ONLY THESE REMAIN — Fire which gutted the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Williams in Oxford Saturday missed the Christmas stockings of 9 of their 10 children. The flames, which caused an estimated $20,000 damage, started from ashes cleaned out of this fireplace. Before the blaze was brought under control, it had spread to all 10 rooms in the house. Consumer Funds Up

Russia Cuts Military Budget

MOSCOW (AP)—A cut of 4.3 per cent in the Soviet military budget and an increase of 53 per cent in investments for consumer goods industries over the next two years were announced today.

The new budget submitted to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) reflected Premier Krushchev's proclaimed goal of giving the Russian people more bread and fewer guns.

But it was only a modest start in his plans for giant boosts in fertilizer and other consumer industries in the next seven years.

With Khrushchev listening, Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov announced the military budget for 1964 would be cut by 600 million rubles — $666 million at the official exchange rate. A cut had been promised by Khrushchev at the meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee last week.

Without giving figures, national planner Pytor Lomako announced additional investments in agriculture, housing, light industry and food processing in the 1964-65 period would be 53 per cent higher than in the past two years.

WAGE DISAPPOINTMENT

While the emphasis in the new budget was on consumer goods, Russian workers were sure to be disappointed by the wage policy announced by Lomako.

Lomako said minimum wages will go up by 40-45 rubles a month in the next two years. This was the amount the workers were supposed to have received, but never did, by the end of 1962.

The Soviet military budget for 1964 totals 13.3 billion rubles ($14.76 billion) out of a total government expenditure of 91.3 billion rubles ($101.34 billion).

Military spending for 1963 was reported at 13.9 billion rubles ($15.4 billion.)

Western specialists in Soviet budgets insist that approximately half the annual Soviet budget is spent on the military in one form or another, a little less than the proportion spent in the United States.

However, there is no way of making a clear comparison between Soviet and U.S. budgets, particularly in the military spending sector. The Soviet budget includes investments in industry devoted to military purposes but these never show in the military budget.

WON'T WEAKEN

The finance minister emphasized the cutback in military spending will not weaken Soviet defenses.

This year the Soviet Union had one of its poorest harvests in a numbers of years. Wheat production was at least 12 million tons short of the country's needs, and the government had to place large orders with Canada and other Western producers.

To launch the vast program of expansion for the chemical industry which Khrushchev outlined to the Central Committee last week, the budget called for investment of nearly $2.3 billion in 1964 and more than $3 billion in 1965.

MODEST START

Although Garbuzov said the 1964 investment in the chemical industry was 44 per cent more than in 1963, it represented a comparatively modest start on the seven-year expansion plan which Khrushchev last week said would cost $46 billion.

Seek Answers in Flood Probe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three hundred million gallons of water roared out of a gaping hole in Baldwin Hills Reservoir, leaving three persons dead, at least $10-million damage—and one big question: Why?

Investigators probed the cause of Saturday's devastating flood today as cleanup crews and heartsick homeowners moved in to clear the stricken area of tons of muck and debris.

The giant wall of water from the breaking dam swept blocks of homes away. Only deep, eroded gullies remained where attractive dwellings stood.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed and 82 received major damage.

The big 19.5-acre reservoir, owned by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, burst with a mighty roar Saturday afternoon after a small leak developed earlier in the day.

The earth shook as huge chunks of earth from the dam collapsed into the hole created by the rushing waters.

The flood smashed through an expensive canyon residential area, hit a garden court apartment development, spread through two business districts and another residential neighborhood, then piled into a flood control channel and found its way to the ocean about five miles away.

★ ★ ★

POINTS PROBED

The many-faceted investigation starting today will attempt to answer:

Mayor Samuel Yorty, who wants to know why the dam broke.

Thousands of flood victims, who want to know who will pay for the damage.

Thousands of other residents,

Freeway Route Set for 10 Mile

I-696 Controversy Not Over for County

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today settled a long and bitter issue among South Oakland County communities with an announcement that 10 Mile Road will be the route of the new I-696 east-west freeway from Lahser to Dequindre.

But the fact that the dispute has been resolved in all probability has not ended the controversy.

★ ★ ★

Mackie can expect angry protests from some of the city councils from which he will seek the necessary route approvals.

Mackie said he hopes to get the approvals by next June 30 in order to keep a timetable that calls for construction to begin in 1967.

If the approvals are not obtained, however, Mackie can resort to a law permitting him to proceed without them.

★ ★ ★

Earlier this year, the highway department asked the affected communities to decide on recommendations for the freeway's route from among four basic alternates — three of which followed 11 Mile Road.

NO AGREEMENT

But the cities could not agree on a route.

Mackie gave several reasons for choosing the 10 Mile route:

- From 350 to 432 fewer omes would be condemned.
- The 10 Mile alignment fol-

Seek to End Tolls on Bridge

Ask U. S. Purchase Mackinac Span

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Victor A. Knox and John B. Bennett, Michigan Republicans, proposed legislation today providing for toll-free operation of the Mackinac Bridge linking the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan.

The secretary of commerce would be authorized to pay the state of Michigan up to $65,953,800 on condition that the five-mile span across the Straits of Mackinac be opened to free travel.

This is 90 per cent of the construction cost and is the amount of federal contribution for which the bridge would have been eligible if it had been built as part of the interstate highway system under a 1959 act.

"The Mackinac Bridge is part of Interstate Route 75," the two said in a joint statement, "and the users of that highway should not be penalized because the state, to meet an urgent need, issued bonds to finance its construction as a toll bridge before the interstate system of free expressways was authorized by Congress."

PROHIBITIVE TOLLS

Tourists and commercial interests, they said, have been deterred from making full use of the bridge by tolls ranging from $3.75 for passenger cars to $15.50 for big trailer trucks.

"Completion of the bridge in 1957 was expected to open our depressed area to intensive economic development," Knox and Bennett said.

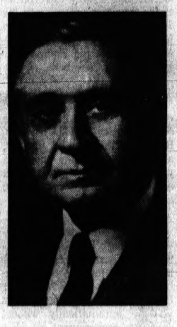
"However, the excessive tolls have kept our expectations from being realized."

The two members noted that the House Public Works Committee recently approved a bill to pay the city of Chicago $63,838,000 so that it could retire bonds issued on the Chicago Skyway toll bridge and eliminate all user charges.

GM President Sees All-Time Mark in '63

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp.'s president, John F. Gordon, said today the auto industry is practically certain to achieve a new all-time record this year of more than 7.7 million new car and truck sales in the United States, including imports.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit, Gordon said, "Looking to 1964, we feel there are grounds for optimism again."



80TH BIRTHDAY — George A. Dondero of Royal Oak, who retired in 1956 after representing Oakland County in the U.S. House of Representatives for 24 years, is 80 years old today. An attorney, he served 50 years in public office. His son, Stanton G., is an Oakland County Circuit Court judge.

"The public evidently like the industry's new models," he said.

"Retail sales are currently at high levels, and backlogs of unfilled orders remain substantial.

"If the general business indicators continue to point upward, industry analysts believe new car and truck sales next year will be closely in line with 1963 experience."

★ ★ ★

Gordon expressed belief that 92 million motor vehicles will be in use in the United States by 1970.

26 PER CENT HIKE

This would be an increase of 26 per cent in seven years. "We can foresee a basic annual demand for passenger cars rising by 1970 to almost nine million units," he said.

"When we add truck forecasts to these figures, we can anticipate the basic trend line rising to more than 10 million units a year by the end of the decade."

Mrs. Kennedy to Visit W. Berlin in 1964

BERLIN (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has told West Berlin officials she will visit the divided city next year, the principal of the newly named John F. Kennedy School said today.

Rudolf Bewer said Mrs. Kennedy wrote this in a letter authorizing the use of her late husband's name for the school. Bewer said she did not set a specific date.

SHOVELIN' AND SHIVERIN'—The cold, biting temperature didn't stop Sister Mary Xavier, administrator of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, from climbing into the driver's seat of a power shovel to break ground for a new hospital addition yesterday. House Starts Aid Debate

$2.8-Billion Measure Far Below JFK Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House debates foreign aid appropriations today as an adjournment-bent Congress begins its final week of work.

★ ★ ★

The House Appropriations Committee has recommended $2,801,700,000 in new funds for the aid program—$1,723,625,000 below the request of the late President John F. Kennedy. President Johnson has appealed to Congress to reverse the reduction lest the United States be forced "to follow policies of weakness and retreat."

The foreign aid appropriation is part of a $4,430,966,960 major money measure, one of six that are the main items on Congress' program this week.

The decks have been cleared of everything else controversial, and leaders hope to call it quits Friday after more than 11 months of almost continuous session. The prospect is, however, that the windup will come as usual either late Saturday or early Sunday.

★ ★ ★

There also is concern that after Thursday it may be hard to keep a majority of the Senate and the House in Washington to transact business. Many members already have left.

ONE OF DEEPEST

The aid cut approved Saturday by the appropriations committee is one of the deepest ever recommended for the program. The amount approved is $832 million below the spending ceiling authorized by Congress last week in a separate measure.

★ ★ ★

"The proposed reductions in foreign aid funds would put our foreign policy in a straitjacket," Johnson said in a statement.

St. Joseph Hospital Starts New Addition

Ground was broken yesterday afternoon for a new five-story addition to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The ceremony, on the front lawn of the hospital, marked the start of a $3.5-million expansion and improvement program at the hospital.

U.S. Senator Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich., was principal speaker at the event.

McNamara was cosponsor of Accelerated Public Works Act which is providing a $1.5-million grant toward the project cost. It is the largest of 14 grants to Michigan hospitals to date.

He pointed out that through the federal grant, the hospital can continue "the vital service it has rendered to the Pontiac area since it was founded 36 years ago."

★ ★ ★

The new north wing is part of the first phase, which will increase bed capacity by 10 per cent, provide a new emergency ward, kitchen and cafeteria.

OTHER DEVELOPMENT

Also included will be creation of a 27-bed nursing unit for chronic disease rehabilitation and remodeling and enlarging of the physical therapy department and out-patient clinic.

Taking part in the ceremony yesterday were Sister Mary Xavier, administrator and Mother Mary Justine, mother provincial of the Detroit Province of The Religious Sisters of Mercy, who operate the hospital.

Dr. Alvin R. Larson, president of the hospital medical staff, also joined in the ground breaking. Walter K. Willman, vice president of the lay advisory board, was master of ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Eugene Paddock, pastor of Holy Name Parish, Birmingham, offered the invocation and benediction and blessed the site of the new building.

★ ★ ★

The first phase of the expansion program is scheduled for completion in 20 months.

Mercury to Plunge for Next 5 Days

Winter seems determined to freeze the last five days of fall.

The official frigid season starts Dec. 21, but the temperatures for the next five days will average seven to eight degrees below the normal high of 35 and low of 23.

Precipitation will total one-quarter inch in occasional snow flurries, mostly Wednesday night or Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The lowest temperature before 8 a.m. was 4. By 2 p.m. it had reached 24.

Sybil to Divorce Actor Burton in Mexico Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mrs. Sybil Burton will divorce actor Richard Burton in Mexico today, charging her husband treated her cruelly and inhumanly by being in the constant company of "another woman."

★ ★ ★

Announcement of the divorce action was made by the Burtons' New York attorney, Aaron Frosch. He flew to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, where Mrs. Burton filed for divorce in the Jalisco State Civil Court.

Frosch said actress Elizabeth Taylor would not be mentioned by name in the suit.

U.S. Will Maintain Troops in Europe, Says Johnson

PARIS (AP)—President Johnson assured the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today that the United States will maintain its troop strength in Europe so long as these men are needed.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's promise was contained in a message read by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the opening of NATO's 3-day winter ministerial meeting to survey the state of Western defenses and hopes for peace.

Johnson stressed that his administration would continue the late President John F. Kennedy's strong line of support for NATO.

BALANCED POSTURE

Johnson called for "a balanced NATO defense posture, including powerful nuclear and non-nuclear forces, which will deter aggression."

The President added:

"To NATO's continuing fulfillment of this task, I pledge my country's will and resources. We will keep in Europe the equivalent of six American divisions that are now deployed there, so long as they are needed; and under present circumstances there is no doubt that they will continue to be needed."

★ ★ ★

With his pledge, Johnson tried to put at rest the speculation that has been current in Europe since the Big Lift exercise two months ago that a sizable withdrawal of American troops was in the wind. Other U.S. officials have given such assurances repeatedly since Big Lift.

Johnson said U.S. fulfillment of its NATO commitments is a lasting memorial to the stature of President Kennedy.

CALLED ON ALLIES

He also called on America's allies to do their part.

"I am confident that our allies will also make their full contributions to this NATO defense, so that the burdens and responsibilities of partnership may be equitably shared."

★ ★ ★

"Military strength — both nuclear and non-nuclear—is useful only as it serves political ends.

"Our task is to ensure that NATO remains an effective means for concerting these ends, as well as for building that strength.

"NATO is the enduring instrument for joining such a Europe and the United States in common programs to meet common military and political needs."

BEST HONOR

Johnson said NATO can best honor Kennedy's memory "by continuing our pursuit of the goal of Atlantic partnership—by seeking an ever-closer collaboration between a united Europe and the United States in dealing with all the great and burdensome tasks of building and defending a community of free nations."

Miners OK Release of 4 Hostages

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Rebellious tin miners at Catavi today voted approval of an agreement reached with the government by their leaders for the immediate release of 21 hostages, including four Americans, held since Dec. 6.

CATAVI, Bolivia (AP — Vice President Juan Lechin went into conference today with Communist-led tin miners in an attempt to persuade them to release 19 hostages, including four Americans.

There had been hopes that the hostages, held in retaliation for the arrest of two Communist union leaders, would be released today. But tension was mounting.

A dispatch from La Paz said there were indications of growing opposition among the miners to the release of the miners unless the two Communist leaders, held on manslaughter and other charges, are first freed.

lows existing municipal boundaries more closely, meaning less disruption of community living patterns and school attendance areas.

● The 11 Mile Road routes would mean substantial alterations to the newly completed 12 Town Drain at the I-75 interchange.

● Access to the Detroit Zoological Park would be improved.

● The 11 Mile alignments would have to be one to three blocks away from 11 Mile Road, leaving an undesirable situation of homes being left between the freeway and 11 Mile Road.

● The 10 Mile route will save about $1 million.

Mackie said one formal meeting was held with each of the 16 communities affected by the four alignments under study, and some 50 meetings were held with other officials of the communities.

SCATTERED DEBRIS — Workmen begin to clean up debris strewn by the rushing flood waters from broken Baldwin Hills Reservoir, which cracked Saturday. Apartment buildings in background were severely damaged, and some buildings which stood in foreground were ripped from their foundations. Almost all residents were evacuated by police warnings.

living below similar reservoirs, and wondering.

FACT FINDERS

Yorty has asked Franklin D. Murphy, chancellor of UCLA; Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California; and Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, president of Caltech, to name members of a blue-ribbon fact finding board to study the tragedy.

U. S. Rep. James Roosevelt whose area includes the reservoir site, is scheduled to arrive today to inspect the disaster area.

Edward McDermott, director of the office of emergency planning under the president, will accompany Roosevelt.

★ ★ ★

Disaster experts met with police and other officials to discuss the damage. The Small Business Administration declared Baldwin Hills a disaster area, making available long-term, low-interest loans for flood victims.

MANY HOLES

Max K. Socha, chief engineer of water works, said that with the reservoir now empty, a long series of ragged holes can be seen in the asphalt inner surface of the dam.

The holes lead in a straight line from one side to the big break in the wall and may have been the leaks that caused the dam to collapse, Socha said.

Other possibilities mentioned included earth tremors, residue from oil drilling and cracking and stretching of the whole area.

Roberts Eyes Judge Problem

By JIM DYGERT

The senator's frame of mind is calmer today than it was Friday.

He has a possible solution to the problem behind a legislative bargaining maneuver that boiled his temper almost into resigning his committee chairmanship Friday.

The senator is Farrell E. Roberts, Oakland County's Republican representative in the State Senate.

★ ★ ★

Roberts' indignation flared red hot Friday when some of his closest friends in the legislature and on his Senate Judiciary Committee were pushing for completion of a swap that would have helped a Grand Rapids judge at the expense of three Oakland County judges.

'TOO FAST'

Roberts threatened to quit his committee post—which he won last January when Romney Republicans got control of the Senate—"because there is too much horse trading going on."

"They were trying to move too fast," Roberts said today.

His new idea would eliminate the need for a vote trade between Republicans and Democrats in order to solve the Grand Rapids problem.

★ ★ ★

It all began Wednesday when the House approved a bill to abolish the Grand Rapids Superior Court and create a fourth Circuit Court judgeship in Kent County, but refused to give the measure immediate effect.

IMMEDIATE

Kent County Republicans need immediate effect so that Gov. George Romney could appoint Superior Court Judge Claude Vander Ploeg to the Circuit Court post.

Romney will not have the power to fill judicial vacancies after the new constitution takes effect Jan. 1, and the bill ordinarily would not become law until after 90 days.

Republicans decided to kill a provision in a Senate-approved bill that would give appointed judges a ballot designation of incumbency — which Democrats oppose — in order to get Democratic support for the Kent County bill.

★ ★ ★

But, Roberts, who backed the incumbency designation, resisted pressures to call a committee meeting Friday to reconsider the provision and approve the deal. Oakland County has three judges appointed by Romney — Arthur E. Moore, Philip Pratt and James S. Thorburn.

CRISIS AVERTED

A crisis was finally averted when the committee's vice chairman, Sen. Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, sided with Roberts, and the rest of the members yielded to Roberts' plea that a sensible solution could be achieved this week.

★ ★ ★

Roberts' solution is legislation to absorb the Grand Rapids Superior Court, which is unique in the state, into the Kent County Circuit Court with Vander Ploeg becoming a Circuit Court judge automatically without need for appointment or election.

★ ★ ★

Roberts said the idea would be examined closely today.

Seek 2nd Hearing

BIRMINGHAM — The persistent owners of property in the area bounded by Lincoln, Floyd, Landon and Ann streets are planning a return appearance before the City Commission.

They are determined that their lots shall be rezoned from residential to neighborhood business, despite the fact that the commission turned down their request only a month ago.

The governing unit tonight will consider a petition for another hearing on the matter.

The area was much discussed by the planning commission during the preparation of a preliminary land-use plan this summer.

RESIDENTIAL NATURE

Planners recommended that the residential nature of the area be maintained and city commissioners agreed.

Still before the commission is a request by the Church of Christ on property it owns just east of Floyd. The church is seeking conversion of the property to a multiple residence zone.

The commission will be informed tonight that the city is in line to receive a parcel of property which would increase the size of Linden Park by about an acre.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Smith propose to give the property to the city. Located between Linden Park and Southfield Road, the parcel contains about 300 feet of the Rouge River and its flood plain.

A performance of Gian-Carlo Menotti's Christmas opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is scheduled for tomorrow night at the Community House.

Presented by the Marygrove Players and college chorus, the opera will begin at 7:30 p.m. There will be a nominal admission fee.

Posse Nabs Four Accused in Slaying

BUCKHOLTS, Tex. (AP) — Law officers arrested four men near here today after surrounding a small farm house after an all night search. The four are accused of killing an Alabama man, binding his wife and dumping her into a well with the body of her husband.

BUCKHOLTS, Tex. (AP) — Members of a posse searched house-to-house today for four men accused of killing an Alabaman and of other crimes in Texas and Oklahoma.

The posse used bloodhounds as they searched homes and barns, while planes and helicopters aided in the hunt.

Sheriff W. A. Bratton said at Cuba, Ala., that the fugitives were former carnival workers blamed for robbing farm families and stealing cars in three other states.

★ ★ ★

Officers used state prison bloodhounds in a search through the night in freezing weather. It centered on a wooded sector close to the home of one of the wanted men outside Buckholts.

In Alabama, Solicitor Tom Boggs issued warrants charging the four men with murder, attempted murder, armed robbery and burglary. The warrants named Gerald Eaton, 27, of Buckholts; Don Lucas, 18, Clarence Coon, 20, and Dennis Wood, 17.

They were accused in the slaying of Leonard Culpepper, 55, a soft drink salesman, at his home near the Alabama-Mississippi line Friday.

To Japanese Artist

Customs Stalls Pope's Gift

TOKYO (AP) — A gift to a 71-year-old artist, Insho Domoto, has run afoul of a Japanese law aimed at preventing crime.

The gift is a 29-inch saber. The giver was the late Pope John XXIII.

Japanese law forbids possession of a knife longer than six inches.

★ ★ ★

"It doesn't make any difference who the sender is," said a customs official.

★ ★ ★

The sword was part of the Sante Silverster Award, presented to Domoto in appreciation for a painting of the Virgin Mary which he gave to a Roman Catholic Church in Osaka.

★ ★ ★

Long swords can be possessed as works of art if the owner has a police permit. Domoto has applied for a permit, but until the red tape is sliced away, the sword will remain in the custody of customs.

Honor Justice Douglas

NEW YORK (AP) — Associate Justice William O. Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court was honored in New York City by Bnai Zion, American fraternal Zionist organization for "outstanding service for the advancement of the basic tenets of freedom, equality and justice embodies in the bill of rights."

The word caucus is believed to have been first used in this country in the 1760s as the name of a Boston political club.

Potential Failures Know Early

Must Start on Problems in Kindergarten

By BEN BURNS

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan public education must slant its approach to begin dealing with individual problems as early as the kindergarten level, State Supt. of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett said today.

"We can't wait until the youngsters reach the secondary level to become concerned about individual problems," Bartlett said.

"We need to adapt our programs to meet the needs from the early grades on through."

* * *

Bartlett said, "We can with fair accuracy identify these youngsters who are going to have trouble including the ones who will have trouble reading.

KNOW POTENTIAL FAILURES

"We can predict right now the ones who will fail unless something is done to aid their individual problems," Bartlett said. "Roughly one-third of all youngsters who enter the ninth grade drop out of school before they graduate," he said.

"In my judgment more students would stay if we had adequately met their needs as they were going through school," Bartlett said.

Bartlett said, "We know at an early age that a number of them are not going on to college. We should not attempt to prepare these for a college program but prepare them for adult life and their role in society.

* * *

"We should not wait until high school to shunt the educational cripples into a vocational or technical course," he said.

MUST ADAPT

"We must adapt whatever we do to the individual child's ability. We can't treat every child the same way if we are going to do the job that needs to be done," Bartlett said.

Bartlett said potential dropouts who come from culturally deprived homes also need more individual attention.

He said the necessity for more individual attention runs head on into the financial problems facing schools today.

* * *

"Thus in large cities where these culturally deprived are more acute, we should have more small classes. But if we cut the class down by one pupil in a city like Detroit the cost can run into thousands of dollars," Bartlett said.

MORE MONEY NEEDED

More money is needed for more psychological service, visiting teachers and remedial teaching, particularly reading, Bartlett said.

"However, it is much less expensive to provide this service than it is to wait until they drop out of school and wind up in penal institutions, mental homes or on welfare," Bartlett said.

"The prevention is much cheaper than dealing with it later, and the individual will be able to make a contribution to society and be productive," Bartlett said.

"In dollars and cents, education is the best investment we can make."

Junior Editors Quiz on TURQUOISE

QUESTION: What makes a turquoise blue?

* * *

ANSWER: Turquoise is a mineral colored a very beautiful robin's egg blue and widely used as a gem. The light does not come through it as in the case of diamond or sapphire; turquoise is classed as an opaque gem.

But the color is so unusual that its beauty has been recognized since very early times.

As our upper picture shows, the Egyptians set pieces of turquoise in their jewelry (such as the wings of the scarab beetle, shown here in gray) and they also found that pieces of turquoise made handsome beads.

Turquoise is found in our Southwest, and the Indians of that area use it in very much the same way as the old Egyptians did, as the handsome thunderbird pin shows.

This gem is a phosphate of aluminum and copper. The presence of some iron gives it a greenish tint, while copper provides the blue color.

So, it is usually blue-green, and the color frequently is called turquoise blue.

It is found in Asia Minor and was often brought from Turkey, hence the name which means "Turkish stone."

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Try mixing turquoise blue. Use a little tempera or poster white and put into this a little blue or green, either water color or poster paint. Sketch a piece of jewelry and put in your turquoise.

Jet Cowed in Landing

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — Nineteen cows last night held up the landing of a Royal Dutch Airlines KLM Viscount airliner when they strayed onto the main runway of Ringway Airport.

KLM Manager Ron Vigars said the plane was carrying about 50 passengers and crewmen.

"The cows could have caused a very serious accident, particularly as it was dark," he said.

Democratic Party Intentions Causing Political Speculation

As far as the Democratic party is concerned, the backstage political cauldron is beginning to boil at an increasing tempo. For a time, out of deference and respect to the memory of the late president, nothing was done officially and very little unofficially.

★ ★ ★

Now the whispers start.
How about Bobby Kennedy?
How about vice president?

It's an open secret that brother Bobby and Lyndon Johnson haven't been particularly enamored of each other. Up until now, that was the Vice President's bad luck and he had to make the best of it. But suddenly the shoe's on the other foot. The younger Kennedy can do the twisting and squirming, for President Lyndon B. Johnson is firmly ensconced in the driver's seat with everything "going for him." Bobby hasn't a wisp of a prayer in any kind of an open break.

★ ★ ★

In normal circumstances and with old Pa KENNEDY manipulating his kinfolk so adroitly, BOBBY would have been a natural for the second spot under JOHNSON. But even Paw won't be able to thrust that down JOHNSON's throat. Rumors suggest that BOBBY will resign after the 1964 election, whether the Dems win or lose. That's the only way to beat the rap that hangs over his youthful noggin. Rumor says he is now eying the governorship of Massachusetts in 1966 and really drooling at the prospects of salvaging something from the wreckage.

★ ★ ★

The clan's next best bet is Sargent Shriver and he's considerably more than a dark horse. He stands well with Johnson and his conscientious efforts with the Peace Corps have won favorable attention from senators and other inner personalities behind the scenes in the District of Columbia. Johnson was on the Peace Corps Advisory Committee, and the two worked easily together.

★ ★ ★

Shriver is a Northerner and would contrast well with Johnson's Texas background. He is prominently identified by marriage with the clan Kennedy, which is anxious to see another Catholic in the top hierarchy. The sum of these political qualifications places Shriver in a favored position.

★ ★ ★

Senators EUGENE MCCARTHY and HUBERT HUMPHREY have been rumored strongly, but JOHNSON hasn't given the slightest indication that he favors either. HUMPHREY would lend oratorical strength to the race, for he speaks well and easily—in fact much better than JOHNSON. One Washington commentator said he would outshine the President so far, he erases himself from consideration for that reason alone. This is hard to accept. MCCARTHY is almost the opposite and figures as a lackluster chap any way you view him.

★ ★ ★

Supreme Court Justice ARTHUR GOLDBERG is another real possibility. He stands very well with President JOHNSON and has a strong "in" with labor leaders. I place no credence at all in a current rumor suggesting ADLAI STEVENSON. Too many Democrats are too intent on winning.

★ ★ ★

How about our own Sen. HART.
Vice president.
Why not?

Constant Fight . . . .

One of the stoutest foes communism has on the face of this globe is J. EDGAR HOOVER. Probably he has done more for the American people in this respect than any single American. And it hasn't always been plain sailing or easy going. At times he has been harassed and double-crossed by sources that have astounded him—and the Nation.

★ ★ ★

Currently he says:

★ ★ ★

"We are at war with communism, and the sooner every red-blooded American realizes this the safer we will be . . . Today, the Communists are engaged in a vigorous campaign to divide and weaken America from within. Foremost in this campaign are the party's efforts to exploit misunderstandings and capitalize upon areas of dissension and unrest wherever they exist."

How right Mr. HOOVER is.

★ ★ ★

Boring from within can be cleverly concealed most of the time and thus be even more effective than a slam-bang frontal attack. Also, the subtle deal for the Commies makes use of our own ample supply of simpletons and dupes who can always be coerced into yanking the Soviet chestnuts from the burning fire.

★ ★ ★

In Russia, the people who turn against their own government are summarily given a one-way ticket to Siberia — or worse. Here we condone, sidestep, fawn and meekly turn the other cheek. And do the Reds love it — and have hysterics when they're alone.

It takes stout men like Hoover to preserve a semblance of balance.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

One of the stumbling blocks in airplane speeds of mach 2 and 3 lies in the fact that surfaces reach temperatures of 450 degrees. . . . . The most soothing music on radio today is WJR's 11:30 to 12 p.m. . . . . Overheard: Husband: "I'm not going out tonight and that's semi-final." . . . . The New York Telephone Co. is testing special phones for deaf people which flash lights instead of ringing bells and then make use of typewritten messages. . . . . Procter and Gamble has been plastered with the onus of having the biggest number of unpopular TV commercials. . . . . If MITCH MILLER isn't careful, he's going to become as big a hunk of ham as ALFRED HITCHCOCK.

★ ★ ★

I can't prove it, but I'll bet a sugar cookie that henceforth you will see the President photographed mainly from the left side. . . . . . Scouts suggest that Valarie Fox deserves mention as one of the area's very attractive young ladies. . . . . . Tramp: "I really don't mind doing an honest day's work — but not twice in the same week." . . . . . The British Broadcasting Co. is still apologizing for its boo-boo. It flashed the message of JFK's assassination and then followed with a comedy program. . . . . . Perhaps the most accurate, terse description of President Johnson came from the old master, David Lawrence: "A conservative liberal."

VALARIE

★ ★ ★

Overheard: "I can always tell when she's had enough to drink. She feels exhilarated but can't pronounce it." . . . . . The Communist party paper suggested Chief Justice WARREN as the head of the committee to investigate JFK's assassination three days ahead of the actual appointment. . . . . Veteran golfers say JACK NICKLAUS will be a top contender for only a few years. Weight problems will lick him. . . . . Looming Very Large

David Lawrence Says:

Appraisal of Johnson Must Wait

WASHINGTON — Overnight a whole government changes its leadership, but sometimes it takes several weeks or months for the political consequences to be fully appraised.

LAWRENCE

Based on past experience, the mood after the inauguration of a president is usually one of virtual unanimity, and it takes a few months — sometimes a year or two — before the so-called "honeymoon" is over.

This doesn't mean that a president himself then suddenly loses popularity. It merely means that, when a president has had to make decisions, he finds that those who don't agree with him become voluble opponents.

Today, President Johnson enjoys a popularity equal to that which is often bestowed on a new president. He has not yet made any fundamental decisions that could develop opposition of the sort that plagued his predecessor.

Mr. Johnson is cautious and will not invite unnecessary controversy nor cross any bridges just yet that he doesn't have to cross. But there inevitably will come a time when decisions on major issues will have to be made.

★ ★ ★

The "civil rights" problem is a case in point. There has been a lot of surmise lately with respect to the hitherto antiadministration attitude of the South. Some reports have said that the South has already changed its view because a "Southerner" is in the White House.

Once it is known where President Johnson is to stand, there is sure to be opposition. This merely means that when a decision is made, division naturally arises.

Then there's the economy dilemma. President Johnson has made a good approach. He has approved the closing of some military installations that appear to have outlived their usefulness.

Naturally, senators and representatives from areas affected shout loudly against the creation of more unemployment. They feel compelled to do so to placate their own constituents. But the amount of saving involved so far is relatively small.

The big items, like the $30 billion to be spent in trying to get to the moon in the next few years, are not yet slashed. Token economy, like token integration, doesn't solve fundamental issues.

Will the American people know definitely by next spring on which side of the two big issues — "civil rights" and economy, respectively — The President has really taken his stand? Will they know before the Democratic National Convention in August?

Lots of things can happen in the months between now and the November election of 1964.

Bob Considine Says:

Ex-Convict's Harsh Life Is Filled With Injustice

NEW YORK — Ex-convict John Stewart Aitken comments on a bitter injustice:

CONSIDINE

"Whenever an ex-convict commits a crime after he is released there is usually a great hue and cry sent up by the editorial writers.

"Yet one never hears about the ex-convicts who managed to surmount the stigma of being so labeled and succeed in making good useful citizens of themselves. Nor do you realize the difficulty such a struggle really is.

"I went to prison in 1957, served every day of my five-year sentence. I was never taught a trade which might have conceivably aided me to obtain a job upon my release. I offered to pay for psychiatric therapy. No psychiatrist was available.

"Yet my real difficulties began with my release. Finding a job is tough enough for the average guy; it's virtually impossible for an ex-con.

★ ★ ★

"I always level with any prospective employer when I'm questioned about the five-year gap in my employment record.

DON'T CALL US

"When I tell them I was in jail they quickly terminate our interview and give me a 'Don't call us, we'll call you' shuffle to the nearest exit."

We are not priviliged to know for sure, but there must be many times since Nov. 22 when Lyndon Johnson's thoughts have turned to the memory of his late, great mentor, Sam Rayburn.

If the veteran speaker of the House of Representatives had lived, he would now, by all but unbearable coincidence, be second in line of succession to the fellow Texan he raised from political puppyhood.

The President's affection and respect for Mr. Sam was something to behold. We had an interview with the then Sen. Johnson one day at the end of his long working day. It had been a tough day of tending to his myriad chores as majority leader. But before he left his desk he picked up a phone that was a direct line into the speaker's office.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Sam, I'm fixing to go home," the senator said gently. "Is there anything I can do for you before I leave? Are you sure? Well, all right then, I'll be going along now. See you tomorrow, Mr. Sam."

Nonpartisan Voter

Says City Discourages Development

For the past decade, in my opinion, the majority of the Pontiac City Commission has appointed many unqualified members to a zoning board. This board, the City Commission and the departments under them have consistently rejected proposals for property development and discouraged investors with red tape.

Investors just make a telephone call to Bloomfield, Waterford or West Bloomfield Townships. They are told that they are welcome. No red tape. Just good business and good for the tax base. I wonder whether or not the Pontiac City Fathers are not slowly but surely strangling Pontiac, setting it back 100 years.

I predict that the sellout for federal funds for urban renewal is not going to help much in the immediate future.

Converting Paris

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

The titillating, naughty-naughty notion of Paris never did make much sense except for tourist-bait areas such as Pigalle. And few Frenchmen other than employes frequent their strip-tease clubs.

The literary and artistic groups in the French capital, however, did thrive in an atmosphere of mature freedom.

But now this is being dissipated by a censor, and with a sternness which makes it an offense even to say that there is a censor.

★ ★ ★

Before de Gaulle's return to power, Frenchmen were disturbed by the suppressions of newspapers and magazines to keep them in ignorance of the horrors of the Algerian war, but the campaign now has been extended to books utterly without political content.

The excuse is the usual one — safeguarding the innocence of the young who, however, are not safeguarded against the posters of the girlie shows.

The charge that this French Puritanism is attributable to Mme. De Gaulle is not proved. But the severity may account for the publication of a new version of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" in which there is no description of the sewers of Paris, the battle of Waterloo, the death of Jean Valjean and the suicide of Javert, and which has a "happy ending."

This obviously is not the old classic, but it may be the new Paris.

Good Habit

FBI Findings

Chicago's American

In its report to a special Presidential commission studying the assassination of President Kennedy, the Federal Bureau of Investigation put special emphasis on its finding that Lee Harvey Oswald was "unquestionably" the President's slayer and that he acted on his own initiative.

The FBI took pains to discount speculation that Oswald and Jack Ruby, the man who shot him to death in a Dallas police garage, knew each other before the assassination, or were parts of a greater conspiracy to kill the President and silence his murderer.

★ ★ ★

The FBI's findings are fully consistent with reason and the evidence, and they should save the commission endless wasted time in chasing down blind alleys.

The report will not, however, end the speculation or silence charges that the federal government is trying to "cover up" something. There are too many people who want to believe in a conspiracy and who will refuse to be convinced that none exists.

★ ★ ★

There are also a great many people with a definite stake in keeping alive the story of a conspiracy. The Communist press here and abroad is earnestly pushing the idea that a gigantic fascist cabal in the United States engineered the whole thing, and many foreign commentators seem to take the idea seriously.

Something in the makeup of European intellectuals makes them reject the most obvious answer to anything, and for the leftists there is something deeply appealing about discrediting the FBI; so we can expect these rumors to go on indefinitely.

Ford Denies Seeking Office

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, Ford Motor Co. board chairman, strongly denies rumors he will leave the firm to run for political office or seek a government appointment, the Detroit News reported Sunday.

Ford also pledged his support to President Johnson in efforts to bridge the gap between government and business, the News said.

"I plan to devote a great many years to this company. And I am not going to run for political office. I can assure you of that," Ford told the News in an interview.

Asked about accepting an appointive office in government, Ford said."... I have not been offered such a job nor am I looking for one."

Ford was among a group of the nation's business and industrial leaders who met with President Johnson shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

"While I think it is too early to tell exactly what is going to happen, my first impression is that the present administration certainly will not be vindictive to ward business and will be as helpful to business as it is to all other sectors of the economy," Ford said.

"I don't think we'll see a repition of the steel controversy of 1962," he added.

JFK OBJECTIONS

He was referring to steel manufacturers' withdrawal of price increases in April of that year following President Kennedy's vigorous objections to the increases.

Ford said he now considers himself a "political independent," although he was an outspoken supporter of former President Eisenhower and voted for Richard Nixon, the Republican presidential candidate in 1960.

★ ★ ★

He said he had contributed financially to the Kennedy-Johnson administration, but declined to say how much he had contributed.

Ford said he felt the auto industry now is established firmly at a production level of 7 million cars a year.

Cold, Snow Grip Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

Snow fell in scattered northern areas, but generally clear and cold weather covered most of the eastern two-thirds of the nation today, with lowest temperatures of the season in many sections.

★ ★ ★

The mercury again tumbled far below zero across the eastern Plains, in wide areas of the Midwest and in many sections of the Northeast as the season's longest cold wave continued. The winter season starts Dec. 21.

★ ★ ★

There was a possibility of some relief from the frigid cold in some sections. The Weather Bureau reported a warming trend was indicated along the eastern slopes of the Rockies, parts of the Southwest and across most of the central and northern Plains.

NUMBING COLD

The icy cold numbed the Midwest region this morning with the mercury dropping to 25 below in International Falls, Minn. and far below zero throughout the north central region. It was zero in St. Louis and as low as 7 below in central Illinois.

★ ★ ★

The mercury edged to near freezing in Tallahassee, in northern Florida, and dropped to 45 in Tampa, Fla. Little Rock, Ark., reported 18 above and Louisville shivered in readings close to zero.

★ ★ ★

In the Northeast, low marks included -11 in northern Maine, with zero marks in sections of New York State. Snow fell along Lake Erie and Lake Ontario.

★ ★ ★

Thirty inches of snow fell in a narrow band along Lake Erie, south of Buffalo, Saturday. Six inches of fresh snow was reported in Traverse City, Mich. Fog and drizzle covered areas along the Pacific Northwest.

Find Dead GIs on Viet Beach

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The bodies of three American aviators missing after their helicopter crashed into the ocean were recovered on a lonely beach in central Viet Nam today.

The bodies were flown to Saigon for an autopsy to determine the cause of death. No wreckage was sighted.

The copilot, only survivor of the crash 35 miles south of the helicopter crashed Saturday night half a mile offshore as it started to land to pick up wounded Vietnamese troops.

The American spokesman said the three dead Americans were considered noncombat casualties.

2 COPTERS OKAY

The copilot said the helicopter was coming in for a landing "when suddenly I found water around my knees." Two accompanying helicopters completed their missions.

Government troops searched coastal areas in Quang Ngai Province after villagers reported seeing several Europeans.

The copilot swam ashore and spent Saturday night hiding in the bushes. He contacted government rescuers yesterday.

A U.S. officer was killed when Communist guerrillas fired at a battalion of Vietnamese infantrymen in the jungles of northern Quang Tin province. The officer was an adviser to the battalion. There were no other government casualties.

None of the Americans was identified.

The latest fatality brought to 85 the number of Americans killed in action against the Viet Cong since U.S. troops came to South Viet Nam two years ago. Other Americans have died of war-related causes.

Last week was one of the bloodiest U.S. forces in South Viet Nam have had. Last Thursday a U.S. helicopter and a small plane crashed, killing eight Americans.

Avoid a Christmas Tragedy, Follow Tips on Tree Safety

By LOIS BLACKBURN

LANSING (UPI) — Christmas tree fires caused by shorted wires, dry trees, unsafe decorations and general human carelessness bring tragedy to a number of communities every year.

This need not occur, according to state fire marshal officers.

Many organizations, businessmen and governmental units provide adequate information to keep Christmas a safe holiday in the home. With this mass of information available it is just up to individuals to apply it to their own case.

Lansing's Fire Department Inspector Phillip Alber, for example, has made available a comprehensive list of do's and don'ts for buying and decorating Christmas trees and houses—from the initial purchase to disposal of the tree and wrappings.

★ ★ ★

Alber also gives pertinent advice on what to do in case a fire should occur despite all precautions.

OUT OF HOUSE

"If a fire does occur, get everyone out of the house, then notify the fire department," he said. "Attempt to extinguish the fire only if you can do it safely, always keeping an exit route open. Never allow the fire to get between you and a means of exit."

Many things are involved in preparing to prevent the tragic developments resulting from a holiday fire, Alber said.

Most people are aware of how to check the flexibility of tree branches to determine the dryness and know that a tree stand should be kept full of water throughout the display use.

Fire-proofing a tree, however, is somewhat tricky, according to Alber.

APPLY TO TREE

"Flame retardent compounds are available," he said. "These materials are applied to the tree either by spraying or dipping operations. All parts of the tree must be coated for these applications to be successful, however.

"Due to the difficulty of application, these treatments are generally not practical and the economic problems involved make such practices prohibitive," the inspector said. "There is no known solution available that will effectively be absorbed by the tree or branches to cause them to be flame-proof."

The common basic tree decorators — flock, angel hair, and spray-on snow — might be confusing to the safety-minded tree decorator. Flock can add to the hazard of the tree, Alber said, because the flock itself may be flame retardant, but putting it on a natural branch will not impart any significant resistance to the tree.

★ ★ ★

Angel hair is non-combustible and snow in spray cans usually is also. When used individually they do not introduce any additional fire hazard to a cut tree, but used together the snow-covered angel hair can burn. Alber said application of the snow first to the branches, and then the angel hair, can slightly lessen the burning possibility.

METAL TREES

Most people are familiar with the fact that metal trees are safe as long as they are not decorated with light strings.

Some of the new plastic trees on the market can be used with lights, Alber said. "Purchasers should require evidence that the tree is 'slow-burning' or 'non-combustible,'" he said.

"Many of these trees are made of materials tested by a reputable laboratory and have attached to them a statement from the lab attesting to the fact that the tree will not burn."

Some miscellaneous words of warning from Alber are:

- Don't use candles on the tree, or where there is any chance of the flame coming in contact with combustibles.
- Use only "Underwriters Laboratory (UL) approved" lighting outfits, and test these before putting them on a tree. Use no fuse over 15 amps on circuits for lighting outfits.
- Do not leave the house or retire while tree and decorative lights are burning.
- Use noncombustible materials or flameproofed materials for decorations.
- Cotton batting, polystyrene foam and paper will ignite easily and burn rapidly. Use other materials for decorations. Never use polystyrene foam near candles.
- Be sure Santa Claus' whiskers are flame-proofed.
- Electrical toys should bear the UL label, which insures prior test for fire and shock hazards. Use these toys only for the purpose for which they were designed.
- Do not allow smoking near the tree or amid decorations or wrappings.
- Don't let package wrappings accumulate; place them in an approved trash burner or incinerator as soon as possible. Do not use fireplace to burn wrappings or decorations. Always use a screen when the fireplace is in operation.

Sinatra Jr. Set to Resume Singing Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra Jr. made plans today to sing again while federal authorities prepared to take three men to court as his alleged kidnapers.

Friends said that young Sinatra was anxious to return to work at Lake Tahoe.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Harrah's Casino, where the 19-year-old entertainer was employed at the time of his abduction Dec. 8, confirmed that a new motel room was being prepared for him.

★ ★ ★

Pat France, vice president of Harrah's, said, however, that Sinatra Jr. definitely wouldn't resume singing before Tuesday night. He is featured with the Tommy Dorsey Band, which takes Monday nights off.

ANOTHER ROOM

Tino Barzie, the youth's manager, told newsmen: "We're moving him to another room in the motel right now. It'll be harder for anybody to get to him in the new room."

The motel is maintained for the use of casino personnel and the club's entertainers. A parking lot separates the motel, in California, from the casino on the Nevada side of the border.

Frank Jr. spent the weekend at his mother's home in Los Angeles.

The FBI, reported further progress in its efforts to account for all of the $240,000 that Sinatra Sr. paid for the release of his son.

With all but about $6,000 of the ransom recovered, a spokesman said: "Additional funds have been located and steps are being taken to place them in federal custody."

TO ASK INDICTMENTS

Later this month a federal grand jury is expected to be asked for indictments against three accused kidnapers — John W. Irwin, 42, a house painter; Joseph C. Amsler, 23, an abalone diver and part-time professional boxer, and Barry W. Keenan, also 23, an unemployed appliance salesman.

Friends of the two younger men expressed shock and surprise at their alleged involvement in the case.

Keenan's father, stockbroker John J. Keenan, described his son as "a fine kid." He recalled that except for one minor brush with the law—the theft of a case of beer in 1959—he never had been in serious trouble.

Amsler's police record was a short one, too. He had three arrests in California, the latest for trespassing and an earlier one for violation of the alcoholic beverage control act.

LONG RECORD

Irwin had a record extending over 16 years, in Maine, Massachusetts, New Jersey and California. The charges included disorderly conduct, assault and battery, desertion, non-support and drunkenness.

★ ★ ★

How did Keenan and Amsler, onetime classmates at University High School in West Los Angeles, become linked with Irwin? The FBI wasn't saying.

★ ★ ★

But Keenan's ex-wife, Donna, 20, who obtained a interlocutory divorce decree Nov. 12, told a reporter: "I think this Irwin is the brains behind the whole thing. He got two boys who were down and out and took advantage of them."

Mrs. Keenan said she hoped to see her former husband "as soon as they'll let me."

'PRAYING FOR YOU'

She wrote him a note, saying: "Barry I'm praying for you. I will see you as soon as possible. As always, Donna."

Her twin sister, Diana Knight of Santa Barbara, Calif., sent an equally friendly note, authorities said.

Another classmate of Keenan and Amsler at University High was Nancy Sinatra, sister of the kidnaped boy.

★ ★ ★

Sinatra Sr. showed up unexpectedly Saturday night in Las Vegas, Nev., on the occasion of the 11th anniversary party of the Sands Hotel.

Joining other entertainers on stage, he made no public mention of the kidnaping and ransom of his son. But later, in the lounge, he had high praise for the FBI.

"I am happy," he said, "that the FBI did such a magnificent job in capturing the three men, because I know it will act as a deterrent to other punks who want to try something like this."

HOUSE GUTTED — Six children died in a fire which swept this house in Portland, Maine, last night. Dead were Heidi, 2, Mary Ann, 4, and Holly, 5, all children of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Harrigan, and three other children who lived with the family. The Harrigans and their four other children escaped.

Blaze Kills 6 Children, Including 3 State Wards

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — Six children, three of them state wards, were killed last night when a space heater erupted in flames which swept a two-family house.

William F. Harrigan, 35, and his wife, Leona, managed to save four of their seven children but were forced back by heat and flames before they could reach the other three and the three wards.

Killed in the three-alarm fire were the three Harrigan children, Heidi, 3, Mary, 4, and Holly, 6, and the wards, Ramona Maley, 7, her brother Tommy, 6, and her sister Tammie, 4.

* * *

Ralph A. Davis, 61, who lived in the other side of the two-story duplex house, was unhurt. Davis' wife was in a hospital when the fire occurred.

TO MEDICAL CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Harrigan were taken to Maine Medical Center along with their surviving children, Beverly, 9, Genevieve, 7, Edward, 3, and 8-month-old John.

The fire broke out shortly after 11:30 p. m. when Harrigan tried to light an oil heater on the first floor.

Some of the fuel spilled onto the floor and ignited. Harrigan tried to smother the flames with a coat, but they spread quickly to the stove's five-gallon oil tank and the stove erupted in flame.

* * *

Harrigan picked up the stove and tried to throw it through a window but the window was too small. He then called to his wife, and the two ran upstairs to save the children.

JUMPED INTO SNOW

Beverly jumped from her bedroom window to a snow-covered embankment alongside the house, and the Harrigans dropped the baby, John, into her arms.

Harrigan then leaped to the ground and caught Edward and Genevieve as Mrs. Harrigan dropped them from the window. The woman could not reach the other children and was forced to jump from the oncoming flames.

Doctors said Mrs. Harrigan and the four children were not injured, but the children were admitted to the hospital because there was no other place for them to spend the night.

Harrigan suffered minor burns on his face and hands, doctors said.

7 Area Drivers Off Highways

Seven area motorists recently had their drivers' licenses suspended or revoked by the Michigan Department of State.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to convictions of drunken driving were:

Releigh C. Shouse, 91 W. Cornell; John B. Crampton, 7729 Lavon, Clarkston; Forest T. McDonald, 36 Schorn, Lake Orion; and Lois J. Stieve, 536 E. Walled Lake, Walled Lake.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to unsatisfied financial judgements against them were:

William K. Denton, 1140 S. Lake Angelus; Roy L. Anderson, 320 Union, Milford; and Richard J. Beasley Jr., 20944 Whitlock, Farmington.

Alliance Aid Has New Chief

Envoy Is Named to Pilot Latin Program

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ambassador Thomas C. Mann is taking over direction of U.S. programs in Latin America with a pledge of "complete support" from President Johnson.

Mann, U.S. envoy to Mexico, was named Saturday as assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs. He was directed by Johnson to coordinate the Alliance for Progress and other U.S. programs in Central and South America.

Johnson, in a letter to Mann yesterday, outlined his administration's aims in the area and emphasized that "no work is more important for our generation of Americans than our work in this hemisphere."

★ ★ ★

"You can count on my intense interest and complete support," the President said.

HARDER WORK

While expressing pride in the alliance, begun by the late President Kennedy two years ago, Johnson called on Mann to work even harder on the program.

"We must find ways to expand education, health and low cost housing facilities; we must find ways to help governments increase revenues by tax reforms and, at the same time, maintain an adequate and sustained rate of economic growth; we must find ways to bring about land reform, and, at the same time, to increase agricultural production.

Mann, a native of Waco, Tex., and a personal friend of Johnson, will succeed Edwin M. Martin. The White House said Martin would be given a major ambassadorial post in Latin America.

NO MENTION

In its announcement, the White House did not mention Theodoro Moscoso, U.S. coordinate of the alliance, or reports that he might be reassigned.

★ ★ ★

Moscoso has been sharply criticized here and in Latin America for his direction of the $10 billion, 10-year program for investment and reform in the hemisphere.

Blast Hits Building at Explosives Firm

KENVIL, N.J. (AP)—An explosion leveled a small curing house at the Hercules Powder Co. plant Sunday night, sending a shudder through homes miles from the scene.

There were no employes in the area of the blast and no injuries were reported.

A plant spokesman said the 25-by 30-foot building was a curing plant for explosive grain, an ingredient used in solid rocket fuel.

Fire Blamed on Heater

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) —The $250,000 fire which destroyed two downtown buildings here last week apparently was caused by a heating and ventilating unit malfunction, Sgt. John Girocco of the state fire marshal's office said Saturday.

New Iron Mine, Plant Provides 214 UP Jobs

NEGAUNEE (AP) — A new open pit iron mine and ore processing plant — providing jobs for 214 persons—has begun operations at nearby Palmer, just south of this Upper Peninsula community.

The big Empire Mine is jointly financed by four companies which plan future expansion. They are Cleveland - Cliffs Iron Ore Co., McLouth Steel Corp., Inland Steel Co., and International Harvester Co.

Cleveland-Cliffs reportedly owns 28 per cent of the operation.

Should Man Stop Progress?

Workers Fear Automation's Threat

(Editor's Note: Reporter Harry Ferguson of United Press International has just completed an investigation of the controversial automation issue. Here is the first of a five-part series on the subject.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON — Poets and playwrights frequently are years ahead of scientists in predicting the shape of things to come.

In 1921 a play by Karel Capek called "R.U.R. — Rossum's Universal Robots" was produced in Prague and unfolded the story of how any army of mehcanical men rebelled and destroyed their creators.

It was not a sensational, hit largely because most people thought the idea of mechanical men was so far-fetched as to be laughable.

★ ★ ★

The robots in the play had human form, intelligence, strength and memory, but were devoid of feeling.

FEW LAUGHS

The idea of machines doing the work of human being hits too close to home for millions of workers.

The word for it is "automation" and it is a fighting word. It spreads fear.

A few years ago workers in several Midwest industrial cities were asked to list the things they feared most.

★ ★ ★

Russia came first and automation second, but it is an even-money bet that if a poll were taken today the order would be reversed.

AN IRRITATION

Those who don't fear automation are irritated by it. The other day Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., delivered a whither-are-we-drifting - view - with - alarm speech.

He said some men in California had invented a machine called electro-com which could dial your telephone number, delievr a sales pitch, say goodby and hang up.

If your line happened to be busy, the machine would wait three minutes and dial again.

★ ★ ★

"Our personal rights would be invaded," Douglas said. "Our personal lives would suffer and many would boycott any product of a manufacturer who applied such obnoxious sales technique in their home."

MORE THAN TALK

Maybe so, but it is going to take more than angry speeches in the United States Senate to halt the march of automation.

The man who argues against automation is, in the final result, arguing against progress.

To stop the development of automation could be disastrous to the United States in the Cold War. Russia established a ministry of automation in 1956.

★ ★ ★

It already has about 20 automated factories and is pushing hard for more. American corporations are selling their computers all over Western Europe.

FREEDOM NEEDED

Progress demands that scientists have complete freedom of action in developing whatever their ingenuity can devise. It is just as illogical to demand a halt to automation as it is to tell medical researchers they must stop their search for a cure for cancer.

Automation was born out of dire danger to the nation. It was developed to speed up the production of airplanes and tanks in World War II.

It played a part in the development of the atomic bomb and it was indispensable in making the giant leap from the atomic to the hydrogen bomb.

★ ★ ★

It released men from factories and sent them to the fighting fronts.

It would be natural to assume that labor unions would be in the forefront of those opposing the development of automation, but such is not the case.

No leader of a big union is on record as fighting automation as such, but all of them are demanding that the nation act now and decisively to prepare for the day when the machines will throw an intolerable number of men out of work.

That is the real drive behind the demand of the unions for a 35-hour work week without reduction in pay.

Any labor leader who insisted that automation be halted immediately would be in instant trouble with his wife who likes her automatic dish washing machine and wants to know what else is new in labor saving devices.

TAKE STEPS

"Though society cannot smash the machines, we must take whatever steps are needed to insure that the machines will not smash society," says A. J. Hayes, head of the Machinist Union, and that neatly sums up the worries of the unions.

But tempers are getting short and the other day George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, complained to his national conveniton that the big corporations were ignoring the consequences of automation:

"Every big corporation in America is in a mad race to produce more and more with less and less labor. Their plans for expansion are staggering.

"Every one of them calls for more and more pushbutton operation with machines to push the buttons. There has got to be a change in thinking.

JOBS CREATED

"Many believe that automation will eventually supply more jobs. I don't know what they have to prove this, but I am quite sure a good many sincerely believe it.

"But what happens until that takes place? Do we get our purchasing power from push buttons?"

The late President Kennedy, projecting requirements for a stable, prosperous economy, said in the near future the nation would have to open up 10,000 jobs a day.

The population explosion and the desire of women to work is expanding the labor force at a tremendous rate.

Last month the rate of unemployment in this country rose to 5.9 per cent, which means 3.9 million persons couldn't find a job.

★ ★ ★

One economist said he occasionally had nightmares, but the scene was always the same:

"I see thousands of persons clamoring at factory gates trying to get in and apply for jobs. But they can't get in because the doors are crowded with people carrying pink discharge slips trying to get out."

Tomorrow: Automation — does it cause serious unemployment?

Navy Builds 'Ear' to Discover Subs

NEW YOR K(AP) — During World War II, Japanese submarines came perilously close to the West Coast. The U.S. Navy now is experimenting with an underwater ear to detect enemy subs long before they come anywhere near an American coastline.

The ear is about five stories high and uses the electrical energy needed by a city of 50,000 persons.

Columbia University on Sunday announced completion of design, development and installation of the equipment for the Office of Naval Research. The device is lowered into the sea through the hull of a converted Navy tanker.

Graceful Jackie Eased White House Transition

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The continuity of our government has never been as dramatically exemplified as in this Cold War transition period from the Kennedy to the Johnson administrations.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Not only was Lyndon B. Johnson better informed on presidential policies than any predecessor thrust suddenly into the awesome role of chief executive, but the shifting of gears on the distaff side of the White House has been equally smooth.

The flawless taste exhibited by Jacqueline Kennedy and Lady Bird Johnson throughout the ordeal of their moving provides a shining example of thoroughbred behavior.

★ ★

Exactly two weeks after an assassin's bullet cruelly ended the life of her brilliant young husband, Mrs. Kennedy slipped quietly out of the historic mansion in which they had shared so many joys and sorrows.

The next day, with just as little fanfare, Mrs. Johnson moved her family in.

The remarkable efficiency with which this heart-tugging transition was accomplished is a monument to modern womanhood.

★ ★ ★

With the same stoical calm that carried her through the travails of the state funeral, Jackie Kennedy settled her fatherless children into a borrowed townhouse not far from their former abode in Georgetown.

MOVING AGAIN

The next day, while little Caroline and John-John strolled to a public park to play on the swings and slides, Lady Bird Johnson dismantled her own home for the twentieth time in 29 years of married life.

The White House is now "home" to a new First Family.

All of our presidents except George Washington have lived there, although some were widowers whose relatives performed the distaff honors.

★ ★ ★

William Henry Harrison's ailing wife had not yet moved to the White House when her husband died of pneumonia a month after inauguration.

LONG DEPARTURE

Of all the difficult transitions forced on First Families by a presidential death in office, none was as prolonged as the departure of Mrs. Abraham Lincoln from the White House.

The poor woman who had so often plagued her husband by her unbalanced tantrums lay grief-stricken in her bedroom.

She did not even come downstairs to attend his state funeral in the East Room, or accompany the fallen leader's body to Springfield, Illinois.

★ ★ ★

While she continued to linger in the family suite, souvenir hunters roamed through the lower floors of the White House, stealing silverware, cutting off pieces of rugs and curtains, and even carrying off heavy articles of furniture.

NATIONAL DISGRACE

It had become a national disgrace by the time Mary Lincoln, after five weeks, finally collected herself and moved to Chicago.

By contrast, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt bore herself with the same commendable composure that Jacqueline Kennedy was to exhibit nearly two decades later.

Unfortunately, however, it was beyond the power of Mrs. Roosevelt to make moving day as easy for Bess Truman as Jackie subsequently did for Lady Bird.

★ ★ ★

As a belt-tightening measure during World War II, President Roosevelt had refused to permit any decorating of the White House, inside or out.

WORK NEEDED

Consequently, although Eleanor Roosevelt removed herself and all the knick-knacks and personal effects of her gregarious family in one week, the mansion needed monumental redecoration.

The only clean spots on its upstairs walls were rectangles where hundreds of family pictures had been removed. Nail holes were everywhere, and the upholstery and draperies were in a sad state of disrepair.

The Trumans therefore moved twice; first to Blair House across the street from the White House, where the secret service could guard them more easily than at their small rented apartment, and again a month later to the redecorated executive mansion.

★ ★ ★

No First Lady ever left that historic abode in such elegant condition as has Jacqueline Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Lady Bird Johnson likes it just as it is, and except for a few probable color changes in the family bedrooms, it will remain a monument of Jackie's artistry.

Birchers Pin JFK's Death on Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — The John Birch Society says President Kennedy's assassination proves the society was right in its five-year campaign against the "internal menace" of communism.

Kennedy, the right-wing society says, was killed by a Communist.

The John Birchers took full-page advertisements in several leading newspapers over the weekend to express that view.

★ ★ ★

They called for donations from "every red-blooded American" to extend the advertising campaign.

OSWALD LABELED

The ad attributed to former Rep. Martin Dies, D-Tex., first chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, was a statement that the late Lee H. Oswald, the accused assassin, was a Communist.

Oswald had described himself as a Marxist. The Communists have disowned him.

The ad said the Communists can be expected "to use the shock, grief and confusion of the American people, resulting from the assassination of our president, as an opportunity for pushing their own plans faster."

700 Mourn Passing of Singer, 37

DETROIT (AP) — More than 700 mourners stood shivering outside a funeral home Sunday, waiting to pay their respects to blues singer Dinah Washington.

The 37-year-old Negro singing star, whose career took her from a small Chicago church choir to the glittering night clubs of Las Vegas, died early Saturday at her home here.

★ ★ ★

Friends believed she accidentally took an overdose of pills which had been prescribed for a nervous condition. A box of pills was found on a table in the bedroom she shared with her husband, Detroit Lions defensive star Dick (Night Train) Lane.

An autopsy was performed Saturday at the Wayne (Detroit) County Morgue, but the cause of death will not be known until a microscopic analysis is completed, police said.

TWO SUITCASES

In the bedroom where she died were two packed suitcases. Lane had been scheduled to play in the Detroit Lions National Football League game at Chicago Sunday, and she was to have accompanied him on the trip. Lane did not play in the game, won by Chicago 24-14.

Lane, 37, and Miss Washington were married last July. Police said the strapping Negro athlete appeared "shaken but composed" as he went about making funeral arrangements.

★ ★ ★

Miss Washington will be buried in Chicago Wednesday. Funeral services will be held there at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The body will be flown to Chicago today following an 11 a.m. service here at the New Bethel Baptist Church. The Rev. C.L. Franklin, pastor, will preside.

It'll Make Them Think; Question Is: of What?

PORTSMOUTH, England (UPI)—The Very Rev. E. N. Porter Goff, provost of Portsmouth Anglican Cathedral, said today he was very proud of his church's Christmas mural — which features human embryos, half-naked girls and wrestling posters.

"It is meant to make people think," he said.

More than a million copies of The Old Farmer's Almanac are sold annually. This year's edition is the 172nd.

Design a Santa

Even a Few Flowers Brighten Holiday

This adorable Santa of chrysanthemums and construction paper is just one of many floral ideas for the holiday season. Christmas flowers can be flippant, like this little fellow, or reverent, plain or fancy.

Make a flowering Santa to greet family and guests and see what fun he will add to your holiday season.

Place water - soaked porous material into a container designed especially to hold the floral foam cylinder and water. Arrange branches of evergreens at the base by inserting stems into the sides of the floral foam.

Add small mums in the top and sides. Place a dowel stick into the top of the foam to use as a prop for Santa.

PAPER SANTA

To make Santa cut circles of red construction paper for the legs, coat, arms and hat. Make a cut into the center of the circles — then form each into a cone shape fastening with staples, tape or pins. Fasten the legs together at top and slip one of the trouser legs over the dowel stick. Fit the coat over the dowel and fasten with tape.

Then insert a long-stemmed chrysanthemum for the head, making sure that the stem is placed well into the Oasis at the base.

Fasten the two arms to the coat and dowel with tape.

Use stemmed ornaments for the eyes and nose — a pipe cleaner for the mouth — and black circles of construction paper for the buttons on Santa's coat. Prop the cone hat in the blossom — and for a final touch place a small mum in the tip.

Water can be added when finished — and daily — by removing one of the blossoms at the base. This makes a thoughtful gift for a friend, too . . . and it will mean more because you made it yourself.

OTHER IDEAS

Other ideas for holiday greens and flowers include:

A tightly furled nosegay of roses, edged 'round with a lacy border of fir, is a charming adornment for a coffee table. Gladioli, stripped from their stalks and floated in a low silver bowl with sprigs of holly, is a lovely centerpiece for a festive table.

An extremely attractive arrangement for the table in an entrance hall is made with speckled red and white carnations, variagated holly — its prickly leaves are sharply outlined in white — and clusters of bright crimson Christmas tree balls.

Arranged in a high vase the carnations, with their slender stems, blend attractively with the holly leaves. The fact that the leaves of carnations are so inconspicuous is an added charm as they cause no confusion in line or design with the holly.

VERSATILE WREATHS

Della Robbia type of wreaths make wonderful focal points for a dining table. They are decorative. They are a bountiful combination of the fruits and fresh flowers. They lie flat on a table, thereby not obstructing any lines of vision.

Your neighborhood florist can make one of these wreaths for you easily. The traditional wreath base — made of fir or holly or box or lemon leaves — is decorated with fruits and nuts wired in place.

The fresh flowers, each one with its stem resting in a vial of cool, clear water, are inserted at intervals — and the water will keep them fresh several days.

The selection of flowers and fruits is a wide one. A favorite wreath is made of a combination of box and lemon leaves. Bunches of pale green grapes and walnuts, varnished for added sheen, are interspersed with soft yellow roses and shiny red apples and golden yellow lemons.

Girl Unfair to Accept 2nd Date

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Last week I asked a friend if she would like to see a certain movie. She said she couldn't go that week but she would love to go any night the following week.

I said I would call her the beginning of the week to find out what night she wanted to go. When I did so, she told me that she had an unexpected date over the weekend and saw it with a boy friend.

I was very much annoyed and I'm afraid I didn't conceal it very well and we had words.

She sees nothing wrong in what she did and thinks I am taking an unreasonable attitude. What is your opinion?

★ ★ ★

A: Having promised to go with you, it was very unfair of her to go with someone else. She should have gone to see some other movie with her boy friend.

Q: When one receives an invitation to a wedding reception and is unable to accept, is he (or she) still obliged to send a wedding present?

★ ★ ★

A: The invitation of itself carries no obligation to send a present. If the bride or groom is a close relative or dear friend one would naturally want to send a wedding present whether going to the wedding or not.

Q: The father of a friend died. This friend is married and has her own house. Her mother is still living. I do know the mother but not too well. To whom should I write a note of sympathy — my friend or her mother?

★ ★ ★

A: Write to your friend and in the note ask her to extend your sympathy to her mother.

★ ★ ★

PTA Has Pageant

A Kindergarten production will start the afternoon for the Thomas M. Cooley School PTA tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. A business meeting will follow at 2 p.m. A Christmas pageant and refreshments will complete the program.

She's Away at the Club

Husband Misses His Mrs.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I married a woman who is "club happy."

She joins everything she can get into — accepts offices, volunteers for committees and goes like a house afire six days a week.

ABBY

She keeps a date book in her purse and schedules herself for every hour. We have very little home life because she never has time to cook a meal or to spend an evening at home.

Our phone rings constantly with her club business and she thinks this is popularity. When night comes she is so keyed up she has to take pills to sleep. Any suggestions?

HER HUSBAND

★ ★ ★

DEAR HUSBAND: Make an appointment with her for an emergency "State-Of-The-Family" meeting.

Let the first order of business be your list of complaints with regard to her clubbing your marriage to a pulp.

Only when she realizes that you won't stand for it will she ease off.

Otherwise, YOU had better resign yourself to being last on her agenda forever.

DEAR ABBY: How about this? My brother's wife phoned me and said, "We have some Christmas gifts for you and your family. Come and get them."

They have a car, too, and they live less than ten minutes from us. I didn't want any bad feelings, so I didn't tell her off, I just said, "Thank you," and never picked them up. Now she is mad anyway. What would you have done?

STUBBORN

★ ★ ★

DEAR STUBBORN: If you had been sincere in not wanting "bad feelings," you should have picked up the gifts and kept quiet.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, who is 14, was invited to a slumber party at a girl friend's house. There were 12 girls in all.

Some boys crashed the party. As we understand it, the girls let them in and seemed to enjoy their company, but later on they got rowdy and more boys came, and the police had to be called.

We later learned that the parents of the girl who gave the party did not sleep at home. They slept at some friend's home so the girls could have an extra bedroom.

Our daughter is invited to another slumber party. Her father says she can't go. I say, if we call the mother of the girl who's giving it and she says they will be home, it's all right.

Our daughter says if we call the mother it will be like saying we don't trust her. What do you say?

CONCERNED

★ ★ ★

DEAR CONCERNED: I say your daughter is lucky she didn't get a flat NO from both you and her Dad.

I would not permit her to go unless I had the assurance of the mother that the parents would be at home. And even then, I'd think twice.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Unit Enjoys Holiday Fun

Mrs. Earl Kaul of North Opdyke Road opened her home to the Galloway Lake MOMS of America for the recent Christmas dinner meeting.

★ ★ ★

The unit has contributed to the patients at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital at Iron Mountain and has sent gifts of money to overseas servicemen.

Five handwritten copies of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, two drafts, and three written upon request, have been preserved.

Your Resentment Must Find Some Outlet

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: As I work as a restaurant cashier all day, five days a week, I expect my 15-year-old girl to pitch in on the housework on Saturdays.

But instead of backing me up on this, my husband backs up her laziness. She knows she is not supposed to go out until she has done the marketing but last Saturday my husband told her to forget it.

He told her to run along with her girl friend because she will only be young once. This isn't the first time that he . . .

ANSWER: Do you enjoy helping your husband to earn the family income? I don't think you do. Could I be right?

If so, let's admit it. Because it is this resentment which may be insisting that your husband owes you unswerving support in your arguments with your daughter as a kind of compensation for the sacrifice you make by leaving your home every day to work.

Her "laziness" may not be the problem at all.

If we secretly resent a husband's failure to provide us with an adequate income, we may also feel that he has not earned the right to question our discipline of children.

As we have to help him earn the family income, we may have struck an unconscious bargain with him in our minds: "O. K. If I have to help you support our home and kids, in return you must support the way I manage them."

With our unknown resentment at work inside us, any refusal of agreement with us makes us feel intolerably abused and betrayed.

If we can become aware of what we're really angry about, we can stop what psychologists call "displacing" our anger.

* * *

We can see that what we are furious at is not his support of our child's wish to go out with a girl friend but his failure to appreciate the size of the double job we are trying to do, his refusal to recognize us as someone in need of relaxation and occasional fun, too.

We realize that our secret resentment owes all its violence to our hurt, to our unfed hunger for his appreciation. And so we confess our need for the appreciation.

This is difficult for some of us to do.

If we have survived hurts by withdrawing our hopes of other people's understanding, we will scorn the idea that we need our husband's.

* * *

Believing ourselves to be a very strong and self-sufficient woman, we may prefer to go on imagining that all we want from our husband is his non-interference in the way we run our home and children. In which case there is nothing more for me to say.

Groom Greens for Gay Days

Groom your green plants for the holidays. Here are some tips:

Wipe dust gently from the leaves with a damp cloth. Snip off any yellowing or drying leaves. If philodendron cordatum vines are too spindly, pinch off the ends of the vines.

New Residents Like Pontiac

By JANET ODELL

You could tell by the way all three children sat that they had been told to be good until the newspaper man came to take their picture.

But Frankie Barnes, a tall, wiry six-year-old, can't stay still a minute. He has an infectious grin and is as friendly as a politician.

Bernard is the quiet four-year-old. He barely spoke all the time we were with him. He's more stockily built, more like his dad.

Dad Clarence Barnes, the new director of Pontiac Urban League. His family came to the city only a few weeks ago.

The baby, Denise, is an adorable toddler. She was dressed in pink.

* * *

Mrs. Barnes (Ernestine) thinks she is going to like living in Pontiac. Married 10 years to a dynamic man who is dedicated to his job, she loves being a homemaker.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Barnes are natives of Morgantown, W. Va. They live at 98 Center Street in Pontiac.

Cope Quickly With Flare-Ups in Your Kitchen

Be prepared to cope quickly and effectively with fat flare-ups in the kitchen.

Keep a canister or an old oatmeal or salt box labeled "fire" filled with baking soda within easy reach of the range.

At the first sign of a flare-up dump soda right on the base of the flames. The soda produces carbon dioxide gas which promptly smothers the fire.

Since baking soda is a pure food product, you can simply rinse off whatever was in the pan or broiler, heat it and serve.

Breakup Forces Long-Range Budget Plan

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

I find I will very soon be on my own with two teen-agers left to my responsibility. I want to do the best for them and would appreciate so very much your giving me some type of a budget to go by.

MARY FEELEY

This will be a separation of marriage and I shall possibly receive some sort of child support. However, not knowing if the children's father will meet that responsibility, I am not counting on it. I work and my take-home pay amounts to $130 every two weeks.

In looking at places to live, I find I can get a place for $85 a month, plus electricity and oil heat. Food, of course, is a concern. However, my two children and I have stayed within a $15 a week limit before and we can do it again.

My children both work at part-time jobs after school which helps toward their clothing expenses. However, there are always extras such as life insurance, cleaning, etc. I feel any medical or dental expenses will have to be met by their father until he is no longer required to pay toward their support.

Am I paying too much rent if I pay $85 a month? I have given consideration to the location as near the school and shopping center. I want to do what's best budgetwise for the sake of the children.

R.M., Portland, Ore.

Dear Mrs. M.:

I'm afraid that $85 rental is a risk. I appreciate the advantages of location—near school and shopping center, to save transportation expenses. However, when you add your household operating costs to the rent, housing alone will run about $120. Which means your basic living expenses—food, clothing, and shelter—would total approximately $215 a month. Ideally, they should be nearer $155 or $160.

If you base your budget on an $85 rental, you'll be up against this kind of rigid schedule:

Rent, $85; household operating, $35; food at home, $65; clothing plus upkeep, $30; savings, $10; personal allowances for lunches, carfare, personal upkeep, $40; gifts, contributions, $7. Total, $272.

No funds for recreation, vacation, emergency illness, except the small savings allotment. I'm aware that finding a suitable home for the three of you for less money is a stiff challenge.

But if you can manage to find one, even if you have to lower your standards for the time being, you'd find it wiser over the long haul. Actually, there aren't many other areas in your budget that you can pare down!

Dear Miss Feeley:

I enjoyed so much the letter you ran recently about gifts to relatives. We have only one grandchild to date, with another one due the last of November. But giving gifts to relatives and friends in this day of high prices can be costly. However, here is my money-saving way of doing it.

I'm a great label, box-top and coupon saver! All year round, I watch the different articles companies offer for box-tops and labels. Here is a partial list of merchandise you can receive with "no money": necklaces, talcum powder, stockings, trays, dishes of all sorts, bracelets, children's small toys, baby clothes, lipsticks, dish towels, silverware, items for the house.

Last year I kept a list of articles that could be used as Christmas gifts, birthday gifts, special occasion gifts. Also, after Christmas the stores reduce their merchandise with great savings for the thrifty buyer.

We have two children, one son married and a daughter we are putting through college. So I count my pennies and nickels very close and make every cent count. It's a great challenge but I like it very much.

Mrs. R.M.R., Albany, Ill.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. R.:

You're an inspiration to us all. I, for one, will never toss out a paper bag without inspecting it carefully for those magic words "special offer"!

Voices Herald Holiday

By ERIC W. ALLEN

Pontiac high school students joined adult musical members of the community in song yesterday afternoon to praise the holiday season.

The annual community Christmas concert was staged in boy's gymnasium of Central High School. Choral groups of both city schools, All-City Senior High School Orchestra, Pontiac Women's Chorus, MacDowell Male Chorus and even the audience performed in musical tribute.

* * *

The hour-long concert was climaxed with the Hallelujah chorus from Handel's "Messiah." All choral groups, accompanied by the orchestra and an organ, joined for the selection.

ALUMNI SANG

Even alumni of the school music departments walked to the forward half of the gymnasium floor filled with performers and joined in the final "Hallelujah."

* * *

The six piece Central brass ensemble, playing from a balcony overlooking the performers, opened the concert with two traditional carols, "Joy to the World" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The all-city orchestra gave a fine reading to Correlli's Concerto Grosso No. 8, seasonally titled the "Christmas Concerto."

Excerpts from Ringwald's "Christmas Festival," a medley of traditional carols, were also performed by the orchestra.

* * *

"Little Lamb," musical version of a poem by 19th Century English poet William Blake, emphasized the religious spirit of the program.

From "Little Lamb's" opening, "Doest thou know who made thee . . .," Pontiac Women's Chorus sang with tenderness that carried into their second number of the afternoon, the tinkling waltz-carol, "Song of the Angels."

MALE VOICES

Dramatic contrast was provided by the MacDowell Male Chorus presentation of "The Creation," Richert's musical paraphrase of the Biblical account of creation of the world as told in Genesis.

* * *

An aria from the "Messiah," arranged for female voices, and titled "He Shall Lead His Flock," was sung by Central's Junior Girl's Ensemble. Their second number was "I Wonder As I Wander."

Though the turnout was disappointingly small, those who attended the annual Christmas concert had opportunity to hear favorite seasonal numbers that were well prepared by the participating groups.

NEXT SUNDAY

Musical fare this week includes a joint Pontiac Symphony Orchestra-Oakland University Chorus production of the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah." It will be presented Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the Intramural building, Oakland University.

Sweet Treatment for Evergreens

Treat your Christmas evergreens — especially holly — so they will last longer.

How Town Earned New $50-Million Chrysler Plant

(Editor's Note: In South Bend, Ind., the Studebaker Corp. has decided to close its automobile plant. The following is a report from Belvidere, Ill., far smaller than South Bend, on the economic lift it got when the Chrysler Corp. decided to build a new plant.)

By EDMUND R. D'MOCH

BELVIDERE, Ill. (AP)—The red headline of the Belvidere Daily Republican proclaimed: Chrysler chooses Belvidere.

And indeed it had, for a $50-million assembly plant that will provide about 5,000 new jobs.

Citizens in this farm community 80 miles northwest of Chicago learned that the plant's annual payroll will be about $42 million, that about 750 automobiles per day will run off assembly lines, starting in about 18 months, and that the city's population of 12,000 may double in three to five years.

★ ★ ★

What did Belvidere have to offer that was more enticing than the lure of Rockford, a city of 140,000 less than 15 miles away which also had been considered? What about other cities that bid for the plant? What more could Belvidere offer than Chicago?

Many citizens will tell you, "Fred did it."

TEAM JOB

But Fred W. Shappert says, "This was a team job.

"The credit goes to everybody in Belvidere. Chrysler liked the people, the wholesomeness of the community and its government. The proximity of the Northwest Tollway and other fine roads. The availability of a work force and suppliers to the automotive industry. An equitable tax situation. And a geological condition that ideally meets its needs."

★ ★ ★

Shappert, an engineer in his 60s who also publishes the Daily Republican, said the story began early in October.

The Chicago and North Western Railway, whose Galena division splits Belvidere in two, contacted him for advice on availability of farm land around Belvidere for an industrial complex it had on the planning boards.

HOLDS OPTIONS

Within a few days, the railroad had options on 1,300 acres south of the city, paralleling the toll road.

★ ★ ★

Shortly afterward, Shappert said, three men who gave their names but not their businesses visited him. They also wanted to know about land for a possible factory site. They asked if the land Shappert had shown them could hold heavy machinery without the need of expensive concrete piers far down into the ground.

★ ★ ★

Shappert and his engineering firm have been building bridges and industrial plants.

He outlined to the men the area's advantages "just as I'm telling you right now," Shappert said. There was "no hard sell, no promises, no Madison Avenue prospectus and no wining and dining."

ANONYMOUS

The men wanted anonymity and no publicity and they got it, Shappert said. He didn't even tell anyone on the Daily Republican.

The men returned a few days later for another look. Shappert said he then decided to take Mayor Lester Cunningham, 49, into his confidence.

★ ★ ★

Early in November, rumors reached Belvidere that Chrysler would locate its new plant in Rockford. Some citizens asked why Belvidere had not bid for the Chrysler plant.

The three men returned once more, this time to tell Shappert that Chrysler had chosen Belvidere. It was agreed that Shappert would say nothing until the company made a formal announcement.

On Nov. 26 Chrysler announced its selection.

Within a week, railroad surveyors were on the site, plotting the route for a siding and new trackage. This week, some of the 17 farmers who sold their land to the railroad began moving.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler will occupy about 300 acres. Its plant will cover an area 450 feet by 2,000 feet. Most of it will be one-story, except for a section where painting of new cars will be done that will be two stories high.

How will the community react to the changes expected in two to three years, Shappert was asked.

"This is a community of sensible, God-loving, hard-working Americans. We have some industries here and have made some industrial progress in recent years. I'm sure we'll take this in stride."

AMC Chief Sees Banner Car Sale Year

DETROIT (AP)—Car sales in 1964 will equal or excel the anticipated 7.5 million sales for this year, President Roy Abernethy of American Motors Corp. predicted Saturday in a year-end statement.

★ ★ ★

Abernethy also said sales of major household appliances would exceed what he called an estimated record total of 17.6 million units for 1963. American Motors is an appliance manufacturer as well as a car maker.

BASED ON INCOME

Abernethy said he based his predictions on the amount of disposable personal income in the United States, anticipated capital investment in 1964, and anticipated federal and state spending in the New Year. He also said business inventories are at a conservative level this year. He said inventories increased by about $4 billion this year as compared to $6 billion last year.

Better Soldier if He Drank

LONDON (UPI) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, a dedicated nondrinker, has been taking his lumps again from Sir Winston Churchill, a dedicated drinker.

The Daily Mirror quoted Montgomery today as saying of Churchill: "He told me I would be a much better soldier if I drank brandy."

The story recalled their first meeting, during World War II, when Montgomery told the then prime minister, "I don't use either alcohol or tobacco, and I'm 100 per cent efficient."

★ ★ ★

"I use both," grinned Churchill, "and my efficiency is 200 per cent."

Fire Destroys Oxford Home

AREA NEWS

OXFORD — The home of a prominent Oxford osteopath was destroyed by a $20,000 fire Saturday leaving the family, including 10 children, homeless just before Christmas.

Dr. Charles H. Williams was away from his house at 97 S. Washington when the fire broke out about 3 p.m. Mrs. Williams and the children were inside.

The flames started from smoldering ashes brushed out of the fireplace and into the clean-out shute two days earlier. In the basement, where the ashes were caught, the embers spread to a woodpile and then turned into flames.

* * *

Climbing to the floor of the kitchen, the flames then crept into the wall partitions and eventually gutted the house.

BURNED STOCKING

When firemen finally turned off the hoses, seven hours after they got the call, nine Christmas stockings hung from the fireplace. One had fallen and burned.

Firemen from the Lake Orion and Oxford departments battled in vain to save the house. They were assisted by a score of volunteers, friends and neighbors, who helped carry out furniture before the smoke and flames forced them out of the house.

The 10 children were hustled into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Miller, next to the Williams house. There they waited in what turned out to be the only clothing they would have.

Smoke was first noticed by Mrs. Williams, in the kitchen. After ordering the children to leave, she attempted to call the fire department, but found the phone was out of order.

SPREAD TO ATTIC

By the time firemen arrived, the flames had mushroomed into the attic.

"We had no trouble extinguishing the fire in the basement, but couldn't get at the inside of the walls," Oxford Fire Chief Ellsworth Sage said.

Sage directed the volunteer firemen who fought the blaze in below-freezing weather, wearing ice-coated helmets. One volunteer had to have help removing his gloves. His hands were bleeding.

* * *

While the two departments battled the blaze, traffic on Washington (M24), was rerouted for almost eight hours. Smoke billowing out of the house necessitated the detour.

PILES OF DEBRIS

Today there are piles of charred household appliances and furniture around what used to be the Williams home.

The children are staying with friends, and the Williams are staying with their neighbors.

The Oxford Police department has been deluged with calls offering help to the family.

* * *

"There were quite a few things gotten out, but most are badly damaged," Mrs. Williams said today.

Even though the house and most of its contents were lost, the most important things were saved. All 10 of them.

* * *

They are Mary, 10; 9-year-old twins Charles and Susan; Eddie, 8; Patricia, 7; Joseph, 6; Cecilia, 5, Stephen, 4; Bruce, 3; and 5-month-old Laura.

Senior Is Clarkston Junior Miss

CLARKSTON — Nancy Stanquits, a senior at Clarkston High School, Saturday night was selected as Clarkston's Junior Miss from a field of six contestants.

The 17-year-old burnet will represent Clarkston in the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 24-25 at Pontiac Northern High School.

Contestants were judged on the basis of mental alertness, scholastic achievement, poise, appearance and talent.

* * *

Nancy's talent act, performed during the program at Clarkston High School's little theater, consisted of a display of fashions she made for a dream trip to Europe. She designed and made the evening gown she wore for the competition.

THE RUNNER-UP

Runner-up in the program sponsored by the Clarkston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce was Beverly Galligan, 17, of 6594 Cherrylawn.

Beverly's parents are the Roger Galligans and Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stanquits, 30 Holcomb.

Other contestants were Carolyn Masters, Bonnie Black, Carole Hunt and Teresa Coleman. All are CHA seniors.

* * *

The contest was judged by Mrs. Virginia Loveland, secretary of the Women's Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund; Jerome K. Barry Jr., a senior assistant county prosecutor; and Mrs. Gerald Wallace, girls' counselor at Pierce Junior High School, Waterford Township.

JAYCEES' GUESTS

Judges interviewed each of the contestants Saturday morning. Then the girls and the judges were guests of the Jaycees at a noon luncheon at the high school.

Last year's Clarkston Junior Miss, Janet Tisch, crowned her successor at the conclusion of the evening program.

Entertainment at the Clarkston pageant was provided by the Wonderlads, a barber shop quartet. Ted Jackson, of the Jaycees was program chairman.

* * *

The girl selected Michigan Junior Miss next month will travel to Mobile, Ala., in the spring to compete for the national honor.

Zoners Out, Planners In Authority Change Set in Independence Twp.

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The existing four-member zoning board will be abolished Jan. 1 in favor of a planning commission with a broadened scope of activity and up to nine members.

Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall already has named five commission members, and from one to four more appointments may be made by the end of the year. The limit is nine members.

Appointed by Hursfall to form the nucleus of the planning commission are Township Board Trustee Harold Bauer and the present four zoning board members: Frank Reynolds, Joseph Rhoades, Kenneth Thayer and Fred Turek.

* * *

The Township Board at its meeting tomorrow night will act on a resolution to abolish the zoning board and transfer its authority to the planning commission.

MERE FORMALITY

Since the board has already expressed its desire to establish a planning commission, the resolution will be a mere formality, according to Township Clerk Howard Altman.

Essentially the planning commission will be restricted temporarily since no provision for its operation is included in the current budget.

The new budget will be presented for approval at the township's annual meeting in April.

* * *

Essentially, the planning commission will have the responsibility of preparing a master plan for township development in addition to duties previously performed by the zoning board.

* * *

The Township Board to date has not considered hiring a planning director or planning consulting firm to work with the commission, Altman said.

A 5-foot-4 brunette, Lynne will represent the Orion area in the statewide pageant in Pontiac next month.

Should she win the state title, Lynne will be Michigan's delegate to the national contest this spring in Mobile, Ala.

HONOR STUDENT

Lynne is an honor student at Lake Orion High School, and was recently voted senior girls' representative for the Daughters of the American Revolution annual good citizenship award.

She is treasurer of both the school's honor society and the Lake Orion Youth Center Board, as well as vice president of the Girls' Athletic Association and secretary of the Student Council.

Following her graduation in June, Lynne plans to attend Michigan State University. Her hobbies are skiing, horseback riding and swimming.

Story of Christmas Composed From Different Views

(Editor's Note: Each of the four apostles who wrote of the life of Jesus in the New Testament drew upon a different primary source for his information. Here, in the first of five special articles, is the story of how the original Christmas stories were composed.)

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

On each man, according to his place, light falls at a particular angle. To each, the view is different. Yet it is the same light.

Out of this interplay of sight and light, of subject and object, comes the iridescence of Christmas.

* * *

In its original telling, as handed down to the modern world, it is four stories. None is alike. Yet it is a single story. It is the same substance, clothed in sundry array; the same vision, from varied perspectives.

That is the way truth comes to man.

OLDEST RECORD

And that is the way it is told in the books of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, the oldest records of the day of the Lord.

Each of the narrators sees separate facts, yet one event. Each sees a special set of scenes, actions and circumstances, yet one meaning. Each sees parts of one whole; distinctive portraits, yet one person—Jesus the Christ.

* * *

The stories are called the Gospels, but this plural designation is an anachronism. There is only one "gospel," which means the "good news" from God.

It came suddenly, but was understood slowly.

That is characteristic of news, and of mankind's assimilation of its significance. That is the manner in which the first chronicles of Christmas were put on paper.

TOOK FORM GRADUALLY

They took form gradually, under the reverberating impact of the occasion, as minds and hearts absorbed it, experienced it, and increasingly grasped its implications.

In this way does history sharpen its gaze. Time is required to bring the burst of fact into focus.

* * *

Yet the primitive accounts of the coming of Christ were largely compiled in its immediate aftermath. Thus each sees only parts of the totality.

The material was assembled as collections of contemporary reports and observations for a contemporary audience.

They were the documentation of an affair that had staggered men's logic and thrilled their souls.

WRITING LABORIOUS

Writing was limited and laborious in those days. Most information and learning was passed on by word of mouth, from generation to generation and from community to community.

AP Photofax

WRITERS OF THE WORD — This is how AP staff artist Dick Hodgins visualizes the four writers of the Gospel. From left: Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. The four men, and the words they wrote, are the subject of a special series of stories by AP religion writer George Cornell.

At first, the advent of Jesus and his message were circulated in that fashion.

* * *

In homes and synagogues, in market places and tents of travelers, little groups met to recall incidents and share memories. "Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he spake, saying. . . ." they would relate.

He was then expected to return soon, and no pressing need was seen initially for committing the details to writing. The expectancy rang in their words, "Maranatha — our Lord come!"

Yet he had said, "It is not for you to know the times or the seasons."

SHOULD BE RECORDED

As time went by, and roving evangelists spread the news of his sojourn on earth from country to country, it became apparent that the unwritten testimony should be recorded, lest it be forgotten or mistold.

Fanciful tales and exaggerations had arisen, mingling with the authentic story. To guard against them and to assure a reliable account of what happened, the men who knew set about drawing up their summaries.

* * *

Presumably, in some cases, they wrote by hand, speaking their words aloud to themselves as they shaped the letters, since communication then was more by ear than by eye.

As an alternative, they may have dictated to an amanuensis, or professional scrivener.

DUPLICATE COPIES

In either case, in order to multiply and disseminate the accounts, it was up to others to make handwritten duplicate copies, since there were then no mechanical means for doing it.

None of the existing manuscripts bears a date, and the precise time and place of composition cannot be definitely established. However, early tradition provides many pointers.

* * *

Journals of various church fathers of the first 150 years after Christ, quoted by the ecclesiastical historian of the 3rd Century, Eusebius, offer many details.

Modern scholarship also has shed further light on the circumstances, by analyzing the language, the usages, the indications of instances of borrowing material from one another, and by comparing contents to external events.

ADDITIONS, REVISIONS

The clues suggest that additions and revisions occurred, in some cases, before all the books reached their present finished form.

The process may not have been completed until around the end of the first century. But the original documents, on which the final versions are based, clearly came much earlier, while Christ's apostles still lived.

* * *

Mark's account generally is considered the oldest in its present form, and apparently underwent little editing after it first was composed in apostolic times. However, the ancient journals say Matthew wrote first.

Assuming this is so, scholarly studies indicate that later renditions of his book, as it now stands, also incorporated material from Mark, while retaining distinctive qualities of its own. Luke also may have drawn from Mark.

ATTRIBUTED IN RECORDS

Nevertheless, the initial versions of the books, aside from any later reorganizations or combinations, are attributed in the earliest church records to the authors whose names they bear.

Matthew and John were among the 12 apostles, with firsthand information.

Luke, a gentile physician drawn into the movement by the great missionary Paul, did widescale research and interviews to gather his report.

* * *

Mark, a rich young scion of Jerusalem, was a young lad in Jesus' time, but got his material from the Apostle Peter.

Their accounts differ in content and tenor. John's terse, weighty sentences and short sentences explore the mystery and grandeur of the event. He is more concerned with meaning than incident.

* * *

Matthew, in orderly, methodical style, concentrates on ethical implications, recounting 21 parables and the eloquent Sermon on the Mount. Mark is a book of crisp, fast-moving action. He pauses only for four parables, in the hurtling tempo of deeds.

NEITHER REFERS TO BIRTH

Neither he nor John refers to the genealogy or birth of Jesus, nor to the visiting wise men, the star, the manger, or the shepherds, but plunge immediately into the consequences. It is Luke who uncovers the most graphic scene of the nativity.

* * *

The writers worked in a time of turmoil. Israel smouldered with fires of revolution. Preaching about Christ was alternately outlawed or suspected as sedition. Fear of reprisal had silenced many.

The land seethed with clandestine societies, some of them fanatically violent, and the Roman militia tromped the countryside to hunt out and crush the dissident. Forbidden manifestos circulated from hand to hand. Posters offered rewards for conspirators.

The way of Christ had become a dire offense. Men trod it at their peril.

In this atmosphere, those who were among the first to know the gift of Christmas set about putting it into a form that could be handed on to the generations up to now, and yet to come.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special) —A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma — the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in tiny tablets called BRONITIN®.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages bronchi blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is free breathing is restored, tension eased and as fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep.

Get BRONITIN — available at all drug stores without prescription.

Dyna-Soar Project Was 'Scrubbed' for Lack of Goal

By ALVIN B. WEBB, JR.

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — America's Dyna - Soar space project lived a curious life and died a curious death.

Dyna - Soar was to be the world's first space glider — a winged ship that astronauts could truly pilot, as opposed to the current breed of capsules that have the flying characteristics of a rock.

Except for mock - ups and rough models, Dyna-Soar never became more than a "paper project" in its seven-year life despite the $400 million the Air Force pumped — sometimes leisurely, sometimes frantically, never predictably — into its blueprint blood.

★ ★ ★

Dyna - Soar's failing was the lack of a goal, a specific mission that would give it a reason for just being. It was handicapped under the tag of a military vehicle, because the United States steadfastly refused to establish a military role for manned spaceflight.

REPORTS RAMPANT

Rumors that Dyna - Soar would be "scrubbed," as space linguists would say, have been rampant for years. Experts, particularly those on the "pro" side felt that one of two events could save it from extinction.

● Creation of a military mission from man in space. Dyna-Soar, as the first in line, would have had a running start.

● Creation of a U.S. project to build a laboratory - type manned platform in orbit around the earth. Such a program, it was felt, would automatically fall heir to Dyna-Soar, or an approximation, for use as a maneuverable shuttle bus to and from the orbiting platform.

IN SAME BREATH

Thus, it was ironic that, when U.S. military leaders announced last week they would finally set out along both these lines, they axed Dyna-Soar in virtually the same breath.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara outlined plans for a house trailer - sized space lab the Air Force hopes to put in orbit by 1968, and said flatly it would be used "to determine the military usefulness of man in space."

Under the existing philosophy of austerity in defense operations, money for the new project had to come, at least in part, from older programs. The "old" Dyna-Soar fell victim.

★ ★ ★

McNamara argued that the potential for a ferrying service did not exist with the Dyna-Soar glider. There are numerous technical and engineering experts that think differently —the very opposite in fact.

PRECISE GUIDANCE

The Air Force space station will start out with a modified Gemini capsule to return astronauts to earth. Capsules require precise guidance, a complicated system of parachutes and a widespread recovery force to insure the safe return of the spacemen.

Unless the United States is willing to commit itself to spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to spread a recovery fleet over half the surface of the globe every time, the capsule technique of orbit - to - earth transportation faces a foreseeable dead end.

Dyna - Soar's trump suit was its theoretical maneuverability that would have permitted a returning astronaut to guide and control his descent, to land in airplane fashion on land rather than dropping like a buoyed bounder dangling at the end of a parachute somewhere at sea.

★ ★ ★

Dyna-Soar is dead. But the problem of developing an adequate, inexpensive, dependable shuttle service for orbital duty is very much alive — more so, in fact, now that a space station project is reality.

NOTHING IN WORKS

Outside the Dyna-Soar glider, the military has — or had — no visible space bus service in the works. The civilian National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has been flirting with so-called "lifting bodies" such as the M2 vehicle.

But in the NASA scheme of things, projects Gemini and the man - to - moon Apollo get the cream. M2 and the others, way down the line, get what is left over, if anything, in the way of support.

NASA's stand is logical. It is not building manned space stations. Therefore it does not need a shuttle service.

The Air Force, however, has permission to go ahead with the space lab program it has long sought. Now, someone is going to have to come up with a logical means of getting men to and from it.

Service Held for Victims

ELKTON, Md. (AP) — In a frozen cornfield covered with snow, about 100 friends and relatives and three clergymen held a memorial service Sunday for 81 persons killed in a jet liner crash.

★ ★ ★

The simple ceremony was conducted about 50 yards from the place where the Pan American jet crashed in flames a week ago Sunday night.

Civil Air Patrol guards stood watch by the wreckage.

150 Whales Beached on Florida Shore

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An estimated 150 pilot whales washed up on the three-mile stretch of beach here Sunday.

Roy Landrum, St. Johns County deputy sheriff, said some were as large as 16 feet and weighed one ton. Many of them were still alive, he reported.

French Seek to Fill Cambodia Aid Gap

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The French, anxious to reassert their presence in Asia, can be expected to offer military and other aid to Cambodia which has renounced U. S. aid after the end of this year. Defense Minister Pierre Messmer will visit there shortly for this purpose.

★ ★ ★

The French fear Cambodia may be dragged into the Communist bloc unless something is done to prevent this and they believe France is in the best position to do so.

A lot of words can be expected at the NATO council of ministers' meeting starting today, but little action. No major policy decisions are likely while President Johnson still is in the "settling in" stage.

Talks will range over the whole spectrum of East-West trade. But, commented one official, "The communique could have been written in advance."

U. S.-U. S. S. R. AGREEMENT

Pan American jets should be winging into Moscow by early summer — if all goes well on the technical end of establishing reciprocal landing rights for Soviet and American planes in Moscow and New York.

U. S. Federal Aviation Agency Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby laid the groundwork for the major technical discussions during his Moscow visit last week.

There will be further Soviet-American meetings in the United States.

Despite the apparent imminence of the air agreement, the first accord to be signed with the Soviets under the Johnson administration may come in another area now under discussion.

That is the new cultural accord for 1964 covering exchanges of teacher and students and artistic personnel between the two countries. Earlier talks were called off by the late President Kennedy to protest the Soviet arrest on spy charges of Yale Prof. Frederic C. Barghorn. With Barghorn's release, the talks got under way.

SPANISH MONARCHY

Spanish monarchists may be expected to exert new pressure on Generalissimo Francisco Franco to reinstate the Spanish monarchy with the birth of a child expected soon by Princess Sophie and her husband, Prince Juan Carlos.

Spanish newspapers have been giving little or much space to the coming event, depending upon political alignments. Some sectors of Spanish opinion oppose restoration of the monarchy, preferring instead a presidential republic. So far Franco is following his usual line — saying nothing.

JOHNSON TO TOKYO?

Look for Japan to step up efforts for a U. S. presidential visit to Japan before President Johnson's term expires in 1965.

The Japanese had hoped the late President Kennedy would visit them, and such a visit was thought possible sometime late next year.

★ ★ ★

The Japanese government is anxious to prove that the threats of violence which forced President Eisenhower to cancel his visit to Japan do not represent the feelings of the great majority of the Japanese people.

Burglars Work Long Hours in Labor Temple

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some of the hardest working burglars in town toiled overtime early yesterday in looting the San Francisco Labor Temple of $800.

The thieves apparently entered the building Saturday night during a union meeting, and waited until everyone was gone.

Then, they: broke into 14 offices, punched out the locks on three safes, prying open a fourth, failed to crack three other safes, and got a dose of tear gas when a bomb in one safe went off.

★ ★ ★

Robbed were the brewers, malters and yeast workers; the carpenters, the metal polishers, buffers, plater and helpers, and the garment workers.

White House Staff Receives Kennedy Gift: Painting Prints

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

CHRISTMAS GIFTS: Members of the White House staff have received prints of a painting of the Green Room that President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy had planned to give them as Christmas gifts.

★ ★ ★

The prints, mounted in red portfolios decorated with the presidential seal in gold, bear facsimilie signatures of the late President and of Mrs. Kennedy under the inscription: "With our appreciation and best wishes for Christmas."

BAKER: President Johnson will sign an executive order opening to the Senate Rules Committee the income tax returns of Robert G. Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democrats, who resigned under fire Oct. 7.

The committee has asked for access to the returns as it investigates possible conflict-of-interest activities by present and former Senate employes.

PREPARED

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Saturday an executive order is being prepared for Johnson's signature.

The Rules Committee will hold its first public hearing Tuesday.

LIFT OFF: The airlift of a 15,000-man Army infantry division to Korea has been postponed indefinitely.

Recommended for March by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, it will not be held during the fiscal year which ends June 30.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources hinted President Johnson's announced economy drive was a major factor.

FORECAST: The Commerce Department predicts about $65.6 billion will be spent on construction next year, a rise of 5 per cent over the record $62.6-billion outlay of this year.

Expenditures for public projects will be especially strong, the department said Sunday and probably will register a rise of 8 per cent over the current level.

NO SOAP: The Federal Trade Commission has ordered Procter & Gamble Co. to sell the Clorox Chemical Co., acquired six years ago by the giant firm.

The commission said Saturday that the acquisition produced economies only in advertising discounts available to Procter & Gamble, the nation's largest producer of household cleaning products.

The firm advertises Clorox, the commission charged, "only to the extent of maintaining high prices, discouraging new entry (of companies to the market) and, in general, impairing, not promoting, socially useful competition."

In Cincinnati, Howard Morgens, president of Procter & Gamble, said the decision will be appealed to federal courts.

The commission went beyond any previous interpretation of existing antitrust legislation, he said, adding: "we are confident that the courts will reverse this decision."

ASSASSINATION INQUIRY: Chief Justice Earl Warren called another meeting today of the presidential commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The panel has been studying a five-volume FBI report on the Nov. 22 assassination. Government sources predict it may be a year before the inquiry is completed.

Thousands Continue Viewing JFK's Grave

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thousands more visitors walked by the grave of President John F. Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery Sunday despite freezing weather.

The line at noon took 15 minutes to pass the grave, heaped with evergreen bows and topped by the caps worn by the four armed services.

Everyone in Coventry, England, except one man closed their shutters when Lady Godiva rode naked through the town to protest a burdensome tax, according to legend. The man was henceforth known as "Peeping Tom."

'UP Needs Plan to Avert Job Losses'

ESCANABA (AP)—A successful development program could change a predicted 4,350-job loss in Michigan's Upper Peninsula into a gain of 15,500 jobs, Robert Nathan Associates said Saturday.

The agency reported this to the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems (UPCAP), an organization created by the boards of supervisors of Upper Peninsula counties to promote economic redevelopment.

Nathan economists said the Upper Peninsula would suffer a loss of 4,350 jobs by 1970 if 1950-60 rate of loss continues. A successful development program, they said, could change this to a 15,500-job gain by 1970.

The prospective loss of 2,800 jobs in agriculture, forestry, and fishing could be reduced to 1,600 and a prospective loss of 1,400 jobs in mining could be eliminated by the Nathan proposals, the report said. Largest job increase proposed was 6,000 in manufacturing instead of a prospective loss of 4,600.

★ ★ ★

The Area Redevelopment Administration has provided Nathan services to UPCAP under a $120,000 18-month contract expiring Jan. 1.

FBI Has Been Successful With '10 Most Wanted' List

(Editor's Note: Back in 1950, the Federal Bureau of Investigation began listing its 10 most wanted fugitives. This article reviews the list's history and describes the 10 who make up the current listing.)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten desperate men notorious for their viciousness are the objects of a relentless, nationwide manhunt by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

★ ★ ★

Other fugitives are wanted for more serious offenses, in some instances, than some in this group.

But because J. Edgar Hoover's investigators are convinced these men, by their savagery, pose the greatest threat to the law-abiding public, they have been placed on the top-priority roster of the FBI's "10 most wanted fugitives."

VARY WIDELY

The stories of these men vary widely. What links them in sinister similarity is the terse caveat on their wanted flyers: each is "believed to be armed and should be considered extremely dangerous."

★ ★ ★

Since the list was conceived in March 1950, the names of 182 fugitives from justice have appeared—some for as brief a span as one day. Of these, 169 have been captured, and criminal proceedings were dropped against three. The remaining 10, still at large, make up the current list.

★ ★ ★

Although their original transgressions may only have violated state laws, the FBI has joined the chase because they are presumed to have crossed state lines in their flight from prosecution or confinement.

The cooperation of citizens and press, radio and television, the FBI says, has been responsible for 68 arrests of "top 10" outlaws.

19 ARE DEAD

Nineteen alumni of the list are dead—victims of assassination, gun battles with the police, suicide and legal execution.

None of the criminals on the original list of March 1950 remains at large. The dean of the current list—Frederick J. Tenuto, 48—made the list in May 1950 by dint of his escape from a Pennsylvania prison where he was serving time for murder.

★ ★ ★

The average man who makes the list—which never has included a woman—is 5-feet-8 and weighs 160. He is 41 and remains on the list 147 days before capture. He gambles, drinks and frequents race tracks.

But such a man is merely a statistical creation, for the FBI is quick to point out that there's no such person as "the criminal type." Eddie Maps, for instance —one of the current tenants of the roster—is an accomplished artist, and the search for him includes a lookout at art galleries where his pictures may be hung.

CONSTANT FEAR

What makes such a list effective? "It's not a pleasant feeling for a criminal to know that he is the subject of a widespread and intensive search," says the FBI. He is "obsessed by constant fear of recognition and a necessity for keeping on the move."

Tenuto, who staged a spectacular break from Holmesburg Penitentiary in Pennsylvania, is wanted for murder. These are the other criminal celebrities of the moment:

—David Daniel Keegan, 45, accused ringleader and trigger man of a trio of bandits who murdered a robbery victim in an Iowa farmhouse in February 1954. Also wanted for interstate transportation of the loot from that robbery, Keegan has been on the list more than nine years.

★ ★ ★

—Eugene Francis Newman, 35, who the FBI said carried a submachine gun in the attempted robbery of an armored truck in Buffalo, N.Y., in August 1955. A guard was wounded seriously.

—Donald Leroy Payne, 45, described by the FBI as a highly dangerous convicted rapist with a long record of sex offenses. Crimes of rape and perversion against women and children are included in his record. He was free on parole when he raped an 18-year-old dancer in Houston in 1959, according to the FBI.

BAIL JUMPER

—John G. (Matt) Dillon, 48, a bail jumper described by the FBI as an extremely dangerous Oklahoma badman and convicted dope peddler, burglar and auto thief who may now be armed with a submachine gun.

—Edward H. Maps, 41, charged with slaying his wife and 4-month-old daughter and setting fire to their Stroudsburg, Pa., home in January 1962. Maps is noted in Greenwich Village, N.Y., as an accomplished artist and sculptor, the FBI said.

★ ★ ★

—Harold Thomas O'Brien, 58, charged with the barroom slaying of an acquaintance in Fox Lake, Ill., in August 1960. The FBI describes O'Brien as a quick-tempered, big-talking ex-convict who is said always to have one or more guns readily available.

—Howard Jay Barnard, 39, an extremely dangerous, always armed robbery specialist who has reportedly stated he will kill to avoid arrest and has vowed not to be taken alive. He is wanted for escaping from a moving train near Orland, Calif. in November 1962, while being transported under guard — chained hand and foot—to prison for a parole violation.

MENTAL HOSPITAL

—Thomas Asbury Hadder, 22, who escaped from a mental hospital where he was waiting trial in connection with the slaying of a Maryland policeman. Hadder was already on the list when Jacksonville, Fla., policemen arrested him on a vagrancy charge, then freed him before they realized who they had caught.

—Alfred Oponowicz, 37, known to the FBI as a skilled safe-cracker who allegedly fled an Ohio courtroom while being tried for bank burglary. The FBI says Oponowicz is believed to be heavily armed with various weapons, including a submachine gun.

Arabs Boycott Trade to Israel

LONDON (AP) — The Arab Committee for the boycott of Israel has blacklisted the business empire of real estate magnate Charles Clore, financial sources reported today.

★ ★ ★

Clore's 40 companies, ranging from shoe stores to shipbuilding, will be barred from trading with Arab states, effective Jan. 14.

★ ★ ★

Clore, 59, has been lavish in gifts and loans to Israel. Last year, he gave $1 million to the Weizman Institute of Science.

★ ★ ★

The boycott committee has existed for several years but some Arab states have not enforced its rules. Its activities set off an outcry here this month when it forced the resignation of Lord Mancroft, a Jew, from the board of the Norwich Union Insurance combine.

Couples Pop In

Necking Cuts House Value

FOLKESTONE, England (AP) — Four Folkestone families want their local taxes cut because of the dark at the bottom of the stairs.

"It seems that every young man in the district who is walking his girl home at night drops in at the entrance of our flats," said Albert Field, 68. "In my young days, I had better ideas than a cold stone stairway."

Mrs. Field blamed the bus stop outside the apartment house.

"These couples seem to pop in while waiting for a bus," she said. "It's really very embarrassing."

★ ★ ★

Local taxes in Britain are based on the value of one's house or apartment. Field and his neighbors say the goings-on reduce the value of their apartments and they want their taxes cut 12 pounds ($33.60) a year each.

Tenure Plan Is Opposed

School Board Unit Against Program

The teacher tenure program being pushed by the Michigan Education Association (MEA), has run into an obstacle.

The Michigan Association of School Boards (MASB), through its board of directors, issued a resolution in opposition to mandatory statewide tenure.

The MASB based its opposition on the proposition that local boards should "maintain their policy-making function."

The MASB stand comes on the heels of a successful MEA petition campaign to obtain a change in the state tenure act.

MANDATORY TENURE

The teacher group seeks a mandatory tenure act rather than the "local option" law now in effect.

Petitions were circulated statewide to get the legislature to either change the act or call a popular vote on the issue.

Pontiac teachers have had tenure since 1953.

* * *

Tenure, according to Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth, president of the Pontiac MEA membership, provides for a probationary period of 2-3 years. Within that time, local school officials can dismiss a teacher without following the procedures set up by the tenure act.

STATE HEARING

These procedures include a hearing before the State Tenure Commission.

* *

Pontiac has had only one case go before the State Tenure Commission, and this involved a teacher who was not under the tenure act.

* * *

The local school board obtained a Circuit Court opinion confirming that the commission did not have jurisdiction. An appeal to the State Supreme Court was dismissed.

Shoplifters Busy Filling 'Christmas Lists'

By ALLEN PHILLIPS

Down the tinseled aisles bunched with shoppers lurks dishonesty.

In the din of piped-in Christmas music and chime of cash registers, petty thievery in what may be record proportions goes on behind the store. Santa's back as shoplifters quietly fill out their gift lists.

In defense, merchants have impressive musters of uniformed and plainclothes police, store employe spy systems, and secret communications.

* * *

All this may come as a surprise to the average honest shopper who doesn't notice the shabbily dressed housewife or embarrassed teen-ager being led off to the store office.

This is because most shoplifters, or "boosters" as they are called in the trade, seem truly sorry when apprehended and wish no publicity.

BENEFIT OF DOUBT

Store owners, giving the thief the benefit of the doubt and likewise seeking to avoid publicity, like to keep such crimes within the family too.

But with the arrival of discount stores with self-serve displays, pilferage has suddenly taken on a life-or-death aspect.

"If we can control loss over a year it could mean a nice profit. If not, we could lose our shirt," says Roy Schroeder, manager of the K-Mart in Glenwood Plaza.

* * *

"The very nature of our business tempts people to steal."

The problem is that K-Mart and other large stores rely on the customer to make his own selection and bring it to a check-out counter rather than turn to a nearby sales person.

WHAT HAPPENS?

But what happens between the shelf and the front door no one is sure of. Although staggering, stores have no exact figures on how much is stolen.

To prevent theft, K-Mart has a staff of eight security officers — in and out of uniform — to keep watch. Other employes are instructed to pass the word if a customer looks suspicious. Mirrors are mounted near strategic locations.

And to back this up, "We prosecute all the people we catch," Schroeder said. Currently this amounts to about three a day.

* * *

Exceptions to this depend on a person's previous record," he explained. In which case the offender might get off with a lecture, but only after the police are called.

PROFESSIONAL CRIMINALS?

Are shoplifters professional law-breakers or just people without the means to pay?

"Both," reports Martin Lilienthal, operating supervisor of Sears Roebuck & Co. store at 154 N. Saginaw.

"I would say the majority are under 30. Many are teen-agers taking clothing or other items they think they must have, or just out for fun. We catch housewives who don't have enough money and must steal clothing for themselves and their families."

* * *

"But we also see women (adult males apparently are more honest) who can well afford the price but can't resist the temptation."

FAVORITE TECHNIQUE

Lilienthal said a favorite method of "lifting" at this time of year is to conceal merchandise under winter clothing.

The habitual booster may come equipped with a coat fitted with special pouches, or with quick-opening boxes or packages.

To combat them, Sears employs a unique system.

When an employe spots a suspicious shopper, he immediately dials one of the store phones. This sets off a code on the familiar department store bell and alerts other departments.

* * *

The word is quickly passed, and store detectives and sales people can be posted to watch the suspected booster.

"We do this to let the person know he is under surveillance. We are more interested in preventing a theft," said Lilienthal.

But when a theft is observed, a detective or member of the store management will step up, identify himself, and ask the booster to accompany him to the office.

"When you catch them red-handed, they go with you quietly."

* * *

It is then standard procedure, as with other area merchants, for a shoplifter to be turned over to police.

* *

Police Lt. Charles Gale reports city police were summoned 181 times during the first 11 months of 1963 in shoplifter cases. This does not reflect the large number of under 17-year-old thieves who are treated as juvenile cases, he added.

END OF LINE

The end of the line is the court, where a convicted thief may be fined, or in the case of a repeater, sent to jail.

This is under a state law that permits a simple larceny charge for a first offense involving merchandise under $100. But a felony provision can be used with a known booster, added Oakland County Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert D. Long.

The latter could lead to a maximum jail term of four years. The former could result in 90 days in jail and $100 fine.

* * *

Merchants often are reluctant to prosecute for fear of false arrest or damage suits later, Long admitted.

HELPS MERCHANTS

But a recent amendment to the law permitting apprehension of a shoplifter before he leaves one department of a store for another has worked in the merchants' favor. They previously had to wait until the suspect walked out the door.

But despite the law, and every detection step they can think of, many area stores expect that 1963's record number of shoppers will conceal an increasing number of thieves.

Barry in Race Despite LBJ, Says Ex-Senator

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater still is in the race for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination despite President Johnson's succession, former U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland declared Sunday.

Knowland, a former Senate majority leader, is leading the Arizona conservative's forces in California.

* * *

Speaking at a Goldwater-for-President advisory committee meeting, Knowland predicted Goldwater would carry most of the South next year even if Johnson—a native Texan—is the Democratic candidate.

Knowland, now a newspaper publisher, said Goldwater would enter the June 2 California primary, and the March 10 New Hampshire primary, the first in the country.

China Reds Make Small but Effective Africa Gains

SPECIAL REPORT

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

TUNIS (AP)—For the past six years, Red Chinese diplomats and agents have patiently penetrated the African continent.

Their progress has not been spectacular, but they have aroused African curiosity about Red China and planted a network of diplomatic, trade and propaganda missions.

★ ★ ★

For the next two months Premier Chou En-lai will assess personally the penetration effort and establish direct contact with several African leaders. Some of them already are receptive to Communist Chinese ideology.

Chou arrived in Cairo Sunday to visit President Gamal Abdel Nasser. He also will visit Algeria, Morocco, Mali, Guinea, Ghana, Somalia and perhaps former British East Africa.

PR VENTURE

Western diplomats consider the visit a public relations venture. African officials attach a great deal of significance to it.

In 1956 Red China had not a single diplomatic mission in Africa. Today it has 13, plus thousands of official and unofficial envoys crisscrossing the continent.

★ ★ ★

The Red Chinese radio beams 10 hours of broadcasts daily,1 specially tailored to Africa. Books, pamphlets and films are distributed by the Chinese Reds in most of Africa's independent nations.

Communist China participates in most African trade fairs and has given long-term loans and direct subsidies to a half-dozen nations, including Algeria, Guinea and Somalia.

MOST ACTIVITY

Most Red Chinese activity in Africa has been a painstaking effort to penetrate political parties, youth organizations and labor groups.

African officials and students frequently tour China. Their general reaction is one of awe at the rigidity of the Communist system and discipline, coupled with respect for the country's achievements.

Economic progress is a main gambit used by the Chinese Communist propaganda drive in Africa. However, the Chinese also have several drawbacks.

One is the fact that the Red Chinese subordinate everything to their ideological conflict with the Soviet Union. Also, most Chinese Communist diplomats, commercial agents and other personnel are ill-prepared for assignments in Africa. Most of them have no daily contact with African life, living in barracks-line quarters and moving in silent, regimented groups.

Few dare to talk to European residents, who still control Africa's economic structure.

Another drawback in their penetration effort has been that most Communist parties on the continent are oriented toward Moscow. But some Communist and leftist parties are showing increasing interest in the Red Chinese doctrine, considering it more dynamic, more revolutionary, purer and hence more in keeping with Africa's needs.

State Student Gets Noted Scholarship

SWARTHMORE, Pa. (AP) — Thomas D. Rowe, a Yale University student from Ann Arbor, was one of 32 U.S. college students awarded Rhodes Scholarships Sunday.

The announcement was made by Dr. Courtney Smith, American secretary of the Rhodes Scholarships and president of Swarthmore College.

Rowe will enter Oxford University in England in October, 1964, along with the other American scholars-elect who represent 27 states.

Chicago Tops Lions to Win Western Title

Second Half Passes by Wade Give Bears 24-14 Triumph

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears never seem to look good but somehow they get the job done.

That's the way it was Sunday when they wrapped up the Western Division title of the National Football League with a 24-14 victory over Detroit and a meeting with the New York Giants for the championship Dec. 29 in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

A crowd of 45,317, ignoring 15 - degree weather, actually booed quarterback Bill Wade in the first half and early in the third quarter.

But Wade and flanker back Johnny Morris, making his first full-time appearance in three weeks, won back the fans in the second half when the game-winning passing combination began to click.

COMBO CLICKS

With the Bears trailing 7-3 Wade and Morris teamed on a 51-yard touchdown pass to put the Chicagoans ahead. Another Wade-Morris aerial for 17 yards moved the Bears in the Detroit 22 before Wade fired a scoring pass to Mike Ditka.

Although this eventually proved to be enough, the Bears couldn't take matters in stride. Detroit came roaring back with a touchdown on the passing of Earl Morrall, who threw to Terry Barr for the final four yards.

The Bears still had a 17-14 lead in the final three minutes when Detroit on a 32-yard run by Tom Watkins, battered its way to the Bears 32. The Bear defense held but Chicago couldn't run out the clock and had to kick.

Once more the Lions geared for a final drive, but this time they were short-circuited as Dave Whitsell intercepted pass and ran 39 yards into the end zone with 25 seconds left.

Now the crowd was cheering, because the Bears finally were assured of their first divisional title since 1956 and a chant picked up the ticking of the final seconds off the scoreboard.

Owner-Coach George Halas, the 68-year-old NFL pioneer who recently was named Coach of the Year by The Associated Press, said the Bears were "tight" in the first half. I told them to loosen up and they did. When Wade hit Morris with that touchdown pass, I knew we were off and winning."

★ ★ ★

But the Bears managed to overcome all their deficiencies and in the end finished the season with 11 triumphs, one loss and two ties. The only loss came at the hands of San Francisco.

New York, defeating Pittsburgh 33-17 to win the Eastern Division title, will make an ideal opponent for the Bears. Although no member of the team or coaching staff will openly admit it, the Bears would rather face the Giants than Pittsburgh.

The Bears played the Steelers during the season and couldn't do any better than a 17-17 tie. The Giants are a passing team and the Bears defense is especially adept at stopping passing attacks.

OUT OF REACH — A second quarter pass from quarterback Bill Wade was just off the fingertips of Chicago Bears' end Mike Ditka (89) in the battle with the Lions at Wrigley Field yesterday. Bruce Maher Detroit defense back closes in on the play. The Bears won 24-14 and became Western Division champions.

Brown Is First to 'Run Mile'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Brown ran his season's rushing total past the mile mark and Frank Ryan pierced the Washington defense for three touchdown passes Sunday as Cleveland scored a 27-20 National Football League victory over the Redskins.

★ ★ ★

With 125 yards in 28 carries, Brown pushed his total yardage for the year to 1,863 yards and became the first NFL player to gain more than a mile on the ground in one season.

The victory gave the Browns second place in the NFL's Eastern Division, with a 10-4 record, and the trip to the runner-up bowl game in Miami.

Cleveland moved to a 20-7 halftime lead on a pair of 42-yard field goals by Lou Groza and two touchdown passes by Ryan. One was for 34 yards to Gary Collins and the others for 33 yards to Ernie Green.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Overcoming a flock of scoring frustrations, quarterback John Unitas threw a 14-yard touchdown pass in the last 40 seconds Sunday for a 19-16 victory by the Baltimore Colts over the Los Angeles Rams and a National Football League record.

SETS RECORD

The pass caught by Tom Matte was the 237th completion this season for Unitas, two more than the previous high set by Sonny Jurgenson for Philadelphia in 1961.

Although they ran up a 13-3 halftime lead on Matte's 31-yard touchdown run and Jim Martin's two field goals, the Colts frittered away other opportunities on two blocked field goals, an intercepted pass in the end zone and two fumbles over the goal.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Nick Skorich made two observations Sunday after his Philadelphia Eagles were clobbered 34-13 by the Minnesota Vikings:

1. The Eagles played "miserable."
2. He would like to be back as head coach.

THEY QUIT

There was general agreement on Skorich's first remark. The Eagles not only played poorly, but as the coach himself put it, they quit in the fourth quarter after Minnesota took a 27-13 lead on a 31-yard return of the intercepted screen pass.

It was a sorry end to a sorry season for Philadelphia. The Eagles finished last in the National Football League's Eastern Division with a 2-10-2 record. And to add insult to injury, the final humiliation was heaped upon them by Norm Van Brocklin.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Quarterback Don Meredith threw two touchdown passes in the fourth quarter to boost the Dallas Cowboys past the St. Louis Cardinals 28-24 Sunday in a chilly National Football League game.

The Cowboys went into the final quarter trailing 24-14 then Meredith hit Pettis Norman for 12 yards and a touchdown and Frank Clarke with 25 yard TD pass.

The loss left the Cardinals with a 9-5 record.

GIANT CONFAB — Coach Allie Sherman of the New York Giants has a personal congratulation for quarterback Y. A. Tittle after the "bald giant" threw for three touchdown passes to defeat the Pittsburgh Steelers, 33-17 for the Eastern Division title yesterday.

FLYING HIGH — Joe Morrison (40) of the New York Giants, dives over the Steeler line from the one yard line to score the third touchdown in the 33-17 victory. Guard Darrell Dess (62) paves the way by taking linebacker Myron Pottois (66) out of the play. The Giants won the right to meet the Bears for the NFL championship in Chicago December 29th.

'Papa Bear' Frisky Pacing on Sidelines

CHICAGO (AP) —George Halas is giving everybody a great run for the money this season — even Father Time.

He is a frisky 68, and if he has any thoughts of retiring he is keeping them to himself.

There is some talk of this, especially if his Chicago Bears defeat the New York Giants here Dec. 29 for the National Football League championship.

★ ★ ★

But Papa Bear is a vigorous, healthy man whose pacing on the sidelines shows no sign of slowing down.

After his Bears defeated the Detroit Lions 24-14 Sunday to clinch their first Western Division title since 1956, Halas said:

"Coming from behind to win with the chips down was one of the greatest experiences in my coaching career. I may be 68, but this victory has taken quite a few years off of my age."

Last week was a big one for Halas. He went over hundreds of feet of film with his staff to map strategy against the Lions, coached by one of his former star ends, George Wilson.

COACH OF YEAR

The NFL pioneer and Hall of Fame charter member was named NFL Coach of the Year by The Associated Press recently. Later in the week he was named Chicagoan of the Year by the Chicago Press Club.

In midweek he had the humorous experience of trying to run off practices next to a group of polo ponies. This came when heavy snow forced the Bears to seek room for workouts in the Chicago Avenue Armory.

Halas found the place occupied for practices by players in a polo league. He compromised with polo ist Pat Connors, who moved his men and the ponies to one end while the Bears took the other.

★ ★ ★

On eriday the 13th, Halas was among 313 members of the Anti-Superstition Society to pay $13.13 apiece to attend a meeting. They crossed under a ladder, paused while salt was spilled from a six - foot salt shaker, looked upon scores of mirrors painted to appear broken, and crossed the paths of 13 models costumed as black cats.

Although all the hex signs were scoffed at, Papa Bear was superstitious enough to wear his usual old blue sweater under his coat during the game Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Halas, a founder of the NFL 44 years ago, has seen his Bears win seven world championships since 1921. The last was in 1946, when the Bears downed the Giants 24-14.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME, Dec. 29
New York at Chicago

Dec. 28th Date

Playoff in AFL Is Set

By The Associated Press

"Great," said Stew Barber, "Tickled to death," said Mack Yoho. "Loved it," said Al Bemiller.

Those were the comments Sunday from the three would-be television critics — more often players for the Buffalo Bills — after taking a view of San Diego's 20-14 American Football League victory over Houston.

The Oiler loss eliminated the defending Eastern champs from title contention and left the Bills and Boston Patriots tied for the No. 1 spot, each with a 7-6-1 record.

PLAYOFF SET

They are the only two teams in the league to have completed regular season play and will meet in a one-game playoff at Buffalo Dec. 28.

"I was just saying the other day," recalled Buffalo tackle Sid Youngleman, "Damn it, after nine years can't I hit the jackpot once." Youngleman has yet to play in a title game after nine years in the AFL and NFL.

He gained a shot at one in Buffalo's 19-10 victory over the Jets in New York Saturday while Boston was bowing to the Chiefs in Kansas City 35-3.

Sunday, in addition to San Diego's triumph over Houston, Oakland nipped Denver 35-31 behind the five touchdown passes of Tom Flores.

UNDECIDED

That left the Western Division still up for grabs between San Diego, 10-3, and Oakland, 9-4, each with one game to go. It would take a combination of a San Diego loss and an Oakland victory in next week's games to give the Raiders a share of the title.

The Sunday schedule has Houston, 6-7, at Oakland; Denver, 2-10-1, at San Diego, and New York, 5-7-1, at Kansas City, 4-7-2. Boston and Buffalo take the week off.

A two-yard plunge for a touchdown in the final quarter by Cookie Gilchrist was the key play in Buffalo's comeback against the Jets.

★ ★ ★

Boston, which had a chance to clinch it, couldn't handle the Chiefs' surprisingly tough defense nor the passing of Len Dawson and the running of Abner Hayes.

Three pass interceptions and the powerful running of Paul Lowe set up a 17-point second period that insured San Diego of at least a share of the Western title. The Chargers have only to tie Denver to clinch it.

The Raiders stayed alive on Flores' passing. He had touchdown tosses of 32 yards to Bo Roberson, 18 and 3 yards to Art Powell, and 26 and 42 yards to Clem Daniels.

Waterford Cagers Battle for Top Spot

Two undefeated cage squads in the Waterford Recreation League meet tonight in the first game of a double header at Crary Junior High School.

Lakeland Pharmacy and Bob Casteel's fives, both with 1-0 records, will open the action at 7:15 p.m. in a Class A battle. O'Neil Realty will play Bill's Towing in the second contest.

Packers Quiet as Ex-Champs

Green Bay Now Goes to Playoff Bowl

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) —The dethroned National Football League champion Green Bay Packers were disappointed but not surprised when the Detroit Lions failed to defeat the Chicago Bears Sunday.

★ ★ ★

A Lion victory in the game won 24-14 by the Bears would have given the Packers their fourth straight Western Division title and a crack at a third consecutive league crown. Instead, they will play the Cleveland Browns in the Playoff Bowl in Florida Jan. 5.

★ ★ ★

"We should have beaten the Bears ourselves," said defensive back Hank Gremminger of the Packers, who closed their season Saturday with a 21-17 victory over the 49ers in San Francisco.

The Packers closed with 11 victories, two defeats by the Bears and a tie with the Lions. The Bears had an 11-1-2 record."

★ ★ ★

Packer offensive captain and center Jim Ringo said "you can't take anything away from the Bears. They beat us twice and they deserved it."

The Packers were in their chartered airliner on the way home when the score of the Lion-Bear game was announced.

★ ★ ★

Some of the Packers didn't care to comment. Included in that group was Coach Vince Lombardi.

Red Wings Salvage 4-4 Tie at Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Maybe the Chicago Black Hawks — after their latest experiences against the Detroit Red Wings—won't run away with the National Hockey League championship after all.

The hustling Wings overcame a 4-2 deficit in the final period Sunday night and salvaged a 4-4 tie with Chicago.

★ ★ ★

On Saturday night, Detroit beat Chicago 8-4. Chicago's third loss in three games came Thursday night—2-1 against Boston. Earlier, the Black Hawks lost only one of their first 14 games.

The Hawks gained a point in standings, however, because second place Montreal lost to New York and third place Toronto tied Boston. Chicago now leads the loop by eight points.

★ ★ ★

The tie left fourth-place Detroit three points up on Boston, but New York gained a point to trail the Wings by four.

SCORING PUNCH

Doug Barkley and Eddie Joyal supplied the scoring punch in the Wing surge at Chicago. Barkley slapped in his sixth goal of the year with Chicago's Erik Nesterenko in the penalty box to make the score 4-3, and Joyal's tying marker came on a pass by Parker MacDonald less than two minutes later.

★ ★ ★

Chicago took a first period lead on goals by Chico Maki and Murray Balfour but the Wings pulled within a goal of tying early in the second period when Andre Pronovost flipped in a rebound of Gordie Howe's long shot. Pierre Pilote put Chicago ahead 3-1 on a breakaway.

Marcel Pronovost's unassisted goal early in the final period cut it to 3-2. Then Chicago defenseman Wayne Hillman scored his first goal of the season to put the Hawks back in front by two. Barkley, and Joyal scored midway through the final period.

★ ★ ★

At New York, the Rangers ended a nine-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over Montreal. Red Gilbert's two goals sparked the Rangers. Six players, three from each team, brawled after the Canadiens took a 1-0 first period lead.

Dean Prentice salvaged a 4-4 tie for Boston with a 30-foot back-handed shot in the final period. Toronto had taken a 4-2 lead on four straight goals before the Bruins came back to score twice in the final stanza.

They can be called for between 9:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tittle Shines as Giants Rip Steelers, 33-17

Spectacular Catch by Gifford Ignites New York Attack

NEW YORK (AP)— The only time Y. A. Tittle lost control was when he tried to stand up after the game.

Then he fell down, slowly, lazily, wearily, into his own locker. He was too exhausted even to reach out a hand to stop himself. He just oozed down to the floor, amid his discarded football pads, scattering his fan mail and the glasses he used to read the fine print in the stock market tables.

Tittle had just finished leading the New York Giants to a 33-17 win over Pittsburgh and into the National Football League's championship game against the Chicago Bears.

"I guess I'm too tired to stand up," drawled Y. A., the 37-year-old, bald, wrinkle-faced quarterback.

He just sat there on the floor, smiling.

Smiling, too, was Frank Gifford, the "washed-up" flanker back whose incredible catch of a third down pass in the third quarter, when the score was 16-10 Giants and the Steelers were aroused, changed the course of the game. Tittle threw two more passes after that, the Giants had another touchdown and the game in hand the rest of the way.

"All I was trying to do was bat the ball up in the air—and it stuck in my hand," Gifford said.

MORE PRAISE

Buddy Parker, coach of the Cinderella Steelers who almost won the Eastern title, gave Gifford high marks, too, in the subdued Steeler dressing room.

"Gifford turned the game around," he said. "If he doesn't hold that ball we take over, and I think we would have won."

Parker said his quarterback, Ed Brown, "had a really bad day. Buddy Dial was loose often and he didn't throw to him. And Gary Ballman would have had five touchdowns if Brown had been able to hit him."

Ballman also would have had a touchdown in the first quarter —although it would have been called back for a penalty—if he hadn't fumbled the ball into the end zone before he was tackled.

The play came when the Giants led 3-0 on a field goal that followed a Pittsburgh fumble on the first running play of the game.

Brown threw a pass to Ballman who faked out the Giant defender and was sailing toward the end zone when the ball squirted free. Erich Barnes of the Giants picked it up and ran it back to the 34.

HOLDING CALLED

However, the Steelers were holding on the play and the touchdown would have been called back, anyway.

"Even so we keep possession," Parker said.

Giant linebacker Sam Huff admitted, "we got some breaks. But we beat them on team balance. We knew we could beat them if we made them pass. They can't pass on us.

"And they were doing some loud talking in the papers before the game about how we were afraid to play them. That stirred us up."

'M', MSU Quints Keep Rolling

By The Associated Press

Michigan easily passed its severest test of the young basketball season and Michigan State continued on its merry way in feature games on the Michigan college schedule Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Michigan got 32-point performances from Bill Buntin and Cazzie Russell as it disposed of Western Michigan 104-81 for its fifth straight victory. Michigan State remained undefeated with an 87-75 victory over Pennsylvania.

Northern Michigan repeated as the champion in its own tournament with an 80-72 victory over Ferris State. Aquinas downed Lakeland (Wis.) 86-81 in the consolation game.

MIAA ACTION

Calvin dumped Alma 98-84 and Adrian defeated Albion 93-78 in MIAA games, while Hillsdale clobbered Spring Arbor 94-73, Detroit Tech downed McMasters (Ont.) 84-76, Ashland edged Lawrence Tech 87-73 and John Carroll outlasted Eastern Michigan 95-91 in overtime, in the others.

Seventh-ranked Michigan was able to handle WMU's fast break and jumped to an early 16-5 lead. The Wolverines led by as many as 30 points near the end of the game.

Western's Bill Street paced the losers with 22 points as usually high-scoring Manny Newsome was held to 20. Ajac Triplett also added 20 for the Broncos, now 1-4. Three of the losses have been by a total of six points.

★ ★ ★

Pete Gent scored 28 points as Michigan State made it four in a row. It marked the first game this season in which the Spartans scored less than 100 points.

MSU erased a 16-12 Penn edge early in the first half and had the game pretty well in hand from then on until the Quakers closed to within three points in the last seven minutes.

Ray Carazo scored 20 points to top Penn, which dropped its first after three victories.

At Marquette, Northern Michigan won its own tournament for the second year in a row as Wayne Lundy showed the way with 22 points. The Wildcats, who had a 40-36 halftime edge, boosted their record to 4-3. Jerry Isler topped Ferris State with 15.

MOST VALUABLE

Aquinas freshman Dennis Alexander was named the tourney's most valuable player after racking up 29 points in the consolation game victory by the Tommies. Alexander scored 52 points in the two-day meet. Charlie Davidson's 25 points was the best Lakeland effort.

Calvin led all the way and pushed its season record to 2-2 with the victory over Alma. Jim VanDerden topped all scorers with 34 points. Buc Acton netted 24 for the losers.

Dick Seagert scored 30 points, and teammate Don Numbers tossed in 22 as Adrian bumped Albion. The winners hit on 55 per cent of their shots in the second half and opened a 15-point lead. Bruce Brown paced the Britons with 18 points.

★ ★ ★

Charles Works notched 33 points as Hillsdale scored its second victory of the season. The Dales held a 47-39 halftime edge and were never threatened. Rocky Kent's 19 points topped Spring Arbor.

Detroit Tech's Roland Terry and Sterling Black scored four points each late in the game to lead the Dynamics to their victory over McMasters.

Tech held a 43-40 halftime advantage, but the Canadian team knotted it at 74-all with two minutes remaining. Terry finished with 30 points, while Black added 21. Peter Ewing had 23 for McMasters.

★ ★ ★

Eastern Michigan took unbeaten John Carroll into overtime at 81-81 before losing its Presidents' Athletic Conference game in Cleveland.

Ed Gallup, who took scoring honors, pumped in 29 points including the field goal which put Eastern ahead for the first time, 80-79, with one minute remaining in regulation time.

In the overtime, Paul Vasco hit on a field goal and four straight free throws to win it for John Carroll. The victory was the fifth straight for the Blue Streaks and their 11th in a row over two seasons.

Ashland's victory over Lawrence Tech was its first this year in five starts and LIT's fourth loss in six games. Ashland led 43-31 at the half.

Buckeyes Lose Twice

Unrated Quints Challenge

By The Associated Press

Davidson, Toledo, Creighton, Vanderbilt, UCLA and Texas—all unbeaten and unranked—came to the fore in college basketball last week.

They challenged for national recognition Kentucky, Michigan and Chicago Loyola, the only teams in The Associated Press Top Ten who kept their records clean during a week that saw NYU, Duke, Arizona State, Oregon State and Kansas lose for the first time. In fact Arizona State took it on the chin three straight times and Ohio State, also in the Top Ten, dropped two in a row.

★ ★ ★

Davidson hit the headlines early in the week by plastering Ohio State 95-73, ending a 50-game home court winning streak by the Buckeyes. The Southern Conference Wildcats walloped Jacksonville 121-93 on Saturday and now have won five straight.

Toledo, rated a power in the Mid-American Conference, bowled over second-ranked NYU 87-74 and Saturday made it six in a row by clouting San Francisco State 95-58.

Creighton likewise made it six straight with a two overtime 96-91 victory over Utah State.

Vanderbilt went overtime to hand Duke its first defeat at the start of the week, then crushed Arkansas 101-77 on Saturday for its fifth straight. UCLA, sparked by Walt Hazzard and Gail Goodrich, swept Kansas State 78-75 and Kansas 74-54 in the Sunflower doubleheaders at Lawrence and Manhattan, Kan. The Bruins now are 4-0.

Texas, the favorite in the SWC, capitalized on Jim Clark's closing heroics when he stole the ball and passed for the winning basket to beat Oklahoma 81-78. Altogether Clark figured in Texas' final six points as he pulled the Longhorns from behind in the last 60 seconds for their fifth straight.

LOYOLA IDLE

Kentucky and Michigan, each 5-0, slaughtered Baylor 101-65 and Western Michigan 104-81 Saturday to further impress as national powers. Top-ranked Chicago Loyola was idle Saturday, but previously had trouble defeating Detroit and Western Michigan in two close games. Cincinnati, the other member of the Top Ten, took Wisconsin 65-60 and upped its record to 4-1.

This week has the first round on Friday of the UK Invitational at Lexington, Ky. and the Sun Devils Classic at Tempe, Ariz. Princeton meets Wake Forest and Kentucky takes on Wisconsin in the first round of the UK. At Tempe, it's Michigan State vs. California and Arizona State vs. Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

Other attractive games during the week include Creighton at Iowa, Duke at Michigan, Toledo at Villanova, Wichita at Minnesota, Kansas at New Mexico.

A's, Cubs Close Trade

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics, in another move to help their outfield, traded pitcher Fred Norman to the Chicago Cubs Sunday for outfielder Nelson Matthews and an undisclosed sum of cash.

Pat Friday, A's general manager, termed Matthews one of the outstanding young prospects in baseball Friday said he would be given a full opportunity to win the center field job.

Matthews, 22, is 6-foot-4, 195 pounds and a right-handed batter. He batted 155 times in 61 games for the Cubs last year, with a .157 average, four homers and 10 runs batted in.

The 21-year-old Norman bats and throws left. He had a 13-14 record for Binghamton in the Eastern League last season, came to the A's near the end of the season and lost to the New York Yankees in his only decision.

It was Kansas City's first inter-league trade of the year and came just six hours before the inter-league trading deadline.

HELD IN DEATH — New York City College student Ed Weissman, 19, is taken into custody and charged with homicide in the death of City College basketball star Mike Schaffer. Police said he deliberately drove his car into the crowd of collegians after a scuffle and Schaffer was struck and killed.

New York Cager Dies as Victim of Hit-Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Schaffer lay in the gutter, his girl friend kneeling beside him, wiping the blood from his face.

"It hurts, it hurts so much," Mike told her. "I can't feel my legs anymore."

Twenty minutes later, at Knickerbocker Hospital, the 19-year-old sophomore basketball star at the City College of New York was pronounced dead.

★ ★ ★

Only an hour earlier, before he became the victim of what police call a homicide with a hit-run auto, Schaffer had led his teammates to their fourth straight victory. He was high scorer with 18 points in Saturday night's 74-44 triumph over Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N.Y.

After the game, Schaffer left the uptown Manhattan gymnasium with nine other boys and girls, including his girl friend, Molly Irgang, 15. They began walking toward a subway.

★ ★ ★

Police said a young motorist, after making remarks to the girls and scuffling briefly with one of the boys, gunned his auto right at the group. All jumped to safety except Schaffer. He was dragged almost a block.

Four hours later, armed with the license number of the auto, police arrested Eddie Weissman, 19, of Manhattan, and charged him with homicide.

NO BAIL

Weissman admitted being in the car at the time Schaffer was killed but denied trying to hit anyone with it, police said. He was held without bail.

Today they'll bury Schaffer's 175-pound, 6-foot-1 body on Long Island.

★ ★ ★

About the same time, funeral services will be held for the attorney who supplied police with Weissman's license number.

The attorney, Solomon Blatt, 55, of the Bronx, collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack early Sunday, shortly after leaving the police station where Weissman was booked.

Blatt was the father of CCNY's basketball captain, Alex Blatt, 19, one of the collegians who was with Schaffer during the dispute with Weissman.

New Irish Coach Calls Conference

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Ara Parseghian, Notre Dame's new head football coach, carries out his first official duties today when he holds a press conference on the Irish campus.

★ ★ ★

In a move announced Saturday, Parseghian; head football coach at Northwestern University for eight years, succeeded Hugh Devore, 53, who has been named assistant athletic director at Notre Dame.

Parseghian, 40, said "a fine interview" recently with the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, Notre Dame president, clinched his decision to take the job.

"This is a great school with a great football heritage and a great football tradition," Parseghian said after his appointment. "I will be coaching at what I consider one of the top schools in the country."

★ ★ ★

Of prime interest in today's press conference is the subject of Parseghian's coaching staff at Notre Dame.

OWN STAFF

Parseghian has said he would take along several of his assistants at Northwestern to the Irish campus, indicating he will retain none of Devore's staff.

He has recommended that Wildcat line coach Alex Agase be named his successor at Northwestern. If Agase doesn't get the job, said Parseghian, he hopes to have him at Notre Dame.

The handsome and personable Northwestern coach has compiled a 13-season record of 75 victories, 41 defeats and two ties as head coach at Miami of Ohio and Northwestern.

He has developed explosive attacks and classy quarterbacks at Northwestern—both features which once were hallmarks of Notre Dame teams.

Devore was named as interim coach for the 1963 season, after Joe Kuharich resigned, and compiled a record of 2-7.

Hawks Near NBA Lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks, displaying a balanced offense along with an effective defense, have tightened up the Western Division race in the National Basketball Association.

The Hawks turned back Los Angeles 102-95 Sunday night and moved into a virtual tie for first place with the Lakers. In the only other game played, the San Francisco Warriors whipped the Baltimore Bullets 122-97.

★ ★ ★

Los Angeles boasts a slight percentage lead over St. Louis — .621 to .613 — with the teams tied in the games behind column. The Lakers have an 18-11 record while the Hawks are 19-12.

Five St. Louis players hit double figures, led by Bob Pettit's 26 points. The Hawks jumped off to a 31-23 lead and never were headed. Dick Barnett topped the Lakers with 21.

St. Louis held Los Angeles' Jerry West to 13 points, his lowest output of the season. He entered the game with a 28.8 average. Elgin Baylor, still hampered by the effects of a bad cold and injured knees, scored 19.

WILT HOT

Wilt Chamberlain clicked for 44 points in the Warriors' success over Baltimore. San Francisco outscored the Bullets 37-20 in the third period and went into the fourth quarter with a 23-point bulge.

Walt Bellamy had one of his poorest shooting nights for the Bullets, collecting only five points. Don Kojis was high for Baltimore with 23.

Pontiac Northern, co-champion in 1962, captured third place in the two-day meet with a point total of 32, and Pontiac Central placed fourth with 31 points.

Steve Butash started the Hazel Park victory with a decision over Bob Smith of Royal Oak Kimball in the 95-pound class.

Dan Haglund followed with a decision over Dennis Prescott of Berkley in the 103-pound battle, and Burger defeated Walled Lake's Jean Lagasse for the 133-pound crown.

Dave Beebe of Pontiac Northern, undefeated this season, decisioned Neuman of Royal Oak Kimball to take the 120-pound title, the Huskies' only individual winner.

Northern's Cobb picked up a second place in the 112-pound division, and Jim Kimmel was second in the 138-pound class, losing the crown to Pontiac Central's Harold Whiting.

Whiting, unbeaten this season, decisioned four oponents enroute to the 138-pound title.

Mira Signs With 49ers After Finale

By The Associated Press

George Mira isn't complaining. A character with no sense of the dramatic swiped the Miami wizard's final forward pass as a collegian and spoiled an otherwise brilliant farewell effort in Miami's 17-12 loss to Alabama Saturday.

But George has a piece of the major college completion record and a hefty professional contract to ease the pain.

"I'd like to thank my teammates for all they have done for me in the past years," said the 1962 All America.

Mira signed with the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League Sunday, 24 hours after he matched Loyola, Calif., quarterback Don Kolsterman's 368 career completions and almost engineered a Miami upset of the Sugar Bowl-bound Crimson Tide.

★ ★ ★

Mira settled for 24 completions, 301 aerial yards and the 1963 total offense championship.

Hold Financier Who Fled U.S. for Brazil in '58

NEW YORK (AP) —A fugitive financier who fled to extradition-proof Brazil — then decided he'd take his chances with U.S. courts rather than Brazilian — faces arraignment here tomorrow on fraud charges.

Earl Belle, 31, one-time money-making wizard from Pittsburgh, Pa., was held in $60,000 bail after his arrest by the FBI at Idlewild Airport Saturday.

After his arraignment, he is to be taken to Pittsburgh.

Brazilian authorities said Belle chose to return to the United States where he faces 79 federal counts of financial wrongdoing, rather than stand trial in Brazil for his alleged part in an international check-swindling operation.

★ ★ ★

At his bail hearing, Belle remarked: "I came back of my own free will. I have no intention of doing anything to flee."

Belle skipped to South America in July 1958 when his holdings — a financial "empire" on paper—collapsed.

Trading Moderate

Mart Prices Edge Upward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market struggled to maintain a ragged advance early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Numerous key issues pushed ahead a point or so and some of the major sections were mostly higher. But the over-all tone was muddled as it was most of last week.

★ ★ ★

Year-end cross currents involving tax loss selling, reinvestment demand and profit taking confused the picture.

Du Pont was off nearly 4 points, providing a heavy drag on the market averages.

PICK UP GROUND

On the other hand some blue chips picked up ground. Standard Oil (New Jersey) was ahead 1 at a new high; RCA gained more than 1, Jones and Laughlin Steel was up 1, American Smelting gained 1 and Union Carbide added more than a point.

Some of the wider moving issues such as Control Data, IBM and Xerox were higher by 2 to 4 points.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic each gained a little on reports that first quarter shipments would exceed 1963.

Among the auto stocks GM, Ford and Chrysler added small fractions while American Motors dipped a little and Studebaker was unchanged.

Reynolds, Liggett and Myers and Lorillard were each ahead ½ or more. American Tobacco had a small gain. The improvement evidently resulted from a published article saying government officials would not rush to pass remedial legislation when the Public Health Service's report on smoking is made public next month.

AVERAGE UP

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .7 at 285.1.

Prices continued mixed on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed and U. S. Government bonds mostly unchanged in early trading.

LBJ Signs Bill for College Aid

Provides Funds for Building Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today a bill putting the government in partnership with the nation's colleges to help them meet rapidly rising enrollments.

Johnson's pen put an end to a three-year struggle launched by the late President John F. Kennedy to provide federal aid for construction of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

The bill that finally reached the White House authorizes a federal outlay of $1,195,000,000 over three years. It's aim is to make room in higher education institutions for enrollments expected to increase from 4.2 million in 1962 to 7 million by 1970.

More than half the money is earmarked for grants for construction of undergraduate and junior college facilities. Each state must use 22 per cent of its allotment for public junior colleges and technical institutes.

BUILDS LIBRARIES

The remainder of that portion can go to both public and private undergraduate colleges for building libraries and science, engineering, mathematics and foreign language classrooms. The federal grant would be limited to one-third of such construction costs.

Another $145 million will go for establishing or improving graduate schools, with the federal grants again being limited to one-third of the total cost.

The bill provides $360 million that can be used for long-term, low-interest loans for construction of all higher education academic facilities.

The biggest hurdle the bill had to clear in its slow passage through Congress was the idea of making federal grants to private colleges, which raised the issue of the separation of church and state, since many private colleges are church-connected.

Grain Trade Board Is Unusually Quiet

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices held mostly within small fractional changes today in unusually quiet early transactions on the board of trade.

Business Forecasts on Optimistic Key

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — That seasonal preoccupation of corporation executives is in full swing. The forecasts of what's ahead for all of us but particularly for their own companies. And rarely has the outpouring been so much in one key.

Optimism, restrained but assured, is sounded by the great majority.

★ ★ ★

They have plenty of current statistics to cite in their belief that the momentum of the business upswing is strong and as yet practically unchallenged. They have hope that past feelings of edginess between business and government can be eased. They even see signs that the international climate may be improving.

HEARTENING

Heartening is the evidence that public confidence hasn't been shaken by the uncertainties inevitably accompanying the changeover in the federal administration. Retail sales have recovered after a period of faltering. Industrial orders have held up. So have production schedules. Some top executives have indicated sizable expansion plans for 1964 are unchanged.

★ ★ ★

As always, the most caution by individual businessmen is used when forecasting the trend of the national economy in general. Next, the problems of their particular industry may be stressed. But almost all are sure that their own companies are likely to see still better times in 1964 than in 1963.

Much of the optimism is based on a better - than - expected pickup in business this fall without any warning signs yet of real trouble ahead. And much is based on hopes that Congress finally will pass the long-discussed cut in corporate income tax rates.

LARGER CASH FLOW

Many companies are heartened by the larger flow of cash through their own tills. This has come from increased sales. It has been sweetened by cost - cutting measures finally taking effect. It has been swelled by relaxed regulations on depreciation allowances that may lower gross earnings on company books but by doing so also lower the tax payments.

★ ★ ★

The current feeling of well being in general is summed up by the economists of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York: "General business activity is still trending upward, paced by a brisk tempo of holiday trade and a continuation of the automobile industry's remarkable performance.

NEW AUTO MARK?

"Pushed hard in the closing weeks of the year, auto output appears certain to exceed 2¼ million units for the full fourth quarter, a mark never before attained in any three - month period. And with retail demand for cars remaining strong (fourth quarter sales should approximate 2 million), a carry-over into 1964 of this potent stimulus to a wide range of supplier industries is indicated."

★ ★ ★

The First National City Bank of New York generalizes: "With widespread confidence in the future, and with a blend of fiscal and monetary policies dedicated to achieving economic growth without inflation, the economy can advance to new heights in the months ahead."

In Icy Flint River

Car Plunges; 3 Drown

By The Associated Press

Three Flint men died trapped in their car when it hurtled through a bridge section and plunged beneath the ice of the Flint River Sunday.

Seventeen persons, including the Flint trio, were killed in automobile traffic during Michigan's next to last weekend before Christmas.

★ ★ ★

The 17 was one of the largest weekend tolls of the year. Ten victims were young people. Another was an infant. There were multiple deaths in five crashes. In addition, two young men were killed today in a car-truck collision near Wixom.

SAVED

A fourth occupant of the car that ran off the Flint River bridge was flung out and he was saved.

Flint police said the car carrying the four men—all in their 20's—whipped out of control because of high speed on a curve at the outskirts of the downtown section.

★ ★ ★

Skindivers recovered the bodies of Willie A. Southward, 24, owner and driver, and Everett Robinson, 26, and Tilman Lee Bennett Jr., 23.

The fourth man, Alex Lange, 24, suffered facial cuts and exposure. He was reported in fair condition at Hurley Hospital.

2 KILLED

Two Dearborn men, Alfred Burghardt, 22, and Stephen Gillespie, 21, were killed today when Burghardt's car rammed into the rear of a steel-hauling truck-trailer rig on I-96 in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Their deaths, occurring after midnight Sunday, we're not counted in the Associated Press tabulation of weekend fatalities. The tabulation began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

★ ★ ★

In Macomb County, Albert Ludeman, 20, of Anchorville, and Kenneth McCauley, 56, of New Baltimore, were killed in the head-on crash of their autos Sunday. Police said Ludeman apparently pulled out to pass on M-29 near Foster and hit the oncoming McCauley car.

Six other vehicles, unable to stop, piled into the wreckage. The chain reaction injured seven who were treated and released at a hospital, police said. McCauley's wife, Marie, 48, was in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Mount Clemens.

Q: "I am 62 years old. With my savings of $20,000 I should like to buy income-producing stocks. Are tobacco stocks safe? There is a rumor about Government reports on smoking. Is this true, and what effect would this have on the tobacco shares?" L.M.

A. The U.S. Public Health Service has been conducting a health study on cigarette smoking, and release is expected before the year-end. It is hard to believe that this report will favor the tobacco industry. In the past, however, the effects of adverse medical reports on cigarettes have been temporary, and the business has continued to grow in spite of them.

I believe that Reynolds is the best member of the tobacco group. An unfavorable report might set the stock back temporarily, and if so, I would buy it for secure and increasing income.

Norfolk & Western is satisfactory for its good yield. So also are Maytag, Atchison Rwy., and Libbey - Owens - Ford Glass.

Q. "I am a widow, 54, and have approximately $8,000 in Series E savings bonds. Can you recommend something better that I could place this money in to give me sufficient income to live on? My health is failing, and I fear I may not physically be able to work much longer." B.R.

A. If you have held these bonds some years, they are very likely now to be in their period of maximum return. By switching into common stocks, you could at the most — with safety — add only about $80 per year to your annual average Series E accruals of 3¾ per cent.

I advise you to retain your savings bonds. If you are under social security and become too ill to work, you may qualify for disability payments, and I should certainly apply.

Plant Sale Snagged by Lack of Data

Attempts to find a new owner for the Baldwin Rubber Division plant are being snagged by lack of information about its financial condition.

Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said today that the former owners, Baldwin-Montrose Chemical Co. have declined to open their books to prospective purchasers.

"We have worked quite hard to keep this plant in operation. We have parties very interested in buying it," stated Adams.

"But we have not been able to get operating statements or inventories. We haven't a ghost of a chance of selling it unless these are made available."

FAILS TO DELIVER

Despite a promise from Herbert J. Siegel, Baldwin-Montrose board chairman in New York, no such information has been produced, Adams said.

He said agents of interested buyers have not only been rebuffed when they went to the plant at 366 E. South Blvd., but in at least one case an attempt was made to discourage them.

Adams said, however, that Industrial Plant Corp., New York liquidating concern now inventorying the plant, has promised to release its figures when complete.

Although the plant was to have shut down Dec. 1, it is reported that a skeleton work force is finishing some orders.

The few dozen employes are only a shadow of the plant's past total employment of about 700.

No one likes to bid no-trump any more than I do, but I do try to temper my no-trump bids with judgment. Long experience has taught me that no one should hurry to bid no-trump unless his hand calls for it.

JACOBY

Unless your hand does call for a bid of some number of no-trump you should always try to find another call.

In a recent duplicate game I played with a strange partner who had the bad luck to make several most unfortunate no-trump calls.

Each one illustrated a good reason why no-trump should not be bid and each was properly punished.

Here is the first one. South had no reason to bid over East's one diamond. His redouble had shown strength and I could be trusted to find another bid when it became my turn.

Once he bid one no-trump I raised him to three. West opened a diamond and my queen of diamonds became of no value. Eventually, South lost four diamonds and a club and we were down one trick.

Had I been declarer at no-trump there would have been no way to keep me from making nine tricks and I probably would have made 10 or 11.

How could we get to three no-trump from my seat? Easy for good players. South would pass the one diamond call. I would go to two clubs and now it would be up to South to make a really good bid! South should bid two diamonds.

* * *

This bid would not really be a slam try, but an invitation for me to bid either a major suit or some number of no-trump. I would bid two no-trump with my partial diamond stopper and South would raise to three.

V. CARD. Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♦	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♦	Pass
5♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠A1043 ♥A105 ♦KQ74 ♣82

What do you do now?

A—Bid five hearts. There is some possibility that your partner will have the stuff to go to a grand slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five clubs your partner bids three no-trump over your three spades. What do you do now?

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China says Ho Chi Minh, president of Communist North Viet Nam, has donated a week's pay to the guerrilla fight against South Viet Nam.

A New China News Agency dispatch, monitored in Tokyo, said Ho announced his gift at a trade union rally.

On County Terms

Seeks to Amend Constitution

LANSING — The legislator who proposed the two-year extension of county officer terms—an idea his colleagues in the legislature nixed last week — has come up with a new proposition to accomplish his objective.

This time it's a constitutional amendment that would put county officials on an election schedule with state officers instead of presidential contests.

"If we cannot resolve this by statute, I'm willing to sponsor a constitutional amendment," said Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare.

* * *

Strange said the amendment could be placed on the ballot next November. It would say, "Notwithstanding any other provision of this constitution, county officers elected in November of 1964 will take office Jan. 1, 1965, for two-year terms. Beginning in 1966 they shall run for four-year terms."

MEASURE FAILS

Strange had hoped the legislature would pass a bill allowing the state's county officials to bypass the 1964 election and begin their four-year terms under the new constitution in 1966.

The measure failed when almost all House Democrats and some Republicans opposed giving incumbent county officers a two-year free ride in office.

The constitution specifies that four-year terms of the governor and other state officers will begin in 1966 but gives no specific beginning date for the county officers' terms.

* * *

Strange, meanwhile, was cool toward a proposal to give township officials a similar term extension. He said the problem of an overloaded ballot would merely be extended until 1966.

AUTOMATIC

However, State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, said today that township officials automatically will have their terms extended until 1966 under the new constitution unless the legislature finds a way to change that result or a constitutional amendment is adopted.

The constitution abolished the old odd-year spring elections — at which township officials were elected — and prohibits the shortening of any elected officer's term.

The township officials would have faced election again in the spring of 1965.

* * *

Roberts said the legislature could provide for township elections earlier than 1966 only if the constitution is amended, because the document also prohibits special elections.

State police at the Brighton post said Burghardt smashed into a tractor trailer truck being driven by Norman E. Hagen, 36, of Detroit. Hagen was not injured.

The truck was carrying 50 tons of rolled steel, police said.

Both vehicles were traveling west and, according to Hagen, he was going about 50 miles per hour.

The crash occurred a half mile east of South Hill, a short distance from where four men were killed Nov. 7 when their car ran into the rear of truck parked on the shoulder.

The quadruple fatality was the worst accident in the county to date.

Boy Describes Rapist-Slayer

Husky Negro Hunted in Death of Woman

DETROIT (UPI) — A young boy's description of a husky Negro man was the key clue police had today in last Friday's rape-strangulation of a suburban Highland Park beauty shop operator.

The beauty operator, Mrs. Birginia Bannick, 32, of Royal Oak was found dead in her shop, the Delmond Beauty Salon. She had been strangled and criminally assaulted.

Detective Lt. Donald Mead said the boy, 11 years old, told him he was late for school and passed the shop about 9 a.m. when he saw the man shaking at the front door.

* * *

A few minutes later, the boy said, he saw the man running south on Woodward, carrying what appeared to be a purse.

FOUND BY CUSTOMER

Mrs. Bannick, who was divorced nine years ago in Bad Axe, was found about 11 a.m. by a customer.

A purse, which friends said she always carried, was missing from the shop.

The boy said the man was about 20 to 30 years old, about 6 feet tall and weighed about 175 pounds. He said the man had a thin mustache and wore a black, narrow-brimmed felt hat which had bluish black feathers in the band. He said he also wore a black leather jacket with sleeves that seemed to be too short.

* * *

Mrs. Bannick was divorced nine years ago from Arlen Bannick, operator of the Bad Axe Roller Rink, who has since remarried. The couple has a daughter, Linda Lee, 12.

Service for the victim will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Edward Catholic Church in Kinde, near Bad Axe.

Man Escapes Slightly Hurt as Car Is Split

A Pontiac man escaped serious injury yesterday after his car was torn in two when it was hit broadside by another vehicle.

In satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with face lacerations is Henry James, 52, of 155 Elizabeth Lake.

Pontiac police said James was tossed 25 feet from the point of impact at Oakland and Cass. The accident occurred at 6:15 a.m.

The driver of the other car, Andrew DeBoes, 27, of 139 Gage, was treated and released.

DeBoes was ticketed for driving without an operator's license. Police said he disregarded a traffic signal.

New Mental Health Board Asks Money for Program

Oakland County's newly formed Community Mental Health Board has requested $10,000 from the County Board of Supervisors to start developing a new program here next year.

The program is aimed at the early treatment of mental patients at community clinics, yet to be established, operated by the county on a state matching-fund basis.

Most of the money would be used to hire a program coordinator. He will do much of the legwork for the mental health board in determining needs and existing programs.

At an organizational meeting Friday at the County Service Center, the new board's chairman, Paul N. Averill named four committees.

PROGRAM PRIORITY

He said their first duty is to establish a priority of program.

William H. Wagner, county supervisor from Berkley, was named chairman of a committee to study financing and the implications of the new Michigan law which enables counties to enter the mental health field.

Dr. Harry Arnkoff, resident psychiatrist at Pontiac State Hospital, will head a committee to study the mental health activities of various agencies already operating in the county and determine what needs are not being fulfilled.

* * *

Royal Oak Municipal Judge Elmer E. Hartwig heads an education and information committee immediately responsible for assuring the public that existing mental health services will be continued while being brought into a single county program.

EYES BUDGET

A fourth committee, headed by Oakland University Economics Professor Kenneth D. Roose, was formed to study first year requirements in the mental health field and recommend a budget.

A board member, Probate Judge Donald E. Adams urged the board to find more places where psychiatric treatment can be provided now.

Dr. Arnkoff said this will be difficult because of a shortage of psychiatrists.

Further, he said, the committee shouldn't expect those psychiatrists in private practice to offer their services through any public clinics.

* * *

Averill said he hoped a community approach to mental health, the first in Michigan, would draw the interest and active participation of psychiatrists.

MEETING TODAY

Most of the mental health board members were to attend a meeting with Charles F. Wagg, director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, today at Oakland University.

* * *

He was to outline rules and regulations, prepared by his department, for implementing the new mental health act.

Impact of Assassination Still Felt

Shake-Up of Film, TV Schedules Continues

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Movie and television schedules continue to get a shaking up in the wake of President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

THOMAS

The tragedy came at a time when the movie companies were making several films on political matters, something that Hollywood had avoided in recent years.

"Dr. Strangelove," a satirical treatment of an atomic conflict between the Soviet Union and the United States starring Peter Sellers and George C. Scott, was originally scheduled for a premiere last week. It was postponed until Jan. 29, when it will open in New York, London and Toronto.

KEPT ON SCHEDULE

"Fail Safe," a straight-faced treatment of an atomic war with Henry Fonda as a young president, remains scheduled for summer release.

If Paramount had intentions of putting out "Seven Days in May" before year's end for Motion Picture Academy consideration, the idea has been abandoned. It will be released at the end of February. The film concerns a military attempt to take over the presidency and stars Fredric March, Kirk Douglas and Burt Lancaster.

★ ★ ★

"The Best Man," a study of convention politics, will be out in May and June. It has undergone several cuts of references to the Kennedys. Henry Fonda is a candidate in this one. "Take Her, She's Mine," currently in release, had a few lines about the Kennedys cut.

★ ★ ★

Warners has scheduled "Kisses For My President" for election day, 1964. It stars Polly Bergen as the president and Fred MacMurray as her First Man. The studio said there were no topical gags in it.

Warners' decision to withdraw "PT 109" from release has drawn a few complaints from citizens who would like to see the film of the late president's war heroism. As a spokesman pointed out, the necessity of advertising and charging admission for the movie would appear to be capitalizing on the tragedy.

★ ★ ★

All of the television networks have reviewed the films, tapes and scripts of upcoming shows to eliminate dialogue of situations that might be untimely or offensive. An entire Joey Bishop show that featured Vaughn Meader in a Kennedy impersonation had to be scrapped. Meader also was eliminated from the Record Academy special.

A Phil Silvers show titled "Move Forward with Vigah" underwent extensive changes, including the title. Assassination plots on "Route 66" and "Channing" had been filmed and are now indefinitely postponed.

REMARK CHANGED

A cocktail party scene in a "Dr. Kildare" show carried a line, "We have another McKinley in the White House." The remark was changed to read "Coolidge."

The song about Dallas, "Big D," was eliminated from a Lawrence Welk show that was scheduled for some local showings after a network play. Even a scene in the cartoon "Flintstones" was toned down. It was a spoof of a hillbilly feud and contained "too much gunplay."

Movies and television have fared better than the magazines with their distant deadlines. Many are in print with untimely articles.

Super Powder Room a Must for White House Hopefuls

BY EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Nowadays when a $25,000 powder room is one of the favorite extravaganzas of the New York Status Symbol Set, it's interesting that Mrs. Richard Nixon has spent several thousand dollars (probably less than $5,000) for her ladies' retiring room in the new Nixon menage on Fifth Avenue next door to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and "Happy."

WILSON

"It would seem to indicate that Mrs. Nixon is expecting a very high class group using her powder room," I was told.

Mrs. Nixon went personally to see fancy bathroom designer Sherle Wagner. Moving in the same league with the King of Morocco, the Maharanee of Baroda, Burt Lancaster, Bob Hope and Debbie Reynolds, Mrs. Nixon ordered some "acanthus" design gold faucets. In a bargain-hunting mood, she made clear she didn't want anything "expensive." (The cheapest faucets are about $150.)

The conclusion is that Mrs. Nixon is leaving nothing, but nothing, unturned to give her husband "Status." Barbara Hutton, Mrs. Vincent Astor, the David Sarnoffs, Frank Sinatra and others have been known to have guests come in and look at the powder room first. Some guests so love the bathroom they never leave it.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Goldwater's Sherle Wagner bathroom is considerably more grandiose than Mrs. Nixon's.

Fancy bathrooms don't always win fair lady. A wealthy man in Miami Beach, showing his bathroom to a fashion magazine photographer, said to the photog, "Pardon me if I'm not myself today. My wife has just run away with the chauffeur."

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Carol Burnett and husband Joe Hamilton named their daughter born at St. Clare's Hospital, Carrie Louise . . . Jonathan Winters started filming his first TV special, with guest Art Carney. (It'll be shown Feb. 20) . . . Joan Crawford's not superstitious—she had a party at Voisin Friday the 13th, for her film "Strait-Jacket." . . . Eli Wallach was bitten on the neck by a cheetah in a scene for "Moonspinner."

Singer Tommy Leonetti's wife, Patricia Quinn, makes her acting debut in June Havoc's show "Marathon 30." . . . Attention, kids: Laurence Naismith, who's Santa Claus in the musical "Here's Love," can't get off on Christmas Eve. . . . Hilliard Elkins, producer of "Golden Boy," is recovering from a fall downstairs. . . . L. A. Rams footballer Charley Britt enrolled at the MGM school so he can do he-man film roles in the off-season.

★ ★ ★

REMEMBERED QUOTES: "The average person is torn between doctor telling him not to worry, and his lawyer telling him he ought to have a will."

EARL'S PEARLS: RCA had to get a new peacock as its color TV symbol, reports Shelby Friedman. The old one ate so much he developed a pot at the end of his rainbow.

Myron Cohen says at the Copa he was offered a toupe that'd make him look 20 years younger: But at my age I can't afford to waste an hour a day combing it." . . . That's earl, brother.

Set U.N. Admission for African Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Zanzibar and Kenya join the United Nations today, bringing membership in the world organization to 113 nations.

The Security Council was to adopt British-Ghanaian resolutions recommending both new countries for admission. The General Assembly was expected to vote them into membership soon after.

★ ★ ★

Zanzibar, a former British protectorate, became independent Tuesday. Kenya was a British crown colony until it became independent Thursday. Both remain in the British Commonwealth.

The two nations bring the ranks of the already powerful Asian-African group at the United Nations to 58 countries, just over half the U.N. membership.

The group is campaigning to enlarge U.N. councils to get more seats for its members, who numbered only 11 in 1945.

COUNCIL EXPANSION

The Africans were trying to work out a deal with the 21-nation Latin-American group to override Big Four opposition and push resolutions through the General Assembly calling for expansion of the Security Council from 11 to 15 seats and the Economic and Social Council from 18 to 27 seats.

The Latin Americans also are sponsoring a resolution to expand the Security Council to 13 seats and the Economic and Social Council to 24.

★ ★ ★

Informed diplomats said eight of the 21 Latin-American delegations pledged their support to the Asian-African proposals after the sponsors offered these concessions:

1. An extra vice presidency for Latin America, making three, on an enlarged assembly steering committee.

★ ★ ★

2. A full, extra Latin-American seat on an expanded Economic and Social Council.

3. A guarantee that Latin America would retain its two seats on the Security Council whether that council was expanded or not.

BLOCK ENLARGEMENT

The Soviet Union has stated publicly and Britain, France and the United States have hinted privately they would block the enlargement sought by the Asian-African sponsors.

Any one of them could do so. Enlarging the council requires amendment of the U. N. charter and no amendment can take effect without ratification by the five permanent members of the Security Council—the Big Four plus Nationalist China.

Mother Beats, Kills Son, 5

Children All Suffering From Malnutrition

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — Airman 1.C. Henry A. Binning, 28, was deeply worried about the way his wife neglected or beat the couple's five children, but he dared not seek help.

His pregnant wife, Mrs. Ella Mae Binning, 25, threatened to kill herself and all the children if he did.

She was particularly resentful of Marcus DeWayne and Elizabeth Roxanne, both 5. Mrs. Binning thought her husband ran around with other women while she was pregnant with them.

The two children were born 11 months apart.

Saturday, Marcus got in an argument with the other children and Mrs. Binning beat him with a hammer. She also beat Roxanne.

Mrs. Binning called an ambulance, but by the time the boy got to the hospital he was dead. Attendants said he had two broken legs, a fractured arm, bruises and rope burns on his neck. He had teeth marks all over his body.

Roxanne, suffering from malnutrition, was reported in fair condition with a possible skull fracture, bruises and mutilated fingers and toes.

The couples' other children aged 7, 2 and 1, were placed in the Randall County Welfare Home. They apparently had not beaten, but all were suffering from malnutrition.

NO BOND ALLOWED

Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson ordered Mrs. Binning held without bond at the county jail at Canyon, Tex., south of Amarillo. She admitted the beatings and was charged with murder.

★ ★ ★

Detective Lt. Charles Hollis said Binning told him he had known about the beatings for a long time. He told Hollis, "She threatened to kill herself and all the children if I told anyone."

Belgian Actress, Aide's Daughter, Foiled in Escape

ROME (AP)—Belgian actress Catherine Spaak returned to Rome under police escort today, and authorities told her not to leave the capital again without their permission.

They lodged no charges against her, allowed her to go to a hotel, and let her keep her 8-month-old daughter, Sabrina.

★ ★ ★

The 18-year-old blonde, niece of Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, disappeared from Rome Saturday night.

Her husband, Italian actor Fabrizio Capucci, told police she had left their home with their daughter. She and Capucci, who is 22, have both filed separation suits. The two were married last January.

★ ★ ★

Frontier police stopped Miss Spaak Sunday in the Italian Alps as she was trying to cross into France by train.

S. Korea Junta Releases 94

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—South Korea's military junta today freed 94 political prisoners, including some top officials of former President Syngman Rhee's government.

★ ★ ★

They were among about 20,000 prisoners to be freed within the day in a special amnesty proclaimed for the inauguration of President-elect Chung Hee Park Tuesday.

Among the political prisoners freed were Han Hi-suk, former vice speaker of the National Assembly and Rhee's campaign manager for the 1960 presidential elections, and Hong Chin-ki, justice minister in the last Rhee government.

★ ★ ★

They were serving 15-year prison terms on charges of rigging the 1960 presidential elections and of killing student demonstrators during an antigovernment uprising after the elections.

An international agency to promote peaceful uses of atomic energy has been endorsed by the United Nations.

House Starts Foreign Aid Debate Today

$2.8-Billion Measure Far Below JFK Bid; Adjournment Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) —The House debates foreign aid appropriations today as an adjournment-bent Congress begins its final week of work.

The House Appropriations Committee has recommended $2,801,700,000 in new funds for the aid program—$1,723,625,000 below the request of the late President John F. Kennedy. President Johnson has appealed to Congress to reverse the reduction lest the United States be forced "to follow policies of weakness and retreat."

The foreign aid appropriation is part of a $4,430,966,960 major money measure, one of six that are the main items on Congress' program this week.

The decks have been cleared of everything else controversial, and leaders hope to call it quits Friday after more than 11 months of almost continuous session. The prospect is, however, that the windup will come as usual either late Saturday or early Sunday.

★ ★ ★

There also is concern that after Thursday it may be hard to keep a majority of the Senate and the House in Washington to transact business. Many members already have left.

ONE OF DEEPEST

The aid cut approved Saturday by the appropriations committee is one of the deepest ever recommended for the program. The amount approved is $832 million below the spending ceiling authorized by Congress last week in a separate measure.

"The proposed reductions in foreign aid funds would put our foreign policy in a straitjacket," Johnson said in a statement.

The committee's action in slashing from $136 million to $100 million U.S. funds earmarked for voluntary contributions to special U. N. programs, drew the wrath of Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

The House may pass the appropriation measure today after attempts to increase the aid funds and others to cut it are made. The bill has not yet been considered by the Senate.

Reflects Goal of More Bread, Fewer Guns

Reds Say Slash of $666 Million 4.3 Pct. of Military Allocation

MOSCOW (AP)—A cut of 4.3 per cent in the Soviet military budget and an increase of 53 per cent in investments for consumer goods industries over the next two years were announced today.

The new budget submitted to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) reflected Premier Krushchev's proclaimed goal of giving the Russian people more bread and fewer guns.

But it was only a modest start in his plans for giant boosts in fertilizer and other consumer industries in the next seven years.

With Khrushchev listening, Finance Minister Vasily Garbuzov announced the military budget for 1964 would be cut by 600 million rubles — $666 million at the official exchange rate. A cut had been promised by Khrushchev at the meeting of the Communist Party Central Committee last week.

★ ★ ★

Without giving figures, national planner Pytor Lomako announced additional investments in agriculture, housing, light industry and food processing in the 1964-65 period would be 53 per cent higher than in the past two years.

MILITARY BUDGET

The military budget for 1964 totals $14.76 billion out of a total government expenditure of $101.34 billion.

Military spending for 1963 was given as $15.4 billion.

Western specialists in Soviet budgets insist that approximately half the annual Soviet expenditure is associated with the military, about the same proportion as in the United States.

★ ★ ★

However, there is no immediate means of making a clear comparison between Soviet budgets and American budgets. The Soviet budget, unlike the American, includes investments in industry which are made by private operators in America.

WON'T WEAKEN

The finance minister emphasized the cutback in military spending will not weaken Soviet defenses.

The budget called for expenditure of $13.2 billion in 1964 on the lagging Soviet agriculture. Garbuzov said this was 22.7 per cent more than the 1963 allocation. He said the 1965 expenditure on agriculture would be $14.2 billion.

This year the Soviet Union had one of its poorest harvests in a numbers of years. Wheat production was at least 12 million tons short of the country's needs, and the government has to place large orders with Canada and other Western producers.

Mystery Surrounds LA Flood Disaster

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Three hundred million gallons of water roared out of a gaping hole in Baldwin Hills Reservoir, leaving three persons dead, at least $10 million damage—and one big question: Why?

Investigators probed the cause of Saturday's devastating flood today as cleanup crews and heartsick homeowners moved in to clear the stricken area of tons of muck and debris.

The giant wall of water from the breaking dam swept blocks of homes away. Only deep, eroded gullies remained where attractive dwellings stood.

Sixty-four homes were destroyed and 82 received major damage.

The big 19.5-acre reservoir, owned by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, burst with a mighty roar Saturday afternoon after a small leak developed earlier in the day.

The earth shook as huge chunks of earth from the dam collapsed into the hole created by the rushing waters.

The flood smashed through an expensive canyon residential area, hit a garden court apartment development, spread through two business districts and another residential neighborhood, then piled into a flood control channel and found its way to the ocean about five miles away.

★ ★ ★

Up to 10 inches of thick mud covered everything in the path of the water.

POINTS PROBED

The many-faceted investigation starting today will attempt to answer:

Mayor Samuel Yorty, who wants to know why the dam broke.

Thousands of flood victims, who want to know who will pay for the damage.

★ ★ ★

Thousands of other residents, living below similar reservoirs, and wondering.

FACT FINDERS

Yorty has asked Franklin D. Murphy, chancellor of UCLA; Dr. Norman Topping, president of the University of Southern California; and Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, president of Caltech, to name members of a blue-ribbon fact finding board to study the tragedy.

U. S. Rep. James Roosevelt whose area includes the reservoir site, is scheduled to arrive today to inspect the disaster area.

Edward McDermott, director of the office of emergency planning under the president, will accompany Roosevelt.

★ ★ ★

Disaster experts met with police and other officials to discuss the damage. The Small Business Administration declared Baldwin Hills a disaster area, making available long-term, low-interest loans for flood victims.

MANY HOLES

Max K. Socha, chief engineer of water works, said that with the reservoir now empty, a long series of ragged holes can be seen in the asphalt inner surface of the dam.

The holes lead in a straight line from one side to the big break in the wall and may

Seek to End Tolls on Bridge

Ask U. S. Purchase Mackinac Span

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. Victor A. Knox and John B. Bennett, Michigan Republicans, proposed legislation today providing for toll-free operation of the Mackinac Bridge linking the Upper and Lower Peninsulas of Michigan.

The secretary of commerce would be authorized to pay the state of Michigan up to $65,953,800 on condition that the five-mile span across the Straits of Mackinac be opened to free travel.

This is 90 per cent of the construction cost and is the amount of federal contribution for which the bridge would have been eligible if it had been built as part of the interstate highway system under a 1959 act.

★ ★ ★

"The Mackinac Bridge is part of Interstate Route 75," the two said in a joint statement, "and the users of that highway should not be penalized because the state, to meet an urgent need, issued bonds to finance its construction as a toll bridge before the interstate system of free expressways was authorized by Congress."

PROHIBITIVE TOLLS

Tourists and commercial interests, they said, have been deterred from making full use of the bridge by tolls ranging from $3.75 for passenger cars to $15.50 for big trailer trucks.

"Completion of the bridge in 1957 was expected to open our depressed area to intensive economic development," Knox and Bennett said.

"However, the excessive tolls have kept our expectations from being realized."

The two members noted that the House Public Works Committee recently approved a bill to pay the city of Chicago $63,838,000 so that it could retire bonds issued on the Chicago Skyway toll bridge and eliminate all user charges.

St. Joseph Hospital Starts New Addition

Ground was broken yesterday afternoon for a new five-story addition to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The ceremony, on the front lawn of the hospital, marked the start of a $3.5-million expansion and improvement program at the hospital.

U.S. Senator Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich., was principal speaker at the event.

McNamara was cosponsor of Accelerated Public Works Act which is providing a $1.5-million grant toward the project cost. It is the largest of 14 grants to Michigan hospitals to date.

He pointed out that through the federal grant, the hospital can continue "the vital service it has rendered to the Pontiac area since it was founded 36 years ago."

★ ★ ★

The new addition is part of the first phase, which will increase bed capacity by 10 per cent, provide a new emergency ward, kitchen and cafeteria.

OTHER DEVELOPMENT

Also included will be creation of a 27-bed nursing unit for chronic disease rehabilitation and remodeling and enlarging of the physical therapy department and out-patient clinic.

Taking part in the ceremony yesterday were Sister Mary Xavier, administrator and Mother Mary Justine, mother provincial of the Detroit Province of The Religious Sisters of Mercy, who operate the hospital.

Dr. Alvin R. Larson, president of the hospital medical staff, also joined in the ground breaking. Walter K. Willman, vice president of the lay advisory board, was master of ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Eugene Paddock, pastor of Holy Name Parish, Birmingham, offered the invocation and benediction and blessed the site of the new building.

★ ★ ★

The first phase of the expansion program is scheduled for completion in 20 months.

Freeway Route Set for 10 Mile

I-696 Controversy Not Over for County

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today resolved a long and bitter controversy among south Oakland County cities with an announcement that 10 Mile Road will be the route of the new I-696 east-west freeway from Lahser Road to Dequindre Road.

But the decision in all probability has not ended the controversy. Mackie must go before city councils to get the necessary route approvals.

Mackie said he hopes to get the approvals by next June 30 in order to keep to a timetable that calls for construction to begin in 1967.

★ ★ ★

Earlier this year, the highway department asked the affected communities to decide on recommendations for the freeway's route from among four basic alternates — three of which followed 11 Mile Road.

NO AGREEMENT

But the cities could not agree on a route.

Mackie gave six reasons for choosing the 10 Mile route.

● From 350 to 432 fewer homes would be condemned.

★ ★ ★

● The 10 Mile alignment follows existing municipal boundaries more closely, meaning less disruption of community living patterns and school attendance areas.

2 TOWN DRAIN

● The 11 Mile Road routes would mean substantial alterations to the newly completed 12 Town Drain at the I-75 interchange.

● Access to the Detroit Zoological Park would be improved.

● The 11 Mile alignments would have to be one to three blocks away from 11 Mile Road, leaving an undesirable situation of homes being left between the freeway and 11 Mile Road.

★ ★

● The 10 Mile route will save about $1 million.

Mackie said one formal meeting was held with each of the 16 communities affected by the four alignments under study, and some 50 meetings were held with other officials of the communities.

ONLY THESE REMAIN — Fire which gutted the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Williams in Oxford Saturday missed the Christmas stockings of 9 of their 10 children. The flames, which caused an estimated $20,000 damage, started from ashes cleaned out of this fireplace. Before the blaze was brought under control, it had spread to all 10 rooms in the house. U.S. Will Maintain Troops in Europe, Says Johnson

PARIS (AP)—President Johnson assured the North Atlantic Treaty Organization today that the United States will maintain its troop strength in Europe so long as these men are needed.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's promise was contained in a message read by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at the opening of NATO's 3-day winter ministerial meeting to survey the state of Western defenses and hopes for peace.

Johnson stressed that his administration would continue the late President John F. Kennedy's strong line of support for NATO.

BALANCED POSTURE

Johnson called for "a balanced NATO defense posture, including powerful nuclear and non-nuclear forces, which will deter aggression."

The President added:

"To NATO's continuing fulfillment of this task, I pledge my country's will and resources. We will keep in Europe the equivalent of six American divisions that are now deployed there, so long as they are needed; and under present circumstances there is no doubt that they will continue to be needed."

★ ★ ★

With his pledge, Johnson tried to put at rest the speculation that has been current in Europe since the Big Lift exercise two months ago that a sizable withdrawal of American troops was in the wind. Other U.S. officials have given such assurances repeatedly since Big Lift.

Johnson said U.S. fulfillment of its NATO commitments is a lasting memorial to the stature of President Kennedy.

CALLED ON ALLIES

He also called on America's allies to do their part.

"I am confident that our allies will also make their full contributions to this NATO defense, so that the burdens and responsibilities of partnership may be equitably shared.

★ ★ ★

"Military strength — both nuclear and non-nuclear—is useful only as it serves political ends.

"Our task is to ensure that NATO remains an effective means for concerting these ends, as well as for building that strength.

"NATO is the enduring instrument for joining such a Europe and the United States in common programs to meet common military and political needs."

BEST HONOR

Johnson said NATO can best honor Kennedy's memory "by continuing our pursuit of the goal of Atlantic partnership—by seeking an ever-closer collaboration between a united Europe and the United States in dealing with all the great and burdensome tasks of building and defending a community of free nations."

Tin Miners Still Hold Four Yanks

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Communist-led tin miners continued to hold 19 hostages, including four Americans, today while awaiting an explanation of a deal for their release negotiated by leftist Vice President Juan Lechin.

★ ★ ★

It was hoped the hostages would be released sometime today after Lechin, head of the miners' union, explains the agreement at a general meeting in Catavi, the mining center 180 miles southeast of La Paz where the hostages were held.

★ ★ ★

The 19 were expected to be freed Sunday night, but some radio stations controlled by the miners criticized the agreement and accused the union leadership of capitulating to government pressure.

Sources close to the miners believed Lechin, who arrived in Catavi Sunday night, would have no trouble convincing the rank and file to free the hostages.

COMMUNIST CAUSE

The miners seized the hostages in Catavi Dec. 6 as pawns to bargain for the release of two Communist union leaders arrested by the government of President Victor Paz Estenssoro on a number of charges.

★ ★ ★

In exchange for the release of the hostages, the government agreed to put the two union leaders — Irineo Pimental and Federico Escobar — on trial in Catavi instead of in La Paz and to release them on bail. The government also agreed to withdraw 3,000 troops and police sent into the mine areas after the hostages were seized.

★ ★ ★

President Paz Estenssoro sent his military chief, Gen. Alfredo Ovando, to Oruro to pick up the hostages and order the troop withdrawal.

★ ★ ★

Paz Estenssoro said Sunday night he was optimistic the captives would be freed.

"I profoundly regret that the hostages were seized and held," he said.

SCATTERED DEBRIS — Workmen begin to clean up debris strewn by the rushing flood waters from broken Baldwin Hills Reservoir, which cracked Saturday. Apartment buildings in background were severely damaged, and some buildings which stood in foreground were ripped from their foundations. Almost all residents were evacuated by police warnings.

Big Question Asked in LA Flood—Why?

have been the leaks that caused the dam to collapse, Socha said.

Other possibilities mentioned included earth tremors, residue from oil drilling and cracking and stretching of the whole area.

★ ★ ★

Payment for damage probably will hinge on a court decision on the cause of the break.

The department of water and power is covered by $14.8 million in insurance but if it is found that the dam collapsed because of an "act of God" rather than structural failure, the insurance companies might not have to pay.

NO INSURANCE

Most homeowners did not have flood insurance because of the high rates.

Baldwin Hills is an area of rolling hills in the western section of Los Angeles near Culver City, south of Hollywood and near MGM studios.

Its residents were occupied with their usual Saturday chores, recreation and Christmas shopping when a caretaker discovered the first pencil-thin crack in the dam.

Police began house to house warnings to evacuate shortly before 2 p.m.

At 3:38, the dam broke.

Those who hadn't left the area had to flee for their lives.

Roberts Eyes Judge Problem

By JIM DYGERT

The senator's frame of mind is calmer today than it was Friday.

He has a possible solution to the problem behind a legislative bargaining maneuver that boiled his temper almost into resigning his committee chairmanship Friday.

The senator is Farrell E. Roberts, Oakland County's Republican representative in the State Senate.

★ ★ ★

Roberts' indignation flared red hot Friday when some of his closest friends in the legislature and on his Senate Judiciary Committee were pushing for completion of a swap that would have helped a Grand Rapids judge at the expense of three Oakland County judges.

'TOO FAST'

Roberts threatened to quit his committee post—which he won last January when Romney Republicans got control of the Senate—"because there is too much horse trading going on."

"They were trying to move too fast," Roberts said today.

His new idea would eliminate the need for a vote trade between Republicans and Democrats in order to solve the Grand Rapids problem.

★ ★ ★

It all began Wednesday when the House approved a bill to abolish the Grand Rapids Superior Court and create a fourth Circuit Court judgeship in Kent County, but refused to give the measure immediate effect.

IMMEDIATE

Kent County Republicans need immediate effect so that Gov. George Romney could appoint Superior Court Judge Claude Vandar Ploeg to the Circuit Court post.

Romney will not have the power to fill judicial vacancies after the new constitution takes effect Jan. 1, and the bill ordinarily would not become law until after 90 days.

Republicans decided to kill a provision in a Senate-approved bill that would give appointed judges a ballot designation of incumbency — which Democrats oppose — in order to get Democratic support for the Kent County bill.

★ ★ ★

But, Roberts, who backed the incumbency designation, resisted pressures to call a committee meeting Friday to reconsider the provision and approve the deal. Oakland County has three judges appointed by Romney — Arthur E. Moore, Philip Pratt and James S. Thorburn.

CRISIS AVERTED

A crisis was finally averted when the committee's vice chairman, Sen. Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, sided with Roberts, and the rest of the members yielded to Roberts' plea that a sensible solution could be achieved this week.

★ ★ ★

Roberts' solution is legislation to absorb the Grand Rapids Superior Court, which is unique in the state, into the Kent County Circuit Court with Vander Ploeg becoming a Circuit Court judge automatically without need for appointment or election.

★ ★ ★

Roberts said the idea would be examined closely today.

Seek 2nd Hearing

BIRMINGHAM — The persistent owners of property in the area bounded by Lincoln, Floyd, Landon and Ann streets are planning a return appearance before the City Commission.

They are determined that their lots shall be rezoned from residential to neighborhood business, despite the fact that the commission turned down their request only a month ago.

The governing unit tonight will consider a petition for another hearing on the matter.

The area was much discussed by the planning commission during the preparation of a preliminary land-use plan this summer.

RESIDENTIAL NATURE

Planners recommended that the residential nature of the area be maintained and city commissioners agreed.

Still before the commission is a request by the Church of Christ on property it owns just east of Floyd. The church is seeking conversion of the property to a multiple residence zone.

The commission will be informed tonight that the city is in line to receive a parcel of property which would increase the size of Linden Park by about an acre.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Smith propose to give the property to the city. Located between Linden Park and Southfield Road, the parcel contains about 300 feet of the Rouge River and its flood plain.

A performance of Gian-Carlo Menotti's Christmas opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is scheduled for tomorrow night at the Community House.

★ ★ ★

Presented by the Marygrove Players and college chorus, the opera will begin at 7:30 p.m. There will be a nominal admission fee.

Posse Hunts 4 Accused in Murder

BUCKHOLTS, Tex. (AP) — A 75-man posse scoured this central Texas area today for four men accused of killing an Alabaman, binding his wife and dumping her into a well with the body of her husband.

Sheriff W. A. Bratton said at Cuba, Ala., that the fugitives were former carnival workers blamed for robbing farm families and stealing cars in three other states.

Officers used state prison bloodhounds in a search through the night in freezing weather. It centered on a wooded sector close to the home of one of the wanted men outside Buckholts.

In Alabama, Solicitor Tom Boggs issued warrants charging the four men with murder, attempted murder, armed robbery and burglary. The warrants named Gerald Eaton, 27, of Buckholts; Don Lucas, 18, Clarence Coon, 20, and Dennis Wood, 17.

They were accused in the slaying of Leonard Culpepper, 55, a soft drink salesman, at his home near the Alabama-Mississippi line Friday.

Bratton said four men robbed Culpepper of $125, shooting him once in the spine and twice in the head, and dumping the dead man into a well 12 feet deep.

It was next day, while the Alabama sheriff and a deputy were investigating a burglary at a home just one mile distant, before the body of Culpepper was found. His wife, with hands tied behind her back, had spent the night lying atop her dead husband.

Mrs. Culpepper was taken to a hospital in grave condition.

Scottish Earl Dies

FAIRLIE, Scotland (AP) — The Earl of Glasgow, 89, a retired captain in the Royal Navy died Saturday. He was the eighth holder of the peerage which now passes to his son, who retired from the Navy as a rear admiral in September.

Trading Fairly Active

Market Shows Slight Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market edged to the upside in early trading today. Trading was fairly active at the start.

Tobaccos, auto stocks and most of the steels and chemicals provided uncertain leadership. Most changes were by fractions.

The higher priced stocks that fit into the category of wide movers also gained ground. Some of their gains reached 3 or so.

Tobaccos evidently were helped by a report that there will be no immediate rush for remedial action by the government once the public health service report on smoking is made public.

FORECAST BOOST

U.S. Gypsum added nearly a point in the face of forecasts of record construction spending next year.

Most of the steels picked up a fraction as an increase in first quarter 1964 shipments was anticipated.

★ ★ ★

The rail section, which helped take the Associated Press average to a new high last week, lagged. Santa Fe dipped and Southern Pacific gained a little. New York Central was unchanged and Pennsylvania posted a minimum gain.

Friday, the Associated Press 60-stock average advanced .8 at 284.4, a new high.

American stock exchange prices were mixed.

LBJ Signs Bill for College Aid

Provides Funds for Building Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed today a bill putting the government in partnership with the nation's colleges to help them meet rapidly rising enrollments.

Johnson's pen put an end to a three-year struggle launched by the late President John F. Kennedy to provide federal aid for construction of college classrooms, laboratories and libraries.

The bill that finally reached the White House authorizes a federal outlay of $1,195,000,000 over three years. It's aim is to make room in higher education institutions for enrollments expected to increase from 4.2 million in 1962 to 7 million by 1970.

More than half the money is earmarked for grants for construction of undergraduate and junior college facilities. Each state must use 22 per cent of its allotment for public junior colleges and technical institutes.

BUILDS LIBRARIES

The remainder of that portion can go to both public and private undergraduate colleges for building libraries and science, engineering, mathematics and foreign language classrooms. The federal grant would be limited to one-third of such construction costs.

Another $145 million will go for establishing or improving graduate schools, with the federal grants again being limited to one-third of the total cost.

The bill provides $360 million that can be used for long-term, low-interest loans for construction of all higher education academic facilities.

The biggest hurdle the bill had to clear in its slow passage through Congress was the idea of making federal grants to private colleges, which raised the issue of the separation of church and state, since many private colleges are church-connected.

Plant Sale Snagged by Lack of Data

Attempts to find a new owner for the Baldwin Rubber Division plant are being snagged by lack of information about its financial condition.

Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, said today that the former owners, Baldwin-Montrose Chemical Co. have declined to open their books to prospective purchasers.

"We have worked quite hard to keep this plant in operation. We have parties very interested in buying it," stated Adams.

"But we have not been able to get operating statements or inventories. We haven't a ghost of a chance of selling it unless these are made available."

FAILS TO DELIVER

Despite a promise from Herbert J. Siegel, Baldwin-Montrose board chairman in New York, no such information has been produced, Adams said.

He said agents of interested buyers have not only been rebuffed when they went to the plant at 366 E. South Blvd., but in at least one case an attempt was made to discourage them.

Adams said, however, that Industrial Plant Corp., New York liquidating concern now inventorying the plant, has promised to release its figures when complete.

Although the plant was to have shut down Dec. 1, it is reported that a skeleton work force is finishing some orders.

The few dozen employes are only a shadow of the plant's past total employment of about 700.

Business Forecasts on Optimistic Key

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — That seasonal preoccupation of corporation executives is in full swing. The forecasts of what's ahead for all of us but particularly for their own companies. And rarely has the outpouring been so much in one key.

Optimism, restrained but assured, is sounded by the great majority.

★ ★ ★

They have plenty of current statistics to cite in their belief that the momentum of the business upswing is strong and as yet practically unchallenged. They have hope that past feelings of edginess between business and government can be eased. They even see signs that the international climate may be improving.

HEARTENING

Heartening is the evidence that public confidence hasn't been shaken by the uncertainties inevitably accompanying the changeover in the federal administration. Retail sales have recovered after a period of faltering. Industrial orders have held up. So have production schedules. Some top executives have indicated sizable expansion plans for 1964 are unchanged.

★ ★ ★

As always, the most caution by individual businessmen is used when forecasting the trend of the national economy in general. Next, the problems of their particular industry may be stressed. But almost all are sure that their own companies are likely to see still better times in 1964 than in 1963.

Much of the optimism is based on a better - than - expected pickup in business this fall without any warning signs yet of real trouble ahead. And much is based on hopes that Congress finally will pass the long-discussed cut in corporate income tax rates.

LARGER CASH FLOW

Many companies are heartened by the larger flow of cash through their own tills. This has come from increased sales. It has been sweetened by cost - cutting measures finally taking effect. It has been swelled by relaxed regulations on depreciation allowances that may lower gross earnings on company books but by doing so also lower the tax payments.

★ ★ ★

NEW AUTO MARK?

"Pushed hard in the closing weeks of the year, auto output appears certain to exceed 2¼ million units for the full fourth quarter, a mark never before attained in any three - month period. And with retail demand for cars remaining strong (fourth quarter sales should approximate 2 million), a carry-over into 1964 of this potent stimulus to a wide range of supplier industries is indicated."

★ ★ ★

The First National City Bank of New York generalizes: "With widespread confidence in the future, and with a blend of fiscal and monetary policies dedicated to achieving economic growth without inflation, the economy can advance to new heights in the months ahead."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "I am 62 years old. With my savings of $20,000 I should like to buy income-producing stocks. Are tobacco stocks safe? There is a rumor about Government reports on smoking. Is this true, and what effect would this have on the tobacco shares?" L.M.

A. The U.S. Public Health Service has been conducting a health study on cigarette smoking, and release is expected before the year-end. It is hard to believe that this report will favor the tobacco industry. In the past, however, the effects of adverse medical reports on cigarettes have been temporary, and the business has continued to grow in spite of them.

I believe that Reynolds is the best member of the tobacco group. An unfavorable report might set the stock back temporarily, and if so, I would buy it for secure and increasing income.

Norfolk & Western is satisfactory for its good yield. So also are Maytag, Atchison Rwy., and Libbey - Owens - Ford Glass.

Q. "I am a widow, 54, and have approximately $8,000 in Series E savings bonds. Can you recommend something better that I could place this money in to give me sufficient income to live on? My health is failing, and I fear I may not physically be able to work much longer." B.R.

A. If you have held these bonds some years, they are very likely now to be in their period of maximum return. By switching into common stocks, you could at the most — with safety — add only about $80 per year to your annual average Series E accruals of 3¾ per cent.

I advise you to retain your savings bonds. If you are under social security and become too ill to work, you may qualify for disability payments, and I should certainly apply.

In Icy Flint River

Car Plunges; 3 Drown

By The Associated Press

Three Flint men died trapped in their car when it hurtled through a bridge section and plunged beneath the ice of the Flint River Sunday.

Seventeen persons, including the Flint trio, were killed in automobile traffic during Michigan's next to last weekend before Christmas.

★ ★ ★

The 17 was one of the largest weekend tolls of the year. Ten victims were young people. Another was an infant. There were multiple deaths in five crashes. In addition, two young men were killed today in a car-truck collision near Wixom.

SAVED

A fourth occupant of the car that ran off the Flint River bridge was flung out and he was saved.

Flint police said the car carrying the four men—all in their 20's—whipped out of control because of high speed on a curve at the outskirts of the downtown section.

★ ★ ★

Skindivers recovered the bodies of Willie A. Southward, 24, owner and driver, and Everett Robinson, 26, and Tilman Lee Bennett Jr., 23.

The fourth man, Alex Lange, 24, suffered facial cuts and exposure. He was reported in fair condition at Hurley Hospital.

2 KILLED

Two Dearborn men, Alfred Burghardt, 22, and Stephen Gillespie, 21, were killed today when Burghardt's car rammed into the rear of a steel-hauling truck-trailer rig on I-96 in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Their deaths, occurring after midnight Sunday, we're not counted in the Associated Press tabulation of weekend fatalities. The tabulation began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

★ ★ ★

In Macomb County, Albert Ludeman, 20, of Anchorville, and Kenneth McCauley, 56, of New Baltimore, were killed in the head-on crash of their autos Sunday. Police said Ludeman apparently pulled out to pass on M-29 near Foster and hit the oncoming McCauley car.

Six other vehicles, unable to stop, piled into the wreckage. The chain reaction injured seven who were treated and released at a hospital, police said. McCauley's wife, Marie, 48, was in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital in Mount Clemens.

SPEC. 4 JERRY PARRISH

Fine Record of 'Defector' Is Cited

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — U.S. Army Spec. 4 Jerry Wayne Parrish had a good service record before his alleged defection to Communist North Korea, a United Nations Command (UNC) spokesman said today.

Parrish, 19, of Henderson, Ky., had no access to classified information, he added.

Communist North Korea's Radio Pyongyang said yesterday that Parrish defected Dec. 6. The UNC confirmed that he had disappeared while on patrol on that date.

★ ★ ★

In accordance with the usual regulations, Parrish was simply listed as absent without leave. If he does not show up within 30 days, he will be listed as a deserter.

TAIL POSITION

The UNC said that Parrish had the tail position in a six-man patrol among the demarcation line between North and South Korea on the day he disappeared.

When the other members of the patrol noticed he was missing they turned back and found his M14 rifle, cartridge belt and an unsigned hand-printed note.

It said, "Tell my mother I love her. I will be back some day. Tell my friends goodby."

★ ★

Radio Pyongyang quoted Parrish, a tank driver, as saying he was dismayed by the "miserable life of the South Korean people" and was afraid he himself would be unable to find a job when he got out of the Army.
