China Debate Starts

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly begins debate today on the annual proposal to admit Communist China. The debate was expected to end with the Chinese Reds still on the outside, despite the biggest vote in their favor so far.

Speakers listed for the first round of debate include Huot Sambath of Cambodia and Halim Budo of Albania, both supporters of Peking, and, on the opposite side, Liu Chieh of Nationalist China and Arthur J. Goldberg of the United States.

Diplomats agree that the Chinese Communists will fail to get the two-thirds majority needed to seat them.

They also agree that they will get the largest vote they have received since the issue first arose in 1950. The vote in 1965 was 41 in favor, 37 opposed and 12 abstentions.

Goldberg gave British television viewers an argument against bringing in Communist China in a recorded BBC interview last night.

He said that "it does not qualify for membership" because "it is not peace-loving" and it "repudiates the charter" of the United Nations.

'STRONG CASE'

"The recent declarations of Red China," he declared, "make this session a stronger case for the exclusion of Red China perhaps than ever before."

Huot Sambath advocated seating Communist China when he spoke Oct. 1 in the assembly's general debate.

He said its absence deprived the United Nations of universality, denied 700 million Chinese a voice, and prevented solution of world problems.

He contended the United Nations could not mediate the war in Viet Nam, because "the exclusion of China and the two Viet Nams prevents our organization from playing any positive role in this question."

DEBATING ITEM

The assembly is debating an item titled "Restoration of the Lawful Rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

It was submitted by 11 Communist and nonaligned countries—Albania, Cuba, Romania, Algeria, Burundi, Cambodia, the Congo (Brazzaville), Ghana, Guinea, Mali and Syria.

In other U.N. activity, the General Assembly's main political committee approved today a resolution calling on the disarmament negotiators in Geneva to negotiate quickly a treaty to ban the further spread of nuclear weapons.

By a vote of 85 to 0 with 6 abstentions, the committee adopted a compromise resolution on the top disarmament issues at this session of the U.N. General Assembly.

Detroit Police Hunting Killer

DETROIT (AP) — With Detroit's 1.6 million residents urged by clergymen and others to be calm, police combed the city today for a car from which a Negro was shot and killed on a street early yesterday.

The four or five young white men reported to have occupied the car also were sought.

Eddie Cook, 33, employee of the city's sanitation department and father of three children, was hit in the chest by a shotgun blast a block from his home in a near midtown section.

He died less than an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Police said Cook was an accidental victim in a fracas between Negro and white youths in the predominantly Negro neighborhood.

Church pastors and others called on citizens for calm.

A single shot was fired from the car, described by one witness as having a "light blue top and a dark blue bottom."

Soviets Parade New Missiles

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians displayed three new missiles yesterday plus an older one which they said can orbit the earth with a nuclear warhead.

The Soviet missiles were shown during the mammoth military parade marking the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. Attacks on the United States were relatively mild.

The orbital rocket, shown first last May Day, was given the place of honor in the parade of 250 pieces of military hardware.

Behind it, came a mobile missile which the Russians described as "invulnerable." The Russians say it is a new intercontinental ballistic missile.

Western experts estimated its range at 1,500 to 5,000 miles. The term "invulnerable" was taken to mean it could be moved on the ground to avoid attack.

It appeared to be a revised version of the Iron Maiden first shown last May. It was about 60 feet long, 20 feet longer than the Iron Maiden, five feet in diameter and solid fueled.

OTHER MISSILES

The other new missiles were described as intermediate range ballistic missiles with a range between 300 and 1,500 miles.

A fourth new weapon, tank-like in appearance and mobile, contained four anti-aircraft guns of about 50 caliber.

An announcement said the orbital missile could put a nuclear warhead into orbit and it then could be fired from the ground.

The missile at 115 feet, was the longest nuclear missile ever displayed here. It is three-stage and liquid-fueled, similar to the rockets which launch Soviet space ships.

U.N. AGREEMENT

A United Nations agreement, signed by both the Soviet Union and the United States, prohibits the orbiting of a nuclear weapon.

The United States has tested missiles to destroy attacking missiles in space but has not claimed to be able to launch nuclear attacks from space.

Since both the Soviet Union and the United States can orbit and return, manned spacecraft, it is assumed they can do the same thing with a nuclear warhead, sources said.

But U.S. experts consider intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles produce the same effect at less cost and with greater accuracy than an orbiting missile.

Area Mishaps Claim 3 Lives

Royal Oak Youths, Pontiac Man Killed

Dead are John F. Walker of 189 Cedarale, William R. Cosper, 19, and Judy L. Bonfield, 17.

Walker died shortly after 4 a.m. in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital from injuries received when his car struck a guard rail and then smashed into an abutment on I-75 near Holly.

State Police said a second vehicle collided with Walker's car, but caused no further injury to the victim. The accident occurred in Springfield Township.

Cosper and the Bonfield girl were killed in a three-car collision early yesterday at the intersection of Elizabeth Lake Road and Telegraph in Waterford Township.

State Police said Cosper's car collided with a vehicle driven by 24-year-old James I. Roser of 312 Clifford.

Is Diefenbaker in Last Race?

Given Only Scantest Hope in Vote Today

TORONTO (AP) — Friend and foe alike speculate that John Diefenbaker is making his last stand as a national political leader in Canada's election today.

Most of his opponents and many followers of Diefenbaker's Conservative party concede him only the scantest chance to win and displace Lester B. Pearson as prime minister.

Eight newspapers or broadcast groups predict Pearson will win; some supported Diefenbaker, but none foresees him as the winner.

Their forecasts average a total of 137 seats for Pearson's Liberal party, 10 more than it has now and a majority in the 265-member House of Commons.

Diefenbaker has made a vigorous campaign and has said nothing publicly about retiring as party leader if he loses, but an associate says this is probable. He is 70 and already has lost one election to the Liberals, in 1963.

Before that election his Cabinet was disrupted by resignations, amid charges of anti-Americanism, and there was a move in the party to discard Diefenbaker as leader.

The party has closed ranks again, but few Conservative stalwarts are likely to want Diefenbaker to remain as party chief after another defeat.

GENESEE OIL TANK FIRE — Firemen are shown wetting down oil storage tanks next to one spewing flames at a Marathon Oil Co. storage area in Genesee Township north of Flint today. The blaze burned itself out after 2½ hours, leaving three firemen injured and more than $30,000 in damage, according to a company spokesman. The tank apparently was set afire by lightning.

LBJ at Alma Mater to Sign College Bill

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson flew to his old college here today to sign a $2.6-billion education bill he said will put 140,000 more students in college next year with federal help.

Johnson, returning to the campus of Southwest Texas State College where he received his degree in 1930 — after a brief fling as a school dropout — offered this assessment of the broad new legislation:

"It means that a high school senior anywhere in this country can apply to any college or university in the U.S. — and not be turned away because his family is poor."

Asserting that "education is no longer a luxury but a necessity," Johnson said in a speech prepared for the outdoor bill-signing ceremony:

"In the next school year alone, 140,000 young men and women will be enrolled in college who, but for the provisions of this bill, would never have gone past high school."

"We will reap the rewards of their civic citizenship and greater productivity for decades to come."

FEDERAL FINANCING

Among other things, the legislation provides for federally financed scholarships — called "educational opportunity grants" — ranging from $200 to $1,000 a year.

"To thousands of young men and women," said Johnson, "this act means the path of knowledge is open to all with the determination to walk it."

At the same time, Johnson said he will go back to Congress in January for money to finance a National Teacher Corps authorized in the bill but later denied funds. This corps would bring special help to children in impoverished areas.

Blanket of Snow Is Possible

This morning's blanket of fog may be replaced by a blanket of snow tonight in the Pontiac area.

The weatherman predicts cloudy, windy and much colder weather will slip into the area tonight.

Today's light rain will turn to light snow and snow flurries, with the mercury scheduled to slip to a low between 24 and 30.

Tomorrow's outlook is cloudy and cold, with a high of 35 to 42 predicted.

Lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 44. By 2 p.m. the temperature warmed to 57.

Holiday Mail Deadline Is Wednesday

Christmas packages and greeting cards destined for overseas via surface shipment should be posted no later than Wednesday, according to Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson.

Servicemen, government personnel and their families can be sent packages and letters at fourth class rates through Army and Navy post offices at New York, San Francisco and Seattle, according to Donaldson.

Donaldson said parcels sent airmail should be mailed by Dec. 10.

Parcels weighing less than eight ounces can be airmailed for 88 cents. Larger packages will be 88 cents for the first pound and 80 cents for each additional pound, he said.

Donaldson urged residents to use care in packaging. Boxes should be of wood, metal or fibboard, wrapped in heavy paper and tied with strong cord.

ITEMS RULED OUT

Prohibited items include matches and lighter fluid, he said.

In some areas, restrictions have also been placed on coffee and cigarettes.

Paratroopers Shatter Strong Cong Force in Bloody Jungle Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes blasted another missile site in North Viet Nam today, the seventh air raid on the Soviet-built air defense system in four days.

But the series of attacks, which destroyed two sites and damaged five others, took a toll of five U.S. planes and two helicopters, with six American airmen listed as missing in enemy territory.

On the ground in South Viet Nam, troops of the U.S. 172d Airborne Division shattered a strong Viet Cong force manning a well-fortified jungle position north of Saigon. U.S. officials said they counted 110 enemy bodies and were still counting.

The Viet Cong force is believed to have abandoned the position.

The latest attack on a missile site was 60 miles east of Hanoi, and the pilots reported four missiles and four launchers at the site were heavily damaged.

SITES

Since July, U.S. planes have destroyed five missile installations and damaged eight others, military officials reported.

The Communists bagged their greatest number of U.S. aircraft of the weekend during U.S. attacks on missile sites near Thanh Hoa.

There, a missile downed one U.S. Air Force F105 jet Friday, while conventional ground forces blasted down two propeller-driven A1 Skyraiders and two rescue helicopters Saturday.

One Navy jet was knocked down in an attack on the missile site 35 miles east of Hanoi Saturday and another was lost yesterday 30 miles south of Hanoi during another attack on a missile site.

5 RESCUED

Rescue helicopters picked up 5 of the 11 airmen whose craft went down in Red territory.

In the south, paratroopers of the 173d Airborne met what was described as a main force of Viet Cong dressed in gray fatigues uniforms never seen before in South Viet Nam. The action was in Zone D, the Communist iron triangle 25 miles north of Saigon.

Brig. Gen. Ellis Williamson, the brigade commander, reported the paratroopers counted 110 Viet Cong dead and "they're not through counting."

U.S. casualties in the fight 15 miles north of Bien Hoa were described as moderate. For security reasons, American casualties are not given in numbers.

Rhodesia Plan Again Stalled

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Rhodesia reached another stalemate today in negotiations on that white-ruled African colony's demand for independence. Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia told Prime Minister Harold Wilson in a message made public by Wilson's office: "The only conclusion must be that we are back in the position we reached at the end of our talks in London, when we both agreed that views of our respective governments were irreconcilable."

Smith was replying to a message last night from Wilson in which the British leader called for a meeting in Malta to discuss further the crisis over the independence issue.

5 Girls, Woman Hurt in Crash

Car Hits School Bus; Driver of Auto Critical

BELLEVILLE (AP) — Five girls and a woman were injured, one critically, when a car crashed head-on with a school bus on a foggy road near Belleville today, authorities said.

Shirley Anderson, 30, of Belleville, driver of the car, suffered broken legs and was reported in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in nearby Ann Arbor. Wayne County sheriff's men said.

Debbie Kopsolis, 15, of near Ypsilanti, was thrown by the impact into the stepwell at the door of the bus where she was pinned for almost an hour, officers said. The girl was freed by rescuers using wrecking bars. She was taken to St. Joseph Hospital with lacerations and a possible broken leg.

Four girls among the 26 children aboard the bus were treated at hospitals for lesser injuries.

'CROSSED CENTER LINE'

The bus driver, Merle Parker of Belleville, was quoted by sheriff's men as saying the car crossed the center line of Huron River Drive and struck the bus head-on. The accident occurred while the bus was traveling about 40 miles an hour one mile west of Belleville, Parker told officers.

Francie Howard, 13, of near Ypsilanti, was treated at St. Joseph Hospital.

Shirley Rich, Jeanette Montie and Debbie Cobbs, all age 13 and all of near Ypsilanti, were treated for minor injuries at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti and were released.

4 in Running for County Auditor Post

Three Republicans and a Democrat are in contention for the $50-per-diem Oakland County Board of Auditors appointment to be made tomorrow by the County Board of Supervisors.

The part-time post, in lieu of the previous full-time board of auditors position, pays a maximum of $3,500 annually.

Republicans mentioned as candidates for the job are David R. Calhoun, former county clerk-registrar of deeds; Elmer Johnson, former Waterford Township supervisor; and John B. Osgood, an attorney and member of the board of supervisors.

The lone Democrat is Willis M. Brewer, 73, who served as chairman of the board of auditors from 1919 to 1930 and presently manages the Pontiac Secretary of State office.

The part-time post was created by the board of supervisors after John C. Austin announced his retirement from the board of auditors effective Dec. 31.

Diefenbaker held the job from 1957 until he lost to Pearson in 1963.

Pearson, with only 127 seats in the last Parliament, had to depend on support from minor parties to pass vital legislation. He called today's election in an effort to get a Liberal majority.

He has predicted a net gain of 16 seats to give him that majority.

The Conservatives, or Tories had 92 seats in the last House. Three smaller parties divided 40, and the remaining 6 were vacant or held by independents.

Pearson, 68, entered the government under Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and later served as foreign secretary under Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

He has hit hard on the theme of "Liberal prosperity."

Canada has been gaining 9 per cent annually in gross national product, and employment figures are up.

Pearson has pointed with pride to Canada's new agreement with the United States on automotive exports.

Other than that, Canadian relations with Washington have not figured in the campaign.

There were 1,011 candidates for the 265 seats in Canada's fifth election in eight years.

Michigan Claims Fund—2

Requirements Strict on Getting License Plates

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a two-part series on the new auto insurance law.)

By DAVID J. COOK

Michigan's new law setting up a motor vehicle accident claims fund lays down strict requirements for proof of insurance from motorists buying license plates.

Persons who furnish acceptable proof when they purchase their 1966 license plates pay only a $1 fee in addition to the normal cost of new plates.

Those without acceptable proof are required to pay a $35 fee.

A memorandum sent by Michigan Secretary of State James M. Hare to Pontiac branch manager Willis M. Brewer lists these four acceptable forms of proof:

- The certificate of insurance policy, including expiration date.
- A statement containing the same information as the certificate, on the letterhead of any insurance company or agent, signed by an authorized representative of that insurance company.
- Any other document from an insurance company or agent containing the same information as the certificate, on the letterhead of any insurance company or agent, signed by an authorized representative of that insurance company.

Denies Police Seized Novel From Bookstore

BIRMINGHAM—Reports that a novel had been confiscated from a bookstore by Birmingham Police are untrue, according to Chief Ralph W. Moxley.

A one-sided controversy began last week when a teen-ager attending the City Commission meeting asked, "Did Mr. Moxley take some books out of Doubleday's?"

Moxley requested the commission to allow him a week to prepare a written report on the alleged incident, reportedly involving a book titled "The Last Temptation of Christ."

He told newsmen he would not discuss the matter until he offered his report.

The commission will receive his answer at the 8 p.m. meeting today.

POLICE RECORDS

In his report, Moxley said he was out of the city on Oct. 28, the day the confiscation was reported to have occurred, but police records do not reveal that any books were taken from the store on that date.

"I can further state," said Moxley, "that no books, periodicals, pamphlets, magazines, newspapers or other reading materials have ever been seized, confiscated or taken away from the premises of any merchant in Birmingham without his consent or due process of law since I have been chief of police."

"Any statements to the contrary cannot be based on fact," Moxley says in his report.

Moxley added that when complaints are received regarding objectionable material, it is checked on the scene.

OWNER ADVISED

"If it appears there is justification for the complaint, the owner or manager of the store is contacted and advised of the matter," Moxley said.

"He is then asked if he will voluntarily remove the material from his shelves. In almost every case, the material is removed and the matter is closed."

Moxley said that in a case where the owner is reluctant to cooperate, copies are requested "so a more thorough evaluation of the material may be made by the police and either the prosecutor or city attorney."

Pearson has pointed with pride to Canada's new agreement with the United States on automotive exports.

Other than that, Canadian relations with Washington have not figured in the campaign.

Saturday, three Franklin residents will autograph books from 19 a.m. to noon.

Scheduled to appear are Al Kaline, Detroit Tiger outfielder, autographing his biography by Al Hirschberg; Mrs. Margaret Williamson Peterson, autographing her three books, "First Book of Bugs," "First Book of Birds" and "First Book of Mammals," and Chuck Yearn, autographing his book "About Skiing."

search and sweep operation that started several days ago. They found what U.S. officers described as a well-fortified jungle position.

"The enemy remained in position and kept firing," Williamson said. "We have had a real close-at-hand, jungle-type fight. There is no question but that this was a main force outfit."

He said the Communists were equipped with Rucksack-type packs and wore steel helmets. Usually the Viet Cong are dressed in black pajamas and do not wear steel helmets.

"The enemy made every effort to strip all of the bodies of everything, including identification, and all usable equipment," Williamson said.

Another sharp ground action was reported 135 miles east of Saigon, where 500 Viet Cong overran a hamlet.

The defenders suffered heavy losses. The government force later regained the hamlet with help from U.S. air strikes.

In another development, a U.S. spokesman disclosed that U.S. Marine planes accidentally bombed a friendly village yesterday, killing one woman and injuring 10 other persons.

The Americans also took heavy losses in the savage fighting 8 miles west of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me.

Federal Panel Urges Tax on Polluters

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government panel has suggested that a special tax be levied on polluters of the nation's air, water and soil.

"Pollution jockeys us all," said a report by a panel of President Johnson's Science Advisory Committee. "We are at the same time polluters and sufferers from pollution."

Therefore, the panel said, "we recommend that careful study be given to taxlike systems in which all polluters would be subject to 'effluent charges' in proportion to their contribution to pollution."

Economic pressure thus would be applied to reduce what the scientists defined as pollution: man's unfavorable alteration of his surroundings, physical or aesthetic.

APPLICATION OF LEVY

Under this definition, the levy might apply to smoking factories, sewer systems corrupting streams, cars spewing exhaust fumes, careless users of pesticides, even a noisy radio.

The report, issued Saturday night, suggested that a substitute may have to be found for the automobile's internal combustion engine and its discharge of gases and lead. It mentioned power systems driven by rechargeable batteries or chemical fuel cells.

Government
Should Lead,
Says Reuther

DETROIT (AP)—The federal government should contribute the largest amount in a $10 to $13 billion annual water pollution fight, United Auto Workers president Walter Reuther said Saturday at a union-sponsored meeting.

The one-day conference, the first of a planned nationwide series sponsored by the UAW, was attended by more than 1,000 union members and featured Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall as a speaker.

Reuther said the problem of cleaning up the nation's rivers, lakes and streams is "a problem so severe that we can't go on taking a massive effort to solve it."

Noting private industry would have to help in the problem, the union leader said "if we can spend $50 billion a year on armaments, we can spend one-fifth that amount on cleaning up our water. If we spent $13 billion a year, it would be only 2 per cent of our Gross National Product."

Udall observed that, of four bonding issues on the New York ballot, only the water issue was approved.

"In New York people have indicated they are willing to pay the cost of cleaner water. If money is not expended we will never lick this problem, Udall said.

Viet Nam Duty Urged

CADILLAC (AP)—George S. Fredericks, state commander of the American Legion, said Saturday that draft card burners should be drafted for Viet Nam service so they can "find out what the fighting is all about."

In speaking to a Northern Michigan Legion zone meeting, Fredericks also urged Americans to wear American flag lapel pins to demonstrate support of the war.

Some color-blind people may have their vision corrected by training with a new electronic instrument.

It Seems to Me....

McNamara Center of Squall With Pentagon's Top Brass

Michigan's own ROBERT McNAMARA is the center of another Pentagon squall. The resignation of two ranking officers precipitated a fresh to-do over the unending controversy of: should civilians take precedence over old line Army and Navy officers?

Once the armed forces stood supreme. No one dared stand up to the man with an unholty clank of epaulets on his shoulders. But "time marches on." We face "this changing world."

Sometime back, Washington authorities noted bungling and miscalculations on the part of our hitherto unchallenged top brass. Civilians cogitated earnestly and the verdicts of staff officers were overridden. When Michigan's McNAMARA went to the Pentagon building, he was entrusted with the early task of selecting the sources for billions and billions of defense department expenditures. This made good sense.

Purchasing and coordinating on huge scales had been a specific part of his life and he acted with experience and know-how. Quite obviously his actual knowledge here far outranked the men in uniform. This irked top echelon men in service who figured they were supreme. Naturally, McNAMARA made a number of enemies who were ready to snipe at him and draw a calculated bead from the Pentagon hedges and shrubbery.

But the Defense Secretary had one almighty and unchallenged resource on his side. I refer to the President of the United States. The late JOHN F. KENNEDY stood staunchly behind him and McNAMARA called the shots.

The two current resignations stirred old embers that still smoldered. However, Insider's Newsletter says that the Defense Secretary has some new and significant arrows for his bow. The first "McNAMARA class" of career officers emerges from the Defense Management Systems at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif. They are top specialists who can serve as a foil for the Secretary.

Insider believes Congress will be much less apt to challenge these military men than they would civilians. So-o-o-o the Michiganid will have some hefty linemen out there blocking for him and running effective interference. The game resumes with these new faces in the lineup.

Controversial Subject..

Our 1968 Presidential race is a considerable distance away, but one interesting fact emerges temporarily. Both Michigan's Governor, GEORGE ROMNEY, and the new Mayor of New York are Presidential possibilities that want no part of BARRY GOLDWATER. The Arizona man remains a controversial figure but at the same time, he doesn't exactly "fade away" as he was supposed to do. GOLDWATER supporters are almost fanatical in their refusal to drop a lost cause.

Understatement....

Here's one of the laughs of the year on a grim and deadly subject. The Kremlin says in Russian newspapers that our Pentagon is starting rumors about Unidentified Flying Objects to alarm and arouse the U.S. citizenry against the Russians.

To date, practically every reported UFO has been catalogued satisfactorily by the Government. There are still some die-hards and for them I have just one question:

If these unidentified objects are whizzing about, why hasn't at least one — just one — landed and announced itself?

Stern Justice....

"Has the recent rash of brutal crimes pointed up the need for sterner justice?"

The answers were almost an unqualified "yes." The principal of a high school did ask how the courts could punish a boy who was already at the bottom, explaining he needs help; and then he added: "but I'm not referring to those who commit horrible or brutal crimes."

The other answers agreed that evildoers were escaping too lightly — and actually expected to be absolved today. The question was put to a cross section of Gotham citizens. What do YOU think?

And in Conclusion....

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

New York night clubs are groggy (in a literary sense) since the world's fair closed and several are ticketed for extinction. So are some hotels. YUL BRYNNER has 10,000 Havana cigars stashed away — enough to last JOHN GABRIEL about a month. JOAN FOWLER, Kentucky lass, stands six feet five and delivers cigarettes to big dealers in an armored car as a gag. OVERHEARD: "The Pope is a former Cardinal and St. Louis could certainly have used him this year."

Trusted scouts advise me Susan Windeler rates as one of the area's very attractive young ladies. Jack Nicklaus wants a camera good fans given unlimited freedom during tournaments. No one but "Luci" Johnson would change the normal "to" to an "it" and I'm surprised she doesn't capitalize it. A top TV official says prime night time serials are on the way out. They've had it.

I read about more stores discontinuing trading stamps and lowering prices. Boss: "Why does it take three men to change a light bulb?" Worker: "Well, one holds the bulb and the other two turn the ladder." AMOS BURKE ceases on TV January 12th and he was one of my favorites. OVERHEARD: "I get along real good with my mother-in-law. We can't afford a baby sister yet." Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: The C's — JUDY JACOB, Southfield lass who finished third in the Miss Teen-age America Contest; the J's — the delay in sentencing JACK RUBY.

Who Said Chaperones Were Out Of Date?

David Lawrence Says:

Slap at Aluminum 'Fateful Step'

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration has taken a fateful step that may change America's economic course in the near future. For the White House has endeavored to interfere with the law of supply and demand by price controlling the aluminum industry.

The next year 200,000 tons of aluminum in an unprecedented effort to break down an already announced price increase of half a cent a pound.

The federal government today has no legal right to fix either wages or prices. Such laws are usually passed only in wartime.

The existence of a stockpile of 14 million tons of surplus aluminum held by the government for many years now has been used as a club over the aluminum industry. Of this amount, 500,000 tons can be sold without specific authorization by Congress.

So the question is one of motive — whether the objective is to get rid of 200,000 tons of aluminum in the next year or just to break down the price and put the companies in a hole.

When a price increase was announced by some aluminum companies last week, the administration let it be known that it was thinking of selling some of the metal it held. But it was denied that this had any connection with the price changes. Then, a few days later, it was officially admitted that there was a relationship.

Executives of several aluminum companies were called to Washington to discuss projects for the disposal of some of the accumulated aluminum.

They offered plan after plan to buy 200,000 tons as a part of an agreement to cover purchases of 500,000 tons in the next 14 years. They thought at first that this proposal would be accepted but their offers were abruptly rejected.

The negotiations were carried on with the secretary of defense but, as the story goes, he had to make a telephone call to President Johnson in Texas after each meeting.

ABOVE GUIDEPPOSTS The net result was an announcement at a press conference in Washington on Saturday that the price increases were above the so-called "guideposts."

The chairman of the President's Economic Advisory Board finally said that the price rise had violated the "guideposts" laid down by the administration, whereby price changes would not be regarded as justified unless they came within certain limits of productivity.

The aluminum companies, on the other hand, claim that the "guideposts" were measured by the administration on smelting alone and that this is only a small part of the business.

The whole maneuver has caused dismay. BUSINESS PUZZLED

Now many businessmen are puzzled and frustrated.

It is precisely this kind of one-sided application of government power that can throw the whole economic system out of gear.

The natural laws of supply and demand can be interfered with only for a short time before there is a loss of confidence within the business community. This sort of thing can bring on recessions.

Businessmen contend that the right way to handle the problem is to let Congress pass a law on the whole subject for major industries rather than let the President make the "laws" to suit the whims of his political or economic advisers.

Citizenship Test on TV Poses Timely Challenge

NEW YORK — What with all the civil disobedience and anti-government protests polluting the commonwealth, Americans have a timely challenge to ponder our individual rights, responsibilities and obligations as citizens.

The best time for this reappraisal will be tomorrow night between 10 and 11, EST.

CBS-TV that night is presenting its "National Citizenship Test" whose format will be somewhat similar to the recent "National Drivers Test."

The citizenship test is not to be aimed at illustrating how "patriotic" we are. It is aimed to quiz us and, hopefully, to inspire some serious thought, about how aware we are as to the means, prerogatives and machinery available to us to be good citizens.

The citizenship test, in the light of recent disturbances, holds implications of urgency that almost make the other TV test frivolous by comparison.

The Christmas cards are in the stores, and it looks like another hard year for the Child, the Manger, the Star of Bethlehem, the Holy Family and the Three Wise Men.

They are there someplace, however, if you can wade through layers of cute puppies or kittens unraveling a ball of yarn which spells out "Merry X-mas!"

Call me Scrooge, but I can't quite experience the haunting glory of bygone Christmases by resting the eye on a cartoon of Santa chasing a naked secretary at the office Christmas party. Sleigh bells don't ring in my ear (as they probably should) when I open a card which is a photograph of a family — Good friends they be — all smiling frozily.

NOT AROUND

Snow is fine and all that, but there wasn't any around when Christ was born. Nor reindeer ridden by cartooned images of the dear little ones of the family. Nor hack poets.

There was mainly this Child, as I get it, and His mother and she wrapped Him in some of her clothing and laid Him in the manger of a cave because, as a good reporter named Luke wrote some years ago, the family had some hotel trouble.

Opposite Result!

The Wall Street Journal

The U.S. decision to bar Mexican harvest workers from California although intended to provide more jobs for Americans, clearly hasn't had the desired effect. There are indications it may have exactly the opposite result.

Labor unions were disturbed because the Mexicans, accustomed to skimpy pay rates at home, eagerly accepted the strenuous field jobs at wages that were low by U.S. standards. California growers, however, steadily maintained that Americans were either "too soft" for the work or were just unwilling to accept it, even at considerably higher wages. Washington bowed to the unions' view.

Now it appears that the growers knew what they were talking about. Take the Use of 'Cat' Fertilizer Discussed by Readers

JUST CURIOUS

In reply to the letter from Green Thumb, I can see that he is quite a snarler. Dogs ruin the shrubbery and cats are much quieter. There are more dogs than cats anyway. Well Green Thumb, I wonder if dogs make good fertilizer?

Comments on Disagreement in Lake Orion

Rumors seem to be going around Lake Orion that President Rossmann and I have split because of our disagreement on the compromise suggested at a recent council meeting. This I emphatically deny. Rossmann has a right to his opinion, the same as I have a right to mine. If he doesn't want the Village attorney, that's up to him. When the compromise was suggested he indicated agreement. Noting this, when he asked me about the compromise I agreed and still do.

But look at the payoff. Rossmann's refusal to go along irked the council, who took it out on me by appointing a "successor" to me. Publicly I became the "whipping boy." Was this fair?

Let me assure all the residents of the Village of Lake Orion that I am still the chief assessor and I have the books. They'll have a court battle to get them and I have a good lawyer to represent me.

Optimists Sponsor Youth Appreciation Week

Last spring, boys in afflicted midwestern states joined a sand-bagging brigade in an attempt to save lives, city property, and valuable farm lands from the most ravaging devastation ever unleashed by the Mississippi and its tributaries.

These youth are a part of the younger generation condemned by many for its lack of responsibility and high moral standards. These boys received no public acclaim for their efforts. They didn't expect it.

Believing that these wholesome youth and others like them deserve and need public recognition of their good deeds, the Optimist clubs throughout the United States and Canada are sponsoring their annual Youth Appreciation Week November 8-14. They urge you to resolve that future weeks will be devoted to appreciating today's juvenile decency advocates who are destined to become tomorrow's free world leaders.

tomato crop. With the 37,000 Mexicans that helped out last year helped from the country, did U.S. workers rush to the gap? At first, yes. But many soon gave up. As Robert L. Gibson, president of Libby, McNeill & Libby, says, "We took many such men by bus to our fields. Some would last an hour, some a day."

Nor is the situation improving. The Agriculture Department recently reported that the September farm-labor force was a record low for the month, mostly because the foreigners were absent. The shortage exists, the report said, despite sharp wage increases as employers seek to lure domestic workers as replacements.

Consequently there weren't enough hands to harvest this year's tomato crop, and Labor Secretary Wirtz — under pressure from growers and Growers and packers are looking for a way out and the search could take them clear out of the country. According to Libby's Mr. Gibson, his company is looking very deeply into establishing a cannery operation in Mexico. If that happens it may drain not only field jobs from California but many others as well. So perhaps Congress would do well to reconsider its decision — namely this particular undisciplined effort to re-arrange the economy produces results worse than a few rotten tomatoes.

Aluminum Firms Criticize Government's Surplus Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is releasing part of its surplus aluminum. Private companies are releasing critical statements.

Despite the week-long controversy, major producers appear-ently are remaining firm in their intention to raise prices.

The key developments: Two Cabinet members — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler — announced Saturday that the government would sell 200,000 tons during the coming year.

DENY PROMPTS
Repeatedly, they said the decision wasn't prompted by the industry price boosts; that it had been in the works for eight months; that it was needed because of increased defense requirements; and that it would offset the threat of increased imports which would strain the nation's balance of payments.

At the same session, however, Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the industry increases — fifth in 25 months — are not justified and are inflationary.

Ackley said that profits this year for the three major companies — Kaiser, Alcoa and Reynolds — will be 80 per cent above the level of 1960. An industry spokesman countered that aluminum is the only metal industry whose prices have not increased beyond the 1957-59 period, which he called the generally accepted base.

INDUSTRY RETURN
He said a survey showed the industry's return on invested capital was 4.9 per cent compared with 11.2 per cent for other industries.

Ackley's predecessor, Walter W. Heller, said he agreed that the aluminum price increases aren't justified. He said on NBC's television-radio program "Meet the Press" that the government sales "will tend to bid prices below what they otherwise would have been."

McNamara, in response to a question, said the government sales are "bound to relieve some of the pressure on prices." McNamara said about 115,000 of the 200,000 tons would be sold to defense contractors rather than on the open market.

NATION'S NEEDS
The aluminum stockpile is maintained for defense, space and emergency needs. The nation now has about 2.1 million tons of the metal, about 1.4 million tons above stockpile requirements.

Government-industry disposal talks have been under way since September, and were pushed last week at the direction of President Johnson after the price increases were announced.

New Red Diplomacy?

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Diplomats in London expect the Soviet Union to launch a new major diplomatic offensive early in 1966.

The Kremlin currently is re-appraising policy after a diplomatic "freeze" which has been in effect ever since the firing of Nikita Khrushchev a year ago.

NEWSOM

Word from Moscow, however, is that the Russians still are not ready to force a showdown with Red China despite Red Chinese reverses in Viet Nam, Indonesia and Africa.

There may be more bilateral conferences between the Russians and other Communist parties during the next few months but no universal forum for international Communism before the 23rd Soviet Party Congress in March.

At that time, most of the world's 90-odd parties will send delegations to Moscow.

BERLIN PRESSURES

Western officials in Berlin expect the Communists to warm up the propaganda claim that West Berlin is a third German state without legal ties to West Germany.

The campaign was foreshadowed by news conference remarks of the Soviet ambassador to East Germany who said that Russia considers West Berlin no part of West Germany.

Communists already have condemned the forthcoming official visit on Nov. 12-22 of West German President Heinrich Lübke as "provocative."

FRENCH BOYCOTT

French President Charles de Gaulle also is believed readying some new moves after his expected reelection next month.

Included could be a new government with the Soviet Union and a further weakening of French ties with NATO.

The French are expected either to boycott or take only a token part in the meeting of NATO defense ministers on Nov. 26-27.

The meeting is to discuss U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's plan for a five-member select committee on NATO nuclear strategy.

The French oppose the plan and say that, anyway, there was no reason for calling a special meeting only three weeks before the Paris NATO council session in December.

ALGERIANS TO ACT

Reliable reports from Algeria say the government of President Houari Boumedienne plans to tackle seriously the nation's mounting economic crisis now that the Afro-Asian conference, to which Algeria was to have played host, has been indefinitely postponed.

The Council of the Revolution will meet shortly to discuss measures to deal with the country's 40 per cent unemployment rate.

Hong Kong reports say Communist China appears headed for a record grain harvest of as much as 190 million tons.

It is difficult to reconcile this figure with the recent huge wheat purchase — 224 million bushels valued at $402 million — from Canada.

Some observers believe it could be that Red China is stockpiling against the possibility of a war with the United States.

Election Violence Toll Climbs in W. Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Western Nigeria's death toll in a month of election violence climbed today to an estimated 75 to 150. At least 16 persons were reported killed over the weekend, 11 of them in one bloody outbreak near Owu.

Nineteen others, including four policemen were injured in that incident. Among the weekend dead were several policemen, at least one tribal chief and a judge who was hacked to death with hatchets and decapitated.

Who Will Follow the Aging Leaders?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In a number of major nations, the course of history hangs on the aging heartbeat of a single man. What becomes of France after de Gaulle? Of Spain after Franco? Of Yugoslavia after Tito. United Press International reporters in various capitals have addressed themselves to these questions in obtaining the information for the following dispatch.)

By United Press International
Charles de Gaulle of France is nearly 75 and wants to serve another seven years as president. Portugal's Antonio de Oliveira Salazar at 76 is in his fourth decade of rule. No one knows the age of strongman Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya, but he is at least 70 and still going strong.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China has just turned 78 and enjoys excellent health. Yugoslav President Tito recently overcame a flu attack and at 73 appears in generally robust condition.

Likewise his imperial majesty Haile Selassie I, the conquering lion of Judah and undisputed ruler of Africa's oldest independent nation, Ethiopia. He also is 73.

Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco, 72, is rumored to have arteriosclerosis and other ailments, but he doesn't look ill and sources close to the chief of state say he isn't.

Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung of Communist China is nearing 72, and his health is said to be failing. Many foreigners who have seen Mao fairly recently say he is showing signs of feebleness.

MUST STEP DOWN

But these men and others must eventually step down. Most have handpicked their successors, according to inquiries by UPI correspondents.

Chiang, for example, has installed his elder son, Chiang Ching-kuo, 55, as Formosan defense minister. Since the death last March of Vice President Chen Cheng, the influential Chiang-kuo appears their apparent to his father.

De Gaulle, who would be 82 if he wins and completes another term in office, probably would back Premier Georges Pompidou to succeed him if he ever steps down. He estimates the opposition is not strong enough to overthrow the Gaullism that has brought France its present strong economic position.

The chances of an orderly succession are high. France, in short, has never had it so good and the Frenchman of 1965 seems more politically mature than at any time in this century.

DEEPENING MYSTERY

As for Franco's successor, this has been a deepening mystery since he seized power 29 years ago from the military. The general feeling is that Spain will see a return to the monarchy, although this is not popular with the younger generation.

According to the law, Spain is a monarchy without a king. Among Franco's probable successors, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon, grandson of Spain's last king, Alfonso XIII, who died in exile in Rome in 1941, seems the likeliest choice.

If Franco died tomorrow, chances are the transition would be orderly, in accordance with his wishes. The change to constitutional monarchy is provided in the referendum of 1947.

Ode to Viet Nam

Marine's Poem Hits Home

DA NANG, Viet Nam—(NEA)

"You sit at home and watch TV.

You sip a refreshing cold ice tea

The battle report of a casualty bier

Then you view a far-off land

Where men are dying in the sand

A frown appears across your face

You're tired of hearing about that place."

The lines of this poem were written by an unknown Marine. It is roughly drafted and the attempt to rhyme hinders the content. But it is composed in searching earnest.

Perhaps, full of fear, homesick and weary of conflict, the author is trying to convince himself he is correct. That anything other is not.

"Stop and think for a moment or two

And ask, 'Doesn't it really concern you?'

It's great to be alive and free

And they're out fighting for my liberty

Those guys who live in filth and slime

How can they do it all of the time?

Why, indeed, should they really care

If it's a war I will not share?"

Copies of the poem have been mimeographed in small numbers and individual Marines, struck by the simple truth, have circulated them throughout the corps.

Units distribute them to new men. Veterans read worn copies over again when the blues set in. The meter is faulty, choice of words hardly Shakespearean. In places it smacks of bitterness, in other spots it is even syrupy.

But Leathernecks' eyes have watered where tears normally well seldom.

"You lucky guy, you giggle and sneer

Because you've never really known fear

But the men over here face death each day

For freedom and the American way

Though tired and sick, he continues to fight

Work all day, stand guard all night

He longs for home, to see a loved one

But he can't quit 'til the job is done."

Just words on paper, of course, yet piercing to the penman's peers. In a way, they justify the misery that more eloquent thoughts cannot.

They reach a GI of any age, any education. They express for him the views which few have asked for. They simply tell the world . . . for him.

"The days are hot, the nights are too

What wonders your iced tea would do

We dream of that, and sizzling steak

Then a nightmare shouts, 'We've ground to take.'

Some will be heroes because they are brave

Others will just get a wreath for their grave

Stop and think for a moment or two

And ask, 'Doesn't it really concern you?'"

An anonymous poem, written not by a single man but by 140,000 of them. Set down in sweat, blood and tears by gas pump people, mechanics, policemen, clerks, laborers, lawyers.

Those who are here in a far-off land

Where men are dying in the sand.

In Communist China, the heir-apparents to Mao are only slightly younger but apparently in better physical shape. The most likely successor to power in Peking is Liu Shao-chi, president of the republic.

SHOWING AGE

Prime Minister Chou En-lai, fourth-ranking in the present Chinese hierarchy, is beginning to show his age.

A lifelong bachelor, Portugal's Salazar has refused to discuss the possibility of his successor. He has been ruling since 1932—longer than any other prime minister in modern times. The subject of succession is taboo in government quarters.

Because of this, it would appear there is a chance of a take-over by the military or police if Salazar retires or dies. But this is purely guesswork.

Yugoslavia's Tito has no heir apparent. Three men are mentioned as possible successors.

OUTSIDE CHANCE

They are Alexander Rankovic, 56, former "tough cop" police minister who now serves as deputy president; Edvard Kardelj, 55, president of the federal assembly and more adept at Communist party ideological matters than Rankovic; and Premier Petar Stambolic, 53, an able administrator given only an outside chance.

If Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta were to die tomorrow, chaos would almost certainly follow in Kenya. Kenyatta has been unable or unwilling to groom a natural successor, possibly because of the tribal and political differences which beset Kenya.

His passing most certainly would touch off a leadership battle between personable, politically clever Tom Mboya, 35, and 53-year-old Vice President Oginga Odinga, a volatile little man who has often supported doctrinaire communism.

Kenyatta, the former Mau Mau terrorist leader who spent seven years in jail for his part in the rampage of the 1950s, has consolidated his position since Kenya became independent in December 1963. This makes orderly succession all but impossible.

SOURCE OF WORRY

The demise of Haile Selassie is a constant source of worry to his subjects, who feel a bloody power struggle could follow.

Nominally, the successor would be his imperial highness Asfa - Woosen Haile Selassie, the 49-year-old crown prince who has walked in his father's shadow throughout his life.

In December 1960, however, the palace guard revolted while Haile Selassie was visiting Brazil and installed his son on the throne. The crown prince made a speech over Addis Ababa ra-

U.S. Was Set to Act on Cuba if Soviet Missiles Remained--Schlesinger

NEW YORK (AP) — Former presidential adviser Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. says the United States was prepared for "some action against Cuba the next week" if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev had not agreed to remove Russian missile bases in Cuba.

Schlesinger, a historian, gives his account of the October 1962 crisis in Life magazine's fifth installment of his forthcoming book, "A Thousand Days." The magazine article is entitled, "Cuba: To the Edge of the Nuclear Abyss."

On Saturday, Oct. 27, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy carried a message to the Soviet ambassador in Washington which, Schlesinger said, warned that "unless we received assurances in 24 hours, the U.S. would take action by Tuesday."

Khrushchev's cable agreeing to negotiate settlement for removal of the bases started coming in to Washington Sunday morning.

Schlesinger continued: "No one could discern what lay darkly beyond an air strike or invasion, what measures and countermeasures, actions and reactions, might have driven the hapless world to the ghastly consummation."

Schlesinger makes clear that he had not known of the secret discussions going on at the White House until Oct. 19 when the late Adlai E. Stevenson, with the president's permission, filled him in.

Klan Rallies Held in 4 States Over Weekend

By The Associated Press

Burning crosses and memorial services highlighted Ku Klux Klan rallies held over the weekend in four states.

Klansmen, spectators — and some hecklers — turned out in Rising Sun, Md.; Chesapeake, Va.; Lebanon, Ohio; and Austin, Tex.

The rally at Rising Sun, the first in Maryland in more than 40 years, drew a crowd Saturday night that was estimated at about 2,000. However, Vernon Naimaster, acting head of the state klavern, said there were at least 3,000 cars counted before the counter "got tired and quit."

The Maryland rally featured memorial services for Daniel Burros, a New York Klan leader who killed himself when his Jewish background was disclosed, and Matt Murphy Jr., a Klan attorney from Birmingham, Ala., who was killed in an auto accident.

NEW INTEREST

Last Friday, Georgia Grand Dragon Calvin Craig said a congressional investigation of the Klan in Washington, has produced new interest and "million dollars a day worth of publicity," for the KKK.

The Texas march, called by success by Exalted Cyclops Royce McPhall of Crockett, was marked by taunts and jeers from spectators as the robed Klansmen walked five blocks to the steps of the state Capitol Sunday. Five men identified as members of the American Nazi party walked with the Klan group.

A group of students, including several Negroes, marched beside the robed men at one point and sang the civil rights song, "We Shall Overcome."

When McPhall attempted to read a speech at the Capitol, students began an impromptu pep rally.

'MENACE TO GOSPEL'

The Ohio rally Saturday night came after authorities in Dillsboro, Ind., prohibited a gathering of 350 Friday night and 1,500 Saturday night in a peanut field about 20 miles east of Jackson, N.C., spoke to rallies of about 1,000. James R. Venable of Stone Mountain, Ga., imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, denounced newsman-perial wizard of the United States, said the Klan knife. A Mississippi Freedom

Elsewhere on the racial scene, a Negro father of six was shot to death Sunday in Pelahatchie, Miss., a small town near Jackson. Sheriff T. H. Shivers said Constable Luther E. Stevenson shot

ment investigate the killing.

In Detroit, a Negro was killed

Sunday by a shotgun blast as he walked near his home. Witnesses said the shot was fired from a car carrying a group of white youths. The Negro, Eddie Cook, 53, was a city sanitation worker.

SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

At Meridian, Miss., a Negro was seriously wounded by a shotgun blast into his car. Peter Johnson, 56, was hit in the head and lost his left eye, doctors said. Johnson said the blast came from a passing auto.

At Fayetteville, N.C., two Negro Marines charged with terrorizing residents in Cumberland County, told officers they were members of the National Abolition Forces Organization. They were tracked down in a wooded area late Saturday night. The heavily armed men were identified as Ernest Jones Jr. and Warren F. Arsdad.

New York City Mayor-elect John V. Lindsay said Sunday he expects more pressure from Negroes for a better life in the city. Lindsay, a Republican, said problems of Negro ghettos must be solved.

At Baltimore, Md., James Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said Negroes must begin moving into the political arena. Farmer led a march of 2,200 integrationists Saturday and spoke the rally.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference is expected to begin renewed protest demonstrations in Alabama this week.

MARCH ON TEXAS CAPITOL — About 30 hooded but unmasked members of the Ku Klux Klan marched five blocks to the Texas

Capitol yesterday in what Klansmen said was a demonstration in support of U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Real Barber of Seville Is Busy Clipper

SEVILLE, Ohio (U) — A real-life Barber of Seville estimates he's cut 300,000 heads of hair in a career longer, though perhaps less romantic, than that of operatic fame.

Ohio's Barber of Seville is 77-year-old K. C. Cook, who's had a shop here 65 years.

The barber in Rossini's opera, "Barber of Seville," was associated with romantic intrigue of royalty. Cook may have missed nobility, but he's encountered some notables.

He gave bandleader Lawrence Welk a haircut he liked. And he remembers spilling a giant on the floor.

That was when 8-foot tall Capt. M. V. Bates, a circus celebrity of 25 or more years ago, came in for a shave.

When Cook tipped the barber chair into shaving position, Bates' bulk threw it off balance and he and the chair both went toppling to the floor.

Girl Scouts Set Meeting for Tuesday

"Roundup Roundelay" is the theme for the annual meeting of Northern Oakland County Girl Scout Council at Pine Knob Resort, Clarkston Tuesday.

Delegates from all council areas will attend the meeting which begins with registration at 11:15 a.m., followed by a buffet smorgasbord at noon.

The program will feature the council's adults and senior girls who attended roundup — the national encampment for Senior Girl Scouts in July in Farago, Idaho.

Table centerpieces will be fashioned from "potlatch" items which the girls received from friends at Roundup. Round-up girls, alternates and board members will be hostesses for the meeting.

Business agenda items will include by-laws changes and election of board members.

Garden Club Unit Signs Workshop

The Little Garden Club of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills will participate in a Thanksgiving workshop at 10 a.m. Nov. 15 in the Michigan Bank Building on West Maple Road, Birmingham.

Mrs. Carl Black will be hostess assisted by Mrs. Dale D. Douglass and Mrs. William H. Burlingame.

Mrs. Norman Booth, (left) Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. Edward Ladwig, Lakewood Drive, study a scrapbook of articles concerning heart attacks at a recent tea honoring volunteers of the Michigan Heart Association's Oakland County Heart Information Center. The tea was in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Kenneth Block, unit cochairman, who said more volunteers are needed for Oakland County. The association, located in Birmingham, is a United Fund agency.

Dinner Marks Anniversary of Retirees

Keith Potter will speak on Medicare at the Wednesday meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons, Pontiac chapter No. 7. The group meets at the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard. Reservations for the Nov. 17 dinner must be made by this time. This is the fifth anniversary of the Pontiac AARP.

Chief speaker for the event at the CAI building will be David Jeffreys, director of field operations of the National Retired Teachers Association and the AARP.

He was formerly on the staff of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and has held numerous other jobs in the social service field.

He holds a Master's degree in social work from the College of William and Mary. Dinner will be served at 5:45 p.m.

lege of Tulane University with a master's degree from the University of Cincinnati, Miss Rives is presently supervisor of intermediate grades in Covington.

She is president of the Northern Kentucky Educational Association.

Cochairmen for the day were Mrs. Harold Norton and Mrs. Elsie Welch. The programs were designed and made by Mrs. Charles Seavey and Mrs. Shelton Root.

Mrs. Olive Lord entertained with musical numbers. Mary Phipps had charge of table arrangements.

Celebration Given by Gal Friday

Action Unaccountable

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There has been quite a lot written in your column about office parties which exclude the husbands and wives of the employees. But what would the rules on this one be?

My husband has a small office, with only one secretary. Last month he acquired a rather important account he had been working on for some time. His secretary (unmarried) gave him a "celebration" party at her apartment last Saturday night.

Other "mixed" couples (not married to each other) were present. Of course my husband was told that his wife was not invited, yet he accepted the invitation anyway.

He said he felt "compelled" — to go, and there was no way of getting out of it, so he had to go alone. How about this?

"SAT HOME"

DEAR SAT: Your husband could have replied that unless his wife were invited to the "celebration" of his new account, she shouldn't count on him. "Compelled" by whom? His secretary? Aw, c'mon!

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my sister got a divorce from a swell guy I'll call Max. It was more her fault than it was his.

They have two lovely children who are doing the suffering because of the breakup. Max was willing to try to make a go of the marriage, but my sister wasn't.

Anyway, she is poisoning the kids' minds against their father, which isn't right. Here is our problem.

My husband and I (and also some other members of our family) still like Max, and we see him socially, but never when my sister is there. We have nothing against HIM, so why shouldn't we?

My sister gets mad every time she hears about it. Now she says we have to make up our minds. It's either Max or her. What should we do?

IN BETWEEN

DEAR IN: Tell your sister that she has the privilege of choosing her friends, and so have you. And if she wants to drop YOU because you still see Max socially, it's her privilege. But she is the one who is making the choice, not you.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hi Fever Frolic II Is Coming

Hi Fever Frolic II is in the works. The Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital has reserved the Elks Temple for the evening of Dec. 3.

Last year, the women decided to sponsor a dance instead of the annual Hi Fever Follies. About 600 attended the evening gala. Over $6,000 was raised.

Mrs. Edward F. Dalton, general chairman, announces that Carl Edson and his Big Band Sound will again play for dancing.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to buy lifesaving equipment for the hospital.

ENDS WITH BREAKFAST

Mr. and Mrs. William Dean are planning the reception which starts at 9 p.m. The Philip E. Rowstons have charge of the breakfast which closes the dance.

Working on all phases of the program booklets are the John Bensons, Mrs. Gene Connell, Mrs. Clyde Dearing and Mr. and Mrs. James Clarkson.

Mrs. Clark Adams is chairman of the patrons' committee; Mrs. Fred Fuller will see to decorations; and Mrs. Don Redmond is handling publicity.

Others working on the dance are Warren Newton and Mesdames Robert Kingsbury, Don Wilson, Cecil McCallum, Aaron Wright and James McCoy.

The dance is open to the public. Tickets are the concern of Mrs. Glenn Sanford and Mrs. Aleck Capsalis.

Trust Account for Children Good Idea

 Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: You have talked about Custodian Accounts in your column, and now I would like to open accounts for my two nephews, aged three and five. These would be under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act.

My problem is this: these boys live in another state. MARY Could I open an FEELEY account in the state in which I live — and put their mother's name on the accounts, as custodian?

I. W., New York City
 Dear I.W.: The real purpose of the Gifts to Minors Act is to provide some funds for youngsters who, at the age of 21, are presumably responsible enough to handle it.

If you set up Custodian Accounts under the Uniform Gifts to Minors, then the money is not for the care of the children while they are growing up. This responsibility is assumed to be that of their parents.

Then when they reach the age of 21, they are entitled to re-fit.

ceive the money you have set aside for them.

I believe this is not your real intention. Therefore, consider another form of savings for these nephews — a Trust Account, with their mother's name specified as Trustee. If you voluntarily set up these savings accounts in the names of your nephews, they come under the head of voluntary revocable trust accounts — in which the person named as trustee — your nephews' mother in this case — has both legal and equitable title. The trustee may deposit or withdraw as he or she sees fit.

Since the boys' mother would have this privilege and this jurisdiction over the savings accounts, she would be responsible for paying any tax required.

Dear Mary Feeley: I am a widow living alone My income is around $4,700 a year.

At present I am paying $103.50 monthly rent, and seem to get along okay. But I am thinking of making a change.

My question is: what would you say I could afford for rent on my income?

Mrs. H. A., Wilmington, Del.

Dear Mrs. A.: From $60 to $100 a month. The soundest way to figure the rent you can afford is to see that it equals no more than one week's income.

You have about $391 a month to spread over all your expenses. If you want to shoot the works on rent, on a place to live that satisfies a particular need — then go ahead. But you'll have to make economies in other areas — such as clothing, food, entertainment, transportation.

Your individual budget is your own business, and you have only yourself to answer to. But I do urge you to keep your savings account healthy. It can prove to be your best friend.

Boys Will Be Cowboys

Then what about the Social Security numbers for the children? Would it be necessary for the mother to register them in the state in which the boys live?

This all seems so complicated. I would like to have the money used for their education, but if necessary, to be used for their care in case of a serious illness. I don't want it tied up so that it

Every small boy is a cowboy at heart. Why not give your son a western party on his next birthday anniversary?

Ask the guests to come in either cowboy or Indian costume. Arrange each place setting at the birthday table as a small corral by using picket-like fence sections that may be obtained at the dime store. Place a couple of small toys — horses or cattle — also from the dime store, in each individual corral as favors.

Use miniature cowboys mounted on horses here and there on the table to provide a western atmosphere.

The table may be covered with a paper tablecloth carrying out a western theme. Let paper napkins continue the motif.

Pair Wed Saturday in Rochester

Camille Ann Rosenquist became the bride of Michael James Arnold, Saturday, in the Abiding Presence Lutheran Church, Rochester.

Reception in the church parlors followed the candle-light ceremony performed by Rev. Lloyd Buss.

Parents of the couple are the G. Kent Rosenquists of Rochester and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Arnold Jr. of Pebleshire Drive.

LACE MOTIFS
 Motifs of Alencon lace touched with seed pearls accented the bride's gown and chapel train of ivory pearls.

An open pillbox of lace held her veil of imported illusion and a white orchid centered her bouquet of Stephanotis and ivy.

Patli Jean Rosenquist attended her sister as bridesmaid along with Kaye Weaver of Flint. Sharon Tossaint was maid of honor.

Robert Arnold stood as best man for his brother. Glen Fondow and James McDonald were ushers.

The bride is a graduate of the Michigan Lutheran College, Detroit.

Polly's Pointers

Washing Your Dog

DEAR POLLY — I used to put off giving my dog a bath because I usually ended up as wet as she but finally I stumbled onto the idea of putting on my plastic raincoat backward. Now she splashes to her heart's content and then I hold her and give her a good rubbing with towel.

I take the raincoat off, hang it up to drip and am dry and calm. — MILDRED

GIRLS — It has suddenly dawned on me that the word "calm" so often appears in your letters. The Pointers have been defined as mainly time and money savers but I think we could change that to time, money and nerve savers.

A way to remedy some annoying little thing that confronts us rather frequently may work the same wonders as those products recommended in television commercials that quickly change from a harried to a happy.

DEAR POLLY — When buy one on top of the old one. This new jeans for the children will protect the curtain and keep I buy a quarter-yard of "match" material, be it blue, cocoa, black or black denim. I wash this when I wash the jeans and new, 32-page booklet, "Polly's patches are needed later on Christmas Pointers." To order (and they usually are) the material to be used is faded to illustrate the jeans. Nothing looks name, address, zip code and worse than a new patch on 50 cents to: Christmas Pointers, faded denims. — Mrs. W. M. R. in care of The Pontiac Press.

'Wife' Insurance

You, as wife and mother, are a little overworked and quite valuable. If illness — or an accident — should disable you, your husband would probably face the chore of hiring extra household help. And nursemaids, housekeepers, and such come high these days.

Eliminate the possibility of your husband facing severe financial troubles should you become ill. Ask him to check into wife insurance. Many insurance companies, says Business Week, write "income" plans that pay up to $200 a month while a non-working wife is disabled because of sickness or accident.

In the past only working wives could get income protection. But now they've decided the stay-at-home wives are worth money, too.

There are today 130 local Better Business Bureaus in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Venezuela, Puerto Rico and Israel.

Hair style inspirations come from unexpected sources. Little did a minister in 1862 realize his story-telling to three small girls would have an impact on hairdos a century later. Sketched here are three interpretations of Alice in Wonderland hair designs. These result from sketches made by Lewis Carroll (the Rev. Charles L. Dodgson) for his handwritten book, the original "Alice's Adventures Under Ground." Those who favor shoulder-length hair (center) may brush the hair back to give height to the crown. Shorter hair calls for the interpretations at left and right. Again note the hair is swept back from the face — a great relief to parents with Beate-haired offspring running around the house.

Mollie Parnis creates a glittering black Chantilly lace spangled dress over a nude slip for jet-age cocktail parties. Black jet-earrings pick up the scintillating embroidered lace from France. It was shown at the "prestige award from France" fashion show as part of a presentation of fifty top American designers and their "love affair" with French lace.

A lavish full-length for coat horizontally banded in rhinestones (designed by Luis Estevez for Radley) was used as a cover-up for one of the lingerie fashions shown at the Pierre during the "Prestige Award From France" press reception. Commentator Carol Knox called group the "Career Girl" Scene! The model is wearing a slip of saabalon crepe lavishly combined with French nylon hand-run Alencon lace in a French moulded bustline and deep border of the lace at the hemline.

French Lace Inspires Designers

The Cotillon Room of the Hotel Pierre in New York City was the setting for the recent award ceremony and a fashion show featuring French lace fashions created by fifty leading American designers.

This year French lace became the widely acclaimed "first lady of fabrics" and the fashion world became a veritable cornucopia of glamorous, youthful, creative ideas. Only highlights from the "horn of plenty" could be shown.

Laurence Isaac, newly elected president of the French Lace Industry flew into New York City to present the second annual "Prestige Award From France" to William P. Keenan, president of I. Magnin, for the "outstanding fashion presentation of French lace by an American retailer in 1965."

The fashion show, produced in six scenes, was co-sponsored by the French Lace Industry and the Lace and Embroidery Association of America.

Many firsts-in-America were shown along with the expected excitement from our top talent American designers: Madame Gres of Paris in her American debut in the lingerie market; the daring, breast-baring "Little Dove" by Emma de Berge; and Merle Oberon's lingerie design preview.

Furs by Estevez - Radley were used as cover-ups in the "Career Blazer" lingerie scene. Famous name designed cocktail, evening, hostess and bridal gowns were shown.

Want to Lose Weight?

NEW YORK — A dress manufacturer has come up with an idea that should either reduce the size of fat women's waistlines or shrink their bank accounts.

Manufacturer Abe Schrader

proposes to help American women lose weight by increasing dress prices according to dress size. Under Schrader's plan, a size 10 would cost less than a size 12, and a size 12 less than a size 14, and so on up the line.

Texan, 82, Has Vast Pile of Memories About Neighbor Youngster He Called 'Linton'

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Otto Lindig considers that he has known "Linton" B. Johnson longer, and better, than any man alive.

Having first encountered the future president when the latter was 4½ years old, the goateed Lindig, 82, may have a point.

Lindig, who owns a 500-acre spread only two miles west of the LBJ Ranch, has a vast fund of memories about his famous neighbor, from childhood on.

He remembers the young Lyndon — Lindig pronounces it "Linton" — "following a double shovel plow when he was '18."

"By the time he was 11, he was hauling cotton bales by horse and wagon to the gin," says Lindig.

The older recalls LBJ's school days in detail and one of the highlights to him was the boy's first public speech.

That was in 1921 when Lindig's young neighbor, going on 13, won a declamation contest at the old Kleamer Opera House in Fredericksburg.

Lindig regards himself as a sort of Johnson family historian, in fact, because his bygone friends also included the President's father, Sam, and granddaughters, Mrs. and Miss Bird Johnson is relying on LBJ's memories as a main source for a book she is writing about the LBJ Ranch.

From time to time, Lindig still drops in on the Johnson home.

He is an odd figure with his grizzled chin whiskers, scared face and age-dimmed eyes, usually dressed in boots, wrinkled sports shirt, nondescript trousers and white straw hat.

But as Lindig tells it, the Secret Service agents who guard except Lake Superior, which the President never challenge him.

"One of them just says 'There 'Come in, Otto. I have some goes old Lindig,'" he explains, "thing to show you."

"and I walk right on in." The something was a newborn baby.

During an interview, Lindig said that on Aug. 27, 1908, he "Sam said, 'That boy is going to be passing the Johnson ranch he governor of Texas some when Sam Johnson called out: day.'"

"I looked at the baby and I aspect of the President's early Ranch. They had another tape made Sam mad. I told him, session two months later.

He's certainly got his mother's Last spring, Elizabeth Carpen-

Lindig's mind is clear and his memory near flawless. He is invited Lindig to Johnson City the 60th wedding anniversary of where, with the President's wife his old neighbor and Mrs. Lin-

And on Thanksgiving Day last year, the President and Mrs. Johnson sent over two Secret Service agents loaded down with a big turkey dinner. On the plates was imprinted: "From Lyndon and Lady Bird."

'Great Lakes Level

Down Next 6 Months

Detroit (AP) — The U.S. Corps of Army Engineers says Great Lakes water levels will drop below the average for the next six months but that none of the lakes was expected to fall near record lows. Friday's recorded levels showed all of the lakes above of the levels recorded at the same time a year ago, except Lake Superior, which the President never challenge him.

Junior Editors Quiz on TELEPHONE

QUESTION: How do telephones work?

ANSWER: When Mary (1) speaks into the telephone to her friend Marcia, her voice makes sound waves in the air. In the telephone transmitter, there is a kind of drum, the diaphragm (2).

The sound waves make this vibrate, the vibration being carried through grains of carbon through which an electric current is also passing. Different pressures on the carbon grains cause electric impulses of different strength.

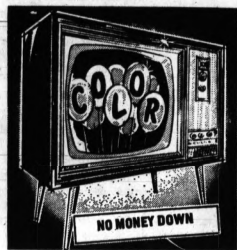

To put it simply, the sound vibrations of Mary's voice have changed into electric signals. These travel over the telephone wire from Mary's to Marcia's house. (4) There is a magnet in the receiver Marcia is holding at her ear (5), connected with another diaphragm.

Through the action of a magnet, the electric signals cause this second diaphragm to vibrate, and this causes sound waves which go into Marcia's ear and allow her to hear Mary's voice (6).

Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876. He had been experimenting with sounds made by metal reeds.

By accident, he discovered that sound vibrations from the reeds could be changed into electric signals and sent over a wire. His invention turned out to be one of the most important in man's history.

FOR YOU TO DO: Alexander Graham Bell made other wonderful inventions. Read about them in an encyclopedia.

Rochester Council Takes Bridge Bids

ROCHESTER — The Village Council will open bids on bonds tonight for a bridge over Paint Creek in the Mill Pond project.

Construction bids on the bridge were opened Friday and a recommendation is expected tonight from engineers Spalding-Decker and Associates Inc., of Birmingham.

Six bids were received on the project ranging from a low of $61,729 to complete work by March 31 and $56,000 to complete work by June 15 to a high of $78,878.

Low bidders were E. C. Noland and Jarvis Construction Co. of Detroit.

The bids were higher than anticipated, according to Village Clerk Maxine Ross. She said the cost of the bridge had been estimated at $48,000.

288 APARTMENTS

Some 288 apartments are proposed for 22 acres of Mill Pond property plus a portion which is to be developed for commercial use.

The 48-foot-wide vehicular bridge will be constructed across Paint Creek at the easterly end of East University.

In addition to the bridge, the village has agreed to pay for the railroad crossing with signals where the New York Central Railroad tracks cross the property.

The village will also supply the engineering services for construction of the roadway from the end of East University.

FINANCING

Cost of the bridge, the grade crossing and signals was originally estimated at a cost not to exceed $75,000. This will be financed by state highway weight and gasoline taxes.

The development of the Mill Pond property is expected to create better police, fire and other emergency protection in the eastern section of town.

It will also alleviate traffic congestion at the Main and University intersection and decrease traffic on Romeo and Parkdale streets, according to the council.

Will Plan Vote for Nonteachers Bargain Agent

LAKE ORION — Preliminary plans for a vote to determine who will represent nonteaching employees in the school system will be made Nov. 18 when representatives of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees meet with the State Labor Mediation Board.

The union is seeking the right to act as sole bargaining agent for nonteaching employees.

The board of education asked for the vote two weeks ago. At the same time, the board recognized the Lake Orion Education Association as exclusive negotiating agent for the district's teachers.

Carol Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wright Jr. of 2600 Seymour Lake Road, Brandon Township, was awarded the animal for over-all achievement in 4-H work.

Area Board Asking Road Improvement

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The permanent improvement of a two-mile stretch of 14 Mile Road is being sought by the township board.

The board has requested the Oakland County Road Commission to take over control of the section between Orchard Lake and Inkster by designating it a primary road.

Supervisor John C. Reharr said that if this was done the road, presently graveled, would be hard-surfaced.

Area Board Asking Road Improvement

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The permanent improvement of a two-mile stretch of 14 Mile Road is being sought by the township board.

The board has requested the Oakland County Road Commission to take over control of the section between Orchard Lake and Inkster by designating it a primary road.

Supervisor John C. Reharr said that if this was done the road, presently graveled, would be hard-surfaced.

19 Die in State Traffic

By United Press International

Nineteen persons lost their lives on Michigan highways this weekend on what State Police termed "a normal weekend."

Five of the victims were teenagers, and 11 of the dead were under 25. Authorities said "it wasn't particularly bad."

Four of the victims died in accidents involving only their own car when they simply lost control. Police said this was "usual."

Two persons were killed Saturday afternoon when their car was struck at a Detroit intersection by another fleeing a police vehicle.

I. W. Haynes, the driver of the auto which was hit, and Everall Shumate, his passenger, were killed when struck by a car fleeing from a traffic violation.

CRASH FATAL

Clifford Francis Bowerman, 55, Manistee, died yesterday when his car was struck in the rear on US 31 in Manistee Township while he attempted to turn off the highway.

Delores M. Quigley, 25, Grand Rapids, was killed when her auto crashed into a culvert and caught fire near Greenville yesterday.

An auto running a red light struck one driven by Martha Bishop, 25, Garden City, on M17 high school open house is scheduled Wednesday night, while the Van Buren Township yesterday resulting in her death.

Another car running a red light on US 24 in Oakland County yesterday struck an auto containing William Gosper, 19, and Judy L. Honfield, 17, both of Royal Oak, killing them.

MSU STUDENT

A motorcycle attempting to beat a train to a crossing failed early yesterday and was killed. He was William Millich, 20, Detroit, a Michigan State student.

Dennis M. Rainville, 21, Kalamazoo, was killed yesterday on US 131 in Kalamazoo County while showing his friend how to split a sports car. The vehicle skidded off the road and overturned.

A Freeport, N. Y., man was killed Sunday on M15 in Genesee County when his car struck another in the rear and then rolled onto the median.

A car which ran a stop sign rammed into one driven by William Harry Roughton, 28, Lapeer, Saturday in Genesee County near Flint, killing Roughton.

A four-car accident in Detroit Saturday resulted in fatal injuries to Patricia Karmanowski, 19.

Merlyn Shumabeau, 27, Detroit, fell asleep behind the wheel of his car Saturday and slammed into a parked car in the Motor City. He was dead at the scene.

An accident on the Lodge Expressway in Detroit resulted in fatal injuries to Robert Jarvis, 20, Saturday. He was struck by a passing car as he stepped from his stalled auto.

HEAD-ON WRECK

Sixteen-year-old Albert Lee Robinson of Frankmunth was killed Friday night in a head-on collision on a county road in Saginaw County.

An accident in Livonia early Saturday resulted in fatal injuries to Richard Charles Cizewski, 19, Detroit. Police said he lost control of his car at high speed.

John C. Broun, 51, Dearborn Heights, was struck and killed by a car Friday night on I-75 in Southgate.

The first fatality of the weekend was Charles Curtis Forkum, 50, Berrien Springs. He lost control of his car and rolled over several times on US 31 in Berrien County.

Extra Spirit in Veterans Day Plans

Reporter Witnesses Cong Ambush

(EDITOR'S NOTE: UPI correspondent Joseph L. Galloway accompanied a relief column to the scene of the weekend ambush of two companies of the U.S. Army 1st Cavalry Division near Plei Me. He saw Communist stragglers shot down. He saw American dead and wounded and talked to survivors of the bloody fighting in the central highlands. Following is Galloway's report.)

By JOSEPH L. GALLOWAY
PLEI ME, South Viet Nam (UPI) — "I'll meet you in hell!" the 18-year-old soldier shouted as three Communist troops charged his position. "Die American!" came the cry above the machine-gun fire, grenade and mortar bursts. The young American jumped to his feet and blew the head off one of the attackers with a burst from an automatic weapon. The gun now was empty but the GI smashed the second Viet Cong in the jaw with the butt, then grabbed it by the barrel and swung it like a baseball bat at the third.

A bullet from an unseen rifleman slammed into his back as he dropped to the ground. "Our father," was as far as he got before he died in an ambush in elephant grass 9,000 miles from home.

Bravo Company of the Army's 1st Air Cavalry's 2nd Battalion had started a routine search-and-clear operation west of Plei Me, 25 miles northeast of Saigon, Friday the day, Saturday they had ambushed a small Viet Cong supply column carrying food, mostly rice, and killed five guerrillas. Seven others dropped their loads and fled.

The cavalrymen went after them.

JUNGLE AREAS
The company moved through heavily jungled areas. An occasional sniper sent a round ping-pong at the Americans. But it didn't look like anything too difficult to handle.

The company was on part of the map-up operation that began after the Communist week-long siege at the American Special Forces Plei Me camp was broken late last month.

About eight miles west of the camp — not far from the Cambodian border — the company entered a small meadow about the size of a football field. A small creek flows lazily through the meadow from a slight rise at one end.

On the other side it was heavily jungled. Dense undergrowth thickened into jungle flanked by the third side and on the fourth was a line of wood separating it from the waist-high grass of an adjoining meadow.

OPENED UP
"The whole wood-line opened up on us," said Capt. John Richardson of Baltimore, Md., the company commander. "The VC were in the trees, in the grass and some of them were even in the open disguised as bushes."

There were heroes. One second lieutenant, a platoon leader, was shot and fought it out," Richardson said. At 1 p.m., two hours after the fighting started, Charlie Company of the same battalion moved into help. The company was pinned down. More Communist gunners opened up on them.

"There was nothing we could do," said Sgt. Paul E. Kay of Kokomo, Ind. "When Charlie Company got hit, we couldn't go forward to link up with Bravo, and we couldn't go back. We couldn't move. If you moved, that's where they picked up your body."

Kay said a Communist rifleman shot the stock off his rifle. He held it up so I could see.

Staff Sgt. C. T. Gue of West Covina, Calif. came out of the fight without a scratch. But his hands were swollen and torn.

MANY DEAD
"I have never seen so many dead people in my life. This was from carrying litterers of dead and wounded," he said, holding up his blood-crusted hands. "It was a nightmare."

"Every man around me got hit," said Sp. 4 Willard Miller of Philadelphia, Pa. "But I couldn't do anything. We just fired back at anything that moved."

Sgt. Jerome Smith of Cleveland said one sniper in the tree line shot six men near him before the sniper was blasted out. "It was pitiful — maddening," he said. "They got all of the medics but one, all but one of the radio operators and all of the platoon leaders but one."

"My boys are a tough bunch," Richardson said. "That's why we took so many casualties."

HEAVY FIRING
"They were aching to get up there and fight Charlie (the GI nickname for the Viet Cong) and when the heavy firing started they just wouldn't lay still. They wanted to charge right into the teeth of them."

"Morale is real good. My boys are ready to go again," Richardson said. The men and the men of Charlie Company took moderate to heavy casualties. But they gave more than they got. There were 75 Viet Cong bodies counted in the forest fringes and in the elephant grass of the meadow when the Viet Cong broke contact about dark. More bodies were dragged away.

As night fell, the first medical evacuation helicopters were able to drop into the meadows and evacuate the wounded. The two companies linked up and set up defenses for the night.

DARK FELL
A helicopter landed me with an artillery company about two miles away. We could get no closer as dark fell. There was word that some of the Communists on the ambush were headed our way as they withdrew from the meadow.

We dug deep foxholes and crawled in. There was little sleep during the night.

As dawn broke, a helicopter took me on the other side of the meadow to join the 1st Battalion of the 12th Cavalry Regiment.

As we walked along, planes and artillery blasted the area just in front of us. We marched for five miles. Most of the way, we walked through spots of grass and underbrush still burning from strikes by the warplanes and 160mm howitzers.

MOUNTAIN WOMAN
One of the flank platoons was attacked by an apparently crazed Montagnard mountain woman.

She had a machete and ran toward the troopers waving it above her head and swinging the blade wildly. For a minute or two, the soldiers looked at her incredulously. Then one of them shot her in the stomach. She dropped the machete. Someone called for a medevac helicopter but she died before it got there. We marched on.

"All I said was:
Show me a filter that really delivers taste and I'll eat my hat."

A $6.50 Canadian for only $4.80?

What's the gimmick?

Big tax savings on every bottle!

Instead of bottling McMaster's in Canada, where most Canadian Whiskies are bottled, we import it direct and bottle it here. By doing it this way, we save handsomely on taxes and other charges.

You would expect to pay $6.50 for this smooth, mellow Canadian Whisky. McMaster's is distilled, aged in the barrel, and blended in Canada.

You can't buy a finer Canadian Whisky than McMaster's. Why pay more than $4.80 a fifth (tax included)?

(P.S. McMaster's also comes in a big 1/2 gallon or handy pint. Just $11.95 and $3.06.)

A $7.00 Scotch for only $4.97?

Sure. McMaster's gives you the same big tax savings on its mellow, imported-in-the-barrel Scotch, too.

Teamster Official Eying Hoffa's Post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Einar Mohn, West Coast head of the Teamsters Union, says he'll be a candidate for the union's top spot if President James R. Hoffa does not run for reelection. Mohn said his candidacy depends on the determination of two Hoffa appeals to convictions of fraud and jury tampering.

He told a group of Teamsters Saturday that he hoped a bitter campaign for the presidency could be avoided.

A Supreme Court decision of Hoffa's appeal of his jury tampering case in Nashville, Tenn., is expected in January. Another appeal is pending on the fraud conviction involving the Central States pension fund.

Red Tinge Big Issue in Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Communism has become an issue in a backstage fight that threatens to divide the ruling Uganda People's Congress.

Two opposition parties are whipping up an anti-Communist campaign with warnings of assassination plots and subversion.

They have called on the government for an assurance that the threat of communism to Uganda's kingdoms and traditional institutions was being countered.

The left wing has hit back, charging the existence of anti-Communist hysteria is designed to oust Prime Minister Milton Obote, by force if necessary.

A Communist core is active in Uganda but even opposition leaders agree privately that the Red threat is being exaggerated for political motives.

RELUCTANCE?

They contend Obote and some of his cabinet colleagues have been reluctant to order a crackdown on Communist activities.

This also is broadly the contention of a moderate, generally pro-Western faction of the ruling party.

Minister of State Grace Ibingira, a 33-year-old British-schooled lawyer, took over as party secretary general from leftist John Kakonge and later had nine militant pro-Communists expelled from the party.

Referring to a campaign against him, Ibingira has said: "They call me an imperialist but the fact is we have no evidence of any Western power maintaining paid agents in this country."

"We do know, we have definite proof, that certain Eastern powers pay money directly to Uganda agents."

"There are young men without jobs or any visible means of support who tour the country living in the best hotels, drinking the most expensive liquors and smoking the most expensive cigarettes."

"We know they are the agents of certain Eastern powers who supply them with funds."

BEING PROTECTED

They are being protected, he charged, by some Uganda People's Congress officials who hope to employ them in internal politics.

The basic cause of a split within the ruling party is fear by the southern Bantu of domination by the minority Nilotic people of the north.

With a few exceptions, the political split corresponds to the tribal division. Obote is Nilotic, Ibingira Bantu.

Obote, who has led this East African country of nine million people since independence, has 18 months before the next national election.

His political future could rest on his success or failure to bring the two rival factions together.

Geos 1 Orbit Said Workable

To Act as Reference for Mapping Earth

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's new Geos 1 blinding beacon satellite whirled around the globe today using the pull of earth's gravity to slowly aim its flashing lights and laser beam reflectors toward ground stations.

Once the 385-pound "winking star" has settled down in orbit, scientists will begin using it as a precise reference point in space to map the earth and study its peculiarities.

The explorer satellite, shaped like a child's top, was rocketed into orbit Saturday by a new model of the Delta workhorse rocket. It was the 39th success in 34 launchings for the booster.

The federal space agency said Geos 1's path, ranging from 690 to 1,414 miles above earth, was 412 miles higher than planned at its peak point. But they said the deviation was only expected to be a "minor annoyance."

Map makers hope to use precise measurements from Geos 1 and its successors to more accurately survey earth's continents and islands.

MEASURING ERROR
Officials estimate that the satellite should help reduce the error in measuring distances between continents from about 500 to 40 feet.

And Geos 1 is expected to tell scientists more about the shape of earth, its gravity and the makeup of its crust and core.

The space agency said such studies could lead to the development of earthquake forecasting methods.

Geos and later satellites may also tell man once and for all if the earth's continents are slowly shifting position, as some scientists believe.

It has been suggested that earth's surface 20 million years ago consisted of a great land mass or two that split and slowly drifted apart.

Progress May Up Shot Date

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The launching of the Gemini 7 astronauts may be advanced to as early as Dec. 2 if preparations continue to run smoothly, sources to the space center say.

The present target date for the start of the 14-day flight by astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. is Dec. 8. It is the scheduled first leg of the ambitious double Gemini shot.

The sources reported checkouts of the Titan 2 rocket and Gemini 7 have progressed so well that "any date between Dec. 2 and Dec. 8 might become our target, with the possible exception of Dec. 5, which is a Sunday."

Launchings are avoided on Sunday because of the great amount of overtime pay involved.

Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford will be launched nine days after Gemini 7. The two spacecraft are supposed to maneuver close together and fly in formation.

Rocky, Lindsay Differ in Victory Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — May-elect John V. Lindsay says he does not believe his victory last week in the New York City election was a Republican victory.

New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller disagrees. He says, "The Republican party is on the way up. As a matter of fact, they are already back up as a result of this election."

From the other side of the political fence, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey offered this opinion:

"I don't think the recent elections were conclusive about anything. In New York City, a Republican won who said he was not a Republican."

DAY FOR REVIEW

Sunday was a day for backward glances at Tuesday's voting, and the conflicting views came in rapid order. Lindsay and Rockefeller were interviewed on radio-television programs. Humphrey was interviewed while spending the weekend at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Lindsay, who had the endorsement of the Liberal party, was asked on CBS' "Face the Nation" about his victory.

"I don't think it is a Republican victory," he said. "I would be less than naive if I did not say that I think that my win will give liberal or moderate Republicans, as they are sometimes known, encouragement across the country. And that may well be the case, and that is all right."

I think that is helpful and good. But, nevertheless, the fact that I maintained throughout the campaign, and I think it is the proper way to run New York City, is that I am a Republican."

Asked if he would renounce any presidential ambitions for 1968 and project that renunciation to 1972, Lindsay replied: "Yes, I have no intention of running for any other office. I took a pledge during the campaign that I would serve a full four-year term and I mean exactly that."

Rockefeller said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" that Lindsay was GOP presidential timber for 1972.

"A successful four-year administration, a reelection with a big plurality, which I think is going to take place, then I think John Lindsay at that point can go anywhere he wants."

Laborite Dies; Wilson's Margin Down to One Vote

World News
LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson faces the coming of a new session of Parliament Tuesday with his Labor party reduced to a one-vote majority.

The death of Laborite Henry Solomon Sunday dropped the number of Labor seats in the House of Commons to 313, against 309 held by the Conservatives and 9 by the Liberals. Two seats are vacant.

The Labor party is expected to gain one seat in Thursday's special election at Erith, where Norman Dodds won the seat in last year's election by a margin of 8,555 votes. The seat was vacated by his death last summer.

The Labor party faces tougher odds in another special election in North Hull, the district Solomon held. The date for this election has not been set.

If Wilson's party loses both Erith and North Hull, the combined opposition could muster one more vote than his Labor party.

Two Escapees Hunted in West

Terrorize 3 Women, Boy; Elude Lawmen

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Law officers are hunting for two escaped convicts who have eluded 150 pursuers for a week.

In their latest foray, they terrorized three women and a boy on a ranch Sunday before roaring away in a new car stuffed with guns, ammunition and food, officers said.

The convicts fled the California Medical Facility at Vacaville a week ago Sunday disarming two sheriff's deputies. They headed Sunday to their four holdup victims that they would never go back.

The escapees, Charles L. Gove, 40, of San Francisco and Ralph D. Owen, 24, of Carmichael, near Sacramento, were in prison for armed robbery.

RESORT AREA
They first hit the Lake Berryessa resort area, 40 miles north of San Francisco, taking refuge on a rugged forested peninsula, 10 miles long and five miles deep. A Jeep taken from the disgraced deputies was found there.

Some 150 sheriff's deputies and prison guards, with dogs, helicopters and airplanes, laid out a dragnet. The fugitives slipped past.

They struck next at the D.E. Weaver horse ranch just southwest of the lake. "They said they didn't want to hurt anybody, but they waved those guns," related Mark Winblad, 15, one of the victims. "When they left, my teeth were chattering."

EQUALLY FRIGHTENED

The others, equally frightened, were his mother, Delores Weaver, 48, a dentist and co-owner of the ranch; her partner, Nancy Weaver, 36, and his grandmother, Marie Weaver, 70.

Napa County Sheriff Jim Claussen said that Gove, who is lame and suffering from an internal infection, demanded penicillin from the dentist. There was none on the premises.

Claussen said the pair then forced the women to cook them a breakfast and hand over the keys to the family car, some credit cards and cash. They stole the goods in the car with food, a rifle, a shotgun and ammunition taken in the burglary of a nearby home.

Before leaving, the convicts locked their prisoners in a woodshed. Claussen said, and told them not to come out for two hours or be killed.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Defense Minister Y.B. Chavan said today 2,312 Indian soldiers were killed during the fighting against Pakistan in August and September.

Chavan told Parliament that 7,636 men were wounded and 1,500 were still missing.

Since the cease-fire Sept. 23, Chavan claimed Pakistan had gunned down 965 cease-fire violations resulting in the death of 387 Pakistanis and 262 Indians.

Scientists Find Cattle Enjoy a Midnight Snack

WASECA, Minn. (AP) — Cattle like a midnight snack just as people do, scientists discovered in a study at the University of Minnesota's Southern School and Experiment Station here.
Researchers, scrutinizing Holstein steers and bulls on high roughage diets with and without silage, watched them continuously for 24 hours every two weeks for 12 periods. They came up with some facts on the animals' behavior. Among them:
New cattle added to the lot took several days to find their place in the group. On the average, the bulls spent about four hours a day eating but ate every hour at night.
The cattle spent 14 hours of the 24-hour period lying down, mostly at night, and usually got up to stretch every hour.

Shagena told Township police he felt asleep while driving along Elizabeth Lake Road. His car veered off the street onto property at 7512 Elizabeth Lake.

NOT COWED BY BULL — Mexico's famed clown, Cantinflas, and a 2-year-old bull show a crowd in Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles yesterday that bull fighting isn't such a deadly sport after all. At top, Cantinflas eludes a genuine charge by the bull. Center, he pauses to read instructions on how a matador should perform. Below, he twists the bull's tail before losing his pants.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS
By The Associated Press

Sir Alfred Chester Beatty, 91-year-old American-born copper millionaire, says he plans to bequeath his personal library to the Irish government. Value of the 2,000-volume library has been estimated at more than $8 million.

Beatty, sending word from his Riviera villa, said last night he has maintained a home in Dublin for 18 years, adding: "I'm very fond of the Irish people. It's a very valuable library, and I can't take it with me."

Born in New York City, Beatty became a naturalized Briton in 1933. His second wife died in 1952.

Burtons to Appear in Oxford Production
Actress Elizabeth Taylor and her actor husband, Richard Burton will appear without salary in an Oxford University Dramatic Society production. The couple will appear for a week starting Feb. 1 in Christopher Marlow's "Doctor Faustus." Burton is an Oxford alumnus.

Other members of the cast will be amateur members of the university dramatic society, to which Burton used to belong. The Burtons also will pay their own expenses, it was announced yesterday.

MISS TAYLOR

Jewish Group Honors Sammy Davis Jr.

Entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., who was converted to Judaism five years ago, was named man of the year last night in New York by the Metropolitan Council of B'nai B'rith, Jewish service and fraternal organization. Davis was cited for "his untiring labors in behalf of human rights and the Jewish people."

The dinner was sponsored by the greater New York Committee for State of Israel bonds, which also named Davis man of the year.

Jackie at Premiere of Eleanor Roosevelt Film

Mrs. John F. Kennedy attended the world premiere last night of the film "The Eleanor Roosevelt Story" in New York. She was accompanied by host Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., a son of the late president.

Full proceeds of the premiere go to the Goodman Fund, set up in memory of Andrew Goodman and two companions killed in Mississippi last year while working in the civil rights movement.

MRS. KENNEDY

Pie Lady's Secret Disclosed

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — After her husband died more than 40 years ago, Ellen Atwell Roberts supported herself by making fruit pies and selling them to restaurants. The white-haired, cheerful widow, who became known as "the pie lady," died in September at her modest home which had neither electricity nor plumbing. She was 85.

Gay Evening for Royalty

Princess and Stars 'Dance All Night'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — After Warren Beatty, comedian Milton Berle and his wife, Ruth, glittering Hollywood party and British star Julie Andrews, with director Mike Nichols. Elizabeth Taylor, in a white and gold Balmain gown, and husband Richard Burton, went up to the Bistrot restaurant in an old London taxicab, owned by Elizabeth's secretary, Richard Hanley. They were among the first to arrive and the first to leave — even before the royal party departed.

KITCHEN DOOR
Frank Sinatra and Miss Farlow left early, too, through the kitchen door.

It's against royal protocol to leave before the princess, but an aide explained the princess understood that the actors had to go to work early in the morning.

Another early arrival, who stayed late, was Rosemary Russell, in a green satin Gainsborough, accompanying by her husband, producer Frederick Brisson.

The music, played by a trio led by society bandleader Bernie Richards, ranged from a sedate fox-trot to a wild Waltz. The princess, dancing with Ashtoreh, when a Waltz began, sat down until it was over.

As star after star entered the exclusive restaurant, a knot of about 200 spectators standing outside applauded.

The biggest hand went to the Snowdons.

West Pontiac Kiwanis Sets Benefit Dance

The Kiwanis Club of West Pontiac will hold a golden anniversary dance-party at Waterford Township High School Saturday night in commemoration of the 50th birthday of Kiwanis International.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and end at 1 a.m., according to John Stefanski, 1157 M59, president of the club.

The eight-man "Famous Kiwanis Band" will provide the music at the dance, which will be a benefit for needy families at Christmas time.

Toys, canned goods, clothing and other donations will be received at the door to help fill Christmas baskets.

Stefanski emphasized that refreshments will be available.

Sitting at the head table with the Snowdons were Gregory Peck and his wife, Veronique;

Viet Close-Up for Governors

THAI HUNG, Viet Nam (AP) — Five U.S. governors had a close look at the Viet Nam war today. They flew to a forward U.S. artillery position firing in support of a battle between U.S. paratroopers and the Viet Cong only 8,000 yards away.

The governors in green fatigues and wearing combat boots, pointed up at jet aircraft zipping in on the Viet Cong targets in the jungles of Zone D and talked to the artillerymen.

The governors were George Romney of Michigan, Tim W. Babcock of Montana, Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming, Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, and John A. Burns of Hawaii.

Later in the day the group visited the special forces camp at Dong Xoai, where a major battle erupted early this year. Three Vietnamese Skyraider bombers were hitting Viet Cong positions only two miles from the camp.

Points to Sky
"Hey, look at that. There he goes," shouted Gov. Romney, pointing to the sky. A Skyraider was spinning down to make a strafing run.

The governors visited the forward artillery position after a briefing from senior officers in the 173rd Airborne Brigade at Bien Hoa.

They were told the 1st Battalion of the 173rd engaged the Viet Cong in the northeastern portion of Zone D earlier in the year. Alpha Company was in a heavy contact for some time.

The artillery pieces were beside of Dong Ngai River at the edge of Zone D. The five governors flew there by helicopter.

In a hectic tour, they also visited all three brigades attacked to the 1st Infantry Division.

Fox Hunt Ends With a Bang

BEDMINSTER, N.J. (UPI) — Responding to the brisk fall weather and the thrill of the hunt, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy rode to hounds this weekend over the rolling New Jersey countryside.

The former first lady joined a exclusive hunting party which uses a 15,000-acre tract to chase elusive red fox behind a pack of hounds.

There is never supposed to be a kill in this sport, just the chase. But the New Jersey small game season opened Saturday and a rabbit hunter inadvertently mistook the fox for fair game and shot it, abruptly ending the chase.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has leased a 10-acre estate near Bernardsville, N.J., as a weekend retreat for herself and her children, were the traditional attire for fox hunting — black cap and coat, light riding britches and black boots.

Head-On Crash in Pontiac Twp. Hospitalizes 3

An Orion Township man is in serious condition and two Pontiac residents are listed as fair following a head-on collision last night on Brown near Joysin, in Pontiac Township.

In serious condition at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital is Ernest A. Pruchnicki, 43, of 1811 Brown.

Okland County Sheriff's deputies said Pruchnicki's car collided with a vehicle driven by Francis L. O'Haver, 29, of 57 E. Chicago.

O'Haver and a passenger, 19-year-old James R. Alexander, were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Deputies said the car driven by O'Haver flipped over after the cars smashed together on the gravel road shortly before 9 p.m.

N-Blasts, Quakes Differentiable--Scientist

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — A Canadian scientist who took part in the Oct. 29 underground nuclear test in Alaska said yesterday preliminary information from the test indicates it is possible to detect secret underground nuclear blasts.

The purpose of the test on Amchitka Island in Alaska's Aleutian chain was to see if remote stations could detect the difference between an earthquake and an underground nuclear explosion. There have been no reports from official sources on the results of the tests.

R. D. Russell of the University of British Columbia geophysics Department, who was present on Amchitka during the test, said in his opinion it would be "very hard not to be able to tell" the difference between a nuclear blast and an earthquake.

He said preliminary information, some of it from a string of 26 recording stations across Canada, indicate that shear waves, a sort of twisting motion common to all earthquakes, were not recorded following the Alaska blast.

"It looks pretty hopeful at first glance, but of course we have a lot of work ahead of us," Russell said.

PROCESSED DATA

The University of British Columbia here is one of a number of centers processing information about the Alaska test. This is expected to take about four months.

Russell said he had discussed the significance of the blast with Canadian government officials in Ottawa.

"We were very excited about it," he said.

The ability to tell the difference between an underground nuclear explosion and earthquakes have long been a stumbling block in nuclear test ban negotiations.

Current Books

LAUGHING WHITEFISH, by Robert Traver (McGraw-Hill $5.50): "Laughing Whitefish" is no laughing matter. This new novel by the author of the highly successful "Anatomy of a Murder" is written in stilted language that suggests soap opera.

Laughing Whitefish is the Indian name of a beautiful young Chippewa girl who's being done out of her inheritance—shares in a valuable iron ore mine—by company lawyers.

Her case, first undertaken by a kindly old lawyer brought to ruin by drink, is turned over to a young greenhorn who spends a good deal of his time worrying that no one will ever call him William instead of Willy.

The novel is based on a real case fought nearly a century ago, and one wonders whether the author, a district attorney for 14 years in the area about which he writes, might not have presented his story more interesting as nonfiction.

THEY WERE BOTH NAKED, by Philip Wylie (Doubleday $5.95): A novel in which Wylie unleashes his anger and disgust at modern American society, specifically the upper crust.

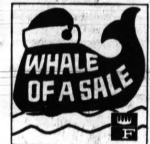

His main character, multi-millionaire D. Luder Phyle, symbolizes the American tycoon, adding to his industrial empire with no particular goal except to expand endlessly.

Wylie disgresses to expound his views on the many things he hates about modern times—lack of sex understanding chiefly, which leads to juvenile misbehavior, adult tragedy and possibly war.

In spite of long preachy sections, the story moves, shocks and fascinates.

'Cuba Refugees Smuggled Aboard Small Boats Despite Ban'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Crews of small boats leaving Cuba are smuggling refugees aboard despite the ban on departures, the Coast Guard said today.

A Coast Guard spokesman said 14 refugees arrived at Key West Sunday although Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has said no more may leave Camarloc, the port emigrants must use. The refugees swam from shore to the boats.

The 14 were aboard six boats. Thirty-three other small craft reached the Florida Keys Sunday and about 60 more are on their way.

With an airlift of refugees to the United States due to start Dec. 1, Castro has ordered a halt to the disorderly small boat exodus. The Cuban government said only those who left Florida aboard the vessels would be allowed to return in them.

20 RESCUED

The Coast Guard rescued 30 crewmen from disabled exile boats Saturday night.

Castro, in a radio speech monitored in Miami, criticized doctors who want to join the present exodus.

Speaking in Holguin, eastern Cuba, on the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, he said: "Those who desert the ranks of the medical workers, those who have dedicated themselves to save lives and alleviate pain, deserve complete contempt."

He spoke at the inauguration of the Lenin hospital, which was built with Soviet aid.

Doctors seeking to leave Cuba have been ordered to wait one day night, however, that Cuban year for an exit visa.

Castro said in his speech Sunday that the current modus oper-

"Whoever is not a revolutionary is not a citizen of this country," he declared. "Our frontiers are not physical frontiers but revolutionary ideological frontiers."

The Cuban prime minister made no mention of the U.S. note to the United States Saturday repeated its offer to let political prisoners leave the country in exchange for members of the Cuban government in a Latin American countries. The United States rejected that proposal when the Cubans first made it on Oct. 12.

Workers Say Eskimos Get Extra Benefit

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Non-Eskimo employees at a Dew-line installation on Alaska's arctic coast say they are being discriminated against because they can't spend nights with their families.

Jim Brown, employed at the Barter Island station of the Deaf-early Warning system, submitted their complaint to the state legislative council.

Brown said non-Eskimo men are not permitted to leave the facility at night to stay with their native wives in the nearby village of Kaktovik. He said Eskimo men, however, are permitted to spend the nights with their families.

The council asked the Alaska Human Rights Commission to investigate.

There was no immediate comment from the Federal Electric Corp. which operates Dew-line stations in Alaska under contract.

State GOP Weighs Two for Senate Bid

LANSING (AP) — The names of two possible candidates for the U.S. Senate were mentioned Saturday at a state Republican meeting.

Meeting in closed session to discuss plans for the 1966 campaign, party leaders discussed U.S. Rep. Robert P. Griffin and Michigan State University biophysicist Dr. Leroy Augenstein.

Griffin declined to discuss the possibility but said he was considering the proposition. Augenstein listed himself on posters as a "probable candidate."

Danish Plane Forced Into Sea; All Rescued

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A Danish military transport plane carrying 20 people was forced down in the Kattegat Sea today but a fishing boat rescued all aboard.

The air force C-4 was en route to Greenland with personnel for military bases there. Preliminary reports indicated engine failure was responsible for the ditching.

Philippine Election Slated for Tuesday

MANILA (AP). — They've tossed everything into the pot for one of the biggest presidential election stews ever cooked up on the Philippines. Tuesday is election day. The voters have been exposed to the longest concerted campaign in this nation's history.

The major parties, the Nacionalistas and the Liberals, held their conventions last year to give their candidates time to cover the major islands among the 7,000 that make up the country.

The campaign has boiled down to a two-way fight between President Diosdado Macapagal, for the Liberals, and Sen. Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Nacionalista party.

Both are claiming victory already but cautious money rates the election a tossup.

NOTHING LEFT

It would be hard to find anything — good or bad — that has not been said, printed or broadcast about both men.

Full-page advertisements extol the brilliant war record of Marcos. The next page is filled with his "sins," including one of "being the Filipino nation, its heroes and leaders."

Macapagal is described as a "man of the masses" — which every Filipino politician must be in his campaign promises. His ads recite a litany of successes.

No holds are barred in an election. Paid advertisements are even interspersed in children's television programs.

FINAL APPEALS

Macapagal and Marcos have been making last minute appeals, especially in the areas where they hope to build up big majorities.

An axiom in Philippine politics is that if a voter doesn't see the candidate, he doesn't vote for him.

Political rallies go on until the early hours of the morning. Rural folk will come for miles with their families, sleeping in village plazas until the candidates appear.

The Philippines has lived with vote frauds since gaining independence from the United States in 1946. Each election, the government election commission tries to devise new schemes to prevent vote scandals.

WRITE IN NAMES

Names of the candidates do not appear on the ballots. The voter must write in a name.

If a politician is buying a vote, he has to make certain the voter has a sample ballot and either a piece of carbon paper or waxed paper. The pressure of the voter's pencil, with the waxed paper underneath the official ballot, reveals how the vote was cast.

Newberry Dedicates

$800,000 Hospital

NEWBERRY (AP) — The new $800,000 Helen Newberry Joy Hospital was dedicated over the weekend.

The 38-bed institution, named in honor of an Upper Peninsula pioneer family, was a bond issue in 1959 and the Joy Foundation of Detroit donated $250,000. Construction began last year.

Form True Dem Party--Flowers

Alabama Official Is Cheered by Negroes

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a racial moderate and political foe of Gov. George Wallace, has endorsed the formation in Alabama of a third party, aligned with the national Democratic party.

Flowers said he might be a candidate for a party of "true Democrats" in Alabama. He said he would make known within a month if he would run for governor or the U.S. Senate.

The attorney general appeared yesterday before the convention of the Alabama Democratic Conference, Inc., composed almost wholly of Negroes. He won a standing ovation before and after his speech.

Negro leaders praised Flowers as "a great American, a great Alabamian and a modern-day messiah," and said, "We will not let him bear his cross alone."

Flowers told newsmen he favored a third party movement in Alabama, possibly along the lines of the Mississippi Freedom Democrats.

VOICE IN ALABAMA

The primary aim, Flowers said, would be to provide a voice in Alabama for "true Democrats."

He said this third party would be part of the national Democratic party.

The Alabama Democratic party, which usually opposes the national party, could continue to go its separate way, he said.

"There's merit in such a movement," he said. "There's encouragement for such a group in Alabama."

NEED SUPPORT

With the proper organization and support, he said such a group could go to the Democratic National Committee and demand recognition.

He said the committee showed sympathy for such a venture in the way it treated the Freedom Democratic party.

"I'd be with them," Flowers promised. "I would run for anything as long as it's for the national Democrats."

Flowers was asked about his political future. He has said he is considering running for governor or the U.S. Senate as a moderate.

"I'll make an announcement within 30 days," he promised.

...and the Reception Went On...

BOSTON (AP) — For months before they were married, Jack and Diana Zajak decorated their apartment and filled it with wedding gifts, clothing, luggage and new furniture.

Then as they danced at their wedding reception, the news came that their apartment had been wiped out by fire.

"Oh my God! Everything we had," the bride, 23, sobbed.

Diana said she couldn't bear to leave the reception to look at the ruin.

DANCE RESUMES

"After all, it is our wedding," her husband, 23, said, and the guests began to shout, "Dance, dance."

So as the bride wept, the newlyweds danced a wedding waltz Saturday and the reception resumed.

It was learned later that not quite all the young couple's possessions were lost: two dripping wet airlines tickets were found in a bureau drawer among the apartment ruins.

"They didn't want to go," Edward Uminski, a cousin of the bride, said, "but we all told them to go ahead, there was no sense of spoiling it all the way."

BORROWS SUITS

Diana borrowed two suits from a friend and the couple left Sunday for a honeymoon in California.

Today, friends and relatives cleaned up the apartment and a "Diana and Jack fund" was started in the Chelsea neighborhood where they live.

"I'm sure things will look a lot better when they get back," Uminski said.

Latin Food Problem Said Rapidly Growing Critical

CHICAGO (UPI) — A New York scientist said today providing food for the exploding populations of underdeveloped countries, particularly in Latin America, is fast becoming a critical problem.

Dr. Henry Seabell, director of the Institute of Nutrition Sciences, Columbia University, spoke at the opening session of the American Medical Association's council on foods and nutrition.

He told more than 1,000 experts in the fields of nutrition, agriculture and medicine, that the basic problem of a healthy population is being felt most acutely in the Caribbean, Central and South America. Underproduction and mismanagement is only part of the problem, Seabell said.

They're Full of Beans

PLYMOUTH, England (UPI) — Ninety-six tins of beans and a can-opener were given this weekend to newlyweds Peter Swann and Jenny Cowie, both 21, from their fellow students at a college here.

He also cited trends toward movement from the country, where, he said, poverty is a way of life, to crowded cities where the rural newcomers strain the economic structure by being forced to live on welfare.

ESTABLISHED CHANNELS

Seabell said this rapid urbanization upsets established channels of food distribution. The new arrivals in the city may be exposed to new patterns of diet which their old food habits have not prepared them to meet.

The over-all result is often a deterioration of an already serious national nutrition situation," he said.

Seabell said effective methods of population control must be applied or "the food supply must be greatly increased and improved," involving training of farmers, health workers, food processors and other workers in specialized fields.

He said the only effective answer on a long-range scale would come about through improving food industries and agricultural technology.

The 4,700 hotels and motels in the United States took in $4.5 billion in 1964, an increase of three per cent over the previous year.

Chiefs Whip Flint Central, 20-6

By DON VOGEL.

Saginaw Valley Conference and mythical state football championships will be on the line Friday when Pontiac Central and Bay City Central clash at Wm. Stadium.

PCH set the stage for what may be the top prep game of the season by defeating Flint Central, 20-6 Saturday night.

The victory, before 3,276 fans at Flint's Atwood Stadium, boosted the Chiefs' SVC record to 6-0. Bay City Central, rated the No. 1 Class A team in the state, is 7-0.

Victory is a must for the seventh-ranked Chiefs if they are to win their first SVC title since 1941. A tie will give Wolves the championship.

Coch Paul Deller and the Chiefs don't have to worry about the state title.

However, Bay City Central also must win if it is to remain the front-runner for state honors. A tie would eliminate the Wolves from contention.

LARGE CROWD

If the weather is good, a near capacity crowd of 8,000 is expected.

Bay City has been allotted 2,300 tickets for the contest and the 500 included for students already have been sold. Indications are that most of the remaining 1,800 will be gone before the end of the week.

Tickets for the clash went on sale here today.

Adult tickets, $1 each, are on sale at Osmon Men Stores — in Tel Huron and downtown Pontiac. PCH principal Francis Staley said 500 tickets were allotted to each store but that more would be available if needed.

Student tickets will be available only at Central High School. "No adult tickets will be sold at the school," Staley said.

Staley said that Bay City fans have already purchased 2,500 tickets.

Bay City coach Elmer Engel who scouted the Chiefs Saturday night, gave only a one word description of PCH:

"Tough."

The Chiefs faced a Flint Central team that was primed for an upset.

Flint Central scored the first time it had the ball. The Indians moved 49 yards in six plays with halfback Roosevelt Keys punching over from the three. A 32-yard pass from quarterback Rod Jones to halfback Lee Watson was the big play.

But the attempted conversion kick was wide. The Chiefs picked the Indians apart the remainder of the first half.

They took the kickoff and drove 63 yards in 10 plays with fullback Ken Seay diving over tackle from the two on fourth down. Mike Prince's first of two straight extra point kicks put the PCH ahead to stay, 7-0.

A 93-yard march the next time the Chiefs gained possession was capped by Don Lavalais sweeping left end from the five early in the second quarter.

The Chiefs struck again with 16 seconds remaining in the half. Seay intercepted a Jones' pass on the Flint 37. Fullback Bruce Turpin raced 35 yards to the two and then slammed to the next play.

The second half was scoreless as the Chiefs played conservatively to protect their lead. Flint Central made the only scoring threat.

LONG MARCH

Starting on their own 13, the Indians needed 20 plays and a lot of time to reach the PCH five.

But Jones was thrown twice attempting to pass and Watson was caught for a loss trying to sweep end. The Indians yielded the ball on the 12.

Halback Tom Howard, who was a standout on defense during the game for the Chiefs, guard Dan Irwin, end Rick Fox and tackle Tom Jenkins made the key tackles that hurtled Flint Central back.

Although Jones completed seven of 11 passes for 88 yards, the Chiefs minimized the threat by intercepting two and dumping.

Turpin received excellent blocking from the middle and left side of PCH's line and shredded the Flint defenses for 105 yards in 15 carries.

All told, the Chiefs ground out 240 rushing and 90 passing yards, holding the Indians to only 77 on the ground. Flint Central's TD was the only third scored on the Chiefs this season.

Quarterback Jerry Murphy connected on four of six passes, all to Lavalais, and three of the completions were instrumental in the Chiefs first two touchdowns.

On the first drive Murphy connected with Lavalais on a 24-yard screen pass that put the ball on the PCH 21 after the Indians were assessed 15 yards for grabbing the PCH receiver's face mask.

Murphy tried no passes in the second half.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — China had its defensive wall, France had its Maginot Line and the Detroit Lions displayed their Magnificent Seven in defeating the Green Bay Packers, 12-7, before 50,852 stunned fans.

Not even the old timers in the Lions' organization or the most ardent fans going back to 1934 could ever recall a defensive display as shown by the Lions yesterday against what has been considered one of the most vaunted offensive lines in pro football.

From the opening minute of the game until the closing moments, the front four of the Lions' defense, led by Alex Karras, Roger Brown, Sam Williams and Darrin McDord along with linebackers Joe Schmidt, Wayne Walker and Wally Hilgenberg, the Packers' offense was torn to shreds.

GOOD RETURNS

The Lions offense itself had little to offer, but fortunately for the defense and the outstanding kick return of Tom Watkins and the key gainers by Amos Marsh, the Packers had their backs to the wall all afternoon and needed three interceptions and two fumbles to stop Detroit drives.

"In all my football days, I have never seen such a defensive game," said head coach Harry Gilmer.

"That defense was unbelievable," said Packer coach Vince Lombardi, "and Bart (Star) looked like he was stuck in the mud helplessly."

Star did complete nine of 12 passes, but he hit 11 times for losses of 109 yards and six fumbles, with a team total of only 60 yards.

MINUS YARDS

In the second half alone, the Lions hit Star and Packer runners for a minus-101 yards. Sixteen of Green Bay's 49 offensive plays were for minus-yards.

Defensive line coach Carl Bretschneider, who took part in the 1962 Thanksgiving Day massacre in Detroit, said, "This defensive effort surpassed that game by far, because it was sustained for the entire game. In 1962 the Packers managed some offense and we let up late in game."

The Lions, as in past 1965 performances, made the most consistent early chances and forced the pressure on the defense to keep the Packers in check.

The opening kickoff was fumbled of Tom Moore and Tom Watkins recovered on the Packers 22. Two plays later George Izo, back to pass, fumbled and Henry Jordan fell on it on the 21.

After forcing a punt, with Starr losing seven as Sam Williams smeared him, Don Chandler punted and Detroit was back at the GB 43. Izo's pass was intercepted by Willie Davis to end the threat.

FIRST MARCH

Green Bay marched 80 yards midway in the second quarter as Starr connected on a key 29 yard pass to Carroll Dale. Taylor on three tries from the one finally went over and it was 7-0 with Chandler's punt.

On the ensuing kickoff Watkins made one of his most spectacular returns of the season. He took the ball three yards deep, cut to his left, slid off four Packer tacklers, got tangled in a mass of jerseys amidfield, came out all alone and was finally hit on the Green Bay 35 for a 69 yard return.

Baltimore Nips Bears, 26-21, to Take Lead

Vikings Trim Rams, 24-13; Dallas Downs San Francisco

CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Colts withstood a fourth quarter Chicago rally for a 26-21 victory Sunday and took undisputed possession of first place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

Trailing 24-7 going into the final period, the Bears scored two touchdowns to pull within three points and then recovered a Baltimore fumble with about three minutes to play.

The Bears moved from their 28 to the Baltimore 46 but had to give up the ball on downs.

Before the hectic fourth quarter it appeared the Colts would have an easy victory as the Baltimore front line kept harassing Bear quarterback Rudy Bukich. Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown passes of 37 yards to John Mackay and 49 yards to Tony Lockett as he guided the Colts to a 17-0 lead before leaving the game with a back injury in the third quarter.

With 1:38 left, the Bears forced the Colts to punt again and Gilberg kicked to the five. The Bears tried three desperation passes before Lou Michaels nailed Bukich in the end zone for a safety seconds before the final gun.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Charley Johnson threw a 59-yard touchdown pass to Billy Gambrell with 37 seconds left to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 21-17 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The pass ruined the upset hopes of the Steelers, who had scored only one minute earlier to go ahead, and kept the Cardinals from falling farther behind Cleveland in the Eastern Division.

Gambrell, who earlier dropped two passes, hauled in the pass at the Pittsburgh 20 behind three defenders and out behind them the rest of the way.

LION APART FROM BALL—Detroit quarterback George Izo (15) is "restrained" from recovering his first-period fumble deep in Green Bay territory by the Packers' Willie

Pioneers Close Harrier Season on Losing Note

The Pioneers of Oakland University closed their cross country season Saturday by losing to Defiance of Ohio, 26-30, although they took first and second place.

Two former Pontiac Northern runners, Gary Cobb and Tim Kau, finished one-two, 56 seconds apart. Cobb covered the rugged four-mile course in 24:30 to lead the field.

Defiance's Bill Herrich was third, pacing the visitors' sweep of the next four spots. Oakland's Tom Tobias took seventh and Defiance captured eighth and ninth.

The Pioneers closed the season with three losses and without the services of No. 1 harrier Louis Putnam who has a bone chip on his knee.

QB Gabler Sparks Attack in Easy 23-3 Triumph

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Experience, it is said, is the best teacher.

Michigan coach Bump Elliott used the word a number of times to explain his team's recent successes, the latest of which was a 23-3 thrashing Saturday of brother Pete's Illinois team.

Wally Gabler has added a lot to our offense since he took over at quarterback because of the experience he has gained by playing more," Elliott said.

"Dave Fisher is a better blocker simply because of experience.

"And our defense—which has helped some by the fact many key injuries—is better because of experience."

Gabler called 15 straight running plays—which ate up almost half the third period—in directing Michigan's final drive at the start of the second half.

Gabler went in from the four for the touchdown. His 13-yard run on the first play of the 70-yard march was the big gainer.

SPARTAN ROMPS — Michigan State University halfback Dwight Lee, former All-Star from New Haven, moves across the goal line for a touchdown in the second half Saturday as the Spartans routed Iowa, 35-0.

Spartans Forget Iowa, Look Ahead to Indiana

EAST LANSING (AP) — There is one rigid rule in the Michigan State football family. It reads: "Forget about the last game. Think about the next one."

Michigan State, No. 1 in the nation, tops in the Big Ten, rolled over Iowa 35-0 this past Saturday.

"We can do it against Indiana," Indiana, coach to Ohio State 17-10, will play MSU at East Lansing Saturday. There still is a climactic game coming up — Notre Dame, which walloped Pittsburgh 69-14.

100 PER CENT

"We don't want to be 99.44 per cent pure," said Daugherty. "We want to be 100 per cent. We want to play the best game we ever will. And we want to do it against the Hoosiers."

Daugherty ordered his troops to check Sunday for any injuries, none seen so far—and start working today on the game strategy against Indiana. He admitted he was cracking the whip.

"I've been a lot meaner and tougher since I've been winning than the years when I lost," Daugherty said.

The orders to forget the Iowa game were for the team. But the Monday morning quarterbacks still will relish the victory.

How about the Jones boy? Clinton Jones, the junior from Cleveland, pushed in for four touchdowns. Jones had 53 yards rushing.

SOPH FULLBACK

Bob Apisa, the sophomore fullback from Hawaii, didn't score but topped Jones with his rushing net of 79 yards.

The MSU defense was spectacular. It held Iowa to just one — correct — yard rushing. Last week, when MSU rolled over Northwestern, the Wildcats were held to —7 yards rushing. Defensive Captain Don Japunga was awarded the game ball for the great stand made by MSU.

"We did pretty good," said Japunga. "But it's good to know that when you hold them, you've got the guys up there who can make the touchdowns."

Hempton on the game's first play.

He followed that with scoring throws of 46 yards to Bob Brizke and 40 yards to Tom Bishart.

Northern Michigan, which upset No. 1 ranked small college power Findlay last week, sank a weak Southern Illinois team 24-6.

Hallback Dave Fleet scored two Northern touchdowns and quarterback Bill Sauter passed field goal with 10 seconds remaining to give the Wolverines a 17-3 halftime edge.

Accurate passing by Rick Russell enabled Kalamazoo College to roll over Earlham of Indiana 16-0. Russell hit Mike Saxby on a 31-yard scoring play and clicked again to Denny Benson for a 10-yard plunge. North-ers in completing 21 passes in the game. He had four touchdowns and 345 yards. One of the TD passes of Earlham was tackled in his own end zone.

Albion intercepted five passes in riding to a 25-0 win over Adrian, sinking the Bulldogs into last place in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. Albion already had clinched the MIAA title last week.

Pete Boroday scored two touchdowns and Dave Neilson passed for one, to Lloyd Harper, and ran for another.

Wayne State ended its stay in the President's Athletic Conference by edging Thiel of Pennsylvania, 7-6 on a fourth-quarter comeback.

Slim Hopes Remain for OSU, Minnesota

By the Associated Press

Ohio State and Minnesota kept alive their slim hopes for a Big Ten football title tie with narrow victories Saturday.

Ohio State needed a fourth quarter touchdown by Will Sander to push aside Indiana, 17-10. Quarterback John Hanftson completed seven straight passes and then ran for a touchdown from the one to lift Minnesota to a 27-22 victory.

Minnesota and Ohio State each have one loss in conference play.

Mike Garrett and Southern California may have a bad case of anticipation this week.

The cause is an appointment the sixth-ranked Trojans and their ace runner have this Saturday with Pitt, a team that has become adept at giving up more than a few points.

Garrett, the nation's leading college football runner, and his teammates are looking forward to picking up where Bill Wolke and Notre Dame left off. Wolke and the Irish, in turn, picked up where Floyd Little and Syracuse left off.

Wolke rammed for five touchdowns last Saturday as the fourth-ranked and once-beaten Irish mauled the Panthers 69-13, equalling the most points ever amassed against a Pitt team in its 76-year history and taking another step toward their crucial Nov. 20 clash with Michigan State.

Arkansas, No. 2, also extended its record to 8-0, trouncing Rice, 31-6, as did third-ranking Nebraska by whipping Kansas 42-6.

But even with the easy victories by the top trio, the performance by Notre Dame was the most awesome. It even topped two earlier scoring-at-will exhibitions against Pitt.

On the previous Saturday, Syracuse bombed the Panthers 51-13 with Little racing for four touchdowns, and several weeks before West Virginia outlasted Pitt 63-48 as Allen McCune fired five scoring passes.

Defeat Keeps Detroit in 4th

Canadiens, Chicago Post Easy Wins

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings took an unwanted firmer hold on fourth place in the National Hockey League Sunday night by dropping a 3-2 decision to the New York Rangers.

Meanwhile, Montreal remained tied for first place with a 5-2 decision over Boston. Chicago blanketed Toronto 9-0 to stay even with Montreal.

Detroit dropped two points behind the Rangers, who built up a 3-0 lead and held off a Gordie Howe — inspired rally to preserve the victory.

Bob Nevin scored twice for New York, once when his team was shorthanded. Donnie Marshall scored the clincher on a second period power play goal.

The Red Wings, who didn't lose a game at New York all last season, finally got to rookie goalie Ed Giacomin in the third period. Howe scored once and assisted on Ab McDonald's marker with 56 seconds to play.

Howe's goal was his second of the season and his 59th career marker.

Bobby Rousseau, Jean Beliveau, John Ferguson and Claude Larose each had a goal and an assist as the Canadiens belted Boston.

Rookie Bruin goalkeeper Bernie Parent kept the score from climbing to double figures with spectacular saves on Montreal breakaways.

Reg Fleming and Johnny Bucyk scored for Boston.

Bobby Hull spearheaded the Hawks past the Maple Leafs with his second three-goal hat trick of the season. He also took over the scoring lead from Rousseau, 17 points to 15.

Hull, who now has 11 goals in six games, now is the Hawks' all-time scoring leader. In nine seasons, he has scored a total of 564 points. The Chicago record was 549, formerly held by Bill Mosienko in 13 seasons.

Brewer Takes Hawaii Open

Gay Downs Goalby in Sudden Death

HONOLULU (AP) — Gay Brewer of Dallas, who smashed two big woods to the 18th to gain a birdie and a tie, won the $60,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament Sunday on the first extra hole with a birdie that defeated Bob Goalby.

Brewer and Goalby wound up the 72-hole tournament, next-to-last stop on the PGA tournament trail this year, with scores of 281.

Goalby shot a final round 69, that included a magnificent iron approach to within two feet of the pin on No. 15. He took over the lead at that point and held it with pars in, until Brewer played the last hole.

Goalby missed a three-footer for his birdie at 18, and that left three players — Brewer, George Archer and Al Bessellink — with a chance to tie.

Pontiac Arrows Win Midwest Football Championship surprising Blue Devils wrapped up the Midwest Football League championship in week end action.

Going into the weekend, Pontiac and Dayton's Colts shared the lead with 5-2 records, but the unexpected assist from Flint's Arrows knocked off Lansing before 3,400 fans at Wisner Stadium Saturday night, 20-6, and Flint held the Colts to a 7-7 tie before a small crowd yesterday at Atwood Stadium in the auto city.

The title was the third in the past four years for the Arrows, and the victory boosted the squad into the All-Star championship game scheduled for next Saturday at Wisner Stadium.

In the All-Star tilt, Pontiac will take on the top players from the other clubs in the league—Flint, Lansing, Milan and Dayton.

The score came on a nine-yard pass from Ron Parkinson to end Jim Stewart.

Early in the fourth, the losers drove from their own 44-yard line to the Arrows' five, but a field goal attempt by Parkinson was blocked by defensive end Dick Storms to end the threat.

SPARK DEFENSE

Spearheading the Pontiac defensive line was The Student, a 295-pound wrestler who joined the Arrows last week after injuries put two starters out of action.

Making a surprise appearance with the defensive squad was Walter Kowalczyk, former Michigan State University All-American, who filled in at a linebacker post for Steve Szabo, an assistant coach at Pontiac Central who was with PCH at Flint.

Flint's upstart Blue Devils, who dumped the Arrows last week, 19-14, were expected to be an easy prey for the Colts, but they baffled Dayton to a standoff and almost won the game.

DEFENSIVE

Defensive halfback L. G. Muddy picked off a pass tossed by Dayton's Pete Mikolajewski early in the second period and scampered 25 yards for a touchdown. Paul Krussell's kick made it 7-0.

Later in the second frame, Dayton drove 60 yards to tie the score. Halfback Jim Overman bulled his way in from one-yard out and Bill Cole kicked the tie point.

Dayton moved to the Flint 17-yard line midway in the fourth quarter, but the drive stalled and Cole's field goal try from the 32 sailed wide to the left.

ALL-STARS RECOVER — Lansing All-Stars' Jim West (left) and Frank Robinson (81) pounced on this fumble by Pontiac Arrows' Willie Jones (not shown) in the third quarter. Coming up to lend a hand is tackle Frank Woolsey (73).

The Arrows rode to victory over Lansing on the passing of quarterback Karl Sweeten and the running of halfback Jim Johnson.

SCORING TOSS

Sweeten hit on 15 of 22 tosses for 217 yards, with one of his completions going to Johnson for a 13-yard touchdown.

The Arrows broke into the scoring column at 7:17 of the opening quarter when fullback Willie Jones ripped up the middle for the final three yards to cap an 85-yard drive. Sweeten booted the first of his two extra points.

PONTIAC PRESS PHOTO

Johnson, a 185-pounder from Tecumseh, hauled in a 13-yard pass from Sweeten at 7:16 of the second period to raise the count to 14-0 and the speedy halfback sprinted nine yards for his second touchdown with 3:34 remaining in the game.

Lansing made it a close game with a touchdown in the third that narrowed the gap to 14-6.

'Green Monster' Spills

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Arthur Eugene Arfons, still speed king of the world, loaded up his wrecked Green Monster racer onto a huge van trailer today and got ready to make the slow, 50-hour trip back home to Akron, Ohio.

The 39-year-old racing car designer regained his title as the fastest man on wheels Sunday by driving the Green Monster turboprop racer to a two-way-averaged speed of 578.533 miles an hour on the Bonneville Speedway here.

"In a repeat of what happened in the 1964 racing season, the Akron racer wrestled the record away from Craig Breedlove of Los Angeles, who held it for only five days at 555.127 m.p.h.

Arfons set up camp on the Salt early Sunday, shortly after daylight. Without so much as a single warm-up, by 1 p.m. he had made two fast runs to break the record. It was one of the quickest assaults on the land speed record in the history of the Speedway.

BLEW TIRE

But on the last run, Arfons blew a right rear tire in his jet racer as he emerged from the timing lights at the end of the measured mile. He was going close to 600 m.p.h.

Arfons popped his emergency parachute and it dragged the car to a halt near the end of the eight-mile course. The driver, visibly shaken by his close brush with death, walked in a daze around the wrecked car before crewmen and spectators arrived.

Asked how he felt, Arfons said: "I feel fine, but I broke my car."

Jury Gets 'Rasputin' Suit Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — A state Supreme Court jury begins deliberating today the $1.5-million question of whether a television dramatization of the royalist assassination of the "mad monk" Rasputin was "educational" or "overexposed."

Rasputin's assassin, Prince Felix Youssouf, is suing the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) for $1.5 million, claiming invasion of privacy by a 1963 CBS television dramatization of the event.

The price, 70, argued the television version of the 1916 assassination erroneously suggested he pandered his then 21-year-old wife, Princess Irina Komsanoff Youssouf, let's the lecherous Rasputin to his death at the Yousouf-off Palace in St. Petersburg (Leningrad).

In Friday's summations, a CBS attorney told the nine-man, three-woman jury the dramatization was "educational" and not "overexposed," as the prince has claimed.

Defense counsel Carleton Eldridge Jr. said Youssouf should not be eligible for damages because he had written two books about the incident himself and could not be damaged by a television presentation prepared "in good faith."

DENIED STORY
Throughout the 17-day trial, during which the prince told how he and other royalists slew Rasputin by feeding him poison tea cakes and shooting and beating him, Youssouf repeatedly denied he used the beautiful princess as sexual bait to get Rasputin to the palace for "midnight tea."

Swedes in Detroit on Industrial Tour

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Swedish businessmen arrived Sunday to open a four-day tour designed to promote trade between Michigan and Sweden. The seven-man delegation will tour the city's extensive industrial complex and talk with business leaders. Prime Minister Tage Erlander of Sweden is expected to join the group Tuesday. He is to address the Economic Club of Detroit.

Wilson's Report to Mayor Reveals Burlesque's Back

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Dear Mayor-Elect Lindsay: I always say, anything to show my loyalty to the new administration.

Figuring you wouldn't have time to inspect the new New York City burlesque, booming and respectable for the first time since Mayor LaGuardia booted it out in 1950, I forced myself to slum into the Mayfair Theater, W. 46th St., to see what comes off when strippers start stripping at 1 p.m.

I was like your sort of special agent, just enduring it for you, sir. A 1 p.m. strip-tease!

But burley's back in NY... bumpin', grindin', tassel-tossin', garter belts, long white gloves, G-string, pasties, "Harlem Nocturne," "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody," and candy butchers.

Things like I say I just looked at to be of service to you, sir.

And there's a new "Minsky" — LeRoy Griffith, a neat gentlemanly epidemic emperor from Poplar Bluff, Mo. (isn't Missouri the "Show Me State"? He has 10 stripteasers in Washington, Cincinnati, Columbus, Tampa and Miami Beach — in Washington, very near the White House), "I've seen all the girls he's seen, you probably wouldn't care about seeing any more of it."

Besides the Mayfair — Where the old Billy Rose Diamond Horseshoe used to be — he's offering gals in the raw at the 1170-seat Gayety at 2nd Ave. and 12th St. — on Nov. 10, he opens the Metropolitan at 285 E. 14th St. where he'll give N.Y. an art form it's never had before.

Amateur strip-tease contests!

Where bored-housewives can show off their wares.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL...

Jane Morgan campaigned for N.Y.'s Mayor-elect John Lindsay, but couldn't vote for him — she's registered in Kennebunkport, Maine... Actor Paul Henreid's dir. Monica married singer Paul Veglia Tuesday (Nov. 3). They spent much of the evening frugging at the Scene... Eddie Fisher begins his Viet Nam entertainment tour Dec. 14.

Steve Lawrence and his TV producer George Schlatter'll sponsor a line of gals' clothes called "Fussycat" (named for the dancers on the show)... Hollywood duo: Actor Nick Adams and ex-Miss America Mary Ann Mobley... Sugar Ray Robinson says he's looking for someone to help him with his autobiography.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Memory is what tells a man his anniversary was yesterday.

We're told that in 30 years the world's population will have doubled. Which means one thing — you'd better find a parking space fast... That's earl brother.

ARRIVES FOR PARTY — Princess Margaret, wearing a creamy silk evening gown embroidered with gold and silver flowers, arrives last night for a party in her honor at the exclusive Bistrot Restaurant in Beverly Hills, Calif., where she met scores of Hollywood movie stars. U.N. Debate Opens on Red China Entry

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly begins debate today on the annual proposal to admit Communist China. The debate was expected to end with the Chinese Reds still on the outside, despite the biggest vote in their favor so far.

Speakers listed for the first round of debate include Huot Sambath of Cambodia and Halim Budo of Albania, both supporters of Peking, and, on the opposite side, Liu Chieh of Nationalist China and Arthur J. Goldberg of the United States.

Will Continue Rainy, Cool

Light rain and cooler temperatures chased away the fog blanket, which slowed Pontiac area drivers this morning. Scattered showers will continue through the night with the mercury sliding to a low of 35 to 40.

Tomorrow skies will clear and temperatures will remain cool, the high predicted to register 38 to 45.

Lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 44. By 1 p.m. the temperature warmed to 56.

Soviets Parade New Missiles

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians displayed three new missiles yesterday plus an older one which they said can orbit the earth with a nuclear warhead.

The Soviet missiles were shown during the mammoth military parade marking the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. Attacks on the United States were relatively mild.

The orbital rocket, shown first last May Day, was given the place of honor in the parade of 250 pieces of military hardware.

Behind it came a mobile missile which the Russians described as invulnerable. The Russians say it is a new intercontinental ballistic missile.

Western experts estimated its range at 1,500 to 5,000 miles. The term "invulnerable" was taken to mean it could be moved on the ground to avoid attack.

It appeared to be a revised version of the Iron Maiden first shown last May. It was about 60 feet long, 20 feet longer than the Iron Maiden, five feet in diameter and solid fueled.

OTHER MISSILES
The other new missiles were described as intermediate range ballistic missiles with a range of between 300 and 1,500 miles.

A fourth new weapon, tank-like in appearance and mobile, contained four anti-aircraft guns of about 50 caliber.

An announcement said the orbital missile could put a nuclear warhead into orbit and it then could be fired from the ground.

FOR NEEDY STUDENTS
The new education bill provides for federal scholarships for needy college students and offers fellowships to teachers can finance advanced degrees.

It also authorizes a National Teacher Corps to bring special help to children in impoverished areas — but Congress failed to vote funds to get that program started.

Johnson said he will make a new request for the Teacher Corps funds when Congress meets in January.

Under the corps program, teams of teachers and recent graduates would try to improve educational opportunities for children in poverty areas. The corps would start with about 6,000 members. They would be paid with federal funds and serve in an area only at the request of local school officials.

AVERAGE SCHOLARSHIP
The college scholarships are expected to average $500, running from $200 to $800 with a $1,000 ceiling allowed for a student in the upper half of his class in the preceding year.

But U.S. experts consider intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles produce the same effect at less cost and with greater accuracy than an orbiting missile.

THE UNITED STATES has tested missiles to destroy attacking missiles in space but has not claimed to be able to launch nuclear attacks from space.

Since both the Soviet Union and the United States can orbit and return manned spacecraft, it is assumed they can do the same thing with a nuclear warhead, sources said.

But U.S. experts consider intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles produce the same effect at less cost and with greater accuracy than an orbiting missile.

THE "recent declarations of Red China," he declared, "make this session a stronger case for the exclusion of Red China perhaps than ever before."

Huot Sambath advocated seating Communist China when he spoke Oct. 1 in the assembly's general debate.

He said its absence deprived the United Nations of universality, denied 700 million Chinese a voice, and prevented solution of world problems.

He contended the United Nations could not mediate the war in Viet Nam, because "the exclusion of China and the two Viet Nams prevents our organization from playing any positive role in this question."

DEBATING ITEM
The assembly is debating an item titled "Restoration of the Lawful Rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

It was submitted by 11 Communist and nonaligned countries — Albania, Cuba, Romania, Algeria, Burundi, Cambodia, the Congo (Brazzaville), Ghana, Guinea, Mali and Syria.

TWO DIED — Two Royal Oak teen-agers were killed when this car collided with another early yesterday in Waterford Township at the intersection of Elizabeth Lake Road and Telegraph. Witnesses told State Police the car was struck broadside by a car which ran a red light at the intersection.

Calm Urged in Detroit After Killing

DETROIT (AP) — With Detroit's 1.6 million residents urged by clergymen and others to be calm, police combed the city today for a car from which a Negro was shot and killed on a street early yesterday.

The four or five young white men reported to have occupied the car also were sought.

Eddie Cook, 53, employee of the city's sanitation department and father of three children, was hit in the chest by a shotgun blast from a block from his home in a near midtown section.

He died less than an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Police said Cook was an accidental victim in a fracas between Negro and white youths in the predominantly Negro neighborhood.

CALL FOR CALM
Church pastors and others called on citizens for calm.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph L. Roberts, president of the interdenominational Detroit Council of Churches and pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church, was one of the group urging calm.

The Rev. Mr. Roberts said he was joining with others of the clergy and with municipal officials to "urge calm for we recognize it (the shooting) as an act of an irresponsible person and which doesn't represent the white community."

A single shot was fired from the car, described by one witness as having a "light blue top and a dark blue bottom."

Cook, a native of Georgia, had lived in Detroit for about 20 years.

City Man Killed

3 Die in Area Mishaps

A 49-year-old Pontiac man died early today and two Royal Oak teen-agers were killed early yesterday in separate Pontiac area traffic accidents.

Dead are John F. Walker of 189 Cedardale, William R. Cosper, 19, and Judy L. Bonfield, 17.

Walker died shortly after 4 a.m. in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital from injuries received when his car struck a guard rail and then smashed into an abutment on I-75 near Holly.

State Police said a second vehicle collided with Walker's car, but caused no further injury to the victim. The accident occurred in Springfield Township.

Cosper and the Bonfield girl were killed in a three-car collision early yesterday at the intersection of Elizabeth Lake Road and Telegraph in Waterford Township.

Roe's car, in turn, collided with a car driven by Ardit M. DeGraff, 29, of Saginaw.

Before that election his Cabinet was disrupted by resignations, amid charges of anti-Americanism, and there was a move in the party to discard Diefenbaker as leader.

Christmas packages and greeting cards destined for overseas via surface shipment should be posted no later than Wednesday, according to Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson.

Servicemen, government personnel and their families can be sent packages and letters at fourth class rates through Army and Navy post offices at New York, San Francisco and Seattle, according to Donaldson.

Donaldson said parcels sent airmail should be mailed by Dec. 10.

Parcels weighing less than eight ounces can be airmailed for 88 cents. Larger packages will be 88 cents for the first pound and 80 cents for each additional pound, he said.

Donaldson urged residents to use care in packaging. Boxes should be of wood, metal or fibboard, wrapped in heavy paper and tied with strong cord.

ITEMS RULED OUT
Prohibited items include matches and lighter fluid, he said.

In some areas, restrictions have also been placed on coffee and cigarettes.

'Paratroopers Kill 110 Cong in Big Battle'

Five American Planes Lost Over Weekend; Six Fliers Missing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. pilots reported smashing another missile site in North Viet Nam today, and American paratroopers clashed with a strong Viet Cong battalion in the south, killing 110 of the enemy, a U.S. spokesman reported.

But in air action over North Viet Nam, the United States lost five planes over the weekend, one the victim of a surface to air missile, the others downed during search and rescue operations.

Five U.S. fliers were rescued and six were listed as missing, the spokesman said.

The attack on the missile site 80 miles east of Hanoi was the sixth in two days. Pilots said they heavily damaged four missile sites and four launchers.

See Story, Page B-8

In the south, paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne met what was described as a main force of Viet Cong dressed in gray fatigue-like uniforms never seen before in South Viet Nam. The action was in Zone D, the Communist iron triangle 25 miles north of Saigon.

Brig. Gen. Ellis Williamson, the brigade commander, reported the paratroopers counted 110 Viet Cong dead and "they're not through counting."

U.S. casualties in the fight 15 miles north of Bien Hoa were described as moderate. Few security reasons, American casualties are not given in numbers.

The paratroopers came upon the Viet Cong force while on a search and sweep operation that started several days ago. They found what U.S. officers described as a well-fortified jungle position.

"The enemy remained in position and kept firing," Williamson said, "we have had a real close-at-hand, jungle-type fight. There is no question but that this was a major battle."

STEEL HELMETS
He said the Communists were equipped with Rucksack-type packs and wore steel helmets. Usually the Viet Cong are dressed in black pajamas and do not wear steel helmets.

"The enemy made every effort to strip all of the bodies of everything, including identification, and all usable equipment," Williamson said.

Another sharp ground action was reported 135 miles east of Saigon, where 500 Viet Cong overran a hamlet.

The defenders suffered heavy losses. The government force later regained the hamlet with help from U.S. airstrikes.

GIANT SOVIET WEAPON — This lumbering giant, displayed by the Russians in Moscow's Red Square yesterday during the 48th anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution, is described as a mobile intercontinental missile that is hard to locate on the ground and impossible to intercept in flight. The missile, apparently a revised version of Russia's Iron Maiden, is encased in a launching tube mounted on a tracked vehicle.

Ask New Talks on Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has proposed another meeting with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith for an attempt to solve the new crisis over Smith's drive for independence.

Wilson suggested that the two meet on the Mediterranean island of Malta.

There was no immediate indication what Smith's response would be. He was expected to meet with his Cabinet today.

The two leaders, meeting in Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, agreed Oct. 30 to let a three-man royal commission try to seek a way out of the independence deadlock. Over the week-end the agreement began to fall apart.

CLOSED DOOR — Smith charged that the British prime minister's refusal to be bound by the findings of the royal commission had "finally closed the door" to a negotiated settlement.

The Rhodesian leader also declared a state of emergency in the central African colony, causing fears in London that Smith was preparing to declare unilateral independence to preserve white rule.

Wilson's government says such a move would be illegal and insists the colony's 4 million Africans must be given firm guarantees of political power eventually. The government now is dominated by the 225,000 white settlers.

Wilson suggested that before he and Smith meet, Rhodesian Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle visit London. He is to head the royal commission if it ever functions.

WILSON MESSAGE — Wilson's message to Smith said: "I believe that after my further discussion with Sir Hugh Beadle it might be useful if you and I met again, preferably at some convenient meeting place such as Malta."

Shirley Anderson, 30, of Belleville, was the driver of the car, suffered broken legs and was reported in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in nearby Ann Arbor. Wayne County sheriff's men said.

Debbie Kopsolias, 15, of near Ypsilanti, was thrown by the impact into the street and was pinned for almost an hour, officers said. The girl was freed by rescuers using wrecking bars. She was taken to St. Joseph Hospital with lacerations and a possible broken leg.

Four girls among the 25 children aboard the bus were treated at hospitals for lesser injuries.

CROSSED CENTER LINE — The bus driver, Merle Parker of Belleville, was quoted by the sheriff's men as saying the car crossed the center line of Huron River Drive and struck the bus head-on. The accident occurred while the bus was traveling about 40 miles an hour one mile west of Belleville, Parker told officers.

Francie Howard, 13, of near Ypsilanti, was treated at St. Joseph Hospital. Jeanette Monte and Debbie Cobble, the 12 and 10 of near Ypsilanti, were treated for minor injuries at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti and were released.

Meanwhile, orders prohibiting news about restricted persons or restricted areas were announced for the Salisbury and Matabeleland police provinces. The latter includes Rhodesia's second city, Bulawayo.

This regulation prohibits any mention in the papers of the names of African nationalist leaders Joshua Nkomo and Rev. Ndadimani Sithole and of former Prime Minister Garfield Todd, all of whom are under restriction.

CONFERENCE PREVIEW — U.S. Rep. Billie S. Farnum, D-19th District, will be wearing a speaker's name tag at Wednesday's Congressional Conference on Community Growth at Oakland University. Shown attaching one to his lapel is Mrs. Priscilla Jackson, director of conferences.

Looking on are (from left) — Chancellor D. B. Varner; Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, dean of continuing education; and his administrative assistant, Mrs. Dorothy Owen. Local government officials and business representatives will attend the 2:30-10 p.m. conference.

Three Republicans and a Democrat are in contention for the $50-per-diem Oakland County Board of Auditors appointment to be made tomorrow by the County Board of Supervisors.

The part-time post, in lieu of the previous full-time board of auditors position, pays a maximum of $3,500 annually.

Republicans mentioned as candidates for the job are David R. Calhoun, former county clerk-registrar of deeds; Elmer Johnson, former Waterford Township supervisor; and John B. Osgood, an attorney and member of the board of supervisors.

The lone Democrat is Willis M. Brewer, 73, who served as chairman of the board of auditors from 1919 to 1930 and presently manages the Pontiac Secretary of State office.

The part-time post was created by the board of supervisors after John C. Austin announced his retirement from the board of auditors effective Dec. 31.

PRIOR POLICY — Previously, all three members of the board had served full-time.

Republican Daniel T. Murphy and Democrat Robert E. Lilly are the two full-time members of the board of auditors.

The chairmanship of the board, now held by Murphy, also will be up for appointment before the board of supervisors. The chairman is appointed for a one-year term.

John A. MacDonald, 77, presently holds the welfare post. Dr. Frank R. Bates, 70, is the dog warden and Robert P. Allen is considered a likely three-year corporation counsel.

Diefenbaker's Last Stand? — Diefenbaker to remain as party chief after another defeat.

The leader of the party winning the most seats in the House of Commons becomes prime minister. Diefenbaker held the job from 1957 until he lost to Pearson in 1963.

PROSPERITY THEME — Pearson, with only 127 seats in the last Parliament, had to depend on support from minor parties to pass vital legislation.

He called today's election in an effort to get a Liberal majority. He has predicted a net gain of 15 seats to give him that majority.

The Conservatives, or Tories had 92 seats in the last House. Three smaller parties divided 40, and the remaining 6 were vacant or held by independents.

Pearson, 68, entered the government under Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and later served as foreign secretary under Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

Canada has been gaining 9 percent annually in gross national product, and employment figures are up.

Pearson has pointed with pride to Canada's new agreement with the United States on automotive exports.

He has hit hard on the theme of "Liberal prosperity."

Franklin — A week-long book fair featuring two special programs and an autographing session began today at Franklin School.

The display of books, which pupils will view during school hours, will be open until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Sponsored by the PTA, the fair is a fund-raising event for the school library.

A 1:30-3 p.m. program about encyclopedias was scheduled for today.

The 8 p.m. PTA meeting Thursday will include a showing of the color film "The Lively Art of Picture Books."

AUTOGRAPH BOOKS — Saturday, three Franklin residents will autograph books from 10 a.m. to noon.

Scheduled to appear are Al Kaline, Detroit Tiger outfielder, autographing his biography by Al Hirschberg; Mrs. Margaret Williamson Peterson, autographing her three books, "First Book of Bugs," "First Book of Birds" and "First Book of Mammals," and Chuck Yearn, autographing his book "About Skiing."

BEVERLY HILLS — an open house will be held tomorrow night at Wylie E. Groves High School. Parents of Groves students are to visit each classroom during the 7:30 p.m. program.

The Americans also took heavy losses in the savage fighting 8 miles west of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me.

CONG TOLL — A U.S. spokesman said 71 Viet Cong were known dead and an additional 200 were believed to have been killed or wounded.

About 1,500 cavalrymen searched today for remnants of the enemy unit, but no contact was reported.

It was believed the Communist troops had broken up into smaller groups and dispersed into the jungle near the Cambodian border.

Federal Panel Urges Tax on Polluters

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government panel has suggested that a special tax be levied on polluters of the nation's air, water and soil.

"Pollution touches us all," said a report by a panel of President Johnson's Science Advisory Committee. "We are at the same time polluters and sufferers from pollution."

Therefore, the panel said, "we recommend that careful study be given to taxlike systems in which all polluters would be subject to 'effluent charges' in proportion to their contribution to pollution."

Economic pressure thus would be applied to reduce what the scientists defined as pollution: man's unfavorable alteration of his surroundings, physical or aesthetic.

APPLICATION OF LEVY

Under this definition, the levy might apply to smoking factories, sewer systems corrupting streams, cars spewing exhaust fumes, careless users of pesticide, even a noisy radio.

The report, issued Saturday night, suggested that a substitute may have to be found for the automobile's internal combustion engine and its discharge of gases and lead. It mentioned power systems driven by rechargeable batteries or chemical fuel cells.

The 15-man panel recommends containers which would not mended, among other things, away after usage.

more cooperation between state and federal governments, development of instruments to warn cities of impending smog or other harmful chemical conditions, and that the administration training of more environmental scientists and development of a cleaner world."

Government
Should Lead,
Says Reuther

DETROIT (AP)—The federal government should contribute the largest amount in a $10 to $13 billion annual water pollution fight, United Auto Workers president Walter Reuther said Saturday at a union-sponsored meeting.

The one-day conference, the first of a planned nationwide series sponsored by the UAW, was attended by more than 1,000 union members and featured Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall as a speaker.

Reuther said the problem of cleaning up the nation's rivers, lakes and streams is "a problem so severe that it is going to take a massive effort to solve it."

Noting private industry would have to help in the problem, the union leader said "if we can spend $50 billion a year on armaments, we can spend one-fifth that amount on cleaning up our water. If we spent $13 billion a year, it would be only 2 per cent of our Gross National Product."

Udall observed that, of four bonding issues on the New York ballot, only the water issue was approved.

"In New York people have indicated they are willing to pay the cost of cleaner water. If money is not expended we will never lick this problem, Udall said.

Viet Nam Duty Urged

for Draft Card Burners

CADILLAC (AP)—George S. Fredericks, state commander of the American Legion, said Saturday that draft card burners should be drafted for Viet Nam service so they can "find out what the fighting is all about." In speaking to a Northern Michigan Legion zone meeting, Fredericks also urged Americans to wear American flag lapel pins to demonstrate support of the war.

Mrs. Irene Harris, Marge Street, (left) and Mrs. Maurice Blackburn, Lakeville, select hats to model. They are participating in the fashion show sponsored by the Fashion-Your-Figure Club Thursday.

7:30 p.m., in First Federal Savings of Oakland building. Clothes are from Waites' Department Store. The show is open to the public and tickets may be purchased at the door.

This Trio Will Meet Next Week

Mrs. R. V. Anderson will open her Deep Wood Street home for Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 16.

Hostesses, Mrs. George W. Davis and Mrs. Stewart Cram will assist chairman, Mrs. Paul J. Hidding.

EVENING GROUP

The evening group will gather the same day at 8 p.m. in the Birmingham home of Mrs. Richard McClear. Hostesses for this unit include Mrs. G. R. Brennen and Mrs. Kent Smith.

In addition to a philanthropy report, the program for both groups will be a Christmas workshop.

MORNING GROUP

The morning unit of this group will meet at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 17 in the home of Mrs. Frank A. Reid of Dowling Road.

'Wife' Insurance

You, as wife and mother, are a little overworked and quite valuable. If illness — or an accident — should disable you, your husband would probably face the chore of hiring extra household help. And nursemaids, housekeepers, and such come high these days.

Eliminate the possibility of your husband facing severe financial troubles should you become ill. Ask him to check into wife insurance. Many insurance companies, says Business Week, write "income" plans that pay up to $200 a month while a non-working wife is disabled because of sickness or accident. In the past only working wives could get income protection. But now they've decided the stay-at-home wives are worth money, too.

There are today 120 local Better Business Bureaus in the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Venezuela, Puerto Rico and Israel.

Hair style inspirations come from unexpected sources. Little did a minister in 1862 realize his story-telling to three small girls would have an impact on hairdos a century later. Sketched here are three interpretations of Alice in Wonderland hair designs. These result from sketches made by Lewis Carroll the Rev. Charles L. Dodgson for his handwritten book,

No Room for Him

WICHITA, Kan. — A stranger here found that names can be deceiving. Seeking lodging for the night, he looked through a telephone directory and saw the name of the Aristocrat Motor Inn. He found the place, walked in and said he wished to register for a room.

The young woman behind the desk explained that he was in a girls' dormitory for students at a nearby school.

Rochester Council Takes Bridge Bids

ROCHESTER — The Village Council will open bids on bonds tonight for a bridge over Paint Creek in the Mill Pond project. Construction bids on the bridge were opened Friday and a recommendation is expected tonight from engineers Spaulding-Decker and Associates Inc., of Birmingham.

Six bids were received on the project ranging from a low of $61,729 to complete work by March 31 and $56,000 to complete work by June 15 to a high of $78,874.

Low bidder was E. C. Noland and Jarvik Construction Co. of Detroit.

The bids were higher than anticipated, according to Village Clerk Maxine Ross. She said the cost of the bridge had been estimated at $48,000.

288 APARTMENTS — Some 288 apartments are proposed for 22 acres of Mill Pond property plus a portion which is to be developed for commercial use.

The 48-foot-wide vehicular bridge will be constructed across Paint Creek at the easterly end of East University.

In addition to the bridge, the village has agreed to pay for the railroad crossing with signals where the New York Central Railroad tracks cross the property.

The village will also supply the engineering services for construction of the roadway from the end of East University.

FINANCING — Cost of the bridge, the grade crossing and signals was originally estimated at a cost not to exceed $75,000. This will be financed by state highway weight and gasoline taxes.

The development of the Mill Pond property is expected to create better police, fire and other emergency protection in the eastern section of town.

It will also alleviate traffic congestion at the Main and University intersection and decrease traffic on Romeo and Parkdale streets, according to the council.

READ AT HOME — In classes of 15 young people of the same grade level, the participants meet for an hour and a half a month to discuss the books they have read at home.

Two adult leaders are present to ask questions and stimulate discussion.

The adult leaders do not need any special educational background — just "an interest in reading and a belief that young people can think for themselves," according to Mrs. James Worley, coordinator of the Great Books Program in southeastern Michigan.

Mrs. Worley, 2433 Ferncliff, Royal Oak, can be contacted for further information or registration.

HIGH-PRICED LAMB — The second-best lamb in last week's Detroit Junior Livestock Show is shown with its owner, Karen Rose of the East Orion 4-H Club, and its purchaser, Edgar Netherton, director of meat operations for Borman Food Stores. The food company operates Food Fair, Savon and K-Mart supermarkets.

Reserve Champion Lamb Shown by Avon Township Youngster

Karen Rose of the East Orion 4-H Club showed the reserve of 2009 Seymour Lake Road, Brandon Township, was awarded the animal for over-all achievement in 4-H work.

The ribbon-winner was one of ten lambs exhibited by Karen, 16, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rose, 670 N. Adams, Avon Township.

The 103-pound animal sold for $225 a pound in the annual prize — animal auction, bringing its owner $231.75.

Karen was the only one of six Oakland County 4-Hers to win a ribbon in the show, which was entered by some 400 youngsters from throughout the state.

'Normal Weekend Toll'

19 Die in State Traffic

By United Press International
Nineteen persons lost their lives on Michigan highways this weekend on what State Police termed "a normal weekend."

Five of the victims were teenagers, and 11 of the dead were under 25. Authorities said "it wasn't particularly bad."

Four of the victims died in accidents involving only their own car when they simply lost control. Police said this was "usual."

Two persons were killed Saturday afternoon when their car was struck at a Detroit intersection by another fleeing a police vehicle.

I. W. Haynes, the driver of the auto which was hit and Everal Shantee, his passenger, were killed when struck by a car fleeing from a traffic violation.

CRASH FATAL — Clifford Francis Bowerman, 55, Manistee, died yesterday when his car was struck in the rear on US 31 in Manistee Township while he attempted to turn off the highway.

Delores M. Quigley, 25, Grand Rapids, was burned to death when her auto crashed into a culvert and caught fire near Greenville yesterday.

An auto running a red light struck one driven by Martha Bishop, 25, Garden City, on M-10 near Van Buren Township yesterday resulting in her death.

Another car running a red light on US 24 in Oakland County yesterday struck an auto containing William Gosper, 19, and Judy L. Honfield, 17, both of Royal Oak, killing them.

MSU STUDENT — A motorcycle attempting to beat a train to a crossing failed yesterday and was killed. He was William Millich, 20, Detroit, a Michigan State student.

Dennis M. Rulmeyer, 21, Kalamazoo, was killed yesterday on US 121 in Kalamazoo County while showing his friends how to split a sports car. The vehicle skidded off the road and overturned.

A Freeport, N. Y., man was killed Sunday on M15 in Genesee County when he drove down the wrong side of the road and struck another car head-on. He then rolled onto the median.

A car which ran a stop sign rammed into one driven by William Harry Roughton, 28, Lumb, Saturday in Genesee County near Flint, killing Roughton.

A four-car accident in Detroit Saturday resulted in fatal injuries to Patricia Karmannowski, 19.

Merlyn Shambau, 27, Detroit, fell asleep behind the wheel of his car Saturday and slammed into a parked car in the Motor City. He was dead at the scene.

An accident on the Lodge Expressway in Detroit resulted in fatal injuries to Robert Jarvis, 20, Saturday. He was struck by a passing car as he stepped from his stalled auto.

HEAD-ON WRECK — Sixteen-year-old Albert Lee Robinson of Frankenmuth was killed Friday night in a head-on collision on a county road in Saginaw County.

An accident in Livonia early Saturday resulted in fatal injuries to Richard Charles Cizewski, 19, Detroit. Police said he lost control of his car at high speed.

John C. Bourne, 51, Dearborn Heights, was struck and killed by a car Friday night on I-75 in Southgate.

The first fatality of the weekend was Charles Curtis Fokum, 40, Berrien Springs. He lost control of his car and rolled over several times on US 31 in Berrien County.

Dublin School Slates Open House Tomorrow — WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — An open house will be held tomorrow at Dublin School so parents can visit their children's classrooms and meet with teachers.

In conjunction with the open house the Dublin Parent-Teachers Association will hold its annual book fair at the school, beginning tomorrow and continuing through Thursday. The fair will be open 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day.

Social Security Official to Talk to Study Group — CLARKSTON — Gilbert G. Gallivan, assistant district manager of the U. S. Social Security Administration in Oakland County, will address the Clarkston Day Study Group at 1 p.m. tomorrow in Independence Township last week of his resignation. He will speak on changes in the 1965 Social Security law and health and medical insurance under the act. The public is invited.
