Fickle Weather Causes 14 Deaths

Hospital Trustee Replies to Article on New Addition

The following letter from William P. Babcock, Chairman of the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees, is in answer to a Pontiac Press comment which appeared in this space Friday.

In question is the progress toward construction of the addition to the city's hospital. Voters approved a $3,000,000 bond issue for the addition Nov. 2, 1954.

★ ★ ★ ★

To the Editor of The Pontiac Press:

We wish to extend our thanks for the opportunity to answer the questions raised in your front page on Friday, April 6, 1956.

The question is "What is happening at the Pontiac City Hospital?"

It has been the policy of the Board of Trustees from its initial meeting to invite The Pontiac Press to its meetings. At these meetings representatives of the Pontiac Press have heard progress reports and committee reports on the building program. The reason for inviting The Pontiac Press is so that the Press could keep the taxpayers' informed of Board of Trustees' activity.

★ ★ ★ ★

We do not believe that anyone can or is trying to deny that the need for hospital beds is both desperate and immediate. Our position in this respect has not changed. We are sure that it was not assumed by anyone that provision of funds for expansion purposes would provide immediate relief.

Before bricks can be laid you must have plans; in this respect the Board should be commended instead of criticized for the number of hours spent in study and consultation with architects, consultants, medical staff, operating staff and clergy to provide the best possible service to future patients and their families along with the best and most efficient working conditions for hospital personnel.

In regard to activities called futile we can only remind the Press that we are a Board of Trustees responsible to a City Commission and that we serve with limitations. One of these limitations was the hiring of an architect; this authority rested with the City Commission. On November 24, 1954, Mr. Leo Heenan was hired as architect, with the provision for hiring a consultant. It was the feeling of the Board of Trustees that the recommendation for the hiring of the consultant should remain with the Board rather than the architect, so Mr. William Maybury, then Chairman of the Board of Trustees, conferred with City Officials to change Ordinance 1221 and grant the City Commission authority to hire the consultant, on board recommendation.

This change was made and the Board of Trustees proceeded to contact consultants with experience in the field of hospital construction and planning. From those contacted the field was reduced to three; these men were personally interviewed by the Property Committee and the Chairman of the Board of Trustees. Smith, Hinchman and Grylls, Inc., represented by Mr. Adolf H. Roessling as consultant, was placed under contract on February 24, 1955.

On March 3, 1955, the initial meeting was held with architect, consultant, medical staff and operating staff, discussing a questionnaire of basic information. One month later line drawings were presented to the Property Committee of the Board of Trustees, Medical Staff and operating staff. These line drawings incorporated the recommendations of the meeting of March 3, 1955.

The time table as outlined in The Pontiac Press editorial of April 6, 1956 is, for all practical purposes, correct. Now let us review the time table and the progress using the dates on which events would have occurred, had they fallen on the exact date.

March 3, 1955—"Green light" given to architects.

March 17, 1955—Tentative plans returned.

May 17, 1955—Preliminary plans finished.

Jan. 17, 1956—Final plans presented to City Commission. Actually, plans were presented and approved by the City Commission on February 14, 1956.

According to the time table, six to eight weeks was contemplated for bid submission. March 17, 1956 would have been the date on which bids were closed; actually, April 19, 1956 will be the day on which bids will be closed. They will be reviewed by the City Commission and the Board of Trustees on April 24, 1956. The contract can be let by May 1, construction can start June 1 and allowing eighteen months to construct, the date of contemplated completion will be November, 1957 as projected in the official Board of Trustees minutes of March 3, 1955.

The time schedule was public property on March 3, 1955. Although exact dates were not met for each specific item, we feel that we are reasonably close to our goal of completion during November of 1957.

In regard to federal aid, we were confronted with a formula not adaptable to our particular area. This formula penalized us for our ingenuity, namely the transformation of a 110 bed facility into one of 198 beds. Our case was not considered without merit, but met with reluctance of a governmental agency to change a formula to meet our demands.

During the planning period all parties concerned have been conscious of a continuous rise in building costs. Of necessity, numerous changes were made to

Carbon Monoxide Hits Restaurant's Employes; Air Duct Blamed

Ten employes of Ted's Restaurant and Drive-In at Woodward Avenue and Square Lake Road were back to work today after a carbon monoxide scare Sunday morning.

Seven carhops, a cook, the assistant manager and a maintenance engineer had been rushed to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital when two of the girls fainted in a basement dressing room.

All were treated for lack of oxygen when it was discovered that an open air duct had been mistakenly boarded up by construction workers. The incident occurred in a new addition where construction is only two-thirds completed, according to the owner, L. M. Little, 70 Devon Lane, Bloomfield Township.

Treated and released at the hospital were: assistant manager, Earl Agar, 52, of 335 Waldron Blvd.; maintenance engineer, Newton Bearden, 52, of 577 Peacock St.; the cook, Mrs. Essie Williams, 43, of 461 E. Tennyson Ave. and the seven girls. They are:

Suzen Hindle, 16, of 2833 Colonial Way; the cook's daughter, Elizabeth Williams, 17, of the Tennyson address; Betty Rowland, 20, of Clarkston; Marvel Paul, 16, of Auburn Heights; Wilma Clyne, 21, of 226 Prospect Ave.; Charlotte Alexandria, 16, of Waterford Township, and Eva Barnes, 37, of 215 N. Cass Ave.

The girls had been in the room for about half an hour, Little said, waiting to start work at 9:30 a.m. Two of the girls fainted, he said, and Agar and Bearden rushed to the room when other girls screamed.

The men had been trying to fix a hot water heater in another part of the basement.

Some 50 customers eating breakfast never knew of the incident. Oakland County Sheriff's deputies and Bloomfield Township police rushed the 10 to the hospital.

By JANICE HAYHOW

Life was back to normal again Sunday for approximately 1,500 Oakland County youngsters who participated in the annual 4-H Spring Achievement Day at Lincoln Junior High School Saturday.

Grace will go to State 4-H Club week as Oakland County representative.

If a winner there, she will go on to the state show and from there, if still a winner, she could compete for national honors.

The outfit that brought the top Oakland County 4-H award to Grace was a steel gray wool two piecer.

Sentence Curry in Beating Death

Term of 12½-25 Years Given by Judge Doty After Guilty Plea

John A. Curry, 27, of 125 N. Perry St., was sentenced to serve 12½-25 years in Southern Michigan Prison this morning after pleading guilty to second degree murder in the beating-death of Frank L. Beheydt in a local hotel room Jan. 18.

The sentence was handed down by Judge Frank L. Doty of the Oakland County Circuit Court.

Witnesses had earlier testified that they saw Curry beating the victim while another stated he had heard the defendant threaten to kill the 57-year-old man after he refused to give Curry some money.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem had originally planned to ask for a charge of first degree murder but later changed his mind and agreed to let Curry admit the lesser count.

18-Hour Battle Subdues Big Florida Forest Fire

CALLAHAN, Fla. (AP) — After an 18-hour battle, firefighters yesterday got under control a forest fire that burned 5,000 acres of timberland in northeast Florida.

The fire, which started near the St. Marys River, jumped fire breaks several times. It was pushed along by gusty winds.

Israel Readies for All-Out War Against Egypt

Arab Commandos Met, Routed Near Tel Aviv in Latest Fighting

JERUSALEM (INS) — Israel rushed preparations for possible all-out war today when Egyptian Arab commandos struck within 15 miles of the Israeli coastal city of Tel Aviv.

It was the fifth straight day of fighting.

An Israeli military spokesman reported the killing of nine more Egyptian commandos in clashes as deep as 15 miles inside Israeli lines. Three other commandos were wounded and captured.

One Israeli soldier was killed and three wounded.

The Israeli cabinet decided to call parliament back into session next week to approve a "defense fund law" totalling fifty million Israeli pounds (approximately $28,000,000.)

Nine hundred Tel Aviv teachers left their schools in trucks for the southern Negev Desert to build fortifications and perform guard duties.

The trek southward was part of the general voluntary movement of people in the towns to aid exposed border settlements.

Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion reportedly intimated yesterday to U.N. truce chief Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada that Israeli patience was running out.

Reliable informants said he told Burns that Israel was on the brink of an explosion and reserved "full freedom of action" unless Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser complied immediately with a complete cease-fire order embracing both Egyptian regular army troops and the raiding commandos of the El Fedayeen organization.

It was members of El Fedayeen, literally the "self-sacrificers," who penetrated early today to the Nir Gallim sector, which is 15 miles from the Egyptian-held Gaza strip and the same distance from the major Israeli port city of Tel Aviv.

Five of the commandos and one Israeli soldier fell in action around Nir Gallim.

Presence of the commandos, which the Egyptian government treats as a super-secret organization, in the Nir Gallim area showed they were trying to deepen their behind-lines operations along the vital coastal supply routes between Tel Aviv and the Gaza Strip.

Grace Receives Some Advice From Her Dad

ABOARD S S CONSTITUTION (AP)—The father of the bride had a heart-to-heart talk with his daughter, Grace Kelly, today. Among other things he told her not to let people push her around.

* * *

"After all," John Kelly said he told his daughter, "they aren't giving you anything, and don't let that protocol business get you. Be yourself and do what you want to do. You're an American and you don't have to do what they want you to do."

* * *

Kelly dropped into his daughter's stateroom for 10 minutes after noon today. Grace, like almost every one in the wedding party, slept late after a gay evening of charades, impersonations and singing that wound up at 5:30 this morning.

Raging Winds Sweep Duster Across Texas

Fear Extensive Crop Damage in Southwest; Snow Chills Northeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring's fickle weather today served up dust and snow storms that were blamed for at least 14 deaths.

Powerful winds swept one of Texas' worst dust storms in history from the Panhandle area into the south and central portions of the state, threatening extensive damage to crops.

Three traffic deaths were attributed to poor visibility resulting from the swirling black soil.

Snow which reached depths up to 25 inches in the Northeast brought nine deaths and bogged traffic. A traffic mishap in Wyoming, which had up to 10 inches of snow, took two lives.

Overnight storms, including dust, tornadoes, hail, rain and light snow, lashed at Oklahoma.

Edges of the dust storm reached into New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado.

Snow also fell from the Central Rockies eastward through Kansas, southwest Nebraska and the Texas Panhandle. Depths ranged up to 5 inches at Garden City, Kan. Heavy snow and rain were mixed in eastern Kansas.

In some parts of Texas, the duster carrying off rich, black top soil was the worst since the 1920s.

The storm cut visibility to zero for four hours at Amarillo yesterday and continued to plague that Panhandle city today. Early morning visibility was only one-eighth mile at Del Rio in South Texas. Residents drove to work at 8 a.m. with their car lights burning.

Light rain combined with the dust to give Dallas and Waco a muddy mess.

The duster also blinded Fort Worth, Lubbock, Abilene, Mineral Wells, San Angelo, Killeen and Junction.

Damage to wheat was reported and Texas A&M College said pastures and other crops were badly in need of rain.

Winds propelled the dust deeper into the state in gusts up to 78 m.p.h.

Snow-weary New Englanders once again started digging out after a spring storm dumped more than a foot of snow in many areas Sunday.

Military Budget Increase Urged

Ike Asks Half Billion to Speed Up Production of Jet Bombers, Missiles

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower urged Congress today to increase the 1957 military budget by more than a half billion dollars to keep U.S. air power ahead of Russia's aerial might.

The President asked for a budget increase of $547,100,000, chiefly to speed production of the eight-jet, B52 long-range heavy bomber capable of delivering atomic and hydrogen bombs anywhere in the world.

The proposed increase also would provide for a stepping up of research and development of the intercontinental ballistic missile, which is regarded by some military experts as the "ultimate weapon."

Eisenhower asked that 16 million dollars be earmarked for the Navy Department to step up the vital ICBM program.

The additional half billion dollars asked by the President will bring the defense budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 to more than 36 billion dollars.

Of the proposed increase, the President earmarked $376,500,000 for the speeded-up heavy bomber program and for construction of facilities in vital defense areas.

Eisenhower said the 128 million dollars is needed for military construction of additional bases for the Strategic Air Comand and for the Distant Early Warning radar network in Canada.

Supervisors Will Decide on Petition

Board to Eye Rochester City Vote

Oakland County's Board of Supervisors will appoint new members from municipalities and elect a new chairman and chairman pro tem at their meeting tomorrow morning in the County Office Building.

The standing Committee on Boundaries will report on the proposed incorporation of Rochester, the proposed annexation by Troy City of the remainder of Troy Township, and the annexation of two parcels of Troy Township land by Birmingham.

Board action will be taken on petitions for a general vote on Rochester incorporation, an issue in the village for several years.

Petitions were filed in the county clerk's office Dec. 1, signed by 154 village residents.

The incorporated area would include an increase from 1.3 to about 4 square miles in area, bringing the assessed valuation from the present $6 million to about $9 million, according to the Rochester Progress Committee, proponents of the move.

A report on sewer agreements with Detroit, mostly pertaining to Farmington and Southfield townships, will be read by Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the Drain Committee.

Following election of the new officers, new Salaries and Ways and Means committees will be appointed.

Reports also will be heard from Buildings and Grounds, Local Taxes, Ways and Means, Legislative and Special Building committees.

William Hudson will report on the Detroit-Metropolitan Aviation Authority.

Suspect Re-enacts Kennison Deaths

CIUDAD VICTORIA, Mex. (AP) — William Shelton was taken yesterday to the spot outside Ciudad Victoria where he has admitted shooting Mr. and Mrs. Everett Barton Kennison a month ago.

* * *

Police and state officials and their wives accompanied Shelton and asked him to reconstruct the crime.

The reconstruction took place at sundown. Shelton complained that he could not see well enough to locate the exact site.

A piece of human bone was found. Officials believed it was part of Kennison's skull, which was blown away by a shotgun blast.

Joseph O'Brien, also charged in connection with the murder, was not brought along. He has steadily denied any part in the shooting of the tourists.

3 Controversial Busts Offered Virginia School

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Busts of John Marshall, George Wythe and William Blackstone by sculptor Felix G. W. deWeldon have been offered as a gift to the College of William and Mary School of Government.

The Virginia Art Commission says they "lack sufficient artistic merit." Virginia's governor told the college it couldn't accept them without approval of the Art Commission.

Then someone suggested the college accept them, not as a gift but as a permanent loan. That got around the law, but the governor has a bill before him to put a two-year limit on art loans.

Sculptor deWelden, who also did a famous statue of the Marines raising the Iwo Jima flag says: "It makes no difference to me. Time will rectify this and people with better judgment will come along. My work is recognized around the world."

Engineers Union Opens Sessions

Fight for Control Looms; Reform Group Pledges 'Racketeering Cleanup'

CHICAGO (AP)—A fight for control of the 250,000 member International Union of Operating Engineers by two elderly men — both in their 70s—spotlighted the opening today of a week-long convention.

Bidding for top consideration also was a self-styled reform group that pledged a "hot convention" battle to clean up the union they said is ruled by "violence and racketeering."

TIGHT GUARD

Adding to the convention's tenseness was the assignment to three union leaders of an around-the-clock police guard, a result of last Thursday's acid attack in New York on Victor Riesel, syndicated labor columnist.

Under police guard at his own request is Victor S. Swanson, 78, an international vice president from San Francisco. He is seeking to unseat the incumbent president, William E. Maloney, 72, a Chicagoan who has held the post since 1940.

REPORTS THREAT

Swanson, who lost the sight of an eye from an acid-throwing skirmish in 1943, told police he had received threats before he left San Francisco. He brought 68 delegates to support his candidacy.

Others under 24-hour police guard are William Wilkens and Peter Batalias, expelled members of the Long Island Local 138 and leaders of the reform group. They had appeared on Riesel's radio broadcast a few hours before a thug tossed sulphuric acid in the labor writer's eyes and nearly blinded him.

* * *

Riesel had charged in his broadcast that racketeering influences were prevalent in the engineers union which represents heavy machinery equipment operators throughout the country.

DENIES RACKETEERING

Maloney denied there was any racketeering in the union and termed as "unnecessary" the police guard.

The selection of Swanson as a presidential candidate, Wilkens and Batalias said, was a "thinly veiled" attempt to later elevate Peter Weber of Newark, N.J., to the top spot upon the resignation of the aged Swanson. Weber is a former bodyguard of Joe Fay, New York labor leader recently released from prison and forbidden to engage in union activities.

FSBA Adviser Hints of September Strike

BAD AXE (AP) — An organizer of the Fair Share Bargaining Assn. says the insurgent group of Michigan farmers "will walk the (picket) line once again" in September unless it obtains $5.50 a hundredweight for raw milk.

* * *

Homer Martin said he believed Fair Share pickets will act again unless their demands are met "by the time the next snow falls." Martin was a consultant when the rebelling group within the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. staged its nine-day strike.

The strike broke down last Tuesday but Fair Share claimed a victory in "forcing" the parent organization to get the price of bulk top grade milk hiked from $4.41 to $5. The strikers had demanded a $6.50 price.

* * *

Martin, former president of the United Auto Workers union, told a meeting of between 400 and 500 dairy farmers at Bad Axe Saturday that "we have just started this fight."

Plans are under way, he said, to organize a women's auxiliary of the insurgent group.

Commissioners Plan Election of Officers

Pontiac's mayor and mayor pro-tem will be elected tonight as the newly-elected City Commission gathers for their first session.

The only other action expected at the 7:30 organization meeting will be the appointment of four members to a one-year term representing the city on the County Board of Supervisors.

Present members are R. C. Cummings, Mrs. Lee Hill, Robert R. Boyer and Willis Brewer. City Assessor W. R. Ransom, Director of Finance Oscar Eckman and City Attorney William A. Ewart are also members as set up by the city charter.

The mayor and mayor pro-tem will be elected by the commissioners to a two-year term. Mayor William W. Donaldson and Mayor Pro-Tem John A. Dugan held the posts during the term just completed.

Tot Found Dead Inside Suitcase

Mother Leads LA Police to Lot Where Daughter Is Discovered

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A suitcase lying amid shrubs, geraniums and weeds on a vacant lot was the resting place for the body of 4-year-old Susan Shaw.

* * *

Detectives were led to the spot yesterday by the child's distraught mother, Mrs. Jean Elizabeth Shaw, 35, formerly of Clinton, Iowa, who previously had told incoherently about how "I gassed her . . . I poisoned her . . . I can't talk about it, it's too horrible."

Mrs. Shaw is held in the psychopathic ward of General Hospital on a technical booking of suspicion of murder.

* * *

Her sorrowing, divorced husband, Prentice W. Shaw, 42, Clinton attorney who flew here Saturday, probably will learn from an autopsy today what killed his daughter. Coroner's attendants said the little girl had been dead several days.

REVEALS SPOT

Mrs. Shaw has been held since Friday. Detectives said she was unable or unwilling to say what had become of her daughter until yesterday when, suddenly under further questioning, she told them where to look.

* * *

"Something made her decide to tell us," said Det. Sgt. Harry Hansen. He said he took her to the vacant lot only a short distance from the apartment where she had been living with Susan and another daughter, Pamela, 11.

It was Pamela who last Wednesday told officials that something was wrong, that her mother had said her sister was dead. A search began. Shaw was notified and hastily came here.

He told police his wife developed a psychosis shortly after Susan was born and had once been confined in a mental sanitarium. He obtained an Iowa divorce last November, winning custody of his daughters and a son, now in Clinton. But Mrs. Shaw had disappeared with her daughters last June.

Ike Asks Bipartisan Civil Rights Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration today asked Congress to enact a broad civil rights program including creation of a bipartisan commission to investigate individual grievances.

* * *

The proposals, submitted by Atty. Gen. Brownell, include creation of a new civil rights division in the Justice Department, to function under an additional assistant attorney general.

* * *

A third specific proposal would provide that citizens who feel their constitutional rights have been infringed may go direct to a federal court with their complaint. Under present law, such recourse is available only after it can be shown that all state administrative and judicial remedies have been exhausted without the desired result.

Stiles School Entered, Empty Vending Device

Juveniles apparently busted into the Stiles School at Livernois road and S. Boulevard E. in Avon Township Saturday night, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

They said candy had been stolen from a vending machine and teachers' desks had been rifled, although nothing was reported missing. One of the vandals left behind a toy rubber knife, they said.

Gives Reason for Tornadoes Plaguing State

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Meteorologist E. Wendell Hewson of the University of Michigan explaines why it is that Michigan now must have tornadoes when it didn't used to be so, especially.

It's a matter of warm air masses coming up from the Gulf of Mexico in a gradually changing climate.

Prof. Hewson warns that Michigan now lies in an expanded U.S. Tornado belt that includes the southern Great Lakes and is extending eastward.

Ohio, Indiana and southern Michigan lie within this belt, Prof. Hewson said.

He said: "The extreme weather conditions leading to tornadoes were primarily further south and to the west in Kansas and Iowa now penetrate to the Great Lakes and New England."

Before 1946, tornadoes were most unusual for Michigan. Now warm, moist air sweeping up from the gulf collides with cold, dry air from the west which hasn't had time to be modified by the advancing sun. The two masses create the critical, unstable condition which gives birth to tornadoes.

State Beagles Top Field Test

OCSC Host to North Association for Two-Day Event

Two Michigan dogs were winners in the Northern Association's spring beagle derby at Sashabaw Ranch Saturday and Sunday. Oakland County Sportsmen's Club was host for the event.

* * *

They were a male, owned by Fred Dickie of Melvindale, in the 13-inch class and Paul's Chum, owned and handled by the 10-year old Paul Verhinee, Jr. son of the Detroit Beagle Club secretary, in the 15-inch class.

Runnersup were— 13-inch, Millcliffe's Jerry, owned by Jack Wilson of Dearborn and Bill's Bambi, owned by Bill Werner of Wyandotte.

Each class had 55 entries for a total field of 110 beagles, all of which were just about a year old. The event was regarded as the biggest in the association history. Despite weather conditions the running held close to schedule both days.

Winners here (four places and reserve) qualify for the internationals at Pittsburgh April 21-22.

* * *

Marshals for the event included Jerry Rustem for the 13-inch and Charles Chapman for the 15-inch class.

Couple Hospitalized as Car Leaves Road

A Lake Orion man and wife both are in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today after their car missed a curve on Crooks road and crashed in Avon Township early Sunday.

Being treated for a possible concussion plus multiple cuts and bruises is Louis Schiek, 59. His wife, Ethel, 56, suffered injuries to her right shoulder and cuts and bruises, authorities said.

Schiek told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies he must have "blacked out" approaching the curve south of Hamlin road, at about 55 miles an hour. The car went into a field.

Charles Smith, 25, of 140 Hospital Rd., was the driver of a vehicle which went off the pavement and struck a tree on Hatchery road near the Fish Hatchery last night at 11:50.

State Police said Smith was alone in the car at the time of the accident. He was treated for bruises at Pontiac General Hospital.

The Day in Birmingham

Mayor's Election Takes Lead in Tonight's Action

BIRMINGHAM — Mayor Charles Renfrew and Carl Ingraham take their posts on city commission tonight, and whoever wins the commissioners' votes for mayor and mayor-protem will be given oath of office at tonight's meeting.

Mayor Renfrew has been in office for several terms, while Ingraham is being seated on the commission for the first time. Dean Beier bows out tonight as a commissioner.

Decision on the desirability of northeast sector bus service is due tonight, with presence of cab company officials expected for the discussion.

Three Volkswagen ten-passenger buses would be operated by the new "Suburban Shopper" corporation. Analysis of the plan for a 30-minute schedule with potential customers hanging signs on their doors for pickup is included in Chief of Police Ralph Moxley's report. The chief suggests an ordinance on routes and fees be passed by commissioners before the tentative May 1 starting date.

Turning 14 Mile road into a 45-foot-wide roadway may be deemed necessary in tonight's session. Hearings are slated on 14 Mile from Greenfield to the east city limits, as well as Eton road, from Lincoln to Yorkshire. Eaton's width will be set at either 31 or 33 feet.

The way is clear now for municipalities to take steps jointly to assure the construction of the Evergreen Interceptor, according to D. C. Egbert's lengthy report in tonight's agenda. Egbert points out that May 1 is deadline for determination as to method.

He submits a resolution for the commission's adoption, which determines to form authority with other communities to provide the necessary sewage disposal system. It promises the city would "proceed with diligence" to permit the project, working with Bloomfield and Southfield Townships, and the cities of Troy, Bloomfield Hills, and Lathrup Village.

Chief Moxley blasted the tradition of spring vacation for all school children today, as he tried to clear away cases in what he termed last week's "juvenile crime wave."

One of the cases involved was the $4,000 damaging of a home while the residents were away for the evening. Another case was a boy's driving of a neighbor's car for 663 miles while the owner vacationed in Florida.

"School authorities should view spring vacation's timing very seriously," Moxley said. "At this time of year there is nothing to drain off the excess energy on the part of kids."

"There is no sport activity in the between-season period," he said. "With basketball over, ground is still too wet for baseball, track and other outdoor sports, and the young crowd has too much idle time on its hands."

He indicated that he would release details of the "crime-wave" within a few days, but investigation at present is continuing, with several arrests of youths already made and others planned.

* * *

His department is also still working on the matter of the dog that bit three-year-old Edward Rodgers at his West Lincoln home last Monday. The Early Yankees, neighbors, do not agree that it was their dog, a red Irish setter that is termed "very expensive" that bit the boy six times.

The boy is recovering nicely, the chief said in his press conference this morning, with very few scars expected to show.

Innocent Prisoner to Appear on Video

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Roy E. Eaton, the man who served 16 years in prison for a robbery he did not commit, is in Hollywood to appear on Art Linkletter's "Houseparty" television show today.

Upon his arrival yesterday Eaton said:

"I feel like a bird must feel. I felt that way on the plane coming out here and I think I'll feel that way all the rest of my life."

Eaton, 52, was released from prison in Illinois last week. In 1938 he was convicted of robbing a man in Rock Island, Ill.

Eaton was in Lordsburg, N. M., at the time of the robbery but was unable to prove it and was sent to prison on the false identification of the robbery victim.

Cut Carnations Last Now for 28 Days

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—A University of Colorado chemistry professor, John R. Clopton, has patented a new flower preservation he says will keep cut carnations alive and in good condition for 28 days.

* * *

Clopton said roses last in the solution for 10 to 12 days and other flowers live two or three times longer than in water alone.

His formula includes a sugar solution and added ingredients to slow down the rate at which the plant consumes its food reserves.

The ingredients also prevent bacterial and fungal spoilage in the plant and in the solution.

Denver Boasts Fancy Weather-Time Tower

DENVER (AP)—This Colorado capital's fanciest weather-and-time tower has gone into operation atop the National Farmers' Union new 14-story building on Capitol Hill.

* * *

The tower contains a 2,000 watt beacon light with red or green plastic sleeves which slide over the light. If the light shines green, the weather will be fair. Red signals bad weather coming.

Four time clocks at the tower's base work from an electronically corrected time machine. Four temperature clocks flash the mercury readings.

There are banks of white neon tubes, each five feet long, running up the tower. If the temperature is rising, the upper portion of the tower is lighted. If the temperature is dropping, the lower banks light.

Thorpes Elude Net Spread by Mexicans

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The elusive Thorpes were still evading an intensive police dragnet Sunday two days after officials said they expected an arrest at any hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thorpe are wanted in Michigan in connection with the embezzlement of $75,000 in state funds. They fled to Mexico March 2.

Police intensified their hunt over the weekend, even stopping many tourists in automobiles leaving the capital. All hotels have been thoroughly checked.

The Interior Ministry, which handles immigration matters, has said the Thorpes are wanted for illegal entry, and not for embezzling charges in the United States.

The Thorpes have been going under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Frank and Kay Frank. Police believe they have changed names again. Use of false names to gain entry to Mexico is a federal crime.

Supreme Court Denies Right to Fire Professor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today denied New York City the right to fire a college professor who invoked the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

The decision applied to Dr. Harry Slochower, who told the subcommittee he had not been a Communist since 1941, but refused to say—on the ground that his answer might incriminate him—whether he had been a Communist party member in 1940 and 1941.

Police Give Up Blood to Get Car Repaired

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The case of the damaged car remained unofficial to the end. Two detectives, in it when it scraped the entrance to a garage, failed to make a report.

Police Chife A. E. Jansen said they could pay for the damage themseleves.

They found, in shopping around at garages, that repairs would cost about $100. One garageman, however, remarked that the detectives looked healthy and said his sick sister needed blood for transfusions. The deal was made, unofficially—blood for repairs.

Among those graduating from the largest recruit class in State Police history was Charles L. Weber, of 37 Kimball St.

He successfully completed the six weeks training period of police work and traffic patrol, and will be assigned to traffic patrol for the summer months.

In the fall, four weeks of training in scientific criminal investigation and other advanced subjects are provided for those troopers who complete a probationary period of six months.

Weber served with the U. S. Army in Africa and the European Theater.

Property Value to Stay

DETROIT (AP) — Charles G. Wright, chief economist for the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, says the business outlook is generally good for several years ahead and that real estate prices are not likely to decline. Wright spoke Friday before a regional conference of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

The group that does the most television viewing has had its sets longest—an average of 43 months.

America still is Lebanon's biggest supplier and customer, Beirut reports.

GI Overcomes Red Tape to Wed Grand Rapids Girl

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Airman James E. Dwyer and Joan Marie Witheril are man and wife today, but it took the combined efforts of their parents, the Air Force, two congressmen, two airlines and a priest to bring off the wedding.

That's not to mention the 150 wedding guests who stayed up half the night to attend the ceremony, delayed by the arrival of the bridegroom from Germany 12 hours late.

Dwyer, a tall, slim 19-year-old airman third class from Watervliet, N.Y., met Joan, also 19, at Biloxi, Miss., in 1954. She was visiting relatives and he was stationed at Keesler Air Force Base there.

* * *

Joan returned to her Grand Rapids home and Dwyer was sent overseas to Frankfurt, Germany. They struck up a correspondence and some 300 letters later Dwyer proposed.

Joan accepted and the wedding was set for 11:30 a.m. last Saturday.

THEN TROUBLES BEGIN

Then Dwyer ran into trouble. First he applied for a 30-day furlough but was turned down for not having accumulated enough time in the service. So he spent the money he had saved up for an airline wedding ride to Grand Rapids.

Next he put in for a nine-day furlough, and this was granted. But now, Dwyer was broke. He said he sought help from the Red Cross, the Air Force Aid Society and even his company chaplain, all without success.

Meanwhile, there was a stew brewing back home. All Joan knew was that her fiance had written he could 't make it to the wedding.

CONGRESSMEN CONTACTED

C. J. Witheril, father of the bride, got on the phone and called congressman Gerald Ford of Grand Rapids at his office in Washington asking him to look into the situation. Dwyer's mother, Mrs. Julia Dwyer, did the same with congressman Leo O'Brien of New York.

"And I'd have gone right to Mamie Eisenhower and asked her to have Ike intervene if it had come to that," said Witheril.

The congressmen, however, learned that lack of cash was all that was keeping Dwyer from his bride, so Mrs. Dwyer wired him some money for a plane ticket.

DELAYED BY PLANE

Wedding plans went ahead on schedule. At 11:30 a.m. Saturday some 250 guests assembled in St. John's Vianney's Roman Catholic Church. Then a wire came informing Joan that Dwyer's plane had been delayed in Germany by motor trouble.

The Rev. John Klonowski went ahead with the solemn high mass anyway. Then Joan sat down to wait.

* * *

Close on to midnight Dwyer's plane landed at Kent County Airport. Joan, wearing bridal gown and train, rushed up the ramp to greet him while 150 wedding guests, still attired in formals, stood grinning below.

"Never thought I'd make it," said Dwyer, plainly embarrassed. The whole party moved to the church where Father Klonowski performed a 10-minute wedding ceremony. Then everybody breathed what amounted to a collective sigh of relief.

* * *

Dwyer returns to his post in Germany April 14 and his bride will join him there several weeks later.

Crowds Attend Merged White, Negro Church

CHICAGO (AP) — Extra chairs were needed yesterday to handle the overflow of an unexpectedly large turnout for the first services of a merged white and Negro church.

The Rev. John H. Tredrea, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Communion in suburban Maywood said he was surprised.

"I am very pleased and happy with the response. I am firmly convinced that the representation this morning indicates that the membership is with us," he commented.

* * *

Many of the white members of Holy Communion personally welcomed the newcomers from the former St. Simon the Cyrenian Episcopal Church, a Negro mission established in 1937. Holy Communion was established 70 years ago.

All pews were crowded and portable chairs were set up to accommodate the large congregation. Attendance in recent years at Holy Communion on the Sunday after Easter averaged about 70. At one service yesterday there were 172 persons, including 20 from the former Negro mission. Other services were equally crowded.

Antelope Sure Knows How to Grab Publicity

BALTIMORE (AP) — The nilgai herd at the Baltimore zoo, antelope immigrants from the Indian subcontinent, seems to know how to grab local publicity.

One of the female antelopes gave birth to a 4-pound youngster over the weekend—just in time for the 80th anniversity of the zoo's charter. Earlier this year, twin births were recorded on New Year's day and leap year's day.

White Elephant Prize

ADRIAN (AP) — The Bridgeport Brass Co. and its "White-Elephant Club" operation at the Adrian Aluminum Division will receive a certificate of public relations achievement from the American Public Relations Assn. The plant at Adrian had been characterized as a "white elephant" before the company, community and union turned it into a productive operation.

Stray Dog Attacks Girl—52 Stitches

LUDINGTON (AP) — Seriously injured from dog bites, 2-year-old Dorothy Cramer is under medical care.

* * *

Dorothy was bitten about the face, head and neck and one eye was hurt when a stray dog attacked her.

But it might have been even much worse had it not been for brave, 12-year-old George Usiak.

George, small for his age and no larger than the dog, pulled the dog off Dorothy and subdued the animal.

It happened in Dorothy's back yard. She was playing with other children at the time. Her wounds required 52 stiches.

George even put the dog into the police car when the police arrived. Of the rescue he said "it took all my strength."

New Speed Law Fails to Cut Highway Toll

While Michigan's new speed law has had only a brief test, it apparently has proved that new legislation alone can't create highway safety.

The new law, prescribing a top daytime speed of 65 miles an hour and 55 miles at night, went into operation February 6. Preliminary figures for the month not only indicate that there was no appreciable drop in the traffic toll, but were very disappointing to enforcement officials.

★ ★ ★

During February 115 lives were lost in traffic accidents. In the same month a year ago, when there was no speed limit except in posted zones, the death toll was 117. In addition, State Police Commissioner Childs pointed out that later figures may show an ever heavier death toll for February. In fact, State Police say the average highway speed has increased from 51 to 55 miles an hour.

At a meeting with Governor Williams, State and county enforcement officials discussed the new law from all angles. There was considerable agreement that Michigan needs better highways, better law enforcement and increased highway patrols. Also advocated were more and better stop signs, use of unmarked police cars and greater use of radar speed control.

★ ★ ★

After such a brief test, of course, the new law should not be condemned as a failure. Perhaps by the end of summer experts will be able to decide what changes, if any, are needed. Meanwhile, there certainly should be no relaxation of any phase of the general highway safety campaign.

Adenauer Sees Danger in German Nationalism

In view of the rapid economic resurgence of West Germany, it is not surprising that a new spirit of nationalism is beginning to develop there.

This is manifesting itself in such proposals by some West Germans as the adoption of a more independent policy toward Communist held East Germany. Already it has moved wise old Chancellor ADENAUER to offer his country some sage advice.

★ ★ ★

"Only a nationalism . . . untouched by the historical development of the past decades," he warned, "can ignore the fact that all of Europe has been dethroned . . . and is in danger of falling victim to the Communist bloc."

Expanding on his theme the Chancellor who does remember the disasters brought on Germany by the Kaiser and HITLER, told his countrymen that there is only one way to avoid that danger.

★ ★ ★

"It can be averted," he said, "only if Europe makes the decision to form a federation which, in co-operation with the United States of America, will draw its strength from unity whenever necessary."

Not only West Germans, but everybody in the free world should give the Chancellor's words careful thought. The doctrine he is preaching is unassailable. Every effort should be made to avoid the mistake of separating West Germany's interests from those of the rest of united Europe.

U.S. Industry Equals Its Top Safety Record

Preliminary figures for 1955 indicate that American industry is duplicating its all time safety record set in 1954.

The figures, released by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, cover only the first nine months of last year. But they amply emphasize the value of safety education and of campaigns to help reduce accidents.

★ ★ ★

Through September of last year the injury-frequency rate in manufacturing plants for the nine month period was 12.1 disabling injuries per million employe hours worked.

In some months the rate showed an increase over the same period of 1954, especially in August when the weather was excessively hot. A sharp decline in September, however, brought its rate down to the all time record low set in 1954.

★ ★ ★

The social and economic significance of this low accident rate cannot be overemphasized. Even with it, industrial injuries not only interfere with peak production and disable employes, but they cause losses totaling $7 billion annually.

IN DULLES' behalf it might be said that it may sometimes be necessary for the U. S. to stand on the brink of war to find out whether or not the Communists are standing on a bluff.

One week from today is the final. April 15 coming on Sunday,

Superintendent of the Pontiac Internal Revnue office, tells me that we get an extra day in which to chew our finger nails on our delayed income tax report. He also states that the local office will be open Saturday from 8 to 4:30 o'clock to help late comers from chewing them clear up to their elbows.

"The articles in The Pontiac Press," says Mr. Coddington, "have been very helpful. Several people have told us that they made out their reports in accordance with instructions published there, and we've found such reports to be correct. We feel very thankful to The Press for its very constructive assistance."

Oakland County's population is increasing so fast that the housing situation even baffles the federal functions within its borders. For instance, there's to be a post office in a basement. According to

of Lathrup Village, that's the best that can be done at the present time.

The baseball contest today enters its final week. Your entry must be received in The Pontiac Press office by noon of next Saturday. Last year over 75 entries were disqualified because they did not arrive on time, one of which would have won the $250. Better send in entries for yourself and every member of your family NOW.

Counting a Lot on That Fence

David Lawrence Asks:

Will Bricker Amendment Put an End to Presidential Treaties, Agreements?

WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower said the the other day that he wouldn't "order" American troops into the Middle East or anywhere else without first getting authority from Congress, there was widespread approval. But that wasn't the significant news. It was rather that a president of the United States felt it necessary to give this reassurance to the American people.

Back of it, of course, is Eisenhower's conviction that American participation in the Korean War should have been specifically authorized by Congress or at least that ratification should have been obtained once intervention was begun.

Every treaty made by the Eisenhower administration governing regional problems has in it a stipulation that "constitutional processes" must be followed. The only one that doesn't contain such a qualification is the North Atlantic Treaty — signed under the Truman administration — which says that an attack on one member country is an attack on all. This is a specific instance in which a treaty has superseded the Constitution at least with a moral commitment that makes automatic a declaration of a state of war by Congress.

CONGRESS SNUBBED

The argument made by the Truman administration in June 1950, when the North Korean Communists committed their aggression, was that the action had to be taken instantly and there wasn't time to do more than consult informally some leaders in Congress. That is a satisfactory explanation for the speed with which the first military step had to be taken but it doesn't explain why the Truman regime refused subsequently to lay the whole matter before the two houses of Congress and secure ratification of the state of war which existed.

President Wilson in the spring of 1914 had to make a decision at four o'clock in the morning ordering American sailors to seize the customs house in the port of Vera Cruz because there was a German shipment of arms en route there which could cause trouble for American interests. But in the next few days Wilson personally addressed Congress and obtained a resolution of ratification.

Just why the Truman administration didn't ask Congress for formal authority to continue to commit American armed forces to the prosecution of the war in Korea has never been explained except with the issuance of a pamphlet containing a long series of precedents—mostly minor police actions—in which the executive had not asked for congressional approval when our armed forces were used.

FEARED ENLARGED WAR

It has been suggested that the Department of State, which at that time contained influential individuals who believed the Communists in China were "agrarian reformers," didn't want to antagonize the Communist regime in Peiping. It is further argued that a "state of war" if declared by Congress would have permitted our Navy to blockade the China coast and the Air Force to bomb Chinese supply stations — and this, it was feared, would enlarge war.

Later on, however, it was precisely the failure to apply this military strategy which caused the defeat of the United Nations forces in Korea. As a sequel the prestige as well as the influence and the power of the United Nations to settle disputes have been weakened.

The enforcement sections of the United Nations charter are meaningless today because the United Nations itself refused to ratify the existence of a state of war in Korea and hypocritically permitted its members to adopt the status, first, of non-belligerency, and later of "neutrality" even to the point of acquiescing when Soviet Russia supplied munitions and military equipment to the North Korean armies.

Enough attention has not been drawn to the deliberate manner by which the Constitution was ignored in the Korean War. For the United Nations charter is a treaty so far as the United States is concerned, and if a treaty can override the Constitution to the extent that some presidents of the United States feel they can order American boys into war without getting either in advance or afterwards the authorization of Congress then maybe the new Bricker Amendment is going to be necessary.

Maybe, too, many members of the Senate who plan to vote against it will have to be prepared to answer to their constituencies next November whether they are ready and willing to order American boys into war by the fiat of the executive and without the specific authority of Congress as the Constitution provides.

Do Not Overemphasize Your Blood Pressure Rate

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Notwithstanding the curious introspection of the laity concerning blood pressure, the subject of blood pressure is of only minor or secondary significance. The blood pressure is too high or too low in consequence of what ails you or your way of living.

You will never get anywhere if you are childish enough to believe somehow that your blood pressure has somehow gotten out of kilter when you weren't watching it carefully enough; so if you can find some drug, diet, bath, or mechanical or physical therapy which will raise or lower it a few notches, your other complaints will vanish, etc., etc., blah blah blah . . .

A Rochester reader describes a case in point:

"Twenty years ago when I was 30 my family doctor told me I had a very high blood pressure that he couldn't bring down. I tried other doctors, but the more I tried the higher it went."

* * *

"I was worried and sick. But, low and behold, one night, turning the pages of the paper, I saw the words: DON't WORRY ABOUT BLOOD PRESSURE—DR. BRADY.

"I read the article with interest. I figured I'd try anything. What had I to lose? So I stopped taking medicine and started (1) B.B. (2) C V D diet.

"Immediately I began feeling better. I kept up the regimen for nearly a year. Then I went back to my doctor."

"The doctor was amazed. It checked normal.

"Since then I qualified 1A for military service, spent 4½ years in the Army, was wounded twice, but my pressure still checked normal. And now I have it checked once a year, and it always checks normal.

"I am grateful . . . May God keep you in good health."

(name and address)

* * *

I say lots of things that wouldn't irk some persons at all raise my blood pressure—which reminds me to dig out my old sphygmomanometer and see . . .

The heck with it. Who cares about precise measurements of blood pressure outside of the psysiology laboratory? Certainly I don't care whether mine is high, low, jack, or game, so long as I feel in fine fettle.

But I do pray that the good Lord will forgive me for any morbid fancies I may have implanted in the minds of applicants for life insurance or other such persons with my little blood pressure guage.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Reader Suggests Method of Raising Research Fund

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Each year we are being warned by the press and radio that cancer is killing thousands of people each year. Cancer, heart disease, TB and others such as polio are too serious to justify the complacency with which they are regarded. It is a situation which has become the responsibility of all of us.

If the vast majority of us 160 million Americans would freely contribute about $2 each year, and then if the federal government would match the total amount by an appropriation, it is very probable the scientific minds which split the atom could with God's help, find a permanent cure for these plagues of humanity.

Naturally there are those who would flatly refuse the idea because they are already contributing to many fund raising campaigns for research, but these have a lot of overhead to pay.

Possibly what is needed is a plan whereby everyone would contribute, and thereby all organizations' research in the field be merged, which would cut down the overhead.

A plan such as this could be accomplished by paying for it when we pay our taxes. The added $2 per person wouldn't be an enforced contribution; it would be left to the individual's conscience as to whether or not he wishes to contribute. It is a possibility people wouldn't mind contributing if it were to go to a cause that would help protect them and their families from these dread diseases in the future.

Red Leaders Still Follow Policies Set Up by Stalin

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Pravda now yelps with pain that there is something "rotten" in Soviet party ranks.

* * *

The Communist newspaper reveals that the anti-Stalin campaign is getting out of hand. It seems that some "rotten elements" in the party are not only attacking Stalin but also sharply criticizing the party itself.

In other words, the Kremlin will permit freedom of speech in debunking Stalin—although not all Stalinist actions of course—but will not tolerate attacks on the party policy.

But what is party policy? In Stalin's bloody era it was what he decided it was. Today it is what party boss Nikita Khrushchev and others in the "collective leadership" say it is.

* * *

For instance, Khrushchev and other Kremlin career men may attack Stalin now that the dictator has been dead for three years. But the Soviet masses may be entitled to ask? Does this mean that despotic rule will continue, even though under the "collective" billing?

REFORMED RULERS?

People in the captive states of Eastern Europe also have the right to ask some searching questions, if they dared. Does the act of unloading collective crimes on the body of Stalin merit any belief that the new rulers are reformed characters?

* * *

What about the whole list of Stalinist crimes? Khrushchev and Co. complain that Stalin executed 5,000 Red army officers and thereby weakened his country in the years just before the Nazi attack.

They complain of Stalin's mass execution of Soviet peasants. They complain they never knew whether they would emerge alive from a meeting with Stalin.

Yet they all carried out Stalin's execution orders. And their argument is reminiscent of the Nuernberg war crimes trials when Nazi leaders put all responsibility on the dead Hitler.

* * *

But there is no mention by Khrushchev and others of the Katyn forest massacre of thousands of Polish prisoners. Stalin blamed that on the Nazis. That still is the official Kremlin line although official American investigators long ago concluded the Soviets committed the atrocity.

POLICY UNCHANGED

Forced collectivization of Soviet peasantry by Stalin still is official Kremlin policy. Stalin's leadership in putting priority on war potential heavy industry merely has been taken over by Khrushchev.

Stalin's campaign of subjugating the Baltic states and making puppets of other nations in Eastern Europe is not attacked by Khrushchev and Co. There is no intention of giving up spoils gathered by the aggressive Stalin.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Be not far from me; for trouble is near; for there is none to help.—Psalms 12:11.

* * *

The true way to soften one's troubles is to solace those of others.—Mme. De Maintenon.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Condemn Anybody Until Hearing True Facts on Both Sides of Question

Girls, why do you think Lois acted as she did? Even if her behavior was juvenile, don't you think her boy friend owed her a chance to defend herself? Learn to verbalize your viewpoint and always let the other fellow state his case, too. Don't "clam up" or "ditch" your sweethearts for some faux pas until you offer them a chance to explain.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-325: Lois L., aged 19, is an attractive brunet coed.

"Dr. Crane, she appealed to me very much," one of her male classmates informed me.

* * *

"So I asked her for a date and she accepted. On the second date, about a week later, I kissed her goodnight as I left her at the dormitory.

"But she immediately whirled and ran through the hall shouting 'He kissed me! He kissed me! He kissed me!'

"Everybody in the dormitory could hear her. So I never took her out again. It just grated on my nerves somehow. She seemed so juvenile.

"But when I later talked it over with my sister, she thought I did the girl an injustice. Do you think so?"

GIVE TWO CHANCES

In the Bible we find that Christ urged us to give an offending person at least a second chance.

"If a man smite thee on one cheek, turn the other also," said Jesus.

* * *

And, as a general policy, that's a good psychological code to follow in our social relations.

For human beings don't explain their viewpoints enough. That's why many couples break up, though they should remain harmonious and happy in each other's company.

In high school discussions or at

Sunday school, you might promote a very wholesome discussion of this case.

Maybe Lois was so smitten by her escort that she couldn't think clearly. She might have fallen ardently in love with him at first sight. Or she may have secretly been in love with him for many months before he asked her for that first date.

So his kiss might have made her so excited and ecstatic that she simply shouted the fact so everybody could hear.

In which case, it would be charitable of her escort to give her a second chance, even if her behavior was unusual.

Maybe, however, she had been challenged by her coed roommates to see if she could get a kiss from this boy.

For he was a handsome athlete who normally showed restraint and even disinterest in girls. An athletic contest was his major love.

Many codes had already griped around the campus because he didn't pay them attention. So they might have wagered with Lois that she couldn't get him to kiss her.

If so, Lois may have shouted exultantly to prove that she had won the bet.

FACE THE FACTS

In any event, it is preferable to face the facts. Dig up the reasons. Give the other person a chance to defend herself.

Talk the problem out. Verbalize your attitude and then let the other party state her case, too.

The greatest cause of feuds and friction, broken romances and even wars, is due to failure to verbalize the facts. That means, failure to explain your point of view and listen to the other fellow's equally detailed attitude.

Wives and husbands often misjudge each other. They jump to dangerous conclusions on the basis of mere circumstantial evidence.

That is unfair and definitely Un-American. Follow the procedure of our courtrooms and "air" your grievances fully to your sweetheart or mate or neighbors. Then listen to their side of the story, too.

Don't condemn anybody without a full hearing of the facts on both sides!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Middle East Nears Vital 'Zero Hour'

AP Wirephoto Map

(Editor's Note: What time is it in the Middle East, where the ticking of the clock often sounds ominously like a time bomb? William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, says it is near to zero hour. He is concluding a new swing through the tense region and reports his findings in a series of five articles, the first of which follows.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—It is close to zero hour in the Middle East.

Bullets whine today across barbed wire frontiers of the Holy Land. Any bullet could become the signal for the war every one fears—the little war that may blow up into wor'd catastrophe.

Every minute of the next two months will be precious for the West. Unless the United States and Britain take positive action, there is grave danger the Israeli-Arab conflict will raise the curtain on World War III, just as Spain was the rehearsal for the last great war.

* * *

A threat of economic shock hangs over England and western Europe, with consequences that endanger the North Atlantic Treaty alliance structure.

These are not extravagant or alarmist statements. These are the considered opinions of experts: diplomats, businessmen, experienced observers of the Middle East scene. All are agreed on this: there is no time to lose.

Hate, fear and frustration set the mood today in the Arab world. Of these it is the feeling of frustration which carries the biggest danger. It is the feeling that the United States is the Arabs' enemy and that there is no hope for justice in the quarrel with Israel.

The tragedy of the Middle East is that it has everything to lose and nothing to gain by war. Only world communism would gain. The irony of the Middle East is that war threatens, though few except hotheads on either side want it.

Egypt does not want war. She needs to busy herself with her economic future. Syria does not want war. It would worsen an already bad internal situation. Lebanon, with her little 10,000 man army, scarcely more than a police force, is a thriving mercantile center and wants no war. Jordan still leans on Britain to help feed her people.

For Israel, surrounded on all sides by enemies growing stronger each day, war could spell the beginning of ruin. As matters stand, Israel could win a first round, sweep to Damascus and Beirut and probably punch through the Egyptian forces. That would be the blitz for which Israel appears to be geared. But this war would not end after an initial blitz.

Diplomats thought there was a good chance for Arab-Israeli peace before February 1955. Some remain guardedly optimistic that neither side will dare start this dangerous war. Others hold that peace must be imposed, regardless of sentiment or moral qualms on either side, because the safety of the whole world hangs in the balance.

Virtually every Arab I spoke to in the Middle East referred to February 1955. That was a turning point in history, the time of the large-scale Israeli assault on Egyptian troops in the Gaza Strip of Palestine. The Mideast situation took a decided turn for the worse then, and became even more ugly when Moscow decided to fish in the troubled waters.

Soviet policy apparently aims at the destruction of any alliance which might deter aggressive Communist expansion. Utter chaos in this part of the world would go far toward hacking away the foundations of NATO, by choking off the supply of Middle East oil to western Europe and Britain.

That oil is vital to the survival of Britain and important to the future of democratic governments in Europe.

Political repercussions from a situation which might cut off this oil could be enormous in western Europe. Nobody here denies that it would be a long stride forward by the Communists toward domination.

Thus, war in the Mideast would be a matter likely to bring Western intervention. To this prospect the Egyptians, Saudi Arabians and Syrians, after meeting in Cairo, are reported to have told the United States: if you intervene with force in the situation, we will ask active Sviet help.

Whether the three states actually told the United States this, it is important and significant that on many lips in the Middle East is the story that three divisions of Soviet troops from central Asian Soviet republics with a dominantly Moslem population sit across the border from Iraq in Soviet Georgia.

But the peril of world war would exist without actual entry of Soviet "volunteers." War in the Middle East, as matters stand now, could throw the whole Arab world into the arms of the Soviet Union and pose the threat that Middle East oil would be forever lost to the West.

Proposal at Romeo Passes by One-Vote Majority

$750,000 Issue Has 2-Vote Lead

Tax Limitation Raise Chalks up 465 - 464; OK Operating Tax

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — Not until the final vote was counted late Saturday night did the Election Board of the Romeo Community School District learn that the $750,000 bond issue for a new high school had passed by a majority of two votes and the tax limitation proposal by a one-vote majority.

The total count on bonding was 438 to 436.

The proposition, seeking authorization to raise the property tax limitation eight mills, passed, 465 to 464.

The continuation of the four mill operating tax for another ten years was favored by a vote of 505 to 424, in the district, which was a majority of 81 votes.

The election will be canvassed at a special meeting of the Board of Education tonight after which the vote will become official, local educators said today.

All three proposals were defeated in the Washington and Davis precincts. Only substantial majorities tabulated in the Romeo precinct carried the issues in the district.

The question of authority to issue $750,000 worth of bonds to finance construction of a new high school, to pay for the 22½ acre site, and to remodel existing buildings was defeated in Davis by a vote of 69 to 20. In the Washington area, the count was 100 to 71.

Romeo voters favored the proposal 347 to 267.

Property owners in Davis opposed the tax limitation of eight milles, 69 to 22, and in Washington, they defeated the issue 109 to 67. Again the Romeo area voters carried the proposal for the district by favoring it 376 to 286.

The pattern in the precincts was similar in the vote on the continuation of the four mill operating tax. Davis voters opposed it, 64 to 26. Washington 93 to 85, and the Romeo electorate favored it 394 to 267.

Ike Says Farm Bill 'Not Good'

GOP Leaders Promise to Battle in Order to Change Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised to battle to change it.

* * *

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House Conference Committee.

"I'm quite hopeful we are going to recommit the bill," he said.

* * *

Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated strongly that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

* * *

Martin, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts and Rep. Arends of Illinois, huddled with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson for nearly 2½ hours.

Martin and Knowland said that Eisenhower didn't say specifically whether he would veto the bill if it is accepted by Congress in its present form.

* * *

But Martin added that the President would "be a little shaky about doing anything else."

Benson said Saturday after a meeting with Eisenhower that the bill was "unacceptable to me."

END OF THE (DRAG) LINE? — As workmen finished construction on a new sewer line on Atlantic street, Milford, they stood helplessly by and watched the big 2½ ton drag line sink into the soft mud for the fourth time.

Tile Work Lags as Drag Line Bogs Down Four Times

MILFORD—Workmen have had nothing but trouble in laying sewer tile along a 600-foot stretch on Atlantic street.

Four times the main drag-line practically disappeared in the soft mud and finally another old caterpillar-type drag line had to be brought in to complete the job.

Workmen would just get going on one stretch, then during the night it would rain and they would come back to work in the morning to find the drag line had slipped off the special mats into the mud again.

After one flash flood recently, traffic had to be re-routed at that point due to water rushing down from surrounding hills. Walls of the 30-foot ditch caved in and tile on the side slipped into the cave-in.

New fill dirt brought in last fall for a new real estate development is the cause for the sinking of heavy equipment, according to foreman Jack Holms.

Construction of the sewer line is just about completed for the new Jack Hyman 80-home project and the weary crew is more than grateful.

What should have taken a few days was extended into months of hard work, Holms said.

When workers tried to raise the crane that was stuck in the mud, the boom on the crane smashed into a main telephone cable leading to homes east of Milford and hundreds in the area were without service over the weekend.

Kefauver-Adlai Debate in Offing

Stevenson Faces Test in Illinois With Write-In Expected for Senator

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai Stevenson is winding up his bid for the backing of his home state for the Democratic presidential nomination with a flurry of Kefauver-style handshaking and some new pot shots at his chief opponent.

Also eyeing later primaries, Stevenson offered to debate issues with Sen. Estes Kefauver in Florida after tomorrow's Illinois voting. Kefauver promptly accepted the idea, but there was no immediate formal invitation.

CRUCIAL TEST

The Illinois primary may be a crucial test for Stevenson. He is the state's former governor, the Democratic organization is almost solidly behind him, and his is the only name printed on the Democratic presidential preference ballot.

But Kefauver supporters are urging voters to write in the name of the lanky Tennessean in what they call a "spontaneous" movement. Stevenson himself predicts Kefauver may get a "substantial write-in vote" in Illinois.

Each party will elect 50 convention delegates tomorrow. A state convention later will chose an additional 28 delegates-at-large, each with one half vote, to make up the remainder of the Democratic 64-vote delegation to the national convention. The Republicans will fill out a 60-vote delegation with convention-elected at-large delegates.

Stevenson yesterday went further in the criticism of Kefauver's voting record in Congress that last week drew charges of "mud slinging" from Kefauver.

"The fact of the matter is that during the 83rd, the last full Congress, the Congressional Quarterly discloses that Sen. Kefauver voted only 59 per cent of the time, whereas the average for all senators was 84 per cent," Stevenson said in a television interview filmed at his suburban Libertyville, Ill., home.

Senators Sketch Session Results of 1956 Legislature

LANSING (AP) — The accomplishments and failures of the 1956 Legislature were sketched today by rival Senate leaders.

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman of Battle Creek, Republican caucus chairman, pictured the session as "most productive" and as writing a "proud" record. The Legislature adjourned Saturday.

Responsibility has been the keynote of the session despite tremendous pressures to force the Legislature into irresponsible and ill-advised decisions," Coleman said.

Sen. Harold M. Ryan of Detroit, Democratic minority leader, said "The real failure of this Legislature lies in its refusal to face the big problems of today."

Ryan said the 1956 meeting would go down as a "do nothing Legislature.

In one area, Coleman and Ryan approached agreement. That was on appropriations.

HIGHEST IN HISTORY

"The budget this year will be the highest in history, necessitated by tremendous increases in population and the betterment of hospital, educational and other vital state services," said Coleman.

* * *

Ryan said higher education fared "better than formerly" at the hands of the law-makers and that "with exception of mental health, state agencies have received fairer treatment than has been customary."

Among achievements singled out by Coleman were:

Provision of regional diagnostic centers for the mentally ill.

Transfer of Wayne University from the City of Detroit to state control.

A $10 a month old age pension increase.

Higher workmen's compensation payments.

A constitutional amendment to bar certain felons from Legislative service.

STATE INSURANCE

Recodification of state insurance and drainage laws.

Bond issue power to public airports for new buildings.

Authorization of creation of development credit corporations to make high risk loans to hard pressed businesses.

* * *

Record high school aid program.

Airport aid.

The removal of the boys vocational school from Lansing.

A record large capital improvement program.

Ryan cited a number of "things which should have been done and which we Democrats wanted to do, but which the Republican leadership refused to do," including:

Facing up to the problem o automation.

Extension of state help to counties hard pressed to finance food surplus distribution.

* * *

Accept the seal of quality proposal for promoting the sale of prime state farm products.

Mandatory motor vehicle safety inspection.

A state chronic disease hospital.

State matching funds for local medical clinics.

A chronic diseases research program.

A $1.25 minimum wage.

Resettlement grants for the jobless in distressed areas.

Tightened industrial safety laws.

* * *

A state labor relations law.

Adequate unemployment compensation.

Aid Program to Asia May Force Red Switch

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A United States program of aid to Asia might force Russia to change its policy of "forcing their way of life on others," Paul Hoffman, former ECA administrator, told the alumni assn. of California Institute of Technology.

Such a program would enable new Asian democracies to attain economic and political stability, Hoffman said. This, he added, would force Soviet leaders to start thinking in terms of building a better life for their own people rather than forcing their way of life on others.

British Actress Weds Producer Sy Bartlett

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A London romance led to marriage for British actress Patricia Owens, 24, and Hollywood writer-producer Sy Bartlett, 47.

They were married in a civil ceremony Saturday at the home of oilman-producer Jack Wrather and his wife, actress Bonita Granville. It was the second marriage for Miss Owens and the third for Bartlett.

What Will Be Next? Reading Hurts Kids!

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A Los Angeles optometrist says children should not be allowed to read before they are eight years old.

* * *

Dr. Louis Jaques Sr., addressing the Oklahoma Optometric Association convention, said schools should have simply a "play program" for children until they reach eight.

"Reading is a visual skill of the highest order," he said. "The eyes of a child are not mature enough to cope with the printed page before he is eight.

* * *

"When he is forced to start learning to read at five or six, he develops habits that must be unlearned at a later age."

Smithsonian Institution Given Prized Termites

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Smithsonian Institution announced today it has been presented with a prize collection of 230,000 termites.

The Department of Agriculture gave the bugs to the museum. It took a department scientist 46 years to collect them.

Williams, Harriman to Attend Capital Dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governors Williams of Michigan and Harriman of New York will be dinner companions at a Democratic fund-raising $100-a-plate function here April 21.

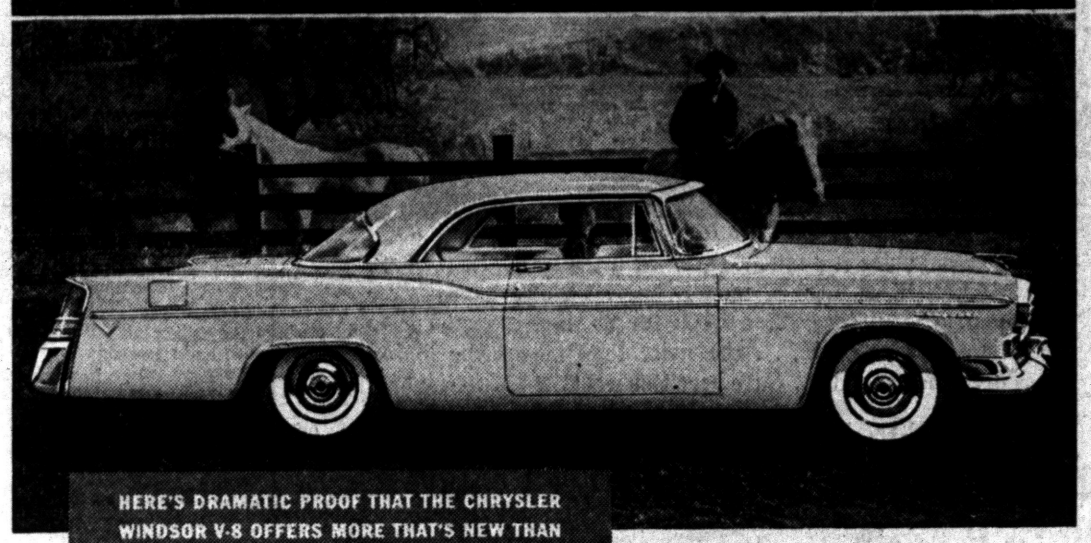

* * *

Both are regarded as potential presidential nomination candidates. They aren't down for speeches at the dinner, however.

The Democratic national committee announced that Williams and Harriman were among several governors who have accepted invitations to attend.

Hoffa Moves South for Organizing Drive

DETROIT (AP) — The Teamsters Union's James Hoffa plans a trip south which he says is to be for intensive organizing with the help of the Longshoremen's Union.

* * *

Hoffa, a vice president of the Teamsters, made known his plans in an interview in which he indicated the role of the longshoremen may be vital.

Hoffa said "we have to lock up southern ports so we can halt loading of non-union ports. It's as simple as that."

Recently Hoffa was in the limelight in a reported struggle between himself and Dave Beck for the top control spot of the Teamsters Union. An offer by Hoffa of a big loan to the Longshoremen's Union figured in the picture. The AFL-CIO is not on the best terms with the Longshoremen's Union.

However, after the recent Honolulu meeting of the Teamsters' top brass, Beck announced he was still in the leader's position and Hoffa publicly agreed.

Graham to Ask TV Ban of Proceedings at Trial

DENVER (INS) — John Gilbert Graham was scheduled to ask Denver District Judge Joseph M. McDonald today to ban all television coverage from his forthcoming murder trial.

Graham, with just one week remaining before the start of the trial, was said by his attorneys Saturday to have signed an affidavit that TV coverage would create prejudice when he faces charges of killing his mother for her insurance by blowing up an airliner.

Railroad Employe Cheats Death 3 Times

PEABODY, Mass. (AP) — Charles McHugh, 54, railroad employe, was riding to work. His train was in a collision. Thirteen were killed, but he escaped injury.

He, and others, transferred to another train which also had a collision. Again, he was not injured.

A few days later he fell asleep while smoking. He suffered leg burns—not serious.

Senate Probes Army Clothing Contracts

WASHINGTON (INS) — A Senate subcommittee is probing charges of corruption in connection with millions of dollars in Army contracts awarded to New York and New Jersey clothing firms.

* * *

Public hearings by the investigations subcommittee are set for tomorrow as a continuation of the group's search for graft in military procurement.

Chief Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told newsmen yesterday the inquiry stems from tips obtained after earlier hearings on alleged "payoffs" by Chicago hatmaker Harry Lev and other contractors to Army procurement personnel.

He did not identify the firms under investigation except to say they were located in New York, Brooklyn and southern New Jersey.

Oil Output Record

CAIRO — The Middle East's production of crude oil hit a record high of 79,000,000 tons during the first six months of 1955, nearly 10 per cent more than the first half of 1954 and 20,000,000 tons above the comparable period in 1953.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

HOLLAND IN SPRINGTIME—1
Katrina Among the Tulips

What better time to visit Holland than in spring when the tulips are in bloom?

Tulips thrive there and the Dutch have been growing them for several hundred years. They are shipped all over the world.

The display of lovely blooms attracts many visitors, and here is Katrina, a Dutch girl of Veere, gathering some of her tulips for sale. In years gone by, tulip bulbs were sometimes sold for their weight in gold.

For the first of a series of cutouts on Holland, color this picture with crayons. Remember tulips come in almost all colors from white through red to a purple that is nearly black. Then paste the picture on cardboard and cut out all the parts carefully.

The single flower at the right top corner can be slipped into Katrina's left hand by cutting slits where the dotted lines are. Cut through the dotted lines of the edges of the basket too, and then you can put the big spray of flowers at the upper left into the basket, under the handle.

Fold the two bottom panels forward, and the left panel back. Then Katrina will sit up properly.

Betty J. Curtis of Birmingham submitted this idea. Send your idea for Junior Editors to this newspaper. It may be worth $10. (Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures)

Another Hollywood Attraction

Mr., Miss U. S. A. Contest to Show Muscles, Curves

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Hollywood, the original home of crazy cocktail parties, will have something new in that field next Wednesday—an afternoon bash featuring vegetable juice potions swoozled by muscle men in swim suits and bathing beauties in bikinis.

The occasion is a reception for the men with the bulging biceps and the girls with king-sized curves who will participate in the Mr. and Miss U. S. A. contest and pageant to be held April 14 in the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles.

Sporting the mightiest muscles of all will be Paul Anderson of Toccoa, Ga., the "strongest man on earth," who will be an added attraction in the program staged by physical culturists from across the nation.

* * *

Probably the only puny specimens at the reception will be reporters, who also are required to wear the "formal" attire of bathing trunks for men and bikinis for women.

However, all except the contestants themselves will don normal attire for the contest judging one week from tonight. The winners—"Mr. U. S. A." and "Miss U. S. A." — will receive cash awards each of $1500 and other prizes.

Only one jarring note is indicated for the so-called cocktail party Wednesday. Although no hard liquor will be served, there will be daring concoctions known as the "clean and jerk cocktail," "squat fizz" and "passion fruit juice."

Home Attracts Wildlife

SHATTUCK, Okla. (AP) — George Howlett is wondering if there is something special that attracts wildlife to his home. A family of raccoons was found making its home in the attic. As soon as that situation had been cleaned up, a family of skunks bedded down under the house. After some ticklish maneuvers, that family was evicted.

Hal Boyle Says:

Bahamas Offer Some Haunting Diversions

ANDROS TOWN, The Bahamas (AP)—If there is someone in your life you want haunted, this is the place to bring him to get the job done.

* * *

You can rent a boat here and enjoy some of the world's finest bonefishing. But if you choose to dabble in a little black magic, you can also rent a ghost by the week or month—or even buy one outright, if you prefer.

MYSTIC REALM

Andros, the largest island in the Bahamas, is a mystic realm reportedly inhabited by the spooks of pirates and several kinds of eerie beasts known nowhere else on earth.

* * *

Clear Creek is a salty stream that now divides the old and new worlds of Andros.

On one side lies Andros Town, a multimillion-dollar development by Dr. Axel Wenner - Gren, the Swedish financier. Its luxurious villas, Yacht Club and Lighthouse Club have become a new resort playground for well-to-do sportsmen and sun-seekers of three continents. You couldn't find a pleasanter place to fish for a marlin or pick up a quick tan.

* * *

Across Clear Creek is Coakley Town, where the natives live. They are descendants of African slaves and Seminole Indians, and many still hold to a local form of voodoo they have developed over the centuries.

MAGIC POWERS

They dislike walking by the deeply timbered groves after dusk. They feel the forests are the homes of the chickcharnies and the yahoos, strange, half-human, half - animal creatures with magic powers to work ill or harm.

The chickcharnies are knee-high have big ears and huge, owlish eyes. Birdlike, they build nests in the juncture of three tall trees that touch at the top.

* * *

They inflict a lifelong curse on anyone who molests their eyries.

Legend has it that all the misfortune that befell the late British Prime Minister, Neville Chamberlain, was the work of the chickcharnies.

The story is that Chamberlain, as a young man, came across a chickcharnie nest while clearing ground for a sisal plantation here. When native workmen fled in terror at his order to tear down the home of the aerial elves, Chamberlain chopped down the trees himself.

CURSE BLAMED

Elders here still blame Chamberlain's failure at Munich on the chickcharine curse, and say Britain never would have won the war if he hadn't been succeeded by Churchill.

* * *

You could never mistake a chickcharnie for a yahoo. Yahoos are tall creatures with red-rimmed eyes and three fingers and they have their feet on backwards. They dwell in the bush.

* * *

If you are going through the bush and suddenly confront a yahoo, the safest thing to do is to hold up your hand in a form of the Boy Scout salute—with three fingers upright and the thumb holding the little finger down.

Presumably, the yahoo, seeing your three fingers, will figure you are a member of his lodge, and go on about his business.

IT'S NO JOKE

"It is a mistake to joke with the natives about these things," said Ray Camp, former rod and gun editor of the New York Times, who now manages the Wenner-Gren properties. "They take them very seriously."

* * *

A leading citizen of Coakley Town is Constable Boyd, a venerable native beagle of the law. One reason he finds it easy to maintain peace is that, for more than a generation, he has held the ghost concession. It's a monopoly. Who wants to cross a man that has every ghost on Andros Island at his beck and call?

Constable Boyd never questions why anyone wants to buy or rent a ghost. That is up to the customer.

You can buy a ghost for $23—the rental fee is a matter for bargaining—but there is one disadvantage. The ghost won't go with you if you leave the island. He prefers his old haunts.

GHOSTS GUARANTEED

But Constable Boyd guarantees the dependability of his spectral merchandise.

"After all," he says, his ancient face a mask of wrinkled solemnity. "I knew these ghosts when they were alive."

* * *

I met one young lady, who lives here part of the year, who rented a ghost for two weeks and said he had worked out very satisfactorily.

When I asked what task she had set the ghost, she blushed and said, "I'd rather not go into that."

Later one of her friends laughed and said:

"Well, it was while that ghost was working for her that she finally got her boy friend to pop the question."

If that is true, there must be a lot of Leap Year lassies back home who'd pay a pretty penny if Constable Boyd could find a way to induce his stable of ghosts to take a trip to America with him.

Peiping Says Books Becoming Less Costly

TOKYO (AP) — Books are getting cheaper in Communist China.

Peiping radio said today prices of children's books and periodicals have been cut 25 per cent, bringing the cost down 50 per cent since 1952. Prices of other books have been slashed 8 to 20 per cent, the broadcast said.

Winter Sports Help

EAST LANSING (AP)—Doug Nash, secretary-manager of the Otsego County Chamber of Commerce, reported to tourist operators meeting at Michigan State University that winter sports bring added dollars to Northern Michigan. Ski enthusiasts spent $707,600 in Otsego County last winter, Nash said.

"And I am sure that our employees are just as pleased with the way Blue Cross • Blue Shield protects them.

"Years ago it was something of a task to sell the hospital insurance program to an employee. The idea was new, and in many cases the restrictions were such that it was only natural for the individual to hesitate.

"That is all changed now, and the idea of hospital-medical coverage is generally accepted by folks in this organization. They want it, and are happy in it being made available at so moderate a cost.

"The protection given them and their dependents by Blue Cross • Blue Shield has afforded a feeling of security which they didn't have before. Such a feeling is conducive to happiness, thus greatly benefiting the relationship between them and management.

"One never knows in advance when sickness or accident may strike. Blue Cross • Blue Shield recognizes just that, giving our employees that solid feeling of security for themselves and their families in an area about which they would otherwise feel quite insecure."

Chapter No. 4 (Condensed) .... The Truth About Cancer

Cancer Treatment Eyes Comfort as Well as Cure

By DR. CHARLES S. CAMERON
Medical and Scientific Director of the American Cancer Society

There are only two ways of curing cancer: by completely removing it surgically or by destroying it with radiant energy such as X-rays and the rays of radium and radioactive isotopes.

But there are other forms of treatment for prolonging the lives of patients who cannot be cured and for making them more comfortable.

Advances in surgery have been so great that patients can now be operated on with the hope of cure who ten years ago would have been given up as altogether hopeless.

Treatment of cancer by surgery has only one purpose: to remove every bit of diseased tissue—down to the last lurking malignant cell.

When cancer is confined to the organ where it began, complete removal by surgery is usually possible and may reasonably be expected to result in cure.

IRRADIATION

X-rays and radium do more damage to cancerous tissue than to normal healthy tissue.

Within a matter of hours after exposure to these rays, the malignant cells show striking changes. At first, cell division ceases rather abruptly. Somewhat later, it begins again. But now it is chaotic and incomplete. Within a week, growth activity ceases, and the cells enlarge and begin to disintegrate.

Their final destruction is hastened by the arrival of squads of the body's police cells (macrophages). At last, the dead malignant cells are replaced by fibroblasts—faithful units of repair that we call scar tissue.

Theoretically, this principle should make it possible to cure all cancers. And at first it was hoped that it would.

But soon a discouraging fact became clear: often the dose required to kill cancer also did permanent harm to the surrounding normal tissue. And this fact continues to be the major limitation in the use of X-rays and radium in treating cancer today.

Still, many kinds of cancer—those that can be brought into reasonably direct contact with the rays—can be destroyed entirely.

Recently, streams of minute electrical charges from the atom-smashing betatron have been directed at cancers in human patients. Early returns seem to show that these streams can be concentrated largely in the tumor area. Thus an even greater selective action can be exerted than has been possible before.

Again, it remains to be seen whether this new technique will save lives which conventional X-rays cannot.

SOME ISOTOPES GOOD

There are 98 elements which occur in nature and which make up the entire fabric of our world—living and non-living. An isotope is a twin brother to an element looking like his brother in every way, and differing only in weight.

Some elements (like radium and uranium) and a number of isotopes as found in nature are unstable. They emit continuous streams of particles and rays, some of which can affect living tissue as X-rays do. Such substances are said to be radio-active, and about 40 natural isotopes have this property.

Recent developments in nuclear physics have made it possible to produce over 500 radioactive isotopes. But only a half-dozen isotopes have so far proved useful in treating cancer.

Radioactive cobalt acts on living tissue very much as radium does. Since it is cheap, large quantities of it can be assembled in one treatment unit and made to substitute for a giant radium bomb or a multimillion-volt X-ray machine.

The results are encouraging, but probably not much better than those now being obtained with supervoltage X-rays.

Other radioactive isotopes are injected into the body or taken in by drinking.

Their theoretical usefulness is based on two facts: (1) certain chemical elements are taken up and stored in certain tissues in relatively large amounts; (2) these elements occur in nature in stable form (not radioactive), but they can be made radioactive.

In theory, then, if cancer is growing in a certain tissue of the body, we should be able to select a chemical that will be deposited in that tissue. Then we could make the chemical radioactive by exposing it to nuclear bombardment in an atomic pile.

Finally, we could administer it to the patient, and have its radiant energy given off within cancerous tissue. The destructive action of the high-energy rays would be concentrated just where it is most needed—in the so-called "target."

Unfortunately, only a few elements are able to single out a target with this precision.

Radioactive isotopes play only a small part in the treatment of cancer, and they have not borne out the hopes that they excited at first. Yet the few things they can do, they do well—better in some ways than any other type of treatment available today.

HORMONES INVOLVED

Hormones are in some way involved in cancer. Just how is far from clear. Yet it is already possible to modify in some degree the growth of at least two kinds of cancer.

And one of these happens to be cancer of the breast—the commonest major form of the disease in women. The other—cancer of the prostate—is the third most frequent cancer in males. Treatment with hormones does help, though the results are not as constant nor as long-lasting as we might wish.

In younger women, cancer of the breast that cannot be controlled by either surgery or irradation is frequently restrained for varying periods by eliminating the major source of female sex hormones—the ovaries..

Either they are removed surgically, or their functioning cells are destroyed by X-rays. Or the hormones are suppressed by administering the male sex hormone, testosterone.

But attempts to control breast and prostate cancer by hormones are by no means always successful. Even when initial results are gratifying, the tumor—sooner or later—gets out of hand again.

DRUGS UNDER RESEARCH

A drug that would seek out and poison cancer cells but leave normal cells undamaged would surely qualify as the long-sought cancer cure. And much research is under way to find drugs that will do just this.

Researchers have come up with chemical compounds that will poison cancer cells and stop or slow their growth. But all of them damage normal cells as well, though to a lesser degree.

It is not unreasonable to expect that some day drugs will be developed that can be used to treat cancer in humans effectively.

But treatment by means of drugs, hormones, and most isotopes does not lead to cure. At present, they merely prolong life and make the advanced stages of cancer more bearable.

ADVANCED CANCER

What about that remaining half of all cancer patients who cannot be cured at present, regardless of when or how they are treated? Their ordeal has been lightened by numerous recent achievements of medical science.

Pain in certain locations caused by extensive cancer can often be lessened or completely relieved by surgery—and usually by relatively minor operations at that.

So sometimes the proper nerves are simply cut, or certain solutions may be injected into them which act as barriers to nerve stimuli.

Incurable cancer, the, need no longer be a sentence to unremitting agony. Medical science is steadily making it possible for more patients with cancer, even though it cannot be cured, to live longer, to live more fully, and to enjoy greater comfort.

Say Cambodia 'Enchanted' by Commie China

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Cambodia is becoming increasingly enchanted with Communist China.

On lottery ticket stands throughout this capital, pictures of the recent royal coronation are being sold alongside those of beaming Prince Norodom Sihanouk shaking hands with Premier Chou En-lai of Red China during the prince's recent trip to Peiping.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles bypassed Cambodia on his recent swing through Southeast Asia but did visit neighboring Thailand and South Viet Nam. Both of those countries are feuding with Cambodia and it could well be the source of expressed Cambodian fears that the United States is indirectly trying to pressure it into joining the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Thailand is a member of SEATO.

Cambodia currently receives about 50-million-dollars-a-year aid from the United States, of which nearly half is devoted for maintenance of the 35,000-man army, navy and air force.

Combine Exercise With Calorie Counting

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For a long time it has been thought that you cannot reduce by exercise alone. This is true in that you would have to exercise more than you could or should in order to lose many pounds in a reasonably short length of time.

* * *

But exercise is extremely valuable in weight reduction because it distributes weight more attractively and tones up the body while the pounds drop away.

Of course, exercise also burns up calories. Therefore, the most comfortable and best way to lose weight is to exercise and count your calories. You can get away with more calories and still lose if you exercise too.

If your doctor says that exercise is safe for you, and in most cases at least some form of exercise if advised, you may wish to cut your calories less drastically and add some exercise to your daily routine. This not only makes reducing more pleasant but will be fine for your health.

With this in mind I am giving you a list of activities and the calories each uses up if indulged in for one hour.

Dancing — generally 200 to 250 calories. This depends, of course, on the type of dance.

Calisthentics — 250 calories.

Skating — 300 to 700 calories.

Walking rapidly — 300 to 400 calories; walking slowly, 130 calories.

Sewing — 25 calories.

Swimming — 300 to 700 calories.

Tennis — 200 to 500 calories.

Bowling — 225 calories.

Sweeping or dusting — 90 calories.

Dishwashing — (not with a dishwasher) 60 calories.

Ironing — 60 calories.

Golf — (if you carry your own bag) 200 to 250 calories.

This will give you some idea of the calories you use around the house and also in sports. Practically everyone can take an hour's walk a day. You may have to start out slowly, but can build up to the brisk walk.

This is such a wonderful health measure! Hold yourself well, breathe deeply and forget your troubles while walking.

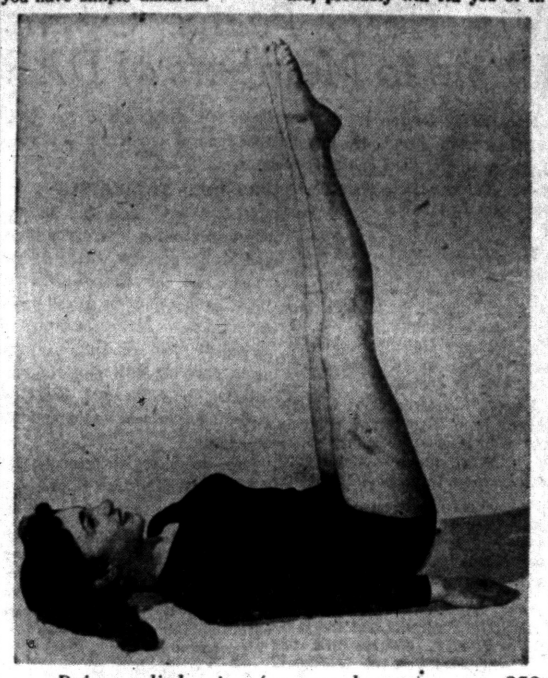

DANDRUFF WOES

True dandruff is a skin disease and should be treated by a dermatologist. However, what we call dandruff is usually the simple kind which most people experience at some time in their lives.

* * *

If you could look at your scalp under a microscope you would see that the outer layer is horny-like. This sloughs off constantly as new structure takes its place. This is a natural process and is not usually noticeable. However, if you see small, white flakes on your hair you have simple dandruff.

This usually clears up by itself but if not, a general improvement in your health and health routine, plus a little local aid, probably will rid you of it.

Doing calisthentics for one hour uses up 250 calories.

There are many theories as to what causes dandruff. The following factors at least seem to predispose us to it: Nervous strain, overwork, a scalp which is too tight, overweight, a deficient diet, much time spent in overheated dry rooms or prolonged illness.

* * *

We are much less likely to have this difficulty if we keep ourselves in top condition, get enough sleep, exercise, outdoor life, relaxation and a well balanced diet. Some experts feel that the carbohydrates should be cut and the vegetables and fruits built up in daily menus.

When our health and our scalp are in good condition we seem to have resistance to dandruff. Build up your general health but also indulge in scalp massage. Frequent shampoos are recommended for simple dandruff.

When you give yourself a shampoo part your hair all over your head at inch intervals and gently scrub along the parts with a soapy lather and a tooth brush. Let the soap remain on the scalp for a short time before rinsing it off.

There are also some very effective tonics for dandruff.

Margaret Returns Home to Finish Wedding Plans

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (INS) — Margaret Truman comes home later this week like any other bride-to-be to help with final preparations for her April 21 wedding.

The 32-year-old daughter of former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman will exchange vows with New York newsman Clifton Daniel in Trinity Episcopal Church where her parents were married 37 years ago.

Only the couple's immediate families will attend the "quiet and simple" service which will be read by the Rev. Patric L. Hutton, rector of the church which was recently redecorated.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception will be held in the Truman home for "close friends."

The bride has announced her dress will be "short and beige." Created by a leading Rome designer, the gown will be bouffant with 200-year-old lace over tulle.

At Miss Truman's request, there will be no singing during the service. Organist J. D. Mammontree will provide the music.

Two long-time friends of Margaret will be her attendants, Mrs. John E. Horton, of Los Angeles, the former Drucie Snyder, and Mrs. W. Coleman Branton, of Kansas City, the former Mary Shaw.

Daniel's best man will be John Knox Barrow, Jr. of Ahoskie, N.C. They were boyhood chums and college classmates.

Ushers at the wedding will be Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, and George Backer, former publisher of the New York Post. Daniel is assistant to the foreign editor of the Times. He and Miss Truman met at the Backer's New York home.

This old Missouri town of 37,000 is happy about Margaret's approaching marriage. But its citizens have had the Trumans' living among them for some time and there is no great commotion about the wedding.

The following comment from one resident summed up the sentiment: "Daniel is very lucky to get one of the finest girls in the world. We're awfully proud of Margaret. She's a great credit to her home and country because of her dignified life."

Guild Will Hold 'Do-It-Yourself' Fashion Show

BIRMINGHAM—A "do - it-yourself" angle on fashion shows is planned by St. Catherine Guild of St. James Episcopal Church. And mothers of the young models are busily sewing on togs.

—… … • … … … …

Mrs. Lawrence Smith's committee decided that rather that having a business place oponsor a children's style show, homemade fashions would be a "switch."

Tots from just-walking age up to 9 years will be modeling their own new clothes at the April 19 dessert bridge fashion show at 1 p.m. in the church's undercroft.

Mrs. Smith's committee is selling tickets. It includes Mrs. Richard Swart, Mrs. Richard Holmes, Mrs. Frank Barnes, Mrs. F. M. Trickey, Mrs. D. H. Curtiss, Mrs. Raymond Williams, Mrs. Robert Kappler and Mrs. William Weston.

Silversmiths, who formerly catered pretty exclusively to the middle-aged Rolls Royce crowd, now slant advertising for teenagers and career girls, who buy most of today's sterling.

No One Would Stop; Injuries Kill Driver

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — The struggle was too great for Vincent Hall, 18, who died yesterday of injuries suffered Friday.

* * *

Hall's car plunged over a steep embankment. He was thrown clear but the car was submerged in water.

Before he died, Hall said he called to each passing car for help. In spite of a broken ankle and other injuries, he crawled part way up the embankment before he lost consciousness.

* * *

He inched his way to the top when he regained his senses Saturday and was taken to a hospital.

Mock Convention Picks Stevenson, Symington

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A students' mock Democratic national convention has nominated Adlai Stevenson for President and Sen. Symington (D-Mo) for Vice President.

Both were selected on the first ballot by some 650 students from 40 California colleges.

The day before a students' mock Republican convention nominated President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

GOOD SCOUT — Eight-year-old Blanche Wells saved three small children from almost certain death in a fire last Feb. 28. But when 4,000 Brownie and Girl Scouts cheered as Blanche was given the Girl Scout Award recently, she shook with a whopping dose of stage fright. A member of the Columbus and Franklin County Girl Scout Council in Ohio, Blanche, above, displays a big toothy grin a few minutes after receiving her award.

It's a Long Pull— but Dentist Does It

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tired of commuting? So is Dr. Caleb Davidian, 49, a dentist from Placerville, Calif.

He drives 860 miles roundtrip each week from his home to the University of Southern California where he is taking a postgraduate course in orthodontics. He leaves school Friday night, spends a day and a half with his family and then hits the road again.

* * *

So far he has worn out one car. He estimates that when the 16-month course ends in June he will have traveled the equivalent of three times around the world.

Gotham Unions Promised Help

Harriman, Wagner Vow to Fight Racket Growth Within City Industry

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman and Mayor Robert F. Wagner have vowed to "protect legitimate union and business activity" in New York City against threats of renewed industrial racketeering.

* * *

The two met for an hour last night at Harriman's Manhattan residence to discuss "indications and threats" of a revival of racketeering "in some phases of business" here.

In a joint statement they said: "We are determined to protect legitimate union and business activity and we will meet again on this subject in the near future."

Earlier, Harriman paid a hospital bedside call on labor columnist Victor Riesel. An unidentified young man threw sulphuric acid in Riesel's face on a mid-Manhattan street early last Thursday.

OPENED HIS EYES

Riesel was able to open his eyes himself yesterday for the first time. He said he was able to see. Previously, doctors had opened the syndicated newspaper columnist's eyes for him.

Harriman said he visited Riesel to "express the interest of all the people of the state in his early recovery and the determination of the city to put an end to mob activities and end any intimidation of free speech."

* * *

Wagner said yesterday the attack on Riesel was a "shame." The mayor, back from a week's vacation in Florida, conferred with Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy.

ACCUSES RACKET

Forty-eight detectives have been assigned full time to the task of tracking down the assailant who hurled the acid as Riesel left a Broadway restaurant.

In a statement Saturday Riesel said "heavily financed racket combines . . . planned and executed the attack on me."

CRITICAL EYE — Judges Rex Shephard of Rochester and Don Houghton of Milford check this electrical project over before making their decision at 4-H Spring Achievement Day. Electrical entries included everything from wiring examples to lamps, fans and motors. Dan Abbey was superintendent of the electrical exhibit.

ACHIEVEMENTS GALORE — Judy Eastburn, 475 Park, Birmingham, looks over some of the 4-H achievements at achievement day. Forming the background is a child's wall table designed and executed by one of the county 4-H'rs. Approximately 1,500 youngsters made entries in Saturday's project display.

Clifton Daniel on Video, Raps Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (INS) — Newsman Clifton Daniel, fiance of Margaret Truman, believes that the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy" hasn't gotten any results" for the last 18 months.

He said that the new economic offensive being undertaken by the Communists should not be taken lightly by the free world and criticized the emphasis Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has placed on bringing pressures on the Reds.

Daniel declared: "We are less in a position today to encourage the overthrow of Communist leaders than we have been in a long time. They seem to be going from success to success and have been achieving great triumphs."

When asked if he believed former President Truman, who will become his father-in-law later this month, should visit the Soviet Union, Daniel affably commented: "As I've told some of my newspaper friends, when I discuss Mr. Truman's private affairs, you can cut my throat."

Dial's 'Smile' Comes to Earth

The fabled "smile behind the dial" is no longer a nebulous entity that sheds its rays on admirers through a telephone receiver. It's up front these days.

The event that has lifeted it (and the mysterious clicks it summons) from the realm of visions is an innovation which the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has dubbed the "Dial-O-Rama."

Pioneered by the utility firm's Pontiac office, the term describes a tour in which Bell personnel seek to dispel the veil of mystery which shrouds the intricacies of wire communication from the average telephone user.

The idea was revived and streamlined late last year after wartime restrictions were relaxed and telephone companies removed from top-secret lists.

Since then, each Wednesday afternoon has been set aside to make it possible for visitors to peer deeply into the complex maze of people and wires that comprises a modern telephone system.

A typical tour begins in an atmosphere of deceptive serenity. The visitor who walks through the quiet lobby and down the business-like halls is hardly prepared for the activities which go on behind the closed doors.

A tour of the switching room, for example, gives the observer the feeling that he is standing alongside the city's pulse as the constant and scattered sounds of clicking relays signal that digits are being dialed all over the area.

The complicated system of wires and machinery is actually an electronic "sentinel" which receives impulses from countless spinning dials, combines them and puts the telephoners in immediate contact with their parties.

In another part of the building, the guide points out the "ringing machines," not much bigger than outboard motors but equal to the gigantic task of producing dial tones and ringing signals for whoever picks up a telephone receiver.

The observer finds that the marvels of automation have, if anything, made the human element more important in the maintenance of communications. Each center of activity is closely watched by technicians whose job it is to spot trouble and be ready to correct it quickly.

And the dial, for all its marvels, has failed to dislodge the operator from her position. She still sits in front of a colorful switchboard along with long lines of others as the visitor discovers during his tour.

Even the switchboard room is quiet although the operators are busy guiding long distance calls, providing information and intercepting faulty transmissions.

At another station more young women handle the gigantic task of processing the forms and figures which are part of having thousands of customers. Here, the visitor learns about the steps involved in accounting for calls from large reproductions of standard forms.

The tourist learns from activity in the engineering section that Bell leaves nothing to chance. Standing by a wall display of cable cross-sections, the observer views tables of draftsmen whose pob it is to plan future telephone lines.

Expansion is not merely a problem of providing a crew and the lines, as the guide will tell you. Before the company puts in a cable to a new subdivision, planners study the prospects for future expansion in the area, among other factors.

The visitor also learns about the equipment by which technicians detect trouble and send crews out to correct it. Another section has the task of spotting misdirected calls.

Concrete illustrations of the system's complexities in the form of miniature models, cutaways and charts stand at various points along the tour's route.

Bell officials report that the tour has met with success, especially among school and community groups.

"We're not trying to dazzle the people who use our phones," one executive said. "We want people to know about the system and understand it — it's theirs in a sense, after all."

* * *

The Bell people aren't worried that many who take the tour will come away with enough insight to go out and organize a rival telephone company, but they are sure that those who have "glimpsed behind the scenes" will be better callers.

NERVE CENTER — Busy operators sit before an intricate array of lights and switches in the switchboard room of the Pontiac telephone office. Carol Willis, of 1712 Cass Lake Rd. sits nearest the camera. Seated next to her is Operator Jean Morse, of 501 Cameron St., while Supervisor Dorothy Barron, of 6213 Wilson St., Drayton Plains, watches at the right.

Ball-Point Moves to the Fore

Era of Post Office Inkwell Nears End

PASSE — Mrs. Donald McNorris, of 3450 Otter Beach Dr., uses one of the Pontiac Post Office's hand-dip pens, soon to be replaced in offices all over the country by new ball-point writers.

The scratchy, hand-dip pen — long a familiar fixture in U. S. post offices — will soon be a thing of the past, according to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

The death knell of the old stylus was sounded recently when postal officials disclosed that it will be replaced with 500,000 ball-point pens.

The decision to adopt the modern pens was made following many months of experiments at selected post offices in various sections of the country.

Leslie H. Dean Sr., acting postmaster here, expects the pens to be in use at Pontiac-area stations within 90 days.

Summerfield states that both the public and postal employes favor the ball point because of its greater legibility.

The department also expects to realize a substantial monetary savings in wages paid to custodians needed to fill ink wells and replace points on the old style pens.

Contrary to early beliefs, use of the ball points during the experiment did not bring about an increase in thefts.

"Few individuals will risk up to a year in prison or a $500 fine to steal a pen labeled 'Property of the U. S. Post Office Department' and held to a desk by a metal chain," Summerfield noted.

The postmaster general stated that the department is currently seeking competitive bids to supply the new pens.

Seldom Tell the Boss to 'Drop Dead' Anymore

Employes' Ideas Are 'Big Business'

NEW YORK (AP)—Keepers of the suggestion box wish that cartoonists would get a new idea. The old standby shows the boss opening the box to find the suggestion: "Drop dead."

* * *

Directors of industrial suggestion systems say that oldie rarely turns up, but funnier ones do. They cite a recent instance when a company asked employes, What would you do if you got control of this firm tomorrow?" and received this tip: "Sell it."

Suggestions, however, are a serious business for the companies and most employes.

The National Assn. of Suggestion Systems reports that within one year its 800 members received more than a million suggestions from employes, used 260,000, and paid seven million dollars for the ideas.

The association makes no guess on how much money industry saves each year by tips from employes but says it must run into the millions.

Here are examples of the scope of a few individual suggestion systems:

Bernard F. Anderson, vice president in charge of manufacturing of Remington Rand division of Sperry Rand, says employes' ideas on how the business should be run increased both in quantity and quality in 1955. The company, which actively encourage suggestions, received 12,446, used 3,965 and paid $37,867 for them.

Harry W. Andersn, vice president in charge of personnel at General Motors, says workers offered 228,437 suggestions and GM paid $3,225,741 for the 54,635 it adopted. In the last 14 years the motor company has paid 17 million dollars for tips.

The Ford Motor Co. paid $1,022,228 for 15,749 suggestions accepted from 77,815 submitted—all three figures being records, according to John S. Bugas, vice president, industrial relations.

What ideas win the big money from the boss? D. G. Morse, president of the National Assn., of Suggestion Systems, says that the prize winner in 1955 was Mrs. Emma Gabor of the jet division of Thompson Products, Cleveland, who made good use of her nail polish to earn $6,592.

She put the brilliant coating on the edge of the continuous belt used on the high speed polishing machine she operators, to stop its ravelling.

Labor Witness Mugged After Giving Testimony

DETROIT (INS) — A Detroit factory worker was in serious condition today in Saratoga General Hospital after being beaten by three men for his testimony in a labor dispute.

Leslie Jolliff, 51, testified in a hearing before the Carpenter's District Council, AFL, which resulted in the firing of Clem Beschoner, 31.

Jolliff told police he was attacked by Beschoner and two unidentified men yesterday.

BIRD LOVER — Cats that play with one bird are fairly common, but one that has three feathered friends is fairly unusual. "Old Man," a feline owned by the William Hermann family of Oconomowoc, Wis., gets along fine with a trio of parakeets. All have the freedom of the house and enjoy perching on their friend's back. "Old Man" is part Manx and has no tail, but boasts seven toes on each front paw.

Farouk, Nasser's Wife to Attend Royal Rites

MONTE CARLO (INS)—Monacan proctocol officials were thrown for a loss today with two unexpected acceptances of invitations to the wedding of Prince Rainier and Grace Kelly.

Ex-King Farouk of Egypt replied that he is planing to come to the wedding, while Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser said his wife will attend in his place.

A secret Monaco emissary has reportedly been sent to persaude Farouk, now living on the French Riviera, to decline the invitation to avoid any embarrassing incidents which might result from a meeting with the wife of the present Egyptian chief of staff.

Bob Considine Says:

Reds Bully Refugees Into Returning Home

NEW YORK (INS) — Of all the subtle tortures inflicted on free men by the Communists few compare to the program of blackmail, seduction, lure and force visited on those who broke through the Iron Curtain and left loved ones behind.

Angier Biddle Duke, president of the International Rescue Committee, told of one of these tragic souls in a recent speech at Iona College, New Rochell, N. Y. I can't get it out of my mind:

"A Hungarian refugee, a former well-known lawyer, came to the United States in 1951. When he escaped from Hungary he had to leave behind his wife and two children.

"On July 17, 1955 in the evening he received a phone call in his apartment just outside Boston. The voice on the other end said, 'This is Joseph Acsay. I have a letter from your wife. I would like to see you tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Union Terminal in front of the information booth. I will give the letter to you at that time.'

* * *

"You can imagine with what anticipation and fear this man kept that appointment. As he walked along the sunny streets of free Boston, he realized that the Soviet apparatus had found out where he lived and the machinery to get him to return was about to swing into high gear.

URGED TO RETURN

"The man who called ultimately turned out to be a member of the Hungarian Legation and the letter from his wife, warm and friendly, urged him to return.

* * *

"As he thoughtfully walked along the streets that summer morning he remembered what had happened to the father and brother-in-law of his old friend Msgr. Bela Varga, the president of the Hungarian National Council, two months before.

"Varga had received such an invitation to return home. He rejected it in a most forceful way. During those two months, word had seeped through the Iron Curtain that the monsignor's father lay dying in a prison hospital, that his brother-in-law had been questioned five times by the police and now was unemployed, a broken man.

"So what should this man do? If he refused, his wife who was clearly under the power of the Hungarian Communist police, and his two children, would suffer. He waited and wondered . . .

* * *

"From that moment to this, this poor refugee has been approached on the average of three times a month by the representative of the Communist regime. He has been offered amnesty.

"He has been offered the release of the 10 prisoners who were sentenced by the Communist court in Hungary at the same trial at which he was convicted in absentia.

* * *

"He has been offered a lucrative position, teaching in a university in Budapest, reunion with his family and his children, a decent material life. For all these months he has been bearing on his shoulders and his soul the reponsibility for the lives of his wife, his children and 10 of his friends.

AIRPLANE TICKET

"Last December 14, the Communist legation official came to his house again with an airplane ticket from Boston to Budapest, paid for, made out in his name. The Communist said, 'Two days from now is your wife's birthday. In two days you can be in Budapest and celebrate with her . . .'"

* * *

That's only one case. The astonishing knowledge the Reds possess about the whereabouts and activities of escapees in the free world is sufficient proof that the world has been honeycombed by this apparatus. The Communist aim is to persuade all or most of the 2,500,000 escapees to return. The stakes are high.

"With every returning refugee the hope of eventual liberation is dimmed for those remaining behind the curtain, the illusion of invincible Communist power is nourished and the resolve needed for further escape is weakened," Duke warned.

Redefection, it's called, and it envisions the eventual destruction of the community of refugees — the most articulate spreaders of anti-Communist doctrine through the world.

* * *

A colossal file and spy system keeps tabs of all those who have fled to freedom but are still bound morally to the homeland. Those who return, and live, apparently are forced to devote the remainder of their days to urging others to return.

Flint Tornado Victims Survive Latest Twister

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The Stanley Chaffee family, probably wondering if they are tornado-bait, was on its feet today with Red Cross assistance.

* * *

The Chaffees, who lost their belongings in the distrous Flint tornado of 1953, lost a second house Tuesday night in the twister at Hudsonville.

* * *

Mrs. Chaffee's mother was the last to arrive at their new rented home with 11 others invited to a family reunion when the tornado warnings came.

* * *

The group, including the Chaffees, their children, Rickie, 2, and Sharon, 10; Mr. and Mrs. Max Shepler and their son, Wayne; Mrs. Hannah Musselman and sons, Alan, 17, Jimmy, 17, and Keith, 12, and Mrs. Chaffee's mother, took shelter in the basement.

The twister smashed down the house but spared its occupants.

Chaffee and his family have moved into a trailer to make a new start.

Ancient Law Forbids Meat on Wednesdays

LONDON — Under a 500-year-old law, 15 councilmen of a Suffolk, England, town nearly went to prison recently. A local ferryman quit and it was found that under the Act, passed when King Henry VI was reigning, the councilmen were compelled to keep the ferry going, although it cost $1,500 a year to run and in winter averaged only about $1 a week.

Fortunately, the ferryman agreed to stay on. Under one 17th century law it is an offense to make weather forecasts; another forbids the eating of meat on Wednesdays. "Surely," said the councilmen of Suffolk, "Parliament should find time to clear up these anachronisms."

Tax Men Solve Puzzle of Blonds, er, Bonds

DENVER (INS) — The Denver office of the Internal Revenue Service received an unusual income tax return listing among the deductions: "Blonds Abandoned."

The tax men finally figured it out. An investigation showed the taxpayer hit the letter "l" by mistake and really was referring to worthless blonds, er, bonds.

Eighty per cent of the nation's houses are built of wood.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

*Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

P.S. DOCTORS PRESCRIBE SPECIAL LAXATIVE TO EASE PAINFUL ELIMINATION WHILE SHRINKING PILES

The makers of Preparation H also make Petro-Syllium®, a special type laxative prescribed by doctors for hemorrhoid sufferers. Softens hard dry stool and assures easy elimination without pain. Ask for Petro-Syllium.

'$64,000 Question' Brings Out the Ham

Quiz Show Winners Catch Spotlight Fever

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—You toss the top money-winners of "The $64,000 Question" into a hotel room, mix lightly with Scotch and soda pop, add a sprinkling of spotlights—and what have you got?

* * *

Ham, that's what. Pure, tasty, well-seasoned ham.

Ask Steve Frohlich, the $32,000 expert on American history, who was lounging against a pillar in a suite at the Hampshire House, where 18 past winners of large cash awards were collected. He'll confirm it.

"Look at us," he says, "we are all here because once you get the taste of overnight fame, you cannot resist wanting more of it. It's not the money people win on 'The $64,000 Question' that makes them happy — although don't get me wrong, I'm not knocking money — it's the admiration from people who never noticed you before."

The party was being held to celebrate the launching of a new TV show, "The $64,000 Challenge," premiered last night, in which the past winners have a chance to make even more money and glow once again in the limelight.

HAPPY CROWD

Each happy in his or her own way, they laughed and drank and threatened to bring down the crystal chandeliers in the sedate hotel.

* * *

Gino Prato, the glorious shoemaker, sang lustily over the din of tinkling glasses. Gloria Lockerman, the bobby-socked spelling expert, giggled profusely.

Mrs. Catherine Kreitzer, the grandma from Camp Hill, Pa., left her Bible at home.

Myrt Power, known to many as "the baseball lady," was he usual loquacious self. "Oh, I just cain't hardly wait to be on this new show, it was so much fun and it was so hard to get back down to earth, and acourse a person can always use more money, because the government takes so much out —but they (the sponsors of $64,000) don't like us to say that."

* * *

"Red" O'Hanlon, the Staten Island policeman who knew $16,000 worth of Shakespeare, admitted his money was all gone. "After all, with five children—but we didn't spend it foolishly, unless you call a new car foolish."

OTHERS SAVED

Red was the only one who has spent all his winnings, apparently. The others—Capt. Richard McCutcheon, Dr. Joyce Brothers, Jim and Bill Egan, et al—said they had socked most of their prize money away.

* * *

And with the single exception of Gino Prato, who landed himself a good position as a goodwill ambassador for a firm that makes shoe heels, each member of the bonanza gang has the same job and status in life.

As Frohlich, the seed-selling philosopher, pointed out:

"When you win suddenly more money than you ever had before, the money doesn't make you frivolous, it makes you secure. Suddenly, your old car doesn't look so bad, now that you know you can have a Cadillac.

"Knowing you can have what you want replaces the desire to have it. You follow?"

THE POWERHOUSE
By Jimmy Powers

Mail has been floating in from obviously starchy souls who express great concern over the method poor old Joe Louis has selected to earn a living.

I thought Joe summed it up rather well himself when, after a recent wrestling bout, he mopped the honest beads of sweat from his brow and sighed: "It ain't stealin'."

Joe Walcott is earning a few dollars in this manner. Jack Dempsey, in 1940, played to 12,000 at Atlanta in a boxer-wrestler bout with Cowboy Luttrell.

It is difficult to maintain a fake social scale in professional sports. Whether you are getting your front teeth knocked out on a football field, or a fresh caseload of sacroiliac trouble on the wrestling mat it makes little difference.

You are paid to entertain. Ballplayers, soccer stars, bull fighters, jai alai whizzes are all wrapped up in the same package with jugglers, ballet dancers, fiddle players, actors, cartoonists and columnists.

I maintain it is also the function of sports columnist to entertain, to amuse, to relay interesting anecdotes, the latest dugout chit-chat, and in general help his reader forget the problems and vexations of modern life.

We are all in the same boat, more or less, so why look down a supercilious nose at Joe Louis hustling as best he can to pay a rather hefty income tax tab.

★ ★ ★ ★

There is also a spuriously pious strain of writing in the mail condemning Joe because he likes to bet a few bob on the golf course and pick up the check for friends who are not exactly Social Register. Don't we all have our foibles? Are all our friends worthy of knighthood and an invitation to Grace Kelly's wedding?

FRISCH BELIEVED IN LIVE-AND-LET-LIVE

Frankie Frisch reacted typically when, in the course of his wonderful Polo Grounds TV interviews, he inadvertently stepped on a few toes, politically, socially and what-have-you. . . . "If every special interest, every belief and every personal set of prejudices and enthusiasms all went into a master list of taboos the whole sports world would be out of business," said Frank.

"I remember the bitter feelings that dated back to Sunday baseball. Some people don't want to attend a ball game on Sunday. Branch Rickey, for example. That's their privilege. They don't have to go. But, please don't try to stop others from going. There are certain sects who think Saturday is holier than Sunday.

Burke Wins Masters as Venturi Bogies Away

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A friendly puff of wind blew Jack Burke Jr. right into the 1956 Masters golf championship.

Burke breezed in to claim the crown after amateur Ken Venturi and "Old Pro" Cary Middlecoff blew up and out of the championship picture in one of the wildest finishes in Masters history.

The small, 33-year-old Texan came up from eight strokes back and captured his first major championship yesterday with a one-under-par 71 for a 289 total. Venturi, the amateur stylist who had kept the pros playing second fiddle all the way, soared to an 80 and 290. Middlecoff, the lean, cagy veteran who won last year, took a 77 and 291.

* * *

And once again, the formidable Augusta National course, with its 6,965 yards of wooded fairways and gigantic greens, kept alive two traditional Masters jinxes: (1) No amateur has ever won it and (2) No winner has ever been able to repeat the next year.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Venturi, the 24-year-old auto salesman whose sound game and "Young Amateur Beating The Pros" status captured the golfing world's fancy. And it was tough on Middlecoff to look back on the chances he had and muffed.

But Burke's victory, nontheless, was a popular one, for he is one of the best-liked golfers in the game and long had been considered a "hard luck" case who came close often but never quite managed to win the really big ones.

* * *

Sam Snead, a three-time winner of the Masters, and Lloyd Mangrum, who usually finishes high among the leaders here, tied for fourth at 292. Snead matched Burke's 71, Mangrum shot a 72.

Next came Doug Ford and Jerry Barber at 294, then Ben Hogan, Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt at 296. Mayfield shot a closing 74, Hogan and Barber 75s, Bolt 76 and Ford 77.

Par for the Augusta National is 36-36—72.

The tournament was won—and lost—on the 71st hole, and the wind which buffeted this storied course most of the final three rounds played a major role in the goings-on at the crucial hole.

* * *

After 16 holes of the final round, Venturi and Middlecoff were tied at one over par for the distance. Burke was a stroke back. Middlecoff was short at 17 and chipped up. A puff of wind blew his first putt off line and, perhaps unnerved by the prankish elements, he took two more to get down. That gave him a double-bogey 6—his third of the round—and put him three over par.

* * *

Along came Burke a few minutes later. He got on in two, 15 feet from the cup.

"I hit my putt and about a foot from the hole it almost died," he releated. "Then the wind got behind it and took it on in."

* * *

In the next twosome was Venturi. His second shot rolled to the back of the green, paused at the top of a downslope, then trickled over. A chip and two putts for a bogey and suddenly the youngster who had led at the end of every round needed a birdie on the last hole to tie Burke.

He didn't get it.

Burke, who Middlecoff jokingly said was golf's "Rookie of the Year for about seven years," didn't appear to be a factor in the tournament as far as the championship was concerned even after nine holes of the final round.

* * *

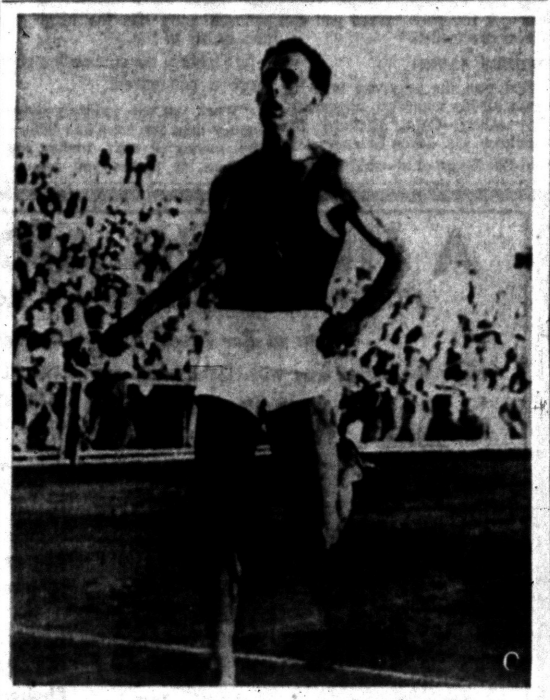

Although he pulled within one stroke of Middlecoff, the former dentist still was four strokes back of the West Coast amateur whiz. But Venturi caught three straight bogies starting the back nine, missing putts of 6 and 5 feet for pars at 10 and 11 and missing the green on the short 12th.

* * *

Burke, whose father tied for second in the National Open in 1920, was as surprised as anyone that he won.

"Eight days ago when I came here," he said during presentation ceremonies, "winning this championship was the one thing in my mind I wanted to do, but the way my golf swing was going it was the last thing I thought I would do."

Burke's winning 289 tied the highest score ever to win a Masters. Snead and Hogan tied at 289 in 1954, with Snead beating Hogan in a playoff.

Ex-Track Great

Minister Denounces AAU

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Glen Cunningham, one of America's all-time track greats, has bitterly denounced AAU policies and called upon the group "to disregard its prehistoric thinkers."

The 46-year-old minister who appeared in St. Louis at the Presbyterian Memorial Church yesterday, lashed out at the AAU during an interview with newsmen.

The famed miler of the 1930s described the AAU as a group "badly in need of theory revamping" and said that if America is to keep up with the rest of the world in athletics, it must "change some of its ideas."

Cunningham's statements followed a lengthy statement on the American idea of subsidized athletics Saturday night by Avery Brundage, International president of the Olympic Committee.

* * *

In a special statement released in Chicago, Brundage attacked what he termed "the hysteria raised in certain circles in this country about Russian performance in sport." Brundage said that all this sounded like "sour grapes" to the rest of the world.

Cunningham charged that the AAU thinks in terms of a "generation ago and has too many politicians in the organization who do nothing but hold out their hands.

The ex-miler said that it would not be a bad idea for the National Collegiate Athletic Association to bring under its jurisdiction, the AAU. This, Cunningham said, may not be the final solution, "but at least it is a good beginning."

He emphasized that today a person just cannot earn a living and still do the training necessary to be a top notch athlete. He added that under current conditions an amateur gives up all his personal privileges to the AAU "and must knuckle down to their dictatorial and arbitrary dictates."

Harris Stops Canadian Boxer

Gets TKO Over Bryan Kelley in Fifth Round at New Detroit Club

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan welterweight champion Duke Harris of Detroit has taken care of a challenger from Canada.

Harris, 147, cut up Bryan Kelley, 145, of Niagara Falls, Ont., to win a 5th round technical knockout Saturday night. The fight was stopped because of a bad cut over Kelley's left eye.

It was the 1st show at the Motor City Boxing Club. It drew a crowd of 1,074 fans and a gate of $1,546.

Don Jose, 145, Detroit, won a split decision in four rounds over Leon Watkins, 146, Flint, spoiling Watkins' pro debut by being the better infighter. Watkins is a former Golden Gloves champion.

Chuck Taylor, 137, Detroit, won a unanimous decision in six rounds over Terry Book, 133, Milwaukee.

Final tryouts are slated April 25-May 5 in Los Angeles.

Meet the Pro

AL WATROUS, Oakland Hills

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

One of Michigan's outstanding pros and truly a master on the dean's list of professionals in Oakland County is an honor belonging to Al Watrous at Oakland Hills.

* * *

His 27 successive years at the fine Oakland Hills club is a record hard to match.

Al had to go a long way back to remember when he got his feel of a golf club. "Must have been about five years old," he said.

Like most other pros, he started in the caddie ranks and in 1920 became caddie master at Red Run.

* * *

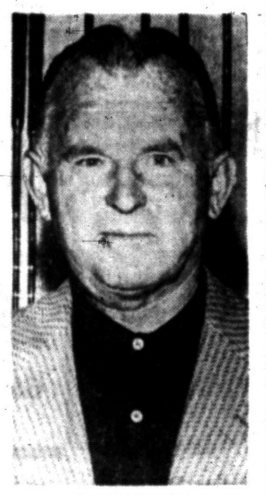

He started as a pro in Grand Rapids and after one year at Meadowbrook, his long term at Oakland Hills began.

During his long stay at the West Maple club, the thing which sticks most in Al's mind is the National Open held there in 1951.

"The most outstanding round was by the greatest of them all," said Al. He was referring to Hogan's 67 on the newly remodeled course in '51.

* * *

Right now Al is looking forward to a new pro shop which is expected for use by the time the season gets not too far under way. It will be located near the first tee.

AL WATROUS

His assistant for the past nine years has been Tommy Cosmos, who like many others now in the pro ranks, can look back to a well-tutored background with Watrous.

(Tomorrow we present Tom Shannon, pro at Orchard Lake Country Club).

Calhoun Given Edge on LaBua

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Herman (Rory) Calhoun, undefeated, 21-year-old middleweight prospect, is favored to run his winning streak to an even 20 tonight at the expense of more experienced Jackie LaBua at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (Dumont-TV, 10 p.m. EST).

* * *

It's a good test for Calhoun, of White Plains, N. Y., for the 23-year-old LaBua, Valley Stream, N.Y., has mixed with some of the better middleweights including Gene Fullmer, Gil Turner, Rafael Merentina and Willie Pastrano. Pastrano has grown rapidly in the heavyweight ranks since.

* * *

Chuck Spieser, 26, fourth-ranking light-heavyweight contender from Detroit, and aggressive Joey Rowan, 21, Phoenixville, Pa., should furnish some fireworks Wednesday night (ABC-TV, radio, 10 p.m., EST) in their 10-rounder at the Detroit Olympia. The records: Spieser, 17-3-1 including 12 kayos; Rowan, 27-8-1, including 13 Kayos. Spieser, Michigan State graduate, is favored.

GMC Wins Two in CIO League Cage Playoffs

The GMC 594 day shift team won the UAW-CIO League basketball playoffs Sunday afternoon at Jefferson Junior High gym with twin victories over Fisher Body Local 596.

General Motors, once-beaten in the double-elimination tournament, downed the Fisher quintet in the opening game, 57-47. Dale Davis chalked up 19 points for GMC while Ken Titheridge topped the losers with 18.

Fisher Body, regular season champion, put up a stiffer fight in the required 2nd game, but lost again, 59-56. Mel Taylor poured in 23 points to pace GMC. Hubert Price and Titheridge led Fisher with 14 points apiece.

State Man Wins AAU Title

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Richard Hanley of Ann Arbor, Mich., won the 220-yard freestyle championship during the three-day National AAU indoor swimming meet in Yale's pool over the weekend.

* * *

Hanley also placed 6th in the 440-yard freestyle won by George Breen of Cortland (NY) Teachers College.

Carl Woolley, also of Ann Arbor, wound up 4th in the 100-yard freestyle captured by Rex Aubrey of New Haven in world record time of 0:49.1. The old mark was 49.2 set by Dick Cleveland of Ohio State, Feb. 28, 1952.

Ron Alsobrook of Detroit placed 5th in the 100-yard breaststroke event, also won in world record smashing time by Don Kutyna, Army. Kutyna flashed the distance in 1:03, bettering the former world mark of 1:04.3 set may 29, 1953 by L. Brock of Sweden.

Detroit Department of Parks, which placed 5th in the team totals with 12 points, also wound up 5th in the 400-yard medley relay. North Carolina AC won both the event and the team championship with 72 points.

Tigers Sweep Houston, 6-1

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The traveling Detroit Tigers came to the Bayou country today intent on improving their exhibition game record which has been on the upgrade since they quit playing major leagues.

* * *

A weekend sweep at Houston—headlined by young slugger Al Kaline's two bases-full home runs in one game—hiked Detroit's spring mark to 10-18. Bucky Harris' team today had a date to play the New Orleans Pelicans of the Southern Association.

The Tigers walloped Houston of the Texas League 6-1 Sunday after having defeated the same club Saturday 10-1 when Kaline drove in 8 of the runs with his two circuit smashes, his first of the spring training season.

Kaline's bat wasn't so lound Sunday—he got one hit in three tries—but for the series it was a fine return to action for the star outfielder. He had missed several days play while getting some bad teeth yanked out at a dentist's.

* * *

Houston's Buffs were held to four hits by Steve Gromek and Al Aber in Sunday's game. Gromek gave up only one hit in five innings. He walked none. Aber permitted three hits the rest of the way and walked one. He allowed Houston's only run on a double and a single in the 8th inning.

The Tigers put the game away with four runs in the 5th. Ray Boone's bases-full triple was the big blow.

A single by Gromek started it, and he went to third on Harvey Kuenn's double. After Earl Torgeson flied out, Kaline was intentionally walked and Boone came through with his base-cleaner. Fred Hatfield ran for Boone and came home on Bill Tuttle's double.

Tuttle scored the first Tiger run in the 4th when he was safe on an error and J. W. Porter doubled him home. In the 7th a walk, Hatfield's single and Tuttle's sacrifice fly scored the last Detroit run.

The Tigers will have a day off tomorrow for traveling. They play a two-game series with the Milwaukee Braves at Terre Taute, Ind., Wednesday and Thursday. On Saturday and next Sunday they'll play the Pittsburgh Pirates in Pittsburgh and then come home for the season's opener April 17 against Cleveland.

Michigan Blows Finale in Dixie

Bows to Deacons at Durham, N. C. 8-5 in Saturday Game

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Blowing a fat lead, Michigan's touring Wolverines bowed 8-5 to Wake Forest in the finals of the Dixie Baseball classic at Durham Saturday.

Wolverines had a 5-1 lead in the 2nd inning when John Stokoe came on to pitch in relief for the Deacons, defending NCAA champions.

Stokoe gave up only two hits, fanning seven and walking two over the rest of the route.

Meanwhile, Wake Forest put the game on ice with two out in the sixth, scoring six runs on seven singles.

Indians Next for Pontiac

An awesome array of track stars from Pontiac High invades Flint Central Tuesday afternoon for the 1st Saginaw Valley Conference dual meet of the season—and on the basis of Friday's results at Mt. Pleasant the Indians may retreat to the safety of their wigwams.

Wally Schloerke's thinclad powerhouse romped over everything in sight Friday at the Saginaw-Saginaw Arthur Hill Invitational Relays in the Central Michigan College fieldhouse.

The Chiefs rolled up 61 points, 27 more than runner-up Flint Northern, and won eight of the 12 events while smashing four meet records. It was the 2nd runaway victory for the Chiefs this season, coming in the wake of their impressive showing in the Huron Relays at Ypsilanti March 24.

Hayes Jones, heading for a sensational year on the cinders, shattered three of the four marks at Mt. Pleasant in winning three events and tying with teammate Hudson Ray for 1st place in a 4th. Jones also took three events and tied for 1st in another at Ypsilanti.

Jones' most significant accomplishment last Friday was the time of 7.8 seconds he recorded in the 65-yard high hurdles, which was announced as possibly a new national high school record. This is still unofficial.

Ray and Jones tied for victory in the high jump with little Alex Barge finishing 3rd, the same as yesterday.

Jones also captured the 65-yard low hurdles and the medley relay team posted a new meet record. Perry Williams won the mile with teammate Roger Coates right behind. Bill Douglas' triumph in the 880 and Pontiac's win in the four-lap relay completed the evening's work.

Checking Distance of Homer Is for Mantle, He Responds

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Told today the first of two home runs he hit against the Houston Buffaloes Saturday cleared a 35-foot fence at the 342-foot mark, Tiger outfielder Al Kaline responded:

"I don't go for the distance. They can measure Mickey Mantle's homers. Just so mine get out of the park, that's all I want."

Chiefs Meet Cranbrook in Baseball Lid-Lifter

Pontiac High opens its 1956 baseball season Tuesday afternoon at Wisner Field against travel-weary Cranbrook. Game time is 4 p.m.

The Cranes, back home from their Dixie tour where they dropped five games out of six against stiff opposition, hold a decided edge in sharpness on the Chiefs, who have been able to practice out of doors only twice. An outside session was planned Saturday but Jupiter Pluvius interfered.

Jim Jones, a right-handed fast ball pitcher who has been working out in the PHS gym for the past two and a half weeks, will start on the mound for the Chiefs with Jerry Pointer and Terry Zellhart on emergency call. Arnold Larson will receive Thursdays' starting assignment here against Waterford.

Charley Johnson, a sophomore, will start behind the plate as coach Ed Heikkinen attempts to solve his No. 1 problem—catching. Johnson has never backstopped in high school varsity competition.

* * *

Terry Houston at 1st base, Clay Williams at 2nd, Bud Hayward at shortstop, and either Dave Simmons or Chuck McIlrath at 3rd comprise the starting infield.

Bob Murphy, lone holdover from the 1955 season, is slated for left field and Willie DeWalt will patrol center. The other outfield berth is undecided.

Bruce Richards, a southpaw who posted Cranbrook's only win on the southern trip, will be on the firing line against the Chiefs.

The final two games of Cranbrook's tour were rained out—Friday against St. Albans at Washington, D. C., and Saturday against the Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy.

Second baseman Dave Cooper led the Cranes at the plate during the trip with six hits in 19 times at bat for an average of .316.

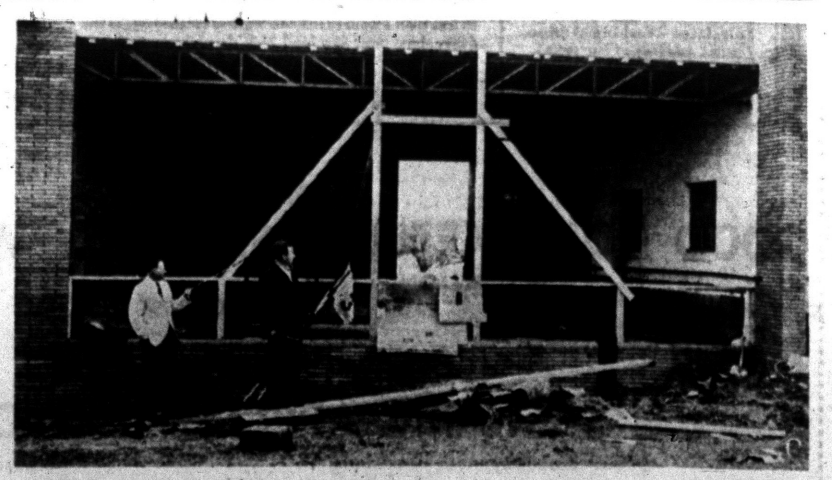

Two Aces Same Day on California Course

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Two golfers each shot a hole in one within a half-hour at the Montecito Country Club yesterday.

Alistair Davidson socked his ace on the 142-yard fifth hole. James Powers, playing in a three-some behind Davidson, needed only one swing on the 165-yard eighth hole.

Sailor's Win Costly One

By GEORGE BOWEN

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—The Campbell Handicap Saturday was a costly race for Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, owner of the victorious Sailor.

* * *

While it was worth $74,750 to her, a foot injury suffered in the last seconds of the race may put Sailor out of business for six months at least. And business was just getting tremendous for the 4-year-old who was making a bid to become best handicap horse of the year.

Just three weeks before he had collected $83,300 in the Gulfstream Handicap while the more publicized Nashua was fifth.

* * *

There was plenty more money waiting for Sailor's picking, according to Trainer Preston Burch. "He was just reaching his peak and hadn't shown his real capabilities yet," said the veteran conditioner.

Red Wings' Hopes Fade, 3-0

Canadiens Hold 3-1 Margin in Stanley Series

Beliveau Scores Twice to Virtually Wrap Up Cup for Montreal

DETROIT (AP)—A gifted, long-armed giant was in the right place at the right time on two occasions and whisked away all but the faintest glimmer of hope that the Detroit Red Wings would repeat again as Stanley Cup hockey champions.

* * *

The Wings geared their defense to halt rangy Jean Beliveau, but the 24-year-old wizard from Three Rivers, Que., threw off the challenge and came through with two goals last night to all but wrap up the Montreal Canadiens' first Stanley Cup victory since 1953.

Beliveau scored in the first and second periods and the Red Wings never recovered, as the Canadiens went on to wrap it up 3-0 with a final-period goal. Montreal leads 3-1 in the best-of-seven series.

* * *

A standing room crowd of 15,140 which jammed into Detroit's Olympia expecting another in a long series of Detroit-Montreal free-for-all battles was not disappointed. The two teams went at it from the opening face-off and were still swinging minutes after the final buzzer sounded.

Amid all the furor and confusion, it was big Beliveau who made the Canadiens the top-heavy choice to end it all in Tuesday's fracas in Montreal.

* * *

The big guy just wouldn't be stopped. After 15 minutes of play, the clubs were all even. Then, while each was one man short, it happened. There was a wild scramble for a loose puck in front of the Detroit goal. Beliveau found it and cracked it past goalie Glenn Hall at 15:52 of the opening period and the Canadiens were off and running.

* * *

Montreal kept the pressure on the Wings through the second period and the play centered in the Detroit end. Finally Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion got a long shot that bounced off Hall. Beliveau was Johnny-on-the-spot, grabbing it on the rebound and driving a close-range backhand effort past the Detroit goalie, who never had a chance to stop it. The goal came at 11:39.

The issue was already decided when Floyd Curry dumped in the third goal at 11:34 of the final period. Again it was a rebound and the Canadiens had a two-on-one advantage when Curry scored.

* * *

Detroit tried desperately to erase the 2-0 deficit, but nothing went right for the Wings. Passes missed intended receivers by inches and board shots bounced in front of Montreal players.

Canadien goalie Jacques Plante had 24 saves, at least a half-dozen of them on the brilliant side. He stopped blistering second-period drives by Gordie Howe and Dutch Reibel.

The Wings probably will be without Metro Prystal when the teams resume action Tuesday night at the forum. He was gashed on the left eyelid in the first period and was taken to a Detroit hospital and kept overnight. Doctors termed the cut "quite serious."

Warriors NBA Title Brings Each $1,300

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors were each $1,300 richer today after taking the National Basketball Assn. championship in one of the most amazing comebacks in the history of sports.

* * *

The Warriors clobbered the Fort Wayne Pistons four games to one in the best-of-seven series which ended here at Convention Hall Saturday night with a 99-88 victory for the Philadelphians.

* * *

It was only three years ago that the Warriors wound up winning 12 games and losing 57, 34½ games out of first place, very likely as dismal a record as ever compiled in pro basketball. The next year, they were still in the cellar, 15 games out, and last season, they finished at the bottom again, this time only 10 games behind the Syracuse Nats.

GRAPEFRUIT League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alex Kellner, a big 31-year-old lefthander, certainly never will go down in the major league record books as a great pitcher, but he's an essential cog in the plans of the Kansas City Athletics.

* * *

Last year, Kellner was the most effective hurler on the staff of the far-from-sensational A's with an 11-8 record, and Manager Lou Boudreau was hoping that perhaps he might regain some of the touch that enabled him to win 20 games back in 1949 when this same club was in Philadelphia.

But yesterday Kellner, who has spent his entire major league career with the A's, suddenly found himself and tossed seven scoreless innings in the A's 4-0 triumph over Pittsburgh in San Antonio. He gave up only three hits and in the process enabled the A's to break a five-game losing streak.

* * *

Arnold Portocarrero handled the final two innings and faced only six Buccos. He, too, has given Boudreau cause for worry, having been totally ineffective in previous appearances on the mound.

The second beaning of the exhibition season marred the New York Giants' 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in Dallas. Ray Katt, New York catcher, was hit on the head by Art Houtteman in the seventh inning.

* * *

Although he was wearing a protective helmet, the ball struck part of the side of Katt's face. He did not lose consciousness, but was carried from the field in a stretcher. X-rays at Baylor Hospital were negative, but he was held there overnight. Physicians said today he should suffer no ill effects.

Two weeks ago Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers hit Philadelphia's Willie Jones in the head. Jones was not hurt badly, but the result led to some hot exchanges. Jones at first said he thought Newcombe threw at him deliberately, but then denied it.

* * *

The big surprise of the Sunday schedule was provided by the Baltimore Orioles, one of the weakest-hitting teams in the American League. The Orioles found the range for 14 hits against Chicago in Corpus Christi and went on to batter the Cubs 9-6.

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers upended the Milwaukee Braves 12-2 in Nashville; the New York Yankees edged the Phillies 4-2 in New Orleans; the St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Chicago White Sox 8-6 in Memphis and the Cincinnati Redlegs halted the Washington Senators 9-6 in Charlotte.

Kefauver Bids for D.C. Win

Seeks First Six Dem Delegate Votes From District Since 1874

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver chases presidential convention votes right in the shadow of the Capitol dome today. He seeks the first six Democratic delegate votes elected from the District of Columbia since 1874.

* * *

Kefauver broke off three days of stumping New Jersey, where he is seeking that state's 36 convention votes in an April 17 primary, and flew into Washington last evening. He planned to open local campaign headquarters here this afternoon.

The lanky Tennessee senator and Adlai Stevenson, the only other avowed Democratic candidate, both have 12-man slates running in the District's May 1 primary, but neither of their names will be on the ballot.

* * *

Both major parties are permitted to elect delegates to nominating conventions this summer. In recent years, they have been picked at conventions.

Residents still aren't allowed to vote in the November general election, however.

In Washington last night, Kefauver leaped immediately into a civil rights discussion. His remarks obviously were aimed at Stevenson, although he mentioned no names.

* * *

Declaring "there is no mystery about my stand" on civil rights, Kefauver told a predominately Negro congregation at Bibleway Church:

"I don't have one speech for New York and an entirely different speech for Florida. I won't hide what I mean by eloquent phrases that have a fine sound but little substance. This is too serious a problem to be camouflaged by the delicate shadings of graceful phraseology."

* * *

Referring to the Supreme Court's decision outlawing segregation in public schools, Kefauver said if he becomes president he will "do all in my power to bring together men of good will — men and women who are against mob violence, men and women who are willing to respect the supreme law of the land as interpreted by the Supreme Court."

Incidents in Manhattan

Two Shootings, Disappearance Linked to Trujillo

BY JACK LOTTO

NEW YORK (INS)—Two men are gunned down — one in 1935, the other in 1952. A third vanishes on March 12, 1956.

Coincidence or international intrigue at work?

Authorities investigating the strange disappearance of Dr. Jesus de Galindez said today the three incidents appear to form an interwoven pattern of political revenge.

The three cases are tied together by one factor which, according to police, may hold clues to the current mystery:

The men all were bitter opponents of Gen. Rafael Trujillo in the Dominican Republic. All had been warned to "lay off or else."

* * *

The FBI, the district attorney's office, and police, while closemouthed about their search for clues to De Galindez' fate, are known to agree the three cases are linked.

DISCOVER NOTE

"Draw your own conclusions," one high police official told International News Service. "All three were opposed to the same man."

* * *

Their suspicions were reinforced by the discovery in De Galindez' apartment last week of a note dated Oct. 4, 1952 — a day after a fellow Trujillo foe was killed. It advised police to seek out his "enemies" in the Dominican Republic if anything happened to him.

The tall, gaunt De Galindez who wrote a column dealing with political events syndicated in Latin American newspapers, vanished after giving a lecture at Columbia University.

Friends and certain Latin American organizations are convinced he was the victim of a "political crime."

* * *

They say he was marked for death because he supported and carried on the activities of Andres Requena, publisher of a Spanish-language anti-Trujillo newspaper, who was shot to death Oct. 3, 1952 in an East Side tenement.

'VERY FEARFUL'

The 42-year-old unmarried exile from Spain and the Domincan Republic "was very fearful of his life," before his disappearance and had notified the FBI of threats, his associates said.

Norman Thomas, one-time Socialist candidate for U.S. president, said De Galindez told him he was "under pressure from Dominican agents to withdraw" an anti-Trujillo book he was planning to publish.

The FBI acted after the Inter-American Press Association and other groups appealed to U.S. Attorney General Herbert Brownell to enter the case.

IAPA President James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, telegraphed Brownell that the group felt that the disappearance "is connected with his newspaper work and his prospective publication of a book reportedly exposing a foreign government . . ."

* * *

The last time the brown-eyed, balding U.S. representative of the Basque government-in-exile was seen was around 8:30 p.m. March 12. A student in De Galindez' class informed police he drove the professor to the busy Columbus Circle area of Manhattan where he dropped him off.

SHOT TO DEATH

The third critic of Trujillo, Sergio Bencome, was shot to death in his Manhattan apartment. The man police suspected fled to the Dominican Republic, which refused to extradite him.

* * *

Assistant District Attorney Manuel Graymore, a friend of the missing man, refused to comment on his investigation except to say:

"We are aware of the similarities of these three cases and hope they may provide some leads."

Authorities have searched the Fifth avenue four-room combination office-apartment of De Galindez in the hope it might yield some information.

* * *

The professor, born in Spain, held a government post until the revolution in 1937, when he fled to the Domincan Republic. He came to the U.S. in 1946.

France has possessed Martinique since 1635.

Grace Gets White Fox Stole From Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Six snow white polar foxes have contributed to an evening stole for Grace Kelly. The stole will be a wedding present from Norwegian residents in Monaco.

The newspaper Aftenposten printed a picture of the stole, which is more than seven feet long. It will be sent with a special courier from Oslo tonight.

The stole was made by a firm in Oslo upon request from Norwegians in Monaco, who asked for "the most beautiful white fox stole which can be obtained in the whole country."

Expert on Shakespeare Hopes to Interest Kids

NEW YORK—I met a happy cop.

Punning Patrolman Redmond O'Hanlon of "The $64,000 Challenge" TV show told me he's devising "Shakespeare for Short Pants"—to interest kids in Shakespeare's puns.

Insects Cause Nasal Irritation

Allergy Study Reveals Asthmatics Are Victims of Disintegrated Dust

CHICAGO (INS) — Small insects may be a source of big trouble for allergy sufferers.

* * *

A Northwestern University medical research team reports that nearly 30 per cent of the patients with asthma or hayfever symptoms tested in a study were sensitive to insects.

The doctors said in a preliminary report to the American Academy of Allergy they believe the patients were allergic to the tiny disintegrated bits of insect dust inhaled from the air and the soil. Stuffed-up noses and runny eyes resulted.

Drs. Allen Feinberg, Samuel Feinberg and Carlos Benaim-Pinto studied the problem in the allergy research laboratory at the Northwestern Medical Center in Chicago. They reported:

"Since there exist tens of thousands of insect species, the problem of diagnosis and treatment are tremendously complicated. We have found so far that patients who are sensitive to one insect, as shown by skin tests, are usually sensitive to a number of other insects."

The specialist added, however that they had "encouraging" results in de-sensitizing a small number of patients with injections of weak solutions of the allergy producing substance from the insects.

School Dunce Hailed as Genius Composer

PARIS — An eight-year-old orphan girl who is touched with genius has stirred the imagination of France. She is Minou Brouet of La Guerche, Britany, who has lived with foster-parents since her parents were drowned when she was a baby.

* * *

Pronounced a dunce at school, she stayed home to compose music and to write poetry which has been acclaimed as great.

A collection of her poems has been published in Paris. An impresario has offered $47,000 to take her on a world tour, but she just wants to stay at home, writing and composing.

The last composition she wrote at school, on what she had seen in a meadow, she began: "I saw an immense beast with green hair. The beast had two fine curly ears but teacher, who is always short-sighted, insisted they were apple trees."

Dentists Would Stop School Candy Sales

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Oregon Dental Assn. wants the sale of candy and sweetened soft drinks banned in public schools.

The move is aimed at curtailing tooth decay among children, said Dr. Harold Kramer, president of the association.

If the progam is adopted, it would be the first time such a ban has been state-wide. Two major cities, Long Beach Calif., and Chicago, have adopted the plan, Kramer said.

Plastic Phone Poles

NEW YORK — Plastic telephone poles, coming into use this year, may some day become commonplace, says the publication, Chemical Week. Made of glass-reinforced resin, the laminated, hollow pole weighs only about 125 pounds and promises many advantages to offset the relatively high initial cost.

Hollywood Headlines

Joe DiMaggio Is Sought for Role of Connie Mack

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Joe Di Maggio has been approached to star in the life story of Connie Mack for Al Lichtman and Jules Levey. Come to think of it, Joe's profile is very like that of the late baseball great.

Joe Di Maggio is first choice to play Mack as a young man. Of course, he hasn't said yes, but he has conferred with Levey.

Virus has struck Liz Taylor, who had to leave the set of "Raintree County" and go home.

I was interested in the two wedding rings she is wearing these days. Seems they're both from the same husband, Mike Wilding, who saw the second wedding band in a jewelry store and bought it for Liz because he liked it. Guess Mike wants to make doubly sure their marriage is safe and sound.

Liz tells me that her married brother, Howard, is leaving for Mexico City to enroll in the University of Mexico to study art for two years on the GI Bill of Rights.

WEDDING GUESTS?

The beloved Sir Winston Churchill has rented La Vigie, one of the show places at Monaco, for the season. It is owned by the casino in Monte Carlo and overlooks the harbor, beautifully located.

Although England sent no titled representative to the Kelly-Rainier wedding, I am told that the Churchills may be guests. The Aga Khan is another expected arrival.

Lord Beatty and his wife, the former Adele Dillingham O'Connor, will have their yacht anchored in the bay and they will attend. So, in spite of the lack of top official representation, the wedding will not be without its distinguished guests.

Winthrop Rockefeller's millions and himself will belong to Jeanette Edris in late June. He'll wed the former model in her hometown of Seattle.

She has been the lady in his life for many years and it has been rumored again and again that they would marry. This news of their approaching nuptials I received from someone to whom the bride-to-be revealed her plans.

The much publicized Bobo, who was recently in Hollywood with her 5-year-old child, is being very conservative with the $5,500,000 settlement she received from Winnie. I hear tell she's made some good investments.

DATES FOR DOLORES

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Dolores Gray has been having dates with Cosmopolitan magazine's Jon Whitcomb who has painted her as she is in "The Opposite Sex."

While in New York Maureen O'Sullivan had an interview with John Costello, Premier of Ireland. How well I remember my interview with him in 1948 — a charming and intelligent man.

Really think Pearl Bailey is better than she's ever been in her life. At Ciro's to hear her was Mike Todd with Marlene Dietrich—also the Robert Mitchums.

Henry Fonda is just as happy to be in New York working in "The Wrong Man" because of his romantic interest in Marguerite Lamkin, sister of writer Speed Lamkin.

Lena Horne sailed on the SS Liberte for five months in Europe.

Most northwesterly of the so-called New England group of states is Vermont.

Reds Appoint Officer to Lead Literacy Plan

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communists have assigned a top military man to put zip into a lagging plan to teach China's almost 400 million illiterates to read and write.

* * *

The drive to wipe out illiteracy was announced with much fanfare by Red leaders last fall. Lately the Red press has sharply criticized the progress of the campaign. Shortly after the criticism started, the Communists announced that Marshal Chen Yi, one of the rising stars in the Red hierarchy, will head a new national anti-illiteracy assn.

* * *

Chen, whose orders are to "devise ways and means" of erasing illiteracy within seven years, promptly boasted publicly he'll try to do the job in five. It'll be a job: 78 per cent of the mainland population of half a billion—by official Communist figures—can neither read nor write.

Aircraft Buying Bolsters Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying in the aircrafts was one of the main supports today in the stock market's advance.

* * *

Demand for aircrafts came with President Eisenhower's request to Congress for more than a half billion dolars of additional money for defense.

Prices in the early afternoon were up around 2 points at the outside. At the same time there were losses of that size in a few places.

Trading was lively in all sections of the list and the pace was maintained around 3,000,000 shares for the day. That compares with 2,600,000 shares traded Friday when the market advanced briskly.

Among higher stocks were Boeing, North American Aviation, Chrysler, U.S. Steel, Phelps Dodge, Dow Chemical, General Electric, Phillips Petroleum, Pan American Airways and National Distillers.

* * *

Lower were American Airlines, American Telephone, Kaiser Aluminum, Union Carbide, Goodrich and Canadian Pacific Railroad.

The market opened fast, and there was a lot of trading initially in low-priced issues. Graham-Paige had blocks of 10,000 shares off ¼ at 2½ and 16,000 at 2 off ⅜. A block of 12,000 shares of Studebaker-Packard sold at 10 up ½, and 7,500 shares of Callahan Zinc traded at 7½ up ¼.

Oils, as they have before, got a lift out of renewed talk of demands for crude price increases.

Whale Oil Increases

REYKJAVIK — Iceland's whale oil production increased in 1955, largely because of one of the biggest whale catches in the last decade — some 400 whales compared with 330 in 1954. Whale oil production climbed to 2,273 tons compared with 1,426 tons the year before.

Coal Output Climbs

CINCINNATI — The nation's coal production climbed from 1954's low of 392,000,000 tons to some 470,000,000 tons during 1955 for the widest year-to-year change, percentagewise, since 1949's production decline, which was due to strikes.

Profit-Taking Cuts Into Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Profit-taking cut into prices of most grains in active, nervous dealings on the Board of Trade today.

* * *

The market opened reasonably steady but immediately ran into a burst of selling which knocked prices down a few cents in some pits. Wheat and soybeans gave up the most ground. Oats and rye resisted the selling.

This burst of profit-taking, which brokers considered normal after the sharp upturn of last week, quickly faded out. The market stabilized slightly under the previous close.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1 to 1⅜ lower, May $2.34¾; corn ½ to ¾ lower, May $1.46⅝; oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, May 66⅛; rye unchanged to 1¼ higher, May $1.34¾; soybeans 1¼ lower to 1 cent higher, May $2.83¼; lard 3 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.82.

Trading was nervous in view of uncertainty regarding the outcome of farm bill legislation, now approaching the showdown stage in both the House and the Senate.

Portable Radar Sets Perfected for GIs

FORD MONMOUTH, N. J. — The Army Signal Corps engineering laboratory has developed a new electronic device that may allow the soldier-scout of the future to carry his own tiny portable radar set.

The discovery, the world's smallest self-contained magnetron tube, is no larger than a golf ball. It is said to be 50 times more powerful to transmit on a frequency about 100 times higher than that used by frequency-modulation stations.

A larger version of the tube allowed radar to pinpoint enemy ships and planes through fog and darkness for the Allies during World War II.

JUNK LINE TRUNK LINE — Edward Heintz of Cleveland, Ohio, never quit working on railroad cars when he retired. He simply transferred his affections from the Pennsylvania Railroad, where he was a car carpenter, to a brand-new attic railroad. Now 68, he's been working four or five hours a day on his hobby since he retired. He has built 150 cars — gondolas, coaches and cabooses — mostly out of oil cans from gas station rubbish bins and scrap lumber. He has two miles of track, has built switches and even a three-level elevator. His only purchase was a pair of locomotives. "It makes me forget a lot of the world's troubles," says Heintz.

'Special Favors' Rejection Brings More Culture

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Seventy-seven years ago a philanthropist named Reuben R. Springer spoke out against special favors being passed his way, and his feelings on the matter are still felt in Cincinnati.

* * *

Thankful for the fortune Springer poured into the building of Music Hall, music minded folks offered him the first choice of seats for the May Festival.

"You aren't going to give me the first choice of seats," he reportedly told those who called on him. "The only reason I gave more money than anybody else is because I had it to give. There are others whose sacrifice was as great as mine and possibly greater. Give them the first choice."

There were many who had a claim for special attention and it was decided to auction the seats. Even then, the top bidders still have to take their places in line and pay the regular price for the seats.

* * *

The auction brings approximately $15,000 into the festival fund and help pay the expenses of bringing some of the world's greatest musical talent to Cincinnati.

What's a Wife Worth? World Market Haggling

WASHINGTON—The rising price of brides in several distant lands is turning young men's fancy into financial nightmare.

* * *

In eastern Nigeria, says the National Geographic Society, buying a bride has become so expensive that a government committee proposes price control and rationing. Fifty years ago a tall comely Ibo girl might cost $50, and an ugly maid only three goats. Now a $300 bride is a bargain. A well educated girl comes as high as $840.

In West Pakistan, soaring abductions of 13- to 16-year-old girls are blamed on high parental price tags. Suitors unable to pay resort to kidnapping instead.

Among many remote tribes, the bride price can be the biggest outlay of a man's life. Through the Bismarck Archipelago it may come to 15 to 200 strings of shell money. In Samoa it includes canoes and pigs.

TWO HUMAN HEADS

A would-be bridegroom in New Guinea's wild interior pays the girl's father in dogs' teeth. Once he had to give his bride two human heads as well. A Bangala of the Upper Congo in Africa had to furnish his father-in-law four slaves, two male and two female.

A Basikuma swain, in the territory southeast of Lake Victoria, pays a first installment of 60 sheep. Then he must work for his bride's father for two years.

A Banyoro pays with cattle as fast as he can, but children born in the meantime belong to the father-in-law until each is paid for separately with a cow.

In place of cash, a suitor may have to trade his sister for a wife. Australian aborigines exchange female relatives for brides. In Jammu, a father with no daughter to offer in exchange finds it very hard to obtain a wife for his son.

KIDS PAY FOR MAMA

Often a wife must be bought with years of servitude to her family. The Tipperahs of the Chittagong Hill Tracts in Bengal require a young man to work three years in his father-in-law's house before he can be formally married.

* * *

In Palembang in southern Sumatra, a suitor contracts to work off his wife's price even if it takes all his life. If he dies before the debt is paid, his children continue in bondage until their mother is at last fully paid for.

Among the Kenai, Alaskan Eskimos, a man merely appears without explanation in his beloved's home and begins to cook, clean, and heat the baths. If his suit is approved, he remains as a servant for a year.

According to the Book of Genesis, Jacob served Laban, his mother's brother, for seven years to win each of his cousins Leah and Rachel. Aristotle writes that in ancient Greece, men bought their wives, paying in oxen. The Anglo-Saxons, when Christianity first reached them purchased brides. A maiden brought twice the price of a widow.

* * *

Babylonia and Assyria developed perhaps the most highly organized system of bride-buying. All marriageable girls were auctioned off twice a year in front of the temple. Those with beauty brought good prices, the money being thereupon turned over to the homely girls as dowries. Thus every girl acquired a husband, whether by beauty or by money.

* * *

Even today the bride price, where it is found, often is a touchy point of pride. Just as California's Hupa Indians ranked a man by the price his father paid for his mother, so Kaffir women among Africa's Bantus scorn a girl not bought with many cattle.

Chevrolet Tops Ford in Registration Race

DETROIT (AP)—Chevrolet widened its new car sales lead over Ford Division in February, newest registration figures disclosed today.

The figures, as published by Automotive News, showed Chevrolet had 224,009 new car registrations for the first two months of the year against Ford Division's 179,674. At the end of January the registration totals showed Chevrolet with 109,342 and Ford Division with 85,775.

At the end of February last year Ford Division topped Chevrolet 197,572 to 176,064 registrations.

Other figures for this year's first two months showed Buick in third place with 90,355 registrations against Plymouth's 75,286; Oldsmobile in fifth place with 72,413 against Pontiac's 57,321.

Total registrations of all makes for this year's January-February period were 879,190 compared with 916,278 in the same 1955 period.

Ike Flies to Georgia for Golfing Holiday

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower flies to Georgia for his annual spring golfing holiday today, carrying along a briefcase jammed with papers concerning assorted domestic and international crises.

It is his first visit to his favorite golfing retreat since last spring and he is expected to get in more golf there in the next seven days than at any time since his September heart attack.

He is due back in Washington on April 17 to throw out the first ball when the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees open the 1956 baseball season.

Ceramics Prof Began in Slums

Started Creative Urge in New York City's Hell's Kitchen

CHADRON, Neb. (INS) — A creative urge born in New York City's "Hell's Kitchen" in the 1930's has led William E. Artis to the position of Professor of Ceramic Arts at Nebraska State Teachers College in Chadron.

* * *

Artis recalls that "you weren't safe on the streets" in the days when he attended Haaren High School. "I took the subway to school and ran all the way from the subway entrance into the safety of the school."

He found an outlet for his creative abilities in working with clay. By the time he graduated from Haaren High he had become quite adept at "throwing up" a piece of pottery on a potter's wheel and doing portraits of his friends in clay.

What looked like the end of the road for the young man's career in sculpturing—being drafted into the army in 1941—actually gave Artis added incentive.

After World War II he returned to Alfred University. One day Artis read that Ivan Mestrovic, the world's greatest living sculptor, was going to teach at Syracuse University but only certain students would be accepted. He was.

During that period Artis sold several pieces of his work to various art galleries and received national recognition for his figure, "The Quiet One."

After he earned a Master of Fine Arts degree, Artis was unable to find financial security in sculpturing or ceramics and worked first as a postal clerk in New York City and later as a metal lathe operator in a Jersey City defense plant.

He quit in 1952 and went west to teach ceramics to the Sioux Indians of South Dakota.

* * *

Now a full-time college instructor of sculpturing and ceramics, Artis feels a new responsibility in molding future artists and teachers as well as beautiful things of clay.

Neighbor Held in Detroit Killing

Mechanic Denies Part in Deaths of Policeman's Wife and Child

DETROIT (AP) — A policeman's neighbor was held today in the investigation of the wanton slaying of the officer's young wife and baby girl.

* * *

Jailed as a suspect, James K. Smith, 38, a mechanic, said he had no knowledge of his own of the shootings Saturday night of Mrs. Emma Pollard, 29, and her daughter, Lynn, 2.

Mrs. Pollard and the child were shot to death in their home by an invader who reputedly accused her of "telling lies on me."

After a search police said they found Smith hiding under another neighbor's basement stairway. The police quoted him as saying he could recall nothing from a Saturday of heavy drinking.

FIRED FOUR SHOTS

Assistant prosecutor John Balose said Smith admitted in a statement he had been keeping company with Mrs. Pollard and had wanted to "break it off."

Balose also said another neighbor, Fred Beecham, 44, said Smith told him he "fired four shots at that woman." It was in Beecham's home that Smith was arrested. Mrs. Pollard's husband, Marmion, has been on the police force four years.

At the time of the shooting Pollard was at the home of relatives helping to prepare a birthday party for his wife's sister.

SON SAW SHOOTING

Police said Smith, employed by an automotive firm, indicated bewilderment at first and said he knew nothing of the shootings. He was booked for investigation. Police said they found the gun believed used in the shootings under a couch in the same home where they found Smith.

The eldest of the Pollards' three sons, Craig, 6, was with his mother and sister when they were shot.

Police said the boy told them a man burst into the house and shouted at his mother she was "telling lies on me."

According to the boy's story, Mrs. Pollard remonstrated with the man and then both she and the baby, whom she held in her arms, were shot. The baby was shot in the head, Mrs. Pollard in the chest.

* * *

Police also took into custody a woman they identified as Smith's common-law wife, Mary, 29.

9 Killed, 8 Hurt in Chicago Blaze

Four-Story Apartment Building Inferno Leaves Reported 250 Homeless

CHICAGO (AP)—A fire in a crowded four-story apartment building on Chicago's South Side early yesterday killed nine persons and injured eight others.

* * *

Two of the dead were killed when they leaped from upper floors to escape the flames. Two children were killed in the fire, but several others were saved when their mothers dropped them to spectators.

* * *

Coroner Walter E. McCarron said he had been told about 250 persons were living in the building's 36 small flats. Mrs. Ann Griggs, the building manager, said only 61 persons lived in the brick structure.

TO PROBE FIRE'S ORIGIN

McCarron said evidence that the lower section of a fire escape had been wired to a bolt in the wall will be investigated at an inquest.

Chief Fire Marshal Albert H. Petersen estimated damage at $60,000.

Sgt. Drew Brown, head of the police arson squad, ruled out incendiarism. He said the fire might have started from an overheated furnace in the basement.

* * *

Firemen fought the blaze for more than an hour in below freezing temperature. They carried at least a dozen residents down ladders.

The alarm was turned in at 4:28 a.m. by Thomas Washington, 24, a resident. Washington told fire officials he heard "a rushing, splitting sound like an explosion."

When firemen arrived they said the fire already had a good start with 50 foot tongues of flames spreading up through the structure.

BUS DRIVER SAVES THREE

Paul L. Kimbrew, 27, a bus driver for the Chicago Transit Authority, said he saw the smoke as he was driving past.

"A woman screamed, 'save my babies,'" Kimbrew said. "She was on the second floor. I stood below while she dropped three children to me.

* * *

"The third one, about 3, knocked me to the ground, but neither of us were hurt. The mother was rescued by firemen."

Some of the homeless took refuge with neighbors and relatives. Red Cross officials cared for an estimated 125 persons at an emergency aid headquarters.

Navarre Blasts Insurance Evils

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (INS) — "Selfishness and greed in human society" is threatening the existence Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans, said Joseph A. Navarre, Michigan insurance commissioner.

* * *

Speaking before the annual conference of Blue Cross in Hollywood, Fla. Navarre called the plans a "noble experiment," which were hampered by "innocent blundering and sometimes misapplication of legitimate purposes."

He added:

* * *

"If present methods fail, a compulsory tax-supported plan may well be a substitute experiment."

Marion Folsom, U.S. secretary of health, welfare and education, told the conference that at least six areas of voluntary health insurance are pressing for development.

Eva Gabor Weds Surgeon in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Eva Gabor and Dr. John E. Williams, Beverly Hills, Calif., surgeon, were married here yesterday and left by auto for a honeymoon in Connecticut.

It was the third marriage for the glamorous 31-year-old actress and the second for the bridgroom, 35.

* * *

Magistrate Louis Kaplan, a Gabor family friend, performed the one-minute, single-ring ceremony in the bride's Fifth Avenue home.

There was no "obey" in the ceremony, during which the couple exchanged happy glances.

When asked about a family the bride said: "We want a big family—maybe six, twelve."

Williams said they will live in California, with his wife "going back and forth to New York."

The marriage was the second in a week among the beautiful Gabor sisters. Magda Gabor was married the preceding Sunday to Arthur Gallucci, New York City industrialist. They are on a six-month European honeymoon.

The third sister, Zsa Zsa, was matron of honor yesterday.

Commenting on reports that she will be married this month in Los Angeles to contractor Hal Hayes, Zsa Zsa said:

"He is the most wonderful man I know. We expect to be married, but there is no definite date. I have several public commitments."

The sailors were among nine members of the crew of the Soviet Tanker Tuapse allowed into the U.S. after they were captured in 1954 by Chinese Nationalists.

Twenty of the crew remained behind when their companions were repatriated to the Soviet Union.

An assistant director of the Church World Service, Jan Vanhoogstraten, said the five men arrived Saturday at Idlewild Airport surrounded "by about 20 thugs, obviously from the Soviet United Nations delegation and New York consulate."

Viewers Protest Wrong Answer on TV Quiz Show

NEW YORK (INS)—The CBS television network presented the premiere performance of its new show, "The $64,000 Challenge" last night.

But the show wound up with the net work being challenged by an alert home audience.

* * *

A CBS spokesman said at least a thousand calls flooded the network switchboard within five minutes after an incorrect answer was given to a question on William Shakespeare but was accepted as right.

New York Policeman Redmond O'Hanlon had been asked to name, for $2,000, the Shakespearian play in which Desdemona appears and to identify her father. O'Hanlon correctly replied "Othello," but incorrectly named Polonius, instead of Brabantio, as the father. He later answered correctly the $4,000 question.

The $2,000 error went unnoticed until the calls began pouring in.

The show's producers finally decided to call O'Hanlon and his challenger back next week to start with a $2,000 question.

O'Hanlon was battling Martin Van Outryve, a Brooklyn fireman, who "challenged" the cop's knowledge of the bard.

* * *

O'Hanlon had won $16,000 last June on CBS's "The $64,000 question." Fomat of the new show is for contestants to challenge contestants who had won more than $8,000 in prize money on the 64G quiz.

Video Networks Vie for 'Firsts'

Films Will Be Raced to U. S. as They Were for Coronation

BY ATRA BAER

NEW YORK (INS) — Grace Kelly—who is lovely, engaged and probably unaware of some of the things going on—is throwing TV networks into a panic.

Up until the "alt ashore" sounded aboard the "Constitution," networks, frantically scrambling for TV vantage points, were haggling with bridesmaids and members-of-the-wedding for rights to home-made shipboard movies.

Eample:—A prominent male guest contacted one network offering to sell movies he proposes to shoot himself. He explained he has "access to the roped-off sundeck Grace will relax on. The ordinary press will be miles away."

The gent was turned down because he wanted a sizable cash "advance" before anybody saw the films. The network executive who nixed the deal is getting ulcers because he isn't sure if the other two major networks have declined or were even approached.

As things stand now, it'll be a race between NBC and CBS to see who gets films here first. As they did in the case of Queen Elizabeth's wedding and coronation, both networks are dispatching extensive crews and air armadas to fly the films back.

EDDIE FEUDING

Things are reported unfriendly between Eddie Fisher, NBC and his sponors. Scheduled meetings may alter the TV status of Debbie's husband.

Shuddering rating of NBC'S Comedy Hour due to bring about a drastic change in format, possibly a switch to a dramatic hour despite change in format, and despite sponsors being signed through October. . .

Sportscaster Mel Allen will emcee a 90-minute spectacular heralding the start of the baseball season (Sunday on NBC-TV). Mel's cast will include the chorus of "Damn Yankees," star Gwen Verdon and Leo Durocher.

Latest rumor on Madison avenue (where rumors average 1,000 to a martini): Gloria Vanderbilt wants to do a TV series, and she wants her steady escort, Rita Gam's ex-husband Sidney Lumet, to do the producing-directing.

Kathryn Murray and Bert Lahr will do the "Jealousy" sketch (Bilkoscripter Nat Hiken originally wrote it for a Bette Davis revue) on "Champangne Party" Thursday on CBS-TV.

ONE-EYED GLAMOR

Pretty Buff Cobb's wearing velvet and sequinned eye patches a la Zsa Zsa except Buff's reason was minor operation (successful).

Fred MacMurray and CBS are in the midst of negotiating for a "Perry Mason" detective series. . .

Marion Brando's past, present or perhaps fiancee, Josanne Berenger, will do a few more supporting roles on NBC soap sagas. . .

NBC is conferring with 20th-Century Fox about filming eight 90-minute spectaculars next season.

Norway's total fruit crop last year was about 67,400 tons, a serious drop from the 95,600 tons of 1954.

Brazil Overhauls Old Constitution

Minister Offers Series of Changes Requiring OK From Congress

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Brazil's new government is overhauling the nation's 10-year-old constitution.

* * *

Nereu Ramos, former provisional president and now minister of justice, has offered a series of constitutional changes which require only approval of Congress. They include:

1. A provision that to be elected president a candidate must receive more than half the popular vote. At present the candidate who receives the most votes is the winner. In the most recent election, in which there were four presidential candidates, the winner received but 35 per cent of the popular vote. In event no candidate receives half the vote, under the new proposal, Congress would choose between the two high men.

Teenage Music Lovers Drive Him to Drink

LONDON (AP)—In the toy department of an Oxford street store Patrick Allewyn was happy. But when he was transferred to phonograph records his spirits dropped.

* * *

Patrick loved classical music and teen-agers who patronized his department wanted hot stuff.

"They made me play ridiculous things like 'Itsy Bitsy Bu' and I frequently was distressed," he explained in court.

* * *

In the same record department were six women clerks who wanted to sell lots of records. Patrick said they fussed at him.

"It was nag, nag, nag day after day," he said, "and finally I am sorry to say, I went out and got drunk."

* * *

Allewyn was fined 10 shillings—$1.40. A sympathetic probation officer offered to try to find him a more congenial job.
