Expert Says UFO Photos Seem Authentic

DETROIT (AP)—One of the nation's leading experts on unidentified flying objects said today that photographs of a "flying saucer" taken near here last week are apparently authentic.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the astronomy department at Northwestern University, also said the pictures were strikingly similar to other pictures of UFOs he has investigated.

Hynke is a scientific adviser to the Air Force's Project Blue Book, which coordinates all UFO reports for the military.

Hynek's comments on the pictures were reported today in the Detroit News from what the News said was "an exclusive interview."

★ ★ ★

Hynek had examined negatives copied by the News from the original Polaroid prints taken last week near the Detroit suburb of Mount Clemens.

ANALYSIS

"Analysis so far does not show any indication of an obvious hoax," Hynek said.

"The striking thing to me is the similarity these pictures have to other photos I have seen and also to verbal descriptions I've taken from ostensibly reliable people," he added.

The disc-shaped object fits into a definite UFO class, Hynek said.

"To the best of my recollection even the 'antenna' shown on the back has been previously reported, as has the tail structure," he said.

TAKEN MONDAY

The pictures were reportedly taken around 2:30 p.m. last Monday by two Harrison Township youths, Grant Jaroslaw, 15, and his brother Dan, 17.

The youths said the object hovered over Lake St. Clair behind their home before speeding off to the southeast.

Hynek said the negatives are being analyzed by his photographic consultant, Fred H. Beckman.

"So often these reports and investigations go only to the head-scratching phase and no further," Hynek said. "I want to go as far as we can on these pictures."

FIRST TIME

Beckman, an expert in electron microscopy and precision photography, said it was "the first time there has ever been such a concerted scientific effort to get to the bottom of a report."

Hynek said it was unfortunate there were no witnesses to the sighting other than the two boys.

"Since the two witnesses are related, this makes it essentially a one-witness case. As in so many other cases, it is unfortunate that there are not corroborating witnesses," Hynek said.

Romney Views Bombing Issue

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Romney's unannounced campaign for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination expanded significantly this weekend with his first apparently planned plunge into the foreign policy arena.

The shift marks a sharp departure from Romney's previous reluctance to discuss national issues, particularly the biggest one—the war in Vietnam.

GOV. ROMNEY

As recently as a week ago, newsmen seeking interviews with him were told that questions about foreign policy were off limits.

Now, Romney suggests that the Johnson administration may have placed too much emphasis on bombing North Vietnam as compared with other means of cutting off supplies moving south from Hanoi.

Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, met behind closed doors in Washington for more than an hour Friday to discuss the war.

Neither man would reveal details of their talk.

FORMATIVE STAGE

But Romney's position, tentatively taken and still in the formative stage, was unveiled privately at a Washington breakfast with Detroit newsmen.

He discussed some of the factors he is weighing in adopting his view on the Vietnam conflict — chief among them the emphasis placed on aerial bombing of the north.

Romney says that he believes saturation bombing failed to bring Germany to her knees in World War II because it could not overcome human adaptability.

He says this adaptability is even greater in Vietnam, where American bombers are striking at an essentially underdeveloped country rather than a modern, industrialized nation.

What means Romney favors to stop the flow of supplies from Hanoi is not known.

The governor, who captured a third term by landslide in November, has said publicly that he was not informed enough to speak authoritatively on the Vietnam war.

Blaze Hits Huge Chicago Hall

GIANT HALL ABLAZE—Billowing smoke rolls from Chicago's huge lake front exhibition hall, McCormick Place, early today as the large modern building was destroyed by fire. Less than an hour after firemen arrived on the scene, the entire roof caved in. There were no reports of injuries. AP Wirephoto

Major Portion of Giant Site Is Destroyed

Damages Estimated at $20-$100 Million; No Injuries Reported

CHICAGO (AP)—A spectacular fire today destroyed a major portion of McCormick Place, a three-block lakeshore exhibition hall visited annually by thousands of conventioneers. The loss was estimated at $20 million to $100 million.

There were no injuries reported.

Flames roared through the 10-acre structure off Lake Michigan, destroying part of the $35-million building and a large part of $100-million of exhibits set up for a housewares show.

Every available fireman and most of the city's fire equipment fought the blaze in 15-degree weather which froze water mains and fire hydrants, rendering many useless.

★ ★ ★

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn, who made the loss estimate, said he doubted the short water supply made much difference in the fire fighting.

NO DIFFERENCE

"If we had all the water in Lake Michigan, it wouldn't have mattered a bit," Quinn said after touring the ruins.

"I couldn't believe what I saw when I got there."

He said the hall, which opened in November 1960, was at least 50 per cent destroyed.

Quinn said the cause of the fire had not been established.

LOST BUSINESS

An official of the Chicago Convention Center said Chicago will lose some $100 million in convention business this year because of the fire.

Baker Bugging Is Trial Issue

Violation of Rights Alleged by Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Judge Oliver Gasch today took under advisement the question whether charges against Bobby Baker should be quashed because of "bugging" incidents.

★ ★ ★

The judge, after hearing testimony in the absence of the jury, said he would make his ruling later.

Baker, former secretary to the Democratic majority of the Senate, is charged with income tax evasion, larceny, larceny after trust, interstate transportation of stolen money and conspiracy.

A big issue in today's session was whether Wayne L. Bromley, former lobbyist and former Baker associate, was acting under coercion when he consented to electronic recordings of conversations he had with Baker.

★ ★ ★

Baker's lawyers argued that Bromley acted in fear that, if he did not cooperate, he might be indicted for incorrect testimony he acknowledged he gave before a federal grand jury which indicted Baker.

DUBIOUS GROUNDS

If neither party consents to a bugging, the practice is on much more dubious constitutional grounds than if one party consents.

Bromley testified today that he consented to the bugging after his lawyer informed him of an apparent attempt to get him to lie before the grand jury.

The government charges that this attempt was made by Baker and Clifford Jones, former lieutenant governor of Nevada.

★ ★ ★

"I was attempting to keep myself from going out on a weak limb," Bromley said. He denied the government ever sent him to the offices of Baker's lawyers to pose as a prospective client of theirs and thereby spy on Baker.

★ ★ ★

The trial of Baker is now in its second week.

Legalization of Marijuana Urged by U. of M. Paper

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan student newspaper has called in an editorial for legalization of marijuana, asserting that the drug is healthier to use than alcohol.

The Michigan Daily said its editorial yesterday was in response to a statement made last week by Dr. John C. Pollard, a psychiatrist at the university's Mental Health Research Institute.

Pollard has alleged that an "enormous amount of marijauna may be used by students on this campus."

Harvey Wasserman, 21-year-old honors student who wrote the editorial, said, "I wrote the editorial because nobody stopped to question the basic validity of the law."

★ ★ ★

In the editorial, Wasserman said marijuana is not addictive, while alcohol is known to be mildly addictive.

CITES DAMAGE

The editorial said that alcohol can cause brain damage and liver disease, and claimed that tobacco, which is termed "our most popular drug," can lead to cancer while marijuana has no such effects.

The editorial said medical evidence showed that marijuana does not cause any more antisocial behavior than does drinking.

It called the law banning possession and sale of the drug a bad one and said that its long-run effect could be to "promote disrespect for laws in general."

Edward N. Robinson, president of the U. of M. Student Government Council, said about 20 per cent of the student body has tried the drug.

Robinson agreed with the editorial.

Few Doctors Now Critical of Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the American Medical Association says that after 6½ months of Medicare the nation's doctors are voicing few objections—publicly or privately—to the federal health program for the elderly.

"In the beginning, there were some rebellious ones who spoke as if they wouldn't cooperate" with Medicare, said Dr. Charles L. Hudson.

But now, he said, "I just don't hear the number of remarks. There are not so many who say they won't participate" in portions of the program.

Have doctors found that Medicare is not the bureaucratic monster they feared?

★ ★ ★

Dr. Hudson, interviewed during his appearance at a medical conference, smiled and paused for a moment.

'INTANGIBLE THING'

What doctors were fighting against, he said, was an intangible thing.

"It was," he said, "whether you were going to lose your professional freedom. You have to let it run awhile to see how obnoxious it is.

"The unknown is always worse than the fact."

Yet, Dr. Hudson emphasized, the medical profession is far from happy with Medicare.

'HOT UNDER COLLAR'

For one thing, he said, many doctors "are really hot under the collar" about a certification form they must sign saying a patient they want put in the hospital actually needs hospitalization.

"They think this is demeaning," Dr. Hudson said.

Doctors know hospital beds are scarce, he said, and when they say a patient needs a bed, it should be assumed that he does.

He said the AMA plans to seek elimination of the provision by an amendment of the law.

Local Citizens Air Super Bowl

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Chairman of the Board,
The Pontiac Press

LOS ANGELES—Our own Oswald Jacoby and son discuss bridge table happenings together. And just to rip a page from their book, four local citizens pontificate on the Super Bowl game in Los Angeles which they saw yesterday.

Each of the four claims he is a super duper expert, so this is super authentic and accurate.

Girard

Lewis

Green Bay smothered Kansas City, 35-10, which was pretty much in line with the thinking of the four local experts.

"For the first half," opines Leonard T. Lewis, president of Lewis Furniture Co., "Kansas City held off that powerhouse, but class told in the second half."

★ ★ ★

"True," agreed Alfred C. Girard, chairman of the board and president of Community National Bank, "and the fact their linemen were through on the quarterback too often kept the whole attack off balance."

STAR OF DAY

"Max McGee was the star of the day in my book," suggested Howard V. Heldenbrand, editorial writer of The Pontiac Press. "I think he played his first football with Jim Thorpe, or maybe Willie Heston. However, yesterday he kicked up the friskiest pair of heels on the field."

Your humble scrivener was puzzled by the crowd's attitude. The bulk of the sentiment was for Kansas City, and yet Los Angeles has a team in the National League.

"They were rooting for the home town boy, Mike Garrett," explained Girard. "He tried to give it all he had, too, but 'hose Green Bay defensive linemen couldn't be pushed around."

★ ★ ★

Our Mr. Lewis continues the verbal barrage with an observation that produces no disclaimer. Says he: "The outstanding feature of the game were those good-looking girls who marched in such precision."

MORE PASSES

"OK," agrees observer Girard. "And if they'd been so disposed, those gals could have completed more passes than both squads."

"And if they had," chimed

'Private China Army Forms Against Mao'

TOKYO (AP) — One of Mao Tse-tung's mouthpieces, the theoretical journal Red Flag, reported Sunday that President Liu Shao-chi has formed a private army against the Communist party chairman.

Red Flag described Liu's force as the "army of defenders of red state power" and said it was created to protect a handful of persons practicing "bourgeois dictatorship."

It gave no details and did not say whether the army was military, paramilitary or just political in nature. But it claimed the 2.5-million-man Red Chinese army is "infinitely loyal to Chairman Mao, loyal to the people."

The article confirmed what has become increasingly apparent in the past two weeks, that Liu's men "in varying degrees still hold party, political and financial power in the localities and units in which they are entrenched."

It said they have to be rooted out, one by one, and "the positions recovered by the proletarian (Mao's supporters) have yet to be consolidated, one by one."

Mao's organs also disclosed over the weekend that counter-revolutionary forces exist within the Chinese army and said the struggle against the usual "small handful" in positions of power was "acute and complicated." It said that "even now they are staging a counterattack."

This had been hinted at earlier by the shake-up of the army's purge committee. On Saturday and Sunday Red Guard wall posters attacked Marshal Chu Teh, founder of the Communist army, and Marshal Hog Lung, 70, the one-time bandit who was one of the heroes of communism's long-march retreat of the 1930s.

Chu is chairman of the standing committee of the National People's Congress and until last August's shake-up of the party leadership had always ranked among the first four in China, with Mao, Liu Shao-chi and Chou En-lai. Ho Lung, one of the dashing figures of Chinese history, is head of the National Sports Commission.

Leads in Killing Scant in Ohio

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Cleveland FBI officials say they have few leads in their search for a Michigan resident thought to be in Niles, Ohio.

John C. Merlo of Farmington Township is charged with the murder of his wife Sharon, in a township beauty shop Jan. 6.

Ohio authorities became involved in the case when Merlo's car was found on a downtown Cleveland street Wednesday.

They have obtained a federal warrant against him for flight to avoid prosecution.

Officials said yesterday Merlo was considered armed and dangerous. He is described as being 5-foot 10, and is thought to be wearing black rimmed glasses. He has dark brown curly hair.

Merlo was raised in Niles, and agents feel he may try to go there.

Ex-Area Man Found Slain in Apartment

DETROIT (AP) — A butcher knife in his chest, the body of a man tentatively identified as that of 48-year-old Thomas Genack was found in his apartment bed in suburban Canton Township Sunday night.

Sheriff's deputies said the man also had been struck on the left side of his head by a blunt instrument.

A bachelor, Genack, who reportedly formerly lived in Commerce Township, was employed by Ford Motor Co. in suburban Wayne. Police said they could not find his wallet and his automobile is missing.

The apartment had not been ransacked, sheriff's deputies said, and the body was under an electric blanket.

Deputies Arthur Torikian and Harry Cummings said they believe Genack had been dead at least three or four days before his body was discovered by his landlord.

Nicholas Sedykh, 73, owner of the apartment building, said he investigated when he found the door to Genack's apartment ajar Sunday night. Sedykh said he had shut it without entering when he found it ajar on Friday.

Sturgis Woman, 36, Slain; Girl Beaten

STURGIS (AP)—The body of a woman, apparently slain with a shotgun, and a badly beaten 4-year-old girl were found today in a burning house in this central Lower Michigan community just north of the Indiana border.

St. Joseph County sheriff's deputies identified the woman as Mrs. Robert Comstock, about 35, and said the beaten child, Penny, was one of her six children.

None of the other children was injured, they said, adding that the fire apparently started in the basement when fuel oil gushed from a severed pipe onto a pile of burning papers.

PLAYED DEAD TO STAY ALIVE — Lam Van Duoc, 45, who said he worked as a South Vietnam government agent until his capture a year ago, wades through a rice paddy near Vi Thanh in the Mekong Delta some 100 miles south of Saigon today to tell the story of a mass prisoner massacre by Vietcong. Vietnamese Rangers in background comb the area where Vietcong had thrown prisoners into a mass grave. Duoc played dead and emerged from the grave when friendly troops arrived.

41 Prisoners of Cong Killed in Massacre

VI THANH, South Vietanm (AP) — Trembling, the man in the black shorts crouched in the mud of the Mekong River Delta. An ugly wound about five inches long gaped in the back of his head.

About 100 yards away were the burned out remains of a Vietcong prisoner of war camp, where the man said he had been held captive, and then had played dead in a mass grave to survive a prisoner massacre.

Vietnamese and U.S. military authorities in this delta area more than 100 miles south of Saigon said the Vietcong killed 41 prisoners, including some women and children, when government forces swept through. Seven persons, including the man with the head wound, were known to have survived. Three of these, including a 17-year-old girl, were wounded.

A reconnaissance company from the 21st Vietnamese Division guarded the camp today while intelligence personnel examined the bodies and sifted through the ashes of buildings.

ARMS BOUND

The arms on one man's body were bound tightly behind his back with wire. Some had been shot. Others stabbed or cut, apparently with bayoents or machetes.

Vietnamese troops first moved into the prison camp Sunday and found a number of captives slain. Then, because of heavy contact with the Vietcong in a nearby area, they moved on.

★ ★ ★

When other government forces moved back in this morning after light resistance, they found the camp burned and the mass grave. There had been several buildings, including what apparently was a communal kitchen and a bomb shelter large enough for a score or more persons.

Now there were ashes, broken crockery, battered tin, and bodies in a muddy grave.

No Voice Box --Marine Talks

BOSTON (AP) — A Marine wounded in a Vietcong ambush last fall said "Hello, how are you?" And became, doctors believe, the first person to speak normally without a voice box.

★ ★ ★

Doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary fashioned a tube and valve from the skin of Lance Cpl. Walter Lopata to replace a shattered larynx and restore his voice.

The second of two operations was performed Friday and Lopata, 25, greeted reporters Saturday with "Hello, how are you?"

They are his first spoken words since he was wounded by Vietcong shrapnel Oct. 11.

The two-stage operation was developed by Dr. William W. Montgomery of the infirmary who termed results of what he said was the first such attempt "a complete success."

Dr. Montgomery said general use of the procedure is "still in the future."

He said an estimated 6,000 Americans have their voice box removed each year because of cancer. He said perhaps 70 per cent of these eventually might be candidates for the new surgery.

A patient without a voice box must try to learn esophageal speech in which air is swallowed into the stomach and words are formed by "burping" into the throat, Dr. Montgomery explained.

Senate Panel to Quiz Rusk

Bombing of N. Viet Is Probable Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee questions Secretary of State Dean Rusk today on Vietnam policy. He's expected to defend the U.S. bombing of targets in North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, a member of the committee, repeated their doubts about U.S. policy in Vietnam on the eve of the closed hearing, indicating Rusk faces critical questioning.

★ ★ ★

Rusk is scheduled for a public hearing before the committee next Monday. A public hearing last February produced Rusk's hottest exchanges with committee members.

★ ★ ★

Amidst some reports that bombing in the immediate area of Hanoi has been curtailed in the past month, Mansfield and Fulbright each questioned whether bombing has brought North Vietnam any nearer the peace conference table.

'QUESTIONABLE'

"The bombing has hurt them to a degree," Mansfield told an interviewer. "But it is questionable whether the goals sought in the bombing were achieved."

There were also these comments or developments on the war:

The five freshman Republican senators, in a joint appearance, split 3 to 2 in favor of continuing the bombing.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "I don't think we've looked down the road far enough to chart the course where we're going when the hostilities are finally over."

Chavez, who came to Michigan three years ago, is a board member of the Michigan Welfare League and serves on the Oakland County Economic Opportunity Commission, the Pontiac Finance Study Committee, the community relations committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and a citizens housing study committee.

A member of the First Presbyterian Church, He also belongs to the American G.I. Forum of Pontiac.

'Way to Avoid Tax Hike'

Dirksen Eyes Cuts in Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, looking for ways to avoid a tax increase, says the space program could be the place to cut government expenditures.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen said "I've been looking at that space program, I don't mind telling you. Does it really make a difference whether we get to the moon this year, or next year, or the following year?

★ ★ ★

"I doubt very much whether it makes a great deal of difference," he said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers." "And if we reconcile ourselves to that thesis, then of course there is a place where you can make a very substantial (budget) cut."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation" that cuts in federal spending are the key to the tax issue. He said there "is no economic case" for the 6 per cent income tax surcharge asked by President Johnson. Long said it "would tend to retard the economy."

He expressed doubt it would soon be approved.

Five freshmen Republican senators said on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press" they would have to be shown there was no other way to finance the Vietnam war before they would vote for a tax increase.

The five are Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee and Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming.

★ ★ ★

Over the weekend, the government made public a mixed bag of economic statistics. The figures were topped by a record $739.5 billion production of goods and services during 1966, up $58.3 billion from the gross national product of 1965 and more than $17 billion ahead of the predictions made by Johnson a year ago.

But 36 per cent of that increase was chalked up to inflation.

Commission Will Hear Rec Program Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed ordinance to reorganize the city's recreation program will be presented to the City Commission tonight at their 8 p.m. city hall meeting.

★ ★ ★

The ordinance recommends renaming the present forestry and parks department to parks and recreation department and would set up a park and recreation advisory board.

As of the first of this year, the Birmingham Board of Education withdrew from what had been a combined operation — the Birmingham Recreation Board — and the Birmingham School District is carrying on its own recreation program.

The proposed ordinance recommends assigning the present superintendent of forestry and parks, Darrel Middlewood, to be superintendent over the new operation.

His department's additional duties would include ice rink tennis, archery, riflery, golf, baseball, winter sports and special programs.

UNOFFICIAL BASIS

It is recommended that the golf advisory board continue on an unofficial basis and that the golf professional continue to operate in the same manner as last year.

Retaining of Miss Patricia Husemann as recreation supervisor is also advised.

On the advisory board would be the city manager, parks and recreation superintendent and seven members appointed by the City Commission.

A public hearing on the paving of two streets, to which objections have been made, is also scheduled.

The proposal concerns Catalpa from Pierce to Grant and Cedar from Lincoln to Catalpa.

A petition protesting paving of Catalpa will be presented, signed by 12 residents. An additional petition protests formation of an assessment district and the paving of both streets.

It is signed by 73 persons.

Four Local Citizens Air Super Bowl

in analyst Heldenbrand, "I'd have had a football suit on myself."

"That," interposes yours truly, "I'd pay admission again to see."

★ ★ ★

"And if he tackled Jim Taylor just once," chimed in Lewis, "I'd pay double."

Mused Girard: "Dad Braisher, equipment manager for the Packers, was in the first 'super' bowl game in history at Wrigley Field 34 years ago.

"The gate totaled $14,600, so Dad, Red Grange, Bronko Nagurski et al pocketed $210.34 for the 25 winners and $140.22 apiece for the losers. That is less than the California tax on the players' share of this Super Bowl."

"I was amused by the exchange of footballs," added sideline critic Heldenbrand. "When the Packers had the ball they used one from their league, and when the ball went to Kansas City, one from the American League was thrown in."

★ ★ ★

"Yes," observed Lewis, "and the physical difference was in fractions of an inch—and the fact one ball was stitched forward instead of backward."

The local observers slipped quietly into town Friday and decamped today. Heldenbrand, of course, was there a day early to give Frank Robinson his lost ring.

Antialcoholism Program Set

Community Services Unit Discloses Plans

Plans for a comprehensive antialcoholism program in Oakland County were announced today by the Oakland Planning Division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

Wheeler G. Lovell, chairman of the planning division, said that alcoholism is a mounting public health problem in Oakland County.

A six-month study by agencies dealing with alcoholism prompted an estimate by the planning division that 50,000 people in Oakland County are either absolute alcoholics or in the early stages of the disease.

In announcing the program, Lovell said that alcoholism is recognized as an illness that affects the general welfare and economy. It also has broken many families and caused much social distress, he said.

★ ★ ★

Charles A. Mentzner, director of the planning division, will direct the task force for the antialcoholism program which will be drawn from all areas of the county.

PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE

It will include professional people from health and social welfare agencies, physicians, psychiatrists and hospital representatives.

A tentative annual expenditure of $280,000 from participating organizations is the estimated budget requirement for the program.

The 35-member Oakland Planning Division is an elected body that represents various community activities from schools and churches to industry and commerce.

A continual evaluation of social needs of the county and assistance in meeting them is the responsibility of the planning division which is located at 2351 12 Mile, Berkley.

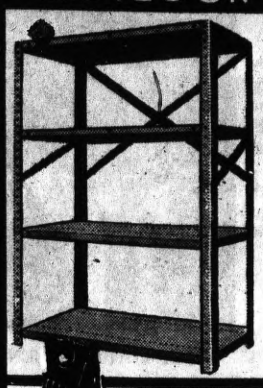

Agencies participating in the six-month study on alcoholism included the County Health Department, Community Mental Health Services Board, Pontiac State Hospital, Pontiac Alcoholism Information Center and Pontiac Area United Fund.

TWU Accord Ends Philadelphia Strike

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiators for the Philadelphia Transportation Co. and the Transport Workers Union reached a tentative agreement today on a new contract for some 5,000 TWU workers, thus ending a 27½-hour-old transit strike.

The agreement, which gives workers a 51-cent-an-hour wage increase over the term of the two-year contract, was completed during a four-hour session also attended by city officials. It came just hours before the commuter rush hour. Service was expected to be normal.

Albert Lyons, president of the transportation company, said at a news conference following the announcement that the company will ask the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission for a fare adjustment at the commission's meeting today in Harrisburg to underwrite the new contract.

Lyons would not speculate on the nature of any fare increase over the present 25-cent rate, saying that it would be up to the commission.

'ADJUSTMENTS'

He said, however, that there is "a strong possibility" that fare tokens may be eliminated and that reduced rates for students may be "adjusted."

Lyons said the PTC hopes to have the system's 2,314 buses, trolleys and subways back in service by morning.

The agreement came a little more than 24 hours after the TWU had rejected a company offer of a 12-cent-an-hour wage hike the first year and two annual raises of 12 cents over the term of a three-year contract. The TWU workers currently earn $2.96 an hour.

Lyons said the agreement will be submitted to the PTC's board of directors for approval.

Retired Judge Reflects on 36 Years

By JEAN SAILE

ROCHESTER — Thirty-six years of making decisions affecting the lives of other people have left Justice Luther Green a humble man.

He has his opinions on the way law enforcement and life have changed since he was first elected justice of the peace in 1935, but he's one man not about to inflict those opinions on anybody else.

The closest the white-haired, lawman would come to a comment on current court practice as dictated by the U.S. Supreme Court was to say, "Well, the tendency (toward protection of the arrested) has gone to extremes, and it will probably be modified in later high court decisions."

The 75-year-old man has lived long enough to know that nothing is static.

★ ★ ★

He obtained his law degree by working five years in the Lapeer office of his attorney father-in-law, Herbert W. Smith.

ADMITTED TO BAR

He took his state board examinations after that tenure and was admitted to the bar.

A year later he and Mrs. Green moved here. It was Oct. 1, 1928. The young attorney took offices on Main Street.

"I had two successful years," he recalls, "and then the Depression hit. There wasn't much of any business anywhere. I didn't have any. Nobody had much."

★ ★ ★

"It got difficult to pay the office rent," he remembers, "but we made it through."

HIGHLIGHT OF CAREER

Perhaps the highlight of the judge's career — the case that brought him national publicity following his election to office — was the World War II murder of Mrs. Roberta Rose Young.

Judge Green recalls that Mrs. Young, the wife an Army officer, was found dead on the Dodge farm off Adams Road

"Her body had apparently been thrown over the bridge there into the river," he said.

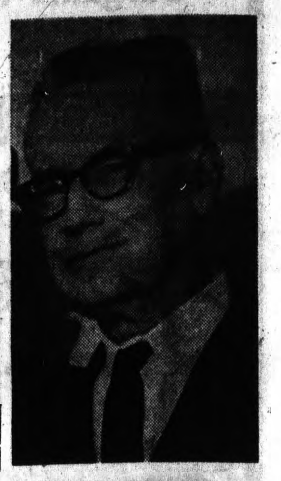

Judge Green has been under doctor's care since last Dec. 1, the date of his retirement.

The only man to serve as his law partner, Harry J. Huber of 167 Winry, has since been appointed to fill out Green's term as justice.

★ ★ ★

"Back in 1935 it was mostly traffic cases," he said. "The State Police used to bring me business. The volume was small but it has grown constantly, and now it's really a job."

Green does some legal work for friends from his home at 1305 N. Oak, but he's quite prepared to take it easy.

Novi-Walled Lake Plans for Sewerage Move Ahead

NOVI — The village is ready to honor its agreement on a joint sewer project with the city of Walled Lake but there are certain problems "to be ironed out yet," according to Village Manager Harold Ackley.

Procedures to set up special assessments to pay for the project were worked out in 1963 when it was first discussed, Ackley said, but the process was held up "pending notification from Walled Lake that they were ready to go ahead."

"This is the first indication we've had that they are ready to move," he said, "and a number of conditions on bonding and assessments have changed since then."

Ackley, the bonding attorney and the engineers will meet Wednesday to work out the problems.

★ ★ ★

"We've been in the sewer business for four years and have found out that things don't always work out the way you think they will," he said.

'MOVED TOO FAST'

"We moved too fast on the interceptor we built four years ago and we want to make sure everything is right before we go into this."

Ackley explained that connection charges on the interceptor didn't come in in sufficient quantity to pay off the bonds so that money had to be taken out of the general fund to make payments.

The sewage treatment plant contemplated as part of the joint project with Walled Lake is a temporary measure to be used only until the interceptor can be extended north, according to Ackley.

The interceptor carries sewage to Detroit but the lines through Wayne County aren't able to carry the load at the present time. Extension of the interceptor is about 10 years off, Ackley said.

EXPECTED TO JOIN

In the meantime the village is expected to join the $4.3-million project which includes a treatment plant, a trunkline sewer and an internal sanitary sewer system.

Ackley said a recommendation will be made to the Village Council on Feb. 6.

Walled Lake has authorized signing a contract with the Oakland County Department of Public Works to take bids on the sewer system.

The city is currently awaiting word on its application for a $1,117,000 federal grant to cover its share.

Too Much Water

Avon Meeting on Industrial Zoning Slated

AVON TOWNSHIP — Requests to cut the amount of zoning set aside for industrial development will be considered by the Township Board at a special meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the township hall.

Home owners' groups in the township have consistently objected to industrial zoning particularly in the area north of the village and in the Crooks-Hamlin area.

Some individual requests have also been made and will be considered by the board, according to Supervisor Cyril Miller.

Bills for Consumers in Works

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bills to protect the consumer against everything from cigarette advertising to door-to-door salesmen will be introduced within the next few weeks by Chairman Warren G. Magnuson of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The consumer's interest is as "narrow as the constant frustration of the housewife unable to compare the price per ounce of competing products," Magnuson said in a statement.

★ ★ ★

"But its significance is as broad and fundamental as the fair and efficient functioning of the national economy."

As chairman of the consumer subcommittee, the first new standing subcommittee created in the Senate in more than a decade, the Washington state Democrat will take aim on a number of areas where consumers run into sometimes dangerous risks.

Adrian Store Burns, 9 Firemen Hurt

ADRIAN (AP) —Investigators sought today to determine the cause of a fire which destroyed a three-story Montgomery Ward store in downtown Adrian Saturday, injuring nine firemen.

Two firemen were hospitalized for smoke inhalation. Seven others were treated for inhalation and minor injuries and released.

Fire officials say damages may go as high as $500,000.

★ ★ ★

Fire Chief Elmer Holtz said losses were swelled by two truckloads of goods delivered Saturday afternoon, shortly before the fire broke out.

PAINT EXPLODED

Exploding cans of paint fed the fire which broke out in the basement of the three-story building.

The fire was discovered by a cashier, Mrs. Norma Harrington, who smelled smoke as she was leaving her basement office.

It Seems to Me . . .

National Political Scene Takes the Spotlight for 1967

As 1967 starts to unfold, the national political scene attracts added attention.

Some of the big questions are these:

Will JOHNSON run again?

Can he be elected?

★ ★ ★

You find ardent partisans who give positive answers each way. And they're equally sincere. Certainly the question is debatable.

At the Democratic Governors' parlay at White Sulphur Springs, the malcontents were unanimous in placing the blame for the Republican tidal wave victory on Mr. Johnson's shoulders. They accused him of having his own way all the time as he stumbled along his one-man trail. He has been an "I, My and Me" executive since the first day. But he can't be held accountable alone.

★ ★ ★

This fumbling scrivener believes the electorate simply said:

"Let's shuffle the deck."

Voters figured we might get a better answer to the Vietnam situation. Currently a high-ranking military authority just said "victory" for us is ten years away, as things are going now. The general tax situation irks the electorate. Some are confused and confounded at item "A" while compatriots are dubious and irritated over items "B," "C" and "D." This six per cent income tax proposal in the light of the world's most gigantic budget made no friends anywhere.

★ ★ ★

The Great Society has lost much of its glamor and lofty appeal. It's a pain in the neck to many people in many places in many ways. Yes, the President is besieged by troubles that are real and vexatious. But don't write the Texas cowboy off.

He knows what's going on.

He's no beginner.

★ ★ ★

His ear is plenty acute — and cocked. This atmosphere of doubt as to whether he would even become a candidate, swept across the Country suddenly on the heels of the election. Washington newsmen tell me they're questioned on this point wherever they go.

And a whole host of political sages on both sides agree that if he ran right now, he'd face almost certain defeat.

Many veteran observers agree.

Polls indicate this.

★ ★ ★

But the President is a two-fisted fighter. Unless he foresees certain defeat in '68, you can count on him to come out swinging and the fur will fly sky high. Vietnam will have a lot to do with the way voters feel. Victory will place President Johnson in the glory seat. "No change" can consign him to oblivion. And yet, in his State of the Union message he didn't utter one hopeful, optimistic word about Vietnam.

If he decides the Dems are doomed, he can step aside suddenly, dramatically, and say to a Mr. Kennedy:

"O. K. sonny boy.

"It's your turn."

Forecasts for Future . . .

ARNO H. JOHNSON, Vice President and Senior Economist of the J. WALTER THOMPSON Company Advertising Agency has offered a few forecasts for the years directly ahead.

They're tremendously interesting.

Among other things, he says:

There will be 20 million more jobs by 1975.

Household incomes then will average $11,300.

The educational level will be tremendously higher.

Families will average larger.

The urban movement will increase.

Advertising expenditures in 1975 will double the current rate of $15 billion a year.

This studious and practical sage didn't mention The Pontiac PRESS, but I will. In 1975—eight years from now — our current circulation of 72,000 will leap to 83,000.

Wanna bet?

And in Conc lusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

TV's half hour on JOHN COPPIN was very interesting. And it was well administered by JERRY BURKE, former Pontiac resident. . . . . My junk mail record was almost shattered by the current title holder: Publishers Central Bureau. Once they sent me 16 duplicates and now I receive 11. Are they saps enough to pay for this stupid duplication? . . . . . J. EDGAR HOOVER'S FBI realized $275 million in fines last year. This represents $1.50 for every $1.00 the FBI costs. That sounds like All-American HOOVER.

★ ★ ★

The all-star pup shown here was walking me around the block the other day when three lads stopped and asked: "What's his name?" Rather proudly, I said: "Chief Pontiac." Whereupon one declared: "Oh. Then you must be Mr. Fitzgerald." That's the first time my identity has been established by an 18½ pound dog. . . . . Harry Wismer says he will start a $5 million super auto-racing complex in Southeastern Michigan. He says the dough comes from wealthy Arab oil potentates. . . . . Overheard: "A neighbor is someone who knows more about your private affairs than you do yourself."

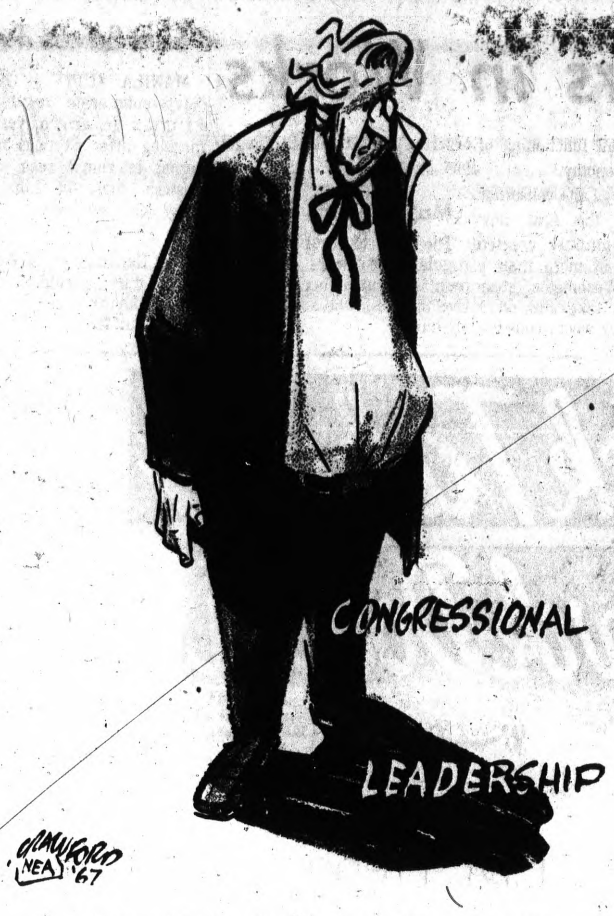

CHIEFIE

★ ★ ★

JACKIE GLEASON signed for another year at a price that even staggered TV. . . . . I always rated LYNDA JOHNSON as a smart, perceptive and attractive girl, but if she doesn't have a definite announcement about this GEORGE HAMILTON—or shuck the guy—I'll strike off the first two adjectives. . . . . An off-Broadway show staged a performance at which the entire audience consisted of blind dates, arranged by a computer. . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—returning that lost ring in Los Angeles; the J's—Vice President HUMPHREY'S constant neck-craning to get into the TV camera behind JOHNSON Tuesday night.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

'Seems Like It Oughta Be Bigger!'

David Lawrence Says:

Deficit Is Actually $18 Billion

WASHINGTON — If the head of a business saw that his financial operations were going into the red and he then included money derived from the sale of assets as a part of profit, the stockholders would call this misrepresentation and the auditors of the Securities and Exchange Commission would throw it out as inaccurate.

LAWRENCE

But this is what the government itself is doing today in estimating the actual deficit for the fiscal year that ends on June 30. For, instead of the red figure of 9.7 billion dollars which President Johnson used in his "State of the Union" message to Congress last week, the real deficit appears to be at least $18.8 billion.

This sum includes some of the items to which Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, Republican — a member of the finance committee — called attention. Here is the list taken from government sources:

	Billions
Deficit estimated by President after new taxes	9.7
Accelerated tax payments by corporations	3.2
Speedup of individual withholding tax payments and excise taxes	.4
Graduated individual withholding taxes	.4
Income from reduced silver content of coins	1.0
Sales of "participation certificates"	4.1
Real deficit	$18.8 billion

★ ★ ★

What are "participation certificates"? They are, in effect, a form of government security. When sold to the public, the funds can be classified the same as money received from the sale of savings bonds or any other government securities.

TIED TO ASSETS

These certificates are tied definitely to assets on which originally there were mortgage loans issued by banks or by savings and loan associations.

Also by speeding up tax payments of corporations and individuals, the Treasury takes in money this year from sources that will not be available for the same purpose next year.

Income taxes used to be paid by individuals on March 15 of the year after the money was earned, and corporations paid in four equal installments.

Now the treasury has gradually changed the system so that money is paid currently by the taxpayer.

It's bad enough to run deficits of $8 billion or $9 billion. Based on acknowledged liabilities and on sums that under proper bookkeeping can be legitimately called "income," but when there are "gimmicks" used that hide the true nature of the red figure, confidence in the dollar is bound to be affected.

★ ★ ★

Maybe that's why the stock market suddenly rose after the President delivered his message.

It was probably assumed that high spending by the government and indifference to the wage-and-price spiral would be continued, that the inflationary curve would go still higher, and that the value of the dollar would be further diminished.

Bob Considine Asks:

Chiang Must Be Bitter as U.S. Explodes Dream

NEW YORK — The bitter tea of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek must be eating at the old man's vitals. Flaming unrest against the Communist order is racing across mainland China.

CONSIDINE

For nearly 18 years Chiang has lived with the dream that it would be he who would ignite that unrest by invading his teeming homeland with his hard-core, spartan-trained Nationalist troops, valiantly home from exile on Formosa.

Now it has happened on the mainland without him. The excesses of the Red Guards turned the people (in numbers yet unknown) against not only the guards but Mao, their deity.

That, he can surely stomach. What must gall him is the thought processes of the Americans who now — with a common foe perhaps ready to be knocked out — would restrain him from trying.

★ ★ ★

He must be thinking as he looks into his tea and considers the inscrutable West;

- The U. S. has spent upwards of $3 billion building Taiwan into one of the strongest bastions of the Pacific defense line;
- We have supplied him with every weapon he might need to dehorse his Communist rival;
- We have downplayed and/or ignored the protests of the native Taiwanese, who outnumber the mainland exiles about 5-to-1 but are given little to say about what's going on there;
- We have fought successfully to keep Red China out of the United Nations;
- We use Formosan bases and Chiang's pilots for U2 and unmanned reconnaissance missions over mainland China, and have obtained from these flights an impressive treasury of information about what is happening there in the way of nuclear and missile development;
- We were concerned enough about Taiwan to include it on President Eisenhower's last trip as chief executive and to make Quemoy and Matsu a big issue in the Kennedy-Nixon television debates.

★ ★ ★

But there's no question about what we would do today if Chiang Kai-shek unsheathed his sword, pointed it toward the mainland, and barked "charge!"

Voice of the People:

'Suggestions May Help to Prevent Vandalism'

The destruction wrought by thieves and vandals in schools has been a growing concern of the taxpayers. The school officials say they are plotting some active measures to combat the problem, due to the mounting damage toll from recent break-ins.

Prevention is the answer and I submit three suggestions:

1. Have maintenance employes work at night so that buildings are occupied.

2. Install a grille on all first floor windows and doors to prevent entrance.

3. Use more outdoor lighting so that any activity around the building can be seen.

Disagrees With Criticism of Organization

After hearing Mr. Hudson criticizing the welfare and the O.E.O., I want to report that my Christmas was made a lot brighter by the help of O.E.O., and I know of a number of people who have been helped in other ways. It is wrong to say the O.E.O. is not serving the people. I am glad we have an organization such as this.

CONCERNED

Disagrees With Presentation of Our City

The attack on Pontiac by the UAW Solidarity paper for October is not true. Shame on them for presenting us to the Nation in such poor light.

★ ★ ★

Look about you at street after street of good homes — such as the workingman never possessed before in my memory. Gone are the practical-looking factories of yesteryear and in their places are fine-looking buildings, having an air of good business. Pontiac is lucky to have steady work to help her economy. Expansion proves the faith in Pontiac of the men who manage these places. In all such expansion, transportation has not been too badly disrupted.

★ ★ ★

Come on, Pontiac! Bring your plans more out in the open so the average citizen can know and see them. A big need is bus transportation. Everyone is waiting for the day when Pontiac will be more on its feet. Meanwhile, our thanks to those who remain faithful.

Reader Lists Several of His Pet Peeves

A few of my pet peeves are: people who let their dogs run all over the property of others; a light on Orchard Lake, not far from Telegraph, that isn't necessary; vandalism in schools; overindulgent parents who buy everything for their kids who still don't have respect for them; judges who hand down small fines or put hoodlums on probation; companies that sell articles and then go out of business; a President who has anyone done away with who stands in his way in many of his shady operations.

★ ★ ★

Think twice before you vote. Seems honest men go into some offices and come out crooks. Makes one wonder what kind of a world we live in when businessmen have to have guns to protect themselves.

JUST CURIOUS

Question and Answer

Everyone knows traffic causes the most accidental deaths, but with small children I worry about fires and poison. Where do they stand on the list?

MOTHER OF FIVE

REPLY

Deaths by type of accident rank in this order: Motor vehicle, falls, burns, drowning, railroad, firearms, poison and poison gases. Falls account for more than twice as many deaths as burns and over nine times as many deaths as poison.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Fine Print

Christian Science Monitor

We have occasionally attempted to read the fine print on our insurance policies. It might as well have been written in Chinese for all we understood of it. We were, therefore, somewhat comforted by the unanimous ruling and by some of the comments of the justices of the New Jersey Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

The state's highest court ruled that loopholes in fine print in insurance policies will not excuse a company from paying a claim against it. The court followed a California Supreme Court ruling that exclusionary clauses must be "conspicuous, plain and clear."

★ ★ ★

The New Jersey chief justice, referring to the fine print in an insurance policy involved in the workman's compensation case before the court, said: "I don't know what it means. I am stumped. They say one thing in big type and in small type they take it away."

★ ★ ★

Said another justice, "I can't understand half of my insurance policies." A third remarked, "I get the impression that insurance companies keep the language of their policies deliberately obscure." (It would hardly have been politic for the justice to have mentioned lawyers in this regard, but we feel free to include them. After all, they are the ones who draw the policies and countless other obscurantist papers as well.)

If justices cannot understand the provisions in fine print, how can an ordinary workman, in this case a cleaning woman, be expected to do so? The New Jersey Court, we think properly, directed the insurance company to pay her claim in spite of the fine print which disclaimed its responsibility to do so.

It is not unusual for insurance policies to run on for many pages of small print with provisions couched in obscure and technical jargon. Companies must protect themselves, of course. But they also have a responsibility to protect the public. We are delighted to see that a court of record has told them so.

Sure Happiness

'Refugees'

MacLean's Magazine (Canada)

In one week of September more than 150 California University students, unable to obtain draft deferments, held a secret meeting to decide what were the alternatives to going to Vietnam. The students' conclusions were so depressing that they didn't even get around to giving themselves a name.

★ ★ ★

"Instead of going to jail for five years," said one young man who attended the meeting, "the only feasible alternative was going to Canada. And who wants that? I mean, you can never come home."

Nevertheless, an estimated 2,000 young men have come to Canada in the past two years to avoid what many of them call "the immoral war in Vietnam," and they tend to think of themselves as political refugees.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. government naturally prefers to think of them as draft dodgers. If they should ever go back to the U. S. they are faced with five years in prison, plus a possible additional $10,000 fine.

★ ★ ★

There are other deterrents to coming here. Finding your feet in a new country—as any immigrant knows—is perhaps almost as tough as doing two years in the army; life in Canada, like life in the U. S., has a great deal to do with your economic position.

What follows is the disparate life style two young U. S. citizens have found for themselves in this country. These men are from opposite ends of the social scale. You could say, perhaps, they're also among the first political refugees from The Great Society.

3 Original Astronauts Could Go to Moon

By EDWARD K. DELONG

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Almost eight years after they were named, only three of the seven pioneer Mercury astronauts chosen to be America's first men in space stand much of a chance of going on forthcoming moon flights.

★ ★ ★

They are Gordon Cooper, Virgil Grissom and Walter Schirra. And even their chances to be on the historic first manned moon shot are dim.

COOPER

GRISSOM

But the four others — Scott Carpenter, John Glenn, Alan Shepard and Donald Slayton

SCHIRRA

— are doing well. And they all still maintain varying degrees of involvement in the space program.

Of the original seven, all but Slayton made it into space. America's first man in orbit, John Glenn, is the only one of the seven to retire, though not completely.

SHEPARD

The first American into space was Shepard, whose 15-minute mission on May 5, 1961 was his only space flight.

Shepard was grounded by an ear infection two years after he ushered in the era of American space flight.

But the 43-year-old Navy captain is far from inactive in the astronaut program.

★ ★ ★

As chief of the Space Center's Astronaut Office, Shepard is in charge of the astronaut team and the training of flight crews.

GRISSOM

Grissom made the second Mercury flight, a 16-minute hop similar to Shepard's except that Grissom had to scramble out of his sinking spacecraft after splash-down.

He also commanded the first Gemini mission and is now preparing to command the first manned Apollo flight this winter.

The 40-year-old Air Force lieutenant colonel is the only one of the original seven astronauts slated to make a space flight this year.

Grissom stands some chance of being on the first moon crew because of his scheduled Apollo flight experience.

GLENN

The only member of the original seven astronauts to leave the space program was 45-year-old Glenn, the third Mercury flier and the first American to orbit the earth.

The oldest of the original seven, Glenn resigned as an astronaut in 1964 to try his hand in politics, an ambition that was cut short when he fell and suffered an inner ear problem similar to Shepard's.

Later that year Glenn retired from the Marine Corps and became a soft drink executive.

★ ★ ★

He has been retained by National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) headquarters in Washington as a part-time consultant.

CARPENTER

Astronaut Carpenter, 41, was America's fourth Mercury astronaut.

After his 1962 space flight, however, he was injured in a motor bike accident in Bermuda. He has not regained flight status since.

Carpenter returned to the Space Center in early 1966 after a leave of absence and became branch chief for Advanced Programs in the Astronaut Office.

★ ★ ★

In this job, which he still holds, Carpenter is looking into the future of man's exploration in space.

SCHIRRA

As recently as two months ago, the most likely choice as commander of the first moon-landing crew seemed to be Walter M. (Wally) Schirra, the fifth Mercury astronaut.

The 43-year-old Navy captain is a veteran of both the Mercury and Gemini programs.

Schirra was scheduled to head the crew of the second manned Apollo flight, an Earth-orbiting checkout mission similar to Grissom's.

Then the flight was canceled by NASA in a time- and money-saving maneuver.

Schirra likely will not have any Apollo experience before the moon mission. He might, however, be assigned to the moon crew.

COOPER

The youngest of the Mercury astronauts is Cooper, the third member of the original seven with a slight chance to make the moon flight.

Cooper, 39, was the final Mercury pilot.

He also commanded Gemini 5, becoming the first man to make two oribital flights and breaking the Russian lead in man-hours in space.

★ ★ ★

Although not assigned to a specific Apollo crew, Cooper stays busy preparing for the Apollo program.

SLAYTON

Slayton, 42, was already assigned as pilot of a Mercury flight when doctors decided a heart condition would keep him out of space.

★ ★ ★

Though Slayton was "damned disappointed" about being grounded, he remained with the Astronaut Office.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. —Adv.

Crisis Continues in '67

Inflation Peril to Viet Economy

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. officials say continued inflation is the worst threat to Vietnam's fragile economy in 1967. No knowledgeable Vietnamese or American pretends the economic crisis is past. Tax collection is inadequate, heavy rice imports are necessary, labor unrest continues, and corruption is widespread.

The sidewalk black market near the U.S. Embassy, wiped out by publicity in November, has slowly reappeared.

★ ★ ★

Inflationary pressure weighs heavily on the piaster, Saigon's monetary unit. Experts agree they will have to settle for "mild" inflation this year, perhaps as much as 20 per cent.

Living costs in Saigon are up almost 40 per cent since January 1966.

MANY SOLUTIONS

U.S. officials describe last year as a period when many solutions were applied to problems that built up in 1965 in almost direct proportion to the buildup in U.S. troops. There were 180,000 U.S. troops last January. There are 389,000 now.

"Prices were soaring at this time last year as our troops and supplies poured in," says one American. "A lot was accomplished late in the year to brake inflation."

★ ★ ★

One official estimate is that each additional GI adds $1,000 a year to the Vietnamese economy. This is money that goes directly into Vietnamese pockets and is soon exchanged for goods and services.

Consumer goods are high in price but plentiful.

Saigon's abundantly stocked stores reflect the main thrust of the anti-inflation program. Instead of urging Vietnamese to tighten their belts for the duration, the government has — with U.S. backing — imported massive quantities of consumer goods to absorb purchasing power.

The idea is to add somewhere near $1,000 in imports for each soldier brought in so the spending for, and by, that soldier can be absorbed without inflation.

★ ★ ★

The import program has filled the streets here with bright clothing, watches, motor bikes and transistor radios from Hong Kong, Japan and elsewhere.

Vietnam once exported surplus rice to Southeast Asia. In 1966 it imported 448,000 metric tons. Increased fighting in the Mekong River Delta rive bowl probably will require even larger imports this year.

'BOUGHT TIME'

Retail prices rose 35 per cent in 1965 and 67 per cent more in 1966. No. 1 grade rice costs 113 per cent more now than a year ago.

Economic reforms announced last June "bought time," in the words of one official, pending permanent repairs.

The piaster was devalued 50 per cent. It is now officially 118 to the dollar.

"Devaluation has worked the way we hoped and predicted in June," said an American official.

INCREASE CITED

The massive import program did more than currency devaluation to curb inflation, U.S. analysts say. They also cite an increase in credit available for financing imports from about $61 million to about $211 million.

The supply of money circulating in Vietnam increased 27 per cent last year, officials report.

The Vietnamese government raised the salaries of 200,000 civil servants and 600,000 soldiers an average 27 per cent last year in an effort to keep up with rising prices.

Between 60 and 70 per cent of Vietnam's 1967 budget of about $635.6 million is earmarked for wages and salaries.

Wages continue to rise for workers both in and out of government. The United States at first refused to boost the pay of its 150,000 Vietnamese employes but then relented with a 15 per cent increase.

U.S. advisers are pushing a drive to get South Vietnam to reduce bureaucratic graft and overhaul the tax collection system inherited from French colonial days.

A pay-as-you-go-tax system was launched Jan. 1 with the assistance of experts from the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. The object is to soak up money from individuals and businesses to help ease inflation.

Labor unrest is possible at the end of January when several contracts between U.S. authorities and private stevedoring firms expire.

Saigon's port had an annual import-export capacity of a million tons in colonial days when rubber and rice were shipped out and manufactured goods were brought in. It now operates at four million tons and officials are aiming at six million tons per year.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOTHER GOOSE

QUESTION: Who was Mother Goose?....

ANSWER: We wish we could tell you who the charming old lady of the Mother Goose rhymes actually was; but it seems she was not an actual person but a mythical character. True, there is a stone in Boston, marked Goose, which some claim marks the grave of Elizabeth Vergoose, the actual Mother Goose; but scholars doubt that Mother Goose lies here.

In 1697, in France, a little book of folk stories was published with a front picture showing an old woman spinning and telling stories to children; it was called "Tales of Past Times, by Mother Goose." The book soon appeared in an English translation, and more rhymes were added.

A number of these had been originated to poke fun at great lords and ladies. For example: Queen Elizabeth was supposed to tease like a cat. She liked dancing to a fiddle. One of her court had the nickname Moon, another, Lapdog. A lady who tasted her food first was called Spoon. The gentleman who carried dishes was Dish. One day, Spoon and Dish eloped. So someone wrote the jingle ending "And the dish ran away with the spoon."

FOR YOU TO DO: Read the Mother Goose rhyme beginning "Hey diddle, diddle," checking with the nicknames above. You'll understand it better.

Cabinet's Boyd Is No Rich Politician

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Alan S. Boyd, one step away from taking his seat as the nation's first transportation secretary, could be in the running for the title of Cabinet Church Mouse.

Most of Boyd's worth is in life insurance policies. Including his veteran's insurance, they have a total face value of $142,000.

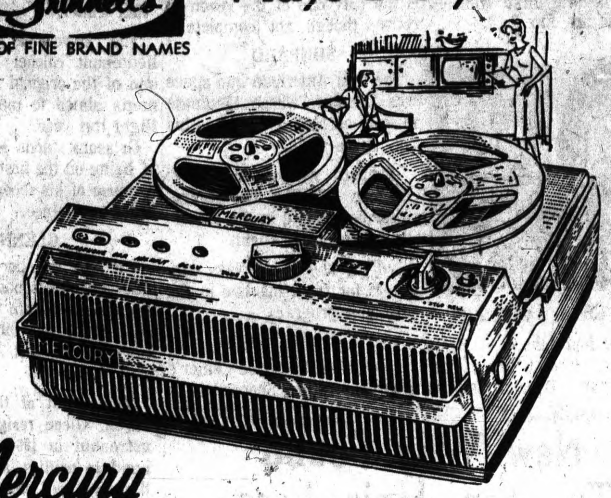

Boyd, whose appointment was confirmed by the Senate Thursday, even threw in a 10-year-old car worth $300 and a $56.25 bond in a financial statement filed with the Senate Commerce Committee.

But it didn't do much good. His over - all worth falls far short of, say, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, a one-time $100,000-a-year man with Ford Motor Co.

Nor could Boyd come close to Commerce Secretary John T. Connor, a former drug company executive, or Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, who was a highly successful lawyer in private business.

Designers Get Third Degree From Fashion News Writers

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — It was a no-holds-barred session that could have occurred in the fight ring at Madison Square Garden.

But it was a luncheon in the chandelier-lighted Crystal Room of the dignified Delmonico Hotel.

★ ★ ★

The sparrers were some 25 of New York's fashion designer elite, women and men, and about 150 reporters still on the scene after two callousing weeks of sitting through show after show of spring fashions for women.

The luncheon was the last event on the jam-packed schedule, and was billed simply as a "meet the press" gathering.

★ ★ ★

Before the two hours ended, the betting was that some of the designers wished they'd not met the press and remained in their safe Seventh Avenue showrooms.

★ ★ ★

Question from the floor to the designers on the dais, from Paige Palmer, of WEWS-TV, Cleveland:

"Why is it we're asked to promote ladies' hats and not one woman on the dais is wearing one? Why when all the promotion of bright colors for spring we've heard about for two weeks, why does the head table look so dull!"

Miss Palmer stood out from the crowd in her big fur beret, and stood until she got an answer, after laughter subsided.

"DO AS WE SAY"

Finally Mollie Parnis, who makes dresses and not hats, dared. "Do as we say, not as we do," she replied. Round to the reporter.

★ ★ ★

The subject moved to the ever-present pants suits in spring collections and Ruth Quint, of the New Haven, Conn., Register wondered whether pants suits made a woman look more like a man than a girl.

★ ★ ★

To pants suits' defense came Eleanor Lambert, public relations executive who arranged the lunch.

"We've worn slacks for years," she said. "The pants suit is nothing more than slacks with jackets well-styled."

"Have you told this to restaurants?" said a jaded reporter from the floor, well aware that many dining places have put a taboo on women in trousers no matter how chic or what the designer label.

Round to the girl from the floor.

★ ★ ★

There were a couple of non-designer types on the dais, one of them Mrs. Harilaos Theodoracopulos, the former model Betsy Pickering, who showed up on the latest international best-dressed list.

★ ★ ★

Question from the floor — couldn't see reporter to identify her:

"Miss Pickering, how does it feel to be on a best-dressed list . . . what do you slop around in?"

NEVER SLOPPED AROUND

Said the handsome brunette who was wearing white, "I've never slopped around."

Round to Mrs. Theodoracopulos.

★ ★ ★

Another reporter asked the entire dais, anyone who wanted to might answer, "Do you agree with one reporter here, a man from the Washington Post, that fashion editors are 'dowdy, dumpy dames'?"

Designers exchanged glances. Silence. No decision here.

Round to Miss Lambert.

★ ★ ★

Much of the session revolved on hemlines — whither next? Some designers stated firmly they'd stay above the knees.

★ ★ ★

Adele Simpson drew herself to her almost five feet height to announce, "There's too much emphasis on length . . . let's forget about length and just make beautiful clothes."

Applause. Round to Mrs. Simpson.

★ ★ ★

Miss Parnis allowed that short skirts were younger looking, that "you take 10 years off your age for every inch of skirt."

But length should be an individual matter — "It depends on how good your legs, how good your figure."

Voice from a reporter, "and how many wrinkles in our faces."

Final round to the press.

Abby Prints Them All

Knuckle Rapping Pro, Cons

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Re your answer to the teacher about discipline: You said the teacher who needed anything other than language to discipline a child, be it a ruler, a dunce cap, or adhesive tape, is in the wrong profession.

ABBY

Well, I think YOU are in the wrong profession, giving advice like that.

In most cases language is all that is needed, but not all children can be handled alike, and for some a board works wonders.

Teachers have a hard enough time already without your making their lot harder. If you continue to give such advice it may be time to administer some adhesive tape to YOUR mouth.

A PRINCIPAL

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: If my child earned punishment in school, I would not object to his getting a good paddling on the rear. But let any teacher apply adhesive tape to his mouth, or hit him in the face or head, and I would have that teacher before the principal, school board, and judge, charged with assault and battery!

MOTHER AND FORMER TEACHER

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for Fellow Teacher! Too bad all children can't go to school in Europe. There they teach with a cane and they really use it. And if a child is punished in school and his parents find out about it, he gets it double when he gets home.

OLD TIMER

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I wish to commend you on the stand you took against teachers using physical means to discipline their students. In this case, a teacher taped a child's mouth shut, and when the child removed the adhesive tape, he tore away part of his lip.

★ ★ ★

Thank heavens we finally recognize how much influence teachers have over our children! U. C. L. A. has a teacher-screening program. All those who hope to make teaching their career are carefully evaluated and screened. Each teacher candidate is interviewed and tested psychologically to determine whether he is qualified to teach children.

I hope this becomes universal. It will help raise the level of teachers, but unfortunately it cannot eliminate those who are emotionally unqualified to teach, but are already in the system.

FOR YOU

DEAR ABBY: Re how a teacher should discipline a child: Some forty years ago, when I was a young, inexperienced elementary school teacher, on the first day of school, one mother came to visit me with her little eight-year-old son in tow.

"I am giving you permission right in front of my boy," she said, "to hit him, slap him, or to do anything you have to do make him mind. He's a real handful at home and I'm sure he's no better at school."

Believe it or not, Abby, I never had one bit of trouble with that boy. But it was good to know that at least one mother would back me up.

Avoid Overdoing

When washing the face, it is recommended to use an upward motion, spreading the soapy lather in an upward and outward direction to avoid undue stress on fine facial muscles. This also helps prevent sagging.

Is This a Bank or Another Supermarket?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

When your neighbor says he's going to the supermarket, you can't be sure these days whether he means he's going to the grocery or to the bank.

MARY FEELEY

Banks are becoming the local "shopping center" for an increasingly long list of family needs. Bank services are astonishingly varied. And, as a sign of the times, today's up-and-coming banker doesn't in the least mind being approached as a merchant who values your trade.

The family or individual with a medium or small income is a welcome customer. Although banks have made consumer loans for over 25 years, this type of credit was only a minor part of the banking picture before World War II.

Since then it has shown a 20-fold increase. Consumer credit is a great big business.

★ ★ ★

But personal loans are only one part of the bank's business. Here are some of the other services you can expect to find at your local financial supermarket:

• The Staples: Mortgage loans; travelers checks; money orders; safe deposit boxes; handling of stock transactions; checking accounts; E Bond sales; E Bond transfers; Christmas Clubs; special checking accounts; trusts; life insurance.

• The "Fancy Foods:" Automatic dividend deposits; "push-button" loans, or "checking plus"; credit card plans; savings income plan; automatic transferral of sums from checking account to savings account; a system of record-Keeping for your checking account that categorizes each expenditure you make by check.

★ ★ ★

Some of these services, which are growing in popularity in various parts of the country, may not be entirely familiar to you, as they may not yet be available in your community. For instance, the automatic dividend deposit plan: By arrangement with your bank, you can authorize the companies in which you own stock to make all cash dividends payable to your checking or savings account at your bank.

Your bank sees to it and notifies you of all deposits, naming each firm issuing a dividend. All stock dividends, proxies, rights and other communications will continue to be sent directly to you.

Also, you may not be aware that some banks will arrange to send you monthly checks, as a form of retirement income, drawn automatically on your savings account.

If your bank does give this service, you can talk it over with an officer to find out how much money you can receive monthly, based on the amount of savings you have in that bank.

Bank charge cards are growing in number in various states. The object is one charge card which is honored in many neighborhood and suburban stores, and one monthly bill — from the bank. So you don't have to wonder where your money went, as you might if you made a lot of small cash purchases.

The record-keeping system referred to above (called Rec-Chek) is in operation in a number of states. It was started as a help to farmers, who have so many areas of spending to account for — seed, fertilizer, fodder, equipment, etc. But the idea has extended to the urban depositor.

★ ★ ★

Your checkbook gives you a list of code letters. When you write a check, you note on the check what letter, or category, this expenditure is for — car, clothing, food, home, etc. A computer system records this amount under the proper heading at the bank when the check is cashed.

Your monthly statement shows you in detail exactly what each dollar was spent for. And not only that — your monthly statement shows a "year-to-date transaction" for each category.

(For Mary Feeley's "Make Every Dollar Count" booklet, send $1 to her in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Owl Pieces Best Sellers

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—"It's the year of the owl," says Polly Davis of the Gallery.

Owl pieces have been the best-selling items this year. Householders, looking for something different for decoration, are buying them in reds, browns, greens and purples.

Owls have traditionally been considered an ill-omen, and as such, have been rather unpopular. An Audobon Society official says, however, that owls help keep nature in balance by eating rodents and that man would suffer without the owl.

Amy Poole, daughter of the Fred Pooles of Heitsch Road and Lynn Duzan, daughter of the Lowell Duzans of Richmond Street model two of the outfits that will be included in the fashion show and card party at Carl Sandburg School Thursday at 7:30 p.m. Proceeds from the PTA sponsored event will go toward playground equipment for the school.

Polly's Pointers

Rack on Door

DEAR POLLY — When I will not be at home the day the dry cleaner is to deliver, a strong ruler saves the day. I hold the ruler half-in and half-out at the top of the opened storm or screen door and then close the door (it will not shut all the way) until the ruler is secured and able to sustain weight. Besides serving as a rod for the just-delivered clean clothes, I hang those I want picked up there, too.

(POLLY'S NOTE—This door should be protected from the weather and view from passersby who just might be tempted.)

Often I have given myself a pedicure and need to get to my housework before the polish is dry. Now I keep a pair of beach thongs with my manicure equipment, slip them on, put a piece of cotton between each toe before applying polish. This way I can get to my chores immediately without worrying about smearing the fresh polish. — DIANE

DEAR POLLY — Here is a problem that is bugging me. I have several bras and house dresses that are stained under the arms. How can I remove these stains? The Pointers have taught me that one is "never too old to learn." — MRS. B. J.

DEAR POLLY — When my two little girls outgrew their natural finished wooden high chairs, my husband cut off the high chair parts to make ideal chairs for them to sit in and have their feet on the floor. He used plywood to make tops for the bottoms that were cut off and this made ideal tables or stools.

★ ★ ★

Clear varnish was used to paint them to match the girls' rocking chairs. He also put non-skid bottoms on the chairs to keep them from marring the floor or sliding around.—MRS. M. U.

DEAR POLLY—Mary could use a lining of muslin or other soft material in her jeans with itchy seams. I put lining in most all of my wool ones to cut down on irritation.—DOT

DEAR POLLY — The stitching on blue jeans no longer irritates my girls if I turn them inside out and press on mending tape at the points of irritation.—MRS. E. F. M.

MRS. L. A. PENNINGTON MRS. P. R. GARDNER JR.

Lace, Tulle Chosen by Miss Farms

An evening ceremony and reception Saturday in the First Baptist Church marked the vows of Nancy Louise Farms and Larry Allen Pennington.

White Chantilly lace and tulle fashioned a bouffant tiered gown and train for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Farms of Green Street.

Jeweled lace petals held her illusion veil and a white orchid centered her cascade bouquet of white carnations.

★ ★ ★

Matron of honor was Mrs. James Shaw, along with bridesmaids Isabel Seelye and Mrs. Paul Lenker. Karen Farms and Marcia Pennington were flower girls.

Attending their brother were three sons of the Robert Penningtons of North Astor Street: James, as best man, and Tom and Jeffery, who ushered along with Jerry Asher and Alexander Tasca.

Miss Craig Takes Vows

Reception in Rotunda Country Inn followed a nuptial high Mass for the junior Paul Robert Gardners (Ruth Ann Craig) Friday evening in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The junior William J. Craigs of Cherryland Street, Pontiac Township and the senior Paul R. Gardners of Onagon Trail are parents of the couple who will live in Rochester after a brief honeymoon in Canada.

★ ★ ★

Pearls and hand-cording on her Empire bodice highlighted the bride's A-Line gown of white peau de soie.

A petal crown held her illusion veil and pink Sweetheart roses combined with white carnations comprised her bouquet.

Margaret J. Craig attended her sister and Dennis Gardner was his brother's best man.

The bride is a gradulate of the Career Academy for Registered Medical Assistants in Milwaukee.

Spadea Designer Pattern

N-1109

by Jo Copeland

Here is one of the handsomest suits designed by Jo Copeland. The suberb shaping of the jacket as it follows the line of the body — the off-center buttoning — the set-in ¾ length sleeves — the velvet trimmed collar that is cut and shaped to frame your neck—all add up to a very special look.

The skirt has a slight flare and fullness that eases into the waistband. There are pockets set in the two side front seams (no side seams). The buttons on the skirt are set also to the left of center front in line with the jacket. A great suit in raw silk or nubby woolens — but equally good in linens or cottons.

Spadea's exclusive ready-to-wear sizes produce a better fit. See chart for size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips	*Length
10	34	24	35	16½"

18	40	30	41	17½"

*From Nape of Neck to Waist

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The career woman has some special problems in grooming and clothes. In the first place she doesn't have time to give herself a manicure during the day and must arrange to do it some evening or on weekends unless she has it done professionally.

Many beauty salons have later hours for the working gal.

Many career women have their hair done professionally once a week, or they create a do-it-yourself coiffure once a week. If a woman has a good basic permanent which gives the hair body without curls, and a good haircut, this will be all she will need except for a little pickup now and then with a few rollers.

If she has very oily hair, she will need to shampoo it herself at midweek and roll it up. Not long ago I gave you some directions as to how to do this.

The fact that there is not always time between work and an evening social engagement to go home to dress, also creates a problem. However, this can be solved with a little thoughtful planning.

When you are going out in the evening, wear a costume to the office which will be appropriate at both times. That is one great advantage of the sleeveless dress which has a jacket.

Button the jacket or keep it on in the daytime and then take it off and add some jewelry for the evening.

It is wise to keep a small cosmetic kit in the drawer of your desk at all times, for use when you know you are going out and also for those sudden invitations! Even if you are wearing something very tailored to work, you will want to change your makeup before leaving the office for an evening out.

This need not be cumbersome. You can buy most cosmetics in small portions. Perhaps you will want to include lipstick and powder of a different shade for nighttime. You will need either cleansing cream or some of those cleansing pads.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Reasons for Shaky Hands Vary

BRANDSTADT

Q — Could extreme nervousness, manifested by shaking of my hands, be caused by a vitamin deficiency? I am 35 and in good health otherwise.

★ ★ ★

A—The shaking may be due to anxiety, exposure to cold, extreme fatigue, excessive use of alcohol, tobacco or various drugs, poisoning with mercury, lead, manganese or bismuth, toxic goiter, low blood sugar, paralysis agitans or Parkinson's disease, multiple sclerosis and other diseases of the nervous system. I have omitted congenital causes and causes affecting the aged. Vitamin deficiency would cause tremors only after it had resulted in extreme debility.

Q — My husband is 75. His hands are very shaky, especially when he eats. What treatment would you suggest?

★ ★ ★

A — In addition to the causes of tremors listed in the preceding answer is the tremor sometimes seen in elderly persons and attributable solely to age. There is no treatment for this except to keep as physically fit as possible by observing the rules of hygienic living — adequate rest, balanced diet and moderate exercise.

Q — My husband was diagnosed as having progressive bulbar palsy. What causes it and what can be done for it?

★ ★ ★

A—In this disease there is a slowly progressing weakness with wasting of the involved muscles but no change in the sensory nerves. The onset usually occurs in persons who are over 40. The cause is unknown. Although no effective treatment is as yet available the National Institute of Neurologic Diseases and Blindness in Bethesda, Md., is doing research on it.

Q — What would cause my hands to go numb when I am holding a pen, using a broom or steering a car?

★ ★ ★

A — In some persons with arthritis the swelling in the joints presses on the sensory nerves and causes numbness which is most noticeable when the joints are being used. Other possible causes are anemia, diseases of the circulation, Raynaud's disease of the nervous system. When the cause is determined appropriate treatment can be prescribed.

Q — In its first stage could syphilis be transmitted from one man to another sleeping in the same room in separate beds? Would a blood test show syphilis 5 years after a suspected exposure?

★ ★ ★

A — The disease would not be transmitted in the manner described. The blood test is the most reliable means of diagnosis after the first stage is past.

Man Stabbed, Crawls Home

FLINT (UPI) — Police today were searching for the assailant of a Flint man, who was found in his back yard bleeding from several stab wounds Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Police said Willie Pearson, 37, was found lying face down in the snow in his back yard with wounds in his head, face, chest and back.

Authorities said Pearson managed to tell them he was walking in the neighborhood near his home when another man suddenly lunged at him with a knife, stabbed him and robbed him of $60.

Pearson said he then managed to crawl home and reached his back yard before he collapsed. Police said he had been in the yard for four hours before they discovered him.

Pearson was hospitalized in the intensive care ward of Hurley Hospital.

Use of 'Franglais,' 'Les Badges' Hit

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PARIS — (NEA) — "Mini" is definitely an unpleasant word in French. The 22 members of that august body, the French Academy, which is to letters what Dior is to fashions, have decreed it.

In fact. they have damned it.

The academicians belong to the committee which produced the review, "Defense of the French Language."

In their latest edition, they growl that the French emulators of Madison Avenue publicists are creating "mini-words" for the "mini-brains" who form the majority of their public.

★ ★ ★

There is cause, it seems, for their protests. While the mini-jupe (skirt) has been slow to catch on, except with the kids in the Latin Quarter, the word itself has spawned a score of others.

Frenchmen with mini-budgets now take mini-vacances (vacations) and shop for mini-prix bargains.

A pop singer, Jacques Dutronc, has made a hit record entirely on mini-words.

Francoise Hardy, one of the top three mini-warblers, recently modeled a new mini-dress hoping the mini-Parisiennes would go for it.

But "mini" is just the last drop, the academicians claim, which caused the overflow of the brimming cup of protest against the invasion of "Franglais" in the nation's language.

The majority of Frenchmen these days understands perfectly that "un gentleman" may take "une script girl" away for the "weekend" and persuade her to watch "le football after buying her the odd "cardigan" or "la robe sweater" or "un pull" (pull-over). Hush - puppies and sneakers no longer need to be translated.

Said "gentleman" will continue, setting his date up with "un snack," perhaps "un hot dog" in "le milk bar." He will then put his car in a "parking" and invite her to his "penthouse."

Occasionally, he may require "un checkup" and "un bridge" after his yearly visit to the dentist. And British mini-cars are run by the boys and girls "with it," or dans le vent (in the wind, in French).

★ ★ ★

Publicists explain there is a good and simple reason for this state of affairs, which even the austere President Charles de Gaulle has been known to frown upon.

SPELLING INCORRECT

To begin with, English words are easier, quicker, tangy. The spelling is often incorrect, but who's to know? If your zipper jams, you know where you are, but "une fermeture eclair" seems that much more complicated.

Turning the knife in the wound, a new television competition recently announced the award of a "badge" to winners.

The French have just awakened to the uses of "le badge." One well-known writer describes it as "a way of speaking without opening one's mouth."

★ ★ ★

By pinning a badge to your lapel, on your sleeve, on your hat, anywhere you please, you can make it say practically anything. For example — "I am a genius," "Its' a fine day," "I am free," "I am not free," "Don't come near me," "I am in favor of sexual equality," or any other individual profession of faith.

FIRST TO EXPLOIT

Gen. Baden-Powell of Boy Scout fame was the first to exploit the badge with his troops. In World War I British Tommies wore buttons representing their favorite general on the battlefields of Flanders.

What stuck most lastingly in the French mind was the "I Like Ike" button which figured so prominently in the presidential campaign maneuvers of the ex-Allied commander.

Now a 26-year-old Frenchman, Didier Bernardin (his father owns the Crazy Horse Saloon, a Paris strip joint) is about to corner the badge market.

Didier went to the United States on a vacation last summer and came back with an idea. He gave up his studies to be a pharmacist and went to work. Soon after, he bombarded the French market with 500,000 badges.

Kids are now collecting badges instead of keyrings and Bernardin's objective is to win over the 3 million keyring collectors in France.

Charity Deductions Have Specific Limits

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You may deduct any cash payments made during 1966 to any recognized charity. Contributions to needy individuals—no matter how worthy the cause—are never deductible.

Generally, deductible contributions will include your church, Red Cross, United Appeal and similar agencies. Pledges made to churches and similar organizations are not deductible, only the amount actually paid on them in the year covered by the return.

Deductible contributions must be within maximum limitations, although such limits rarely affect the average person.

The limits are 20 per cent of adjusted gross income for contributions to private charitable foundations and 30 per cent of adjusted gross income if public charities got at least 10 per cent of your gifts.

★ ★ ★

While there never can be a deduction for the value of personal services performed in behalf of charity, in some instances out-of-pocket expenses in certain types of volunteer work are deductible.

INCLUDE EXPENSES

This would include expenses incurred while service as an unpaid delegate to a church convention, attending meetings as a church choir member, serving as a Gray Lady or hospital volunteer, or as a den mother to Cub Scouts, Brownie troops or similar organizations.

Such expenses might include transportation expenses (you may charge five cents a mile for the use of your car), parking charges, the cost of required uniforms which are not adaptable to ordinary wear and the cost of meals and lodging if away from home overnight while performing such volunteer service. Attach a statement to your return detailing these expense items.

If you contributed works of art, clothing, furniture, home appliances to charity, the fair market value of the item—what you could have received for it in cash on the open market—determines your deduction.

(NEXT: Deductible taxes and interest).

No Batteries, No Charges'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Seven employes of a Louisville printing company all gave the same alibi to their wives for getting home from work late one day recently.

When they left their jobs, each of the seven found that he could not start his car. All seven of the cars' batteries had been stolen.

5 Wounded, 1 Dead in Ohio

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio and Kentucky police sought a Hamilton man today for questioning in the shooting of six persons, one fatally.

Police said Vernon Mitchell Godby, 40, who fled after the shootings Sunday, was believed headed for central Kentucky.

★ ★ ★

A dispute between two children led to the shooting, which took the life of Jackie Lynn Fields, 2, and wounded her father, grandmother, two sisters and a brother, police said.

Police said one of the Fields children, visiting at the home of the grandmother, Judy Fields, 67, apparently stabbed a neighbor boy, Daniel Godby, 14.

BEGINS SHOOTING

Shortly after that, Mrs. Fields answered her front door and a man identified as the senior Godby began shooting with a pistol.

The girl was shot fatally in the chest. Her father, Chester Fields, 35, suffered serious chest and abdomen wounds.

Mrs. Fields was shot in the right thigh. Stanley Fields, 13, was hit in the left leg. Imogene Fields, 8, was shot in the hand and foot. Sharon Fields, 4, was shot in the left leg. All were hospitalized in fair condition.

Trash Cans Now Collector's Items

TAOS, N.M. (AP)—Nationally famous artists in the art colony here have made their contribution to the beautification of Taos.

The trash receptacles which line the streets at intervals were painted in individual designs by local artists. One famous painter of horses decorated a can with different-colored horses; another used Indian symbols; and a children's book illustrator spruced a litter container up with pictures of clowns.

Canton Opposition Is Furtive,

Red Guards Fervent

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Ian Brodie, 31, Far Eastern correspondent for the London Daily Express, has just spent four days in Canton and southeast China. Here is his eyewitness report on the upheaval shaking the Communist giant.)

By IAN BRODIE
London Daily Express

CANTON, China (AP) — Though one million Red Guards throng Canton's streets and are in effective control, there are no civil disorders. The opposition to the guards is covert, furtive and virtually underground.

Police are still on duty, most of them wearing armbands to show they are in the Red Guards anyway. But traffic in the streets of southeast China's biggest city is limited to a handful of trucks, packed buses and trolley-buses.

★ ★ ★

On my way to Canton, I wondered if I would meet any Red Guards. By now, I have seen thousands upon thousands, shaking hands with hundreds who wanted to be friendly and even had one try to press his red armband on me as a mark of honorary membership.

Their fervor is pathetic but self-sustaining. Primed with the thoughts of Mao Tse-tung to solve all problems, they see the golden classless future as theirs to inherit. Their movement is a pilgrimage but the only diety is Mao.

COUNTRYSIDE

Out in the countryside, I saw many more columns of youths marching to join their comrades.

One group of 50, with bedrolls on their backs and mostly barefoot, had been walking behind their red flag along dusty roads for four days. They said it may be a year before they see their village again.

★ ★ ★

Apart from their teacher, not one of them was over 13.

I was told the influx into Canton has built up suddenly during the last two troubled weeks — since Mao and Defense Minister Lin Piao said the cultural revolution must spread to every work bench and rice paddy in the land.

MUCH MOVEMENT

Apparently, all major cities now have a similar flood of marchers. The disruption of traffic, normal working and food supplies is unimaginable.

Older men who must keep working to feed their families are growing increasingly resentful, I was told. So are some young workers who are not students and who want to get on with learning a trade.

The Red Guards are everywhere in Canton, jammed on the pavement outside my hotel, milling in continuous procession along the main streets, accosting everyone, daring them to defy Mao's thoughts. They tolerate no opposition.

And yet it was possible to detect that opposition still exists in Canton. It is underground. It is small. But it appears to be determined.

The Chinese official assigned to me by the authorities — a wary Mr. Wu — admitted that there had been labor troubles and strikes in Canton. From his account, they were not coordinated or organized. Yet opponents of Mao had been able to trigger workers' unrest sufficiently to set up a number of wildcat walkouts.

In recent weeks, the tempo of ramming home Mao's message has been stepped up. One aim of the cultural revolution is to make his words and image totally ubiquitous.

★ ★ ★

At every mealtime — delicate Cantonese cooking eaten with chopsticks — I sat under a red banner that said: "Chairman Mao is the most outstanding leader of the proletariat in the present era, and the greatest genius in the present era — Lin Piao."

That sets the tone for Mao-think.

The fanatical campaign is defacing China. Every building in Canton is being daubed with quotations from Mao's thoughts, painted in scarlet characters on orders from the town council.

This blanket coverage has aroused critics. One wall poster lamented the waste of paint and the use of good space that could otherwise be used for posters.

If Mao falls from grace with the speed of Khrushchev, millions of Chinamen will need an overnight redecorating job on their homes.

Group to Tell the Details of Body Freezing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A California Cryonics group says it will give the science world details of how it reportedly froze the body of a man who died Thursday in the hope it can be brought back to life later.

Members of the Cryonics Society of California have refused to identify the man or say where the experiment took place.

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said an elderly Los Angeles man died of lung cancer Thursday. The paper was told the body was frozen immediately and a machine used to keep the heart beating. The blood reportedly was replaced with dimethyl sulfoxide and glycerol and the body put in a plastic coffin under refrigeration.

Robert Nelson, president of the Cryonics group, said of the cancer victim:

"It was his hope to contribute to a scientific experimentation. He hoped that his body can be revived with future techniques at a time when a cure for cancer is available."

Regeneration Research Urged

by The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR — A University of Michigan scientists believes that with more wideranging research man might find the ability to grow another finger or make a single suit that adjusts to weather changes.

Dr. John Platt, associate director of the university's Mental Health Research Institute, made his observations today in an article in Science magazine.

★ ★ ★

"We develop some things well and others not at all," said Platt. "Why shouldn't someone make up a single suit that would shed rain and that we could ruffle up for comfort in any weather, as a bird ruffles its feathers? A bird needs no suitcase."

Platt said the reason is simply that no one, not even the Army, has bothered to put a task force on the problem.

"Scientists are not really innovators, and neither are industrial companies and government agencies and their research-development teams," said Platt, who is a research biophysicist. He added:

"We seem to have collective taboos against certain types of development, like the taboo against work on oral contraceptives before 1950."

Scientists, he said, concentrate on certain subjects while almost entirely neglecting others of equal interest, importance and ripeness for development.

For example, Platt observed, some 400 government and industrial projects dealing with optical laser reportedly are under way, utilizing several thousand scientists and engineers.

"The motorcar was developed with less than 40 manufacturing and development teams," he said. "One can't help wondering whether everything important to discover in the field of lasers might not have been discovered just as fast with only 40 projects."

Tribal Split-Ups Still Threaten Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A year after a predawn uprising turned Nigeria upside down, the strife-torn nation still totters under the threat of tribal split-ups.

★ ★ ★

The coup that failed last Jan. 15 opened a cycle of violence that took thousands of lives.

★ ★ ★

It enlarged suspicions to the point that groups bargained warily to protect themselves as much as to save Nigeria from splitting into tribal states.

After five months of trying, Nigeria's military ruler, Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, was able 10 days ago to collect the four regional military governors for talks near Accra, Ghana, 300 miles west of the Nigerian capital.

TO REMAIN UNITED

The meeting was hailed as a sign Nigeria is to remain united, but the aura of suspicion was so complete that military leaders refused to remain out of the country one night. They commuted from Nigeria for the two-day conference. Signs that the talks left confusion in their wake appeared in papers the day after the meeting.

★ ★ ★

The military man met outside Nigeria because the eastern governor, Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, said he feared for his life anywhere in Nigeria outside his territory.

★ ★ ★

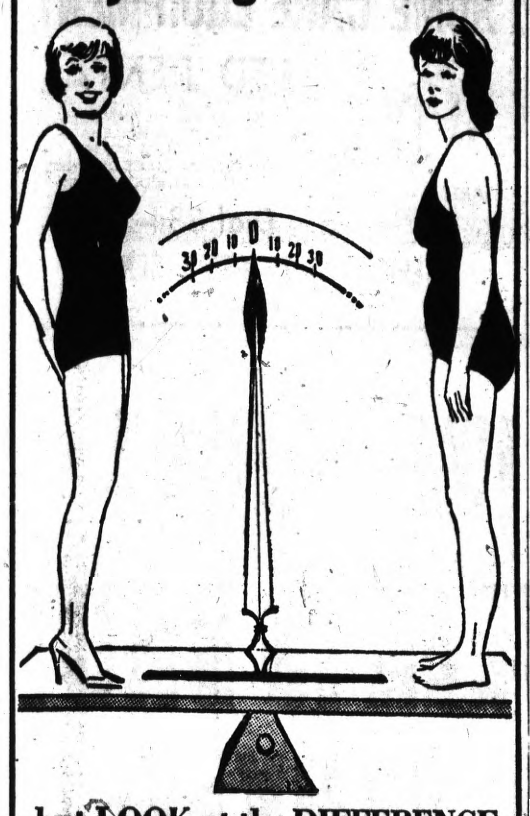

The east, dominated by Ibo tribesmen, appears the major holdout because of deep and bitter distrust of the north.

During the first year of military rule, easterners were the hardest hit.

KIDNAPED, KILLED

Maj. Gen. Johnson T. U. Aguiyi-Ironsi, an Ibo and the first supreme commander after the January coup, was kidnaped and killed in the July 29 army uprising that put Gowon in power.

Air War Restrictions Frustrate U.S. Pilots

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) —American pilots are flying bombing missions over North Vietnam under a set of ground rules they often find frustrating.

Airmen call this the most restricted bombing offensive in history.

★ ★ ★

The fliers and their commanders are puzzled, for example, at Washington's ban on attacks against MIG airfields, targets they regard as entirely military.

Restrictions limit the fliers both as to type of target and the location.

POLITICAL REASONS

Broadly, they are imposed for political reasons—to keep from drawing the Soviet Union or Communist China into the war or into bigger supporting roles, to forestall adverse world opinion, and to hold civilian casualties to a minimum.

U.S. officials concede that some civilians in North Vietnam have been killed and wounded by American bombs but they insist that no raids have been planned or made on civilian targets and that such casualties came by accident during raids on military targets.

★ ★ ★

In the so-called "immaculate bombing" of the Communist north, U.S. airmen are forbidden—without special permission from Washington—to hit targets within a 30-mile circle around Hanoi, a 10-mile radius of Haiphong and in a 20-mile wide "safety strip" below the Chinese border.

Flights over these areas are permitted, but bombing strikes require approval from President Johnson or the military chiefs in Washington.

OUT OF BOUNDS

Similarly ruled out of bounds are major power plants, factories, high-density populated areas, Haiphong's harbor facilities and the MIG airfields in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

U.S. airmen claim they could wipe out the small North Vietnamese air force in one night of raids. The Air Force was estimated at 75 planes before nine MIG21s were downed by U.S. airmen in the first week of January.

★ ★ ★

The ban on attacking Haiphong harbor apparently is to prevent hitting Soviet or other Communist vessels and thus possibly broadening the war.

Targets on the unrestricted list—fair game for U.S. bombers almost anywhere except Hanoi and Haiphong—are bridges, roads, rail lines, rail cars, trucks, barges, junks, staging areas, storage areas, oil depots, antiaircraft gun positions and surface to air missile sites.

CIVILIAN PROXIMITY

U.S. strike pilots speak of the proximity of civilian homes and shops to essentially military targets.

"It is exasperating," says one U.S. air officer, "to fight a war in which every rail yard or gun position has a bunch of dwellings around it. The Communists seem to make it a point to stick a military target right in the middle of a town. For example, you take the towns just north of the demilitarized zone —they are filled with antiaircraft sites. And there are some missile sites next to civilian areas. I know of one case of a missile site next to a girls' school."

★ ★ ★

"The North Vietnamese," he continued, "have about 6,000 antiaircraft sites scattered around and we believe about 2,000 of these are in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

"They have antiaircraft guns all along the northwest and the northeast rail lines out of Hanoi, leading to China.

KNOW SYSTEM

"With this kind of a setup, and because they know the pattern-or-targeting system from experience, all they have to do is line up their guns and wait for us."

In South Vietnam, there are no blanket restrictions on U.S. fliers on types of targets but controls are imposed on bombing or strafing runs against specified areas. These are localities which are thought to be Vietcong territory but where some doubt exists.

In those cases, advance permission is required from the province chief, invariably a colonel or higher in the South Vietnamese army.

It is up to the province chief to certify that the target area is free of noncombatant civilians and that it is held by the Vietcong.

NOT FOOLPROOF

The system is far from foolproof. A series of mistaken bombings of hamlets and villages last summer brought numerous civilian casualties.

Following these accidental bombings, Gen. William C. Westmoreland named a special military board to prepare procedures to minimize them.

U.S. officers say the number of "short-round incidents" — mistaken bombings—has been reduced 30 per cent in the last six months.

In addition to the province chief machinery, U.S. fliers on tactical strikes in South Vietnam operate under direction of Forward Air Controllers. These are pilots of small observation planes who direct jet bombers to their targets by radio.

"Our FAC pilots watch the strike right up to the last second," noted a U.S. commander. "He won't let a bomber pilot drop his ordnance until he is right on the target. Our FACs go out on aerial reconnaissance patrols every day so they are very familiar with what is a friendly area and what is not. In addition, we've started putting Vietnamese fliers in the back seats of our FACs and we're doing this more and more.

"This matter of bombing civilians is a real serious thing. There's no sense winning a war and killing all the people while you're doing it."

Tell Doomed Patient? MD Has Answer

NEW YORK (UPI) — When his science tells a doctor his patient is doomed, does he tell the patient? No matter how tough the decision you have to make in your business, none could be tougher than this one.

It has been wringing the consciences of doctors since their science first learned to recognize doom in advance. Ethically they're bound to tell the truth. In this instance, truth-telling could be devastating.

Dr. Adriaan Verwoerdt made a big point of the harm of truth in the newest effort to provide doctors with a sound, rational basis for decision-making.

He is a scientific authority on personal communications among people and a professor at Duke University Medical Center, Durham, N.C.

★ ★ ★

"The physician has neither the right nor the obligation to impose on the patient factual evidence which serves no therapeutic purpose," he said.

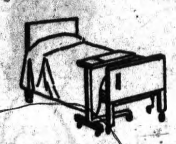

★ ★ ★

ON THE ALERT

While the doctor still is diagnosing the patient he should be laying "the groundwork for effective communication." He does that by being on the "alert for clues bearing on the patient's emotional and intellectual reserves. Fairly reliable indicators include ego strength, intelligence and religious conviction."

Interception Leads to 21-10 Edge

Willie Wood's Steal Ends Kaycee Hopes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Few would say today there was any one real turning point in Green Bay's 35-10 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs in the Super Bowl Sunday.

★ ★ ★

But a key point certainly came when the Packers' Willie Wood intercepted a Len Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas and, in an electrifying run, ran it back 50 yards to the Chiefs' five.

One burst by Elijah Pitts put it across and what had been a 14-10 Green Bay lead became 21-10.

"We knew they'd pass on a third down and five and I was ready," said Wood, performing in the same Memorial Coliseum where he starred for the University of Southern California.

The ball was deflected, Wood revealed, "and I thought it would never come down."

It was another ex-USC Trojan, Mike Garrett, who hauled Willie down.

PACKER POLICY

Wood then disclosed that Green Bay has a policy of setting up an opponent for a kill, giving away passes to the outside for short yardage — and then hawking in when the enemy thinks it has found a weak point in the defense.

Green Bay's postgame dressing room was typically Packer. There were broad smiles, friendly back slapping but anything but riotous.

★ ★ ★

Fullback Jim Taylor, who played out his option for Green Bay last season, said he had no comment about future plans. Reportedly he'll discuss the matter soon with Lombardi.

★ ★ ★

Taylor only laughed when asked what the trouble was between 6-foot-7, 287-pound Buck Buchanan, Kansas City's tackle.

"That big devil is too big to tangle with," Taylor said.

Len Dawson, veteran quarterback of the American Football League champion Kansas City Chiefs, spoke affirmatively:

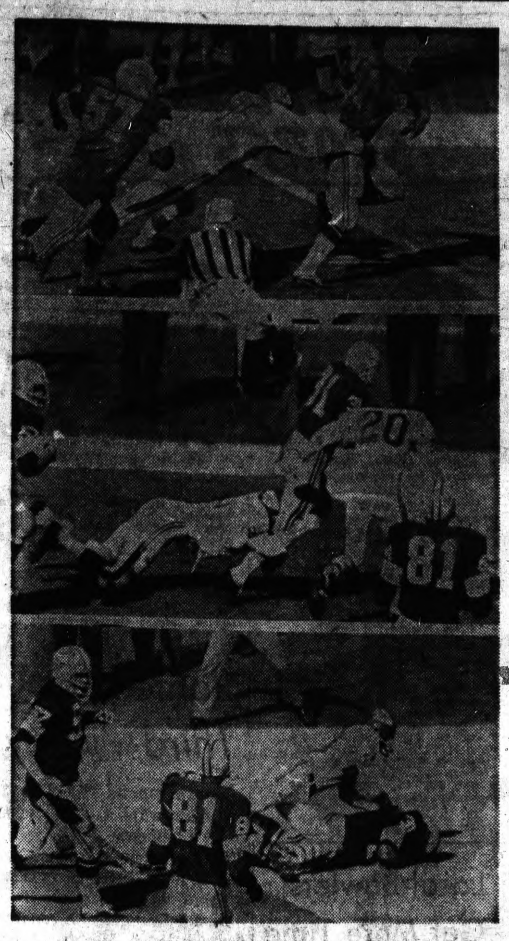

"I don't think our performance in the second half is an indication of the strength of our league.

NOT CONVINCED

"I'm not convinced they're a better football team than we are. I think we compare favorably with them."

★ ★ ★

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said, "At halftime, I thought we could come back and win it. We played well in the first half, but the interception seemed to change the personality of the game. Once we got behind, we had to deviate from our game plan."

AP Wirephoto

TAYLOR-MADE RUN — Jim Taylor, fullback of the Green Bay Packers gets away on a 15-yard touchdown run as Kansas City's Chuck Hurston (85) and Bobby Hunt (20) try to stop him at the goal line. Taylor got the Packer's second touchdown in the Super Bowl.

Packers Give Chiefs NFL Football Lesson

Green Bay Too Super for K.C.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vince Lombardi thinks the Kansas City Chiefs simply don't rate with the top teams in the National Football League after watching his Green Bay Packers whip the American Football League champs in Sunday's first Super Bowl game.

"They have a good football team with fine speed but I'd have to say that NFL football is tougher," said Coach Lombardi following the Packers' 35-10 victory before a rather disappointing crowd of 63,036 at the Memorial Coliseum.

★ ★ ★

The game was supposed to prove which league played the best ball and the NFL came out of this first prestige test with flying colors.

Hank Stram, coach of the Chiefs, paid his respects to the Packers as an excellent team but he maintained, "One game is not a true test of the abilities of both leagues."

SLIM LEAD

At the end of the half the Packers clung to a precarious 14-10 lead and had been outgained by the Chiefs.

In the second half the NFL champs manhandled Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, and dominated play by a 21-0 edge.

Willie Wood's interception of a Dawson pass early in the third quarter was the first indication that the Packers were aroused. In the first half they had failed to pressure Dawson and let him scramble around.

★ ★ ★

Wood rambled 50 yards to the Chiefs' five after picking off the pass that was deflected by Lee Roy Caffey. Elijah Pitts went in on the next play and the Packers were on their way.

Bart Starr had a tremendous day, picking out receivers or calling the right ball carrier on those important third down situations. Of 14 third down calls in the game, Starr produced first downs 11 times. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the game and winner of a special sports car award by a magazine.

Starr threw two touchdown passes to 34-year-old Max McGee, who caught only four passes during the regular season. The 11-year-veteran led the receivers with seven for 138 yards including the scoring plays of 37 and 13 yards.

Starr completed 16 of 23 for 250 yards and two TDs but also had one intercepted by Willie Mitchell, his first in 173 tosses since Oct. 16. He also had a 64-yard touchdown pass to Carroll Dale called back because of a penalty.

From Our News Wires

Michigan State and Northwestern, pre-season choices of coaches to finish one-two in the Big Ten basketball title chase, have broken on top in the young season with 2-0 records.

The Spartans ended Iowa's seven-game winning streak with a 79-70 victory Saturday while Northwestern was idle. Illinois downed Michigan, 99-93.

★ ★ ★

In this week of semester exams at most schools, the schedule is light. But Northwestern gets its crack at Iowa in a regionally televised attraction Saturday afternoon.

In another afternoon game, Michigan State invades Michigan while Minnesota is at Ohio State at night. All other teams draw a respite.

Ohio State travels to Georgia Tech for a non-conference date tonight.

Iowa threw two men on Michigan State's big center Matt Aitch and managed to hold him to just two baskets and keep him off the boards in the first half.

★ ★ ★

Forcing the Spartans to outside shooting, Iowa once led 31-23 but a scoring burst just before the end of the half left Michigan State only two behind, 33-31, at the intermission.

HAWKS OVERCOME

Lee Lafayette, Aitch and guard Steve Rymal led the second half Michigan State assault which finally overcame the pressing defensive game which coach Ralph Miller teaches the Hawkeyes.

Lafyette led the Spartans with 17, while Aitch tossed in 16 and Rymal had 15. Jerry Jones, with 27 points, and former Detroit Northern high school star Sam Williams, with 26 points, provided most of the Iowa scoring punch.

Senior center Craig Dill topped Michigan's scoring attack with 24 points and sophomore forward Dennis Stewart added 20 points.

Missing Miler Places Kansas Coach on Spot

BOSTON (AP)—Pity poor Bob Timmons, or maybe you were thinking it is some kind of snap to coach Kansas' gift to the superstars of track and field, miler Jim Ryun.

It is no easy job, let Timmons hasten to say. For one thing people are always getting mad at him.

★ ★ ★

Timmons showed up at the Boston Knights of Columbus indoor track meet here Saturday night to get a look at what was supposed to be a pretty good crop of milers.

From that standpoint, the trip was a dud—Ergas Leps of Toronto won the mile in 4:06.4, a mark that hardly figures to threaten Ryun unless the 19-year-old Kansan breaks a leg midway through a race sometime.

But Timmons' stay here was less than pleasant from another angle, too. People kept asking him what he was doing there instead of Ryun, who is, of course, the answer to a meet director's prayer.

STAYING AWAY

Timmons, a short, inordinately polite fellow who inserts "sir" into nearly every sentence he utters, did his best to explain, but he failed to mollify the Eastern track buffs and writers who considered it a personal affront that Ryun will make no indoor appearances in the area this winter.

"We're getting heat from all sides," he said. "Everybody's accusing us of boycotting this meet or that one, but the plain truth is Jim and I worked out the best schedule we could.

★ ★ ★

"Jim's not just any athlete," Timmons said. "The public expects a great performance out of him every time he runs, so we decided to keep his outside competition to a minimum."

Among those whom Timmons had come to see was Australian Tony Benson, who had gone four minutes flat and had been unbeaten from 800 meters to two miles this year. It was his American debut.

But Benson, after making a brief bid for the lead halfway through the race, faltered and finished seventh. NCAA champion Dave Patrick of Villanova, who has gone 4:02.1, was second behind Leps and Dave Bailey of Toronto was third.

Ex-QB Goalby Has Control of Golf Game

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Bob Goalby's swing is back in the groove, his nerves no longer jangle like guitar strings and he's ready, he says, to make a charge at Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Bill Casper on the pro golf tour.

"I feel I am solidly back on my game," the 6-foot, 195-pound former University of Illinois quarterback said after winning the San Diego Open Sunday, the first event on the $4.5-million pro tour.

★ ★ ★

Starting the final round with a bulging five-shot lead over the field, Goalby saw his advantage quickly erased by a rallying Gay Brewer Jr. Instead of folding, according to the usual script, Goalby looked the issue dead in the eye and won as a champion should.

Cranbrook Sextet Plays Tie Game

Cranbrook ended a two-game losing streak on the ice Saturday by battling Detroit Benedictine to a 2-2 tie in hockey.

Pete Hatch and Mark Steiner scored for the Cranes (3-2-1). Steiner's goal deadlocked the game early in the second period.

On the wrestling mats, the Cranes ran their record to 2-3 by downing Howe Military Academy, 34-16.

Seaholm Posts Victory

Birmingham Seaholm defeated defending state Class A champion Battle Creek Central, 55-50, Saturday night by capturing the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Forest Lake Pro Finishes 4 Shots Back

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. — Bob Gajda, head pro at Forest Lake Country Club, carded a 74 yesterday and finished four strokes off the pace in the annual PGA National Golf Club Stroke Play Championship.

Claude King Jr. of Norfolk, Va., fired a 70 on the final round and wound up with a winning total of 280.

Joe Lopez Jr. of Miami, leading most of the way, fired a 73 for a 282 total to share second with Tom Nieporte of Boca Raton and Butch Baird of Galveston, Tex.

Gajda's 74 gave him a 284 and a piece of fifth place along with Bernie Haas of Columbus and Paul Kelly of Scarborough, N.Y.

Rangers Take 2-0 Decision

Nothing Super for Red Wings

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Red Wings didn't find anything very "super" about Super Sunday.

The Wings had moved their game-time back one hour to accommodate fans who wanted to watch the much ballyhooed "Super Bowl" game between the powers of the American and National Football Leagues.

★ ★ ★

But all the Wings got out of the night was a 2-0 blanking from the New York Rangers plus one black eye and a slight concussion.

Young Pete Mahovlich, who has been moved onto the Gordie Howe-Alex Delvecchio line, got the black eye — complete with two stitches.

And Paul Henderson, who had missed 15 games earlier this season because of a bronchial ailment, suffered what team doctors diagnosed as a "minor concussion" after a collision late in the second period.

No one, including General Manager-Coach Sid Abel, was sure how Henderson was injured but it apparently happened in a board collision.

A stick, possibly Harry Howell's, caught the young left winger on the left side of the forehead. He tried to skate away but collapsed.

By the time Henderson was helped off the ice, he had a large lump on his forehead. He was taken to Detroit Osteopathic Hospital for examination.

Ranger goalie Ed Giacomin picked up his sixth shutout of the year by keeping the Wings out of the cage. The Wings had only 27 shots on goal but several in the last period could have tied the game 1-1.

Giacomin fell on the puck once while Bruce MacGregor was trying to jab it past him from the crease and Alex Delvecchio scooped the puck over the cage when it appeared he had a chance to score.

Bob Nevin scored the first Ranger goal, early in the first period.

He skated across in front of the Detroit goal from right wing and flipped the puck, backhanded, past goalie Roger Crozier.

The Rangers didn't score again until Crozier was pulled out of the cage in the closing seconds to put six men down the ice and try for a tie. Harry Howell then flipped a shot from inside his own blue line, about 130 feet, into the open net for the second New York goal.

The victory kept New York in a tie for first place with the Chicago Black Hawks who were defeating Toronto, 4-0 Sunday night. Detroit remained in fifth place, dropping seven points behind fourth - place Montreal, which beat Boston, 3-1.

Pistons Given Another Loss

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Pistons continued their losing ways Sunday, and the size of the crowd reflected their skidding basketball fortunes.

★ ★ ★

Only 2,582 persons showed up to watch the Pistons take a 127-116 beating from the Los Angeles Lakers. It was the smallest crowd of the season at Cobo Area.

"If you can't win at home in this league, you're in real trouble, said assistant coach Donnis Butcher in the dressing room. "We didn't shoot worth a darn—and we didn't play defense."

Bay City Skater Wins Junior Title

WEST ALLIS, Wis. (UPI) — A trio of Michigan youths, led by high school senior Mark Hickner of Bay City, turned in impressive performances at the third annual North American Speed Skating Championships over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Hickner, 17, edged Steve Duerr of Minneapolis for the junior boys' speed skating title with a point total of 142.550.

Hickner was clocked in the 500-meter event in :43.6 seconds, two-tenths of a second faster than the time posted by Terry McDermott of Bay City, who was a 1964 Olympic gold medal winner.

Sheila Young of Detroit finished third in the junior girls competition and Warren's Jeanne Ornelenchuk took fifth place in the senior women's skating.

The Highland Lake Campus quintet hit less than 25 per cent from the field in the first half. Bob Adsit ex-Waterford Township cager, stood out for the losers with 7 of 12 for 14 points in addition to grabbing eight rebounds.

Eaglets to Face FOLS in Big Contest of Parochial Quints

Pontiac Central reaches the halfway point in its basketball campaign tomorrow night, and the Chiefs no doubt are hoping for better success in their final eight games.

The Chief's contest at Roseville is one of many on tomorrow night's schedule.

The biggest clash on the slim schedule is slated for the Orchard Lake St. Mary floor, where the Eaglets will take on Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows in a Northwest Parochial League showdown.

The Chiefs bombed Roseville in their season opener back in November, 76-46, and neither has done anything since to indicate the return match will be any different.

★ ★ ★

Roseville owns a 1-5 record, beating only Port Huron Northern, and the Wildcats have lost two in a row.

The Chiefs, 5-2 over-all, own a 4-1 record in Saginaw Valley Conference play and the squad may just be looking past Roseville to the SVC battles.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs take on Bay City Handy in Bay City Friday and they'll win or lose the SVC championship in the next three games — Saginaw at home next Tuesday, Flint Southwestern on the road Jan. 31 and Flint Central away Feb. 3.

The OLSM Eaglets, upset by Royal Oak St. Mary Friday, 92-81, are 6-2 in league action and they must knock off FOLS (8-1) to retain any hopes for the title.

The Eaglets handed FOLS its only setback in a November outing, 65-55, but since then, the Lancers have won seven in a row while averaging more than 80 points a game.

★ ★ ★

In a nonleague scrap, Kettering will be trying to push its record to 7-0 in playing host to North Farmington (2-4).

EYE POLLS

And along with trying to maintain their winning streak, Kettering's Captains may have an eye on the state polls. They were ranked 15th in the Class A lineup last week.

★ ★ ★

In a battle of neighbors, Lake Orion's Dragons will be trying to crack a four-game losing streak when they entertain Oxford (4-4).

In the Southern Thumb, league-leading Capac plays host to New Haven, Brown City is at Armada, Almont at Memphis and Anchor Bay at Dryden.

The Mikemen of St. Michael, sporting an 8-0 record, will go looking for their ninth win when they visit Emmanuel Christian (2-4).

PASS AND CATCH — Bart Starr, Green Bay quarterback (left) gets off a pass which went for 15 yards to Carroll Dale (44) in the Super Bowl game yesterday in Los Angeles. Dale caught the ball on the Kansas City 43 yard line to keep a drive going and bring about a subsequent Packer TD. Starr was named the Most Valuable Player in the 35-10 triumph for Green Bay.

PNH Wins in Mat Tournament

Losers in their own tournament four straight times, Pontiac Northern's Huskies ended the string Saturday by grabbing the top spot in the Fifth Annual PNH Invitational Wrestling Tournament.

The Huskies captured seven of the 12 individual championships while amassing 102 points, well ahead of runner-up Ypsilanti (76).

Pontiac Central wound up third with 50 points and Hazel Park finished last with 48.

The win was a big one for PNH on two counts.

★ ★ ★

First, it did snap a somewhat embarrassing losing streak, and secondly, it established the Huskies as a solid contender for state honors.

BOOST FOR PNH

Ypsilanti wound up second in the state tournament last season, so finishing ahead of that team gave PNH a boost.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs of PCH, outclassed in this one, will get an opportunity for revenge when they entertain Northern tomorrow in a dual match.

Northern leads in the series against PCH, 9-2-1, but the young Chiefs have gained a lot of experience in recent outings and should give the Huskies a stiff test tomorrow.

PNH wasted little time in moving in front in the tourney Saturday.

The Huskies took the first two titles and four of the final three matches.

Ted Threlkeld (95) and Tom Kell (103) took back to back decisions. Hazel Park and Ypsilanti took the next two before Jon Knibbs slipped in to take the 127-pound title for PNH.

Bob Harris collected the 145-pound crown for the Huskies and the final three went to Ken Corr (165), Frank Lafferty (780) and James Corr (heavyweight).

Mark Davis (112) won the lone title for Hazel Park, while Ypsilanti produced four titlists — Dave Bow (120), Larry Smith (133), Tom Hines (138), and Therlon Harris (154).

Slight Changes in Elks Meet

The scoring was concentrated in the singles and doubles as the 10th annual Pontiac Elks Lodge 810 Ladies' National Invitational Bowling Handicap Tournament concluded its second weekend.

After Saturday's team events, the only major changes were for fourth and fifth place. The Rockford, Ill., lodge's No. 3 team and Jackson's Budweiser women cracked the top five.

But yesterday's results saw four new doubles teams and five new singles names, plus changes in both all events leaders, among the scoring leaders.

A Pontiac duo, Elizabeth Katech and Bea Mallory, now pace the doubles with a 1216 total. Another local pair, Ruth Gantges and Elaine Titus, stand fourth with their 1182 effort.

Jean Head of Pontiac is tied for third in the singles with a 635 handicap total, 29 pins behind the top mark of 664 by Beverly Day, Kalamazoo.

★ ★ ★

Last year's Actuals All Event champion Sue Peterson of Moline, Ill., lost her crown during the weekend but did move into the current runner-up berth in the singles.

There are still four weekends of action remaining in the competition.

Point Record Aids Warriors

Michigan Christian Junior College trimmed Midwestern Baptist, 104-76, Saturday night on the loser's court in a Michigan Christian College AA game.

Jerry Olson of Michigan Christian set a school scoring record with 46 points, including 20 field goals. He outdueled Ralph Wingate of the Falcons, who had 39.

The Warriors, now 5-7 overall and 2-2 in the league, led 48-38 at the intermission. Ray Hudson helped the winners with 14 points and Jerome Shoemaker added 12.

Princeton Tigers Roar; Kentucky in Cellar

By the Associated Press

Princeton's tall Tigers may be outgrowing the Ivy League, but Kentucky has been squeezed into an uncomfortable fit in the tough Southeastern Conference.

★ ★ ★

While Princeton, the nation's seventh-ranked college basketball power, humiliated Harvard and Dartmouth last weekend for a 4-0 perch atop the Ivy standings, No. 10-ranked Florida belted Kentucky 89-72 and tumbled the Wildcats into the SEC cellar.

The Tigers, seeking their fourth Ivy championship in the last five seasons, buried Harvard 90-46 Friday night and then shattered league scoring and rebounding records in mauling Dartmouth 116-42 Saturday night.

Ed Hummer, the Tigers' 6-foot-6 captain, scored 20 points and 6-9 soph Chris Thomforde hit for 19, leading the point deluge which wiped out the old Ivy record of 110 set last season by Cornell against Dartmouth. Princeton's 90 rebounds also set a single-game mark, eclipsing Yale's 1959 record by two.

★ ★ ★

Thomforde netted 37 points in the weekend sweep while Hummer had 29, John Haarlow 28, Gary Walters 27, Joe Heiser 25 and Bobby Brown, the 6-foot-9 reserve center, 21.

MOVING UP

Beaten only by second-ranked Louisville in 14 starts, the Ivy giants appear certain to go up in the national rankings this week.

Kentucky, however, may be headed for its worst finish in Coach Adolph Rupp's 37-year reign after absorbing its third loss in three SEC starts and slipping to 5-6 over-all.

★ ★ ★

The Wildcats were 32-2 last season, bowing to Texas Western in the NCAA final. They have won or shared 22 conference titles in 34 years and have never finished in the basement.

Florida, which has never worn the SEC crown, raced to its sixth league victory against one setback as Gary Keller and David Miller each canned 23 points.

The Gators, 11-1 on the season, entertain Tennessee while Kentucky visits Georgia in SEC games tonight.

Top-ranked UCLA and four other titans won Saturday night but No. 3 New Mexico bowed to Denver 71-66 for its second loss in two nights.

ANOTHER WIN

Lew Alcindor sat out 11 minutes but still poured in 37 points as UCLA ran its unbeaten string to 12 games with a 116-78 romp over Stanford. Butch Beard, Louisville's soph sharpshooter, scored 41 points as the Cardinals, 14-1, trounced Bradley 103-74 on the losers' court.

★ ★ ★

Houston, No. 4, also made it 14 out of 15 by smashing West Texas State 103-72 behind Elvin Hayes' 24 points.

Dallas Paper Buys Ad in NY

Editorial Defends City on 'Hate' Charge

NEW YORK (AP) —The Dallas Times Herald purchased a full-page advertisement in the New York Times today to reprint an editorial entitled "Dallas: City of Patience, Decency" that appeared in the Texas newspaper on Jan. 8.

The editorial was written by Felix McKnight, executive vice president and editor. It quotes from another editorial that appeared in the paper at the time President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas: "What happened there could have happened in any city. But first there had to be the seeds of hate —and we must pray that Dallas can never supply the atmosphere for tragedy to grow again."

The new editorial says the death of Jack Ruby "has brought new arrows from the shoulder slings of our critics."

It concludes: "In this city there is a high degree of decency, respect, admiration and continuing grief. Very patiently we have labored to close a wound.

THE OUTSIDERS

"We wince only when the misinformed outsider rips the sutures."

James F. Chambers Jr., president of the Times Herald Printing Co., said the Jan. 8 editorial had elicited a favorable response and the company decided to run it in the New York Times as an advertisement to gain wider readership.

CAP Resumes Searching for Own Plane

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — Between 25 and 30 Civil Air Patrol planes were scheduled to resume their search at daylight today for a CAP plane with three aboard, missing since it took off Saturday on a search of its own.

Snow and wind in Western Michigan hampered the search Sunday by CAP and Coast Guard planes. Col. Roger Burgess of the CAP said, "Several times the planes had to secure temporarily until the snow squalls moved through the area."

"The aircraft is white, so that adds problems too," he said.

The CAP plane, piloted by Maj. William Sells of Madison Heights, left Benton Harbor just before noon Saturday with enough fuel for four hours.

A massive search was launched when it failed to land at Muskegon as scheduled later in the day.

French Deny Tie to a 'U.S., China Deal'

PARIS (AP) — The French foreign ministry today denied having anything to do with a reported military understanding between Communist China and the United States.

The report in the magaizne U.S. News & World Report, said a Chinese diplomat in Paris asked the French foreign office to give the United States conditions under which China would stay out of the war in Vietnam.

The writer of the article, Rene Dabernat, foreign editor of the magazine Paris Match, said: "France trasmitted the message. I verified this in Washington."

"The Quai d'Orsay denies any intervention," a foreign ministry spokesman said.

China's conditions for staying out of Vietnam according to Dabernat, are that the United States does not invade Red China, does not invade North Vietnam, and does not bomb North Vietnam's Red River dikes.

State Department officials in Washington declined to comment on the report.

Rocket Emits Colored Vapor

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) —A small rocket was launched from the Eglin Air Force Base aerospace facility at Santa Rosa Island today and released a colored vapor visible for hundreds of miles.

It was the first in a series of tests designed to measure wind speeds and direction in the upper atmosphere. Two more of the two-stage Nike-Iroquois rockets were to be released late today.

★ ★ ★

The vaporized barium, designed to be released at altitudes ranging from 50 to 125 miles, gave off a light green cloud, tinged with red and dark blue. It formed an elongated pattern along the lines of the earth's magnetic field. A spokesman at the base said the cloud was visible for about half an hour.

Two more of the rockets will be released Tuesday at an undetermined time, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of residents inthe southeast reported sighting the bluee-green streak in the skies today. The rocket was launched at 6:48 a.m.

Ford Suggests Romney Hire More Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan has suggested that Michigan Gov. George Romney hire some experts on national and international affairs. Romney is a front runner among potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Speaking on a TV-radio program yesterday, the GOP House leader defended Romney from critics who say he is too vague on Vietnam and other major issues. Then Ford went on to say:

"But I think Gov. Romney ought to assemble a first-class staff, a staff that has a broader interest and background than the one he has at the present time.

★ ★ ★

"The governor's staff at the moment, as I understand it, is oriented primarily to the problems of Michigan. This is understandable, this is proper.

"But if he is going to broaden his interests politically--(and it's obvious to me that he should--I think he ought to have a bigger staff of people who are experts in the priblems involving the national government and our international relations."

Survey Shows College Need

High School Seniors Tell Education Plans

Public community colleges are seen as the next educational step by 25 per cent of Michigan's high school seniors who are planning to continue their formal education.

This statistic was among those recently uncovered in a survey made as part of a cooperative program sponsored by Michigan's community colleges and Michigan State University.

Project MEMO (More Education, More Opportunity) is financed by a U.S. Office of Education grant.

MEMO's recent survey indicated 73 of every 100 high school seniors intended to pursue some kind of additional education after graduation.

★ ★ ★

The survey included almost 100,000 responses from students enrolled in 592 of the 594 public and 153 of the 169 nonpublic high schools in the state.

ATTRACT STUDENTS

S. James Manilla, director of educational services at Oakland Community College, noted that the survey will help the local institution in attracting students.

"This information will enable us to identify and communicate with many youngsters who might not have been able to make it to college without outside assistance of some kind," he said.

Manilla noted there are many possibilities for financial assistance of which students may not be aware.

★ ★ ★

"Hopefully the information supplied us by the Project MEMO survey will enable us to encourage many youngsters to continue their education who might not have done so without the benefit of this personal touch," he said.

Allegan Vote on Utility Sale

ALLENGAN (UPI) — Allegan voters will ballot Wednesday on a controversial proposal to sell the Municipal Power Plant to Consumers Power Co. for $1.75 million.

★ ★ ★

A three-fifths majority is required to approve sale of the utility, which has been operated by the city for 36 years.

Four city councilmen support the sale, but Mayor C. J. Smith and a citizens committee oppose it.

★ ★ ★

The committee maintains that the utility has kept prices down and boosted net income from $45,768 in 1962 to $65,231 in 1966, and that higher revenue can be expected from the local plant when present bonds are retired.

Ex-Con Found Slain in Massachusetts

STOUGHTON, Mass. (UPI) — A man was found shot to death in a parked car late last night in this Boston suburb, the victim of what was believed to be the 40th gangland execution in eastern Massachusetts in 38 months.

★ ★ ★

Police tentatively identified the victim as William L. O'Brien, 40, an ex-convict from Stoughton.

He was released last week on $20,000 bail after being taken into custody following an $86,000 oil company holdup in Quincy, Mass.

★ ★ ★

O'Brien was shot behind the ear, the customary mark of a gangland assassination, in a blood-drenched car on Kay Way, a slightly wooded area near the junction of routes 24 and 139.

Rockefellers, Eaton Eye Better Trade With Eastern Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rockefeller brothers and Cyrus S. Eaton Jr., representing two of the nation's richest families, plan to build a better trade bridge between the Western Hemisphere and Communist countries in Eastern Europe.

★ ★ ★

The financial alliance, linking Wall Street and the Midwest, was disclosed Sunday and confirmed by Richard S. Aldrich of the Rockefeller interests.

It will involve cooperation between the International Basic Economy Corp., controlled by the Rockefeller brothers, and Tower International, Inc., headed by Eaton, a Cleveland industrialist.

★ ★ ★

Aldrich, a vice president and director of IBEC, said his organization's objective "is to improve the standard of living of the peoples of the world.

EAST-WEST

"An initiative that creates a commercial and industrial dialogue between the East and the West cannot help but contribute to this end."

★ ★ ★

The trade exchange plan — encompassing the United States, Canada and Latin America — brings together the enormous investment skills of the Rockefellers and the almost unique relationship the Eatons have with the Soviet bloc.

★ ★ ★

Cyrus S. Eaton Sr., long an advocate of closer ties between the United States and the Soviet Union, has cultivated some support behind the Iron Curtain by his trips to Moscow. He has entertained Soviet leaders, including former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

In today's New York Times, a two-page Soviet advertisement stresses that ideological differences are no barrier to trade, and assures American businessmen that Soviet foreign trade organizations "are also ready to strike up relations with you."

TRADE RELATIONS

The two-page spread, headed "Foreign Trade—Two-Way Traffic," further states that "The U.S.S.R. favors mutually beneficial trade relations with the countries and this is not a mere political assertion." The advertisement was placed by Amtorg Trading Corp., which handles most trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

The IBEC, organized in 1947 by Nelson A. Rockefeller, now New York's governor, specializes in investments in underdeveloped nations. It has interests in 29 nations, but none in the Communist bloc.

★ ★ ★

Tower International has specialized in promoting and arranging the financing of projects in Eastern Europe.

Eaton, through Tower International, currently is building a 600-room luxury hotel in Belgrade, Yugoslavia. Last month it completed arrangements for the financing of a $6-million hotel in Budapest.

President John F. Kennedy set a record for making the fastest speech ever recorded by a person in public life when he averaged 327 words a minute in a speech made in December of 1961.

Lani Bird Link to Japan to Be Inaugurated Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Satellite Corp. plans to inaugurate commercial communications service between the United States and Japan late this month via its new Lani Bird satellite.

Lani Bird 2, officially known as Intelsat Satellite 2, was launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., and reached a synchronous orbit Saturday 22,300 miles above earth.

★ ★ ★

The new Lani Bird, replacing Lani Bird 1 which failed to achieve synchronous orbit, is designed to serve as a new communications link between the United States and the Far East.

A spokesman said Comsat will begin today 10 days of tests to determine the spacecraft's communications capacity. It is expected to have about 240 circuits. The first, for use between America and Japan, is scheduled tentatively to be opened Jan. 26.

ELIPTICAL ORBIT

When launched, Lani Bird 2 reached an eliptical orbit ranging between 160 and 19,911 nautical miles above earth. Comsat sent the spacecraft Saturday into a stationary orbit over the Pacific at the international date line.

Because Lani Bird 1 did not reach a synchronous orbit, it could be used for communications only on a part-time basis. Its 35 circuits now will be used only during emergencies.

★ ★ ★

On April 1, the Defense Department will claim 30 circuits —10 each for communications between Hawaii, Japan the Philippines and Thailand. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has contracted for half of the new satellite's communications channels.

Can you qualify in Pontiac?

It could men a $50,000 income in your own business with one of America's most sought after franchises.

A marketing study just completed shows Pontiac is ready, and long overdue, for an AAMCO Transmission Center. Current registrations show 307,786 cars already in the county with an estimated 58 million dollars going for parts and repairs. Since most cars over two years old need some transmission work, an AAMCO center could possibly show annual earnings exceeding $50,000.

We are now seeking the one man in Pontiac to profit from this growing billion dollar market. No previous automotive experience is necessary.

The man who qualifies for the AAMCO transmission center will be completely trained in a four week intensive program. He'll learn every phase of the transmission business, including proven management and merchandising techniques and be backed by a year 'round advertising and promotion program. If you can invest about $17,500 . . . AAMCO will put you in business, and show you the way to a rewarding future. Call or wire collect, or mail coupon below.

Child's Play Undergoing Study

DEARBORN (AP) — Many children can't read because they never learned to play, says a Dearborn educator.

The teacher, Gary Wolters, is trying to do something about it.

★ ★ ★

Wolters, a physical education instructor at Oxford Elementary School, is about to test his theory on the school's 77 6-year-old pupils.

With approval of school officials, Wolters is dividing the children into three groups of about equal ranges of intelligence.

GROUP FORMAT

One group will have no organized physical education during the school day, the second will have a regular athletic program and the third will undergo a special program designed, in Wolters' words, "to develop gross motor skills."

Wolters said today's television-weaned children have been deprived of the physical development in a child of internal awareness of the right and left sides of his body.

★ ★ ★

"It amounts to the ability to use different parts of the body at will without involving the rest of the body," he explained.

Physical fitness programs these days don't develop this ability, Wolters said, because they emphasize development of skills such as throwing a ball.

'BALANCE BEAMS'

In the experimental program, he said, pupils will teeter on "balance beams" made of two-by-four-inch boards set on edge on the gymnasium floor.

"I want them to make mistakes. I want them to fall off. Only through making mistakes will their bodies learn to compensate," said Wolters.

★ ★ ★

"Most educators agree that all learning at the basic stage takes place through physical activity," he explained, pointing out that a baby's first exploration of the world around him is by touching things.

★ ★ ★

The child who develops a sense of what's up, down, behind and in front, said Wolters, orients the world to himself. He depends on touch before he is ready to read or write.

SPECIAL CLASS

When it is time to learn about books, the pupil must use his eyes to decide what's left, right, up and down, Wolters said. His special class will concentrate on teaching children laterality and directionality.

The principal at another Dearborn school, Salina Elementary, is striving for the same results with different methods.

★ ★ ★

According to the theory developed by Principal Walfrid Tomola(slow learners usually have been deprived of proper physical learning experiences in infancy.

Tomola believes malfunctions at lower brain levels—the ones that teach infants to creep and crawl — prevent upper brain levels from functioning properly.

CREEP, CRAWL

Since 1962, he has been sending groups of kindergartners to the school gymnasium for classes in proper creeping and crawling.

The experimental group has progressed farther and faster in school than those in the control group, Tomola said.

"In the span of one year, some of them gained as much as three years in learning ability," he said.

LBJ Eyes Car Safety Puzzle

Must Decide if Rules Will Hurt Key Industry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Johnson administration, already worried about a possible business slowdown, soon must decide whether its battle for safety standards will hurt the nation's vital auto industry.

The pressure is on Dr. William Haddon Jr., the young physician who heads the National Traffic Safety Agency.

He is to meet soon with U.S. and foreign auto industry officials who insist that proposed federal safety standards be changed.

The outcome of these discussions will be the final standards, to be made public by Jan. 31. Their aim is to effect changes in production of new cars, starting this fall.

Henry Ford II set the pace for the "big four" of American auto makers when he said that industry shutdowns could result unless the standards were modified in keeping with Detroit's wishes.

INDICATION

But a little-noticed comment by the auto industry's most respected safety expert has taken some of the edge off Ford's position.

And it indicated that Haddon could come up with a livable set of standards for both Washington and Detroit.

Roy Hauesler of Chrysler Corp., considered by his colleagues as the most knowledgeable in the safety field, said last week there was little chance of industry shutdowns.

★ ★ ★

He said Haddon was interested in cooperating with the industry.

DETROIT EDISON REPORTS

Energy use in Southeastern Michigan to rise fivefold.

The population of Southeastern Michigan is expected to double to some nine million people by the year 2000. This growth—in the area served by Detroit Edison—means that by 2000, the average homemaker is expected to use more than five times the electricity he uses today, from a current yearly average of 4,335 kilowatt-hours to a nationally projected estimate of around 20,000 kilowatt-hours.

Detroit Edison is planning ahead to be able to meet the increased electrical needs of the people in its service area—efficiently, economically.

Trading Heavy

Mart in 10th Straight Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The momentum of the 1967 rally carried the stock market well into its tenth straight advance early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.12 points at 837.25.

★ ★ ★

After a mixed opening, prices moved higher on balance. In the afternoon, gains outnumbered losses by about two to one.

Stocks resumed their amazing advance even as analysts expressed doubt that the market could sustain its climb much longer in view of economic uncertainties and the normal desire by traders to take profits.

Some profit taking was apparent but the trend among autos, rubbers, electronics, chemicals, tobaccos, oils and rails was generally higher.

Losses were taken by some of the prominent glamor stocks in office equipment and photography.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 310.2 with industrials up .8, rails up .5 and utilities off .1.

McDonnell Co. and Douglas Aircraft were delayed in opening by accumulated orders on news that they will proceed with merger negotiations.

Douglas rose 3⅜ to 50¾ on 31,500 shares. McDonnell rose ⅞ to 24 on 78,000 shares. Later McDonnell showed a net loss of 1¼ while douglas trimmed its gain to about 2½.

Prices rose in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Conductron rose nearly 4, Diversified Metals close to 3, Carnation, Duval Corp. and Xtra Inc. about 2 each. Gains of a point or so were made by Pyle National, Seven Arts and Talley Industries.

MURDER SUSPECT — Howard Gaddis, 24, is shown in custody of Oklahoma City detectives this weekend after his arrest on charges of murdering two women in the city. He is accused of the shooting of Miss Jeanette Morrone, 20-year-old medical student of Westerly, R.I., last Thursday and Mrs. Rose Peiffer, 41, Dec. 23.

Senate Antifilibuster Battle Eyed This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders hope for a showdown this week in the battle over the Senate's antifilibuster rule.

A bipartisan group of senators, renewing efforts that have marked the start of every new Congress since 1953, is bent on making it easier to cut off paralyzing debates.

In the House, Democratic members caucus Tuesday to fill a vacancy on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. Reps. Jacob H. Gilbert of New York and Omar Burleson of Texas are seeking the seat in what is billed as a liberal-vs.-conservative contest.

Once the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee are named, they will draw up committee assignments of other Democrats. House Republicans also are expected to make their committee assignments this week.

★ ★ ★

Senate committees were completed last week.

The foreign relations committee starts today on a wide-ranging review of the world situation with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the witness in a closed session.

★ ★ ★

In the scrap over the Senate's cloture, or debate-closing, rule, two alternatives have been offered. The present rule requires two-thirds approval of senators voting for there to be any forced halt to a filibuster.

★ ★ ★

One proposal would permit a three-fifths majority of senators voting to end debate. The other, given virtually no chance of adoption, provides that a majority of the Senate membership could cut off a debate after 20 legislative days.

The first national Christmas tree lighting ceremony was held in 1923. A fir tree shipped from Vermont was set up on the Capitol steps.

New Guide for Legislators Is 'Capitol' Improvement

LANSING (AP) — Now there's a book on how to be a legislator—one of those 148 citizens who make the laws of Michigan—and of course the first step is to win the election.

The book says the winner is then "transformed into a public figure from whom great decisions are expected and on whom sometimes overwhelming responsibilities are imposed."

The reason for the 91-page book, put out by the Legislative Council, is to save the new lawmaker time by quickly acquainting him with the many practical things he must know before he starts making decisions.

It warns, though, that "There is no body of learned literature or discipline in all of academia to prepare a legislator for the philosophical and social challenges heaped upon him suddenly by the electorate."

MAP OF LANSING

The book's contents range from a map of Lansing to philosophy on decision making.

"This is something we think has been needed for many years," said Donald Hoenshell, director of the Legislative Service Bureau.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think anything quite like this has been done anywhere else," he added. "We have sent copies to all the other states."

All legislators received copies of the book, but it is meant especially for the 44 new lawmakers because, said Hoenshell, "the day after the election everybody expects them to be experts in a job they never have done before."

HANDLING EXPENSES

The book tells the legislator his pay ($12,500 a year plus $2,500 expenses), how to fill out an expense account and where to park his car.

It tells him what the Legislature must do (such as "designate any part of state-owned lands as a state land reserve") and what it must not do (such as "impose a sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 4 per cent of their gross taxable sales of tangible personal property").

It tells him where to sit. In the House, for example, members with the most seniority have first choice of seats.

The book also contains some warnings:

—"Many a schoolchild has been disenchanted by the seeming cavalier or casual attitude of a member toward his work on the floor."

PUBLIC FIGURE

—Once a legislator takes his oath of office, "he relinquishes all but a token of his privacy. He is now a public figure whose every public and private action is open to weighing and judging...."

—"A legislator takes on additional stresses in his separation from his home and his family. It is a condition he accepted on election day...."

Injured Teen Crawls Out of Cave to Safety

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Despite efforts by rescue teams, a teen-ager with a broken leg had to crawl through 350 yards of underground tunnels late last night to escape the cave where he had been trapped for seven hours.

Muskogee General Hospital reported Lyndal Rozelle, 16, in good condition today. He was trapped from about 4:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Rescuers lifted him from the 15-foot-deep room where he broke his leg, but could not help him in the cramped tunnels.

"He had to crawl a quarter-mile through openings as small as a basketball," said Keith Sims, 21, who was first to reach the injured boy after friends alerted authorities.

★ ★ ★

"There was no way we could help him, either pushing or pulling," Sims said. "He brought himself out all by himself with that leg. It took an awful lot of guts to do it."

HURT JUMPING

Rozelle of Muskogee and three friends were exploring the cave near Fort Gibson, about five miles northeast of here in rugged eastern Oklahoma hill country, when Rozelle broke his leg by jumping 15 feet from the tunnel into the room.

Rescuers splinted Rozelle's leg, then raised him from the floor of the room to the tunnel in a parachute harness, Sims said.

Dr. Thomas Honea, Muskogee County health officer, was unable to reach the high school student until the boy was within about 20 feet of the cave entrance.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Omar Sharif, the great actor who portrays Dr. Zhivago in the movie, is one of the most enthusiastic bridge players we have ever met. He came to the Fall Nationals with Benito Garrozzo, a member of Italy's world championship bridge team.

JACOBY

The presence of these distinguished bridge players created a problem. The main event was the Blue Ribbon Pairs which is restricted to a very few top players. The League wanted to ask them to play but feared that the qualified players might object.

The players solved that problem for the League by getting up a petition to ask that the distinguished pair be allowed to play. Needless to say, the League was delighted to go along with the petition.

They were also allowed to play their system as devised by Garrozzo. In this system the opening one club bid shows at least 17 points and is forcing, so that Garrozzo's one club opening on the hand shown today was standard for them.

★ ★ ★

So was Sharif's one no-trump response. This call showed four control points based on counting one ace as two control points and each king as one control.

This system saved lots of time in the rest of the bidding. Garrozzo was looking at two aces and three kings and he knew that his partner's four controls showed two aces.

He could use the ace of hearts for a discard of his fourth spade and the ace of clubs made the rest of his hand good. Garrozzo closed the bidding at seven no-trump.

★ ★ ★

The East-West hands and opening lead aren't shown because they do not matter. There were 13 tricks without bothering with the jacks of spades and clubs.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠AQ765 ♥43 ♦K832 ♣76
What do you do?

A—Bid one spade. Your partner is marked with strength.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid one spade. Your partner bids two clubs. What do you do now?

Party Ends in a Tragedy

DETROIT (UPI) — A going-away party ended in tragedy for a Detroit family yesterday.

Mrs. Theresa Jackson, 39, was charged with murder after she shot and killed Robert Washington, 20, a guest at a party she was giving for her son, who is entering the Air Force.

Mrs. Jackson told police she saw a man pick up what she thought was a bottle or knife.

★ ★ ★

She said she had placed a shotgun in the room in case trouble arose at the party attended by 100 people, and told police it discharged accidentally and struck Washington, when she picked it up.

Motel Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — Two gunmen bound and gagged the night clerk at Detroit's Traveler Motel Sunday and fled with a safe reportedly containing $9,000. The clerk, Gene Aikens, 28, told police he was tied up and left in a restroom about 6 a.m.

Carol Seen Review Stealer of 'Modern Millie' Premiere

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I was celebrating my 31 years of marriage—which I have not too successfully referred to in parlor conversations as "the 31 Years War"—when suddenly somebody gave me a Fearless Forecast . . . that Carol Channing will steal the reviews from even Oscar Winner Julie Andrews in "Thoroughly Modern Millie" when it premieres here March 21 at the Criterion for the benefit of the Museum of the City of New York.

WILSON

You are going to ask me: Who was "Somebody"? Was it Carol's husband Charles Lowe?

No. It wasn't Lowe! Carol will suddenly find herself bigger in pictures than Phyllis Diller.

Tippi Hedrin, such a Swedish beauty, was at our celebration at Morris Uchitel's table at El Morocco, and gleefully told me that she just loved Charles Chaplin's picture, "A Countess From Hong Kong," in which she plays a major part, and that the more she sees it, the more she likes it.

Funny experience she had with Marlon Brando flying to England for the premiere. They got their passports exchanged. She finally told Brando, "Look, you're going to have trouble traveling, unless you change your physical setup a little, and convert into a blond weighing 110 pounds."

Tippi's up for a Stanley Kramer film in which longtime friends Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn would play important opinion-makers, who are embarrassed when their daughter falls in love wtih a Negro, Sidney Poitier. Tippi's considered for the daughter role.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Margaret O'Brien turns 29 this week and is reactivating her career in TV . . . Charlotte Ford Niarchos' escort has been Michael St. Angelo . . . We just love those mini-skirted dresses made out of newsprint paper, not so much because we love looking around the classifieds looking for the help wanteds as what might be found in the amusement section.

Lena Horne's hospitalized, for surgery. . . . Dave Merrick attended the opening day of the Boston Strangler trial. A press row wit quipped, "If he likes it he'll bring it to Broadway" . . . Mia Sinatra and her ma, Maureen O'Sullivan, saw a preview of "The Astrakhan Coat."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There are so many movies on TV these nights that pretty soon you'll have to go to a movie theater to see a TV show.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "An optimist is a man who can look at a flooded basement and see an indoor swimming pool."—Al Gottlieb.

EARL'S PEARLS: Taffy Tuttle is puzzled by movie ads: "I've already seen 18 of the pictures they say are the Year's Ten Best list."

"For years," says Joseph Benvenuto, "I was proud when my boss called me his right hand man. But it just occurred to me—he's left-handed." That's earl, brother.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Western Dems End Confab

Greater Cooperation Expected From LBJ

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The executive committee of the 13-state Western Democratic Conference headed home today confident that better party communications and more presidential cooperation will recoup losses of the 1966 election.

"We do feel that we lost contact in the last campaign through a breakdown in communications," Kenneth R. Harding of Washington, D.C. told conference delegates.

★ ★ ★

Harding, director of the National Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said: "We are going to try to correct that."

★ ★ ★

Western Democrats said they felt President Johnson is much to blame for the 1966 election gains by Republicans.

REMOTE

"Washington has never seemed so far away from the Democratic party," said Eugene L. Wyman, national committeeman from California.

★ ★ ★

Although the conference criticized President Johnson, delegates also praised his administration and passed a resolution endorsing his leadership.

★ ★ ★

National Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey predicted to the Western Democrats their party would carry the nation in 1968. However, he said, "all our ills cannot be cured during the next two years (and) unless we start immediately we have no chance at all."

★ ★ ★

The executive committee adopted a four-page list of suggestions it will present to the national committee and selected Los Angeles for its 1967 membership conference, tentatively scheduled for August or September.

★ ★ ★

The Western States Democratic Conference represents Utah, California, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Colorado, Hawaii, Alaska, Montana, Arizona, Wyoming, Nevada, New Mexico, and the territory of Guam.

Theater to Be Finished 'Hour Before Show'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Howard R. Owen insists that the $4.5-million Morris A. Mechanic theater will be finished an hour before tonight's opening, but "no earlier than that, I can assure you."

The problems of overseeing construction of the building fell to Owen, a certified public accountant from New York, when Mechanic, uncle of Owen's wife, died of a heart attack last July.

★ ★ ★

"Hello, Dolly!" is scheduled to open a three-week run tonight at the theater.

The first performance, with prices of $100, $50 and $25, will be a benefit for the Children's Rehabilitation Institute.

DEDICATION

Formal dedication of the 1,800-seat theater will be held at midday, when Mrs. Mechanic will cut a ribbon and place in a time capsule mementos from her husband's 37-year association with the Baltimore theater.

★ ★ ★

Mechanic, a native of Poland, was for many years the owner of Ford's Theater. In 1961, three years before the 92-year-old Ford's was razed to make room for a parking lot, Mechanic announced plans for a new theater in the multimillion-dollar downtown Charles Center renewal area.

★ ★ ★

The theater is part of a complex which also contains shops and offices. It is a massive pile of rough concrete, with several jutting planes and sharp angles.

★ ★ ★

John M. Johansen, the architect, said the building style "is the opposite of the package style of architecture, where everything is wrapped up in a neat square package. In this style, everything inside — the balcony sections, the stage tower, even the air vents — is revealed on the outside, which is therefore expressive of the function of the building.

★ ★ ★

"You might say the outside is just the other side of the inside."

George Filbey, 18, set a record of sorts in England in April, 1963, by rocking in a chair in a movie theatre foyer for 100 hours.

Park Movies to Be Shown

DENNIS G. COOPER

A photographic tour of "Our Eastern Parks," the fourth in the Travel and Adventure series, is scheduled at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Northern High School auditorium.

Detroiter Dennis Glen Cooper, a recognized authority on national parks, will narrate as he shows his movies of the six continental national parks east of the Mississippi River.

Isle Royal, wilderness paradise in Lake Superior, is one of the parks in the movies.

The Mammoth Cave in Florida, the rock-bound mountain coast of Maine in Acadia, the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia and the Smokey Mountains, all have their turn.

★ ★ ★

Tickets are available from any Kiwanis Club member, at the Pontiac Travel Booth or at Wyman Furniture Co.

Cooper is head of the science department at Sherrard Junior High School, Detroit. He is a member of the New York Explorers Club.

It took 16 months to build the Pentagon at a cost of about $83 million. The building was completed Jan. 15, 1943.

County Teen Girls Try Hospital Work

Two Oakland County teen-age girls, interested in nursing careers, are getting a sampling of hospital life through the Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC).

The girls are among the first NYC county enrollees in a work experience and counseling program for 50 low-income people in the 16- to 21-age group.

Recruitment for the program began last month after the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) received a $108,350 federal grant from the U.S. Department of Labor.

Shirley Brown, 17, of 550 Fildew has begun duties as an institutional aide in the dietetic kitchen of Pontiac State Hospital and Sandra M. Whitfield, 18, of 21040 Wyoming, Royal Oak Township, is a clerical aide at Providence Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Both girls come from large families.

COMPLETING EDUCATION

Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Brown whose family numbers 13 while Sandra comes from a family of 12.

Shirley dropped out of Pontiac Central High School after completing her junior year. She now is completing her high school education in night classes at Central while working part time at the hospital.

Sandra graduated last June from Ferndale High School. She too is furthering her education in night classes as prescribed by the NYC program.

★ ★ ★

NYC enrollees work a maximum of 24 hours each week and receive eight hours of counseling and vocational education weekly. The average NYC enrollment period is six months.

★ ★ ★

OCCEO still is seeking additional enrollees for the NYC program involving youths who have been out of school six months or more.

Edward P. Revis, formerly assistant director of the OCCEO's Pontiac opportunity center, is director of the NYC program for Oakland County.

LBJ Finds Portrait He Likes---of FDR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Johnson have found a presidential portrait they like to hang in the White House — a new one of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The FDR portrait was donated by the artist, Mme. Elizabeth Shoumatoff, who completed it last November.

Mme. Shoumatoff has painted four Roosevelt portraits. The most famous is her "unfinished Portrait," a watercolor for which Roosevelt was posing when he collapsed with a fatal stroke April 12, 1945, at Warm Springs, Ga.

ONE TOO MANY—It was too much for the bridge across the Thi Tin River, west of Ben Cat in South Vietnam, when a 60-ton tank retriever attempted to pull a 50-ton M48 tank across the structure. The 110 tons of immobilized steel was just one of the problems of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment in its effort to clear the Vietcong from the dreaded Iron Triangle.

Signs Eyed in Congress

New GOP-Dixiecrat Coalition?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress-watchers will keep an eye on the House for the next few months for signs of a revival of the coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats which once dominated the Capitol.

★ ★ ★

The old coalition, sometimes called the unholy alliance by its frustrated opponents, was more than a bunch of like-minded men who voted together. They also worked together.

It was associated with names like the late Robert A. Taft, Eugene D. Millikin, Walter F. Georgey and Harry F. Byrd Sr. in the Senate, with Reps. Howard W. Smith and Chalres A. Halleck in the House.

It has been an unstable and sometimes feeble force for the last few years.

The first test votes in the House last week indicated that the power exists for a new coalition but they were not conclusive.

NOT TRUE VOTE

Although Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., was denied his seat on a Republican motion, it was not a true coalition vote.

It also was a Republican motion that restored power stripped six years ago from the still-powerful rules committee.

This was a defeat for administration leaders in the House, although changes over the past six years have diminished the importance of the 1961 rules committee reform.

★ ★ ★

Other changes have occurred, too. Only time will tell whether broad collaboration develops between the GOP and conservative Southerners.

House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford has issued the standard disclaimers.

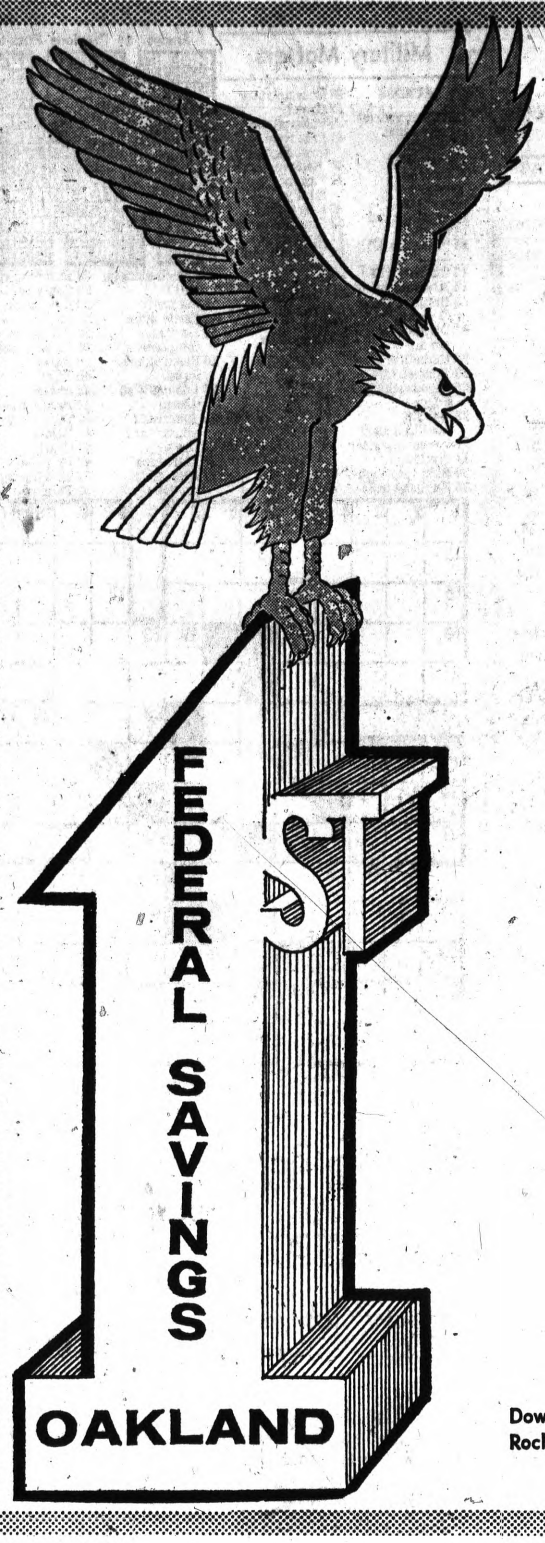

He has said that the Republicans will have their own legislative proposals and will welcome any Democratic votes.

Their 187-member delegation is their largest since 1957-58, but still 31 short of a majority of the House.

★ ★ ★

Conservative Southern Democrats have no obvious leaders to succeed Smith, the rules committee chairman, who was dethroned in the Virginia Democratic primary last summer.

Smith's seat then was won by a Republican.

Romney Views Bombing Issue

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Romney's unannounced campaign for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination expanded significantly this weekend with his first apparently planned plunge into the foreign policy arena.

The shift marks a sharp departure from Romney's previous reluctance to discuss national issues, particularly the biggest one—the war in Vietnam.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY

As recently as a week ago, newsmen seeking interviews with him were told that questions about foreign policy were off limits.

Now, Romney suggests that the Johnson administration may have placed too much emphasis on bombing North Vietnam as compared with other means of cutting off supplies moving south from Hanoi.

Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, met behind closed doors in Washington for more than an hour Friday to discuss the war.

★ ★ ★

Neither man would reveal details of their talk.

FORMATIVE STAGE

But Romney's position, tentatively taken and still in the formative stage, was unveiled privately at a Washington breakfast with Detroit newsmen.

He discussed some of the factors he is weighing in adopting his view on the Vietnam conflict — chief among them the emphasis placed on aerial bombing of the north.

Romney says that he believes saturation bombing failed to bring Germany to her knees in World War II because it could not overcome human adaptability.

★ ★ ★

He says this adaptability is even greater in Vietnam, where American bombers are striking at an essentially underdeveloped country rather than a modern, industrialized nation.

What means Romney favors to stop the flow of supplies from Hanoi is not known.

The governor, who captured a third term by landslide in November, has said publicly that he was not informed enough to speak authoritatively on the Vietnam war.

He declined to talk about it.

Baker Defense Hits 'Bugging'

Second Week of Trial Is Under Way Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lawyers argue today whether charges against Bobby Baker should be thrown out because of "bugging" incidents.

The federal trial of Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, begins its second week.

He is charged with income tax evasion, larceny, larceny after trust, interstate transportation of stolen money and conspiracy.

Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, asserts—and the government acknowledges—that:

On March 25, 1965, U.S. agents listened in on a phone conversation between Baker and Wayne L. Bromley, former lobbyist and former Baker associate who is expected to be a government witness in the trial.

HAD MICROPHONE

The next day, Bromley wore a concealed microphone to a conference with Baker and former Lt. Gov. Clifford Jones of Nevada at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Los Angeles.

The conversation was transmitted to government monitors.

Williams contends—and the government denies—that this violated Baker's constitutional rights.

★ ★ ★

William O. Bittman, Justice Department prosecutor, said Bromley had sought government protection because Bromley feared an attempt was underway to involve him in a conspiracy to lie before a grand jury investigating Baker's affairs.

CLAIM CONSENT

Bittman said the bugging was done with Bromley's consent, and that the intercepted conversation did disclose an attempt by Baker and Jones to get Bromley to commit perjury.

Jones is now awaiting trial on a charge of perjuring himself before the same grand jury.

GIANT HALL ABLAZE—Billowing smoke rolls from Chicago's huge lake front exhibition hall, McCormick Place, early today as the large modern building was destroyed by fire. Less than an hour after firemen arrived on the scene, the entire roof caved in. There were no reports of injuries.

3-Block-Long Structure Was Opened in '60

Firemen Hampered by Frozen Hydrants; Explosions Probed

CHICAGO (AP) — A spectacular, rapidly spreading fire early today virtually destroyed McCormick Place, a giant exhibition hall on Lake Michigan.

The entire roof of the three-block-long structure, opened in 1960, caved in less than an hour after firemen arrived on the scene.

A huge portion of the west wall collapsed.

The main exhibition hall — about the size of six football fields — was a total loss, said Edward J. Lee, general manager of the hall.

★ ★ ★

Every available fireman and most of the city's fire-fighting equipment were on the scene after five alarms, then two special alarms were sounded.

FROZEN LINES

Frozen fire hydrants hampered the efforts of fire-fighters. A major water main also was frozen.

Firemen worked with acetylene torches and gasoline in an effort to defrost the hydrants.

Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn said the entire northwest wing of the $35-million structure was ablaze within seven minutes after the first of a series of small explosions.

★ ★ ★

He said the cause of the explosions and the fire were not known.

BOOTH ABLAZE

Fire officials said the blaze broke out in a booth being constructed in the main exhibition hall for the national housewares exhibit, which was scheduled to open later today.

All of the merchandise brought in to the hall for the show was reported to have been either destroyed or heavily damaged.

Some 150 persons, including cleaning personnel and security detectives, were in the building when the blaze broke out. There were no reports of injuries.

★ ★ ★

A building security guard said he spotted the burning booth, sounded the alarm and then ran along the west end of the building, opening each door and warning the occupants to flee.

NEARLY TRAPPED

The guard, Vincent Mathews, 51, said at one point he was almost trapped by the spreading flames and smoke.

Quinn said more than 50 per cent of the hall was destroyed within two hours after the blaze was discovered.

A spokesman for the National Housewares Manufacturers Association said 1,200 exhibit booths had been constructed in the main hall.

★ ★ ★

He estimated the damage to the exhibits at $100,000.

The structure, which covers nearly 10 acres, was opened in November 1960.

McCormick Place was named for the late editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, Col. Robert R. McCormick.

Complaints Few, Says AMA Chief

Doctors Acquiesce on Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the American Medical Association says that after 6½ months of Medicare the nation's doctors are voicing few objections—publicly or privately—to the federal health program for the elderly.

"In the beginning, there were some rebellious ones who spoke as if they wouldn't cooperate" with Medicare, said Dr. Charles L. Hudson.

But now, he said, "I just don't hear the number of remarks. There are not so many who say they won't participate" in portions of the program.

Have doctors found that Medicare is not the bureaucratic monster they feared?

★ ★ ★

Dr. Hudson, interviewed during his appearance at a medical conference, smiled and paused for a moment.

'INTANGIBLE THING'

What doctors were fighting against, he said, was an intangible thing.

"It was," he said, "whether you were going to lose your professional freedom. You have to let it run awhile to see how obnoxious it is.

"The unknown is always worse than the fact."

★ ★ ★

Yet, Dr. Hudson emphasized, the medical profession is far from happy with Medicare.

'HOT UNDER COLLAR'

For one thing, he said, many doctors "are really hot under the collar" about a certification form they must sign saying a patient they want put in the hospital actually needs hospitalization.

"They think this is demeaning," Dr. Hudson said.

Doctors know hospital beds are scarce, he said, and when they say a patient needs a bed, it should be assumed that he does.

★ ★ ★

He said the AMA plans to seek elimination of the provision by an amendment of the law.

APPREHENSIONS

Dr. Hudson, a silver-haired, gentle-mannered staff physician of the Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic, said also that American doctors fear Medicare will be expanded.

"There are apprehensions about the long run," he said.

★ ★ ★

"We would abhor a national health plan" under which the federal government would pay for all health care and doctors would receive salaries or would be paid on a per-patient basis, he said.

Legalization of Marijuana Urged by U. of M. Paper

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan student newspaper has called in an editorial for legalization of marijuana, asserting that the drug is healthier to use than alcohol.

The Michigan Daily said its editorial yesterday was in response to a statement made last week by Dr. John C. Pollard, a psychiatrist at the university's Mental Health Research Institute.

Pollard has alleged that an "enormous amount of marijauna may be used by students on this campus."

Harvey Wasserman, 21-year-old honors student who wrote the editorial, said, "I wrote the editorial because nobody stopped to question the basic validity of the law."

★ ★ ★

In the editorial, Wasserman said marijuana is not addictive, while alcohol is known to be mildly addictive.

CITES DAMAGE

The editorial said that alcohol can cause brain damage and liver disease, and claimed that tobacco, which is termed "our most popular drug," can lead to cancer while marijuana has no such effects.

The editorial said medical evidence showed that marijuana does not cause any more antisocial behavior than does drinking.

It called the law banning possession and sale of the drug a bad one and said that its long-run effect could be to "promote disrespect for laws in general."

No Voice Box---He Talks

BOSTON (AP) — A Marine wounded in a Vietcong ambush last fall said "Hello, how are you?" And became, doctors believe, the first person to speak normally without a voice box.

Doctors at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary fashioned a tube and valve from the skin of Lance Cpl. Walter Lopata to replace a shattered larynx and restore his voice.

The second of two operations was performed Friday and Lopata, 25, greeted reporters Saturday with "Hello, how are you?"

They are his first spoken words since he was wounded by Viet Cong shrapnel Oct. 11.

★ ★ ★

The two-stage operation was developed by Dr. William W. Montgomery of the infirmary who termed results of what he said was the first such attempt "a complete success."

'STILL IN FUTURE'

Dr. Montgomery said general use of the procedure is "still in the future."

He said an estimated 6,000 Americans have their voice box removed each year because of cancer. He said perhaps 70 per cent of these eventually might be candidates for the new surgery.

A patient without a voice box must try to learn esophageal speech in which air is swallowed into the stomach and words are formed by "burping" into the throat, Dr. Montgomery explained.

★ ★ ★

The new surgical procedure allows the patient to breathe into the lungs and back in the throat in the normal way, giving the voice a good volume and pitch control never possible with esophageal speech.

Local Citizens Air Super Bowl

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Chairman of the Board,
The Pontiac Press

LOS ANGELES—Our own Oswald Jacoby and son discuss bridge table happenings together. And just to rip a page from their book, four local citizens pontificate on the Super Bowl game in Los Angeles which they saw yesterday.

Each of the four claims he is a super duper expert, so this is super authentic and accurate.

Girard

Lewis

Green Bay smothered Kansas City, 35-10, which was pretty much in line with the thinking of the four local experts.

"For the first half," opines Leonard T. Lewis, president of Lewis Furniture Co., "Kansas City held off that powerhouse, but class told in the second half."

★ ★ ★

"True," agreed Alfred C. Girard, chairman of the board and president of Community National Bank, "and the fact their linemen were through on the quarterback too often kept the whole attack off balance."

STAR OF DAY

"Max McGee was the star of the day in my book," suggested Howard V. Heldenbrand, editorial writer of The Pontiac Press. "I think he played his first football with Jim Thorpe, or maybe Willie Heston. However, yesterday he kicked up the friskiest pair of heels on the field."

"I was puzzled by the crowd's attitude," suggested your humble scrivener, timidly in the face of these unchallanged experts. "The bulk of the sentiment was for Kansas City, and yet Los Angeles has a team in the National League."

"They were rooting for the home town boy, Mike Garret," explained Girard. "He tried to give it all he had, too, but those Green Bay defensive linemen couldn't be pushed around."

★ ★ ★

Our Mr. Lewis continues the verbal barrage with an observation that produces no disclaimer. Says he: "The outstanding feature of the game were those good-looking girls who marched in such precision."

MORE PASSES

"OK," agrees observer Girard. "And if they'd been so

'Private China Army Forms Against Mao'

TOKYO (AP) — One of Mao Tse-tung's mouthpieces, the theoretical journal Red Flag, reported Sunday that President Liu Shao-chi has formed a private army against the Communist party chairman.

Red Flag described Liu's force as the "army of defenders of red state power" and said it was created to protect a handful of persons practicing "bourgeois dictatorship."

★ ★ ★

It gave no details and did not say whether the army was military, paramilitary or just political in nature. But it claimed the 2.5-million-man Red Chinese army is "infinitely loyal to Chairman Mao, loyal to the people."

The article confirmed what has become increasingly apparent in the past two weeks, that Liu's men "in varying degrees still hold party, political and financial power in the localities and units in which they are entrenched."

It said they have to be rooted out, one by one, and "the positions recovered by the proletariat (Mao's supporters) have yet to be consolidated, one by one."

Mao's organs also disclosed over the weekend that counter-revolutionary forces exist within the Chinese army and said the struggle against the usual "small handful" in positions of power was "acute and complicated." It said that "even now they are staging a counterattack."

This had been hinted at earlier by the shake-up of the army's purge committee. On Saturday and Sunday Red Guard wall posters attacked Marshal Chu Teh, founder of the Communist army, and Marshal Hog Lung, 70, the one-time bandit who was one of the heroes of communism's long-march retreat of the 1930s.

Chu is chairman of the standing committee of the National People's Congress and until last August's shake-up of the party leadership had always ranked among the first four in China, with Mao, Liu Shao-chi and Chou En-lai. Ho Lung, one of the dashing figures of Chinese history, is head of the National Sports Commission.

Leads in Killing Scant in Ohio

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Cleveland FBI officials say they have few leads in their search for a Michigan resident thought to be in Niles, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

John C. Merlo of Farmington Township is charged with the murder of his wife Sharon, in a township beauty shop Jan. 6.

Ohio authorities became involved in the case when Merlo's car was found on a downtown Cleveland street Wednesday.

They have obtained a federal warrant against him for flight to avoid prosecution.

★ ★ ★

Officials said yesterday Merlo was considered armed and dangerous. He is described as being 5-foot 10, and is thought to be wearing black rimmed glasses. He has dark brown curly hair.

★ ★ ★

Merlo was raised in Niles, and agents feel he may try to go there.

Look's Threat to Sue German Magazine Aired

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of the Kennedy family and Look magazine and West German lawyers for both conferred Sunday on details of legal action which Look has threatened against Der Stern, the West German magazine.

★ ★ ★

Der Stern has insisted on publishing parts of William Manchester's book, "The Death of a President," without the deletions requested by Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Look is serializing part of the book, which deals with events surrounding President Kennedy's assassination.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Look said of Sunday's conference: "I expect they were talking about the nature and the timing of the suit (against Der Stern)."

Yank Planes Hit Fuel Site Near Hanoi

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. supersonic jets flew past Communist MIGs today to bomb an oil depot 14½ miles from Hanoi. It was the closest major strike to the North Vietnamese capital since the controversy over civilian casualties arose last month.

A U.S. spokesman said American bombers attacked the Ha Gia fuel storage area 14½ miles north-northwest of Hanoi. It had been attacked before on Dec. 2 and 5.

★ ★ ★

U.S. pilots for a second day took advantage of clearing skies over North Vietnam after more than two months of almost unbroken bad weather.

In forays Sunday, American bombers pounded three targets 15 to 40 miles north and northwest of Hanoi, including the Viet Tri railroad yard.

SIGHTED MIGs

The spokesman said he did not yet have results of today's raid on the Ha Gia oil depot. He said pilots reported sighting MIGs during the flights but that there were no clashes.

Ground fighting flared deep in the Mekong Delta as South Vietnamese Rangers reported killing 74 Viet Cong today in a clash two miles from where government forces uncovered a massacre at a Communist prison camp.

★ ★ ★

A Vietnamese military spokesman said the Viet Cong killed 44 Vietnamese prisoners, most of them civilians, in a camp about 108 miles southwest of Saigon before they pulled out of the area in the face of advancing South Vietnamese troops.

Two miles from the prison camp, the elite 42nd South Vietnamese Ranger battalion clashed with an estimated 500 Viet Cong this morning. The Rangers, holders of a U.S. presidential citation from President Johnson, reported killing 74 Viet Cong with support from air strikes and artillery. They also seized 10 enemy weapons and reported no casualties to their own force.

PLAYED DEAD TO STAY ALIVE — Lam Van Duoc, 45, who said he worked as a South Vietnam government agent until his capture a year ago, wades through a rice paddy near Vi Thanh in the Mekong Delta some 100 miles south of Saigon today to tell the story of a mass prisoner massacre by Vietcong. Vietnamese Rangers in background comb the area where Vietcong had thrown prisoners into a mass grave. Duoc played dead and emerged from the grave when friendly troops arrived.

41 Prisoners of Cong Killed in Massacre

VI THANH, South Vietanm (AP) — Trembling, the man in the black shorts crouched in the mud of the Mekong River Delta. An ugly wound about five inches long gaped in the back of his head.

About 100 yards away were the burned out remains of a Vietcong prisoner of war camp, where the man said he had been held captive, and then had played dead in a mass grave to survive a prisoner massacre.

★ ★ ★

Vietnamese and U.S. military authorities in this delta area more than 100 miles south of Saigon said the Vietcong killed 41 prisoners, including some women and children, when government forces swept through. Seven persons, including the man with the head wound, were known to have survived. Three of these, including a 17-year-old girl, were wounded.

A reconnaissance company from the 21st Vietnamese Division guarded the camp today while intelligence personnel examined the bodies and sifted through the ashes of buildings.

ARMS BOUND

The arms on one man's body were bound tightly behind his back with wire. Some had been shot. Others stabbed or cut, apparently with bayoents or machetes.

Vietnamese troops first moved into the prison camp Sunday and found a number of captives slain. Then, because of heavy contact with the Vietcong in a nearby area, they moved on.

★ ★ ★

When other government forces moved back in this morning after light resistance, they found the camp burned and the mass grave. There had been several buildings, including what apparently was a communal kitchen and a bomb shelter large enough for a score or more persons.

Now there were ashes, broken crockery, battered tin, and bodies in a muddy grave.

Thant Appeals to Syria, Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — U.N. Secretary General U Thant has urgently appealed to Syria and Israel to restrain their military forces, warning that a large-scale clash could result from continuing tension along their border.

Thant's appeal, sent to the two governments Sunday, said he had received word of a big military buildup along the border from Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, chief of staff of the U.N. truce supervision organization in Palestine.

★ ★ ★

Deployment of troops, heavy arms and armored vehicles along the 50-mile-long border area was reported as daily violence continued along the frontier.

An Israeli army spokesman announced today that a water aqueduct leading to Idmit, a village in Upper Galilee, was blown up Sunday night.

ISRAELI ACCUSATION

Israel accused Syria of opening fire Sunday on an Israeli fishing boat in the Sea of Galilee. The Israeli side returned the fire, an army spokesman said, but there was no mention of casualties.

Israel also blamed Syrian infiltrators for planting mines in a soccer field at the village of Dishon near the Lebanese border Friday night. One of the mines killed one spectator and injured two players.

Senate Panel to Quiz Rusk

Bombing of N. Viet Is Probable Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee questions Secretary of State Dean Rusk today on Vietnam policy. He's expected to defend the U.S. bombing of targets in North Vietnam.

★ ★ ★

Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, a member of the committee, repeated their doutbs about U.S. policy in Vietnam on the eve of the closed hearing, indicating Rusk faces critical questioning.

★ ★ ★

Rusk is scheduled for a public hearing before the committee next Monday. A public hearing last February produced Rusk's hottest exchanges with committee members.

★ ★ ★

Amidst some reports that bombing in the immediate area of Hanoi has been curtailed in the past month, Mansfield and Fulbright each questioned whether bombing has brought North Vietnam any nearer the peace conference table.

'QUESTIONABLE'

"The bombing has hurt them to a degree," Mansfield told an interviewer. "But it is questionable whether the goals sought in the bombing were achieved."

There were also these comments or developments on the war:

The five freshman Republican senators, in a joint appearance, split 3 to 2 in favor of continuing the bombing.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "I don't think we've looked down the road far enough to chart the course where we're going when the hostilities are finally over."

Birmingham Area News

Commission Will Hear Rec Program Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — A proposed ordinance to reorganize the city's recreation program will be presented to the City Commission tonight at their 8 p.m. city hall meeting.

The ordinance recommends renaming the present forestry and parks department to parks and recreation department and would set up a park and recreation advisory board.

As of the first of this year, the Birmingham Board of Education withdrew from what had been a combined operation — the Birmingham Recreation Board — and the Birmingham School District is carrying on its own recreation program.

The proposed ordinance recommends assigning the present superintendent of forestry and parks, Darrel Middlewood, to be superintendent over the new operation.

★ ★ ★

His department's additional duties would include ice rink tennis, archery, riflery, golf, baseball, winter sports and special programs.

UNOFFICIAL BASIS

It is recommended that the golf advisory board continue on an unofficial basis and that the golf professional continue to operate in the same manner as last year.

Retaining of Miss Patricia Husemann as recreation supervisor is also advised.

On the advisory board would be the city manager, parks and recreation superintendent and seven members appointed by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

A public hearing on the paving of two streets, to which objections have been made, is also scheduled.

The proposal concerns Catalpa from Pierce to Grant and Cedar from Lincoln to Catalpa.

A petition protesting paving of Catalpa will be presented, signed by 12 residents. An additional petition protests formation of an assessment district and the paving of both streets.

It is signed by 73 persons.

"And if they had," chimed in analyst Heldenbrand, "I'd have had a football suit on myself."

"That," interposes yours truly, "I'd pay admission again to see."

★ ★ ★

"And if he tackled Jim Taylor just once," chimed in Lewis, "I'd pay double."

Mused Girard: "Dad Braisher, equipment manager for the Packers, was in the first 'super' bowl game in history at Wrigley Field 34 years ago.

"The gate totaled $14,600, so Dad, Red Grange, Bronko Naguski et al pocketed $210.34 for the 25 winners and $140.22 apiece for the losers. That is less than the California tax on the players' share of this Super Bowl."

"I was amused by the exchange of footballs," added sideline critic Heldenbrand. "When the Packers had the ball they used one from their league, and when the ball went to Kansas City, one from the American League was thrown in."

★ ★ ★

"Yes," observed Lewis, "and the physical difference was in fractions of an inch—and the fact one ball was stitched forward instead of backward."

The local observers slipped quietly into town Friday and decamped today. Heldenbrand, of course, was there a day early to give Frank Robinson his lost ring.

The ship steamed from Detroit early yesterday to the spot 26 miles northeast of Port Austin where the Morrell broke in two Nov. 29th. Twenty-eight of the 29 men aboard the Morrell died in the tragic accident.

Antialcoholism Program Set

Community Services Unit Discloses Plans

Plans for a comprehensive antialcoholism program in Oakland County were announced today by the Oakland Planning Division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

Wheeler G. Lovell, chairman of the planning division, said that alcoholism is a mounting public health problem in Oakland County.

A six-month study by agencies dealing with alcoholism prompted an estimate by the planning division that 50,000 people in Oakland County are either absolute alcoholics or in the early stages of the disease.

In announcing the program, Lovell said that alcoholism is recognized as an illness that affects the general welfare and economy. It also has broken many families and caused much social distress, he said.

★ ★ ★

Charles A. Mentzner, director of the planning division, will direct the task force for the antialcoholism program which will be drawn from all areas of the county.

PROFESSIONAL PEOPLE

It will include professional people from health and social welfare agencies, physicians, psychiatrists and hospital representatives.

A tentative annual expenditure of $280,000 from participating organizations is the estimated budget requirement for the program.

The 35-member Oakland Planning Division is an elected body that represents various community activities from schools and churches to industry and commerce.

★ ★ ★

A continual evaluation of social needs of the responsibility of the planning division which is located at 2351 12 Mile, Berkley.

'Way to Avoid Tax Hike'

Dirksen Eyes Cuts in Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, looking for ways to avoid a tax increase, says the space program could be the place to cut government expenditures.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen said "I've been looking at that space program, I don't mind telling you. Does it really make a difference whether we get to the moon this year, or next year, or the following year?

★ ★ ★

"I doubt very much whether it makes a great deal of difference," he said Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers." "And if we reconcile ourselves to that thesis, then of course there is a place where you can make a very substantial (budget) cut."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation" that cuts in federal spending are the key to the tax issue. He said there "is no economic case" for the 6 per cent income tax surcharge asked by President Johnson. Long said it "would tend to retard the economy."

He expressed doubt it would soon be approved.

Five freshmen Republican senators said on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press" they would have to be shown there was no other way to finance the Vietnam war before they would vote for a tax increase.

The five are Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts, Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee and Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming.

★ ★ ★

Over the weekend, the government made public a mixed bag of economic statistics. The figures were topped by a record $739.5 billion production of goods and services during 1966, up $58.3 billion from the gross national product of 1965 and more than $17 billion ahead of the predictions made by Johnson a year ago.

But 36 per cent of that increase was chalked up to inflation.

Bills for Consumers in Works

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bills to protect the consumer against everything from cigarette advertising to door-to-door salesmen will be introduced within the next few weeks by Chairman Warren G. Magnuson of the Senate Commerce Committee.

The consumer's interest is as "narrow as the constant frustration of the housewife unable to compare the price per ounce of competing products," Magnuson said in a statement.

★ ★ ★

"But its significance is as broad and fundamental as the fair and efficient functioning of the national economy."

As chairman of the consumer subcommittee, the first new standing subcommittee created in the Senate in more than a decade, the Washington state Democrat will take aim on a number of areas where consumers run into sometimes dangerous risks.

Adrian Store Burns, 9 Firemen Hurt

ADRIAN (AP) —Investigators sought today to determine the cause of a fire which destroyed a three-story Montgomery Ward store in downtown Adrian Saturday, injuring nine firemen.

Two firemen were hospitalized for smoke inhalation. Seven others were treated for inhalation and minor injuries and released.

Fire officials say damages may go as high as $500,000.

★ ★ ★

Fire Chief Elmer Holtz said losses were swelled by two truckloads of goods delivered Saturday afternoon, shortly before the fire broke out.

PAINT EXPLODED

Exploding cans of paint fed the fire which broke out in the basement of the three-story building.

The fire was discovered by a cashier, Mrs. Norma Harrington, who smelled smoke as she was leaving her basement office.

The Pentagon contains 85,000 light fixtures. About 1,000 bulbs are replaced daily.

3 Original Astronauts Could Go to Moon

By EDWARD K. DELONG

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Almost eight years after they were named, only three of the seven pioneer Mercury astronauts chosen to be America's first men in space stand much of a chance of going on forthcoming moon flights.

★ ★ ★

They are Gordon Cooper, Virgil Grissom and Walter Schirra. And even their chances to be on the historic first manned moon shot are dim.

COOPER GRISSOM

But the four others — Scott Carpenter, John Glenn, Alan Shepard and Donald Slayton — are doing well. And they all still maintain varying degrees of involvement in the space program.

SCHIRRA

Of the original seven, all but Slayton made it into space. America's first man in orbit, John Glenn, is the only one of the seven to retire, though not completely.

SHEPARD

The first American into space was Shepard, whose 15-minute mission on May 5, 1961 was his only space flight.

Shepard was grounded by an ear infection two years after he ushered in the era of American space flight.

But the 43-year-old Navy captain is far from inactive in the astronaut program.

★ ★ ★

As chief of the Space Center's Astronaut Office, Shepard is in charge of the astronaut team and the training of flight crews.

GRISSOM

Grissom made the second Mercury flight, a 16-minute hop similar to Shepard's except that Grissom had to scramble out of his sinking spacecraft after splash-down.

He also commanded the first Gemini mission and is now preparing to command the first manned Apollo flight this winter.

The 40-year-old Air Force lieutenant colonel is the only one of the original seven astronauts slated to make a space flight this year.

Grissom stands some chance of being on the first moon crew because of his scheduled Apollo flight experience.

GLENN

The only member of the original seven astronauts to leave the space program was 45-year-old Glenn, the third Mercury flier and the first American to orbit the earth.

The oldest of the original seven, Glenn resigned as an astronaut in 1964 to try his hand in politics, an ambition that was cut short when he fell and suffered an inner ear problem similar to Shepard's.

Later that year Glenn retired from the Marine Corps and became a soft drink executive.

★ ★ ★

He has been retained by National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) headquarters in Washington as a part-time consultant.

CARPENTER

Astronaut Carpenter, 41, was America's fourth Mercury astronaut.

After his 1962 space flight, however, he was injured in a motor bike accident in Bermuda. He has not regained flight status since.

Carpenter returned to the Space Center in early 1966 after a leave of absence and became branch chief for Advanced Programs in the Astronaut Office.

★ ★ ★

In this job, which he still holds, Carpenter is looking into the future of man's exploration in space.

SCHIRRA

As recently as two months ago, the most likely choice as commander of the first moon-landing crew seemed to be Walter M. (Wally) Schirra, the fifth Mercury astronaut.

The 43-year-old Navy captain is a veteran of both the Mercury and Gemini programs.

Schirra was scheduled to head the crew of the second manned Apollo flight, an Earth-orbiting checkout mission similar to Grissom's.

Then the flight was canceled by NASA in a time- and money-saving maneuver.

Schirra likely will not have any Apollo experience before the moon mission. He might, however, be assigned to the moon crew.

COOPER

The youngest of the Mercury astronauts is Cooper, the third member of the original seven with a slight chance to make the moon flight.

Cooper, 39, was the final Mercury pilot.

He also commanded Gemini 5, becoming the first man to make two oribital flights and breaking the Russian lead in man-hours in space.

★ ★ ★

Although not assigned to a specific Apollo crew, Cooper stays busy preparing for the Apollo program.

SLAYTON

Slayton, 42, was already assigned as pilot of a Mercury flight when doctors decided a heart condition would keep him out of space.

★ ★ ★

Though Slayton was "damned disappointed" about being grounded, he remained with the Astronaut Office.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. —Adv.

Charity Deductions Have Specific Limits

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

You may deduct any cash payments made during 1966 to any recognized charity. Contributions to needy individuals—no matter how worthy the cause—are never deductible.

Generally, deductible contributions will include your church, Red Cross, United Appeal and similar agencies. Pledges made to churches and similar organizations are not deductible, only the amount actually paid on them in the year covered by the return.

Deductible contributions must be within maximum limitations, although such limits rarely affect the average person.

The limits are 20 per cent of adjusted gross income for contributions to private charitable foundations and 30 per cent of adjusted gross income if public charities got at least 10 per cent of your gifts.

★ ★ ★

While there never can be a deduction for the value of personal services performed in behalf of charity, in some instances out-of-pocket expenses in certain types of volunteer work are deductible.

INCLUDE EXPENSES

This would include expenses incurred while service as an unpaid delegate to a church convention, attending meetings as a church choir member, serving as a Gray Lady or hospital volunteer, or as a den mother to Cub Scouts, Brownie troops or similar organizations.

Such expenses might include transportation expenses (you may charge five cents a mile for the use of your car), parking charges, the cost of required uniforms which are not adaptable to ordinary wear and the cost of meals and lodging if away from home overnight while performing such volunteer service. Attach a statement to your return detailing these expense items.

If you contributed works of art, clothing, furniture, home appliances to charity, the fair market value of the item—what you could have received for it in cash on the open market—determines your deduction.

(NEXT: Deductible taxes and interest).

Editorial Defends City on 'Hate' Charge

NEW YORK (AP) —The Dallas Times Herald purchased a full-page advertisement in the New York Times today to reprint an editorial entitled "Dallas: City of Patience, Decency" that appeared in the Texas newspaper on Jan. 8.

The editorial was written by Felix McKnight, executive vice president and editor. It quotes from another editorial that appeared in the paper at the time President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas: "What happened there could have happened in any city. But first there had to be the seeds of hate —and we must pray that Dallas can never supply the atmosphere for tragedy to grow again."

The new editorial says the death of Jack Ruby "has brought new arrows from the shoulder slings of our critics."

It concludes: "In this city there is a high degree of decency, respect, admiration and continuing grief. Very patiently we have labored to close a wound.

THE OUTSIDERS

"We wince only when the misinformed outsider rips the sutures."

James F. Chambers Jr., president of the Times Herald Printing Co., said the Jan. 8 editorial had elicited a favorable response and the company decided to run it in the New York Times as an advertisement to gain wider readership.

CAP Resumes Searching for Own Plane

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — Between 25 and 30 Civil Air Patrol planes were scheduled to resume their search at daylight today for a CAP plane with three aboard, missing since it took off Saturday on a search of its own.

Snow and wind in Western Michigan hampered the search Sunday by CAP and Coast Guard planes. Col. Roger Burgess of the CAP said, "Several times the planes had to secure temporarily until the snow squalls moved through the area."

"The aircraft is white, so that adds problems too," he said.

The CAP plane, piloted by Maj. William Sells of Madison Heights, left Benton Harbor just before noon Saturday with enough fuel for four hours.

A massive search was launched when it failed to land at Muskegon as scheduled later in the day.

HAROLD POCKLINGTON

District Plans to Mark 50th Year of Lions

Lion District 11A2 will celebrate the golden anniversary of Lions International at a banquet at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Elks Temple. Harold L. Pocklington of Algonac, a director of Lions International, will discuss the history of the Lions.

Pocklington has received the 100 per cent District Governor's award and the Michigan Council of Governor's award during his 26 years as a Lion. He has helped form 42 new clubs.

Pocklington is presently executive director of Leader Dogs for the Blind, Avon Township.

Lions International was organized to promote community service by uniting businessmen's clubs that had no other affiliations.

★ ★ ★

The International Association of Lions Clubs as now constituted was conceived in June 1917. The first annual convention came in October of that year with 23 clubs participating.

There are now some 20,400 Lions Clubs in 135 countries and geographic locations on the six continents. They have a combined membership of more than 800,000.

French Deny Tie to a 'U.S., China Deal'

PARIS (AP) — The French foreign ministry today denied having anything to do with a reported military understanding between Communist China and the United States.

The report in the magaizne U.S. News & World Report, said a Chinese diplomat in Paris asked the French foreign office to give the United States conditions under which China would stay out of the war in Vietnam.

The writer of the article, Rene Dabernat, foreign editor of the magazine Paris Match, said: "France trasmitted the message. I verified this in Washington."

"The Quai d'Orsay denies any intervention," a foreign ministry spokesman said.

China's conditions for staying out of Vietnam according to Dabernat, are that the United States does not invade Red China, does not invade North Vietnam, and does not bomb North Vietnam's Red River dikes.

State Department officials in Washington declined to comment on the report.

Rocket Emits Colored Vapor

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) —A small rocket was launched from the Eglin Air Force Base aerospace facility at Santa Rosa Island today and released a colored vapor visible for hundreds of miles.

It was the first in a series of tests designed to measure wind speeds and direction in the upper atmosphere. Two more of the two-stage Nike-Iroquois rockets were to be released late today.

★ ★ ★

The vaporized barium, designed to be released at altitudes ranging from 50 to 125 miles, gave off a light green cloud, tinged with red and dark blue. It formed an elongated pattern along the lines of the earth's magnetic field. A spokesman at the base said the cloud was visible for about half an hour.

Two more of the rockets will be released Tuesday at an undetermined time, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of residents inthe southeast reported sighting the bluee-green streak in the skies today. The rocket was launched at 6:48 a.m.

Ford Suggests Romney Hire More Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan has suggested that Michigan Gov. George Romney hire some experts on national and international affairs. Romney is a front runner among potential candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Speaking on a TV-radio program yesterday, the GOP House leader defended Romney from critics who say he is too vague on Vietnam and other major issues. Then Ford went on to say:

"But I think Gov. Romney ought to assemble a first-class staff, a staff that has a broader interest and background than the one he has at the present time.

★ ★ ★

"The governor's staff at the moment, as I understand it, is oriented primarily to the problems of Michigan. This is understandable, this is proper.

"But if he is going to broaden his interests politically--(and it's obvious to me that he should--I think he ought to have a bigger staff of people who are experts in the priblems involving the national government and our international relations."

Survey Shows College Need

High School Seniors Tell Education Plans

Public community colleges are seen as the next educational step by 25 per cent of Michigan's high school seniors who are planning to continue their formal education.

This statistic was among those recently uncovered in a survey made as part of a cooperative program sponsored by Michigan's community colleges and Michigan State University.

Project MEMO (More Education, More Opportunity) is financed by a U.S. Office of Education grant.

MEMO's recent survey indicated 73 of every 100 high school seniors intended to pursue some kind of additional education after graduation.

★ ★ ★

The survey included almost 100,000 responses from students enrolled in 592 of the 594 public and 153 of the 169 nonpublic high schools in the state.

ATTRACT STUDENTS

S. James Manilla, director of educational services at Oakland Community College, noted that the survey will help the local institution in attracting students.

"This information will enable us to identify and communicate with many youngsters who might not have been able to make it to college without outside assistance of some kind," he said.

Manilla noted there are many possibilities for financial assistance of which students may not be aware.

★ ★ ★

"Hopefully the information supplied us by the Project MEMO survey will enable us to encourage many youngsters to continue their education who might not have done so without the benefit of this personal touch," he said.

Allegan Vote on Utility Sale

ALLENGAN (UPI) — Allegan voters will ballot Wednesday on a controversial proposal to sell the Municipal Power Plant to Consumers Power Co. for $1.75 million.

★ ★ ★

A three-fifths majority is required to approve sale of the utility, which has been operated by the city for 36 years.

Four city councilmen support the sale, but Mayor C. J. Smith and a citizens committee oppose it.

★ ★ ★

The committee maintains that the utility has kept prices down and boosted net income from $45,768 in 1962 to $65,231 in 1966, and that higher revenue can be expected from the local plant when present bonds are retired.

Scientists have achieved 100 per cent accuracy in predicting the sex of babies within three months before birth.

Ex-Con Found Slain in Massachusetts

STOUGHTON, Mass. (UPI) — A man was found shot to death in a parked car late last night in this Boston suburb, the victim of what was believed to be the 40th gangland execution in eastern Massachusetts in 38 months.

★ ★ ★

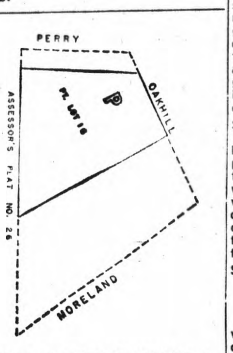

Police tentatively identified the victim as William L. O'Brien, 40, an ex-convict from Stoughton.

He was released last week on $20,000 bail after being taken into custody following an $86,000 oil company holdup in Quincy, Mass.

★ ★ ★

O'Brien was shot behind the ear, the customary mark of a gangland assassination, in a blood-drenched car on Kay Way, a slightly wooded area near the junction of routes 24 and 139.

Animistic worship is still practiced in the rural regions of the Republic of Congo. Most of the urban population are Christains.

Senate Antifilibuster Battle Eyed This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders hope for a showdown this week in the battle over the Senate's antifilibuster rule.

A bipartisan group of senators, renewing efforts that have marked the start of every new Congress since 1953, is bent on making it easier to cut off paralyzing debates.

In the House, Democratic members caucus Tuesday to fill a vacancy on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. Reps. Jacob H. Gilbert of New York and Omar Burleson of Texas are seeking the seat in what is billed as a liberal-vs.-conservative contest.

Once the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee are named, they will draw up committee assignments of other Democrats. House Republicans also are expected to make their committee assignments this week.

★ ★ ★

Senate committees were completed last week.

The foreign relations committee starts today on a wide-ranging review of the world situation with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the witness in a closed session.

★ ★ ★

In the scrap over the Senate's cloture, or debate-closing, rule, two alternatives have been offered. The present rule requires two-thirds approval of senators voting for there to be any forced halt to a filibuster.

★ ★ ★

One proposal would permit a three-fifths majority of senators voting to end debate. The other, given virtually no chance of adoption, provides that a majority of the Senate membership could cut off a debate after 20 legislative days.

The first national Christmas tree lighting ceremony was held in 1923. A fir tree shipped from Vermont was set up on the Capitol steps.

MURDER SUSPECT — Howard Gaddis, 24, is shown in custody of Oklahoma City detectives this weekend after his arrest on charges of murdering two women in the city. He is accused of the shooting of Miss Jeanette Morrone, 20-year-old medical student of Westerly, R.I., last Thursday and Mrs. Rose Peiffer, 41, Dec. 23.

New Guide for Legislators Is 'Capitol' Improvement

LANSING (AP) — Now there's a book on how to be a legislator—one of those 148 citizens who make the laws of Michigan—and of course the first step is to win the election.

The book says the winner is then "transformed into a public figure from whom great decisions are expected and on whom sometimes overwhelming responsibilities are imposed."

The reason for the 91-page book, put out by the Legislative Council, is to save the new lawmaker time by quickly acquainting him with the many practical things he must know before he starts making decisions.

It warns, though, that "There is no body of learned literature or discipline in all of academia to prepare a legislator for the philosophical and social challenges heaped upon him suddenly by the electorate."

MAP OF LANSING

The book's contents range from a map of Lansing to philosophy on decision making.

"This is something we think has been needed for many years," said Donald Hoenshell, director of the Legislative Service Bureau.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think anything quite like this has been done anywhere else," he added. "We have sent copies to all the other states."

All legislators received copies of the book, but it is meant especially for the 44 new lawmakers because, said Hoenshell, "the day after the election everybody expects them to be experts in a job they never have done before."

HANDLING EXPENSES

The book tells the legislator his pay ($12,500 a year plus $2,500 expenses), how to fill out an expense account and where to park his car.

It tells him what the Legislature must do (such as "designate any part of state-owned lands as a state land reserve") and what it must not do (such as "impose a sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 4 per cent of their gross taxable sales of tangible personal property").

It tells him where to sit. In the House, for example, members with the most seniority have first choice of seats.

The book also contains some warnings:

—"Many a schoolchild has been disenchanted by the seeming cavalier or casual attitude of a member toward his work on the floor."

—Once a legislator takes his oath of office, "he relinquishes all but a token of his privacy. He is now a public figure whose every public and private action is open to weighing and judging...."

—"A legislator takes on additional stresses in his separation from his home and his family. It is a condition he accepted on election day...."

Injured Teen Crawls Out of Cave to Safety

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — Despite efforts by rescue teams, a teen-ager with a broken leg had to crawl through 350 yards of underground tunnels late last night to escape the cave where he had been trapped for seven hours.

Muskogee General Hospital reported Lyndal Rozelle, 16, in good condition today. He was trapped from about 4:30 p.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Rescuers lifted him from the 15-foot-deep room where he broke his leg, but could not help him in the cramped tunnels.

"He had to crawl a quarter-mile through openings as small as a basketball," said Keith Sims, 21, who was first to reach the injured boy after friends alerted authorities.

★ ★ ★

"There was no way we could help him, either pushing or pulling," Sims said. "He brought himself out, all by himself with that leg. It took an awful lot of guts to do it."

HURT JUMPING

Rozelle of Muskogee and three friends were exploring the cave near Fort Gibson, about five miles northeast of here in rugged eastern Oklahoma hill country, when Rozelle broke his leg by jumping 15 feet from the tunnel into the room.

Rescuers splinted Rozelle's leg, then raised him from the floor of the room to the tunnel in a parachute harness, Sims said.

Dr. Thomas Honea, Muskogee County health officer, was unable to reach the high school student until the boy was within about 20 feet of the cave entrance.
