'UAW Planned Trap With TV Invitation,' Potter Said Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said today the United Auto Workers (UAW) meant to entrap him by inviting him to appear on the union's radio-television program. He said the union wants a refusal to use against him.

Potter, in a speech for the senate, implied he will turn down the invitation but asked for a face-to-face meeting with the UAW members.

"I want to discuss my views with workers but Reuther and Williams have done their level best to black out my record from UAW members," he said.

Treat Churchill for Pneumonia

Sir Winston, 83, Also Battling Pleurisy but Is in Good Spirits

ROQUEBRUNE, CAP - MARTIN, France (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, battling pneumonia and pleurisy, spent a "fairly comfortable night," his secretary said today.

The 83-year-old former British Prime Minister, a warrior in military and political campaigns since the turn of the century, seemed to have the upper hand in his new bout with illness.

"Sir Winston is in good spirits," his private secretary, Montague Browne, said. "He passed the day reading papers, talking to his family and dealing with correspondence." He smoked two cigars, Browne noted.

The diagnosis of pneumonia at the base of the lung and pleurisy was given by Lord Moran, Churchill's personal physician who flew down from London, and Dr. David M. Roberts, his doctor on the Riviera.

Churchill came to the Riviera Jan. 15 for his annual winter visit. Monday he visited the yacht of Greek millionaire Aristotle Onassis. Browne said Sir Winston apparently suffered a chill during the visit. He was put to bed Tuesday and Moran was summoned.

Churchill had pneumonia in February 1943 in London and again in December of that year after meeting in Cairo and Tehran with President Roosevelt, Chiang Kai-shek and Marshal Stalin.

He has suffered two strokes—in 1951 and 1953.

Program Sponsorship Lost on Many TV Fans

HARRISBURG, Pa.—A check of TV audiences here revealed that out of 474 completed phone calls between 8 and 8:30 p.m. on the evening of the check only 147, or 30 per cent were tuned to the President's missile message.

CBS claimed that 100,000 people viewed the "Cinderella" spectacular. Out of 800 completed phone calls, 269 persons or 45 per cent were tuned in but 232 (or 86 per cent of the listening audience) could not identify the product sponsored. Multiple sponsors paid $250,000 each.

Bank Reserve Cut Authorized to Fight Slump

Expect ½ Pct. Reduction to Boost Business by Freeing $3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a new anti-recession move, the Federal Reserve Board has acted to increase the lending capacity of its 6,400 member banks.

The board did this yesterday in lowering the reserve requirements of the banks by one half of 1 per cent. For some banks, the action is effective a week from today. For others, it takes effect March 1.

The reduction will release about 500 million dollars from reserves which the banks are required to hold against demand deposits.

This is expected to broaden their lending capacity by about three billion dollars under a banking theory that each dollar freed from reserve generally yields six dollars in lending capacity.

According to this reasoning, money loaned by a bank usually is redeposited eventually either in that bank or another institution. Much of the deposit can be loaned again, with the process being repeated.

Officials said the reserve requirement reduction could push down interest rates by making more money available for lending.

Under the new action, the reduction in New York and Chicago banks is from 20 per cent to 19½ per cent. This will free about 125 million dollars in reserves in these "central reserve" cities.

In other large cities, called "reserve cities," the reduction will be from 18 to 17½ per cent. This will release about 195 million dollars in banks there.

The change for these two groups of cities is set for Feb. 27. On March 1, the reserve requirement in "country banks" in smaller communities will drop from 12 per cent to 11½ per cent. This will release about 180 million dollars.

12-Hour Downpour of Rain Floods Los Angeles Area

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A hit-and-run storm dumped 2.32 inches of rain in 12 hours, swamped cars, flooded homes and streets, closed more than 100 schools and caused widespread damage yesterday.

Drying out and mopping up under partly cloudy skies today, soggy Angelinos beheld up to 24 inches of new snow visible at 3,500 feet on nearby mountains.

Damage was estimated at perhaps a million dollars to a partly built, $5-million-dollar city power generating plant.

At least eight automobiles and two trucks were submerged in 10 feet of water on the Santa Ana Freeway at Atlantic Blvd.

A bridge under construction at suburban Torrance washed out. Nine Inglewood factories were closed.

At least 20 families were temporarily evacuated from flooded homes in Manhattan Beach, Hermosa Beach and Torrance, in many cases by skiffs plied over streets turned into deep lakes.

Don't Let Zero Weather Rob You of Suntan

WHY GO SOUTH?—A roll or two of aluminum foil can equip your back porch to provide fanning sun rays and warm temperatures despite near-zero weather. Proving that you don't have to go South or use a sunlamp to get rid of that mid-winter pallor is 18-year-old Donna Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F.

Robinson, of 9096 Cooley Lake Rd. All it takes is a sunny winter day, and screens covered with sun-reflecting aluminum foil. You can even get a good sunburn right here in Pontiac in mid-February.

UAW Will Ask Chrysler to Provide 40-Hour Work

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union today sought a meeting with Chrysler Corp. officials to demand that the auto firm provide high seniority employees with 40-hour work weeks.

The union demanded yesterday that the firm close some of its plants, if necessary, to insure full work schedules at others and threatened to sue Chrysler for breach of contract for carrying on what the UAW called "guerrilla warfare."

The demand and charge were contained in a resolution passed at a conference of the union's 268-member Chrysler Council, representing 74,000 workers.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, accused the company of scheduling 11 and 20-hour work weeks in an attempt to lessen its liability for state unemployment, compensation and company layoff benefits.

Mazey also charged that Chrysler had hiked production standards at the huge Dodge Main in Hamtramck in an effort to provoke a strike so the company could cut its inventory of unsold cars.

SENT HOME EARLY

Dodge Main workers have been sent home early for 17 straight days and have averaged about 11 hours of work each week for the past two weeks, Mazey said.

Chrysler spokesmen had no immediate comment about the UAW demands but blamed the Dodge Main shutdowns "on the failure of some trim department employees to perform regular work assignments."

"The company had no recourse but to send the workers home," a company spokesman said. About 5,000 workers have been affected daily.

In threatening court action, Mazey said the company itself set a precedent several years ago by suing a Detroit local of the UAW for breach of contract.

NEW SCHEDULES

The UAW official said the union will demand that new production schedules be drawn up which would guarantee high seniority workers a full week of work. In some cases, he said, this would mean closing plants for specified periods.

The UAW leader estimated that Chrysler now has 74,000 employees compared to 130,000 hourly and salaried employees in 1956. He estimated the firm has laid off more than 40,000 workers since last fall.

Mazey said a worker getting 11 hours of work a week is worse off than a worker who is unemployed. He said a worker on an 11-hour week gets $24.75 gross pay as against a laid-off worker's $58.50 in state and company benefits.

Ford, UAW to Begin Negotiations March 31

DETROIT (AP)—Contract negotiations between Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers Union will begin March 31.

Ford is the first of the big three auto companies to set a date for talks. The announcement was made in a joint company-union statement yesterday.

The UAW's present contract with Ford expires at midnight, June 1.

Dr. Quarles' talk dealt mainly with a theoretical 3½ year exploratory trip to Mars.

He said living conditions aboard a 730-ton space ship for the journey would be better in every respect than those faced by such explorers as Columbus and Magellan.

Dr. Quarles suggested that it would be no problem to assemble a 10-man crew of scientists for such a journey.

Throw Off Blanket—Temperature to Rise

Pontiac area residents can take off an extra blanket and turn the furnace down a bit—at least temporarily.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reports tonight will be mostly fair and a little warmer with a low of 12 to 16 degrees.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and warmer with a high of 30-34.

Saturday's outlook is cloudy with little change in temperature. Snow possibly mixed with rain is likely too.

Six was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 1 p.m. the reading was 20.

Lenten Meditations

By ROBERT L. DIFFENBACHER, D.D.

We distrust people because we think they have let us down in the past. They have done something which went against the grain. They have said things which were not quite fair. They have made false accusations. There are so many things which have hurt our feelings.

This distrust of people we transfer to God because we do not know Him. We have prayed to Him in some of our emergencies. He has not always answered us in the way we desired.

We did not notice His answer. We did not hear Him speak. And so it is that we distrust God.

Before we classify God along with some of our untrustworthy companions we ought to try out His fellowship.

We need to study about Him. In time we should talk to Him. In time we can tune in on His replies, and observe His daily acts in our behalf. God is a trustworthy companion if you give Him a chance.

GMC Truck Official Discusses UAW Demands:

Says Profit-Sharing Bid Hides Real Issues

The United Auto Workers' recent profit-sharing proposal has obscured the inflationary aspects of the union's basic economic demands, a GMC Truck & Coach Division representative said last night.

Earl A. Maxwell, division personnel director, stated the UAW announcement in January of its earnings distribution plan has diverted public opinion away from the union's previously announced plan to obtain "the biggest wage increase in the history of the union."

"The union obviously wanted the public to believe the program adopted was a major shift of its 1958 demands," Maxwell said in an address before the Pontiac Manufacturers' Association.

Economic demands, including wage increases, higher pension benefits, increased insurance, more supplemental unemployment pay and "many other potentially costly economic and working agreement changes" are included in the union "Package No. 1" of the two-part plan. The profit-sharing scheme is "Package 2," he declared.

Package No. 1, Maxwell declared, "represents no moderation of the union's previously indicated demands and it represents nothing new."

A three-year agreement between General Motors and the UAW can be terminated in late May of this year. Negotiations are expected to begin about April 1.

"Let anyone here has the notion that the UAW's Package No. 1 is intended only for General Motors or only for the automotive industry, he should examine the record."

EARL MAXWELL

favor Committee Jan. 29, during which the Senate group was told the basic minimum demands (Package 1) "represents that measure of improvements, of economic progress, that every worker in the economy is entitled to and that is what we say."

"It is crystal-clear that the union is interested in 'ability to pay' only when the employer is able to pay and he must meet Package No. 1 whether he can afford it or not."

Maxwell reviewed testimony of Harlow H. Curtice, GM president, before the Kefauver Committee explaining that total unit costs rose $125 for the 1958 GM "composite" passenger car between 1957 and 1958 models, a year later, while the average increase in the wholesale price of this 1958 "composite" car is only $74 over its 1957 counterpart.

Thus, Maxwell declared, "40 per cent of our increased costs—about $51 per unit—are not being recovered in price."

"Payroll and related employment costs have accounted for an increase in cost of $52, which is

Commission Candidates Set for Public Debate

A public debate by District 1 City Commission candidates will be sponsored this weekend by the Community Organizations of Pontiac.

The meeting will begin at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Lakeside Homes Community Building. Scheduled to appear are candidates William Garling, Milton R. Henry and Samuel J. Whithers.

The cigar originated in the Spanish West Indies.

Sees Prejudice Damaging U.S.

Back From California, Nixon Reports Nation Needs One Philosophy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Nixon says the nation "cannot afford the cost of prejudice and job discrimination."

He discussed the subject during yesterday's meeting of the President's Committee on Government Contracts, of which he is chairman.

Concluding a five-day southern California visit, the vice president and Mrs. Nixon left aboard a military plane for Washington.

Nixon said that nothing is "more damaging to the United States abroad than for us to practice one philosophy at home and preach another when we go abroad."

The committee was formed to work for elimination of racial and religious discrimination in hiring for work done under government contracts. The committee held several sessions here and announced it is opening a regional office in Los Angeles.

Nixon said southern California has a good record in the field of racial and religious relations, but added that "we want to make it better."

"Too often," he said, "we southern Californians assume prejudice and job discrimination exist only in other parts of the country."

Secretary of Labor Mitchell, speaking at the same meeting, said the committee has made substantial progress but "must recognize that we cannot change patterns of human action overnight by government edict." Mitchell also is a committee member.

Dancing Tunes Played at Joe Frisco Funeral

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Darktown Strutters' Ball" and "Beautiful Baby" were played at the funeral of stuttering comedian Joe Frisco.

These were some of the songs he danced to during a career that took him from bootblack and bus boy to vaudeville fame, Broadway and Hollywood.

Frisco, 68, died Sunday after a long illness.

The 250 mourners included Pat O'Brien, Wallace Ford, Jack Pepper, Julius Tennen, Walter Catlett, Alan Mowbray and Cecil Kellaway.

Returns $10,750; Judge to Decide Proper Reward

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—How much reward should a man get for finding $10,750 in cash and returning it to its owner?

Superior Judge Jay L. Henry expects to answer that question for Everett D. Nibelink on Feb. 28.

Nibelink, operator of a safe company, purchased an old safe for $80 from the estate of the late Peter J. Huth, wealthy rancher.

In it, he found $10,750 in currency. He turned it over to Thomas E. Marchand, executor.

Marchand asked the judge to decide the amount of Nibelink's "reasonable reward," as authorized by state law.

Denies Slaying Japanese Girl

Detroit GI Being Tried Says He Didn't Commit Nov. 17 Murder

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP)—GI Gregory J. Kupski of Detroit today denied slaying a Japanese girl after viewing the scene of the crime during his Japanese court trial for murder.

Prosecutor Toshio Aoyama pointed to the chalked outline of a human form in a narrow alley and asked the 23-year-old Army specialist, "Do you have any knowledge that on the morning of Nov. 17 the corpse of a woman was lying here?"

"No," replied Kupski. Standing by him was his pretty black-clad Japanese wife Utako, 21.

"All I can say is that I didn't kill the girl," Kupski told newsmen later. He is charged with murdering Kazuo Eikawa, 25-year-old wife of a U.S. Navy man now in the United States. Her nude body was found strangled with her own brassiere, her panties stuffed in her mouth.

U.S. Army officials said last November Kupski had confessed slaying the woman. Japanese prosecutors said he made a similar confession to police and the investigating prosecutor. The GI pleaded innocent when his trial opened Feb. 7.

PONY-TAILED PONY GAL — Although she's only 42 inches tall, five-year-old Shirley Ann Miller bends to whisper into the ear of a colt at summer pony sale in Harrisonville, Mo.

Find Profitable Hobby

Children Making Money Riding U. S. Pony Boom

HARRISONVILLE, Mo. (NEA) — Pony tails mean more than hairdos to lots of young girls over the country. They're a business end of a profitable hobby.

Riding the national pony boom along with millionaires are youngsters who are bypassing Mom and Pop's pocketbook for a bank loan to finance their own pony raising.

Many of the kids fingling with the great and near-great of the pony world at the sixth annual Heart of America summer pony sale here inspected Shetlands in rows of pint-sized stalls with an eye to business as well as pleasure.

"Children make more on ponies than any other animal," commented attractive Mrs. Clifford Adams, 41, of San Jose, Calif., whose husband was top buyer at the nation's first 4-H pony sale in Perry, Okla., last April. Some of the youths realized as much as $1,000 profit on a single pony at the sale.

Mrs. Adams, a Choctaw Indian who is an expert pony breeder, has noted a rising demand for ponies in suburban areas. In her city a pony is considered a pet and can be kept in the back yard — or even the garage.

Upkeep on a pony is low, she pointed out, and there's even a usable byproduct — "fertilizer to keep the flowers beautiful."

Among parents who have gotten into the pony raising act are Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Mela of Raytown, Mo., who said they "got the fever" to raise ponies as a hobby after buying two yearling colts four years ago for their son, Jimmy, now nine. The couple have sold two ponies and now have three including "Fashion Jewell Larigo," a registered mare.

From the bleachers during a sale in the Holder auction barn here, Clyde Smith of Ontario, Ore., who has acquired 200 ponies in 15 months, predicted a bright future for the sprawling pony business.

"You can feed 10 ponies on the amount of feed one cow would require," he explained. "And ponies are fun to have along with bringing high and even fantastic prices."

In the fantastic category is a national champion stallion, C-Jo's Topper, owned by C. C. Teague of Sherman, Tex., which is valued at $50,000.

Asa Hutchinson, an Ada, Okla., jeweler, started raising ponies as a hobby and now shuns his jewelry business to devote full time to ponies. A member of the national board of directors of the American Shetland Pony Club, Hutchinson paused in the auction barn to discuss the role of youth in the pony business.

"Many youths are earning their way through college by raising and selling Shetland colts," Hutchinson observed. He travels to many sales reading and explaining pedigrees of registered ponies to buyers.

"Most people have love for an animal and there's just more room for a pony — literally and figuratively — now," Hutchinson reflected.

"Look at all the little people here," Hutchinson continued with a sweep of an arm. "You wouldn't expect to see them at a livestock sale but at a sale of this kind — they belong."

One of those little people, Shirley Ann "Sammy" Miller, five was exclaiming over a pair of Shetland ponies just purchased by her father, Everett L. Miller, of Centerview Farm, Lenexa, Kan. Miller admitted he's getting the pony hobby fever so probably will keep Sammy's frisky gray stallion, "Wee Willie," along with the newcomers.

Miller paid under $400 for the new ponies. To his little daughter, the sum was a fabulous amount and the most impressive part of the transaction.

"Money—that's the only thing she doesn't understand about ponies yet," Miller reflected with a smile as Sammy adjusted the ribbon holding her strawberry blonde pony tail.

In the early days of the automobile, the closed cars or "sedans" were relatively rare because they were expensive to build and were high-priced.

Marries Navy Man Via Telephone Call

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Lora Cutrer has a new name and a $12 telephone bill today.

She is now Mrs. George R. Blakeman. The $12 is what it cost for her telephone marriage to the 31-year-old Navy machinist based at Adak, Alaska.

The 23-year-old Gulfport, Miss., bride was married in a proxy ceremony performed yesterday by City Clerk Byrd Sims. Her husband is from Red Rock, Ariz.

The 15-minute ceremony went off beautifully after an earlier attempt Tuesday night had failed because of poor circuits to Alaska.

The pretty, brown-haired bride came to Pensacola for the ceremony because Mississippi does not recognize proxy weddings.

Not Unusual 'Shift in Jet Stream' Cause of Extreme Cold?

WASHINGTON (AP) — "A shift in the jet stream" — not really unusual — is the Weather Bureau's explanation of what's causing extreme cold over the Eastern two-thirds of the country, while the Far West enjoys a relative warm spell.

There's no real hope for warm weather for much of the Eastern area for the next 30 days.

The jet stream over the United States is also known as "the prevailing westerlies" — the normally west-to-east wind currents of the upper air at about 10,000 to 40,000 feet. But it seems these winds have become northerlies, blowing north to south over the central part of the country.

About this time of year, cold arctic air builds up over Canada. Normally, this icy air would be pushed out to the Atlantic by the westerlies without too much trouble.

But now, there's a neat ridge on which the cold air can slide right down through the Plains states to Florida and the Gulf, bringing the freezing temperatures.

On the fringes of this cold air mass, low pressures or stormy areas develop such as the one that dumped huge amounts of snow along the Atlantic Coast last Friday through Monday.

While the arctic air has been sliding down the north-south air ridge, west of the Rockies warm air is being forced up from the south and southwest to fill in a trough there.

Usually this jet stream shift occurs a few times every winter. But it has been worse this year and of longer duration.

Says Men Reluctant to Teach Youngsters

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The teaching of young children is almost exclusively a woman's job because men think kindergarten and grammar school teaching is sissified, says a prominent educator.

Dr. James L. Hymes of the University of Maryland college of education told a recent meeting of nursery school teachers that many men would like to teach young children "but the feeling it's a sissy job, a waste of a man's brain keeps them from it."

Bill Would Broaden City Taxing Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill designed to require the manufacture of safer automobiles has been introduced in Congress by Rep. Roberts (D-Ala.).

The measure would prohibit manufacturers from shipping across state lines any auto not equipped with safety devices to be prescribed by the U.S. Bureau of Standards.

Roberts, chairman of a special House subcommittee on traffic safety, said in introducing the bill yesterday:

"There is especially a need for greater use of padding in the interior of the car in order to reduce head injuries for all persons."

The lawmaker said experiments have shown many injuries could have been prevented by "proper packaging of the passenger," particularly in interior areas most likely to come in contact with the head, neck and chest.

Roberts said there also was need for improved construction of seats, cushions, knobs and steering wheels and for overhead structure of greater strength.

Smoke Makers Reported 'Liars'

House Committee Finds Filter Brands Produce More Nicotine, Tar

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee has reported that the cigarette manufacturers have deceived the American public through their advertising of filter tip cigarettes.

Although the giant industry has denied health hazards from smoking, the Government Operations Committee said, it has made these charges appear true by implying filter tips remove alleged causes of cancer and heart disease.

"Actually, most filter cigarettes produce as much or more nicotine and tar as cigarettes without filters," the committee added.

The committee rapped the Federal Trade Commission for what it said was a failure to police against deceptive advertising while the public became "brainwashed that filters would furnish health protection."

The committee spoke by adopting a report made by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Blatnik (D-Minn.) following hearings last year. The report had not previously been made public.

The committee quoted public statements from medical experts but advanced no conclusions itself on any relationship between smoking and cancer.

The report did say the tobacco industry apparently conspired to boycott subcommittee hearings though invited to testify. "It is reprehensible that the tobacco industry should so shirk its responsibilities to the consumer," the committee said.

Turkish Village Yielding Links to Old Cultures

ANKARA, Turkey — Nine levels of civilization, the lowest one dating back to the sixth millennium B. C., have been discovered by cutting into an ancient mound near the village of Hacilar, not far from Ankara.

Pottery, figurines, and other remains unearthed there are said by archaeologists to have supplied the long-sought missing link between the cultures of northern Mesopotamia and Cilicia and the Serkio culture in Greece, which is now demonstrated to have existed in 5,000 B.C. — 1,500 years earlier than previous estimates.

Art of Growing Old Actor Ed Wynn Believes to Stay Young You Must Always Think, Act That Way

(If you want to stay young, actor Ed Wynn thinks, you must think and act young. Wynn has certainly done that—but he had to overcome moments of despondency when, nearing 70, he felt that life had shouldered him aside. This is the first of four articles by prominent people on the subject of old age.)

By ED WYNN

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It isn't given to many people to start a whole new, exciting career after the age of 70, but I have been so blessed.

For 54 years, I thought that God put me on this earth to make people laugh. I never worked at any other profession.

As I neared my 70th year, I was told I could not get work as a comedian. The men who run the television shows said the trend was against comedy, that the people wanted drama for their entertainment.

"This was hard for me to take. I had never been anything but a star. I had produced and owned my own shows on Broadway. I had starred in the golden days of radio as the Fire Chief. I had won top awards in television, which I pioneered on the West Coast; mine was the first show to go across the country from west to east.

I was depressed; I felt that I had been passed by. But my son Keenan and others urged me to keep active. I was offered a serious role in the movie, "The Great Man." I was hesitant because I had never played a dramatic role in my life. But I did it.

The results were beyond my wildest dreams. I found myself being hailed by the critics as a dramatic find, and I was sought by many film and TV producers for serious roles. I was also in demand as a comedian, earning as much money as a guest star on TV as I had ever been given.

Naturally, this has been highly gratifying to me as an artist. But I have enjoyed even more the inspiration that my example has apparently given to other mature citizens.

I have been asked by several organizations and governmental groups for my ideas on such matters as growing old and retiring, and I have been happy to oblige. One of the most recent came from the New York State Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging.

Some of my ideas are strictly personal. I may be unique in that I feel I have always had a Peter Pan mind. I have thought of myself as young all my life, and I still feel that way at 71. This latest boost to my career has been so exhilarating that it takes me back 25 or 30 years in outlook.

This is corroborated by my doctor, who says that I am in the physical condition of a man much

Best Man Wins Bride in England

SOUTHWELL, England — Walter Dearlove, the best man, was among the most sympathetic guests when Irene Loveridge's bridegroom failed to turn up for the wedding.

In tears, 19-year-old Irene walked out of the church at Southwell, England, through silent ranks of neighbors clasping unopened bags of confetti. The other day, seven months later, she was back on the arm of 21-year-old Dearlove.

This time he was the bridegroom. "At first I felt I had nothing to live for, but now everything is wonderful," said Irene. Walter, of Peel-crescent, Mansfield, said: "It was a lucky day for me when her soldier friend didn't turn up for their wedding. I remember thinking at the time that I would like to have been marrying her myself. Now it has come true."

I. C. A. Aids Relief Units With Freight Payments

WASHINGTON — Ocean freight charges of $25,269,391 were paid by the International Co-operation Administration during the last fiscal year to help 24 American voluntary nonprofit agencies move $132,870,780 worth of relief and rehabilitation supplies to 32 foreign countries.

The nations receiving the goods exempt them from import duties and pay all transportation and other charges from dockside to distribution points.

younger than my years. I feel that if you want to stay young, you must think and act young.

I don't mean that you must kick up your heels at a night club, though I do enjoy late parties if the company is stimulating. The important thing is not to let yourself be caught in the aging process. I have no desire to sit around and talk about the old days with my contemporaries. I'd much rather discuss the present and the future with younger people.

I remember with great fondness the party Keenan gave for me on my 70th birthday. Out of a sizable crowd, not one guest was over 40.

I believe there are great dangers in retirement. No one should retire or be forced to retire on the basis of age alone. Disability should be the basis for retirement, especially in hazardous occupations where age might impair coordination.

All Americans can be heartened by the example of President Eisenhower. Despite three attacks of serious illness, he is still going strong at 67 and will not retire.

If you must retire, I feel the most important thing is to keep your mind active. Find new interests, new activities, new friends to keep your mind alive.

I believe it's a good idea for retired people to move to a new neighborhood instead of living where they have for many years. The reason is that your younger, unretired friends may be too busy to spend time with you and you are liable to become a very lonely person.

Move to some other town where there are retired people and you will have companionship. One of the dreadful things about old age is loneliness. It can be avoided if you remain an interesting person yourself.

Another danger of old age is exaggeration. If your mind isn't active, your fears can be blown up beyond all proportions. You begin to worry that each ache and pain is a portent of death, that your children don't want you any more. You worry about your financial status, even about crossing a street.

I've found a formula for avoiding these exaggerated fears of age: YOU take care of every day; let the calendar take care of the years.

My only other advice for a long life is just this: Keep breathing.

Congo's Road Plan to Change Country

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo — With the aid of a $40,000,000 loan from the World Bank, the Belgian Congo is to start its recently announced $70,000,000, 10-year-development-plan road project. It involves building 750 miles of new highways, improvement of 560 miles and preparation of 2,060 miles for mechanized maintenance.

One new road will provide an all-weather link between Leopoldville, the capital, and the Atlantic port of Matadi, through a region capable of larger food production.

There are only 310 miles of paved-surface roads now in the whole country. Better roads are urgently needed to change the Congo from subsistence agriculture to cash-crop cultivation and open up unused land.

Banquet Spawned in Burglary of Grocery

Seattle Citizens Buy Meal to Aid 9 Boys

SEATTLE (AP) — Several hundred Seattleites invested 75 cents or more last night in a good meal and the future of nine young Negro boys.

The meal was served by the boys, cooked by their mothers, sisters and friends and spawned in the burglary of a local grocery store last November.

The boys all were among some 30 participants in a raid on the store; they were identified and turned over to Juvenile Court.

Judge William G. Long sentenced them to the State Training School for Boys, then suspended the sentence for 30 days in which they could prove they wanted to be good citizens.

Being good citizens meant paying the grocer $100 to cover the cost of goods lost, damaged or consumed in the raid. The boys, all members of a group called the King Cobras, investigated their lean club treasury and decided on a money-raising dinner.

Tickets were sold for 75 cents and a dollar (for a plain or deluxe ham or fish dinner). Many persons who couldn't come just sent a donation — some as big as $10.

Early yesterday afternoon, the boys and their helpers reported for work. From 1 p.m. until late last night they were peeling spuds, preparing peas, slicing fish, watching the kettles and the ovens and waiting tables.

About 250 persons came for the dinner. They got deluxe service as well as meals. No head waiter could be more polite.

Representatives of the Juvenile Court, the State Department of Institutions, social agencies came, ate and went away pleased. They all paid. There were no free tickets. The boys made much more than they needed, although the exact amount was not known.

After it was all over, the tables cleared, dishes washed and the floor of the housing project gymnasium mopped. Richard Bailey, 16-year-old member of the group, wiped some soap suds from his arms and said: "Yessir, I made my mistake. I'm not going to make it again."

It looked as if the first returns on the investment were in.

'Shocking Revelation'

Report Shows State Care of Delinquents Inadequate

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan provides far less adequate care and treatment for delinquent children than for adult criminals, a study of court services to delinquent children reported.

The report, termed "a shocking revelation," resulted from a survey of juvenile divisions of Michigan Circuit Courts made by the Michigan Crime and Delinquency
Council of the National Probation Association at the request of a joint legislative study committee.
The study was released at a council meeting yesterday in Detroit.

John B. Martin, chairman of the council's projects committee, summed up findings.

"So far as our children are concerned," Martin said, "most judges today have to act on wholly inadequate pre-hearing studies and without any carefully developed plan of treatment."

"Skilled and close supervision by trained personnel of those children placed on probation is in most cases non-existent. On the present basis of operations it is impossible to expect our courts to so handle these children that they will not get into further and more serious trouble.

"In a state like Michigan," Martin said, "this is a shocking revelation."

Martin said that from the report
it appeared clear that, particularly in the smaller counties and in certain of the larger counties as well, some supplemental assistance to the courts must be given by the state under a program similar to that now established in the State Corrections Department for adults.

"If we wish to halt the steady rise in crime," Martin said, "we must attack it where we can be most effective—with the children who have just begun to wrong."

The report noted that delinquency complaints received by courts have risen 100 per cent nationally since 1948.

Leprosy Bacillus in Test Tube Is Step Forward

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese bacteriologist claimed today that he has successfully cultivated the leprosy bacillus in the laboratory for the first time, a possible step toward elimination of the disease.

Dr. Norio Ogata of the Nippon Dental University said he would report on his findings at the Japan
Leprosy Conference May 20-21.

He said it required four months for him to cultivate the bacteria at first but now he can do it in three weeks.

"Success of the cultivation does not mean an immediate road toward diagnosing and treating lep-rosy has been opened," the 71-year-old scientist said. "However, with the cooperation of others in the medical world, the time may come for eventual eradication of this difficult disease."

Mumps, Measles Decrease Sharply

Mumps and measles cases in Oakland County both decreased sharply and chicken pox increased slightly compared to the previous week, according to Dr. John D.
Monroe, health director.

The reported mumps cases decreased from 204 to 81 during this period while measles slumped from 41 to 29. Sixteen more cases of chicken pox were reported last week than the previous week.

The following is a comparative breakdown of the communicable diseases reported last week to the city and county health departments.

Alcohol Crash Factor

CHICAGO — According to the National Safety Council, more than a fourth of the drivers or adult pedestrians killed in traffic had been drinking. It said a study found that 26 of every 100 drivers and 25 of every 100 pedestrians involved in fatal accidents had been under the influence of alcohol.

CHAPTER 43

Lucy went out of the room again and Mr. Crackenthorpe was introduced to Miss Marple and Mrs. McGillicuddy.

"Like my meals on time," said Mr. Crackenthorpe. "Punctuality and economy. Those are my watchwords."

"Very necessary, I'm sure," said Miss Marple, "especially in these times with taxation and everything."

Mr. Crackenthorpe snorted. "Taxation! Don't talk to me of those robbers. A miserable pauper—that's what I am. And it's going to get worse, not better. You wait, my boy," he addressed Cedric, "when you get this place ten to one the Socialists will have it off you and turn it into a Welfare center or something. And take all your income to keep it up with!"

Lucy reappeared with a tea tray, Bryan Eastley followed her carrying a tray of sandwiches, bread and butter and cake.

"What's this? What's this?" Mr. Crackenthorpe inspected the tray. "Frosted cake? We having a party today? Nobody told me about it."

A faint flush came into Emma's face.

"Dr. Quimper's coming to tea. Father. It's his birthday today and—"

"Birthday?" snorted the old man, "what's he doing with a birthday? Birthdays are only for children. I never count my birthdays and I won't let anyone else celebrate them either."

"Much cheaper," agreed Cedric. "You save the price of candles on your cake."

"That's enough from you, boy," said Mr. Crackenthorpe.

Miss Marple was shaking hands with Bryan Eastley. "I've heard about you of course," she said. "From Lucy. Dear me, you remind me so much of someone I used to know at St. Mary Mead. That's the village where I've lived for so many years, you know. Ronnie Wells, the solicitor's son. Couldn't seem to settle somehow when he went into his father's business. He went out to East Africa and started a series of cargo boats on the lake out there. Victoria Nyanza, or is it Albert I mean? Anyway, I'm sorry to say that it wasn't a success, and he lost all his capital. Most unfortunate. Not any relation of yours, I suppose? The likeness is so great."

"No," said Bryan. "I don't think I've any relations called Wells."

"He was engaged to a very nice girl," said Miss Marple. "Very sensible. She tried to dissuade him, but he wouldn't listen to her. He was wrong of course. Women have" a lot of sense, you know, when it comes to money matters. Not high finance, of course. No woman can hope to understand that, my dear father said. But everyday L.S.D.—that sort of thing. What a delightful view you have from this window," she added, making her way across and looking out.

Emma joined her.

"Such an expanse of parkland! How picturesque the cattle look against the trees. One would never dream that one was in the middle of a town."

"We're rather an anachronism, I think," said Emma. "If the windows were open now you'd hear far off the noise of the traffic."

"Oh, of course," said Miss Marple. "There's noise everywhere isn't there. Even in St. Mary Mead. We're now quite close to an airfield, you know, and really the way those jet planes fly over. Most frightening. Two panes in my little greenhouse broken the other day. Going through the sound barrier, or so I understand, though what it means I never have known."

"It's quite simple, really," said Bryan, approaching amiably. "You see, it's like this."

Miss Marple dropped her handbag and Bryan politely picked it up. At the same moment Mrs. McGillicuddy approached Emma and murmured, in an anguished voice—the anguish was quite genuine—since Mrs. McGillicuddy deeply disliked the task which she was now performing:

"I wonder—could I go upstairs for a moment?"

"Of course," said Emma. "I'll take you," said Lucy.

Lucy and Mrs. McGillicuddy left the room together.

"Very cold, driving today," said Miss Marple in a vaguely explanatory manner.

"About the sound barrier," said Bryan, "you see, it's like this—Oh, hullo, there's Quimper."

The doctor drove up in his car. He came in rubbing his hands and looking very cold.

"Going to snow," he said, "that's my guess. Hullo, Emma, how are you? Good lord, what's all this?"

"We made you a birthday cake," said Emma. "D'you remember? You told me today was your birthday."

"I didn't expect all this," said Quimper. "You know it's years—why, it must be, yes, sixteen years since anyone's remembered my birthday." He looked almost uncomfortably touched.

"Do you know Miss Marple?" Emma introduced him.

"Oh yes," said Miss Marple. "I met Dr. Quimper here before and he came and saw me when I had a very nasty chill the other day and he was most kind."

"All right again now, I hope?" said the doctor.

Miss Marple assured him that she was quite all right now.

"You haven't been to see me lately, Quimper," said Mr. Crackenthorpe. "I might be dying for all the notice you take of me!"

"I don't see you dying yet awhile," said Dr. Quimper.

"I don't mean to," said Mr. Crackenthorpe. "Come on, let's have tea. What're we waiting for?"

"Oh, please," said Miss Marple. "Don't wait for my friend. She would be most upset if you did."

They sat down and started tea. Miss Marple accepted a piece of bread and butter first, and then went on to a sandwich.

"Are they—" she hesitated.

"Fish," said Bryan. "I helped make 'em."

Mr. Crackenthorpe gave a cackle of laughter.

"Poisoned fishpaste," he said. "That's what they are. Eat 'em at your peril!"

"Please, Father!"

"You've got to be careful what you eat in this house," said Mr. Crackenthorpe to Miss Marple. "Two of my sons have been murdered like flies. Who's doing it—that's what I want to know."

"Don't let him put you off," said Cedric, handing the plate once more to Miss Marple. "A touch of arsenic improves the complexion, they say, so long as you don't have too much."

"Eat one yourself, boy," said old Mr. Crackenthorpe.

"Want me to be official taster?" said Cedric. "Here goes."

He took a sandwich and put it

Neither Cute Nor Lovable Penguins Called Stupid

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

WILKES STATION, Antarctica (AP)—At least one expert doesn't think the penguin is the cutest, most lovable bird in the antarctic.

* * *

"Skuas are smart too. To get penguin eggs they work in pairs. One will divert the attention of the penguin while the other dives in and carries off an egg."

"And the skua can soar like no other bird except the albatross."

* * *

The penguin is dumb, primitive, noisy and at times unspeakably dirty, says Carl Eklund of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service station at Atlanta, Ga., who has just completed a term as leader of the Wilkes International Geophysical Year station.

* * *

For Eklund, the real glamour bird of the frozen continent is the south polar skua, a gull-like creature that lives on the ice, preys on the penguin, and is related to the jaeger, an eagle-like fighting bird.

* * *

Old explorers denounced the skua in strong terms, mainly because it preys on the penguins and discharges its droppings from the air at intruders, with great accuracy. Various antarctic pioneers called the bird callous, greedy, vulturous, disgusting and a pirate of the air.

* * *

Eklund contends the skua is a noble bird, the "eagle of the antarctic who fears nothing."

* * *

"In eating penguin eggs and baby penguins," Eklund continues, "the skua helps to keep the penguin population within bounds. It takes only the weak young penguins, leaving the stronger ones to perpetuate the breed. This is the old law of natural selection and survival of the fittest."

* * *

"The skua is without doubt the cleanest bird on the Antarctic Continent. It bathes more than any other. The penguin spends a lot of time in the water but it is fishing, not bathing. The skua has

Junior Editors Quiz on LEGENDS

QUESTION: Where did "Davy Jones' Locker" get its name?

Answer: Most of you know that "Davy Jones' Locker" is a mythical place at the bottom of the sea where the souls of drowned sailors are supposed to go. Davy's original name is said to have been "duffy Jonah." A "duffy" is a kind of West Indian negro ghost, and in some mysterious and unknown way this word became linked to the name "Jonah," which had become a symbol of bad luck. Although Davy Jones is spoken of as a sea-devil, seamen are apt to regard him as more kindly than evil.

"Locker," in sailor talk, means a small space aboard ship used to store supplies. It is not difficult to imagine why oldtime seamen thought of Davy Jones as watching over his collection of souls in some underwater hideout, or "Locker." Sailors had all they needed of wind and water on deck, and were glad to get down to their cramped quarters when it was time to go below. No doubt they felt that to spend eternity in a cozy locker was more attractive than being washed around in the open spaces of the sea. At any rate, we will find references to Davy Jones back to the year 1718.

FOR YOU TO DO: Use the idea of Davy Jones to give your imagination a workout, in the way our artist used his in the picture above. Draw your own picture and color it, using pale watery colors like light blues and greens.

(Today's question comes from Edward Hester of Soddy, Tenn., for which he wins $10. Send your question on a postcard newspaper. Tomorrow: What are snakes good for?) to Mrs. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this

Inflation Catches Up With First Airplane

CHICAGO (INS) — Like most everything else, the airplane too has gone up in the last half a century.

Whereas the plan which the Wright Brothers used to inaugurate air flight 54 years ago cost only about $1,000, a plastic model

The firm (Monogram Models, Inc.), which is producing the first plastic model ever built of the Kitty Hawk plane to mark the anniversary of Wilbur Wright's solo, said the $25,000 will be spent in making 64 molds of parts to be

Fruit Layers Frosty Filled

Pork is on the list of plentiful foods for the month of December and therefore is also on the economical list. Succulent, wonderfully tasting pork is a real treat any meal, any time for many people. Here is a recipe for Fruited Pork Chops that we think will prove to be a favorite for all pork eaters. There is the tanginess of apricots... the savour of onion and celery... the fine texture of cream of rice.

Fruited Pork Chops
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup finely chopped celery

2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon cream of rice
1/4 cup finely chopped dried apricots
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 rib pork chops, 1 inch thick with pockets
2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet

Saute onion and celery in butter in skillet, over moderate heat until just tender, about 5 minutes. Add cream of rice, apricots, salt and pepper and mix well. Place stuffing in pocket of each chop, fastening with a small poultry pin. Brush entire surface of each chop with kitchen bouquet.

Place in shallow roasting pan and bake in preheated 350 degree oven for 1 1/2 hours or until thoroughly cooked. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Use seasoned meat tenderizer to spark your salad with a chef's blend of herbs and spices.

Meat Eaters Can Relax at News of '58 Production

If you measure good living by the amount of meat you eat, you will be interested in meat predictions for 1958.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says the average person ate 159 pounds of meat during 1957 compared to 166 pounds per person in 1956.

This year, we will probably have as much beef during the early months as we did during last year, but by fall there will not be so many cattle coming to market.

The pork situation will be reversed says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Our pork supply in early 1958 will be about like it was early in 1957. By fall there should be considerably more pork coming to market than there is now.

In 1958 we are expected to eat about the same amount of meat as we did in 1957 — an average of three pounds a week.

Fruit Juice Varies Gelatin

Gelatin salads can be varied in flavor as there are fruit juices. Start with the basic salad recipe given on the envelope of unflavored gelatin, and then substitute the fruit juice of your choice for the liquid called for in the printed recipe. One envelope of plain gelatin will gel up to two cups of liquid, and always count any sugar used as part of the two cups liquid total as sugar goes into solution.

Lamb Chops Sport Spicy Tart Topping

Here's a stylish meat serving priced just right for budget-wise homemakers. The meat cut in vogue in this recipe is lamb shoulder chops, a less-demanded cut.

But in this case the chops are crowned by a colorful combination — an onion and lemon slice surrounded by a dainty green pepper ring.

For this recipe, braising is the method of meat cookery used even though all lamb chops are tender and can be prepared by broiling.

Lamb Chops — Tart Topping
6 lamb shoulder chops, cut 3/4 to 1 inch thick
1/4 cup lard or drippings

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6 onion slices
6 lemon slices
6 green pepper rings
1/2 cup tomato juice

Brown chops slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Top each chop with an onion slice, a lemon slice and a green pepper ring. Pour tomato juice over chops. Cover tightly and cook in a slow oven (300 degrees) or simmer on top of range for 45 minutes, or until done. Yield: 6 servings.

Prunes Are Just Plums

A prune is a variety of plum which can be dried without fermenting when the pit is left in. Prunes grown in California are mostly dried, while prunes grown in Washington and Oregon are sold fresh—usually as "Italian prunes."

Friday Fare With Rice

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in a saucepan. Stir in 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon black pepper. Cook several minutes, stirring. Slowly stir in 1 cup milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens slightly. Stir in 1/2 cup condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1/4 cup water and 6 hard-cooked egg whites sliced. Serve over the hot fluffy white rice. Garnish with the egg yolks which have been put through a sieve.

Place poached eggs on toast rounds in shallow baking dish, pour over a rich cheese sauce and brown quickly under broiler; serve immediately.

Go Dutch With Crumbs

If you mix one-half cup of butter with one-half cup of dry bread crumbs and brown it lightly, you'll have a Dutch crumb garnish for your vegetables. That golden brown color and good butter flavor make vegetables tickle the taste buds of most every member of your family. Asparagus, broccoli, green beans and cauliflower taste good served au gratin or topped with Dutch crumbs.

Colorful dessert salad: alternate orange and grapefruit sections side by side; arrange two or three pitted cooked prunes stuffed with cream cheese at the side; garnish with sliced stuffed olives.

To Spend $1.9 Million at Selfridge AFB

CINCINNATI — Headquarters of the United States Air Force has released approximately $1,900,000 in construction funds for Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens, it was announced today.

Col. Joseph Friedlander Jr., Air Force installations representative for the Ohio River region, made the announcement.

He said projects include two airman's dormitories of 400 men capacity each, and one 800-man dining hall.

The building will replace facilities built during World War II and earlier, Col. Friedlander said.

Selfridge Air Force Base is a main installation of the Air Defense Command and houses two fighter interceptor squadrons.

The contract will be advertised, awarded and the construction supervised by the Detroit District, U. S. Army engineers.

Superstition Saves Man From Bad Beating

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Superstition saved a man a possible beating and 30 pounds sterling ($4 dollars) in cash when he was held up by three natives in a lonely suburb of western Johannesburg.

While he was walking through the street, the trio suddenly emerged from an alley and seized him. As the robbers wrestled to get the man's jacket off, suddenly his artificial arm came loose and fell to the ground. The robbers, panic-stricken, fled into the surrounding darkness.

Exemptions May Be Expensive but They're Taxpayers' Friend

(Fourth in a series of eight articles. This story tells how you can make sure you are getting credit for every exemption you are entitled to on your income tax return. Be sure to save it for reference when you make out your return.)

By G. K. HODENFIELD
Associated Press Writer

Exemptions are wonderful things. Every exemption you claim knocks $600 right off the top of your gross income, making it tax free. Since the amount for each exemption is so large, the rules are precise and rigid. Within those rules, however, you should claim every exemption to which you are entitled.

There are three types of exemptions: for yourself, or for yourself and spouse if you are filing a joint return; for your children, and for "others."

That's the order in which they appear on your income tax forms, so that is the order in which they'll be taken up here.

EVERYBODY GETS ONE

Each taxpayer gets at least one exemption for himself. He is entitled to another if he is 65 or over (even if he reached his 65th birthday on the last day of 1957). And he is entitled to still another if he is blind.

The same rules apply to married couples who file joint returns.

If both are 65 or over they are entitled to four exemptions; if one is 65 or over and the other is under that age, they get three exemptions.

Now, about the children. The big thing here is that — to be claimed as an exemption — they must have received more than half their support from you during the tax year.

You can claim one exemption for each child, stepchild or legally adopted child who was not more than 18 years old at any time during the tax year.

Within this age group it doesn't matter how much income the child had, so long as you paid more than half of his or her support.

If the child reached age 19 during the tax year or is even older you may still claim an exemption if he or she is a full-time student or had a taxable income of less than $600 for the year — and still providing that you paid more than half the support costs.

Your Income Tax—No. 4

Requirements Stiff
In addition to exemptions for yourself, your spouse and your children, you may claim other dependents whether or not they are related to you.

These dependents, however, have to meet some pretty stiff requirements.

To qualify as exemptions for you these dependents must:

1. Have received less than $600 in total reportable income during 1957;
2. Have received more than half their support from you;
3. Have not filed a joint return for 1957 with their spouse;
4. Be a citizen or resident of the United States or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone; and
5. Either have been a member of your household for the entire taxable year, or be related to

you. If you are filing a joint return, they may be related to either husband or wife.

Relatives who may qualify under these provisions are: mother, father, mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother, sister, step-brother, step-sister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepmother, stepfather, grandparents, grandchildren or when related by blood — aunt, uncle, niece or nephew.

Note that rule 5 above says they must either have been a member of your household for the entire tax year, or must be related to you. Thus, a foster child would not qualify as a relative, but might qualify if he or she had spent the entire year in your household and met the other provisions as to income, age, support, etc.

And the Internal Revenue Service warns you not to try to list the maid or the butler — servants are not considered part of the household.

You may have noted above that one of the provisions for claiming an exemption is that the dependent does not have a reportable income of $600 or more during the year. We'll go into this in greater detail in the next article, but it might be well to point out here that not all income need be reported.

Social security payments, for instance, are tax-free and need not be reported, and so are most inheritances and death benefits from insurance policies.

Suppose you have a child aged 19 or more who had taxable income of less than $600 for the year, but who received $1,000 in death benefits from an insurance policy. That $1,000 wouldn't count against the exemption, but you would still have to show that you paid more than half the support costs during the year. If the child used the $1,000 to pay his or her own support costs, you lose the exemption regardless of whether the $1,000 is tax-free, unless you contributed more than $1,000 additional to the support costs.

There is one more thing to be considered while we're discussing exemptions — the case where several persons together contribute more than half the support of an individual during the year, but no one alone contributed more than half. That might be the case where four brothers chipped in equally to support a widowed mother.

Cooperation Pays

One of the taxpayers concerned may claim the supported person as an exemption if:

1. The supported person meets the requirements for a dependent (as outlined above);
2. The person claiming the exemption contributed more than 10 per cent of the dependent's support; and
3. Each other person in the group files a statement with the IRS declaring that he or she is not claiming the same exemption for the same tax year.

In this way, each member of the group may take his turn in claiming an exemption to which none of the group would ordinarily be entitled.

The next article will outline the income you have to declare, that which is tax-free, and the exclusions you may claim.

Julia is a Latin name for "soft-haired."

Ancient Joke Supplies Name for New Play

NEW YORK — An old joke has supplied the name for an upcoming Broadway comedy.

The play by Norman Krasna was originally entitled "My Wife and I," but Producer Leland Hayward has switched now to calling it "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?"

The show, starring Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy, is due in February.

Case of Missing Burro Solved by Mail Order Firm

CHICAGO — A company that sells live animals by mail today solved the mystery of who is to get a burro classified as lost at the Wenatchee, Wash., Railway Express office.

The burro ate his shipping tags. Spiegel, Inc., Chicago mail order firm, said the burro was shipped Feb. 13 from Laredo, Tex., to Charles E. Preston, Wenatchee.

The company said the animals are shipped with plenty of feed but they somehow consider shipping tags a special delicacy. It has happened before.

The U.S. has about 23 per cent of the world's railway mileage on about 5 per cent of the earth's land surface.

Calls on Phone Using No Hands

Polio Victim Employs Own Special System for Dialing Numbers

PORTLAND, Ore. (INS) — Although almost completely paralyzed by polio, Ross Mudge is able to dial a special telephone with his foot.

The Portland man, unable to use his hands because of his illness, has made more than 1,500 calls with the aid of a system designed by Loreman Harris and Harry Banks of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

Mudge himself gave the two telephone men the idea by suggesting a motor-driven dial. They came up with a device which is placed at the foot of the rocking bed in which Mudge must lie all day. The rocking motion is required to enable him to breathe.

The dialing device consists of a loudspeaker case, a 10-volt motor, the components of a telephone dial and a plastic case that simulates the dial face.

Mudge activates the device by pressing a pedal with his foot to start the motor.

The motor turns the dial until the number he wants appears in a lighted slot. Then he releases the pedal and the dial rotates back to its original position.

He presses the pedal again until the next desired number comes into view, and he repeats the process until all the digits of the telephone number he wants are dialed.

Connected with the dialing mechanism are a microphone, through which he talks, and a loudspeaker, through which he hears the person with whom he is talking. Both the loudspeaker and microphone are at the head of the bed.

Milton Berle's Dramatic Role Draws Praise

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK — Milton Berle gave an outstanding performance in a straight dramatic role on television last night when he played the lead in "Material Witness" on NBC-TV.

A suspenseful drama by Henry Denker on Kraft Theatre cast Berle in the role of a man whose placid life suddenly was shattered after he became the only witness to a gangland murder.

There were excellent performances by Richard Kiley, Nancy Marchand and Tim Hovey in the well-produced drama. Soundly motivated psychologically, "Material Witness" developed an absorbing theme without the melodramatic gimmicks that mar so many TV "suspense" dramas.

It is more than a year since the home audience has seen Berle as a comedian, and never before has it seen him as a straight dramatic actor.

The fine restraint and authority he demonstrated in dramatic performance last night were memorable.

Like many highly talented comedians, Berle has suffered from the curse of all television comedians many TV comedians who have endured this fate have demonstrated great talent as straight actors. Ed Wynn, Jackie Gleason, Art C. Coney, Eddie Cantor—the list is long.

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland), Senate Taxation Committee chairman, introduced a bill to allow municipalities, with prior voter approval, to levy a broad assortment of specific and excise taxes.

He said his proposal would open the way for local taxes on automobiles, theater tickets and utilities — "on almost anything you please."

Whether it could be applied to payrolls was a question for the courts to decide, Geerlings said. He was joined in sponsorship of the bill by Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ahn Arbor).

Under the proposal, 50 per cent of new revenues received would have to go for support of schools. Geerlings said concern over rising expenditures for state aid to schools prompted him to offer the plan.

Indonesia won its independence from The Netherlands in 1949. This vast area in the former Dutch East Indies has a population of 83 million people of a dozen Oriental and Pacific races. At least 40 languages are spoken.

HE'S ALWAYS WORKING — Lindsey Nelson (right), NBC-TV's assistant director of sports, never has a day off — he's too busy keeping up with America's continuous round of sports events. Nelson, shown here with football great, Red Grange, attends business conferences when he isn't reporting games for television.

Always Busy at Some Game

Also Serves NBC-TV as Assistant Director of Athletic Events

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Lindsey Nelson is always working. This poor guy, NBC-TV's ace sports-caster, hasn't had a day off in a couple of years. And as for a vacation, that's as much of a dream as telecasting the first moon-and-back regatta.

In between reporting games, he's the network's assistant director of sports, so on days when he isn't out at some stadium or basketball court, he's in conferences or working on contracts or something. When he says he hasn't had a day off, he means NONE—not even a stray Saturday or Sunday.

NBC-TV has at least one sports event a week, generally more. And Nelson is always there. When he's doing a football game, he takes two days to get prepared, watching movies of the teams, memorizing numbers, checking over plays with the coaching staff. Basketball and baseball take less time, of course, but there's usually a day or so in travel, and perhaps a half-day getting ready.

He travels so much to and from his assignments — about 200,000 miles in '57 — that he's gotten to know the airline stewardesses fairly well.

On one recent flight, the stewardess greeted him with "Haven't we flown together before? To which Nelson, in his Tennessee drawl, said, "Ma'am, I wouldn't be at all surprised."

NOT DISENCHANTED
All this work and travel doesn't leave him disenchanted with sports telecasting, however. He loves his work, down to the last stewardess. He's the original happy man, with no ambition other than to keep on doing exactly what he's doing.

Nelson, whose Tennessee drawl somehow evaporates over the air, comes from Columbia in the Volunteer State.

By the time he was 11, he was committed to a career of reporting sports in some manner or other; at that age, he was writing high school sports for his home town newspaper.

By the time he went to college at the University of Tennessee; he was well on his way. He was the tutor for the Tennessee football team and many of his pupils have since become college coaches.

He's in solid with most coaches, as a matter of fact. He reports that several have called him for advice, some pro coaches ask his opinion on possible college stars to draft, college athletic directors have been known to come to him when seeking a new coach.

Similarly, Red Sanders, coach of UCLA and an old friend, once said Nelson was one man he'd let coach his team.

HE DOESN'T LOSE
But Nelson has no desire to coach himself. He says one thing about being up in a broadcast booth—"no matter what happens, I don't lose."

He works with Leo Durocher as his co-broadcaster during the baseball season, and Durocher, according to Nelson, will never go back to managing—"As a broadcaster, you can never get fired because you blow a game."

Nelson served, for a time after the war, as promotion director of the Knoxville, Tenn., News-Sentinel. He'd watch jealously as the paper's sports writers would go off to cover football games, "while all I had to do was work on a spelling bee."

So he went back into radio working in many stations before he got his present spot.

As one of the nation's top sportscasters, the slender Tennessee gets many offers to make speeches. He's turned down all except one, figuring he's got enough to do as it is. That one that he accepted was from a Florida club. He'd said no to the invitation four years running.

Finally, the club got Florida's Gov. Leroy Collins to write to NBC's president Robert Sarnoff, requesting Nelson to appear.

Sarnoff's office called Nelson. "You want to go?" "No," said Nelson. "Well, take any plane you want to."

He went.

Multimillionaire Wants Paar, Maxwell Barred

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Multimillionaire J. Paul Getty wants the Jack Parr TV show killed, and Elsa Maxwell barred from the air, because of cracks about him. His attorneys are muttering that they have "damaging evidence" and alleging "premeditated malice" — and adding that they've been told by the boss to "spare no expense." (So why doesn't he buy the network and fire it?)

Rita Hayworth and Jim Hill—due here this week on the first leg of their honeymoon — called it all off, including a 3-week trip to Europe. Rita's got extra scenes to do in "Separate Tables," and on a honeymoon a girl doesn't like to be hurried . . . Lena Horne's got mononucleosis, which she says spells worse than it is . . . Shapely Tina Louise, who exercises with 28-lb. weights, overdid it and sprained her chest.

Strangest love story yet, is from Hollywood starlet Roxanne Arlen, who says a Philadelphia playboy's using voodoo to break her up with an oilman. He told her he'd made a "doll image" of her boyfriend and stuck pins in his eyes and chest. Roxanne, who's in the show, "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" in Philly, reports that her beau has had chest pains, 104 temperature, two teeth pulled and murderous headaches. She's talking of getting an injunction, at least.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL
Denise Darcel's beau, Bob Eaton, got a screen test . . . Batista's reported unhappy 'cause so many Cubans are losing in the Havana gambling spots; they were supposed to be for the tourists.

Actress Gene Rowlands and her husband, John Cassavetes, are looking for a play in which to co-star. Ricardo Montalban's an early choice for Father of the Year title . . . More than 500,000 pay-TV theater seats have been sold for the Basilio-Robinson fight.

EARL'S PEARLS: Jack Herbert tells of the bow-legged girl who took an aptitude test—and learned she should be a cello player.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Some of the new cars are so long that a guy was hit—and was fully recovered by the time the rear wheels got to him . . . That's earl, brother. (Copyright, 1958)

Ike Starts Last Week of Southland Vacation
THOMASVILLE, Ga. — President Eisenhower started the second week of his Southland vacation today.

He still hopes for a weather break to open the way to some quail hunting before he flies back to Washington Sunday.

Ever since arriving Feb. 13, he has spent the time indoors for the most part at the plantation estate of his host, former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

The weatherman forecast a high of 52 degrees for today, which might mean the President would get a chance to hunt for quail, or perhaps get in a round of golf.

Yesterday, with the temperature in the mid-40s, he went for another automobile ride—his second since coming to Thomasville.

He toured Humphrey's sprawling estate for about 1½ hours during the afternoon.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, reports that the President's cold continues to improve each day. His voice still is a bit husky but his sore throat has about cleared up.

Snyder is understood to feel the week's stay at the Humphrey place has given the President his best rest since he took office more than five years ago.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen Eisenhower has been getting in a lot of bridge at the plantation, and also has been working an average of about four hours a day on government business.

Student Gets $65,000 in Steamship Suit
CLEVELAND — Mark Smith, 22, a freshman at Western Michigan University, has been awarded $65,000 by a U. S. district court for back injuries suffered while employed on a Great Lakes freighter.

Smith, who lives in Chicago, testified he was crushed against a dock by the steamship Robinson of Kinsman Transit Co. while working as a deckhand in the summer of 1956.

He said the accident happened at Rogers City, Mich. Smith sued Kinsman for $200,000 but accepted a settlement proposed by company attorneys.
