resident for 28 years, Murphy attended liberal arts and law school classes at Wayne University for five years following his discharge from the army.

These Diplomas Have Special 'String' Attached

LAGRANGE, Ky. (AP)—Thirty-one students, some a bit sheepish in their white slacks and tie-less white shirts, stepped to the lectern and received diplomas tied in red ribbons.

Unlike other graduates over the nation, these students won't leave their old alma mater — not for a while.

They are inmates of the men's state reformatory here.

Nine of the graduates received eighth grade diplomas from the reformatory's academic school. The other 22 got diplomas from the higher level vocational school.

Blind Columnist Leaves Hospital

Riesel Declares He'll Be Back at His Office No Later Than Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—Blinded labor columnist Victor Riesel is out of the hospital and says he expects to be back at his desk no later than Monday.

Riesel is continuing his nationally syndicated column with the aid of staff assistants.

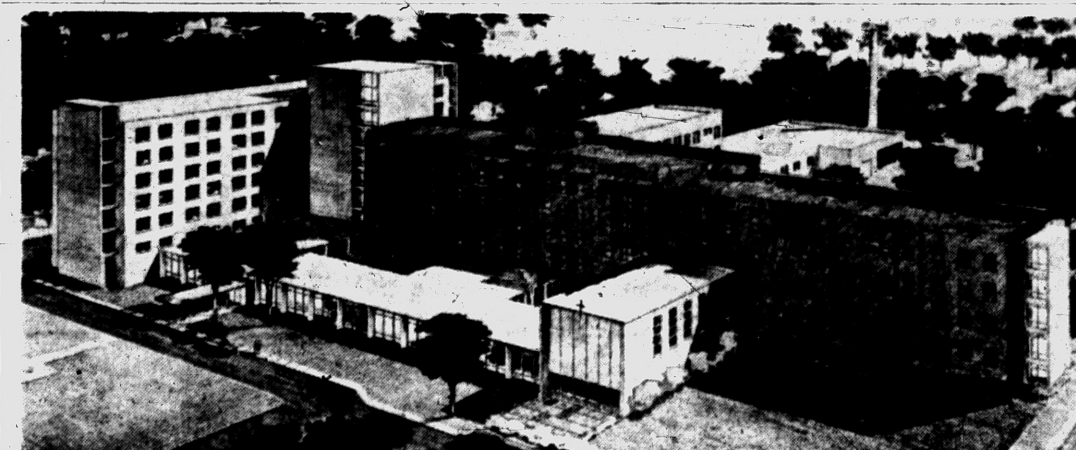

The writer, who was blinded by an unidentified acid thrower April 5, walked out of a branch of St. Clare's Hospital yesterday after being discharged as a patient.

His wife Evelyn offered him an arm. But he shook it off and walked down the eight steps at the hospital entrance by himself. His eyes were covered with bandage patches.

An aide told newsmen that Riesel "has categorically refused a Seeing-Eye dog."

Police have assigned a 24-hour guard to Riesel.

A young man threw sulphuric acid into Riesel's face on a mid-Manhattan street in the early morning dark. Riesel has said the attack was motivated by his attacks on racketeers in the labor movement.

THE NEW AND OLD—Pictured here is the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital $6 million addition surrounding the present local hospital. The present building is shown in the shaded portion inside the dark lines. A banquet attended by 160 persons, was held last night to "kick-off" the fund-raising campaign. The large six-floor wing, located to the south of the present hospital, is expected to add 200 beds to the present capacity of 310. Construction will begin in October according to Adolph H. Roessling, architect for the project. The funds will be raised by public subscription.

Teenager Kills Chum in Game

Massachusetts Lad, 14, Leads Officials to Spot Where He Buried Body

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (INS) — Gloucester police today disclosed that a 14-year-old terror-stricken schoolboy shot and killed his chum while they were playing "cops and robbers" in a panic buried the body.

He stayed mute for 48 hours while the victim's family and police hunted in vain for the missing boy.

Then he led them to where the body had been hidden in a lonely section off the old Rockport Road. The victim was Walter Henry Meuse III, 13, son of a night line worker for the Essex County Electric Co. in Gloucester.

Police Capt. John J. Coyle identified the youth who allegedly killed him as Henry Merchant, 14, son of Orvin Merchant, an automobile mechanic who twice was an unsuccessful candidate for the Gloucester city council.

Young Meuse was killed in an isolated section of a wooded area of Cape Ann known as "Dogtown Common" about 11:30 Monday night, but it was not until 6 a.m. today that Merchant finally admitted his connection with the case, Capt. Coyle told newsmen.

During that time, Meuse's father and other relatives, together with Gloucester police, hunted high and low for the missing Walter. The father reported him missing at 11 o'clock Monday night, two hours after he left home to visit his long-time chum.

Both were in the seventh grade at Central Grammar School.

facilities. "This is the first step as these facilities are very badly needed to keep the present hospital running."

He added construction on the main part of the six-floor addition and adjoining sections will begin in October. Completion is expected in 2½ years after construction begins.

"Definite plans are being made for construction to proceed as the money comes in," Sister Mary William said.

She added that the hospital has applied for federal assistance in the construction under the Hill-Burton program.

Although no general chairman has been appointed, Dr. Harry Arnoff will serve as chairman of the committee to receive pledges from the medical staff.

Two garden courts will be situated between the new one floor administrative wing and the old building. Directly to the north of this wing will be a new chapel of contemporary construction like the rest of the addition.

The administrative wing, to be situated where the present entrance is today, will house physical medicine, lecture rooms, admitting offices, coffee shop, gift shop, and special dining room.

In the main new building, south of the present, there will be: new X-ray department, emergency department, out-patient clinic, clinical and pathological laboratories, new surgical suite, 13 operating rooms including recovery rooms, new pediatric department, medical-surgical patients' rooms, a polio unit, orthopedic patients' unit, neuro-psychiatric nursing unit, and maternity facilities.

The present building will be renovated after completion of the addition to enable the hospital to keep operating during construction.

At the northern end of the present building will be built a new enclosed stairway to serve as a fire escape.

Polon Defends Postal Workers

Employees Can Criticize Post Office Department, Says Cederberg

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cederberg (R-Mich.), taking issue with Democratic leaders in his home state, says postal workers "have full and sufficient opportunity for criticizing" the Post Office Department.

Addressing the House yesterday, Cederberg accused Michigan Gov. C. Warren Williams and Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) of making "demagogic" and "highly misleading" statements about department regulations involving employees' bargaining rights.

He asserted that Williams and Dingell "in their zeal to grab onto some badly needed votes" in the November election have "unwisely" stubbed their toes over a Democratic creation.

Cederberg cited a section of the new postal manual saying that employees "shall not actively engage in campaigns for or against changes in the (postal) service, or furnish information to be used in such campaigns, unless prior approval has been obtained from higher authority."

On May 16 Dingell told the House that this regulation "is as bad as any regulation which has ever been issued by Nazi Germany, Communist Russia, or any other dictatorship." Cederberg said Williams made a similar charge in a speech May 19 before the National Letter Carriers Assn. in Bay City, Mich.

In fact, said Cederberg, the regulation as printed in the new manual "is not a new policy or a change in substance," but a "re-statement" of a regulation adopted in 1949 during the Truman administration.

Cederberg also said mail carriers are not overburdened, as charged by Gov. Williams, but are limited to 35 pounds of mail. This "reasonable limit" also was established under the Truman administration, he said.

Williams Asks Drive to Get Defense Work

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams said he has asked the Michigan Industrial Production Commission to start a drive to obtain extra defense contracts for Detroit and Flint.

The two cities have been designated as substantial labor surplus areas by presidential order. This designation gives them certain advantages in the awarding of defense contracts.

Aides to the Governor said it was not clear at this time whether the designation also covered Port Huron, Escanaba, Iron Mountain, Marquette and Benton Harbor.

Williams asked that these cities also be designated as surplus labor areas on May 8, when he sent a telegram to President Eisenhower outlining the unemployment situation in Detroit and Flint.

"I am asking Walker Ciser, commission chairman, to get his group together and to take all necessary steps without delay to take advantage of the order and to get the maximum number of defense contracts for the areas," Williams said.

Ciser, president of Detroit Edison Co., was named chairman when the commission set up the group during previous periods of unemployment.

Residents of the Pontiac area will have their first opportunity to see Pontiac Motor Division's fabulous new dream car, the "Club de Mer" at a special "Little Motorama" to be held at the Pontiac Retail Store starting Friday, and running through next week until June 2.

The aluminum bodied "Club de Mer" has been hailed as the most exciting sports car ever built in America, and has been the hit of this year's GM Motorama, which showed before capacity crowds in New York, Miami, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Boston.

In addition to the "Club de Mer," the "Little Motorama" will also feature an exact miniature replica, battery operated, working model of the "Club de Mer" called the "Club de Mer, Jr."

The Day in Birmingham

City - Country Pioneering in Work for Gifted Child

BIRMINGHAM — A school for gifted children, which City and Country School personnel hope will pioneer in the field, will be inaugurated at a dinner at the Bloomfield Hills school June 1.

Among leaders in the fields of education and psychology who have been invited to attend will be the evening's speaker, Dr. Gunnar Dybwad, director of the Child Study Assn. of America, New York. He was formerly director of the State Welfare department in Lansing.

Planned to accommodate 180 Detroit area children of nursery, kindergarten and elementary grade levels, the school will utilize modern methods of testing to establish children's mental capacity for enrollment.

Intensified training in small classes with specially selected teachers will be features.

"The security and growth of our country demands that we maintain an edge over other nations in development of our most important resources, the training of our gifted children," says George Roepert, who, with Mrs. Roepert has for 15 years directed City and Country School.

Hosts at the dinner preliminary to establishing the new school will be City and Country's trustees and the ETA board of directors, who include Mrs. Fred C. Booth, Elliot Robinson, Mrs. Harry A. Mackie, and Mrs. William K. Whitney.

Plans for the curriculum and operation will be worked out in an institute from June 18 to 22 at the school, with Dr. Harry Passow, a Columbia University Teachers College professor, in charge.

Source material for the planning will include the Horace Mann Lincoln Institute on the gifted child, the studies of Hunter College on gifted children and reports on the Child Study Clinic at Yale University.

The Roeperts feel that this new kind of education can best be tried in an independent school, small enough to be flexible for a change over and reorganization.

George E. Hawley, district manager for the George S. May Co., Chicago business engineering firm, and former owner of the Gray-Hawley Manufacturing Co., Detroit, died May 22 at William Beaumont Hospital.

A lifelong resident of Detroit and Birmingham, he lived at 17869 Buckingham, Southfield Twp. He founded the Gray-Hawley firm and retired in 1925, later affiliating with the May company.

He was an honorary life member and past president of the Detroit Boat Club, and a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Surviving are his wife, Bessie.

NEW-TYPE BOAT WITH A LASTING FLOAT—In his new-type unsinkable lifeboat, Claus Sorensen, of Esbjerg, Denmark, sits in the navigator's seat as the craft is put through a trial run. The boat, 20 feet long and seven feet wide, is capable of holding eight tons. A proposed world cruise will test the craft's unsinkability in hurricane weather.

Medical Doctor's Course Presents Arduous Trial

(Many high school seniors will start college next fall. To acquaint them and their parents with what they might expect in training they might take this fourth of five articles has been prepared.)

By JOHN BARBOUR
ANN ARBOR (U.P.)—When we consider applications for medical school, we are selecting a doctor, not just a student.

To the high school student who hopes someday to be a doctor, these words by Wayne L. Whitaker, assistant dean of the University of Michigan's Medical School, have considerable import.

There is more to being a doctor than an abstract wish, more than an inclination to science studies, more than the desire to emulate a relative or friend in the medical profession.

"We deplore the tendency," Prof. Whitaker says, "to classify students early by their ultimate goals. . . a general education is the first requirement."

MUST KNOW ENGLISH

What should the high school student bring with him to his first four years in college? "A sound preparation in the use of the English language and other languages—a foundation of success in mathematics and the sciences," says Prof. Whitaker.

He should develop "the habit of study and the habit of success." He should be "physically able to stand rigorous study" and "have considerable manual dexterity."

It is quite all right, Prof. Whitaker says, for a student to have "a tentative interest in medicine, but he should also have an open mind to sample other fields." "He should," he adds, "expose himself to many courses, different teachers and associate with people in other professions."

NEEDS THE CLASSICS

Emphasis on science in high school is not enough. "It is unfortunate," Prof. Whitaker says, "that he should go so far in science in high school as to have no time for literature, history and language."

The cost and time involved in training often scare off applicants. After four years of college, a would-be doctor must take four years of general medical school and at least a year of internship before practice. If he wants to specialize, he must add two to five years of residency training in his specialty.

There is a great need for more doctors in central and northern Michigan. With the wartime bulge of returning veterans over, medical schools are accepting about half of the students who apply.

They carefully explain, however, that they want more well-qualified applicants—especially from doctor-short areas.

"We are interested," Prof. Whitaker explains, "only in the person and his qualifications."

An applicant is judged not on grades alone, but on his personal maturity and his maturity of purpose. He must have, Prof. Whitaker says:

"The motivation or desire to be a physician; interest in other people; integrity; initiative and considerable courage."

Because he will care for the lives of other people, he must be sound without question.

Turkish Quads Collect $800 in Prize Money

IZMIR, Turkey—The only quadruplets in Turkey—named Liberty, Justice, Fraternity and Equality—recently won $800 in a drawing held by a bank for its depositors.

The quads were born in July, 1930, to Ayshe Susuzlu, wife of an itinerant vendor of Izmir.

Liberty is a boy; the other three are girls. They were born on the anniversary of the proclamation of Turkey's democratic constitution.

National Parks Expect Tourist Overflow

WASHINGTON — Nature's wonderland of scenery in the national parks is expected to lure a record-breaking number of travelers—at least 53,000,000 this year.

Termed "irreplaceable national treasures" by President Eisenhower, the parks attract ever increasing numbers: 380,000 in 1916, more than 20,000,000 in 1941 and about 50,000,000 in 1955, the National Geographic Society says.

Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, foresees 80,000,000 visitors a year by 1966.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The Park Service has started a 10-year program nicknamed "Mission 66" to care for the increasing demands on facilities. It will provide overnight accommodations for 54,000 visitors, as compared to present quarters for 26,000. Additional campsites, parking and picnic areas, improved roads, trails, power and communication systems, will increase enjoyment of parks and historic areas.

Any government facilities or concessions which mar natural beauties of the parks will be relocated. Altogether, the National Park Service looks after 181 areas. From Acadia in Maine and the Florida Everglades, the group extends westward to Mount Rainier in Washington and the Channel Islands off the California coast.

Of all the areas, the Blue Ridge

Parkway in Virginia and North Carolina drew the largest number of travelers in 1955—more than 4,000,000. Three other areas counted 2,000,000 persons—Great Smoky Mountains National Park, the Nat-chez Trace Parkway in Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee, and Lake Mead National Recreational Area in Arizona-Nevada.

ISLE ROYALE, TOO

Both East and West boast parks and historic areas with familiar names: Yellowstone in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho, Glacier in Montana, Yosemite in California, Zion in Utah, Grand Canyon in Arizona, Mammoth Cave in Kentucky, the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee, Isle Royale in Michigan, and Shenandoah in Virginia.

Reaching into the Territories, the system includes 20,320-foot Mount McKinley in Alaska, highest summit in North America, and Hawaii National Park with the scenic volcanoes Kilauea and Mauna Loa and the extinct cone of Haleakala.

Museums and historic houses in the parks receive about 14,000,000 persons a year. Nearly 4,000,000 visitors attend lectures and camp-fire programs. Some 2,000,000 go on guided tours.

The battlefield at Gettysburg, which was visited by 719,740 persons in 1955, holds top interest among the National Military Parks

Crushed to Death

MUSKEGON (U.P.)—Janos Varga, 45, of Muskegon Heights, suffered fatal injuries Monday in a work accident at Shaw-Box Crane Division. Coroner John A. DeHorn said Varga was assisting a crane operator and was crushed when a sheet of steel broke loose and fell on him.

Dragon trees in the Canary Islands may be 50 feet in circumference and 3,000 years old.

Selective Burglary

SANTA FE, N. M. (U.P.)—Burglars who broke into the Pink Panther Saloon made off with one bottle each of 22 different domestic and foreign brands of liquor, plus $50 cash.

Shower Given for Betty Brill at Menzel Home

Mrs. Lucille Menzel of Edna avenue entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Betty Brill Tuesday evening.

Betty, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brill of Williams Lake, is the bride-elect of Jack Kratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kratt of Waterford. The couple will be married June 9 at Christ Lutheran Church, Waterford.

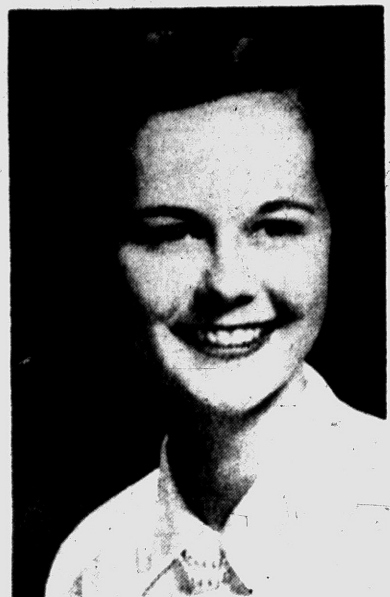

She has asked her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Myers of Clarkston, to be her maid of honor, Jack Kratt, as best man.

Shower guests were Pat Parmenter, Marilyn Weber, Rachael Deckard, Norma McGlothlin, Doris Lindeberg, Ann Stukas, Corrine Lomerson, Irene Hackney and Donelda Stinchcomb.

Thyra Kimmel, Geraldine Lawrence, Liz Cady, Freda Huntman, Rose Kawiecki, Laura Crain, Ann Capogna, June Vanderpool and Ruth Ruggles completed the list.

Be Careful

For safety when you use a washing machine, connect or disconnect the washer cord only when standing on a dry floor and with dry hands. If the floor is damp, stand on a dry rubber floor mat. And, grasp the plug, not the cord, when you make or break connections.

MARILYN JANE McCOMAS

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chetwood of Clinton drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn Jane McComas, to Howard P. Wallace, son of the S. B. Wallaces of Griffin, Ga. She will graduate in June from Indiana University where he is doing post graduate work in the Law school. A June 11 wedding.

Don't Let Plans Control Your Life

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some old proverbs are sound and true and full of wisdom. But some—we might as well admit it—are a lot of nonsense and ought to be put into the incinerator before they can do any more harm.

Among these is the old chestnut, "Plan your life and live your plan."

Actually, most of the big successes I know—and I know an awful lot of them—did no such thing. They played it by ear, as it were, and had nothing to do with rigid plans.

Elliott and Ruth Handler are an example of what I mean. The Handlers now have a million dollar toy business on the West Coast. But it all began, really, because they had some leftover wooden slats once.

Elliott Handler was—and is—an inspiring designer. Ruth loves working with people and business organizations.

PRETTY BROKE

In the early years of their marriage, they weren't well off financially. In fact, they were pretty broke off and on. But they kept on with one project or another, knowing that eventually they would hit the jackpot.

There was a jewelry business—Elliott's designs—and there was a doll furniture project that was simmering away.

One day, when they were looking for something more to do, they saw a bunch of leftover wooden slats from a shipment of the doll furniture.

They decided to use them for life, drop the idea something—and it was the beginning of their toy business! They are now one of the biggest, and most successful, manufacturers of toys in this country.

Mrs. Handler came to see me, straight from the National Toy Show.

When I asked her the secret of their success, she said, "Well, Elliott sticks to his territory—design—and I stick to the business end. Also, we work hard but don't plan too much. In this business, you never know what's going to happen next!"

DROP THE IDEA

If you are constantly tempted to make elaborate plans for your life, instead, get to work on whatever is around you to be done and let it be done—and life—which is a pretty smart operator—take it from there!

One Splash Enough

Always bear in mind the use of a room, its size and its likely furnishings when deciding upon a wallpaper. One bold, splashy pattern in a room is enough, whether it be in wallpaper, draperies or upholstery fabric.

Men will cast off their mantles of charcoal in favor of lighter, brighter colors in all phases of their wardrobe—including accessories.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you sometimes get confused trying to follow Secretary of State Dulles on the Russians, it's because he seems to have two separate ideas about them although not necessarily at the same time.

On what must be his sunny days he sees the Russians changing their ways because of their own weakness and Western pressure. On cloudier days he looks upon the new Soviet policies as a grave danger.

He has expressed a double worry of what might happen if there was a general acceptance of the idea that the Russians were mending their ways and concern about war was gone: (A) that the Western alliances might break up and (B) that Congress might be reluctant to vote as much money for the foreign aid program as the Eisenhower administration thinks necessary.

Last May 25 he said: "There are within the free nations some who are tempted by this prospect (the idea the Russians are changing for the better) and they look toward the United States to see how we interpret the recent Soviet gestures."

"If we seem to regard them as demonstrating a basic change of Soviet attitude and as indicating that the danger is over, they will hasten to follow in that way. In that event much of the solidarity in strength which has been built over the past year would quickly disintegrate."

NOW SKEPTICAL

Then, with Congress considering the foreign aid program, he added: "There could be no worse moment to depart from the policy represented by the foreign aid program which has brought us where we are."

This month—when Congress is considering this year's foreign aid bill—Dulles has been persistently skeptical of the Russians' good intentions in announcing they were cutting their armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

On May 15 Dulles said this wouldn't reduce the Soviets' ability to wage atomic war—that men taken out of uniform could be used making nuclear weapons—although it would substantially reduce the size of the ground forces.

KEEPS SAME VIEW

He stuck to this same view of the Russian cut, on Tuesday, saying that if they really went through with it, it was for economic, military and propaganda reasons.

Here are some of the things Dulles has had to say about the Russians in the past two years. In 1955:

On May 16 he saw some "promise of constructive accomplishment" at the Big Four summit meeting in the following July. On May 17 he said the biggest danger of the summit meeting was that the world might expect too much.

On June 7 he thought the Russian attitude toward the whole of Eastern Europe might be changing. On June 10 he said the new Soviet policy was the result of "strains" created by the West, that the Russians had really not undergone any change of heart, spirit does indeed prevail" and that their economy was on the verge of collapse.

On Sept. 22, after the Geneva Dec. 9 he said the Russians hadn't changed, but on Dec. 16 he said "It seems the Soviet leaders will seek to pursue their ambitions by means other than the use of threat of open force."

He talked of a need for the West to keep a capacity to retaliate massively against attack but on Dec. 16 he said "It seems the Soviet leaders will seek to pursue their ambitions by means other than the use of threat of open force."

On Jan. 11, just as the administration was getting ready to ask Congress for foreign aid money, Dulles and Eisenhower issued a statement warning the country to ones.

On Feb. 14, in a statement in which he said the country shouldn't be "panicked," Dulles also said Russian policies had failed and "they had to devise new wake up to the Russian danger and that "we could lose the economic contest."
