Keego Parents' Cruelty Case Before Jury

Three Witnesses Testify Before Court Adjourns Until November 20th

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR.
Legal wrangling took up most of the first day of the trial of Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt, Keego Harbor parents of 12 charged with child cruelty.

Only three prosecution witnesses were put on the stand before the trial was adjourned until next Tuesday by George B. Hartrick.

Mrs. Joan Rice, a neighbor of the Wyatts, described from the stand, discovering seven-year-old Sherry Wilkinson, a daughter of Mrs. Wyatt by a previous marriage, tied to her upstairs bed while both parents were away from home.

Sherry was on her back in the bed, Mrs. Pace said, with both hands tied by pieces of cloth. Her hair was matted, and her left hand, reportedly burned two months previously, appeared infected.

Sherry, who will testify later in the case, is named as the target of alleged cruelty by the Wyatts. In the prosecution's opening statement, Assistant Prosecutor Walter T. Denison said yesterday he will prove Mrs. Wyatt held Sherry's hand over a gas burner.

The Wyatts did not provide a doctor's care for the burned hand, Denison said. He said he will also prove Mrs. Wyatt held Sherry to an oil stove, threw a knife at her, splitting her hip and permanently disfiguring her, kept her confined to the house and never sent her to school.

Doctors have said Sherry may regain partial use of her hand, atrophied by the burn, after "several years" of surgical treatment.

He told the four-man, eight-woman jury the treatment of the girl was "beyond my imagination and beyond your imagination."

Defense attorney Milton R. Henry, in his opening statement, said newspaper accounts of the case had "suggested" the Wyatts are "fiends of some kind," and that newspapers have "tried and convicted my clients."

Henry said the children will testify there were no continuous acts of cruelty. He said the charge is "probably somewhat revolting to most people," but said he will prove Wyatt has "worked constantly" to provide for his large family, and that Mrs. Wyatt has cared for them adequately.

Area Residents Shiver, Shake in Cold Wave

A quick step outdoors this morning left no doubt in the minds of Pontiac area residents that winter has finally arrived.

Residents braced themselves against strong and chilly gusts of wind which reached as high as 60 m.p.h. last night at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The longest duration of snow flurries yet blew in with the winds. The season's heaviest snowfall hit the northern sections of the Midwest including Northern Michigan.

A few trees were reported down in the county but very little damage was reported. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. reported 11 cases of cable trouble knocking out some 250 telephones for a brief period last night.

The U. S. Weather Bureau promises the first wintry blast will remain over the weekend. The mercury is expected to dip to a low of 21 to 25 degrees tonight with snow flurries to continue. Tomorrow's high is predicted at 45.

The mercury shivered to a low in Pontiac of 33 at 8 a.m., and remained at 33 at 1 p.m.

Dock Workers Walk Off Jobs

60,000 Are on Strike in Ports on Atlantic and Gulf Coasts

NEW YORK (AP)—Sixty thousand dock workers were ordered out on strike today in ports on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Waterfront activity came to a virtual standstill in the Port of New York, the world's largest.

The walkout spread quickly to a number of other ports including New Orleans, the nation's second biggest seaport; Boston, and Philadelphia.

The two-coast strike was called at midnight by the International Longshoremen's Assn., which was deadlocked with Port of New York employers on terms for a new contract. The old one expired at midnight.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service called another joint meeting for today.

Negotiations between the independent IILA and the New York Shipping Assn., which represents 170 shipping and stevedoring firms in this area, continued half an hour after the strike went into effect.

As the negotiations adjourned, an IILA spokesman indicated that there still was disagreement on a broad range of issues, although both sides had made concessions.

Air Tragedies Kill 27 Persons in One Day

Nicaragua Plane Crash Death Toll at 25; Jet Down in St. Clair

Twenty-seven persons were killed in three plane disasters. One craft en route to Mexico from Panama crashed in Nicaragua, killing 25. A jet Navy trainer went down in Lake Saint Clair, carrying two men to their death. And a TWA airliner pancaked in the Nevada desert, but only six of the 38 passengers were injured.

M A N A G U A, Nicaragua (AP)—Twenty-five persons, including one American and a Panamanian couple on their honeymoon, were killed yesterday in the crash of a Mexican airliner on the southwest coast of Nicaragua.

The plane of the Aerovias Guest Airline, en route from Panama to Mexico City, carried 20 passengers and a crew of five.

One of the dead was carried on the passenger list as Fed McNiel, identified in Panama as an American of about 50. His address was not known.

There was no immediate word on what caused the four-engine DC4 to crash in flames near the resort town of Salina Grande.

The honeymooners were Marta Osegueda, daughter of the Salvadoran ambassador to Panama, and Rogelio Alvarez, member of a prominent Panamanian family. They had been married Thursday morning.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Thirty-eight persons escaped death when a twin-engine airliner, limping on one engine, pancaked into the desert yesterday.

The pilot of a TWA Martin 404 tried to wing back to McCarran Field when one power plant failed soon after takeoff on a flight to Los Angeles. He was forced to make a belly landing on the desert nearby.

Both engines broke from their mounts and the plane's fuselage cracked open. It did not catch fire.

The pilot, Capt. Arthur de Fabry, Los Angeles, suffered a knee injury. Five others were hospitalized.

NEW BALTIMORE (INS).—Search planes took off at dawn today to hunt the Anchor Bay area of Lake St. Clair for two Marine officers who crashed in a Navy jet trainer late yesterday.

Military officials said they held little hope for the two men, Col. Henry C. Bock, 63, of Houston, Tex., and Capt. William B. Wilson Jr., 28, of Wharton, Tex. Capt. Wilson was piloting the two-seat version of the F80 Shooting Star jet when it disappeared over the lake.

Selfridge Air Force Base, near the bay, received a "May Day" ditching signal from the plane moments before it was to land.

The trainer was en route from Hensley Field, a Naval Air Reserve Base near Dallas, Tex., to Willow Run Airport near Detroit, but was instructed to fly on to Selfridge Field.

Searchers yesterday were called back because of rough weather and darkness. Coast Guard patrol boats from Detroit, at the scene until 12:30 a.m. today, were back out at dawn today.

Macomb County sheriff's officers searched the shore area around the bay where New Baltimore residents said they heard an explosion at the approximate time the jet was expected to run out of fuel.

All Passengers Saved as Big Plane Lands in Desert

AFTER BELLY LANDING — A twin engine TWA airliner which crash landed and broke its back on the desert near Las Vegas, Nev., just after take off is pictured after 38 persons aboard were removed. While there were no deaths six persons were hospitalized. The plane skidded to within about 25 feet of row of apartments.

Hit 95 Per Cent of Goal

'56 UF Campaign Ends

The 1956 Pontiac Area United Fund drive officially closed at victory luncheon today in the Elks Temple.

Volunteer solicitors felt they had ended one of the toughest campaigns in the UF's seven-year history.

After totaling pledges earlier today, UF leaders had found the three-week campaign had reached 95 per cent of the $612,202 goal.

There was hope additional reports before noon would edge that figure up a few percentage points.

The 95 per cent mark meant that volunteers had $580,319 pledged or received since the drive started Oct. 23.

Good news was reported by women of the Geographic Division, who had raised $19,965 in a door-to-door campaign, or 104 per cent of their quota.

Campaign chairman Walter K. Willman said this year's drive was waged in the face of an employment drop which threatened fewer and smaller contributions from industrial workers.

The employment situation was felt in the Industrial Division which solicited industrial employees and companies.

This morning, the division had reached 94 per cent, or $380,248, of its $414,000 goal, chairman Earl Maxwell announced.

This figure was reached despite the fact the division shouldered a general nine per cent increase in quotas asked by the UF this year.

Maxwell said company gifts from the Pontiac Manufacturers Assn. had reached $125,000, slightly over the goal of $124,819.

But employees in the association had reached only 91 per cent of their $255,248 goal.

Solicitation of manufacturing companies and employees not in the association, reached $7,086, or 95 per cent of goal, he added.

The commercial division was four per cent short of its $158,086 goal, with $151,121 collected. The finance and public service groups had reached 101 and 104 per cent of quotas respectively.

Mrs. Ralph G. Bump, chairman of the women's solicitors, particularly praised Waterford Township Torchlighters who raised $6,445, or 115 per cent of goal.

The $13,530 raised in Pontiac and Pontiac Townships was $12,000 over quota, she said.

In considering a time-extension if the campaign failed to reach goal, UF leaders remembered six such extensions in the past.

Last year's drive was the only one to meet goal by the official end of the drive.

With the help of extended campaigns, the UF has always reached its goal in past drives.

Maxwell believed that new hiring in industry during the next three weeks would allow his division to go over its quota.

The victory luncheon was sponsored by Consumers Power Company.

Haircut Hearing Opens in Court

Romeo Youth Seeks Return to Classroom Without Trim

After the Romeo school board inspected 16-year-old Robert Phermetton's controversial haircut for the first time and said it was no go, the high school student went into Macomb County Circuit Court this morning to try to compel the board to admit him without another trim.

Robert, one of 45 "Romeos" ordered by the high school principal, Harold F. Barr, to shear their wavy locks before classes opened Oct. 31, was the only boy Barr declared unacceptable.

In a show-cause hearing this morning before Judge Alton H. Noe, school board attorney William Nunneley accused Harold's attorney, James B. Daner, of using the press to "magnify" the case.

Nunneley said the issue is whether Robert will conform to the board's edict, or "do as he pleases."

Daner claims the question is whether the boy has already complied with the rule. He has had two trims since the ruling, Daner says, and is now complying with the rule.

Harold's haircut this morning appeared moderately lengthy, and sported an upturned feather effect along the sides of the head.

The hearing will continue this afternoon.

Hamarskjold Seeking Compromise Between Nasser, Invaders

LONDON (AP)—Soviet demands that Egypt be restored her pre-invasion territory promptly today toughened the peace-keeping task facing U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold and the Middle East police force.

The renewed Russian backing was considered certain to stiffen Egypt's position regarding the role of the international force, already directly counter to firm stands taken by Britain, France and Israel.

The secretary general flew to Egypt today from the U. N. troop-staging area near Naples for on-the-scene efforts to get the policing operation in action.

He accompanied 51 Colombian troops. They were followed by a second plane carrying 50 Norwegians.

Already in the Suez Canal zone was the first U. N. contingent of 92 Danish and Norwegian troops. They were standing by in barracks at Abu Suweir airfield, behind the Egyptian battle lines, awaiting reinforcements and orders.

AWAIT ORDERS
Swedish Maj. Curt Egersted, a U. N. truce observer, told the first units to reach Egypt: "You will stay here until further instructions. You will be quartered in camps on this airfield. I know nothing about your future plans."

Another 513 Danes, Norwegians and Canadians waited at the Capodichino staging area, near Naples, to be flown to Egypt. More U. N. forces were expected at Capodichino over the weekend.

Russia's latest move in the Middle East crisis came in the form of notes from Premier Bulganin to the prime ministers of Britain, France and Israel.

Does Industry Aid City? Blackwood Cites Many Ways Help Is Given

By CONRAD N. CHURCH

"Industry, and particularly General Motors, has done so much for Pontiac and all its residents that I feel it is only fair that some of us rise up and tell the facts when someone else implies publicly that industry does nothing for the residents of the city."

So said Harold L. Blackwood when he read a report of Rep. Leslie H. Hudson's remarks at the City Commission meeting last Tuesday night. Hudson was quoted as saying:

"What has industry ever done to show us that they would get out and help us?"

"I can't remember all the things industry has done that has been of direct help to the people of Pontiac," said Blackwood. "But I am glad to suggest some of the things it has done which shows it is a tremendously important factor in making Pontiac a better place to live."

"These things show clearly to me that industry not only would get out and help us, but that it has done so repeatedly and on frequent occasions. Here are just some of the things they have done that have been helpful, directly or indirectly, to all of the rest of us. And, remember, some of these things they have done again and again."

"First of all, industry provides the jobs which support more than half the families in Pontiac. Industrial payrolls run into many millions of dollars each year."

"Industry pays more than half the city's taxes. On several occasions General Motors has paid its taxes in advance to help the city over a period when it needed money before the taxes were due. If General Motors had not done that, school services might have been cut."

U-M Sets Stage for State's First Atom Chain Reaction

By L. JAMES BINDER
News Editor, Pontiac Press

ANN ARBOR—Staffmen here at the North Campus call it "the swimming pool." The unadorned groundskeeper who pointed out its location to visiting newsmen yesterday referred to it as "that new gizmo."

More accurately, the huge device is the Ford Nuclear Reactor, new addition to the University of Michigan's program on the peaceful uses of atomic energy. The Phoenix Project.

Built at a cost of $1,000,000 (a gift from the Ford Motor Co. Fund), the huge reactor is the most powerful in the college field, according to Phoenix Project scientists who gathered on the campus today to observe "Atom Day."

"Pool" might strike the casual observer as an apt description as he looks down on the 23 feet of crystal clear water that stands at the top of the gigantic device. It looks as innocent as the depths of a mountain lake.

Weeks from now serious faced young men with notebooks will peer beneath that placid surface at one of the most amazing and mysterious phenomena known to science—a nuclear chain reaction, the first in Michigan.

Giant steel rods, the claw-like ends as dextrous as human hands, will reach down for some three leagues to juggle the elements that at maximum capacity will send 10 billion neutrons flowing around each cubic centimeter of the grid-like core at the pool's bottom.

The reactor's potential contributions to research in the atomic field were hailed this afternoon by main speaker Ernest R. Breech, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., who declared that the device "may lead to a major breakthrough in separating private peacetime atomic development from government monopoly."

Earlier in the day, visiting scientists inspected the deep pit, whose 41,000 gallons of water will eventually enclose six pounds of uranium, 235 suspended from a control tower in rods two feet long.

As soon as final adjustments are made and the reactor is approved by the Atomic Energy Commission, the uranium will be set in place in the presence of uncharged atomic particles called neutrons which will strike and split atoms in the fuel, releasing still other neutrons.

University engineers will have then initiated the state's first atomic chain reaction.

Close control of the reaction will be maintained by raising and lowering (Continued on Page 3, Col. 5)

Ingle Criticizes Auditor General

President of Justices Assail Szymanski on Costs Statement

Farmington Township Justice Allen C. Ingle, president of the Oakland County Judicial Association and vice president of the State Association of Justices of the Peace, today blasted back at Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski's criticisms of county justices.

Szymanski yesterday assailed what he called a "growing practice" in Oakland and Macomb counties of assessing exorbitant court costs in justice courts.

"Oakland County has benefited by more than $50,000 in the last year from costs assessed in excess of justices' legal fees," Szymanski said.

He added he will ask Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh whether the practice is legal.

Ingle said today Szymanski's statement was "nothing more than a deliberate attempt to mislead the people." He added:

"I suggest that he take time to read the laws before he makes public statements."

Kavanagh, he said, was asked by former Auditor General Victor M. Targonski to write an opinion on legality of the practice, and has consulted with justices over the problem.

The Supreme Court has ruled, Ingle said, that costs must bear "a reasonable relationship" to the actual cost of prosecution.

He added the question of what constitutes actual cost of prosecution has not been ruled on.

Ingle said the law provides fees for justices on a basis of the work they do in handling a case—usually $4.50 per case. A justice collects his fee whether or not the defendant is found guilty, he said.

The only difference between fines and costs, Ingle said, is that fines are turned over to the county library fund for school libraries, and costs go to the county's general fund, where they may be used to pay for law enforcement costs which would otherwise come from taxpayers.

Since county justices handled 35,000 cases last year, he said, a surplus of $50,000 after justices' fees were paid would mean an "excess" of only $1.50 per case.

"Any citizen can see the taxpayers of Oakland County are still paying for law enforcement," Ingle said.

Szymanski had said:

"Put yourself in the position of a county official worried over governmental expenses. What better way is there to pick up money than to get it from people who are not even residents of the county?"

Defending the practice, Ingle said, "Is it not only right that the taxpayers of Oakland County should have part of the cost of law enforcement defrayed by the penalties collected?"

He pointed out that Detroit, operating under city ordinances, keeps all money collected in fines.

Blackwood Lists Help of Industry been curtailed, and the city might have had to borrow money, thus costing all the taxpayers more money.

"Industry has contributed generously to the United Fund, to the construction of Pontiac General Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the Naval Training Station, Wisner Field, the Pontiac housing project, to the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. building projects, to the South Oakland Hospital, the Greater Detroit Hospital Fund, considerable of which money came back to Pontiac and Oakland County hospitals.

"Industry contributed to the building of the Pontiac Boys' Club, to Camp Oakland, to Junior Achievement, providing clubrooms for a year to this latter organization in addition to cash support. General Motors has provided safety pictures for the use of the Pontiac Police Department.

"Industry has provided meals for workers in the United Fund drive. General Motors has turned over use of its auditorium to many local organizations. It has provided seven or eight cars a year without charge to the schools' driver training program. It has provided decorations for many community events, putting them up and taking them down without charge.

"Through the Pontiac Manufacturers' Association industry has made a substantial contribution to the Chamber of Commerce, thus helping to bear the expense of seeking new industries for Pontiac, and otherwise serving all the people here.

"Individuals representing industry have served countless hours on boards and committees of local organizations. This service was given with the approval of industry, as another form of contribution for the community's good.

"General Motors has also cooperated with the schools on such events as B.I.E. Day, furnishing free buses for the transportation of teachers. Last year a newcomer or untrained person was misled by irresponsible statements," said Blackwood, "I feel that this partial list of industry's contributions to the community should be made public."

Crippled Children to Get Best Seats at Annual Parade

Once again the call is out to crippled children seeking the best seats of the house for the 1936 edition of "Christmas-On-Wheels" parade scheduled for Dec. 1.

David R. Ewalt said those children not listed with the Oakland County Crippled Children's Society or the Orthopedic Service of the Pontiac Public Schools, should call the Parks and Recreation office in the City Hall for reservations for the parade.

Ewalt is in charge of providing window spaces through the courtesy of local merchants on Saginaw street so that each child won't miss a single float or band.

He said some 60 spaces will be made available again this year.

The Retail Merchants Assn. of the Chamber of Commerce sponsored the parade which tells the story of Christmas in pageant form.

Lawrence, Pike to Be One-Way

Pontiac Experimenting to Relieve Congestion of Saginaw Traffic

Lawrence and Pike streets between Cass avenue and Perry street will be converted to one-way traffic effective Monday, City Manager Walter K. Willman has announced.

Lawrence will be made one-way eastbound while Pike will become one-way westbound.

The streets are being converted in order to relieve congestion of traffic along Saginaw street and on other downtown streets, which during rush hours, is reaching the stagnation point at various intersections, Willman said.

He said the city is asking for comments, including criticism if it develops, on how the driving public reacts to the change.

"If it doesn't help the situation, we will switch it back again," Willman said. "But we want to give it a fair trial."

Turn lanes have been provided on both streets at the Saginaw intersections to help facilitate turns without slowing through-traffic, the manager pointed out.

Lawrence eastbound traffic may only turn right onto Saginaw street. Westbound Pike vehicles may turn both right and left onto Saginaw.

Left turns are prohibited at the Lawrence-Saginaw intersection because the heaviest pedestrian movement in the city during a 12-hour period—31,147—occurs here.

The conversion of Lawrence street is expected to aid Community National Bank's planned curb teller cages, previously approved by the city.

William A. Parker, 38, of 97 Myrick St. died last night in Pontiac General Hospital. He had been ill several weeks.

He was born on Sept. 14, 1918 in Missouri. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. John Parker. In 1940 he married to the former Ethel Imman.

Coming here from Hollywood, Mo. six years ago, Mr. Parker had been employed at the General Motors Truck & Coach Division. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Besides his father and wife, he leaves two children, Billy Wayne and Linda Ann Parker, both of Pontiac; one brother, Jacob of Missouri, and a sister, Mrs. Molly Blackshire of Arkansas.

Mr. Parker's body will be sent from the Melvin A. Schutt Funeral Home tonight to the Howard Funeral Home in Leachville, Ark. for service at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in the Loulou Cemetery.

Dr. Van William Pilmore
Service for Dr. Van William Pilmore, 62, of 93 Union St. will be at 10 a.m. Saturday from the Pursey Funeral Home. Dr. Tom Malone of the Emmanuel Baptist Church will officiate with burial following in Perry Park Cemetery.

Dr. Pilmore died suddenly Tuesday at his residence.

"I think it is quite in order to refer to TV as a medium—it puts you in touch with so much that is dead," says London script writer Denis Goodwin.

Hungary Strike Not Yet Broken

Notes Thrown From Trains Tell Grim Story of Mass Deportations

VIENNA (INS)—Hungary remained today in the grip of a defiant anti-Soviet general strike despite a new barrage of Communist promises, appeals and threats.

Radio Budapest claimed the three-week-old strike was ending, but other reports reaching Vienna indicated millions of workers showed no signs of going to work while Russian troops occupy the country.

And, despite puppet premier Janos Kadar's statement to the contrary, the Russians apparently still are deporting trainloads of Hungarians.

Reports leaking through the Iron Curtain said notes thrown from a train yesterday south of Budapest told of 1,500 persons locked aboard and heading for the Soviet Union.

NAMES LISTED

One note listed 15 names. These were checked and all the persons listed were missing from their homes.

Ten thousand Budapest patriots marched on the parliament yesterday in protest against the deportations, but no incidents were reported.

The government radio broadcast appeals from a number of workers councils for a return to work and for volunteer labor to get Budapest's buses, trains and trams running.

Observers in Vienna noted that the workers councils actually were pure Communist bodies and not representative of the people.

The voice of the government claimed many workers had decided to go back to their jobs because they realized after talking to Kadar yesterday a continuation of the strike would mean a catastrophe for the nation.

New Atom Reactor Nears Completion

ering neutron-absorbing rods into the fuel assembly. These rods, operating from a control tower, will "steal" neutrons needed to continue the reaction.

Initially, the unit will operate at only a few watts, a fraction of the reactor's top power rating of 1 million watts, according to Henry J. Gombert, assistant director of the Phoenix Project and the only staff-member presently licensed to operate the reactor.

Structurally, the atom-smasher is an imposing sight. Located in a wind-tunnel, gas-tight building four floors high, the reactor adjoins the $2 million Memorial Laboratory.

Over 30 miles of wiring connect the control room with the underwater fuel assembly; six and a half feet of concrete line the pool's walls; safety devices cover every conceivable situation.

The project's emphasis on safety is one of the reasons for the current delay in beginning operations, according to Prof. Gombert. Protective devices, from the alarm that automatically seals every door in the building to thick shields of graphite, already conform to AEC standards.

"But we're not going to leave anything to chance, as remote as any chance of an 'incident' might be," said Director Ralph A. Sawyer.

Prof. Gombert rules out any possibility that the unit could become an atom bomb, the explosion of which is caused by an instantaneous and complete chain reaction. The U-M reactor is governed to come up to full force gradually—if things get moving faster than they're supposed to, the reactor automatically shuts itself off.

Besides research into the effects of radiation, the reactor will also create radioisotopes for medical therapy and diagnosis, and one out of Egypt immediately, that Egypt be paid by the three nations for material losses suffered in the invasion and that the U.N. police force be restricted to positions along the 1949 Israeli-Egyptian armistice lines. He said the police force should not be stationed in the Suez Canal zone.

With completion of the reactor, the University now possesses a complete atomic research unit, consisting of a cyclotron, synchrotron, extensive laboratories and two machines for treating cancers and tumors with cesium and cobalt radiation.

Investigate $100 Theft in Walled Lake

Oakland County detectives today are investigating the theft of soil pipe valued at $100 from property opposite a Walled Lake drive-in sometime yesterday.

The missing pipe was owned by the Redman Construction Corp., which is building a plastic factory on the site.

Home Breakin Yields $62 in Bills, Pennies

Ransacking a bedroom yielded $62 in bills and an undetermined amount of pennies during a break-in Wednesday night of a home at 21 School St., Pontiac police said.

Entry was gained by prying open a kitchen window, they added.

Israel still demonstrated every intention of holding on to the Gaza Strip, a narrow piece of land on the Mediterranean formerly under Egyptian control. The Israelis seized the strip after their whirlwind push into Egypt's Sinai Peninsula.

The French government quickly labeled Bulganin's notes a maneuver to hamper the work of Hammarskjold and the U.N. police force. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said France believes the Soviet position will incite Egyptian President Nasser to oppose any action of the U.N. to police the Suez.

In his messages, Bulganin said the Soviet Union "is of the opinion that with withdrawal from Egyptian territory of the armed forces of Britain, France and Israel, there is no need for such international forces."

He added, however, that the Soviet government had no objection to the police force since Egypt had agreed in principle and "in view of the fact that they can be placed on both sides of the demarcation line between Israel and Egypt."

Gets 10-Day Term

Samuel T. Hudson, 31, of 44 Lull St., was sentenced to 10 days in the Oakland County Jail yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of driving with a revoked license before Justice John J. Schulte of Farmington.

Handful of Trouble

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP)—Police usually aren't concerned with teenagers who hold hands in automobiles. But these hand-holders were in different cars, traveling at 70 miles per hour en route to a football game. Police arrested the driver and the affectionate pair.

Hoover Demonstrates Main Quality—Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP)—To Herbert Hoover Jr., there are three ingredients of a life worth living—the outdoors, far away places and mining engineering.

Friends say he would rather be back in Australia mining gold than serving in his present position as No. 2 man in the State Department.

At 53, "Young Herbie" retains no happy memories about the White House, where his father lived for four years as the 31st president. His fondest memories are of those far off places where he mined for gold and explored for oil.

Friends say that as a trained engineer, like his father, he wants to take a cautious second look at everything. And that includes public service which, because of the criticism heaped upon his father whom he reveres, he approaches as a chore to be done with quickly. Public office holds no glamor for him.

"I do not wish to be disrespectful," he said then, "but I have not the slightest interest in politics."

But politics has shown more than a slight interest in him. It took the Senate Foreign Relations Committee only a few minutes to approve his nomination as Undersecretary of State. And on Aug. 18, 1954, the full Senate confirmed it less than 24 hours after it had been submitted.

He got the job because of his knowledge of international oil problems and a display of "nice guy" diplomacy which impressed both Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

Once in office, however, he became involved in four undiplomatic "bloopers" which have overshadowed his work in helping gain a settlement of the once-bitter Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

These miscues are said to have cooled Dulles off on him somewhat, although Eisenhower seemingly still holds him in undiminished regard. There were:

1. When Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai suggested in the spring of 1955 that his country and the United States discuss Far East problems, Hoover rejected it out of hand. He said there would be no such talks without Nationalist China present, a condition the Communists had to refuse.

2. Later Hoover issued a statement, since described as gratuitous, hailing West German Chancellor Adenauer's talk at Moscow as proof of the "bankruptcy" of Soviet policy toward West Germany.

3. When a shipment of U. S. tanks for Saudi Arabia was discovered on a New York dock, he ordered it held up, only to have to take back his order in the glare of bright publicity whipped up over the affair by Arab-Israeli animosities.

4. Last April it was disclosed he had told a Senate Subcommittee that Nationalist China was shipping "millions of dollars worth of goods every year" to Red China. Later he testified he was "in error," saying the State Department had "no evidence of direct commercial contact" between the two Chinas.

In each of these three cases, officials have said, somebody else wrote the statement which Hoover issued. Still, he was the acting Secretary of State and could have rejected or revised the wording.

In the China trade situation, intimates have said it was Dulles himself who advised Hoover to disclose the Formosa trade with the mainland. Even though Hoover later testified the trade was through Hong Kong, officials concerned with the area say private that the two Chinas are engaged of it.

in direct trade but, since the Nationalists provide the State Department with its only reports on such trade, Hoover was technically correct in saying he had no evidence

Friends will tell you that Hoover demonstrated one of his chief qualities in each of the four instances. This, they say, is loyalty. They dispute any criticisms, such as has appeared in newspapers and periodicals, that Hoover would impose a slowdown on any policies with which he disagreed. Some of the criticism undoubtedly springs from Hoover's personal manner and way of doing things.

Eleven blocks of four-story buildings have just been completed under Calcutta's second industrial housing plan.

Ava Refuses to Speak About Future Plans

By PHYLIS BATTLE
International News Service

In Europe, where the local Lorchs are more dramatic than imaginative, Ava Gardner is referred to as the "goddess of love."

This title, after three smashed marriages and unnumbered impetuous romances, must amuse the small-town girl from North Carolina. She has developed a wry attitude about this love business.

"I carry the torch after all my marriages break up," she said recently. Her beautiful face, like that of a droll comedian, was deadpan. "Guess I get lonely without a guy around the house."

"But you can get over anything... even a toothache... in time."

Ava is a curious combination of realist and dreamer and, through the last 15 years of success, she has done more than her share of self-analyzing.

The result is that—to avoid driving herself insane with recriminations as she surveys the ruins of her attempts to settle down with one man—she gives herself two emotional "outs."

CLEAR CONSCIENCE

Sometimes she verbally clears her own conscience ("I guess," she says, "you can put it down to my choice of husbands.") Her other defense against psychological disaster is surrounding herself with lively company who'll help her forget her past.

In thus pulling the curtain over the past, she lives at such a dizzy pace that there is not much time for surveying the future.

If Ava Gardner has any plans beyond living from dawn to dawn in the most agreeable fashion available, not even those favored few closest to her back and call have any knowledge of it.

There are rumors that she plans to move from Madrid to Rome. Close friends say she'll shortly return to America to finalize her divorce from Frank Sinatra.

The Spanish say she can never roam far from the bullfight arenas she has come to consider a thrilling escape hatch for her irrepresible emotional drive.

NOT PREDICTING

Ava long ago grew weary of telling the world frankly what she thought—an living to regret the mistaken interpretations put upon her statements. So she simply isn't predicting anything.

Too often, for the blunt Miss

The full figure should skip the skirt pegged all around and choose one pegged in front only, with the back molded to the hips.

Gardner, honesty has turned out to be an incriminating policy.

She learned to be blunt in Smithfield, N. C., where, she has proclaimed proudly, she didn't wear shoes till she was 14.

It was a broad step from Smithfield to the Hollywood Hills and when Ava made the sudden leap, she carried along all her North Carolina-bred requisites for confusion: An intense inferiority complex, a bewitching beauty she didn't quite know what to do with, and that explosive frankness.

"Maybe," she said much later, "I shouldn't have started wearing shoes. Makes it that much more uncomfortable when you put your foot in your mouth."

MATERNAL TYPE

From the start, Ava openly admitted she couldn't act: "I was much better equipped for having babies."

So she married the then-fabulously successful Mickey Rooney. She married him because she thought marriage was expected of a girl and because he helped overcome the sense of inferiority that always had, and still does, surround her.

"I remember wondering what he could have seen in me," she has recalled. "He was the first guy I'd met that I didn't figure was laughing at me. But we were babies."

They were married in January 1942, after a six-month courtship. Their marriage lasted less than twice that long. Mickey measured up exactly to Ava's dimpled chin, and friends of both said he made up in aggressiveness what he lacked in height. Ava walked out.

A dress with a gathered skirt spotlights the width of the waist and hips. The newest skirts with just enough darts or pegging in front, flatter the mid-section and give ease in the tummy and hip area.

Instead of soothing her sense of inferiority, he ballooned it. Friends insist he kept telling her how stupid she was, and insisting she read weighty books.

ANALYSIS NEXT

The befuddled Miss Gardner, after having her ego deflated and watching her weight drop from a curvy 126 to a skinny 106, entered psychoanalysis in the hope of saving her marriage. It didn't work and one year later she joined Artie's "who's who" of famous ex-wives.

Fame and overwhelming success kept Miss Gardner from devoting the proper time to get herself involved seriously with another prospective husband until 1951 when—after a long wait for his divorce from his first wife—she married crooner Sinatra.

This, she was sure, was true love. After all, she had matured. She was marrying for love, not to free herself of complexes or to build up ego or intellectual prowess.

Sinatra was down, financially and professionally, and Ava footed most of their bills, including a whopper for their Caribbean honeymoon.

He was "sweet, grateful and kind," during that brief period; but then he was given a role in the film, "From Here to Eternity," and was once more in the chips and the spotlight.

GEOS TO HIS HEAD

"Some people," Ava said ruefully, "get pleasant and affable with success. But Frank—you know how that affects him. There was no living with him. Success just seems to go to his head."

Their marriage became increasingly bitter. Sometimes, Ava recalls, during separations for either professional or personal reasons, he would call her up "just to hang up on me."

Their disputes became internationally renowned, since wherever she travels Ava is relentlessly reported on by her alleged "friends." In 1954, amid reports that she was still in love with Sinatra (these reports still exist, but monthly grow more hushed), Ava announced she would get a divorce.

Since then she has spent 95 per cent of her time in Spain and in location in Europe, kicking up her heels wherever she appears.

At least two men claim to believe Ava will marry them eventually: Walter Chiari, the Italian comedian, and Frank Silvestri, a Pittsburgh boy who was Ava's companion at the Grace Kelly-Prince Rainier wedding in Monaco and believes that he—and it—put her in a potential marrying mood.

But if any mortal knows what Miss Gardner's plans are it is Miss Gardner alone.

And all she does is to mimic the rest of the world looking on at her amorous adventures—by raising an eyebrow.

Area Schools Plan Thanksgiving, Holiday Parties

Thoughts of Thanksgiving and holiday parties filled the minds of area students.

Classes let out Wednesday for Thanksgiving and dances are scheduled throughout the area on Wednesday night as well as some tonight.

AT WALLED LAKE

The Junior class and their friends will dance at the annual J-Hop tonight in the Walled Lake High School gymnasium. Theme of the ball is Japanese Autumn with brown and yellow predominating in the decorations.

Nancy McKaig, class vice president, is chairman of the event and is assisted by committees from the various homerooms.

During the evening the band will choose a queen and two attendants from the members of the Junior class.

Tickets will be available at the door. Prom time is 8:30 to midnight.

AT CLARKSTON

The Plymouth Rock, a Thanksgiving Dance, sponsored by Clarkston juniors will be held Wednesday. Open to the public the dance will begin at 8 p.m.

"Time Out for Ginger," a three-act comedy will be presented in the auditorium tomorrow night at 8. The play is directed by Katherine Bayer and sponsored by the senior class.

The 1957 Clarkston Hilltopper yearbook which the staff promises to be "the biggest and best" ever is on its way. The book will go on sale Wednesday, Nov. 28.

The Journalism class which is producing the book expects record sales from Clarkston High students.

"The World Situation Today," was John Sherriff's topic for lecture and discussion during an assembly held at Clarkston High Monday.

AT WEST BLOOMFIELD

This past week at West Bloomfield High School has been a rather hectic one as juniors busily finished plans for the one of their major dances of the year, the Starlight Ball.

Open to the public, the dance will be held from 8 to 11 tonight in the West Bloomfield gymnasium and will feature a Detroit name band.

Juniors and seniors held their annual magazine sale banquet last week. In the contest between the two classes, the seniors were top salesmen.

Future Teachers of West Bloomfield have made up a tax dollar exhibit which is displayed in the main hall.

The Debate Club is having a workshop tonight at the home of Kathy Olmstead.

AT LAKE ORION

Enrollment among the students dropped on Wednesday and Thursday because of the students hunting. The school excuses those who present their license and have made up their work.

Some are staying until the weekend because of the school play, a comedy called "Jeepers Creepers." Most of the members of the senior class are helping in some way to produce this play.

Open House on Tuesday night was a big success. Many parents in addition to visiting their children's rooms saw exhibits in the halls, and one of sterling silver and place settings in the home ec room; handicrafts and painting in the art room; and projects by the boys in woodwork classes.

The program of music was appreciated by the parents, and many stayed to sample the food prepared by the home ec girls. The Student Council guides and the Y teen hostesses also proved very efficient.

Powell studio is taking pictures for the year books, currently.

AT AVONDALE

Avondale High School junior class president Gerry Poynter reports that work on the Sadie Hawkins Dance is progressing very well. The dance, which will be held Nov. 30 in the school gym, is based on the Lil' Abner comic strip by Al Capp.

Avondale High School's debate team attended its first discussion Nov. 8, at Troy High School. Seniors Jackie Pyle and Bob Snyder took high honors on the team with 41 of a possible 50 points.

Future Nurses Club held a meeting at Joy Owen's house Tuesday night to meet their sponsor, Mrs. Ford Cobb.

Boy's basketball practices were held for the first time this week. Coach Dick Bie is busy getting his boys ready for the first game Dec. 12, with Fitzgerald on the home floor.

The concert band under the direction of John Neetce and the choral groups under the supervision of Barbara LeBeau are preparing their annual Christmas concert to be presented Dec. 19, in the High School gym.

THANKSGIVING POSTERS PLANNED—Posters are up all over Clarkston High School for the Plymouth Rock dance slated Wednesday night. Working on the posters over are committee

GOODIES FOR TURKEY DAY — New cooks in the Home Ec Department at Pontiac High School check new recipes to try out for Thanksgiving. Left to right are Nancy Vess, Pat Lehman, Nancy Ohanesian and instructor Mrs. Ann Hagenbush. One thing the girls haven't tried yet is roasting turkeys. Is that next?

Cooks Try Out New Recipes

Turkey Day Plans Sprout at Pontiac High

By JACK HENDRICKSON

Thanksgiving is in the air, as plans for the big holiday and days off from school, occupy students at Pontiac High.

One Pontiac High School home-making class has just finished its work in the culinary arts.

Girls taking homemaker study it for a whole year under the instruction of Elizabeth Rodgers, Mrs. Ann Hagenbush and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller. The class that "graduated" from cooking prepared a full dinner for some of the teachers.

During this full year of home-making, the girls have ten weeks of each of the phases of housework, Child care, cooking, clothing and house care make up this program.

January seniors, numbering 132, were hustling this week to get their senior picture proofs in by Wednesday, the deadline for the people who wanted their pictures back before Christmas.

Seven Pontiac High School students will accompany John N. Youngpeter to New York next week for a science trip.

The boys who will be going are: Jim Livingstone, Bob Tenny, Philip Francis, Charles Evans, Gary McDowell, David Litner, and Jerry Powers.

They will visit the Bronx Zoo, Botanical Gardens and Radio City, Thursday.

Tours of the United Nations Building, Statue of Liberty, and the Empire State Building will occupy most of Friday. Then they will meet Libby H. Hyman, acclaimed the greatest woman biologist in the world, at the American Museum of Natural History Building. That evening they will attend a television show.

Saturday will be quite mild, though. The boys and Youngpeter will tour an ocean liner, then do some collecting by the Atlantic Ocean.

About 20 members of the Biology Club, organized by Youngpeter, took a trip to view the Telenews Documentary "Secrets of the Reef," in Detroit, Wednesday.

The Social Workers Club was organized this Tuesday. It is a new club similar to the Future Nurses and Future Teachers clubs and encourages young people, who plan to take up social work after they get that diploma.

The club will visit hospitals, clinics, and psychoanalysts when it gets fully organized.

Eastern Council Uses PA System for Talks

The Student Council at Eastern Junior High School puts on a program over the public address system in the school every other Monday.

Purpose of the program is to give information to students on various committees and organizations in the school. The local broadcasts mention outstanding workers in certain activities and features Student Council representatives and adviser Helen Lapsich.

lighted the week as the seniors received their cherished class rings.

Quarterly reports were distributed by our Pastor, the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly Monday morning.

On Wednesday evening the parents and teachers met to discuss the problems and difficulties which have arisen since the opening of school and to suggest ways and means for the betterment of those concerned.

Within the next few days student librarians will have an opportunity to show their skill in librarianship by helping to process many new books received for the high school library.

The senior class members have prayed for the speedy recovery of their "star" player in all sports, Danny Drops who was injured in his last football game.

Administrators in Waterford Attend Meetings

Waterford administrators have visited colleges and conferences in connection with their positions over the past weeks.

Principal Thad Carr attended Principal's Day at Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo. He talked to ex-Waterford students attending college there.

Attending the Michigan Counselors Conference in Lansing were counselors Byron Merritt, Suzanne Houghton and Mrs. Lela Long.

A new TV set and scoreboard have been purchased for the school from the funds.

Parents visited the Madison rooms Tuesday for open house.

AT WALLED LAKE

The Atwas club of Walled Lake Junior High will present its final performance of Great Caesar's Ghost, a hilarious mystery in three acts at 8 tonight in the Junior High auditorium.

Sponsors of the club and directing the play are Mrs. Mary Lott, John Williams, Joseph Neff, and W. D. Smith. This first offering of the school year was also presented last night. The public is invited to attend and may purchase tickets at the door.

All proceeds will be used to purchase additional stage equipment.

Bob Considine Says:

Are Short Pants Legally Shorts or Pants?

NEW YORK (INS) — Are short pants shorts or pants? Will there be a round-up of those brave young men who come in from Greenwich on hot summer days and go to their Wall street offices in abbreviated Bermuda bloomers?

The whole question of man's liberation from the iron-clad restrictions on just how much clothing he must wear, and on what parts of his body, is coming to a head in Arizona.

The Arizona law says quite clearly that a man must wear pants when he shows himself to fellow natives.

The law was put in during territory days and was aimed chiefly at Indians who were wont to stroll into town naked as jaybirds to gaze at the strange critters in their hot pants, coats, hats, corsets, dresses and the hard animal hides they wore on their feet.

The word "leg" was never mentioned by good women. It was, at most, "lower limb." The sight of a man's leg would cause horses to shy and the dear ladies of the frontier to fall into dead faints. Hence, this ancient doggerel: You can live without li'rachur. You can live without art. You can live without conscience. You can live without heart. You can live without relatives. Without uncles or aunts. But civilized man cannot live without pants.

BEFORE SHORTS

A commendable thought, to be sure. But the Arizona law and its poet laureate pre-dated Bermuda shorts. Not long ago a brave soul sauntered on to one of the state's broad avenues dressed in the latest abbreviated flannels from Front street, Hamilton, queen city of all the Bermudas.

A lady complained. He was arrested. The American Bar Association Journal asked Leslie Parry, esteemed Phoenix attorney, for a White Paper on this tense matter.

He spots it beautifully, almost in the academic manner of Benchley discussing the love life of the newt.

"Times have changed and so have fashions and customs," he notes. "The girls traverse the streets wearing little more than the Indians wore in that day and nobody squawks or even lifts an eyebrow. In fact, some are in favor of it, including mayhap, the judge."

BIBLICAL VIEWPOINT

Exodus 28:42 wrestled with pants around 700 B.C.— "Thou shalt make them breeches to cover their nakedness; from the loins even unto the thighs they shall reach."

THERE'S GLASS TO THIS — Featuring a fiber glass body is the Berkeley, British designer Lawrence Bond's newest entry in the low-priced sports car field, recently shown in London. Bond claims his "Baby" can go 70 miles per hour with ease, and will get 60 miles to the Imperial gallon of gasoline.

business and expects others to do the same."

If we hear anything more on this, you'll be the first to know.

The DA, quoting the dictionary like William Jennings Bryan brandished Scripture at the monkey trial, says pants are "a garment extending from the waist to the ankles and covering each leg separately."

Parry writes: "The Indians . . . bought a few pairs of Levis and cached them in the bushes outside the town, put them on when approaching the town, and when leaving cached them in the bushes again for use of the next contingent of savages to visit civilization."

"In such human manner is the law frequently satisfied. The Indian, however, did not require the white man to take off his pants on the reservation."

"He had not the power or the wish to impose his notions on others. The Indian minds his own business and expects others to do the same."

If we hear anything more on this, you'll be the first to know.

Zoo Has Rare Possum

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A rare albino possum has been added to the Fort Worth Zoo. It was donated by a resident of Florida. Zoo Director Lawrence Curtis said it was the first he had ever seen. Most albinos, he said, are killed when very young because they have no natural camouflage against enemies.

Young Girl Victim of Three Holdups

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A St. Louis radio-television repairman was arrested today just outside a savings bank after a $2,847 holdup of the same teller for the third time this year.

Barbara Stewart, 20, told police she recognized Cletus W. Stone, 46, as the man who had forced her to sack up almost $14,000 in two holdups last winter at the North Side Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

Hungarian Refugees Tell Senate Group of Red Atrocities, Plead for Nations' Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—A man who said he is fresh from "the thick of the fighting" in Hungary's revolution told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee yesterday.

"I beg the help of every nation and creed" for his oppressed nation.

"Let my documentary writing be also the SOS call of my nation," he said in a statement prepared for an afternoon public hearing. The subcommittee said he also had photographs of Soviet atrocities.

The witness used the assumed name "Arpad Hazafi," lest disclosure of his true name draw Soviet reprisal on relatives in Hungary.

"I am no coward but I am filled with fear" for them, his statement said.

The subcommittee released only the preface of his statement. This gave no details of the fighting, but subcommittee aides said he would deal with these in the hearing.

The man will be masked when he takes the witness stand, as was another Hungarian refugee who testified yesterday about torture chambers of the Soviet-led Hungarian secret police. Yesterday's witness, using the assumed name "Istvan Laszlo," said many Russian troops in Hungary when the rebels flared refused to fight the rebels, but that fresh and tougher Soviet divisions were sent in and cracked down ruthlessly.

Hazafi gave a grim account of conditions in Hungary which he said led up to the revolution. He said the Soviets looted the economy and left "the barest minimum" for the Hungarian people. He said an entire family could expect to earn the equivalent of not more than $35 or $45 a month in buying power, $50 if family members had high positions. He said the Russians imposed a piecework system in which the rates were changed from time to time so that the workers' wages could not rise.

Under the secret police, he said, the "slightest disapproval" of the regime, correspondence with Western relatives or friends, sometimes baseless accusation, was sufficient to cause arrest, torture or even death for the people with- out court trial or verdict. They were imprisoned most times for years.

"In May and June, 1951, from Budapest alone about 60,000 people were deported to the country-side regardless of age and religion," he said.

"Life in Hungary became a hopeless treadmill."

Kidnaper Search Ended by Chance

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—A detective says a ruse caused Angelo LaMarca to link himself with the Peter Weinberger kidnaping.

Detective Sgt. Edward F. Curran, testifying yesterday in the kidnap-murder trial of 31-year-old LaMarca, first told of the pains-taking search of 2½ million handwritten specimens examined by local authorities and the FBI which led them to the defendant.

Curran said LaMarca steadfastly denied any connection with the case until the detective told LaMarca his fingerprints had been found on 32-day-old Peter's carriage.

Curran quoted LaMarca as blurting out: "I didn't touch the carriage, I just pulled back the netting."

Actually, Curran said, no fingerprints had been found on the infant's carriage.

Later, Curran testified, LaMarca completely broke down and confessed the kidnaping when confronted by his weeping wife at their Plainview, N.Y., home on Long Island, about 10 miles from the Westbury residence of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger.

Drownings are second only to motor vehicles as a cause of accidental death.

Refugee Describes Torture of Mindszenty

(The following report on the Communist torture of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who has taken refuge at the U.S. Legation in Budapest, was given by escaped Hungarian Priest Bela Ispanky to the contents of a letter, noted by the author and publisher, who has just arrived in the U.S. from Vienna.)

By JUDITH LISTOWEL

Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and his co-accused got this legal advice before their notorious star chamber trials early in 1949: "I give you," their prosecutor said, "45 minutes to prepare a realistic defense or else I will have you beaten to a pulp."

The Rev. Bela Ispanky, who was one of the co-defendants in the Communist trial of Cardinal Mindszenty on charges of spying, told in Austria of the pre-trial tortures. He and the cardinal were rescued by freedom fighters before massive Soviet armor crushed the Hungarian insurgents.

Fr. Ispanky said that the words "realistic defense" in Soviet parlance mean either a virtual plea of guilty or a plea that cannot in any way embarrass the regime.

He said:

"Our treatment varied from unadulterated brutality to the administration of drugs to some, both by the needle and in powder form."

"In the Cardinal's case it was electric shock treatment primarily, as far as I know."

"When we came face to face in court, he was not even able to recognize me. But others such as Erno Totosi, whose food was dusted with some drug, nearly went mad after the ordeal."

Fr. Ispanky said the guards occasionally and "subtly brought tantalizing food into the next cell, telling us there are two ways of getting such food—either have it the night before an execution or turn traitor."

"This consisted of sending us on errands to deliver messages often blasphemous or obscene, with threats of hanging if we did not deliver them word perfect."

"On other occasions, while filing out from our cells on legitimate exercise, they pounced on us saying that we were trying to make a break, and beat us."

"The more subtle side of the treatment was no better."

"Later in January, on the eve of the trial, we each were taken before the notorious Vilmos Olty president of the 'Peoples' court to be handed copies of the charges."

"He minced no words and made it clear that our fate was a foregone conclusion, heads I win and tails you lose. He declared he had two sets of charge sheets already drawn up, one to be used in the event we prepared to plead guilty with a 'realistic' defense, and the other if we insisted on making a defense."

"The alternative was trial by military tribunal. He told us, 'We will try you in secret and hang you before anyone finds out.'"

"They did make an attempt to permit a gesture that we could appoint counsel to defend us, but any suggestion for reputable legal representation resulted in abuse, coercion and threats."

The priest did not meet his court-appointed counsel until two days before the trial. He said:

"I was led into the room by one of the prosecutors. My attorney was told, 'I give you 45 minutes to frame a realistic defense.'"

"Subsequently my counsel asked me, 'Do the authorities have any incriminating data against you?'"

"When I replied, 'No, they do not and if they had they couldn't afford to publish it for their own sakes,' my session with my counsel was abruptly terminated."

Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty

"Through the grapevine I subsequently heard the attorney was threatened with jail unless he could assure that I confessed."

Under this pressure Fr. Ispanky decided it was best to plead guilty and reserve his defense until the trial, when at least he would have the opportunity to speak in the presence of foreign observers.

Indications that such observers would be present became evident to the accused a few days before the trial. Fr. Ispanky said:

"Suddenly they took our clothes away and returned them pressed, but retained the trousers so as to keep the crease perfect. For a day and a night we shivered in our underclothes."

"On the morning of the trial, after a haircut, a shave and repeated inspections to make sure our boots were highly polished, we were ready for the show. We were put into luxury sedans."

"We were driven to the court house in the Marko Street jail through the crowds—with secret police along sidewalk positions as a precaution against incidents."

"From here on we were given the fatted calf treatment and waited upon hand and foot by detectives. We were well fed, even to the point of what appeared luxurious meals served on luxury porcelain. This was the only time we slept in heated rooms."

American Refugee Sought by Seamen

BEIRUT, Lebanon (U. S. — Six

young Hungarian seamen jumped ship here last night and asked the American Embassy for admission to the United States.

Their spokesman said they did not want to "return to a country which again has lost its liberty." Eleven other Hungarian sailors quit the freighter Debreceen here last Saturday to ask for American protection. The Hungarian legation in Damascus sent a representative to urge them to reconsider but "he went away rejected," American Embassy officials said.

The latest group was from the small freighter Szeged, out of Budapest.

Elther was first used as an anaesthetic in surgery in a Boston hospital and the date was October 15, 1946.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FAMOUS BOOK FRIENDS — 5

Jim Hawkins was the little English boy who had such exciting adventures in Robert Louis Stevenson's story of hidden treasure and piracy in the South Seas — "Treasure Island."

Stevenson, who was a Scotsman, planned the story with his young American stepson, Lloyd Osbourne.

Here is Jim with Long John Silver, the rascally old one-legged sailor who served as cook on the voyage to the island. Between them is Long John's pet parrot, Captain Flint. Jim and his friends had many disasters and mutinies to deal with before their mission was successful.

Color this picture with your crayons and paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the pieces carefully. Fold the picture forward on the dotted line so the figures will stand. Cut a slit along Long John's left hand and on his shoulder, as indicated. Then, by inserting the tab at the parrot's feet, the bird can perch in either place.

(Sharon Le Tourneau, Flint, Mich., first contributed this idea. If you have a suggestion for Junior Editors send it in care of this newspaper and it may be worth $10 to you. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

First honors for beginning seven-year-olds may be for keeping dresser drawers tidy for two months in a row. Tasks get harder as the girls get older. Girls graduate from the organization at 18.

Honors can be earned in seven fields: Homemaking, creative arts, citizenship, sports and games, business, outdoors and a field called frontiers.

Frontier skills include such scientific know-how as changing an electric fuse.

Camping is a Campfire activity independent of UF support. The council itself is raising another $14,000 for day and summer camp visits. It hopes to establish a resident camp near Clarkston soon.

Publicist-Peggy Lloyd, Actor Patten Divorced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Publicist Peggy Lloyd, 30, daughter of former actor Harold Lloyd, has won a divorce on testimony that her husband "suggested a breakup two weeks after our marriage."

Actor Robert Patten, she said, left her Aug. 20 in Seattle after five months. Mrs. Betty Plant, a friend of the publicist, testified at the trial yesterday.

"Three weeks after they were married he told me he hated her—that she was such a good wife he couldn't stand it."

UF Funds Aid Camp Fire Girl Training

The little boy next door may scoff as dainty little Campfire Girls troop into their monthly meeting, but someday he'll change his tune.

Dirty and scuffed from play, he laughs as the girls practice feminine, sissy tasks.

On his wedding day, however, he'll be lucky if the girl he loves was once a diligent Campfire Girl.

New husband will find his bride skilled at cooking, a cinch at sewing and an experienced homemaker.

At least that's what the Camp-citizenship and social responsibility, important lessons for adult women.

The program here is directed by the Pontiac council and supported by your Pontiac Area United Fund contribution.

The council is asking $14,870 from the UF to maintain next year's program for 600 to 700 girls, age 7 to 17, says executive director Mary Ellen Wyngarden.

Homemaking skills for the future wife and mother are the most important part of the girls' training, she said.

Campfire Girls also learn about

"We give a girl the sense of belonging to a group," Miss Wyngarden explained, "stress giving and taking and mixing well with others."

The girls, for example, regularly visit hospitals, comforting patients. Right now, as a typical project, many girls are preparing Christmas decorations for a party to cheer children at Pontiac State Hospital.

NEW WIDTH—Notice how the BIG M's new breadth is dramatized by a massive new Jet-Flo Bumper. The oval shape of this graceful new bumper design is as functional as it is beautiful. It acts as a double bumper—provides both high and low protection. Notice the matching "twin"-styled rear bumper (right).

NEW OVERSIZED INTERIORS—There's more comfort in the front and back seats of the new BIG M. There's new hip room and leg room. As much shoulder room, for example, as in many of the most expensive cars. The floor is now recessed between the frame. The result: more headroom than ever before.

NEW LENGTH, NEW WHEELBASE—CLOSE TO TWO-TONS BIG. Every important dimension is bigger. In addition to the new length, wheelbase is a big 122 inches. And the 1957 Mercurys are up to 225 pounds heavier, too. A far lower center of gravity gives you an amazing sense of "nailed-down" stability on curves and corners.

NEW POWER—UP TO 290 HP

A 255-hp Safety-Surge engine is standard. A 290-hp Turnpike Cruiser V-8 is optional. And there are two Mercury engine "firsts." A Thermo-matic Carburetor controls the temperature of air the engine breathes. The results: extra power and economy. And, in the Montclair series, a Power-Booster Fan coasts when not needed for cooling—saves horsepower.

NEW DREAM-CAR DESIGN

1957's most advanced styling—a clean-cut, dynamic look that makes other cars look old-fashioned. The roof is gracefully slender—sweeps back out over the rear window to provide extra headroom. The tail-lights have an imaginative V-angle slant. Here's America's first production dream car—styling that will influence the shape of cars for years to come.

DRAMATIC NEW FEATURES

Everywhere you look there's a new idea: an exclusive 7-position Keyboard Control that outdates ordinary, push-button transmissions, an exclusive Floating Ride with a cushioning action you have to feel to believe. You can even get a power seat that "remembers"—turn a dial and it finds your favorite seat position. But see everything. Stop in today.

State Road Plan Complicates City Parking Problem

Keego C. of C. to Discuss Orchard Lake Widening

KEEGO HARBOR — Worry that widening of Orchard Lake road in the near future will eliminate much downtown parking has set Keego Harbor businessmen to making plans.

Main topic for the Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting next Monday at 7 p.m. at Rotunda Inn is slated to be the parking problem, according to Leon Windsor, proprietor of the Green Thumb Florist.

"The parallel parking on the north side of the street is to be taken," Windsor says, "but the south side black-topped strip is privately owned."

He referred to the wide strip where vertical parking provides parking from Cass Lake road west for about a block and one half.

Ideas of how to replace the lost parking will be welcomed at the meeting.

Suggestions the C. of C. has already received, Windsor says, include the frequent state request that south-side parking be on an angle rather than vertical. Cars entering from the south-bound lane to use traffic at the Cass Lake road light, he points out, and cars backing out of the strip and wanting to go south, often block both lanes.

Following dinner at 7 p.m., a business meeting is slated for 8 p.m.

In the parking discussion, new Chief of Police Richard Hurtubise, who is also the city's traffic engineer, will be on hand to answer questions.

Discussion of a parking lot in the downtown area is expected. Windsor says, "but the community does not have the money for such a project," he adds.

Village Waits Highway Word

Lansing Trip Pending After State Postpones Bridge Bid-Opening

ROCHESTER — Awaiting word from the State Highway Department on new plans for the M150 bridge at the south of Rochester, village officials are breathing easier now that the Nov. 21 bid-opening for a three-lane roadway has been canceled.

Village Manager Robert A. Stone, who has received notification from Lansing of the reconsideration of the roadway plans, said the department has agreed to notify him of further steps.

A decision will be made then, on whether Stone, Traffic Engineer T. M. Vanderstempel and a councilman will make their trip to Lansing.

They have been delegated to continue the village's battle against the three-lane plan. A four-lane road way would be safer, Vanderstempel has advised.

225 Honor Postman for 35 Years' Deliveries

ROYAL OAK — About 225 who have received mail carried by Claude H. Shutes during his 35 years on a carriers route in Royal Oak turned out to a dinner in his Recollections of Shutes' service included such "extras" as the vacation postcards he used to send to all the children on his route; now as adults they have children who run to meet him as he comes with mail.

Also recalled were the welcome calls he would make nights, during the war, to assure anxious parents of men in service that letters from their loved ones were among those he had sorted ready for morning delivery.

His retirement in the near future, Shutes was honored by the program arranged by Mrs. E. McVay Crosby, Mrs. Thomas A. Jenkins and Mrs. James Temple, all on the route that included parts of Fourth, York, Dundee, Hereford, Wareham, Ivanhoe and Lincoln streets in Royal Oak.

Supervisor Sees Avon as City

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles describing Rochester's growth. Today's article deals with the growth outside in the township.)

Rochester's growth is not confined to its village limits. In fact the area immediately surrounding Rochester has grown even faster in the past few years than has the village. Supervisor Cyril E. Miller of Avon Township estimates that the township will double in population by 1960.

"Avon Township, including Rochester, had a population of 13,182 in the federal census of 1950," he pointed out. Rochester's 4,279 was included in this total. "I would estimate that our present total population today is between 17,000 and 18,000. By 1960 it should be at least 25,000."

"It would be higher," he added, "were it not for the fact that we are being more particular today in approving new subdivisions. In 1953 we established the present minimum size for a residential lot at 20,000 square feet. Subdivisions with somewhat smaller lots will be approved only if the subdividers provide their own sewer and water systems."

"Now every request for approval of a suggested subdivision plat or for an individual building permit has to be accompanied by a soil percolation test showing it will provide a suitable drainage field for septic tanks. On Sept. 1 this rule was adopted countywide and it is a good move."

"Our township zoning Commission also is helping us a lot, as is our area planning group. However, the work of the latter is being held up by the move to incorporate Rochester as a city and taking in a much larger area."

TOWNSHIP INCORPORATION "Personally I would prefer to see the whole township incorporated."

Pleasant Lagers Plan Dec. 11 Meeting

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Plans for a Dec. 11 meeting of the Pleasant Lake Extension Group were discussed as members gathered on Tuesday at Mrs. Clarence Miller's home, 354 Lake Boulevard. Members are working on patterns for Christmas gifts distributed at the meeting by Mrs. Clarence Miller, who displayed items made from the patterns.

ed as a city than to see three or four smaller cities formed out of the township. It would produce better government than a hodge podge of smaller cities within go small an area.

"Our township already maintains two fire departments, Avondale and Brooklands. We look forward to the establishment of a third department at Adams and Walton. We are hopeful that such a site may be made available. If this occurs, we will name this our Meadowbrook Department."

"We have one of the finest areas in Oakland County for development, and we plan to see that it is developed so that the whole area will continue to be an attractive community in which to live."

A few other figures provided by Avon Township officers show the growth in population. Building permits in the township outside of Rochester for the year to date total $5,953,844. This includes permits for 375 homes, in addition to commercial buildings, additions, garages, etc. The biggest single permit was $680,000 for the North Hill Shopping Center which will include a whole group of stores.

Assessed valuation figures likewise show swift growth. Five years ago total assessed valuation of the township outside of Rochester was $9,290,650. This year—this has climbed to $14,039,650.

Voters' registrations also show a big increase. Total registrations for the whole township, including Rochester, in 1952, were 6,683. This year registrations hit 8,629, a gain of almost one-third.

Signs of township growth and progress are evident on every hand.

Avon Township residents recently voted a $300,000 bond issue for their own water supply.

The township clerk has taken in 28 new subdivisions during the past year.

The township recently acquired its first water system in the area bounded by Auburn, Rochester and Livernois Roads.

It maintains the Avon Township Library, Avon Township Park and Avon Township Cemetery. All these are financed by the township share of the state sales tax.

The annual report shows that township taxes bring in $32,000, state tax money accounts for $40,000, and fees and other income $18,000.

The township clerk has complete township records from 1835 to date of the township. It would produce better government than a hodge podge of smaller cities within go small an area.

Avon at present maintains no township surface drains or sewers. It hires police protection from the sheriff's department, which provides four deputies.

In addition to Supervisor Miller, Avon Township officers include Frances O. Covert, clerk; Helen V. Allen, treasurer; Luther C. Green and William G. Warren, justices; and Earl Dean and Elmer LeBlond, trustees.

certain to be one of the classic battles of the 16th Olympiad.

Two American whales, Harold Connolly and Cliff Blair, are expected to lock hammers with the Soviet Union's Mikhail Krivonozov with everyone else standing back to give the behemoths room.

Each of the three has held the world hammer record at least once. Each is a big bruiser and a fierce competitor who thinks the silly looking practice of throwing a ball and chain is the most important thing on earth.

Both Connolly and Blair are from Boston or nearby. The New England corner of the United States is the only place where hammer throwing is very popular.

The hammer event will be Nov. 24 and nearly everyone's favorite right now is Connolly, a 220-pounder. Connolly has an afflicted left arm, but that has bothered him not at all.

He recently bettered Krivonozov's world mark. The Bostonian hung the ball and chain on the moon with a 224 foot 10 1/2 inch heave.

"Connolly is a great thrower, of course," said Russian track and field Coach Gabriel Korobkov, "but we think Krivonozov is the world's best. He is most consistent."

"Three times Americans have taken Krivonozov's world records from him and each time he has come back to take the record again. Both Russians and Americans admire that kind of fighter."

The accepted world mark of 211 1/2 belongs to Krivonozov who also has done 220-10 1/2.

Blair, the biggest man of the three at 6-4 and 220 pounds, held the world mark once with a 216 1/2 throw. Blair's home is at Hingham, Mass.

Russia's second thrower is Anatoly Samotsvetov, but neither he nor Albert Hall of Hoboken, N.J., is thought to be quite in a class with the big three.

Turner Wins Decision Over Ruben Hernandez

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nick Turner, Columbus, Ohio, 169 1/2, gained a unanimous decision over Ruben Hernandez, San Francisco, 167, in a 10-round last night at the Olympic Auditorium.

Hernandez had scored 20 knockouts in 26 professional fights and he tried desperately in the late rounds to put Turner away, but couldn't land the clincher.

Two Coaches Also Skate

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jackie Gordon of the Cleveland Barons and Frank Mathers of the Hershey Bears are both playing coaches in the American Hockey League. And both hold scoring records. Gordon started the season as a freshman coach with a total of 564 points, high for active players in the league. Mathers opened the season with 314 points, high for a defenseman.

SNOW CENTERS GETTING READY—Here is a typical scene around Michigan when the ski season gets under way. Centers all over Michigan are now ready for action. This is "tournament hill" at Caberfae Ski area in Cadillac which last year hosted 47,000 people to its 27 runs and 27 tows. During the past summer more than $60,000 was spent for improving the area. Caberfae is a non-profit corporation operating on National Forest Land. There are 21 sports centers in the state which are now preparing for the winter season.

Winter Centers Set to Go

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn. reports a total of 21 winter sports centers—one with its own snow-making machine and another offering baby sitting service—preparing for operations this season.

Citing increased popularity in winter sports, the report also noted four new recreational areas included in the West Michigan total.

The new areas are Harbor Highlands, three miles north of Harbor Springs; Ward Hills, between Ludington and Baldwin; Brady's Hill, between Lakeview and Amble, and Mt. McSaubia, one mile north of Charlevoix.

The snow machine is being installed at Boyne Mountain, completing expansions and improvements to continue its rating as one of the top 10 ski resorts in the nation.

CHICAGO (AP)—Floyd Patterson, who at 21 aspires to become the youngest world heavyweight boxing champion in history, is proving to be quite a "mudder."

Rain turned Sportsman's Park horse racing oval into mud yesterday but Patterson found it to his liking. He jogged around the track for 2 1/2 miles for his road work.

Patterson is in training for his heavyweight title shot against Archie Moore in Chicago Stadium Nov. 30. Moore, the light, heavy-weight king, remains a steady 8-5 favorite.

Caberfae, near Cadillac, recently announced completion of a $60,000 improvement program. It expects to attract more than the record number of 47,000 skiers who used its facilities last season.

Mt. Mancelona, formerly operated by the Mancelona Chamber of Commerce, has been purchased by private interests and has been remodeled in anticipation of more patrons.

Maine ski area offers baby sitting service in an effort to stimulate family-skiing in that area, located 16 miles east of the city in the Udel Hills of the Manistee National Forest.

Near the luxurious Boyne Mountain resort is Avalanche, a municipally operated ski area within the boundaries of Boyne City.

The Traverse City area embraces three popular West Michigan ski havens—Holiday Hills, Hickory Hills and Sugar Loaf Mountain.

Others, dotted throughout West Michigan, are:

Briar Hill near Mesick; Newaygo County Sports Park; Petoskey Winter Sports Park; Lake Valley Resort near Kalkaska; Missaukee Mountain near Lake City; Glacier Hills at Bellaire; Elberta Mountain at Elberta; Brock County Park near Ionia and Echo Valley, midway between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

Many of the areas are lighted for night skiing, tobogganing or ice skating. Most of the resorts offer food and lounge facilities for the convenience of patrons taking a timeout from their outdoors sports pursuits.

"No kidding," said 16-year-old Carin, "that's all we talked about. We didn't say a word about swimming."

Carin, American champion and U.S. record-holder for the century backstroke of 1:14.5 and world record-holder at 200-meters with 2:43.8, hasn't lost a race since the U.S. National in April of 1955. Full-Scale Tuneup
U.S. Tops Bendigo Entries

MELBOURNE (AP)—Jim Kelly, head coach of the U.S. Olympic track and field forces, set off grumbling among some squad members today by posting a list of entries for almost every event in tomorrow's third preview meet.

While none of the U.S. athletes would say so publicly, some were not happy over the prospect of the full day's outing to Bendigo.

One American star, a prospective gold medal winner, declined use of his name, but said "I think it's silly to send the kids out just before the games."

The Olympics open officially Thursday.

The U.S. entry at Bendigo, some 90 miles northwest of Melbourne, will be the largest, with most nations deciding on only a token team because of the cold, rainy weather which has thus far held workouts to a minimum.

Russia, which originally had entered a number of athletes for the warmup meet, withdrew its team, and Gabriel Korobkov, the Soviet's top coach, said the Russians will not take part in any international competition until the Games get under way.

The United States did not enter the first of the trial meets, ar-iving just a day or so before it was scheduled. The Americans were on hand at Geelong Wednesday night, however, and dominated the competition—which Russia skipped.

Kelly has designated entries for all but the discus, hammer, walking, steepchase and marathon with the 800-meters likely to be the highlight event of the meet.

That one sends Tom Courtney, Arnie Sowell and Lon Suppurrier of the United States against Norway's brilliant Audun Boysen. The Australian record is 1:30.4 set by John Landy. But that mark should be bettered by about two seconds.

Courtney, America's favorite for the Olympic 800, stepped to a 1:32 half mile between cloud-bursts yesterday.

Owens Believes Records Are Made to Be Broken

MELBOURNE (AP)—Jesse Owens, America's one-man gang at the 1936 Olympics, said today he believes records are made to be broken — "and I don't care what country a boy represents because a broken record means progress in athletics."

Owens, here as one of several personal representatives of President Eisenhower, received the warmest and longest ovation yet extended a guest at the daily press conference.

It followed his remarks concerning the 1936 Games in Berlin. "I didn't go to Berlin to shake hands with Hitler," the American Negro said who was snubbed by the German dictator.

"I went there to run and run I did and I had a wonderful time. I'm sorry if Hitler didn't. But thanks to the Olympics I am here today — where he is, I don't know."

Owens still owns the world broad jump record and a share of the 100-meter dash mark.

In closing, Owens said he wouldn't mind if someone broad jumps 26 feet 4½ inches — "but not 26 5½."

That's his Olympic record.

NBA's Strength in West's Fives

Pistons and Lakers Win While Syracuse Bows to Warriors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The National Basketball Assn. season has a long way to go yet but early indications are that most of the strength this year lies in the West.

In the three intersectional games played last night, the Western teams won two. The night before, the West took two out of two.

Ft. Wayne beat the Boston Celtics 98-85. The Pistons are last in the Western Division and the Celtics are first in the East.

The Minneapolis Lakers, another Western club, squeaked a late Syracuse rally to defeat the Nationals 103-96 for the second straight conquest of an Eastern team. The Lakers whipped Boston Wednesday night.

Philadelphia, the lone Eastern winner, had to come from behind to conquer the Rochester Royals 92-83 in a game played at Hershey, Pa. Trailing 67-61 at the start of the fourth quarter, the Warriors rolled up 31 points to win.

Johnson Gets Break in Bout With Carter

NEW YORK (AP)—If Young Jack Johnson has anything on the ball, tonight is the time for him to show it. The Los Angeles heavyweight gets a break when he subs for ailing Bob Baker at Madison Square Garden against Harold Carter.

A Garden main event and a national radio-television shot (NBC at 10 p.m. EST) gives Johnson a great opportunity. However, they are doing him no favors in giving him Carter as an opponent.

Carter, 22, is one of the few young men of promise in the heavyweight class. Although he fought only 24 bouts for a 20-2 record, he already is ranked high in the division. The National Boxing Assn. rates him No. 7 and Ring Magazine makes him No. 6.

Three-Year-Old on Ice

Debbie Is Going to Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three-year-old Debbie Williams is going to work next month.

She'll don a pair of diminutive ice skates and make her professional bow as a performer with a national ice show.

Debbie, a bouncy, brown-eyed brunette with a smile that would melt the biggest hunk of ice, can hardly wait.

She's been skating since she was two, and nobody taught her. She just picked it up.

Her parents, Johnny and Pat Williams, professional skaters who make their home here off season, couldn't afford a baby-sitter while they rehearsed so they had to bring Debbie along.

Plan U.S.-Soviet Track Meet

MELBOURNE (AP)—American and Russian athletic chiefs, pausing in their discussions to down seven vodka toasts, today completed tentative plans for a series of home-and-home dual track meets between the two countries beginning next August in Moscow.

The first meet in the United States, possibly in July 1958, probably would be held in Los Angeles or New York.

The United States-Soviet plan, introduced by the Russians, was believed by track veterans here to be unprecedented between the two nations.

It was the major development of yet another dreary, rainy day that found the weather shortening and in some cases shelving work-outs by Olympic athletes with the Games only five days away.

Because of the weather, most of the nations entered in tomorrow's warmup meet at Bendigo decided to enter only token teams. But the United States, which dominated the preview competitions at Geelong Wednesday night, will have entries in all events except the discus, hammer, walking, steeplechase and marathon.

Russia again has decided to pass up the warmup competition, as it did at Geelong. The Soviets have announced they will not take part in any international competition until the Games.

The Soviets, who have come out of their shell on a man-to-man basis, sent U.S. officials an invitation for an informal talk on the dual meet series this morning, and the Americans accepted, strolling to Russian headquarters two blocks away in the Olympic Village.

The U.S. officials, headed by Dan Ferris, executive secretary of the American Amateur Athletic Union, were ushered to an upstairs room for the meeting. The discussion, which grew warmer with each toast, lasted 3½ hours.

Afterward, Ferris said "we are viewing the idea favorably. I think there is a good chance of working it out."

Constantine Kudi, Ferris' Soviet counterpart, said "we are most anxious to arrange this series of meets which we think would be a great thing for sportsmen of both countries."

Jim Kelly, head U.S. Olympic track and field coach; Jesse Mortensen, assistant coach; Laurence Houston, manager; and trainer Ralph Higgins accompanied Ferris to the meeting.

Track and field director Leonid Khomenkov and coaches Gabriel Korobkov and Dmitri Markov were on hand for the Russians.

The Americans received the Soviets' informal invitation this morning.

"The problem is simply that we have a lot more people than we used to have," Osgood says. "The state is going to be under increasing pressure to make exceptions to the law."

Last spring, the Legislature tried to clear up the situation by passing a law which allows the department to sell state owned lands that have been filled in by private owners, but only under certain conditions.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A study that may lead to construction of a baseball park designed to lure a major league team to Los Angeles has been authorized by Mayor Poulson.

The mayor set a "blue ribbon" citizens' committee to work yesterday on a comprehensive study of the city's long-range park and recreation needs.

Included in the items to be scrutinized by the committee is a suggestion that several hundred acres of city-owned land be cleared and graded for construction of a privately-financed big league ball park.

If the committee finds the project feasible, a measure providing for a bond issue to cover the cost of grading can be voted on in next April's municipal election.

Great Lakes Shoreline Cluttered

Law Works Overtime to Stop Fish Tents

By GEORGE L. WALKER
AP Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP)—A 57-year-old law is working overtime these days to keep civilization from pitching its tents along the Great Lakes shoreline.

The law, enacted in 1899, set aside Great Lakes submerged land as a public hunting and fishing trust. It applies to land from the shoreline to the international boundaries out in the middle of the lakes.

State officials came to the alarming realization a couple of years ago that, while nobody was looking, civilization had managed to make a hundred ugly dents along the Great Lakes shoreline.

Cottage owners had filled in land, cities had built parks out into the water, men had erected duck blinds, permanently fixed to the bottom of Saginaw Bay.

So the state dusted off the law, called out the lawyers and bargained the courts with lawsuits to get man off nature's back.

Now the problems are getting complicated. Lawyers are asking each other:

"Where does submerged land begin?"

"What do we do with the dozens of cases where cottage owners have filled in land, built boat houses or made other improvements?"

"What about duck blinds permanently fixed to Great Lakes bottom lands?"

"Is a ship permanently tied to a pier in violation of the law?"

All these questions and more are finding their way to the desk of Wayland S. Osgood, deputy director of the State Conservation Department and the man who guides the battle against violators.

"The problem is simply that we have a lot more people than we used to have," Osgood says. "The state is going to be under increasing pressure to make exceptions to the law."

Last spring, the Legislature tried to clear up the situation by passing a law which allows the department to sell state owned lands that have been filled in by private owners, but only under certain conditions.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A study that may lead to construction of a baseball park designed to lure a major league team to Los Angeles has been authorized by Mayor Poulson.

The mayor set a "blue ribbon" citizens' committee to work yesterday on a comprehensive study of the city's long-range park and recreation needs.

Included in the items to be scrutinized by the committee is a suggestion that several hundred acres of city-owned land be cleared and graded for construction of a privately-financed big league ball park.

Tigers Need Victory to Aid Bowl Hopes

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Missouri meets the powerful Oklahoma Sooners in a game here Saturday that could, conceivably, rekindle the Tigers' Orange Bowl hopes and redeem the final season of Coach Don Faurot.

Only by knocking the No. 2 ranked Sooners from their seemingly permanent perch atop the Big Seven Conference can the gasping Tigers keep alive their bowl chances.

Colorado, which tied the Tigers 14-14 last week, ended conference play with a 4-1-1 mark and will finish second to undefeated Oklahoma—good for the Orange Bowl bid—unless Missouri should upset the Sooners.

We'll Waiting to See Prospect

MONTREAL (AP)—Al Weill, who managed Rocky Marciano to the heavyweight boxing championship, arrived in Montreal last night to meet a new heavyweight prospect.

The youngster is 20-year-old Dave Rent of Bootle, England, near Liverpool.

"All I've seen is a picture of him," said Weill. "But he's the amateur heavyweight champion of Great Britain. He's been boxing since he was 13."

Rent arrives today aboard the Empress of Scotland.

Three-Year-Old on Ice

Debbie Is Going to Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three-year-old Debbie Williams is going to work next month.

She'll don a pair of diminutive ice skates and make her professional bow as a performer with a national ice show.

Debbie, a bouncy, brown-eyed brunette with a smile that would melt the biggest hunk of ice, can hardly wait.

She's been skating since she was two, and nobody taught her. She just picked it up.

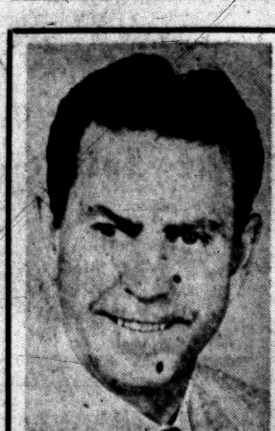

Her parents, Johnny and Pat Williams, professional skaters who make their home here off season, couldn't afford a baby-sitter while they rehearsed so they had to bring Debbie along.

Note Profit From Dinner and Plan 2nd WSCS Event

KEEGO HARBOR—A profit of $208 at the Trinity Methodist Church Harvest Dinner was noted and a bazaar and festival planned for Dec. 8 when the church's WSCS met recently at Mrs. W. C. Draper's home.

Besides the dinner's income, the society received $19.35 during a missionary-prayer week.

The bazaar and festival is being planned by Mrs. Harold Grove and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman. Other committee members are planning an apron and fancy work booth, a baked goods sale, refreshments counters, and posters announcing the event.

Auto Sales to Rise During Last Quarter

DETROIT (U. P.)—Retail new car sales in the year's fourth quarter are likely to top the 1,326,000 of the July-August-September period by perhaps 100,000 units, Ward's Automotive Reports said yesterday.

The agency added that because of "slow motion" factory output some car makers may fall behind their third quarter sales.

Ward's said the auto makers entered November with a new car inventory of 350,000 units, compared with 436,000 at the same time in 1935. It added that this year's Nov. 1 inventory only 90,000 units were 1936 models.

Production of 1937 model cars has been hampered by parts shortages, unfamiliarity of workers with new tooling and assembly processes and other difficulties frequently encountered in new model changeovers. Ward's said normal production may not be reached at several producers for another three weeks.

Earnings

BETHPAGE, N.Y. (INS)—Grumman Aircraft Engineering Co. reports that its sales and earnings in the first nine months of 1936 dropped below the 1935 level. Sales dropped $19 million to $146,683,343 and net income to $6,937,877, or $2.74 per common share, compared with $7,280,349, or $3.31 a share, a year ago. Backing of orders on Sept. 30 amounted to $357,000,000.

Crash Injures Two and Two Get Tickets

Two drivers received minor bruises and two were ticketed for traffic violations in a four-car pile-up in Waterford Township late yesterday afternoon.

Mary E. Barnes, 40, of 742 Fourth St., was released after treatment at Pontiac General Hospital. Edward Glowacki, 33, of 600 Lockwood St., Royal Oak, was treated by his physician.

Ticketed by State Police were Edward Glowacki and Robert Gallo, 57, of 20 Rose Ct. Glowacki was charged with failing to stop at an assured clear distance, while Gallo was given a reckless driving ticket. The fourth car involved was operated by Catherine Wallis, 37, of 783 Broadway, Davisburg.

According to police, the accident occurred on U.S. 10 at Kennett road. It reportedly all started when the Barnes car was struck from behind by Gallo while waiting to make a left turn.

The impact forced the struck vehicle into the opposite lane where it collided with the oncoming Wallis car. Investigators said Glowacki rammed into Gallo's vehicle after the original accident.

Ask Auxiliary to Head Drive

Will Seek $1 Million to Equip New Wing of City Hospital

Pontiac General Hospital's Board of Trustees last night issued an offer to the Hospital Women's Auxiliary to spearhead a drive to raise $1 million to equip the new addition to the city hospital.

Mrs. P. Eugene Miller, Auxiliary president, said this morning the offer would be accepted. "The Auxiliary is working for the good of the hospital and we feel there is a dire need to raise this money," she said.

The offer followed two meetings between Mrs. Miller, board members, and civic leaders on how this money could be raised.

Miss Lauretta Paul, director, outlined to the Board last night that of the $1,017,583 needed, purchase orders have already been issued for $406,403 worth of equipment.

The need arose for additional funds when construction bids jumped well above the $3 million bond issue approved by voters in 1954 to build and equip the hospital.

A committee is expected to be appointed to coordinate the drive with the Auxiliary who will act as the agent to accept contributions and promote the campaign.
