Gubernatorial Committee Expenses

Swainson Unit Outpends Romney Group

DETROIT (AP) — The Swainson-for-Governor Committee spent $235,000 and the Romney-for-Governor Committee spent $111,083 in the Nov. 6 election campaign.

The committees filed their expense statements yesterday.

The committee that worked unsuccessfully to re-elect Democratic Gov. John Swainson included contributions from a number of volunteers in its statement.

Volunteers who helped Republican George Romney win the election filed separate expense accounts with county clerks around the state.

Receipts of $119,000 and expenses of $76,000 were reported by 10 chapters of volunteers for Romney. Among them was the Wayne County group which reported contributions of $65,822 and expenditures of $51,594.

199 ROMNEY CHAPTERS

Oakland County Romney volunteers reported receipts of $13,770 and the 14th Congressional District volunteers said they collected $17,231.

Throughout the state, according to a spokesman for the GOP candidate, 199 Romney volunteer chapters, 30 ethnic groups and more than 20 other volunteer organizations were formed during the campaign.

A contribution of $22,241 to Swainson's campaign was reported by Citizens for Swainson.

Henry Ford II, Ford Motor Co., chairman; Charles Moore, a Ford vice president; and financier Louis Wolfson contributed $2,000 to $3,000 each to Romney volunteers.

The United Auto Workers' Committee on Political Education contributed $5,000 to Swainson. Other labor contributions to Swainson included the state AFL-CIO, $3,000; the United Auto Workers, $3,500; and the International Ladies Garment Workers, $3,000.

Neil Staebler, Democrat, who was elected Congressman at large, reported total expenses of $97,800 and the defeated Republican nominee, Alvin M. Bentley spent a total of $94,000.

O'HARA'S FIGURES

Receipts of $16,508 and expenses of $14,735 were reported by supporters of Democratic Rep. James O'Hara, who was re-elected in 7th Congressional District. Committees supporting the GOP nomination, Charles Kail of Fort Huron, Jerome Cavanaugh to not only utilize the port facilities, but to consider the time as a convention site.

Port of Detroit 'Taken' Abroad

Cargo Terminals Mobil Info Around World

DETROIT (AP) — Spokesmen for Detroit's three private general cargo terminals said yesterday they used more foreign business and announced they are mailing copies of a brochure concerning the port to all parts of the world.

A committee of the Michigan State Legislature, holding hearings on the need for public port facilities, heard from Murray Van Wagner of the Detroit Harbor Terminals, Inc.; Wilber Brucker of the Detroit Marine Terminal and Charles Jackson of Nicholson Terminal and Dock Co.

The three said that virtually the only time they are operating at peak capacity is at a comparatively short period after the initial opening of the shipping season when the ice goes out of the lakes and a similar period before the season closes Dec. 15.

They added that the terminals have current capacity large enough to handle tonnage far in excess of those currently available.

The operators said they have prepared a brochure which outlines the port of Detroit state and gives vital statistics on facilities and equipment of the three terminals. Some 50,000 copies are being mailed.

The brochure points out that, excluding grain, Detroit is the number one port on the Great Lakes. Last year's total foreign tonnage aggregated some 748,000 tons, topping the previous year's 600,575 tons.

The terminal operators' brochure says the three private docks cover upwards of 100 acres of land and include 7,075 feet of concrete dock space.

Included in the brochure is an invitation from Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanaugh to not only utilize the port facilities, but to consider the time as a convention site.

'Fight or Go Home'

Marines Set to Leave Gitmo

QUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—"If we aren't going to fight, we might as well go home now."

Sgt. Robert L. Culp of Vista, Calif., thus summed up the reaction of many of Guantanamo's Marines to a report they may be leaving soon.

The Defense Department indicated Tuesday that at least some of the reinforcements sent to the Guantanamo naval base will be pulled out now that the Cuban crisis is fading.

HEAR ON RADIO

In the rugged hills that ring Guantanamo Bay, the Marines heard the report of possible withdrawal of the base radio station and in news broadcasts from Miami.

"I could feel my morale go way up and I think you could feel it in everybody else," said Pvt. Ronald Odom of Bristol, Tenn.

"This sounds just too good to be true," said Cpl. James T. White of South Bend, Ind. White is anxious to get home because his wife expects a baby in April.

The base commander, Rear-Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell, said "I don't have a word on this," but high officials in the base command expressed the opinion that the Marines may well be moving out soon.

When the crisis blew up in October with the discovery of Soviet missiles in Cuba, a battalion of Marines was flown to Guantanamo. Several thousand others moved into the Caribbean area from the West Coast aboard ships.

By unofficial estimate, the Guantanamo Marine garrison was increased from its normal few hundred to more than 7,000, but only part of the beef-up appeared to come from the West Coast. Some of the West Coast Marines apparently stayed aboard ships cruising in the vicinity of Cuban waters.

AEC Sets Off N-Blast

Underground in Nevada

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) touched off another underground nuclear blast in Nevada yesterday.

The AEC said the test, yielding power equivalent to less than 20,000 tons of TNT, was its 57th announced test since the series was started in September 1961.

There are more than 45,000 tax-exempt foundations and charitable trusts in the U. S., Rep. Dwight Patman, D-Texas, has reported.

The 12 Books for Christmas

Here are a dozen fine new books that prove once again: Reading is richly rewarding—whether quietly enjoyed by oneself or a pleasure shared with a friend as a gift. We have chosen them carefully, from hundreds, because they have, we feel, the widest appeal and they make the most acceptable Christmas gifts.

Allen Drury, in A SHADE OF DIFFERENCE, puts an unerring finger on sensitive spots, on cause and effect, just as he did in "Advice and Consent". The scene shifts, in this sequel, from Washington to the United Nations in New York . . . John Steinbeck, too, describes a change of scene as he TRAVELS WITH CHARLEY (a prodigy among French poodles) across his beloved America, reporting with Steinbeck-skill all that lies between Long Island and well-remembered Cannery Row. . . . A more sombre picture of America is presented in SILENT SPRING, a controversial book even before it was published. Rachel Carson details, precisely and factually, the changes man is making, through chemistry, in his environment and points out that change very often has consequences . . . THE SHIP OF FOOLS is a big novel, twenty years in the writing, launched on waves of critical acclaim that established her more firmly than ever Catharine Anne Porter's reputation as she relates the intertwined stories of an odd assortment of passengers bound from Mexico to Bremen . . . FRANCES PARKINSON KEYES has just published her newest novel (so new, even Keyes addicts will not have read it as yet) called "Madame Castel's Lodger". This is biographical fiction about General Beau regard, hero of Ft. Sumter and idol of the Confederacy. . . . In DEARLY BELOVED, Anne Morrow Lindbergh writes a truly modern novel of love and marriage. Few present-day writers can equal the grace, skill and beauty of Mrs. Lindbergh's prose as readers of her previous work will know . . . Dennis, anyone? We mean, of course, the novel by Patrick Dennis, creator of Auntie Mame. This is called GENIUS, about a charmingly irresponsible Hollywood director who is trying to avoid both the Federal Tax agents and a man-eating millionaire . . . BENNET CERF, whose line is collecting jokes and publishing books of all sorts, has compiled RIDDLE-DE-DEE, a collection of 458 riddles, each one good for a chuckle. Here is a year's supply of chuckles for everyone aged 12 to 112 . . . Connie Francis talks to teenagers in FOR EVERY YOUNG HEART and when America's top, pop young singer talks — they listen. Connie discusses, frankly and honestly, teenagers problems and their parents (very often the same thing) and gives them sound advice of which even parents would approve . . . THE JOY OF COOKING is, naturally, a cookbook. This brand new, updated edition is bound to increase your joy of eating. Makes cooking fun, exciting and rewarding. This book has the answers, the directions and hundreds of wonderful new recipes, well bound and indexed . . . THE AMERICAN COLLEGE DICTIONARY will increase your joy of reading, writing and talking because it is up to date, well organized, sturdily bound and thumb indexed. Favorite of writers, scholars and students . . . EMILY POST'S ETIQUETTE is the recognized authority on good taste, good manners and the right thing to do at the right time. It is a book for every home library, a source of confidence and certainty.

Gov. Swainson, Successor to Attend Program

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Gov. John B. Swainson and his Republican successor, Gov.-elect George Romney, will both appear at a program here Saturday on the status of the manpower and training program.

Representatives of some 70 local committees formed to implement use of the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act will be here to hear progress reports on the program in Michigan.

Dr. Charles C. Killingworth, chairman of the State Manpower Development Committee, said training programs involving some 522 people were currently being conducted in Battle Creek, Bay City, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Muskegon, Saginaw and St. Joseph.

Navy, AF Reserves Cited as Volunteers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department says the Cuban crisis military build-up got a big assist from Navy and Air Force reservists who volunteered their services.

The Pentagon reported yesterday that Air Force reservists voluntarily moved 754,000 pounds of equipment and several hundred military personnel.

These volunteers were on the job even before some 14,000 air reservists in eight troop carrier wings were called to active duty on Oct. 21.

Age Has Not Hindered Pope's Quest for Peace

Sunday marked the 81st birthday of Pope John XXIII. In a little over four years since his coronation, Pope John has won the affectionate respect of all peoples.

Most in the free world agree with his belief that it is better to stress what unites rather than what divides. The appeal of Pope John that has been so obvious to so many is his gentleness, compassion, ready acceptance of life and patience with man's frailties.

Some observers thought his advanced age would militate against a vigorous reign; some even referred to the new Pope as a "stop gap" choice to succeed the late Pius XII.

It became apparent soon after his coronation, Nov. 4, 1958, that age had not eroded his zeal. Instead, he has shown a zest for hard work and his laboring helped bring about the first Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council in nearly a century.

The first phase of the council is now coming to a close and will recess Dec. 8. This gathering has made the observance of the Pope's birthday even more significant.

Speaking of the Ecumenical Council, the Christian leader has said a slow pace is often the safest and surest. As the "Pope of Unity," he is interested less in speed than in accomplishment.

All free men everywhere wish Pope John continued well-being and success in his theological working for world peace.

Policemen 'Bewigged' Bothered n' Bewildered

In its infinite wisdom, the state of New York's motor vehicle department has eliminated color of hair from the descriptions on that state's drivers' licenses.

This gallant bit of 20th Century nonsense comes about because some ladies seem undecided about whether they will face the world as blondes, brunettes or redheads on successive days.

Put yourself in the traffic policeman's position when he checks the license of a lady driver who has crumpled some fenders. He looks at the description. It's hard enough to query the lady about her weight without getting bashed in the back with a purse. So he looks at the hair color.

It doesn't jibe. Milady has applied a rinse, or maybe has even donned a wig. If the license indicates glasses, and the driver is sporting contact lenses, there's another problem.

New York has taken its policemen off the horns of this dilemma by eliminating this bit of pertinent description. The job is rough enough, anyhow.

Army-Navy Contest Ranks High With Brass

Early season dreams of national ranking and bowl bids have come to naught for both Army and Navy, and all that now remains is for the two teams to inflict their mediocrity on one another.

This they will do in Philadelphia on Saturday, and so keen is the rivalry, that it stands to be one of the most talked-about college games as the season draws to a close.

If President KENNEDY is able to attend, as he has indicated he will, it is likely that he will again show his impartiality by sitting on both sides of Franklin Field.

Last year the former PT boat skipper sat on the Army side for the first half, then walked to the Navy side to better savor Navy's 13-7 victory.

That, the third Navy victory in a row, precipitated the discharge of Army coach Dale Hail. Paul Dietzel broke a five-year contract with Louisiana State University to take over the job. The change of command was applauded by old West Point grads who, as New York Times columnist Arthur Daley noted, regarded football failure "as a reflection on national prestige."

Quite a contrast, indeed, with the first Army-Navy game in 1890. Then, neither the Secretary of War nor the Secretary of Navy made the trip to West Point to see the woolen-capped Navy team win, 24-0.

Now the annual game brings out a showing of notables that is surpassed only at a presidential inauguration, a United Nations opening or maybe a KENNEDY splash party.

The Man About Town

Driver Praised Her Quick Action Eases Hazard Threatening Boy

By HOWARD HELENBRAND
We have come to think of reports from the Police Department as a forerunner of bad news—just like the notices sent to arrive bearing the imprint of INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE.

But the column is indebted to Sgt. Tolson E. Rogg of 154 N. Genesee, for a report of the opposite kind, with his warm commendation of action by Mrs. Lester A. Stoll of 2415 Auburn Ave. In averting what could have been a traffic casualty involving a youngster.

The lady was proceeding west on Huron Street a few days ago when she saw two small boys start across in the middle of the block. One became frightened at the zooming two-way traffic and returned to the starting point. The other, however, got to the point of no return and then halted, engulfed in passing cars.

Seeing his plight, the quick-witted driver drove close to him and stopped, thus halting following traffic and permitting the confused lad to continue across safely.

The MAT's congratulations to the lady on her example of driver solicitude and thanks to the sergeant for reporting it. Such acts rate public mention in the interest of traffic safety. . . . Why not keep your eye out for others and let your scrivener know of them?

Vis the grapevine, it is learned that our neighboring pharmacist Richard C. (Dick) Fitzpatrick of 29 Waldo, took off for the Soo to visit relatives and hunt deer. He had a Thanksgiving turkey and ham ready to go which, in the heat of impending battle, he forgot. . . . remembered along about Gaylord and phoned back to deep-freeze the provender.

As of now, this department has no intelligence to indicate whether he remembered

(a) To take his gun, and
(b) If he shot a deer, to bring it home.

David Lawrence Says:

Uncertainty Choking Off Growth

WASHINGTON—Everyone who knows anything about the operations of American businesses knows that uncertainty is the biggest barrier of all to careful planning.

Uncertainty is increasing. There is talk of a tax cut. There is talk of tax "reform" which will add to various expenses LAWRENCE and wipe out certain deductions. There is talk of a tightening of interest rates.

There is talk of larger deficits in the Treasury, possibly the largest in peacetime. There is talk of a bigger and bigger outflow of gold from this country and a serious impact on the value of the dollar abroad.

On top of this is the talk of a 35-hour week and higher wage demands, which, in turn, has led to talk of raising prices soon after the tax cut occurs and "spending" is stimulated.

All the talk adds up to more and more uncertainty about the future. For several months now the trend has been characterized as deflationary. Now there are fears of inflation.

What is lacking, of course, is a broad-gauged approach that will bring stability and allow for some long-range planning.

But politically minded persons in Washington, for the time being, interested only in what kind of condition will prevail in the economy 20 months from now when the next presidential campaign will be under way.

SAME THINKING IN '66
So the usual course in politics is being followed—the same thinking as prevailed in the 1930s, when the emphasis was on the slogan "Spend and spend, tax and tax, and elect and elect."

But it didn't cure unemployment then. Government spending helped to increase consumer spending, but it didn't encourage the heavy-goods industries.

Today the Administration has gone back to the policies that failed in the 1930s. Stress is again placed on consumer spending. The tax cut is to be "across the board," with the biggest reductions probably in the lower brackets.

The expectation is that people in the upper brackets—who will get some reduction in tax rates—will promptly invest their money to enable companies to add new plant and equipment.

But the indubitable fact is that today there is no lack of money to invest. There is instead a lack of will to invest.

The monopoly power of labor is so strong that it threatens the whole system of planning for a fair rate of profit out of which a reasonable dividend rate can be paid.

Congress, of course, is expected to grant the President's request for a tax cut because this is supposed to be politically popular. But increasing consumer spending will not change the business picture or prevent an increase in unemployment.

Today, according to official figures, personal incomes have risen to record heights. But somehow this doesn't help, for instance, to recover jobs for the nearly 100,000 workers in the steel industry who have been thrown out of work ever since the Administration began tampering with the price structure.

It looks now as if the tax-cut legislation may be enacted sometime in the spring of 1963, and the full effects probably will not be felt until later in the year.

But also during 1963, if a general tax "reform" bill is passed, there are many businesses which will be hurt.

Bob Considine Says:

SAC Makes the Muscle for U.S. Foreign Policy

OMAHA — Historians may decree years hence that the United States embarked on a new and surer course in its world leadership astride a single sentence buried deep in President Kennedy's first report to the nation on the Cuban crisis.

The sentence:

"It shall be the policy of this nation to regard any nuclear missile launched from Cuba against any nation in the Western Hemisphere as an attack by the Soviet Union on the United States and requiring a full retaliatory response upon the Soviet Union."

All Soviet withdrawals from Cuba of means of long-range warfare and trained men to operate the weapons date from that sentence.

But the sentence would have been so much hot air—as in truth was the Monroe Doctrine when first declared—if it had not been bluntly backed, underwritten and underscored by the presence in this country and abroad of the Strategic Air Command.

SAC makes any nuclear attack on the U.S. or any ally unthinkable. As Chairman Khrushchev has said, a general nuclear war would be "insane."

As indeed it would, for it would mean the inevitable and swift destruction of all the off-ferred house he has brought to a people who suffered appallingly in World War II.

Recent history is shell-pocked by instances when the Soviet Union might have ruled that it had sufficient cause to throw its considerable nuclear punch at us.

PRICE TOO HIGH
But in every instance, the price of hitting first with a nuclear device was judged too high.

SAC's air power is that it could survive a surprise attack and instantly deliver a decisive counter-punch.

On top of this, any less-than-insane aggressor would have to take into consideration the Polaris submarines—whose "silos" are oceans—and NATO's 129 IRBMs and clouds of nuclear-tipped fighters and fighter-bombers.

SAC's name was hardly mentioned in any of the old or suggested East-West confrontations lately.

'Extreme Leftists: Think About This'

Extreme rightists are almost as extreme fanatics as the extreme leftists, but this quotation from an extreme rightist publication is interesting: "Following the leftist socialists can only end in collapse and coercion. Which comes first is irrelevant. We can see ahead a summit meeting at which an American with the title of President and a Soviet Dictator meet and agree that now there is nothing left to fight about. Their countries are the same."

I don't believe this, but it's something for the extreme leftists to think about. Is this where they would take us, willy nilly.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Federal Payroll Wall Street Journal

Evidently stung by Rep. Clarence Cannon's recent charge that blame for the ever-increasing Federal payroll lies squarely in the lap of Congress, the House Civil Service Manpower subcommittee now has bestirred itself in a bid to reduce the number of Government jobholders.

It has dispatched letters to the heads of every Government agency and department calling attention to President Kennedy's memorandum asking agency chiefs to improve manpower utilization so as to pare down the U. S. payroll.

And the legislators, strongly endorsing the President's request, observe that nothing could come of it unless department heads act on it. But, they say, the chief reason the payroll has grown by about 128,000 in the past two years is that the agency heads have shown little interest in economizing on personnel. In other words, they've been ignoring the President.

Other possibilities are that the Russians were able, somehow, to bring strong pressure to bear on the Chinese; more probably there is a Sino-Soviet deal that we do not yet know about. Perhaps the Chinese Reds have decided that they can now get politically from India what they would have had to take by military force.

The temptation at the moment is not to look the gift horse in the mouth, but once all of us recover from this surprise we will have to discover the real reasons.

Well, we don't think this is the Congressional action on Government payrolls Appropriations Committee Chairman Cannon had in mind. For what this polite missive amounts to is a passing of the payroll back to the bureaucratic hierarchy where expense is often measured by the number of employees underfoot.

Good Schools The Grand Rapids Press

The importance with which parents regard good schools is clearly indicated by what has happened at the new Buchanan School. It was built to accommodate 420 pupils, but 456 already have enrolled. Apparently families started moving into the district soon after they learned a new school was to be erected. Fortunately there were many large houses available for families that included several children.

Persons in all walks of life and from all economic levels want the best education possible for their children. Even though the parents may not have had much schooling themselves, they want their children to have every advantage education can provide.

Good schools, well-staffed, are an important contribution to economic and social stability. They become the nuclei of strong neighborhoods in which families will stay for as long as their children remain in school.

Getting families to put down their roots in a community is essential to family and community stability. Good schools can be an important factor in achieving this objective.

Poor Consumer Products Make Nik More 'Peaceful'

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Intelligence sources cite four recent developments which point to the conclusion that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is eager to prevent all-out war at almost any cost.

The first, of course, is the Cuban crisis, from which the Communist dictator backed down with good grace despite his obvious loss of face among Reds and neutrals, rather than risk a nuclear holocaust.

The second is Berlin, where although he belligerently warned that he would delay a showdown until after the U.S. elections, he has in the succeeding three weeks failed to flex so much as a muscle.

The third is the undeclared Red China-India border war which is now enjoying uneasy inactivity. Although Khrushchev's hand is more gloved in this instance, military intelligence indicates that Khrushchev may have compelled the cease-fire by cutting off supplies and petroleum to his ostreperous Red Chinese ally.

The fourth is the fascinating speech which Khrushchev delivered last week to the central committee plenum of the Communist party.

Like all such Khrushchev reports it was exceedingly lengthy, with the translation running to 67 single-spaced typewritten pages, but unlike the several-hour speeches of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, Khrushchev neither ranted nor harangued.

Rather he chided like a sorrowful father and exhorted like a mother who longs for her children to have the better things of life.

CONSUMER GOODS

It is this factor which makes the speech so significant, for if Khrushchev were slyly plotting a surprise nuclear attack, he would scarcely be so concerned about the inferior quality of consumer goods now being produced by and for the Russian people.

Speaking of the Zhdanov garments factory in Nikoysk, the Red boss said: "Things have gone so far that out of each 100 pieces of checked articles, only 15 are of a good quality." With heavy sarcasm he added: "One really has to be content to put out 85 per cent bad-quality articles."

He next took up the subject of television sets, quoting a letter to the plant director from a purchaser of a Neman Three set who complained: "For a long time I was unable to acquire a television set, but thanks to the concern of the state, my dream came true."

"I was able to buy a television set on installment (shades of the capitalist world!). I paid 283 rubles for it, and I materially deprived myself of many things."

The writer continued that after buying the set, it stopped working 25 days later "and my trials began."

Of the director he asked bluntly: "In putting out such articles at your plant, are you really completely indifferent to the people to whom, instead of joy and satisfaction, you cause disappointment?"

He added that since then his "entertainment" has not come from the set, but from trying to deal with the television workshop, and "you can imagine what entertainment it is to have to deal with a television workshop."

CLEAN HOUSE!

Khrushchev, after reading aloud the letter, declared: "The director of the plant should burn with shame. One must put an end to such outrageous things, comrades."

Seemingly very much like an American candidate for public office, he also said that the Soviets must "close all doors to crooks, bribe-takers, idlers, bureaucrats, all those who hold their hands for state benefits."

The Communist boss aired an astonishing number of cases of double-dealing in the food and textile industries, and said it is imperative to "intercept faking, juggling of books, nepotism, bribery and squandering."

Khrushchev even offered a possible solution: Pointing out that "we have 10 million party members, 20 million members of the Komsomol (Young Communist League), and 66 million trade union members," he proposed:

"If we brought all these forces into motion and used them for control purposes, then a goat could not fly by unobserved."

"However, thieves go on under our very nose in our organization, and crooks pilfer the people's wealth."

It would be comforting to think that if Khrushchev uses those nearly 100,000,000 Russians to ferret out their own crooks, he would have little but kiddies and retired oldsters left to fight the free world.

But let's not believe it yet.

Telltale Signs Herald Winter -- No Matter the Date

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The change of any season has its landmarks of majesty.

They affect all things. Here are some ways you can tell when winter's here:

Frost confines the window, and little girls and boys decorate in its meadow their fingered decisions of adventure: "I love Orville, but Ronald is a skunk."

The grass needs no cutting and is crisp underfoot. It gives a dry testimony of any trend in passing.

The big family question becomes, "Is the pond frozen over enough to skate on?" The children say, "Yes." The parents say, "Well, if it stays below freezing one more day—then, well, maybe."

The advantages of using snow tires are widely presented in ads.

NO CHANCE TO GAB

The old lady who has so much to go about her neighbors' best-laid plans to chance icy streets to inform her grocer.

The grocer decides the best way to get rid of his leftover prime sirloin is to make a bargain in hamburger.

There are three viewpoints about the weather: Winters are getting colder, winters are getting warmer, and the atomic bomb is responsible for the difference, good or bad.

Weather becomes increasingly the major topic of conversation, any man's authority is confirmed by the memory of what his grandfather had to say on the subject. Learned discussions and arguments ensue. The observed breadth of a caterpillar's belly and the predictions of a rural airman give for significance. Each foretells the winter.

OTHER SIGNS

There are some ordinary manifestations of seasonal change that go on without much attention—such as the abatement of the bear's curious paw in hibernating sleep, the seek of silent hideaways by noisy insects, the death of vanished flowers that tempt the bee not now with hidden honey.

Across the frozen landscape littered by the brown reward of yesterday's spring leaves, the life that will not let go still lingers—the doe that steps with stilled

Rare Disease Kills 5th Child

Same Family Affected
by Nervous Ailment

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Barbara Johnson, 9, died today of Schilder's disease, the same rare congenital ailment which had taken her three brothers and a sister over the past five years.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Johnson.

The girl was dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital after unsuccessful attempts by fire and police rescuing equipment to revive her.

Her sister, 2-year-old Suzanne Marie, died Oct. 15 of the ailment which physicians describe as a progressive degeneration of the central nervous system.

Three brothers had succumbed to the disease. Stephen M., 2, died in 1957; Joseph C., 2, died in 1958, and David J., 2 months, in 1959.

Mrs. Johnson, who is expecting a sixth child, said symptoms of the disease in the children started with convulsions and a general stumbling and loss of equilibrium as the ailment damaged the part of the brain that controlled their coordination. Blindness followed, she added.

Johnson, an administrative engineer at a Grand Rapids industrial plant, and his wife, explained that they were told at the Human Genetics Department of University Hospital in Ann Arbor that examination indicated a clash of parental genes.

Holiday Eggnog 'Tastes Better' in Festive Bowl

One way to make Christmas punch or eggnog taste more delicious than ever is to serve it from a holiday punch bowl. There are so many lovely ones to choose from—such as a milk glass set, sparked by a delicate design of red and green holly and berries on the bowl and cups.

A ladle and red punch hooks complete the festive ensemble. Be sure to take particular care in washing this pretty bowl because the design is raised from the surface.

To scrub into all the crevices of the design, use a soft vegetable brush, well lathered with soap or detergent suds. Then rinse and dry.

With proper care, your punch ensemble will look as delectable as the goodies it contains.

Give Your Man Small Tie-Tac

It's Perfect Gift for Masculine Grooming

Men have a "look" of their own this season, and often it is the touch of love and fashion that some woman has added to her Christmas gift list.

The little touches that make up a look of good grooming, good looks and great pleasure make perfect gifts for the "difficult" man.

Any tie looks better when it's anchored and spotlighted with a tiny tie-tac.

These tacs range from small classic gold or pearl accents to gifts of diamonds, sapphires, or other precious stones set in flawless gold settings.

Small, elegant, practical, they keep a tie in place and give a discreetly different look to a man's appearance.

Another special gift idea for the man on any woman's gift list is a ring. An initial ring, a signet ring, a fraternal ring, or one set with a handsome masculine stone such as a sapphire, or onyx in a classic gold setting, is a constant reminder of loving holiday wishes.

Pocket accessories are in a class by themselves as masculine Christmas gifts. Pocket knives, cigarette lighters, cases and wallets, all help a man look well groomed.

The rising popularity of the vest suggests a classic key chain, a pocket watch and a traditional attachment.

Even very young men find these gift items fitting into their scheme of fashion.

Give the Bird or Be Caged for Christmas

With a mighty chorus of "Pretty Boy" rising from an estimated 14 million parakeets across the nation, birds and novel bird houses are sure to make welcome gifts.

Add the canary coloratura section, the off-side remarks of the parrot population, and include in the total the various other feathered pets, and you have birds aplenty.

These demand reckoning in today's Christmas gift-giving picture.

Pretty creations in which to house the gift of a bird are available in a variety of designs. Both bird and home will be appreciated for your gift will live on long after the tinsel and Christmas balls have vanished, giving a touch of living beauty to the home.

But for a gift that's really different, Buell Culver, Director of French's Pet Bird Laboratories, suggests checking the antique shops for bird cages of yesteryear.

Refinished and repaired, these cages can add grace notes to the appearance of any room.

Mistaken from the frost had put reflector lights on the blink and they failed to light up properly to show the 60 m.p.h. night-time speed limit.

Nehru Caught in Own 'Isms,' Being Twisted by Reds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—India's Prime Minister Nehru is caught in some of his own isms.

This aristocratic but democratic man has picked his precarious way between idealism and realism, passivism and activism, nationalism and internationalism, neutralism and isolationism, socialism, capitalism and communism.

ROAD TWISTED

Now at 73, a philosophic agnostic, his road has been twisted out of shape by the Red Chinese. He must try to find a new one at the very moment when he seems to be aging rapidly.

Nehru, educated at Cambridge and far more at home in the English language than in any Indian tongue, moved most of his life in the shadow of two dominant men: his father, Motilal, a rich lawyer, and Mohandas Gandhi.

Yet, when they were gone and he felt most alone, he emerged as dominant as either. He became the father of India as it began its independence in the 1940s with problems of poverty and illiteracy as appalling as any in history.

He could have been a rich lawyer, too. But he went with Gandhi. Nationalism—Indian independence—became his life. To fulfill it he spent nine years in British jails for political activity and passive resistance.

STUDIED CAPITALISM

He studied capitalism, socialism, Marxism. He rejected communism and for India sought a middle way between capitalism and socialism under democracy because of his dedication to freedom, personal and political.

For this the Red Chinese reviled him. He sought their friendship. They called him the "runny dog" of imperialism. He ignored this and made excuses for their excesses, hoping they'd change.

They didn't, as their invasion of India showed. They just soaped their public contempt when it was convenient. There was no mystery about it.

Neutral Nehru was a menacing challenge. If India prospered under freedom it would make a farce of the sacrifices the Chinese people, also in search of a good life, had to endure under communism.

'NEARER GOD'

Nehru rejected organized religion with a skepticism that began early. But Gandhi said fondly of his agnostic disciple: "He is nearer God than many who profess to be worshippers" of God.

Yet this man without a creed—in India where Moslems and Hindus, living side by side, have slaughtered one another and achieved a secular state where all men are to be considered equally free and free equal.

This, according to his best biographer, Michael Brecher, was Nehru's "most notable accomplishment," although Brecher criticizes him for poor administration, lack of decision and a wide gap "between words and deeds."

His passive resistance against the British in India was not a way of life with him. It was only a means to an end, his only weapon, when the British had all the weapons. He prefers nonviolence but will use force when it helps.

This implies contradiction in him. There is plenty of that. There is also hypocrisy. He who has preached peaceful settlements to others uses naked force when it serves him, as in grabbing Goa from the Portuguese in India.

All his life he has denounced colonialism and imperialism but has practiced both when it suited his purpose. For instance: in seizing the Kashmir territory with his troops although the people might want to be part of Pakistan.

A STRICT NATIONALIST

Thus Nehru, who talks brotherhood and internationalism, is a strict nationalist when India's interests are involved.

He told an American Congress in 1949 there is no room for isolationism. But, by remaining neu-

U. S. Land Oil Can Be Taxed

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley ruled yesterday that oil and natural gas extracted from land owned by the government, by Indians, charitable or educational organizations is subject to the state severance tax.

He ruled further that the market price of oil or gas forms the basis for the tax and compensating adjustment may be made for transportation costs if the market is distant from the wellhead.

Kelley's opinion was issued in response to an inquiry from the Michigan Department of Revenue.

It cited a 1948 U.S. Supreme Court decision in which it was determined that although a state cannot tax land owned by the federal government or Indians, a state can tax activities taking place upon the land.

Kelley said this would include the extraction of natural gas and oil, because the Michigan severance tax act carries no specific exclusions or exemptions.

He said the 1948 high court ruling, made in an Oklahoma case, renders invalid a 1929 opinion of the Michigan attorney general which held that such activities could be tax-exempt.

No Name for Loafer

MOSCOW (UPI) — A young loafer named Gagarin — no, kin of spaceman Yuri Gagarin — decided to mend his ways after angry fellow villagers threatened to have his name changed by court order, the newspaper Izvestia reported.

tral in the struggle between the West and communism, he has been the world's No. 1 isolationist. Nehru sought to avoid foreign entanglement and the expense of that went with it. In this way he could pour most of India's resources into its own development. This explains why he kept down the size of his armed forces. This was where his idealism got the better of his realism, as the Chinese invasion demonstrated. He now wryly admits: "We have been shaken out of it."

getting out of touch with reality in the modern world. We are living in an artificial atmosphere of our own creation and we have old, too tired to drive India into a new direction with Western allies to the far right.

ances and enormous sums for final clash with Red China now seems inevitable. He may be too After Nehru, what? No one knows. Perhaps chaos and a turn to the far right.

Ignore 'Other Kids' Plea

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I'm mad! I hope you'll publish this. It might wake up some of these pushy parents.

Why don't they let their children enjoy their childhood instead of rushing them into adult life? My daughter is barely 12. She is in the sixth grade in public school. Every Friday is "dress up" day. I let her wear her good silk dress, little heels, no makeup.

Bless my soul if some of her little friends don't show up in spike heels! One girl admitted they were her mother's. They wore scoop necklines, make-up, mascara, nylons and the works!

Now my daughter thinks we are "babbling" her because she can't dress like the other girls. How does a mother fight this trend?

DEAR ABBY: Baffled: One of the most difficult jobs of a responsible parent is to follow his own convictions and ignore the persistent pleadings of a child who wants to "be like the other kids." This letter, from a reader, says it better than I.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell mothers whose daughters beg to "be like the other girls" to take care.

My mother was "old-fashioned." No make-up until I was 16 and then very sparingly. No heels or nylons until my last year in high school. I wasn't allowed to "go steady" in high school and I had to be in by midnight when I had a date.

I wept and felt "babied," but now I am grateful for my mother's good sense.

The girls I envied and who were allowed to look 20 when they were 15 are now bored, bitter and burned out.

Many are already divorced at 21! I graduated from college in June, and am engaged to be married at Christmas. If a mother wants to do her daughter a favor, she will slow her up.

NOT SORRY
DEAR ABBY: Our son insists on sending us Mother's Day and Father's Day cards signed by both himself and his "girl friend." This is very irritating to both his mother and me as we do not care for his "girl" and he knows it. They are not officially engaged, thank heavens, and we consider their combined signatures on his cards improper and a breach of etiquette. Are we right in resenting our son's actions?"

Respectfully,
MY WIFE AND I
DEAR MY: Call a spade a spade and admit that it's the GIRL who irritates you, not the breach of etiquette.

You could throw the etiquette book at your son, but I wouldn't advise it, because if they are serious his next card could be signed "Mr. and Mrs."—officially.

DEAR ABBY: If you read the papers as well as write for them, you saw the article about the judge who gave a husband permission to spank his wife when she needed it. All I can say is, "It's about time!" I was beginning to think the women were taking over the country.

If more men turned their wives over their knees and showed them who was boss, society would be in better shape. Spanking should be legalized everywhere.

ONE MAN'S OPINION
DEAR MAN: There are at least two things wrong with legalizing wife-spanking: (1) When does a spanking end and a beating begin? (2) Who is the final authority on when a wife "needs" a spanking?

When she repeatedly puts starch in his collar? Or pastes his mother in the face with a coconut cake? Sorry, but spankings are for children.

Goodwill Style Show Set Dec. 6

The Womens Christian Society of St. Paul's Methodist Church will present Goodwill Industries' "Fads and Fancies" Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. in the First Federal Savings of Oakland Building.

This historical fashion show will feature a panorama of styles from Lincoln's day to the present.

Cochairmen are Mrs. Charles Robinson and Mrs. Jack Harris.

Pam Whisman, Sarah Reynolds, and Bruce Parrott will model children's fashions. Each dress, prop and trinket has come out of a Goodwill bag and has been rejuvenated by Goodwill employees.

The show, which opened its current season with a performance at the Michigan State Fair on Old Timers' Day, boasts what is probably the longest run in Detroit's theatrical history, with eight years of packed audiences behind it and bookings into December 1964.

Mrs. John Allen, ticket chairman, says tickets will be available at the door.

At Pontiac Northern High Symphony Gives 2nd Concert

By MICHAEL DEMPSEY

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra presented the second concert of the current season last evening in the auditorium of Pontiac Northern High School. Guest artist, soprano Roma Riddell, was the featured soloist.

The overture, "Ruy Blas" by Mendelssohn was the first selection of the evening. This colorful overture was well played by the orchestra and set the pace for a highly enjoyable evening of music provided by our local musicians and Miss Riddell.

EIGHTH SYMPHONY

For the second selection in last night's well-balanced program, conductor Felix Resnick chose the Eighth Symphony by Beethoven. This work, one of the shorter Beethoven symphonies, demanded clear, precise playing, and a high degree of technical proficiency in its performance.

The orchestra was firmly under the control of Mr. Resnick, and it captured the sudden changes of mood, color, accent, and tempo which are found in all Beethoven works.

Miss Riddell's clear lyric soprano voice was featured in three selections with the orchestra, "Un Bel Di" from "Madama Butterfly" by Puccini, "Tacea La Notta Placida" from "Il Trovatore" by Verdi and "Magda's Aria" from "The Consul" by Mendotti.

Many concert-goers agreed that Miss Riddell was one of the outstanding soloists who have performed with the orchestra in the past several years. She displayed a beautiful lyrical soprano voice, an engaging personality and will be remembered in this area for years to come.

Miss Riddell was heard clearly and distinctly throughout the auditorium although, unlike many soprano soloists, she did not try to overwhelm the orchestra and the audience with her power. The artist displayed a wide range of emotions in her performance.

Notable was the poignant and tender singing of the aria "Un Bel Di." Perhaps the best-received number on the entire program was "Magda's Aria" from "The Consul". In this tremendously emotional aria, Miss Riddell completely captured not only the spirit of the composition but also the hearts of the audience.

The program was concluded with the brilliant "L'Arlesienne Suite number II" by Bizet, in which all of the colors of the symphony orchestra are on display. Especially notable was the playing of local flutist, Roger Welton, in the third movement of this composition.

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra again proved itself capable of bringing high quality music and musicians to our community. Everyone who had a part in last night's program is heartily congratulated for a job well done.

Mothers Should Check on Overprotection

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: My 9-year-old son is being overprotected by his mother. He goes to school every day instead of encouraging him to walk the six blocks.

He still limps from an old attack of polio. He could walk but he could not defend himself against bigger boys who sometimes rough up the younger ones. What this woman said seems so cruel. How can it be overprotective to shield a crippled child from more injury?

Answer: Aren't you shielding him for your own sake, too? I hope you can think "Yes."

Because the destructively over-protective mother is always the one who can never admit her personal interest in shielding her child against all possible dangers.

Never can she think, "Yes, I'm afraid of hurt to Billy, but I'm also afraid of hurt to the child of medical bills, sleepless nights, worry, nursing care and other people's criticism of me for allowing him to hurt himself."

Instead, she thinks, "My fear

WARNING: In Polly's Pointers on Monday readers were told to use a combination of vinegar and Chlorox to clean shower curtains. Chemists tell us that this mixture will produce chlorine gas which is dangerous and should not be used. DO NOT add any acid to any chlorine mixture.

To Keep Folks Awake!

Wanted: Strong Sermons

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE N-487: Harry K., aged 46, is a clergyman of a small church.

"I recently visited a big city church while I was on a short vacation," he told his audience.

"And what do you think I found? Cushions on the seats! What has the church come to when it must coddle its members in this fashion? Besides, I am against it because it lets the congregation feel too comfortable. Then they go to sleep!"

DIAGNOSIS
Why does Harry think God padded our buttocks with a great deal of fat, if he didn't expect us to enjoy some comfort while seated?

And imagine a clergyman finding it necessary to keep his audience awake by forcing them to sit on hard boards!

Why doesn't he give them some of the vital, dynamic oratory which Jesus employed by psychological methods?

What sort of a teacher would I be, if I had to force my pupils to sit on tacks in order to be sure they would remain awake for my lecture?

There were 65 million non-church members in this country at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack. Why weren't the majority of them in the churches?

Partly because there were too few good orators in the pulpits!

You must fill the pulpit before you can fill the church! It is an axiom that is still perfectly true.

CHRIST AN ORATOR

Jesus pulled the crowds. It is recorded that he had 5,000 men in his audience, "not to mention the women and children." According to modern tendencies, this meant he had at least 15,000 in one audience, for women and children far outnumber the men at the usual church meeting.

How do you account for Christ's great crowds? Because he was the Son of God? Not at all! His contemporaries didn't know he was the Son of God, or they would never have permitted his arrest, let alone his crucifixion.

Even his apostles hardly realized his divinity until after his resurrection.

The laymen in the crowds came to hear Jesus NOT because he was the Son of God but because he was a wonderful orator and a past master of applied psychology.

THE GREATEST SIN

He didn't give them a dry, sterile "essay" type of address, so typical of college professors and clergymen with an educational inferiority complex.

He used the narrative or "anecdotal address" and told them practical stories, for Jesus had "horse sense."

It isn't the sinner, therefore, which make Christ so unhappy today, as it is the poor orators in the pulpits!

A poor orator is lazy or stubborn, else he would read the New Testament and learn Christ's excellent public speaking formula. All the great speakers to whom I have listened, apply his "narrative formula."

A poor church attendance means the clergyman is at fault, for a good speaker can go into any such church and jump the attendance from 50 per cent to 100 per cent within six weeks.

Mention Interest Is Waning

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: For the past two years I have been receiving a subscription to a magazine for a Christmas present from a friend. The magazine is one in which I have no interest and so it goes unread.

I have a strong feeling that she will do this again this year. Would it be proper to tell her that I do not like this particular magazine and perhaps mention one that I do like?

A: It is a stupid waste to receive a magazine you don't read and if you know this friend at all well, you can mention when talking to her that you find you are losing interest in the X magazine and think such and such magazine has much more interesting articles.

This will let her know how you feel about the magazine and if she is planning to give you another subscription again this year, she will, let us hope, take the hint and send you a magazine you do like.

Q: Will you please settle a point of etiquette a friend and I have been arguing about? She insists that a lady precedes the gentleman when into the elevator and out again and I say that she enters first but he stands nearer the door, leaves first. Will you please tell us which one is right?

A: Both, depending upon circumstances. She enters first and when practical for her to do so, leaves first. But when the elevator is crowded so that his pushing aside trying to let her go in front of him would block the way for others, he should step out quickly and she follow.

Q: How does one know whether or not to wear evening clothes when invited to a large evening reception when no mention is made about clothes on the invitation?

A: When in doubt, it is wise and entirely proper to telephone to the house of the hostess and ask if you are to wear day-clothes or evening clothes.

How and when to introduce people seems to puzzle many. The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Introductions" gives helpful information on this subject. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Weight Loss Helps Health

Trim That Tubby Hubby

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I never forget the men, God bless them, and sometimes even write about them. As a matter of fact I am continually surprised by the number of men who read my column.

Of course, I write about many subjects which interest the brave as well as the fair sex. Information concerning health, mental viewpoint, nutrition and longevity is valuable to both men and women.

Women are more likely to reduce for appearance's sake than men, but with today's knowledge of the hazards of overweight, men have become increasingly interested in slimming down.

With heart trouble a number one threat to men and obesity an important ally of heart trouble, a man is flirting with danger if he does not banish those extra burdening pounds. Men, like women, feel heir to so many wonderful by-products of weight loss, too.

All sorts of minor disabilities disappear and energy is greatly increased. There is a feeling of well being which was lacking before. Overweight places a strain on the whole man or woman and also points up any physical weakness one may have.

Sometimes it takes a quick loss of a few pounds to encourage an individual to continue calorie counting. This is true of men as well as women. A man requires more calories than a woman, even when reducing, because of his greater stature. Most men lose successfully on 1800 to 2000 calories daily.

Slim that tubby hubby of yours down by putting him on a 12-day diet. But watch the big brute... he might overdo those sit-ups.

As an in-between Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday help I offered my Nine-Day Reducing Diet yesterday to my feminine readers.

Today I offer my Tubby Hubby Diet to men. This gives a man a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days time. If you would like to have this diet send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Set-In-Sleeve Cut on Bias Gives More Arm Freedom
"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"A recent pattern I was working with had the set-in sleeve cut on the bias. This is the first time I have ever seen this and wonder if it was correct?"

Mrs. J. P.

Occasionally you will find a sleeve cut like this for decorative purposes or because the designer felt it would be more effective on the bias.

Some women like a sleeve that is cut this way because it has a little more "give" to it and will provide more freedom for the arm. If you haven't tried it, you can't go wrong on one garment and you may like it so well that you will be encouraged to cut sleeves this way often.

Use Household Glue

For Raincoat Hem

"Dear Eunice,

"Please tell me how to shorten a plastic raincoat."

Mrs. A. J. K.

Dear Mrs. A. J. K.:

The hems of most plastic raincoats are not machine stitched, but glued in place. Use the milky type household glue on the edge of the hem only and press lightly in place with your hands.

WEEK'S WINNER

This week's Tailor Trix winner is Mrs. Theodore Glen, St. Charles, Mo., with this suggestion: "When I sew the two right sides of material together for stuffed toys, I place two layers of clear plastic in the middle. When turned right side out, this makes a clean, sanitary covering for children's toys."

CHRISTMAS GIFT

I've been getting ideas for Christmas gifts from many readers. We'll have many suggestions ready for next year. Meanwhile, there's an easy gift to make for the gardener on your list: Begin with a pair of white work gloves. Cut circles of red felt and glue on for fingernails. Glue on a flower design of any color or type. Give this along with some seeds, garden shears, or a flower basket. This is a gift that will be enjoyed long past the Holiday Season.

BLANKET COVER

Mrs. D. W. says: Since everyone now is getting out the winter blankets, here is a hint to help keep blankets clean. Use a long strip of printed, striped or plain colored fabric about 10 inches wide. Hem each end and make four buttonholes on each side. Now sew four buttons on each side of hem. This little cover for your blanket is not only attractive, but easily removed in order to freshen up.

To Widen Shoulder-Bodice

Piece, Length at Curve

"Dear Eunice,

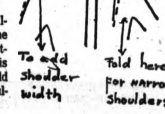

"When the sleeve is cut in one with the bodice is it possible to make it wider in the shoulders?" Mrs. M. N.

Dear Mrs. M. N.:

At the point where the shoulder begins to curve to form the sleeve, extend the shoulder whatever is needed. If the shoulder is too wide, you would take a fold about 6 inches long in the shoulder. See illustrations.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Yveilla. This is the name of a firm, lightweight fabric composed of wool and cotton. It has all the appearances of wool but is cool and easy to wear, like cotton. It can be used for most anything, but is most commonly used for men's sports shirts.

Plan Music Auditions in Five Classifications

National Federation of Music Clubs has announced plans for its 25th biennial Young Artist Auditions. Winners will be chosen in five classifications: piano, violin, man's voice, oratorio and woman's voice.

Each will receive $1,500 or the equivalent towards expenses of a debut recital, and supplemental awards, including auditions with the Metropolitan Opera Company, and paid solo appearances with major symphony orchestras and music festivals.

AGE BRACKETS

Piano and violin entrants must be 20 to 30 and voice entrants 25 to 35. Auditions will be held on state and district levels. Winners of the 14 Federation districts will attend the Federation's biennial convention for semifinals and finals.

2020 Noble Road, Oxford, Michigan.

STUDENT AUDITIONS

MFMC Auditions for students from 16 to 25 will also be held March 2. Winners in seven categories — piano, organ, man's voice, woman's voice, violin, violoncello, or choral winds — will receive awards of $25 each. State winners are eligible for district auditions; national winners will receive $200 each in these seven categories.

Thirty-four other scholarships and awards are offered in the 1963 MFMC Auditions. Further information may be obtained from the state chairman, Mrs. Ezra Lipkin, 17599 Greenlawn, Detroit 21.

Music Study Club of Detroit announces a competition in January 1963 for students of string instruments, violin, violoncello, viola, and double bass.

All eligible students, ages 16 through 21, residing in the Detroit metropolitan area, may compete for the $200 first prize and $100 second prize. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Lipkin.

MANILA, Philippines—The first lady of the Philippines candidly comments that she must watch her weight, adds that she's never been considered a fashion plate, but reports that she like another first lady is restoring the historical furnishings of the official residence.

Mrs. Diosdado Macapagal talked freely for more than an hour in an interview about her family, herself, and the family life at Malacanang Palace.

The Macapagals soon will complete one year as the Filipinos' first family. And Evangelina (Eva) Macaraeg Macapagal, looking back on problems of being a president's wife since Jan. 15, ruefully observed that one major challenge was "putting order in the palace."

"I like things shining," said the tiny, 47-year-old mother of two. "Of course, being a physician, I take such for granted. Having the staff there to do it, I saw no reason for its not being done."

She also cheerfully admitted that she was succumbing to the pressure of being a president's wife when it came to appearing at numerous functions.

She had announced when her husband was elected that the job of a president's wife was to be a helpmeet, not someone available for every ceremony opening a shop or beauty parlor.

"I said 'no' to all ribbon cuttings at first," said Mrs. Macapagal. "But since my husband's government is one of building the economy, I thought it wouldn't hurt if his wife opened banks and factories."

Mrs. Macapagal stands about 5 feet tall, wears her hair in the simplest of short coiffures, and is slim of figure despite her laughing comments on the differences in construction of Filipino and American women.

With her hands, she sketched in the air how American girls are built—tall and slim of hip. "We tend to be otherwise," she said. This time she made a circle in the air with her hands.

"I exercise all the time," she said. "There's a lot of walking just to the everyday routine of checking how things are going in various parts of the palace. So, the more I exercise, the better I eat." ... all this activity isn't helping."

I mentioned that the U.S. First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, was probably the most influential person in fashion in America today. How was Mrs. Macapagal doing in the Philippines?

"Well," she laughed, "I've never been considered a fashion plate ... my favorite daytime outfit is a two-piece dress. It's cool and comfortable in our hot climate."

"My husband and I preach a doctrine of simple living ... it's always been our way of life. I follow it in clothing too. I buy things I can wear over and over. No, it doesn't bother me that I'm seen in the same dress often."

She said her native dress—she wears the Filipino terno on formal occasions—is made by Jose Moreno; other costumes are made by Paras, a woman couturier in Manila.

MARRIED 17 YEARS
Mrs. Macapagal is the daughter of a lumberman of Zamboanga city, took her pre-medical training at Cebu City, and her medical degree at the University of Santa Tomas.

Seventeen years ago she married Macapagal, a widower, and the couple has two children—Marie Gloria, 15, and Diosdado Jr., 11. Macapagal has a son, Arturo, 20, from his first marriage.

Mrs. Macapagal said she quit formal medical practice at the start of World War II and "doubt if I ever will go back to it"—except as a physician guarding the health of her family.

She makes sure, for instance, that her husband gets a half hour "nap" after lunch when possible.

Mrs. Macapagal said her first year as first lady had been made easier by her background—her husband has been in politics 13 years. Moving into the new role had meant "more people to see, more appointments to keep ..."

One of her projects at the official residence is to start a small museum, open to the public, with items used by former governor-generals and presidents.

Another is to refurbish and put into use furnishings that other occupants of the palace had relegated to various "attics."

The First Lady said she and her husband hoped to visit the United States during his four-year term (he had said during his campaign that he would not seek re-election). "We have a standing invitation," she said.

"We are your best friends in Asia," said the woman whose husband runs a former U.S. territory. "There is no 'Yankee Go Home' here. Some countries, after they win their independence, no longer are friends of their former governments."

6,000 Illiterate Chicago Reliefers Get Another Chance

CHICAGO (AP)—Clarence Wallace took a wrong turn in the road of life when he was in the prime stage in school.

Wallace, who was born on a farm in the hill country of Tennessee, never got back to school. In time he became a common laborer. A heart condition ultimately ended his ability to lift and tote. Seven months ago he went on relief in Chicago.

BACK IN SCHOOL

Now this ruddy, beety man of 53 is back in school. He and his classmates study at the level of the first three elementary grades. Two evenings a week they sit in straight-back wooden chairs in Room 124 in Lake View High School. They look at the teacher and, beyond, to a blackboard bearing such chalked sentences as: "The little dog will jump."

"I know figures," Wallace said, "but I can't read and write. You can't get a job if you can't even write your name."

Wallace, a bachelor, dreams of learning the first two R's and then finding a job in a plant where machines provide the muscle.

Wallace is one of 252,000 persons receiving some form of public assistance in Cook County (Chicago)—a number equal to the population of Dayton, Ohio, or Tampa, Fla.

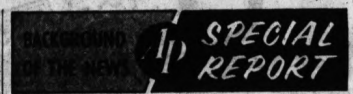

50,000 ILLITERATE

A sampling of able-bodied reliefers indicated this fall that 50,000 are functionally illiterate. They read and write so poorly, if at all, that they have little chance of getting past the application blank desk of an employment office.

Raymond M. Hilliard, director of the Cook County Department of Public Aid, found the statistics appalling.

"If the staggering burden of relief is to be reduced," he said, "it is essential that the educational level of these people be upgraded."

So the department teamed with the Board of Education in a program they call unique—evening classes in public schools, ranging through the elementary grades into high school, to getting off relief rolls and on payrolls.

So far, 6,000 reliefers have enrolled and the number is growing toward the immediate goal of 10,000 and an eventual 50,000.

3 Burglars Sentenced to Prison Terms

Three admitted burglars — two of them from Pontiac — were sentenced to 1½ to 15 years in Jackson prison yesterday by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

Paul A. Gonzales, 17, of 229 W. Princeton Ave., Pontiac, failed to appear for sentencing Nov. 7 and was picked up on a bench warrant.

Gonzales had pleaded guilty Oct. 22 to taking part in the Oct. 8 burglary of the South Side Pool Room, 161 W. South Blvd.

Richard R. Melow of 1751 Jacksonville St., Farmington Township, pleaded guilty Oct. 29 to breaking and entering the Robinson & Son Hardware at 2750 Grand River Ave., Farmington Township, on Oct. 19.

Donald Pearce of 543 Franklin Road, Pontiac, was sentenced for breaking and entering a gas station at 302 S. Saginaw St. Oct. 23. Pearce pleaded guilty before Judge Adams Oct. 29.

Nehru's Sister Sworn In

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, former ambassador in Moscow and Washington, was sworn in Tuesday as governor of Maharashtra State at the capital, Bombay. She is a sister of Prime Minister Nehru and a former president of the United Nations General Assembly.

TOGETHER AGAIN — Rosemary Shepard returned to her Tulsa, Okla., home yesterday, after leaving last summer to attend public school. Her mother has taught her and her two brothers since they were with an I.Q. of 128. Her long-range aim is a high school diploma and then college. Juan Mendez has set his sights much lower.

"I want some kind of job in a factory," he said, holding up his hands as if reaching for levers. "But I don't know how work machines. I get job when I learn English better."

Mendez, 43 and small, wore a neat gray suit with the large, pointed lapels that were in vogue 10 years back. He came from Puerto Rico nine years ago and drifted to Chicago. He lost his most recent job as a steam table attendant at a Gold Coast hotel. He and his wife, he said, have "11 children and one more coming."

He and his Spanish-speaking classmates sit in an English class in Room 326. The teacher holds up cards marked with letters of the alphabet, and the pupils repeat each of them after her.

"Buenos noches," she says. "Good evening," a student translates.

"Como se llama usted?" "What is your name?" another converts the question into English.

In Room 227 a class works at typewriters and adding and calculating machines.

A 34-year-old divorcee, a one-time factory worker who keeps her three youngsters on her aid to dependent children benefits, practices typing.

"This," she says, looking about the classroom, "is a wonderful thing."

"This thing," as she puts it, may foreshadow the future. While Wallace, Mendez and the others were in their classes, a Yale economist, Neil W. Chamberlain, addressed businessmen downtown. The answer to automation, he said, may be a continuing education that will send people back to school periodically during their entire working lives.

Traffic Bureau Established

Carry Out Police Changes

City Manager Robert A. Stierer last night told the City Commission that changes in Pontiac Police Department procedures requested by commissioners had been carried out.

A 17-man traffic bureau has been established and for the present time, strongest traffic details will be used on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays during the day shift.

Traffic patrols will be stepped up in future months, Stierer said.

A recording machine to help facilitate taking of reports in the patrol bureau is being delivered this week.

The drivers' license bureau at the Public Safety Building will be open Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon, beginning this Saturday.

"If demand warrants afternoon hours, the Saturday office hours can be extended after an initial trial period," Stierer said.

4 Airline Pilots Pay; 'Inattention' Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four airline pilots accused of inattention to duty on the evidence of flight engineers' snafus have paid fines of $300 each and been identified by the Federal Aviation Agency.

The FAA records listed the four, all Eastern Air Lines captains: E. J. V. Webster, New York; E. L. Foss, Port Washington, N. Y.; J. C. Ludington, East Quogue, N. Y.; and J. C. Mitchell, Cross River, N. Y.

FAA Administrator N. E. Haley announced No. 9 that FAA had fined 13 Eastern pilots from $300 to $600 each for inattention to duty.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission Hires Renewal Condemnation Lawyers

Pontiac city commissioners last night approved a contract with Travis, Warren & Nayer, Detroit attorneys, for legal services in the R44 condemnation proceedings.

The contract calls for hiring the Detroit firm for a fee not to exceed $12,000 and sets a deadline of April 30, 1963 for all legal proceedings to be completed.

As in recent weeks, all urban renewal items on the agenda didn't fare so well.

A resolution establishing the necessity of condemning all properties marked for acquisition in the R44 project area was deleted because it couldn't be prepared in time for action at last night's meeting.

Until it is passed, the attorneys are powerless to file condemnation proceedings against any property owners with which the city can't reach a purchase settlement.

Two agreements for title insurance on R44 properties, already deferred two weeks ago pending a detailed report to commissioners, were again delayed. Commissioners Milton R. Henry and Charles H. Harmon requested additional information on the contracts, not included in the report given them by urban renewal officials and the city attorney.

One recommendation from the city planning commission was denied. It urged adoption of a request for rezoning of property on the southeast corner of Central and Irwin streets.

The recommendation was to rezone the land from Manufacturing-1 to Manufacturing-3. It had been supported by Mayor Robert Landry but vigorously opposed by nearby residents and business concerns.

Landry last night reversed his stand, moving that the City Commission not concur with the planners' recommendation. His motion to deny the rezoning was approved.

Another recommendation, this one disapproving a request to rezone some 30 acres on the East Side for a proposed "townhouse" development, met with Commission favor.

The request for rezoning was denied by a unanimous vote, Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. being absent.

The area in question lies between Tasmania Avenue and East Boulevard north of Michigan Avenue.

No objections were voiced at public hearing on a proposed rezoning of some 9.5 acres of residential property near Auburn Avenue and Opyke Road.

'Cannonaut' Thrills 'Em in Inner Space Shots

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Well, the countdown is on, ladies and gentlemen, and another young dare-do, well is ready for launch.

He will blast off tomorrow. Not from Canaveral. From cannon.

Luis Munoz, known affectionately in the circus set as "The Human Projectile" (as in "dodge — here comes pre"), is not officially a U.S. astronaut.

But he thinks, after making 5,000 inner-space shots, he understands public opinion on these matters, and that is why he feels called upon to comment about America's poor understanding of world propaganda at the time of Russia's first "Sputnik" ventures.

"When I first read in paper," Munoz recalls, "what Eisenhower said about how Sputnik meant nothing to get excited about—that man in space just a stunt—I say ho-ho! Maybe he should try one time going out of my cannon and see effect it has on people."

"HE DON'T LISTEN!"

"Long before America has astronauts, I been making crowd hold breath for 10 years as 'Captain Astronaut.' Whole audiences jump, all together, every time I blast off — just like somebody stick them with big hatpin. Same happened

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Unemployed Manlio Brusa, 77, has a sweet tooth. When police arrested him for petty theft, he told them he stole to get pocket money for chocolates which he dearly loved.

But when he was sent to jail, children in a Milan Elementary school took up a collection and sent him a big box of candy.

"Don't steal for chocolates," the children wrote in a note. "When you want more, just ask us. We'll take up another collection."

However, he concedes, liftoff from a cannon is not so complex as from a launching pad. He invites the reporter to take a quick look inside the muzzle

But that's all water over the dam and Munoz is not bitter (although he still thinks the Russians may have copied their man-in-space ideas from him), and he is all set to thrill audiences at New York's Coliseum tomorrow when the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. combined circus opens its first annual Christmas circus and holiday festival.

For the next 34 days, he will be shot twice daily from his monstrous cannon. Unfortunately, the Coliseum has only a 64-foot ceiling, so Munoz cannot hope to break his record height of 125 feet ("not without headache"). But he intends to skim the roof so closely that strong men will wince.

The 32-year-old Barcelona-born cannonaut considers his problems much the same as those of those 'nauts-come-lately at Canaveral.

"For good trip," he says, "everything got to be perfect. Trajectory must be carefully calculated. Inside temperature of cannon barrel must be just right. Overheating is potentially dangerous."

For the next 34 days, he will be shot twice daily from his monstrous cannon. Unfortunately, the Coliseum has only a 64-foot ceiling, so Munoz cannot hope to break his record height of 125 feet ("not without headache"). But he intends to skim the roof so closely that strong men will wince.

The 32-year-old Barcelona-born cannonaut considers his problems much the same as those of those 'nauts-come-lately at Canaveral.

"For good trip," he says, "everything got to be perfect. Trajectory must be carefully calculated. Inside temperature of cannon barrel must be just right. Overheating is potentially dangerous."

However, he concedes, liftoff from a cannon is not so complex as from a launching pad. He invites the reporter to take a quick look inside the muzzle

IT'S A GREAT LIFE — These two 7-month-old colts are kicking up their heels — as long as they have their mothers close by. Old Dottie (foreground) gives a warning look at Pontiac Press photographer Edward R. Noble, while her daughter Kit, and cousin Beau perform. Beau's mother Dawn, on the far side wants to "head for the hills." Ann Weeks 15, of 3411 Reese Road, and her mother Mrs. Leonard Weeks, are the owners of the Morgan and Palomino horses and spend many hours riding over their 80-acre farm in Independence Township.

Stockholders Approve Union of 2 Farm Units

EAST LANSING (U) — The stockholders of Michigan Farm Bureau Services yesterday approved the merger of Michigan Elevator Exchange, Inc., with the Farm Bureau Services organization.

Their approval was the final step in completing the merger of the two groups, which are expected to realize about $45 million in gross sales in fiscal 1963.

Stockholders also heard reports on the financial status of Farm Bureau Services and Farmers Petroleum at the meeting at Kellogg Center.

The general manager of Farm Bureau Services, Malcolm Brownlee, said sales in fiscal 1962, which ended Aug. 31, reached $28.5 million, up 7 per cent from last year. Profits for the same period were up 13 per cent, he said, to $260,170.

Jack C. McKendry, general manager of Farmers Petroleum, reported that although petroleum sales in 1962 were up to some $11.1 million, profits dropped about 9 per cent to $358,667.

The stockholders elected 13 men to the board of directors of Farm Bureau Services after voting to increase the board from nine to 13 members.

Walkout Halts Wixom Plant

Afternoon Shift May End Tuesday Walkout

WIXOM — The afternoon shift at the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant here was expected back on the job today despite a walkout last night which forced the plant to close down.

Day shift workers reported on schedule today at 5:30 a.m., according to company officials.

However, the plant was forced to close after some 170 employees in the body shop walked out at 8:30 p.m. yesterday.

The plant shut down 30 minutes later and the entire shift was sent home.

"It was a matter of people being a little tired and edgy," a Ford spokesman said today. "They've been working a lot of overtime and have had only one Saturday off since 1963 model production began in October."

One worker, however, said that the walkout was caused by a speed-up of the assembly lines.

"We don't have enough men," complained the employee.

Ford Thunderbirds and Lincoln Continentals are assembled at the Wixom plant.

Nearly 1,600 workers, represented by UAW Local 36, were affected by last night's walkout. The plant employs a total of 4,200.

Champ Steer Wins Reprieve

CHICAGO (UPI) — Master prize went yesterday to Top of rest of his life with children, Phaezler said. He will be penned close to the children's zoo at Lincoln Park and later will take up headquarters at a model farm on the grounds.

The show's grand champion steer will be auctioned tomorrow morning.

Events today include the collegiate dairy cattle judging contest; sheep and swine sales; Hereford breeding stock judging; and judging of sheep breeding classes.

In addition to the show's grand championship and the junior crown, the Anguses have won the pen-of-three grand championships and the reserve and grand championships for carcasses.

For the first time in the history of the international, the grand champion barrow was a cross-bred hog, sired by a Yorkshire and born to a Hampshire.

Exiles Again Argue Ways to Overcome Castro

SAN JUAN, P.R.—A sharp split has developed among Cuban anti-Castro exiles here that could, as it spreads across the Caribbean, determine the future of Cuba and of U.S. relations with Latin America.

In the face of the Russian missile backdrop which has seriously diminished Fidel Castro's prestige throughout the hemisphere and now threatens his regime with extinction, exile groups from Florida to Venezuela are flexing their muscles again at the prospect of going home with an invasion.

In San Juan, hub of Caribbean exile activity, a stepped-up campaign of posters, broadcasts, meetings and fence-mending caucuses among some 25 groups and their branch offices in Miami and Caracas have all the earmarks of the feverish weeks before the fruitless Bay of Pigs invasion in April, 1961.

But working against this rising tide of invasion preparation is a slender, quiet, solitary Cuban — Manolo Ray, once Castro's Minister of Public Works and then, until the 1961 invasion exposed and exterminated it, leader of the most powerful underground inside Cuba.

MANOLO RAY

It is Ray's conviction that Cuba's liberation and future are the responsibility of Cubans — both exiles and those inside Cuba who are willing to fight Castro.

The U.S., Ray says has undertaken the responsibility of keeping the hemisphere free and should not be expected to solve Cuba's problems for the Cubans.

On the other hand, Castro cannot be left in power, no matter what kind of a showcase he presents for the evils of communism.

What Ray wants to build is another powerful underground capable of resisting the Castro government.

"Within a reasonable time," Ray says, "you will see how it works. For the first time since the Bay of Pigs I am encouraged by the reports I am receiving from Cuba and from the remnants of our old organization here."

UNDERGROUND FORCES

In April, 1961, when Ray joined the Revolutionary Council of exile leaders in Miami (against his better judgment, but urged to do so by invasion planners), his People's Revolutionary Movement (MRP) inside Cuba was estimated at about 50,000 saboteurs, spies, recruiters and peso-per-month contributing sympathizers.

They were people who had made Castro's rise to power possible and felt betrayed by him.

Leadership of this powerful network thus passed out of Ray's hands and into the machinery of the invasion plan.

In return, Ray was promised that the underground would be given first priority in the liberated government of Cuba.

Instead, Ray discovered, the invasion scheme was shot through with followers of former dictator Fulgencio Batista and other powers seeking exile groups while Ray's MRP underground was not only bypassed but actually yielded up to death and capture when the invasion began.

"Betrayed and discredited among my people," Ray says, "I vowed not to work either with a council of leaders or an invasion organization led by outsiders. I left Miami as soon as I could."

REBUILDING

For the past year Ray has been using his training as an engineer with the Puerto Rico Planning Board in the development of low-cost housing.

At the same time, he has been using his patience and leadership to rebuild an underground inside Cuba.

The new organization is called "Jure" — an acronym for Junta Revolucionaria and a Spanish word for "oath."

Within the past months it has concentrated on establishing a network of radio contacts and canvassing Cuba with organizers who have successfully landed and traveled the country with underground help.

The first report:

Despite strict military government, people are willing to work for liberation with explosives and arms.

Castro can no longer be certain of unwavering allegiance among his militia.

A considerable cadre of exiles has come to Ray's support.

It is more than a surprise to learn that few exile groups doubt Ray's claims and reports.

It is no surprise at all that only a very few support him.

One leader of the Puerto Rican Unity Committee of 21 exile organizations says matter-of-factly: "Oh, he'll come around to joining when the fighting starts."

Ray's real outside support comes instead from the political groups in Latin America that the U.S. needs in order to secure hemispheric peace and growth — the social democrats and land reformers of the moderate left.

In the Dominican Republic, for example, where the first free elections campaign in the memory of the land is now underway, solution of the "Cuban Problem" is a major political issue.

OTHERS WATCH

Venezuelans, Costa Ricans, Puerto Ricans and Panamanians are also watching the end of the Castro era with avid interest.

"Will it be an invasion followed by a military government?" is the question one hears asked by the liberal left over and over.

Even the moderate conservatives in the Caribbean admit that many of Castro's reforms will have to remain after Castro goes. If the hemisphere's goal is stability and evolution, rather than a continued tradition of coup, force, and insurrection.

Only one kind of invasion is even remotely tolerable to these hemispheric watchers — the distinctly unlikely unified action of the Organization of American States.

The extreme and doctrinaire left in the Caribbean, which has lost considerable status following the U. S. blockade-without-military-action policy, is convincing no one of Vanqu imperialism these days.

If Castro fell before an invasion, of course, it might be a different story.

Testimony Proves True as Lawyer's Heart Fails

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Dr. Ralph Goodman testified in a traffic accident case yesterday that a person could suffer a fatal heart attack at any time.

He then was called from the stand to aid attorney James R. Winchester, 45, who had collapsed while questioning a witness in an adjoining courtroom. Goodman pronounced Winchester, his patient, dead of a heart attack.

SILENT SENTRY—A snowman, "armed" with a broom, stands guard duty along the West Berlin, side of the wall dividing the city as sweepers clean up after a recent blizzard.

The Brandenburg Gate, closed by the East Germans, is in the background. The sign reads, "Attention! You Are Now Leaving West Berlin."

Gen. Jouhaud Gets Reprieve

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle today commuted the death sentence given former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud for his leading role in the terrorist secret army.

There was no immediate announcement of the prison term Jouhaud would have to serve but it was expected to be life. That was the term imposed on former Gen. Raoul Salan, the commander in chief of the secret army.

De Gaulle also commuted the death sentence of Andre Canal the "black monnaie" of the secret army, who also had been sentenced for his terrorist activities.

Commutation of Jouhaud's sentence had been expected since the special high tribunal that sentenced Jouhaud last April subsequently let Salan, his superior, off with life.

Jouhaud, 57-year-old former air force chief of staff, was second in command of the underground secret army which waged an unsuccessful terrorist war to prevent Algerian independence.

After the Salan trial, De Gaulle in fury abolished the special high tribunal — made up of both military officers and civilian judges — and in May set up an all-military court to judge secret army terrorists.

License Tab Sales Lag 38 Pct. Behind Last Year

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James Hare reported yesterday that license tab sales are running 38 per cent behind last year.

In the first 21 business days last year, 232,796 plates were issued, whereas in the same period this year, only 145,547 tabs were sold, Hare said.

Approximately 60 cities with populations over 25,000 now have no public transportation systems, the American Transit Association reports.

A Golf Course Right at Home

Here's a game for the big "kids." Designed to appeal to adults, the All-Star Golf Course provides real golfing action.

Golfers, controlled by each player, actually lift the ball into the air, with slices, hooks and drives.

Scaled 15 yards per inch, this nine-hole, par 35 course measures 3,145 yards. No course for amateurs, playing area includes water hazards, sand traps and trees.

Each golfer is equipped with four clubs, a wood, two irons and a putter. Each player adjusts the golfers' arms into one of three positions, to chip, putt or drive.

The 25-inch by 36-inch course layout, with clubhouse, pro shop, numbered tees, flags, bridges and real sand, can make golf enthusiasts happy indoors and make a golf lover out of the guy who never held an iron.

Tuck Away Emergency Small Gifts

It seems to happen every year — that moment of sudden despair when the doorbell chimes, in walks a friend bearing gifts, and you realize with a sinking sensation that you haven't a thing for her!

It's even worse when the caller is a relative.

This year, resolve to avoid embarrassment by wrapping and tucking away a few small gifts that would be appropriate for a person of any age and size.

Impossible? Not at all! Such small remembrances as bath accessories — pretty shower caps, bath caddies, long-handled back brushes, after-bath powder and lotion — are suitable for any age from subteens to great-grandmas, and are always welcome.

Any woman loves a gift that makes her feel beautifully feminine, and glamorous bathroom accessories have that faculty.

New Electric Trains Full of Surprises

Electric trains are full of surprises to delight young railroad buffs on Christmas morning.

There is a new sheriff-outlaw car. One dukes as the other one bobs up.

Sure to be a conversation sparker, is a Ft. Knox car jam-packed with simulated gold bricks, reports the Toy Guidance Council.

And, in tune with the current tempo of life, there is new car equipped with a radar screen and a satellite launching car.

And since men of all ages get a kick out of playing with electric trains, they'll enjoy, along with the children, the intriguing new cars, so far a cry from the standard sets of their boyhood.

Hotel Guest Requests OK to Clean Her Room

Yule Shopping Calls for Coins

U. S. Mint Can't Make Money Fast Enough

WASHINGTON — The Bureau of the Mint, in common with many of its customers, can't make money fast enough — especially before Christmas.

As the 1962 shopping season begins, the mint was out of coins. "Our cupboard is bare," said Eva B. Adams, director of the mint.

"We have nothing in our inventory now, and we are sending out coins as fast as they are made."

The demand for change increased beyond all expectations, Miss Adams explained. She forewarned continuing shortages in the holiday season, especially in the northeast and Midwest.

A Chicago grocery chain, for example, has spent $18,000 since May transporting small coins to city stores from suburban banks, which have fewer calls for their supply of change.

The mint's presses stamp out coins by the billions, but the big demand for small change creates periodic shortages, the National Geographic Society says.

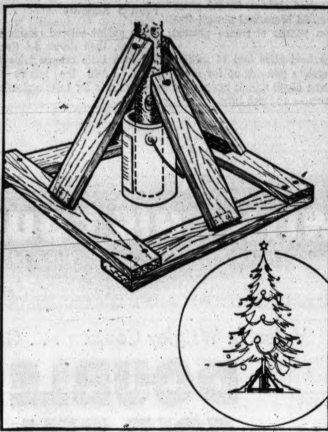

The mint lists several reasons for the popularity of clinking cash. More people are spending more money than ever before.

Some four-million vending machines gobble up coins and hold them longer than cash registers. Parking meters now line streets in suburbia as well as downtown areas.

New shopping centers and banks all over the country require small mountains of change to open for business.

Silver dollars are popular in some parts of the west but rarities in the east. A Brooklyn gas-station attendant called the police when a Wyoming visitor tried to pay him with silver dollars. If silver dollars ever become nationally popular, however, the mint is prepared.

Though it has not stamped out a "cartwheel" since 1955, it has almost 74 million on hand.

This sturdy Christmas tree stand is easy to make with basic power tools.

Make Nontip Tree Stand; Easy and Costs So Little

In less than an hour and for under a dollar, using only the most basic power tools, you can construct a sturdy, nontip, nontilt Christmas tree stand.

Unlike most ready bought stands, this one, designed by the Cummins tool people, will easily support a 12-foot tree. It automatically adjusts for any size trunk.

The principle of the stand is that the weight of the tree actually supports itself. The only tools needed are a portable power saw or sabre saw and a 3/4-inch electric drill.

For the base you will need 4 pieces of 3/4-inch by 3-inch pine lumber. For diagonal braces, 2 pieces, 3/4-inch by 3 inches by 16 inches; 2 pieces, 3/4-inch by 3 inches by 14 inches. Borel cut one end.

Other materials needed are 2 pair 2-inch by 2-inch loose pin hinges, 16 No. 10 by 3/4-inch flat head wood screws, 8 No. 10 by 1/4-inch flat head wood screws, and 16 No. 10 by 2-inch flat head wood screws.

If your candles are too narrow at the base for your festive silver candlesticks, wrap the bottom of each candle in aluminum foil until it fits perfectly.

Reminds Germans of U.S. 'Presence'

Gen. Hartel's Flag a Comforting Symbol in W. Berlin

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
BERLIN — A flag flies in front of the home of U.S. Berlin brigade commander Gen. Frederick O. Hartel. It comes down at night and goes up again in the morning. To West Berliners it is a reassuring symbol and they watch it closely.

If on any day it did not appear, panic might ensue. For General Hartel's flag is one sign of what is called the American "presence" in Berlin.

Altogether, this presence comes to about 12,000 Americans, about half of whom are dependents — women attending their social clubs and children attending schools much as they would at home.

They provide daily reassurance to the German people that Americans stand side-by-side with them in this city deep inside Communist territory.

To the Germans, the women and children here are almost as important as the American troops — not as possible frontline hostages in case of Communist attack, but rather as proof that freedom is freedom anywhere and that Americans will defend it as quickly here as at home.

As a military assignment Berlin is unique.

For Americans in Germany it is the most sought-after post because housing and living conditions are the best and because Berlin itself is a beautiful city.

Militarily, it is the only American post totally surrounded by a potential enemy.

TANKS SURROUND

American military commanders know that they are surrounded by Communist tanks and by a military force totaling close to 70,000 men within a score of miles of the heart of the city.

But they are not concerned with mere numbers because as an outpost they certainly could be overwhelmed.

Since Berlin is deep inside enemy territory and is a key communications center, they do not believe they would be attacked with nuclear weapons.

The most likely Communist tactic, they believe, would be attack by Communist-generated mobs.

These mobs would pour through breaches in the Communist-erected Berlin wall, probably to be followed by the East German army and police forces in an attempt to take over Western portions of the city.

Hence, American troops here are experts at mob control.

"And," says General Hartel, "if as a decorative fringe.

the Communists do try to come over the wall, we'll have two and a half million West Berliners fighting with us."

Playing Cards Make Fine Sock Stuffer

A first-rate stocking stuffer is a deck of crisp new playing cards or a did-it-myself gift made out of old playing cards.

New cards are always welcome. Dad will appreciate new playing cards to put in his lunch pail, mother to use at her next bridge party, and the children to entertain aunts and uncles with card tricks or to play games of Go Fish.

Old playing cards can be "gifted" additions to the Christmas cheer when transformed into useful presents. One easy-to-do gift is a set of sandwich decorations made out of toothpicks, glued with two cut-out card faces glued around it.

You can decorate plain trays by pasting on old playing cards and shelling out to waterproof. Cover worn-out or imperfect placemats with playing card borders as a gift for mother at her next canasta party.

Decorate an empty coffee can with playing cards, fill with bridge mix and mail to grandmother. You also can sew playing cards to a felt bridge cover as a decorative fringe.

Yule Plant Is Cheery, Warm Gift

If adults wrote letters to Santa, the most popular gift request would undoubtedly be to have someone prepare Christmas lists without error and do the holiday shopping as well.

There is a way to cope close to this Santa service if you select flowers as your presents to young and old.

You can wait almost until the last minute to shop, and the traditional pine boughs and star-shaped poinsettia plants still will be delivered anywhere in the United States in time for the holiday.

The budget-minded can turn their shopping lists over to their FTD florists a few weeks in advance of the holiday delivery date.

The florists transmit this order by letter, rather than by wire, thus saving transmission costs. For stay-at-home shoppers, flowers can be selected by picture. Through a new catalog you see in advance the exact floral gift that will be delivered to friends.

Drop Greetings Into Mail Early

It's a rare homemaker who escapes rugged correspondence chores at Christmas time. It's a wise one who eases her writing tasks by preparing for them well in advance and organizing them to make them less time-consuming.

CARDS

Begin addressing Christmas cards early. For each addressed envelope, make a small file card with name and address for reference when addressing cards next year.

Sign the cards and stamp envelopes well in advance of the Christmas season. Have them ready for mailing about 10 days before Christmas.

You may want to use red or green ink. Use of colored ink is simple with a cartridge pen, for cartridges come in those colors.

All gifts should be acknowledged by an informal note except those from relatives or friends you may see on Christmas day. The messages need not be long. If you send your thank-you immediately after Christmas, you might use a "Happy New Year" note paper.

Party invitations come thick and fast at Christmas. Almost all such invitations should be acknowledged in writing.

Engraved invitations should be acknowledged formally in the phraseology used. Although informal invitations can be answered by telephone, a note of thanks, accepting or declining, is considered better form.

Junior Editors Quiz on ARCHAEOLOGY

QUESTION: What is the mystery of Easter Island?

ANSWER: When on Easter Sunday, 1722, Dutch Admiral Roggeveen discovered a lonely speck of land in the South Pacific, he called it Easter Island.

The inhabitants seemed much like those on other Pacific Islands but what was different was the presence of about 600 huge stone statues, some 40 feet tall and weighing 70 tons. There were also wooden tablets with what looked like writing carved on them.

The inhabitants knew little about the statues or the writing. For many years the staring stony faces of the statues have hidden a mystery which has only been partly dispelled.

Who made them? There is a quarry of volcanic rock from which they were evidently cut but how could they have been moved? Many experts feel the statues were made by Polynesian ancestors of the present population; their purpose, it is believed, was to honor the dead.

In 1855, Thor Heyerdahl led an expedition to the island. He found a few natives who understood how the statues were moved: by prying them up with long poles while walls of small stones were built up from underneath. Heyerdahl believes that Easter Island was originally settled, not from the west, but from South America.

FOR YOU TO DO: The mysterious script has not yet been deciphered. But scientists keep trying. Watch for news reports on this, and read Heyerdahl's book, "Aku Aku."

You Can Pick Climate in State of California
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Fussy about climate? California has all kinds. University of California agriculture officials point out the state has altitudes ranging from 276 feet below sea level to 14,495 above, with commercial agriculture as high as 9,000 feet.

California has agricultural areas that get colder in winter than some parts of Alaska, and others that get hotter than the Sahara desert.

Luminous Pocket Watches Outlawed in New York City

NEW YORK (UPI)—Men: If you are the proud possessor of a pocket watch with luminous dials, beware.

The New York City Health Department believes that such dials, when the watch is worn near the waist, expose the wearer to excessive radiation and possible genetic damage to the reproductive organs.

Acting on a study by the office of radiation control, the city has amended its administrative code to ban the sale of such watches here.

It was believed to be the first such prohibition enacted in this country.

Cancel Sex Education for Knowing Teens

DAGEHAM, England (UPI)—Medical officer Dr. Adrian Gill said he had canceled sex education movies for schoolchildren.

They were not teaching teenagers anything they didn't already know, he said.

The ban does not cover radium dial wrist watches, and it was suggested to owners of radium-dial pocket watches, if they did not want to dispose of them, that they have the face and hands replaced.

Hanson Blatz, director of the office of radiation control, said that watches examined by the board of health gave off 75 units of radiation a year, 150 times more than the amount considered permissible and safe.

Wrist watches are considered safe because the face and hands are smaller, and because the radium-treated surfaces are shielded from the body by the mechanism of the watch.

The pocket watch, it was said, is usually worn near the waist, with the face turned inward.

No cases of actual physical damage to pocket-watch wearers have been reported, but it was believed that constant exposure to a pocket watch with radium dials over a period of years could be deleterious.

Blatz said luminous dials contain a radioactive substance which emits alpha particles and highly penetrating gamma rays.

Early-Mailed Thank You Requests to Mail Early

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI)—Postmaster Harry Kizirian practices what he preaches. He sent out about 120,000 letters thanking post office patrons for mailing early last Christmas—and urging them to do the same this year.

About 80 per cent of radio air time is devoted to music, the Library of Congress reported in a recent survey.

Spray Paints Keep Family Holiday-Busy

Looking for new ways to brighten your home for the Christmas holidays?

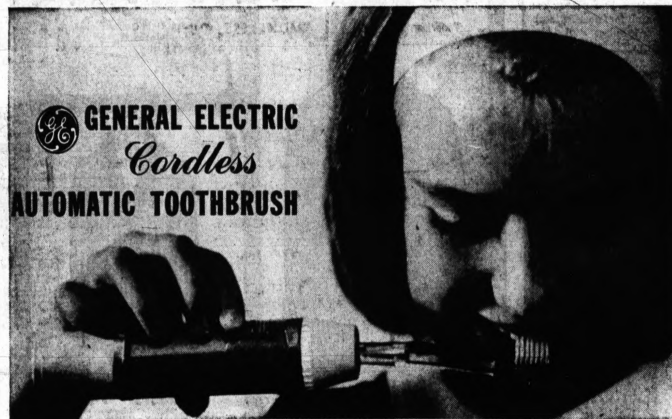

Decorations done with push button, easy spray paints can get the whole family into the act.

For real zing, fluorescent red and green spray paints are fine for paper cut-outs, pine cones, baskets, nuts, fruits and weed pods.

One highly effective application of spray paints is on paper cut-outs. The children can make the cut-outs. A bouncy corkscrew mobile can be made from a round paper plate.

Cut it from the outside in, in a spiral. Spray one side green, the other red. Suspend from the center with fine wire.

For your front door, Margaret Hutchinson, color stylist, suggests a wreath with a difference. Spray pine cones, dried weed pods and walnuts a bright red and fasten them in clusters on a wreath of greens. Add a fat red bow.

Give the Christmas Gift of Better Dental Care

If the General Electric Cordless Automatic Toothbrush saves you time in cleaning your teeth, that is fine with us. Or if you find it more convenient to use than an ordinary toothbrush, we are happy about that, too.

But—we have to point out that these are not the reasons why we devoted years to clinical research and made the largest grant of money ever invested in the study of toothbrushing.

We designed, tested and perfected the General Electric Automatic Toothbrush for just one purpose—to give you and your family the best home dental care in the safest possible way.

Every dentist in America has been given a summary of the technical reports and is kept informed of our progress. In fact, over 24,000 dentists have already purchased the toothbrush. And five out of ten people who thought it tell us it was recommended by their dentist.

At this very moment, we are continuing our research in such areas as control of tooth decay and gum disease. Meanwhile, of this you can be sure:

The General Electric Cordless Automatic Toothbrush will give your whole family healthful gum care and cleaner teeth than ordinary handbrushing.

The smallest child can use it with complete safety. There is no cord. Power is supplied by an automatically recharging battery.

The General Electric Cordless Automatic Toothbrush comes complete with power handle, recharging stand and four separate toothbrush inserts—one for each member of the family.

We leave it to you to decide if your family's teeth are worth the cost.

Or you can ask your dentist.

Winter Lies in Wait on Roads, So Follow These Driving Tips

Most motorists exercise extra caution during the Yule season, yet it takes more than caution to survive the unique booby traps on snowy streets and highways. There are definite driving techniques a motorist should know and practice during the season of snow, rain and long hours of darkness.

Here are 10 tips that can help you:

1. Ice becomes more slippery as the temperature rises. You're more apt to skid when the temperature hovers around the freezing point.

2. When streets are slippery keep a light foot on the gas pedal to avoid spinning your wheels. Increase engine speed slowly when you want to go faster.

3. Treat every curve or turn as though it were a stop. Pump your brakes to slow down so that when you reach a curve you're moving so slowly you can actually feel the engine a little more gas and drive through the curve.

MOST SLIPPERY

4. Roads are most slippery after a light shower or at the start of a heavy rain. The moisture combines with the dirt and oil deposited by traffic to form a slick film.

5. In rainy or slushy weather, stay far enough behind the car ahead so it won't spray mud or water on your windshield and temporarily blind you. A split second can mean the difference between seeing your way clear of an accident, or having one.

6. Short days and long hours of darkness make traveling on unfamiliar routes difficult. Often only reflective direction signs and route markers that glow brightly in your headlights are available to help you.

7. Make sure you carry winter driving equipment. Carry a cloth in your glove compartment so you can wipe off road slush thrown on your windshield. Be sure you also have a snow brush and ice scraper to keep your windshield clear.

8. Wipe the soles of your shoes free of snow, and mud before using the foot pedals of your car. You'll reduce the possibility of your foot slipping off the brake or accelerator.

9. Rock your car back and forth when stuck in snow or mud. This can best be done by accelerating slightly while shifting alternately into low and reverse.

10. Don't let a clear road fool you in winter. Frost or patches of ice tend to settle in shady spots.

Vegetables Make Poinsettia Salad

Arnold Shircliffe, of the famous Wigley Building Restaurant in Chicago, was known as the salad king. He has created many wonderful salads. One that he had created especially for the holiday season is the Poinsettia Salad. For one serving:

On a bed of or in a nest of lettuce place a whole ripe peeled tomato slit five times from top to stem end, but the base left intact—thus making petals. Fold back petals and place a short spear of asparagus in center of each petal.

Pipe a little rosette of whipped cream or cream cheese at each opening between petals, and sprinkle center of tomato with chopped green peppers, and the grated yolks of hard-boiled eggs. Serve with French dressing on the side.

Thin Dough Encases Stuffed Meat Loaf

Meat loaf, stuffed with mixed vegetables and encased in a crisp, golden crust is fitting fare for the holiday season. When both time and money are at a premium, this dish has several advantages.

It is an elegant showpiece with hearty German-Dutch overtones, it provides excellent nourishment to fortify a busy family in colder weather; it is easily prepared since frozen vegetables and a packaged mix are used. Best of all, it has a moist texture and delicious flavor.

Only an additional fifteen minutes baking time are required to cloak this meat loaf in its delicate crust. And since the mixed vegetable stuffing provides necessary vitamins, no other vegetable need be served.

If the family insists, sliced tomatoes or a tossed green salad add both color and texture contrast. A mushroom or cheese sauce, or even America's traditional catchup, adds the festive touch.

Vegetable Meat Loaf in Crust

1 egg
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 1/2 cups fresh bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons catchup
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 1/2 pounds ground chuck
1 package (10 ounces) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained
2 cups biscuit mix cup milk
1 egg, beaten

Beat egg slightly; add evaporated milk, bread crumbs, seasonings, onion, catchup and horseradish. Add meat and mix lightly until blended. Turn about two-thirds of meat mixture into loaf pan, patting meat into bottom and up sides of pan, leaving a hollow in the center.

Fill center with cooked, drained vegetables. Top with remaining meat mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour. Remove from oven and let stand 10 minutes; remove meat loaf from pan. Increase oven temperature to 450 degrees.

Combine biscuit mix with milk, stirring with fork into a soft dough. Beat dough about 20 strokes, until stiff. Knead gently 8 to 10 times on lightly floured surface. Roll dough into rectangle about 18x20 inches.

Cover meat loaf with dough and place on greased baking sheet, seam side down. Brush all over with beaten egg and bake 15 minutes, until crust is golden. Slice and serve with tomato, mushroom or cheese sauce. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Fruit Chutney Made 2 Ways

Two kinds of cranberry chutney are suggested. Choose the one that sounds best to you.

Cranberry Chutney—Cold
2 cups fresh cranberries, ground
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white grapes or seedless raisins
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
Mix thoroughly. Place in refrigerator an hour or more for flavors to blend. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Cranberry Chutney—Hot
1 cup water
1 cup granulated sugar
2 cups (1 1/2 lb.) fresh cranberries
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1/4 cup finely chopped almonds
1 tablespoon light brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon red pepper
Combine granulated sugar and water in saucepan. Bring to a boil and add remaining ingredients all at once. Boil very slowly, stirring occasionally until fairly thick (about 10 minutes.) Makes about 1 pint.

Hot Buttered Popcorn

NEW YORK ITEM — A new thermostatically-controlled electric corn popper turns itself off and keeps the popped corn hot automatically. A signal light tells when it's done. The popper can also be used for heating soup, stew, or vegetables.

Fruit Medley Fills Tart Shells

No cooking—except the rich little pastry shells you bake ahead of time. And a simple dessert which will please everyone after rich holiday meals, or for any occasion.

Apple-Cranberry Tarts

2 cups fresh cranberries
1/2 cups diced, unpeeled red apples
1/4 cup drained, canned pineapple tidbits
1 1/2 cups sugar
Few grains salt
6 baked tart shells
1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped

Chop cranberries; combine with apples, pineapple, sugar and salt. Let stand 2 to 3 hours. Just before serving add bananas. Fill tart shells with fruit mixture; top with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Keep Leftover Coffee to Use in Cooking

The flavor of coffee enhances many meats. Baste leg of lamb, for instance, with a cup of coffee just as you might drink it—with cream and sugar to taste. The famous "Red-Eye Gravy" of the south results from ham basted with black coffee.

Coffee used with wine in beef stew will provide an unusual and delicious dish. And you'll find that a bit of coffee adds a fine gourmet touch to any meat gravy.

Latest Books for All Ages

Holidays Offer Time for Reading Pleasure

Christmas is book time for children. No matter what their interests, there are hours of reading pleasure ahead of them.

Here are some suggestions that might be helpful in selecting ages:

For children up to eight, "Stories and Poems to Enjoy," selected by "Miss Frances" is an illustrated anthology for very young children.

For children up to 10 years of age, the Learn-a-Language Books are a unique concept of story-telling excitement with an easy introduction to foreign language.

Two of these: "A La Ferme at the Farm" and "Chez Nous at our House" make beginning French a joy.

The 12-year-old will enjoy "The Elephant's Bath" by Frances Carpenter, 25 wonder tales from 16 countries of the Far East, illustrated throughout with gay drawings.

The young history student about 16, will enjoy "This Hallowed Ground" by Bruce Catton, an abridged illustrated edition for young people of his celebrated history of the Civil War, and "Crusaders for Freedom" by the dramatic Steele Commager, the dramatic stories of men and women who fought for the rights we enjoy today.

The high school student with a scientific bent, will spend happy hours poring over "The ABCs of Astronomy" by Roy A. Gallant, and "R is for Rockets" by Ray Bradbury, a science fiction adventure.

Pancakes Easy Way to Be Host

What are you going to serve all those holiday guests? What will please the many people who come to share Christmas with you and still be easy for you to prepare? Here's a delicious buffet meal that fits the bill perfectly. Developed by home economists, it's built around two of America's favorite foods—chicken and potatoes.

It's easy to prepare with a variety of sauce mixes on hand. Called Holiday Chicken 'n' Potato Smorgasburg, it's an elegant but easy way of entertaining during this festive season.

Set out a platter filled with potato pancakes. These can be made quickly and easily with a mix and can be made ahead of time and warmed in the oven.

Serve the potato pancakes with a variety of sauces to which chicken has been added. This way, each guest gets to have his chicken 'n' sauce just the way he wants it. Or guests can sample a little of each.

Serve a cheese sauce for a rich Italian flavor, a curry sauce for an interesting Indian flavor, and a la king sauce for the delicate French touch, a creamy white sauce for an American standard.

Garnish the sauces with paprika and parsley and you're right in keeping with the season. The packaged sauces are a cinch to prepare.

Christmas in New Mexico . . . It's So Very Spanish!

SANTA FE, N. M. — Christmas in New Mexico is not time of traditional show and sleigh bells as is the tradition in many parts of the nation.

Rather, it is a time of bright stars, Indian drums, dancing feet, luminarias, posadas and pinatas, Nacimientos, family gatherings and Christmas carols.

It is a time of year when all over New Mexico a unique Yule fiesta is celebrated.

Indians from Taos to Tortugas dance to primitive tom-tom rhythms in honor of the Christ Child. Pueblos dance and walk in solemn candlelight processions.

On Christmas Eve, snow-quiet Taos has its impressive torchlight ceremony. In the crisp night air blanket-wrapped figures light torches from a huge bonfire.

Smaller fires, marking the path of the procession, spring into flames. Sometimes there are Matachinas dancers, sometimes there is a Buffalo dance. No two years are ever held the same in Taos, which makes variety and contrast the main point of visitor interest.

Down toward Santa Fe the Tesuque Indians stage their annual Christmas fiesta too. It, like Taos', varies from year to year.

deer, buffalo or matachina dance, as well as watch a religious candle-light procession.

NATIVITY SCENES

Around Santa Fe, the little Christmas fires burn in front of snow-trimmed pueblo type houses. These fires are called luminarias.

They are candles embedded in sand inside of paper sacks which produce a soft glow of light and withstand the weather elements as perfect Christmas decorations.

In the cathedral of Saint Francis of Assisi in Santa Fe, the scent of pinon boughs and candle wax mingles with the litany of priests Hanging from the living-room ceiling is the pinata, a huge decorated olla filled with toys and Christmas treats. Children with sticks hit at the pinata trying to break it and spill out its exciting contents.

In some Spanish villages pre-Christmas plays begin soon after the feast of Guadalupe and continue 12 days after Christmas.

Between Albuquerque and Santa Fe, one will notice signs pointing to the pueblos of Santo Domingo and San Felipe, which lie just west of U. S. Highway 85. Each of these pueblos has its own special holiday dance.

But the most spectacular of all is the Christmas Eve dance at San Felipe.

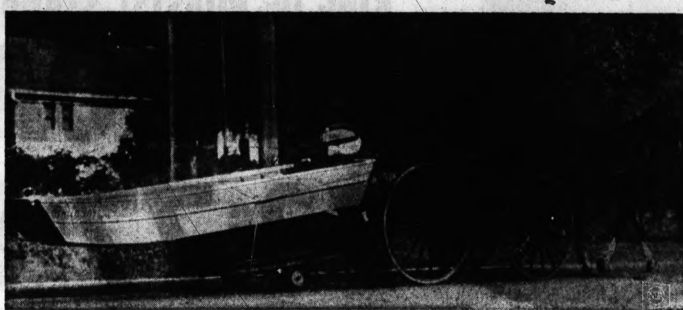

After midnight Mass the visitor will see a dance spectacle so lavish with brilliantly costumed performers that he will think he's at a Hollywood extravaganza. The exotic dancers seem wrapped in the rhythm of throbbing drums and chanting chorus.

Then come the deer dancers with their precise animal movements. All night long the two groups chant and sing in the old church.

This is one of the most picturesque churches in New Mexico. Its great buttressed walls are several feet thick as protection against bygone Navajo and Apache raids. Inside, the steep slanting walls remind the visitor of the hold of an old Spanish galleon.

The altar and choir loft wear Indian designs. At dawn the visitor leaves the ancient church, but takes with him the ever-lasting memory of a Christmas Eve in the mission at San Felipe.

Nathaniel Hawthorne published all his stories anonymously or under a pseudonym until publication of his "Twice Told Tales" in March 1837.

COMEBACK FOR DOBBIN — Automobiles towing boats on trailers are a common enough sight on the nation's highways, but a horse and buggy towing a boat, complete with outboard motor, is a real traffic-stopper. Shortly after this picture was taken in Middlebury, Ind., the driver stopped at a service station for gas and oil — for his outboard motor, of course.

Not just any
Tender Leaf Tea

Coarse, lower leaves lack flavor, give tea bitterness. Tea made from these common, less expensive leaves cannot give you the wonderful taste of Tender Leaf.

The top young leaves have brighter flavor—and only these more flavorful leaves go into Tender Leaf Tea. What a wonderful difference in your cup! Sip for yourself and see.

Science Set Popular Gift

But Pick the One Best-Suited to Child

With all America increasingly conscious of scientific achievement, science sets will be more prominently featured than ever before on Santa's lists this Christmas.

Unless it's carefully chosen, however, your youngster may studiously ignore his Christmas science set.

Hardly more than a decade ago, science sets were regarded as playthings suitable only for owl-eyed, studious children.

Now they are acclaimed as the sure-fire means of helping junior win a Nobel prize before he's 15.

Experts at the Gilbert Hall of Science maintain that the prime purpose of a science set is to entertain and amuse the child, and learning benefits follow naturally.

They recommend following these guidelines to get your youngster the set he is most likely to enjoy.

Select a set in tune with the child's interests. Youngsters who like collecting bugs will prefer a microscope and lab set to a geology set.

Make certain the instruction booklet contains simply-put and accurate scientific explanations for the experiments.

Check for components and sturdiness. Be certain you get full value for your money with well-made toys backed by a reputable manufacturer.

Examine the set carefully to determine if the child will need special tools not contained in the package.

And, by all means, consider the fun your youngster, not you, will have with the science set.

This three-tiered cake, which needs to be refrigerated for three days, fits neatly on the spacious swing-out shelves of this big new refrigerator, and is all ready to serve. Decorations of holly and bows are made of hard sauce.

Icebox Fruitcake Has Same Mixture

For a festive dessert during the holiday season, make a shortcut fruit cake which never goes to the oven. This simple cake has all the ingredients of most fruit cakes and needs to be refrigerated for three days.

SHORTCUT FRUIT CAKE

Nine cups bran flakes, 2 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 1/2 teaspoons nutmeg, 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger, 4 1/2 cups chopped cooked prunes, 2 1/2 cups chopped dates, 2 1/2 cups chopped seedless raisins, 2 1/2 cups chopped walnuts.

Roll bran flakes between two sheets of waxed paper to make three cups fine crumbs. Mix with sugar, grated rind, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and ginger.

Add the chopped fruits and nuts and mix well, using your hands. Blend in the liquid.

Press fruit mixture into three graduated cake tins which have been lined with waxed paper.

Smooth top and cover with several thicknesses of waxed paper. Store in refrigerator for three days to improve flavor before decorating and serving.

Keep Your Feet Clean, Groomed by Regular Care

Exciting holiday evenings will be accentuated by dainty open sandals, but the effect won't be beautiful unless your feet are as beautiful as your shoes.

Good grooming treatments should begin several weeks before the round of parties with a series of foot baths.

Soak your feet often in warm soapsuds, and smooth roughened heels with pumice stone or a loofah.

Give yourself a pedicure once a week.

Before parties, polish your toenails with a color that matches your fingernails.

PUT ONE OF THESE IN THEIR CHRISTMAS STOCKING!

Shouts 'Shoeshine' in 30 Different Tongues

International Politics' Bootblack Familiar at U.N.

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A whimsical bootblack with a passion for geography and a sales pitch in many languages is one of the best-known figures at the United Nations.

For 16 years Jimmy Rinaldi has been shouting "shoeshine" in a dazzling variety of tongues as delegates pass his one-man concession.

BACKGROUND

"I can say it 30 ways now, including Russian, Indonesian, Arabic and Swedish," said the gray-haired bootblack, pausing briefly at his stand on the fourth floor of the secretariat building.

"Every time I get a customer from a new country, I ask him how to say 'shoeshine' in his language," he added. "In the past couple of years I've picked up half a dozen African dialects."

HASH OVER AFFAIRS

Jimmy can name the capitals plus most major cities and rivers. He likes to hash over world affairs with diplomats who patronize his stand.

"Try to find out about the economy of each country and the amount of money it is getting from the U.N.," he said. "I used to have a pretty good picture of it, but so many new nations have been starting up that I've kind of lost track."

Jimmy averages 60 shines a day at 25 cents each plus tips. He has found his trade volume a barometer for the state of the world.

"When everything is peaceful, I get plenty of shines," he said. "If things get bad, business falls off."

The sharpest drop came during the early days of the Cuban crisis.

"It seemed like no one cared about a shine because there might not be any tomorrow," he observed.

KEEP TALKING

Jimmy thinks the United Nations has done a good job keeping the missile crisis from exploding into war.

"As long as they keep talking here, there is hope," he said. "All their name-calling doesn't mean anything. But if they stop talking, look out."

It bothers Jimmy that the big powers haven't gotten together on a formula for disarmament.

"I hope they come up with something before every Tom, Dick and Harry gets the bomb," he said.

He is a little puzzled by the fact that every nation in the world forum has an equal vote. "I guess it's fair," he said, "but it seems funny that a country with only a couple of hundred thousand people should have the same say as the big ones."

In 16 years Jimmy has struck up friendships with hundreds of delegates and secretariat officials.

"Trygve Lie, the former secretary-general, was very friendly—always asking after people on the U.N. staff," he said. "He really looked out for the little guy."

Frederick Boland, former General Assembly president, stops by frequently for a shine and a chat. So does U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, who likes to swap notes on fishing, Jimmy's favorite off-duty pastime.

Most top-ranking Soviet delegates laugh when I throw them that old Russian proverb 'clean shoes, clean pockets,' he said. "Only I switch it to 'clean shoes, no clean pockets,' meaning I won't take all their money."

Jimmy, a bachelor in his late 40s, lives with his mother in the Ridgewood section of Brooklyn, N.Y. He likes to spend his days off boning up on world geography or fishing when the weather is right. He also keeps close tabs on trends in footwear.

British diplomats wear the best-made shoes, but the Americans and Italians have more of a flair for style.

"When Soviet bloc delegates first come here, they wear pretty plain shoes," Jimmy said, "but after a while they begin showing up in American or Italian types."

His steadiest patrons are Spaniards.

"They really take care of their boots," he said.

Representatives of the new African countries are good customers, but some try to stretch a shine into a siesta.

"They like to settle back with a cigar and a newspaper," said Jimmy. "I guess they get a little hurt when I nudge them along."

Parked Car 'Craned' Into Cargo Ship Hold

ST. HELIER, Isle of Jersey (UPI)—British Railways said today an employee left his car on a pier here yesterday and returned to find it gone.

An hour later he found the car in the hold of a cargo ship where it had been placed by an industrial crane operator.

Pain Killer Fur Bonus

LONDON (AP)—An exclusive fur salon put an $11,200 mink coat on sale today and promised free vodka and sherry to any husband who brought his wife shopping.

Give Italians Free Changers

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Toll keepers along Italy's new super-highways start handing out small change holders to motorists free today.

The toll collectors have been complaining that traffic piles up while one motorist after another fishes for change in pocket or pocketbook.

The holders clip on the dashboard.

New Method of Hit 'n' Run Burglarizing

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Thieves have cleaned out three stores here with a new burglarize-as-you-drive technique.

The method:

They drive late at night up to a store they want to knock over.

They fasten one end of a chain to the door and the other end to the car.

They drive a little — just enough to pull the door open. Then, motor running to cover the noise, they dash inside, scoop up the valuables and drive away.

Osteopathic Hospital Patients Get Phones

As Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital continues to grow into portions of its new $13-million wing, the hospital's telephone communication system has grown. With the installation of a new phone system this fall, Pontiac Osteopathic has become the first hospital in Oakland County equipped with dial telephone service for patients.

Called "patient-styled telephone service," the system was developed to enable recuperating patients to keep in touch with friends and relatives by telephone, according to Ray H. Storm, Pontiac district manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The new system enables patients and staff members at Pontiac Osteopathic to dial local calls directly, providing faster, more convenient, and private service. Long distance calls are handled by the hospital's switchboard operators.

"Bedside telephones have been installed for the convenience of each patient in the hospital, except in the pediatrics wards," Storm said.

The hospital will have 406 beds when the new 272-bed addition is completed.

"The new system also speeds up intrahospital telephone service for hospital personnel," Storm explained. Members of the hospital's administrative staff can reach each other with the new phone system by dialing three digits.

Storm said the new dial system was planned over a two-year period by the hospital management in cooperation with Ossie Gates, Michigan Bell communications consultant.

Storm said there are only about a dozen hospitals in the entire state with this type of system which is similar to that used in large hotels and motels to improve service.

"It is a case of the hospital offering patients better 'guest' accommodations," Storm said.

Official dedication of the new three-level wing is tentatively scheduled for early next year, according to Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator.

Few Share His Optimism

Teamster Certain He'll Upset Hoffa

DETROIT (AP)—A 37-year-old truck driver with a $200 campaign fund expressed confidence today Hoffa, whose campaign is aided by more than 1,000 business agents and stewards of Local 299, in their race for the Detroit Local 299 presidency next month.

Few shared the optimism of Ira Cooke, Jr., a candidate for the $22,000 a year job Hoffa has held the past 25 years. The third candidate for the job is Charles O'Brien, a business agent of local 299 and a close friend of Hoffa.

Cooke charges "O'Brien is in the race only to pull support from me. But even so, I've got it made. It's only a matter of counting the votes."

There was no comment from the O'Brien camp.

Cooke said he knew he was an underdog in trying to unseat Hoffa, who currently is on trial at Nashville on charge of violating the Taft-Hartley law, is motivated primarily by a desire to avoid any action during the local election which might bring him into further conflict with federal law officers.

A resident of Lincoln Park, Cooke charges many of the local's contracts are not enforced.

He says one local officer, who is seeking re-election, was convicted in Detroit federal court last week on a charge of taking an illegal payoff from an employer.

The officer is Roland McMaster, secretary-treasurer. Cooke expressed belief that Accidents Go On

Signals Don't Stop It

LANSING (AP)—Traffic signals—contrary to popular opinion—are not a means of reducing accidents, State Highway Commissioner John Mackie said yesterday.

Mackie said a one-year study of 53 locations where new signals had been installed showed that accidents increased 35 per cent after the stop-and-go signs went into operation.

"Rear-end collisions increased nearly 100 per cent, and there was a 65 per cent increase in accidents involving cars making left-turn movements," Mackie said, adding: "It can be seen from the study that a traffic signal isn't the answer to accident prevention. It merely does what it is intended to do—stop one flow of traffic while another goes through an intersection."

U.S., Belgium Set to Put Economic Pressure on Katanga

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Belgium are ready to clamp strong economic pincers on the secessionist Katanga government if it doesn't agree soon to unity with the Congo.

President Kennedy and Paul Henri Spaak, Belgium's foreign minister, said in a statement after a White House meeting Tuesday that they had agreed "severe economic measures" must be applied soon to voluntary efforts to unify the Congo.

This unusually tough wording pointed up mounting concern here that the massive two-year effort to save the Congo will collapse unless unification is achieved soon.

U.S. authorities freely acknowledged that the Kennedy-Spaak warning was aimed mainly at Moise Tshombe, Katanga secessionist who has spurned efforts by Acting U.N. Secretary General U Thant to unify the Congo.

NEARS COMPLETION

At the United Nations, Thant was reported nearing completion of a revamped plan for ending Katanga's secession. There was no word on the status of talks centering on the prime issue of shipping part of Katanga's rich mineral tax revenues into the central government's undernourished treasury.

Thant may release Thursday a comprehensive Congo report to the U.N. Security Council, including details of his unity plan. This proposal is a 50-50 split of Katanga's mineral taxes. It also calls for adoption of a federal constitution under which Katanga would return to the Congo fold.

Thant was reported prepared to hold back on economic penalties against Katanga for the present—a position favored by Britain.

Adding to the concern of backers of Thant's plan is the difficulty central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula is facing at home.

Washington has placed its bets on him as the best man to lead the Congo to unity.

Adoula's government is facing a critical session vote, but observers expect him to win a slim victory.

Before spending an hour with Kennedy last Tuesday, Spaak met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and other officials.

Washington authorities declined to spell out what specific economic steps are proposed to squeeze Tshombe into the Congo fold, but Thant has suggested a ban by U.N. members on purchases of copper and cobalt from Katanga—two of its major exports.

The United States now buys most of Katanga's cobalt. Belgium, France and West Germany are Katanga's main copper customers.

Brothers Shooting 2 Top-Drawer Films on Rented Lots

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—If you want to watch movies being made the Mirisch brothers are the ones to visit.

The brothers are shooting two films these days, and that is today's equivalent of full production. Look at the totals for other studios: Warners, 1; Paramount, 1; MGM, 0; Fox, 0; Universal, 1; Columbia, 0.

I hurried out to Goldwyn Studios, where the Mirischs rent space and thus keep down their overhead. The brothers had tied up most of the stages with their sets. The most impressive of these was a Paris neighborhood created for "Irma La Douce."

Here on two large stages is reproduced a slice of modern Paris, authentic down to the fruit on the stands and the scratchings on the walls.

On the next stage Billy Wilder was directing a scene with Shirley MacLaine, who plays Irma, and Jack Lemmon, who plays Irma's boy friend and—er, sponsor. He manages her career, you might say.

The versatile Lemmon appears in a dual role, and he was made up as Irma's British customer, complete with bushy eyebrows and mustache, curly hair and Nigel Bruce accent. He and Irma were playing cards on a bed, Hill was directing "Toys in the Attic," and the atmosphere was more restrained. That befits the filming of the problem-laden Lilian Hellman play.

NEW VERSION

Wilder, the restless creator, stopped long enough to report: "We're not using any of the numbers from the stage musical, and not one line of dialogue. What is left? Well, it's a clever story. At least we hope it turns out that way."

Across the street, George Roy

Hill was directing "Toys in the Attic," and the atmosphere was more restrained. That befits the filming of the problem-laden Lilian Hellman play.

"Toys in the Attic" is notable for teaming Dean Martin, as the long-sheltered brother, with Wendy Hiller and Geraldine Page, his possessive sisters.

Miss Hiller played the original Lisa Doolittle in the film "Psycho," an Academy Award winner ("Separate Tables," 1958) and one of England's most distinguished actresses. Miss Page has been twice nominated for Academy Awards and is a queenpin of the Actors' Studio.

Mr. Martin is a student of the ring-ding-dong school of acting. He is taking the whole thing in stride.

"I had some pretty dramatic stuff in 'Rio Bravo,' you may remember," he said. "Not to mention 'Some Came Running.'"

"Yeah, there are a lot of wrongs in this one. Remembering them isn't a problem for me. It's making sense out of them."

FIVE WOUNDED—Police booked a movie lot guard on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder after a shooting spree that wounded five movie extras at Revue Studios.

including Miss Mary Ann Schmidt (left), Charna McNeill (center), and Mrs. Charna McNeill (right). Each was shot in the leg.

Dr. Wayne Brandstadt Says:

Not All Radioactivity Harmful to Mankind

We have learned to use atomic power in a variety of ways. Some of these are beneficial to mankind; others, dangerous.

We now know that any chemical element may exist in a non-radioactive and a radioactive form.

The two forms behave in the same way chemically and are called isotopes.

But radioactive isotopes give off particles of rays which, because of their tiny size and great speed, may penetrate part way into or pass completely through the body.

These rays can be detected only by special devices, such as a Geiger counter.

When the radioactive form of some element, such as carbon, is fed to an animal, its course through the body can be traced in a way not possible by any other method.

This type of experiment has added greatly to scientific knowledge. In the same way the uptake of radioactive iodine by the thyroid can be used to detect disease in this organ.

Now what about the hazards? A certain amount of radiation has always been a part of our environment.

This is called background radiation and it comes chiefly from rays which constantly pass into our atmosphere from outer space.

Whether they are beneficial or harmful, we have lived with this kind of radiation for centuries.

But now that atomic explosions have added to this radiation, the question of the amount that can be tolerated has become important.

MISINTERPRET FACTS

Those who say that there is no amount that can be safely tolerated are misinterpreting the facts.

Just as a beam of light may pass through a window without obstructing so may some radiation pass through our bodies and continue on their way without affecting us at all.

By pure chance, however, another radioactive particle may collide with an electron attached to an atom in one of our cells. When this happens, the cell can be damaged.

There are many ways in which a cell may be injured and the body's ability to repair the damage now comes into play.

If you bring your hand down on a desk hard enough to make it sting there could be no visible damage, but some of the cells in your hand will have been injured. Repair will be prompt.

If you bring your hand down harder, some of the small blood vessels will rupture and black and blue marks will appear.

After about 10 days, nature will have repaired the damage and your hand will be as good as new.

BREAKS BONES

A harder blow will break some of the bones of the hand. These will not heal without medical attention and repair will take several weeks.

Finally if a large solid object is hurled at your hand with sufficient speed your hand will be torn off completely and the damage will be beyond repair.

The question, "How harmful is exposure to radiation?" is similar to the question, "How harmful is a collision of your hand with a solid?"

In the final analysis it depends on how large an area of your body is exposed, how long it is exposed, and how often the exposure is repeated.

For most of us there is no cause for alarm. The background radiation, even though increased by atomic explosions, has not yet approached dangerous levels.

Sees Little Improvement in Relations on Berlin

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Back from a trip to West Germany, a University of Michigan political scientist reported yesterday there has been little improvement in East-West relations in Berlin even though the administration's handling of the Cuban crisis may have strengthened the hand of the United States in dealing with the Russians.

Prof. James Pollock, who made the trip under a Ford Foundation grant, studied the situation for one week in West Germany.

Pollock said, "There has been no improvement in our decision-making process and, in the event of another uprising in East Berlin, there appears to be no agreed plan of action."

"I do not feel," Pollock said, "that we are any better equipped to act decisively and immediately to Soviet moves than we were at the time the Berlin wall was built."

DECISION TAKES TIME

"If something arose tomorrow in Berlin, there is no one on hand who can make a decision. First, Washington and then NATO have to be consulted."

"We continue to need a man on the spot who is authorized to make a decision. If we would have had a decision-making person on the site when the wall went up, perhaps it never would have been completed."

Pollock said, "One can hope for some American and Allied initiative about Berlin, but the outlook now is for a continuance of the status quo."

Pollock serves as consultant to the secretary of the army, secretariat of state and a number of government agencies.

He was accompanied on the tour by Gen. Lucius Clay, chairman of the board of the Central Postal Directory, former Secretary of State Christian Herter, and Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University.

UAW Loses in Vote by Holland Firm

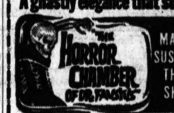

HOLLAND (AP)—Crampton Manufacturing Co. employees have voted against representation by the United Automobile Workers Union as a collective bargaining agent.

The vote yesterday was 146 to 120. It was a contrast to a similar proposal which fell by a 3-1 margin about one year ago.

The Crampton company manufactures metal products including auto dashboard trim and other hardware accessories. It employs some 350 production workers at Holland.

Trapped by Own Bait

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—To plug its new industrial loans department, the Arizona Bank recently ran a newspaper ad displaying a baited mousetrap.

The copy read: "For rent—money for better mousetraps. Whether you are building a better mousetrap or components for the space age be sure to consult our industrial experts."

Industrial borrowers nibbled. So did a host of mousetrap inventors. One proudly showed a trap he said would catch six mice at time. Another said his would grab one at a time or all at once.

Still another contributed a trap of transistors and electronic relays.

Vice President T. C. (Bud) Bashem said, "If we ever run another mousetrap ad, I quit."

Christen 'Cars' for Tourist Spot With Wine, Pop

STONE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP)—Georgia's newest tourist attraction, the Stone Mountain skyfall, has been dedicated with a splash of wine and soft drink.

Designed and built by Swiss engineers, the 2,600-foot skyfall to the top of Stone Mountain was dedicated Tuesday by Dr. August R. Lindt, Swiss ambassador to the United States, and Gov. Ernest Vandiver.

Lindt christened the first 50-passenger cable car with a bottle of Georgia-produced soft drink. Vandiver used a bottle of Swiss wine to christen the second cable car.

Postage stamps costing a penny were inaugurated in England in 1840 by Sir Rowland Hill. The U.S. government adopted the plan in 1847, although some local postmasters used them as early as 1845.

Typhoon Lucy Slams Into Philippine Islands

MANILA (UPI)—Typhoon Lucy hit the southern Philippines with drenching rains and 75 mile-an-hour winds last night and early today, according to the Weather Bureau here.

There were no reports of fatalities or serious damage, however.

Button Magnate Failed

KEY WEST (AP)—A Cuban businessman, Carlos Martinez Rodriguez, has been arrested on a charge of trying to monopolize the button market, Havana Radio reported yesterday.

Colavito New Tigers' Trade Bait

Bengals Swap Boros to Cubs for Anderson

Braves Send Adcock to Cleveland; Funk Becomes Brave

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Detroit Tiger slugger Rocky Colavito was the team's trading bait today as baseball executives gathered for the minor leagues annual convention.

Practically every major league team has observers in town for the pow-wows.

Many teams were talking trades, but no name was mentioned more frequently than that of Colavito.

The Tigers solidified their sagging bullpen early this morning by trading third baseman Steve Boros to the Chicago Cubs for right-handed pitcher Bob Anderson.

The deal was the third in a week for Detroit, which is expected to use newly acquired John (Bubba) Phillips at Boros' position next season. Phillips came from the Cleveland Indians earlier this week for pitchers Ron Nischwitz and Gordon Seyfried.

The Tigers have also acquired veteran catcher Gus Triandos from Baltimore along with outfielder Willy Herro for catcher Dick Brown.

The Chicago White Sox reportedly were leading the Sox-Warrior-Rocky camp. One report said they offered shortstop Luis Aparicio, third baseman-outfielder Al Smith, rookie shortstop Al Weiss and a couple of secondary pitchers in a variety of packages, all of which the Tigers turned down ... at least for the moment.

NO DEAL
The Washington Senators, Kansas City Athletics and Milwaukee Braves also showed interest in Colavito but no deal was finalized.

The White Sox reportedly showed interest in Tiger infielder Jake Wood, who had a mediocre season in 1962. But the Tiger front office indicated it didn't want to deal for Wood, at least for another year, as they had hoped he might have a good year in 1963.

Anderson played under Detroit manager Bob Scheffing in the Pacific Coast League and at Chicago when Scheffing managed the Cubs. He appeared in 53 games last season as a reliever. He had a 2-7 record and an earned run mark of 5.83 for 108 innings, that also included four starts.

Boros, 26, after a fine rookie season in 1961 when he batted .270, hit only .228 last season. He was signed off the University of Michigan campus in 1957 for a $25,000 bonus. In 1962, he hit 16 home runs and knocked in 47.

In other baseball action, pitcher Lew Burdette was expected to follow Joe Adcock as the Milwaukee Braves began to unload some well-seasoned stars.

Adcock, a key man of the 1957-58 National League champions, was shipped to Cleveland last night in an inter-league trade that brought pitcher Frank Funk, outfielder Don Dillard and a third player to be delivered at a later date.

The Braves also sent Jack Curtis, a left-handed pitcher, whose contract was assigned to Cleveland's Jacksonville farm club in the International League.

Coalition Question Tops AAU Agenda

DETROIT (AP)—A truce in the hot war of words with the NCAA and a cold war of athletic accomplishments occupied the AAU as its 75th annual convention opened today.

AAU hopes to approve a coalition for the control of track and field with the NCAA, top the agenda of the five-day convention. The matter of the coalition comes up Friday, an AAU spokesman said and quick approval is expected. The athletic cold war between the United States and Soviet Union was disclosed by Louis J. Fisher, AAU President from High Point, N.C.

"There is a cold-war going on in sports," Fisher said. "I became aware of this in Belgrade when representatives of other countries came up to me and said 'you've got to beat the Russians.'

"I always thought we played for the love of the game. But I found out in Belgrade that whenever an American is beaten or a Russian is beaten that they put it in headlines in Europe."

Fisher was one of the Americans attending the 96-nation Congress of the International Amateur Athletic Federation last September in the Yugoslav capital.

The warring AAU and NCAA met two weeks ago in New York and drew up a cease fire that would restore track and field harmony.

The two groups have been conferring ever since in an attempt to lay out the ground rules for the coalition. The battle for track control has stretched out 2 1/2 years and placed United States Olympic strength in jeopardy.

LOOSE ENDS

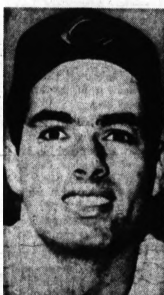

"Representatives of the two groups are meeting right now," the AAU spokesman said Tuesday night. "I can't tell you where, it doesn't matter. They're trying to bring together the loose ends."

"The AAU stand is that neither group will be hurt at all." The NCAA, through a recently formed U.S. Track and Field Federation of coaches, attempted to seize control of meets and selection of participants for international competition from the AAU.

At one time there was a threat that the two bickering bodies would stage conflicting meets. Athletes were in a quandary as to which meets would be safer to enter and maintain their good standing.

Fisher said the greater emphasis on sports competition between nations could be a reason why Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy helped bring the AAU and NCAA together.

"I think he was there going along with his brother, the President, and the President's interest in physical fitness," Fisher said. "I don't think they're trying to get the government involved in this. The attorney general offered his good services in an attempt to find a solution."

Pistons' Motor Fizzles Again as Boston Wins

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Celtics' defensive ace, Bill Russell, was on the bench with an ankle injury.

But the Celtics didn't have much trouble beating the struggling Detroit Pistons 125-115 in a National Basketball Association game at Madison Square Garden last night.

The Pistons now have won only three games in 19 outtings.

The Pistons kept within range of the Celtics through the first quarter but were outscored 40-24 in the second. Boston led 71-52 at halftime.

In the fourth quarter, Detroit closed a 32-point gap to eight points, 118-102. Then Bob Cousy sparked the Celtics down the stretch.

Tom Heinsohn was top scorer for Boston with 24 points. Cousy and rookie John Havlicek each scored 19 as the team produced seven players in double figures. Detroit's high scorers were Bailey Howell with 29 points and Don Ohl with 26. Ray Scott, the Pistons' only other double figure scorer, had 18.

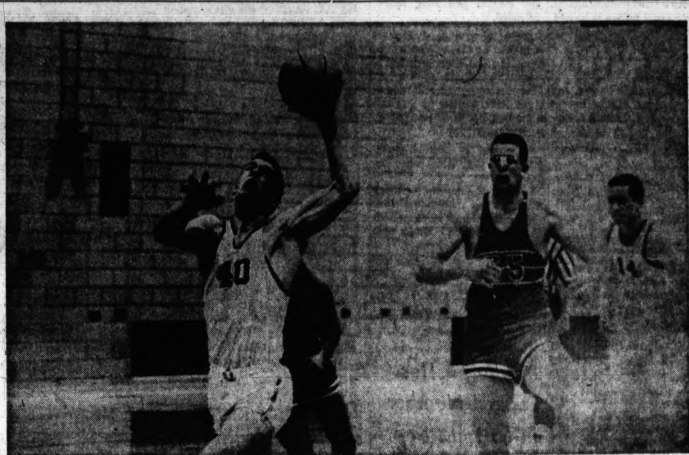

HAWKS WIN

In other games, St. Louis dominated the Syracuse Nationals, 126-105; Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson scoring 31 points, whipped New York, 138-129, and rookie Don Nelson's fourth period spurt carried the Chicago Zephyrs to victory over San Francisco, 115-107.

The Hawks' victory over the Nats sent them back into a tie for first place in the western division with the idle Los Angeles Lakers.

Bob Pettit led the winners with 34 points, 29 in the second half. John Barnhill chipped in with 27 points. Hal Greer scored 25 for Syracuse.

Nelson hadn't scored a point until he unloosed 11 in the final period that helped San Francisco run its losing streak to six games. He put the Zephyrs ahead 101-106 with about four minutes to play and the Warriors even caught up after having broken

BARON ON LOOSE — Bill Calhoun, 6-2 forward of the Bloomfield Hills basketball team, drives past a pair of Oak Parkers for a shot at the basket in their game last night on the Hills' court. The Barons scored a 59-33 victory in their season opener in a meager schedule of games last night. Many teams get started Friday but a full schedule of activity begins next week.

Hills, St. Fred, Shamrocks Triumph

Easy Wins by Barons, Clawson

Bloomfield Hills and Clawson picked up on the basketball court last night where they left off in football — by posting victories.

The Barons rolled over Oak Park 59-33, and Clawson tripped Lakewood, 57-32.

Fresh out of football uniforms were Roger Stewart and Bill Calhoun, two stalwart forwards, who kept things under control off the boards for the Hills.

Guard Brian Bish held Dennis Pink, last season's Oak Park ace, to nine points.

The score stood 29-11 at halftime.

John Augusten of the Barons, was high for the night with 16, followed by Jay DeBart and Calhoun each with 12.

George Brooks gathered in nine for the losers.

BOARD CONTROL

In the Clawson-Lakewood tilt the efforts of Tom McCarthy and Ray Hay off the boards kept things under control for the winners. The two grabbed 17 and 14 rebounds.

Trijman mentor Ron Morse was satisfied with a well balanced scoring effort that averaged 16 points a quarter while holding the visitors to eight per period.

A shorter, but game Brighton squad held on for a 47-46 squeaker over visiting Howell last night as the winners' Bob Kucher made his cage coaching debut.

Brighton's Roger Lane outscored Dave Hancock 23-22 and the one point proved the difference. Dennis Hartman added 12 to the winners' efforts. The home-sters led 23-16 at halftime but Howell rallied in the nip-and-tuck contest.

TROPHY WINNER — This is the way Oregon State quarterback Terry Baker looked to opponents this season. The left-handed quarterback was named Heisman Trophy winner today, emblematic of the top individual football performance in the United States.

Terry Baker's Tuesday Real 'Good News Day'

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—It was a big Tuesday for Terry Baker, Oregon State's brilliant quarterback.

The 6-foot-3, 191 pound senior was named winner of the Heisman Award as the best college football player in the nation.

His team was selected to play Villanova in the Liberty Bowl at Philadelphia Dec. 15.

TOP SCHOLAR

He was one of eight seniors named scholar-athletes of the year by the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

The NCAA officially named him total offense leader in the nation for the season with 2,276 yards.

He announced he would play professional football.

He was named the most valuable player on Oregon State's team and his jersey was retired at the annual OSU football banquet. And last week he was named to the All-Star team picked by the American Football Coaches Association.

And today he was named the Associated Press Back of the Week for leading his team to a 20-17 victory over arch-rival Oregon Saturday.

LONG DAY
Baker said it was a long day. He spent much of it answering telephone messages that poured in from all over the nation.

Stage Set for Clash Friday

St. Frederick and St. Michael warmed up for their city parochial battle Friday by storming past opening-game opponents last night.

The Rams had little trouble downing Emmanuel Christian 65-43 at Jefferson Junior High. St. Michael started slow, but picked up momentum as the game progressed to rout Ulica St. Lawrence 51-24 on the loser's court.

The two teams clash Friday at Madison Junior High in a Northwest Catholic League encounter.

St. Fred jumped to an early 22-10 lead at the end of the first period and managed to contain an Emmanuel rally that brought the Lancers to within 32-25 with 23 seconds left in the half.

The senior Ram height was the deciding factor in the contest and, combined with a little better ball handling, St. Fred shot ahead after the intermission to a 58-38 margin.

HIGH SCORERS

Six footers-plus Tom Bradley and Charles Dean led the Ram attack with 14 and 13 points. Lowry Holland scored 11.

Ralph Windgate took honors for the night with 31 points, nine from the foul line for the losers.

Mike Pope, 6-6 St. Mike center, led the Shamrocks with 19 points, 14 in the third period. He is the only starter over six feet.

"It was a typical first game," said coach Jim Niebauer. "We made plenty of mistakes and the foul shooting (13-39) was poor. There will be plenty to work on before Friday's big game."

The Shamrocks managed only 7-3 lead at the end of the first quarter but quickly turned the contest into a rout early in the next period. The halftime score was 24-9.

First Testimonial Dinner by NHL Honors Adams

DETROIT (UPI)—Jack Adams, one of the great names in hockey, was honored yesterday in the first testimonial dinner ever accorded by the National Hockey League.

Adams, long-time coach and general manager of the Detroit Red Wings was presented a miniature of the NHL's symbol of championship hockey, the coveted Stanley Cup.

Representatives of all the NHL clubs, including a guest president Clarence S. Campbell, former hockey greats and the entire current Red Wing squad attended.

Adams, 66, spent nearly 50 years in hockey as player, coach, and general manager, including 35 years with Detroit.

He was a player for 10 seasons in the NHL, winding up that side of his career with Ottawa in 1926.

IN RETIREMENT
He retired as general manager of the Red Wings after the 1961-62 season.

At the completion of his playing career Adams moved to Detroit which had just been given an NHL franchise. The Red Wings then were known as the Cougars.

He directed the Red Wings to seven Stanley Cups and established an unequalled record of seven consecutive regular season championships after World War II.

Pittsburgh Has Tapers' Number in Fast Start

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pens are challenging for the lead in the American League because they have Philadelphia's number.

The Pens, with last year's scoring champ Connie Hawkins collecting 27 points, beat the Tapers for the fourth time in five meetings in the new season Tuesday night, pulling out a 9-6-5 decision with some expert foul shooting in the last quarter.

The four triumphs over Philadelphia are the sum total for Pittsburgh so far and the 4-2 record has the Pens in second place, two games behind unbeaten Long Beach.

Navy Coach Proud of Team Despite Poor Log

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Wayne Hardin says he is as proud of his current Navy team as he has been of any other club he has coached.

Navy needs a victory over Army in Philadelphia Saturday to have a 500 season.

"I am real proud of the kids this year. I never have been ashamed of them at anytime this season," said Hardin, a 36-year-old redhead who has been Navy's head coach four seasons and was an assistant here four years previously.

"I never thought I would ever be able to say that about a team with a 4-5 record and one which had a couple of good pastings," he added.

20 SHUTOUTS
The Midshipmen were shellacked by Penn State (41-0) Minnesota (21-0) and Syracuse (34-0). In three previous years a head coach, Hardin compiled a 21-8 win-loss record and more victories, three consecutive victories over Army.

If Navy defeats the Cadets Saturday, Hardin will become the first Middle coach to take four in a row over Army since the series started in 1890.

Navy teams achieved a five-game blitz from 1939 through 1943, but under two coaches—Sweede Larson and Billie Welch—Navy people, believes that the season is not a success unless there is a victory over Army.

When he took over the head coaching job, he vowed to even up the series which had the Cadets ahead 30 to 24 with 5 ties. It is now 30-25.

MEAN NOTHING
Both Hardin and Army coach Paul Dietzel, a former West Point assistant who was hired this year from Louisiana State to put the Cadets back into the national limelight, know that season record means nothing when it comes to the service rivalry.

Hardin has said continuously that his team plays two games each Saturday—the one scheduled and Army. Dietzel said, after finishing 6-3 in his first nine games, that the first half of the season was over, the second half was coming up Saturday.

"You can throw away the record books in this game," Hardin said. "Anything can happen."

BOWLING

A lady showed the way for the high individual game last week in the Lutheran Mixed League at Airway Lanes. Virginia Sagi marked enough for a 222 game and a 533 series.

Ardell Schmidgall, however, took the series honors when he rolled 285-211-344.

In the Airway Queens competition, Betty Warner won the diadem last Tuesday with a 204 but she lost her shining perch yesterday to Sophia Dureiko with a 217. The brightest moment, however, went to Phyllis Stein with her 202-203-877 yesterday. The Sparklers fell from the three-way tie for first place when they won only two points, while the All Stars and the Spares captured four Tuesday.

Airway was the scene yesterday, also, of a challenge tournament between the Pierce Junior High School students and faculty. The younger generation triumphed 15-13 in the first of what is expected to be an annual tourney.

A student team comprised of Elbert Yates, Ken Dyker and Mike Harrington posted the high team total of 1489. The 10 faculty teams were led by Bob Barner, Dave Strubbe and Tom Rodgers. 1477. Charles Cowie of the faculty had the high individual game at 205.

BIG LEAD
The Airway Rockettes League isn't as fortunate with its race. Pontiac Transmission Service added two more points to its lead last week to make its margin 13 points. However, the runner up position has a real dog fight developing. Nick's Market jumped from sixth to second by sweeping four points.

The market team, actually, is tied for the number two slot with Beefburger Drive In and Randy West Hair Stylist. Only one point behind those three are Richardson Insurance Agency and Joe's Bar. The latter held second place by itself the preceding week. Pauline Tinson's 204 topped the scores.

Marbara Childress hit a 213-579 combination in the Friday Night Flyers loop.

Frank Garza rolled 223-222-645 totals last week in the Monsignor Sharpe No. 900 Knights of Columbus Council circuit. High game went to Louis Shovel with a 224, while Kerry Croteau had a 227. Another good score sheet had Ervin Baranowski with 200-213-683 figures.

The Yellow Cab Company still leads the competition by 214 points.

TIN HORNS
At Lakewood Lanes, the Bucks and Does League had a 222 game turned in by Fran McCormick Monday night. L. D. Bigelow bowled a 563 series. The loop has a close race with the Tin Horns playing with the 25% points and the Antlers and Fawcett for second at 25.

The 200 Bowlerettes League reported a 213 actual by Gerry Upst and a high actual series of 587 by Lorraine Cloutier. The house team took the circuit with a nine-point lead.

Friday's Frivolous Foursome Mixed League at Cooley Lanes saw Don Lacey record a 538 series and Wes Harbough garner his first 500 series, a 512. Ron Horner picked off high game honors with 221. Only one point separates the first and second place teams, the leading Pen Soupers and Mitch's Moochers.

The Shelly-Utica All Star Classic in Utica reports it started the season with a bang last week. Jerry Hoffman led the action with 200-245-640. George Jackson had a 256 game. The league is comprised of four-man teams and had a high team series of 2343 by Team No. 2 in the inaugural activity.

'Adventures in Skiing'
The second in the "Adventures in Skiing" film series presented by the Detroit Council of the American Youth Hostels will be shown 8:30 p.m. today at Ford Auditorium. Dick Barrymore will narrate "Some Like It Cold."

Tank Battle of Champions Seaholm Trips Pointers

Birmingham Seaholm splashed its way past its state co-champion, Grose Pointe, 67-35, to gain revenge over a 50-42 loss last year and take a step toward another Eastern Michigan league crown.

The Seaholm swimmers were outside only in the 40-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke. The Grose Pointe swimmers finished last in times of 1:15 and 1:02.

The Maples' 200 Freestyle relay team was disqualified in the only other heat of the event which saw the pool record in the 400 freestyle bettered, Chuck Giegge setting a new mark of 4:27.7.

Individual winners for the Birmingham group included Tom Fritz in the 100 butterfly. Bob Wolf taking the 200 freestyle, and Tony Loterov in the 100 breaststroke.

Jack Hoyt, Bob Cruskank won the 100 freestyle and diving in that order.

All-America prep stars Don

Spencer and Tom Fritz paced a winning 200 Medley Relay team. Other members were Dave Zimmer and Dave Nelson.

Maple coach Corie Van Fleet was well satisfied with a change in events which introduced more action at the beginning of the meet with the 200 Medley Relay being the starter. The new order copies the college order of events.

Ribicoff Says to Keep Golf Game of 'Legs'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sen-elect Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., a golfer since his caddy days, doesn't think much of traveling from tie to tie via motor cart.

Ribicoff said he recognizes the value of these vehicles for elderly or partially disabled players, but "what I object to is the sight of four healthy young men in the 30s riding around a golf course—each of them 10 pounds overweight or more."

Ribicoff told the Professional Golfers Association President's dinner Tuesday night the PGA should endeavor to keep golf "a game of legs—not of wheels."

The PGA honored top golfer winner Arnold Palmer as player of the year. Tom Lo Presti of Sacramento, Calif., was hailed as club pro of the year.

Jerome Facing Career Delay

VANCOUVER (AP)—Harry Jerome of Vancouver, world champion sprinter injured at the British Empire Games at Perth, Australia, said Tuesday night he may not be able to resume his track career for a year or longer.

In an interview with Vancouver Province reporter Brian Pound on a flight between San Francisco and Seattle, Jerome said he does not expect to be able to compete in the Pan-American games in Brazil next April.

He said he fears he may have to miss the track season at the University of Oregon where he has been a star member of the track team.

Jerome, co-holder of the world 100-yard record, injured a muscle in his left leg in Saturday's final of the 100-yard dash. Doctors in Australia said he could run no more in the Games and he decided to return home.

He was met by his wife at Seattle and they drove home from there by car.

He said he will see his family doctor today and is hopeful that a cast will correct the injury.

Packers-Lions' Tie? Playoff in Detroit

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Football League yesterday announced sites and dates for possible playoff games in the event of a tie for the championship in either division.

Here's the way the playoff sites, which were determined by several flips of a coin, would line up:

WESTERN DIVISION

If triple tie among Chicago, Detroit and Green Bay—Detroit and Green Bay would meet at Green Bay, Dec. 23; the winner would meet Chicago, Dec. 30, at the home site of the winner of the Dec. 23 game.

EASTERN CONFERENCE

If New York and Pittsburgh tie—playoff at Pittsburgh, Dec. 23. If Cleveland and New York tie—playoff at Cleveland, Dec. 23. If Cleveland and Washington tie—playoff at Washington, Dec. 23.

The championship game is scheduled for Dec. 30 at the home site of the eastern conference winner. In the event of a triple tie in the western conference, the title game would be set back one week.

Whitetail Season Closes on Friday

CONTEST LEADER — Russell Randall of Rochester shows the large rack on his 242-pound deer that leads The Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest. He took the 10-pointer near Manistique in the Upper Peninsula.

Press Contest Comes to End Next Monday

Teen-Ager Downs Buck on First Trip; Bear Taken in U.P.

Michigan's deer season comes to a close Friday with the buck kill up over 1961 and the antlerless take lower than expected.

The season in the Western Upper Peninsula ended last Sunday. Spot checks in the woods and more thorough checks at special highway stations have led Conservation Department game experts to predict an overall kill of 97,000 whitetails.

Hunters were expected to take 17,000 bucks above the straits and over 40,000 in Lower Michigan. The antlerless kill is expected to be around 30,000. This would be 7,000 below the estimated number. The Pontiac Press Big Deer Contest closes next Monday, Dec. 3, at noon. This is to allow hunters to get deer from hunting camps to home during the week-end.

HOLDS LEAD

Russell Randall of Rochester has a 242-pound buck in the lead. Should this deer lead through the deadline, he will receive $150 in savings bonds.

Don Shell Jr., 321 Collier Rd., a Pontiac Press carrier for the last two years, scored on his first deer hunting trip. He dropped a six-pointer near Rose City.

Arthur Lambert of Goodson took a seven-foot black bear that weighed 375 pounds near Rock in the U.P.

Richard Ylasiak, a teacher at Oxford Junior High, downed 210 pounds of venison Thanksgiving Day in Gogebic County. It was a 10-pointer.

The "racks" continue to be taken in the U.P. and in Southern Michigan. In northern Lower Michigan, the hardest hunted area, about 70 per cent of the bucks have been 18-month old spikes.

Archery Rabbit Hunt Sunday Near Perry

The annual bow and arrow rabbit hunt sponsored by the Owosso YMCA is to be held Sunday at the Style Ferris Farm near Perry. The hunt, which annually draws bowmen from across the state, is to start at 10 a.m. and continue through 3 p.m., with a lunch break from noon to 1 p.m.

Activities for the day are to begin with registration at 9 a.m. and a church service at 9:30 a.m. The first 10 successful morning hunters will participate in a special pheasant hunt during the lunch hour.

Double Check Deer Permits

The end of deer season marks the start of worrying time for the hunter who thought he "pulled a fast one" by submitting more than one application for an antlerless deer permit.

The Conservation Department is re-checking about 200,000 applications and conservation officers are investigating irregularities.

"The job may take weeks or months," says E. E. Tucker, head of the law enforcement section, "so no violator should feel smug just because the season closes and he hasn't been caught."

Every duplicate application means someone was deprived of a chance to take an antlerless deer. Submission of more than one application is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $100 and 90 days in jail.

Bear Kill May Top 1,000 for State Firearm Season

Hunters Deaths Rise Over 1961 Season

State Conservation officers say they are not overly surprised about the number of deaths occurring in the current deer season, which ends Friday.

At the beginning of the week 13 hunters had died of gunshot wounds, representing a sharp increase from the four killed in hunting accidents last season.

"The death toll has fluctuated sharply during the past years, but a more accurate figure showing the safety-mindedness of hunters is the number of casualties — injuries and deaths by gunshot — has remained fairly constant," a department spokesman said.

During the last several years the ratio of casualties to the licenses issued has remained at one injury or death for every 3,000 to 5,000 licensed hunters.

Will Begin Work on Seney Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department said work would begin immediately on a $250,000 project to improve Seney national wildlife refuge.

Seney, one of the oldest and largest such federal refuges, sprawls over 95,000 acres of the Upper Peninsula — land that had been mostly worthless until developed as a refuge in the 1930's.

The department said the project includes establishing a conservation education center for visitors, improving camp and picnic grounds, and bettering the forest stands and wildlife habitat.

The federal agency said about 25 man-years of employment would be created by the Upper Peninsula project.

REASON TO SMILE — John Napley, 5025 Kellen Lane, Bloomfield Township, shot this black bear five miles north of Curran in

WOLF OR COYOTE? — Donald Harnack, 1684 Paulsen St., says the animal he is holding is a wolf. He saw it chasing a doe near Hillman and finished it off with two shots. Others say the 43-pound animal is a coyote. It has a reddish-grey coat with black markings across the top of the hips and a bushy tail.

Ringneck Kill Slightly Lower Than Expected

Although Michigan's pheasant population was higher than a year ago, hunters failed to reach their expected harvest of 950,000 ringnecks this season, according to the Conservation Department's field studies.

However, Department game men feel the total bag was up from last season's take of 946,000 birds. A more accurate estimate of kill will be made next spring when the department's annual postcard survey of hunters is completed.

Rainy weather on opening day and a Sunday shutdown on shooting in some of the state's best pheasant country were mostly responsible for holding this season's take below the predicted level.

Tausig's Value Drops $67,000 in One Year

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—What a difference a year makes. A year ago outfielder Don Tausig was picked up by Houston in the National League expansion draft for $75,000 from St. Louis. Monday, Austin of the Texas League drafted Tausig from Durham of the Carolina League. The price? $7,500.

Deer Season Produces 'Way Out' Hunt Tales

By United Press International
Deer hunting season has often been called "fall madness," and hunters returning from the north woods have stories to prove it.

First there was the hunter who stopped in at a Marquette tavern and asked to be shown a picture of a deer, presumably so he would know what to shoot at. Then came the story of the hunter who stopped at a camp and offered $30 for a deer. The offer was rejected, partly because the "deer" was really a fox.

Then state police reported the two prison camp walkways who spent a night in the woods, then surrendered because of the danger from deer hunters.

Now, two more stories have been added to the growing list of hunting quirks, proving that it isn't always the high-powered rifle or the expensive shotgun that does the job.

Earl Cordes, a veteran hunter from Ossineke, a village near Alpena, spins quite a tall about this year's hunt.

IN TROUBLE

Cordes said he gave his rifle to his wife so she could hunt and borrowed a gun from his friend. He did not know it, but the borrowed weapon had a defective firing pin.

He soon found out—the hard way. He took a stand in a swamp and an eight-point buck dove into view. He aimed and squeezed off a shot but the defective weapon balked. The deer took off with Cordes on his trail, pulling the trigger in vain as he went.

Cordes tracked the deer to the shores of Lake Huron and saw the buck swimming away. The intrepid hunter commandeered an old row boat and loaded it with three rocks to replace the balky rifle. The deer, puzzled and tired, headed back to shore. Cordes managed an interception course and when the deer came within range fired. One rock was a direct hit on the head; the second a near miss, and the third struck a glancing blow.

Cordes then dispatched the stunned animal with a fishing spear he found in the boat.

Mamuel Torres, 25, rural Macon, found that hunting can be dangerous even if no one is shooting at you. He and friend, James Merrill, 34, were hunting near their home, each armed with a shotgun.

They had only three shells and when they spotted a deer and fired, they only managed to break the big buck's right hind leg.

They tracked the fleeing animal and when they spotted it and cornered it, the buck charged. His antlers caught Torres in the stomach and as Torres went down he plunged his hunting knife into animal. The seven-point buck was killed.

Trading Exceptionally Heavy

Good News Sends Market Up

NEW YORK (AP)—More good business news helped propel stock market prices higher early this afternoon. Trading was exceptionally heavy.

Most gains were limited to a point or less but several key issues added 1 to 2. There were numerous small losses.

Trading in the first two hours of 2.26 million shares was close to Monday's pace, when the total for the day was nearly the highest in a month.

Steels and motors were fractional gainers while mail order-retail issues forged upward.

The latest item of economic news was the first retreat since last December in living costs as measured by the Labor Department's consumer price index.

Auto sales continued to boom and the steel industry basked in several rosy predictions for the final quarter and early 1963.

IBM, which had been up more than 4, fell back to an advance of under 4. The company demonstrated a new device to improve machine reading of letters and numbers.

Xerox was up more than 2 and General Motors and American Motors were up around 1 1/2 while Ford and Studebaker retreated small fractions. Chrysler was steady.

Some lower stock prices for meats, reversing part of a large increase in September, were primarily responsible for the slight decline announced by the Labor Department today in the living cost barometer.

The index dropped to 106.0 percent of the 1957-59 average. On the former 1947-49 base the index was calculated at 130.1.

Arnold E. Chase, price division director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said various shifts in prices should result in a further slight decline in November living costs.

PAY INCREASES

Despite the October decline, the living cost increases in immediately preceding months were sufficient to require pay increases for approximately one million workers whose wages are partly geared to a quarterly living cost adjustment.

Raises of one cent an hour will go to about 780,000 workers in the auto and parts industries, the bulk of them employees of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

About 110,000 employees of the farm equipment industry and some aerospace industry workers also will get one-cent hourly increases. In addition, 11,000 workers in scattered businesses are to get two-cent hourly increases.

Compared with a year ago the October living cost level was 1.3 per cent higher. The last time the government living cost index declined was in December 1961.

It seems to me that at your age and with youngsters to educate, you should aim for growth and forget about income. Of the three stocks you are considering, International Telephone is rated as having a big growth potential. I would buy this one and also Standard of California, where the growth outlook is more moderate but the financial strength is so great that it will upgrade and stabilize your lot.

Continental Can's earnings fluctuate widely, and there is no growth ahead that I can discern. For the latter stock I would substitute Chicago Musical Instrument Co. (OTC).

SOME SOLUTIONS

Union leaders urge spreading the available jobs among more workers by shortening the work week, lengthening vacations, encouraging earlier retirement with pension benefits. Management counters that all of this costs money, just as much as wage scale hikes do. And they argue that with profit margins already squeezed,

For those already hit by automation, government labor and industry have joined in several attempts to offer retraining in skills still in demand. Many also count on rising new industries, such as those allied to the space age, and the fast spreading services to furnish new job opportunities.

Greater pressure is likely to build up for schools to train pupils in new skills, and for college to produce a greater volume of the highly skilled needed in the new age—including the operating of the automation marvels.

Secretaries Criticize Candidates Campaign Coverage

LANSING (U) — News coverage of the Nov. 6 election was appraised last night by the press secretaries for both major gubernatorial candidates. Neither was completely satisfied.

Richard Millman, press secretary for successful candidate George Romney, said "Generally speaking, coverage was excellent."

But he specifically criticized the equal space concept of news presentation, the scope of coverage devoted to administrative board candidates, and television coverage, including the format of the TV debate.

Mrs. Doris Jarrell, Gov. Swainson's campaign press secretary, said she appreciated everything the outside newspapers and radio and television did but took "the metropolitan papers" to task and said "publishers and editors should search their souls a little bit" about their editorial standards.

Their comments were made at a meeting of the Central Michigan Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society. Some members of the audience accompanied the candidates on the campaign trail.

Millman, a former reporter for the Coldwater Reporter, Holland Sentinel and Lansing State Journal, said equal space does not necessarily mean fair treatment in election coverage.

He was particularly critical of equal space still being given the candidates when Gov. Swainson took a day off for hunting but Romney continued campaigning.

Millman admitted, however, he did not have a ready solution for the problem of equal treatment.

Mrs. Jarrell said she encountered a number of cases of unfair treatment.

She said that in one city Romney appeared and got front-page picture treatment, but when Gov. Swainson arrived two days later "budget problems" prevented coverage of his campaign.

"Budget problems should apply to both candidates," Mrs. Jarrell concluded.

Millman's concern over press coverage of the administrative board candidates stemmed from what he said was general lack of attention by news media to those candidates.

Mrs. Jarrell, who has served as reporter for the Grand Rapids Herald and the Lansing State Journal and as campaign secretary for Sen. Patrick McNamara, D-Mich., commented on the editorial support given to Romney.

"Until the election," Mrs. Jarrell observed, "newspapers around the state sometimes went against the Republicans in the legislature and occasionally even supported the Democrats."

"But when campaigning begins, the newspapers become dispassionate and change to the Republicans," she said.

"Newspapers," which are a public trust, become a political weapon during a campaign," she concluded.

Millman said that "television has not realized its potential for coverage of elections," adding that the televised debates "did not contribute for public enlightenment."

Looking to the future, Millman said Romney believes that an informed public is necessary for progress and will conduct frequent press conferences, will use television radio and will give the fullest cooperation possible to Michigan news media.

Two Testify at Topp Trial

First Day of Hearings Sparked by Deputies

Two witnesses appeared as the first day of the murder trial of 17-year-old Sheldy Topp began yesterday.

Robert P. Allen, assistant corporation counsel who worked with the murder victim, Charles Davis, related how he found the body of the first assistant corporation counsel May 17 when he went to the Davis home.

Deputy Sheriff Roy Juhl, the first police officer at the murder scene, also testified.

The trial was sparked with disputes by defense attorney Gilbert H. Davis and Assistant Prosecutor Richard P. Condit.

Condit's mention of contents of a statement reported to be a confession by Topp drew the objection of the defense, as did mention of three sanity hearings for Topp.

Davis has filed notice that insanity at the time of the crime will be Topp's defense.

Topp escaped from Pontiac State Hospital May 15, a few hours before Davis was murdered with a kitchen knife.

Topp was arrested in Chicago May 23 after Davis' car was found in Milwaukee.

Condit said the prosecution will establish that Topp stole a bicycle after escaping from the hospital, stopped at Davis' home in sparsely populated area on South Boulevard, entered the house to commit a burglary and killed Davis when he met the 50-year-old attorney.

Air Merger Veto Dims Others' Plans

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK — Preliminary government rejection of plans for a merger of American and Eastern airlines cast a shadow today over similar ideas of other financially ailing transportation companies.

It may set back prospects for a long-discussed get-together of Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways, a proposal yet to be formally hatched.

The adverse recommendation Tuesday by a Civil Aeronautics

Board examiner in the American Eastern case could also have an effect for merger-minded railroads by strengthening the hands of opponents of such consolidations.

However, a different agency—

News Analysis

and has given preliminary or final blessing to a long string of them since 1957.

NOT FINAL

One important point: The American Eastern case is not finally decided. The next step is for formal arguments before the full CAB, then submission of briefs and answer to a decisive ruling.

There has been a ferment of merger talk lately within the industry, at one time or another involving almost all of the 11 trunk carriers. No specific plans have been announced, but the industry is in a state of ferment.

In his recommendation, examiner Ralph L. Wiser laid heavy stress on what he saw as monopolistic tendencies of the American Eastern plan, which would create the world's biggest airline.

American now ranks second and Eastern fourth in size among domestic trunk airlines. United Air Lines merged last year with near-bankrupt Capital Airlines and in the biggest.

Between them, American and Eastern haul about 35 per cent of the nation's long distance air passengers, excluding overseas traffic.

Wiser's monopoly findings are likely to be injected by opponents of rail mergers into several major proceedings pending before the ICC.

Wiser gave short shrift to contentions of American and Eastern that merger was the only answer to airline industry financial disaster—evidenced by trunkline deficits that totaled $34.6 million in 1961.

The examiner said deficits were not due to excessive competition, rather to a switch since 1959 to speedy and costly jet liners, and failure of traffic to build up anywhere near to their greatly enlarged passenger carrying capacity.

American and Eastern without had estimated savings from merger at $50 million a year through elimination of equipment and other duplications.

2 Golfers Score Birdies With Eyes on Sparrow

FULFORD, England (UPI)—Philip Morris and Ernest Oxboly each scored "birdies" yesterday on the Fulford Golf Course.

Morris hit a sparrow with a drive off the third tee and Oxboly did the same thing from the ninth.

Oran Harge, 30, yesterday pleaded guilty before Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem to a charge of breaking and entering the new Grinnell Bros. store in the Pontiac Mall Sept. 19.

Plans Under Way for 2 Upper Peninsula Recounts

LANSING (AP) — Plans were formally under way today for recounts of the vote in two Upper Peninsula legislative races decided by razor-thin margins on Nov. 6.

Refusing to accept the figures certified yesterday by the board of state canvassers, Rep. James K. Constantini, D-Iron Mountain, and Bert M. Heideman, a Republican candidate for the Senate from Hancock, said they will file recount petitions by mail today.

The official canvass, confirming the unofficial results of the balloting for all administrative, congressional, judicial and legislative contests, gave them 48 hours in which to enter their recount bids.

Constantini, defeated by 95 votes

by Clifford E. Ferras, a Nadeau Republican, indicated he will ask for totals to be checked in all 59 precincts of the Menominee District, 29 in Dickinson County and 30 in Menominee County.

Heideman, an attorney, professor and former constitutional convention delegate making his third try for the Senate, lost by 277 votes to Sen. Charles O. McManiman, D-Houghton.

He said his recount will cover returns in all 42 precincts of Houghton County, all 11 in Baraga County, three of the 17 in Ontonagon County and none in Keweenaw County, where he won by 47 votes.

WINNERS CAN FILE

The filing of recount petitions by losers gives the winners another 48 hours to file counterpetitions for a recount of precincts of their own choosing.

The actual recounts will be conducted by bipartisan committees of lawmakers appointed by the two chambers after the new legislative convenes in January. The challenged winners will be seated, however.

At a fee of $5 per precinct, Constantini's recount will cost a minimum of $285 and Heideman's $280.

The official canvass yesterday came almost simultaneously with the announcement by Republican party officials that there will be no recount for Clarence M. Reid, loser in the race for lieutenant governor.

Reid lost by 3,017 votes to Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski and George M. Van Peursem, GOP state chairman, said an analysis of the returns in Michigan's 20 most populous counties "would not justify the expense and effort involved in a recount."

The final official tabulation gave Republican Gov. George

Remsey an edge of 50,575 votes over Gov. John Swainson and upheld the re-election of four Democrats to the State Administrative Board.

The biggest individual margin was the 300,500 votes by which Secretary of State James M. Hare defeated his Republican foe, Norman Stockmeyer.

LEGISLATURE CONFIRMED

Also confirmed by the official canvass was the outcome of the legislative races in which the GOP maintained their 23-12 edge in the Senate and gained two House seats for a 58-53 advantage.

Although neither chamber's complexion would change appreciably through a recount, a Constantini victory would give the Democrats back one of the seats they lost, and a change in the Senate result would give the GOP's so-called "moderates" another voice in Heideman.

Heideman actually has filed for a recount with the county canvassing boards in his district, but said he will furnish a supplementary petition to the secretary of the senate's office to make it official.

"I think it will be a healthy thing," said Heideman. "It's quite possible, I believe, that we may uncover some errors."

Unseated by Ferras, also a former delegate to the constitutional convention after one term in the House, Constantini was described by a member of his family yesterday as "very upset and working very hard to make up the difference."

Police Battle Peasants

BELGRADE (UPI) — A battle between 150 police and intoxicated peasants left one person dead and five seriously injured in a village square in Bosnia, police said yesterday.

Install 13 Signs at Bad Corner

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Thirteen

warning signs were installed Tuesday at an intersection of U.S. 56 and U.S. 169 where three have been killed in smashups this month.

Seven signs warn of the upcoming four-way stop.

Two spell out the 30-mile speed limit.

Four outside stop signs were added, including one with a flashing warning light.

After the work was done, 12 vehicles failed to heed the stop signs in a 15-minute period.

Council Votes to Fluoridate Detroit Water

DETROIT (AP)—Supporters of fluoridation of Detroit's water system won a major victory yesterday when the Detroit Common Council voted 7-1 in favor of the idea.

The council vote made no provisions for the more than $1 million needed to get the project started, and even the most enthusiastic advocates conceded the program could not get under way before early 1964.

City councils of Royal Oak and Madison Heights, two of the 52 suburban communities which get their water from Detroit, sent telegrams to the Detroit council opposing fluoridation. The Fraser City Council approved the fluoridation idea.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit, who is in New Orleans attending a government conference, indicated he would sign the measure which was airmailed to him yesterday within hours after the council vote.

Who supported fluoridation, predicted there would be a long legal battle before fluoridation is put into effect in Detroit.

Opponents said the addition of fluoride to the water system posed a health problem.

Supporters of the use of fluoride say it cuts down tooth decay. They cited Grand Rapids, a pioneer in fluoridation, as an example of how successful the program can be.

GMTC Marks Big Day: Quarter-Millionth V6 Born

A gleaming gold and chrome engine rolled off the final assembly line at General Motors Truck & Coach Division's engine plant here today, amid popping flash-bulbs and proud smiles of company officials.

The flashy, V6 gasoline truck engine was the quarter-millionth built by the division, which pioneered the product less than three years ago.

Sunny Skies Are Expected 'Til Weekend

Homeowners in the Pontiac area are spending more time sipping cars this week than putting up storm windows or battling wind, rain or seasonal snow storms.

High temperatures are hitting around 50 degrees.

And there will be more of the same sunshine interspersed with a few clouds until the weekend.

Highs for the period will continue near 50 and the lows will drop to the low 30s.

Temperatures since Sunday are averaging 7 to 9 degrees above the normal high of 40 and normal low of 28.

A few showers totaling less than .25 of an inch may be expected over the weekend, the U.S. Weather Bureau said.

Thirty-two was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 50 at 1 p.m.

Castro's 5 Demands Dropped by Soviets

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Russia was reported today to have dropped Fidel Castro's five-point demands for a Cuban crisis settlement, including withdrawal from the Guantanamo naval base by the United States.

But Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan was said by reliable sources to back Castro's refusal of on-site inspection of offensive weapons systems in Cuba unless the United States agrees to reciprocal inspection of "invasion" bases in Florida and elsewhere in the Western Hemisphere.

Nikoyan arranged a meeting today with Ambassador A. D. Stevenson and other top U.S. and Soviet crisis negotiators. The time had not been fixed definitely. Stevenson discussed the situation with President Kennedy in Washington yesterday, then flew back to New York for today's meeting.

Mikoyan is scheduled to meet Kennedy in Washington tomorrow on the Cuban crisis and probably will confer later with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Stevenson and John J. McCloy, head of Kennedy's Cuban coordinating committee, were reported anxious to find out what stand Mikoyan would take before he meets with the President.

Acting Secretary General Thant has reported to have told intimates of the switch in the Soviet position.

It was conveyed to him, informants said, by Mikoyan in a private meeting before the U.N. chief was dinner host Monday night for the top negotiators from both sides. No Cuban was present.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appointed Budget Director David E. Bell as head of the U. S. foreign aid program today. Bell will be replaced in the Budget Bureau by Kermit Gordon, now a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs as measured by the government declined one tenth of 1 per cent in October. It was the first retreat recorded during 1962 in consumers price costs.

Werner pointed out that the older engine was selected as being typical of the many high-mileage V6s in operation throughout the United States and in many countries abroad.

Werner said the V6s as truck motive power were considered a daring concept early in their development, as they "represented a complete breakthrough in engine design."

POPULARITY MOUNTED
Any doubts about their acceptance were dispelled following their introduction, Werner added. Their popularity mounted rapidly as increasing numbers of operators experienced their advantages.

The V6s are the product of a three-year engine development program. During this development period, a completely new and modern engine plant was established in Pontiac to build the unique power plants.

The engine plant went into volume production in July 1959. Manufacturing facilities include the world's largest block broach and conveyor equipment.

GMTC offers four basic V6 gas engines, in which cubic-inch displacement is indicated by the model numbers 305, 351, 401 and 478. A 702 (two-stroke or V12) completes the gasoline engine lineup. The division also produces V6, V8 and in-line 6 diesel engines.

Talks May Go to Other Issues

JFK, Mikoyan Expected to Explore Cold War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan are expected to discuss not only Cuba but the full range of the cold war problems when they meet Thursday at the White House.

U.S. officials said the Soviet troubleshooter sent word through Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin that he wanted to confer with Kennedy.

Dobrynin met Mikoyan Monday on his arrival in New York from Havana and rushed back to Washington that night with the message to the White House.

ALSO FRIDAY

The White House announced Tuesday that Mikoyan would call on Kennedy Thursday, but officials added it was safe to assume they would meet again on Friday.

Because there is no agenda for the talks, officials are reluctant to speculate on what issues will be raised by whom.

There appears to be a consensus, however, on two points: that the Cuban issue will be one of many to be discussed, and that the international problems in which the two countries are directly involved probably will come up.

The necessity of starting a new dialogue on outstanding issues was raised by Soviet Premier Khrushchev in his Oct. 27 letter to Kennedy.

MACHINISTS WALK OUT — Pickets formed at 3:01 a.m. (Pontiac time) today in front of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. plant at Burbank, Calif., one of the giants of the aerospace industry and a key defense contractor, as the International Association of Machinists started its nationwide strike against the corporation. The picketing was described as orderly.

Retrieve Crash Bodies

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Rescue workers are laboring today at the slow and arduous task of bringing down from a rocky peak the bodies of 97 persons killed in the crash of a Los Angeles-bound Brazilian jetliner. It was aviation history's eighth worst disaster.

Nineteen of the dead were listed as Americans. There were no survivors — and no immediate explanation — of the crash in good flying weather minutes before the Boeing 707 was to make a pre-Can landing at Lima's airport where it occurs, because these are our planes.

The U. S. Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington announced it was sending a high official to join Peruvian authorities in the investigation of the crash.

A spokesman said the U.S. agency weather minutes before the Boeing 707 was to make a pre-Can landing at Lima's airport where it occurs, because these are our planes.

Twenty of the bodies were brought to a Lima morgue last night. Rescue workers left until morning the difficult task of lowering the others down the steep sides of the mountain.

Among those who died in the crash was Raul Cepero Bonilla, Cuba National Bank president and a top economic adviser to Prime Minister Fidel Castro. The Peruvian agriculture minister, Maj. Gen. Jesus Melgar, and his wife also were killed.

Shoppers in downtown Pontiac will be able to enjoy free off-street parking around the clock in municipal lots beginning Saturday.

City commissioners last night okayed an agreement whereby the city and the Downtown Pontiac Business Association (DPBA) will split the cost of offering free use of the city lots during December.

Both the city and businessmen will pay $5.350 to hood off-street meters.

By giving the demonstration, Dr. Birch said he hoped to train other physicians to learn to use the method without danger of complications.

Dr. Birch described the method as "one of the biggest breakthroughs in the management of heart disease since the discovery of drugs to prevent clotting of blood."

"It gives the patient with a heart attack a second chance," he added.

The method amounts to a race to keep the brain alive and undamaged while attempts are made to get the heart beating on its own.

By pushing on the patient's chest, the heart is compressed between breastbone and backbone. Blood is pushed through the arteries. In the lungs, it picks up oxygen pumped in by mouth-to-mouth breathing.

This oxygen carried by the blood keeps the brain alive. If the brain is oxygen-starved, it will start to suffer damage, and the patient may

Picket Plants, Missile Sites Across Nation

Taft-Hartley Act May Be Invoked by U. S. to Halt Walkout

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

BURBANK, Calif. — Members of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) picketed plants and missile installations of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. today in a mammoth strike action affecting some 55,000 employees of the aerospace giant from Cape Canaveral to Hawaii.

Even before pickets appeared at more than a half-dozen Lockheed installations there were reports the federal government may intervene by invoking the strike-suspending provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

IAM members began picketing the Lockheed facility at Cape Canaveral at midnight (Pontiac time), the eastern strike deadline, and were joined by West Coast members at midnight PST (3 a.m. Pontiac time).

Last-minute talks seeking to avoid the strike were broken off here last night at 1:30 a.m. (Pontiac time) when union and company representatives reported they still were deadlocked on the crucial union shop issue which had stymied negotiators for weeks.

MARCH IN PROTEST

West Coast strikers marched in protest against California installations of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and the firm's missiles and space division at Burbank, Sunnyvale, Palmdale, Van Nuys, Santa Cruz, Rye Canyon and Vandenberg Air Force Base.

The union says about 20,000 union members are taking part in the strike.

The company says work on the Polaris missile and other defense items will be slowed but not stopped.

The strike began at the Lockheed headquarters in Burbank, when Tom McNett, president of IAM Lodge 727, led a file of 20 pickets past the plant's main gate.

Plant police warned the picketers of company property, but there was no disturbance. When 4,000 swing shift workers left the job at 12:30 a.m. many joined the picket line briefly.

SCATTERS HAND BILLS

The company scattered handbills around the entrance gates, instructing workers coming to work during the strike to use only a few selected gates among the 107 entrances to the plant.

Negotiations broke down about an hour before the strike began.

The chief unresolved issue was whether employees would be permitted to vote on setting up a union shop—under which all eligible workers would be required to join the union to keep their jobs.

They danced in a regular peak-and-valley pattern, appearing and reappearing on the left of the scope and vanishing on the right.

Then, the heart was stopped by electric shock.

The yellow hip came back—but moved in quiet steady line.

The heart had stopped pumping and had begun shivering in uncoordinated muscle spasms.

The patient did not breathe.

Plans Under Way for 2 Upper Peninsula Recounts

LANSING (U)—Plans were formally under way today for recounts of the vote in two Upper Peninsula legislative races decided by razor-thin margins on Nov. 6.

Refusing to accept the figures certified yesterday by the board of state canvassers, Rep. James K. Constantini, D-Iron Mountain, and Bert M. Heideman, a Republican candidate for the Senate from Hancock, said they will file recount petitions by mail today.

The official canvass, confirming the unofficial results of the balloting for all administrative, congressional, judicial and legislative contests, gave them 48 hours in which to enter their recount bids.

Constantini, defeated by 96 votes

by Clifford E. Perras, a Nadeau Republican, indicated he will ask for totals to be checked in all 59 precincts of the Menominee District, 29 in Dickinson County and 30 in Menominee County.

Heideman, an attorney, professor and former constitutional convention delegate making his third try for the Senate, lost by 277 votes to Sen. Charles O. McManiman, D-Houghton.

He said his recount will cover returns in all 42 precincts of Houghton County, all 11 in Baraga County, three of the 17 in Ontonagon County and none in Keweenaw County, where he won by 47 votes.

WINNERS CAN FILE

losers gives the winners another 48 hours to file counterpetitions for a recount of precincts of their own choosing.

The actual recounts will be conducted by bipartisan committees of lawmakers appointed by the two chambers after the new legislature convenes in January. The challenged winners will be seated, however.

At a fee of $5 per precinct, Constantini's recount will cost a minimum of $295 and Heideman's $230.

The official canvass yesterday came almost simultaneously with the announcement by Republican party officials that there will be no recount for Clarence M. Reid, loser in the race for lieutenant governor.

Reid lost by 3,017 votes to Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski and George M. Van Peursem, GOP state chairman, said an analysis of the returns in Michigan's 20 most populous counties "would not justify the expense and effort involved in a recount."

The final official tabulation gave Republican Gov. George

Romney an edge of 89,573 votes over Gov. John Swainson and upheld the re-election of four Democrats to the State Administrative Board.

The biggest individual margin was the 300,509 votes by which Secretary of State James M. Hare defeated his Republican foe, Norman Stockmeyer.

LEGISLATURE CONFIRMED

Also confirmed by the official canvass was the outcome of the legislative races in which the GOP maintained their 23-12 edge in the Senate and gained two House seats for a 58-52 advantage.

Although neither chamber's complexion would change appreciably through a recount, a Constantini victory would give the Democrats back one of the seats they lost, and a change in the Senate result would give the GOP's so-called "moderates" another voice in Heideman.

Heideman actually has filed a recount with the county canvassing boards in his district, but said he will furnish a supplementary petition to the secretary of the senate's office to make it official.

"I think it will be a healthy thing," said Heideman. "It's quite possible, I believe, that we may uncover some errors."

Unseated by Perras, also a former delegate to the constitutional convention after one term in the House, Constantini was described by a member of his family yesterday as "very upset and working very hard to make up the difference."

Police Battle Peasants

BELGRADE (UPI)—A battle between 150 police and intoxicated peasants left one person dead and five seriously injured in a village square in Bosnia, police said yesterday.

Install 13 Signs at Bad Corner

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Thirteen warning signs were installed Tuesday at an intersection of U.S. 56 and U.S. 169 where three have been killed in smashups this month.

Seven signs warn of the upcoming four-way stop.

Two spell out the 30-mile speed limit.

Four outside stop signs were added, including one with a flashing warning light.

After the work was done, 12 vehicles failed to heed the stop signs in a 15-minute period.
