Body of Slayer's First Wife Is Ordered Exhumed

CARL F. FOSTER

The body of the first wife of Pontiac slayer Carl F. Foster will be exhumed as a result of an investigation which indicated that her death by hanging over a year ago may not have been a suicide.

Oakland County Medical Examiner Dr. Bernard Berman today ordered the body of Angela Joyce Foster, 25, be disinterred from its burial place at Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Berman ordered that a post-mortem be conducted after hearing testimony from Pontiac police detectives John DePauw and Thomas Mitchell and Dr. Richard Olson, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

DePauw asked for the formal coroner's hearing because he said he had good reason to believe that Mrs. Foster met her death by means of violence.

★ ★ ★

The hearing, called hurriedly this morning, was held in the office of Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Foster, 30, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the death last Dec. 12 of Mrs. Maurice Crook, a Bloomfield Township divorcee. He was sentenced March 9 to 10 to 15 years in the Michigan State Prison at Jackson.

Foster is still in the Oakland County Jail awaiting transfer to Jackson.

According to DePauw, the investigation into the death of Angela Foster has been in progress for over two months.

★ ★ ★

Both DePauw and Mitchell said they became suspicious of Mrs. Foster's suicide after the arrest of Foster on the charge of murdering Mrs. Crook.

The detectives said they had reason to believe that the death of Foster's wife was not a suicide.

Specifically, they noted that Mrs. Foster had two bruises on her neck, rather than one from the knot of the rope, and that the knot was tied at the back of the neck.

DePauw said a person would have to be in an awkward position to tie a knot in this manner.

★ ★ ★

He added that normally a knot would be tied at the side of the neck.

Similar testimony was given by Dr. Olson who also noted that there was a "bizarre array of knots" around the pipe from which Mrs. Foster was hanging. Dr. Olson will perform the autopsy.

Pictures taken by police of Mrs. Foster's body after it was discovered were presented as evidence at the hearing.

Her body was found by Foster and his sister, Mrs. Margaret Holloway, on the morning of Feb. 28, 1964.

★ ★ ★

Police received the report of the suicide shortly before 10 a. m. But before they arrived Foster had taken his wife's body down by cutting the loop around her neck.

RULED SUICIDE

At the time, the death was ruled a suicide by Dr. Isaac Prevette but Prevette made the ruling at the hospital where the body was taken and not at the scene.

In ordering the body to be exhumed, Berman said that he was "satisfied that there is just cause to believe that

Marines Fight Cong as Planes Hit Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines skirmished with Viet Cong guerrillas today in the Leatherneck's first extended ground action of the war while American and Vietnamese planes ranged over North Viet Nam on at least nine separate raids.

Eighteen U.S. Navy jets from the carriers Midway and Hancock capped the day by blasting at six Communist boats in a river estuary just east of Vinh, midway between the border and Hanoi, with cannon fire and rockets. The targets were four patrol torpedo craft and two large junks.

Pilots said they caught the vessels by surprise and that the strike was highly successful.

See Story, Page A-10

All four of the PT boats were reported hit and one was left in flames.

Briefing officers said one of the junks was known to have been hit. It was not learned whether the other was damaged.

Planes also starfed and bombed Communist targets in South Viet Nam.

During an eight-hour patrol into a valley, outside the Da Nang airbase, the Marines tangled twice with the Communist guerrillas. One American was wounded slightly, and two others collapsed with heat prostration.

The operation included the first helicopter assault landing of U.S. Marines in South Viet Nam.

Three squadrons of Vietnamese propeller-driven fighter-bombers — the largest Vietnamese air unit flown so far — attacked a base in North Viet Nam and reported they destroyed it.

City Attorney to Resign July 1

William A. Ewart, Pontiac city attorney for the past 33 years, announced today that he will resign his post July 1 to resume private practice.

Ewart of 446 W. Iroquois said he plans to open a law office in Birmingham.

In his letter of resignation addressed to the City Commission, Ewart said that it was with deepest regret that he is submitting the resignation necessitated by his decision to practice law.

Ewart was named city attorney in April 1932.

He had graduated from the University of Detroit in 1925 and was a practicing attorney in Pontiac prior to his appointment to the city post.

Ewart is the senior member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors with 33 years of service.

Exec of Firm Tells History of Scrap Yard

The president of Sam Allen & Sons, Inc., a local scrap dealer, said yesterday in Circuit Court that the site where a pulverizing machine is now located has been basically used for the same purpose since the early 1940s.

Harold Allen, testifying for the second day, explained that the property was used for breaking up metal for the scrap drive during World War II, served as a reclaiming operation during the Korean War and from 1960 to last spring was the site of an incinerator.

The city of Pontiac and 15 residents living near the junk yard at 22 Congress contend that the firm extended the nonconforming use of the property by installing the machine, and is in violation of the zoning code.

They are seeking a permanent court injunction against the company, which they charge in their suit is a nuisance.

Allen admitted that the machine produced some smoke "but not any worse than that coming from trains or other scrap yards in the area."

He said that when the machine was first installed "it was very noisy" but that he took measures to lessen the sound by encasing it and installing rubber matting.

The nonjury trial in its third week, is being heard by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Vow Steel Strike to Back Demands

Romney Asks Balancing of Budget First

Tells Legislators That State's 'Good Name' Tops Fiscal Reform

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney promises to present alternate state tax revision proposals next month.

But in the wake of his fiscal reform discussion yesterday with legislators, talk grew of isolated tax changes to keep budgets balanced over the next three years, if no over-all fiscal reform is enacted.

Romney told legislators that spiraling costs will mean at least a $925 million budget for 1967-68—but that under its present revenue system Michigan would fall $140 million to $150 million short of balancing such a budget.

"Maintaining the state's integrity and good name becomes even more important than fiscal reform," he told the legislators, adding:

★ ★ ★

"The one thing Michigan cannot afford is another period of difficulty, deficit and deficiency of the type from which we recently emerged....."

PROTECTION

"If protecting this state's financial integrity can also include tax reform, well and good. But, if saving this state's financial integrity cannot include tax reform, then it is infinitely better for us to do whatever

Rain Predicted Next Two Days by Weatherman

Umbrellas will be in style the next two days, says the weatherman.

A few showers are expected late tomorrow; showers and thundershowers are predicted for Saturday.

Tomorrow also will be cloudy. Highs from 58 to 66 are forecast.

The low mercury reading this morning was 39. At 2 p.m., the thermometer read 58 in downtown Pontiac.

OU Reshuffle Gets Approval

Oakland University will establish a college of arts and sciences, and schools of education, engineering, business and economics and performing arts beginning May 1.

Permission for this major reorganization was granted the university by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees today.

Tied to approval of the reorganization was a stipulation that within three years the board will review the college of arts and sciences with respect to dividing it into smaller schools if it becomes too large.

With the university expecting a student body of 2,300 by next fall, Chancellor D. B. Varner said, "The new arrangement will help us preserve the emphasis on a quality undergraduate prgoram while providing for the growth and development of the professional programs."

TOGETHERNESS — United Steelworkers officials join hands at this morning's executive board meeting in Pittsburgh. The officials (from left) Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel, President David McDonald and Vice President Howard Hague, led a meeting to decide on a strike sanction against the basic steel industry.

Won't Work Without Pact ---USW Exec

Wage Policy Unit to Consider Walkout Sanction Later Today

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Steelworkers Union voted today to strike the basic industry May 1 to back up its 18 cents an hour contract demands.

At the conclusion of executive board meeting, director Paul Gilbert said:

"No contract, no work."

The union's wage policy committee was scheduled to meet later in the day to give final strike authorization.

★ ★ ★

Both sides remain far apart on any plan for averting a strike of 425,000 steelworkers May 1. No bargaining sessions are scheduled.

Negotiators for both sides said yesterday that after weeks of bargaining they have gotten nowhere in attempts to write a new national steel pact. They rejected each other's proposals.

★ ★ ★

Steelmakers are bracing for a strike. Preliminary shutdown instructions have gone out to mill superintendents.

13-CENT GAP

Negotiators are separated by a 13-cent an hour gap. The 11 major producers offered five cents. The union demanded 18 cents.

The hard-and-fast positions have plunged steel labor relations to the lowest point since 1959's epic 116-day strike.

The intervening years were peaceful, if not cordial.

A shutdown of the nation's vital steelmaking facilities could cripple the booming economy — either in fact or psychologically.

★ ★ ★

In the past, especially in strike years, the union used the wage policy committee's "strike" mandates as weapons in continuing negotiations.

Indictments Handed Down by Alabama Grand Jury

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A grand jury in state court which investigated the ambush slaying of a white civil rights worker returned indictments today, but whether any of the charges dealt with the killing was not immediately made known.

The jury, composed of 18 white men, also investigated other cases since it convened Monday and under Alabama law the names of defendants cannot be made public until they are in custody.

The report to Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard said the jury investigated 29 cases and returned 18 indictments, but did not say whether any of the indictments grew out of the night rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

She was a civil rights worker shot to death near Lowndesboro, Ala., the night of March 25.

See Story, Page C-5

The jurors and state's attorneys alike were sworn to secrecy in keeping with provisions of the law and were not permitted to discuss their deliberations.

LIUZZO SLAYING

In its brief report, the grand jury mentioned that it had investigated the Liuzzo slaying—without identifying it by name—and assured the court it had followed its admonition to consider the evidence free from prejudice or outside pressure.

Then, in reference to the civil rights campaign which has brought outsiders into this rural central Alabama county, the jury expressed resentment over the actions of "various extreme outside groups responsible for bringing this trouble to this county."

It also deplored "the actions and statements of the President and others in higher government places in connection with this event."

★ ★ ★

"We feel," the jury's written report said, "that these actions and statements have been unjust and unfair and have created undue and unusual problems in this matter."

TOLD OF ARREST

It was President Johnson who announced the arrest of four white men several hours after the killing of Mrs. Liuzzo. He described them as members of the Ku Klux Klan.

★ ★ ★

The grand jury report also criticized the news media and expressed feeling that they "by their actions and attitudes have also contributed additional problems."

★ ★ ★

By contrast, the jurors commended the people of Lowndes County "for the fine manner in which they have conducted themselves during these trying days."

Belcher Tests Go to Judge

The results of a psychological test given to convicted murderer Harry M. Belcher were delivered to Circuit Judge Philip Pratt yesterday, but will not be made public.

Pratt said that the information contained in the four-page report is confidential and under a state law he is prohibited to reveal the contents.

The report was presented to Pratt by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, who ordered the test April 12, three days after Belcher was found guilty by a jury of killing his wife.

According to Bronson, the results of the tests would have no bearing on Belcher's conviction, but would only be used for background data for the judge.

Mrs. Belcher and her six children, ranging in age from 2 to 8 years, died in a fire at their Ferndale home Jan. 25.

★ ★ ★

Belcher was accused of setting the blaze. He has denied it.

MANDATORY SENTENCE

The 32-year-old tool and supply shop manager is to be sentenced for first-degree murder April 28 by Judge Pratt. The conviction carries a mandatory life sentence in prison.

The test was conducted by Drs. John McBride and Andrew Yang.

Repeat Session

Driver School Is Set

Drivers concerned with traffic safety will gather tonight at the City Commission Chambers at City Hall for a driver school.

Tonight's class is a repeat of the session which was held two weeks ago and met with overwhelming success.

At the opening session, scores of persons were turned away from the Municipal Court offices in the public safety building.

Therefore, tonight's repeat performance was scheduled in larger quarters to accommodate persons who couldn't get in to the initial session.

The school, which begins at 7:30 p.m., is sponsored by the Pontiac police, the Automobile Club and the Pontiac Press.

CLASS INSTRUCTOR

Instructor for the school will be Patrolman Billie Irwin of the Pontiac police.

Topics to be discussed will include driver attitude, car maintenance, speed, how to signal for turns and maneuvering, freeway driving and the pedestrian.

Persons attending the school will be given a "take home" driver quiz and a speed and distance chart.

The class, which is free, will last 75 minutes.

No Dedication Without Librarian

Waterford's Historic Day Is Delayed

Sunday was to have been an historic day in Waterford Township.

A brand new, ultramodern library building was to have been dedicated.

Township officials and civic leaders were to have spoken.

A flag was to have been raised and a throng of proud citizens was to have toured the edifice.

★ ★ ★

But, due to an unforeseen turn of events, the dedication plans have been shelved, at least until the middle of May.

NO LIBRARIAN

The problem being the library has no librarian.

Like a riderless horse or a ship without a captain, a library without a librarian seemed somewhat incomplete so the postponement was in order.

Since Mrs. Polly Lee resigned as librarian April 9, the new library has been operated by her former assistants.

★ ★ ★

The township is actively seeking a new librarian.

board also approved the following appointments.

Donald D. O'Dowd, dean of the university, was named to the newly-created post of provost.

George T. Matthews, associate dean for the humanities division and professor of history, was appointed dean of the college of arts and sciences.

Laszlo J. Hetenyi, professor and chairman of teacher education, will become dean of the school of education.

★ ★ ★

William G. Hammerle, professor and chairman of the engineering science department, will serve as acting dean of the school of engineering science.

ASSOCIATE DEAN

James H. McKay, associate dean for the sciences and professor and chairman of the mathematics department, will serve as acting chairman of the math department until Aug. 1, when the newly-appointed Philip Johnson will assume the chairmanship.

Named dean of the division of continuing education is Lowell R. Eklund, associate dean of the division of continuing education.

Associate dean of the university for the past year, J. Duncan Sells will become assistant provost.

★ ★ ★

According to Chancellor Varner, the schools of business and economics and performing arts will not be implemented immediately.

FURTHER STEP

The school of performing arts will represent a further step toward OU's announced plans to provide a complete center for the arts.

★ ★ ★

It will be built around the Meadow Brook Music Festival and the summer music program, to be launched this year in connection with the festival.

★ ★ ★

The reorganization plan was first unveiled last month, but board action was deferred to this morning's meeting.

Killer's Wife to Be Exhumed

she met her death by means of a criminal act."

Bronson said that the body will be removed and the post-mortem performed probably within 48 hours.

No formal charge has been made against Foster in the death of his wife.

AWAIT RESULTS

Police said they will await results of the autopsy before taking further action in the case.

Foster married his housekeeper, Thana Carver, in Ohio the day after the slaying of Mrs. Cook.

After returning to Pontiac, he turned himself in to police for questioning in the murder case and later admitted the crime.

He was charged with first degree murder but before the trial the prosecutor's office allowed Foster to plead guilty to the lesser offense.

Flooding Hits 400-Mile Front

Thousands Continue Fight Against Waters

By The Associated Press

Thousands of volunteers continued today the battle against the steadily rising waters of the Mississippi River along a 400-mile front from upper Wisconsin to Missouri.

With large areas of Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa and a smaller area of Missouri already under water, volunteers and National Guardsmen fought on to hold back the worst spring flooding of record along the Mississippi.

The advancing flood remained at a record crest in La Crosse, Wis., and was expected to hold that level for at least two more days. Downstream, the murky waters poured into a mile-long section of Dubuque, Iowa, flooding businesses and plants.

A residential section of northeast Dubuque was threatened when a crack developed in a massive dike. Volunteers joined others already working on the dike and city officials said they were hopeful the break could be plugged.

CONTINUE SANDBAGGING

Across the river in East Dubuque, Ill., where hundreds of residents already have been evacuated, workers continued the task of sandbagging waterlogged levees.

Dubuque, a city of 57,000 at the Iowa-Illinois-Wisconsin junction, fought to stave off waters that were expected to crest at 26 feet tomorrow or Saturday.

The water covered a seven- or eight-block area of factories, small businesses and some homes. It covered parking meters and forced residents to flee their homes by boat.

14.6 Per Cent Rate Hike Set by Auto Club

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan announced today that it will increase insurance rates an average of 14.6 per cent for some 570,000 policyholders, effective May 1.

★ ★ ★

The Auto Club's insurance exchange is the largest auto insurer in Michigan, covering about one-fourth of the state's drivers.

Need for the increase was blamed on rising accident costs by Paul Erickson, exchange general manager.

"We have done everything possible to avert an increase," he said. "Accident costs keep rising, and the injury rate in Michigan climbed 14 per cent last year, along with a 13 per cent death increase.

NO SIGN

"Even if the accident increase stops — and we see no sign that it will — further increases in auto insurance rates may be necessary to keep up with increasing costs."

The Auto Club's rates boost is only one of several in the state recently.

★ ★ ★

State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson has approved premium increases for 75 other companies since Jan. 1.

Auto Club officials predicted every other company will have raised Michigan rates by the end of the year.

Erickson said that during 1964, the auto club paid out about $1.12 for every dollar it took in to settle claims and operate the business.

Craig of 1135 N. Glenhurst was elected at the ANPA meeting in New York City. He formerly was employed by The Pontiac Press.

Frank Batten, publisher of the Norfolk-Portsmouth, Va., Newspapers, Inc. was elected as a director, and J. Warren McClure, publisher of the Burlington, Vt., Free Press completed an interim term, and was elected to a three-year term.

Detroit Plans Culture Center

100-Acre Site to Be Biggest in the World

DETROIT (AP) — Plans for development of a $250 million cultural center in Detroit, described as "second to none in the world," were discussed Wednesday.

The project would encompass a 100-acre section on the city's near north side and include a number of apartments encircling a landscaped parkland with theaters and museums.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh indicated the city would seek federal funds to acquire and clear the land just east of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Charles Blessing, director of the City Plan Commission, said the entire development probably would not be completed until 1985 or 1990.

FIVE BUILDINGS

Blessing said five major public buildings would be constructed under the plan. They are a planetarium, a musical arts center, a theater arts center, a museum of science and technology, and a hall of man and natural history.

Parking space would be provided for 5,750 cars in the basements of four of the five new buildings at a cost of about $18 million.

City Engineer Clyde Palmer said acquiring and clearing the land alone would cost about $22 million and landscaping about $47 million.

Cost of construction of five public buildings is expected to be about $160 million.

Private developers would be expected to build eight or 10 high-rise apartment buildings and scores of low level terrace apartments at a cost of about $100 million.

Bloomfield Twp. Hearing Set

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Residents Monday night will have their say on a proposed $37,000 increase in the township operating budget.

The 1965-66 budget tentatively approved by the Township Board would set the unit's spending at $714,100 for the next fiscal year.

Public hearing on the budget has been scheduled for 9 p.m.

The increase over this year's $677,000 budget is reflected in the greater financial requirements of the township's growing police, fire and building departments.

Officials estimate the unit's income for next year at $684,917, if the property tax allocation remains at 1.35 mills.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS

Balancing the budget will be additional funds from the excess on the tax roll, gasoline tax rebate and sale of equipment.

The largest chunk of the budget would be used for the police department, which is seeking a $20,000 increase to take its total to $234,800. Police salaries for both regular and auxiliary officers would account for $185,000.

The fire department sum would be boosted from $175,900 to $194,900 and would include $164,000 for salaries.

★ ★ ★

Employes in both department are to receive $400 raises next year.

$7,100 REDUCTION

The $219,300 planned for operation of general government offices would mark a $7,100 reduction from this year's figure.

Costs of operating the building are estimated at $65,100, compared to $60,300 this year. However, the department expects to add some $75,000 to the township's income.

Other revenue will include property tax, $213,942; special millage for fire department and road improvement, $149,544; sales tax funds, $170,000; liquor and intangible taxes, $34,500; water and sewer department rental, $24,000; and justice court $9,000.

State Sen. Sander M. Levin, D-Berkley, will discuss "Lansing from the Inside" at tonight's Birmingham Democratic Club meeting.

★ ★ ★

The 8 p.m. program will be held at the home of the club's vice president, Mrs. Robert E. Heilbrunn, 921 Arden.

Asks Balance Over Reform

else is necessary to protect and preserve the financial integrity."

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Taxation Committee, echoed this sentiment.

Montgomery declared that "we have no intention of failing to balance the budget this year or next."

★ ★ ★

But he also doubts that any income tax—generally seen as a vital ingredient of over-all fiscal reform—could be enacted this year unless appropriations ran $100 million higher than projected revenues.

FISCAL REFORM

Fiscal reform would involve overhaul of the state tax structure. But budget-balancing could involve merely rate changes in existing taxes or some new revenue source.

Hal Boyle on Way to Viet War Front

By The Associated Press

Hal Boyle, 54, Associated Press human interest columnist for 21 years, is en route to his third assignment to a major armed conflict—Viet Nam.

Boyle, whose daily column appears in approximately 500 afternoon newspapers, was war correspondent for the Associated Press in Africa and Europe in World War II where his front-line stories of GIs in action won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945.

In 1950 he volunteered for Associated Press duty in Korea, and reported on front-line activities during the heaviest fighting on that peninsula. There he won the Veterans of Foreign War's gold medal award for "outstanding contribution to national security." He also received the Overseas Press Club top award for best reporting in radio, television and newspapers.

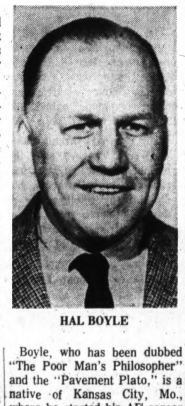

Boyle's column was born under fire in Salerno, Italy, in 1943 and has been a continuous Associated Press feature since. Following the surrender of Japan he traveled around the world, writing stories from 65 countries.

SOUTH VIET NAM

Boyle's five-day-a-week column will be written from South Viet Nam during his assignment abroad.

In 1951, in presenting the VFW gold medal, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, then chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of Boyle:

"I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

HAL BOYLE

Boyle, who has been dubbed "The Poor Man's Philosopher" and the "Pavement Plato," is a native of Kansas City, Mo., where he started his AP career in 1928 as a copyboy at 17.

He was night city editor of the New York AP bureau in 1942 when he first went overseas.

Plan Close Study of Budget for Troy

TROY — For the next 3½ weeks, Troy city commissioners will be poring over a complex, $1,756,605 budget proposed this week for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

The proposed budget compares with the 1964-65 budget of $1,460,495.

The commission has until May 17 to act on the budget proposed by City Manager Paul York, which would raise taxes to meet increased capital expenses.

If approved the way it now stands, the budget would have the effect of hiking taxes by $1.40 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

★ ★ ★

York said the increase is due to a need to use more of the five mills allowed for capital expenses than has been used in the past.

CURRENT RATE

During the current fiscal year, the city taxed property owners a little more than one mill ($1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) for capital expenses.

With increased capital needs, some of which are tied in with the new city hall, York is asking the commission to raise the millage used for capital expenses to 3.37 mills.

Another five mills allowed for operating expenses have been used almost to the limit in the current budget, but will decrease slightly in the new one unless it is changed.

★ ★ ★

The city can collect a total of 10 mills altogether, five for capital and five for operating.

ELECTION FAILED

An effort to eliminate the five-mill restriction on both categories failed April 5 when voters turned down a proposed charter amendment that would have allowed the commission to spend the 10 mills in whatever proportion it deemed best.

AREA NEWS

The proposed budget includes the following amounts for the various accounts:

General fund, $1,057,815; refuse disposal, $65,000; equipment pool, $77,450; water supply system, $266,150; and capital fund, $290,190.

REVENUES MATCH

Estimated 1965-66 revenues match anticipated expenditures in all accounts except the equipment pool, where revenues of $85,000 are expected.

York explained that the equipment pool section is "self-supporting," and that any difference between expenses and revenues goes toward purchase of new equipment.

Outlining the reasons for increased expenditures in both operating and capital portions of the budget, York said he is proposing that the city make the following steps:

★ ★ ★

- Add five patrolmen to the police department.
- Add a fire marshal, a new fire truck and purchase four future fire station sites.
- Add another building inspector and a plumbing inspector to the city staff.
- Hire a full-time city planner when the new city hall is completed.
- Purchase at least two park sites.
- Divert the existing city hall for use as a library and hire a full-time librarian at that time (when the new city hall is completed).
- Spend about $95,000 at the civic center for improvements such as paving and utility installation. This is in addition to the estimated cost of furnishing and equipping the new city hall.

NEW MUNICIPAL BUILDING — Now being completed in South Lyon is the community's new city hall at 214 W. Lake. The cement block and brick building, designed by Herbert Munzel of Brighton, now houses the offices of the city clerk, treasurer-assessor and police department. They have moved from their former headquarters in a converted house at 501 W. Liberty.

Guild Slates Luncheon at Detroit Club

WOOD CREEK FARMS — The annual spring fashion show and luncheon sponsored by the Seton Guild of the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Home for Children is scheduled for April 29.

The event will be held at the Detroit Golf Club, 17911 Hamilton, Detroit.

An 11:30 a.m. hospitality hour will precede the luncheon, to be served at 12:30 p.m.

Spring and summer's newest fashions will be presented during the style show by B. Siegel Co.

Proceeds from the party will be applied toward the purchase of a new school bus for the home, which is operated by the Sisters of Charity.

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION

The bus is needed to transport the children to and from the schools they attend. There are more than 100 school-age children at the home.

Members of the guild can be contacted for ticket information.

Metamora PTA Slates School Bazaar Friday

METAMORA — School recreational equipment will be the goal of the Metamora Parent-Teacher Organization when it holds a school bazaar tomorrow at the Metamora Town Hall, beginning at 3 p.m.

Featured will be a white elephant booth, baked goods, fish pond, fancy work booth, apron tree and rummage sale. The public is invited.

To New Building

South Lyon Officials Move

SOUTH LYON — Although workmen still are putting finishing touches on the structure, the South Lyon city offices are being operated from new headquarters.

Clerk Anna B. Snell, Treasurer-Assessor Gail Smolarz and the police department have moved their offices into the new city hall at 214 W. Lake.

Only the police department's two jail cells remain incomplete.

Landscaping and development of a paved parking lot on the site are next in order and are expected to be finished within a month or six weeks.

The cement block and brick structure was designed by Herbert Munzel of Brighton. F. J. Weinburger of Northville is the general contractor.

COST OF STRUCTURE

Cost of the structure is expected to total about $50,000. Borrowed from the city's water and sewer fund, the amount is being repaid at the rate of $3,000 a year.

In the new city hall, the mayor's office and council chamber are combined in one room. It can be separated by a folding door from a 23- by 38-foot public meeting room.

Also off the entryway are the offices of the clerk and treasurer-assessor.

★ ★ ★

A corridor leads to the police department office, interrogation room, detention cells, storage area and an office designated for the use of the city's justice of the peace.

OPERATED IN A HOUSE

Until the new building was constructed, city offices had been operated in a house at 501 W. Liberty, which had been converted for municipal use.

The first city offices were in an old commercial building at Lafayette and Detroit.

★ ★ ★

About eight or nine years ago an underground stream weakened the foundation of the building and it collapsed.

Science Day at Avondale Is Monday

Monday will be Science Day at Avondale Senior High School, where students in general biology and general science will set up competing exhibits for judging and display.

Projects are expected to cover zoology, botany, physics, earth science and astronomy.

They will be judged by several area residents and educators, beginning at 1 p.m. with interviews of the exhibitors.

Ratings of superior, excellent, good or satisfactory will be awarded, based on knowledge achieved, scope of the project, explanation of the project and originality of the display.

★ ★ ★

Appropriate ribbons and certificates will be placed on each exhibit. All will be on display for the public between 7 and 9 p.m. Monday.

School officials have invited parents and interested residents of the Avondale School District to view the students' work at that time.

Singers and Dancers Galore Set for Avon Players Production

ROCHESTER — Large singing and dancing choruses are being readied for the June 4, 5, 10, 11 and 12 production of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" by the Avon Players.

The musical at Central Junior High School will wind up the 1964-65 season of the group. Curtain time each night will be 8:30.

Directing the show is Mrs. Adele Carraher, who starred in such past musical productions as "Oklahoma" and "Kiss Me Kate." She is assisted by Mrs. Bonnie Stratton.

Mrs. Stratton was the star of "Majority of One" last year and the mother in this year's staging of "Come Blow Your Horn."

★ ★ ★

The lead role of Lorelei Lee in the upcoming production will be played by Mrs. Gloria Lusk.

OTHERS IN CAST

Other cast members are Mrs. Norma Baker, Jarvis Lamb, Ray Contrucci, Mrs. Dawn Bourez, Ed Howe, Darryl Zink, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Holderness, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Don Davy, Bill Heckt, Al Szcaesny, Marty McMurray, Phil Trimble and Rochester Village Councilman John Boeberitz.

★ ★ ★

Musical director for the show is Mrs. Marianne Currie, and Mrs. Margie Montross is the choreographer. Mrs. Betty Lamb is the executive producer.

Smorgasbord Is Set at School Sunday

ORCHARD LAKE — A smorgasbord dinner will be served Sunday by members of the Mother's Club of Our Lady of Refuge School.

The annual event, open to the public, is scheduled for 3 to 6 p.m. at the school social hall, 3750 Commerce.

★ ★ ★

The menu will include beef, ham, turkey, chicken, stuffed cabbage, Swedish meat balls, various salads, vegetables, rolls, desserts, coffee, tea and milk.

Mrs. Frank Baranski of 7921 Eldora, West Bloomfield Township, is chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Ronald Proulx of 3575 Knollview, West Bloomfield Township.

2 Die in Crash; 1 From County

A Farmington Township man was one of two killed in a head-on automobile collision near Flint last night.

★ ★ ★

Max G. Beck, 29, of 22016 Tredwell, Farmington Township, and Clyde Perkins Jr., 36, of Flint were dead on arrival at Flint's Hurley Hospital following the 9:40 p.m. accident.

State Police from the Flint post said the two men were passengers in a car driven by Gwendolyn Gambill, 25, of Flint.

The woman's car collided head-on with one driven by Robert Colby, 39, of Swartz Creek when she started to pass a vehicle on Bristol Road near Bishop Airport in Flint Township, police said.

★ ★ ★

Six other persons were hospitalized as a result of the accident, which still is under investigation.

Attorney to Direct Macomb Observance

Officials of the Macomb County Humane Society have announced the appointment of George N. Parris as the county chairman for the 51st national observance of "Be Kind to Animals Week," May 2-8.

★ ★ ★

Parris, who is Macomb County prosecuting attorney, will coordinate all BKA Week special events.

Michigan Tech Is Agreeable to Autonomous College at Branch in Sault Ste. Marie

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Michigan Tech President Raymond L. Smith said Wednesday his school would be willing to yield control of its Sault Ste. Marie branch if to do so would best serve education in Michigan.

Dr. Smith spoke at a State Board of Education hearing held to consider a proposal that the branch be expanded from a two-year to a four-year school.

★ ★ ★

"There is no intention on my part or that of the board of control (of Tech) to insist on a permanent connection between the Houghton and Sault Ste. Marie campuses," Smith said.

"Our only purpose is to serve the best interests of higher education in Michigan," he said. "If this would be best served by Soo Tech becoming autonomous, we would have no objections."

Board members stressed they had not made up their minds on the expansion question.

★ ★ ★

The board held hearings last month on a similar expansion proposal for the University of Michigan's Flint campus. It recommended a four-year autonomous college at Flint and eventual closing of the U-M branch.

The board said, however, that its recommendation was not final, and that the over-all question of university branches would be dealt with in a forthcoming "master plan" on state education.

Other speakers advocated expansion of the Soo campus.

NOT FORGOTTEN

Charles Moskowitz of Mount Pleasant, chairman of Tech's board of control, urged that "remote areas with small population not be forgotten" in Michigan's educational planning.

"Here at the Soo we have appeared to be an individual student demand and a social need," Moskowitz said.

"....A strong educational center of opportunity here at the eastern end of the U.P. can give a spark to the area which it needs."

Gain Seen from Look at Social Agencies

We commend the action taken by the Pontiac Area United Fund in sponsoring a survey of some 76 area-wide social agencies, 55 of which operate under the UF banner.

The analysis, expected to be completed by year's end, is in no sense a reflection on the administration of the United Fund or any of its member agencies.

★ ★ ★

But during the nearly two decades of operation of the concept of consolidated charitable contribution, there could well have developed some degree of function overlap as well as shift of emphasis among related agencies.

Since objective self-analysis by an agency would be most difficult, to say nothing of its questionable value when considered independent of the UF framework, the over-all appraisal from a disinterested quarter now planned is the right approach.

With 2,100 American communities having initiated the "give-once-for-all" plan of welfare dispensation, there can be no doubt that it has abundantly proved itself.

★ ★ ★

But since the essence of the plan is comprehensiveness of purview and economy of administration, the survey to be conducted by Community Services survey committee, under chairmanship of William B. Hartman, will provide a helpful measurement of performance.

Reds Turn New Leaf: Say It With Flowers

East German Communists are beginning a campaign to beautify the Berlin Wall in an effort to counteract damaging Western propaganda, The Insider's Newsletter reports.

The Wall, say Communist officials, is to be "landscaped" and "made appealing." Plans call for growing ivy along some parts of the Wall and to place large flowerpots atop it at such tourist points as Checkpoint Charlie, the Brandenburg Gate and Potsdam Platz. Parts of the Wall are to be concealed behind wire screens and lattice work.

★ ★ ★

It is hoped, say observers, to give the Wall the character of a "national frontier" instead of a prison. East German guards are being told to mind their manners with Western tourists and to try to make a good impression.

Giving esthetic treatment to what is in effect a prison wall must impress the East German citizenry about as much as putting a "solitary" prisoner in a cell with wall-to-wall carpeting.

Gold Drain on U.S. Clogs French Economy

The public prints have in recent days given considerable space to the serious depletion of America's gold stock to satisfy our adverse balance of payments accounts with other nations.

But aggravating the normal loss of gold from such imbalance has been the calculated maneuvering of French President CHARLES DE GAULLE in demanding inordinate conversion of dollar credits into gold. And, it might be added, with France still owing the United States several billion dollars on debts incurred during both world wars.

There is now every indication that the uncompromising Frenchman has walked into his own trap — hoist, as it were, with his own petard — and has run up the white flag of monetary surrender.

The form it took was a surprise cut in the French bank discount rate, the effect of which is to take the pressure off our short-term money market and bring to an end the uneconomic transatlantic competitive bidding for dollars.

In his campaign of waging a gold run against the U.S., he paid the price of losing dollars. This hurt him far more than the loss of gold hurt us.

★ ★ ★

The proof, even before de Gaulle threw in the towel, is in the relative economic pace of the two nations. Ours continues to surge ahead, and without overheating. But France's dollar losses, which correspond to our gold losses, have run the country into a costly slump, and cut her off from the mainstream of international economic activity.

Le Grand CHARLES has unwittingly given the world one more demonstration of that inexorable law of economics—the law of diminishing returns.

Picture of LBJ Partly Visible

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Lyndon B. Johnson has now served the first three months of his full presidential term and it hasn't been long enough to get a rounded picture of him.

MARLOW

Only part of him, like an iceberg, has been visible so far. His policies and tactics at home are clear enough. His foreign policy isn't.

This success at home, at least with Congress, has been astonishing. The same can't be said of his dealings abroad, if only because there hasn't been enough of them, although they could turn out that way.

In foreign policy he could wind up being the toughest president in years.

★ ★ ★

What he did in foreign affairs between the time he succeeded President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, and when he was sworn in on his own last Jan. 20 can't be taken as a yardstick.

COOL, QUIET, CAUTIOUS

In that period he played it cool, quiet and cautious. He had no real crisis, there was an election coming, and he wasn't about to supply the opposition with ammunition.

Then, within a month after beginning his own four-year term, he made a very tough decision.

This was his order last Feb. 7 to bomb Communist North Viet Nam. And, refusing to yield to criticism, he has kept the bombing going ever since, even though it could lead to conflict with the Soviet Union and Red China.

Since no other problem in the past three months has required such drastic action, this one example is not enough evidence on which to build a case for a hardnosed man in the White House.

TOUGH OR JUST ROUGH?

It's hard to say whether he was being tough or just rough in the way he recently handled the prime minister of India and the president of Pakistan, both of whom were to visit here soon.

The White House said Johnson was going to be too busy with Viet Nam and Congress to receive the two visitors who are next-door neighbors in Asia, but not friendly ones.

Okay, So What?

But Intervention Not in Works

Halt in Steel Talks Worries LBJ

By WILLIAM J. EATON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson and other high administration officials turned anxious eyes toward Pittsburgh today in hopes of reviving negotiations in the steel bargaining crisis.

The threat of a nationwide steel strike starting May 1 dimmed the chief executive's hopes for a continued economic boom throughout 1965.

Johnson was not expected to intervene dramatically at this time — with almost 10 days remaining before the April 30 contract expiration date.

Steel company officials concede that blast furnaces need not be banked before next Monday or Tuesday at the earliest.

But the break-off in bargaining yesterday was a setback to administration expectations of avoiding a shutdown in the basic industry which might check the record-breaking business expansion now under way.

There was no immediate move, however, to shift the talks to Washington in an attempt to produce an agreement.

But it seemed likely that William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation Service who arrived in Pittsburgh Sunday night, may call for another negotiating session.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz was reported on vacation in Florida. The President was not expected to bring the talks to the White House until other avenues looking toward a settlement have been exhausted.

Under the Taft-Hartley law, the President could instruct the Justice Department to seek an 80-day injunction against a walkout in the steel industry.

Administration officials are well aware that a delay in the strike date may allow the union to settle the interunion leadership controversy.

I. W. Abel, steelworkers' secretary-treasurer, is believed to have defeated Union President David J. McDonald in a close election last Feb. 9, but the official results have not yet been announced.

At any rate, the union and the steel companies are estimated to be about nine cents an hour apart in the bargaining over a new contract or an extension of existing pacts. That is a wide gap not likely to be narrowed without major concessions by one side or the other.

★ ★ ★

The impact of a strike on the economy would be considerable. For example, the newsletter of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York for April says:

"For the moment, the rapid approach of the May 1 deadline for a labor settlement in the steel industry overshadows everything else that is going on in the economy.

"Although it can be assumed that the rest of this month will see strenuous efforts to head off a strike, the possibility of a stoppage cannot be dismissed . . .

★ ★ ★

"Should a strike occur on May 1, it could find steel users with less inventory than they had hoped to have on hand, but probably with enough to prevent a really serious crimp in operations for at least a month.

"No one, however, can really gauge what would begin to happen thereafter . . ."

Capital Letter:

Continued Foreign Aid Not Always Best Policy

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Wouldn't it be great if some rich, generous nation inaugurated a foreign aid program to help underprivileged Americans, including those in our pockets of poverty?

RUTH MONTGOMERY

We can see it now: President Johnson assuring the prime minister of Malarkey that we would be grateful for aid, provided that nation in no way tried to interfere with our internal government.

Soon ships bulging with wares would be unloading at our busy docks.

Several U.S. senators would undoubtedly bite the hand that was feeding us, but our ambassador to Malarkey would assure the prime minister that they were not speaking for the government.

Because of the numerous Malarkey technicians overseeing the installation of flood control projects, and the frequent inspection trips by Malarkey parliamentarians, some U.S. newspapers would grouse editorially that we were losing our independence.

TROUBLE WITH PRESS

President Johnson, however, would personally telephone Malarkey's PM to confide that he has trouble with the American press, too.

Soon we would be catching up with Japan and Western Europe in the growth rate of our gross national product. We would offer to repay some of the largesse with surplus wheat and cotton, but Malarkey would decline for fear of upsetting its own markets.

A Malarkey senator would introduce a bill to stop giving foreign aid to America unless Negroes and Indians were given a proportionate voice in our government.

★ ★ ★

The issue would be vigorously debated in Parliament, but the prime minister would privately assure LBJ by telephone that the bill would not pass.

REACT IN OUTRAGE

Americans would react in outrage to the foreign meddling in our internal affairs. A few hotheads would threaten to dump Malarkey's next shipment in the East River, and several U.S. congressmen would shout that unless Malarkey changed its tune we would decline further help.

A Malarkey cabinet minister, speaking at a national-day celebration in his province, would hint that America's rich were getting richer and the poor poorer, while our administration was operating extravagantly.

President Johnson would angrily summon the Malarkey ambassador to demonstrate that he was economically turning off the lights with a master-switch at his White House desk.

★ ★ ★

Suddenly Malarkey, whom we had once revered above all other nations, would become the most hated. We would resent every gold brick that they sent us, but hate to raise our own taxes enough to compensate.

ONLY SOLUTION

Some politicans would begin to suggest that going Communist was the only solution to our problems, but at the mention of it Malarkey would step up its contribution.

We would tell them to spit in the sea, and go to h— with their money, but they'd keep forgiving us. How do you ever get rid of foreign aid?

Demonstrating Students Disgrace Their Country

Students demonstrating for peace and for the U.S. to get out of Viet Nam are a disgrace to their country.

★ ★ ★

Don't they know that they are being influenced by people to whom peace can only mean the ultimate victory of a Godless world communism?

★ ★ ★

It would seem that these so-called students had left their books for the coffee houses and beer halls or they would be able to see through this thinly veiled pretense for peace.

DISGUSTED

College students who are demonstrating and yelling about us being in Viet Nam should ask the servicemen what they think about it. The servicemen would say let's go and get it over with instead of playing cat and mouse.

★ ★ ★

If I were the President I would draft every college student who thinks he knows more about the Viet Nam situation. Maybe there would be less yelling.

Reader Calls Raises 'Mess of Pottage'

In reply to I. J. as to what's happening to this country, this is like asking who stole the horse years after it is gone. What did happen to this country that free men were denied the right to work? Closed shops opened the door for many facets of servitude which is a degree of slavery.

★ ★ ★

The rises and concessions credited to unionism are just a mess of pottage in exchange for your birthright of freedom. For every cent raise on your paycheck the employer took one, too, either in increased costs or depleted quality, and in some cases both.

Costly Savings in Reserve Policy

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In scrounging to save pennies, Defense Secretary McNamara sometimes ends up wasting dollars.

CROMLEY

One small Army reserve unit will serve as an example. Reservists receive no pay for attending weekly meetings. They do receive retirement points, which eventually translate into retirement income.

For years, this reserve detachment performed make-work "drills" and listened to lectures. It provided no day-to-day function for the Department of Defense. Make-work and lectures don't prepare such reservists for their wartime functions.

Several years back, this particular detachment took on a series of projects for the Department of Defense.

★ ★ ★

Because of the rising emergencies in the world, some Defense Department divisions were falling behind in their tasks. Considerable overtime was called for.

A program was worked out whereby the reserve unit took over some of this work.

By careful estimate, this detachment turns out each year without charge professional work which would cost the Department of Defense $13,337.60 in overtime pay.

The work of this unit serves two ends:

- It better prepares these reservists for their wartime roles. Working on essential projects of the type they'd do in war is first-rate training.
- The reservists make an active peacetime contribution to Defense. Certain Defense divisions meet cold-war deadlines.

★ ★ ★

Work completed by this Army detachment has been commended by members of the staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff who did not know the tasks had been done by reservists.

This Army reserve unit was able to carry out these projects because it has in its membership a number of Defense Department personnel who as civilians are in charge of essential military areas.

These civilian Defense employes are the key to carrying on this program. In the evening as reservists, they act as team captains for the projects. Without their intimate knowledge of priorities, their close connection with the day-to-day work and their leadership in the unit, the reservists in the detachment could not do a professional job. Without these key men, the unit would be forced to return to lectures and make-work drills.

McNamara wants to save a few dollars. He has decreed that these key Defense civilians are available to him anyway in time of war and so it is a waste of time to pay them points for reserve duty, allow them to be promoted or to participate in the reserve program.

In the unit we are discussing, this McNamara move will save the government between $2,604 and $3,472 a year. In return for saving, McNamara will lose a program which saves him $13,337.60 a year — a net loss of around $10,000 a year in one small detachment alone. Multiply that by how many units?

★ ★ ★

He will also have reservists who are not adequately trained for wartime.

There is a solution. McNamara could allow the Army, Navy and Air Force to declare a limited number of these key civilians as "essential for reserve training." McNamara could thus save millions.

Human Comedy Plays Big Part in Fair Opener

NEW YORK (AP)—Judging by the first day's events—from the kid who sneaked in, to the youth who waited two days and two nights to be first, but wasn't—the reopened 1965 World's Fair has all the elements of a human comedy.

"Some day," said 76-year-old Fair President Robert Moses, "I should like to write about the human comedy as manifested by the fair, but by then I shall be otherwise occupied, tired or gone."

The human comedy was displayed in many ways as the fair began its second year's run through Oct. 17, after six months in mothballs.

There was Moses himself telling one flattering acquaintance, "Please, stop. You wouldn't want to make me blush, would you?"

* * *

There were the celebrities:

● Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey being serenaded at luncheon by a trio of roving musicians who played, "Thank Heaven for Little Girls," when it was reported he had a new granddaughter, and "Once in Love With Amy," when they learned Amy would be her name.

* * *

● Sarah Churchill, the late Sir Winston's daughter, walking alone amid the memorabilia of her father in the new Winston Churchill Center, and saying, "It's just wonderful, absolutely wonderful — in fact wonderful isn't really an adequate word."

● Arizona's Vonda Kay Van Dyke—Miss America—brushing the sleep from her eyes as she awaited the signal that would start the fair's inaugural march, and explaining:

* * *

"I just flew in last night from Japan. And so day's night and night's day for me. I hope the people will understand."

And there were the little people, 158,704 of them paying first-day admission, more than triple the number of opening day last year.

By comparison, the 1965 edition entered under fair skies with the temperature in the 60s—and with no civil rights demonstrations that marked last year's rainy day inaugural.

At the main gate of the 646-acre site at Flushing Meadow in Queens, Gary Schuster, 17, of Orangeburg, N. Y., had camped out since Monday morning to be the first one in.

But ticket-takers opened dozens of other turnstiles at the gate before getting to his. The turnstile at which he had waited was broken. He was led to another one.

Educators Urge More School Training in Facts of Life

(Editor's Note: Sex education is often discussed by administrators, but an expert says many schools do nothing about it. The problem is discussed in this dispatch, fourth of five on the sexual revolution among America's young people.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

The picture of the girl in the bikini jumps out at you on the advertising billboards as you motor along. It is a part of the Madison Avenue sex sell.

Sex is used to sell everything from automobiles to garbage disposals.

"But while we recognize sex everywhere, we try to keep it out of our schools," says Dr. John H. Cooper, consultant on health education for the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a branch of the National Education Association.

"This is blindness. Before we can hope to teach youngsters to see the deeper meanings in sex, we must see them ourselves.

★ ★ ★

"We must ourselves see that sex cannot be kept out of the schools any more than it can be kept out of our lives. Otherwise, we can only remain as we are—the blind leading the blind."

SHOULDN'T WAIT

Dr. Cooper said any question about increased sex activity among teen-agers should not wait until they are in college.

"It should be asked in high school and before," he said.

"It is among the elementary school age group where attempts should be started—today — to teach youngsters frankly and fairly about sex.

★ ★ ★

"Yet I would judge that most schools do not have any kind of planned sex education program at all. And many of those that do treat only the biological aspects of sex—not the responsibilities that go with sex."

MANY ADVOCATES

Dr. Cooper is one of many leaders in the educational, health and family field advocating improved sex education in America.

But not just the youngsters need it. Dr. Harold I. Lief, professor of psychiatry, Tulane University School of Medicine, recently sounded the alarm for sex education of physicians.

"General practitioners and internists are often consulted about sexual problems, and yet in most medical schools and hospitals today," he reported, "only residents in psychiatry and obstetrics-gynecology are likely to receive an adequate sex education."

Lief hopes to see the day when courses in family life, marriage and sex will be made compulsory in every medical school.

ENTIRE ISSUE

The journal of the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors devoted an entire issue to sex education and the educator's responsibility.

At the group's annual meeting in Minneapolis, Minn., this month, Barbara P. Van Cleve, dean of women, De Paul University, Chicago, urged members to improve their guidance in sex education of students.

"College students are generally more mature, more straightforward and honest than most adults when it comes to talking about meaningful answers to sexual problems," she said.

★ ★ ★

"Therefore, we deans and counselors will have to shed whatever inhibitions or fears or prudishness we have and face the issue honestly, and openly.

ALL ASPECTS

"It is absolutely necessary in our work with students that we be able to see all aspects of sexual conduct; that we be frank and open in our approach to such matters; and that we be understanding, sympathetic, and, most importantly, nonjudgmental. Thus we may be helpful, hopefully."

Conrad Van Hyning, executive director of the American Social Health Association, a voluntary agency founded more than 50 years ago to strengthen family life by stimulating qualitative sex education, is concerned about the rise of venereal disease among teen-agers.

"The only preventive measure available is information and education and the most effective means of educating all teenagers is by including VD education in the curriculum of all schools," he said.

★ ★ ★

Clark W. Blackburn, general director of the Family Service Association of America, maintains that today's adolescent from earliest childhood on, "has been overexposed to eroticism and sexuality but only too seldom to the true meaning of love."

'CONFUSION INEVITABLE'

"Their resulting confusion is inevitable and is a reflection of our own failures to set standards and examples as parents and educators."

Mrs. Jennelle Moorhead, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and a health educator, has taught many sex education courses and developed course outlines for use in teacher education in the Oregon system of higher education.

She endorses sex education for teen-agers, saying:

★ ★ ★

"Junior and senior high school courses in family living, in human biology, in personal hygiene and health are quite appropriate for relaying reproductive and sex information to adolescents.

★ ★ ★

"If we have done a good job as parents, our teen-agers' attitudes toward sex will be healthy ones," she said. "Giving them scientific facts will reinforce those attitudes."

A Junior Editors Quiz About DICTIONARY

QUESTION: How did Mr. Webster find out the meanings of all the words?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: In our picture, Joe is studying a large "unabridged" dictionary which contains about 600,000 words. This would be an impossible number for one man to define without expert help and the work of others who had labored before.

Each maker of dictionaries built to some extent on those of the past, improving definitions and adding new words.

In England, schoolmaster Robert Cawdrey, in 1604, defined 3000 words in a book said to be the first English dictionary. Later ones added more words until, in 1775, Dr. Samuel Johnson produced a large dictionary used until the mid 1800's.

This work helped to inspire the American, Noah Webster, in his attempt to create dictionaries which would set an American standard. His first, smaller volume was published in 1806; but in 1807, Webster started on his large and famous dictionary, published in 1928.

Much travel, both in America and England, and consultation with many authorities, went into the making of this master work.

Above all, Webster studied language as a science and did great personal research. After his death, the dictionary was carried on by the G. & C. Merriam Company.

Modern dictionaries are compiled by large staffs of experts. Beside the large size, smaller "college dictionaries, such as Harriet is using, are very popular.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look for the instructions in your dictionary which tells how to use it. It will add a great deal to its value.

U.S. Navy May Reinforce S. Viet Junk Fleet to Nip Red Infiltration by Sea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is expected to give the South Vietnamese navy new and faster patrol type vessels to reinforce its junk fleet in the battle to stem Communist infiltration of men and arms by sea.

Sources also said today that more U.S. Navy men will be attached as advisers to the 550-ship Vietnamese armed junk fleet carrying the burden of hunting down the gun and men smugglers among an estimated 72,000 small ships sailing those waters.

★ ★ ★

The exact scale of this strengthened aid awaits the outcome of a U.S. Navy survey to determine how much is needed.

For the time being, it was indicated, the U.S. Navy will continue its present limited role of spotting suspicious junks from the air and from warships operating off South Viet Nam.

IMPORTANCE

U.S. strategists who met this week in Honolulu studied additional evidence, including reports on the interrogation of Communist prisoners, pointing to the importance of the seaborne infiltration.

This importance was underscored by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's statement Wednesday suggesting that infiltration by land had been slowed as a result of some 2½ months of air pounding of staging areas, highways, rail lines and bridges in North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Official statements about the Honolulu conference have sought to picture those talks as dealing chiefly with implementing a previous decision to add up to another 160,000 men to South Viet Nam's 550,000-man military force.

However, there were strong indications that a number of significant new moves were discussed and kept secret.

LEAVE PERIMETER?

Reports circulated that the Marine expeditionary brigade deployed around the Da Nang Air Base and Hue in South Viet Nam would shift from a relatively static perimeter defense to a more aggressive role — that is, Marine units would go out hunting the Communist Viet Cong beyond the present perimeter.

At the same time, other reports indicated that the Marine ground combat elements in the Da Nang area would be increased to about division strength. This could mean bringing in another 6,000 or 7,000 Marines from Okinawa.

★ ★ ★

Consideration also may have been given to introducing Army combat units into South Viet Nam.

The Marine F4B fighter squadron at Da Nang may be reinforced by another squadron of Marine warplanes.

VIET ELEMENTS

And elements of the South Vietnamese marine corps may be brought up to the Da Nang area to take the field side by side with the U.S. Marines.

One official, speaking of reports of impending additions to the 32,000-man U.S. military force in South Viet Nam, said he would not be surprised to see this total rise by perhaps another 12,000 men before the end of the year.

★ ★ ★

McNamara spoke of increasing the number of helicopters to support the South Vietnamese forces in their attacks against Communist elements.

Sources said at least three more helicopter companies would be introduced, a total of about 75 choppers.

FLEXIBILITY

The aim is to station one of these additional helicopter companies in each of three corps areas and thus to give greater flexibility and mobility to South Vietnamse units in their efforts to search out and destroy the Viet Cong.

Officials said the additional helicopters were not being sent in to make up for losses of such machines to Communist fire. They contended that losses have not been great.

House Detective Nearly Extinct in Today's Motel

CHICAGO (AP)—The hotel house detective is becoming extinct.

"In most cases the house detective has outlived his use," said Dan Pavis of an inn near O'Hare International Airport in suburban Chicago.

In the past the house detective kept general order within a hotel, checked suspicious guests and made sure no one left without paying room rent.

Motels with small lobby areas now limit the old-time hotel con games and pickpocket thefts. Credit cards now prevent guests from skipping without paying bills.

Dixie Surveys Show Conflict

Negro Community Object of 2 Polls

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI) — The Negro community here today was the subject of two competing studies to determine who should represent it in civil rights negotiations with the local administration.

★ ★ ★

The surveys went ahead against a background of continued demonstration in the streets of this paper mill town, currently the focal point of Southern Negro rights activity by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

James Farmer, CORE director, said last night that 98 per cent of the voting-age Negroes approved the Bogalusa Civi cand Voters League as their negotiating agent with the city. Famer, who was in New Orleans, was expected back here today.

CORE'S door-to-door canvass was a countermove to a study being made under the direction of Mayor Jesse Cutrer, who has suspended negotiations with the Negroes until it is completed.

★ ★ ★

Cutrer said his study was made at the suggestion of the Federal Community Relations Commission.

YOUNG PICKETS

Youngsters manned picket lines yesterday in front of city hall. They carried signs demanding Cutrer's ouster and protesting alleged police brutality.

School officials reported 80 per cent absenteeism at all-Negro Central Memorial High School.

Both Farmer and Cutrer said their own surveys would prove valid, and that the other side was trying to force its views on the Negro population.

★ ★ ★

One of the city hall pickets who appeared to be about 10 years old, carried a sign which read: "We Need Jobs." Two young whites counterpicketed with signs defending the police department.

BLANK PAPER

Cutrer said he received calls from several Negroes who told him the CORE survey consisted only of a blank piece of paper without any explanation by the Negroes making the survey of what was being signed.

Farmer siad 48 of 50 voting-age Negroes contacted yesterday backed the Voters League.

"The mayor is trying to appoint or select Negro spokesmen," Farmer said. "It's an old trick, but it won't succeed in Bogalusa."

★ ★ ★

The CORE leader said the Crown-Zellerbach Corp., Bogalusa's leading employer, was supporting the mayor's plan.

★ ★ ★

Farmer said he had directed CORE'S national office to begin research aimed at starting a boycott against the West Coast paper giant which operates a big mill.

C. of C. to Enlarge Membership Unit

The membership committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce has decided to increase in size in order to gain more workers to secure chamber members.

★ ★ ★

The decision to increase the size of the committee was made at a planning meeting called yesterday by Dick Mineweaser, committee chairman.

★ ★ ★

A breakfast meeting was scheduled for May 26. A speaker will discuss business development of the area.

Also at yesterday's meeting, Sept. 13-18 was designated as Chamber of Commerce Week in the Pontiac area.

Albion Cracks Record in Routing Alma Nine

ALBION (AP) — Albion set an MIAA record Wednesday by scoring 13 runs in one inning, the sixth, as it defeated Alma 14-6 in an MIAA baseball game here.

★ ★ ★

The second game of the double header was called because of darkness, ended in a 6-6 tie.

Alma is 0-1-1 in the MIAA and Albion is 1-0-1.

Senate Debate on Voting Rights Bill Due to Start Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debate opens in the Senate today on President Johnson's voting rights bill. Democratic and Republican leaders are talking of passage in two to four weeks and Southerners aren't talking about a filibuster.

"There will be a lot of talk to educate the people over the country," said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. But Ellender, a spokesman for the Southerners, said nothing about a filibuster and Senate leaders think they have the votes to throttle one should it develop.

★ ★ ★

The Southerners planned to review their strategy at a meeting prior to the Senate session. Many of them are convinced that the steps the legislation would have Washington take to ensure Negroes' voting rights are unconstitutional. But they clearly are in a minority and may have to direct their fire at specific provisions rather than at the bill itself.

★ ★ ★

The legislation emerged from the Senate Judiciary Committee a lot tougher than the bill proposed originally by the President and fashioned by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

★ ★ ★

It is being managed on the floor by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., a staunch supporter of civil rights legislation who shows no disposition to yield on the amendments added to the bill in committee to make it stronger.

BAN ON TESTS

The Johnson administration proposed a ban on voter tests in states where less than 50 per cent of the adult population registered or voted last November. The federal government could take over the registration of voters.

In the committee, civil rights forces added two significant amendments: A ban on poll tax payments as a requirement for voting in state and local elections; extension of the bill's coverage to any county, regardless of whether it has a literacy test, in which less than 25 per cent of voting age Negroes are registered.

★ ★ ★

Katzenbach advised the committee not to adopt the amendments and Dirksen wants both eliminated. He claims the poll tax provision is unconstitutional and that no accurate figures are available on Negro voter registration.

Retired British Diplomat Dies

Was Envoy to France on Last Assignment

EGHAM, England (UPI) — Sir Pierson Dixon, veteran British diplomat who retired earlier this year as ambassador to France, died at his home here during the night.

Sir Pierson was 60.

His retirement ended a 36-year career, much of it in top-level diplomacy during and after World War II.

He became principal private secretary to Sir Anthony Eden in 1943, and 13 years later, during the 1956 Suez crisis, was to defend the by then prime minister's Suez policy as permenent British representative at the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Another major storm during which he was in the vanguard was the abortive British effort to join the Common Market.

HEADED DELEGATION

He was head of the British official delegation in the negotiations, an appointment held in conjunction with his post as ambassador to France.

Sir Pierson was a classical scholar whose personality shattered stereotypes.

His first job after graduating from Cambridge University with highest honors was as a manual laborer at Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming.

★ ★ ★

After that, he went to Greece and spent a year studying at the British school of archeology. He then returned to Cambridge and taught classics, until he entered the foreign service in 1929.

★ ★ ★

At posts in Madrid, Ankara and Rome, he demonstrated his capacity as both an intellectual and a good mixer, and was brought back to Britain by the Foreign Office in 1940.

Application Rate Soars at Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second wave of the long-heralded college crush will hit the campus next fall. There is plenty of proof today that it's going to be a whopper.

Applications for freshman admission to 67 state universities and land-grant colleges are running 34 per cent ahead of last year, the Office of Institutional Research reported.

★ ★ ★

And last year was bad enough, with a 32 per cent jump over the previous year.

"This year's crop of high school graduates is going to have the hardest time yet getting into college," Alan Ostar, director, said in an interview. "The squeeze is really on."

REPRESENTATIVE SAMPLE

The agency figures cover a representative sample of the nation's public colleges and universities, which enroll about two of every three college students.

Although fewer students are involved, the prestige private colleges and universities also are reporting an increase in applications this year.

★ ★ ★

There's no mystery to the college crush. Primarily it's a result of the post-World War II baby boom.

Those babies have grown up and most of them, it seems, want to go to college.

Gives Up on Hike in Alaskan Wilds

NOME, Alaska (AP) — Jim Acheson, 23, a former Marine from Fairfax, Calif., has given up on his plan to hike 750 miles from here to Fairbanks through the desolate Alaska wilderness.

★ ★ ★

"I did the best I could," Acheson said Wednesday after returning to this western Alaska community which he left on foot March 30 in an effort "to see the real Alaska."

★ ★ ★

He said he nearly lost his life Saturday when he fell twice through the ice in the Norton Sound area around Unalakleet.

Acheson said he still plans a cross-country hike, but "maybe not to Fairbanks this time."

Queen Elizabeth's Birthday Party Turns Into Vaudeville Act

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's birthday party turned into a hilarious vaudeville act Wednesday night before a widely cheering audience in a London theater.

The queen obviously loved every minute of it.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday was the queen's 39th birthday, and Prince Philip took her and a small party to see Irish comedian Spike Milligan in a play based on the Russian novel "Oblomov."

Among the royal guests were actor Peter Sellers and his Swedish wife, Britt Ekland. Milligan and Sellers are old buddies and soon turned the play into a double act, with Milligan gagging from the stage and Sellers from the royalty row in the stalls.

Milligan stopped the show just after the opening curtain as an embarrassed foursome arrived late and took seats just in front of the queen.

"Turn up the house lights," cried Spike. "Start everything again.

★ ★ ★

"That's cost you your knighthood," he told the blushing latecomers.

Then he cried: "Is there a Sellers in the house?"

Sellers, sitting between Prince Charles and Princess Margaret, yelled, "Yes."

"Why," demanded Milligan, "Does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces (suspenders)?"

★ ★ ★

Sellers quickly swung into the old vaudeville routine with "I don't know. Why does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces?"

The classic reply to that ancient chestnut is "to keep his pants up" but whatever Milligan said was lost in the audience's laughter.

TAKEN TO BED

In the final scene Milligan, playing a Russian landowner who had taken to his bed rather than face the world, was joined between the sheets by his pretty housekeeper. The star waved a warning finger toward 16-year-old Prince Charles and shouted: "Philip, get that lad out of here."

Milligan also threw in an imitation of Queen Victoria, kicked a slipper into the audience, narrowly missing Prince Philip's head, and appeared for his final curtain call with a sword with which he invited the queen to knight him.

★ ★ ★

Her majesty declined, and instead Milligan and others in the cast were invited back to the birthday supper at Princess Margaret's home in Kensington Palace.

Boost Reward in Sex Killings

Two Publishing Firms Add $5,000 to Total

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—A $5,000 reward was offered Wednesday by two newspaper publishing firms for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for three sex slayings here.

★ ★ ★

It swells to $6,284.50 the reward total being offered.

The new amount was offered by the Palladium Publishing Co., which publishes the Benton Harbor News-Palladium and operates radio station WHFB, and its affiliate Herald-Press Co., which publishes the St. Joseph Herald-Press.

The development was announced jointly by Stanley R. Banyon, president of the Palladium Publishing Co., and Willard J. Banyon, president of the Herald-Press Co.

SEEK LEAD

Investigators, meanwhile, sought a firm lead to the slayer of 7-year-old Diane Carter; Mrs. Amelia Boyer, 60, and Mrs. Mary Esther Jones, 37, whose mutilated bodies were discovered April 4 near a Watervliet orchard some 10 miles east of here.

★ ★ ★

All had lived within blocks of each other in the Benton Harbor-Benton Township area.

Police believe the slayer also was responsible for the death of Delores Young, 19, whose body was found Feb. 16 in a home destroyed here earlier by fire.

Plane Has Missing Link

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The last call sounded and passengers were loaded aboard a sleek airliner at Standiford Field.

★ ★ ★

Doors were locked and the ramps were wheeled away.

★ ★ ★

A signal was flashed for the plane to take off but nothing happened.

The crew was still inside the terminal having coffee.

Many Area Job Programs

Out of Work? Try Retraining

There are people walking around the Pontiac area who are unemployed only because they don't know that development and training are available to them free of charge, according to L. F. Bieke, district manager of the Michigan Employment and Security Commission (MESC).

These training programs are available to almost anyone who wants to better himself or herself.

Many programs include on-the-job training, which means they pay while the trainee learns, Bieke pointed out.

"The first step is to apply," he said.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac MESC office at 242 Oakland has recently been streamlined for faster and more individual counseling service.

APPLICANTS TESTED

Following counseling, the applicant is tested for aptitude and ability. Then, on a voluntary basis, he's assigned to one of three units:

- White collar, sales and clerical.
- Industrial jobs.
- Domestic and casual laborers.

Mrs. Lawrence Dolsen is MESC training coordinator in the Pontiac branch office and reports for example, that 180 applicants have become 11-censed practical nurses after receiving training through the MESC.

All of them are now employed.

★ ★ ★

Many of these were widows or divorcees who had never been employed previously.

OTHER TRAINING

Training is also being offered in such categories as stenography, auto mechanics (youth), welding, bricklaying, machine operators and shoe salesmen.

Since the reorganization in the Pontiac office last November, job placements have increased gradually and the number of new applications has dropped according to Thomas L. Thomas, unit supervisor.

The MESC has enjoyed the full cooperation of area school superintendents, unions, employers, civic, government and improvement organizations, according to Thomas.

★ ★ ★

More than 1,000 men and women have even been taught to read and write since the program started in Detroit in 1963, Bieke said.

Delinquency Confab Topic

Oakland County citizens concerned about combating juvenile deliquency and neglect will gather tomorrow at Oakland University for an all-day workshop.

Bernard Houston, director of the Michigan department of social welfare will present the luncheon address.

The "Oakland County Protective Service Workshop Conference" is being sponsored by 24 citizen protective groups in the area.

Also, 14 social service agencies and the County Probate Court have added their support to the conference.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of the workshop is to acquaint public officials, police authorities, educators and clergymen with the job the protective services groups are doing.

Liberal Leader Dies

LONDON (AP) — Sir Arthur Cromyns Carr, 82, former member of Parliament and president of the Liberal party, died Tuesday.

Officers Elected at Scout Fete

Awards, needed camping facilities and the election of officers, were major items at the Pontiac District Boy Scout annual dinner last night at the First Methodist Church, 14 Judson.

★ ★ ★

Faithful Service recognition went to Ralph Allison, Howard Bone, Roger Lawrence, William Geeck and Mrs. Clifford Simonson.

Kenneth H. Goff was elected district chairman, Hal Newhouser and Harry J. Reed were elected vice chairmen.

John E. Stepleton was appointed district commissioner, and Jim Wagner, council finance chairman, spoke on the need for enlarged camping facilities.

★ ★ ★

He discussed exercising an option to purchase approximately 2,300 acres near Clare.

★ ★ ★

Fifteen and 10-year veteran awards went to six persons and another six received leadership training awards all previously announced.

Dogs Get the Habit of Smoking Cigarettes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dogs sometimes get sick on their first cigarette but soon learn to like them, a cancer researcher said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

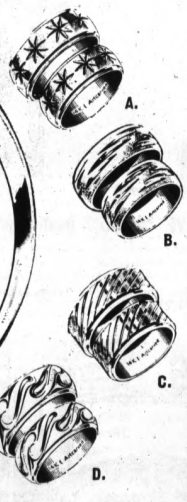

"They wag their tails, hold up their heads, scratch at the cage door and seem to be asking for a cigarette when an experimenter comes into the room," said Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond of the American Cancer Society.

'64 Measle Outbreak Termed Tragedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The doctors call it "rubella." But to anyone who's ever had it, the disease is always "German measles."

Once it was thought to be a relatively harmless and almost unavoidable part of everyone's childhood — like mumps, or chicken pox (with which it's sometimes confused), or a broken collarbone.

But now an epidemic of German measles is termed "a major tragedy" by a public health official. And a spokesman for the Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore contends that it is "much more serious" than the menace from the now-outlawed drug thalidomide.

Dr. Richard Masland, a director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, told a congressional committee recently that the German measles epidemic which struck the nation last year could result in "thousands of defective babies."

★ ★ ★

"We are very fearful that between a half and one per cent of all the babies whose mothers were pregnant during this period of the epidemic are going to be defective."

'AT RISK'

He said that government studies indicated about two million women were "at risk" during the spring and summer of 1964 when the German measles epidemic struck the East Coast.

"If these figures are correct, there will be thousands of defective babies in the United States from this one epidemic. Since many of these women have not delivered yet, the full impact of this has not hit the country. But this is a major tragedy," Masland said.

A U.S. Public Health Service official later elaborated on Masland's testimony. He said there were still many cases of German measles but that the outbreak was not expected to reach epidemic proportions in every section of the United States.

A United Press International survey shows that most of the German measles - associated births apparently occurred in East Coast cities.

At the Johns Hopkins Hospital, for example, approximately 40 children were admitted in infancy or were "congenitally malformed" in the past year as the result of their mothers having had German measles.

A Hopkins spokesman said he believed the epidemic "is going to turn out to be a national problem of great magnitude in terms of acute and long-range community problems of education and medical care. The net cost is going to be very great.

"All of this will be much more serious than the thalidomide aftermath, particularly for this country."

In Houston, Tex., Baylor University College of Medicine professors recorded 80 cases of deformed babies born of mothers who had contracted German measles. Eleven of these infants died.

special selling natural shoulder dacron®-wool summer suits

We can't make alterations—but we can make it up to you in absolutely unprecedented values! Like this suit, tailored in summer's favorite fabric: a wrinkle-resistant, crease-retaining blend of 55% Dacron® and 45% wool—styled here in our classic Charter Club model: natural shoulder, 3-button coat; trim plain-front trousers. We bought it for this special purchase in handsome shades: clay, navy, black, grey, olive-blue and olive-brown. Comprehensive size range, too: 34 to 48; in regulars, shorts, longs and extra-longs. A great value at our originally intended price of 44.50. Unheard of at 35.60.

WE CUT OUR SPECIAL PRICE AN EXTRA 20%

These items were purchased for a special selling — at prices considerably lower than usual. However, our tailor shop employees (who work under union contract) are not reporting to work because of the picket lines . . . so we're not able to give our usual alteration service.

Therefore, we're deducting an extra 20% from the special prices — if you take these items with you and have them altered. While 20% is a great deal more than the cost of alterations, we hope it helps to make up for this temporary inconvenience. At any rate, it brings you some of the best values we've ever given.

Hopes Dim for Talks Between Dr. King, Boston Schoolmen

BOSTON (AP) — Negotiations have broken down in attempts to arrange talks between Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the school committee as the city prepares for a civil rights march of an anticipated 25,000 persons.

An end to slum housing and racial imbalance in schools are the goals of the march.

Dr. King arrives today and will be greeted at the state house by Gov. John A. Volpe, who has promised to take action in the racial imbalance issue if the school committee does not.

Dr. King, a leader of the national civil rights movement and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, also planned a tour of housing and schools in the predominantly Negro Roxbury section during the morning and an address before the legislature in the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Part of his purpose in coming to Boston was to attend a meeting of local Negro leaders and the school committee.

MEET AT OFFICE

But after a visit at the school committee's Beacon Street offices yesterday, the Rev. Virgil Wood, head of the Boston branch of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said only Dr. King would be allowed to address the committee.

"This is nonsense," Wood said, "Dr. King wouldn't presume to speak for the local people."

In view of the stand taken by committee chairman Louise Day Hicks, he said, Dr. King would not meet with the committee.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the city went ahead with preparations for the massive parade tomorrow and the Boston Common rally, which civil rights leaders expected to be attended by some 50,000 persons.

30 COMMUNITIES

Delegations from some 30 communities surrounding Boston indicated they would be on hand. Traffic officials were taking steps to avoid tie-ups in the areas affected by the parade, particularly downtown where the march ends.

A force of 350 extra police was assigned to accompany Dr. King and to be stationed along the route. The march will begin at a playground in Roxbury, then proceed along Huntington and Massachusetts Avenues and finally pass in front of city hall and the school committee offices before reaching the Common.

Mayor John Collins agreed to meet with Dr. King and a delegation of a dozen or so in his city hall office.

Three state representatives, Royal Bolling, Michael Haynes and Franklin Holgate, all Roxbury Democrats, and State Sen. Beryl Cohen, a Brookline Democrat, said they plan to march.

TO JOIN MARCH

Francis X. Bellotti, a Democrat, who lost to Volpe, a Republican, in the election last November, said he too would join the march and urged "all those who believe as I do that the existence of racial imbalance is not only real but harmful to a healthy society" to participate, also.

At a press conference yesterday, Volpe said that at some future time he intends to "propose legislation as is necessary to assure that every boy and girl, regardless of race, creed or color, shall receive a quality education and enjoy housing which he can afford to pay for."

Asked if he thought the school committee had demonstrated good will in the dispute, he replied, "I can't say that it has."

The school committee maintains that it already is offering special educational programs that will solve the Negro problems. But it has remained steadfastly opposed to busing children from one neighborhood to another.

Besides his support of the local protest, Dr. King also will participate in a fund-raising program for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which he directs. He seeks to raise $100,000 from this area, and the local branch has already reported contributions totaling about $40,000.

Swede Lays Labor Peace to 'Security'

DETROIT (AP)—The proportion of working days lost due to labor disputes in Sweden is about one-twentieth of what it is in the United States or England, Dr. Sue Carlson estimated here Wednesday.

Carlson, director of the Institute of Business Studies at the University of Uppsala, told the Economic Club of Detroit that Sweden has a tradition of solving its labor-management problems by "negotiation, not by legislation."

★ ★ ★

"Both the labor unions and the employer's federations want as little interference as possible from government in determining wages or employment conditions," Carlson said, adding:

"I think it is the feeling of security among both labor and management which explains very much of our success.

MINIMUM BITTERNESS

"Social security and the protection of strong, centralized labor unions minimize bitterness and frustration among workers. The individual manager feels protected by a strong employer's federation and by the government."

Carlson described Sweden's economy as a "private industry welfare state." He said more than 90 per cent of all industry is under private ownership, but the community is responsible for full employment.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Carlson cited a program to retrain and relocate workers among the country's employment-creating measures.

He said it is sometimes "less costly to retrain people and move them to areas with labor shortages than to stimulate employment by artificial measures."

"Sweden's homogenous population makes labor mobility easy. We have no significant religious or racial minorities and no language barriers," he added.

Dr. Carlson is in Detroit as part of a "Meet Modern Sweden" program sponsored by Swedish industry and government.

Overeager Firemen Ends Up in Hospital

LISBON (AP) — Two voluntary firemen of Oporto, North Portugal, were in such a hurry to get to the fire that they knocked each other out of action.

When the alarm sounded, Fernando Aleixo and Antonio da Sousa jumped to it with alacrity.

★ ★ ★

Hastily donning their helmets, they rushed out of the station and leaped onto the fire engine. As they did so they banged each other with such force that Fernando sustained a couple of broken ribs and Antonio fell and cut his knees badly.

The fire station ambulance took them to the hospital on its way to the fire.

Maiden Flight Near for Navy Version of TFX

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy version of the controversial former TFX jet is scheduled to make its maiden flight in 30 to 60 days.

The movable wing aircraft, now called the F111B, will roll out of its hangar about May 11 and will fly "shortly thereafter," delegates to the Navy League's annual convention were told yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The first flight of the 2,000-mile-an-hour jet will be from the Long Island, N.Y., plant where General Dynamics Corp. and Grumman Aircraft Co. are putting together five experimental models of the carrier-based version of the Air Force - Navy plane.

"Our estimates are that one F111B will do the job of two current fighters and do it more cheaply and efficiently," the companies said in a presentation to the convention.

Daily Bravery

'Bentover Man' Became a Quiet Hero

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—He was one of those quiet heroes for whom no bugles ever blow because we accept their daily bravery as a commonplace.

BOYLE

The cab driver's who picked him up every morning referred to him as "the bentover man."

They called him that because he was bent over. Way over. Arthritis had frozen his spine in a permanent and painful arc.

But John L. McKee wasn't a bentover man at all when I first met him at the Missouri School of Journalism more than three decades ago. He was as straight and tall as a double yardstick.

FINE ATHLETE

He was a fine all-around athlete, a medal-winning swimmer, and had a voice so promising that for a time he considered making singing his career.

Then something he could do nothing about went wrong with his strong young body. Nor could any of the medical specialists he consulted really help.

* * *

Arthritis, from which some 12 million young and old Americans suffer, is still a mystery malady that strikes in many ways. In John's case, it seemed to grip his spine like a giant hand and slowly and progressively bend him over.

"Sometimes I think it is trying to turn me into a human pretzel," he once observed drily.

SWIMMING OVER

His swimming days were over. So were his hopes of becoming a professional singer. But John — or "Blackjack" as his pals came to know him — could bend over a typewriter.

And he bent over it with increasing skill. He wrote radio news for a time, then became a specialist in world business news, and won recognition as one of the best in the field.

* * *

People with an affliction have only two courses open to them. They either yield to self-pity and give up. Or they refuse to yield and make the best of a raw deal from fate.

"Blackjack" was a fighting Scot gifted with inexhaustible courage. If he ever felt sorry for himself, it was his own secret.

SENSE OF HUMOR

He had a wry and wonderful sense of humor and never lost it. His hobby was waging small wars with large corporations.

He chuckled all day when he caught some huge public utility or banking firm in an error, and could point it out to their top brass in a pungent letter of mock dismay.

* * *

In 1950, "Blackjack" fell and broke some neck vertebrae.

"He can never work again," his doctors agreed.

But he stayed on the job for nearly 15 more years, although his head was now almost as moveless as his spine. His posture was so bad he could not look up or to the right or left. He recognized his friends by their shoes.

Once he told me: "I can always tell you — you're too cheap to get a shine."

In bad weather or good, he made it to his desk. The rough cabbies in his neighborhood had a protective attitude toward him. They'd pass by a fuming fat lady or an important-looking executive anytime to pick up "that bentover fellow with the cane."

SUFFERED STROKE

Early this year, "Blackjack" suffered a stroke. After a brain operation, his stubborn heart beat on for three months in its paralyzed frame and then stopped. Knowing the end was near, he had asked before entering the hospital that his body go to science. That was like him, too.

A cabdriver asked me the other day, "Say, whatever happened to your friend, the bentover man?" When I told him, he was silent for a moment and then said:

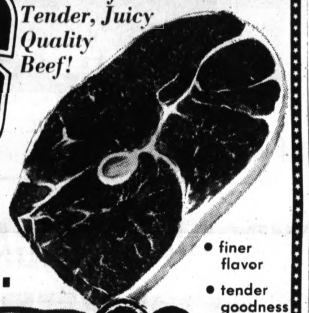

* * *

"Well, he sure was a grand guy. I never knew anybody that showed more real guts."

When people talk like that about you after you're gone, you don't need a memorial. You've made a success out of life.

Are Curbs on Access to Viet War News Preventing 'Full Story' From Reaching U.S?

(Editor's Note — Robert Eunson, who filed this dispatch, was a war correspondent for the Associated Press in World War II and in Korea. He is now director of Asia services for the Associated Press.

By ROBERT EUNSON

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In World War II and in Korea, regulations for news coverage of armed conflict involving U.S. servicemen came from the military.

In Viet Nam, such information is under the supervision of the U.S. Information Service, a unit of the U.S. Information Agency, whose objective is to present the image of the United States in the most favorable light.

★ ★ ★

USIA is an independent agency under the policy direction of the White House and the State Department.

U.S. military briefing officers in Viet Nam are subordinate to Barry Zorthian, head of USIS in Viet Nam. He has criticized reporters in private for stories which did not violate security but which he thought were unfavorable to the United States.

DAILY BRIEFINGS

Daily briefings on military operations are held in Saigon by Lt. Col. L.A. Breault, but they are held at USIS headquarters. Breault held a similar post in Korea, but his information came from Army intelligence and did not have to be cleared by USIS.

George Beebe, managing editor of the Miami (Fla.) Herald and president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, said in Miami Tuesday that USIA control of military briefings "should be of deep concern to the people of the United States."

★ ★ ★

Beebe in a statement said editors fear the American public is not getting "the full story nor the true story" of the war in Viet Nam.

"With rare exceptions," he continued, "the press has always felt the military should be the spokesman for military matters. It resents USIA requiring escorts when reporters talk to the men in our armed forces.

PROTEST POLICY

"I speak for the APME board in protesting the present U.S. policy of providing information on developments in Viet Nam which is inadequate and too often unreliable.

"The people of the United States deserve to be well-informed in this crisis no matter how negative the news might be."

★ ★ ★

A set of 20 ground rules for coverage of air strikes in Viet Nam was issued a week ago. Zorthian signed these as "minister-counselor of public affairs" although Col. Ben Lagare is the press information officer for the U.S. Military Assistance Command.

Zorthian's memorandum states that the rules "must be observed by official briefers and other American and Vietnamese official personnel."

It says information that will "normally be released as soon as available" includes the target hit, nationality of the striking force, whether the aircraft was land-based or naval, general characterization of the success of the mission, ordnance expended and tonnage, numbers of strike and support planes in round numbers, general description of enemy antiaircraft ground fire, and pilot sightings of unfriendly aircraft.

★ ★ ★

The memorandum prohibits disclosure of information on aircraft taking off on strikes, identification of land bases or location of bases from which aircraft were launched, number of aircraft damaged, or enemy air reaction other than that actually seen by strike personnel. The total aircraft lost will be released when recovery operations are completed.

★ ★ ★

Correspondents do not object to regulations issued for security reasons. But they object strongly to a policy of not allowing free access to military personnel unless an "escort officer" is present. The newsmen feel this inhibits military personnel during interviews.

Another memorandum issued by Zorthian says "entry and movement within air base : eas controlled by the Vietnamese air force will be in the company of a guide. Journalists passing through a Vietnamese air force area to reach an American installation will be escorted to and from the American installation by a Vietnamese air force guide."

CAN APPLY

The memorandum also says: "Beginning Monday, April 12, foreign journalists who hold government of Viet Nam and Military Assistance Command Viet Nam accreditation can apply for Vietnamese high command authorization for entry to military airfields in Viet Nam, including Da Nang."

★ ★ ★

After briefing on security regulations and agreeing to accept them, the newsman may move without an escort "through unclassified areas of the American installation."

★ ★ ★

U.S. newsmen have been barred since last March from the Da Nang air base, from which many strikes have been launched against North Viet Nam. Zorthian announced that issuance of accreditations would begin April 12, but it was not until April 20 that authorization was issue by Vietnamese officials in Saigon for some newsmen to enter the Da Nang base and other installations.

★ ★ ★

Authorization for entry of Associated Press correspondents were being forwarded April 21 to them in Da Nang.

★ ★ ★

American billets, messes and service men's clubs are still closed to newsmen. Interviews with pilots have generally been forbidden, although some have been arranged off the base under the stipulation that the pilots discuss their missions in general terms.

Just 'Buggy' in Statistics

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) —If you, just think about the insects.

Entomologists with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service say insects comprise about 80 per cent of the world's lower and higher animal population.

Bugs have been on earth an estimated 450 million years — far longer than man.

Charge Embezzlement to Hospital Manager

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Lawrence Haycock, 34, of Albion, office manager of Hayes, Green Beach Hospital here, was bound over to Eaton County Circuit Court Wednesday on a charge of embezzlement.

Sheriff Elwin Smith said state auditors found a $1,984.80 shortage in Haycock's books. Haycock had been office manager at the hospital for two years.

He was freed on $5,000 bond.

A trophy is awarded to Theresa McVeigh (at left) of Kingston Road, White Lake Township, as she receives the title of "Secretary of the Year." Edythe Perry, State Street, president of the Pontioak chapter of the National Secretaries Association made the presentation Wednesday evening at a banquet in honor of National Secretaries Week.

Secretary Named Tops of the Year

Theresa McVeigh was named "Secretary of the Year" for North Oakland County at a banquet Wednesday evening in Devon Gables.

The dinner was held by the Pontioak chapter of the National Secretaries Association, International, (NSA) to mark "Secretaries Day."

This is the high point of National Secretaries Week being observed throughout the nation.

★ ★ ★

Miss McVeigh has been with Dixie Tool and Stamping since 1953 when she started her career as administrative secretary to Thomas Tillson, owner of the company.

She was appointed business manager of the firm in 1960.

A graduate of Kennedy Collegiate Institute and the O'Neil Business College of Ontario, she also attended Oakland University and is a graduate of the Walsh Institute, Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The honored secretary has served two terms as president of the Pontioak chapter of NSA, has been workshop chairman and is currently educational chairman of the Michigan division of the organization.

At the Wednesday dinner, guest speaker was Lillian Hogue.

Theme for the evening was "Annie Get Your Gun" or "The Sharp - Shootin' Secretary."

Two new members, Mrs. Joseph T. Frank and Mrs. Henry C. Smith, were initiated into the chapter.

★ ★ ★

Guests included Barbara J. Patrick, Joan Lawson, Marguerite Bufka, Murial Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Tillson, Irene Snyder and Maxine Glynn.

Others were Ruth Brown, Mrs. Alton Evans, Nethia Spann, Bernice Hulett, Sandra Lane, Grace Aranda and Marva Bylund.

Named "Boss of the Year" by Tipacon charter chapter, American Business Women's Association, Edmund L. Windeler of Hatchery Road is surrounded by members of the honoring organization. From the left are Ruth Woodworth, Auburn Avenue; Mrs. Howard Brooks, South Johnson Avenue and Julie O'Brien, Lotus Court. Presentation was made at the 12th annual Boss Night dinner Wednesday evening.

Wins Boss of Year Award

Edmund L. Windeler was awarded the Elbert Hubbard Trophy as the 1965 Boss of the Year when Tipacon charter chapter, American Business Women's Association held its 12th Annual Boss Night Wednesday.

Windeler is an executive engineer at Pontiac Motor Division who started work there as a test driver in 1936.

He has been active in numerous community projects such as the Cub Scouts, Boy and Girl Scouts, and PTA. He also spent 12 years on the Waterford Township Board of Education.

The dinner was held at the Edgewood Country Club.

"A Trip Down the Nile" was the theme of the dinner and the Egyptian motif was carried out in the centerpieces which resembled small boats on the Nile River.

GAVE TOASTS

Ruth Woodworth, as Cleopatra, gave the toast to the bosses, and Charles L. Coppersmith, the 1959 Boss of the Year, gave the response.

Assisting Miss Woodworth with the toast were Mrs. Glenn Nelsey, Mrs. Clifford Marsh, Mrs. Walter Latozas, Mrs. T. R. Nellis and Mrs. Donald Gerber.

Mrs. Charles A. Stark and Miss Woodworth were co-chairmen of the dinner, assisted by Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Nelsey and Marie Richey.

AIMS

ABWA is an educational association with its major aims devoted to improving employer-employe relations, to keeping business women up to date on business techniques, and to advancing women in business through more efficient service to business.

Since its inception in 1949, chapters have sponsored many local scholarships for women students.

Death of Fiance's Mother Will Affect Wedding Plans

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I were engaged last summer with plans to be married on June 6th.

His mother passed away very suddenly two weeks ago and now we are wondering if we should go through with our original plans for the wedding.

ABBY

We planned to have it in our church with a large reception and wedding dance afterward.

His two sisters were going to be my bridesmaids, but now they don't think they should.

His side of the family had relatives come in from both coasts for the funeral and now some of them say they can't come back again in June for our wedding.

I am so upset. What do you think we ought to do? His father thinks if we want a big wedding with a lot of merry-making, we should put it off a year.

Or else have a very quiet ceremony in June as scheduled. What is proper?

PLANS DASHED

DEAR PLANS: Under the circumstances, there should be a minimum of merrymaking, if you marry, as scheduled in June. Let your clergyman help you revise your plans.

He will know what is "proper."

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Can a single girl wreck a home, if it is not really a "home" in the true sense of the word, but merely a "peaceful co-existence"?

LIZETTE

DEAR LIZETTE: Let's not quibble about the choice of words.

A single girl CAN wreck a "peaceful co-existence"—which amounts to the same thing.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We have a five-year-old retarded son who is living at a school for the retarded.

We tried very hard to make him happy with us, yet keep him from completely dominating our home, but it was impossible since he was hyperactive.

I came close to a nervous breakdown, as I have four normal children besides him to care for.

I saw him for the first time Sunday, after a required three week waiting period.

For the first time in his life he looked "beautiful." The strain of living with a normal family had kept a pinched, unhappy look on his face.

Officers Chosen to Head Pontiac Insurance Unit

Officers of the Insurance Women of Pontiac were elected at a dinner meeting in the Waldron Hotel Tuesday evening.

Assuming new duties are Mrs. Garland Hale, president; Mrs. John E. McDonald, vice president; Mrs. Keith Gray, and Martha Henry, secretaries and Mrs. Harry A. Hall, treasurer.

Installations will be held at the June meeting.

Luke Martin introduced the speaker, James Dunn, who spoke on "Controlled Impact." Films were shown on the subject, stressing the importance of safety belts while driving.

Plans were discussed for the annual Bosses Night scheduled for May 19 at Bedell's Restaurant.

Alternatives for Women Subject of Conference

Woman's Alternatives in Amiable America — what are they, what determines them? Alternatives will be the subject of Oakland University's third annual conference for women, this year expanded into four separate conferences to be held the four Thursdays in May.

Thursday, May 6 "Woman's Alternatives in Amiable America" is programmed to lay out the factors which determine choices for each woman: The Person (Her Self); The Pattern (Her Stage); The Possibilities (Her Society).

★ ★ ★

Successive Thursday conferences will cover "Woman's Alternatives in Education," May 13; "Woman's Alternatives in Volunteer Work," May 20; and "Woman's Alternatives in Employment," May 27, with practical information on pursuing or returning to education, volunteer roles and careers available.

The four conferences are being sponsored by the Mott Center for Community Affairs at Oakland University. Women may attend all four conferences or any of them separately.

Daily registration fee is $3 including luncheon.

DREWS VS. DREWS

Dr. Drews, psychologist, talks to Dr. Drews, anthropologist, in the keynote addresses May 6 on The Person.

The psychologist is Elizabeth Drews, Ph. D., professor of psychology, College of Education, Michigan State University, while the anthropologist is Robin A. Drews, Ph. D. also of MSU and slated to become chairman of the department of anthropology and sociology at Lewis and Clark College, Portland, Oregon next fall.

The Drews will answer the questions what are women basically like, how unlike? What is characteristic of women in other societies? What can women become? What is identity and who needs it?

★ ★ ★

Dr. Kenneth Coffman, Director of Psychological Services, Oakland University, will follow with discussion "Who Am I and Who Can I Be?" basing his material on how to test a person's abilities, interest and aptitude.

In particular, he'll describe the testing and counseling program administered to 84 mature women at Oakland University this year.

DRAMA SLATED

The Pattern for women will be dramatized as the "Seven Stages in a Woman's Life."

This presentation points up changes for the typical woman in available time and necessary knowledge during successive periods from the single woman with a job, through raising children, and finally as a widow.

Moderator of The Seven Stages will be Priscilla Jackson, assistant director of the Mott Center for Community Affairs and director of the women's conference.

Portraying the seven roles out of their personal and current experience will be Virginia Walter, Mrs. Brian Murphy, Mrs. William Rexford, and Mrs. John H. Bryant.

Others are Mrs. Eliot Higgins, Mrs. Howard Liverance and Mrs. W. L. Kemp.

★ ★ ★

Afternoon discussion May 6 will touch upon The Possibilities for women and lead into the specific subjects to be covered at the three following conferences.

Reservations or a descriptive brochure are available from The Mott Center for Community Affairs at Oakland University.

New Officers Are Elected for Season

Members of the Fairway Golf club held their first meeting and election of the year Wednesday in the home of Mrs. George Watters of Murphy Street.

★ ★ ★

New officers are Mrs. Robert Meikle, president; Mrs. Lloyd Syron, vice president; Mrs. Walters, secretary; and Mrs. John Steinhelper, treasurer.

Other officers include Mrs. Bradley Smith, Mrs. Frank Syron and Mrs. John C. Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Working on committees are Mrs. Richard Childress, Mrs. Floyd Compton, Mrs. Lloyd Syron, Mrs. Carl Rose, Mrs. Peter Waisanen and Mrs. Basil Foisy.

NEW MEMBERS

Among the new members welcomed this season are Mrs. Donald Q. Breen, Mrs. James Carolin, Mrs. Ralph Heyse, Mrs. Theodore Boga, Mrs. Robert E. Lynch, Mrs. George M. Beatty, and Mrs. H. M. Dyer.

★ ★ ★

Play will begin on May 6 at the Pontiac Country Club.

Garden Club Members Slate Rochester Tour

Members of the Rochester Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association met at the home of Mrs. John C. Bigham, Apple Orchard Lane, Wednesday to discuss plans for the Rochester Home and Garden Tour.

★ ★ ★

Cochairmen Mrs. Herman Klix and Mrs. Walter Methven have arranged to have interesting homes, as well as gardens open to the public June 19 and 20 from 1 to 5 p.m.

The tour will benefit the many charitable projects of the branch, including scholarships to Oakland University for two Rochester high school graduates, scholarships to International Farm Youth Exchange and Wolverine Girls State.

It will enable two teachers to attend the Conservation Training School at Higgins Lake.

Assisting Mrs. William Burke with the chairmanship duties were Mrs. Frank Bauman, Mrs. Thomas E. Kruger, Mrs. John Sedan, Mrs. F. A. Simon and Mrs. Thomas Swegles.

★ ★ ★

Committee chairmen working on the tour are Mrs. James Clark, secretary; Mrs. Arthur B. Wright and Mrs. Oscar J. Sorenson Jr., tickets; Mrs. Arthur F. Underwood, publicity; Mrs. Raymond Storm, Rochester high school poster contest.

Others are Mrs. Walter Sawyer, tour hostesses; Mrs. Weldon Keast, flower and table arrangements; and Mrs. Frank Bauman, refreshments.

Cochairmen, Mrs. Walter Methven, Northumberland Drive, Avon Township (left) and Mrs. Herman Klix, Rochester, check on a tardy garden spot. They're working on plans for the June Rochester Home and Garden Tour, sponsored by the Rochester branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Committees met Wednesday for a planning tea.

Riverside PTA Slates Election

Riverside School, Waterford Township, PTA will elect officers at its 8 p.m., meeting today.

The Waterford Township Chorus will entertain, and Miss Zella Mitchell, reading consultant of Waterford Schools will show a film on the initial teaching alphabet.

DEMPSEY

Dempsey to Substitute at Opening

A Waterford Township man who knows the score will step into the leading role in Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre's opening of "The Sound of Music" tonight on four days' notice.

Mike Dempsey, vocal music director at Pontiac Central High School, will substitute for Don McKenzie of Oak Park who is hospitalized with a bad knee.

★ ★ ★

Dempsey of Fernbarry Court said he was elected because he knows the songs and dialogue. The baritone learned the score when he directed the musical portions of Pontiac Central's recent production of "The Sound of Music."

ANSWERED SOS

Eight days later, on Easter Sunday, Will-O-Way Director Celia Merrill Turner learned that her leading man was temporarily disabled. She appealed to Dempsey for help.

He consented and Monday began a day and night schedule of rehearsals to master the role of Captain Von Trapp.

★ ★ ★

When Dempsey is not busy with vocal music at Will-O-Way or Pontiac Central, he directs the choir of St. Michael's Church.

Tuesday Tee Club Meets

The Pontiac Country Club was the setting Tuesday evening for the first meeting of the season of the Ladies Tuesday Tee Golf League.

New officers this year include, Mrs. Donald Vantine, president; Mrs. Harold Titus, vice president; Mrs. Glenn Hickson, secretary; and Mrs. George Parsons, treasurer.

SUSAN MARIE TYRRELL

Fall vows are planned by Susan Marie Tyrrell and Steven Karl Meuche, son of the Karl H. Meuches of Dayton, Ohio. She is the daughter of Mrs. Arthur B. Tyrrell of Osage Circle and the late Mr. Tyrrell. The couple attends Michigan State University.

Too Much Perfume Bad Taste

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Isn't the overuse of perfume in very bad taste?

A: Too much perfume is in very bad taste, but it is a fault committed quite unintentionally by some women who get so used to using one perfume they become insensible to it and apply a little more each day, never realizing how much they are using or how offensive it can be.

WEDDING RECEPTION

Q: Will you please settle a point of etiquette?

When one receives an invitation to a wedding reception and is unable to go, is she or he still obliged to send a wedding present?

A: The invitation of itself carries no obligation to send a present.

If the bride, or groom, is a close relative or dear friend one would naturally be inclined to send a wedding present even though he or she cannot go to the wedding.

★ ★ ★

The clothes of the bride's and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception."

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Christ Church Sets Spring Benefit

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Christ Church Cranbrook annual spring rummage sale takes place at the church, April 29 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Mrs. Robert H. Flint, president of the Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church has as cochairmen for the sale Mesdames Calvert Thomas and Hayes Holmes.

Of much interest will be the popular French Room with gowns of some top designers.

For the benefit of the membership at its regular meeting Tuesday, Mrs. Spencer Hershey and Mrs. E. Franklin Hitch put on a fashion show which included dresses or hats from various lands. "Fashion notes from all over" it was called.

Among the models were Mrs. Richard Darragh, Mrs. Frederick Strong III, Mrs. C. Robert Weir, Mrs. N. J. Rakas, Mrs. John Albrecht, Mrs. Robert Brogan.

* * *

China, Japan, Mexico, Arabia, Thailand and England were among the countries represented.

The accessories and lingerie department will be handled by Mrs. Robert Bates; books and lamps by Mrs. Joseph Wright; china and glass by Mesdames Robert Weir and Jack Klarr; dresses and coats by Mrs. E. T. Bennett; French Room, Mrs. Russell Robins.

Showing furniture will be Mesdames William Graham and Ormond Wessels; hats and bags, Mrs. A. C. Haeffner Jr.; jewelry, Mrs. Robert Hackett.

Men's and boy's wear will be handled by Mrs. John Gilmer; men's suits by Mrs. John Allman and the shoe department by Mrs. Donald Jahncke. Mrs. Garrett Mouw will show sportswear.

Records show that in 1931 an experiment was tried by the church women and at their first rummage sale $73 was realized. Since that time the whole operation has grown tremendously.

There is a deep satisfaction for the women to be able to contribute to many community projects such as Camp Holiday for Girls, Pontiac State Hospital, Family Service of Oakland County and St. Peter's Home for Boys, just to mention a few.

About 200 women are involved, alternating in different sales departments along with cashiers, running adding machines, serving as guards and in the check room as well the important job of sorting articles prior to the sale.

Here you will meet two women who for years have been in charge, Mesdames Thomas Smith and Aaron Webster.

Mrs. A. C. Haeffner Jr., Cedar Bend Drive (right) is trying to sell Mrs. Richard Allman, Ardmoor Drive, a hat. The hat can't be bought until next Thursday, the day of the annual spring rummage sale at Christ Church Cranbrook. This is the 35th year of these sales.

Don't Be Scared of Idea

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Please help me get along better with my boss.

I think he enjoys needling me. I'd quit except that this is a small city and jobs are hard to find.

* * *

He changes his mind about what he wants said in a letter and then blames me for taking incorrect dictation.

I have worked on holidays for him and he hasn't paid me. But he criticizes me in front of customers.

ANSWER: Don't tell me you can't quit.

You may not have to if you'll stop being so scared of the idea of quitting.

I want you to let that idea take up lodging in your head so that you can get used to it and then finally embrace it, not as an awful prospect but as a promising one.

I won't say one word about how to "get along" with this sadistic man for whom you work.

It's his knowledge that you're afraid to quit that enables him to abuse you.

It's that fear of yours which ropes you to the mast so that he can keep you bound and immovable while he flogs you.

You can't fight. You can't run. There's nothing to do but take it.

* * *

The only way to beat him is to take that whip of knowledge away from him.

Why can't you entertain the notion of quitting, not just this job but this small city of yours?

This bully isn't the problem. It's your own submission to restriction.

* * *

And that's all part of your submission to his meanness.

It's because you can't even imagine anything bigger and better and happier for yourself than this enslaving job and unpromising town that your boss finds it easy to make you feel small and incompetent.

I'm not telling you to quit. I'm asking you to let the notion of quitting into that imagination of yours.

Write to your state employment agency about jobs in bigger towns.

Ask friends how work is in other cities. Inform yourself so that the prospect of quitting begins to lose some of its forbidding terror for you.

* * *

Create a choice for yourself between staying and quitting. If you do, this bully will know it right away.

And the moment he knows you can run if you want to, he'll start treating you better — if that's what you want.

September vows are planned by Tonie Jean Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fitch of Birmingham and Werner Boehnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Boehnke also of Birmingham. The nuptials will be in St. Columban Church, Birmingham.

Facial Tips for Girls

For high school girls plagued with minor complexion problems, here's a tip that mothers might like to follow, too.

* * *

The often-used, seldom-washed powder puff or sponge which adds to complexion woes can be replaced by a fresh disposable paper tissue.

* * *

Junior-size tissues, folded in quarters, are just the right size for applying pressed or looses powder or liquid make-up. The small box fits easily in a dresser drawer or school locker, making clean tissues available every time make-up repair is necessary.

Use Baby's Lotions for Good Skin Care

NEW YORK (UPI) — Basic hand care need not be time consuming, according to beauty experts.

Just borrow three excellent hand care items from the nursery — baby cream, baby oil, and pink baby lotion—and keep them handy.

The kitchen and laundry shelves are a good spot for baby cream, which is lasting and won't come off the minute water touches it.

Nerves Cause Insomnia

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE V-439: Alma Q., aged 32, has some widespread complaints.

"Dr. Crane," she protested, "I'm so nervous I can't sleep at night unless I take big doses of sleeping medicine.

DR. CRANE

"My stomach seems to be tied up in knots.

"My husband, as well as my children get on my nerves all the time and I never catch up with my household duties. What can I do to avoid becoming a nervous wreck?"

INSOMNIA ADDICTS

Many people complain of insomnia.

But insomnia never killed anybody, so get hep!

If you are lying abed, in the usual horizontal position, you get almost all the benefits of sleep, even if your eyes are open.

For slumber is supposed primarily to rest your heart!

In the horizontal posture, your heart doesn't need to work as hard as when it must pump your 5 or 6 quarts of blood up your entire vertical height.

★ ★ ★

Thus, it slows down probably 2 beats per minute and your blood pressure may drop 10 to 20 points.

So become philosophical about your insomnia. Turn on a bed lamp and read an educational magazine like Reader's Digest or the Bible—but not detective thrillers!

Also, avoid undue eyestrain from excessive attention to television.

And go slow on prods to your heart, as caffeine drinks, such as tea, coffee and the cola beverages—at least after 6 p.m.

SMOKING

Smoking, too, will speed up the heart as much as 20 beats per minute and the faster blood flow keeps your brain more alert. Thus, you can't relax enough to fall asleep.

If your stomach has a tendency to peptic ulcer, take some hot milk toast at bedtime.

★ ★ ★

Then more blood will be demanded by your abdomen and thus less will go to your brain, so you will become sleepy.

That's also why people grow drowsy after a full meal and the reason students find it difficult to stay awake during the first class after lunch.

Lack of sexual satisfaction is also a very common cause of nervousness in wives and a "stomach tied up in knots," so send for the booklet below.

Most wives never receive adequate erotic treatment and they don't know what is wrong with themselves, so they become neurotic smokers and chronic jitterbugs.

To catch up in your household chores, make an "Agenda" each night of tomorrow's tasks, including minor things such as washing the breakfast dishes, as well as major items like the laundry.

But dissect your tasks into their component parts so you can then cross off more completed items.

Thus, you should not list "Housecleaning" for that is a massive chore.

Break it down into "Washing the living room windows" or "Sending drapes to dry cleaners," etc.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Fashions Still Good

The Paris spring fashion collections are long since shown, but their memory lingers on — in the young, mobile and feminine look.

Necklines for the most part were clean and pure with many collarless costumes or costumes with small collars rolled away from the neck.

Shoulders showed a broadening trend with sleeves set in.

Natural Look Important

The prettiest faces this year are wearing "real me" make-up.

The 1965 emphasis is on a natural radiance — with cosmetics used only as a complement to shining clean hair and a scrubbed complexion.

In fact, soapsuds and shampooing are as much a part of the "real me" look as lipstick and eye make-up.

Paris Hair Stylists to Curl Your Hair

Curly hair will stage a come-back if Paris hair stylists have their way.

★ ★ ★

Mannequins in the spring couture fashion shows wore all sorts of curled locks.

★ ★ ★

Carita advanced the "angelot"—short hair curled and brushed high. Alexandre went for "mad curls"—framing the face in apparent disarray.

You Can't Run Marriage on Love Alone

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

I would like your advice on my forthcoming marriage.

I am 19 years old and my boy friend is 22 years old. People have advised us against marriage due to the fact that we will have to support his two children by a previous marraige, in addition to our other expenses.

MARY FEELEY

I take home $46 a week, and he takes home $80 a week. Our expenses will be:

Support for his two children, $40 a week; loan payment (for 3 years) $15 a week; car payment (for 2 years) $16 a week.

We will have to run two cars, as both of us will have to work. Also, there is an insurance policy premium for the two cars of $280 a year.

Would you please tell us what it will cost us for our normal living expensees — food, rent, clothes, etc?

J. W., Patchogue, N. Y.

Dear J. W.:

I'll tell you, sure. It will cost about $76 more each month than the two of you will have.

Believe me when I say that I think the nicest fate that can befall two people in love is marraige. It's because I feel this way that I would hate to see you take on problems at the very beginning that could turn a pair of nice loving young people into antagonists.

★ ★ ★

And while the problems appear to be entirely money problems, not all of them are. For example, if you, as a wife, have to put up $40 every week, week in and week out, for the support of two chidlren who are not your own, whom you rarely if ever see, is it possible that you won't become resentful?

After all, you take home $46 a week. So the day may come when you begin to feel you're working only to support some other woman's children.

Also, you will have some obligations that will continue over a period of three years. This isn't such a long time when you are older and more resigned to self - discipline and watching your budget. But at your ages it may even seem like a heavy burden.

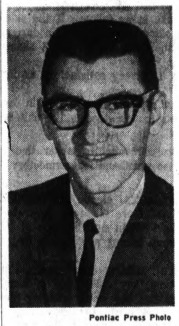

Now we get down to some figures you could expect to face on a monthly budget: Rent, $55; household operating costs, $20; food, $75; clothing, $25; personal allowances for both of you, $43; medical costs, $15; miscellaneous, church contributions, etc., $15; car operating and insurance (and this is a low estimate for operating two cars), $65. Total, $313 a month.

Now keep in mind that, aside from the above living expenses, you have $71 worth of fixed expenses per week! According to what you tell me, there's the $40 a week for child support; $16 a week for loan payment; $16 a week for car payment.

So there you are: $76.50 short every month.

It's awfully hard to tell a girl of 19 to postpone marriage until there's a fair chance for its success, but the figures show the odds are against you. I,m a pushover for romance, but I'm also realistic.

(You can get Mary Feeley's booklet, "Building Financial Stability," by writing to her in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Basin Subs for Bathtub

When no shower or tub is available, try taking a basin bath — using a towel instead of a washcloth to wash more of your body at one time.

Fill the basin with warm, soapy water. Then soak the towel in the suds and rub it all over your body, starting with your face and working down.

Finally, wring the towel out of clean water and rinse-wipe all over.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

How do you take up a pleated skirt that is too large around the waist?

MRS. W. L.

Dear Mrs. W. L.:

Remove the waistband and take in as follows. If the skirt has box pleats around the entire skirt, you can stitch a dart in the center of each pleat. Make the darts about 3 or 4 inches long.

This not only looks nice, but it is very satisfactory as far as fit is concerned.

If the skirt has the narrow knife pleats that all lay in one direction, lap the top of the pleats a little deeper. It won't be noticed when it is worn.

Always keep the top of the skirt slightly larger than the waistband and ease it onto the waistband for a smoother fit.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY: Spandex: elastic fiber notable for strength, abrasion resistance and more elasticity than conventional stretch threads. It is light-weight and because of its many new features, will be found in almost any article where stretch is essential.

It's spring and that means it's "wedding time" again. I'm in the midst of it myself this time; my oldest girl is being married. I've read, looked and studied the whole wedding picture and have lots of information to give you. Please write me immediately about your questions concerning bridal gowns, etc.

Since most of this information would also apply to construction of formals, it should help many of you. I'll try to answer as many as I can in this column.

Please send your letters to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Maternity skirts and pants can be comfortable! Instead of the stretch panels used to fill in the cut out circle in front, cut bias panels to fit the same section. Next, make a casing in the front pieces of the skirt and in the bias panels with bias tape.

Insert a draw string through the casing and eyelets. The bias panels are so comfortable and you don't have to worry about your tummy showing in case of a sudden breeze. On heavier materials that do not give, use a lighter weight cotton.

Mrs. James Cruze, South Ft. Worth, Texas, is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board.

Actress-socialite Dina Merrill wears her pale gray and silver sari with the pleats at the back and the "pallau" fastened to the right shoulder with an amethyst brooch.

Indian Saris Become High Style Gowns

With a half dozen yards of fine fabric and a quickie course in how to drape it, you can have a head-swiveling gown for evenings.

For sheer glamor, the Indian sari has yet to meet its match.

Celebrities, socialites and style-setters are appearing in saris, draped in the traditional exotic Indian fashion rather than having the fabric cut into western gowns.

A beautiful, hand-loomed silk sari, embroidered in silver, can be had for about $75, the price of an ordinary cocktail dress.

The cost of saris depends upon the amount of gold thread and hand embroidery involved the most lavish running from $300 to $500.

This graceful garb consists of six yards of fine fabric and one needn't go to India to obtain it.

AT AIR

Specialty stores in larger cities stock saris, and this year a breathtaking choice will be found at the India Pavilion at the New York World's Fair (Handlooms and Handicrafts Shop).

When you wear a sari, you also wear a midriff bodice called the choli and a long, drawstring petticoat.

The choli is always handmade to fit the wearer and may have sleeves or not. In fact, Indian fashions dictate from year to year the length of the sleeves.

The petticoat is plain cotton.

The intricate-looking drape of the sari is really quite easy to master after one or two tries.

PIN FOR NOVICES

And although Indian ladies never use pins or fastenings, novices are allowed a hidden safety pin to hold the pleats even.

Newcomers to the sari report that it is comfortable to wear, requiring no girdle or stockings and that the flowing garb feels so super-feminine that they find they walk with unusual grace.

The sari is ideal for showing off handsome pieces of jewelry.

Monique Van Vooren, for example, wears a chunky gold and topaz necklace with her gold-bordered sari.

Dina Merrill secures her pallau (the wide-bordered end that goes over the shoulder) with a huge amethyst brooch.

For pregnant women the versatile sari is a wardrobe lifesaver since it can be draped loosely enough to offer chic camouflage.

The average woman in India owns about four of the more expensive handloomed saris for special occasions and 10 or 12 cotton saris for ordinary wear.

She needs little storage space for they fold flat and she can travel with a month's wardrobe in an overnight case.

To Honor Couple at Mass

St. Benedict's Catholic Church will be the setting for a 9 a.m. anniversary mass on Saturday honoring Mr. and Mrs. Henry O. St. Dennis of Draper Avenue.

The couple was wed on April 15, 1915 at Newberry. They have been residents of the Pontiac area since 1923.

All seven children—Delore, David, Mrs. L. A. Jones, Henry, Jerome, Thomas and Mrs. Joan St. Dennis Geliske, are all from the area. There are 30 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

A brunch for the immediate family will follow the mass in the French Cellar of Howe's Lanes, Clarkston.

Polly's Pointers

Write to Oldsters

DEAR POLLY—My letter is a reminder to those who may forget that grandparents who live far away may be lonely.

Do write them at least once a week.

Saying you have nothing to write about is no excuse, for they would enjoy hearing the cute things the children are saying and doing, where you go, what particular projects you are working on and even something new you served for dinner. Pass on a recipe.

Why not send a small package at least twice a month? You know the interests of your parents—what they would like to read, a packet of seeds if they enjoy gardening, some little sewing help if grandma likes to sew. When you give a party, send some favors.

The cost of the gift is not important, but try to remember all special days in between as well as the birthdays, anniversaries and Christmas.

If boxes, paper, string, waxed paper and foil are kept in a handy place it will be much easier to do this little bit that is going to bring happiness to those far away.

Keep stationary in the car, in the kitchen, on your desk and bedside table and write a few lines when you have a spare minute.

★ ★ ★

Stamp and address a few envelopes ahead and keep those letters and packages in the mail.—FLO

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is for those who use a typewriter. You can neatly conceal a typing error on white bond paper.

Carefully erase the unwanted character and then rub white chalk over the erasure. I have done this for years but was always disturbed over the chalk deposit on my fingers.

It always found its way to my clothing.

Recently I hit on the idea of encircling the chalk stick with a piece of cellophane tape, starting from the end of the chalk which is held and then covering with another piece and continuing until there is just enough left for effective use.

As the chalk wears away I only need to peel off a length of tape and I am ready to conceal more errors.—MARIE

New Programs Help Women in Research

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—In a tiny studio high up in the sedate yellow and white clapboard building that houses the Radcliffe Institute for Independent Study sits Mary Chapman, mother of three, but student-like in her houndstooth jumper and red sweater.

Sipping a cup of coffee, Mary regards the slashes of color in a painting propped up on an easel, and describes the revolutionary elements that have changed her life, and which seethe inside the sedate building.

"I'll never be the same," confesses Mary.

"This is my second year at the Institute, and I wonder what I'll do without it when it's over. I'm exploring the relationship between art and architecture.

"This painting, for instance, is really a mural design, expressed differently."

As a color consultant, specializing in mural designs for architects, Mary had been working on a freelance basis before the Institute grant came her way.

Now, the grant pays for a housekeeper in her Framingham, Mass., home, so Mary can come two or three days a week to the studio, "spend every free minute studying at home, and still have the flexibility that a mother must have. Nothing is iron-clad here.

"Before I had household help, I couldn't read for one uninterrupted minute. Now I have time to read and think, and to revitalize myself.

"Painting frees me to think about new materials, new theories in color and pattern."

GRANT HOLDER

Mary is one of 35 women chosen from a horde of applicants who receive grants ranging from $500 to $3,000 annually to work on a part-time basis on a project that will mean an important contribution to knowledge.

From a separate fund comes money to support research projects in Harvard's enormous library and myriad laboratories.

★ ★ ★

Says Miss Constance E. Smith director of the Institute, "There is an enormous difference in research expenses. A writer needs practically nothing, just paper and typewriter. But a historian may require costly micro-films for his research.

"One anthropologist here needed $125 just for secretarial help in preparing her dissertation."

When the Institute was set up in 1960 as the brain child of Dr. Mary I. Bunting, Radcliffe's president, it was done to fill a gap.

HALF-TIME

As Miss Smith says, "There had been no fellowship funds for half-time research. We wondered, What would happen?"

The answer came quickly. Letters of congratulations poured in from all over the world. So did applications for the first fellowships. The Institute was on its way.

★ ★ ★

It's still churning up a storm. On Miss Smith's desk one morning were letters of inquiry from North and South Dakota, from Seymour, Iowa, and China Lake, Calif.

These were from women looking for similar enlightened part-time programs nearer home.

Unexpectedly Miss Smith found that the Methodist Church had suggested some probings into women's continuing education as a topic for circle meetings in churches across the country.

★ ★ ★

As contagious as the Institute program has been the relaxing of full-time-only rules in other institutions.

Nancy Hendrie, a young pediatrician with three children, became the first half-time resident in the history of Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston.

FOLLOW SUIT

New York Medical College now has initiated a program of part-time residencies in psychiatry for women doctors with family demands.

Comments Miss Smith, "Before these part-time residencies were available, women doctors would earn $6 or $7 a day, and then go home and pay the baby sitter $12."

★ ★ ★

Newest venture for the Institute is the compilation of a booklet called "The Next Step," which is a guide to part-time opportunities in Greater Boston for the educated woman.

Again, an international correspondence. A group in New Zealand sent Miss Smith a similar compilation. The Institute was made aware of a British version, called "Come Back," which sold 16,000 copies when it was issued.

★ ★ ★

New groups of college women, some Radcliffe alumnae, many not, are preparing similar directories in cities like Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, New York, Baltimore, San Francisco, and Detroit.

AT OU

This one is being prepared at Oakland University.

The Institute is grateful that it has helped inspire such contributions.

Family life seems to have suffered little disruption from mother's intellectual involvement.

Most women applied to the Institute, says Miss Smith, at their husbands' insistence. They themselves didn't have the confidence without male encouragement.

★ ★ ★

"Now some say they are eating more frozen food than they had in the past," Miss Smith says with a twinkle, "But all are pleased — and enormously proud of their wives."

Dr. Vilma R. Hunt, recent affiliate student at Radcliffe Institute for Independent Study, prepares to place silver disc plated with polonium collected from cigarette smoke in gas-flow proportional counter. She's part of Harvard School of Public Health team that has established what may link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

Ivy League Fad in Paris

PARIS, France (AP) — Parisian teenagers' newest fad is wearing U.S. Ivy League sweatshirts, sewing Ivy League badges on raincoats, sweater, and scarves, and carrying schoolbooks in canvas bags labeled "Harvard," etc.

★ ★ ★

The fad apparently started from a photo in a recent issue of the fashionable magazine "Elle."

Since than the black and white sweatshirts have sold briskly, even though priced at the equivalent of $5. The badges cost 50 cents and the canvas sack, $5.

Campers Plan Reunion

A reunion tea will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday for former Kingswood Day campers in the dining room of Kingswood School, Cranbrook.

Mrs. James Smith, assistant camp director, will show color slides of last year's activities.

★ ★ ★

New campers have been invited to attend. This is to give an opportunity to meet some of the girls they will be with during the summer and to acquaint them with the programs offered.

★ ★ ★

Girls, six through 12 may enroll for two, four or six week season.

Boys of the same age have a choice of four or six week periods. The camps are open from June 28 through August 6.

CLASSES

Classes available for girls will include archery, arts and crafts, tennis, canoeing, dance, music, drama and nature study.

Boys will participate in baseball, riflery, archery, tennis and arts and crafts.

Swimming in Cranbrook's Jonah Pool, under the supervision of Red Cross certified instructors, is provided for all campers.

Directors for the camps are Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Slader.

For further information and enrollment forms, call Cranbrook Institutions.

The Lyman Cowleys of Blaine Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ann to Pvt. Gary Joe Musgrave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Musgrave of Miles Street, Pontiac Township. Her fiance is stationed with the U.S. Marine Corps at 29 Palms, Calif. June vows are planned.

Grads Return to MSU Campus

More than 300 Michigan State University home economics graduates will return to the MSU campus Saturday for the 16th annual Home Economics Alumnae Day at Kellogg Center.

Dr. Ruth Useem, MSU professor of sociology is the featured speaker. Her topic will be "The Educated Woman."

Returning alumnae will also have a chance to participate in one of five group discussions: "Bread, the Staff of Life", "Creative Crafts", "Medical Genetics—Nutrition and Mental Illness", and "New Directions in the Community fo rthe Home Economist."

Jeanette Lee, Dean of the College of Home Economics will report on progress within the college over the last year.

Russians Routed Germans in Battle for Berlin 20 Years Ago

BERLIN (AP) — Twenty years ago a Russian army of 2½ million was fighting its last battle, with 41,000 pieces and 6,250 tanks.

The Battle of Berlin began April, 16, 1945 with the German capital less than 50 miles away. It took the Russians two weeks to reach the city and obtain its surrender.

★ ★ ★

The brunt of the attack in the center of a line about 100 miles long was borne by the Soviet Army's 1st Byelorussian front under Marshal Gregori K. Zhukov.

★ ★ ★

Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky led the drive of his 2nd Byelorussian Front in the north. The southern flank was the responsibility of the Isa Ukrainian Front commanded by Marshal Ivan Konev.

ARMIES DUG IN

The armies had been dug in at the Oder and Neisse rivers for two months, regrouping and gathering strength.

Konev's forces quickly broke out of the bridgehead.

Zhukov was not so fortunate. Facing the bulk of the Nazi forces gathered for defense of Berlin, his forces took about two days to smash their way out of the Kuestrin bridgehead.

While Zhukov's troops were fighting slowly straight toward Berlin, Konev swung two tank armies to the northwest.

LAST RESERVES

The Germans had thrown in their last reserves, old men of 60 and young boys of 16 fought alongside battle-hardened Wehrmacht and SS troops.

But the Russian streamroller was moving and the Nazis retreated, died or surrendered.

★ ★ ★

By nightfall of April 24, the Zhukov and Konev armies had closed the ring around the city.

Inside Berlin, about 200,000 German troops had taken position. Men, women and children were driven furiously to build roadblocks and gun positions. The city had been largely destroyed by five years of Allied air attacks.

BROAD FRONT

On April 25, Soviet infantrymen were swarming through the periphery and then set off to advance along a broad front along the Teltow Canal toward city center.

One by one houses were stormed, blown apart or set afire with flamethrowers.

In his bunker behind the Reich Chancellory, Adolf Hitler directed his last stand.

His last appearance above ground probably was April 28 when he decorated a group of Hitler Youths while Russian shells were screaming overhead.

FRESH ARMY

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, the Nazis' chief propagandist, had soldiers and civilians alike believing that a fresh army was heading toward the city from the west.

★ ★ ★

That army never existed.

Commandos of the SS roamed parts of the city not yet captured and shot or hanged German soldiers who had deserted.

★ ★ ★

In an effort to prevent Soviet patrols from penetrating the center of Berlin through the subway, SS troopers flooded the tunnels. Thousands of women and children sheltering there were drowned.

LONE SOLDIER

A lone soldier found hiding among civilians in a cellar meant in many cases the death of everyone there.

"Through most of the battle we sat in the cellar," Margarete Abmeyer recalls. "One day, a 12-year-old boy showed up with a rifle to defend us. Someone down there who still kept his head took the boy's rifle and that certainly saved many lives."

★ ★ ★

On April 30, Hitler shot himself. His wife of a few days and mistress of many years, Eva Braun, swallowed cyanide.

SS fanatics poured gasoline over the bodies and set them afire. While flames licked the bodies, the first Soviet infantrymen were firing submachine guns into the Chancellory garden.

RUSSIANS CELEBRATED

The next day was May 1, the holiday of Socialist labor. On the outskirts of the city the Russians celebrated with orgies of looting and rape.

On May 2 Berlin capitulated. German soldiers who survived began their trek into the Russian prison camps.

★ ★ ★

The victors embarked upon an orgy that has been called the rape of Berlin.

Eva-Marie Rossmanith, who experienced that day as a 22-year-old, hiding in a cellar, says: "Drunken Russians lumbered down to us. We have to open all luggage. They threw out everything and took whatever struck their fancy.

"Suddenly there was a scream. Two more Russians arrived. They were blind drunk. They chased all men into the street but some did not want to be separated from their wives.

"A Russian smashed his rifle into one man. The other Russian leveled his rifle at the man. We were on our knees and begged him not to shoot. He only grinned and pulled the trigger.

BULLET HIT

"The bullet smashed into the wall. A third Russian came down and chased his comrades out of the cellar."

No female from 12 to 80 was safe.

It took several days.

Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky has called the battle of Berlin the "bloodiest of the entire war."

Casualty estimates vary but 100,000 dead may be a conservative figure.

LITTLE DOUBT

There is little doubt today the Western Allies could have reached the Reich capital ahead of the Russians.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said it was the belief at the time that the capital was no longer of military value and that the U.S. forces should concentrate their attack to the south, where the Nazis were thought to be putting up their last stand in a "national redoubt." As it turned out, this was a myth.

★ ★ ★

Today, the city has been largely restored but a new battle of nerves is being fought.

The British, Americans and French occupied half of the city by agreement with the Russians.

★ ★ ★

For many years the Russians have been trying to grab control of the entire city, but both sides have been cautious not to let the situation erupt into a shooting war.

HONEY PINE COMPOTE — Here is a dish you can serve as dessert, a first course or for brunch. Canned pineapple, fresh grapefruit and slices of pale green avocado are blended in a smooth honey flavored syrup.

Mix 3 Fruits in Honey Syrup

Exotic Avocado, Hawaiian bred Pineapple, and glorious Grapefruit join delectable Honey for a new adventure en compote. The result is the most fantastic display of flavor gathered together in some time.

* * *

Avocado, recently entering this country from the tropics, has been hailed as the smoothest fruit in the business and has gained recognition as a great contributor to salads and fruit mixtures.

Long remembered for their fine performances in fruit creations are chunky Pineapple and tangy Grapefruit.

Honey has previously starred in many fruit spectaculars, contributing essence, flavor and fragrance in all roles.

Honey Pine Compote

2 cups drained pineapple chunks (No. 2 or 1 lb., 4½ oz. can)
1 grapefruit, peeled and sectioned
1 avocado, peeled and sliced
¼ cup pineapple syrup
¼ cup honey
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Drain pineapple and reserve ¼ cup syrup. Arrange grapefruit, avocado, and pineapple in a serving bowl.

Blend together the pineapple syrup, honey and lemon juice. Spoon over fruits and serve. Makes 4-6 servings.

REPLACES COOKY — Steamed Chinese Sponge Cakes shown with an authentic Oriental steamer. Cakes can be steamed on a rack in an ordinary kettle. Although the Chinese serve the cakes plain, they are especially good with a raspberry sauce.

Chinese Sponge Cake Contains No Flour

In most Chinese restaurants, dessert is almost always limited to a choice between an almond cooky or a serving of kumquats.

* * *

Occasionally, however, an exceptionally good Chinese restaurant will include Chinese Sponge Cake among the dessert choices, a treat that should never be overlooked.

Chinese sponge cake is delicately tender and moist. It is steamed rather than baked and served without benefit of frosting or sauce.

For dessert following your own Chinese dinners at home, follow recipe given here, developed in the Argo corn starch kitchens at Best Foods.

For those who can't conceive of eating cake plain, there is a recipe for a lovely, though not Oriental, raspberry sauce.

Steamed Chinese Sponge Cake

⅔ cup sifted corn starch
½ cup sifted confectioners sugar
3 egg whites
2 tablespoons water
⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup confectioners sugar
3 egg yolks
½ teaspoon vanilla

Sift corn starch and ½ cup confectioners sugar together 3 times, set aside.

Beat egg whites, water and cream of tartar in large bowl until mixture forms soft peaks when beater is raised. Gradually beat in remaining ½ cup confectioners sugar, beating until mixture forms stiff peaks. Beat in egg yolks and vanilla.

Fold in corn starch-sugar mixture a little at a time. Turn batter into ungreased deep 2-quart mold or into ungreased individual molds, filling molds two-thirds full. Cover tightly with aluminum foil.

Place rack or trivet in bottom of large pot. Pour in water to level of rack, bring water to boil. Set covered mold or molds on rack. Cover pot tightly. Bring water to boil again, then reduce heat to point where water will boil slowly.

Steam 45 minutes, adding more boiling water during steaming, if necessary. Remove molds and unmold while warm. Serve warm or cool, with or without sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Raspberry Sauce

2 teaspoons corn starch
1 tablespoon water
½ cup light corn syrup
½ cup currant jelly
1 cup frozen (thawed) raspberries or strawberries

Combine ingredients in order given in small saucepan. Mix thoroughly. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a full boil. Boil 1 to 2 minutes or until somewhat thickened and clear. Remove from heat. Strain. Cool slightly. Makes 1¾ cups.

Sugar-Oats Mixture Has Varied Uses

Crunchy topping for sundaes, puddings and coffee cakes can be made easily and kept on hand in the refrigerator for use as needed.

To make 4 cups, mix until crumbly 3 cups of rolled oats, uncooked, 1 cup of firmly-packed brown sugar and ⅔ cup of melted butter. Heat in shallow pan in preheated 350-degree oven for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Cool 15 minutes, then toss lightly with fork to form crumbs. Refrigerate in covered container. Stir with fork before using.

To use with coffee cake mix, prepare the mix as label directs, but sprinkle cinnamon mix topping that comes with the cake mix on top of the batter.

Swirl it into batter lightly with a spatula and sprinkle top of batter ½ cup of home-made crunchy topping. Bake as label directs.

A tablespoon of prepared coffee added to gravy will give it a rich brown color yet leave no coffee taste.

Smooth Sauce Tops Open Sandwich

Signs of spring are everywhere — in the country where robins flutter among tulips, hyacinths and sweet-smelling lilacs; in the city where flowered hats brighten grim streets; in the kitchen where crisp fresh vegetables and tender meats wait to be served.

Homemakers who plan a typical spring meal of roast leg of lamb with all the trimmings will want to know about ways to use the leftover meat.

One elegant suggestion is Lamb Slices with Sauce Carnation. This tasty dish combines the meat with cauliflower flowerets on hamburger bun halves. Then a hot creamy hollandaise-type sauce is spooned over the meat-and-vegetable sandwich.

The smooth, lump-free sauce is easily made with egg yolks, chopped chives and velvetized evaporated milk.

A modern-day convenience product, nutritious evaporated milk is a much better cooking ingredient than any other form of milk. It makes sauces smoother, meat loaves juicier, casseroles creamier.

And you can always keep a supply handy, for unopened cans of evaporated milk will stay fresh on your cupboard shelf indefinitely.

Lamb Slices With Sauce Carnation

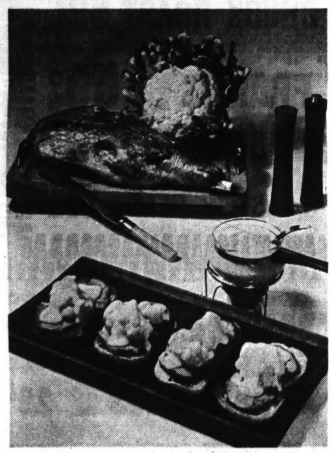

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon chopped chives
6 hamburger buns, split
Sliced roast lamb
Cooked cauliflower flowerets
6 pimiento strips (optional)

* * *

Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in the saucepan over medium heat. Add flour, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth. Slowly add evaporated milk, stirring constantly until thickened.

Remove from heat. Slowly stir small amount of the hot sauce into egg yolks. Blend egg yolk mixture into remaining sauce; continue cooking and stirring over medium heat until thickened. Stir in remaining butter, lemon juice and chives.

Top each split hamburger bun with lamb, cauliflower and Carnation sauce. Garnish with pimiento strips.

SAUCE CARNATION — What to do with leftovers sometime is as perplexing a problem as deciding what to serve for Sunday dinner. One suggestion for using up leftovers is Lamb Slices with Sauce Carnation. It is a wonderful finish to a typical spring meal of roast leg of lamb. The creamy sauce is made with velvetized evaporated milk.

Blend Fruit and Cake

Canned fruit cocktail with its radiant assortment of cling peaches, pears, pineapple, seedless green grapes and maraschino cherries dresses up "Nectar-Sauced Fruit Pudding" to make it a mightly stylish dessert.

The recipe doesn't call for the syrup in the can of fruit cocktail, so simply store the syrup in the refrigerator and use it as part of the liquid next time you make a gelatin dessert or salad.

Nectar-Sauced Fruit Pudding

1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) fruit cocktail
1 quart day-old sponge cake pieces
½ pint whipping cream
6 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 can (12 oz.) apricot nectar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teastoon salt
1 tablespoon Sherry wine (optional)

Drain fruit cocktail; combine with cake in large bowl.

Whip cream with sugar and vanilla until stiff. Fold into fruit mixture. Chill.

Blend apricot nectar and cornstarch in saucepan. Cook, stirring, until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Stir in lemon juice, salt and Sherry. Cool.

Spoon fruit mixture into serving dishes. Serve with apricot sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Heat Helps

To remove ice cream from a plastic container, dip the container into very hot water for a few seconds; use a thin-blade knife to loosen the ice cream from the sides of container and then turn out.

Panbroiling Is Done in Heavy Skillet

The same tender cuts of meat suitable for broiling when cut an inch thick or less may be panbroiled. Use a heavy frying-pan or a griddle. You need not preheat. Be certain neither to add water nor to cover — it will no longer be panbroiling!

* * *

Pour the drippings off as they accumulate. If you permit them to collect, it will be panfrying. Cook, turning occasionally, until meat is done.

Potted Shrimp Is Served on Crackers, Toast

Canned shrimp make short work of a spicy New Orleans version of the popular English appetizer, potted shrimp.

* * *

Drain and rinse 2 (4½ ounce) cans of shrimp. Add shrimp, 1 teaspoon of ground mace, ½ teaspoon of white pepper and ¼ teaspoon of cayenne to ½ stick of butter, melted in a skillet.

*

Saute over medium heat one or two minutes, and turn into serving dish.

Clarify 1½ sticks of butter by heating it in a saucepan over very low heat until butter foams. Quickly skim off and discard foam with a large spoon.

Pour the clear butter over the shrimp. Refrigerate long enough for butter to solidify.

* * *

Serve chilled, as a spread for toast fingers or triangles, crackers, or melba toast. Makes about 2 cups.

With Wine

Brown Betty Given Glamour

Popular Apple Betty has a newly dressed-up version this year. The same wonderful spices season the apples and bread cubes, but a light and fragrant white dinner wine is the liquid that cooks the apples tender. A Sauterne or Chablis from California has just the right fruitiness to enhance this apple dessert.

While the pudding cooks, the alcohol in the wine is completely vaporized leaving only its light, sophisticated flavor.

An especially lovely touch is a topping of cream or vanilla ice cream over the warm pudding. Finally, accent the entire dessert service with glasses of one of the sweet dessert wines abundantly produced in California.

A sweet or Cream Sherry, sweet Sauterne or one of the Muscats such as Muscat de Frontignan would be a pleasant complement.

California Apple Brown Betty

1 quart sliced cooking apples (packed)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup light brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 cups soft bread cubes . . . (2- or 3-day-old bread)
⅓ to ½ cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
3 tablespoons butter

* * *

Sprinkle apples with lemon juice. Mix together brown sugar spices, salt and lemon rind. Arrange half of apples in bottom of a buttered 8-inch square pan. Cover with half the bread cubes, then half sugar mixture. Repeat layers.

Heat wine and butter until butter melts; pour over apples in baking pan. (Use larger amount of wine if bread is quite dry.) Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 minutes or until apples are nearly tender.

Remove cover and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes longer to lightly brown top. Serve warm with cream or ice cream.

TUNA-SPAGHETTI DINNER — Look at the new way to serve spaghetti. After cooking, it is blended with cheese, molded in custard cups and briefly baked. The sauce gets a quick start from the mixture in a can.

Spaghetti Molds Circle Tuna and Corn Mixture

Meatless meals call for imaginative ideas and new twists to long known and liked products. Here's a unique idea using a packaged complete spaghetti dinner.

★ ★ ★

Cook up the spaghetti and bake as individual cheese-flavored molds. Serve them with a tuna spaghetti mushroom sauce.

Since the spaghetti mushroom sauce is canned and chef seasoned, it just takes a few minutes to add the tuna and canned corn to the sauce and heat thoroughly.

It's a hearty and satisfying luncheon or supper dish.

Served with green beans laced with red pimento strips and an orange and avocado salad, it makes a delicious menu. If you like dessert, finish the meal with spice cake and coffee.

Tuna Spaghetti Dinner

1 pkg. complete spaghetti dinner with mushrooms
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 (6½-7-oz.) can tuna
⅓ cup canned whole corn
2 tablespoons canned corn liquid
2 tablespoons sliced black olives

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Open package and remove contents. Cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain well.

★ ★ ★

Return to pan and add butter and grated cheese from package. Mix well. Divide mixture between 8, five-ounce custard cups. Place cups on a baking sheet and bake for 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, mix together the can of spaghetti mushroom sauce, tuna and oil, corn, corn liquid, and olives. Heat thoroughly.

When spaghetti is baked, remove from oven. Let stand 2 minutes. Unmold and serve with sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Potato Chips Form Shells for Leftovers

Every homemaker sooner or later is faced with the challenge of what to do with leftovers.

★ ★ ★

This recipe meets the challenge head on and makes that leftover whether it is pork, chicken, fish or turkey into a delightful meal for everyone.

LEFTOVER SUPREME-

The Shells

Coarsely crush two cups of potato chips. Stir in 2 beaten "room temperature" eggs. Form into cup-shaped shell in a jello mold. Bake until done, about 10 minutes at 350 degrees.

The Leftovers

Cut leftovers in small pieces and stir in a can of mushroom soup. Simmer until heated through.

★ ★ ★

Then fill shell with leftovers and serve with assurance that seconds will be needed.

Blue Cheese Rates High in Flavor

Crumbled blue cheese adds extra flavor and protein to meatless fare. Try adding it to macaroni and cheese casserole, to tuna fish and noodles, to salad dressings and scrambled eggs.

★ ★ ★

Crumble blue cheese on thick tomato slices and broil them until cheese begins to melt, or crumble it onto bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwiches.

Use Can of Shrimp for Creamy Bisque

Creamy shrimp bisque is easy to make.

Drain and rinse 1 (4½ ounce) can of shrimp. Chop finely. Melt 3 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan.

Saute 2 tablespoons of minced celery tops and 1 tablespoon of grated onion for 2 minutes in 3 tablespoons of butter melted in a saucepan. Add shrimp and cook 1 minute more.

Blend in 2 tablespoons of flour. Gradually add ½ cup of hot water and 3 cups of milk. Add 1 teaspoon of salt, ⅛ teaspoon of white pepper and a dash of nutmeg.

Bring to boil. Remove from heat. Stir in 2 tablespoons of dry sherry. Makes 5 servings.

Use Up Those Hard-Cooked Eggs

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If your refrigerator is still stacked with rainbow colored eggs, you may welcome a few new recipes for them.

★ ★ ★

If there's a bit of the Easter ham left, chop or grind it, chop up some eggs and put both into a casserole with your favorite cream soup.

Top with buttered crumbs, canned French fried onion rings or crushed potato chips. Heat in 350 degree oven about 25-30 minutes.

Do you like deviled eggs? Make them just a bit different by mixing the yolks with deviled ham or the new chicken spread.

Or mold regular deviled eggs in lemon or lime gelatine or tomato aspic.

For a hearty luncheon sandwich, cover slices of toast with luncheon meat, hard cooked eggs and a cheese sauce. Heat or broil until piping hot.

Here are two recipes from the USDA. They're always helpful in suggesting ways to use surplus foods. This week, it's sure to be eggs in lots of homes.

Egg-Filled Purses

Roll pie crust about ⅛-inch thick. Cut into 4-inch squares. Place a hard-cooked egg in the center of each square and add about ¼ cup undiluted cream of mushroom soup.

★ ★ ★

Bring corners of squares together, crimp edges closed, and fold the top "over" so the crust will resemble a purse. Place on greased baking sheet.

Bake in hot oven about 10 minutes then reduce heat and continue cooking until thoroughly heated.

Serve piping hot with cream of mushroom sauce, and diced pimiento garnish. If desired, the eggs may be sliced and ham cubes added to the sauce.

★ ★ ★

Egg Loaf Salad

18 hard-cooked eggs
¼ pound butter
1 small onion, grated
Finely chopped parsley
Salt and pepper

Separate yolks from whites. Mash yolks and mix in softened butter, onion, parsley and seasonings to taste. Cut whites into small slivers and mix with yolk mixture, just enough to combine.

Pack into loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Chill. Slice and serve on bed of shredded lettuce with chopped ripe olive garnish. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

A more complicated recipe for using half a dozen of your Easter eggs is the following recipe. Eggs in the Florentine manner are prepared with a cheese sauce mix.

★ ★ ★

Egg Surprise

6 hard-cooked eggs, halved crosswise
1 can (2¼ oz.) deviled ham
½ teaspoon onion salt
3 teaspoons prepared yellow mustard
1 tablespoon milk
1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
2 tablespoons soft butter
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1½ cups cooked rice
1 envelope (1⅜ oz.) cheese sauce mix
1 cup milk
Paprika

Remove yolks from egg halves; and force them through a coarse sieve. Add the deviled ham, ¼ teaspoon onion salt, 2 teaspoons mustard and the tablespoon milk. Mix well. Stuff egg whites with mixture, mounding the filling high.

Meanwhile cook spinach; drain thoroughly. Mix spinach with butter, lemon juice, rice and remaining onion salt.

Spoon mixture into four individual casseroles. Top each with 3 stuffed eggs, stuffed side down.

Prepare cheese sauce mix as envelope directs using the cup of milk. Add remaining teaspoon of mustard. Spoon sauce over eggs. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake in a 350 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes or just long enough for sauce to bubble. Makes 4 servings.

Veal Kidneys Are Sauteed With Wine

Make sure veal kidneys are super fresh.

Veal Kidneys on Toast

2 large veal kidneys
2 tablespoons salad oil
1¼ cups thin onion strips
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons dry white vermouth

★ ★ ★

Remove outer membranes from kidneys; split in half; with a small sharp knife or a kitchen scissors cut out the white core and fat. Wash in cold water and drain; slice into ½ inch thick pieces.

Heat the oil in a 10-inch skillet; add onion and cook until golden. Add kidneys and salt and pepper to taste; cook and stir over moderately low heat for a few minutes. Add the vermouth, cover and cook gently for 5 to 8 minutes.

Kidneys should still be slightly pink inside when done. Serve at once on toast.

Fruit and Macaroni Join Cheese in Salad

Roquefort cheese and canned fruit cocktail combine with elbow macaroni to make an unusual meatless salad.

Cook 2 cups (8 ounces) of elbow macaroni as label directs. Drain and rinse with cold water; drain again.

★ ★ ★

Toss macaroni with 1 (1 pound 1 ounce) can of fruit cocktail, drained, ½ cup of dairy sour cream, and 1 (1¼ ounce) package of roquefort cheese, crumbled. Chill.

Serve on crisp lettuce leaves. Makes 4 servings.

The First World War

And All for Nothing—Gallipoli: 21

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Illustrated By John Lane

After the Allied navy failed to force a passage of the Dardanelles on March 18, the Allied armies were called upon to attack the other side of the Gallipoli Peninsula. Soldiers from Africa, India and the British Isles arrived at Alexandria for training.

Most numerous were husky, green troops who gave war's glossary a new word: ANZAC, the initials of the Australian, New Zealand Army Corps.

Symbolic perhaps of the young men who were assembling in Egypt was the handsome romantic poet, Rupert Brooke, who had written:

If I should die, think only this of me:

That there's some corner of a foreign field That is forever England.

These lines were prophetic. Brooke never reached Gallipoli, and his "corner of a foreign field" was on the island of Skyros where he died on April 23 from blood poisoning brought on by a minor infection.

GREAT INVASION

Two days later the great invasion began. To us it may seem badly thought out and poorly prepared, yet it foreshadowed some of the tactics of the Second World War.

An officer swam ashore to place flares on the target position; then at dawn, an old collier with exit holes cut in her sides ran in close to discharge landing troops.

While battleships hurled shells at the Turkish positions, thousands of Allied soldiers hit the beach at more than half a dozen places.

A German general was in charge of the defense, but a then-unknown Turkish officer named Mustafa Kemal was the effective director of operations. He was to become president of his country eight years later.

FIGHT UPHILL

Since the invaders had to fight uphill, they were at a disadvantage.

They managed to entrench themselves, but the first day's action, which might have been decisive because there was little opposition then, soon petered out when shovels replaced rifles.

A long series of attacks and counterattacks took place as each side won ground and then lost it.

★ ★ ★

By May 13, the situation for the Allies had deteriorated badly, and they were running out of ammunition, especially for artillery.

ASSAULT REPULSED

A massive Turkish assault on May 18 was replsed, but with 10,000 casualties.

On May 26, when Winston Churchill, who had sponsored the campaign, was removed as first lord of the admiralty, it was evident that Gallipoli was losing favor in London.

But the troops had to remain here all summer while smaller encounters took their daily toll.

★ ★ ★

A few British soldiers went swimming in the warm waters but Gallipoli was no picnic. Not only Turkish bullets but dysentery disabled men by the thousands. Some died and were buried on the barren hills.

EVACUATION

In November, Lord Kitchener arrived to evaluate the possibilities and make recommendations to the cabinet. After several days of inspection, he decided on evacuation.

Winter was coming on, and it began with a blizzard that killed men in the trenches.

Elaborate plans were made to get all the able bodied troops and the sick and wounded off the peninsula with as little loss as possible.

Horses which could not be removed were slaughtered, and tons of ammunition were dumped into the sea. The withdrawal went on all through December and early January.

It was so brilliantly carried out that there were no real casualties. Only the men buried on the lonely hills were left behind, and they were beyond caring that they had died for nothing.

CMU Probe Gains School Cooperation

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Edward Robinson's investigation of faculty-administration relationships at Central Michigan University will begin early next month with full cooperation of the school, the Dearborn Democrat said Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Robinson talked with CMU President Judson Foust Tuesday night and received the assurance of cooperation and access to records, the senator said.

The Senate named the rest of the investigation committee — Democrats Jan VanderPloeg, North Muskegon, and Roger Craig, Dearborn, and Republicans Guy VanderJagt Cadillac, and S. Don Potter, Lansing.

Robinson asked for the probe after hearing faculty grievances during a tour of CMU in January.

DISCOVERED MURDERS — Mrs. Louis Boyer of Mishawaka, Ind., is accompanied by Police Sgt. John Pajor as she leaves the home of Mrs. Edward Hanbey in South Bend where four Hanbey children were found murdered. Mrs. Hanbey was found in the home with self-inflicted cuts to the wrists and heels. Mrs. Boyer discovered the murders when she went to investigate after a phone conversation with Mrs. Hanbey.

Kin Suspected of Murder in 4 Cases; Death Toll 25

By United Press International

Four children strangled in Indiana.

A mother and four children shot to death in New Hampshire.

Seven children and their mother killed in a New Jersey auto wreck.

The wife and seven children of a Canadian policeman shot dead in their home in British Columbia.

★ ★ ★

The deaths total 25—22 of them children.

LEGAL TERM

Police said today all the deaths were suspected parricides, a seldom-heard legal term which means killing of a close relative.

Authorities in South Bend, Ind., planned to file murder charges today against Mrs. Diana Hanbey, 28, a housewife who admitted strangling her four little children Tuesday and then trying to kill herself with a razor blade.

John T. Sargent, 32, an ex-Marine, was charged with shooting his wife and four children—the oldest 9—at their poultry farm near New London, N.H. Sargent called a minister and confessed killing his family yesterday with single rifle shots in the back.

★ ★ ★

Homicide detectives said they would question Arthur Sherod, 37, an unemployed laborer, about the auto wreck in which his wife and seven of their nine children were killed at Newark, N.J., Tuesday night. Witnesses said Sherod raged at his wife, forced his family into their new car at knifepoint and said, "Im going to kil the whole family."

SURVIVING CHILDREN

Sherod and his two surviving children were in serious condition at a Newark hospital. Detectives said they would question him as soon as he was able to talk.

Royal Canadian mounted police in Vancouver said Leonard R. Hogue, 31, a policeman suspected of participating in a $1.2-million theft, killed his wife, their six children and himself with a revolver. Officers said three of the children were gunned down as they apparently tried to flee.

Mrs. Hanbey was described as "pleasant" and "good natured" by friends in the same uppermiddle class neighborhood in South Bend. Her husband, Edward Hanbey, 30, said his wife was a "worrier."

★ ★ ★

A prosecutor indicated Mrs. Hanbey might be sent to a mental hospital for examination when she recovers from her razor wounds, which were not serious. Her children, strangled with a stocking and a necktie, included 2-year-old twins, a 7-year-old and a 6-year-old.

SHOWED BODIES

Sargent, clean shaven and dressed up in a suit and tie, showed the Rev. Richard Bowser and police the bodies of his wife, Janet, 30, and their four children, the youngest 3. Three bodies were in the basement of their farm home.

The Sherod car, bought the day before the wreck, careened across four highway lanes and rammed a big truck a few minutes after the father allegedly forced his family into the car after driving them to a restaurant where his wife, Anna Dora, 37, worked as a waitress.

★ ★ ★

A Vancouver policeman who found the bodies of the Hogue family said the house was a "horrible mess." One of the fleeing children hid in a closet but was stalked down and killed by his father, police said.

FBI Spy Said Quiet, Secretive

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Residents of 24th Street in North Birmingham knew Gary Thomas Rowe Jr. as a "quiet, secretive" neighbor.

★ ★ ★

They were surprised, but not shocked, to learn yesterday that he was an FBI undercoverman in the KuKlux Klan.

"Being an FBI man would suit him," said Mrs. R. C. Brenson, who lived across the street from Rowe for nearly 10 years. "Tommy always has been very secretive."

Revelation of Rowe's undercover activities was the second recent surprise for his neighbors.

★ ★ ★

About three weeks ago, President Johnson announced on national television that Rowe was one of four klansmen arrested in the night-rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo on a highway near Lowndesboro, Ala.

NOT INDICTED

Rowe, however, was not indicted by a federal grand jury which charged the other three men with violating the civil rights of Mrs. Liuzzo, 38, a white civil rights worker from Detroit.

A high official source said Rowe was in the car with the night riders when Mrs. Liuzzo was slain, but said he couldn't prevent the killing "without endangering his own life."

Rowe, 31, allegedly went to work for the FBI about six years ago, about four years after he moved into his present neighborhood with his wife, Dorothy, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Rowe Sr.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Brenson said Rowe, a native of Savannah, Ga., changed jobs at least three times after becoming her neighbor. She said he quit a job with a meat-packing firm after he suffered several frozen toes, and went to work in a dairy plant.

ON DOCTOR'S ORDERS

He contracted pneumonia a year ago and quit the dairy plant job ond octor's orders, she said. He later worked as a bartender, but at the time of his arrest she said he was unemployed.

Rowe, a five-foot, eight-inch redhead, also experienced domestic trouble. He and his wife, a nurse in a Birmingham hospital, split up after the birth of their fourth child about four months ago.

Rowe told officers he was divorced, but a neighbor said he believes the couple is separated rather than divorced.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rowe, her four children, and Rowe's parents went into seclusion yesterday at a place presumably known only to their pastor and the FBI. Rowe was reported in the protective custody of the FBI.

★ ★ ★

The Rowes attended Calvary Baptist Church, which still lists Rowe as a member although he hasn't been in the church for six years.

"He got his feelings hurt and stopped going," said Mrs. Brenson, but neither she nor church officials could recall what caused the breach.

It was during this period that Rowe went to work for the FBI.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Brenson said Rowe "didn't seem the type" to be a Klansman. She said she doesn't remember him ever discussing the race issue. She said he was polite but nontalkative.

GARY T. ROWE JR.

Officials Given Homework

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Mayor Harry Wilklow Jr., a high-school civics teacher by profession, has given Battle Creek's city commission a homework assignment.

★ ★ ★

Wilklow, elected mayor only a week ago, asked the commissioners yesterday to write a day-by-day report on the work of each city department. He told them to be sure to include some of the lesser-known services.

★ ★ ★

Wilklow said the homework would serve to inform the commission, would give recognition to the departments and would improve the image of the commission with the public.

★ ★ ★

The reports are scheduled to be given orally, starting May 4.

Waterford Twp. Man Found Dead in Garage

The body of Edwin LeRoy Lamberton, 50, of 4793 Kempf, Waterford Township, was found yesterday in his car parked in the garage.

★ ★ ★

Assistant Oakland County Coroner Dr. L. G. Rowley said that death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Girl, 18, Found Fatally Beaten

LITTLE COMPTON, R. I. (AP)—The body of an 18-year-old girl, the daughter of a prominent Rhode Island family, was found early today near the home of State. Sen. and Mrs. Maxwell C. Huntoon where she had been baby-sitting.

Police identified the girl as Anne Brownell of Little Compton and said she apparently was bludgeoned to death.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Brownell. Brownell is a member of one of the state's oldest families and widely known as a grower of roses.

Miss Brownell's body was found after the Republican senator and his wife returned home about midnight and reported her missing. She had been baby-sitting for the senator's three grandchildren, an eight-year-old boy and two younger children who apparently were unharmed.

State Police said a large pool of blood was found in the driveway, leading them to believe the girl was slain in the house and her body dragged to a car.

'Red Missiles in Cyprus'

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A first shipment of several hundred Russian antiaircraft missiles arrived in Cyprus via Egypt a "few days ago," the top-circulation Greek Cypriot newspaper Mahi claimed today.

★ ★ ★

Mahi said the missiles were unloaded at night at Port Limassol and were "transported to a safe place."

Ten days ago President Makarios admitted publicly for the first time that he had purchased a number of Soviet antiaircraft missiles.

He declined to say whether any had arrived on the island, claiming he did not want to reveal a military secret.

★ ★ ★

The Turkish government objected and threatened to intervene militarily on the island to restore the balance of power as soon as the missiles were installed.

U.S. PRESSURE

Reliable reports circulating in Nicosia said the Greek government prevented the first shipment of missiles from reaching Cyprus last month as result of U.S. diplomatic pressure.

The same reports said President Makarios had appealed to President Gamal Abdel Nasser for the temporary loan of Egyptian rocket personnel to man the missiles in Cyprus because the Greek government had reneged on a promise to send Greek technicians.

Makarios has stated repeatedly that he was determined to acquire and install the missiles. He says Cyprus has every right to take all necessary defensive measures in the face of "constant Turkish threats and air attacks."

★ ★ ★

Mahi said the missiles were brought to Cyprus by a "Greek-Egyptian" ship.

SHIP BUZZED

The paper charged that the ship was buzzed by American jet fighters between Egypt and Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

It also claimed a warship of the U. S. 6th Fleet steamed round the ship in circles "in a most provocative manner, ramming it in several places with a danger of creating cracks."

★ ★ ★

The crew of the ship were so terrified by this that four men decided to return to Egypt on a different ship, the paper said.

Puerto Rican Rebel Is Dead

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Pedro Albizu Campos, leader of two vest-pocket rebellions for Puerto Rico's independence and a plot to kill president Harry S. Truman in 1950, died yesterday of pneumonia and complications. He was 73.

After 14 years' imprisonment, Albizu was pardoned last November by Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. He was unable to walk or talk as the result of a stroke in 1956.

His Peruvian-born wife, Laura Meneses de Albizu, a Cuban delegate to the United Nations, was given a visa to enter Puerto Rico and was at his bedside, along with his daughter, Laura Albizu de Meneses, who lives in Peru.

Albizu's hatred of the United States stemmed from World War I when, a graduate of Harvard University and a lieutenant in the U.S. Army, he was put in a Negro regiment.

Convicted of insurrection, he served six years in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta. He was paroled in 1943.

'Yellow Journalism Is Dead'

Newspapers Aid Justice and Fair Trial

Editor's Note — This is the second of two articles on the subject: Free Press and Fair trial.)

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI) — An upsurge of restrictive measures against press coverage of criminal proceedings has brought about a sometimes heated debate between representatives of the law and the press.

At issue is the fundamental right of a free press, serving the people's right to know, versus the equally fundamental right of fair trial by an impartial jury.

In some states, efforts already have begun to limit crime news reporting and pretrial publicity and in others such action has been proposed or is under discussion.

One of the more eloquent press spokesmen in answering these actions is Vincent S. Jones, executive editor, Gannett Newspapers, who told a law school alumni gathering:

"We have a responsible press in America today. Yellow journalism is very dead indeed. There is much loose talk about editors reaching for sensational stories to sell newspapers. That isn't the way most newspapers are sold today. They are sold on their total content, of which crime news is a small part.

* * *

"In 1962 2 million crimes were reported in the United States and there were 4 million arrests. Only 8 per cent of criminal cases go before juries and most of these trials get scant coverage. In a two-year period there were 51 appeals on grounds of prejudicial pretrial coverage, but on three rever sals . . . .

MORE OBJECTIVE

"I wonder if you have considered this unpalatable proposition: Newsmen, by training and daily practice, may be more objective than you lawyers, who are so passionately devoted to presenting just one side . . .

"We do have a responsible press. With all its faults it is the best press in the world, and the fairest. I submit that you ought to be making better and more constructive use of newspapers and broadcasting instead of trying to slam the doors of the courthouse in our faces."

A dramatic case of the press in action in pretrial publicity is that of George Whitmore Jr., a slow-witted youth arrested in the sadistic knife murders of two Manhattan career girls. Police detailed his alleged confession. The press trumpeted it.

* * *

Then reporters began digging. They found witnesses who could place Whitmore far from the crime scene. Their inquiries led to the prosecutor's admission that a photograph found on Whitmore was not that of one of the victims nor traceable to her apartment. The publicity stirred especially thorough investigations by both press and police.

NEW SUSPECT

A new suspect was arrested and the charges against Whitmore dropped. An assistant district attorney said: "If this case hadn't got the tremendous publicity . . . Whitmore might well have been slipped into the electric chair and been killed for something he didn't do."

Publicity also helped get experienced defense counsel. Stanley J. Reiben, chief defense counsel, said he originally declined to accept the case when urged by two young lawyers to do so — but changed his mind when a reporter from the New York World-Telegram came to him with the information discrediting the photograph.

In assessing the case, the Wall Street Journal said: ". . .whoever concocted the fictitious confession, it was not the newspapers. They only related an account given on authority both high and, in claiming airtight cases, usually reliable."

* * *

The American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE) is compiling a series of case histories on how the press serves and forwards the cause of justice and fair trial.

6-MONTH ORDEAL

From Washington comes the story of the six-month ordeal in 1950 of Robert Snead Williams, an estimator for a lumber firm who happened to be driving by when two girls were informing a policeman they had been subjected to indecent exposure. They pointed out Williams as the offender.

Williams' lawyers tried to arrange a secret trial to save him from embarrassment. The judge cleared the courtroom but when reporters protested he told them they could return "as a matter of right."

The trial was a page-one story. Williams, a man with a spotless record, insisted it was a case of mistaken identity. The girls stuck to their story that he was the one.

Williams was found guilty. The judge delayed sentence pending receipt of a probation report. The trial publicity then paid off. A man in Chevy Chase had been suffering conscience torment reading of the trial. He wrote two letters to the prosecutor and then visited him to confess he was the offender.

The charge against Williams was thrown out. Williams was now eager to talk to reporters. He acknowledged the publicity had caused the letter writer to clear him.

In New York, Gregory Cruz, 22, a clerk, was shot three times by a detective as a murder suspect. He was charged with felonious assault on a detective and resisting an officer — but never with murder. He was in a hospital three months, and investigating reporters began probing behind police reports.

They found four witnesses who confirmed Cruz' story that he was stopped, searched, and beaten by the plainclothes detective, who showed no identification. Cruz said he ran because he thought the man was a robber.

The reporters turned over the facts. A grand jury dropped charges. Departmental proceedings are under way in the case of the detective.

In Chicago, the Sun-Times reported that vigorous investigative work over 20 years had produced, among other results:

● Freeing of a man convicted of murder after the paper showed conviction was based on false testimony.

● Conviction of a state's attorney's policeman, whose family had political connections, for a wanton killing of two youths. The case was reopened after the original grand jury failed to indict.

● Closing of eight "untouchable" B-girl clip joints that fed profits to criminals but couldn't be shut down because police-raid evidence was consistently quashed in court.

French Election Race to Start

Big Question Is Still: Will De Gaulle Run?

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle will officially open the French presidential campaign next Tuesday when he makes a radio and television address to the nation.

But Premier Georges Pompidou said yesterday de Gaulle will not disclose whether he intends to run for reelection, nor specify a date for the December contest.

Pompidou made this clear during a reception for members of Parliament from the Gaullist Union for the New Republic (UNR).

This caused newspapers to speculate today that de Gaulle will use Tuesday's speech to urge the establishment of an even firmer presidency so his successors will not have to face the political squabbles and government changes that marked the Third and Fourth Republics.

★ ★ ★

In the past, there also has been speculation that de Gaulle might link the elections with a referendum for certain constitutional changes.

RIGHT MOMENT

Pompidou said de Gaulle will announce his decision on whether to run again "at the opportune moment."

The president, who is 74 and has undergone a prostrate operation, will weigh the question of his health in the balance against the prevailing political factors.

De Gaulle has been working to make France a major world power. He is still vigorous, and many believe he will run again to make sure the country continues along the path he has mapped.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, there are three firm candidates for president so far and others in the offing.

SOCIALIST MAYOR

Mayor Gaston Defferre of Marseilles, a Socialist, has been campaigning for 15 months.

Other avowed candidates are Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancourt, a prominent lawyer considered a leader of the small right-wing faction, and Andre Cornu, an elderly independent who recently was injured in a riding accident.

In addition, Gen. Boyer de la Tour du Moklin, a former governor of Tunisia, indicated that he may seek election with the support of the center and right.

★ ★

The number of candidates is believed a major consideration in de Gaulle's thinking.

RUNOFF ELECTION

In France a presidential candidate must win 50 per cent of the vote or enter a second, runoff election.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle is thought to consider a runoff unsuited to his dignity, and he could step aside unless he feels he can win a majority in the first ballot.

Expect 120 at Institute

EAST LANSING (AP) — The 11th annual National Institute on Police and Community Relations is expected to bring some 120 policemen and community leaders from across the nation to East Lansing May 16-21.

State Pickle Growers Gripe About Foreign Labor Ban

EAST LANSING (AP) —A federal official defended the new ban on foreign farm laborers Wednesday, and offered little encouragement to processors who complained that American workers generally will not pick pickles.

After a two-hour debate on the ban ended, a half dozen pickle industry representatives gathered around Tod Potter of the U.S. Farm Labor Service and repeated that they need help this year.

★ ★ ★

"I can get all the labor I want out of Saginaw to pick anything except pickles," one said

Potter conceded that their problem was difficult, but said there is little likelihood foreign workers will be allowed in the country.

BAN DEBATED

Potter debated the ban with Max Handerson, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Field Crops Association.

★ ★ ★

"The philosophy we're battling," Henderson said, "is that everyone on the unemployed rolls is anxious to work, and wants to do agricultural work, if the wage offer is attractive.

"Farmers don't think American agriculture should be the nation's welfare department," he added.

Defending the ban, Potter cited what he called deplorable conditions for migrant laborers on some farms, such as low pay and inadequate housing. Then he added:

The availability of low - paid foreign workers provides no incentive to raise wages and improve conditions to attract workers.

"The failure by farm employers to pay sufficient attention to conditions of employment has driven many qualified American workers out of agriculture."

★ ★ ★

Michigan had some 13,000 Mexican farm laborers last year, almost all of them picking cucumbers for pickles.

At the same time, Henderson said, Michigan was the No. 1 state in employment of domestic migrant workers, with 54,600 to California's 52,100.

IF EFFORTS FAIL

He noted a promise of Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz that foreign labor could be allowed to enter if all reasonable measures to attract domestic labor failed and foreign workers were needed to save the crops.

But Henderson added that a 48-hour delay in harvesting cucumbers could ruin the whole field.

★ ★ ★

"The feeling is that the time is here—or a little bit past—to know what labor will be available," Henderson said. "Without assurance labor will be available, growers will plant about 40 per cent of what they did last year."

★ ★ ★

Potter was asked if there had been any instances yet where he couldn't find enough domestic labor for harvest work.

FLORIDA PROBLEM

He said there had been a problem in Florida. He said in California, though where there had been especially vigorous protests against the foreign worker ban, growers harvested the lettuce crop without too much difficulty.

He said one California grower reported overplanting in order to show a loss so he could argue against the ban.

★ ★ ★

Potter said his office would have special teams helping recruit workers in areas of high labor demand. He said the department also hopes to promote agriculture work as a summer job for students.

Tigers Keep Winning as Hitless Wonders

Aguirre Gains 2nd Victory Over A's, 1-0

Team Batting Mark Only .215 but Clutch Hit Is Enough

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

What will happen once the Detroit Tigers start hitting?

Holding second place in the American League, just a few percentage points behind the Minnesota Twins, the Bengals treated 32,658 home opener fans to a 1-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics on one of their anemic hitting days.

With a team batting average of .215, the Tigers managed only three hits, but the clutch blow by Don Demeter, a two-out double in the 4th inning after walks to Norm Cash and Al Kaline was enough to give Detroit its 5th victory in seven games.

Should the Twins lose today to the New York Yankees, the idle Tigers could move back into the top spot of the American League.

Hank Aguirre, who won his 2nd game of the season, gave up all five hits to the Athletics in 7 1-3 innings with Larry Sherry helping in relief.

Sherry has not allowed a run in eight innings of relief duty, while Aguirre managed to last an inning longer than the six frames he pitched in his first victory.

NEED HITTING

Interim manager Bob Swift expressed the opinion that if the Tigers can win as they are with good pitching, "We could really be troublesome once we start hitting."

* * *

The pitching staff will get a tougher test this weekend when the hard hitting Twins come to town starting with a Friday night game and the three games with Minnesota should prove to be an interesting early showdown series in the battle for first place.

Sherry, even though he preserved the slim lead left by Aguirre, had to come up with one of the best defensive plays of the game to stop the Athletics' threat in the 8th inning.

After Bert Campaneris hit his second double, and third hit of the game, to start the inning, Dick Green grounded out to McAuliffe. Aguirre left the game and Sherry then walked Ed Charles.

* * *

He struck out slugger Jim Gentile but then a wild pitch put the runners on second and third and Sherry had Tom Reynolds at the plate.

Reynolds hit a high bouncer between the mound and third. Sherry made a diving stab and speared the ball in the webbing of his glove. He was off balance but his throw just beat Reynolds to first to stop the potential tying run from scoring.

The only other KC player to get any hits was catcher Doc Edwards who collected a pair of singles off Aguirre.

In the 4th inning the Tigers had the boo-birds in the stands in action by allowing Gentile to reach first base by goofing on a short pop up.

Norm Cash called for the little pop up, but Aguirre called for Jerry Lumpe to take it. Neither made a move for it then both went after it and it dropped as they collided.

"Lumpe didn't hear Aguirre call for him to take it. Jerry was wearing sun glasses and that's why Hank called on him," said Cash.

It was the first opening day shutout since 1954 when Steve Gromek defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3-0.

No Mule Ride for Finley at Tigers' Game

* * *

Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley was unhappy about the reception given his 1,300-pound Missouri mule, Charley O.

Finley had hoped to ride the Kansas City team's mascot around the bases just before the start of Wednesday's game against Detroit.

But the Tigers gave the mule the first eight minutes of the pre-game ceremonies, and that was all.

The mule bowed to the crowd a couple of times, then left by the exit near the left field bullpen.

"Maybe the reception in the next town (Cleveland) will be warmer," Kansas City publicity man Jim Schaaf remarked.

DRC Stockholders Elect Dr. Bennett

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Bennett was elected to the board of directors at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Detroit Race Course Wednesday.

DRC President Dale Shaffer also announced that structural steel work has been completed on the construction of the new clubhouse.

Other improvements in the track's $2.5 million expansion program include a refurbished grandstand area, new parking lots and a new entrance from Inkster Road.

The course's 1965 84-day meeting opens August 2.

EATING LUCK PIECE — Charlie O, the mascot of Kansas City's Athletics, couldn't resist the floral horseshoe on the field at Tiger Stadium in Detroit yesterday. Although Charlie O ate the flowers, it didn't bother the Tigers who won their home opener, 1-0.

MSU Names Cage Coach

John Benington, head basketball coach and athletic director at St. Louis University, has been named head basketball coach at Michigan State University.

The appointment, effective immediately, was approved today at a State Board of Trustees meeting at Oakland University. It will be a homecoming for the 43-year-old, 6-3 thinman who has coached in the rugged Missouri Valley Conference for the past nine years.

Immediately prior to that, he was an assistant cage coach for six years at Michigan State, four of them under Pete Newell and two with Forddy Anderson whom he succeeds as head coach.

Bennington left Michigan State in 1956 to become head coach at Drake University of the Missouri Valley Conference.

* * *

After two years there, he moved to St. Louis as head basketball coach, succeeding Eddie Hickey. He took over the athletic directorship in addition to his coaching duties two years ago.

WINNING RECORD

His coaching record in one of the nation's toughest collegiate basketball conferences was a solid winning one.

Only two campaigns—one at Drake — were losers. The St. Louis team this past season had a 19-8 record and finished second in the conference, one game behind Wichita.

* * *

Five of Benington's teams, including the immediate past one, played in National Invitational Tournaments in New York City.

His won-lost record for nine head coaching seasons is 140-98. The new Spartans' mentor is a native of Findlay, Ohio. He played college basketball for Newell at the University of San Francisco and was the captain and star forward of the 1948-49 team which won the NIT.

When Newell moved to MSU in 1950, he brought his former pupil with him as an assistant coach.

While at State, Benington continued his education by earning a masters' degree.

Benington and his wife, Barbara, have nine children.

COMMENTS

Spartan Athletic Director Biggie Munn expressed great gratification at the approval of Benington's appointment.

"He has many admirable qualifications for this position," Munn said.

* * *

"He was a fine player himself and since then has been a successful assistant and head coach. He knows the Big Ten and its type of play intimately," Munn continued.

"The fact that he was at Michigan State some years ago and still has many good friends here will help him get a good head start on the job.

"His experience as an athletic director is an asset, too. He knows from the AD's point of view what is required of a head coach, and what the problems are in a major college athletic enterprise.

* * *

"We had many fine candidates for the position; but I think that in Benington, we have selected the one best fitted for it."

Hawk Forward Back on Line

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks, seeking to get back into contention tonight when their Stanley Cup championship with Montreal resumes, will have a bolstered attack with the return of Kenny Wharram.

Wharram, the go-go forward of the Scooter Line directed by Stan Mikita, will be back in action for the first time since last Thursday when he injured his knees in the semifinal wrapup against Detroit.

Without Wharram and defenseman Pierre Pilote, who has an injured left shoulder, the Hawks dropped 3-2 and 2-0 decisions to the Canadiens in Montreal to fall far behind in their best-of-7 series.

In Tuesday night's shutout loss, Chicago coach Billy Reay was forced to switch his lines, putting Mikita between Bobby Hull and Chico Maki for Chicago's only potential scoring unit.

ONLY 18 SHOTS

The move failed to produce as the Hawks got off only 18 shots at Gump Worsley, who turned them all back for his whitewash effort.

With Wharram back and a slim chance that Pilote might play, the Hawks are ready to make the most of their home games Thursday and Sunday nights and get back into the series.

* * *

"I like the thought of getting back home," said Reay. "I've always felt that a seven-game series doesn't really start until the fifth game."

Of course, there will be no fifth game unless the Hawks win at least one of their two home games. In that case the fifth game will be in Montreal Tuesday night. If more games are needed, they will be played in Chicago next Thursday and in Montreal May 1.

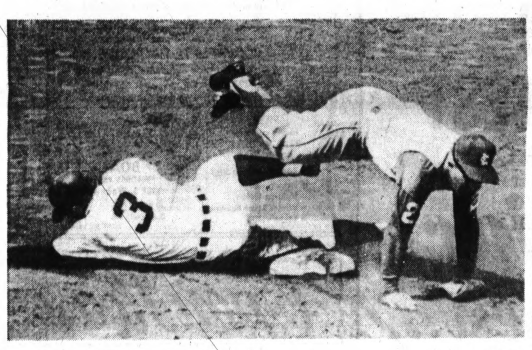

* * *

Wharram's return will enable Reay to go back to his original lines with Phil Esposito centering for Hull and Maki, and Doug Mohns joining Wharram and Mikita.

Toreador Vault Pleases Fans, Enrages Bull

MADRID (AP) — Some critics have been complaining that bullfighting has become too conservative. So a young apprentice matador, Miguel Oropesa, tried to add some excitement the other day. He was lucky to come out alive.

The 20-year-old toreador sought to revive a long abandoned custom of pole vaulting over the bull before preparing the animal for its death.

* * *

Oropesa made the vault and went sprawling. The enraged bull charged at the embarrassed toreador, who narrowly escaped a serious goring.

Despite the fiasco, most of the 12,000 fans at the Vista Alegre Arena cheered the youngster.

Vaulting over the bull, once a big attraction centuries ago, was abandoned with the retirement of Saleri, an acrobatic Andalucian matador, about 150 years ago.

22 Horses Die in Fire

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Twenty-two of 36 thoroughbred horses quartered in a barn at the Manchester Farm, just north of the Kneeland Race Course in the heart of the bluegrass breeding country, died Wednesday in a fire which destroyed the two-story structure.

Owner Duvall Headley estimated the loss at $750,000.

Among those killed was a foal by Nashua, worth $25,000.

The damage to the barn was estimated at $35,000, Headley said.

The cause of the fire had not been determined but was believed to have started in the hayloft area immediately below the roof.

Laker Coach Happy Over Playoff Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's anybody's playoff now," said a jubilant Fred Schaus after his Los Angeles Lakers romped to a 126-105 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"We have a good chance to win Friday night and then it's just a best-of-3 series," Schaus continued. The victory cut Boston's lead to 2-1, and the Lakers will enjoy the home court advantage again Friday.

If the series goes seven games, two of the final three will be played in Boston, but Schaus said, "We knew from the beginning we had to win in Boston anyway. We feel we have momentum going for us now."

WEST HITS 43

The Lakers' Jerry West, continuing his better than 40-point per game average in the playoffs, hit for 43. LeRoy Ellis contributed 29, and Gene Wiley grabbed 28 rebounds and made several fine defensive plays to go with his 11 points.

"Besides West's all around great game," Schaus enthused, "Wiley played the best game of his career."

Celtic Coach Red Auerbach was not overly concerned about his team's decisive defeat.

"We were expecting a letdown in the second game, but instead it came in the third," Auerbach said. "I knew in the first three minutes that we were off form and nothing went right,

"Our poor shooting and their great rebounding beat us," he continued, "but the big thing is we're still leading 2-1."

After a 142-110 humiliation and a 129-123 loss in Boston, the victory proved to the Lakers that they can beat the Celtics without Elgin Baylor, one of their two leading scorers.

Los Angeles lost Baylor for the playoffs when he injured his knee in the opening Western Division playoff game against Baltimore. He is currently recuperating from a knee operation.

Spartans Make Staff Changes

Michigan State University today announced that freshman football coach Bert Smith would assume the new position of assistant to athletic director Clarence Biggie Munn.

* * *

Meeting this morning at Oakland University, the Michigan State board of trustees also announced the appointment of former Spartan All-American Al Dorow to its football coaching staff.

The appointments were made effective as of April 15, but both received approval by the board of trustees today.

Smith has been freshman coach and administrative assistant to head coach Hugh 'Duffy' Daugherty since 1961, and has been a member of the Spartan coaching staff since 1954.

Smith's coaching position with the freshman team will be taken over by Ed Rutherford, who himself, is a recent addition to the Spartan staff as assistant.

For the past two years Dorow has been assistant football coach at Hillsdale College. He played professional football for 10 years prior to his going to Hillsdale. His assignment was termed assistant football coach.

Indians' Outfielder Hits 2

'Daddy Wags' Sees Contact

By the Associated Press

Everything looks just fine to Leon Wagner, who is wearing contact lenses to improve his vision despite assurances from American League pitchers that there was nothing wrong with it in the first place.

The Cleveland slugger they call Daddy Wags zeroed in on the Los Angeles Angels Wednesday unloading two home runs, the second one leading off the 10th inning, as the Indians pulled out a 6-5 victory.

The homers were his second and third of the young season and hiked his batting average to a hefty .368, so his contact lenses can't be hurting.

"I can see the ball better," says Wagner. "I don't know whether they're going to help me hit more homers though."

The contacts may not help Wagner's homer production but Daddy Wags thinks Rocky Colavito will. The Rock, returning to Cleveland after five years, treated the 44,385 fans — largest opening day crowd in the majors this year — with a two-run homer.

* * *

"They'll have to pitch to me more," Wagner said after punishing the Angels. "They don't want to see Rocky up at the plate and I don't blame those pitchers. Yes, sir, it's a real pleasure to hit in front of him."

LEAD OFF HOMER

Wagner broke up the game leading off against Ron Piche in the 10th after first the Angels and then the Indians rallied in the ninth.

Cleveland was leading 4-2 — on homers by Colavito and Wagner — when Los Angeles pushed across three runs in the ninth for a 5-4 edge.

Cleveland tied it with a run in the bottom half and Piche bailed the Angels out of a bases-loaded, one out jam before serving the gopher to Daddy Wags in the 10th.

In other American League action, Chicago topped Boston 3-1 in 11 innings, Minnesota ripped New York 7-2 and Baltimore tipped Washington 3-2 in 11 innings.

The White Sox and the Red Sox each pushed across a run in the first inning with sluggers Pete Ward and Frank Malzone laying down bunts. Then Boston's Bill Monbouquette and Chicago's John Buzhardt dueled into the 10th before Moose Skowron's two-run homer broke it up.

* * *

Ward squeezed home Danny Cater with the White Sox' first run and then the Chicago third baseman was caught napping by Malzone, whose drag bunt helped set up Boston's run.

Tony Oliva, Rich Rollins and Jimmie Hall each hit two-run homers as the Twins spoiled the Yankees' home opener. Camilo Pascual and Gerry Fosnow combined to pitch the eight-hitter with Mickey Mantle's 457th career homer producing both New York runs.

Rollins and Oliva connected against Yankee starter Mel Stottlemyre while Hall tagged reliever Pete Mikkelsen.

New Leader in Classic of ABC Tournament

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Bob Chase, Kansas City, Mo., professional, compiled a 696 series Wednesday and took first place in the classic division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Chase's games of 258, 226 and 212 paved the way for the first change in leaders in the nine ABC divisions of play since April 17 an dmoved the erstwhile leader, Jim Stefanich, Joliet, Ill., into second place with 693.

* * *

Stefanich was aiming for a third straight ABC title with his singles leadership. He was a member of a championship team in 1963 and last year won the regular division singles.

Chase paired with Bill Pace, also of Kansas City, for a 1,257 total, good for second place tie in the classic doubles, equalling the score of Bob Harris and Jerry Smith of San Antonio, Tex. Pace rolled 676 and Chase 581.

Pace's opening game of 279 was the best any pro has rolled since the meet started 28 days ago. He ended the first game with nine strikes and rolled four to start the second game, posting the longest string of successive strikes so far in the tournament.

Ed Lubanski and Bill Golembiewski of Detroit lead the classic doubles with 1,281.

Dave Strack Okays Lecture Invitation

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — The coaches whose teams finished first, second and third in last month's NCAA Basketball Championships have accepted invitations to lecture this fall at the first annual American Basketball Clinic, it was announced Wednesday.

They are Johnny Wooden, coach of UCLA's two-time national champions; Dave Strack of runner-up Michigan and Princeton's Bill van Breda Kolff.

Rounding out the lecturers will be Jack Ramsay of St. Joseph's and Clair Bee, former coach at Long Island University.

The clinic, for high school and college coaches, will be held Oct. 22-24 in Asbury Park Convention Hall.

'Comic Strip' Lefty Twins Bullpen Ace

NEW YORK (AP) — His name sounds like a character out of a comic strip, but there's nothing funny about Jerry Fosnow when the big fellow bears down on enemy hitters from the mound — all six feet, four inches of him.

A flame-thrower who joined the Minnesota Twins late last June, Fosnow has quickly established himself as the club's No. 1 fireman this season.

The Twins have played just five games and the 24-year-old left-hander from Deshler, Ohio, has appeared in three of them. He's won one, lost another and saved a third.

★ ★ ★

Fosnow's latest appearance took place Wednesday at Yankee Stadium. Summoned from the bullpen by Manager Sam Mele in relief of a tired Camilo Pascual, he held the New York Yankees scoreless over the last two innings to preserve a 7-2 triumph.

It was not one of the youngster's better efforts. He walked four, two in each inning. But he had it when he needed it most.

★ ★ ★

In the eighth, he struck out Tony Kubek with two runners on base for a big out. Then, in the ninth, after a single and two walks had loaded the bases, he disposed of Roger Maris on a soft fly to center to end the game.

"I think we've finally found the left-handed relief pitcher we've been looking for," said Mele today. "He's hard to hit a long ball off of. He keeps the ball down. He gives left-handers a fit with his sinker."

Mele had such low regard for Fosnow last year that he called upon him just seven times in the 3½ months the youth spent with the club.

'M' Trackmen in Two Meets

Squad Competing at Home, Penn

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Michigan's track and field squad will be competing in two meets this weekend—at the Penn Relays Friday and Saturday in Philadelphia and in the Michigan Federation Open here.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan Federation meet will be held at Ferry Field Saturday. About 100 athletes from the Wolverine varsity and freshmen squads, the Ann Arbor Track Club, the Huron Track Club of Ypsilanti as well as unattached freshmen from several other schools are expected to compete.

Michigan track coach Don Canham will have two strong contenders at the Penn Relays. George Canamare, winner of the Ohio Relays pole vault with a record setting 15 feet, 5 inches, will be out to win another title while the mile relay team, that tied the Ohio Relays record, is favored in its event.

Artery Ailment Putting Venturi Out of Action

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP)—Golfer Ken Venturi said Wednesday he will be out of action at least five weeks while taking medication for treatment of a circulatory condition.

Venturei who has complained of numbness in his hands, said Mayo Clinic doctors told him it was due to constriction of the small arteries in his hands.

★ ★ ★

Doctors said the condition may be associated with repeated occupational trauma in people who use tools which require a squeezing or grasping action of the hands. Doctors said no evidence of arterial disease was found elsewhere.

Venturi said that if the condition doesn't react properly to medication an operation will be necessary. He said he plans to leave Thursday for his home in Hillsborough, Calif.

Hills Knocks Clarkston Out of Lead

Bloomfield Hills picked up an important Wayne-Oakland League Baseball victory yesterday with a six-run outburst that knocked Clarkston out of a first-place tie, 8-5.

Other action saw Cranbrook take its first win, 6-3, over Kettering, Walled Lake win its second in two starts, 3-2, over Northville, and North Farmington drop its opener, 6-1, at Redford Union.

In a W-O tennis match, Clarkston toppled Milford, 4-1, for the Wolves third win in four tries.

Other action saw Cranbrook take its first win, 6-3, over Kettering, Walled Lake win its second in two starts, 3-2, over Northville, and North Farmington drop its opener, 6-1, at Redford Union.

In a W-O tennis match,

★ ★ ★

Clarkston toppled Milford, 4-1, for the Wolves third win in four tries.

After Clarkston had rallied for a 3-1 second-inning lead, Bloomfield Hills erupted for six markers in the bottom of the inning and held on behind Bill Carney's hurling for the win.

Dave Robillard's three hits accounted for two runs batted in to pace the winners' attack. The loss knocked Clarkston out of its first-place tie with Milford.

CRANES SPURT

Cranbrook spurted ahead when John Pavloff tripled following a walk and single in the second inning. The Cranes iced the verdict with three singles and two passed balls in the third.

★ ★ ★

Dale Manning's double led to two Kettering tallies in the fourth. Both teams are now 1-2.

Terry Lehman's bat paced Walled Lake's second victory in two days. The second sacker doubled home winning hurler Jim Miller with the deciding run after the latter had tied the game with a double plating Ken Wymer.

Lehman also had a single and figured in the first Viking run. John Jameson's double sparked Northville's two-run first inning.

North Farmington scored first on Dale Chamberlin's triple, but Redford Union scored in the fourth, fifth and sixth to put away the triumph. Chuck Viane was the losing pitcher in the Raiders' debut.

★ ★ ★

Milford could win only a doubles match against Clarkston's strong tennis squad.

Kalamazoo Posts 5-1 Win

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Smashing 10 hits, Western Michigan of the Mid-American Conference defeated Wisconsin of the Big Ten 5-1 Wednesday and stretched its season's baseball record to 5-3. Wisconsin now is 7-2.

The Western Bronco's opened the scoring in the sixth inning. Dave Reeves, who had three hits and three RBI's in four trips to the plate, singled in the first run.

CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE — Umpire Shag Crawford stands on one leg to get a close look as Joe Gaines (28), Houston Astros' right fielder, covers first base and tries to tag Tony Gonzalez of the Phillies in the third inning of game last night in Philadelphia. Phillies' John Callison was tagged out between second and third by Astros' Joe Morgan, who threw to first too late to get the sliding Gonzalez. Houston won, 11-4.

New Wings Helpful in Cardinal Nest

By the Associated Press

Only one victory in six games is enough to shake up anyone who might be managing baseball's world champions.

So Red Schoendienst, in turn, shook up his line-up, and the St. Louis Cardinals are on the way with their second one-game winning streak this season.

The Cardinals, with two of the rookie manager's bench members supplying some punch, defeated Milwaukee 6-3 Wednesday night behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Purkey.

The victory didn't help St. Louis vacate the National League cellar, but Schoendienst nevertheless was highly pleased with the work of second baseman Phil Gagliano and right fielder Tito Francona.

TO PLATOON

"Gagliano will stay in there against left-handed and right-handed pitching," Schoendienst said. "I'll platoon Francona, but I can't take those two out now."

Gagliano, who has played only parts of the last two seasons for the Cardinals, took over from Julian Javier, who had managed only four hits in 23 trips to the plate for a .174 average.

* * *

Francona, a winter acquisition from Cleveland, subbed for Mike Shannon, one of the 1964 World Series heroes who has rapped only one single in 22 at bats for an .045 average.

The 23-year-old Gagliano didn't get a hit, but he did drive in two runs with sacrifice flies. Francona tripled in the second inning and scored on Gagliano's first fly, then singled Dick Groat into scoring position in a four-run fifth inning.

So much was Schoendienst impressed with his second-stringers' showing that he is considering resting Ken Boyer despite the third baseman's .333 average. The NL's Most Valuable Player still is plagued by a sore side he suffered during the exhibition grind.

* * *

"If the day off (today) doesn't help," Schoendienst said, "I'll probably use Ed Spiezio at third. If a player can't give 100 per cent physically, he's best on the bench until he's healthy."

In other NL games Wednesday, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Los Angeles whipped New York 5-1, Houston walloped Philadelphia 11-4 and Cincinnati drubbed Chicago 9-2.

Purkey limited the Braves to two hits, one of them Ed Mathews' fourth-inning home run, until the ninth inning when Milwaukee bunched four singles for two runs. Bill White and Lou Brock homered for St. Louis.

* * *

Willie McCovey smashed a two-run homer in the third inning and pitcher Juan Marichal singled across the deciding run in the seventh for the Giants. Marichal scattered eight hits, including Bill Virdon's homer in the eighth.

Don Drysdale, with relief help from Bob Miller, earned his 11 straight victory over the Mets. Miller came on in the eighth after Drysdale had walked a total of seven batters. Wes Parker's run-scoring single broke a 1-1 tie and helped the Dodgers post three runs in the seventh inning.

* * *

Philadelphia's Chris Short was on the way toward his third straight victory until Houston erupted for four runs in the eighth inning and five more in the ninth. Jim Beauchamp singled across two runs in the eighth while Al Spangler capped the ninth-inning outburst with a two-run single.

Joey Jay, making his first start of the season, set Chicago down on four hits, including Ron Santo's fourth homer, a two-run shot in the fourth. The Reds, meanwhile, battered Larry Jackson and three relievers for 14 hits. Pete Rose and Gordy Coleman homered for Cincinnati.

WTHS Host, Kettering Site

New Meet Will Test Track

The first Waterford Invitational Relays will have two records set which probably will stand for years to come.

Although Waterford Township is the host school, Saturday's event will be run on Kettering's new track. The preliminaries will start at 9:30 a.m. and the finals at 1:30 p.m.

* * *

If the runway is dry and the wind isn't too strong, Kettering's Jim Haviland will be trying to clear 14 feet in the pole vault. He took top honors in the Mansfield Relays with a vault of 13-7.

The mile standard probably will be under 4:20 — if Bloomfield Hills' ace Tom Kearney competes in this event.

Kearney set the Mansfield record of 4:19.6 in his last major test. He may be held out of the mile to help strengthen the Hills' distance relay teams.

Double points are awarded in the relay events and many schools concentrate in this area in a bid for the team trophy.

All times, distances and heights in the meet will be records because this is the first time for the invitational.

Eight other schools have entered teams bringing the field to 11.

They are Walled Lake, Rochester, Clarkston, Royal Oak Dondero, Dearborn Fordson, Troy, Madison and Lamphere.

* * *

Utica was to have been the 12th team, but the school withdrew because a schedule commitment couldn't be changed.

Sprinter Bob Piastrowski and half-miler Pat Godfrey will be Walled Lake's chief contenders. Bob Gray of Clarkston is among the high jump favorites.

Drake Relays Mark in Danger, Again

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Jesse Owen's broad jump record at the Drake Relays lasted 29 years, but the leap last year that erased his mark apparently is already obsolete.

Owens, Ohio State's great athlete, jumped 26-1¾ here in 1935 and hundreds of athletes failed to match that leap until Gayle Hopkins of Arizona shaded it by one-fourth inch a year ago.

Hopkins' record is now in danger from Clarence Robinson of New Mexico, who jumped 26-2½ at the Kansas Relays last week and will be aiming for the Drake record.

"The major objective of the relays," said Waterford coach Al Cuthrell, "is to invite schools that do not normally meet in dual competition."

* * *

Three other relays are planned Saturday. Country Day will have 16 teams from six states competing. Oxford, Cranbrook, Dryden, Avondale and Romeo are entered in the Marysville Relays.

Pontiac Northern and Birmingham Groves will be in the Brother Rice Relays and Milford and Northville will go to the Howell Invitational.

YMCA Tankers in Meet

WESTFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The 38th annual National YMCA Swimming and Diving Championships get under way today with Chicago's Lawson Branch and Huntington, Ind., expected to battle it out for the championship.

Some 17 races will be contested before the three-day meet winds up Saturday night. Two New Jersey YMCAs — host Westfield and Trenton — are given the best chance of upsetting the favorites.

* * *

Although it has no defending champions entered, Chicago-Lawson is favored — thanks to depth and versatility—to repeat the team title it won last year at Youngstown, Ohio.

Other individual defenders include Westfield's Steve McCoy in the one-meter dive, Trenton's Jack Volz in the 100-yard breaststroke, Ross Wales of Youngstown in the 100- and 200-yard butterfly, Chuck Schober of Indianapolis-Krannert in the 200-yard backstroke and John Gunning of Dayton-Kettering in the three-meter dive.

Most of their winning times, however, have been bettered since last year's meet.

Eligibility for the nationals requires a swimmer to be a member of this YMCA for three months and to have competed in one meet.

Pros Gunning for Texas Cash

Six of Top Money Leaders in Event

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Par appeared to be in for a beating Thursday as some of golf's biggest names prepared to tackle the wooded Oak Hills Country Club course in the first round of the $50,000 Texas Open.

Six of the PGA's top 10 money winners this year headed a field of 144 pros into the 72-hole tournament with no clear-cut favorite in the crowd. First place is worth $9,000.

* * *

Doug Sanders, the current tour's only double winner and second in the money race with $32,557 in 14 tournaments, thinks it'll take at least a 15-under-par 265 to win.

But the players will have to shoot straight because the heavy wooded areas are in full bloom and the roughs are high and treacherous due to recent rains. The past few days have been clear and warm.

A $3,000 pro-amateur tournament Wednesday proved that the course, 6,790-yard par 35-35—70, can be whipped. Eighteen pros broke par.

THE ROCK RETURNS — Frank Lane, former Cleveland Indians' general manager who is reported to have called Rocky Colavito a fruit peddler, received a basket of fruit during ceremonies marking the opening of the baseball season at Cleveland yesterday. Lane got a bang out of the fruit, and Colvito (walking away), traded away by Lane in 1960, also provided a big bang—a two-run homer—as Cleveland whipped Los Angeles Angels, 6-5. In background (l-r) are Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, sportscaster Bob Neal, Indians' manager Birdie Tebbetts and coaches George Strikland and Solly Hemus.

Trader Lane 'Plum' Mum but Pens Peachy Speech

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Lane, former Cleveland Indians' general manager, wasn't invited to speak during the Tribe's pregame home opening ceremonies Wednesday. But he had a speech written.

Lane once had referred to Rocky Colavito as a "fruit peddler."

Rocky presented him a basket of fruit before the game.

* * *

Here's what Lane was prepared to say to the 44,335 fans who turned out:

"Today must be a most joyous occasion, not only for the other fruit peddlers of greater Cleveland, the bobby soxers and other baseball fans, but also, for that most famous of all fruit peddlers, Rocky Colavito.

TRADED

"After the villain Trader Lane had sold 'poor' Rocky down the river and he finally wound up in, of all places, Kansas City with the Finleys, alligators, mules, and other animals, the hero of our episode, little Gabriel Paul, came and blew his horn.

"This, of course, returned the handsome fruit peddler to, not the land of milk and honey, but even better, Cleveland.

* * *

"If you fans now don't come out and pay homage to the handsome fruit peddler, then you deserve to have Finley operate the Indians, using mules, lizards and other animals instead of baseball players.

"Welcome back Rocky and best of luck — except against the Baltimore Orioles, or I'll again get fired!"

Lane is presently an assistant to Orioles' President Lee MacPhail.

Showdown Nearing for Kettering, Oxford

The battle for track honors in the Tri-County League may be decided when Kettering and Oxford tangle next Wednesday on the Kettering field.

Oxford ran its record to 4-0 last night with an easy 72-37 victory over L'Anse Creuse in a league scrap.

And in a triangular outing, Kettering pilled up 68½ points to trim Romeo (56) and Lapeer (12½).

In other meets, Fitzgerald knocked off Rochester, 66-43, and Cranbrook dumped Ferndale, 60-52.

Tom Hoard rolled up 14½ points to pace Oxford's squad. Hoard won the 220-yard dash in 23.5, placed second in the 100-yard dash and ran a leg on the winning 880-yard relay team.

BREAKS RECORD

Mike Lantry broke his own shot put mark with a heave of 53-4½ for Oxford.

Romeo's George Tanner was a standout in the loss to Kettering. He won the 440-yard dash and broad jump and had a hand in the mile relay victory.

Ferndale's Jack Clarkson tossed the shot 51-2½ to set a record in the meet at Cranbrook.

Site Certain for Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)— Eric Jonas, secretary general of the International Olympic Committee, said Wednesday planning for the 1968 winter Olympics at Grenoble, France, is progressing satisfactorily and there is no present intention to find another site.

Jonas was commenting on a statement made by Canadian Health Minister Judy LaMarsh at Niagara Falls, Ont., that the games might be switched to Banff, Alberta, because of IOC dissatisfaction with Grenobles progress.

Reds Whip Yanks; Series Evened, 1-1

SEATTLE (AP) — Russia's touring national basketball team whipped the U.S. All-Star quintet 70-62 Wednesday night to even their series at one game each.

The Americans hit a cold streak in the early going and the tight-checking Russians never let them catch up.

* * *

Yaak Lipso, a 6-7 Red Army soldier, provided the two quick baskets that crushed back one American challenge in the second half and a pair of free throws by Gennadi Volnov, veteran of Russia's Olympic team, checked another.

Vern Benson of Miami University of Ohio, scoring in flurries, led the Americans with 16 points.

Yankee Luis Arroyo appeared in 65 games in 1961.

U Thant Stresses Importance of Press

NEW YORK (AP) — U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, says the press of the world can make a major contribution toward a peaceful solution of the situation in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★ ★

The diplomat from Burma spoke to a convention luncheon yesterday of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The convention is being attended by Pontiac Press Publisher Harold A. Fitzgerald and Business Manager Howard H. Fitzgerald II.

Thant declared:

"The importance of the part which can be played by the press of the world in creating an atmosphere in which solutions become possible can hardly be exaggerated, for in the long run there is no substitute for an informed and enlightened public opinion."

LARGE AUDIENCE

Addressing an audience of about 1,500, Thant also said:

★ ★ ★ ★

"I believe that the whole trend of international relations in 1965 will inevitably be affected by developments in Viet Nam and by the ability of all the parties to that agonizing situation to find some basis for mutual accommodation, if not for a permanent solution."

Thant urged "every possible effort to facilitate a peaceful solution" to the conflict. And he reiterated that he wants to "help in any way that may be deemed useful," even though the United Nations "has not so far been involved in attempts to solve this problem."

He already has made several personal attempts to help solve the war problem, and the United States has spoken favorably of his "good offices."

In his speech entitled "Mass Media and Public Opinion," he said the United Nations has no effective means of its own "for reaching the peoples of the world and gaining a general understanding of what it is trying to do or could do for the people."

As secretary general, he told the publishers, he would welcome "any constructive suggestions, especially from so qualified a group as this one, on how this problem can be overcome."

Thant said there is "a section of the press in most countries which lives on sensationalism and is correspondingly lacking in responsibility." To such a group, he said, "good news is no news." He upheld the right to criticize, but opposed sensationalizing the news.

He contended that "an undue concentration on violence and conflict inevitably creates a heated atmosphere which is unfavorable to reason and conciliation."

"We sometimes see this tendency at work in the reporting throughout the world on the activities of the United Nations. With almost every crisis, for example, the failure, or even the general collapse, of the United Nations, is discussed or foreseen," he said.

"The United Nations is pictured as a protagonist in a kind of global sporting event, which must either be won or lost within a given time. This makes for dramatic reading, but not for clear understanding."

Such a view, Thant said, ignores the fact that the game concerned is the endless drama of human history.

Opening lead—♣ K

By JACOBY & SON

A letter from New York reads: "I ruffed the opening club lead in dummy, led a trump to my hand, ruffed my other low club and cashed all but one of my trumps and my ace of clubs. This forced me to make three discards from dummy but they were no problem. I let three hearts go.

JACOBY

"This brought everyone down to six cards and East dropped a low heart. I played ace, king and another diamond. The queen failed to drop but it didn't hurt me since it turned out that East's heart discard had made all my hearts good.

"Usually nothing succeeds like success, but this time my partner criticized my seven bid and my opponents' my play. Were they correct?"

There might be some justification for criticism of his seven bid on the ground that no one should go to a grand slam when he isn't practically sure of success but his play was excellent indeed.

If he had used a simple diamond finesse in an effort to make his thirteenth trick he would have had only even money chance for success. The play he actually adopted was far better. It was sure to bring home the bacon if the queen of diamonds were in the short diamond hand.

Then if the queen of diamonds were guarded three or four times as was the case there would be a squeeze if the same player held the long hearts. Note that if East had hung on to his three hearts South would have ruffed out the queen of diamonds and made his thirteenth trick with dummy's jack.

♠♥CARD Sense♦♣

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠K J 8 7 6 ♥Q J 3 ♦K 7 4 ♣5 4

What do you do?

A—Bid three hearts. This should be a forcing bid but if you think there is any chance that your partner may pass, just bid three no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid three hearts and your partner bids four hearts. What do you do now?

When you go camping, it's important to have the right equipment. That way, you'll be able to spend more time seeing and doing the things you want; less time struggling just to be comfortable. That's why it's important to have a choice when it comes to selecting your equipment. Individual needs vary greatly, and a broad selection of equipment helps cover those needs most adequately. And nowhere is the value of a good selection more apparent than in the big line-up of pleasure trucks offered this year by Matthews-Hargreaves Chevy-Land.

Super Constellations to Be Mothballed

Midway Island Navy Patrol Squadron to End Constant Vigil

MIDWAY ISLAND (AP) — Since 1958, a N.S. Navy squadron of Super Constellations has remained airborne 24-hours a day, seven days a week, patrolling the 1,500-miles between Midway Island and Alaska.

On April 30, the last of these patrols will be launched from this lonely North Pacific island, 1,100 miles northwest of Honolulu. Then, the Distant Early Warning — DEW — line extension will be ended.

The planes will, for the most part, be mothballed, and their aircrews dispersed to other jobs. Many of them already have left.

The Department of Defense decreed an end to the patrol because of the "declining nature of a manned bomber threat." There has been no announcement as to what, if anything, will replace it.

LESS THAN DRAMATIC

The mission of the aviators has been something less than dramatic. It has been described as the most grueling of cold war jobs.

In 1958, the decision was made to close the gap through which the U.S. West Coast was vulnerable to possible attack by manned, supersonic enemy bombers with nuclear payloads.

The DEW line stretching across the Canadian land mass from the Atlantic to the Pacific, blocking the polar route, was lengthened.

Radar picket ships patrolled the stormy North Pacific. Their job was much the same as the aircraft. These, too are being withdrawn.

WARNING BARRIER

The planes and ships all were part of the airborne warning barrier, the nerve center of which was Barber's Point Naval Air Station near Honolulu.

It was from Midway Island, however, that the planes flew. The barrier squadron was the largest in the Navy with 26 aircraft manned and maintained by 340 officers and 1,700 enlisted men.

Each plane, with its six tons of electronic equipment carried a crew of about 20, half of these being "scope watchers." These men peered at four radar screens watching for "blips." The "blips" could mean enemy attackers.

Much of the expanse from Midway Island to the Aleutians is shrouded in fog.

TESTED ABILITIES

The weather tested pilots' and navigators' abilities, prevented boredom in the flight to nowhere and back. The planes never landed except where they started, and never had a serious accident.

Lt. (j.g.) Dave Fore, a navigator from Corpus Christi, Tex., said there wasn't much drama aloft. "Blips" on the radar scopes would be spotted, radioed to operation control on the ground for evaluation, and the flight would go on. It was someone else's job to stop an attack. But Fore, and crewmen like Lt. (j.g.) Dick Walston, a Californian, and Lt. (j.g.) Gene Doswell of New Orleans, said the Navy had done well by barrier crews to compensate for the long tedious hours aloft. An average flight lasted 17 hours.

* * *

Fore said they got "the best chow in the service" and the galley in one of the Constellations would almost make a Honolulu housewife envious.

Reds—called "racks" — were plentiful and comfortable. Mostly, men worked for four hours and slept three.

SLEEPING ARRANGEMENTS

"It's okay once you get used to the sleeping arrangements," said chief pilot Lt. Bob Palmquist of Columbia, Mo. "And if you like to fly — which I do — there's plenty of that."

Palmquist said it takes about six months to become acclimated to the duty.

Seek Bikes for Patients

Bicycles, either new or used, are being sought for use by emotionally disturbed youngsters at Pontiac State Hospital.

Dorothy Roe, director of the hospital's recreational therapy program, said that donated bikes would be very beneficial to the patients.

Some 90 youngsters, ranging in age from seven through the teens, are included in the therapy program.

Union Files Charge Against Cab Firm

DETROIT (AP) — The Seafarers International Union filed an unfair labor practice charge Wednesday against the Checker Cab Co. of Dteroit.

At the same time, the union threatened a strike "within the next 10 days."

* * *

The Seafarers, who defeated the Teamsters Union in a bargaining election among drivers, charged in its National Labor Relations Board complaint that Checker refused to bargain with that union, despite NLRB certification of it as bargaining agent.

Victor Hanson, general counsel for the seafarers union, said he received a letter from Checker Wednesday flatly refusing to meet with the union in any kind of negotiations.

Patrol Group in the Red

WILDWOOD, Ill. (AP)—The Wildwood emergency patrol is being dissolved because of debts owed on the patrol car, radio equipment and reimbursements to patrol members.

* * *

Outstanding debts amount to $2,485. According to treasurer Joseph Viehl, the patrol has only $44.77 in cash on hand.

* * *

The decision of 16 or 17 residents on a motion made by Paul Klugiewicz, a resident, permits the commissioners of the patrol to dissolve the corporation.

* * *

The commissioners received less than $50 from approximately 500 residents who were sent letters asking for contributions.

Amazing New Diamond Crystal REDOUT* nuggets recharge water softeners, clean out iron deposits permanently, if used regularly

All water softeners must be kept clean. The softening resin is porous and becomes clogged with iron, silt, bacteria and other contaminants. Normal salting and backwashing is not enough. The clogging may extend to the control valve, brine valve, and other working parts of the softener. A service call is usually necessary.

New REDOUT nuggets, used regularly, will remove these contaminants completely from all parts of your water softener. REDOUT nuggets contain Pepti-fer, the revolutionary new additive that gives REDOUT its unusual rejuvenating power.

Without REDOUT
Resin beads are iron-coated and unable to attract calcium, magnesium and other hardness minerals.

With REDOUT
REDOUT removes the iron coating on the resin beads and restores your unit to peak efficiency.

Easy to use. Simply add REDOUT nuggets to your softener in the same manner and amount as you have done with regular salt, and REDOUT will begin thoroughly cleaning your conditioner. When its work is completed, the special cleansing agent is flushed away in the brine. While performing this important job, REDOUT nuggets will sanitize the tank, resin, and controls.

REDOUT preserves the chlorine effectiveness in your water supply. Unlike other iron-removing agents, REDOUT does not neutralize chlorine. The chlorine in your water is permitted to continue its sanitizing process with 100% efficiency.

Ordinary salt cannot remove iron deposits from your conditioner. If iron is not removed, the results are unsightly and costly. Iron will stain sinks and bowls, and will cause red stains in your laundry. Iron spoils the taste of tea and coffee, and certainly does not help your complexion.

Now you can remove iron and other contaminants as simply as adding salt to your water conditioner. If you have a new water conditioning unit, start using REDOUT nuggets today and enjoy extra years of trouble-free performance. If you have an older unit, let REDOUT bring it back to peak performance and keep it that way.

Probers Visit Ionia Monday

LANSING (AP) — A special subcommittee, investigating the suicide of an inmate, will visit the State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Ionia Monday, says Chairman F. Charles Raap, D-Muskegon.

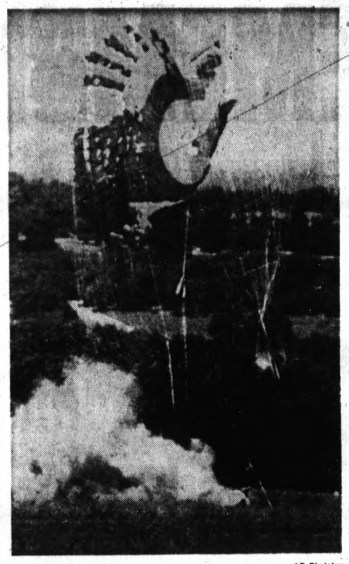

The subcommittee will be assisted in the first phase of a two-part investigation by Dr. Raymond Waggoner, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of psychiatry and director of the University of Michigan Neuropsychiatric Institute.

A visit to the hospital was delayed from this week to next "so Dr. Waggoner could accompany us," said Raap chairman of the House Mental Health Committee and of the special investigating subcommittee.

The suicide of Kenneth Shelton, 30, of Detroit, Monday night was the second in five days at the hospital.

"We hope to have a preliminary report in 10 days," Raap said. The committee is taking advantage of a 10-day legislative recess, beginning today, to conduct its investigation.

The second phase of the investigation — to be conducted after the inquiry into Shelton's death is completed — will deal with the running of the hospital, Raap said.

A New China News Agency broadcast from Peking said the important rice-growing area in northern Hunan Province, is in its second year of a "great three-year scheme to provide electrically powered irrigation and drainage."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The 114-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission got off to a harmonious start Wednesday, but fireworks are expected Monday when the United States and the Soviet Union lead off the debate.

* * *

The Soviet Union asked for the commission meeting — the first since 1960 — and is expected to use the session for an attack on American policy in Viet Nam.

* * *

The commission unanimously elected Ambassador Mohamed Awad El Kony of the United Arab Republic as chairman.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios has promised to remove all Greek Cypriot police and army checkpoints from the southern half of Cyprus by Saturday, giving Turkish Cypriots in the area freedom of movement for the first time since factional strife broke out in December 1963.

LONDON (AP) — The British Labor government is expected to issue a white paper Monday outlining its plans for steel nationalization, the most controversial part of its program.

* * *

The postwar Labor government nationalized the steel industry in 1951 by setting up a corporation which bought steel stocks from the public. They were sold back to the public when the Conservatives took power later that year.

LONDON (AP) — A Ku Klux Klan in Britain? Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., says it's a possibility.

During a television interview taped in the United States, Shelton said the Klan is getting many British letters of support.

Reds Hint K's Berlin Goals Abandoned

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union strongly indicated today it has abandoned former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's long-range goal of ousting the Western Allies from West Berlin.

Despite recent tensions in the divided city, the Russians dropped their insistence that the Western sector be "transformed into a free, demilitarized city."

* * *

A list of slogans was published here in advance of the May Day holiday. The list contained no reference to West Berlin.

The slogans, usually more than 110 in number, vary only slightly in wording from year to year, depending on changes in nuances or substance of Soviet policy.

PUBLISHED TWICE

The list is published twice annually for the May Day and Nov. 7 Revolution Day holidays.

The first reference to the Berlin problem appeared Oct. 4, 1959, in the slogans for Revolution Day.

Khrushchev set the stage for the East-West test of nerves over Berlin in November 1958 when he set a six-month deadline for the evacuation of Western troops from the city.

* * *

The deadline passed with the Allies standing firm. Khrushchev finally annulled it in talks with President Dwight D. Eisenhower during his visit to the United States in 1959.

SOVIET DEMANDS

The Soviet demands on Berlin continued in force, however, and references to it in holiday slogans were featured prominently.

Since Khrushchev's ouster, the new Kremlin leadership has built up the issues of German participation in the proposed multilateral nuclear force, alleged German "revanchism" and the punishment of Nazi war criminals.

* * *

New slogans embodying these points appeared today to fill in the gap caused by the elimination of the Berlin issue.

New Governor of S. Carolina Will Name Old One to Senate

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Robert McNair becomes governor of South Carolina today and will appoint Donald S. Russell, the man McNair replaces, to the U.S. Senate.

McNair, 41, will be inaugurated at noon in the State House before a joint session of the House and Senate. He will immediately appoint Russell to the Senate vacancy created by the death last Sunday of Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C.

* * *

McNair will be sworn in by Chief Justice Claude Taylor of the State Supreme Court. Plans call for him to go then to the governor's office and sign Russell's appointment.

McNair is an Allendale attorney who served that county for 11 years in the State House of Representatives. He was elected lieutenant governor in 1962.

BE SWORN IN

Russell, 59, plans to go to Washington Friday or early next week to be sworn in as South Carolina's junior, and Democratic, senator.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, now the state's senior senator, switched from the Democratic to the Republican party last September.

* * *

Both McNair and Russell will have to seek election to their new posts next year in the June Democratic primary and in the November general election. Republican opposition is likely for both in the general election.

* * *

Opposing for the Senate seat may be former U.S. Rep. Albert Watson. He switched from the Democratic to the Republican party in January and resigned from Congress to run for the seat as a Republican in a special election June 15.

GOP HOPEFUL

Mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for governor is J. Drake Edens, Columbia insurance executive and chairman of the state GOP.

Injury Pay Bill Is Approved

Dems Scale Down Measure at Wire

LANSING (AP)—The legislature approved a liberalized workmen's compensation bill Wednesday which Democrats scaled down at the last minute in hopes of winning Republican Gov. George Romney's signature.

After fruitless attempts at compromise with Republican legislators, Democrats in the House still knocked down injured worker benefit levels approved earlier by the Senate.

The Senate agreed to the lower scale — still without Republican support. But 10 House Republicans and a majority of the Senate GOP refrained from voting at all on the final decision.

The final bill grants injury benefits ranging from $64 for a worker with no dependents, $69 for a worker with one dependent and $6 for each additional dependent up to a top figure of $93 weekly.

The original Senate version was oh a $75 to $100 scale. The highest offer House Republicans made was for a $57 to $90 scale.

"We had strong indications that the governor would veto the bill as it came out of the Senate," said Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Labor Committee, "and we want this enacted into law."

Senate Labor Committee Chairman Sander Levin, D-Berkley, told Republicans that if they rejected the lowered scale, they were repudiating Weldon Yeager, Romney's appointed director of workmen's compensation, and the governor's workmen's compensation study commission.

Levin said the final scale was 9 to 10 per cent lower in cost than either Yeager's or the Romney commission proposals.

Benefits are limited to two-thirds of a worker's average weekly salary if that figure is lower than the dollar scale.

Benefits now range from $33 to $57.

The bill removes the 500-week limitation on benefits, extends widows' benefits from 450 to 500 weeks and takes the $10,500 ceiling off silicosis benefits.

A Sentimental Entertainer Pays Dawn Tribute to JFK

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Jimmy Durante arose at sun-up the other morning in Washington to visit the John F. Kennedy grave.

Jimmy went early because he had to catch a plane back to Los Angeles to open his act at Melodyland and Anaheim. He'd flown from Los Angeles to Washington the day before to entertain the American Society of Newspaper Editors at a midnight reception given by the Hall Syndicate. He had brought his whole troupe with him—Sonny King and Eddie Jackson from Las Vegas, pianist George Finley from Hollywood, and drummer Jack Roth from New York.

WILSON

Jimmy — 72 now, and hoping soon to give up night clubs and only play concerts —went to the Kennedy grave so early he couldn't find a flower store open. But he instructed a friend to place a wreath on the grave for him. Jimmy is a kindly man who regularly places flowers at the graves of his parents and of his first wife, who died many years ago.

Publishers are convening here — hope they have a good convention. And they should remember this from Capper's Weekly: "If you ever see an editor (or publisher) who pleases everybody, he will be neither sitting nor standing, and there will be a lot of flowers around him."

Ann-Margret and Roger Smith will marry within 3 months, their friends are saying. Roger took an engagement in El Paso at La Fiesta so he could skip across the Rio Grande to Juarez and get a divorce from actress Victoria Shaw. They have 3 children.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ed McMahon resents reports that Greenwich Villagers are switching rules and meanings of "The Game of Love" that his company produced, to vulgarize it. It's meant to be innocently Victorian but fun . . . A famous movie producer told a glamorous Hollywood star she's an "ingrate" and has been "malingering" . . . David Wayne's about set for the musical version of "The Yearling."

Bunche: HST's Views on King Showed Stupidity

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche says former President Harry S. Truman showed an "appalling display of ignorance" in his criticism of civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Bunche, undersecretary general of the United Nations, made the remark while addressing 1,200 students yesterday on the UCLA campus.

Noting that Truman recently referred to Dr. King as a troublemaker, Bunche said the former president evidently had "spoken from the hip again."

The United Nations Negro official also expressed disapproval of a Truman comment that the civil rights march on Montgomery, Ala., accomplished little.

He told a news conference earlier in the day that Negroes feel generally that the civil rights movement isn't going fast enough.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Singer Tommy Sands and Nancy Sinatra have announced plans to end their marriage of 4½ years.

The two were wed in Las Vegas in September 1960. The couple issued a joint statement last night in Hollywood saying they have agreed to "an amicable divorce because we have certain irreconcilable differences."

Sands is 28 and his wife, daughter of Frank Sinatra, is 24. They have no children.

She is working on a picture starring her father. It is entitled "Marriage on the Rocks."

Japanese Crown Princess Expecting Baby

THE PRINCESS in line to the throne.

Crown Princess Michiko, 30, is expecting a baby in December, the Japanese imperial household agency announced today in Tokyo.

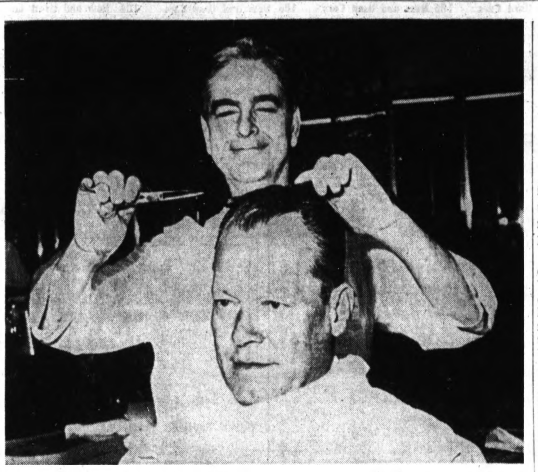

It said the crown princess is doing well and will continue her normal functions for some time.

Pianist Horowitz to Make Comeback

Vladimir Horowitz, 60, the famed Russian-born pianist who made his first concert appearance at the age of 17, is returning to the stage after a 12-year absence.

He announced yesterday in New York, he would play Sunday, May 9, at Carnegie Hall. He has been holding a series of midnight secret recitals at Carnegie Hall to "try out" the feeling of playing once again in public.

Italy Leader to End D.C. Visit Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Italian Premier Aldo Moro winds up his visit here today with a meeting with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Moro and President Johnson conferred for a second time Wednesday before issuing a communique which said the Italian leader "expressd his full understanding for the position and responsibilities of the United States."

★ ★ ★

Italian and American diplomats agree taht "understanding" is less than endorsement. But they noted that it was a word Moro had used during his two days of talks on Viet Nam at the White House and State Department.

Johnson spoke highly of the 48-year-old Italian leader during a two-lap walk with newsmen around the White House driveway Wednesday afternoon. "We were just as pleased as we could be about the results" of the meetings, the President said.

FINE IMPRESSION

Referring to Moro's attendance Tuesday at a Cabinet meeting, Johnson said "He made a fine impression. He sat all through the meeting. And he made an excellent statement at the end. Everybody applauded."

Moro said after his final talk with Johnson that the meetings provided us with the opportunity to review the deeper problems of our times."

★ ★ ★

Moro lay wreaths on the Tomb of the Unknowns, Presient John F. Kennedy's grave and George Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon. He conferred with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and was honored at a State Department luncheon by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Cat Gone 4 Months Made 300-Mile Trip

GRANTON, Scotland (UPI) — A pet Siamese cat which disappeared from Henley-in-Arden, England, has turned up at its old home here—300 miles away.

★ ★ ★

Anna, the 10-year-old pet of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, went with the family when they moved several months ago. Four months ago she disappeared—and returned to her old home last week.

TV's Efrem Zimbalist Jr.

Goes From Private Eye to FBI

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—From private eye to the FBI with only a season between:

THOMAS

A season ago, the actor finished a long run as star of "77 Sunset Strip."

He declared himself weary of the television grind and anxious to test his wings in feature films.

Recently he was announced to head one of next season's formidable entries, "The FBI Story," for which the government agency promised aid and support. What happened to Zimbalist during the interim?

"I became disillusioned with the rat race that working in features entails," he said. "To get roles in features you have to play the social bit—cozy up to these old-time producers who think the movie business is just what it used to be.

"Well, if that's what working in pictures entails, I say to hell with it. I would much rather be working in television, where you don't have to put up with that nonsense.

HARD WORK

"Sure, you work hard. But that never bothered me, as long as the material was good.

"I was bugged by the tripe we had to do on '77 Sunset Strip.' But I think it will be different this time."

The reason for his faith is the creator of the series, Quinn Martin, mastermind of such vehicles as "Fugitive" and "12 O'Clock High."

★ ★ ★

The producer sold the series to ABC and sponsors without a pilot, unusual in these times; when buyers like to see what they're getting.

DISILLUSIONMENT

Zimbalist was performing in the electronovision "Harlow" before going to work on the series.

His only other feature during the lull between television shows was "The Reward," which contributed to his disillusionment with movies.

It was directed by the French new-wave director, Serge Bourguignon, and members of the cast and crew still are shaking their heads over the experience.

★ ★ ★

"Picture this," Zimbalist said. "We were in the middle of Death Valley in the heat of summer — 120 degrees — and he took one scene 55 times. That's right: 55 times! We were all going nuts.

"They tell me they still can't tell what the ending is about. We're supposed to go back for retakes to straighten it out."

Queen Luci Shows LBJ Flair

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — It became apparent quickly that Luci Baines Johnson would be very much herself in her regal role as queen of the Azalea Festival here.

The 17-year-old younger daughter of the President showed her father's flair for the unexpected shortly after she arrived Wednesday to begin her five-day reign at the celebration.

★ ★ ★

She rerouted a motorcade and stopped it at a Negro elementary school. While gleeful children pressed around, she handed out ball-point pens of the festival.

Then she warned them: "Now, stop pushing or I can't give out any more pens."

HUMPHREYS DUE

Today, Luci was to welcome Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey to the festivities. They were scheduled to arrive in time for his speech at a noon luncheon and were to return to Washington shortly afterward.

Luci is to be crowned Saturday by her father while Mrs. Johnson and daughter Lynda look on.

During the rest of Wednesday's whirlwind of activities, Luci's regality did not obscure her bubbly and frank personality.

She took a helicopter sightseeing ride and described it as "thrilling and lots of fun." She said: "I saw a submarine."

RUN IN STOCKING

Back in her hotel after the day's activities, she told a woman reporter, "I've got a big run in my stocking but I'm just trying to pretend it isn't here until I can change it." And she added: "I see you have a run in your stocking too."

Luci also visited a home for the aged, a Negro children's hospital and Goodwill Industries.

Irish Premier Is Reelected

DUBLIN (UPI) — Premier Sean F. Lemass, who campaigned for a "modern Ireland," was reelected by parliament yesterday. The vote was 72-67 and the outcome was never in doubt.

Although Lemass' Fianna Fail party holds only half of the 144 seats in parliament, he obtained his wider margin when three independent deputies abstained. Another member was ill and did not vote.

Patrick Hogan of the opposition Labor party was elected speaker, a nonvoting post.

Parliament adjourned after the vote to allow the 66-year-old Lemass to drive to the home of President Eamon de Valera and reclaim his seal of office.

* * *

The Fianna Fail picked up as many seats in parliament as the combined opposition in national elections two weeks ago, and the results of yesterday's vote was a foregone conclusion. All 72 Fianna Fail members backed Lemass.

Parliament was to reconvene later to hear announcement of the new cabinet and debate Lemass' nominees for the ministerial posts.

Film Pair Silent About Bigamy Trial

ROME (AP) — Film producer Carlo Ponti and actress Sophia Loren flew to Paris today. They declined to comment on the bigamy trial they face in Italy, but Ponti said they planned "a honeymoon" in Jamaica.

The couple, who have been living together for years, said they were going to Paris because Miss Loren had three or four days work left on the movie "Lady L."

"Then we will spend a honeymoon in Jamaica," said Ponti. "At least this is our intention."

TV Wrestler Is Arrested for 'Acting' Rough

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Police Chief Clyde Adair was watching a local wrestling match on television and saw a possiblec rime committed.

The show featured Mario Galento who had won his match when a spectator climbed into the ring. The newcomer was Billy Boy Hies, also a wrestler.

The chief said Galento swung at Hines, hitting him in the face. With the blow, pennies scattered over the ring. Adair ordered an investigation.

Galento was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge for having a roll of pennies in his fist when he hit Hines. He was released on $77 bond pending a trial in Recorder's Court today.

The United States ranks first in the world in the production of electricity, with 42.5 per cent of the total. Russia is second with 9.1 per cent.

'Mason Partner' Fined for Drunken Driving

CAMARILLO, Calif. (UPI) — Actor William Hopper, who plays investigator Paul Drake on the Perry Mason television show, paid a $276 fine yesterday after pleading guilty to drunken driving.

Hopper, 50, was arrested Jan. 17. Police said his car drifted off the Pacific Coast highway south of Oxnard, Calif., and struck a parked auto. The actor escaped with minor injuries.

60,000,000 TIMES A DAY

The American people buy this many daily newspapers every day. Newspaper circulation has been climbing steadily ever since the appearance of America's first daily more than 180 years ago... and it's still growing. Last year daily newspaper circulation reached a record 60,412,266—an increase of more than 1,500,000 over 1963—the greatest single increase in almost 20 years!

HOW DAILY NEWSPAPER CIRCULATION HAS GROWN IN THE POST-WAR PERIOD

Source: Editor & Publisher

More people are buying newspapers today because newspapers have more to offer. Statistically, they carry more news in greater depth as well as more advertising than ever before.

There is hardly an American home that doesn't receive at least one daily newspaper regularly. People depend on their newspapers. Could you get along without yours?

U.S. Marines and Viet Cong Exchange Fire

American Wounded; Red Targets in North, South Hit From Air

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U. S. Marines fought their first extended clash with the Viet Cong today as American and Vietnamese planes bombed and strafed Communist targets in both North and South Viet Nam.

During an eight-hour patrol into a valley, outside the Da Nang airbase, the Marines tangled twice with the Communist guerrillas. One American was wounded slightly, and two others collapsed with heat prostration.

The operation included the first helicopter assault landing of U.S. Marines in South Viet Nam.

Three squadrons of Vietnamese propeller-driven fighter-bombers — the largest Vietnamese air unit flown so far — attacked a base in North Viet Nam and reported they destroyed it.

★ ★ ★

The target was identified as a base near the My Duc bridge, 30 miles north of the 17th Parallel. The bridge itself had been attacked and destroyed in earlier raids.

PLANE DOWNED

One of the Vietnamese planes was downed but was believed

See Story, Page A-10

lost as the result of bad weather rather than enemy fire, a Vietnamese spokesman said.

U.S. Navy fighter-bombers made five raids during the night on road traffic in North Viet Nam. No planes were lost and groundfire was reported minimal.

Pilots reported destroying nine trucks and damaging eight in strafing attacks on three separate convoys.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Air Force and Marine jets flew 43 sorties against Viet Cong installations and guerrillas in South Viet Nam. In An Xuyen Province, 19 B57 jet bomber sorties resulted in a claim of 53 Viet Cong structures destroyed.

EXCHANGE FIRE

On the ground, the Marine patrol from Da Nang exchanged machine-gun fire and hurled grenades across a rice field as the Communist guerrillas retreated.

It was the Marines' first extended clash with the enemy since they landed in Viet Nam six weeks ago. Previous contact had been limited to Communist sniping and grenades directed at Marine positions around Da Nang Air Base.

A reserve company of Marines was moved in by helicopter. More reinforcements were standing by at Da Nang, ready for airlift if the fighting broadened.

The Marines had the Commu-

Expect Strike Sanction

Steel Crisis Nearing

AP Photofax

"NOT TOO TIGHT NOW"—United Steelworkers Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel (left) helps union President David McDonald adjust a microphone at a news conference in Pittsburgh yesterday. The two men are rivals in a contested election for the union presidency. "No progress" was the report for current contract negotiations with steel firms.

Union Leaders Hold Strategy Talks Today

Parties Separated by 13-Cent-an-Hour Gap in Bid to Write Pact

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Governing bodies of the United Steelworkers Union meet today under darkening strike clouds.

The wage policy committee was expected to sanction a May 1 strike against the basic steel industry. A walkout would idle 425,000 workers.

A meeting of the union's executive board was scheduled earlier.

Negotiators for both sides said yesterday that after weeks of bargaining they have gotten nowhere in attempts to write a new national steel pact. They rejected each other's proposals.

★ ★ ★

Steelmakers are bracing for a strike. Preliminary shutdown instructions have gone out to mill superintendents.

13-CENT GAP

Negotiators are separated by a 13-cent an hour gap. The 11 major producers offered five cents. The union demanded 18 cents.

The hard-and-fast positions have plunged steel labor relations to the lowest point since 1959's epic 116-day strike.

The intervening years were peaceful, if not cordial.

A shutdown of the nation's vital steelmaking facilities could cripple the booming economy — either in fact or psychologically.

In the past, especially in strike years, the union used the wage policy committee's "strike" mandates as weapons in continuing negotiations.

For that reason, a "strike" vote doesn't necessarily mean there will be a strike. The union's idea is to show the companies it isn't kidding.

Steelmakers say that all they would get for an 18-cent an hour boost would be assurance that the union would not strike for 3½ months.

Jury Report on Liuzzo Killing Due

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A grand jury reports its findings today in the investigation of the night rider slaying of a 39-year-old white civil rights worker.

The Lowndes County jury of 18 white men completed its investigation yesterday into the ambush slaying of Viola Liuzzo of Detroit and of several other cases.

See Story, Page C-5

It reportedly returned some indictments, but their nature will not be known until after the formal report today and until those indicted have been taken into custody.

Among those questioned by the jury was Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 34, of Birmingham, who was arrested by federal authorities after the Liuzzo slaying but later released.

ONE OF FOUR

Rowe was one of four Ku Klux Klansmen arrested on federal civil rights charges March 26, the day after Mrs. Liuzzo was shot to death in her car near Lowndesboro.

A federal grand jury meeting in Montgomery earlier this month indicted the other three men on charges of conspiring to injure persons in the exercise of their constitutional rights.

Those indicted were Eugene Thomas, 42, an employe of U.S. Steel at Bessemer; Collie LeRoy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, a self-employed mechanic; and William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer, a retired steelworker.

Rowe was not indicted and the charge against him subsequently was dismissed. The New York Times said Rowe had been working as an undercover agent for the FBI. Federal authorities, including the FBI, and state officials refused to comment on the report.

Judge Gets Results of Tests on Belcher

The results of a psychological test given to convicted murderer Harry M. Belcher were delivered to Circuit Judge Philip Pratt yesterday, but will not be made public.

Pratt said that the information contained in the four-page report is confidential and under a state law he is prohibited to reveal the contents.

The report was presented to Pratt by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, who ordered the test April 12, three days after Belcher was found guilty by a jury of killing his wife.

According to Bronson, the results of the tests would have no bearing on Belcher's conviction, but would only be used for background data for the judge.

Mrs. Belcher and her six children, ranging in age from 2 to 8 years, died in a fire at their Ferndale home Jan. 25.

★ ★ ★

Belcher was accused of setting the blaze. He has denied it.

MANDATORY SENTENCE

The 32-year-old tool and supply shop manager is to be sentenced for first-degree murder April 28 by Judge Pratt. The conviction carries a mandatory life sentence in prison.

Pratt said he would study the report and consider it but if he made any reference to it, it would be from the bench at the time of sentencing.

The test was conducted by Drs. John McBride and Andrew Yang.

Bronson asked for the test, he said, after he became concerned with Belcher's attitude to the entire case when he took the witness stand during the last two days of an eight-day trial.

"His demeanor and answers first lead us to think we might not be dealing with a reasonable man," Bronson said at the time.

WILLIAM A. EWART

City Attorney to Resign July 1

Plans to Open a Law Office in Birmingham

William A. Ewart, Pontiac city attorney for the past 33 years, announced today that he will resign his post July 1 to resume private practice.

★ ★ ★

Ewart said he plans to open a law office in Birmingham.

In his letter of resignation addressed to the City Commission, Ewart said that it was with deepest regret that he is submitting the resignation necessitated by his decision to practice law.

Ewart was named city attorney in April 1932.

★ ★ ★

He had graduated from the University of Detroit in 1925 and was a practicing attorney in Pontiac from October of that year until his appointment to the city post.

ONTARIO NATIVE

A native of London, Ont. Ewart, 63, came to Pontiac in 1912. He and his wife, Regina, live at 446 W. Iroquois.

Ewart is the senior member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors with 33 years of service.

Currently he is conducting the city's lawsuit against the Sam Allen & Sons Inc. scrap yard.

★ ★ ★

The firm was taken to court by the City of Pontiac and 15 residents who claim it is a nuisance and is in violation of zoning.

The trial is in its third week.

Showers Expected Friday, Saturday

Umbrellas will be in style the next two days, says the weatherman.

A few showers are expected late tomorrow, showers and thundershowere predicted for Saturday.

Tomorrow also will be cloudy. Highs from 58 to 66 are forecast.

The low mercury reading this morning was 39. At 1 p.m., the thermometer read 52 in downtown Pontiac.

Rising Mississippi Aims Fury at Illinois

By the Associated Press

Rising Mississippi floodwaters carved a half-mile swath in Dubuque, Iowa, stayed at a record crest in La Crosse, Wis., and aimed their fury at Illinois today.

La Crosse dug in for two more days of record flooding that prompted Gov. Warren P. Knowles to comment, "That's enough to make you cry."

The 17.7-foot crest was 7.7 feet above flood stage and 2.4 feet higher than the record of 1952.

Dubuque, a city of 57,000 at the Iowa-Illinois-Wisconsin junction, fought to stave off waters that were expected to crest at 26 feet tomorrow or Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The water covered a seven- or eight-block area of factories, small businesses and some homes. It covered parking meters and forced residents to flee their homes by boat.

ASKS LEGAL ADVICE

Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa said he was asking legal advice on whether police could evict some 1,000 South Davenport residents who refused to leave their homes despite warnings of rising water.

Hughes estimated flood damage at $15 million and said the waters have forced from their homes over 3,000 persons.

At Hudson, Wis., just above the St. Croix River's junction with the Mississippi, ice chunks severely damaged a $600,000 marina. The floes swept 100 docks as far as five miles downstream. Tugboats hauled away docks that jammed against the Interstate 94 bridge. Damage came to $200,000, a spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson declared as disaster areas the tier of Wisconsin counties that took the Mississippi's worst beating. The state's toll comes to two dead, one missing, some 14,000 persons affected and damage totaling $18.7 million.

Civil Defense authorities estimated that some 3,000 Illinois residents had left their homes from the northwest tip the middle of the state's western border. The great danger area, they said, was just north of the quad cities — Rock Island, Moline, East Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

No flood deaths have occurred in Illinois. Damage estimates would be impossible, Civil Defense authorities said.

Repeat Session

Driver School Is Set

Drivers concerned with traffic safety will gather tonight at the City Commission Chambers at City Hall for a driver school.

Tonight's class is a repeat of the session which was held two weeks ago and met with overwhelming success.

At the opening session, scores of persons were turned away from the Municipal Court offices in the public safety building.

Therefore, tonight's repeat performance was scheduled in larger quarters to accommodate persons who couldn't get in to the initial session.

The school, which begins at 7:30 p.m., is sponsored by the Pontiac police, the Automobile Club and the Pontiac Press.

CLASS INSTRUCTOR

Instructor for the school will be Patrolman Billie Irwin of the Pontiac police.

Topics to be discussed will include driver attitude, car maintenance, speed, how to signal for turns and maneuvering, freeway driving and the pedestrian.

Persons attending the school will be given a "take home" driver quiz and a speed and distance chart.

The class, which is free, will last 75 minutes.

New Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced yesterday it had set off a weapons-related underground nuclear test at its experimental area in Nevada. The explosion, with a force of less than 20,000 tons of TNT, was the eighth announced this year.

Killer's Wife to Be Exhumed

Oakland County Medical Examiner Dr. Bernard Berman today ordered the body of Angela J. Foster, first wife of convicted killer Carl F. Foster, exhumed and a post-mortem performed.

She was found hanged in the basement of their home at 355 Oakland on Feb. 28, 1964. The death was ruled a suicide.

★ ★ ★

Foster, 25, of 286 S. East Blvd. was sentenced to 10-15 years in the Michigan State Prison at Jackson after pleading guilty to a manslaughter charge in the killing of a Bloomfield Township divorcee Mrs. Maurice Crook.

Dr. Berman ordered the body of Foster's first wife removed from Mount Hope Cemetery in Pontiac after Pontiac Police Detective Sgt. John DePauw testified at a hearing into the matter at the Oakland County Courthouse this morning.

DePauw said he had good reason to believe she had met her death by a means of violence "or in consequence of a crime by a known person."

Police had been secretly investigating circumstances surrounding her death for several weeks.

Put Balanced Budget First—Romney

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney promises to present alternate state tax revision proposals next month.

But in the wake of his fiscal reform discussion yesterday with legislators, talk grew of isolated tax changes to keep budgets balanced over the next three years, if no over-all fiscal reform is enacted.

Romney told legislators that spiraling costs will mean at least a $925 million budget for 1967-68—but that under its present revenue system Michigan would fall $140 million to $150 million short of balancing such a budget.

"Maintaining the state's integrity and good name becomes even more important than fiscal reform," he told the legislators, adding:

★ ★ ★

"The one thing Michigan cannot afford is another period of difficulty, deficit and deficiency of the type from which we recently emerged....."

PROTECTION

"If protecting this state's financial integrity can also include tax reform, well and good. But, if saving this state's financial integrity cannot include tax reform, then it is infinitely better for us to do whatever else is necessary to protect and preserve the financial integrity."

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Taxation Committee, echoed this sentiment.

Montgomery declared that "we have no intention of failing to balance the budget this year or next."

★ ★ ★

But he also doubts that any income tax—generally seen as a vital ingredient of over-all fiscal reform—could be enacted this year unless appropriations ran $100 million higher than projected revenues.

FISCAL REFORM

Fiscal reform would involve overhaul of the state tax structure. But budget-balancing could involve merely rate changes in existing taxes or some new revenue source.

The so-called nuisance taxes of 1962 amounted to a budget-balancing scheme.

Romney's promise to present alternative revenue proposals was the first move he has made this year toward a specific fiscal reform. He had refused to be specific, pending a sensing of legislative sentiment on tax overhaul.

Democrats, in the legislative majority, have continually hammered at the Republican governor to give them a tax program to consider. Romney has countered by asking for joint development of a program.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday's meeting involved those legislators appointed by party caucuses in each house to study fiscal reform.

They agreed to meet again to here Romney's alternatives and to try to reach agreement on estimated expenditure and revenue figures for the next three years.

Romney's proposed $788 million budget for 1965-66 includes a $32 million dip into an anticipated treasury surplus of $104 million on June 30.

He said an $872-million budget in 1966-67 would drain the rest of the surplus while merely continuing existing services and those proposed for this coming year.

Another year of the same programs, because of population growth, would put the general operating budget up to $925 million in 1967-68, he told the legislators.

No Dedication Without Librarian

Waterford's Historic Day Is Delayed

Sunday was to have been an historic day in Waterford Township.

A brand new, ultramodern library building was to have been dedicated.

Township officials and civic leaders were to have spoken.

A flag was to have been raised and a throng of proud citizens was to have toured the edifice.

★ ★ ★

But, due to an unforeseen turn of events, the dedication plans have been shelved, at least until the middle of May.

NO LIBRARIAN

The problem being the library has no librarian.

Like a riderless horse or a ship without a captain, a library without a librarian seemed somewhat incomplete so the postponement was in order.

Since Mrs. Polly Lee resigned as librarian April 9, the new library has been operated by her former assistants.

★ ★ ★

The township is actively seeking a new librarian.

14.6 Per Cent Rate Hike Set by Auto Club

DETROIT (AP) — The Automobile Club of Michigan announced today that it will increase insurance rates an average of 14.6 per cent for some 570,000 policyholders, effective May 1.

★ ★ ★

The Auto Club's insurance exchange is the largest auto insurer in Michigan, covering about one-fourth of the state's drivers.

Need for the increase was blamed on rising accident costs by Paul Erickson, exchange general manager.

"We have done everything possible to avert an increase," he said. "Accident costs keep rising, and the injury rate in Michigan climbed 14 per cent last year, along with a 13 per cent death increase.

NO SIGN

"Even if the accident increase stops — and we see no sign that it will — further increases in auto insurance rates may be necessary to keep up with increasing costs."

The Auto Club's rates boost is only one of several in the state recently.

★ ★ ★

State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson has approved premium increases for 75 other companies since Jan. 1.

Auto Club officials predicted every other company will have raised Michigan rates by the end of the year.

Erickson said that during 1964, the auto club paid out $1.12 for every dollar it took in to settle claims and operate the business.

Detroit Plans Culture Center

100-Acre Site to Be Biggest in the World

DETROIT (AP) — Plans for development of a $250 million cultural center in Detroit, described as "second to none in the world," were discussed Wednesday.

The project would encompass a 100-acre section on the city's near north side and include a number of apartments encircling a landscaped parkland with theaters and museums.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh indicated the city would seek federal funds to acquire and clear the land just east of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Charles Blessing, director of the City Plan Commission, said the entire development probably would not be completed until 1985 or 1990.

FIVE BUILDINGS

Blessing said five major public buildings would be constructed under the plan. They are a planetarium, a musical arts center, a theater arts center, a museum of science and technology, and a hall of man and natural history.

Parking space would be provided for 5,750 cars in the basements of four of the five new buildings at a cost of about $18 million.

City Engineer Clyde Palmer said acquiring and clearing the land alone would cost about $22 million and landscaping about $47 million.

Cost of construction of five public buildings is expected to be about $160 million.

Private developers would be expected to build eight or 10 high-rise apartment buildings and scores of low level terrace apartments at a cost of about $100 million.

Birmingham Area News

Bloomfield Twp. Hearing Set

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Residents Monday night will have their say on a proposed $37,000 increase in the township operating budget.

The 1965-66 budget tentatively approved by the Township Board would set the unit's spending at $714,100 for the next fiscal year.

Public hearing on the budget has been scheduled for 9 p.m.

The increase over this year's $677,000 budget is reflected in the greater financial requirements of the township's growing police, fire and building departments.

Officials estimate the unit's income for next year at $684,917, if the property tax allocation remains at 1.35 mills.

ADDITIONAL FUNDS

Balancing the budget will be additional funds from the excess on the tax roll, gasoline tax rebate and sale of equipment.

The largest chunk of the budget would be used for the police department, which is seeking a $20,000 increase to take its total to $254,800. Police salaries for both regular and auxiliary officers would account for $185,000.

The fire department sum would be boosted from $175,900 to $194,900 and would include $164,000 for salaries.

★ ★ ★

Employes in both department are to receive $400 raises next year.

$7,100 REDUCTION

The $219,300 planned for operation of general government offices would mark a $7,100 reduction from this year's figure.

Costs of operating the building are estimated at $65,100, compared to $60,300 this year. However, the department expects to add some $75,000 to the township's income.

Other revenue will include property tax, $213,942; special mileage for fire department and road improvement, $149,544; sales tax funds, $170,000; liquor and intangible taxes, $34,500; water and sewer department rental, $24,000; and justice court $9,000.

State Sen. Sander M. Levin, D-Berkley, will discuss "Lansing from the Inside" at tonight's Birmingham Democratic Club meeting.

★ ★ ★

The 8 p.m. program will be held at the home of the club's vice president, Mrs. Robert E. Heilbrunn, 921 Arden.

Trial Is Delayed for County Clerk in Driving Case

The trial of Oakland County Clerk John D. Murphy, scheduled to begin yesterday in Birmingham Municipal Court, has been postponed until May 12, at the request of Murphy's attorney.

★ ★ ★

Charged with driving under the influence of liquor March 31, Murphy stood mute at his arraignment and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf.

Murphy, 51, of 710 Catalpa, Royal Oak, was released on a $100 personal bond.

The postponement was granted because his attorney, J. Robert Sterling has a conflicting case in Circuit Court.

★ ★ ★

The three-week delay was necessitated because Sterling plans to leave on a vacation following the Circuit Court case.

Compensation Bill Scaled Down, OK'd

LANSING (AP)—The legislature approved a liberalized workmen's compensation bill Wednesday which Democrats scaled down at the last minute in hopes of winning Republican Gov. George Romney's signature.

After fruitless attempts at compromise with Republican legislators, Democrats in the House still knocked down injured worker benefit levels approved earlier by the Senate.

The Senate agreed to the lower scale — still without Republican support. But 10 House Republicans and a majority of the Senate GOP refrained from voting at all on the final decision.

The final bill grants injury benefits ranging from $64 for a worker with no dependents, $69 for a worker with one dependent and $6 for each additional dependent up to a top figure of $93 weekly.

The original Senate version was on a $75 to $100 scale. The highest offer House Republicans made was for a $57 to $90 scale.

"We had strong indications that the governor would veto the bill as it came out of the Senate," said Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Labor Committee, "and we want this enacted into law."

Senate Labor Committee Chairman Sander Levin, D-Berkley, told Republicans that if they rejected the lowered scale, they were repudiating Weldon Yeager, Romney's appointed director of workmen's compensation, and the governor's workmen's compensation study commission.

Levin said the final scale was 9 to 10 per cent lower in cost than either Yeager's or the Romney commission proposals.

Benefits are limited to two-thirds of a worker's average weekly salary if that figure is lower than the dollar scale.

Benefits now range from $33 to $57.

The bill removes the 500-week limitation on benefits, extends widows' benefits from 450 to 500 weeks and takes the $10,500 ceiling off silicosis benefits.

Marines and Cong Exchange Gunfire

nist guerillas in retreat across the flat terrain. Moving fast and aggressively, throwing grenades into potential enemy positions as they advanced, the Marines planned to keep pushing and maintain contact with the Reds as long as possible.

MARINE PATROL

This morning a reconnaissance patrol of 41 Marines was moving through Viet Cong-infested country, accompanied by 30 Vietnamese militiamen, six civil affairs officers and two Vietnamese interpreters.

Soon after dawn they arrived at Binh Thai hamlet and learned that anti-American Viet Cong leaflets were being distributed. The villagers confirmed that guerrillas were in the area.

At 8:20 a.m. the beating of a drum in the distance sounded a Viet Cong alarm. At 10:15, heavy enemy machine-gun fire began coming in from all directions.

The Marines, who had been hoping to get into a fight, quickly replied to the fire and called for the reserve company. They arrived in 30 minutes.

With Viet Cong fire blazing over the landing area, the reconnaissance company commander, Capt. Pat Collins of Grosse Ile, Mich., ran out into the field alone to guide the helicopters in.

Gives History of Scrap Yard

The president of Sam Allen & Sons, Inc., a local scrap dealer, said yesterday in Circuit Court that the site where a pulverizing machine is now located has been basically used for the same purpose since the early 1940s.

Harold Allen, testifying for the second day, explained that the property was used for breaking up metal for the scrap drive during World War II, served as a reclaiming operation during the Korean War and from 1960 to last spring was the site of an incinerator.

The city of Pontiac and 15 residents living near the junk yard at 22 Congress contend that the firm extended the nonconforming use of the property by installing the machine, and is in violation of the zoning code.

They are seeking a permanent court injunction against the company, which they charge in their suit is a nuisance.

★ ★ ★

Allen admitted that the machine produced some smoke "but not any worse than that coming from trains or other scrap yards in the area."

REDUCED NOISE

He said that when the machine was first installed "It was very noisy" but that he took measures to lessen the sound by encasing it and installing rubber matting.

No matter what is done, said Allen, "the sound of metal against metal or a magnet hitting a gondola car can't be stopped."

The nonjury trial in its third week, is being heard by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

Area Man Elected to Publisher Board

Hal Boyle on Way to Viet War Front

By The Associated Press

Hal Boyle, 54, Associated Press human interest columnist for 21 years, is en route to his third assignment to a major armed conflict—Viet Nam.

Boyle, whose daily column appears in approximately 500 afternoon newspapers, was war correspondent for the Associated Press in Africa and Europe in World War II where his frontline stories of GIs in action won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945.

★ ★

In 1950 he volunteered for Associated Press duty in Korea, and reported on front-line activities during the heaviest fighting on that peninsula. There he won the Veterans of Foreign War's gold medal award for "outstanding contribution to national security." He also received the Overseas Press Club top award for best reporting in radio, television and newspapers.

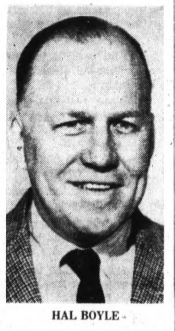

Boyle's column was born under fire in Salerno, Italy, in 1943 and has been a continuous Associated Press feature since. Following the surrender of Japan he traveled around the world, writing stories from 65 countries.

SOUTH VIET NAM

Boyle's five-day-a-week column will be written from South Viet Nam during his assignment abroad.

In 1951, in presenting the VFW gold medal, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, then chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of Boyle:

"I am pleased that this award goes to a friend I have known so long. He is the soldier's friend. I don't know anyone who knows fighting at the front so well, or anyone who has written so well about it."

HAL BOYLE

Boyle, who has been dubbed "The Poor Man's Philosopher" and the "Pavement Plato," is a native of Kansas City, Mo., where he started his AP career in 1928 as a copyboy at 17.

He was night city editor of the New York AP bureau in 1942 when he first went overseas.

Plan Close Study of Budget for Troy

TROY — For the next 3½ weeks, Troy city commissioners will be poring over a complex, $1,756,605 budget proposed this week for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

The proposed budget compares with the 1964-65 budget of $1,460,495.

The commission has until May 17 to act on the budget proposed by City Manager Paul York, which would raise taxes to meet increased capital expenses.

If approved the way it now stands, the budget would have the effect of hiking taxes by $1.40 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

★ ★ ★

York said the increase is due to a need to use more of the five mills allowed for capital expenses than has been used in the past.

CURRENT RATE

During the current fiscal year, the city taxed property owners a little more than one mill ($1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) for capital expenses.

With increased capital needs, some of which are tied in with the new city hall, York is asking the commission to raise the millage used for capital expenses to 3.37 mills.

Another five mills allowed for operating expenses have been used almost to the limit in the current budget, but will decrease slightly in the new one unless it is changed.

★ ★ ★

The city can collect a total of 10 mills altogether, five for capital and five for operating.

ELECTION FAILED

An effort to eliminate the five-mill restriction on both categories failed April 5 when voters turned down a proposed charter amendment that would have allowed the commission to spend the 10 mills in whatever proportion it deemed best.

AREA NEWS

The proposed budget includes the following amounts for the various accounts:

General fund, $1,057,815; refuse disposal, $65,000; equipment pool, $77,450; water supply system, $266,150; and capital fund, $290,190.

REVENUES MATCH

Estimated 1965-66 revenues match anticipated expenditures in all accounts except the equipment pool, where revenues of $85,000 are expected.

York explained that the equipment pool section is "self-supporting," and that any difference between expenses and revenues goes toward purchase of new equipment.

Outlining the reasons for increased expenditures in both operating and capital portions of the budget, York said he is proposing that the city make the following steps:

- Add five patrolmen to the police department.
- Add a fire marshal, a new fire truck and purchase four future fire station sites.
- Add another building inspector and a plumbing inspector to the city staff.
- Hire a full-time city planner when the new city hall is completed.
- Purchase at least two park sites.
- Divert the existing city hall for use as a library and hire a full-time librarian at that time (when the new city hall is completed).
- Spend about $95,000 at the civic center for improvements such as paving and utility installation. This is in addition to the $95,000 estimated cost of furnishing and equipping the new city hall.

NEW MUNICIPAL BUILDING — Now being completed in South Lyon is the community's new city hall at 214 W. Lake. The cement block and brick building, designed by Herbert Munzel of Brighton, now houses the offices of the city clerk, treasurer-assessor and police department. They have moved from their former headquarters in a converted house at 501 W. Liberty.

Guild Slates Luncheon at Detroit Club

WOOD CREEK FARMS — The annual spring fashion show and luncheon sponsored by the Seton Guild of the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Home for Children is scheduled for April 29.

The event will be held at the Detroit Golf Club, 17911 Hamilton, Detroit.

An 11:30 a.m. hospitality hour will precede the luncheon, to be served at 12:30 p.m.

Spring and summer's newest fashions will be presented during the style show by B. Siegel Co.

Proceeds from the party will be applied toward the purchase of a new school bus for the home, which is operated by the Sisters of Charity.

SCHOOL TRANSPORTATION

The bus is needed to transport the children to and from the schools they attend. There are more than 100 school-age children at the home.

Members of the guild can be contacted for ticket information.

Metamora PTA Slates School Bazaar Friday

METAMORA — School recreational equipment will be the goal of the Metamora Parent-Teacher Organization when it holds a school bazaar tomorrow at the Metamora Town Hall, beginning at 3 p.m.

Featured will be a white elephant booth, baked goods, fish pond, fancy work booth, apron tree and rummage sale. The public is invited.

To New Building

South Lyon Officials Move

SOUTH LYON — Although workmen still are putting finishing touches on the structure, the South Lyon city offices are being operated from new headquarters.

Clerk Anna B. Snell, Treasurer-Assessor Gail Smolarz and the police department have moved their offices into the new city hall at 214 W. Lake.

Only the police department's two jail cells remain incomplete.

Landscaping and development of a paved parking lot on the site are next in order and are expected to be finished within a month or six weeks.

The cement block and brick structure was designed by Herbert Munzel of Brighton. F. J. Weinburger of Northville is the general contractor.

COST OF STRUCTURE

Cost of the structure is expected to total about $50,000. Borrowed from the city's water and sewer fund, the amount is being repaid at the rate of $3,000 a year.

In the new city hall, the mayor's office and council chamber are combined in one room. It can be separated by a folding door from a 23- by 38-foot public meeting room.

Also off the entryway are the offices of the clerk and treasurer-assessor.

★ ★ ★

A corridor leads to the police department office, interrogation room, detention cells, storage area and an office designated for the use of the city's justice of the peace.

OPERATED IN A HOUSE

Until the new building was constructed, city offices had been operated in a house at 501 W. Liberty, which had been converted for municipal use.

The first city offices were in an old commercial building at Lafayette and Detroit.

★ ★ ★

About eight or nine years ago an underground stream weakened the foundation of the building and it collapsed.

Science Day at Avondale Is Monday

Monday will be Science Day at Avondale Senior High School, where students in general biology and general science will set up competing exhibits for judging and display.

Projects are expected to cover zoology, botany, physics, earth science and astronomy.

They will be judged by several area residents and educators, beginning at 1 p.m. with interviews of the exhibitors.

Ratings of superior, excellent, good or satisfactory will be awarded, based on knowledge achieved, scope of the project, explanation of the project and originality of the display.

★ ★ ★

Appropriate ribbons and certificates will be placed on each exhibit. All will be on display for the public between 7 and 9 p.m. Monday.

School officials have invited parents and interested residents of the Avondale School District to view the students' work at that time.

Singers and Dancers Galore Set for Avon Players Production

ROCHESTER — Large singing and dancing choruses are being readied for the June 4, 5, 10, 11 and 12 production of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" by the Avon Players.

The musical at Central Junior High School will wind up the 1964-65 season of the group. Curtain time each night will be 8:30.

Directing the show is Mrs. Adele Carraher, who starred in such past musical productions as "Oklahoma" and "Kiss Me Kate." She is assisted by Mrs. Bonnie Stratton.

Mrs. Stratton was the star of "Majority of One" last year and the mother in this year's staging of "Come Blow Your Horn."

★ ★ ★

The lead role of Lorelei Lee in the upcoming production will be played by Mrs. Gloria Lusk.

OTHERS IN CAST

Other cast members are Mrs. Norma Baker, Jarvis Lamb, Ray Contrucci, Mrs. Dawn Bourez, Ed Howe, Darryl Zink, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Rolderness, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Don Davy, Bill Heckt, Al Szcaesny, Marty McMurray, Phil Trimble and Rochester Village Councilman John Boeberitz.

★ ★ ★

Musical director for the show is Mrs. Marianne Currie, and Mrs. Margie Montross is the choreographer. Mrs. Betty Lamb is the executive producer.

Smorgasbord Is Set at School Sunday

ORCHARD LAKE — A smorgasbord dinner will be served Sunday by members of the Mother's Club of Our Lady of Refuge School.

The annual event, open to the public, is scheduled for 3 to 6 p.m. at the school social hall, 3750 Commerce.

★ ★ ★

The menu will include beef, ham, turkey, chicken, stuffed cabbage, Swedish meat balls, various salads, vegetables, rolls, desserts, coffee, tea and milk.

Mrs. Frank Baranski of 7921 Eldora, West Bloomfield Township, is chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Ronald Proulx of 3575 Knollview, West Bloomfield Township.

2 Die in Crash; 1 From County

A Farmington Township man was one of two killed in a head-on automobile collision near Flint last night.

★ ★ ★

Max G. Beck, 29, of 22016 Tredwell, Farmington Township, and Clyde Perkins Jr., 36, of Flint were dead on arrival at Flint's Hurley Hospital following the 9:40 p.m. accident.

State Police from the Flint post said the two men were passengers in a car driven by Gwendolyn Gambill, 25, of Flint.

The woman's car collided head-on with one driven by Robert Colby, 39, of Swartz Creek when she started to pass a vehicle on Bristol Road near Bishop Airport in Flint Township, police said.

★ ★ ★

Six other persons were hospitalized as a result of the accident, which still is under investigation.

Attorney to Direct Macomb Observance

Queen Elizabeth's Birthday Party Turns Into Vaudeville Act

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's birthday party turned into a hilarious vaudeville act Wednesday night before a widely cheering audience in a London theater.

The queen obviously loved every minute of it.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday was the queen's 39th birthday, and Prince Philip took her and a small party to see Irish comedian Spike Milligan in a play based on the Russian novel "Oblomov."

Among the royal guests were actor Peter Sellers and his Swedish wife, Britt Ekland. Milligan and Sellers are old buddies and soon turned the play into a double act, with Milligan gagging from the stage and Sellers from the royalty row in the stalls.

Milligan stopped the show just after the opening curtain as an embarrassed foursome arrived late and took seats just in front of the queen.

"Turn up the house lights," cried Spike. "Start everything again.

★ ★ ★

"That's cost you your knighthood," he told the blushing latecomers.

Then he cried: "Is there a Sellers in the house?"

Sellers, sitting between Prince Charles and Princess Margaret, yelled, "Yes."

"Why," demanded Milligan, "Does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces (suspenders)?"

★ ★ ★

Sellers quickly swung into the old vaudeville routine with "I don't know. Why does Prince Philip wear red, white and blue braces?"

The classic reply to that ancient chestnut is "to keep his pants up" but whatever Milligan said was lost in the audience's laughter.

TAKEN TO BED

In the final scene Milligan, playing a Russian landowner who had taken to his bed rather than face the world, was joined between the sheets by his pretty housekeeper. The star waved a warning finger toward 16-year-old Prince Charles and shouted: "Philip, get that lad out of here."

Milligan also threw in an imitation of Queen Victoria, kicked a slipper into the audience, narrowly missing Prince Philip's head, and appeared for his final curtain call with a sword with which he invited the queen to knight him.

★ ★ ★

Her majesty declined, and instead Milligan and others in the cast were invited back to the birthday supper at Princess Margaret's home in Kensington Palace.

Boost Reward in Sex Killings

Two Publishing Firms Add $5,000 to Total

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—A $5,000 reward was offered Wednesday by two newspaper publishing firms for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for three sex slayings here.

★ ★ ★

It swells to $6,284.50 the reward total being offered.

The new amount was offered by the Palladium Publishing Co., which publishes the Benton Harbor News-Palladium and operates radio station WHFB, and its affiliate Herald-Press Co., which publishes the St. Joseph Herald-Press.

The development was announced jointly by Stanley R. Banyon, president of the Palladium Publishing Co., and Willard J. Banyon, president of the Herald-Press Co.

SEEK LEAD

Investigators, meanwhile, sought a firm lead to the slayer of 7-year-old Diane Carter; Mrs. Amelia Boyer, 60, and Mrs. Mary Esther Jones, 37, whose mutilated bodies were discovered April 4 near a Watervliet orchard some 10 miles east of here.

★ ★ ★

All had lived within blocks of each other in the Benton Harbor-Benton Township area.

Police believe the slayer also was responsible for the death of Delores Young, 19, whose body was found Feb. 16 in a home destroyed here earlier by fire.

Hopes Dim for Talks Between Dr. King, Boston Schoolmen

BOSTON (AP) — Negotiations have broken down in attempts to arrange talks between Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the school committee as the city prepares for a civil rights march of an anticipated 25,000 persons.

An end to slum housing and racial imbalance in schools are the goals of the march.

Dr. King arrives today and will be greeted at the state house by Gov. John A. Volpe, who has promised to take action in the racial imbalance issue if the school committee does not.

Dr. King, a leader of the national civil rights movement and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, also planned a tour of housing and schools in the predominantly Negro Roxbury section during the morning and an address before the legislature in the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Part of his purpose in coming to Boston was to attend a meeting of local Negro leaders and the school committee.

MEET AT OFFICE

But after a visit at the school committee's Beacon Street offices yesterday, the Rev. Virgil Wood, head of the Boston branch of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said only Dr. King would be allowed to address the committee.

"This is nonsense," Wood said, "Dr. King wouldn't presume to speak for the local people."

In view of the stand taken by committee chairman Louise Day Hicks, he said, Dr. King would not meet with the committee.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, the city went ahead with preparations for the massive parade tomorrow and the Boston Common rally, which civil rights leaders expected to be attended by some 50,000 persons.

30 COMMUNITIES

Delegations from some 30 communities surrounding Boston indicated they would be on hand. Traffic officials were taking steps to avoid tie-ups in the areas affected by the parade, particularly downtown where the march ends.

A force of 350 extra police was assigned to accompany Dr. King and to be stationed along the route. The march will begin at a playground in Roxbury, then proceed along Huntington and Massachusetts Avenues and finally pass in front of city hall and the school committee offices before reaching the Common.

Mayor John Collins agreed to meet with Dr. King and a delegation of a dozen or so in his city hall office.

Three state representatives, Royal Bolling, Michael Haynes and Franklin Holgate, all Roxbury Democrats, and State Sen. Beryl Cohen, a Brookline Democrat, said they plan to march.

TO JOIN MARCH

Francis X. Bellotti, a Democrat, who lost to Volpe, a Republican, in the election last November, said he too would join the march and urged "all those who believe as I do that the existence of racial imbalance is not only real but harmful to a healthy society" to participate, also.

At a press conference yesterday, Volpe said that at some future time he intends to "propose legislation as is necessary to assure that every boy and girl, regardless of race, creed or color, shall receive a quality education and enjoy housing which he can afford to pay for."

Asked if he thought the school committee had demonstrated good will in the dispute, he replied, "I can't say that it has."

The school committee maintains that it already is offering special educational programs that will solve the Negro problems. But it has remained steadfastly opposed to busing children from one neighborhood to another.

Besides his support of the local protest, Dr. King also will participate in a fund-raising program for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which he directs. He seeks to raise $100,000 from this area, and the local branch has already reported contributions totaling about $40,000.

Swede Lays Labor Peace to 'Security'

DETROIT (AP)—The proportion of working days lost due to labor disputes in Sweden is about one-twentieth of what it is in the United States or England, Dr. Sue Carlson estimated here Wednesday.

Carlson, director of the Institute of Business Studies at the University of Uppsala, told the Economic Club of Detroit that Sweden has a tradition of solving its labor-management problems by "negotiation, not by legislation."

★ ★ ★

"Both the labor unions and the employer's federations want as little interference as possible from government in determining wages or employment conditions," Carlson said, adding:

"I think it is the feeling of security among both labor and management which explains very much of our success.

MINIMUM BITTERNESS

"Social security and the protection of strong, centralized labor unions minimize bitterness and frustration among workers. The individual manager feels protected by a strong employer's federation and by the government."

Carlson described Sweden's economy as a "private industry welfare state." He said more than 90 per cent of all industry is under private ownership, but the community is responsible for full employment.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Carlson cited a program to retrain and relocate workers among the country's employment-creating measures.

He said it is sometimes "less costly to retrain people and move them to areas with labor shortages than to stimulate employment by artificial measures."

"Sweden's homogenous population makes labor mobility easy. We have no significant religious or racial minorities and no language barriers," he added.

Dr. Carlson is in Detroit as part of a "Meet Modern Sweden" program sponsored by Swedish industry and government.

Ends Up in Hospital Overeager Firemen

LISBON (AP) — Two voluntary firemen of Oporto, North Portugal, were in such a hurry to get to the fire that they knocked each other out of action.

When the alarm sounded, Fernando Aleixo and Antonio da Sousa jumped to it with alacrity.

★ ★ ★

Hastily donning their helmets, they rushed out of the station and leaped onto the fire engine. As they did so they banged each other with such force that Fernando sustained a couple of broken ribs and Antonio fell and cut his knees badly.

The fire station ambulance took them to the hospital on its way to the fire.

Maiden Flight Near for Navy Version of TFX

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy version of the controversial former TFX jet is scheduled to make its maiden flight in 30 to 60 days.

The movable wing aircraft, now called the F111B, will roll out of its hangar about May 11 and will fly "shortly thereafter," delegates to the Navy League's annual convention were told yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The first flight of the 2,000-mile-an-hour jet will be from the Long Island, N.Y., plant where General Dynamics Corp. and Grumman Aircraft Co. are putting together five experimental models of the carrier-based version of the Air Force - Navy plane.

"Our estimates are that one F111B will do the job of two current fighters and do it more cheaply and efficiently," the companies said in a presentation to the convention.

Are Curbs on Access to Viet War News Preventing 'Full Story' From Reaching U.S?

(Editor's Note — Robert Eunson, who filed this dispatch, was a war correspondent for the Associated Press in World War II and in Korea. He is now director of Asia services for the Associated Press.

By ROBERT EUNSON

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In World War II and in Korea, regulations for news coverage of armed conflict involving U.S. servicemen came from the military.

In Viet Nam, such information is under the supervision of the U.S. Information Service, a unit of the U.S. Information Agency, whose objective is to present the image of the United States in the most favorable light.

★ ★ ★

USIA is an independent agency under the policy direction of the White House and the State Department.

U.S. military briefing officers in Viet Nam are subordinate to Barry Zorthian, head of USIS in Viet Nam. He has criticized reporters in private for stories which did not violate security but which he thought were unfavorable to the United States.

DAILY BRIEFINGS

Daily briefings on military operations are held in Saigon by Lt. Col. L.A. Breault, but they are held at USIS headquarters. Breault held a similar post in Korea, but his information came from Army intelligence and did not have to be cleared by USIS.

George Beebe, managing editor of the Miami (Fla.) Herald and president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, said in Miami Tuesday that USIA control of military briefings "should be of deep concern to the people of the United States."

★ ★ ★

Beebe in a statement said editors fear the American public is not getting "the full story nor the true story" of the war in Viet Nam.

"With rare exceptions," he continued, "the press has always felt the military should be the spokesman for military matters. It resents USIA requiring escorts when reporters talk to the men in our armed forces.

PROTEST POLICY

"I speak for the APME board in protesting the present U.S. policy of providing information on developments in Viet Nam which is inadequate and too often unreliable.

"The people of the United States deserve to be well-informed in this crisis no matter how negative the news might be."

★ ★ ★

A set of 20 ground rules for coverage of air strikes in Viet Nam was issued a week ago. Zorthian signed these as "minister-counselor of public affairs" although Col. Ben Lagare is the press information officer for the U.S. Military Assistance Command.

Zorthian's memorandum states that the rules "must be observed by official briefers and other American and Vietnamese official personnel."

It says information that will "normally be released as soon as available" includes the target hit, nationality of the striking force, whether the aircraft was land-based or naval, general characterization of the success of the mission, ordnance expended and tonnage, numbers of strike and support planes in round numbers, general description of enemy antiaircraft ground fire, and pilot sightings of unfriendly aircraft.

★ ★ ★

The memorandum prohibits disclosure of information on aircraft taking off on strikes, identification of land bases or location of bases from which aircraft were launched, number of aircraft damaged or enemy air reaction other than that actually seen by strike personnel. The total aircraft lost will be released when recovery operations are completed.

★ ★ ★

Correspondents do not object to regulations issued for security reasons. But they object strongly to a policy of not allowing free access to military personnel unless an "escort officer" is present. The newsmen feel this inhibits military personnel during interviews.

Another memorandum issued by Zorthian says "entry and movement within air base areas controlled by the Vietnamese air force will be in the company of a guide. Journalists passing through a Vietnamese air force area to reach an American installation will be escorted to and from the American installation by a Vietnamese air force guide."

★ ★ ★

CAN APPLY

The memorandum also says: "Beginning Monday, April 12, foreign journalists who hold government of Viet Nam and Military Assistance Command Viet Nam accreditation can apply for Vietnamese high command authorization for entry to military airfields in Viet Nam, including Da Nang."

★ ★ ★

After briefing on security regulations and agreeing to accept them, the newsman may move without an escort "through unclassified areas of the American installation."

★ ★ ★

U.S. newsmen have been barred since last March from the Da Nang air base, from which many strikes have been launched against North Viet Nam. Zorthian announced that issuance of accreditations would begin April 12, but it was not until April 20 that authorization was issue by Vietnamese officials in Saigon for some newsmen to enter the Da Nang base and other installations.

★ ★ ★

Authorization for entry of Associated Press correspondents were being forwarded April 21 to them in Da Nang.

★ ★ ★

American billets, messes and service men's clubs are still closed to newsmen. Interviews with pilots have generally been forbidden, although some have been arranged off the base under the stipulation that the pilots discuss their missions in general terms.

Just 'Buggy' in Statistics

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) —If you, just think about the insects.

Entomologists with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service say insects comprise about 80 per cent of the world's lower and higher animal population.

Bugs have been on earth an estimated 450 million years — far longer than man.

Charge Embezzlement to Hospital Manager

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Lawrence Haycock, 34, of Albion, office manager of Hayes, Green Beach Hospital here, was bound over to Eaton County Circuit Court Wednesday on a charge of embezzlement.

Sheriff Elwin Smith said state auditors found a $1,984.80 shortage in Haycock's books. Haycock had been office manager at the hospital for two years.

He was freed on $5,000 bond.

DISCOVERED MURDERS — Mrs. Louis Boyer of Mishawaka, Ind., is accompanied by Police Sgt. John Pajor as she leaves the home of Mrs. Edward Hanbey in South Bend where four Hanbey children were found murdered. Mrs. Hanbey was found in the home with self-inflicted cuts to the wrists and heels. Mrs. Boyer discovered the murders when she went to investigate after a phone conversation with Mrs. Hanbey.

21 Children, 4 Adults Die; Kin Suspected of Murder

By United Press International

Four children strangled in Indiana.

A mother and four children shot to death in New Hampshire.

Seven children and their mother killed in a New Jersey auto wreck.

The wife and seven children of a Canadian policeman shot dead in their home in British Columbia.

★ ★ ★

The deaths total 25—21 of them children.

LEGAL TERM

Police said today all the deaths were suspected parricides, a seldom-heard legal term which means killing of a close relative.

Authorities in South Bend, Ind., planned to file murder charges today against Mrs. Diana Hanbey, 28, a housewife who admitted strangling her four little children Tuesday and then trying to kill herself with a razor blade.

John T. Sargent, 32, an ex-Marine, was charged with shooting his wife and four children—the oldest 9—at their poultry farm near New London, N.H. Sargent called a minister and confessed killing his family yesterday with single rifle shots in the back.

★ ★ ★

Homicide detectives said they would question Arthur Sherod, 37, an unemployed laborer, about the auto wreck in which his wife and seven of their nine children were killed at Newark, N.J., Tuesday night. Witnesses said Sherod raged at his wife, forced his family into their new car at knifepoint and said, "Im going to kill the whole family."

SURVIVING CHILDREN

Sherod and his two surviving children were in serious condition at a Newark hospital. Detectives said they would question him as soon as he was able to talk.

Royal Canadian mounted police in Vancouver said Leonard R. Hogue, 31, a policeman suspected of participating in a $1.2-million theft, killed his wife, their six children and himself with a revolver. Officers said three of the children were gunned down as they apparently tried to flee.

Mrs. Hanbey was described as "pleasant" and "good natured" by friends in the same uppermiddle class neighborhood in South Bend. Her husband, Edward Hanbey, 30, said his wife was a "worrier."

★ ★ ★

A prosecutor indicated Mrs. Hanbey might be sent to a mental hospital for examination when she recovers from her razor wounds, which were not serious. Her children, strangled with a stocking and a necktie, included 2-year-old twins, a 7-year-old and a 6-year-old.

SHOWED BODIES

Sargent, clean shaven and dressed up in a suit and tie, showed the Rev. Richard Bowser and police the bodies of his wife, Janet, 30, and their four children, the youngest 3. Three bodies were in the basement of their farm home.

The Sherod car, bought the day before the wreck, careened across four highway lanes and rammed a big truck a few minutes after the father allegedly forced his family into the car after driving them to a restaurant where his wife, Anna Dora, 37, worked as a waitress.

★ ★ ★

A Vancouver policeman who found the bodies of the Hogue family said the house was a "horrible mess." One of the fleeing children hid in a closet but was stalked down and killed by his father, police said.

FBI Spy Said Quiet, Secretive

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Residents of 24th Street in North Birmingham knew Gary Thomas Rowe Jr. as a "quiet, secretive" neighbor.

★ ★ ★

They were surprised, but not shocked, to learn yesterday that he was an FBI undercoverman in the KuKlux Klan.

"Being an FBI man would suit him," said Mrs. R. C. Brenson, who lived across the street from Rowe for nearly 10 years. "Tommy always has been very secretive."

Revelation of Rowe's undercover activities was the second recent surprise for his neighbors.

★ ★ ★

About three weeks ago, President Johnson announced on national television that Rowe was one of four klansmen arrested in the night-rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo on a highway near Lowndesboro, Ala.

NOT INDICTED

Rowe, however, was not indicted by a federal grand jury which charged the other three men with violating the civil rights of Mrs. Liuzzo, 38, a white civil rights worker from Detroit.

A high official source said Rowe was in the car with the night riders when Mrs. Liuzzo was slain, but said he couldn't prevent the killing "without endangering his own life."

Rowe, 31, allegedly went to work for the FBI about six years ago, about four years after he moved into his present neighborhood with his wife, Dorothy, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Rowe Sr.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Brenson said Rowe, a native of Savannah, Ga., changed jobs at least three times after becoming her neighbor. She said he quit a job with a meat-packing firm after he suffered several frozen toes, and went to work in a dairy plant.

ON DOCTOR'S ORDERS

He contracted pneumonia a year ago and quit the dairy plant job ond octor's orders, she said. He later worked as a bartender, but at the time of his arrest she said he was unemployed.

Rowe, a five-foot, eight-inch redhead, also experienced domestic trouble. He and his wife, a nurse in a Birmingham hospital, split up after the birth of their fourth child about four months ago.

Rowe told officers he was divorced, but a neighbor said he believes the couple is separated rather than divorced.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rowe, her four children, and Rowe's parents went into seclusion yesterday at a place presumably known only to their pastor and the FBI. Rowe was reported in the protective custody of the FBI.

★ ★ ★

The Rowes attended Calvary Baptist Church, which still lists Rowe as a member although he hasn't been in the church for six years.

"He got his feelings hurt and stopped going," said Mrs. Brenson, but neither she nor church officials could recall what caused the breach.

It was during this period that Rowe went to work for the FBI.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Brenson said Rowe "didn't seem the type" to be a Klansman. She said she doesn't remember him ever discussing the race issue. She said he was polite but nontalkative.

Officials Given Homework

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Mayor Harry Wilklow Jr., a high-school civics teacher by profession, has given Battle Creek's city commission a homework assignment.

★ ★ ★

Wilklow, elected mayor only a week ago, asked the commissioners yesterday to write a day-by-day report on the work of each city department. He told them to be sure to include some of the lesser-known services.

★ ★ ★

Wilklow said the homework would serve to inform the commission, would give recognition to the departments and would improve the image of the commission with the public.

★ ★ ★

The reports are scheduled to be given orally, starting May 4.

Tigers Keep Winning as Hitless Wonders

Aguirre Gains 2nd Victory Over A's, 1-0

Team Batting Mark Only .215 but Clutch Hit Is Enough

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

What will happen once the Detroit Tigers start hitting?

Perched in 2nd place of the American League, just a few percentage points behind the Minnesota Twins, the Bengals treated 22,658 home opener fans to a 1-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics on one of their anemic hitting days.

With a team batting average of .215, the Tigers managed only three hits, but the clutch blow by Don Demeter, a two-out double in the 4th inning after walks to Norm Cash and Al Kaline was enough to give Detroit its 5th victory in seven games.

Should the Twins lose today to the New York Yankees, the idle Tigers could move back into the top spot of the American League.

Hank Aguirre, who won his 2nd game of the season, gave up all five hits to the Athletics in 7 1-3 innings and Larry Sherry helping in relief.

Sherry has not allowed a run in eight innings of relief duty, while Aguirre managed to last an inning longer than the six frames he pitched in his first victory.

NEED HITTING

Interim manager Bob Swift expressed the opinion that if the Tigers can win as they are with good pitching, "We could really be troublesome once we start hitting."

★ ★ ★

The pitching staff will get a tougher test this weekend when the hard hitting Twins come to town starting with a Friday night game and the three games with Minnesota should prove to be an interesting early showdown series in the battle for first place.

Sherry, even though he preserved the slim lead left by Aguirre, had to come up with one of the best defensive plays of the game to stop the Athletics' threat in the 8th inning.

After Bert Campaneris hit his second double, and third hit of the game, to start the inning, Dick Green grounded out to Mc-Auliffe. Aguirre left the game and Sherry then walked Ed Charles.

★ ★ ★

He struck out slugger Jim Gentile but then a wild pitch put the runners on second and third and Sherry had Tom Reynolds at the plate.

Reynolds hit a high bouncer between the mound and third. Sherry made a diving stab and speared the ball in the webbing of his glove. He was off balance but his throw just beat Reynolds to first to stop the potential tying run from scoring.

The only other KC player to get any hits was catcher Doc Edwards who collected a pair of singles off Aguirre.

In the 4th inning the Tigers had the boo-birds in the stands in action by allowing Gentile to reach first base by goofing on a short pop up.

Norm Cash called for the little pop up, but Aguirre called for Jerry Lumpe to take it. Neither made a move for it then both went after it and it dropped as they collided.

"Lumpe didn't hear Aguirre call for him to take it. Jerry was wearing sun glasses and that's why Hank called on him," said Cash.

It was the first opening day shutout since 1954 when Steve Gromek defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3-0.

No Mule Ride for Finley at Tigers' Game

Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley was unhappy about the reception given his 1,300-pound Missouri mule, Charley O.

Finley had hoped to ride the Kansas City team's mascot around the bases just before the start of Wednesday's game against Detroit.

But the Tigers gave the mule the first eight minutes of the pre-game ceremonies, and that was all.

The mule bowed to the crowd a couple of times, then left by the exit near the left field bullpen.

"Maybe the reception in the next town (Cleveland) will be warmer," Kansas City publicity man Jim Schaaf remarked.

Whitey Ford Finds Problem in Mind

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitey Ford thinks he may have discovered what's been ailing him — and it's not his arm.

"It could be that I've been throwing too hard," said the New York Yankee southpaw who has looked more like a batting practice pitcher this season than the team's ace.

★ ★ ★

"I've been forcing my pitches," said Whitey. "This has caused me to lose my rhythm." The pitching defect was first noticed by Coat Deal, the Yankees' pitching coach.

"Deal had seen me pitch in the 1961 World Series against Cincinnati, when I was pitching good," said Ford, "and he observed that I didn't have the same loose and easy delivery as I had then.

"Coat showed me where I was rearing back and trying to throw the ball too hard. He pointed out that the ball would go just as fast with a looseygoosey delivery.

"I think he's right. I think subconsciously I was trying too hard to prove that I was all right after the arm operation."

Ford was operated on last December for a circulatory disorder in his left arm and he hasn't looked the same since. After a horrible spring in which he was belted for 45 hits in 34 innings, Whitey was battered freely in his first two regular season starts.

"I know some of the writers are preparing my epitaph," said the 36-year-old pitcher with a wry smile, "but it doesn't bother me.

"I'd be concerned if my arm was sore, but there's nothing wrong with it."

Ford is scheduled to make his next start Saturday against the Los Angeles Angels.

DRC Stockholders Elect Dr. Bennett

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Robert C. Bennett was elected to the board of directors at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Detroit Race Course Wednesday.

DRC President Dale Shaffer also announced that structural steel work has been completed on the construction of the new clubhouse.

Other improvements in the track's $2.5 million expansion program include a refurbished grandstand area, new parking lots and a new entrance from Inkster Road.

The course's 1965 84-day meeting opens August 2.

Announce Pairings for Tag Team Bout

The Great Mephisto and Mr. Kleen will team up in a tag team match against the Destroyer and Ricky 'Crusher' Cortez in the professional wrestling ring Saturday night at the National Guard Armory on Water Street.

Two other bouts on the card have Bill Curry dueling Johnny Gates and Bill Matti battling Bill Norris.

The first match will start at 8:30.

Hawk Forward Back on Line

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks, seeking to get back into contention tonight when their Stanley Cup championship with Montreal resumes, will have a bolstered attack with the return of Kenny Wharram.

Wharram, the go-go forward of the Scooter Line directed by Stan Mikita, will be back in action for the first time since last Thursday when he injured his knees in the semifinal wrapup against Detroit.

Without Wharram and defenseman Pierre Pilote, who has an injured left shoulder, the Hawks dropped 3-2 and 2-0 decisions to the Canadiens in Montreal to fall far behind in their best-of-7 series.

In Tuesday night's shutout loss, Chicago coach Billy Reay was forced to switch his lines, putting Mikita between Bobby Hull and Chico Maki for Chicago's only potential scoring unit.

ONLY 18 SHOTS

The move failed to produce as the Hawks got off only 18 shots at Gump Worsley, who turned them all back for his whitewash effort.

With Wharram back and a slim chance that Pilote might play, the Hawks are ready to make the most of their home games Thursday and Sunday nights and get back into the series.

★ ★ ★

"I like the thought of getting back home," said Reay. "I've always felt that a seven-game series doesn't really start until the fifth game."

Of course, there will be no fifth game unless the Hawks win at least one of their two home games. In that case the fifth game will be in Montreal Tuesday night. If more games are needed, they will be played in Chicago next Thursday and in Montreal May 1.

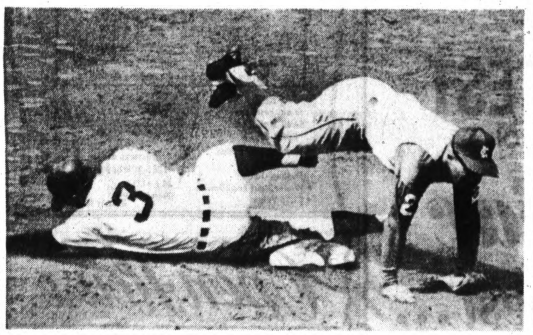

★ ★ ★

Wharram's return will enable Reay to go back to his original lines with Phil Esposito centering for Hull and Maki, and Doug Mohns joining Wharram and Mikita.

TIGERS DOUBLED — Shortstop Wayne Causey (2) of Kansas City sprawls over Detroit's Dick McAuliffe (3) in the third inning of yesterday's game in Detroit after getting the ball off to first to nab pitcher Hank Aguirre in completing a double play. Tigers won, 1-0.

New Leader in Classic of ABC Tournament

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Bob Chase, Kansas City, Mo., professional, compiled a 696 series Wednesday and took first place in the classic division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Chase's games of 258, 226 and 212 paved the way for the first change in leaders in the nine ABC divisions of play since April 17 an dmoved the erstwhile leader, Jim Stefanich, Joliet, Ill., into second place with 693.

Stefanich was aiming for a third straight ABC title with his singles leadership. He was a member of a championship team in 1963 and last year won the major division singles.

Chase paired with Bill Pace, also of Kansas City, for a 1,257 total, good for second place tie in the classic doubles, equalling the score of Bob Harris and Jerry Smith of San Antonio, Tex. Pace rolled 676 and Chase 581.

★ ★ ★

Pace's opening game of 279 was the best any pro has rolled since the meet started 28 days ago. He ended the first game with nine strikes and rolled four to start the second game, posting the longest string of successive strikes so far in the tournament.

Ed Lubanski and Bill Golembiewski of Detroit lead the classic doubles with 1,281.

Toreador Vault Pleases Fans, Enrages Bull

MADRID (AP) — Some critics have been complaining that bullfighting has become too conservative. So a young apprentice matador, Miguel Oropesa, tried to add some excitement the other day. He was lucky to come out alive.

The 20-year-old toreador sought to revive a long abandoned custom of pole vaulting over the bull before preparing the animal for its death.

★ ★ ★

Oropesa made the vault and went sprawling. The enraged bull charged at the embarrassed toreador, who narrowly escaped a serious goring.

Despite the fiasco, most of the 12,000 fans at the Vista Alegre Arena cheered the youngster.

Vaulting over the bull, once a big attraction centuries ago, was abandoned with the retirement of Saleri, an acrobatic Andalucian matador, about 150 years ago.

22 Horses Die in Fire

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Twenty-two of 36 thoroughbred horses quartered in a barn at the Manchester Farm, just north of the Kneeland Race Course in the heart of the bluegrass breeding country, died Wednesday in a fire which destroyed the two-story structure.

★ ★ ★

Owner Duvall Headley estimated the loss at $750,000.

Among those killed was a foal by Nashua, worth $25,000.

Seven mares and their foals, three mares in foal, four barren mares and one teaser.

The damage to the barn was estimated at $35,000, Headley said.

The cause of the fire had not been determined butw as believed to have started in the hayloft area immediately below the roof.

Spring's Arriving Late at Boyne Falls Resort

BOYNE FALLS (AP)— A 30-inch snow base and good spring skiing was reported at Boyne Mountain Lodge Wednesday — the latest date ever at which skiing has been offered here.

Spokesmen said the season has lasted at least 10 days longer than any previous year in the resorts 18-year history.

Laker Coach Happy Over Playoff Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "It's anybody's playoff now," said a jubilant Fred Schaus after his Los Angeles Lakers romped to a 126-105 victory over the Boston Celtics Wednesday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"We have a good chance to win Friday night and then it's just a best-of-3 series," Schaus continued. The victory cut Boston's lead to 2-1, and the Lakers will enjoy the home court advantage again Friday.

If the series goes seven games, two of the final three will be played in Boston, but Schaus said, "We knew from the beginning we had to win in Boston anyway. We feel we have momentum going for us now."

WEST HITS 43

The Lakers' Jerry West, continuing his better than 40-point per game average in the playoffs, hit for 43. LeRoy Ellis contributed 29, and Gene Wiley grabbed 28 rebounds and made several fine defensive plays to go with his 11 points.

"Besides West's all around great game," Schaus enthused, "Wiley played the best game of his career."

Celtic Coach Red Auerbach was not overly concerned about his team's decisive defeat.

"We were expecting a letdown in the second game, but instead it came in the third," Auerbach said. "I knew in the first three minutes that we were off form and nothing went right.

"Our poor shooting and their great rebounding beat us," he continued, "but the big thing is we're still leading 2-1."

After a 142-110 humiliation and a 129-123 loss in Boston, the victory proved to the Lakers that they can beat the Celtics without Elgin Baylor, one of their two leading scorers.

Los Angeles lost Baylor for the playoffs when he injured his knee in the opening Western Division playoff game against Baltimore. He is currently recuperating from a knee operation.

Ford Damaged During Trial

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A new Lotus Ford driven by Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., was slightly damaged in a workout Wednesday over the one-mile paved track of the Trenton Speedway.

McCluskey said a sticky throttle caused the car to hit the guard rail between the third and fourth turns on the track. Colin Chapman of England, the builder of the cars, said he thought the car could be fixed in time for Sunday's 100-mile race here.

★ ★ ★

The two Lotus Fords are destined for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on May 31. Jim Clark, the former world champion driver from Scotland, was at the wheel of the other car in the long practice spin Wednesday. Clark then left at night for London en route to a race in France Sunday.

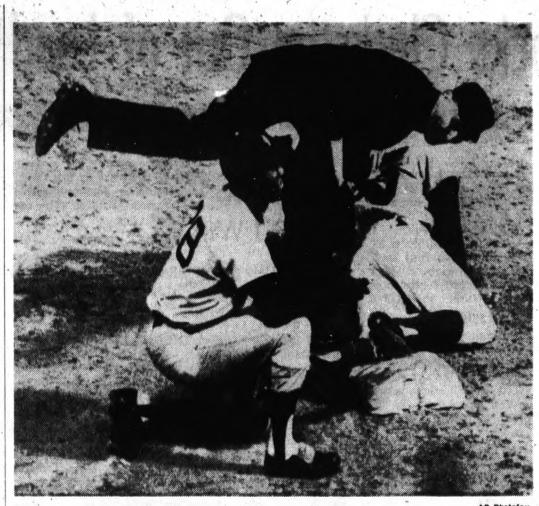

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., may drive the car Clark tuned up in the Sunday race here. Both McCluskey and Clark came within a second of the track record 31.54 seconds — 114.14 miles per hour — set by Jones when he piloted a Lotus Ford to victory in the 200-mile race in September.

CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE — Umpire Shag Crawford stands on one leg to get a close look as Joe Gaines (28), Houston Astros' right fielder, covers first base and tries to tag Tony Gonzalez of the Phillies in the third inning of game last night in Philadelphia. Phillies' John Callison was tagged out between second and third by Astros' Joe Morgan, who threw to first too late to get the sliding Gonzalez. Houston won, 11-4.

New Wings Helpful in Cardinal Nest

By the Associated Press

Only one victory in six games is enough to shake up anyone who might be managing baseball's world champions.

So Red Schoendienst, in turn, shook up his line-up, and the St. Louis Cardinals are on the way with their second one-game winning streak this season.

The Cardinals, with two of the rookie manager's bench members supplying some punch, defeated Milwaukee 6-3 Wednesday night behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Purkey.

The victory didn't help St. Louis vacate the National League cellar, but Schoendienst nevertheless was highly pleased with the work of second baseman Phil Gagliano and right fielder Tito Francona.

TO PLATOON

"Gagliano will stay in there against left-handed and right-handed pitching," Schoendienst said. "I'll platoon Francona, but I can't take those two out now."

Gagliano, who has played only parts of the last two seasons for the Cardinals, took over from Julian Javier, who had managed only four hits in 23 trips to the plate for a .174 average.

★ ★ ★

Francona, a winter acquisition from Cleveland, subbed for Mike Shannon, one of the 1964 World Series heroes who has rapped only one single in 22 at bats for an .045 average.

The 23-year-old Gagliano didn't get a hit, but he did drive in two runs with sacrifice flies. Francona tripled in the second inning and scored on Gagliano's first fly, then singled Dick Groat into scoring position in a four-run fifth inning.

So much was Schoendienst impressed with his second-stringers' showing that he is considering resting Ken Boyer despite the third baseman's .333 average. The NL's Most Valuable Player still is plagued by a sore side he suffered during the exhibition grind.

★ ★ ★

"If the day off (today) doesn't help," Schoendienst said, "I'll probably use Ed Spiezio at third. If a player can't give 100 per cent physically, he's best on the bench until he's healthy."

In other NL games Wednesday, San Francisco edged Pittsburgh 3-2, Los Angeles whipped New York 5-1, Houston walloped Philadelphia 11-4 and Cincinnati drubbed Chicago 9-2.

Purkey limited the Braves to two hits, one of them Ed Mathews' fourth-inning home run, until the ninth inning when Milwaukee bunched four singles for two runs. Bill White and Lou Brock homered for St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

Willie McCovey smashed a two-run homer in the third inning and pitcher Juan Marichal singled across the deciding run in the seventh for the Giants. Marichal scattered eight hits, including Bill Virdon's homer in the eighth.

Don Drysdale, with relief help from Bob Miller, earned his 11 straight victory over the Mets. Miller came on in the eighth after Drysdale had walked a total of seven batters. Wes Parker's run-scoring single broke a 1-1 tie and helped the Dodgers post three runs in the seventh inning.

★ ★ ★

Philadelphia's Chris Short was on the way toward his third straight victory until Houston erupted for four runs in the eighth inning and five more in the ninth. Jim Beauchamp singled across two runs in the eighth while Al Spangler capped the ninth-inning outburst with a two-run single.

Joey Jay, making his first start of the season, set Chicago down on four hits, including Ron Santo's fourth homer, a two-run shot in the fourth. The Reds, meanwhile, battered Larry Jackson and three relievers for 14 hits. Pete Rose and Gordy Coleman homered for Cincinnati.

WKHS Host, Kettering Site

New Meet Will Test Track

The first Waterford Invitational Relays will have two records set which probably will stand for years to come.

Although Waterford Township is the host school, Saturday's event will be run on Kettering's new track. The preliminaries will start at 9:30 a.m. and the finals at 1:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

If the runway is dry and the wind isn't too strong, Kettering's Jim Haviland will be trying to clear 14 feet in the pole vault. He took top honors in the Mansfield Relays with a vault of 13-7.

The mile standard probably will be under 4:20 — if Bloomfield Hills' ace Tom Kearney competes in this event.

Kearney set the Mansfield record of 4:19.6 in his last major test. He may be held out of the mile to help strengthen the Hills' distance relay teams.

Double points are awarded in the relay events and many schools concentrate in this area in a bid for the team trophy.

All times, distances and heights in the meet will be records because this is the first time for the invitational.

Eight other schools have entered teams bringing the field to 11.

They are Walled Lake, Rochester, Clarkston, Royal Oak Dondero, Dearborn Fordson, Troy, Madison and Lamphere.

★ ★ ★

Utica was to have been the 12th team, but the school withdrew because a schedule commitment couldn't be changed.

Sprinter Bob Piastrowski and half-miler Pat Godfrey will be Walled Lake's chief contenders. Bob Gray of Clarkston is among the high jump favorites.

"The major objective of the relays," said Waterford coach Al Cuthrell, "is to invite schools that do not normally meet in dual competition."

★ ★ ★

Three other relays are planned Saturday. Country Day will have 16 teams from six states competing. Oxford, Cranbrook, Dryden, Avondale and Romeo are entered in the Marysville Relays.

Pontiac Northern and Birmingham Groves will be in the Brother Rice Relays and Milford and Northville will go to the Howell Invitational.

Drake Relays Mark in Danger, Again

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Jesse Owen's broad jump record at the Drake Relays lasted 29 years, but the leap last year that erased his mark apparently is already obsolete.

Owens, Ohio State's great athlete, jumped 26-1¾ here in 1935 and hundreds of athletes failed to match that leap until Gayle Hopkins of Arizona shaded it by one-fourth inch a year ago.

Hopkins' record is now in danger from Clarence Robinson of New Mexico, who jumped 26-2½ at the Kansas Relays last week and will be aiming for the Drake record.

YMCA Tankers in Meet

WESTFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The 38th annual National YMCA Swimming and Diving Championships get under way today with Chicago's Lawson Branch and Huntington, Ind., expected to battle it out for the championship.

Some 17 races will be contested before the three-day meet winds up Saturday night. Two New Jersey YMCAs — host Westfield and Trenton — are given the best chance of upsetting the favorites.

★ ★ ★

Although it has no defending champions entered, Chicago-Lawson is favored — thanks to depth and versatility—to repeat the team title it won last year at Youngstown, Ohio.

Other individual defenders include Westfield's Steve McCoy in the one-meter dive, Trenton's Jack Volz in the 100-yard breaststroke, Ross Wales of Youngstown in the 100- and 200-yard butterfly, Chuck Schober of Indianapolis-Krannert in the 200-yard backstroke and John Gunning of Dayton-Kettering in the three-meter dive.

Most of their winning times, however, have been bettered since last year's meet.

Eligibility for the nationals requires a swimmer to be a member of his YMCA for three months and to have competed in one meet.

Pros Gunning for Texas Cash

Six of Top Money Leaders in Event

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Par appeared to be in for a beating Thursday as some of golf's biggest names prepared to tackle the wooded Oak Hills Country Club course in the first round of the $50,000 Texas Open.

Six of the PGA's top 10 money winners this year headed a field of 144 pros into the 72-hole tournament with no clear-cut favorite in the crowd. First place is worth $9,000.

★ ★ ★

Doug Sanders, the current tour's only double winner and second in the money race with $32,557 in 14 tournaments, thinks it'll take at least a 15-under-par 265 to win.

But the players will have to shoot straight because the heavy wooded areas are in full bloom and the roughs are high and treacherous due to recent rains. The past few days have been clear and warm.

A $3,000 pro-amateur tournament Wednesday proved that the course, 6,790-yard par 35-35—70, can be whipped. Eighteen pros broke par.

Most Changes Fractional

Mart Is Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was irregularly higher early today in active trading.

Fractional gains and losses were the general rule among key stocks but there were a few moves of a point or more.

Some issues continued to make a recovery selectively, a continuation of the rebound which cut losses in late trading Wednesday.

Texas Gulf Sulphur, however, remained under selling pressure as news was awaited from its annual stockholders meeting.

The issue lost ½ at 65¼ on an opening block of 10,500 shares.

GM AT 107

General Motors also continued to backtrack from recent highs as it yielded ⅞ at 107 on an opener of 5,400 shares.

On the plus side, Anaconda gained 1 and IBM 2. Aerospace issues, chemicals, international oils and most nonferrous metals moved higher.

The major steels were unchanged to a little lower as suspense heightened over prospects for a steel strike. Aside from GM, motors were unchanged or showed very slight changes.

Eastern Air Lines advanced more than a point. Most airlines were unchanged.

OPENING BLOCK

Opening blocks included:

Westinghouse Electric, off ¼ at 51 on 3,500 shares; Chrysler, unchanged at 54⅞ on 3,500; and Raytheon, off ⅜ at 21 on 3,300.

Wednesday, the Associated Press Average of 60 stocks dipped .8 to 338.2.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.
