

Teacher Pact Lag Worries Romney

LANSING (AP) — "The State of Michigan faces a real educational crisis come September," Gov. George Romney warned yesterday.

Romney met with representatives of school boards and teacher unions, expressing concern about a lag in negotiations of teacher contracts.

"We're facing a very serious situation — the possibility that the kids will be out of school," Romney said. "There is nothing more serious than that."

The Michigan Education Association, a teacher group, reported to the governor that 217 of its districts had signed contracts still pending.

"About 81 of these are critical," association attorney Ted Swift said of the negotiations.

10 NEGOTIATIONS 'CRITICAL'

The Michigan Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO reported that of 22 contract negotiations, five had reached agreement and about 10 were "critical."

Swift said the late decision by the Legislature on school aid and the number of elections on school millage pending helped account for the lag in negotiations and contract agreements with teachers.

"The teachers are getting to the point where they think the only way to educate the public is to show a little muscle," said Swift.

"We've just had a riot in Detroit..." Romney interjected.

"The same frustrations that released themselves in Detroit are just three weeks away," said Swift, referring to a possibility of teacher strikes.

Walter Averill of Saginaw, president of the Michigan Association of School Boards, suggested that the governor call the Legislature back and ask for more money for the schools.

"What you are asking is, impossible at this time," Romney declared. "The Legislature is not prepared to do it. You might as well forget any idea that there is going to be state action on more money for the school districts."

Romney said if he did make any such recommendation, all the school boards would sit back and wait to see if the Legislature was going to give them more money.

OUT OF RETIREMENT — The battleship New Jersey, shown being moved from her mothball moorings in Philadelphia to a shipyard last June, will be sent to Vietnam for war duty, the Pentagon announced yesterday. The 45,000-ton battleship was commissioned in May 1943 and served as Adm. William "Bull" Halsey's flagship. (See story, page A-2.)

'Cease Fire Unless Fired Upon'

Quakers Offer Plan for Viet

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Quakers today offered a formula for a cease-fire in Vietnam and asked for a reconvening of the Geneva Conference to work out a peace settlement.

To open the way for negotiations, they urged that the United States, North Vietnam and South Vietnam halt all military operations on a "cease-fire-unless-fired-upon basis."

The appeal was drawn up in nine days of work by a special section of the Friends World Conference meeting here. Quaker representatives from 35 countries are attending.

The Quaker peace proposal said the National Liberation Front (Vietcong) in South Vietnam should be represented at a reconvening of the Geneva Conference during the cease-fire.

The statement also said any peace settlement should provide for "national independence and neutralization of Vietnam."

CONSULTATIONS HELD

Kenneth Lee of London, England, head of the committee that drafted the peace statement, said it was worked out after consultations with officials of both the U.S. government and North Vietnam.

Accidents Kill Two Motorcyclists

Two motorcyclists were killed in separate accidents in Oakland County yesterday.

Wilson S. Herd, 21, of Royal Oak was killed at 11:30 p.m. on the I-75 loop at Opdyke and Square Lake in Bloomfield Township.

Dieter Wolksi, 20, of Detroit was killed at 3:30 p.m. at Orchard Lake and Long Lake roads in Orchard Lake.

Bloomfield Township police said Herd was involved in a three-cycle spill involving a group from a Detroit motorcyclist club which had concluded a meeting in the area.

Orchard Lake police said Wolksi apparently lost control of his vehicle and after nearly hitting a truck and a car, left the road and crashed into a tree.

Social Security Bill Being Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee is trimming President Johnson's Social Security proposals sharply to avoid piling a big payroll tax increase on top of an anticipated jump in regular income taxes.

Instead of a benefit increase for retirees of at least 15 per cent as Johnson proposed, the committee now has all but finally voted for 12½, the Associated Press learned. Instead of raising the current $4 minimum monthly payment to $6, the committee would hike it to $5.

Another preliminary decision is to set aside entirely the administration proposal to extend hospital and other benefits of Medicare, now confined to those 65 or older, to younger persons retired because of disability.

These rollbacks make possible a much more modest increase in the payroll taxes that finance basic Social Security and Medicare. These taxes now are levied on a wage base of a maximum $6,000 per employee. Employers and employees each pay 4.4 per cent.

Johnson's proposal would have increased the base next year to $7,800, the first step in a staged rise to $10,800 by 1974.

Area Man Survives Ship Fire

A 1965 Pontiac Central graduate, Airman Loren Gerlinger Jr., survived the flames and explosions that swept the U.S. aircraft carrier Forrestal off North Vietnam last week.

The 20-year-old Navy parachute rigger witnessed the worst U.S. Navy disaster in a combat zone since World War II.

Gerlinger phoned his wife, Jill of 3915 Quorton, Bloomfield Township, from the crippled ship Monday to tell her he is safe.

"You can imagine I was pretty happy," she said after hearing his voice. She had also verified a telegram about 11 p.m. Monday receiving his safety.

The death toll, after the flight deck of the 76,000-ton carrier — and many of the men on it — erupted in flames, was 129 with seven men still missing.

UNIDENTIFIABLE BODIES

Several of the charred bodies are unidentifiable, Gerlinger told his wife.

She said he described hearing the explosion while working in a parachute loft at one end of the flight deck. He ran out one door, learning later that he would have run into the flames if he had gone out the other.

All of his shipmates who ran back into the loft to retrieve supplies were killed, reported Gerlinger who lost all of his belongings in the fire except a few identification cards in his wallet that were covered by lamination.

His wife added that he said the mattresses were still smoldering but everything appeared to be under control.

LEAVE DUE

He's coming home on leave and then will be reassigned while the Forrestal is being repaired in the Philippines, according to his wife.

Gerlinger was a draftsman at GMC Truck and Coach Division before enlisting in the Navy in July 1966.

His mother, Mrs. Loren Gerlinger, lives at 50 Ogemaw.

intern at Houston Methodist Hospital, a Manned Spacecraft Center spokesman said.

WILL BE NAMED

Informed sources said, however, that Dr. Karl G. Henize the astronomer, also will be named.

Henize is presently with the Dearborn Observatory at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Holmquest received his medical degree less than two months ago. He is nearing completion of his dissertation, a study of body temperature regulation for the Ph. D. degree he hopes to receive next June.

He graduated with highest honors from Southern Methodist University in 1962 with a degree in electrical engineering before deciding to get a medical degree at Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston.

Cigarette Tax Hike Doubtful

Senate OKs Fund Plan

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Tuesday approved a resolution expressing legislative intent to provide additional money for expenses incurred by state agencies in last week's Detroit and outstate rioting.

However, majority Senate Republicans indicated reluctance to approve a three-cent increase in the state cigarette tax which some lawmakers say will be needed to make up for a depletion in the general fund caused by the riots.

Introduced in the Senate were resolutions calling for creation of a committee to investigate the causes of the Detroit riots in which 41 persons died and praising the work of police, firemen and National Guardsmen.

The appropriations resolution, approved in a voice vote, recognized that "a major task facing Michigan state agencies today is the assistance of" various cities which suffered "civil disturbances" last week.

EXISTING PROGRAMS
"Assistance in line with the existing programs of the various agencies must be carried forward," the resolution added.

However, "before final decision can be made as to areas of aid, the scope and magnitude of the various projects, both physical and financial, will have to be determined and degrees of responsibility developed and adjudicated," the resolution said.

The resolution, which also must pass the House, requires that a report "reflecting any and all costs," be filed with Budget Director Glenn S. Allen.

Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield, introduced a resolution calling for a seven-man committee to investigate "the causes and events" leading up to the riots.

"SOMETIME IN FUTURE"
"The general sentiment of the Republican caucus is not to take action until sometime in the future," he said.

Lockwood said the caucus felt passage of the tax boost could precipitate a "rash of spending" and felt passage should wait until the fall session which begins Oct. 10.

"The longer we delay the more possibility we will have to tax at an exorbitant level," Lockwood said. "I hope I can prevail on them before Thursday (the scheduled date for final adjournment)."

Lockwood said Monday that he felt his understanding after talking with Allen that the cost of the riots and the resulting loss of revenue will seriously cut into the anticipated general fund surplus for fiscal 1967-68.

Ex-Councilman Again Indicted

Nowicki Arraigned on Bribery Charge

Former Madison Heights Councilman Roman Nowicki was indicted yesterday for the third time by Oakland County grand juror James S. Thorburn.

Judge Thorburn charges that Nowicki, now a Bloomfield Hills resident, promised to pay $2,000 to two other councilmen in late March 1964, to influence their vote on a zoning matter.

Nowicki, 390 Keady, was arraigned on the bribery charge before Bloomfield Hills Justice of the Peace Jack Baldwin.

A preliminary examination was scheduled for Aug. 9.

Nowicki, a metallurgical engineer, was returned to the Oakland County Jail where he is serving a jail term for contempt of court. He was cited July 18 by Thorburn for refusing to answer a grand jury subpoena.

The property in question in yesterday's indictment, according to a grand jury spokesman, was rezoned from single family to a multiple dwelling classification in May 1964.

The following November, in a referendum election, voters overturned the council's earlier action and the parcels were rezoned back to the single family zoning. The property is currently zoned single family.

The zoning affected a portion of two large tracts bounded on the north by 13 Mile Road and Edwards on the West.

2 OTHERS NAMED
The two other councilmen named in the warrant, but not as defendants, are Antonius Branoff and Dean Eggart.

In the other two indictments issued two weeks ago, Nowicki was charged with bribery and conspiracy in connection with the rezoning of another parcel of property on 14 Mile Road near the I-75 expressway, and conspiracy to solicit a bribe regarding a liquor license.

Ex-Councilman Ross Skinner is named with Nowicki in the liquor issue, but has not yet been arrested.

Battleship Use May Reduce Plane Losses

Nowicki Arraigned on Bribery Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising aircraft losses over North Vietnam figured heavily in Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's decision to order up the battleship New Jersey for war duty, Pentagon sources say.

Officers estimated that 45,000-ton battleships, a naval behemoth of another era, may be able to do the work of roughly 50 planes a day, thus cutting down the number of U.S. aircraft exposed to Communist fire.

At the same time, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the new chief of naval operations, expressed in an interview his views deployment of the battleship as an addition to, rather than a replacement for, tactical air strikes against the Communists.

To date the United States has lost more than 625 planes over the North in attacks against the same kinds of targets the New Jersey will be able to bombard with 1,900-pound shells—bridges, highways, supply dumps and defensive installations.

Judge Won't Drop Case in Stepson Death

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem yesterday denied a motion to dismiss a murder charge against a Bloomfield Township woman accused of beating her 3-year-old stepson to death.

Later, the woman, Mrs. William Lukes, 23, of 1147 Dorchester, waived her right to be tried by jury when her trial is conducted.

Her attorney, William Lang, had attempted to have the case tossed out of court on the grounds that there was insufficient evidence for a trial.

A Pontiac boy, David Mason, 17, has won the 1967 Pontiac Press scholarship to Oakland University. Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mason of 725 Second, was selected from a list of high school graduates who have served as Pontiac Press carrier salesmen.

The annual scholarship offers $500 a year for three years. Mason will be starting college this fall. A graduate of Pontiac Northern High School, Mason has indicated he will take premedical school courses Oct. 10.

He was a Pontiac Press carrier for four years. The winner was chosen because of his outstanding carrier record, school grades and personality.

Last year's winner, Robert Simmer, 19, will be a junior this fall. He is majoring in chemistry and math. Simmer of 10590 Pontiac Lake, White Lake Township, was also a Press carrier for four years.

Saga of Twice-AWOL GI Went to Viet Both Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — Louis Melendez wasn't supposed to be in Vietnam—but the Army says he is. He said he deserted camp after three weeks and reported to Ft. Hamilton in Brooklyn, and there told officers he was home on emergency leave from Vietnam. He also said he was due back the next day but had lost his orders.

Arriving in Vietnam, he showed his Ft. Hamilton "drafted" orders and was assigned to the Fifth Special Forces. He served and fought with the unit for three months before his past caught up and he was shipped back to Ft. Benning, Ga.

But he stayed only a week before going AWOL again. Using the same scheme, he said he not only made it back to Vietnam but was assigned again to the Fifth Special Forces. He fought with a unit in the Mekong Delta, where he was wounded May 15.

3 Families Lose Appeal for School Annexation

BIRMINGHAM — Three families in Troy lost their appeal to be annexed into the Birmingham School District.

At a meeting last night the board rejected the request by residences on 2075, 2051 and 2025 Derby with a total of nine children.

Parents and an attorney appeared at previous meetings of both the Troy and Birmingham districts and explained their plight.

At the time the boundary between districts was set their three lots were vacant. All the other lots along the street were in the Birmingham district.

When their youngsters began attending school they enrolled at Birmingham's Pembroke Elementary.

IN TROY DISTRICT
When tax time came around, however, they discovered they were in the Troy district.

The families told school officials that their children had become adjusted at Pembroke but the nearest Troy school was over one-half mile away.

The Troy board approved the move, tentative to the Birmingham Commission, which was not granted.

OU to Explain Tuition Plan

Many Oakland University students will first learn this week of a new, controversial tuition plan which has been publicly criticized since its adoption almost two weeks ago.

OU will send letters to nearly 4,000 students tomorrow, notifying them of new tuition rates including charges to Michigan residents according to the family income.

An Oakland University spokesman said many OU students have probably not heard of the ability-to-pay tuition rates for state residents since the Michigan State University trustees passed the plan.

MSU trustees govern both Michigan State and Oakland universities.

In Lansing yesterday, a House majority introduced a resolution calling on MSU and OU to abandon plans for the unique sliding scale tuition plan.

The resolution termed the plan "unsound, unworkable and undemocratic" and suggested an increase.

OU Michigan residents with family incomes below $11,800 will continue to pay the current rates of tuition of $177 per semester plus activities, health and student publication fees.

Students whose parents have a gross income between $11,800 and $18,700 will pay 1½ per cent per semester of their income for tuition.

Costly Additions to Anticrime Bill Feared by Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders—usually geared to fighting attempted cuts in administration programs—fear a budget-busting rash of attempts to add funds to President Johnson's crime control bill.

The measure comes up today as a riot-conscious House eager to embrace the administration's proposal for federal grants to make local law enforcement agencies more efficient.

Some leaders predicted members would forget the budget in their desire to add funds for training police in anti-riot techniques.

As it comes to the floor the bill would authorize $80 million for a program of grants to help states adopt comprehensive crime control plans, recruit and train policemen and conduct research in crime prevention.

British 'Little Picture' a Big Splash of Realism

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
LONDON — The vigor of the English film has resulted from development of what has been called, for lack of a better term, the "little picture."

This is not to be confused with the B picture, which Hollywood ground out like sausage to fill the lower half of double bills during the big studio era. Scarcely ever was a B picture invested with quality.

The British development is something else. It is also made for little money, usually less than a million dollars, sometimes half that amount. The leading players are often little known.

The subject matter is often daring or far out, and the direction and performances display imagination and an adherence to reality. The increasingly sophisticated film audiences of Britain and America have provided big profits for the little pictures that succeed. Having been stung by foreign-made epics that scarcely broke even, American film companies are investing in more and more little pictures.

WINNER FOUND

Universal believes that Michael Winner is just what his name implies. The company backed the young producer-director in "The Jokers," about two brothers who try to steal the crown jewels from the Tower of London. The film was a hit, and Winner followed with "I'll Never Forget What's His Name," with Orson Welles and a British cast.

Winner has strong views about studios.

"They're a thing of the past, absolutely worthless," says he. "Oh, perhaps you might build sets for historical interiors that you couldn't find elsewhere. Otherwise it is pointless to shoot scenes against cardboard backgrounds."

"The purpose of filming is to show the truth of life. Life is lived in the world, not in film studios."

His argument goes counter to traditional Hollywood thinking, which argues that greater quality can be achieved under the controlled conditions inside a studio.

"Nonsense!" replies Winner, who dresses elegantly and wears longish sideburns. "I made 'The Jokers' entirely on location, and it is better lit than any studio film. The reason is that I took advantage of natural light."

"Now we have developed young crews who can improvise and shoot anywhere. We have small lights that can fit into the smallest room. With the new small cameras and fast film there is no place we can't photograph."

Bryan Forbes is a veteran of the little picture, including "The L-Shaped Room" and "Seance on a Wet Afternoon." But he also has gone the route of the big Hollywood production—"King Rat." He prefers to think little.

"The trouble with 'King Rat' was that the picture had to assume the studio overhead charges, which came to $800,000," says Forbes, a smallish, handsome man. "If it hadn't been for the overhead, the film might have turned a profit."

Last year the director returned to the little picture, turning out "The Whispers" with Dame Edith Evans for $400,000. Not only is the new breed of English director attempting the little picture. It also has attracted Stanley Donen, who has been noted for sumptuous, superstar films like "Indiscreet," "Charade" and "Arabesque."

But Zoning Is an Issue in Several Communities

Mobile Homes' Image Problem Is Rapidly Fading

BY JEAN SAILLE

Popularity is rapidly resolving the image problem of mobile homes, although resistance to house trailers often proves a political problem in area communities.

Whether they like it or not, local governments are learning that mobile home (not trailer) living is a way of life not easily defeated.

Zoning changes permitting such sites have been sought in many of Oakland County's townships.

Few have willingly opened the doors, though the Michigan Township Association has recently come out in favor of such zoning.

The stated reason is that zoning gives local government some control over the type of park introduced within its boundaries.

The inference is that permission to locate such parks could be forced through the courts.

Such tests are now being conducted in the courts relative to projected sites in at least Rose, Oxford and Waterford townships.

In other townships around the county, including White Lake, Highland and Pontiac, there are mobile home parks.

White Lake counts four such parks and a new development on M59 is expected to be a model for the newer concept in living on wheels.

The County Health Department reports a total of 45 such parks throughout the county.

Developers are in agreement that prior to World War II the average mobile home park was a relatively unattractive parking place for trailers and was usually located in a somewhat undesirable section of the community. But they declare that the situation has now changed immensely.

An independent poll reports that the typical mobile home family today has $10,000 more income than the national average.

The market breaks down this way: 27 per cent are skilled workers, 20 per cent are military people; 20 per cent are retirees; 18 per cent are professionals; 3 per cent are students; and the remaining 42 per cent are made up of businessmen, semiskilled workers and laborers.

Dealers in mobile homes contend that the communities who refuse such zoning drive away hundreds of potential residents — that the newer parks are attractive additions to the community — and that they adequately contribute to the tax base.

To back up the latter contention, an independent survey of parks in the Western states disclosed that more than 53 per cent of mobile home family units are composed of two adults.

Other studies have occurred that the number of school-age children in parks is small compared to the number living in a typical residential subdivision.

An average is said to be 13 school-children per 100 spaces, though phone calls in this particular area have revealed the figure to be somewhat higher.

Recently proposed state legislation would set the monthly tax rate at $5 per space for the mobile home dweller. The current charge is $3-$4 allotted to the schools and the remaining $1 split between the townships and the county.

The park also provides local revenue based on the real value of the land. Newer parks are said to average between $250,000 and $500,000 in construction.

The costs include recreational and service facilities providing for a contained community.

For the owner, now said to number better than 4.5 million people across the country, the lure lies in costs and convenience.

75 PCT. OF SALES

Mobile homes, dealers say, account for three-fourths of all homes sold under $12,500. One monthly payment normally takes care of the home, the furnishings and the insurance.

The homes themselves have been upgraded to the point that they are now seldom "mobile."

The average is said to provide 1,000 square feet of living space and standards have been imposed in regard to plumbing, heating and electrical installation.

What with modern decor and appliances, the homes are today purchased out of choice rather than necessity.

That is the point that dealers feel local governments should consider when the zoning changes are asked.

School Tax Levy Is Up One Mill in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — The tax levy for school district residents — 27.2 mills — increases 1 mill, this year the board of education decided last night.

The increase will go for debt retirement, due to the new high school construction, according to school officials. The related bond issue was approved by voters Oct. 5, 1966. Seven mills in all was allocated for debt retirement.

The board allocated 20.2 mills for operations. This includes 12 extra voted mills and 8.2 mills from the county.

In other action, the board hired Charles L. Tutt as director of good services. He was previously head of the food service for Graduate Shaw Hall at Michigan State University. He received his bachelor's degree in hotel and restaurant management from MSU.

Tutt is replacing Mrs. Margaret Geller who recently resigned because of ill health.

LOON LAKE PROJECT

The board also decided to ask the counsel of the Oakland Intermediate School District on the construction of its special education facility on Loon Lake Road. The bid of $158,000 for general, mechanical and electrical work is too high, according to the county, which will pay for the facility.

The Walled Lake board is seeking the district board's approval of the high bid. It is also negotiating with the contractors to reduce costs.

Youth Is Sentenced on Fireworks Charge

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A West Bloomfield Township youth is serving a 30-day jail sentence for possession of fireworks.

Wilford Dunn, 19, of 5769 W. Maple, pleaded guilty to the charge in the court of Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Alice Gilbert.

Dunn and another youth, Robert W. Haskins, 20, of 3859 Spring, West Bloomfield Township, were charged after mailboxes were reported blown up in the Bloomfield Township area of Telegraph and Square Lake Saturday night.

Haskins pleaded innocent to the same charge and is due for trial at 10 a.m., tomorrow.

Bloomfield Township police said the incident took place at 10:30 p.m., after the curfew imposed during recent civil strife, and caused considerable alarm to area residents who heard a series of explosions on their streets.

Acting Postmaster Awaits Senate OK

WIXOM — Elwood J. Grubb, acting postmaster, is today awaiting important word from the U.S. Senate. His nomination as city postmaster has recently been submitted for approval to the Senate.

Grubb, 5100 Grand River, has been acting postmaster since Feb. 13, 1966. Since then he has taken the civil service exams for prospective postmasters.

It is customary for those who have not taken a civil service exam before being appointed head of a local post office to serve as acting postmaster for 12 to 18 months.

Grubb also serves Wixom as the justice of the peace, a position he has held for three years.

Cost of Milk Jumps; Other Hikes Likely

The grocery bill took a jump today in area homes.

The increase was caused by an additional three cents a half-gallon charged for milk. The price rise reflected an increase in the wholesale cost of milk.

Hearing on Budget Is Tonight at 7:30 in W. Bloomfield

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Only once a year can taxpayers help decide where their taxes go.

For township residents, the opportunity is the public hearing on the budget tonight at 7:30 at the Township Hall.

The hearing is required by law before the Township Board can approve the budget.

The proposed budget anticipates a deficit of about $80,000.

FISCAL YEAR

The budget will cover a fiscal year which began April 1 and ends March 31, 1968.

Before the hearing, citizens can study the budget in the township clerk's office.

The board will also hear a request to rezone from residential to office Lot 40, Automobile Country Club Subdivision. The lot is on Orchard Lake Road near the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks.

Dr. L. J. Finkel of Birmingham requested the hearing upon the denial of the rezoning by the Planning Commission recently.

SURROUNDED BY DWELLINGS

The parcel had been zoned office until three years ago, said Township Supervisor John F. Warren. Now it is surrounded on all sides by residences.

The board will also consider costs for improving a path between Nicholas and Tamarlane.

The township last December purchased a 60-foot-wide parcel to convert into a walk for West Bloomfield Junior High students.

Students have been crossing over private properties, explained Warren.

The township will discuss sharing the improvement cost of the parcel with the school district.

The Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) raised the cost of raw milk for bottling yesterday from $6.10 to $6.40 a hundredweight, amounting to about two-thirds cent per quart.

The remaining increase at the retail level is to cover increases in packaging and processing costs, according to J. E. Stedman of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce.

Stedman also forecast a retail price increase for ice cream, cottage cheese and other dairy products later on.

Jack W. Barnes, general manager of the MMPA, said processors were advised July 18 of the upcoming wholesale increase as of Aug. 1.

He described the increase as "an incentive for state dairy farmers."

Farmington Township Police Hunting Man in Shooting of Ex-Wife

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Township police are holding a warrant for felonious assault with attempt to murder for John Early, 28, address unknown, who allegedly shot his ex-wife in the arm early yesterday.

Mrs. Shirley Early, 30, of 21331 Hamilton is reported in satisfactory condition at an area hospital.

The shooting occurred early yesterday morning as Mrs. Early was leaving work from Bill's restaurant, 29420 Grand River, said Township Police Chief Irving Yates.

Early reportedly approached the car his ex-wife was in, shot her, pulled her out of the car and beat her, Yates said. Early allegedly used a small caliber pistol, which he took with him, added Yates.

Early was recently employed as a roofer, police said.

The Early's two children were put into protective custody by the township police. Charles, 3, and John, 2, had been in the custody of Mrs. Early.

Independence Dems Elect Club's Officers

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — New officers have been elected for the township Democratic Club.

New officials are Mrs. Bernice Fuller of 5200 Pine Knob, chairman; Ron Heron of 8315 Maybee, vice chairman; Mrs. Don Trapp of 6151 Pine Knob, second vice chairman; Stanley Eaton of 5324 Pine Knob, third vice chairman; Mrs. Paul Derryberry of 5208 Maybee, recording secretary; Mrs. George Newlin of 8074 Princess, treasurer; and Mrs. Jim Humphrey of 4851 Clintonville, corresponding secretary.

Trustees are Robert Copeman of 5266 Pine Knob, Dick Brown of 5328 Eastlawn, Charles Curry Jr. of 5728 Warbler, Glenn Berner of 5255 Pine Knob, Paul Derryberry of 5208 Maybee, Jim Humphrey of 4851 Clintonville and Don Trapp of 6151 Pine Knob.

China Fast Building Superterror Bombs

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Here is the first of three articles by an AP team that examined Red China's atomic weaponry and its likely effects on the United States.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE and WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Writers

In one searing moment last June 17, the world changed suddenly and drastically.

Red China exploded an H-bomb.

Within 30 months, she may well have 100 of the mammoth bombs, Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist, estimates.

Within that same brief time, she could be stockpiling the missiles needed to lob city-obliterating bombs at American or other targets.

U.S. EDUCATED

Ironically, the record also shows the United States educated and then deported to Communist China some of the key nuclear and missile experts who contributed enormously to her achievements.

Superterror weapons are coming into the hands of a Chinese regime regarded by the West as reckless and paranoid.

The possible consequences from China's dealing herself in as a nuclear poker player are widespread and dismaying. An Associated Press study finds:

• It could resolve affirmatively a hot debate whether the United States should drive ahead now for antiballistic missile defenses and perhaps civilian shelters—at a cost to taxpayers that could reach $70 billion as a starter.

• China might donate a few A-bombs to Arab countries in the touchy Middle East. Israel then could be impelled to build, beg or borrow bombs of her own.

• China might use bombs to blackmail weaker countries into keeping hands off "people's liberation" wars of rebellion within their own borders.

• Japan, India and other countries could decide to make their own bombs, killing all hopes for a nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

• China, under Mao Tse-tung or more cooperative successors, must be reckoned as a first-class power. The H-bomb gives a soaring boost to Chinese morale, says one top adviser on China to the U.S. government.

It took China only 32 months to leap from her first atomic explosion to detonation of a pretty complete H-bomb. How swiftly may she acquire significant nuclear muscles?

REFERRED TO STATEMENT

Pentagon and Atomic Energy Commission officials declined requests for interviews, referring queries mainly to a "posture statement" by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara last Jan. 23.

"It appears unlikely that the Chinese could deploy a significant number of operational ICBMs before the mid-1970's, or that these ICBMs would have great reliability, speed of response, or substantial protection against attack."

A "significant number" of ICBM—intercontinental ballistic missiles—was defined by Pentagon sources at the time as 75 to 100 or more.

McNamara and others have predicted China may test-launch an ICBM before the year's end, or send a Chinese satellite beep-beeping into orbit, signalling progress in control and guidance skills required for pinpointed nuclear missiles.

The estimate that China could have 100 H-bombs by 1970 is made on the basis of published information and other sources by Dr. Lapp, of Washington, D.C., a physicist now in private consulting business who played a roll in A-bomb development.

CURRENT ABILITY

He credits China with current ability to produce 1,000 pounds per year of uranium 235, the atoms that fission or split in A-weapons.

But Dr. Lapp and others think it would be foolish for China to use costly U-235 for atomic weapons. Instead, they think China will opt to use all or most of it as triggers for H-bombs, with the explosive equivalent of many millions of tons of TNT. Dr. Lapp estimates China can turn its 1,000 pounds of U-235 into 20 H-bombs triggers each year. That, plus existing stocks and a rising production, could mean 100 H-bombs within about 30 more months.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., predicts China, by the end of 1967, will have a capability for intermediate range ballistic missiles and will begin deploying them.

ASIAN MENACE

These can zoom 1,000 to 1,500 miles or more, and so could menace Soviet Asia and South-east Asian countries, says Jackson, a member of several military and nuclear affairs committees.

By 1971, China may have ICBMs that could reach North America, the senator adds. By the mid-1970's, China "will have enough bombs and missiles to be a real threat to life in the United States. That's perhaps eight years away, but time flies by."

In eight years, a child progresses from first grade to high school.

RECORD IMPRESSIVE

It took the United States seven years from A-bomb to H-bomb, but there had been no pressure to move quickly when this country had a monopoly on A-weapons. It took the Soviet Union four years, Britain seven, and France is not yet there. China required only two years and eight months. The reasons are intriguing; the record impressive.

• Oct. 16, 1964: The first A-device is detonated from a tower in the desolate salt flats near Lop Nor—Lake Lop—in the remote northwestern province of Sinkiang, on a site 450 miles from the Soviet frontier. Its force: 20,000 tons of TNT, equal to the Hiroshima bomb 19 years earlier.

Through spy planes and other intelligence, the United States was able to predict the event 17 days in advance, diluting its propaganda value. It was made of U-235, not easier-to-get plutonium; China was more sophisticated in nuclear prowess than had been supposed.

U.S. experts figured China might have H-bombs by 1975. Little official concern was expressed—China still had to produce numerous A-bombs, and means of delivering them.

• May 17, 1965: An air drop of an A-bomb about double the earlier force. U.S. officials spoke in terms of a Chinese H-bomb by 1970.

• May 9, 1966: Test tower detonation of a device of over 200,000 tons of TNT. Ingredients needed for an H-reaction were detected, says Rep. Hosmer.

• Oct. 27, 1966: A missile carried an A-warhead 400 to 500 miles to detonation. The explosive force was perhaps 20,000 tons. Major Asian cities were coming within range.

• Dec. 27, 1966: Probably a proof test of an H-bomb trigger, Hosmer reports. Explosive force, a few hundred thousand tons of TNT.

• June 17, 1967: Proof test for an H-bomb. Its force, "several" millions of tons of TNT, said the Atomic Energy Commission. Furthermore, says Hosmer, it was an air drop, something transportable even if only in one of China's limited-range bombers.

Experts analyzing China's nuclear hurry point to numerous factors:

• Her leaders put top priority on this goal.

• The Soviet Union helped directly for a time; the United States indirectly.

• The Chinese are very smart people as evidenced by their impressive share of outstanding scientists in many fields.

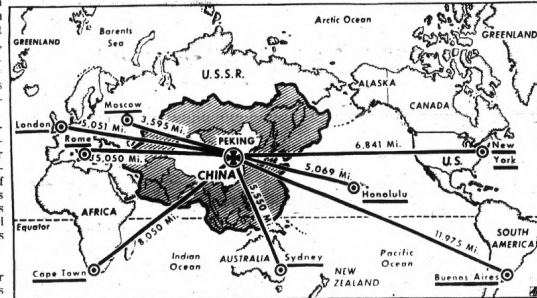

• They profited hugely from U.S. and Soviet pioneering which showed that A-bombs and H-bombs can be built—that warheads can be designed to fit atop missiles—that gaseous diffusion is an effective way of separating U-235 from ordinary uranium.

• China worked simultaneously to develop bombs and missiles, then to marry the two. The United States and the Soviet Union got weapons first, with bombers to carry them, then made ICBMs to hurt them. China could take a shortcut.

• There are conflicting reports whether China tumbled onto a quicker and cheaper way—a centrifuging process—to concentrate U-235.

• China spent heavily in skilled manpower, resources and foreign exchange at a cost of not pursuing, or else limiting, other needs.

(Chart From America and Russia—Without Love)

WITHIN CHINA'S REACH—Some experts say that by the end of 1967, Communist China will be able to make effective delivery of atomic weapons to areas within 1,500 miles of her border (shaded area). By the mid-1970's, other experts say, she will be able to send missiles armed with atomic and hydrogen weapons as far as the North American continent and Europe.

DAWN OF CHINA'S A-POWER—This mushroom cloud, typical of atomic explosions, billows skyward after Communist China exploded its first A-bomb in October 1964. Since then, her development of nuclear weapons has been swift, culminating in a hydrogen explosion in June 1967. This photo was taken from a Chinese magazine.

'We Owe Our Gratitude for Community Service'

As citizens of Pontiac we owe a debt of gratitude to our Mayor, the City Commission and administration, the police and firemen and outstanding citizens who labored heroically to restore law and order to our community and avert the tragic destruction that swept Detroit. As a citizen I voice my sincere appreciation to each of them.

I especially appreciate the long, tedious hours of listening and sympathetic understanding with which our Mayor has tried to get at and eliminate the grinding causes of this rebellion. The dignity and respect with which he has treated those who have profound hurts will help to right these wrongs and build a city in which all people are treated as human beings of supreme worth.

My hat is off to the General Motors Corporation for allowing our Mayor to devote so much time to working out these problems. This service to our community is public relations at its best.

Motorists' View Obstructed by Weeds

With so much emphasis on traffic safety, why is a weed patch allowed to obstruct the view of motorists using the crossover on Square Lake Road just west of Woodward?

Perhaps a scythe should be added to one's motoring equipment. But then, such a tool might be considered a dangerous weapon.

Explains Railroad Crossing Gate Usage

In answer to C. R.: It takes a train going 60 m.p.h., 60 seconds to travel a mile. It takes the gates at Johnson Avenue 20 seconds to come down to protect people like yourself, who are in a hurry.

The towerman gets a buzzer telling him to let the gates down. He doesn't know how fast the train is coming.

I know of a few people who would be here today if the gates had come down sooner. I suggest you see Florence Avenue; there are no gates there. Good Luck!

hood to restore public order, to establish justice under the law and to accord to every citizen that dignity of person to which he is entitled.

The President has issued a fervent appeal. He has properly separated the rioting and insurrection from the area of civil rights. He has branded it as a hazardous collapse of law and order which will not be further tolerated.

Responsible Negro leaders at every level decry the senseless rioting and wanton destruction. They too, have appealed for a cessation of these disturbances which have wracked urban areas from Nashville to Detroit since April. But the chanted slogans, the violent threats and the arrogant, defiant leadership of hoodlums have turned normally decent men into fanatical firebrands, looters and killers.

May God grant us the strength and the wisdom for this task. Tomorrow will be too late!

David Lawrence Says:

Foreign Policy Plan Disruptive

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has started a new controversy between the executive and legislative branches of the government over the making of foreign policy.

LAWRENCE

He has introduced a resolution which would take away from the President many of the powers he now has to conduct the foreign relations of the United States.

Although the Arkansas senator denies that this is his objective, his resolution calls for a declaration by Congress that hereafter no commitment made by the president or his ambassadors shall be considered valid without the approval of Congress.

This means that the President of the United States would be powerless to make any kind of diplomatic agreement whatsoever with a foreign government without approval by at least the Senate.

Ever since the republic was founded, presidents of the United States have made declarations of foreign policy which have not been considered as treaties or conventions requiring ratification by the Senate. Even the Monroe Doctrine was an executive declaration.

The conduct of foreign policy would be paralyzed if a president of the United States had to take up with the Senate or both houses of Congress any "commitment" he might make during the course of diplomatic interchanges with other governments.

PROFOUND CHANGE

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is really advocating a modification of the Constitution. Yet he has not introduced any constitutional amendment, as is customary when a profound change is made in the American system of government.

The present system permits the widest possible expression of opinion by members of Congress if they dissent from the foreign policy carried on by the president.

They have the power to withhold appropriations. They can adopt a resolution formally expressing their adverse opinion, and this would be given attention not only in the United States but throughout the world.

Sen. Fulbright insists that there has been a "gradual erosion of the role of Congress, and particularly of the Senate, in the determination of national security policy."

But this is not the fault of the president.

Congress — especially the Senate — has a right to express itself on foreign policy, and many members have done so in connection with the Vietnam war as well as other involvements.

As a matter of fact, 18 treaties have been submitted to and ratified by the Senate in its current session.

To tie the hands of the chief executive, however, by saying he can make no commitment or promise to a foreign government unless he first gets the approval of the Senate is to disrupt the whole process of diplomacy.

Bob Considine Says:

Prisoner of Fidel Elected Mother of Year in U.S.

NEW YORK — Probably the most astonished prisoner of Fidel Castro is Mrs. Josefina Fernandez.

She has been elected "mother of the year," but not by Fidel. The voting took place at the East Side High School, Newark, N.J., and, as you will soon see, for good reason.

Her daughter, Carmen, a 15-year-old refugee student at the school turned in the following composition:

"Unfortunately, I am not like most of the kids who have the privilege of sharing their home with their mothers. My mother is in Cuba."

"In 1960, my brother, who is a priest, was taken under the custody of the Communists with several other priests. After a while he was allowed to leave Cuba, heading for Spain."

"That was the first thing that almost killed my mother with pain. She did not have the chance to kiss him goodbye."

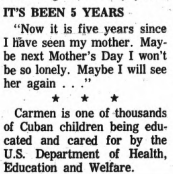

TAKEN AWAY

"In 1961, my mother, father and sister were taken away by the Communists. I still remember that night as my mother looked at me and said, 'I love you.'"

"I was 10 years old then, and my little brother S. We were taken to a neighbor's house and later to my sister's house. She took care of us. Finally, my family came home but the Communists said they would send us to China or Czechoslovakia."

"Mother didn't give up. She tried everything possible to send us away from Cuba; to send us to this great nation."

"In 1962 we were allowed to come to America. I still remember that sad morning of April 21 in the Havana airport. My mother stood there

If any American needs proof that anarchy has become a way of life he should turn toward Detroit, his ears toward Newark and his "open mind" toward those news media which have faithfully reported the lawlessness which have plagued more than 30 major cities since Stokely Carmichael initiated the 1967 campaign of hell-on-earth in Nashville last April 8.

It has taken many deaths, loss of hundreds of millions of dollars in property, the loss of service of thousands of police, firemen, National Guardsmen, and now the United States Army, to bring a lackadaisical citizenship to the realization that we are rapidly approaching a state of bloody civil war. The urgent need is for every patriotic man and woman to band in an indissoluble bond of American brother-

CYRUS EATON, American Industrialist who's a rather ardent admirer of the Soviet Union, breaks a long silence and cheers the Russians. He's on the loose again.

Interviewed by the Associated Press, he opened up with definite support of the Reds and then suggested that we should align ourselves with his pets "against the Chinese."

Well, well, well! How naive the Red lover becomes!

It's increasingly apparent that the Soviets are more apprehensive over the progress of the Chinese. They see a powerful foe looming ahead. And they're absolutely correct. Now this Mr. EATON wants us to align ourselves with his pals in the Kremlin.

What a dumb deal this would be. We prefer to let the Russians and Chinese get as far apart as they can. The further it is, the better for the United States. Cyrus, you old reprobate, go way back and sit down. Lapse into the golden silence you've observed since you discovered the opprobrium you heaped upon yourself before.

Denmark Gives Sales Tax a New Twist

If the prospect of a 6 to 10 percent surtax on top of your regular income tax has given rise to vague thoughts of emigrating from the land of Big Government to some little country — like Denmark, perhaps — that is not obliged to defend half the world, think again.

If the Danes were not melancholy before, they have reason to be now. They have just saddled themselves with something called a "merværdi-skat," which, being translated, signifies "added-value sales tax."

Nicknamed "Moms" (pronounced "mumps") and just about as delightful, it was part of the biggest tax reform in modern Danish history, says Scandinavian Times newsmagazine, and is the first major consequence of the Socialist victory in last November's elections.

The added-value tax differs from a sales tax in that it will be levied every time a product changes hands throughout the manufacturing process. It will also be clamped on all kinds of services, from window cleaning to furniture moving.

At the retail level, the tax works out to exactly 10 percent and is expected to extract $700 million annually from the 4.7 million Danes, or about $149 a head, exclusive of income and other taxes.

France invented the added-value tax and has had it for 13 years. Other Scandinavian countries are considering a shift to Moms and all Common Market countries will have uniform Moms systems by 1970.

The tax is attractive to finance ministers because it works quickly, is flexible and can be used not only to pay government bills but to control consumption as well.

Like Dutch elm disease, which slipped into this country in a load of logs despite efforts to keep it out, it is probably only a matter of time until America is hit with the Danish "mumps."

Computer Flies Out in Role of Cupid

Experiments in utilizing the talents of the computer in the boy-meets-girl department have proved one thing, at least:

The machine disposes but it's the man who proposes. (The girls still let him think so, anyway.)

Students at a high school in Colorado decided to give a computer a try in handling the dating arrangements for a fund-raising dance. Some 200 boys and girls were paired on the basis of their answers to 63 questions, which were fed via punch card into a Western Electric MNW computer.

Results of the "Binary Bounce" were mixed, in more ways than one.

At least one teen-ager reported a case where the computer gave away someone's girlfriend. "Mine," he lamented.

Another boy found himself perfectly matched with a girl who shared his every interest. The only trouble was, she excelled him in all of them. End of romance.

Presidential-Power Issue Heated

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — There is heat in Congress over the increasing authority of the President, the diminishing grip of Congress.

So it was no accident when Sen. J. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and President Johnson's severest critic on the Vietnam issue, got up and expressed concern about the power of the President in foreign affairs.

In a resolution he offered for approval, Fulbright proposed the Senate take the position a national commitment in foreign affairs is valid only if Congress joins with the President in declaring it.

This, he explained, will be the basis for a broad study by the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is chairman, on the nature and extent of foreign commitments abroad.

Fulbright's concern is shared by others. Earlier this year a Senate Judiciary subcommittee was established to make a full study of the separation of powers among the executive, the judicial and the congressional branches of government and the manner in which power has been used by each branch.

STEADY EROSION

Fulbright complained that the role of Congress, and particularly the Senate, in the determination of national security is steadily being eroded.

The Constitution, put together when the world was much simpler, says very little about presidential power in foreign affairs, merely noting the President "shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators concur."

But nowadays the President is involved in far more than treaties, and Fulbright commented that since World War II the United States has "fought two wars without benefit of congressional declaration and has engaged in numerous small scale activities without meaningful consultation with Congress."

That's a nice phrase — "without meaningful consultation with Congress" — but it is made of rubber, for anyone, including Fulbright, would have trouble explaining it and then getting someone to agree with him.

TRUMAN CONSULTED

While Congress voted no declaration of war for Korea, President Harry S. Truman consulted with the members of the foreign affairs committees of House and Senate before announcing he was sending in U.S. troops to stop the aggression from North Korea.

They endorsed the move unanimously. Next day in Congress he was praised by his Republican critics. And both houses voted to extend the draft.

When North Vietnamese PT boats attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin in 1964, and Johnson retaliated by ordering the bombing of their shore bases, he consulted with congressional leaders of both parties. He asked and got, with Fulbright's backing, approval from Congress for a resolution giving him an okay in advance for any action he thought necessary to stop aggression.

When an attempt was made in 1966 to take this power from Johnson by repealing the resolution, the Senate defeated the effort 92 to 5, although this time Fulbright was one of the dissenters.

Stokely Aims Threats at LBJ, Wilson

HAVANA (AP) — Black power advocate Stokely Carmichael called Tuesday for Negro guerrilla uprisings in U.S. cities and made threats against President Johnson, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other high U.S. officials.

Declaring that black power advocates "are moving into urban guerrilla warfare in the United States," the militant Negro agitator told a three-hour news conference: "We have no alternative but to use aggressive armed violence in order to own the land, houses and stores inside our communities, and to control the politics of those communities."

U.S. newsmen were barred from the news conference, but Carmichael's remarks were quoted by Havana Radio, George Ware of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Felix Greene, a British subject reporting for the San Francisco Chronicle. Carmichael declared that Negro guerrillas "must develop a consciousness so that when people who are struggling get killed, the retaliation will be against the leaders of the West."

"Let us develop a consciousness that when they touch one guerrilla, Lyndon Johnson, Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara and Harold Wilson must pay the price," he said. "We are not waiting for them to kill us. We will move to kill them first—or rather, we are working towards that goal."

He presumably included Wilson because the Home Office last week banned him from Britain.

"One good thing about the Vietnam war is that the United States has taught us how to kill," Carmichael declared later. "Our brothers returning from Vietnam are going to use that training well in the cities of the United States."

Asked about the role of white people in the Negro struggle, Carmichael replied: "The only whites we can use in our struggle are those who are ready to pick up guns with us to destroy the capitalist system."

Man Dies in Pool

HOLLAND (AP) — Gordon Kirk, 66, of Holland, a rest home resident, was found drowned in a pool in a residential area Tuesday. Police said he apparently had wandered into the yard and fallen into the pool.

Experimental School Project Is Under Way

The professional staff will devote much time to developing a learning program for the individual student.

To be centered in a secondary school and a primary school, the project is expected to involve up to 150 teachers and about 800 students from throughout the district during the three-year period.

The teachers, under the guidance of the Indicon staff, will be charged with developing instructional units to be fed into and stored in the computer.

The terminal consoles (or student work stations) will be connected to the computer. These consoles will be equipped with a television tube, earphones, an alphanumeric keyboard for placing input on the screen or into the computer and a graphic tablet from which an electronic stylus can be shown on the screen.

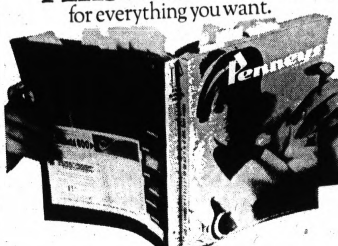

The main part of the program, according to Alexander, is developing instructional units for placement into the computer.

Instructional units will be developed in English, mathematics, science, history, foreign languages, counseling, special education, humanities, health and physical education in vocational areas.

Students will have access to the terminal consoles from which they will do exercises using the various instructional units stored in the computer.

ROBIN HOOD

QUESTION: Did Robin Hood really live?

ANSWER: Robin Hood, like King Arthur, was an English hero of story and legend whose exploits were probably based on those of some actual person. But we know very little about the real Robin Hood, although he is supposed to have lived between 1190 and 1247 A.D.

The legend says that as a youth, some foresters taunted him for carrying such a big bow. When a deer appeared, they dared him to shoot at it. Robin killed the deer with one shot.

"Pure luck," jeered one of the foresters, "You couldn't shoot that straight." But Robin, losing his temper, fitted another arrow and shot the forester dead.

After that, he lived as an outlaw, gathering a group of similar outlaws around him. Dressed in green, Robin and his merry men lived romantic lives in Sherwood Forest. They robbed the wealthy, but gave the money back to the poor. Robin would never harm a woman.

According to the legend, he did not wish to harm anyone, but took the part of the weak and helpless against those who oppressed them. Remember, however, this is a legend and not necessarily certain.

Consumer May Feel Freight Rate Hike Effect

NEW YORK (AP) — Your pocketbook eventually may feel the impact of the $300-million annual freight rate increase won by the nation's railroads Tuesday.

Groceries, cars and paper products may inch upward in price when the new Interstate Commerce Commission rates become effective.

"Ultimately, the consumer feels the squeeze of these increased costs," said one Wall Street analyst.

The increase was the railroads' first general rate hike in seven years and came despite administration pleas that such raises be considered "in the light of the national interest in promoting price stability."

COST TO MEMBERS

The American Paper Institute, representing the paper and wood pulp industry, estimated the new rates would cost its members about $22 million annually.

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. said the rates would add about $1 million annually to its $50-million railroad freight bill.

"Rarely are costs of this type absorbed," said an Olin spokesman.

C. F. Fisher, transportation director for the Great Northern Paper Co., said "ultimately they (the increases) have to show up somewhere."

TO MINIMIZE EFFECTS

"We plan to explore and analyze every conceivable transportation alternative. We're going to minimize the effects in every possible way."

The housewife in the supermarket may feel the pinch also. The new rates "cannot help but have an effect on food prices in the long run," said George W. Koch, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, representing 300 food processors.

"Eventually, they will have to be passed on," said the American Institute of Food Distribution.

One Wall Street close to the industry guessed that when the prices of 1968 model cars are announced, some of the rate increase will be reflected.

In Detroit, the Big 3 automakers declined comment. But more than 50 per cent of General Motors products move by rail.

The price a New Yorker pays for a top-of-the-line standard-size Ford includes $72 transportation costs from Detroit. But built into the price of the car is the cost of transporting the raw materials from mine to factory.

In Los Angeles, a spokesman for the Western Growers Association said it considers the rate increase discriminatory. Another West Coast shipping agency said it regards the boost as reasonable.

A Quaker Oats Co. spokesman in Chicago said the rate increase "is required if the railroads are to continue to provide good service and remain solvent."

One rail source said "even this increase won't offset increased costs. But everybody

Rights Agency Asks Riot Quiz

DETROIT (UPI)—The Michigan Civil Rights Commission yesterday urged an investigation into last week's riots that struck Michigan cities and devastated parts of Detroit.

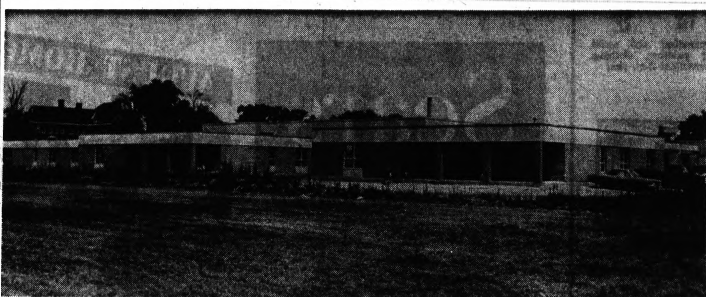

The Commission said the investigation should not be used as a game of "political football."

A two-page proposal on how the investigation should be conducted was sent to Gov. Romney, state legislators, and municipal officials.

It does not specify who should conduct the investigation, but the report implied that the Civil Rights Commission should do the investigating.

The commission warned that the cost would be "substantial." Financing such a study would require both public and private support, according to the report.

There are now 840 two-year colleges in the United States, 230 built since 1960.

PSYCHIATRIC CENTER — Pontiac State Hospital's Fairlawn Center, a children's psychiatric hospital, is expected to open in early 1968. Construction on the $2.1-million facility was started last fall. It will have facilities for 80 overnight children, day and out-patient services.

Rep. Ford Explains Vote Against Rat Control Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said yesterday President Johnson's rat control bill would put Uncle Sam in the garbage-collecting business without any assurance of success.

He insisted that House members who voted against even considering the measure were motivated "by the facts and reason rather than by politics and emotion."

Johnson has been sharply critical of the House for failing to give slum children the same break Congress has given a pestilence-ridden animals.

Ford said in a letter to constituents, "The program could at best serve only 2 1/2 per cent of our people and only a little better than one-half of one per cent of the nation's 18,000 communities."

Garbage and refuse collection are an integral part of the Department of Housing and Urban Development's plans for rat control, Ford said.

'WOULDN'T DO JOB'

"Where do we start or stop when Uncle Sam gets into the business of collecting garbage?" he asked.

"All of us want to get rid of rats," he maintained. "But the President's rat bill wouldn't do the job. But it would mean greater federal control from Washington, a larger federal budget, and higher tax requirements — all without any assurance of success."

The Public Health Service now makes federal funds available to states for rat control programs, Ford said, although only seven states are cooperating.

Bonds Approved

LANSING (AP) — The State Public Service Commission has authorized a $125,000 bond issue by the Augusta Telephone Co. for improvement of its telephone plant and facilities. Also authorized was a $829,000 bond issue by the Presque Isle Electric Cooperative, Inc., to enable it to serve an additional 1,600 members and increase its service capacity for 250 existing members in nine Upper Peninsula counties.

The eight tallest man-made buildings in the world are skyscrapers located in New York City.

Mrs. Irwin Calls on Area Gals for Volunteers

Please say "Yes" when asked is the plea of area chairmen for the Pontiac Area United Fund Residential drive. And right now the area leaders are recruiting district chairmen and workers to assist the drive efforts.

"In effect, each of our volunteers is a 'wonder worker,'" said Mrs. Robert C. Irwin, 1967 PAUF Residential Division Chairman. "A few days, involving several hours' time, once a year is a small investment for so great a return in terms of the many family, health, youth and research services performed each day throughout the year."

The national slogan for this year's campaign, "One Gift Works Many Wonders - The United Way" signifies the importance of the one gift serving 55 agencies serving the local community.

District leaders, as well as solicitors, are needed. According to Mrs. Irwin, a district chairman is the "key" link to obtaining volunteers on the neighborhood level. "Ideally, she is one who is active in PTA, church and neighborhood functions and has a wide range of contacts."

In spite of the demands on the home-maker's time, it seems to be true that the busy woman is an organized woman," she said.

Their sights are set for the total recruitment to be completed by Aug. 31. The ten day house-to-house canvass begins Oct. 17.

The schedule applies throughout the Residential Campaign structure which includes the City of Pontiac and Waterford, Orion, Independence, Oxford and Pontiac Townships, according to Mrs. Irwin.

"In all, some 1,500 women are needed to accomplish our drive objectives," she said.

Many workers have already volunteered their help but more are needed to complete the job. Any woman willing to volunteer for the October drive may call the Pontiac Area United Fund office.

Area chairmen in the City of Pontiac and Pontiac Township recently appointed by Pontiac Chairman Mrs. John F. Reineck are: Mrs. Edward Amidon, Area I; Mrs. Warren T. Fowler, Area II; Mrs. Willie Ferguson, Area III; Mrs. Otis B. Ferguson, Area IV; Mrs. Eric Wild, Area V; Mrs. Charles Colberg, Area VI.

PAUF Residential Drive chairmen in surrounding townships affiliated with the drive are: Mrs. Cecil Stricklin, Waterford; Mrs. Thomas Folis, Lake Angelus; Mrs. Carl Birkelo, Independence; Mrs. Gene Burgess, Lake Orion.

She 'Didn't Feel Good'

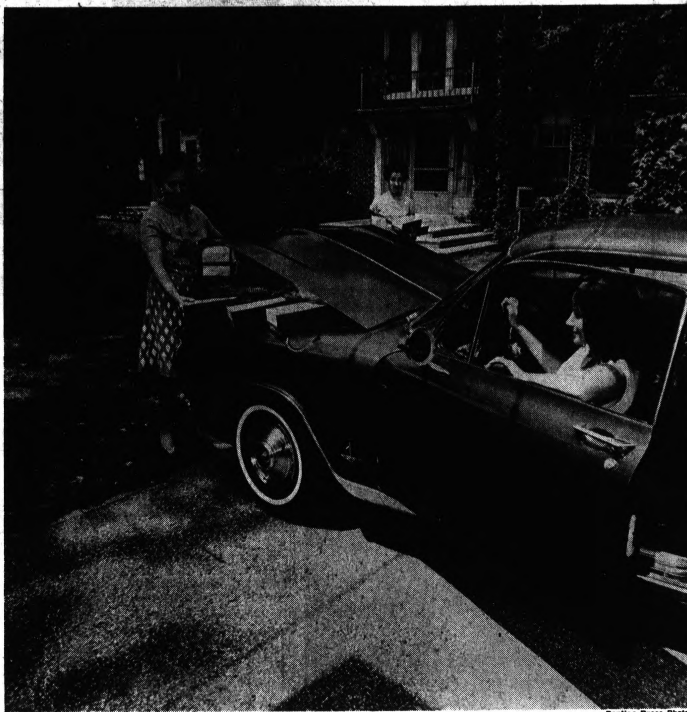

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—B. W. Cook's wife called him: "I don't feel good. Call the doctor."

"So I called the doctor and he told me to take her to the hospital," but he said when he got back from the phone call, "my wife was sitting there with a new baby."

Until Sunday afternoon Cook and his wife, Patricia, were unaware that she was pregnant, he said.

Patrick Nugent pauses to buy a program as wife Luci follows him into New York's Imperial Theater to see "Cabaret" on Broadway Tuesday evening. The couple will soon celebrate their first wedding anniversary. They are on their second honeymoon and plan to depart for Nassau today.

Nugents Playgo on Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—Patrick and Luci Johnson Nugent were mobbed by more than 200 midtown theatergoers Tuesday night as they started their second honeymoon with a stop on Broadway.

The Nugents had left their five-week-old son Patrick Lyndon in the White House with his grandparents, President and Mrs. Johnson — but they hadn't forgotten him.

"He's fine — I haven't talked to him recently," quipped Pat, during intermission at the Imperial Theater, where he and Luci had joined a group of friends to see the musical "Cabaret."

The Nugents are heading for a second honeymoon in the Bahamas — but Luci said all plans hinge on baby Lyn.

"Our plans aren't really definite at all," she said. "We've got a new baby, you know."

The couple slipped into fifth row orchestra seats virtually unobserved — but by intermission word had filtered through the sell-out crowd that the Nugents were in the orchestra.

No Point in Needing Gift-Giver

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative (my husband's actually) who has never really liked me, but she puts on a hypocritical show of friendliness whenever we meet, which is often, as we are a clamish family.

She recently returned from Europe, bringing me a "gift." A set of 12 needlepoint canvases for my dining room chairs. (Seats and backs, totaling 24 pieces!) I mentioned some time ago that I was looking for some.

She said she had hunted all over Europe trying to find exactly what she thought would be perfect for my dining room.

Abby, they are an absolute horror! I lied my thanks, saying they were "lovely," but I cannot bear the thought of working them and having to live with them.

I love to do needlepoint, but I don't want these monstrosities in my dining room. How can I get out of making them now?

STUCK IN QUEBEC
DEAR STUCK: Put the canvases away for a while. At a later date, if you find something more to your liking, go ahead and work them. After they are finished she may not even notice they aren't hers. If she does, explain that you found something you liked better. (True.) No point in needing her.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter (I'll call her Nellie) is 24 and plans to marry a "handyman." He makes his living from jobs provided by relatives—stocking grocery shelves, running errands and so forth.

He is pouty, sullen, discourteous, and egotistical. He attended college but flunked out.

Nellie is the private secretary to an executive and draws a good salary. She has over $6,000 saved, is intelligent, nice looking, and well liked. She could have her pick of many nice young men, but what she sees in this dud we will never know.

Our pastor tried to talk some sense into her head, but he got nowhere. She says she "loves" him. How can we keep her from making the biggest mistake in her life by going through with this marriage?

WORRIED PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: You can't. So don't try. "Love" with some people is a mental illness which doesn't respond to logic. If this is a "mistake" she will have to make it and learn the hard way. Let's hope her "handyman," with Nellie's help, turns out better than you think he will.

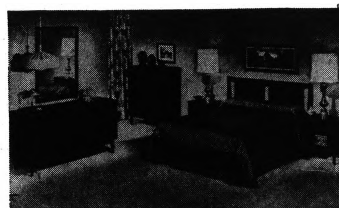

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Troubled and Mixed Up" in La Crosse. Small wonder. You are tormented needlessly with guilty feelings because you have confused sex with love.

In Father James Kavanaugh's book, "A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church," he says, "The Catholic girl has heard so much more about sex than about love that love becomes an untenable ideal and sex the forbidden path that leads to misery." Read the book, young lady. It will help you.

New Cultural Calendars Will Soon Be Mailed Out

Prior to Sept. 1, the Pontiac area's first cultural arts calendar, listing events for the fall season, will be off the presses and into the mail to the thousands who have requested copies.

To others, they will be available at The Pontiac Mail, which is underwriting expenses for this first issue, and other locations including the Chamber of Commerce offices, libraries and Welcome Wagons.

The Pontiac Area Community Arts Council, created this year by Mayor William H. Taylor, Jr., has been responsible for the publication and has received a great response from area cultural organizations.

MASTER

The calendar will contain information on cultural events. A master calendar will be maintained at the Council's office at the YWCA, where groups as small as 10 in membership can and will be registered, along with any events, including fund raising affairs, they may be sponsoring.

All organizations are asked to register their calendar of events, to be available to anyone by telephone or visit to the "Y" office. It is expected that this arrangement will stimulate interest and attendance in all events in the greater Pontiac area.

Deadline for the next calendar, listing events for January, February and March, 1968, is December 1. Persons wishing to receive the second edition and not already on the mailing list may do so by written request to the headquarters.

Mrs. Maxwell L. Shadley, Pontiac's representative on the Michigan Arts Council, heads the committee working on the first issue. Mrs. John Bills and Mrs. Richard Veazey have been assisting her. Many "Y" volunteers, including teen-agers and the staff, have been preparing the mailing list.

Other members of the area committee are John C. Carlisle, assistant director of community service-cultural affairs, at Oakland Community College; Earl Kreps, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; George H. Putnam, music director, Pontiac Central High School; Mrs. W. J. Emerson, YWCA Board of Directors, and Mrs. C. J. Odell, Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press.

Noted Designer Sees New Pace

PARIS (UPI)—Andrew Courreges, who stirred up the revolution of short skirts and pants suits, promised he will unveil another surprise for women in two or three years.

What this new bombshell is, Courreges would not say as he relaxed for an interview behind an antique Spanish table in his all-white salon following the wildly applauded premiere of his winter clothes.

"It's already realized. What interests me is each future collection, to make progress, to find new things. In two or three years I hope to find another 'solution.' I am very occupied by the future."

"The past is done," he mused. "That is already realized. What interests me is each future collection, to make progress, to find new things. In two or three years I hope to find another 'solution.' I am very occupied by the future."

Souvenirs of Spain Worn by Bride

Wearing a lace mantilla brought from a recent trip to Spain, Constance Louise Smith became the bride Saturday of George Joseph Straka of Tula Drive.

IVORY SHANTUNG

The bridal ensemble was made by the mother of the bride and featured an A-line gown of ivory silk shantung with Empire waist and a back panel.

The bride's bouquet was an arrangement of helleboris orchids and Stephanotis fastened to a white lace fan—also from Spain.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Worley H. Smith of McKinley Drive and Mrs. Adam Galsky of Mt. Pleasant.

Sharon Arnold was maid of honor with Worley H. Smith Jr. as best man.

Richard Straka, brother of the groom, was the usher.

A reception in Maurice's Hall followed the afternoon ceremony in the First Congregational Church.

The couple will reside in Auburn Heights upon their return from a wedding trip.

Hotel Planner Can Aid You

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you are being married at a hotel ballroom or if you planned to have your reception there, the banquet or social manager can be of valuable help, says Edythe Vincent in "Bride-to-be."

If your wedding is held at the hotel, he will make arrangements for a suitable floral background, engage musicians and set up seating arrangements.

LPNs Win Certificates

The self-supporting nurse center was established in 1963 and receives federal funds through the school board. More than 300 nurses who have completed a 46-week course have graduated from the center.

MRS. R. G. CHILDERS

MRS. L. J. CARLSON

A Trip North for Couple

A honeymoon in northern Michigan followed the wedding Saturday of Judy Ann Hanson and Richard Glenn Childers in Drayton Plains Presbyterian Church.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Basil M. Hanson of Solway Street and the Russell Childers of Ortonville.

The new Mrs. Childers chose a gown of Venetian lace with Aurora trimmed neckline and calla sleeves. Her skirt was tiered lace with tulle Watteau train.

Her veil was a chapel length mantilla edged in matching lace and held by a double tiered lace crown. She carried a bouquet of carnations and fern.

Honor attendants were Betty Sue Hanson, sister of the bride, and Russell Dan Childers.

A reception in Rotary Hall, Ortonville, followed the rite.

Fund Starts Toy Library for Children

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Eager young borrowers are flocking to a new library at the Johnston Square Elementary School.

But instead of books, 292 first graders in the school are taking out toys.

The project, financed by a bequest from Sadie and Sol Winer, is operated by the Baltimore Section, National Council of Jewish Women.

A toy may be kept out for 10 days and the borrower may renew it once.

Among the toys available are footballs, basketballs, gloves, tractors, ropes, dolls, mops, brooms, blocks, puppets, strollers and musical instruments.

"The emphasis is on taking good care of the toys, and experimenting with them," explains Mrs. Sander Wise, chairman.

Legs Featuring Patterned Hose

Count it a clean sweep in fashion for patterned and textured stockings and low heeled pumps.

They're what's worn with both daytime and evening clothes for fall.

Showing off strongly are knee socks the type children wear to school and what not too long ago were the style to wear with Bermuda shorts.

Fresh Yam Now in Instant Flake

It takes 7½ pounds of fresh yams to make 1 pound of instant yam flakes.

Mrs. Daniel Dipzinski attended her sister with Mrs. Grantland Wright as bridesmaid.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, James Jozwiak of Gaylord, with ushers Ronald Damer of Grosse Ile, Daniel Dipzinski and Vernon Gehris.

He Takes Wife, His Home Along on the Job, Too

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Merle Keller moved 170,000 miles last year in their rolling home.

The Kellers are a trucking team, and in the nearly two years they've been driving together they've been in 46 states.

Mrs. Keller, a blonde, learned to drive a truck when she found her husband's job, long-distance hauling, took him away from home too much.

The truck is air-conditioned, has curtains and foot rugs and a six-speaker stereo tape machine and radio.

Eventually they hope to own the $25,000 trailer tractor they handle for a New York-based line.

Harvard Frosh Get No Nonsense Talk

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Trust Harvard.

Bluntly, with none of our fashionable tenderness for the complexities of "adolescent psychology," Harvard's Dean John U. Munro has told its 1,186 freshmen to choose between the university and excursions into chaos by LSD and other "dangerous and illegal drugs." To his freshman class this remarkable adult said:

"If a student is stupid enough to misuse his time here by fooling around with drugs, he should leave and make room for people prepared to take good advantage of a college opportunity."

Then, justly, Munro supported his view of the stupidity of stuhis statement a five-page pamphlet on the psychosis and physiological damages risked by users of LSD.

And do you know what? I'll bet few drugs are used by those 1,186. Not because Harvard freshmen are different from other college freshmen or brighter or more committed.

No. Because the adults who operate their school are so sure of the worth of what they've got to offer. Because its faculty is so self-respecting, so certain of the importance of what it can teach that uncertain juveniles who come to them for instruction will have to become certain of it, too.

I wish that Munro could be persuaded to hold seminars on self-respecting treatment of the young for other university administrators. For if "self-doubt" is the overriding problem of American parents, it is also the No. 1 problem of our university administrators.

And their students know it. You can't fool kids. They've got a shark's sense of smell for uncertainty in us, whether we're parents or college administrators. Instantly they know whether we regard our instruction of them as privileged access to our more experienced wisdom or whether we think of it as their "democratic" right.

And if I sound undemocratic, then that's how I sound. I am undemocratic when it comes to the aristocracy of scholarship, the hard-won learning and wisdom of a great college faculty.

So I hail the fresh wind blowing from Cambridge through the smogs of self-doubtful equivocation that hang over American education. Trust Harvard to say:

"It's us — or drugs. But you can't have both."

Miss Dignan began working at the fishpond game at Coney Island in 1917 when the park was small.

"It was my first job and I liked it so much I never left," she commented. She now shares a partnership which operates seven games.

Skilled-Trade Group Undeterred in Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — Despite a double-barreled defeat before the National Labor Relations Board, the International Society of Skilled Trades says it is determined to take whatever action "is needed to sever skilled men from industrial unions."

Jerome H. Brooks, regional NLRB director, ruled against the independent union Tuesday in its efforts to gain representation elections among skilled tradesmen at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Brooks also threw out a charge of unfair labor practices brought against the United Auto Workers Union by Joseph Dunnebeck, president of the International Society of Skilled Trades (ISST).

It was the second time in recent years that the ISST had been rebuffed in efforts to gain representation elections among skilled workers now represented by the UAW in Big Three auto plants.

PLANS APPEAL
Dunnebeck said he would appeal Brooks' decision to the full National Labor Relations Board in Washington, but didn't expect any different decision there because of what he said is "political pressure from CIO unions."

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the decisions against the ISST have eliminated "technical obstructions to 1967 bargaining negotiations" now going on between his union and the Big Three auto makers.

Dunnebeck announced a meeting of his union members from the Detroit area and northern Indiana and Ohio had been called for Sept. 10 at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

Dunnebeck also said the ISST "will not honor any contract" signed by the UAW and the auto companies. "Asked if this meant his members would strike, Dunnebeck said when and what action will be taken will be decided later."

FAILED TO SHOW
Brooks said Dunnebeck failed to show his union represented as much as 30 per cent of the skilled tradesmen in asking companywide elections in General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. The NLRB regional director also said the ISST failed to show the necessary 30 per cent membership in asking companywide elections at the Big Three among segments composed only of maintenance workers and tool and die makers.

Brooks also threw out ISST petitions for plantwide elections among the skilled at 49 GM, 21 Ford and 14 Chrysler plants. Two of the GM plants involved are represented by the International Union of Electrical Workers, instead of the UAW.

The regional director said the ISST's petitions in these instances ran contrary to repeated NLRB rulings that existing bargaining units cannot be split into multiple segments.

Brooks found "insufficient evidence" to support Dunnebeck's claim the UAW had engaged in unfair labor practices through intimidation and coercion at workers joining his ISST.

Torn Detroit Cleans Wounds as Troops Leave

DETROIT (AP) — A second wave of federal troops began flying out of riot-wounded Detroit today as the nation's fifth largest city coped with effects of last week's outbreak.

Three battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division, which departed the city quietly by bus Tuesday, boarded huge C-130 transport planes and lifted off today from Selfridge Air Force Base, 20 miles northeast of Detroit. The 1,500 troops were en route to Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Only about 1,200 of the 4,700 paratroopers sent into the city remained on duty. Four battalions, containing 2,000 troops of the 101st Airborne Division, left yesterday for Ft. Campbell, Ky., ending their role in helping to quell the worst riot in recent U.S. history.

Responsibility for security rested with about 7,000 Michigan National Guardsmen, who remained under federal control, and with the 4,400-man Detroit police force. Detroit policemen went back to eight-hour shifts yesterday for the first time since the riot broke out July 23.

As guardsmen continued their armed patrols, the riot's youngest victim was buried. About 200 mourners attended ceremonies at the United Church of Christ for 4-year-old Tanya Blanding, killed by a bullet at the height of the violence.

POLITICAL ASPECTS
Meanwhile, political aspects of the riot burst into the open.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said yesterday that he received the first request from Gov. George Romney that federal troops be sent into Detroit at 11 a.m. July 24, nearly eight hours later than Romney said he first called for troops.

Clark said he received a call from Romney at 2:40 a.m. saying the situation was very bad and that he might need federal troops.

Clark, however, said he did not receive a telegram from Romney formally requesting the troops until just after 11 a.m., and that President Johnson responded to the request immediately.

Romney maintained his assertion that nearly 24 hours elapsed between the time of his first request for troops and the time the troops were sent into the city.

He also said Clark changed his position a number of times in outlining what steps would have to be taken to get federal troops aid.

CLEANUP CAMPAIGNS
Wide-ranging cleanup and investigative efforts continued in the wake of the destruction. Formation of a 37-member citizens resources committee was announced yesterday.

The committee, dubbed "New Detroit," was organized to stimulate and coordinate rebuilding of the sections ravaged by more than 2,000 fires.

will meet Aug. 15 to mobilize for a cleanup of riot-ravaged areas. The meeting was announced by United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, who proposed that thousands of UAW members volunteer to help clean up the debris.

Bolivia Rebels Have a 'Tokyo Rose'

By ROBERT BERRELEZ

CAMIRI, Bolivia (AP) — A woman guerrilla named Tania has brought psychological warfare to Bolivia's Marxist rebel front in the mountains.

A jungle version of World War II's Tokyo Rose, she uses a bullhorn during combat to exhort Bolivian troops to lay down their arms.

"Surrender, little soldier, you're surrounded," she will cry unseen in the dark green foliage of the mountainside.

On the message ringing down a ravine amid gunfire might be "The fight is not with you, little soldier, but with the imperialists. Surrender."

"It is startling and really shakes you the first time you hear her," said a medic who has been involved in two clashes between the army and the guerrillas.

DUAL ROLE

Tania also acts as a decoy. Her small, booted footprints are seen along the mountain trails. "We've learned to start taking cover when we see her footprints," said the medic. "They usually mean ambush."

Tania is well known to many people in this oil town of 22,000 in southeast Bolivia, about 380 miles from LaPaz, the capital. Her full name is believed to be Tania Gutierrez Baurer. She was a frequent visitor in February, a month before the fighting began, and because of a weakness for pasta became a regular at the Maletta restaurant, run by Italian Federico Porfiori. He says she is about 29 with a deep voice and authoritative mien.

NEVER DISPUTED

"She used to come in with four men and order food for all of them," Porfiori says. "The men were silent most of the time. Her authority never seemed disputed."

"It was not known then, but at the time the guerrillas already had established a clandestine base 40 miles north of Camiri. She is believed to have come on shopping or intelligence missions."

The fact the guerrillas brought Tania along for psychological warfare purposes is another indication to Bolivian military authorities here that the rebel band is largely an import from Cuba.

"It has organizational refinements beyond the capacity or means of Bolivian Communists," said one officer.

GUERRILLA FRONTS

The guerrillas, estimated at 80 to 100 men, appear to have opened up two fronts in the southeast part of the country. One group is known to be operating some 75 miles north of Camiri. The other has hit towns southwest of Santa Cruz, a prosperous oil and sugar center of 100,000 people 170 miles to the north.

On July 7, in the most daring stab since fighting began in late March, the guerrillas took over the small town of Samaipata, 60 miles west of Santa Cruz, for a few hours. They killed one soldier and captured an officer and nine men but released them all unharmed later.

This raid put the guerrillas within 100 miles of a military base where 16 Green Berets of the U.S. Special Forces are putting specially selected Bolivian troops through a tough four-month course in counter guerrilla tactics. The objective is to create three special Ranger battalions.

This training program was established by a U.S. military assistance agreement under which Bolivia also receives some military equipment. The Bolivian air force recently acquired four U.S. T29 training planes and two P51 Mustangs, World War II fighters. That is as far as the assistance goes.

OFF LIMITS

Washington bars U.S. military and official personnel, even Peace Corpsmen, from the guerrilla operation zone.

The zone now is confined to an area of 3,600 square miles in the southeast, although there have been guerrilla sightings elsewhere in the country. Some of these guerrilla reports have turned out to be something else.

An armed man claiming to be a guerrilla captured a bus near Santa Cruz and ordered the driver to head in a direction away from its normal route. The bus ran out of gas. The passengers overwhelmed and beat up the armed man. Authorities say he was a fugitive from an insane asylum.

Reiner Failed in Baseball, but Now Bats Out Lines

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Watching a baseball game to me is like going to church," said Carl Reiner.

BOYLE

Reiner, who could throw a fast ball, a slow ball, a curve or a fadeaway. The only thing he couldn't throw was a strike.

So, after finishing high school at 16 and working briefly as a shipping clerk and machinist's helper, he turned to acting.

'LINE PITCHER'

Reiner, one of the best-liked men in show business, quickly became a master at pitching funny lines. Now he has matured into a quadruple-threat man in the entertainment field as actor, writer, director and producer.

Carl, who made his mark as a "second banana," or supporting comedian for Sid Caesar for eight years, widened his fame by originating and producing the "Dick Van Dyke Show," a popular television series.

His latest film opus, "Enter Laughing," introducing Reni Santoni to stardom, is based on a semi-autobiographical novel that Reiner wrote in 1958. Carl directed the film and also served as cowriter and coproducer with his long-time friend, Joseph Stein, author of the Broadway hit, "Fiddler on the Roof."

Reiner, who still says his vocation is acting, regards writing, directing and producing as his hobbies. But he enjoys them all.

SATISFACTION IN WRITING

"The thing I get the most satisfaction from is anything that starts as a blank page in a type writer, and then follow all the way through, whether it's a book, a play or a film," he said.

"There's something wonderful about catching a fish, cleaning it, cooking it and serving it, and then having someone say, 'Very good.'"

The tall, hazel-eyed actor picked up the rudiments of comedy writing by working with the gag men on the old Sid Caesar shows.

"But I had been such a poor student in school that I hesitated at trying anything at all serious. I felt I didn't know enough words to become a real writer."

WIFE'S FAITH

"My wife got me over that hurdle. She convinced me that it wasn't important whether I knew a lot of long words, only whether I knew the right words."

Carl is convinced now that empathy, the feeling for people, is more valuable to a writer than a big vocabulary.

"It really boils down to whether you can learn to understand yourself and not lie about yourself," he said, "because every writer really is writing about himself. Every character you create is part of yourself. And if you can't understand yourself, how can you understand others."

'NORMALLY NEUROTIC'

Reiner feels he is normally neurotic: "If you're not neurotic to some extent, you can't function in this society." But he believes his most valuable personality trait is in inborn, unquenchable optimism.

"Life is supposed to be fun," he said. "The human being isn't supposed to be genuinely happy very often, but if you're not happy, don't let you have fun and moments of joy, then you haven't had much of a life."

Carl's sense of fun even enables him to laugh out his premature baldness, a subject that many actors are touchy about. He jokes about his toupee, which he calls part of his "work clothing."

"I don't wear it during the day," he said. "It would make me feel improperly dressed."

Training Key to an Athletic Role After 30

LONDON (UPI) — Football used to be considered a young man's game because it was played mainly by young men in colleges.

Then the professional clubs began paying out big money and it became an attractive occupation for older men.

So the age of football players began to creep up until now there are many stars in their 30s.

At the Wimbledon tennis championships earlier this month, four men appeared in the combination more than 40 years after they first carried the banner of France to many championships.

Still playing stylishly if not with youthful fury were Jacques Brugnon, Jean Borotra, Henri LaCoste and Henri Cochet.

MANY EXAMPLES

Their combined ages were 270 years!

And Vic Seixas is ranked ninth in the U.S. tennis hierarchy although he will be 44 years old next month.

There are multiplying examples around the world that athletic ability of international standard can be maintained beyond the 30s and perhaps even into the 40s with proper training.

And this fact has become of interest to gerontologists who are concerned with prolonging the active life of the average man.

British Face Back-Yard Revolt

LONDON (AP) — Already harassed by problems accompanying the dissolution of its far-flung empire, Britain now faces a revolt in its own back yard.

Charging "colonial oppression," the Isle of Man, in the Irish Sea 16 miles off Northern England, is threatening to take its case to the United Nations.

The 24 members of Parliament who represent the holiday island will vote Tuesday on an emergency resolution calling for a U.N. investigation into an attempt to enforce British domestic policy on the 50,000 islanders.

The Isle of Man — known chiefly for its annual motorcycle race and the Manx cat — has a government and constitution of its own. Britain handles foreign affairs for its Parliament, the ancient Tynwald.

BRITISH CUSTOMS
Man's people, customs and way of life are as British as neighboring Cumberland on the mainland. But the islanders have always been fiercely jealous of their right to manage their domestic affairs.

State Teacher to Row Down Mississippi

EAST JORDAN (UPI) — Grade school teacher Parker Seller, 41, plans to row down the Mississippi River next week in a modern-day Huckleberry Finn adventure.

Seller left his Northern Michigan home yesterday for St. Paul, Minn., where he will set off for New Orleans Aug. 10 in a 12-foot aluminum boat decked out like an old-time Mississippi sternwheeler.

But Seller's boat, the Cherri Belle, is equipped like no sternwheeler ever was.

Besides a spyglass and two-way radio, the Cherri Belle has a small oven for baking cherry pies and a compartment to hold a movie camera with 10,000 feet of film.

Substituting for a boat whistle will be a sawed-off crouch shell that Seller blows like a trumpet.

LONG WALK

Seller often spends his summer vacations on unique adventures. Once he walked 2,350 miles from Seattle, Wash., to Fairbanks, Alaska, carrying a 60-pound pack on his back.

And he has bicycled 25,000 miles through 48 states.

Police Can Be Cabbies in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City police for the first time been authorized to take jobs as taxi drivers during off-duty hours, and they may carry their service pistols while doing so.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary granted the permission in a special announcement, it was learned Tuesday night.

The effect of the move was expected to be twofold: first, the presence of armed officers in some cabs was expected to be a deterrent to would-be criminals and thereby reduce the number of assaults and robberies of drivers.

Second, the availability of a pool of potential drivers should ease the taxi shortage. Industry sources said thousands of cabs are idle some shifts each day for lack of drivers.

PISTOL AVAILABLE

Although the announcement said carrying weapons was optional during the off-duty work, a policeman must still have his pistol available—in the glove compartment, for example—so he can wear it upon leaving the job.

Traffic Victim?

DETROIT (AP) — Reginald Mapp, 21, of Detroit, was found dead on an east side street Tuesday, the apparent victim of a hit and run driver. Police said there were tire marks on his chest, but ordered an autopsy to pinpoint cause of death.

The dispute was brought to a head by British legislation banning pirate radio stations which beam nonstop pop music from ships just outside British waters in competition with the British Broadcasting Corp. One of the biggest stations is anchored just off the Isle, and government made clear the ban will apply to it despite the rejection of a similar bill by the Tynwald.

The islanders say they are defending constitutional principle, not just the radio stations.

The resolution calling for U.N. help, which is backed by a majority in the Tynwald, reaffirms the loyalty of the Manxmen to Queen Elizabeth II—"the Lord of Man"—but says any enforcement of British domestic policy is "incompatible with the freedom of self-governing democracy."

AUTHOR OF RESOLUTION

Its author is a former wing commander in the Royal Air Force, Roy MacDonald, chairman of the Tynwald's broadcasting commission.

"The British government is treating us just like it treated the American colonies before it lost them," he said. "I hope this will force a showdown."

"Manxmen don't like dictators—least of all dictating governments," said lawyer Howard Simcocks, another leader of the protest movement. "We may be a small island under Britain's wing on international things, but we are determined to retain our domestic independence."

"This island is being repressed by a colonial power."

Lab Dedication

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall will give the dedication address at the opening of a $3 million laboratory in Duluth, Minn., Aug. 11, the House Public Works Committee announced. The laboratory will deal with problems of water quality.

Ex-Manager Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Norman Meyers, 60, a former Michigan theater manager, died Monday night in a Chicago hospital of an extended illness. Meyers had managed the Adams and Trans-Lux theaters in Detroit and the Palace in Cleveland, Ohio. He was a native of Kenosha, Wis.

'Arsonists Had Key Targets'

DETROIT (AP) — Arsonists showed a preference for white-operated retail stores when they destroyed 387 buildings during last week's Detroit rioting, fire inspectors say.

After an inspection of the crumbled buildings around the city, Fire Chief Charles Quinlan said Tuesday that investigators found no evidence of citywide organization.

However, he said, the burners showed a definite preference for white businesses — particularly those that sold on credit. Credit records were completely destroyed in many cases, said Quinlan.

FAVORITE TARGETS

He said of the buildings that could be identified, grocery and furniture stores seemed to be the favorite targets.

Many corner buildings were destroyed, and since corners are more accessible than midblock locations, Quinlan said the arsonists chose targets of convenience rather than following a set pattern.

During the riot week, 1,617 fire alarms were reported — more than twice as many as the average for the previous weeks in July.

Most of them rang on Monday, with 617 alarms, and 319 on Tuesday. But the number of alarms dropped below average on the last three days of the rioting.

The department is sticking to its earlier damage estimate of $250 million from fires alone.

In addition, Quinlan says damage to fire fighting equipment amounts to at least $100,000.

U.S. airlines employ some 23,300 pilots.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The nightfall when the searing heat of the Jordan Valley subsides and the west bank of the river is curfewed by Israeli army patrols. Shopkeepers in Amman report that Arab truck drivers pay less and the Israeli soldiers must be making a lot of money."

MESSAGES, MONEY

"Hundreds of us are going back every night," said one refugee on the river bank. But some officials estimate only a few dozen cross each night.

Another official said many of those crossing the river are believed to be Palestinians carrying messages or money for families in the occupation zone, not refugees.

A Jordanian truck driver said he is making 70 dinars—$196—per trip bringing fruit from the orchards on the west bank to Amman and taking back tanks of propane cooking gas.

EASY TO CROSS

The slow-flowing green waters of the Jordan are only five yards wide in places. The river is easy to cross and bushes or orchards lining the banks in places provide good cover.

Some claim the returning refugees are met on the Israeli-held side of the river by cars whose drivers have paid Israeli soldiers to let them make the trip.

PACKED INTO CAMPS

At least five Jordanians have been killed by Israeli troops in the secret nighttime crossings, Jordanian security officials report.

There is no way of estimating the number of trucks or people slipping across the river, but one Western official connected with the refugee camps said: "The traffic seems to be brisk."

Israel has announced it will let refugees return home starting Aug. 10. But the repatriation is deadlocked by Jordan's refusal to use repatriation forms headed "State of Israel," and Israel's refusal to use Red Cross forms.

One confirmation of the smuggling traffic is the ample supply of fruit and vegetables in Amman shops. Much of this produce comes from the west bank.

Prices of these items have remained fairly steady since the war. Such goods as soap and matches manufactured in the Israeli-held area vanished from the market but are now back on sale.

DANGEROUS VENTURE

Jordanians say that despite the bribes to the Israeli troops, crossing the river is a dangerous venture. Refugees seen splashing across the shallow water are sometimes warned to go back or sometimes fired on.

There have also been reports of bandits robbing returning refugees as they made their way home on foot.

Other sources said there is no clandestine traffic on Saturdays when many Jewish troops are relieved for the Sabbath off by Druze soldiers. They are considered more brutal toward the Jordanians.

Julius Caesar was the first to plan an invasion across the turbulent waters of the English Channel.

Peace Corps Denies Project Ups Tension

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps denies a congressman's charge that a program of housing its volunteers with Negro families in Washington has contributed to racial tensions in the capital.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., said Tuesday Negroes were resentful because the Peace Corps trainees—being readied for duty in the West African nation of Sierra Leone—had been placed in Negro homes "to prepare them to move into another culture overseas."

Widnall said Negro families who have lived in America for generations are irked at what he said was the implication their homes and culture would compare with those of Sierra Leone.

The West African nation of 2.6 million people has basically a farming culture. Few of its inhabitants can read or write.

NO COMPLAINTS

A Peace Corps spokesman who declined identification said the corps had received no complaints about its training program for 21 Sierra Leone-bound volunteers.

In his statement, Widnall said his attention had been called to Negro resentment of the program by clergymen, who he said told him "These Peace Corps volunteers have added fuel to the fire of resentment."

Washington was hit by sporadic Negro violence early Tuesday morning.

The Peace Corps spokesman said no clergy members had discussed the program with corps officials.

One white clergyman, a member of a group of ministers and priests who have organized to try to prevent riots, said he knew of Negroes who resented the program. He also declined identification.

DENIES CHARGE

But a priest from a Catholic parish in the Negro section of the city where some of the volunteers are housed said he had heard no such complaints.

Mao Offers Pardons to Rebels

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung has offered forgiveness to his opponents in Wuhan, making clear that the Red Chinese leader's foes still pose a major threat in the key industrial center.

The offer came six days after Maoists warned that "heads may roll and blood may flow" in Wuhan, a central Chinese area of two million people where bloody clashes have been reported between Mao's supporters and those of President Liu Shao-chi.

Peking Radio said today Mao has promised pardons, not only for the masses "deceived" by Liu but also for the "scoundrels" who have committed "grave offenses."

The appeal urged the masses to support the Maoist faction of the divided Chinese army in Wuhan. It called on the people to act "bravely" to restore production in factories under Liu's influence and to crush disloyal army and party leaders.

GRAVE CHALLENGE

Exactly what happened in the Wuhan area is still unclear, but the Maoists apparently regard the situation as a grave challenge to their leader's authority.

Two weeks ago, Peking reports said Vice Premier Hsieh Fu-chih and purge committee member Wang Li had been seized and beaten by supporters of Wuhan's military commander, Gen. Chen Tsai-tao.

Premier Chou En-lai was reported to have made a special trip to Wuhan to secure their release.

A million persons, headed by Defense Minister Lin Piao, turned out in Peking to welcome Hsieh and Wang back and shower abuse on the Wuhan opposition.

VICE PREMIER BLAMED

The Shanghai newspaper Wen Hui Pao blamed Vice Premier Tao Chu for the incident and said he is Liu's most important agent in the area. Tao, once in Mao's innermost circle, turned against him early this year.

The threat of bloodletting was made July 27 after a demonstration and parade in Peking. Military men loyal to Mao vowed to protect him and Lin

"with our lives." The new appeal by the Maoist leaders in Peking warned against "carrying out vengeance against those people who are our brothers."

"To have been deceived is no crime," it said. "If one then turns one's spears against the other side and delivers a blow, this is a praiseworthy achievement."

It added that those who throwing the "small handful" of change sides and join in over-army and party men who oppose Mao would be welcomed.

'SCOUNDRELS' FORGIVEN

"In regard to the scoundrels who have committed grave crimes," the statement continued, "if they cease their support of the bourgeois representatives of the party and military, correct their mistakes and return to the correct path, they will be treated likewise."

"However, if they continue to remain enemies of the people and try to destroy production and revolution we will deal them devastating blows and, in cooperation with the authorities concerned, will mete out punishment according to law."

A Japanese news report from Peking said President Liu has published his third letter of self-criticism but still refuses to accept all the blame followers of Mao heap upon him.

The Kyoto News Agency correspondent in the Chinese capital said the letter appeared to be of recent origin. It admitted Liu had erred in some respects but insisted that in others he had acted according to the decisions of party organs.

SELF-STUDY

Liu said he had not yet determined why he had taken the bourgeois line as the Maoists say he has done and that he wished more time for self-study.

Liu's first published self-criticism was dated Oct. 23. His second appeared July 9. Neither met with the approval of Maoist Red Guards.

SIZZLING SIRLOIN SALAD — Hot, juicy steaks and tomato slices top a bed of cool, crisp western iceberg lettuce and marnated cucumbers for an impressive main dish for a man-pleasing patio dinner.

Put Perfectly Done Steak on Bed of Tossed Salad

The practice of eating outdoors has been revived by sophisticated modern man. He's discovered that good food served in the Great Outdoors somehow tastes even better.

If the men in your life really savor flavors outside, we suggest you wow them with this savory dinner-in-one dish. "Sizzling Sirloin Salad" is simple to make. You just marinate sliced cucumber in oil and vinegar dressing, toss it with crisp chunks of western iceberg lettuce, then form the combination into a "bed" on a platter or in a shallow bowl.

Now the clincher: Over this refreshing and flavorful salad base, you arrange sliced tomatoes and sizzling steaks — cooked to each man's taste in butter with chives.

A chili-cheese dressing — so tasty you may want to prepare extra to add zest to scrambled eggs, macaroni and cheese casserole or salads other times — is the perfect flavor complement for the hot, juicy meat and cold, crisp vegetables.

Begin the meal with hot lobster bisque if twilight cools the air, chilled consommé if the sun's not yet down.

A mellow Burgundy and crusty, garlic French bread will round out the main course in satisfying fashion.

Slices of fresh nectarines with cheese or ice cream will be a simple but delicious finish to this man-pleasing meal.

SIZZLING SIRLOIN SALAD

- 1 head western iceberg lettuce
- 2 cups sliced cucumber (1 large)
- ½ cup bottled oil and vinegar dressing
- 1 to 1½ lb. sirloin or club steak
- Butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons snipped fresh or freeze-dried chives
- 1 large tomato, sliced

Chili-Cheese Dressing
4 oz. Cheddar cheese
¾ cup real mayonnaise
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 small clove garlic

As soon as you bring it home, core, rinse and drain the lettuce; chill in disposable plastic bag so it will become crackling crisp.

Several hours before serving time, cover cucumber with bottled dressing and chill. Near serving time, slice lettuce crosswise then cut slices into bite-size chunks. Toss with cucumbers and marinade on platter or in shallow salad bowl.

Cut steak into portion size pieces and pan-fry in butter until done as desired. After you turn the steaks, spoon chives over them and finish cooking.

Arrange steak and tomatoes over lettuce mixture. Serve with Chili-Cheese Dressing.

Cut cheese into small pieces to yield about 1 cup; whirl with remaining ingredients until well blended. If you prefer, grate cheese, mince garlic and combine ingredients by hand. Chill any leftover dressing for another time. Makes 4 servings.

If mushrooms are on hand (sauteed fresh or drained canned) they make a savory addition to the dressing.

Use Frozen Spuds in Summer Salads

Summer's popular menu choice — potato salad — can be easy, too, when prepared with convenient, ready-to-cook frozen whole potatoes. Just cook the potatoes in boiling salted water according to package directions, then proceed with any favorite potato salad recipe.

Assembled here are two speedy adaptations of international favorites. The first, Salade Nicoise, is a classic from the French Riviera.

There are many interpretations, but basically it is a vinaigrette arrangement of cooked potato slices and cut green beans plus garnishes of tomato wedges, whole black or green olives, hard-cooked egg slices or quarters and salty anchovies.

Salade Nicoise
1 package (1½ pounds) frozen whole potatoes
2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen cut green beans
½ cup olive oil
¼ cup white wine or cider vinegar

¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons frozen chopped chives
¼ teaspoon crushed chervil
¼ teaspoon crushed tarragon
3 large tomatoes
3 hard-cooked eggs
8 to 10 pitted whole black olives
Bibb lettuce leaves
1 can (2 ounces) flat anchovy fillets

Cook frozen potatoes and cut green beans in boiling salted water according to package directions. Drain; cool quickly with cold water; drain again. Cut potatoes in ¼-inch slices. Place potatoes and beans in separate bowls.

For dressing, combine olive oil, vinegar, salt, black pepper, chives, chervil and tarragon in a jar with a tight-fitting cover. Shake vigorously. Pour dressing over potatoes and beans. Cover and chill for about 2 hours.

Arrange marinated potatoes down center of a shallow oval platter. Arrange marinated beans on each side. Peel tomatos and eggs; cut into wedges.

Arrange tomato wedges at outer edge of green beans; arrange egg wedges and black olives at each narrow end of platter. Cover with foil or plastic wrap. Chill until serving time.

When ready to serve, tuck in a border of Bibb lettuce leaves. Place drained anchovy fillets in a crisscross pattern across the top of the potatoes. Serve with crusty bread as a main dish salad.

If desired, accompany also with chilled canned tuna, chilled cooked shrimp, rolled smoked salmon or cold cuts, arranged and served on a separate platter.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Scandinavian Potato Salad has a creamy sour cream and mayonnaise dressing, making it an ideal choice for a molded salad. When inverted onto a platter after chilling in a mold or bowl for several hours, it will retain its decorative shape. Sieved hard-cooked egg yolk and sprigs of fresh dill provide a colorful topping.

Scandinavian Potato Salad
1 package (1½ pounds) frozen whole potatoes
1 cucumber
Salt
4 hard-cooked eggs
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Salt
Cayenne pepper
Fresh dill
Cook potatoes according to package directions. Drain and cool slightly; cut into small cubes.

Beef Kabobs Are Tasty

Though the frontier is closed and the rough pioneer is no longer part of our scene, the outdoor cooking techniques used by the resourceful folks on the trail stand us in good stead. We are still a nation of outdoor cooking enthusiasts.

For your next cookout serve tasty Beef Kabobs nestled inside hot, enriched frankfurter buns. To fashion kabobs for 8 people you will need 2½ pounds of beef cut into 24 1-inch cubes and 8 of each of the following: Tiny whole cherry tomatoes, small whole onions and 1-inch green pepper chunks.

Rub kabob skewers with salad oil and alternate cubes of beef with a tomato, and onion and a green pepper chunk. Brush French dressing over the kabobs, place over hot coals, rotate frequently as they cook.

In about 20 minutes serve these by sliding the cooked meat and vegetables off the skewers into the buns.

Place in small bowl, sprinkle with salt, cover and chill 1 hour. Peel hard-cooked eggs; chop egg whites and force yolks through a sieve.

Combine cubed potatoes, drained diced cucumber, chopped egg whites, half the sieved egg yolk, celery, onion, sour cream, mayonnaise and mustard. Toss lightly, adding salt and cayenne pepper to taste.

Press mixture into a lightly oiled 1-quart mold or bowl. Chill for several hours.

When ready to serve, loosen edge with a sharp knife and invert on a platter. Sprinkle top with remaining sieved egg yolk and sprigs of fresh dill.

Makes 6 servings.

Fruit Slices Garnish Orange Salad Mold

Molded Orange Jelly
2 cups orange juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup sugar
1 orange

In a medium mixing bowl, sprinkle the gelatin over 1 cup of the orange juice and allow to soften.

Heat the remaining 1 cup of orange juice until very hot; pour over gelatin mixture; add sugar; stir to dissolve gelatin and sugar.

Turn into 5 one-half cup molds. Chill until set. Unmold.

Peel orange so no white membrane remains; cut away ends and then cut into 5 round slices; use as garnish for orange jelly. Makes 5 servings.

Meat bones should be cooked with beans or soup so as to extract all possible flavor and nutrients.

Cheese Storage

When using cheese, cut off only what is needed each time. Then store the rest in a tightly wrapped paper or clean cloth to prevent drying out.

BARBECUED PORK LOIN — It's great food for a lazy day dinner in hot weather. Spit roast a pork loin, basting it frequently with barbecue sauce. Serve with corn-stepped tomatoes and Waldorf Salad.

Try a Rotisserie

Modern Pork Roasts Easily

If it's a lazy summer day and company is coming get out the rotisserie and spit-roast one of the new extra lean pork loins. Prepare a few tempting no-fuss foods, set the table where the breeze are gentle and guests will be impressed with the fine dinner and your "cool."

Great things have been happening to pork. It's gone modern! Pork roasts, chops and steaks now come with just the right amount of fat left on to make them juicy and tender and protect them while cooking.

Weight-watchers and mothers should serve pork frequently for its important B vitamins, minerals and complete proteins, so necessary for maintaining good health and sleek trim figures.

Rotisserie cooking is exciting, fun to watch, so easy to do. Many think no method of cooking produces finer flavored or juicier roasts.

Use an outdoor or indoor rotisserie, both give excellent results and if none is available the pork loin "barbecues" beautifully right in the kitchen oven.

Two easy tricks insure successful rotisserie cooking.

• Be sure the roast is perfectly balanced on the spit. Test the balance by twirling the loaded spit in upturned bands. If it doesn't spin smoothly, thread the spit through the roast so it will.

• And, use a roast meat thermometer. The same one designed for oven use can also be invaluable for barbecuing meats.

Insert it in the center of the roast, tip away from bone, metal and fat pockets, and you'll know just when the pork roast reaches 170 degrees F., the point at which it is done to a turn!

Barbecued Pork Loin
4 to 6 pound pork loin roast
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 cup water
1 cup catsup
½ cup wine or cider vinegar
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon chili powder

½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Thread one fork or prong onto rotisserie spit, points away from handle. Thread spit through loin, end to end, being careful to balance roast on rod perfectly. Put second fork or prong onto spit; push prongs firmly into roast and tighten screws. Attach rod to rotisserie, start motor.

Roast over low glowing coals, electric or gas unit, until meat is tender and reaches an internal temperature of 170 degrees F., (about 2½ hours).

While pork is roasting prepare sauce. Combine onion and water in saucepan; heat and simmer until tender, about 10 minutes. Add remaining ingredients; simmer gently to blend flavors, about 10 minutes.

Baste roast with sauce frequently during the last 30 minutes of roasting. Serve remaining sauce with roasted pork. Yield: About 10 to 14 meat servings, about 2½ cups sauce.

If no rotisserie is available pork loin can be roasted in oven in this way.

Place pork loin, fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Rub outside surface with 1½ tablespoons salt. Roast meat in slow oven (325 degrees F.) until thoroughly done, about 2½ to 3 hours.

Brush roast with sauce several times during the last 30 minutes of roasting time.

Escarole or chicory
Cooked ham and Swiss cheese, cut in short thin strips
Shallots or green onion (scallion)

Grated Parmesan cheese
Olive oil, wine vinegar (red or white), salt and freshly ground pepper.

For each serving, mix together 1 cup torn romaine and ¼ cup torn escarole or chicory (packed down); ¼ cup cooked ham strips; ¼ cup Swiss cheese strips. Add 1 thinly sliced shallot or green onion and 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan for every 4 servings.

Toss with oil, vinegar, salt and pepper in the proportions you prefer.

INDIVIDUAL NORSE SALAD — This versatile salad is equally appropriate as a luncheon course or as a late evening or party snack. To make this easy-to-prepare recipe, simply place about 8 or 10 whole norse sardines on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Circle the sardines with quarter sections of hard-boiled eggs and tomatoes. Garnish with 2 or 3 radish rosettes and serve with mayonnaise on the side.

Use Currant Jelly Quick and Good to Top Pear Pie

Combine one tablespoon corn starch, two tablespoons sugar and ¼ teaspoon mace. Add ½ cup orange juice. Cook over hot water until thick and clear. Place small scoop of ice cream on top.

When a cake recipe calls for "flour," use regular all-purpose flour.

Chop Lettuce, Beans for Relish

A zesty relish will bring a bonanza of flavor to your next barbecue dinner.

"Iceberg Relish Mexicana" is especially good with barbecued fowl, but hamburgers, steaks and pan-fried breaded veal cutlets take to this savory south-of-the-border accompaniment with zeal, too.

This relish is a colorful combination of canned corn with sweet peppers, chopped Blue Lake green beans and chopped western iceberg lettuce tossed and marinated with a delicious horseradish - and onion - piqued dressing.

You can serve this savory relish with or without lettuce cups, as a salad or as a cold vegetable. You'll find it "fits" beautifully into many a summer menu.

Iceberg Relish Mexicana
1 head western iceberg lettuce
1 can (7 oz.) whole kernel corn with sweet peppers
1 can (8 oz.) cut Blue Lake green beans
3 tablespoons corn oil

2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon onion powder

Core, rinse and drain lettuce; chill in disposable plastic bag. Finely chop enough lettuce to measure 2 cups; chill remainder for use in salads another time.

Drain corn and beans; chop beans. Combine oil with vinegar, horseradish, salt and onion powder in jar, cover and shake. Pour over cut lettuce, corn and beans in bowl; toss lightly and chill.

Serve with burgers or breaded veal. Or, serve in lettuce cups as a salad. Makes 3½ cups (about 6 servings).

For Washups

When packing lunches for school children, include a damp paper towel in a small plastic bag. Then the small child has it right at hand when he is through eating to help clean sticky fingers and smeary mouth.

Cheese, Tuna in Sandwich

This smooth sandwich filling combines cheese and tuna fish.

Tuna Cheese Sandwich

23-ounce packages cream cheese
1 7-ounce can tuna fish, drained and flaked
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon pepper

Beat cream cheese until soft. Add remaining ingredients and beat until well blended. Spread on buttered bread to make sandwiches. Makes 6 servings.

Snowy and Cool

Pineapple Snowstorm spells cool and refreshing these summer days. Soften one-quart vanilla ice cream in a large bowl. Gradually beat in three cups pineapple juice then one bottle (8 oz.) club soda. A quick and delicious summer beverage!

'FBI Found No Evidence of Riot Plot'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, chairman of the special commission studying recent race riots, said yesterday FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported to the commission that his agency has "no intelligence" indicating conspiracy was involved in recent urban disorders.

The commission, created early last week by President Johnson met all day in the executive office building next door to the White House. Another day-long session was scheduled for today.

Hoover, according to Kerner, in his appearance before the commission, presented an FBI summary report on 52 civil disorders in the past three years.

Kerner was asked whether Hoover and the FBI saw any evidence of conspiracy behind the riots that have rocked such urban areas as Detroit, Newark and Milwaukee.

"In his statement to us," Kerner said of Hoover, "he said they had no intelligence on which to base a conclusion that there was any conspiracy."

STARTED SMALL

In questioning by reporters Kerner said that despite a widespread belief there was a pattern to recent riots, the only sort of patterns he and his fellow commission members have seen was that in each relatively recent case, riots stemmed from small incidents.

He said that judging from remarks of the FBI director, "There is no pattern to sniping."

Much of yesterday was devoted to listening to officials who have had experience with other investigating bodies, such as the Warren Commission which conducted a long inquiry into the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy.

"Mostly we were studying the dos and don'ts of other commissions," the governor explained.

Lake Level Predictions Much Like Weather Forecast

DETROIT (UPI) — Every week the Corps of Engineers confidently tells the world it knows what will happen in the Great Lakes for the coming 30 days—down to the inch.

The report, with its precise predictions of rises and falls in the world's largest body of fresh water, elicits visions of little green frogs in prowling the lake bottoms with slide rules, muttering bubbled numerals.

But that's not the way it works. In fact the whole thing is more like a weather forecast, according to Edmond Mugerian of the Lake Survey's Detroit office where the predictions are made.

The one-month forecast is made through the use of 30-day precipitation estimates provided by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington, Mugerian said.

Mugerian said the one-month forecast is usually accurate to within one-tenth of one foot.

The Lake survey district utilizes a more complicated method of determining lake levels two to six months ahead, Mugerian said.

First of all the Weather Bureau's 30-day precipitation forecast is used to determine whether precipitation has been normal, above normal or below normal for a given period.

Mugerian said this precipitation level is given a numerical value and is fed, along with other trend figures, into a mathematical model or computer.

Mugerian said, "The system

FREIGHTERS USE REPORTS

Mugerian said freighters which use the Great Lakes during the shipping season — normally from the first of April until mid-December—count on the survey district's reports to be accurate.

The pharmaceutical industry spends about $1 million a day on research and development.

FOAM LANDING STRIP — This truck-trailer spreader at the Toulouse airfield in France puts down a layer of carbonic foam along a mile-long runway in less than 15 minutes. It is a slick and safer way to get down for pilots with landing gear problems.

Population Explosion—1

U.S. Shouldn't Feel So Smug

(First in a Series)

By LEWIS C. FRANK JR.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A child born on your street

this morning comes into a world of almost 3.4 billion people —

a world already beset with problems of hunger and violence.

Yet when this newly arrived youngster reaches the modest age of 33 — in the year 2000 — the population of the world will almost surely exceed 6.5 billion.

President Johnson has described the problem of runaway population growth as

"second in importance only to nuclear warfare."

Yet the advanced, developed nations of the world are spending $40 a year for every man, woman and child in the entire world for armies and armaments.

And in the war against runaway population, which threatens every nation, the same great powers are spending less than two cents per person.

The ratio is better than 2000-1.

The world to be saved from nuclear warfare may be lost to the population explosion.

Because we Americans live in the most affluent society

the world has ever known, we are inclined to a certain smugness and psychic insularity.

We see the population explosion

as something that is happening elsewhere. It is in India and Latin America. It is in China.

But the fact is that populations are exploding everywhere, including the United States.

ALMOST AS HIGH

Shortly after World War II,

the American birthrate was almost as high as that in India.

And even today there are sections in our country — where family planning assistance should be found around the corner — that have birthrates ap-proximating those in undeveloped lands.

The wondrous and awesome fact is that the child born this day who lives to retire on Social Security will quite probably live in a United States with a population equal to that of China today.

Yet population is a problem that is not sufficiently concerned our politicians and statesmen, who must rack up short-range achievements to satisfy their constituents; nor

businessmen, who must satisfy customers and employees and stockholders and creditors on at least an annual basis.

Even our social and physical sciences are rarely concerned with "the population factor."

Today's complicated problems of international relations will become even more complex as we add more appetites to our population in a world of emerging nations with growing populations and appetites of their own.

Only about one out of 16 of the world's citizens lives in the United States, yet to support our affluent society we consume almost one-half of the world's nonrenewable

raw materials.

Many Americans hang on to a dangerous illusion that our country is self-sufficient. But it is not more than 35 years since the historical position of the United States as a net exporter of resource products shifted to that of a net importer.

A few of the important commodities for which we now rely on foreign sources to support our economy include tin, diamonds, aluminum, asbestos,

Nickel, manganese, fluorospar, lead, sugar, wool, zinc, iron ore, pulpwood and lumber, copper, coffee, cocoa, tea and even beef and pork.

Those who scoff at the implications of the population explosion frequently divide our available land in the United States by numbers of people, then throw in our huge grain production potential and conclude that while other countries may have population problems, we do not.

They ignore, of course, our dependence on other lands for some essential raw materials to support our "quality of life."

If we want to live by bread alone, then the United States has no population problem. We can contain a much greater population and feed it.

But this newspaper is filled every week with stories about crime, traffic problems, water and air pollution, inadequate housing and educational facilities, urban blight, and the struggles to preserve and extend

PROBLEMS COMPOUNDED

It takes little imagination to understand how these problems are all compounded by huge increases in population.

Headlines about a "declining birthrate" should be read with caution.

For example, the 1965 birthrate was the same as that for 1940 (19.4 babies per thousand).

But because we had more people, 1,250,000 more babies were born in 1965 than in 1940.

And the surplus of births over deaths in 1965 was still almost two million — another Philadelphia added to our country in a single year.

While we are growing, the world is growing even faster.

Last year we added more than 65 million people to the world — the equivalent of an additional

Hungary, United Arab Republic,

Israel, Dominican Republic,

Cuba, Bolivia, Norway, Sweden and Denmark!

We can control fertility with oral contraceptives and intrauterine devices. We can increase food production, improve the quality of life and eliminate war.

But a rational choice — the choice of "the pill" rather than "the bomb" — will require that politicians and statesmen, businessmen and scientists become oriented to the future rather than to the mere meeting of day-to-day problems on an ad hoc basis.

Yanks Aid in Latin Polio Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Polio, once the greatest crippling disease in the United States, is now a rarity in this country thanks to the Salk and Sabin vaccines. But it is still a very real threat in Central America where preventive medicine is in its infancy.

Nicaragua is working frantically to carry out a mass vaccination program to halt a polio epidemic which has already taken the lives of 44 people and left over 350 crippled.

Costa Rica, which shares Nicaragua's southern border, is starting a dual program by vaccinating against polio as well as measles, which is killing off every 100 children there.

An important ally of these two crusades is a Cleveland-based organization called Brothers' Foundation. It consists of 140 doctors who volunteer their vacation time to vaccinate people in undeveloped countries.

The doctors pay all of their own travel and living expenses. Funds for vaccine are raised through private contributions.

The polio epidemic in Nicaragua had gone nearly unnoticed in this country until Dr. Robert Hingston, director and founder of the seven-year-old foundation, stumbled on the problem while surveying medical needs in the Central American republics and Ecuador.

NOTICED BY CHANCE

"By chance I read in the paper of the grave polio epidemic raging at the moment and closing the doors of international commerce with Costa Rica," said Hingston. He interrupted his schedule to fly to Nicaragua. When he arrived, he found 192 known cases of polio and 14 deaths. And the epidemic showed no signs of declining.

"In fact," said Hingston, "as I inspected the hospital (in Managua), 10 additional children were awaiting admission in their mothers' arms. Two children were cyanotic (a condition which turns the skin blue because of insufficient oxygen in the blood) and full of mucus and needed tracheotomy."

"Two had died in the night. Five were under one large oxygen plastic improvised tent on one adult bed. Indeed, a crisis as grave as I have seen since our Cleveland epidemic of 1953, where we had 300 cases and 20 respirators."

On June 30, Hingston sent telegrams to 75 U.S. philanthropic organizations and medical laboratories, pleading for money and vaccine to control the epidemic.

He also instructed the foundation's team of 80 doctors and medical students fighting the measles epidemic in Costa Rica to vaccinate the residents of northern Costa Rica against polio to prevent the virus from entering that country.

RAPID RESPONSE

The response to the plea for funds and vaccine was rapid. Hingston's own church, the First Baptist Church of Cleveland, responded with a gift of $175,000. Several American laboratories sent free vaccine to Nicaragua.

This aid, combined with $200,000 from the U.S. government and Nicaraguan funds, has already begun to turn the tide.

"The most susceptible people in Nicaragua have already been vaccinated," said Dr. Vincent Musa, medical officer of the communicable disease branch of the Pan American Health Organization, which has its headquarters here. "We expect that the epidemic will be under control within another week."

2 Barns Burn; Arson Feared

A barn containing some $7,500 worth of hay, straw and equipment was destroyed by fire last night at 4700 N. Rochester, Oakland Township, despite efforts of the Rochester Fire Department.

Chief Lyle Buchanan said this morning he blamed the 4:07 a.m. blaze on arson. This was the third barn fire fought by the department in the last five days.

The barn, owned by George Knorr, was rented by Ralph Fogler, 3885 N. Rochester. It contained 120 tons of hay, 5,000 bales of wheat straw and a grain conveyor.

Another barn fire was fought last night by the Romeo Fire Department. Asst. Chief John Politz said he believed the blaze had been set.

The empty abandoned barn was on the former Mallows property at the corner of 31 Mile and Mound roads. Romeo firemen received the call at 3:42 a.m.

Land-Fill Hearing Set for Aug. 17

The public hearing on the proposed Maceday Lake Road sanitary land-fill will resume at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 17, the Waterford Township Planning Commission decided last night.

The third session of the hearing originally was scheduled for July 26, but was postponed because of the disturbances in Pontiac. The first two sessions were held July 6 and 18.

The meetings are being held at Waterford Township High School.

The planning commission also voted to reschedule the July 25 zoning board cases Aug. 22. Six public hearings are scheduled.

In other business, the commission voted to seek further assistance for the job of assistant planner. Three applications have been received.

The commission also recommended to the Township Board that the contract from the Michigan Department of Commerce for the township's three-year "701" planning program be approved.

Youth Arraigned in Beating Death of Pontiac Girl

A Pontiac youth yesterday was ordered to stand trial in Oakland County Circuit Court on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of his 15-year-old girlfriend.

Appearing at his arraignment before Judge Frederick C. Ziern, Porfirio R. Acosta, 19, stood before the court on a charge of killing Linda D. Arnold, by beating her to death. No trial date was scheduled.

Miss Arnold, 142 Clifford, was found dead July 7 at the rear of Acosta's home, 307 Ferry. She was arrested at the scene by Pontiac police.

Chinese Premier Nearly Abducted

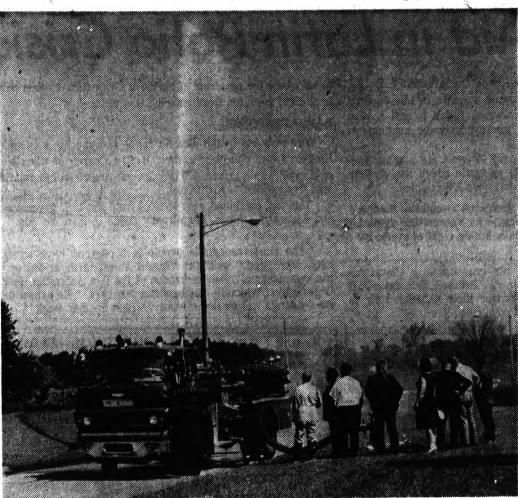

HONG KONG (UPI) — Rebellious army troops in Communist China barely missed kidnapping Premier Chou En-lai last month, a Japanese newsmen reported today from Peking.

The soldiers were waiting to capture Chou and his party at one Wuhan airport July 23, but the premier learned of the trap and avoided it by flying to another city airport, the correspondent said.

Home Is Looted

Arthur Bentley of 4671 Chipman, Waterford Township, told township police yesterday that $155 and clothes, a watch, a purse and other items were stolen during a break-in of his home.

The stolen items are worth at least $100, police said.

NEW FIRE TRUCK — Waterford Township officials look on as firemen demonstrate the township's new $21,600 fire truck yesterday. Water is pumped from a deluge gun, used to reach high buildings. Capable of pumping 1,000 gallons of water per minute, the truck will be housed at Station No. 3 on Elizabeth Lake Road near Cass Lake Road. The truck is equipped with 1,800 feet of hose and a 500-gallon booster tank.

City Mayor Denies Story of Meeting

A published report in a Detroit newspaper of a meeting between Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. and Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson to discuss lowering bail bonds for persons arrested July 24 and 25 in the city's civil disturbance brought Taylor's denial.

"I don't know Mr. Bronson, have never met him and have never seen him personally," Taylor said in refuting statements made in the Detroit newspaper article.

After listening to grievances submitted by a group of Pontiac young adults last week, Taylor requested Pontiac Director of Law Shirwin M. Birnkant to arrange a meeting between the prosecutor's office and an attorney representing those arrested.

Birnkant arranged the meeting. Held Monday, it was attended by Bronson, Assistant Prosecutor Ronald Covault and the attorney, Wallace McLay, with Birnkant and Police Chief William K. Hanger acting as interested observers.

Driver Put on Probation in Waterford Girl's Death

A 30-year-old Oakland Township man, charged in connection with the May 12 traffic death of a 5-year-old Waterford Township girl received two years' probation, was fined $25 and ordered to pay $20 court costs yesterday after pleading guilty to a reduced charge.

Daniel C. Bowker of 3320 Ordway was sentenced in the court of Waterford Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead to the added count of not having a chain to a trailer properly fastened.

He had been charged with negligent homicide in the death of Lynn M. Wardell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wardell of 7028 Hathery.

Waterford Township police said the Wardell car was struck by a flat-bed trailer which was hooked to a truck. The trailer dislodged from the truck, crossed the center line and struck the car driven by Mrs. Wardell.

The accident occurred on Williams Lake Road near Pontiac Lake Road.

RAF Reports Freighter Fire Under Control

LONDON (AP) — Fire broke out on the 7,506-ton British freighter Manchester Exporter 450 miles west of Northern Ireland today, but later the Royal Air Force reported it appeared to be under control.

The ship was bound for Canadian and U.S. Great Lakes ports with a crew of 41 and nine passengers, including women and children.

"The Manchester seems to be okay. The fire appears to be under control," a Royal Air Force spokesman said. He said an RAF plane that spotted flames in a hold on the ship would stay around for about an hour to make a final assessment of the position.

Three other freighters converged to aid the Manchester Exporter, including a sister ship, the Manchester Merchant.

Hearing Postponed on County Districting

Objections to the reapportionment plan proposed for Oakland County will not be aired by the Michigan Appellate Court until sometime this fall.

The hearing may not be held even then if the court rules on the constitutionality of redistricting in Ontonagon County in the Upper Peninsula.

If the Appellate Court declares the plan illegal, there will be no need for subsequent hearings on the reapportionment of county Boards of Supervisors.

Pontiac attorney George Gooagans, one of the five members of the county Reapportionment Committee, said today that a hearing scheduled for yesterday in Lansing was postponed until after the Ontonagon County hearing in October.

The Oakland County plan, which trims the board of supervisors from 87 to 27 members has been challenged by Joseph R. Farnham, county chairman of the Republican party and the only Republican on the Reapportionment Committee.

POLITICAL ADVANTAGE
Farnham claims that the plan gives a political advantage to Democrats.

The plan, according to Farnham, creates 16 Democratic districts and 11 Republican districts.

The redistricting plan was drafted after the Michigan Supreme Court gave an advisory opinion that the law requiring one man-one vote reapportionment was unconstitutional.

Market Hits New High for '67

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market roared into the high ground for 1967 in heavy trading early Wednesday afternoon.

The ticker tape lagged as the market took off from Tuesday's rally when a classic bull market signal was hoisted—the advance of the Dow Jones rail average to a record peak.

With both averages in gear and an assortment of good economic news behind it, the market rose from the start.

Attracted by the technical bull market signal, new buying came on a broad scale.

Bombing Halt May Be Soon

'LBJ Weighing Peace Move After Viet Vote'

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson is in the process of deciding on whether to halt the bombing of North Vietnam after the South Vietnamese presidential elections next month, CBS-TV has reported.

The report, made from Washington Tuesday night on the Walter Cronkite program, quoted an unidentified "high source" in the nation's capital as saying: "The chances are better than 50-50 the President will attempt some kind of bombing pause just after the elections."

The peace gesture is backed by Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, the CBS report said. But it added the military Joint Chiefs of Staff "are vigorously opposing" any such peace proposal.

The network said the six Far East nations' contributing troops to the war were sounded out on the possible peace proposal during the recent six-nation tour by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador in Saigon, and Clark Clifford, chairman of Johnson's intelligence advisory board.

PEACE GESTURE
"The next most advantageous psychological moment for a peace gesture would be around the time of the South Vietnamese presidential vote" was the thinking of both Johnson and McNamara, the network said.

The report added: "The theory is that the elections are a show of good faith on our willingness to let the Vietnamese run their own affairs. And that this, coupled with at least a reduction in bombing, might—just might—get a meaningful reaction from the North Vietnamese."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan says only a "hard landed from the moon" could believe a federal antiriot law would have prevented the violence that racked Detroit.

His Republican colleague, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, said there is no evidence such a law would have averted riot in Detroit—but added he would vote for the measure because "it may prove of some value."

"I'm not too enthusiastic about it," said Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, a Democrat. Hughes said he did not know whether the measure would have had an impact on disorders that hit Newark and nearby New Jersey communities.

The governor and the senators spoke in interviews prior to Senate Judiciary Committee hearings approved today on a House-approved bill which would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite riot.

HAVE LAWS
Hart said Michigan has an antiriot law and so do all the other states. "If anybody thinks that Detroit wouldn't have happened if we had had an antiriot bill, he just landed from the moon," the senator said.

"Any impression that this is going to actually stop rioting would be a misleading impression," Griffin said.

And Hart said it would be tragic if the antiriot measure diverted attention "from the basic business that these riots again point up to Congress"—action to deal with city and ghetto problems.

Hughes said "I hope that the backlash from these riots does not lead the country to make the mistake of turning against the poverty program, the demonstration cities program, rent supplements and other things."

Tax-Free Status Spurs Investors

Municipals Attractive

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Some brokers and investment advisers now are recommending tax-exempt municipal bonds as a way to offset partially the personal effects of an income tax increase.

Since no federal income tax is paid on such bonds, they become more valuable as taxes go higher.

As taxes go higher, as they have in almost all states except tax-free states, tax-exempts remain unsold.

A tax-exempt bond that returns 5 1/2 percent interest, for example, is now equal to a taxable return of 6 1/2, 7 1/2 percent or even more, depending on the owner's tax bracket.

The tax-exempt feature is meant to make such bonds attractive to investors, the theory being that the easier it is for municipalities to raise money for sewers, schools and reservoirs, the greater will be the public good.

There are drawbacks to such purchases, as there are to any investments, but there is no denying that such yields, or interest payments, are higher than almost any other type of investment.

One of the big questions in deciding whether to purchase these bonds is the uncertainty about the administration's tax plans.

Since last January a tax increase proposal has been altered, and the presidential statements regarding possible action have been unusually vague.

At his news conference this week, President Johnson declined to indicate when he would push for an increase. He also declined to state the amount, although earlier he had mentioned a rise of 6 percent.

HISTORIC HIGHS
Regardless of what tax action is taken, or if any tax action at all is taken, the returns on many bonds, taxable or tax-free, are now near historic highs.

In the 50 percent brackets, which means a taxable income of $22,000 to $28,000 a year, the 5 1/2 percent tax-exempt bond returns the equivalent of 11 percent a year.

It is easy to see, then, that tax-exempt bonds are especially suitable to the very rich or to large investing concerns such as insurance companies, banks and funds.

But for the individual with excess funds—and admittedly there are few of this breed—tax-exempt bonds do provide a secure and quite profitable investment.

Illustrations such as this can be carried into the very high-portionately greater equivalent income tax brackets, with interest returns.

Illustrations such as this can be carried into the very high-portionately greater equivalent income tax brackets, with interest returns.

In the 50 percent brackets, which means a taxable income of $22,000 to $28,000 a year, the 5 1/2 percent tax-exempt bond returns the equivalent of 11 percent a year.

It is easy to see, then, that tax-exempt bonds are especially suitable to the very rich or to large investing concerns such as insurance companies, banks and funds.

But for the individual with excess funds—and admittedly there are few of this breed—tax-exempt bonds do provide a secure and quite profitable investment.

In the 50 percent brackets, which means a taxable income of $22,000 to $28,000 a year, the 5 1/2 percent tax-exempt bond returns the equivalent of 11 percent a year.

NEW YORK — Some brokers and investment advisers now are recommending tax-exempt municipal bonds as a way to offset partially the personal effects of an income tax increase.

Since no federal income tax is paid on such bonds, they become more valuable as taxes go higher.

As taxes go higher, as they have in almost all states except tax-free states, tax-exempts remain unsold.

A tax-exempt bond that returns 5 1/2 percent interest, for example, is now equal to a taxable return of 6 1/2, 7 1/2 percent or even more, depending on the owner's tax bracket.

The tax-exempt feature is meant to make such bonds attractive to investors, the theory being that the easier it is for municipalities to raise money for sewers, schools and reservoirs, the greater will be the public good.

There are drawbacks to such purchases, as there are to any investments, but there is no denying that such yields, or interest payments, are higher than almost any other type of investment.

One of the big questions in deciding whether to purchase these bonds is the uncertainty about the administration's tax plans.

Since last January a tax increase proposal has been altered, and the presidential statements regarding possible action have been unusually vague.

At his news conference this week, President Johnson declined to indicate when he would push for an increase. He also declined to state the amount, although earlier he had mentioned a rise of 6 percent.

HISTORIC HIGHS
Regardless of what tax action is taken, or if any tax action at all is taken, the returns on many bonds, taxable or tax-free, are now near historic highs.

Cotton Disease Found in U. S.

Byssinosis a Disabling Respiratory Ailment

Science Service
WASHINGTON — American cotton workers suffer from a disabling respiratory disease which this country has not yet recognized as a problem.

The disease, called byssinosis, is accepted as an occupational hazard in England; cotton workers there may receive compensation for it.

Recent surveys of Dutch and Swedish mills established the prevalence of byssinosis in those countries, despite claims that their mill conditions were better than England's and therefore posed no respiratory dangers.

Similar claims have been made in the United States.

But a team of four medical scientists from North Carolina, London and Yale University have reported that disabling byssinosis does occur in the United States.

LUNG DISEASE
They suggest that "hundreds among the 200,000 or more cotton production workers in this country may suffer from byssinosis," which in its last stages turns into serious lung disease, either emphysema or chronic bronchitis.

"It is urgently necessary to investigate the prevalence of byssinosis in the United States," reports Drs. Arend Bouhuys of Yale; Leo J. Heaphy Jr. of the Bowman-Gray School of Medicine; Richard S. F. Schilling of the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine; and J. W. Welborn of Tryon Medical Association.

Their description of 22 southern cotton workers with respiratory disease appears in the July 27 issue of the New England Journal of Medicine.

Byssinosis seems to afflict only those who work with crude cotton — the combers and spinners, said Dr. Heaphy in a telephone interview.

Nations Unite to Harness Mekong River

By National Geographic Society
WASHINGTON — A large stretch of the forbidding Mekong River may become a thriving commercial waterway.

Rising in the Tibetan highlands of China's Tsinghai Province, the river flows 2,600 miles southward through the south-east Asian peninsula. The Mekong separates Laos from Burma, forms most of the Lao border with Thailand, then rushes through Cambodia and South Vietnam to empty into the South China Sea.

The Agency for International Development is interested in improving a section of the river in Laos that flows from Vientiane, the country's economic center, some 500 miles south to Pakse, a major port and communications hub.

A preliminary engineering study endorses a proposal to deepen and widen the river at selected sites, build two shipyards and construct docks for passengers and cargo.

A United Nations project already is under way to help Laos, Thailand, Cambodia, and South Vietnam harness the giant waterway. Twenty-six nations, including the United States, are cooperating to build dams and power stations, and to improve navigation and irrigation. The plan embraces the entire Mekong basin.

The challenge is monumental. Dangerous shoals, rapids and a capacity for flooding give the Mekong a sinister, overwhelming force. It has never been an important commercial waterway.

RIVER OF CONTRASTS
In the wild country of Lao tribesmen, the Mekong rushes past volcanic vents smoking ominously above the swirling current. Then the river widens to accommodate teak logs and great rafts loaded with rice. Approaching civilization, the Mekong curves among hills near Luang Prabang, Laos's royal capital. It then flows through Vientiane and Phnom Penh, Cambodia's trade hub and capital.

Tracy Slates Scrimmages

Coach Set to Test Firebirds

With their first exhibition game just 10 days away, the Pontiac Firebirds are planning more serious head bumping sessions after two weeks of fundamental drills at the Wisner Stadium practice field.

The Firebirds are scheduled to meet the Ypsilanti Vikings Saturday night, Aug. 12, at Rochester High School field. The game is a charity contest for the benefit of the Crittendon Hospital fund sponsored by the Rochester Rotary Club.

Head coach Tom Tracy of the F-Birds said the squad is ready to put on the pads for some head bumping this evening and tomorrow.

"We'll have to have one real good scrimmage the first of next week," said Tracy. "We have some big holes to fill in the offensive line."

One of the stronger departments for the Firebirds is the presence of place-kicker Ed McQueen, former grid star at Ferris Institute who spent some time in the camp of the Buffalo Bills and later with the Grand Rapids Blazers of the United Football League.

McQueen suffered a jaw fracture and leg injury playing for Pontiac last season. However, during the early part of the season he handled the place-kicking chores.

Yesterday, McQueen was booming his kickoffs far into the end zone and splitting the uprights with long field goal attempts.

It was in the Ypsilanti game on the road last year that McQueen broke the game open with startling 96-yard touchdown.

Playing end on offense and occasionally in the corner linebacker spot, McQueen smeared the Ypsi quarterback on the Pontiac four-yard line and when the ball squirted up, he grabbed it and went the entire distance for the TD.

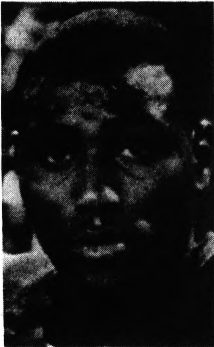

TURNING POINT

This was the turning point of the game. Instead of giving Ypsilanti a 14-0 lead, it knotted the count at 7-7 and later resulted in a Pontiac win and the NFL championship.

One of the running stars for the Firebirds appears to be Jack Newton, former West Bloomfield High school ace who later was a four-year letterwinner at Hillsdale.

Newton, who stands 5-10 and weighs 185, holds a masters-degree in education and is running from the halfback slot for the F-Birds.

The Firebirds begin practice sessions at 6 p.m. on the Wisner practice field. Tickets for the Rochester benefit game against Ypsilanti are available at Griff's Grill, Osman's and the Firebirds office downtown, as well as locations in Lake Orion, Oxford and Rochester.

KICKING UP STORM—Ed McQueen, placekicker with the Pontiac Firebirds, has been booming his placements during practice sessions each evening at the Wisner Stadium practice field. McQueen played college ball at Ferris Institute and was outstanding for Pontiac last season until he was injured late in the season.

MSU Assistant Picked as Head EMU Grid Coach

YPSILANTI — Dan Boisture, an assistant coach at Michigan State, has been named head football coach at Eastern Michigan University.

Boisture, a former University of Detroit football star, replaces Jerry Raymond who will remain with EMU as a member of the faculty.

Boisture was an outstanding end at Detroit.

During the past eight seasons he has served as an assistant to MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Since 1963 he has been in charge of the offensive backfield for MSU.

The native Detroit coach at Redford St.-Mary, Ecorse St. Francis Xavier and Dearborn St. Alphonsus high schools before going to MSU.

Bonnie Lauer of Union Lake advanced to the quarter-finals of the 41st annual Women's Western Junior Golf Tournament yesterday with a 3 and 1 victory over Gail Gintert of Ohio at Lake Forest, Ill.

U.S. Tankers Turn Spotlight to Other Teams in Pan-Am

WINNIPEG — Uncle Sam's young band of swimmers and divers turned over the spotlight in the Pan-American Games to the other athletes today after hauling in a record bag of 28 championships in 33 events.

The swimming phenoms busted 11 of the 14 world records that were destroyed in a fantastic week-long display of speed and stamina in the huge, indoor Pan-American pool.

A pair of 17-year-old sharks from Santa Clara, Calif., Mark Spitz and Claudia Kolb, 15-year-old Katie Ball of Jacksonville, Fla., and Canada's 16-year-old Elaine Tanner were the record wreckers of distinction.

Spitz captured his fifth gold medal and Miss Kolb collected her second world record and third gold medal Tuesday as the United States swept all five of the final events in the Pan-Am pool.

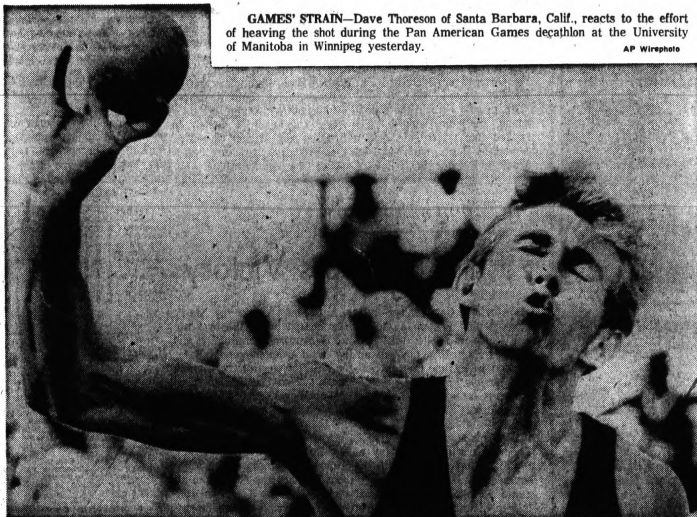

The track and fielders from the United States kept pace with the aquatic whizzes by taking all four of the titles at stake Tuesday for a 15-of-16 record.

The Yanks figure to take at least five of the six golds on the line today. In all the favored U.S. squad had 88 gold medals, 47 silver and 32 in bronze for a whopping total of 167. Canada was next with 75 8-27-30 while Brazil was next best in golds with six and a total of 13 6-4-3. Argentina had 4-8-8, Mexico 3-11-13 and Cuba 3-7-17.

Spitz, a slender, 5-foot-11, 150-pounder who aims to be the world kingpin in five to six events in the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City, collected his fifth gold as the butterfly man on the winning 400-meter medley relay quartet which won in Pan-American record time of 3:59.3.

Contest Signals Opening of Play Between Loops

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The "new" Denver Broncos of the American Football League and the "new" Detroit Lions of the National Football League will be doing something "new" when they face each other in an exhibition game Saturday night in Denver. Except for last year's Super Bowl, this will be the first meeting between teams of the two rival leagues and it will be one of 16 games between teams of the AFL and NFL in exhibition play.

Both teams wallowed in the lower division of their respective leagues last year and came up with some outstanding choices when the common draft was held earlier this year.

The Lions will have three of their stars, backs Nick Eddy, Mel Farr, and linebacker Paul Naumoff, playing Friday night in the game between the College All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers.

In the same game, Denver will have five players with the All-Star squad including All-America halfback Floyd Little, tight end Tom Beer, defensive lineman Pete Duranko and center-guard George Goeddeke.

Another participant in a 270-pounder from Ohio State.

Little was the Syracuse All-America who followed such great alumni of the school as Ernie Davis and Jimmy Brown. Duranko and Goeddeke were with the great Notre Dame team of last season and Beer is a former Detroit prep star who played at U. of D., and later Houston when the Detroit school dropped football.

TIGHT END POST

Beer stands 6-4 and 235 pounds and is slated for the tight end position with Denver.

The All-Stars of both teams will be on their respective sidelines in Denver Saturday night but are not expected to play.

One of the largest squads ever to make a road trip for a pre-season game for the Lions will leave Thursday morning aboard a United charter.

Coach Joe Schmidt has slated a couple practice sessions in Denver to acclimate the squad to the mile high altitude.

Karl Sweetan is expected to get the starting nod at quarterback with Tom Nowatzke and Amos Marsh in the running spots.

Jerry Rush will be in Roger Brown's defensive tackle spot and Lem Barney will be in a starting role in the secondary at cornerback.

Game time Saturday will be 10 p.m., Michigan time.

Women to Tee Off for City Laurels

A couple of trophies and an opportunity to represent the city in a state tournament will be on the line when the women tee off Saturday in the annual Women's Medal Championship at the Municipal Golf Course.

Expected to return to defend her title is Bobbi Miller of Farmington.

Competition is slated in two divisions — medal play and handicap — with play over 18 holes.

The top five in the medal event will represent the city in the state tournament at Warren Valley Sept. 16.

Contestants may enter by signing up at the clubhouse or by calling course manager L. C. Barner at FE 5-1702.

Emily Fisher Plays Familiar 'Foe' Today

Special to The Press

LAKE BLUFF, Ill.—Emily Fisher of Bloomfield Hills meets a familiar face today in the quarter-finals of the girls' 16-and-under National Singles tennis championships.

The 15-year-old daughter of the Herbert Fisher family was a 6-2, 6-4 singles winner and teamed with Californian Kris Kemmer for a 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 doubles victory—both in yesterday's third-round activity.

In today's singles, she meets Miss Kemmer. Another Michigan star netter, "Plums" Bartkovic of Hamtramck was ousted Tuesday, 6-3, 6-1, by Floridian Parry Ann Reese.

Miss Fisher is the tournament's second seeded entry.

EARLY FRUSTRATION—Detroit's Dick McAuliffe is nailed at home by Baltimore catcher Andy Etchebarren in a frustrating first inning for the Tigers on the Orioles' field last night. McAuliffe was the second out of a double play that started when Willie Horton hit a bases-loaded grounder to third baseman Brooks Robinson. The Oriole ace stepped on the bag at third and fired to Etchebarren in time to get McAuliffe. Although they picked up a hit and three walks in the inning, the Tigers failed to score. Lady Luck was kinder later, however, as the Detroiters posted a 4-2 decision.

Tigers' Wilson Tames Birds

BALTIMORE — Big Earl Wilson's arm doesn't bother him — it's the Detroit pitcher's leg.

The 6-foot-3 right-hander was hurling a strong game against the Baltimore Orioles until he went to bat in the top of the eighth inning Tuesday night.

Then he swung too hard on a pitch by Stu Miller and twisted his left ankle. He left the contest with the Tigers leading 4-1, and by the time it was over Detroit had whipped the Orioles 4-2, giving Wilson his 14th victory against eight losses.

Don Wert and Bill Freehan walloped solo homers. Wert slammed his fifth homers of the season in the fifth inning off Tom Phoebus who was tagged with the loss.

The third baseman also drove home a run in the sixth with a sacrifice fly after Freehan stroked his 14th homer.

The Tigers broke a scoreless tie in the fourth on doubles by Willie Horton and Jim Northrup.

Detroit remained four games behind American League leader Chicago. The White Sox beat Cleveland 11-5 Tuesday night.

Wilson permitted six hits, including a

Drivers' Goal Is to Catch

Pontiac Racer

FLAT ROCK — Catch Joy Fair!

That's the goal of every late model auto racer at Flat Rock Speedway this Saturday night as the 1967 season moved past the half-way mark with the Pontiac speedster well ahead in the point standings.

Fair and his finely-tuned 1964 Chevelle have been in the winner's circle more times this year than all of the other winners combined. He has nearly twice as many points as Bill Jackson, the fifth place point holder.

Dick Mitchell of Trenton, the defending champion, has been out of action for a month due to a mid-season wreck.

Hazel Park Awaits Harness Race Field

Harness racing moves into the final third of the Detroit area season Thursday night as Hazel Park Harness Raceway throws open its doors for the start of its 57-night campaign.

The first of the stables began shipping in Tuesday morning coming from Northville Downs as well as Pennsylvania and Chicago. Track Superintendent Ken Marshall will open the track to training this morning.

Despite intermittent showers, Marshall's crew completed the major track conversion by Monday night.

A new feature of the season will be the introduction of the Perfecta at Hazel Park.

It will be featured for the sixth and tenth races.

Price Goes Up at State Parks

State park fees went up all over Michigan yesterday before the ink was dry on Gov. George Romney's signature approving the fee hike.

Immediately, the daily entrance fee for vehicles went up from 50 cents to $1 for residents and from 50 cents to $2 for nonresidents. Season stickers went to $3 for residents and to $5 for nonresidents. The season fee had been $2.

The bill will bring in another $1.2 million annually for further development of the state park system. It also raises from $10 million to $20 million the amount of revenue bonds that may be sold for purchasing and improving park lands.

Area Paddlers Enter Ausable Canoe Event

Seven paddlers from Oakland County will be seeking honors this weekend in the twenty-first annual Grayling to Oscoda canoe race.

They will be among 32 teams entered in the event which will start in Grayling Saturday at 1:30 p.m. and end 240 miles later at the U.S. 23 bridge over the Ausable River in Oscoda about 4 p.m. Sunday.

Area entries are Don Burkhead, Milford; Al Widling, Alan Near, Jack Gmelch and Loren Hamilton, all of Holly; and Arthur and Charles Welch of Pontiac.

Burkhead will team with Bill Unhur of Mahomet, Ill., while Widling will be paired with Flint's Cecil Lane. Near and Bill Kellogg of Belleville will complete a team.

The Welchs and Hamilton and Gmelch are teams.

CHAMPIONSHIP SAILING — Ed Stack in No. 1505 (center) hugs the marker as he turns the corner at Tawas Bay last weekend while successfully defending his Shearwater National championship. It was the third straight title for the Cass Lake Shearwater Club member. Cass lakers took four of the top five positions.

At Pan-American Games

$6 an Hour Goodwill

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — In the back of a panel truck, Dave Breeding, a United States Air Force sergeant, works alone dispensing international goodwill at the Pan-American Games at a cost of $6 an hour.

The catch is that Breeding, 32, doesn't charge for his services as a "pistol armorer" for the U.S. government.

During the week-long shooting competitions which ended Sunday, Breeding worked on more than 300 pistols, only eight of them belonging to U.S. shooters. The others belonged to Canadians and Latin Americans.

As a unique specialist, he figures his services, at the rate of $6 an hour, were worth more than $3,000 for the week he was here.

He claims there are only two other qualified international pistol-type gunsmiths in the U.S., and none in Canada and Latin America.

"That's why the shooters are always glad to see me," he says in his boyish Virginian drawl.

"I'm here to help them and to promote good will between our countries, and I'm happy as heck to do it."

The U.S. team had two other specialists here, Raymond Berney, a rifle armorer, and E. F. Coleman, a shot gun armorer.

MOST UNIQUE

But Dave's specialty is the most unique of the three, and the principle reason why he travels to meet in a panel truck which he calls his "traveling shop."

"With my shop on wheels, I can just about manufacture a pistol," he said. An expert turned full-time to his specialty, Dave received no formal instruction.

BOH to Host Summer Show

The Bloomfield Open Hunt will be host to its annual Annual Horse Shows' Association summer circuit show this weekend at the club's Long Lake Road grounds.

At least 250 horses are expected to compete during the three-day competition that will start 8 a.m. Friday. There will be evening events Saturday and Sunday in addition to the activity during the day.

The action will include equestrian, dressage, hunter and jumper competition. No admission will be charged and the show is open to the public.

Entries will be from the Midwest, and most of the leading Oakland County area riders and horses will compete. The featured event is expected to be in AHSA jumper team championship planned for Saturday night.

In September the Bloomfield Open Hunt will be the site of the national dressage championships.

Two Regattas Slated

The Flying Teal Fleet No. 1 sailing club has two regattas planned for Kent Lake at Kensington Park. Sundays Aug. 6 and Sept. 24 are the dates scheduled with starting times set for noon.

in his hometown of Grundy, Va., when he replaced a faulty firing pin with a rusty nail, he has been taking pistols apart.

"I always bought pistols to take apart, not to shoot with," he says. He took apart his first pistol at the age of five.

He has his own pistol repair shop in San Antonio, Tex., where he is stationed.

Over 1 Million Visitors Logged at State Parks

State Parks in Oakland County have attracted well over one million visitors this year, according to the Conservation Department.

A total of 1,259,193 used the eight parks and recreation areas through July 23. A slow start during the cool spring has caused attendance to lag over a year ago and it is doubtful if the two million mark will be reached before the end of the year.

Dodge 4 state park again is the leader with 280,290. Rochester-Utica is next with 199,095. Bald Mountain, with facilities less developed than the other parks, is lowest with 103,564.

Proud Lake is the camping leader with 3,900 followed by Holly with 1,993. A total of 7,487 camp permits have been issued.

Y Flyer Sail Boats Complete 2 Races

MONTREAL (AP) — W. Walsh of Montreal took the overall lead with 8 1/4 points after Tuesday's opening two races in the Y Flyer International Sailing Championships on Lake St. Louis.

J. H. Baker of Savannah, Ga., was tied for third place with 75 points.

R. V. Thayer, Cincinnati, was sixth with 66, James McCann, Orlando, Fla., eighth with 64 and Jim Anderson, Dallas, ninth, with 59.

County Sailor Defends Title

National Crown 3rd in Row for Stack

There's one nice thing about winning a state or national sailing championship — the victor can pick the site to defend his crown.

Ed Stack of the Cass Lake Shearwater Club will have the choice for the third straight time in 1968. He has won the National Shearwater sailing championship that many times, the latest successful defense coming last weekend at Tawas Bay on Lake Huron.

Stack, aided by his son Bobby as crew, won four races and placed third in the other to best Stuart Jennings of Fenton.

Cass Lake club members took the next three places. Gene Treuter was third, Walt Johnson fourth and James Morrison fifth.

Twelve craft competed, including two Canadian entries.

The week before at the Cass Lake Shearwater Invitational, Stack won Class B. Dick Thompson of Frazier took Class A. Thirty-seven craft competed in this event.

In Class B, Treuter was third. Cass Lake's Chuck Cartwright fourth and Utica's Ed Kraft fifth. Chuck Vaughn of Pontiac was fourth in Class A.

Rimfire Rifles Banned on Deer

Deer hunting regulations for 1967 include a ban on using .30 caliber rimfire rifles in Southern Michigan.

Muzzle loaders of 44 caliber and up will be permitted. Archers in Region 3 (Southern Michigan) will be able to hunt deer from Oct. 5 to Dec. 31 except during the Nov. 18-Dec. 5 firearms season.

Trout Gain Spotlight in County

Trout moved back into the spotlight in Oakland County fishing during the last week.

James Griswold, 282 Howard McNeill, landed a four and a half pound rainbow Sunday evening while fishing Loon Lake. He was using a night-crawler as bait.

Although never stocked with trout, Loon does contain a small population of migrants from connecting Schoolhouse and Silver.

Harry Irvin, 5886 Dwight, Waterford Township, caught thirteen brown trout ranging from 11 to 15 inches from the Clinton River in two days in fishing.

A silver and black flatfish caught most of the trout. Some nice catches of perch have been reported from Lake Orion and Stringy lakes. Bluegills continue good on Crystal, Crocheted and Lakeville lakes.

Valley, Wildwood, Pontiac and Lakeville are good for bass during early morning and late evening. Pike fishing is very slow.

Walleyes are running small in the lower St. Clair River. There is some size improvement between Marysville and Lake Huron. Bass action on Lake St. Clair has been only fair.

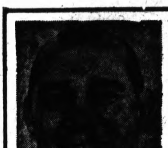

Trout action in Northern Michigan is now in the grass-hopper stage. Most streams are low. A lack of rain in the northern area has caused the fire hazard to remain high.

Viet Volunteer

Each Month

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 100,000 men have volunteered for duty in Vietnam the past three years and others are currently seeking to serve in the war zone at the rate of 4,650 a month, the Army said today.

In a special accounting of volunteer manpower, the Army said 88,166 officers and enlisted men actually had been assigned to Vietnam by choice during the period between July 1, 1964, and last June 30.

During that time, the Army said, 106,805 military personnel volunteered to serve in Vietnam. Some have had to wait for an opening in their grade and specialty, but volunteers normally are considered immediately available for reassignment.

Officially the Army gave no explanation for issuing the figures, but one officer observed: "This is an indication that these men must believe in what we're doing over there. Besides, a good soldier always heads for the sound of guns."

BRIGADE PER MONTH

The volunteering rate in the first half of 1967 has averaged the equivalent strength of a brigade each month. A brigade usually numbers between 1,000 and 5,000 men. The Army said the figures did not include men who voluntarily had extended their one-year tours of duty in Vietnam.

Since last November, it was stated, 13,659 enlisted men and 432 officers in the Army elected to spend six months or more additional in Vietnam.

The Army said that during the past three fiscal year, 9,435 officers had offered to serve in Vietnam and 7,977 were actually assigned there. Among the enlisted ranks, 94,200 volunteered; 60,189 were sent to Vietnam.

Held in Slaying

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — A 14-year-old New Haven, Mich., boy is being held by Ontario police for questioning in the shotgun slaying of a 16-year-old London man. Police refused to further identify the boy. The body of George Shaver, 74, was found Monday near London where he apparently had been fishing.

The United States in 1965 exported nearly $6 billion in goods than it imported.

Goliath Frogs Are Gourmet Treat for African Pygmies

By National Geographic Society
WASHINGTON—Africa's Bayele Pygmies turn cartwheels and somersault out of trees at the thought of a frog dinner. Their joy is understandable. Native frogs grow three feet long and weigh more than seven pounds. One frog leg can make a meal.

The world's largest frog, Conraua goliath, dwells only in Rio Muni, a Spanish province in western Africa, and its northern neighbor, Cameroon. Local tribesmen call the oversize amphibian Niamos—"mother's son"—because its size and limbs remind them of a small child.

Shy, sharp-eyed and quick to hide, the rare giant frog was unknown to science 60 years ago. Recently, however, Dr. Paul A. Zahi, senior natural scientist of the National Geographic Society, captured five goliaths and made the first publication of their existence.

The giant frogs of Rio Muni spend most of their time basking on spray-drenched rocks along cascading rivers in the rain forest. Dr. Zahi believes the frogs remain close to waterfalls because the spray provides vital oxygen that they absorb through the skin, supplementing the supply from their lungs.

Away from the invigorating mist, the frogs can only jump three or four times before succumbing to exhaustion. An adult goliath is a striking sight. Its flat-topped head is as broad as a saucer, black-and-yellow eyes bulge as big as nickels, and the powerfully muscled rear legs are bigger than turkey drumsticks. The frog hears acutely but lacks a vocal sac for croaking. Bayele Pygmies, nomadic hunters who roam the dark forests of northern Rio Muni and Cameroon, consider the goliath a rare gourmet treat.

Mink Ranchers in U.S. May Be Due Fur Relief

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here's a little exercise to test your reading comprehension. It's a sentence I found in a press release from Rep. William A. Steiger, R-Wis.

Read it at your normal rate of speed without blinking, doubling back, crossing your eyes, moving your lips or looking up words in the dictionary.

"Our mink ranchers desperately need relief."

If your reading comprehension is anywhere near average, you probably found it impossible to comprehend that sentence on the first run-through.

Mink? Relief? Better read that again.

At second glance it is not so difficult. This time the word "ranchers" makes a stronger impression. One is accustomed to reading about ranchers in financial straits.

SOME EXPLANATION

Nevertheless, the thought of luxury being involved in any sort of relief program requires some explanation.

So thanks to Steiger for explaining that the relief belong sought is relief from foreign competition. He says imported mink is "being dumped on the domestic market" to the detriment of U.S. ranchers.

The mink situation then is somewhat different from the situation that prompted a group of other congressmen to propose that the government subsidize gold miners.

It used to be that if you wanted to impress somebody with how enriching something was you said it was "a gold mine." Right?

POOR GOLD MINERS

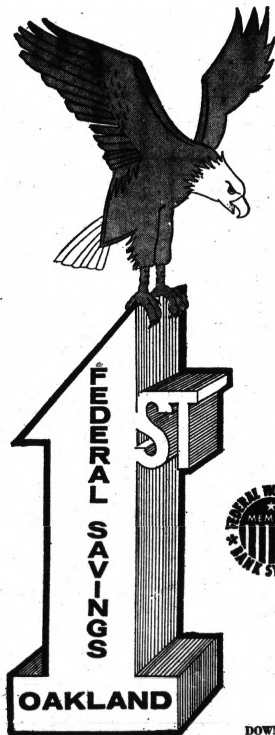

Now, apparently, a gold mine isn't worth much more than a mink ranch. The reason being that the government artificially holds the price of gold at $35 an ounce.

Maybe the "forty-niners" could have struck it rich at that price but the "sixty-sevens" claim it costs about that much to dig the stuff up.

So 11 bills have been introduced in Congress to subsidize gold miners. And why not? After all, one's not already have socialized diamonds to some extent?

Yes. As of April 31, there were $377,368,300 worth of industrial diamonds under public ownership in the national stockpile.

Anyone for champagne and caviar?

Romney: Crisis Brewing Over Teacher Pact Lag

LANSING (AP) — "The State of Michigan faces a real educational crisis come September," Gov. George Romney warned yesterday.

Romney met with representatives of school boards and teacher unions, expressing concern about a lag in negotiations of teacher contracts.

The Michigan Education Association, a teacher group, reported to the govern-nor that 217 of its districts had signed contracts still pending.

"About 81 of these are critical," association attorney Ted Swift said of the negotiations.

10 NEGOTIATIONS 'CRITICAL'

The Michigan Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO reported that of 22 contract negotiations, five had reached agreement and about 10 were "critical."

Swift said the late decision by the Legislature on school aid and the number of elections on school millage pending helped account for the lag in negotiations and contract agreements with teachers.

"The teachers are getting to the point where they think the only way to educate the public is to show a little muscle," said Swift.

'SAME FRUSTRATIONS'

"The same frustrations that released themselves in Detroit are just three weeks away," said Swift, referring to a possibility of teacher strikes.

Walter Averill of Saginaw, president of the Michigan Association of School Boards, suggested that the governor call the Legislature back and ask for more money for the schools.

"What you are asking is impossible at this time," Romney declared. "The Legislature is not prepared to do it. You might as well forget any idea that there is going to be state action on more money for the school districts."

Romney said if he did make any such recommendation, all the school boards would sit back and wait to see if the Legislature was going to give them more money.

Funds Granted for Waterford School Project

Waterford Township School District's Indicom program — a three-year experimental project in individualized instruction to be developed through the use of a computer — is officially under way.

The U.S. Office of Education has given final approval for the program, a $400,000 federal grant has been awarded to the district for the first year of the project and the contract has been received, according to Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Talroe.

Total cost of the three-year program is $1,355,000, including $355,000 for the 1968-69 school year and $300,000 for the final year of the program. The project is being funded exclusively by the federal government through Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Indicom stands for individual communications system, explained school officials.

The district presently is in the process of completing the hiring of a professional staff to direct the program. Yet to be secured is a director.

LEASED AT FIRST

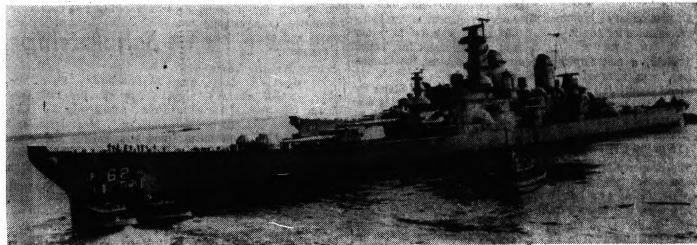

The equipment, consisting of a computer and 10 individual terminal consoles will be leased by the district the first year and purchased the second with federal funds. The computer and two terminal consoles will be delivered in April.

Purpose of Indicom is twofold, according to Roy J. Alexander, assistant superintendent of secondary schools and acting project director:

- "To prove conclusively that a local district has the talent and resources to develop instructional units appropriate to computer-assisted instruction."

- "To truly individualize instruction."

OUT OF RETIREMENT — The battleship New Jersey, shown being moved from her mothball moorings in Philadelphia to a shipyard last June, will be sent to Vietnam for war duty, the Pentagon announced yesterday. The 45,000-ton battleship was commissioned in May 1943 and served as Admiral William "Bull" Halsey's flagship. (See story, page A-2.)

'Cease Fire Unless Fired Upon'

Quakers Offer Plan for Viet

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Quakers today offered a formula for a cease-fire in Vietnam and asked for a reconvening of the Geneva Conference to work out a peace settlement.

To open the way for negotiations, they urged that the United States, North Vietnam and South Vietnam halt all military operations on a "cease-fire-unless-fired-upon basis."

The appeal was drawn up in nine days of work by a special section of the Friends World Conference meeting here. Quaker representatives from 35 countries are attending.

The Quaker peace proposal said the National Liberation Front (Vietcong) in South Vietnam should be represented at a reconvening of the Geneva Conference during the cease-fire.

The statement also said any peace settlement should provide for "national independence and neutralization of Vietnam."

CONSULTATIONS HELD

Kenneth Lee of London, England, head of the committee that drafted the peace statement, said it was worked out after consultations with officials of both the U.S. government and North Vietnam.

The statement said with the cease-fire "it must be understood that there will be a prompt and complete withdrawal of all foreign military forces from Vietnam and a permanent peace settlement based on the Geneva agreements of 1954."

In line with those past agreements, the Quaker statement said, "There should be a general amnesty and international guarantees that all the people of South Vietnam shall fully participate in deciding their own political future."

Accidents Kill Two Motorcyclists

Two motorcyclists were killed in separate accidents in Oakland County yesterday.

Wilson S. Herd, of Royal Oak was killed at 11:30 p.m. on the I-75 loop at Opdyke and Square Lake in Bloomfield Township.

Dieter Wolski, 20, of Detroit was killed at 3:50 p.m. at Orchard Lake and Long Lake roads in Orchard Lake.

Bloomfield Township police said Herd was involved in a three-cycle spill involving a group from a Detroit motorcycle club which had concluded a meeting in the area.

Orchard Lake police said Wolski apparently lost control of his vehicle and after nearly hitting a truck and a car, left the road and crashed into a tree.

Social Security Bill Being Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee is trimming President Johnson's Social Security proposals sharply to avoid piling a big payroll tax increase on top of an anticipated jump in regular income taxes.

Instead of a benefit increase for retirees of at least 15 per cent as Johnson proposed, the committee now has all but finally voted for 12½, the Associated Press learned. Instead of raising the current $44 minimum monthly payment to $70, the committee would hike it to $50.

Another preliminary decision is to set aside entirely the administration proposal to extend hospital and other benefits of Medicare, now confined to those 65 or older, to younger persons retired because of disability.

These rollbacks make possible a much more modest increase in the payroll taxes that finance basic Social Security and Medicare. These taxes now are levied on a wage base of a maximum $6,000 per employee. Employers and employees each pay 4.4 per cent.

Johnson's proposal would have increased the base next year to $7,000, the first step in a staged rise to $10,000 by 1974.

The committee instead has written in a single increase, effective Jan. 1, to $7,000. Members concede future Congresses may have to make more increases.

Area Man Survives Ship Fire

LOREN GERLINGER JR.

U.S. aircraft carrier Forrestal off North Vietnam last week.

The 20-year-old Navy parachute rigger witnessed the worst U.S. Navy disaster in a combat zone since World War II.

Gerlinger phoned his wife, Jill of 3915 Quarton, Bloomfield Township, from the crippled ship Monday to tell her he is safe.

"You can imagine I was pretty happy," she said after hearing his voice. She had also received a telegram about 11 p.m. Monday verifying his safety.

The death toll, after the flight deck of the 75,000-ton carrier — and many of the men on it — erupted in flames, was 129 with seven men still missing.

UNIDENTIFIABLE BODIES

Several of the charred bodies are unidentifiable, Gerlinger told his wife.

She said he described hearing the explosion while working in a parachute loft at one end of the flight deck. He ran out one door, learning later that he would have run into the flames if he had gone out the other.

All of his shipmates who ran back into the loft to retrieve supplies were killed, reported Gerlinger who lost all of his belongings in the fire except a few identification cards in his wallet that were covered by lamination.

His wife added that he said the mattresses were still smoldering yesterday but everything appeared to be under control.

LEAVE DUE

He's coming home on leave and then will be reassigned while the Forrestal is being repaired in the Philippines, according to his wife.

Gerlinger was a draftsman at GMC Truck and Coach Division before enlisting in the Navy in July 1966.

His mother, Mrs. Loren Gerlinger, lives at 50 Ogema.

Nowicki Arraigned on Bribery Charge

Former Madison Heights Councilman Roman Nowicki was indicted yesterday for the third time by Oakland County grand juror James S. Thurburn.

Judge Thurburn charges that Nowicki, now a Bloomfield Hills resident, promised to pay $2,000 to two other councilmen in late March 1964, to influence their vote on a zoning matter.

Nowicki, 390 Keady, was arraigned on the bribery charge before Bloomfield Hills Justice of the Peace Jack Baldwin.

A preliminary examination was scheduled for Aug. 9.

Nowicki, a metallurgical engineer, was returned to the Oakland County Jail where he is serving a jail term for contempt of court. He was cited July 19 by Thurburn for refusing to answer a grand jury subpoena.

The property in question in yesterday's indictment, according to a grand jury spokesman, was rezoned from single family to a multiple dwelling classification in May 1964.

The following November, in a referendum election, voters overturned the council's earlier action and the parcels reverted back to the single family zoning. The property is currently zoned single family.

The zoning affected a portion of two large tracts bounded on the north by 13 Mile Road and Edwards on the West.

2 OTHERS NAMED

The two other councilmen named in the warrant, but not as defendants, are Antonius Branoff and Dean Eggart.

In the other two indictments issued two weeks ago, Nowicki was charged with bribery and conspiracy in connection with the rezoning of another parcel of property on 14 Mile Road near the I-75 expressway, and conspiracy to solicit a bribe regarding a liquor license.

Ex-Councilman Ross Skinner is named with Nowicki in the liquor issue, but has not yet been arrested.

Battleship Use May Reduce Plane Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising aircraft losses over North Vietnam figured heavily in Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's decision to order up the battleship New Jersey for war duty, Pentagon sources say.

Officers estimated the 45,000-ton battleship, a naval behemoth of another era, may be able to do the work of roughly 50 planes a day, thus cutting down the number of U.S. aircraft exposed to Communist fire.

At the same time, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the new chief of naval operations, stressed in an interview he views deployment of the battleship as an addition to, rather than a replacement for, tactical air strikes against the Communists.

To date the United States has lost more than 625 planes over the North in attacks against the same kinds of targets the New Jersey will be able to bombard with 1,900-pound shells—bridges, highways, supply dumps and defensive installations.

HEAVY ARMOR

The battleship has enough armor to allow it to wade into the heaviest enemy gunfire currently in use along North Vietnam's coast. These include five-inch equivalent weapons capable of sinking such lesser ships as destroyers.

VP Due in Detroit for a Major Speech

DETROIT (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey arrives in Detroit this afternoon to deliver what his aides have termed "a major policy address on the crisis in the nation" at the National Association of Counties Convention in Cobo Hall.

Humphrey will leave immediately after addressing the closing banquet of the convention, Detroit police say.

Introduced in the Senate were resolutions calling for creation of a committee to investigate the causes of the Detroit riots in which 41 persons died and praising the work of police, firemen and National Guardsmen.

The appropriations resolution, approved in a voice vote, recognized that "a major task facing Michigan state agencies today is the assistance of" various cities which suffered "civil disturbances" last week.

EXISTING PROGRAMS

"Assistance in line with the existing programs of the various agencies must be carried forward," the resolution added. However, "before final decision can be made as to areas of aid, the scope and magnitude of the various projects, both physical and financial, will have to be determined and degrees of responsibility developed and adjudicated," the resolution said.

The resolution, which also must pass the House, requires that a report "reflecting any and all costs," be filed with Budget Director Glenn S. Allen.

Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield, introduced a resolution calling for a seven-man committee to investigate "the causes and events" leading up to the riots.

Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, went before the GOP caucus to urge passage this week of the cigarette tax boost, but said he "didn't get the kind of reception I had hoped for."

'SOMETIME IN FUTURE'

"The general sentiment of the Republican caucus is not to take action until sometime in the future," he said.

Lockwood said the caucus felt passage of the tax boost would precipitate a "rash of spending" and felt passage should wait until the fall session which begins Oct. 10.

"The longer we delay the more possibility we will have to tax at an exorbitant level," Lockwood said. "I hope I can persuade them before Thursday (the scheduled date for final adjournment)."

Lockwood said Monday that it was his understanding after talking with Allen that the cost of the riots and the resulting loss of revenue will seriously cut into the anticipated general fund surplus for fiscal 1967-68.

City Youth Wins Press Scholarship

A Pontiac boy, David Mason, 17, has won the 1967 Pontiac Press scholarship to Oakland University. Mason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mason of 725 Second, was selected from a list of high school graduates who have served as Pontiac Press carrier salesmen.

The annual scholarship offers $500 a year for three years.

Mason will be starting college this fall. A graduate of Pontiac Northern High School, Mason has indicated he will take premedical school courses.

He was a Pontiac Press carrier for four years.

The winner was chosen because of his outstanding carrier record, school grades and personality.

1966 WINNER

Last year's winner, Robert Simmer, 19, will be a junior this fall. He is majoring in chemistry and math. Simmer of 10500 Pontiac Lake, White Lake Township, was also a Press carrier for four years.

Saga of Twice-AWOL GI Went to Viet Both Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — Louis Melendez wasn't supposed to be in Vietnam—but the Army says chances he'll be punished for deserting basic training are slight indeed.

After all, how many soldiers go absent without leave to fight in Vietnam?

He served and fought with the unit for three months before his past caught up and he was shipped back to Ft. Benning.

But he stayed only a week before going AWOL again. Using the same scheme, he said he not only made it back to Vietnam but was assigned again to the Fifth Special Forces.

He fought with a unit in the Mekong Delta, where he was wounded May 15.

He still wants to go back to Vietnam and "do something for my country," he told the Washington Post.

Melendez joined the Army last November and was assigned to training at Ft. Benning, Ga.

3 Families Lose Appeal for School Annexation

BIRMINGHAM — Three families in Troy lost their appeal to be annexed into the Birmingham School District.

At a meeting last night the board rejected the request by residences on 2075, 2051 and 2025 Derby with a total of nine children.

Parents and an attorney appeared at previous meetings.

of both the Troy and Birmingham districts and explained their plight.

At the time the boundary between districts was set their three lots were vacant. All the other lots along the street were in the Birmingham district.

When their youngsters began attending school they enrolled at Birmingham's Pembroke Elementary.

IN TROY DISTRICT

When tax time came around, however, they discovered they were in the Troy district.

The families told school officials that their children had become adjusted at Pembroke and the nearest Troy school was over one-half mile away.

The Troy board approved the move, tentative to the Birmingham permission, which was not granted.

OU to Explain Tuition Plan

Many Oakland University students will first learn this week end of a new, controversial tuition plan which has been publicly criticized since its adoption almost two weeks ago.

OU will send letters to nearly 4,000 students tomorrow, notifying them of new tuition rates including charges to Michigan residents according to the family income.

An Oakland University spokesman said many OU students have probably not heard of the ability-to-pay tuition rates for state residents since the Michigan State University trustees passed the plan.

MSU trustees govern both Michigan State and Oakland universities.

In Lansing yesterday, a House majority introduced a resolution calling on MSU and OU to abandon plans for the unique sliding scale tuition plan.

The resolution termed the plan "unsound, unworkable and undemocratic" and suggested a decrease.

OU Michigan residents with family incomes below $11,900 will continue to pay the current rates of tuition of $177 per semester plus activities, health and student publication fees.

OU had formerly included the extra fees in with the tuition total but recently decided to take them out to compare with MSU rates.

Costly Additions to Anticrime Bill Feared by Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders—usually geared to fighting attempted cuts in administration programs—feared a budget-busting rash of attempts to add funds to President Johnson's crime control bill.

The measure comes up today as a riot-conscious House eager to embrace the administration's proposal for federal grants to make local law enforcement agencies more efficient.

Some leaders predicted members would forget the budget in their desire to add funds for training police in anti-riot techniques.

As it comes to the floor the bill would authorize $50 million for a program of grants to help states adopt comprehensive crime control plans, recruit and train policemen and conduct research in crime prevention.

Illegitimate May Raise His Status in W. Germany

BONN (UPI) — Illegitimate children finally will be accorded first class citizenship if Parliament approves the German government's proposals for reforming the penal code.

Even the description "unehelich" (illegitimate) which children find embarrassing will be eliminated in favor of "born outside wedlock," if Dr. Ludwig Jansen, the Justice Ministry official drafting the legislation, has his way.

For more than 40 years, German reformers have struggled without success to improve the legal status of illegitimate children, Jansen said.

Almost 50,000 children are born illegitimately in West Germany every year — 48 for every 1,000 live births — and government aid is granted about half a million illegitimate minor children living with their mothers.

Under existing law, these children are not related to their fathers, may not bear their father's name, and have no claim as one of his heirs.

Jansen's bill would change these restrictions and an illegitimate child even would have inheritance rights second only to a man's legitimate offspring.

A father would be required to support his illegitimate child until it is 21 years old, rather than only until it is 18, and the amount of support would be measured according to the father's income and social status, not that of the mother.

Canada Again Raps De Gaulle

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson, in a terse reply to French President Charles de Gaulle's second call for the liberation of French-speaking Canada, says outside intervention in Canadian affairs is still "unacceptable."

"The government of Canada has noted the statement by the president of the French republic regarding his recent visit to Canada," Pearson's statement Tuesday night said in reference to a communique issued by De Gaulle Monday.

"It has already made its position clear on the unacceptability of any outside interference in Canadian affairs and has nothing to add in the present circumstances."

After a Cabinet meeting Monday De Gaulle issued a statement saying that during his two of Quebec last week he observed the French Canadians will "be masters of themselves in all respects, and especially to become masters of their own progress."

France, said De Gaulle, means to aid the French Canadian "to reach their objectives of liberation which they themselves have decided on."

Pearson last week pinned the "unacceptable" tag on De Gaulle's trumpeting in a Montreal speech of "long live free Quebec," the rallying cry of the French Canadian minority which wants to separate Quebec from the English-speaking provinces of Canada. Angered by Pearson's statement, De Gaulle cancelled a visit to Ottawa and returned home.

Bombing Halt May Be Soon

'LBJ Weighing Peace Move After Viet Vote'

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson is in the process of deciding on whether to halt the bombing of North Vietnam after the South Vietnamese presidential elections next month, CBS-TV has reported.

The report, made from Washington Tuesday night on the Walter Cronkite program, quoted an unidentified "high source in the nation's capital" as saying: "The chances are better than 50-50 the President will attempt some kind of bombing pause just after the elections."

The peace gesture is backed by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, the CBS report said. But it added the military Joint Chiefs of Staff "are vigorously opposing" any such peace proposal.

The network said the six Far East nations' contributing troops to the war were sounded out on the possible peace proposal during the recent six-nation tour by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador in Saigon, and Clark Clifford, chairman of Johnson's intelligence advisory board.

"The next most advantageous psychological moment for a peace gesture would be around the time of the South Vietnamese presidential vote" was the thinking of both Johnson and McNamara, the network said.

The report added: "The theory is that the elections are a source of good faith on our willingness to let the Vietnamese run their own affairs. And that this, coupled with at least a reduction in bombing, might—just might—get a meaningful reaction from the North Vietnamese."

Tax-Free Status Spurs Investors

Municipals Attractive

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Some brokers and investment advisers now are recommending tax-exempt municipal bonds as a way to offset partially the personal effects of an income tax increase.

Since no federal income tax is paid on such bonds, they become relatively more valuable as taxes go higher. As taxes eat into almost all other investment profits, tax-exempts remain unscathed.

A tax-exempt bond that returns 5 per cent interest, for example, is now equal to a taxable return of 6 1/2, 7, 8 per cent or even much more, depending on the owner's tax bracket.

The tax-exempt feature is meant to make such bonds attractive to investors, the theory being that the easier it is for municipalities to raise money for sewers, schools and reservoirs, the greater will be the public good.

There are drawbacks to such purchases, as there are with any investments, but there is no denying that such yields, or interest payments, are higher than almost any other type of investment.

One of the big questions in deciding whether to purchase these bonds is the uncertainty about the administration's tax plans.

Since last January a tax increase proposal has been alternately simmering and cooling. No action has yet been taken, and the presidential transition regarding possible action has been unusually vague.

At his news conference this week, President Johnson declined to indicate when he would push for an increase. He also declined to state whether, although earlier he had mentioned a rise of 6 per cent.

HISTORIC HIGHS

Regardless of what tax action is taken, or if any tax action at all is taken, the returns on many bonds, taxable or tax-exempt, are now near historic highs.

The big drawbacks to the small investors are these: Bonds generally are purchased in multiples of $1,000, a sizable sum to many people; and the tax credit benefits the big investor the most.

For example, an individual in the 22 per cent income tax bracket, which has a taxable income of $4,000 to $6,000, would receive a return equivalent of 7.05 per cent on his purchase of a tax-exempt, 5.50 per cent bond.

In the 48 per cent bracket, which includes individuals with taxable incomes of $20,000 to $22,000, that same 5.50 per cent bond would provide a return equivalent to 10.58 per cent.

10.58 PCT. INTEREST

In other words, if there was no such thing as a tax-exempt bond, an investor would have to search out a taxable investment that earned him 10.58 per cent interest. He would search, but he wouldn't find it.

Illustrations such as this can be carried into the very high income tax brackets, with interest returns.

In the 50 per cent brackets, which means a taxable income of $22,000 to $24,000 a year, the 5.50 per cent tax-exempt bond returns the equivalent of 11 per cent a year.

It is easy to see, then, that tax-exempt bonds are especially suitable to the very rich or to large investing concerns such as insurance companies, banks and funds.

But for the individual with excess funds—and admittedly there are few of these—tax-exempt bonds do provide a secure and quite profitable investment.

"I'm not too enthusiastic about it," said Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, a Democrat. Hughes said he does not know whether a measure would have had an impact on disorders that hit Newark and nearby New Jersey communities.

The governor and the senators spoke in interviews prior to Senate Judiciary Committee hearings opening today on a House-approved bill which would make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite riot.

HAVE LAWS

Hart said Michigan has a better law and so do all the other states.

"If anybody thinks that Detroit wouldn't have happened if we had had an anti-riot bill, he just landed from the moon," the senator said.

"Any impression that this is going to actually stop riots would be a misleading impression," Griffin said.

If ANI equipment reaches peak capacity, the overflow would be routed through an operator, according to Woodward.

ANI equipment will serve about 35,000 one- and two-party lines. Rural customers will continue passing their number to the operator as at present.
