Fare Hike Better Than No Service, Bus Riders Say

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Picked at random as they went about their business in downtown Pontiac yesterday, 11 residents agreed they would be willing to pay a raise in fare to keep the buses operating in the city.

Inconvenienced to varying degrees, according to their transportation needs, the sampling of opinion showed citizens all were impatient for the two-month long strike to come to an end.

Bus drivers and mechanics of AFL-CIO Local 1090 have been on strike for a 23-cents-an-hour pay raise against the Pontiac City Lines, Inc.

Gloria Clarno, 497 Raeburn St., said she is more fortunate than some of the students in the area. A pupil at Emmanuel Baptist School, she said:

"It's a lot of trouble now and would really be trouble if the bus system leaves Pontiac. I go to a parochial school and we have a school bus to get to school. But if I miss it, I just can't get to school."

Miss Clarno

Said James R. Clifton, 117 W. Cornell St.:

"I wish they'd get these buses started! I depend on the bus to get to work. If they left Pontiac, I'd just have to get a car. . . . and I don't know whether I can afford it."

Clifton

Carole Ryden, 114 Parkdale Ave., is a salesgirl in a dowtown store who says the extra expense and depending on others is the biggest nuisance.

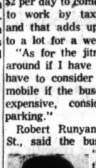

"I have to get a taxi or find someone with transportation to come to work," she said. "It's very expensive. It costs me about $2 per day to come to work by taxi and that adds up to a lot for a week.

Miss Ryden

"As for the jitneys, they aren't around if I have to work late. I'll have to consider buying an automobile if the buses go, but that's expensive, considering gas and parking."

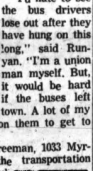

Robert Runyan, 796 Crittendon St., said the bus drivers should "hold on" until they get a "satisfactory" agreement.

Runyan

"I'd hate to see the bus drivers lose out after they have hung on this long," said Runyan. "I'm a union man myself. But, it would be hard if the buses left town. A lot of my friends depend on them to get to work."

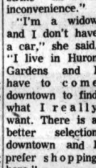

Mrs. Lonia Freeman, 1033 Myrtle St., finds the transportation strike "an awful inconvenience."

Mrs. Freeman

"I'm a widow and I don't have a car," she said. "I live in Huron Gardens and I have to come downtown to find what I really want. There is a better selection downtown and I prefer shopping here."

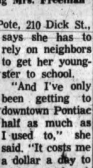

Mrs. Robert Pote, 210 Dick St., says she has to rely on neighbors to get her youngster to school.

Mrs. Pote

"And I've only been getting to downtown Pontiac half as much as I used to," she said. "It costs me a dollar a day to take a cab. A group of us got together and asked the Webster School to provide a bus for the kids, but they said they couldn't."

Mrs. Geraldine Pfahlert, 2415 James K Blvd., said she had a lot to say.

Mrs. Pfahlert

"I've been riding buses in Pontiac since 1953," said Mrs. Pfahlert. "I'm a waitress and I depend on the bus to get to work. If the buses leave and I'm forced to buy a car, I'm going from then on.

"The strike is taking all the busi-

Calls Bus Union a Doublecrosser

City Lines Officer Says Local President Sytsma Reneged on Truce

A Pontiac City Line, Inc., official today charged the bus company, the city and local businessmen were doublecrossed yesterday by union representatives.

Earl Dreasher, local manager of the bus company, said John Sytsma, president of AFL-CIO Local 1090 of the bus transportation union, went back on his word at a peace session held Friday at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting of union representatives, city officials and local businessmen was held in hopes of getting a temporary truce. During this time the drivers would go back to work while a fact-finding committee would investigate the situation.

The union, however, was unrelenting in its demands for a wage increase. Sytsma said there would be no truce without a pay raise for the drivers, who have been on strike for more than two months.

Dreasher said that it was Sytsma who had called the meeting and that it was Sytsma's idea for a truce.

'THEY RENEGED'

"They (union representatives) reneged on their word," said Dreasher, "and you can quote me on that. Mr. Sytsma committed himself to a local businessman with the idea of a truce and that's why the committee was formed and the meeting held.

"The union is fearful that a fact-finding group will prove that we can't afford to give the drivers any more money. And I've got figures to show that the drivers' wages are comparable to those in other cities."

Dreasher said the company needs a six-month test to realize maximum ridership once again after the steel strike put a dent into the company's business.

"We raised the fare on Nov. 1 from 20 cents to 25 cents, but we haven't had the time to prove whether we could afford to pay the drivers more," said Dreasher.

"We're not going to sock the

Auto Show in Detroit the Greatest

★ ★ ★

The new star, Ford's Comet, is making its first public appearance in a $17,500,000 extravaganza of 25 American models and 28 imports.

The show is the 47th of its kind sponsored by the Detroit Auto Dealers Assn. (DADA)

The Comet, with a wheelbase of 114 inches, is slightly larger than the five other American compacts on the market this year.

These include Cadillac's projectile-styled Cyclone, Simca's Fulgur, complete with steering wings and gyroscope stabilizers, and the Chrysler 300F, with an optional 400 horsepower engine, most powerful car engine produced in the U.S.

★ ★ ★

The imports include four models on display in the Detroit show for the first time: the DKW from Germany, the Humber and Singer from England and Sweden's Saab.

Secrecy Covers Mikoyan in Cuba

Surgeon On Trial for Murder Relates Wife's Dying Request

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch had jurors in tears and himself near collapse when he described the last words of his fatally wounded wife.

"Take care of the kids," she said, according to Finch.

The murder trial of the 42-year-old surgeon and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, scaled dramatics with the impact of tensest emotion late yesterday when Finch finally told of the death of Barbara Jean Finch, 33, in West Covina, Calif., last July 18.

Finch at one time rocked suddenly back in the witness chair and, for a moment, spectators thought he had fainted. He came slowly back to equilibrium and, crying, went on with his story.

A few minutes earlier he had been so athletic that jurors shrank back as he reenacted — with defense lawyer Grant Cooper playing the part of Barbara—the wild fight for the pistol which, he said, Barbara first drew.

But the climax came when he described seeing his wife fall on the lawn of his father's home. He ran to her side and knelt down beside her. He said her leg was curled so peculiarly he thought she had broken it.

'WHAT DID YOU DO?'

His dialogue with Cooper then went:

Q. What did you do?

A. I went running around the side of her and I knelt down by her, right near her waistline, and started to feel over toward her leg and—shall I tell you what I said?

Q. Yes.

A. I said, "What happened, Barbara? Where are you hurt?" And she said: "Shot in chest." I was amazed. I just couldn't . . .

Q. Then what did you say or do?

A. I just didn't do anything for a second and then—and then I—I said to Barbara, "Barbara, just stay real quiet. Don't move a thing. Don't move your arms or legs. Just lay real quiet. I've got to get an ambulance for you and get you to the hospital."

Q. Did she make any reply to that?

A. No, not right that second.

Q. What did you then do?

A. I stood up and took about two steps toward dad's breakfast room and Barbara said, "Wait."

Q. Did you wait?

A. I came back and knelt down by her head.

Q Did you do anything or did

'I Watched the Shooting in Havana'

By MARTIN HOUSEMAN

HAVANA (UPI) — I heard the first two shots fired but because the police had taken such extraordinary precautions, I dismissed the crackling as firecrackers. But only for a moment.

★ ★ ★

Rebel soldiers and police rimming the square pointed their guns up toward rooftops, for it sounded as though the shots came from there.

Just as I started making my way through the huge crowd toward the UPI offices, the band started to play the Castro rebel hymn.

"Cubans, stand fast! Stand fast!" someone shouted. Most of the crowd stood their ground and joined in singing the hymn to drown out the shots.

Leaving the nervous, restive crowd behind, I rounded a corner just as the first burst of tommygun shots died out. I came upon a shirt-sleeved Cuban imploring a policeman to lend him his rifle.

"Give it to me, man," he said, "if you're not going to shoot, because I will."

'SHOOT AT WHAT?'

★ ★ ★

Still running back to the office, I encountered a calm-looking man and asked him if he knew what was going on.

"They're trying to panic us into ruining the inauguration of the Russian Exposition," the dark little man said. "But it didn't work because we're used to guns being fired."

He had barely uttered these words when the chatter of heavy, sustained fire broke out—it seemed from very nearby.

At that moment the brave one panicked and disappeared like lightning into a nearby building.

So did I, dashing into the UPI building just in time to get out of the way of a stampede of screaming women coming from the direction of the Prado, where the shots were fired.

Toledo Police Catch 17 in Narcotics Raids

TOLEDO, Ohio (UP)—In 20 raids last night and early today 32 city policemen arrested 17 men and women. Police Chief Anthony A. Bosch, who led the raiders, said the action smashed the city's traffic in narcotics.

"We have broken the back of the narcotics traffic in Toledo and the major source of supply for 75 to 100 addicts," Bosch declared.

Sudden Gunfire at Soviet Exhibit Brings Turmoil

HAVANA (UP) — A curtain of official silence fell on Soviet First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan's movements today after the outburst of gunfire that threw into turmoil the opening Friday of the new Soviet cultural exposition in Havana.

The mystery shots came on the heels of an anti-Communist student demonstration in a nearby park that confronted Prime Minister Fidel Castro with the first open defiance of his be-kind-to-the-Reds policies.

The shooting failed to shake or silence the wily Mikoyan. The veteran Kremlin salesman told the Cubans the secret of the Soviet Union's success lay in "establishing the power of the workers and peasants—and confiscating without any compensation all means of production."

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass today reported the opening of the Soviet Exposition in Havana by First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan but did not mention the shooting incident that marred the ceremony.

Castro has called his revolution a revolution of workers, peasants and students. He has seized sugar plantations and cattle ranches but has promised compensation to owners.

Friday's violence marked the first open sign of unrest among the students regarded as stalwarts of most of Castro's program, including land reform.

Official silence on Mikoyan's plans for today was seen as a move to avoid repetition of any embarrassing anti-Red demonstrations like that put on by the students.

The rattle of gunfire echoed over a two-block area for about five minutes as Mikoyan stood calmly on the open platform waiting to make his ceremonial speech. There was no indication the shooting was an assassination attempt against the Soviet leader.

Union Claims Thorough Victory in Flint Hassle Over Work Standards

FLINT (UP)—United Auto Workers today ratified a strike-ending agreement covering 10,000 employes of the big Chevrolet manufacturing plant here.

★ ★ ★

The walkout erupted Wednesday over work standards.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The union claimed complete victory.

It said Chevrolet agreed to go back to pre-1960 model methods and production quotas for 19 crankshaft grinders.

Under new production procedures, which GM said cut grinding time, a quota of 36 crankshafts per hour had been in effect.

Varner Asks 'Crash' School Building Plan

Chancellor D. B. Varner of Michigan State University Oakland today urged the State Legislature to immediately authorize a 90 million dollar "crash" building program for its nine state universities.

"The alternative is to slam shut the college doors in the faces of thousands of Michigan young men and ladies, and their parents," Varner declared.

Varner's proposals came in a speech today before 600 members of local school boards and parent-teacher organizations at a regional school study conference at MSUO.

He called the 90 million dollar figure a "minimum one to meet the inescapable fact of 20,000 more college students by 1965."

The Legislature could make a start on meeting its college buiid-ing needs by spending no more than 2 million dollars this year, Varner said.

ASKS BOND PROGRAM

He proposed that Michigan's legislators authorize a bond-financed construction program providing 30 million dollars yearly for college buildings this year through 1962.

Varner said the state universities now have 147,441 students.

Last June, he noted, Michigan's high schools graduated 77,050 students. He said that by 1965, the high schools would graduate 124,350 students, and 10 years from now 146,230.

At least one-third of these graduates now go on to college and each year the percentage climbs.

"With these compound pressures, a figure of 20,000 more college students by 1965 is a rock-bottom minimum," Varner declared.

He said educators had a responsibility to spell out their needs—and a duty to help find workable solutions.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's universities have a responsibility for such things as moving year-round operations, more intensive scheduling of classrooms, and a longer school day.

Varner said he arrived at his $90,000,000 figure by alloting 150 square feet of laboratory, classroom and faculty office space per student at a cost of $20 per square foot.

He estimated "conservatively" that another $30,000,000 is needed to replace inadequate or overcrowded structures.

"These needs have been growing more acute for the past four years, when not a single public dollar was spent to build any ed-

Off-the-Record Court for 1st Offenders

He Got Caught; He Was Lucky

By G. T. TRUMBULL JR.

The lad had reason to be. He stood accused as a thief.

His parents were worried, too. They had the puzzled looks of parents trying to figure out just what gets into children, those who run afoul of the law.

Number 942 had. Along with two juveniles, the 17-year-old Clawson boy decided to steal some hub caps for his car. Number 942 did, in Birmingham on Jan. 26.

HE GOT CAUGHT

Actually, it was lucky he did. Had he not, the crew-cut youngster might have felt car stripping was a snap. He might have kept on and someday ended up with a lot bigger number than 942. It could read: 942788—Jackson Prison.

Had it not been for Birmingham police Det. Richard F. Chambers and Patrolman Keith Pennington, the boy might be headed in this criminal direction.

As he usually does in larceny complaints, Chambers could have sworn out a warrant against the boy. But investigation showed he was a first offender and he admitted the theft and said he had learned his lesson.

In his role as a police officer, Chambers, however, couldn't just let the case drop. The boy had to pay the consequences for being a thief, even though he confessed his faults.

★ ★ ★

Chambers and Pennington believed the youth was a good prospect for Taylor's little known Off-the-Record Court. The boy was in court —Taylor's office—Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The unique court, started by Taylor in 1953, is the first offender's best friend in the county. It allows a juvenile to make amends for his wrongs without having a criminal record hanging over his head. No complaint, no warrant, no entry in the police blotter is ever made. No newspaper stories either.

The Clawson boy is the 942nd to go before the court. Only 22 have gone wrong again.

To come before the court, arresting police officers must recommend it for the offender. Cases of violence are prohibited. Most of the court's offenders are there for breaking and entering and larceny.

The parents and the accused must want the unusual benefits of the Off-the-Record Court. Number 942 did. So did his parents.

The youngster, who earns $25 a week after school as a supermarket clerk, told Taylor he wanted the hub caps he stole from a Birmingham municipal parking lot for his car.

He said he was going to sell them or trade for larger ones to fit his car which, since the theft, has been put up for sale, the parents said.

"There's always somebody walking around asking to buy hub caps," the boy said.

He sat straight in a chair beside his mother and father. He rubbed his hands together nervously throughout the hearing.

ALL CHOKED UP

He said he didn't think of the disrespect which would have been cast on his factory-working father, mother

What Happened to Our Spring? Sunday to Be 35

What happened to "spring"

After forecasting five days of springlike weather yesterday, the weatherman today did an about-face. We're going to have snow flurries tonight, he says, with the low dropping to 27 degrees.

Little temperature change is expected Sunday. The high will rise to near 35. Monday's high temperature will continue in the 30s with the chance of a few snow flurries.

This morning's northwesterly winds at eight miles an hour will become northerly at 15 - 22 miles and north to northwest at 8 to 12 miles tonight.

Thirty-three was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 32.

'Valentine' Hart to Speak

Dems Ready County Drive

The calendar says it's Lincoln's birthday but Oakland County Democrats insist Feb. 12 is Valentine's Day. They have a Hart to prove it.

Sen. Philip A. Hart has accepted an invitation for next Friday to help local Democrats celebrate Valentine's Day two days early and kick off their annual drive for funds and members.

The Oakland County Democratic Committee says it will be Hart's annual "Valentine's Day Message to His Constituents."

The dinner will be held in the Community Activities, Inc., Building, 5640 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township, beginning at 6:30.

Sharing the speaker's rostrum with Michigan's junior senator will be Billie S. Farnum, another Oakland favorite son and newly appointed $15,000 - a - year deputy chairman of the state party.

Farnum, formerly a resident of the township, will talk about plans for a statewide membership drive.

ADDED INCENTIVE

Oakland Democrats will have added incentive to push hard for 1960 members—set at 8,000 by the State Central Committee—as county leaders will award two portable television sets to the top solicitors.

Carlos G. Richardson, county chairman from Waterford Township, said they're hoping to pack the CAI Building with 600 persons to hear Hart and Farnum.

The next evening, in the same building, Hart will appear again, this time as honored guest of the Waterford Township Democratic Club at its third annual spaghetti dinner.

Dinner will be served between 5 and 8 p.m.

City Hospitals Feeling Pinch of Nurse Shortage

By PETE LOCHBILER

Because of the shortage:

1. Pontiac General Hospital may not be able to open 38 new beds to the public this month.
2. Hospital nurses are working overtime.
3. Civic leaders have been asked to help find more nurses.

Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator, said that only three of every four established nursing positions are filled.

The hospital is wondering how it will get enough nurses to staff the 200-bed addition it plans to open in early 1962.

BEDS BEFORE MARCH 1

At Pontiac General Hospital the new beds will be ready for occupancy on or before March 1, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

'But its very uncertain if we'll be able to hire enough nurses to put the beds to use," he said.

At present, the hospital has positions for 120 nurses, 80 fulltime and 40 parttime.

The nursing shortage will get worse, though, predicted Mrs. Helen Harper, director of the Pontiac General nursing service.

* * *

"The shortage is general throughout the entire country. They've been feeling it in Detroit for two years. Now we're beginning to feel it."

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital reported no shortage. Sister Mary Xavier, hospital administrator, said the hospital is fully staffed.

St. Joseph has the services of Catholic nuns, who are registered nurses, as well as nurses who are not members of the Sisters of Charity Order.

Mrs. Harper said the number of graduate nurses has not kept pace with the increased number of hospital beds in the area.

MARRIAGE CUTS RANKS

Marriage has cut into the ranks of working nurses, she said.

While 9 out of 10 nurses at Pontiac General are married, most are over 40 years of age, she said.

* * *

"Most of them do not have young children to take care of," she pointed out.

The baby sitter problem has been under serious scrutiny at Pontiac Osteopathic.

* * *

"We once wanted to establish a nursery here with baby sitters to care for the children of our nurses while they worked. It seemed to be a good way to attract married nurses to the job."

PLAN SOLVED

But complicated state regulations resulted in the plan's being shelved, said Whitlow.

Euler noted that Pontiac General has proportionately fewer fulltime registered nurses nowadays.

"To meet the shortage of fulltime nurses, we have had to draw more and more on the services of parttime nurses—mostly married women who are willing to spend at least part of the time away from their families and home life.

Euler recently told a committee of the Greater Pontiac Area Community Council that the shortage of nurses has to be made up by producing more within the community.

"A hospital has to depend on its own area for recruitment purposes," he said. "There is not much success in trying to recruit nurses away from other areas. There are shortages everywhere."

Euler urged the council to help institute a nursing education program in the Pontiac area.

His immediate suggestion was that one might be started with the help of Michigan State University Oakland or some other institution of higher learning.

* * *

The Day in Birmingham

3 Requests for Rezoning Coming Up on Monday

BIRMINGHAM—Three rezoning requests will be considered Monday by City Commissioners at an 8 p.m. public hearing.

Approval of two of the changes has been recommended by the Planning Board.

However, the Planning Board has recommended denial of the request by Dr. Archie McNaughton to rezone the northeast corner of Townsend and Southfield roads from multiple family residential to non-retail business.

The board said that the clinic that Dr. McNaughton proposes to build would create parking problems in the area.

A request from the Silco Building Corp. and Dr. James C. Moloney has the recommended approval of the board to rezone a lot on the south side of Daines, east of Purdy from neighborhood business, to non-retail business.

Dr. Moloney's plans to expand his clinic would upgrade the property and would conform to the actual use of the land, the board stated.

Approval has also been recommended by the board to rezone parts of lots at the southeast corner of Ann and Frank streets from multiple business to non-retail business.

The Birmingham chapter of the "Citizens for Michigan" will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Community House.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be CFM executive director, Ralph W. Conant, who will discuss the progress of the group on a statewide basis.

The chapter will also hear a special study group report on state finances, services and government structure.

The Congregational Church of Birmingham will observe "Brotherhood Sunday" Feb. 14 with an exchange of ministers and choirs.

The Rev. Nicholas Hood, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church of Detroit, along with the 25-voice choir of the church, will exchange for the one day with the Rev. Raymond Fenner and the Birmingham choir.

The Birmingham OES No. 220 will hold a luncheon and card party Thursday at 12:45 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 324 S. Woodward Ave. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ray Render, 22405 13-Mile Rd., Birmingham.

The Birmingham alumnae of Collegiate Sorosis of the University of Michigan will present a fashion show Feb. 17 at 2 p.m. at the Community House.

Tea will be served, during which time Mrs. Shanta Ling, of Ann Arbor, will display her collection of original Oriental costumes.

Proceeds will benefit the Senior Citizens' Guild.

$7,000 Is Lost in 2 Burglaries

Two burglaries involving a total loss of $7,000 were reported in the past 24 hours to sheriff's deputies and Pontiac State Police.

The burglars had climbed onto a roof at the rear of the building and entered through a second floor window, he said. They pried open the safe and a vending machine from which they took a small amount of change.

Burglars had broken into the one-story brick and frame home through a side door. Greenblatt told deputies that an estimated $4,771 worth of items had been stolen.

He said he had checked the cottage Jan. 28 and that it was all right. When he returned yesterday he found $2,000 worth of clothing missing plus two radios, a television set, linens, two comforters, a liquor cabinet and its contents.

Everyone Awaits Queen's Baby

Britain's Breath Baited

LONDON (UPI)—Prince Philip returned to Buckingham Palace today in his fast green sport car to join Queen Elizabeth, who is awaiting the birth of her third child.

* * *

Prince Philip drove up to the palace from Sandringham a few minutes before 62 cannons roared a salute from London tower in celebration of the eighth anniversary of the Queen's accession to the throne.

Officials at the palace took pains to tell the public that Prince Philip's return did not mean the birth had occurred.

* * *

They said they were afraid Prince Philip's return, together with the booming cannons, might mislead an eager public into a mistaken celebration.

Similar cannon salutes will be given when the royal birth takes place. It is expected at any time between now and Feb. 15.

"Furthermore, the union membership is not being informed. Sytsma said his union is 100 per cent behind the decision to forego a truce without a raise. I contacted nine of the 38 drivers, and not one said they were contacted by union representatives about a truce."

COMPANY ABSENT

The company was not represented at yesterday's meeting. Drasher said he was to have been called for a face-to-face meeting with Sytsma as soon as the unionist agreed to a truce yesterday.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said he was ready to appoint an impartial study committee to make recommendations if the union accepted a "status quo" truce, that is, went back to work with its present wages and benefits.

One spokesman said Pontiac has the oldest buses in the company's line. He cited other cities where the company uses new buses made here at the General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

"We get the discarded buses from other cities," he said, "That is something else a fact-finding committee would look into."

* * *

Sytsma said the union would meet with the transportation company at any time or place. Negotiations are expected to resume the latter part of next week.

Said Sytsma: "The drivers, 100 per cent, are not interested in going back to work on a truce basis without a wage increase."

Are the drivers feeling the pinch after two months without work?

A. I said, "Barb—", shall I give you the conversation?

* * *

Q. Yes.

A. I said, "Barb, don't talk about it now."

* * *

Q. What did she say?

'DON'T LEAVE ME'

A. I said, "I've got to get you to the hospital." She said, "Don't leave me." And I started to cry and then after a pause, well, she said, "Take care of the kids," and she just went limp.

* * *

Q. Did you feel her pulse?

A. Yes, I checked her pulse right away. I reached down and felt her neck for the carotid artery. There was no pulsation. I pulled her chin up and felt her—no respirations. She was dead. She was dead. She couldn't — I said "Barb." I just said "Barb," louder at her but she couldn't answer me.

Finch was near breaking and the judge called a recess until next Monday morning.

ness out of downtown Pontiac. I blame the city for it. The bus drivers should get their raise. If the bus fares have to go up, it's all right with me. To me, a bus is wonderful. A raise in fare still would be cheaper than buying a car."

Mrs. Kelly

Mrs. Eloise Kelly, 51 Lyford St., is also a waitress and agrees with Mrs. Pfahlert.

"The bus drivers deserve a raise and I don't mind paying a higher fare to keep the buses in town. The bus company should raise the fare and the drivers' wages."

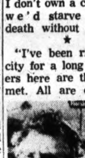

Smith

George W. Smith, 885 Northfield St., said he, too, would pay a higher fare to keep the buses running.

"And," he said, "I can remember when I rode the streetcars in Pontiac for a nickel. I don't own a car. we'd starve to death without the buses.

* * *

"I've been riding buses in this city for a long time and the drivers here are the nicest I've ever met. All are courteous and I've never seen one fly off the handle.

Mrs. Grimmer

Mrs. Frances Grimmer, 885 Northfield St., said she thought the probem was that the bus company wasn't getting enough riders.

"A raise in fare would be better than no buses at all though" she said,

"It is really hard getting around without the buses," she said.

"It takes a lot more time. I think the city and the bus company are to blame. The drivers should get their raise and settle this thing."

of Fine Arts where the exposition is housed.

A few minutes later the students arrived to place their own wreath, and the riot ensued. One student was grazed by a bullet.

Several students were arrested, but police declined to say where they were taken or give any official version of the night events.

"We don't have any information," the police said. The same laconic reply came from the Presidential Palace, the Ministry of Foreign Relations, and other government departments.

Despite the cloak of silence surrounding Mikoyan's timetable, there was no apparent tightening of security around the mansion in swank Biltmore suburb where he is staying. Neighbors said they did not see any extra guards around the house, but police cars with plainclothesmen parked overnight at nearby street corners.

and three sisters if he had been prosecuted as an adult.

"Do you realize now?" Taylor asked.

"Yes, sir," he choked out nearly in tears.

He was not like some other young delinquents. He attended his Catholic church regularly, received one A, four Bs and one F last quarter, and had saved $1,600 last year from his after-school job.

He had slipped up and made that one mistake. He promised Taylor it would be his last.

The prosecutor found fault with the parents, both of whom work, for allowing their son to spend all his earnings for payments on his car.

Taylor's sentence: Six months probation, no driving for 60 days unless with his father, in by 9 p.m. week nights, and that the car must be sold and his failing history grade improved as had been assured.

* * *

He said he'd cut some months off his probation if the boy went to church each Sunday. Taylor said 70 per cent of the boys who have come before his court did not go to church.

* * *

Cambers told the boy it was his obligation now that he had been given another chance to discourage and report other youngsters he knows who might be headed for the same scrape he had. He promised he would.

"You going to stay out of trouble now?" Taylor questioned again.

Injuries Take Bolivian Child, 2, Making Plane Wreck Toll 59

LA PAZ Bolivia (AP) — The death toll in Bolivia's worst aviation disaster reached 59 today as the one survivor succumbed to injuries.

* * *

Jenny Escobar, 2-year-old Bolivian child, was the only person found alive when rescuers reached the wreckage Friday. The child died several hours later while being taken to a hospital.

Nine other children died in the crash of the flaming Lloyd Aereo Boliviana airliner. Airline officials said seven north Americans were among the victims.

* * *

The scene of the accident was high in the Andes, some 20 miles from Cochabamba. Lack of communications and the confusion following the crash prevented newsmen from obtaining accurate information immediately. The official passenger list still has not been made public.

FAA Is Responsible for Near Collision

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—A Federal Aviation Agency official today admitted the agency was responsible for a near crash between two passenger planes over Kentucky Thursday night.

* * *

"Frankly, as it has been reported to me, we made a mistake," Leonard W. Jurden, FAA Region Three director told United Press International. "The controller at Indianapolis didn't do what he was supposed to do.

"One plane was at 19,000 feet altitude and the other at 21,000. The controller ordered one down to 19,000, the same altitude as the one approaching it. We're fortunate nothing serious came of it."

The two airlines involved reported the incident yesterday in New York.

Rains Turn to Sleet; Sun Helps

By United Press International

Sunny skies and road crews joined forces to clear Southwest highways of six-foot drifts today, but freezing-rains turned roads in the North Central states into dangerous death traps.

Highways workers broke through the heavy drifts yesterday to find 40 to 50 abandoned cars blocking U.S. Highway 385 in Oklahoma.

The cars' occupants, brought to safety at the height of the storm, were expected to continue their trips today under sunny skies over Oklahoma, Texas, Eastern Colorado and Kansas.

Widespread rains covered the Northeast from Virginia into New York states and westward through Ohio and the Great Lakes into Wisconsin.

* * *

The rains turned to sleet in the Northern Great Lakes and Wisconsin, paving highways with a deadly coating of ice.

An ice storm closed schools and highways in Central Michigan and Indiana officials blamed six traffic deaths on the rain.

Mild temperatures prevailed over the nation during the night, with the lowest reading a balmy — for February — 25 near the Canadian border. Nighttime temperatures rose 20 degrees into the 30s over New England.

The Weather Bureau predicted more rain today in the Northeast, with light snow or freezing drizzle in northern New England and lower Michigan.

Dog Discovers Hand-y Way to Grab Mailman

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—There wasn't a dog in sight when mailman Lorne Winbigler, 23, walked up on the porch of a house in Mount Clemens Friday.

* * *

But as Winbigler was dropping the mail through a slot in the front door he became the victim of a sneak attack.

A terrier named Tinker was waiting inside the house for the mail carrier's fingers to pop through the slot.

* * *

Varner Proposes 'Crash' School Building Program

ucational structures for colleges in Michigan," he said.

* * *

He cited as examples the deplorable condition of many teaching facilities at MSU where 25 per cent of the classes are being conducted in quonset huts and world war II barracks.

"In many cases, 8 to 10 faculty members must share one office," he said.

Many of them, Varner said, teach in hazardous laboratories under conditions similar to that in which one MSU student was fatally injured last fall.

"But we should not grow despondent," he said. "There are distinct possibilities for financing this plan." One is a direct appropriation of $30,000 a year for three years, he said.

"This obviously is not possible," he added.

"A second is to authorize institutions to pledge a share of student fees to pay principal and interest on building fund issues.

"The Legislature would replace the amount of the fees so used with a compensating appropriation.

* * *

"Since a $30,000-a-year building program could be amortized by $2,000,000 in fees, the Legislature would have to appropriate only that sum the first year, $4,000,000 the second year, and $6,000,000 a year thereafter to pay off $90,000,000 worth of construction."

The third alternative, he said, would be a state building authority such as that recommended by Gov. G. Mennen Williams and now being considered by the Legislature.

"It is especially encouraging to note this plan has bipartisan sponsorship," Varner said, "because it definitely deserves careful consideration." Under this plan, a state agency is created to borrow from state trusts or other sources.

"The state trusts are given bonds and the authority charges rent to the colleges to pay off the bonds. The Legislature, in turn, appropriates to the institutions the amount of rent as charged.

About half the states are now using similar schemes, the chancellor added.

"Even if the Legislature moves with all speed possible, the very best it can do is to provide additional space for the class which will enroll in September 1962. This means a time span of six years will have elapsed between the date of the last building authorized and the completion of any building authorized this session."

OAS to Meet as Trujillo Faces Revolt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo faced the specter of revolt today and his efforts to put it down by mass arrests brought a call for an immediate council meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS).

Venezuela asked the OAS council late yesterday to hold a special session this weekend or Monday. Venezuela charged Trujillo with "flagrant violations" of human rights. The meeting was expected to be held Monday.

Reliable diplomatic sources here said Trujillo was in the deepest trouble at home of his 30-year regime.

There was no organized rebellion. But Trujillo's secret police roundup of some 1,500 persons has caused an unprecedented upswelling of public unrest, joined in by some key members of the army, diplomats said.

AMBASSADOR GETS ORDERS

Venezuelan Ambassador Marcos Falcon Briceno received instructions from his government to ask for an immediate council meeting and promptly made the request to Council Chairman Vicente Sanchez Gavito of Mexico.

Falcon Briceno said his government regarded the mass arrests reported in the Dominican Republic as a violation of the charter of the OAS.

* * *

He said the current wave of arrests and persecution of prominent Dominican personalities culminated what he called "the repeated flagrant violations by the Dominican regime of the most cherished principles of the inter-American system—human rights, freedom and democracy."

Long Haul Turns Out to Be the Wrong Haul

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A moving crew huffed and puffed its way down two floors of the Stroud Community House with a baby grand piano they had been hired to haul away.

The piano was loaded when the crew was advised it was the piano on the third floor they were supposed to move.

Number Is Lowest in Decade

Sewage Disputes Cut Housing Permits

Oakland County's legal troubles in building new sewers was a big factor last year in the county's issuing of fewer housing permits than in any other of the decade.

* * *

Only 5,141 dwelling permits were granted throughout the county, compared to 6,494 in 1958 and 12,709 in 1954, the biggest year, according to figures released by the Detroit Regional Planning Commission.

The sharp decline was not restricted to Oakland County, however. The Commission said the entire Detroit regional area—Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe and part of Washtenaw counties—experienced a downward trend too.

Construction of only 21,372 dwellings was permitted in this area, compared to 24,396 in 1958, the previous low. This was a 12.4 per cent drop.

* * *

Bloomfield Township led all other Oakland County communities in housing permits with 476. Farmington Township was second with 444, Southfield third with 417, and Waterford Township fourth with 395.

Bloomfield Township ranked 10th in the number of permits issued among the communities in the Detroit region.

Last year showed a marked lag in construction in south Oakland communities because of drainage problems, the commission found.

Counties	1958	1959	Changes Number	Per Cent
Macomb	5,353	5,803	+ 450	+ 8.4
Oakland	6,494	5,141	—1,353	—20.8
Wayne	11,057	9,185	—1,872	—16.9
Standard Metro. Area totals	22,904	20,129	—2,755	—12.1
Monroe	608	769	— 161	+26.5
Washtenaw (4 Twps.)	884	474	— 410	—46.4
Detroit Region Totals	24,396	21,372	—3,024	—12.4

Totals for last year for all Oakland areas follow. All figures equal net gain of residential building permits issued plus conversion of existing structures to add dwelling units, minus dwelling unit demolitions. Asteriks indicate estimates:

Persistence Pays: Wedding Bells Ring

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Alvin Noffsinger, 75, fulfilled a dream he has harbored since he was 12 years old when he married Velva Rohr, 70, here last night.

* * *

Noffsinger first decided he wanted to marry Velva 63 years ago in Rose Hill, Ohio, but her parents said she was too young to marry.

The ardent suitor persisted even after Velva's family moved from Rose Hill to Wexford County, a few years after the couple first met. He came to Michigan with his family a year later.

In 1906 he proposed marriage four times, but each time wedding plans were blocked by Velva's parents' objections that she was too young.

Frustrated, both Velva and Noffsinger eventually married someone else. Velva married William J. Bigelow but her husband died. Noffsinger became a widower.

Finally, Noffsinger tried again. This time Velva accepted and there were no objections.

Titan Shot Is Flop Once Again

The 98-foot rocket blew apart 57 seconds after launching Friday. The explosion, several thousand feet in the air, resembled a nuclear blast.

★ ★ ★

Informed sources reported the second stage apparently separated prematurely, sending the missile out of control.

The Martin-made Titan is being developed as America's biggest military rocket, with a range of up to 9,000 miles.

The failure followed the successful firing of another Titan last Tuesday. That shot, in which second-stage ignition was achieved for the first time, was the first success for the Titan in nine months.

The Titan program has come in for much criticism because of a string of failures and other mishaps. The troubles are being studied by three congressional committees.

★ ★ ★

Some critics suggest that the Titan be scrapped in favor of the Atlas, which has scored 17 straight test-flight successes at ranges up to 6,300 miles.

School Districts Paying One-Half

Dr. Bartlett Says Local Operating Cost Share Grows Each Year

DETROIT (AP)—The local share of public school operating costs is growing and the state share receding, Michigan's school chief said today.

Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, reported the trend to dispute contentions that local districts should take on a bigger share of costs.

Six years ago, he said, local districts paid 40 per cent of the bill and state government 60 per cent. This year, they split it up evenly.

Bartlett's talk was prepared for a conference sponsored by the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Michigan Assn. of School Boards.

Despite the trend, Bartlett said there was every indication the Legislature would not increase state school aid this year.

Last year, lawmakers approved a raise from $190 to $205 per pupil along with an increase in deductible millage — a factor steering more aid to poor school districts — from 2¾ to 3¼ mills.

Even without an increase, the Legislature probably will need to supplement school aid appropriations by 14 million dollars this year to meet an estimated 50,000 enrollment increase as well as increases for special education programs and the public school employes retirement fund, Bartlett said.

Red Guns Hitting Matsu

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Communist guns on the China mainland bombarded the Nationalist-held Matsu Islands today for the first time in 3½ months. Tiny Kaoteng Island on the northern end of the Formosa Strait was shelled for 40 minutes. Red guns opposite the Quemoys observed their customary ever-numbered day silence.

McLouth Employes Back at Work Today

DETROIT (AP) — McLouth Steel Corp. employes returned to work today with a new contract, ending an 11-day strike by United Steelworkers at the company's three Detroit area plants.

★ ★ ★

The employes voted 2-1 Friday for the new contract. The ballot came at the end of a three-hour meeting attended by nearly 2,000 of McLouth's 4,200 production workers.

McLouth ordered all but a couple of departments to report for their regular shifts starting at midnight Friday.

The plants are at Detroit, Gibraltar and Trenton.

The USW and McLouth had reached a tentative agreement Jan. 26, but a wildcat strike prompted the company to withdraw its offer.

The new contract reportedly is substantially the same as the one negotiated before the strike began. It expires June 30, 1962, and grants the same economic benefits won by the USW from the other major steel companies last month.

USW spokesmen said they also had won improvements in safety, seniority and grievance procedure.

Alan S. Chiang May Go to Jail Despite Passport

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek's grandson, Alan S. Chiang, will learn Thursday whether he must serve a five-day jail sentence on charges of speeding 80 miles an hour on an Oakland boulevard. He seeks diplomatic immunity.

★ ★ ★

Chiang, 25, a student at Armstrong Busines College here, was cited Jan. 23, Chinese Consul General Patrick Pighi Sun appeared in Municipal Court in Young Chiang's behalf Friday. He said Chiang has a diplomatic passport and is entitled to diplomatic immunity.

Judge Charles W. Fisher continued the case until Feb. 11 but told reporters he doubted whether he could depart from court policy of imposing a jail sentence for speeding.

Fan Blade Shatters, Killing Car Driver

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Malcolm M. Graeber, 24, was killed Friday when one of his car's fan blades shattered, hitting him in the throat and chest.

Sheriff's deputies said he and a friend were working on the fan. His companion was not hurt.

Ship Heads Home, 10 Sailors Missing

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The destroyer Daly headed here today with three of the five survivors of Thursday's disaster in which 10 sailors were swept from its decks by a gigantic swell.

★ ★ ★

Two others were rescued by the merchant tanker Alabama. Another man, not washed overboard, was killed. The fate of the missing five appeared sealed, but an air-sea search will continue, the Navy said, "until all possibilities have been exhausted."

★ ★ ★

The Daly, with two other destroyers, was heading for Norfolk to join the Reserve Fleet. It was making a high-speed run to see if any repairs were in order before mothballing. At top speed, it struck a huge swell about 200 miles off the Virginia coast and rolled over 65 degrees. The 10 sailors were swept away.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Varner Suggests New Look for Centennial Instead of Old

Chancellor D. B. VARNER, of Michigan State University Oakland, offers a cogent suggestion which Pontiac can well consider.

★ ★ ★

"I learn," says he, "that the community is preparing for a centennial celebration. I've been through one and now I have a little different idea than I had before.

★ ★ ★

"Instead of featuring men with unbecoming CASTRO beards and baggy pants that are supposed to depict the ancient West, or the Pontiac area a century back, why don't we try a centennial that looks ahead?

★ ★ ★

"It was Boss Kettering who said: 'I don't want to ride backward and see where I've been. I want to look ahead and see where I'm going.' Wouldn't that be a helpful idea for us to adopt?

"Perhaps we should try to project ourselves into the future and see what the Pontiac area can be made to look like 100 years down the road. It's more exciting to study some new objectives and targets than it is to devote all our time reviewing the century we have ended."

★ ★ ★

Certainly both have their proper place. Perhaps the ensuing centennial should be a combination. Today's thinking in general places emphasis on the future and what we hope to accomplish in the way of betterments for tomorrow.

We must devote the bulk of our energies toward building a better nation, a better state and a better city. A centennial can be constructive and show great hopes and plans for the days ahead.

★ ★ ★

Chancellor, many will agree. Your idea deserves thought and study.

Learn a Language . . . .

Most people will applaud Pontiac schools for broadening the instruction in foreign languages. As I understand it, if a teacher in the early grades is qualified, he or she is encouraged to add conversational aid during the year.

Furthermore, additional instruction can be given after school for those that want it.

★ ★ ★

Formerly, a comparatively small number of Americans "went abroad." It was an event. The travelers embarked on a ship that took several days to reach the other side and then they "toured" and finally spent another week getting home.

★ ★ ★

I spent five days in Ireland last spring and was only gone from Pontiac six days. Today world travel is many, many times what it used to be, and it is increasing rapidly. Jet airplanes are responsible. Hence, the ability to speak French, Spanish, German, Italian or Russian becomes much more important. A good, workable knowledge of just one is very helpful and the schools are facing up to this new demand.

★ ★ ★

I would strongly urge all boys and girls to pick out one language and give it a real whirl. They don't have to become sufficiently adept to read the great literature of the country, but the ability to make themselves understood readily and to comprehend easily is of great importance.

Nations are nearer together. We're closer to everyone.

★ ★ ★

If I were to pick one language, I'd take French or Spanish. The Spanish is important if you have the faintest idea of going to South America. And French comes close to being the second "universal language" abroad, granting that English is first today. And it is.

★ ★ ★

Once in a newspaper meeting in Buenos Aires, with Spanish South Americans speaking English on all sides, I said to a fellow publisher: "I can't utter a word in their language. I almost feel naked."

Boys and girls, learn a language.

And in Conclusion . . . .

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Abraham Lincoln lived in faith. At Springfield, his home town, he voiced his reverence for Christ's commandment, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart . . . and thy neighbor as thyself." Leaving Springfield for Washington, he said, "Without the assistance of that Divine Being . . . I cannot succeed. With that assistance, I cannot fail." En route, he said, "I shall be happy indeed, if I shall be a humble instrument in the hands of the Almighty . . ."

In Washington he prayed daily and called prayer "talking with God." There, he was not afraid to stand and face the struggle of the Union, or to kneel for strength. Although he liked the idea of those who prayed "not to be heard of men," he is known to have kneeled alone and with others in prayer, and to have asked, "Pray that I may have strength and wisdom."

In a tribute to Lincoln, David Lloyd George said: "He is one of those giant figures, of whom there are very few in history . . . They are no longer Greek or Hebrew or English or American . . . they belong to mankind."

Romantics Fail to Change Facts

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tuesday the Church remembers St. Apollonia, a poor old lady who had all her teeth knocked out and was burned to death back in 249 A.D. This was in the city of Alexandria, when the pagan population was in a riotous frenzy of persecution against Christians.

★ ★ ★

Apollonia was only one of many good people who died violent deaths at this time, and the chances are she would have been forgotten long ago if her story had not been preserved in the writings of Dionysius, who was then Bishop of Alexandria.

The romantic-minded tried to change the facts by making the heroine a lovely young woman, a newly converted Christian whose father in anger turned her over to the authorities. This legendary version says she was tied to a pillar, and her teeth were extracted one by one with a crude pair of pincers, after which she was burned.

But that isn't the way it was. She was an old woman. Her teeth were knocked out (at her age she probably had far from a full set) during the general roughing up given captured Christians as a matter of routine.

★ ★ ★

A fire was built, and Apollonia was told to renounce her faith and go free or keep it and burn. Pretending to hesitate over the choice, Apollonia stood by the fire until all had grown quiet and at the height of this dramatic silence threw herself into the flame.

This brave action brings up, of course, the question of suicide. She knew they would burn her, but did she have any right to do it herself? St. Augustine, writing about it some years later, was not inclined to be too hard on Apollonia. Her leap into the fire, he said, happened because she was "kindled by the greater fire of the Holy Ghost."

St. Apollonia is, as you would expect, the patron saint invoked by sufferers from toothache. At one time or another this could include just about everybody. There is no saint with a larger potential clientele.

A GRISLY YARN

Even Alfred Hitchcock couldn't get away with such a story today, but in the Middle Ages the legend of St. Julian the Hospitaler was tremendously popular. In those days they had stronger stomachs, apparently. A good grisly yarn was relished by young and old.

★ ★ ★

Julian, the story goes, was a young nobleman who left home because someone prophecied he would someday murder his parents. He thought if he went away he could not possibly fulfill the ghastly prediction.

In another land the young man married and settled down into a normal and, one would guess, prosperous life. What he did not know was that all the time his parents were looking for him, following this trail and that, never giving up hope of a reunion with their beloved son.

All went well until one Saturday night, while Julian was on a journey, his parents arrived at his home, where, having established their identity, they were welcomed by Julian's wife. In fact, she overdid the red-carpet treatment. She gave them the bedroom she normally shared with Julian, and that was what brought about the horrible tragedy.

Sunlight Is Not Absorbed —It Converts Usefully

If as you contend the skin doesn't absorb anything what is the sense of going out in the sun? Is the sunshine vitamin the bunk, too? (M.V.)

Ans.—Sunlight converts sterols in the skin to viosterol, which is carried through the circulation to wherever it is needed. Nothing is absorbed.

DR. BRADY

Ans. — Some foods are less laxative than others, but no food is binding. A meal consisting entirely of cheese leaves little or no residue to stimulate peristalsis or the normal contractions of the intestine. No harm in a delay of a day or two.

Do you recommend food that supply the necessary oils for the joints? (A.W.)

Ans.—Nonsense. There is no oil in the joints.

Voice of the People

'This Is Kind of President Everyone Should Hope For'

I was pleased to read Kennedy's letter, though it was hardly called for. Anyone who consults The Pontiac Press among other chronicles is well aware that all issues regarding a Catholic candidate and his religion have been well explained if not repeated to the point of boredom.

★ ★ ★

As to the birth control proposals, no one has more vehemently and emphatically slammed the door than President Eisenhower. Were a Catholic president to make such statements, the indignant howls of Pontiac's religious bigots would resound clear to Washington.

★ ★ ★

I pray God will give us a President who's humble enough to get down on his knees to pray, intelligent enough to beg Him for guidance and wise enough to lead our country in this frightening age. It won't matter if he's Catholic, Protestant or Jew, so long as he's capable of carrying the burden.

Who are those who place more importance on where a man acquired his faith in God than the fact he has it and practices it to the detriment of no one?

'Age Doesn't Mean You Are Right'

To Seventy Three, in all due respect, wise up. Just because you're 73 doesn't mean you're always right. The next time roads are so icy that school buses don't run, why don't you get your spry self out and drive the children in your neighborhood to school?

★ ★ ★

I'd much rather have my children miss one or two days school and be safe at home than to send them on the bus and then visit them at the hospital.

'Winter's Midway With Little Cold'

Winter is just over half gone and we have had a warm, easy time. There have only been one or two ice storms and the temperature hasn't gone very low at any time. We've had many days when the mercury here has been within a few degrees of Miami. Hurrah for Michigan.

'An Extra Day Off Relaxes Our Mind'

If Seventy Three only had to go to school again, he would have a different idea on making school children go on slippery days. He'd find out that it would be a relief to have an extra day off from school once in a while to relax his mind.

The Country Parson

"Some folks seem to think the Lord gets his strength from chicken feed."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Urges More Livewires in Pulpit

Paul Flowers shows the type of talented laymen who not only has helped finance and steer his local churches, but who now is even stepping into the pulpit to improve its oratory. It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation and a lot of seminary students haven't the "current" even to startle snoring grandpa.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE D-472: Paul R. Flowers, of Marion, Indiana, served 37 years with the Railway Express Agency.

Recently, he retired from that job. And what do you suppose he picked as his new "hobby"?

Well, he had been an active "lay leader" of the Methodist Church for 30 years, so he has become the pastor of the two Methodist Churches at Whitewater and Middleboro.

CRANE

Since his charming wife has also been active in church work and especially missions, this couple is well qualified.

Indeed, many of us experienced laymen would like to see more pulpits occupied by men who had first proved themselves in other jobs in our American economic system.

Since hundreds of churches are closing their doors because of movie or TV competition, and 10,000 new churches are acutely needed in America today, we need to recruit more lay preachers like Paul Flowers.

Some staid denominations are growing too formalized. They try to "groove" all the young clergymen through a 3-year seminary training which often makes them poorer public speakers afterwards than they were when they first entered.

Personally, I have listened to scores of young preachers in a wide variety of denominational pulpits. These men were just out of college. And though they weren't professional orators, they could hold an audience pretty well because they stayed on the interest-level of the assembled farmers and small town folks.

SEMINARY FRILLS

But their church denominations have grown ritzy in modern times, so they insist that all young preachers MUST have 3 years at a seminary.

★ ★ ★

On the surface, that often seems wise. But at the seminaries they stress a lot of secondary items, such as the use of recessed choirs and candles and acolytes and ornate sanctuaries etc.

They are urged to delve into ancient scrolls and try to read Hebrew and Greek versions of the New Testament. Afterwards, they gleefully exclaim they have read the Scriptures "in the original Greek".

So what! It is inefficient to waste the time of 500 seminary students in that fashion when one good Greek scholar can translate the Gospels so they are quickly available in English.

Meanwhile, those clerics should salvage those wasted years studying Applied Psychology and other fields of Human Relations, including Homiletics.

For poor oratory is their chief handicap. And the Seminaries indirectly promote poorer oratory by making "library researchers" out of young clerics.

Instead, the students should be "human relations" experts. They should spend three months at house-to-house selling just to learn how to catch and hold attention.

The raw materials for every good sermon are seated right there in the sanctuary! So talk to the farmers and merchants, gas station attendants and barbers, school teachers and mothers, as well as squirming kids. Weave them into the sermon.

And orate so even the kids sit up and take notice! Many young seminarians can't hold an audience five minutes yet drone on for 35!

Stick to the simple A-B-C's of public speaking! Employ language suited to the average listener.

Stop within 20 minutes unless you are a crackerjack of an orator, which most of you definitely are NOT. So get hep to psychology and cut out a lot of the seminary folderol that is hampering modern churches.

Send for my booklet "How to Make an Interesting Speech," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It can fill your church faster than three years at a seminary.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Working' Girl Is Living It Up on Plushy Job

TORONTO (AP)— "Female genius required. Kind, benevolent boss wants punctual secretary to drive my Thunderbird," read the advertisement Frank Ogden ran only once on the comic page of Toronto papers. He got 237 replies.

★ ★ ★

The job went to Mrs. Sheila Courrier, 24, a blonde mother married to an office worker. She is working at Ogden's spacious, air-conditioned office, complete with hi-fi set and built-in bar, for a weekly salary of $60 "plus laughs."

The ad also said: "Give yourself a raise whenever you think you're worth it."

Writers Guild to OK Strike

Contracts With 3 TV Networks End Today; Talks Deadlocked

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Writers Guild of America says a strike against the three major networks probably will be approved Monday night.

The membership already has authorized a strike if negotiations fail. Contracts with CBS, NBC and ABC lapse today.

★ ★ ★

Negotiators are deadlocked. The Guild, speaking for 60 free-lance writers, demands continuing payment for repeated showings of television films and additional pay for U.S.-produced TV films shown in foreign countries.

★ ★ ★

A writers strike already has hit the major movie studios and television producers. Temporarily unaffected by the threatened strike are 300 writers on live radio-TV shows and a group known as staff writers. Their contracts expire March 31 and negotiations are expected to open next week.

Iran Ambassador and Wife—Hurrah

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — "The king is dead, long live the king" is as true of our ever-changing diplomatic corps as of European royalty.

Envoys and capitalites said a tearful farewell this week to popular Iranian Ambassador Ali Ardalan, but almost before his plane cleared the runway they were excitedly chattering about the Shah's son-in-law who is coming to replace him.

Nineteen-year-old Princess Shahnaz, only offspring of the thrice-married shah, will be by all odds the youngest and most royal of any embassy chatelaine.

Barely 16 when she married the future ambassador, she has an 18-months-old daughter who might have saved the shah from divorcing his beloved Soraya, if she had been a boy.

NIECE OF FAROUK

For that matter, the shah would probably still be married to Egyptian Princess Fawzia, if Princess Shahnaz had been a prince.

Child of his first marriage, she is a niece of roly-poly ex-King Farouk who was bounced out of the land of the Nile. Her own mother was cast off by the shah in 1948 for her failure to produce a male heir, but the little princess was lovingly reared at the royal palace in Tehran.

There she lived through her father's heartbreak of a second childless marriage, and remained to attend his lavish marriage last fall to pretty Farah Diba, an Iranian commoner who made good in the big league of royalty.

Sumptuous preparations are being made to receive Shahnaz and 32-year-old Ambassador Ardeshir Zahedi later this month. The embassy-row mansion which the Iranians purchased from millionaire former ambassador to France Amory Houghton 15 years ago will house the regal couple, but an even more fabulous chancery is under construction next door to provide additional entertainment space.

Already the Washington skyline is being altered by the structure, which boasts a spectacular dome of Middle Eastern ceramic tiles, over a Persian room crammed with priceless art, and an impressive ballroom.

The new marines will undergo 12 weeks of basic training at San Diego, Calif., and five weeks advanced combat training at Camp Joseph H. Pendelton, Oceanside, Calif.

Abby Advises GI

Wait—It's for a Very Long Hitch

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a GI in Korea. I have been here five months and have fallen in love with a Korean girl. (A guy can get very lonesome here.) I went to my First Sgt. to make application for a marriage certificate.

ABBY

He sent me to my commanding officer, who in turn sent me to the chaplain. The chaplain sent me to the division psychiatrist. Now, Abby, I am far from being crazy.

I love this girl and she loves me. I am 21 and old enough to know my own mind. The girl's past is questionable but she has reformed and I can overlook her past. I was no angel, either...Am I wrong??

PVT. PAUL

DEAR PVT.: Slow down, Soldier; If this is the kind of love that will last forever (and that's the only kind worth marrying for) it will last until you finish your hitch. If the girl has "reformed" and loves you, she won't object to your "sending for her" after you've returned home and had a chance to think bout it objectively.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a dedicated business man and works late at least three nights a week. Am I being unfair to object to his taking his very young and pretty secretary out to eat after she works overtime with him? It usually involves a delay which keeps him out until 1:30 a. m.

This is not a new situation. Unfortunately I am prejudiced because I married this divorced man as a result of working for him under exactly the same conditions.

EX-SECRETARY

DEAR EX: You won't teach this old dog any new tricks as long as the old ones work. Bring your feelings out into the open. He might interpret your silence as ignorance, indifference or approval.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Confident Living

Children Must Be Sent Along the Proper Path

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I don't know how many people will be reading this who saw Halley's Comet when it flashed through the skies back in 1912. But those of us who did see that amazing phenomenon will never forget it.

DR. PEALE

Halley's Comet is one of the most vivid of these boyhood recollections. I can see it yet, zooming dramatically across the sky, its long tail blazing behind it. I was 14 then, and when by father told me the comet would come in another 75 years, I asked, "Dad, do you think I'll be here to see it?"

"Well," he said, "I don't really know. But I don't want you to worry about whether you can hang on long enough to see Halley's Comet again. I want you to be concerned about the kind of man you are going to be in the course of your life however long or short it may be."

Not only our fathers but our teachers as well were interested in the kind of people we youngsters were going to be. Down the street from our house was the old Williams avenue school. I can still see, in my mind's eye, old Mr. Reeves, the enormous man who taught the fifth grade. And I can still remember the forcible application of his hand to the seat of my trousers. Unlike most modern pedagogues, he practiced the art of spanking—not because he was sadistic but for the good of the student. Mr. Reeves was a man and he was in the business of making men.

'SILENCE!'

There are other things he did, too, which might shock modern educators. In the midst of a lesson, he would thunder out "Silence!" And, when he said "Silence," there was silence, beyond question. Then he would go to the blackboard, pick up a piece of chalk and write in huge letters, "CAN'T." After this, he would turn around and glare at us.

We knew what to do. With united voice we would chant "Strike the 'T' off the 'CAN'T.'" Then with powerful stroke we would erase the 'T' leaving the word, "CAN."

"Let that be a lesson to you," he would tell us. "You are children of God living in free America and, with God's help, you can overcome any difficulties." Then he would add a phrase I've never forgotten. "You can when you think you can."

★ ★ ★

Most of us did overcome many difficulties and I feel very fortunate to have been one of his boys. When I think about my life in Cincinnati, I am impressed by the fact that two things seem to have produced the results which I hope to see in my own children.

The first was a school system in which fair but real discipline was not sacrificed to pedagogical experimentation.

And, even more important was a home in which there were parents who themselves lived a life of rectitude and honor and who knew how to pass on a sense of self-discipline to their children.

★ ★ ★

Parents have much to do with what a child becomes—and the kind of person he is going to be. Parents can develop a child into a strong person by applying discipline. And a child wants discipline. Disciplined people are strong people.

"ARE SINNERS SAVED BY PRAYER?"

Roosevelt Wells

In the religious world today we consistently hear the modern day preacher encouraging his hearers to pray. Certainly there is POWER in PRAYER when THE RIGHT PERSON PRAYS TO THE RIGHT BEING, otherwise PRAYER IS BUT A VAIN UTTERANCE AND AN EMPTY ECHO. Everyone cannot acceptably pray to God, for some prayers are said to be an abomination unto the Lord. Prov. 28:9. Inasmuch then that right prayer should be praying. Praying to any being will avail us nothing. (You will recall the prophets of Baal prayed to him but no avail, I Kings 18). With these matters before us, let us consider this question under four headings: 1. Whom will God hear? 2. Whom will God not hear? 3. Is salvation acquired today through the medium of prayer? 4. How is salvation acquired? In answering the question, WHOM WILL GOD HEAR?, our appeal is to the scriptures. God hears those who "keep His commandments, and do those things which are pleasing unto him." Jno. 3:22. He hears those who are worshippers of him and do His will. Jno. 9:31. He hears those who are righteous, 1 Pet. 3:12, Prov. 15:29. These references should be sufficient to reveal to the truth seeker that God hears those who have submitted themselves unto His will, who are right in His sight and who are saved according to His will.

WHOM WILL GOD NOT HEAR? The scriptures reveal that God will not hear those who, turn away their ears from hearing His law, Prov. 28:9. He will not hear those who are sinners, Jno. 9:31, see also Isa. 59:1, 2. He will not hear those who "do evil", 1 Pet. 3:12, Psalms 34:16. He will not hear those who regard iniquity in their hearts, Psa. 66:18. That the ideas expressed in these passages are at variance with the conceptions with many who teach on prayer, I am aware, yet the ideas of men who disagree with those herein expressed do not in any way invalidate the truth revealed nor does it set aside as brought the counsel of God.

IS SALVATION ACQUIRED TODAY THROUGH THE MEDIUM OF PRAYER? To this question we give an emphatic NO! No gospel preacher ever said to an alien sinner, "Kneel right down just where you are and ask the Lord to forgive you and He will save you then and there", yet this is being taught today but I ask where in the Bible example, where is the Bible verse? It has not been found and I venture to say it will not be found. Gospel preachers tell people to, "arise and be baptized," Acts 22:16. Gospel preachers tell people to, "repent and be baptized," Acts 2:38. Gospel preachers tell people to, "repent therefore and be converted," Acts 3:19. Gospel preachers tell people to, "believe and be baptized," Mark 16:16. What were you told?

HOW IS SALVATION ACQUIRED TODAY? It is acquired by obeying the gospel of Jesus Christ from the heart, Rom. 10:17, Heb. 5:9. This includes faith, repentance, confession, and baptism. Jno. 8:24, Acts 17:30, Rom. 10:10, Mk. 16:16, Acts 2:38. BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

Must Pull Trick to Meet Date

Civil Rights to Hang On

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights legislation apparently will ride into the Senate on the coattails of some House-passed bill not related to the explosive issue.

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) is committed to letting the Senate start its battle over civil rights measures on Feb. 15. An agreement on the timing was worked out in the dying hours of the last session of Congress.

But it appeared today that no bill on the subject will be available for the Senate to act on at that time and that it will be necessary to call up other legislation and to try to attach civil rights amendments to it.

The Senate Rules Committee concluded hearings Friday on measures to protect Negro voting rights. But Chairman Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo(said it would be impossible to have a meeting before Feb. 17 to act on the proposals.

Hennings, a staunch booster of civil rights legislation, said too many committee members will be away next week for Lincoln's Birthday speeches to have a representative meeting of the group.

Earlier hopes that the House would pass a civil rights bill and send it to the Senate before Feb. 15 have been virtually abandoned.

Johnson hasn't disclosed what course he will pursue under these circumstances, but other Senate sources said the only recourse appears to be to try to hook civil rights measures onto some minor bill already passed by the House.

Shooting in Mideast Stops Completely

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI)—An Israeli spokesman in Tiberias said today there had been no shooting for 24 hours in the tense Israeli-Syrian demilitarized zone south of the Sea of Galilee.

It was the longest period of quiet since the series of clashes broke out near the Arab village of Tawafik 10 days ago.

★ ★ ★

Israel was still waiting for a reply to its proposal yesterday for talks on "complete peace" with the United Arab Republic's northern (Syrian) region.

★ ★ ★

Lands at Willow Run but Can Find No Bomb

DETROIT (AP) — A bomb scare caused a Capital Airlines Viscount with 31 passengers aboard to make an unscheduled landing at Willow Run Airport last night.

Ike's Relaxing at Gettysburg — Arrived Friday

The President and his wife arrived at their country estate late Friday afternoon. They traveled the 85 miles from Washington by automobile in an hour and 40 minutes.

★ ★ ★

They made the trip in murky weather and scarcely were indoors at the farm in advance of a drenching rain which continued throughout the evening.

The Eisenhowers plan to drive back to the White House Sunday evening or Monday morning.

Holdup Boy 14, Caught Fleeing on Stolen Bike

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy held up a grocery store with a toy pistol Friday night, escaped with $60 but was captured making his getaway on a stolen bike.

★ ★ ★

Deputy T. S. Hood nabbed the boy a few minutes after the holdup. In the basket of the bicycle was a cap pistol and a sack of money he had taken from manager Earl Bridges.

★ ★ ★

Scant Chance for Building Bill?

Schools Lack Finance to Run Present Plants, Why Up Need?: Porter

LANSING (UPI)—The Legislature's senior budget-writer saw little chance today for passage of Gov. G. Mennen Williams' 150-million-dollar plan for new construction.

★ ★ ★

"If you don' thave enough money to operate the house you have, you shouldn't be looking for money to build a new one," said Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissified), 71, chairman of the Senate Aopropriations Committee and a lawmaker for 23 years.

However, there were indications the Republican-controlled Legislature would yield enough money to start some high priority projects.

Michigan has had a virtual moratorium on new construction for three years.

State Budget Director Frank M. Landers said it may be Tuesday or Wednesday before printers complete work on Williams' capital outlay program.

Landers said more than 100 million dollars would be sought for higher education and mental health facilities alone. The corrections departments asked for seven million dollars for new prison facilities.

Plan to Break Up 10th at Selfridge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 10th Air Force at Selfridge AFB is scheduled for abolition under a new reorganization plan of the U. S. Air Reserve.

The Air Force said yesterday it plans to organize about 30,000 Reservists into disaster type units to serve in the event of a mass atomic assault on this country.

The new program, scheduled to be in full effect by the end of this year, will shift the military training of about 100,000 Reservists, including those in Air National Guard units, from continental air command to such regular operating commands as the technical, air defense and air material commands.

J. L. VOORHEES

ADAPT

Man adapted to his environment and has prospered. Dinosaurs didn't and yet they ruled the world for a million years. These reptiles crept out of the slime, found lush food, ate and ate, became bigger and bigger, when the climate changed their food supply changed; instead of migrating — adapting — they perished. Man came, built shelters, adapted to new conditions, grew strong and prosperous. He, though much smaller, used his brain, drew plans, erected pyramids, cut stone figures a hundred times taller than himself, built ships, used ocean currents and wind to go where he pleases. This man dammed rivers to light cities, built a bridge across Golden Gate, erected buildings so high that one inch deviation at the base would have made them lean ten feet at the top. He flies, sails ships under water, talks thousands of miles, looks at pictures that came through the air. Man! What an astonishing creature he is — through adaptation.

Toledo Mall Raises Business by a Fourth

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—City Manager Clarence Elliott of Kalamazoo told the 12th annual management institute here Thursday that business in his city has increased 23 per cent since the installation of a mall in the downtown area.

Toledo, Ohio, City Manager Russell W. Rink also told the group of the success that the city had with its experiment with a temporary mall.

Elliott said that more leisurely shopping resulted from installation of the mall, boosting business, and that a side benefit of the project was the publicity the city received.

"Kalamazoo now has more prospects of new industry than it has had in the last 50 years," he said. "When you develop downtown you find more people are interested in the entire city."

★ ★ ★

The Toledo mall was only temporary, Rink said, but a $100,000 permanent mall has been discussed.

Discussing how the temporary mall had boosted business and given the city wide publicity, Rink said that thousands of visitors came to see and take pictures of the Toledo mall.

"Probably more photographic film was sold in a month than had been previously sold in a year," he said.

State Property Tax Up $1.60 a Thousand

LANSING (AP)—The average property tax in Michigan rose $1.60 per $1,000 of assessed valuation last year, the State Tax Commission reported Friday.

The 1959 rate was $35.06 compared with $33.46 the year before.

The average rate determines the tax the State Board of Assessors will levy against railroads, telephone and telegraph companies, car loaning companies and other similar firms.

Statewide, taxes jumped $45,389,055 to $741,260,317.

School taxes accounted for nearly half of the total—$389,000,342. Cities levied about 31 per cent of the total, counties 17 per cent and townships 1.4 per cent.

Supreme Court Halts Red Cases

Postpones Until Oct. 10 Three Major Decisions on Communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an unexpired action the Supreme Court has postponed until Oct. 10 arguments on three major cases involving communism.

★ ★ ★

Justice Clark disagreed with Friday's postponement.

"It delays for another year decisions on two important acts of Congress — the Smith Act and the Internal Security Act of 1950," his statement said.

The three cases are:

1. The Communist party's appeal from a decision that it must register as an agent of the Soviet Union under the Internal Security Act.

★ ★ ★

2. The conviction of Junius Irving Scales under the membership clause of the Smith Act, which makes it a crime to belong to a group knowing that it advocates violent overthrow of the government.

3. A similar Smith Act membership conviction of John Francis Noto.

★ ★ ★

Constitutional questions are involved in all three cases. They will now be argued when the court opens its next term.

Would Punish, Fine for Broadcast Fakery

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Michigan congressman says he will introduce a bill to make rigging and deception on television or radio a crime punishable by two years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

★ ★ ★

Rep. John B. Bennett, ranking Republican member of the committee that investigated phony quiz shows last year, said Friday "my bill provides for fines and jail sentences for any persons, licensees, producers, advertisers, sponsors and others—who knowingly and intentionally set out to deceive or defraud the listening or viewing public."

★ ★ ★

Bennett said he also would offer a bill to allow the Federal Communications commission to suspend broadcasting licenses for limited times. At present the FCC can only revoke licenses permanently.

Chessman Bid Due Monday

Convict-Author Will Learn If Death Stay Is Granted Again

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Convict-author Caryl Chessman, in death row for 11½ years, must wait until Monday to find out if his latest bid for a stay of execution has succeeded.

★ ★ ★

Chief Justice Richard H. Chamber of the U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals said Friday he would decide by Monday morning whether to send Chessman's case back to the appeals court.

★ ★ ★

If the appeal is granted, Chessman, 38, will not keep his Feb. 19 date with death in the San Quentin, Calif., gas chamber for the 1948 kidnaping with bodily harm of two Los Angeles women. Seven previous execution dates have been postponed.

★ ★ ★

If it isn't granted, Chessman's attorneys plan to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court for a 14th time.

Chambers will base his decision on a weekend study of the 5,000-page transcript of Chessman's original trial, many other documents presented during a hearing Friday, and the latest views of attorneys for the State of California and the condemned man.

Hidden Sniper Wounds Two

Police Without Clue; Search Empire State Building Area

NEW YORK (AP) — A mysterious sniper wounded two pedestrians Friday at an entrance to the Empire State Building. The shootings took place over a span of three hours.

Both victims were in good condition after treatment. More than 40 policemen searched the busy area in midtown Manhattan without finding a clue.

Shortly before 11 a.m., the first victim, Mrs. Kathleen Cleary, 46, of Brooklyn, was nearing the 34th Street entrance to the world's tallest building when she heard what she thought was a firecracker. She felt a sharp pain in her hip.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Cleary continued on to a branch bank in the building. She is employed by a Wall Street branch of the same bank and had been sent to the Empire State branch to help out there.

At 1:50 p.m. Knute Kyvyk, 59, also of Brooklyn, a messenger employed in the building, was nearing the same entrance — just 50 yards from Fifth Avenue — when he felt a sting in his left shoulder. Not until he got home and took off his shirt did he discover the bullet wound.

★ ★ ★

Kyvik was taken to Long Island College Hospital. It appeared that a small-caliber bullet had pierced his shoulder from the rear, coming out in the front.

EXTENDING THE UMBRELLA — The Air Force has added four more states to its Atlas missile base plan — New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and New York (see Newsmap above). Seven other bases were previously announced. The new bases, costing 47 million dollars each, will provide 36 more launching sites for the 5,000-mile-plus intercontinental ballistic missile. The 11 bases will be home for 13 missile squadrons (three of them at Warren AFB), with each squadron manned by 700 members of the Strategic Air Command.

Billy Says: 'Nicest Offering'

Lepers Save Pennies, Give Cash to Graham

KADUNA, Nigeria (AP)—Billy Graham has received what he calls "the nicest offering to Christ I have ever known" — two African pound notes from a leper.

★ ★ ★

Miss Phoebe Lewsey, a British missionary who operates the colony, said the donation to the Graham Crusade represented months of saving by the lepers.

The evangelist, deeply touched, thanked the donors through an interpreter and warmly shook hands.

★ ★ ★

Graham earlier flew to Kontagora to dedicate a Baptist hospital costing $1,176,000. The money was supplied by the Southern Baptist Convention of America.

Dr. J. E. Low of Commerce, Tex., will head the staff.

Graham said the hospital "will be open to all people regardless of race, color or creed."

★ ★ ★

Returning to Kaduna, he met briefly with the Sardauna of Sokoto, the leader of 18 million Nigerians in the country's northern region. The population is predominantly Moslem.

★ ★ ★

The Sardauna told Graham that "some, missionaries engage too much in politics and poke their noses in the wrong places. I am dedicated to Allah (God) and must do as he dictates."

Graham explained his missionary work and said "Christ is directing me."

Soustelle May Battle De Gaulle

Ousted Official a Likely Leader for Right Wing Opposition on Algeria

PARIS (UPI) — Former Vice Premier Jacques Soustelle merged today as the likely leader of a strong rightwing opposition to the Algerian policies of President Charles de Gaulle.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle fired Soustelle, a longtime Gaullist, in the Cabinet shakeup yesterday. Bernard Cornut-Gentille also was dismissed as minister of post and telegraphs.

Two ministers were "kicked upstairs" and three new men brought into the cabinet in the reshuffle to eliminate Cabinet members who wavered during the French settlers' insurrection in Algeria.

The new Cabinet met under De Gaulle yesterday to map out measures to prevent any recurrence of the eight-day uprising, triggered by opposition to his "self-determination" program for Algeria.

Three of the ministers will leave later today for Algiers for an on-the-spot investigation of the situation. Dispatched by De Gaulle were new Armed Forces Minister Pierre Messmer, Interior Minister Pierre Chatenet and Justice Minister Edmond Michelet.

De Gaulle has been armed with special powers by parliament to cope with opposition to his Algerian program.

Soustelle, 48, had been a supporter of De Gaulle since the Free French days of World War II. He played a leading role in the 1958 revolt which restored De Gaulle to power.

★ ★ ★

But Soustelle was one of the leading advocates of a "soft" policy toward the French insurgents in Algeria. He also was reported to have urged De Gaulle to modify his Algerian policies.

Hoover, Schmoover, the Fine Is Still $5

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Names don't make any difference to Justice of the Peace Lou Cochran. He fined J. Edgar Hoover $5 on a charge of permitting an unauthorized person to drive his automobile.

The name was authentic, but this J. Edgar Hoover was not related to the chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

He's 'Deeply Indebted' to 'Cool' New Bank

By a Greenwich Village, N. Y., visitor — "Cool, man, cool."

By a little girl — "If mama lets me make an investment, I would."

By a Tucson attorney — "I am deeply grateful and indebted to your fine bank."

Old WW I Army Mule Won't Even Fade Away

Jack, for example, is a World War I veteran whose age is estimated at 55—almost twice the life span of the average mule. He's graying and rheumatic but still pulls a plow for owner J. Edward Naylor.

Air Force Man Bewails Low Spot With Missiles

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is committed to second place in the missile race, at least until the end of 1961, says a key Air Force general, and nothing can be done now to change it.

Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Force's Research and Development Command, said Friday he had pleaded in 1958 and 1959 for more missiles.

But it takes two years to get increased production of missiles, Schriever said, and two years from now new and better missiles should be ready for production. So it is useless now to urge more production of the present generation of rocket weapons, he indicated.

"Increasing the number of missiles in your inventory isn't like turning a faucet on or off," he told the House Space Committee. "We are committed now to the number of missiles we'll have for the next two years."

The United States and the Soviet Union are about equal now in the number of missiles, Schriever said.

"But next year, if our intelligence estimates are correct, they will have superiority in numbers," he added.

Even so, Schriever said, this does not mean the U.S.S.R. will have more over-all military strength.

"You can't equate the total deterrent position with the number of missiles," he said.

Schriever lined up with Gen. Thomas S. Power, head of the Strategic Air Command, in urging funds for keeping a large number of armed bombers in constant flight to avoid being destroyed on the ground by any sneak attack.

★ ★ ★

Power was rebuked by President Eisenhower for taking a "parochial" attitude. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. and Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, have said Power's view is unrealistic. They have defended the defense budget.

Kennedy to Try W. Va. Primary

Will Battle Humphrey There; Renews Own Indiana Challenge

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) has accepted a challenge to run in West Virginia's presidential primary and has renewed his own challenge in Indiana.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy formally filed early today as a candidate for Democratic nomination for president in West Virginia's May 10 primary, assuring a head-on clash with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) who filed Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy noted this when he filed, but he said he is still extremely anxious to run in the popularity contest because he considers West Virginia is a good cross section.

★ ★ ★

"Besides," he added, "Sen. Humphrey has issued a challenge, and I'm delighted to oblige him."

A few hours earlier at Terre Haute, Ind., Kennedy had repeated his challenge to other Democratic hopefuls to meet him in the Indiana primary May 3.

Synagogue Defacers Get Jail Sentences

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Two young Germans who touched off a worldwide wave of anti-Jewish outburts by the Christmas Eve desecration of the Cologne Synagogue were sent to jail today by the State Court here.

★ ★ ★

Arnold Strunk, 25, a baker, who said he had defaced the temple to draw attention to the "Jewish danger to the Germanic race," was sentenced to a year and two months.

★ ★ ★

Paul Schoenen, 25, and apprentice clerk, was given a 10-month term for assisting Strunk and talking him into smearing a monument to Nazi victims because he felt it was "soiling the honor of the German people."

Dentists Asking Bill Against Illegal Labs

LANSING (AP) — A spokesman for organized dentists says the Michigan Dental Laboratory Assn. supports a dentist-backed bill in the Legislature to put new restrictions on laboratories.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John G. Nolen, legislative representative for the Michigan State Dental Assn., said purpose of the bill has been misunderstood. He said it would take away business only from illegal laboratory practitioners.

★ ★ ★

Under the bill pending in the Senate, the prescription from a dentist required before a laboratory can make or repair a denture would have to be put in writing.

Barrel Requirements

WASHINGTON—A standard barrel as required by the United States must have a capacity of 7,056 cubic inches.

Protestant Mag Against Catholic for President

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Protestant magazine has come out against a Roman Catholic as president, saying "the Vatican does all in its power to control the governments of nations, and in the past and present it has often succeeded."

"A candidate may announce, and even sincerely believe, that he is immune to Vatican pressure," said the biweekly Christianity Today in an editorial. "But can we be sure that he will not succumb in the confessional booth to threats of purgatory and promises of merit from the organization which he believes to hold the keys of heaven?"

Christianity Today, published here, says it has the largest circulation — 160,000 — of any journal of the Protestant ministry.

U.N. Develops 16 Basic Rules to Safeguard Beliefs (or Lack)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations has come up with a set of 16 rules or basic principles for safeguarding man's right to be a believer or non-believer in religion.

They could be the basis for an international treaty designed to protect such rights.

The principles were drafted by Arcot Krishnaswami, a scholarly Indian lawmaker, after more than three years of study authorized by a 14-member U.N. subcommission on prevention of discrimination and protection of minorities.

They were examined exhaustively at a three-weeks session of the subcommission just concluded here and put in final form for eventual consideration by the U.N. General Assembly.

It is the subcommission's hope that the rules can serve as a set of guiding principles for governments before agreement is reached on an international treaty.

One rule says parents or legal guardians shall have the prior right to decide upon the religion or belief in which their child should be raised.

In the case of a child who has been deprived of its parents, their expressed or presumed wish should be taken into account, but with the best interests of the child the guiding principle.

★ ★ ★

Another rule says no one should be compelled to receive religious or atheistic instruction contrary to his conviction, or in the case of children, contrary to the wishes of their parents or guardians.

★ ★ ★

The rules call for taking due account of each religion or belief in respect to holidays or days of rest.

They say that in countries where conscientous objection to military service is recognized, exemptions should be granted in a way that will ensure that no adverse distinction based on religion or belief may result.

Members of the subcommission served as experts and not as policy - making representatives. But the debate reflected policies of their individual homelands at times.

Mrs Z.V. Mironova, the Soviet expert, objected at one point that Krishnaswami's report did not pay sufficient attention to discrimination against atheists.

Justice Philip Halpern of Buffalo, N.Y., the U.S. expert, declared the Soviet Union bars teaching of religion in private educational institutions, and he sought safeguards against such practices.

In addition to the United States and the Soviet Union, the experts came from the United Arab Republic, Lebanon, Uruguay, Britain, Philippines, France, Poland, India, Austria, Sudan, Finland and Chile.

Dogs Aiding Scientific Study

Doctors Borrow Legs

★ ★ ★

For six years Soviet surgeons have registered remarkable success in amputating dog's legs, preserving them for about a day, and returning them to the dog.

★ ★ ★

Now they have also had success with an internal organ, the kidney, Dr. Lapchinsky told a New York Academy of Sciences meeting on transplantation.

★ ★ ★

As with the dog's legs, the kidneys are apparently not harmed by their vacation from the dog's body.

It may some day mean, Lapchinsky told news men earlier, that maimed human limbs could be amputated, repaired and joined back to the victim again.

A recent attempt by U.S. doctors to restore an almost completely severed limb to an injured worker failed. The leg later had to be amputated.

Every member of the 12-man varsity squad saw action and nine of them scored as the Chiefs lambasted Flint Central, 77-44, in a Saginaw Valley Conference game at the PCH gymnasium.

It was close only during the 1st quarter, then coach Art Van Ryzin's hot-shooting warriors broke the contest wide open and breezed to their 8th triumph of the season in 10 starts.

The Chiefs trailed five times in the 1st period, once by four points, before bagging six straight points in the last minute to gain a 20-15 lead entering the 2nd stanza.

It was never a contest after that. The Chiefs poured 25 points through the hoop in the 2nd session for a commanding 45-26 halftime edge and the rest was merely frosting on the cake.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's lead zoomed to 61-32 at the end of the 3rd quarter and Joe Dowdy's Flint Indians were behind by 35 points, 67-32, early in the 4th period before Van Ryzin emptied his bench.

The 77-point splurge represents Pontiac's greatest offensive effort of the 1959-60 campaign, the best previous effort being a 69-point spree here Jan. 8 when PCH defeated Bay City Central.

Runnerup Flint Northern stayed right on Pontiac's heels last night and virtually eliminated Arthur Hill from further title contention by whipping the Hillites, 58-42, at Flint. Saginaw High trounced Bay City, 72-60, at Saginaw in the other league game.

Henry Robertson, Bill Pritchett and George Fed were the ringleaders in yesterday's runaway win for the Chiefs.

Robertson served notice that he's rounding into the top form after his recovery from a broken wrist by firing 18 points to capture individual game scoring honors. Pritchett came next with 17 and Fed contributed 14.

★ ★ ★

The Robertson-Pritchett-Fed trio accounted for all but two of the 25 points in the 2nd stanza with the agile Fed netting nine and Robertson eight.

★ ★ ★

It was a miserable evening for Valley scoring leaders. Flint Central's Jack Rashleigh, the loop's top scorer entering yesterday's game, was held to six points. Pontiac's Booker Hurner, who went into the contest tied for 2nd place, tallied only two points and fouled out late in the 3rd stanza.

Not a single Flint Central player broke into double figures in the scoring column. Nine points by Jim Copeland topped the Indian scoresheet. Dowdy also used 12 cagers and nine scored.

The 1st quarter was a see-saw affair with Flint enjoying a 10-6 edge midway through the session. Pontiac took the lead for keeps in the final minute on a field goal and two foul shots by Pritchett. Then the romp began.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The victory was Pontiac's 2nd over the Indians this season and snapped a two-game losing skein for the Chiefs. It was the 8th straight loss for the Indians, leaving them stuck in the Valley basement with a 1-7 mark and 1-10 altogether.

Northern Sure of Inter-Lakes Title Tie

Waterford Falls; Walled Lake Wins

By DICK BUCK

One rut sometimes leads to another.

So it shouldn't be surprising that Waterford extended its losing streak to six straight by bowing to Southfield 75-60.

The final score is no true indication of most of the game, which was close until early in the 4th quarter.

★ ★ ★

The Bluejays literally broke the Skippers' hearts — on eight breakaways during the game good for 16 uncontested points. This was one point more than the margin of victory.

Walled Lake meanwhile continued its upswing in the league by nipping Farmington 61-59 when Bill Allen dropped in two foul shots with 40 seconds to play.

Harvey Chapman's fielder tied the score 59-59 just a moment earlier. Farmington tied the score several times in the second half but never managed the lead.

The victory moved Walled Lake into second place in the league behind Northern which has virtually clinched the title with a 7-0 mark.

Chapman finished with 25 while Allen had 19 for the winners.

Two Southfield players, John Van Brunt and Ed Schlaff, combined to score only nine points less than the entire Skipper quintet. Van Brunt bucketed 26 points and Schlaff 25.

The hosts spotted Waterford an early 8-2 lead, but quickly came back to go ahead, 12-9, midway through the 1st period.

Waterford came back after trailing 27-21 at the midpoint of the 2nd stanza to again tie the score, 28-28, with a minute left in the half.

Stigers was sidelined briefly just before the intermission by a knee injury. He came out in the 2nd half with the knee taped and seemed a bit hampered on defense. He still managed to score seven of his 15 points in that 2nd half.

The Skippers continued their pattern of giving Southfield a lead and then fighting back into a tie in the 3rd period. After trailing 41-35, Waterford's Jerry Lewis knotted the count once more at 43 apiece with 3:50 left in the 3rd period.

Then came the 4th stanza. And the roof fell in on Waterford.

Southfield seemingly could do almost no wrong with their shooting, particularly the two big guns, Van Brunt and Schlaff. Van Brunt dropped eight and Schlaff 10 points in the high-powered final session.

Huskies Trounce Berkley 51-38 for 7th Straight

By CHUCK ABAIR

Pontiac Northern blew hot and cold all the way but still had little trouble posting a 51-38 triumph at Berkley to wrap up at least a share of the Inter-Lakes championship last night.

It was the Huskies seventh straight league victory. A win in any of the three remaining loop contests will give PNH its first I-L trophy in any sport in this opening season.

Walled Lake, currently strong, remains the only team with a chance to catch Dick Hall's cagers. They clash at the Viking court next Friday so it could be settled right then and there.

Northern will be pushing hard for a sweep of the final trio in hopes of having a perfect league record as against what is expected to be a winless "outside" finish.

PNH will have to show a great deal more than it did last night to give the powerful Chiefs any trouble. They played in spurts at Berkley.

The game was all Northern after it was deadlocked 7-7 with 4:20 gone on the clock. The quarter ended 14-7 and winners pulled away to stay.

A seven-point spree by aggresive Steve Thompson made it 23-8 midway into the second period. It was cut down to 26-16 at halftime as new Berkley scoring ace Ken Martins started to find the range.

Northern came roaring out from the intermission to go ahead by 17 before Berkley got going again. Another streak by the Red and White put it back to 17 at 39-22 starting the fourth.

Every time Berkley would start fighting back trying to make a game out of it the Huskies would catch fire, get the points back, and then coast along again.

The closest the graduation-riddled Bears got in the closing eight minutes was 11 despite the efforts of Martin, who finished with 20. He made seven of 10 floor shots after starting out 1-for-9.

A well-worked Northern zone prevented the home club from getting many easy shots and the rebound work of Thompson, Dennis Vincent and newcomer Bill Sekelich didn't allow many second chances.

Thompson topped the Huskies with 15 followed closely by Bruce Norton's 14—11 in the initial half. They had a 33.3 field goal shooting percentage to Berkley's 24.

Eleventh Rated North County 5 Defeats Imlay

Win Gives Blackhawks Loop Lead; Showdown Next Week

Hoping to regain some of the prestige it lost in the state Class C ratings by losing to Millington last week, Ortonville put together a big 4th quarter to defeat Imlay City, 63-59, in a South Central League game last night.

The victory gave Ortonville a half game lead over idle Oxford in the league and made ready for the big showdown game next week at Oxford.

"It looked like curtains for the 11th ranked Blackhawks as Imlay ran up a 13 point lead midway in the third quarter, but a full court press finally brought the score to 52-52 with four minutes to play.

A bucket by Jim Hutchings gave Ortonville the lead 55-53 and at 59-57 Earl Richardson came through with a 3-pointer to break it open for Ortonville with 30 seconds left.

Hutchings who got 23 points, collected 13 of them in the final quarter. Richardson got 20 and Myers 18. Pete Brabb's 23 paced Imlay.

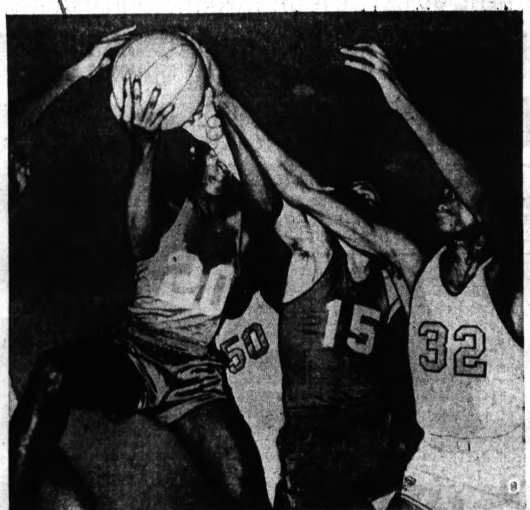

Ortonville is now 9-1 for the season and 5-1 in the league. Oxford is 4-1 in the SCL.

In another league game last night, Millington shoved North Branch deeper into the basement with a 50-48 victory. Ned Lockwood's 13 paced the winners with Ralph Deshetsky getting 14 for North Branch.

EML Has Four Way Tie

For the 4th straight basketball night, the lead in the Eastern Michigan League has changed.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham, Ferndale, Port Huron and East Detroit are all back in a four-way tie for first place after each had enjoyed short-lived leadership at one time during the past three weeks.

Ferndale routed East Detroit, the leader prior to last night, 73-42; Birmingham bounced Hazel Park, 61-53, and Port Huron spanked hapless Royal Oak Kimball, 57-33.

The Maples led 41-21 and never were in trouble except for a third period drought when Hazel Park got 14 straight points to move within 43-39. Birmingham got only two points in the period, but then pulled away in the final quarter.

Merv Gallup was the Birmingham pacesetter with 20 while three Hazel Park players each got 17 and accounted for all but two of the total points. Jim Zeiter, Bob Fulcher and Bill Boldt each had 17.

Ferndale avenged an earlier loss to East Detroit with Dennis Stinson pouring in 30 points, his highest output of the season. Not an East Detroit player managed to hit double figures.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham's visit to Port Huron next week could be the eliminating game for one of the teams as Ferndale and East Detroit each have easier games against Hazel Park and Mt. Clemens.

Rochester 60-46 Tri-County Winner

Falcons Delay Romeo's Title March

Any ideas Romeo had of running away with the Tri-County League basketball championship were squelched by Rochester last night.

Gene Konley's Falcons went on a scoring binge in the 4th quarter at Rochester and handed Romeo a convincing 60-46 defeat, the 1st league setback in four games for the Bulldogs.

The home court also was friendly to Lapeer yesterday as the Panthers trounced L'Anse Creuse, 67-48, in the other Tri-County contest.

Rochester's triumph, engineered by the 27-point scoring spree of Bill Mason, brought at least a temporary halt to Romeo's rapid run for the title.

Romeo now leads the conference race with a 3-1 record while Lapeer and Rochester are tied for 2nd place at 2-2. L'Anse Creuse stands 1-3. Each team has two loop games remaining.

The Rochester-Romeo game was close until the 4th quarter. The two teams battled through a see-saw 1st half and were never more than four points apart with Romeo holding a 24-23 halftime lead.

Rochester moved ahead for keeps in the 3rd period and at one time led by seven points, but the Bulldogs kept plugging away and the Falcons were in front by only three entering the finale, 39-36.

With Mason steering the attack, Rochester broke the contest wide open in the 4th period by outscoring the Bulldogs, 21-10. Mason bagged 11 of his 27 points in the final stanza as the Falcons pulled steadily away.

Bill Deneen contributed 17 points to the Rochester offense as the Falcons posted their 3rd win of the season in 10 starts. Jim Ritter paced Romeo with 16 points and teammate Larry Leto added a dozen. The loss gave Romeo an overall 5-6 record.

Lapeer had no trouble disposing of L'Anse Creuse for its 2nd victory in 11 tries. The Panthers jumped off to a 19-7 1st-period advantage and led all the way, outscoring L'Anse in every quarter.

Tom Connors, Dick Schuerin and Art Dennis were Lapeer's heavy scoring artillery with 19, 17 and 14 points, respectively. Don Meldrum netted 15 for L'Anse, whose overall record now reads 1-11.

Armada Closer to Crown

Armada moved closer to the Southern Thumb League crown last night by handing its closest competitor, Almont, a 76-53 setback.

Two other nip and tuck games featured league play as Memphis edged Dryden 47-46, and Capac nipped Brown City, 44-43. Anchor Bay bounced New Haven, 59-50 in the other contest.

Two foul shots in last five second by John Staniloiu won for Capac after Jerry Snyder had put Brown City ahead, 43-42, on a free throw. Bill Abraham had 15 for the winners and John Liebler 12 for Brown City.

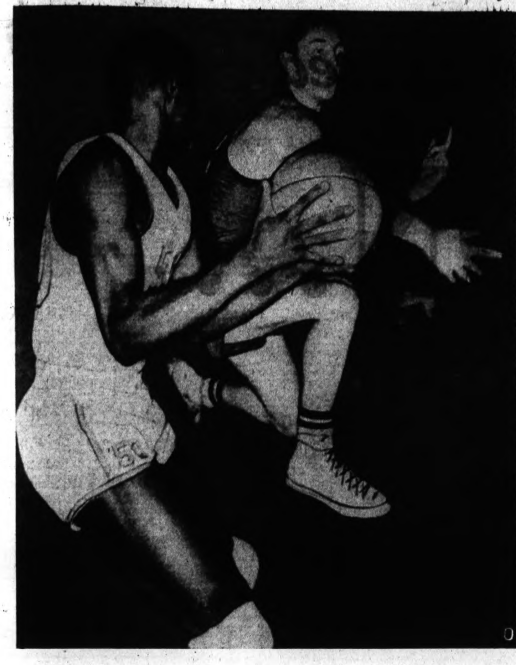

★ ★ ★

Dryden held a 43-42 lead with only 45 seconds to play but four personals and a technical helped the Memphis cause.

Hildred Lewis and Ken Stahl had 10 for Memphis, Carl Gronden 14 for Dryden.

Milford Dumps Brighton, 49-46; Wolves Romp

Clarenceville Comes Alive Again to Regain 1st

The big shuffle continues in the W yne-Oakland League.

Clarenceville has regained possession of the league lead by downing Northville, 69-55; Holly continued to falter downward by dropping a 60-54 verdict to Bloomfield Hills; Milford continued its move upward surprising Brighton, 49-46 and Clarkston had a hot shooting night in whipping West Bloomfield, 87-69.

It was Holly's third straight defeat. The Broncos, once a strong contender for the W-O crown, never had the lead as the Hills had a margin of 16 points in the third quarter.

Milford grabbed a 23-20 halftime lead and a full court press got Brighton within three in the final quarter but the Redskins stayed in control all the way.

The loss dumped Brighton out of a tie, putting Clarenceville on top all alone.

After a 15-14 lead going into the second stanza, Clarenceville pulled away and ran the margin to 18 in the 4th quarter.

Tony Giacobazzi had 22 and Ron Warren 16 for Clarenceville while Don Atchinson got 19 for the losers.

Clarkston had its best shooting night of the year as the Wolves gave indication of jelling into a strong unit.

Bill Powell and Bob Porritt poured in 25 and 23 respectively and got double figures from Rich Caverly with 15 and Larry Landon with 12.

Reliable Denis Alix again led the Lakers with 21 while three others made 10 each.

Clarkston had a 43 per cent shooting effort for the evening.

Clarenceville holds the top spot with a 6-2 league mark, followed by Brighton 5-3, and Milford, Holly, and Clarkston all at 4-4.

Golden Gloves Finals Tonight

Fighters Aim for Crack at State Tourney

Pontiac and Port Huron fighters make up the bulk of tonight's program, although other boxers in the heavier open classes are expected from Detroit.

Pontiac is one of six cities staging the Golden Gloves regionals. Winners at these sites will go on to Grand Rapids for the state championships Feb. 12-13.

Last week in the preliminaries, six Pontiac and seven Port Huron fighters scored victories to allow them to enter tonight's finals.

As it appears, local fighters may be forced to eliminate each other as is noted in the welterweight novice class where three are from Pontiac.

Port Huron's Charles Lloyd, who won twice last week in prelims, may have to go against Mike Kidd of Port Huron who defeated Frank Brown of Pontiac last week.

The program is scheduled to start at 8:00 p.m. and tickets will be available at the PCH gym windows.

This is the second annual tournament sponsored by the Pontiac area Jaycees and many of the local fighters are products of the Jaycee gym which has been open year round to allow interested boys to train.

TONIGHT'S PAIRINGS

Novice Featherweight — Chester Rutledge vs Earl Howell, both of Port Huron.

Russell Sets Game Mark at 51

King of NBA Rebounders

By The Associated Press

Russell set a one game record for rebounds which he hauled down 51 last night in helping the Boston Celtics to a 124-100 victory over Syracuse. He also held the old record of 49.

St. Louis breezed to a 114-96 victory over Minneapolis in the only other game played.

So far this season, Russell, the 6-foot-10 center of the Celts, has trailed the 7-1 Chamberlain in total rebounds and average, but Wilt (The Stilt) never has approached the one-game performance mark.

Both are a cinch to break Russell's season mark of 1,564 and his per game average of 22.7, both set in 1957. Chamberlain has averaged 28.9 and Russell 23.5 with just a bit more than two-thirds of the season completed. Going into this week's play, Chamberlain had 1,443 and Russell 1,202.

Russell, who complained of a charley horse in his left leg before the game, also scored 23 points. The Celts scored 43 points in the second period to outclass the Nats, with Frank Ramsey leading all the scorers with 25 points. Dick Barnett and George Yardley each tallied 19 for the Nats.

Bob Pettit scored 31 points and Cliff Hagan 27 to pace the Hawks, who won their fourth in a row, and handed Minneapolis its fifth straight loss. Elgin Baylor of the Lakers topped all scorers with 36.

City Parochials Hit Skids

Eaglets' Wings Clipped, 52-38, by St. Benedict

Rams, Shamrocks Losers Despite Strong, but Late Rallies

By H. GUY MOATS

The broom of defeat swept cleanly over all three Pontiac parochial basketball clubs last night.

Orchard Lake St. Mary, turning in its lowest-scoring effort of the season, to all intents and purposes, bowed out of the Suburban Catholic title race 52-38, leaving St. Benedict all alone at the top. Ravens, off their record (10-1), should have little trouble holding the title spot.

Eaglets were defending champions.

For the 4th time this winter, St. Michael absorbed a defeat on the strength of opponents' charity tosses. St. James fired 21-31, against Shamrocks' 9-21 to win, 67-57.

St. Frederick also fell victim to a St. Rita club, 65-58 on the basis of free throw superiority. Vikings converted 29-42, Rams 18-31.

Each SCL club has one game left. The big one, with only local prestige at stake, is Shamrocks vs. Rams, Tuesday night at Pontiac Central High gymnasium. Mikemen won the first collision between the clubs this winter, but may run into a fired-up foe this time.

ROSM will be at Orchard Lake for Eaglets' finale on Tuesday night.

An early Eaglet lead of 8-2 evaporated as the Ravens got under way with a 9-point run to take over at Highland Park, 11-8 at the end of the opener, on four goals and a foul shot. OLSM trailed 10 points at halftime and never caught up with the flying Ravens.

Glenn Hass had a good night, with 16, tops for the game, followed by Ravens' Eddie Everhardt with 15 and Art Massucci with 12.

Absence of Pat Campbell, who didn't make the trip to St. Rita because of illness hurt the Shamrocks who made a great last period rally to cut down a big St. James edge that followed a 22-7 splurge. Tom Dabbs led the rally with 13 of the 23 total. Tom had 24 for the night, George Drake 23, but Neil Kiernan's 27 for Dales was tops.

Rams fell victim to a similar situation. Playing one of their best games of the season, Gene Wright's club couldn't offset a 29-18 free throw margin, despite getting more field goals. Mike Reed with 21, Ted Dobski with 11 and Jack O'Reilly with 10 scored well, but Rams lost Mike and Jack on fouls in the last few minutes with a big rally under way. They came within four points, but fell back, on a 22-14 splurge.

Adams Doesn't Want Kelly, McNeil Back

Howe Moves to Wings Defense Spot

TORONTO, Ont. (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings, who lost the services of two players when they tried to trade Red Kelly and Billy McNeill, will play Gordie Howe on defense tonight in an effort to fill the gap.

In effect, the Red Wings completed a two-for-nothing trade when they agreed to send Kelly and McNeill to the New York Rangers for forward Eddie Shack and veteran defenseman Bill Gadsby.

Both Kelly and McNeill refused to go to New York and announced they were quitting hockey. The Rangers immediately called off the deal and took Shack and Gadsby back to New York with them.

Kelly, writing for the Toronto Star, said he would be "interested in coaching and I've been talking to some people about it," indicating he would not change his mind about retiring.

Red Wing general manager Jack Adams said he would not take Kelly and McNeill back even if they agreed to return. He asked to have them suspended, a move which would take them off the Red Wing payroll.

But National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell, after talking with Kelly and McNeill, indicated he was hopeful something still might be worked out.

Campbell asked Adams to let the players have a little more time — at least 24 hours — to think over their decisions and let them have a chance to change their minds.

Detroit coach Sid Abel said he would move Howe to defense for several turns to help fill the gap left by Kelly and would probably call up rookie defenseman Lloyd Haddon from Edmonton on an emergency basis to bolster the Detroit defense. No replacement for McNeill was planned, however.

★ ★ ★

The Wings play the Maple Leafs here tonight and then move on to Chicago for a game Sunday night.

Kelly, in the story he wrote, said his main feeling over the club's decision to trade him was one of being "hurt."

"I was hurt that the Red Wings would decide to trade me after more than 12 seasons with them," he said. "Hurt that I would have to leave the game that has been my whole life when I think I could be useful for two or three years yet."

Finsterwald Leads Pros

DUNEDIN, Fla., (AP) — Dow Finsterwald leads the Professional Golfers' Assn. 1960 winter tour in official money earned and seems bent on taking home the Ryder Cup and maybe the Vardon Trophy.

The 30-year-old winner of the 1960 Los Angeles Open has earned $6,487.50 in the first month of the tour.

Finsterwald, who plays out of Tequesta, Fla., also leads the top tourney performance standings with 241 points. Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C. has 231.50 and Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla., 218. Bill Casper Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., is fourth with 214.

Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., leads the Ryder Cup standings with 178 1-6 points but Finsterwald is behind him with 177 1-3. Boros has third with 148 2-15 and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, Calif., fourth with 105½.

Behind Finsterwald in the money division are Ken Venturi, Palo Alto, Calif. $4,395; Souchak, $4,012; and Don January, Denver, Colo., $4,000.

Campbell Bags $50,000 Ace

2-Stroke Edge for Ellis

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A peculiar malady, hole-in-one fever, subsided a degree or two today but the golfing madness continued into the fourth round of the $100,000 Palm Springs Desert Classic.

In front was Wes Ellis, Jr., a Texas-schooled pro who plays out of West Caldwell, N. J. He had a 204.

Tied at 207 were Mike Souchak, Arnold Palmer, Tommy Jacobs, Al Besselink and Bill Johnson.

The first victim of the delightful hole-in-one malady proved to be young Joe Campbell, a towheaded ex-basketball player at Purdue, who scored a hole-in-one yesterday on the 205-yard fifth hole at Tamarisk Country Club.

This gave the 24 year-old professional from New York a stake on the $50,000 posted for any pro scoring an ace in the tournament.

It turns out that Campbell's fortune wasn't as fabulous as it first appeared. It seems he and a pro buddy, Buddy Sullivan, have an agreement to split anything they win on the tournament circuit.

And it also developed that Campbell has an agreement to split half his earnings with his sponsor, Charlie Faust, operator of a Knoxville, Tenn., public course.

Your Neighbor's House

World War II Vet Has Special Kind of House

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Builders can feel as strongly about a house they are building as artists can about a picture. When Milton E. Evans was putting up the Jack R. Handy home west of Oxford, he nearly drove his workmen crazy with his constant checking. It was an exciting job, he says.

You see, the Handy house is special. Jack Handy lost both his legs in a mid-air collision right at the end of World War II. His house conforms to government standards for houses built for paraplegics.

All doorways must be three feet wide. There must be ramps to make wheelchair going easier. And there is a one-man elevator going up one side of the stairs.

This house is shaped almost like a piece of pie. It is almost twice as wide at the front as at the back. Furthermore, the roof slopes not only from center to each side, but from front to back.

Handy is a sports enthusiast. After looking all over the Detroit metropolitan area for a suitable lot, he fell in love with this one between Clear and Squaw Lakes. Although irregularly shaped, it averages about 90x175 feet.

ENJOYED SITE

For six months last year—from spring to the first of September — the Handys spent as much time as they could at the site of their new home. Then the house was finally completed and they moved in just before school started. Handy went swimming often and has skated some this winter.

They have an 11-year-old daughter, Maureen. They also own a magnificent German shepherd named Silver von Lachtenberg II. Maureen's cat, Mittens, has two sets of paws on each front foot. He's blacker than the ace of spades, as the saying goes.

There are numerous entrances to this house. We picked the wrong one and Silver challenged us. Fortunately, he was safely confined in his yard and could only bark and growl.

When you enter the Handy house properly (not through the bedroom door), you are in a wide hallway. One whole side has floor-to-ceiling windows. Next to these windows is the stairway with its elevator. The hall floor slants gently upward from the garage door on the left to the bedroom hall.

Maureen has one corner bed room. Her floor is tiled like the hall. Walls and curtains are pink. From the windows on two sides she has a pleasant view of the lake.

ATTRACTIVE BEDS

The master bedroom has two large closets. There is a door opening on a deck that goes around to the front of the garage. White curtains hang at the windows.

The bathroom is as large as bedrooms in some homes we have seen. Floor and ceramic tiled walls are gray. Above there is green paint. Curtains are green. The vanity top is marbled red plastic; in it there are twin basins. Below is storage.

On the lower level there are no walls dividing living and kitchen areas — only a birch china cabinet which provides a place in the kitchen to put the small breakfast table.

Down here the tile floor is beige with pink and black spatters. Counter tops are beige linen weave plastic. All kitchen cabinets are natural finished birch. Range and oven are built in.

On the windows over the sink and on the window in the outside door there are sheer white miracle fiber curtains; they have a design of yellow flowers and green leaves. Walls are pale aqua.

HALL WINDOWS — Bright sunlight streams into the upper hall of the Handy home through these long windows next to the stairway. Natural colored draperies can be pulled over the glass. The main entrance to the house is at the extreme right. This hall floor is a ramp leading from the bedroom level to the garage. Houses built by government standards for paraplegics must have such ramps and doorways that are wide enough to admit a wheelchair. Handy also has a chair glide up one side of the oak stairs.

Plants Need a Bath

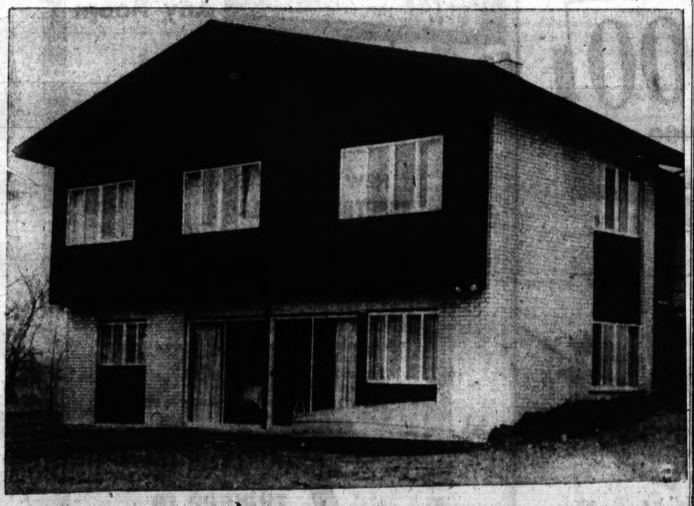

Green thumbers just beginning to nurse plants in their homes will be surprised to hear about giving the plants a bath. Leaves must be clean so a plant can breathe. There is a soapy solution to spray on gardenia plants, for example, to loosen and wash off sooty mold.

Use Knife Handle

Drive small cup hooks or hook eyes with the slotted end of a pocketknife handle. The slot gives you a good grip on the screw eye and makes it easier for you to turn. Drill holes for the screws first to prevent unnecessary strain on the knife handle.

Pontiac Press Photos by Phil Webb

Start With Sink Location When Planning Kitchen

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Planning to remodel the kitchen? Pay special attention to the sink, because most work is done there, says a home economist.

The sink should be located so that you can move easily from it to the range, said Professor Rose Steidl of Cornell University. Also allow for enough storage room and counter space around the sink.

LOTS MORE SPACE — The Fred Crossmans of 1762 Lakeland avenue in Sylvan Lake City pushed out their kitchen wall and added a space 6 by 11 feet. Now Mrs. Crossman has plenty of storage and working space. Walls and cupboard frames are pink; the doors are natural birch. She has a new range top stove and wall oven in which she can bake after-school treats for nine-year-old Bruce and seven-year-old Barbara. Custom Carpentry of Pontiac did the work.

Thermopane Double Hung Windows Now Available

A new departure in windows, Thermopane-glazed double-hung units produced on a mass quanity basis, was introduced for the first time at the 1960 National Association of Home Builders show in Chicago.

Until this year, the weight of double-pane insulating glass caused a balance problem that prevented manufactures from using it in double-hung windows. Libbey-Owens-Ford eliminated that barrier last year by developing a new lightweight Thermopane, explained Tom Hugunin, of Caradco, Inc., of Dubuque, Ia., which is mass-producing the double-hung units.

The break-through promises to have a strong influence on home fenestration and the solution of heating and air conditioning problems, he said.

"Response to these units by home builders and our own customers has been enthusiastic," he said. "Double-hung windows are used in more than half the homes built today and we expect the addition of insulating glass to increase their popularity."

Hugunin said the revolutionary new window was expected to appeal to builders who want to provide the benefits of storm sash in a permanently installed single unit that does not have to be changed seasonally. Advantages include the reduction of heating and cooling costs and ease of cleaning, since there are only two surfaces to wash instead of four with storm sash.

The Caradco unit, known as Super-Therm, uses a specially-developed flexible vinyl gasket for glazing. The double-pane glass, combined with flexible vinyl weatherstripping on horizontal sash members and patented jamb-liner, provide exceptional insulating qualities, he explained.

New on the market for do-it-yourselfers is a radial drill press, heretofore used only in industrial plants.

Housing Authority Cites Shoddy Building

Many houses today are shoddily-built, poorly-designed, and expensive—but no real improvement will be made in house construction without a national building code that will bring the benefits of mass production.

This is the conclusion of a study by A. M. Watkins, a housing authority and a former editor of House and Home, leading construction industry publication.

Writing in a current magazine, Watkins says buyers would get a bonus of 10 to 20 per cent more use from the same space if houses were properly planned. He continues:

"In addition to poor design, many builders use the cheapest doors and windows, lumber, flooring, and hardware, and the cheapest construction methods they can get away with. Building-supply dealers will tell you that 'development' builders in particular are notorious in this respect. In brief, minimum standards prevail and the home buyer is left holding the bag.

"Builders can get away with it since even the shoddiest doorknob looks bright and shiny when a house is new. After the builder packs up and goes, leaving a happy couple in the full flush of new home ownership, it does not take long for disillusionment to set in. They learn that the cheapest materials turn out to be the most expensive in the long run."

He names the following as the most glaring cause of high up-keep in houses: shoddy heating systems, skimpy electric wiring, short-lived faucet hot-water heaters, token insulation, cheap roofs, cheap plumbing, piping, and bathroom fixtures, and poor waterproofing.

But Watkins says better design and construction will not be enough. "Standardization and mass production are also urgently needed if the high cost of building houses is to be arrested and brought down."

He cites the 2,000 conflicting and often restrictive building codes in the country as the main obstacle to mass production. But, he adds, whenever enlightened building men propose code reforms, "they are confronted with instant and violent opposition from a bedrock of entrenched pressure groups.

"These include local contractors (particularly plumbers), union leaders, and building officials who don't want changes, as well as many old-line suppliers of such products as brick, stone, iron, and steel who have spent years getting codes written their way."

Appraisers Offer Award to Writers

An annual award of $1,000 for outstanding technical manuscripts and publications on real estate valuation has been established by the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

To be known as the George L. Schmutz Award, it will be presented at the Institute's November convention. Purpose of the awards will be to recognize new outstanding contributions to knowledge in the field of real estate valuation.

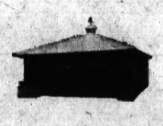

Manuscripts and publications may be submitted to the office of the executive vice-president, AIREA, 36 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago 3, not later than 90 days prior to the convention, or about August 1.

Manuscripts must be submitted in typed form, readily legible, double spaced, and in four copies. They may not, ordinarily, be shorter than 3,000 words.

Not All Livable

Some real estate authorities feel that the 6.6 per cent vacancy rate for rental units recently quoted by the Census Bureau was misleading. They point out that a considerable percentage of these vacancies lack plumbing and other facilities to make them habitable. In the active market, these authorities explain, the rate of rental vacancies actually is less than half the figure released by the Census Bureau.

Follow the Rules for Care of Rugs

Do turn your rugs around once or twice a year. This distributes the wear over the entire surface.

Don't try and wash or shampoo rugs yourself. There is often danger of over-wetting, a frequent cause of delayed action browning stain.

Do lift furniture to move it.

Call Hemlock Cinderella Tree

Architects, furniture designers and just plain lumbermen still shake their heads at one of the great industrial Cinderella stories.

In the space of twenty years, the once lowly west coast hemlock, called a weed tree, has blossomed into the glamour wood from west coast forests.

* * *

It is one of the most widely-used woods for interior finish, and as a wall panel, it has become one of the nation's favorites. Its rich, natural champagne color endears it to home decorators.

Latest to get on the hemlock band wagon are the furniture manufacturers, and one California firm has just offered a hemlock line to the trade which it call "high style."

It is quite a step up for a wood that was once held so contemptuously that hemlock trees were not even counted or cruised in the forests. It took west coast hemlock many years to live down a reputation which another species of similiar name had earned through the years.

* * *

High style it surely is, most architects agree, who call hemlock the darling of the drawing room. Hemlock has become one of the most sought-after species for kitchen built-in cabinets and wall paneling because of its very hard surface and because of its beautiful texture and its comparable tones of honey yellow and champagne.

It will take almost any finish, stain, paint or varnish, but is used more and more in clear lacquer finishes so the beauty of the wood can be utilized as a decorative motif in any room.

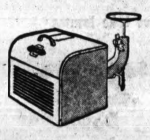

Do You Belong Here as a Typical Family?

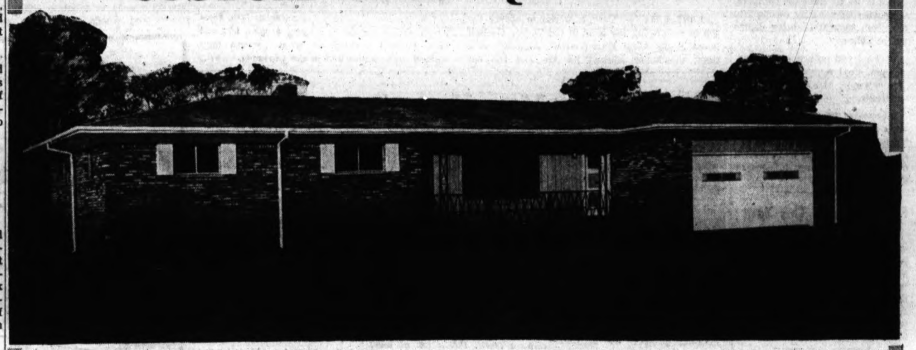

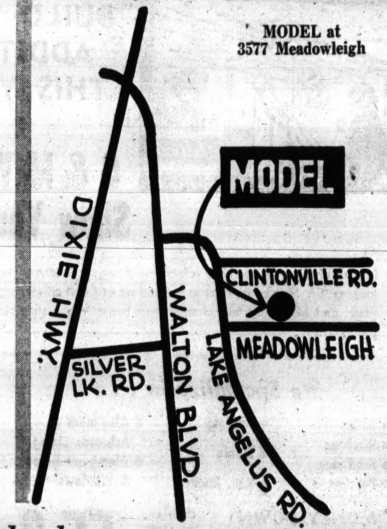

The typical American family interested in trading an existing home for a new one consists of a couple between 30 and 40 years of age with two or three children.

They live in a $7,500 to $15,000 home, have an equity of less than 40 per cent in their existing home and are interested in changing residence to gain more space, obtain a better house or live in a more desirable location.

Fireplace Worth All the Trouble

How does the fireplace survive? Its efficiency as a source of heat is absurdly low. Its efficiency as a source of ashes, soot and coal dust is staggeringly high. Frequently it is uncompatible with other elements in the design of a room.

Despite these deficiencies fireplaces are still found in many homes, because the women who operate these homes are convinced that fireplaces provide a unique focus for family life.

For those women whose families lack the cheery glow of an open fire on a nippy night, here are suggestions intended to minimize waste motion and money in remodeling for a fireplace:

1. Locate the fireplace so that its warmth and beauty may be enjoyed from as many angles as possible. If the fireplace dominates an entire wall, use it as the axis of a decorative scheme that might include fuel boxes bookcases and storage cabinets.

2. Surface hearth, chimney and firebox perimeter with a colorful, easily cleaned material such as ceramic tile. Ceramic tile is manufactured at temperatures exceeding 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit, so don't worry about damage from heat.

3. Find a skilled fireplace specialist to install flues and dampers. Otherwise smoke may escape into the room instead of being drawn up the chimney.

4. Fuel will influence fireplace details. Coal requires a grating, for example, and wood calls for andirons.

5. Consider provision for suspending a grill. This makes possible informal entertaining when the terrace is snowed under and survival cooking during power failures or other emergencies.

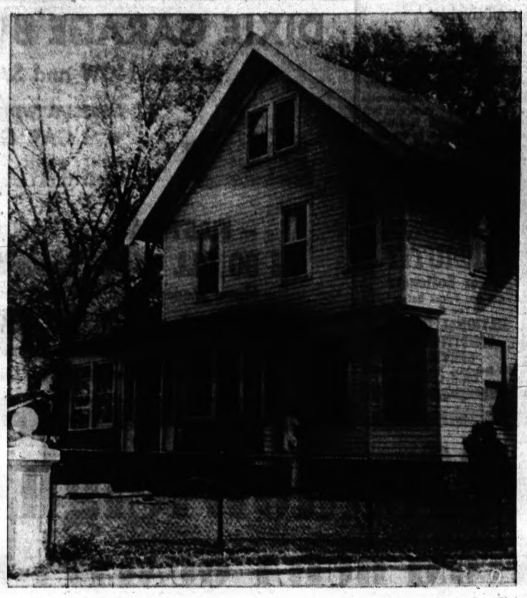

Fewer Houses This Year

Housing experts, who don't always see eye to eye, are pretty much agreed that there will be a drop of about 10 per cent in home building this year. The only thing that might change the picture, they say, is a sudden easing of the tight money market, a development not expected.

Fool the Eye

If the windows in a room don't match and you'd like them to, you can make them seem the same with skillful use of draperies and valances, building up the smaller ones or paring down the larger.

LAST FALL — Here a workman starts the job of revamping the front of the Walter Godsell home at 307 West Huron street. New Draperies Are Made to Hang Over Radiators

CHICAGO (UPI)—There's a new kind of draw drapery for windows with radiators underneath or set-in air-conditioners.

It's a vertical drapery that draws up rather than to the sides. A Chicago manufacturer soon may offer a ready-made version of these vertical draperies, which now must be made at home or custom-made with a special tape available in many notions departments.

Cords on either end of the draperies allow them to be drawn up more in the center, if desired, to form an arc around a radiator or air conditioner.

Whether vertical draperies are drawn up higher in the center or evenly, they hang in graceful scallops when open and do not gap in the middle when closed, as many conventional draperies do. Yet they look much like conventional draw draperies when closed.

When partially opened over a group of three windows, vertical draperies do not bare the entire center window, exposing the rod, window sash and pulley. Conversely, opened vertical draperies hung at a three-window grouping do not cover up large portions of the two side windows.

Vertical draperies used to keep out the sun's direct rays can be left partially open because the sun comes in at the top of the windows.

Colonial Style Stands Time Test

CHICAGO — Two significant trends in furniture have emerged from the recently completed winter buyers' markets in Chicago and Grand Rapids, Mich., according to a comprehensive survey of showrooms in both cities.

Trend one — Early American styling is enjoying its biggest heyday in many generations. One out of every four suites on display was in that category.

Trend two — native American cabinet woods are continuing in high favor. The number of suites shown in cherry, for example, was 50 per cent greater than a year ago. This put cherry in second place behind American walnut, which continued its dominant role among fine furniture woods.

The survey was made by the American Walnut Manufacturers' Association, which has made similar analyses on a strictly impartial basis twice a year for the past 27 years. Top wood specialists, working in teams of two, visit all market spaces to tabulate styles, colors and woods.

This House Has Everything

He dislikes bombs.

Natural, then, that Russell should build a pleasure dome on an island in Lake Mohawk that provides for all the diversions he likes.

It also contains a subterranean bomb shelter.

Russell designed the structure himself.

And he's made the bomb shelter so that he can use it as a den if he doesn't get bombed.

Both like music. The hi-fi varelty can be piped anywhere in the structure.

Russell designed the house so he'd never have to paint it. Outside are asbestos shingles. Inside the walls are covered with linoleum and fabric.

Map Your Strategy Now to Fight Snow Enemy

Grownups can't be blamed for looking at a snowfall with less enthusiasm than youngsters do. The stuff may be pretty, but it's also a nuisance, even a menace.

If you live where snow and ice are a winter way of life, better give some thought to the problem. A headlong attack minus the proper equipment will leave you mighty exhausted by winter's end.

It might seem terribly obvious that you need a snow shovel to remove snow. But a lot of folks have been observed shoveling snow with spades, coal scoops and even brooms.

SHOVEL OR SCOOP?

So, first of all, get a snow shovel and or a snow scoop. Both are nice if you can afford them. The scoop does wonders on unpacked, fresh snow. Use the shovel for heavier stuff.

If you get just one, get a shovel. Pick a lightweight one with a reinforced edge for breaking through hard-packed snow. Don't pick one that's too big for you. There's nothing more exhausting than lifting a load of wet snow.

Keep the shovel waxed or even lightly oiled. This prevents snow from sticking, eases and speeds the job.

There are two schools of thought concerning the best time to remove snow — during a snowfall or after. I belong to the "shovel early and often" school. It seems much easier to shovel light, fluffy snow several times than well-packed snow just once.

CHEMICAL WARFARE

If you find the snow frozen underfoot it may be wiser to engage in chemical warfare. Rock salt and calcium chloride scattered on the surface of the ice will melt it quickly. Salt is hard on shoes and cement.

Both chemicals are hard on plants. Use sparingly where the melted water will run off and attack the roots of perennials or even the lawn.

Chemicals are usually cheaper in large quantities. Order a large bag now and store it in the garage.

Get after steps, doorways and a path to the street first. Clearing out the drive is a big job. Take it slow and easy.

Driveway markers, brightly painted stakes, will help you know where to shovel as well as where to drive. Drive them into the ground before it freezes.

Snow overhead can be a hazard as well as snow underfoot. As long as it stays there it's no problem. In fact, it helps to insulate the house. But if it lets go suddenly it can tear off gutters, break shrubs and young trees, injure people.

In areas where the snowfall is heavy, steep roofs are often equipped with snow guards. These are metal barriers that hold back the snow, allow it to melt slowly. The steeper the roof, the more you will need.

Guards come in a variety of forms — angle irons tucked under the shingles with the other end supporting short metal rods. Another type can be made from sheet metal.

Bend a six-inch piece so that four inches can be tucked under the shingle and nailed. The two-inch portion at the other end of the right angle bend should be drilled or notched to allow the melting snow to run through.

Soap Will Smear

Do not use soap when cleaning windows because it leaves smears on the glass. Instead, use plain water or add vinegar, ammonia, washing soda, alcohol, kerosene or borax to wash water.

Winterize Wood Floors

Easy does it in keeping your oak floors looking beautiful through the rough winter months, particularly if you winterize them in advance.

And how does one go about winterizing floors? There's nothing to it—well, almost nothing, provided they have been properly treated with a modern, durable finish and are in normally good condition.

Just clean, wax and polish them so they are in tip-top shape. The wax will serve as a protective barrier for the finish against dirt and dust, which then can be taken up easily each day with a dry dust mop.

Snow and slush, which have a way of being tracked into even the best organized households, can be wiped up easily without a trace of marring. Occasional buffing adds sparkle.

It is this simplicity of upkeep along with natural beauty and lifetime service, which has played a big part in maintaining the overwhelming popularity of oak floors, according to homemaking experts.

The ease of maintenance, in turn, can be credited in no small degree to today's vastly improved finishes. Modern penetrating seals, for example, are resistant to scratching, spotting and chipping.

If desired, cleaning and waxing can be accomplished in one operation through use of a liquid cleaning wax; or a wax base liquid cleaner can be used, followed by a coat or two of paste type wax.

NEW FACE — Here is the Godsell house today. Aluminum siding, stained to resemble redwood, has been applied on the lower part of the exterior. In place of the old porch there is a brick entrance to Dr. Godsell's office. This buff brick is carried around the opposite side of the house. The rest of the house is painted cream color. Francis T. Lohff was the contractor for the job.

Strawberries Grow Up in Air

Strawberry vines which can grow six feet high have been brought here from Europe where they are already popular and are now available in the United States.

"Sonjana" is the name of this most amazing patented everbearing climbing strawberry. It can grow as high as six feet and has fruit which is tasty and sweet. The plant is hardy and has been known to survive winters in southern Minnesota.

Named for his daughter, "Sonjana" was developed and patented by a West German small-fruit nurseryman, Reinhold Hummel. He stumbled onto the idea of a climbing strawberry this way: while working in his half-acre strawberry nursery, he noticed several plants with extra-long runners. Being curious, he planted four of them in a square and put a fifth plant in their center.

There was no place to train the center plant's runners on the ground, so he tied them up on a stake. The plant wasn't ideal for the purpose and it took years of patient breeding and selecting from thousands of seedlings before determined Mr. Hummel had developed the perfect climber.

"Sonjana" grows like other strawberry plants; it puts out long runners on which a succession of baby plants develop from a mother plant. Instead of letting these small plants catch root on the ground, they are fastened on a fence or pole and the fruits ripen in the air.

Dividers Will Keep Utensils Right at Hand

Bulky cooking utensils, such as a colander and meat grinder, are difficult to store between uses because they take up so much room in already crowded kitchen cabinets. Many times these seldom-used items are buried in cabinets and difficult to find when needed.

One way to make bulky items more accessible is to store them in a kitchen base cabinet equipped with sliding vertical dirders which keep the cabinet well-organized.

Do-it-yourselfers have found that smooth-on-both-sides hard board, makes excellent dividers for cabinets. The material is easy to cut with a saber, coping, keyhole or jig saw.

To make vertical cabinet dividers, cut to size the required number from a panel of Masonite quarter inch tempered hardboard. Fasten either metal "tracks" or small dimension quarter-rounds on the bottom and top of the cabinet. The dividers will slide into these.

New Plastic Is Much Tougher

The principal disadvantage of plastic garbage cans — tendency to crack in cold weather — has been corrected by a newly developed polyethylene copolymer material.

Polyethylene garbage cans are a boon to the home-owner, because they are easier to keep clean than metal cans, and will not rust, dent or corrode. They are also silent, and add immeasurably to the peace and quiet of a community in the early morning.

Since the new material adds low temperature toughness to the other advantages of plastic containers, home-owners can leave the cans outdoors or in unheated garages throughout the winter.

The new polyethylene copolymer was developed by Union Carbide Plastics Co., Division of Union Carbide Corp., after a five year research program. In special tests, cans molded of the new plastic have easily withstood drops from six feet at 10 degrees below zero. At 10 degrees above, the same cans showed no damage after being crushed under the wheels of a 16-ton trailer truck.

In addition to this low temperature toughness, the compound also has excellent surface gloss, which contributes to an attractive appearance. Products that will benefit from its high rigidity and flex life are fishing tackle and tool boxes, tote boxes, flashlight cases, and many housewares.

Garbage cans molded of the new polyethylene copolymer are manufactured by Rubbermaid, Inc., Wooster, Ohio, and can be purchased in leading hardware and department stores.

Paint Retards Fire

A new kind of paint is becoming generally available which slows down the spread of fire and gives fire fighters the precious few minutes they need to prevent a major conflagration. Known as fire retardant paints, these new coatings have all the decorative qualities of regular paint. In the presence of flame, these coatings interpose a barrier between the walls and woodwork and the fire.

The amateur floor-layer should make sure all sleepers are tightly in place. Loose sleepers may cause annoying floor squeaks.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I have a wallpapering job coming up soon. I did one room in our house several years ago. I remember that, every time I ran the roller down the seams, the paste would run out from under the paper. How can I avoid this? Or is it better not to use a seam roller?

ANSWER: You will generally get a better result by using a seam roller. The roller flattens down any irregularity and thus makes a neater job. However, a common mistake is to run the roller over the seam immediately.

What must be done is to allow the paste to set a little — about 10 to 15 minutes. Even then, the roller should be used with a light stroke. Incidentally, if the paper is embossed — that is, has a raised design — the seam roller should not be used.

QUESTION: There is a very slight scratch on our dark mahogany dining room table. How can this be disguised without too much trouble? I don't know anything about wood finishing or removing varnish or anything like that. And I am not looking for a perfect result. All I want to do is to hide the scratch a little.

ANSWER: You can do one of two things. Buy one of the "stick" scratch removers, being certain that you get the type suitable for dark finishes. Or hide the scratch, believe it or not, with ordinary iodine from your medicine cabinet.

You'd be surprised at how often iodine makes a perfect match with dark mahogany. If it darkens the scratch a little, but not quite enough, give it a second or possibly a third coat.

If the table top is veneer, the amount of sanding necessary to make it smooth might go right through the veneer. You probably would be better off—and have a lot less work—if you applied a new surfacing to the top of the table. This could be any of a number of materials, such as plastic-surfaced hardboard, which is available in various woodgrains, pastel colors or marble patterns.

You won't need to treat the gouges in the old top before applying wallboard mastic and fitting the cut-to-size hardboard into place. Place some heavy books on the new panel for 24 hours to assure a good bond.

QUESTION: How can I estimate how much enamel will be necessary to paint my kitchen? I already have taken the measurements of the walls and they add up to 480 square feet.

ANSWER: Generally, one gallon of enamel will cover 400 to 500 square feet. This varies somewhat, depending on the kind and color of the paint already on the walls. Your dealer often will allow you to buy an extra can of paint on the understanding that it can be returned if it is not opened.

QUESTION: We have moved into a new house which has galvanized gutters and downspouts. We now have decided to paint these galvanized surfaces, not only to prevent future rust but we want to paint them a particular color to harmonize with the colors of the house. However, we have been told that the galvanized metal will have to weather for several months or be given some kind of acid treatment before being painted. Is this true?

ANSWER: It was true until fairly recently. You now can buy a special type of rust preventative that bonds directly to galvanized surfaces without flaking off. The coating can be brushed right on to the gutters and downspouts after wiping off any grease or oil. When the coating has dried thoroughly, apply the desired color paint.

Complement Each Other

While horizontal wood siding and the deep roof overhang have been in use, separately, for centuries, the combination is distinctly new, and the main source of the "modern look" in many contemporary dwellings. So says the Southern Pine Assn., explaining that the two architectural features complement each other in emphasizing the long, low look and lateral range of the contemporary style.

Putty Needs Replacing

All windows should be periodically checked to see whether the putty is intact. If putty around window frames is cracked or loose, it should be removed and replaced with a fresh supply.

Mud Room Accepted as Part of House

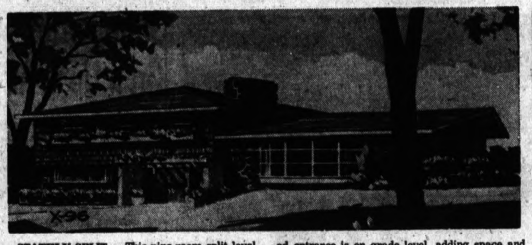

Few ideas in home building and remodeling have gained acceptance as rapidly — and for such good reason — as the "mud room." This handy innovation is a small area to the rear of the house that protects the kitchen and hone from dirt and cleaning problems usually associated with indoor activity.

Here' where dad and the kids take off their boots and rubbers, change clothes if need be, and generally clean up before entering your spotless kitchen. Its equipment actually could include a shower, countertop lavatory, toilet, closet, and even your laundry.

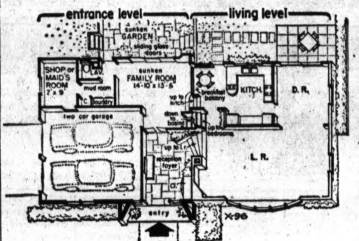

All in all, it is an ideal place for durable, easy-to-clean surfaces or ceramic tile. In fact, these materials are practically necessary if you intend to keep the mud room itself from becoming a cleaning problem.

Re-stain your shingles before they have a chance to deteriorate. Before you apply new shingles, dip them in stain.

STATELY SPLIT — This nine-room split level has four bedrooms, 2½ baths and an exceptionally efficient floor plan. The attractively accented entrance is on grade level, adding space and privacy to the living room.

MAIN LEVELS — Graceful stairways add glamor to both living and bedroom levels. These two floors offer 1,727 square feet of living space.

Split-Level Potential Is Developed by Matern

By DAVID L. BOWEN

Which of these features are you looking for in a house plan—

Dramatic living room arranged for gracious entertaining?

Careful attention to the connection of outdoor and indoor living areas?

Clearcut separation of formal and informal sections?

Original economy and easy maintenance?

All of these elements of good modern design, and others, are present in House of the Week X-96, a split level gem created by Architect Rudolph A. Matern.

There are four bedrooms on the sleeping level plus another small room on the ground level that could be used as a fifth bedroom.

There's a big reception foyer, a family room that flows without interruption through sliding glass doors to a sunken terrace garden, a breakfast balcony overlooking the family room, a lovely large fireplace and bow window in the living room, efficient U-shaped kitchen layout, a short but glamorous bedroom balcony, and 2½ bathrooms.

All of these aids to peace of mind and modern living come in a design covering 1,727 square feet of space on living and bedroom levels, plus 511 on the ground level. Thanks to the inherent economy of split level design, this ground level living space—plus the two-car garage—comes at only half the normal building cost.

* * *

The easiest way to picture this economy feature of the split level is to think of a long ranch house built over a basement. Now think of this same ranch split in the center with the left half raised so that the basement floor of the raised half is even with the ground.

SPACE INCREASED

Total roof area is the same, perimeter walls are the same, yet you have increased the usable space by half. Basically, this is the great merit of the split.

Often the advantage of this bonus space is frittered away by the use of small windows and design treatment which seems to forget the grade level is no longer basement, but the advantage is there nonetheless.

Principle device used to fully develop the split potential in X-96 was locating the entrance on the ground level. This allows more space for the living room, gives the living room more separation, and at the same time aids circulation by providing a direct route from front door to family room and kitchen.

Over-all dimensions of X-96 are 59'5" in width by 29'10" in depth. The exterior is a pleasing combination of natural stone and stained cedar shingles.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Extra attention was lavished on the front entrance of this design to give it a stately appearance. The double front doors are framed by brick columns on either side and an open trellis overhead.

A sloping lot is not a requirement for full exploitation of X-96. The home could be worked into level terrain by simple use of the fill obtained in excavation for the small basement section and the sunken rear garden.

Another advantage of the grade level entrance is the fact that mud tracked in from the outside can be localized in the foyer, which has an easily cleaned slate-in-concrete floor. From the foyer, swinging doors lead to the family room and kitchen and a short curving stairway leads to the living room.

* * *

Bedrooms are eight steps up from the living level, providing adequate separation without demanding a long stair climb. The master bedroom is a generous 17 x 13 feet, with walk-in closet and private bath. The other three bedrooms are in a line across the front. Efficient grouping keeps hall space at a minimum.

* * *

Plans call for a basement the size of the living level. This is roughly half the roofed area of the house and sufficient for furnace and storage without the waste basement space frequently found in large ranch homes.

Even Faucets Get Special Treatment

What's been happening to faucets lately?

Faucets have been improved in appearance, in ease of operation, and in durability. Modern faucets have a lustrous, jeweled look and sparkling elegance. They combine luxurious beauty with functional design. They are made for easy cleaning and long and satisfactory service.

These advances in faucet design and engineering are important, because the faucets and valves are the working parts of the plumbing fixtures. It is because of the recognition that the trim is the heart of the plumbing system that manufacturers have done many things to improve the quality of the faucets and valves.

Before new faucets are offered to the public, they are thoroughly tested in the research departments of manufacturers. Here are located machines which automatically open and close faucets millions of times in order to check on the parts that are subjected to wear.

It is as a result of this severe testing that manufacturers have improved the quality of the plating on faucets and the durability of the internal working parts of faucets and valves. All of the better faucets are made entirely of high quality brass.

Make Winter Project of Basement Playroom

During the winter months the entire family tends to spend a great deal more of their time indoors. Children, particularly, find their activities limited and yearn for a room in which to play without restrictions—and where they won't have to worry about disturbing the rest of the family.

* * *

If your home has a basement, then space for a room of this kind is readily available. You can create one without having to use expensive materials, and without having to spend long months at hard labor. Using only a few cans of paint, a brush or a roller, and a little imagination you can do the whole job in one or two weekends—and at very little cost.

It's a pleasant project in which the whole family can participate, and the result will be a bright, cheerful playroom which the children will be glad to call their own.

Dingy looking masonry walls can be brightened up by first brushing off all dust and dirt and then applying two coats of a latex type masonry wall paint. If dampness is a problem, apply a coat of waterproofing compound first. Let this dry thoroughly, then apply a top coat of latex paint in the color of your choice.

To give your underground playroom a sunny look select a bright, cheerful shade such as yellow or pale orange for the walls. For a more decorative effect, paint one wall with a brighter shade and the other walls in a contrasting, but lighter color.

* * *

Exposed overhead ceiling beams usually pose a problem in a room of this sort. The simplest solution lies in nailing up large sheets of wall board and then painting them in an off-white shade with a roller. Seams can be covered with wooden strips, taped, or even left as is.

To provide a bright, easily cleaned floor, the concrete should be thoroughly scrubbed with trisodium phosphate—a powerful cleaning compound which is sold in all paint stores, followed by clean water. Let this dry thoroughly, then apply two coats of concrete floor enamel. If you wish, various game designs or even a shuffle board court could be painted on.

Finish your basement playroom by having an electrician come in to install additional ceiling lights. Wooden shelves can be installed along one wall to provide needed storage space, and seats can be provided by installation of a few inexpensive benches. You can finish these yourself with a brightly colored enamel sprayed on with aerosol-type paint bombs or applied by brush.

Keep a Home Safe From Fire

In the not-so-old days household holocausts were commonplace.

Nowadays, with fire-resistant materials such as asphalt shingles being used liberally in quality homes, residential blazes have been reduced sharply and catastrophes like the Chicago fire attributed to Mrs. O'Leary's cow are practically non-existent.

But, improved as fire situation is, it's still a good idea to consider your home a potential fire-trap, particularly during winter months when sparks result in minor blazes that cause annual property damages running into millions of dollars.

Engineers of Allied Chemical's Barrett Division who design the fire-resistant asphalt shingles most popular for modern-day roofings, offer three simple fire-safety steps to protect your home:

1. Inspection. At least once a year go over your house minutely from the roof to the foundation—winter is the best time to inspect the inside — checking for danger spots that would allow a fire to start or spread.

2. Hazards. Roofs should be kept clear of accumulation of leaves, twigs or other debris. If allowed to pile up in gutters or eaves, such rubbish can become ready-made fuel for a fire ignited by sparks from the chimney—either yours or the neighbor's.

3. Cleaning. Keep infrequently used areas such as attics and basements neat and clean. Don't stack newspapers and magazines for long. Give them away to charities conducting paper drives and do two good turns, one for charity and one for yourself.

Second Growth Is Good

Second growth doesn't mean second class. The U.S. Forest Service says that the huge new crop of Southern Pine is just as strong as the fine virgin lumber that built most of the nation's colonial homes of the 18th century.

A new chemical can be applied to wood which will make it almost impervious to fire.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT

By Clarence Budington Kelland

XXIV

Mr. David Hannum, one of the syndicate which owned the Cardiff Giant, came into my office with a gentleman whom I never had seen before, but who was introduced to me as Colonel Wood, a professional showman. This individual was to have charge of exhibiting the giant in various cities throughout the country. Both men were angry and disturbed.

"Orrin," Mr. Hannum said, "we want yo should git out an injunction agin P. T. Barnum."

"To stop him," I asked, "from doing what?"

"Exhibitin' an imitation of our giant," Mr. Hannum said, "I hear tell he's hired a sculptor to carve out a statue to be as like ourn as two peas, which he aims to exhibit in his museum on Broadway as the Cardiff Giant."

"Mr. Hannum," I said gravely, "I fear you will fall afoul of a legal maxim, sir."

"He who comes into a court of equity must come with clean hands," I said impressively.

LOOKS CLEAN

Mr. Hannum examined his horny callused paws and squinted at me under the peak of his cap. "Look tol'able washed to me," he said.

"I was not referring to physical cleanliness, but to ethical cleanliness, I question," said I, "if the courts will entertain an action to compel Mr. Barnum to cease and desist from exhibiting an imitation of a humbug."

Mr. Hannum fixed me with his shrewd, beady eyes. "Supposin' our giant is a humbug," he said. "Which I don't admit. We had ourn first, didn't we?"

"Mr. Hannum," I said in my most dignified manner, "it is well for a client to be absolutely truthful with his lawyer. Do you believe your giant to be a veritable petrified monster, a statue of great antiquity, or a fraud?"

★ ★ ★

His reply was characteristic. "Some say one way, some say another," he told me. "Naow take Perfessor Alexander McWhorter — him that teaches in Yale College Divinity School."

"Yes?" I said.

"He claims," said Hannum, "that it's turrible ancient, and was wrought by them old Phoenicians. He claims the's a Bible-times inscription to be deciphered onto it. An' take Professor White, of Yale Medical School. What's he declare? He examined it with what he calls an achromatic glass, which sounds to me like a durned impressive tool.

"He states emphatic that the pores in the skin proves it's teetotal ancient. Also he says mebby the's an inscription. Other impressive fellers say it's a petrified body that walked the earth before history started up."

"Very well," I said. "I will start an action. But not an action based upon the assumption that this carving is either petrified flesh or of great antiquity. But upon the grounds that it is the genuine Cardiff Giant and is entitled to that exclusive designation."

I had scant hopes of succeeding in my action brought against Mr. Barnum, but Hannum had a right to his day in court; so, as soon as papers could be prepared, I filed suit.

By this time, the third week in an exceptionally cold December, the giant was shipped from Albany to New York and placed on exhibition there. Barnum, always alert, immediately advertised Hannum's giant was a fraud and that his giant was the genuine and original. Which, of course, whetted public interest and attracted large crowds of spectators.

MADAM ALONE

Our families were dining together on the Sunday before Christmas when mother broke a silence, speaking to Mrs. Fox.

"I've been thinking," she said. "Madam Janeway will be alone on Christmas Day."

There was a silence — almost an appalled silence. Then Lossie said breathlessly, "But it's our day. Our day!"

Our parents did not know. They did not know, as we did, that there was something peculiar about Madam and her relations with her servant, Oscar. In all Syracuse there was nobody besides Lossie and me who knew that all was not normal in that house across the street.

What it was we did not know. But it was some unhappy thing, and we felt, instinctively perhaps, that the unhappy thing should not be permitted to intrude upon our happy intimacies.

Lossie was facing the window, and I saw her lean forward and look out into the street.

"Madam's sleigh," she said. "But she's not in it. Oscar's on the seat beside the coachman."

★ ★ ★

And then: "It's stopping here." It was indeed, stopping before the house, and Oscar climbed down with something in his big hands. He mounted the steps to the front door and rang the bell. The hired girl came from the kitchen to answer the ring, and presently came into the parlor with two envelopes in her hand. She handed one to Auntie Fox and the other to mother, who received them with lifted brows.

"I declare!" mother exclaimed and opened her envelope. Now we in Syracuse did not go in much for engraved invitations, but this was an engraved invitation, very expensive and stylish.

"What," asked my father testily, "do you declare about?"

"It's an invitation from Madam Janeway for Christmas Eve," mother said, emphasizing again. "Dinner and entertainment. The idea! Christmas Eve!"

Relatively Few Ailments Cause Most Deaths

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service said Friday that heart disease, strokes, cancer and accidents were responsible for 71 per cent of all deaths in 1958.

Its national office of vital statistics said 1,647,886 deaths were recorded in 1958. The death rate that year was 9.5 per 1,000 population, compared with 9.6 in 1957.

The 1958 toll included 637,246 deaths from heart disease, 190,758 from strokes and other vascular lesions, 254,426 from cancer, 36,981 auto deaths, and 53,623 in other kinds of accidents.

Expressway Markers Going Up in Michigan

LANSING (UPI)—Highway Department crews Friday started installing temporary red, white and blue interstate route markers on about 260 miles of expressway in Michigan.

The signs are to acquaint the public with the new route designations.

Lake Contemporary
It isn't too early to think of this summer's enjoyment you'll have from owning this modern 3 bedroom, 2 bath beauty. From your glass walled living room, or extra large patio, you'll enjoy a full view of Union Lake — or swim or sail from your own beach. Wintertime sports, too, are yours — and you're snug with warm-water, baseboard heater. Listed at $32,500. P.S.: An extra bonus is an almost new 40 H.P. motor, boat and trailer.

Lake Vista
Green cedar shakes add charm to this lakefront ranch. High ceilinged dry basement with bath —and asphalt tile brightens the floor. You and your furniture both will fit comfortably in the 28 foot living room. Nestled on the lake shore with privacy assured at the "end of the road."

Dems to Grab House Control?

Have Numerical Edge After Death of State GOP Representative

LANSING (AP) — Due to a death, Democrats held a temporary 55-54 majority in the Michigan House of Representatives today. They could take over next week from Republicans, but aren't expected to by politicians on either side.

The heart-attack death yesterday of Republican Rep. Emil A. Peltz, 58, gave Democrats the Majority.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, Democratic floor leader, said his party had reached no decision yet, but representatives would caucus next Wednesday to discuss the matter.

There are numerous reasons why the Democrats likely will leave the Republican setup stand. First, it takes 56 votes to pass a bill. Next, Republicans still hold 22-12 control of the Senate, which also must approve bill to make it law.

In passing up chances to organize the house, Democrats have contended that Republicans, who had majorities in both houses for 20 years preceding 1959, got the state into its current financial tangle and should take full blame —that any Democratic House attempt to clean things up would be killed off by the Republican Senate.

Successful Farm Week Winds Up

EAST LANSING (AP)—One of the best attended Farmers' Week programs in history wound up at Michigan State University yesterday. Officials estimated some 50,000 visitors viewed a variety of exhibits and heard hundreds of farm lectures.

At a closing banquet, seven groups of top Michigan farmers were cited for outstanding agricultural feats.

Highest ranking farmers in each group included:

All the averages were for three-year periods.

MacMurray Show Is Satire About Cowboys

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Cowboys Can Be Creeps" is positively not the subtitle of the TV show, "The American Cowboy," which Fred MacMurray, Max Liebman and other deep thinkers are presenting Feb. 10—but Fred MacMurray admits it could have been.

WILSON

"What was a cowboy's home-on-the-range life like? What was his take-home pay? When he paid his income tax, could be charge off deterioration on his horse, and were the oats deductible? What was the cowboy's favorite breakfast food? Bloody Marys? What was a cowboy doing when he wasn't cowboying? Cowgirling?

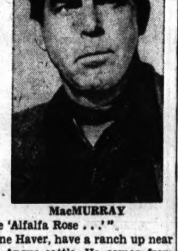

"He must have gotten off his horse once in a while—otherwise there wouldn't have been all those little cowboys," MacMurray grinned when we talked about it the other day. Then he added.

"That's a line from the show."

Another thing—what really went on inside those covered wagons? Which, incidentally, must have smelled awful.

I mean, they were so crowded! And there were no breath-perfumes back thar in the 80s and 90s. Caorl Burnett, Edie Adams, Hans Konreld and Wally Cox intend to show that some of the cowpokes had to sleep hanging up on nails.

MacMURRAY

"It may seem strange for me to be doing this show, since I've done a lot of westerns, but I guess it's sort of a satire," explained MacMurray. "Then there's the cowboy as a method actor — gettin' himself emotionally prepared to deliver some long speech such as 'Yep' or 'Nope.'"

"And there's something that isn't funny — well, maybe it is, at that. I sing.

"Western songs that never quite made the Hit Parade. Like 'Alfalfa Rose . . .'"

MacMurray and his wife, June Haver, have a ranch up near San Francisco where he raises Angus cattle. He comes from Kankakee, Ill., Beaver Dam, Wis., Waukesha, Wis., and other places—and knows cowboys well. He asks June Haver to come down to lunch and meet the press, but she declines.

★ ★ ★

"You're the one that's working. You go down and do your interview," she says.

"June doesn't want any more of it, which I'm very happy about," he says.

Fred claims he's got old clothes he hangs onto, figuring that some day he'll get a picture or TV part he'll need them in. Of course, this could run up into a warehouse of old clothes.

He had to dig up some western clothes for the TV show about American cowboys and succeeded in buying some with a label of "Broken Bow, Mont.," on them.

"I looked a little closer, though," he said, "and discovered that their true origin was the New York garment district."

Humphrey Pitches In as Dems Woo West

He made the most of it despite his claim he is not actively seeking the nomination.

Tomorrow Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy, like Humphrey an announced contender for the nomination, arrives to deliver an address which his backers hope will outshine the speeches of his rivals.

He was called in as a substitute for former President Harry S. Truman, who was forced to cancel out because of prior commitments.

Baby Suffocates; Pulls Plastic Sheet Over Head

The four-month-old son of a Clarkston couple suffocated this morning in his crib when he pulled a plastic sheet over his face, according to Independence Township Firemen.

The victim was W. O'Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry O'Berry, of 24 Robertson Ct. The tot was pronounced dead by Deputy Coroner Dr. R. W. Bullard of Clarkston shortly before noon.

The 18-year-old mother found her son about 11. He had pulled a regular sheet and a thin plastic sheet off a corner of the mattress in his crib.

The baby evidently pulled the plastic material over his face and became tangled in it when he tried to squirm free, Fire Chief Donald G. Beach said.

MacArthur Improving; to Undergo Operation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gen Douglas MacArthur was gradually improving today in his bout with a urological disorder. His doctors said they would perform a prostate operation as soon as he is well enough.

The five-star general entered Lenox Hill Hospital a week ago yesterday for treatment of a urinary blockage caused by a swollen prostate.

He suffered from a urinary infection and some kidney involvement which must be corrected before the operation can be performed, doctors said.

He was not expected to undergo surgery for several weeks.

Alaskans Bet on Ice; May Legalize Pool

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — In springtime an Alaskan's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of a winning ticket on a $200,000 lottery.

Now, the first step has been taken toward legalizing such romantic aspirations.

The State Senate approved, 18-2 Friday, a bill to sanction certain forms of lotteries and raffles, including church and fraternal bingo games and community-sponsored salmon derbies and dog-sled races.

★ ★ ★

The big item covered by the bill is Alaska's favorite guessing game — trying to pick the exact minute, sometime during the spring, when the ice will break on the Tanana River.

★ ★ ★

When it does, a pylon erected near the town of Nenana tumbles, and thousands of dollars fall into the laps of lucky holders of tickets they purchased at $1 each during the winter months.

The Nenana Ice Classic, started by engineers who helped build the Alaska Railroad through the central part of this big country, has run unhampered by the law since 1913.

But storm warnings were up this year that the new State Department of Public Safety plans to enforce antigambling laws now on the books, unless the Legislature indicates otherwise.

Upwards of 200,000 people who make the Nenana Ice Classic a habit would have been affected.

★ ★ ★

So would two or three other smaller ice pool operations, along with various salmon derbies, fur rendezvous, and winter carnivals whose activities are supported by the sale of raffle tickets.

The bill now goes to the House. Most observers predict it will become law.

★ ★ ★

State Sen. Ralph Moody, an Anchorage Democrat who heads the Judiciary Committee in the upper legislative chamber, said it is "time to face facts. Let's have the fortitude to admit what's going on."

Fare Hike Better Than No Service, Bus Riders Say

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Picked at random as they went about their business in downtown Pontiac yesterday, 11 residents agreed they would be willing to pay a raise in fare to keep the buses operating in the city.

Inconvenienced to varying degrees, according to their transportation needs, the sampling of opinion showed citizens all were impatient for the two-month long strike to come to an end.

Bus drivers and mechanics of AFL-CIO Local 1090 have been on strike for a 23-cents-an-hour pay raise against the Pontiac City Lines, Inc.

Calls Bus Union a Doublecrosser

City Lines Officer Says Local President Sytsma Reneged on Truce

A Pontiac City Line, Inc., official today charged the bus company, the city and local businessmen were doublecrossed yesterday by union representatives.

Earl Dreasher, local manager of the bus company, said John Sytsma, president of AFL-CIO Local 1090 of the bus transportation union, went back on his word at a peace session held Friday at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting of union representatives, city officials and local businessmen was held in hopes of getting a temporary truce. During this time the drivers would go back to work while a fact-finding committee would investigate the situation.

The union, however, was unrelenting in its demands for a wage increase. Sytsma said there would be no truce without a pay raise for the drivers, who have been on strike for more than two months.

Dreasher said that it was Sytsma who had called the meeting and that it was Sytsma's idea for a truce.

'THEY RENEGED'

"They (union representatives) reneged on their word," said Dreasher, "and you can quote me on that. Mr. Sytsma committed himself to a local businessman with the idea of a truce and that's why the committee was formed and the meeting held.

"The union is fearful that a fact-finding group will prove that we can't afford to give the drivers any more money. And I've got figures to show that the drivers' wages are comparable to those in other cities."

Dreasher said the company needs a six-month test to realize maximum ridership once again after the steel strike put a dent into the company's business.

"We raised the fare on Nov. 1 from 20 cents to 25 cents, but we haven't had the time to prove whether we could afford to pay the drivers more," said Dreasher.

"We're not going to sock the

MISS CLARNO

Gloria Clarno, 497 Raeburn St., said she is more fortunate than some of the students in the area. A pupil at Emmanuel Baptist School, she said:

"It's a lot of trouble now would really be trouble if the bus system leaves Pontiac. I go to a parochial school and we have a school bus to get to school. But if I miss it, I just can't get to school."

CLIFTON

Said James R. Clifton, 117 W. Cornell St.:

"I wish they'd get these buses started! I depend on the bus to get to work. If they left Pontiac, I'd just have to get a car. . . . and I don't know whether I can afford it."

★ ★ ★

Carole Ryden, 114 Parkdale Ave., is a salesgirl in a dowtown store who says the extra expense and depending on others is the biggest nuisance.

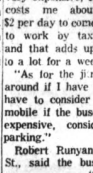

MISS RYDEN

"I have to get a taxi or find someone with transportation to come to work," she said. "It's very expensive. It costs me about $2 per day to come to work by taxi and that adds up to a lot for a week.

"As for the jitneys, they aren't around if I have to work late. I'll have to consider buying an automobile if the buses go, but that's expensive, considering gas and parking."

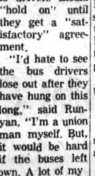

Robert Runyan, 796 Crittendon St., said the bus drivers should "hold on" until they get a "satisfactory" agreement.

RUNYAN

"I'd hate to see the bus drivers lose out after they have hung on this long," said Runyan, "I'm a union man myself. But, it would be hard if the buses left town. A lot of my friends depend on them to get to work."

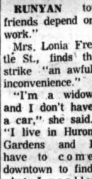

Mrs. Lonia Freeman, 1033 Myrtle St., finds the transportation strike "an awful inconvenience."

MRS. FREEMAN

"I'm a widow and I don't have a car," she said. "I live in Huron Gardens and I have to come downtown to find what I really want. There is a better selection downtown and I prefer shopping here."

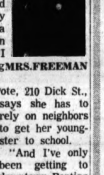

Mrs. Robert Pote, 210 Dick St., says she has to rely on neighbors to get her youngster to school.

MRS. POTE

"And I've only been getting to downtown Pontiac half as much as I used to," she said. "It costs me a dollar a day to take a cab. A group of us got together and asked the Webster School to provide a bus for the kids, but they said they couldn't."

Mrs. Geraldine Pfahlert, 2415 James K. Blvd., said she had a lot to say.

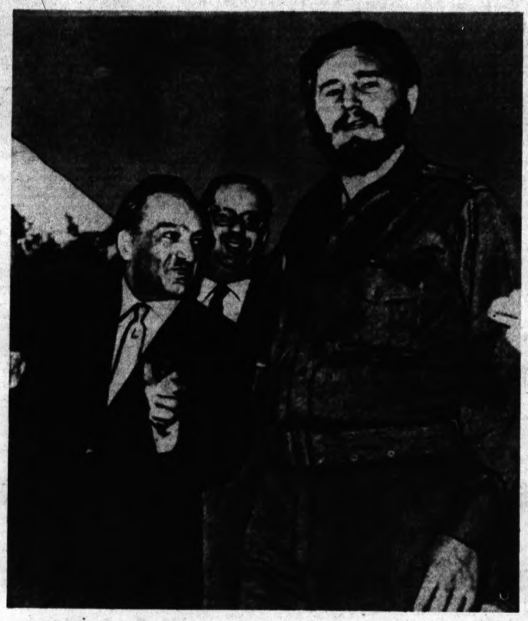

PFAHLERT

"I've been riding buses in Pontiac since 1953," said Mrs. Pfahlert. "I'm a waitress and I depend on the bus to get to work. If the buses leave and I'm forced to buy a car, I'm going to spend my 10 cents elsewhere from then on.

"The strike is taking all the busi-

Secrecy Covers Mikoyan in Cuba

HAVANA (UPI) — A curtain of official silence fell on Soviet First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan's movements today after the outburst of gunfire that threw into turmoil the opening Friday of the new Soviet cultural exposition in Havana.

The mystery shots came on the heels of an anti-Communist student demonstration in a nearby park that confronted Prime Minister Fidel Castro with the first open defiance of his be-kind-to-the-Reds policies.

The shooting failed to shake or silence the wily Mikoyan. The veteran Kremlin salesman told the Cubans the secret of the Soviet Union's success lay in "establishing the power of the workers and peasants—and confiscating without any compensation all means of production."

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass today reported the opening of the Soviet Exposition in Havana by First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan but did not mention the shooting incident that marred the ceremony.

Castro has called his revolution a revolution of workers, peasants and students. He has seized sugar plantations and cattle ranches but has promised compensation to owners.

Friday's violence marked the first open sign of unrest among the students regarded as stalwarts of most of Castro's program, including land reform.

Official silence on Mikoyan's plans for today was seen as a move to avoid repetition of any embarrassing anti-Red demonstrations like that put on by the students.

The rattle of gunfire echoed over a two-block area for about five minutes as Mikoyan stood calmly on the open platform waiting to make his ceremonial speech. There was no indication the shooting was an assassination attempt against the Soviet leader.

Mikoyan had placed a big floral wreath bearing the red hammer and sickle at the foot of Marti's statue before going to the Palace of Fine Arts where the exposition is housed.

Jurors in Tears as Dr. Finch Tells His Story

Surgeon On Trial for Murder Relates Wife's Dying Request

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch had jurors in tears and himself near collapse when he described the last words of his fatally wounded wife.

"Take care of the kids," she said, according to Finch.

The murder trial of the 42-year-old surgeon and his mistress, Carole Tregoff, 23, scaled dramatics with the impact of tensest emotion late yesterday when Finch finally told of the death of Barbara Jean Finch, 33, in West Covina, Calif., last July 18.

Finch at one time rocked suddenly back in the witness chair and, for a moment, spectators thought he had fainted. He came slowly back to equilibrium and, crying, went on with his story.

A few minutes earlier he had been so athletic that jurors shrank back as he reenacted — with defense lawyer Grant Cooper playing the part of Barbara—the wild fight for the pistol which, he said, Barbara first drew.

But the climax came when he described seeing his wife fall on the lawn of his father's home. He ran to her side and knelt down beside her. He said her leg was curled so peculiarly he thought she had broken it.

'WHAT DID YOU DO?'

His dialogue with Cooper then went:

Q. What did you do?

A. I went running around the side of her and I knelt down by her, right near her waistline, and started to feel over toward her leg and—shall I tell you what I said?

Q. Yes.

A. I said, "What happened, Barbara? Where are you hurt?" And she said: "Shot in chest." I was amazed. I just couldn't . . .

Q. Then what did you say or do?

A. I just didn't do anything for a second and then—and then I—I said to Barbara, "Barbara, just stay real quiet. Don't move a thing. Don't move your arms or legs. Just lay real quiet. I've got to get an ambulance for you and get you to the hospital."

Q. Did she make any reply to that?

A. No, not right that second.

Q. What did you then do?

A. I stood up and took about two steps toward dad's breakfast room and Barbara said, "Wait."

Q. Did you wait?

A. I came back and knelt down by her head.

Q Did you do anything or did

What Happened to Our Spring? Sunday to Be 35

What happened to "spring"?

After forecasting five days of springlike weather yesterday, the weatherman today did an about-face. We're going to have snow flurries tonight, he says, with the low dropping to 27 degrees.

Little temperature change is expected Sunday. The high will rise to near 35. Monday's high temperature will continue in the 30s with the chance of a few snow flurries.

This morning's northwesterly winds at eight miles an hour will become northerly at 15 - 22 miles and north to northwest at 8 to 12 miles tonight.

Thirty-three was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 1 p.m. was 35.

Dems to Grab House Control?

Have Numerical Edge After Death of State GOP Representative

LANSING (UPI) — Due to a death, Democrats held a temporary 55-54 majority in the Michigan House of Representatives today. They could take over next week from Republicans, but aren't expected to by politicians on either side.

★ ★ ★

The heart-attack death yesterday of Republican Rep. Emil A. Peltz, 58, gave Democrats the Majority.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, Democratic floor leader, said his party had reached no decision yet, but representatives would caucus next Wednesday to discuss the matter.

There are numerous reasons why the Democrats likely will leave the Republican setup stand. First, it takes 56 votes to pass a bill. Next, Republicans still hold 22-12 control of the Senate, which also must approve bill to make it law.

★ ★ ★

In passing up chances to organize the house, Democrats have contended that Republicans, who had majorities in both houses for 20 years preceding 1959, got the state into its current financial tangle and should take full blame —that any Democratic House attempt to clean things up would be killed off by the Republican Senate.

Toledo Police Catch 17 in Narcotics Raids

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—In 20 raids last night and early today 32 city policemen arrested 17 men and women. Police Chief Anthony A. Bosch, who led the raiders, said the action smashed the city's traffic in narcotics.

"We have broken the back of the narcotics traffic in Toledo and the major source of supply for 75 to 100 addicts," Bosch declared.

Flint Strike Vote at Chevy Today

Agreement Is Reached but Must Be Ratified by Union Members

FLINT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers meet today to vote on a settlement aimed at ending a Chevrolet strike here which has affected plants throughout the nation.

★ ★ ★

General Motors and the UAW announced an agreement last night but it must be approved by the members of UAW Local 659.

Plant Manager Grosvenor Swift said he expected all operations at the plant to resume on regular shifts Monday.

E. S. Patterson, UAW regional director, said the union's bargaining team would recommend that the workers accept the agreement.

★ ★ ★

The strike shut down the plant Wednesday. The plant makes six-cylinder engines for standard Chevrolets and produces other parts for autos and trucks.

★ ★ ★

The UAW called out some 10,000 workers in a dispute over production standards.

Band Plays Fidel's Tune, Singing Drowns Noise

By MARTIN HOUSEMAN

HAVANA (UPI) — I heard the first two shots fired but because the police had taken such extraordinary precautions, I dismissed the crackling as firecrackers. But only for a moment.

Rebel soldiers and police rimming the square pointed their guns up toward rooftops, for it sounded as though the shots came from there.

Just as I started making my way through the huge crowd toward the UPI offices, the band started to play the Castro rebel hymn.

"Cubans, stand fast! Stand fast!" someone shouted. Most of the crowd stood their ground and joined in singing the hymn to drown out the shots.

Leaving the nervous, restive crowd behind, I rounded a corner just as the first burst of tommygun shots died out. I came upon a shirt-sleeved Cuban imploring a policeman to lend him his rifle.

"Give it to me, man," he said, "if you're not going to shoot, because I will."

'SHOOT AT WHAT?'

Still running back to the office, I encountered a calm-looking man and asked him if he knew what was going on.

"They're trying to panic us into ruining the inauguration of the Russian Exposition," the dark little man said. "But it didn't work because we're used to guns being fired."

He had barely uttered these words when the chatter of heavy, sustained fire broke out—it seemed from very nearby.

At that moment the brave one panicked and disappeared like lightning into a nearby building.

So did I, dashing into the UPI building just in time to get out of the way of a stampede of screaming women coming from the direction of the Prado, where the shots were fired.

Humphrey Pitches In as Dems Woo West

★ ★ ★

He made the most of it despite his claim he is not actively seeking the nomination.

Tomorrow Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy, like Humphrey an announced contender for the nomination, arrives to deliver an address which his backers hope will outshine the speeches of his rivals.

He was called in as a substitute for former President Harry S. Truman, who was forced to cancel out because of prior committments.

Upshot of Success

LONDON (UPI) — A Russian woman scientist said yesterday more than 15,000 persons had written to the Soviet government from all parts of the world asking to be shot into space in a Russian rocket.

He's Not Cooperating

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paul Robeson, Jr., son of the Negro singer, invoked the 1st, 5th, 14th, 15th and 16th Amendments yesterday in refusing to answer questions put to him by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Off-the-Record Court for 1st Offenders

He Got Caught; He Was Lucky

By G. T. TRUMBULL JR.

The lad had reason to be. He stood accused as a thief.

His parents were worried, too. They had the puzzled looks of parents trying to figure out just what gets into children, those who run afoul of the law.

Number 942 had. Along with two juveniles, the 17-year-old Clawson boy decided to steal some hub caps for his car. Number 942 did, in Birmingham on Jan. 26.

HE GOT CAUGHT

Actually, it was lucky he did. Had he not, the crew-cut youngster might have felt car stripping was a snap. He might have kept on and someday ended up with a lot bigger number than 942. It could read: 942788—Jackson Prison.

Had it not been for Birmingham police Det. Richard F. Chambers and Patrolman Keith Pennington, the boy might be headed in this criminal direction.

As he usually does in larceny complaints, Chambers could have sworn out a warrant against the boy. But investigation showed he was a first offender and he admitted the theft and said he had learned his lesson.

In his role as a police officer, Chambers, however, couldn't just let the case drop. The boy had to pay the consequences for being a thief, even though he confessed his faults.

Chambers and Pennington believed the youth was a good prospect for Taylor's little known Off-the-Record Court. The boy was in court —Taylor's office—Thursday.

The unique court, started by Taylor in 1953, is the first offender's best friend in the county. It allows a juvenile to make amends for his wrongs without having a criminal record hanging over his head. No complaint, no warrant, no entry in the police blotter is ever made. No newspaper stories either.

The Clawson boy is the 942nd to go before the court. Only 22 have gone wrong again.

To come before the court, arresting police officers must recommend it for the offender. Cases of violence are prohibited. Most of the court's offenders are there for breaking and entering and larceny.

The parents and the accused must want the unusual benefits of the Off-the-Record Court. Number 942 did. So did his parents.

The youngster, who earns $26 a week after school as a supermarket clerk, told Taylor he wanted the hub caps he stole from a Birmingham municipal parking lot for his car.

He said he was going to sell them or trade for larger ones to fit his car which, since the theft, has been put up for sale, the parents said.

"There's always somebody walking around asking to buy hub caps," the boy said.

ALL CHOKED UP

He said he didn't think of the disrespect which would have been cast on his factory-working father, mother

Auto Show in Detroit the Greatest

DETROIT (UPI) — The doors swung open today to the most elaborate auto show ever staged in the Motor City.

The show is the 47th of its kind sponsored by the Detroit Auto Dealers Assn. (DADA).

These include Cadillac's projectile-styled Cyclone, Simca's Fulgur, complete with steering wings and gyroscope stabilizers, and the Chrysler 300F, with an optional 400 horsepower engine, most powerful car engine produced in the U.S.

The imports include four models on display in the Detroit show for the first time: the DKW from Germany, the Humber and Singer from England and Sweden's Saab.

'Valentine' Hart to Speak

Dems Ready County Drive

The calendar says it's Lincoln's birthday but Oakland County Democrats insist Feb. 12 is Valentine's Day. They have a Hart to prove it.

Sen. Philip A. Hart has accepted an invitation for next Friday to help local Democrats celebrate Valentine's Day two days early and kick off their annual drive for funds and members.

The Oakland County Democratic Committee says it will be Hart's annual "Valentine's Day Message to His Constituents."

The dinner will be held in the Community Activities, Inc., Building, 5640 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township, beginning at 6:30.

Sharing the speaker's rostrum with Michigan's junior senator will be Billie S. Farnum, another Oakland favorite son and newly appointed $15,000 a year deputy chairman of the state party.

Farnum, formerly a resident of the township, will talk about plans for a statewide membership drive.

ADDED INCENTIVE

Oakland Democrats will have added incentive to push hard for 1960 members—set at 8,000 by the State Central Committee—as county leaders will award two portable television sets to the top solicitors.

Carlos G. Richardson, county chairman from Waterford Township, said they're hoping to pack the CAI Building with 600 persons to hear Hart and Farnum.

The next evening, in the same building, Hart will appear again, this time as honored guest of the Waterford Township Democratic Club at its third annual spaghetti dinner.

Dinner will be served between 5 and 8 p.m.

City Hospitals Feeling Pinch of Nurse Shortage

By PETE LOCHBILER

Because of the shortage:

1. Pontiac General Hospital may not be able to open 38 new beds to the public this month.

2. Hospital nurses are working overtime.

3. Civic leaders have been asked to help find more nurses.

Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator, said that only three of every four established nursing positions are filled.

The hospital is wondering how it will get enough nurses to staff the 200-bed addition it plans to open in early 1962.

BEDS BEFORE MARCH 1

At Pontiac General Hospital the new beds will be ready for occupancy on or before March 1, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

"But its very uncertain if we'll be able to hire enough nurses to put the beds to use," he said.

At present, the hospital has positions for 120 nurses, 80 fulltime and 40 parttime.

"The shortage is general throughout the entire country. They've been feeling it in Detroit for two years. Now we're beginning to feel it."

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital reported no shortage. Sister Mary Xavier, hospital administrator, said the hospital is fully staffed.

St. Joseph has the services of Catholic nuns, who are registered nurses, as well as nurses who are not members of the Sisters of Charity Order.

Mrs. Harper said the number of graduate nurses has not kept pace with the increased number of hospital beds in the area.

MARRIAGE CUTS RANKS

Marriage has cut into the ranks of working nurses, she said.

While 9 out of 10 nurses at Pontiac General are married, most are over 40 years of age, she said.

"Most of them do not have young children to take care of," she pointed out.

The baby sitter problem has been under serious scrutiny at Pontiac Osteopathic.

"We once wanted to establish a nursery here with baby sitters to care for the children of our nurses while they worked. It seemed to be a good way to attract married nurses to the job."

PLAN SOLVED

But complicated state regulations resulted in the plan's being shelved, said Whitlow.

Euler noted that Pontiac General has proportionately fewer fulltime registered nurses nowadays.

"To meet the shortage of fulltime nurses, we have had to draw more and more on the services of parttime nurses—mostly married women who are willing to spend at least part of the time away from their families and home life.

Euler recently told a committee of the Greater Pontiac Area Community Council that the shortage of nurses has to be made up by producing more within the community.

"A hospital has to depend on its own area for recruitment purposes," he said. "There is not much success in trying to recruit nurses away from other areas. There are shortages everywhere."

Euler urged the council to help institute a nursing education program in the Pontiac area.

His immediate suggestion was that one might be started with the help of Michigan State University Oakland or some other institution of higher learning.

"The shortage of nurses is a community problem," he said. "The community must help find a solution."

SITTING OUT THE WINTER — Buses idle in the Pontiac City Lines, Inc., garage (above) as the two-month-old bus strike continues. An attempt this week by downtown business leaders to get the company and union to agree to a status quo truce during negotions went for naught. Drivers and mechanics are seeking pay raises. The company contends it is losing money and can't grant them.

$7,000 Is Lost in 2 Burglaries

Firm in Waterford and Home in Clarkston Hit by Looters

Two burglaries involving a total loss of $7,000 were reported in the past 24 hours to sheriff's deputies and Pontiac State Police.

The burglars had climbed onto a roof at the rear of the building and entered through a second floor window, he said. They pried open the safe and a vending machine from which they took a small amount of change.

Burglars had broken into the one-story brick and frame home through a side door. Greenblatt told deputies that an estimated $4,771 worth of items had been stolen.

He said he had checked the cottage Jan. 28 and that it was all right. When he returned yesterday he found $2,000 worth of clothing missing plus two radios, a television set, linens, two comforters, a liquor cabinet and its contents.

Mrs. Eloise Kelly, 51 Lyford St., is also a waitress and agrees with Mrs. Pfahlert.

"The bus drivers deserve a raise and I don't mind paying a higher fare to keep the buses in town. The bus company should raise the fare and the drivers' wages."

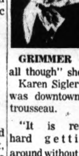

SMITH

George W. Smith, 885 Northfield St., said he, too, would pay a higher fare to keep the buses running.

"And," he said, "I can remember when I rode the streetcars in Pontiac for a nickel. I don't own a car. we'd starve to death without the buses.

"I've been riding buses in this city for a long time and the drivers here are the nicest I've ever met. All are courteous and I've never seen one fly off the handle.

GRIMMER

Mrs. Frances Grimmer, 885 Northfield St., said she thought the probem was that the bus company wasn't getting enough riders.

"A raise in fare would be better than no buses at all though" she said.

MISS SIGLER

"It is really hard getting around without the buses," she said.

"It takes a lot more time. I think the city and the bus company are to blame. The drivers should get their raise and settle this thing."

Rains Turn to Sleet; Sun Helps

By United Press International

Sunny skies and road crews joined forces to clear Southwest highways of six-foot drifts today, but freezing-rains turned roads in the North Central states into dangerous death traps.

Highways workers broke through the heavy drifts yesterday to find 40 to 50 abandoned cars blocking U.S. Highway 385 in Oklahoma.

The cars' occupants, brought to safety at the height of the storm, were expected to continue their trips today under sunny skies over Oklahoma, Texas, Eastern Colorado and Kansas.

The rains turned to sleet in the Northern Great Lakes and Wisconsin, paving highways with a deadly coating of ice.

An ice storm closed schools and highways in Central Michigan and Indiana officials blamed six traffic deaths on the rain.

Mild temperatures prevailed over the nation during the night, with the lowest reading a balmy — for February — 25 near the Canadian border. Nighttime temperatures rose 20 degrees into the 30s over New England.

The Weather Bureau predicted more rain today in the Northeast, with light snow or freezing drizzle in northern New England and lower Michigan.

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—There wasn't a dog in sight when mailman Lorne Winbigler, 23, walked up on the porch of a house in Mount Clemens Friday.

★ ★ ★

But as Winbigler was dropping the mail through a slot in the front door he became the victim of a sneak attack.

A terrier named Tinker was waiting inside the house for the mail carrier's fingers to pop through the slot.

Winbigler was given a tetanus shot at a hospital and returned to his route—wearing gloves.

Several students were arrested, but police declined to say where they were taken or give any official version of the night events.

"We don't have any information," the police said. The same laconic reply came from the Presidential Palace, the Ministry of Foreign Relations, and other government departments.

Despite the cloak of silence surrounding Mikoyan's timetable, there was no apparent tightening of security around the mansion in swank Biltmore suburb where he is staying. Neighbors said they did not see any extra guards around the house, but police cars with plainclothesmen parked overnight at nearby street corners.

Everyone Awaits Queen's Baby

Britain's Breath Baited

LONDON (UPI)—Prince Philip returned to Buckingham Palace today in his fast green sport car to join Queen Elizabeth, who is awaiting the birth of her third child.

★ ★ ★

Prince Philip drove up to the palace from Sandringham a few minutes before 62 cannons roared a salute from London tower in celebration of the eighth anniversary of the Queen's accession to the throne.

Officials at the palace took pains to tell the public that Prince Philip's return did not mean the birth had occurred.

They said they were afraid Prince Philip's return, together with the booming cannons, might mislead an eager public into a mistaken celebration.

Similar cannon salutes will be given when the royal birth takes place. It is expected at any time between now and Feb. 15.

"Do you realize now?" Taylor asked.

"Yes, sir," he choked out nearly in tears.

He was not like some other young delinquents. He attended his Catholic church regularly, received one A, four Bs and one F last quarter, and had saved $1,600 last year from his after-school job.

He had slipped up and made that one mistake. He promised Taylor it would be his last.

The prosecutor found fault with the parents, both of whom work, for allowing their son to spend all his earnings for payments on his car.

Taylor's sentence: Six months probation, no driving for 60 days unless with his father, in by 9 p.m. week nights, and that the car must be sold and his failing history grade improved as had been assured.

He said he'd cut some months off his probation if the boy went to church each Sunday. Taylor said 70 per cent of the boys who have come before his court did not go to church.

"You going to stay out of trouble now?" Taylor questioned again.

OAS to Meet as Trujillo Faces Revolt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo faced the specter of revolt today and his efforts to put it down by mass arrests brought a call for an immediate council meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS).

Venezuela asked the OAS council late yesterday to hold a special session this weekend or Monday. Venezuela charged Trujillo with "flagrant violations" of human rights. The meeting was expected to be held Monday.

Reliable diplomatic sources here said Trujillo was in the deepest trouble at home of his 30-year regime.

There was no organized rebellion. But Trujillo's secret police roundup of some 1,500 persons has caused an unprecedented upswelling of public unrest, joined in by some key members of the army, diplomats said.

AMBASSADOR GETS ORDERS

Venezuelan Ambassador Marcos Falcon Briceno received instructions from his government to ask for an immediate council meeting and promptly made the request to Council Chairman Vicente Sanchez Gavito of Mexico.

Falcon Briceno said his government regarded the mass arrests reported in the Dominican Republic as a violation of the charter of the OAS.

He said the current wave of arrests and persecution of prominent Dominican personalities culminated what he called "the repeated flagrant violations by the Dominican regime of the most cherished principles of the inter-American system—human rights, freedom and democracy."

COMPANY ABSENT

The company was not represented at yesterday's meeting. Drasher said he was to have been called for a face-to-face meeting with Sytsma as soon as the unionist agreed to a truce yesterday.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said he was ready to appoint an impartial study committee to make recommendations if the union accepted a "status quo" truce, that is, went back to work with its present wages and benefits.

One spokesman said Pontiac has the oldest buses in the company's line. He cited other cities where the company uses new buses made here at the General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

"We get the discarded buses from other cities," he said. "That is something else a fact-finding committee would look into."

Sytsma said the union would meet with the transportation company at any time or place. Negotiations are expected to resume the latter part of next week.

Said Sytsma: "The drivers, 100 per cent, are not interested in going back to work on a truce basis without a wage increase."

★ ★ ★

Are the drivers feeling the pinch after two months without work?

"They all are doing wonderfully," Sytsma said.

The Day in Birmingham

3 Requests for Rezoning Coming Up on Monday

BIRMINGHAM—Three rezoning requests will be considered Monday by City Commissioners at an 8 p.m. public hearing.

Approval of two of the changes has been recommended by the Planning Board.

However, the Planning Board has recommended denial of the request by Dr. Archie McNaughton to rezone the northeast corner of Townsend and Southfield roads from multiple family residential to non-retail business.

The board said that the clinic that Dr. McNaughton proposes to build would create parking problems in the area.

A request from the Silco Building Corp. and Dr. James C. Moloney has the recommended approval of the board to rezone a lot on the south side of Daines, east of Purdy from neighborhood business, to non-retail business.

Dr. Moloney's plans to expand his clinic would upgrade the property and would conform to the actual use of the land, the board stated.

Approval has also been recommended by the board to rezone parts of lots at the southeast corner of Ann and Frank streets from multiple business to non-retail business.

The Birmingham chapter of the "Citizens for Michigan" will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Community House.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be CFM executive director, Ralph W. Conant, who will discuss the progress of the group on a statewide basis.

The chapter will also hear a special study group report on state finances, services and government structure.

The Congregational Church of Birmingham will observe "Brotherhood Sunday" Feb. 14 with an exchange of ministers and choirs.

The Rev. Nicholas Hood, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church of Detroit, along with the 25-voice choir of the church, will exchange for the one day with the Rev. Raymond Fenner and the Birmingham choir.

The Birmingham OES No. 220 will hold a luncheon and card party Thursday at 12:45 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 324 S. Woodward Ave. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Ray Render, 22405 13-Mile Rd., Birmingham.

The Birmingham alumnae of Collegiate Sorosis of the University of Michigan will present a fashion show Feb. 17 at 2 p.m. at the Community House.

Tea will be served, during which time Mrs. Shanta Ling, of Ann Arbor, will display her collection of original Oriental costumes.

Proceeds will benefit the Senior Citizens' Guild.

FAA Is Responsible for Near Collision

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—A Federal Aviation Agency official today admitted the agency was responsible for a near crash between two passenger planes over Kentucky Thursday night.

Number Is Lowest in Decade

Sewage Disputes Cut Housing Permits

Oakland County's legal troubles in building new sewers was a big factor last year in the county's issuing of fewer housing permits than in any other of the decade.

Only 5,141 dwelling permits were granted throughout the county, compared to 6,494 in 1958 and 12,709 in 1954, the biggest year, according to figures released by the Detroit Regional Planning Commission.

The sharp decline was not restricted to Oakland County, however. The Commission said the entire Detroit regional area—Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe and part of Washtenaw counties—experienced a downward trend too.

Construction of only 21,372 dwellings was permitted in this area, compared to 24,396 in 1958, the previous low. This was a 12.4 per cent drop.

★ ★ ★

Besides the lack of sewer facilities, the DRPC blamed the shortage of mortgage money for the decrease.

Bloomfield Township led all other Oakland County communities in housing permits with 476. Farmington Township was second with 444, Southfield third with 417, and Waterford Township fourth with 395.

Bloomfield Township ranked 10th in the number of permits issued among the communities in the Detroit region.

Persistence Pays: Wedding Bells Ring

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Alvin Noffsinger, 75, fulfilled a dream he has harbored since he was 12 years old when he married Velva Rohr, 70, here last night.

★ ★ ★

Noffsinger first decided he wanted to marry Velva 63 years ago in Rose Hill, Ohio, but her parents said she was too young to marry.

The ardent suitor persisted even after Velva's family moved from Rose Hill to Wexford County, a few years after the couple first met. He came to Michigan with his family a year later.

In 1906 he proposed marriage four times, but each time wedding plans were blocked by Velva's parents' objections that she was too young.

Frustrated, both Velva and Noffsinger eventually married someone else. Velva married William J. Bigelow but her husband died. Noffsinger became a widower.

Finally, Noffsinger tried again. This time Velva accepted and there were no objections.

Pontiac Central's title-conscious basketball team returned to the victory trail Friday night—and how!

Every member of the 12-man varsity squad saw action and nine of them scored as the Chiefs lambasted Flint Central, 77-44, in a Saginaw Valley Conference game at the PCH gymnasium.

It was close only during the 1st quarter, then coach Art Van Ryzin's hot-shooting warriors broke the contest wide open and breezed to their 8th triumph of the season in 10 starts.

The Chiefs trailed five times in the 1st period, once by four points, before bagging six straight points in the last minute to gain a 20-15 lead entering the 2nd stanza.

★ ★ ★

It was never a contest after that. The Chiefs poured 25 points through the hoop in the 2nd session for a commanding 45-26 halftime edge and the rest was merely frosting on the cake.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's lead zoomed to 61-32 at the end of the 3rd quarter and Joe Dowdy's Flint Indians were behind by 35 points, 67-32, early in the 4th period before Van Ryzin emptied his bench.

★ ★ ★

Runnerup Flint Northern stayed right on Pontiac's heels last night and virtually eliminated Arthur Hill from further title contention by whipping the Hillites, 58-42, at Flint. Saginaw High trounced Bay City, 72-60, at Saginaw in the other league game.

Henry Robertson, Bill Pritchett and George Fed were the ringleaders in yesterday's runaway win for the Chiefs.

Robertson served notice that he's rounding into the top form after his recovery from a broken wrist by firing 18 points to capture individual game scoring honors. Pritchett came next with 17 and Fed contributed 14.

★ ★ ★

The Robertson-Pritchett-Fed trio accounted for all but two of the 25 points in the 2nd stanza with the agile Fed netting nine and Robertson eight.

★ ★ ★

It was a miserable evening for Valley scoring leaders. Flint Central's Jack Rashleigh, the loop's top scorer entering yesterday's game, was held to six points. Pontiac's Booker Hurner, who went into the contest tied for 2nd place, tallied only two points and fouled out late in the 3rd stanza.

Not a single Flint Central player broke into double figures in the scoring column. Nine points by Jim Copeland topped the Indian scoresheet. Dowdy also used 12 cagers and nine scored.

The 1st quarter was a see-saw affair with Flint enjoying a 10-6 edge midway through the session. Pontiac took the lead for keeps in the final minute on a field goal and two foul shots by Pritchett. Then the romp began.

★ ★ ★

Junior forward Leon Prentice saw his first action in a PCH varsity uniform after regaining scholastic eligibility and he made eight points.

★ ★ ★

The victory was Pontiac's 2nd over the Indians this season and snapped a two-game losing skein for the Chiefs. It was the 8th straight loss for the Indians, leaving them stuck in the Valley basement with a 1-7 mark and 1-10 altogether.

Waterford Falls; Walled Lake Wins

By DICK BUCK

One rut sometimes leads to another.

So it shouldn't be surprising that Waterford extended its losing streak to six straight by bowing to Southfield 75-60.

The final score is no true indication of most of the game, which was close until early in the 4th quarter.

★ ★ ★

The Bluejays literally broke the Skippers' hearts — on eight breakaways during the game good for 16 uncontested points. This was one point more than the margin of victory.

Walled Lake meanwhile continued its upswing in the league by nipping Farmington 61-59 when Bill Allen dropped in two foul shots with 40 seconds to play.

Harvey Chapman's fielder tied the score 59-59 just a moment earlier. Farmington tied the score several times in the second half but never managed the lead.

The victory moved Walled Lake into second place in the league behind Northern which has virtually clinched the title with a 7-0 mark.

Two Southfield players, John Van Brunt and Ed Schlaff, combined to score only nine points less than the entire Skipper quintet. Van Brunt bucketed 26 points and Schlaff 25.

The hosts spotted Waterford an early 8-2 lead, but quickly came back to go ahead, 12-9, midway through the 1st period.

Waterford's rebounding came to life early in the 2nd quarter and brought the Skippers back to a 21-21 deadlock.

Stigers was sidelined briefly just before the intermission by a knee injury. He came out in the 2nd half with the knee taped and seemed a bit hampered on defense. He still managed to score seven of his 15 points in that 2nd half.

The Skippers continued their pattern of giving Southfield a lead and then fighting back into a tie in the 3rd period. After trailing 41-35, Waterford's Jerry Lewis knotted the count once more at 43 apiece with 3:50 left in the 3rd period.

Then came the 4th stanza. And the roof fell in on Waterford.

Southfield seemingly could do almost no wrong with their shooting, particularly the two big guns, Van Brunt and Schlaff. Van Brunt dropped eight and Schlaff 10 points in the high-powered final session.

Huskies Trounce Berkley 51-38 for 7th Straight

By CHUCK ABAIR

Pontiac Northern blew hot and cold all the way but still had little trouble posting a 51-38 triumph at Berkley to wrap up at least a share of the Inter-Lakes championship last night.

It was the Huskies seventh straight league victory. A win in any of the three remaining loop contests will give PNH its first I-L trophy in any sport in this opening season.

Walled Lake, currently strong, remains the only team with a chance to catch Dick Hall's cagers. They clash at the Viking court next Friday so it could be settled right then and there.

Northern will be pushing hard for a sweep of the final trio in hopes of having a perfect league record as against what is expected to be a winless "outside" finish.

PNH will have to show a great deal more than it did last night to give the powerful Chiefs any trouble. They played in spurts at Berkley.

The game was all Northern after it was deadlocked 7-7 with 4:20 gone on the clock. The quarter ended 14-7 and winners pulled away to stay.

A seven-point spree by aggressive Steve Thompson made it 23-8 midway into the second period. It was cut down to 26-16 at halftime as new Berkley scoring ace Ken Martins started to find the range.

Northern came roaring out from the intermission to go ahead by 17 before Berkley got going again. Another streak by the Red and White put it back to 17 at 39-22 starting the fourth.

Every time Berkley would start fighting back trying to make a game out of it the Huskies would catch fire, get the points back, and then coast along again.

The closest the graduation-riddled Bears got in the closing eight minutes was 11 despite the efforts of Martin, who finished with 20. He made seven of 10 floor shots after starting out 1-for-9.

A well-worked Northern zone prevented the home club from getting many easy shots and the rebound work of Thompson, Dennis Vincent and newcomer Bill Sekelich didn't allow many second chances.

Thompson topped the Huskies with 15 followed closely by Bruce Norton's 14—11 in the initial half. They had a 33.3 field goal shooting percentage to Berkley's 24.

Eleventh Rated North County 5 Defeats Imlay

Win Gives Blackhawks Loop Lead; Showdown Next Week

Hoping to regain some of the prestige it lost in the state Class C ratings by losing to Millington last week, Ortonville put together a big 4th quarter to defeat Imlay City, 63-59, in a South Central League game last night.

The victory gave Ortonville a half game lead over idle Oxford in the league and made ready for the big showdown game next week at Oxford.

It looked like curtains for the 11th ranked Blackhawks as Imlay ran up a 13 point lead midway in the third quarter, but a full court press finally brought the score to 52-52 with four minutes to play.

A bucket by Jim Hutchings gave Ortonville the lead 55-53 and at 59-57 Earl Richardson came through with a 3-pointer to break it open for Ortonville with 30 seconds left.

Hutchings who got 23 points, collected 13 of them in the final quarter. Richardson got 20 and Myers 18. Pete Brabb's 23 paced Imlay.

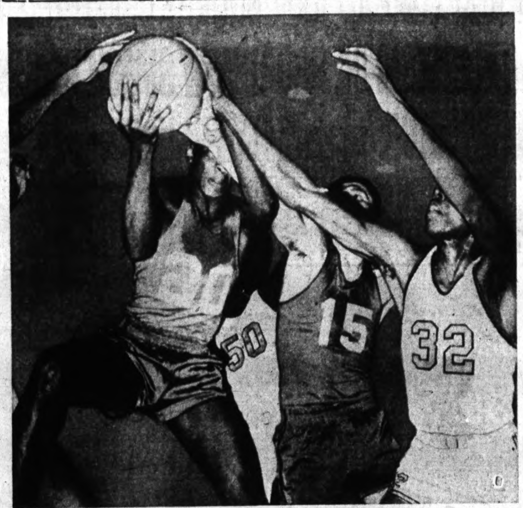

Ortonville is now 9-1 for the season and 5-1 in the league. Oxford is 4-1 in the SCL.

In another league game last night, Millington shoved North Branch deeper into the basement with a 50-48 victory. Ned Lockwood's 13 paced the winners with Ralph Deshetsky getting 14 for North Branch.

Rochester 60-46 Tri-County Winner

Falcons Delay Romeo's Title March

Any ideas Romeo had of running away with the Tri-County League basketball championship were squelched by Rochester last night.

Gene Konley's Falcons went on a scoring binge in the 4th quarter at Rochester and handed Romeo a convincing 60-46 defeat, the 1st league setback in four games for the Bulldogs.

The home court also was friendly to Lapeer yesterday as the Panthers trounced L'Anse Creuse, 67-48, in the other Tri-County contest.

Rochester's triumph, engineered by the 27-point scoring spree of Bill Mason, brought at least a temporary halt to Romeo's rapid run for the title.

Romeo now leads the conference race with a 3-1 record while Lapeer and Rochester are tied for 2nd place at 2-2. L'Anse Creuse stands 1-3. Each team has two loop games remaining.

The Rochester-Romeo game was close until the 4th quarter. The two teams battled through a see-saw 1st half and were never more than four points apart with Romeo holding a 24-23 halftime lead.

Rochester moved ahead for keeps in the 3rd period and at one time led by seven points, but the Bulldogs kept plugging away and the Falcons were in front by only three entering the finale, 39-36.

With Mason steering the attack, Rochester broke the contest wide open in the 4th period by outscoring the Bulldogs, 21-10. Mason bagged 11 of his 27 points in the final stanza as the Falcons pulled steadily away.

Bill Deneen contributed 17 points to the Rochester offense as the Falcons posted their 3rd win of the season in 10 starts. Jim Ritter paced Romeo with 16 points and teammate Larry Leto added a dozen. The loss gave Romeo an overall 5-6 record.

Lapeer had no trouble disposing of L'Anse Creuse for its 2nd victory in 11 tries. The Panthers jumped off to a 19-7 1st-period advantage and led all the way, outscoring L'Anse in every quarter.

Tom Connors, Dick Schuerin and Art Dennis were Lapeer's heavy scoring artillery with 19, 17 and 14 points, respectively. Don Meldrum netted 15 for L'Anse, whose overall record now reads 1-11.

EML Has Four Way Tie

For the 4th straight basketball night, the lead in the Eastern Michigan League has changed.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham, Ferndale, Port Huron and East Detroit are all back in a four-way tie for first place after each had enjoyed short-lived leadership at one time during the past three weeks.

Ferndale routed East Detroit, the leader prior to last night, 73-42; Birmingham bounced Hazel Park, 61-53, and Port Huron spanked hapless Royal Oak Kimball, 57-33.

The Maples led 41-21 and never were in trouble except for a third period drought when Hazel Park got 14 straight points to move within 43-39. Birmingham got only two points in the period, but then pulled away in the final quarter.

Merv Gallup was the Birmingham pacesetter with 20 while three Hazel Park players each got 17 and accounted for all but two of the total points. Jim Zeiter, Bob Fulcher and Bill Boldt each had 17.

Ferndale avenged an earlier loss to East Detroit with Dennis Stinson pouring in 30 points, his highest output of the season. Not an East Detroit player managed to hit double figures.

★ ★ ★

Port Huron led 17-3 after one quarter and never was seriously threatened.

★ ★ ★

Birmingham's visit to Port Huron next week could be the eliminating game for one of the teams as Ferndale and East Detroit each have easier games against Hazel Park and Mt. Clemens.

Armada Closer to Crown

Armada moved closer to the Southern Thumb League crown last night by handing its closest competitor, Almont, a 76-53 setback.

Two other nip and tuck games featured league play as Memphis edged Dryden 47-46, and Capac nipped Brown City, 44-43. Anchor Bay bounced New Haven, 59-50 in the other contest.

Two foul shots in last five second by John Staniloiu won for Capac after Jerry Snyder had put Brown City ahead, 43-42, on a free throw. Bill Abraham had 15 for the winners and John Liebler 12 for Brown City.

★ ★ ★

Dryden held a 43-42 lead with only 45 seconds to play but four personals and a technical helped the Memphis cause.

Hildred Lewis and Ken Stahl had 10 for Memphis, Carl Gronden 14 for Dryden.

Successful Farm Week Winds Up

EAST LANSING (AP)—One of the best attended Farmers' Week programs in history wound up at Michigan State University yesterday. Officials estimated some 50,000 visitors viewed a variety of exhibits and heard hundreds of farm lectures.

At a closing banquet, seven groups of top Michigan farmers were cited for outstanding agricultural feats.

Highest ranking farmers in each group included:

All the averages were for three-year periods.

An Ottawa County farmer, Eli Nykamp, was also honored for general labor efficiency.

BREATH OF LIFE—Marcella Komara demonstrates a new emergency life saver in Cleveland, Ohio. It is an oxygen dispenser weighing less than two pounds and carrying a one-hour supply of pure medical oxygen. It starts flowing the instant the mask is put to face.

He's in the Dog House (That's What He Wanted)

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—As a watch dog, a part collie named Lassie is in the doghouse figuratively as well as literally.

Awakened by her howling, owner Frank Schwartz found her sitting outside her doghouse in a driving rain. Inside was a raccoon. Lassie refused to attack the raccoon and Schwartz finally shot the intruder.

MacMurray Show Is Satire About Cowboys

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Cowboys Can Be Creeps" is positively not the subtitle of the TV show, "The American Cowboy," which Fred MacMurray, Max Liebman and other deep thinkers are presenting Feb. 10—but Fred MacMurray admits it could have been.

"What was a cowboy's home-on-the-range life like? What was his take-home pay? When he paid his income tax, could he charge off deterioration on his horse, and were the oats deductible? What was the cowboy's favorite breakfast food? Bloody Marys? What was a cowboy doing when he wasn't cowboying? Cowgirling?

"He must have gotten off his horse once in a while—otherwise there wouldn't have been all those little cowboys," MacMurray grinned when we talked about it the other day. Then he added.

Another thing—what really went on inside those covered wagons? Which, incidentally, must have smelled awful.

I mean, they were so crowded! And there were no breath-perfumes back thar in the 80s and 90s. Caorl Burnett, Edie Adams, Hans Konreid and Wally Cox intend to show that some of the cowpokes had to sleep hanging up on nails.

"It may seem strange for me to be doing this show, since I've done a lot of westerns, but I guess it's sort of a satire," explained MacMurray. "Then there's the cowboy as a method actor — gettin' himself emotionally prepared to deliver some long speech such as 'Yep' or 'Nope.'"

"And there's something that isn't funny — well, maybe it is, at that. I sing.

MacMURRAY

"Western songs that never-quite made the Hit Parade. Like 'Alfalfa Rose . . .'"

MacMurray and his wife, June Haver, have a ranch up near San Francisco where he raises Angus cattle. He comes from Kankakee, Ill., Beaver Dam, Wis., Waukesha, Wis., and other places—and knows cowboys well. He asks June Haver to come down to lunch and meet the press, but she declines.

"You're the one that's working. You go down and do your interview," she says.

"June doesn't want any more of it, which I'm very happy about," he says.

Fred claims he's got old clothes he hangs onto, figuring that some day he'll get a picture or TV part he'll need them in. Of course, this could run up into a warehouse of old clothes.

He had to dig up some western clothes for the TV show about American cowboys and succeeded in buying some with a label of "Broken Bow, Mont.," on them.

"I looked a little closer, though," he said, "and discovered that their true origin was the New York garment district."

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jackie Gleason says he dreams of opening a string of log cabins, "for old-fashioned presidents to be born in."

★ ★ ★

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A gentleman is a man who can tell you all about his problems—but doesn't.

Pres. Eisenhower forecasts that '60 will be our most prosperous year, and one husband said nervously: "I wish he wouldn't talk that way in front of my wife." . . . That's earl, brother.

Pony Express Born Just 100 Years Ago

"Must be expert riders willing to risk death daily. Orphans preferred. Wages $25 a week. Apply, Central Overland Express, Alta Bldg., Montgomery St."

The need for faster mail to California had become acute by 1860 when nearly a half million people were living in what are now California, Oregon and Washington.

A letter from New York to the Pacific Coast often cost as much as $5 to send and took six months or a year to deliver. Wits said that a California Congressman might not receive helpful advice from his constituents until his term had expired.

SENATOR GETS ACTION

A senator's complaint finally got action from a freighting and stage firm—Russell, Majors and Waddell. Determined to set up a fast mail service with California, they quickly built 190 stations, bought 500 horses and hired 80 riders.

An advertisement in the New York Herald announced that the first Pony Express courier would carry mail westward from the end of the telegraph line in Missouri starting April 3, 1860.

On the appointed day, a great crowd assembled on the streets of St. Joseph, Mo., to see the rider off. The mayor proved equal to the occasion.

"The mail must go!" he exclaimed. "Hurled by flesh and blood across 2,000 miles of desolate space —Fort Kearney, Laramie, South Pass, Fort Bridger, Salt Lake City, Neither storms, fatigue, darkness, mountain or Indians, burning sands or snow must stop the precious bags!"

Each rider raced for about 100 miles, changing horses every 10 to 15 miles. His nail pouch weighed only about 15 pounds, for letters were written on paper as thin as chiffon.

His manners were rough, but the devoutly religious managers of the firm had done their best to improve him. They issued him a Bible and made him swear not to drink or curse.

With a single exception, the Pony Express riders got the mail pouch through every time despite Indians, wolves, mountain lions, and blizzards. Not surprisingly, at least one graduate of the Pony Express later became famous. He was William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody.

Rolling in Clover—Four-Leaf Kind

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Tom Henry is rolling in clover — the four-leaf kind.

Since last April 13, Mrs. Henry claims she has found more than 1,500 four-leaf clovers in the yard at her home. In one day, she says, she found 175.

She also found one six-leaf and one seven-leaf clover which she put in her freezer for safe-keeping.

And five leafs—they're a dime a dozen. But Mrs. Henry never picks them. Bad luck, she says.

Acting Supervisor Puts Teeth In to Order Plea

"Don't get me excited. I'm breaking in new dentures and I have to speak carefully. If I get excited, I won't be able to speak at all."

It Doesn't Scare Them

TOJUNGA, Calif. (UPI) — Fourteen telephone threats that a bomb was hidden in the auditorium of Mt. Cleason Junior High School caused little fright among students and teachers. The school has no auditorium.

Woman Driver Gets Herself in Real Hole

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mrs. Alfrieda Vickgrs drove by a barricade by mistake and got herself into a real hole. Her car skidded into a 15-foot construction excavation, landing upside down.

She was only slightly injured, but found she was unable to climb the steep sides of the muddy hole. It was an hour later before a passerby heard her cries for help and summoned aid.
