HUD Guidelines Debated by City

A federal report from the Department of Housing and Urban Development touched off debate among city commissioners last night as to the value of federally financed programs.

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 2, said the city may have to "consider getting out of all federal programs."

Irwin suggested that HUD was exceeding its authority in setting guidelines for implementing the city's workable program.

The workable program — a plan adopted by a community to eliminate causes of blight — is required by the government to receive federal funds in a variety of federal programs.

Pontiac's was approved by the federal government two weeks ago. It was submitted for approval in September.

FEDERAL AIDE COMMENTS

John E. Kane, assistant regional administrator from HUD's Chicago office, reported on the certification. Among his comments:

- "Progress reported in bringing substandard dwelling units into compliance with the minimum standards housing code . . . were disappointing. This does not appear to be reasonable progress in a program to eliminate blight and substandard conditions."

- "Pontiac does not have a satisfactory comprehensive community plan . . . because of the lack of a current public improvements program and zoning ordinance and map."

- "Pontiac does not have neighborhood analyses which meet workable program requirements."

Kane said that at the next application for recertification the city should submit a public improvements program, zoning ordinance and map, should complete items necessary for acceptable analyses, should submit membership lists, reports and programs, of a citizens advisory committee and a minority housing committee.

He requested attention to the following:

- "Report the progress achieved in the community's efforts to adopt an open-housing ordinance."

- "It is recommended that the statistical report of relocation results for all families displaced by governmental action be provided in the next submission."

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said

Upgrading Licenses of Taverns Rejected

By BOB WISLER

A request by several tavern owners that the City Commission consider approving upgrading of their tavern licenses to Class C status was turned down by commissioners last night. The vote was 3-2.

After hearing a petition by Charles Austin, owner of Tom's Bar, 928

Related Stories, Pages B-8, D-1

University Drive, president of the Oakland County Licensed Beverage Association and executive board member of the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association, District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson moved to follow recommendations made by a special citizens committee in 1964.

The recommendations would lead to upgrading all taverns at the rate of three per year. Taverns are allowed to sell only beer and wine. Class C bars can also sell "spirits." "Spirits" refers to any alcohol over 16 per cent by volume.

Hudson's motion was supported only by District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood and District 7 Commissioner James H. Marshall voted it down.

District 5 Commissioner John A.

Dugan abstained in the vote, although according to the rules the commission operates under an abstention is counted with the majority. District 1 commissioner T. Warren Fowler was absent due to illness.

'NOT READY TO ACT'

Taylor said the commission was not ready to act on any such request until after the April 15 general election.

Dugan said the matter of reclassification first came up 14 years ago. He said that although the present system is "very unfair" the commission "has never been able to come to agreement" as to how the method of upgrading would work.

Hudson said the commission "has not stepped up to its responsibility to the tavern owners."

"This request will not add one additional outlet," he said. "It's perfectly within our realm to grant the request." Hudson said it was an injustice not to grant the request and to claim that the issue of politics is a reason why action can't be taken at this time.

Austin said seven bar owners present at the meeting represented 100 years of business in Pontiac. He said the owners were legitimate small businessmen, "not hoodlums, castoffs or operators of illegal businesses."

Tornado Hits State; Damage Is Heavy

MONROE (AP) — The first tornado of the season sliced through a four-mile stretch of Monroe County, four miles north of Monroe, causing extensive property damage and barely missing a subdivision yesterday.

No injuries were reported. The twister was accompanied by high winds, hail and some rain.

The twister, violating the high temperature and high humidity conditions which normally tip off weather forecasters, tore down three barns and 10 storage sheds before slamming into a greenhouse. It tore the roof off the building, causing $5,000 damage.

"It got real dark and I saw this twister moving and swirling around, picking things up," said Victor Staelgraeve, owner of the greenhouse. "It was maybe 20 to 25 feet off the ground."

The funnel then ripped the roof off the special education building of the Monroe County Intermediate School District before slamming into the Frenchtown Township fire hall, tearing off its roof and knocking one wall into the fire rig.

MISSES SUBDIVISION

Newsman Dave Bagnall of the Monroe Evening News said the twister barely missed a nearby subdivision of some 30 homes.

He said the tornado tipped over a mobile home, which careened into a parked car, which kept the mobile home from striking a house.

A U.S. Weather Bureau spokesman said there was a report of a funnel aloft over Monroe County, but added it never was detected on radar equipment.

The Weather Bureau in Toledo reported tracking the funnel on radar, however, and reported the radar report confirmed by visual sightings by three persons.

The Weather Bureau spokesman said the tornado was "very much in the nature of a freak" because the meteorological conditions which usually spawn tornadoes weren't evident yesterday.

'Pressure Put On for Dem Funds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran civil servant charged today that he and other high-level employees of the Maritime Administration were summoned to a business hours meeting last week and pressured by their boss to contribute to a Democratic party fund-raising dinner.

The employee told the Associated Press the meeting was called by James W. Gulick, acting head of the Maritime Administration, for 79 members of his staff who had received invitations to the $250-a-plate dinner to be held April 4.

Gulick reportedly told those present that contributions were not being sought by arm twisting. But, the source said, Gulick added:

"If you want to make sure that you have a nice, clean file — and you can be sure that a file is kept somewhere — you know what to do."

Gulick denied he made such a statement.

'NO PRESSURE'

"There was no pressure, no solicitation and whatever they wanted to do was in accordance with their own positions," he said.

"I'm inclined to think that this is a small minority that wants to think this way. I'm just at a loss to understand why."

John J. McCarthy, deputy general counsel for the Civil Service Commission, said his office was checking into the allegation that contributions were solicited and that the findings warrant it. "We will investigate up to the hilt."

The invitations to the dinner, being given by Rep. Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for President Johnson, went to 12,000 persons, including government personnel with a paygrade level of GS15 and above whose salaries range from $18,400 up.

One of Gulick's aides said he felt it was inconceivable that anyone left the meeting with a feeling that he had been pressured.

RINGING CONGRATULATIONS—Susan Thomas, a member of the Jills, a choral bell-ringing group, chimes congratulations to James McCracken, who is accepting the Pontiac Area United Fund Employee Giving award for Grinnell at the Pontiac Mall. McCracken, assistant manager of the store, accepted the award for five consecutive years of good giving at yesterday's PAUF breakfast. Fifty-seven firms and organizations were honored for outstanding employee giving in last year's campaign.

Area United Fund Honors 57 Firms, Organizations

Bells rang yesterday for 57 firms and organizations who received awards for outstanding giving during the past Pontiac Area United Fund campaign.

Representatives accepted plaques for first-year awards and brass shingles to add to plaques earned previously to the sound of a "bell-roll" provided by the Jills, a choral bell-ringing group of Bloomfield Hills High School students.

Awards were given to firms and organizations whose average gift of full-time employees was at least $18 and at least $9 per year for part-time workers.

A total of $1,030,174.60 was collected in the drive.

Top honors went to Hughes-Hatcher-Suffrin, the firm whose employees gave the highest amount per employee for two consecutive years.

Occasional Rain Expected Tonight

Partly sunny 'skies with high temperatures in the 60s will give way to occasional rain and thundershowers in the Pontiac area tonight. Lows will be in the 40- to 47-degree range.

Tomorrow's outlook is variably cloudy and a little cooler with a chance of showers mainly in the morning. The prediction for Friday is partly cloudy and mild.

Winds south to southwest at 15 to 12 miles per hour will increase to 15 to 25 miles per hour this afternoon and tonight.

Precipitation probability percentages are: today 10, tonight 50, and tomorrow 40.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded prior to 8 a.m. was 41. The 2 p.m. mercury reading was 62.

Four-year gives to receive awards were Hughes-Hatcher-Suffrin at Pontiac Mall, General Motors Acceptance Corp., Visiting Nurse Association, Family Service of Oakland County and Catholic Social Services.

Organizations receiving three consecutive years of giving awards were Fred Sanders Co., Winkelman's at Tel-Huron, Baker's Shoe Store in Pontiac Mall, Donnell's Hair Stylists at Pontiac Mall and UAW Region 1B.

Also receiving awards were Pontiac Schools-Central Administration, Pontiac Irving Elementary School, Boy Scouts of America, Urban League of Pontiac and Michigan Children's Aid Society.

Those receiving two-year awards were Osmon's Stores, Pontiac Travel Service (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 1)

County Airport Land Cost Takes Off

By JEAN SAILE

Land purchased Jan. 9 for expansion of Oakland-Pontiac Airport cost county taxpayers $35,000 more than it might have, records on file at the Oakland County Courthouse show.

The deal turned a one-day gross profit of $35,000 for two area residents. It grossed the previous owner a $90,000 profit.

The land involved is 39.8 acres north and west of the present airport. In 1967 it was assessed by Waterford Township for $5,400—not quite one-fourth of market value, according to the township's assessment formula.

The price to the county was $150,000. Under purchase since 1963 by W. Glenn Wade Jr. and his wife, Helen, of 4196 Westbrook, Bloomfield Hills, the acreage is described as being flat terrain, inaccessible to main roads. It is directly south of Lake Williams Gardens subdivision in Waterford Township.

Wade gained clear title to the property in two transactions on Dec. 6, 1967, at a total cost of $25,000, according to warranty deeds on file at the courthouse.

Another warranty deed shows that on Jan. 9 the property was sold to Louis C. Linteau and James G. Hartrick "each an undivided one-half" at a price of $115,000.

On the same day the land was resold by Hartrick, Linteau and their wives to Oakland County. The price listed on the deed is $150,000—an apparent profit of $35,000.

Hartrick, an attorney with offices at 801 S. Adams, Birmingham, and a former assistant Oakland County prosecutor, said an agreement to purchase the land had been signed with the Wades "in the middle of March 1967."

Hartrick's associate in the transaction, is owner and operator of Airport Service Lines, Inc., 431 E. Wilson. He is a former official of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors who was authorized in the 1967 county budget to make the purchase, said: "We know

House Is Near State School Aid Bill Okay

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Passage of a multimillion dollar public school aid bill was likely today in the State House of Representatives as the Senate continued to dispatch its half of general fund appropriations bill to the House.

The school bill was fattened $5 million by the House over the amount recommended by Gov. George Romney.

Representatives scrambled to get the school aid figures firmed up in time for local districts to know how much money they will have for contract talks with teachers.

The senate sent $88.8 million in fiscal 1968-69 spending bills to the house yesterday and was likely to send a few more today. It was the earliest in years that such bills had cleared either house.

Sent to the house yesterday were bills to pay obligations of state agencies that exceeded their budgets this year, for $25.5 million for the Department of Education next year and the first of three bills for building projects to total $2.3 million.

NO PAROCHIAL TRY

In the House, the school-aid bill reached the brink of passage without any effort of backers of "parochialism" to hook their $21 million program for state aid to parochial school parents on as an amendment. They said they might try to do that later, however.

Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, House Education Committee chairman, estimated the school aid measure would earmark about $274 million from the state general fund for public school aid, a $59.9 million increase over current levels.

Poverty-stricken and low-valuation school districts were to get the most of the increase if the bill, approved by two House committees, wins House and Senate approval.

Meanwhile, the House agreed yesterday to put off until next week a vote on a bill which would legalize greyhound dog racing in Michigan.

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, introducer of the dog bill, said he was close to the needed 56 votes already and added he thought he would have a majority by next Wednesday.

Linguistics Workshop Is Planned

BIRMINGHAM — A linguistics workshop for elementary foreign language teachers throughout the state will be held on two consecutive Saturdays, March 30 and April 6.

The two-day Foreign Language Elementary School (FLES) workshop, sponsored by the State Department of Education, will take place at Baldwin Elementary School, 150 Chester.

Mrs. Louise Couture, Birmingham Schools coordinator of foreign language, and four elementary school teachers will be conducting the workshop, designed to help teachers improve their methods.

Local teachers who will be assisting in the workshop are Mrs. Ruth Lowmaster, Pembroke School; Miss Kay Waller, Beverly School; Mrs. Beatrice Nelson, Harlan School; and Miss Christine Rasmussen, Pierce School.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of directors of the United Home Owners Association of Bloomfield Township has voted to disapprove the use of state income tax refunds or any other county funds for the purchase of additional land at Pontiac airport and the construction of a new jail.

In a letter to Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, the association took the position that other county needs such as roads, welfare and libraries, should outrank the priority of the two projects.

Avon Man Killed in Pontiac Crash

An Avon Township man was killed in Pontiac yesterday when his car skidded on snow, hit a parked car, throwing him to the ground.

Then the car caught his body under a wheel.

Dead is James M. Crawford, 26, of 3135 Eastwood. He was killed about 10:15 a.m. after his car skidded on snow piled along the curb on Auburn near Carriage Circle, police said.

The car went into a skid and knocked over a sign pole before hitting a parked car. Police found his body under the wheel. They jacked the car to get him out. The victim was taken to Pontiac General Hospital, where he was dead on arrival, police said.

Airport Land Cost Takes Off

had set $3,840 an acre as a fair price and that the county had actually purchased the land for $3,750 an acre.

Kenneth VanNatta, county superintendent of lands and grounds, said this appraisal figure was reached on the basis of other land transactions around the airport since the county took over the facility in January 1967, and since the Airport Master Plan for future development was made public last fall.

VanNatta affirmed that his office had attempted to contact Wade several times during the winter, but that the former owner was in Florida and the county's messages were not answered until shortly before Christmas.

It was at that time that VanNatta and Murphy said they learned that Hartick and Linteaue had purchased agreements with Wade for the property.

Murphy said that Hartick and White had begun negotiations with the county on the basis of $5,000 an acre.

Said VanNatta: "We are in a difficult position. We sit on two sides of a fence. Everybody gets mad when we don't say what we're going to do, but when the news gets out and land values go up, people get upset because you're spending tax money."

Tax-Collection Rules Okayed

City commissioners last night adopted rules and regulations for collecting city income taxes.

The regulations are highly technical and are mostly for the benefit of employers who are collecting the taxes, Edward Gallagher, director of finance, said.

The city has yet to receive any of the money from the income tax collected by employers. Payments from the employers are due in quarters with the first due April 1.

The city income tax was declared valid by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer early this year but an attempt is being made to reverse the effect of Beer's decision.

Attorneys Robert D. Cunningham and Robert D. Coon appealed to the State Appellate Court to reverse a decision of Judge Beer that they could not intervene in the case which brought about the decision that the tax is valid.

COULDN'T INTERVENE

The attorneys on behalf of tax opponent Cecil C. Mullinix were not allowed to intervene in the original case.

The case was brought about by two city employees who petitioned the court to refrain from setting a referendum election on the tax question.

Only attorneys for the city and the employees were allowed to speak on the validity of the income tax and the validity of petitions which sought a referendum election on the tax question.

The appeal by Cunningham and Coon is still pending.

City Fiscal Crisis Looms--Hudson

City Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, District 4, warned last night that city income taxes, expected to handle city expenses this year and next, is not a long-range solution to the city's money problems.

"If the present trend continues, we are going to be in a financial crisis two years from now," he said.

Hudson said he made the prediction on the basis of salary increases of the past two years.

He said if the 15 per cent pay increases of this year to police and firemen continue and similar pay adjustments to other city employees follow the present trend the income tax will in 1½ to two years "be inadequate to provide the services expected by the people."

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 2, said the commission could not state that at the present time, not knowing how much the income tax will bring in this year and not having received any tax money collected by employers yet this year.

SCARE TACTICS

"We're not in such hard straits that we should continually try to scare the people," he said.

Irwin suggested that the city would not give pay raises in the future comparable to those of the past few years. "We're not going to do this every year."

"Whether we want to face the facts or not," Hudson said, the reports from the administrative staff — "who in this case are the experts" — indicate revenue from an income tax will not long be sufficient.

He said the city is utilizing a "rather obsolete state law" in enforcing the building codes. "We all recognize we have to have more enforcement," he said, Warren said additional inspectors will be required to conduct an adequate program.

GEN. CREIGHTON W. ABRAMS

Secrecy Cloaks General's Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Relative secrecy surrounds Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' Washington visit, generally considered a prelude to an announcement he will succeed Gen. William C. Westmoreland in Vietnam.

The 53-year-old Abrams, Westmoreland's top deputy, arrived unannounced Monday night and his presence went largely unnoticed until a newsmen spotted him in a Pentagon hallway yesterday.

Although the Defense Department didn't say so immediately, Abrams had just returned from a White House lunch.

Confirming his presence later, the Pentagon said the four-star Army general was in Washington to report on plans to strengthen and modernize the South Vietnamese army.

Abrams has been mentioned prominently as the officer who will fill Westmoreland's shoes by July 2 when the present Vietnam commander becomes Army chief of staff.

The White House shed little additional light later in confirming that Abrams was the President along with unnamed "senior advisers" and would be in Washington a day or two.

Couple Found Dead in Auto

A young couple was found dead by carbon monoxide poisoning in a parked car this morning in Farmington Township, according to police.

Police identified the victims as Laura Lichwala, 20, of 21251 Cass, Farmington Township, and Ronald R. Taylor, also known as Richard R. Kuhfeldt, 23. His address is given as 32523 Kirby, Farmington Township.

Township Police Chief Irving Yakes identified the cause of death and said the car had a defective exhaust system.

The victims were found dead in the car by patrolmen at 6:31 a.m. today at Richmond and Gill, said police.

Both worked at Mills Products, 3306 Eight Mile, Farmington Township, and reportedly left work at 2 a.m. They were taken to Botsford General Hospital, Farmington Township.

HUD Guidelines Are Debated by City

the city is "considerably better off than when the workable program was reported in September."

He said the zoning ordinance and map are in the process of being adopted and the problem of citizen participation "is being much more adequately taken care of by the Pontiac Area Planning Council," which was not in existence last September.

ENFORCEMENT PROBLEM Adequate housing code enforcement is a real problem, he said. More code enforcement is being required each year and a new housing code is needed, he said.

He said the city is utilizing a "rather obsolete state law" in enforcing the building codes. "We all recognize we have to have more enforcement," he said, Warren said additional inspectors will be required to conduct an adequate program.

Irwin criticized the reference to open-housing ordinance saying "it implies that this is a goal we must seek."

He said Congress has been unable to pass an open-housing law. "Where does HUD have the authority to demand the City of Pontiac make progress in this area?"

CONTROLS EXTENDED Irwin said federal controls are being extended to such an extent that, "maybe our local form of government is due to be totally obliterated."

He suggested the city should do without federal programs and "resolve the problems ourselves without turning over our responsibility."

senior citizen housing is one of the reasons that the city has had considerable difficulty getting senior citizen housing bill.

NO OBLIGATION

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, District 4, said the city does not have to take part in federal programs. "The government doesn't force us to take them, they all have to be applied for by this commission."

"These programs are provided because somebody sees where a job is not being done by the local people," he said.

He said if the city is going to seek assistance it should expect that certain guidelines must be adhered to.

Hudson said the city applied for federal aid in senior citizen housing "because it was not being provided by the private sector," and for aid in code enforcement because "until four years ago this city wasn't doing a very good job."

War-Torn Hue Faces Long Fight to Recover

HUE, Vietnam (AP) — Gradually Hue is striving to bring itself back from the ravages of the lunar new year fighting. It is going to be a long process.

Everywhere in this city 300 miles northeast of Saigon there still are signs of the Vietnam war's longest sustained battle — 25 days of fighting that wracked the city in February. There are destroyed, burned-out buildings, and marks of shells and bullets in the old capital's walls and battlements.

Little by little the people are trying to restore life to what once was considered South Vietnam's most beautiful city.

Most of the work so far is being done by the people themselves and is centered on their own property—homes, shops or places of business. They have cleared much of the rubble left from the fighting and they are patching up buildings and trying to return a semblance of physical order.

STUDENTS HELP

Student volunteers from Saigon University and other schools have come to Hue to help with the job of rebuilding.

The official task of reconstruction still is moving slowly, however. One American noted that the Tua Thien province chief who had authority over Hue was fired and that other administrative officials are no longer in their posts—either killed, missing, wounded or

The same thing is true on the American side with an almost complete changeover in personnel since the offensive.

"We got 14 brand-new people here," said one U.S. official, "and many of them don't even know where province headquarters is yet."

This official also noted the possibility of another enemy attack still is "very much on people's minds, and Westy's press conference didn't help."

RECENT STATEMENT

He referred to a recent news conference statement by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in South Vietnam, who said he thought Hue might be the next target of a new offensive.

The U.S. Military Assistant Command (MACV) compound here is back to normal with only the marks of bullets and shells to denote recent fighting. The movie schedule at the compound this week included the TV film "Combat." A goose that flew into the MACV compound during the fighting has been adopted as an official mascot.

The main bridge spanning the Perfume River between the new and old sections of Hue was blown up during the fighting but now is usable for limited traffic as a result of a 100-foot pontoon link put in by U.S. Marines.

Added Charges for New Homes

Avon Service Costs Up

By JEAN SAILE

AVON TOWNSHIP — The price on any new home served by township water and sewerage systems, once they are completed, jumped about $3,000 yesterday. The increase results from the new water and sewerage disposal rate ordinance passed by the Township Board.

It becomes official two weeks after being published.

The new ordinance reads, "All new construction must pay the debt service charges in cash."

Time payments for both services, in which costs may be spread over 40 years, is for existing homes only, according to terms of the ordinance.

Financial consultant William Hettiger of Stratton Associates confirmed that existing commercial, industrial and apartment owners must pay the new costs when they connect to the township system.

Connection costs also are detailed in the ordinance.

CHARGE EXTENDED

The capital charge of $350 per unit for water and for sewers applicable to homeowners has been extended for other types of property usage. (See related story below.)

Lateral benefit charges — $900 to homeowners for water and $1,150 for sewers — are increased for other types of property as follows:

For water service, the $900 unit charge takes care of the first 80 front feet of property and $180 is charged for each additional 20 feet or less of abutting property.

For sewer service, the $1,150 unit charge takes care of the first 80 front feet of property and $230 is charged for each additional 20 feet or less of abutting property.

New minimum quarterly use charges range from $7.50 per 1,800 cubic feet of water for a 1/2 or 3/4 inch meter to $67 for a 4 inch meter. For more than 1,800 cubic feet the charge is 40 cents per 100 cubic feet and for more than 3,600 cubic feet the charge is 30 cents per 100 cubic feet.

HYDRANT CHARGES

Hydrant charges were fixed at $20 per year. The sewage treatment rate was fixed at $3.75 per quarter plus 25 cents per 100 cubic feet of water used in homes with a metered water supply. Homes without a metered water supply will pay $10 per quarter.

Rates for all other premises are to be established by the township board.

No connection date deadline for water was set but Hettiger reaffirmed that a property owner has one year after services become available to connect to a sewer line.

The ordinance provides for the collection of fees by a lien against the property if necessary.

Hettiger said legislation authorizing construction of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor line provides for a township-wide tax if needed to pay for the facility.

TAX NOT NEEDED

Supervisor Cyril Miller said under the provisions provided by the ordinance he saw no reason such a tax is needed.

"We're way ahead," he said.

Hettiger said he believed revenues would actually be greater than needed to meet annual interceptor payment.

Trustee William McCulloch stressed that the system is designed to be self liquidating in cost.

The fact Avon is the first to get going on a system of laterals and charges can stand to its advantage, he said.

Water and Sewer Rate Formulas

Listed below are the Avon Township formulas for determining capital charges for water and sewer service according to the type of business.

In addition to the capital charge, business will also pay a hefty lateral benefit fee, and cost of getting the service from the property line to the point of use.

All of these charges must be paid at the time of connection.

A unit cost is $350 each for water and sewer or $700 for both.

Auto Dealers — new cars — one unit plus 15 per cent of a unit ($52.50) per stall for either water or sewer ($105 for both).

Bars — 1 1/2 cents per sq. ft. plus 5 per cent of a unit ($17.50) per seat.

Barber Shops — one unit plus 10 per cent of a unit ($35.00) per chair.

Bowling Alleys, with bar and lunch — one unit plus 20 per cent of a unit ($70.00) per lane.

Bowling alleys only — one unit plus 8 per cent of a unit ($28.00) per lane.

Beauty shops — one unit plus 15 per cent of a unit ($32.50) per booth.

Car wash — one unit plus 10 cents per square foot.

Churches — 1/2 cents per sq. foot plus 8c of a unit ($2.80) per seat.

Clinics — one unit plus 50 per cent of a unit ($175.00) per examining room.

Factories (office and prod.) — 1 1/2 cents per sq. foot plus 4 per cent of a unit ($14.00) per person.

Groceries and supermarkets — 1 1/2 cents per sq. foot plus 50 per cent of a unit ($175.00) per employee.

Hospitals — one unit plus 75 per cent of a unit ($262.50) per bed.

Hospitals (convalescent homes) — one unit plus 20 per cent of a unit ($70.00) per bed.

Hotels and motels — one unit plus 25 per cent of a unit ($87.50) per bed.

Two-family residences — one unit plus 50 per cent of a unit ($175.00).

Multiple family residences — one unit plus 50 per cent of a unit ($175.00) per additional unit.

Office buildings — 1 1/2 cents per sq. foot plus 25 per cent of a unit ($87.50) per employee.

Restaurants (food only) — 1 1/2 cents per sq. foot plus 8 per cent of a unit ($28.00) per seat.

Restaurants (with food and drink) — 1 1/2 cents per sq. foot plus 16 per cent of a unit ($56.00) per seat.

Schools — one unit plus one unit ($350.00) each additional room.

Service stations — one unit plus 15 per cent of a unit ($52.50) per pump.

Drive-ins (snack bars, etc.) — one unit plus 4 per cent of a unit ($14.00) per seat or stall.

Theatres (drive-ins) — one unit plus 4 per cent of a unit ($14.00) per car space.

Trailer parks — one unit plus 50 per cent of a unit ($175.00) per trailer.

For other uses not listed, or for unusual conditions, charges shall be determined by the township.

Access Details Delay Rezoning for Walled Lake Development

WALLED LAKE — A decision on rezoning 61 acres on Maple and Decker for apartments, business and a hospital has been deferred for further study by the planning commission.

At a recent joint meeting, the commission and City Council called for the review of plans for the parcel on the southwest corner of Maple and Decker.

The chief concern of the bodies was that plans didn't indicate entry and exit routes, reported City Manager Royce Downey.

He explained that the commission and council prefer a limited access because of the heavy traffic on Maple.

The commission is planning to meet with landowners and developers Lorne Olsen and Robert Carey and report back to the council as soon as possible, said Downey.

Olsen and Carey, certified public accountants practicing in Birmingham, have plans to construct 300 apartment units on 20 acres, general business on another 20 acres, and a hospital on the other acreage.

The land is now zoned single family and multiple unit residential.

Farmington Twp. Awards Contract to Pave 2 Roads

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The contract has been awarded for the paving of parts of Power and 11 Mile.

The work will be done by D. J. McQuestion and Sons, who had the low bid of $191,610. The cost will be shared half-and-half by the county and the township through its general budget.

The project is for Power from 10 Mile to 11 Mile and for 11 Mile from Power to Orchard Lake roads.

Work is expected to be completed by early October, reported Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

No objections were raised by 20 residents who appeared at the public hearing to determine the necessity for a water project for Franklin Forest subdivision. A hearing on financing is to be set.

REIDENTS WANT DATA

The same residents, however, said they wanted to know more about a road project for their subdivision at the public hearing on the necessity of the project.

The hearing on costs allows more information from the engineer, said a township spokesman.

Roads Group to Meet

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — The local chapter of WHAR (Why Have All Roads?) meets tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall, 205 N. John.

WHAR is the countywide roads protest group headed by Ben East of Holly.

Pay Is Changed for Fire Fighters

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — At a special meeting of the Township Board last Thursday night pay changes were made for the township's volunteer firemen, it was disclosed today.

Clerk Mrs. Erich Kurschat said firemen will now be paid $1 for each practice meeting, and the previous rate of $1 for the first hour and $2 for each succeeding hour on fire calls has been extended to a flat $3 an hour on calls between midnight and 6 a.m.

A raise of $50 for the assistant fire chief was also granted with the idea that it would be paid to Robert McCallum, according to Mrs. Kurschat.

McCallum denies that he is assistant chief.

He said he has rejoined the department only temporarily and that he will refuse the money if it is presented to him. He said he is accepting no salary at all for his work at the present time.

Proposed School Issue, Plans to Be Reviewed

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The proposed school bond issue and plans for the new high school will be reviewed at the Scotch School PTO meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the school at 5810 Commerce.

Members of the board of education speaking will be President Leonard Grossman, Secretary Earl Kreps and Trustee Jack H. Shuler.

Also slated to talk are Dr. James Neubacher, cochairman of the citizens committee for the new high school, and Roger Garvelink, principal of the present high school.

BIRTHDAY CAKE — Members of the Birmingham Exchange Club slice into a cake marking their organization's 57th anniversary. The service club for business and professional men celebrated the event at its regular meeting Tuesday. Wielding the knife is President Larry King. Flanking him are (left) Allen Hart, vice president, and Bruce McIntosh.

Brandon Township Tax Meeting Has Standing Room Only

Complaints About Increase in Taxes Are Heard at Brandon Twp. Meeting

By TOM GRAY

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — "If you feel your assessment is too high, then you should go to the board of review. And if they can't help you, and you still think it's too high, then you should go to the State Tax Commission."

That statement (by Township Supervisor Richard Wilcox) perhaps best characterized an open meeting here last night, as Brandon citizens aired their complaints about increased taxes.

No one's assessment, or equalization factor, or tax, was changed at the meeting, but many residents became better informed about the workings of local, county and state government.

Wilcox and Herman Stephens, director of the Oakland County Equalization Department, fielded questions from the 125 citizens who jammed the township hall.

Some of the questions were easy, such as "Why aren't the roads any better in Brandon with the taxes we pay?" Wilcox referred the question to the Oakland County Road Commission, explaining that the commission collects gas and weight taxes for road improvement.

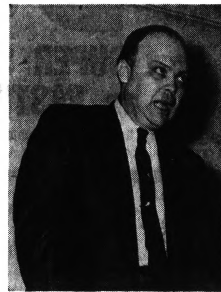

UNVARYING ANSWER

In response to queries concerning individual assessment, Wilcox gave an unvarying answer, telling citizens to appear before the board of review and then, if failing to receive satisfaction, to appeal to the state.

After a number of other questioners had asked whether the board of review in the township would have the time necessary to hear all complaints on assessments, Wilcox said the board members had agreed to allow people objecting to their assessment to record their names at the open meeting.

The names, the supervisor continued, would be listed with the review board, so that citizens could go on to contact the state commission without further delay.

Other questions were more difficult.

LOGIC CHALLENGED

One resident challenged the logic of hiring an appraiser from outside the township to assess property values. "Why have someone come through here and assess our property?" he asked.

Wilcox said the appraiser was a qualified and certified, and added that the Township Board thought it necessary to hire a professional appraiser to insure uniformity in assessments for all residents.

Some residents expressed a simple inability to pay the new taxes. "My valuation has gone from $3,700 to $10,500," said one, "and next year it's going to be $15,900 — my taxes are going from $420 to $650."

"I've been here for 33 years, and I'm still farming, still trying to make a living. But I can't do it under these circumstances."

Another suggested that responsibility for taxes is on the citizen: "We are at fault. We should be at the annual meeting Saturday, not to criticize these people (township officials), but to help them. I've been here for several years and I've never lifted a finger to help them."

Troy Blocks Taller Tower

TROY — The City Commission has concurred with the planning commission in denial of a tower extension request from a local radio station.

Jaymar Broadcasting Co., owner of the WHFI structure, had asked permission from the city to add 65 feet to the 306-foot tower, located at Rankin and Souter.

City Planner George Peck said the company had obtained approval from the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Aviation Agency, but the tower was in conflict with restrictions of the city.

"The property on which the tower is located is zoned for light industry," Peck commented, "and the zoning ordinance does permit such facilities as radio, microwave towers and such as conditional uses."

One of the principal conditions, however, he continued, was that any tower be situated on a parcel of land large enough so that if it fell, it would fall on its owner's property.

TOWER TOO HIGH

On this basis, Peck said, the WHFI tower is too high. At one point, the property line is only 111 feet from the structure, while the farthest distance between the line and the tower is 262 feet.

In other business, the commission:

• Approved an updated copy of the South Oakland County Mutual Aid Agreement, which allows law enforcement agencies in one community to assist those of another if requested. The revised agreement, according to City Clerk Kenneth Courtney, includes Farmington and Farmington Township, and has some changes in wording to conform with latest state laws.

• Approved a proposed division of Precinct 13, due to increased population. The number of people living in the precinct has jumped from 1,138 to 1,492 since January, Courtney said.

• Approved the rolls for two special-assessment paving projects totaling $227,000. One, on Austin north of Maple, is estimated at $107,100 total and $11.76 per front foot. Estimated total for the other, on Heide north of Maple, is $120,100, at $25.29 per front foot.

Firm Sues Troy in Water Dispute

TROY — A dispute over a water main assessment has resulted in a court suit involving this city.

The party initiating the civil action is the Saxony Land Co. According to City Attorney Stanley Burke, the amount of money involved is about $7,000.

When the water main, which is located on Wattles adjacent to Mount Vernon subdivision, was laid, Frank Hill, owner of some undeveloped property lying within the special assessment district, asked the city to assume his part of the assessment, Burke said.

The city agreed, the attorney continued, subject to the stipulation that when the land was developed, the owners would repay the amount of the assessment.

When Saxony began development, the city sent the firm a bill, which was paid, Burke said. But the development company is now suing to get the money back.

SUMMONS NOTICE

The City Commission, upon receiving notice of the summons to Oakland County Circuit Court, directed Burke to represent the city and to enjoin Hill as a witness.

According to Burke, the only written record of the agreement between the property owner and the city is in the minutes of the commission.

Circuit Court Gets Pole Injury Case

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A 44-year-old woman here was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on the charge of willful and felonious injury of a telephone pole.

The suspect, Mrs. Virginia Clapp of 3434 14 Mile is free on $3,000 bond, set by Justice Christian Powell. A Circuit Court examination has not been held for this case.

Mrs. Clapp was arrested March 1 after she and a woman companion allegedly tried to sever guide wires of a telephone pole when a lineman refused to leave their property, according to police reports.

Area Voters Meet School Needs

This week's Pontiac area election results would seem to blow a hole in the theory that everyone is fed up with constantly rising taxes.

On Monday, voters in the Pontiac School District and West Bloomfield Township went to the polls and approved tax increase proposals.

This is a turnabout from recent millage votes in other Pontiac area communities where the outcome was strongly against any tax increase.

True, the 6.25-mill increase in the Pontiac School District won by only 39 votes. That still shows a considerable antitax sentiment.

The winning margin for a 2-mill increase in West Bloomfield Township was 570.

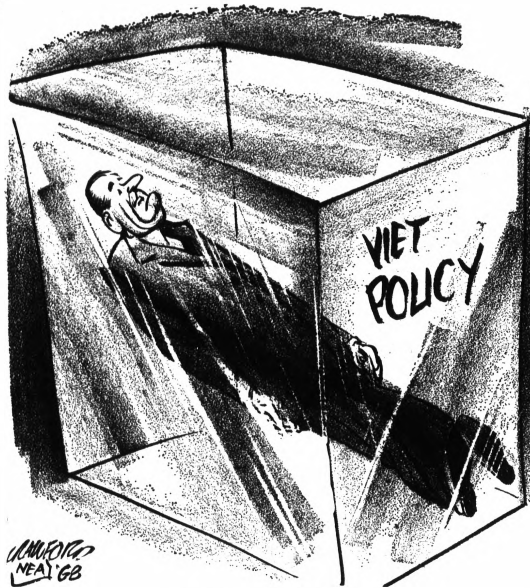

Possibly one key to the two victories is the fact that neither community was asked to approve an excessive millage hike.

Another aspect is that in both communities a concerted effort was made to place the facts before the taxpayers. Particularly in the school vote, a dedicated school finance study committee devoted many hours to outlining school district needs to the public. Penetrating questions were answered frankly.

If nothing else, the two millage requests appeared to be realistic. There was nothing to imply that the township or school district was trying to pad its budget.

We don't think these millage votes necessarily indicate an end to the current trend of antitax sentiment. What they may very well indicate is that the public is much more receptive to an administration which doesn't wait too long to request more revenue. Anticipating a deficit and acting to avoid it is always easier for the taxpayer to swallow than waiting until you're deep in debt.

The Iceman Cometh

David Lawrence Says:

Stress on Primaries Misleading

WASHINGTON — Even if a candidate of either party who entered the presidential-preference primaries in 11 states were to win a majority in every instance, this would not necessarily mean that he would be elected to the presidency.

LAWRENCE

The current overemphasis on the primaries is misleading and obscures the fact that, under the present electoral college system, a president isn't always chosen by a majority of the voters.

All the 11 states which today conduct presidential-preference primaries have a total of only 149 electoral votes. This is less than 28 per cent of the 538 electoral votes allotted to the 50 states of the union and the District of Columbia.

The presidential election which was the most conspicuous example of the weakness in the present method of choosing presidents was the one held in the year 1936.

Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Republican nominee for the presidency, got 16,675,000 votes—36.5 per cent of the total cast throughout the country—but was entitled to only eight electoral votes, which was less than 2 per cent of the 531 electoral votes that year.

If a presidential candidate gets a majority in a state, the entire electoral vote of that state is customarily recorded for him in the electoral college.

A president may get less than a majority in the popular vote and still win by a landslide in the electoral college.

Since only 11 states provide for presidential-preference primaries today, the nominations have to be decided by the other 39 states.

Even a public-opinion poll taken on a nationwide basis in some respects a better measure of the feelings of the people than are the results of presidential preference primaries in only 11 states.

For many of these polls are made in farm areas as well as in urban communities and in large as well as small states.

The simplest way to pick party nominees, of course, would be to require every state to hold a preference primary on the same day.

More than two parties might participate, but the parties ranking first and second in the race would be the only ones eligible for the ballot on election day.

This would do away with third-party voting in the final election.

Many members of Congress favor a constitutional amendment which would provide that electoral votes would no longer be allocated to each state as a unit but that instead every congressional district would cast one electoral vote.

The electoral total for each state would then be superstate to hold a preference primary on the same day.

Two Views of Khe Sanh . . . a Trap, Impenetrable

NEW YORK — In a letter to the Washington Post, his torian Schlesinger calls for the immediate evacuation of the Marines now holding that key outpost in northwestern South Vietnam.

"Let us not sacrifice our brave men to the folly of generals and the obstinacy of presidents," he wrote. Noting that the Marines are now surrounded, Schlesinger concluded, "A humane or intelligent leadership would have arranged for the immediate evacuation of the men."

"Why then do we stay? Not for military reasons: We stay because President Johnson deliberately and unnecessarily committed American honor to holding Khe Sanh."

In a recent interview, Lt. Gen. Lew Walt, assistant commander of the Marine Corps, reviewed the situation at Khe Sanh as follows:

The enemy, estimated at 20,000, or about three times as many as the defending Marines and South Vietnamese rangers, cannot overrun Khe Sanh.

The Marines are dug in deep behind layers of barbed wire and mined fields. They have the protection of their own massive firepower and the heaviest concentration of tactical firepower ever assembled.

The surrounding enemy is in turn surrounded by heavy U.S. army artillery and mortar positions.

The enemy has been largely forced underground. Several Marine divisions are minutes away by air. Elements of the 82nd and 101st Airborne are just south of the enemy, and the 1st Cavalry (airmobile) is just south of the airborne troops.

"No power on earth could crack Khe Sanh," said the general who designed its defenses. It is, he added, the most heavily defended outpost in the history of warfare.

Any enemy charge would be annihilated. There is no relationship between Khe Sanh and Dien Bien Phu, he continued. The Marines have everything the French did not have.

You may take your choice.

Khe Sanh strangles several tentacles of the Ho Chi Minh trail leading out of Laos.

To abandon it, Gen. Walt told us, would be to give the enemy a free pass into the entire area and turn over to him about a quarter of million South Vietnamese.

Medical Costs

Baltimore Morning Sun

Late last year a presidential advisory commission reported that soaring medical costs, already depriving many people of needed health care, could more than double by 1975.

The Labor Department's price index bears witness to this gloomy forecast; seldom does a month go by that this item doesn't rank at or near the top in cost of living increases.

The President has followed up the findings of his commission by recommending to Congress that it find ways to reduce or cut out altogether unnecessary hospital stays.

He also asks for ways to penalize hospital inefficiency, a major factor in rising costs.

The advisory commission found that among some of the nation's best hospitals payments varied by as much as 100 per cent.

To tick this problem it may be necessary to create whole new systems of hospital management.

'Grateful for Results of Pontiac School Vote'

Monday the voters of the Pontiac School District went to the polls to decide a crucial issue in the lives of the children of our community. I am grateful that their decision was to "vote yes twice."

No campaign is perfect. We failed to make some of the issues clear to some people. For this we apologize. I am confident that as the plans approved are carried out that those with serious reservations will be well pleased with the results.

We can all be grateful for the efforts of those who have worked so hard on this project, for a school board that sincerely cares about our children, for school administrators who have demonstrated their professional competency and for our teachers who work hard to educate our children. We can also take pride in being a community willing to accept its own responsibilities. It has been a real pleasure to have had the opportunity to quarterback an all-star team.

The business community of Pontiac congratulates the citizens of Pontiac for their positive action taken at the polls. The support of the educational system is vital to any forward-moving community.

Appreciation is extended to the committee of 90 and those who unselfishly devoted their time to explore the facts and tell the story.

Reader Comments on Dismissal of Charges

Our courts are to protect the innocent and see that justice is done when a crime has been committed. Recently a nine-year-old girl was called as a witness in view of a crowded courtroom from which the judge saw fit to remove all children due to the nature of the case—indecent liberties. The judge saw fit to dismiss the case because of lack of evidence, yet a nine-year-old girl will carry with her the frightening fact that a grown adult man tried to take liberties with her. I am fortunate that I know who this man is and can protect and warn my daughter against this one. But what of the ones that don't know him?

Cites 'Perfect Example' of Lack of Publicity

A perfect example of the lack of publicity given to anyone except those slightly left of center is the startling disclosure by David Lawrence in his March 21st column of some statements made by Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Rep. Willis says Communists are instigators of many of the demonstrations inside the United States and that his investigators have documented proof of this:

No popping of flashbombs for Rep. Willis, no heavy of reporters waiting breathlessly outside for a "statement." No interruptions on your daily television programs for an open hearing about this most timely topic. Doesn't it seem strange?

Question and Answer

We've heard if your road needs gravel for filling holes or ruts, you must buy it from the road department and they will then fill and grade the road. Is this true? If so, what happens to the taxes we pay for road upkeep?

MRS. JAMES BOYLAN
5961 ROWLEY, DRAYTON PLAINS

REPLY

Mr. Loomis of the County Road Commission tells us there is not enough money available for complete road resurfacing, but they are trying to take care of small repairs. However, for bigger jobs which require large amounts of gravel (for instance, if you and your neighbors want to resurface the whole block), Mr. Loomis says it is true that you can buy the gravel and the Road Commission will haul and spread it. As to what happens to your tax money, he is sending you some information which he feels will help explain the situation.

Inflation the Effect of Unsound Fiscal Practices

Until people finally see the inexorably close relationship between government spending, taxation, debt and inflation, they can hardly be expected to insist on financial responsibility in government. Inflation is eating away the value of our money, mainly because for more than a generation advocates of big government have enjoyed popular public support.

The mania to spend is outrunning productivity and the taxing ability of the Nation. A recent study by the American Enterprise Institute shows why responsible citizens should be concerned.

Federal spending has more than quadrupled in the past 20 years. Even when allowance is made for population growth and inflation, it has more than doubled. Outlays by the Federal government measured in 1965 dollars rose from $333 per person in 1948 to $776 per person in the current 1968 fiscal year.

State and local government spending has increased even more rapidly than Federal spending.

No matter how worthy the objective of government spending programs, they are not worth the price when they lead toward unmanageable debt and a breakdown in monetary stability.

What good are Government benefits paid in dollars of rapidly diminishing value?

Saturday Afternoon at the Movies

By L. GARY THORNE

Asst. City Editor—Suburban Saturday afternoon at the movies is different at nearly 30 years than at 13.

Not without considerable apprehension I recently consented to take our nearly 3-year-old to the Huron Theatre to view something called "The Jungle Book," an animated cartoon by Walt Disney.

THORNE

Excluding a few summer nights when he slept in the back seat of the car at drive-ins during his younger days, our son has never been to an indoor show.

The first problem was basic. Despite his 25 pounds, the seat continually threatened to close, which would have folded our tot in half.

Actually though, the very first problem was getting tickets since the first performance of the day was sold out. "The Jungle Book" is popular here. In any event, I purchased tickets for the late afternoon show, arrived 30 minutes before show time and stood in a line that stretched a half block.

The stured anticipation in that line was nearly uncontainable. I had thoughts of a stampede. It would be most undignified to be run over by a thousand tiny feet.

Certain aspects of Saturday matinees have changed since Randy Scott, Spy Smasher and Mighty Mouse were the big draw.

I noted that a good number of adults got dragged along with their offspring, although they ostensibly just carried the cat's goodies and the money. The presence of adults, however, no doubt precluded the hijinks popular when I was 13.

Back then ushers were posted about the moviehouse like prison guards and had about as much affection for their charges.

I now realize that they were mostly bark and no bite, but a group of kids would get kicked out often enough to keep the rest of us in line. You never got your 15 cents back.

Kids still scream pretty good, drop their popcorn and pop, cheer the good guys and applaud at the end. (Wonder why adults don't applaud any more?)

As events, and my son would have it, I never did see much of "The Jungle Book." Notwithstanding the merits of the respective films, my son sat through "Charlie the Lonesome Cougar," another Disney effort, and then wanted to leave.

We did. Besides wasting an afternoon, I did come away with one other small bit of intelligence, to wit: When one is nearly 30, there is no difficulty in getting waited on at the candy counter.

It wasn't always that way.

14 Dem Governors Support LBJ; 6 Uncommitted

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey of the nation's Democratic governors showed scant support today for either Sen. Robert F. Kennedy or Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

An Associated Press survey found that 14 of the 24 Democratic occupying state house chairs express support for President Johnson for re-nomination. Only one—Philip H. Hoff of Vermont—is unequivocally for Kennedy. One other—Harold E. Hughes of Iowa—may be leaning toward Kennedy or McCarthy.

Six of the governors appear uncommitted. Two others stand apart from the party.

STANDS ALONE

Hoff stands alone among the Democratic governors in his break with President Johnson. "I have concluded," Hoff said last Friday, "that the only way in which our potentially disastrous national course can be arrested is through a change in our national leadership."

Hoff said he welcomed McCarthy's candidacy but maintained that Kennedy "offers the most realistic possibility for the people of America if we are to achieve the national regeneration that is so desperately needed."

Hughes, a close friend of the President and chairman of the Democratic governors, said he will continue to support Johnson until it becomes clear the President refuses to change his Vietnam policies.

GUNS, BUTTER

"I may reach the point," Hughes said, "of totally and conclusively breaking with the current administration... I have reached a decision that a policy of guns and butter is not feasible."

The Iowa governor, who is running for Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper's seat, said he's keeping an open mind about Kennedy and McCarthy.

Firm support for the President comes from governors in such states as Texas, his home state, and from Tennessee, West Virginia and Delaware:

"Just a few weeks ago, Kennedy was saying that he supported President Johnson, and now he says that he does not support him. The United States is in a very uncertain leadership, and they aren't going to start now,"—John Connally of Texas.

SOLID SUPPORT
"In the long run, these recent developments are going to be beneficial for the President... I am absolutely convinced that President Johnson will receive solid support from the Tennessee delegation at the convention and then will carry Tennessee in November."—Buford Ellington, a long-time Johnson ally.

"We will conduct a vigorous campaign in the mountain state. Our efforts will culminate in victory for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket in November."—Hallett C. Smith of West Virginia.

"Deeply committed to the President and his administration,"—Charles L. Terry Jr. of Delaware.

Hawaii's Gov. John A. Burns said he's "pretty sure that Hawaii will continue to support the President in light of Johnson's outstanding record and especially because Hawaii remembers him as a man who brought statehood to us."

OPEN PARTY

But Burns described Kennedy's aspirations as "interesting." He said the challenges "further demonstrate that the Democratic party is an open party."

New Hampshire Gov. John W. King, a leader of the controversial Johnson write-in campaign last in the March primary there, is solidly in the Johnson camp. Indiana Gov. Roger D. Branigan has agreed to run as a Johnson stand-in in the state's May 7 presidential primary.

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois says he's with Johnson. So do Govs. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah and John N. Dempsey of Connecticut.

New Jersey Gov. Richard J. Hughes says he's with Johnson all the way, charging that Kenney's entry into the race could cause a "disruptive split" in the party. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina says he favors the President over either McCarthy or Kennedy.

SUPPORTS OFFICE

One of the 14 counted in the Johnson camp, Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota, gave this reason: "President Johnson is the elected President of the United States and as such I will support him in that office. President Johnson is the commander-in-chief of the U.S. armed forces. We are engaged in a war. I must support him, whether his state's delegates are deliver 1 agree with his military strategy or not; for if I did not, said he is not necessarily an- at this moment, I would thus nouncing his support for any of their perilous position."

Guy added, however, that he has said it would be most unusual if the state delegation phrely must be considered for "a doesn't back the President, at least on the first ballot at the convention.

Inkster Schools Will Get State Help in New Crisis

LANSING (UPI) — School officials from Inkster returned to Lansing Tuesday to plead for help in avoiding a looming cash crisis, and were again told they have enough money to keep going for just a little while longer.

The new crisis date now seems to be April 26. Officials had threatened to lock school doors in Inkster after classes this Friday because there would not be enough money to meet the April 12 payroll.

However, after meetings with key legislators, it was arranged for the district to get its April state school aid payment of about $200,000 early so the payroll can be met.

LEGISLATION PLANNED

By that time, legislators told the Inkster officials, they expect to have passed legislation to help bankrupt schools without deal with Inkster and other bankrupt districts without state.

Mishap Victim Suing GM for $7 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—A young Coast Guardman today pressed a $7-million damage suit against General Motors Corp., claiming a faulty Corvair steering wheel led him into an accident and severe injuries.

The suit was filed in Manhat- tan federal court here by Gary Charles Robb, today began whose 1964 Corvair went out of control and struck a guard rail station training before shipping on last New Year's Eve.

Robb reported into this Marine base without fanfare yesterday and said he and his wife, Lynda Bird Johnson, hope to avoid public appearances before he leaves.

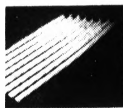

"We want to spend this short time remaining together in as much privacy as possible," Robb said.

Came From New York

Hairdresser's a Hit in S. Viet

SAIGON (AP)—Military officials organizing tours for entertainers were skeptical. A hairdresser coming to South Vietnam?

But Daniel Wadiaeff wanted to come from New York and do creative hairstyling for the American women in the armed forces stationed here.

Considered one of the top 10 hardrers in the United States, he lists the former Lynn Bird Johnson, Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein II and Eileen Ford among his clients.

If the military in Vietnam were dubious, his friends in New York found the idea even more strange, he said.

Wadiaeff's reception was enthusiastic. He arrived March 18 and spent a week traveling to bases around Saigon and Cam Ranh Bay, escorted by Maj. John P. Miller, Bonita, Calif.

More than 350 women suddenly became glamorous as Wadiaeff snipped, shaped and styled. He worked in trailers, barracks, lounges and in the open under parachute canopies.

"Everybody received me beautifully. I met such marvelous people here. Ironically, I'm only a private first class in the Reserves, but in Vietnam I ranked as a colonel," he remarked.

Wadiaeff, a bachelor, is fond of sports and holds a brown belt in karate.

He saw a little action in Vietnam when Long Binh was shelled lightly and when some shooting broke out near Cam Ranh Bay.

"The men here get singers, dancers and all kinds of entertainers. This is the first time someone came over specifically for the women," said Sgt. Rita Pitcock, Miami, Fla. "Many of the guys commented quite favorably on our new appearance."

Wadiaeff financed the entire trip himself. He was sponsored by the State Department, and the Saigon USO arranged his itinerary. He says he wants to come back this year with some assistants and possibly a fashion show.

F111A Debut Applauded

SAIGON (UPI)—Pilots to day said the controversial F111A swing-wing jet on its Vietnam, 35 miles north of the combat debut surprised its demilitarized zone, a U.S. toughest critics—the Communists.

"I think the only time they knew we were there was when the bombs went off," said Lt. Col. Edwin D. Palmgren, 41, of Atlanta, Ga., who flew one of the F111A to war for the first time Monday night in a raid against North Vietnam.

The jets—the heaviest, fastest and most sophisticated of American warplanes—struck into the Communist nation's southern panhandle at the low level determined by their computer controls.

They found just the "sucked in" heavily overcast skies their designers had in mind for the radar-guided fighter-bombers.

25 TONS
The F111A bomb bays can hold 25 tons of explosives.
The F111As blasted the troop

Six F111As flew to the U.S. Air Base at Takhli, Thailand, March 17 for combat testing.

The Air Force did not say how many F111As took part in the Monday night raid, but a flight usually consists of four planes.

Why Can't You Control Your Memory?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurate everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventure in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it.

Police Dog Tracks 'Pot'

EAST FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP)—"Find the dope, Smokey," called the policeman.

The large, friendly shepherd dog picked his way through a room full of policemen, nuzzled open a locker, and clawed into a plastic sheet covering a suit jacket—in which the marijuana was hidden.

Patted by his master, Patrolman Robert J. Poisson of Buffalo, N.Y., Smokey never missed finding the marijuana.

Edie Brings Back Kovacs' TV Comedy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — The off-beat but on-the-nose comedy of the late Ernie Kovacs can once again be seen by television audiences, thanks to vigilance for his legacy by his widow, Edie Kovacs.

A special called "The Comedy of Ernie Kovacs" has been scheduled for April 9 by ABC, and it will refresh the memories of those who recall the Hungarian zany as one of the most original creators of TV humor.

He had been shows to discharge the obligation, he told me. And of course a prodigious spender and an in-veterate borrower, and although to be run on the network at 9 were among Ernie's good friends. His famous pals with ABC and took possession of the tapes. "I put them away and then I realized how new they gathered the special to help ease the widow's burden. "Thanks, but I'll manage," were! Ernie was doing things that are now the rage in under-ground movies, and even some of the commercial films. "The Beatles movies were full of the sort of things that Ernie did. And now you see a lot of show, which was drawn from his kind of humor on television, eight half-hour specials that Kovacs performed, plus two years' supply of his half-hour series. To complete the job, she hired the most original creators of TV humor. "He had owned the tapes, up but he owed ABC so much money that he hoped to capture some of Ernie's flavor. "We all loved Ernie."

Aussie Lovely Sees No End to Life's Events

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — She is slender and tall and lovely and blue-eyed and fair-haired and terribly young and has that odd mixture of pessimism and optimism found only in youth.

BOYLE

"The world is in a bit of a muddle now," said Janette McLeod, 17, who represents Australia in the "Miss Teen International Pageant" at Los Angeles April 13. "There are a lot of things that are happening at the moment and they don't look as if they'll have an end to them."

"But I don't think the world will end in my lifetime. It had better not."

"I used to have a dream — all the time — that the sun would go down sometime, and never come out again. I'd like to know what that dream means. It's so frightening. It could happen."

BECOMES MODEL

At 17, of course, anything can happen. Miss McLeod, who quit the year ago to study commercial art, became a fashion and television model instead. If everywhere she wins against nine other competitors in the "Miss Teen International" contest next year, she will be the time they get Albert Finney, President John month, she is hopeful the victory will serve as a springboard to an international career in films, television or modeling. Janette, who has been an outdoor girl all her life, isn't too hopeful of her prospects.

"I'm a bit too wholesome," she said. "I weigh 127 pounds and am 5 feet 8½ inches tall — that does sound better than saying 5 feet, doesn't it?" Janette, who is extremely self-possessed for her age, is the daughter of a Sydney bakery owner. Her mother is a former district commissioner of the Girl Guides, who are equivalent to the Girl Scouts.

TEEN VITALITY

American teen-agers have impressed Janette with their vitality and vigorous reach for fresh

"They seem to be right up to date in fashions and everything," she said. "They stick together and go to the same places more than teen-agers do in Australia."

THE THINGS JANETTE WANTS

The things Janette wants to see most in America are the White House and Disneyland. She has had a ride on the sub-school year ago to study commercial art, became a fashion and television model instead. son and Sen. Robert E. Kennedy. Of Sen. Kennedy she remarked: "I loved his brother so much. The whole world seemed to go down after he died."

PHONE PROBLEM

Teen-age monopolization of the family telephone is also a problem in the land down under. "I talk about 1½ hours a night on the phone," confessed Janette. "What do we talk about? Oh, who did what and why — everything and nothing much — you just ramble on."

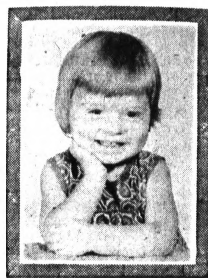

"While I'm talking on the phone I usually sit and watch the television."

How about teen-age dating? "Some girls start dating at 12 or 13, but most don't make a habit of it until 15 or 16. Then they go everywhere together. The girl and her steady exchange friendship rings. I don't like that myself. I couldn't tie down as yet. Not me."

Expanded Legal Aid Assured for County Poor

By ED BLUNDEN

Perry Lewis, a Detroit lawyer, has a letter of credit for $81,900 that means Oakland County will have a greatly expanded legal aid service for the poor.

The federal money is for a six-month program that will be a joint operation of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCOE) and the county Legal Aid Society. Further applications for funds have been made to continue the program at a similar level.

Lewis was hired by the OCCOE to set up the expanded operation and it was his job to hire lawyers and set up a staff. This he has done and operations should begin on the new basis early in April.

In evaluating his task, Lewis said the selection of the staff was of primary importance. He carried on a widespread recruiting campaign and said he has come up with a good staff.

Lewis said he obtained 55 applications for attorney positions and was able to narrow down the choice to those with the most capability and experience for this type of work. Decisions and interviews were made by the Legal Aid Society interview committee, headed by Ralph A. Becker, a Pontiac attorney.

The expanded legal aid office will provide services for disadvantaged persons primarily in civil matters such as those involving property, debts, rents, welfare, taxes and divorces.

Applicants must qualify as indigent and the new service should prove valuable in cooperation with other state and local agencies in clearing up legal problems that can be solved no other way, Lewis said.

Legal aid in connection with criminal courts is provided through the courts themselves.

Lewis pointed out the expanded service is still the Legal Aid Society, reorganized to handle the expansion with its membership raised from 18 to 27. The society operated previously with about $25,000 per year while present level of funding will be about $150,000.

PROGRAM LEADERS

Following are the attorneys, hired by the Legal Aid Society, who will lead the expanded program:

The director is William R. McNamee. His salary is $14,000 yearly. He has an extensive legal background including service with the Wayne County Suburban Legal Service as supervising attorney and was serving in the Criminal Division of the Michigan attorney general's office in Lansing.

He served seven years as a probation officer in Detroit. He is married and has five children.

The other three have the title of supervising attorneys, with an annual salary of $11,500.

Mrs. Dorothy L. Cottrell, recent graduate of the University of Detroit law school. She raised a family, worked at a hospital for 14 years while attending school.

Planning Grant to Welfare Unit

WASHINGTON — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has awarded the Michigan State Welfare Commission a $302,000 supplemental grant to develop plans for phasing out the Work Experience Training Program of the Economic Opportunity Act and phasing in the new Work Incentive Program. The Labor Department will administer the program.

Some $240,000 of the grant will be used for the Wayne County project and the other $62,000 for 15 of the Upper Peninsula's 16 counties.

Legal Aid officials said Mrs. Cottrell, who was raised in a poor area in Detroit, will provide the staff with considerable insight.

Edward D. Gold, a Livonia lawyer for the past two years, has worked with the Federal Communications Commission and the Census Bureau. He has extensive administrative experience.

Michael M. Goodman, an Oak Park attorney, worked with Neighborhood Legal Services in Detroit. He has extensive experience in property dealings.

Legal Aid officials point out that this staff of attorneys all have experience in the type of problems they will be involved in, plus each has a specialty that should prove valuable.

Two offices are to be located in Pontiac at the North Opportunity Center, 7 W. Lawrence, 10 W. Huron. Others will be at the Royal Oak Township Hall and in the future at three or four geographically chosen places.

Five community aides of the OCCOE will join the staff as well as six secretarial workers.

HATHAWAY took a French idea—deep tone shirt colors—and combined it with good old American ingenuity—silk smooth Supima® cotton—and came up with the end of pale-faced pastel shirts. The colors are vivid Beaujolais red. Monet blue. Grand Mariner gold. The semi-spread Chelsea collar has an inner lining that keeps it smooth, without starch.

Game Prizes
Have Hostess
Asking Advice

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a bridal shower for a girl friend and am inexperienced at this type of party. I plan to give a prize to both the bride-to-be and to the winner of each game. My question is — must I give duplicate gifts or may I give the guest of honor kitchen gadgets, etc. and the winner something else?

I feel that a gift that would be most useful to one who is to be married would be useless to the married women that have been housekeeping for years and to the single girls. If it is proper to give different prizes, must they be of the same value, or may I award a better gift to the guest of honor?—Amy

Dear Amy: The hostess, and every guest who comes to a bridal shower brings the bride a gift and there is no reason that the guest of honor (the bride) should receive additional gifts after each game. The only ones who should be given prizes, are those who win the games.

If, however, in your community it is customary to give a prize to both guest of honor and winner, they should be of approximately the same value, but they need not be the same item. Choose a few presents appropriate for the bride, and select the others according to the age and marital status of the guests.

BEST MAN

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is to be best man in a wedding party. What are his financial responsibilities (if any)? We know that he is expected to pay for the rental of his tuxedo but is he expected to pay for anything else?—Mrs. R. M.

Dear Mrs. M.: Your son has no other financial responsibilities except to share in the cost of the ushers' gift to the groom and to send his own gift to the bride. One of his duties, incidentally, is to give the clergyman his fee or contribution, but the money for this is supplied by the groom.

Moore's Sculptures, Drawings to Be Shown at Institute of Arts

A rare opportunity to see 32 sculptures and 30 drawings by Henry Moore assembled in a single exhibition will be presented by the Detroit Institute of Arts, April 3 through April 28.

Generally acknowledged to be Britain's greatest living artist and one of the most important sculptors of the 20th century, Moore is perhaps familiar to Detroiters through his massive elmwood "Reclining Figure" in the museum's Sculpture

MRS. GREGORY R. WIESE

Christ Church
Is Setting for Wiese Wedding

Christ Church Cranbrook was the setting for Saturday afternoon nuptials exchanged by Janet Elizabeth Oros and Spec. 4 Gregory Robert Wiese, USA.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oros of Winlane Drive, immediately followed.

Crystal white mousseline de soie over taffeta, featuring a front panel of Alencon lace, fashioned a gown for the bride. She wore a matching lace cap to secure her full length veil.

ATTENDANTS

Christina Oros was her sister's maid of honor, with bridesmaids Mary Oros, Mrs. Gailen Smith, Mrs. Jay Shimmick and Karen Kreeger.

Standing as best man was Ronald Reoch with fathers Thomas Pullen, Lawrence Parrott, Roger Mikulas and Robert Hartop.

Following a honeymoon in Miami, Fla., the newlyweds will reside in San Antonio, Texas where the bridegroom is stationed at Ft. Sam Houston.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter V. Wiese of East Surrey Cross.

Today's Woman

Spirit of Christmas Still Clings

BY JEANNE NELSON

The William G. Abersolds' front door has just got to boast the area's oldest live (or close to it) Christmas wreath still in operation.

To suspicious looks from visitors, Mary Abersold simply turns on that glorious smile and explains she isn't giving up until the last needle falls.

"The Christmas spirit is something very special and I want to hold on to it as long as possible," she says.

This sort of reasoning might explain why, when everyone else seems to be moving out to the suburbs, the Abersolds recently did just the opposite.

The whole family is delighted with the move, she relates, and is convinced that this urban atmosphere has added a new dimension to their way of life.

In addition to the intangibles, Mary adds, the house itself is such a joy with all its space. Their former home was a neat but small stereotyped ranch in Waterford Township, according to this vivacious wife of a Waterford Township school principal. The new residence is a rambling English Tudor on Illinois Avenue.

SPARE TIME

Although home and family take up the largest part of Mrs. Abersold's time, she simply isn't the type to shut out all the other exciting things around her. Last year she worked a demon volunteer job for Meadow Brook Theatre, distributing posters all over town and selling tickets from a booth in The Pontiac Mall.

Although she hasn't received her assigned tasks yet for this year's Festival, she has a feeling they may be along the same lines.

For a good many years, she was extremely active in the Lakeland Players, both on stage and behind the scenes. She also taught a class for preschoolers and is still the Sunday School superintendent for Christ Lutheran Church.

Her sewing so far has been confined to clothes for Julie. But knowing the vigor with which she attacks projects, it wouldn't be surprising to learn she had graduated to "bigger things."

The Abersolds love to entertain, and Mary's favorite way is a small dinner party where guests are treated to her now-famous chicken with Mandarin orange sauce.

Somehow she also finds the time to do her husband's typing for the Ph.D. degree he is working on at Wayne State University.

The newest project of this dark-haired beauty is a selling job in a women's specialty shop three evenings a week. Besides the real bonus of earning extra income, Mary is delighted with the fringe benefits, one of which is learning more about fashion, a subject she finds fun and fascinating.

EXHIBIT

By the mid-Twenties he began to travel abroad and to exhibit in group and one-man shows. In 1932 he started teaching at the Chelsea School of Art.

At the outbreak of World War II he was appointed an official war artist and executed the famous series of air-raid shelter drawings depicting the thousands of Londoners who sought protection in the Underground (subway) during the blitz. To Moore, they were "rows and rows of reclining figures . . . having things done to them which they were powerless to resist."

His first one-man show in the United States took place in 1943 and was followed by a major retrospective at the Museum of Modern Art in 1946. Moore has been awarded numerous prizes and degrees.

He holds honorary doctorates from Cambridge and Oxford Universities, as well as Yale and Harvard. A current distinction is the Erasmus Prize of the Netherlands, given annually to a European for achievements in the cultural, social or scientific sphere. It will be presented to Moore by Prince Bernhard in May when an exhibition of Moore's work opens there.

One of the most recent biographies (1966) of the artist, "Henry Moore: The Life and Work of a Great Sculptor" was written by poet and author Donald Hall, professor of English at the University of Michigan.

Hall will discuss Moore and the meaning of forms at 8 p.m., April 24 in the museum's lecture hall. This event is open to the public without charge.

Make Fine Pair

They're Both Mad—at Each Other

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Roy and I have been going together for three years. We're not kids — we're both in our forties.

Roy has mentioned marriage several times, but nothing definite was said about "when."

I always suspected that Roy could still be interested in other women, although he kept telling me I was wrong. Well, I decided to put him to the test, so I wrote him a note saying I had seen him somewhere and I asked him to meet me at a certain place at a certain time. Then I signed another woman's name. I went to the "meeting place" at the appointed time and hid, and sure enough, there was Roy all spruced up and waiting!

Isn't this a sign that he would go to meet another woman if he had the chance?

I finally told Roy that I had written the note, and I could never trust him again. Now he is mad at ME! Don't you think I should be mad at HIM? We broke up over this, but I would still like to know who has the better right to be mad?

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Roy and I have been going together for three years. We're not kids — we're both in our forties.

Roy has mentioned marriage several times, but nothing definite was said about "when."

I always suspected that Roy could still be interested in other women, although he kept telling me I was wrong. Well, I decided to put him to the test, so I wrote him a note saying I had seen him somewhere and I asked him to meet me at a certain place at a certain time. Then I signed another woman's name. I went to the "meeting place" at the appointed time and hid, and sure enough, there was Roy all spruced up and waiting!

Isn't this a sign that he would go to meet another woman if he had the chance?

I finally told Roy that I had written the note, and I could never trust him again. Now he is mad at ME! Don't you think I should be mad at HIM? We broke up over this, but I would still like to know who has the better right to be mad?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I don't blame YOU for being mad at Roy. And I don't blame Roy for being mad at YOU. Too bad you broke up. You sound as though you deserve each other.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me how to get a message across to my daughter-in-law without creating a scene?

I was thinking of having a friendly little talk with her, but I know she would blab to my son and he would tell me to mind my own business.

The problem is this: Although her children have had fine training in the arts, sports, and music, they have not been properly trained to keep themselves clean.

I am a very fastidious person, and it horrifies me to see when they come to visit me. The children are allowed to jump out of bed, go to the toilet, maul the cat and roughhouse with the dog, and then come directly to the breakfast table without having washed!

I give them each a washcloth, and during the entire weekend it will not be used. When I ask the children if they have washed, I get a long withering look from my son, and a cool silent stare from my daughter-in-law.

These children sit at my table on a beautiful sunny morning in a charming dining room, and it makes me feel grubby to look at them.

What do you advise me to do? The children are seven and eight years old and already should be trained in the rudiments of hygiene.

SUFFERING

DEAR SUFFERING: It is curious how, feeling as you do, you could have reared a son who was able to forget the rudiments of hygiene as soon as he married. Try your best to conceal your disgust, and make no mention of this sore subject again. Hopefully, the children will survive their unhygienic childhood.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"To sleep, perchance to dream" . . . Well, we never were too good at Shakespeare . . . and we're too busy selling bedrooms to see how the question ends, but we know that Hamlet would have felt like a king sleeping in this bedroom. If you look closely you'll see ornate carving on the spindle headboard that equals any fine old European craftsmanship you'll ever see. The carvings on the triple dresser, the upright mirror and the drawer door chest could well grace an imperial palace. Come see this bedroom outfit good price and princess.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Golfer Thomas Kirk used a medium iron on the sixth hole at the airport golf course here. He never could find the ball he arched, so took a 2-stroke penalty and played on. Before long Gary Lowry, an airplane pilot, caught up with the golf-foursome and asked Kirk if his insurance covered damage to an airplane. He said that as he was making a low approach to the airport over the golf course, the shot fired by Kirk hit his windshield and broke a section of the glass.

A three-hour benefit sale of clothing for the family is slated by the group on May 25 in Four Towns Methodist Church beginning at 9 a.m.

Proceeds will be used for Soroptmist Club community projects.

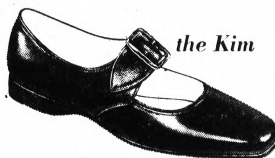

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The square dancing which Lee Helsel started as a hobby in 1946 when he and his wife took lessons launched him on a schedule which calls for 50,000 miles of travel a year.

Shortly after he learned to square dance, Helsel started to call and teach. Since then, he has called at and conducted square dance workshops in festivals and conventions in almost every state. He has also composed many square dances and has recorded several albums.

Start Living What We Believe

By BETTY CANARY

I asked a friend if she had a good time at a certain party and she answered, with a grimace, "You know how it is. We just sat around and deplored conditions."

It made me think of a sermon I once heard. I don't know if the minister was trying to light a fire under the congregation or if perhaps he too, was merely "deplored conditions."

He said that, although he consistently spoke the most Christian and, therefore, the most revolutionary words, nobody ever got excited over the knowledge that more than 100 citizens were gathered together to listen to him. However, he pointed out, if for what I believe," but, what is only 10 Communists gathered perhaps more important, "I'm down on the corner, this would willing to live what I believe. bring out the reporters. His reason for the difference in atitude? Because, he said, everyone knows the Communists would be dedicated enough to really try to accomplish what they said they wanted to do.

DETERMINATION

When watching films made during the recent war in the Middle East, the thing that impressed me most was not the statistics on how fast the Israeli airplanes got into the air or how well-planned their defensive actions. As the cameras captured the action, the thing that impressed me was the beautiful and fierce look of determination on the face of every Israeli soldier.

That look of dedication not only said, "I am willing to die," but also, "I am willing to live what I believe."

paring, frame by frame, those pictures of young Israelis with films made during the Washington peace rally where young Americans gathered, many of them to indulge in unspeakable vulgarity on the lawns and steps of our national institutions.

Fortunately, most children in our society do not have to wrest, barehanded, a home from barren sand and rocks, and then fight to defend it. But, as our young people say, there are bad laws to correct, wrongs to right and goals to attain.

Unfortunately, those making the headlines seem to believe the best method is to incite others to break laws, make a mockery of morality and insist that decency is a dirty word.

Who knows? If older Americans would stop sitting around "deplored conditions," and if young Americans would get up out of the dirt and jump in instead of drop out, we might find out what the Israelis know — there's glory in working and fighting and living for what we believe.

Infant Deaths Affect Use of Birth Controls

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Food and population control are as closely related as Siamese twins, according to The World Food Problem, a three-volume report made by the President's Science Advisory Committee.

Odd though it sounds, the report notes, solution of the world food supply program cannot succeed in the long run without family planning programs, but successful family planning programs cannot be mounted unless nutrition, especially infant and child nutrition, is improved dramatically in the next 20 years.

In underdeveloped countries — Asian, African, Latin American — malnutrition, especially protein deficiency, by itself or in company with various diseases is one of the greatest child killers.

One of the results of high child mortality is the desire of couples to have large numbers of children so that some at least will live to maturity.

ACCEPT BIRTH CONTROL

As experience in some countries has shown, once couples are convinced their children will live they will take enthusiastically to birth control. Illiterate Egyptian, Indian, Mexican and Korean women have found taking the pills or having an intrauterine device inserted, not at all beyond their capability.

The bride in a long white dress and the groom in blue suit, blue shirt and maroon tie folksinger and pacifist, and were among the more conservative draft resister David Harris, 22, tively dressed. married Tuesday in a ceremony Among the 150 guests and men sported bright flowered ties. A number of persons wore yellow buttons reading "Celebrate Life."

CEREMONY

The Rev. Thomas Lee Hayes, head of the Episcopal Peace Fellowship, said the ceremony he conducted was adapted from the Canadian Book of Common Prayer "in honor of all who are resisting the draft here and in Canada."

He said the informal ceremony took place before a cross suspended in front of an evergreen tree. The bride's mother, Mrs. Albert Baez, of Carmel, Calif., said it was "a beautiful wedding, full of atmosphere."

Harris faces trial in California for tearing up his induction notice during a demonstration last Jan. 17. Both he and Miss Baez served jail terms recently after being in an Oakland antiwar protest.

at Interlochen

INTERLOCHEN, MICH. — Opening of the National Music Camp — on June 23 — is still three months away, but plans are well advanced for a summer that will produce 300 or more programs in eight weeks by faculty and students, 1,500 full term and 950 All-Staters. The state students will come in four groups of about 240 each and each group will be here two weeks.

The summer will be highlighted by Pianist Van Cliburn's concert, which, coming on July 6, during the long Fourth of July week-end, is expected to draw throngs.

Cliburn is to play the popular Grieg concerto, accompanied by the World Youth Symphony orchestra under the baton of camp Director Dr. George C. Wilson.

The same orchestra is to play at Ravinia, near Chicago, on July 27 and 28. Dr. Wilson will conduct there also.

Other summer highlights will be three presentations by the 400-voice Festival choir, directed by Maynard Klein, University of Michigan choir director and a 24-year veteran here. Scheduled are Haydn's "The Creation"; Bruckner's "Te Deum"; and "Prologue in Heaven" from Boito's "Mefisto".

The Gilbert & Sullivan operetta this season will be "Princess Ida" and the Shakespeare drama, "Hamlet".

Enrollment for the season on March 15 was more than 100 over the total on the corresponding date a year ago. Forms are being returned to applicants in several high school division areas because these categories are filled. They include percussion players, flutists and oboists.

Except for a few more violinists needed by the orchestras, the high school girls division is filled. It has sleeping accommodations for 456.

Vows by Candlelight for Teagues Saturday

Phyllis Virginia Flowers and Jimmie Lynn Teague exchanged candlelight vows Saturday evening in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ted J. Flowers of Rose Lane Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Teague of Allerton Road, all of Pontiac Township.

The bride, whose sister, Mrs. Parker T. Johnson, was matron of honor, was gown in nylon over taffeta with appliques of lace. Her silk illusion veil was secured by a pillbox and she carried a white orchid surrounded by white carnations.

Mrs. Dennis Fitzgerald and Mrs. James Webb were attendants. On the esquire side were best man James Webb with ushers Ronald Troy, Donald Flowers, Curt Kell and Markus Bleckley Jr.

Guinn's Banquet Hall was the setting for a later reception for the pair who will spend a delayed honeymoon in Mexico.

Pierre Henri, Paris and New York based director for Saks Fifth Avenue beauty salons throughout the country is here today visiting the new Troy store's salon. According to the hair fashion expert, new spring and summer styling trends lean toward longer soft waves replacing the "curly look." Shadowing the 30s, this is a much more feminine and full effect than the original style.

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

DEAR MRS. FARMER,

Last summer I ran into a sale of material ends while I was on a trip. They are raw silk and seemed like a tremendous bargain at the time. Now that I have gotten them out I notice a very obnoxious and sour odor. I have tried to air them out and wash them and nothing seems to help. Do you know what kind of fabric would do this and if anything can be done about it?

—MRS. L.A.S.

I have become very wary of raw silk from Japan because this has happened too often. I am not sure how accurate this statement is, but I have been told that these silks have been dyed and washed in inland canals or waterways that contain everything except pure water. (If I am wrong, won't someone please correct me).

We have worked with this type fabric before and women have told me that everytime they press a garment, or wear it on a damp day, the odor is too heavy and they are embarrassed.

If there is any solution to completely removing this odor, please write to me in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and I shall be more than happy to publish the answer.

The sad part about the situation is that the fabric has such marvelous texture and works up so beautifully, it is too bad not to be able to take advantage of it.

DEAR EUNICE,

Just how washable are "washable fabrics?" I carefully check the materials before I buy them, as well as garments I buy ready-made. Many times when I wash them, the results are plain disaster.

Is there any honest to goodness guide to go by? We live in a very hot and humid climate and it is absolutely essential that I buy only fabrics that may be laundered.

—MRS. M.B.

DEAR MRS. M.B.:

I think every woman in the world has experienced both good and bad results from washing fabrics. If you are making the garment yourself, you have one advantage, you can wash the fabric before cutting.

This is especially true when you are making clothes for children, and you will have to wash them in hot water and dry them in a dryer. Treat the fabric the same way before cutting. It seems to be a little extra work, but in the end it is well worth the trouble.

I would very strongly recommend that you pre-shrink any type of lining fabric as well, even though the label says it will shrink only one per cent. We use only the finest type of underlining, and have found it definitely shrinks more than 1 per cent. This is enough to cause your seams to pucker and draw up after the garment has been washed.

When using the new cotton laces, and trimmings, be sure to wet them also and let them dry naturally.

Cushionings of Two Kinds Widely Used

Two distinct types of "foam" are used for furniture cushions today. One type, latex foam, is made from rubber. The other variety is called urethane, and is a plastic. The urethane is usually used in low priced furniture, but sometimes it is covered in a layer of synthetic fiber batting to protect it and lengthen its life.

This latex foam is quite different from the familiar foam rubber found on the backs of throw rugs, because it is heavier, thicker, more resilient, and will not come off. It is a fine quality, heavy duty product.

LOW PILE

The carpets usually have a low pile to make walking and cleaning easy. They are very durable, and can be used anywhere in the home, even in the kitchen. Commercially, they are often laid directly over concrete. This is less expensive than finishing the floor, and make the floor softer, warmer, and dryer underfoot. It also adds color and luxury to the room.

Fireplace Rates High on List of Cleaning Chores

Fireplace spruced up for spring? If it's not, add a fireplace cleanup to your list of rainy-day chores.

First, take the logs, grate, grill and debris out. Sweep away what's left — use a snow shovel if the job's too big for a fireplace tool. Then fill a bucket with a pine oil cleaner and warm water.

Apply with a maxi-brush or sponge and your fireplace will be cleaned, degreased and deodorized all at once. Welcome sweet springtime early by setting a bowl or vase of pussy willows, forsythia or greens in the fireplace.

TULIPS OFFER BEAUTY AND MYSTERY

One of the flower kingdom's most beautiful blossoms is the tulip, and it is one of the few flowering plants whose origin remains a mystery. (Not Holland, believe it or not! However it is believed to be a native of Persia.)

The word "Dulband" in Persian is the cloth from which the fez is made. The English translation is "Turban." The tulip closely resembles an inverted fez.

After two months of inspecting virtually all of the state's more than 10,000 public school buses, the vehicle inspection teams once again are ready to concentrate their efforts on road check lanes.

Last year when 87,282 vehicles were checked, public reaction was favorable, according to Lt. Matt Hrebec of the selective enforcement section of the State Police's safety and traffic division in East Lansing.

Hrebec said that although only 16,575 of these vehicles passed the inspection, "the defects that would cause accidents were rather small."

SEVERAL RETURN

Of the 16,575 vehicles that measured up to the scrutiny of the State Police's eight four-and-five-man inspection squads, 11,776 passed the first time through.

Although not compulsory, in several motorists returned to lights, horns, the exhaust first trip; 299 out of 485 on the year were headlight aim, in-be no letdown in vehicle inspection system, seat belts, mileage, second try; 15 of 24 on the third operable windshield washers specious this year.

Some 23,362 drivers were issued summonses for more serious defects.

Some 3,768 motorists were cited for driver license infractions. Some of these motorists had no driver's license. The others were driving on suspended or revoked licenses.

In district 2, which includes most of the Pontiac area, 473 of the drivers checked had no operator's license. Forty-seven others were driving on suspended or revoked licenses.

Altogether last year, 11,374 vehicles were inspected in southeastern Michigan's district 2.

Of these, 1,179 passed on the NORTHBRIDGE, Calif. — Remember what you weighed between the ages of 18 and 25? That's what you should weigh today, said Dr. Philip L. White.

Any great amount of weight gained since then can be considered obesity, White told a symposium Tuesday at San Fernando Valley State College.

FAULTY HEADLIGHTS

Faulty headlight aim was detected on 64.1 per cent of all make vehicle inspections, using vehicles inspected. Thirty-four per cent had inadequate windshield washers and 33 per cent had faulty license plate lights.

In the state and in district 2, 5.3 per cent of the persons with rejected vehicles were guilty of driver license violations.

"We figured when we started we should hit between 5 and 6 per cent on driver license violations," said Hrebec.

Pointing out the relatively low number of defects found that could cause accidents, Hrebec said that only 2.1 per cent of the vehicles inspected had faulty steering.

1964 Bar Study Still Valid, Group Says

By BOB WISLER

Members of a special committee appointed four years ago to investigate and make recommendations on tavern licenses in Pontiac believe their 1964 recommendations are valid today.

The recommendations, if followed, would lead to a gradual upgrading of all tavern licenses to Class C status.

WISLER

There are presently 14 tavern licenses in the city. A tavern license allows the owner to sell beer and wine (16 per cent or less alcohol by volume) for consumption on the tavern premises.

There are 36 (one approval pending) Class C liquor licenses. Class C licenses allow the owners to sell beer and wine plus taverns stems in part from "spirits" for consumption on religious convictions.

The premises "Spirits" includes liquors that are over 16 per cent alcohol by volume and include scotch, bourbon, rye, gin, vodka, etc.

Requests of tavern owners in the last few years to allow upgrading of the licenses have met little success.

The State Liquor Control Commission (LCC), which issues licenses, cooperates closely with local governments and will not issue a license without a favorable recommendation from the local legislative body. Pontiac's legislative body is the City Commission. The LCC would not oppose city recommendations to upgrade tavern licenses but would not do so without the recommendation.

RELUCTANCE SEEN

Observers feel that a reluctance to change the status of "spirits" for consumption on religious convictions.

Following are the recommendations made in 1964 by the special committee on upgrading tavern licenses to Class C status. The committee recommended:

- Three tavern licenses per year be upgraded.
- Applicants be owners who have operated the tavern for three continuous years prior to application.
- A record of sound operation must have been maintained without any disturbances to the community.
- Priority of consideration should be given applicants who have maintained the longest continuous operation in the city.
- An arrest and conviction as a result of operating the tavern or for reasons other than traffic violations against an applicant, his employees, or family, should render the applicant ineligible for upgrading for one year from the date of arrest.

• No upgraded license should be issued to anyone who does not intend to operate the business himself. The applicant should not sell the tavern for three years after upgrading, but if the licensee must sell his business permission to do so must be obtained from the city commission.

• There shall be no more than one Class C bar in one square block.

• Consideration should be given regarding the proximity of the tavern to manufacturing plants.

• Two adults, including one male—or the owner—should be on duty at all times.

• Applicants should have a reasonable time to meet specific requirements.

An unsuccessful attempt was made at the last City Commission meeting to put the special committee recommendations into effect.

However, the issue will likely come before the commission positions. District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood, who has long taken a stand against upgrading, new bar licenses and dance permits for bars, last week voted for issuance of a new liquor license for a planned $2.5-million motor hotel.

Wood preceded his vote with the observation that "the walls may fall in" when his vote is recorded.

EFFECTS STUDIED

The commissioner, a non-drinker, said he had investigated to determine the effects of various types of drinks.

"They tell me that a man can get just as drunk on beer or wine as he can on liquor," he noted.

Philip Sauer, chairman of the special committee on tavern licenses, said the recommendations were suggested only after long study.

"I do think that the commission will have to consider this question. The tavern owners would be happy to comply with the recommendations if they could get a Class C license."

He said he is sure that tavern owners would probably go to some expense and trouble to "upgrade their places of business to make them even more comfortable and hospitable" if they thought the licenses would be upgraded.

ORDERLINESS CITED

Sauer, owner of Griff's Grill, 49 N. Saginaw, a Class C bar, said the recommendation of upgrading three taverns per year ensures orderliness in changing the status of bars "without disrupting the community."

He said a wholesale upgrading — granting all 14 bars Class C status at once — would probably be met by opposition by religious groups.

Sauer also said he believes that following the committee recommendations takes a very political consideration out of the issue.

John A. Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, another committee member, said the committee made provisions in its recommendations so the upgrading would be accomplished only under special conditions which would tend to ensure proper management of the non-class C establishments.

He said he believes the recommendations could be applied today with no trouble.

Mitchell A. Bacow, a Pontiac attorney on the committee, said making distinction in licensing between Tavern and Class C status is a carryover from the days following repeal of prohibition.

Bacow, a non-drinker, said the distinction in present times constitutes discrimination.

against a group of men engaged in a perfectly legitimate business.

Bacow added that the five-member committee represented a cross section of interested parties. It was formed to take the political pressure off the city commissioners, he said.

"If the commission would act on the basis of the committee recommendations it wouldn't have this problem coming up all the time," he said.

Other members who served on the committee in 1964 are Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, and John Cove, of 2063 Hammond Lane.

Women Join Cong Assault on Yanks

TRANG BANG, Vietnam (AP) — At least six women took part Monday in an assault by Vietcong troops on an American armored column rushing to reinforce this key district town 28 miles northwest of Saigon, military officers here said today.

Capt. Gordon Lam, 25, of Honolulu said he saw six women, including three armed with Chinese Communist AK-50 assault rifles charging straight toward his platoon of armored personnel carriers. Three of the women were cut down by 50-caliber machine guns mounted on the armored carriers, Lam said.

Lam said the women were in the first wave of about 20 to 30 Vietcong troops who charged the armored personnel carriers in broad daylight.

"We kept shooting them from the tracks (the armored personnel carriers) with our 50s," Lam said. "They just stopped coming assault," he said.

U.S. officers said the attack on Trang Bang failed because a battalion of the 23rd Infantry started to throw mortar fire into their positions. Then I pulled back toward a bridge and made part Monday in an assault by Vietcong troops on an American armored column rushing to reinforce this key district town 28 miles northwest of Saigon, military officers here said today.

When it was over, I counted 46 enemy bodies, all killed in one place alone."

1st Lt. Daniel A. Bartolomei, 24, of Puerto Rico, a platoon leader, said, "I saw the group that was charging the armored personnel carriers. When I saw them I thought they were ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) troops. They opened up on us and then they charged us."

SEES LONG HAIR
"In the first group were five to six women," said Bartolomei. "I could see their long hair. They were dressed in black pajamas."

Bartolomei said he saw the charging enemy troops fall "as we kept shooting."

U.S. officers said the attack on Trang Bang failed because a battalion of the 23rd Infantry started to throw mortar fire into

Election Count Reduces Margin

The official count of the West Bloomfield Township property tax election Monday shows a winning margin of 570 votes instead of the 685 unofficially reported yesterday.

According to the official count, voters voted 1,820 yes to the proposal to Forest Lawn cemeteries, both 1 mill and add 2 mills of the property tax levy.

The change in figures is due yesterday. He was a past to one precinct having its yes president of the Cremation and no votes reversed, ex-Secretary of Michigan Cemetery Association, Doris Leach.

State Parolee Program Showing Some Success

LANSING, P. — There has been a steady improvement in parole success, the number of Michigan "parolees" making good and not returning to prison, reports the State Corrections Department.

In the early 1960s, only 60 per cent of the prisoners paroled completed their parole terms without a return to prison. Latest figures show the success ratio now up to 66 per cent.

Gus Harrison, State Corrections director, said he didn't want to make any strong claims because there are so many variables that might explain the improvement.

"But we do think it is a hopeful sign when programs which we believe should do some good are followed by improved community adjustment," Harrison said.

NEW PROGRAMS

"If further new programs are followed by continued improvement in the day, the department noted that parolees under 21 have a five per cent better record of success than older offenders.

Harrison said there are several new programs that might help account for the rising success in prisoner rehabilitation.

These include more intensive efforts in the education and training of younger offenders, a work furlough program, group counseling and an increased number of parole officers to reduce their caseloads.

The work furlough program, allowing some prisoners to live in and work outside the prisons, also recently was expanded to an experimental basis to allow some inmates to attend college while in the day.

By U.S. reckoning, the allied forces are killing 11 enemy troops for every American and South Vietnamese soldier killed.

In another offensive in the hard-hit Mekong Delta, South Vietnamese troops reported killing 144 Vietcong in a series of three battles Tuesday.

The heaviest fighting was near Soc Trang, a provincial capital 100 miles south of Saigon, where Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen claimed 98 Vietcong were killed in day-long fighting.

Five South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed and 35 wounded.

In a second action, South Vietnamese infantrymen clashed with elements of the 263rd Vietcong Main Force Battalion 32 miles south southwest of Saigon. At last report, the fighting was continuing with 31 enemy reported dead or far. Government casualties were not reported.

South Vietnamese forces have been trying to regain the initiative from the Vietcong in the delta, heavily hit in the enemy's lunar new year offensive.

FIRE FATAL TO FIVE — Firemen in Omaha, Neb., climb a ladder to the third floor of the burning Hotel Jackson to fight a blaze and hunt for bodies. The fire, which burned out the top two floors of the three-story hotel yesterday afternoon, killed five and sent four to the hospital.

Contract OK'd on Facility for Handicapped

A Contract with the Walled Lake School District for the construction of a facility for the training of mentally handicapped children was approved last night by the Oakland Schools Board of Education.

The structure, containing three classrooms, will be built near the Loon Lake Elementary School under construction on Loon Lake Road near Beck. Bids are expected to be in operation by fall.

Under the 15-year contract, the school district will operate the special education facility with funds from the Oakland Schools and a state subsidy.

The $113,730 cost of the unit, to be known as the Twin Sun School, will be paid by the Oakland Schools. It will have facilities for 45 children, some of whom will be bused to classes from other school districts.

The board also scheduled a hearing for 7:30 p.m. April 23 for a property transfer from the Bloomfield Hills School District to the Troy district.

A new subdivision being built is divided between the school districts and the boundary between the two runs through several houses.

Rampant Teens Smash 40 Windows in Pontiac

A group of teen boys and girls went on a window-breaking rampage last night in the vicinity of Eastern Junior High, 23 S. Sanford, according to Pontiac police.

About 40 windows were broken at an estimated value of about $700. Sixteen were reported broken at the school. Owners of about 15 homes, most of them along South Sanford reported one, two or three windows smashed by rocks, police said.

Witnesses told police they observed a group of about 50 girls and boys throwing rocks as they progressed down the street.

Police said an event called Fun Night had let out about 9 p.m., the time of the incidents. In addition to the homes and school, a large window was broken at a service station at 436 Auburn with a value of $380 and a truck at Mid-America Trucking at Jessie and Osmond had $150 damage inflicted.

R. William Nunez, principal of Eastern Junior High, said Fun Night is a weekly program sponsored by the school district and the city parks and recreation department to give the pupils an opportunity for recreation during the winter months.

FINAL NIGHT

He said dancing and basket ball games were provided and that last night was the final night of the winter program.

"I seriously question whether we will carry out this program in this form next year," Nunez said.

Here Is A Little Lesson in Your Favor

On our calls around the area, we hear lots of reasons why the home SHOULD NOT install one of our modern, effective systems. Following are the most popular:

1. It won't happen to me. Just the way next door or down the block. (That's exactly what he said)
2. Too expensive. (They'd be surprised)
3. We have good police protection in my area. (We know how under-stuffed we are everywhere, don't we?)
4. I can't insure. (Sure, but enough, and for how long?)
5. I'll wait for a few months. (Sure, but the "Bum Door" after the horse is out.)

Why not call now for that survey (at no cost to you) and protect your business and home and family. Get one of those stickers that say—

Infantry Attacks Cong Hamlet

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen led by an armored column battled their way into a Vietcong-held hamlet 28 miles northwest of Saigon today, against stiff defensive fire from a network of trenches and sniper positions.

U.S. dive bombers laid down strings of bombs and napalm only 50 to 100 yards ahead of the troops as they moved into Suoi Sup, about six miles northeast of Trang Bang, in the fourth straight day of heavy fighting in the area.

Elsewhere, North Vietnamese tanks. There was no report of damage. Casualties were said to be light.

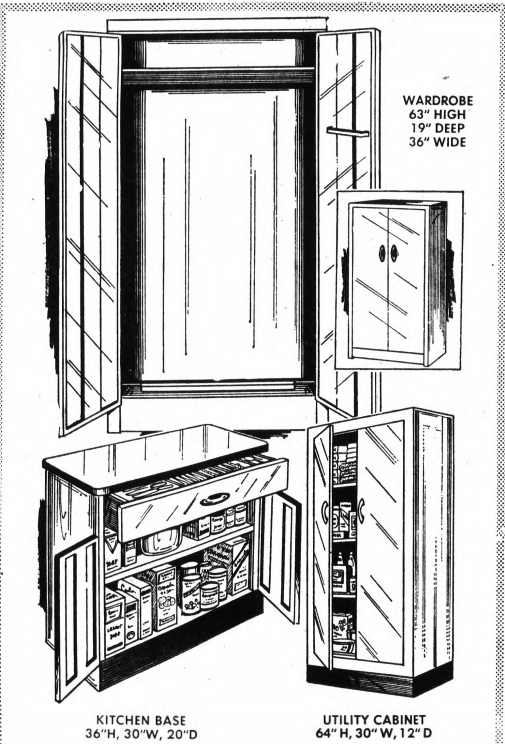

U.S. Provisional Corps Headquarters at Phu Bai, the tactical command post for American units fighting along the northern frontier.

Last of Riot Loot Auctioned Off in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — As enthusiasm against each other for items ranging from fry pans and a elastic as if on a holiday outing where everything is free, Detroiters snapped up at a cash auction Tuesday what remained of unclaimed loot from last July's riots.

Hundreds of looted items had gone in four previous police-conducted auctions which dumped $38,000 into the treasury of a city in which the riots caused millions of dollars damage and left 43 persons dead.

Today's sale lasted 5½ hours and added approximately $9,000 to the city's general fund. Whites and Negroes good naturedly but enthusiastically bid the police headquarters garage could have been bought for 98 cents. But many managed to win items far below value. For instance, four cash registers and an adding machine for $85.

In the July 23-24 riot, much loot was abandoned at the curb when people had second thoughts, and some was turned in after a police promise of "no questions asked."

OWNERS FOUND

Police found owners of 1,500 lots, some including as many as 60 items, and returned them. Edward Stevenson, a bricklayer, joined in the laughter when an auctioneer knocked

Fete Planned at Waterford's Village School

A founder's day program will be held at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Waterford Village School, 4241 Steffens.

The purpose of the program is to dedicate a new addition and to honor the oldest school in Waterford Township.

Invited to the fete are all past principals and PTA presidents of the school, present and past superintendents and teachers.

All students and alumni also are invited. Principal of the school is Mrs. Jane Ellsworth.

Meeting Tonight

OCCEO to Pick Leader

A new chairman will be selected by the Oakland County Commission of Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) at its 7:30 meeting tonight at Carver Elementary School in Royal Oak Township.

The previous chairman, who held the position for three one-year terms, is Carl Ingraham of Birmingham, a city commissioner and member of the County Board of Supervisors.

Ingraham did not choose to run for a fourth term and the OCCEO nominating committee has been making selections for the chairmanship and for other commissioned posts.

The OCCEO also will receive a report commissioned by the county supervisors on their organization. The report, prepared by Louis L. Friedland, a professor at Wayne State University, is on all phases of the war on poverty and how it is being carried out in this county.

TIM MEGGE
OLSM's All-State Guard

Class C Cage Squad Announced

Tim Megge Becomes St. Mary's 2nd All-Stater

A talented sharp-shooter who had a first-hand chance to study the talents of All-Stater Connie Krogulecki is Orchard Lake St. Mary's second All-State basketball honoree.

Junior guard Tim Megge, who led all of the preps in Oakland County with a 26.4 scoring average this season, is on the 10-player Class C squad announced today by the Associated Press.

Krogulecki, the only other OLSM cager ever so honored, gained his recognition two years ago when freshman Megge was his running mate in the backcourt.

The 6-1, 165-pound Megge has compiled 1084 points in his three seasons and is expected to set several scoring records next winter. He had a 46-point game this season.

During the regional tournament at Grand Blanc, he tallied 88 points in three games as the Eagles came within three field goals of their first regional title trophy.

In addition to his scoring, Megge is the OLSM floor leader and has only fouled out once in his career. He's a B-plus student in the classroom. He is the only junior chosen this season.

Stan Grayson, state champion Detroit All Saints' tough center, and Gary Van Elst — holder of track and football laurels already — feature the Class C All-State squad.

Tigers Shell Shaky Senators

Hurlers Sharp in Taking 8-0 Exhibition Tilt

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
LAKELAND, Fla. — Jim Northrup, who has hit some of the longest balls ever seen by Tiger fans, can now claim to have hit the shortest double of his career.

The double, which dropped less than two feet in front of home plate after confusion between the catcher and first baseman, was the "big" hit of the three-run fifth inning as the Tigers lambasted the Washington Senators, 8-0, yesterday.

It was the type of game that probably made Washington's third pitcher Darold Knowles wish he was back at his Army base.

The Tigers had a 3-0 lead as result of Bill Freehan's first inning homer off starter Phil Ortega. Knowles came into the game in the fifth inning following Dennis Higgins, who went two innings.

Lennie Green hit an easy grounder to third which was bobbled by Ken McMullen. Mickey Stanley bounced out to first and Northrup then popped high above the plate.

HOME CONFUSION

Catcher Doug Camilli kept yelling for it but first baseman Mike Epstein lunged in front of him the last second and missed the ball entirely after the wind carried it just inside fair territory.

When the ball hit, it bounced off the two Senators to the screen and Northrup was on second with a double.

Knowles' frustration continued when Norm Cash landed a grounder to Bernie Allen at second and it went through him to allow both runs to score.

FREEHAND DOUBLES

Freehan smashed a shot at third and it bounced off the third baseman's glove for a double. Tom Matchick then stroked the only clean hit of the inning, a single to right that scored Cash with the third run.

Knowles, who is considered to be one of the best relief prospects in the league after an impressive amateur and minor league set of statistics, had more troubles in the sixth when the Tigers got their last two runs.

After Wayne Comer hit a pinch single and Green struck out, Knowles threw to second on Stanley's bouncer, but the ball bounced out of Allen's mitt to allow Comer to go to third and Stanley to second.

After Northrup was called out on strikes, another grounder went through Allen and both runs scored. The five runs against Knowles were unearned.

Arizona State Downs Wolverines 5th Time

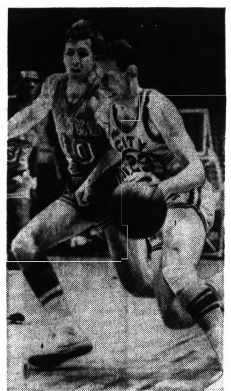

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona State's baseball team ran its record to 14-2 Tuesday night with a 1-0 victory over Michigan, their fifth straight win over the Wolverines.

Joe Arnold picked up the pitching victory for the Sun Devils, allowing six hits, while striking out five and walking two batters over nine innings.

ASU broke the scoreless tie in the sixth inning when John Dolinsiek singled, advanced to third on a walk to Paul Ray Powell and a sacrifice fly, then scored on an error by Michigan shortstop Charles Schmidt.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The no-dunk rule in basketball will be in effect another year and three officials will work a game whenever two opposing teams want them.

The National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada announced those actions today after a two-day meeting.

SETTING UP UPSET — Guard Jeff Mullins (29) of San Francisco drives for the basket and two of his 33 points Tuesday night at the Cow Palace against St. Louis. Dick Snyder of the Hawks fails to halt the drive in the game won by the Warriors, 124-109.

Bill Russell Eyes Better Showing in Meeting Pistons

BOSTON (AP) — Player-coach Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics hopes to improve his rebounding tonight when his club meets the Detroit Pistons at Boston Garden in the third playoff game between the two National Basketball Association clubs.

The best-of-7 series is tied at one apiece, and the fourth place Pistons have won beaten Boston twice out of the last three times the teams met.

After Boston won the first playoff contest 123-116 Sunday, Detroit turned things in its hometown and beat the Celts 126-116 Monday night.

Russell, who hauled down 34 rebounds the first game, ran into foul trouble on the Detroit floor and finished with only 14 rebounds in the second contest.

For Jimmy Walker, the Pistons' No. 3 guard and a graduate of Providence College, it's a chance to play against his old idols.

"These guys (Celtics) are practically my uncles. I've known them so long. That's why it's so great to whip them," he said after Monday's game.

The only Boston player who is physically below par is Bailey Howell, still feeling the effects of the flu.

"The majority concluded that the no-dunk rule had had no adverse effect on the game and statistics showed the scoring had been up a little this past season from what it had been," said Clifford Fagan of Chicago, the committee secretary.

The rule, put in a year ago, prohibits a player from ramming the ball through the hoop from above the rim.

Fagan said a small minority of the 16 committee members present thought the no-dunk rule should be repealed because many fans and players enjoy the ball-ramming display. The vote tally was not announced.

Fagan said points raised against the dunk were that there is virtually no defense against it and that dunking has damaged some baskets and backboards.

The committee authorized for the first time the use of three officials in a game when both teams agree on it.

"They feel there is better floor coverage, particularly against the fast break," said Fagan, "And the fact there are three officials will reduce the number of fouls."

He said experiments with three officials in the Big 10 and Big 8 conferences had been "very favorable." Fagan said the committee was aware that many non-university basketball leagues may find it hard financially to have three officials.

The committee set rules annually for the National Collegiate Athletic Association, some 22,000 U.S. high school members, U.S. junior colleges, the YMCA and Canadian colleges and athletic clubs.

Other actions taken:

— Defeat of a motion to raise the basket from 10 to 11 feet so as to eliminate increasing back-interference calls.

— A decision to work with officials and coaches to reduce cases where players position themselves to draw fouls, such as slipping under a leaping player, and instances when players deliberately fall down and otherwise act as though they've been fouled.

— Retention of the requirement that both teams' benches be on one side of the court — where the scorers' table is.

Houston Pro 5 Values 'Big E'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The first player salary war between the two major professional basketball leagues may develop over the signing of Elvin (The Big E) Hayes.

The San Diego Rockets have won the National Basketball Association draft rights to the Houston Cougar American and reportedly are ready to pay Hayes the price tag of $300,000 for three years which he has placed on himself.

"The Houston Mavericks of the new American Basketball Association said Tuesday they are willing to offer Hayes $500,000 for the same period.

"If he isn't worth $750,000 to San Diego with their television contracts, he won't be getting shortchanged," said Slater Martin, general manager and coach of the Houston team.

The 6-8 Hayes met privately at San Diego late Tuesday with Bob Breitbard, owner of the Rockets. Hayes was not available for comment following the meeting.

FLOOD WASHED OUT — St. Louis Cardinals' Curt Flood kicks up the dust after hitting the dust at home plate in a contest against the New York Mets yesterday in St. Petersburg, Fla. Catcher Jerry Grote makes the tag on Flood, who tried to circle the bases on a hit to right field. Flood arrived at third base okay on the play, and outfielder Ron Swoboda's throw went through third baseman Jerry Buchek, he started home. Backing up the play at third, however, was pitcher Nolan Ryan who tossed to Grote in time for the putout.

White Sox Drop Former Standouts

By The Associated Press
Spring training will be a little less like this year for Jim Kaat, but Bob Shaw and Jim O'Toole are wondering whether it will come at all for them.

Shaw and O'Toole, two of baseball's top pitchers several years ago, were looking for employment today after the Chicago White Sox dropped them Tuesday. At the same time, the Sox gave veteran slugger Rocky Colavito a new chance by selling him to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Kaat, Minnesota's ace left-hander who pitched the Twins to the 1966 pennant, started his spring training Monday by hurling 15 minutes of batting practice, and that was as far as he got. The sore elbow that plagued him last year was back again. Kaat's next appearance is not expected until after the season begins April 8.

Jim Bunning, however, indicated he still is one of the National League's most destructive pitchers as he tuned up for an expected leading role in Pittsburgh's pennant chase.

The New Pirate, acquired from Philadelphia last winter, hurled a 7-inning shutout against the Pittsburgh Pirates for eight innings as Pittsburgh downed Boston 2-1 on Manny Mota's two run homer in the first.

In other games, Cincinnati belted Los Angeles 7-2, the New York Mets blanked St. Louis 1-0, Atlanta edged Baltimore 2-1, Detroit clobbered Washington 8-0, San Francisco nipped the Chicago Cubs 3-2, California bounced Cleveland 6-2, Minnesota topped the New York Yankees 4-2 and the White Sox shut out Oakland 4-0.

FAILED TO HEAL

snapped ligament in his left elbow suffered last Sept. 30 failed to heal completely during the winter.

The elbow still twinges when he throws breaking pitches and Minnesota trainer George Lentz said Kaat will do no more pitching in regular spring training. Twins' President Calvin Griffith said there is a strong possibility Kaat will be on the 15-day disabled list at the start of the season.

Shaw, 34, a 10-year veteran who pitched the White Sox to the 1959 pennant and later starred for Milwaukee and San Francisco, planned to contact Boston and Pittsburgh for a trial.

O'Toole, 31, whose 19 victories helped Cincinnati to the 1961 pennant, had a sore shoulder most of 1967 after the Sox acquired him from the Reds. He and Shaw each started this season as free agents.

Colavito, 34, a home-hitting outfielder picked up by the Sox in their 1967 pennant struggle, lost his job in spring training to two rookies, Buddy Bradford and Bill Voss.

SHERRY CUT

A former World Series hero, pitcher Larry Sherry, was cut by the Houston Astros, who also named outfielder Jackie Brandt a player-coach with Dallas-Fort Worth in the Texas League.

Minnesota got by without Kaat, the scheduled starter Tuesday, as Jim Perry and rookie Moe Ogden stopped the Yankees and John Roseboro slammed a two-run single in the eighth inning.

Cisco Carlos, Bob Priddy, Wilbur Wood and Hoyt Wilhelm stopped the A's on six hits in the White Sox' victory.

Pitcher Cecil Upshaw singled home a run in the bottom of the ninth with two outs for Atlanta's triumph. The Mets scored their first run in 28 innings on ninth-inning doubles by Bud Harrelson and Ken Boswell while Nolan Ryan, Bill Short and Dan Friesla blanked the Cardinals.

San Francisco also won in the ninth as Cub Manager Leo Durocher was ejected for protesting a pitch and reliever Pete Mikelsen let in the winning run on a wild pickoff throw to first base.

Home runs helped decide the other three games as well. The Yankees blasted the Braves 10-0 in Cincinnati, Bill Freehan cracked one with two on for Detroit and California's Chuck Hinton and Roger Repoz connected for five runs.

Cougars Tuning Up

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Cougars left early today for Atlanta to get in three days of practice before their North American Soccer League opener with the Atlanta Chiefs Saturday night. The Cougars will play a 32-game schedule this year, including 16 home games. The home opener will be April 20 against Vancouver.

Colavito Hints Dodgers May Have 'Rocky' Time

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Slugger Rocky Colavito said today that he may not report to the Los Angeles Dodgers and "is considering retirement from baseball" after being sold by the Chicago White Sox.

"I haven't made up my mind whether to report to the Dodgers," said the 34-year-old outfielder after the White Sox sold him for a sum said to be in excess of the $200,000 waiver price. "I'll make up my mind in a day or two whether to retire."

Colavito was hitting .207 with one homer and five runs batted in this spring. He batted .241 in 63 games for the Cleveland Indians and .221 in 60 games for the White Sox while driving in a total of 50 runs last season. He has hit 366 homers during a 14-year major league career.

Vice president E. J. "Buzze" Bavasi and manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers obviously were unaware that Colavito is considering retirement.

"This is not the end of our efforts," said Bavasi at Vero Beach. "It may be only the beginning. We still think we need more right-handed hitting."

PLATOON DUTY

"We'll use Colavito primarily against left-handed pitching, at least at the start," said Alston. "I'll have to see how he hits as he well enough, he could play regularly."

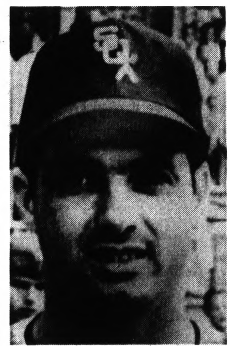

WMU Surges in Front at Miami Tournament

MIAMI (AP) — Western Michigan, a Johnny-come-lately to the Miami Collegiate Baseball Tournament, edged Michigan State Tuesday 2-1 in 12 innings to move ahead of MSU and Miami as the percentage leader of the meet.

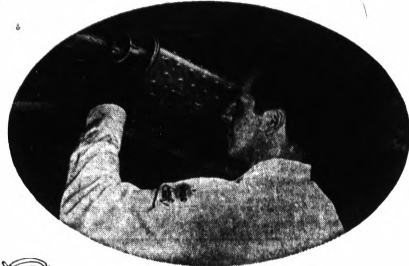

Michigan State lost to Miami 4-3 in the second game of its doubleheader.

In the first game, the Spartans pulled ahead 1-0 in the sixth inning on a single by Steve Garvey, an error and two sacrifices. Tom Hummel's sacrifice fly brought Garvey home.

In the Bronco's ninth, a walk, an error and an outfield fly scored the tying run. Consecutive singles by Pat Locanto, Dal Mackie and pinch-hitter Melvin Ogdowski won the game in the 12th.

Pioneer Sportswoman, 87, Dies in Florida

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — She was four times a member of One of the world's pioneer sportswomen, Eleanor Randolph Sears, 87, died Tuesday after a brief illness.

Miss Sears first made news in 1909 when she attempted to ride in an English polo club game. In 1928 she became the first woman squash champion.

Born in Boston Sept. 28, 1881, the daughter of wealthy Frederick Richard Sears, she turned to sports as a young woman, winning more than 240 trophies on the tennis and squash courts and in horse show rings.

Her sports interests ranged from horse racing, polo, baseball, football, tennis and boxing.

For years she conducted her own one-woman sports event, walking the 100-mile roundtrip journey from Boston to Providence, R.I.

She also pioneered in air travel. In 1910 she was one of the first women to fly in an airplane, crossing Boston Harbor with Claude Grahame-White.

Although she never married, Miss Sears' name was romantically linked with several wealthy socialites in Boston and New York. One of them was Harold S. Vanderbilt.

SPORTSWOMAN DIES — Eleanor Randolph Sears, who paved the way for the entrance of women into the sports world at the turn of the century, died yesterday in Palm Beach, Fla., at the age of 87. The socially prominent Miss Sears was the owner of race horses for many years and maintained an avid interest in polo, squash, baseball, football and boxing.

Fresh Warrior Trims Hawks

By the Associated Press
A player doesn't get tired early in a season, and San Francisco's Jeff Mullins appears about as fresh as one can get.

Mullins scored 29 points last Friday in sparking San Francisco over St. Louis in the first game of the National Basketball association Western Division semifinals, and said the Warriors are just like a new season.

Tuesday night he did it again — scoring 33 points as the Warriors beat St. Louis 124-109 to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

It was the only NBA action of the night.

In the American Basketball Association playoffs, Dallas eliminated Houston 3-0 in the best-of-5 Western Division semifinals by winning 116-103, New Orleans drubbed Denver 130-104. Pittsburgh topped Indiana 121-108 and Kentucky edged Minnesota 100-95.

FIVE STRAIGHT
Dick Snyder came off the St. Louis bench and hit his first five shots, pulling the Hawks to within 43-42. But then Mullins hit two shots and Bob Warlick (two more as the Warriors moved to a 60-54 halftime lead and never were threatened thereafter.)

Fred Hetzel and Clyde Lee each added 19 and Rudy LaRusso 18 for San Francisco. Zelmo Beatty, Lenny Wilkens and Lou Hudson each scored 21 for St. Louis.

Dallas raced to a 19-point halftime lead and then coasted to its third straight playoff victory over Houston. John Beasley poured in 31 points, Maurice McHartley 24 and four other players hit double figures for Dallas. Art Becker scored 26 and guy Manning 25 for Houston.

Dallas now will play the winner of the New Orleans series which opened with New Orleans' season-high victory.

SEASON HIGH
Five-foot-9 Larry Brown scored 31 points, his high for the season, in pacing New Orleans, which built up a 14-point halftime margin. Wayne Hightower led Denver with 28.

Pittsburgh's Art Heyman drove through the Indiana defense for 32 points in leading the Pipers to a 2-0 lead over Indian in their Eastern Division semifinal series.

With Pittsburgh ace Connie Hawkins and playmaker Charlie Williams on the bench with five fouls each, Indiana cut the Pipers' lead from 92-75 to 94-88 in the fourth quarter. But then Hawkins and Williams returned and Pittsburgh went on a 14-5 tear to put the game out of reach.

Cranes Open Baseball Season With 5-4 Win

Special to The Press
IRONTON, Ohio — Cranbrook opened its preseason baseball schedule with a 5-4 triumph Tuesday over Ironton, Ohio, as sophomore "Howdy" Jones hurled five scoreless innings in his varsity debut.

Skip Meier and Sandy Heavenrich were the plate stars. Captain Meier singled home the first run, and Heavenrich drove in two with a second-inning safety. Then scored the deciding run in the seventh after the two Cranes again singled and Ironton committed a key error.

Cranbrook is at Lockland today.

Cranbrook 130 000 1-5 2 3
Ironton 000 002 3-4 1 5

Allen Boots Four Grounders

Allen's harried day on the field continued in the eighth. He let pitcher Les Cain's short grounder get by him for his fourth error of the five committed by the Nats.

Mickey Lolich started for Detroit and didn't allow a hit, but gave up a walk and hit batsman in his three innings.

SHARP JOB

University of Michigan student Bob Reed, who reported late because of his studies and who must return to Ann Arbor for examinations, followed Lolich on the mound and in his three very slow innings he allowed just two hits and walked two batters.

"Sugar" Cain, who is the odds-on favorite among the rookies for making the squad, was again impressive in his three-inning stint.

Anglers to Look Catches 'Right in Mouth'

Early Salmon, Trout Seasons Open Monday

Daily Record Forms Must Be Kept for Designated Waters

Fishermen who take part in the special rainbow and salmon season which opens Monday may have to look their catches "right in the mouth" to determine what they have caught.

Rainbow and brown trout and coho and chinook salmon become legal on designated streams and the Great Lakes from April 1 until the regular trout opener April 27.

During this early season, anglers will be required to keep daily records. The information is to be kept on the special salmon-trout report forms that should have been distributed when the fishing license was purchased.

It is a violation not to have this report form in possession when fishing trout and salmon waters during the special spring and fall seasons.

Anglers who did not receive this blue card when they purchased a license can obtain one at a license dealer or the Conservation Department district office in the Pontiac Lake recreation area.

Rainbows (steelheads), coho and young chinooks look very much alike. Most fishermen have trouble distinguishing one from the other and this is important if the report cards are to be made out properly.

RECOMMENDATION

Dave Borgeson, the Conservation Department's trout and salmon specialist, recommends looking in the fish's mouth.

"The inside lining of a steelhead's mouth is white," he points out, "and the mouth of a chinook is black or dark gray. The coho also has a black or dark gray mouth, but it is distinguished from the chinook by its white gums."

Most of the salmon will be caught in Lower Lake Michigan during April. A few may show up in the streams. Best results on steelheads will be in streams running into northern Lake Michigan.

Action on these lake-run rainbows in the Upper Peninsula usually doesn't pick up until May.

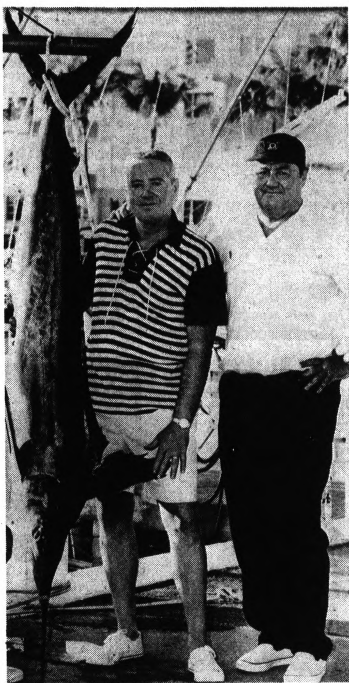

Prospects on the northern front have been improved with the Conservation Department opening some additional stretches of steelhead streams to early fishing. The new openings are largely designed to take some of the heavy angling pressure off last year's rainbow streams.

Among major rivers added to the early fishing list is the Little Manistee upstream to 18 Mile Bridge. Other important changes include extension of early steelhead fishing on the Pere Marquette River to Bowman Bridge and on the Big South Branch of the Pere Marquette to the Mason-Ocean county line.

There are other changes that will have a bearing on this spring's trout and salmon fishing in Michigan. Among them, extension of the fishing license requirement to cover the Great Lakes.

Scratch Derby Favorite

HALLANDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Wide Exchange, the early line favorite in Saturday's $100,000 Florida Derby, was scratched from the classic run at Gulfstream Park because of a lump behind his right ankle.

RARE CATCH—L. Jay Clark (left), 4563 Kempf, Waterford Township, is shown with the 81-pound white marlin he caught March 16 while fishing out of Bahia Mar, Fort Lauderdale. Few white marlin are taken in Florida waters and Clark's 7-foot, 8-inch-tyer tied for first in a local contest that continues to April 30. John Wagner, captain of the fishing boat, is next to Clark.

Survey Indicates Anglers Who Litter Hurt Fishing

A recent survey of state fish and game departments indicates that the fisherman who tosses litter into lakes and streams is his own worst enemy.

Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national litter-prevention organization, said the survey indicated that litter is harmful to game fish, and that the mess left behind by fishing litterbugs has been directly responsible for the closing of waters to fishermen in at least 10 states.

North Dakota reported that 40 sites had been banned to fishermen. In Nevada, a 25-acre rainbow trout pond at Crittenden Dam has been closed.

Boston Terrier Puppy Match Slated Sunday

The sanctioned spring puppy match of the Boston Terrier Club of Detroit will be Sunday in Ferndale.

Puppies six months to one year old are eligible. Judging by John Tindler of Detroit, will get under way at 1 p.m. in the VFW Hall, 177 Vester.

There will be a junior handlers match for boys and girls 10 to 14 years old.

Conservation Films at Farmington Site

Two conservation orientated films will be shown Sunday at East Junior High School in Farmington.

"Bulldozed America" and "Gooney Birds" are the titles of the color films on the program being arranged by the Detroit Audubon Society.

The program will start at 3 p.m. in the school on Midland, between 10 and 11 mile. No admission will be charged.

Special Task Force Takes on Beach Job

CHICAGO (U)—A federal-state task force buckled down today to the job of keeping contents of dead alewives from littering Great Lakes beaches this year.

"It is unlikely that the die-off in 1968 could approach the magnitude of 1967," said Al McLain of Ann Arbor, of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

One reason, he added, was the tremendous die-off in 1967. Last year nine million pounds of the dead fish were hauled away from the Lake Michigan shore in Chicago alone.

The task force was set up by the Great Lakes Basin Commission to devise plans to cope with the alewives this spring. The commission was established to conserve the waters of the Great Lakes and their shorelines.

The task force is made up of representatives of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio and federal agencies.

Meanwhile, in Washington the Senate Interior Committee has approved a bill to control Lake Michigan alewives.

The bill—which bears the names of Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.—was sponsored by 10 senators from Great Lakes states.

It would provide $5 million in federal funds, to be matched by contributions from interested Great Lakes states, to develop long-range, alewife-control programs. It provides also that states could use their share of the funds for cleanup operations.

"I will push for prompt passage of the measure," Hartke said. "Recent reports from the Interior Department indicate this year's die-off may be as bad or even worse than last year's."

Gun Show Set Near Davison

The fourth annual Michigan Gun Show will be Sunday at the Williams Gun Sight Company near Davison.

Exhibits and representatives from 60 firms dealing in firearms and shooting accessories will participate in the show which will run from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Equipment will be on display and the representatives will attempt to answer questions from those attending. Remington, Winchester, Savage, Marlin, High Standard, Weaver, Pacific, RCBS and Lyman are some of the firms that will be represented.

Williams Gun Sight is located on Lapeer Road, two miles west of M-15.

Rare Birds Eye

Nesting Grounds in North Country

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Four of the 47 whooping cranes have left Texas for the flock's nesting grounds in Canada, the Interior Department reported today.

A spokesman said the remainder of the birds probably will have left the Arkansas Wildlife Refuge by the middle of next month.

The whoopers, making a gradual comeback after near extinction, nest in Wood Buffalo Park, near the Arctic Circle.

In addition to doing all possible to protect the flock, wildlife officials are hatching and rearing whoopers in captivity to replenish it.

Of all the men who have ever participated in sports, which one held a championship for the longest time? ... Answer is Willie Hoppe who held the world billiard title from 1906 to 1952—a total of 46 consecutive years. ... Imagine keeping a 300 game even last in fielding. ... No one else—in any sport—has ever come close to that.

Here's a baseball oddity. ... The one Red Sox won the American League pennant last season after they had finished dead LAST in fielding. ... League records show the Red Sox wound up in 10th place in the fielding averages.

Here's one for you bowlers. ... Do you have any idea what the odds are against rolling a perfect 300? ... According to the American Bowling Congress, the odds against a 300 game won by the best of bowlers is 367,000 to 1. ... There have been almost 7 million games rolled in ABC tournaments over the years and only 19 perfect 300-games in all that time. ... That's where they get the odds of 367,000 to 1.

I bet you didn't know that the times we like to sell have 2700-3000 lb. body strength. That's a lot of impact and break protection. ... actually about 30% more than ordinary tires. Cheap insurance, isn't it?

Makes Most of Big Snow in Troy Derby

Waterford's Bruce Clifton made the most of what was probably the last big snow of the season by winning five events in the Eastern Michigan Snowmobile Derby last weekend at Troy.

He won the cross country and oval events in Classes C and D (modified) and the "B" pursuit. Keith Clifton was first in the Class B cross country and oval.

Another local rider, Marvin Balchura captured the oval and cross country in Class H (modified). Robert Castleberry of Pontiac was second in Class C oval and third in the cross-country.

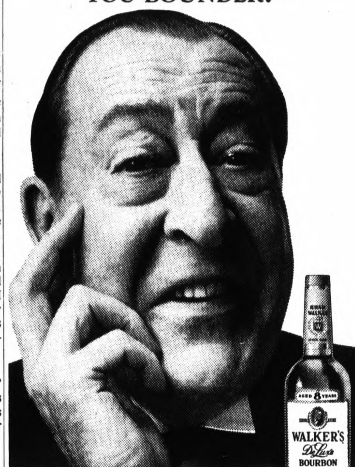

Taking second in the "C" cross country was J. R. Harris of Pontiac. Waterford's Doris LaBelle was third in the powder puff derby.

BAYOU "BENNE" PIE—Whether you call them sesame seeds or "benne" as they do down south, these pearly seeds add delicate nut-like flavor to this pie.

Sprinkle Sesame Seed on Top of Pie Filling

Sesame seed has been a flavorful baking seed for many centuries, as well as one of the world's most important oil seeds. For some reason, it was hardly known beyond the deep South or in foreign sections of big cities in this country until sesame was used in the crust of a pie which won a sensational prize in a baking contest about 14 years ago.

Actually, it was the simplest kind of variation — a few tablespoons of toasted sesame seed added to the flour of the crust. Thousands of women read the recipe and moaned, "Now, why couldn't I have thought of that!"

Adding the nut-sweet seeds to pastry seemed obvious, however, to the prize-winning cook for she was an archeologist as well as a gifted homemaker. She had learned that Egyptians, more than three thousand years ago, had added sesame to breads and baked goods.

This shiny white seed is always sold whole. Sesame seeds are toasted to develop full flavor; then they may be used in many dishes where one might ordinarily use finely chopped almonds.

To toast, spread the seeds thinly on a baking pan and bake 15 to 20 minutes in a moderate oven. If they are sprinkled on top of any dish, such as breads, cookies, baked fish, where they are exposed to dry heat, they do not require pre-toasting.

This dreamy pie with its unusual sesame seed topping is so rich that smaller portions than usual are recommended.

Bayou "Benne" Pie

3 eggs, lightly beaten
1 cup dark corn syrup
½ cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
½ cup sesame seed
Unbaked 9-inch flaky pastry shell

In small mixer bowl combine eggs, dark and light corn

Buy Shoulder for Few Eaters

When a small family gets a yen for that good ham-like flavor, smoked pork shoulder roll is a good choice.

This handy, oval-shaped meat, weighing from two to four pounds, usually comes packaged in transparent wrapping.

Cover with water and simmer over low heat about 45 minutes per pound, or bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for two to three hours until the internal temperature reaches 170 degrees F. Serve the hot, sliced meat with green beans, buttered noodles, tomato and cottage cheese salad and a fruit dessert.

If you're in the mood for cold meat the next day, serve the sliced meat with bottled horseradish-mustard. Accompany with creamed potatoes to which chopped green onions have been added; buttered beets, tossed vegetable salad, sherbet and cookies.

Any leftover pieces of the smoked pork may be ground and mixed with mayonnaise and mustard for sandwiches; or they may be added to the breakfast scrambled eggs.

Add Coconut to a Dessert

Here's a dessert for coconut fans!

Coconut Cream

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup milk
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
¾ cup flaked coconut, lightly packed

Sprinkle gelatin over ¼ cup of the milk and allow to soften. Heat the remaining ¾ cup milk with the sugar and salt until very hot; add softened gelatin; stir to dissolve. Stir in vanilla.

Chill, stirring a few times, until slightly thickened; whip until fluffy. Fold in whipped cream and coconut. Turn into 7 one-half cup molds. Chill until firm.

Unmold and serve with frozen, defrosted raspberries. Makes 7 servings.

Keep at Zero

To insure safe food preservation, freezer temperatures should be zero or below, MSU Extension Service home economists recommend. A recent survey of urban and farm homemakers with home freezers revealed that only 36 percent of the farm and 25 percent of the urban freezers had thermometers. Between 30 to 40 per cent registered temperatures higher than zero.

Starch the Legs of Play Pants

overalls or jeans, dip the bottom part of the legs in the left over starch. This starch helps unbaked pastry shell. Sprinkle turned up.

This makes their jeans stay clean longer and look better, for it keeps the bottom of the cuffs from becoming ragged, or worn from dragging.

Cube Leftover Lamb for Hearty Salad

In exploring the history of chemist was the first to combine salads, it is particularly interesting to learn of the greens before adding and herbs that were used, and vinegar.

The way in which many of our salad dressings were developed, meats were more evenly distributed. In French cuisine "lamb's tribute" and the excess vine-lettuce" and bloodwort were gar ran to the bottom of the salad greens, and a French bowl.

LAMB MACARONI SALAD — Try this all-American salad soon. Shell macaroni, cubes of tender, cooked lamb, sliced sweet gherkins and crisp vegetables combine with a smooth, smooth dressing for an easy-to-toss salad.

In our country one of the greatest salad fanciers was Thomas Jefferson, who, it is told, could count 19 varieties of lettuce in his garden. His talent for inventions also carried into the kitchen where he took an interest in developing sesame oil salad dressings.

Today, of course, we have hundreds of salad combinations to offer family and friends. While "lamb's tribute" is a thing of the past, lamb itself is very much in the present.

A roast leg of lamb that you've enjoyed at dinner the night before often yields enough meat for a salad. And if you want a man-sized salad, the kind that satisfies hunky appetites, team it with macaroni — a food as American and as well-loved as the lamb.

Lamb Macaroni Salad

1½ teaspoons salt
1½ quarts boiling water
2 cups shell macaroni (4 ounces)
2 cups cubed cooked lamb
½ cup sliced sweet gherkins
1 cup diced celery
½ cup coarsely chopped red onion
1 cup grated sharp natural Cheddar cheese
1 cup salad dressing or mayonnaise

1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne
Lettuce leaves

Add 1½ teaspoons salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse in cold water; drain again.

Combine lamb, macaroni, gherkins, celery, onion and cheese. Mix together dressing, vinegar and seasonings; add to lamb mixture. Toss lightly; chill. Serve on lettuce leaves and garnish with additional cheese, as desired. Makes 6 servings.

Whipped Cream Adds Lightness

Fluffy rice pudding has been a favorite for generations. Make it an exotic dessert.

Whip 1 cup whipping cream sweetened with powdered sugar and flavored with a dash of ginger. Fold this into 4 cups cooked, chilled rice with 1½ cups well drained fruit cocktail. Heap high in serving dishes.

Junior Editors Quiz on TYPEWRITERS

QUESTION: Why aren't typewriter letters in alphabetical order?

ANSWER: The first typewriter which really worked was invented in 1867 by Christopher Latham Sholes, assisted by Carlos S. Glidden and Samuel W. Soule. It was a crude machine, but the three men worked hard to perfect it and it was put on the market in 1874 as the Remington typewriter.

The inventors realized that the typewriter keys should be arranged to make it as easy as possible for the typist to operate them. Certain letters and words are used a great deal more than others. Certain fingers are stronger than others.

The inventors experimented a long time and finally came up with an arrangement which gave the most-used letters to the strongest fingers. This system is almost the same as that now used everywhere.

Recent studies have been made to find out if it could be improved: some have felt an arrangement such as shown beneath the hands would be better. But so many typists have been trained to use the present arrangement, and so many typewriters have been built with it, that it seems doubtful if it will ever be changed.

Windy Senators Winded After Bout With Ethics

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last Friday afternoon the U.S. Senate spent several hours wrestling with itself over the adoption of a code of ethics.

Just when it appeared it might pin itself down with a fairly stringent code, it lost its grip (a modified hamster) and let itself wriggle loose.

Consequently, the code is finally imposed on itself was rather limited in scope. What caused this last-minute weakening? Another case of reassessment, which is so popular in Washington this month? Perhaps. But I am inclined to think it was a shortage of oxygen.

I developed this theory after talking with Deborah Skezeley, a California lady who operates the Golden Door, one of those ultraluxury beauty resorts where wealthy women go for tune-up jobs when their valves are sticking.

Miss Skezeley, in town to speak at the American Newspaper Women's Club, happened to visit the Senate Gallery while the code of ethics struggle was in progress.

Subcompact Car Planned

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has a subcompact car, code-named the Delta scheduled to hit the market in March of next year, according to Ward's Automotive Reports, an auto industry trade publication.

Company spokesmen had no comment on the report.

Ward's said the car will have a 103-inch wheelbase, five inches shorter than the Ford Falcon, will be 176 inches long, 69 inches wide and 52 inches high.

It said the car is to be initially available in a two-door sedan. It will be powered by a 170-cubic-inch, six-cylinder engine, with a 176-cubic-inch six offered as an option, Ward's said.

Likely Foe of Ev Is 'Concerned' About Vietnam

CHICAGO (AP) — William G. Clark, selected as a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate after a leading contender questioned U.S. policies in Vietnam, has expressed "grave concern" about the war and called for a review of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

Some political observers interpreted the Clark statement as a trial balloon.

"I have grave concern regarding the wisdom of our present policies in the conduct of the war in Vietnam," Clark said Tuesday in his first campaign news release.

Clark, the Illinois attorney general, was picked for the spot on the ticket by Democratic slate makers after Adlai E.

Stevenson III said he could not promise complete support in advance to President Johnson's policies in Vietnam.

LEADER BYPASSED

Stevenson, son of the late U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, had been considered the leading contender to oppose Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., and as a possible candidate for governor. He was passed over for both posts by the Democratic leaders.

In his bid for the senatorial spot on the Democratic ticket, Clark told party leaders last month: "Of course I support President Johnson. He's trying to bring about the peace and he's the only man who can do it."

But Tuesday he called for a review of U.S. policy in Vietnam "because it is obvious to me that most Americans believe that we are dealing with a corrupt and unresponsive government in South Vietnam."

Political writers for both the Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Tribune said in this morning's editions that the Clark statement might have been issued with the consent of Mayor Richard J. Daley.

MAJOR DEVELOPMENT

George Tagge in the Tribune said the statement "was considered a major development by politicians because they are certain that Clark issued his statement only after consulting with Mayor Daley."

Daley, the leading Democratic figure in Illinois and a strong supporter of the President, said: "There was no contact between the committee and the candidates. They think for themselves. I didn't know the statement was to be issued and I hadn't seen it."

John Dreiske in the Sun-Times said: "After studying the Clark statement, some Democratic leaders saw the possibility of a major shift in Vietnam policy at the White House level. This opinion was based on the belief the Clark statement might have been issued with Daley's consent as a trial balloon to test the temper of public reaction."

Clark, unopposed in the Democratic primary, said in his statement Tuesday that the U.S. role in Vietnam "has its roots in 1954."

POLICY REVIEW

"The initial approach taken by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, which is the foundation of our present policy, must be reexamined in the light of present reality," Clark said.

Later he told newsmen that he had made the statement "to correct many misconceptions of my role in this campaign, particularly in the Eastern press, about my background and my obligations." He denied consulting with Daley before issuing the statement.

Quiche Is Pronounced 'Keesh'

Cheese Custard Tart Is French

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

There are fads in food as well as in fashion. A recipe will suddenly appear simultaneously in several parts of the country and in a few weeks, everybody is using it. Well, not exactly everybody, but women in all parts of the United States seem to pick it up at the same time.

One dish that is growing in popularity is the quiche — pronounced keesh. This is a cheese custard tart that has been made in France for more than 500 years.

Originally a simple peasant dish, it has become popular with the gourmet set.

The traditional Quiche Lorraine has a filling of eggs, butter and cream. Its name merely indicates the province from which it comes.

American cooks, who never leave well enough alone, have taken the original recipe and given it all sorts of twists, varying everything but the eggs.

Serve quiche as an appetizer (that's the way I first ate it at a Borden party during a Food Editors' Conference), as a main course of a light supper or as a brunch or luncheon dish.

CLASSIC VERSION
Here is a classic American style version of the original recipe.

QUICHE LORRAINE
Unbaked 9-inch flaky pie shell, with fluted rim
8 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
8 ounces Swiss cheese, grated medium-fine (2 cups)
3 large eggs
1½ cups light cream or half-and-half
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon butter

Over the bottom of the pie shell, sprinkle the bacon, then the cheese. In a mixing bowl, beat the eggs slightly; add cream, salt and pepper; beat to combine; pour into shell.

Break butter into small pieces over filling. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until a knife inserted near the center comes out clean — 35 to 40 minutes. (Do not overbake.)

Allow to stand for 10 minutes (for custard to continue setting out of oven) and then serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

A delicate luncheon version adds crabmeat.

CRABMEAT LORRAINE PIE
1 9-inch unbaked flaky pastry shell
1 can (7½ oz.) crabmeat, drained and flaked
1 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
Custard Filling
Dill weed

Roll out pastry to ¾-inch thickness and fit gently into pie pan. Trim and flute edge.

Line bottom of pastry shell

with crabmeat. Cover with Combine remaining ingredients cheese. Pour custard filling and pour over hash and cheese. over cheese; sprinkle with dill weed.

Bake in preheated 400 degree oven, 35-45 minutes, or until done. Allow to stand 5 minutes before serving.

Custard Filling

3 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
½ cup chopped scallions
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Blend ingredients and pour over crabmeat and cheese.

For a hearty brunch quiche, include corned beef hash.

CORNY QUICHE

9-inch unbaked pastry shell
1 can (15 ounces) corned beef hash
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Swiss cheese
2 teaspoons enriched flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash nutmeg
2 eggs, beaten
1¼ cups milk

Bake pastry shell at 450 degrees for 7 minutes; remove from oven. Reduce oven temperature to 325 degrees.

Crumble corned beef hash into partially baked pie crust. Top with shredded cheese.

Explain Term

Most meat labeled "Tenderized" has been treated with approved enzyme solutions, MSU food specialists note. This enzyme-tenderizing solution, regularly inspected by Federal officials, does not affect human health. Not all "Tenderized" meat is treated with enzymes. Some is put through a "cubing" machine at the retail store or aged under ultra-violet light.

For a good sauce to serve with boiled beef, add horseradish to a savory white sauce. Make the sauce with half milk, half beef bouillon.

1½ cups shredded Swiss cheese
4 eggs
1¼ cups milk
¾ teaspoon pepper

Saute onions and mushrooms in butter. Drain on absorbent paper. Line the bottom of a 10-inch quiche or pie shell with the onion mushroom mixture.

Reserve several mushroom slices for the garnish. Sprinkle flour over the mushrooms and onions.

In a mixing bowl, beat eggs well. Stir in milk, pepper, Swiss cheese and sliced beef. Pour into pie shell. Garnish with several slices of the reserved mushroom pieces.

Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 300 degrees and continue cooking for 25 minutes. A test for doneness is when a table knife in center of the pie comes out clean.

CRABMEAT LORRAINE PIE — Crabmeat Lorraine Pie features a tender pastry shell filled with flaked crabmeat, Swiss cheese and a creamy custard sparked with colorful bits of dill weed and chopped scallion. This special pie takes little more than an hour's preparation time from mixing bowl to table.

Simmer Cabbage With Apple Bits

Here's a delightful vegetable and fruit combination.

McIntosh Cabbage

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 quart firmly packed knife-shredded cabbage
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons each lemon juice and water
½ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon white pepper
2 medium unpeeled, cored McIntosh apples (halved and each half cut into 8 wedges)

In a 10-inch skillet, melt butter; add cabbage; mix with remaining ingredients except apples. Arrange apples over top. Cover and cook gently until cabbage wilts — about 5 minutes or so.

Carefully mix in apples and cook uncovered until apples are transparent. Increase heat if necessary to evaporate liquid. Makes 4 servings.

Unusual to Put Soup Into Muffins

Fill your kitchen with the welcome scent of home-baked muffins. The aroma of chicken soup muffins quickly spreads the word that something tasty is in the oven.

The inviting unusual flavor of the muffins comes easily from a can of condensed cream of chicken soup and poultry seasoning. Chopped fresh parsley or dried parsley scatters appetizing bits of color through the hot breads.

Wonderful with salads and casserole dishes—chicken soup muffins make an ordinary meal a special meal.

Chicken Lickin' Muffins
3 cups sifted enriched flour
1½ tablespoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 tablespoon parsley
1 egg, well beaten
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
¼ cup water
¼ cup oil

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and poultry seasoning. Stir in parsley. Combine beaten egg, soup, water and oil. Add liquid ingredients to flour mixture; stir only until flour is moistened.

Fill greased muffin pans ¾ full. Bake in preheated 425 degree oven, 20 to 25 minutes.

*If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons per cup, according to USDA recommendations.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Minted Gelatin Good Dessert

"Peppermint Fruit Slices" is a wonderful opportunity to treat your family to a special dessert and fill them with wonderfully nutritious food at the same time.

Peppermint Fruit Slices
1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup hot water
6 tablespoons sugar
Few grains salt
½ cup syrup from canned fruit cocktail
1 cup drained canned fruit cocktail
1 egg white
Few drops peppermint extract
Drop of green food coloring

Soften gelatin in lemon juice and dissolve in hot water. Blend in 4 tablespoons sugar, salt and ½ cup syrup from fruit. Chill 1 cup of this mixture until slightly thickened. Fold in well drained fruit cocktail. Chill in small loaf pan.

Chill remaining gelatin mixture until slightly thickened. Beat egg white until stiff and gradually beat in remaining 2 tablespoons sugar. Fold into gelatin. Blend in flavoring and tint lightly with green coloring.

Spoon over clear layer. Chill until firm. Unmold and slice into 5 to 6 servings.

Ever Fry Bananas?
Beat currant jelly with a little orange juice; fry bananas in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 24 medium cupcakes.

SAUSAGE CHOWDER—Sausage, usually relegated to the breakfast table, takes its place in the supper menu. Here it is a flavorful addition to a creamy chowder. Good eating for a chilly night.

Browned Sausage Bits Flavor Hearty Chowder

Sausage chowder turns a simple supper into a hearty meal. When served piping hot at the table, the family can watch the chunks of browned sausage, tender lima beans and creamy soup being ladled into individual bowls. The satisfying blend of flavors belies the ease of preparation.

One reason the cooking time is short is that the brown and serve sausage in the recipe is purchased fully cooked. The homemaker browns the sausage to suit the family's preference and adds it to the vegetables in the chowder mixture.

The flavorful chowder is seasoned with onion and celery. It is neither time-consuming nor difficult to make.

The trick is to be sure the flour is well dispersed in the milk before the bouillon and other ingredients are added.

Sausage Chowder

8 ounce package brown 'n serve sausage, cut in thirds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion

¼ cup chopped celery
1 cup milk
¼ cup flour
1 cup hot beef bouillon
1 teaspoon pepper
1 cup cooked cubed potatoes
1 cup cooked lima beans
In large kettle or Dutch oven brown sausage pieces according to package directions. Remove sausage. Add butter, onion and celery until soft.

Meanwhile, pour milk into a jar that has a tight lid. Add flour on top of milk. Cover tightly, and shake well to make a smooth mixture of milk and flour. Add bouillon, milk-flour mixture, browned sausage, and remaining ingredients to the Dutch oven. Mix well.

Simmer 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve piping hot and garnish with chopped parsley if desired. Makes 6-8 servings.

Sauerkraut, Pork Chop Casserole

4 thick slices bacon
4 pork chops
1 can (1 lb. 11 oz.) sauerkraut
1 medium onion, sliced
¼ teaspoon fresh ground pepper
1½ cups beer

Saute bacon, remove from skillet and brown chops lightly in bacon fat. Grease a 2 to 2½ quart shallow casserole and lay in strips of bacon.

Drain sauerkraut and fork over top of bacon. Slice onion and rather thick slices and lay over sauerkraut. Sprinkle with pepper.

Place pork chops on top of sauerkraut and push into mixture a bit. Sprinkle chops lightly with salt. Pour beer around chops in casserole.

Bake in 350-degree oven 45 to 60 minutes. Or cook on top of stove, layering the ingredients with cinnamon and serve with warm milk or a fruit sauce. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Cream of Rice Cereal Makes Good Pudding

This country of ours produces many wonderful foods. A finely milled rice cereal cooked with bay leaf makes Different Rice Pudding nourishing and unusual. Topped with milk or a sauce made of canned bing cherries, it is a delightful dessert.

Different Rice Pudding

2½ cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ bay leaf
½ cup quick-cooking rice cereal
½ cup sugar
½ cup blanched slivered almonds

1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs, slightly beaten
In a saucepan, combine milk, salt and bay leaf; scald. Sprinkle in rice cereal, stirring constantly. Cook and stir for 1

Apple Cakes Need No Icing

If sweets become too much of a good thing, then select a simple, non-frosted cupcake as a dessert or snack.

Apple Cupcakes are fruited with dates as well as apples. They're delightfully spicy and textured with pecans. Make them tender by using lard as the shortening, says Reba Staggs, home economist.

These little cakes will keep nicely moist because of the fruit in them. After cooling, store them in a round tin such as is used for fruit cakes.

1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
½ cup cold coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped pecans
½ cup chopped dates
1 cup pared and chopped tart apples

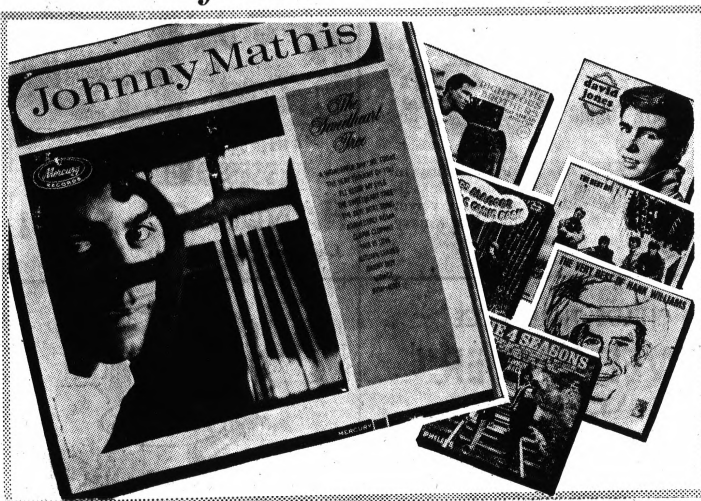

Grease 24 medium muffin pans. Sift flour, soda, baking powder, cinnamon, ground cloves, allspice and nutmeg.

Cream lard, sugar and salt until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Combine coffee and vanilla. Mix dry ingredients with nuts, dates and apples. Fold in dry ingredients alternately with liquid.

Fill muffin pans ¾ full. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 24 medium cupcakes.

Swedish Committee Protects Citizen Rights—Swiftly

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Did that room with the balcony and view of the beach promised by the travel agency turn out to be a dismal pigeonhole in the rear of the hotel?

Did your car break down 20 miles after the garage mechanic had repaired it at three times the extra cost?

Relax — Sweden will see that you get your rights as cheaply and swiftly as possible.

A new Public Complaints Committee is expected to protect the consumer from inferior goods and services of all kinds.

In its first two months, the PCO received about 200 letters and nearly 1,000 phone calls a month from consumers with a gripe. Eventually the committee is expected to handle at least 10,000 complaints a year.

Only about 20 per cent are expected to involve actual claims, however. Most cases probably can be handled by simple advice and recommendation from the committee officials.

CARRIES BIG STICK

Lake Sweden's famed Ombudsmen who protect

Gold Pans Thin

In the 12-month period of the California gold strike of 1849 about 2.5 million ounces of gold passed through buyers' and dealers' hands, yet the average production was barely half an ounce per man, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

citizens from abuse by public officials, the committee has the power to prosecute, but its recommendations will carry weight.

Representing consumers on the committee are members of such organizations as the cooperative movement, the General Trades Union Confederation, motorists' organizations, the Housewives National Association and the Consumers Board.

On behalf of the sellers are the Industry Federation, the retailers, handicrafts and auto dealers.

The 28-member committee, divided into subsections, is headed by Yngve Samuelsson, an impartial jurist with a decisive vote. He has the title director - general and the support of Swedish bureaucracy.

It is estimated that the operation will cost about $40,000 a year.

BONA FIDE COMPLAINTS

Only complaints from bona fide private consumers are accepted, mainly on goods or ordinary repairs and services involving personal property. Complaints must be filed within a year of purchase.

The committee does not accept complaints involving doctors, dentists or lawyers. Nor will it consider cases dealing with rents, insurance or real estate purchases.

Public opinion plays a role, too. If a seller fails to comply with a recommendation, the committee can publicize the case. Newspapers have proved more than willing to cooperate in giving the complaints exposure.

Muskegon Twp. Blocks Merger

MUSKEGON (AP) — Muskegon Township voters Tuesday killed a proposed merger of the township with the city of Muskegon.

Muskegon voters approved the merger 3,131-445, but Muskegon Township voters rejected it 2,059-1,245. Approval of voters in the township and the city was needed before the proposal could be adopted.

The experience of similar organizations in Norway and Denmark has showed that 90 per cent of the cases can be settled directly between the parties.

The committee insists that the complaining consumer first take his grievance to the seller.

SECOND STEP

If that fails, he can lodge his complaint with the committee after paying a fee ranging from $2 for goods valued at up to $20, to $10 for merchandise valued at $400 or more.

This is designed to eliminate trivial complaints.

The committee does not throw any complaints into the wastebasket. Even those that are rejected are placed on file.

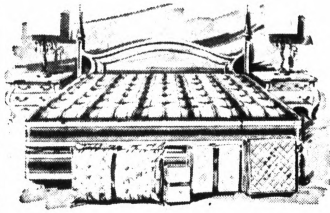

Bean of History

The horse bean is sometimes called the "bean of history" because it was an important food to early civilizations of northern Africa and southwestern Asia, where it grows.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms, only parasites that medical experts may infer 1 out of every 2 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. Tolerant of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it.

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Health Operations to Be Transferred to County VISITOR'S GIFT—Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. (left) accepts a baton signifying governmental authority from Ji-eul Chang (right), a representative of the Seoul metropolitan government in South Korea. Watching the exchange at last night's City Commission meeting is Chang H. Cho, a U.S. State Department interpreter, who is accompanying Chang on a visit of U.S. cities. The mayor presented Chang with a key to the city and other small gifts.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren told city commissioners last night that health department operations which formerly were handled by the city will soon be taken over by Oakland County. Warren said no other city in Oakland County provides health services or keeps sanitarians on the city payroll except Royal Oak which is in the process of transferring its operations to the county.

Warren presented a proposed contract last night to the commission calling for transfer of four sanitarians from the city payroll to the county payroll.

He said arrangements would have to be made to fix the exact date of the transfer.

The transfer was initiated in December when city officials feared the city would be operating under an austerity budget.

CUTS NECESSARY

Asked if the transfer was still desirable although Pontiac is now collecting a city income tax that was then questionable, Warren said, the city should take every opportunity now to cut costs because continuing employment pay raises would

MORE QUALIFIED

But, he said, the sanitarians, all college graduates, some with master's degrees, are more highly qualified than housing code inspectors would be expected to be.

He said the city could hire capable housing inspectors at less wages than those being paid sanitarians.

In other action the commission:

- Approved negotiating a contract with C. W. Luoma Co. of Clarkson for construction of 20 units of intern housing at Pontiac General Hospital.

- Deferred taking action on two bids to conduct a survey to determine where city water is not being billed.

- Accepted the lowest of six bids from Teselski

Wrecking Co. for demolition of houses on South Johnson and Seminole for expansion of parking facilities at Pontiac General Hospital.

- Granted easements to Consumers Power Co. for construction of gas mains along what would be an extended Columbia Ave. from its present terminus to the western city limits.

The commission, in authorizing the manager to reach agreement with the Luoma construction company, rejected five bids received Feb. 29 for construction of intern housing.

The bids ranged from $427,000 to $446,000. The city had expected bids in the neighborhood of $375,000.

Because it was felt the construction cost would be too high, an attempt to cut loss of architects made a number of revenue caused by water leak changes in plans for the housing out of the system without being registered or billed.

CONSTRUCTION PRICE

The manager is authorized to deal with the Clarkson company, which submitted the low bid, to reach a construction price which will be in line with what the city can pay on the project.

The housing — 20 units of town house-type construction — is expected to be built on Menominee between Seminole and South Johnson.

It is hoped that it will enable entire block, except for one hospital to attract medical house, will be cleared for school graduates who must complete intern requirements.

Bids on the water survey were for $18,400 and $17,000.

Director of Public Works and Service Joseph E. Nepling asked a three-week delay in accepting a bid in order to investigate the companies. The survey will be made in thought.

Bids received on the demolition project ranged from $6,010, to $11,911.

Nepling advised that the bid, Teselski Wrecking Co. is currently working on a demolition project in the city and can be relied on.

The contract will call for demolition of 12 houses on South Johnson and Seminole. When buildings are razed and three structures moved, the entire block, except for one hospital to attract medical house, will be cleared for school graduates who must complete intern requirements.

Fossils found along the Gulf of Mexico Texas coast indicate that this area was much more tropical in the distant past than scientists had previously thought.

Ordinance Offered for Volunteer Police

An ordinance providing for appointment of police volunteers and governing their actions was presented to the City Commission last night.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said police volunteers had been appointed under an obsolete 1920 state law.

He said that, when Police Chief William K. Hanger pointed this out recently, the proposed ordinance was drafted.

The commission accepted the ordinance for study.

It calls for the chief to appoint special policemen "as he may deem necessary to perform police duties, in time of special need."

"Special policemen shall not routinely have the general powers of a peace officer, but such powers, including the power of arrest may be specifically granted by the chief, or his designated representative," it says.

The ordinance makes it unlawful for special policemen to use authority, wear the uniform or insignia, or display a badge, except during performance of authorized duty.

Violation of any of the provisions — including one which would make it a misdemeanor to impersonate a special police officer — calls for a fine of up to $100 or up to 90 days in jail, or both.

Kennedy Shifts Aim to Nixon

By the Associated Press

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy—carrying his Democratic presidential campaign into Republican Idaho country—has turned his political guns from President Johnson to GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon, Kennedy told a Pocatello, Idaho, college crowd Tuesday, "has had no new ideas in the past decade. (He) says what we are doing is wrong, but we should just do more of it."

The New York senator's jet-age campaign swung moved into Utah today.

In other political developments: Eugene J. McCarthy faced a mutiny by his top press aides, Seymour Hersh and Mary Lou Oates. But campaign adviser Richard W. Goodwin called the dispute a "tempest in a teapot."

Nixon appeared likely to be able to write his own platform at the Republican National Convention. GOP moderates plan to gather ideas to help shape it, but Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R.-Ill., platform committee chairman, said he suspects their ideas may be lost in the drafting.

Former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace carried his third party presidential candidacy into three southern states—criticizing the major parties and candidate Kennedy in particular.

DRAFT STANDS VARY

Kennedy and McCarthy, both concentrating their anti-Vietnam war policy campaigns heavily on college and university campuses, took varying stands Tuesday on the draft issue.

Liquor-Permit Transfer Nixed

City commissioners voted last night to deny a Class C liquor license transfer of Bob's Bar, 849 Baldwin, to Mrs. Julius Freedman and her son, Irving Allowitz.

The woman and her son had operated a bar in Ypsilanti Township.

The commission voted 6-1 to follow the recommendation of Police Chief William K. Hanger to disapprove the transfer.

Hanger made the recommendation, according to City Manager Joseph A. Warren, because of the criminal record of Mrs. Freedman's husband who had acknowledged he would be working in the bar at least on a part-time basis.

District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson objected to the denial saying that the husband will not be on the liquor license and that Mrs. Freedman and her son had operated a bar for a number of years without any violations.

'RIGHTS DENIED'

"In essence we are denying them the right to engage in a legal business because they might have an employee who has a criminal record."

Hudson said the man had not had a police violation in 26 years.

"After 26 years the man certainly has earned the right to be gainfully employed," Hudson said.

He said that "in fairness and justice to a fellow human being, we should certainly not hold against him something that happened that long ago."

2 NAACP Posts Filled

The Oakland County Chapter of the NAACP this week approved the appointment of Mrs. Joyce Allen, 479 S. Edith, as secretary and Jesse Martin, 482 Thors, as treasurer.

The two positions were filled due to former officers' resignation from the Pontiac area, officials said.

The chapter also issued a statement clarifying the position of its president, James Matthews.

It had been previously reported that Matthews had been replaced as president by Rev. Mathew N. Scott.

Matthews said he remains as president but Rev. Scott, first vice president, will fill in as president during Matthews' absence. The chapter has approved "a short leave of absence due to health reasons" for Matthews, he said.

The State Department press office has the usual requests from reporters to question Rusk before his Saturday departure for a series of three meetings at Wellington, New Zealand, with the foreign ministers of nations concerned with the Vietnam war.

So far, there is no sign he will say yes.

EIGHT A YEAR

During his first seven years as secretary of state — and counting the January meeting — Rusk has held 58 formal news conferences in Washington for an average of about eight a year.

He averaged one a month during 1964, the last presidential campaign year, while holding only five a year in 1963 and 1967.

Comparing this with his predecessors in the top U.S. foreign policy post over the past 25 years, State Department files show:

- Secretary of State George C. Marshall, or his stand-in as acting secretary, held 51 scheduled news conferences in 1948, the first conference it will be his approximately one a week.
- During Dean Acheson's four-year tenure, there were 146 such conferences, or about 36 a year.
- John Foster Dulles held 119 news conferences during his six years as secretary of state for an average of about 20 a year.

PRIVATE MEETINGS

The figures do not include many other public appearances by Rusk and his predecessors, private meetings with newsmen or news conferences outside the capital.

For example, Rusk testified at length before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on March 11-12.

On Feb. 9, he met with a group of newsmen on a background or no-attribution basis, and what he said was subsequently printed and attributed.

On Feb. 4, he went on a nationally televised program with then-Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Next April 15-16, he plans to speak, again on a no-attribution basis, to a twice-a-year gathering at the State Department of editors and broadcasters from around the country.

HEAVY SCHEDULE

Rusk and his aides have given various reasons over the years about why he was not holding news conferences on one occasion or another. The most frequent explanation has been that he had a heavy schedule of other commitments.

But a common impression among reporters covering the State Department is that Rusk doesn't relish on the record question-and-answer sessions on foreign affairs situation with large numbers of newsmen — even though he may enjoy talking with many of them privately.

At his first Washington news conference, on Feb. 6, 1961, Rusk said, "I do hope to have frequent press conferences." He held 10 in 1961, eight in 1962 and five in 1963.

In 1966, Rusk told a March 25 news conference, "I expect to have perhaps some more press conferences than I have had recently." That year he had 10, the following year 5.

Va., divorcee and mother of three, displays the walkie-talkie she plans to use while buried alive in hopes of setting a new world record of 75 days. A Buckingham Palace source says Queen Elizabeth II is expected to make a South American trip in the fall, but no definite date or itinerary has yet been set.

Brazil has expressed its interest in seeing the queen, and an invitation to Chile has been accepted in principle. It would repay a visit by a Chilean president to Britain some years ago.

Negroes Praise Georgia Klansman

Calvin Craig, Georgia's Ku Klux Klan leader, has won praise from some Negroes for his work in Atlanta's model cities program.

One Negro executive in the program said Craig had made excellent suggestions in its development and he also was praised by a columnist in the Atlanta Voice, a Negro newspaper.

"I'm interested in the problems of everybody in the model cities area, regardless of whether they are Negroes," said Craig. "I'm not considering it on a segregation or an integration basis, but on whether people need help."

"It hasn't changed my view on the Klan," he added. "I'm still a Klansman. I still put states rights and constitutional government first, but it's not unusual for the Klan to help needy colored people."

Jim Garrison---Hero or Headline-Hunter?

CAST OF CHARACTERS in Garrison's dramatic presentation include, from left above, Marina Oswald Porter, widow of Lee Harvey Oswald; writer Kerry Thornley; James Hicks, former Dallas bus firm employee; Dr. T. Edward Beckham, a Universal Life Church bishop and singer-actor; and bartender Loran E. Hall, all subpoenaed recently by the New Orleans district attorney. Mrs. Porter said she doubted she could help; Thornley denied ever meeting Oswald; Hicks claims to have heard four shots when he witnessed the assassination. Below, from left, Perry Russo was surprise witness in Clay Shaw hearing, identifying him as Clem Bertrand, one of conspirators he overheard at a party he attended with Sandra Moffat; Mrs. Harold McMain (Sandra Moffat) has denied attending the party; Dean A. Andrews Jr., New Orleans attorney sparked Garrison's investigation by first mentioning a Clay Bertrand, later was found guilty of perjury; David W. Ferrie, former pilot who was found dead after being linked by Garrison to the conspiracy; David Lewis Jr. dropped out of sight after saying he knew five persons involved in the conspiracy; Raymond Cummings, former taxi driver who said he once drove Oswald and Ferrie to a Dallas night club.

BOXES of evidence labeled "Investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy" are carried into Criminal Court during preliminary hearing of Clay Shaw. Result of hearing was that Shaw was ordered held for trial.

TASTE IN AMERICA. By Ishbel Ross. Crowell. $12.50. The title is misleading. The book isn't concerned with taste in the esthetic sense, nor does it have anything to do with the fine arts. It does touch a little on what might be called "the popular taste." But mostly it is larded with such things as fashions, fads, customs, gadgets, recreation and snobbish social quirks.

In other words, it is a sort of quick glance through Pop America, from the 17th Century to the present time. It is heavily illustrated with a huge melange of photos, prints and drawings.

In trying to cover thousands of aspects of everyday life in America through several centuries, the book reads itself pretty thin.

You might say this is a "souvenir book," containing mementoes and snapshots of our popular heritage. As a souvenir album, it cannot be taken seriously as a sociological or historical record.

'Abortion Law Working Well'

Physician: No Mecca Created in Colorado

FLINT (AP) — A Colorado physician said Tuesday that his state has not become the "abortion mecca of the country" since it recently liberalized its abortion laws.

Dr. E. Stewart Taylor, professor and chairman of the Obstetrics Department at the University of Colorado's Medical Center in Denver, added that the new abortion law has proved satisfactory.

Taylor, speaking at the 7th annual Michigan Conference on Maternal and Perinatal Welfare, said of the law that "no one feels it needs to be changed," and he preferred to refer to it as "permissive" rather than "liberalized."

He said it gives the choice of legally terminating a pregnancy up to the patient and that no doctor, nurse or hospital is required to participate. It is entirely up to the conscience, judgment and medical ethics of a given hospital staff, he said, as to "how much, how often and who" shall have an abortion.

224 ABORTIONS

Since Colorado passed the law in May, 1967, there were 224 abortions performed in comparison with 35 known legal abortions in the 12-month period of 1966. This was a nine-fold increase.

Of the 224 referral patients, 155 were from Colorado and the others from other states. He said 115 of the cases, about 51 per cent, were single women. A total of 151 abortions were performed for psychiatric reasons, mostly because of mental depression over becoming pregnant.

The conference was sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society and the Clara Elizabeth Fund of Flint.

Runaway Horse Is Hit by Car

A Pontiac girl's horse had to be destroyed after it was hit by a car in Highland Township yesterday afternoon.

Cherida Barnes, 17, of 650 Homestead told Oakland County sheriff's deputies the animal got away from her and ran onto a car at White Lake and Millard roads. It broke its leg and was given a fatal injection by a veterinarian, deputies said.

Court Date Set for Troy Youth

Robert Wright, 17, of 457 Hurst, Troy, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday to face examination on a charge of fleeing arrest. He appeared before Avon Township Justice Harry Huber yesterday.

The court date was set for 9 a.m. April 18 before Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Bond on the charge has been reduced from $2,000 to $500 and the amount has been posted.

A second charge of being drunk and disorderly will go to a Justice Court jury trial April 30 before Judge Huber. Bond on that count has been reduced from $1,500 to $100 and has been posted.

Wright was arrested March 1 during a student demonstration at Avondale Senior High School.

Man Tries to Cash Stolen Pay Check

One of 26 payroll checks reported stolen in Pontiac turned up yesterday at Pontiac State Bank, 28 N. Saginaw, according to police.

A teller said a man tried to cash a check for $91.00 from Newman Window Cleaning Co., case ended before the Russians caught on to the fakery, or he might have ended up at the bottom of the Potomac River. The State Department declared Valentín Revín, third secretary of the embassy, persona non grata and expelled him from the country.

Humink describes all this French pronunciation. From that monkey business in great detail, came our word "caddie."

Double Agent. By John Humink. New American Library. $4.95. Here is a play-by-play account of a real life counter-espionage case that made headlines a year ago. Humink is a young metallurgist who was approached by Soviet embassy officials in 1961 and eventually recruited as a spy. But of course he was reporting every move to the FBI, which helped him prepare fake information to give the Russians.

Fortunately for Humink, the case ended before the Russians caught on to the fakery, or he might have ended up at the bottom of the Potomac River. The State Department declared Valentín Revín, third secretary of the embassy, persona non grata and expelled him from the country.

Golfing Queen

Mary Queen of Scots was the first known woman golfer. Educated in France, she called the game "caddie."

A Look at TV

Excellent Views of Life

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — Two extraordinary programs, vastly different in mood and approach, brightened the television channels Tuesday night. One showed the miracle of life and the other the tragedy of age.

They were ABC's thoughtful and tender story of "How Life Begins," and CBS's "Don't Count the Candles," a perceptive and disarming reflection on the loneliness and frustration of advancing years.

The story of the beginning of life came in the early evening period when in many homes, the whole family could view it together. The program began at the beginning—with the sea, and then described the way in which the many forms of life developed. With Eddie Albert narrating, the audience was led to a point where it seemed quite natural to see a bitch giving birth to a litter of puppies, a calf being born, and then, a smiling young woman giving birth to her baby. It was done quietly, without dramatic flourishes. The result was tremendously effective.

UNUSUAL PICTURES

Film showing flowers opening and chicks emerging from their shells are fairly commonplace, and so are the birds and bees stories. Although all these were present in the Jules Power production, there were other, unusual illustrations of the creation of life—the fetus of a kangaroo emerging from the womb and struggling to find its mother's pouch; the birth of a stream of tiny sea horses emerging fully developed from the body of a could bear to sit through it.

It was not a happy hour, but it was a moving one for those who developed from the body of a could bear to sit through it.

Lucille Grounds Desi Jr. on Grounds of Poor Grades

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Lucille Ball's son Desi Arnaz Jr., 15, moans to his mother: "Nag, nag, nag!"

"I don't care what you call it, that's the way it's going to be!" his mother says. "You're going to bed at 10 o'clock. And you're not going out because you're grounded."

"Grounded?" I asked his mother who was blinzed, not to be confused with blitzed, in Lindy's the other afternoon.

"Yes, he got a D in Spanish in his second year in Beverly Hills High School, and D is failing. You'd have thought he had a little aptitude for Spanish, wouldn't you? But he's too busy with his music and his drama classes."

I write this strictly as a sop to the youth movement — to show all of you that even when kids are big money-earning celebrities, they are victimized by tyrannical parents who make them study, which of course is unnecessary, since they are smart enough already.

"Desi and Dino and Billy started out very young, when Desi was only 12, and they got all this adulation — this uncalled-for adulation — with the little girls screaming, and it's very hard when they come back home for us to get them back to normal," Lucille said.

"How do you do it?"

"By sticking to the rules and telling him he's not going out during school months no matter how big a hit he was with his group when he was out on the road."

"And do you get away with that kind of petticoat government in your house?"

"Well, of course!" she replied firmly. "There's not any question about it."

Lucille, who came here with her husband Gary Morton to promote her movie, "Yours, Mine and Ours," and a new TV show in which her children will appear, will probably be surprised to find herself celebrated for her disciplinarianism as a mother, but it strikes me that she deserves it.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Gretchen Wyler (now at the Maitland) will add glamour to a Senate committee meeting; she'll testify April 2 on behalf of a bill to punish dog-nappers. Barbara Harris is testing for a film, "Paint Your Wagon."

Dustin Hoffman (of "The Graduate") is growing a beard for "Midnight Cowboy" . . . Diahann Carroll's wanted for the role of a sexy psychologist in the film "Gore and I" . . . The Photoplay magazine Gold Medal awards have been postponed indefinitely, because host Merv Griffin's ill.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A bore soon finds that his supply of conversation exceeds the demand."

EARL'S PEARLS: Some married men enjoy ballet because it lets them watch females who, for two hours, never say a word. "I've been married two years," Joan Rivers says at the Downstairs Room, "and I still have wedding presents I haven't used yet—dishes, pots and pans, an iron . . . That's earl, brother."

Blood Donor Hits 8-Gallon Mark

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Lucien Marks gave a pint of blood to the Red Cross Tuesday, raising his total blood contribution to eight gallons. That's four times the amount of blood in an entire adult circulatory system.

Marks, an employee of Brown Co., which manufactures paper, has given his blood over a period of 19 years. The Red Cross said he is the first Kalamazoo County blood donor to give eight gallons.

In India, where many voters are illiterate, the turnout was 53 per cent for the national election in 1962, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

NLRB Ignores Individual Rights---Griffin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said Tuesday the National Labor Relations Board is all too willing to sacrifice the rights of individual employees to further the power of giant labor unions. He was the opening witness before a Senate subcommittee, headed by Judiciary subcommittee, Griffin Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., legislative, the wishes of the horses.

Real Estate Boom Hits the Mediterranean

(EDITOR'S NOTE—It's boom time on the old Mediterranean Sea. Seaside residents not only bask in the warmth of the Mediterranean sun, but swim in the tide of money coming in, from tourists and royalty. Sunbathing bodies stretch out lazily from Spain to Yugoslavia along what is becoming more and more the "money-making Mediterranean.")

ROME (AP) — It has always been popular, of course. The Phoenicians were the first to yacht there. Ancient Athenians loved to stroll its shores. Cretans constructed resort palaces near the water.

The chariot of old Rome — Caligula, Nero, Tiberius and others in the fast old Roman crowd — fancied nothing better than sunbathing at seaside villas.

The Romans adored the Mediterranean and fondly called it "Mare Nostrum" — our sea.

Today's prosperity and the jet plane have turned the Mediterranean into "Mare Omnium" — everybody's sea, producing a spectacular international real estate boom that is fast changing the old look of the Mediterranean's islands and shores almost beyond recognition.

SWINGING PLAYGROUND

From Major of Spain to Mykonos in Greece, from Italy's Elba to Tunisia's Djerba, the Mediterranean has become a swinging playground and money-making venture.

Throughout the area the new affluence brought by the boom is working vast sociological changes. Sardinian shepherds who were on the edge of starvation of a few years ago have become wealthy. Spanish fishermen and Turkish peasants have become prosperous landlords or hotel keepers.

Americans, English, Germans, Scandinavians and Frenchmen are rushing to get in on what looks like a sure proposition.

Not everybody is happy about the new look. Every year the coasts and islands are becoming more crowded. It is nearly impossible to walk through the streets of Capri during the summer because of the mass of people.

TOO BUSY

At Postiano, Italy, a simple fishing village 10 years ago, the lovely little beaches are hidden from sight in the summertime by a blanket of sunbathing bodies. The locals don't fish anymore. They are too busy making money.

Spain today glistens with affluence. Much of it began right at the Mediterranean shore.

From the Spanish border all the way down to Gibraltar the coastline has become a belt of wealth. The early comers who bought and built villas 10 years ago could do it for as little as a thousand dollars. The same would cost $20,000 now — if the land could be found.

It is much the same along the French and Italian rivers. Fifteen years ago the Cote d'Azur was still relatively uncrowded. The Italian coast, from Ventimiglia down to Amalfi, was largely innocent of modern development.

DEMAND IS GREAT

Today the demand for land for private homes and for resorts is so great that the French government is undertaking a huge program to make the windy mosquito-infested littoral west of the Rhone River amenable to vacationers.

Tourist development has pushed down toward the toe of the Italian boot into traditionally poor Calabria. Businessmen, looking ahead, have snapped up even remote stretches of coastline around the southern coast, already driving prices past the reach of the average buyer.

The range in prices for pieces of coastline or island varies enormously. A square meter of land in an untouched section of Sardinia went for one and a half U.S. cents in 1958. It is 4.80 now.

A good piece of land near the shoreline in Yugoslavia could be had 10 years ago for 12 U.S. cents a square meter. Current price: $20.

SMALL BUYERS

Much of the Mediterranean

real estate boom is generated by small buyers who want nothing more than a permanent pied-a-terre they can relax as they like in the simple privacy of their own sun-washed hideaway.

Much is the result of energetic search by high-powered people wanting elegant but uncrowded retreats to escape the classic Mediterranean resorts that have become noisy and overcrowded.

These new resorts were developed by leaders in the world's jet set. In just a few years they have caught the imagination of the swinging rich, bringing in the beautiful people as guests and a fortune for the founders.

On Sardinia's Emerald Coast the young Aga Khan and a group of wealthy partners bought 38 miles of coastline. That was seven years ago when there was nothing there but scrub and rock, limpid water and fine sand.

ELEGANT SHOPS

They built simple-looking but elegant shops, houses and hotels in white adobe, producing a millionaire's paradise that draws guests such as Princess Margaret and her husband Lord Snowdon, Princess Grace and Prince Rainier — who are busily modernizing their own Monaco to take advantage of the boom.

Another royal resort is Porto Ercole on a craggy peninsula jutting out into the sea between Rome and the island of Elba.

Prince Alessandro Borghese is the driving force there. Several years ago he showed it to Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands. The Dutch Royal family now spends the summers there.

Before the boom it was a pleasant but dull little fishing port. A discotheque and a floating nightclub have opened. So have boutiques and restaurants. Now on summer nights, with the crowds and the cars and the beauties, Porto Ercole jumps.

FILLED WITH CROWDS

The French Riviera has become so "democratic" these days that the elite shun it during the high season, when it is filled with crowds, crowds and crowds.

Even staid old Monte Carlo, last bastion of faded Victorian elegance, has yielded to the rush.

Prince Rainier, in a bid to get in on the boom, is turning Monte Carlo and Monaco into glittering resorts of high-rise apartments—some up to 35 stories—and developed beach areas.

If the boom gets to be too much there is still lots of untouched land on the African coasts. The Tunisian island of Djerba, famous for its good skin diving, already has caught on.

The boom has started spreading from Djerba to other coastal areas, particularly around Gabes, Hammamet, Sousse and Monastir. The price of land in those parts is still rarely above a dollar per square meter. Coastal areas in Algeria and Morocco are practically empty.

Tangier, at the entrance to the Mediterranean opposite Gibraltar, is enjoying a comeback after the sudden decline that occurred when the government ended the city's favored financial status. The villas have recently started to acquire a certain snob value among the jet set, possibly because compared to the rest of the Mediterranean area Tangier is out enough to be in again.

WHO, ME? — Bright-eyed and bushy-tailed, this squirrel doesn't heed sign as he eats lunch in a New York City park.

Ticks Tickle Him; Wife Is Counter to Clockwise Hobby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's been ticking, tocking, striking, gonging, ringing, chiming, whistling and cuckooing in very cranny of Harold Moses' apartment except the bathroom now for 30-odd years.

His wife, Marie, bought him his 185th clock for Christmas and, frankly, there's no end in sight.

"Love clocks," he'll say, rushing off to show you a modern German Black Forest owl clock that tells time with its eyeballs.

"Makes me nervous," his wife answers, rolling hers. "It's not just the ticking, it's all the different rhythms, day after day, that really get you."

Tolerant of her husband's hobby, Mrs. Moses claims the bathroom is the only place she can find a minute's peace. She's quick to add, however, that the day is nearing when even that bastion of timelessness will fall.

WORLD TOUR-CLOCKWISE

Yet the clock fever of the retired, 82-year-old manufacturing firm executive has taken him and his wife around the world, visiting museums and clock shops from Japan to South America to Budapest.

"Years ago, when we were poor as Job's turkey, I had a factory job making men's pants," he begins explaining. "And when the machines went kaput, I'd tinker around until I fixed them and finally got this 'thing' in my fingertips."

The "thing" lay dormant until a trip to Vienna in 1933 after the Moses-Rothschild Co. had liquidated its holdings and Moses found he had time on his hands.

He remained after one tour through the Uhr Museum and, for $1, was shown devices never given public display.

WILD ABOUT 'EM

"Guess I went hog wild over those wonderful clocks," he says.

Since then, his collection, including watches, just grew, and grew, and grew.

His approach to collecting—"Clocks that will make somebody ask questions. Like, 'where did you get this?'"—has made him the envy of his fellow hobbyists who belong to the Bluegrass chapter of the National Association of Watch and Clock Collectors.

A synopated walk through his living room tells why. There's:

- The "hickory, dickory, dock" clock with time told by a white mouse inching its way up the face, only to slide down again after reaching midnight.
- A handmade English pocket watch, circa 1750, with four cases, each snugly fitting over the other and made of silver, tortoise shell and brass.
- A Turkish railroad watch used by conductors.
- An elephant clock with the pendulum swinging from the pachyderm's trunk.
- A "Franklin Delano Roosevelt" clock made as a campaign item for the late president.
- A wall clock dated 1650 with wood works, wood pegs for the gear teeth and apparently American in origin.

TURTLE TELLS TIME

There's even a clepsydra, a water clock dated 1521, which operates on magnets with a turtle floating in a metal container which tells time as the turtle floats by.

"They're all priceless to me," he says. "No I can't quote any worth."

There was a time, his wife recalls with a grimace, when Moses would spend 5½ hours daily keeping every clock wound—until Mrs. Moses searched for a bit of moleskin to attach to the clapper of the Oliver Cromwell.

Our new improved Beep-Beep.

We hoped you would take to the Road Runner. But this is ridiculous. It's already our hands-down success of 1968.

But we're not taking any chances. Beep-beep. Here comes another Road Runner. The one you asked us for. This Road Runner is a hardtop.

Naturally, it has Road Runner's four-speed floor shift. The heavy duty suspension and brakes. The red line wide treads. And the beep-beep horn. All standard.

But the hardtop interior is fitted with premium vinyl. It makes for an overall nicer feeling inside.

Still, you wouldn't call Road Runner posh. But the price isn't, either. Go see the new hardtop. Or the original best selling sport coupe.

It's just a nice friendly bird with a 383 cubic inch V-8 and a high lift cam. And from the way things look, it's not about to go extinct.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Today we are umpires in a dispute between North and South. Playing at four spades, South had to follow while West cashed his ace and king of clubs. West shifted to a spade and South was in, but he had no way to collect 10 tricks.

JACOBY

He had lost two clubs, and now proceeded to give up a heart trick. Later on this allowed him to discard a diamond on dummy's fourth heart, but he still had to concede the setting trick to the ace of diamonds. North felt that South's four spade call was bad. He pointed out that with 16 high card points he had shown admirable restraint in not going right to four spades himself, and for proof of his brilliance North pointed out that South did make three spades.

South felt that he would have been an abject coward if he hadn't gone on to game after North's three spade bid.

We have had trouble deciding. South was right and North was wrong. South had nine high card points, five pretty good trumps, both red kings and a doubleton club. He would have been a coward if he had stopped short of game after North bid three.

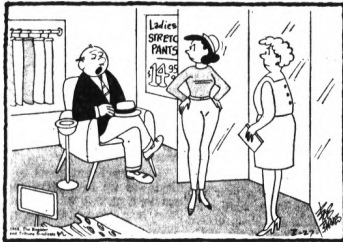

North was correct about one thing. He did have 16 high card points. What North overlooked was that he could take those three points represented by the queen and jack of clubs and give them away. They weren't worth anything to him!

A good bidder knows that point count is generally accurate, but he also knows that cards, not points, take tricks. North could see that the queen and jack of clubs had no trick value at all.

That is, he could have seen if he had done anything but add points. West had bid a club and East had raised him. They surely held both ace and king of clubs for their bids, and that queen and jack were just so much waste paper.

By United Press International
Today is Wednesday, March 27, the 87th day of 1968 with 279 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1923, Japan resigned from the League of Nations.

In 1962, President Frondizi of Argentina was deposed as military forces took over.

Greasy Spoon

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—A statewide survey of food service establishments in Pennsylvania showed that 45 per cent of the owner-operators had opened their restaurants or taverns without any prior experience in the food service field. Forty per cent had been in their present location less than six years, while 70 per cent of their employees had held more than one job in that period. The survey concluded that job satisfaction was minimal among both groups and that, as one owner put it, "it's just a way of making a living."

It's A Girl Watchers' Paradise

Natives Scurry To Popular Market Place

A delightful kaleidoscope of confusion permeates the colorful open market where purchasers may find everything from a ripe tomato to a priceless antique. Native artisans display their bright-hued pottery and woven baskets to tempt the tourist looking for just the right souvenir to take home.

Ink Blue Pacific Waters Caress Sun-Kissed Beach As Natives And Tourists Bask In The Beauty

In Acapulco, A Polychrome Sunset Dancing On The Cineramic Horizon Convinces Viewers That The Best Things In Life Are Free

Pontiac Press Spectacolor Story By Edward R. Noble

Acapulco's gleaming beaches and balmy breezes beckon winter-weary North Americans south of the border in ever-increasing numbers. From a sleepy fishing village of 5,000 population, the seaport has grown since World War II to a retreat for 50,000 pleasure seekers each winter.

Even raindrops are members of the Acapulco Chamber of Commerce and no rain cloud has dared to darken the azure-blue sky during the tourist season (November through March) in more years than the natives can remember.

Contrary to the popular belief the resort is not the private playground of the moneyed jet set. There are accommodations to fit every pocket-book.

In addition to water-oriented sports, visitors to Acapulco may enjoy Mexico's national pastime of bullfighting, jai alai, hiking, golf and tennis. And no travelogue would be complete without a mention of the intriguing bargaining game which tourists and natives practice in the open market, each trying to best the other.

Tornado Hits State; Damage Is Heavy

MONROE (AP) — The first tornado of the season sliced through a four-mile stretch of Monroe County, four miles north of Monroe, causing extensive property damage and barely missing a subdivision yesterday.

No injuries were reported. The twister was accompanied by high winds, hail and some rain.

The twister, violating the high temperature and high humidity conditions which normally tip off weather forecasters, tore down three barns and 10 storage sheds before slamming into a greenhouse. It tore the roof off the building, causing $5,000 damage.

"It got real dark and I saw this twister moving and swirling around, picking things up," said Victor Staelgraeve, owner of the greenhouse. "It was maybe 20 to 25 feet off the ground."

The funnel then ripped the roof off the special education building of the Monroe County Intermediate School District before slamming into the Frenchtown Township fire hall, tearing off its roof and knocking one wall into the fire rig.

MISSSES SUBDIVISION

Newsman Dave Bagnall of the Monroe Evening News said the twister barely missed a nearby subdivision of some 30 homes.

He said the tornado tipped over a mobile home, which careened into a parked car, which kept the mobile home from striking a house.

A U.S. Weather Bureau spokesman said there was a report of a funnel aloft over Monroe County, but added it never was detected on radar equipment.

The Weather Bureau in Toledo reported tracking the funnel on radar, however, and reported the radar report confirmed by visual sightings by three persons.

The Weather Bureau spokesman said the tornado was "very much in the nature of a freak" because the meteorological conditions which usually spawn tornadoes weren't evident yesterday.

RINGING CONGRATULATIONS—Susan Thomas, a member of the Jills, a choral bell-ringing group, chimes congratulations to James McCracken, who is accepting the Pontiac Area United Fund Employee Giving award for Grinnell at the Pontiac Mall. McCracken, assistant manager of the store, accepted the award for five consecutive years of good giving at yesterday's PAUF breakfast. Fifty-seven firms and organizations were honored for outstanding employee giving in last year's campaign.

Area United Fund Honors 57 Firms, Organizations

Bells rang yesterday for 57 firms and organizations who received awards for outstanding giving during the past Pontiac Area United Fund campaign.

Representatives accepted plaques for first-year awards and brass shingles to add to plaques earned previously to the sound of a "bell-roll" provided by the Jills, a choral bell-ringing group of Bloomfield Hills High School students.

Awards were given to firms and organizations whose average gift of full-time employees was at least $18 and at least $9 per part-time workers.

A total of $1,030,174.60 was collected in the drive.

Top honors went to Hughes-Hatcher-Suffrin, the firm whose employees gave the highest amount per employee for two consecutive years.

Organizations receiving awards for five consecutive years of outstanding employee giving include Grinnell Brothers at Pontiac Mall, Pontiac Area United Fund, American National Red Cross Oakland Region and J. C. Penny Co.

Four-year givers to receive awards were Hughes-Hatcher-Suffrin at Pontiac Mall, General Motors Acceptance Corp., Visiting Nurse Association, Family Service of Oakland County and Catholic Social Services.

Organizations receiving three consecutive years of giving awards were Fred Sanders Co. Winkelman's at Tel-Huron, Baker's Shoe Store in Pontiac Mall, Donnell's Hair Stylists at Pontiac Mall and UAW Region 1B.

Also receiving awards were Pontiac Schools-Central Administration, Pontiac Irving Elementary School, Boy Scouts of America, Urban League of Pontiac and Michigan Children's Aid Society.

Those receiving two-year awards were Osmon's Stores, Pontiac Travel Service

'Pressure Put On for Dem Funds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran civil servant charged today that he and other high-level employees of the Maritime Administration were summoned to a business hours meeting last week and pressured by their boss to contribute to a Democratic party fund-raising dinner.

The employee told the Associated Press the meeting was called by James W. Gulick, acting head of the Maritime Administration, for 79 members of his staff who had received invitations to the $50-a-plate dinner to be held April 4.

Gulick reportedly told those present that contributions were not being sought by arm twisting. But, the source said, Gulick added:

"If you want to make sure that you have a nice, clean file — and you can be sure that a file is kept somewhere — you know what to do."

Gulick denied he made such a statement.

'NO PRESSURE'

"There was no pressure, no solicitation and whatever they wanted to do was in accordance with their own positions," he said.

"I'm inclined to think that this is a small minority that wants to think this way. I'm just at a loss to understand why."

John J. McCarthy, deputy general counsel for the Civil Service Commission, said his office was checking into the allegation that contributions were solicited and that if the findings warrant it, "We will investigate up to the hilt."

The invitations to the dinner, being given by Rep. Michael Kirwan, D-Ohio, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, for President Johnson, went to 12,000 persons, including government personnel with a paygrade level of GS15 and above whose salaries range from $18,400 up.

Frost Must Go First

County Gears for Spring Road Repairing

The Oakland County Road Commission's employees — some 450 strong — are gearing up for the annual springtime assault on county roads.

Richard Kincaid, assistant maintenance superintendent, said the commission is getting ready to put out "everything we have."

The commission operates equipment which cost originally $3,387,500. Due to depreciation, present value is estimated at $1,558,400.

incaid said efforts to restore roads weakened by winter will get serious when most of the frost comes out of the ground.

He said while much of the equipment

Upgrading Licenses of Taverns Rejected

By BOB WISLER

A request by several tavern owners that the City Commission consider approving upgrading of their tavern licenses to Class C status was turned down by commissioners last night. The vote was 3-2.

After hearing a petition by Charles Austin, owner of Tom's Bar, 928 University Drive, president of the Oakland County Licensed Beverage Association and executive board member of the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association, District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson moved to follow recommendations made by a special citizens committee in 1964.

The recommendations would lead to upgrading all taverns at the rate of three per year. Taverns are allowed to sell only beer and wine. Class C bars can also sell "spirits." "Spirits" refers to any alcohol over 16 per cent by volume.

Hudson's motion was supported only by District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., District 6 Commissioner Wesley J. Wood and District 7 Commissioner James H. Marshall voted it down.

District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan abstained in the vote, although according to the rules the commission operates under an abstention is counted with the majority. District 1 commissioner T. Warren Fowler was absent due to illness.

'NOT READY TO ACT'

Taylor said the commission was not ready to act on any such request until after the April 15 general election.

Dugan said the matter of reclassification first came up 14 years ago. He said that although the present system is "very unfair" the commission "has never been able to come to agreement" as to how the method of upgrading would work.

Hudson said the commission "has not stepped up to its responsibility to the tavern owners."

"This request will not add one additional outlet," he said. "It's perfectly within our realm to grant the request."

Hudson said it was an injustice not to grant the request and to claim that "the issue of politics is a reason why action can't be taken at this time."

Austin said seven bar owners present at the meeting represented 100 years of business in Pontiac. He said the owners were legitimate small businessmen, "not hoodlums, castoffs or operators of illegal businesses."

HUD Guidelines Debated by City

A federal report from the Department of Housing and Urban Development touched off debate among city commissioners last night as the value of federally financed programs.

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 2, said the city may have to consider getting "out of all federal programs."

Irwin suggested that HUD was exceeding its authority in setting guidelines for implementing the city's workable program.

The workable program — a plan adopted by a community to eliminate causes of blight — is required by the government to receive federal funds in a variety of federal programs.

Pontiac's was approved by the federal government two weeks ago. It was submitted for approval in September.

FEDERAL AIDE COMMENTS

John E. Kane, assistant regional administrator from HUD's Chicago office, reported on the certification. Among his comments:

• Progress reported in bringing substandard dwelling units into compliance with the minimum standards housing code... were disappointing. This does not appear to be reasonable progress in a program to eliminate blight and substandard conditions.

• "Pontiac does not have a satisfactory comprehensive community plan... because of the lack of a current public improvements program and zoning ordinance and map."

• "Pontiac does not have neighborhood analyses which meet workable program requirements."

Kane said that at the next application for re-certification the city should submit a public improvements program, zoning ordinance and map, should complete items necessary for acceptable analyses, should submit membership lists of a citizens advisory committee and a minority housing committee plus reports.

He said programs for these committees and should give attention to the following:

• Report the progress achieved in the community's efforts to adopt an open-housing ordinance.

• "It is recommended that the statistical report of relocation results for all families displaced by governmental action be provided in the next submission."

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said

Occasional Rain Expected Tonight

Partly sunny skies with high temperatures in the 60s will give way to occasional rain and thunderstorms in the Pontiac area tonight. Lows will be in the 40- to 47-degree range.

Townsmen's outlook is variably cloudy and a little cooler with a chance of showers mainly in the morning. The prediction for Friday is partly cloudy and mild.

Winds south to southwest at five to 12 miles per hour will increase to 15 to 25 miles per hour this afternoon and tonight.

Precipitation probability percentages are: today 10, tonight 50; and tomorrow 40.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded prior to 8 a.m. was 41. The 1 p.m. mercury reading was 62.

County Airport Land Cost Takes Off

By JEAN SAILE

Land purchased Jan. 9 for expansion of Oakland-Pontiac Airport cost county taxpayers $35,000 more than it might have, records on file at the Oakland County Courthouse show.

The deal turned a one-day gross profit of $35,000 for two area residents. It grossed the previous owner a $90,000 profit.

The land involved is 39.8 acres north and west of the present airport. In 1967 it was assessed by Waterford Township for $5,400—not quite one-fourth of market value, according to the township's assessment formula.

The price to the county was $150,000.

Under purchase since 1963 by W. Glenn Wade Jr. and his wife, Helen, of 4196 Nearbrook, Bloomfield Hills, the acreage is described as being flat terrain, inaccessible to main roads. It is directly south of Lake Williams Gardens subdivision in Waterford Township.

Wade gained clear title to the property in two transactions on Dec. 6, 1967, at a total cost of $25,000, according to warranty deeds on file at the courthouse.

Another warranty deed shows that on Jan. 9 the property was sold to Louis C. Liteau and James G. Hartrick "each an undivided one-half" at a price of $115,000.

On the same day the land was resold by Hartrick, Liteau and their wives to Oakland County. The price listed on the deed is $150,000 — an apparent profit of $35,000.

Hartrick, an attorney with offices at 801 S. Adams, Birmingham, and a former assistant Oakland County prosecutor, said an agreement to purchase the land had been signed with the Wades "in the middle of March 1967."

Hartrick's associate in the transaction, is owner and operator of Airport Service Line, Inc., 431 E. Wilson. He is a former official of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the county board of auditors who was authorized in the 1967 county budget to make the purchase, said: "We know

House Is Near State School Aid Bill Okay

From Our News Wires
LANSING — Passage of a multimillion dollar public school aid bill was likely today in the State House of Representatives as the Senate continued to dispatch its half of general fund appropriations bill to the House.
The school bill was fattened $5 million by the House over the amount recommended by Gov. George Romney.
Representatives scrambled to get the school aid figures firmed up in time for local districts to know how much money they will have for contract talks with teachers.

The senate sent $88.8 million in fiscal 1968-69 spending bills to the house yesterday and was likely to send a few more today. It was the earliest in years that such bills had cleared either house.
Sent to the house yesterday were bills to pay obligations of state agencies that exceeded their budgets this year, for $25.6 million for the Department of Education next year, and the first of three bills for building projects to total $72.3 million.

NO PAROCHIAL TRY
In the House, the school-aid bill reached the brink of passage without any effort of backers of "parochial" to hook their $21 million program for state aid to parochial school parents on as an amendment. They said they might try to do that later, however.

Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, House Education Committee chairman, estimated the school aid measure would earmark about $74 million from the state general fund for public school aid, a $59.9 million increase over current levels.
Poverty-stricken and low-valuation school districts were to get the most of the increase if the bill, approved by two House committees, wins House and Senate approval.

Meanwhile, the House agreed yesterday to put off until next week a vote on a bill which would legalize greyhound dog racing in Michigan.
Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, introducer of the dog bill, said he was close to the needed 56 votes already and added he thought he would have a majority by next Wednesday.

Birmingham Linguistics Workshop Is Planned

BIRMINGHAM — A linguistics workshop for elementary foreign language teachers throughout the state will be held on two consecutive Saturdays, March 30 and April 6.

The two-day Foreign Language Elementary School (FLES) workshop, sponsored by the State Department of Education, will take place at Baldwin Elementary School, 150 Chester.

Mrs. Louise Couture, Birmingham Schools coordinator of foreign language, and four elementary school teachers will be conducting the workshop, designed to help teachers improve their methods.

Local teachers who will be assisting in the workshop are Mrs. Ruth Lowmaster, Pembroke School; Miss Kay Waller, Beverly School; Mrs. Beatrice Nelson, Harlan School; and Miss Christine Rasmussen, Pierce School.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The board of directors of the United Home Owners Association of Bloomfield Township has voted to disapprove the use of state income tax refunds or any other county funds for the purchase of additional land at Pontiac airport and the construction of a new jail.

In a letter to Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, the association took the position that other county needs such as roads, welfare and libraries, should outrank the priority of the two projects.

Avon Man Killed in Pontiac Crash

An Avon Township man was killed in Pontiac yesterday when his car skidded on snow, hit a parked car, throwing him to the ground.
Then the car caught his body under a wheel.

Dead is James M. Crawford, 26, of 3135 Eastwood. He was killed about 10:15 a.m. after his car skidded on snow piled along the curb on Auburn near Carriage Circle, police said.

The car went into a skid and knocked over a sign pole before hitting a parked car. Police found his body under the wheel. They jacked up the car to get him out. The victim was taken to Pontiac General Hospital, where he was dead on arrival, police said.

Airport Land Cost Takes Off

had set $3,840 an acre as a fair price and that the county had actually purchased the land for $3,750 an acre.

Kenneth VanNatta, county superintendent of lands and grounds, said this appraisal figure was reached on the basis of other land transactions around the airport since the county took over the facility in January 1967, and since the Airport Master Plan for future development was made public last fall.

VanNatta affirmed that his office had attempted to contact Wade several times during the winter, but that the former owner was in Florida and the county's messages were not answered until shortly before Christmas.

It was at that time that VanNatta and Murphy said they learned that Hartick and Linteaue had purchased agreements with Wade for the property.
Murphy said that Hartick and White had begun negotiations with the county on the basis of $5,000 an acre.

Said VanNatta: "We are in a difficult position. We sit on two sides of a fence. Everybody gets mad when we don't say what we're going to do, but when the news gets out and land values go up, people get upset because you're spending tax money."

Tax-Collection Rules Okayed

City commissioners last night adopted rules and regulations for collecting city income taxes.
The regulations are highly technical and are mostly for the benefit of employers who are collecting the taxes, Edward Gallagher, director of finance, said.

The city has yet to receive any of the money from the income tax collected by employers. Payments from the employers are due in quarters with the first due April 1.

The city income tax was declared valid by Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer early this year but an attempt is being made to reverse the effect of Beer's decision.

Attorney Robert D. Cunningham and Robert D. Coon appealed to the State Appellate Court to reverse a decision of Judge Beer that they could not intervene in the case which brought about the decision that the tax is valid.

COUNCIL TO INTERVENE
The attorneys on behalf of tax-opponent Cecil C. Mullinix were not allowed to intervene in the original case.

The case was brought about by two city employees who petitioned the court to refrain from setting a referendum election on the tax question.

Only attorneys for the city and the employees were allowed to speak on the validity of the income tax and the validity of petitions which sought a referendum election on the tax question.

The appeal by Cunningham and Coon is still pending.

City Fiscal Crisis Looms--Hudson

City Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson, District 4, warned last night that city income taxes, expected to handle city expenses this year and next, is not a long-range solution to the city's money problems.

"If the present trend continues, we are going to be in a financial crisis two years from now," he said.

Hudson said he made the prediction on the basis of salary increases of the past two years.

He said if the 15 per cent pay increases of this year to police and firemen continue and similar pay adjustments to other city employees follow the present trend the income tax will in 1 1/2 to two years "be inadequate to provide the services expected by the people."

Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, District 2, said the commission could not state that at the present time, not knowing how much the income tax will bring in this year and not having received any tax money collected by employers yet this year.

SCARE TACTICS
"We're not in such hard straits that we should continually try to scare the people," he said.

Irwin suggested that the city would not give pay raises in the future comparable to those of the past few years. "We're not going to do this every year."

"Whether we want to face the facts or not," Hudson said, the reports from the administrative staff — "who in this case are the experts" — indicate revenue from an income tax will not long be sufficient.

He said the city is utilizing a "rather obsolete state law" in enforcing the building codes. "We all recognize we have to have more enforcement," he said. Warren said additional inspectors will be required to conduct an adequate program.

GEN. CREIGHTON W. ABRAMS

Secrecy Cloaks General's Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Relative secrecy surrounds Gen. Creighton W. Abrams' Washington visit, generally considered a prelude to an announcement he will succeed Gen. William C. Westmoreland in Vietnam.

The 53-year-old Abrams, Westmoreland's top deputy, arrived unannounced Monday night and his presence went largely unnoticed until a newsman spotted him in a Pentagon hallway yesterday.

Although the Defense Department didn't say so immediately, Abrams had just returned from a White House lunch.

Confirming his presence later, the Pentagon said the four-star Army general was in Washington to report on plans to strengthen and modernize the South Vietnamese army.

Abrams has been mentioned prominently as the officer who will fill Westmoreland's shoes by July 2 when the present Vietnam commander becomes Army chief of staff.

The White House shed little additional light later in confirming that Abrams was the President along with unnamed "senior advisers" and would be in Washington a day or two.

Exam April 9 in Parts Theft

Pontiac police have arrested a suspect in the theft of parts worth more than $27,000 from General Motors Truck and Coach Division, 600 E. South Blvd.

The parts were taken from the plant March 20 in a truck stolen at the plant.

John D. Belev of 50 Sheridan, an employee of the plant, was arraigned yesterday in Pontiac Municipal Court before Judge Cecil McCallum on charges of stealing the material and the truck.

Examination was set for 1:30 p.m. April 9 and bond at $1,000.

Police said that, early on the day of the theft, employees noticed a truck being loaded at a dock at the plant. The truck was found empty later in the day in the downtown area. Missing were 2,340 clutch bearings and 38 12-volt alternators.

Police said none of the missing parts have yet been recovered.

Irwin criticized the reference to open-housing ordinance saying "it implies that this is a goal we must seek."

He said Congress has been unable to pass an open-housing law. "Where does HUD have the authority to demand the City of Pontiac make progress in this area?"

CONTROLS EXTENDED
Irwin said federal controls are being extended to such an extent that, "maybe our local form of government is due to be totally obliterated."

He suggested the city should do without federal programs and "resolve the problems ourselves without turning over our responsibility."

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. called the report "typical of government red tape. They try to set up standards on a national basis."

No changes were reported in any of the 20 precincts, according to Pontiac school officials.

The millage increase passed 3,342 to 3,303. The bonding proposition was approved 3,488 to 3,137.

Added Charges for New Homes

Avon Service Costs Up

By JEAN SAILE

AVON TOWNSHIP — The price on any new home served by township water and sewage systems, once they are completed, jumped about $3,000 yesterday. The increase results from the new water and sewage disposal rate ordinance passed by the Township Board.

It becomes official two weeks after being published.

The new ordinance reads, "All new construction must pay the debt service charges in cash."

Time payments for both services, in which costs may be spread over 40 years, is for existing homes only, according to terms of the ordinance.

Financial consultant William Hettiger of Stratton Associates confirmed that existing commercial, industrial and apartment owners must pay the new costs when they connect to the township system.

Connection costs also are detailed in the ordinance.

CHARGE EXTENDED

The capital charge of $350 per unit for water and for sewers applicable to homeowners has been extended for other types of property usage. (See related story below.)

Lateral benefit charges — $900 to homeowners for water and $1,150 for sewers — are increased for other types of property as follows:

For water service, the $900 unit charge takes care of the first 80 front feet of property and $180 is charged for each additional 20 feet or less of abutting property.

For sewer service, the $1,150 unit charge takes care of the first 80 front feet of property and $230 is charged for each additional 20 feet or less of abutting property.

New minimum quarterly water charges range from $7.50 per 1,800 cubic feet of water for a 3/4 inch meter to $67 for a 4 inch meter. For more than 1,800 cubic feet the charge is 40 cents per 100 cubic feet and for more than 3,600 cubic feet the charge is 30 cents per 100 cubic feet.

HYDRANT CHARGES

Hydrant charges were fixed at $20 per year. The sewage treatment rate was fixed at $3.75 per quarter plus 25 cents per 100 cubic feet of water used in homes with a metered water supply. Homes without a metered water supply will pay $10 per quarter.

Rates for all other premises are to be established by the township board.

No connection date deadline for water was set but Hettiger reaffirmed that a property owner has one year after services become available to connect to a sewer line.

The ordinance provides for the collection of fees by a lien against the property if necessary.

Hettiger said legislation authorizing construction of the Clinton-Oakland Interceptor line provides for a township-wide tax if needed to pay for the facility.

TAX NOT NEEDED

Supervisor Cyril Miller said under the provisions provided by the ordinance he saw no reason such a tax is needed.

"We're way ahead," he said.

Hettiger said he believed revenues would actually be greater than needed to meet annual interceptor payment.

Trustee William McCullough stressed that the system is designed to be self liquidating in cost.

The fact Avon is the first to get going on a system of laterals and charges can stand to its advantage, he said.

Brandon Township Tax Meeting Has Standing Room Only

By TOM GRAY

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — "If you feel your assessment is too high, then you should go to the board of review. And if they can't help you, and you still think it's too high, then you should go to the State Tax Commission."

That statement by Township Supervisor Richard Wilcox perhaps best characterized an open meeting here last night, as Brandon citizens aired their complaints about increased taxes.

No one's assessment, or equalization factor, or tax, was changed at the meeting, but many residents became better informed about the workings of local, county and state government.

Wilcox and Herman Stephens, director of the Oakland County Equalization Department, fielded questions from the 125 citizens who jammed the township hall.

Some of the questions were easy, such as "Why aren't the roads any better in Brandon with the taxes we pay?" Wilcox referred the question to the Oakland County Road Commission, explaining that the commission collects gas and weight taxes for road improvement.

UNVARYING ANSWER

In response to queries concerning individual assessments, Wilcox gave an unvarying answer, telling citizens to appear before the board of review and then, if failing to receive satisfaction, to appeal to the state.

After a number of other questioners had asked whether the board of review in the township would have the time necessary to hear all complaints on assessments, Wilcox said the board members had agreed to allow people objecting to their assessment to record their names at the open meeting.

The names, the supervisor continued, would be listed with the review board, so that citizens could go on to contact the state commission without further delay.

OTHER QUESTIONS WERE MORE DIFFICULT

LOGIC CHALLENGED

One resident challenged the logic of hiring an appraiser from outside the township to assess property values. "Why have someone come through here and assess our property?" he asked.

Wilcox said the appraiser was qualified and certified, and added that the Township Board thought it necessary to hire a professional appraiser to insure uniformity in assessments for all residents.

Some residents expressed a simple inability to pay the new taxes. "My valuation has gone from $7,700 to $10,500," said one. "And next year it's going to be $15,900 — my taxes are going from $420 to $650."

"I've been here for 33 years, and I'm still farming, still trying to make a living. But I can't do it under these circumstances."

Another suggested that responsibility for taxes is on the citizen: "We are at fault. We should be at the annual meeting Saturday, not to criticize these people (township officials), but to help them. I've been here for several years and I've never lifted a finger to help them."

Access Details Delay Rezoning for Walled Lake Development

WALLED LAKE — A decision on rezoning 61 acres on Maple and Decker for apartments, business and a hospital has been deferred for further study by the planning commission.

Farmington Twp. Awards Contract to Pave 2 Roads

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The contract has been awarded for the paving of parts of Power and 11 Mile. The work will be done by D. J. McQuestion and Sons, who had the low bid of $191,610. The cost will be shared half-half by the county and the township through its general budget.

The project is for Power from 10 Mile to 11 Mile and for 11 Mile from Power to Orchard Lake roads.

Work is expected to be completed by early October, reported Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

No objections were raised by 20 residents who appeared at the public hearing to determine the necessity for a water project for Franklin Forest subdivision. A hearing on financing is to be set.

REIDENS WANT DATA — The same residents, however, said they wanted to know more about a road project for their subdivision at the public hearing on the necessity of the project.

The hearing on costs awaits more information from the engineer, said a township spokesman.

Roads Group to Meet

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — The local chapter of WHAR (Why Have Aways Roads?) meets tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Township Hall, 265 N. John.

WHAR is the countywide roads protest group headed by Ben East of Holly.

At a recent joint meeting, the commission and City Council called for the review of plans for the parcel on the southwest corner of Maple and Decker.

The chief concern of the bodies was that plans didn't indicate entry and exit routes, reported City Manager Royce Downey.

He explained that the commission and council prefer a limited access because of the heavy traffic on Maple.

The commission is planning to meet with landowners and developers Lorne Olsen and Robert Carey and report back to the council as soon as possible, said Downey.

Olsen and Carey, certified public accountants practicing in Birmingham, have plans to construct 300 apartment units on 20 acres, general business on another 20 acres, and a hospital on the other acreage.

The land is now zoned single family and multiple unit residential.

Pay Is Changed for Fire Fighters

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — At a special meeting of the Township Board last Thursday night pay changes were made for the township's volunteer firemen, it was disclosed today.

Clerk Mrs. Erich Kurschat said firemen will now be paid $1 for each practice meeting, and the previous rate of $3 for the first hour and $2 for each succeeding hour on fire calls has been extended to a flat $3 an hour on calls between midnight and 6 a.m.

A raise of $50 for the assistant fire chief was also granted with the idea that it would be paid to Robert McCullum, according to Mrs. Kurschat.

McCullum denies that he is assistant chief.

He said he has rejoined the department only temporarily and that he will refuse the money if it is presented to him. He said he is accepting no salary at all for his work at the present time.

Proposed School Issue, Plans to Be Reviewed

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The proposed school bond issue and plans for the new high school will be reviewed at the Scotch School PTO meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the school at 810 Commerce.

Members of the board of education speaking will be President Leonard Grossman, Secretary Earl Krep and Trustee Jack H. Shuler.

Also slated to talk are Dr. James Neubacher, cochairman of the citizens committee for the new high school, and Roger Garvelink, principal of the present high school.

Troy Blocks Taller Tower

TROY — The City Commission has concurred with the planning commission in denial of a tower extension request from a local radio station.

Jaymar Broadcasting Co., owner of the WHFI structure, had asked permission from the city to add 65 feet to the 306-foot tower, located at Rankin and Souter.

City Planner George Peck said the company had obtained approval from the Federal Communications Commission and the Federal Aviation Agency, but the tower was in conflict with restrictions of the city.

"The property on which the tower is located is zoned for light industry," Peck commented, "and the zoning ordinance does permit such facilities as radio, microwave towers and such as conditional uses."

One of the principal conditions, however, he continued, was that any tower be situated on a parcel of land large enough so that if it fell, it would fall on its owner's property.

TOWER TOO HIGH

On this basis, Peck said, the WHFI tower is too high. At one point, the property line is only 111 feet from the structure, while the farthest distance between the line and the tower is 262 feet.

In other business, the commission:

• Approved an updated copy of the South Oakland County Mutual Aid Agreement, which allows law enforcement agencies in one community to assist those of another if requested. The revised agreement, according to City Clerk Kenneth Courtney, includes Farmington and Farmington Township, and has some changes in wording to conform with latest state laws.

• Approved a proposed division of Precinct 13, due to increased population. The number of people living in the precinct has jumped from 1,138 to 1,492 since January, Courtney said.

• Approved the rolls for two special-assessed paving projects. Totalling $227,000. One, on Austin north of Maple, is estimated at $107,100 total and $11.76 per front foot. Estimated total for the other, on Heide north of Maple, is $120,100, at $25.29 per front foot.

Circuit Court Gets Pole Injury Case

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A 44-year-old woman here was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday on the charge of willful and felonious injury of a telephone pole.

The suspect, Mrs. Virginia Clapp of 3434 14 Mile is free on $3,000 bond, set by Justice Christian Powell. A Circuit Court examination has not been set.

Mrs. Clapp was arrested March 1 after she and a woman companion allegedly tried to sever guide wires of a telephone pole when a lineman refused to leave their property, according to police reports.

Firm Sues Troy in Water Dispute

TROY — A dispute over a water main assessment has resulted in a court suit involving this city.

The party initiating the civil action is the Saxony Land Co. According to City Attorney Stanley Burke, the amount of money involved is about $7,000.

When the water main, which is located on Wadley adjacent to Mount Vernon subdivision, was laid, Frank Hill, owner of some undeveloped property lying within the special assessment district, asked the city to assume his part of the assessment, Burke said.

The city agreed, the attorney continued, subject to the stipulation that when the land was developed, the owners would repay the amount of the assessment.

When Saxony began development, the city sent the firm a bill, which was paid, Burke said. But the development company is now suing to get the money back.

SUMMONS NOTICE

The City Commission, upon receiving notice of the summons to Oakland County Circuit Court, directed Burke to represent the city and to enjoin Hill as a witness.

According to Burke, the only written record of the agreement between the property owner and the city is in the minutes of the commission.

Game Prizes Have Hostess Asking Advice

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am planning a bridal shower for a girl friend and am inexperienced at this type of party. I plan to give a prize to both the bride-to-be and to the winner of each game. My question is — must I give duplicate gifts or may I give the guest of honor kitchen gadgets, etc. and the winner something else?

I feel that a gift that would be most useful to one who is to be married would be useless to the married women that have been housekeeping for years and to the single girls. If it is proper to give different prizes, must they be of the same value, or may I award a better gift to the guest of honor?—Amy

Dear Amy: The hostess, and every guest who comes to a bridal shower brings the bride a gift and there is no reason that the guest of honor (the bride) should receive additional gifts after each game. The only ones who should be given prizes, are those who win the games.

If, however, in your community it is customary to give a prize to both guest of honor and winner, they should be of approximately the same value, but they need not be the same item. Choose a few presents appropriate for the bride, and select the others according to the age and marital status of the guests.

BEST MAN

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is to be best man in a wedding party. What are his financial responsibilities (if any)? We know that he is expected to pay for the rental of his tuxedo but is he expected to pay for anything else?—Mrs. R. M.

Dear Mrs. M.: Your son has no other financial responsibilities except to share in the cost of the ushers' gift to the groom and to send his own gift to the bride. One of his duties, incidentally, is to give the clergyman his fee or contribution, but the money for this is supplied by the groom.

A light touch is needed for the cleaning job of these delicate pieces of antique china. Mrs. William Aebersold of Illinois Avenue has learned just the right technique through years of caring for them.

Today's Woman

Spirit of Christmas Still Clings

BY JEANNE NELSON

The William G. Aebersold's front door has just got to boast the area's oldest live (or close to it) Christmas wreath still in operation.

To suspicious looks from visitors, Mary Aebersold simply turns on that glorious smile and explains she isn't giving up until the last needle falls.

"The Christmas spirit is something very special and I want to hold on to it as long as possible," she says.

This sort of reasoning might explain why, when everyone else seems to be moving out to the suburbs, the Aebersolds recently did just the opposite. The whole family is delighted with the move, she relates, and is convinced that this urban atmosphere has added a new dimension to their way of life.

In addition to the intangibles, Mary adds, the house itself is such a joy with all its space. Their former home was a neat but small stereotyped ranch in Waterford Township, according to this vivacious wife of a Waterford Township school principal. The new residence is a rambling English Tudor on Illinois Avenue.

SPARE TIME

Although home and family take up the largest part of Mrs. Aebersold's time, she simply isn't the type to shut out all the other exciting things around her. Last year she worked a demon volunteer job for Meadow Brook Theatre, distributing posters all over town and selling tickets from a booth in The Pontiac Mall.

Although she hasn't received her assigned tasks yet for this year's Festival, she has a feeling they may be along the same lines.

For a good many years, she was extremely active in the Lakeland Players, both on stage and behind the scenes. She also taught a class for preschoolers and is still the Sunday School superintendent for Christ Lutheran Church.

Her sewing so far has been confined to clothes for Julie. But knowing the vigor with which she attacks projects, it wouldn't be surprising to learn she had graduated to "bigger things."

The Aebersolds love to entertain, and Mary's favorite way is a small dinner party where guests are treated to her now-famous chicken with Mandarin orange sauce.

Somehow she also finds the time to do her husband's typing for the Ph.D. degree he is working on at Wayne State University.

The newest project of this dark-haired beauty is a selling job in a woman's specialty shop three evenings a week. Besides the real bonus of earning extra income, Mary is delighted with the fringe benefits, one of which is learning more about fashion, a subject she finds fun and fascinating.

Make Fine Pair

They're Both Mad—at Each Other

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Roy and I have been going together for three years. We're not kids — we're both in our fifties.

Roy has mentioned marriage several times, but nothing definite was said about "when."

I always suspected that Roy could still be interested in other women, although he kept telling me I was wrong. Well, I decided to put him to the test, so I wrote him a note saying I had seen him somewhere and I asked him to meet me at a certain place at a certain time. Then I signed another woman's name. I went to the "meeting place" at the appointed time and hid, and sure enough, there was Roy all spruced up and waiting!

Isn't this a sign that he would go to meet another woman if he had the chance?

I finally told Roy that I had written the note, and I could never trust him again. Now he is mad at ME! Don't you think I should be mad at HIM? We broke up over this, but I would still like to know who has the better right to be mad?

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I don't blame YOU for being mad at Roy. And I don't blame Roy for being mad at YOU. Too bad you broke up, but YOU sound as though you deserve each other.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me how to get a message across to my daughter-in-law without creating a scene?

I was thinking of having a friendly little talk with her, but I know she would blab to my son and he would tell me to mind my own business.

The problem is this: Although her children have had fine training in the arts, sports, and music, they have not been properly trained to keep themselves clean.

I am a very fastidious person, and it horrifies me to see what I see when they come to visit me. The children are allowed to jump out of bed, go to the toilet, maul the cat and roughhouse with the dog, and then come directly to the breakfast table without having washed!

I give them each a washcloth, and during the entire weekend it will not be used. When I ask the children if they have washed, I get a long withering look from my son, and a cool silent stare from my daughter-in-law.

These children sit at my table on a beautiful sunny morning, in a charming dining room, and it makes me feel grubby to look at them.

What do you advise me to do? The children are seven and eight years old and already should be trained in the rudiments of hygiene.

SUFFERING

DEAR SUFFERING: It is curious how, feeling as you do, you could have reared a son who was able to forget the rudiments of hygiene as soon as he married. Try your best to conceal your disgust, and make no mention of this sore subject again. Hopefully, the children will survive their unhygienic childhood.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'It's for Birds,' Topic of WNFGA Branch

The Atlantic City, N.J., home of the Bohden Christians was the setting recently for the engagement announcement of Antoinette Carolyn Petinga and Ronald Johnson Frink. Their parents are Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Petinga of Thorpe Street and Mrs. Virginia Frink of Beverly Island Drive and R. J. Frink of Lansing. She is a graduate of The University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia. Her fiancé is a senior at Wayne State University.

"It's for the Birds" is the topic scheduled for the Monday meeting of Foxcroft branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

The 12:30 p.m. event will convene in the Birmingham Federal Savings and Loan, corner of Maple and Lahser Roads.

A speaker from Eastern Michigan Nature Association will present the picture and sound program.

The club recently voted a contribution to the new Bloomfield Township Library.

Moore's Sculptures, Drawings to Be Shown at Institute of Arts

A rare opportunity to see 32 sculptures and 30 drawings by Henry Moore assembled in a single exhibition will be presented by the Detroit Institute of Arts, April 3 through April 28.

Generally acknowledged to be Britain's greatest living artist and one of the most important sculptors of the 20th century, Moore is perhaps familiar to Detroiters through his massive elmwood "Reclining Figure" in the museum's Sculpture

Court and by a small stone version of the same subject, both in the permanent collection.

All objects in the special Moore exhibition, organized by the Smithsonian Institution, have been loaned by the artist, his wife and daughter. They range in date from 1930 to 1964 and show Moore's constant focus on the study of the human figure.

Although portrayed in many forms and moods — reclining figures, leaf figures, helmeted heads, seated figures, falling warrior — Moore's overall image of the figure is one of endurance through time despite the destructive forces of man and nature.

The section of drawings reveals Moore working out his ideas. Often he depicts a natural shape, then reworks it until all possible variations have been explored.

"Carrying a drawing so far that it becomes a substitute for the sculpture, either weakens the desire to do the sculpture, or is likely to make the sculpture only a dead realization of the drawing," comments Moore.

Moore was born in Castleford, Yorkshire, in 1898. Following World War I, he attended the Leeds School of Art on an ex-serviceman's scholarship and, in 1921, won a sculpture scholarship to the Royal College of Art in London, where he later became a teacher.

EXHIBIT

By the mid-Twenties he began to travel abroad and to exhibit in group and one-man shows. In 1932 he started teaching at the Chelsea School of Art.

At the outbreak of World War II he was appointed an official war artist and executed the famous series of air-raid shelter drawings depicting the thousands of Londoners who sought protection in the Underground (subway) during the blitz. To Moore, they were "rows and rows of reclining figures . . . having things done to them which they were powerless to resist."

His first one-man show in the United States took place in 1943 and was followed by a major retrospective at the Museum of Modern Art in 1946. Moore has been awarded numerous prizes and degrees.

He holds honorary doctorates from Cambridge and Oxford Universities, as well as Yale and Harvard. A current distinction is the Erasmus Prize of the Netherlands, given annually to a European for achievements in the cultural, social or scientific sphere. It will be presented to Moore by Prince Bernhard in May when an exhibition of Moore's work opens there.

One of the most recent biographies (1966) of the artist, "Henry Moore: The Life and Work of a Great Sculptor" was written by poet and author Donald Hall, professor of English at the University of Michigan.

Hall will discuss Moore and the meaning of forms at 8 p.m., April 24 in the museum's lecture hall. This event is open to the public without charge.

MRS. GREGORY R. WIESE

Christ Church Is Setting for Wiese Wedding

Christ Church Cranbrook was the setting for Saturday afternoon nuptials exchanged by Janet Elizabeth Oros and Spec. 4 Gregory Robert Wiese, USA.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oros of Winlane Drive, immediately followed.

Cystal white, mousseline de soie over tulle, featuring a front panel of Alençon lace, fashioned a gown for the bride. She wore a matching lace cap to secure her full length veil.

ATTENDANTS

Christina Oros was her sister's maid of honor, with bridesmaids Mary Oros, Mrs. Galen Smith, Mrs. Jay Shimmick and Karen Kreeger.

Standing as best man was Ronald Roach with ushers Thomas Pullen, Lawrence Parrott, Roger Mikulas and Robert Horrop.

Following a honeymoon in Miami, Fla., the newlyweds will reside in San Antonio, Texas where the bridegroom is stationed at Ft. Sam Houston.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter V. Wiese of East Surrey Cross.

"Good night, sweet prince." You too, princess.

"To sleep, perchance to dream" . . . Well, we never were too good at Shakespeare . . . and we're too busy selling bedrooms to see how the question ends, but we know that Hamlet would have felt like a king sleeping in this bedroom. If you look closely you'll see ornate carving on the spindle headboard that equals any fine old European craftsmanship you'll ever see. The carvings on the triple dresser, the upright mirror and the 7-drawer door chest could well grace an imperial palace. Come see this bedroom outfit good prince and princess.
