Grissom, Navy Officer Picked for 2-Man Orbit

LT. CMDR. YOUNG

MAJ. GRISSOM

CMDR. SCHIRRA

CAPT. STAFFORD

HOUSTON (AP) — Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were selected today as the astronauts who will pilot the nation's first two-man space flight — a three-orbit Gemini mission late this year.

The back-up crew for the first manned flight of Project Gemini will be Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra and Capt. Thomas P. Stafford.

Gemini is the intermediate phase of the long-range training program that has an objective of placing project Apollo astronauts on the moon within the decade.

Of the four men selected today at the manned spacecraft center, the training base for astronauts, only Schirra has made an orbital flight.

Grissom made a suborbital flight of 142.1 miles downrange from Cape Kennedy Sept. 13, 1961.

6-ORBIT MISSION

Schirra followed with a six-orbit mission Oct. 3, 1962.

Young and Stafford, former test pilots, became astronaut trainees Sept. 17, 1962.

Since the completion of the one-man Mercury flights last year, Grissom has held a primary assignment as coordinator of Gemini affairs with other members of the astronaut team that now totals 29 pilots.

Schirra, now 41, is the oldest of the original seven Mercury astronauts now that Lt. Col. John Glenn has resigned from the program. Glenn is 42.

Schirra, while concentrating on the Gemini program, has been a coordinator of operations and training.

Young has specialized on the design and development of environmental control systems, survival gear, pressure suits, couches and other personal equipment.

Stafford has specialized on communications, instrumentation and range integration.

★ ★ ★

Robert R. Gilruth, director of the center, announced the selections and said Lt. Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard, the first American to make a space flight, had been considered for the first Gemini mission but has developed an ear infection.

Grissom, a native of Mitchell, Ind., as the second American astronaut to make a space flight, his 1961 suborbital mission coming to months after a similar mission by Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.

FIVE MINUTES

Grissom's Mercury-Redstone capsule was similar to that of Shepard's and gave him a period of about five minutes of weightlessness before landing in the Atlantic. The craft's side hatch blew off prematurely and the capsule sank.

★ ★ ★

Schirra's 1962 flight frequently has been referred to as a "textbook" mission. It as nearly perfect. His landing in the Pacific was within sight of the primary recovery ship.

U.S. Star, German Girl Killed

Eye Charge in Skiing Tragedy

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) —Swiss investigators said today that apparent "gross negligence" caused an Alpine avalanche that killed star U.S. Olympic skier Wallace (Bud) Werner and a German girl olympic ski champion yesterday while they were making a movie.

★ ★ ★

The district attorney's office said manslaughter negligence charges may be filed.

Two representatives of the U.S. Ski Association arrived here today to claim the body of Werner, 29, of Steamboat Springs, Colo., who had retired from the breakneck competition of ski racing only last month.

Werner and Miss Barbara-Marie Henneberger, 23, were buried by a huge snowslide yesterday while they were making an action ski movie with a group of 12 other top skiers on an Alpine slope near St. Moritz.

★ ★

IGNORED WARNINGS

He said the movie group had ignored repeated warnings in starting work on a slope that had been declared a danger zone and off limits to skiers.

The spokesman said proceedings will start tomorrow to determine whether charges of manslaughter by negligence will be brought against members of the film group.

The preliminary investigation was carried out by the gendarme post at St. Moritz, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

He said it showed that the group, in entering the dangerous zone, had passed three warning signs saying: "Off Limits," "Danger" and "Do Not Pass—Stop."

TO CLAIM BODY

Meanwhile, U.S. Olympic skiing coach Bob Beattie and Jacques F. Bulterman, a director of the U.S. Ski Association, arrived en route to St. Moritz where they will claim Werner's body. It will be flown back to the United States for burial.

"I'm absolutely shocked," Beattie said on his arrival here. "Bud and I were together for six years, and he was my best personal friend."

Werner's wife, Vanda, remained in Colorado. They have no children.

★ ★ ★

Miss Henneberger won the Olympic bronze medal in the special slalom event in 1960 and held six German national titles.

★ ★ ★

Four other persons were missing after the avalanches, which mountaineers call the "white death," thundered down in at least four areas.

Exec to Head U.S. Chamber

Area Man Named to National Post

West Bloomfield Township trucking executive Walter F. Carey today was named president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Introduced at a news conference in Washington, D.C., Carey, 58, promptly announced a switch in the organization's recent outlook by praising President Johnson and talking of government-business cooperation.

Going to the top of one of the nation's most influential business groups follows a long line of other posts Carey, who lives at 6125 Middle Belt, has held.

President of Automobile Carriers, Inc., of Flint, he has served as leader of both the American Trucking Association and the Michigan Trucking Association.

Last year he was elected the U.S. Chamber of Commerce's northern central division vice president. In 1961 he chaired the chamber's important transportation and communication committee.

Carey said today he would have a different method of expressing the chamber's position than used by outgoing president Edwin P. Neilan, a Delaware banker.

Neilan had charged repeatedly that congressmen, government administrators, and voters who supported certain government works projects, were guilty of immoral conduct. He said recently he would not support President Johnson because of his "false face of economy."

In contrast, Carey stated: "I applaud a good many programs and policies" adopted by the White House, and said he would appoint a business task force to deal with unemployment and poverty.

No One Hurt As Tornado Wrecks Lawrence, Kan., Home

New Victim of Strangler Near Boston

NORWOOD, Mass. (AP) — A 63-year-old woman was found strangled with a nylon stocking in the bedroom of her home today, adding another to the list of 11 unsolved stranglings of women in eastern Massachusetts in less than two years.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Goldie Fine, whose husband, Hyman, operates a clothing dry cleaning establishment in nearby Canton.

Medical examiner Joseph A. King called her death a strangling.

One of her own stockings was tied tightly around her neck. Several other stockings were found on the floor nearby.

HOMICIDAL DEATH

Norwood Police Chief James M. Murphy said "We consider Mrs. Fine's death a homicide."

Norwood is a residential community of about 25,000 some 10 miles southwest of Boston.

A special strangle squad of the Massachusetts attorney general's office took an active part in the investigation with local and state police.

REP. LLOYD L. ANDERSON

'School Needs Must Be Met'

Legislator Supports College for County

"America's huge population explosion reaches the freshman year in college of 1964," said Representative Lloyd L. Anderson to The Press today. "Our onetime war babies are now young adults.

★ ★ ★

"The entire nation faces the greatest influx of students in all history. Michigan will be one of the top states, and our legislature must face it squarely and vote the money to educate our own young people. The Senate has already passed a $260-billion dollar appropriation for education, mental health and airport help and the House must recognize the need. The important education feature is almost a duplicate of what Gov. Romney said was absolutely essential and a minimum.

★ ★ ★

"Personally, I also favor these community colleges, and we should aim at one for Oakland County. Many students can't get into the four-year institution and they deserve two-year assistance.

★ ★ ★

"Our Oakland University is facing a period of its greatest expansion right now. It desperately needs new housing, class rooms and additional faculty members. All this investment will pay dividends in the education of our own youth and even in added commerce in the area."

Tornadoes Hit Midwest; 6 Killed, 50 Are Injured

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Dazed survivors picked through the rubble of homes and business buildings today in the wake of tornadoes that slashed through eastern Kansas, western Missouri and southwestern Iowa.

Six persons were killed and at least 50 were injured.

Most of the twisters snaked out of thunderstorms that could be seen for miles in the late afternoon—otherwise the toll could have been greater.

Two lines of the storms bracketed Kansas City—one to the northwest, the other southeast—and rolled rapidly to the northeast.

★ ★ ★

The dead were:

Mrs. Jack L. Wilson, 24, Independence, Kan.; Warren Kenyan, 43, Neosho, Mo.; and his wife, Ella, all killed near Garnett, Kan.

KILLED IN BARN

Charles Hedger, 13, killed in a barn near Pleasant Grove, Mo.

Victor Kerns, 50, killed near his home northwest of Leeton, Mo.

★ ★ ★

Flora Eichhorst, 90, killed in her home at Yorktown, Iowa.

★ ★ ★

One twister sucked up a line of traffic on US59 five miles south of Garnett and hurled a 50,000-pound truck, a pickup truck and six cars in all directions, killing the Kenyans and Mrs. Wilson and injuring eight other persons.

HAULING MEAT

"It felt like the truck was lifted up off the highway," said Stephen A. Miller, 29, of St. Joseph, Mo., who was hauling 25,000 pounds of meat to Dallas.

"I could see the trailer sticking straight over my head as I looked out of the cab," Miller said. "But I don't know if it was really up there or whether I was up there and just didn't know where the ground was."

The truck was dropped upside down in a 40-foot ravine about 35 feet from the pavement. Miller suffered only a slight scalp cut.

★ ★ ★

The pickup truck was flung a quarter-mile. The driver, Christopher Lewis, 54, Parsons, Kan., suffered a knee injury.

CARS SMASHED

Right behind Miller's truck, the Kenyan car was hurled 600 feet to one side. Another landed 600 feet on the other side of the road. The cars were smashed into twisted bits of metal.

Blinding dust kicked up by strong winds caused at least 15 cars to ram together in one pileup on the Kansas Turnpike six miles south of the Wellington interchange. Six persons were injured, none seriously.

Students at the University of Kansas saw a twister coming directly toward Lawrence, Kan. from the southwest.

At least 14 homes were damaged or destroyed by that tornado, and three persons were injured.

A tornado roared over Leavenworth, Kan., not quite touching down, but close enough to damage about 75 homes, smash windows in the business district and uproot many trees. Seven persons were injured there.

Supervisors Get Budget

County Board to Hold Election of Officers

Major issues before the Oakland County Board of Supervisors at its meeting tomorrow in the courthouse auditorium will be a recommended $18.4-million budget for next year, and the annual election of officers.

Chairman Delos Hamlin is facing no announced opposition in his bid for a ninth consecutive term, although other nominations could be made from the floor.

A race for the vice chairmanship is assured between incumbent Frank Webber and Duane Hursfall, supervisor from Independence Township.

Hursfall has announced that he is running for vice chairman with an eye on the chairmanship next year.

Satisfied with the status quo, Addison Township Supervisor Webber said he isn't seeking the chairmanship, but that he would be a candidate if nominated from the floor.

$2.4 MILLION MORE

The proposed $18.4 million budget to operate the county in 1965 is for $2.4 million more than the current year's budget.

The larger amount is recommended jointly by the board's ways and means and salaries committees and by the County Board of Auditors.

In a preparet statement they noted that the following major changes anticipated for next year have been taken into account:

- Proposed reorganization and renovations at the Medical Care Facility and Tuberculosis Sanatorium which, while increasing operational expenses at the sanatorium, are expected to result in overall savings to the county of $250,000.
- Financial help through the federal government's Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADC-U) program, affecting general relief costs.
- Operational cost increases due to the opening of first units

Heavy Gusts Bring Threat of Thunderstorms

The low pressure center which caused the tornadoes in parts of the Midwest made itself felt in Pontiac today.

At 1 p. m. Pontiac Municipal Airport reported gusts up to 40 m.p.h. carrying the threat of thunderstorms or light rain.

The threat of rain was predicted to end about 4 p. m., but high winds from the south were predicted to continue during the night, dropping off late this evening.

Temperatures will average near the normal high of 58 and low of 39 for the next five days.

★ ★ ★

The low before 8 this morning was 52. By 2 p. m. it had reached 64.

Says U.S. Offered Aid to Cuba in '60

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States tried to offer aid and cooperation to Premier Fidel Castro's Cuban regime just before he turned to the Soviet Union in 1960, a scholar of Cuban affairs reported today.

Castro seemed interested in the offer at first, but then rebuffed it and went into negotiations with Anastas I. Mikoyan, a Soviet first deputy premier, it was said.

The information, said to be still secret, is contained in an article by Theodore Draper in today's issue of "The New Leader," a liberal biweekly of news and opinion.

Draper, who has done research on Cuban-American relations for Harvard and Columbia universities is the author of "Castro's Revolution: Myths and Realities."

In the magazine article, Draper offers a rebuttal to comments on Cuba made by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in his March 25 speech on "old myths and new realities."

In tracing the relations of economic relations between the United States and Cuba, Draper reports that Havana began a "search for offers" to displace the U.S. in the Cuban market.

The search wound up in the economic agreement with Mikoyan, signed on Feb. 13, 1960.

Draper writes:

"Just before Mikoyan concluded the agreement, the United States made an effort — until now a closely guarded secret on both sides — to offer Fidel Castro's regime aid and cooperation.

"A high official of the U.S. Embassy in Havana asked the ambassador of a large South American country to act as go-between.

"Castro at first seemed to encourage the overture but, apparently after consulting (Che) Guevara and others, brusquely rebuffed the offer and went ahead with Mikoyan."

Draper writes that he did not get his information from a U. S. source "and it is a mystery to me why the entire story was not made public long ago."

Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had said the administration's attempt to organize a boycott of Cuba had failed.

Draper defends the attempt to injure Cuba's economy and says Fulbright "could not have chosen a more unfortunate moment" to give the Cuban government a psychological lift.

Draper writes:

"If the Castro regime is not on the verge of collapse, it is surely not on the verge of stabilization. It has rather entered a dangerous period of transition which will determine its ultimate collapse or stabilization.

100 Doctors End Strike in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The government announced today about 100 doctors in the Mechelen area, midway between Brussels and Antwerp, have ended their strike.

Premier Theo Lefevre's office said the Mechelen doctors had signed an agreement with a local health insurance association thereby breaking with the striking medical union.

At strike headquarters in Brussels, a spokesman said: "We believe it's another trial balloon like the one of last week in Seraing, near Liege. Twenty-four hours later, the so-called agreement had blown up again, and things remained unchanged."

NEAR AGREEMENT

Physicians in Seraing were near an agreement but it failed to obtain final approval.

The government's announcement was backed up by Mechelen's acting mayor. He said the doctors would be back at work shortly.

The possible dent in the united front of Belgium's 12,000 striking physicians and dentists came after the government ordered the mobilization of army reserve doctors for emergency duty in civilian hospitals.

About a third of the 3,600 reserve doctors have reported, the Defense Ministry said.

The Defense Ministry had no record of any doctors refusing to answer mobilization orders although distribution of individual orders was reported slow.

Many doctors reported with their uniforms but without their cars and medical instruments. This forced the government to provide them with transportation and equipment.

PROTEST REVISION

The strike began 13 days ago as a protest against revision in the government's national health insurance system. Many of the doctors and dentists went on Easter vacations with their families at the start of the walkout.

★ ★ ★

Strike leaders threatened a complete shutdown of medical services but 2,000 physicians continued emergency service in hospitals. However, all the doctors refused to make house calls or examine patients in their offices except in the most critical cases.

of the Children's Village for probate and juvenile court wards.

- Additional costs due to new programs proposed by the Community Mental Health Board under a new state act for earlier, local treatment of emotionally disturbed persons.

NO FURTHER ACTION

No further action on the proposed budget is likely tomorrow. Supervisors have a week to evaluate it before the 85-member board reaches any decision.

Whatever budget they decide upon may be reduced further after tax allocations in June.

The board of supervisors will be asked to take the following action tomorrow:

- Award contracts totaling $4.35 million for construction of a Waterford Township water supply system.
- Approve a legislative committee recommendation that the State Legislature take no action this year on a proposed county home rule enabling act.
- Appoint a special committee to further study the possibility of county home rule.
- Set an election June 2 in Royal Oak Township to decide whether to incorporate as a home rule city.

Absent Vote Deadline Saturday

Registered voters who will be out of town or otherwise unable to get to the polls in Pontiac's general election next Monday are urged to apply for absent voter ballots soon.

★ ★ ★

The deadline for getting absent voter ballots is 2 p.m. Saturday, April 18, at the city clerk's office on the main floor of City Hall.

The clerk's office will be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday, and 8 to 2 on Saturday.

Before the clerk can mail ballots to absent voters, she must have an application filled out and signed by the absent voter. The application forms are now available at the clerk's office.

★ ★ ★

Persons who know they will be out of town on business or vacationing during the April 20 general city election, may fill out their application in person and get their ballot all at once.

KEPT UNOPENED

Absent voters are urged not to wait until the last moment to mail their ballots.

All absent ballots are kept unopened in the clerk's office until election day, when they are distributed to their respective precinct polling places.

★ ★ ★

They are opened and counted when the polls close. Any received too late to be counted when the polls close, are invalid and do not count.

Alaskans Battling High Tides

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Quake-torn south-central Alaska coastal communities, jolted by another sharp after-shock Sunday, battled floods of sea water from high spring tides today.

The sea, pulled into high tides about this time each year by the combined attraction of the moon and sun, has been moving up into areas which sank in the disastrous earthquake of March 27.

The highest for April are expected today and tomorrow, and owners of business buildings in the sunken areas have been trying to protect them by jacking them up or by building dikes around them.

Flooding is the big problem now. Yesterday's after-shock didn't make much impression on the residents of this shaken state. The ground rocked, and dishes and windows rattled, but no one was reported hurt.

The casualty list of the big quake still stands at 114 dead or missing and the damage is estimated at $750 million.

Land in places along the rim of the Gulf of Alaska, on the Kenai Peninsula and on Kodiak Island is believed to have sunk from three to six feet in places.

High tides lapping the western tip of the Kenai Peninsula yesterday came within inches of buildings along the waterfront of Seldovia.

The water rose high enough one block inside the waterfront at Kodiak so a large barge, tossed there by the tidal wave which followed the big quake, was almost floated again. Two bulldozers pushed, and a fishing boat pulled to try to get it back to deep water.

The sea flooded an area about two city blocks long and two blocks back from the old shore at Kodiak.

Boy Struck by Car, Sent to Hospital

She told police that the boy ran in front of the car. She was not ticketed. James stated that he looked both ways before starting across the street and noticed no cars approaching.

Romney Criticizes LBJ, Claims Success in State

By The Associated Press

Gov. George W. Romney made a quick circuit of local and national politics during the weekend, exuding confidence about Michigan but criticizing President Johnson in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Romney said yesterday in Washington that Johnson can be beaten in the November election if "people begin to realize the extent to which he has pulled the wool over our eyes."

★ ★ ★

The Republican governor said Johnson has "established a relationship with different groups in a very skillful manner politically that tends to encourage them to believe that he is supporting their position whereas their positions are in great conflict."

Romney, appearing on radio and television, repeated he is not a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Earlier, Romney disagreed with two men who want to be governor on who deserves credit for Michigan's economic boom.

The boom boosted the total value of goods and services produced in Michigan last year to $264 billion up $2.3 billion over 1962 — and personal income climbed 9.4 per cent to $21.1 billion, Romney said.

★ ★ ★

Speaking to the Michigan Associated Press Broadcasters Association at East Lansing, Romney credited the people of Michigan, the automobile industry, the legislature and his administration.

At Holland, Democratic Congressman-at-large Neil Staebler contended policies of the Democratic administration in Washington brought on a national wave of prosperity which Michigan joined.

And Ferndale auto dealer George Higgins, who plans to seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination, declared that any progress in Michigan in the last two years was made despite Romney, not because of him.

★ ★ ★

To Staebler's contention, Romney replied: "The automobile industry is pulling the nation's economy upward, and that is a fact which should make every Michigan citizen proud of the state in which he lives."

★ ★ ★

The governor said his administration has "taken vigorous steps to encourage business and industry to locate in the state."

Probe Figure Levels Charge

Baker Witness Claims Gag Try by Reedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who injected President Johnson's name into the Senate investigation of Bobby Baker, claims a Johnson aide tried to quiet him, and Baker advised him to go into hiding.

Reynolds said these alleged muzzling attempts were made when he began cooperating with Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., whose own probe of Baker touched off the inquiry by the Senate Rules Committee. Johnson then was vice president.

Reynolds' story as given by him on an interview program, taped for broadcast by Radio Press International:

"When it (cooperating with Williams) first started I received a call from Mr. George Reedy (now White House press secretary) and he contacted me in my downtown office in Washington and informed me that he had had the president (sic) in contact with him and that possibly it would be better for me to refrain from making any statements at all. That he would release all information pertaining to the insurance on the previously Sen. Johnson."

As for Baker, Reynolds quoted the onetime Senate page boy who became secretary to the Senate Democrats and built a business fortune before resigning under a cloud last October as warning him: "You get out of town and stay out of town for a couple of weeks. He'll (Williams) get you and the rest of us into jail."

Reynolds said Baker offered to send him money while in hiding, but that he refused and cooperated with Williams.

Reynolds testified before the committee in January that Baker had him send an expensive record player to Johnson's home after writing a life insurance policy on Johnson.

Eye Canvassers' Power as Webb Named Victor

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The "victory" of sticker candidate George H. Webb has sparked serious questioning of Michigan's election laws here.

Just what is meant by the term "canvassing" and how far can election canvassers go in determining the intention of the voters?

Bloomfield Hills' board of canvassers, required by the new State Constitution, Saturday broke a tie vote by certifying the election of Webb.

Their vote on the issue was 3-1. Chairman George H. Goldstone, a Democrat, dissented.

★ ★ ★

"I do not concur in either the statement of votes cast nor in the above certification for the reason that it is not a true and correct canvass of the returns and is contrary to law," Goldstone read into the record.

HEATED DISCUSSION

The action followed four hours of often-heated discussion among the four board members. They listened to a statement from City Attorney W. B. Hartman, who said canvassing consists simply of approving a count of the votes, and then voted not to let him expand on his opinion.

The legal aspects of the question were argued by Goldstone and his fellow Democrat on the board, Mrs. Cass S. Jaros. While members of the same political party, the two attorneys were at opposite poles on the extent of their power as canvassers.

Both noted, however, that there never has been a State Supreme Court case in which the duties of boards of canvassers were the central issue.

★ ★ ★

Also on the bipartisan board are the two Republicans who voted with Mrs. Jaros, Robert E. Anderson and Allen D. Hart.

TIE VOTE

Confronting them was a tie between Webb and incumbent James A. Beresford for a 2-year term on the City Commission. Each has been credited with 395 votes.

Webb ran as a sticker candidate on the "2-story" slate which opposed recent commission adoption of a zoning ordinance allowing construction of 3-story multiple residences.

Robert Frye, the only "2-story" slater who had filed a nominating petition, won the other 2-year term with 555 votes.

★ ★ ★

The third member of the slate, sticker candidate Ross Pierce, was defeated by incumbent John Blanchard in his bid for a one-year term.

CONSULTS ATTORNEY

Although Beresford and Webb each received 395 votes for the 2-year term, 23 electors pasted stickers for Webb in the one-year slot and one in that for constable.

★ ★ ★

Beresford was to consult an attorney this morning.

"The real signifcance of this, I think, goes far beyond the election," he said. "That's what concerns me."

His body is at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Pontiac.

GM in Detroit 1st Target for NAACP Protests

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —General Motors Corp.'s Detroit headquarters will be the target May 4 for the start of national protest demonstrations against what a Negro group calls the company's "discriminatory practices in employment."

The date was announced by Herbert Hill, New York, labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

★ ★ ★

The NAACP's charge against GM was aired by Hill at a news conference Saturday during a Midwest leadership training conference of the civil rights organization. It promptly brought company denials that GM practices discrimination.

GM's statement said the company employs non-whites as draftsmen, accountants, librarians, foremen, skilled tradesmen and general office workers.

'N. Viet War a Possibility'

Could Extend Fight, Rusk Tells SEATO

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a closed session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization today the United States does not completely rule out extending the war in South Viet Nam, presumably into the Communist North.

This was reported by U.S. informants after the eight-nation

session. They said Rusk laid heavy emphasis on the Viet Nam war, although South Viet Nam is not a member of the mutual defense organization set up 10 years ago to halt Communist expansion in Southeast Asia.

The informants quoted Rusk as saying that a victory over the Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam is vital to the West.

The United States, Rusk said, has decided on a course of support and guidance of the South Vietnamese but he added that the United States could not completely preclude extension of the war in a situation so volatile and important to the Western world. Rusk said, however, widening of the war is not what the United States wants and is not a course that anyone would welcome.

NO QUESTION

He said there is no question that the Communist Viet Cong in Viet Nam is being controlled, supplied and directed by North Viet Nam. The Viet Cong have improved their techniques and added new capabilities, but their ability to overrun large sections of the countryside does not mean they are running the countryside, Rusk said.

Suburbs Hold Rights Rally

A meeting heralded as the first widespread suburban rally on civil rights in this country was held at Bloomfield Townships Marian High School last night.

The South Oakland Conference on Religion and Race attracted representatives of more than 40 communities to the school at 7225 Lahser.

Highlighting action at the conference was a resolution endorsing demonstrations to achieve racial justice.

Those attending pledged themselves to engage in "persuasion, negotiation, reconciliation and in responsible demonstrations to achieve racial justice in housing, education, employment and all other aspects of our suburban community life."

Arthur Johnson, executive director of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was the keynote speaker.

100 Hurt in Yugoslavia, Hungary

Earthquake Strikes in Balkans

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, (AP)—An earthquake struck a wide region of northern Yugoslavia and part of southern Hungary today, killing at least two and injuring more than 100 persons. Panic spread in the two neighoring countries and damage appeared widespread.

★ ★ ★

Downtown buildings swayed and some cracked in downtown Belgrade, where thousands fled into the streets on a warm, sunny morning. Schools and many factories and offices closed. The Budapest radio said the Hungarian capital also was shaken.

DEATH REPORTED

The first death was reported near the epicenter of the quake about 125 miles west of Belgrade. A 13-year-old girl was killed when a staircase collapset at a school at Djakovo.

At Karavukovo, in northern Yugoslavia, a 75-year-old woman was killed when she was jarred from a staircase at an ambulance station and fell to the street.

Reports reaching Belgrade said more than 100 persons were injured in the quake area, stretching westward from Belgrade and north to the Hungarian border. Budapest radio reported panic in southern Hungary but made no mention of casualties.

According to reports filtering in from the area, damage was serious in the region close to the center of the quake.

Among the hardest hit were Szekszard, a Hungarian wine and agricultural center 80 miles southwest of Budapest, and Salvonski Brod, a rail and farming center 125 miles west of Belgrade.

★ ★ ★

Radio Budapest said many buildings were damaged at Szekszard, and Communist party headquarters was severely damaged and its occupants escaped in panic. It made no mention of casualties.

★ ★ ★

Thirty persons were injured, two seriously, in Slavonski Brod, reports reaching Belgrade said. These accounts did not detail the damage but said destruction was worst in villages north of the city. Many houses were left uninhabitable in these villages.

INJURED WHILE FLEEING

Several persons were injured fleeing from buildings in the industrial town of Borovo, near the Danube, about 135 miles northwest of Belgrade. A number of houses were damaged there. Several houses were reported destroyed at Baka Topola, 35 miles north of Belgrade. Several chimneys fell and some old houses were damaged in Sremska Mitrovica, in the Yugoslav north.

Budapest reported the earthquake hit at 9:33 a.m. Two shocks were felt in Belgrade, where the needle was jolted from the instrument at the seismological station.

Victim of Sudden Illness

Albion Mourns Teen Death

ALBION (AP) — Pretty, 16-year-old Sally Hubendick, victim of a sudden, fatal illness before her scheduled high school stage appearance, was mourned by this little central Michigan city today.

Sally, Albion High School honor student, died in a hospital Saturday night almost at curtain time for her school's amateur production of the musical "Carousel."

She was to have played "Carousel's" feminine lead of "Julie" just as she had done to adults' applause the night before.

Sally collapsed at home and died at Sheldon Memorial Hospital at 7:55 p.m.

Heart massage failed to save her.

PLAY CANCELED

"Carousel's" performance was canceled.

Dr. Frank Strohmenger, family physician, said Sally was found to have had mononucleosis, a blood ailment, and that this probably had caused a spleen rupture.

A hemorrhage from the rupture caused death, he said.

* * *

Sally's illness had come suddenly and without advance symptoms, Dr. Strohmenger said.

ACTIVE IN SCHOOL

One of five children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hubendick, Sally was a member of the debating team, sang in the choir, and belonged to the student council.

A sophomore, she got all A's and B's in her studies.

"She was a good, all-around girl," said Harry E. Williams, her high school principal.

* * *

Sally's funeral services were conducted today from St. James Episcopal Church.

* * *

Sukarno Frees U.S. Newsman

Arrest of Reporter Protested by Envoy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno ordered the release of Newsweek correspondent Robert McCabe today after U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones protested vigorously to him against McCabe's detention by the Indonesian military police.

McCabe, 34, Far Eastern correspondent of the American news magazine was picked up by military police at his hotel room before breakfast yesterday. Foreign Minister Subandrio accused him of "false and inflammatory" reporting on Indonesia and said his reporting was subversive.

McCabe, who came from Hong Kong to cover the second African-Asian preparatory ministerial conference, was interrogated at military police headquarters and then moved to an unknown place.

American Embassy officials and foreign newsmen who tried to see McCabe were virtually ordered out of the police headquarters.

* * *

McCabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McCabe of Edina, a suburb of Minneapolis, graduated from Dartmouth College in 1951. He was employed by Stars and Stripes and the Wall Street Journal before joining Newsweek.

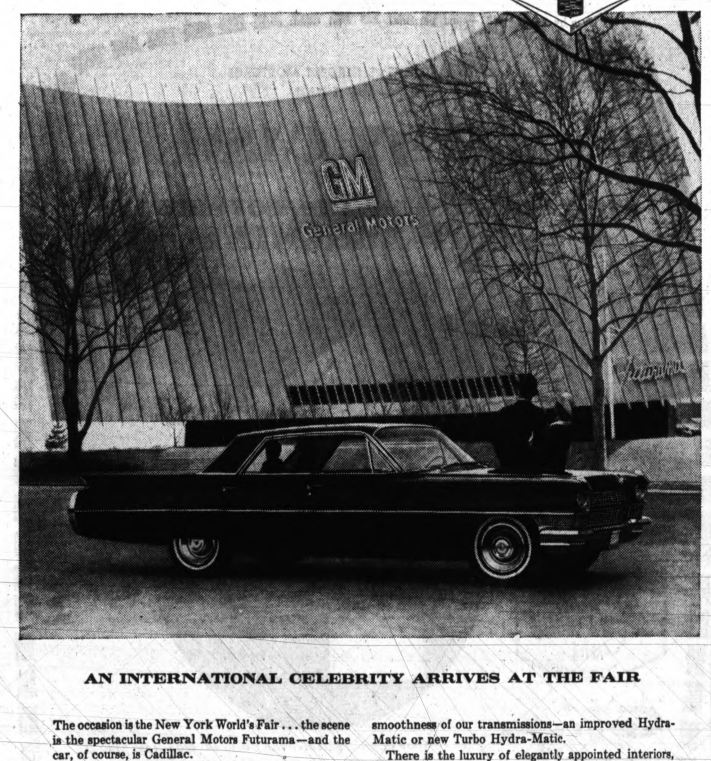
Cadillac



AN INTERNATIONAL CELEBRITY ARRIVES AT THE FAIR

The occasion is the New York World's Fair . . . the scene is the spectacular General Motors Futurama—and the car, of course, is Cadillac.

And the Cadillac car is a standout attraction even in this distinguished international company. Drive any of eleven 1964 models and you'll discover why.

There's Cadillac's magnificent and silent power. A 340-horsepower V-8 engine—most powerful in Cadillac history—generates performance so swiftly that we caution even long-time Cadillac owners to mind their speedometers. There is, in addition, the remarkable smoothness of our transmissions—an improved Hydra-Matic or new Turbo Hydra-Matic.

There is the luxury of elegantly appointed interiors, together with the great convenience of power brakes and steering (plus power windows on most models) that have turned the 600-mile day into a restful reality.

And there is also investment. Find a fine car, if you can, that returns more than your Cadillac when you choose to sell or trade it.

Visit your Cadillac dealer soon. His selection of international favorites has never been more tempting.

In S. Lyon School District

OK Millage, Nix Buildings

SOUTH LYON—Voters in the South Lyon Community School District stuck to their guns on building programs Saturday while accepting an increase in operational millage.

They approved a 8.5-mill levy by a 1,161-403 margin. But they turned down for the third time in a year financing a new high school.

They also snubbed a $600,000 "compromise" building program proposed by a group of citizens.

Noteworthy in the returns, however, were margins of acceptance or rejection.

School officials were pleased by the lopsided look of the millage vote.

The high school issue was defeated by a narrower margin than either of its predecessors, with just 48 votes separating those who opposed it from those who favored it.

HALTED PLANS

The 766-718 vote again halted plans for a $1.6-million high school here. When offered to the electorate last June, it was given the brush-off by a three-to-two margin.

In January an alternate proposal was presented to provide a $1.4-million facility. It was defeated by a 783-541 margin.

So the four board of education members favoring construction of a new unit went back to the first proposition. Despite opposition from the three-member minority on the board, the issue was returned to the ballot, basically unaltered from last spring.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, 266 citizens signed a petition requiring the board to place on the ballot a $600,000 program of additions to present facilities. Voters Saturday turned it down by a 872-589 margin.

1,500 TAXPAYERS

Supt. of Schools Frank Bartlett said 1,500 taxpayers voted on the building issue. Another 79 voters showed up at the polls to express their opinions on the millage issue, on which all of those registered can vote.

Bartlett said he was grateful the millage issue had been accepted.

"This is important," he said. "I don't know what we'll do about the building program — we'll have to mull this over."

★ ★ ★

The 8.5-mill levy will be effective for five years. It replaces one for seven mills due to expire this year.

★ ★ ★

While the high school issue has remained up in the air, the board in August purchased a site for the facility. The 32 acres are on the northwest corner of Nine Mile and Pontiac Trail.

15 Die in State Weekend Traffic

By The Associated Press

Michigan weekend traffic claimed 15 lives, including those of three Flint residents whose car ran off an Ogemaw County road and hit a tree and those of two Detroit women whose car jumped a curb and hit a utility pole.

The toll was eight fewer than on April's first weekend, when 23 died in what was the worst such period yet this year.

The Associated Press tabulation of weekend traffic fatalities begins at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Tillie Stern, 80, and Nellie Snyder, 85, of Detroit, were killed Sunday when their car veered off a city street and hit a utility pole.

MISSED CURVE

Edward Wilson, 22, of Woodland, was killed Sunday when his car missed a curve in Ionia, struck a house, glanced off a parked car and rammed into another house.

Billy Gene Lacey, 35; Louis Randall, 35, and Virginia Ferguson, about 31, all of Flint, were killed Sunday when their car ran off Greenwood Road six miles west of Prescott in Ogemaw County and struck a tree.

Gary LeGault, 18, of Harbor Beach, was killed Saturday night when his car collided head-on with an auto that had careened into its path upon hitting the rear of a third car, sheriff's deputies said. The accident occurred on M142 just west of Harbor Beach.

James Roberts, 15, of Albion, was killed Saturday when a car in which he was a passenger hit a guard rail on a bridge over a creek near Albion and overturned.

3 CAR COLLISION

Mrs. Alice Wiers, 70, of Wyoming, was killed Saturday in a collision involving three cars in the Grand Rapids suburb. She was a passenger in one of the cars.

Gerald Hartmeyer, 23, of Harper Woods, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision on U.S. 23 near Tawas City.

★ ★ ★

Robert Marcenkowski, 21, of Gaylord, was killed Saturday when his car hit two parked cars in Detroit.

William Hogsten, 26, of Flint, was killed Saturday when his auto struck a culvert on a rural road south of Reed City.

Mrs. Vilet Manske, 47, Negaunee, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision on U.S. 41 west of Marquette.

Richard Merica, 36, of Kalamazoo, was killed Friday night in a collision between his car and a truck on I-94 near Oshtemo in Kalamazoo County.

Mrs. Hazel Heinlein, 59, of Reese, was killed Friday night when her car crashed on M81 in Saginaw County.

Fruitful Life Is Over for 40-Year Invalid

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Michigan says farewell today to Van Wallace, 58, acclaimed as a hero for 40 years.

Funeral services are to be held for the onetime University of Notre Dame freshman whose future was wrecked in a Lake St. Clair diving accident.

★ ★ ★

That was July 4, 1924. Wallace's neck was broken. He became almost helplessly paralyzed.

But in all the long years that followed, friends said, Wallace "always smiled." Never did he appear downcast.

INVALID LIFE

Wallace, 18 when he was injured, spent the rest of his life as an invalid at home.

He never gave up, however.

"I learned quickly after the accident," he once said, "that it was not going to be helpful to cry. So I've just tried to make the best of it."

★ ★ ★

At home, where his mother, Mrs. Rosalie Wallace, now 86, cared for his personal needs, he set up his own insurance business.

A glass stick was fixed to his wrist. With this he worked an electric typewriter. He used it also to turn the pages of books. Otherwise, he was almost helpless.

RECEIVED HELP

The Notre Dame Club of Detroit helped. Wallace was furnished with a specially equipped ambulance. Until his death in 1944, Wallace's father, W. D. Wallace, took his son on trips.

Mrs. Wallace is her son's only survivor. He was the couple's only child.

★ ★ ★

She admired his sprit. "As long as he never complained, I had no right to," she said.

Wallace died Friday at St. Joseph Hospital. A spokesman said complications from the long paralysis caused death. He had been hospitalized Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Funeral services will be held today from the Groesbeck Funeral Home and St. Peter's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

PTA Elects New Officers

AUBURN HEIGHTS — New president of the Avondale Junior High PTA, elected to serve for the 1964-65 academic year, is James K. Gee.

Gee, 520 Nichols, replaces Mrs. David Hackett, who has moved to the position of president of the high school organization.

Other officers chosen to serve this year include Mrs. Harold Davis, mother vice president; Ray Ballard, father vice president; Norman Clothier, teacher vice president; and Mrs. James Gee, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Concluding the list of new officers are Mrs. Harry Hart, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Edmund O'Rourke, recording secretary.

Detroit Pair Shot to Death

DETROIT (AP) — A 30-year-old mother of six and her estranged husband were shot to death yesterday in what police said was a muder and suicide.

Police said William George, 33, shot his wife, Betty, six times, and then killed himself with the same gun.

★ ★ ★

The couple had separated last March 1 and Mrs. George's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lapage, said they heard shots shortly after George came for a visit at the home where they lived with their daughter.

Ye Olde Mill Players Plan Tryouts Tonight

MILFORD — Ye Olde Mill Players are seeking four women and five men for the cast of "White Sheep of the Family."

Tryouts for the comedy will be held at 8 tonight at the home of director Jack Kraus, 853 Duke.

Avondale Sets Music for Spring

Avondale High School's instrumental music department will present a musical welcome to spring at its annual Spring Concert Friday.

The talents of the 80-member junior high band and the 40 musicians in the senior high band will be featured at the 8 p.m. event, to be held in the high school gymnasium.

Spring's many colors and moods will be illustrated in music at the event. Ronald Salow, junior high band director, and L. G. Detter, new senior high band director, will share the conductor's spotlight at the concert.

Included in the program are "Theme from the Palovetsian Dances," of the opera "Prince Igor," and "Jamaican Jaunt," both performed by the junior band.

★ ★ ★

The senior group will feature a brilliant concert overture, as well as "Clarinet Escapade" and Bach's "Prelude" and "Fugue in B-Flat Major."

Both bands have won honors in regional competition.

Tickets are available from any band member or at the door.

Dance Will Boost High School Band

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — An adult dance to boost West Bloomfield High School's band is scheduled for 8:30-11:30 p.m. Friday.

Proceeds from the event in the school gymnasium will be used to send band members to camp this summer.

Providing music for the dance will be a band composed of Donald Perrin, high school band director, Principal Rex Austin and several faculty members.

Water Safety to Be Subject of PTA Program

AVON TOWNSHIP — A program on water safety will be presented at Thursday's 7:30 p.m. meeting of the Stiles School PTA.

Charles Jex, manager of the Detroit Edison Co.'s Center Line office, will be the featured speaker. He will talk on "Rescue Breathing" and show a movie entitled, "That They May Live."

"Resusci-Annie," the dummy used in rescue breathing demonstrations, also will be at the meeting for use by those who want to practice the newest lifesaving technique.

A bake sale also will be held in conjunction with the meeting.

ANN MARIE MATHIESON

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mathieson, 68 N. Washington Oxford, announce the engagement of their daughter Ann Marie to Michael Thomas Dinan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dinan of Grosse Pointe. A July wedding is planned.

'No Problems From Censure'

DETROIT (AP) — Mercy College said today its censure by the American Association of University Professors for its dismissal of author Jess Shelton in 1960 was not expected to cause problems for the school.

Sister Mary Lucille, head of the Catholic school for girls, said she anticipated no problems from the association's action at St. Louis Saturday.

★ ★ ★

At the time of his dismissal, Shelton said the action was taken against him because of his two Civil War era novels which contained episodes of sex and violence.

Shelton, a faculty member, also said his superiors at Mercy objected to his beard.

★ ★ ★

Sister Mary Lucille said the college made no public statement at the time. She added that if Shelton felt he had been damaged by publicity "it was because he sought the publicity."

The censure action by the association is a form of public criticism.

Three Fires Near Romeo Sweep 1,500 Acres, Hurt 1

AREA NEWS

Three fires near Romeo this weekend swept over more than 1,500 acres, gutted a new trilevel home and injured a member of the Romeo Fire Department.

★ ★ ★

Romeo's volunteer department was aided by six other units, including Washington Township's, as the men attempted to control flames which blazed through more than 1,500 acres of grass and woods in Bruce Township yesterday.

Members of the Utica, Armada, Almont and Shelby and Macomb Township departments helped prevent the fire from burning three houses in the area west of Campground between 33 Mile and the Ford Proving grounds.

Cause was not determined.

★ ★ ★

Started at about 1 p.m., the fire was brought under control shortly before 5 p.m. It had encircled three homes, burning right up to the foundation of one of them.

SATURDAY FIRE

Saturday night Washington Township's fire department was summoned to the home of Arthur J. Walege, at 5130 Lockwood.

★ ★ ★

The fire started about 8 p.m. by an explosion, destroyed all contents and gutted the structure of the contemporary brick home. It was brought under control about 11 p.m.

The explosion, of undetermined orjgin, blew glass up to 75 feet away from the home. It also ignited grass near the house.

No one was in the Walege home at the time of the fire.

Earlier Saturday volunteers in the Romeo fire department fought a blaze which burned off 40 acres of grassland, and threatened a vacant barn and one of the fire trucks.

★ ★ ★

Fire Chief Walter Werth said children playing ignited the blaze on 31 Mile near Van Dyke. Flames surrounded a barn belonging to the Eastview Subdivision but were extinguished before spreading to the building.

Frederick Falk, Romeo policeman and a volunteer fire fighter, was overcome by smoke. He was treated at Community Hospital near Almont and released.

Typewriter, Money Stolen From Troy Firm

TROY — An electric typewriter and approximately $300 in cash was stolen this weekend from Valor Enterprises, 2821 Industrial Row, according to Troy Police.

Entry was gained by breaking a rear window, police said. The theft occurred between 6 p.m. Saturday and 8:30 last night.

Job Chances: Walled Lake PTA Subject

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The PTA of Walled Lake High School will consider job opportunities at its Thursday night meeting.

Appearing on the 8 p.m. program in the school cafeteria will be John Simmons, chief of testing and guidance services for the Michigan Employment Security Commission, and Raymond Sullivan, United Auto Workers training center chairman.

During a brief business session, 1964-65 officers will be installed.

Mrs. Jorma Sarto will begin her term as president, William Gerchow as father vice president and Mrs. Richard King as mother vice president.

★ ★ ★

They will be installed by Mrs. Arild Weborg, mother vice president of the Walled Lake PTA Council.

For Newlyweds

Trip to the Bahamas

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A honeymoon trip to the Bahamas followed the recent wedding of Patricia Elain Parent and Donald Alan Greening who exchanged their nuptial vows at St. Patrick's Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Parent, 1312 Clearwater. The bridegroom is the son of the Lee Greenings of Detroit.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length sheath of ivory sheer wool with a self-fringed chapel train. The jewelry neckline was trimmed with four heirloom pearls.

Sally Parent was maid of honor for her sister, while Norma Klukos attended at bridesmaid.

On the esquire side Charles Greening served as best man for his brother. Ushers were another brother, Robert and Thomas Parent, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at the Edgewood Country Club after the rites.

Baseball Season Start Won't Halt Rights Debate--Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate starts its sixth week of battling over the civil rights bill today, with each camp contending time is on its side.

In the House, except for a $7-billion appropriation bill to be taken up Tuesday, only routine measures are on the agenda.

For members of the Senate and House alike, today's season-opening American League baseball game between Washington and Los Angeles is bound to be an irresistible attraction.

But Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said the ball game will not halt the Senate's civil rights debate.

LONG-BALL SPEAKERS

He said he understands that Southern senators, leading the fight against the House-passed bill, "have a couple of long-ball speakers" ready to take the floor and keep things going until the game is over.

Saturday afternoon, as the Senate was engrossed in its 28th day of debate on the civil rights bill, President Johnson was asked at his news conference if he thinks the Senate should move faster.

"That is a matter for the Senate to decide," Johnson replied. He added that he thinks the debate "will go on for some time yet" but that eventually "the majority of the Senate will work its will and I believe we will pass the bill."

Humphrey, the floor manager of the bill, and Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., quarterback for the Dixie forces, agreed no vote on proposed amendments is in prospect this week.

MORE SPEECHES

The Southerners plan a continuing round of speeches in reply to arguments presented by the bill's backers the last two weeks.

But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is at work on amendments to the fair employment practices section and hopes to have them ready for introduction by midweek.

These could mark the first step toward getting some votes, since Dirksen said he intends to start calling them up one by one. Although they are subject to debate, Humphrey said he will not hesitate to move to table these and other amendments when necessary.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Pontiac Proud to Be Called a 'General Motors Town'

As you go about the Country, you become inordinately proud of the fact you're from a "General Motors town." There's no gainsaying the fact the huge corporation has a top-level, A-1 rating with people from coast to coast.

And are they envious.

Verily, I say unto you: they are.

★ ★ ★

For half a century, General Motors has led almost every economic parade there is. It manufactures top-notch products that command attention, admiration and respect. And (hold your breath) it entices that all important man with the pocketbook to ease the rubber band and make a down payment.

★ ★ ★

GM's steadily increasing growth and investment in land, buildings and jobs have produced prosperity for millions. Subsidiaries are scattered all over a far-flung American empire and even extend across the ocean. I recall a sentence I wrote once for the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce:

"Yes, it's true that we have about all our eggs in one basket—but what a basket!"

★ ★ ★

Every town and hamlet in the United States wishes devoutly it could be some small, tiny part of this great, industrial operation which leads the world.

Nazis' Mass Murder . . . .

One of the most revolting revelations in world history comes out of the current Nazi trial.

★ ★ ★

Can you imagine human beings so drunk with power that they order and carry out the cold-blooded murder of little children? The testimony showing the tearful efforts of these little folks between four and eleven to persuade their German captors "not to kill us, please, for we can do work" paints one of the lowest pictures of human beings in all existence.

Germany can hang her head forever. And it won't suffice for Germany to say: "Well, these were just the ideas of a few people twenty years ago."

Phooey.

★ ★ ★

The balance of the Hun population knew what was happening and never checked the wholesale slaughter of human beings which far, far outdid the Roman circuses, for the emperors never slaughtered their victims by the millions.

Spectators at the Auschwitz trials screamed: "Beat him dead. Kill him. Hang him," at one of the established perpetrators. But during the war, HITLER and his minions were obeyed and upheld. The onus of the lowest act of mass murder forever stains the bloody escutcheon of the German people. Current generations can establish personal innocence but their forefathers were part and parcel of the horror. Twice in the memory of man today Germany has visited world wars upon humanity.

★ ★ ★

Can you picture Americans — yesterday, today or tomorrow — countenancing the wholesale slaughter of millions, including innocent little children? It's too preposterous to discuss.

Yet Germany did it.

Distressing Times . . . .

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV's current visit to Budapest, Hungary, is ironical, cruel and a mockery of all Christianity and world decency.

Just a little over seven years ago, great Russian hordes swarmed across this brave land with the latest in death-dealing devices and slaughtered the freedom-loving people who were fighting for the sanctity of their own precious home land. It was nothing but methodical and calculated butchery and the Russians went about it with an utter disregard for any semblance of compassion. Not even hospitals were immune.

★ ★ ★

K's latest purpose is to "guarantee" the subjugated peasants that the porridge will be more plentiful henceforth. This is a reply to Red China which is promising world revolution rather freely. Neither of these overlords understands government or farming sufficiently to feed themselves adequately to say nothing of their captives. This requires a dash of free enterprise or the touch of a capitalistic system.

★ ★ ★

What can a grand nation and a proud people like the Hungarians do in these circumstances?

Any answer is depressing.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Have you heard about the new snow and ice tires for next winter? They have small metal studs that obviate the use of chains. . . . . The DU PONTS are proclaimed as the wealthiest family in the world. All of them (and they're a prolific lot) total more than $3 billion. . . . . Overheard: "Our national flower is now a concrete four-leaf clover." . . . . . The wife of the Swiss Ambassador has started passing her lady guests cigars after formal dinners. . . . . "The knowledge of the burdens that others carry, gives you strength to bear your own."—Imperial Magazine.

JUDITH

Scouts advise me that Judith Hoffman deserves mention as an especially attractive young lady. Unhappily, she'll never be able to attend old "C Plus" U. The rascal got straight "A's." . . . . . "That Was the Week That Was" started with a flourish of trumpets and triumphs but it has slumped to a lowly and dismal estate with Nancy Ames the only refreshing feature. . . . . They're perfecting an airplane that makes perfect landings without a touch of human hands. . . . . Bet your best pal a buck he or she can't define "epitome" and you'll be a simoleon ahead. . . . . A TWA jet reached New York 15 minutes early and the passengers insisted on a short dash to sea so they could finish the movie.

★ ★ ★

The world's tallest skyscraper will be erected shortly overlooking Lake Geneva. It will dwarf New York's Empire State building (102) with 125 floors. . . . . The Grand Rapids Press has solved this poverty question for good and all: close down the Internal Revenue Department. . . . . For the first time in 100 years, Yom Kipper and Labor Day fall on the same date. . . . . The largest drive-in bank in the world is located in Denver and has 15 tellers on this work. . . . . David Lawrence Says:

No Defense Against Rail Strike

WASHINGTON — With all the talk about civil rights and the importance of equal opportunity in employment, particularly in businesses affected by interstate commerce, it is an incredible fact of American life that overnight the entire rail-transportation system of the country today can be halted, and untold loss inflicted on innocent citizens and their properties, while large-scale unemployment is forced upon the nation.

LAWRENCE

Congress is fully authorized under the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution to regulate the operations of the railroads.

But Congress, for political reasons, shies away from regulatory legislation on rail stoppages and lets the nation be subject to threat after threat that could paralyze the whole economy.

President Johnson last week persuaded the railroad companies and the unions to negotiate for 15 days, but it will come as a surprise to most people that nothing has been done heretofore by Congress or by the President to forbid at all times any action by private companies or labor unions engaged in interstate commerce which can bring such a catastrophe to the American people.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps in the next few days, if the negotiations fail, the President will appear before Congress, as other presidents have done, to ask for remedial legislation.

CONTRIBUTING FACTOR

The very absence of such an alternative to a rail strike is a contributing factor to extreme tactics in labor-management negotiations.

A year ago, when a national rail strike was threatened, Congress prescribed a formula —namely, compulsory arbitration on several but not all issues.

The rail unions, however, have insisted on carrying the matter to the courts.

★ ★ ★

Though they have lost in court after court and their case has not yet been finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, a strike was nevertheless called last week against the Illinois Central Railroad. This, in turn, provoked the threat of a nationwide strike.

MANY HARDSHIPS

There are many hardships involved in eliminating the jobs of 30,000 firemen, as required by the arbitration board's ruling, but the United States government could certainly find some kind of subsidy for the problem, just as it does in "foreign aid."

Already there have been some losses because of the threat of a strike last week. Several trains were canceled and damage was done to many businesses.

Meanwhile, because of the fear of losing labor-union votes, members of congress are hesitant to act.

Congress seems to be willing to worry about the effect on interstate commerce of discriminatory hiring practices, but it isn't ready as yet to come to grips with the discrimination against millions of innocent citizens who are deprived of goods, services and jobs as well as transportation.

Now that the public interest is really in danger, it remains to be seen whether the welfare of the American people as a whole, as opposed to the special interest of private groups, will be given due consideration.

Senators Up for Election Discount Wallace Vote

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine senators up for election this year in states outside the South agreed generally today that civil rights is not a prime issue in their contests.

Since Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace showed unexpected strength in the April 7 Wisconsin primary, politicians have been trying to calculate the depth of possible white resentment to the pace of racial integration.

Wallace said he ran in Wisconsin to demonstrate opposition to the House-passed civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

But interviews with nine potential senatorial candidates—five Democrats and four Republicans—indicated most of them think Wallace's 25 per cent of the total primary vote proved little, if anything.

★ ★ ★

Taking a different tack from some of his colleagues, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said it was "utterly immaterial" to him whether his advocacy of civil rights legislation would cost him votes in New York State areas.

DOUBTS LOSS

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said "I doubt whether a civil rights advocate will lose votes.

"This is not an issue on which people are now just making up their minds. I do not think opinions are likely to be swayed by political events between now and November."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt. said he doesn't think Wallace's showing will have any appreciable impact on New England contests.

FAVORS PASSAGE

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who favors passage of some form of civil rights bill, was asked if he believes he might lose votes in Missouri by his position.

"I wouldn't think so," he replied.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said he does not think the Wallace showing would indicate any loss of votes for the bill's backers.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., who also supports passage of a bill, said the Wallace vote in Wisconsin was in no way relevant to Nebraska and would have no effect on the election there.

COSPONSOR OF BILL

Sen. Quentin H. Burdick, D-N.D., a cosponsor of the pending bill, wasn't sure whether his stand would lose him votes in North Dakota.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said his state already has fair employment practices and public accommodations laws more stringent than the provisions in the House bill.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said he thinks his support of the civil rights bill will have "no influence whatsoever" on his race in Hawaii.

Servicemen Send Thanks for All Reading Material

Recently I wrote The Pontiac Press expressing the plea for reading material for the men on the U.S.S. Glacier in the Antarctic. We are presently en route home to the United States.

In answer to "disgusted With Keego Harbor," we weren't too happy with you, either. You parked on private property, then criticized our police department for its efficiency. Disgusted

Parent Finds Son's School Book Obscene

Talk about obscene books. My son left one of his required books for government home and I started reading it out of curiosity, and was shocked at what the seniors are required to read. The name of the book is, "A Shade of Difference," by Allen Drury. I'm referring to pages 81 and 143 respectively. I think the parents should demand an explanation from the Huron Valley Area Schools principal and teachers for requiring such filth to be read by our boys and girls.

★ ★ ★

I always understood that government was to teach our children the function of government and how our laws are made and enforced, and not how the people live and carry on behind the scenes and in the privacy of their bedrooms.

Tough Luck

The New York Daily News

The late President John F. Kennedy a couple of years ago bulldozed the big steel companies into canceling a price boost, and ordered the steel industry investigated. All businessmen, remarked JFK bitterly, were SOBs.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson has been trying to live that one down ever since he took office following Mr. Kennedy's assissination last Nov. 22—and and he has done rather well at convincing many businessmen that he is a friend of theirs.

Now, however, the JFK-ordered investigation has flowered in indictments, returned here by a federal grand jury, against eight big steel companies and two company officials for alleged price-fixing in violation of the anti-trust laws.

The incident slugged the stock market in the belly Tuesday, and promises to have far-reaching repercussions, none of which will help Mr. Johnson in his wooing of the business community.

We're sorry, in a way, to see the new President thus embarrassed, because he is a fine fellow personally and we think he means well. But such is politics.

Another embarrassment for LBJ built up—

Space Exhibit

The State Journal

No world's fair in the space age can confine itself to this world and be worthy of its name.

That thought has not been over looked by the management of the New York fair which, through cooperation of NASA and the Defense Department, will include the largest assemblage of rockets and space vehicles ever shown outside the space cape in Florida.

The Space Park promises to be one of the most popular attractions at Flushing Meadow. As visitors gaze at the 110-foot Titan - II launching rocket and view the Mercury capsule in which astronaut Scott Carpenter flew three times around the globe, they will get an idea of where five billion or so of their tax dollars are going this year.

Poverty With Dems?

The New York Daily News

Officially opening his war on that old devil Proverty, President Johnson sent Congress a message in which he said that one-fifth of our estimated 190 million people "have not shared in the abundance which has been granted to most of us"

★ ★ ★

The lamented John F. Kennedy used to say during the 1960 presidential campaign that 17 million Americans went to bed hungry every night. One-fifth of 190 million is 38 million, which is President Johnson's estimate.

★ ★ ★

So if JFK was right and if LBJ is right, then the number of United States poor has more than doubled in three short years, with Democrats running the White House and having big majorities in Congress.

S. Rhodesia Chief Loses Support, Quits

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — Winston Field resigned today as prime minister of Southern Rhodesia, and British Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs named Treasury Minister Ian Smith to succeed him.

Both Smith and Field are members of the conservative Rhodesian Front party, which holds 35 of the 65 seats in the legislature and is pledged to maintain the white minority's rule of the self-governing British territory.

Field, in office since December 1962, lost his party's support because its right wing considered him too moderate. Political circles look for tougher government policies and possibly a declaration of independence from Britain.

The Rhodesian Front is anxious to get independence while the vote is still denied to most of Southern Rhodesia's African majority.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched a second unmanned maneuverable space station Sunday, rousing speculation it may be getting ready to attempt an orbital rendezvous by manned space craft.

The new Sputnik, Polyot-2, was launched on the third anniversary of the world's space flight by Yuri Gagarin, Polyot-1 was sent up last November.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the new space station was a prototype of equipment needed to start interplanetary expeditions.

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Charging the Indian government is weak and paralyzed, opposition political groups today called on ailing Prime Minister Nehru to resign.

Delhi state units of the Socialist and Praja Socialist parties, plus several smaller opposition factions, warned they will open "agitation" in the capital unless Nehru quits by Aug. 15.

★ ★ ★

Opposition pressure for Nehru's resignation has been gathering since he suffered a stroke Jan. 7 and turned many of his duties over to subordinates. One of India's leading political commentators, Frank Moraes, joined in the campaign today.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Cambodia's chief of state Prince Nordom Sihanouk, has barred all American and British newsmen from his country.

Sihanouk accused them of "virulent attacks and calumnies." He objected particularly to Time magazine and the Washington Post.

★ ★ ★

The prince Sunday also decorated his son-in-law, Lt. Sisowath Monirak, and another pilot for shooting down an American observation plane during the South Vietnamese attack on the Cambodian border village of Chantrea March 19.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno today reiterated Indonesia's desire for peaceful settlement of the Malaysia dispute but without agreeing in advance to withdraw guerrillas from Malaysian Borneo territory.

Sukarno was addressing a poll of anti-Malaysia volunteers in front of his palace.

Officials said the roll call was attended by 1 million volunteers, and Sukarno said 21 million in all had answered his call.

"We don't want to grab Malaya, Singapore, Sarawak, Brunei and Sabah (North Borneo)," Sukarno said. "We are only supporting the independence struggle of the people in those areas."

SINGAPORE, Malaysia (AP) —Indonesian terrorists were blamed for the explosion of a bomb Sunday night in a housing development that killed two persons and injured six.

Different Kinds of Reading Require Different Speeds

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the tenth article in a 20-part series designed to improve reading skills. Time your reading of this column and compare your speed with that indicated at the end. The expected speed assumes a daily 5 per cent improvement.)

●

By THE READING LABORATORY, INC.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Different kinds of reading require a different pace. Let's say you're given an assignment tonight in the appreciation of two poems by Robert Frost.

Will you preread it, write down searching questions, skip and skim your way through it?

Certainly not. Frost is meant to be savored for his style, his imagery, his choice of words. Furthermore, Frost is meant to be enjoyed; he wrote to delight you, to move your heart, not to give you facts.

The same would be true with Dickens. His personal purpose in writing his classic novels may have been sociological, but what a mistake to dash through his books as you might a reference work in sociology.

The simply peerless character delineations, the matchless descriptive passages all would be lost. You would miss the very heart and genius of the man.

DON'T ZIGZAG

No, don't zigzag through Frost or Dickens. That technique has a place, but not here.

But now your English literature assignment is finished and you can curl up with that mystery novel your friend loaned you.

Your purpose now is altogether different; you're not looking for self-enrichment, you just want to relax. You know you can gloss over the author's prose without insulting a great master.

Just the clues and the story is all you want and you're eager to see how the book ends. So speed makes sense, but don't skip and skim to the extent that you miss all the clues and spoil the fun.

PICK UP PAPER

After breakfast tomorrow, you pick up the paper. All you want is information. What's happened around the world, in your home town, at last night's sporting event?

This you can do in about 15 minutes because your purpose called for top speed. Instant information instantly.

Now your father reads the newspaper, but his purpose is different from yours in many ways. He will read for information and to evaluate.

★ ★ ★

He'll read critical, opinionative writing alertly; he'll be on the lookout for poor reasoning, for invalid premises when he reads political comment.

KNOW WAY

You read that a statesman gave a speech about this or that; your father will want to know why the statesman took that position, why the change in attitude, what he is really after.

Your father will analyze that talk, bring his whole reading background to judge the content. Your father will get a lot more out of each development because he wants more, and it will take him more time.

We've covered the four reasons for reading:

1. For information, and here you read at top speed, making use of all the steps.

2. For relaxation, and here you read fast but not so fast as for information.

★ ★ ★

3. For self-enrichment, and here you read more slowly because you don't want to miss any of a classic's beauty.

4. For critical evaluation, and here you are not a passive observer, but an alert and questioning judge and jury. This is your slowest pace, but it should not be a slow pace after putting these columns into practice.

(NEXT: Some Notes on Notes.)

'Tell People of Food Costs'

Johnson Aide Urges Public Explanation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's special assistant for consumers affairs, Esther Peterson, urged today that the proposed special commission on the food industry "pay particular attention to the level of prices and to the quality of foods sold."

In testimony prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee, Mrs. Peterson said that American consumers "need to understand food markets and the nature of competition and costs in these markets better than we now do."

★ ★ ★

She said "all of us who shop want to get the largest quantity, the most value, the greatest amount of real satisfaction for the dollars we spend."

Mrs. Peterson strongly endorsed Johnson's proposal for a bipartisan commission which she said would "study the changes taking place in the food industry in the United States."

NEEDED SERVICE

"The commission will perform a needed service if its inquiry results in some simple, intelligible explanation of retail food costs so that ordinary people can understand them," she said.

"The spread between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays has been widening. During 1963, the spread between the retail cost of food and the farmers' share of the dollar spent by the consumer increased 4 per cent. The farmer's share of the food dollar—37 cents—was the smallest since 1934, when it was 34 cents.

★ ★ ★

"The consumer should know not only where the other cents have gone, but why the pattern of distribution has changed," she said.

'Pellet Sniper' Still Loose in Detroit Area

DETROIT (UPI)—The "pellet sniper" of suburban Wyandotte and Southgate was still on the loose today, but police reported receiving a "few" tips over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Southgate Police said the sniper may have been from the Wyandotte area. They would not, however, disclose the nature of the tips.

One girl was injured by flying glass and police received more than 100 complaints from residents who suffered broken windows in homes, stores and cars during the Friday night shooting spree.

★ ★ ★

The sniper apparently drove in his car along the streets, shooting at random. Additional complaints were handled by police over the weekend as more and more residents discovered damage.

★ ★ ★

The injured girl was Sharon Toleikis, 19, Southgate. She sustained a cut on her neck from flying glass when a pellet shattered the window at a drive-in where she worked as a waitress.

14 Honored by Local DAV

Fourteen persons, including four Oakland County judges, were honored yesterday for their service by the Pontiac Memorial chapter No. 101 of Disabled American Veterans.

Awarded citations of appreciations at the chapters 14th annual past commanders banquet were:

Circuit Judges William J. Beer and Arthur E. Moore; Probate Judges Donald E. Adams and Norman Barnard; and Commissioners of the Oakland County Department of Veterans Affairs John K. Irwin, Don R. MacDonald and John B. Huhn.

Others were Garnet Hodges, chairman of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund in Oakland, and committee members Charles Chandler, John McGlew and Leon Sirlin; and a former secretary at the fund office, Mrs. George Danuk; Guy Nelson and Ayres Miller, both active in veterans activities.

State DAV Commander Eugene Cater and national service officer Jack Feighner were among several veterans group officials attending the banquet at the Amvet Hall, 570 Oakland.

Big Winner Picks Up Tab for Neighbors

LONDON (AP) — Charlie Cooper, the $28-a-week clerk who won $650,000 in a soccer pool, has picked up a big check for his neighbors in the Bethnal Green section of London's East End.

Hundreds of people who live on Wilmost Street will be told when they show up at town hall today to pay their week's rent: "Don't bother. Charlie Cooper has paid it for you."

Charlie sent a check for $4,200 to the town council, then ducked away to the country.

His brother, Arthur told reporters:

"Charlie has not done this for publicity. His gesture has made him a happy man. He feels that he wants other East Enders to share his wealth."

Polish Leaders in Moscow to Bolster K in Red Split

MOSCOW (AP)—Polish Communist leaders arrived in Moscow today for talks to strengthen Soviet Premier Khrushchev in his bitter dispute with the Chinese Communists.

Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka said on his arrival with Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz that the Polish and Soviet Communist parties "have the same views of the tasks of the Socialist camp, of the strategy and tactics of the international movement."

Any actions directed against the unity of Communist countries "are harmful and irresponsible," Gomulka said.

Khrushchev in a speech televised on both sides of the Iron Curtain Sunday night appealed for a "resolute rebuff" to Peking.

VANGUARD OF GROUP

The Poles had been thought to be the vanguard of a group of foreign Communist leaders coming for the celebration of Khrushchev's 70th birthday on Friday. But the feeling grew in foreign circles today that no such meeting of visiting Red leaders would take place.

Asked about reports that the Poles might return to Warsaw Thursday, a Soviet diplomat at the airport said: "It is not excluded. They have a very short program."

No other foreign visitors and no public events have been announced for Khrushchev's birthday.

The Poles support Khrushchev against Red China, but they have been reluctant to go along with a Kremlin proposal for a showdown conference of world Communist parties.

PEKING 'SPLITTERS'

In his television speech Sunday night, Khrushchev denounced the Chinese as "splitters" of the world Communist movement who eventually want to take over its leadership. He made no mention of any world meeting of communism.

Khrushchev abandoned the Soviet Communist party's claim of dominance over world communism, saying "those times have gone, never to return."

But he said the Chinese were trying to achieve the control Stalin once exercised over the Red bloc by taking a "special course which is a blend of petty bourgeois adventurism and great-power chauvinism."

★ ★ ★

"The disruptive activities of the Chinese leaders have caused serious difficulties in the world Communist movement," Khrushchev admitted.

Two giant 65,000-horsepower electric motors have been installed at Grand Coulee dam to pump water for irrigation making the project one of the major ones in the United States.

SEATO Undergoing Penetrating Analysis at Confab

MANILA (AP) — The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's 10th anniversary ministerial conference went into secret session today for what was expected to be the most penetrating analysis of the eight-nation pact since it was formed.

Two Asian members, Thailand and the Philippines, indicated at the opening session today that the time has come for some hard talking on the alliance's ability to stem Communist aggression.

GET RID OF MYTHS

France, which recently recognized Communist China and advocates the neutralization of Southeast Asia, also said the time as come "to do away with myths, to eliminate ambiguities and squarely to face realities."

* * *

France will face some candid questioning on its neutrality proposal, which has been rejected by the United States, Thailand and the Philippines.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in his opening address, cited such major problems of the area as South Viet Nam's war, the ineffective neutrality in Laos, the Indonesian confrontation of Malaysia and economic problems of the whole region.

THEME OF MEETING

But it was Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman who set the theme for the meeting.

Khoman said: "The 10th anniversary of the Manila Pact seems to be as good an occasion as any to review whether the strong urge which impelled eight nations to set up in this region a system of collective defense has kept its vitality or whether, with the passage of time, it has waned to the vanishing point for the simple reason that some may have lost interest in the original concept or have been reluctant to discharge their responsibility."

* * *

Khoman said membership in SEATO "cannot be conceived as a one-way street." If the members are satisfied with the alliance, "it is only natural that they also accept sacrifices."

The Thai diplomat said neutralization for South Viet Nam "would be tantamount to delivering the country, with hands and feet bound, to its northern aggressors."

Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez said the time has come to explore the present situation in Southeast Asia with candor and realism and to find out in what ways SEATO can continue to counteract or to deter Communist aggression or subversion.

Lopez pointed out that when the SEATO alliance was formed, he strongly advocated that it commit itself to automatic collective military action to repel aggression, along the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"It may now be observed, by way of footnote, that while the NATO treaty area has enjoyed relative stability and security from the subversive and expansionist schemes of communism, the same cannot be said of the SEATO treaty area," he said.

* * *

Rusk dwelt mainly on the war against the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, saying the Red guerrillas are "directed, supported and supplied from Hanoi," capital of Communist North Viet Nam.

"The Communists have increased their attacks, but the government and people of South Viet Nam are moving with firm determintion to defeat this aggression," Rusk said.

Workers OK Strike at Burroughs Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Burroughs Corp. production workers voted to strike Sunday to enforce demands for a first contract. No strike date was set.

Local 1313 of the United Auto Workers, newly organized at Burroughs, announced the vote as 2,537 to 251. The local represents 5,000 workers at the business machines and electronics manufacturing company.

Union officials charged management has been stalling in negotiations. Sunday's vote followed a vote March 8 when Local 1313 authorized a strike vote.

First transcontinental Economy Run . . . 3,243 grueling miles from Los Angeles to the New York World's Fair!

Mobil Economy Run results prove the mileage potential of Mobil gasoline in cars like yours

45 different American cars travel coast to coast in world's greatest road test of gasoline performance

The Mobil Economy Run uses cars like yours! Not "factory specials." The actual cars are picked at random by United States Auto Club officials from dealer showrooms and factory assembly lines throughout the country. USAC seals every vital part, then keeps the car under guard throughout the Run.

On roads like you drive

Not on a "test track," but on steep mountain roads, on long open spaces, in desert heat, driving rains, through the traffic of city after city—this is the route of the Mobil Economy Run. This year it stretched from coast to coast, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to the New York World's Fair.

United States Auto Club supervised

The results are certified by the United States Auto Club. No special equipment is permitted . . . normal highway speeds are maintained . . . and every car must carry an official USAC observer at all times. But the outstanding results of this year's Economy Run demonstrate more than just the mileage potential for your car. Here's why:

Mileage is the measure of power!

The miles per gallon a gasoline gives, shows the power available for other uses—power for quick starts, fast pick-up for safety in passing, and for climbing hills. Mobil gasoline proves it has the power available for the all-round performance you want . . . proves it in public year after year. Try Mobil—the Economy Run Gasoline!

Charges Dems Dupe Negroes

DETROIT (AP) — A doorbell-ringing campaign to get the Negro out to vote this fall is planned in every American city, Malcolm X said Sunday in charging that Negroes have been "duped" by the Democratic party.

Malcolm X leader of his newly organized Muslim Mosque, Inc., said the Negroes have given 80 per cent of their vote to Democrats but have received in return only a debate in Congress.

Malcolm X said in an interview that whites and Negroes have been misleading each other. He said whites do not want integration and "the Negro has been telling the white man what he thinks the white man wants to hear."

In a talk at King Solomon Baptist Church, Malcolm X warned there may be nationwide racial trouble this summer.

Malcolm X's new group, which split off the Black Muslims, advocates separation of the races though also cooperation, its leader said.

Turks Vow 'Fight to Death'

New Cypriot Clash Over Pass

AP Photofax

MEETING IN ATHENS — Cyprus President Makarious (left) confers with former EOKA underground leader George Grivas in Athens yesterday. While Greek Cypriots are hoping Grivas will be recalled to command their national guard, there is no definite word that such an agreement has been reached. Grivas broke with Makarious over a 1960 agreement which established Cyprus as a republic of the British Commonwealth.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — New fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots erupted today around the strategic Kyrenia pass where the outmanned Turks vowed to "fight to death" to defend their positions.

Greek Cypriot reinforcements were reported pouring into the area. The buildup, scene yesterday of heavy fighting, indicated an imminent battle that could be the biggest clash since the Cyprus crisis began last December.

Shooting broke out this morning on "Whisky Peak" overlooking the pass and spread to the besieged Turkish Cypriot village of Temblos, west of Kyrenia and below the Turkish Cypriot stronghold of St. Hilarion castle.

Other shooting was heard at the Greek Cypriot village of Pano Dhikomo.

★ ★ ★

Sources close to the United Nations peace force said an assault on Temblos would be necessary if the Greek Cypriots planned to launch a full-scale attack on St. Hilarion.

SOME GREEKS KILLED

No reliable estimates were available for casualties in yesterday's shooting, but at least one Turkish Cypriot and "some" Greek Cypriots were reported killed.

About 25 Turkish Cypriots fending the pass through which the key Nicosia-Kyrenia highway runs north to Turkish Cypriot strongholds. Dug in along the road at some distance from the peak were troops of the regular Turkish Army.

The Greek Cypriot attacking force, which numbered about 450 men yesterday, assaulted the peak with mortars, heavy machine guns, other automatic weapons and rifles.

★ ★ ★

The commander of the Turkish Cypriots guarding the peak told a UPI correspondent "I am certain Turkey will invade Cyprus soon — otherwise there is no point in our continuing to defend ourselves here."

"We'll defend ourselves to the end anyway," he added. "We've nowhere else to go."

GREEK IN ATHENS

Greek Cypriot President Makarios was in Athens discussing the crisis and the possibility of a Turkish invasion with Greek Premier George Papandreou. He also met with Gen. George Grivas, the former Greek Cypriot terrorist leader.

There were reports that Grivas, who spearheaded the underground campaign which led to Cyprus' independence from Britain in 1960, might return to this Mediterranean island to head its security forces.

Turkey has threatened to rush reinforcements to Cyprus if the Greek Cypriots try to remove forcefully the Turkish Army troops from the Nicosia-Kyrenia highway. This could lead to similar intervention by Greece, and war between the two NATO members.

★ ★ ★

The Turkish troops have been entrenched along the road since the initial fighting erupted Christmas week over political and constitutional differences between the feuding Greek majority and Turkish minority. The Turks and Turkish Cypriots have blocked passage to their northern strongholds and to the important port of Kyrenia.

Report on Consumers

Nothing Too Good for Woman Shoppers

(EDITOR'S NOTE — National reporter Harry Ferguson of United Press International recently made an extensive study of the American consumer — how much he spends, where he buys, what he buys. Here is the first of five dispatches on the subject.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American consumer is basically a woman, but not necessarily a lady.

She can sniff a bargain sale downwind or upwind and when she rushes to the counter she fights for what she wants with the ferocity of a tigress defending her cubs.

She is capable of intimidation and devious tactics in bringing her husband around to the viewpoint that the living room should be painted light green instead of his favorite blue.

In increasing numbers she is trying to get something for nothing by doing some amateur shoplifting, especially in the pre-Christmas season.

★ ★ ★

Department store security officers are puzzled why a large number of women with plenty of money and A-1 credit rating steal things.

CONTROL MONEY

The American consumer is basically a woman because females, according to the best educated guesses, control directly or indirectly some 82 per cent of the $380 billion spent annually in this nation.

This is not news to merchants and manufacturers. Years ago they took dead aim on the American woman.

That is why so many automobiles are two-toned in soft colors and have fancy interior styling, why there was a sudden flood of "soft whisky" on the market and why contractors spend so much time worrying about the kitchens in the houses they build.

Nothing is too good for the American woman when she has a buck to spend. She is queen of the supermarkets whose owners flatter her, spoil her and hire psychologists to study her in depth.

SOMETIMES STUPID

They also suppress the information that she is irrational and sometimes downright stupid. A food product, advertised for 14 cents, wasn't selling. A smart store owner changed the price to two for 29 cents and business boomed.

The federal government throws an enormous protective shield around the American woman to keep her from being gypped and, in a minority of cases, to save her from her own folly.

There are 35 federal departments and agencies which in some fashion or other are charged with protecting the consumer.

They include such unlikely organizations as the office of civil and defense mobilization and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

THICK REPORT

Some time ago Congress called upon them to explain what they are doing for the consumer and the subsequent hearing ran into enough words to fill a thick volume.

Whatever they were doing, President Johnson didn't think it was enough. Early in February he sent a special message to Congress dealing with the problems of the consumer and asking for 10 new laws to build additional defenses against persons and firms which defraud the buyer.

"The antiquated legal doctrine 'let the buyer beware' should be superseded by the 'let the seller make full disclosure' ", Johnson said, and added this list of basic consumer rights:

- The right to safety.
- The right to be informed.
- The right to choose.
- The right to be heard.

He referred to the labels on goods as "silent salesmen" and said they should be "simple, direct, visible and accurate."

CAN'T FIND IT

"All too often she cannot find such labeling today," he added. "The shopper ought to be able to tell at a glance what is in the package, how much of it there is and how much it costs."

Laws are never more effective than the persons who enforce them, and the President wanted somebody to be his eyes and ears in the stepped-up campaign to protect the consumer.

He chose a human dynamo named Esther Peterson and named her special assistant for consumer affairs.

★ ★ ★

The fact that she already had a full-time job as assistant secretary of labor gave no pause to either the President or Mrs. Peterson. She will continue to work at both jobs.

RULES SCRAPPED

Mrs. Peterson, mother of four, gets so much work done by scrapping the rules that most women live by.

"Some of them take hours to get dressed," she said. "I can dress and get downstairs in 15 minutes, but, of course, I might not look as well as some others."

Due to attend a formal banquet one night, she worked so late she didn't have time to go home and get into an evening gown.

★ ★ ★

She borrowed one from a friend, made some adjustments with pins, attended the banquet, returned the evening dress and went back to the Labor Department to clean up some work.

GENERAL STORE

She said the other day that she would like to return the American consumer to the days of the general store. You could ask the owner about a product and get a truthful answer and a fair price.

That is impossible, of course, in these days of mass production and distribution, but Mrs. Peterson intends to give it a good try.

You don't have to go any farther than the Republican cloakrooms of Congress to hear that all this agitation about the consumer is a neat trick to pick up votes in the presidential election.

Mrs. Peterson plans a national speaking tour.

★ ★ ★

She is a devoted Democrat and knows how to handle audiences small and large.

★ ★ ★

Mobil Economy Run Ends in New York

Everybody's talking about their cars and how they performed in the Mobil Economy Run

We'd like to talk about our teen-age crew

This year, Chevrolet chose twenty teen-agers to drive its nine-car entry in the Mobil Economy Run. This marked the first time in the Run's history that non-professional drivers had been selected to crew an entire team of cars.

The Chevy Teen Team was chosen through the Junior Achievement program, and came from ten major U.S. cities. They are 18- and 19-year-old college students and secretaries, telephone operators and store clerks. For six weeks prior to the start of the Mobil Economy Run, these teen-age drivers were put through a rigorous training schedule at Arcadia, California. Then they set off on the 3,500-mile Los Angeles-to-New York trek.

Why did Chevrolet rely on twenty teen-agers in an event as tough as the Mobil Economy Run? Because Chevrolet has faith in America's teen-agers, as good drivers and responsible individuals. And we wanted to give them a chance to prove it, in front of the entire nation.

And prove it they did. The Chevy Teen Team came through with flying colors. They showed that the vast majority of America's 6.5 million licensed teen-age drivers are intelligent, capable drivers.

We're proud of the Chevy Teen Team. They set a standard of driving skill and common sense anyone would be glad to follow.

The Corvair, Chevy II's, Chevelles and Chevrolets driven by the Chevy Teen Team in the Mobil Economy run did remarkably well compared with the class winners in overall miles-per-gallon figures. The final results are a tribute to the high degree of driving skill displayed by the Chevy Teen Team representing the youth of America.

Seek to Restore Theater Where Lincoln Was Shot

EDITOR'S NOTE — One of the most famous spots in America doesn't even begin to resemble how it looked when it gained its place in history. If current efforts succeed, however, it may once more look as it did when Abraham Lincoln went there for relaxation — and met his death.)

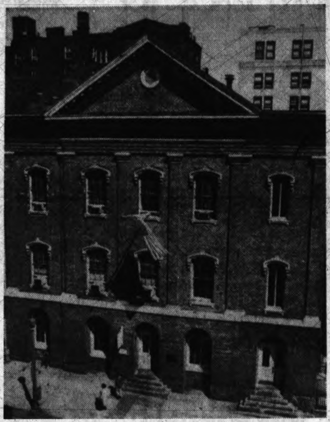
By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ninety-nine years ago Tuesday, the curtain went down at Ford's Theatre with an awful finality. That was the night it became the most famous—or most infamous—theater in America.

★ ★ ★

The curtain stayed down. The building was never again used as a theater. It was stained forever that night with the blood of President Abraham Lincoln, assassinated while he sat in its presidential box and watched its last play.

But now, there is a strong and possibly winning campaign well under way, with considerable support in Congress, to restore the building to what it was the night John Wilkes Booth shot Lincoln.



AP Photofax

AFTER 99 YEARS — This is a present-day exterior view of Ford's Theatre where President Lincoln was assassinated almost 99 year ago. The outside is almost the same as it was in 1865, but the interior has no semblance to a theater — it is just a flat storeroom spotted with glass cases and lined with relics and posters for sightseers. Efforts are being made to get congressional approval for funds to restore the building, inside and out.

There is no hope that it can be restored by the time of the centennial of the assassination, April 14, 1965. That had been a target date until a few years ago.

But Col. Randle B. Truett, National Park Service historian, a dedicated and enthusiastic supporter of the restoration dream; says "We don't have the money — about $2 million — but we will.

"It's worth doing and worth doing right.

"We're ready to go, once Congress gives us the money. Plans have been drawn. We now have a most detailed historial report on the theatre.

"The restoration will be to a complete theater, not just the presidential box, but all the seats, in the orchestra, in the dress circles, everything. Even the box office."

There is some difference of opinion as to whether the building should be turned into an active playhouse, in view of the tragedy it symbolizes.

As Truett put it:

"We view it as a national memorial to Lincoln and as such, the use of it would call for a certain restraint."

A fantastically detailed and complete description of the theater has been put together in a book by Dr. George J. Olezewski, park service historian.

★ ★ ★

The site was originally occupied by a Baptist church built in 1833. Its physical properties —it could accommodate musical concerts as well as sermons —attracted John T. Ford, a theater man from Baltimore, when he came here in the fall of 1861 seeking a location for theatrical purposes.

Ford leased the building for five years, beginning Dec. 10, 1861.

Lincoln first attended a concert at the theater May 28, 1862 when it was known as Ford's Antheneum.

Just before 1862 ended, a disastrous fire left only the blackened walls standing. A more elaborate building was built, called "Ford's New Theatre," on the same spot, and opened for business Aug. 27, 1863.

Lincoln attended just once in 1865. It was the evening of Good Friday, the stars were Harry Hawk and Laura Keene and the show was "Our American Cousin," a trifle described in the handbills as an eccentric comedy.

climbed the stairs to the dress circle, walked through a passageway and slipped into the unguarded presidential box.

In the darkness, he moved behind the President who was sitting in a rocker. He fired the fatal shot, and in the excitement, leaped to the stage, ran out a back door, jumped on a horse and escaped. Booth was hunted down and shot dead 12 days later in a Virginia barn.

IMMEDIATELY AFTER

The theater was closed immediately after Lincoln's death, which came in a house across the street at 7:22 a.m., April 15, 1865.

★ ★ ★

After the hanging of three men and one woman convicted as Booth's conspirators, Ford received official permission to reopen his theater. He sold 200 tickets in advance. Ford also received anonymous threats advising him to stay closed.

The authorities took alarm and placed soldiers at the theater doors with orders to let no one in. Ford refunded the ticket purchasers' money. He never tried again.

Soon, the government took over the building, first by lease and then by purchase.

SECTION COLLAPSED

Tragedy came again in 1893 when a 40-foot section of the third floor front collapsed killing 22 Quartermaster Corps clerks and injuring 65 others. The building was never again used for much more than storage purposes.

In 1931 it was turned over to the Department of the Interior, and in 1932 the Lincoln Museum was opened on the first floor.

Boat Capsizes; Five Drown

DALLAS (AP) — Five persons, including one child, drowned Sunday when their boat capsized on wind - swept Lake Tawakoni about 35 miles northeast of here.

★ ★ ★

Three other children who were in the 14 - foot fiberglas craft when it spilled were rescued in the water by Thomas K. Harris, 48, of Dallas.

Harris said the party of eight was returning from a boat dock where it had bought minnows for fishing bait. It was not known exactly what caused the boat to overturn, but the lake was choppy due to winds up to 30 miles an hour.

The victims, all Dallas residents, were identified by Sabine River Authority officials as Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Thomas and their 4-year-old son, Darrell; Mrs. Ivan Tipton, about 30, and Jimmy Thompson, 40.

★ ★ ★

The bodies of Mrs. Thomas, the boy and Mrs. Tipton were recovered by nightfall.

Junior Editors Quiz on CIRCUSES

QUESTION: Who began the circus?

ANSWER: Although entertainers such as clowns, acrobats and jugglers have performed for people from the earliest times, it was the Romans who put on large public exhibitions in buildings and tracks called circuses.

There is a tradition that Romulus, one of the founders of Rome, produced the first circus. The Latin word "circus" means a race rather than a show, and in these races the emans a race rather than a show, and in these races the contestants were usually mounted on chariots.

"Circus" came from "circle" since the riders raced around a circular or oval ring.

After Rome, in the days of feudalism, strolling groups of actors and jugglers traveled between the castles and towns, and there were large fairs where such entertainers would congregate.

In 1768 the Englishman, Philip Astley, organized the first modern circus, beginning with trick riding exhibitions. The circus came to America about 1792, and while George Washington was president, he attended a performance of Rickett's Circus.

When Phineas T. Barnum brought the great elephant Jumbo he gave the modern circus idea its start, and it developed rapidly into the wonderful entertainment spectacle we have with us today.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color our circus picture. The big elephant should be light gray, but you could put bright orange on the ground and gay colors on the flags and other parts of the picture.

Possible Cure Seen

Hope in Fatal Baby Disease

Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO—Discovery of the reason why some babies fall sick and die of a short-circuiting nerve disease was reported today.

These babies cannot make a certain fatty chemical which makes up part of the insulation, known as myelin, around nerves. The nerves in effect short-circuit like an exposed electric wire.

One baby now is being fed extra amounts of the missing chemical. It is too soon to tell if this will prevent the inherited disease.

A similar chemical defect has been tracked down in another nerve disease of babies.

Infants with these fortunately rare diseases behave normally until about six months of age. Then they become weak, uncoordinated, spastic or suffer convulsions, and usually die by age 3 or 4.

The inherited chemical defects cause several diseases, including Niemann-Picks disease, Tay Sachs disease, and metachromatic leucodystrophy, or MLD.

The pinpointing of what goes wrong in MLD was described by Dr. John S. O'Brien of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, at opening sessions of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

This gigantic national meeting will hear more than 2,900 research reports between now and Friday.

Dr. O'Brien said he and associates had found in three infants dead of MLD strikingly reduced amounts of a long-chain fatty molecule that makes up part of the nerve insulation. The babies had inherited the inability to make this chemical, sphingolipids.

"For the first time, we have a chemical basis for abnormal myelination in one of these diseases. We predict that many related diseases of myelin formation may have a similar molecular basis," he said.

* * *

"In confirmation, we have recently found a similar chemical deficiency in Niemann-Picks disease."

A baby with MLD now is receiving extra amounts of a long chain fatty acid, lignoceric acid, in hopes that he can then produce the normal nerve insulation.

Whether this succeeds will not be known until this summer, Dr. O'Brien said.

Expert Panel to Probe Facets of Mental Health

What is the difference between mental illness and mental health?

How can one recognize the symptoms that indicate whether or not a relative or friend has a serious mental problem?

What facilities are available in our community to meet these problems?

These and other questions will be aired at a round table discussion on mental health at the Episcopal Churchwomen's meeting at Christ Church Cranbrook Tuesday at 1 p. m.

● Mrs. Ralph Wagner will be a member of the panel. A layman, she worked for two years in the office of a psychiatrist, has done volunteer work at the Pontiac State Hospital for eight years, and has served on the Oakland County board of Michigan Mental Health Society.

★ ★ ★

● Rev. John Wigle, rector of the Church of the Advent Orchard Lake, has also served on the same board for six years and is the current vice president of the chapter.

● Ellis Brown, principal of Ulysses S. Grant School in Ferndale has had practical experience in dealing with the problems of mental health.

● Dr. Richard Braun, clinical director of Pontiac State Hospital who has coauthored a number of articles in the American Journal of Psychiatry, and is a member of the American Psychiatry Association, completes the panel.

MODERATOR

Rev. Robert Patterson, assistant rector of Christ Church Cranbrook will serve as moderator.

This meeting will be open to anyone in the area who wishes to attend. Those who desire luncheon reservations should call the church office no later than 10:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Stop Discoloration

When storing white shellac after it has been opened use a sealed glass jar, rather than a metal can.

She Wore Housecoat for Bridge

By The Emily Post Institute

Q) A neighbor invited me and a few other women to her house to play bridge. The hostess wore a housecoat and some of the women thought she was not suitably dressed to entertain guests.

★ ★ ★

They said that a housecoat is all right when one is sitting at home with her own family, and if guests drop in unexpectedly, it would be perfectly all right to leave it on, but when guests are expected the hostess should wear a dress.

What is your opinion?

★ ★ ★

A) It depends on the housecoat. There are some very lovely ones and if the housecoat your hostess had on was attractive, I see nothing wrong in her having worn it at an informal bridge game in her own house.

Had she invited men and women to a dinner party, she should indeed have worn a dress.

Q) My sister and I are going to be married at a double wedding. My sister's fiance would like to wear a cutaway coat but my fiance who is not very tall, prefers a sack coat as he feels the cutaway coat will not be becoming.

Would it be proper for both bridegrooms and their respective best men to be dressed differently, or must they be dressed alike?

A) It would, of course, look nicer if they dressed alike, but this is not a must.

Q) I say the most important speaker at a formal dinner speaks last but there are some who say that it is proper and courteous for him to speak first. I would appreciate your settling this point.

★ ★ ★

A) You are absolutely right. The principal speaker always speaks last.

Protest Abby's Remarks

Bus Mishap Stirs Readers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: A few weeks ago, the following letter appeared in my column:

"Dear Abby:

"Today, while I was on a school bus, the driver hit a dog. All of us kids told him about it and he just said, 'I am aware of that.'

"He didn't even stop to see if the dog was dead or not. None of us kids could do a thing.

LOVES DOGS IN KOKOMO, IND."

★ ★ ★

I replied:

"DEAR LOVES DOGS:

"The bus driver should have stopped and done what he could for the poor animal.

"Had the driver been alone, the crime would not have been less, but to have set such a poor example for the school children is inexcusable."

Hundreds of letters poured in. Here are a few:

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Are you nuts or something? A school bus driver is prohibited by law from stopping his bus and getting off to leave his bus unattended.

That bus driver was only doing his job, and I think you owe him an apology.

BUS DRIVER IN MASON CITY, IA.

DEAR ABBY: I love dogs, but if one gets in my way when I am driving, it's his funeral.

My brother once put his brakes on suddenly to avoid hitting a dog on a highway, and he banged his mouth on the steering wheel, breaking off four healthy front teeth.

He came very close to involving two other cars in what could have been a serious accident

BURT F. IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ABBY: That bus driver was smart to go right on instead of stopping to care for the dog he hit in the road.

When I was young (and pretty stupid), I struck a dog on the highway. I stopped and tried to get the injured animal into my car so I could take him to the vet's.

He was slightly mad and, in his frenzy, bit me badly on the face. I had to have 16 stitches in my cheek.

That was 23 years ago, and I still carry a very ugly scar. Smart people don't go near injured animals.

They report them to the proper authorities at the first opportune moment.

LEARNED A LESSON IN KENT, O.

DEAR ABBY: If that bus driver in Kokomo had stopped to investigate the injured dog, can you imagine what could have happened if some of the school children followed him out of the bus to investigate also?

Perhaps the bus driver would have been responsible for a couple of dead children.

MOTHER OF SIX

DEAR ABBY: Although the bus driver did the right thing in not stopping, I think he could have said more than, "I am aware of that" when the children told him he had hit a dog.

★ ★ ★

Had he explained that he could not stop, but would report the accident as soon as he got the children to their destination, he would have put the children at ease and not have given them the impression that he didn't care whether he had killed a dog or not.

Gal Reporter Covers Wrestling

By MADELEINE DOEREN

The female of the species is deadlier than the male and in professional wrestling is certainly no exception!

Unaccustomed to ringside reporting, our coverage of the main event, a women's match, Saturday at the National Guard Armory, was a switch from tea-with-lemon affairs for the women's pages.

★ ★ ★

Blonde, blue-eyed Mona Baker of Louisville, Ky. won two falls in the three-fall match, defeating Olga Martinez of Houston, Tex.

In a pre-bout dressing-room chat we asked about the man with 'inspector' on his arm band. Did he check the lady grapplers for hidden plates (steel plates, that is) before they entered the ring?

Miss Baker, completing necessary paper work, was highly amused at this and explained that he checked the state licenses, physician's reports, contracts and details required by the State Boxing Commissioner.

Not at all of Dagmar proportions, Mona, who is 30 years old and five feet, five inches tall, weighed in at 140. Olga, in her early 20's, weighs 151 pounds.

WHY WRESTLERS

What makes these women 'tick' and how do they get into this field?

The primary reason, as anyone could guess is money. Mona, in her 14th year as a wrestler, earns from $25,000 to $30,000 a year, averaging five bouts a week.

After deducting fees for her manager-trainer and traveling expenses, she nets between $15,000 and $20,000.

MONA BAKER

TWO DAUGHTERS

Love of her life, next to the ring, are her daughters. Would the 11-year-old 'eye' the ring? We were assured that she won't. She wants to enter a convent.

The four-year-old suffers from a blood disease.

★ ★ ★

Mona became interested in the ring through midget wrestlers, frequent visitors at her father's home. After high school, she began serious training, 12 hours a day, six days a week for six months.

For her first bout in Gaston, Ala. Mona was paid eight dollars.

★ ★ ★

Olga Martinez received her early ring training in her native Mexico City where she did some knuckle-fighting.

Two men's events preceded the women's match.

After the initial sickish feeling with the relentless pounding, hair-pulling and eye-gouging, you get used to it.

At times the mighty men aren't even in the ring. They fly through the air with the greatest of ease and land plump in someone's lap or on the floor. Women are not allowed in the first row at ringside. That figures!

FAMILY NIGHT

The crowd was not unlike family night at the YMCA.

Some 60 per cent were women and there were many Mexican families to cheer their countrywoman, an attractive brunette.

★ ★ ★

Entering the ring, Mona's red velvet jacket covered her black bathing suit. Olga was in midnight blue, with a blue satin sequined jacket.

The gals have a late breakfast, juice, English muffin and coffee. Dinner is at four with a salad or sandwich after the bout.

★ ★ ★

Miss Baker refrained from saying she had been interviewed by experts but said she had talked with Walter Winchell, Jack Paar and Dorothy Kilgallen. This was kind to our feelings!

★ ★ ★

"The more the audience cheers and boos, the better we like it," she said. "And you simply haven't lived until you have seen a seven-girl battle royal or a four-girl tag match."

These we gotta see!

Sally Lee Blosser and Robert Burnett Cain were wed at four o'clock Sunday in the Riverside Seventh - Day Adventist Church.

White chrysanthemums and Stephanotis graced the altar and the church parlors where 350 guests gathered for the reception.

Parents of the couple are the J. Sterling Blossers of Ramona Terrace and the O. Burnett Cains of East Brooklyn Avenue.

★ ★ ★

With her Chanel - inspired gown of white peau satin styled with chapel train, the bride wore a short bouffant veil and jeweled lace tiara. She carried white roses and Stephanotis.

FROM ILLINOIS

From Hinsdale, Ill. were her maid of honor, Sally Jackson and bridesmaid Eunice Tribout. Lou Ann Tousy of Suring, Wis. and Deloris Vaden also were bridesmaids, and Barbara D. Evilsizer, was flower girl.

With Charles Young of Clarkston, best man, were ushers Kelly Gray, Columbus, Ohio; Ted Breakie, Lake Orion, Jack Hipshur, Lawrence Townsend, Oliver Gray, Dennis Sulo and James Gray.

★ ★ ★

The couple will reside on West Chicago Avenue after a honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Cain is a graduate of the Hinsdale (Ill.) Sanitarium and Hospital School of Practical Nursing.

Comic Opera of Romance Finishes on Happy Note

ERIC W. ALLEN

Final presentation of Oakland University - Community Arts Council's season was the delightful comic opera, Rossini's "Barber of Seville."

Sung in English by the Turnau Opera Players, Saturday night's abbreviated work was cleverly staged with a minimum of props at Pontiac Northern auditorium.

Singing was excellent, action never faltered and the piano accompaniment made the audience forget there was not a full pit orchestra.

★ ★ ★

Count Almaviva's opening love rhapsody was well done by tenor Nicol Castel, and Figaro's famed self emulation quickly established Alan Barker as a scene stealer in that role.

The Count and Figaro dominate the first act, but Lucille Sullam, as Rosina, gave brilliant voice to the difficult coloratura aria in which Rosina vows to thwart her decaying guardian, Dr. Bartolo.

VILLAINY

Don Basilio, portrayed by Don Yule, was sinister and comic in his interpretation of "La Calunnia," expression of his plan to discredit the Count through slander.

Act two ended in hilarious madness and a splash of melody.

Rosina, Dr. Bartolo, the Count and Figaro were joined by Don Basilio and Berta, Bartolo's maid, for an ensemble of confusion and riotous accusation, settled only by appearance of an officer of the guard, Ward Pinnar.

MAID SCORES HIT

In her only aria of the opera, Carolyn Chrisman was excellent as Berta, the lonely housemaid, singing her opinions of lecherous old men, marriage and follies of life.

★ ★ ★

The opera concluded with a catchy and harmonious ensemble, with all the characters singing of their individual accomplishments as the plot comes to a happy close.

Truthfully, are credit union loans really low cost?

THEY CERTAINLY ARE . . . as 50,000 people —who borrowed over $50 million from Oakland County's 76 credit unions last year—can verify!

Credit union members usually enjoy the lowest loan costs obtainable anywhere, regardless of "quoted rates." They know the interest they are paying—just 1% per month on unpaid balance . . . pay interest only—no extra charges . . . with one rate to all—no sliding scale based on your credit rating or assets. And they often can get longer-term loans or extensions without penalty.

Most credit union borrowers receive interest refunds—often saving 10-20% more on loan costs. While repaying loans, they are covered by life and disability insurance at no extra cost!

The credit union, a true "economic friend," has more sympathetic understanding of borrowers' needs . . . is often the only place people can turn when real financial help is needed.

Credit unions are owned and run by the members—solely to serve peoples' needs . . . not to make a profit on them. People like you, your neighbor, fellow employees or club members.

Very likely you too can qualify for membership in a credit union. NOW is a good time to inquire about eligibility, for we'll also send you—

One GI Dead, 11 Injured in Fierce Viet Fighting

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A weekend of fierce fighting left one American soldier dead and 11 others injured, U.S. military authorities reported today. More than 100 South Vietnamese casualties were reported.

A crew member of a U.S. Army H21 helicopter was killed by Communist ground fire yesterday while it was carrying South Vietnamese troops during a battle in Chuong Thien province, near the southern tip of Viet Nam, 140 miles from Saigon.

The soldier was the 131st American killed in combat in Viet Nam. His name was withheld pending notification of his family.

Seven other U.S. Army men, including two officers, were wounded in the battle.

★ ★ ★

Vietnamese government forces suffered about 100 killed, wounded and missing in the day-long battle.

CONG BODIES

Thirty Viet Cong bodies were counted, and many more were believed to have been carried off.

American authorities said "numerous" Viet Cong were killed and 17 government troops were wounded in another fight 60 miles north of Chunog Thein, in Kien Phong province.

Viet Cong ground fire wounded a U.S. Marine aboard an H34 troop-carring helicopter in fighting 500 miles north of Saigon, near the North Viet Nam border, on Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Three U.S. Army enlisted men were injured by a terrorist guerrilla in front of their hotel in Tra Vinh, in the Meking Delta, Saturday. They returned to duty after treatment.

ACCIDENTAL BLAST

A U.S. Navy officer was injured in an accidental ammunition explosion near the North Viet Nam frontier yesterday. No details were given.

The Communists flaunted their control of the coastal town of Que Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon, by holding public soccer matches, informed sources said.

In Saigon, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, South Viet Nam's premier, assailed "teahouse intellectuals" for failing to support the fight to prevent the country from becoming "A small province of Communist China."

★ ★ ★

"I ask the intellectuals: What have they done, what sacrifice have they made to contribute to the fight against the Communists?" Khanh told a news conference yesterday.

The national yearly average of milk production per cow is 7,370 pints according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Jim Farley Is Bruised in Turnpike Accident

KEARNY, N.J. (AP) — James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman and first postmaster general in President Franklin D. Roosevelt's cabinet, suffered a bruised left wrist in a traffic accident.

A taxicab in which Farley was riding was hit from the rear by an automobile on the New Jersey Turnpike last night, police said. Farley, 75, declined treatment and was driven to his home in New York City.

Hawaii Convalescence for Wounded Envoy

TOKYO (AP)—Edwin O. Reischauer, U.S. Ambassador to Japan, will fly to Hawaii for an unspecified period of convalescence from a stab wound when he is discharged from a Tokyo hospital Wednesday.

Reischauer was stabbed in the thigh last March 24 by a mentally deficient youth. An embassy spokesman said the ambassador's doctors had advised the trip.

Wildcatters Return to Work on Coast

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A short - lived wildcat work stoppage by about 650 Southern Pacific switchmen in northern California ended yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The switchmen reported back to their jobs when a special workers' committee gave them assurances that progress in the nationwide rail dispute was being made.

★ ★ ★

The stoppage—in defiance of President Johnson's 15-day nationwide rail strike postponement — started Friday when the switchmen in Roseville reported sick. It spread to Oakland, Stockton, Martinez and Port Costa.

Pontiac Squad Fires 3,117 to Take First

Joe Foster, Rothbarth Pace Local Bowlers at Oakland

FOSTER

Special to The Pontiac Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — A Pontiac 300 Bowl team rolled into first place over the weekend in the regular team standings of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Another shakeup came in the classic division when the St. Louis Falstaff team moved into the lead with a record-breaking 6,416 total for six games.

The Pontiac squad, paced by Joe Foster, 35, a coach builder at GMC, turned in a 3,117 score, becoming the first team among the regulars to go over the 3,100 mark.

The team turned in games of 1,030-1,075-1,012 in ousting All-Coast Club of Seattle, the leader among the regulars since March with a 3,055 score.

ROTHBARTH

SINGLE TOTALS

Foster rattled the pins for a three-game total of 673. Les Rothbarth, 42, an insurance salesman, had 641; George Chicovsky, 40, a mortgage investigator, added 629; Larry Crake, 22, who operates the pro shop at 300 Bowl, tallied 589; and Bob Murphy, 25, construction firm superintendent, came up with 585.

Palmer 'Master' in All 4 Rounds

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Not so long ago, there was a golf champion everybody liked. He won the big tournaments and did impossible things.

Soon he was rich and famous. Then he didn't win any big tournaments or do any impossible things for a while, and people said he didn't know how to, anymore. They said he was too rich, and besides he couldn't putt like he used to.

Even Arnold Palmer heard the stories.

"The question mark was as big in my mind as in anybody else's when I stepped up to the first tee here," Palmer said, after he won his fourth Masters Golf Tournament over the Augusta National Course Sunday.

It was like checking out an airplane with new spark plugs. I wasn't sure how they would function."

ALL THE WAY

They worked. Palmer shot rounds of 69, 68, 69 and 70 for 276, and achieved the following results:

He led all the way.

He had the second lowest total in the 31-year history of the Masters.

He had the second largest victory margin, six strokes. Defending champion Jack Nicklaus was second at 282, along with touring pro Dave Marr.

He didn't three putt a green until the 10th hole of the final round, when the issue had already been decided.

★ ★ ★

He won $20,000 in prize money, and struck what should amount to a million dollar blow for Arnold Palmer Enterprises, which manufacture almost everything but baby food and caskets.

NEXT DRIVE

Palmer's next drive will be at the U.S. Open Championship, scheduled for Washington, D.C., in June. He won the Open in 1961.

And if he wins there, he will go on to try for the professional Grand Slam, which includes the British Open and the PGA.

"I started this year a little unhappy," Palmer said. "I didn't win a major championship last year, I won a lot of money and some tournaments, but no major championships. My ambition this year was to win one of them.

"And if I won one, to win two."

★ ★ ★

Palmer opened play Sunday with a five - stroke lead over young Australian pro Bruce Devlin, and six over Marr.

Nicklaus, the big Ohioan who won two of the four big titles last year just missed a third, had never got started in this tournament and was nine strokes back, after rounds of 71, 73 and 71.

Young Jack, the main threat to Arnie's throne, ripped off a final round 67, including a drive on the 15th hole that must have carried 350 yards.

It wasn't enough, of course, as Palmer stroked steadily to his 70.

Young Marr, who played a round he called "not very good, but interesting," scratched to within three strokes of Palmer at No. 10, but he dunked his tee shot into the water at the short 12th, and had to make a 25-foot twisting putt on the last hole to tie Nicklaus for second.

★ ★ ★

The putt was worth $2,000 to Marr, who would have collected only $8,000 for third if he had missed.

Marr said he had never made a putt worth that much. It cost Nicklaus $2,000, for he would have collected $12,000 if Marr missed. Nicklaus, who is almost as rich as Palmer, only smiled.

★ ★ ★

Devlin also made a small dent in the Palmer-Nicklaus money monopoly, with $6,100 for finishing fourth with a final 73 for 284. It was his biggest purse as a pro. "That sounds beautiful," he said, when informed of the total.

Gary Player of South Africa, the winner in 1961 who will have his tonsils out in Augusta today was among four players who finished at 286. The others were Paul Harey, Bill Casper and Jim Ferrier.

Old Ben Hogan, the Texas Hawk, at 51 flashing some of the form of old, finished with 287, on a final 72. He had a 67 Saturday.

Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak and Champagne Tony Lema also had 287.

Second Game Tuesday Night

Red Wings Lose on 'Perfect Play'

TORONTO (UPI) — The man who should know says the goal that gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 1-0 lead in games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup series with Detroit Red Wings was a "perfect play."

Bob Pulford scored with just two seconds remaining in regulation time to give Toronto a 3-2 win before 14,075 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night. The second game will be played here Tuesday night.

Red Wing ace Gordie Howe, the all-time scoring leader in National Hockey League playoff competition, described Pulford's unassisted breakaway goal as "a perfect play."

CHASED BY HOWE

Howe chased Pulford as the Toronto center raced in on Terry Sawchuk in the Red Wing nets and backhanded a shot into the upper corner at the 19:58 mark of the third period.

"Pulford had one stride on me," Howe said after the game. "But when he changed sides and went to his backhand he had me. It was a perfect play."

The 28-year-old Pulford, noted for his penalty killing and clutch scoring, said he didn't know how he got the goal.

★ ★ ★

"It was from about 20 feet out," he said. "I don't know how I got it, but any shot is good if it goes in. You don't think. You just take a quick look and shoot."

★ ★ ★

Sawchuk, who turned in a fine performance despite a troublesome pinched nerve in his shoulder, said the goal "appeared to be a high shot."

MIDDLE SHOULDER

Asked which shoulder the puck went over, the 34-year-old veteran scowled "what blankety-blank shoulder is there? It went over the middle shoulder."

Pulford's goal, his third of the playoffs, came with Leaf defenseman Allan Stanley in the penalty box.

He picked up a loose puck just outside the Detroit blueline after Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman skated away from it, each thinking the other was going to take it.

Captain George Armstrong scored the first two Leaf goals countering Red Wing markers in the first period by Bruce MacGregor and Howe.

Red Wing Coach Sid Abel was disappointed, but not downcast after the loss.

"We lost it, that's all," he said. "We played all right but we'll just have to regroup and play harder.

Toronto Coach Punch Imlach was not overjoyed with the win.

Jack Nicklaus on GOLF

THINKING • RIGHT •

THE LEFT SIDE IS THE SWING'S MAIN CONTROLLING FORCE, BUT RIGHT-HANDERS MAY FIND IT EASIER TO ARRIVE AT A CORRECT POSITION THROUGH-THE-BALL BY THINKING IN TERMS OF RIGHT SIDE ...FOR THE RIGHT SIDE MUST MOVE DOWN AND THROUGH AS THE LEFT MOVES OUT OF THE WAY FOR THE HIT.

IMAGINE PITCHING A SOFTBALL... THE RIGHT HAND PASSES CLOSE TO YOUR SIDE, THEN EXTENDS OUTWARD AS THE RIGHT SIDE MOVES IN. STRIVE FOR THIS POSITION IN GOLF.

DIES IN AVALANCHE — Wallace (Bud) Werner, U.S. Olympic veteran from Steamboat Springs, Colo., died yesterday under an avalanche of snow that thundered down Alpine slopes at Samedan, Switzerland. Werner is shown here as he clears a gate in the Eastern Slalom Championships March 15 at Stowe, Vt.

Hills' Miler Cracks Mark

Bob Richards of Bloomfield Hills can claim today that he is the prep miler in the midwest.

The 160-pound senior ran the fastest mile ever recorded in the Mansfield (Ohio) Relays Saturday. In doing so, he defeated the midwest's best preps in that event.

★ ★ ★

He cemented his position as the best in Michigan last week by copping the mile in the Michigan State Relays.

A new rubber base asphalt track was used at Mansfield for the 33rd running of the relays. Richards started on the inside and led all the way.

He crossed the finish line in 4:20.2, more than 10 yards ahead of his nearest competitor. The former mark was 4:21.

Birmingham Seaholm placed fourth in the field of 199 high schools from four states and Canada. The Maples scored 12 points.

Akron Smith took the team trophy with 18 points.

ANOTHER RECORD

Seaholm's medley relay team of Ron Fry, Howard Dubin, John Kingscott and Jamie Dennis broke a record. The quartet won in 1:47.3. Jim Olsen of the Maples was third in the mile and Seaholm's four mile relay team was third.

Bill Schoen of Seaholm ran a 1:57.5 half mile but could only finish fourth in the fast field.

Dave Linta Jr. of Mansfield Malibar pole vaulted 14-½ to break the record. Kettering's Jim Haviland was fourth at 12-6.

Orchard Lake St. Mary defeated Ann Arbor St. Thomas, 58½-50½, and Detroit St. Andrew, 97½-11½, yesterday in a double dual track meet at Orchard Lake.

Bernie Stech won the 100 in 10.8 and the 220 in 24.1 for the Eaglets. Frank Rompel took the broad jump in 20-3½ and placed second to Stech in both dashes.

St. Thomas downed St. Andrew, 79-30, in the other half of the double.

Waterford Our Lady of Lakes opened the 1964 track season yesterday, bowing to Detroit St. Thesresa, 74-35.

The Lakers' lone win came in the pole vault with Bob Schaffer turning in a first-place leap of 9-6. He also placed second in the high jump.

Terry Lilley ran second in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Cranbrook's baseball team closed out its spring training campaign yesterday in Cincinnati, splitting a doubleheader with Reading High School.

The Cranes arrived home last night, winding up a 10-day tour of the South in which they compiled a 2-2-1 record.

Cranbrook, behind the hitting of Bob Heavenrich and Larry Willey, took the opener, 6-1, but collected only two hits in dropping the nightcap, 8-0.

Steve Hanway went the distance in the opener, fanning six and walking three. Heavenrich and Willey led the attack with each collecting a triple and single.

Don Hoffman stopped the Cranes in the second game, giving up a triple to Guy Bramble and a single to Willey.

Hawks Even NBA Series

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks did everything right and the San Francisco Warriors did everything wrong Sunday night in the National Basketball Association playoffs and the score showed it:

St. Louis 123, San Francisco 95.

The outcome sent the clubs back to San Francisco to settle the Western Division best-of-seven final set Thursday. Each team has three victories.

The winner meets Boston, the Eastern Division playoff champion, in another best-of-seven series for the NBA title.

Probe in Britain

Soccer Scandal Erupts

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) —Police investigations start today into a soccer betting scandal that threatens a major disaster for Britain's national sport.

★ ★ ★

Soccer authorities launched their own investigation alongside the police probe. Football insiders were saying it seemed inevitable that several top players will be barred from the game for life.

The storm erupted with an article in The People, a Sunday newspaper with a circulation of five million, charging that a big money betting ring had corrupted nearly 30 players in its hunt for large profits.

THREE PLAYERS

The People named three players:

Tony Kay, Everton and former Sheffield Wednesday halfback, a key man in the England international squad.

Peter Swan, Sheffield Wednesday's center half and veteran of 19 international matches.

David Bronco Layne, Wednesday's high scoring center forward.

★ ★ ★

These three, The People said, backed Sheffield Wednesday to lose against Ipswich in a first division match in December 1962. Kay then still was a member of the Sheffield side.

Wednesday lost. The three players won heavily, but could do so, The People said, only because their bet was coupled with other matches which the betting ring had fixed.

★ ★ ★

This coupling with other matches was essential because under British rules bets on a single match are barred.

Sheffield Wednesday immediately suspended Swan and Layne and dropped them from tonight's match with Tottenham Hotspur.

BATTLE OF PITCHERS — Cincinnati Reds' pitcher John Tsitouris, (left), slides under White Sox pitcher Joe Horlen's tag to score on this third-inning play in Indianapolis, Ind., yesterday. The play followed a passed ball. The game, won by Chicago, 14-10, was a final tune up for both squads.

Senators Start Season

Traditional Openers on Tap Today

By United Press International

The tall, imposing figures of Lyndon Baines Johnson, a one-time first baseman, and Fred Hutchinson, a former pitcher, cast the dominating shadows today as the 1964 major league baseball season stirs to life with opening day games in Washington and Cincinnati.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Johnson assumes the honor — as nine U.S. Presidents have done before him — of tossing out the first ball in the nation's Capitol to officially herald the start of a new season.

For Hutchinson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds who as the oldest franchise in baseball have the traditional honor of opening the National League schedule at home, today is the first day of a long fight — not just to bring the Reds home first as he did in 1961 but to overcome the cancer which was detected in his chest last winter.

SENATORS MEET ANGELS

Johnson, who revealed last week that he had played a pretty mean first base in the Texas sandlots, will make the first pitch before an expected crowd of 44,000 in D.C. Stadium.

The hometown Senators, the perennial tailenders of the American League, tangle with the Los Angeles Angels, who finished ahead of only the Senators last year with a ninth-place finish.

The usual sellout crowd of 30,000 at Crosley Field will see the annual festivities.

The Reds — one of the National League's top pennant contenders — and the ninth-place Houston Colts.

All of the other 16 clubs open Tuesday with the American League running on a full daytime schedule.

The National League will split its four games between the day and night.

Johnson, who at 6-foot-2 and 187 pounds is built in the mold of classic first basemen, will be continuing a tradition begun by William Howard Taft in 1910.

After the ceremonies are concluded, Claude Osteen, a lefthander who established a 9-14 mark for Washington last year, will oppose the Angels' Ken McBride, a righthander who finished 13-12 in 1963.

MALONEY TO START

Hutchinson, a fiery competitor who is convinced he can lick the cancer and that his team can win the pennant, will send Jim Maloney, the fireballing righthander who compiled a 23-7 mark last year — one of the top records in baseball against the Colts.

Local Entries Take Titles

Pontiac entries picked up four titles in the Michigan State Table Tennis Championships held Saturday and Sunday at Cobo Hall in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Perc Secord successfully defended his esquire (over 50) division crown by stopping Graham Steenhoven of Detroit in games of 19-21, 22-20, 21-13 and 24-22.

Dick Kirby, 16, grabbed the junior novice division title, defeating Danny Ybema of Grand Rapids, 21-13, 21-12 and 21-18.

Ron Beckman defeated Ben Baker of Walled Lake in claiming the Class A men's singles crown for the second year in a row.

Baker, unruffled by the loss, teamed up with Jerry Saunders in winning the Class A doubles.

★ ★ ★

Pete Childs, 15, of Detroit mastered the field in taking the men's singles championship.

Regan Hurls Opening Day Against A's

Early Games in '64 Most With Clubs in Second Division

DETROIT (AP) — With one of the best opening season schedules in years, the Detroit Tigers begin their bid for the 1964 American League pennant Tuesday as host to the Kansas City Athletics.

The Tigers are in excellent position for a fast start this season. Only six of their first 18 games are against teams which finished ahead of them last year. Five of these are with Minnesota and the other with New York.

★ ★ ★

Detroit will play 44 games in the first two months of the season. Of these, 24 are against second division clubs, including Cleveland which tied the Tigers for fifth place in 1963.

Phil Regan and Orlando Pena were the scheduled starting pitchers for Tuesday's opener.

Regan, the Tigers' winningest pitcher last year with a 15-9 mark, was 3-1 against the A's and has a 6-3 career mark against them.

TIGER 'COUSIN'

Pena, 12-20 with K. C. last season, is 0-3 against the Tigers in his career. Two of the setbacks were suffered last season.

The Tigers were beaten 3-1 by Minnesota Sunday in their last warmup game before opening day. Willie Horton's double sent Billy Bruton in for Detroit's only run in the game at Knoxville, Tenn.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile Sunday, the Washington Senators bought pitcher Pete Craig whom Detroit put on waivers last week for $8,000.

Ironically, the first game of the season will give Detroit fans a look at the five players involved in the biggest off-season trade made in the majors.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Lumpe will start at second base for the Tigers, while Rocky Colavito will be in left for the A's. Sitting in the respective bullpens will be Detroit pitchers Ed Rakow and Dave Wickersham and K.C. reliever Bob Anderson.

TRADE TALK

The Tigers also will have new centerfielder Don Demeter, acquired from the Philadelphia Phillies in the trade for pitcher Jim Bunning and catcher Gus Triandos.

Willie Horton, the rookie hitting sensation of the two-month spring training season, probably will start in left. Despite a week's layoff because of a cut finger, Horton still paced the club in both home runs and runs batted in.

The Tigers have not won an opening day game since 1960, and have come out on top on only two occasions in the past eight seasons. Detroit won its first five games in 1960, dropped the next 10, and never got higher than fourth place after that and finished sixth.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Bud Shelton

Here's a baseball riddle you can win a bet on . . . How can a team get three triples and three singles in one inning, and still not score a run? . . . Answer: First two men triple and are out at the plate trying for an inside-the-park homer. Next man triples and stays at third . . . Next two men get infield singles with the runner holding third . . . Last man smacks a ground ball that hits runner going from first to second . . . Batter gets credit for a hit, but runner is out, making three triples, three singles, three outs . . . and no runs!

Here's a real sports teaser for you . . . Of all the heavyweight boxing champions in history, only one ever attended college . . . Can you guess which one? . . . Many people might say Gene Tunney, but that's not right . . . The only heavyweight champ who ever went to college was John L. Sullivan.

★ ★ ★

Did you know that the great Babe Ruth holds the all-time big league baseball record for striking out more times than anyone else? . . . Babe, famous for hitting home runs, also holds the strikeout record, proving that a man who "strikes out" many times can still succeed . . . Babe fanned a grand total of 1,330 times in the majors.

Oakland A Baseball Race a Tossup

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the eighth in a series of preseason roundups of county baseball teams. Today, the Oakland A League.)

The baseball race in the Oakland A League is rated a tossup.

That's the consensus of coaches in the loop who are whipping their teams into shape for the 1964 season.

Avondale won the 1963 title with an 8-3 record, and coach Edward Kalinowski and the Yellow Jackets have the personnel to turn in a repeat performance.

The big question at Avondale is pitching.

Senior Dennis Acker, ace of the staff last year, is nursing a sore arm and may be lost for the season. The hard-throwing right-hander also took a turn in the outfield and batted .309.

If Acker doesn't come around, it will put the pitching burden on the shoulders of junior Lynn Thorpe, Mike Meyer and John Tasker, a left hander.

Kalinowski has a lot of experience at all positions.

INFIELD

Handling the infield assignments will be Roger Hill (first), Frank Gregg or Bill Tremonti (second), Meyer (third), and Harry Bartowiak (shortstop).

Behind the plate will be Dick Reddaway, a junior, rated a top defender by Kalinowski.

Dick Williams, who batted .333 last season, will team with Thorpe, the leading hitter at .350, in the outfield. If Acker isn't available, Kalinowski will have the task of filling the other outfield post.

Troy has 10 lettermen returning from the squad that compiled a 4-7 record.

Heading the returnees are pitchers Phil Ciesliga and George Lenivov. Both saw a lot of action and Ciesliga batted over .300.

Pitching may cause a headache for Chris Vlahakis at Fitzgerald.

The situation is such that Vlahakis will start catcher Glenn Cherup on the mound next week. The backstop hit .347 last year.

Other players returning with hot bats are shortstop Alan Rose (.427) and first baseman Cliff Dubowski (.315).

Rochester has a veteran team which could take all the marbles in the loop.

The pitching could be one of the team's strong points with senior lettermen Mike Konley, Steve Kendrick and Tom Reid sharing the duties.

An experienced mound crew could also make a winner of coach Frank Kownacki and the Dragons at Lake Orion.

Returning from the '63 squad are southpaws Bill Jackson and Dave Phillips, who share the pitching assignments with right-handers Jon Cucksey and Ron Stallings.

BATTING PUNCH

Infielder Herb Mattis, Cucksey and Stallings are counted on to provide the batting punch.

Madison may be short on pitching. The Eagles will turn the mound chores over to newcomers John Firetto, Benny Wright and Mike Jacobs.

Warren Cousino and Clawson have veteran teams returning and both are considered strong challengers.

Clawson coach Bob Hamilton started a baseball building program three years ago and he will get an idea of the success of the move with this year's team.

★ ★ ★

Hamilton has the winning combination — pitching and hitting.

Paul Kedrow, Tom Robson and Stacy Schrader will handle the mound work, and outfielder Jack Ahlfeld (.350) and first baseman Bill Kerr (.300) will carry the hitting load.

Parnelli Jones Wins USAC Midget Race

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Race driver Parnelli Jones warmed up for the Indianapolis 500 on Memorial Day by running off with the 50-mile USAC midget feature here.

The race was stopped Sunday during the 35th lap while attendants cleared dirt off the newly paved track, then Jones, who had the lead from the 20th lap, went on to win.

Tigers' Demeter Strong in Faith

Christianity isn't a hobby for Don Demeter, who will be in a Detroit Tiger uniform tomorrow for the first time when the Bengals open the season against the Kansas City Athletics.

The lanky outfielder, whose prize possession is a collection of 80 Bibles, says, "I'd hate to think of what I would have become if it weren't for the word of the Bible."

★ ★ ★

Demeter, who is an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, is devoutly religious, and he strongly gives testimony about what the church has meant to him during his life.

He admits that the person who has impressed him most in his life is Billy Graham and all during last winter, he followed somewhat in Graham's footsteps when he and Bob Richardson, another religiously devoted baseball player, toured through several states preaching the word of God. Two years ago the pair were in Japan preaching.

"People in Brooklyn always thought I was studying to be a preacher," said Demeter, "but I merely had many friends who were preachers and I think it's the greatest thing in the world. I wish I had been called to preach, as I believe that the Bible is the word of God."

Demeter uses his own early life as a case for God. He came out of a broken home. His parents were divorced and he recalls the many troubles he was in during his childhood.

★ ★ ★

"When I was 13, I stole a case of beer off the back of a truck. I thought that was the thing to do, I saw adults doing it," he said.

"I would steal hub caps, I'd steal from supermarkets. I never destroyed any property, but I never had any feeling against taking it," he added.

MOVED AWAY

It was when he went from Denver to live with his grandparents in Oklahoma City he began to straighten out.

★ ★ ★

He met George Stevens, superintendent of the Baptist Church there and "this is when I became a Christian," he said.

★ ★ ★

"At first I was critical of their lives and I was trying to find things to prove they were wrong, but then I saw them as a family get down on their knees and pray."

★ ★ ★

Demeter still gets down on his own knees. "There's no other way to go," he says. "The Lord means it when he says he will give you health and strength."

★ ★ ★

"I don't know if this is a story," Demeter told writer Milton Gross, "but if you don't understand me, I'll tell the key. Whatever has happened to me is because I had faith to believe."

THIS WAY, BALL — In her pigeon-toed jutting stance, Sandra Haynie of Phoenix, Ariz., might look like a hitchhiker, but she's really talking to the gold ball she just putted and showing it the direction to take. Miss Haynie won the $7,500 LPGA tournament in Baton Rouge, La., yesterday with a total of 211.

Sandra Haynie Gets 4th Win

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Blonde, bespectacled Sandra Haynie is $1,200 richer today after she breezed home a five-stroke winner in the $7,500 Capital City Open.

The petite, suntanned lass from Phoenix, Ariz., dropped a 28-foot uphill putt on the 18th green Sunday to close out with a final round 73. She had a 211 total for the 54-hole tourney.

It was the fourth LPGA victory for the 20-year-old putting whiz, whose last top finish came in 1963 when she won the Thunderbird tourney in her hometown.

Ortiz Looks for Foe After Whipping Lane

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz, fresh off an impressive title defense against Kenny Lane, is expected to choose his next challenger within a month.

★ ★ ★

Bill Daley, manager of tht Puerto Rican-born New Yorker, said today that Ortiz is considering three possible opponents. He has been offered $100,000 to defend against featherweight champion Sugar Ramos in Los Angeles and $60,000 to fight Willy Quatier in Berlin or Johnny Bizzardo in Pittsburgh.

CLOSE CALL

Quatier is the German lightweight champion and Bizzarro is the Erie, Pa. boxer who gave Lane a close call in the challenger's last fight before he met Ortiz last Saturday.

Lane, the Muskegon, Mich., left - hander who had campaigned for his shot at the crown while Ortiz met other challengrrs, left for home Sunday after fumbling his second, and possibly last, title fight.

"I should have jumped him. I waited too long to get going," said Lane. "If I had pressed the fight, he would have run out of gas."

★ ★ ★

Ortiz, scornful of the challenger who was forced upon him by the World Boxing Association, called Lane 'overrated."

"He ran all night. If he had fought, I would have knocked him out," said the champion. Lane was down for no count in the 14th round.

★ ★ ★

The WBA had threatened to lift Ortiz' title if he did not meet Lane, who lost his other shot at the lightweight throne to Joe Brown in 1958. The bout was his third against Ortiz and second loss to the champ.

Hardwick Collects Big PBA Check

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Kegler Billy Hardwick has a $4,000 bonus for his bank account Monday after winning first prize in the Professional Bowlers Association Southern California open tournament.

Hardwick, 22, of San Mateo, Calif., won the final match easily Saturday after starting the round with four straight strikes against Andy Marzich, of Redondo Beach, Calif. The score was 235-217.

Third was Ray Bluth, of St. Louis, and Johnny King of Chicago took fourth.

April 20 Candidates for City Commission

District 1

T. Warren Fowler

FOWLER

Founder and president of Pontiac electrical and heating firms, T. Warren Fowler Sr., 57, of 59 Lake is a veteran member of the Pontiac Police Trial Board and former director of the Pontiac Urban League.

Married and the father of three, Fowler is a trustee of Newman AME Church and is active in the NAACP.

This is his first attempt to gain a City Commission post.

His statement:

"Having lived in the City of Pontiac for the past 36 years I have become aware of many problems facing the city as a whole.

"I would like to bring to your attention several problems which I think should be given immediate consideration. We should:

● "Attempt to speed the progress of our urban renewal program; therefore increasing the tax base and providing increased revenue.

● "Increase the number of police personnel to aid in the reduction of crime and increase in traffic safety.

● "Increase the number of neighborhood recreation programs and improve lighting facilities for secondary streets.

● "Provide adequate activities for senior citizens of Pontiac.

"The next commission should give its full cooperation to groups and organizations working on the problems of bringing new industry and business concerns into our city. Every possible consideration should be given to such concerns interested in locating in Pontiac.

"If elected commissioner from District 1, I will contribute all my abilities to the solution of these problems facing our city."

Rollie L. Jones

JONES

Married and the father of four, Rollie L. Jones, 46, of 212 Bondale is seeking election to the City Commission for the first time.

His statement:

"To those who were not concerned in the primary and will be in the general, I will brief you on who I am and why I entered this election.

"I am a mathematics teacher in the Jefferson Junior High School, civic worker, Christian leader and Sunday school teacher at Trinity Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

"I coach basketball for Trinity and play at the YMCA. My past experience includes military service in Europe from 1942-45 as a staff sergeant, principal of schools, truant officer and math teacher.

"My qualifications include a B.A. Degree, superintendent's certificate and Master's Degree in Education with additional work toward a doctor's degree at Wayne State University.

"The 761st Tank Battalion and Allied Veterans Assn. felt that I was the man for the position, and if they had that much confidence in me, I had to say yes.

"May I express my gratitude to all voters of District 1, and pledge my support to the city at large if I am elected commissioner — a pledge of my continued effort toward making Pontiac a better place to live.

ALL MAY SPEAK

"Any citizen with a problem should be heard. His problem could mean very little to you, but important to him or her.

"Let's help our citizens solve some of their problems, and if we cannot solve them, we can discuss them together."

District 2

Allan J. Denham

DENHAM

A native of Pontiac, Allan J. Denham, 49, of 93 Oriole has been a GMC Truck & Coach Division employe for 24 years, currently as a process engineer. He is seeking his first political office.

Denham is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and completed night courses sponsored by General Motors Tech. Married and the father of three children, he is currently a member of the Webster School PTA.

He is a Junior Achievement advisor and active member of First Congregational Church.

His statement:

"The City Commission will be confronted with many serious problems in the next few years. All of us will sacrifice together to complete this huge undertaking.

"It will certainly be the duty of the commission to work more closely together to overcome the problems that will arise in the redevelopment of downtown Pontiac and encouragement of industries to locate here.

"The rebuilding of the residential area, with modern houses and apartments to make the city attractive for all, is also vitally needed.

"I, for one, want to see this program completed as soon and efficiently as possible, with the hope of reducing the tax rate.

★ ★ ★

"The first objective of the new commission should be to engage a new city manager with executive and administrative qualifications and past experience to assume the responsibilities of this program, without interference, as provided in the City Charter.

★ ★ ★

"If elected, I pledge my support and cooperation to this platform."

Robert C. Irwin

IRWIN

A native of Pontiac, Robert C. Irwin, 34, of 435 W. Iroquois is a Pontiac real estate broker and immediate past president of the Pontiac Board of Realtors.

Married and the father of two, Irwin is a graduate of Pontiac public schools and Michigan State University.

He has served on the City Planning Commission since September 1962.

His statement:

"If elected, I would like to work toward the following objectives.

● "Closer cooperation between the commissioners of the seven districts.

★ ★ ★

● "Remove the interference of city commissioners from various departments and reaffirm the department heads' responsibility to the city manager.

TRAINED MANAGER

● "Select a trained, capable, city manager to assume the administration of the city.

● "Promote the City of Pontiac and its development.

"The job of promoting Pontiac and its development is a formidable task. The new commission must encourage the redevelopment of land currently vacant due to urban renewal.

★ ★ ★

"We must promote stability in city affairs to present a favorable climate which will, in turn, encourage outside business, industry, commerce, and residents to consider Pontiac as a good place to live and work.

★ ★ ★

"At the same time, we must not forget to keep promoting and encouraging established business and industry so that they may continue to advance and prosper."

Philip R. Sauer

WRITE-IN SAUER

A former mayor of Pontiac, Philip R. Sauer, 55, of 59 Monroe is seeking election to the District 2 commission seat as a write-in candidate after losing the nomination by four votes March 2.

Sauer is married and has been a prominent restaurant owner and operator in Pontiac for many years. A Pontiac resident since 1920, Sauer is a graduate of Pontiac public schools.

He attended Babson Institute, Wayne State University and completed two years at the Detroit College of Law.

★ ★ ★

His statement:

"I am running strictly as an independent candidate and will absolutely not align myself with any special interest group.

"Pontiac is at a crossroad where sound policy for the good of the entire city must be formulated to insure immediate development of the city. Pontiac's tax base must be rebuilt, but not at the expense of the taxpayers.

"Confidence in city government has diminished in the past two years. It must be restored. I strongly believe the best possible city manager available should be secured and that he be supported by the commissioners.

★ ★ ★

"Administrative duties should be left to administrative officers. I feel my past commission experience will be extremely important in securing action, which will give Pontiac residents the stability and confidence in local government which they so desire and deserve."

"Also, if elected, I promise to devote immediate attention to the present water rates being charged to homeowners."

District 3

Sam Gabriel

GABRIEL

Making his first bid for election to the City Commission, Sam Gabriel, 30, is single and lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Efthim Gabriel at 257 Ottawa, almost next door to the District 3 incumbent.

Until recently, Gabriel was part owner of Sammy G's Lounge in Detroit.

However, the Detroit night club has been sold and he is currently in the process of investing in a business in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Gabriel attended Pontiac public schools and graduated from Michigan State University.

He was part owner and manager of Gabriel Super Market, 3843 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, from 1958 to 1961.

★ ★ ★

His statement:

"To serve well is to meet inertia with accomplishment, not complaint; to meet undesirable programs and ideas with better programs and ideas, not strife; to seek out the welfare of the city rather than the altar of personal egotism; to attempt to bring harmony out of disharmony in order that progress can be made.

"The tools of such an approach are research, analysis and a sufficient allocation of time to the office.

"These tools are available to all, but to date have suffered underutilization.

★ ★ ★

"We all want a beautiful, safe, affluent city graced with good schools, adequate public services and other features that will give us pride, inspiration, and added happiness by living within her boundries.

"This can only be accomplished with study, hard work, energy and foresight, the four planks of my platform."

William H. Taylor

TAYLOR

Incumbent District 3 Commissioner William H. Taylor, 48, of 247 Ottawa is seeking a third term on the City Commission.

A Pontiac Motor Division employe for 30 years, Taylor is presently assistant national advertising manager, a position he's held since 1955.

His statement:

"In asking for the support of the citizens of Pontiac for re-election, I can truly say I've enjoyed serving as your commissioner.

"I will continue to take a definite stand on all issues, especially on those giving Pontiac the most progressive, yet prudent, advantages to fully utilize its tax dollars.

"I believe our main concern should be to change the public image of our growing and prospering city and to restore confidence in our city government.

"Working with the commission, I would hope our first task will be to secure the most qualified and proven city manager to lead our administrative staff. I pledge to support such a manager in efforts of efficiency and savings in all departments and programs to effect a stabilized tax millage.

★ ★ ★

"I will also support a program which would remedy existing wage inequities as well as a program which would put added stress in promoting qualified city employees according to established procedures.

'NEED NEW SPIRIT'

"We need a new spirit of cooperation and understanding between taxpayers, government, business and industry. Working together can accomplish our dream for a better city, and to this I will dedicate my efforts."

Dist. 4

Leslie H. Hudson

HUDSON

A former State Representative from 1955 to 1958, Leslie H. Hudson, 42, of 361 Gallogly is seeking election to the City Commission for the first time. He is a real estate salesman and owns and operates a hardware store.

Hudson was Democratic nominee for constitutional delegate in 1961. He is married and has four children.

★ ★ ★

His statement:

"Pontiac is faced with the problem of rebuilding our obsolete central shopping area, caused by the trend toward suburban urban living and the popularity of shopping centers. How fast we proceed rests on your decision to elect a qualified City Commission.

CREATE IMAGE

"The commission, manager, administrative staff and all municipal employes, through their combined efforts, must work to create the image, that through unexcelled service — Pontiac is a fine place to live.

"From this service, municipal employes have the right to expect a standard of living equal to that of industrial and surrounding municipal employes.

"With our municipal team united we shall then work to create long range redevelopment plans for vacant urban renewal lands and enlist the aid of all qualified persons. We will restore confidence and respect to our Police Department.

★ ★ ★

"We will improve garbage and trash collection, road grading, snow removal, repairs, recreational and all other services.

"We will find that in working together, Pontiac can be a place to be proud of and, after all, isn't this what we want?"

Dist. 4

Floyd P. Miles

MILES

A former commissioner for six years, Floyd P. Miles, 55, of 160 W. Columbia has been a Pontiac resident for 52 years and is part owner and operator of Christian Literature Sales and the Audio-Visual Center in Pontiac.

Miles is president of the Wever - Owen - Hawthorne - Alcott Community Club.

Married and the father of one son, he is chairman of the joint board of deacons, trustees and missions at First Baptist Church.

His statement:

"Call it what you will — a team, a slate or whatever you wish — Pontiac desperately needs, right now, seven men on the City Commission who will work together with the people to solve our problems. We must build a new 'Pontiac Image.'

"This does not mean that they will always agree. It does mean that each man can express himself and vote his convictions and still be agreeable.

"I believe the city should return to a genuine commission-manager form of government adopted by the people, and appoint a qualified city manager. I believe we can maintain adequate city services with no increase in taxes.

"Sufficient police and fire protection and recreation facilities should be available with adequate compensation for the personnel. To spend thousands of dollars for a library and then limit its use is poor judgment.

"Our tax base can be increased by revitalizing the downtown area and the quick return of urban renewal land to the tax roll. This will only come with renewed faith in your City Commission."

John A. Dugan

DUGAN

Former District 5 Commissioner and Mayor Pro Tem John A. Dugan, 55, of 363 Nelson is seeking election to the post he lost two years ago.

Dugan, a Pontiac Motor Division employe since 1928, is currently a gear setup man in the axle department. Married and the father of two sons, he is a member of Oakland Park Methodist Church.

An early participant in the labor movement here, Dugan is an active member of United Auto Workers Local 653.

Dugan was a veteran member of the commission when he lost in the 1962 commission election. He had been on the commission for eight years.

His statement:

"If our city government is to regain a high standard of efficiency, the most careful attention must be given to every city problem.

"If elected to represent the people of District 5 and serve the city as a whole as their commissioner, I will do everything within my power to see that these problems receive the attention they deserve.

"Having had eight years experience as a city commissioner, I feel qualified and obligated to serve again in that capacity.

"Pontiac is without a city manager or chief of police, and city government is in a state of confusion.

"To correct these conditions and return to the citizens of Pontiac the kind of government they so rightfully deserve, I will, if elected, insist on obtaining a qualified, experienced, and dedicated city manager as soon as possible.

"I will also not hesitate to seek the services of any former qualified public servant in an advisory capacity."

Robert R. McKeever

McKEEVER

A native of Flint, Robert R. McKeever, 38, of 442 Lowell is single, and has been a Pontiac Motor Division employe since 1948, the past 11 years as a repairman.

McKeever came to Pontiac in 1936 and is a graduate of St Michael's High School. This is his first bid for public office.

He is a member of the American Legion Cook-Nelson Post and a member and past financial secretary of the Knights of Columbus in Pontiac.

A member of the Pontiac Motor UAW Local 653, McKeever served as a UAW district committeeman from 1950 to 1954.

McKeever is a veteran of World War II. He served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1943 to 1946.

His statement:

"Every candidate for the City Commission as well as the entire electorate is aware of our immediate problems; namely the appointment of a qualified city manager, the solution as to who will head our police department, the need of fiscal reform, the redevelopment of urban renewal property and the necessity of a charter revision.

"Each subject warrants careful study, discussion and action.

"Space limitations will not permit my views to be expressed herein, but the big decision as to who will evaluate and settle these issues rests with each individual voter.

"One reason I entered the contest for city commissioner is my belief that public office is not for professional politicians."

"Rather, it is the duty and right of private citizens to correct any defects of the government."

District 5

Frederick H. Beedle

BEEDLE

Making his first bid for election to a public office, Frederick H. Beedle, 40, of 689 E. Pike edged the District 6 incumbent for nomination in the March 2 primary.

Married and the father of four, Beedle is a member of First Methodist Church.

He is a trimmer at the local Fisher Body Division plant and a real estate salesman for Smith - Wideman Realty.

Beedle is a member of the Longfellow School PTA, American Legion Chief Pontiac Post No. 377, and Fisher Body Local 596, UAW.

His statement:

"Pontiac stands today almost at the point of no return. Do we continue letting others say how we shall live, or do we return to self-government?

"We can be a first class city if the commission will adopt definite goals along with positive action. The problems of city manager and police chief can be solved, if the commission has the desire for good government.

"My objectives toward a platform are—

● "No new contracts on urban renewal.

● "Take our cleared land, dress it up, put a reasonable price on it and open development to all. We can attract development that will be an asset, but not by selling at discount prices.

● "No further airport expansion. It ceased to be a city airport long ago. Sell or lease as soon as possible to the county or private enterprise.

● "Encourage the commission to act as its own consultant. To ask for outside opinions is costly.

"I am confident that the new ideas and fresh thinking that I offer make me the best candidate."

Wesley J. Wood

WOOD

Former City Commissioner Wesley J. Wood, 58, of 11 N. Sanford led the field of District 6 candidates at the primary March 2 in his comeback attempt to regain the post he lost two years ago.

Wood was District 6 commissioner from 1958-62.

In addition to his four years on the City Commission, Wood served on the planning commission from 1960 to 1962.

He is a service follow up man at GMC Truck & Coach Division, where he has been employed for 22 years.

★ ★ ★

His statement:

"I believe this is not the time for experiment and that my past experience will prove that I will respect the wishes of the majority of the citizens of District 6 in accord with the city as a whole.

"I have always been honest and sincere in my dealings for the city in the past and will continue that policy in the future. I believe in honest representation in city government and will do my best to appoint only law-abiding citizens to all boards.

"Sound planning is required to insure continued progress and this can be accomplished with a competent city manager who will be manager in fact as well as title.

"All vacant urban renewal property should be filled as soon as possible to increase our tax base.

"I believe every effort should be made to change the garbage collection.

"Every citizen with a problem will be taken care of to the best of my ability. Completion of programs initiated during my tenure of office is my desire."

District 7

Robert A. Landry

LANDRY

Seeking his fourth term on the City Commission, Robert A. Landry, 50, of 47 Center has been mayor for the past two years and District 7 commissioner since 1958.

A senior clerk at the Fisher Body plant in Livonia, Landry is married and the father of seven. He is a member of St. Vincent De Paul Church and the Knights of Columbus.

His statement:

"Here are the reasons why Bob Landry's record has earned your support and your vote at the election next Monday.

● "1963 balanced city budget — first time in many years.

● "The Clinton River drain costs were removed as a city budget obligation and taken over by the county drain commissioner, saving the city budget $400,000 a year for the thirty-year period necessary to pay for the drain.

● "Cooperation with Pontiac industry for the expansion of a new foundry building for Pontiac Motor Division, needed for increased demands for Pontiac cars.

● "Adequate water supply made available for Pontiac citizens and Pontiac industries.

● "New parking lot for Pontiac General Hospital, relieving traffic congestion in the neighborhood.

● "Improved traffic enforcement, radar installations, reducing speed and accidents.

● "Perimeter road opened ahead of schedule to public use, except two short sections, with costs paid by the state totaling approximately $1 million.

● "Commencement of two new housing projects, one commercial development and two civic center additions for development of the urban renewal area totaling $2.5 million."

Curtis L. Webb

WEBB

A storekeeper at GMC Truck & Coach Division, Curtis L. Webb, 30, of 294 Judson is making his first bid for public office.

He is also employed as a real estate salesman for Saunders & Wyatt Realty, is a licensed cosmetologist and owns a local beauty salon.

Married and the father of six, Webb is a trustee of Liberty Baptist Church and is active in the McConnell School Parent-Teacher Association.

★ ★ ★

A native of Minden, La., Webb moved to Pontiac 12 years ago and has been employed by the local Truck & Coach Division for 11 years. He works in the stock and materials department.

His statement:

"My basic reason for seeking the office of commissioner of District 7, is that I believe that I can be of service to city government in Pontiac.

"If elected, I shall strive to adequately represent the citizens of my district and the City of Pontiac.

"I shall strive towards successful completion of the urban renewal program and work to create a more effective public safety program for the citizens of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

"I will attempt to stimulate a more favorable business climate in the downtown area, and seek methods of improving community relations throughout the city.

"I appreciate the support given me by the voters in District 7, qualifying me for the general election.

"I pledge to the citizens of Pontiac, as I have to the citizens of my district, sincere efforts to improve the City of Pontiac, if I am elected commissioner."

Emmett S. Wellbaum

WRITE-IN

WELLBAUM

A Pontiac Motor Division employe since 1945, Emmett S. Wellbaum, 58, of 269 Seward is currently a purchased parts inspector. Formerly he was a technical writer and worked in the traffic department for Pontiac Motor.

He is making his second bid for a City Commission seat. He was an unsuccessful candidate in District 1 in 1952.

Wellbaum is married and the father of five.

Having attended Baylor University, Wellbaum has an extensive background of business experience. He is a member of Pontiac UAW Local 653.

★ ★ ★

His statement:

"The present commission led by Mayor Landry stated they were 'going to run this city'. Their public record indicates attempts to supress information and interference with administrative responsibility. The 'Pontiac Image' suffered.

"Urban Renewal and other improvements are saddled with excessive costs and political red tape. Services have deteriorated. Attention to individual complaints received only lip service. The people are tired of this record and the attitude of Mayor Landry.

"District 7 needs experienced representation; a man with comprehensive knowledge of the structure of city government. This I have, dating back to 1948.

★ ★ ★

"Emotionalism should not rule Pontiac's development. We are confronted with numerous complex problems, requiring constructive action by a competent commission and responsible administration."

Evidence Links Man to the African Ape

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK — An informed view of the accumulated scientific evidence holds that man is an African ape.

★ ★ ★

Therefore, according to this view, man should now admit the other African apes, the gorilla and the chimpanzee, to the separate family he assigned to himself in classifying living things.

Man's family is hominidae. The gorilla and the chimpanzee now belong to the family, pongidae.

If there are reassignments, hominidae would no longer be unique and only the orang-utan and the gibbon, which are Asiatic apes, would be left in pongidae.

★ ★ ★

The scientific evidence backing this view stems largely from studies of the proteins of blood serum.

GENETIC CONTROL

These are under "genetic control," that is their chemical natures are dictated by the genes of heredity.

The serum proteins of dissimilar creatures cannot be alike or even similar.

These studies show that the serum proteins of man, gorilla and chimpanzee are similar but those of the orang-utan and the gibbon are decidedly different.

★ ★ ★

Not only do they differ from the man-gorilla-chimpanzee proteins — they differ from each other.

TECHNICAL JOURNAL

All this formed the view of the editors of the technical journal, "The Lancet," which has high prestige in the world of science.

It makes complete scientific sense to assume man and all the apes acquired their original serum proteins from a common ape ancestor.

But the new evidence, as the editors interpreted it, shows man "to have been one with the gorilla and chimpanzee long after the orangutan, and still more the gibbon, had diverged."

It's true that in structure and function, man evolved "far and fast" in comparison with the chimp and the gorilla.

COMMON ANCESTRY

Nevertheless these apes are "close" to him, and in terms of common ancestry, man, chimp and gorilla are "approximately equidistant from each other."

Other new evidence comes from science's new ability to count and study the chromosomes in cells.

These bear the genes of heredity and so are vital in any argument over ancestry.

The editors said that superficially this evidence seems to contradict the serum - protein evidence.

UNIQUE FAMILY

Man classed himself as unique family out of "understandable egotism."

It can be justified by the evolutionary "adaptation of the lower limbs to bipedalism, in adaptation of the upper limbs first to tool and weapon using and later to tool-making in reduction of jaws and teeth, and most recently in increase in brain size."

By OSWALD JACOBY

I have just received the quarterly report on the American Bridge Teachers Association. Not only is it brimful of material that should be valuable to teachers, but there is plenty of good stuff for columnists. Of course, columnists are also teachers, or at least they should be.

JACOBY

Hazel Files of Oakland, Calif., shows several hands that illustrate the duck play. Mrs. Files explains that the duck play usually consists of conceding a trick you could take in order to win tricks later.

Her first example is a very simple one, but players frequently miss it.

South is in a very good three no-trump contract, but the combination of a spade opening, a duck play and a losing diamond finesse proves too much for him.

East wins the opening spade leads with his king and returns the five spot. South plays the jack, and if West rushes to take the trick, he will never make another one.

West should play a low spade at trick two and hold back his ace for later. He doesn't know that there will be a latter opportunity, but he should realize from the bidding that his partner will hold other high cards beside the king of spades and that if one is the king of diamonds everything will be grand.

West ducks! Declarer can cash only seven more tricks. He must take the diamond finesse. It loses. East leads back his last spade and now West cashes three spade tricks.

♥♠CARD Sense♦♣

Q—The bidding has been:

East	South	West	North

Pass	2♣	Pass	2♦

You, South, hold:
♠A2 ♥K2 ♦7654 ♣AQ432
What do you do?

A—Bid six clubs. Your partner has shown first round diamond control and then jumped you to game. He should have a club fit and something in the majors.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of jumping to five clubs, your partner bids three hearts over your three clubs. What do you do now?

For Tuesday

"The wise man controls his destiny. Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Don't be in too great a hurry regarding financial deal. Misunderstanding could block the way. Strive toward more versatile approach. Advice offered by associate may not be reliable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Domestic harmony should be present goal. Cycle high. But mate requires special consideration. Set fine example. Follow Golden Rule. Push forward with ORIGINAL ideas. Lead the way.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20): You have asked for opportunity. You are due to receive it. But you must be ready to make BASIC CHANGES. Holding on to past will prove costly, foolish. Important decisions may be indicated.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22): Hold something in reserve. Includes emotional strength. If you tell all, you may regret it. Evaluate situation OBJECTIVELY. Don't be caught in middle of dubious scheme.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22): Intuitive flash can provide valuable clue. Know truth when you encounter it. Usual sources may "dry up." Reach for shield. Check various methods. Key could come from "eccentric" person.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Handle responsibility in authoritative manner. You needn't be perfect. But you must go ahead with enthusiasm. Don't be afraid of failure. Indications for SUCCESS are strong. Act accordingly!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Recent victory paves way for greater success. Extend boundaries. Reach out for added information. Important correspondence highlighted. Others are impressed with your sincerity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Get at truth! Strive for facts. Are you seeing persons, situations in light which is obscured? Don't be victim of false flattery. Seek reality. Expand circle of friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Cycle has been higher in past. Now, take time to INVESTIGATE. Be diplomatic — a good listener. Express true feelings. But do so in manner calculated to offer ENCOURAGEMENT.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Friend who means well may come up with misleading information. Unless you DOUBLE CHECK. Obtain hint from ARIES message. Be thorough. Bit of extra effort puts you over the top.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): Day of surprises, opportunities, especially good for selling, creating, making impression on IMPORTANT PEOPLE. Evening favors romance, expression of feelings, creative endeavors.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Don't believe everything that comes your way today! Communication received regarding PROPERTY may not be valid. Concentrate on security. Remember past resolutions. Read CANCER message.

★ ★ ★

IF TUESDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, creative, and would excel in the dramatic arts.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for GEMINI. But SAGITTARIUS must walk fine line between frank approach and diplomatic statements.

JFK Library to Be Larger

American Architect Will Design Building

BOSTON (AP) — The John F. Kennedy Memorial Library is going to be a lot larger than originally conceived—and it will be designed by an American architect.

Selection of the architect is expected to be made about June 1, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the late President's brother, said after weekend conferences with an advisory committee.

Kennedy said at a news conference that the 13-member committee's major conclusion after the conferences in Boston, Cambridge and Hyannis Port was "that the library and the institute will be far more comprehensive than was originally envisioned by President Kennedy."

The attorney general said that the two-acre site on the bank of the Charles River—opposite the dormitory in which the late President lived as a Harvard college student — will not be large enough.

★ ★ ★

"The concept of an institute, where students can come and study, makes it far greater than had been contemplated," he said. Kennedy said "We're going to have to work" on obtaining more land.

ARCHITECTS AGREE

The six foreign architects on the advisory committee were unanimous in insisting that the architect to plan the library should be an American.

A number of architects were suggested as possibilities, Kennedy said, and the Kennedy family and the building committee "will meet with each one, go over his work and talk with him."

"The choice should be made in the next six to eight weeks," he said.

★ ★ ★

Attending the planning conferences, along with the attorney general, was the late President's youngest brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., his widow, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, and his three sisters, Mrs. Eunice Shriver, Mrs. Jean Smith and Mrs. Patricia Lawford.

The committee spent Saturday in Boston, visiting the site and discussing proposals for the $10 million building. It spent yesterday at the Kennedy compound at Hyannis Port on Cape Cod.

Polluted Air Destroying Art Works

NEW YORK (AP) — Polluted air, together with the ravages of weather and time, is causing some of the world's greatest stone art treasures to decay.

Some of the finest monuments of antiquity, and thousands of pieces of sculpture and carvings exposed to outside elements, are deteriorating, the New York Times reported today.

The newspaper said conservation experts consider the industrial age the major villain.

The rapid pace of 20th Century industrialization, it said, has accelerated the rate of decay because industrial smoke produces corrosive elements that cause stone to powder, crumble, flake, crack or chip.

"The situation is getting more serious all the time," says Seymour Lewin, professor of chemistry and fine arts at New York University. "Many buildings have noticeably deteriorated in the last 20 years."

Industrial fumes create sulphur oxide in the air, and these, in combination with water, produce sulphuric acid. Soot and dust deposited on stone absorb the corrosive acid.

Frost also causes decay by freezing water in the pores of stone and causing cracks.

Competing's Not Her Cup of Tea

Actress Pooh-Poohs Oscars

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—As a nominee for the best supporting actress award, Dame Edith Evans will attend the Academy Awards tonight. But she takes a dim view of the whole affair.

THOMAS

"Why, they didn't even ask me if I wanted to be nominated," she said. "If they had, I would have said no."

* * *

Her statement is reminiscent of George C. Scott's last year, when he asked to be removed from the list of supporting actor nominees because the whole thing was "so commercial." It isn't that at all with Dame Edith.

"I simply don't like the idea of competing for something or other," she said. "Acting is not a competition, like a foot race."

SOURED ON AWARDS

It's possible that she has also soured on acting awards because of past experience. She told of winning a prize in a newspaper contest for the best acting of the year in her first movie, "The Queen of Spades." She was supposed to get a thousand pounds, but the donors reneged, arguing that the government said it would be bad for the balance of payments.

"That didn't make sense, because I would have spent it in England," she said.

* * *

She added another incident: "Some stranger came up excitedly in the street and said I had just won an acting award. Not only did I not receive it; it was never again to anyone."

PEPPERY AUNT

Dame Edith was named for her role as the peppery aunt in "Tom Jones," along with fellow players Diane Cilento and Joyce Redman.

A vigorous 75, she has long been one of the great ladies of the English theater and she bears her honors with dignity. She is not the least perturbed that dame has a different connotation in this country.

"When I first assumed the honor, the song 'There is Nothing Like a Dame' was very popular," she said. "That didn't bother me. Although the title has only been used for the past 40 years or so, it has a long history."

She was named dame of the British Empire in 1946 by George VI. That kind of an award was all right, she said.

More coffee is consumed in the U. S. than in the rest of the world combined.

Brazilians Accepting New Government Despite Misgivings

By EDGAR MILLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Despite some second thoughts, most Brazilians appear to be accepting their new revolutionary government as the only solution for this problem-beset nation.

"It's like major surgery," said Antonio da Costa, a young chemist, of the swift anti-Communist coup that toppled President Joao Goulart.

"You can't undergo it without a certain amount of risk, but it's worth the risk if the alternative is being eaten up by a cancerous disease."

Da Costa said the so-called institutional act which gives Brazil's new president, Gen. Humberto Castello Branco, sweeping powers was like "adrenalin in the heart to keep the patient from dying on the operating table."

News Analysis

EMPOWERS LEADERS

The institutional act, proclaimed by Castello Branco and other military leaders who spearheaded the coup, empowers the president to purge left-wing extremists from politics and force Congress to act on legislation.

But it limits the presidential term and calls for national elections to name a new president Oct. 3, 1965.

★ ★ ★

Most Brazilians had become fed up with years of misgovernment, demagogy and high-level shenanigans which had brought Brazil to the brink of ruin and the threat of a Communist take-over. They are doing little complaining about the new regime, although there was considerable wailing in Congress when the military ejected more than 40 members from their seats. Many were also bitter when relatives were arrested by police and troops in the roundups of suspected Communists and political agitators.

TACTICS ON WANE

These tactics are slacking off, however, and many of the 3,000 or more persons arrested in Rio are being released. Those set free said they were reasonably well treated.

One measure which shocked Brazilians was cancellation of the right to vote or hold office of many well known persons accused of having Communist sympathies.

★ ★ ★

"I think they have perhaps gone a little too far in some cases," said a young housewife. She cited withdrawal of these rights from Celso Furtado, internationally known economist who had headed a key government agency to develop Brazil's impoverished northeastern sector.

The housewife agreed, however, that only drastic measures could help Brazil.

The military leaders apparently had this in mind when they bypassed Congress to retain the power they had seized in the coup.

Most Brazilian newspapers continue to support the revolution and the military. One exception is Rio's Correio da Manha, outstanding conservative paper, which has kept up daily attacks on the new regime, labeling it a military junta.

★ ★ ★

The Cruzeiro, Brazil's unit of monetary exchange, has risen steadily in value since the banks reopened after Goulart's fall. The stock market also has kept climbing since its record flurry of trading the first day of the new regime.

Life has returned to normal in most Brazilian cities. But Brasilia, the capital, remains tense.

A marked change of atmosphere is also noted along Rio's docks, where Communist-led unions frequently tied up ships for days by wildcat walkouts over minor issues.

New Protests in Cleveland

By United Press International

New demonstrations were set for today in Cleveland, Ohio, ending a four-day truce that halted construction on several school sites.

Integration groups said they would march on the downtown mall because they had been betrayed.

Demonstrations were halted last Wednesday when a truce was agreed upon. The truce called for a halt in school construction while a solution was sought to the charges of de facto segregation.

Today's planned demonstration followed word that the construction was to resume at two school construction jobs.

★ ★ ★

Some 350 persons marched silently through the downtown area yesterday in mourning for the Rev. Bruce Klunder who was accidentally crushed to death by a bulldozer last Tuesday during a demonstration.

MINISTER'S DEATH

Klunder, a 26-year-old white Presbyterian minister, threw himself in the path of the bulldozer at a Cleveland school construction site. His death touched off violence that lasted into the night.

Elsewhere in the nation.

● ATLANTA — Some 35 Negroes picketed eight Negro theaters owned by a chain in protest against the failure of the management to renovate one of the theaters. There were no incidents.

● ATLANTA — John D. Rockefeller III urged "progress beyond protest" and a better education at Spelman College, a predominantly Negro women's school. Rockefeller said the Negro now must become "the statesman who succeeds the revolutionary."

● SAN FRANCISCO—Leaders of the San Francisco chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said yesterday the fight was just begun against automobile dealers for alleged discrimination in hiring.

Police arrested 219 persons Saturday, including actor Sterling Hayden and six clergymen, in the city's biggest sit-in demonstration to date.

Airlines Down on Profit Taking

NEW YRK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed early this afternoon. Airlines were down on profit taking.

The market was ahead in early trading but gains were trimmed as the session continued. Trading was moderately active.

★ ★ ★

A generally higher trend prevailed among cigarette issues, rails, rubbers, motors and utilities.

Oils, building materials, retails, electrical equipments and aerospace stocks were mixed. Drugs and steels were generally lower.

BACKGROUND NEWS

A decline in retail sales in March from February's record level and continued negotiations to head off the still-threatened railroad strike formed part of the market backdrop.

A scattering of selected issues received a speculative play.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 304.4 with industrials up .6, rails up .4 and utilities up .2.

Among airlines, Pan American lost 2, Eastern and Continental more than a point and United a fraction.

CIGARETTE STOCKS

Liggett & Myers rose nearly a point. Lorillard and Reynolds Tobacco pushed ahead fractionally.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Mary Carter Paints "A" fell about 2. Syntex lost a point. Gains of a point or so were made by Sinclair-Venezuelan Oil, ANelex and National Video "A."

Talks Renewed in Rail Dispute

No Progress Report From White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad union and management negotiators renewed "active collective bargaining" today, the White House reported, but declined to say whether they made any progress.

White House Press Secretary George Reedy said the talks were on an "issue by issue" basis and would probably continue that way for the rest of the day.

The negotiators and federal mediators, meeting in the executive office building next door to the White House, started talking at 10 a.m. EST and were still meeting shortly before noon.

Asked if any one issue had reached or was near settlement, Reedy said he would not characterize the talks in any way.

★ ★ ★

"As a rule these things don't click off that way in one, two, three, four order," Reedy said.

THINGS FALL

"Collective bargaining doesn't run that way. Either a lot of things fall into place at one time or they don't."

Reedy said a progress report from the mediators, headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, to President Johnson is still scheduled for Wednesday.

Johnson set up the talks close at hand and is keeping in close touch with them.

★ ★ ★

The talks began Friday after Johnson persuaded the five unions and representatives of nearly 200 railroads to call off a nationwide strike showdown which had been scheduled for 12:01 a.m. last Friday.

Both sides agreed to a 15-day postponement while talks continued under the aegis of the White House.

News in Brief

Engagement and wedding rings with a total value of $200 were stolen along with clothing, in a break-in at the home of Booker Hurner Jr., 22, of 614 S. Sanford, he reported yesterday to Pontiac police.

Theodore Maslanic, 3129 Jones, Waterford Township, told police yesterday that the motor was stolen from his garden tractor. Value of the motor is estimated at $85.

Grain Prices Slip on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling pressure was fairly heavy in soybeans and new crop wheat today, and prices slipped rather broadly in early dealings on the Board of Trade. Other commodities also were mostly weak.

★ ★ ★

Soybeans started with setbacks running to more than three cents a bushel but steadied at about that level. New crop wheat declined well over a cent during the first several minutes.

Wheat was 2½ cents a bushel higher to 1⅝ lower, shortly before the end of the first hour, May $2.07; soybeans 1⅝ to 3 cents lower, May $2.56⅜; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, May $1.22; oats ¼ to ½ higher, May 64 cents; rye ¼ higher to ⅝ lower, May $1.31⅝.

FORD MUSTANG — Said to have inspired more advance interest than any new product in Ford Division's 15-year history, the Mustang sports car was described today as a combination of economy and luxury. Ford says the car can be either, or both, depending on what the buyer wants on the car, which has a base list price of $2,368.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "We have been lucky. For a decade my husband and I have invested our hard-earned savings and an inheritance in stocks. In a few years my husband plans to retire on a small pension and social security. We have $36,000 in E bonds and banks plus shares of Atchison, Niagara Mohawk, Atlantic Refining, Minn. Mining, General Telephone, Walt Disney, Oklahoma Gas, Air Reduction, Filtrol, and Giant Yellowknife. What do you think of our list and should we invest part of our savings in additional stocks?" J. M.

A) Your stocks are generally good ones but considering your overall objectives, I rather question inclusion of Filtrol, Giant Yellowknife and Walt Disney, in spite of the latter's recently improved earnings record.

To achieve somewhat better balance, I suggest drawing down on your savings by placing about $3,000 each in S. O. New Jersey, Long Island Lighting, American Telephone, and General Motors.

★ ★ ★

Q) "What in the world happened to American Machine and Foundry? I bought some shares in 1957 and received stock from two different two-for-one splits. It has recently stabilized, after a long drop. Will it recover?" R. J.

A) The pace of new bowling-alley construction has fallen considerably during the past few years. American Machine was one of the large factors in this business and it too has been adversely affected.

The company is trying to move into other areas but this is costly and time consuming. Stock has some comeback potential.

I suggest cutting your commitment to more moderate size and reinvesting the proceeds in Bristol-Myers and Winn-Dixie.

Ford Mustang Debuts Today at World's Fair

Ford Motor Company's new-born Mustang galloped into the sports car field today with 25,000 buyers betting they picked a winner.

The company says it already has that many orders on file for the stylish car, which only today received its first public showing at the World's Fair and won't be seen in dealer showrooms until Friday.

With a starting price of $2,368, Ford promises the Mustang can be low-priced and economical, but with extra cost options a flat-out sports car or luxury vehicle.

Ford reportedly spent $50 million and four years of research in developing the car aimed principally at young people or a second car family.

Lee A. Iacocca, Ford Division general manager, termed the Mustang something the buying public has been looking for since the recent boom in sports-type cars with bucket seats and peppy performance.

MEASUREMENTS

The low-slung (4 feet, 3 inches high) car carries a Ferrari-type grille. Over - all length, 181.6 inches, is slightly longer than its famous predecessor, the two-seat Thunderbird.

But Mustang has two bucket seats in front and a bench rear seat, which Ford says "offers 5 - passenger family seating."

Weight of its all-welded body is 400 pounds less than the old Thunderbird. The platform chassis utilizes the driveshaft tunnel as a rugged backbone.

While a compact in appearance, Mustang has an interior similiar to Ford's present Thunderbird line with molded nylon carpeting, curved sideglass and floor-mounted shift.

Mustang's buyer appeal starts off with a 101-horsepower, six-cylinder engine and three-speed manual transmission tailored to the economy minded.

Three optional V-8 engines progressively boost horsepower to 271. A three-speed automatic, or four-speed manual transmission can be coupled with most engines as an option.

The basic car is a hardtop, but choosing a convertible adds $250; sports handling equipment such as heavy duty suspension and larger tires some $437, and the list continues up with air conditioning and tinted glass.

Ford aims to have the Mustang grab some of the sales laurels of Chevrolet's Corvette, and Plymouth's Barracuda which debuts next month.

Business Notes

Kuhnert will coordinate industrial engineering throughout Hoover's 14 subsidiary and division plants.

Woman Hurt in Car Crash

A Royal Oak woman is in critical condition in Pontiac General Hospital after her car hit a tree in Commerce Township Saturday evening.

Under intensive care following the 9:15 p.m. accident is Kathleen Hanes, 20, of 728 Pleasant. She suffered multiple fractures and a dislocated elbow.

Sheriff's deputies said her car went off Richardson Road, just east of Newton, and knocked down a mailbox and a wooden fence before smashing into the tree.

Figures Complicated

Tax Cut Hiking Sales?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Boosts in take-home pay from the federal income tax cut haven't shown up in retail sales as quickly as expected. Or have they? The official figures say no. But this time the statistics are even more complicated than usual and more subject to tricky interpretations.

DAWSON

Bankers suspect many citizens just added to their savings in March while deciding what to do with the windfall that began showing up in pay checks. Others think the approaching income tax settlement deadline was a deterrent to spending.

Merchants aren't sure. They point out that the official figures of the Department of Commerce showing a drop in retail sales from February had to be adjusted this March to seasonal variations that may conceal part of the story.

★ ★ ★

Others think that comparisons with February spending are further complicated by that month's most unusual shopping-day pattern five Saturdays and by a possible psychological quirk of consumers who spent more than usual this February because of the expected take-home pay increases.

The Department of Commerce says that seasonally adjusted the March retail store sales were $21.1 billion, down 1 per cent from the February record. This still put March 4 per cent ahead of a year ago, but many had expected greater things of the month this time.

AVERAGE DEVIATION

Generally, seasonal adjustments can be defined as calculating over a span of several years the average deviation of any month from other months of the year and then excluding that variance from the current report.

But this March the seasonal adjustments also had to take account of the early Easter, March 29, against April 14 last year.

Many merchants would be glad to see calendar changes that would make Easter and other movable holidays come at the same date. Easter now can come any time between March 22 and April 25.

An early Easter may have affected the drop the Commerce Department reports in sales of apparel and department stores. But it may have had less connection with the drop of 4 per cent in the volume of durable goods, with automotive and lumber and building materials dealers accounting for most of this. Larger sales by food stores were the brightest feature of March.

TOO MUCH?

Perhaps some merchants were counting too much on the stimulus of more take-home pay. Bankers note that in the past consumers often have taken a while to change spending habits after any sudden rise in income. The bankers say that usually a large part of any windfall goes at first into savings.

Other bankers note that seasonal patterns themselves seem to have been changing in the last three years, especially in money supply and demand and in other monetary indicators. Demand deposits, particularly, haven't been following the seasonal ups and downs of other years. And consumer spending doesn't follow the calendar quite as predictably as in the past.

★ ★ ★

But if March didn't meet all of the high hopes for it, the substantial gains for the first quarter as a whole feed the belief that the first half of the year will set records.

If winter ever gives up and goes away, retail sales seem sure to satisfy most merchants.

Crash Hospitalizes Waterford Girl, 19

Cynthia Overstreet, 19, of 761 S. Cass Lake, Waterford Township, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto accident Saturday at 10:15 p.m. in front of 275 S. Cass Lake.

Miss Overstreet, who suffered broken ribs and a broken nose, was riding in a car driven by Robert Livingston, 2820 Woodbine, Waterford Township.

Livingston's northbound car struck the rear of another northbound car driven by Mrs. Sally Buckler, 25, of 115 Lafayette, South Lyon.

Mrs. Buckler, who was treated for injuries at the hospital and released, told police that Livingston's car was traveling at a high speed. Livingston stated that he could recall no details of the accident.

He also was treated at the hospital and released.

Sailor Dies From Blast on Ore Ship

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A 59-year-old Great Lakes sailor died here Sunday of burns suffered when the ore carrier William A. Irvin blew a boiler tube in Lake Superior late Saturday.

Two other men scalded in the explosion were reported in satisfactory condition at a Sault Ste. Marie hospital today.

The dead man was William Wuori, a maintenance man from International Falls, Minn.

HOSPITALIZED

Hospitalized are Leon Shuffit Jr., a coal passer from Bensonville, Ill., and Stanley Pennell, 43, a fireman from Milwaukee.

Shuffit was the more seriously burned of the two.

★ ★ ★

The tube let go, spraying live steam about 6:30 p.m. Saturday. The injured men were removed by the Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw and rushed here down the St. Marys River.

The Irvin, bound through Whitefish Bay, was able to make the Soo under its own power and was tied up here today for Coast Guard inspection of her damage.

★ ★ ★

The Irvin belongs to the Pittsburgh fleet of U.S. Steel Corp.

Street Fight Hospitalizes 1 Man; 1 Held

A street fight ended late Saturday night with one man being admitted to Pontiac General Hospital in serious condition and another being held for questioning.

Under intensive care following the midnight scrap on Allen at Adams is Vallie Tiggs, 21, of 495 Bloomfield. He suffered facial lacerations and a possible concussion.

Being held is William A. Carie, 34, of 209 South East Boulevard.

Police quoted Carie as saying he, along with some 14 other persons, was at a home at 33 Allen when Tiggs and a group of other men came onto the porch, opened the door and shouted obscenities.

The men inside the house chased and caught them when their car stalled at the intersection, Carie told police. He said the fight ensued when Tiggs began swinging at him with a shovel.

Thief Robs Pontiac Bar, Taking $250

A gunman held up the Idle Time Bar, 262 E. Pike, early this morning and escaped in a car with $250.

The bartender, Ned W. Todorovich, 64, told Pontiac police that the bandit entered the bar carrying a chrome - plated revolver at 1:30 a.m.

★ ★ ★

He told Todorovich to step aside and then went to the cash register and emptied it. He then walked backwards out of the bar. His getaway car was parked across the street. The gunman made no attempt to rob the four customers in the bar.

★ ★ ★

The bandit wore a nylon-stocking mask, a khaki - colored trench coat, black cap and gloves.

Teaching Machines Can Be a Handicap

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

"If a little is good, more will be better!" is an opinion which often leads to trouble. Such has been the case with teaching machines.

DR. NASON

When used too much, the teaching machine, which can be valuable for the student who needs review, or for background job training in specific cases, soon becomes a handicap rather than an aid.

Sidney L. Pressey, professor of education at the University of Arizona, acknowledged father of the teaching machine, has had some second thoughts about the uses now being made of teaching machines.

He is inclined to think they have become monstrosities with their many-thousands-of-frames programs — with their interminable writing in and moving of gadgets.

This is what you get if you expect the so-called teaching machines to deliver lectures, conduct experiments, give and grade examinations and conduct a student step by step through a difficult geometric theorem or through the intricacies of a Greek irregular verb.

There is nothing new or mysterious about teaching machines. They are as old as education itself . . . Socrates gets credit for perfecting the technique.

This, in essence, was the Socratic plan. After the great teacher put a question to his student, he waited for an answer. Then, with questions and answers, he led the student from idea to idea, until the student reached a basic conclusion.

A. A. Lumsdaine, program director for training and education at the American Institute for Research in Pittsburgh, states:

"All of the devices that have been called Teaching Machines represent some form of variation of what can be called the 'Socratic' method of teaching. They present the individual student with programs of questions and answers, problems to be solved and exercises to be performed.

KNOWS PROGRESS

"In addition, however, they also provide some type of automatic feedback or correction to the student so that he is informed immediately of his progress at each step and given a basis for correcting his errors."

Pressey finds that students can read silently through the material unhandicapped by the machines in 1-15th of the time required through the machine program.

Knowing comes about instantly, but it takes time to choose the correct multiple choice answer or write in a missing word.

★ ★ ★

Using a machine, the student's thinking is centered on the printed statements. Thus, he is distracted from forming his own mental pictures and understanding the concepts in his own words.

GRASPS MOMENT

The machines are a clumsy substitute for the instructor who builds ideas in students' minds and prepares systematically for the moment when students can be expected to piece all the thoughts together and grasp an idea which is far greater than merely the sum of the small elements involved.

By watching the students' eyes he regulates the flow of materials, slowing down or speeding up as the class responds.

★ ★ ★

There is an emotional setting that affects learning that can be attained only by a talented teacher.

No machine can ever hope to replace this process.

Talks Raise Hope on U.N. Financing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Private talks between the United States and the Soviet Union have raised hopes in some quarters that the two powers may settle a money dispute that threatens the United Nations.

The United States has been insisting that the Soviet Union pay at least part of its share of the U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East. Otherwise, says the United States, the Russians should lose their vote in the General Assembly.

The Russians reply that such pressure could result in the "breakup of the United Nations."

Diplomatic sources report that American and Soviet delegates held at least five meetings last month on an American-British compromise plan. It calls for the Russians to pay part of their back assessments. In exchange they would be assured more voice in peace-keeping operations and their financing.

PLAN CONSIDERED

The diplomatic sources said the Russians were considering the plan. There were indications that they were trying to make a package deal involving both U.N. finances and disarmament.

★ ★ ★

The United States argues that the Soviet Union will lose its assembly vote automatically because it is more than two years behind in its total U.N. dues.

The Soviet Union challenges the U.S. contention—which the World Court and the assembly have endorsed — that peace-keeping assessments are valid obligations.

Of almost $55 million that the Soviet Union owes, more than $52 million is for the Congo and Middle East forces. The Russians contend the assembly's assessments for both are illegal that only the Security Council is empowered to finance peace-keeping operations.

PLAN STIPULATES

Under the American-British proposal:

★ ★ ★

The Russians would pay $8 million or $9 million of their back debt—enough to put them less than two years behind.

★ ★ ★

In the future, the Security Council would get the first chance to start a peace-keeping operation. The assembly would take over only if it failed.

Meeting Will Air Proposed College

The community college proposal to be voted on in June by county residents will be the discussion topic at tomorrow night's meeting of the Greater Waterford Community Council, (GWCC).

Slated for 8 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School, the meeting is open to the public.

Don Johannes, chairman of the speech department of Detroit Institute of Technology, will speak on the proposal. Prior to joining the DIT staff, he taught for seven years at the community college level.

In other business at the regular monthly meeting, council members will hear a report on the exchange student summer program.

★ ★ ★

Discussion of plans for Exchange Student Week in May also is scheduled.

Fire Damage in City Home Put at $7,000

An afternoon fire in a home at 60 S. Ardmore yesterday caused an estimated $7,000 damage to the building and contents.

★ ★ ★

The blaze was discovered at 3:48 p.m. while the owner, Thomas Wells, and his family were away.

Damage to the house was estimated by Wells at $3,000 and about $4,000 to the contents.

Another fire at 73 Baldwin early today caused an estimated $750 damage.

★ ★ ★

The fire started in an upstairs apartment occupied by Donald Erhardt shortly before 2 a.m. Firemen blamed careless smoking for the Baldwin blaze.

Campus for Rent

College Turns Landlord

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill. (AP)—For rent: one college and campus.

President F. J. Mullin of Shimer College announced yesterday that his school's 14 buildings and 45-acre campus will be available for a "modest fee" during the summer to corporations or other organizations.

★ ★ ★

The renter will have use of the college's indoor swimming pool, outdoor tennis courts and a nine-hole golf course. The campus is in western Illinois near the Mississippi River.

The object of renting, Mullin said, is to "pick up a little extra money."

ELECTRONICS IN INDUSTRY SIGNAL INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The $15-billion electronics industry is now entering a period of accelerating change, in both technology and sales patterns. Our Monthly Letter interprets recent developments in electronics and evaluates the possible effects of lasers, microelectronics, and space communications. Three major non-military markets for electronic equipment receive considerable attention. Entertainment: 1963 consumer electronics sales were $2.5 billion; we expect them to exceed $4.5 billion by 1970. Commercial-Industrial: This area offers, in our judgment, the greatest growth potential. Our figures show gross income from computers, systems and all EDP sources could reach nearly $14 billion by 1970. Medical: In the decade ahead we believe this market could triple and reach a $2.5-billion level annually. We recommend nine electronic stocks and provide brief comments and financial and operating data for each. To receive a copy of our Monthly Letter, now available to investors, mail coupon below.

Sellers Seen on Way to Recovery

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — British actor Peter Sellers appeared to be on his way to recovery today from a near-fatal heart seizure he suffered a week ago.

Spokesmen at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said Sellers was getting along well and probably would be moved from the intensive care unit sometime today to a private room.

The English comedian's condition still was listed as serious, but he was off medication and was said to be in good spirits.

Despite the encouraging signs, doctors emphasized that the 38-year-old Sellers faces a long period of recuperation.

★ ★ ★

Sellers, who was in Hollywood for a starring role in the movie "Kiss Me, Stupid," has been replaced by Ray Walston of television's "My Favorite Martian" series.

STAYS WITH HUSBAND

Swedish actress Britt Ekland, 21, Sellers' bride of less than three months, has remained at the hospital since the actor-comedian suffered the coronary thrombosis.

★ ★ ★

Miss Ekland said she and her husband plan to stay here until Sellers is well enough to return to their home in London.

Russian Prof Shuns Asylum

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A Russian professor who was granted asylum in the United States last January after falling or jumping from a building at Harvard University has returned to the Soviet Union, the Boston Globe said today.

The newspaper said Yuri Asseyev, 35, former professor at the University of Leningrad, left by plane for his homeland yesterday after reconsidering his plea for asylum.

Asseyev had been studying at Harvard. He was pulled from subway tracks near the university last Feb. 29, apparently after leaping into a subway pit.

He had been under treatment at McLean Hospital in nearby Belmont. The hospital is a private mental institution.

Asseyev was reported to have a wife and son in the Soviet Union.

PROPOSED FIREMEN'S 56 HOUR WORK WEEK ORDINANCE

To the Electors of the City of Pontiac, Michigan:

Notice is hereby given that there shall be submitted to the electors of the City of Pontiac at the General Municipal Election to be held Monday, April 20, 1964 Firemen's 56 Hour Work Week Ordinance. The following is proposed ordinance to be submitted:

FIREMEN'S 56 HOUR WORK WEEK ORDINANCE

"An Ordinance to reduce the work week of the uniformed members of the Fire Fighting Division of the Fire Department of the City of Pontiac from 63 hours to 56 hours."

IT IS HEREBY ORDAINED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF PONTIAC:

Section 1. Hereafter the leave of absence of the uniformed members of the Fire Fighting Division of the Fire Department shall have for each member, one day of twenty-four hours off duty in every forty-eight hours and an additional twenty-four consecutive hours off duty in each six-day period (said additional twenty-four consecutive hours to be joined with proximate regular leave days so as to afford a leave period of seventy-two consecutive hours and a furlough of fifteen days in each year).

Section 2. That the uniformed members of the Fire Fighting Division of the Fire Department of the City of Pontiac remain and be maintained under a two-platoon system.

Section 3. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

Section 4. This ordinance shall be operative and effective from and after July 1, 1964, at 12:01 a.m.

☐ For the Ordinance
☐ Against the Ordinance

Be It Further Resolved, that said Ordinance shall be published in The Pontiac Press, a daily newspaper published and circulated in said City once each week for three successive weeks immediately preceding said election.

HOLLYWOOD — It's Oscar night tonight and the brilliant movie "Tom Jones" is expected to avenge the Boston Tea Party for Great Britain.

★ ★ ★

It will be very British at nearby Santa Monica Civic Auditorium with or without the bawdy farce which most people call the best movie since "Citizen Kane."

10 NOMINATIONS

"Tom Jones" won 10 Academy Award nominations and is expected to win a goodly share. Most experts call it a cinch for best picture and best director for Tony Richardson.

★ ★ ★

Also odds-on favorite to win best actor is Albert Finney, who played the title role of the Henry Fielding classic. He will have potent competition from Sidney Poitier, the great Negro actor of "Lilies of the Field."

★ ★ ★

Others up for best actor are Richard Harris, the brutish football player of "This Sporting Life;" Rex Harrison—the one who acted while Marc (Richard Burton) Antony and Cleopatra (Liz Taylor) wooed—and Paul Newman of "Hud."

TOP ACTRESSES

Patricia Neal of "Hud" is the favorite among top actresses, but Hollywood likes voting on past performances.

★ ★ ★

That makes Shirley MacLaine (Irma La Douce) and Natalie Wood (Love With a Proper Stranger) potent contenders.

Any one among the actresses could win without causing an upset. Leslie Caron (The Le Shaped Room) and Rachel Roberts (This Sporting Life) are other nominees.

Miss Roberts is also Mrs. Rex Harrison. A Pair of "his and her" Oscars would look nice on any mantle.

INTERESTING RACE

One of the most interesting races is for supporting actor. Hugh Griffith gave the greatest performance yet of a country squire in "Tom Jones." But was it all acting? Griffith's love of the grape is legendary on both sides of the Atlantic.

★ ★ ★

Director John Huston played a sober cardinal in the picture of the same name. His father, the late Walter Huston, couldn't have done it better. Huston is the favorite.

Others are: Nick Adams (Twilight of Honor); Bobby Darin (Captain Newman M.D.) and the veteran Melvyn Douglas (Hud).

SUPPORTING ROLES

Among best supporting actresses, Margaret Rutherford of "The V.I.P.'s" virtually makes this race no contest. The British comedienne faces three from "Tom Jones"—Diane Cilento, Joyce Redman and Edith Evans. Lilia Skala of "Lilies of the Field" is the fifth.

Competition for "Tom Jones" as best picture is "How the West Was Won," "Lilies of the Field," "America, America," and "Cleopatra."

ABC-TV will broadcast the show starting at 10 p.m. (EST).

Fans of Beatles Rush for Tickets in Aussie Cities

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Screaming Beatle fans stampeded today in Sydney and Melbourne to get tickets for the long-haired British quartet's appearances in June.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of teen-agers, most of them girls, camped all night in front of the ticket office in Sydney.

Nearly 200 in Melbourne lined up at noon Saturday. While they waited they decorated shop windows along a 100-yard stretch with lipstick slogans and drawings of their idols.

★ ★ ★

In Melbourne, the long vigil was not necessary. After the initial rush, 4,000 tickets were still left.

Gleanings From the Mailbag

Cleopatra Served Pearl Punch

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

One of Cleopatra's secret ways of winning friends and influencing strangers was to serve them crushed pearls in wine as a love potion. And the Roman Emperor Nero shared the belief of his time that wearing an emerald would protect one from eye ailments.

BOYLE

The Indian elephant, one of the most intelligent of animals, is as easy to train as the horse or the dog. But some animals of fine intelligence are almost impossible to train. Among them are the beaver, the wolf, the fox—and most human husbands.

You need iron in your system in more iron than you need or can excrete, you may rust your strength through cirrhosis of the liver or weakening of the heart.

During the French revolution the rooster was used as a symbol of alertness and courage. In ancient Rome geese were depended upon as sentries, and gabbled alarm at the approach of strangers.

Our quotable notables: "An optimist proclaims that we live in the best of all possible worlds. A pessimist fears that this is true" — James Branch Cabell.

In Athens, all phone conversations are automatically cut off after three minutes. If you want to go on chatting, you have to dial again.

Your percentage of pepper and other spices is your own secret, but if you weigh 150 pounds you almost certainly have at least three ounces of salt in you.

★ ★ ★

Household hints: When doing the dishes, put a piece of lemon peel into the dish pan or sink. It will soften the water, remove stale food odors, and put a fine gloss on china.

Odd legislation: In Connecticut it once was a misdemeanor to chew tobacco without a doctor's permit.

Folklore: If a girl pins a four-leaf clover over her door, the first bachelor who enters is the man she'll marry. To get rid of freckles, go to a brook, catch a frog alive and rub him across your face. Say the Lord's Prayer backwards out loud and you will see the devil.

Worth remembering: "It's a great life if you and your bankroll can take it"—Arnold H. Glasow.

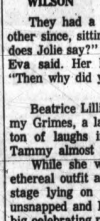
Quickies: We are now growing each year 25 per cent more forest than we are using or is destroyed naturally. Most people fall down twice a year, but only one in 40 are seriously hurt. If you wear a Phi Beta Kappa key, the odds are that you will outlive the ordinary dumbbell.

It was Clarence Darrow who observed, "I have suffered from being misunderstood, but I would have suffered a hell of a lot more if I had been understood."

Gabor Gals Not Talking? It's a Feud, Dollings!

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—There's now a genuine feud raging between Zsa Zsa Gabor and Eva Gabor—the sisters aren't talking to each other, even to trade insults . . . It began Sunday when they taped the next Jack Paar TV show. Zsa Zsa told me, "Eva is taling people I upstaged her. I did not upstage anybody, dolling, I vas just Zsa Zsa."



WILSON

Eva retorts, "She can be Zsa Zsa but I prefer to be an actress. Zsa Zsa vas so unprofessional at interrupting when I was talking, I could not believe it. She should not do it to another actress let alone to her sister." Zsa Zsa tossed her head and said, "I vas booked back on the show, I vunder if she vas?"

They had a big battle after the taping—and avoided each other since, sitting at different tables in restaurants . . . "What does Jolie say?" I asked Eva . . . "Ve tried not to let her know," Eva said. Her husband Dick Brown exploded with laughter: "Then why did you call her 10 minutes afterward to tell her?"

★ ★ ★

Beatrice Lillie, playing a brandy-gulping medium, and Tammy Grimes, a lady spook who djed seven years ago, furnish a ton of laughs in that swinging new hit, "High Spirits"—but Tammy almost provided an unexpected belly laugh.

While she was flying around like Peter Pan, her flimsy, ethereal outfit almost came right off her while she was center stage lying on the back of some dancers. "The halter came unsnapped and I heard it go k-c-c-c-k!" Tammy told me at a big celebrating party at Charles'. "It would have been disastrous because there was nothing underneath. Ghosts," she explained, "don't wear anything underneath."

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Danny Kaye's another candidate for the Peter Sellers role in the unfinished film "Kiss Me, Stupid". (Friends say the stricken Sellers had begun strenuous exercising with bar bells last month.) Liz Taylor's getting used to being tailed around town by reporters; as she and Richard Burton went into their hotel the other night she told the newsmen cheerily, "Well, see you tomorrow." . . . Ella Fitzgerald'll vacation this summer at Sophia Loren's home. . . . Cary Grant's ex-wife Betsy Drake enrolled as a student at UCLA.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Only one man in a million seems to know what this country needs—and he always turns out to be your cab driver.

REMEMERED QUOTE: "Young people were more respectful of their elders in the old days. Perhaps because they had more to respect."

Grissom, Navy Officer

Pick Gemini Spacemen

Pair Named to Pilot First 2-Man Flight

Back-Up Crewmen Are Also Selected for 3-Orbit Mission

HOUSTON (AP) — Maj. Virgil I. Grissom and Lt. Cmdr. John W. Young were selected today as the astronauts who will pilot the nation's first two-man space flight — a three-orbit Gemini mission late this year.

The back-up crew for the first manned flight of Project Gemini will be Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra and Capt. Thomas P. Stafford.

Gemini is the intermediate phase of the long-range training program that has an objective of placing project Apollo astronauts on the moon within the decade.

Of the four men selected today at the manned spacecraft center, the training base for astronauts, only Schirra has made an orbital flight.

★ ★ ★

Grissom made a suborbital flight of 142.1 miles downrange from Cape Kennedy Sept. 13, 1961.

6-ORBIT MISSION

Schirra followed with a six-orbit mission Oct. 3, 1962.

Young and Stafford, former test pilots, became astronaut trainees Sept. 17, 1962.

Since the completion of the one - man Mercury flights last year, Grissom has held a primary assignment as coordinator of Gemini affairs with other members of the astronaut team that now totals 29 pilots.

★ ★ ★

Schirra, now 41, is the oldest of the original seven Mercury astronauts now that Lt. Col. John Glenn has resigned from the program. Glenn is 42.

OPERATIONS COORDINATOR

Schirra, while concentrating on the Gemini program, has been a coordinator of operations and training.

Young has specialized on the design and development of environmental control systems, survival gear, pressure suits, couches and other personal equipment.

Stafford has specialized on communications, instrumentation and range integration.

Candidate Profiles Appear on Page 22

Probe Figure Levels Charge

Baker Witness Claims Gag Try by Reedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man who injected President Johnson's name into the Senate investigation of Bobby Baker, claims a Johnson aide tried to quiet him, and Baker advised him to go into hiding.

Reynolds said these alleged muzzling attempts were made when he began cooperating with Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., whose own probe of Baker touched off the inquiry by the Senate Rules Committee. Johnson then was vice president.

Reynolds' story as given by him on an interview program, taped for broadcast by Radio Press International:

"When it (cooperating with Williams) first started I received a call from Mr. George Reedy (now White House press secretary) and he contacted me in my downtown office in Washington and informed me that he had had the president (sic) in contact with him and that possibly it would be better for me to refrain from making any statements at all. That he would release all information pertaining to the insurance on the previously Sen. Johnson."

★ ★ ★

Tornadoes Hit Midwest; 6 Killed, 50 Are Injured

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Dazed survivors picked through the rubble of homes and business buildings today in the wake of tornadoes that slashed through eastern Kansas, western Missouri and southwestern Iowa.

Six persons were killed and at least 50 were injured.

Most of the twisters snaked out of thunderstorms that could be seen for miles in the late afternoon—otherwise the toll could have been greater.

Two lines of the storms bracketed Kansas City—one to the northwest, the other southeast—and rolled rapidly to the northeast.

★ ★ ★

The dead were:

Mrs. Jack L. Wilson, 24, Independence, Kan.; Warren Kenyan, 43, Neosho, Mo.; and his wife, Ella, all killed near Garnett, Kan.

KILLED IN BARN

Charles Hedger, 13, killed in a barn near Pleasant Grove, Mo.

Victor Kerns, 50, killed near his home northwest of Leeton, Mo.

Flora Eichhorst, 90, killed in her home at Yorktown, Iowa.

★ ★ ★

One twister sucked up a line of traffic on US59 five miles south of Garnett and hurled a 50,000 - pound truck, a pickup truck and six cars in all directions, killing the Kenyans and Mrs. Wilson and injuring eight other persons.

HAULING MEAT

"It felt like the truck was lifted up off the highway," said Stephen A. Miller, 29, of St. Joseph, Mo., who was hauling 25,000 pounds of meat to Dallas.

"I could see the trailer sticking straight over my head as I looked out of the cab," Miller said. "But I don't know if it was really up there or whether I was up there and just didn't know where the ground was."

The truck was dropped upside down in a 40-foot ravine about 35 feet from the pavement. Miller suffered only a slight scalp cut.

★ ★ ★

The pickup truck was flung a quarter-mile. The driver, Christopher Lewis, 54, Parsons, Kan., suffered a knee injury.

CARS SMASHED

Right behind Miller's truck, the Kenyan car was hurled 600 feet to one side. Another landed 600 feet on the other side of the road. The cars were smashed into twisted bits of metal.

Blinding dust kicked up by strong winds caused at least 15 cars to ram together in one pileup on the Kansas Turnpike six miles south of the Wellington interchange. Six persons were injured, none seriously.

Students at the University of Kansas saw a twister coming directly toward Lawrence, Kan. from the southwest.

At least 14 homes were damaged or destroyed by that tornado, and three persons were injured.

Romney Criticizes LBJ, Claims Success in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. George W. Romney made a quick circuit of local and national politics during the weekend, exuding confidence about Michigan but criticizing President Johnson in Washington.

Romney said yesterday in Washington that Johnson can be beaten in the November election if "people begin to realize the extent to which he has pulled the wool over our eyes."

The Republican governor said Johnson has "established a relationship with different groups in a very skillful manner politically that tends to encourage them to believe that he is supporting their positions whereas their positions are in great conflict."

Romney, appearing on radio and television, repeated he is not a candidate for the GOP presidential nomination.

Earlier, Romney disagreed with two men who want to be governor on who deserves credit for Michigan's economic boom.

The boom boosted the total value of goods and services produced in Michigan last year to $264 billion up $2.3 billion

Wet Winds Open Week

Wet winds gave Monday a grand entrance into the week.

★ ★ ★

The rain started at 2:30 a.m. and reached its peak between 3:30 and 4:30 this morning. At 8 a.m. winds were south-southeast at 25 m.p.h. with gusts up to 34 m.p.h.

The local weather bureau predicted higher winds and thunderstorms later in the day.

Temperatures will average near the normal high of 58 and low of 39 for the next five days.

The low before 8 this morning was 52. By 1 p.m. it was 65.

West German Girl Also Dead

Avalanche Kills U.S. Ski Star

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Buddy Werner, the hard-luck American ski star, lost a desperate race with an avalanche yesterday and was killed under tons of snow.

The 28-year-old Olympian was taking part in the filming of a ski fashions movie with other top skiers when the wet spring snow thundered down the Alpine slope at Samedan, a village two miles outside of this winter resort.

The avalanche also killed Barbara Barbi Henneberger, 23, one of West Germany's top women skiers. Fifteen others in the group dug themselves out or were freed by rescuers.

"It was a nightmare," said 27-year-old Fritz Wagnerberger, a veteran German racer.

★ ★ ★

"We left early in the morning and chose what looked like a safe slope. Avalanches are frequent in the spring, but they rarely come down in the morning.

CROSSING SLOPE

"We were crossing the slope in a file while the crew was filming when all of a sudden the snow gave way under our skis. It was about 10 o'clock in the morning.

"Pandemonium broke out. It was terrible. We were yelling and the screams could be heard over the thunder of the snow.

"Buddy Werner raced down in front of me trying to get away. He was a little lower down and probably thought he had a chance to race away from the slide.

"Perhaps he could have done it, who can say? He got to the bottom, but then he slipped, somersaulted and was lying in the snow as the second arm of the slide crashed right on top of him.

"I think the same happened to Barbi."

Wagnerberger said those who dug themselves out rushed to where Werner and Miss Henneberger were buried and dug into the snow with bare hands. Other skiers from a nearby lift came quickly.

"In the end there were hundreds helping us," Wagnerberger said, "but for Bud and Barbi it was too late."

Miss Henneberger's body was found in eight feet of snow three hours after the slide. Werner's later in 10 feet. Both had suffocated.

Werner, whose first name was Wallace, made his home in Steamboat Springs, Colo. Although he never won an Olympic medal, he was the first American male skier to be taken seriously by the Europeans.

★ ★ ★

In the 1964 Olympics, Werner placed 17th in the men's downhill and eighth in the slalom and was disqualified in the giant slalom.

REP. LLOYD L. ANDERSON

'School Needs Must Be Met'

Legislator Supports College for County

"America's huge population explosion reaches the freshman year in college of 1964," said Representative Lloyd L. Anderson to The Press today. "Our onetime war babies are now young adults.

★ ★ ★

"The entire nation faces the greatest influx of students in all history, Michigan will be one of the top states, and our legislature must face it squarely and vote the money to educate our own young people. The Senate has already passed a $260 - billion dollar appropriation for education, mental health and airport help and the House must recognize the need. The important education feature is almost a duplicate of what Gov. Romney said was absolutely essential and a minimum.

★ ★ ★

"Personally, I also favor these community colleges, and we should aim at one for Oakland County. Many students can't get into the four-year institution and they deserve two-year assistance.

★ ★ ★

"Our Oakland University is facing a period of its greatest expansion right now. It desperately needs new housing, class rooms and additional faculty members. All this investment will pay dividends in the education of our own youth and even in added commerce in the area."

Alaskans Battling High Tides

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Quake-torn south-central Alaska coastal communities, jolted by another sharp after-shock Sunday, battled floods of sea water from high spring tides today.

The sea, pulled into high tides about this time each year by the combined attraction of the moon and sun, has been moving up into areas which sank in the disastrous earthquake of March 27.

The highest for April are expected today and tomorrow, and owners of business buildings in the sunken areas have been trying to protect them by jacking them up or by building dikes around them.

Flooding is the big problem now. Yesterday's after-shock didn't make much impression on the residents of this shaken state. The ground rocked, and dishes and windows rattled, but no one was reported hurt.

The casualty list of the big quake still stands at 114 dead or missing and the damage is estimated at $750 million.

Land in places along the rim of the Gulf of Alaska, on the Kenai Peninsula and on Kodiak Island is believed to have sunk from three to six feet in places.

High tides lapping the western tip of the Kenai Peninsula yesterday came within inches of buildings along the waterfront of Seldovia.

The water rose high enough one block inside the waterfront at Kodiak so a large barge, tossed there by the tidal wave which followed the big quake, was almost floated again. Two bulldozers pushed, and a fishing boat pulled to try to get it back to deep water.

The sea flooded an area about two city blocks long and two blocks back from the old shore at Kodiak.

Budget, Election Face Board

Major issues before the Oakland County Board of Supervisors at its meeting tomorrow in the courthouse auditorium will be a recommended $18.4-million budget for next year, and the annual election of officers.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Delos Hamlin is facing no announced opposition in his bid for a ninth consecutive term, although other nominations could be made from the floor.

A race for the vice chairmanship is assured between incumbent Frank Webber and Duane Hursfall, supervisor from Independence Township.

Hursfall has announced that he is running for vice chairman with an eye on the chairmanship next year.

Satisfied with the status quo, Addison Township Supervisor Webber said he isn't seeking the chairmanship, but that he would be a candidate if nominated from the floor.

$2.4 MILLION MORE

The proposed $18.4 million budget to operate the county in 1965 is for $2.4 million more than the current year's budget.

The larger amount is recommended jointly by the board's ways and means and salaries committees and by the County Board of Auditors.

In a prepared statement they noted that the following major changes anticipated for next year have been taken into account:

● Proposed reorganization and renovations at the Medical Care Facility and Tuberculosis Sanatorium which, while increasing operational expenses at the sanatorium, are expected to result in overall savings to the county of $250,000.

★ ★ ★

● Financial help through the federal government's Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADC-U) program, affecting general relief costs.

★ ★ ★

● Operational cost increases due to the opening of first units of the Children's Village for probate and juvenile court wards.

● Additional costs due to new programs proposed by the Community Mental Health Board under a new state act for earl-

Talks Raise Hope on U.N. Financing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Private talks between the United States and the Soviet Union have raised hopes in some quarters that the two powers may settle a money dispute that threatens the United Nations.

The United States has been insisting that the Soviet Union pay at least part of its share of the U.N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East. Otherwise, says the United States, the Russians should lose their vote in the General Assembly.

The Russians reply that such pressure could result in the "breakup of the United Nations."

Diplomatic sources report that American and Soviet delegates held at least five meetings last month on an American-British compromise plan. It calls for the Russians to pay part of their back assessments. In exchange they would be assured more voice in peace-keeping operations and their financing.

PLAN CONSIDERED

The diplomatic sources said the Russians were considering the plan. There were indications that they were trying to make a package deal involving both U.N. finances and disarmament.

Some U.N. delegates believe the Soviet Union fears the issue will harm the United Nations and is anxious for a settlement.

That, they intimated, was the feeling among representatives of underdeveloped countries who assembled at Nigerian delegation headquarters Friday to discuss a meeting April 27 of the assembly's 21-nation working group on U.N. finances.

The working group must recommend to next fall's General Assembly how to parcel out the costs of future peacekeeping operations among U.N. members.

ALLOW TIME

Diplomatic sources predicted that after hearing a few general speeches on the urgency of the problem, it would adjourn until July to allow time for the American-Russian talks to come to a head.

The United States argues that the Soviet Union will lose its assembly vote automatically because it is more than two years behind in its total U.N. dues. The charter says any member two years delinquent "shall have no vote."

The Soviet Union challenges the U.S. contention—which the World Court and the assembly have endorsed — that peacekeeping assessments are valid obligations.

Of almost $55 million that the Soviet Union owes, more than $52 million is for the Congo and Middle East forces. The Russians contend the assembly's assessments for both are illegal that only the Security Council is empowered to finance peacekeeping operations.

PLAN STIPULATES

Under the American-British proposal:

The Russians would pay $8 million or $9 million of their back debt—enough to put them less than two years behind.

★ ★ ★

In the future, the Security Council would get the first chance to start a peace-keeping operation. The assembly would take over only if it failed. The system for calling an emergency assembly session in case of a veto in the council would also be changed. Now, either a majority of U.N. members or any seven Security Council members can call one. There would be a new requirement that the majority must include at least four of the five veto-holding council members.

★ ★ ★

When a peace-keeping proposal reached the assembly, it would go to a screening committee including all the biggest contributors to the U.N. budget. This committee would work out details.

100 Doctors End Strike in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The government announced today about 100 doctors in the Mechelen area, midway between Brussels and Antwerp, have ended their strike.

Premier Theo Lefevre's office said the Mechelen doctors had signed an agreement with a local health insurance association thereby breaking with the striking medical union.

At strike headquarters in Brussels, a spokesman said: "We believe it's another trial balloon like the one of last week in Seraing, near Liege. Twenty-four hours later, the so-called agreement had blown up again, and things remained unchanged."

NEAR AGREEMENT

Physicians in Seraing were near an agreement but it failed to obtain final approval.

The government's announcement was backed up by Mechelen's acting mayor. He said the doctors would be back at work shortly.

The possible dent in the united front of Belgium's 12,000 striking physicians and dentists came after the government ordered the mobilization of army reserve doctors for emergency duty in civilian hospitals.

★ ★ ★

About a third of the 3,600 reserve doctors have reported, the Defense Ministry said.

The Defense Ministry had no record of any doctors refusing to answer mobilization orders although distribution of individual orders was reported slow.

Many doctors reported with their uniforms but without their cars and medical instruments. This forced the government to provide them with transportation and equipment.

PROTEST REVISION

The strike began 13 days ago as a protest against revision in the government's national health insurance system. Many of the doctors and dentists went on Easter vacations with their families at the start of the walkout.

★ ★ ★

Strike leaders threatened a complete shutdown of medical services but 2,000 physicians continued emergency service in hospitals. However, all the doctors refused to make house calls or examine patients in their offices except in the most critical cases.

NO FURTHER ACTION

No further action on the proposed budget is likely tomorrow. Supervisors have a week to evaluate it before the 85-member board reaches any decision.

Whatever budget they decide upon may be reduced further after tax allocations in June.

The board of supervisors will be asked to take the following action tomorrow:

- Award contracts totaling $4.35 million for construction of a Waterford Township water supply system.
- Approve a legislative committee recommendation that the State Legislature take no action this year on a proposed county home rule enabling act.
- Appoint a special committee to further study the possibility of county home rule.
- Set an election June 2 in Royal Oak Township to decide whether to incorporate as a home rule city.

Absent Vote Deadline Saturday

Registered voters who will be out of town or otherwise unable to get to the polls in Pontiac's general election next Monday are urged to apply for absent voter ballots soon.

★ ★ ★

The deadline for getting absent voter ballots is 2 p.m. Saturday, April 18, at the city clerk's office on the main floor of City Hall.

The clerk's office will be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Friday, and 8 to 2 on Saturday.

Before the clerk can mail ballots to absent voters, he must have an application filled out and signed by the absent voter. The application forms are now available at the clerk's office.

★ ★ ★

Persons who know they will be out of town on business or vacationing during the April 20 general city election, may fill out their application in person and get their ballot all at once.

KEPT UNOPENED

Absent voters are urged not to wait until the last moment to mail their ballots.

All absent ballots are kept unopened in the clerk's office until election day, when they are distributed to their respective precinct polling places.

★ ★ ★

They are opened and counted when the polls close. Any received too late to be counted when the polls close, are invalid and do not count.

of town and stay out of town for a couple of weeks. He'll (Williams) get you and the rest of us into jail."

Reynolds said Baker offered to send him money while in hiding, but that he refused and cooperated with Williams.

Reynolds testified before the committee in January that Baker had him send an expensive record player to Johnson's home after writing a life insurance policy on Johnson.

The insurance man also told the committee that at the suggestion of Johnson's aide Walter Jenkins he purchased $1,208 worth of advertising time he couldn't use from the Austin, Tex., television station controlled by the Johnson family.

★ ★ ★

Johnson has publicly acknowledged receipt of the record player, but said he thought it was a gift from Baker and that Baker was an old friend. Jenkins has denied any knowledge of the arrangements for the television time purchase.

The White House declined comment on the Reynolds interview and efforts to reach Baker were unsuccessful.

Rails, Unions Closeted in Bargaining Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—In virtual secrecy, rail management and labor representatives resume issue-by-issue bargaining today a stone's throw from the White House, knowing that failure to agree by April 25 could touch off a coast-to-coast strike.

The negotiators are working under a temporary truce effected by President Johnson and under the guidance of a presidentially arranged five-man team of special mediators. The sessions began at the White House and have moved across the street to the Executive Office Building so the President can pop in and otherwise make the two sides aware of his interest.

★ ★ ★

By arrangement, White House press secretary George Reedy is the sole source of information about the bargaining and except for word that issue-by-issue bargaining was under way and that both sides were showing "a sincere desire to settle" he has been reluctant to pass on details.

It would be an "utmost exercise in futility" to try to predict an outcome, Reedy said Sunday. He did venture the view that the mediators obviously must have felt some optimism when they decided to bring the opposing parties into the same conference room.

FACE TO FACE

The mediators had been shuttling from one side to the other before bringing the rail executives and brotherhood chiefs face to face Sunday afternoon. The session continued into the night.

This last-ditch round of negotiation apparently is the only possible source of solution to the tangled work rules dispute. Johnson has exhausted all presidential actions provided by existing legislation and Congress is reluctant to get entangled in the subject again.

★ ★ ★

At his news conference Saturday, the President said he is not considering any new legislation that would take the dispute out of the hands of the carriers and the unions.

"I am not here to bury collective bargaining," he said. "I am here to preserve it. I am prepared to carry on negotiations with the thought that we are going to reach a settlement, and I hope and pray we will."

★ ★ ★

Ironically, the major issue in the five-year tug-of-war between management and labor is not before the negotiators. The elimination of 40,000 firemen on diesel locomotives has been carried to the Supreme Court on union appeal from an arbitration award in favor of the roads.

LBJ Criticized by Romney

over 1962 — and personal income climbed 9.4 per cent to $21.1 billion, Romney said.

Speaking to the Michigan Associated Press Broadcasters Association at East Lansing, Romney credited the people of Michigan, the automobile industry, the legislature and his administration.

At Holland, Democratic Congressman-at-large Neil Staebler contended policies of the Democratic administration in Washington brought on a national wave of prosperity which Michigan joined.

And Ferndale auto dealer George Higgins, who plans to seek the GOP gubernatorial nomination, declared that any progress in Michigan in the last two years was made despite Romney, not because of him.

★ ★ ★

To Staebler's contention, Romney replied: "The automobile industry is pulling the nation's economy upward, and that is a fact which should make every Michigan citizen proud of the state in which he lives."

The governor said his administration has "taken vigorous steps to encourage business and industry to locate in the state."

He mentioned a $750,000 fund to finance job-producing research at state universities as an economy-boosting measure.

Speaking at Hope College, Staebler — the only announced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination —called for turning current economic growth into "a weapon against unemployment, poverty and second-rate education."

Higgins criticized Romney for what he called not knowing "how to get cooperation between the Democrats and Republicans." Higgins talked to a meeting of United Auto Workers Local 771 in Detroit.

Eye Canvassers' Power as Webb Named Victor

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The "victory" of sticker candidate George H. Webb has sparked serious questioning of Michigan's election laws here.

Just what is meant by the term "canvassing" and how far can election canvassers go in determining the intention of the voters?

Bloomfield Hills' board of canvassers, required by the new State Constitution, Saturday broke a tie vote by certifying the election of Webb.

Their vote on the issue was 3-1. Chairman George H. Goldstone, a Democrat, dissented.

★ ★ ★

"I don not concur in either the statement of votes cast nor in the above certification for the reason that is is not a true and correct canvass of the returns and is contrary to law," Goldstone read into the record.

HEATED DISCUSSION

The action followed four hours of often-heated discussion among the four board members. They listened to a statement from City Attorney W. B. Hartman, who said canvassing consists simply of approving a count of the votes, and then voted not to let him expand on his opinion.

The legal aspects of the question were argued by Goldstone and his fellow Democrat on the board, Mrs. Cass S. Jaros. While members of the same political party, the two attorneys were at opposite poles on the extent of their power as canvassers.

Both noted, however, that there never has been a State Supreme Court case in which the duties of boards of canvassers were the central issue.

★ ★ ★

Also on the bipartisan board are the two Republicans who voted with Mrs. Jaros, Robert E. Anderson and Allen D. Hart.

TIE VOTE

Confronting them was a tie between Webb and incumbent James A. Beresford for a 2-year term on the City Commission. Each has been credited with 395 votes.

Webb ran as a sticker candidate on the "2-story" slate which opposed recent commission adoption of a zoning ordinance allowing construction of 3-story multiple residences.

Robert Frye, the only "2-story" slater who had filed a nominating petition, won the other 2-year term with 555 votes.

★ ★ ★

The third member of the slate, sticker candidate Ross Pierce, was defeated by incumbent John Blanchard in his bid for a one-year term.

CONSULTS ATTORNEY

Although Beresford and Webb each received 395 votes for the 2-year term, 23 electors pasted stickers for Webb in the one-year slot and one in that for constable.

★ ★ ★

Beresford was to consult an attorney this morning.

"The real signifcance of this, I think, goes far beyond the election," he said. "That's what concerns me."

GM in Detroit 1st Target for NAACP Protests

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —General Motors Corp.'s Detroit headquarters will be the target May 4 for the start of national protest demonstrations against what a Negro group calls the company's "discriminatory practices in employment."

The date was announced by Herbert Hill, New York, labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

★ ★ ★

The NAACP's charge against GM was aired by Hill at a news conference Saturday during a Midwest leadership training conference of the civil rights organization. It promptly brought company denials that GM practices discrimination.

GM's statement said the company employs non-whites as draftsmen, accountants, librarians, foremen, skilled tradesmen and general office workers.

'N. Viet War a Possibility'

Could Extend Fight, Rusk Tells SEATO

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a closed session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization today the United States does not completely rule out extending the war in South Viet Nam, presumably into the Communist North.

This was reported by U.S. informants after the eight-nation

session. They said Rusk laid heavy emphasis on the Viet Nam war, although South Viet Nam is not a member of the mutual defense organization set up 10 years ago to halt Communist expansion in Southeast Asia.

★ ★ ★

The informants quoted Rusk as saying that a victory over the Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam is vital to the West.

The United States, Rusk said, has decided on a course of support and guidance of the South Vietnamese but he added that the United States could not completely preclude extension of the war in a situation so volatile and important to the Western world. Rusk said, however, widening of the war is not what the United States wants and is not a course that anyone would welcome.

NO QUESTION

He said there is no question that the Communist Viet Cong in Viet Nam is being controlled, supplied and directed by North Viet Nam. The Viet Cong have improved their techniques and added new capabilities, but their ability to overrun large sections of the countryside does not mean they are running the countryside, Rusk said.

Rusk also discussed what he called the ineffective neutrality of Laos, also outside SEATO. He said SEATO, particularly because of Laos and Viet Nam, is in serious trouble and blamed this on Red China and North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The simple fact is, Rusk said, that the North Vietnamese and the Red Chinese "won't leave their neighbors alone, which is the key to peace and tranquility in the area."

Rusk called for the full support of SEATO for the South Vietnamese.

100 Hurt in Yugoslavia, Hungary

Earthquake Strikes in Balkans

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, (AP)—An earthquake struck a wide region of northern Yugoslavia and part of southern Hungary today, killing at least one and injuring more than 100 persons. Panic spread in the two neighoring countries and damage appeared widespread.

★ ★ ★

Downtown buildings swayed and some cracked in downtown Belgrade, where thousands fled into the streets on a warm, sunny morning. Schools and many factories and offices closed. The Budapest radio said the Hungarian capital also was shaken.

DEATH REPORTED

The first death was reported near the epicenter of the quake about 125 miles west of Belgrade. A 13-year-old girl was killed when a staircase collapset at a school at Djakovo.

Reports reaching Belgrade said more than 100 persons were injured in the quake area, stretching westward from Belgrade and north to the Hungarian border. Budapest radio reported panic in southern Hungary but made no mention of casualties.

★ ★ ★

According to reports filtering in from the area, damage was serious in the region close to the center of the quake.

HIT HARD

Among the hardest hit were Szekszard, a Hungarian wine and agricultural center 80 miles southwest of Budapest, and Salvonski Brod, a rail and farming center 125 miles west of Belgrade.

★ ★ ★

Radio Budapest said many buildings were damaged at Szekszard, and Communist party headquarters was severely damaged and its occupants escaped in panic. It made no mention of casualties.

Thirty persons were injured, two seriously, in Slavonski Brod, reports reaching Belgrade said. These accounts did not detail the damage but said destruction was worst in villages north of the city. Many houses were left uninhabitable in these villages.

INJURED WHILE FLEEING

Several persons were injured fleeing from buildings in the industrial town of Borovo, near the Danube, about 135 miles northwest of Belgrade. A number of houses were damaged there. Several houses were reported destroyed at Baka Topola, 35 miles north of Belgrade. Several chimneys fell and some old houses were damaged in Sremska Mitrovica, in the Yugoslav north.

Budapest reported the earthquake hit at 9:33 a.m. Two shocks were felt in Belgrade, where the needle was jolted from the instrument at the seismological station.

Although no great damage was reported in Belgrade, schools were closed as a precaution.

Brush Fire Burns Are Fatal to Fireman

LANSING (AP) — Joseph Metzger, a fireman in suburban Maple Grove, died Sunday of burns suffered when he was engulfed by a wall of flames while fighting a 400-acre grass and brush fire south of Lansing Saturday.

David Berry of Lansing, one of two other firemen who suffered burns, was hospitalized but reported in good condition. The other injured fireman was treated and released.

Victim of Sudden Illness

Albion Mourns Teen Death

ALBION (AP) — Pretty, 16-year-old Sally Hubendick, victim of a sudden, fatal illness before her scheduled high school stage appearance, was mourned by this little central Michigan city today.

Sally, Albion High School honor student, died in a hospital Saturday night almost at curtain time for her school's amateur production of the musical "Carousel."

She was to have played "Carousel's" feminine lead of "Julie" just as she had done to adults' applause the night before.

Sally collapsed at home and died at Sheldon Memorial Hospital at 7:55 p.m.

Heart massage failed to save her.

PLAY CANCELED

"Carousel's" performance was canceled.

Dr. Frank Strohmenger, family physician, said Sally was found to have had mononucleosis, a blood ailment, and that this probably had caused a spleen rupture.

A hemorrhage from the rupture caused death, he said.

* * *

Sally's illness had come suddenly and without advance symptoms, Dr. Strohmenger said.

ACTIVE IN SCHOOL

One of five children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hubendick, Sally was a member of the debating team, sang in the choir, and belonged to the student council.

A sophomore, she got all A's and B's in her studies.

"She was a good, all-around girl," said Harry E. Williams, her high school principal.

* * *

Sally's funeral services were conducted today from St. James Episcopal Church.

She was to have taken part in a musical festival today in Kalamazoo.

Sukarno Frees U.S. Newsman

Arrest of Reporter Protested by Envoy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno ordered the release of Newsweek correspondent Robert McCabe today after U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones protested vigorously to him against McCabe's detention by the Indonesian military police.

McCabe, 34, Far Eastern correspondent of the American news magazine was picked up by military police at his hotel room before breakfast yesterday. Foreign Minister Subandrio accused him of "false and inflammatory" reporting on Indonesia and said his reporting was subversive.

McCabe, who came from Hong Kong to cover the second African-Asian preparatory, ministerial conference, was interrogated at military police headquarters and then moved to an unknown place.

American Embassy officials and foreign newsmen who tried to see McCabe were virtually ordered out of the police headquarters.

McCabe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester McCabe of Edina, a suburb of Minneapolis, graduated from Dartmouth College in 1951. He was employed by Stars and Stripes and the Wall Street Journal before joining Newsweek.

Cadillac

AN INTERNATIONAL CELEBRITY ARRIVES AT THE FAIR

The occasion is the New York World's Fair . . . the scene is the spectacular General Motors Futurama—and the car, of course, is Cadillac.

And the Cadillac car is a standout attraction even in this distinguished international company. Drive any of eleven 1964 models and you'll discover why.

There's Cadillac's magnificent and silent power. A 340-horsepower V-8 engine—most powerful in Cadillac history—generates performance so swiftly that we caution even long-time Cadillac owners to mind their speedometers. There is, in addition, the remarkable smoothness of our transmissions—an improved Hydra-Matic or new Turbo Hydra-Matic.

There is the luxury of elegantly appointed interiors, together with the great convenience of power brakes and steering (plus power windows on most models) that have turned the 600-mile day into a restful reality.

And there is also investment. Find a fine car, if you can, that returns more than your Cadillac when you choose to sell or trade it.

Visit your Cadillac dealer soon. His selection of international favorites has never been more tempting.

Pontiac Proud to Be Called a 'General Motors Town'

As you go about the Country, you become inordinately proud of the fact you're from a "General Motors town." There's no gainsaying the fact the huge corporation has a top-level, A-1 rating with people from coast to coast.

And are they envious.

Verily, I say unto you: they are.

★ ★ ★

For half a century, General Motors has led almost every economic parade there is. It manufactures top-notch products that command attention, admiration and respect. And (hold your breath) it entices that all important man with the pocketbook to ease the rubber band and make a down payment.

★ ★ ★

GM's steadily increasing growth and investment in land, buildings and jobs have produced prosperity for millions. Subsidiaries are scattered all over a far-flung American empire and even extend across the ocean. I recall a sentence I wrote once for the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce:

"Yes, it's true that we have about all our eggs in one basket—but what a basket!"

★ ★ ★

Every town and hamlet in the United States wishes devoutly it could be some small, tiny part of this great, industrial operation which leads the world.

Nazis' Mass Murder . . . .

One of the most revolting revelations in world history comes out of the current Nazi trial.

★ ★ ★

Can you imagine human beings so drunk with power that they order and carry out the cold-blooded murder of little children? The testimony showing the tearful efforts of these little folks between four and eleven to persuade their German captors "not to kill us, please, for we can do work" paints one of the lowest pictures of human beings in all existence.

Germany can hang her head forever. And it won't suffice for Germany to say: "Well, these were just the ideas of a few people twenty years ago."

Phooey.

★ ★ ★

The balance of the Hun population knew what was happening and never checked the wholesale slaughter of human beings which far, far outdid the Roman circuses, for the emperors never slaughtered their victims by the millions.

Spectators at the Auschwitz trials screamed: "Beat him dead. Kill him. Hang him," at one of the established perpetrators. But during the war, HITLER and his minions were obeyed and upheld. The onus of the lowest act of mass murder forever stains the bloody escutcheon of the German people. Current generations can establish personal innocence but their forefathers were part and parcel of the horror. Twice in the memory of man today Germany has visited world wars upon humanity.

★ ★ ★

Can you picture Americans — yesterday, today or tomorrow — countenancing the wholesale slaughter of millions, including innocent little children? It's too preposterous to discuss.

Yet Germany did it.

Distressing Times . . . .

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV's current visit to Budapest, Hungary, is ironical, cruel and a mockery of all Christianity and world decency.

Just a little over seven years ago, great Russian hordes swarmed across this brave land with the latest in death-dealing devices and slaughtered the freedom-loving people who were fighting for the sanctity of their own precious home land. It was nothing but methodical and calculated butchery and the Russians went about it with an utter disregard for any semblance of compassion. Not even hospitals were immune.

★ ★ ★

K's latest purpose is to "guarantee" the subjugated peasants that the porridge will be more plentiful henceforth. This is a reply to Red China which is promising world revolution rather freely. Neither of these overlords understands government or farming sufficiently to feed themselves adequately to say nothing of their captives. This requires a dash of free enterprise or the touch of a capitalistic system.

★ ★ ★

What can a grand nation and a proud people like the Hungarians do in these circumstances? Any answer is depressing.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Have you heard about the new snow and ice tires for next winter? They have small metal studs that obviate the use of chains. . . . . The DU PONTS are proclaimed as the wealthiest family in the world. David Lawrence Says:

No Defense Against Rail Strike

WASHINGTON — With all the talk about civil rights and the importance of equal opportunity in employment, particularly in businesses affected by interstate commerce, it is an incredible fact of American life that overnight the entire rail-transportation system of the country today can be halted, and untold loss inflicted on innocent citizens and their properties, while large-scale unemployment is forced upon the nation.

LAWRENCE

Congress is fully authorized under the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution to regulate the operations of the railroads.

But Congress, for political reasons, shies away from regulatory legislation on rail stoppages and lets the nation be subject to threat after threat that could paralyze the whole economy.

President Johnson last week persuaded the railroad companies and the unions to negotiate for 15 days, but it will come as a surprise to most people that nothing has been done heretofore by Congress or by the President to forbid at all times any action by private companies or labor unions engaged in interstate commerce which can bring such a catastrophe to the American people.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps in the next few days, if the negotiations fail, the President will appear before Congress, as other presidents have done, to ask for remedial legislation.

CONTRIBUTING FACTOR

The very absence of such an alternative to a rail strike is a contributing factor to extreme tactics in labor-management negotiations.

A year ago, when a national rail strike was threatened, Congress prescribed a formula —namely, compulsory arbitration on several but not all issues.

The rail unions, however, have insisted on carrying the matter to the courts.

★ ★ ★

Though they have lost in court after court and their case has not yet been finally decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, a strike was nevertheless called last week against the Illinois Central Railroad. This, in turn, provoked the threat of a nationwide strike.

MANY HARDSHIPS

There are many hardships involved in eliminating the jobs of 30,000 firemen, as required by the arbitration board's ruling, but the United States government could certainly find some kind of subsidy for the problem, just as it does in "foreign aid."

Already there have been some losses because of the threat of a strike last week. Several trains were canceled and damage was done to many businesses.

Meanwhile, because of the fear of losing labor-union votes, members of congress are hesitant to act.

Congress seems to be willing to worry about the effect on interstate commerce of discriminatory hiring practices, but it isn't ready as yet to come to grips with the discrimination against millions of innocent citizens who are deprived of goods, services and jobs as well as transportation.

Now that the public interest is really in danger, it remains to be seen whether the welfare of the American people as a whole, as opposed to the special interest of private groups, will be given due consideration.

Senators Up for Election Discount Wallace Vote

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine senators up for election this year in states outside the South agreed generally today that civil rights is not a prime issue in their contests.

Since Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace showed unexpected strength in the April 7 Wisconsin primary, politicians have been trying to calculate the depth of possible white resentment to the pace of racial integration.

Wallace said he ran in Wisconsin to demonstrate opposition to the House-passed civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

But interviews with nine potential senatorial candidates—five Democrats and four Republicans—indicated most of them think Wallace's 25 per cent of the total primary vote proved little, if anything.

★ ★ ★

Taking a different tack from some of his colleagues, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said it was "utterly immaterial" to him whether his advocacy of civil rights legislation would cost him votes in New York State areas.

DOUBTS LOSS

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said "I doubt whether a civil rights advocate will lose votes.

"This is not an issue on which people are now just making up their minds. I do not think opinions are likely to be swayed by political events between now and November."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt. said he doesn't think Wallace's showing will have any appreciable impact on New England contests.

FAVORS PASSAGE

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., who favors passage of some form of civil rights bill, was asked if he believes he might lose votes in Missouri by his position.

"I wouldn't think so," he replied.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said he does not think the Wallace showing would indicate any loss of votes for the bill's backers.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., who also supports passage of a bill, said the Wallace vote in Wisconsin was in no way relevant to Nebraska and would have no effect on the election there.

COSPONSOR OF BILL

Sen. Quentin H. Burdick, D-N.D., a cosponsor of the pending bill, wasn't sure whether his stand would lose him votes in North Dakota.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said his state already has fair employment practices and public accommodations laws more stringent than the provisions in the House bill.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said he thinks his support of the civil rights bill will have "no influence whatsoever" on his race in Hawaii.

Servicemen Send Thanks for All Reading Material

Recently I wrote The Pontiac Press expressing the plea for reading material for the men on the U.S.S. Glacier in the Antarctic. We are presently en route home to the United States.

★ ★ ★

The results of that plea were overwhelming. We received every kind of book and magazine imaginable. Each and every one was thoroughly read and enjoyed.

All of the men here on the Glacier wish to thank all the people of Pontiac and the readers of The Press from the bottoms of our hearts. May God bless all of you.

'Let Sen. Hart Know Civil Rights Beliefs'

The story that Sen. Hart's mail is running heavy against the Civil Rights Bill has aroused our interest. Many people favoring civil rights are taking Sen. Hart's vote for granted. This is a common mistake of Americans. If you believe in civil rights, let your senators know.

Says Criticism of Keego Unfounded

In answer to "disgusted With Keego Harbor," we weren't too happy with you, either. You parked on private property, then criticized our police department for its efficiency. Off-street parking is available at no charge, but you chose to park in a lot posted "For drug store customers only—others will be towed away."

★ ★ ★

When we visit Pontiac we pay for parking without argument because we respect your laws. No one is "happy" when apprehended and in your case you are taking it out on Keego Harbor when you were at fault.

If you continue to break laws and bypass each community where you receive tickets, your problem will be solved—you'll have no place to go.

Disgusted

Parent Finds Son's School Book Obscene

Talk about obscene books. My son left one of his required books for government home and I started reading it out of curiosity, and was shocked at what the seniors are required to read. The name of the book is, "A Shade of Difference," by Allen Drury. I'm referring to pages 81 and 143 respectively. I think the parents should demand an explanation from the Huron Valley Area Schools principal and teachers for requiring such filth to be read by our boys and girls.

★ ★ ★

I always understood that government was to teach our children the function of government and how our laws are made and enforced, and not how the people live and carry on behind the scenes and in the privacy of their bedrooms.

Tough Luck

The New York Daily News

The late President F. Kennedy a couple of years ago bulldozed the big steel companies into canceling a price boost, and ordered the steel industry investigated. All businessmen, remarked JFK bitterly, were SOBs.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson has been trying to live that one down ever since he took office following Mr. Kennedy's assissination last Nov. 22—and he has done rather well at convincing many businessmen that he is a friend of theirs.

Now, however, the JFK-ordered investigation has flowered in indictments, returned here by a federal grand jury, against eight big steel companies and two company officials for alleged price-fixing in violation of the anti-trust laws.

★ ★ ★

The incident slugged the stock market in the belly Tuesday, and promises to have far-reaching repercussions, none of which will help Mr. the new President thus embarbusiness community.

Johnson in his wooing of the rassed, because he is a fine fellow personally and we think he means well. But such is politics.

Space Exhibit

The State Journal

No world's fair in the space age can confine itself to this world and be worthy of its name.

That thought has not been over looked by the management of the New York fair which, through cooperation of NASA and the Defense Department, will include the largest assemblage of rockets and space vehicles ever shown outside the space cape in Florida.

The Space Park promises to be one of the most popular attractions at Flushing Meadow. As visitors gaze at the 110-foot Titan - II launching rocket and view the Mercury capsule in which astronaut Scott Carpenter flew three times around the globe, they will get an idea of where five billion or so of their tax dollars are going this year.

Poverty With Dems?

The New York Daily News

Officially opening his war on that old devil Proverty, President Johnson sent Congress a message in which he said that one-fifth of our estimated 190 million people "have not shared in the abundance which has been granted to most of us"

★ ★ ★

The lamented John F. Kennedy used to say during the 1960 presidential campaign that 17 million Americans went to bed hungry every night. One-fifth of 190 million is 38 million, which is President Johnson's estimate.

★ ★ ★

So if JFK was right and if LBJ is right, then the number of United States poor has more than doubled in three short years, with Democrats running the White House and having big majorities in Congress.

SEATO Undergoing Penetrating Analysis at Confab

MANILA (AP) — The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's 10th anniversary ministerial conference went into secret session today for what was expected to be the most penetrating analysis of the eight-nation pact since it was formed.

Two Asian members, Thailand and the Philippines, indicated at the opening session today that the time has come for some hard talking on the alliance's ability to stem Communist aggression.

GET RID OF MYTHS

France, which recently recognized Communist China and advocates the neutralization of Southeast Asia, also said the time as come "to do away with myths, to eliminate ambiguities and squarely to face realities."

* * *

France will face some candid questioning on its neutrality proposal, which has been rejected by the United States, Thailand and the Philippines.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in his opening address, cited such major problems of the area as South Viet Nam's war, the ineffective neutrality in Laos, the Indonesian confrontation of Malaysia and economic problems of the whole region.

THEME OF MEETING

But it was Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman who set the theme for the meeting.

Khoman said: "The 10th anniversary of the Manila Pact seems to be as good an occasion as any to review whether the strong urge which impelled eight nations to set up in this region a system of collective defense has kept its vitality or whether, with the passage of time, it has waned to the vanishing point for the simple reason that some may have lost interest in the original concept or have been reluctant to discharge their responsibility."

* * *

Khoman said membership in SEATO "cannot be conceived as a one-way street." If the members are satisfied with the alliance, "it is only natural that they also accept sacrifices."

The Thai diplomat said neutralization for South Viet Nam "would be tantamount to delivering the country, with hands and feet bound, to its northern aggressors."

Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez said the time has come to explore the present situation in Southeast Asia with candor and realism and to find out in what ways SEATO can continue to counteract or to deter Communist aggression or subversion.

Lopez pointed out that when the SEATO alliance was formed, he strongly advocated that it commit itself to automatic collective military action to repel aggression, along the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"It may now be observed, by way of footnote, that while the NATO treaty area has enjoyed relative stability and security from the subversive and expansionist schemes of communism, the same cannot be said of the SEATO treaty area," he said.

* * *

Rusk dwelt mainly on the war against the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam, saying the Red guerrillas are "directed, supported and supplied from Hanoi," capital of Communist North Viet Nam.

"The Communists have increased their attacks, but the government and people of South Viet Nam are moving with firm determintion to defeat this aggression," Rusk said.

Workers OK Strike at Burroughs Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Burroughs Corp. production workers voted to strike Sunday to enforce demands for a first contract. No strike date was set.

Local 1313 of the United Auto Workers, newly organized at Burroughs, announced the vote as 2,537 to 251. The local represents 5,000 workers at the business machines and electronics manufacturing company.

Union officials charged management has been stalling in negotiations. Sunday's vote followed a vote March 8 when Local 1313 authorized a strike vote.

First transcontinental Economy Run . . . 3,243 grueling miles from Los Angeles to the New York World's Fair!

Mobil Economy Run results prove the mileage potential of Mobil gasoline in cars like yours

45 different American cars travel coast to coast in world's greatest road test of gasoline performance

The Mobil Economy Run uses cars like yours! Not "factory specials." The actual cars are picked at random by United States Auto Club officials from dealer showrooms and factory assembly lines throughout the country. USAC seals every vital part, then keeps the car under guard throughout the Run.

On roads like you drive

Not on a "test track," but on steep mountain roads, on long open spaces, in desert heat, driving rains, through the traffic of city after city—this is the route of the Mobil Economy Run. This year it stretched from coast to coast, 3,243 miles from Los Angeles to the New York World's Fair.

United States Auto Club supervised

The results are certified by the United States Auto Club. No special equipment is permitted . . . normal highway speeds are maintained . . . and every car must carry an official USAC observer at all times. But the outstanding results of this year's Economy Run demonstrate more than just the mileage potential for your car. Here's why:

Mileage is the measure of power!

The miles per gallon a gasoline gives, shows the power available for other uses—power for quick starts, fast pick-up for safety in passing, and for climbing hills. Mobil gasoline proves it has the power available for the all-round performance you want . . . proves it in public year after year. Try Mobil—the Economy Run Gasoline!

Charges Dems Dupe Negroes

DETROIT (AP) — A doorbell-ringing campaign to get the Negro out to vote this fall is planned in every American city, Malcolm X said Sunday in charging that Negroes have been "duped" by the Democratic party.

Malcolm X leader of his newly organized Muslim Mosque, Inc., said the Negroes have given 80 per cent of their vote to Democrats but have received in return only a debate in Congress.

Malcolm X said in an interview that whites and Negroes have been misleading each other. He said whites do not want integration and "the Negro has been telling the white man what he thinks the white man wants to hear."

In a talk at King Solomon Baptist Church, Malcolm X warned there may be nationwide racial trouble this summer.

Malcolm X's new group, which split off the Black Muslims, advocates separation of the races though also cooperation, its leader said.

Turks Vow 'Fight to Death'

New Cypriot Clash Over Pass

AP Photofax

MEETING IN ATHENS — Cyprus President Makarious (left) confers with former EOKA underground leader George Grivas in Athens yesterday. While Greek Cypriots are hoping Grivas will be recalled to command their national guard, there is no definite word that such an agreement has been reached. Grivas broke with Makarious over a 1960 agreement which established Cyprus as a republic of the British Commonwealth.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — New fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots erupted today around the strategic Kyrenia pass where the outmanned Turks vowed to "fight to death" to defend their positions.

Greek Cypriot reinforcements were reported pouring into the area. The buildup, scene yesterday of heavy fighting, indicated an imminent battle that could be the biggest clash since the Cyprus crisis began last December.

Shooting broke out this morning on "Whisky Peak" overlooking the pass and spread to the besieged Turkish Cypriot village of Temblos, west of Kyrenia and below the Turkish Cypriot stronghold of St. Hilarion castle.

Other shooting was heard at the Greek Cypriot village of Pano Dhikomo.

* * *

Sources close to the United Nations peace force said an assault on Temblos would be necessary if the Greek Cypriots planned to launch a full-scale attack on St. Hilarion.

SOME GREEKS KILLED

No reliable estimates were available for casualties in yesterday's shooting, but at least one Turkish Cypriot and "some" Greek Cypriots were reported killed.

About 25 Turkish Cypriots fending the pass through which the key Nicosia-Kyrenia highway runs north to Turkish Cypriot strongholds. Dug in along the road at some distance from the peak were troops of the regular Turkish Army.

The Greek Cypriot attacking force, which numbered about 450 men yesterday, assaulted the peak with mortars, heavy machine guns, other automatic weapons and rifles.

* * *

The commander of the Turkish Cypriots guarding the peak told a UPI correspondent "I am certain Turkey will invade Cyprus soon — otherwise there is no point in our continuing to defend ourselves here."

"We'll defend ourselves to the end anyway," he added. "We've nowhere else to go."

GREEK IN ATHENS

Greek Cypriot President Makarios was in Athens discussing the crisis and the possibility of a Turkish invasion with Greek Premier George Papandreou. He also met with Gen. George Grivas, the former Greek Cypriot terrorist leader.

There were reports that Grivas, who spearheaded the underground campaign which led to Cyprus' independence from Britain in 1960, might return to this Mediterranean island to head its security forces.

Turkey has threatened to rush reinforcements to Cyprus if the Greek Cypriots try to remove forcefully the Turkish Army troops from the Nicosia-Kyrenia highway. This could lead to similar intervention by Greece, and war between the two NATO members.

* * *

The Turkish troops have been entrenched along the road since the initial fighting erupted Christmas week over political and constitutional differences between the feuding Greek majority and Turkish minority. The Turks and Turkish Cypriots have blocked passage to their northern strongholds and to the important port of Kyrenia.

Hope in Fatal Baby Disease

Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO—Discovery of the reason why some babies fall sick and die of a short-circuiting nerve disease was reported today.

These babies cannot make a certain fatty chemical which makes up part of the insulation, known as myelin, around nerves. The nerves in effect short-circuit like an exposed electric wire.

One baby now is being fed extra amounts of the missing chemical. It is too soon to tell if this will prevent the inherited disease.

A similar chemical defect has been tracked down in another nerve disease of babies.

Infants with these fortunately rare diseases behave normally until about six months of age. Then they become weak, uncoordinated, spastic or suffer convulsions, and usually die by age 3 or 4.

The inherited chemical defects cause several diseases, including Niemann-Picks disease, Tay Sachs disease, and metachromatic leucodystrophy, or MLD.

The pinpointing of what goes wrong in MLD was described by Dr. John S. O'Brien of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, at opening sessions of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

This gigantic national meeting will hear more than 2,900 research reports between now and Friday.

Dr. O'Brien said he and associates had found in three infants dead of MLD strikingly reduced amounts of a long-chain fatty molecule that makes up part of the nerve insulation. The babies had inherited the inability to make this chemical, sphingolipids.

"For the first time, we have a chemical basis for abnormal myelination in one of these diseases. We predict that many related diseases of myelin formation may have a similar molecular basis," he said.

★ ★ ★

"In confirmation, we have recently found a similar chemical deficiency in Niemann-Picks disease."

A baby with MLD now is receiving extra amounts of a long chain fatty acid, lignoceric acid, in hopes that he can then produce the normal nerve insulation.

Whether this succeeds will not be known until this summer, Dr. O'Brien said.

Expert Panel to Probe Facets of Mental Health

What is the difference between mental illness and mental health?

How can one recognize the symptoms that indicate whether or not a relative or friend has a serious mental problem?

What facilities are available in our community to meet these problems?

* * *

These and other questions will be aired at a round table discussion on mental health at the Episcopal Churchwomen's meeting at Christ Church Cranbrook Tuesday at 1 p. m.

● Mrs. Ralph Wagner will be a member of the panel. A layman, she worked for two years in the office of a psychiatrist, has done volunteer work at the Pontiac State Hospital for eight years, and has served on the Oakland County board of Michigan Mental Health Society.

* * *

● Rev. John Wigle, rector of the Church of the Advent Orchard Lake, has also served on the same board for six years and is the current vice president of the chapter.

● Ellis Brown, principal of Ulysses S. Grant School in Ferndale has had practical experience in dealing with the problems of mental health.

● Dr. Richard Braun, clinical director of Pontiac State Hospital who has coauthored a number of articles in the American Journal of Psychiatry, and is a member of the American Psychiatry Association, completes the panel.

MODERATOR

Rev. Robert Patterson, assistant rector of Christ Church Cranbrook will serve as moderator.

This meeting will be open to anyone in the area who wishes to attend. Those who desire luncheon reservations should call the church office no later than 10:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. E. A. Linder, Birmingham, shows off her "Sandstorm" arrangement for the Wright Kay flower show May 6 and 7 in Detroit. "Caravan to Cathay" will be staged by the Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Proceeds will go to International Farm Youth Exchange program. Mrs. Frederick Stefansky of Bloomfield Township is chairman of this year's show.

Stop Discoloration

When storing white shellac after it has been opened use a sealed glass jar, rather than a metal can.

To Auction Art Work

Plates, jugs, scarves, blankets, pins, prints and watercolors are among the art objects created by students of Cranbrook Academy of Art to be sold this Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

In the academy's main galleries, Detroit auctioneer, Laurence Dumouchelle will urge prices higher in an event which has become a tradition since the student council organized the first sale in 1958.

* * *

That sale was designed to aid a Hungarian refugee artist. The sales which followed continued to give aid to less fortunate students at the academy.

The auction will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday. From 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday the remaining student works will go on sale in the galleries.

* *

Cochairmen are Gibbs Milliken of Birmingham and Joan Root of Chicago.

Will Mark State Day Saturday

Kappa Delta sorority will observe its biannual state day Saturday in the great hall at Northland Inn, Southfield.

* * *

Hostess group for the meeting is the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Association.

A coffee hour and registration from 9 to 10 a.m. will begin the day's activities.

Speaker for the luncheon will be Mrs. Harold Kerr, national president of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She will discuss "Faith and Freedom, Our Heritage."

* * *

President of Lambda province is Mrs. Donald Weldon of Bloomfield Township and the province alumnae officer for province IV is Mrs. John Clark of Birmingham.

* * *

State chapters are located at Wayne State University, Albion, Michigan State University and the University of Michigan.

Initiate Member

Mrs. Herman Bishop was initiated as a member of the ladies' auxiliary at the Friday evening meeting of the "City of Pontiac" auxiliary to Post 1370, Veterans of Foreign Wars in the VFW hall.

* * *

Election of officers was held and a donation given to the "Relief Fund for Alaska."

She Wore Housecoat for Bridge

By The Emily Post Institute

Q) A neighbor invited me and a few other women to her house to play bridge. The hostess wore a housecoat and some of the women thought she was not suitably dressed to entertain guests.

* * *

They said that a housecoat is all right when one is sitting at home with her own family, and if guests drop in unexpectedly, it would be perfectly all right to leave it on, but when guests are expected the hostess should wear a dress. What is your opinion?

* * *

A) It depends on the housecoat. There are some very lovely ones and if the housecoat your hostess had on was attractive, I see nothing wrong in her having worn it at an informal bridge game in her own house.

Had she invited men and women to a dinner party, she should indeed have worn a dress.

Q) My sister and I are going to be married at a double wedding. My sister's fiance would like to wear a cutaway coat but my fiance who is not very tall, prefers a sack coat as he feels the cutaway coat will not be becoming.

Would it be proper for both bridegrooms and their respective best men to be dressed differently, or must they be dressed alike?

* * *

A) It would, of course, look nicer if they dressed alike, but this is not a must.

Q) I say the most important speaker at a formal dinner speaks last but there are some who say that it is proper and courteous for him to speak first. I would appreciate your settling this point.

* * *

A) You are absolutely right. The principal speaker always speaks last.

District Honors Local Member at Gathering

Rosamond Haeberle was reelected assistant district director at the Sunday spring meeting of District 10 of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

* * *

Miss Haeberle was one of 16 members of the Pontiac club attending the affair at the Rochester Golf and Country Club. They joined 150 members representing 23 clubs.

Ted Shurtleff, national personnel director of the Kelly Girl Service, Inc., discussed "How to get More Women in Business."

Plans for the state and national conventions were made and district officers elected.

Protest Abby's Remarks

Bus Mishap Stirs Readers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR READERS: A few weeks ago, the following letter appeared in my column:

"Dear Abby:

"Today, while I was on a school bus, the driver hit a dog. All of us kids told him about it and he just said, 'I am aware of that.'

ABBY

"He didn't even stop to see if the dog was dead or not. None of us kids could do a thing.

LOVES DOGS IN KOKOMO, IND."

* * *

I replied:

"DEAR LOVES DOGS:

"The bus driver should have stopped and done what he could for the poor animal.

"Had the driver been alone, the crime would not have been less, but to have set such a poor example for the school children is inexcusable."

Hundreds of letters poured in. Here are a few:

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Are you nuts or something? A school bus driver is prohibited by law from stopping his bus and getting off to leave his bus unattended.

That bus driver was only doing his job, and I think you owe him an apology.

BUS DRIVER IN MASON CITY, IA.

DEAR ABBY: I love dogs, but if one gets in my way when I am driving, it's his funeral.

My brother once put his brakes on suddenly to avoid hitting a dog on a highway, and he banged his mouth on the steering wheel, breaking off four healthy front teeth.

He came very close to involving two other cars in what could have been a serious accident. BURT F. IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR ABBY: That bus driver was smart to go right on instead of stopping to care for the dog he hit in the road.

When I was young (and pretty stupid), I struck a dog on the highway. I stopped and tried to get the injured animal into my car so I could take him to the vet's.

He was slightly mad and, in his frenzy, bit me badly on the face. I had to have 16 stitches in my cheek.

That was 23 years ago, and I still carry a very ugly scar. Smart people don't go near injured animals.

They report them to the proper authorities at the first opportune moment.

LEARNED A LESSON IN KENT, O.

DEAR ABBY: If that bus driver in Kokomo had stopped to investigate the injured dog, can you imagine what could have happened if some of the school children followed him out of the bus to investigate also?

Perhaps the bus driver would have been responsible for a couple of dead children.

MOTHER OF SIX

DEAR ABBY: Although the bus driver did the right thing in not stopping, I think he could have said more than, "I am aware of that" when the children told him he had hit a dog.

* * *

Had he explained that he could not stop, but would report the accident as soon as he got the children to their destination, he would have put the children at ease and not have given them the impression that he didn't care whether he had killed a dog or not. COMPASSIONATE IN OWENSBORO, KY.

Spend Week in North

The Robert Lee Koops (Bobbie Marie Kilby) left for a week's honeymoon in northern Michigan after their wedding and reception Saturday in St. Stephen Lutheran Church.

* * *

Richard Kilby escorted his sister to the altar where Rev. E. Dale Evanson performed the candlelight ceremony. Their parents are the Samuel A. Kilbys of Seminole Drive.

MRS. ROBERT L. KOOP

A bouffant veil secured by a Swedish tiara complemented the bride's gown of traditional white satin. Sequined Chantilly lace formed the long-sleeved bodice and bordered her floor-length bell skirt.

Cascading carnations and lillies of the valley were combined in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Robert Cutty of Union Lake attended her sister as bridesmaid along with Mrs. Richard Kilby of Madison Heights. Honor matron was Mrs. Roger McVicar.

On the esquire side were Jerry Powell, best man and ushers Paul Umphrey and Darrell Whitmire.

The newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

TWO-MAN GOLF ACT — Both Arnold Palmer and his caddy entered the act as Arnie's eagle putt rolled close to the 13th cup in the final round of the Masters Golf Tournament in Augusta, Ga., yesterday. Despite the body twisting, Arnie's putt missed by inches, but he wound up with a 276 total to win an unprecedented fourth Masters title.

Pontiac Squad Fires 3,117 to Take First

Joe Foster, Rothbarth Pace Local Bowlers at Oakland

Special to The Pontiac Press

OAKLAND, Calif. — A Pontiac 300 Bowl team rolled into first place over the weekend in the regular team standings of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Another shakeup came in the classic division when the St. Louis Falstaff team moved into the lead with a record-breaking 6,416 total for six games.

The Pontiac squad, paced by Joe Foster, 35, a coach builder at GMC, turned in a 3,117 score, becoming the first team among the regulars to go over the 3,100 mark.

The team turned in games of 1,030-1,075-1,012 in ousting All-Coast Club of Seattle, the leader among the regulars since March with a 3,055 score.

SINGLE TOTALS

Foster rattled the pins for a three-game total of 673. Les Rothbarth, 42, an insurance salesman, had 641; George Chicovsky, 40, a mortgage investigator, added 629; Larry Crake, 22, who operates the pro shop at 300 Bowl, tallied 589; and Bob Murphy, 25, construction firm superintendent, came up with 585.

Impressive Showing

WESTBURY, N.Y. (UPI) — Express Rodney, an improving son of Rodney-Adelaide Gallon who scored an impressive 2-00 1-5 triumph at Santa Anita, Calif., last Wednesday, has been invited to compete in Friday night's $25,000 Trader Horn Trot at Roosevelt Raceway. Su Mac Lad and Porterhouse are the early favorites.

Palmer 'Master' in All 4 Rounds

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Not so long ago, there was a golf champion everybody liked. He won the big tournaments and did impossible things.

Soon he was rich and famous. Then he didn't win any big tournaments or do any impossible things for a while, and people said he didn't know how to, anymore. They said he was too rich, and besides he couldn't putt like he used to.

Even Arnold Palmer heard the stories.

"The question mark was as big in my mind as in anybody else's when I stepped up to the first tee here," Palmer said, after he won his fourth Masters Golf Tournament over the Augusta National Course Sunday.

'It was like checking out an airplane with new spark plugs. I wasn't sure how they would function."

ALL THE WAY

They worked. Palmer shot rounds of 69, 68, 69 and 70 for 276, and achieved the following results:

He led all the way.

He had the second lowest total in the 31-year history of the Masters.

He had the second largest victory margin, six strokes. Defending champion Jack Nicklaus was second at 282, along with touring pro Dave Marr.

He didn't three putt a green until the 10th hole of the final round, when the issue had already been decided.

* * *

He won $20,000 in prize money, and struck what should amount to a million dollar blow for Arnold Palmer Enterprises, which manufacture almost everything but baby food and caskets.

NEXT DRIVE

Palmer's next drive will be at the U.S. Open Championship, scheduled for Washington, D.C., in June. He won the Open in 1961.

And if he wins there, he will go on to try for the professional Grand Slam, which includes the British Open and the PGA.

"I started this year a little unhappy," Palmer said. "I didn't win a major championship last year. I won a lot of money and some tournaments, but no major championships. My ambition this year was to win one of them.

"And if I won one, to win two."

* * *

Palmer opened play Sunday with a five - stroke lead over young Australian pro Bruce Devlin, and six over Marr.

Nicklaus, the big Ohioan who won two of the four big titles last year just missed a third, had never got started in this tournament and was nine strokes back, after rounds of 71, 73 and 71.

Young Jack, the main threat to Arnie's throne, ripped off a final round 67, including a drive on the 15th hole that must have carried 350 yards.

It wasn't enough, of course, as Palmer stroked steadily to his 70.

Young Marr, who played a round he called "not very good, but interesting," scratched to within three strokes of Palmer at No. 10, but he dunked his tee shot into the water at the short 12th, and had to make a 25-foot twisting putt on the last hole to tie Nicklaus for second.

* * *

The putt was worth $2,000 to Marr, who would have collected only $8,000 for third if he had missed.

Marr said he had never made a putt worth that much. It cost Nicklaus $2,000, for he would have collected $12,000 if Marr missed. Nicklaus, who is almost as rich as Palmer, only smiled.

* * *

Devlin also made a small dent in the Palmer-Nicklaus money monopoly, with $6,100 for finishing fourth with a final 73 for 284. It was his biggest purse as a pro. "That sounds beautiful," he said, when informed of the total.

Gary Player of South Africa, the winner in 1961 who will have his tonsils out in Augusta today was among four players who finished at 286. The others were Paul Harey, Bill Casper and Jim Ferrier.

Old Ben Hogan, the Texas Hawk, at 51 flashing some of the form of old, finished with 287, on a final 72. He had a 67 Saturday.

Dow Finsterwald, Mike Souchak and Champagne Tony Lema also had 287.

Second Game Tuesday Night

Red Wings Lose on 'Perfect Play'

TORONTO (UPI) — The man who should know says the goal that gave Toronto Maple Leafs a 1-0 lead in games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup series with Detroit Red Wings was a "perfect play."

Bob Pulford scored with just two seconds remaining in regulation time to give Toronto a 3-2 win before 14,075 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night. The second game will be played here Tuesday night.

Red Wing ace Gordie Howe, the all-time scoring leader in National Hockey League playoff competition, described Pulford's unassisted breakaway goal as "a perfect play."

CHASED BY HOWE

Howe chased Pulford as the Toronto center raced in on Terry Sawchuk in the Red Wing nets and backhanded a shot into the upper corner at the 19:58 mark of the third period.

"Pulford had one stride on me," Howe said after the game. "But when he changed sides and went to his backhand he had me. It was a perfect play."

The 28-year-old Pulford, noted for his penalty killing and clutch scoring, said he didn't know how he got the goal.

* * *

"It was from about 20 feet out," he said. "I don't know how I got it, but any shot is good if it goes in. You don't think. You just take a quick look and shoot."

* * *

Sawchuk, who turned in a fine performance despite a troublesome pinched nerve in his shoulder, said the goal "appeared to be a high shot."

MIDDLE SHOULDER

Asked which shoulder the puck went over, the 34-year-old veteran scowled "what blankety-blank shoulder is there? It went over the middle shoulder."

Pulford's goal, his third of the playoffs, came with Leaf defenseman Allan Stanley in the penalty box.

He picked up a loose puck just outside the Detroit blueline after Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman skated away from it, each thinking the other was going to take it.

Captain George Armstrong scored the first two Leaf goals countering Red Wing markers in the first period by Bruce MacGregor and Howe.

Red Wing Coach Sid Abel was disappointed, but not downcast after the loss.

"We lost it, that's all," he said. "We played all right but we'll just have to regroup and play harder.

Toronto Coach Punch Imlach was not overjoyed with the win.

Small Gains in Rails

Stock Mart Nudges Ahead

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved ahead slightly on balance early today. Trading was moderately active.

★ ★ ★

Rails produced a preponderance of small gains as efforts continued to settle the latest strike threat. Up fractionally were Illinois Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio.

Steels were unchanged to narrowly mixed. Autos were a little higher as a group, although General Motors eased. Ford was steady and Chrysler up a fraction.

A gain exceeding a point by Eastman Kodak stood out in an irregular chemical section and helped bolster the averages.

★ ★ ★

Although Pan American fell more than a point, most airlines pressed ahead narrowly. Cigarette stocks also were mostly higher by fractions. Coppers were irregularly higher.

★ ★ ★

On Friday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 1.0 to 303.9.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher.

Beckwith Trial in 2nd Week

Lack of New Facts Speeds Case Along

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Byron De La Beckwith's second murder trial, lacking the drama and suspense of the original, begins its second week today with the state offering its final witnesses.

With virtually no new evidence, the trial has moved more rapidly than the first one, which ended Feb. 7 with a hung jury.

★ ★ ★

Beckwith, 43, a Greenwood segregationist, is accused of killing Medgar Evers, Negro civil rights leader shot in the back by a sniper with a high-powered rifle.

★ ★ ★

Evers, 37, was slain shortly after midnight last June 12 outside his suburban home here as he returned from a civil rights meeting. He was state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

LAST WEEK

In testimony last week, state witnesses said Beckwith acquired in 1960 the 30.06 Enfield rifle found at the scene of Evers' death. An FBI firearms expert conceded it was impossible to say definitely which particular Enfield rifle fired the bullet that killed Evers.

★ ★ ★

At the first trial, Beckwith, a white salesman, agreed he owned an Enfield rifle. He said that it had been stolen from him the day before the shooting.

★ ★ ★

Though police continue to watch over the courtroom, searching spectators as before, the atmosphere is much calmer than during the other trial.

★ ★ ★

"There's not so much tension," said one policeman. "Everybody seems a lot more relaxed."

Wilson Hits Ban on Oil for S. Africa

LONDON (AP) — Harold Wilson, leader of the British Labor party, rejected today the idea of an oil embargo against South Africa because it would be "an act of near war."

★ ★ ★

Addressing a news conference following a meeting of European Socialist leaders here, Wilson said the meeting unanimously had expressed concern at the buildup of racial tension in South Africa.

He said the Labor party favored an international arms embargo against South Africa but added:

"The Labor party is not in favor of trade sanctions because, even if these were fully effective, they would harm those most affected by South African government policies . . .

★ ★ ★

"Oil sanctions would be effective but this would be an act of near war which should be avoided unless there was something in the nature of aggressive action by South Africa."

OIL IMPORTS

South Africa, self-sufficient in most natural products, has to import 93 per cent of its oil supply and opponents of apartheid (segregation) have suggested this is the best area for economic sanctions.

★ ★ ★

Other problems discussed by the Socialist leaders included progress towards disarmament, international peace-keeping forces such as in Cyprus.

News in Brief

Engagement and wedding rings with a total value of $200 were stolen along with clothing, in a break-in at the home of Booker Hurner Jr., 22, of 614 S. Sanford, he reported yesterday to Pontiac police.

A portable TV, a radio clock and an electric clock were stolen last night from the home of Cliffie Duke, 59, of 113 E. Rutgers. The items were valued at $179.

Three power tools of undetermined value were reported stolen yesterday in a break-in at Kraft Auto Sales, 4967 Dixie, Waterford Township.

Theodore Maslanic, 3129 Jones, Waterford Township, told police yesterday that the motor was stolen from his garden tractor. Value of the motor is estimated at $85.

FORD MUSTANG — Said to have inspired more advance interest than any new product in Ford Division's 15-year history, the Mustang sports car was described today as a combination of economy and luxury. Ford says the car can be either, or both, depending on what the buyer wants on the car, which has a base list price of $2,368.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "We have been lucky. For a decade my husband and I have invested our hard-earned savings and an inheritance in stocks. In a few years my husband plans to retire on a small pension and social security. We have $36,000 in E bonds and banks plus shares of Atchison, Niagara Mohawk, Atlantic Refining, Minn. Mining, General Telephone, Walt Disney, Oklahoma Gas, Air Reduction, Filtrol, and Giant Yellowknife. What do you think of our list and should we invest part of our savings in additional stocks?" J. M.

A) Your stocks are generally good ones but considering your overall objectives, I rather question inclusion of Filtrol, Giant Yellowknife and Walt Disney, in spite of the latter's recently improved earnings record.

To achieve somewhat better balance, I suggest drawing down on your savings by placing about $3,000 each in S. O. New Jersey, Long Island Lighting, American Telephone, and General Motors.

Q) "What in the world happened to American Machine and Foundry? I bought some shares in 1957 and received stock from two different two-for-one splits. It has recently stabilized, after a long drop. Will it recover?" R. J.

A) The pace of new bowling-alley construction has fallen considerably during the past few years. American Machine was one of the large factors in this business and it too has been adversely affected.

The company is trying to move into other areas but this is costly and time consuming. Stock has some comeback potential.

I suggest cutting your commitment to more moderate size and reinvesting the proceeds in Bristol-Myers and Winn-Dixie.

Ford Mustang Debuts Today at World's Fair

Ford Motor Company's new-born Mustang galloped into the sports car field today with 25,000 buyers betting they picked a winner.

The company says it already has that many orders on file for the stylish car, which only today received its first public showing at the World's Fair and won't be seen in dealer showrooms until Friday.

With a starting price of $2,368, Ford promises the Mustang can be low-priced and economical, but with extra cost options a flat-out sports car or luxury vehicle.

Ford reportedly spent $50 million and four years of research in developing the car aimed principally at young people or a second car family.

Lee A. Iacocca, Ford Division general manager, termed the Mustang something the buying public has been looking for since the recent boom in sports-type cars with bucket seats and peppy performance.

MEASUREMENTS

The low-slung (4 feet, 3 inches high) car carries a Ferrari-type grille. Over - all length, 181.6 inches, is slightly longer than its famous predecessor, the two-seat Thunderbird.

But Mustang has two bucket seats in front and a bench rear seat, which Ford says "offers 5 - passenger family seating."

Weight of its all-welded body is 400 pounds less than the old Thunderbird. The platform chassis utilizes the driveshaft tunnel as a rugged backbone.

While a compact in appearance, Mustang has an interior similiar to Ford's present Thunderbird line with molded nylon carpeting, curved sideglass and floor-mounted shift.

Mustang's buyer appeal starts off with a 101-horsepower, six-cylinder engine and three-speed manual transmission tailored to the economy minded.

Three optional V-8 engines progressively boost horsepower to 271. A three-speed automatic, or four-speed manual transmission can be coupled with most engines as an option.

The basic car is a hardtop, but choosing a convertible adds $250; sports handling equipment such as heavy duty suspension and larger tires some $437, and the list continues up with air conditioning and tinted glass.

Ford aims to have the Mustang grab some of the sales laurels of Chevrolet's Corvette, and Plymouth's Barracuda which debuts next month.

Woman Hurt in Car Crash

A Royal Oak woman is in critical condition in Pontiac General Hospital after her car hit a tree in Commerce Township Saturday evening.

Under intensive care following the 9:15 p.m. accident is Kathleen Hanes, 20, of 728 Pleasant. She suffered multiple fractures and a dislocated elbow.

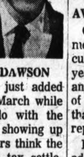
Sheriff's deputies said her car went off Richardson Road, just east of Newton, and knocked down a mailbox and a wooden fence before smashing into the tree.

Figures Complicated

Tax Cut Hiking Sales?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Boosts in take-home pay from the federal income tax cut haven't shown up in retail sales as quickly as expected. Or have they? The official figures say no. But this time the statistics are even more complicated than usual and more subject to tricky interpretations.



DAWSON

Bankers suspect many citizens just added to their savings in March while deciding what to do with the windfall that began showing up in pay checks. Others think the approaching income tax settlement deadline was a deterrent to spending.

Merchants aren't sure. They point out that the official figures of the Department of Commerce showing a drop in retail sales from February had to be adjusted this March to seasonal variations that may conceal part of the story.

★ ★ ★

Others think that comparisons with February spending are further complicated by that month's most unusual shopping-day pattern five Saturdays and by a possible psychological quirk of consumers who spent more than usual this February because of the expected take-home pay increases.

The Department of Commerce says that seasonally adjusted the March retail store sales were $21.1 billion, down 1 per cent from the February record. This still put March 4 per cent ahead of a year ago, but many had expected greater things of the month this time.

AVERAGE DEVIATION

Generally, seasonal adjustments can be defined as calculating over a span of several years the average deviation of any month from other months of the year and then excluding that variance from the current report.

But this March the seasonal adjustments also had to take account of the early Easter, March 29, against April 14 last year.

★ ★ ★

Many merchants would be glad to see calendar changes that would make Easter and other movable holidays come at the same date. Easter now can come any time between March 22 and April 25.

An early Easter may have affected the drop the Commerce Department reports in sales of apparel and department stores. But it may have had less connection with the drop of 4 per cent in the volume of durable goods, with automotive and lumber and building materials dealers accounting for most of this. Larger sales by food stores were the brightest feature of March.

TOO MUCH?

Perhaps some merchants were counting too much on the stimulus of more take-home pay. Bankers note that in the past consumers often have taken a while to change spending habits after any sudden rise in income. The bankers say that usually a large part of any windfall goes at first into savings.

Other bankers note that seasonal patterns themselves seem to have been changing in the last three years, especially in money supply and demand and in other monetary indicators. Demand deposits, particularly, haven't been following the seasonal ups and downs of other years. And consumer spending doesn't follow the calendar quite as predictably as in the past.

★ ★ ★

But if March didn't meet all of the high hopes for it, the substantial gains for the first quarter as a whole feed the belief that the first half of the year will set records.

If winter ever gives up and goes away, retail sales seem sure to satisfy most merchants.

He also was treated at the hospital and released.

Sailor Dies From Blast on Ore Ship

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A 59-year-old Great Lakes sailor died here Sunday of burns suffered when the ore carrier William A. Irvin blew a boiler tube in Lake Superior late Saturday.

Two other men scalded in the explosion were reported in satisfactory condition at a Sault Ste. Marie hospital today.

The dead man was William Wuori, a maintenance man from International Falls, Minn.

HOSPITALIZED

Hospitalized are Leon Shuffit Jr., a coal passer from Bensonville, Ill., and Stanley Pennell, 43, a fireman from Milwaukee.

Shuffit was the more seriously burned of the two.

* * *

The tube let go, spraying live steam about 6:30 p.m. Saturday. The injured men were removed by the Coast Guard cutter Mackinaw and rushed here down the St. Marys River.

The Irvin, bound through Whitefish Bay, was able to make the Soo under its own power and was tied up here today for Coast Guard inspection of her damage.

The Irvin belongs to the Pittsburgh fleet of U.S. Steel Corp.

Street Fight Hospitalizes 1 Man; 1 Held

A street fight ended late Saturday night with one man being admitted to Pontiac General Hospital in serious condition and another being held for questioning.

Under intensive care following the midnight scrap on Allen at Adams is Vallie Tiggs, 21, of 495 Bloomfield. He suffered facial lacerations and a possible concussion.

Being held is William A. Carie, 34, of 209 South East Boulevard.

Police quoted Carie as saying he, along with some 14 other persons, was at a home at 33 Allen when Tiggs and a group of other men came onto the porch, opened the door and shouted obscenities.

The men inside the house chased and caught them when their car stalled at the intersection, Carie told police. He said the fight ensued when Tiggs began swinging at him with a shovel.

Teaching Machines Can Be a Handicap

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

"If a little is good, more will be better!" is an opinion which often leads to trouble. Such has been the case with teaching machines.

DR. NASON

When used too much, the teaching machine, which can be valuable for the student who needs review, or for background job training in specific cases, soon becomes a handicap rather than an aid.

Sidney L. Pressey, professor of education at the University of Arizona, acknowledged father of the teaching machine, has had some second thoughts about the uses now being made of teaching machines.

He is inclined to think they have become monstrosities with their many-thousands-of-frames programs — with their interminable writing in and moving of gadgets.

This is what you get if you expect the so-called teaching machines to deliver lectures, conduct experiments, give and grade examinations and conduct a student step by step through a difficult geometric theorem or through the intricacies of a Greek irregular verb.

There is nothing new or mysterious about teaching machines. They are as old as education itself . . . Socrates gets credit for perfecting the technique.

This, in essence, was the Socratic plan. After the great teacher put a question to his student, he waited for an answer. Then, with questions and answers, he led the student from idea to idea, until the student reached a basic conclusion.

A. A. Lumsdaine, program director for training and education at the American Institute for Research in Pittsburgh, states:

"All of the devices that have been called Teaching Machines represent some form of variation of what can be called the 'Socratic' method of teaching. They present the individual student with programs of questions and answers, problems to be solved and exercises to be performed.

KNOWS PROGRESS

"In addition, however, they also provide some type of automatic feedback or correction to the student so that he is informed immediately of his progress at each step and given a basis for correcting his errors."

Pressey finds that students can read silently through the material unhandicapped by the machines in 1-15th of the time required through the machine program.

Knowing comes about instantly, but it takes time to choose the correct multiple choice answer or write in a missing word.

* * *

Using a machine, the student's thinking is centered on the printed statements. Thus, he is distracted from forming his own mental pictures and understanding the concepts in his own words.

GRASPS MOMENT

The machines are a clumsy substitute for the instructor who builds ideas in students' minds and prepares systematically for the moment when students can be expected to piece all the thoughts together and grasp an idea which is far greater than merely the sum of the small elements involved.

By watching the students' eyes he regulates the flow of materials, slowing down or speeding up as the class responds.

* * *

There is an emotional setting that affects learning that can be attained only by a talented teacher.

No machine can ever hope to replace this process.

Defense Contractors Join Cost War

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

COST REDUCTION: More than 1,200 major defense contractors have enlisted so far in the Johnson administration's cost reduction war, it was disclosed today.

There have been that many favorable replies from letters sent to 7,500 big contractors last December by President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

* * *

Those letters sought industry support for the economy drive which McNamara began during the Kennedy administration.

Johnson and McNamara urged the contractors to buy their materials at the lowest possible price, to operate in the most economical manner—and by so doing to keep down the prices they charge the Defense Department for arms and equipment.

PROGRESS REPORT

A little-noticed Pentagon progress report circulated recently said:

"Indications are that industry's cost reduction efforts will provide the nation with a multi-million-dollar add-on to the Department of Defense's own $4 billion cost reduction undertaking."

SECURITY: A report that prowlers were in the basement of St. Mark's Episcopal church caused Secret Service agents and Washington police to conduct a thorough search Sunday morning before President Johnson and his family arrived for services.

Police found two 17-year-olds who had wandered away from a service for deaf mutes at St. Barnabas chapel in the church basement.

The President was accompanied to the services by Mrs. Johnson, their daughter Lynda Bird, and Secretary of Defense and Mrs. Robert S. McNamara.

EDUCATION: A panel of experts has proposed two programs to improve education of deprived and segregated youngsters.

One would help the deprived and segregated by using new curricula oriented to their background and understanding levels. The other involves establishment of one or more experimental school systems to try out new ideas.

The suggestions came Saturday from a group known as the Panel on Educational Research and Development, which was created in late 1961 by the President's Science Advisory Committee.

Meeting Will Air Proposed College

The community college proposal to be voted on in June by county residents will be the discussion topic at tomorrow night's meeting of the Greater Waterford Community Council, (GWCC).

Slated for 8 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School, the meeting is open to the public.

Don Johannes, chairman of the speech department of Detroit Institute of Technology, will speak on the proposal. Prior to joining the DIT staff, he taught for seven years at the community college level.

In other business at the regular monthly meeting, council members will hear a report on the exchange student summer program.

* * *

Discussion of plans for Exchange Student Week in May also is scheduled.

Fire Damage in City Home Put at $7,000

An afternoon fire in a home at 60 S. Ardmore yesterday caused an estimated $7,000 damage to the building and contents.

* * *

The blaze was discovered at 3:48 p.m. while the owner, Thomas Wells, and his family were away.

Damage to the house was estimated by Wells at $3,000 and about $4,000 to the contents.

Another fire at 73 Baldwin early today caused an estimated $750 damage.

* * *

ELECTRONICS IN INDUSTRY
SIGNAL INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The $15-billion electronics industry is now entering a period of accelerating change, in both technology and sales patterns. Our Monthly Letter interprets recent developments in electronics and evaluates the possible effects of lasers, microelectronics, and space communications. Three major non-military markets for electronic equipment receive considerable attention. Entertainment: 1963 consumer electronics sales were $2.5 billion; we expect them to exceed $4.5 billion by 1970. Commercial-Industrial: This area offers, in our judgment, the greatest growth potential. Our figures show gross income from computers, systems and all EDP sources could reach nearly $14 billion by 1970. Medical: In the decade ahead we believe this market could triple and reach a $2.5-billion level annually. We recommend nine electronic stocks and provide brief comments and financial and operating data for each. To receive a copy of our Monthly Letter, now available to investors, mail coupon below.
