Press Wins 3 Honors

The Pontiac Press and its staffers have been awarded three first-place honors in the 1964 National Editorial Association's Better Newspaper Contest.

The Press was judged best in the general excellence division of the contest which drew 2,469 entries in 33 categories. Papers participating totaled 504 in 46 states.

Also winning first place honors were a column by Press City Editor John J. Crowley, and a photograph by Edward R. Noble.

The results were announced at the awards banquet last night in New York. Press Editor John W. Fitzgerald accepted the honors.

The judges praised the Press for clarity and depth of news, readability, and its advertising and use of pictures.

SERVES AREA WELL

"Promotion of community interest was not limited to Pontiac itself, but also to those areas served by the newspaper," the judges said.

City Editor Crowley's column was one depicting the lack of fields for city children to play in, citing the nostalgic memories of digging holes, swinging from trees, and discovering frogs.

Crowley, 38, of 16 Utica Rd., became city editor when he joined The Press in June 1961. Previously, he had been with the Detroit Free Press, the Muskegon Chronicle, and the Owosso Argus-Press.

Before coming to The Press, he worked 15 months on weekly papers in the Detroit area.

The Birmingham Eclectic won first place in the general excellence division for weekly papers.

Noble's prize-winner was a picture of four National Guard marksmen peering through the center of a target they had

Three electronic flash units were used, and the Mimi-flex camera was set at f16.

Noble, 28, of 329 Wordsworth, Ferndale, has been a photographer at The Press since August 1961. He has won numerous prizes in other photo contests.

Dulles Urges FBI Step-Up in Mississippi

'Control, Prosecute Terrorist Activities' in Civil Rights Strife

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former CIA Director Allen Dulles said today he had recommended to President Johnson stepped-up FBI activity to "control and prosecute terrorist activities" in Mississippi.

But Dulles, just back from Mississippi as Johnson's special emissary, said Mississippi state and local authorities "have the main burden in suppressing these terrorist activities."

Dulles said that during a conference of nearly two hours with Johnson, they called Mississippi Gov. Paul Johnson.

favorably," but added that he would leave it to the governor to express his own views.

Dulles said he recommended a variety of local and state, "and as appropriate, federal," actions to protect Negroes and white civil rights workers from terrorism.

Johnson sent Dulles to Mississippi after three civil rights workers, two white youths and one Negro, disappeared last Sunday night in the east-central area of Mississippi near the town of Philadelphia.

Small groups of sailors combed red clay roads and trails south of Philadelphia today in a broadening hunt for the three missing civil rights workers.

Wearing high boots as protection against water moccasins and rattlers, they walked over rolling hillsides and swamps.

MARSHALLS CREEK, Pa. (AP) — A truck carrying 15 tons of explosives — ammonium nitrate and dynamite — caught fire and exploded just before dawn today, killing six and injuring 10.

The blast dug a crater 10 feet deep and 40 wide a few miles south of this Pocono Mountain resort town.

It tore apart a reptile farm and freed hundreds of snakes — some of them poisonous. Police stalked them with their service revolvers and believed they killed most of them.

Killed were three volunteer firemen, a truck driver who had stopped at the scene, a woman riding in a station wagon and a vacationing school teacher who left the nearby hotel of his father when the fire broke out.

William Paesch, 48, of Baltimore, was driving past with his wife when the truck exploded.

"I saw flames and in no more than a matter of seconds I saw a large red glow and heard an explosion," Paesch said.

Mrs. Paesch was killed. Three volunteer firemen fighting the fire in the truck also were killed. The truck driver was not hurt.

LIKE BOMB

"I've never seen an atomic explosion but that's what I thought it was," Paesch told newsmen at the hospital in nearby

Stroudsburg. "My wife gave a groan and then everything in the whole area was terribly quiet."

Paesch said he tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on his wife but she was dead on arrival at the hospital, of an apparent concussion.

The three volunteer firemen were identified as Earl Miller, Leonard Mosier and Edward Hines.

Also killed were John Regina, 22, Marshalls Creek, son of the owner of the Regina Hotel, located a few hundred yards from the blast and an unidentified truck driver.

The blast broke windows in homes as far away as Stroudsburg, some 10 miles away.

Homes in the immediate vicinity were shattered, doors blown off, windows knocked in.

Mrs. Ruth Livingston, 51, who lived in a trailer at the reptile farm, was among the injured. The trailer was shattered so badly it took 20 minutes for fire officials to get her out.

An eyewitness, John Florio, 21, of Pleasantville, N.Y., said volunteer firemen, "were fighting up very close to the burning truck."

School Tax Vote Slated for October

Property owners in the Pontiac School District will vote Friday, Oct. 2, on a 10-year millage proposal to continue 8.75 mills of taxes.

The school board last night approved a resolution for the special fall school election, concurring with recommendations of a board-appointed citizens committee.

The 10-year term of the proposed millage will restrict the balloting to property owners under the new state constitution.

Recommended by the Pontiac School Study Committee, the 8.75 mills is for operational expenses. The election will be a renewal of existing millage.

Members of the citizens group favored the 10-year term because they thought this would enable long-term planning.

MILLAGE RENEWAL

In addition, the study committee thought that the renewal aspect of the millage would be favored by a majority of voters.

Only one board member — Monroe M. Osnum — questioned the 10-year term on the proposed millage.

Osnum, emphasizing that he definitely was in favor of the 8.75 mills being renewed, doubted if it could pass with only property owners voting.

FEARS RISKY

"Although I feel quite strongly about the 8.75," Osnum said, "I think it is taking a calculated risk (going for 10 years) and we could lose it."

The expiring 8.75 levy was voted in 1954 as an "open" millage. During the first five years, the tax revenues were used for buildings. Now the entire 8.75 mills are used for operation.

Senate OKays Debt Limit Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved the biggest increase in the national debt limit since World War II today, raising the ceiling to a record $224 billion.

The Senate acted one day after cutting deeply into government revenues with an election-year slash of excise taxes which could cost the treasury more than $500 million.

In today's action, the Senate voted to raise the spending ceiling by $9 billion from the current temporary national debt limit of $215 billion. The extension would continue through June 30, 1965.

The House previously approved a similar increase in the temporary debt limit, assuring enactment before the present ceiling expires at the end of the month.

LBJ Due in State; Scranton After Votes

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson may be Michigan's guest tonight and Saturday.

The White House left this possibility open in announcing the President's schedule for a Detroit visit on which he will address a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner of the Democratic Party tonight in Cobo Hall.

The announced itinerary does not carry the President beyond the Cobo Hall speech.

It was reported in Washington he was considering staying overnight and flying from Detroit Saturday to Minneapolis, where he is to address another Democratic dinner that night.

Whether he returns to Washington between the two political speeches is expected to be influenced by developments in the Mississippi racial situation.

FIRST LADY

Mrs. Johnson was due to fly in from Mackinac Island, where she spent yesterday, and this morning relaxing, about the time the President arrives from Washington.

Democrats, meanwhile, were drumming up what they hope will be a big downtown welcome for Johnson.

Authorities put their final touches on security arrangements, with the City of Detroit assigning 400 uniformed policemen and 90 plainclothes detectives to work with Secret Service agents.

State Police and the Wayne County sheriff's department were to augment this force.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — William W. Scranton hoped today to put some 45 Michigan delegates on ice for second-ballot support of his presidential nomination at next month's San Francisco GOP convention.

Scranton squeezed more than 28 hours of Michigan campaigning into his campaign to overtake front-runner Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who holds a commanding lead in delegate strength.

Though three Michigan delegates were counted in Goldwater, the rest of the 48-member delegation are following the favorite son lead of Gov. Romney to the first ballot.

Scranton told a news conference last night indications were in Michigan "that we're in a very favorable position."

The schedule for Scranton's Michigan visit included a swing to Detroit to address the Detroit Press Club, then a return to Lansing for an evening meeting with Michigan delegates.

TO LEAVE LANSING

The governor planned to leave Lansing at 9:30 p.m. for Harrisburg.

Scranton came to Lansing yesterday after delegate-hunting sorties in Miami, Fla., and Cleveland, Ohio. In both states only small proportions of the delegations turned out.

However, the governor contended the numbers of delegates that met with him were not a true sign of his support in those states.

Bloomfield Twp. Officials Seek Removal of Median

"That thing in the center of the road has got to go," Bloomfield Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke proclaimed this morning.

"That thing" is a concrete median strip which played a central role in the deaths of two motorists and the hospitalization of nine others last week.

Since the beginning of the year, 11 accidents have been attributed to the strip which nominally separates southbound from northbound travel on Telegraph.

Dehnke said the median is more effective in causing head-on collisions on the 3½-mile stretch between 14 Mile and Long Lake roads.

He and other township officials planned today to schedule a meeting with State Highway Department representatives to again ask that the median be removed.

"I got confused," she said. And she mailed the dog.

"The postal authorities came," Miss Gilmore explained later. "A man in a uniform with a key. He opened the box, and there was Snipper, right down in the bottom. Some lady had dropped a letter on his head."

"I still don't understand why it was put in in the first place," Dehnke said. "Apparently no one does."

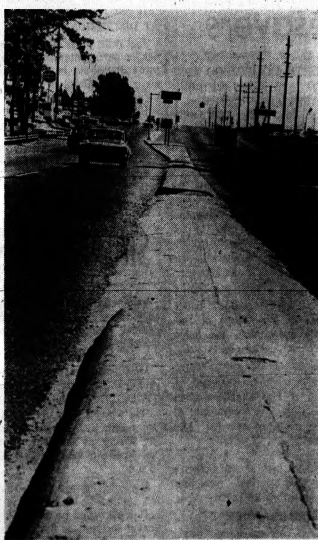

CAUSING TROUBLE

The raised median was added when Telegraph became a four-lane highway in the 1940s and it's been causing trouble ever since, he said.

"They did the same thing to M23 above Bay City," the chief reported. "There was so much fuss raised about all the accidents and fatalities that they took it out."

"We complained about it a year ago. They said they'd like to do something about it but couldn't see their way clear at the time."

Neither Rain Nor Snow Nor-Aww! It's a Dog's Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gale Gilmore isn't sure how it happened.

She walked up to a Sunset Strip mailbox Thursday with a package to mail in one hand and her black and white mongrel puppy, Snipper, in the other.

"I got confused," she said. And she mailed the dog.

"The postal authorities came," Miss Gilmore explained later. "A man in a uniform with a key. He opened the box, and there was Snipper, right down in the bottom. Some lady had dropped a letter on his head."

Fatal Shooting Leads to Strike in Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — The fatal shooting of a taxi driver in a row after a traffic collision led to a 24-hour strike by cabbies and bus drivers in La Paz today.

The shooting occurred Wednesday night. Cab and bus drivers protested yesterday by stopping their vehicles and blocking all traffic in the business section of this mountain capital.

Unsuccessful Personal Diplomacy

Cyprus Talks Fail; LBJ Goes to U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Balked in efforts to set up direct talks between Greece and Turkey, the Johnson administration today turned to the United Nations for an easing of the explosive Cyprus crisis.

After four days of apparently unsuccessful personal diplomacy, President Johnson dispatched Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, his Cyprus troubleshooter, to New York to report to U.N. officials on the results of his talks with Turkish Prime Minister Ismet Inonu and Greek Prime Minister George Papandreu.

Fearful of open warfare between the two North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies, Johnson tried to convince Inonu and Papandreu they should open direct diplomatic negotiations on a Cyprus settlement.

The Greek Cypriots outnumber the Turkish minority on Cyprus almost 5 to 1, and Greece advocates self-determination for the eastern Mediterranean island, Turkey firmly rejects Enosis—union of Cyprus with Greece.

NEED CONCESSIONS

Johnson told both men their countries would have to make concessions, but argued this is in the interest of preventing a war between NATO allies and blocking a new Communist thrust into the area. The Soviet Union reportedly promised heavy arms aid to the Greek Cypriot government.

After seeing Johnson Monday and Tuesday, Inonu reportedly left with the understanding that he would go along with negotiations if they proved feasible. Papandreu saw the President Wednesday and again Thursday and turned down his appeal.

Now Ball plans to talk with Papandreu and Inonu in New York as well as report to U.N.

Secretary-General U Thant and to the U.N. Cyprus mediator, Ambassador Sakari S. Tuomioja of Finland. He is prepared to promise strong U.S. support for a more intensive campaign by Tuomioja to get the Athens and Ankara governments moving toward some direct attack on their dangerous differences.

After rebuffing Johnson's appeal, Papandreu told reporters at Blair House, the President's guest house: "I do not think the views held on each side are mature enough for such a meeting. This is my attitude on all levels (of negotiation)."

REJECT 'SUMMIT'

U.S. officials reject any suggestion that the United States proposed a "summit" meeting between Papandreu and Inonu. That, in fact, had been considered impracticable from the beginning.

But Johnson had wanted the two men to send emissaries to a meeting.

Papandreu said the "competent" person to do the negotiating is Tuomioja, who was appointed mediator under the U.N.

resolution which sent peace-keeping forces into Cyprus three months ago. So far he has not made any progress in resolving differences between the two sides.

Islanders Head Tax

Wanted to Import LBJ

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP)—The Papuans of New Hanover Island are paying their head taxes, but they are unhappy about it. They wanted to use the money to hire President Johnson to rule their island.

The islanders began to hand over their taxes of $4.48 a year each to the native council only after a squad of 40 policemen was sent to the island. They had refused to pay the tax, levied by the Australian government.

The islanders have liked Americans ever since World War II, when American bases were set up in the Bismarck archipelago of the southwest Pacific.

Two years ago, the Papuans took a U. N. mission they wanted the United States to take over New Hanover from Australia. From what they saw of U.S. soldiers in the war, the islanders believe all Americans are rich. If they could just hire Johnson, they figured, everyone on the island would be rich too.

Michael J. Healy, the district commissioner, says there are about 2,000 "Lyndon Johnson cultists" among the island's 7,000 people.

High Tribunal Usurps States' Apportionment

Although differing with the U.S. Supreme Court is about as fruitless as protesting an umpire's call of a pitched ball, it does not preclude disagreement with its decrees.

One that currently has met such a fate is its "one man, one vote" apportionment formula for state legislative districts. In other words, all districts must have as nearly an equal number of residents as practicable.

Not only has there been widespread dissent to the ruling among the body of thoughtful Americans, but three of the nine members of the Court themselves opposed it.

Seldom has a decision by the high court been so far-reaching, since it affects the legislative makeup of approximately four-fifths of the Country's 50 states — Michigan, of course, included.

The Supreme Court of the United States (or SCOTUS, as it has come to be called) by invading the area of state legislative districting, hitherto considered the inviolate domain of the respective commonwealths, may conceivably have opened a can of pretty unmanageable legislative worms.

Having established its authority on the state level, what's to prevent SCOTUS from going deeper into the legislative and executive establishment and telling cities, towns and villages on what basis they may elect their representative bodies?

We think that in his dissenting opinion from the court majority ruling on the apportionment decision, Associate Justice JOHN M. HARLAN said a judicial mouthful. In it, he says: "The Constitution is not a panacea for every blot upon the public welfare. Nor should this court, ordained as a judicial body, be thought of as a general haven for reform movements."

Would Stiffer Penalties Lower Crime Rate?

At a time when many American cities are becoming jungles of violence with many citizens so fearful for their safety they've become passive observers of monstrous forms of lawlessness, it is interesting to note that foreign cities offer no such parallel.

In countries back of the Iron Curtain, for instance, the state keeps a close watch on all citizens through its police system. As a result, the streets of Communist countries are relatively free of crime.

In Britain, on the other hand, where individual rights are firmly respected, courts are severe in dealing with criminals. Few judges take the view that criminals merely are sick people who need treatment. High-ranking police officials are critical of the U.S. tendency to hold that the rights of culprits have priority over those of the law-abiding public.

The police are an ever-present force in France. Paris alone numbers 30,000 law enforcers. There are frequently unruly political demonstrations, but street violence American-style is rare in France.

Italians have traditionally accorded a great amount of power and authority to the police. Here, too, society, not the criminal, gets the benefit of the doubt, with courts not inclined to turn criminals loose on technicalities. West Germany has few assaults and murders. After a post-war period of soft sentences and rising crime, the trend now is back toward stiffer sentences.

Back on the North American Continent, Canada is experiencing some of the same problems as the United States. Police complain of frustration from inconsistent laws and lack of cooperation on the part of the public. And Mexico is having its troubles, mainly due to overcrowded jails and the tendency to release criminals after a short period of token confinement.

The high or low incidence of crime from one country to another seems to boil down to the over-all philosophy of the responsible public, the police and the courts toward the enemies of society.

We think that the criminal element in America has been getting away with murder — figuratively and literally — for too long, and it is time the entire Country rose in a concerted movement to put a stop to it.

LBJ Faces Test With Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, a man of highly competitive spirit mixed with endless and determined energy, heads into one of the biggest tests of his career.

This is with his own Democratic-run Congress. When he campaigns for election he will need a good record of domestic achievement to point to.

Congress, under his persistent prodding, has two major achievements to its credit so far this year: 1—A Tax cut and 2—a civil liberties bill which seems certain of passage.

But at a news conference this week he said there were about 30 bills he hoped to get through.

To do all that Congress will have to work right up until early July, before the Republican convention begins, and then return and probably work until the Democratic convention starts Aug. 24.

6-DAY WEEK
He suggested that from now on, Congress work six days a week.

The Senate alone has a mountain of work piled up, the result of its months of debate on the civil rights bill, which it passed last Friday. Everything else got stalled until that job was done.

Johnson, a lot more persistent operator in pushing Congress for what he wants than President Kennedy was, telephones, buttholes, and otherwise unrelentingly puts the heat on.

But he never, if only because this is his first year in the presidency, came up against the problem in front of him now. He will need all his ingenuity to build his record.

MEDICARE DEAD

Already one of his major programs — medical care for the aged — looks like it's probably dead for 1964. The House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday voted it down although giving preliminary approval to a 5 per cent boost in Social Security payments.

Now the only hope for Medicare seems to lie with the Senate. Even if it should pass there, the House would have to be persuaded to go along. That would require a lot of persuading, perhaps more than Johnson can do.

It will be practically a miracle if it gets through.

Yet, Johnson has had astonishing success so far with another program — foreign aid — in which all the presidents back to and including Harry S. Truman took a heavy beating.

Johnson represented his request as a minimum figure and until now the House, which has not completed final action, has appeared willing to give him approximately what he asked with comparatively minor cuts.

Often, While Giving A Pat On The Back—

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Serving Notice to Asia Foes

WASHINGTON—President Johnson's appointment of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to be ambassador to Viet Nam means that the United States wishes to serve notice on all concerned that the war in Southeast Asia has to be won, even if it takes more and more American military forces on land, sea and in the air.

There comes a time in nearly every world crisis when firmness and resoluteness must be asserted, though there is always a risk that the other side may miscalculate and compel an intensive war to be fought.

The United States has been patient for many years now about the Southeast Asia situation.

If the Red Chinese take over Southeast Asia, they will become a much more threatening factor in the entire western Pacific, which includes not only Formosa but the Philippines and Japan.

It also could mean a disruption of the situation in India and Malaya.

SIMPLE TRUTH
The simple truth is that the Washington authorities are not going to let the Communists take over in Southeast Asia.

A distinct turn in the whole situation occurred recently when President Johnson decided that he was tired of vacillating policies.

He is not interested in trying to achieve a status quo in which the Communists would retain the benefit of their aggressions in Southeast Asia.

All that the American government wants is that the countries in Southeast Asia shall become truly independent and not be controlled from the outside by designing governments interested only in provoking more and more conflict, particularly revolution, whether in Viet Nam, Laos, Cambodia or Thailand, in all of which infiltration by the Red Chinese has been steadily increasing.

KNOWS BACKGROUND

Gen. Taylor, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has been spending a good deal of his time studying the military problem in Southeast Asia.

He knows the background of it thoroughly and, having himself served in Korea, he is familiar with the problems of land warfare in the Asian world.

Theoretically, an ambassador reports only to the secretary of state, but in this case, Gen. Taylor sees eye to eye with both Secretary of State Rusk and Secretary of Defense McNamara on all phases of the problem.

Gen. Taylor, therefore, with his experience on the military side and with a foreknowledge of just how far the United States government will go to achieve its point, is virtually taking command of the whole situation.

The President and his Cabinet here will be guided largely by what Gen. Taylor reports and advises.

The mere fact that a military man has been chosen for this post indicates that a turn has come and that the dilatory process of negotiation has been abandoned in favor of direct action.

The United States has apparently already determined that the risk of war has to be taken if the entire western Pacific is not to be lost to the Red Chinese.

U.S., Soviet Shift Views on German, Berlin Issue sides, the hard line has been considerably softened, and the new Bonn government through improved relations with the satellites including cultural and trade contacts with East Germany.

Under changing world conditions and upon the urging of Washington, the Erhard government is giving it a try.

SATELLITE RELATIONS
Throughout the Kennedy administration and apparently continuing under President Johnson there was a feeling that much could be attained by the Bonn government through improved relations with the satellites.

Under changing world conditions and upon the urging of Washington, the Erhard government is giving it a try.

Basic positions remain unchanged.

The West continues to insist on a policy of reunification of Germany based on free elections within Communist East Germany.

The Soviet Union continues to hold out for a separate peace treaty with the Communist East German zone and a so-called "free" Berlin.

FAR CRY

But the Soviet position is a far cry from the threats and ultimatums against the allied presence in Berlin as first voiced by Premier Khrushchev in 1958 and renewed again in his meeting with the then President Kennedy in Vienna in 1960.

Absent, too, is the allied insistence that the German reunification is the necessary prelude to a relaxation of European tensions.

Reasons for the shift are many.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union have pressing other problems and are wary of upsetting the present balance of Europe.

OTHER CHANGES
Within Europe itself two other important changes occurred.

One was the intensification of the Soviet Union's quarrel with Red China and a subsequent relaxation of the Soviet control over its European satellites.

The other was the shift in the Bonn government from Adenauer to Erhard and a willingness to explore new avenues which might take longer but would lead to the same ultimate goal of reunification.

There was the additional fact that West Germany had developed into one of the economically strongest nations in Europe with an industrial product and know-how badly needed by the satellites.

Under changing world conditions and upon the urging of Washington, the Erhard government is giving it a try.

Voice of the People:

'Juries Often Unrealistic in Damage-Suit Awards'

Altogether too many juries are making utterly fantastic awards these days in damage suits. Their logic seems to be: "Well, the defendant is insured and the money will come from a big company."

That's 100 per cent sheer nonsense. The money comes from us—each one of us—as the "big company" raises the rates to handle these new and unjustified losses.

It's time reason returned. Insurance costs are simply spread around among policy holders and each one of us gets taxed for a share of the jury's stupidity.

Backs Goldwater in Civil Rights Stand

I was very unpleasantly surprised to read The Press editorial on Barry Goldwater. Since when does a man commit hara-kiri because he stands by his convictions? To me and many others, this indicates a personal integrity which rises above political ambition—something no other candidate has shown.

Sen. Goldwater is definitely "the people's choice" and he will be nominated if there is no political chicanery. He is the only candidate with a chance of winning the election and a man's sincere convictions should never keep him out of the President's chair.

This civil rights bill takes away individual rights guaranteed to all by the Constitution in an effort to force social acceptance for a minority group. Sen. Goldwater knows this bill is not constitutional. He has shown that his aim is to support the U.S. Constitution and not to cater to any group or foreign governments which only want the individual in power who will give the most handouts.

Good Will Tour

Chicago's American

For all the opportunities he's had to practice, Nikita Khrushchev is still no great shakes as a good will ambassador.

To judge from his current performance in Denmark, Khrushchev's idea of how to win friends is to tell them they're not so hot, really, and if they do anything better than the Russians it's just dumb luck.

This approach is all the more effective, Nik seems to believe, if salted with heavy sarcasm at his hosts' expense.

At a government reception in Copenhagen, Khrushchev lost no time in spreading his brand of cheer. "We know you Danes have a high degree of agriculture," said Nik with ponderous irony, "and this proves that we are dumb and you are clever."

He went on to explain that the Russians are really much cleverer—"our people have grown to complete comprehension of the political and social realities, and yours have not"—but as for agriculture, ture, Russia has just been unlucky.

All that would be changed, however, by Khrushchev's new program for producing fertilizers. Said Khrushchev: "Just wait and we will show you what a hell of a job we can do."

This combination of brag, alibi, and insult should be just the thing to make the Danes more staunchly pro-western than ever. We can only hope that Nik is planning a lot more good will tours.

Youngsters Naked

The Hillsdale Daily News

We refuse to become involved editorially in the current discussion on no-top swim suits for women, but there is one kind of nakedness we heartily endorse. It is the kind practiced by children.

There is something beautiful about youngsters of this country stripped down to the very least amount of clothing they can wear these hot summer days. Little bare-backed boys and girls in shorts, tramping around the lawns and parks in Hillsdale County are a delight to the eye.

Mothers now have sense about such matters and children will be healthier and more normal in their minds as well as the bodies for their nakedness. Little dressed-up, be-frilled and bedizened dolls, who used to roam the streets on hot days sometimes grew up to be nasty-nice, badly suppressed and badly unbalanced in their emotional nature, particularly on the side of sex.

So let the children run. Reduce clothing for them in hot weather—do a breach cloth. Letting them run through the summer in little more than their birthright, which, mother gave them, is one grand thing that the new day and times and psychology are doing.

Use Factory-Like Setting

New Way to Learn Skills of 'Untestables'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department is trying out a new system for testing "the untestables"—the boys who express themselves so poorly in the school atmosphere of pencil and paper tests they appear to have no skills.

Carried out in a realistic factory-like setting, the tests are given to youths heretofore considered ineligible for training programs and are designed to discover what type of work they would do best.

"These young people have repeatedly failed in school situations, and they are afraid of their failures," said Dr. Saul Leasher.

"Instead of demanding that they deal with ideas, we give them something to do at which they can succeed," he said in a report on the project.

Leasher is head of the Jewish Employment and Vocational Service of Philadelphia, which is conducting the experiment, called "testing the untestables" under a government contract.

The tests start off at the simple nuts and bolts level and then progress through the more difficult industrial operations.

At the highest level, a youth must assemble a telephone using only a diagram and no verbal instructions to guide him.

Then he moves to another testing stage, performing actual production jobs at token wages for an incentive so he can be observed for motivation, work pressures and other actual job situations.

The report said the project revealed that many youths classified as retarded because they can't pass traditional aptitude tests actually have average intelligence or only slightly below average.

The Labor Department hopes the experiment develops a new type of test that will help lead to training and jobs for the large and growing number of youths that makes up a major portion of the hard-core unemployed.

Sale of Autos to Set Record

DETROIT (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports says new car sales for the second quarter of this year will smash records for any quarter in the industry's history.

Ward's said Thursday sales would total 2,082,000 after dealers close their showrooms today. The statistical agency predicted that 2,194 will have been sold when the quarter ends Tuesday.

The best quarterly figure ever posted was 2,081,400 units in the second quarter of 1955. Ward's also reported that April-June sales would give the industry its first 4-million-plus total for the first six months of the year. The record, 3,851,000, was set in 1955. June sales should hit the 700,000 mark, Ward's said, despite a slight decline during the second 10 days of the month.

Friend of Court Links Divorce With Population

Some 2,420 new divorce cases involving 5,412 children were filed in Oakland County last year—an all-time high.

The County Friend of the Court meanwhile stiffened its enforcement against stiffimony and support backsliders, while looking for more money to salvage divorce-torn lives.

The causes of divorce are as varied as the people involved, explained Friend of the Court director W. Cadman Prout, who discussed divorce statistics and his department in an annual report.

"We're following a population trend, that's all I can say."

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS
Economic conditions, often blamed as a contributing factor, were good during 1963. Yet the number of new divorce petitions involving children climbed 22 per cent above 1962's total of 1,977.

Another 650 divorces were sought by couples without children.

Divorces seem to increase about 10 to 15 per cent a year, Prout estimated. "The Friend of the Court's annual report for the 10th previous year, 1954, lists 1,168 divorce petitions."

In all, Court judges handed down 1,783 decrees dissolving marriages last year. (Divorce actions take several months, so some of the cases dated from late 1963, and others initiated in late 1963 are being heard now.)

In its collection agency function, the Friend of the Court handled $5,000,000 in child support money. Some came from 1,110 paternity and 760 aid to dependent children cases.

This sum is $600,000 above 1962 collections and is equivalent to the annual budget of some small cities.

Reluctance to pay alimony or support resulted in 212 respondents being sentenced to the county jail. Another 96 men submitted to court control of their paycheck rather than go to jail.

The divorce case load lowers over the Friend of the Court's professional and clerical staff of 43, said Prout.

MINOR CHILDREN

Only a fraction of 20,000 divorces since 1949 have received follow-ups to check the welfare of minor children. Prout estimated it would take one newly-appointed followup worker 40 years to investigate these currently active cases.

He said the County Board of Auditors is being asked to increase his staff to permit more back checking, as well as expanding the present part-time marriage, counseling service.

"Our department also expects to increase our services to the children of divorce by adding a child psychologist to the staff in 1965," explained Prout.

"Last year, more than 5,400 children were added to the stream of divorce and it is estimated that 20 per cent need psychological counseling for emotional problems which have occurred as a result of tensions in the marital home."

NO FACILITIES

The Friend of the Court presently has no child counseling facilities and must refer troubled children to other agencies in the county already booked solid, according to Prout.

Oklahoma Collision Injures Eighth Person

BOSWELL, Okla. (AP) — A head-on collision between two cars early today killed seven persons and critically injured an eighth.

Highway patrolmen said the accident occurred two miles west of Boswell on U.S. 70, in the Lake Texoma area.

Dead on arrival at a Durant, Okla., hospital were, C. R. Brackett Jr., driver of one car, and his passengers, Glenn Russey and F. M. Mack McMennamy; and Mabel B. Newton, 30 driver of the second car; her husband Raymond A. Newton, 31, and their two daughters, aged 11 and 5.

The Newtons were from Russellville, Ga.

CRITICAL CONDITION
In critical condition was a woman passenger with the Newtons, Vassie T. Johnson, 20.

Officers said Mrs. Newton apparently dozed at the wheel and swung across the highway dividing line into the path of the Brackett car.

There's a Phobia for Every Taste

Some Fears for Discriminating Neurotic

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Are you tired of having the same old fears? Wouldn't you like some fresh anxieties to fret over to make your life more interesting? Well, be of good cheer. The possibilities are endless: Medical dictionaries now list some 300 or more specific fears, and the list is growing.

They all have wonderfully impressive-sounding names, and the chances are you have had some of these fears all along and never knew it. If you hate losing a golf match, your friends may merely put you down as a poor sport. But if you tell them you're suffering from rhabdophobia—which is the fear of being beaten—they're bound to feel more sympathetic. Perhaps it embarrasses you if the boss catches you dozing in your swivel chair at the office. Put your ailment down as hypnophobia, the fear of falling asleep. OTHER PHOBIAS If you hate being alone, you have got monophobia; if you can't stand crowds, you're a victim of ochlophobia — and probably also apophobia, the fear of physical contact. Old maids who can't stand men, dogs or marriage, are triply afflicted with androphobia, cynophobia and gamophobia.

Women who are always cajoling their husbands into taking them out for the evening suffer from a complaint common among housewives — domatophobia, the fear of being shut up in a house. That nursery rhyme character, Little Miss Muffet, who was frightened off her tuffet by a spider, acted from a 2-ep-seated feeling of arachnophobia. CHROMATOPHOBIA — fear of money. CHINOPHOBIA — fear of snow. AULOPHOBIA — fear of hearing flutes. TANIOPHOBIA — fear that you are harboring a tapeworm. LINONOPHOBIA — fear of string. PHONEMOPHOBIA — fear of thinking. AUTOPHOBIA — fear of yourself. ALTERNATE PLAN Of course, if you can't make up your mind what to be afraid of—and the choices are practically endless—there is a package deal available. You might decide to settle for pantophobia. That means the fear of everything.

Dutch Clairvoyant Revives Mystery of Judge Crater

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—A power shovel is digging up a grass-covered roadside in the slim hope of finding a clue in one of the nation's most celebrated mysteries. Westchester County authorities are searching for the remains of Justice Joseph Force Crater of State Supreme Court. On a hot August evening in 1930, Judge Crater, 41, drove away from a Manhattan hotel and was never seen again. For years, there were dozens of reports he had turned up in cities all over the world. The digging, under the direction of Sheriff John E. Hoy, is only two miles from a Yonkers yard where a similar operation proved fruitless five years ago. DUTCH CLAIRVOYANT And the current search, like the one in 1959, came about at the suggestion of the same Dutch-clairvoyant who claims his extrasensory perception led him to both locations. After no clues to the Judge Crater mystery were uncovered in the first excavation, the clairvoyant, Gerard Croiset, broadened back in Holland about his failure. Until last week he had never been to the United States. BASIS FOR CLAIM He based his 1959 claim on emotions he said he felt thousands of miles across the sea from Yonkers, a city just north of New York City. On his recent arrival in a published in New York on his life, Croiset opened the search again by announcing he had visited a roadside location that came to him through an impulse in Holland and had felt a sensation that told him the body had been disinterred from the yard before the 1959 excavation and reburied.

He also said there was a hidden road under which the body would be found. The first sweep of the excavator Thursday uncovered the old road and the digging continued. Sheriff Hoy, who claims he does not believe in extrasensory perception, said he was digging at the request of New York City police. Police officials contend they have made no such request. But the digging goes on.

Unwanted Transfusions Saved Lives in Childbirth

WESTWOOD, N.J. (UPI) — Doctors said today an unwanted blood transfusion saved the life of a mother and her premature, born son, delivered by cesarean section last night in Passaic Valley Hospital.

The pint of blood was given over the objections of Mrs. Wilhelmina Anderson, of Ashbury Park who was under court order to take the blood if it was necessary to save the unborn child.

Both Mrs. Anderson and the 3½-pound boy, named Mitchell, were reported in good condition.

Mitchell, premature by one month, was placed in an incubator as is normal after a cesarean.

Mrs. Anderson's fight against blood transfusions was carried to the U.S. Supreme Court which upheld a ruling by the New Jersey Supreme Court that the rights of the unborn child outweighed the religious objections of the mother.

CHANGED RELIGION

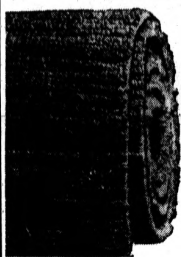

The mother is a former Roman Catholic who is studying to be a Jehovah Witness.

The Jehovah Witnesses base their objections to blood transfusions on the Biblical warning to "abstain from blood."

Doctors sought permission to give the transfusions because they feared a complication of Mrs. Anderson's pregnancy would cause fatal hemorrhaging.

The unborn child's court-appointed guardian, George Warren, a Trenton, N.J., lawyer, had given doctors at Passaic Valley Hospital permission to go ahead with transfusions if they were needed.

Tentative Approval of Avon Water Plan

AVON TOWNSHIP—The Avon Township Board has authorized its engineers to proceed with plans to alleviate the water shortage at the eastern end of the township pending circulation of petitions necessary to establish a special assessment district.

The board also has gone on record, 4 to 1, questioning possible future issuance of a liquor license to the Elks as being in the best interests of the township as a whole and children in particular.

The Rochester Village Council has given the fraternal organization the green light to build a new lodge hall by rezoning a site on Ludlow across from the township park.

The water problem came to a head in March when a delegation of homeowners reported to the board that their wells had run dry.

The area suffering the greatest from the water loss is bounded by John R., Dequindre, Southern and School roads.

FIRM'S SOLUTION

The Waterford Township firm of Johnson & Anderson Inc. pointed out a month ago that the best and the permanent solution would be to establish a special assessment district and tie it into the Avon water system.

The board now has authorized the firm to prepare designs and estimates on the connecting trunk lines.

The engineers estimated the cost of the trunk lines at $670,000.

They suggested that a portion of the total cost be financed by a special assessment of $450,000. The rest would come from a revenue bond issue of $220,000.

NEW ISSUE
The new revenue bond issue would have to be added to the one township already has, but the engineers said that they feel the financing is feasible.

The special assessment figure was determined by using three dollars per foot front as a basic cost.

The firm also recommended to board members that they hire a financial consultant, but they declined to do this until the petitions to set up the special assessment district have been circulated. Signatures of 51 percent of all property owners are needed.

On the matter of possible application for a liquor license by the Elks, should they apply for it when they build their hall, the six board members stated that they would question its advisability because of:

- The number of children who use the township park across the street from the proposed building site.
- The heavy traffic on Ludlow.

- The sharp turn on the street just beyond the park.

One member, Wayne Holman, dissented from the majority opinion because he felt that the liquor license would not hinder park functioning.

The Elks have not applied for the license yet, nor have they applied for a building permit. However, the property was rezoned for the hall as the first step in their proposed construction program.

The board also voted to place two proposals on the primary ballot. One asks citizens to decide whether they want unlimited hunting to continue in the township. The other is on the road chloriding program.

Three years of work have gone into getting approval from both houses of the State Legislature for the hunting measure to go to a general vote.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Pontiac Press Photos

WHAT IS IT? — To the uninitiated, the new fixtures in the Milford City Park might look like four brightly painted train tiles. But to 4-year-old Kathy Sheffler and her brother Steve, 7, the tiles are spark plugs for their imaginations, placed there by local Jaycees who are working with the Jaycees and Chamber of Commerce to provide playground equipment at the new park.

Area Firm to Design Transit

One of the nation's foremost industrial design firms located in Southfield has been commissioned to design the San Francisco Bay area's new rail rapid transit trains.

Sundberg-Ferar, Inc., of 24409 W. 104th Mile was selected today from among four outstanding design groups who competed for the long-awaited San Francisco assignment.

Together with the St. Louis Car Division of General Steel Industries, Inc., it will produce a full-scale mock-up of the train's design for public viewing throughout the Bay region early next year.

Later, the design will be incorporated in the final design specifications for the future Bay area production model transit cars — in conjunction with the many new mechanical components that are to be chosen during the forthcoming test track program of the Bay area rapid transit district.

A $475,000 contract for the train design project was awarded jointly to Sundberg-Ferar and St. Louis Car by action of the district and its consulting engineers.

Politics Forces Him to Miss Parade

Romney to Break Utica Precedent

UTICA — Gov. Romney will have to forego the pleasure of leading the Fourth of July parade here because of his prominence on the national political scene.

He necessarily will be breaking an 18-year tradition of having Michigan's chief executive act as honorary parade marshal.

His shoes will be adequately filled, however, by a native son, U.S. Rep. James G. O'Hara who is again expected to be at the head of the line of march.

The parade, which opens the Utica Lions holiday celebration and homecoming, will form at the high school at 10 a.m.

The parade route will be south on Cass and then west on Auburn to a large area where the street will be blocked off for the after-parade activities.

PARADE PARTICIPANTS

Participants in the colorful parade will include high school bands from Romeo, Dryden, Roseville and Utica and other communities plus gaily decorated floats from area organizations, business firms and clubs.

Two featured attractions will be coming from Canada — the Marching Angels from Sarnia, Ont., and a bagpipe band from Wallaceburg.

Thousands of spectators traditionally line the parade route to witness the high-stepping strutters, bands and floats as they pass in review.

Prizes will be awarded for the best floats in five classifications and also to participants with the best decorated bicycle, doll and buggy and most unusual pet, to mention just a few of the categories.

Parade prizes will be awarded at noon.

At 1 p.m. there will be games for children, rides and refreshments.

Other highlights of the day-long program will be a fireworks display at 10 p.m. and street dancing along Auburn Road.

Reigning over the annual celebration will be Miss Utica, Cheryl Baranski, and her two maids of honor, Toni Bogdan and Nancy Durkee. All three are 17 years old and live in Shelby Township.

Queen Cheryl will be crowned on the reviewing stand just before the parade starts.

Then she and her two attendants will ride on the Lions Club float in the parade.

School Officials Study Bond Issue

WALLED LAKE — School officials now are attempting to determine how large their next bonding issue should be.

They are basing their study on a 5-point program handed them by the Citizens School Study Committee.

The general recommendations of the 48-member group did not include cost estimates, nor a suggested time for a vote on a bonding proposition.

The committee was formed to study Wall Lake district school building and site needs which might develop during the next two to four years.

Its program includes construction of a 20-room elementary building to be ready for use by the fall of 1966 and addition of seven rooms to Keith Elementary School.

RECOMMEND PURCHASE

The citizens also recommended the purchase of three or four elementary school sites and land for secondary school construction.

Their fifth point was "the completion of minor elementary projects for which funds were not available in the current construction program."

These included library additions at Wall Lake, Decker and Commerce elementary schools, site development and fencing at Wixom Elementary School and renovation of existing buildings.

The board of education expects an enrollment of about 7,827 for the 1965-66 school year. The figure now is 7,186.

GROUP DIVIDED

The citizens group which has been working since February was divided into three subcommittees. They were elementary, headed by Russell McCoy; secondary, Edward Baupre; and finance, Carlos Hanson.

OH YEAH?—While his younger brother and sister scamper over, under, around and through the new drain tiles at the Milford City Park, John Sheffler, 11, finds the top of an ideal place to take a nap. The youngsters are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheffler, 106 Lafayette, who have been working with local groups to equip the park. Orders have been placed for swings, a spring pony and steam engine climber, but there will still be plenty of room in the park for those who just want to snooze.

Pharmacist Wins Award

FARMINGTON — Rep. Raymond Baker, Farmington Republican now serving his second term in the Michigan House of Representatives, has received a community service award from his fellow pharmacists.

The Bowl of Hygiea was presented to Baker at the 81st annual convention of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association in Grand Rapids this week.

Baker, 32718 Grand River, addressed the group on "The Pharmacist's Interest in Government."

A registered pharmacist, Baker is a member of the Oakland County Pharmaceutical Association and an honorary member of the state group.

Jews Take Up Cause of Nazi Who Acted as Spy Against Reich

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A new youth center in the Ruhr bears the name of Kurt Gerstein, a lieutenant in the Nazi SS who had the job of supplying poison gas for the Auschwitz death mills.

Gerstein's cause is championed by a Jewish survivor of Nazi concentration camps and has been taken up by Jewish organizations.

"If there had been thousands more like Gerstein, there would have been no Auschwitz," says Issy Wygoda, 43, a Frankfurt fur dealer and longtime concentration camp inmate.

Gerstein died under mysterious conditions shortly after World War II, but he provided important evidence which was used at the Nuremberg war crimes trials. He risked his life to obtain much of it, Wygoda believes.

NAZI OFFENDER

Wygoda is incensed because West German authorities have classified Gerstein as a Nazi offender and have denied his widow a pension.

In 1940 a sister-in-law was killed as a mental patient under the Nazi "mercy killing" program and Gerstein began checking on Nazi killings. He joined the SS to gain inside knowledge of Nazi crimes, Wygoda says.

Gerstein had studied some medicine and chemistry. The SS needed men with his training and he eventually headed a section in the "Hygiene Institute."

One of his jobs was to procure a cyanide gas used by extermination camps.

TRIED SABOTAGE

Gerstein tried to sabotage the operations in a limited way. Evidence shows he stopped one shipment of gas by marking it no good and ordering it buried. But, according to Wygoda, his main effort was to alert the world outside Germany to concentration camp horrors.

A Lutheran, he got word to German Bishop Otto Dibelius of his church. Dibelius in turn informed Swedish clergymen.

He was allegedly turned away when he sought an audience with the Pope Nuncio in Berlin, and later wrote:

"Could one expect that an ordinary citizen can do something when even the vicar of Christ does not want to listen to me although tens of thousands are murdered."

INSPIRED PLAY

Gerstein's visit inspired German author Rolf Hochhuth in writing his largely fictitious play "The Deputy."

In 1945 Gerstein surrendered to the Allies and gave the most detailed report on Nazi crimes ever to reach Allied hands. As proof he supplied bills for the cyanide gas.

The Allies could not be sure of Gerstein's anti-Nazi efforts and he was interned. He died July 25, 1945, in a Paris prison. Officially the cause was suicide, but there have been recent rumors that he was murdered to silence an accuser.

In 1950, a German court ruled that Gerstein was a Nazi offender. His widow, Elziede Gerstein, appealed but the appeal was rejected.

FINISHES STRUGGLE

Wygoda heard of the Ger-stein case just after he had successfully finished a 13-year struggle with authorities for recognition of his own German citizenship.

Struck by what he regarded as another case of postwar injustice, Wygoda got Mrs. Gerstein's permission to reopen her husband's case.

Jewish organizations in Germany and France have taken up the cause.

German authorities have advised Wygoda that they will take another look at the Gerstein case.

Laos Denies Plane Downed

Pathet Claims Kill During Air Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian government denied today that Communist ground fire had knocked down a Laotian Air Force T28 fighter-bomber during a strike against Pathet Lao positions on the Plaine des Jarres.

Col. Thongphanh Knoksy, a defense ministry spokesman, said the Air Force's U.S.-supplied T28s were fired on by Communist antiaircraft guns yesterday but "all have returned to their base."

The Pathet Lao radio claimed a T28 had been shot down and another damaged southwest of Khang Khay, the Pathet Lao headquarters.

The broadcast said three T28s bombed the Moung Ken area yesterday and that the hit plane crashed into the jungle.

The Pathet Lao command also said other T28s made strikes against Xiang Khouang province on Tuesday and Wednesday and dropped four bombs on the town of Xiang Khouang, 100 miles northwest of Vientiane, the Laotian administrative capital.

There was no word today on Pathet Lao ground activity around Muong Soui, a neutralist stronghold on a main road west of the Plaine des Jarres.

A communique yesterday said Pathet Lao troops were maintaining pressure against Muong Soui and an attack was believed imminent.

Diplomats of six countries were scheduled to hold their 12th meeting on the Laotian crisis today. The consultation began a month ago but bogged down in disagreement over a final communique.

Participating are representatives of the United States, Britain, India, Canada, South Viet Nam and Thailand.

India was reported to have reservations about the wording of a communique approved by Britain and the United States.

Johnsons Take Over?

NEW YORK (AP)—A visitor from abroad would have good reason to believe that the Johnsons have taken over the country.

By reading a newspaper this week, he could have learned that President Lyndon B. Johnson appointed U. Alexis Johnson deputy ambassador to South Viet Nam, named Lt. Gen. Harold K. Johnson army chief of staff and held a telephone conference with Gen. Paul Johnson of Mississippi.

The Department of Commerce estimates that an average income of $3,000 for a single person and $4,000 for a married couple is necessary to maintain a living in this country.

Say Cuban Sentry Seriously Injured

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Cuban sentry was seriously wounded Thursday night by a shot fired from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Havana Radio said.

The newscast, monitored in Miami, said Andres Noel Larduet, was shot in the left side. A second shot was fired when another Cuban soldier tried to rush to Larduet's aid, the radio said.

The radio did not elaborate on the shooting.

Song Producer Dies

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (AP)—Alonso Elliott, 73, who collaborated with another Yale student, Stoddard King, to produce the song, "The Long, Long Trail," died Wednesday.

The Salvation Army operates work in 86 countries and territory about 17,000 centers of religious activities.

Schools Tell Cost of Buses

Transport of Private Pupils Totals $3,500

Transportation of private school pupils next year will cost a net total of $3,500, Pontiac school officials reported last night.

Under provisions of a new state law, nonpublic school students residing outside the city, but in the school district and more than 1 1/2 miles from their school, must be furnished bus transportation by the school district.

School board members were told last night that 97 pupils from four church-connected schools must be provided bus service.

Total cost was put at $6,000, but the state will reimburse about $2,500 of this, giving a net cost of about $3,500.

Nonpublic schools qualifying for bus transportation are Emmanuel Christian, St. Frederick, St. Michael and St. Trinity Lutheran.

TWO NEW BUSES

School officials said that most of the added bus riders could be incorporated on existing bus runs. However, two additional buses would have to be used.

One vehicle would operate in the Middle Belt and Silver Lake area, while the second one would transport from the Lake Agassiz, Jamm Road and Five Points area.

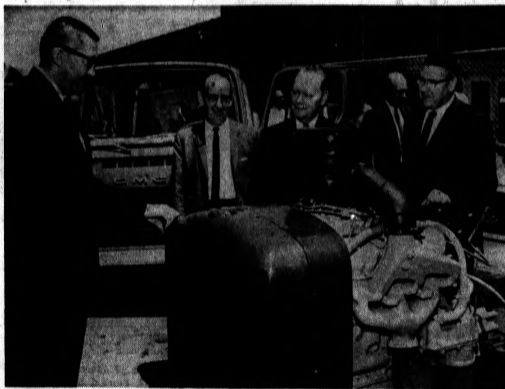

An experimental agreement will be worked out with Emmanuel Christian School, which has its own buses. The school district will reimburse the parochial school on a per pupil basis for transporting its students.

The reimbursement will be $30-$32 per pupil per year. School officials emphasized that the agreement would be for one year only. Further arrangements will be made after that period.

STATE LAW

In order to comply with the new state law, the school district will hire two additional bus drivers. Although no new buses will be purchased, two vehicles that normally would be retired at the end of the seven years will be run an additional year.

State reimbursement on operation of an individual bus expires at the end of seven years.

lison, purchasing agent for the Oakland County Road Commission; Richard Woodhouse, general sales manager of GMC Truck & Coach Division and Warner Canto, vice president of Motorcar Transport Co. of Pontiac.

County School Board OKs Budgets: Special, General

Two budgets—general education and special education—were adopted yesterday by the county school board for the 1964-65 school year.

The larger was the special education budget of $1,510,431, reduced $133,695 from 1963-64 costs.

Special education is financed through a half mill levied countywide.

The new budget incorporates a balance of $868,565 on July 1 of this year.

Total income estimated for the next school year is $1,688,147, while expenditures are estimated at $1,510,431, giving a balance next year of $177,716.

HIKE IN FUND

The special education budget includes a hike in the administration fund from $125,273 to $137,675. The difference is primarily for remodeling of the county school building.

In separate action, the Oakland Schools board authorized Supt. William J. Emerson to proceed in negotiations to have the computer room remodeled for the addition of a classroom.

The classroom will be used to teach data processing.

In addition, other office space in the County Service Center building will be altered to install a new test room for the testing of hearing in students. Separate control room facilities will also be installed for the testing room.

ESTIMATED COST

Estimated cost of the remodeling was put at $18,735 by an architect.

A general education budget for 1964-65 of $357,629 was also okayed by the county school board. This is increased $79,888 over 1963-64.

The general budget anticipates a balance this July 1 of $70,268 and a similar balance of $89,268 on July 1 of next year. Revenue for the year is estimated at $416,297.

Salaries jump from $218,250 in 1963-64 to $258,493 in the new general education budget, which accounts for four added staff people.

Professional services rise from $5,322 to $10,805. This incorporates increased use of outside consultants for inservice teacher training and vocations, increased use of data processing and a new educational research department—systematic studies.

Polio Victim Sentenced

BOLTON, England (UPI)—Rosemary Fung, a 15-year-old polio victim, was sentenced to three years probation yesterday for strangling her stepfather, Francisce Nadeley, 57, with her apron strings when he called her a "crippled pig" for dropping a pair of scissors.

Pontiac School Affairs

Board Approves Job Changes

Job shifts—appointments and transfers—were approved last night by the Pontiac School Board.

Most of the job changes had previously been announced by school officials.

However, not previously announced was the transfer of Albert Henning, Crofoot School principal, to the principalship of Willis School.

Henning switches jobs with Thor Peterson, now at Willis School, who becomes principal at Crofoot School.

Other board-approved changes include appointment of John Perdue, currently Bagley School principal, as principal of the Jefferson-Whittier School; combined as a single administrative unit.

BAGLEY REPLACEMENT

Replacing Perdue at Bagley School will be Mrs. John (Pearline) Butler, now at Whittier School.

Booker T. Yancy, a Bagley School teacher, was approved as assistant principal for Whittier School for next year.

The school board last night also okayed seven appointments in the newly reorganized vocational education department. In addition, the board approved a salary of $13,000 for the department's new director.

Maurice Prottegeier is the new director of vocational education, succeeding Raymond J. Graf, who will retire this year.

PROGRAM COORDINATOR

Kenneth Hoffman and Donald Kaiser, Pontiac Central teachers, were named coordinators for apprenticeship, manpower and technical programs and helping teacher for industrial education respectively.

Roy Gallipo, currently co-op coordinator of vocational industrial education, was named supervisor of adult education and evening school.

Ralph Rotsel, coordinator of cooperative occupational training for office and distributive education, was appointed coordinator for cooperative office training and bookstore manager at Pontiac Central High School.

Pontiac Northern High teacher Donald Friebe was appointed coordinator for cooperative distributive training at Pontiac Northern High.

NORTHERN TEACHER

Joseph Corbiel, also a Northern teacher, will head cooperative office training and be bookstore manager at Pontiac Northern High.

Miss Carol Irish, Pontiac Central instructor, was named helping teacher for home economics education.

In other business last night, the Pontiac School Board heard progress reports on four building projects currently under construction in the school district.

Richard C. Fell, assistant superintendent for business and staff personnel, gave new completion dates for the construction projects.

Jobs affected by the building trades strikes.

NEW DATES

Baldwin Junior High School, originally expected to be done by May 15, will be completed by July 15; the new service building is a month beyond schedule and will be finished by Aug. 15; and the Mark Twain School addition will be done by Sept. 15.

The school district's new administration building was slated to be completed by Oct. 1, but this has been revised to Oct. 31, according to Fell.

The electricians' strike delayed school construction about 24 days, Fell added.

Most projects are beyond schedule by that three-week period.

BID ACCEPTED

A bid of $4,760 by Travelers Insurance Co. through Thatcher, Patterson and Wernet of Pontiac was accepted by the school board for insurance on school district vehicles.

Insurance coverage to a maximum of $1,000,000 per accident is provided for the system's fleet of 60 cars, trucks and buses.

Retiring board member Glenn H. Griffin was commended last night by his fellow board members.

Monroe M. Osmun offered a resolution praising Griffin for his 14 years service on the school board.

CHALLENGE TO BOARD

"Your efforts should be a challenge to this board for years to come," commented Osmun.

Griffin, 106 Ogema, decided not to seek reelection to the local school board. His term expires July 1.

End of Registration for Music Classes

Monday is the final day for music students to sign up for the school district's summer instrumental instruction program. Classes, which run through July 31, have already attracted 218 students.

The instrumental instruction is offered at Pontiac Central High and Madison Junior High. Classes meet three days a week for one-hour periods.

Name School After Poet

The name of Robert Frost, New England poet was selected last night by the Pontiac School Board for the new Cottage Street elementary school.

Frost, honored at the 1961 inauguration of President Kennedy, won over nine other names.

The school board selected the name of the late poet from the top three submitted by the students and faculty of the school.

School officials said the school would be formally named at dedication ceremonies Sept. 27.

Elementary schools in Pontiac are named after literary figures, while junior highs are named after presidents and high schools by the geographical locations.

Pontiac School Official at Governor Confab

Pontiac Supt. Dana P. Whitmer was among 300 educators, business and labor leaders meeting yesterday with Gov. George Romney in Lansing. Whitmer attended a one-day Governor's Conference on Education and Training for Full Employment.

Large ocean-going vessels can penetrate 2300 miles along the Amazon—about three-quarters of the way across the South American continent.

Includes Pay Hike

Record Budget OK'd

A record operating budget of $11,068,426, increased more than a half million dollars over this year, was adopted last night for 1964-65 by the Pontiac School Board.

The budget includes a 2 per cent pay hike for most of the school district's 1,300 employees.

Increased $558,817 over 1963-64, the budget incorporates $309,004 in staff study times.

Supt. Dana P. Whitmer said the budget provides for the opening and operation of the new Baldwin Junior High School and an enrollment increase.

He estimated the cost of opening the new school this fall at $117,214, which includes added personnel, supplies and equipment.

INSTRUCTOR COSTS

Added costs for instructional personnel, he said, approximate $226,028.

This includes a 1.2 per cent salary schedule increase ($92,526), cost of increments ($59,400) and 13 new teaching positions ($74,100).

The pay hike for instructional personnel of the 1.2 per cent was agreed to in a two-year agreement.

School officials hiked this pay raise to an even 2 per cent at an added cost of $61,000.

SURPLUS SEEN

The 1964-65 budget anticipates income will exceed expenditures by about $71,819.

Total income was calculated at $11,538,245, while expenditures will total $11,266,426, including a $200,000 contingency fund.

Other items in the new budget personnel, and a 2 per cent wage increase for operational employees, maintenance and secretarial personnel.

Staff study items include added instructional positions—two counselors, two vocational education positions and four teachers—at a total cost of $47,200.

LUNCH PERIOD

Also, $10,000 is budgeted for an experimental duty free lunch period for elementary teachers.

A program to provide the duty free lunch periods is to be presented to the school board some time during the year.

The school board retained the right to give approval on the program before it is implemented.

Additional instructional supplies, which covers such things as three dimensional world maps, will cost $43,840.

ACOUSTICAL TREATMENT

The five-year program for acoustical treatment classrooms ($25,000) will continue in 1964-65. There are 191 classrooms that have not been acoustically treated.

Whitmer said that the budget gave pay hikes to most regular employees and also accommodated a net increase of 185 pupils in the next school year.

3rd Generation Rockwell Admitted to County Bar

An unbroken record of service in the legal profession dating to the last century has been continued with a third generation Rockwell being admitted to the Oakland County Bar.

Carrying on the tradition is Thomas P. Rockwell, 27, admitted to the bar Wednesday before Circuit Court Judge James S. Thornburn.

The young attorney, a St. Clair Shores resident, plans to establish his practice in the Pontiac area. He is a graduate of University of Detroit Law School.

Looking on was proud father Edward Rockwell, 361 Wellesly, Birmingham, a former county court clerk who himself was admitted to the bar in 1929. He is now a legal aide to the Auto Club of Michigan.

"This is full of coincidences," beamed the elder Rockwell. He explained he at one time was Judge Thornburn's law partner, while admission sponsor was Pontiac attorney Robert P. Sauer, his son's uncle.

FAMILY

His father was K. P. Rockwell, one time county prosecutor, a probate judge and finally a circuit judge when he died in 1921. The Rockwell family traces its history in Oakland County back 150 years.

Kennedy Tells Berlin Barry Support Not Widespread

Topless Swim Suit Getting Increased National Exposure

By The Associated Press

The topless bathing suit for women is getting still more exposure across the nation, although it proved a disappointment to 200 expectant males in Oklahoma City.

Not so in Los Angeles, where fans, mostly male, crowded around a clothing store display window where a live model was wearing the suit Thursday.

Seaway Hurt by Finances

5-Year-Old Route Behind in Payments

OTTAWA (AP)—The St. Lawrence Seaway, officially opened five years ago today by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth II, faces a key turning point within the next week.

Despite record business, the U.S. and Canadian agencies running the international waterway have fallen far behind schedule in repaying loans and interest on the seaway's $450 million construction cost.

Recommendations to ease the financial squeeze are due by July 1.

They could affect rail and shipping interests on three fronts — the Great Lakes, the Atlantic Coast and the Gulf of Mexico.

HAVE STAKES

From a competitive standpoint all three areas have stakes in pending proposals to help the seaway pay its own way, especially on the question of toll charges.

As recently as March, the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority of Canada was reported set to press for increased toll charges. But its American counterpart, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., opposed toll hikes. So did U.S. and Canadian shipping interests on the Great Lakes.

Competing interests argued that the delay in repaying construction money borrowed from federal and provincial taxpayers were subsidizing the seaway. They said tolls should be high enough to make the seaway self-supporting.

The two seaway agencies have completed five-year financial reviews and are required to submit recommendations to their respective governments by July 1.

NO CHANGES

Informed sources here indicated the Canadian agency will not press for any changes in the current toll rates of 50 cents a ton for general cargo and 40 cents a ton for bulk cargo.

Instead the Canadian agency is expected to suggest a financial overhaul.

One alternative would be to extend the 50-year period for repaying the debt. Another call for refinancing the loans at lower interest rates.

Canada put up $320 million and the United States $100 million to finance an inland waterway from Montreal to Lake Ontario, opening up a vast trade link to the Atlantic for the Midwest.

FALL BEHIND

But in 1959 seaway authorities overestimated the tonnage of shipping which would pass through the waterway—and the resulting revenues from tolls. By the end of last year the Canadian agency had fallen $65 million behind on interest payments and the U.S. agency about $10 million.

Seaway traffic has increased every year since 1960; last year cargoes totaled more than 30 million tons for the first time.

According to original forecasts on which the toll rates were based traffic was supposed to reach 30 million tons two years ago and the break-even point of $50 million by 1968. Now officials believe the Seaway should start paying its own way by the early 1970s.

Tremors Hit New Hampshire

Second Earth Shocks in Past Three Months

LACONIA, N.H. (UPI)—Two dish-rattling earthquakes about 50 minutes apart shook central New Hampshire today.

The tremors were the second earth shocks in the area in three months.

"It sounded like a train roaring through the valley," said a Claremont man who lives on a hilltop.

Rev. Francis Donahue, assistant director of the Weston College (Mass.) Observatory, described the tremors as "a strong, local earthquake." He said they occurred about 60 miles north of Boston.

The earthquakes were felt in a 50-mile arc from Laconia to Claremont and from Lebanon to Concord.

NO INJURIES

No injuries or extensive damage were reported occurred about 7:05 a.m. EDT and the second about 7:55 a.m.

Police and radio stations said their switchboards were jammed with telephone calls from alarmed persons.

Marvin M. Midgette, assistant publisher of the Lebanon Valley News, said of the first tremor:

"I could feel it in the car. I thought it was an explosion or a sonic boom."

IN WITH ROAR

A Laconia man said the tremor "came in with a roar, snapped and faded away."

A similar earthquake hit central New Hampshire April 1. At the time, Dartmouth College geophysics professor Robert Decker said the area was "still rebounding from the lifting of the weight of glacial ice millions of years ago."

Today's tremors lasted less than 30 seconds each.

Judge Ousts Court Pickets for 2nd Day

CHICAGO (AP)—For the second day, pickets at the U.S. Courthouse were personally escorted outside the building Thursday by a government official.

Federal Judge William J. Campbell—clad in his judicial robes—escorted 21 Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee demonstrators out of the building Thursday.

Wednesday U.S. marshals forcibly ejected 12 persons from the fourth floor office of Edward V. Hanrahan, U.S. attorney. One was arrested.

The pickets were demanding federal guarantees of protection for civil rights volunteers in Mississippi.

IN CORRIDOR

The pickets Thursday lay in the corridor outside Hanrahan's office until Judge Campbell came along.

"Have you heard the order?" he asked sternly. "This is my courthouse and I'm asking you to leave. You are to leave peacefully. Don't force me to place all of you in contempt."

The pickets left, with Judge Campbell in the elevator to make sure.

BRIEF REST—The First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, arrives on Mackinac Island yesterday where she will remain for a short rest. The wife of the President is touring Michigan this week.

Finds Island 'Enchanting'

Ladybird Has Short Mackinac Stay

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had a brief respite Thursday from her duties as First Lady on this carless island geared to the pace of yesteryear and she found it "greatly enchanting."

She rode home from a small private dinner party Thursday night in an open, horse-drawn carriage beneath a full moon. Pausing at the gate of her vacation residence, she listened to a fog horn sounding in the distance over the Straits of Mackinac.

"What a wonderful, enticing sound to go to sleep by," the President's wife commented to neighbor youngsters who gathered for a glimpse of her.

Mrs. Johnson had little more than 24 hours to relax at this scenic summer resort before returning to Detroit to join the President for a Democratic fund raising dinner tonight.

PUBLIC APPEARANCE

And, even in the brief private time she had set aside for herself, Mrs. Johnson consented to still another public appearance.

Some 700 Michigan bankers and their wives were attending a convention at the famed Grand Hotel overlooking the waters joining Lakes Michigan and Huron. They invited Mrs. Johnson, the tourist attraction of the moment, to come to their opening night reception.

She did, applauded through entrance corridor and greeted in the terrace room with her inevitable trademark tunes, "The Eyes of Texas" and "Dixie."

The First Lady stayed 35 minutes shaking hands with bankers, many of whom stepped up carrying cocktail glasses through the receiving line.

BANKERS PLEASED

The president of the Michigan Bankers Association, George Wheeler of Flint, said "we were very complimented and honored" to have the First Lady attend.

Mrs. Johnson came to their party wearing an American Beauty red-linen sheath dress with an embossed white silk coat as protection against the 48-degree chill night air.

The weather here was bright, sunny and a welcome relief from the 90-degree heat she left in Washington. The island high Thursday was 58 degrees.

Mrs. Johnson's idea of relaxation was to seclude herself for the afternoon in her bedroom suite overlooking the straits. She dictated personal letters into a recording machine, telephoned her two daughters at the White House for a chat, briefly read a popular novel, and just gazed at boats passing by.

LOVES ISLAND

"She fell in love with the island the moment she set foot on it," Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, said.

Atlas-Centaur Has Second Flight Stall

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Guidance system trouble today forced a second straight postponement of an attempt to launch the high-energy Atlas-Centaur rocket on its third test flight.

The countdown on the 112-foot-tall rocket had progressed to two hours before the scheduled 9 a.m. (EST) liftoff when the problem cropped up.

No new launching date was set immediately.

The burned out Centaur second stage is intended to orbit the earth, but the satellite will have no scientific value.

Atlas-Centaur is being developed to boost an unmanned spacecraft to the moon next year to measure the lunar landscape and locate possible astronaut landing areas.

Trouble with second stage engine control devices forced postponement of the test Thursday.

Danish King Flat Broke

NAESTVED, Denmark (AP)—King Frederik of Denmark found himself in a pottery shop with a dish in hand but no dough in his pocket.

Next Frederik appealed to the captain of the royal yacht on which the king has been taking a cruise.

The captain forked over exactly 4 kroner. It was, said the captain, all he had, what with pay day still a week away.

ang was to seclude herself for the afternoon in her bedroom suite overlooking the straits. She dictated personal letters into a recording machine, telephoned her two daughters at the White House for a chat, briefly read a popular novel, and just gazed at boats passing by.

LOVES ISLAND

"She fell in love with the island the moment she set foot on it," Mrs. Johnson's press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, said.

After dropping in on the traditionally Republican bankers, Mrs. Johnson dined privately with some prominent Democratic women, Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, wife of a former governor of Michigan who now is assistant secretary of state for African affairs, was the hostess for the dinner, for 12 at her summer home. The guest list included Mrs. Neil Staebler, wife of Michigan's Democratic Congressman-at-large who is a candidate for governor.

Mrs. Johnson planned to visit the island's historic old Fort Mackinac today, then take a chartered launch to Mackinac Island. From there she was to drive by car to Pellston and board a 3 p.m. North Central Airlines plane for Detroit's Willow Run Airport.

She was to arrive there at 4:52 p.m. and to join the President either directly at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, if their time schedules coincide, or at the Sheraton-Cadillac in downtown Detroit, where the Johnsons are to stay.

He said this was to avoid saying what he believed, to avoid making any commitment about his future policy, and to keep away from paper and ink.

"I would give this advice to certain candidates today," the attorney general concluded.

1st Anniversary of JFK Visit

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential hopeful, does not enjoy widespread public support in the United States.

Kennedy belittled Goldwater's popularity during a visit to Berlin to commemorate the first anniversary of his late brother's triumphant tour here.

Tens of thousands of Berliners lined the streets to cheer and wave to the attorney general.

A reporter's question on Goldwater, who opposed some of President John F. Kennedy's policies, prompted the attorney general to speak at length on the Arizona Republican.

"The conclusion that Goldwater has widespread public support in the United States is erroneous," he said.

BELITTLES SUPPORT

"The primary votes do not indicate many millions of Americans favor Goldwater," Kennedy told a news conference.

"He lost in New Hampshire and Oregon. He won 11 California but was running off against Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who had problems involving his personal life.

"That does not indicate support. All of the polls show that Goldwater is not so popular, that he has disadvantages and difficulties to reckon with.

"I may be thought prejudiced as a Democrat, but I have had experience with political campaigns and judge objectively."

The attorney general said there is a history of mistrust of the central government in the United States and that any candidate who opposes it will find some followers.

GETS INTO TROUBLE

"Running against the government is pretty popular," he said. "I'm surprised that Goldwater has not gotten more support. But he starts getting into difficulties when he advocates something."

Kennedy cited advice he said was given to Gen. Benjamin Harrison in 1836 by his campaign manager, Nicholas Biddle.

He said this was to avoid saying what he believed, to avoid making any commitment about his future policy, and to keep away from paper and ink.

"I would give this advice to certain candidates today," the attorney general concluded.

Because of a tight schedule, the news conference ended before he could be asked more questions about U.S. domestic policies.

This is the first anniversary of Berlin's first reception for Kennedy's brother—the late president.

The attorney general arrived in Berlin in a special plane from Bonn, where he met yesterday with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and other West German leaders.

His motorcade drew tens of thousands as it passed through the streets of the city.

President Kennedy had drawn more than a million well-wishers on a similarly warm, pleasant day a year ago, when he pledged U.S. continuing support for the city and told its people that in spirit "ich bin ein Berliner" (I am a Berliner).

Today's crowd was smaller and less enthusiastic, but people along the way waved their arms, cheered, shouted American flags and sometimes repeated the "Ken-ne-dee" cry heard over and over again on June 26, 1963.

Children from the Schiller and Max Lieberman schools, visited during a soccer game, almost mobbed the attorney general, his wife, Ethel, and the three Kennedy children making the trip.

Robert Jr., 10 lost a shoe in the crush around his famous father.

"Oh, I like him," one schoolgirl squealed after shaking hands with the attorney general. "You are going to elect him president, aren't you?" a schoolboy asked an American reporter.

Say 100 Guerrillas Killed in Viet Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—More than 100 Communist guerrillas may have been killed in a major battle with government troops Thursday, reports reaching Saigon indicated today.

The battle took place 60 miles northeast of the capital in the same area where government troops suffered a serious reversal last Friday.

The casualty toll in the latest encounter could not be confirmed immediately. Details were scanty.

Prisoner Faces Grim Ordeal in Dixie Death Cell

ANGOLA, La. (AP)—In death cell No. 6, Edgar Labat awaits a date with the electric chair decreed 11 years ago, writing poetry to ease his burden.

"Living at the river's edge," Labat, a Negro, writes, "never knowing when they'll drive that final wedge."

"Will the wheel of justice ever look my way?"

"And when it does, what will it have to say?"

CONVICTED IN RAPE

An all-white jury convicted Labat, 41, a former New Orleans hospital orderly on March 23, 1953 of assisting in the rape of a white woman in 1950.

In refusing to grant a delay for a recent Habeas Corpus hearing, U.S. Dist. Judge E.

Gordon West said Labat has been on death row longer than any other prisoner.

"This case is now the oldest one in the United States," the judge said.

Labat's world in the Louisiana State Prison is an 8 x 12-foot cell with a toilet, a wash basin and mirror, a cot and a radio.

ONE VISITOR

Friends and relatives write infrequently. Last year, he had only one visitor.

The electric chair is in the death house about three miles from Labat's cellblock.

"On one night I was to die. I saw it," Labat told his attorney.

"I ate my last meal. The warden was going to have my head shaved. My sister was waiting for my body. I heard the generators cranking up. Then, the phone rang."

GRIM ORDEAL

Yet, Labat, has outwardly adjusted to the grim ordeal, of waiting to die.

"His spirits are good," Benjamin E. Smith of New Orleans, Labat's lawyer, said after a recent visit. "He's calm, mature and in possession of all his faculties."

"But you can see the inner pain that he's feeling in his poetry. This is a worse case than Chessman."

Caryl Chessman, California's convict author, was executed in 1960 after eight stays that extended his death row term to 12 years.

"The state of Louisiana has nothing to do with Labat being where he is 11 years," State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion said.

Labat has received eight stays of execution—four from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Strongest ground in his appeal for a new trial, Smith thinks, may be the argument that Negroes were excluded from the jury that convicted Labat and Clinton Alton Poret, another New Orleans Negro.

Poret, now 35, was found in a Tennessee prison serving a sentence for theft two years after the crime. He, too, is on death row and is appealing jointly with Labat.

'DEAD DRUNK'

Robert L. Penedo, 26, and a 22-year-old woman companion accused Labat and Poret of attacking them on a New Orleans street before dawn on Nov. 12, 1950. The woman said Labat held her while Poret raped her.

After the trial, Labat produced a bar waitress who said she spent the night of the crime with him and that he was "dead drunk."

Louisiana officials have rejected requests to interview him.

But his lawyer reports that Labat, who isn't allowed to leave his cell to work, has grown soft and fleshy.

Occasionally, he plays cards through the bars with other death row prisoners. He does a lot of reading.

And, Labat, whose education ended in the seventh grade, writes poetry.

"I sit in this little small cell. Hoping it will not be a swift sad farewell."

"One day I know my innocence will be proved."

"And this weary burden will be removed."

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Acid or Base?
NEEDED: A cooked red cabbage and various substances for testing.

DO THIS: Pour reddish-purple juice from the cooked cabbage into various containers. It will change its color to tell whether a substance is acid or base.

Lemon juice, which is acid, will turn the solution pink. Baking soda, which is base, will turn it green. Try other substances.

WHY? All acids contain hydrogen ions which change the color of litmus and other indicators, including red cabbage juice.

Bases contain an oppositely charged negative hydroxyl ion which produces an opposite color effect on litmus and some other vegetable colors including red cabbage juice.

A collection of the "Science for You" experiments is in book form and sold in better bookstores. It is called "Science Circus."

Hoffa's Trial Sees Witness

Missing Man Says He's Ready to Testify

CHICAGO (UPI)—The "missing witness" in the James R. Hoffa $25 million fraud trial appeared in court today and announced he is ready to testify for the government.

Eric Shinkel, chief bookkeeper for one of the seven men charged with Hoffa in the alleged conspiracy, was expected to identify financial records which the government considers vital to its case.

Two warrants have been issued for Shinkel's arrest since government agents were unable to find him after he was subpoenaed as a witness in the marathon Hoffa trial early this month.

Shinkel was found in a Miami, Fla., hospital, where he said he was undergoing treatment for a heart ailment.

The second warrant was issued early this week after the government charged Shinkel was evading examination by a court-appointed doctor.

U.S. attorneys said he was seeking to have his $40,000 bond reduced or removed.

Maurice Walsh, chief defense attorney for Hoffa, protested against Shinkel being called immediately to the witness stand. But U.S. District Court Judge Richard B. Austin ruled:

"The man is here. He wants to identify records. Put him on." Shinkel is bookkeeper for Calvin Kovens, one of the seven men accused with Hoffa of trying to defraud the Teamsters union pension fund of $25 million through fraudulent loans.

Kovens, a Miami real estate promoter, received millions of dollars in loans from the Teamsters and has been named in testimony as a key go-between in obtaining Teamsters loans for others.

Truck Drivers to Turn on Lights in Safety Drive

A "Lights on for Safety" campaign will be conducted by Michigan truck drivers over the July 4 weekend.

The Michigan Trucking Association, representing the Michigan trucking industry, is urging member companies to have their drivers turn on their headlights from noon July 2 until noon July 6.

A similar safety program was proposed by Gov. Romney during the Memorial Day weekend to remind the motoring public of Michigan's 25 per cent increase in traffic deaths during the first four months of 1964.

County Unit to View Food-Handling Rule

Proposed regulations to govern the handling of food for public consumption in Oakland County will be reviewed by the County Board of Supervisors' health committee in about three weeks.

The board directed its committee to make the regulations compatible with sanitation ordinances in several county municipalities.

The motion is intended to avoid any conflict in the enforcement of sanitary conditions in restaurants and other food handling establishments.

In recommending board approval of the regulations, the committee is seeking uniform food sanitation requirements throughout the county.

Presently much of the county, particularly in rural areas, is without food sanitation regulations, though subject to state law which is quite general on the subject.

According to County Health Department officials, the law is hard to enforce where no local ordinances exist, because it is not specific enough.

All county supervisors have been given copies of the committee's proposed regulations. Committee Chairman Cyril Miller asked those having any questions regarding application of the regulations in their communities to appear before the committee July 15.

The health department would conduct at least annual inspections of food establishments throughout the county and issue licenses.

A $10 license fee would be charged to cover inspection costs.

Medical Exam

The regulations would require medical examination of all food handlers, clean rest rooms, a safe water supply, and proper ventilation, food protection and waste disposal.

Defined in the proposed regulations are such things as disease control, adulterated food, personal cleanliness, safe temperatures to prevent food spoilage and proper cleaning of utensils.

It said that industrial wastes and drainage from contaminated areas around Memphis, Tenn., were sources of the pollution.

It added that other sources not yet identified may contribute to the endrin found in the lower Mississippi drainage area.

The report said that endrin was the major if not the sole cause of the fish kills.

It said that minute concentrations of endrin had been found in the treated water supplies of Vicksburg, Miss., and New Orleans.

BEEN EVALUATED

"While acute effects on humans of this pesticide in water have not been detected," it added, "the effects of continued ingestion of even these minute quantities must be evaluated."

Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze announced the finding in accepting the report of a conference held at New Orleans May 5 and 6.

Celebrezze endorsed the recommendations of the conference that action be taken to bring known sources of endrin pollution under control immediately and that other sources be identified and be brought under control as soon as possible.

The three-man mission arrived today in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital. The members are Sidi Baba of Morocco, Pio Correa of Brazil and Moise Aka of the Ivory Coast.

They were expected to remain about 10 days before going to Saigon.

Episcopalians Hit Home Owners Bill

DETROIT (AP)—The bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan Thursday urged Episcopal ministers to use their influence to help defeat Detroit's proposed homeowners ordinance in September.

The Rt. Rev. Richard S. Emrich called the measure "an impossible ban" which, if adopted, "can in the end destroy liberties."

The bill, designed to define rights and privileges of property owners, was proposed by the Greater Detroit Homeowners Council. Voters will consider it on the Sept. 1 primary ballot.

Call for Cooperation on U.S. Power Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

GOP REPORT: The Republican Critical Issues Council has called for "sound working relationships between private enterprise and government" to meet U.S. energy and power problems.

The report, ranging from ... rural electrification to atomic energy, said a reassessment of the nation's energy policies is needed and that Democratic administrations have been deficient in considering key matters.

Released Thursday, the report was the 11th in a series sponsored by the Republican Citizens Committee whose honorary chairman is former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. His brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University, is chairman of the council.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Action by Congress to give the Federal Power Commission the primary responsibility for federal development, transmission and distribution of electricity—a responsibility now shared by the Interior Department.

A new federal policy on 50-year federal hydroelectric licenses, many of which are coming up for renewal.

A review of the rural electrification administration and its competition with private industry.

DETAILED STUDY

A detailed study of electricity-generating methods and a new federal policy that considers what the report described as power cost reductions by private industry.

JFK LIBRARY: The drive for funds to build the $10-million John F. Kennedy Memorial Library has passed the halfway mark, a spokesman said Thursday.

He said about $5 million has been received, with $2 million more pledged by organized labor.

No date has been set for the groundbreaking, as architects are still grafting plans for the structure to be built on the banks of the Charles River in Cambridge, Mass.

WESTERN POWER: A major splicing of public and private power systems in 11 Western states was proposed Thursday by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall.

As he envisioned it in a plan sent to Congress and explained at a news conference, the federal government would join public and private power companies to build connecting lines.

The proposed federal outlay would be $200 million out of a total investment of $607 million. If Congress approves the plan promptly, Udall said, construction could be completed by 1971.

Barry to Switch: Politician to Dad

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, top contender for the Republican presidential nomination, settled down in his Arizona hilltop home today to make the transformation from politician to father of the bride.

Goldwater's youngest daughter, Margaret Ann, 20, will marry Richard Arlen Holt, 26, of Beverly Hills, Calif., Saturday night at the Phoenix Trinity Episcopal Cathedral.

The Arizona senator made two speeches in his home state Thursday, then ducked out of the spotlight.

In Nogales, Ariz., Goldwater told an American Legion convention that he hated to cut his visit there short, but that he had to get home for a "meeting of the clan."

OFFERS CHECK?

Jokingly, Goldwater said he had offered his daughter and her husband-to-be a handsome check if they would run away to get married. The senator said he even had offered to drive them.

Goldwater noted that he has two unmarried sons and he looks forward to the day they find mates. Goldwater, who has been discussing war and peace, then quipped, "We'll have some peace in our home, too."

Goldwater and his wife, Margaret, were to host a meeting of the wedding party this morning to go over plans for the ceremony. This afternoon Goldwater planned to stay home to greet house guests arriving for the event.

A dinner was scheduled for tonight.

GIVEN AWAY

Miss Goldwater, better known as Peggy, will be given away by her father at the 11-minute ceremony.

Her husband-to-be is a junior executive with an oil company. He is the nephew of movie actor Richard Arlen and as a child he played a number of small movie parts.

James Drury, star of "The Virginian" television series, is to be the best man. Matron of honor will be the bride's sister, Mrs. Thomas Ross of Torrance, Calif.

The only out of state political figure of note who will attend the wedding is Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

HAWAII HONEYMOON

Highland Twp. Man Injured in Collision

A Highland Township man suffered fractured ribs yesterday when a soft drink truck collided with his auto at Hickory Ridge and Commerce, Highland Township.

In satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital is Michael J. Dunleavy, 25, of 2080 Milford.

The truck driver, Juan A. Lozano, 39, of Detroit, was treated and released following the 12:15 p.m. accident.

The truck, loaded with beverage cylinders, overturned. Lozano told sheriff's deputies that his brakes did not work as he approached the intersection.

Liberation May Be Cause

U.S. Woman Pursued by Pack of Emotional Ills

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the final article in a four-part series on the subject: "Women—Do They Deserve What They're Getting?"

By JERRY SHEEHAN
NEW YORK (NEA)—The picture painted by the psychological surveys and divorce statistics is not encouraging to American women.

Either despite or because of their modern-day economic and political liberation, women are pursued by a pack of emotional ills. The results may add up to a greater problem than the nation's combined headaches of juvenile delinquency, air pollution and city traffic.

An area often studied as typical of a growing middle-class, suburban community is Bergen County, N. J.

Today in a hospital serving Bergen, women make up 40 per cent of the ulcer cases—an ailment once the sign of the harried male executive.

During the 1960s psychiatrists made a startling discovery: The number of emotionally disturbed young Bergen housewives was more than half again that of young husbands. It was three times as large as any other group in the survey.

COMPLAINTS VARIED

And a psychiatrist in Boston says:

"It is true there are too many more women patients than men."

"Their complaints are varied, but if you look underneath, you find this underlying feeling of emptiness."

And, across the nation, the annual divorce figures are coming dangerously close to striking a melancholy balance with marriage totals.

WRONG REASONS

Observers of the problem almost unanimously believe that women often marry for the wrong reasons and get divorced for the wrong reasons.

Among them is Betty Friedman, author of the best-selling book, "The Feminine Mystique."

"Of course, woman has equality on paper nowadays. The trouble is she doesn't know how to handle it in real life," said Mrs. Friedman.

She's Angered At Everyone; Husband Only Pays Bills

zines, movies, relatives and the wife next door fed her getting a man, washing floors, doing dishes and raising babies—the feminine mystique, I call it.

EMPTY LIFE

"Now she finds after having a couple of babies that her life is empty. But she feels guilty about questioning her feminine role, so she takes out her hostility on those around her, with divorce and neurotic children often the result."

Mrs. Friedman cites a therapist's description of a patient endeavoring to be a "real woman," a good wife and mother:

"She was really playing a very masculine role... She was pushing everyone around, dominating the children's lives, ruling the house with an iron hand, managing the carpentry, nagging her husband to do odd jobs he never finished, managing the finances, supervising the recreation and the education—and her husband was just the man who paid the bills."

Of course, the women the therapists never see are those—still happily numbered in the millions—who find feminine fulfillment in the traditional role of housewife and mother.

BEAUTY COMPLEX

Yet they too may suffer from another of the consequences of the feminine mystique syndrome—the belief that a woman must remain young and comely forever.

Thus, a woman must progress directly from youth to the grave—skipping middle and old age, like dry ice evaporating directly into air without melting.

Cosmetic manufacturers do enough business each year to support several small wars around the world.

VAST INDUSTRY
The British critic, Malcolm Muggeridge viewed American women in this fashion:

"How they mortify the flesh to make it appetizing:

"Their beauty is a vast industry, their enduring allure a discipline which nuns or athletes might find excessive."

"With too much sex to be sensual, and too ravishing to ravish, age cannot wither them nor custom stale their infinite monotony."

BACKWARD MOVE?

Is there any way out for women?

Most observers scoff at the idea of women moving backward into the 19th Century, becoming mere appendages to the head of the household.

Yet, should they "wear the pants," elbow their way into business, stop using make-up? Betty Friedman sees a happy middle ground; essentially, women must use their talents constructively in the world around them.

'BUSY WORK'

And this does not necessarily mean engaging in "busy work" at bridge society suppers or baking cookies for the girls' club.

It could mean, says Mrs. Friedman, that she should for example, shape her own career independent of her family life in—for example politics, charity work, teaching, medicine, advertising or writing.

This will mean competition with men, not as men, but as other human beings. Her home life, says Mrs. Friedman, will benefit.

"It is not a question of women having their cake and eating it, too," Mrs. Friedman writes.

HANDICAPPED BY SEX

"A woman is handicapped by her sex, and handicaps society, either by slavishly copying the pattern of man's advance in the professions, or by refusing to compete with man at all.

"But with the vision to make a new life plan of her own, she can fulfill a commitment to profession and politics, and to marriage and motherhood with equal seriousness."

The advanced years of a woman's life, Mrs. Friedman thinks, constitute a special trap.

Her child-bearing years are over, her husband (statistically) has died, leaving her to face perhaps two decades "walking through her leftover life like a living dead woman."

LONGER LIFE

Perhaps, says she, men will live longer when women carry more of the world's burdens instead of themselves being a burden.

"I think their wasted energy will continue to be destructive to their husbands, to their children and to themselves until it is used in their own battle with the world."

"When women as well as men emerge from biological living to realize their human selves, those leftover halves of life may become their years of greatest fulfillment."

The nation's First Lady has adopted a similar view. Mrs. Lyndon Johnson told Radcliffe College graduates that "the confusion of roles for women today is very real. The strains are very real. But many women have been able to master the confusion."

She described the modern American woman as wanting to be "preeminently a woman, a wife, a mother, a thinking citizen."

Parliament Abandons

Tribute to Churchill

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill isn't going to become the first honorary life member of parliament.

Members of the House of Commons have abandoned a plan for the unique tribute to the 89-year-old statesman, who has announced he will not stand for re-election this fall. Tradition proved too strong to get the idea through. Instead Churchill probably will be honored by a special resolution.

Girl Graduates Look to Future

By MIRIAM NEAL

There are points in life when the next step is a giant. One leaving a space so great that, though not impossible, retracing is prohibitive.

The stately or stumbling, serious or silly high school graduates who filed forward for their diplomas this June had already passed such a point.

Even the girls.

WELL MARKED PATHS
For the boys, the paths are pretty well marked. Their future lives will usually contain: education, military service, career, home, family, recreation.

Not so the girls.
At no other point in history have a woman's choices been so numerous and her life patterns so vague.

In the report of the President's commission on the status of women it is noted that "From infancy, roles held up to girls deflected talents to narrow channels."

From doll houses to her first formal, a girl is prepared to be a wife, mother and housekeeper. Yet this same girl is sent to high school college, taught science and math, and becomes trained to be a physicist or psychologist.

SOCIETY CONFUSED

Usually she can enter her professional world with ease. But when she marries and gets pregnant, society gets confused.

Her childhood training tells her to stay home with the baby.

Her college training tells her to utilize her talents.

Her husband isn't sure what is right.

Her employer isn't certain.

Only her neighbors "know" for sure: stay home.

But there is no "right" decision.

Society hasn't really established any rules. Society for a modern woman is a do-it-yourself kit with no instructions. She can put it together any way she likes but each step, and the final product, are her decision.

It is socially acceptable for a woman to have a talent, an education, a career, a husband, a family, a social life.

What society hasn't decided is what combinations of these choices are acceptable.

MANY CHOICES

When a woman works she can choose a "woman's job," such as teaching or nursing; or a "man's job," such as being a doctor or engineer.

She can choose all career, all marriage or a combination. Even if she chooses all marriage she must decide what proportion of her time will be given to social and community life and what to home.

The course is not set. Yet each girl who graduated this June has already chosen her "path of life."

What were their choices? What kind of women are we creating? What kind of community will they help to mold? What do they think of the world of women?

To answer these questions, we interviewed four girls from area high schools who had already taken the giant step. For the next four Fridays we hope to see the future of women through their eyes.

Intuition's Reliable

Tell Hubby of Jealousy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Recently we started seeing a lot of a certain couple. I have always liked them both but I have never been real close friends.

For the past few months I have had the feeling that something was going on between this woman and my husband. I have never been jealous before.

When I first got that feeling, I told my husband about it. He denied everything and I felt like a heel.

I haven't mentioned it since, but I am not fool. All of a sudden she has been planning things for the four of us to do almost every night, and she does favors for me that are uncalled for.

I don't like the looks that pass between them or the way they always manage to sit close to each other, or the way they dance together, either.

I've never had to cope with this in 20 years of marriage. Should I keep my mouth shut and keep watching or what?

My woman's intuition is strong.

NERVOUS WRECK
DEAR WRECK: Your woman's intuition is probably better than Scotland Yard.

Tell your husband in plain language that you are jealous, you sense danger and you have no intention of sharing him or losing him.

If he fights too hard to continue the friendship, you will know your suspicions were correct, in which case you had better enlist the help of the other husband.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my wife's mother came to live with us. Everything is fine, except when we go out for a ride.

I have a two-door automobile. My mother-in-law is 78, and quite large.

She always climbs in the front, which seats two comfortably, but with three it's crowded.

It is also dangerous, because I have only two seat belts in front, and they are being sat on—not used.

I certainly am not going to put my wife in the back seat alone, so she's up front next to her mother, near the door.

My mother-in-law can't very well straddle that hump on the floor, so she puts both her feet next to mine, which interferes with my driving.

Women Do Enjoy Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—What do mothers enjoy most about being "mother of the bride"? In a survey, conducted by the Sterling Silver Smiths of America, the moms cited as many reasons "as there are mothers."

But the three cited most often were: the entire wedding, the preparation that went into it, and seeing the bride so happy.

PET PEEVES
Asked also about their pet peeves concerning weddings, the mothers most often listed last-minute tensions.

Compiling invitation lists also irritated some of the mothers.

One mother said the only solution to wedding stress is to have sons!

Other highlights of the survey:

—Daughters seek mother's advice most often when trying to select a china pattern.

Next, they seek aid when picking flataware.

Only 29 per cent of the daughters got mom's advice when deciding on tulle.

Came the wedding ceremony and 32 per cent of the mothers proclaimed that the bride was ob-so-tranquil.

Some of the mothers nominated the bridegroom as the one most afflicted with jitters.

To parents of future brides, the 76 mothers surveyed passed on these hints: make preparations early, surround yourself with enough reliable people to assume responsibility for many of the wedding preparations.

Discuss finances objectively and give advice to the bride—but only when she asks for it.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Van Wagoner of Andersonville Road will host the 60th annual VanWagoner family reunion Saturday. Relatives arriving for the affair will be traveling from throughout the state and surrounding areas.

SPECIAL GUEST
Special guest at Saturday's affair will be Esther VanWagoner Tuffy. Mrs. Tuffy has been spending the week with the VanWagoners and with the M. D. VanWagoners of Birmingham.

Mrs. Tuffy, a Washington D.C. press correspondent, is here to cover the President's tour. She arrived from Ogdenburg, N. Y. where she spoke to the New York State Press Association.

Leaving for a two week vacation at their cottage on Suttons Bay, Grand Traverse Bay are Mr. and Mrs. Neil Wasserman of Canterbury Drive.

They will be accompanied by their three children, Billy, Bobby and Lori Ann.

During their travels the couple visited England, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Rome, Paris and the Italian and French Riviera.

TRAVEL FROM CANADA
Arriving today from Toronto, Ont. are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McGraw and sons Kirk and John. They will spend a week with Mrs. McGraw's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Prince of Lake Angeles.

The Perry Kelleys of Libwood Drive, West Bloomfield Township, have returned from a visit with their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Tracy (Cynthia Sue Kelley) of St. Paul, Minn., and son Patrick, born June 6.

The Tracys are moving soon to Culver City, Calif.

A Hawaiian theme will be carried out in the decorations and menu this Saturday evening when Dr. and Mrs. James F. Christie entertain at a neighborhood party in their Avondale Drive home.

Clothes for Dolly
You can please your small daughter with a new sweater for her dolly. Cut the knit top from a wornout sock, snip holes in each side for armholes, and roll the top of the sock a couple of turns, for a turtleneck effect.

You can take the other sock and make dolly a matching cap. Cut off the knit top and allow the finished top to be the bottom of the cap. Gather the new top together with a needle and thread and sew on a pretty button.

Sacred Heart Convent Plans Car, Style Show

"Motors and Modes," the second annual combined new car showing and fashion show, will be presented at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills Sept. 30.

This week, fashion shop participants, convent volunteers and automotive personnel met to begin formulating plans for the affair.

Given by the Alumnae Association and the Janet Stuart Association (mothers of the students), this is the eighth year for the fashion show.

CAR SPONSORS
This year, the big three in the automotive world, Ford, Chrysler and GM, will all sponsor the show.

Other sponsors will be Gen's of Birmingham, Claire Pearson, Robert, Ethel M. Pollock and Charles W. Warren Company.

The convent moved to Bloomfield Hills in 1958 from Jefferson Avenue in Detroit.

Proceeds from the show will benefit the new buildings.

An afternoon performance is slated for 1 p.m. with an evening performance beginning at 8 p.m.

MRS. HODGE LEADS
Mrs. Robert F. Hodge is general chairman of the fashion show.

Her co-chairmen include Mrs. Don E. Ahrens, president of the Janet Stuart Association; and Mrs. Victor C. Hildebrand, president of the Alumnae Association.

A number of area women are heading or working on committees. Among them are Mrs. Joseph E. Risdon, Mrs. Marcellus J. Sweeney, Mrs. James J. Yaw, Mrs. Richard J. Meurer and Mrs. John S. Mahony.

Others are Mrs. Joseph J. Churches, Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks, Mrs. Allan M. Hayes, Mrs. Joseph F. Maher, Mrs. Louis M. Millon, Mrs. Gerald E. McGlynn Jr., Mrs. William E. Boettcher, Mrs. James W. Coyne and Mrs. Walter D. McNaught.

COORDINATING
Also coordinating plans are Mrs. Leon E. Briggs, Mrs. Walter J. Simons and Mrs. Thomas J. Sansone.

Others heading committees are Mrs. Robert G. Fisher, Mrs. John B. Van Cronkrite, Mrs. Helen Taylor, Mrs. James W. Coyne and Mrs. Walter D. McNaught.

Concluding the list of localities working on the affair are Mrs. Anthony G. DeLorenzo, Mrs. Bernard F. Costello Jr., Mrs. E. Carl Just, Mrs. John B. Slavsky and Mrs. Raymond T. Westrick.

Sigma Beta Unit Holds Banquet, Installation

Members of the Beta Omicron chapter of the Sigma Beta National sorority recently held their annual banquet and installation of officers at the "Canopy" in Brighton.

Mrs. Robert Shannon was presented with the girl-of-the-year award. She has been a member of the group for five years and served as its first president.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Richard Bowers, president; Mrs. Theodore Neundorfer, vice president; Mrs. Ronald Alcorn, recording secretary; Mrs. W. L. Oliver Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Otto Block, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Watson, parliamentarian.

Mrs. A. M. Abend and Mrs. E. E. Russell conducted the installation.

Honored guest for the evening was Mrs. W. L. Oliver.

Sigma Beta Unit Holds Banquet, Installation

Members of the Beta Omicron chapter of the Sigma Beta National sorority recently held their annual banquet and installation of officers at the "Canopy" in Brighton.

Mrs. Robert Shannon was presented with the girl-of-the-year award. She has been a member of the group for five years and served as its first president.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Richard Bowers, president; Mrs. Theodore Neundorfer, vice president; Mrs. Ronald Alcorn, recording secretary; Mrs. W. L. Oliver Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Otto Block, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Watson, parliamentarian.

Mrs. A. M. Abend and Mrs. E. E. Russell conducted the installation.

Honored guest for the evening was Mrs. W. L. Oliver.

Other sponsors will be Gen's of Birmingham, Claire Pearson, Robert, Ethel M. Pollock and Charles W. Warren Company.

The convent moved to Bloomfield Hills in 1958 from Jefferson Avenue in Detroit.

Proceeds from the show will benefit the new buildings.

An afternoon performance is slated for 1 p.m. with an evening performance beginning at 8 p.m.

MRS. HODGE LEADS
Mrs. Robert F. Hodge is general chairman of the fashion show.

Her co-chairmen include Mrs. Don E. Ahrens, president of the Janet Stuart Association; and Mrs. Victor C. Hildebrand, president of the Alumnae Association.

Graduating Grandma Leads Active Life

By MADELINE DOEREN

"Graduating grandmothers aren't new these days," Mrs. Earl Floyd assured us the other day at an interview in her spacious home on Andersonville Road.

At this, we almost flipped our notebook, having come a long way on a hot day for what we considered news.

Earlier this month, Mrs. Floyd received her bachelor of science degree in education at Eastern Michigan University. She teaches at the Waterford Village School directly behind her home.

Her long-range plans include graduate studies at Wayne State University. She also eyes her doctorate to qualify for teaching on the college level.

No mother's syndrome here!

She also works at being a grandmother. Visiting Damon, who is half-past three, was gently nudged to take his afternoon nap. This, after a glass of cool gingerale!

STARTED WAY BACK

This thing called "motivation" began with the awarding of a four-year scholarship at Illinois State Normal School when Mrs. Floyd was graduating from the 8th grade.

She attended normal school one year before her marriage to Mr. Floyd. When he went into service during World War II, their daughters Janet and Barbara were five and three-and-a-half years old.

Mrs. Floyd was active in the Four Towns PTA and in 1944 was allowed to teach first grade under the War Emergency Certificate program. She was required to take six college hours' credit.

She taught eight years at Lambert School, Waterford Township and two years at Dublin Elementary.

SOCIAL WORK

Her interest in professional girl scouting led to a position as caseworker at the Bureau of Social Aid in Pontiac.

When Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons set up a juvenile department for boys and girls, Mrs. Floyd was his policeman.

She later transferred to juvenile court as a regular case-worker and supervised the adoption department for four years.

Arriving at a sort of mental crossroads, Mrs. Floyd resigned her position to teach. Would she go on for advanced degrees in education or remain in administrative work? She returned to teaching this year.

Collections of Staffordshire, ironstone and antiques grace the former Beatty home where the Floyds live.

OUTSIDE INTERESTS

What's a career without extra-curricular activities? Mrs. Floyd has many!

She has served as area director on the district board of the Zonta Club of Pontiac and is helping organize a new club in Benton Harbor.

"I was a Dallas Zontian who administered the oath of office to President Johnson," she reminded us.

She is board member of Camp Fire Girls, Pontiac Council and the Waterford Township Friends of the Library; teacher-vice president of Waterford Village PTA and is active in Guild V of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Not entirely sold on progressive education, as such, Mrs. Floyd has a middle-of-the-road attitude but is in agreement with the school system which should be open to new ideas. The new methods of teaching math are wonderful, she thinks.

Eight years in juvenile work have given her a perspective on the meaning of education in a youngster's life.

"If school is exhilarating enough and offers a challenge, it takes the pupil out of environmental difficulties, the cause of dropouts," she said.

With their grandmother, Mrs. Earl Floyd of Andersonville Road are Toni Miksch, age four and a half (seated) and sister Michelle who is two and a half, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Miksch of Fenton. Damon Klinebaker, three and a half, is the son of the Lee Klinebaker of Grand Rapids. Mrs. Floyd was graduated recently from Eastern Michigan University with a bachelor of science degree in education.

Fire Prevention

Make a practice of conducting a periodic fire inspection of your home. To be sure you do it, set a definite time for your tour. Make a note of the areas that should be cleared of debris or require replacement of dried-out, inflammable materials. Your best insurance is a fire, of course, is a material that is itself flame-proof, such as genuine ceramic tile.

Rhubarb Pie Is Made With Sour Cream

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor
How about rhubarb pie for dessert on Sunday? Mrs. Joseph Brandenburg makes hers with sour cream—says it's wonderful.

With her family grown, Mrs. Brandenburg has time to enjoy her five grandchildren, to read, do church work and participate in water sports.

SOUR CREAM PIE
By Mrs. J. Brandenburg
3 cups diced raw rhubarb

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1½ cups thick sour cream
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
Put rhubarb in shell.
Beat together eggs, sugar, cream, cinnamon and cornstarch. Pour over rhubarb. Bake one hour at 350 degrees.
Serve plain or garnished with whipped cream.

Sofa Pillows Made Easily

For a colorful, inexpensive sofa pillow cover start with strips of woolen cloth measuring three by 1½ inches cut from discarded garments with a pinking shears.

Use a piece of solid color fabric for both the front and back of the pillow. On one side, tack the colored strips, criss-cross fashion, to form a flower-like circle.

Fasten them at the center with black embroidery thread. When pillow top is covered, sew it to the bottom piece leaving one side open. Insert pillow, fold under the loose edges and whip together with small stitches, using matching thread.

Hanging Pictures

In hanging framed pictures, avoid twisting excess picture wire into a small snarl at the back of the painting. The Picture and Frame Institute cautions that the ball of wire will press against the canvas and cause a bulge on the surface of the picture.

Concetta Marie Sarvello, daughter of the Frank Sarvellos of Ishpeming and William John Green, South Aylesbury Drive, son of the junior Greens of Marquette, were wed recently in St. John the Evangelist Church, Ishpeming.

MRS. WILLIAM JOHN GREEN

Pair Wed in Ishpeming

In Washington for their honeymoon are William John Green, of South Aylesbury Drive and his bride, the former Concetta Marie Sarvello, daughter of the Frank Sarvellos of Ishpeming.

The couple exchanged recent vows before Rt. Rev. Msgr. David P. Spelgatti in St. John the Evangelist Church, Ishpeming.

Wearing her mother's ivory satin with cathedral train, the bride chose a French illusion veil and carried white gladioli with ivy.

ATTENDANTS

With Aurelia Sarvello, her twin's honor maid were bridesmaids Frances Sarvello; Jane Karnack, Crystal Falls; Carol Levine, Ishpeming and Jean Nicolson, St. Clair Shores.

Janet O'Neill was flower girl, George Raiah Jr., of Marquette was best man. Garth Green of Pontiac and Neal Green, Marquette, were their brother's groomsmen. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Green Jr. of Marquette.

Paul O'Neill, and Dominick Sarvello also were groomsmen.

Emmett Green of Union Lake ushered for the bride along with Richard Miller and Dominic Bertucci, Detroit; Michael Ethier, Mt. Clemens; Richard Handrahan, Marquette and Jerry King, Florence, Wis.

GRADUATES

The couple was graduated from Northern Michigan University. He is presently doing graduate work at Wayne State University.

Baking Soda Is Fine Cleaner

You'll be surprised at how much you can accomplish with baking soda.

A food product, which makes it unique among cleaners, it can be used in solution for general sweetening and cleaning, and dry as a scratchless scourer.

It can even be used to shine your copper. Sprinkle a half a cup lemon with dry soda and rub over the surface of pots, molds or whatever needs a brightening.

Flat silver, too, except for pieces with cemented-on handles or ornate pieces with darkened backgrounds for contrast, can be shined with baking soda. Just place silver in an aluminum foil-lined enamel pan of boiling water, add silver and three tablespoons of soda and let sit for a few minutes. Then rinse and polish dry.

Give Child Charm to Ward Off Witchcraft

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Though my husband's sister is devoted to our little boy, she is very critical of our 8-year-old girl.

It makes the child nervous and awkward with her.

Last night when her aunt and uncle were here, she offered to play them her new piano etude and was told by her aunt to "stop trying to show off."

My husband noticed her face, too. We wonder if you would advise speaking to his sister...

ANSWER: No. Instead, I advise you to recall what you know about witches—these creatures whose hostility has the power to change prices into frogs and good children into stupid stonies.

Recognize in this relative of yours the witch-power which was able to change your daughter's offer of entertainment into the ugliness of "showing off."

OFFER TALISMAN

Instead of begging the witch for kindness, give your child the talisman against the witch's spell—the truth of her offer of entertainment.

Clean that offer of misjudgment until it is restored to its original shape.

Then I would ask her to telephone her aunt and stand beside her while she said, "Aunt Ruth, I was not showing off last night when I asked you to listen to my new piano piece."

"I asked you to listen to it because I thought you would like to hear it."

If you stand beside her at the telephone, she can do this. And it must be done.

NOT HERSELF

She's nervous and awkward around her aunt because she is not herself around her aunt. If we can help her to once assert the truth of her own intentions to this woman, the woman's power to continue to distort them will be broken.

Your youngster, with your support, can begin to learn how to hold on to herself around her aunt instead of losing it to the witch's transforming spell.

Why do you think fairy tales make witches into the fearsome enemies of children?

They represent an old, old knowledge of hostility's power to make a child appear to be what he is not.

In symbolic terms, fairy tales inform us about the existence of hostility like your sister-in-law's and warn us that it can only be handled by teaching children to resist misjudgment by holding fast to the original shape of their meanings.

Don't bother trying to reform the witch. Your business is equipping your child with enough truth about herself, so that hostility begins to lose its power to twist her out of the shape which belongs to her.

Women of the Moose Install Senior Regent

Mrs. Roy M. Ottmar of North Tasmania Avenue was installed as senior regent, Women of the Moose, Pontiac chapter 300, Wednesday, in Moose Hall.

Installation chairman, Mrs. Lloyd LaBarge, was assisted by Mrs. Ferman Huston, member of the college of regents.

Mrs. Richard Rohrer, recent recipient of her college of regents degree, was installing regent. Assisting were Mrs. Clarence Cavalier, Mrs. Richard Dawson, and Mrs. Harold Finn.

INSTALLING ESCORTS

The degree staff of the Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 182 assisted by eight coworkers of Pontiac chapter 300 were installing escorts.

Others installed were Mrs. Jack Upton, junior graduate regent; Mrs. Walter Lingenfelter, junior regent; Mrs. Harry Welch, regent; Mrs. William VanDruska, recorder; Mrs. Cecil Diehl, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Gard, guide; Mrs. Lou Shans, assistant guide; Mrs. Gene Duncan, brother and Mrs. John Baxter, Argus.

Collecting, or Merely Getting Junk

Are you a collector of antique kitchen utensils?

If you don't know, here's a short quiz to help you find out as prepared by Mary Ann March, director of home economics for Ekco Products Company.

1. If your kitchen tools have wooden handles, has the paint worn off the handles, exposing the bare wood? (If the bare wood has yellowed sufficiently, score 10 points. If it's just plain chipped off, score 3.)

2. Are the tools themselves rusty and bent? (Here, again, score 10 points for artistically rusted tools; 3 points for looking like the cat dragged them in.)

3. Do your mesh strainers have holes large enough to strain whole lemons? (Score 6 points for strawberry-size holes; 1 point for lemons.)

4. Do your pots and pans have a tendency to burn food rather than cook it? (4 points if you like burned food; 10 points if it's only slightly scorched.)

If your total score is 26, you are definitely an antique kitchen utensil collector, says Miss March. But, if your score is only 11 points, consider yourself an old-fashioned accumulator.

In either case, you, along with millions of other American housewives, all suffer from the same disease: An inability to discard old, worn, and inefficient kitchen equipment.

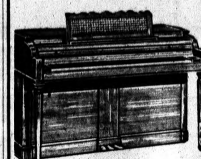

Coat of Protection

Put a thin coat of wax on the base and metal parts of your lamp during the summer to prevent tarnish.

Another Conspiracy for Your Urchins

Let's See: $85,000 for Bikes, $50,000 for Dolls

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you have any urchins in the doll-playing or bike-riding age bracket, beware! There is a conspiracy afoot to undermine both your solvency and your sanity.

I stumbled upon the plot one evening this week when I dropped in on an exhibit of 1964 Christmas toys that Mattel, Inc., was previewing for dealers in this area.

The things I saw and heard that night made my blood run cold. They're gaining up on us, fellow parents, and there's no place to hide.

Let us assume, to snatch a figure out of thin air, that you have a young daughter who is costing you $10,000 a year for clothing.

If your daughter is anything like mine, then money is allocated as follows: $40,000 for her and $40,000 for her Barbie dolls.

But ere another Yuletide rolls around that ratio, I fear, no longer will prevail.

Next year's clothing budget likely will be something on the order of $40,000 for your daughter and $85,000 for Barbie.

NEW WARDROBE

Yes, friends, the Mattel people are bringing out an entire new wardrobe for Barbie and her friends. Shoes, dresses, hats, furs, wigs, accessories. The works.

Also a new line of Barbie furniture with a new and larger "dream house" to put it in. Plus six travel outfits. Plus six "little theater" costumes. And that isn't all.

Barbie now has a little sister named Skipper, who has a complete wardrobe of her own.

Disaster impends unless you can persuade your daughter to open a nudist colony.

MORE DIABOLICAL

The plot against parents of young boys is even more diabolical. Many toy stores this Christmas will feature a new line of bicycles and tricycles called "V-Room."

These vehicles are equipped with a device that approximates the rear of a real motor.

If it ends even pre-school children with some of the obnoxious qualities of hot-rodgers.

For those too young for tricycles, there are toy trucks with "V-Room!" Brings the sound of the Indianapolis Speedway right into the home.

AVAILABLE SEPARATELY

And, worst of all, the devices will be available separately for installation on old bikes and trikes.

I wish I could say there was some way to keep your kids from finding out about these things. Apparently there isn't.

The conspirators are employing the "saturation" technique to reach them.

Every Saturday morning for 13 weeks before Christmas, Barbie and "V-Room!" commercials will be shown simultaneously on all three television networks.

If that doesn't brainwash them, nothing will.

Claim Wall Streefer Stole From Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — A Wall Street customer's man with a reported penchant for bad investments is charged with stealing $167,214 from accounts of his brokerage firms over a five-year period.

Authorities said the man Samuel Strasburg, 40, father of two, lost most of the money in the stock market.

He was charged Thursday with larceny and forgery and released without bail for a hearing later. He had been employed by Hoppin Brothers and Co., which made good the losses to customers.

Ex-Park Director Dies

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Eli Gallup, Ann Arbor superintendent of parks and recreation until he retired in 1961, died Thursday. He was 73.

Arrange Cut Flowers in Water Glass

A common kitchen water glass is an excellent container for cut flower arrangements.

With a few easy preparations, a water glass may be used for even rather formal arrangements as well as for everyday home decorating.

When using a clear glass, make certain the stems are an attractive element in the total design. There should be no confusing criss-crossing of stems.

It is important for the entire arrangement to have firm support, and for each stem to be held in a stable position. Opaque containers usually are filled with crushed chicken wire. However, with a clear glass, this is not attractive.

These suggestions are offered for solving this problem:

FIRST STEP

Using green floral tape, wind it around a florist's wire. Cut the wire into two pieces. The length determined by the diameter of the glass, measured an inch or so from the top, plus enough additional length at each end to shape into hooks. These hooked ends fit over the rim of the glass, with the two lengths running perpendicular to each other.

Next, crush chicken wire into a shape that exactly fits the glass' top portion. No mechanical aids should be evident in a finished flower arrangement, so this device must be concealed.

One way to do this is to wrap a long heavy U leaf around the chicken wire or use two or three galax leaves or salal (demon). Then place the wrapped chicken wire on top of the crossed wires in the glass.

Now, your common water glass is ready to serve as a container for an attractive floral arrangement.

For an asymmetrical triangular floral design, SAF suggests using five gladioli, a half bunch of daisy-type pompons, and a few short branches of pittosporum or other foliage.

The first step is to establish the full vertical line of the triangle. This is placed in the center of the container and is done with two gladioli of slightly different lengths.

Three gladioli, cut in varying lengths, then form the lower right hand point of the triangle and fill in the mass area of the arrangement. The "glad" used for the lower point should curve below the top of the container, as well as stretch out to the right.

EXTREME CARE

In placing these five gladioli, extreme care should be taken so there is no confusion in the visible part of the glass container.

Color contrast is added and the mass area completed with the use of the yellow pompons.

The foliage gives additional contrast in color, form, and texture, and also softens the silhouette.

With these few steps, you rather quickly can have a most attractive arrangement that will add color and beauty to a room for days.

New Watering Idea

Did you ever try putting food coloring in the liquid you water your plants with? Readers state the results are amazing.

Catcher Unit Useful Item

This year the "hottest item" for the homeowner is going to be a grass bag attachment for his power lawn mower.

A grass catching unit is one of the most useful devices on the market, according to the Lawn Mower Division of Black, Sivalls & Bryson, Inc., of Kansas City, Missouri.

The company, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of power lawn mowers, says that grass-catching units will reach new popularity this year.

The advantages of catching the clipped grass in a bag are as follows:

• The bags can easily be emptied into a garbage can, thus preventing the wet or heavily moistured grass clippings from laying on the lawn.

• The grass-catching units are extremely desirable during the early spring mowing when the grass is heavy with moisture. The catcher helps remove dead weeds and accumulation left on the lawn during the winter. In the spring, if the heavy grass clippings are not removed by a grass catcher unit, the clippings can lay on the new, growing grass, and smother it or cause a mold.

• In the fall, the grass-catching units are also extremely useful in helping to clean off the leaves and the dying grasses.

The company points out that new engineering principles have resulted in power mowers being designed specifically to eject the grass.

Many mowers will eject a certain amount of grass, but the newly designed units have blades and a discharge chute which throws the grass high enough so that a grass-catching unit can be effectively employed.

The biggest and most important of your neighbors.

One that can be the envy of, is a neatly attended-to lawn.

Lawn and Garden News

SHOWY BLOSSOMS — The showy yellow blossoms of the tulip tree closely resemble tulips. A touch of orange on each petal adds to the flower's delicate beauty. Belonging to the magnolia family, the tree's leaves are smooth, notched and long stemmed. They make magnificent lawn specimens and prefer soil rich in compost and reasonably moist. Since they are difficult to transplant, only young trees should be moved. Tulip trees, commonly called yellow poplars or tulip poplars, are a native North American forest tree. They sometimes reach a height of 200 feet and a trunk diameter from 5-10 feet.

Keep Weeds Out of Lawn

That fine lawn you've been nursing along all spring may soon be the target for crab grass and other weeds.

Even if you didn't apply a pre-emergence crab grass killer or broadleaf weed killer earlier, you can still keep weeds from taking over your lawn without waging an all-summer campaign.

A unique three-in-one product can help you: (1) wipe out existing crab grass; (2) keep it from coming back for the rest of the summer; and (3) kill a wide range of broadleaf weeds at the same time.

The multi-purpose product, Greenfield SummerTime Crab Grass Killer, contains DSMA to kill growing crab grass, 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T to kill broadleaf weeds, and Trifluralin, a pre-emergence crab grass killing chemical.

This chemical destroys crab grass and other weed grasses as they sprout from seed, eliminating the need for repeated applications of post-emergence crab grass killers throughout the summer.

For homeowners who prefer a spray, the same combination of ingredients is available in liquid form as Greenfield Broadleaf Weed and Crab Grass Killer.

Two applications, one week apart, with either product will provide complete control of crab grass for the rest of the season.

Women Lead Brigade Back to Shovels, Hoes

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK — More women than men belong to the dig-weed must, reversing the man with the hoe trend.

A study of 11,000 gardening families in 50 states shows women today make up 54 per cent of the green thumbs. Just a year and a half ago, it was the other way around with men constituting 55 per cent of those working from lawns and backyard plots.

A garden tools producer, who did the study, said there were several reasons women gardeners outnumbered men.

More women now work part-time or are not holding jobs outside the home at all, as automation eliminates the positions they once held.

Vegetable growing is a standby of the budget.

KEEP IN SHAPE

Women want to keep in shape and find that gardening is a good way to get exercise and sustain simultaneously.

There are more women's clubs in the nation; ergo, more garden clubs.

With some one million new homes being built each year, new homeowners take pride in making their grass greener than their neighbors.

The study, made by Union Fork and Hoe Co., revealed changes in gardening habits too. There has been a sudden, hefty increase in growing vegetables for home consumption. Today, vegetables are being grown by 33 million families (66 per cent of home garden households). The manufacturer's last study showed some 14 million families (36 per cent of gardening households) growing vegetables.

More vegetables are being planted than flowers, which are next in popularity. Then come fruit trees, shrubbery, berries, nut trees and lawn care. Researchers found that most — 82 per cent — gardeners are married. Of the married gardeners, 91 per cent had two or more children, 34 per cent with four or more children. The study did not show how much participation there is by the youngsters.

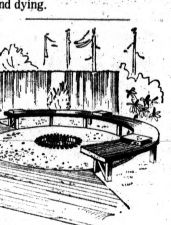

Gardeners proved to be do-it-yourselfers, with 84 per cent saying they had no outside help. Time spent on gardening averaged one hour per day with many diggers putting in two hours and more daily.

The study found neighborhood cooperation among gardeners. Some 54 per cent said they lent gardening tools such as rakes, shovels, hoes, weedeaters, cultivators and spading forks. The active borrowing is laid in part to the crop of new gardeners not yet fully equipped or familiar with the proper tools.

Water Lily Queen — Mammoth Victoria

Victoria is the largest water lily in the world. A genus of South American aquatic plants, it has thick rootstocks and long-stalked large floating leaves.

The floating flowers, 7-18 inches wide, are fragrant. They open toward evening as white blossoms and turn pink to red the next day before withering and dying.

OUTDOOR TRIO — Screening fence, curved bench, and circular, sunken firepit make a trio that's sure to please outdoor living fans. In this yard, they terminate a Douglas fir deck built almost on ground, but could work into any garden setting. Curved bench is nail-laminated of half-inch-thick Douglas fir.

Helpful Ideas in New Book

Dr. Louis Pyenson's very helpful and concise new book, "Keep Your Garden Healthy", is the second in a series of Garden Guides by publisher E. P. Dutton & Co.

(Dr. Pyenson, for many years plant pathologist and entomologist at the State University, Agricultural and Technical Institute, Farmingdale, N.Y., is a most qualified author on the subject of garden health.)

The 256-page volume, well illustrated with 97 line drawings and 10 photographs, was written with a two-fold purpose: to help every gardener understand the basic requirements of plants and to give specific advice about weed, insect and disease prevention and control.

Fourteen chapters cover plant growth, plant protection, cultural practices, insects and diseases, lawn health, indoor plants, garden flowers, evergreens, the home fruit and vegetable garden, equipment for pesticide application, ending with a discussion of safety in the use of pesticides.

"Keep Your Garden Healthy" is the first book for the home gardener to balance the dangers of pesticides against the importance of chemical controls.

SPECIAL FEATURE
As one of the special features, the volume includes excellent charts showing at a glance—in detail—the effects, causes and remedies of specific plant problems.

In addition the more than 100 illustrations picture the pests, plant damage and control methods which the text has covered.

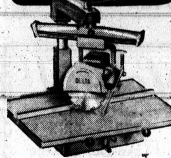

An appendix of useful weights, measures and calculations is augmented by special information on how to dilute pesticides.

Here is an invaluable guide for every gardener — brand new or confirmed enthusiast. "Keep Your Garden Healthy" will provide reassurance for all those who fear that pesticides cannot be used safely.

JAPANESE INFLUENCE — A Japanese influenced segment of the Clifford Mezeys Bloomfield Township wall garden provides an interesting focal point for visitors of the backyard patio. Pieces of weather-torn driftwood collected by the Mezeys are arranged on a carpet of white pebbles. Plantings in the adjacent sections include espaliered fruit trees for spring flowers and fall fruit. The wall garden is a clever and attractive way to prevent the sod and soil of a neighbor's higher property from tumbling down onto your lawn.

Instant Soil, Big Help to Gardeners

Now we have "instant soil" to help you with the seedlings you should be starting at this time of year and for use with pot plants, urns, porch or window boxes.

Instant soil has no soil. It consists of vermiculite, shredded sphagnum peat moss, limestone, superphosphate and fertilizer.

Among its advantages are that it is free of disease and weed seeds, contains the correct amount of fertilizer and is available when your garden is still frozen.

The soil-less mix was developed by Prof. Raymond Sheldrake Jr., vegetable crops expert, and Prof. James W. Boodley, floriculture and ornamental horticulturist at the Cornell University State College of Agriculture. They say it is superior to most garden soil.

Labeled "Peat-lite Mix A," the preparation has been used for two years by commercial growers. For the benefit of the home gardener, the formula has been broken down as follows:

ONE PECK
To make one peck, mix 4 quarts of No. 2 size vermiculite

(sold as Terralite in garden shops), 4 quarts of shredded sphagnum peat moss, one level teaspoon of limestone, one teaspoon of 20 per cent superphosphate, and 2 to 4 tablespoons of 5-10-5 fertilizer.

For a bushel, mix one-half bushel each of vermiculite and sphagnum peat moss, 4 tablespoons of limestone, one tablespoon of superphosphate and 8 to 16 tablespoons of 5-10-5 fertilizer.

Use the smaller quantity of 5-10-5 for sowing seeds. Moisten the peat moss to reduce dust, and mix thoroughly.

You may use the mix immediately or store in a plastic bag, which will preserve moisture.

The mix is light in weight and will hold a supply of water and oxygen.

Add fertilizer about every two weeks after the plants have been in the mix 4 to 6 weeks. Recommended is a soluble fertilizer at the rate of one tablespoon per gallon of water.

The plant container must have holes at the bottom for drainage.

Fine seeds, such as petunias, snapdragons and begonias, should be left uncovered. Most seeds may be covered with about one-fourth of an inch of mix.

Place the flat or container in a plastic bag and keep it in a warm place (70-75 degrees) with good light. Remove the bag when green sprouts appear, and keep in a cooler place (65 degrees). This will speed germination and preserve moisture.

The seedlings need all the available light they can get to flourish.

In the same vein, to lighten the load in window boxes and planters intended to hold clay and other pots, fill the boxes mostly with peat moss, rather than soil.

Avoid Iris Root Rot, Plant in Porous Soil

Iris like a sunny, well drained location where the soil is friable and easy to work.

If the rhizomes are forced to stay in a prolonged wet condition, root rot will be encouraged and the plants may be lost.

Thin Trees Raise Yield for Autumn

Want big apples come next fall? Then you must see that the tree does not overbear.

Fruit thinning is usually done soon after the fruit is thoroughly set.

It is best to thin peaches when they are the size of a man's thumb.

If thinned before this time, they are so tiny that it is hard to pick them off and you can't tell which fruits have been attacked by curculio.

When you thin your fruits, be sure that you thin enough. It is usually better to take off too many rather than not enough. The remaining fruit will profit.

THIN BY PRUNING

Thinning may also be accomplished by pruning. Cutting off fruit buds will limit trees production.

In tender fruits, however, such as peaches, it is not always advisable to thin heavily by means of pruning for the fruit may be still further thinned by winter-kill, late spring frost or disease.

You will be safe, if you remove all the weak, immature wood from the inside of the tree.

This will allow the tree's energy to go to the remaining stronger wood which produces the best fruit.

Planters on Wheels

Liked by Collectors

Mothers with growing house plant collections will appreciate gifts of redwood or other planters with rollers or casters.

Place a number of spring flowering plants plunged in clay pots in each planter to make the gift complete.

Planters on wheels can be easily moved by elderly persons to accommodate plant preferences for sun or shade.

TULIP TREE — George F. Dingel, 384 Coats Road, Orion Township, was delighted to find a tulip tree in full bloom in his front yard. "It was the hum of the bees that made me look up," said Dingel. "We've lived here 24 years and this is the first time that the tree has blossomed."

New Control for Insects

A new granular formulation containing Sevin insecticide and Chlordane for lawn insect control has been announced by Heritage House Products, Inc., manufacturer of consumer turf products.

Sevin is a relatively new insecticide, that is safer to handle and apply than any other pesticides. Chlordane has been used against turf insects for many years.

Chinch bugs, sod webworms, fall armyworms and leafhoppers are all controlled by Sevin, the Heritage House label states, while Chlordane knocks out beetle grubs and ants. The new lawn insect control may be used when these insects are troublesome.

Twenty pounds of granules per 2,500 square feet of lawn is the rate of treatment recommended. The material is normally applied in conventional lawn fertilizer spreaders.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Breathing Ailment Caused by Tension

Q—For six months, I have had spells of what my doctor calls hyperventilation syndrome. What causes it and what can I do to get rid of it?

A—Your condition is much commoner than we doctors used to think.

The person who hyperventilates gets BRANDSTADT spells of breathing too fast and too deeply.

This is usually due to nervous tension and is more common in women than in men.

When there is an emotional crisis the hyperventilation does not occur until the crisis has passed.

The breathing, which is sometimes so slightly increased in depth and frequency as not to be noticeable, washes too much carbon dioxide out of the blood, thereby creating a condition known as alkalosis.

Hyperventilation is hard for a doctor to recognize because it may cause a wide variety of symptoms.

In some persons it causes a severe chest pain that may be mistaken for a heart attack.

In another, it may cause pains similar to those of gall bladder, colic or arthritis.

It may cause muscular twitching and fainting and be falsely labeled epilepsy or it may cause a victim to talk loudly and stagger as though drunk.

The manifestations are often limited to one side of the body, usually the left side in right-handed persons.

DRUG UNNECESSARY

No drug is required to relieve the attacks, but prompt relief can be had by breathing into a paper bag held tightly over the nose and mouth or by merely holding your breath as long as you can.

You should train yourself to avoid yawning or sighing.

Incidentally, fainting, when it occurs, automatically stops an attack.

Q—Is there any medication for waterlogging, especially in the ankles?

A—Your edema can be due to various causes.

If a leaky heart valve has resulted in a decompensated heart, your doctor may want you to take one of the digitalis preparations.

Whatever the cause, he may also want to give you one of the newer diuretics.

These drugs help to draw fluid from the waterlogged tissues and excrete it through the kidneys.

Q—What can I do to relieve a burning sensation in my feet? I am 52 years old and stand on a cement floor about 10 hours a day.

A—It is often hard to get rid of this complaint. In some victims multivitamin preparations have been helpful.

You should, if possible, get off your feet for five or ten minutes every hour.

Make sure your shoes are not tight in any dimension.

Wear socks of a soft fabric and change them daily.

Foot powder on the skin and dusted into your shoes may give some comfort.

Plan Strategy for Transit Bill

House Backers Hope to Speed Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a $375-million bill to help cities solve problems of mass transit discussed today ways to safeguard their hard-fought victory in the House and speed the measure to President Johnson.

The House passed the bill Thursday by a 23-vote margin — 212 to 189.

Rep. Albert Rains, D-Ala., steered it to success, told a reporter, "I hope the Senate will see its way clear to accepting our version."

If the Senate, which passed a somewhat similar bill, insists on a conference to a conference, a compromise measure, another House vote will be required.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., said he thinks the Senate will ask for a conference, but that there will be no difficulty in agreeing on a bill. Williams has been the principal Senate sponsor of the bill.

Both bills provide for grants to help city transit systems keep and hold patrons—and deter them from using their autos to further clog bumper-to-bumper city traffic.

The federal money, $75 million in the first year and $150 million in each of two succeeding years, could be used to match local funds up to 2 to 1 for research and purchase of equipment.

But the Senate measure authorizes an additional $375 million in guarantees for nongovernmental loans, and senators interested in the legislation want to preserve as much of this feature as possible.

Call Grand Jury in Murder Case

FREDERICKS BURG, Va. (AP)—A special grand jury session will consider murder charges Monday against a 36-year old Michigan man in the May 5 slayings of two policemen.

The special session to hear the charges against Bruce Walter Leikett of Detroit was announced Thursday by Commonwealth Atty. J. M. H. Willis Jr.

Leikett is charged in the deaths of Sgt. Roy G. Wright and Patrolman William F. Mines. The two were found slain behind a shopping center.

Leikett was arrested two days later after an auto crash had ended a high speed chase in a Detroit suburb, killing the driver of the second car.

Surfing Expert Shows New, Latest Film

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Bruce Brown, the man who produced "Slippery When Wet," "Barfoot Adventure" and "Waterlogged," presented the world premiere of his latest film "The Endless Summer" this week.

Haven't heard of Bruce Brown or any of these films? You must be an earth-bound square, man. Any hot-dogger surfing bug knows that Bruce Brown is to surfing what John Ford is to Westerns, what Michelangelo was to ceiling painters.

"The Endless Summer" has sold out four nights this week at the Encore Theater where audiences of tanned, taffy-haired young people and a few elderly types have gasped and cheered at surfers skidding down Matterhorn-like waves on foam-and-fibre glass boards. It is the sixth annual film of Brown, who went around the world to shoot two young surfers in Senegal, Ghana and other places that had never seen a surfboard.

Brown, 26, and blond, has been riding the crest of the surfing craze that has become a religion for thousands of California teenagers. Through surfing music and magazines, the fad has spread to other parts of the country.

LOTS OF ORDERS
"The surfboard companies are getting lots of orders from the Midwest," Brown reported. "The sport of riding the wakes of speedboats is catching on. But some people buy the boards to float in swimming pools, or just for show. I once saw a sports car that had a board bolted on the top — obviously a status symbol."

Brown intends to spread the surfing gospel eastward. He leaves on Monday with a crew of champion surfers to show "The Endless Summer" and ride the waves of New York, New Jersey, Virginia and Florida.

"The sport is catching on more and more in the East," he commented. OPERATES ONE-MAN INDUSTRY

Brown operates his one-man film industry from his office at Dana Point, 50 miles south, in the heart of the high-wave district. He is his own cameraman and cutter and narrates the action in 100-150 one-night stands per year.

He makes frequent trips to Africa, New Zealand and Peru. His films also are shown with a recorded narration, and each can gross as high as $200,000.

Announces Candidacy for 26th Relection

LANSING (AP) — Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, Thursday announced his candidacy for reelection. He has served eight years in the House and two in the Senate.

His district, the new 26th, includes Roseville, East Detroit, St. Clair Shores and the townships of Harrison and Chesterfield in Macomb County.

Whisked to Secret Hideaway

Tshombe Returns to Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga's ex-President Moise Tshombe came back to the Congo today after a year of self-imposed exile. The Congolese government immediately whisked him to a secret hideout.

There was general jubilation in Leopoldville Thursday at the news that the leader of the Congo's richest province was returning. Many speculated that he would become premier of the central government for which U.N. troops crushed his Katanga regime. But there was no hero's welcome for Tshombe today.

His reception committee consisted only of Premier Cyrille Adoula's army aide and security guards. Armed Congolese gendarmes wrestled newsmen and photographers at Leopoldville's Ndjili Airport, trying desperately to prevent pictures and interviews.

Tshombe, 47, waved briefly as he stepped through the doorway of a French jet airliner just before dawn. Within seconds he was inside an official limousine which took off at high speed. It almost knocked down the struggling gendarmes and newsmen.

TAKEN TO CONFERENCE

Informed sources said Tshombe's return was arranged by Pierre Davister, correspondent of a Brussels weekly magazine who saw Adoula last Sunday during a 24-hour visit to Leopoldville.

It was believed that Tshombe was taken from the airport to confer with Adoula. Previous meetings between the two have ended in acrimony and broken promises.

Tshombe returned amid general speculation that the central government is trying to bring together all its opponents in an effort to end the rebellions plaguing it in Kivu, Kwilu and North Katanga provinces.

"If they release Antoine Gizenga, and Albert Kalonji can come back, everything will be fine," one worker said in Leopoldville Thursday at the news of Tshombe's return.

Gizenga was the late Patrice Lumumba's political heir and headed the Communist-supported separatist regime in Stanleyville in 1961. He has been imprisoned since February, 1962. There are rumors he has been freed.

A Bum Steer Riding Range in Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A frisky young steer led the big stampede through Mockingbird Valley Thursday night.

The hour-long chase by several policemen and 50 stick-waving residents from a golf course and onto suburban streets ended with a Western-style roping.

Then the 650-pound animal shook free and led the gang on a 90-minute romp before he was captured again.

Owner Kenneth Dennis of Louisville said the animal had jumped a fence to get away.

Ionia Case Reaches Impasse

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The case of an Ionia couple excommunicated from the Episcopal Church for publicly criticizing their pastor reached at least a temporary impasse Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clore, whose excommunication sprang from a high school girl's dance, met behind closed doors with the Rt. Rev. Charles E. Bennison, bishop of the West Michigan Diocese, and a diocesan committee.

after 20 minutes saying they agreed with what they said was his desire for secrecy in the case.

The couple said later, however, that they would meet with Bishop Bennison here next Thursday.

CRITICIZED RECTOR

The Clores were excommunicated in April after criticizing the Rev. Raymond Bieri, rector of the Ionia Episcopal Church. They took exception to his criticism of a high school production of the musical "Damn Yankees."

The Rev. Mr. Bieri termed "salacious and immoral" a dance performed in a scanty costume by 16-year-old Kristi Honson.

Attorney Platt W. Dockery, himself an Episcopalian, termed Thursday's hearing a "star chamber" session which is contrary to church law.

He said members of the diocese "are greatly concerned with the high-handed attitude of this proceeding."

Jumper Events Please Crowd at BOH Show

Grosse Pointe Horse Wins Third Ribbon for First Place

By JERE CRAIG
It was a crowd-pleasing evening at the Detroit Horse Show last night on the Bloomfield Open Hunt grounds.

The weather was ideal for watching the first class competition and the jumpers put on quite a show for the judges and fans.

Mrs. J. Deane Rucker's Cold Climate from Grosse Pointe took its third blue ribbon of the week by winning the W. D. McCullough Memorial trophy class for ladies' conformation hunters.

A junior exhibitors hunt team event was won by Royal Chestnut, Prime Power and Mathematician, an out-of-state trio.

An Ohio threesome was runner-up; while BOH riders Blyth Davis (on Commando), Robert M. Lambert (Dragoon) and Penny Mitchell (Advance Ticket) received third place ribbons.

The junior jumpers' knock-down and out class was a thriller for the fans with nine horses in the first jumpoff, and three surviving through the second and third.

THREE-WAY TIE
After the third jumpoff, the judges decided to award first place to all three — Orphan Army Boy, since the jumps were as high as they could go.

The competition was equally close in the night's concluding event—the Midwest Area USET Challenge Trophy class for open jumpers.

The positions had to be determined on time after the jumps reached maximum elevation on the second jumpoff. There was a second difference between first and second place.

The Dolphin, ridden by Ralph Fleming of Park Ridge, Ill., took the trophy and $120 first prize money.

Neal Shapiro of Glen Head, N. Y., rode the runner-up, and third place finishers on Jacks Or Better and Uncle Max.

In activity earlier in the day, Gay Blum of Cincinnati, Ohio, qualified for the National Horse Show next fall at Madison Square Garden in New York City.

She won the Macley Trophy class for ASPCA horsemanship, beating out Penny Mitchell and Robert M. Lambert Jr., both of Birmingham and the host BOH.

Other Birmingham riders who did well were Larry Gleffe, Rick Cram and Linda Brandt whose horses took first place in the hunt team event for the William P. Lambert Memorial Trophy.

Katie Monahan, another Birmingham and BOH entry, rode Milto into a blue ribbon in the Donna Reith Memorial Trophy class for working hunter appointments (13-year-old-and-under exhibitors).

Tina, also ridden by Miss Monahan, was the runner-up.

Hickory Smoke of Holland, ridden by Kathy DeWitt, was a judged best in the middle and heavyweight green working hunter class yesterday afternoon.

Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Virginia and Canada also had winning entries during yesterday's events.

The competition will continue today through Sunday night.

Politics Cause Stir in Wimbledon Play

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Officials at aristocratic Wimbledon, which prides itself on being the world's best-run tournament, were wondering today just what to do if any more Communist players refuse to play with South Africans because of apartheid.

Politics hit Wimbledon tennis for the first time in its 78 years Thursday when Russia's No. 2 player, Alex Metreveli, RETAINS TITLE — Mrs. Keith LeClair (left) of Ann Arbor won her second title in a row in the Women's District Golf Association, finishing the 54-hole tournament yesterday with a 240 at Franklin Hills Country Club. scratched from the men's singles after refusing to meet South African Abie Segal in a third round match because of South Africa's racial policies.

This shock withdrawal was closely followed by Hungarian Istvan Gulay pulling out of the men's doubles in which he was to have partnered Segal.

DOUBLE TROUBLE
Now Wimbledon officials are wondering if another player, Mrs. Suzi Kormoczy of Hungary, will withdraw from the doubles first round match in which she is scheduled to play with Christine Mercelis of Belgium against Segal's wife, Heather, and Carol Prosen of Orlando, Fla.

One Wimbledon official said: "To keep political propaganda out of Wimbledon in the future we should insist that a player can only withdraw if he produces a valid medical certificate."

Russian coach Semyn Belitz, German said: "The decision was entirely up to Metreveli's own conscience. There was no pressure from me or from the tennis association in Moscow."

Segal commented: "If the Russians want to bring politics into tennis, they should not be allowed to come to Wimbledon. It suits me — I get a walk-over and a day's rest."

Politics again, Thursday saw the exit of the first seed in the women's bracket — seventh-ranked Jan Lehane of Australia. Norma Baylon, the young Argentine star, beat her 6-3, 2-6, 7-5.

UNEASY MOMENTS
Otherwise, all of the seeds, both men and women, who took the courts Thursday came through — though several had some uneasy moments.

These included the holders of the men's and women's titles—Chuck McKinley, of San Antonio, Tex., who was taken to four sets by Denmark's bearded Torben Ulrich, 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, and Marge Smith of Australia, who struggled through a marathon first set before beating Mrs. Karen Susman, of San Antonio, Tex., 1962 winner but unseeded this year, 11-9, 6-0.

Mrs. LeClair Finds Time to Win Golf Tournaments

By FLETCHER SPEARS
Raising a family and collecting golf championships keep Mrs. Keith LeClair of Ann Arbor busy. But she finds time for both.

She grabbed her first WDGA title in 1955, repeated in 1956 and '57, and collected her fourth last year.

RECORD SCORE
While she missed a few WDGA crowns, Mrs. LeClair made up for it by taking the Michigan Women's Championship in 1960 and 1962.

She fired a record 18-hole score of 72 in the '62 tournament at Battle Creek Country Club.

She fired a record 18-hole score of 72 in the '62 tournament at Battle Creek Country Club.

She fired a record 18-hole score of 72 in the '62 tournament at Battle Creek Country Club.

The victory was the second in a row for Mrs. LeClair, and her fifth in the past 10 years.

The five titles tied a mark set by Miss Hope Seignious, who is no longer active in the association.

Mrs. LeClair turned in a final round 42 yesterday to finish with a 54-hole total of 240, 10 strokes ahead of runnerup Mrs. John Hume of Birmingham.

She won the Macley Trophy class for ASPCA horsemanship, beating out Penny Mitchell and Robert M. Lambert Jr., both of Birmingham and the host BOH.

Other Birmingham riders who did well were Larry Gleffe, Rick Cram and Linda Brandt whose horses took first place in the hunt team event for the William P. Lambert Memorial Trophy.

Katie Monahan, another Birmingham and BOH entry, rode Milto into a blue ribbon in the Donna Reith Memorial Trophy class for working hunter appointments (13-year-old-and-under exhibitors).

Tina, also ridden by Miss Monahan, was the runner-up.

Hickory Smoke of Holland, ridden by Kathy DeWitt, was a judged best in the middle and heavyweight green working hunter class yesterday afternoon.

Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Virginia and Canada also had winning entries during yesterday's events.

The competition will continue today through Sunday night.

Repairs Start on Cup Boat After Mishap
DETROIT (UPI) — Mechanics worked today to repair Miss U.S. 5 for next week's qualifying trials for the Gold Cup race after the craft and its driver were involved in an accident on the Detroit River Thursday.

Driver Don Wilson slammed the craft into a cruiser's wake at 120 miles an hour while on a test run. Doctors said he suffered minor injuries to his back.

Another Gold Cup entry, Tempo, was wrecked this week when it went over the side of a mountain while being towed to Detroit from Gunterville, Ala.

A trailer with the craft aboard skidded off a road near Fayetteville, Ala., injuring two of its crew.

Mechanics plan to get Miss U.S. 5 ready for qualifying trials next week. Its deck was smashed in Thursday's crash-up.

A field of 16 hydroplanes will compete in qualifications for the 42 spots in the Gold Cup race.

Kelso Back in Running for 'Horse of Year' Title
NEW YORK (AP) — Kelso, the 7-year-old gelding from Mrs. Richard C. duPont's Bohemia Stable, appears ready to make his run for a fifth straight Horse of the Year title and the top spot among all-time money winners.

After running two poor races on the West Coast, the son of Your Host-Maid of Flight got back into winning stride with a 1 1/4 length victory in the $15,000 Straight Face at Aqueduct Thursday.

GOODBYE! — Right fielder Hector Lopez of the New York Yankees seems to be waving goodbye to a home run ball hit by Baltimore's Brooks Robinson last night. A member of the New York bullpen crew looks on. The Orioles won, 3-1, to increase their American League lead.

Match-Play Opens in State Golf

Medalist Seeks 1st Big Victory

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Ray Palmer, club champion at Grosse Ile but never the winner of a big tournament, was a strong contender in the 53rd annual Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament which started match play today.

Palmer, a 31-year-old Wyandotte manufacturer who laid off the game for a number of years because of a bad back, took medalist honors in two days of qualifying on the hilly Belvedere Golf Course with a 72-71-143.

This was one stroke better than former champion Don Stevens of Detroit, who blew a chance at a fine subpar round when he took a six on the 18th hole after landing in a trap.

Stevens said his first attempt at getting the ball out of the trap moved it "exactly one inch."

Stevens finished with a 70 for a two round total of 144. He and Palmer were the only players in a field 220 who at least matched par, making this the highest scoring State Amateur in history.

PLAYOFF NEEDED
Before today's match play could get under way a three-player playoff was to determine the last two positions in the 64-man championship field.

Sixty golfers qualified with scores of 156, and five with 157s originally started out in a playoff for the final three positions.

Chuck MacGillivray of Flint birdied the first extra hole to qualify, while Gene Hinkley of Jackson was eliminated with a bogey five.

Five-time winner Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, Norm Waars of Portland and Fred Behmer Jr., of East Lansing, struggled through two more holes before darkness caused postponement of the playoff until today.

Palmer's first round opponent was Bill Albright of Southfield, who qualified at 154.

TWO ROUNDS
Defending champion Melvin (Bud) Stevens of Detroit drew Bill Gregory of Traverse City as his first match-play foe.

Two rounds of match play are scheduled each day through Sunday. The semifinals will be played Sunday morning and the championship match will start at 1 p.m.

Despite the fact that temperatures warmed considerably from the chilly 40s of Wednesday, Thursday's scores on the average remained high because of winds which gusted as high as 20 miles an hour.

Palmer, Stevens and Ole Elstrom Jr., of Dearborn, who had a 71 with a 33 front nine, were the only players to match or better par in the second qualifying round.

FOUR TROTTERS QUALIFY for Final Series Race
YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Pack Hanover, Sprite Kid, Oscar R. L. and Furry Hanover qualified for the final leg of Yonkers Raceway's $150,000 international trotting series by finishing in that order in the $45,000 Transoceanic Turf Thursday night.

They will go against the top four American horses of last week's Gotham in the $60,000 United Nations Trot next Thursday.

Pitchers Take Spotlight in City Softball Games

The pitchers captured the spotlight in last night's city softball action.

R. D. Jacob fired a two-hitter as Elks No. 81 shut out U.A.W. 5-0, 3-0, in an American League game, and Stan Haack teamed with Ken Fisk in fashioning a one-hitter in the Pontiac Merchants' 4-0 triumph over Lytell, Clevegrove in the International League.

In other games, Floyd Hicks pitched 300 Bowl to a 7-1 decision over Sam Reeves, and Local 653 No. 2 turned in a 6-4 triumph over Buckner Finance.

Jack Avery and Morris Stack banded out a pair of hits each to support Jacob's gem. Jacob gave up a single in the first to Marv Fuller and another in the second to Norm Hovis.

A one-out single by Mickey Allen in the seventh inning spoiled the no-hit bid by Haack and Fisk. 300 Bowl broke up a tight game with five runs in the sixth inning to win its sixth game of the season. Gene Sheck paced the attack with three hits in three trips.

Dick Meger collected a pair of safeties for Local 653 No. 2. Harry Diehl picked up three hits for Buckner.

New Ty Cobb Hitting Hero

Junior Star Follows Path of Namesake

The Detroit Tigers' Ty Cobb has nothing on the shortstop for the Cardinals in the city's junior baseball program.

He is Ty Cobb, also; and yesterday in that team's 12-9 triumph over the Lakers in Class E the youngster with the famous name played the part to the hilt.

He had three singles and a double, scored two runs and drove in three in the victory.

There were two no-hit games hurled in the Class F program. Rogi Rodriguez stopped Optimist No. 2, 23-0, for Optimist No. 1; and Bob Hukka of the Moose blanked the X-15's, 11-0.

The other "football" results saw A-W Root Beer rip the Mohawks, 22-1 in Class F, and the Pontiac Merchants romp past a spirited Church of God nine, 22-1, on a one-hitter by Chuck Bailey who also homered in the game.

Ex-Pitcher Tries AFL

DENVER (UPI) — Norman Bass, who pitched for the Kansas City Athletics in 1961 and 1962, will try out for a defensive backfield position with the Denver Broncos in the American Football League this fall. His brother, Dick, is a back with the Los Angeles Rams of the National League.

In 13-Inning Thriller

Giants Get Assist From Fans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sometimes even the crowd gets in the act at Candlestick Park and the fans received credit along with Del Crandall, Gaylord Perry and Willie Mays for San Francisco's 2-1 victory over Los Angeles in 13 innings Thursday night.

Willie Davis thinks things might have been different if there hadn't been the roar of the partisan multitude when he tried to steal home in the top of the 13th.

"I saw Crandall turn around and he still wouldn't have been looking if the crowd didn't give it away," said the speedy Davis who was out by feet when pitcher Perry threw to catcher Crandall.

FINEST HOUR
The receiver, who enjoyed his finest hour as a Giant, admitted he first realized what Davis was doing by hearing the hollering. Then in the last of the frame it was Crandall who rapped the game winning single off Perranoski, his fourth hit of the game. That drove home Orlando Cepeda with the winning tally.

"I can't really remember when I last had four hits in a game," admitted the catcher who spent 13 seasons with the Braves before becoming a Giant last winter in the trade which also brought pitchers Bob Shaw and Bob Hendley.

Sandy Koufax started for the Dodgers, set a career strike-out record, yet left after nine frames with the game deadlocked 1-1. He struck out 10 to give him 35 games with 10 or more to go ahead of the major league record of 54 he had shared with Rube Waddell and Bob Feller.

With one out in the thirteenth, Willie Davis singled. He stole second and advanced on Tommy Davis' infield out.

After Perry threw a strike to Fairly, Willie set fly for home only to be nipped. He suffered a sprained ankle and may miss a couple of games.

Willie Mays, who walked, stole second and scored the tying run in the eighth, led off the Giants' thirteenth with a single to center. Orlando Cepeda also singled to the same spot and the runners were at second and third after Willie Davis' replacement, Wes Parker bobbled the ball.

Jim Hart drew an intentional walk and Chuck Hiller, the Giants' last available pinch batter, forced Mays at the plate.

Then Crandall, who had two singles off Koufax and one of Miller, pushed a hit between first and second that second baseman Nate Oliver couldn't field. The game was over, leaving the Giants just one game behind National League leading Philadelphia.

All-Star Contests Test Star Quarterback

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — George Mira hopes to sharpen up in two all-star games for his big chance with the San Francisco 49ers. The fabulous quarterback from the University of Miami has been dreaming of playing pro ball since his sophomore year.

"The 49ers have a good one in John Brodie," said Mira. "I hope I can get to sit on the bench. It's a big step and I'm anxious to get there and learn all I can."

Mira will quarterback the East team against the West in the All-America game at War Memorial Stadium Saturday night, co-sponsored by the American Football Coaches Association and the Buffalo Evening News. The game will be carried on network (ABC) television.

FILM CRITICS

"Coach Jack Christiansen was down to Miami in January and spent some time with me," said Mira. "We went over films and a couple of plays. I think the big problem is learning the different defenses and knowing when to change plays at the line of scrimmage."

Mira thinks he is big enough at 5-foot-11½ to make the grade as a pro although he admits he will be dwarfed by some of the defensive men in the National Football League.

"I can stay in the pocket all right," said Mira. "But I can get out and go if I have to. I throw real hard with a lot of wrist motion but I can throw some passes, too."

Mira credits Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts with helping him during a spring practice session while he was at Miami.

Drops 2-1 Decision

This has not been a Class A season for Cranbrook, the regular season leader last year in the city's men's baseball league. In fact, it has been a frustrating one in the first seven games; and left-handed pitcher Tom Walters is the chief example of this frustration.

Unitas helped me tremendously," said Mira. "He helped me with my foot work and made me stride out longer. He also told me you don't have to throw certain passes as hard as others. When a man is open you don't have to drill it, but you have to throw a needle when a man is covered."

PASS TARGETS

Mira has some apt targets on the "East squad, coached by Pete Elliott of Illinois. Bob Lacey of North Carolina and Jim Kelly of Notre Dame will be at the ends and Paul Marth of Pitt at the flanker spot, plus little Sherm Lewis of Michigan State at left half.

"I've been throwing the ball for about a month and working out," said Mira. "This game should help my conditioning. I am going to drive out to San Francisco in time to get there July 10 for a week of camp before it is time to report for the All-Star game in Chicago, Aug. 7.

"These all-star games are great, you want to do your best for yourself and for your school. A lot of people in Miami and back home in Key West will be watching on television."

Olympic Trials Qualifying Begins Tomorrow

Hayes Jones to Make Bid for Finals

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—America's top track and field stars, pointing for the long Olympic journey to the Tokyo Olympics, will be trying to qualify for the short trip to the Olympic Trials in New York when the two-day National AAU Championships get under way Saturday.

The first six American finishers in 17 of the 19 events—all but the 10,000-meter run and two-mile walk—will go to the New York trials next weekend to join six qualifiers from the recent NCAA meet and the inter-service champions.

The top two Americans will be on the U.S. team for the first meet with Russia next month in Los Angeles.

Five Olympic champions and the more than 500 competitors for the AAU meet, with a $75,000 "en tout cas" track and improved field event facilities just installed in Rutgers Stadium, would marks could be threatened in most events.

PRELIMINARIES

Trials heats in the 100 and 400 meters and 110-meter high hurdles will be held Saturday morning. The first two finals—pole vault and javelin—start at noon with the opening ceremonies at 2:45 p.m., EST, and the bulk of the program starting at 3 p.m.

The rest of the Saturday schedule includes the 800-meter heats, broad jump, 100-meter and high hurdles semifinals and finals, shot put, 400 and 1,500-meter heats, 10,000-meter final and heats in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles.

Sunday finals are the hammer, high jump, discus, triple jump, two-mile walk, 400-meter hurdles, 3,000-meter steeplechase and 400, 5,000, 800, 1,500 and 20 meters.

Olympic champions in the field are Ralph Boston (broad jump, 1960), Hal Connolly (hammer, 1956), Charley Dumas (high jump, 1956), Parry O'Brien (shot put, 1952 and '56) and Al Oerter (discus, '52 and '56).

The world record-holders in Olympic events are Henry Carr at 200 meters (20.3, although he has a 20.2 pending), Adolph Plummer in the 400 (44.9), pole vaulter John Pennel (16-10, although Fred Hansen has recently cleared 17-2 and 17-1 and Pennel himself has done 17-3), Dallas Long in the shot put (56-10 1/2, with 66-7 1/2 pending), Connolly in the hammer (231-10) and Oerter in the discus (205-5 1/2, with 206-6 pending).

Other top seeds Saturday are Lee Tipton, Oregon's NCAA champion, in the javelin; broad jumper Boston, who came within three-quarters of an inch of reclaiming the world's record last month; Long in the shot put; Hayes Jones of Pontiac in the high hurdles and Pete McArdle in the 10,000 meters.

Cleveland Open Leader Warns Others in Field

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Al Geiberger, seeking the biggest payoff of his career, told all in the second round of the $100,000 Cleveland Open today with a one-stroke lead and a warning for the rest of the field.

"I usually start, slowly and get better each day," the 26-year-old Californian said Thursday after firing a torrid seven-under-par 61 to take a slim lead over Tony Lema and George Bayer.

Geiberger, 41, his fifth year on the pro circuit, was one under par for the first eight holes when he suddenly caught fire and birdied six of the last 10 holes.

CLOSE PUTTS

The slender pro dropped birdie putts of 40, 14 and 12 feet and put three approaches up close for birdie putts in his first round since the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas last month. He shot a 65 in the final round and finished in a tie for second and earned $6,000, his biggest payoff thus far.

Geiberger broke the course record at the 6,821-yard Highland Park Municipal Golf

Course which took a battering.

Of the 159 players entered, 63 broke par and 22 matched it.

Despite his sensational start,

Geiberger was still a long way from winning the tournament and his $20,000 first prize. Lema and Bayer were only one stroke back after firing six-under-par

65's.

'Can't Let Amateurs Take Over'

Civilian Patrols in NY Arouse Police Concern

NEW YORK (AP)—Auxiliary police perform vital services in many cities, but a growing civilian patrol movement is causing police concern here.

"We feel they are complicating rather than simplifying the problem," a police department spokesman said. "We can't let amateurs take over police work."

A Jewish group began a car patrol plan recently in Brooklyn in an effort to curb a rising number of attacks by hoodlums. The wife of a rabbi had been dragged from her home and raped.

The group's members now include both whites and Negroes and a number of religions are represented. Radio cars patrol the Crown Heights section from dusk to dawn.

POLICE JURISDICTION

Most large cities have civilian auxiliary police units, but operating under regular police jurisdiction.

Regular police generally train the units, uniforms of both usually are similar. In some cases, the auxiliary members are armed. Often they work without pay.

Much of their work is devoted to parade, park, traffic and similar assignments that keep them away from violence.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS SPECIAL REPORT

The Brooklyn group, called the Community Safety Patrol, operates independently and has resisted police efforts to have it join the police auxiliary.

NOTIFY POLICE

When trouble develops, police are notified.

"There is no action we can take against them because they are not violating the law," the police spokesman said.

The patrol group, however, says its members, and additional police assigned, have cut crime in the neighborhood by 90 per cent in the past five weeks.

Los Angeles has two reserve police units, a city police group of 110 and 1,120 men with the county sheriff's office.

SIMILAR TO DEPUTY

About half of the sheriff's reservists pair with regular officers in patrol cars, work in jails, and perform jobs similar to those of full-time deputies.

Others serve on mountain rescue teams and in the sheriff's mounted posse.

They come from various walks of life and join for different reasons.

Dr. Warren Jones, head of the speech department at Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, rides in a radio car one or two nights a week in the sheriff's reserve.

"I joined because it gives me a chance to see the other side of life—one I wouldn't see in the classrooms or around the college," he says.

PRETTY INTERESTING

Dr. Walter Smart, 42, a public health officer with the County Health Department, is captain of the 18 motorcycle officers in the same reserve unit.

"It sounded like a pretty interesting way to do some good and ride my motorcycle, too," he says.

In New York, author Max Wyllie patrols in Central Park two nights a week as part of the city's auxiliary police force. His 21-year-old daughter, Janice, and her roommate, Emily Hoffer, were slain in their

East Side apartment last year and Wyllie says he is determined to do everything possible to prevent similar tragedies.

AUXILIARY FORCE

New York has an auxiliary force of 3,016 persons, but they have no more authority than civilians. The Central Park precinct is the only one in which they normally are sent out on patrol duty.

Portland, Ore., has nearly 500 auxiliary policemen to help its 650 regular officers. A bad windstorm hit the city on Columbus Day in 1962 and within an hour 150 auxiliary workers were on duty.

"We'd be hard put to get along without them," said Lt. Thomas W. Simmons, a regular policeman assigned to the group as liaison officer.

In Philadelphia, auxiliaries patrol the streets on weekends, help in parades, conventions and to traffic and other work. Police credit them with helping to cut down on robberies and muggings.

FORCE DISBANDED

St. Louis, Mo., tried the plan seven years ago, but said it didn't meet the department's needs.

Jersey City disbanded its force several years ago after members lost interest.

One police official also said: "A lot of those guys wanted to make a big thing over a little scrape."

4 Diem Policemen Given Hard Labor

SAIGON (AP)—A government tribunal has found four policemen of the Diem regime guilty of secretly arresting and torturing political opponents.

The court sentenced Duong Van Hieu, former assistant chief of the national police; Nguyen Tu Thai, his deputy, and Nguyen Thien Dai, former Secret Police officer, to life imprisonment at hard labor.

Police agent Phan Khanh was sentenced to 10 years' hard labor. He testified against the other three.

Fell at Delivery Room Door

Dad Recovering From Birth

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Air Force Capt. Charles A. Colton, 29, is recovering in a Phoenix hospital from the birth of his daughter.

Colton suffered multiple fractures of the jaw when he fell at the door of the delivery room.

"I got dizzy looking in the room," the captain explained Thursday.

"I'll be on a baby diet in a day or two. I'll be eating the same kind of food the baby will eat."

The baby, Dawn Ann, weighed 5 pounds, 9 ounces. The infant and her mother, Bobbie, 25, are in good condition.

Colton, who managed to view his situation with some humor, said he survived the birth two years ago of his first child, Charles, without any repercussions.

Food, Housing Prices Decline

Other Living Items Remain Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Food and housing prices dropped in May, but most other consumer goods remained unchanged from the month before, the Labor Department said today.

The consumer price index of living in the Detroit area dropped 0.6 per cent during May, the Department of Labor said today.

The figure means it cost $107.8 in both April and May to buy typical consumer goods that cost $100 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Lower meat and egg prices were the main factors in a two-tenths of 1 per cent drop in food costs.

Fruit and vegetable prices remained unchanged. Sugar dropped slightly, but was still up more than 6 per cent from a year ago, and coffee climbed another 2.3 per cent, to an over-the-year total increase of nearly 23 per cent.

The bureau ascribed both the sugar and coffee price developments to the world supply situation.

The only sour note was that the May figures, in all categories, dipped below the year ago awards.

Nonresidential building was off by 1 per cent, residential advances by 1 per cent, and nonbuilding construction, such as highways, by 8 per cent.

George A. Christie, economist for F. W. Dodge, prefers to call the May figures a sign that new construction demand has stabilized.

LARGE PROJECTS
The May-to-May comparison

Edie R. Houck, 20, of 208 1/2 Mill, who died yesterday, was shot June 13 during an armed robbery following a minor collision at Tony's Drive-In, 2790 Auburn, Shelby Township.

Shelby Township police say Kenneth D. Tubbs, of 2638 Emmos, admitted the shooting.

Tubbs said he shot Houck with a target pistol when Houck came at him with a beer bottle.

Tubbs now is free on $5,000 bond and is charged with felonious assault with intent to kill.

Houck died in St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Wheat Is Bearish on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—The forecast of hot, dry weather for the next five days contributed to firmness in some grain futures contracts today on the Board of Trade, but it was bearish in wheat.

Brokers said speculation covered short positions in soybeans and added long commitments fairly actively during the first several minutes of trading.

After about an hour wheat was 3/4 cent a bushel lower, July $1.23 1/2. Oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, July 60 cents. Rye unchanged to 1/4 lower, July $1.22 1/2. Soybeans 3/4-1/2 higher, July $2 1/2.

News From Around the World

Sharpest Defeat for Italy Chief

ROME (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies rejected Premier Aldo Moro's plan for financial aid to church and other private schools Thursday night, handing him his sharpest rebuke since he put together his center-left coalition a half year ago.

The 228-221 vote against the budgetary measure found Moro's Christian Democrats — a Catholic party — standing alone. Socialist, Democratic Socialist and Republican members of the coalition abstained, while the Communists, the Monarchists and the Fascists voted against the measure.

It was not an issue of confidence, however, and the government did not have to resign.

MOSCOW (AP) — An 18-member Mexican mission ends a two-week tour of Soviet industrial facilities Saturday and indicates it will recommend increased purchases of Soviet industrial equipment.

ALSO VISITS
The mission, which also visited Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland, included specialists in oil and petrochemical industries, mining, machine tools, building equipment, agricultural machinery, electric power and railroads.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Belgian Parliament will be asked to approve a compromise national medical insurance plan endorsed by the government and the medical profession.

The plan was announced Thursday after 10 months of dispute, including a nationwide doctors' strike in April.

Under the compromise, there will be less control of fees than originally planned. Doctors found charging excessive fees will be fined. At first the government had asked for jail sentences.

ABANDON IDEA
The government also abandoned its idea to bind the doctors strongly to the medical insurance companies. Instead, the doctors will have a consultative role with the companies.

VALLETTA, Malta (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church is setting up a vigilance committee to see that tourists behave in Malta.

Earlier this week the government banned public kissing and cuddling. The police also have reported that holidaymakers have been appearing at resort spots dressed "indecently." Archbishop Michael Gonzi said the church will organize a committee of priests and laymen to ensure that "tourism in Malta befits the dignity of man." He said the church has the "right and duty to regulate man's activities from religious and moral viewpoints."

GOVERNS SELF
The Roman Catholic Knights of Malta ruled the Mediterranean island from 1530 to 1814, when Britain annexed it. It is now self-governing.

United States' sales of typewriters last year amounted to about 363 million, about 2 per cent above the 1962 total.

House to Decide Passman Influence

By GEOFFREY GOULD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House will decide next week whether Rep. Otto E. Passman's strong influence over foreign aid funds is at an end.

The Louisiana Democrat suffered a double defeat this week when his efforts to slash the foreign aid bill by $519 million were rejected.

He could make a comeback when the authorization bill reaches the House floor next Tuesday if enough members of both parties join him in insisting on the big cut. If he wins, his position would be stronger than ever.

But Passman is up against the toughest opposition he has ever had — President Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), a foreign aid advocate who is the new chairman of the appropriations committee.

Mahon, in his first test of strength as chairman, made sure Passman's $519 million cut was defeated in the full committee yesterday, as it was in Passman's own foreign aid subcommittee earlier.

SUBSTITUTED CUT
In its place, Mahon substituted a $200 million cut in the President's $3.5 billion bill, less than 6 per cent of the total.

So if the $200 million cut stands and no further changes are made, Johnson will end up getting $3.3 billion. Last year, President John F. Kennedy asked for $4.5 billion. Congress whittled this down to $3 billion in new money.

But foreign aid officials had $669,876,000 still available from previously voted funds that were never committed or that had been recovered from unfulfilled projects.

Thus, the total foreign aid money available for fiscal 1964 was $3,669,876,000.

RULED 9 YEARS
In the nine years that Passman has ruled the foreign aid subcommittee, he has controlled groups who sliced an average of 22 per cent from the bill each year.

He was always backed up by

'Viet Criticism Won't Soften Lodge Service Called No Handicap to GOP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican criticism of the U.S. policies in South Viet Nam will not be softened because former GOP standard-bearer Henry Cabot Lodge was ambassador there, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, said today.

Laird, chairman of the Republican Platform Committee, said that his party would not be inhibited in the least from criticizing American involvement in Southeast Asia because of Lodge's service in Saigon.

"He was President Kennedy's and President Johnson's ambassador, not ours," Laird said in an interview.

"His appointment was never challenged in any way with the Republican House or Senate leadership."

Lodge, who quit as U.S. envoy to return to his home in Pennsylvania, was in the campaign to win the GOP presidential nomination, is going to testify before the platform committee in San Francisco July 9.

DIFFICULTY ON ISSUE
"Lodge would be in a position where he would have a great deal of difficulty in speaking out on this issue," Laird predicted.

"I would think he would have to support the McNamara-Taylor approach."

Laird referred to the policies for fighting Communist guerrillas in Viet Nam being advocated by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Lodge's replacement as ambassador, and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

He fired a few barbs at the Johnson administration in the review of the expected criticism of the U.S. effort to aid the South Vietnamese regime.

"The war has been run by McNamara and Taylor on a committee basis from Washington," Laird said. "I commend the President for finally going away with this 'commuter' and placing Taylor on the scene full time to make decisions."

Swing to Swedish Music
K. Gromyko 'Shake a Leg'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev jovially persuaded his long-suffering foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, to join him in a dance to Swedish folk music today.

"Shake a leg, Gromyko!" he shouted the Soviet leader as he pranced in a swaying circle along with Sweden's austere Socialist premier, Tage Erlander.

The dance took place on a gravel-covered terrace outside the Skogholm's manor house where the Swedish government had invited Khrushchev for lunch.

He was in a playful mood after returning to Stockholm from an overnight stay at Harpenden, a country residence. It was there that he grabbed the ears of a roebuck and rowed Erlander across a

Fourth Major Clash
Viets Hammer at Cong

BAU CO, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese armored carriers tried to hammer their way through lines of deeply dug Viet Cong troops yesterday in the fourth major clash in the Vietnamese war in nine days.

Their assault was driven back three times and they finally retreated because ammunition had run out. But it was not a victory for Viet Cong.

American advisers searching the battlefield in Tay Ninh Province, 60 miles northwest of Saigon, said today that possibly 100 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed in the rain of high explosives and bullets that crashed into their lines for six solid hours.

Government casualties were five killed and 29 wounded.

The Viet Cong force of several hundred men was encountered last yesterday morning as search for two Americans

LOSE Jobs to Avoid Questions

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten city policemen, including a lieutenant in the department's elite investigating squad, have chosen dismissal rather than answer grand jury questions about police collusion with gamblers.

Shortly after the department disclosed the dismissals yesterday after an undercover, three-year probe, the 48-member investigating squad was disbanded and its members reassigned.

CHARLES W. CHENG
City Teacher Named to NAACP Post

A Pontiac school teacher has been named to the new post of administrative assistant to the president of the Michigan Conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

The appointment of Charles W. Cheng, 27, Washington Junior High School teacher, was announced today by Edgar Holt, state president of the Michigan NAACP.

"Cheng, as a full time aide, will coordinate civil rights efforts among Michigan's 32 NAACP branches."

Assigned to Washington Junior High this year, Cheng has been assigned to Jefferson Junior High School in the fall. He has taught for three years in Pontiac.

Bury Nuclear Wastes; No New Radioactivity
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Despite burial of 100,000 cubic feet of nuclear wastes at Maxey Flats, the radioactivity level in the area is no higher than in the rest of Kentucky.

State scientists gave that report after examining the North-eastern Kentucky site, the first burial place in the nation for radioactive waste.

Ex-Hurler's Son Found Slain

Monty Stratton's Kin Shot Dead in Home

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Dennis Stratton, 23, son of former Chicago White Sox pitcher Monty Stratton, was found shot to death in the kitchen of his home last night.

The younger Stratton had just returned from his job at the Ling-Temco-Vought aerospace plant a short time before his body was found by his wife, Mrs. Jean Stratton.

Stratton worked and attended East Texas State College at Commerce, Tex., on a part-time basis.

Justice of the Peace Homer Wacasy ordered an investigation today.

The elder Stratton lost a leg in a hunting accident in 1938 but still managed to pitch for Chicago.

Monte Stratton was hunting rabbits in Greenville on a crisp November day in 1938 when a rifle accidentally discharged, sending a bullet tearing through his right knee.

In his flight, the bullet severed an artery and when blood poisoning threatened later the doctors were forced to amputate.

After Monte recovered, he obtained an artificial leg and returned to the White Sox.

Although he still had plenty of speed, Monte had trouble rushing off the mound in his comeback.

The White Sox later signed as a coach and he then drifted back to the Minors.

Monte's tragic career later was portrayed in a movie entitled "The Monte Stratton Story."

Childs Says 'No Plans to Retire'
EAST LANSING (AP) — Reports that he is retiring in the near future were denied Thursday by State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs.

A top aide to Gov. George W. Romney said that he was sure the governor would not want Childs to retire.

"They are somewhat premature," Childs said of the retirement reports. "I have no plans to leave the department at this time."

Childs did say he felt morally obligated to retire before August 26, 1965. At that time he would be 56 years old.

STATUTE CHANGED
Since Childs became commissioner, the state police ranks have been reduced to require that enlisted members retire at the age of 56.

There is no statutory requirement of the commissioner.

Childs, who entered the department as a trooper in 1934 and rose through the ranks to become commissioner, was enlisted to retire in 1959 after 25 years of service.

Romney reappointed Childs as commissioner following his original appointment by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Several Courses of Action Possible

Congress Role on Smoking Gets Hazier All the Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—The future role of Congress in the problem of smoking and health is growing hazier all the time. A host of bills is pending—all asking Congress to move in a host of different directions—and all the paper seems to have created a confusing maze.

The confusion has been compounded by a decision of the Federal Trade Commission to issue a rule requiring that cigarette advertising and labels include a warning next year that smoking may cause death from cancer and other diseases. The FTC announced its rule at a House Commerce Committee hearing called to consider bills that would enact a similar rule into law.

SOME COURSES
Some of the courses Congress may take now that the FTC has issued its rule are:
1. Do nothing and the FTC would go through with its rule. With the tobacco industry taking the rule to federal courts, years of litigation would follow.

2. Approve one of several bills introduced since the U.S. Public Health Service's special advisory committee said that cigarette smoking is a health hazard.

If Congress passed a law requiring the same labels the FTC rule requires the confusion likely would be over. Without court

Give Computer System to Michigan Tech

HOUGHTON (AP)—A computer system described as having a total memory capacity of more than 11 million words has been donated to Michigan Technological University. Tech President Dr. J. R. Van Pelt said Dow Chemical Co. and the Burroughs Corp. donated the computer which cost $750,000 when it was new a few years ago.

suits, the tobacco industry likely would begin putting warning notices on its labels and advertising.

SEVERAL BILLS

3. Approve one of several bills which would either delay the FTC decision for three years or require approval by Congress before the FTC may issue a rule.

These bills have the support of congressmen from the tobacco states and of those congressmen who believe the FTC has overstepped its authority.

4. Approve legislation proposed by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare giving the Food and Drug Administration authority to regulate cigarette labels under the Hazardous Substances Act. Such a law, however, might not stop the FTC rule. Commission Chairman Paul Rand Dixon has testified that the FTC still would have the legal responsibility of regulating cigarette advertising and labels unless Congress passed a law specifically taking away the responsibility.

PASS RESOLUTION

5. Pass a resolution expressing the sense of Congress that the FTC should postpone or discard its rule. Dixon said the FTC would obey such a command of Congress.

6. Accept a suggestion by the tobacco industry that if Congress must pass a law about warnings it should tone down the kind of warning required.

Bowman Gray, board chairman of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Thursday suggested word along these lines: "Smoking over a long period may be injurious to the health of a relatively small percentage of smokers."

7. Pass a law completely outlawing the sale and use of cigarettes just as it has outlawed the sale and use of narcotics.

However, the mood of Congress seems very far from that kind of drastic step.

Just Caddies.

EDITOR ACCEPTS HONOR — Pontiac Press Editor John W. Fitzgerald (right) accepts the first prize plaque for general excellence presented annually by the National Editorial Association (NEA). The presentation was made last night by NEA President Max Thomas at the 79th annual NEA convention in New York City. The Press also won first place honors for a column and photograph.

Press Wins 3 Honors

The Pontiac Press and its staffs have been awarded three first-place honors in the 1964 National Editorial Association's Better Newspaper Contest.

The Press was judged best in the general excellence division of the contest which drew 2,469 entries in 33 categories. Papers participating totaled 504 in 46 states.

Also winning first place honors were a column by Press City Editor John J. Crowley, and a photograph by Edward R. Noble.

The results were announced at the awards banquet last night in New York. Press Editor John W. Fitzgerald accepted the honors.

SERVES AREA WELL

"Promotion of community interests was not limited to Pontiac itself, but also to those areas served by the newspaper," the judges said.

City Editor Crowley's column was one deploring the lack of fields for city children to play in, citing the nostalgic memories of digging holes, swinging from trees, and discovering frogs.

Crowley, 38, of 16 Utica Rd., became city editor when he joined The Press in June 1961. Previously, he had been with the Detroit Free Press, the Muskegon Chronicle, and the Owosso Argus-Press.

There were 150 entries in the category that Crowley won.

10-Year Millage Plan Continues 8.75 Mills

Property owners in the Pontiac School District will vote Friday, Oct. 2, on a 10-year millage proposal to continue 8.75 mills of taxes.

The school board last night approved a resolution for the special fall school election, concurring with recommendations of a board-appointed citizens committee.

The 10-year term of the proposed millage will restrict the balloting to property owners under the new state constitution.

Recommended by the Pontiac School Study Committee, the 8.75 mills is for operational expenses. The election will be a renewal of existing millage.

Members of the citizens group favored the 10-year term because they thought this would enable long-term planning.

MILLAGE RENEWAL

In addition, the study committee thought that the renewal aspect of the millage would be favored by a majority of voters.

Only one board member — Monroe M. Osuna — questioned the 10-year term on the proposed millage.

Osuna, emphasizing that he definitely was in favor of the 8.75 mills being renewed, doubted if it could pass with only property owners voting.

FEARS RISKY

"Although I feel quite strongly about the 8.75," Osuna said, "I think it is taking a calculated risk (going for 10 years) and we could lose it."

The expiring 8.75 levy was voted in 1954 as an "open" years. During the first five years, the tax revenues were used for buildings. Now the entire 8.75 mills are used for operation.

Dulles Predicts 'No Explosion' in Mississippi

Sailors Aid Hunt for Civil Rights Workers Missed Since Sunday

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. — Presidential fact-finder Allen Dulles says he doesn't see "any likely explosion" in this Deep South state over the baffling disappearance of three civil rights workers.

U.S. sailors joined state and federal officers again today to comb this east-central Mississippi area for any clues to the trio, missing since Sunday.

MARSHALLS CREEK, Pa. — A truck loaded with ammonium nitrate caught fire and exploded before dawn today in this Pocono Mountain resort area. There were six known dead and 10 others injured.

The blast dug a crater 10 feet deep and 30 feet wide, and tore apart a reptile farm, a tourist attraction, freeing hundreds of snakes—many of them poisonous.

William Paesch, 40, of Baltimore, was driving past with his wife when the truck exploded.

"I saw flames and in no more than a matter of seconds I saw a large red glow and heard an explosion," Paesch said.

Mrs. Paesch was killed. Three volunteer firemen fighting the fire in the truck also were killed. The truck driver was not hurt.

LIKE BOMB

"I've never seen an atomic explosion but that's what I thought it was," Paesch told newsmen at the hospital in nearby Stroudsburg. "My wife gave a groan and then everything in the whole area was terribly quiet."

Paesch said he tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation on his wife but she was dead on arrival at the hospital, of an apparent concussion.

The three volunteer firemen were identified as Earl Miller, Leonard Mosier and Edward Hines.

Also killed were John Regina, 22, Marshalls Creek, son of the owner of the Regina Hotel, located a few hundred yards from the blast and an unidentified truck driver.

The blast broke windows in homes as far away as Stroudsburg, some 10 miles away.

Homes in the immediate vicinity were shattered, doors blown off, windows knocked in.

Mrs. Ruth Livingston, 51, who lived in a trailer at the reptile farm, was among the injured. The trailer was shattered so badly it took 20 minutes for fire officials to get her out.

An eyewitness, John Florio, 21, of Pleasantville, N.Y., said volunteer firemen, "were fighting up very close to the burning truck."

"The next thing I knew," said Florio, who was driving to Steubenville, Ohio, "the truck blew up and bodies were flying as high as 20 feet in the air."

Florio was treated for head and knee injuries and released.

Robert Shive, 32, of Sellersville, Pa., a truck driver, said the line of traffic had been stalled by the fire "when all of a sudden all hell broke loose."

Shive also was treated at the hospital and released.

BODIES FLYING

Two firemen were among those reported in serious condition: Richard McDonough, 40, assistant fire chief here, and Robert Heitz, 35, of East Stroudsburg.

Police details searched for the poisonous snakes with orders to shoot to kill. The snakes included rattlesnakes, copperheads and a few cobras.

TREACHEROUS STRETCH — Two persons were killed and nine injured in three nearly identical accidents on Telegraph in Bloomfield Township last week. Township safety authorities are seeking removal of the concrete median cited as the cause of all three serious mishaps. Special attention is being given to the Telegraph-W. Maple intersection shown above, where 66 accidents occurred last year.

Police Chief Seeks Removal of Median

"That thing in the center of the road has got to go," Bloomfield Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke proclaimed this morning.

"That thing" is a concrete median strip, which played a central role in the deaths of two motorists and the hospitalization of nine others last week.

Since the beginning of the year, 11 accidents have been attributed to the strip, which normally separates southbound from northbound traffic on Telegraph.

But Dehnke said the median is more effective in causing head-on collisions on the 3 1/2-mile stretch between 14 Mile and Long Lake roads.

He and other township officials planned today to schedule a meeting with State Highway Department representatives to again ask that the median be removed.

"I still don't understand why it was put in in the first place," Dehnke said. "Apparently no one does."

CAUSING TROUBLE

The raised median was added when Telegraph became a four-lane highway in the 1940s and it's been causing trouble ever since, he said.

"They did the same thing to M22 above Bay City," the chief reported. "There was so much fuss raised about all the accidents and fatalities that they took it out."

"We complained about it a year ago. They said they'd like to do something about it but couldn't see their way clear at the time."

The new effort will be made by Dehnke, Supervisor Homer Cae, Treasurer Arno Hulet and Cpl. Richard Reiter, head of the police department's traffic safety division.

WORST INTERSECTION

Figures compiled by the division for last year indicate the Telegraph-W. Maple intersection is the township's worst. A total of 66 accidents occurred there last year.

Edward Gorski, 18, of Detroit and Mrs. June E. Snelling, 41, of Waterford Township were killed in a head-on collision June 18 when the youth's car jumped the median near Telegraph.

About two feet from the impact spot less than eight hours earlier, two men had been injured.

Marvin Stein, 30, of Detroit remains in critical condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Four more persons were hospitalized.

West Big 3 Attack Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France accused the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany of seeking "to perpetuate the arbitrary division of Germany" through their June 12 treaty of friendship.

A joint declaration today of the three Western powers responded in detail to the treaty concluded between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and East German chief Walter Ulbricht.

It said that self-determination, leading to the reunification of Germany, "remains a fundamental objective" of the Western Big Three.

The declaration made these points:

1. The treaty "cannot effect Soviet obligations or responsibilities on Germany, including Berlin and access to the city."

2. Taking issue with the Communist treaty, the joint communique stressed that West Berlin is not an "independent political unit."

LBJ Due in State for Fete; Scranton After Delegates

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson may be Michigan's guest tonight and Saturday.

The White House left this possibility open in announcing the President's schedule for a Detroit visit on which he will address a $100-a-plate fundraising dinner of the Democratic Party tonight in Cobo Hall.

The announced itinerary does not carry the President beyond the Cobo Hall speech.

It was reported in Washington he was considering staying overnight and flying from Detroit Saturday to Minneapolis, where he is to address another Democratic dinner that night.

Whether he returns to Washington between the two political speeches is expected to be influenced by developments in the Mississippi racial situation.

Mrs. Johnson was due to fly in from Mackinac Island, where she spent yesterday and this morning relaxing about the time the President arrives from Washington.

LANSING, Mich. — William W. Scranton hoped today to put some 45 Michigan delegates on ice for second-ballot support of his presidential nomination at next month's San Francisco GOP convention.

Scranton squeezed more than 28 hours of Michigan campaigning into his campaign to overtake front-runner Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who holds a commanding lead in delegate strength.

Though three Michigan delegates were counted to Goldwater, the rest of the 48-member delegation are following the favorite son lead of Gov. Romney to the first ballot.

Scranton told a news conference last night indications were in Michigan "that we're in a very favorable position."

The schedule for Scranton's Michigan visit included a swing to Detroit to address the Detroit Press Club, then a return to Lansing for an evening meeting with Michigan delegates.

Neither Rain Nor Snow Nor Aww! It's a Dog's Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gale Gilmore isn't sure how it happened.

She walked up to a Sunset Strip mailbox Thursday with a package to mail in one hand and her black and white mongrel puppy, Snipper, in the other.

"I got confused," she said. And she mailed the dog.

Gale, 21, blonde, and an actress, called the dog and cried. Someone else called the newspaper. A passerby called the post office.

"The postal authorities came," Miss Gilmore explained later. "A man in a uniform, with a key. He opened the box, and there was Snipper, right down in the bottom. Some lady had dropped a letter on his head."

Red China Decline Spurs U.S. Hard Line

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is drawing the line in Southeast Asia at a time when Red China's ability to fight a major modern war is in a tenuous state.

China's worn-out air force is starved for spare parts and new planes to replace a jet fleet that is largely of German War vintage.

The army, huge in manpower, is strapped to update tanks and short on artillery.

There are serious shortages of fuel to run the planes, tanks and vehicles that China does have.

CUTOFF IN SUPPLIES

Red China's military deterioration set in about four years ago when the growing ideological dispute with the Soviet Union led to a cutoff of all supplies and technical help to China.

One effect of this has been to set back the day when China can explode her first atom bomb.

The Soviet-Chinese split seriously has deepened and the war that the Soviet Union will resume arming China is considered remote.

U.S. officials regard as significant Moscow's recent warning to Red China that she should no longer count on Soviet backing in a crisis.

U.S. WARNINGS

Some high officials believe this Soviet action was a direct result of repeated U.S. warnings that it is ready to risk war with China to keep Southeast Asia from falling under Communist domination.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said it will be "many, many years" before Red China is a first class power.

This evaluation, based on solid intelligence information, is a main underpinning for the new U.S. "hard line" toward China.

There is an awareness that China could feel forced to call this country's hand.

HORDES OF MEN

She could, as she did in Korea, send hordes of men rolling into Southeast Asia.

The latest intelligence reports show no evidence of any Chinese massing of forces in South China, sources said.

But the United States has no intention of getting into a ground war with China unless there is "no other way out."

What this country would do, officials have indicated in private, is to apply its massive air power. China's obsolescent air force would be virtually helpless to halt such an assault.

HARD TO HALT

If China infiltrated the jungles of Laos and Viet Nam in a guerrilla offensive on a big scale, it would be hard to halt such a surge on the ground.

But U.S. aircraft could be expected to hit hard at the source of supply and reinforcement in China, at highways and railroads, if necessary at industrial centers and bases deeper in the country.

Even withholding its great nuclear power, this country's air force and its potent naval air arm could drive home devastating blows.

U.S. intelligence has pinpointed a series of military bases and a vast network of roads and railways radiating from South China's Yunnan Province toward North Viet Nam and Burma.

ASTRENGTHEN THIN

Available, Marine and Army strength in the Western Pacific is too thin to undertake a major, sustained effort.

The main U.S. force of this kind in that general area is a Marine division on Okinawa, including a battalion landing team aloft with the U.S. 7th Fleet in Asian waters, plus an Army airborne brigade on Okinawa.

There are two Army Divisions in South Korea; but these are pinned down by the ever-present threat from Red North Korea.

On Hawaii, the 25th Infantry Division stands ready as the theater reserve.

AIRCRAFT CAPACITY

The United States has vastly improved its airlift in recent years and reinforcements, including a Marine division on the West Coast and Army troops from the United States, could be flown across the Pacific.

But the movement of the heavy gear that makes these divisions potent striking forces would have to go by ship, and that takes many days.

Some heavy equipment is stockpiled in Thailand, on Okinawa and aboard three depot ships in the Philippines, but not nearly enough for a truly major ground operation.

This country's aces in the game are nearly 3,000 military planes in the Pacific, plus the 125 ships of the 7th Fleet ranged along the Asian Coast.

U.S. warplanes—most of them far faster, far more maneuverable, and far more heavily armed than the Chinese—can strike at China from bases on Okinawa, Formosa, the Philippines, South Viet Nam, Thailand—and Japan; although political considerations might prevent this.

Senate Cuts Excise Taxes, Eyes National Debt Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate, fresh from voting excise tax cuts, which could cost the government more than $499.9 million a year in revenue, today was expected to approve yet another increase in the national debt limit.

Rebelling against its leaders, the Senate voted last night to eliminate or reduce federal excise taxes on everything from ping-pong balls to cabbages.

But at the same time it approved an extension of $13 billion in other Korean war emergency levies.

The Senate was expected to approve today a $9 billion increase in the temporary national debt limit which would raise the government's spending ceiling to a record $324 billion. The action, already voted by the House, would raise the limit for the 11th time in nine years.

DUE TO EXPIRE

The excise taxes are due to expire June 30. The Johnson administration sought — and the House agreed to — more or less blanket approval of a measure to extend the levies for one year.

But the Senate sharply amended the excise package before sending it to a joint conference committee where differences between House and Senate versions of the bill will be thrashed out.

Observers predicted that many of the tax cuts voted by the Senate would be restored by the conferees.

The final vote on the amended excise tax bill was 77 to 2, with only Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, and Edwin L. McNinch, R-Minn., dissenting.

Lausche sharply criticized the tax-cutting action, labeling it "electrocuting."

The major revenue loss came when the Senate voted 48 to 38 to repeal the 10 percent tax on jewelry, furs, toilet articles and luggage selling for $100 or less. This was estimated to cost $55 million in federal revenues.

JOHN SEARCH — Five sailors from Meridian Navy Base head into scrub pine woods to search for three missing civil rights workers. The sailors joined the search efforts yesterday near Philadelphia, Miss., under White House orders.

Birmingham Area News

Consider Free Evening Parking

BIRMINGHAM — The idea of providing free parking for evening shoppers is being considered by city commissioners.

City Manager L. R. Gare has recommended the move to strengthen the community's public relations.

Commissioners are weighing that gain against the loss of revenue from city-owned lots and metered parking spaces.

"They estimated the idea would take about $2,000 from city coffers."

Gare originally proposed that parking be free after 6 p.m. every day but Friday. Commissioners have indicated they might prefer to keep the lots open until 9 p.m. Thursdays also.

REVENUE USE

Revenue from the meters now is being used to pay for new lots.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley has urged that the city be consistent in the hours of parking lot operation.

Lot No. 1 and No. 4 presently are operated from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. except Sundays and holidays, he noted. The other lots and the meters on the street are in operation from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. except Fridays.

Moxley said motorists were complaining about the confusion caused by the difference in regulations.

FUN CLUB PLANS

Members of the Fun Club, sponsored by the Birmingham YMCA, are going to Mt. Holly Ski area Wednesday.

Seventeen children between the ages of six and eight will be accompanied by counselors, Sue Adair and Karen Dones, junior counselors Gail Pratt and Margaret Bleakley and YMCA program director Chuck Rutherford.

The resort has a ghost town, swimming facilities in the lake which is its winter reservoir for the snow machines and stage coach and ski lift rides.

Woman Won't Give Retirement a Thought

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — An 85-year-old woman doesn't believe in retirement.

Mrs. C. M. Wadley works a 40-hour week as owner of a printing shop and has no desire to retire.

Mention retirement, and she shakes her head.

"I want to work all my life," she says.

Seek Warrant in Shooting of Youth, 20

Police are seeking a second-degree murder warrant for a 33-year-old Avon Township man today in the fatal shooting of a Rochester youth.

Eddie R. Houck, 20, of 2099 1/2 Mill, who died yesterday, was shot June 13 during an argument following a minor auto collision at Tony's Drive-In, 2790 Avon, Shelby Township.

Reedy Has Bad Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Reedy, the slow-talking, pipe-smoking White House press secretary, faced waiting newsmen and announced gravely that one item of information he had furnished earlier was "inadvertently inaccurate."

Of course, this was only a slip of the tongue—he quickly said he meant to say "inadvertently inaccurate"—early last night following a stream of misinformation from the White House.

Seldom, if ever, in recent memory has the White House put out so much inaccurate information as it did in announcing the deployment of federal military forces in the search for three young civil rights workers who vanished Sunday in Mississippi.

At his midday briefing for reporters Thursday, Reedy announced that President Johnson had ordered 200 Marines bayed at Meridian, Miss., to join the hunt.

Asked whether the move had been taken at the request of Gov. Paul Johnson of Mississippi, Reedy indicated there had been no request, but added: "This is a cooperative effort. There has been complete cooperation at all levels."

Minutes after newsmen had dispatched this word, and even as they were finishing their dispatches, Reedy personally contacted them at their telephones and said he was misinformed—that the Marines were coming from outside Mississippi.

GOVERNOR SURPRISED

Gov. Johnson was saying in Jackson that he was surprised by the movement of Marines that several days ago he had offered the use of National Guardsmen familiar with the area for the search.

Shortly after 3 p.m., Reedy met reporters for a second time and announced that one item he had conveyed at his noon-hour briefing had been "inadvertently inaccurate."

He said the Federal Bureau of Investigation had been informed that Marine personnel from Meridian—where there is no Marine base—would be used in the search. He said the Marines "turned out to be sailors."

A newsmen, mindful of Reedy's statement that one bit of information had been inaccurate, asked whether Gov. Johnson had been aware in advance that military people were being dispatched to the search site.

"There was an inadvertence," said Reedy. "There was a slip-up somewhere."

City Man Misses LBJ Lunch Date

Because of recent surgery, a Pontiac man had to forego a luncheon meeting yesterday with President Johnson and Greek Prime Minister George Papandreu at the White House.

Invited along with other Hellenic leaders was Socrates V. Sekles, 185 Ottawa. Sekles is chairman of the board of the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association (Ahepa).

Sekles is in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, following an operation Monday.

The meeting with Papandreu would have been the second in little more than a month for Sekles.

He was greeted by the prime minister in May when he went to Athens to make arrangements for the Ahepa Supreme Convention to be held there in August next year.

AT DISCUSSION

Just prior to his overseas trip, Sekles participated in a roundtable discussion in Washington on current affairs in Cyprus.

He was one of a dozen Americans of Greek descent who were invited by the Department of State.

Two youngsters are in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, one in critical condition, after being struck by cars yesterday.

Most severely injured was Philip R. Short, 4, of 140 W. Ypsilanti.

He was hit by a car driven by Judith K. Williams, 17, of 32 Wisner as she drove east on Ypsilanti near Carlisle at 6 p.m.

She told Pontiac police that she applied the brakes but could not stop in time because of the gravel surface and downgrade.

In satisfactory condition with a fractured foot, Mildred Webb, 12, of 312 Higgins.

According to Pontiac police the girl ran into Saginaw near Wexsen shortly after noon and into the path of a car driven by George Ritchie, 44, of 303 S. Cass.

Shelby Township police say Kenneth D. Tubbs, of 2638 Emmons, admitted the shooting.

Tubbs said he shot Houck with a target pistol when Houck came at him with a beer bottle.

Tubbs now is free on $5,000 bond and is charged with a felonious assault with intent to kill.

Seek Removal of Road Strip

Resides removal of the median strip, Dehnke said he also would seek a reduction of the speed limit from 55 miles per hour to 45 "at least from 14 Mile to eastbound Quarter."

Another recommendation is that a delayed time limit be installed for left turns at Maple and Telegraph.

"We also want to talk about their long-range plans for Telegraph — the number of lanes and type of parkway," Dehnke said.

SEEKS PARKWAY

"I'd like to see them put in a parkway like that on Woodward, about 10 to 12 feet wide," Dehnke said. "They don't have to put them in at once."

"I'd also like to see at least three lanes going in each direction," he added. "We'll have four if they can do it."

"There's enough traffic so they wouldn't be wasted."

"Dehnke said he hoped the meeting with the Highway Department could be scheduled for Monday or Tuesday.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The FBI said Thursday a Chicago entertainer credited his pet chimpanzee with saving him from death at the hands of accused slayer Larry Lee Ranes.

Ranes, 19, of Kalamazoo, is charged here in the Memorial Day hitch-hike murder of Gary Albert Smock, 30-year-old Plymouth school teacher and church worker.

Ranes, who police said has confessed to four other slayings is awaiting a sanity hearing in Kalamazoo.

David Pitts, 28, a professional ice skater who uses his chimp, Spanky, in his act, said Ranes held him prisoner for 17 hours on May 26 after he picked up the hitch-hiking youth near Las Vegas, Nev.

THREATENS DEATH

"Ranes threatened to kill me several times," Pitts said. "But he said if he killed me, he wouldn't know what to do with the chimp."

"I don't think he wanted to hurt the animal."

Pitts told state police and FBI agents he was driving from Los Angeles to Chicago when he stopped for Ranes on the highway.

On the way, he said, the youth forced him at gunpoint to drive to South Haven, Mich.

Pitts was ordered to spend part of the trip in the cage with the chimp, he said.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — A 36-year-old private detective today credited a 2-month-old black and white kitten named "Mustache" with saving his life when a sniper fired three bullets at him.

"I had just driven into the driveway about midnight," John M. Danoff told investigators yesterday. "I bent over to pick up Mustache. I hit the dirt. It was like being back in the Marines."

Detectives said they found three neatly grouped bullet holes in the garage of Danoff's home here. The holes were at head height.

Danoff told authorities he had been protecting Theodore A. Cohen of Los Angeles and investigating Cohen's pending divorce suit against his wife, Susan Cohen, 24.

He said both he and Cohen, a Hollywood attorney, "have been threatened to be killed."

CONFIRMED THREAT

Cohen confirmed the threats, saying he and Danoff had received telephone calls "to keep our mouths shut."

The attorney said he once represented one of two men accused by authorities of getting large sums of money by terrorizing their victims with a hatchet.

Prisoner Faces Grim Ordeal in Dixie Death Cell

ANGOLA, La. (AP)—In death cell No. 6, Edgar Labat awaits a date with the electric chair decreed 11 years ago, writing poetry to ease his burden.

"Living at the river's edge," Labat, a Negro, writes, "never knowing when they'll drive that final wedge."

"Will the wheel of justice ever look my way?"

"And when it does, what will it have to say?"

CONVICTED IN RAPE

An all-white jury convicted Labat, 41, a former New Orleans hospital orderly on March 23, 1953 of assisting in the rape of a white woman in 1950.

In refusing to grant a delay for a recent Habeas Corpus hearing, U.S. Dist. Judge E.

Gordon West said Labat has been on death row longer than any other prisoner.

"This case is now the oldest one in the United States," the judge said.

Labat's world in the Louisiana State Prison is an 8 x 12-foot cell with a toilet, a wash basin and mirror, a cot and a radio.

ONE VISITOR

Friends and relatives write infrequently. Last year, he had only one visitor.

The electric chair is in the death house about three miles from Labat's cellblock.

"On one night I was to die. I saw it," Labat told his attorney.

"I ate my last meal. The warden was going to have my head shaved. My sister was waiting for my body—I heard the generators cranking up. Then, the phone rang."

GRIM ORDEAL

Yet, Labat, has outwardly adjusted to the grim ordeal of waiting to die.

"His spirits are good," Benjamin E. Smith of New Orleans, Labat's lawyer, said after a recent visit. "He's calm, mature and in possession of all his faculties."

But you can see the inner pain that he's feeling in his poetry. This is a worse case than Chessman's.

Caryl Chessman, California's convict author, was executed in 1960 after eight stays that extended his death row term to 12 years.

"The state of Louisiana has nothing to do with Labat being where he is 11 years," State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion said. "He's there because of his own appeals."

Labat has received eight stays of execution—four from the U.S. Supreme Court.

Strongest ground in his appeal for a new trial, Smith thinks, may be the argument that Negroes were excluded from the jury that convicted Labat and Clifton Alton Poret, another New Orleans Negro.

Poret, now 35, was found in a Tennessee prison serving a sentence for theft two years after the crime.

He, too, is on death row and, in appealing jointly with Labat.

DEAD DRUNK

Robert L. Penedo, 24, and a 22-year-old woman companion accused Labat and Poret of attacking them on a New Orleans street before dawn on Nov. 12, 1950. The woman said Labat held her while Poret raped her.

After the trial, Labat produced a bar waitress who said she spent the night of the crime with him and that he was "dead drunk."

Louisiana officials have rejected requests to interview him.

But his lawyer reports that Labat, who isn't allowed to leave his cell to work, has grown soft and fleshy.

Occasionally, he plays cards through the bars with other death row prisoners. He does a lot of reading.

And, Labat, whose education ended in the seventh grade, writes poetry.

"I sit in this little small cell. Hoping it will not be a swift sad farewell."

"One day I know my innocence will be proved."

"And this weary burden will be removed."

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: Acid or Base?
NEEDED: A cooked red cabbage and various substances for testing.

DO THIS: Pour reddish-purple juice from the cooked cabbage into various containers. It will change its color to tell whether a substance is acid or base.

Lemon juice, which is acid, will turn the solution pink. Baking soda, which is base, will turn it green. Try other substances.

WHY? All acids contain hydrogen ions which change the color of litmus and other indicators, including red cabbage juice.

Bases contain an oppositely charged negative hydroxyl ion which produces an opposite color effect on litmus and some other vegetable colors including red cabbage juice.

A collection of the "Science for You" experiments is in book form and sold in better bookstores. It is called "Science Circus."

Economy Leveling Off?

Building Pace Slips

NEW YORK—New construction is falling below its year-ago pace. The slip from the like period in 1963 could be the first signal of a leveling off in the long boom in this essential segment of the economy.

Or, say construction experts, it could be only a minor hiccup. They note that despite the slippage in May, the total of construction projects started so far this year still is leading 1963 figures.

The building boom has been one of the chief factors in the 40-month advance of the general economy.

April had seen a dip from the March figures for construction contracts awarded. But these forerunners of building activity to come still held above the April 1963 figures.

Lower meat and egg prices were the main factors in a two-tenths of 1-per-cent drop in food costs.

Fruit and vegetable prices remained unchanged. Sugar dropped slightly, but was still up more than 6 per cent from a year ago, and coffee climbed another 2.3 per cent, to an over-year total increase of nearly 23 per cent.

The awards as collected by F. W. Dodge Co., a division of McGraw-Hill Inc., show that May contracts for future construction came to $4.6 billion, or 10 per cent more than in April.

The bureau ascribed both the sugar and coffee price increases to the world supply situation.

A one-tenth of 1 per cent drop in housing was largely due to lower home-ownership costs. Rents remained unchanged, possibly indicating a reversal of a five-month gain.

Prices for used cars and for gasoline went up, boosting overall transportation costs one-tenth of 1 per cent, although new-car prices were down four-tenths of 1 per cent.

Clothing prices edged up one-tenth of 1 per cent.

DOCTOR HOSPITAL.

Drug prices dropped, but small advances in doctor and hospital charges kept overall medical costs up one-tenth of 1 per cent.

About 190,000 workers will receive pay increases of one cent an hour, under labor contracts providing for quarterly or semi-annual wage adjustments based on the government's price index.

Three Blasts Rock Saigon; Only One Blamed on Reds

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Three explosions rocked various parts of Saigon within minutes of each other tonight. One at Saigon Airport occurred shortly after 11 Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, addressed some departing troops.

One of the blasts damaged the Vietnamese central intelligence post in the residence of Premier Nguyen Khanh, and the other occurred in a Saigon slum area.

No deaths occurred and only one of the bombings was believed the result of Communist terrorists.

The airport bomb exploded in the bomb which had been intended for planting aboard the jet transport, but was abandoned by terrorists who they believed they might be caught.

The bombs were about 300 yards from the civilian air terminal at the airport.

The intelligence agency explosion was believed an accident resulting from the explosion of bomb materials seized by government agents.

The materials, identified as potassium chlorate and sulfur, blew a large hole in the driveway and injured two Viet namese.

Another blast—

In another blast, a man dressed in uniform of the Vietnamese marine corps was seen throwing a grenade into a private house in a slum area in the outskirts of Saigon. Three children were injured.

Security agents in the area spotted the grenade thrower as he leaped into a bus. They stopped him with one shot in the leg. It was not known immediately whether the man was really a marine, but it was believed the bombing was a personal revenge matter.

As the plane left its 2,400-mile per hour mission, a Navy operations officer, Cmdr. Daniel Balish of Scranon, Pa., said of the flight: "It is an unusual one, but there is no concern. We have made plans to eliminate every possible risk."

The weather was favorable as the ski-equipped C-130 Hercules flew into the perpetual darkness of the antartic winter. Favorable conditions were expected to hold at least 24 hours.

PROVIDE SKIWAY

Workers at McMurdo Sound, the chief U.S. base in the antartic, tamped down the ice and snow to provide a skiway for the plane.

The plane's commander is Robert V. Mayer of North Kingston, R.I., a veteran of four years of antartic flight. He and his 15-man crew brought the plane from Queenstown, R.I., in 48 hours, landing at McMurdo Sound.

They took off again after less than 11 hours of rest, briefing and other final preparation.

The crew hoped for a quick turnaround at McMurdo, but that will depend on the condition of the injured man, Bethel He. McMillen, builder 1-2, of Port Huon, C. McMillen, 39, fractured his spine, paralyzing his legs, and suffered a concussion in a fall June 20.

Lessons now cover the school week with 5½ hours a day and give general education to 11 to 14 years old.

The state-controlled television company provides the lessons, publishes the textbooks in its own publishing house, and trains the studio teachers.

The Ministry of Public Works provides the receivers, tape recorders, and other equipment. Local authorities provide premises and furniture.

Other Living Items Remain Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Food and housing prices dropped in May, but most other consumer goods increased in price and living costs remained unchanged from the month before, the Labor Department said today.

The consumer price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics stood at 107.8.

The figure means it cost $10.78 in both April and May to buy typical consumer goods that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Lower meat and egg prices were the main factors in a two-tenths of 1-per-cent drop in food costs.

Fruit and vegetable prices remained unchanged. Sugar dropped slightly, but was still up more than 6 per cent from a year ago, and coffee climbed another 2.3 per cent, to an over-year total increase of nearly 23 per cent.
