Grant Increase OK'd for City R44 Project

A grant increase of $580,936 has been approved for Pontiac's R44 urban renewal project.

Congressman Billie S. Farnum and Sen. Patrick McNamara today announced the urban renewal grant, authorized by the Urban Renewal Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA).

Township Acts on Pollution

Waterford Moves to Speed Sewer Project

Waterford Township officials are taking immediate steps to expedite construction of sanitary sewers in the West End Drain area and for extension of city sewer services to a township school site.

Supervisor James E. Seeterlin said that the administration's main objective is to clean up the township's pollution problem, following a meeting yesterday between township, county and city officials.

Pontiac officials noted the City Commission would approve an extension of sewage facilities to Cherokee Hills Elementary School if the township submits a formal request.

The 19-acre school site is located near Elizabeth Lake Road near Pontiac Mall.

INITIAL ACTION

Township officials seek initial action yesterday to draw up a contractual agreement with the County Department of Public Works for construction of sewers in the West End Drain area.

The township requested the DPW to proceed with a resolution to be presented to the Township Board for approval.

According to Seeterlin, about 220 homes and 30 vacant lots are in the affected township area.

FEDERAL GRANT

Seeterlin said the township will apply for a federal grant, asking for 50 per cent of the construction cost.

He observed the remaining funds will be paid by beneficiaries.

Alabama Rests Case Against Klan Member

Fatal Shot Fired From Revolver in Evidence

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The state rested its case today in the second murder trial of Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, a Ku Klux Klansman, after an FBI ballistics expert testified that bullets which killed a white civil rights worker were fired from a gun introduced as evidence.

The gun, a 38-caliber Smith and Wesson revolver, was identified yesterday by an FBI informer as the one used to kill Viola Gregg Liuzzo last March 25.

Marion E. Williams of the FBI criminal laboratory in Washington, said markings on a bullet taken from Mrs. Liuzzo's head and test bullets fired from the pistol bore similar markings.

Williams said empty cartridge cases found half a mile from Mrs. Liuzzo's car on U.S. Highway 80 in Lowndes County also were from the same gun.

Gary Thomas Rowe, 35, Klansman turned FBI informer, testified yesterday that Wilkins emptied a pistol into Mrs. Liuzzo's car after a nighttime high-speed auto chase on the highway.

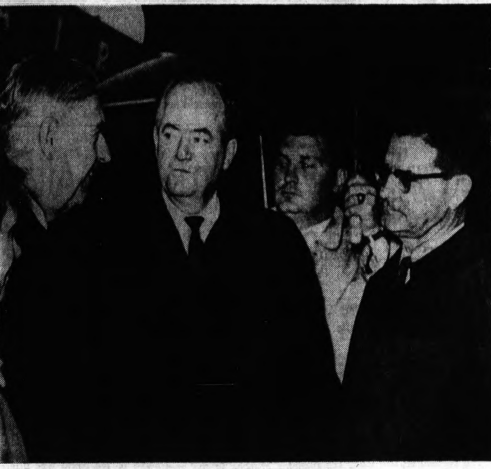

Williams testified that at least five bullets struck Mrs. Liuzzo's car and that three, including the one which killed her, were recovered.

During a lengthy session, Rowe, the state's key witness, said another Klansman, Eugene Thomas, had handed the pistol to Wilkins before the shooting took place.

In cross-examination, defense attorney Arthur J. Hanes questioned Williams on the bullets fired into Mrs. Liuzzo's car.

Hanes, using a diagram, attempted to show that bullets might have also struck a passenger seated in the car.

Mrs. Liuzzo was traveling with a Negro civil rights worker when she was killed.

Senate, Governor? Romney Undecided

TOKYO (AP)—Gov. George Romney of Michigan said today he had not yet made up his mind whether to run for the U.S. Senate next year or for another term as governor.

Romney, one of nine American governors attending the annual U.S.-Japan Governors' conference made no mention of seeking the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

He said some moves within the Republican party to block potential candidates were "silly."

In Tokyo, Michigan Gov. George Romney said in an interview that American demonstrators against U.S. policy in Viet Nam "are reprehensible and should be punished under the law."

Romney is one of nine American governors attending the annual U.S.-Japan Governors' Conference.

4-Year Search for Girl Ends

Indian Woman Held on Kidnaping Charge

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Blonde, blue-eyed Linda Lee Ridings, 6, reported kidnaped in 1961, has been found—after sharing the hard life of a migratory farm worker for four years.

Linda, a bright and cheerful girl, was found living with Ramona Dougherty, 41, a full-blooded Indian, Miss Dougherty was booked on suspicion of kidnaping.

Police detective Clarence Boyd said, "She said at first the child was given to her. Then she admitted taking her." Boyd quoted her as saying, "Yes, I kidnaped her as a baby and took her to Oklahoma."

Boyd said police have been unable to locate Linda's mother, Barbara Ridings, 25, who moved from her last-known address in Los Angeles six months ago.

However, police said a woman who identified herself as Mrs. Ridings telephoned early today from Los Angeles and said she today.

Quits the Klan, Yields Records

'God, Country Come
First,' Says Witness

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Goldsboro, N.C., Ku Klux Klansman resigned from the Klan today in a congressional witness chair, saying he believed God and his country should come before any Klan vows.

Joseph G. DuBois, a used car salesman who said he was treasurer of the Goldsboro Klan, turned over records and documents of his unit to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The committee, which is making a general investigation of the Klan had subpoenaed the records.

In sessions of the investigation earlier this week, higher leaders of the Klan had refused to turn over any records or answer any questions.

DuBois, earnest and nervous, told the committee he had been advised to "stand on the Fifth Amendment." But he said "I think that will not help my record."

"VOWS ARE SECONDARY"
"Any vows I took in the Klan are secondary to my loyalty and integrity to the nation. God is first, then country."

"I have no intention to take the fifth no matter what."

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution provides no one can be forced to give testimony that would incriminate him.

This amendment was invoked by previous Klan witnesses, including Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton of the United Klans of America, in refusing to answer questions.

Rain to Stop —for a While

What's the weather prediction? Will it rain?

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports today's light showers will end by late afternoon leaving skies partly cloudy and temperatures cooler, lows near 58 to 65.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and warmer, and there is a chance of a few more showers by afternoon with highs about 55 to 62. Sunday's forecast is partly cloudy and cooler.

Stresses Need for Classrooms

In a prepared speech to be delivered today at Oakland University, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey pointed to education as the foundation of the Great Society.

"Without knowledge, we Americans cannot live successfully in the society we are building," he said in the prepared text.

He noted, however, that 400,000 more classrooms will be needed in the next five years to care for an additional four million youngsters.

"Today, 54 million young people are in school—one-fourth of our total population," the vice president said. "This tidal wave of enrollment presents a challenge to our 125,000 schools, 100,000 administrators and two million teachers."

"I might add that Oakland is a good example of the enrollment explosion," Humphrey said. "When your doors opened for the first time in 1959 you had several hundred students; today you have several thousands. And in the next few years you can expect to double your enrollment."

FAR-REACHING LEGISLATION
Humphrey said that "Under the leadership of President Johnson we have enacted in this session of Congress the most far-reaching education legislation in history."

"These programs will help us to prepare today to meet tomorrow's demands. And they will enhance the educational opportunity here in Michigan."

The speech was one of three scheduled by the vice president during a visit to the Detroit area.

This morning he was scheduled to speak at the dedication of the new $4 million Adlai E. Stevenson High School in Livonia. Tonight he is to speak at the Economic Club of Detroit at Cobo Hall.

In his Oakland University speech, Humphrey outlined the benefits Michigan and Oakland County will receive through legislative acts.

"These programs cost money," he said. "But they are bargains in comparison to the cost of inadequate or incomplete education; to wasted talent and resources."

"Inadequate education leads to unemployment. The high school dropout is twice as likely to be unemployed as a high school graduate, and five times as likely as the college student," Humphrey added.

"Inadequate education leads to poverty: two-thirds of the families in which the father had less than eight years of schooling find themselves locked in economic hopelessness."

INADEQUATE EDUCATION perpetuates itself in future generations. The children of the unemployed and poor become themselves unemployed and poor.

"For these reasons, President Johnson proposed in his historic education message to the Congress that we declare a national goal of full educational opportunity."

Humphrey said that the American people support this goal. "This year, for the first time, public opinion polls show that Americans consider educational opportunities to be their most important domestic concern."

BURDEN OF CHOICE
"The foundations of this Republic rest on a people capable of accepting the burden of choice—a people who can assume voluntarily the burden of freedom."

"Our wealth and power represents freedom's best hope in the world. And our people represent the best hope for humanity."

Big Crowd to Greet VP in Livonia

DETROIT (AP)—Some 4,500 youngsters and adults massed at a Livonia high school to welcome Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey at the first stop on his scheduled round of speaking appearances in the Detroit area today.

The crowd of spectators at Livonia Franklin High School contrasted sharply with the absence of any sizable number of greeters when the vice president arrived at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Humphrey, whose arrival from Buffalo, N.Y., was delayed by cloudy skies and rain, saw only a few officials and dozens of policemen when he walked from his plane to a limousine at the airport.

Humphrey, besides his speeches at Oakland University and Livonia, planned to address the Economic Club of Detroit tonight.

Humphrey extolled the United Nations as a "noble idea" of man capable of resisting all physical force, in his speech prepared for delivery in Livonia.

LIVONIA SCHOOL

The speech keynoteed dedication today of another Livonia high school, the new $4 million Adlai E. Stevenson High School.

IDEA MOVES

"But that nation does not exist that is powerful enough to kill it. For the idea moves forward."

Group at OU Protests U.S. Viet Policy

Among the spectators gathered to hear Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey this morning at Oakland University was a group protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Members of the group knew what they were protesting, but couldn't agree on what course of action they favored.

Led by Bruce Walker, interim chairman and a sophomore from New York, an organization called Oakland Committee to End the War in Viet Nam, passed out literature denouncing the United States foreign policy in Viet Nam.

"Our object is not to agitate," claims one of the group's spokesmen, Les Ebbinger, second semester freshman from Detroit. "But to form concrete alternatives to the war in Viet Nam."

"I have circulated a petition," said Barbara Schaffer, sophomore from Long Island, New York, "and have more than 100 signatures including students and faculty urging the withdrawal of troops."

OPPOSITE VIEW

"We're in favor of the troops in Viet Nam," countered Howard Tarnower of Teaneck, N.J.,

Adjournment Hinges on 2 Major Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress pushes toward adjournment today, still faced with final decisions on federal pay and sugar legislation.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted that Congress would finish its work today, while other congressional leaders said the end would come by tomorrow at the latest.

As the session drew near a close, the Johnson administration saw money needed to start two of its "Great Society" programs when both Houses accepted the decision of Senate-House conferees to drop appropriations requests at this time for rent subsidy and teachers corps programs.

But the action scarcely dimmed the luster of a Congress which has given President Johnson practically every major bill for which he asked.

In both instances yesterday, the Senate backed down in the face of House insistence that funds be delayed until details of the programs can be further worked out.

ISSUES REMAIN

These issues remained to be settled:

• SUGAR. Senate and House conferees meet today to work out differences between the two chambers' measures setting

Tariffs Removed on Cars, Parts From Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proclaimed today an end to U.S. duties on automobiles and parts imported from Canada and took final steps to provide free trade in these products.

The duties will go off after 60 days, but the action will then be retroactive to Jan. 15, the date Canada removed its duties on American auto products.

The United States and Canada signed an agreement last Jan. 16 for this free trade in cars and parts to end what Johnson said "might have led to serious economic conflict between our two countries."

Tech Enrollment Told

HOUGHTON (AP) — A combined fall enrollment of 4,440 on its two campuses is reported by Michigan Tech. The school which has a campus here and another at Sault Ste. Marie, said the figure was a 17 per cent increase over last fall.

man, social and scientific progress.

Humphrey said that two-thirds of all the scientists who ever lived are alive today and this age has already produced twice as much knowledge as all succeeding history.

LEARNING MORE

"The science student today is learning 400 times the amount of new information that his predecessor did only a decade ago."

"Each new discovery in turn triggers other new advances and more new knowledge."

"Yet, our ability to harness new progress for the benefit of all is even more challenging and complex than the discoveries themselves."

"We have the genius to soar far beyond our own imaginations into the distant reaches of space."

But we also have the chance to reach for the human heart, to do what we must to preserve life and make it full and free and beautiful."

A former political science professor, Humphrey said that he is careful about keeping his academic credentials in order by regularly facing campus audiences.

He said that in the past few years he has found significant changes on campus.

"Ten years ago, most students were primarily concerned with their own well-being and security. It was 'Me First.'"

"But this is not true today. This is an era of committed young Americans."

MORE INVOLVED

Today's college students, he said, are less introspective and more outward-looking, less uninvolved and more involved in the political and social issues of the day than at any other time in history.

He told the student body, "You are in the forefront in the battle to restore civil rights, correct social injustices and enhance human dignity."

"Your motivation is, I think, based upon the same desire that has prompted us to seek a Great Society—a realization that today we have the best chance in history to better the human condition."

"And we have our best chance ever of truly becoming an educated and enlightened society."

Liberian Ship Founders in Atlantic Four Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — A Liberian freighter foundered in the Atlantic today, and the Coast Guard reported that 22 of the 33 persons aboard had been rescued.

One body was recovered and three others had been sighted in the 15-foot seas about 640 miles north of the Azores, the Coast Guard said. It said no one was left on the ship.

Gypsies Are Searched

YORK, England (AP) — Police searched Gypsy caravans all along the royal route today after a threat saying Queen Elizabeth II would be shot by a Gypsy as she drove from Tadcaster to York during a north country tour.

Viet Cong Resume Attack on Special Forces Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong made another strong attack on the beleaguered special forces camp at Plei Me today, but the fighting died down again late in the day, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The Communist guerrillas shot down a U.S. Air Force Skyraider, but the pilot was rescued, the spokesman said. Eight Americans were killed in two helicopter crashes in the area Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Viet Cong battered the Plei Me garrison 210 miles northeast of Saigon with mortars, automatic weapons and small arms. A Vietnamese ranger unit fought its way into the camp shortly after dawn to bolster the tough mountain tribesmen who have kept the guerrillas at bay for three days.

U.S. jets pounded the guerrillas as around the camp continuously.

500 CONG

About 500 Viet Cong launched the attack at Plei Me early Wednesday. The camp then was defended by about 300 Montagnard tribesmen and 10 or 12 American advisers.

U.S. helicopters lifted several companies of Vietnamese in Thursday, and U.S. authorities said it appeared the Communist offensive had been blunted.

But latest reports said the Viet Cong remained in positions around the camp in heavy strength and were massing large concentrations of weapons.

U.S. advisers in the camp reported seeing at least 90 enemy bodies in the barbed wire around the camp and on the ground beyond. U.S. officials said the garrison had suffered light casualties.

NEW BARRAGE

The Communists began a new heavy barrage early today, and appear in court on Nov. 2.

The records also showed that Mrs. Ridings was separated from her husband, Herbert, and that she had told police Miss Doughty had a wanted to adopt Linda herself and have her baptized.

Linda came to police attention on Oct. 14, when officer Woody Williams stopped to question a man sitting with Linda in a parked car.

The man, Wilfred Leroy Green, 37, Santa Ana, was booked on Oct. 18 on suspicion of child molesting and released on $500 bond. He was ordered to appear in court on Nov. 2.

In Airplane, Helicopter Two Fly to Freedom in West

BERNAU, Germany (AP) — An East German aircraft mechanic flying an airplane for the first time and a Czech helicopter pilot escaped to West Germany yesterday in widely separated freedom flights over the Iron Curtain.

The helicopter pilot, who said he was a former captain in the Czech air force, flew more than 200 miles from Prague to a U.S. Army recreation center in southern Germany where amazed GIs watched him land in a parking lot.

He told of hugging the tree-tops to avoid detection by Communist radar.

The other hedge-hopping escapee stole a car during plane in the northern part of East Germany and flew it eight miles to a field in West Germany where he made a perfect landing.

"Our petition seeks withdrawal," said Barbara.

"Then the petition doesn't represent the group," answered Tarnower.

"You see," said Walker, "we have no pat policies until the organizational meeting is held."

Between 20 and 30 students organized the dissenting group, according to Ehlenger.

Plane Plunges Near Jackson, Killing Pair

JACKSON (UPI) — A Lear Jet Corp plane exploded in flight and came crashing to earth "like a Fourth of July fireworks" northeast of here last night, killing two test pilots. The jet, belonging to one of Lear's distributors, Robert Graf of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., dug an 18-foot square, eight feet deep crater and pushed the dirt before it more than 50 yards in a wooded area on the north shore of Eagle Lake about four miles from here.

William Lear, president of the jet company in Wichita, Kan., identified the victims as Glen David, about 35, and Larry Banohla, about 35, both from Wichita.

The two pilots were the only ones aboard the craft which was bound for Wichita from Detroit's Metropolitan Airport.

John Kohn, a guard at Southern Michigan Prison here, was on duty when he saw the jet explode "like a Fourth of July fireworks" and come to earth in a flaming crash.

PIECES SCATTERED

The area on the north shore of Eagle Lake is owned by the Michigan Audubon Society. Firemen and State Police said they found pieces of the fuselage about a foot in diameter scattered throughout an area from the spot where the plane crashed.

Russell Morton, who lives on the south shore of the lake and has hunted through the entire area, said he saw the explosion and immediately notified authorities. He directed firemen and troopers through the wooded area.

Russell said all the trees within a mile radius looked like a tornado had hit them.

He said the smaller trees were uprooted and the entire area was covered with jet fuel.

Lear said the plane had just undergone a major overhaul and was not yet ready to be delivered to Graf.

Plane Plunges Near Jackson, Killing Pair

JACKSON (UPI) — A Lear Jet Corp plane exploded in flight and came crashing to earth "like a Fourth of July fireworks" northeast of here last night, killing two test pilots. The jet, belonging to one of Lear's distributors, Robert Graf of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., dug an 18-foot square, eight feet deep crater and pushed the dirt before it more than 50 yards in a wooded area on the north shore of Eagle Lake about four miles from here.

William Lear, president of the jet company in Wichita, Kan., identified the victims as Glen David, about 35, and Larry Banohla, about 35, both from Wichita.

The two pilots were the only ones aboard the craft which was bound for Wichita from Detroit's Metropolitan Airport.

John Kohn, a guard at Southern Michigan Prison here, was on duty when he saw the jet explode "like a Fourth of July fireworks" and come to earth in a flaming crash.

PIECES SCATTERED

The area on the north shore of Eagle Lake is owned by the Michigan Audubon Society. Firemen and State Police said they found pieces of the fuselage about a foot in diameter scattered throughout an area from the spot where the plane crashed.

Russell Morton, who lives on the south shore of the lake and has hunted through the entire area, said he saw the explosion and immediately notified authorities. He directed firemen and troopers through the wooded area.

Russell said all the trees within a mile radius looked like a tornado had hit them.

He said the smaller trees were uprooted and the entire area was covered with jet fuel.

ting property owners in the area, and spread over possibly a 10-year period.

The township and city have an agreement, dating back to 1958, which says the city will provide treatment of waste from the West End Drain area if and when the township installs sewers.

Just recently, the State Water Resources Commission issued an order to the township to remedy drainage problems existing in the area.

The commission requested complete construction plans and specifications for facilities on or before March 1, 1966; complete financing of the facilities on or before June 1, 1966 and to award construction contracts for the facilities on or before June 15, 1966.

would come here to claim the child but did not say just when she would arrive.

Investigators said Linda was first taken to Oklahoma City, where Miss Doughty was born. There, she joined the farm labor circuit, traveling the Midwest.

Los Angeles Police Department records show that Mrs. Ridings reported the child missing in June 1961. She told police Linda and Miss Doughty, the child's baby sister since birth, disappeared the previous March, while she was on a trip to Florida.

The records also showed that Mrs. Ridings was separated from her husband, Herbert, and that she had told police Miss Doughty had a wanted

Fulbright: Policy Vexes U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today a large sector of the American public shares his concern about U.S. Latin-American policy.

In a prepared Senate speech, Fulbright said he doesn't like being told that his criticism of U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic was irresponsible. And he said he does not take kindly to allegations it gave aid and comfort to this country's enemies.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added: "An interesting discussion could be developed as to whether it is my criticism of U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic or the policy itself which has given aid and comfort to our enemies."

He said that his Senate speech criticizing landing of American troops in the Dominican Republic brought a great deal of press and periodical comment. "Much of it favorable, much of it unfavorable."

EXPRESSES CONCERN

But of the more than 1,500 letters he has received, he declared, approximately 90 per cent "expressed concern about the way in which the United States intervened in Santo Domingo."

"This public reaction suggests that a large sector of the American public shares my concern about the Latin-American policy of the United States," he continued.

"Many of the letters I received expressed concern about the role of the Department of Defense and the role of the Central Intelligence Agency in the conduct of American foreign policy."

He can on matters of foreign policy.

AN OBLIGATION

"It is an obligation, I believe, which is inherent in the chairmanship, which takes precedence over party loyalty, and which has nothing to do with the chairman's view," the senator continued.

"Under these circumstances, people in the executive branch I am not impressed with have added."

He criticized lack of Republican debate on the wisdom of the intervention by saying it was his, whether I had the right responsibility to comment "be not to speak."

cause the political opposition, whose function it is to criticize, was simply not doing so."

"It did not because it obviously approved of U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic and, presumably, had it been in office, would have done the same thing," the senator continued.

State Hospital Project Eyed

Area Junior Chamber of Commerce units together with Pontiac State Hospital staff members plan to establish a sheltered workshop at the hospital.

The workshop would provide a more thorough training and retraining program for the patients and enable doctors to learn more about work tolerance and aptitudes of specific patients.

The Jaycees would supply needed materials for the workshop such as tables and chairs.

Proposed activities will include gift-wrapping, simple assembly and sorting jobs.

Jaycee groups participating in the project include Auburn Heights, Davisburg, Holly, Pontiac, Union Lake and Waterford of the United States, he continued.

Representatives from these Jaycee organizations plan to visit the hospital presently utilizing a sheltered workshop to develop ideas for the Pontiac State Hospital facility.

'NOTHING TO HIDE' — Rhodesia's Prime Minister Ian Smith wipes a bit of dust from his eye as he tells newsmen, "We have nothing to hide." He was referring to British Prime Minister Wilson's announcement that he will fly to Rhodesia in an attempt "to avert the tragic consequences" of secession by Rhodesia.

Wilson Will Leave for Rhodesia Sunday

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson will leave this grave problem. The toughest assignment he has faced in office.

Announcing this today, Wilson's office said the prime minister will be accompanied by Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley and five aides, including Wilson's doctor. The party is due in Salisbury Monday.

Wilson messaged Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith Thursday that he planned to fly to Salisbury "in the next day or two" to renew negotiations on the demand for independence by the self-governing colony's ruling white minority.

Wilson said he planned to talk not only to Smith, but also to those who feel over a long period of nationalist visit the Rhodesian capital and

Officials said he would see former Prime Minister R. S. Garfield Todd, who was put under house arrest a few days ago, and African nationalist leaders Joshua Nkomo and Rev. Nkomo. Smith, who has been in detention camps for four months.

Wilson's message was in reply to a letter from Smith asking its 250,000 whites. Smith has threatened to de-throne the colony's new government on the basis of its present constitution and trust Britain's consent. He announced the whites to do right by the Negro majority, Wilson said he had made a decision on the issue, but so far he has refused to make the decision public.

In Salisbury, Smith said he would forgive me if I say the detention or restriction accepted Wilson's proposal to anyone else "whose views I feel over a long period of nationalist visit the Rhodesian capital and

Bench Bid Backfires on Senator, President

SEN. EDWARD M. (TED) KENNEDY's surprise request yesterday to recommend to the Senate Judiciary Committee President Johnson's nomination of FRANCIS X. MORRISSEY for a Federal judgeship ended one of the most sordid political designs to affront the Nation in many a day.

The storm kicked up by the KENNEDY-sponsored nomination of MORRISSEY has been growing in intensity since it appeared on the Senate floor for confirmation, two weeks ago.

Morrissey was nominated over protests by the American Bar Association and the Massachusetts Bar Association. In documenting their opposition, the legal fraternities established that he had twice failed the Massachusetts bar examination before passing in 1944, and has little major court trial experience in that state.

Thirty years ago, MORRISSEY had acquired a quickie law degree at a Georgia "school," later abolished by the state.

But though his legal credentials for the judiciary were negligible, the likable, glad-handing nominee had others far more potent.

He was a KENNEDY henchman.

JOSEPH P., patriarch of the family, had recruited him to help JOHN KENNEDY's first campaign for Congress in 1946 and, after running various chores for the KENNEDYS in the intervening years, he coached Ted through the scion's victorious 1962 campaign for a Senate seat. According to JOSEPH KENNEDY's biographer, MORRISSEY is among the circle of family "retainers, agents and hangers-on."

To the credit of the Senate, it was becoming increasingly doubtful whether Morrissey's nomination would pass the vote forestalled by Kennedy's sudden withdrawal of it. Democrats as well as Republicans, led by scrupulous Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., were solidifying strong opposition to the unpalatable political pill they were being asked to swallow.

It is reassuring to find evidence of integrity in the Senate body as a whole. However, none can be found in Sen. KENNEDY's endorsement of an entirely unqualified aspirant to a high judicial post nor little in President Johnson's nomination of him.

'Fluoridation' Murk to Douse 'Yes' Votes?

Our big neighbor to the south is suffering from a distortion of lucidity in the municipal arena.

The symptom of the affliction is the cloudy fluoridation amendment on which Detroiters vote Nov. 2.

As matters now stand, the City has the legal right to fluoridate its water, and the Common Council has decreed such action for the near future.

But in the face of virtually unanimous endorsement by dental and medical authorities, public health officials and residents of fluoridated cities (Grand Rapids and Toledo are two close ones), the required number of petitionary objects has acted to put the issue on the upcoming ballot under the guise of Amendment A. "Disguise" would be a more apt term.

Since the wording of the amendment was the prerogative of the petitioners, they seemingly are out to accomplish by gliblydecoy what they presumably could by votes.

This is their proposed amendment: "Shall Title 4, Chapter 12, Section 7a of the charter of the City of Detroit be amended to prohibit the adding of fluorine or fluorine compounds to the public water supply in any manner?"

Now, we ask you. If you favored fluoridation, wouldn't you naturally vote "Yes" on that chunk of language; and if opposed cast a "No" ballot?

Ha! In both cases you'd be as wrong as the guy who originally tagged automobiles as but a passing fad.

What you would do is vote "No" if you wanted to vote in favor of fluoridation—and vice versa.

Do we make ourselves clear? The gimmick is, you see, that the city charter already permits fluoridation, but to prohibit it would entail passage of the amendment by a majority of "Yes" votes.

We think that the person or persons unknown who authored Amendment A rate an "A"—for Ambiguity.

If the price of civilization is insanity, as a historian has opined, it seems the world will soon have made payment in full.

New Showdown on Birch Society?

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican policymakers may be headed for a December showdown on the nagging question mark of John Birch Society influence within their party.

The question zoomed into prominence when Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky tied into the Birch Society and said its influence should be bootied out of the GOP.

Morton, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, charged the militantly conservative organization is trying to take over the party.

GOP floor leaders of the House and Senate joined him in declaring the society is no part of the GOP.

The Birch Society promptly denied it has designs on the Republican party. As the Democratic National Committee gleefully noted, society founder Robert Welch said that would be "petty larceny."

EXPECT LITTLE IMPACT
Most state GOP chairmen said they doubt the Capitol Hill denunciation will have any particular impact on the party itself.

"The denunciation was more for the edification of the public than the party," said West Virginia Chairman John Scott.

At last year's San Francisco convention which nominated Barry Goldwater for the presidency, delegates jeered to defeat a platform amendment that would have denounced the society.

Now a similar proposal may face the next session of the Republican Coordinating Committee, a council of party leaders due to meet in Washington Dec. 13.

SEEK DECLARATION
Morton and Michigan Gov. George Romney have said they may seek to have the committee declare itself on the Birch Society.

Goldwater, who has denounced the positions taken by Welch but not the society's members, serves on the coordinating committee.

So does New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has expressed delight at a growing awareness that the John Birch group is trying to gain control of the party.

Goldwater has said he sees no such threat, but he has suggested that Republicans resign from the society and spend their time working for the party.

NOT POTENT FORCE
Most state GOP chairmen agree that the society is not a potent force within the party.

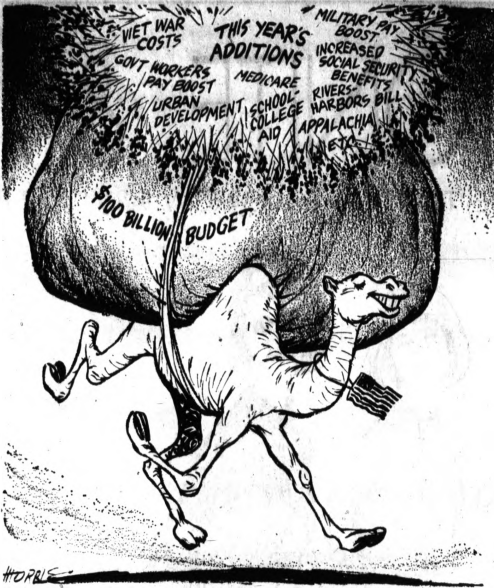

Since his original denunciation of the society, Morton has said there are probably as many Democrats as Republicans in the Birch Society.

Later, he charged that "Birchers of the left" had a hold on the Democrats.

What A Camel's Back!

David Lawrence Asks:

Is Judiciary Reform in Works?

WASHINGTON — Maybe a public confidence in the judiciary system can be retained if it begins to be suspected that the men on the bench are not disinterested but are inclined in their decisions, particularly on economic and social issues, to follow the philosophy of the party in power.

For many decades it has been customary to extol the federal judiciary as impartial, particularly because judges are given life tenure.

While most persons on the bench undoubtedly feel an obligation to avoid any conflict of interest and to abandon any previous political affiliation, the decisions rendered have not always borne out such an attitude.

Bob Considine Says:

Audience Is Spellbound by Air Magnate's Outlook

NEW YORK — Donald W. Douglas held more than a thousand air-space industry people spellbound the other night when he spoke at the Wings Club dinner.

"Full integration of the supersonic air-liner in commercial service appears to be at least 10 years off," said the man whose DC3 paved the way of the aerial roadways.

"These first such aircraft are likely to be followed, not too much later, by a much-improved, second-generation type."

"I believe the subsonic jet airliners — greatly improved versions of those we have today — will continue to play a dominant role in air transport for at least another generation, and possibly through most of the rest of this century."

"This is almost certainly true with respect to air cargo, which by the year 2000 could be the larger part of the business."

HUGE MEGALOPOLIS
He sees a day when the American cities, the megalopolis, become so huge that its workers will commute by air from "suburbs" hundreds of miles away.

Their aerial trains will be short-takeoff and quick-landing jets needing "perhaps only a couple of football fields worth of real estate."

He feels that there will soon be a major breakthrough in fuels used in planes, and that speeds and performance features will be notably increased. He leans toward hydrogen as particularly promising.

"Our accomplishments in space flight make it reasonable to suppose that a ballistic transport may ultimately supply the answer to real high speed, long distance travel," he said in a matter-of-fact manner.

RIGHT ANSWER
"Indeed, if some of the objectionable characteristics of hypersonic flight in the atmosphere prove difficult of solution, (sonic booms, etc.) this approach may provide the right answer."

Domestic air travel will reach 300 billion passenger miles by the end of the century, Douglas predicted, as opposed to 30 billion in 1960.

With more and more leisure time and more affluence will come a sharp step-up in recreational air travel here and abroad.

"Particular attention must be paid to foreigners visiting the United States," he concluded.

"In many ways, ours remains a somewhat insular society; we have done a minimum in the way of preparing ourselves for visitors from abroad."

Lonely Viet Nam Soldier Wants Mail From Pontiac

I was born and raised in Pontiac and went to Pontiac Northern. I am 18 years old and one of the lonely young men stationed in Viet Nam. I'm with the 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne Div., from Ft. Campbell, Kentucky. I arrived here July 21, 1965 and my tour over here is 12 months.

I would like to know if there is a teen-age girl between the ages of 16 and 19 who would like to write to a lonely soldier in Viet Nam.

Complains About Press Coverage of Football

Why do your sports writers feel that Bloomfield Hills is the only football team in the Wayne-Oakland League? It's a little disheartening for the boys on the other teams to pick up The Pontiac Press several times a week to read only about Bloomfield Hills. Whether they are winning or losing they get the big coverage. How about being a little more fair in your coverage?

Says Entire Nation Shares Guilt for Crime

Attorney General Richard Flowers of Alabama asked a TV audience not to blame all Alabamians for a crime charged against Tom Coleman. I believe that the shame and guilt is national as well as sectional. No society should allow states' rights to take precedence over human rights — it creates a climate favorable to the growth of individuals such as Tom Coleman. It might be fair to say that "Society prepared the crime Tom Coleman was accused of."

Many unpleasant things and some very questionable ones have been happening in the Avondale school district. It seems the members of the school board are in the process of dismissing our superintendent, Mr. George Shackelford.

We deplore the situation that exists here and wish to state that we respect and support Mr. Shackelford, who was principal at the Elmwood School before he became superintendent at Avondale schools, and we are in favor of a renewal of his contract.

'Take Over'

The Macomb Daily

In Chicago, an engineering firm employee gripped his teeth on his pipe stem and bitterly mentioned to anyone who would listen that he's "fed up with surety waitresses and Alabama juries" and is going to live in Sweden.

He said "The American people just don't care about each other and the situation is getting worse."

This gentleman is not alone in his thinking, although his fans would be conspicuous by their absence at the send-off.

Right or wrong in the solution — running off to Sweden — the fact remains that there is a general breakdown of moral and spiritual values in this country.

And for the first time in America's history, many are now saying that the building of character is not the concern of the public school.

Some college educators are encouraging sexual laxity on campus. Co-eds can obtain birth control pills upon request. Student demonstrations in favor of four-letter words and other forms of license labeled freedom go unquelled.

Unlike our Chicago friend, not everybody runs away from the situation — most stay and fight.

There are nearly a million teachers in America now committed to the reversal of this trend toward chaos. Through their elected delegates to the National Educational Association's annual convention this summer, the teachers passed a policy bringing to wives, parents resolution declaring that "the and relatives of our soldiers schools should play an important role in the building of moral and spiritual values."

Character — building workshops for teachers are being started and will be multiplied. "Mail Call Viet Nam" with the full blessing of Lt. Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of United States forces in Viet Nam.

Essentially, "Mail Call Viet Nam" is an open invitation to every man, woman and child to write messages of hope, kindness, faith and support to our soldiers expressing the belief that their sacrifice means something very real to those of us enjoying the blessings of freedom.

Since those noisy minorities who find freedom such a handy platform from which to espouse their cause—often using taxpayers' time and dollars to do it on street corners and college campuses — it's eminently fair that the equally long-suffering and much less noisy majority of Americans are now given an outlet to get their message across to the GIs in Viet Nam.

Doctor OrNSTEIN's purely American, purely patriotic little idea of a national mail call to these fighting men should do much to reassure them that they are not forgotten; that they fight with and for all who love freedom and understand the painful responsibilities and duties it demands in preservation.

New Cancer Surgery Plan

'2nd Look' Operation Saves Some Lives

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Novel "second look" surgical operations for one of the worst forms of cancer are increasing survival rates moderately—and also are blazing trails for "better operations" of the future. The operations are undertaken in apparently healthy people.

This was reported to the American College of Surgeons today by Dr. Ward O. Griffen Jr. of the University of Kentucky. He defined a "second look" operation thus:

It's a repeat operation planned virtually from the time certain patients are sewed up after undergoing an initial operation for often high elusive malignancies of the gastrointestinal tract—cancers of the colon, stomach, or rectum.

The latter are cancers which tend to spread insidiously, no matter how extensive the surgeon makes his original cutting.

SECOND LOOK

The "second look" operations are planned for four to nine months later for patients whose tissue removed by the initial surgery shows the cancer has a potential to spread via the lymphatic system.

The second-star operations are based on these statistics:

If a patient has a cancer confined to the colon, his chance for five-year survival after initial operation—the usual criterion of "cure"—is about 75 per cent.

But—If the cancer spreads to the lymph system, chances of survival are reduced to 30 per cent. The percentage is lower for cancers of the stomach and rectum.

NOVEL FACET

The novel thing about the "second look" operations, Griffen told the closing session of the surgeons' convention, is that they are undertaken at a time when the patient is showing no symptoms of cancer.

He said about 50 per cent of gastrointestinal cancer patients have leftover cancer, even though they show no symptoms.

And, of these, the "second look" operations save 15 per cent of those with colon cancer; 5 per cent of the stomach cancers; 3 per cent of the rectal cancers. The "second look" can mount to multiple "looks," because, Griffen said, one woman underwent six different operations before being rid of the seeds of malignancy.

The doctor conceded that the increase in life saving is still moderate, but he said there's at least suggestive evidence that the record is better than it would be if repeat operations were reserved until patients actually develop recurrent cancer symptoms.

Cause Still Mystery in Death of Actress

HIDDEN HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Authorities today sought to determine whether actress Marie (The Body) McDonald committed suicide by gulping an overdose of pills. Los Angeles County coroner's deputies said an autopsy conducted yesterday, shortly after the actress was found dead in her home, "did not reveal the cause of death."

They said she could have died "from natural causes or suicide," or might have taken an overdose of pills accidentally. Foul play was ruled out by the autopsy.

Bottles of pills found on the star's dressing table — over which she was found slumped — were being analyzed although detectives indicated most of them contained vitamins or medication.

Toxicological and microscopic tests also were being made to pinpoint the cause of death. These were expected to take from two or more days.

FOUND BODY

The body of the bosomy 42-year-old actress was found before dawn by her husband, Donald F. Taylor. A neighbor, Dr. H. Bryan Herdeg, pronounced her dead.

Taylor told sheriff's investigators his wife retired about 9:30 Wednesday night. He said she was happy because they were about to launch a cosmetics business.

Miss McDonald's husband said he awakened at 4 a.m. to find his wife sitting at her dressing table. He immediately telephoned Dr. Herdeg.

Taylor said his wife had been convalescing from recent ulcer surgery.

For Watford Pupils

Temporary Bus Service Will Begin

Temporary bus transportation will begin Monday for some Watford Township School District junior high school pupils now walking to school along busy thoroughfares, it was announced at last night's Watford Township Board of Education meeting.

By Don O. Tatro, superintendent of schools, told board members that two spare buses will be used and some bus drivers will make extra trips.

The move is one of several proposed after parents recently complained that their children were forced to walk what they termed "hazardous routes" to school along heavily traveled streets.

The board of education last night also consented to a joint meeting Monday night with the Township board aimed at upgrading traffic safety conditions for school children.

Also last night, the board approved purchase of an elementary school site near Pleasant Lake for $33,224. The parcel of land consists of almost 12 acres.

In other business the board approved:

- An invitation to township clerks to assume responsibility for high school baccalaureate services.
- A request for the Oakland County Road Commission to place a school crossing sign on Elizabeth Lake Road near the Williams Lake Road intersection.
- Authorization for the administration to install gas service at the new Manley Elementary School through the Watford-Kettering High School meter.
- Authorization for the administration to install a storm sewer line from VanZandt Street to Manley Elementary School at a cost not to exceed $3,500.
- The hiring of a home economics teacher and a part-time elementary school instructor.

The moves were recommended by Dr. Tatro.

The board also okayed more pay for coaches and other personnel involved in extra-duty activities.

A resolution was passed inviting citizens of the community to assist their schools during American Education Week, Nov. 7-13, to learn more about the instructional program.

TEACHER RECRUITING

M. Barrett Vance, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and personnel, presented a report on teacher recruiting, emphasizing the competitive salary schedule and other factors instrumental in drawing outstanding instructors to Watford Township.

He pointed out that starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is $5,350 and $5,750 for a teacher with a master's degree.

He noted that the school system employs 719 teachers and administrators, 556 with bachelor's degrees, 146 with master's degrees, 11 with doctorate degrees and four non-degree holders.

He pointed out that starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree is $5,350 and $5,750 for a teacher with a master's degree.

Royal Oak Firm Awarded Contract for OCC Branch

The construction contract for the first phase of Oakland Community College's proposed Orchard Lake Campus last night was awarded to the J. A. Utley Co. of Royal Oak.

The firm's base bid of $5,416,000 was the lowest of four proposals received on the Farmington Township project.

Construction is contingent on approval of a $7 million bond issue from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

College officials said they had reasonable assurance that this would come Tuesday. The bond issue would finance construction of the first phase and part of the second phase.

Construction of the seven buildings in the first phase of the new campus near I-696 between Farmington and Orchard Lake roads is tentatively scheduled to begin next month, with completion slated for summer, 1967.

Also in the realm of campus development, the board last night reaffirmed that existing buildings were needed to meet projected enrollment increases and for continuing education.

Serious negotiations will be continued for acquisition of facilities which are needed by next fall.

In other business, the board voted to discontinue bus service effective Monday after hearing a report of a $2,336 loss in the past 25 days.

Only 35 students regularly used the bus service. All but eight of these were from the southeastern part of the county.

TAKE POLL

James Hobson, vice president, business, said that a poll of the regular riders indicated that all but a few could arrange for transportation.

Hobson said efforts will be made to help solve the transportation problem of those finding difficulty arranging for rides.

Trustee Earl M. Anderson, citing nationwide campus demonstrations against the Viet Nam policy, said he was thankful OCC had no such experience.

"Any youngster too fearful to do his duty for his country has no right to be on a college campus," Anderson said.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

In other business last night, Walter Fichtelmaster, director of continuing education for the college, reported extensive interest of by area industrial and business firms in this program.

Fichtelmaster said he had interviewed several executives in recent weeks in an effort to document needs in planning the continuing education program.

Programs in apprenticeship training, electronics and mechanical technology as well as basic mathematics and data processing were preferred by industrial firms, he said.

Management training, retailing and sales programs were among those cited by business firms interviewed.

POTENTIAL EXTENSIVE

Fichtelmaster said that on the basis of his interviews, the continuing education potential seemed very extensive.

Also last night the board approved promotions of nine faculty members to administrative levels, hired six additional faculty members and three classified personnel.

Latest enrollment figures at the college place the total at 3,860. This includes 2,563 full-time and 1,297 part-time.

Based on a formula equating part-time students to full-time, the full-time equivalent enrollment is 3,242, or 84 per cent of the total enrollment.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Frank Gawrecki, readily admitted to FBI agents that he tore up his draft card, but not because of any objections to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Gawrecki, 24, said he destroyed the card in a fit of temper after the Army rejected him when he attempted to enlist.

He was fined $10 on a disorderly conduct charge.

Army Emerging as Important Force in Russia

By LEON DENNEEN
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — The Soviet army, dependent and decisive political which has long served merely force in Russia.

For the first time in the history of the Soviet dictatorship, there appears to be a clear partition of power in Russia, with the military establishment increasingly acting as an opposition to the Communist party's machine.

The primary reason for this is fear of an armed conflict between the Soviet Union and Communist China, according to some top East European specialists on communism.

Moscow's marshals, generals and colonels are reported to be disturbed by the apparent vacillating manner in which party boss Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin have handled Russia's quarrel with Red China.

They are said to favor a nationalist Russia-first policy.

The victory of the military machine over the Kremlin's civilian politicians was recently conceded by Brezhnev himself in a little publicized but highly significant address.

Speaking to graduates of Soviet military academies, Brezhnev lauded the role of the professional army commanders with an emphasis unheard of since the Communists seized power in 1917.

His comments were in sharp contrast with the course set by Khrushchev, in which the influence of the Communist party's political commissars in the army was given greater stress.

Khrushchev, like his predecessors Lenin and Stalin, undervalued only too well that the guns constituting the power behind the throne of a dictator can easily be turned against him.

In fact, from the very inception of the Red army the Kremlin rulers regarded it as a potential rival for power and tried to keep it out of politics.

However, it was the ill-fated Khrushchev himself who first sought the army's help when he was reaching for power.

He thus created the precedent of military interference in the Kremlin's unceasing struggle for power.

Khrushchev subsequently realized his error — but too late.

He undertook extraordinary measures to subordinate the army to his control.

Then unknown in peacetime—in order to award it to himself.

But having once tasted political power, the top army brass was not going to give in without a fight.

It was the army that raised Khrushchev to the Kremlin's summit and it was the same army that finally banished him into oblivion.

Today, the marshals and generals like Zhukov, Sokolovsky, Koniev, Zakharov and Golikov are at the peak of their popularity.

CANNOT BE PREDICTED

How the army will conduct itself in the future regarding the decisions on important domestic and especially foreign problems cannot be predicted with certainty.

But one thing is certain: Russia's policies, foreign and domestic, can no longer be decided without the army's approval.

Further, the next revolution in the Soviet Union might well be an army coup.

BORN A REFUGEE—Mrs. Maria Gonzales cuddles her 6-day-old son, Armando, in the immigration office at Key West yesterday after they made the water crossing from Cuba. The child was born in Camarioca, Cuba, the port from which refugees bound for the United States depart.

Cubans of Military Age Withheld From Exodus

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — "would be formed into groups of mercenaries and would come here and we would have to get rid of them."

"We prefer that they stay here," he said. Castro's speech was broadcast by Havana radio and monitored in Miami.

In Miami, home of thousands of Cuban exiles the Chamber of Commerce asked chambers across the nation to help find jobs for the refugees. A spokesman said businessmen in Texas, Mississippi, Alabama and Pennsylvania already have asked how they could help.

New arrivals said more than 200 boats are waiting to sail en route to the Florida Keys Thursday ended a two-day lull in the exodus.

Twenty-seven refugees and three crewmen crowded into the 20-foot motorboat Cherokee. Despite 80-degree heat, refugee Pablo Martinez Vera clutched an old brown wool overcoat.

JUST IN CASE "This is in case they send me up North," he said.

The new arrivals brought to more than 1,000 the number who have fled since Oct. 10.

One new arrival, Juvenal Montesino, said, "I just made it; I'll be 14 years old in 10 days."

Yachts 14 to 27 are required to complete their military service in Cuba.

CANNON FODDER "We know that the imperialists enroll Cubans of military age in their army and send them to Viet Nam or Santo Domingo," Castro said. "We are not disposed to make cannon fodder available to these enemies of the people."

Castro also told a Havana rally he feared young Cubans Included are A Capella Choir, "Direct 'em to Defeat"; the band, "Sound of Victory"; and Northern's cheerleaders, "Couldn't Be Prouder."

Others are "A Good Team Comes From Good Exchange," by the International Club, and "Swallow the Skippers" by the junior class.

Senior class is entering "Na Go Go"; Pep Club, "Yer Goose is Cooked," and the Student Council, "Royal Float" on which the king and queen will ride.

Varsity Club will also enter a float.

The annual award presented by the Varsity Club for the best float will be awarded after the game at the dance.

Floats will be judged for originality, theme and crowd reaction.

Dates for Northern's coming play "Macbeth" have been set.

Matinee performances will be seen on Nov. 17 and 19, evening performances to be shown Nov. 18 and 20.

This year, report cards at Northern are being processed by IBM computers. Four copies of the report card will be made.

One copy will be given to the student, the others to go to the homeroom teacher, the student's counselor and the office.

Letters explaining the new system will be sent to parents next week.

Plans for Northern's senior lounge are now being discussed by the Student Council. Last year's lounge was removed to make room for a projection room.

Waterford was one of over 150 high schools from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and New York represented at the convention.

Milford

By RICHARD WIXOM

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. presented an assembly program to students at Milford High School today.

Nearly 200 alumni registered in the student commons before last week's homecoming game.

The senior entry entitled "Pass 'Em By" won the float competition, and the Redskins' victory over West Bloomfield helped round out the evening.

Eric Smith and Donna Anderson were elected chief and princess.

The preliminary scholastic aptitude test was administered to juniors and seniors this week.

St. Frederick High School students are electing a queen and preparing floats for tomorrow's homecoming game at 8 p.m.

Nominees for queen are seniors Diana Carr, Marsha Kluewe, Mary Lou Manion, and Louise Rossman.

Junior representatives are Paula Roselli and Linda Shewers.

Launching the busy weekend will be tonight's homecoming dance "Stairway to the Stars" in the parish hall from 8 to 11.

Special entertainment will include the announcement of the queen and "The Starfishes."

DRESSY ATTIRE

Dressy attire is expected of all.

Saturday's daylight hours will find students of the various classes putting final touches on their floats.

As the floats proceed down Wide Track Drive to Wisner Stadium Saturday night, passersby will see the freshmen's "Whole 'em"; the sophomores' "Victory at Stake"; and the juniors' "Rams on Top."

The royal float, "Stairway to the Stars," created by the senior class, will be the finale of the cavalcade.

CONDUCTING DRIVE

St. Frederick High School is conducting a drive for ads, sponsors, and patrons for their yearbook.

FUN WITH A GUN — Astronaut Walter Schirra, scheduled for the Gemini 6 space flight Monday, playfully shoots his water gun from his simulator spacecraft during a practice flight. He and astronaut Thomas Stafford will attempt a rendezvous and docking with an Agena rocket.

Sukarno Asks End to Violence

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno ordered an end today to destructive acts of vengeance and racialism following the Oct. 1 coup attempt against his regime.

An order issued after a night-long meeting of Koli, the supreme operations command, appeared directly aimed at the army and Communist drive and seeking and burning of Indonesian Communist party offices by demonstrators, mostly Moslem.

Because Communists were involved in the attempted coup, the army has been arresting party members in thousands and Moslems have been demanding the party be abolished. There was no sign that the chiefs of the armed forces, who attended the meeting with Sukarno, would heed his latest attempt to head off acts of reprisal against Communists.

FIRST MENTION
For the first time, Sukarno mentioned racialism in an apparent reference to increasing anti-Chinese sentiments because of Peking's reported backing of the rebels.

Peking has charged 40 armed Indonesian soldiers invaded and sacked the Chinese commercial counselors office here last Saturday. It strongly protested saying the action impaired friendly relations between the two countries. The Indonesian army denied the charge.

Z. E. Subchan, who heads various political and mass organizations against coup elements, appealed to the Chinese of Indonesia to clear themselves from the rebel movement.

Subchan, member of the leading Moslem party, Nahdlatul Ulama, said he realized that it was difficult for the people to tell who among the estimated three million Chinese community is pro-coup.

Gemini 6 Astronauts Get Last Major Medical Check

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford got their last major medical check today before Monday's planned high-speed chase after a floating target in dinner making a final check of cockpit and camera equipment.

The weather report for the rendezvous and docking, the Schirra, a Navy captain, and also will photograph special Stafford, an Air Force major, land and cloud features. Most of the time in air it was dark before the world-flight simulator Thursday — wide tracking network that will sharpening up for the attempt to monitor Monday's flight if and dock with the orbiting Agena rocket. That's the main objective of The Gemini astronauts joined in the one or two-day flight that the rehearsal.

'Farm Worker Need in State to Diminish'

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan will need 40 per cent fewer farm workers by 1980, but the workers will be better paid, better trained and enjoy better working conditions, a labor specialist predicts.

Daniel Stuart, head of the new Michigan State University rural manpower center, said better conditions will result as agricultural employers compete for labor in a labor market dominated by the nonfarm economy.

Stuart also predicted a sharp reduction in the number of interstate and foreign seasonal workers in favor of intrastate and local seasonal workers. There will be a shift away from the traditional family work group toward all-male teams of seasonal workers, he added.

Farm labor management practices will be much improved, Stuart said, and they will include training programs to prepare year-round workers to cope with increased mechanization.

By 1980, there will be 25 per cent fewer farm operators, 50 per cent fewer family workers and only half as many seasonal workers, Stuart said. To offset this, he added, the number of year-around hired employees probably will increase by 20 per cent.

Schools Urged to Act Fast

WASHINGTON—Local school boards and teachers are being urged "to act now" to take full advantage of the historic education bill enacted by the Congress.

President Johnson when he signed the bill said it was up to the local authorities to get plans made at once to avoid any delay in schools realizing "the promise of these new programs."

The billion dollar appropriation bill provides the first funds available under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

All the states have complied with the Civil Rights Act to meet minimum standards regarding desegregation of schools to qualify for federal aid.

But 7 per cent of the school districts have failed to do so. They are mainly in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

SYSTEM PRESERVED
While monies are being used, the law preserves an educational system based on local and state leadership. The aim is to strengthen the foundation of each school in every community of this nation.

The state-by-state allocations of funds total $1,174,887, 454 although Congress did not appropriate the entire amount.

The White House says if the states' programs exceed the amount appropriated in the current fiscal year it will ask for Anguile says.

Teen Driver's Toll Terrible

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 13-year-old boy, who police said was barely able to peer over the steering wheel, drove through North Philadelphia streets this week, chasing cars into alleys and up on sidewalks and side-swiping four parked cars.

The chase came to a sudden halt when the boy, Rodney Smith, rammed a patrolman's car — across the street from Juvenile Aid Division headquarters.

Police said the boy, who had never driven before, had stolen the car.

To Dig Gabon Ore

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—U.S. and European firms will jointly exploit Gabonese iron ore. The White House says if the states' programs exceed the amount appropriated in the current fiscal year it will ask for Anguile says.

QUEEN CALAFIA'S ISLAND, by R. L. Duffus (Norton $5): While everyone else has been talking about a population explosion, California has been having one (though more through migration than through unbridled natural increase).

There are 10 times as many people in the state now as there were 60 years ago, and the number is still increasing.

"Queen Calafia's Island" is Duffus' breezy, informal account of the events that made California what it is today, with some hesitant speculation as to what lies ahead.

Duffus, originally a Vermont native, lived in the San Francisco Bay area from 1906 to 1919, as a student and then as a newspaperman.

He moved on to New York, where he was for years a member of the Times' editorial staff, but he returned to the Bay area when he retired in 1964.

The great changes in the state that he observed in his two periods of residence, and as an occasional visitor in the years between, inspired this book.

GOING AROUND IN ACADEMIC CIRCLES, by Richard Armour. McGraw-Hill. $3.95.

Humorist Armour has written a lot of yuck-yuck books razzing history and literature, from "It All Started With Columbus" to "American Lit Re-Lit."

This time he gives the whole campus world a good going over, with his subtitle "A Low View of Higher Education." You get some idea of its irreverent spirit by noting the dedication, to "Socrates, the first professor to drink himself to death."

His chapter topics range from getting into college to commencements and alumni reunions, and he manages to cover a good many foolish facts about students, housing, food, courses, examinations and books.

A GIFT OF JOY, by Helen Hayes. M. Evans and Co. $4.95.

A chatty, reflective ramble in which the distinguished actress recalls party and parties merrily. From the pages emerges a touching self-portrait of spunk and sentiment.

Reminiscence is split up under such chapter headings as "Charlie" — her late husband Charles MacArthur — "Favorite Performances" and "Gardens." "Shakespeare" and "Solitude."

As she wanders along memory lane, inconspicuously abetted by Lewis Funke as a writing collaborator, the star lets a few cats out of the bag with gentle humor (she hates "The Glass Menagerie" which she acted in 29 lands), but always with an eye-saying spirit that's too out of fashion these days.

State Will Get Near $5 Million to Fight Pollution

DETROIT (AP) — Almost $5 million will be made available to Michigan communities in 1966 for water pollution control, a federal official says.

The money will be provided through the federal Water Quality Act of 1965, Assistant Surgeon General Gordon E. McCullum told the Michigan Association of Consulting Engineers and Land Surveyors Wednesday night.

Under the previous law, Michigan would have been entitled to $2.85 million in 1966, he said.

"According to the most recent survey of the Conference of State Sanitary Engineers, it would cost $2.6 million to correct conditions in Michigan where communities are discharging raw or inadequately treated sewage."

Kowalski Sees No Chance for Amish Bill

LANSING (AP) — House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, apparently ruled out any chance Thursday that state laws will be changed next year to aid the tiny Amish settlement near Camden.

The State Board of Education, meanwhile moved to enforce the teacher certification law after attempts to change the law or work out a compromise with the religious sect failed.

In one of his few public statements on the problem, Kowalski, leader of the House Democratic majority, indicated to a group of high school students that he did not favor making an exception for the Amish.

After an address to a group of Cody High School students from Detroit, one of the students asked for Kowalski's opinion.

DIVIDED OPINION

"We are of divided opinions on this," Kowalski responded. "But other groups—the Christian schools, the Lutherans, the Catholics—are required to meet state standards in their schools, and do in fact meet them."

"Well, how about religious freedom?" the student asked.

STATE STANDARDS

"It's not a question of religious freedom," Kowalski said. "It's simply a question of educational standards and of whether we can allow exceptions to them."

The House Education Committee, which bottled up most of the proposed relief to the Amish, had expressed the same fear of weakening state standards by allowing the first exception.

The Legislature shelved three bills and two amendments in the past session to grant an exemption. None of them mentioned the Amish by name.

After a year of trying and of waiting for the Legislature, the State Board of Education last month offered the parents of the 23 children involved what it considered "a fair, just and reasonable proposal."

SUPPLY TEACHER

It proposed to supply a certified teacher to teach secular subjects in the one-room Amish school, with a member of the sect providing the religious instruction. The school was to become part of the Camden-Frontier School District.

The Amish do not believe in education beyond the eighth grade, and have tried and rejected non-Amish teachers as being "too worldly."

Aussies Make a Solar Still

By Science Service
MELBOURNE, Australia — A relatively simple and cheap solar still developed by Australian scientists can easily produce 34 gallons of pure water a day.

The still works on energy from the sun to evaporate fresh water from brackish or salty water.

It was developed by researchers of the Mechanical Engineering Division of the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization.

The still is designed to use water available in arid lands, the researchers said.

Most arid regions do not lack moisture or water supplies, but the water is usually too polluted with minerals or salts for humans or animals to drink.

SIMPLE DESIGN

The design of the solar still is so simple that it can be built to any size by unskilled laborers carrying out simple instructions. Ten shallow earth trenches, each 130 feet long, are dug on slightly sloping ground.

They are lined with polythene and covered with sloping glass roofs.

As brackish or salt water flows through the troughs, the heat of the sun, intensified by the glass roofs, evaporates pure water that condenses on the inside of the glass and drains off the side into a storage tank.

With virtually no maintenance or attention, a test-run still has averaged 34 gallons of fresh water a day.

Married Men Close to State Draft Call

LANSING (UPI) — Married men probably will be called for the first time in early 1966 to fill the stepped-up draft quota because of the Viet Nam War, Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service said yesterday.

"Our estimates show we won't need to call married men until after the first of the year," Holmes said, even though orders went out yesterday for the December draft to be filled with single men 19 years of age and over and men married since Aug. 26 if there were not enough single registrants available.

"Some states are going to find it necessary to begin calling married men in December. I feel positive we can fill the December call without the married men," Holmes emphasized.

He said the December draft quota of 3,394 men was the largest request made this year and biggest since the early stages of the Korean War.

Holmes also said 7,000 men were being requested to report for preinduction physical examinations in December.

AUTHORIZE CALL
"If sufficient single registrants married after Aug. 26 are not available to fill this call, local draft boards have been authorized to call men married before Aug. 26 who are nonfathers," he said.

"The married registrants are being scheduled for physical examination so that they will be available for induction in later months if local boards are unable to furnish sufficient single men to fill their calls," Holmes said.

A warning went out yesterday to college students "who may be dragging their feet in getting through school" that they may lose their college deferments.

There are about 76,000 male college students in Michigan.

"Unless these students show an extreme desire and intent to complete education in the normal period of time, serious consideration will be given to change their deferments," Holmes said.

He estimated 20,000 of the 76,000 male college students could be affected by the "closer look at deferments."

"Those who would be most drastically affected will be the night school and part-time students," he said.

Schools Pushed on Annexation

The Walled Lake and Dublin school boards will be urged to take formal action to hasten a decision on the proposed annexation of the Dublin School district.

Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of Oakland Schools and chairman of the Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee, will contact school officials today.

Although only eight of the 18 members of the reorganization committee (not enough to constitute a quorum) were present at yesterday afternoon's meeting, Dr. Emerson said he recognized it as a meeting of the committee of the whole.

Walled Lake school officials did not appear at yesterday's meeting, reportedly because of illness, but Dublin was represented.

AREA NEWS

the hands of the reorganization committee.

FINAL APPROVAL

Final approval would hinge on a special election in the Dublin district and adoption of a resolution by the Walled Lake Board of Education.

It was also reaffirmed at the meeting that the Waterford Township Board of Education is willing to relinquish a small portion of its district in the south-east corner of White Lake Township to the Walled Lake district.

Novi District Independent?

County School Head Encourages Officials

NOVI — Now planning expansion, the Novi School District may be given the chance to go it alone as an independent system.

Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland Schools superintendent and chairman of the Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee, yesterday gave encouragement to the hopes of local school officials.

He said he would attempt to schedule a meeting of the reorganization committee here Nov. 4.

The committee is charged with finding alternatives for the three Oakland County districts not presently operating kindergarten through 12th grade programs.

A 1964 state statute abolishes districts not offering 13 years of study.

OTHER SYSTEMS

Annexation to larger districts has been proposed for the two systems affected, Dublin and Novi.

But Novi is in a "unique situation" because it is closer to realizing a full program, Emerson said.

He told reorganization committee members yesterday that they may decide to skirt the idea of connecting the district to another one after hearing testimony from Novi officials.

Novi now is developing a high school program of its own, adding a year at a time.

SCHOOL BUILT

A new secondary school opened in September, 1964, was constructed after the Northville Board of Education warned it was running out of space for Novi students.

Novi now has a kindergarten through 10th grade program and is planning to add a senior high wing to the secondary school next year.

Gerald Hartman, former South Lyon High School principal, was hired this year to head the unit and coordinate plans for the addition.

Also serving as acting schools superintendent, Hartman noted the board of education hoped to have a bond issue for the senior high addition on a ballot in November, although the amount needed has not yet been determined.

HARVEST MOON SPOONERS — Every autumn for the last 14 years, this romantic couple has taken possession of the bench in front of the Stephen Swiatek residence, 3430 Lone Pine, West Bloomfield Township. Waiting for the harvest moon to rise, they are oblivious to the passersby who stop to get acquainted with lake snapshots. In reality, they're just a pair of country—er—pumpkins.

Citizens Due to Learn Cost of Sidewalks

WALLED LAKE — Property owners soon are to be notified of their share in the city's first sidewalk program.

Letters informing them of individual costs were to be mailed today or early next week.

They will have five days after receiving the letters to file any protests.

The city's first sidewalks are to be installed along Pontiac Trail between Market and Spring Park streets.

Cost of the project has been estimated at $9,200 plus 10 per cent for unexpected costs.

CITY'S SHARE

The city will pay half the amount, with the other half distributed among the some 40 property owners involved. Charge to the property owners will be $2.50 per front foot.

Any opposed to the project or their assessments will have five days to file written protests at the city office.

Story Festival to Mark League's 15th Anniversary

WALLED LAKE — Celebrating its 15th anniversary, the Walled Lake Story League will hold a story festival tomorrow. The event is scheduled for 1 p.m. at the Walled Lake Methodist Church, 313 E. Northport.

The public is invited to attend and listen to the tales and music that will be provided.

Guest storytellers will come from the Detroit, Saginaw and Royal Oak leagues. In addition, junior leaguers from Brighton, Detroit and Jackson will attend along with local Multi-Lakes Juniors.

Michigan to Join Other States in Battling Plant Pests Spread

The time-honored philosophy, "United we stand, divided we fall," has been adopted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Public Law 187 of 1965, known as the Pest Compact Law, allows the department to join forces with other states to fight pests wherever they gain a foothold.

Sponsors anticipate long-term savings of millions of dollars in battling insects. A little early prevention they say, is often worth millions spent later on a cure.

Sometimes plant pests take hold in states that do not have the funds or the inclination to institute eradication measures. Their neighboring states, endangered by spread of the pest, are powerless to act without a compact.

The federal government likewise cannot give assistance unless authorized to do so by the state with the infestation. Eradication measures are thus stalemated.

ENTER INTO COMPACT

Under the new law, Michigan will enter into compact when Lake, Farmington, Dr. James four or more other states have T. Minura, 31815 Southfield, passed similar legislation. An in-Beverly Hills; and Dr. Peter A. surance fund based on a care-Duhamel, 444 W. University, fully worked out formula and Rochester.

Eight-Day Affair

Program on Missions Slated

ROCHESTER — The First Baptist Church of Rochester will participate with nine other eastern Michigan Baptist churches in an annual Global Missionary Conference Sunday through Oct. 31.

Nine missionaries, representing seven different fields of world missions work, will speak at 7:30 p.m. during the week and at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday worship services.

Missionaries participating include Rev. Sheldon Peck and Rev. Charles Zimmerman from Japan; Rev. Lawrence Collins, Pakistan; Rev. Mel Pittman from Niger, West Africa; Rev. Carl Anderson, representing Jewish missions; and Rev. Paul Acker and Rev. Russel French, associated with home missionary agencies.

At a reception following the dinner, there will be an opportunity to meet Eichelberger, honorary cochairmen Chancellor Duward Varner and Walter Reuther, and foreign students from OU and Michigan Christian Junior College.

DINNER CHAIRMAN

Chairman of the dinner is Mrs. Wood Geist of 63360 Dequindre, Romeo. Assisting her will be Mrs. John Yount, Mrs. Tage Ketselen, Mrs. Mary Halpin, Mrs. Lawrence Shepard, Mrs. William Early, Mrs. Don Hanson and Mrs. Fred Houghten.

Numerous other activities are planned for U. N. Week which begins Sunday.

Bond Issues Replace Two Millage Bids

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Voters will be asked to approve two bond issues in a Nov. 2 vote instead of two millage proposals as originally planned.

Township Clerk Mrs. Mae Stecker said that in order to sell bonds, thus avoiding a delay in obtaining tax monies, the proposals must be presented as bond issues on the ballot.

The new proposals will ask permission to borrow $256,118 to erect, furnish and equip a new township hall, and a like amount to acquire a site on which to erect, furnish and equip a fire station.

The original requests were a half-mill for 10 years for each. Mrs. Stecker said the amount to be borrowed was reached by figuring the half-mill tax on the assessed valuation.

She said the taxpayer would pay about the same amount with either the bond issue or millage proposal.

State Seeking Apple Pickers

The governor's office has issued a call for apple pickers to help salvage the state's bumper fall apple crop.

The Romeo-Farmington and Lansing - Portland areas have been named as the areas needing the most help.

"The assistance of many persons is needed right now, even if only for a few days or even half-days," Lt. Gov. William Milliken said.

Milliken, who is acting governor while Gov. Romney is on a Far East tour, said, "This help will benefit not only the apple industry but the entire state economy."

Milliken said agriculture experts claim prolonged inclement weather and a continuing tight labor market have hampered harvesting the crop.

Agriculture experts said more rain would add to the seriousness of the situation.

Organization Meeting Set for Citizens' School Unit

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The problems of a relatively small, rapidly growing school district — now operating on a deficit budget — will be explored by a citizens' committee here.

Organizational meeting for the group formed to aid the West Bloomfield Board of Education will be 8 p.m. Wednesday at the high school.

Some 30 persons have been asked to serve on the committee, but any other interested residents of the district can attend, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Leif Hogen.

Heading the list of items to be studied is the school system's curriculum.

Other topics expected to come before the committee are financing, transportation, auxiliary services and maintenance.

COMMITTEE DEADLINE

Deadline for the committee to make recommendations is April 15, 1966.

District enrollment, which was 2,247 last year, took a record jump to 2,842 this year.

A prediction that the figure would skyrocket to 10,000 by 1970 was made by University of Michigan consultants four years ago.

While school officials are operating on the assumption that that projection is high, they nevertheless have had to take it into consideration, Hogen noted.

NO PREDICTION

No prediction yet has been made for 1966-67, but the boost is expected to be considerably greater than this year's.

The population boom, coupled with several curriculum improvements, is held responsible for the $50,000 deficit anticipated in the 1965-66 budget.

Estimated revenue totals $1,164,947, while expenditures will be $1,219,292.

Although surplus funds can be used to make up the difference, this year, they are limited and will not stretch far, Hogen said.

2 BOND ISSUES

In answer to enrollment growth, district property owners have approved two building bond issues in the last three years, one for $1.6 million in June, 1963, and another for $1 million last December.

A new junior high school, with a 540-pupil capacity, was opened this fall on Orchard Lake Road.

Now under construction on Maple is the district's fourth elementary unit, which will accommodate up to 480 youngsters.

Total tax levy in the district now is $26.80 per $1,000 of property valuation as equalized by the state.

DEBT RETIREMENT

Of the sum, 7.5 mills are used for debt retirement. The allocated operating tax is 8.3 mills.

An extra voted operating levy of 2 mills will expire in 1966, while another for 9 mills will run for a year beyond that.

For the youngsters, there will be a fish pond, hula hoop, bumper car and other entertainment to make up the difference.

Would Welcome 'Fruitful' N-Talks, Says U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. did not mean there was a difference of opinion between the United States and Britain. He would not say that his government today that his government would welcome negotiations in New York or anywhere on a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons if it thought the talks would produce results.

The spokesman said the U.S. delegation to the United Nations was in accord with a proposal by Lord Chalfont, Britain's chief disarmament negotiator, that talks with the Soviet Union and other governments start here and now.

Chalfont told the General Assembly's main political committee Thursday. "There is nothing to prevent us taking the first decisive steps here in New York."

William C. Foster, the top American arms negotiator, told the committee when the nuclear debate opened Monday that negotiations should wait until the 17-nation Geneva disarmament committee resumes deliberations after the assembly ends.

NO TAKERS YET — James A. Poulter, 34, a pilot for United Airlines, yesterday examines an ad he placed in the Ann Arbor News offering a free one-way trip to North Vietnam or Communist China for demonstrators who are dissatisfied with the United States. Now Feels Foolish

He Can't Stomach Her

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have had a crush on this neighbor kid for a long time, and just lately he started to notice me. I am 13½ and he is 15. One night about two weeks ago I was over at his house babysitting with his little sister when he came with a bunch of boys at about 11 p.m.

They started making a lot of noise, so I socked him on the arm. He just laughed, so I got sore and pushed him over and punched him real hard in the stomach. I guess I knocked the wind out of him. Anyway, he quit laughing, the other boys left, and he wouldn't even listen to me when I tried to apologize to him.

I have seen him several times since then and he won't even look at me. How can I get him to like me again?

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: I don't blame him. You humiliated him before his friends. Perhaps in a few years he will forget the incident, and you can both laugh about it. But for now, if you are old enough to have a crush on a boy, you are old enough to learn a lesson. Don't match physical strength with a male. You can't win. If you win, you lose.

DEAR ABBY: I am considered an intelligent girl. I have an interest in other people, their habits (good and bad), their likes and dislikes, etc., so why shouldn't I talk them over with my friends?

When my mother hears me talking about someone, she gets furious and tells me not to gossip.

She says I shouldn't even repeat things I hear about people because I can't always be sure they're true, and even if your closest friend promises she won't say anything, it can always "leak out."

Abby, if you're positively sure that what you say is true, is that gossip? I still can't see why it is so terrible to discuss the actions of others with your friends.

DEAR DISCUSSES: Other people's business — true or false — is gossip. Have you ever played the old parlor game called "Telephone"?

Several people sit in a circle. One whispers something hurriedly into the ear of the one seated beside him. The "message" is passed on in this fashion until it finally gets back to the originator.

Invariably the message is so distorted, it bears no resemblance whatsoever to what started to make the rounds. This is what happens to gossip.

And when it "leaks out," someone is apt to find himself in hot water. Listen to your mother, honey. Intelligent people talk about ideas — not other people.

DEAR ABBY: Jimmy and I have been married for eight years. He is 33 and I am 29. We've been wanting a baby for the past five years, but every time we bring it up, my mother votes it down.

Jimmy has a good income. I am in good health, and I don't do anything but keep house, so there's no reason to put it off any longer.

All we have to do is mention having a family and my mother gives us a lecture on how a baby will tie us down for the rest of our lives, and she says, "You are still babies yourselves."

Jim and I aren't getting any younger, Abby, but Mama and I have always been very close and I don't want to antagonize her.

If I just went ahead, knowing how she feels, she'd be hurt and upset. I need some advice.

MAMA'S GIRL
DEAR GIRL: Your problem is you've been getting TOO MUCH advice. The decision should be yours and Jim's. Don't discuss it with your mother.

Just flag down the stork and keep it quiet until you're sure he's headed for your house.

Village Club Women Get Recognition

Mrs. William M. Milligan, president of the Detroit League for the Handicapped, announces that the Village Woman's Club will receive special recognition by the League.

This organization has taken on the Oakland branch as its service project and provided funds for furnishing a recreation lounge.

The board of directors of the League (a United Fund agency) and advisory board will tour the Oakland branch in Ferndale on Tuesday.

Following this a box luncheon will be held in the First Methodist Church of that city.

Consideration for expansion, improvements and programs of the branch will be undertaken at this time.

Assisting Mrs. Milligan will be Mrs. Luke M. Little, Mrs. Philip E. Cartwright and Mrs. B. Kenneth Sanden.

The ultimate goal of the League for the Handicapped is to train and place in outside community jobs handicapped individuals who are employable.

December vows are planned by Kathleen Penfold, daughter of the Austin Penfolds of Jesup, Iowa, and John Peter, son of the Milton S. Peters of Lanman Street. She is a graduate student at Iowa State University.

Boss Uses Her Maiden Name

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: I work in the advertising department of a publishing company. The young woman who is head of the department is married but uses her maiden name in business.

Last evening my fiancé came up to the office to meet me and I introduced him to her using her maiden name. I have been wondering since if I was right or whether I should have introduced her by her marriage name.

A: In the office, you were quite right to use her maiden name but you should have added in explanation when introducing her to your fiancé, "Miss Smith, away from business, is Mrs. Henry Brown."

Q: I am about to have my wedding invitations engraved and there is a difference of opinion among some of the members of my family as to the correct wording of them.

My father and I say they should read, "request the honor of your presence" and my mother and sister think they should read, "request the pleasure of your company." Will you please tell me the correct form?

A: The invitations to the ceremony should always "request the honour — spelled with a 'u' — of your presence" and never the "pleasure of your company."

It is the invitation to the reception that requests the pleasure of your company.

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, at The Pontiac Press.

Open House Will Mark 20th Year

ANN ARBOR — This month marks the 20th anniversary of the alumnae-sponsored Henderson House cooperative residence at The University of Michigan. The girls who live there are planning a campus-wide open house to mark the event on Sunday.

Henderson House first opened in the fall of 1945 with 16 girls in residence. Today, 30 girls live, study and work there together in a congenial college atmosphere. They do their own cooking and house-keeping enabling them to live in University-sponsored housing at minimum cost.

The attractive residence is the culmination of a long drive by loyal alumnae to establish a cooperative house for University of Michigan women.

The outgrowth of a project begun in 1917, the present house was bought from a Michigan professor in 1945. Remodeling has kept the house decor up-to-date.

HONOREE

It was named in honor of Mrs. Mary Barton Henderson, who, as executive secretary of the Alumnae Council was the driving force behind the campaign for funds to build the Michigan League.

The girls of Henderson House are guided in their efforts by their housemother, Mrs. M. W. Buckenbrough, and a board of governors, composed of loyal alumnae.

The public is invited to the Sunday Open House from 2 to 5 p.m. at the residence, 1330 Hill St.

Blue Star Club Planning Bazaar

Plans for an early November bazaar were discussed when Blue Star Mothers met recently at the Pontiac YMCA. A fund-raising project also is slated for Nov. 5 at the CAI Building.

A report was heard on the group's national convention Sunday through Oct. 29 in Miami, Fla. Mrs. George Leininger will attend.

There's all kinds of shopping to do before a benefit card party. The Press photographer caught these two members of Menscola Guild on the way to making purchases for prizes and such the other day. At left is Lucy Kielen of Dwight Street and right, Georganna Block of Oneida Road.

Mrs. Jack Strong, Dixie Highway (left) admires the coat Mrs. Gordon Graybiel, Burnham Court, is wearing. Mrs. Graybiel modeled this coat from Alvin's Thursday in an unusual fashion show held in a flying airplane. "Fashions in Flight" is sponsored annually by Clipped Wings, the Detroit Suburban chapter of United Air Lines Stewardess Alumnae.

This Fashion Show Was Up in the Air

Fashion shows often have unusual themes. But there aren't many that take place in a flying plane.

Thursday, 65 women boarded a United Air Lines plane in Detroit and settled down for some three hours. They enjoyed luncheon, then watched models present clothes from Alvin's of Pontiac.

This is the second time that such a flight has been sponsored by the Detroit-Suburban chapter of Clipped Wings, an organization of former United Air Lines stewardesses. It was Alvin's first participation.

PHILANTHROPY
The group uses this flight to raise money for its philanthropy, the Detroit Association for Retarded Children. This is a national project to which Clipped Wings organizations all over the country have contributed $114,000.

The first chapter of Clipped Wings was organized in 1941. There are now 33 chapters.

Because the airline has a ruling that stewardesses must retire if they marry, the average age of the club members is low. Most of them live in the Bloomfield Hills-Birmingham area.

In addition to their contributing to the mentally retarded, they participate in annual recruitment programs for new stewardesses.

They're still a high-flying group.

Stamp Collecting Is Big Business

NEW YORK (UPI) — The trading stamp business is becoming a billion dollar business.

The Trading Stamp Institute of America says that in 1964, more than 275,000 retailers in all sorts of businesses obtained $950 million in stamps to distribute to their customers.

Another former airline hostess and model for the high flying fashion show is Mrs. Robert M. Schafer, Southfield. She wears a three-piece knit ensemble.

Mrs. Kinzler Hosts Unit

Mrs. John Kinzler opened her Salmer Street home recently to members of Alpha chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority. Mrs. Alice Sinclair was cohostess.

Plans were made for a benefit sale scheduled for Nov. 13 in the Unity Center Building at the corner of North Genesee and West Huron Streets.

The group will entertain their husbands Saturday evening in the Watkins Lake home of the Harold Davidsons.

Newlyweds Honored at Reception

The Italian-American Club was the setting for an evening reception honoring the Gary Richard Rollisons who were wed recently in St. Benedict's Catholic Church.

The former Alice Jo Sutton of North Orionville Road, Groveland Township, is the daughter of the Lawrence T. Suttons of Afton, Mich.

LACE ACCENTS

Re-embroidered Alencon lace accented her chapel-length gown of white silk organza over taffeta, worn with silk illusion veil.

Yellow rosebuds centered her bouquet of white Fugi chrysanthemums.

Carol Cisko of Detroit was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. James Hutchings, Orionville; Mrs. Robert Brooks, Highland, Sue Terry and Sue Smith.

The bride's niece, Valerie Mersino and Gloria Sutton were flower girls.

Daniel Rollison was his brother's best man and James Rollison was an usher. They are the sons of Mrs. Richard Rollison of Riviera Terrace and the late Mr. Rollison.

Completing the usher list were Roger Bomsta, Robert Smith and Andrew Hollibaugh.

Stuff Pockets

A good trick: When washing raincoats, stuff the pockets with tissue to permit air to circulate and to dry out puddles in the pockets.

Bringing Up Child Cost Staggering

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's a hard figure to pin down because of differences of family income, number of children and spending habits.

But the Institute of Life Insurance estimates that today's family, with an average annual income of $6,000 may spend $34,000 to bring up one child to the age of 18. The estimate is based on consumer spending reported by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The thigh bone of the Brachiosaurus measured seven feet.

This Molasses Cake Is Family Favorite

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Old fashioned molasses cake was one of the contributions Sarah Van Hoesen Jones made to the country store booth at this week's Zonta fair. She makes it from a favorite family recipe.

Miss Jones, a lifetime resident of Oakland County, maintains her interest in reading, traveling and good conversation are all pastimes that interest her.

MOLASSES CAKE
By Sarah Van Hoesen Jones

2 eggs
½ cup soft butter

1 cup New Orleans molasses
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup boiling water
3 cups flour

Beat eggs and butter with molasses and sugar. Add dry ingredients and water. Mix thoroughly. This will be a thin batter. Pour into greased 8x13 greased pan. Miss Jones says she bakes her cake 35 minutes at 450 degrees. This may be a little high for some ovens.

We bake a similar type cake at 350 degrees and you might compromise at 400.

Makes one cake.

Preserve Leaves

Fall leaf arrangements will keep indefinitely if you pre-treat the leaves with a mixture of two parts of water to one part glycerin. The idea is to soak the leaves in the mixture for a week, let them dry and then arrange them.

Put a Touch of Courage in Your Cuisine

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: I've always prided myself on feeding my family of four so well on a limited income that they wonder how in the world I do it. But these past weeks I haven't been doing so well. Everything — especially meat — seems to cost MARY more than it did. FEELEY a month or two ago. How come? Is it me, or the supermarket? Mrs. G. B., Jersey City, N.J.

Dear Mrs. B.: It isn't you, and it isn't your market. It's that thing called Food Prices. Predictions are that the prices of beef and pork will continue to hover around the ones you ran into yesterday. An economist with the Agriculture Department said recently: "If housewives don't like the prices they have been paying for red meat, they will not like the prices they probably will have to pay all summer." He might have added: And the prices they'll probably be paying possibly to the end of 1966.

The experts who study price tables tell us that the increased prices of beef seem dramatic because homemakers got used to relatively low prices during a two-year slump in the livestock market. The slump, it seems, has ended, so the cost of beef has gone up. If it's any consolation, what you call the "new high prices" still haven't reached the level from which they started dropping over two years ago.

So you have a choice: as the family purchasing agent, you can go into a slump, too. Or you can rise to the challenge and continue to feed your family well. Maybe facing up to the high price of meat will inspire you to explore new recipes, read more cookbooks, the basic problem of the high cost of meat has usually been licked in two ways: cheaper cuts, plus longer cooking.

This basic "recipe" was evolved hundreds of years ago, by men who had to feed their families off the land. Some of the most interesting cookbooks we have inherited over the years were inspired by farm women.

who had many mouths to feed and practically no cash to do it any vegetables you like. Then there's a Norwegian Fish Pudding — not sweet, a main dish — which is a casserole, starting with a 35-cent package (approximate cost) of frozen fillets, and the recipe will feed three people. You add a little cream or milk, some seasonings, press the fish through a sieve, and put it into a buttered baking dish for slow cooking. It's a real treat.

I don't have space here for specific recipes, so all I can do is to urge you to broaden your horizons as a cook. One of your best bets for family dinners is to originate your own casserole, made of vegetables with a little meat mixed in. An excellent cook in Alliance, Ohio, used to charm her family with a gorgeous looking casserole made mostly of summer squash, with bits of left-over breakfast sausage mixed in. Plenty of butter or margarine, of course, with black pepper and paprika on top. Nobody ever went to bed hungry in her house. (You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of widest interest will be answered in her column.)

They used interesting seasonings, and experimented with what they had on hand. And so, in this generation, can still benefit by some of their truly excellent recipes.

Some I've enjoyed include a South American Hash — in which you can combine bits of left-over meats, including sausage, bacon, lamb, beef, pork — add plenty of onions and herbs and a dash of red pepper. Also

Bill for Florist Not in Order—Thank Heavens

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—There were orchids a-floore at the wedding of Joan DuBois and Brinkley Carter — but no florist's bill arrived.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence DuBois, have made a hobby of raising orchids, and their hobby provided a beautiful and unusual setting for the wedding.

Sprays of orchids covered the altar, and orchid arrangements marked all the pews. The bride carried prize orchids on an antique fan, and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of orchids in blended shades.

Make Bewitching Centerpiece

Trick or Treat is the only traditional Halloween fun that must be left to childhood. The costumes, the party games, and indeed the party itself are as much for adults as for children. If you are planning a party here is a do-it-yourself centerpiece that is easy to make, and will give your table a truly festive touch.

* * *

The materials needed are simple. The amount needed will vary, depending on the size of the centerpiece. The one pictured measures 12" X 14".

* Base: block of styrofoam, board, or several pieces of cardboard glued together.

* Castle: two inner tubes from gift-wrap paper.

* Flag: a 12" pencil. Four pipe cleaners, transparent tape, paste, an assortment of colorful pieces of gift-wrap.

Roots are made from paper cut into cones. Decorate with ribbon strips of contrasting color.

Cover pencil the same way for flag base. Trim with cut-outs of windows, a horseshoe.

To make witch, use a clothespin for the body. Wrap two black pipe cleaners around the body and give ends a few twists, so that they turn into hands.

Take two contrasting colors of tissue paper, crush slightly in middle, and cover body. Leave a flare of paper on top of body for shoulders, and at bottom for skirt effect.

Cover ball with white tissue. Cut features from gift wrap. Paste on. The witches hat is a paper cone. Her hair is made from shredded ribbon.

CAT

The black cat has a body of pipe cleaners and a paper cut-out head. The body is filled out with crushed black tissue paper. Toothpicks will do for whiskers.

The witches brewing pot is a small ball with gold-colored foil cut into thin strips, and pasted to the ball. The strips are secured on the bottom of the ball, but shaped to flare out on top. The brew is made of ribbon strips in contrasting colors.

The flags, wishbone and other embellishments are made of cut-outs secured with paste.

* * *

The base may be covered with a contrasting color of gift wrap. If a styrofoam or cardboard base is used, the mountings can be secured with a few straight pins, or thumb tacks if a wooden base is used. These figures have been designed so that they can stand by themselves.

Cream Eyelids

Most women have dry skin around their eyes. Avoid dry, papery eyelids by gently smoothing a moistener or lotion around the eyes before applying make-up. Use an eye cream when retiring at night.

American Husbands Still Humming the Lunch-Money Blues

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the biggest unsolved problems of the American husband today is how to get more luncheon money from his wife.

Here and there you still find an old-fashioned male who controls the family finances and puts his wife on a BOYLE

But in most homes, it operates the other way. The husband meekly brings home his weekly paycheck in his mouth. His wife, after patting him on the head, deposits the check in the bank. Then she is in charge of the spending. Some wives on Monday give their husbands the funds that are supposed to last them through the week.

NEWLYWEDES?

Such wives usually are new-lweds. Older wives know this system doesn't work. They have found out from experience that if they give a husband his full allowance on Monday, he'll be broke by Wednesday morning—and whining for more.

So they dole it out daily.

But some husbands seem to be in a rebellious mood about their luncheon allowances, judging by a bull session at an office water cooler I overheard recently.

"I've been married 25 years and, in that time, the boss has given me five merit raises," volunteered a married veteran. "But how many merit raises has my wife given me in that time? Not one."

STILL 50 CENTS

"A quarter of a century ago, she started giving me 50 cents a day for lunch, and it was okay then. I could get a three-course dinner for 45 cents, and that left me with a nickel to buy a cigar afterward."

"But she still gives me only four-bits a day, and nowadays you're lucky to get a peanut butter sandwich for that."

Cannon Act Is Repeater

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — This community's cannon is missing again. Somebody swiped it from a local warehouse Thursday.

For the last couple of years, the French-made World War I field piece has vanished at just about this time. Both times, it showed up with a bang at Hall-owen on the Soo campus of Michigan Technological University.

Soo residents figure that will probably happen again this year.

quarters out of my kid's piggy bank every night and put in a couple of washers to replace them. But that can't go on much longer. The kid's getting wise."

"My wife thinks I'm keeping another woman on the dole, though she gives me for lunch," said a third. "But if I had a mistress who ate like a bird, I couldn't afford her — because I don't have enough to supply her with bird seed."

"I don't see what you guys are griping about," broke in a fourth. "My wife doesn't give me a luncheon allowance at all. She says what she eats should be good enough for me, too, so she just slips a can of tuna fish in my briefcase every morning."

It is obvious that wives don't know the facts of office life. They know that the prices of hats and fur coats and automobiles and brassieres and theater tickets have gone up.

But they don't seem to realize that a 1946 luncheon allowance won't fill a man's stomach in 1965. It won't even take out the wrinkles in it.

The so-called three-martini, five-course, two-hour business man's lunch is a myth. The luncheon allowance many wives give their husbands wouldn't keep them welcome for more than 15 minutes on a Bowery beany stool.

In the long run, however, the wives are really hurting themselves. If the average husband isn't passed out a little more folding money to buy himself a decent midday meal, he soon won't be able to bring home the bacon — because he won't have the strength to tote it.

YOUNG AT HEART — Veteran Gordie Howe, the "old man" of the Detroit Red Wings at the age of 37, led the National Hockey League All-Stars to a 5-2 victory over the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night. Saturday night he begins his 20th season in the NHL as the Red Wings return to the Montreal Forum to meet the Canadiens in the regular season opener. In the All-Star game, Howe had two goals and two assists. In was the 17th time he has played in the game. Sunday night the Red Wings will open the home season at the Detroit Olympia when they entertain the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Howe Starts 20th Season

By JERE CRAIG
"Gordie Howe is the greatest of them all!"

All Detroit Red Wing fans' hearts warm immediately toward any National Hockey League enthusiast who would admit such sentiments.

His boosters in Canada—even among ardent Toronto and Montreal fans—are considerable.

Undeniable proof of this acceptance came three winters ago when a Canadian recording group's vocal rendition of those sentiments became an immediate hit record... even before "No. 9 of the Red Wings" set two of hockey's most cherished records.

It wasn't until the following fall that Howe broke the career, regular-season goal-scoring mark, and it was last autumn that he surpassed the career total goals record.

Wednesday night at Montreal, "Mr. Red Wing" played in his 17th NHL All-Star game and he led the All-Stars to a 5-2 victory over the Canadiens with two goals and two assists.

Tomorrow night he will return to the Forum where the Detroit Red Wings open the season against Montreal.

The game will mark another milestone for Howe. The 6-0, 200-pound right wing will begin his 20th season with the Red Wings.

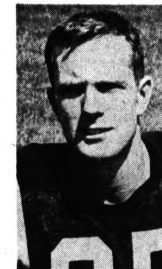

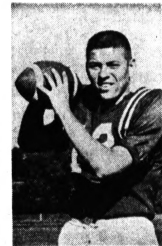

GOOD START

Howe is ready for this campaign almost without a perceptible dimming of his talents from his initial appearance as an 18-year-old newcomer in 1946.

In the Red Wings' recently concluded exhibition contests, he led the scorers with 15 points (including nine goals). This included two hat tricks (three goals in one game).

The six-time winner of the league's Art Ross Scoring Championship Trophy and, also, the Hart Most Valuable Player Trophy — both NHL records — is highly respected by opponents not only for his scoring but also his equally efficient rugged body contact, carefully honed with 19 years' playing experience.

Howe's physical condition is a amazing. He has not missed more than six games in any season for the past 16 campaigns.

Two-Platoon Takes Longer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern College Athletic Conference said Thursday that the first 106 football games played in its circuit this fall under the new two-platoon rule averaged six minutes longer than the games of last year.

Average time through games of Oct. 9, the ECAC survey showed, was 2 hours, 13 minutes. Last year the average time was 2:19. In 1950, last year of the original two-platoon era, the time was 2:25.

The Huskies of Pontiac Northern have four games remaining on the 1965 gridiron schedule, and although they have lost 13 games in a row, the team could make it a successful season with three wins in the next four outings.

Three of those four opponents are in the prestige class — Waterford, Kettering and Pontiac Central.

And wins over those three would make the fans forget the current losing string.

The Skippers of Waterford come first—tonight at 8 o'clock at Wiser Stadium in PNH's Homecoming outing. The meeting will be the seventh in the series between the two schools. The Huskies hold a 3-2-1 edge.

SCORING PROBLEM

The Huskies have played good defensive ball, but the team has had its trouble pushing the ball across the goal line.

In five starts this season, the Huskies have produced only 14 points.

On the other hand, Waterford has been held scoreless only once this season in a 2-3 record—a 14-0 beating inflicted by Wallied Lake.

In their other two losses, the Skippers were in the game all the way before losing to Southfield, 12-7, and they were stopped just short of the goal line last week in the closing minutes of a 13-7 setback at Roseville.

Big Stakes for MSU-Purdue

Spartans Put Mark to Test

Michigan Will Face Strong Pass Attack

Boilermaker Aerials Biggest Danger

What is at stake when Michigan State and Purdue tangle Saturday afternoon at Lafayette, Ind.?

Maybe the question should be — What isn't at stake?

The lead in the Big 10 race, a high national ranking and a stronger scent of Roses — what else is there?

The two are part of a four-way tie atop the Big Ten standings, along with Minnesota and Wisconsin. State has a 3-0 conference slate. The others are 2-4 each.

However, both the Spartans and Boilermakers are undefeated for the season to date, something which the other two cannot say, and rank in the top ten nationally in both wire service polls.

Such high status is exactly what had been forecast for Purdue in the pre-season guessing game. But Michigan State has been a surprise even to its own partisans. A middle-of-the-pack Big Ten finish and no national rating was the general augury for State.

AERIAL ARTIST

State (5-0) and Purdue (4-0-1) will afford an interesting contrast in the styles of play. The Boilermakers love to throw the ball, and with talented quarterback Bob Griese flinging the pigskin to a whole squadron of receivers headed by ace end Bob Hadrick, they do it very well.

State, on the other hand, is essentially a running team. Sophomore fullback Bob Apisa with 399 yards and junior halfback Clinton Jones with 392 yards are the main legmen.

Michigan's pass defense, riddled by Purdue's Bob Griese in the second half last week, is expected to get another workout Saturday when the Wolverines play Minnesota at Minneapolis in the annual Little Brown Jug game.

John Hankinson, the Go-phears' quarterback, is rated a major passing threat.

Although he didn't get much chance to throw in the 14-3 win over Iowa in the rain last week, the Michigan scouts are warning the Wolverines that Hankinson is a dangerous passer.

He holds virtually every passing mark in the Minnesota record book.

The victory over Iowa gave Minnesota a 2-0 Big Ten record. Indiana was the other victim, 42-18.

In non-conference tilts, the Boilermakers tied Southern California, 20-20; lost to Washington, 14-13; and to Missouri, 17-6.

Michigan has possession of the Jug on the strength of a 19-12 victory last season. Saturday's tilt will be Minnesota's Homecoming.

THIRD LOSS

The Wolverines were greatly improved against Purdue last Saturday, but still lost, 17-15. The defeat by the Boilermakers marked their second Big Ten loss and their third straight of the season.

Previously they were downed by Georgia, 15-7, and Michigan State, 24-7.

Despite the loss to the Boilermakers the Wolverines played their best game of the season.

Wally Gabler turned in a topflight job at quarterback, running the team well and firing a 40-yard touchdown pass to Jack Clancy. He completed nine of 28 passes for 137 yards without interception.

Clancy continued to lead Wolverine receivers as he gained 125 yards on eight receptions to bring his total to five games to 25 for 369 yards and two touchdowns.

BACK ON TRACK — Dick 'Night Train' Lane, one of the all-time great defensive backs of the NFL will be back on track again Sunday when the Detroit Lions face the Chicago Bears. The Lions reactivated Lane after a series of injuries depleted their defensive backfield.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—"Cards May Start Humphrey At QB" read the headline today in a local newspaper.

But neither political play nor gallbladder surgery was involved.

Speedy Gayle Sayers Spells Trouble for Ailing Detroiters

Those Bears of Chicago just aren't doing what Bears should be doing these days — going into hibernation, and this may be unfortunate for the Detroit Lions.

All pre-season forecasts figured the Bears would be in hibernation long before this and after the first three NFL games it appeared that's where they belonged.

However, a rookie Cub by the name of Gayle Sayers has become overly playful and the Bears have racked up 76 points in whipping Los Angeles and Minnesota in their last two outings.

Sayers, the flashy back from Kansas, has accounted for 36 of those points by scoring five touchdowns and passing 25 yards for another. In five games he has 817 yards rushing, passing and on eight kickoffs which have netted him 290 yards of the total.

The Lions, who have found Chicago the toughest team to beat in the last ten years, can have any title ambitions ruined by another loss, and the Bears have made six point favorites in the contest.

OFFENSE MOVES

The dormant offense of the first four games finally came alive for the Lions in the first half against Green Bay last Sunday, but the second half letdown was disastrous in the 31-21 defeat.

The big concern for coach Harry Gilmer is the defensive secondary which has been racked by injuries so badly that Dick "Night Train" Lane was reactivated for duties.

"I'm hopeful that Bobby Thompson and Jimmy Hill will be able to play in Chicago. The way the Bears have been scoring these days, we'll need all the defensive help we can get," said coach Gilmer.

Despite the recent powers at Baltimore and Green Bay, the Bears have been the toughest foes for Detroit since 1955. Chicago has won 14 and lost six in this period.

Tiger Regains Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Jabbing Garden Thursday night in their return 15-round.

A crowd of 17,064 contributed to a $161,964 gate for the regionally televised fight.

AGGRESSIVE

From the opening bell, the muscular, aggressive, perfectly conditioned Nigerian grimly stalked the boxer who had dethroned him in Atlantic City, N.J., Dec. 7, 1963.

He bombed Giardello to the body, slowing the champ down, and then worked his punches up. It was a jabbing lead or a thumping right to the ribs that started off most of Tiger's barages, but it was the jarring, accurate left hooks that shook up Joey consistently and enabled Dick to hammer the champ to the ropes.

The defeat snapped Giardello's victory streak at nine for a nearly three year span. His record now is 98-23-7. Tiger, a 30 year old, has a 52-14-3 record.

Giardello weighed the class limit of 160 pounds to Tiger's 158½.

The loser was guaranteed $50,000 or 40 per cent and could come up with better than $65,000. Tiger, guaranteed $15,000 or 20 per cent, may wind up with more than $40,000.

Arrows' Quarterback League's Top Passer

Quarterback Karl Sweetan of the Detroit Lions was the best arm and foot in the Midwestern Football League.

The 196-pound Sweetan, obtained by the Arrows after he was released by the Detroit Lions last summer, is the league passer and punter in the league, according to 40 statistics released today by the league commissioner.

In guiding the Arrows to a 5-1 loop mark, Sweetan has completed 55 of 99 passes for 691 yards and nine touchdowns, putting him well ahead of runner-up Pete Milekewski of Dayton who has hit on 48 of 96 for 581 yards.

In the punting department, Sweetan has booted the ball 18 times for an average of 42 yards. Dayton's Billy Barker owns a 40.6 average on 10 punts.

Dayton's Keith Smith, who sat out last week's game with the Arrows because of an injury.

NHL Retirement Rule Keeps Lindsay Idle

TORONTO (AP)—A rule concerning voluntary retirement in the National Hockey League is keeping veteran Ted Lindsay from rejoining the Detroit Red Wings.

Lindsay revealed Thursday in an interview with the Globe and Mail from his Detroit home that he wanted to return to the Red Wings, with whom he played last season after four years of retirement from the NHL.

But he found he can't play for a year.

"I must be a new rule or something," he said. "I asked to be placed on the voluntary retired list last season because I was afraid some team might draft me and I knew I wouldn't report. That would have meant suspension and I didn't like the idea of spending the rest of my life on the National Hockey League's suspended list."

Lindsay, a 40-year-old left-winger, played 13 seasons with Detroit until being traded to Chicago Black Hawks in the 1957-58 season. He played three seasons with Chicago and retired after the 1959-60 campaign.

Kimball Meets Ferndale

Title Time in 2 Grid Loops

The Southeastern Michigan Kimball will journey to Ferndale Association and Northwest Suburban Association for the SEMA title showdown with the equally perfect (in football races should be decided this weekend).

Also tonight, Birmingham Seaholm's improving Maples will visit Berkley and the in-and-out Blue Jays of Southfield will venture into the Vikings' den of once-victorious Hazel Park.

The main Northwest Suburban circuit clashes will be Saturday afternoon with Detroit Thurston at North Farmington and Birmingham Groves at Livonia Franklin. Friday night, Oak Park will visit Wayne John Glenn.

Should unbeaten North Farmington win and Groves upset defending champion and once defeated Franklin, then the Raiders would clinch the championship one game early.

Kimball is rated No. 6 in the Associated Press weekly state Class A poll. The Knights have parlayed an aggressive defense and standout running by John Gabler and Eric Sorenson into a 5-0 mark.

Ferndale lost a one-point opener to Royal Oak Dondero, but has won four straight since then sparked by the running of rugged Ken Lutton. Seaholm, Hazel Park and Southfield all are 1-2 and bidding for third place.

Quarterback Bill Oldershaw has six touchdowns to his credit and is favored to lead North Farmington to its sixth straight triumph and at least a share of the NWSAA laurels.

Groves, too, has a fine signal caller in Mike Rafferty but his supporting cast is inconsistent. All of Franklin's verdicts have been decided by one touchdown, including a tough last-minute loss to the local-leading Raiders.

Prep schools Country Day of Birmingham and Cranbrook of Bloomfield Hills have Saturday afternoon home tilts with Ohio teams Maumee (1 p.m.) and Western Reserve (2:30 p.m.), respectively.

NEW PROPRIETORS—Gary (left) and Larry Crake are the newest bowling proprietors in the Pontiac area after having taken ownership of the 300 Bowl on Cass Lake recently.

By JERE CRAIG

The 300 Bowl—not one of the area's older bowling establishments—nonetheless has taken on a younger look.

Youthful Larry and Garry Crake have become officially the sole owners of one of the county's biggest pieces of bowling real estate.

Larry is 24 and Garry 29. Each has made a living from bowling for approximately five years.

Last week they picked up partner Joe Puertas' one-third share, after a threeway arrangement for less than a year.

Then, as if to show that such financial dealings had any age group to develop steady whetted their business appetites, future clients.

Both have progressed rapidly in learning bowling as a sport, and Larry wants to encourage the stronger functioning of the local proprietors.

Garry, meanwhile, has two youngsters in addition to his wife Pat depending on him. He wants to encourage the stronger functioning of the local proprietors.

"The fact it is a sport as well as a business makes bowling appealing to me," he commented.

The young owners are relying on three lieutenants to make their venture a continuing success. Rose Whitney, Monroe Moore and Bill Green are veteran 300 Bowl employees who have valuable training in particular phases of the business.

Puertas, meanwhile, — a familiar hard-working bowling official locally for several years — will take a year's rest and reportedly may not return to bowling for quite awhile.

The 300 Bowl became a landmark high game honors with 208; and Jerry Witt of the same city hit a 531 series.

Sighted helper Evelyn Rogers posted a 271 actual in Monday's Pontiac-Bird Bowlers league at Huron Bowl. Leo Cleveland more than doubled his average each game with 75-85-71.

Team No. 4 paces the circuit by a half point over Team No. 1.

At Lakewood Lanes Sunday, the St. Benedict's Mixed Leaguers were led by Regie Simmons' 233 and Bill Edwards' 213-205.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sandra Haynie shot a one-under-par 71 Thursday to take the lead in the $11,000 Thunderbird Ladies Open Golf Tournament.

Southfield Back Tops Scoring

Halfback Ted Simmons of Southfield moves into the second half of the 1965 football season tomorrow night holding a one-point lead in the Oakland County scoring race.

The fleet halfback has picked up eight touchdowns and two extra points for 50 points, a point ahead of Dick Kraatz of Bloomfield Hills, who jumped from sixth to second this week.

Mark Phelan of Holly holds down the third spot with 48 points, and St. Michael's Bob French has taken over the fourth position with 46 markers.

In the Saginaw Valley Conference, halfback Lon Miller of Bay City Central held onto his lead, although he sat out the Wolves game Friday with Midland.

In four games, Miller has pushed across 64 points, far ahead of runner-up Tom Kennell (30), also of Bay City Central.

Tom Kline of Dryden held onto his lead in the area scoring column with 54 points.

Kimball is rated No. 6 in the Associated Press weekly state Class A poll. The Knights have parlayed an aggressive defense and standout running by John Gabler and Eric Sorenson into a 5-0 mark.

Ferndale lost a one-point opener to Royal Oak Dondero, but has won four straight since then sparked by the running of rugged Ken Lutton.

$30.6 Million Package

Baseball Inks TV Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—Major league baseball fans apparently will have the opportunity to watch 28 game-of-the-week telecasts next season—25 on Saturdays and three on holiday nights.

Tentative plans for the National Broadcasting Co. Telecasts were worked out by representatives of the American and National leagues during a closed three-day session which ended Thursday. The leagues also advanced their work on preparing 165-game schedules for 1966 and furthered plans for selecting a successor to retiring Commissioner Ford Frick.

NBC signed a $30.6 million, three-year deal on Tuesday for TV-radio baseball rights, including the World Series and All-Star Games for 1966, 1967 and 1968.

The exact dates for the Games of the Week, aired this year by the American Broadcasting Co., have not been worked out, and at least another week presumably is needed to complete the schedule. The holiday nights would be Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day.

Opening dates for the 1966 season were announced as:

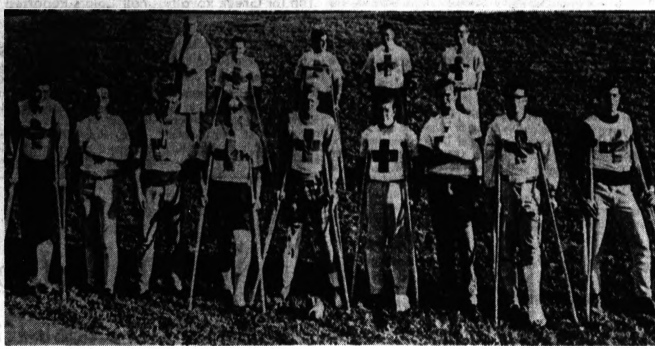

NATIONAL LEAGUE
April 12—New York at Cincinnati Reds.
April 13—Pittsburgh Pirates at Atlanta Braves.
April 14—Philadelphia Phillies at St. Louis Cardinals.
April 15—Houston Astros at Los Angeles Dodgers.
April 16—Chicago Cubs at San Francisco Giants.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
April 11—Cleveland Indians at Washington Senators.
April 12—Kansas City A's at Minnesota Twins.
April 13—Detroit Tigers at New York Yankees.
April 14—Boston Red Sox at Baltimore Orioles.
April 15—Red Sox.

Three-Way Tie Possible

I-L Crown in Doubt

There are only four teams in the Inter-Lakes League and three of them may wind up splitting the championship after tonight's action.

Perennial champion Walled Lake, looking for its seventh straight title, already has a share of the crown locked up and can take it all with a win over a visiting Farmington team (3-2).

Walled Lake (3-2) owns a 2-0 league mark, but if the Vikings fall to Farmington, they could find themselves sharing first place with Farmington and Waterford's Skippers, who are favored to dispose of winless Pontiac Northern tonight.

Idle tonight is Pontiac Central's Chiefs, the state's No. 7 ranked Class A team, who will return to action next week.

playing host to Flint Southwestern.

Kettering is tied up in a tight duel for top honors in the Tri-County League, and the Captains can gain a share of the lead tonight if they can stop an invading Lapeer (0-1-2) squad.

KETTERING FAVORED
The Captains are 3-1-1 overall and own a 1-0-1 league mark. Kettering is a slight favorite.

Romeo, also 0-1-2 in Tri-County play, entertains an improving Port Huron Northern squad at 7:30. The PHN eleven is playing only its third varsity contest.

In the Wayne-Oakland league-leading Bloomfield Hills (5-0) has a date at Clarencville (2-3). Holly (3-1-1) plays host to Clarkson (2-3). West Bloomfield (1-4) entertains Brighton (2-3) and Milford (4-1) travels to Northville (2-2-1).

A victory for Hills would set the state for a showdown next week against second-place Milford on the Hills' field.

Over in the Oakland A, unbeaten Fitzgerald (5-0) plays host to air-minded Warren Couston (3-2). Avondale (1-4) entertains Clawson (4-1). Madison (4-1) has a date at Lake Orion (0-5) and Rochester (1-4) will be looking for its second win of the campaign against an invading Troy unit (2-3).

Northern Michigan, one of the state's top small college teams with a 5-1 record, takes a week off before swinging back into action next week against Findlay College of Ohio.

Former Leaf Turns Down Playing Offer

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, apparently prefers coaching to making a comeback as a player in the National Hockey League.

Now coach of the Quebec Aces in the American Hockey League, Geoffrion disclosed Thursday he had turned down a five-year contract at $35,000 per year from the Toronto Maple Leafs to return to the NHL as a player.

Boom Boom retired from active play in the NHL with a career total of 371 goals and became the Quebec coach last season.

A few hours after Geoffrion disclosed the offer and that he was "no longer interested," the Aces went out and blanked the Hershey Bears 5-0 in the only AHL game scheduled Thursday night.

Undefeated Michigan Tech goes into its sixth straight win and the Northern Intercollegiate Conference title in a crucial game in this weekend's Michigan small college football scene.

The Huskies, despite injuries and lack of depth, will host Bemidji Minn. State College in their Homecoming game Saturday at Houghton.

A win Saturday would give Michigan Tech its second outright NIC title in three years under coach Bill Lucier. A loss, combined with a win by Winona State, would leave the Huskies in a tie for the title.

In a showdown battle in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association, Kalamazoo and Albion will face off at Kalamazoo.

Kalamazoo holds a perfect season record of four wins and no losses with all except one of the victories coming in conference play.

Albion has shown its power, however, in winning its last three games, two in conference, and stands a chance to salvage after taking two early losses and now is in a position to challenge Kalamazoo for the MIAA leadership.

MIAA BATTLERS

In a couple of other MIAA games, Adrian will go after its first league win in three starts against Olivet, a team with a 2-1 mark, and Hope will try to win its Homecoming game from Alma. Hope is 1-2 while Alma has lost all three league starts.

Ron Seifert, Western Michigan's sophomore quarterback, who has taken a firm lead in the passing statistics of the Mid-American Conference, will lead the Broncos into their game Saturday night with the University of Toledo.

Central Michigan, with only one win this year, will try to pick up its second against five losses at the expense of Illinois State, a team with a slightly less impressive record of 0-5.

HILLSDALE HOMECOMING

Central has lost only one of the games in Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference play three games, two in conference, and stands a chance to salvage after taking two early losses and begin to move behind hard-working quarterback Pat Boyd. Boyd ranks 10th among small college leaders in total offense.

Northwood Institute, fresh from its 42-7 upset over Eastern Illinois last week, will tackle Hillsdale in the Dales' Homecoming festivities. Northwood carries a 3-3 record and Hillsdale carries a 2-3 mark.

In other games this weekend, Wayne State meets Eastern Michigan at Ypsilanti and Ferris State hosts Geneva Pa. College.

Stunt Flying Caused Death of Baker Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board said today improper stunt flying at a low level caused the crash of a private plane last May 10 that killed Carole Tyler, former secretary to Bobby Baker.

The crash occurred near Ocean City, Md., as the pilot, Robert Hunter Davis of Huntington, W.Va., who also died in the crash, flew upside down near the beach.

The CAB said the crash was caused by "a loss of control caused by the improper execution of a low-level acrobatic maneuver."

Miss Tyler, former beauty queen from Lenoir, Tenn., was secretary to Baker while he was secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority. Baker resigned two years ago when a lawsuit exposed his far-ranging financial activities. His operations were the target of an extensive congressional inquiry.

SHALLOW DIVE

The CAB report said the plane "entered a left roll-type maneuver and then, according to a witness, it entered a shallow dive after reaching the inverted position of the maneuver. According to this witness, the flight path was like the recovery portion of a loop; however, the plane continued in the dive until it struck the water."

The accident occurred, the CAB said, when the plane was flying at 200 to 250 feet altitude near the Carousel Motel, which was owned by Baker.

34 Mutineers Slain in Africa

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Belgian radio reported that 34 mutineers were executed today on the sports ground of the Burundi capital of Bujumbura, after being sentenced to death by a court-martial yesterday. Two escaped shortly before the mass execution.

The group included five officers, two noncommissioned officers and 27 privates of the Burundi state police (gendarmes), the broadcast added.

It said all were involved in the abortive mutiny early this week in which Premier Leopold Biha was seriously wounded and a dozen or more gendarmes escaped shortly before the mass execution.

The radio added that new troubles were reported north of Bujumbura.

The tiny kingdom of Burundi, a former Belgian colony, lies between the Congo and Tanzania.

It is ruled by the minority Tutsi tribe, and the Hutu majority has been restive for years since fellow tribesmen in Rwanda succeeded in getting rid of their Tutsi lords and setting up a republic.

Fall Colors Reported

The club said the color show has ended in northern Michigan and in the Upper Peninsula.

Cow Has Sextuplets

O'NEILL, Neb. (AP) — A 5-year-old Holstein cow on the James Cirkle dairy farm has given birth to sextuplet heifer calves, an occurrence extremely rare in livestock, says Dr. G. R. Cook, O'Neill veterinarian.

He said the six are normal $150 a year later. Dartmouth's current tuition fee is $1,800.

Dartmouth Tuition Up

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Dartmouth College is increasing tuition charges by $125 a year in September 1966 and another $150 a year later. Dartmouth's current tuition fee is $1,800.

Do electric dryers really cost less to buy?

Do you really get no-charge service?

Do kids like ice cream?

The answer to the last question, of course, is a rousing YES! And that goes ditto for the first two questions.

Model for model, electric dryers cost from $20 to $40 less than gas dryers. You can easily check for yourself at any appliance dealers.

Every electric dryer is backed by Edison's No-Charge repair service. No charge for any electrical parts. No charge for labor, either. So you don't have to worry about unexpected repair bills. Remember, Edison is the only utility company in this area that offers no-charge repair service.

Can you get this kind of worry-free assurance with a gas dryer? Sure—with a manufacturer's repair service policy—but it will cost you up to $120 over the first five years of operation alone!

One thing more. Edison's money-saving No-Charge repair service applies even if you don't buy from Edison—so long as the dryer is electric and you get your electricity from Edison.

When you add up the facts, you find that an electric dryer can save you up to $160 in just a few years. That can keep the kids in ice cream for a good long time.

If you buy now, from a participating dealer, the low price you pay includes the cost of wiring, if any's needed.

Vermiculite-- Soil Cure-All

Many gardeners who take to the great indoors with their fall gardening efforts share the common mistake of using unmodified soil directly from the garden.

Whether light sandy or heavy clay, untreated garden soil will usually turn hard in potting because it lacks proper amounts of humus.

Small sacks of commercially prepared potting soil can be bought from garden supply stores if the gardener's efforts are limited.

If a good number of indoor plants are involved, however, it would serve the grower well to mix his own potting soil.

Using an ordinary dishpan, he can add equal parts of garden soil, peat moss, and horticultural vermiculite.

Increase proportions of peat and vermiculite if the soil is heavy.

If the soil is light, they suggest using two parts soil to one of peat and vermiculite.

Vermiculite serves the dual purpose of giving body to light sandy soil, at the same time breaking up and aerating heavy clay soils.

The importance of proper soil conditioning can never be over emphasized since the most essential growth for seedlings is root development.

Thus, in taking first things first, properly conditioned soil is of far more importance than its fertility. In any case, fresh soil need not be fertilized for some time. And when using a good commercial fertilizer, the manufacturer's directions must be followed closely.

At no time should the gardener ever use more than the prescribed amount.

Check Formula on Seed Box Before Buying

A weed is said to be a plant out of place. All depends whether you want it or not! In the lawn those persistent, attractive thin-leaved lawngrasses such as Kentucky bluegrass and fine fescues are much cherished.

In the flower bed you would hoe them out.

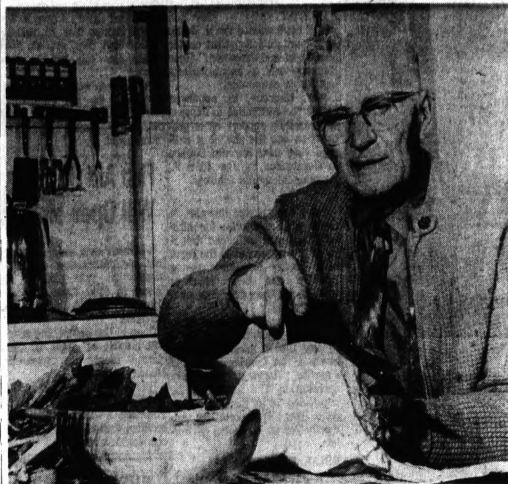

One of the historical curiosities about lawn seed is that the seed laws require listing of certain "weeds" on the box, but according to agricultural standards, by law, coarse haygrasses, — the most unwanted and hardest-to-control pests in a lawn, — are fully acceptable.

They don't have to be listed as weeds, and may actually be included in inexpensive blends among the "coarse kind" components.

So don't rely entirely upon such phrases as "weed free" in lawn seed advertising. Legally, this could be perfectly true, while at the same time the seed blend is full of haygrasses more troublesome than most weeds.

Of course it is best not to pay for weeds of any kind. But beyond this, it is necessary to examine the lawn seed ingredient listing on the box to see that the mixture contains "fine-textured" types such as Kentucky bluegrass, fine fescue and bentgrasses; not "coarse kind" field grasses or very much "crop".

AMBITIOUS RADISH — And it grew, and it grew, and it grew. The king-size radish, being sliced by Ray Courtney of 484 Harper, knew how to think big. Grown from a package of ordinary globe radishes, it weighed seven pounds when Courtney brought it in from his garden. None of the other radishes were out-size.

Hanging Plant for Beauty

Grandmother used to pride herself on the baskets of rich green foliage she hung on the veranda or in a cozy bay window. Passerby, too, were gratified by the sight of ferns and ivy, philodendron, and other leafy plants overflowing from the baskets.

Old-fashioned hanging baskets, now staging a come back, will help homemakers of today bring natural beauty into their homes, delight the eye of passerby, and contribute to the effort to make America more beautiful.

Hanging baskets of lush green foliage may be hung in picture, bay, or ordinary front windows of today's homes, regardless of their architectural design.

The kind of hanging container and the type of plant used can be as varied as your taste and imagination desire.

The containers may be of wicker, wood, brass, or of simple wire construction. Bird cages, old iron cooking pots, renovated kegs, water buckets — to name a few — make fine hanging baskets.

BRIGHTEN CONTAINER. You may paint or spray the container of your choice, if it needs renovating.

A wide selection of plants — foliage and flowering — are available for placing in your containers. If you wish color, try geraniums, for instance, or a colorful foliage plant like coleus.

As for green plants, there are varieties of philodendron, trailing ivy, and ferns that may be used. Your neighborhood florist will help you select the ideal plant for your specific use, and will advise you on its care. Most plants of the type suitable for hanging baskets are extremely easy to maintain.

Chemicals Developed for Pruning

A rubber company's chemists have come up with a new substance which serves to prune plants and, eventually, fruit trees.

For amateur gardeners and professional plant growers alike, pruning is a time-consuming chore.

The new chemical, called "B-Nine" and produced by U.S. Rubber Company, acts as a pruning agent by controlling a plant's two basic urges — to vegetate and to bloom.

By spraying the plant with the new substance, height is retarded, more flowering is induced. Currently available only to commercial growers, B-Nine is recommended for cypripediums, hydrangeas, azaleas, poinsettias, gardenias and many other clay-potted plants.

Experiment Floriferous

Nearly twice as many rose blooms every month from May through November were obtained in an experimental planting in Texas treated three times each with fertilizer, mulch and fungicide, plus a root-starter solution at the time of planting.

The number of blooms totaled 235 for the season, compared to 130 for untreated plots. American Association of Nurserymen, states similar ratios probably hold true for many other clay-potted plants.

Infestation Lighter in Michigan

Michigan's 1965 treatment to eradicate Japanese beetles will be the smallest in seven years because much lighter infestation was disclosed by this summer's extensive trapping program.

Japanese beetle is a major destroyer of field crops, vegetables, fruit, cereals, ornamentals and turf. It feeds on more than 250 types of plants.

This year's treatment program using 10 per cent diiodine granules at the rate of 20 pounds per acre will cover an estimated 1,350 acres in parts of six counties. Last year 13,842 acres were treated.

The 30-year battle to rid the state of the pest is waged jointly by the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry Division and the USDA's Plant Pest Control Division.

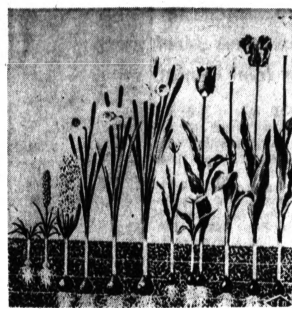

Acres to be treated starting about Oct. 1 and continuing for a month include 50 acres in Berrien County, 700 in Calhoun, 90 in Lenawee, 70 in Monroe, 15 in Saginaw, and 425 in Wayne County.

2,000 TRAPS More than 2,000 traps were located in various parts of the state to determine the presence of the pest.

The 1965 pest control programs of the Michigan Department of Agriculture were approved recently by representatives of the Department of Conservation, Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Michigan Audubon Society, Michigan Health Department, Michigan Farm Bureau, Michigan Horticultural Society, Michigan Farmer's Union, the Water Resources Commission and other organizations.

Each had an opportunity to review the plans at a meeting of the Michigan Pesticides Advisory Committee.

All Jap beetle areas will be treated with ground crews applying the pesticide, but in Calhoun County there will be some use of a helicopter where it is practical. Within the past few years the heaviest infestation in the state has been around Battle Creek.

PLANT NOW FOR BEAUTY — Spring-flowering Dutch bulbs are easy to plant and require little care. The larger bulbs are planted six inches deep and six inches apart. The smaller bulbs are planted three inches deep and three inches apart. All bulbs require well-drained, friable soil for good growth. If the soil is heavy, sand or vermiculite should be mixed in. After planting, the bulbs should be watered thoroughly — nature will do the rest.

Plant Window Box

This fall, plant a forest in your window box.

While most people clean out their window boxes of summer annuals each fall, they leave the boxes empty all winter long.

But if you put up evergreen seedlings for your winter window box they'll provide a soft and interesting focal point all through the bleaker months.

Seedlings of firs, pines, spruce or other evergreens are available through the mail or at nurseries for very little money. Most are six to 12 inches tall.

The average window box will hold about nine of these seedlings. Each little tree should be potted up, just as you would any house plant, in a five- or six-inch red clay pot, depending upon the size of the evergreen.

WATER WELL. Water well with a weak solution of evergreen food. You won't have to worry about overwatering, because the porous walls of the clay pot will leach out the excess.

Between the clay pots in the window box, pack peat moss to act as insulation. This will also serve to cut down on the number of times you will have to water.

Tarzan Made Him, Broke Him

Lex Forced Abroad by Image

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD — One of the reasons Lex Barker left Hollywood nine years ago was because producers couldn't see him as doing much more than swinging from trees.
Another reason was that his marriage to Lana Turner had just broken up. He had also been divorced by Arlene Dahl and first wife Constance Thurlow.

THOMAS

Barker had succeeded Johnny Weissmuller as the screen's Tarzan, and that was both the making and the breaking of him. After playing bits in films, he suddenly became an international star as Tarzan No. 10. Born Alexander Churchlow Barker Jr. to a well-to-do family of Rye, N.Y., he possessed none of the primitive aspects of the famed jungle dweller. But he was the right size — 6 feet 4, 200 muscular pounds — and he carried the role off with skill.

And it was a rousing success. He then married a Swiss girl who bore him a son and later died. His wife No. 5 is Carmen Seguras from Barcelona.
Lex moved on to France for a series of films. Then the U.S. government asked him to appear at the Berlin Film Festival. He went and there he met a German producer who said he would like Lex to work for him if only he could afford it. "Let's talk," said the actor.
SPY YARNS
A deal was made, and Lex began starring in a string of spy yarns and comedies. Then someone had the notion: Why can't we make Westerns in Europe?

Lex starred in the first one, "Still swinging from trees?"

'Call Off Your Computer, I'm Spindled and Mutilated'

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — A mere man has again triumphed over the onslaught of a computer gone mad — but only after his nerves were folded, spindled and mutilated.
The "infernal machine" began haunting Dr. George B. Kauffman, a Fresno State College chemistry professor, shortly after he ordered three copies of a chemistry book from a New York firm last February.
Three books arrived in March, but they were the wrong books. He followed up with another letter saying he needed the right books urgently, and they finally arrived in June — after the semester ended.
That's when the professor made his mistake. He sent the books back.
Suddenly he began getting bills for the books... and more bills... and still more bills.

ENDLESS STREAM
"I received an endless stream of these documents — always in duplicate — under every possible combination and permutation of my name and for different amounts and under different account numbers," Kauffman said. "One day, I received four bills."
Finally, in desperation, Kauffman fired off a plea to the company.
"Dear computer," he wrote. "I know that you must be a computer because you have hounded me inexorably with a mechanical obstinacy and an unwillingness to listen to reason."
The letter concluded: "Are you listening, computer? I don't owe you any money — honest to God!"
ELUDE COMPUTER
In some strange manner, the letter managed to elude the computer and fell into the hands of a human, the treasurer of the New York firm. The firm offered "humble apologies" and offered to send three books — free.
"I promise that I will send them secretly so that our computer won't be aware of it," the treasurer wrote. "We are attempting to calm the machine and make it forget you."
Kauffman's composure has improved steadily. He's been opening his mail again.

Says JFK's Mother

'Library Best Memorial'

BOSTON (AP) — "My son would have wanted not a statue or a fountain but a vital center of thought and education," Rose Kennedy told a Massachusetts legislative committee.
Mrs. Kennedy, 75, appeared before the committee to express her family's support of a proposal to use the site of a railroad yard near Harvard Square in Cambridge for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

Elm Street artery where Kennedy was shot on Nov. 22, 1963. Since that day, tourists have visited the site by the thousands.
"It became quite obvious that the need for an explanatory marker was absolutely essential," L. B. Houston, parks director, said.

First Aid Course Will Open Monday

A 16-hour course in advanced first aid instruction will open Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the American Red Cross Oakland County regional office, 118 Franklin.
Open to the public, the course will consist of eight two-hour classes taught on successive Monday nights.
Richard Thacker, 7374 Woodridge, West Bloomfield Township, a volunteer Red Cross certified first aid instructor, will conduct the classes.

"My son never thought in terms of a memorial for himself," she said but added that if he had, a memorial in the form of a library for active young scholars and their teachers would have been just what he'd have wanted.
Massachusetts has under consideration legislation enabling it to buy the 12 acres along the banks of the Charles River and opposite Harvard University dormitories. The land would be purchased from the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority for an estimated $6 million.

FINAL BARRIER
"If this land can be obtained, the last barrier to the construction of the library will be eliminated and our dreams can become realities," she said.
Not long before Kennedy's death, he chose a site on the opposite side of the river for archives for his presidential papers.

But, after his assassination, the plans were expanded to include the library and Institute of Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, which supplied Kennedy with many key members of his administration.

In Dallas, Tex., Thursday, park officials announced that a bronze marker with maps and descriptive material will be placed near the point on the TRICK OR TREAT—This fierce-looking gorilla isn't really a way to frighten children. It poses an invitation for children to call on Mr. and Mrs. Edward Willes of Baltimore, Md., this Halloween. Mrs. Willes, looking at the beast, said her husband made it to encourage youngsters' interest in Halloween. The gorilla will shortly be joined by a life-sized witch and a bat that runs on an overhead cable.

From Ford Foundation

Orchestras to Get Funds

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Foundation has announced grants and endowment funds totaling $85 million for about 50 symphony orchestras throughout the United States.

With matching funds raised by the orchestras in many cases, the program could result in 10 years in a total of $167 million in new support for symphonic development.

The foundation, the nation's largest philanthropic trust, announced the new program Thursday. The orchestras to receive the grants from $600,000 to $2.5 million have not yet been chosen. The Kalamazoo and Detroit symphony orchestras are among those named as potential recipients.

The Ford Foundation's music program is aimed at strengthening the finances of orchestras by increasing their seasons, improving the financial state of musicians through longer employment, increasing quality by enabling musicians to devote their major energies to orchestras, and attracting more talented young people to professional careers in music.

MUSIC TO THOUSANDS

Through the new program, orchestras will be able to tour schools and communities in their regions and bring music to hundreds of thousands of persons who have never attended a concert.

The program will be in two forms:—Direct grants totaling $21 million.

—Grants for endowment based on a $64 million trust fund to be established by the foundation, which the orchestras will be required to match with funds raised from other sources on a one-to-one or two-to-one basis.

Orchestras will receive a share of the annual income of the fund. The fund will be liquidated after 10 years, and the capital will be transferred to the orchestras. Thus—with matching funds raised by the orchestras—a total of $165 million new support for symphonic development could result.

The orchestras being considered for the program are classified as "major" and "metropolitan" by the American Symphony Orchestra League, the service organization of the symphony world.

Major orchestras engage players on seasonal contracts and have annual budgets of $250,000 or more. Metropolitan orchestras have budgets between $100,000 and $250,000.

Court Action Threat in Boycott of Schools

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The parents of thousands of children who joined in Milwaukee's longest public school boycott today faced the possibility of prosecution.

The boycott ended yesterday in its fourth day. It had caused a controversy in Roman Catholic ranks over participation of the clergy and brought a threat from boycott leader Lloyd Barbee of selective actions against individual schools in the future.

Barbee, the only Negro in the state legislature, said the civil rights activities would be continued until the school system "gives evidence of implementing a clearly stated policy of desegregation."

The immediate problem facing the schools today was what to do about the thousands of children who stayed out of classes, some of them attending "freedom schools."

The boycotting children, out of class for three and one-half days, were given certificates yesterday noon for "freedom schools" to carry to their principals.

The certificates read: "On Oct. 18, 1965, war was declared on unequal, segregated schools in the city of Milwaukee. (Name of student) took an active part in this historic battle for equal education and human dignity."

Boycott leaders said parents should send notes to school today saying their children were at "freedom schools" meeting requirements of the Wisconsin statutes (although the state refused to certify those schools) and that they were "not in proper mental or physical condition" to attend regular classes during the boycott.

Schools Supt. Harold S. Vincent said the certificate is meaningless, and the boycotting students will need a doctor's certification of illness as a reason for missing schools.

He said schools are expected to carry out their usual rules and disciplinary measures on truancy.

District Atty. Hugh O'Connell earlier declared the boycott illegal and said parents who kept their children out of classes could be prosecuted.

Court action against the truants could hold the risk of a judge agreeing with a defense plea that segregated and unequal schooling exists, which could force an immediate shake-up of the system.

No more boycotting was expected before Nov. 2, the date of the next scheduled school board meeting.

Announcement of Plans Near for Unpredictable De Gaulle

By HARVEY HUDSON
PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who once gave up his power, has promised to tell the nation by early November whether he will be a candidate for reelection in December.

Most Frenchmen expect the answer to be yes. Several papers recently said he had made up his mind to seek another seven-year term and would announce his decision next Monday.

Most of those convinced that he will run like to leave the door just a little bit open. Unpredictability has been a de Gaulle hallmark.

In 1964, he resigned as head of the provisional postwar government because he didn't like a constitution adopted against his will. He said it wouldn't work. It didn't in part because de Gaulle had enough supporters in Parliament to keep successive governments in constant turmoil.

CLOSE WATCH
Although he kept a close watch from the wings, de Gaulle was officially off the political scene 12 years. He was recalled in 1958 during the Algerian crisis.

De Gaulle will be 75 Nov. 22.

4p SPECIAL REPORT

He could decide he had earned retirement.

His wife, Yvonne, would love that. She longs to flee the restrictive formality of the Elysee Palace for the rustic simplicity of their country home at Colombey les Deux Eglises.

Among his contemporaries, he has seen Winston Churchill tightly embraced by England in crisis, then turned out of office when the crisis had passed. West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was pushed out of office by his own party, and never seemed able to understand he wasn't wanted. De Gaulle would never want his image tarnished by a historical accident or an unavoidable shift in public opinion.

DECRIES OLD AGE

In his memoirs, de Gaulle decried the fact that, at the age of 84, Marshal Philippe Petain signed the armistice halting the fighting between France and Hitler's Germany.

"Old age is a shipwreck," de Gaulle commented.

If he decides to take another seven-year term, he will be 87 when that term expires.

De Gaulle has appeared strong and firm of voice in recent public appearances. He had a major operation for removal of a prostate tumor in April 1964 and seemed to recover quickly.

DISDAINS GLASSES

He disdains eyeglasses in public, but an aide keeps close by to warn him of steps or unfamiliar obstacles.

De Gaulle's memory has let him down on relatively minor items during at least two of his semiannual news conferences. He carefully memorizes the discourse he intends to make and is able to talk for almost an hour, reciting complicated figures without a bobble.

But on one occasion, an aide had to remind him of a comment he wanted to make. Another time, two official "clarifications" had to be issued the following day.

De Gaulle's supporters consider any reasons cited for his retirement as only minor, negative arguments.

CITES DETAILS

At his September news conference, de Gaulle detailed how many Cabinet meetings he had attended, how many times he had received individual ministers, ambassador and foreign chiefs of state. Some interpreted this as a swan song. Others saw it as proof that he is in constant consultation and as refutation of charges that he makes decisions all alone.

If de Gaulle were to step aside, a propaganda buildup would be needed for a hand-picked successor. Premier Georges Pompidou seems the most likely heir-apparent, but there has been no sign of any unusual effort to sell Pompidou to the nation.

De Gaulle obviously does not think that his program has been completely achieved.

French representatives at the European Common Market headquarters in Brussels, Belgium, were called home in July, 1965, by the latest, the subordination known as integration which is provided for by NATO

supranationalism and a loss of that nothing can be done before the presidential election.

The same is true for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Last month, de Gaulle said "in 1969, by the latest, the subordination known as integration which is provided for by NATO

supranationalism and a loss of

On the home front, de Gaulle is still fighting the French parties that beat him on the constitution issue in 1964. His aim is the complete effacement of the splintered party system. He has reduced the parties' importance. Another seven years in the political wilderness would practically leave only Gaullist supporters with a national political image.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN
PROBLEM: The homing can. NEEDED: A coffee can, rubber bands, a heavy iron bolt or nuts.

DO THIS: Fasten the bands to the bottom and lid of the can, and attach the iron object in the middle of the bands. Put on the lid. Roll the can away and it will return.

HERE'S WHY: As the can rolls away the hanging weight does not turn as the bands twist.

This twisting builds up as energy in the bands. When the can stops rolling the energy can be released from the bands as they begin to untwist, rolling the can along in the opposite direction.

NEXT WEEK: Surface tension.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRD FEEDERS

QUESTION: What kind of feeding station should I put up to attract birds?

ANSWER: In some sections of the country, this is a good time of the year to think about bird-feeding stations. During the summer, the birds get along very well by themselves but in the winter they are very glad to find a little restaurant set up in the yard.

Birds being such shy creatures, it is wise to put out food now, to get them accustomed to know where to find it later on.

Our picture shows a platform Jenny has put on the outside of her window sill which gives her the fun of watching the birds closely.

Approach such a feeding station from the inside cautiously at first. After a while, the birds will become accustomed to a friend looking on.

At upper right is a feeding station, with a roof as protection, suspended on a wire which goes out from a window through a screw eye in a post or tree and back. With this, you can gradually accustom the birds to your presence, each time pulling the station a bit nearer.

Suet or beef fat can be bought cheaply at meat markets and is very popular with birds. You can bore holes in a post (right) and put suet in some and pegs for birds to perch in others.

Suet can be melted and put in an empty coconut or inside a quart jar which is tied under a hanging roof.

FOR YOU TO DO: Experiment with different foods to see which kinds the birds seem to like best. Try mixing crumbs with seeds and grains. Birds like chopped-up, hard-boiled eggs, oatmeal and broken up dog biscuits. You will be able to think up many other items for your bird menu.

Hanoi Link to China

Rails Are Main Bomb Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Communist China. Trains bound from one part of southern China to another must travel through Hanoi.

Thus, in addition to impeding the movement of Chinese aid into North Viet Nam, the U.S. bombing may also be disrupting Chinese communications to some extent.

U.S. jets have been hitting repeatedly at tracks, bridges and yards along the rail route extending to the northeast and northwest from Hanoi. Highways and highway bridges also have been smashed.

DISPUTE CLAIM
Officials disclosed this while disputing allegations by Gen.

Curtis E. LeMay, retired Air Force chief of staff, that not enough air power is being used in the Viet Nam war.

LeMay, former head of the Strategic Air Command, told a luncheon Thursday honoring him as winner of the 1965 Collier Trophy that because of a hold-back in air power "there are people still getting killed who shouldn't be killed."

The U.S. officials defended U.S. bombing policy, saying it has been directed at destroying military targets and trying to stop the flow of men and arms into South Viet Nam, rather than being an offensive to destroy North Viet Nam's economy.

These officials described the bombing as pursuing "limited objectives." Citing results, they said 130 bridges important links on roads and railroads — have been made impassable.

About 90 per cent of the traffic in Communist soldiers and weapons bound for South Viet Nam travels over North Viet Nam's rail and road network, these officials estimated.

Thursday, officials also reported:

More than 20 sites for Soviet-built antiaircraft missiles have been spotted in North Viet Nam. Most are not operational.

About 25,000 Viet Cong soldiers have been killed in Viet Nam this year, but despite the losses the number of Communist regular and irregular troops has increased in the past four months. Last year's Viet Cong losses were placed at 17,000.

Twenty-eight American servicemen were killed in action in the week ended last Monday. Since January 1961, 530 Americans have been killed.

And, in a Senate speech, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said there are clear signs Viet Cong morale is beginning to crack. The Communists, he said, now realize they cannot win the war and "hope to achieve at the conference table the victory which has been denied them on the field of battle."

Cong Capture Seething Marine in Viet U.S. Civilian Blasts Antiwar Protests

SAIGON (UPI) — An American civilian has been kidnapped by Viet Cong guerrillas while on a daring attempt to travel 200 miles up the South Vietnamese coast by motor scooter.

U.S. Embassy officials identified the missing man as Joe L. Dodd, 24, whose next of kin was identified as his stepfather, Homer Dodd of Paoli, Okla.

Embassy records showed Dodd was born in Lockney, Tex.

Dodd, an employee of the Raymond Morrison-Knudsen Construction Co., was reported missing after leaving Saigon Oct. 13 on a motor scooter with the intention of driving to Cam Ranh Bay.

Vietnamese police said Dodd was stopped by guerrillas on a highway in Long Khanh Province, about 50 miles north of Saigon, and was last seen being led across a rice field. His motor scooter was later recovered.

The police did not give the exact date of Dodd's capture by the Communists.

Between 70,000 and 80,000 families are displaced each year because of public construction projects, including urban renewal work, public housing and road building activity.

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — An angry young Marine lieutenant fighting in Viet Nam said today he has "begun to develop a hatred for some of you" antiwar demonstrators.

"I am speaking to those of you who carry idiotic placards denouncing our stand in Viet Nam and march in circles that closely resemble your pattern of thinking," wrote Lt. Ward S. Johnson.

"And I am speaking to you 'intellectuals,' college students and professors, who undermine our efforts with your teachings. And I am speaking to those of you who have called the Marines in Viet Nam animals, butchers and killers of women and children."

Johnson, 24, wrote to his wife, Stephanie, and asked that she offer the letter to their hometown newspaper, the Moline Daily Dispatch. The newspaper printed the letter today.

BROAD GRIN
The lieutenant suggested that "you do not offer your remarks" about butchers and killers of women and children "directly to a Marine who has returned home from Viet Nam."

"I'm sure that he will have a broad grin of satisfaction on his face when he appears in court to answer to charges of assault and battery."

He said a "feeling inside of me has nearly reached the boiling point for another group of you — the ever-increasing group of American youths that practices the art of draft-dodging."

Johnson criticized hurry-up marriages to beat draft deadlines, adding, "I'll bet you're real proud of yourselves," in a direct reference to young men.

TEEMING WITH RATS

He described conditions in Viet Nam as filthy and said the "countryside is teeming with rats every bit as large as our corn-fed Midwest variety."

His platoon "of war babies and high school dropouts" fighting in the Chu Lai area since May has been "tremendous."

A University of Illinois graduate who enlisted in the Marine Corps, Johnson directed another portion of his letter to "the rest of you Americans" who are only observers of the antiwar demonstrations.

"Doesn't that group of babbling nitwits that denounce our stand in Viet Nam arouse your anger?"

"How in the hell can you permit the voices of a few thousand to be heard above your millions?"

"When are your demonstrations and teach-ins being held?"

The more you drink Soft Whiskey, the harder it gets to drink anything else.

It's easy to develop a taste for the easy life. (Especially after you've had it hard all your life.)

It's the same story with Soft Whiskey. It's a lot easier to swallow. And a lot easier all the way down. It's like having that "taste of honey."

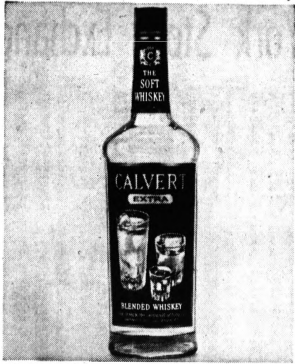

But don't get the idea that Soft Whiskey's for soft people. Uh uh! It's 86 proof and does exactly what any 86 proof does. It just does it softer. So take it easy.

While we're on the subject, one way we soften Soft Whiskey is by doing some distilling in small batches as opposed to large ones. The rest of the process will have to remain our secret. Other distillers have been searching for a Soft Whiskey for years now. And even we failed thousands of times in year after year of experiments before we got it.

Forgive us for seeming so cagey. But quite honestly, after all our work we wouldn't want to have you drinking anything else.

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOB A. SON

Both South players had a bidding problem on board 15 of the international match. At each table North had opened with one diamond and a rebid to one spade after South responded one heart. The American South players had a pessimistic and merely bid two hearts. This wasn't the worst underbid of all time or even a bad underbid. If North should happen to have a hand best holding the chances are that two hearts would be the correct bid.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY MARR

"The wise man controls his destiny. The fool is controlled by his." Aries (March 21 to April 19): Go with the tide. Along with people, be happy to have a hand best holding the chances are that two hearts would be the correct bid. Unfortunately for America North held ace and one heart as part of a slightly better than minimum hand. North passed and South had to play two hearts. The Italians put up their usual good defense.

The seven of clubs was opened and East won with the king. He returned the deuce of diamonds to his partner's king. Black came to diamond. East took his ace and played ace and another club. South discarded a spade and the defense had five tricks in before South could make a move. Of course, he did make the rest of the tricks for his part score contract. At the other table South jumped to three hearts and North made the winning decision. He went to three no trump! The play at three no-trump was short and sweet from the Italian standpoint. West opened the ace of clubs and continued with the king and ten to set up two more club tricks for himself. He also held the ace of diamonds for an entry, but none of

WSU to Ask for Fund Hike

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne State University will ask the Legislature for a 42 per cent hike—$11.26 million in operating money for the 1966-67 academic year.

The school's board of governors Wednesday asked to seek a $7,947,167 state allocation for 1966-67. This was compared with the current, 1965-66 allocation of $26,883,847, the school said.

If granted, the additional money would provide approximately $9 million to increase salaries of faculty members and other employees and would allow the hiring of 586 additional employees, a Wayne spokesman said.

In other action, the board named Dr. Tommy N. Evans as professor of obstetrics and gynecology in the Wayne State School of Medicine.

DOCTOR RETIRING

Evans, formerly professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Michigan Medical Center, will replace Dr. Harold C. Mack as chairman of the school's obstetrics and gynecology department in January, 1966. Dr. Mack is retiring from the chairmanship on that date.

Dr. Clement A. Fox of Milwaukee was named professor and chairman of the School of Medicine's Anatomy Department. Fox, former associate chairman of the Marquette University School of Medicine Anatomy Department, will fill a vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Ferdinando Marin.

The Wayne governors also accepted gifts, grants and contracts totaling $1,778,195.

Wilson's 'Week' Promises Thrilling Time for Wives

By EARL WILSON

The National "Be-Kind-To-Your-Wife" Week is going to be observed next week . . . and we'd like to ask your help . . . we'll probably need some.

Since next week looks like a dull week, I decided to have Wives' Week next week. I invented National Be-Kind-To-Your-Wife Week, and may be the only person observing it, so I can have it when I want it, can't I?

"How can your husband be kinder to you?" I asked various wives at El Morocco's spectacular first anniversary party under John Mills the other morning.

"He could stay in bed longer cold mornings," said Mrs. Saul Brown. Eva Gabor, wife of Saul Brown's son Richard Brown, said, "He should always call before he comes home."

"He should never confess anything that he's not likely to get caught at," said a lady I haven't mention.

The Midnight Earl . . .
John Jacob Astor took Selene Walters to lunch at the very posh, executive Giovanni restaurant on E. 50th, next to the Little Theatre where the rich go to escape to peasants. . . Adam Clayton Powell and a pack of chums said, "No photograph!" when they visited upstairs at the Downstairs to hear Mabel Mercer, and repeated the command at Count Basie's and Wells' in Harlem.

Lena Horne's dr. Gail Lumet asked to be introduced on a "Girl Talk" TV as "Sidney Lumet's wife, not Lena Horne's daughter." . . . One of the major Hollywood stars of the year can't get into a Beverly Hills saloon — after he got loaded and drove his motorcycle in.

EARL'S PEARLS: Nonnee Coan of Norfolk sighs that things never seem to go right for him: "I wore a four-leaf clover for good luck — now I can't get the green stall off my lapel."

Ann Sothern, who plays the title role in "My Mother, the Car" (after touring in "Solid Gold Cadillac"), says, "I no longer go to my doctor for a checkup—I go to a garage for a tune-up." . . . That's earl, brother.

British Pan U.S. Sex in TV Show

LONDON (AP)—A BBC television look at the "American Way of Sex" was passed by a critic today as the "most tedious and ludicrous program of the week."

But a woman reviewer found it "madly interesting."

The British Broadcasting Corp. program Thursday night was a survey on sex in the United States conducted by Malcolm Muggeridge, former editor of the humor magazine "Punch."

"All we got were pictures of youngsters curled up together, erotic pop tunes and a dull string of people giving their banal opinions about free love," said the Daily Mirror's Ken Esau.

"I learned nothing new. . . I nominate this as the most tedious and ludicrous program of the week. There wasn't a sexy woman in it."

DISAGREEMENT

Mary Crozier of the Guardian disagreed. "I quite like Muggeridge as a prophet of doom," she wrote, "and I found the exploration of American sex madly interesting."

The Daily Telegraph's L. Marsland Gander called the program sickening and said: "Those who know the United States will recognize some familiar symptoms. Yet I cannot by any stretch regard this as a fair picture of life in the United States."

SEX EVERYWHERE
"With half-closed eyes he (Muggeridge) saw sex in everything. Even cars and houses were temples and symbols of it."

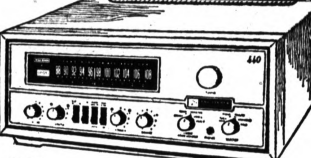

"The college campus, despite disavowals of the students, was, in fact, the scene of nameless orgies."

A BBC spokesman said the government-sponsored corporation had received some complaints because the program was screened at 9:25 p.m. and teen-agers watching it might be corrupted.

"When aren't teen-agers watching television?" he said. "This program was not visually erotic at all."

Word Power for Success—11

Rule for Adding Suffixes Affects Last Letter of Verb

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc.
Written for NEA Special Services
Two g's in begged, one l in coiled,
Displace the accent, and the rule is spoiled.
Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
In married, I wonder, two or one?

The verb, to mar, ends in a consonant. When we add the suffix, ed, we have marred. The final consonant r has been doubled before the suffix is added. Now see what happens with the verb, to soil. Add the same suffix, ed, and you have soiled.

Why was not the final consonant doubled, as happened with mar, before adding the suffix? Confer becomes conference, but admit becomes admittance.

Why is one final consonant of the verb doubled before adding the suffix while the final consonant of another verb is not doubled? The answer is all in the rhyme.

When a verb, ending with a single consonant (beg, mar, admit), is accented on the final syllable (that is, you stress the last syllable in pronouncing the verb), then double the final consonant, the word will have an altogether different pronunciation after the suffix is added.

LOSES THE SOUND
If we had begged (instead of begged), the e would lose the sound of e, as in met, and would have the sound of e, as in remark. If we wrote married (instead of married), the a would be sounded as the a in hare, and the original sound of a in mar would be lost. Admitted (instead of admitted) would have its i pronounced like i in kite instead of i as in hit.

Notice this however: We have been using only suffixes which begin with vowels. We say shipped in order to keep the original pronunciation of the i in ship; we also say shipment.

The point is this: Suffixes which begin with consonants will work no change at all in the pronunciation of the word, whereas suffixes beginning with a vowel will.

This, then, will be our general rule: Verbs which end in a single consonant (x equal to ks, would be double) and which are accented on the final syllable, will double that consonant when suffixes are added which begin with vowels.

FINAL CONSONANTS

Why, you should now wonder, don't such words as sail, soil, cool, hall and the like double their final consonants before suffixes are added which begin with a vowel? Why don't we sail, soiled, cooled, etc?

The reason is simple: Each of these words has a double vowel before the final consonant, and the double vowel is a strong sound which will not be changed by adding a suffix beginning with a vowel.

Which brings us back to the wisdom of the rule for doubling the final consonant: The consonant is doubled only to protect the pronunciation of the original verb.

Adding ed to cool does not affect the sound of the strong double vowel oo; adding it to sail does not change the strong double vowel, ai, in pronunciation.

DIFFERENT SOUND

As we saw, however, words like submit (the i sound like i in hit) would have an entirely different sound if you simply added suffixes which begin with vowels and did not double the final consonant. Submitted, without the double t, would have an i sound like the i in kite. "Two g's in begged, one l in coiled."

Only one little point remains to be added. If it happens that the accent of the original verb (example: confer) is moved to another syllable after the suffix has been added, then do not double the consonant (conference).

We have refer, referred, referring, but reference. Why? "Displace the accent and the rule is spoiled." Referred and referring kept the accent on the same syllable as the original refer, but reference has the accent on the first syllable, so "the rule is spoiled."

Before selecting the correctly spelled words below, check our rhyme once more and keep in mind the solid reasons behind this rule. The words in parentheses are the ones to consider; the word before the parentheses is the original verb.

- 1. lead (leader, leader).
- 2. bail (balled, bailed).
- 3. parallel (parallelism, parallelism).
- 4. acquit (acquittal, acquittal).
- 5. tar (tared, tarred).

ANSWERS

- 1. leader. 2. balled. 3. parallelism.
 - 4. acquittal. 5. tarred.

Schools Basis of Great Society—VP

In Adjournment Push

2 Bills Face Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress pushes toward adjournment today, still faced with final decisions on federal pay and sugar legislation.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen predicted final Congress would finish its work today, while other congressional leaders said the end would come by tomorrow at the latest.

As the session drew near a close, the Johnson administration saw money denied to start two of its "Great Society" programs when both Houses accepted the decision of Senate-House conferees to drop appropriations requests at this time for rent subsidy and teachers corps programs.

But the action scarcely dimmed the luster of a Congress which has given President Johnson practically every major bill for which he asked.

In both instances yesterday, the Senate backed down in the face of House insistence that funds be delayed until details of the programs can be further worked out.

ISSUES REMAIN

These issues remained to be settled:
● SUGAR. Senate and House conferees meet today to work out differences between the two chambers' measures setting foreign and domestic quotas for the U.S. sugar market.
Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee indicated he thinks there will be little difficulty in reaching an agreement. The Senate bill is more in line with administration recommendations.

● FEDERAL PAY. Prompt Senate passage was expected today of a bill with salary increases of 3.5 per cent effective Oct. 1 for 1.8 million federal workers.

The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee scaled down a House-passed bill calling for a 4 per cent raise — more than the administration favors. The House was expected to go along with Senate action in order to avoid the possibility of a presidential veto.

Before turning to the federal pay question, the Senate hoped to act on President Johnson's nomination of David G. Bressa to be U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

LIVED WANDERING LIFE—Blonde, blue-eyed Linda Lee Ridings, 6, was held in the Orange County, Calif., juvenile facility yesterday after police discovered that she is a girl missing since 1961. She was living with Miss Ramona Dougherty, 41, a full-blooded Indian migratory farm worker. Miss Dougherty was arrested on a charge of kidnapping.

Indian Woman Held

Find Girl Lost Since '61

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Blonde, blue-eyed Linda Lee Ridings, 6, reported kidnapped in 1961, has been found—after sharing the hard life of a migratory farm worker for four years.

Linda, a bright and cheerful girl, was found living with Ramona Dougherty, 41, a full-blooded Indian. Miss Dougherty was booked on suspicion of kidnapping.

Police detective Clarence Boyd said, "She said at first the child was given to her. Then she admitted taking her." Boyd quoted her as saying: "Yes, I kidnapped her as a baby and took her to Oklahoma."

Boyd said police have been unable to locate Linda's mother, Barbara Ridings, 25, who moved from her last-known address in Los Angeles six months ago.

Investigators said Linda was first taken to Oklahoma City, where Miss Dougherty was born. They joined the farm labor circuit, traveling through the Midwest.

CHILD MISSING

Los Angeles Police Department records show that Mrs. Ridings reported the child missing in June 1961. She told police Linda and Miss Dougherty, the child's baby-sitter since birth, disappeared the previous March, while she was on a trip to Florida.

The records also showed that Mrs. Ridings was separated from her husband, Herbert, and that she had told police Miss Dougherty had wanted to adopt Linda herself and have her baptized.

Linda came to police attention on Oct. 14, when officer Woody Williams stopped to question a man sitting with Linda in a parked car.
The man, Wilfred Leroy Green, 37, Santa Ana, was booked on Oct. 18 on suspicion of child molesting and released on $500 bond. He was ordered to appear in court on Nov. 2.

Jet Explodes in Air, Crashes Near Jackson

Two Kansas Pilots Die as Airplane Plunges Into a Wooded Area

JACKSON (UPI) — A Lear Jet Corp. plane exploded in flight and came crashing to earth "like a Fourth of July fireworks" northeast of here last night, killing two test pilots.

The jet, belonging to one of Lear's distributors, Robert Graf of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., dug an 18-foot square, eight feet deep crater and pushed the dirt before it more than 50 yards in a wooded area on the north shore of Eagle Lake about four miles from here.

William Lear, president of the jet company in Wichita, Kan., identified the victims as Glen David, about 30, and Larry Banhol, about 25, both from Wichita.

The two pilots were the only ones aboard the craft which was bound for Wichita from Detroit's Metropolitan Airport.
John Kohn, a guard at Southern Michigan Prison here, was on duty when he saw the jet explode "like a Fourth of July fireworks" and come to earth in a flaming crash.

PIECES SCATTERED

The area on the north shore of Eagle Lake is owned by the Michigan Audubon Society. Firemen and State Police said they found pieces of the fuselage about a foot in diameter scattered throughout an area from the spot where the plane crashed.

Russell Morton, who lives on the south shore of the lake and has hunted through the entire area, said he saw the explosion and immediately notified authorities. He directed firemen and troopers through the wooded area.

Russell said all the trees within a mile radius looked like a tornado had hit them.

He said the smaller trees were uprooted and the entire area was covered with jet fuel.
Lear said the plane had just undergone a major overhaul and was not yet ready to be delivered to Graf.

Rain to Stop —for a While

What's the weather prediction? Will it rain?

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports today's light showers will end by late afternoon leaving skies partly cloudy and temperatures cooler, lows near 38 to 45.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and warmer, and there's a chance of a few more showers by afternoon with highs about 55 to 62. Sunday's forecast is partly cloudy and cooler.

Temperatures fell from 60 yesterday to 46 to 48 at 6 a.m. today. The 1 p.m. recording was 49.

Big Draft Call Set for County in December

Michigan draft boards yesterday were ordered to deliver 3,394 men for induction during December, including 237 from Oakland County.

Included in the county figure are 139 from the three Pontiac boards, 45 from Farmington and 53 from Royal Oak.

Draft boards also were requested to speed up classification actions, including the review of all previous deferments, in an effort to make sufficient manpower available to meet current calls.

On a statewide basis, Oakland County's quota was second only to Wayne County, which was given a figure of 1,019.

MEN 19 OR OLDER

Col. Arthur Holmes, state director of Selective Service, said the December call will be filled with men 19 or older and men who were married after Oct. 26, 1965.

The largest previous monthly request this year had been 2,625 for November. The lowest figure was 284 for February.

KICK FOR CONG SUSPECT — A Vietnamese soldier aims a kick at a suspected Viet Cong guerrilla in fighting near Xom Chua yesterday. Government troops raided the Plain of Reeds area yesterday, killed some 43 suspected Cong and captured 15. (See story, page A-2)

Senate, Governor? Romney Undecided

TOKYO (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan said today he had not yet made up his mind whether to run for the U.S. Senate next year or for another term as governor.

Romney, one of nine American governors attending the annual U.S.-Japan Governors' conference, made no mention of seeking the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

He said some moves within the Republican party to block potential candidates were "suicidal." Romney, himself a potential candidate for president, did not elaborate.

The governor said in an interview he hoped the GOP could "pull itself together" before the next presidential election. He praised the new Republican National Coordinating Committee for working to provide unified leadership.

Looking ahead to the visit he and the other governors will make to South Viet Nam after they leave Japan, Romney said he will tell U.S. servicemen there that the "bulk of the people" support U.S. policy on Viet Nam.

He said anti-Viet Nam demonstrators represent a small fraction of the American public "but create more news than justified."

In effect, this short-circuits the federal judicial process by skipping U.S. district and appellate courts — where litigation could easily consume a full year — and placing the case immediately in the hands of the highest court.

The Justice Department specifically asked the court to affirm the constitutionality of those provisions of the act suspending literacy tests, authorizing federal registrars and requiring local registrars to enroll those voters approved by the federal officials.

But the governor said not enough social and economic aid is being given to the South Vietnamese people.

"They need to feel real hope in connection with our effort here," he said.

Quits the Klan, Yields Records

'God, Country Come First,' Says Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Goldsboro, N.C., Ku Klux Klansman resigned from the Klan today in a congressional witness chair, saying he believed God and his country should come before any Klan vows.
Joseph G. DuBois, a used car salesman who said he was treasurer of the Goldsboro Klan, turned over records and documents of his unit to the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The committee, which is making a general investigation of the Klan, had subpoenaed the records.

In sessions of the investigation earlier this week, higher leaders of the Klan had refused to turn over any records or answer any questions.

DuBois, earnest and nervous, told the committee he had been advised to "stand on the Fifth Amendment." But he said "I think that will not help my record."

'VOICES ARE SECONDARY'

"I have no intention to take the fifth no matter what."

The Fifth Amendment to the Constitution provides no one can be forced to give testimony that would incriminate him.

This amendment was invoked by previous Klan witnesses, including Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton of the United Klans of America, in refusing to answer questions.

Though refusing to talk when in the witness chair, Shelton has been a talkative man when out of it.

"You don't see me worried, do you?" he said to reporters yesterday.

Humphrey Due to Talk at OU in State Visit

Notes U.S. Need for 400,000 Classrooms in Next Five Years

In a prepared speech to be delivered today at Oakland University, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey pointed to education as the foundation of the Great Society.

Americans cannot live successfully in the society we are building," he said in the prepared text.

He noted, however, that 400,000 more classrooms will be needed in the next five years to care for an additional four million youngsters.

"Today, 54 million young people are in school — one-fourth of our total population," the vice president said. "This tidal wave of enrollment presents a challenge to our 125,000 schools, 100,000 administrators and two million teachers."

FAR-REACHING LEGISLATION

Humphrey said that "Under the leadership of President Johnson we have enacted in this session of Congress the most far-reaching education legislation in history."

"These programs will help us to prepare today to meet tomorrow's demands. And they will enhance the educational opportunity here in Michigan."

The speech was one of three scheduled by the vice president during a visit to the Detroit area.

This morning he was scheduled to speak at the dedication of the new $4 million Adlai E. Stevenson High School in Livonia. Tonight he is to speak at the Economic Club of Detroit at Cobo Hall.

Bad Weather Causes Veep to Arrive Late

DETROIT (AP)—Cloudy skies and rain delayed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's arrival today for a scheduled round of speaking appearances in the Detroit area.

The vice president's plane landed at Detroit Metropolitan Airport at 10:40 a.m. Humphrey had been scheduled to arrive at 9 a.m. but bad weather delayed his departure from Buffalo, N.Y.

Humphrey had scheduled morning appearances at Livonia and Rochester and was to appear before the Detroit Economic Club tonight.

Humphrey extolled the U.S. as a "noble idea" of man capable of resisting all physical force in a prepared declaration speech for Livonia's new $4 million Adlai E. Stevenson High School.

The ceremony, originally slated for the school site, was scheduled to be held in Livonia's Franklin Auditorium because of rain.

IDEA MOVES

"But that nation does not exist that is powerful enough to kill it. For the idea moves forward."

2 Fly to Freedom in West

BERNAU, Germany (UPI) — An East German aircraft mechanic flying an airplane for the first time and a Czech helicopter pilot escaped to West Germany yesterday in widely separated freedom flights over the Iron Curtain.

The helicopter pilot, who said he was a former captain in the Czech air force, flew more than 200 miles from Prague to a U.S. Army recreation center in southern Germany where amazed GIs watched him land in a parking lot.

He told of hugging the tree tops to avoid detection by Communist radar.

"It's a miracle I managed to take off and land at all," the daring novice aviator said.

"I've worked on planes and I read up a lot on flying, but I never handled the controls before in my life. To escape on my first flight—that's a bonus miracle."

He said he decided to risk the flight because he was "fed up with life in East Germany."

The Czech, who identified himself as Jan Nemec, 28, made his escape in a four-seat helicopter of the government-run Czech Airlines. He said he wanted to be reunited with relatives living in Munich and Graz, Austria.

PRAGUE TAKEOFF
Nemec said he took off from Prague shortly before noon yesterday on an authorized flight to Budejovice, a Czech city 100 miles to the south.

Fulbright: Policy Vexes U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said today a large sector of the American public shares his concern about U.S. Latin-American policy.

In a prepared Senate speech, Fulbright said he does not believe that his criticism of U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic was irresponsible. And he said he does not take kindly to allegations it gave aid and comfort to this country's enemies.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added: "An interesting discussion could be developed as to whether it is my criticisms of U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic or the policy itself which has given aid and comfort to our enemies."

He said that his Senate speech criticizing landing of American troops in the Dominican Republic brought a great deal of press and periodical comment. "Much of it favorable, much of it unfavorable."

EXPRESSES CONCERN

But of the more than 1,500 letters he has received, he declared, approximately 90 per cent "expressed concern about the way in which the United States intervened in Santo Domingo."

"This public reaction suggests that a large sector of the American public shares my concern about the Latin-American policy of the United States," he continued.

"Many of the letters I received expressed concern about the role of the Department of Defense and the role of the Central Intelligence Agency in the conduct of American foreign policy."

State Hospital Project Eyed

Area Junior Chamber of Commerce units together with Pontiac State Hospital staff members plan to establish a sheltered workshop at the hospital.

The workshop would provide a more thorough training and re-training program for the patients and enable doctors to learn more about work tolerances and aptitudes of specific patients.

The Jaycees would supply needed materials for the workshop such as tables and chairs.

Proposed activities will include gift-wrapping, simple assembly and sorting jobs.

Jaycee groups participating in the project include Auburn Heights, Davisburg, Holly, Pontiac, Union Lake and Waterford.

Representatives from these Jaycee organizations plan to visit a hospital presently utilizing a sheltered workshop to develop ideas for the Pontiac State Hospital facility.

AN OBLIGATION

"It is an obligation, I believe, which is inherent in the chairmanship, which takes precedence over party loyalty, and which has nothing to do with whether the chairman's views are solicited or desired by the people in the executive branch he added."

He criticized lack of Republican debate on the wisdom of the policy. The real question, it seems intervention by saying it was his to me, is whether I had the right responsibility to comment "be not to speak."

cause the political opposition, whose function it is to criticize, was simply not doing so."

"It did not because it obviously approved of U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic and presumably, had it been in office, would have done the same thing," the senator continued.

Under these circumstances, I am not impressed with suggestions that I had no right to speak as I did on Santo Domingo debate on the wisdom of the policy. The real question, it seems intervention by saying it was his to me, is whether I had the right responsibility to comment "be not to speak."

Wings at Montreal Saturday

Howe Starts 20th Season

By JERE CRAIG
"Gordie Howe is the greatest of them all!"

All Detroit Red Wing fans' hearts warm immediately toward any National Hockey League enthusiast who would admit such sentiments.

His boosters in Canada—even a non-ardent Toronto and Montreal fans—are considerable.

Undeniable proof of this acceptance came three winters ago when a Canadian recording group's vocal rendition of those sentiments became an immediate hit record... even before "No. 9 of the Red Wings" set two of hockey's most cherished records.

It wasn't until the following fall that Howe broke the career, regular-season goal-scoring mark, and it was last autumn that he surpassed the career total goals record.

Wednesday night at Montreal "Mr. Red Wing" played in his 17th NHL All-Star game and he led the All-Stars to a 5-2 victory over the Canadiens with two goals and two assists.

Tomorrow night he will return to the Forum where the Detroit Red Wings open the season against Montreal.

GOOD START

Howe is ready for this campaign almost without a perceptible dimming of his talents from his initial appearance as an 18-year-old newcomer in 1946.

In the Red Wings' recent concluded exhibition contests, he led the scorers with 15 points (including nine goals). This included two hat tricks (three goals in one game).

The six-time winner of the league's Art Ross Scoring Championship Trophy and, also, the Hart Most Valuable Player Trophy—both NHL records—is highly respected by opponents not only for his scoring but also his equally efficient rugged body contact, carefully honed with 19 years' playing experience. Howe's physical condition is a amazing. He has not missed more than six games in any season for the past 16 campaigns.

Two-Platoon Takes Longer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Eastern College Athletic Conference said Thursday that the first 106 football games played in its circuit this fall under the new two-platoon rule averaged six minutes longer than the games of last year.

Average time through games of Oct. 9, the ECAC survey showed, was 2 hours, 13 minutes. Last year the average time was 2:19. In 1950, last year of the original two-platoon era, the time was 2:25.

YOUNG AT HEART—Veteran Gordie Howe, the "old man" of the Detroit Red Wings at the age of 37, led the National Hockey League All-Stars to a 5-2 victory over the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night. Saturday night he begins his 20th season in the NHL as the Red Wings return to the Montreal Forum to meet the Canadiens in the regular season opener. In the All-Star game, Howe had two goals and two assists. In was the 17th time he has played in the game. Sunday night the Red Wings will open the home season at the Detroit Olympia when they entertain the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Huskies of Pontiac Northern have four games remaining on the 1965 grid-iron schedule, and although they have lost 13 games in a row, the team could make it a successful season with three wins in the next four outings.

Three of those four opponents are in the prestige class—Waterford, Kettering and Pontiac Central.

And wins over those three would make the fans forget the current losing string.

The Skippers of Waterford come first—tonight at 8 o'clock at Wisner Stadium in PNH's Homecoming outing.

The meeting will be the seventh in the series between the two schools. The Huskies hold a 3-2-1 edge.

SCORING PROBLEM

The Huskies have played good defensive ball, but the team has had its trouble pushing the ball across the goal line.

In five starts this season, the Huskies have produced only 14 points.

On the other hand, Waterford has been held scoreless only once this season in a 2-3 record—a 14-0 beating inflicted by Walled Lake.

In their other two losses, the Skippers were in the game all the way before losing to Southfield, 12-7, and they were stopped just short of the goal line last week in the closing minutes of a 13-7 setback at Roseville.

Big Stakes for MSU-Purdue

Boilermaker Aerials Biggest Danger

Michigan Will Face Strong Pass Attack

What is at stake when Michigan State and Purdue tangle Saturday afternoon at Lafayette, Ind.?

Maybe the question should be—What isn't at stake?

The lead in the Big 10 race, a high national ranking and a stronger scent of Roses—what else is there?

The two are part of a four-way tie atop the Big Ten standings, along with Minnesota and Wisconsin. State has a 3-4 conference slate. The others are 2-4 each.

However, both the Spartans and Boilermakers are undefeated for the season to date, something which the other two cannot say, and rank in the top ten nationally in both wire service polls.

Such high status is exactly what had been forecast for Purdue in the pre-season guessing game. But Michigan State has been a surprise even to its own partisans. A middle-of-the-pack Big Ten finish and no national rating was the general augury for State.

AERIAL ARTIST

State (5-0) and Purdue (4-0-1) will afford an interesting contrast in the styles of play. The Boilermakers love to throw the ball, and with talented quarterback Bob Griese flinging the pigskin to a whole squadron of receivers headed by ace end Bob Hadrick, they do it very well.

State, on the other hand, is essentially a running team. Sophomore fullback Bob Apisa with 399 yards and junior halfback Clinton Jones with 392 yards are the main legmen.

Michigan's pass defense, riddled by Purdue's Bob Griese in the second half last week, is expected to get another workout Saturday when the Wolverines play Minnesota at Minneapolis in the annual Little Brown Jug game.

John Hankinson, the Go-phers' quarterback, is rated a major passing threat.

Although he didn't get much chance to throw in the 14-3 win over Iowa in the rain last week, the Michigan scouts are warning the Wolverines that Hankinson is a dangerous passer.

He holds virtually every passing mark in the Minnesota record book.

The victory over Iowa gave Minnesota a 2-0 Big Ten record. Indiana was the other victim, 42-18.

In non-conference tilts, the Boilermakers tied Southern California, 20-20; lost to Washington, 14-13; and to Missouri, 17-6.

Michigan has possession of the Jug on the strength of a 19-12 victory last season. Saturday's tilt will be Minnesota's Homecoming.

THIRD LOSS

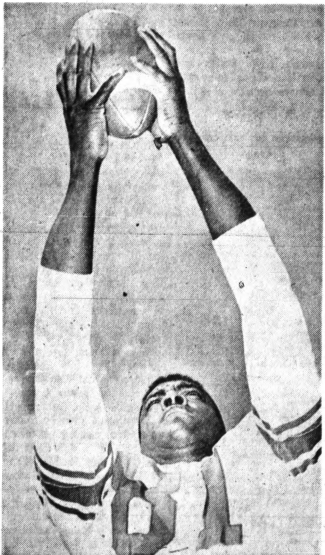

The Wolverines were greatly improved against Purdue last Saturday, but still lost, 17-15. The defeat by the Boilermakers marked their second Big Ten loss and their third straight of the season.

Previously they were downed by Georgia, 15-7, and Michigan State, 24-7.

Despite the loss to the Boilermakers the Wolverines played their best game of the season.

Wally Gabler turned in a twilight job at quarterback, running the team well and firing a 40-yard touchdown pass to Jack Clancy. He completed nine of 28 passes for 137 yards without interception.

Clancy continued to lead Wolverine receivers as he gained 125 yards on eight receptions to bring his total for five games to 25 for 369 yards and two touchdowns.

BACK ON TRACK—Dick "Night Train" Lane, one of the all-time great defensive backs of the NFL will be back on track again Sunday when the Detroit Lions face the Chicago Bears. The Lions reactivated Lane after a series of injuries depleted their defensive backfield.

TRICK OR TREAT—This fierce-looking gorilla isn't really a way to frighten children. It poses an invitation for children to call on Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wittes of Baltimore, Md., this Halloween. Mrs. Wittes, looking at the beast, said her husband made it to encourage youngsters' interest in Halloween. The gorilla will shortly be joined by a life-sized witch and a bat that runs on an overhead cable.

From Ford Foundation

Orchestras to Get Funds

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Foundation has announced grants and endowment funds to totaling $85 million for about 50 symphony orchestras throughout the United States.

With matching funds raised by the orchestras in many cases, the program could result in 10 years in a total of $180 million in new support for symphonic development.

The foundation, the nation's largest philanthropic trust, announced the new program Thursday. The orchestras to receive the grants from $600,000 to $2.5 million have not yet been chosen. The Kalamazoo and Detroit symphony orchestras are among those named as potential recipients.

The Ford Foundation's music program is aimed at strengthening the finances of orchestras by increasing their seasons, improving the financial state of musicians through longer employment, increasing quality by enabling musicians to devote their major energies to orchestras, and attracting more talented young people to professional careers in music.

MUSIC TO THOUSANDS

Through the new program, orchestras will be able to tour schools and communities in their regions and bring music to hundreds of thousands of persons who have never attended a concert.

The program will be in two forms:

—Direct grants totaling $21 million.

—Grants for endowment based on a $64 million trust fund to be established by the foundation, which the orchestras will be required to match with funds raised from other sources on a one-to-one or two-to-one basis.

Orchestras will receive a share of the annual income of the fund. The fund will be liquidated after 10 years, and the capital will be transferred to the orchestras. Thus — with matching funds raised by the orchestras—a total of $165 million new support for symphonic development could result.

The orchestras being considered for the program are classified as "major" and "metropolitan" by the American Symphony Orchestra League, the service organization of the symphony world.

Major orchestras engage players on seasonal contracts and have annual budgets of $250,000 or more. Metropolitan orchestras have budgets between $100,000 and $250,000.

Court Action Threat in Boycott of Schools

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The parents of thousands of children who joined in Milwaukee's longest public school boycott today faced the possibility of prosecution.

The boycott ended yesterday in its fourth day. It had caused a controversy in Roman Catholic ranks over participation of the clergy and brought a threat from boycott leader Lloyd Barbee of selective actions against individual schools in the future.

Barbee, the only Negro in the state legislature, said the civil rights activities would be continued until the school system "gives evidence of implementing a clearly stated policy of desegregation."

The immediate problem facing the schools today was what to do about the thousands of children who stayed out of classes, some of them attending "freedom schools."

The boycotting children, out of class for three and one-half days, were given certificates yesterday noon from "freedom schools" to carry to their principals.

The certificates read: "On Oct. 18, 1965, war was declared on unequal, segregated schools in the city of Milwaukee. (Name of student) took an active part in this historic battle for equal education and human dignity."

Boycott leaders said parents should send notes to school today saying their children were at "freedom schools" meeting requirements of the Wisconsin statutes (although the state refused to certify those schools) and that they were "not in improper mental of physical condition" to attend regular classes during the boycott.

Schools Sp. Harold S. Vincent said the certificate is meaningless, and the boycotting students will need a doctor's certification of illness as a reason for missing schools.

He said schools are expected to carry out their usual rules and disciplinary measures on truancy.

District Atty. Hugh O'Connell earlier declared the boycott illegal and said parents who kept their children out of classes could be prosecuted.

Court action against the truants could hold the risk of a judge agreeing with a defense plea that segregated and unequal schooling exists, which could force an immediate shake-up of the system.

No more boycotting was expected before Nov. 2, the date of the next scheduled school board meeting.

Rule for Adding Suffixes Affects Last Letter of Verb

By The Reading Laboratory, Inc.
Written for NEA Special Services

Two g's in begged, one l in colled.
Displace the accent, and the rule is spoiled.
Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
In mared, I wonder, two or one?

The verb, to mar, ends in a consonant. When we add the suffix, ed, we have mared. The final consonant r has been doubled before the suffix is added.
Now see what happens with the verb, to soil. Add the same suf-fix, ed, and you have soiled.

Why was not the final consonant doubled, as happened with mar, before adding the suffix?
Confer becomes conference, but admit becomes admittance.

Why is one final consonant of the verb doubled before adding the suffix while the final consonant of another verb is not doubled? The answer is all in the rhyme.

When a verb, ending with a single consonant (beg, mar, admit), is accented on the final syllable (that is, you stress the last syllable in pronouncing the verb), then double the final consonant, the word will have an altogether different pronunciation after the suffix is added.

LOSES THE SOUND

If we had begged (instead of begged), the e would lose the sound of e, as in met, and would have the sound of e, as in remark. If we wrote mared (instead of mared), the a would be sounded as the a in hare, and the original sound of a in mar would be lost. Admitted (instead of admitted) would have its i pronounced like i in kite instead of i as in hit.

Notice this however: We have been using only suffixes which begin with vowels. We say shipped in order to keep the original pronunciation of the i in ship; we also say shipment.

The point is this: Suffixes which begin with consonants will work no change at all in the pronunciation of the word, whereas suffixes beginning with a vowel will.

This, then, will be our general rule: Verbs which end in a single consonant (e equal to ks, would be double) and which are accented on the final syllable, will double that consonant when suffixes are added which begin with vowels.

FINAL CONSONANTS

Why, you should now wonder, don't such words as sail, bail, cool, hail and the like double their final consonants before suffixes are added which begin with a vowel? Why don't we have sailed, soiled, cooled, etc?

The reason is simple: Each of these words has a double vowel before the final consonant, and the double vowel is a strong sound which will not be changed by adding a suffix beginning with a vowel.

Which brings us back to the wisdom of the rule for doubling the final consonant: The consonant is doubled only to protect the pronunciation of the original verb.

Adding ed to cool does not affect the sound of the strong double vowel oo; adding ing to sail does not change the strong double vowel, ai, in pronunciation.

DIFFERENT SOUND

As we saw, however, words like submit (the i sound like i in hit) would have an entirely different sound if you simply added suffixes which begin with vowels and did not double the final consonant. Submitted, without the double t, would have an sound like the i in kite. "Two g's in begged, one l in colled."

Only one little point remains to be added. If it happens that the accent of the original verb (example: confer is moved to another syllable after the suffix has been added), then do not double the consonant (conference).

We have refer, referred, referring, but reference. Why?
"Displace the accent and the rule is spoiled." Referred and referring kept the accent on the same syllable as the original referred suffixes which begin with for, but reference has the accent on the first syllable, so
"the rule is spoiled."

Before selecting the correctly spelled words below, check our rhyme once more and keep in mind the solid reasons behind this rule. The words in parentheses are the ones to consider; the word before the parentheses is the original verb.

1. lead (leader, leader).
2. bail (bailed, bailed).
3. parallel (parallelism, paral-lelism).
4. acquit (acquittal, acquittal).
5. tar (tared, tarred).

ANSWERS

1. leader. 2. bailed. 3. parallelism.
4. acquittal. 5. tarred.
