'Kennedy Plot' Suspect Ordered to Stand Trial

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A three-judge panel ruled in a preliminary hearing yesterday that wealthy retired business leader Clay L. Shaw should become the first man to stand trial concerning the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In ordering the trial for Shaw on a charge of conspiracy to murder the president, Judge Bernard J. Bagert said at the conclusion of the four-day hearing, "This court finds sufficient evidence has been presented to establish probable cause that a crime has been committed."

The ruling came on Shaw's 54th birthday.

The decision was a first-round victory for gun-toting Jim Garrison, this town's 6-foot-6 district attorney.

Garrison startled the world a month ago with a statement that he had "solved" the Kennedy assassination, would make arrests, and would obtain convictions.

Garrison, unorthodox and controversial in his five years as district attorney, took an unusual step in asking for the preliminary hearing — a tactic usually resorted to by defense lawyers.

The next step:

"I will file a bill of information," Garrison drawled to newsmen shortly after the panel announced its unanimous decision.

He would not say when the action would be taken.

Arraignment and trial come afterward. No dates were set.

"The district attorney selects the date and time a person will be tried," said Judge Bagert, who had asked two of his fellow Criminal District Court judges to sit with him at the preliminary hearing because of its importance.

"The state has six years to prove this case," said defense attorney William Wegmann, in his impassioned plea to the court to throw out the charges.

HAPPY MOMENT — Mrs. Emma Ruth Rhodes (center) clutches Theresa Fregia, 2, just after she was pulled from an abandoned water well early today in Votaw, Tex. Mrs. Rhodes, a neighbor of the Fregia family, kept a vigil at the well, talking to Theresa.

Child Safe; Caught Nine Hours in Well

VOTAW, Tex. (AP) — Tiny Theresa Fregia was lifted to safety in a bold, precision-like rescue early today, eight hours and 55 minutes after she tumbled 28 feet into an abandoned water well.

The 2-year-old girl was sobbing and smeared with red clay as rescue worker Ransom Bill of Houston brought her from the chilly depths of the narrow well at 2:25 a.m.

A loud cheer went up from more than 300 workmen who had labored for hours to save the child.

Theresa was placed on a stretcher, put in an ambulance and rushed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Beaumont.

★ ★ ★

Darlene Wolf, nursing supervisor of the emergency room, said the girl appeared to be "in good condition when she was brought in. There were a few abrasions of her tummy."

EXAMINATION SET

She said Theresa would undergo a complete examination by a pediatrician.

A giant drilling rig from Houston reached the scene in this small south east Texas town at 1 a.m. and workers began sinking a parallel shaft next to the 10-inch diameter well in which she was trapped.

The massive machine bored a hole 30 inches across. When its head reached a level slightly below that of the girl, Bill was lowered by rope at 2:20 a.m.

He called for a shovel and a sledge hammer and chiseled through the old concrete wall casing of the well.

The bottom of the rescue shaft was oozing with water.

"Theresa, stay still: Don't move:" neighbors and relatives shouted to the girl at that point.

"I said, "Honey, I'm going to pull now," Bill said. "She threw her little arms around me and said something. I think she said 'Daddy,'" Bill related.

★ ★ ★

Then he yelled up to be pulled out by the rope.

The brown-eyed, brown-haired child was heard to cry "I'm cold, I'm cold. I want my mommy" last night as the force of more than 300 men strove frantically to save her.

Theresa's grandmother, Opal Allemange, said the girl fell into the well about 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Lt. Danny Brock of the Harris County Houston Rescue Unit peered down the well using a powerful light at 1:10 a.m.

"I couldn't see her moving," he said.

Threats Claimed in Milk Holdout

DETROIT (AP) — Charges that some of its milk drivers have been intimidated were leveled yesterday by the Michigan Milk Producers Association against the National Farmers Organization which is engaged in a milk holdout.

★ ★ ★

The association said some of its 8,539 members and drivers of milk tank trucks have been threatened.

The NFO strike, called Wednesday night in 25 states, is aimed at boosting milk prices.

The NFO is seeking an additional dollar for each 100 pounds of milk, or two cents per quart. Farmers now receive $5.50 per 100 pounds.

★ ★ ★

It "doesn't seem to be working and new tactics are being employed," said an association spokesman.

'WE'RE WORRIED'

Association members are sending their milk to market, the spokesman said, adding, "We are worried that things could get out of hand."

The milk picture throughout the state did not appear as dim as the NFO painted it yesterday.

The Farr View Dairy in Muskegon reported that five of 120 farmers supplying milk withheld their supplies Thursday, but two of them came back yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The Frige Brothers Cheese Corp. plant at Carney in the Upper Peninsula said six farmers out of 270 withheld deliveries, causing about a 3 per cent decline in milk volume.

ONE-THIRD WITHHELD

The Consolidate Dairies Co. of Bessemer reported about one-third of its normal supply withheld.

FUN AND GAMES — California Gov. Ronald Reagan tries flipping a jelly bean into his mouth — he missed — at a reception held for Republican governors last night in Washington. Watching him is Michigan Gov. George Romney, who tried it first and also missed. Both governors, however, did manage to hit the target to the cheers of reception guests. Someone presented Reagan with a jar of jelly beans because he keeps a supply of them around his desk in Sacramento.

LBJ Heads for Guam Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson embarks tonight on his second trans-Pacific journey in five months — striving once more to emphasize his dedication to the works of peace in Vietnam.

High administration officials insisted they expect no major military decisions to emerge from Johnson's two days of talks in Guam — about 8,250 miles from Washington.

They said the big question instead would be how to advance the political, social and economic development of sections of South Vietnam wrested from Communist control.

There has been considerable speculation that Johnson might use the occasion of his Guam visit to elevate Gen. William C. Westmoreland to full commander of all American forces in Southeast Asia. But officials said they do not expect such a development.

They also said they don't think Westmoreland would choose this occasion to ask for more troops. But they said that was a matter for the general to decide.

AROUND MIDNIGHT

The White House said Johnson hoped to take off on his 18-hour, one-stop flight to Guam around midnight after spending all day and evening courting the nation's governors.

Perhaps for security reasons there was no word on whether Johnson's big jet would make a refueling stop in Alaska or Hawaii.

Moreover, nothing was being said here about where Johnson would be quartered on Guam, which is little more than an American military bastion.

The President will meet with top American civilian and military leaders based in Vietnam and with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and many of the other generals making up the military junta that holds power in Saigon.

TOP ADVISERS

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara also will be on hand.

★ ★ ★

Any policy decisions announced after the session, officials here indicated, likely would deal with changes in the Vietnam "pacification" effort — the attempt to claim ground from the Communists and make a start toward enlisting the interest of the inhabitants in elemental democracy.

★ ★ ★

One official said the Guam meeting has taken on special importance because of the impending replacement of Ambasador Henry Cabot Lodge by Ellsworth Bunker, 72-year-old diplomatic troubleshooter.

It Will Be Warmer --Tomorrow Only

There's a chance of a little rain or snow Sunday or Monday, and again Wednesday, the Bureau said.

A frigid 7 degrees was the recording at 7 a.m. The mercury had reached 25 by 2 p.m.

Political Career of Dodd Hangs in the Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political career and reputation of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd hang in the balance as the Senate ethics committee secretly weighs accusations of financial wrongdoing against him.

The committee's public probe of Dodd — the first Senate proceeding of its kind since the McCarthy era — ended yesterday with the Connecticut Democrat saying, "My conscience is clear."

Emotionally but quietly, the white-haired Dodd told the committee: "I don't believe any man is going to look me in the eye and say I've done wrong."

On that note the committee adjourned after five days of taking testimony that dealt primarily with allegations that Dodd used contributions to his political campaigns for personal expenses.

★ ★ ★

An earlier round of hearings last summer explored his relationship with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, a registered agent for West German business interests.

SEVERAL TRIPS

Dodd is accused of making several trips to Germany to help Klein retain clients there.

The ethics committee, composed of three Democrats and three Republicans, may meet next week but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said it will be "some weeks, at least" before it reports its findings and recommendations to the Senate.

A wide range of possibilities is open. It could find Dodd had done nothing improper, or it could recommend a reprimand, censure, or expulsion from the Senate.

★ ★ ★

It also could call for action against him by the Justice Department.

DOUGLAS H. HOARD

Welfare Director for County Named

Appointment of Douglas H. Hoard as director of the Oakland County and state welfare units, whose merger becomes effective Sunday, was announced yesterday at a meeting of the welfare committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Hoard's elevation from director of the county welfare unit to head of the merged departments was specified in a letter from R. Bernard Huston, director of the State Department of Social Services.

An attorney, Hoard, 57, of 1158 W. Maple, Birmingham, was named assistant director of the County Department of Social Welfare four years ago after retiring as a U.S. Navy officer.

He became director of the county welfare unit last September when George H. Williams resigned to take an administrative post in a hospital.

Hoard's salary as county welfare director was $15,000 per year.

SALARY INCREASE

Beginning tomorrow when he becomes director of the Oakland County Department of Social Services, the official designation of the agency formed by the merged departments, his salary will be $15,409.

Merger of the departments has long been a discussion topic. It was approved by the board of supervisors last Sept. 19.

Couple, Son to Face Trial

Charged in Alleged Murder-for-Hire Plot

A Livonia couple and their 25-year-old son were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on conspiracy to commit murder charges.

Appearing before Farmington Township Justice Byron D. Walter for preliminary examination yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna and their son, Jules.

No Circuit Court arraignment date was immediately set.

The Sornas are charged in an alleged murder-for-hire plot against a woman witness in a pending armed robbery case against the son.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Sorna were released from custody after posting $15,000 personal bond. Jules Sorna is in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

HOLDUP CASE

The holdup occurred last Nov. 21 at Paul and Vic's Market, 28734 Grand River, Farmington Township. Taken was $35.

The Sornas allegedly plotted to pay $700 to have witness Mrs. Victoria Gogates of Detroit killed before she could testify in the younger Sorna's March 31 pretrial examination on the armed robbery count.

An unidentified man, who said he was offered the $700 to commit the crime, informed police of the scheme earlier this week.

Teachers Ask Raise Averaging $1,700

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) has demanded pay raises averaging $1,700 a year for Detroit's 10,500 public school teachers.

The union asked the Board of Education for a salary schedule ranging from $7,500 for a starting teacher to $11,500 after 10 years service. The present range is $5,800 to $10,000.

Other demands included a reduction in the school year to 38 weeks from 40 weeks and a class maximum of 30 students from the average of 34.

'Want to Avoid Civil Strife'

Powell Cancels Return to NY

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell has canceled his plan to go to New York Sunday, but he says reluctance to trigger civil commotion, not fear of arrest, led him to remain in voluntary exile.

"I want to go back but not if it means violence and bloodshed, and my people tell me it would mean violence and bloodshed," Powell told newsmen Friday.

★ ★ ★

An aide said Powell, 59, probably would stay on Bimini, his fishing and relaxing spot off the Florida coast, at least until April 4 when a court hearing in Washington is set on the Harlem preacher-politician's suit to regain the congressional seat he held for 22 years before the House excluded him.

In New York a sheriff has a warrant for Powell's arrest on a criminal contempt charge stemming from a libel suit he lost. Powell, who could get up to 10 months in jail, has said that if he is arrested "the people in Harlem" would not let him lie in jail.

SITUATION TENSE

Negro leaders there told Powell that the situation in Harlem was tense after he announced he would walk New York streets Palm Sunday.

Former Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack said in New York he was glad Powell decided to avert possible bloodshed.

But Dan Watts, editor of Liberator, said, "Adam has copped out."

"I must divorce myself from all further and future efforts on behalf of Mr. Powell," said the Rev. A. Kendall Smith, chairman of Harlem Citizens for Community Action.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. David Licorish, associate pastor at Powell's church, said extremist elements sought a Powell-sheriff confrontation because "they want terror. But the people of this church don't want rowdyism."

OCC Overpayment 'Costs' Students

God, flag, motherhood and kids working their ways through college — with these American institutions you do not tamper.

And you don't make mistakes when you're paying the last of these, Oakland Community College is learning.

"We need this money for tuition, books and transportation to further our education," the OCC student assistants moaned in a recent statement.

The college agrees and couldn't be sorrier — but it's keeping its purse strings tightly drawn.

★ ★ ★

"It's kind of sad," says OCC Community Relations Director Mitchell Tendler as he tells of the students' ordeal, which he claims was caused by "gremlins."

WRONG IDEA

What happened is that "someone, somewhere, somehow" got the idea that a new twist in the federal Fair Labor Standards Practices Act applied to the 180 students who work for the college.

So in their paychecks of Feb. 17, their wages for a two-week period were based on $1.40 an hour, rather than $1.25.

No sooner had the checks gone out than the mistake was discovered.

★ ★ ★

The new minimum wage law did not apply to OCC students. Their pay was recalculated and the excess amount taken out of their next checks.

FUROR STARTS

It totaled about $700.

Students were advised of the error and told they could complain to their supervisors.

"That's when the furor started," Tendler said. "It's extremely unfortunate."

★ ★ ★

If the college had let the students keep the money, it would have been guilty of administrative sloppiness for which it could be taken to task, he noted.

COLLEGE ERROR

The students, on the other hand, don't feel they should have had to reimburse the college for its error.

★ ★ ★

"We as working college students question both the legality and the morality of Oakland Community College," they said.

The college apologized.

Post at Harvard to Toronto Prof

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Prof. Claude Bissell of the University of Toronto has been named Harvard's first visiting professor of Canadian studies.

The professorship was made possible by contributions from 86 Canadian and 45 U.S. corporations and from individuals in the two nations.

Head Named for Merged Welfare Unit

The move is expected to save Oakland County upwards of $100,000 in welfare costs this year.

March 19 was set as a target date for the merger several months ago even though the date falls on a Sunday.

NEW PAY PERIOD

It marks the beginning of a new pay period for state employes and the 62 county welfare workers will then be on the state payroll. The state welfare department serving Oakland County has 114 employes.

Hoard said that the merger procedure is "purely on paper" at this point and that no changes in the physical characteristics of the welfare operation will be evident.

"Blending the tasks of the county and state units together will be a gradual process," he added.

★ ★ ★

The responsibility of the county department has been general relief assistance, medical care and hospitalization.

STATE PROGRAMS

The state unit, formerly called the Bureau of Social Aid, has administered such programs as Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind and Medical Care for the Aged.

County employes will receive a pay boost averaging about 3 per cent under the merger.

The board of supervisors last year agreed on a supplemental salary appropriation for 1967 to maintain existing salaries of county employes who fell below the state pay schedule as a result of the merger.

★ ★ ★

A total of $1,700 will be needed because 10 county workers will enter the merger above the state scale.

★ ★ ★

Appointment of a deputy director for the merged departments was not announced by Huston. Miss Ora Hinckley has been serving as director of the state agency in Oakland County.

Anderson to Get in Gear for Cycle Problem Study

A state representative from Oakland County won't be joining Hell's Angels, but he will become part of the "in crowd" to do research in developing new motorcycle legislation.

★ ★ ★

LOREN ANDERSON

"I'll go to their hill climbs and races and generally take part in their programs," explained Loren D. Anderson.

The Waterford Township Republican was appointed yesterday by Quincy Hoffman, chairman of the House Public Safety Committee, to head a subcommittee set up to draft new laws pertaining to the two-wheeled vehicles.

Anderson is not unfamiliar with the problems before him.

★ ★ ★

He was a motorcycle policeman during the four years he was with the Pontiac Police Department, 1946-49.

'UNINFORMED'

"The operators themselves are completely uninformed about the pitfalls of riding a motorcycle," Anderson said.

"Unless something is done now," he said, "all we can do is sit back and watch the fatality list grow."

Anderson said that his three-member subcommittee will conduct hearings in Lansing, and that he would personally take part in motorcycle group activities.

"The people will help write their own program," said Anderson.

Any legislation offered by Anderson's committee would have to wait until next January to be introduced since the deadline has passed for new measures this year.

Lent is a time to share the beneficence of God with others and make one's unselfishness a daily habit.

Lent is a time for glory, love, happiness and forgiveness when one realizes that he leaves nothing upon this earth that is incorruptible except his good deeds and their reflection in the hearts of men.

Milburn Stone Happy in Role

'Doc' Glad 'Gunsmoke' Saved

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For its stars, the reinstatement of "Gunsmoke" was "like coming off condemned row with a full pardon," says Milburn Stone.

Stone, 62, born 80 miles from the story's locale, Dodge City, Kan., has played its sympathetic, crusty Doc Adams since the Western series came to television 12 years ago, with several years on radio.

When CBS announced Feb. 21 that the show had been canceled for next fall, said Stone: "Amanda (Blake, who plays Kitty) came unglued, crying so they couldn't keep makeup on her. Jim (Arness, who's Marshal Dillon) was stunned. All I could say was 'Well, I'll be d—d'."

Stone, a handsome, younger-looking man without his makeup as Doc, got his first real haircut in 12 years, figuring he wouldn't need his shaggy hair any longer.

"It'll grow out enough by the time we start shooting again," he predicted after the series was reinstated March 7.

CBS said cancellation had caused a "surprise reaction of press and our affiliated stations."

★ ★ ★

"There was an avalanche of angry, sorrowful mail," said Stone. "People sent me 25 or 30 newspaper columns, all in violent protest. One columnist wrote, 'Gunsmoke is dead. Long live the reruns.' A resolution was introduced in the Kansas State Legislature."

Stone's role as Doc Adams, in which he said he's perfectly happy to continue, climaxes a 45-year acting career that included some 150 movies.

IN VAUDEVILLE

Traveling tent productions attracted him to show business in his native Burrton, Kan., where his father, a first cousin of the late Fred Stone of vaudeville and theatrical fame, was a grain dealer. A song and dance vaudeville act and Broadway plays preceded Milburn's arrival in Hollywood.

Stone patterns the ear-tugging, chin-rubbing character of Doc Adams after his paternal grandfather.

★ ★ ★

The protests that followed temporary cancellation of the series "give you a warm feeling," he said. "Almost make you want to run for senator or something."

Really, though, he has no such ambitions. He'll just go on playing Doc Adams for at least another year.

Morpheus, the Greek god of dreams, was depicted by artists as a sleeping child surrounded by his favorite flowers, poppies, which induce dreams.

Court Ties Up Railroad's Infractions

Responsive to growing resentment of the Grand Trunk Railroad's continued disregard of legal restrictions on blocking street crossings, Municipal Judge CECIL McCALLUM fined the company a total of $500 for five violations of the City ordinance limiting such blocking to five minutes.

McCALLUM

The amount assessed is within $80 of all similar fines paid by the railroad since 1955.

McCallum commented that he thought the carrier was overdoing operational efficiency by unduly increasing the length of its trains and that "it should not be permitted to buy efficiency at public expense."

Until such time as a long-range solution to the vexatious problem of street-level rail crossings is evolved, the public interest demands that no judicial favoritism be shown the railroad when it operates trains in disregard of local ordinances.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS commends Judge McCALLUM on his forthright action in bringing the Grand Trunk to book.

Board of Supervisors Faces Reapportionment

Under the "one man, one vote" principle of governmental representation decreed by the U.S. Supreme Court, counties are faced with reapportionment of their boards of supervisors.

Working against a May 15 deadline, the Oakland County Reapportionment Committee has evolved a tentative plan that would establish some 25 supervisor districts embracing the County's 24 townships.

★ ★ ★

The districting pattern would be drawn on the basis of population equality for each district — approximately 28,000 — and eliminate the existing disparity in township representation. As an example, Waterford (the largest) with 55,000 population and Groveland (the smallest) with 3,000 each have one supervisor on the County board.

Under the present system, however, municipalities, in addition to one elective supervisor, have power to appoint more, based on both county and municipal population formulas.

It all adds up to an 87-member board which, under the State law passed last year, would be cut to 25 —or one supervisor for each of the new districts.

There is much good to be said for the reshuffle of supervisors, and a little bad.

The good resides in equality of representation between heavily and sparsely populated communities, and the numerical reduction of the county board to a more cohesive and hopefully better qualified body.

★ ★ ★

On the negative side is the method of appointing the reapportionment committee. The law prescribes that the authority be vested in a county's three top officials and the county chairmen of its two major political parties.

Thus, the makeup of the commission can easily reflect the political color of such officials, with possibility of political motivation in drawing the geographical boundaries of supervisor districts.

We think that the law, written by a Democratic legislature, should be amended to provide for a bipartisan commission, thereby eliminating much of the risk of partisan gerrymandering, with possible court appeal.

Medical Researchers Soft on Fluoridation

A quiet report by a Harvard University medical research team may do more for the cause of fluoridation than all the noisy public meetings that have been held in communities around the Country.

It suggests that fluoride may be of as much benefit to oldsters' bones and hearts as it is to youngsters' teeth.

★ ★ ★

In a comparative study of people living in areas of North Dakota where high concentrations of fluoride occur naturally in the water and people in other sections with low levels, the doctors found evidence that fluoride helps prevent two disorders that are common among people past middle age.

One is osteoporosis, a bone-softening disease. The other is calcification of the aorta, which is associated with hardening of the arteries.

★ ★ ★

If further research supports this early finding about the bone-hardening benefits of fluoride, it will put antifluoridationists in somewhat of a quandary—especially those who have argued that fluoridation is a Communist plot to soften up America.

Critical Days Will Follow War

By JAMES MARLOW
(AP) News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Critical days for the United States come after the shooting stops.

No doubt many Americans would want the United States to pull out of Vietman altogether after the fighting. It can hardly afford to and isn't likely to.

MARLOW

This country is now helping the South Vietnamese, who have had practically no experience in democracy, to set up a constitutional government.

They won't learn overnight. The country has strong factions. Many of the Vietcong will choose to remain in South Vietnam when peace is restored.

★ ★ ★

If the United States withdraws in a hurry, one of several things will probably happen.

The new government will succeed, it will degenerate into a dictatorship, or under factional disputes will collapse into a chaos, making it possible for the Vietcong to take over, with or without guns.

Vietcong control in the end would make a bitter farce of all the American sacrifices in men, money and supplies.

President Johnson this week repeated one of the "basic objectives" for the American part in the war.

★ ★ ★

It is to give the world a concrete demonstration that aggression across international frontiers is no longer an acceptable means of political change."

WAR MEANING

Would-be aggressors of the future can take that to mean war with the United States if they try what the North Vietnamese Communists tried on South Vietnam.

But — if the United States pulls out of South Vietnam too quickly, and the Vietcong take over, two American reactions are predictable.

One is a feeling that all the American effort in Vietnam was in vain, the other is a reluctance to get involved in a similar episode anywhere.

★ ★ ★

Communism itself, if the South Vietnamese government collapsed from its own inadequacy or lack of American stand-by help, might conclude subversion, even though slower, would be better and less expensive than direct attack.

NO ACCIDENT

It is hardly an accident that the communique Johnson agreed to at the Manila conference last fall was vague on the American pull-out.

★ ★ ★

It said "when the aggression has stopped . . . the people of South Vietnam will ask their allies to remove their forces and evacuate their installations as the military and subversive forces of North Vietnam are withdrawn, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence thus subsides."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

PALM SUNDAY

"And many spread their garments in the way: and others cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way. And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord: Blessed be the kingdom of our father David, that cometh in the name of the Lord: Hosanna in the highest. And Jesus entered into Jerusalem . . ."

St. Mark 11, 8:11

Thus in a few short sentences St. Mark gives us a picture of the first Palm Sunday: Jesus triumphantly entering into Jerusalem but knowing full well the trial that was ahead of him. He was led and followed by the faithful.

How many would retain that faith in the week to come? Palm Sunday is not only a day of triumph but also a day of questioning and reevaluating. Is the power of our faith strong enough to withstand the shock of a personal betrayal, a personal Calvary? We see around us throughout the world many who have that power.

Confident Living:

Christ Has Secret of Happiness

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Palm Sunday, one of the most stirring days of the year, is a memorial to the first early triumph of Jesus Christ. On that day he entered the capital city of his people and was treated by those who loved him with the waving of palm branches and songs of praise.

DR. PEALE

The entire story of Jesus presents one of the most curious situations in the history of mankind. Here was a man who never traveled more than a hundred miles from his place of birth. He had no money or social positon.

He never wrote any document, never led an army, never held elective or appointive office. Yet today he is recognized as the supreme personality of all time and is held in admiration and love by countless millions of people.

There have been many notable episodes in the history of mankind: Caesar leading the legions of Rome home from the wars (captives chained to his chariot wheels); Napoleon returning in triumph to Paris after his stirring victories; the great parade of the Grand Army of the Republic following the Civil War; the signing of the peace treaty on the battleship Missouri.

These are all a part of our historic heritage. But no episode can equal in meaning or drama that simple itinerant preacher, astride a donkey, followed by a few fishermen, riding into the capital of his country to be greeted by multitudes waving palm branches and singing songs of praise.

Other great men and events fade from memory, but Jesus does not fade. And why? He built his kingdom on love and goodness — and possesses and teaches the most workable pattern for victorious living both for persons and society. Jesus has the power to lure out of every human being the greatness within.

★ ★ ★

In the words of an old hymn, "he speaks and listening to his voice, new life the dead receive." This does not mean the physically dead, but rather those who are dead while they live, and some are actually.

The reason Christ never fades from the life of men is that he has the true secret of living happily, triumphantly and meaningfully.

★ ★ ★

The Christian pattern for victorious living is never more important than when there seem to be deteriorating elements in human society. It can help all those who need help. It has the real answer to the real problems of men.

A man telephoned our church in New York and asked for our Director of Activities. He said he represented a certain organization and wanted to talk to young people of the church.

Our director checked and found that this particular organization had been cited by the Justice Department as a Communist front organization. His first impulse was to tell the man he would have no part of him.

But we try to use Christian strategy in the church for we believe we have something that is more than a match for any Communist. So an appointment was made for two of our active and knowledgeable young laymen to meet with this man.

They asked him if he was a Communist, but he was evasive. Then they asked what causes he was advocating and wanted to talk about with the young people.

He said non-discrimination, peace in the world, and better conditions for the under-privileged. Our young laymen affirmed that they, too, were for all that.

He said he was for playgrounds for poor kids in poverty sections of the city. Asked if he had ever built a playground he said no, he was just advocating the idea.

He was then informed that our young people had, with their own hands, built a playground in a poor section of Harlem; and that our church membership and activities included people of all races.

Finally this man admitted that he was a Communist and had approached many churches in the city and had a date to speak in one.

The discussion ended by our representatives saying: "We cannot cooperate with you in any way; but when you come to doubt what you are doing, or if you ever need a friend, come back and we'll be glad to be that friend to you."

★ ★ ★

The great principles underlying Jesus' teachings are, of course, love, brotherhood and humanity. Jesus Christ is the true friend of every man who wants a better life on this earth.

If his followers apply to all social problems the principles which he taught, Christian civilization will never be undermined by phony "lovers" of humanity. It is the spirit of Christ to help all those who need help. More true humanitarianism, improved conditions, greater justice derive from Jesus Christ than from any other source.

Readers Join Discussion on Firefighters

I go along with City Manager Warren as to our firefighters. We all know of the 24 hours on and 24 hours off duty, mostly doing nothing. I know of one firefighter who is trying to hold down three jobs so he must sleep somewhere.

K. GODFREY

In reply to City Manager Warren's answer concerning firefighters, the number of alarms answered each year is more than a few. Firefighters are away from their families 24 hours at a time, which eliminates the need for more men to work eight-hour shifts and saves the taxpayers money.

★ ★ ★

Firefighters have fought hard and spent many days off to get pay raises and other benefits by petitions. As for firefighters having a full night's sleep at the station every duty day, how relaxed can they sleep knowing that they must be alert at a second's notice to save lives and property? All these men ask is to be able to live on an income and hours equal to a skilled worker.

This year they denied me any tax relief. Their refusal seemed to stem from the fact that I had used the sum received on the farm sale to clear up standing debts and to make some necessary improvements on my home. China Army Take-Over Seen in 3 Provinces

HONG KONG (AP) — Mainland broadcasts claimed today the Red Chinese army has taken over farms and factories in three more southeastern provinces. If true, it means that Mao Tse-tung has established control of production at gunpoint over a vast area of southern China.

The reports reinforced the conviction among observers of China's bitter internal struggle that the 2.5 million-man army had become the principal instrument of Communist party Chairman Mao's "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution," a purge of so-called reactionary elements in Chinese life.

It meant, too, that the army was achieving at least some success through force where Mao's militant civilian Red Guards and revolutionary rebels had failed, through political agitation, propagandizing and appeals for faithful adherence to Mao's thought, to win popular support for the purge.

The latest provinces in which Maoist troops were reported to have seized control of agricultural and industrial production are Anhwei and Kiangsi, which border coastal provinces, and Hupeh, further inland.

TAKEN OVER

Troops were reported Friday to have taken over in Chekiang Province on the coast south of Shanghai. Earlier in the week they were said to be in control in Kwangtung Province after a series of bloody clashes in the provincial capital, Canton, and in rural communities.

Other broadcasts have said the army moved in to restore production in Fukien, Hunan, Kwangsi and Kweichow provinces, where stubborn resistance had been reported to Mao's purge by followers of President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's major adversary.

★ ★ ★

The use of the army is a recent development in the purge, which began last August. Mao originally had counted on the teen-aged Red Guards and older supporters to carry it out, but they encountered widespread opposition.

★ ★ ★

Further evidence of Mao's turn to the military was the call Thursday for the 200-million-man militia to become more deeply involved in the purge. A Peking broadcast reporting the appeal said the cultural revolution was in a "critical stage."

LITTLE WORK

Reports reaching Hong Kong from travelers from China said the army, at least in Kwangtung Province, was doing little work in the factories and on the farms but that the troops were acting mainly as bosses.

★ ★ ★

The army was reported meeting resistance, both open and underground, from the workers and peasants. The Hong Kong New Life Evening Post quoted one arrival from Canton as saying that in Kwangtung Province "many workers and farmers were working at the point of a gun."

The newspaper carried fresh reports of bitter fighting in rural Kwangtung between army units and anti-Maoist militia. The outbreak reportedly was set off by army attempts to disarm the militiamen.

In another development, correspondents of the Japanese newspapers Yomiuri and Asahi reported from Peking the appearance of wall posters praising Premier Chou En-lai as Mao's "close friend and comrade."

★ ★ ★

The posters said that "anyone who opposed Premier Chou opposes the revolution," they reported.

The Japanese correspondents said the posters appeared aimed at countering Red Guard criticism of officials whom Chou has defended.

Doomed Pig Turns Tiger

SENDAI, Japan (UPI)—Tired of shaggy dog stories? Here's one about a perturbed pig.

The 250-pound hog rebelled yesterday just minutes before it was to become pork chops, bacon and ham at a local slaughterhouse.

It jumped a four-foot fence and went on a three-hour rampage, pursued by 10 policemen and 15 slaughterhouse workers.

Before being caught and hogtied, the porker:

—Knocked down farmer Choroku Sugai and bit him badly on the arm.

— Bit two slaugherhouse workers who tried to grab it.

—Bit farmer Tomoji Abe twice.

Mothers locked their children indoors as word of the pig's rampage spread through the farming community 60 miles north of Tokyo.

The hog finally was returned ot the slaughterhouse and promptly executed.

Prosecutor Office Seeks 6 Employes

Thomas E. Plunkett, Oakland County's chief assistant prosecutor, requested yesterday that the prosecutor's office be allowed six new employes in the county's 1968 budget.

Appearing before the personnel policies committee of the board of supervisors, Plunkett cited the rising work volume as the reason for needing more personnel.

Plunkett presented the department's request in the absence of Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson who is attending a national convention of prosecutors in Los Angeles.

Besides three new assistant prosecutors, Plunkett also asked that two additional stenographers and a typist be allowed in the 1968 salaries budget.

★ ★ ★

Also appearing before the committee yesterday was Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy who requested four new employes to meet an expanding volume of business.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

Other departments heard from yesterday and the number of employes requested were Circuit Court, one; Circuit Court, probation Division three; the dog warden, three; friend of the court, seven and the telephone exchange, one.

★ ★ ★

The committee now has heard the anticipated personnel needs of all departments.

It will meet again Tuesday to prepare a preliminary 1968 salaries proposal which will be presented April 3 to the supervisors' ways and means committee.

LBJ Latin Plan Clears Hurdle

To Offer $1.5 Billion for Common Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bid for congressional support of his plan offering some $1.5 billion to help establish a Latin-American Common Market has cleared its first House hurdle.

With a boost from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the measure appeared on its way Friday to overcoming opposition in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

★ ★ ★

The House panel approved by a 24-3 vote a resolution saying Congress favored the aid program. But the committee — with administration approval — modified the original measure to emphasize that U.S. help will be forthcoming only if Latin-American nations first help themselves.

Although no specific amount was mentioned in the resolution, Johnson has spoken of the $1.5 billion figure as the amount he would like to see channeled to the 19 Latin-American countries.

EISENHOWER'S VIEWS

The Senate committee was told, meanwhile, that Eisenhower "strongly favors now, as he always has, a common market for Latin America."

Eisenhower's views were presented by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who said the former Republican chief executive had authorized him to present them.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who has voiced objections to the resolution on grounds it would commit Congress to an unspecified future course, said after Friday's hearing he thinks it will win congressional approval.

★ ★ ★

Fulbright indicated that committee support for the measure was overwhelming.

Seemingly encouraged by the progress of the plan, the White House confirmed reports that Johnson will entertain 35 Latin-American ambassadors at his Texas ranch March 31-April 2 as a prelude to a hemispheric summit meeting.

★ ★ ★

Johnson is scheduled to meet April 12-14 with the 19 Latin-American chief executives at Punta del Este, Uruguay. They'll talk of plans for consolidating the nations into an economic bloc similar to the European Common Market.

$10.7 Million for Highways

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan's share of the $350 million in federal highway funds President Johnson released yesterday will be $10,767,000.

The amount was the seventh largest grant in a state-by-state breakdown.

★ ★ ★

California will receive the largest single amount, $31,212,000.

Allergies and You—12

Most Fearsome Pair

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Emphysema and asthma are the two most fearsome words in the dictionary of allergies.

The first is a long-term respiratory illness that reduces the efficiency of the lungs.

In the United States, with 1 to 10 million persons suffering from emphysema to some degree, it is about as prevalent as arthritis.

As many as 17,000 die as a result of it each year and this figure is climbing, current fatalities being seven times those of 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Stresses of the disease are hard on the heart and it may contribute to innumerable other deaths.

HITS HARD

It creates more invalids than does stroke or polio. Heart disease is the only cause of disability that outranks it.

President Johnson, in his recent message on air pollution legislation, said: "Emphysema forces more than a thousand workers into early retirement every month."

Progress of emphysema is insidious because the normal human has six times the lung capacity needed for breathing.

It may be 20 years before symptoms are apparent and then the shortness of breath may be blamed on middle age, giving more time for it to develop.

ADVANCEMENT

Diagnosis usually comes after the age of 50 when the damage is greatly advanced.

Asthma is far more visible when it occurs because it is marked by the breakdown of the mechanisms for cleansing the respiratory tract.

There is an abnormal production of mucus, bronchial tubes become inflamed and muscles that control the system can go into spasm.

Layer of Iron Found in Ocean

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A layer of tiny iron-rich particles that strongly reflects sonar have been found in the Atlantic Ocean by scientists in the Optical Physics Division of the U.S. Naval Research Labratory.

The particles showed up in samples of deep ocean layers taken at Key West, Fla., and Block Island, R.I. X-ray fluorescence and electron probe analysis indicates the particles probably contain a hydrated iron oxide. They range in size from .01 to .1 micron; but their origin is a mystery.

Guam Redeemed by American Blood

By the Associated Press

Guam, site of President Johnson's conference on Vietnam, is a U.S. outpost redeemed by the blood of American troops.

The island, barely 30 miles long, lies in the same latitude as Guatemala. It is 5,804 miles west of San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

Giant B52 bombers use Guam as a base for raids in Vietnam, about 2,400 miles to the west. They take off from Andersen Air Force Base, a major installation in the northern part of the island.

B29s used Guam as a base for raids on Japan in World War II.

ARMED WITH MISSILES

U.S. submarines armed with nuclear missiles operate from Guam as a forward base.

Guam was discovered by Ferdinand Magellan, the Portuguese explorer, in 1521. Spain made the island a possession in 1561 and held it 337 years. The Spaniards had to subdue the Chamorros, a proud and warlike people who inhabited the island and whose bloodlines have become mixed with the Tagalogs of the Philippines, Spaniards and others down through the years.

★ ★ ★

U.S. naval forces captured Guam in the Spanish-American War in June 1898 and Spain ceded it to the United States under the Treaty of Paris of Dec. 10, 1898.

The Japanese attacked Guam Dec. 7, 1941, and it fell in five days after a stand by a small garrison of sailors and Marines under command of Capt. George Johnson McMillin.

RECONQUEST

U.S. warships opened the successful campaign for its reconquest June 19, 1944. Troops were landed July 20 and the island was declared secured Aug. 10 after bloody fighting. U.S. casualties were 1,437 killed and 5,648 wounded.

Until the end of the war Guam was the advance headquarters of the U.S. Pacific Fleet under the command of Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz. In 1954 it was made the Pacific headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

★ ★ ★

The population is estimated at 72,000. All are full citizens of the United States under the Organic Act of Guam signed by President Harry S. Truman Oct. 1, 1950. They elect a 21-member unicameral legislature. The governor is appointed by the United States. Supervision was transferred from the U.S. Navy to the Department of Interior in 1950.

AGRICULTURE

Much of the island's economy is based on the U.S. military establishment, but its agricultural output includes corn, sweet potatoes and coconuts. Livestock raising is another pursuit.

About 95 per cent of the population is Roman Catholic, a heritage from centuries of Spanish rule. Agana is the capital and Apra the largest port.

The weather is warm most of the year, with the temperature range 72-88. Typhoons are frequent; one in 1960 caused $210 million damage and claimed nine lives. Guam is of volcanic origin, and earthquakes are common.

U.S. publishers buy 72 per cent of their newsprint supply form Canada.

Worship in New Church

The new St. James Methodist Church, 451 W. Kennett, opposite the Louise Alcott Elementary School, will be consecrated in a special service at 11 a.m. tomorrow.

The Rev. Jesse DeWitt, superintendent of the West Detroit District of the Methodist Church, will conduct the ceremony and deliver the morning sermon.

The Rev. Harry Lord, former pastor, and the Rev. James W. Deeg, present pastor, will assist in the service.

A Sunday School Rally at 9:30 a.m. under the leadership of Troy Bell, superintendent, will precede the worship period.

Open house will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. with members of Youth Fellowship conducting members and friends through the church. The Woman's Society will provide a buffet luncheon and serve as hostesses.

During the 5 o'clock vesper service the Sacrament of Baptism will be administered with former pastors participating.

The Crusader's Quartet from Deckerville will present the musical portion of the service. Motion pictures and slides depicting the history of the St. James Church will be shown.

★ ★ ★

The new St. James Methodist Church, located on 18 acres of land, was formerly known as the Oakland Park Methodist Church.

Members worshiped in the building at Montcalm and Glendale until the property was purchased by Pontiac Motor Division for an expansion program.

SEATS 300

The new church seating 300 people in the sanctuary has brick interior walls with an aggregate finish behind the altar.

The chancel area is separated from the rest of the sanctuary by a three-tiered planter filled with natural living plants which partially screen the choir. The Communion rail and chancel appointments were moved from the Oakland Park Church.

★ ★ ★

The main entrance is at street level with no stairs to climb. This upper level includes the sanctuary parlor and official board room with kitchenette, crib room and toddler's room near the sanctuary.

The crib room furnished as a memorial to Elizabeth Ann Stasiuk who died in infancy, was made possible by her family and friends.

There are also administrative offices, Sunday School class rooms for primary children, choir and young people as well as rest rooms and sacristy.

FELLOWSHIP HALL

The lower level incorporates a fellowship hall which will accommodate 260 people at banquet tables, complete kitchen facilities, a youth activity room with an 18-foot ceiling, and class rooms for young people with a separate grade entrance to the fellowship hall with rest rooms.

★ ★ ★

The church building of solid masonry construction was designed by Bery-Klei Associates of Oak Park to keep costs at a minimum.

The total cost of the project was $335,503.

Ground was broken in August 1965 and construction started in September of that year. After considerable delay in building, the congregation moved into the new church on Feb. 26.

★ ★ ★

Serving with Bert Weddle, chairman of the building committee, were John Fuller, Troy Bell, Richard Elliott, Donna Robertson, Lorrin Schwartz and Robert Stasiuk.

The public is invited to the open house and to share in the consecration service, Pastor Deeg said.

Pontiac Press Photo by Edward R. Noble

SANCTUARY COMPLETED—The Rev. James W. Deeg, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, looks over the new sanctuary with a grateful heart. The new building will be consecrated in services tomorrow morning. An open house is scheduled for the afternoon. Interior walls of the sanctuary are varigated shades of rose red brick. The three crosses above the altar are of walnut. Communion rail and pulpit furniture are from the former church. Carpeting in the chancel area and aisles is red. Asphalt tile covers floors throughout the rest of the building.

STRIP FRONDS — Entering Gloria Dei Lutheran Church where they will strip fronds from Palm buds they are carrying are Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Larson of 245 S. Marshall. The fronds will be distributed after forming in the shape of a cross and given to worshipers attending Gloria Dei services tomorrow — Palm Sunday.

Distribute Palm Leaf

Observe Ancient Rites Tomorrow

The triumphant entry of Jesus Christ into Jerusalem centuries ago will be commemorated with traditional Palm Sunday services in Christian churches tomorrow — Palm Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The first day of Holy Week gets its name from the enthusiasm shown by the people of Jerusalem as Christ rode into the city on a donkey a few days before His death on the Cross.

According to the Bible," a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees and strewed them in the way.

"And the multitudes that went before and that followed, cried saying, Hosanna to the son of David: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

But the Scriptures also tell that the enthusiasm of the people soon cooled. Only five days after Jesus had received the adoration of the crowds He was crucified on the Cross.

His experience will be cited in sermons and read from Scripture in churches tomorrow.

CUSTOMS

Traditions centering around Palm Sunday have come down to us through the centuries.

From the branches strewn in the path of Jesus is derived the custom of distributing palm leaves to people attending church the Sunday btfore Easter. In many churches the leaf is made into the form of a cross.

★ ★ ★

The leaves not distributed in Roman Catholic churches and some Episcopal churches are saved until the eve of the next Ash Wednesday.

They are then burned and the ashes used on the first day of Lent in marking the foreheads of parishioners as they kneel at altars.

ASCENSION

The Senior Choir of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension under the direction of Mrs. Edward Myer will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" at the 11 a.m. service tomorrow.

Mrs. Paul Boylan of Ann Arbor will assist Mrs. H. E. Relyea at the organ.

★ ★ ★

Soloists include Dr. Richard James of Detroit, Worth Mallory of Troy, Susan Meyer of Dearborn Heights and Mrs. John Cooperrider, the pastor's wife.

★ ★ ★

The cantata will take the place of the sermon.

At 8:30 a.m. Pastor Cooperrider will preach on "A Case of Mistaken Identity."

DO YOU KNOW what instrument this young man is holding? No, it really isn't. Certainly it looks like an Accordion but it is probably an instrument that you have never heard . . . an Accorgan.

The Accorgan is a completely self-contained transistorized unit which incorporates the miniaturized organ-tone generators—with sustain—in the accordion. Think of it! Now Jack Van Impe can play this instrument as an organ only . . . accordion alone . . . or together and produce the most magnificent tones imaginable. He can obtain the effects of bells, chimes, electric piano, harp, plus many additional tonal combinations on the right hand. Another "plus" feature is the left hand concert string bass.
Sunnyvale Chapel, 5311 Pontiac Lake Road, invites you to hear this unusual instrument and this unusual young man during their "Crusade With Purpose, April 4-9.

Don't Feel Guilty About Dreams Long as They Never Come True

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with me? I have been happily married for 15 years and we have three lovely children. Every night I dream about a certain man who is a good friend of my husband and mine.

ABBY

He is also married and has a nice family. Abby, I am so ashamed of myself I don't know what to do.

In these dreams he is kissing me and loving me, and we are carrying on something fierce. I don't know if we are married in these dreams or not, all I know is we just go right ahead like there was no right or wrong.

Every time I see this man and his wife I feel so guilty I could die. His wife is such a nice person, and so is he, and my hand to God, he has never even looked sideways at me.

What worries me is I seem to be enjoying these dreams. Please help me.

CAN'T WAIT TO RETIRE

DEAR CAN'T: You need not feel guilty for what you do in your dreams. As long as you don't try to make your dreams come true (in this instance), there's nothing to be ashamed of.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Recently my sister got married. At the reception her husband cornered me and kissed me. Only it wasn't the kind of kiss a bridegroom usually gives his new sister-in-law.

I haven't said anything to anybody, of course, but now when I see him he acts like it never happened, but I can't look him in the eye. What should I do?

PASSIONATELY KISSED

DEAR KISSED: Forget it. He probably has.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A lady signed GRANDMA wrote, complaining because she had grandsons in the service, but a fat, lazy, 22-year-old slob of a neighbor kid sat around doing nothing.

He bragged that his hobbies were draft-dodging, eating, and sleeping, and said he keeps his blood pressure up on purpose so he can't pass the physical.

She said she wanted to know why fellows like this should be allowed to get away with this:

You said there was probably a lot more wrong with the slob than he admitted, and he was probably covering up with his braggadocio talk, that if he were fit material for the service, they'd have a uniform on him faster than he could say "Vietnam."

Abby, I left the service a year ago, and I have this to say to Grandma: How safe would your grandsons be if they depended on this slob to sound the alarm in case of an attack?

Would you want your grandsons to ride in an aircraft this fellow just repaired? No, Grandma, leave those irresponsible kids at home where they hurt no one but themselves. They don't belong in the military with decent, responsible men like your grandsons.

PAUL W. MARSH (SEATTLE)

DEAR ABBY: Will you please advise me as to the correct way to acknowledge appreciation to a pastor under these circumstances: The pastor gave much aid and comfort to the family of one who recently passed away.

The deceased one had no connection with this pastor or his congregation, but he performed the burial services anyway. Thank you.

KNOWS NOT

DEAR KNOWS NOT: Offer the pastor a gift of money. (Pastors have bills to pay.) If he declines, ask him if you may make a contribution to one of the many "causes" related to his church.

Permit Her the Comfort of Symbol

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a problem which will seem minute to you but is growing into quite a heartache for us. My mother is a recent widow and refuses to part with her rings.

The problem is, people are forever asking about her husband, where he is, his line of work, etc. This always throws mother into a deeper depression, and is certainly not helping her to adjust to the fact that he is gone.

Can you help? On which finger does a widow wear her rings to show she is a widow? — Worried Daughter.

Dear Worried Daughter: Don't try to get your mother to remove her rings. She should wear them on the same finger to show her status as a married woman; there would be more questions than she is now asked if she took them off.

The rings are a comfort to her — she should not have to give up their symbol of her happiness.

Theater Slates Special Program

The John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre will present a special children's play "The Imperial Nightingale" March 28 through April 1.

According to Mrs. Edwin W. Mosher, Jr., director of group Sales for Meadow Brook Theatre, the four matinee performances are completely sold out. "The response has been marvelous," she says. "An example of the enthusiasm in the metropolitan area, the United Auto Workers have taken the entire theatre for the Saturday matinee performance."

★ ★ ★

While the matinee performances of "The Imperial Nightingale" have been sold out, good seats remain for all evening performances.

SCHEDULE

Performances beginning March 28 have been scheduled as follows: a 2:30 matinee and 7:30 evening performance on Tuesday and Wednesday, a 7:30 performance on Thursday, an 11 a.m. performance on Friday and 2:30 and 7:30 on Saturday to end the five day run.

★ ★ ★

The Nicholas Stuart Gray fantasy will appeal to both children and adults.

John Fernald, the artistic director of the Meadow Brook Theatre, feels that too little attention has been given children in theatre. "Most people tend to forget children," says Fernald. "If they don't just leave them out, they have the habit of talking down to them. We intend to treat the children, not as children, but as people, which, of course, is exactly what they are."

WISE AND FUNNY

"The Imperial Nightingale" is based on the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale of the "Emperor and the Nightingale." Nicholas Stuart Gray has woven several sub-plots into the basic story and introduced some new characters.

★ ★ ★

The plot revolves around the Emperor of China who has captured the nightingale through trickery, intending that it should sing to the court on command. The bird, its free spirit caged, grows weak and unable to sing at all.

★ ★ ★

The emperor is sentenced to die because of his cruel governing of China and his treatment of the nightingale. The emperor realizes his mistakes and begs for mercy, promising that he will temper government with humanity.

★ ★ ★

Robin Ray, is directing the play. He says he chose the fantasy because it has a nice message and is "a very wise and funny play."

★ ★ ★

Tickets are still available for evening performances by contacting the Meadow Brook Theatre Box Office or through J. L. Hudson's Ticket Service.

Plastic Skirt a Household Must

There's no need to work at arm's length to avoid rubbing tarnish on your dress while cleaning silver. Just stitch up a practical plastic skirt to slip on for such messy household chores.

All soil can be sudsed right off the plastic with a damp sudsy cloth. It can also be immersed in soap or detergent suds and rinses, then hung to drip dry.

Spring Cleaning Aid

Use the vacuum cleaner on both sides of your mattress to give it a good spring cleaning even though it has been covered.

FACTS ABOUT PHARMACY
by HOWARD L. DELL
Your Neighborhood Pharmacist

Excellent Rule to Follow

It is important to know that every prescription from a physician is for a definite purpose and for a patient he has examined. He never intended the drug he prescribed to be used for anyone other than the patient for whom he wrote the prescription. Some people are sensitive to certain medicines and the dose for one may be wrong for others. It is unwise to take a drug that was prescribed for another person. Also—it is an excellent rule to destroy leftover medicines.

New Look in Boots Is Borrowed

Boots, a standard accessory for cold and inclement weather, can now be had to resemble spats—a style popular at the turn of the century. Typical is a calf-high boot which combines a black patent mudguard with an upper made of glen plaid cotton cloth.

* * *

The patent is readily washable, of course, and the plaid can be kept clean and jaunty by using a brush dipped into dense soap or detergent suds to scrub off spots or spatters.

Beginners Will Learn Old Art of Perfection

ANN ARBOR — The beginner in art may think that man has progressed from his earliest efforts to his present "perfection" as he learned the science of perspective and the other needs of representational drawing.

"But it's not so," says Guy Palazzola, University of Michigan professor of art.

* * *

"The Byzantines didn't paint their pictures in a flat plane because they couldn't manage things any better. Each culture has its own way of doing things. Plato said that realistic art is not true art. The Greeks could paint very realistically but they didn't choose to."

The artist says some of his students ask when he is going to teach them anatomy.

CAN'T DRAW

"They can't draw a triangle and they want to draw the deltoid muscle, which is a triangle," he says. "We all agree that the student needs a good concept of drawing. We insist that they draw well but I'm not convinced that all the things we teach are necessary."

* * *

"You don't have to 'understand' a mountain to paint one. It's said that Rembrandt must have understood old people very well because he painted them so well. No. He just painted them."

Palazzola says oil is becoming a thing of the past. "Most of the world's master-pieces are in pigments in oil, not pigments in the plastic we know as lucite. Lucite is fast drying but a retarder can be used. The acrylic plastic doesn't develop a 'museum brown' in its colors like oil paints, which must be brought out into the sunshine periodically to brighten them up."

ARTIST'S MIND

He emphasizes that it is the artist's mind which determines his greatness.

* * *

"This has turned many artists today to abstraction," he says. "We live in a world of cameras and hard facts, but the human mind still is the great creator — whether it be of the fantasies of a Marc Chagall or the three-nostriled women of a Pablo Picasso.

* * *

"The subject of art is so enormous and mysterious that it intrigues men today as it always has."

Don't Wipe Plastic Tile

If your home is equipped with such modern installations as luminous plastic ceilings, corrugated sheeting, or panels which diffuse light for a daylight effect, try a practical tip from the professionals who install direct lighting.

* * *

After washing such plastic fixtures with soap or detergent suds, let these air-dry before being replaced.

Don't wipe the plastic dry because rubbing creates static electricity which acts like a magnet to attract dust in the air.

Recipe Error

In the recipe for Golden Yellow Cake printed in Wednesday's Market Basket section, there is an extra cup of milk listed. Use just one cup.

Guantanamo Tour Reported

'Silent War' in Cuba Upsets Congressman

U.S. Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District, said today that he was "a little unnerved" from his first inspection trip of the Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba.

The Oakland County congressman toured the base recently as a member of the House Public Works Committee to view the hugs desalinization plant that supplies the base with fresh water.

"As we flew into Guantanamo protected by a fighter escort, I was a little shaken to see rows of pillboxes dotting the perimeter of our outer defense," said McDonald.

"But what hit me hardest," he continued, "was to see a hostile force, armed with the most modern and sophisticated weapons, encamped within sight of our lines."

"So far as Castro is concerned, he is at war with us," said McDonald. "At least that's the only conclusion I can draw when I see an army posed night and day with guns pointed at our people."

DISTURBING ASPECTS

Two other aspects of the silent war in Cuba disturbed the congressman.

"Cuba is probably one of the few places, if not the only, where foreign ships, including Russian, must pass through an American naval yard in order to reach their berth.

"I could not help but sense a moment of uneasiness as I watched Russian freighters and tankers pass within a few yards of our cruisers," said McDonald.

"Another thing that bothered me was to learn that Castro is able to steal some half million dollars per year from the Cuban people who work on the base.

"Each pay day the Cuban employes are forced to exchange their dollars for pesos on a one-to-one ratio at the Cuban banks. But, on the world market, the dollar is worth seven pesos. So, Castro robs his own people and pockets the difference."

Big Rapids 'Pressure' on Ferris Denied

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — Mayor Donald Page today denied allegations the city has refused to provide additional water service to Ferris State College in hopes of forcing the school to share the cost of an expansion of the city's water system.

The lack of water has resulted in the state's refusal to allow the college to construct a new $6.7-million dormitory.

State Sen. Frank Beadle, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, yesterday said that unless the city decides to provide the water service, "any further requests by the college for additional facilties at Ferris cannot be approved."

Page said the city cannot provide the additional water because the filtration plant has reached its capacity and must be enlarged.

★ ★ ★

"The city cannot begin construction of a new plant because it has not been able to arrange financing for the improvement," Page said.

Pair Last 15 of 3,200 Miles

Long Row Short-Lived

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) —A retired truck driver and his son began a 3,200-mile row to England in a 16-foot dory Friday. After 15 miles and 6½ hours they turned back.

"I just want to go home and hide under a rug," Lewis C. Mills, 54, said after coming ashore.

Mills and his son, Lewis Jr., 21, climbed aboard a Coast Guard rescue boat as they entered Gloucester harbor on their return trip and their boat was towed ashore.

"The seas weren't too rough," Mills said. "The trouble was that we were loaded too heavy and we started taking in water.

"It was freezing in the boat faster than we could bail it out," he said.

Temperatures were in the teens during the day and the Weather Bureau had issued small craft warnings.

★ ★ ★

Mills said he and his son got as far as Thatcher's Island after leaving the harbor in the morning.

"Then we were in one spot for four hours and I finally said, 'The hell with it' and we started back."

Orchestra to Go on Tour for Funds

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Symphony Orchestra has announced plans to raise $5.5 million in cities where the orchestra tours.

★ ★ ★

The money would be used for musicians' salaries, the refurbishing of Symphony Hall, including the installation of public elevators, and the reduction of annual deficits.

The nation's female consumers spent an estimated $30 billion for apparel last year.

Waterford to Mull '701' Fund Request

A request for an $8,019 appropriation to carry out a portion of a proposed planning program will be considered Monday night by the Waterford Township Board.

★ ★ ★

The funds would be used to implement that part of the township's third year "701" planning program trimmed by the state because of insufficient federal aid.

The Township Board tabled action on the planning commission request at last Monday's meeting to check on availability of funds.

In other business at the 7 p.m. meeting, the board will conduct a public hearing for a special assessment district street lighting project in Indianwood Manor Subdivision.

★ ★ ★

Fourteen lights would be installed. Based on 62 assessments, then annual charge of property owners would be $7.84 per assessment.

PROPOSED ORDINANCES

The board also will consider adoption of plumbing and heating ordinances introduced at the Feb. 27 meeting.

★ ★ ★

Tentatively slated for action is consideration of 1967 wage contracts for the police and fire departments.

The dubious honor of holding the record for committing the most personal fouls in one basketball season goes to Bailey Howell, of Baltimore, who fouled 345 times in the 1964-65 season.

Jackie, Sister, Families Arrive for Acapulco Stay

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, and their families arrived by plane Friday night for a 10-day spring vacation.

The party included Mrs. Kennedy's children, Carolina and John; Prince Stanislas Radziwill; and the Radziwills' children, Chris and Anthony.

★ ★ ★

John broke away as they were entering automobiles to leave the airport and was chased by his aunt. After he entered a car, he drew a hearty laugh from Mrs. Kennedy by diving head first from the back seat to the front seat to be with her.

★ ★ ★

The group is visiting Fernando Parra, a socially prominent resident at whose villa Mrs. Kennedy stayed in February 1965. They will have a house near the beach in a wealthy section of Acapulco.

There are 3,176,000 farms now being operated in this country, according to latest Department of Agriculture statistics. Land in farms totals 1.13 billion acres.

Sukarno to Visit Health Resort

JAKARTA (AP) — Stripped of his power and reported ailing, Indonesia's former President Sukarno prepared today to leave his Jakarta palace for the health resort of Bagor.

Information Minister B. M. Diah denied reports that Sukarno was under house arrest but said Sukarno must get permission from the acting president, Gen. Suharto, to travel inside or outside the country.

★ ★ ★

The student newspaper Kami said authorities refused to let Sukarno wear his military uniform.

Sukarno was expected to stay at his palace in Bagor, 40 miles from the capital, and at his retirement home nearby. The area is noted for its botanical gardens and summer homes of wealthy Indonesians.

HEALTH FAILING?

A spokesman said the minister of health visited the Jakarta palace in connection with Sukarno's health. Palace guards said the 65-year-old former president appeared in excellent condition and spent some time playing with five of his eight children.

★ ★ ★

Suharto, named acting president a week ago when Congress removed Sukarno's title and the last remnants of his power, has said Sukarno's health is worsening but has not indicated the nature of the ailment.

★ ★ ★

In Tokyo, Ratna Sari Dewi Sukarno, 27, his third wife, said she believes her husband is suffering from a recurrent kidney disease and exhaustion.

"I think he needs a rest," Mrs. Sukarno said before leaving a hospital where she gave birth to a daughter by caesarean section March 7.

She said she doubted reports that Sukarno will leave Indonesia because "without Indonesia and its people, life will have no meaning for him."

N.Y. Catholics Set K-12 Sex Education

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Roman Catholic Diocese of Rochester plans to introduce next September a program of sex education in diocesan schools from kindergaten through high school.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Daniel Brent, associate superintendent of diocesan schools, said Friday the program would be the first of its kind in the nation's parochial schools.

★ ★ ★

Details still are to be worked out, Father Brent said, adding that "it will be cast in the Christian context."

Berserk Man, Deputy Shot

Pair Trade Gunfire in Monroe County

MONROE (AP) — A deputy sheriff, using the door of his patrol car as a shield, traded shots with a berserk man, then wrestled him to the ground as both collapsed from bullet wounds Friday.

The deputy, G. Robert Shaw, 29, of Ypsilanti, suffered minor wounds and was released from a hospital.

★ ★ ★

A man police identified as Bulice Griffin Sr., 49, of London Township was hospitalized with bullet wounds in the chest. He was not considered in danger. No charges were filed immediately.

Griffin's son, Bulice Jr., 21, called Monroe County sheriff's deputies and said his father had argued with the elder Griffin's wife, slashing her with a knife. The son said a brother had taken their mother to a hospital and their father had threatened to shoot any policeman who tried to arrest him.

WENT TO HOUSE

Monroe Deputies Daniel Maurice and Joe Diekman went to the house and were told Griffin had fled in a car, taking two guns with him.

Meanwhile, Shaw drove over the line into Monroe County to help if needed. He spotted Griffin's car and followed it back to the driveway of the Griffin home.

★ ★ ★

Griffin got out of his car and was aiming a rifle at Diekman through a window when Shaw yelled a warning, the lawmen reported. They said Griffin started firing a 22-caliber rifle at Shaw, who returned the fire from behind the door of his patrol car. Deputies counted nine holes in the door.

Shaw said he emptied his revolver, ran about 40 feet to where Griffin was and wrestled him to the ground. The deputies inside the house ran out and saw two men slump away from each other.

India Speech Listing Goals Is Boycotted

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan set forth four major goals of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's new government today in a speech boycotted by nearly 200 opposition members of Parliament.

The unprecedented snub by all opposition parties except the right-wing Swatantra was to protest the imposition of president's rule, a kind of federal control, in Rajasthan State following riots there.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the president's address, a member of the Hindu Communal Jan Sangh party in the lower house of Parliament brought a no-confidence motion against Mrs. Gandhi's five-day-old government as a result of her handling of the Rajasthan crisis.

Debate on the motion was to begin immediately at the prime minister's request. "Let us start the debate right away," she said.

If passed, the motion would lead to the resignation of Mrs. Gandhi's government. But this was considered unlikely since her ruling Congress party has a 20-seat majority in the lower house of parliament.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The opening bid of four is even more pre-emptive than the bid of three. It also should be a substantially better hand. This is because, somehow or other, three-level pre-empts are seldom doubled while four level pre-empt frequently are.

JACOBY

Thus when we open with a four bid we don't have 10 tricks in our own hand but we do have a hand that is almost surely going to make eight tricks by itself and that has some compensating values.

In first or second seat we would open four spades irrespective of vulnerability with: Spades—A K Q 10 8 7 6, H — 2, D — Q J 10 2, C — 2. We would not open four spades with: Spades — A K Q J 10 9, 8 H — 3 2, — D — 7 6, C — 8 4.

The first hand is likely to make four spades if partner can give us one trick. The latter won't make four spades unless partner can give us three.

★ ★ ★

We have another rule for four-level pre-empts. We never have more than one ace and, if our partner has passed, we do not ever have solid trumps and a void suit.

Today's hand shows the advantage of this hard and fast rule. South had a normal four-spade opening. North looked over his big hand and decided that South might well hold two aces.

Therefore, North bid four no-trump. When South bid five diamonds to show one ace, North signed off at five spades but they were one trick too high.

★ ★ ★

West opened the ace of diamonds and shifted to the queen of hearts. East took two heart tricks and game and rubber had been thrown out the window.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠J 2 ♥A K 6 5 ♦4 3 2 ♣A Q 8 6

What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. There is no reason to try for a slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two no-trump your partner rebids to three spades. What do you do now?

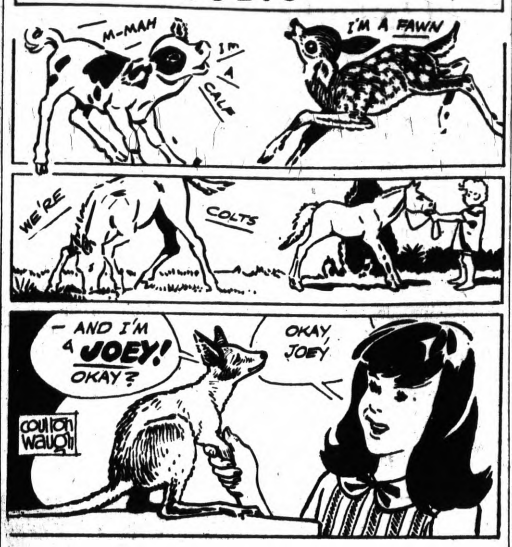
Junior Editors Quiz on JOEYS



QUESTION: If a baby cow is a calf and a baby horse a colt, what is a baby kangaroo?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Our picture answers this question, but we want to tell you something about these little animal babies called joeys. A kangaroo is a marsupial. It belongs to the group o fanimals which have pouches in which they carry group of animals which have pouches in which they carry their young.

A newly born joey is a tiny thing not more than an inch long, but it has a strong instinct to climb into the snug pouch the mother kangaroo carries in front.

Here the joey can nurse and grow in safety. It may remain in its mother's pouch for a long time, perhaps for 6 months. As it grows, a joey will begin to get a little tired of its mother's milk.

There will come a day when some patch of bright green grass will look too tempting to resist, and the joey will hop out and begin to nibble at the kind of food which will satisfy it for the rest of its life.

★ ★ ★

But if it hears something, or sees something which it doesn't understand, the joey will suddenly panic and make a wild leap for the safety of its mother's pouch again.

Then comes the day when the joey can take care of itself; it has become a kangaroo.

'Pineapples' Say Aloha to General and to War

CU CHI, Vietnam, (AP) — The "smell of the pig" was in the air, tangy, aromatic, irresistible. It brought the "Pineapples" on the run for miles around.

"Hey brud-da," they shouted, flourishing their coconut palm beachboy hats and tuning up their ukuleles. "Don't you eat dat pig without me, unless maybe you like beef." Freely translated this means: Anyone who starts the party without me is looking for a fat lip.

★ ★ ★

The Hawaiian soldiers in the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were holding their last luau in Vietnam. They were bidding aloha to Maj. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, the outgoing division commander, and also to themselves. Within a month, most of the "Pineapples" would be sent home, their year's duty in Vietnam over.

Only about 19 per cent of the division, originally garrisoned at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii, was made up of islanders by the time it reached Vietnam. But they held most of the top enlisted ranks and won more than their share of the medals and bravery citations. They call themselves the "Pineapple Mafia."

MILESTONE

The last luau to them was as much of a milestone in Vietnam as the day they battled out of an ambush in the Ho Bo Woods or became the first American unit to fight in the Mekong River Delta.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Maj. Sam Kealoha of Honolulu, the Pineapple who ruled the enlisted ranks of the 4th Battalion, 9th Infantry, butchered the pig himself and saw that it was properly anointed with abolutions of imported Hawaiian salt and cold beer.

★ ★ ★

"Mister pig," he said, intoning an old Polynesian grace before meals, "'may you do right by us. We hope you as delicious as you look."

Gen. Weyand made a gracious speech saying what the Hawaiian contingent had meant to the 25th in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

"They gave us our spirit, our unique character, our sense of humor," he said. "But when the going got tough, they were always leading the way."

St. Patrick Reminders Linger

By the Associated Press

St. Patrick's Day has gone but the flavor of Erin Lingers all over Michigan today.

DISPUTE SETTLED

In Gaylord, Probate Judge Boyd Baird has moved into temporary offices in the high school gymnasium building and three Otsego County supervisors no longer face contempt charges after a St. Patrick's Day hearing before Circuit Court Judge Dennis O'Keefe of Standish.

★ ★ ★

Baird had charged Stanley Magsis, Robert Woods and Alton McNett with contempt for removing his equipment from a county courthouse which was to be demolished.

★ ★ ★

O'Keefe — wearing green of course — settled the dispute.

Irate Irishmen at Aquinas College in Grand Rapids will long remember the quick St. Patrick's Day action that saved their national honor.

A British Union Jack waved from a campus flagpole early Friday morning. But the Irish hauled it down and sent up the Irish green flag.

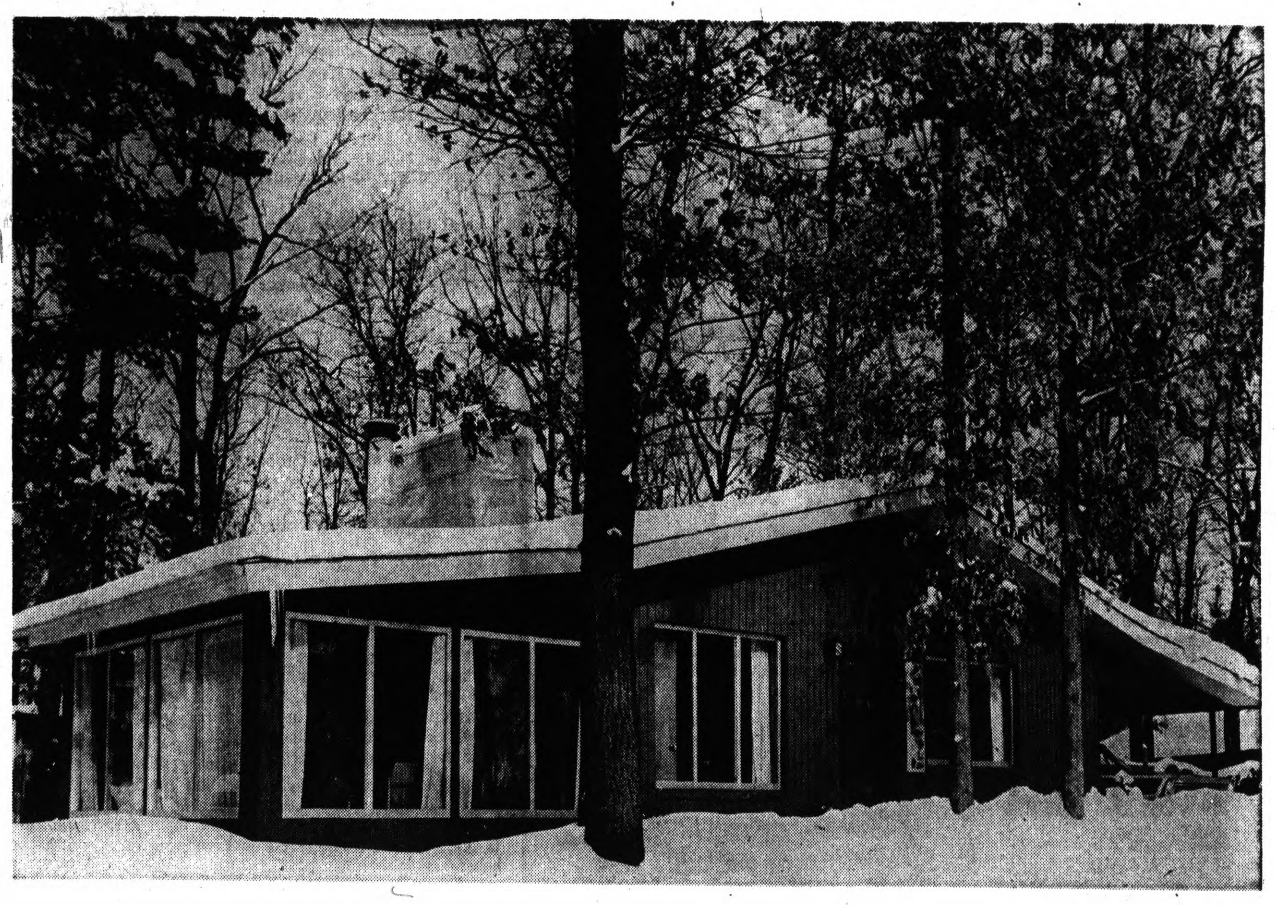
MODERNIZATION

Modern Version Of An Old-Time Stove Is Focal Point In Den



Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

John A. Carruthers Designed And Built His Attractive Home On Butler Drive, Orion Township

He Builds Table First, Then Tries House

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

There's nothing like building your own home, not if you are "experienced." And John Carruthers considered himself experienced — hadn't his one building project, the picnic table, turned out well.

Armed with sharpened pencils, ruler and square, he designed the attractive one-story overlooking Long Lake in Orion Township.

When the design was completed, he exchanged his table tools for a saw, cleared the timber that would interfere with laying the foundation and launched the construction.

"It wasn't hard," said Mr. Carruthers modestly. "And I hired professionals to handle the wiring and plumbing."

★ ★ ★

Contemporary in decor, the interior accents convenience and efficiency. The floor plan incorporates the kitchen, dining and living areas in one large room.

Acting as a divider are the living room's octagonal rug and the modern sofa covered in an orange, gold and white tweed.

On the free-form marble coffee table before the sofa is a nude sculptured by Mrs. Carruthers, a talented artist.

She also created the sand cast mounted on the white Norman brick fireplace. The cast introduces blue, lavender and gold while repeating the room's orange tones.

★ ★ ★

It received second place in sculpture at the Oakland County Art Show held in February at the Pontiac Mall.

The clay figurines affixed to planks of old barn wood which decorate the wall above the room's beige vinyl chair are another example of Mrs. Carruther's creativity.

Louie, the parrot, and the split-leaf philodendron share the corner beside the fireplace. When not on or in his live-perch-basket cage, Louie is completely at home peeking down from the top of the philodendron.

★ ★ ★

Folding doors make it possible to close or open the adjoining music room.

MUSIC ROOM

"We made the music room couch," said Mrs. Carruthers, "of 2x4's, stained walnut and corduroy cushions and the corner table lamp of metal and aquarium stones."

Instruments of the Carruthers' two sons, John, 16, and David, 14, are hung above the walnut piano as a wall grouping.

The den at the front of the house allows a full view of the lake. Paneled in antique-elm, it opens off the living room.

"That stove in the den is wonderful," said Mr. Carruthers, "it throws heat like an old - fashioned pot-bellied stove. And the extra warmth helps to make the room more comfortable."

Clothes Dryer Is Mother's Helper

A gas clothes dryer can do even more than dry or damp-dry your wash.

It is perfect for freshening drapes, pillows and small rugs by tumble action. This cuts down on dry cleaning bills, also.

See Wormy Chestnut at Dealers

A textured Wormy Chestnut panel, which faithfully duplicates the grain texture and fissures that characterize this rare wood, was one of the featured new products at the recent National Association of Home Builders show in Chicago.

Marlite Paneling has combined the high-fidelity reproduction of the chestnut wood-grain pattern with the textured surface to achieve the attractive appearance of the natural wood.

Local lumber dealers have this ¼" thick prefinished paneling in light or dark tones. It comes in 16" x 8' planks.

Dark random grooving adds to the washable paneling's striking appearence. Tongue and groove edges conceal the joints, providing a continuous random plank effect on the wall.

★ ★ ★

CLEAN WITH DAMP CLOTH

Wormy Chestnut paneling is highly-resistant to heat and moisture. Builders and designers attending the Chicago show found that it can be used in the kitchen or bathroom, although not in the tub-shower area.

This new textured hardboard's rugged informality creates an inviting atmosphere in almost any room of the house.

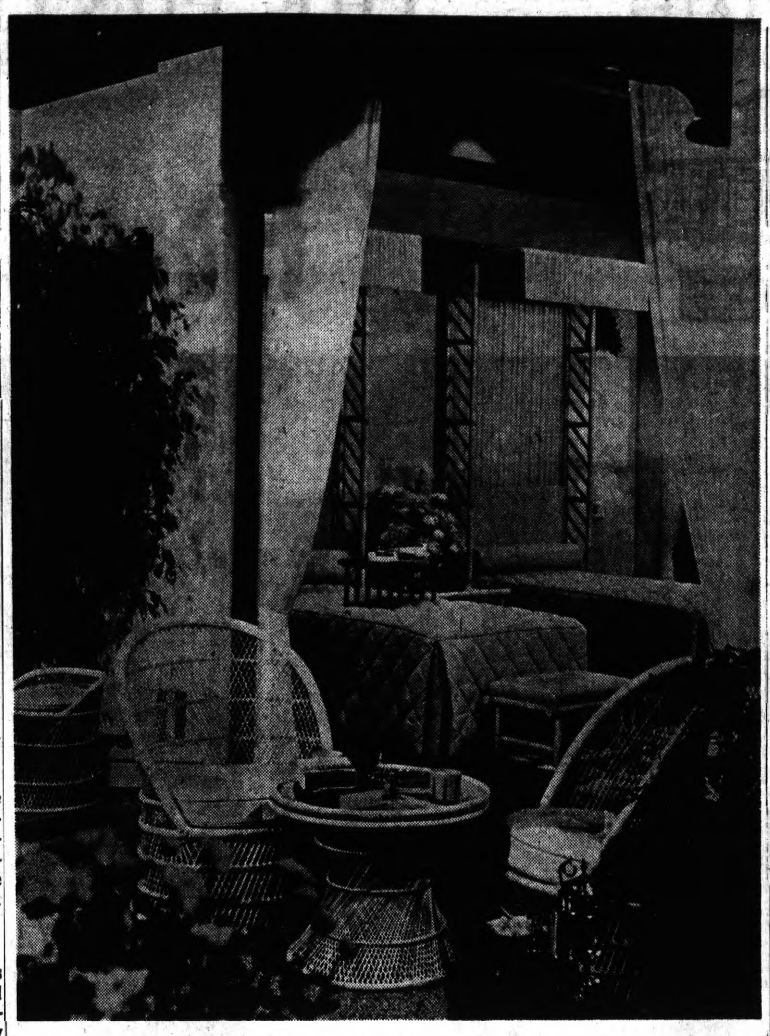
Handymen or carpenters also can apply the Wormy Chestnut plank to old walls, solid backing, studs or furring strips. Special metal clips fit over the tongue and groove edges.

★ ★ ★

Wallboard adhesive is used to secure a strong hold.

Like all prefinished hardboard paneling, this textured Wormy Chestnut plank can be damp-wiped clean. Heat, moisture, stains and hard wear will not mar the paneling. Painting or refinishing is never necessary.

Newel posts with "onion tops" make attractive fence posts for low, dainty front fences.



ELEGANT SURROUNDINGS — This room is maintenance-free, with a feeling of plush comfort. Here, again, the walls and ceiling beams are covered in vinyl fabric. The bedding in the "Carefree Cabana" is latex foam rubber. All furniture is rattan. Two lounge chairs are covered in a vivid citrus green vinyl, with the two benches also covered in the same citrus green, to harmonize with the antique white and maize wood finishes.

Extensive Variety of Boat Products

Boat owners who want to keep their craft in tip-top condition have access to an extensive variety of marine cleaning and maintenance products that make sprucing up chores a mite easier.

From abrasives for scouring to waxes for protection and shine, manufacturers produce a long list of cleaners, compounds, polishes, preservatives and "touch up" kits especially produced for the boatman.

There are cleaning compounds for painted and varnish surfaces, teak, metal boat bottoms, carburetors and bilges. Special cleaners and polishes also are made for chromium, fiberglass, vinyl, shields and wood hulls.

Protective coatings are available for wood and metal, along with polyester, epoxy and plastic surfacing compounds. Rust-proofing and rust removing elements also are on the market.

Although it wasn't produced commercially until the late 19th Century, aluminum today is the second most widely used metal in the world.

Annual Foe Stands Ready to Attack

Just below the surface of the soil, lying dormant, is an annual enemy of a homeowner's lawn . . crab grass seeds.

One crab grass plant can grow to a three-foot diameter and spread as many as 25,000 seeds in a season.

Even in well-kept neighborhoods thousands of crab grass seeds may lie dormant in the soil and emerge years later when the right combination of temperature and moisture occurs.

Agriculture scientists have told of crab grass seeds found in Egyptian tombs which have sprouted thousands of years later.

As any homeowner knows, the larger and older a crab grass plant becomes, the tougher it gets and the harder it is to eradicate.

Grownup crab grass can be killed, of course . . . laboriously, by pulling and chopping, or repeated applications of powerful herbicides . . . but, by far the easiest way is to finish off this weed before it appears.

A pre-emergence crab grass killer kills crab grass before it has a chance to invade the lawn.

Scientists have developed a crab grass killer which kills other weeds such as barnyard grass, goosegrass, foxtail and dallis grass, to name a few, plus the number one enemy, crab grass.

This chemical has been blended with fertilizer to give grass the spring feeding it needs and an insecticide has been added to kill grubs and other damaging soil insects.

It makes sense to apply a triple action product to do several jobs at one time.

Preemergence crab grass killers may be applied any time now through the warm nights of early spring.

Not a Difficult Task

Fix Minor Furniture Woes

Table legs that wobble, chairs that creak, bed slats that fall out—these are all normal problems with furniture as it grows old.

Most of the time these are minor troubles, easily remedied. Repairing is always worth a try before rushing out to buy replacements.

It is important to make repairs early. One weak spot or break leads to others until the piece is beyond repair.

The most common failure in a piece of furniture is glue joints working loose.

★ ★ ★

You will notice that this sort of trouble occurs soonest in furniture too close to radiators and registers. Heat and moisture will weaken joints.

CLEAN SURFACE

Surfaces to be glued should be thoroughly cleaned of any old glue. The presence of any old glue will prevent the surfaces from adhering properly.

Sand the surfaces and coat each lightly with a thin coat of glue made for holding wood. An excess of glue will only weaken the joint.

Pressure must be applied to the joint until it is thoroughly dry. If ordinary clamps are too awkward to use, try wrapping the gled joint with string.

★ ★ ★

Insert a piece of scrap wood under the string and twist it, tourniquet-like, to exert maximum pressure.

If clamping will not work, then use bricks, blocks, books or similar objects to apply weight and pressure.

A chair rung that is loose on one side need not be pulled free from the other. Clean and reglue the weak end only.

Where sanding is difficult, remove the old glue with vinegar.

The rung may have worn or shrunk so that the fit is now too loose to hold. Increase the size of it so that the fit is tight.

Slitting the end and inserting a wood wedge is one way. A coat of glue followed by a winding of thread is another.

You can purchase metal fasteners for such a situation. They fit on one side of the rung, have metal barbs so that they cannot pull loose.

★ ★ ★

Joints in old furniture can be made considerably stronger by using angle irons or wooden wedges. These can be inserted in corners on the underside of tables and chairs.

A bracing block can be made from a scrap of wood. Use a triangular piece with a 90-degree angle fitting in the corner.

Glue and secure with wood screws, long enough to enter the furniture but not so long they will go through.

★ ★ ★

A chair rung may break off at the narrow end where it enters the leg. Drill a hole in the end of the rung and in the piece that remains in the leg.

BIG ENOUGH

This should be just big enough to accept a piece of dowel. Cut to length, glue and insert.

Beds that are old or have been taken apart and reassembled frequently to move around can develop trouble.

If slats fall, the small rails on which they rest may not be secure. Additional screws will remedy this. The slats may be too short. Cut longer ones.

★ ★ ★

Make them a quarter-inch less than the distance between the rails.

Drawers that stick can be damaged if forced. Rub edges with paraffin.

Do not plane edges if the sticking is during warm, humid weather. The sticking is due to the swelling of the wood.

★ ★ ★

A light bulb burning inside the drawer will dry out the wood.

Keep the drawer partially open and do not rest the bulb on the wood.

During the winter, if the parifin does not work, sand or plane the edges slightly, then seal with shellac.

Don't Save Gas

Stop! Don't save that extra outboard fuel until next spring. Stored fuel loses its "high end." What's left is usually hard, and sometimes impossible to ignite. Gas evaporates faster than oil, he points out, and this oil-rich mixture will cause excessive smoking and foul plugs faster even if it does start next spring.

Washable Block for Kitchen Ceiling

A washable ceiling block, designed especially for troublesome kitchens and bathrooms, can be installed without muss by the home handyman.

These 16" square blocks, which are highly-resistant to heat and moisture, can be put up right over old, cracked ceilings.

The expresison "in a beeline" means the same thing as "as the crow flies," for when a bee is carrying honey, he flies just as a crow flies, straight to his destination.

Control Moisture Before Installing Wall Paneling

In basement paneling projects, the wise home owner will take preliminary steps to control moisture.

In that way, he can avoid later disappointments due to the excessively high humidity conditions existing particularly in the summer months.

For maximum use of the area and protection against damage to clothing, furniture and other items, excessive dampness should always be eliminated.

Waterproofing and insulating exterior walls and the installation of dehumidifying equipment are effective steps which should be taken prior to the application of any paneling product in below-grade areas.

Since all wood products, including hardboard, have variable moisture contents, depending on their environment, they will tend to change slightlv in dimension during fluctuations in humidity.

★ ★ ★

In hardboard panels, such movement is slight, considerably less than that of wood across the grain, and it is uniform in all surface directions.

Specific conditioning methods, when required, should follow the recommendations included with the panels.

In masonry wall installations, above or below grade, use a vapor barrier such as polyethylene film or aluminum foil over framing members before the application of the paneling.

MODIFIED CONTEMPORARY—This ranch, definitely contemporary in style, has sufficient modifications to permit its construction in any neighborhood without creating a jarring note. Vertical patterns, stained dark, with light trim and roof, are complimented by stone adjacent to front door.

Individuality Marks Contemporary Plan

Most of us like some individuality in the makeup of our homes. We want at least one thing which is a bit unusual and which borders on innovation without being radically different.

★ ★ ★

This is best accomplished in the layout itself, since it permits an exterior that harmonizes with other houses in the neighborhood.

Architect Herman H. York has carried out this idea in an attractive ranch of modified contemporary style, with several interesting features not visible from the front yet sure to produce compliments from those visiting the house for the first time.

One of the outstanding layout characteristics is at the rear, where there are two terraces — not merely two open areas next to each other, but a family terrace closed on three sides and a private terrace hedged in and accessible from the master bedroom suite.

★ ★ ★

A stone wall separates these two terraces, acoustically as well as physically.

KITCHEN

Another conversation-encouraging feature is the near-central location of the kitchen to make it the hub of all entertaining activity.

An eye-catching and practical addition to the kitchen is the large dinette area, with an exposed brick wall backed up to the family-room fireplace and with sliding glass doors leading to the family terrace.

Adjacent to these spaces are the laundry, lavatory, mud closet, pantry, broom closet and stairway down to the cellar.

★ ★ ★

An examination of the circulation pattern in the vicinity of the laundry shows how practical this layout is.

There is even a door to the family terrace, which means that the lavatory can be reached from any one of four locations: terrace, garage, kitchen or cellar.

The two-car garage is oversized, providing ample room for power equipment and general outdoor storage.

The plan indicates two fireplaces, one in the family room and one in the living room, but if budget restrictions mean the elimination of one, it probably would be more practical to retain the one in the family room.

L-SHAPED

The living room and dining room are in an L-shaped combination — 21' in one direction, 22'4" in the other.

The bedroom wing is screened from the living areas by the placement of the hall.

Before reaching this space, a decorative screen divider separates the foyer from the family room to protect that room from direct view.

★ ★ ★

The owners' bedroom boasts of its own dressing room with a large vanity table.

A walk-in clothes closet for "her" and a separate one for "him" round out the suite along with a private bathroom.

For bedroom No. 2, a walk-in closet serves as a noise buffer between the bedroom and bathroom, which has compartment spaces for tub and water closet.

★ ★ ★

There are windows in both bathrooms and the service lavatory. The walls of the bedroom hall, as well as the master bedroom, are wood paneled.

Outside, vertical patterns are used for the side walls, with an accent of stone at the living room.

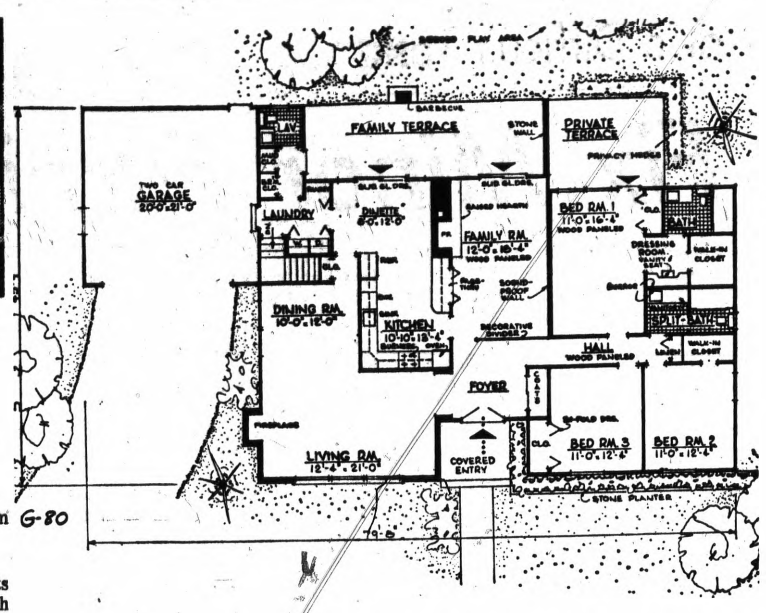
★ ★ ★

The oversized wood louvers in the peaks of all gables are part of the architectural style, designed to keep the detail in scale and to turn what is often an unattractive utilitarian necessity into a decided asset.

The double front doors contribute to the elegance of the house, as do the large electric lamps flanking the entrance.

G-80 STATISTICS

Design G-80 has a living room, dining room, kitchen-dinette, family room, foyer, laundry, three bedrooms, 2½ baths and two terraces, with a total area of 1968 square feet. There are 441 additional square feet comprising the garage area, which is set back more than 22' from the front of the house. Over-all dimensions, including the garage and the two terraces, are 79'8" by 43'9".



FLOOR PLANS — Architect Herman H. York has included here all the features necessary for gracious living in this day and age, plus several that are unusual. One of these is the alignment of two terraces at the rear of the house, with a stone wall separating them.

Home Building Recovery Expected to Be Gradual

BY JOHN PIERSON
United Press International

Don't look for any sudden recovery in homebuilding this year.

The Johnson administration's policy is designed to produce a very gradual increase in new construction during the first half.

The industry won't be gaining much momentum before the second half of the year, according to administration plans.

As President Johnson put it in his economic report, the government hopes to have housing "moving smartly forward by the end of 1967, and ready for one of its best years in 1968."

★ ★ ★

Johnson has proposed a tax increase, designed partly to get the Federal Reserve Board to ease its monetary policy even more than it has in recent months.

"FULLY CONFIDENT"

The President said he was "fully confident" that if Congress agrees to raise taxes, the FED will agree to provide more money and to reduce interest rates.

Administration economists estimate that tight money cost the construction industry $8 billion in 1966 — equivalent to a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes—but all concentrated on one industry.

Now with interest rates on treasury bills and other money market securities falling, money is flowing back into savings and loan associations. The December inflow at S-and-L exceeded the outflow by some $1.8 billion.

★ ★ ★

But S-and-L's will want to rebuild their liquidity before they start lending much of this new money out for homebuilding.

And there's always a delay between the time mortgage money is committed and construction starts.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Federal Nation Mortgage Association expect to be pumping additional funds into housing this year.

★ ★ ★

But again there'll be a lag between funding and construction.

All of this adds up, as Johnson implied, to a gradually accelerating housing industry in 1967.

If all goes well — if congress raises taxes and if the Federal Reserve Board eases money — then homebuilding should be in good shape by year-end.

Even so, Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers estimates that residential construction outlays this year will fall $1 billion short of 1966. Which just shows how deep a pit housing has to climb out of.

Plastic Finish on Hardboard

Perforated hardboard which has a washable plastic finish, is available in a wide variety of colors and patterns.

It is ideal for fixtures, displays, doors, feature panels, room dividers, closet lining, walls, and many other uses.

'Big Three' Set Course for Builders

Affluence, youth and women are the "Big Three" of the nation's housing industry. They are the elements most carefully weighed by builders who tailor their homes to meet consumer demands.

Builders are taking a greater interest in market research that pinpoints who prospective buyers are and what they want. This is so because today's sophisticated buyer won't settle for just a roof over his or her head.

★ ★ ★

Today's builders are acutely aware that about half the population is under 25 years of age. They also have discovered that when one partner of a marriage team is the home-buying decision maker, it is more frequently the woman than the man.

★ ★ ★

At a recent building products exposition it was noted that most of the products stressed design and were geared to women and the youth market.

Domestic ceramic tile has more than quadrupled its offerings of special colors, designs and shapes in the last few years.

In homes this stress upon giving the conventional a new appeal is resulting in some new terminology.

One builder believes in glamorizing names of rooms. His homes' kitchens are called "homemakers' havens" and "goody making" centers. Bathrooms become "beautility niches," a closet may be called a "storemore," and the master bedroom is likedly to be labeled "alone at last."

Meadow Mice Destruction Appears

By JODY HEADLEE
Garden Editor, Pontiac Press

It was a long, hard winter and the country mice and the city mice were as busy tunneling through the drifts of snow as their suburban and urban landlords were shoveling it.

And now that those mounds of white are disappearing, the grim results of the tunnelers' trips are being discovered.

Shrubs and trees have been nibbled, chewed and, in some cases girdled (a complete ring of the bark gnawed off).

To try and save girdled specimens, wrap the injury as soon as it is found to keep the wood from drying out.

★ ★ ★

When the warm weather approaches, shave the edges of the girdle so that the healing tissue may grow more freely. Cover the wound with grafting-wax and bind with cloth.

TREATMENT CAN SAVE

Trees completely girdled for a distance of three to four inches have been saved by this treatment, providing the injury does not penetrate the wood.

The water from the roots rises through the soft wood and not between the bark and the wood as many commonly suppose.

When this sap water reaches the foliage, the chlorophyll or green matter in the leaf reacts with the sunlight turning the mineral salts of the sap into food.

★ ★ ★

The plant food flows back through the inner layers of bark and will generally heal over the wound if the wood has not been allowed to dry.

In meadow mice infestations, however, the old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is doubly true.

Periodically through the late summer and winter, check for tell-tale runways (shallow lanes in the sod).

★ ★ ★

The number of runways, abundance of small mouse holes and mouse droppings indicate the severity of your infestation.

CONTROL NOT EASY

To affect a control is not easy and will require patience, time and some expense.

Generally, one well-planned mouse control program in late fall will give protection to your plantings for the duration of the winter.

A mid-winter or spring program might be necessary if a check indicates that the mice invasion is still in effect.

★ ★ ★

Good garden housekeeping helps destroy mouse cover. Keep high grasses mowed or use chemicals that inhibit grass growth which will not harm tree and shrub plantings. Clean up the resultant hay from the mowings as soon as possible.

Wire netting "mouse guards" have proved practical in reducing damage to orchards, tree nurseries and residential areas.

The netting, consisting of ¼-inch mesh hardware cloth, should encircle the base of fruit or ornamental trees and should be set 3-4 inches in the ground at the base of the tree trunks. When extended 3-4 feet above ground level, the netting serves as an effective prevention for rabbit damage also.

After the initial labor and material costs, the mouse guards provide protection for several years with little or no maintenance expense and they cut down on the number of inspections needed.

You can also try trapping as a safe and practical way to eliminate meadow mice from residential sites of three acres or less.

The traps should be set 5-10 feet apart in places where runways indicate mouse concentrations. They should be placed in empty milk cartons, tin cans or similar discarded containers set at right angles next to runway.

★ ★ ★

The containers will protect the bait from rain and snow and keep birds from getting into the traps.

Tempting baits include peanut butter, oatmeal, small slices of apple, sweet potato or carrot. Cheese is a highly overrated bait, according to Charles Shick of the fisheries and wildlife department, Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan State University.

The traps should be reset twice daily in the same general location until you cease capturing the culprits.

★ ★ ★

Repellents and poisons are also effective in controlling a mouse infestation.

COMMERCIAL POISON

A rodenticide containing 63 per cent zinc phosphide is available commercially. It is a mixture of zinc phosphide and magnesium carbonate or similar material.

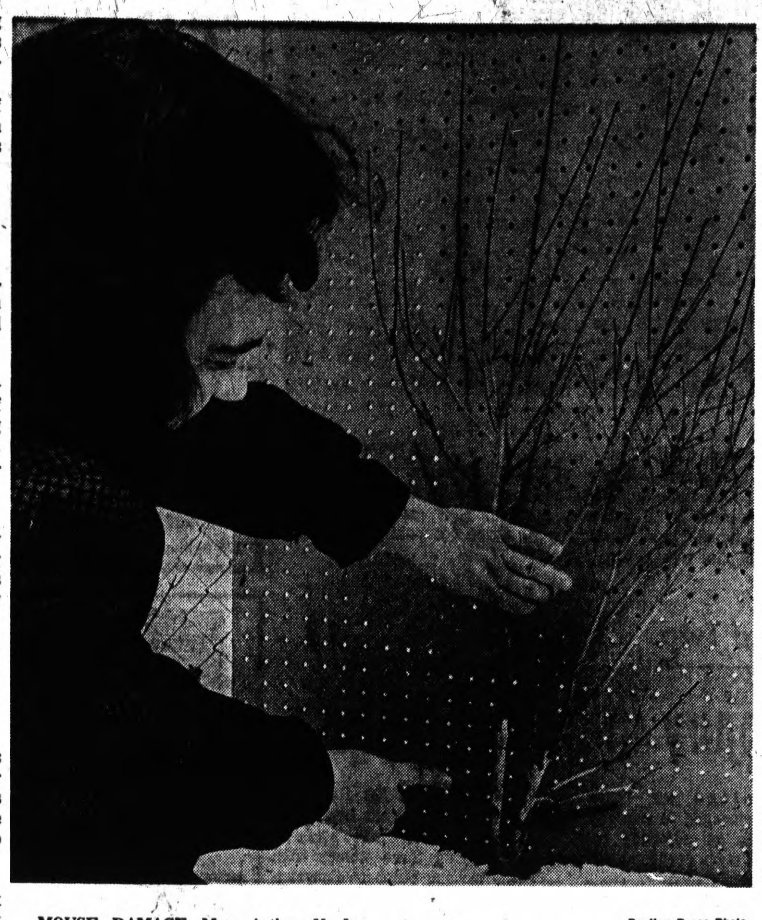
Small amounts of the poison on bait will cut down considerably if not eliminate entirely the damage done by mice in orchards and Christmas tree or forest plantations.

Since the rodenticide is poisonous to all forms of animal life, extreme caution must be exercised in its use.

★ ★ ★

- Do not place it on any areas where it would prove a hazard to humans or beneficial animals.
- Do not inhale its fumes.
- Use rubber gloves to mix and distribute the bait.
- Do not smoke while mixing the poison with the bait. This will prevent the toxic chemical from being carried to the mouth.
- Do wash hands, gloves and utensils thoroughly after mixing bait.
- Store properly labelled zinc phosphide rodenticide and treated baits in a safe, dry and ventilated place — away from the investigative hands of children.

For further information on the control of meadow mice consult the Cooperative Extension Service Bulletin E-430 available at the Oakland County Extension Office, 155 N. Saginaw.



MOUSE DAMAGE—Mrs. Arthur N. LaFave of 765 Fourth points to shrub wounds that she discovered when the winter snow began to melt. The injuries were caused by nibbling meadow mice. An arrow marks the girdled shoot where the mice gnawed off a complete ring of the bark.

Orchid Society Presents Annual Show in Ypsilanti

The annual Michigan Orchid Society orchid show is to be held at Norton's Greenhouse in Ypsilanti, today and Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Show hours today are from noon-6 p.m. and tomorrow 10 a.m.-6 p.m. There is no charge for admission.

The location is the north side of Washtenaw Road (M-17) on the western edge of Ypsilanti.

On display will be orchids of all sizes and shapes along with arrangements and corsages. Members will be displaying plants and flowers grown on windowsills, basements under lights, and greenhouses.

★ ★ ★

This annual show provides for public showing the largest exhibit of orchids shown in Michigan. Commercial growers of orchids also will exhibit.

MEMBERS HOST

Members of the Michigan Orchid Society will be on hand both days to act as hosts and answer questions on orchids and their future.

Orchids are truly international, covering the whole face of the globe from the Arctic to the Antarctic. While the largest number of species are tropical or sub-tropical, they can be found growing natively in any country in the world.

Over 15,000 individual species of orchids have been classified with new discoveries every year.

★ ★ ★

Flowers vary in size, shape and color. Every color of the rainbow is represented with the possible exception of black, although several dark browns and deep purples approach even black.

Flowers differ in size. Some are so small that they may only be enjoyed with the use of a magnifying glass. Some are as large as dinner plates. Numbers per stem vary from one to a stem or racemes of several hundred flowers.

Interesting, beautiful and bizarre flowers seldom or never seen at the florists can be viewed. Flowers imitating bees, butterflies, birds and other insects or animals will be shown.

Among the strangest will be the Catasetums which throw their pollen several feet when trigger in the lip is touched. Golden dancing dolls, white moths, swans and doves all will be represented in flowers.

★ ★ ★

Plants from a few inches high to several feet will be displayed. Several hundred square feet of space will be devoted to orchid exhibits in the Norton's display greenhouse.

Silver trophies will be awarded to exhibitors for exceptional exhibits and individual plants. Last year a brilliant red orchid, which was awarded best of show at the annual show, went on to win several awards at the International Orchid Show at Los Angeles, California.

The year, members of the society will be competing in 10, 25 and 100 square foot exhibits for awards. Outstanding exhibits and plants will receive silver pieces as awards which have been donated by Orchid Society members.

★ ★ ★

Judging for awards will be made prior to opening to the public. Literature on growing orchids will be available at the show.

Humid Area Needs Fan

Too much moisture can shorten the life of your painted walls.

Prevent moisture damage in crucial areas such as kitchens, bathrooms, and laundry rooms.

★ ★ ★

Murphy Bed Goes Modern

The old Murphy bed has gone modern.

Motorized beds, that raise and lower at the touch of a switch, are being built into paneled walls.

The beds have a paneled underside so they appear to be a part of the wall when closed.

Damp Ground Damages Tires

The tires on your boat trailer will deteriorate rapidly if left standing on concrete or damp ground during the winter.

Even trailers stored in your garage should be protected. The tires can pick up excess oil. Put your trailer on blocks with the tires touching the surface slightly.

When boating in strange waters, make certain you have the proper charts.

Never anchor or fish in designated navigation channels — you may get clobbered and fined.

Expert Tips on Painting Exteriors

Time was when families were more concerned with decorating the interiors of their homes than the exteriors.

Modern families know, however, that a pleasing outside gives visitors a warm welcome.

Today's painters use interesting combinations and contrasts to perk up a house and give it personality.

If you are a do-it-yourselfer, here are some tips from the professionals to help you give a dull-looking house real sparkle.

★ ★ ★

Choose a color that suits the architectural style of your house as well as its location and landscaping.

COLONIAL HOMES

Colonial homes are especially impressive when painted in dignified colors like colonial cream or ivory.

Ranch styles look better in rich, earthen shades like maple tone.

Remember that masonry exteriors need a latex paint, while wooden homes can be painted with either latex or oil-based paints.

After you've applied the basic color to your house, consider other ways to make it lively.

Emphasize unusual features like dormer windows or shutters by painting them to contrast with the roof and siding.

For instance, a wooden house painted with a silvery gray — could have its shutters painted to contrast with charcoal gray or sash black.

★ ★ ★

Any house can look longer and larger if you use a white or light shade of paint. If you want that same house to look smaller, paint the siding a dark color.

Avoid, however, giving your house a split personality by "cutting it up" with too many bright colors.

For example, a large chimney on a low, rambling house can become too prominent if the colors clash, experts caution.

Whether you want it to appear spacious or cozy, stately or lively, it's easy to perk up your house and give it new personality with a bucketful of paint.

Heater Extends Cabin Comfort

You'll be able to enjoy your cabin or cottage earlier in spring and later in autumn with the installation of a gas space heater.

Using natural or LP-gas, these efficient heaters come in several styles, from console models to ceramic gas logs that set into your fireplace.

MORE HOSE! — Pontiac Fireman Carl Widdis shouts for more line from his second-story perch on a burning home. One firefighter, Robert Oakley, was overcome by smoke and required hospital treatment in the blaze that broke out about 3:30 p.m. yesterday at 258 N. Saginaw. Flames were brought under control in about two hours, but were not completely extinguished until about 11 p.m. Seven occupants escaped injury.

Fires in City, Oxford Twp.

10 Escape Injury in Pair of Blazes

Seven residents of a Pontiac home and three elderly women escaped injury late yesterday when separate fires broke out in the city and at an Oxford Township nursing home.

Four engines and an aerial unit directed by Asst. Pontiac Fire Chief J. Lee Nye responded to a blaze which erupted about 3:30 p.m. at 258 N. Saginaw.

Although flames completely gutted the house and threatened to ride high winds into an adjoining residence, all seven occupants were evacuated safely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Noel, two of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Brady Hendrick and a mother-in-law got out safely.

Firemen said Hendrick was forced to drop one of the children from a low roof and then jump to the ground himself when trapped by flames.

'POSSIBLE EXPLOSION'

Mrs. Hendrick told firemen she discovered flames in the living room after hearing what "might have been" an explosion.

Fire officials said cause was not yet established and said damages to the home were still being tallied.

Fifteen - degree temperatures froze water lines during the blaze, hampering firemen and forcing a nearly eight-hour battle before flames were extinguished.

Fireman Robert Oakley, overcome by smoke in the early stages of the fire, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Oxford Police Sgt. Ray Westphal and Patrolman Leo Misner were credited with safely evacuating three women from the burning Stephens Convalescent Home, 2566 Metamora.

Flames erupted about 3 p.m. on the second floor of the building and brought fire fighters from Oxford, Addison, Orion, Brandon, Metamora and Hadley townships.

Quick work was cited in bringing the blaze under control in less than half an hour and limiting damage to the second floor and roof of the home.

Ambulances transferred the three bed-ridden patients to a nearby convalescent home.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined and damages are still being estimated.

Buick, Dodge Recalls Begun

DETROIT (UPI) — Recall campaigns were announced yesterday by Buick Motor Division for nearly 6,000 cars and by Chrysler Corp. for over 200 Dodge trucks.

Both campaigns involved possible brake defects in the vehicles.

The recall campaigns were reported to the National Safety Agency under requirements of the Traffic Safety Act of 1966.

Both companies advised owners of the vehicles to return them to dealers for corrections.

Buick said 5,870 LeSabre and Wildcat 1967 models equipped with manual "nonpower" brakes are involved.

LOSS OF POWER

There is a possibility that a driver could manually pull the brake pedal upward to disconnect the brake assembly and cause a probable loss of braking power, the company said.

Chrysler said 209 Dodge model P300 and P375 forward control trucks has an adaptor plate assembly for the dual master cylinder brakes which does not meet Chrysler specifications.

2 Pontiac Men in Hospital After Auto Crack-Up

Louis Mastro is the occupant of the home which is owned by Randall Seater of 2415 Columbia, Berkley.

"Ridiculous," Says Club Spokesman

Lions' Draft Choice Farr Sporting $1 Million Price Tag

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $1 million price tag has been placed on All-America halfback Mel Farr of UCLA, who earlier this week was drafted by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

James R. (Jim) Dawson, president of Athletic Business Consultants, an agency created two years ago to negotiate contracts and other business matters for professional football athletes, quoted the figure at a news conference Friday at a midtown hotel.

★ ★ ★

Dawson also said the day is near when more and more professional football players will complete their two year options and become free agents.

He predicted an increase in players acting as their own agents and rookies taking the advice of professional counselors.

Dawson also put a $1 million price tag on another client, Don Shy of San Diego State, a draft choice of the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers.

Then he included Dave Williams of Washington, an NFL St. Louis Cardinals draftee in the same category.

KNOWS BUSINESS

Dawson, a former UCLA star as a football lineman and captain of the late Coach Red Sanders' 1957 and final team, knows his business.

He was personnel director for the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League until 1963.

He says he quit the job with Oakland, after signing numerour athletes, when he decided clubs were signing naive athletes with unjust contracts.

"Under the right circumstances $1 million is not unrealistic," said Dawson, adding that the funds would cover an as yet undetermined period of time.

Reaction to the controversial announcement was swift.

Detroit business manager Lyall Smith said the figure was ridiculous.

He added, "We know Farr is a fine back. We haven't talked money. . .but it won't be $1 million.

NOT ONE

"No one ever got a million dollars, even while the recruiting war was on between the NFL and the AFL," he said.

Dan Rooney, vice president of the Pittsburgh Steelers, said his club would not negotiate with anyone other than Shy.

The owners of the Cardinals, the Bidwell Brothers, said they would not comment on the report at this time.

★ ★ ★

Also present when Dawson spoke Friday was another client, Bruce Gossett of the Rams, who led the National League in placekicking.

Efforts are being made to renegotiate his contract, Dawson said. It has one year remaining. Dawson said the Rams won't talk with him.

Indians, Pershing Duel for 'A' Crown

Flint Central Must Find Way to Thwart Star

6-8 Center Haywood Sparks Doughboys Past Detroit CC

EYING THE BALL — Kalamazoo's Tom Monroe (21) eyes the flight of a loose ball during a Class A semifinal game against Flint Central last night at Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing. Monroe lost the ball and Kalamazoo was ousted 65-53.

LANSING (AP) — Flint Central's Indians are out to scalp the Doughboys of Detroit Pershing tonight. But the question is: can they reach Pershing's 6-foot-8 star Spencer Haywood?

Central and Pershing tangle for the state Class A high school basketball title at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse tonight. Neither team has won a state basketball championship before.

A mob of 15,432 fans watched in amazement Friday night as the towering Haywood rebounded tenaciously, blocked numerous shots and scored 35 points in leading the Doughboys to an 84-78 semifinal victory over a good Detroit Catholic Central team.

Flint Central had little trouble in disposing of Kalamazoo Central's Maroon Giants 65-53 in the nightcap. But Kalamazoo had no one in its lineup to compare with the amazing Haywood.

DUNK SHOT

The 220-pound Doughboy center hit a fantastic 14 of 16 floor shots and seven of 10 free throws, capping his brilliant performance with a dazzling two-hand dunk shot at the final buzzer.

The Shamrocks, led by guard Nick Ferri who netted 31 points, stayed within four or five points of Pershing most of the way. But every time Catholic Central closed the gap, Haywood would score a clutch basket.

Pershing led 40-36 at the half. The Shamrocks battled back to take a 42-40 lead early in the third quarter on a three-point play by reserve Greg Marx and a basket by Ferri.

★ ★ ★

The advantage lasted only seconds, however, as Haywood scored a basket, and Pershing guard Marv Lane added another to put the Doughboys ahead to stay, 44-42.

Ralph Simpson, the other half of Pershing's one-two scoring punch, hit 10 straight points to give the Doughboys a 64-52 advantage early in the fourth quarter.

Flint Central raced to a 17-6 lead and never trailed in eliminating Kalamazoo Central, which has won five previous state titles.

ZONE PRESS

The Indian's tight zone press defense kept the ball away from Kalamazoo Ace Sam Simmons, limiting the rangy center to 14 points, five after the intermission.

Forced to shoot from outside, the Maroon Giants were paced by guard Tom Monroe who scored 22 points and led all scorers.

Hustling Rookie Ball Players Help Lower Clubs in Spring

By United Press International

One of the best things about the exhibition baseball season is that the lesser-talented teams very often get a chance to see how the other half lives.

While the pennant contenders are slowly getting their personnel in shape for the season, the other clubs are filled with hustling young players who are going all out to prove they warrant a chance to stay in the big leagues.

★ ★ ★

This hustle pays off in many spring exhibition victories for these also-rans and while it gives very little indication of how they will do in the regular season, it does build a ray of hope for the future for the fans at home.

The most notable "surprises" thus far along the exhibition circuit have been the New York Mets, the Chicago Cubs and the Washington Senators, all of whom are destined for second division placement this season.

The Mets, who finished ninth in the National League last year, scored their fourth victory of the spring season Friday when they turned back the world champion Baltimore Orioles 5-3 on Ed Kranepool's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning.

The Cubs, who finished last in the senior circuit in 1966, thumped the Cleveland Indians 9-3 for their sixth victory in seven games as they racked the Tribe pitching for 11 hits.

BIG INNING

A five-run sixth inning highlighted by John Boccabella's two-run pinch single paved the way for the victory and enabled the Cubs to take over first place in the Cactus League standings.

The Senators finished eighth in the American League last season but scored their fifth victory of the spring exhibition campaign with a 3-2 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

Southpaw Pete Richert drove in two runs for Washington with a second inning double and the Senators pushed across the winning run in the sixth on a walk, an infield hit by Hank Allen and an error by shortstop Denis Menke.

The Cincinnati Reds, another second division club in the National League last year, won their fifth game of the spring by turning back the Boston Red Sox 7-5 on Lee May's two-run, two-out homer in the ninth inning.

Mike Shannon remembered that Friday was St. Patrick's Day and celebrated by banging out two singles and a double to pace the St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

WELL COVERED — Leslie's Rodney McMichael (14) and Charles Lay (20) have the ball well covered as they haul in a rebound against Detroit All Saints in their semi-final Class C game last night in Lansing. Losing out in this rebound battle are All Saints' Stan Grayson (33) and George Garza (41). All Saints won, 60-51.

Mickey Lolich Getting 'Big Jump' on Curves

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tigers pitcher Mickey Lolich says he is two weeks ahead of his pitching performances last year.

Lolich gave up one home run to Tommy Agee Friday as the Tigers walloped the White Sox 7-3 in exhibition baseball. But Lolich allowed no other men to reach base in his three innings on the mound.

★ ★ ★

"I'm easily two weeks ahead of where I was a year ago," Lolich said. "My curve was almost too good today.

"Last year I held back and didn't start throwing it until two weeks into spring training. It never did come around the way I wanted it. This year I started throwing curves the first day and never quit."

Jim Northrup and Ray Oyler led the Tiger assault on Chicago. Northrup smashed a three-run homer off White Sox pitcher Gary Peters and Oyler hit a homer.

★ ★ ★

The first all-East final in 18 years developed Friday night when Fred Bassi fired two goals to lead BU to a 4-2 victory over Michigan State in the semifinals.

Cornell, which defeated BU for the Eastern College Athletic Association championship, 4-3, a week ago, moved to the final on a 1-0 victory over North Dakota Thursday night.

Earlier in the season, BU and Cornell had tied 3-3.

WINNING RUN—The umpire gave out a safe sign on this sixth-inning play yesterday as Washington Senators' Frank Howard comes across with what turned out to be the winning run in the Senators' 3-2 decision over the Atlanta Braves at West Palm Beach, Fla. Missing the tag on the close play is catcher Gene Oliver. Howard waulked, and moved around on a single, error and a fielder5s choice.

Menominee vs. Willow Run

'B' Finalists Win Squeakers

EAST LANSING (AP) — One basket by Menominee and a single point by Willow Run were the razor-thin edges that gave the two Class B rivals the right to face each other in the state high school basketball finals today.

Menominee, the first team to fly in for the championships, probably will start a rage for air travel among the prepsters.

Arriving fresh and rested, the Maroons started off to an early lead and overcame Lansing O'Rafferty 70 - 68, on home grounds in the Friday night semifinals.

★ ★ ★

Willow Run scraped into the finals by an even closer margin, 77-76 over defending champion Grand Rapids East Christian.

John Thomas pumped in 35 points for the Flyers on 13 buckets and nine of 17 from the free throw line.

APPLIED PRESSURE

Thomas, a slight 5-foot-8, collected 20 of his points in a hectic third period. The Grand Rapids Panthers had a five-point lead with two minutes to go but Willow Run put on a press and Thomas applied the pressure, hitting three field goals in the last minute of play.

The B championship was today's finals opener, at 11:30 a.m.

Mike Funnell performed the heroics to put Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart into the Class C finals against Detroit All Saints.

Funnell, high for the Irish with 19 points, must have suddenly remembered it was St. Patrick's Day.

★ ★ ★

Wakefield was leading 55-51 with three minutes to go when Mike got his Irish up. Funnell scored one basket, added a free throw and won the game 56-55 with eight seconds remaining on a 12-foot jumper.

This left Sacred Heart with a 22-1 record.

All Saints went marching in to the Class C finals by walking over Leslie 60-51.

The Saints enjoyed a lead all the way. Leslie closed to within five points in the third period for the only second-half threat by the Blackhawks.

TEAM BALANCE

The Saints won on team balance. Stan Grayson, their highest scorer, had only 13 points. Rod McMichael led the losers with 18. The Detroit finalists are 24-2. Leslie was knocked out with a 23-1 record.

★ ★ ★

Would you believe four overtimes?

The Bulldogs of Ewen had to hang in that long to win their way over Adrian Catholic and into the Class D finals against Flint St. Matthew.

The score was knotted at 57-all at the end of regulation play. Keeping it a cliff-hanger, the Class D opponents scored four each in the first overtime, two each in the second and went scoreless in the third.

★ ★ ★

Ewen hit eight points in the final overtime against two for the Adrian Catholic Irish to win 71-65 and keep a team in the tourney from the far western end of the Upper Peninsula.

Ewen takes a 21-1 record into the finals. The Irish went out with a 20-2 mark.

Flint St. Matthew, now 22-0, outclassed Freesoil 81-67 to win the other Class D final berth.

John Sperla was a tiger for the Panthers with his 33 points.

Local Quintets in State Action

State Parks and Recreation Association tournament basketball for local teams will begin Monday night at Livonia.

Drayton Drugs, pace-setter in the Waterford Township men's American League, will play Ann Arbor at 9 p.m. at Stevenson High School.

Mike Miley coaches the drugmen who are entered in the Class A competition.

Tourney play for Pontiac will begin Easter weekend in Flint. The city's representative will be determined next week in a playoff between Booth Homes and the Amigo Celts.

The city recreation office has announced a correction in its International League playoff schedule. Coulacos Insurance will play Country Chef at 7 p.m. Monday at Kennedy JHS instead of Tuesday as previously announced.

Dan Sikes Makes Run at Victory

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hometowner Dan Sikes was charging after his first tournament title in two years going into today's third round of the Jacksonville Open and Arnold Palmer wasn't even in the running.

Palmer tied for 74th after two rounds of the $100,000 tournament and that wasn't good enough to keep 1967's leading money winner in contention.

★ ★ ★

The four-time Masters champion, who needs only $252 to become the first winner of $800,000 at golf, missed the qualifying cut for the final 36 holes by one stroke and blamed a balky putter for his 75-73—148 on the first two rounds at the Deerwood Club course.

"I didn't play well — I guess that's about it," Palmer said Friday after failing to make the cut in a tournament for the first time since the 1965 U.S. Open.

"It was my putting. If I had been putting well, I would have been around 140."

Southern Methodist Surprises Louisville Five

By the Associated Press

Charles Beasley tipped the ball half the length of the court to Denny Holman for a layup with four seconds left to give 83-81 victory over Louisville.

It was the upset of upsets in the NCAA national championship college basketball tournament Friday night.

In addition to the stunning defeat of Louisville's nationally second-ranked Cardinals, Houston upset third-ranked Kansas 66-53; Dayton surprised eighth-ranked Tennessee 53-52; ninth-ranked Boston College upset St. John's of New York 63-62; University of Pacific surprised No. 10 Texas Western; the defending NCAA champion, 72-63; fourth-ranked North Carolina had to go overtime to beat fifth-ranked Princeton 78-70 and Virginia Tech upset Indiana 79-70.

Only the unbeaten UCLA Bruins, the country's No. 1 team, had an easy time as the NCAA field was cut to eight quarter-finalists. The Bruins made it 27 in a row by crushing Wyoming 109-60.

Lew Alcindor, the Player of the Year, led UCLA with 29 points although playing only part of the game.

FOUR FINALS

The results set up these four regional finals tonight to determine the teams which will go to Louisville, Ky., next weekend for the championship windup of the tourney:

East at College Park, Md. — North Carolina, 25-4, vs. Boston College, 21-2. Mideast at Evanston, Ill. — Dayton, 23-5, vs. Virginia Tech, 20-6. Midwest at Lawrence, Kan. — Houston, 25-3, vs. Southern Methodist, 20-5. Far West at Corvallis, Ore. — UCLA, 27-0, vs. Pacific, 24-3.

Princeton, 24-3, plays St. John's, 23-4; Tennessee, 21-6, meets Indiana, 17-8; Louisville, 23-4, tangles with Kansas, 22-4; and Texas Western, 21-6, battles Wyoming, 15-13, in the four regional consolations.

Beasley's tap to Holman capped a Southern Methodist rally that wiped out an eight-point Louisville lead in the closing minutes. With the score tied at 81-81 a jump ball was called near the Louisville goal between the 6-foot-5 Beasley and 6-foot-3 Fred Holden of the Cardinals.

Beasley got the jump for his long tap and Holman went in for the layup that spoiled the Cardinals' dream of meeting UCLA in the championship final.

The winning basket gave Holman high scoring honors with 30 points. In addition he made five steals and handed out several assists. Holden topped Louisville with 23 points.

Don Chaney, with 20 points, and Elvin Hayes, with 19, combined for 39 points for Houston, but a bank shot by Gary Grider for his only basket of the game was the key play in the Cougars' upset of Kansas. The two-pointer gave Houston a 57-51 lead with five minutes left.

Tennessee erased a 13-point Dayton lead, but the Flyers rallied to upset the Vols on free throws by Bob Hooper, Dan Sadlier and Glinder Torain in the last 24 seconds to break a 50-50 tie. Ron Widby, high scorer of the game with 20 points, got a Tennessee basket unmolested in the last second.

Glen Coms' 29 points paced Virginia Tech over Indiana including five baskets in a 12-point spurt that gave the Gobblers a 68-57 lead with less than five minutes left.

The Winston-Salem, N.C. State Rams won the NCAA small college national championship by defeating Southwest Missouri State 77-74 in the final at Evansville, Ind.

★ ★ ★

Earl Monroe tossed in 40 points for the Rams and was voted the outstanding player of the tourney. Kentucky Wesleyan routed Illinois State 112-73 for third place.

Oklahoma Baptist, the defending champion, beat Central Washington 78-68 and St. Benedict's of Kansas edged Morris Harvey of West Virginia 73-70 in the semifinals of the NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

Oklahoma Baptist and St. Benedicts play tonight for the championship.

Talks of More Bouts

Champ Clay Still Swinging

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cassius Clay has taken the draft board's best punch — an April 11 induction notice — and out swinging once again.

★ ★ ★

The heavyweight champion, who appeared headed for a certain showdown with Uncle Sam after being ordered to appear for his induction, rolled with the punch Friday by announcing that he thinks he will be a civilian long enought to defend his title three times in the next four months.

Clay's next heavyweight title defense will be Wednesday at Madison Square Garden against 34-year-old Zora Folley. The champion said he thinks he will meet Argentine Oscar Bonavena in Tokyo May 27 if he gets by Folley.

"I believe I got a chance for three more fights in the next four months," said the 25-year-old Clay. "They might have to be out of the country though."

The champion denied that he might leave the country to avoid the draft, however.

"Everybody wants to come to America," said Clay. "What do I want to leave for?"

TURNED DOWN

The Louisville draft board that has jurisdiction over Clay's case has announced that he has exhausted his appeals. He was turned down on his claim as a conscientious objector on the grounds that he is a minister in the Black Muslim sect, which says it is a pacifist group.

★ ★ ★

After learning the board's decision, Clay said, "Anybody who wants to see the greatest heavyweight champion in history fight, better come watch me against Folley."

But he became optimistic again after discussing the situation with an unnamed advisor.

"I learned I might have four more months," he said. "I won't say why, but I talked it over with someone."

Speculation has been mounting over whether Clay, who prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, would decide to go into the Army or instead go to prison for his beliefs.

Marx Library to Be Preserved

LONDON (AP) — London's Karl Marx Memorial Library is to be preserved as a historical monument despite objections from citizen's groups.

The run-down, 230-year-old building at Clerkenwell Green has been saved through a preservation order confirmed by the Ministry of Housing and Local Government.

'EYESORE'

Local groups felt the building was an eyesore that could be torn down and the site turned into a park and playground.

Marx worked in the building that houses many of his original writings. Lenin worked there for a time. The building also has been used as headquarters of radical political groups.

'Col.' Martha Briefs Medics Headed for Vietnam Action

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Martha Raye, or "Colonel Maggie" as they call her in the Special Forces, was playing hostess and check-grabber in Sardi's to four GI medics soon to fly to Vietnam . . . and was clearly trying to give them some good cheer.

WILSON

"With all the rapes and murders in the States, I feel a lot safer over there than I do here," the Honorary Colonel said. Martha laughed softly and began worrying about their drinks and their steak sandwiches. One boy had a vodka and pernod. Colonel Maggie took her butter knife and stirred his drink.

★ ★ ★

"You're really going back?" Pfc. Nick Lalumia of Dallas, now in the 5th Medical Hospital Evacuation unit, said.

"Sure am. Either Oct. 4 or 11. I promised Gen. Westmoreland." Martha paused to sign an autograph for somebody who'd just seen her in "Hello, Dolly!"

"She's in the Army, same as we are, a scrub nurse, same as we are!" one of the GIs said. "She's too much."

"Yeah, that's how I spend about half my time, scrub nursing in the field hospitals," Martha said. "But I did all my basic, intelligence, language, radio, guerilla combat, parachuting. I did my rifle when I first went in back in '39."

"You jumped in a parachute?" I asked.

"You only had to jump five times. I didn't jump — they pushed me!" She looked at the boys who laughed.

"How did you happen to go in in '39, when we weren't in the war yet?"

"There were a lot of our boys in the R.A.F.," Martha said. "You remember '39, fellas?" she said to the boys — the oldest of whom probably hadn't been born till at least 5 years later.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

His March 21 appearance at Philharmonic Hall will mark the 50th anniversary of Fred Waring & the Pennsylvanians . . . Anita Bryant had to turn down the White House performance of "Guys & Dolls" (March 18) because NBC wouldn't release her from cohosting the Junior Miss Pageant.

VP Is Truly a Happy Warrior

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — A Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus gave a special show here this week for 6,000 underprivileged children and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

WEST

It was a great performance, particularly by Humphrey. His unflagging cheeriness, in circumstances that the average man might regard as a bit adverse, is wonderous to behold.

I was so impressed I sat down and wrote a book about it. I call it "Circus Horatius." All characters, living or dead or breathing hard, are purely coincidental.

Chapter I

Dick and Jane are very excited. They can hardly wait for school to be out.

Can you guess where Dick and Jane are going after school. They are going to the circus.

Chapter II

The circus sounds like fun. There will be lions and tigers and elephants and a Veep.

Dick and Jane have never seen a circus. They have never seen a Veep either.

★ ★ ★

What does a Veep look like? Does it have a long neck and a striped back?

Chapter III

Look, Jane, look! There is the Veep! He is coming in the main entrance.

There is a big crowd around him. He is being jostled along.

The Veep is smiling. Why is he smiling? Does he like being jostled? Come, Jane. Let us run jostle the Veep.

Chapter IV

Look Dick, look! The Veep is now in the center ring. He is surrounded by cameramen. They are taking his picture.

He shakes hand with two clowns. He shakes the trunk of a baby elephant. He shakes the ears of a small donkey. Then he does it again and again.

Why does he do things three times. He is still smiling.

Chapter V

Oh, see the Veep! He is sitting down near Dick and Jane. He has children all around him. Some are climbing into his lap. They are sticking cotton candy into his face. Come, Jane.

Come, Dick. Here is some cotton candy. Run climb upon the Veep's knees. See how he smiles?

Chapter VI

The circus is about to begin. See the pretty horse? It is a trained horse. It can do funny tricks.

★ ★ ★

The horse is kicking beach balls with his hind feet. He is kicking them into the grandstand. The Veep is trying to catch them. He is smiling.

Chapter VII

It is very warm inside a circus. It is very noisy, too.

★ ★ ★

Goodbye, Jane. Goodbye, Dick. Goodbye, Veep. I'm getting the hell out of here.

'Kennedy Plot' Suspect Ordered to Stand Trial

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A three-judge panel ruled in a preliminary hearing yesterday that wealthy retired business leader Clay L. Shaw should become the first man to stand trial concerning the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In ordering the trial for Shaw on a charge of conspiracy to murder the president, Judge Bernard J. Bagert said at the conclusion of the four-day hearing, "This court finds sufficient evidence has been presented to establish probable cause that a crime has been committed."

The ruling came on Shaw's 54th birthday.

The decision was a first-round victory for gun-toting Jim Garrison, this town's 6-foot-6 district attorney.

Garrison startled the world a month ago with a statement that he had "solved" the Kennedy assassination, would make arrests, and would obtain convictions.

Garrison, unorthodox and controversial in his five years as district attorney, took an unusual step in asking for the preliminary hearing — a tactic usually resorted to by defense lawyers.

The next step:

"I will file a bill of information," Garrison drawled to newsmen shortly after the panel announced its unanimous decision.

He would not say when the action would be taken.

Arraignment and trial come afterward. No dates were set.

"The district attorney selects the date and time a person will be tried," said Judge Bagert, who had asked two of his fellow Criminal District Court judges to sit with him at the preliminary hearing because of its importance.

"The state has six years to prove this case," said defense attorney William Wegmann, in his impassioned plea to the court to throw out the charges.

Threats Claimed in Milk Holdout

DETROIT (AP) — Charges that some of its milk drivers have been intimidated were leveled yesterday by the Michigan Milk Producers Association against the National Farmers Organization which is engaged in a milk holdout.

★ ★ ★

The association said some of its 8,539 members and drivers of milk tank trucks have been threatened.

The NFO strike, called Wednesday night in 25 states, is aimed at boosting milk prices.

The NFO is seeking an additional dollar for each 100 pounds of milk, or two cents per quart. Farmers now receive $5.50 per 100 pounds.

★ ★ ★

It "doesn't seem to be working and new tactics are being employed," said an association spokesman.

'WE'RE WORRIED'

Association members are sending their milk to market, the spokesman said, adding, "We are worried that things could get out of hand."

The milk picture throughout the state did not appear as dim as the NFO painted it yesterday.

The Farr View Dairy in Muskegon reported that five of 120 farmers supplying milk withheld their supplies Thursday, but two of them came back yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The Frige Brothers Cheese Corp. plant at Carney in the Upper Peninsula said six farmers out of 270 withheld deliveries, causing about a 3 per cent decline in milk volume.

ONE-THIRD WITHHELD

The Consolidate Dairies Co. of Bessemer reported about one-third of its normal supply withheld.

FUN AND GAMES — California Gov. Ronald Reagan tries flipping a jelly bean into his mouth — he missed — at a reception held for Republican governors last night in Washington. Someone presented Reagan with a jar of jelly beans because he keeps a supply of them around his desk in Sacramento.

LBJ Heads for Guam Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson embarks tonight on his second trans-Pacific journey in five months — striving once more to emphasize his dedication to the works of peace in Vietnam.

High administration officials insisted they expect no major military decisions to emerge from Johnson's two days of talks in Guam — about 8,250 miles from Washington.

They said the big question instead would be how to advance the political, social and economic development of sections of South Vietnam wrested from Communist control.

There has been considerable speculation that Johnson might use the occasion of his Guam visit to elevate Gen. William C. Westmoreland to full commander of all American forces in Southeast Asia. But officials said they do not expect such a development.

They also said they don't think Westmoreland would choose this occasion to ask for more troops. But they said that was a matter for the general to decide.

AROUND MIDNIGHT

The White House said Johnson hoped to take off on his 18-hour, one-stop flight to Guam around midnight after spending all day and evening courting the nation's governors.

Perhaps for security reasons there was no word on whether Johnson's big jet would make a refueling stop in Alaska or Hawaii.

Moreover, nothing was being said here about where Johnson would be quartered on Guam, which is little more than an American military bastion.

The President will meet with top American civilian and military leaders based in Vietnam and with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and many of the other generals making up the military junta that holds power in Saigon.

TOP ADVISERS

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara also will be on hand.

★ ★ ★

Any policy decisions announced after the session, officials here indicated, likely would deal with changes in the Vietnam "pacification" effort — the attempt to claim ground from the Communists and make a start toward enlisting the interest of the inhabitants in elemental democracy.

★ ★ ★

One official said the Guam meeting has taken on special importance because of the impending replacement of Ambasador Henry Cabot Lodge by Ellsworth Bunker, 72-year-old diplomatic troubleshooter.

Child Safe; Caught Nine Hours in Well

VOTAW, Tex. (AP) — Tiny Theresa Fregia was lifted to safety in a bold, precision-like rescue early today, eight hours and 55 minutes after she tumbled 28 feet into an abandoned water well.

The 2-year-old girl was sobbing and smeared with red clay as rescue worker Ransom Bill of Houston brought her from the chilly depths of the narrow well at 2:25 a.m.

A loud cheer went up from more than 300 workmen who had labored for hours to save the child.

Theresa was placed on a stretcher, put in an ambulance and rushed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Beaumont.

★ ★ ★

Darlene Wolf, nursing supervisor of the emergency room, said the girl appeared to be "in good condition when she was brought in. There were a few abrasions of her tummy."

EXAMINATION SET

She said Theresa would undergo a complete examination by a pediatrician.

A giant drilling rig from Houston reached the scene in this small south east Texas town at 1 a.m. and workers began sinking a parallel shaft next to the 10-inch diameter well in which she was trapped.

The massive machine bored a hole 30 inches across. When its head reached a level slightly below that of the girl, Bill was lowered by rope at 2:20 a.m.

He called for a shovel and a sledge hammer and chiseled through the old concrete wall casing of the well.

The bottom of the rescue shaft was oozing with water.

"Theresa, stay still: Don't move:" neighbors and relatives shouted to the girl at that point.

"I said, "Honey, I'm going to pull now," Bill said. "She threw her little arms around me and said something. I think she said 'Daddy,'" Bill related.

★ ★ ★

Then he yelled up to be pulled out by the rope.

The brown-eyed, brown-haired child was heard to cry "I'm cold, I'm cold. I want my mommy" last night as the force of more than 300 men strove frantically to save her.

Theresa's grandmother, Opal Allemange, said the girl fell into the well about 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Lt. Danny Brock of the Harris County Houston Rescue Unit peered down the well using a powerful light at 1:10 a.m.

"I couldn't see her moving," he said.

Political Career of Dodd Hangs in the Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political career and reputation of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd hang in the balance as the Senate ethics committee secretly weighs accusations of financial wrongdoing against him.

The committee's public probe of Dodd — the first Senate proceeding of its kind since the McCarthy era — ended yesterday with the Connecticut Democrat saying, "My conscience is clear."

Emotionally but quietly, the white-haired Dodd told the committee: "I don't believe any man is going to look me in the eye and say I've done wrong."

On that note the committee adjourned after five days of taking testimony that dealt primarily with allegations that Dodd used contributions to his political campaigns for personal expenses.

★ ★ ★

An earlier round of hearings last summer explored his relationship with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, a registered agent for West German business interests.

SEVERAL TRIPS

Dodd is accused of making several trips to Germany to help Klein retain clients there.

The ethics committee, composed of three Democrats and three Republicans, may meet next week but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said it will be "some weeks, at least" before it reports its findings and recommendations to the Senate.

A wide range of possibilities is open. It could find Dodd had done nothing improper, or it could recommend a reprimand, censure, or expulsion from the Senate.

★ ★ ★

It also could call for action against him by the Justice Department.

DOUGLAS H. HOARD

Welfare Director for County Named

Appointment of Douglas H. Hoard as director of the Oakland County and state welfare units, whose merger becomes effective Sunday, was announced yesterday at a meeting of the welfare committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Hoard's elevation from director of the county welfare unit to head of the merged departments was specified in a letter from R. Bernard Huston, director of the State Department of Social Services.

An attorney, Hoard, 57, of 1158 W. Maple, Birmingham, was named assistant director of the County Department of Social Welfare four years ago after retiring as a U.S. Navy officer.

He became director of the county welfare unit last September when George H. Williams resigned to take an administrative post in a hospital.

Hoard's salary as county welfare director was $15,000 per year.

SALARY INCREASE

Beginning tomorrow when he becomes director of the Oakland County Department of Social Services, the official designation of the agency formed by the merged departments, his salary will be $15,409.

Merger of the departments has long been a discussion topic. It was approved by the board of supervisors last Sept. 19.

Couple, Son to Face Trial

Charged in Alleged Murder-for-Hire Plot

A Livonia couple and their 25-year-old son were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on conspiracy to commit murder charges.

Appearing before Farmington Township Justice Byron D. Walter for preliminary examination yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna and their son, Jules.

No Circuit Court arraignment date was immediately set.

The Sornas are charged in an alleged murder-for-hire plot against a woman witness in a pending armed robbery case against the son.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Sorna were released from custody after posting $15,000 personal bond. Jules Sorna is in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

HOLDUP CASE

The holdup occurred last Nov. 21 at Paul and Vic's Market, 28734 Grand River, Farmington Township. Taken was $35.

The Sornas allegedly plotted to pay $700 to have witness Mrs. Victoria Gogates of Detroit killed before she could testify in the younger Sorna's March 31 pretrial examination on the armed robbery count.

An unidentified man, who said he was offered the $700 to commit the crime, informed police of the scheme earlier this week.

Teachers Ask Raise Averaging $1,700

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) has demanded pay raises averaging $1,700 a year for Detroit's 10,500 public school teachers.

The union asked the Board of Education for a salary schedule ranging from $7,500 for a starting teacher to $11,500 after 10 years service. The present range is $5,800 to $10,000.

Other demands included a reduction in the school year to 38 weeks from 40 weeks and a class maximum of 30 students from the average of 34.

'Want to Avoid Civil Strife'

Powell Cancels Return to NY

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell has canceled his plan to go to New York Sunday, but he says reluctance to trigger civil commotion, not fear of arrest, led him to remain in voluntary exile.

"I want to go back but not if it means violence and bloodshed, and my people tell me it would mean violence and bloodshed," Powell told newsmen Friday.

★ ★ ★

An aide said Powell, 59, probably would stay on Bimini, his fishing and relaxing spot off the Florida coast, at least until April 4 when a court hearing in Washington is set on the Harlem preacher-politician's suit to regain the congressional seat he held for 22 years before the House excluded him.

In New York a sheriff has a warrant for Powell's arrest on a criminal contempt charge stemming from a libel suit he lost. Powell, who could get up to 10 months in jail, has said that if he is arrested "the people in Harlem" would not let him lie in jail.

SITUATION TENSE

Negro leaders there told Powell that the situation in Harlem was tense after he announced he would walk New York streets Palm Sunday.

Former Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack said in New York he was glad Powell decided to avert possible bloodshed.

But Dan Watts, editor of Liberator, said, "Adam has copped out."

"I must divorce myself from all further and future efforts on behalf of Mr. Powell," said the Rev. A. Kendall Smith, chairman of Harlem Citizens for Community Action.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. David Licorish, associate pastor at Powell's church, said extremist elements sought a Powell-sheriff confrontation because "they want terror. But the people of this church don't want rowdyism."

OCC Overpayment 'Costs' Students

God, flag, motherhood and kids working their ways through college — with these American institutions you do not tamper.

And you don't make mistakes when you're paying the last of these, Oakland Community College is learning.

"We need this money for tuition, books and transportation to further our education," the OCC student assistants moaned in a recent statement.

The college agrees and couldn't be sorrier — but it's keeping its purse strings tightly drawn.

★ ★ ★

"It's kind of sad," says OCC Community Relations Director Mitchell Tendler as he tells of the students' ordeal, which he claims was caused by "gremlins."

WRONG IDEA

What happened is that "someone, somewhere, somehow" got the idea that a new twist in the federal Fair Labor Standards Practices Act applied to the 180 students who work for the college.

So in their paychecks of Feb. 17, their wages for a two-week period were based on $1.40 an hour, rather than $1.25.

No sooner had the checks gone out than the mistake was discovered.

★ ★ ★

The new minimum wage law did not apply to OCC students. Their pay was recalculated and the excess amount taken out of their next checks.

FUROR STARTS

It totaled about $700.

Students were advised of the error and told they could complain to their supervisors.

"That's when the furor started," Tendler said. "It's extremely unfortunate."

★ ★ ★

If the college had let the students keep the money, it would have been guilty of administrative sloppiness for which it could be taken to task, he noted.

COLLEGE ERROR

The students, on the other hand, don't feel they should have had to reimburse the college for its error.

★ ★ ★

"We as working college students question both the legality and the morality of Oakland Community College," they said.

The college apologized.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow and snow flurries are forecast tonight in the lower lakes region and the northern Rockies. Rain and showers are predicted for southern Texas, northern California and the southern Rockies. Cold temperatures will continue in the eastern third of the nation.

Head Named for Merged Welfare Unit

The move is expected to save Oakland County upwards of $100,000 in welfare costs this year.

March 19 was set as a target date for the merger several months ago even though the date falls on a Sunday.

NEW PAY PERIOD

It marks the beginning of a new pay period for state employes and the 62 county welfare workers will then be on the state payroll. The state welfare department serving Oakland County has 114 employes.

Hoard said that the merger procedure is "purely on paper" at this point and that no changes in the physical characteristics of the welfare operation will be evident.

"Blending the tasks of the county and state units together will be a gradual process," he added.

★ ★ ★

The responsibility of the county department has been general relief assistance, medical care and hospitalization.

STATE PROGRAMS

The state unit, formerly called the Bureau of Social Aid, has administered such programs as Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind and Medical Care for the Aged.

County employes will receive a pay boost averaging about 3 per cent under the merger.

The board of supervisors last year agreed on a supplemental salary appropriation for 1967 to maintain existing salaries of county employes who fell below the state pay schedule as a result of the merger.

★ ★ ★

A total of $1,700 will be needed because 10 county workers will enter the merger above the state scale.

★ ★ ★

Appointment of a deputy director for the merged departments was not announced by Huston. Miss Ora Hinckley has been serving as director of the state agency in Oakland County.

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Coast Guard inquiry into the tragic sinking of the ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell will resume Tuesday. The Morrell sank Nov. 29 in a Lake Huron gale with the loss of 28 lives. Only one man survived, deck watchman Dennis J. Hale. The hearing Tuesday will read into the record results of the investigations of scuba divers over the past six weeks.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — An Italian butcher at a St. Louis supermarket described the Irish today as "just pure gold." He said that during the week of St. Patrick's Day, sales of corned beef zoomed. "In an ordinary week we sell from 700 to 1,000 pounds of corned beef. So far this week we've sold over 32,000 pounds," the butcher said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Construction spending in February was $71.7 billion, up $600 million from January, the Commerce Department reports. Residential construction, the largest single component, also increased. Despite a drop in housing starts, spending on nonfarm homes was at a rate of $21.2 billion in February, compared to $20.7 billion in January and $20.5 billion in December.

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Police are considering using television cameras to watch beaches for objectionable activities. This shoreline city has many secluded coves and the cost of patroling them is estimated at $42,000 a year. Police Chief Harry Labrow said yesterday that closed-circuit TV cameras would enable one man at the station to keep tabs on what's going on. Two manufacturers are making a cost study, the chief said.

FLENSBURG, Germany (AP) — Three Lutheran clergymen apparently have won their war against a war memorial inside their church. The church council voted yesterday to remove the bulky World War I memorial from the entrance hall of St. Marion church. The pastors maintain that such memorials have no place in a church.

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Police today are searching for the bandit who grabbed $50 from deliveryman Larry Johnson last night. They know one thing for sure. He won't be hungry. The young bandit also grabbed the chicken dinners Johnson was about to deliver.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson plans to treat 35 Latin American ambassadors and their wives to a Texas barbecue at his LBJ Ranch prior to the Latin American summit meeting next month. The White House said yesterday the ranch festivities would take place the weekend of March 30-April 2. The two-way summit, which Johnson plans to attend will begin April 12 in Punta del Este, Uruguay.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) —Arnold Lovick seldom misses his early morning swim in his back-yard pool. However, he had to forego it yesterday. Lovick said he found a large deer frolicking in the water. He called the Humane Society for assistance, then went back to see if his guest was still swimming. Lovick watched in amazement as the young buck clambered out, shook himself like a dog and plunged in again. But before the animal-catcher arrived, the deer left the pool, walked casually through the neighborhood and back into the nearby foothills.

Anderson to Get in Gear for Cycle Problem Study

A state representative from Oakland County won't be joining Hell's Angels, but he will become part of the "in crowd" to do research in developing new motorcycle legislation.

★ ★ ★

LOREN ANDERSON

"I'll go to their hill climbs and races and generally take part in their programs," explained Loren D. Anderson.

The Waterford Township Republican was appointed yesterday by Quincy Hoffman, chairman of the House Public Safety Committee, to head a subcommittee set up to draft new laws pertaining to the two-wheeled vehicles.

Anderson is not unfamiliar with the problems before him.

★ ★ ★

He was a motorcycle policeman during the four years he was with the Pontiac Police Department, 1946-49.

'UNINFORMED'

"The operators themselves are completely uninformed about the pitfalls of riding a motorcycle," Anderson said.

"Unless something is done now," he said, "all we can do is sit back and watch the fatality list grow."

Anderson said that his three-member subcommittee will conduct hearings in Lansing, and that he would personally take part in motorcycle group activities.

★ ★ ★

"The people will help write their own program," said Anderson.

Any legislation offered by Anderson's committee would have to wait until next January to be introduced since the deadline has passed for new measures this year.

Local Boy Is Struck by Car Near Home

A Pontiac boy is listed in serious condition at Pontiac General Hospital after being struck by a car near his home late yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Kelvin L. Prater, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Prater of 238 E. Pike, suffered head and other injuries in the accident, according to Pontiac police.

★ ★ ★

Police said the boy was hit near the intersection of East Pike and Paddock about 3:35 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Driver of the car, Frederick C. Berden, 41, of 91½ Tebeau, Pontiac Township, told police the boy ran suddenly from the curb in front of him.

2 Home Fires in Waterford Start in Sofas

Two separate house fires originating in sofas were extinguished by Waterford Township firemen last night and early today.

Damage was estimated at $1,500—$1,000 to the building and $500 to contents — in a fire last night at the Carl Linkswiler home 3339 Pirrin.

Firemen said the fire was caused by faulty electrical wiring which ignited a sofa.

A $500 fire at the Keith Nealis home, 921 Daffodil, broke out shortly before 4 this morning.

★ ★ ★

Firemen said the fire was caused by a cigarette. The fire was confined to the living room.

Almost 200 taxpayers had lodged appeals through Thursday. The total is expected to rise above the 350 mark following next Wednesday's session.

Draft Makes Hamilton 1A

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor George Hamilton was reclassified 1A by his New York draft board yesterday after voluntarily reporting for a review of his draft status.

He said he had been classified 3A because he was the sole support of his mother. The change in classification apparently did not come as a surprise to the 27-year-old performer.

"If the board reclassifies me 1A, as they indicated," Hamilton said, "I'll go whenever and wherever my country sends me."

Lent is a time for reappraisal and rededication of one's life for the salvation of his soul.

Lent is a time to put aside the pursuit of materialistic gain and worldly pleasure.

Lent is a time for humbleness before God and a realization of one's unworthiness.

Lent is a time to share the beneficence of God with others and make one's unselfishness a daily habit.

Lent is a time for glory, love, happiness and forgiveness when one realizes that he leaves nothing upon this earth that is incorruptible except his good deeds and their reflection in the hearts of men.

Milburn Stone Happy in Role

'Doc' Glad 'Gunsmoke' Saved

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For its stars, the reinstatement of "Gunsmoke" was "like coming off condemned row with a full pardon," says Milburn Stone.

Stone, 62, born 80 miles from the story's locale, Dodge City, Kan., has played its sympathetic, crusty Doc Adams since the Western series came to television 12 years ago, with several years on radio.

When CBS announced Feb. 21 that the show had been canceled for next fall, said Stone: "Amanda (Blake, who plays Kitty) came unglued, crying so they couldn't keep makeup on her. Jim (Arness, who's Marshal Dillon) was stunned. All I could say was 'Well, I'll be d--d'."

Stone, a handsome, younger-looking man without his makeup as Doc, got his first real haircut in 12 years, figuring he wouldn't need his shaggy hair any longer.

"It'll grow out enough by the time we start shooting again," he predicted after the series was reinstated March 7.

CBS said cancellation had caused a "surprise reaction of press and our affiliated stations."

★ ★ ★

"There was an avalanche of angry, sorrowful mail," said Stone. "People sent me 25 or 30 newspaper columns, all in violent protest. One columnist wrote, 'Gunsmoke is dead. Long live the reruns.' A resolution was introduced in the Kansas State Legislature."

Stone's role as Doc Adams, in which he said he's perfectly happy to continue, climaxes a 45-year acting career that included some 150 movies.

IN VAUDEVILLE

Traveling tent productions attracted him to show business in his native Burrton, Kan., where his father, a first cousin of the late Fred Stone of vaudeville and theatrical fame, was a grain dealer. A song and dance vaudeville act and Broadway plays preceded Milburn's arrival in Hollywood.

Stone patterns the ear-tugging, chin-rubbing character of Doc Adams after his paternal grandfather.

★ ★ ★

The protests that followed temporary cancellation of the series "give you a warm feeling," he said. "Almost make you want to run for senator or something."

Really, though, he has no such ambitions. He'll just go on playing Doc Adams for at least another year.

Morpheus, the Greek god of dreams, was depicted by artists as a sleeping child surrounded by his favorite flowers, poppies, which induce dreams.

Court Ties Up Railroad's Infractions

Responsive to growing resentment of the Grand Trunk Railroad's continued disregard of legal restrictions on blocking street crossings, Municipal Judge CECIL McCALLUM fined the company a total of $500 for five violations of the City ordinance limiting such blocking to five minutes.

McCALLUM

The amount assessed is within $80 of all similar fines paid by the railroad since 1955.

McCallum commented that he thought the carrier was overdoing operational efficiency by unduly increasing the length of its trains and that "it should not be permitted to buy efficiency at public expense."

Until such time as a long-range solution to the vexatious problem of street-level rail crossings is evolved, the public interest demands that no judicial favoritism be shown the railroad when it operates trains in disregard of local ordinances.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS commends Judge McCALLUM on his forthright action in bringing the Grand Trunk to book.

Board of Supervisors Faces Reapportionment

Under the "one man, one vote" principle of governmental representation decreed by the U.S. Supreme Court, counties are faced with reapportionment of their boards of supervisors.

Working against a May 15 deadline, the Oakland County Reapportionment Committee has evolved a tentative plan that would establish some 25 supervisor districts embracing the County's 24 townships.

★ ★ ★

The districting pattern would be drawn on the basis of population equality for each district — approximately 28,000 — and eliminate the existing disparity in township representation. As an example, Waterford (the largest) with 55,000 population and Groveland (the smallest) with 3,000 each have one supervisor on the County board.

Under the present system, however, municipalities, in addition to one elective supervisor, have power to appoint more, based on both county and municipal population formulas.

It all adds up to an 87-member board which, under the State law passed last year, would be cut to 25 —or one supervisor for each of the new districts.

There is much good to be said for the reshuffle of supervisors, and a little bad.

The good resides in equality of representation between heavily and sparsely populated communities, and the numerical reduction of the county board to a more cohesive and hopefully better qualified body.

★ ★ ★

On the negative side is the method of appointing the reapportionment committee. The law prescribes that the authority be vested in a county's three top officials and the county chairmen of its two major political parties.

Thus, the makeup of the commission can easily reflect the political color of such officials, with possibility of political motivation in drawing the geographical boundaries of supervisor districts.

We think that the law, written by a Democratic legislature, should be amended to provide for a bipartisan commission, thereby eliminating much of the risk of partisan gerrymandering, with possible court appeal.

Medical Researchers Soft on Fluoridation

A quiet report by a Harvard University medical research team may do more for the cause of fluoridation than all the noisy public meetings that have been held in communities around the Country.

It suggests that fluoride may be of as much benefit to oldsters' bones and hearts as it is to youngsters' teeth.

★ ★ ★

In a comparative study of people living in areas of North Dakota where high concentrations of fluoride occur naturally in the water and people in other sections with low levels, the doctors found evidence that fluoride helps prevent two disorders that are common among people past middle age.

One is osteoporosis, a bone-softening disease. The other is calcification of the aorta, which is associated with hardening of the arteries.

★ ★ ★

If further research supports this early finding about the bone-hardening benefits of fluoride, it will put antifluoridationists in somewhat of a quandary—especially those who have argued that fluoridation is a Communist plot to soften up America.

Critical Days Will Follow War

By JAMES MARLOW
(AP) News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Critical days for the United States come after the shooting stops.

No doubt many Americans would want the United States to pull out of Vietman altogether after the fighting. It can hardly afford to and isn't likely to.

MARLOW

This country is now helping the South Vietnamese, who have had practically no experience in democracy, to set up a constitutional government.

They won't learn overnight. The country has strong factions. Many of the Vietcong will choose to remain in South Vietnam when peace is restored.

★ ★ ★

If the United States withdraws in a hurry, one of several things will probably happen.

The new government will succeed, it will degenerate into a dictatorship, or under factional disputes will collapse into a chaos, making it possible for the Vietcong to take over, with or without guns.

Vietcong control in the end would make a bitter farce of all the American sacrifices in men, money and supplies.

President Johnson this week repeated one of the "basic objectives" for the American part in the war.

★ ★ ★

It is to give the world a concrete demonstration that aggression across international frontiers is no longer an acceptable means of political change."

WAR MEANING

Would-be aggressors of the future can take that to mean war with the United States if they try what the North Vietnamese Communists tried on South Vietnam.

But — if the United States pulls out of South Vietnam too quickly, and the Vietcong take over, two American reactions are predictable.

One is a feeling that all the American effort in Vietnam was in vain, the other is a reluctance to get involved in a similar episode anywhere.

★ ★ ★

Communism itself, if the South Vietnamese government collapsed from its own inadequacy or lack of American stand-by help, might conclude subversion, even though slower, would be better and less expensive than direct attack.

NO ACCIDENT

It is hardly an accident that the communique Johnson agreed to at the Manila conference last fall was vague on the American pull-out.

★ ★ ★

It said "when the aggression has stopped . . . the people of South Vietnam will ask their allies to remove their forces and evacuate their installations as the military and subversive forces of North Vietnam are withdrawn, infiltration ceases, and the level of violence thus subsides."

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

PALM SUNDAY

"And many spread their garments in the way: and others cut down branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way. And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord: Blessed be the kingdom of our father David, that cometh in the name of the Lord: Hosanna in the highest. And Jesus entered into Jerusalem . . ."

St. Mark 11, 8:11

Thus in a few short sentences St. Mark gives us a picture of the first Palm Sunday: Jesus triumphantly entering into Jerusalem but knowing full well the trial that was ahead of him. He was led and followed by the faithful.

How many would retain that faith in the week to come? Palm Sunday is not only a day of triumph but also a day of questioning and reevaluating. Is the power of our faith strong enough to withstand the shock of a personal betrayal, a personal Calvary? We see around us throughout the world many who have that power.

Confident Living:

Christ Has Secret of Happiness

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Palm Sunday, one of the most stirring days of the year, is a memorial to the first early triumph of Jesus Christ. On that day he entered the capital city of his people and was treated by those who loved him with the waving of palm branches and songs of praise.

DR. PEALE

The entire story of Jesus presents one of the most curious situations in the history of mankind. Here was a man who never traveled more than a hundred miles from his place of birth. He had no money or social positon.

He never wrote any document, never led an army, never held elective or appointive office. Yet today he is recognized as the supreme personality of all time and is held in admiration and love by countless millions of people.

There have been many notable episodes in the history of mankind: Caesar leading the legions of Rome home from the wars (captives chained to his chariot wheels); Napoleon returning in triumph to Paris after his stirring victories; the great parade of the Grand Army of the Republic following the Civil War; the signing of the peace treaty on the battleship Missouri.

These are all a part of our historic heritage. But no episode can equal in meaning or drama that simple itinerant preacher, astride a donkey, followed by a few fishermen, riding into the capital of his country to be greeted by multitudes waving palm branches and singing songs of praise.

Other great men and events fade from memory, but Jesus does not fade. And why? He built his kingdom on love and goodness — and possesses and teaches the most workable pattern for victorious living both for persons and society. Jesus has the power to lure out of every human being the greatness within.

★ ★ ★

In the words of an old hymn, "he speaks and listening to his voice, new life the dead receive." This does not mean the physically dead, but rather those who are dead while they live, and some are actually.

The reason Christ never fades from the life of men is that he has the true secret of living happily, triumphantly and meaningfully.

★ ★ ★

The Christian pattern for victorious living is never more important than when there seem to be deteriorating elements in human society. It can help all those who need help. It has the real answer to the real problems of men.

A man telephoned our church in New York and asked for our Director of Activities. He said he represented a certain organization and wanted to talk to young people of the church.

Our director checked and found that this particular organization had been cited by the Justice Department as a Communist front organization. His first impulse was to tell the man he would have no part of him.

But we try to use Christian strategy in the church for we believe we have something that is more than a match for any Communist. So an appointment was made for two of our active and knowledgeable young laymen to meet with this man.

They asked him if he was a Communist, but he was evasive. Then they asked what causes he was advocating and wanted to talk about with the young people.

He said non-discrimination, peace in the world, and better conditions for the under-privileged. Our young laymen affirmed that they, too, were for all that.

He said he was for playgrounds for poor kids in poverty sections of the city. Asked if he had ever built a playground he said no, he was just advocating the idea.

He was then informed that our young people had, with their own hands, built a playground in a poor section of Harlem; and that our church membership and activities included people of all races.

Finally this man admitted that he was a Communist and had approached many churches in the city and had a date to speak in one.

The discussion ended by our representatives saying: "We cannot cooperate with you in any way; but when you come to doubt what you are doing, or if you ever need a friend, come back and we'll be glad to be that friend to you."

★ ★ ★

The great principles underlying Jesus' teachings are, of course, love, brotherhood and humanity. Jesus Christ is the true friend of every man who wants a better life on this earth.

If his followers apply to all social problems the principles which he taught, Christian civilization will never be undermined by phony "lovers" of humanity. It is the spirit of Christ to help all those who need help. More true humanitarianism, improved conditions, greater justice derive from Jesus Christ than from any other source.

Readers Join Discussion on Firefighters

I go along with City Manager Warren as to our firefighters. We all know of the 24 hours on and 24 hours off duty, mostly doing nothing. I know of one firefighter who is trying to hold down three jobs so he must sleep somewhere.

K. GODFREY

In reply to City Manager Warren's answer concerning firefighters, the number of alarms answered each year is more than a few. Firefighters are away from their families 24 hours at a time, which eliminates the need for more men to work eight-hour shifts and saves the taxpayers money.

★ ★ ★

Firefighters have fought hard and spent many days off to get pay raises and other benefits by petitions. As for firefighters having a full night's sleep at the station every duty day, how relaxed can they sleep knowing that they must be alert at a second's notice to save lives and property? All these men ask is to be able to live on an income and hours equal to a skilled worker.

This year they denied me any tax relief. Their refusal seemed to stem from the fact that I had used the sum received on the farm sale to clear up standing debts and to make some necessary improvements on my home. China Army Take-Over Seen in 3 Provinces

HONG KONG (AP) — Mainland broadcasts claimed today the Red Chinese army has taken over farms and factories in three more southeastern provinces. If true, it means that Mao Tse-tung has established control of production at gunpoint over a vast area of southern China.

The reports reinforced the conviction among observers of China's bitter internal struggle that the 2.5 million-man army had become the principal instrument of Communist party Chairman Mao's "Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution," a purge of so-called reactionary elements in Chinese life.

It meant, too, that the army was achieving at least some success through force where Mao's militant civilian Red Guards and revolutionary rebels had failed, through political agitation, propagandizing and appeals for faithful adherence to Mao's thought, to win popular support for the purge.

The latest provinces in which Maoist troops were reported to have seized control of agricultural and industrial production are Anhwei and Kiangsi, which border coastal provinces, and Hupeh, further inland.

TAKEN OVER

Troops were reported Friday to have taken over in Chekiang Province on the coast south of Shanghai. Earlier in the week they were said to be in control in Kwangtung Province after a series of bloody clashes in the provincial capital, Canton, and in rural communities.

Other broadcasts have said the army moved in to restore production in Fukien, Hunan, Kwangsi and Kweichow provinces, where stubborn resistance had been reported to Mao's purge by followers of President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's major adversary.

★ ★ ★

The use of the army is a recent development in the purge, which began las August. Mao originally had counted on the teen-aged Red Guards and older supporters to carry it out, but they encountered widespread opposition.

★ ★ ★

Further evidence of Mao's turn to the military was the call Thursday for the 200-million-man militia to become more deeply involved in the purge. A Peking broadcast reporting the appeal said the cultural revolution was in a "critical stage."

LITTLE WORK

Reports reaching Hong Kong from travelers from China said the army, at least in Kwangtung Province, was doing little work in the factories and on the farms but that the troops were acting mainly as bosses.

★ ★ ★

The army was reported meeting resistance, both open and underground, from the workers and peasants. The Hong Kong New Life Evening Post quoted one arrival from Canton as saying that in Kwangtung Province "many workers and farmers were working at the point of a gun."

The newspaper carried fresh reports of bitter fighting in rural Kwangtung between army units and anti-Maoist militia. The outbreak reportedly was set off by army attempts to disarm the militiamen.

In another development, correspondents of the Japanese newspapers Yomiuri and Asahi reported from Peking the appearance of wall posters praising Premier Chou En-lai as Mao's "close friend and comrade."

★ ★ ★

The posters said that "anyone who opposed Premier Chou opposes the revolution," they reported.

The Japanese correspondents said the posters appeared aimed at countering Red Guard criticism of officials whom Chou has defended.

Doomed Pig Turns Tiger

SENDAI, Japan (UPI)—Tired of shaggy dog stories? Here's one about a perturbed pig.

The 250-pound hog rebelled yesterday just minutes before it was to become pork chops, bacon and ham at a local slaughterhouse.

It jumped a four-foot fence and went on a three-hour rampage, pursued by 10 policemen and 15 slaughterhouse workers.

Before being caught and hogtied, the porker:

—Knocked down farmer Choroku Sugai and bit him badly on the arm.

— Bit two slaugherhouse workers who tried to grab it.

—Bit farmer Tomoji Abe twice.

Mothers locked their children indoors as word of the pig's rampage spread through the farming community 60 miles north of Tokyo.

The hog finally was returned ot the slaughterhouse and promptly executed.

Prosecutor Office Seeks 6 Employes

Thomas E. Plunkett, Oakland County's chief assistant prosecutor, requested yesterday that the prosecutor's office be allowed six new employes in the county's 1968 budget.

Appearing before the personnel policies committee of the board of supervisors, Plunkett cited the rising work volume as the reason for needing more personnel.

Plunkett presented the department's request in the absence of Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson who is attending a national convention of prosecutors in Los Angeles.

Besides three new assistant prosecutors, Plunkett also asked that two additional stenographers and a typist be allowed in the 1968 salaries budget.

★ ★ ★

Also appearing before the committee yesterday was Clerk-Register of Deeds John D. Murphy who requested four new employes to meet an expanding volume of business.

OTHER DEPARTMENTS

Other departments heard from yesterday and the number of employes requested were Circuit Court, one; Circuit Court, probation Division three; the dog warden, three; friend of the court, seven and the telephone exchange, one.

★ ★ ★

The committee now has heard the anticipated personnel needs of all departments.

It will meet again Tuesday to prepare a preliminary 1968 salaries proposal which will be presented April 3 to the supervisors' ways and means committee.

LBJ Latin Plan Clears Hurdle

To Offer $1.5 Billion for Common Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bid for congressional support of his plan offering some $1.5 billion to help establish a Latin-American Common Market has cleared its first House hurdle.

With a boost from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the measure appeared on its way Friday to overcoming opposition in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

★ ★ ★

The House panel approved by a 24-3 vote a resolution saying Congress favored the aid program. But the committee — with administration approval — modified the original measure to emphasize that U.S. help will be forthcoming only if Latin-American nations first help themselves.

Although no specific amount was mentioned in the resolution, Johnson has spoken of the $1.5 billion figure as the amount he would like to see channeled to the 19 Latin-American countries.

EISENHOWER'S VIEWS

The Senate committee was told, meanwhile, that Eisenhower "strongly favors now, as he always has, a common market for Latin America."

Eisenhower's views were presented by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who said the former Republican chief executive had authorized him to present them.

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who has voiced objections to the resolution on grounds it would commit Congress to an unspecified future course, said after Friday's hearing he thinks it will win congressional approval.

★ ★ ★

Fulbright indicated that committee support for the measure was overwhelming.

Seemingly encouraged by the progress of the plan, the White House confirmed reports that Johnson will entertain 35 Latin-American ambassadors at his Texas ranch March 31-April 2 as a prelude to a hemispheric summit meeting.

★ ★ ★

Johnson is scheduled to meet April 12-14 with the 19 Latin-American chief executives at Punta del Este, Uruguay. They'll talk of plans for consolidating the nations into an economic bloc similar to the European Common Market.

$10.7 Million for Highways

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan's share of the $350 million in federal highway funds President Johnson released yesterday will be $10,767,000.

The amount was the seventh largest grant in a state-by-state breakdown.

★ ★ ★

California will receive the largest single amount, $31,212,000.

Allergies and You—12

Most Fearsome Pair

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Emphysema and asthma are the two most fearsome words in the dictionary of allergies.

The first is a long-term respiratory illness that reduces the efficiency of the lungs.

In the United States, with 1 to 10 million persons suffering from emphysema to some degree, it is about as prevalent as arthritis.

As many as 17,000 die as a result of it each year and this figure is climbing, current fatalities being seven times those of 10 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Stresses of the disease are hard on the heart and it may contribute to innumerable other deaths.

HITS HARD

It creates more invalids than does stroke or polio. Heart disease is the only cause of disability that outranks it.

President Johnson, in his recent message on air pollution legislation, said: "Emphysema forces more than a thousand workers into early retirement every month."

Progress of emphysema is insidious because the normal human has six times the lung capacity needed for breathing.

It may be 20 years before symptoms are apparent and then the shortness of breath may be blamed on middle age, giving more time for it to develop.

ADVANCEMENT

Diagnosis usually comes after the age of 50 when the damage is greatly advanced.

Asthma is far more visible when it occurs because it is marked by the breakdown of the mechanisms for cleansing the respiratory tract.

There is an abnormal production of mucus, bronchial tubes become inflamed and muscles that control the system can go into spasm.

Layer of Iron Found in Ocean

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — A layer of tiny iron-rich particles that strongly reflects sonar have been found in the Atlantic Ocean by scientists in the Optical Physics Division of the U.S. Naval Research Labratory.

The particles showed up in samples of deep ocean layers taken at Key West, Fla., and Block Island, R.I. X-ray fluorescence and electron probe analysis indicates the particles probably contain a hydrated iron oxide. They range in size from .01 to .1 micron; but their origin is a mystery.

Guam Redeemed by American Blood

By the Associated Press

Guam, site of President Johnson's conference on Vietnam, is a U.S. outpost redeemed by the blood of American troops.

The island, barely 30 miles long, lies in the same latitude as Guatemala. It is 5,804 miles west of San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

Giant B52 bombers use Guam as a base for raids in Vietnam, about 2,400 miles to the west. They take off from Andersen Air Force Base, a major installation in the northern part of the island.

B29s used Guam as a base for raids on Japan in World War II.

ARMED WITH MISSILES

U.S. submarines armed with nuclear missiles operate from Guam as a forward base.

Guam was discovered by Ferdinand Magellan, the Portuguese explorer, in 1521. Spain made the island a possession in 1561 and held it 337 years. The Spaniards had to subdue the Chamorros, a proud and warlike people who inhabited the island and whose bloodlines have become mixed with the Tagalogs of the Philippines, Spaniards and others down through the years.

★ ★ ★

U.S. naval forces captured Guam in the Spanish-American War in June 1898 and Spain ceded it to the United States under the Treaty of Paris of Dec. 10, 1898.

The Japanese attacked Guam Dec. 7, 1941, and it fell in five days after a stand by a small garrison of sailors and Marines under command of Capt. George Johnson McMillin.

RECONQUEST

U.S. warships opened the successful campaign for its reconquest June 19, 1944. Troops were landed July 20 and the island was declared secured Aug. 10 after bloody fighting. U.S. casualties were 1,437 killed and 5,648 wounded.

Until the end of the war Guam was the advance headquarters of the U.S. Pacific Fleet under the command of Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz. In 1954 it was made the Pacific headquarters of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

★ ★ ★

The population is estimated at 72,000. All are full citizens of the United States under the Organic Act of Guam signed by President Harry S. Truman Oct. 1, 1950. They elect a 21-member unicameral legislature. The governor is appointed by the United States. Supervision was transferred from the U.S. Navy to the Department of Interior in 1950.

AGRICULTURE

Much of the island's economy is based on the U.S. military establishment, but its agricultural output includes corn, sweet potatoes and coconuts. Livestock raising is another pursuit.

About 95 per cent of the population is Roman Catholic, a heritage from centuries of Spanish rule. Agana is the capital and Apra the largest port.

The weather is warm most of the year, with the temperature range 72-88. Typhoons are frequent; one in 1960 caused $210 million damage and claimed nine lives. Guam is of volcanic origin, and earthquakes are common.

U.S. publishers buy 72 per cent of their newsprint supply form Canada.

★ ★ ★

The new St. James Methodist Church, located on 18 acres of land, was formerly known as the Oakland Park Methodist Church.

Members worshiped in the building at Montcalm and Glendale until the property was purchased by Pontiac Motor Division for an expansion program.

SEATS 300

The new church seating 300 people in the sanctuary has brick interior walls with an aggregate finish behind the altar.

The chancel area is separated from the rest of the sanctuary by a three-tiered planter filled with natural living plants which partially screen the choir. The Communion rail and chancel appointments were moved from the Oakland Park Church.

★ ★ ★

The main entrance is at street level with no stairs to climb. This upper level includes the sanctuary parlor and official board room with kitchenette, crib room and toddler's room near the sanctuary.

The crib room furnished as a memorial to Elizabeth Ann Stasiuk who died in infancy, was made possible by her family and friends.

There are also administrative offices, Sunday School class rooms for primary children, choir and young people as well as rest rooms and sacristy.

FELLOWSHIP HALL

The lower level incorporates a fellowship hall which will accommodate 260 people at banquet tables, complete kitchen facilities, a youth activity room with an 18-foot ceiling, and class rooms for young people with a separate grade entrance to the fellowship hall with rest rooms.

★ ★ ★

The church building of solid masonry construction was designed by Bery-Klei Associates of Oak Park to keep costs at a minimum.

The total cost of the project was $335,503.

Ground was broken in August 1965 and construction started in September of that year. After considerable delay in building, the congregation moved into the new church on Feb. 26.

★ ★ ★

Serving with Bert Weddle, chairman of the building committee, were John Fuller, Troy Bell, Richard Elliott, Donna Robertson, Lorrin Schwartz and Robert Stasiuk.

The public is invited to the open house and to share in the consecration service, Pastor Deeg said.

SANCTUARY COMPLETED—The Rev. James W. Deeg, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, looks over the new sanctuary with a grateful heart. The new building will be consecrated in services tomorrow morning. An open house is scheduled for the afternoon. Interior walls of the sanctuary are varigated shades of rose red brick. The three crosses above the altar are of walnut. Communion rail and pulpit furniture are from the former church. Carpeting in the chancel area and aisles is red. Asphalt tile covers floors throughout the rest of the building.

STRIP FRONDS — Entering Gloria Dei Lutheran Church where they will strip fronds from Palm buds they are carrying are Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Larson of 245 S. Marshall. The fronds will be distributed after forming in the shape of a cross and given to worshipers attending Gloria Dei services tomorrow — Palm Sunday.

Distribute Palm Leaf

Observe Ancient Rites Tomorrow

The triumphant entry of Jesus Christ into Jerusalem centuries ago will be commemorated with traditional Palm Sunday services in Christian churches tomorrow — Palm Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The first day of Holy Week gets its name from the enthusiasm shown by the people of Jerusalem as Christ rode into the city on a donkey a few days before His death on the Cross.

According to the Bible," a very great multitude spread their garments in the way; others cut down branches from the trees and strewed them in the way.

"And the multitudes that went before and that followed, cried saying, Hosanna to the son of David: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

But the Scriptures also tell that the enthusiasm of the people soon cooled. Only five days after Jesus had received the adoration of the crowds He was crucified on the Cross.

His experience will be cited in sermons and read from Scripture in churches tomorrow.

CUSTOMS

Traditions centering around Palm Sunday have come down to us through the centuries.

From the branches strewn in the path of Jesus is derived the custom of distributing palm leaves to people attending church the Sunday btfore Easter. In many churches the leaf is made into the form of a cross.

★ ★ ★

The leaves not distributed in Roman Catholic churches and some Episcopal churches are saved until the eve of the next Ash Wednesday.

They are then burned and the ashes used on the first day of Lent in marking the foreheads of parishioners as they kneel at altars.

ASCENSION

The Senior Choir of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension under the direction of Mrs. Edward Myer will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ" at the 11 a.m. service tomorrow.

Mrs. Paul Boylan of Ann Arbor will assist Mrs. H. E. Relyea at the organ.

★ ★ ★

Soloists include Dr. Richard James of Detroit, Worth Mallory of Troy, Susan Meyer of Dearborn Heights and Mrs. John Cooperrider, the pastor's wife.

★ ★ ★

The cantata will take the place of the sermon.

At 8:30 a.m. Pastor Cooperrider will preach on "A Case of Mistaken Identity."

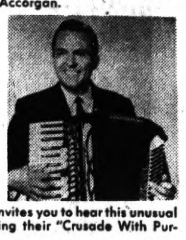
"THE LUTHERAN HOUR" Each Sunday WPON 7:05 A.M., CKLW 12:30 P.M.

DO YOU KNOW what instrument this young man is holding? No, it really isn't. Certainly it looks like an Accordion but it is probably an instrument that you have never heard . . . an Accorgan.

The Accorgan is a completely self-contained transistorized unit which incorporates the miniaturized organ-tone generators—with sustain—in the accordion. Think of it! Now Jack Van Impe can play this instrument as an organ only . . . accordion alone . . . or together and produce the most magnificent tones imaginable. He can obtain the effects of bells, chimes, electric piano, harp, plus many additional tonal combinations on the right hand. Another "plus" feature is the left hand concert string bass.



Sunnyvale Chapel, 5311 Pontiac Lake Road, invites you to hear this unusual instrument and this unusual young man during their "Crusade With Purpose, April 4-9.

Don't Feel Guilty About Dreams Long as They Never Come True

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is wrong with me? I have been happily married for 15 years and we have three lovely children. Every night I dream about a certain man who is a good friend of my husband and mine.

ABBY

He is also married and has a nice family. Abby, I am so ashamed of myself I don't know what to do.

In these dreams he is kissing me and loving me, and we are carrying on something fierce. I don't know if we are married in these dreams or not, all I know is we just go right ahead like there was no right or wrong.

Every time I see this man and his wife I feel so guilty I could die. His wife is such a nice person, and so is he, and my hand to God, he has never even looked sideways at me.

What worries me is I seem to be enjoying these dreams. Please help me.

CAN'T WAIT TO RETIRE

DEAR CAN'T: You need not feel guilty for what you do in your dreams. As long as you don't try to make your dreams come true (in this instance) there's nothing to be ashamed of.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Recently my sister got married. At the reception her husband cornered me and kissed me. Only it wasn't the kind of kiss a bridegroom usually gives his new sister-in-law.

I haven't said anything to anybody, of course, but now when I see him he acts like it never happened, but I can't look him in the eye. What should I do?

PASSIONATELY KISSED

DEAR KISSED: Forget it. He probably has.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A lady signed GRANDMA wrote, complaining because she had grandsons in the service, but a fat, lazy, 22-year-old slob of a neighbor kid sat around doing nothing.

He bragged that his hobbies were draft-dodging, eating, and sleeping, and said he keeps his blood pressure up on purpose so he can't pass the physical.

She said she wanted to know why fellows like this should be allowed to get away with this:

You said there was probably a lot more wrong with the slob than he admitted, and he was probably covering up with his braggadocio talk, that if he were fit material for the service, they'd have a uniform on him faster than he could say "Vietnam."

Abby, I left the service a year ago, and I have this to say to Grandma: How safe would your grandsons be if they depended on this slob to sound the alarm in case of an attack?

Would you want your grandsons to ride in an aircraft this fellow just repaired? No, Grandma, leave those irresponsible kids at home where they hurt no one but themselves. They don't belong in the military with decent, responsible men like your grandsons.

PAUL W. MARSH (SEATTLE)

DEAR ABBY: Will you please advise me as to the correct way to acknowledge appreciation to a pastor under these circumstances: The pastor gave much aid and comfort to the family of one who recently passed away.

The deceased one had no connection with this pastor or his congregation, but he performed the burial services anyway. Thank you.

KNOWS NOT

DEAR KNOWS NOT: Offer the pastor a gift of money. (Pastors have bills to pay.) If he declines, ask him if you may make a contribution to one of the many "causes" related to his church.

Theater Slates Special Program

The John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre will present a special children's play "The Imperial Nightingale" March 28 through April 1.

According to Mrs. Edwin W. Mosher, Jr., director of group Sales for Meadow Brook Theatre, the four matinee performances are completely sold out. "The response has been marvelous," she says. "An example of the enthusiasm in the metropolitan area, the United Auto Workers have taken the entire theatre for the Saturday matinee performance."

★ ★ ★

SCHEDULE

Performances beginning March 28 have been scheduled as follows: a 2:30 matinee and 7:30 evening performance on Tuesday and Wednesday, a 7:30 performance on Thursday, an 11 a.m. performance on Friday and 2:30 and 7:30 on Saturday to end the five day run.

★ ★ ★

The Nicholas Stuart Gray fantasy will appeal to both children and adults.

John Fernald, the artistic director of the Meadow Brook Theatre, feels that too little attention has been given children in theatre. "Most people tend to forget children," says Fernald. "If they don't just leave them out, they have the habit of talking down to them. We intend to treat the children, not as children, but as people, which, of course, is exactly what they are."

WISE AND FUNNY

"The Imperial Nightingale" is based on the Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale of the "Emperor and the Nightingale." Nicholas Stuart Gray has woven several sub-plots into the basic story and introduced some new characters.

★ ★ ★

The plot revolves around the Emperor of China who has captured the nightingale through trickery, intending that it should sing to the court on command. The bird, its free spirit caged, grows weak and unable to sing at all.

★ ★ ★

The emperor is sentenced to die because of his cruel governing of China and his treatment of the nightingale. The emperor realizes his mistakes and begs for mercy, promising that he will temper government with humanity.

★ ★ ★

Robin Ray, is directing the play. He says he chose the fantasy because it has a nice message and is "a very wise and funny play."

★ ★ ★

Tickets are still available for evening performances by contacting the Meadow Brook Theatre Box Office or through J. L. Hudson's Ticket Service.

Snow may be fine for kids, but Marvin, pet of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wasko, Philadelphia, doesn't like it one bit. As a heavy storm lashed much of the East, Marvin expressed his distaste for the weather by setting up a yowl to be let back into the Wasko home.

Permit Her the Comfort of Symbol

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a problem which will seem minute to you but is growing into quite a heartache for us. My mother is a recent widow and refuses to part with her rings.

The problem is, people are forever asking about her husband, where he is, his line of work, etc. This always throws mother into a deeper depression, and is certainly not helping her to adjust to the fact that he is gone.

Can you help? On which finger does a widow wear her rings to show she is a widow? — Worried Daughter.

Dear Worried Daughter: Don't try to get your mother to remove her rings. She should wear them on the same finger to show her status as a married woman; there would be more questions than she is now asked if she took them off.

The rings are a comfort to her — she should not have to give up their symbol of her happiness.

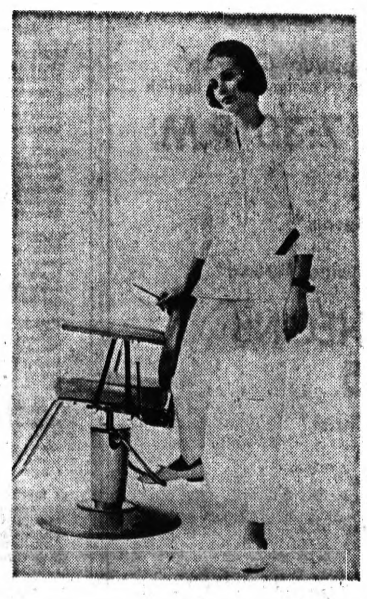
Mrs. Harvey Hansen of Bloomfield Hills has been instrumental in the formation of this very vital group and the entire board was entertained for lunch by Mrs. Hansen while Mrs. McCallum was visiting.

A dose of spring ordered especially for the lady in white who can use a fashion shot for her flagging wardrobe. White Swan's new jump suit uniform is cut on skimmer lines, has neat, convertible sports collar and short sleeves. The stepping is easy via a three-quarter gripper tab front closing.



So new, so nice and so ideal for the millions of busy, mobile women who work in white—the professional pantsuit by White Swan. Both Paris and Seventh Avenue have put the seal of approval on the new pantlook for town wear—and now it comes on duty with crisp efficiency and smooth lines.

Plastic Skirt a Household Must

There's no need to work at arm's length to avoid rubbing tarnish on your dress while cleaning silver. Just stitch up a practical plastic skirt to slip on for such messy household chores.

All soil can be sudsed right off the plastic with a damp sudsy cloth. It can also be immersed in soap or detergent suds and rinses, then hung to drip dry.

Spring Cleaning Aid

Use the vacuum cleaner on both sides of your mattress to give it a good spring cleaning even though it has been covered.

FACTS ABOUT PHARMACY

Excellent Rule to Follow

It is important to know that every prescription from a physician is for a definite purpose and for a patient he has examined. He never intended the drug he prescribed to be used for anyone other than the patient for whom he wrote the prescription. Some people are sensitive to certain medicines and the dose for one may be wrong for others. It is unwise to take a drug that was prescribed for another person. Also—it is an excellent rule to destroy leftover medicines.

New Look in Boots Is Borrowed

Boots, a standard accessory for cold and inclement weather, can now be had to resemble spats—a style popular at the turn of the century. Typical is a calf-high boot which combines a black patent mudguard with an upper made of glen plaid cotton cloth.

★ ★ ★

The patent is readily washable, of course, and the plaid can be kept clean and jaunty by using a brush dipped into dense soap or detergent suds to scrub off spots or spatters.

Bluing Will Shine

A little bluing added to the soapy water in which you clean cut glass will make it really sparkle.

Beginners Will Learn Old Art of Perfection

ANN ARBOR — The beginner in art may think that man has progressed from his earliest efforts to his present "perfection" as he learned the science of perspective and the other needs of representational drawing.

"But it's not so," says Guy Palazzola, University of Michigan professor of art.

★ ★ ★

"The Byzantines didn't paint their pictures in a flat plane because they couldn't manage things any better. Each culture has its own way of doing things. Plato said that realistic art is not true art. The Greeks could paint very realistically but they didn't choose to."

The artist says some of his students ask when he is going to teach them anatomy.

CAN'T DRAW

"They can't draw a triangle and they want to draw the deltoid muscle, which is a triangle," he says. "We all agree that the student needs a good concept of drawing. We insist that they draw well but I'm not convinced that all the things we teach are necessary."

★ ★ ★

"You don't have to 'understand' a mountain to paint one. It's said that Rembrandt must have understood old people very well because he painted them so well. No. He just painted them."

Palazzola says oil is becoming a thing of the past. "Most of the world's master-pieces are in pigments in oil, not pigments in the plastic we know as lucite. Lucite is fast drying but a retarder can be used. The acrylic plastic doesn't develop a 'museum brown' in its colors like oil paints, which must be brought out into the sunshine periodically to brighten them up."

ARTIST'S MIND

He emphasizes that it is the artist's mind which determines his greatness.

★ ★ ★

This has turned many artists today to abstraction," he says. "We live in a world of cameras and hard facts, but the human mind still is the great creator — whether it be of the fantasies of a Marc Chagall or the three-nostriled women of a Pablo Picasso.

★ ★ ★

"The subject of art is so enormous and mysterious that it intrigues men today as it always has."

Don't Wipe Plastic Tile

If your home is equipped with such modern installations as luminous plastic ceilings, corrugated sheeting, or panels which diffuse light for a daylight effect, try a practical tip from the professionals who install direct lighting.

★ ★ ★

After washing such plastic fixtures with soap or detergent suds, let these air-dry before being replaced.

Don't wipe the plastic dry because rubbing creates static electricity which acts like a magnet to attract dust in the air.

Recipe Error

In the recipe for Golden Yellow Cake printed in Wednesday's Market Basket section, there is an extra cup of milk listed. Use just one cup.

Guantanamo Tour Reported

'Silent War' in Cuba Upsets Congressman

U.S. Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District, said today that he was "a little unnerved" from his first inspection trip of the Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba.

The Oakland County congressman toured the base recently as a member of the House Public Works Committee to view the hugs desalinization plant that supplies the base with fresh water.

"As we flew into Guantanamo protected by a fighter escort, I was a little shaken to see rows of pillboxes dotting the perimeter of our outer defense," said McDonald.

"But what hit me hardest," he continued, "was to see a hostile force, armed with the most modern and sophisticated weapons, encamped within sight of our lines."

"So far as Castro is concerned, he is at war with us," said McDonald. "At least that's the only conclusion I can draw when I see an army posed night and day with guns pointed at our people."

DISTURBING ASPECTS

Two other aspects of the silent war in Cuba disturbed the congressman.

"Cuba is probably one of the few places, if not the only, where foreign ships, including Russian, must pass through an American naval yard in order to reach their berth.

"I could not help but sense a moment of uneasiness as I watched Russian freighters and tankers pass within a few yards of our cruisers," said McDonald.

"Another thing that bothered me was to learn that Castro is able to steal some half million dollars per year from the Cuban people who work on the base.

"Each pay day the Cuban employes are forced to exchange their dollars for pesos on a one-to-one ratio at the Cuban banks. But, on the world market, the dollar is worth seven pesos. So, Castro robs his own people and pockets the difference."

Big Rapids 'Pressure' on Ferris Denied

BIG RAPIDS (UPI) — Mayor Donald Page today denied allegations the city has refused to provide additional water service to Ferris State College in hopes of forcing the school to share the cost of an expansion of the city's water system.

The lack of water has resulted in the state's refusal to allow the college to construct a new $6.7-million dormitory.

State Sen. Frank Beadle, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, yesterday said that unless the city decides to provide the water service, "any further requests by the college for additional facilities at Ferris cannot be approved."

Page said the city cannot provide the additional water because the filtration plant has reached its capacity and must be enlarged.

★ ★ ★

"The city cannot begin construction of a new plant because it has not been able to arrange financing for the improvement," Page said.

Pair Last 15 of 3,200 Miles

Long Row Short-Lived

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP) —A retired truck driver and his son began a 3,200-mile row to England in a 16-foot dory Friday. After 15 miles and 6½ hours they turned back.

"I just want to go home and hide under a rug," Lewis C. Mills, 54, said after coming ashore.

Mills and his son, Lewis Jr., 21, climbed aboard a Coast Guard rescue boat as they entered Gloucester harbor on their return trip and their boat was towed ashore.

"The seas weren't too rough," Mills said. "The trouble was that we were loaded too heavy and we started taking in water.

"It was freezing in the boat faster than we could bail it out," he said.

Temperatures were in the teens during the day and the Weather Bureau had issued small craft warnings.

★ ★ ★

Mills said he and his son got as far as Thatcher's Island after leaving the harbor in the morning.

"Then we were in one spot for four hours and I finally said, 'The hell with it' and we started back."

Orchestra to Go on Tour for Funds

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Symphony Orchestra has announced plans to raise $5.5 million in cities where the orchestra tours.

★ ★ ★

The money would be used for musicians' salaries, the refurbishing of Symphony Hall, including the installation of public elevators, and the reduction of annual deficits.

The nation's female consumers spent an estimated $30 billion for apparel last year.

Waterford to Mull '701' Fund Request

A request for an $8,019 appropriation to carry out a portion of a proposed planning program will be considered Monday night by the Waterford Township Board.

★ ★ ★

The funds would be used to implement that part of the township's third year "701" planning program trimmed by the state because of insufficient federal aid.

The Township Board tabled action on the planning commission request at last Monday's meeting to check on availability of funds.

In other business at the 7 p.m. meeting, the board will conduct a public hearing for a special assessment district street lighting project in Indianwood Manor Subdivision.

★ ★ ★

Fourteen lights would be installed. Based on 62 assessments, then annual charge of property owners would be $7.84 per assessment.

PROPOSED ORDINANCES

The board also will consider adoption of plumbing and heating ordinances introduced at the Feb. 27 meeting.

★ ★ ★

Tentatively slated for action is consideration of 1967 wage contracts for the police and fire departments.

The dubious honor of holding the record for committing the most personal fouls in one basketball season goes to Bailey Howell, of Baltimore, who fouled 345 times in the 1964-65 season.

Jackie, Sister, Families Arrive for Acapulco Stay

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, and their families arrived by plane Friday night for a 10-day spring vacation.

The party included Mrs. Kennedy's children, Carolina and John; Prince Stanislas Radziwill; and the Radziwills' children, Chris and Anthony.

★ ★ ★

John broke away as they were entering automobiles to leave the airport and was chased by his aunt. After he entered a car, he drew a hearty laugh from Mrs. Kennedy by diving head first from the back seat to the front seat to be with her.

★ ★ ★

The group is visiting Fernando Parra, a socially prominent resident at whose villa Mrs. Kennedy stayed in February 1965. They will have a house near the beach in a wealthy section of Acapulco.

There are 3,176,000 farms now being operated in this country, according to latest Department of Agriculture statistics. Land in farms totals 1.13 billion acres.

Sukarno to Visit Health Resort

JAKARTA (AP) — Stripped of his power and reported ailing, Indonesia's former President Sukarno prepared today to leave his Jakarta palace for the health resort of Bagor.

Information Minister B. M. Diah denied reports that Sukarno was under house arrest but said Sukarno must get permission from the acting president, Gen. Suharto, to travel inside or outside the country.

★ ★ ★

The student newspaper Kami said authorities refused to let Sukarno wear his military uniform.

Sukarno was expected to stay at his palace in Bagor, 40 miles from the capital, and at his retirement home nearby. The area is noted for its botanical gardens and summer homes of wealthy Indonesians.

HEALTH FAILING?

A spokesman said the minister of health visited the Jakarta palace in connection with Sukarno's health. Palace guards said the 65-year-old former president appeared in excellent condition and spent some time playing with five of his eight children.

★ ★ ★

Suharto, named acting president a week ago when Congress removed Sukarno's title and the last remnants of his power, has said Sukarno's health is worsening but has not indicated the nature of the ailment.

★ ★ ★

In Tokyo, Ratna Sari Dewi Sukarno, 27, his third wife, said she believes her husband is suffering from a recurrent kidney disease and exhaustion.

"I think he needs a rest," Mrs. Sukarno said before leaving a hospital where she gave birth to a daughter by caesarean section March 7.

She said she doubted reports that Sukarno will leave Indonesia because "without Indonesia and its people, life will have no meaning for him."

N.Y. Catholics Set K-12 Sex Education

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Roman Catholic Diocese of Rochester plans to introduce next September a program of sex education in diocesan schools from kindergaten through high school.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Daniel Brent, associate superintendent of diocesan schools, said Friday the program would be the first of its kind in the nation's parochial schools.

★ ★ ★

Details still are to be worked out, Father Brent said, adding that "it will be cast in the Christian context."

Berserk Man, Deputy Shot

Pair Trade Gunfire in Monroe County

MONROE (AP) — A deputy sheriff, using the door of his patrol car as a shield, traded shots with a berserk man, then wrestled him to the ground as both collapsed from bullet wounds Friday.

The deputy, G. Robert Shaw, 29, of Ypsilanti, suffered minor wounds and was released from a hospital.

★ ★ ★

A man police identified as Bulice Griffin Sr., 49, of London Township was hospitalized with bullet wounds in the chest. He was not considered in danger. No charges were filed immediately.

Griffin's son, Bulice Jr., 21, called Monroe County sheriff's deputies and said his father had argued with the elder Griffin's wife, slashing her with a knife. The son said a brother had taken their mother to a hospital and their father had threatened to shoot any policeman who tried to arrest him.

WENT TO HOUSE

Monroe Deputies Daniel Maurice and Joe Diekman went to the house and were told Griffin had fled in a car, taking two guns with him.

Meanwhile, Shaw drove over the line into Monroe County to help if needed. He spotted Griffin's car and followed it back to the driveway of the Griffin home.

★ ★ ★

Griffin got out of his car and was aiming a rifle at Diekman through a window when Shaw yelled a warning, the lawmen reported. They said Griffin started firing a 22-caliber rifle at Shaw, who returned the fire from behind the door of his patrol car. Deputies counted nine holes in the door.

Shaw said he emptied his revolver, ran about 40 feet to where Griffin was and wrestled him to the ground. The deputies inside the house ran out and saw two men slump away from each other.

India Speech Listing Goals Is Boycotted

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan set forth four major goals of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's new government today in a speech boycotted by nearly 200 opposition members of Parliament.

The unprecedented snub by all opposition parties except the right-wing Swatantra was to protest the imposition of president's rule, a kind of federal control, in Rajasthan State following riots there.

★ ★ ★

Shortly after the president's address, a member of the Hindu Communal Jan Sangh party in the lower house of Parliament brought a no-confidence motion against Mrs. Gandhi's five-day-old government as a result of her handling of the Rajasthan crisis.

Debate on the motion was to begin immediately at the prime minister's request. "Let us start the debate right away," she said.

If passed, the motion would lead to the resignation of Mrs. Gandhi's government. But this was considered unlikely since her ruling Congress party has a 20-seat majority in the lower house of parliament.

Opening lead—♦ A

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

The opening bid of four is even more pre-emptive than the bid of three. It also should be a substantially better hand. This is because, somehow or other, three-level pre-empts are seldom doubled while four level pre-empt frequently are.

JACOBY

Thus when we open with a four bid we don't have 10 tricks in our own hand but we do have a hand that is almost surely going to make eight tricks by itself and that has some compensating values.

In first or second seat we would open four spades irrespective of vulnerability with: Spades—A K Q 10 8 7 6, H — 2, D — Q J 10 2, C — 2. We would not open four spades with: Spades — A K Q J 10 9, 8 H — 3 2, — D — 7 6, C — 8 4.

The first hand is likely to make four spades if partner can give us one trick. The latter won't make four spades unless partner can give us three.

★ ★ ★

We have another rule for four-level pre-empts. We never have more than one ace and, if our partner has passed, we do not ever have solid trumps and a void suit.

Today's hand shows the advantage of this hard and fast rule. South had a normal four-spade opening. North looked over his big hand and decided that South might well hold two aces.

Therefore, North bid four no-trump. When South bid five diamonds to show one ace, North signed off at five spades but they were one trick too high.

★ ★ ★

West opened the ace of diamonds and shifted to the queen of hearts. East took two heart tricks and game and rubber had been thrown out the window.

CARD Sense ♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠J 2 ♥A K 6 5 ♦4 3 2 ♣A Q 8 What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. There is no reason to try for a slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two no-trump your partner rebids to three spades. What do you do now?

Junior Editors Quiz on JOEYS

QUESTION: If a baby cow is a calf and a baby horse a colt, what is a baby kangaroo?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Our picture answers this question, but we want to tell you something about these little animal babies called joeys. A kangaroo is a marsupial. It belongs to the group o fanimals which have pouches in which they carry group of animals which have pouches in which they carry their young.

A newly born joey is a tiny thing not more than an inch long, but it has a strong instinct to climb into the snug pouch the mother kangaroo carries in front.

Here the joey can nurse and grow in safety. It may remain in its mother's pouch for a long time, perhaps for 6 months. As it grows, a joey will begin to get a little tired of its mother's milk.

There will come a day when some patch of bright green grass will look too tempting to resist, and the joey will hop out and begin to nibble at the kind of food which will satisfy it for the rest of its life.

★ ★ ★

But if it hears something, or sees something which it doesn't understand, the joey will suddenly panic and make a wild leap for the safety of its mother's pouch again.

Then comes the day when the joey can take care of itself; it has become a kangaroo.

'Pineapples' Say Aloha to General and to War

CU CHI, Vietnam, (AP) — The "smell of the pig" was in the air, tangy, aromatic, irresistible. It brought the "Pineapples" on the run for miles around.

"Hey brud-da," they shouted, flourishing their coconut palm beachboy hats and tuning up their ukuleles. "Don't you eat dat pig without me, unless maybe you like beef." Freely translated this means: Anyone who starts the party without me is looking for a fat lip.

★ ★ ★

The Hawaiian soldiers in the U.S. 25th Infantry Division were holding their last luau in Vietnam. They were bidding aloha to Maj. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, the outgoing division commander, and also to themselves. Within a month, most of the "Pineapples" would be sent home, their year's duty in Vietnam over.

Only about 19 per cent of the division, originally garrisoned at Schofield Barracks in Hawaii, was made up of islanders by the time it reached Vietnam. But they held most of the top enlisted ranks and won more than their share of the medals and bravery citations. They call themselves the "Pineapple Mafia."

MILESTONE

The last luau to them was as much of a milestone in Vietnam as the day they battled out of an ambush in the Ho Bo Woods or became the first American unit to fight in the Mekong River Delta.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. Maj. Sam Kealoha of Honolulu, the Pineapple who ruled the enlisted ranks of the 4th Battalion, 9th Infantry, butchered the pig himself and saw that it was properly anointed with abolutions of imported Hawaiian salt and cold beer.

★ ★ ★

"Mister pig," he said, intoning an old Polynesian grace before meals, "'may you do right by us. We hope you as delicious as you look."

Gen. Weyand made a gracious speech saying what the Hawaiian contingent had meant to the 25th in Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

"They gave us our spirit, our unique character, our sense of humor," he said. "But when the going got tough, they were always leading the way."

St. Patrick's Day has gone but the flavor of Erin Lingers all over Michigan today.

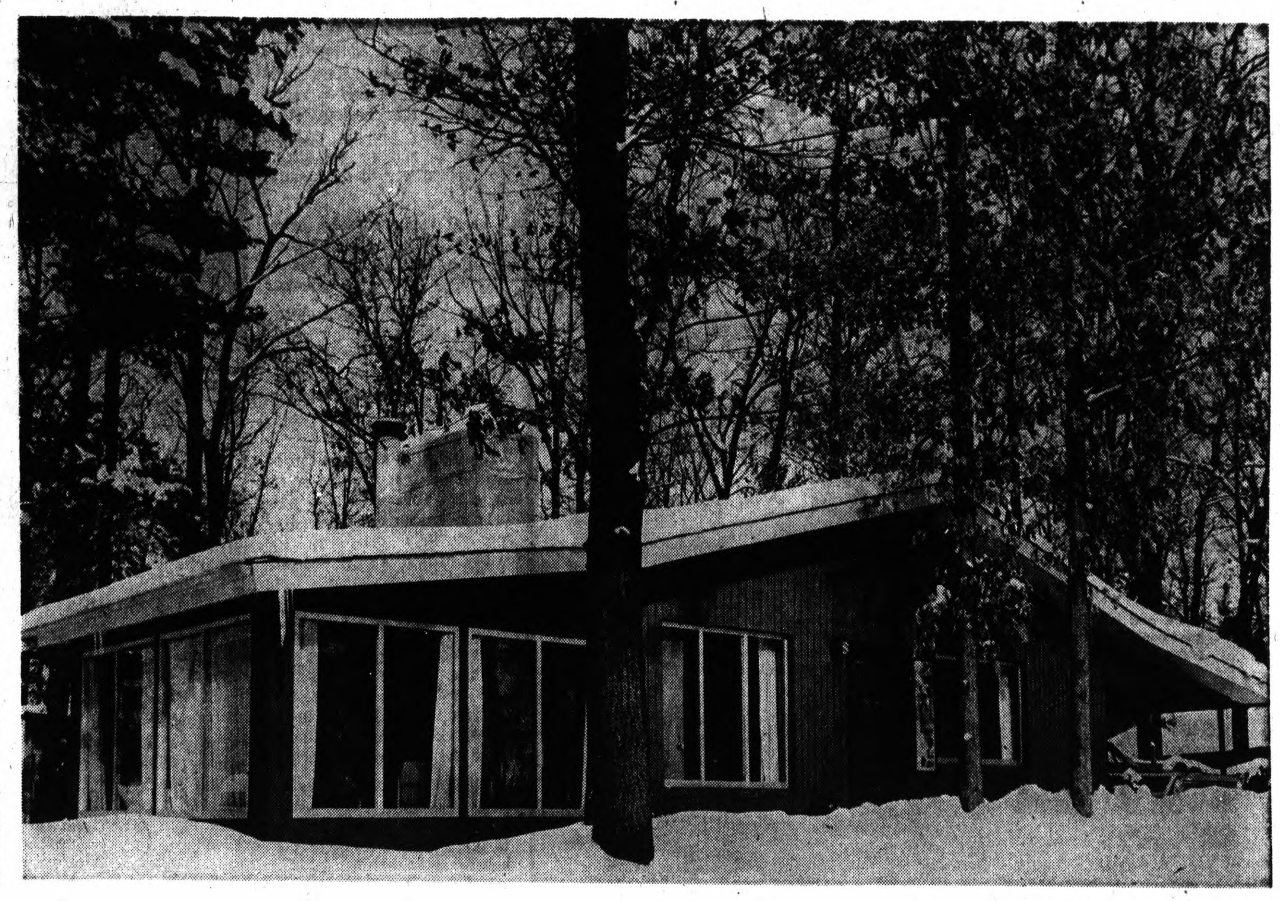
Modern Version Of An Old-Time Stove Is Focal Point In Den



Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

John A. Carruthers Designed And Built His Attractive Home On Butler Drive, Orion Township

He Builds Table First, Then Tries House

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

There's nothing like building your own home, not if you are "experienced." And John Carruthers considered himself experienced — hadn't his one building project, the picnic table, turned out well.

Armed with sharpened pencils, ruler and square, he designed the attractive one-story overlooking Long Lake in Orion Township.

When the design was completed, he exchanged his table tools for a saw, cleared the timber that would interfere with laying the foundation and launched the construction.

"It wasn't hard," said Mr. Carruthers modestly. "And I hired professionals to handle the wiring and plumbing."

★ ★ ★

Contemporary in decor, the interior accents convenience and efficiency. The floor plan incorporates the kitchen, dining and living areas in one large room.

Acting as a divider are the living room's octagonal rug and the modern sofa covered in an orange, gold and white tweed.

On the free-form marble coffee table before the sofa is a nude sculptured by Mrs. Carruthers, a talented artist.

She also created the sand cast mounted on the white Norman brick fireplace. The cast introduces blue, lavender and gold while repeating the room's orange tones.

★ ★ ★

It received second place in sculpture at the Oakland County Art Show held in February at the Pontiac Mall.

The clay figurines affixed to planks of old barn wood which decorate the wall above the room's beige vinyl chair are another example of Mrs. Carruther's creativity.

Louie, the parrot, and the split-leaf philodendron share the corner beside the fireplace. When not on or in his live-perch-basket cage, Louie is completely at home peeking down from the top of the philodendron.

★ ★ ★

Folding doors make it possible to close or open the adjoining music room.

MUSIC ROOM

"We made the music room couch," said Mrs. Carruthers, "of 2x4's, stained walnut and corduroy cushions and the corner table lamp of metal and aquarium stones."

Instruments of the Carruthers' two sons, John, 16, and David, 14, are hung above the walnut piano as a wall grouping.

The den at the front of the house allows a full view of the lake. Paneled in antique-elm, it opens off the living room.

"That stove in the den is wonderful," said Mr. Carruthers, "it throws heat like an old - fashioned pot-bellied stove. And the extra warmth helps to make the room more comfortable."

Clothes Dryer Is Mother's Helper

A gas clothes dryer can do even more than dry or damp-dry your wash.

It is perfect for freshening drapes, pillows and small rugs by tumble action. This cuts down on dry cleaning bills, also.

See Wormy Chestnut at Dealers

A textured Wormy Chestnut panel, which faithfully duplicates the grain texture and fissures that characterize this rare wood, was one of the featured new products at the recent National Association of Home Builders show in Chicago.

Marlite Paneling has combined the high-fidelity reproduction of the chestnut woodgrain pattern with the textured surface to achieve the attractive appearance of the natural wood.

Local lumber dealers have this ¼" thick prefinished paneling in light or dark tones. It comes in 16" x 8' planks.

Dark random grooving adds to the washable paneling's striking appearence. Tongue and groove edges conceal the joints, providing a continuous random plank effect on the wall.

★ ★ ★

CLEAN WITH DAMP CLOTH

Wormy Chestnut paneling is highly-resistant to heat and moisture. Builders and designers attending the Chicago show found that it can be used in the kitchen or bathroom, although not in the tub-shower area.

This new textured hardboard's rugged informality creates an inviting atmosphere in almost any room of the house.

Handymen or carpenters also can apply the Wormy Chestnut plank to old walls, solid backing, studs or furring strips. Special metal clips fit over the tongue and groove edges.

★ ★ ★

Wallboard adhesive is used to secure a strong hold.

Like all prefinished hardboard paneling, this textured Wormy Chestnut plank can be damp-wiped clean. Heat, moisture, stains and hard wear will not mar the paneling. Painting or refinishing is never necessary.

Newel posts with "onion tops" make attractive fence posts for low, dainty front fences.

ELEGANT SURROUNDINGS — This room is maintenance-free, with a feeling of plush comfort. Here, again, the walls and ceiling beams are covered in vinyl fabric. The bedding in the "Carefree Cabana" is latex foam rubber. All furniture is rattan. Two lounge chairs are covered in a vivid citrus green vinyl, with the two benches also covered in the same citrus green, to harmonize with the antique white and maize wood finishes.

Extensive Variety of Boat Products

Boat owners who want to keep their craft in tip-top condition have access to an extensive variety of marine cleaning and maintenance products that make sprucing up chores a mite easier.

From abrasives for scouring to waxes for protection and shine, manufacturers produce a long list of cleaners, compounds, polishes, preservatives and "touch up" kits especially produced for the boatman.

There are cleaning compounds for painted and varnish surfaces, teak, metal boat bottoms, carburetors and bilges. Special cleaners and polishes also are made for chromium, fiberglass, vinyl, shields and wood hulls.

Protective coatings are available for wood and metal, along with polyester, epoxy and plastic surfacing compounds. Rustproofing and rust removing elements also are on the market.

Although it wasn't produced commercially until the late 19th Century, aluminum today is the second most widely used metal in the world.

Annual Foe Stands Ready to Attack

Just below the surface of the soil, lying dormant, is an annual enemy of a homeowner's lawn . . crab grass seeds.

One crab grass plant can grow to a three-foot diameter and spread as many as 25,000 seeds in a season.

Even in well-kept neighborhoods thousands of crab grass seeds may lie dormant in the soil and emerge years later when the right combination of temperature and moisture occurs.

Agriculture scientists have told of crab grass seeds found in Egyptian tombs which have sprouted thousands of years later.

As any homeowner knows, the larger and older a crab grass plant becomes, the tougher it gets and the harder it is to eradicate.

Grownup crab grass can be killed, of course . . . laboriously, by pulling and chopping, or repeated applications of powerful herbicides . . . but, by far the easiest way is to finish off this weed before it appears.

A pre-emergence crab grass killer kills crab grass before it has a chance to invade the lawn.

Scientists have developed a crab grass killer which kills other weeds such as barnyard grass, goosegrass, foxtail and dallis grass, to name a few, plus the number one enemy, crab grass.

This chemical has been blended with fertilizer to give grass the spring feeding it needs and an insecticide has been added to kill grubs and other damaging soil insects.

It makes sense to apply a triple action product to do several jobs at one time.

Preemergence crab grass killers may be applied any time now through the warm nights of early spring.

Not a Difficult Task

Fix Minor Furniture Woes

Table legs that wobble, chairs that creak, bed slats that fall out—these are all normal problems with furniture as it grows old.

Most of the time these are minor troubles, easily remedied. Repairing is always worth a try before rushing out to buy replacements.

It is important to make repairs early. One weak spot or break leads to others until the piece is beyond repair.

The most common failure in a piece of furniture is glue joints working loose.

★ ★ ★

You will notice that this sort of trouble occurs soonest in furniture too close to radiators and registers. Heat and moisture will weaken joints.

CLEAN SURFACE

Surfaces to be glued should be thoroughly cleaned of any old glue. The presence of any old glue will prevent the surfaces from adhering properly.

Sand the surfaces and coat each lightly with a thin coat of glue made for holding wood. An excess of glue will only weaken the joint.

Pressure must be applied to the joint until it is thoroughly dry. If ordinary clamps are too awkward to use, try wrapping the gled joint with string.

★ ★ ★

Insert a piece of scrap wood under the string and twist it, tourniquet-like, to exert maximum pressure.

If clamping will not work, then use bricks, blocks, books or similar objects to apply weight and pressure.

A chair rung that is loose on one side need not be pulled free from the other. Clean and reglue the weak end only.

Where sanding is difficult, remove the old glue with vinegar.

The rung may have worn or shrunk so that the fit is now too loose to hold. Increase the size of it so that the fit is tight.

Slitting the end and inserting a wood wedge is one way. A coat of glue followed by a winding of thread is another.

You can purchase metal fasteners for such a situation. They fit on one side of the rung, have metal barbs so that they cannot pull loose.

★ ★ ★

Joints in old furniture can be made considerably stronger by using angle irons or wooden wedges. These can be inserted in corners on the underside of tables and chairs.

A bracing block can be made from a scrap of wood. Use a triangular piece with a 90-degree angle fitting in the corner.

Glue and secure with wood screws, long enough to enter the furniture but not so long they will go through.

★ ★ ★

A chair rung may break off at the narrow end where it enters the leg. Drill a hole in the end of the rung and in the piece that remains in the leg.

BIG ENOUGH

This should be just big enough to accept a piece of dowel. Cut to length, glue and insert.

Beds that are old or have been taken apart and reassembled frequently to move around can develop trouble.

If slats fall, the small rails on which they rest may not be secure. Additional screws will remedy this. The slats may be too short. Cut longer ones.

★ ★ ★

Make them a quarter-inch less than the distance between the rails.

Drawers that stick can be damaged if forced. Rub edges with paraffin.

Do not plane edges if the sticking is during warm, humid weather. The sticking is due to the swelling of the wood.

★ ★ ★

A light bulb burning inside the drawer will dry out the wood.

Keep the drawer partially open and do not rest the bulb on the wood.

During the winter, if the parifin does not work, sand or plane the edges slightly, then seal with shellac.

Don't Save Gas

Stop! Don't save that extra outboard fuel until next spring. Stored fuel loses its "high end." What's left is usually hard, and sometimes impossible to ignite. Gas evaporates faster than oil, he points out, and this oil-rich mixture will cause excessive smoking and foul plugs faster even if it does start next spring.

Washable Block for Kitchen Ceiling

A washable ceiling block, designed especially for troublesome kitchens and bathrooms, can be installed without muss by the home handyman.

★ ★ ★

These 16" square blocks, which are highly-resistant to heat and moisture, can be put up right over old, cracked ceilings.

The expresison "in a beeline" means the same thing as "as the crow flies," for when a bee is carrying honey, he flies just as a crow flies, straight to his destination.

Control Moisture Before Installing Wall Paneling

In basement paneling projects, the wise home owner will take preliminary steps to control moisture.

In that way, he can avoid later disappointments due to the excessively high humidity conditions existing particularly in the summer months.

For maximum use of the area and protection against damage to clothing, furniture and other items, excessive dampness should always be eliminated.

Waterproofing and insulating exterior walls and the installation of dehumidifying equipment are effective steps which should be taken prior to the application of any paneling product in below-grade areas.

Since all wood products, including hardboard, have variable moisture contents, depending on their environment, they will tend to change slightly in dimension during fluctuations in humidity.

★ ★ ★

In hardboard panels, such movement is slight, considerably less than that of wood across the grain, and it is uniform in all surface directions.

Specific conditioning methods, when required, should follow the recommendations included with the panels.

In masonry wall installations, above or below grade, use a vapor barrier such as polyethylene film or aluminum foil over framing members before the application of the paneling.

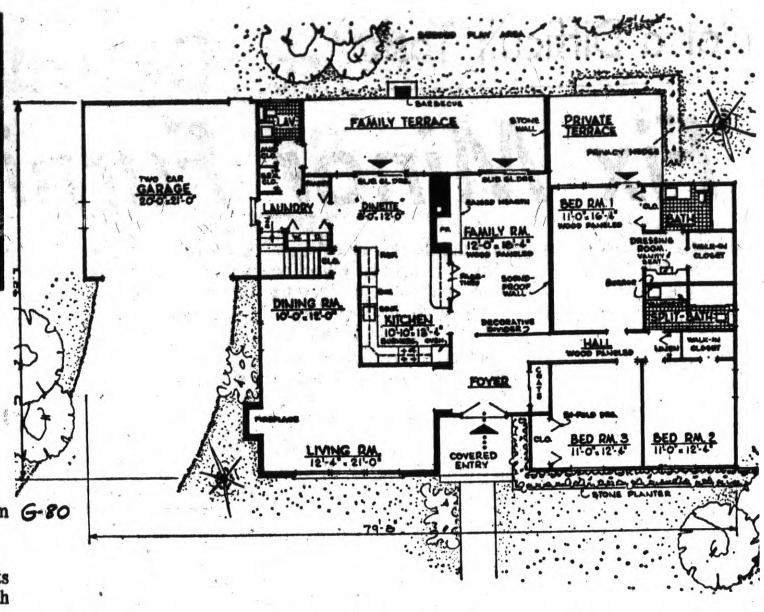
MODIFIED CONTEMPORARY—This ranch, definitely contemporary in style, has sufficient modifications to permit its construction in any neighborhood without creating a jarring note. Vertical patterns, stained dark, with light trim and roof, are complimented by stone adjacent to front door.



FLOOR PLANS — Architect Herman H. York has included here all the features necessary for gracious living in this day and age, plus several that are unusual. One of these is the alignment of two terraces at the rear of the house, with a stone wall separating them.

Individuality Marks Contemporary Plan

Most of us like some individuality in the makeup of our homes. We want at least one thing which is a bit unusual and which borders on innovation without being radically different.

★ ★ ★

This is best accomplished in the layout itself, since it permits an exterior that harmonizes with other houses in the neighborhood.

Architect Herman H. York has carried out this idea in an attractive ranch of modified contemporary style, with several interesting features not visible from the front yet sure to produce compliments from those visiting the house for the first time.

One of the outstanding layout characteristics is at the rear, where there are two terraces — not merely two open areas next to each other, but a family terrace closed on three sides and a private terrace hedged in and accessible from the master bedroom suite.

★ ★ ★

A stone wall separates these two terraces, acoustically as well as physically.

KITCHEN

Another conversation-encouraging feature is the near-central location of the kitchen to make it the hub of all entertaining activity.

An eye-catching and practical addition to the kitchen is the large dinette area, with an exposed brick wall backed up to the family-room fireplace and with sliding glass doors leading to the family terrace.

Adjacent to these spaces are the laundry, lavatory, mud closet, pantry, broom closet and stairway down to the cellar.

★ ★ ★

An examination of the circulation pattern in the vicinity of the laundry shows how practical this layout is.

There is even a door to the family terrace, which means that the lavatory can be reached from any one of four locations: terrace, garage, kitchen or cellar.

The two-car garage is oversized, providing ample room for power equipment and general outdoor storage.

The plan indicates two fireplaces, one in the family room and one in the living room, but if budget restrictions mean the elimination of one, it probably would be more practical to retain the one in the family room.

L-SHAPED

The living room and dining room are in an L-shaped combination — 21' in one direction, 22'4" in the other.

The bedroom wing is screened from the living areas by the placement of the hall.

Before reaching this space, a decorative screen divider separates the foyer from the family room to protect that room from direct view.

★ ★ ★

The owners' bedroom boasts of its own dressing room with a large vanity table.

A walk-in clothes closet for "her" and a separate one for "him" round out the suite along with a private bathroom.

For bedroom No. 2, a walk-in closet serves as a noise buffer between the bedroom and bathroom, which has compartment spaces for tub and water closet.

★ ★ ★

There are windows in both bathrooms and the service lavatory. The walls of the bedroom hall, as well as the master bedroom, are wood paneled.

Outside, vertical patterns are used for the side walls, with an accent of stone at the living room.

★ ★ ★

The oversized wood louvers in the peaks of all gables are part of the architectural style, designed to keep the detail in scale and to turn what is often an unattractive utilitarian necessity into a decided asset.

The double front doors contribute to the elegance of the house, as do the large electric lamps flanking the entrance.

G-80 STATISTICS

Design G-80 has a living room, dining room, kitchen-dinette, family room, foyer, laundry, three bedrooms, 2½ baths and two terraces, with a total area of 1968 square feet. There are 441 additional square feet comprising the garage area, which is set back more than 22' from the front of the house. Over-all dimensions, including the garage and the two terraces, are 79'8" by 43'9".

Home Building Recovery Expected to Be Gradual

BY JOHN PIERSON
United Press International

Don't look for any sudden recovery in homebuilding this year.

The Johnson administration's policy is designed to produce a very gradual increase in new construction during the first half.

The industry won't be gaining much momentum before the second half of the year, according to administration plans.

As President Johnson put it in his economic report, the government hopes to have housing "moving smartly forward by the end of 1967, and ready for one of its best years in 1968."

★ ★ ★

Johnson has proposed a tax increase, designed partly to get the Federal Reserve Board to ease its monetary policy even more than it has in recent months.

"FULLY CONFIDENT"

The President said he was "fully confident" that if Congress agrees to raise taxes, the FED will agree to provide more money and to reduce interest rates.

Administration economists estimate that tight money cost the construction industry $8 billion in 1966 — equivalent to a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes—but all concentrated on one industry.

Now with interest rates on treasury bills and other money market securities falling, money is flowing back into savings and loan associations. The December inflow at S-and-L exceeded the outflow by some $1.8 billion.

★ ★ ★

But S-and-L's will want to rebuild their liquidity before they start lending much of this new money out for homebuilding.

And there's always a delay between the time mortgage money is committed and construction starts.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Federal Nation Mortgage Association expect to be pumping additional funds into housing this year.

★ ★ ★

But again there'll be a lag between funding and construction.

All of this adds up, as Johnson implied, to a gradually accelerating housing industry in 1967.

If all goes well — if congress raises taxes and if the Federal Reserve Board eases money — then homebuilding should be in good shape by year-end.

Even so, Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers estimates that residential construction outlays this year will fall $1 billion short of 1966. Which just shows how deep a pit housing has to climb out of.

Plastic Finish on Hardboard

Perforated hardboard which has a washable plastic finish, is available in a wide variety of colors and patterns.

It is ideal for fixtures, displays, doors, feature panels, room dividers, closet lining, walls, and many other uses.

'Big Three' Set Course for Builders

Affluence, youth and women are the "Big Three" of the nation's housing industry. They are the elements most carefully weighed by builders who tailor their homes to meet consumer demands.

Builders are taking a greater interest in market research that pinpoints who prospective buyers are and what they want. This is so because today's sophisticated buyer won't settle for just a roof over his or her head.

★ ★ ★

Today's builders are acutely aware that about half the population is under 25 years of age. They also have discovered that when one partner of a marriage team is the home-buying decision maker, it is more frequently the woman than the man.

★ ★ ★

At a recent building products exposition it was noted that most of the products stressed design and were geared to women and the youth market.

Domestic ceramic tile has more than quadrupled its offerings of special colors, designs and shapes in the last few years.

★ ★ ★

In homes this stress upon giving the conventional a new appeal is resulting in some new terminology.

One builder believes in glamorizing names of rooms. His homes' kitchens are called "homemakers' havens" and "goody making" centers. Bathrooms become "beautility niches," a closet may be called a "storemore," and the master bedroom is likedly to be labeled "alone at last."

Meadow Mice Destruction Appears

By JODY HEADLEE
Garden Editor, Pontiac Press

It was a long, hard winter and the country mice and the city mice were as busy tunneling through the drifts of snow as their suburban and urban landlords were shoveling it.

And now that those mounds of white are disappearing, the grim results of the tunnelers' trips are being discovered.

Shrubs and trees have been nibbled, chewed and, in some cases girdled (a complete ring of the bark gnawed off).

To try and save girdled specimens, wrap the injury as soon as it is found to keep the wood from drying out.

★ ★ ★

When the warm weather approaches, shave the edges of the girdle so that the healing tissue may grow more freely. Cover the wound with grafting-wax and bind with cloth.

TREATMENT CAN SAVE

Trees completely girdled for a distance of three to four inches have been saved by this treatment, providing the injury does not penetrate the wood.

The water from the roots rises through the soft wood and not between the bark and the wood as many commonly suppose.

When this sap water reaches the foliage, the chlorophyll or green matter in the leaf reacts with the sunlight turning the mineral salts of the sap into food.

★ ★ ★

The plant food flows back through the inner layers of bark and will generally heal over the wound if the wood has not been allowed to dry.

In meadow mice infestations, however, the old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is doubly true.

Periodically through the late summer and winter, check for tell-tale runways (shallow lanes in the sod).

★ ★ ★

The number of runways, abundance of small mouse holes and mouse droppings indicate the severity of your infestation.

CONTROL NOT EASY

To affect a control is not easy and will require patience, time and some expense.

Generally, one well-planned mouse control program in late fall will give protection to your plantings for the duration of the winter.

A mid-winter or spring program might be necessary if a check indicates that the mice invasion is still in effect.

★ ★ ★

Good garden housekeeping helps destroy mouse cover. Keep high grasses mowed or use chemicals that inhibit grass growth which will not harm tree and shrub plantings. Clean up the resultant hay from the mowings as soon as possible.

Wire netting "mouse guards" have proved practical in reducing damage to orchards, tree nurseries and residential areas.

The netting, consisting of ¼-inch mesh hardware cloth, should encircle the base of fruit or ornamental trees and should be set 3-4 inches in the ground at the base of the tree trunks. When extended 3-4 feet above ground level, the netting serves as an effective prevention for rabbit damage also.

After the initial labor and material costs, the mouse guards provide protection for several years with little or no maintenance expense and they cut down on the number of inspections needed.

You can also try trapping as a safe and practical way to eliminate meadow mice from residential sites of three acres or less.

The traps should be set 5-10 feet apart in places where runways indicate mouse concentrations. They should be placed in empty milk cartons, tin cans or similar discarded containers set at right angles next to runway.

★ ★ ★

The containers will protect the bait from rain and snow and keep birds from getting into the traps.

Tempting baits include peanut butter, oatmeal, small slices of apple, sweet potato or carrot. Cheese is a highly overrated bait, according to Charles Shick of the fisheries and wildlife department, Cooperative Extension Service, Michigan State University.

The traps should be reset twice daily in the same general location until you cease capturing the culprits.

★ ★ ★

Repellents and poisons are also effective in controlling a mouse infestation.

COMMERCIAL POISON

A rodenticide containing 63 per cent zinc phosphide is available commercially. It is a mixture of zinc phosphide and magnesium carbonate or similar material.

Small amounts of the poison on bait will cut down considerably if not eliminate entirely the damage done by mice in orchards and Christmas tree or forest plantations.

Since the rodenticide is poisonous to all forms of animal life, extreme caution must be exercised in its use.

★ ★ ★

- Do not place it on any areas where it would prove a hazard to humans or beneficial animals.
- Do not inhale its fumes.
- Use rubber gloves to mix and distribute the bait.
- Do not smoke while mixing the poison with the bait. This will prevent the toxic chemical from being carried to the mouth.
- Do wash hands, gloves and utensils thoroughly after mixing bait.

Expert Tips on Painting Exteriors

Time was when families were more concerned with decorating the interiors of their homes than the exteriors.

Modern families know, however, that a pleasing outside gives visitors a warm welcome.

Today's painters use interesting combinations and contrasts to perk up a house and give it personality.

If you are a do-it-yourselfer, here are some tips from the professionals to help you give a dull-looking house real sparkle.

★ ★ ★

Choose a color that suits the architectural style of your house as well as its location and landscaping.

COLONIAL HOMES

Colonial homes are especially impressive when painted in dignified colors like colonial cream or ivory.

Ranch styles look better in rich, earthen shades like maple tone.

Remember that masonry exteriors need a latex paint, while wooden homes can be painted with either latex or oil-based paints.

After you've applied the basic color to your house, consider other ways to make it lively.

Emphasize unusual features like dormer windows or shutters by painting them to contrast with the roof and siding.

For instance, a wooden house painted with a silvery gray — could have its shutters painted to contrast with charcoal gray or sash black.

★ ★ ★

Any house can look longer and larger if you use a white or light shade of paint. If you want that same house to look smaller, paint the siding a dark color.

Avoid, however, giving your house a split personality by "cutting it up" with too many bright colors.

For example, a large chimney on a low, rambling house can become too prominent if the colors clash, experts caution.

Whether you want it to appear spacious or cozy, stately or lively, it's easy to perk up your house and give it new personality with a bucketful of paint.

Orchid Society Presents Annual Show in Ypsilanti

The annual Michigan Orchid Society orchid show is to be held at Norton's Greenhouse in Ypsilanti, today and Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Show hours today are from noon-6 p.m. and tomorrow 10 a.m.-6 p.m. There is no charge for admission.

The location is the north side of Washtenaw Road (M-17) on the western edge of Ypsilanti.

On display will be orchids of all sizes and shapes along with arrangements and corsages. Members will be displaying plants and flowers grown on windowsills, basements under lights, and greenhouses.

★ ★ ★

This annual show provides for public showing the largest exhibit of orchids shown in Michigan. Commercial growers of orchids also will exhibit.

MEMBERS HOST

Members of the Michigan Orchid Society will be on hand both days to act as hosts and answer questions on orchids and their future.

Orchids are truly international, covering the whole face of the globe from the Arctic to the Antarctic. While the largest number of species are tropical or sub-tropical, they can be found growing natively in any country in the world.

Over 15,000 individual species of orchids have been classified with new discoveries every year.

★ ★ ★

Flowers vary in size, shape and color. Every color of the rainbow is represented with the possible exception of black, although several dark browns and deep purples approach even black.

Flowers differ in size. Some are so small that they may only be enjoyed with the use of a magnifying glass. Some are as large as dinner plates. Numbers per stem vary from one to a stem or racemes of several hundred flowers.

Interesting, beautiful and bizarre flowers seldom or never seen at the florists can be viewed. Flowers imitating bees, butterflies, birds and other insects or animals will be shown.

Among the strangest will be the Catasetums which throw their pollen several feet when trigger in the lip is touched. Golden dancing dolls, white moths, swans and doves all will be represented in flowers.

★ ★ ★

Plants from a few inches high to several feet will be displayed. Several hundred square feet of space will be devoted to orchid exhibits in the Norton's display greenhouse.

Silver trophies will be awarded to exhibitors for exceptional exhibits and individual plants. Last year a brilliant red orchid, which was awarded best of show at the annual show, went on to win several awards at the International Orchid Show at Los Angeles, California.

The year, members of the society will be competing in 10, 25 and 100 square foot exhibits for awards. Outstanding exhibits and plants will receive silver pieces as awards which have been donated by Orchid Society members.

★ ★ ★

Judging for awards will be made prior to opening to the public. Literature on growing orchids will be available at the show.

Murphy Bed Goes Modern

The old Murphy bed has gone modern.

Motorized beds, that raise and lower at the touch of a switch, are being built into paneled walls.

The beds have a paneled underside so they appear to be a part of the wall when closed.

Damp Ground Damages Tires

The tires on your boat trailer will deteriorate rapidly if left standing on concrete or damp ground during the winter.

Even trailers stored in your garage should be protected. The tires can pick up excess oil. Put your trailer on blocks with the tires touching the surface slightly.

When boating in strange waters, make certain you have the proper charts.

Never anchor or fish in designated navigation channels — you may get clobbered and fined.

Heater Extends Cabin Comfort

You'll be able to enjoy your cabin or cottage earlier in spring and later in autumn with the installation of a gas space heater.

Using natural or LP-gas, these efficient heaters come in several styles, from console models to ceramic gas logs that set into your fireplace.

Humid Area Needs Fan

Too much moisture can shorten the life of your painted walls.

Prevent moisture damage in crucial areas such as kitchens, bathrooms, and laundry rooms.

Ventilating fans or special louvers will dry out moisture that would otherwise invade the walls.

MORE HOSE! — Pontiac Fireman Carl Widdis shouts for more line from his second-story perch on a burning home. One firefighter, Robert Oakley, was overcome by smoke and required hospital treatment in the blaze that broke out about 3:30 p.m. yesterday at 258 N. Saginaw. Flames were brought under control in about two hours, but were not completely extinguished until about 11 p.m. Seven occupants escaped injury.

Fires in City, Oxford Twp.

10 Escape Injury in Pair of Blazes

Seven residents of a Pontiac home and three elderly women escaped injury late yesterday when separate fires broke out in the city and at an Oxford Township nursing home.

Four engines and an aerial unit directed by Asst. Pontiac Fire Chief J. Lee Nye responded to a blaze which erupted about 3:30 p.m. at 258 N. Saginaw.

Although flames completely gutted the house and threatened to ride high winds into an adjoining residence, all seven occupants were evacuated safely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Noel, two of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Brady Hendrick and a mother-in-law got out safely.

Firemen said Hendrick was forced to drop one of the children from a low roof and then jump to the ground himself when trapped by flames.

'POSSIBLE EXPLOSION'

Mrs. Hendrick told firemen she discovered flames in the living room after hearing what "might have been" an explosion.

Fire officials said cause was not yet established and said damages to the home were still being tallied.

Fifteen - degree temperatures froze water lines during the blaze, hampering firemen and forcing a nearly eight-hour battle before flames were extinguished.

Fireman Robert Oakley, overcome by smoke in the early stages of the fire, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Oxford Police Sgt. Ray Westphal and Patrolman Leo Misner were credited with safely evacuating three women from the burning Stephens Convalescent Home, 2566 Metamora.

Flames erupted about 3 p.m. on the second floor of the building and brought fire fighters from Oxford, Addison, Orion, Brandon, Metamora and Hadley townships.

Quick work was cited in bringing the blaze under control in less than half an hour and limiting damage to the second floor and roof of the home.

Ambulances transferred the three bed-ridden patients to a nearby convalescent home.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined and damages are still being estimated.

Buick, Dodge Recalls Begun

DETROIT (UPI) — Recall campaigns were announced yesterday by Buick Motor Division for nearly 6,000 cars and by Chrysler Corp. for over 200 Dodge trucks.

Both campaigns involved possible brake defects in the vehicles.

The recall campaigns were reported to the National Safety Agency under requirements of the Traffic Safety Act of 1966.

Both companies advised owners of the vehicles to return them to dealers for corrections.

Buick said 5,870 LeSabre and Wildcat 1967 models equipped with manual "nonpower" brakes are involved.

LOSS OF POWER

There is a possibility that a driver could manually pull the brake pedal upward to disconnect the brake assembly and cause a probable loss of braking power, the company said.

Chrysler said 209 Dodge model P300 and P375 forward control trucks has an adaptor plate assembly for the dual master cylinder brakes which does not meet Chrysler specifications.

Louis Mastro is the occupant of the home which is owned by Randall Seater of 2415 Columbia, Berkley.

Firemen used two pieces of equipment to battle the blaze which was caused by a defective chimney.

MEL FARR

"Ridiculous," Says Club Spokesman

Lions' Draft Choice Farr Sporting $1 Million Price Tag

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $1 million price tag has been placed on All-America halfback Mel Farr of UCLA, who earlier this week was drafted by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

James R. (Jim) Dawson, president of Athletic Business Consultants, an agency created two years ago to negotiate contracts and other business matters for professional football athletes, quoted the figure at a news conference Friday at a midtown hotel.

★ ★ ★

Dawson also said the day is near when more and more professional football players will complete their two year options and become free agents.

He predicted an increase in players acting as their own agents and rookies taking the advice of professional counselors.

Dawson also put a $1 million price tag on another client, Don Shy of San Diego State, a draft choice of the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers.

Then he included Dave Williams of Washington, an NFL St. Louis Cardinals draftee in the same category.

KNOWS BUSINESS

Dawson, a former UCLA star as a football lineman and captain of the late Coach Red Sanders' 1957 and final team, knows his business.

He was personnel director for the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League until 1963.

He says he quit the job with Oakland, after signing numerour athletes, when he decided clubs were signing naive athletes with unjust contracts.

"Under the right circumstances $1 million is not unrealistic," said Dawson, adding that the funds would cover an as yet undetermined period of time.

Reaction to the controversial announcement was swift.

Detroit business manager Lyall Smith said the figure was ridiculous.

He added, "We know Farr is a fine back. We haven't talked money. . .but it won't be $1 million.

NOT ONE

"No one ever got a million dollars, even while the recruiting war was on between the NFL and the AFL," he said.

Dan Rooney, vice president of the Pittsburgh Steelers, said his club would not negotiate with anyone other than Shy.

The owners of the Cardinals, the Bidwell Brothers, said they would not comment on the report at this time.

★ ★ ★

Also present when Dawson spoke Friday was another client, Bruce Gossett of the Rams, who led the National League in placekicking.

Efforts are being made to renegotiate his contract, Dawson said. It has one year remaining. Dawson said the Rams won't talk with him.

Indians, Pershing Duel for 'A' Crown

Flint Central Must Find Way to Thwart Star

6-8 Center Haywood Sparks Doughboys Past Detroit CC

EYING THE BALL — Kalamazoo's Tom Monroe (21) eyes the flight of a loose ball during a Class A semifinal game against Flint Central last night at Jenison Fieldhouse in East Lansing. Monroe lost the ball and Kalamazoo was ousted 65-53.

LANSING (AP) — Flint Central's Indians are out to scalp the Doughboys of Detroit Pershing tonight. But the question is: can they reach Pershing's 6-foot-8 star Spencer Haywood?

Central and Pershing tangle for the state Class A high school basketball title at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse tonight. Neither team has won a state basketball championship before.

A mob of 15,432 fans watched in amazement Friday night as the towering Haywood rebounded tenaciously, blocked numerous shots and scored 35 points in leading the Doughboys to an 84-78 semifinal victory over a good Detroit Catholic Central team.

Flint Central had little trouble in disposing of Kalamazoo Central's Maroon Giants 65-53 in the nightcap. But Kalamazoo had no one in its lineup to compare with the amazing Haywood.

DUNK SHOT

The 220-pound Doughboy center hit a fantastic 14 of 16 floor shots and seven of 10 free throws, capping his brilliant performance with a dazzling two-hand dunk shot at the final buzzer.

The Shamrocks, led by guard Nick Ferri who netted 31 points, stayed within four or five points of Pershing most of the way. But every time Catholic Central closed the gap, Haywood would score a clutch basket.

Pershing led 40-36 at the half. The Shamrocks battled back to take a 42-40 lead early in the third quarter on a three-point play by reserve Greg Marx and a basket by Ferri.

★ ★ ★

The advantage lasted only seconds, however, as Haywood scored a basket, and Pershing guard Marv Lane added another to put the Doughboys ahead to stay, 44-42.

Ralph Simpson, the other half of Pershing's one-two scoring punch, hit 10 straight points to give the Doughboys a 64-52 advantage early in the fourth quarter.

Flint Central raced to a 17-6 lead and never trailed in eliminating Kalamazoo Central, which has won five previous state titles.

ZONE PRESS

The Indian's tight zone press defense kept the ball away from Kalamazoo Ace Sam Simmons, limiting the rangy center to 14 points, five after the intermission.

Forced to shoot from outside, the Maroon Giants were paced by guard Tom Monroe who scored 22 points and led all scorers.

Hustling Rookie Ball Players Help Lower Clubs in Spring

By United Press International

One of the best things about the exhibition baseball season is that the lesser-talented teams very often get a chance to see how the other half lives.

While the pennant contenders are slowly getting their personnel in shape for the season, the other clubs are filled with hustling young players who are going all out to prove they warrant a chance to stay in the big leagues.

★ ★ ★

This hustle pays off in many spring exhibition victories for these also-rans and while it gives very little indication of how they will do in the regular season, it does build a ray of hope for the future for the fans at home.

The most notable "surprises" thus far along the exhibition circuit have been the New York Mets, the Chicago Cubs and the Washington Senators, all of whom are destined for second division placement this season.

The Mets, who finished ninth in the National League last year, scored their fourth victory of the spring season Friday when they turned back the world champion Baltimore Orioles 5-3 on Ed Kranepool's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning.

The Cubs, who finished last in the senior circuit in 1966, thumped the Cleveland Indians 9-3 for their sixth victory in seven games as they racked the Tribe pitching for 11 hits.

BIG INNING

A five-run sixth inning highlighted by John Boccabella's two-run pinch single paved the way for the victory and enabled the Cubs to take over first place in the Cactus League standings.

The Senators finished eighth in the American League last season but scored their fifth victory of the spring exhibition campaign with a 3-2 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

Southpaw Pete Richert drove in two runs for Washington with a second inning double and the Senators pushed across the winning run in the sixth on a walk, an infield hit by Hank Allen and an error by shortstop Denis Menke.

The Cincinnati Reds, another second division club in the National League last year, won their fifth game of the spring by turning back the Boston Red Sox 7-5 on Lee May's two-run, two-out homer in the ninth inning.

Mike Shannon remembered that Friday was St. Patrick's Day and celebrated by banging out two singles and a double to pace the St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

WELL COVERED — Leslie's Rodney McMichael (14) and Charles Lay (20) have the ball well covered as they haul in a rebound against Detroit All Saints in their semi-final Class C game last night in Lansing. Losing out in this rebound battle are All Saints' Stan Grayson (33) and George Garza (41). All Saints won, 60-51.

Mickey Lolich Getting 'Big Jump' on Curves

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Detroit Tigers pitcher Mickey Lolich says he is two weeks ahead of his pitching performances last year.

Lolich gave up one home run to Tommy Agee Friday as the Tigers walloped the White Sox 7-3 in exhibition baseball. But Lolich allowed no other men to reach base in his three innings on the mound.

★ ★ ★

"I'm easily two weeks ahead of where I was a year ago," Lolich said. "My curve was almost too good today.

"Last year I held back and didn't start throwing it until two weeks into spring training. It never did come around the way I wanted it. This year I started throwing curves the first day and never quit."

Jim Northrup and Ray Oyler led the Tiger assault on Chicago. Northrup smashed a three-run homer off White Sox pitcher Gary Peters and Oyler hit a homer.

Eastern Sixes Battle Tonight for NCAA Title

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Here it is again, fans. For the third time this season, it's the Cornell Hockey squad against Boston University — only tonight it's for the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship.

★ ★ ★

The first all-East final in 18 years developed Friday night when Fred Bassi fired two goals to lead BU to a 4-2 victory over Michigan State in the semifinals.

Cornell, which defeated BU for the Eastern College Athletic Association championship, 4-3, a week ago, moved to the final on a 1-0 victory over North Dakota Thursday night.

Earlier in the season, BU and Cornell had tied 3-3.

Local Girls' '5' Shines on Court

St. Michael's girls' basketball team, taking a back seat to the varsity boys' successful endeavors all season, are making the most of the sudden end to the boys' bid for post-season honors.

★ ★ ★

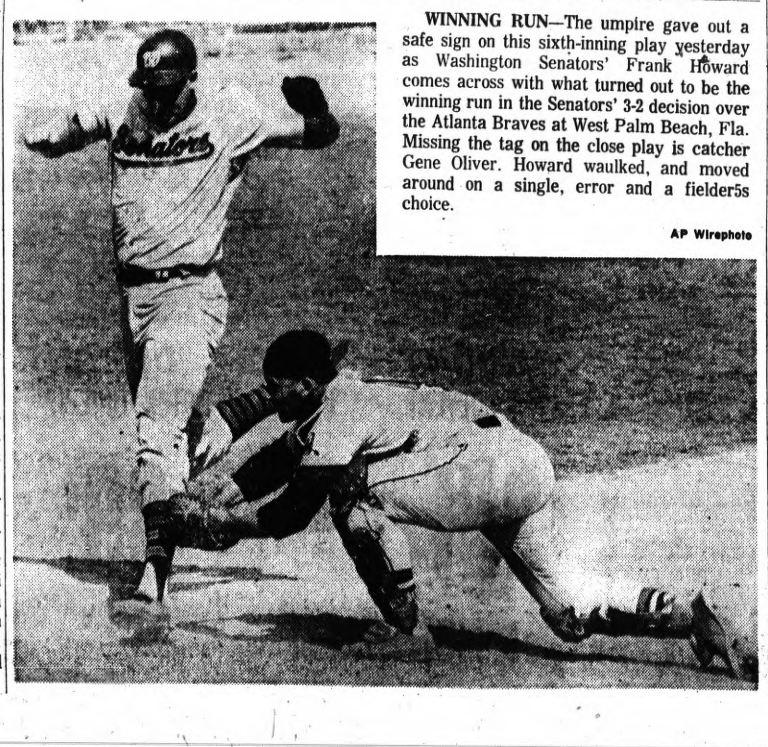
After St. Mike was eliminated in district play, the girls' varsity journeyed to the Ferndale St. James Invitational Tournament and finished second, losing only to the host squad in the title game.



WINNING RUN—The umpire gave out a safe sign on this sixth-inning play yesterday as Washington Senators' Frank Howard comes across with what turned out to be the winning run in the Senators' 3-2 decision over the Atlanta Braves at West Palm Beach, Fla. Missing the tag on the close play is catcher Gene Oliver. Howard waulked, and moved around on a single, error and a fielder5s choice.

Menominee vs. Willow Run

'B' Finalists Win Squeakers

EAST LANSING (AP) — One basket by Menominee and a single point by Willow Run were the razor-thin edges that gave the two Class B rivals the right to face each other in the state high school basketball finals today.

Menominee, the first team to fly in for the championships, probably will start a rage for air travel among the prepsters.

Arriving fresh and rested, the Maroons started off to an early lead and overcame Lansing O'Rafferty 70 - 68, on home grounds in the Friday night semifinals.

★ ★ ★

Willow Run scraped into the finals by an even closer margin, 77-76 over defending champion Grand Rapids East Christian.

John Thomas pumped in 35 points for the Flyers on 13 buckets and nine of 17 from the free throw line.

APPLIED PRESSURE

Thomas, a slight 5-foot-8, collected 20 of his points in a hectic third period. The Grand Rapids Panthers had a five-point lead with two minutes to go but Willow Run put on a press and Thomas applied the pressure, hitting three field goals in the last minute of play.

The B championship was today's finals opener, at 11:30 a.m.

Mike Funnell performed the heroics to put Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart into the Class C finals against Detroit All Saints.

Funnell, high for the Irish with 19 points, must have suddenly remembered it was St. Patrick's Day.

★ ★ ★

Wakefield was leading 55-51 with three minutes to go when Mike got his Irish up. Funnell scored one basket, added a free throw and won the game 56-55 with eight seconds remaining on a 12-foot jumper.

This left Sacred Heart with a 22-1 record.

All Saints went marching in to the Class C finals by walking over Leslie 60-51.

The Saints enjoyed a lead all the way. Leslie closed to within five points in the third period for the only second-half threat by the Blackhawks.

TEAM BALANCE

The Saints won on team balance. Stan Grayson, their highest scorer, had only 13 points. Rod McMichael led the losers with 18. The Detroit finalists are 24-2. Leslie was knocked out with a 23-1 record.

★ ★ ★

Would you believe four overtimes?

The Bulldogs of Ewen had to hang in that long to win their way over Adrian Catholic and into the Class D finals against Flint St. Matthew.

The score was knotted at 57-all at the end of regulation play. Keeping it a cliff-hanger, the Class D opponents scored four each in the first overtime, two each in the second and went scoreless in the third.

★ ★ ★

Ewen hit eight points in the final overtime against two for the Adrian Catholic Irish to win 71-65 and keep a team in the tourney from the far western end of the Upper Peninsula.

Ewen takes a 21-1 record into the finals. The Irish went out with a 20-2 mark.

Flint St. Matthew, now 22-0, outclassed Freesoil 81-67 to win the other Class D final berth.

John Sperla was a tiger for the Panthers with his 33 points.

Dan Sikes Makes Run at Victory

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Hometowner Dan Sikes was charging after his first tournament title in two years going into today's third round of the Jacksonville Open and Arnold Palmer wasn't even in the running.

Palmer tied for 74th after two rounds of the $100,000 tournament and that wasn't good enough to keep 1967's leading money winner in contention.

★ ★ ★

The four-time Masters champion, who needs only $252 to become the first winner of $800,000 at golf, missed the qualifying cut for the final 36 holes by one stroke and blamed a balky putter for his 75-73—148 on the first two rounds at the Deerwood Club course.

"I didn't play well — I guess that's about it," Palmer said Friday after failing to make the cut in a tournament for the first time since the 1965 U.S. Open.

"It was my putting. If I had been putting well, I would have been around 140."

Southern Methodist Surprises Louisville Five

By the Associated Press

Charles Beasley tipped the ball half the length of the court to Denny Holman for a layup with four seconds left to give 83-81 victory over Louisville.

It was the upset of upsets in the NCAA national championship college basketball tournament Friday night.

In addition to the stunning defeat of Louisville's nationally second-ranked Cardinals, Houston upset third-ranked Kansas 66-53; Dayton surprised eighth-ranked Tennessee 53-52; ninth-ranked Boston College upset St. John's of New York 63-62; University of Pacific surprised No. 10 Texas Western; the defending NCAA champion, 72-63; fourth-ranked North Carolina had to go overtime to beat fifth-ranked Princeton 78-70 and Virginia Tech upset Indiana 79-70.

Only the unbeaten UCLA Bruins, the country's No. 1 team, had an easy time as the NCAA field was cut to eight quarter-finalists. The Bruins made it 27 in a row by crushing Wyoming 109-60.

Lew Alcindor, the Player of the Year, led UCLA with 29 points although playing only part of the game.

FOUR FINALS

The results set up these four regional finals tonight to determine the teams which will go to Louisville, Ky., next weekend for the championship windup of the tourney:

East at College Park, Md. — North Carolina, 25-4, vs. Boston College, 21-2. Mideast at Evanston, Ill. — Dayton, 23-5, vs. Virginia Tech, 20-6. Midwest at Lawrence, Kan. — Houston, 25-3, vs. Southern Methodist, 20-5. Far West at Corvallis, Ore. — UCLA, 27-0, vs. Pacific, 24-3.

Princeton, 24-3, plays St. John's, 23-4; Tennessee, 21-6, meets Indiana, 17-8; Louisville, 23-4, tangles with Kansas, 22-4; and Texas Western, 21-6, battles Wyoming, 15-13, in the four regional consolations.

Beasley's tap to Holman capped a Southern Methodist rally that wiped out an eight-point Louisville lead in the closing minutes. With the score tied at 81-81 a jump ball was called near the Louisville goal between the 6-foot-5 Beasley and 6-foot-3 Fred Holden of the Cardinals.

Beasley got the jump for his long tap and Holman went in for the layup that spoiled the Cardinals' dream of meeting UCLA in the championship final.

The winning basket gave Holman high scoring honors with 30 points. In addition he made five steals and handed out several assists. Holden topped Louisville with 23 points.

Don Chaney, with 20 points, and Elvin Hayes, with 19, combined for 39 points for Houston, but a bank shot by Gary Grider for his only basket of the game was the key play in the Cougars' upset of Kansas. The two-pointer gave Houston a 57-51 lead with five minutes left.

Tennessee erased a 13-point Dayton lead, but the Flyers rallied to upset the Vols on free throws by Bob Hooper, Dan Sadler and Glinder Torain in the last 24 seconds to break a 50-50 tie. Ron Widby, high scorer of the game with 20 points, got a Tennessee basket unmolested in the last second.

Glen Coms' 29 points paced Virginia Tech over Indiana including five baskets in a 12-point spurt that gave the Gobblers a 68-57 lead with less than five minutes left.

The Winston-Salem, N.C. State Rams won the NCAA small college national championship by defeating Southwest Missouri State 77-74 in the final at Evansville, Ind.

★ ★ ★

Earl Monroe tossed in 40 points for the Rams and was voted the outstanding player of the tourney. Kentucky Wesleyan routed Illinois State 112-73 for third place.

Oklahoma Baptist, the defending champion, beat Central Washington 78-68 and St. Benedict's of Kansas edged Morris Harvey of West Virginia 73-70 in the semifinals of the NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

Oklahoma Baptist and St. Benedicts play tonight for the championship.

Talks of More Bouts

Champ Clay Still Swinging

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cassius Clay has taken the draft board's best punch — an April 11 induction notice — and out swinging once again.

★ ★ ★

The heavyweight champion, who appeared headed for a certain showdown with Uncle Sam after being ordered to appear for his induction, rolled with the punch Friday by announcing that he thinks he will be a civilian long enought to defend his title three times in the next four months.

Clay's next heavyweight title defense will be Wednesday at Madison Square Garden against 34-year-old Zora Folley. The champion said he thinks he will meet Argentine Oscar Bonavena in Tokyo May 27 if he gets by Folley.

"I believe I got a chance for three more fights in the next four months," said the 25-year-old Clay. "They might have to be out of the country though."

The champion denied that he might leave the country to avoid the draft, however.

"Everybody wants to come to America," said Clay. "What do I want to leave for?"

TURNED DOWN

The Louisville draft board that has jurisdiction over Clay's case has announced that he has exhausted his appeals. He was turned down on his claim as a conscientious objector on the grounds that he is a minister in the Black Muslim sect, which says it is a pacifist group.

★ ★ ★

After learning the board's decision, Clay said, "Anybody who wants to see the greatest heavyweight champion in history fight, better come watch me against Folley."

But he became optimistic again after discussing the situation with an unnamed advisor.

"I learned I might have four more months," he said. "I won't say why, but I talked it over with someone."

Speculation has been mounting over whether Clay, who prefers his Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, would decide to go into the Army or instead go to prison for his beliefs.

Marx Library to Be Preserved

LONDON (AP) — London's Karl Marx Memorial Library is to be preserved as a historical monument despite objections from citizen's groups.

The run-down, 230-year-old building at Clerkenwell Green has been saved through a preservation order confirmed by the Ministry of Housing and Local Government.

'EYESORE'

Local groups felt the building was an eyesore that could be torn down and the site turned into a park and playground.

Marx worked in the building that houses many of his original writings. Lenin worked there for a time. The building also has been used as headquarters of radical political groups.

'Col.' Martha Briefs Medics Headed for Vietnam Action

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Martha Raye, or "Colonel Maggie" as they call her in the Special Forces, was playing hostess and check-grabber in Sardi's to four GI medics soon to fly to Vietnam . . . and was clearly trying to give them some good cheer.

WILSON

"With all the rapes and murders in the States, I feel a lot safer over there than I do here," the Honorary Colonel said. Martha laughed softly and began worrying about their drinks and their steak sandwiches. One boy had a vodka and pernod. Colonel Maggie took her butter knife and stirred his drink.

★ ★ ★

"You're really going back?" Pfc. Nick Lalumia of Dallas, now in the 5th Medical Hospital Evacuation unit, said.

"Sure am. Either Oct. 4 or 11. I promised Gen. Westmoreland." Martha paused to sign an autograph for somebody who'd just seen her in "Hello, Dolly!"

"She's in the Army, same as we are, a scrub nurse, same as we are!" one of the GIs said. "She's too much."

"Yeah, that's how I spend about half my time, scrub nursing in the field hospitals," Martha said. "But I did all my basic, intelligence, language, radio, guerilla combat, parachuting. I did my rifle when I first went in back in '39."

"You jumped in a parachute?" I asked.

"You only had to jump five times. I didn't jump — they pushed me!" She looked at the boys who laughed.

"How did you happen to go in in '39, when we weren't in the war yet?"

"There were a lot of our boys in the R.A.F.," Martha said. "You remember '39, fellas?" she said to the boys — the oldest of whom probably hadn't been born till at least 5 years later.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

His March 21 appearance at Philharmonic Hall will mark the 50th anniversary of Fred Waring & the Pennsylvanians . . . Anita Bryant had to turn down the White House performance of "Guys & Dolls" (March 18) because NBC wouldn't release her from cohosting the Junior Miss Pageant.

WASHINGTON — A Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus gave a special show here this week for 6,000 underprivileged children and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

WEST

It was a great performance, particularly by Humphrey. His unflagging cheeriness, in circumstances that the average man might regard as a bit adverse, is wonderous to behold.

I was so impressed I sat down and wrote a book about it. I call it "Circus Horatius." All characters, living or dead or breathing hard, are purely coincidental.

Chapter I

Dick and Jane are very excited. They can hardly wait for school to be out.

Can you guess where Dick and Jane are going after school. They are going to the circus.

Chapter II

The circus sounds like fun. There will be lions and tigers and elephants and a Veep.

Dick and Jane have never seen a circus. They have never seen a Veep either.

★ ★ ★

What does a Veep look like? Does it have a long neck and a striped back?

Chapter III

Look, Jane, look! There is the Veep! He is coming in the main entrance.

There is a big crowd around him. He is being jostled along.

The Veep is smiling. Why is he smiling? Does he like being jostled? Come, Jane. Let us run jostle the Veep.

Chapter IV

Look Dick, look! The Veep is now in the center ring. He is surrounded by cameramen. They are taking his picture.

He shakes hand with two clowns. He shakes the trunk of a baby elephant. He shakes the ears of a small donkey. Then he does it again and again.

Why does he do things three times. He is still smiling.

Chapter V

Oh, see the Veep! He is sitting down near Dick and Jane. He has children all around him. Some are climbing into his lap. They are sticking cotton candy into his face. Come, Jane.

Come, Dick. Here is some cotton candy. Run climb upon the Veep's knees. See how he smiles?

Chapter VI

The circus is about to begin. See the pretty horse? It is a trained horse. It can do funny tricks.

★ ★ ★

The horse is kicking beach balls with his hind feet. He is kicking them into the grandstand. The Veep is trying to catch them. He is smiling.

Chapter VII

It is very warm inside a circus. It is very noisy, too.

★ ★ ★

Goodbye, Jane. Goodbye, Dick. Goodbye, Veep. I'm getting the hell out of here.

'Kennedy Plot' Suspect Ordered to Stand Trial

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A three-judge panel ruled in a preliminary hearing yesterday that wealthy retired business leader Clay L. Shaw should become the first man to stand trial concerning the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In ordering the trial for Shaw on a charge of conspiracy to murder the president, Judge Bernard J. Bagert said at the conclusion of the four-day hearing, "This court finds sufficient evidence has been presented to establish probable cause that a crime has been committed."

The ruling came on Shaw's 54th birthday.

The decision was a first-round victory for gun-toting Jim Garrison, this town's 6-foot-6 district attorney.

Garrison started the world a month ago with a statement that he had "solved" the Kennedy assassination, would make arrests, and would obtain convictions.

Garrison, unorthodox and controversial in his five years as district attorney, took an unusual step in asking for the preliminary hearing — a tactic usually resorted to by defense lawyers.

The next step:

"I will file a bill of information," Garrison drawled to newsmen shortly after the panel announced its unanimous decision.

He would not say when the action would be taken.

Arraignment and trial come afterward. No dates were set.

"The district attorney selects the date and time a person will be tried," said Judge Bagert, who had asked two of his fellow Criminal District Court judges to sit with him at the preliminary hearing because of its importance.

"The state has six years to prove this case," said defense attorney William Wegmann, in his impassioned plea to the court to throw out the charges.

Threats Claimed in Milk Holdout

DETROIT (AP) — Charges that some of its milk drivers have been intimidated were leveled yesterday by the Michigan Milk Producers Association against the National Farmers Organization which is engaged in a milk holdout.

★ ★ ★

The association said some of its 8,539 members and drivers of milk tank trucks have been threatened.

The NFO strike, called Wednesday night in 25 states, is aimed at boosting milk prices.

The NFO is seeking an additional dollar for each 100 pounds of milk, or two cents per quart. Farmers now receive $5.50 per 100 pounds.

★ ★ ★

It "doesn't seem to be working and new tactics are being employed," said an association spokesman.

'WE'RE WORRIED'

Association members are sending their milk to market, the spokesman said, adding, "We are worried that things could get out of hand."

The milk picture throughout the state did not appear as dim as the NFO painted it yesterday.

The Farr View Dairy in Muskegon reported that five of 120 farmers supplying milk withheld their supplies Thursday, but two of them came back yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The Frige Brothers Cheese Corp. plant at Carney in the Upper Peninsula said six farmers out of 270 withheld deliveries, causing about a 3 per cent decline in milk volume.

ONE-THIRD WITHHELD

The Consolidate Dairies Co. of Bessemer reported about one-third of its normal supply withheld.

FUN AND GAMES — California Gov. Ronald Reagan tries flipping a jelly bean into his mouth — he missed — at a reception held for Republican governors last night in Washington. Watching him is Michigan Gov. George Romney, who tried it first and also missed. Both governors, however, did manage to hit the target to the cheers of reception guests. Someone presented Reagan with a jar of jelly beans because he keeps a supply of them around his desk in Sacramento.

LBJ Heads for Guam Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson embarks tonight on his second trans-Pacific journey in five months — striving once more to emphasize his dedication to the works of peace in Vietnam.

High administration officials insisted they expect no major military decisions to emerge from Johnson's two days of talks in Guam — about 8,250 miles from Washington.

They said the big question instead would be how to advance the political, social and economic development of sections of South Vietnam wrested from Communist control.

There has been considerable speculation that Johnson might use the occasion of his Guam visit to elevate Gen. William C. Westmoreland to full commander of all American forces in Southeast Asia. But officials said they do not expect such a development.

★ ★ ★

They also said they don't think Westmoreland would choose this occasion to ask for more troops. But they said that was a matter for the general to decide.

AROUND MIDNIGHT

The White House said Johnson hoped to take off on his 18-hour, one-stop flight to Guam around midnight after spending all day and evening courting the nation's governors.

Perhaps for security reasons there was no word on whether Johnson's big jet would make a refueling stop in Alaska or Hawaii.

Moreover, nothing was being said here about where Johnson would be quartered on Guam, which is little more than an American military bastion.

The President will meet with top American civilian and military leaders based in Vietnam and with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and many of the other generals making up the military junta that holds power in Saigon.

TOP ADVISERS

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara also will be on hand.

★ ★ ★

Any policy decisions announced after the session, officials here indicated, likely would deal with changes in the Vietnam "pacification" effort — the attempt to claim ground from the Communists and make a start toward enlisting the interest of the inhabitants in elemental democracy.

★ ★ ★

One official said the Guam meeting has taken on special importance because of the impending replacement of Ambasador Henry Cabot Lodge by Ellsworth Bunker, 72-year-old diplomatic troubleshooter.

The event will continue tonight and tomorrow at the Community Activities, Inc., building, 5640 Williams Lake, Waterford Township.

Child Safe; Caught Nine Hours in Well

VOTAW, Tex. (AP) — Tiny Theresa Fregia was lifted to safety in a bold, precision-like rescue early today, eight hours and 55 minutes after she tumbled 28 feet into an abandoned water well.

The 2-year-old girl was sobbing and smeared with red clay as rescue worker Ransom Bill of Houston brought her from the chilly depths of the narrow well at 2:25 a.m.

A loud cheer went up from more than 300 workmen who had labored for hours to save the child.

Theresa was placed on a stretcher, put in an ambulance and rushed to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Beaumont.

★ ★ ★

Darlene Wolf, nursing supervisor of the emergency room, said the girl appeared to be "in good condition when she was brought in. There were a few abrasions of her tummy."

EXAMINATION SET

She said Theresa would undergo a complete examination by a pediatrician.

A giant drilling rig from Houston reached the scene in this small south east Texas town at 1 a.m. and workers began sinking a parallel shaft next to the 10-inch diameter well in which she was trapped.

The massive machine bored a hole 30 inches across. When its head reached a level slightly below that of the girl, Bill was lowered by rope at 2.20 a.m.

He called for a shovel and a sledge hammer and chiseled through the old concrete wall casing of the well.

The bottom of the rescue shaft was oozing with water.

"Theresa, stay still: Don't move:" neighbors and relatives shouted to the girl at that point.

"I said, 'Honey, I'm going to pull now,'" Bill said. "She threw her little arms around me and said something. I think she said 'Daddy,'" Bill related.

★ ★ ★

Then he yelled up to be pulled out by the rope.

The brown-eyed, brown-haired child was heard to cry "I'm cold, I'm cold. I want my mommy" last night as the force of more than 300 men strove frantically to save her.

Theresa's grandmother, Opal Allemange, said the girl fell into the well about 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Lt. Danny Brock of the Harris County Houston Rescue Unit peered down the well using a powerful light at 1:10 a.m.

"I couldn't see her moving," he said.

Political Career of Dodd Hangs in the Balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political career and reputation of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd hang in the balance as the Senate ethics committee secretly weighs accusations of financial wrongdoing against him.

The committee's public probe of Dodd — the first Senate proceeding of its kind since the McCarthy era — ended yesterday with the Connecticut Democrat saying, "My conscience is clear."

Emotionally but quietly, the white-haired Dodd told the committee: "I don't believe any man is going to look me in the eye and say I've done wrong."

On that note the committee adjourned after five days of taking testimony that dealt primarily with allegations that Dodd used contributions to his political campaigns for personal expenses.

★ ★ ★

An earlier round of hearings last summer explored his relationship with Chicago public relations man Julius Klein, a registered agent for West German business interests.

SEVERAL TRIPS

Dodd is accused of making several trips to Germany to help Klein retain clients there.

The ethics committee, composed of three Democrats and three Republicans, may meet next week but Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said it will be "some weeks, at least" before it reports its findings and recommendations to the Senate.

A wide range of possibilities is open. It could find Dodd had done nothing improper, or it could recommend a reprimand, censure, or expulsion from the Senate.

★ ★ ★

It also could call for action against him by the Justice Department.

DOUGLAS H. HOARD

Welfare Director for County Named

Appointment of Douglas H. Hoard as director of the Oakland County and state welfare units, whose merger becomes effective Sunday, was announced yesterday at a meeting of the welfare committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Hoard's elevation from director of the county welfare unit to head of the merged departments was specified in a letter from R. Bernard Huston, director of the State Department of Social Services.

An attorney, Hoard, 57, of 1158 W. Maple, Birmingham, was named assistant director of the County Department of Social Welfare four years ago after retiring as a U.S. Navy officer.

He became director of the county welfare unit last September when George H. Williams resigned to take an administrative post in a hospital.

Hoard's salary as county welfare director was $15,000 per year.

SALARY INCREASE

Beginning tomorrow when he becomes director of the Oakland County Department of Social Services, the official designation of the agency formed by the merged departments, his salary will be $15,409.

Merger of the departments has long been a discussion topic. It was approved by the board of supervisors last Sept. 19.

Couple, Son to Face Trial

Charged in Alleged Murder-for-Hire Plot

A Livonia couple and their 25-year-old son were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on conspiracy to commit murder charges.

Appearing before Farmington Township Justice Byron D. Walter for preliminary examination yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sorna and their son, Jules.

No Circuit Court arraignment date was immediately set.

The Sornas are charged in an alleged murder-for-hire plot against a woman witness in a pending armed robbery case against the son.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Sorna were released from custody after posting $15,000 personal bond. Jules Sorna is in Oakland County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

HOLDUP CASE

The holdup occurred last Nov. 21 at Paul and Vic's Market, 28734 Grand River, Farmington Township. Taken was $35.

The Sornas allegedly plotted to pay $700 to have witness Mrs. Victoria Gogates of Detroit killed before she could testify in the younger Sorna's March 31 pretrial examination on the armed robbery count.

An unidentified man, who said he was offered the $700 to commit the crime, informed police of the scheme earlier this week.

Teachers Ask Raise Averaging $1,700

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) has demanded pay raises averaging $1,700 a year for Detroit's 10,500 public school teachers.

The union asked the Board of Education for a salary schedule ranging from $7,500 for a starting teacher to $11,500 after 10 years service. The present range is $5,800 to $10,000.

Other demands included a reduction in the school year to 38 weeks from 40 weeks and a class maximum of 30 students from the average of 34.

'Want to Avoid Civil Strife'

Powell Cancels Return to NY

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell has canceled his plan to go to New York Sunday, but he says reluctance to trigger civil commotion, not fear of arrest, led him to remain in voluntary exile.

"I want to go back but not if it means violence and bloodshed, and my people tell me it would mean violence and bloodshed," Powell told newsmen Friday.

★ ★ ★

An aide said Powell, 59, probably would stay on Bimini, his fishing and relaxing spot off the Florida coast, at least until April 4 when a court hearing in Washington is set on the Harlem preacher-politician's suit to regain the congressional seat he held for 22 years before the House excluded him.

In New York a sheriff has a warrant for Powell's arrest on a criminal contempt charge stemming from a libel suit he lost. Powell, who could get up to 10 months in jail, has said that if he is arrested "the people in Harlem" would not let him lie in jail.

SITUATION TENSE

Negro leaders there told Powell that the situation in Harlem was tense after he announced he would walk New York streets Palm Sunday.

Former Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack said in New York he was glad Powell decided to avert possible bloodshed.

But Dan Watts, editor of Liberator, said, "Adam has copped out."

"I must divorce myself from all further and future efforts on behalf of Mr. Powell," said the Rev. A. Kendall Smith, chairman of Harlem Citizens for Community Action.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. David Licorish, associate pastor at Powell's church, said extremist elements sought a Powell-sheriff confrontation because "they want terror. But the people of this church don't want rowdyism."

OCC Pays for Overpayment Error

God, flag, motherhood and kids working their ways through college — with these American institutions you do not tamper.

And you don't make mistakes when you're paying the last of these, Oakland Community College is learning.

"We need this money for tuition, books and transportation to further our education," the OCC student assistants moaned in a recent statement.

The college agrees and couldn't be sorrier — but it's keeping its purse strings tightly drawn.

★ ★ ★

"It's kind of sad," says OCC Community Relations Director Mitchell Tendler as he tells of the students' ordeal, which he claims was caused by "gremlins."

WRONG IDEA

What happened is that "someone, somwhere, somehow" got the idea that a new twist in the federal Fair Labor Standards Practices Act applied to the 180 students who work for the college.

So in their paychecks of Feb. 17, their wages for a two-week period were based on $1.40 an hour, rather than $1.25.

No sooner had the checks gone out than the mistake was discovered.

★ ★ ★

The new minimum wage law did not apply to OCC students. Their pay was recalculated and the excess amount taken out of their next checks.

FUROR STARTS

It totaled about $700.

Students were advised of the error and told they could complain to their supervisors.

"That's when the furor started," Tendler said. "It's extremely unfortunate."

★ ★ ★

If the college had let the students keep the money, it would have been guilty of administrative sloppiness for which it could be taken to task, he noted.

COLLEGE ERROR

The students, on the other hand, don't feel they should have had to reimburse the college for its error.

★ ★ ★

"We as working college students question both the legality and the morality of Oakland Community College," they said.

The college apologized.

Post at Harvard to Toronto Prof

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Prof. Claude Bissell of the University of Toronto has been named Harvard's first visiting professor of Canadian studies.

The professorship was made possible by contributions from 86 Canadian and 45 U.S. corporations and from individuals in the two nations.

The move is expected to save Oakland County upwards of $100,000 in welfare costs this year.

March 19 was set as a target date for the merger several months ago even though the date falls on a Sunday.

NEW PAY PERIOD

It marks the beginning of a new pay period for state employes and the 62 county welfare workers will then be on the state payroll. The state welfare department serving Oakland County has 114 employes.

Hoard said that the merger procedure is "purely on paper" at this point and that no changes in the physical characteristics of the welfare operation will be evident.

"Blending the tasks of the county and state units together will be a gradual process," he added.

★ ★ ★

The responsibility of the county department has been general relief assistance, medical care and hospitalization.

STATE PROGRAMS

The state unit, formerly called the Bureau of Social Aid, has administered such programs as Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind and Medical Care for the Aged.

County employes will receive a pay boost averaging about 3 per cent under the merger.

The board of supervisors last year agreed on a supplemental salary appropriation for 1967 to maintain existing salaries of county employes who fell below the state pay schedule as a result of the merger.

★ ★ ★

A total of $1,700 will be needed because 10 county workers will enter the merger above the state scale.

★ ★ ★

Appointment of a deputy director for the merged departments was not announced by Huston. Miss Ora Hinckley has been serving as director of the state agency in Oakland County.

Anderson to Get in Gear for Cycle Problem Study

A state representative from Oakland County won't be joining Hell's Angels, but he will become part of the "in crowd" to do research in developing new motorcycle legislation.

★ ★ ★

LOREN ANDERSON

"I'll go to their hill climbs and races and generally take part in their programs," explained Loren D. Anderson.

The Waterford Township Republican was appointed yesterday by Quincy Hoffman, chairman of the House Public Safety Committee, to head a subcommittee set up to draft new laws pertaining to the two-wheeled vehicles.

Anderson is not unfamiliar with the problems before him.

★ ★ ★

He was a motorcycle policeman during the four years he was with the Pontiac Police Department, 1946-49.

'UNINFORMED'

"The operators themselves are completely uninformed about the pitfalls of riding a motorcycle," Anderson said.

"Unless something is done now," he said, "all we can do is sit back and watch the fatality list grow."

Anderson said that his three-member subcommittee will conduct hearings in Lansing, and that he would personally take part in motorcycle group activities.

★ ★ ★

"The people will help write their own program," said Anderson.

Any legislation offered by Anderson's committee would have to wait until next January to be introduced since the deadline has passed for new measures this year.

What Lent Means to Me

L. HARVEY LODGE

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 33rd in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

By L. HARVEY LODGE
State Senator, 17th District

Lent is a time for reappraisal and rededication of one's life for the salvation of his soul.

Lent is a time to put aside the pursuit of materialistic gain and worldly pleasure.

Lent is a time for humbleness before God and a realization of one's unworthiness.

Lent is a time to share the beneficence of God with others and make one's unselfishness a daily habit.

Lent is a time for glory, love, happiness and forgiveness when one realizes that he leaves nothing upon this earth that is incorruptible except his good deeds and their reflection in the hearts of men.

MORE HOSE! — Pontiac Fireman Carl Widdis shouts for more line from his second-story perch on a burning home. One firefighter, Robert Oakley, was overcome by smoke and required hospital treatment in the blaze that broke out about 3:30 p.m. yesterday at 258 N. Saginaw. Flames were brought under control in about two hours, but were not completely extinguished until about 11 p.m. Seven occupants escaped injury.

Fires in City, Oxford Twp.

10 Escape Injury in Pair of Blazes

Seven residents of a Pontiac home and three elderly women escaped injury late yesterday when separate fires broke out in the city and at an Oxford Township nursing home.

Four engines and an aerial unit directed by Asst. Pontiac Fire Chief J. Lee Nye responded to a blaze which erupted about 3:30 p.m. at 258 N. Saginaw.

Although flames completely gutted the house and threatened to ride high winds into an adjoining residence, all seven occupants were evacuated safely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Noel, two of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Brady Hendrick and a mother-in-law got out safely.

Firemen said Hendrick was forced to drop one of the children from a low roof and then jump to the ground himself when trapped by flames.

'POSSIBLE EXPLOSION'

Mrs. Hendrick told firemen she discovered flames in the living room after hearing what "might have been" an explosion.

Fire officials said cause was not yet established and said damages to the home were still being tallied.

Fifteen - degree temperatures froze water lines during the blaze, hampering firemen and forcing a nearly eight-hour battle before flames were extinguished.

Fireman Robert Oakley, overcome by smoke in the early stages of the fire, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Oxford Police Sgt. Ray Westphal and Patrolman Leo Misner were credited with safely evacuating three women from the burning Stephens Convalescent Home, 2566 Metamora.

Flames erupted about 3 p.m. on the second floor of the building and brought fire fighters from Oxford, Addison, Orion, Brandon, Metamora and Hadley townships.

Quick work was cited in bringing the blaze under control in less than half an hour and limiting damage to the second floor and roof of the home.

Ambulances transferred the three bed-ridden patients to a nearby convalescent home.

Cause of the fire has not yet been determined and damages are still being estimated.

Buick, Dodge Recalls Begun

DETROIT (UPI) — Recall campaigns were announced yesterday by Buick Motor Division for nearly 6,000 cars and by Chrysler Corp. for over 200 Dodge trucks.

Both campaigns involved possible brake defects in the vehicles.

The recall campaigns were reported to the National Safety Agency under requirements of the Traffic Safety Act of 1966.

Both companies advised owners of the vehicles to return them to dealers for corrections.

Buick said 5,870 LeSabre and Wildcat 1967 models equipped with manual "nonpower" brakes are involved.

LOSS OF POWER

There is a possibility that a driver could manually pull the brake pedal upward to disconnect the brake assembly and cause a probable loss of braking power, the company said.

Chrysler said 209 Dodge model P300 and P375 forward control trucks has an adaptor plate assembly for the dual master cylinder brakes which does not meet Chrysler specifications.
