Russia Threatens Allied Air Corridor to Berlin

The Time of My Life . . . Adm. Nimitz

'I'll Never Forget the Decatur'

(Editor's Note: One of life's greatest satisfactions is the knowledge of a difficult job well done. It gave Adm. Chester W. Nimitz one of the big moments of his Navy career. He tells about it in the fourth of six articles on "The Time of My Life.")

By ADM. CHESTER W. NIMITZ
(Written for AP)

The happiest day of my life, of course, was when I married my wife.

Satisfactory moments that I can remember, quite naturally include the day on the Missouri when we stood on the deck and watched the Japanese come aboard to surrender.

ADMIRAL NIMITZ

It was most satisfactory because the war had seemed interminable at times. In fact, there had been occasions when the final outcome had been somewhat in doubt.

A naval officer naturally enjoys great satisfaction during moments when he is aboard ship, sailing his own ship, his first command.

My first command was the Panay, not the gunboat which the Japanese later sank, but the ex-Spanish gunboat which I had in 1906. I was a midshipman at the time. Midshipmen then served six years before becoming ensigns — four years at Annapolis and two years at sea.

In 1906 I was captain of the Panay, with 31 men aboard, and commander of the naval base at Polloc, Mindanao. There were 22 Marines at Polloc. I had one foot ashore and one at sea, so to speak, but I lived aboard the Panay.

GREAT DAYS

Those were great days. We had no radio, no mail and no fresh food. We did a lot of hunting. One of the seaman said one day he "couldn't look a duck in the beak again."

Early in 1907 we had a war scare. The story we heard was that President Theodore Roosevelt had called the Japanese ambassador into the White House and told him: "If your country wants war, we'll give it to you."

I was ordered to bring the Panay back to Cavite and report to Uriah Rose Harris, the commander of the naval base. "Uriah Heap" we used to call him.

There had been so much talk of war with Japan that when we approached Manila Bay, I almost sent a landing party ahead to see if we still held the place. I was an ensign by then, and 22 years old.

I moored the Panay and dressed up in my white uniform and sword. Then I went over to see Harris. He was very stern and typical of our Navy commanders of the time. He told me I was to take command of a destroyer, the Decatur, which had been out of commission for some time, and get it in dry dock immediately.

★ ★ ★

When I said something about going back to the Panay for my gear, Harris said in no uncertain terms I was to board the Decatur without returning to the Panay and have that old four stacker in dry dock at Olangapo within 48 hours.

"Your clothes will catch up to you," he said.

NOTHING ON BOARD

His launch took me to the Decatur, which was tied to a buoy out in the bay. It put me aboard, white uniform and sword, to be greeted by two Filipino watchmen. There

Big 3 Hold Firm to Offers; UAW Not Satisfied

GM, Ford and Chrysler Defy Strike Threat; Contracts End in Week

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler stood pat today on their labor contract offers to the United Auto Workers against mounting pressure from the union that the companies come up with something better or face strike action.

Present contracts covering almost 500,000 workers at Big Three plants expire next Thursday night.

UAW leaders centered their fire on GM and Ford — the likeliest candidates for strike targets. In the meantime, UAW President Walter Reuther bargained under a lid of secrecy with American Motors Corp. on the company's profit-sharing offer.

Reuther and AMC Vice President Edward L. Cushman stretched negotiations which they began Wednesday to midnight, then resumed their bargaining this morning.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock filed unfair labor practice charges Wednesday against GM with the National Labor Relations Board here after the company for the third time rejected a union demand for information on prices and profits. Woodcock accused GM of failing to bargain in good faith. He said the union needed information on the company's price-profit formula to counter company claims the union's bargaining goals were inflationary.

UAW Vice President Ken Bannon told Ford its offer was "totally unacceptable." He said union negotiators would recommend its rejection by the UAW-Ford National Council, which has been called to meet here next Tuesday.

WRECK RUINS—A huge tank truck lies burning in a gully near the Smith-Holland roads grade crossing in Taylor Township after a collision in dense fog with a Wabash passenger train traveling 70 miles an hour. The train streaked two miles from the scene of the crash, entirely engulfed in flaming gasoline before it stopped. The truck driver, engineer and fireman were killed. All 50 passengers escaped injury. The train in the background was not involved.

U. S. Official Rejects Red Claims as West, Brandt React Quickly

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government posed a threat to the Western Allies' links with Berlin in a note published today.

It said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government is interfering illegally in West Berlin's affairs, and demanded that agitators be kept from using air corridors into the city.

Russia's note evoked these reactions:

BRANDT TAKES ACTION

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt announced that all 13 Communist party headquarters in West Berlin are being closed "to preserve public security and order." Going ahead with his own countermeasures against the Communist blockade across the heart of Berlin he also announced that all visitors from East Berlin are now subject to police checks.

—Red China pledged full support to the stand taken by the Communist side on this and all other matters related to Berlin.

The 700-word note was delivered to the U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow Wednesday. It said the three countries, "utilizing the lack of control over air communications, are clearly abusing their situation in West Berlin."

"There has been a flagrant breach of the agreement reached in 1945 under which air corridors were set aside for the three

Communists Freeze Foreigners in East

BERLIN (AP)—A Communist order prohibiting exit permits for foreigners living in East Berlin and East Germany came to light today as minor incidents tested military nerves on both sides of the Red barricades.

Hundreds of citizens of Western nations, including the United States, are known to be affected by the freeze order. The U. S. Army successfully clung to its right, challenged by the Communists, to send GIs into East Berlin as sightseers.

Three Army buses loaded with about 100 soldiers thrust past Red guards into East Berlin after being delayed more than an hour at the sector border by East German guards who insisted the soldiers must show identity cards.

However, a French staff car, challenged under similar circumstances, turned back.

The Big Three Western Allies pooled their information to find out how many American, British and French nationals are living in East Germany.

STOPPED AUG. 13

Military missions and consulates of a dozen smaller nations scanned their own lists and pondered what could be done about it.

The activity was spurred by official information reaching western authorities that the East Germans stopped all exit permits Aug. 13, when they started to firm up the east sector border of Berlin as their state frontier.

A U. S. official said the number of Americans would be "in the scores." The British and French were uncertain how many of their nationals were affected.

The Dutch reckoned they had about 300 in East Berlin, perhaps as many as 800 more in East Germany.

GMC Truck & Coach Local 594 members today voted 1,508 to 201 in favor of a strike if local and national issues are not settled by Aug. 31, contract deadline.

Less than a third of the membership voted.

Pontiac Motor Local 653 began voting at 8 a.m. today and polls close at 4 p.m., tomorrow.

Castro's Son to Get Russian Education

MIAMI (AP) — The 12-year-old son of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has been flown to Moscow to continue his education, the Miami News says.

Fidelito was sent to Russia Tuesday at his father's direction to set an example for other Cuban parents, the News said.

The child's mother, Myrta Diaz Balart, divorced from Castro, was seen weeping as Fidelito went aboard Castro's turbo-prop airliner in Havana, reports said.

Tank-Truck-Train Wreck Engulfs 3 in Fiery Death

DETROIT (UPI) — A seven-car Wabash Railroad passenger train slammed into a tandem gasoline tank truck at a Taylor Township crossing today, killing two train crewmen and the truck driver.

A deadman's throttle device, which applied the brakes when the engineer let go of the throttle, brought the train to a halt two and one-half miles from the scene of the accident.

About 50 passengers, aside from the crew, were aboard the train and all escaped injury. They were brought to Detroit in buses.

Police said the victims have been identified as E. Rychlinski of Detroit, driver of the tank truck; William du Vall, the engineer, and Earl Bushway, the train fireman.

Officers said the train was going about 70 miles an hour when it approached the crossing and visibility was about 50 feet.

The truck, carrying 11,000 gallons of gasoline, plunged into a ditch after the crash and was de-

U.N. Cites U.N. Right in Berlin Crisis

Dag Declares World Body Should Be Heard if Peace Threatened

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold declared today the United Nations is an interested party in the Berlin problem and has a right to make its voice heard if the situation becomes a threat to peace.

★ ★ ★

Hammarskjold said, however, that at the present time the world organization, with its large membership, cannot aspire to be a focal point in efforts to solve the problem. He indicated that the first step in solving's problems such as this must be big power negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The secretary general advanced these views in the introduction to his annual report to the U.N. General Assembly. He touched briefly on the Berlin question during a discussion of how to balance the weight of the big powers, and their security interests, against the rights of the world community.

He cited disarmament and the Berlin issue as the type of questions in which the major countries have such special interests that agreement among them is essential to a solution.

"Direct negotiations between those countries," he said, "are an essential first step to the solution, through the United Nations, of the disarmament problem, and do not in any way derogate from the responsibilities or rights of the organization."

MOVING MADNESS—Mrs. Florence Allen, a county clerk, was nearly lost in the shuffle of moving from the old downtown courthouse yesterday. She continued her work as cartons of files formed mountains about her. It was a particularly sad day for Mrs. Allen as her late husband, Lynn, served as county clerk for 25 years in the old building.

The Lady of Justice Snubbed, but Erect

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Today they deserted her.

They said the building beneath her is too small and can't take the rapid pace of the years ahead.

In spots, the building shows more than half a century of use: cracks in some of the walls, a dirty gray Cleveland sandstone complexion.

But the 26-foot pillars made it through wind, lightning, thunder and the roar of traffic.

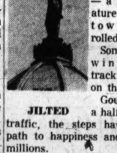

The Lady of Justice never cried uncle.

Her home's been ridiculed as ugly, hot as an oven and cold as an igloo. But she's shared her home with thousands of pigeons who thought she was tops.

The steps of her green-trimmed mansion have served as a forum for every conceivable topic — a sort of miniature U. N. and town meeting rolled into one.

JILTED

Gouged out by a half - century of traffic, the steps have been the path to happiness and sorrow for millions.

the convictions, the acquittals and the judgments of Oakland County.

They left the stillness of death — broken only by the mournful cooing of the pigeons.

The Oakland County courthouse and its little neighbor to the west, the prosecutor's offices, will soon be destroyed by demolition crews.

Supervisors of another day called the fourth county courthouse "a beautiful temple of justice" when they moved into it Nov. 2, 1905. It cost $115,000.

★ ★ ★

Today's county officials cast it into history — a trade-in on a newer, cleaner $3.5-million model.

Expect Showers Saturday, Even Cooler Weather

No showers are predicted for tonight or Friday but skies are expected to be partly cloudy. The low temperature will be near 64 tonight. Tomorrow's high will climb to about 82.

The outlook for Saturday is a chance of scattered showers or thundershowers and temperatures turning cooler. Morning variable winds will become southerly at 10 to 20 miles per hour tomorrow.

From 10:15 a.m. Wednesday until the same hour this morning .35 inches of rain fell in the downtown area. The lowest temperature before 8 a.m. was 68 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 76.

Cuban Delegate Attacks U.S. Over Guantanamo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Cuba today launched a new attack on the United States for holding on to the Guantanamo Naval Base. It declared mercenary forces are being concentrated there for use against Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Cuban delegate Mario Garcia Inchaustegui injected the Guantanamo issue into a debate on the French-Tunisian dispute at a special session of the U.N. General Assembly.

He declared Cuba has a common bond with Tunisia because the French military base at Bizerte reminds Cubans of the U.S. base at Guantanamo.

Mercenaries are being assembled both in Puerto Rico and at Guantanamo, he said, for an attack "against a small independent country"—obviously Cuba.

Garcia told the assembly:

"The imperialist aggression of France against the people and government of Tunisia reminds us of the imperialist aggression of the United States against the people and government of Cuba."

Garcia addressed the 99-nation Assembly after a representative of Guinea had demanded the liquidation of all foreign bases in Africa before the African people themselves take a hand in liquidating them.

In a slashing attack on colonialism, Guinea's Telli Diallo said, "These bases are cannons pointed at the temple of our states."

Diallo assailed France for boycotting the U.N. debate on steps to end the French-Tunisian dispute.

"It is not the United Nations you should walk out of," he said. "It is Africa and Asia you colonialists should walk out of, through that big front door, and not come back."

The Cuban delegate did not demand directly that the United States get out of Guantanamo. But he asked:

"What country or people worthy of the name can accept the presence of foreign armed forces within its territory, undermining its sovereignty and weakening its territorial integrity."

He did not mention the American-Cuban treaty that says the United States may keep the Guantanamo base forever.

Both Diallo and Garcia supported a pending Asian-African resolution that calls for a French pullback into the Bizerte base and French-Tunisian negotiations for eventual French withdrawal from all Tunisia.

West Link to Berlin Threatened by Reds

Western powers, on a temporary basis, to insure the needs of their military garrisons, and not for subversive and revanchist revenge-seeking purposes of West German militarism," it said.

The note was quickly interpreted by Western diplomats here as a sign that one of the demands to be made by the Soviet Union at future negotiations over the Berlin situation will be the banning of transport to any West German representatives into West Berlin.

And it could be presumed that the Soviets would demand the right to screen passengers transported there — as well as transported out. They do not now have that right. It would immediately seal off the major escape route of East Germans who have been assured of a way into West Germany once they got across the border into West Berlin.

TESTS NERVES

The note also was considered another effort to test the nerves and determination of the West in protection of the West Berlin population.

As viewed by diplomats in Moscow, the note appeared to be aimed directly at separating Berlin's Western enclaves from the Western motherland in a drive to make the city more dependent upon East Germany. Berlin is surrounded by East German territory.

MILO D. McLINTOCK

Baldwin Rubber Head Resigns

McLintock Cites Ill Health in Letter to Board Chairman

President of Baldwin Rubber Co. for the past six years, Milo D. McLintock has announced his resignation.

In his letter of resignation to H. M. Pryale, chairman of the company's board of directors, McLintock said he was leaving his position because of ill health.

"The resignation will become effective when it is officially presented to the board at our meeting next Wednesday," said Pyrale.

It will then be up to the board to choose a successor.

McLintock, a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and the University of Michigan Law School, was a practicing attorney in Pontiac for 12 years before joining Baldwin Rubber in 1943.

He was assistant prosecuting attorney for the county in 1943-44. After holding the position of secretary of the company for three years, he was named secretary-treasurer in 1946.

McLintock then became vice president-treasurer and director of Baldwin Rubber in 1949, executive vice president and director in 1950 and was named president in 1953.

He has been active in many civic and fraternal circles in Pontiac. McLintock served several terms on the Pontiac Board of Education and is a past president of the board.

He is a past president of the Pontiac Manufacturers Association, a director of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and has been active in Masonic groups, once serving as commander of Pontiac Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar.

In 1947 he headed the Pontiac Community Chest's industrial campaign division.

'Last' Day at County Courthouse

John Poliskie, a 51-year-old salesman from Hazel Park, and Helen Vivienne Tate, 21615 Wheeler St., Farmington, were the last to apply for a marriage license in the old building.

Clerk Mrs. Lela P. Weir filed out the application for Poliskie, 526 W. Otis St., and Miss Tate at 4:30 — 10 minutes before the 57-year-old edifice was to close for the last time.

There was very little business over-all as the clerks and court employes scurried for more cartons in which to store equipment. They move to the new courthouse in the County Service Center today.

Veteran Pontiac attorney Milton F. Cooney went down in history as being the last lawyer to file new legal action there.

Betty's Weaving Shop, 4005 Fernwood Road, Royal Oak, was the last to transact business in the assumed names department of the county clerk's office. The shop renewed its application.

Spokesmen for the Free Press said the morning paper was ready to resume publication with its regular Friday editions.

Judge Levin set Aug. 29 as the date for a show cause hearing on why the injunction should not be permanent.

Recalls the Decatur

was as yet no crew. There was no water, no provisions, not one pound of coal aboard.

The Decatur, a bare hulk, was expected to be in Olongapo, 60 miles away — at the end of 48 hours.

As I stood there, wondering what to do, a launch from the Galveston approached. Out stepped an ensign and four seamen. The ensign was Hugh Allen, who now lives in Pasadena.

Allen told me he'd been ordered to report to me with four men. We now had a compliment of four seamen and two officers, but no guns, torpedos, supplies or provisions of any kind.

★ ★ ★

I took Allen's launch from the Galveston ashore and riding in through the blue waters of Manila Bay I looked out over those green jungled hills and knew this was a challenge.

My only hope lay with a group of warrant officers I used to know, in fact play poker with, when the Panay was being commissioned for service.

In Cavite, these same half dozen or so warrant officers gave me new hope. They said they knew where the fittings for the Decatur were stored and promosed to send them out to us.

By the time I got back to the Decatur, another ensign, a classmate, J. Morris Smeallie, had arrived with five more men. He wanted to be the chief engineer, so I made Allen executive officer.

We went right to work. Barges started to arrive with equipment, coal and water. Every once in a while Smeallie would bring up a basket of old wrenches or other junk he'd found in the boilers or engines. The Decatur had been run to death before it had been left for junk.

We finally got up steam in one boiler, but hadn't had time to test the engines.

Six hours before we were due in dry dock, the flotilla commander approached in his flagship and shouted through a megaphone. He said we had to be under way at once in order to reach our destination before dark.

About that time a barge unloaded some torpedo tubes and torpedos.

HAD NO COMPASS

We hadn't tested the engine telegraphs.

Neither did we have a compass. "Don't worry about a compass," the flotilla commander called. "Follow us." We then saw our binnacle and compass on a lighter and had it brought to the bridge.

I had planned to back away from the buoy, but when I rang up one quarter speed astern, the Decatur drifted forward.

When I rang half speed astern, she moved slowly ahead. Then I ordered full speed astern and the Decatur shot forward. The engine telegraphs had been reversed.

We followed the other ship out of the bay and up the coast of the Luzon Peninsula, but before dark a rain storm came hammering down on us, the way they do in the Philippines, and I couldn't see the lead ship.

So, just inside Subig Bay we dropped anchor for the night. The next morning we took the Decatur into floating dry dock. Two weeks late she was undocked. We thought we were ready for war with Japan.

Yes, I'll always remember the Philippines, the Panay and the time we had getting the Decatur back in commission.

Blind Spaniards Make a Living

Plan Is Sponsored for Them to Sell Lottery Tickets on Streets

MADRID (UPI) — Foreign tourists pay little attention to the seemingly, never-ending cry of the lottery vendors who flock the streets of Madrid and other Spanish cities.

The daily lottery, which pays 150 pesetas for one peseta if you win ($4.17 for 1.7 cents) is a means of letting blind people with no other talents pay their own way in the world.

Admittedly they don't have an easy time of it out on the streets come rain or shine, but they can make enough to live on and take the load off their relatives.

18,000 BLIND

In all of Spain there are 18,000 blind persons. In the capital city of Madrid there are 1,500 sightless people. For many of them the lottery is their only means of survival.

The lottery was founded and is sponsored by the National Organization for the Blind. Both the organization and the lottery began in 1938, near the end of the bloody civil war.

The cycle of a vendor's life starts in the evening at 8:30 when he goes to central headquarters to pick up the coupons for the next day. At the same time he also returns the unsold coupons of the previous day and collects his percentage for the tickets sold.

Each ticket is sold for one peseta (1.7 cents) and the man's profit depends on a certain minimum set on him by the organization.

For instance, the smallest minimum is 120 tickets per day and is fixed on a vendor living alone with no one to support. The minimum goes up as the number of dependents increases.

The blind man is given a profit of 40 per cent on his minimum and 20 per cent on any additional sales. He can sell as many tickets as he wants to during a day. Average sales run from 300 to 400 a day, bringing the seller a profit of around $30 a month.

Each man is assigned a certain area and a good part of his active life is spent walking up and down that part of the city soliciting his trade.

Fire Chief's Homework

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Fire Chief Joe Carruba felt at home during working hours. He was called to his home where a pan of grease had fallen to the floor and ignited. His wife had the fire smothered quickly and suffered no injuries.

Name Military Rulers for Five Cities in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The government Wednesday named military governors for Santiago and four other cities which have been hit hard by the current wave of strikes.

The order effectively placed the cities under emergency rule, although there was no formal proclamation of emergency conditions in the country. The other cities are Valparaiso, Talcahuano, Concepcion and Osorno.

About 60,000 Chileans quit work two weeks ago in strikes which paralyzed the nation's big U.S.-owned copper mines, the railroads and the Huachipato steel plant. All are demanding wage raises.

Says Cast Iron Still Backbone of Industry

EAST LANSING (AP) — Gray iron —known as cast iron to the Western world for more than 600 years —remains the backbone of modern industry, says a Michigan State University metallurgist.

Despite the advance of super-strength steels and versatile aluminum alloys, cast iron remains a basis for the United States' present technological prominence and high standard of living, said Dr. Howard L. Womochel, professor of metallurgical engineering.

About 65 per cent of the babies born in the United States each year have part of their initial medical expenses paid by health insurance.

Turks Look Forward to Better Government

The next few weeks will see perilous times in Turkey awaiting the outcome of former Premier ADNAN MENDERES' trial.

Ten months have passed since the Supreme Tribunal of Justice started to arraign the deposed leaders of the past regime. Former President CELAL BAYAR, Premier MENDERES and their numerous codefendants were charged with abrogating the Turkish Constitution on many counts.

Handling 18 cases, the court heard nearly 700 defendants and more than a thousand witnesses during its 202 sessions. As was expected, the prosecution has asked the death penalty for many defendants, including Bayar and Menderes, and various terms of sentences for many others.

Now after all the public discussions and the many opinions the final showdown is coming. The MENDERES government robbed the people and made a mockery of justice.

Close U.S. observers knew this and were biding time until the wrath of the people forced the army coup which is now in power temporarily. They have been attempting to establish a new free government to guide Turkey rather than using the position for personal gain.

We sincerely hope that with the forthcoming free elections Turkey can re-establish herself as a strong ally of the Western powers.

Like any governmental change there still exists two factions. Whether more internal strife is forthcoming only time can tell. Menderes does have a following and the court decision could bring on a revolt.

In the meantime the Turkish nation solemnly awaits the final verdict which the court will announce on Sept. 15, 1961.

Parisian Is Arrested for Mimicking De Gaulle

People in America will be intrigued by an announcement from Paris. We use the word "America" advisedly as the comment that follows comes from the Toronto Globe and Mail.

The whole procedure is so foreign to customs on this side of the Atlantic that both Canadians and United States' citizens will be interested in what happened.

The Globe and Mail says:

"A rather ominous bit of news from France — among so many lately — is the announcement that a young Parisian is to be tried for mimicking President Charles de Gaulle. The accused allegedly put on a false face resembling the President's features and proceeded to 'take off' his speaking style. For this he has been charged with 'outrage toward the Head of State' and faces a possible one year's imprisonment.

"One of the distinctions between a dictatorship and a democracy is the attitude taken toward the person of the head of the government.

"In a democracy he is regarded, even by his own followers, as a human being, subject to criticism and even to ridicule like other men. British prime ministers and American Presidents are fair game for cartoonists, television comics, and night club impersonators.

"In a totalitarian state, on the other hand, the dictator is raised above common mortals. To criticize or mock him is considered a kind of blasphemy, and is severely punished under special statutes which derive from the old Roman law of 'laesa majestas' which once protected the divinity of the Caesars.

"President de Gaulle's France, despite its strong authoritarian tendencies, is still far from being a dictatorship. But a country in which it is a crime to laugh at the president has made a good start on the road to tyranny."

A CAPSULE to carry a man into orbit could be adequately tested for tensile strength and rigidity by locking a claustrophobe in it.

The Man About Town

A Living Fence

But It Grows Into an Outstanding Nuisance

Keeping still: The best way to learn a lot—and find out who knows the least.

selling what was to be a living fence. Farmers were their main prospects, but they also made some sales in the city.

The seedlings, planted a foot or so apart, soon grew into a living fence. Its thorns made it "horse high and hog tight," and many miles of it was soon growing in this vicinity.

But as it grew it also became a nesting place for mice and rats which became a nuisance. Its green warty fruit, about the size of a real orange, was worse than useless.

It had no food or other value and rotted on the ground where it fell, and was no help to the soil or otherwise.

The rooting hog soon learned to burrow through the ground at its roots, below where the thorns grew; sheep were impaled upon it when the thorns embedded their wool, and its roots sapped the fertility of the soil for several feet around.

The hedges grew to a height of 20 feet, and were difficult to remove on account of the thorns, and nobody had a kind word for it.

Subdividing has cleaned out most of it, but considerable stretches still remain. In the Holly and Romeo sections are hedges 20 rods or more long. Do you know of any other?

It is quite a coincidence that it had its craze here, and garnered most of its victims about the same time that many of our farmers were swindled in the that also was good in its early days. This oats was sold for seed at $10 per buahel, with the agreement that the seller would buy back all that the farmer raised at $3 per buahel. Of course this was a good deal, as long as the $3 oats could be sold to other farmers at $10 per buahel. But the oats was too productive, the buyers flunked, so did the sellers, and—flooey.

Waiting for His Russian Ship to Come In

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Fails in Heart-to-Heart Talks

EN ROUTE FROM EUROPE—The most important problem that faces the United States government today is how to communicate with other people around the world.

LAWRENCE

There is no lack of radio or mail or press facilities. It is not a matter of funds, nor altogether a problem of getting the right personnel for such an institution as the United States Information Agency.

It is a matter of constructive and well-thought-out policy and concentration in a courageous way on simple objectives in the great crusade to win the hearts and minds of people in other lands.

The overseas broadcasts today from America are defensive and often seem to be in the panoplied category, instead of the militant kind. This isn't the fault of the "Voice of America" but of some misguided policy directives of past years.

Consequently, the "Voice of America" is inadequate and not as effective as it could be. It is doing some things well and others poorly.

It, of course, needs more funds from Congress to improve its work —the Russians spend millions where we spend pennies.

★ ★ ★

But, above all else, it needs a recognition by the President and Congress that the task cannot be left to subordinates to fulfill on the basis of directives fitfully supplied in a sort of haphazard way through a fluctuating diplomacy.

★ ★ ★

What the United States government needs is a man of Cabinet stature to sit alongside the President and spend his whole time on what might be called "the public relations of the United States."

EXPERIENCE NEEDED

What's needed is someone who has had actual contact through diplomacy or otherwise with the peoples of Latin American countries, Asian countries, Middle Eastern countries and European countries—someone with common sense who understands the psychology of foreign peoples.

He can have beside him plenty of specialists in communications and in the customs of the foreign press, but he needs above all to be able to advise the President and his Cabinet as to how what is currently happening abroad is affected by American action and how suggested American policies would be received in other countries.

Improvement of the "Voice of America" broadcasts is imperative. One wonders why so little time is given on these programs to news and serious subjects in the news, and why so much time is consumed on rock-and-roll music or highbrow lectures, some of which seem to apologize for America's free-enterprise system.

The Communists, of course, repeat and persist with their points day after day, and they broadcast in simple English that can be readily grasped. Much of the broadcasting on both sides is, to be sure, done in foreign languages, and here the matter of simplicity is especially important.

These criticisms are not new. They have been made by this writer for the last decade to public officials, particularly on the wording of the broadcasts, which still are often hard for the average listener abroad to catch.

Simple expressions are better for the radio than the phraseology and big words of over-condensed press association dispatches.

As for editorial commentaries that are supposed to reflect American public opinion, the selection by the "Voice of America" is not representative of the American press at all. Rarely are any newspapers in the Midwest quoted, and rarely are some of the best pronouncements in Congress spread around the world.

It is tragic that American ideals are so little expounded, while American shortcomings are so much emphasized. The whole problem of communication in foreign policy needs a new look.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

The Lord reigns; he is robed in majesty; the Lord is robed, he is girded with strength. Yea, the world is established; it shall never be moved;—Psalms 93:1.

★ ★ ★

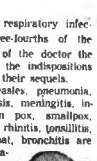

God, veiled in majesty, alone gives light and life to all; bids the great systems move, and changing seasons in their turns advance, unmoved, unchanged himself. — William Somerville.

Dr. William Brady Says:

People Are Real Stupid to Pass Around 'Colds'

The common respiratory infections make three-fourths of the everyday work of the doctor the year around — the indispositions or illnesses and their sequels.

DR. BRADY

Common in the way they spread, via droplet infection in the spray given off when one with the disease coughs, sneezes, laughs or talks.

Common in that the symptoms in the first 12 or 24 hours are pretty much the same — so that it may not be apparent what the victim is coming down with.

And common in that all are most communicable in the first 12 to 24 hours — before the nature of the indisposition or illness becomes obvious.

So it is in the early hours of the indisposition or illness that most people catch the cri — before the person who has it feels sick enough to isolate himself or go to bed. The stage when a stinker can distribute samples of whatever he has to dozens of persons who happen to come within talking spray range — within 5 feet. The stage when one without conscience may lure victims into spray range, by assuring them that it is just a "cold."

Anyone in office, shop, school, store, church, theater, train or bus who professes to have a "cold" should be penalized for not wearing a mask.

I am glad to note that young persons today are generally indifferent or quite careless about drafts, wet feet, insufficient clothing, dampness and the like. That's the way everybody should be.

If you doubt the cri makes three-fourths of the everyday work of doctors, perhaps you are not counting the mastoid, sinus, tonsil and chest operations (for empyema, pus in pleural cavity), which are required for sequels of the cri.

Or the frequent development of appendicitis as a complication or sequel of tonsillitis. Or the occurrence of acute infectious arthritis, inflammatory rheumatism, rheumatic fever following tonsillitis or sore throat.

The doctor who says or implies that an illness or indisposition is "just a bad cold" is hedging on the diagnosis and presuming upon the low intelligence of the general public.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not diagnosis, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

"I might as well admit my faults — no use adding lying to all the others."

'Rude Neighbors Disturb People Who Work Nights'

Some people work nights and sleep days. I visited a friend in the neighborhood of Norton and Sanderson streets. They work nights and at 5:30 a.m. there were roosters crowing (I didn't think they were allowed in the city limits) and dogs barking. By 7:30 children were screaming and by 10:30 two or three record players joined the noise. In the afternoon we had ball games. My friends would not think of doing any of these at 3:30 or 4:00 in the morning when they come from work.

Bicycles Needed at State Hospital

We have 35 youngsters in our program for emotionally disturbed at the Pontiac State Hospital. We have only 12 bicycles. These are old bikes that have been repaired again and again by the children and staff.

There must be many people who have old bikes in their garages and basements that could be used. You would feel very happy if you could see the fun the boys and girls have riding merrily about in small groups.

Call us and we will pick up the old bikes.

Urban Renewal Plan Bothers Land Owner

On local urban renewal we were told not to improve the property as they would not pay for improvements. When inquiring as to the appraisals we were told this was private information. We were not supposed to try and sell, as that would complicate things.

How would you like to scrimp and invest in property for nine years, even taking money from weekly pay, only to have the city enter and offer to pay the balance of the contract and taxes owed?

It is high time we ascertain that the local government go into receivership like the union was forced into a few years ago. With a trust in God they need not be ashamed in dealings with their fellow men. Perhaps this is what we need to protect our offspring, our freedom and our nation from communism.

Are we in the United States supposed to allow our representatives to confiscate our property thereby taking away our vested rights?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Wonders if Russia Is Real Threat

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-476: Joseph L., aged 29, is a Mormon business executive.

"Dr. Crane," he began during our recent luncheon, "why does our government fail so readily into Russia's trap?"

DR. CRANE

When I raised my eyebrows and asked what he meant, Joe went on:

"All Khrushchev has to do is stampede us into squandering more billions in taxes is pop off at the mouth. His hot air always sets Washington agog.

"For example, I have just recently returned from a tour of Europe. England has canceled its drafting of men and is apparently undisturbed over the Berlin crisis.

"But our government grows hysterical. Our President has put us $6 billion more in the red and has jerked away more draftees from their schools and jobs, just to serve in the Army, where bows and arrows are about as effective in this nuclear age as any rifles.

"Lenin once said, 'The way to destroy Capitalism (U.S.A.) is to debauch the currency and unobservedly confiscate the wealth of its citizens (via taxation)!'

"Dr. Crane, Red China has 2½ times the manpower of Russia and is standing with a nuclear stiletto at the back of Russia, so Russia already has the jitters. She doesn't dare tackle the Western Powers.

"One of our intelligence agents told me that within 10 years Russia will be imploring us to enter a league with her against Red China.

"So in this recurring and trumped up little debate over Berlin, why should we Americans play right into Russia's hands by further threatening our solvency?

"We undoubtedly have ample nuclear weapons to devastate Russia, or else our leaders have been duping us the past decade.

"And all this loose talk about hiding in bomb proof shelters or stocking those caves with food and medicines, is hog wash.

"As a doctor, you know that our atom bomb on Hiroshima simply stunned most of its victims with the concussion and then the momentary heat reached the flash point of those paper-walled Japanese houses so they ignited. The deaths were then chiefly due to burning.

"If Atom bombs have such a terrible after-effect, why is Hiroshima much larger today than when the Atom bomb hit it? Osaka, Kobe, Tokyo and all the other big cities of Japan were also within a few miles of that bomb yet they are unaffected.

"We Mormons believe in common sense, thrift and sound budgeting, so let's see more of it in Washington, D. C.

"A lot of my friends in Salt Lake City think this so-called Berlin 'crisis' is just a political ruse to prime the pump of industry and withdraw maybe another quarter of a million men from the surplus American labor market.

"But that is dishonest and immoral. Twice in this century we have seen wars hatched to solve economic problems, so can't we profit from the past?"

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, self-stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Says Rodeos Are Cruelty Exhibition

In spite of protests from people everywhere condemning westerns and rodeos, Detroit is to see another rodeo spectacle where defenseless animals are exploited and abused. Among the spectators are many children who carry through their lives the impressions they have seen.

★ ★ ★

Practice performances to put fear into the animals are cruel due to the absence of a humane officer now in attendance at all public rodeo performances.

There is no sportsmanship in the present form of some rodeos. They do not reflect the spirit of the "Old West" but develop abuses the real cowboys would never have tolerated.

Michigan has adequate humane laws which will be enforced where cruelty exists.

Accidents Took 42,800 Lives

First 6 Months of '61 Saw 4 Per Cent Drop Compared to 1960 Toll

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents caused the deaths of 42,800 persons during the first six months this year, a drop of 4 per cent from the comparable 44,500 in 1960, the National Safety Council said today.

Heading the nation's accident fatalities, as usual, were traffic deaths with 16,980, a 1 per cent drop from the 17,170 highway fatalities in the first six months last year.

* * *

The biggest decrease was in accident deaths in the home, with the 13,200 reported representing a drop from 14,400 for the January-June period of 1960.

Accident deaths outside the home and away from work, excluding traffic fatalities, declined to 7,300 from 7,700.

ON-JOB DEATHS

On-job deaths due to accidents increased 2 per cent to 5,320 for the first six months this year compared to 5,230 in 1960. The council said the figure does not include on-job traffic fatalities—included in the auto toll—which totaled 1,380 in 1961 and 1,370 last year.

World's People Lack Knowledge of 'Happenings'

PARIS (AP) — Nearly 70 per cent of the world's population lives out its life without knowing what is going on at home or abroad, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization reported today in its latest survey of information media.

* * *

The report said regions in more than 100 countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America have fewer than 10 copies of daily newspapers available for each 100 persons, fewer than five radio receivers, fewer than two television sets, or two seats for the movies.

Electronic Road Being Studied

Sec. Hodges Describes Future Sleepy Highway to Engineers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges today sketched a vision of accident-free highways on which cars speed along at 100 miles an hour while their drivers sleep.

Electronic devices would steer cars and regulate their speed, virtually eliminating the danger of accident from driver error, Hodges told a meeting of highway engineers from 16 nations.

A greater volume of traffic could be handled easily, he said, "and the human drivers could relax, sleep and enjoy truly carefree motoring."

If studies now under way show such an electronic highway to be "desirable and economically feasible," Hodges stated a test strip will be built between two major cities as part of the interstate highway system.

Ohio and Illinois have been mentioned as states in which a tryout electronic highway might be built. No decision on whether to build or where has been made by the government.

He urged foreign officials "to institute effective control of outdoor advertising" along their own countries' roads to preserve their natural scenic beauty.

As a mass form of transportation, Hodges said, the passenger car has "opened a new era of human mobility" in the United States. It has given Americans "greater freedom to choose where they shall work and where they shall live."

County Clerk Limits Business on Moving Day

Only necessary legal transactions will be handled in the county clerk's office tomorrow while the office relocates in the new courthouse.

No business at all was to be transacted today—moving day, declared Daniel T. Murphy Jr., county clerk-register.

"Tomorrow we'll accept only papers that must be accepted because of legal deadlines," Murphy said.

The office will be opened fully Monday in the new quarters on the first floor of the building in the County Service Center on Telegraph Road.

Persons desiring marriage licenses, pistol permits, assumed names applications and other papers handled by the statistics section of the clerk's office, must wait until Monday, he said.

"Everything's packed away and we couldn't give them to them if we wanted to."

Marriage licenses that become due Friday, and are already typed up, can be picked up at the new office tomorrow, he added.

House Committee OKs Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on government operations Wednesday approved a bill to establish an 11th Cabinet post.

The bill would set up a new executive department of urban affairs and housing.

Robert C. Weaver, a New York Negro and present head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, is President Kennedy's reported choice for the new and larger job.

★ ★ ★

Latin Cat Back After Adventure in Sioux Falls

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Meetch, the South American cat missing since Aug. 14, has returned.

Col. and Mrs. E. F. Dudley, visiting in Sioux Falls, had put out an alert for Meetch when the cat disappeared after having been flown here from Asuncion, Paraguay, some 8,000 miles away.

Dudley's father was sitting in the living room Wednesday when Meetch, meowing happily, jumped into his lap.

Dudley, newly assigned to Ft. Monroe, Va., said he thought some local family may have taken Meetch in as a pet and released her after reading about her background.

Details of Johnson Berlin Trip Revealed

Favors More Arms to Meet Pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has told President Kennedy he should including heavy tanks, to Berlin if the Communists exert more pressure there.

Johnson also recommended that Kennedy ask the British to increase their manpower commitment in Germany and call on France to bring troops from Algeria to Germany.

During his visit to West Berlin, Johnson told the Germans that the United States expected them to take a bigger part in NATO.

While there, he made a spur-of-the-moment decision not to go into East Berlin. Not wanting to do anything that might seem provocative, Johnson declined a West German official's invitation and instead talked with him through the open door of his limousine.

Later, members of Johnson's party, including Charles (Chip) Bohlen, went across the border to look at the Russian zone, which they found an armed camp.

Also among the intimate details of Johnson's trip last weekend that came to light Wednesday was the ticklish handling it required due to the impending national elections in Germany.

NO FAVORITES

It was decided that Johnson would politely but firmly tell Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that he must not accompany him to Berlin.

On the other hand, Johnson was not to appear to be meddling in the election in behalf of West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, who opposes Adenauer in the elections.

Johnson carried a reply from Kennedy to Brandt's demand for "action instead of words" on the Berlin situation. The reply was described as "pretty hot." Brandt avoided accepting it on two or three occasions before finally taking it.

Brandt was much chastened by the time Johnson saw him, and the vice president was told that the letter indicated a far harsher attitude than Brandt actually felt.

Johnson called on the Germans to do more in their own defense. One thing they probably will do is extend their military conscription before it expires next month.

To Buy More Land at Cape for Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has decided to launch all manned lunar flights, and other missions requiring giant boosters, from Cape Canaveral, Fla., it was disclosed today.

The decision involves a $60-million land acquisition program at the missile test base.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., disclosed plans of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to acquire 80,000 acres north and west of the present test center. The present facilities, including nearby Patrick Air Force Base, cover 17,000 acres.

★ ★ ★

The additional area will be administered by the Air Force.

The Florida senator made public details of a statement prepared by NASA which declared all missions requiring huge Saturn and Nova-class boosters will be launched from the Cape.

"The decision to expand the Cape is tied directly to national space goals spelled out by President Kennedy earlier this year," the statement said.

"NASA's choice of the Florida launch site for the multimillion-pound thrust boosters follows an intensive NASA-Department of Defense survey of a number of possible launch sites in the United States and the Pacific Ocean."

The $60 million would cover only the acquisition of the land. The space agency offered no figures on the total cost of missions to be launched from the site, but the price tag placed on lofting a man to the moon before the end of the decade has been estimated at about $20 billion.

Army May Call Guard Units

October Could Bring Federal Summons to Some Alerted Outfits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are that the Army will begin bringing into federal service by early or mid-October some of the 37 National Guard units which have been alerted for call up.

★ ★ ★

This seemed to be suggested in Army answers to questions today about possible methods for bringing alerted units up to full strength.

Under the law, a member of a Reserve outfit or an individual reservist cannot be transferred involuntarily to a National Guard unit while that unit is still under control of a state. He may be assigned only temporarily for training.

However, he may be "designated" in advance, a spokesman explained. This means that he may be informed in advance that if and when a certain National Guard unit goes into federal service—and passes out from under state authority—he will be assigned as a filler to build up strength of that unit.

NOTIFY BY SEPT. 15

The fillers would be drawn from Reserve outfits which themselves have not been alerted for possible call.

Such notification to individuals, under the new program, must be made by Sept. 15, the Army said.

★ ★ ★

This appeared to indicate that the Army is shaping its plans to provide for summoning in the month following Sept. 15 at least some of the 37 National Guard units, and possibly some of the 76 U.S. Army Reserve units, which have been alerted.

Fargo Fond of Maris

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — The City Commission went to bat for a home town boy, voting to name a two-mile winding park road "Roger Maris Drive." The New York Yankee home run hitter, a native of Hibbing, Minn., grew up in Fargo.

Air Force Pilots OK After Mock 17 Days in Space

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force pilots completed a make-believe 17-day space flight today and said the time they spent sealed in a steel tank went smoothly.

Lt. Joseph H. Slider of Comanche, Tex., and Lt. Bernard Appel of Forest Hills, N.Y., emerged from the 8 by 12 foot simulated space cabin shortly after 7 a.m. to be greeted by their wives and officials at the Aerospace Medical Center.

The pilots alternately rested, tended to personal needs and worked at the controls of a behavior simulator which fed them problems designed to test their alertness.

They reported no ill effects from breathing atmosphere containing more than 90 per cent oxygen or from living in pressure equal to that of 33,500 feet above sea level.

BEYOND CALL OF DUTY—These Richmond, Ind., police officers are spending a harrowing week, waiting to see if they are to become victims of the deadly disease, spinal meningitis. The two —Collins Dickerson (left) and John Geiger—administered mouth-to-mouth respiration Sunday to 1-month-old Mark Green, who later died of spinal meningitis. If the officers, who have five children between them, have contracted the disease, it will show up by Friday.

West Berliners Smack Reds Right in the Old Pocketbook

With little fanfare, they have set about putting the city's Communist-operated elevated railway out of business in West Berlin.

The West Berlin boycott of the "el" is causing the Communists a daily loss of approximately $10,000, the West Berlin transport authority estimates.

An authority official said only about 25,000 West Berliners use the "el" daily now, compared to 250,000 before the East Germans sealed the East-West Berlin border.

Seizure of the "el" in West Berlin was taken under consideration by the West Berlin city government and the Allies. But the idea was dropped as likely to provoke Berlin's rail lines which travel through East German territory to West Germany.

But impatient West Berliners moved on their own. The boycott was called by West Germany's Trades Union Federation.

Federation members are picketing stations with signs saying, "You Want to Give Money to Ulbricht?" Walter Ulbricht is the Communist boss of East Germany.

The East German Communists blandly claim that West Berliners have ignored the boycott call.

West Berlin transport authorities have lengthened the busiest bus routes, speeded up schedules and have put extra buses into service to accommodate former "el" users.

* * *

If necessary, an official said, the city will rent buses from tour firms.

"Now that the travel season is over, there are plenty of buses to rent," he said.

Discovers Quad Yolks

BRIGHTON, N.Y. (AP) — Florence Stark, who has kept chickens all her life, said she recently cracked an egg and out dropped four yolks. She said she has seen hundreds of double-yolkers, and several triple-yolks but had never heard of an egg with four of them.

Fire Threat Eased at Gander Airport

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—Smoke from smoldering forest fires continued to hamper operations at Gander International Airport today. But showers had ended the threat of fire for the time being.

The airport was closed for six hours Tuesday when flames reached a runway and smoke cut visibility to zero.

* * *

The rain dampened down some of the many fires that have been raging through Newfoundland's valuable timberlands for the past 2½ months. But more hot, dry weather was predicted.

Won't Remedy Mistake

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — The big plaque proclaiming the new Moccasin Bend Psychiatric Hospital here as "Chattanooga State Psychiatric Hospital" is wrong, but it will stay on the building anyway. Hospital officials said it cost $1,000, and that's too much waste.

Few Woman Violators

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Rochester police say that of the 12,632 people they arrested for traffic violations last year, only 15 per cent were women.

The U.N. lost a member in 1958 but only numerically. That came about when Egypt and Syria merged as the United Arab Republic.

Conferees Delay Aid Bill Action

Meet for Three Hours Without Touching On Long-Term Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees have put off, possibly until next week, an effort to compromise major differences on President Kennedy's foreign aid program.

They met for three hours on Wednesday without even coming to grips with the biggest conflict in separate Senate and House foreign aid bills passed last Friday.

The conflict centers on Kennedy's request for Treasury-borrowing authority to provide easy-term 10 to 50-year economic development loans to struggling nations to bulwark them against communism.

* * *

The Senate approved a five-year, $8-billion loan program, retaining the borrowing authority. The House not only rejected that method of financing but cut it to a one-year, $1.2 billion program financed by congressional appropriations.

Air Force Consumes Huge Quantities of Oil

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — The oil industry reports aviation fuel used by the Air Force during fiscal 1960 would have filled railroad tank cars strung two abreast from New York to San Francisco.

The use of 5.9 billion gallons prompted Col. Wilson A. Chapman, director of the Air Force Directorate of Petroleum and Chemicals, to say the Air Force is "the oil industry's most challenging customer."

Workers Relax, Do Jobs Quickly, Easily

Boss' Annual Vacation Enjoyed by All Employes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The average office employe in America now gets two paid vacations a year — his own and one by the boss.

By and large he enjoys the one of the boss more than he does his own. His own vacation to many an employe is a personal ordeal and an adventure in bankruptcy. He returns from it mosquito-chawed, badly sunburned, broke, and worn out in body and spirit from trying to crowd a year's fun into two weeks.

He is glad to creep back into the office where he can rest and recover on the job.

But when the boss takes a vacation everybody benefits. It relaxes the employes more than it does the boss himself.

'CALL ME UP'

"Try to keep the place on an even keel while I'm gone," says the boss to Jake, his second in command. "And, remember, call me long distance if anything important comes up."

Off he goes to a worrisome month at beach or mountain resort where he spends his time listening to his wife or gloomily brooding about what is going on in the office during his absence.

In his mind's eye he sees the boys putting gin in the water cooler, and chasing the secretaries from desk top to desk top in daylong orgies.

★ ★ ★

But what really happens?

The first two days Jake, the straw boss, gets into everybody's hair by making like he is the real boss. Then one of the old-timers goes up to him.

"Okay, big brother, simmer down and put away that blacksnake whip. If you don't quit throwing your weight around, the gang'll get together and give you some real trouble," he says.

TAKE IT EASY

So Jake, his bluff called, calms down, and the whole office begins to take things easier.

The hired hands start coming in 15 to 30 minutes late. But since no one is looking over their shoulders and there is no one to impress by acting, they buckle down and in two hours get done the work that usually takes them all day.

This leaves them plenty of time for a long lunch and to gossip, trim their fingernails, go shopping, get their hair cut, write overdue letters to their dear old mothers, and get all their personal affairs in order. All on company time naturally.

But there is no tension, no guilt feelings. Everyone is relaxed and cheerful and caught up on his work.

The day the boss returns, every employe shows up on time. They stack important-looking papers on their desk and scurry around pretending to be busier than a box full of bumblebees. The office has an anxious, harried, hurried air.

JUST ACTING

Actually, nobody is really doing anything much. They're just acting again—to impress the boss. And most of them are glad to have the old boy back. In a way they missed him.

★ ★ ★

"How did things go while I was gone?" asked the boss.

"Well, we scraped along okay I guess, chief," replies Jake. "But there sure were a lot of times when we missed your guiding hand at the tiller."

That's the kind of talk the boss likes to hear.

"Why is it this place always falls into rack and ruin whenever I take a little time off?" he growls contentedly. "Maybe I ought to quit taking vacations."

If he did, half the staff would quit.

They're used to having two vacations a year—his and theirs—and it is that boosts office morale highest and does them all the most good.

'Once Shock Past, Having Cancer Isn't Half Bad'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—A letter came to this desk from an optimistic woman. She lives in Texas. She thinks she lives very well indeed. What do you think? . . .

"Dear Miss Battelle:

"And so I have cancer.

"After the first bitter thought gets sunken in your mind, so strong that never again will you forget, suddenly having cancer isn't half bad.

"Letters and cards arrive from people you haven't heard from for years, and they all tell how they loved and admired you, and how great you always have been. And how beautiful. Although you're thinner now, you show an inner beauty that your outward beauty hid so much. They say things like that.

* * *

"Your family become altogether different. They are tender. They are 'there.' They are concerned—but in an indifferent-seeming way, so that you're free to live a life, knowing whatever you do their support is yours. The way families should always be.

"Your husband, who you've thought often cold, becomes your strongest friend and, once again, you're having a real courtship. Flowers and presents arrive daily, from people all over; yet his presents and his calls and notes are different.

"The ministers pray with you, that the Lord will spare your life. And you pray too, for a little while longer in this nice world where the doctors and the people you meet in the hospital halls, because they know your story, are concerned and full of protection and love.

'WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE'

"Then one night when you awake as usual, and your thinking starts to go around and around—suddenly you realize that you honestly wouldn't have missed this wonderful, emotional, spiritual experience for the world. For you are like a small child in a family of affection.

"Like a child, only mature enough to realize what is happening—that all stones are being turned in your path to make the footing clear, that hands are guiding you so you won't hurt yourself more than necessary, that everything is being made easy . . . for your recovery.

"As I said, not half bad, cancer.

"Sincerely . . ."

* * *

It reminds me of the late Pope Pius who said that women are the stronger sex. Not because they have more stamina, sensitivity, properties or power—but because they have more ability to pray.

There can be no "typical" reaction to a dread illness.

AT FIRST SHOCKED

The morning (in 1955) when a dentist discovered the disease, Rodgers told me, he was at first shocked. Naturally. And then, "On the way home, a peculiar thing happened. I got sore. I was just mad at the whole philosophy—the idea that a 52-year-old man with so much to do, so much to live for, could be knocked off by a wild cell.

"I had two days before I'd go in the hospital and it was quite a time. What were you gonna do—sit around and chew your nails? Get drunk? Neither is in my pattern." So Rodgers sat down and wrote a song—"I don't remember which song it was, but I can practically guarantee it wasn't any good"—and stayed angry.

The operation was a success.

* * *

"And later the doctors told me—and these are people who have nothing to do with God, or with fate, they deal only in cells—they told me my reaction was great," Rodgers remembers. "They said that anger crystallizes the will to live."

Asks Shorts, Slack Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shorts and women's slacks should be banned from the stately halls of Congress, says Rep. Walter L. McVey, R-Kan. He introduced a bill today to prohibit such attire in the Capitol. It would apply only to persons over 12.

On a per capita basis Americans now spend 2.8 days a year in a hospital the same as in 1940.

Discharged From Hospital

Says Reds 'Hitlerian'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican City weekly Osservatore Romano Della Domenica said Wednesday the Soviets are employing "Hitlerian" diplomacy in the Berlin crisis and are seeking to frighten the Western powers into surrendering to Communist claims.

Engineers Explain Sanitation Plans for Romeo

State Farmers Vote on Wheat

About 30,000 Eligible for Referendum Today on $2 Price for '62

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Between 25,000 and 30,000 Michigan farmers were eligible to vote today in the national referendum on the federal wheat stabilization program.

Two-thirds of the nation's eligible farmers who vote must approve the 1962 program if it is to become effective.

In 1963 wheat price would average $2 per bushel nationally if the program was approved, said Ed Lunde of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office. This would be an increase of 21 cents above the 1961 average and represents 83% per cent of parity.

Lunde said if voters turn down the program, price supports would revert to 50 per cent of parity in commercial wheat areas for farmers who plant within allotments.

* * *

Under the terms of the proposed program, wheat farmers would be required to reduce their current acreage allotments by 10 per cent to be eligible for the new support prices.

* * *

The program would allow growers to divert an additional 30 per cent of their acreage out of wheat if they chose.

Federal officials estimated the new program would reduce government stock of surplus wheat by 100 million bushels and cut plantings by 5.5 million acres, Lunde said.

Beth Evon Gillen Weds Man From Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Frederick Stephen Murley claimed Beth Evon Gillen as his bride Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Ann Arbor. Rev. Vernold W. Aurlich read the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Clarke Gillen of Ann Arbor and the late Mr. Gillen. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Murley of 216 Heights Road.

Mrs. David Mastic of Aurora, Ill., was bridesmaid.

Gordon Murley assisted his brother as best man. Ushers were another brother, Melvin C. Murley and James Sheardy, both of Lake Orion, and John McKay of Drayton Plains.

* * *

The reception was held in the church parlors after the nuptials. The newlyweds plan to live in San Diego, Calif., where they went on their honeymoon trip.

No tickets will be sold at the box office that night, according to Roger Page, president of the local organization.

Proceeds from the benefit will be used by the club in support of the Crippled Children's Hospital, exchange students and other community service activities.

Page said the cost of the show will be $1 a car.

Susan Strong Bride

Weds Lawrence Smith

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Wearing a gown of silk taffeta and Chantilly lace designed and made by her sister, Susan Alice Strong became the bride of Lawrence Edwin Smith Saturday at Bushnell Congregational Church, Detroit.

Rev. William E. Strait officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Strong of 2041 Hosner Road. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith of Detroit.

Mrs. Charles S. Hutchins of Ann Arbor made the bridal gown which featured panels of Chantilly lace, the back panel ending in a chapel train, lace bodice and a Sabrina neckline. The long sleeves ended in points over the bride's wrists.

* * *

Her headpiece was an imported crown of pearls and crystals. It secured a veil of silk illusion, and she carried a cascade arrangement of light blue carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Bridal attendants were Sarah Tripp of Oxford, who served as maid of honor, Mrs. John Haboian of Taylor and Sally Joiner of Clarkston.

Assisting his brother as best man was Gordon Smith of Detroit. The guests were seated by John Haboian of Taylor, Thomas Strong of Oxford, brother of the bride, and Robert Barrows of Detroit.

* * *

Couples Win Bid to Build Armada Post Office

ARMADA — Construction of a new post office here was further advanced today with the announcement that a contract has been awarded to two Mount Clemens couples to build and lease the building to the post office department.

The successful bidders were Mr. and Mrs. Max Schwartz and Mr. and Mrs. George Yellin, according to Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

Under the terms of the department's commercial leasing program they will construct the new post office on the east side of Burke Street, between Main and Prospect streets.

* * *

The building will be leased to the department for 10 years, with 4 five-year renewal options, at an annual rental of $5,588 for the basic term.

It will have 2,053 square feet of interior space and ample paved areas for parking and movement of postal vehicles. Chester F. Lee is the local postmaster.

Registration Next Week

Troy District Schools Plan Sept. 7 Opening

TROY — Schools in the Troy District will be open for all grades, kindergarten through twelve Sept. 7, Asst. Supt. Boyd R. Larson, announced today.

All students entering Troy Schools for the first time will register next week at their respective schools. All elementary principals and secondary school principals will be in their buildings that week to register new students.

If new residents in Troy do not know what elementary school their children should attend, they may call the Troy Board of Education Office, for the information. Hours for registration in the elementary schools will be from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

All parents who have registered kindergartners at the Round-up or dance then will be notified of the time, date, and school where they are to report. Parents are asked to provide transportation for their kindergarten youngsters the first day (Thursday or Firday).

They are asked to bring a certified record of birth if they have not already presented it.

New resident students who are in the seventh and eighth grades will register at Baker Junior High School. The principal, John Diefenbaker, will be available for parental conferences and new registrations beginning Monday from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

HOMEROOM LISTS

On Sept. 7, home room lists will be posted in the gymnasium. Students will enter the gymnasium, find the home room list, and then report to the designated room at 8 a.m.

High School Principal Rudolph Smith will be available for new registrations in grades nine, 10, 11 and 12 and also to make schedule changes from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. beginning Monday.

All schools will be in full session Thursday, Sept. 7. Regular bus routes will be operating as in the past year. Children will attend a full day with the exception of the kindergarten.

Troy High School and Baker Junior High School classes will start at 8 a.m. Buses will start at 7:15 a.m. to pick up the students for the secondary schools.

Buses will start at 8:15 a.m. for students attending Big Beaver, Poppleton and Morse Schools. Classes in these three schools will start at 8:45 a.m. and dismiss at 3:15 p.m.

Buses will start at 8:45 a.m. for students attending Colerain, Niles, Troy Union and Leonard Schools. These schools will start at 9:15 a.m. and dismiss at 3:35 p.m.

AREA CHANGES

Attendance areas for the elementary schools will be changed this year due to the completion of the new Leonard School. Maps will be sent to the Troy residents indicating the elementary school which will serve their area.

The Leonard school will handle all kindergarten children from the Troy Union and Colerain areas in addition to its own. This is due to the excellent kindergarten facilities at Leonard and the geographical location of the school, Larson said.

On Sept. 5 and 6 there will be faculty meetings and workshops of all teachers in preparation for the new school year.

Small Group at Hearing Interested in 4 Proposals

By LEE WINBORN
Area News Editor

ROMEO — Less than 50 local residents were on hand last night to hear explanations of four proposals being considered by the Village Council for expansion of present sewer facilities.

The public hearing was held in the junior high school auditorium to accommodate a large crowd.

Primary speakers at the session were consulting engineer John Seeley of the Ann Arbor firm of McNamee, Porter and Seeley, and sanitation engineer Maurice Richmond of the Michigan Department of Health.

Seeley opened the program by describing all four plans, giving estimated costs and telling what kind of a job each treatment facility would do.

Plan No. 1 is the use of lagoons for stabilization of raw materials. Its advantage, according to Seeley, is that it requires very little expense to operate.

The cost ofthis plan is $425,000 plus an annual cost of $3,000 for operation.

Plan No. 2 proposes to use the existing Imhoff tank for primary treatment followed by lagoons. Using this method, the lagoon would be smaller and it would not be as good from a treatment standpoint, the engineer said. It's cost is $437,000 plus $3,700 annual operating cost.

* * *

The third plan provides for a trickling filter type plant with the existing Imhoff tank utilized as a digester. It would cost $244,000 with the annual operating cost estimated at $12,000.

RECOMMENDS 3RD PLAN

Seeley recommended this plan for growth in the village up to 5,000 residents, which is the figure he was given by the Council to use as the population target by 1980.

* * *

The final plan is the activated sludge plant. It provides for a greater percentage of treatment, according to the engineer, and if more growth were anticipated this was the facility he said the council should consider.

This plan would cost $291,000 with $18,000 needed yearly for operation.

U. S. AID POSSIBLE

Federal aid of 30 per cent may be forthcoming on each proposed plan, according to the council.

Richmond said the State Department of Health had not reached complete agreement with the village on the proposals but that with certain reservations all four have been approved "in concept."

The lagoons are designed conservatively, he said, so there was no reason they should not be approved, but the size of tanks was still a question on the others.

The primary question raised by the local citizens at the hearing was whether the council was being far-sighted enough in planning sewer treatment facilities for future growth.

They challenged the 5,000 population figure set by the council as being very low in view of the accelerated growth in communities immediately south of the village.

The council said the figure was based on statistics of growth in Romeo in past 10-year periods. As it was, they said, the population between 1940-1960 increased by only 700 people and they were planning for double that amount or 1,400 more by 1980.

Besides, the councilmen said, there are very few open areas where newcomers could build homes or plants, and they are not planning to annex any adjacent properties.

Two years ago Romeo was warned by the department of health that measures had to be taken immediately to abate the pollution of the north branch of the Clinton River. A $310,000 bond issue for new sewer facilities was submitted to the voters a short time later and was defeated.

TO GO TO COURT

Richmond said last night that the pollution case against Romeo "is ready for filing" in Circuit Court.

Now the council will consider the four proposals again in light of citizens' reactions last night and decide which one to offer as the solution to the sewer problem.

* * *

The method of financing will be determined after the expansion program is picked, according to Wayne C. Black, village president. He said it could be safely planned that the project would be paid for with revenue bonds rather than bonds on real estate.

JEANNE M. FREVILLE

Announcement is made of the engagement of Jeanne Marie Freville to Robert J. Durand by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stanley Freville of 578 Hillwood Drive, White Lake Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Durand of Marine City. A late November wedding is planned.

Views Year at Area High School as Adventure

Rhodesia Scholar Accepts Avondale Challenge

By JIM LONG

A very, very British-sounding young man from Southern Rhodesia is looking toward a year at Avondale High School much like he did to his adventure of climbing Mt. Kilimanjaro.

"It will all be new to me, being in a coeducational school," said Rhodes Garwen, who has attended boarding schools for boys 12 of his 18 years.

"I'm really looking forward to learning how the American educational system operates," the Rhodesian youth explained yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Wright, 790 Nichols Drive, Auburn Heights.

Rhodes will live with the Wright family for the next year while attending senior classes at Avondale as an American Field Service student.

He was one of five Southern Rhodesia students selected to participate in this year's AFS program and the only boy among the group.

Upon completion of his studies here, which will include American history, literature and government, law and typing, Rhodes intends to return to South Africa to study medicine at the University of Capetown.

Rhodes explained that he has become extremely interested in human nature recently and one of the main reasons he wanted to come to the United States was to see what sort of people make it such a progressive nation.

"And I want to try to iron out any misconceived ideas that this country has about our Rhodesian way of life," he added.

At Peterhouse School, Rhodes was captain of the House Rugby Team and the school swimming club and A member of the Climbing Club.

It was in 1959 that Rhodes along with five other boys and seven masters scaled the south side of Mt. Kilimanjaro in Tanganyika, a feat that had been accomplished only two times before, both by adult parties.

* * *

The climb, he said, to the crater edge of mountain took four days.

"The last 5,000 feet was the hardest. It took eight hours," the 6-foot-10 athlete said. "Coming down, however, was easy. You could almost run."

Rhodes, who speaks several languages and a number of native dialects from the region near Salisbury, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Garwen.

FATHER WAS HUNTER

Until recently the family owned a 10,000-acre farm in Southern Rhodesia. They are now living in the suburbs of Salisbury.

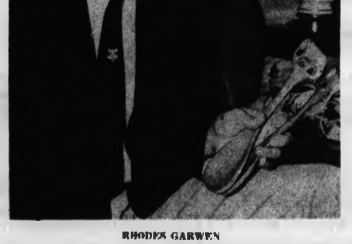

Rhodes' Poland-born father is retired now but was at one time a white hunter in the federation of Rhodesia and Nyasland.

One thing Rhodes is anticipating is the change of seasons.

* * *

"Living in the bush country all your life doesn't give you an opportunity to see falling snow," he said.

"The only trouble is that I'm already using three blankets on my bed."

Detroiter, 27, to Be Arraigned in City Burglary

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday ordered a 27-year-old Detroiter bound over to Circuit Court in the burglary of a Pontiac home Aug. 14.

The accused, James Smith, is being held in the Oakland County Jail pending arraignment Monday. Bond was set at $10,000.

He is accused of breaking into the home of James Crump, 45, of 194 Western St. Crump told Pontiac police he awoke to find Smith in his second-story bedroom reaching for a wallet in the room.

Smith was caught as he tried to run from the house. He was held until police arrived.

Seven Ex-Policemen 'Guilty' ---Verdict by All-Woman Jury

CHICAGO (AP)— Seven former policemen involved in a burglary ring which touched off the Chicago police scandal were found guilty by an all-woman jury on Wednesday night.

The jury, which deliberated less than three hours after a 42-day trial, recommended prison sentences of one to five years for five of the defendants and fines of $500 each for the other two. All were charged with conspiracy to commit burglary and to receive and conceal stolen property.

* * *

Criminal Court Judge James B. Parsons set sentencing for today for the five, Allan Brinn, 31, Alan Clements, 30, Frank Faraci, 45, Alex Karras and his twin, Sol, 28.

* * *

The fines were recommended for Peter Beeftink, 53, and Henry Mulea, 46. It was expected that all seven would appeal.

The case of an eighth ex-policeman, Patrick Groark, 29, who asked for a bench trial, is to be decided by Judge Parsons.

'ALL GUILTY'

The jury foreman, Lauretta M. Weston, 37, a Post Office stenographer, told newsmen after the verdict: "There never was any doubt in anyone's mind that they were all guilty." She declined to comment on the variation in sentences recommended.

The defendants formerly were attached to the Summerdale Police District on Chicago's North Side. They were accused of collaborating with Richard Morrison, 25, who confessed a long string of burglaries in his activities and carting away some of the loot in police cars in 1958 and 1959.

* * *

The state dropped more than a score of charges of burglary, larceny and conspiracy against Morrison in return for his testimony against the eight defendants.

* * *

Morrison's allegations in July 1959 led to sweeping reforms of the department under Orlando W. Wilson, a University of California criminologist.

Wilson was hired as superintendent after Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor resigned, saying that though he was not implicated he felt personally responsible for the activity of the eight policemen.

* * *

Morrison still faces federal charges in St. Louis in connection with the passing of counterfeit $100 bills.

* * *

The seven convicted policemen heard the verdict with little show of emotion. The five for whom prison sentences were recommended would not talk to newsmen.

Beeftink, who was fined, commented, "I just feel good, that's all."

Automation Era Needs Pioneers

Expert Says New Skills Needed by Industry to Boost Employment

DETROIT (UPI) — American labor and industry were warned Wednesday that they must seek new skills and revive the pioneering spirit if there is to be any hope of maximum employment in the era of automation.

Roger W. Bolz, publisher of Automation Magazine, told the Detroit Rotary Club that automation's role in recent unemployment has been exaggerated but he warned that this would not be true in the near future if re-training of workers is neglected.

Bolz said automation today is generally sought to save a failing business or to make possible new products. He criticized a lack of perspective in discussions of automation and its effects on employment.

* * *

He compared the "dire predictions" about automation with those sounded in connection with mechanization a century ago.

Bolz suggested that industry be granted tax credits for retraining workers and that workers should be given tax incentives to better equip themselves to deal with the problems of automation.

About 21,000 Americans are killed by accidental falls each year. Half the victims are age 65 or older.

Undergraduate Students Find Math Sleepy Topic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You are in good company if you feel stupid about mathematics, a Michigan State University-Oakland professor says.

Prof. Robert J. Wisner told a mathematics conference at Mt. Vernon Junior College here that "undergraduate mathematics has for almost everyone the properties of a stupefacient."

(For those of you who feel stupid about stupefacient, it means something that induces sleep or stupefaction, such as a narcotic.)

"One is impressed, I guess I should say depressed, by the generally outdated curriculum, the abundance of trivial courses which pay off with college credit, and the unimaginative teaching which our students must suffer," Wisner told the conference.

FIELD FAILING

Wisner said that no other field of knowledge fails as mathematics does in attracting its undergraduate majors into a graduate school.

After touring the country, he said, "I can assure you that the college mathematics situation is almost unbelievably bad."

"Bad — very bad — but not despairing," he said, "far pitted against this note is the realization by colleges that something must be done."

He outlined programs for improving the qualifications of those teaching mathematics and also proposed that more of the subject be fed to students before they reach the college level.

* * *

At present, Wisner said, "mathematicians simply seem to fail to imbue undergraduate mathematics majors with enough desire or knowledge to take mathematics seriously.

" . . . Mathematics students must — by and large — commit themselves to graduate school to learn what mathematics is about."

Lonely AF Man in Alaska Post to Have His Dog

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—A German shepherd dog named Kim is flying to Alaska in a special kennel to be company for a lonely airman.

The dog, owned by Marian Peterson, town clerk at Needham, was loaded aboard a United airliner for Seattle, Wash., Wednesday night.

Kim will join Mrs. Peterson's son Bob, 28, an Air Force communications specialist stationed since June at Gustavus air base about 50 miles outside Juneau.

In recent letters home, Mrs. Peterson said, her son wrote again and again: "I won't feel at home in Alaska until Kim arrives."

Trap Means Trouble to All Stray Dogs

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — The large dog population throughout county is headed for trouble.

Losses in livestock have prompted the authorities to make their drive on the stray dogs.

Dr. Frank H. Madden, county veterinarian, is testing a dog trap designed like an old-fashioned rabbit trap to catch strays.

Auto Bargainers Had Humble Beginnings

DETROIT (AP) — A former streetcar motorman, a one-time Pennsylvania coal miner, a steel mill worker—these are some of the men who occupy seats at the bargaining tables in the current contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers and the Big Three auto makers.

They have come a long, hard way from humble beginnings—and now, in their hands, rests the economic fate of a half million auto workers at Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors.

Representing Ford, are Manton M. Cummins, a former Detroit Street Railways motorman, and Kenneth Bannon, who once mined coal in Pennsylvania.

Cummins, 55, chairman of Ford's 14-man bargaining team, came to Ford in 1944 after 15 years with the DSR and six as an FBI agent.

Bannon, 47, who calls the signals for the 13-man UAW bargaining contingent, is a native of Scranton, Pa. He moved to Detroit in 1936, took a job as a machine hand at the Ford Rouge plant, became president of Ford Local 400, Highland Park, and was named director of the union's Ford Department in 1947.

★ ★ ★

Another key figure at Ford is Malcolm L. Denise, vice president of labor relations. Denise, 47, is a man of rapier-sharp mind whose specialty is labor and industrial relations law. He joined the Ford legal staff in 1946 after five years with a Detroit law firm, then became Ford counsel.

At General Motors, the giants in the contract bargaining are UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president of personnel, and Earl R. Bramblett, director of labor relations.

Woodcock, 50, is chairman of the board of governors of Wayne State University. A thin, professional-looking man whose hobbies are classical music and gardening, Woodcock became affiliated with the UAW in 1933, when, during the depression, he had been unable to find employment as an office worker and finally took a job on the auto production lines.

Seaton, 55, the dean of labor negotiators for the Big Three, came to GM in 1928 from Wayne State University and went into personnel in 1932. As director of labor relations years ago, Seaton used to show up at plants where trouble was brewing, sit down with the leaders and thresh out the disputed issue before it ever reached the strike stage.

Bramblett, 50, a softspoken Georgian, was an hourly rated worker at 17 for Chevrolet Motor Division in Flint. He got into the personnel department six years later and in 1944 began representing the corporation in arbitration disputes.

CAME FROM BRITAIN

The head man in bargaining at Chrysler is Norman Matthews, a UAW vice president and head of its Chrysler Department, who also is director of the UAW departments at American Motors, Budd Manufacturing, Eaton and Bendix firms.

Matthews, 65, a British soldier for almost five years in World War I, pioneered in the historic union principle of "equal pay for equal work."

A leader in organizing white collar workers and in bringing office and technical units under UAW collective bargaining agreements, he negotiated the first supplemental unemployment benefits for salaried workers in 1955.

When he came to the United States, Matthews had 36 years of seniority as an automotive electrician. He now is a member of the UAW's executive board, its policy committee and chairman of the UAW's education committee.

The Chrysler negotiating team includes Gervid Atkinson, manager of labor relations. Atkinson, 52, was an hourly rated employe who got in Chrysler labor relations in 1949 because the company wanted a lawyer who had plant experience.

Atkinson started at Chrysler as a freight handler in the Highland Park plant while he studied law at night at the University of Detroit. He was at the plant for six years before he became a negotiator. Since then, he has won the reputation as a pleasant, unruffled negotiator, never saying anything but no—"but he says it neatly and without rudeness."

Across from Matthews at the American Motors bargaining table sits Edward L. Cushman, AMC vice president. When he joined AMC in 1954, Cushman already had a nationwide reputation as an excellent labor mediator. Cushman, who served in many key governmental wartime production and manpower positions in World War II, has a way of smoothing over bargaining table stalemates with a sense of humor.

He started off this year's negotiations by presenting Matthews and UAW President Walter Reuther with a can of dieting fluid, saying: "Maybe this will help you fellows slim down your demands."

New Car-Price Guessing Game Wide Open

By KEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — One of Detroit's favorite annual guessing games is in full swing: Will the new cars cost more?

The game has become more interesting in recent years because the auto industry has attempted to hold the price line.

There have been no significant price increases for the past two model years.

And, because of the influx of compact cars, the average car price has gone down slightly.

Only a few years ago the real question was how much prices would go up, not whether they would go up. Increases were considered automatic. And as the American cars grew longer and fatter with bigger engines prices zoomed.

The 1958 recession, probably more than anything else, caused the auto manufacturers to take a fresh look at their pricing policies.

"It became evident to us," says one auto executive, "that we could no longer keep going up, up, up."

Auto production became more efficient. Economies onboard of in the immediate postwar years became standard.

In some cases equipment on various car models which had been standard was changed to extra-cost options.

WHAT ABOUT PRICES?

Now a new model year is in the offing. Manufacturers already are well under way with their preview showings of their 1962 cars. A standard question to every industry executive at this time is: "What about prices?"

The standard retort is: "They have not yet been determined. Prices will be announced just prior to public sale of the new cars."

Sometimes this is true. Sometimes it stretches the truth considerably. Manufacturers as a rule know pretty much to the penny how much it costs them to build a car, even before the car goes into production.

This year, however, there is one big unknown factor — labor costs.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are deep in negotiations on a new contract with the United Auto Workers. Just this week the companies made their first economic proposals.

None of the companies was willing to put a price tag on its offer. But in wages alone it ran more than 25 cents per hour per worker over the proposed three-year span.

The exact cost of labor in an individual car is a closely guarded secret of the companies. The best they will say is that it is the major item.

The manufacturers by now have tentative prices for all of their 1962 cars. These are based on their best guesses as to what the eventual labor settlement will be.

If the guesses are accurate, prices may well stay near 1961 levels. If the union wins additional gains, the companies may well feel justified in raising prices.

HOLD THAT LINE

Months ago Henry Ford II told his negotiators they must do everything possible to hold the line on labor costs in order to avoid raising prices.

Louis Seaton, the General Motors vice president who directs their negotiations, said earlier this summer: "There is a definite danger of pricing ourselves out of the market."

Only time will tell. One thing is certain. When the new cars go on sale next month they will have price tags on them. Until then the guessing game is wide open.

Long Way Back From UP

Had Enough Bike Riding

LANSING (AP) — Pedaling a bicycle is the hard way to see Michigan, three Lansing youths who just completed such a tour admitted Wednesday.

Fred Moye Jr., David Lafurge and Patrick Ryan, Lansing Sexton High School seniors, said they spent $90 during a two week, 800-mile bicycle tour of the state. They used sleeping bags and tents to sleep in state parks or the yards of people who befriended them along the way.

Their parents drove the boys and their bikes to St. Ignace to start the trip. They pedaled to the foothills of the Porcupine Mountains before starting back to Lansing.

The youths discovered bicycles weren't allowed on the Mackinac Bridge but hitched a ride across on a cement truck. They had four flat tires during the tour.

"If we do it next year, we'll do it motorized," Moye said.

Skin Divers OK After Malady

Wind Tunnel Employed to Treat 2 Teen-Agers Stricken With Bends

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Two teen-age skin divers, who got the bends in a deep Missouri spring, emerged this morning from a makeshift decompression chamber in good condition.

Two doctors who stayed in the chamber with Thomas Hatcher, 18, and Creighton Calfee, 19, both of suburban Ladue, said both boys were "in very good condition."

The boys were put into a wind tunnel, normally used by McDonnell Aircraft Corp., to test aircraft and missiles, at 9 o'clock Wednesday night. They walked out at 6:17 this morning.

The youths were skin diving in about 180 feet of water when they had to surface quickly because of malfunction of equipment, the Missouri highway patrol said.

Urges 'Tax Penalty' on Stocks Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The President of the New York Stock Exchange today urged a House committee to approve lifting the "tax penalty" imposed on people who receive stock under federal antitrust divestiture orders.

G. Keith Funston was referring particularly to shareholders of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., who will receive the 63 million shares of General Motors stock which Du Pont owns but must distribute under an antitrust court ruling.

However, Funston said such tax relief should be extended to stockholders in all companies which might face similar divestiture orders in the future.

BUILDING DESTROYED—A wall collapses at the height of a four-alarm fire at the abandoned Curtis Sash & Door Co. in Sioux City, Iowa, Wednesday, bringing down nearby power lines and causing an interruption of service for part of the city. The block-long building was destroyed. One fireman was overcome by smoke during the blaze, but is recovering.

White House by Another Name Wouldn't Be Same

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everyone, it seems, would like the White House to be called the White House.

* * *

And so, the House Interior Committee decided Wednesday, that should continue to be its name.

* * *

Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., had introduced a bill to give the President's home the designation of a national monument. He held hearings on the bill as chairman of an Interior subcommittee.

* * *

Calling the White House a national monument, Rutherford reported, became a subject of levity. Nobody, he said, wanted the White House to be known either as a museum or national monument.

UNDER MONUMENT ACT

So, the full committee voted that in its legal description the White House "shall continue to be known as the White House."

* * *

The committee diligently deleted words referring to the executive mansion as a national monument. However, Rutherford said, the bill, as approved, gives the White House the status of a monument under protection of the National Monument Act.

* * *

Thus, White House furniture, fixtures and decorative objects would be protected by putting them under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service. The agency will be required to store at the Smithsonian Institution such objects as a First Lady may prefer not to use while occupying the mansion.

* * *

This provision had the backing of the present First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Rutherford said this would stop such things as finding a Madison table in use as a sawhorse in the White House workroom or barrels of Lincoln china broken in the basement.

TOWER SAVES ORPHANS IN TYPHOON DISASTER!

True Friend Island, a mission home for homeless South Korean boys, was directly in the path of Typhoon Sarah. To escape it, 200 children and many workers huddled for hours in a recently erected escape tower—and lived. The livestock and every other building in the area were completely washed away.

This life-saving tower, part of a settlement built expressly for the care of homeless youngsters, is the direct result of Americans supporting the Overseas Aid Program of their faith. While this particular endeavor is Protestant, all three great faiths—Protestant, Catholic, Jewish—maintain far-reaching programs. They provide clothing, food, medicine, jobs, education, tools and equipment to the millions in need.

These overseas programs must continue. They often provide the only hope to indigent millions. And they need your support.

Remember, it is the generosity of those like yourself that offers new hope where none now exists.

Flash Flood Blamed for Train Derailment

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A flash flood washed out a portion of the Southern Pacific Railroad's main line and derailed five engines and 17 cars of a freight train Wednesday 16 miles east of Reno.

* * *

A cloudburst washed out some 300 feet of track at Patrick, Nev., shortly before the freight train passed over the route.

The first two engines of the five-locomotive train were tipped on their sides. The other three engines and the first 17 cars are off the tracks.

Three trainmen were injured slightly.

'Free' Kenyatta Is Tied Down by Politicians

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Iomo Kenyatta, freed this week by the British to go anywhere he likes after nine years detention, finds he can't. Kenya's African politicians won't let him.

The 71-year-old nationalist leader put himself in that position by playing neutral in an effort to bring together two rival political parties — the Kenya African National Union (KANU) and the Kenya African Democratic Union (KADU).

The KANU secretary-general explained that there is an arrangement with Kenyatta under which he consults the two main political parties before he goes anywhere.

Kenyatta told them he'd like to attend a football game in Nairobi on Sunday. Leaders of the two parties said no, and suggested that he send a delegation to represent him at the game instead.

Meetings, Talks Try to Save Met

Goldberg 'Happy' Over Progress of Negotiators for 1961-62 Season

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations seeking to save the 1961-62 season of the Metropolitan Opera resume today on a hopeful note.

"The parties are moving," said federal mediator Jacob R. Mandelbaum after a meeting of negotiators for the opera and a union representing the 91 members of its orchestra.

* * *

Mandelbaum said Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, spark-plug of the renewed negotiations, was "happy" at the progress of the talks Wednesday. Mandelbaum had reported to Goldberg on the talks.

The opera had broken off contract talks with the union last Thursday and announced that a 1961-62 season was no longer possible.

The executive committee of Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians meets today before the negotiation session—presumably to consider management offers.

Swainson Favors Proposed U.S. Recreation Areas

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson has joined Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., in supporting proposed establishment of two national recreation areas in Northern Michigan.

* * *

Some inhabitants of the proposed Sleeping Bear Dunes Recreation Area in Leelanau County on northern Lake Michigan have protested the plan, voicing fears for their property rights.

Swainson, citing growing needs for public recreation facilities, said Wednesday in a letter to Hart that "Michigan is willing that its resources be used to meet this great national demand to the benefit of its own citizens and those of the entire nation."

Vanderbilt Will Leaves His Wife Third of Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)—Millionaire George Vanderbilt III made a will one day before he fell to his death from a San Francisco hotel.

The will, filed for probate in surrogate's court, was dated June 23.

On June 24, Vanderbilt, 47, died in a fall from his 10th floor suite in the Mark Hopkins hotel. A coroner's jury ruled the death a suicide, "motive, despondency over ill health." Vanderbilt had been suffering for years from chronic pancreatitis.

* * *

Under the will, she would get the income from a trust fund composed of one-third of the adjusted gross estate. She also was bequeathed the couple's ranch at Edgewood, Calif.

Horseshoe Tourney at Park Labor Day

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department will hold its annual Labor Day horseshoe tournament Sept. 4 at Oakland Park, a department spokesman announced today.

Deadline for entries in the event is 5 p.m. Wednesday. The entry fee is $1 per person per event and anyone living in Oakland County may enter.

Singles contests are slated to begin at 9 a.m. with doubles beginning at 2 p.m.

Film Director Overtired

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Veteran movie director Michael Curtiz is undergoing laboratory tests for fatigue at a hospital here. His physician said that Curtiz, who won an Academy Award in 1943 for "Casablanca," was admitted to the hospital last Sunday.

NCA Assured of Six Patrons During August

City Commissioners Robert A. Landry, John A. Dugan and Winford E. Bottom and City Manager Walter K. Willman will board a plane at Pontiac Municipal Airport Saturday morning to attend the annual meeting of the American Municipal Association in Seattle, Wash.

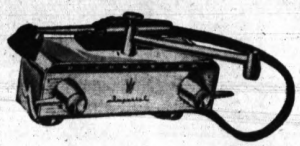

Willman and Landry will take their wives.

The meeting will be Aug. 26-30.

The regular commission meeting of Aug. 29 has been cancelled due to lack of quorum.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston and Commissioners William H. Taylor and Milton R. Henry left last week. All plan to return at Willow Run Airport Aug. 31.

Have Served 545 Hours at Pontiac General

Honor 12 Red Cross Youth Volunteers

Their 545 hours of service have been put in since April 15. One of the group is a Pontiac girl whose mother works at the hospital.

* * *

The others are members of the Future Nurses Club at Oxford High School and are all looking forward to careers in nursing.

Participating in the program were Mrs. W. C. Sproull, chairman of the chapter's gray ladies; Mrs. Bernice Mandeville, hospital Gray Lady chairman; and Mrs. Evelyn C. Hight, the group's sponsor.

Also taking part were Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator; Mrs. Irene McNamara, director of volunteer services and public relations; and Donald H. Carros, assistant administrator.

* * *

Navy Sending Local Man to University of Utah

A graduate of St. Frederick High School in Pontiac will attend the University of Utah in Salt Lake City this fall under the Navy's SEP program.

* * *

Electricians Mate 3.C Gary J. Sebaske, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sebaske, 191 E. Huron St., will see his tuition paid by the Navy for 3½ years.

The Pontiac seaman enlisted early last year.

He was recommended for the Navy's Scientific Education Program by the skipper of the nuclear submarine USS Halibut.

* * *

Sebaske will receive a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering with a minor in nuclear physics.

The regular 4-year term is being abbreviated through summer courses.

* * *

After graduation Sebaske is slated to go to officer candidate school for a line officer's commission in the regular Navy, when he hopes to return to submarine duty.

Now home on leave, Sebaske will report at the college Sept. 5.

Credit Cards for Teens Fading Out Rapidly

NEW YORK (UPI) — The initial enthusiasm for teen-age credit plans has cooled considerably across the country, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Biggest difficulty has been lack of response to the plans with many teen-agers using their parents' accounts. Some stores implied they've had payment troubles and were forced to drop the program, the trade paper said.

Radios Getting Small 'May Be Hard to Find'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Army Chief of Staff Gen. George H. Decker has predicted that increased miniaturization of electronic equipment will eliminate nine-tenths of the soldier's equipment load in the next 10 years.

"I do not anticipate that my successor in this time frame will be an automatic computer," Decker said in an article in Electronic Age. But he added, "It has been said that the biggest single problem facing the post - 1970 Army commander in employing his radio set will be—finding it."

The state flower of Wyoming is the Indian Paintbrush.

Pilot Glad to See Flashing Red Light

MOUNT SHASTA, Calif. (UPI)—For once in his life, Army 1st Lt. William H. Hines was glad to see the flashing red light of a police car intended for him.

* * *

Hines, a helicopter pilot, was on a flight from Ft. Lewis, Wash., to Sacramento, Calif., when he became lost in a snowstorm over Mount Shasta. A sheriff's patrol car, with its red light blinking, led Hines to a nearby high school football field when he successfully set the helicopter down.

West Gets Headache Over Attitude of Italy

By DANIEL GILMORE

ROME (UPI) — The West has another headache in facing up to the Berlin crisis.

Amintore Fanfani's government is still a staunch friend and ally of the West but the Christian Democrat premier is causing concern in more than one Western embassy with his apparent drift toward an attitude of "let's not be nasty or hasty with the Russians" over Berlin.

This tone was heard immediately after Fanfani returned from a visit to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow early this month.

It has grown louder as the Berlin crisis developed and is now out in the open in editorials appearing in "Il Popolo". This is the newspaper of the Christian Democratic party which dominates the government.

* * *

POSSIBLE MEDIATOR

The concern now is that Fanfani may be starting to think of Italy as a possible "neutral mediator" between the United States and Russia.

A few days ago, his newspaper said in a front page editorial that Khrushchev's language "is not always easily understandable" to all people. It suggested that the closing of the East-West Berlin frontier was perhaps just his way of "stepping on the gas" towards peaceful negotiations.

* * *

"Not for nothing," the newspaper said, had Fanfani himself warned Khrushchev against unilateral action on Berlin, and added:

"And it is for these considerations in view of the delicacy of the situation that the Western reaction is expressing itself in a firm but responsible way."

Again, the newspaper in an article on the seventh anniversary of the death of the Italian postwar leader, Alcide de Gasperi, stressed that he taught "patience."

"How many times," it said, "even before the strongest pressures he chose the road of patience, of hope . . ."

The newspaper quoted De Gasperi as once saying, "One does not always have to be right, it is necessary not to be wrong tomorrow."

The attitude caused the Catholic action newspaper, 'Il Quotidiano,' to note that Fanfani and the leftists were calling for "Western responsibility" over Berlin.

Did this mean, it asked, that he thought the present and past Western positions "irresponsible?"

"Those who applauded all the acts of firmness of the West, now applaud all the acts of bowing toward "Moscow" the newspaper said. Those who recommended relations only with the free world today congratulate themselves on commercial exchanges with the East — even knowing well that they serve political more than economic ends."

Five Lakes Ports Join Together to Seek Exports

DETROIT (AP) — Five major Great Lakes ports have joined hands in a campaign to promote the export by water of goods manufactured in the Middle West.

Representatives of the five cities — Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee and Toledo — announced a plan following a meeting here to discuss cargo movements from the lakes.

Ralph T. McElvenny, president of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., and chairman of Detroit's waterfront development committee, said the port officials agreed they must present a "united front" in bidding for more of the overseas market.

Emphasis in the campaign, McElvenny said, should be placed on the shipment of defense materials. He said the greatest part of such shipments are now being made to eastern and southern ports of call.

There are 93 lakes in Kosciusko County in Indiana.

Find 4 Bodies in Plane Debris

Helicopter Pilot Also Dies in Crash During 3-Day Search

POTTERSDALE, Pa. (AP) — The badly mangled bodies of four persons were found in the wreckage of a small plane Wednesday night, ending a three-day search marred by two helicopter crashes in which another man was killed.

Ground patrols of the Civil Air Patrol reported that the plane's wreckage was scattered over miles of underbrush in a heavily wooded mountainous section in this central western Pennsylvania area.

FOUR VICTIMS

A CAP spokesman said there was no doubt that the four victims—two men, a woman and a girl—were the same four who took off from Williamsport Sunday night, bound for Akron, Ohio.

They were tentatively identified as Joseph Milliken, 44, the pilot; his 14-year-old daughter Patricia; and Milliken's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Milliken, all of Akron.

* * *

Just before the bodies were reached, two helicopters, which had taken part in the search for the missing Piper Comanche, crashed in separate accidents.

A huge Army helicopter, returning to the U.S. Army Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna, went down in a heavy fog about two miles short of its destination.

A depot spokesman said the pilot, identified as Capt. Clifford F. Betts, 37, of Chicago, was killed. Two of his crewmen were injured.

* * *

The other helicopter crashed into a clump of trees and burned about 300 yards from where the plane wreckage was spotted. The crewmen escaped injury.

Ranger 1 Satellite Failure Pays Unexpected Dividend

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Scientists counted some dividends fro mthe Ranger I satellite today although it didn't probe as deep into space as intended.

The spacecraft, followed closely by the Agena "space platform" from which it was launched, is whipping around the globe every 91 minutes with a frustrated sun-sensing device.

The Agena—second stage on an Atlas-Agena booster rocket — was blasted into a so-called "parking orbit" Wednesday. It coasted through space until it reached a desired position from which to launch Ranger into a projected orbit reaching half a million miles into space.

* * *

But instead of firing for 11½ minutes as planned, the Agena ignited only briefly. This was just enough to separate Ranger from Agena, but not enough to increase its speed from 17,400 miles an hour to the necessary 23,800.

So the two vehicles, traveling close together, spun into near-earth orbits ranging from 105 to 312 miles above the earth.

* * *

Officials at first believed the test was a failure because Ranger was not relaying data as it sped far into space on a mission designed to study methods of launching future unmanned and manned vehicles to the moon and beyond.

* * *

But as telemetry data was analyzed, scientists reported the No. 1 Ranger experiment—an attitude stabilization system which seeks the sun—was performing perfectly under unexpected conditions.

'WOULD HAVE WORKED'

"If the launching had been normal," a project official said, "the spacecraft would be high above the earth and the attitude stabilization device would be able at all times to lock on to the sun and keep the vehicle on the proper course.

"But in the near-earth orbit attained," he said, "the craft is in sunlight half the time and in darkness the other half. During the sunlight portion of the orbit, our radio information tells us that the system is locking onto the sun perfectly.

* * *

"In the dark portion, the system tries desperately to find the sun, which is impossible to locate. The nitrogen jets which take their commands from the system are puffing away trying to orient the vehicle toward the sun. Once it returns to sunlight they zero in on the sun again."

* * *

The attitude stabilization system, being flight-tested for the first time, may be the key to guiding future space vehicles.

Wealthy Doctor Knifed to Death

Intruder Also Wounds Victim's Wife Critically in New York Suburb

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—A well-to-do Long Island physician was stabbed to death by a man who broke into his Tudor style home shortly before 1 a.m. today.

The victim's wife, also a physician, suffered critical stab wounds.

* * *

His wife, Dr. Frances Behrendt, 55, also was stabbed a number of times.

Police theorized that the assailant was bent on burglary and was surprised in the kitchen by the husband, who was carrying a cane, apparently for protection.

Police said that apparently nothing was stolen from the expensive house in this fashionable New York City suburb.

The husband opened the door from the kitchen to the porch, officers said, and the intruder lunged at him with a knife. After killing him, the assailant slashed the wife. She ran upstairs, leaving a trail of blood, and telephoned the Garden City Medical Service.

Police said neighbors heard screams about the time of the knifings, but none reported it to police.

Wayland Man, 20, Dies in Crash on U.S. 131

WAYLAND (AP)—Duane Smith, 20, of Wayland, was killed Wednesday night, state police said, in a two-car crash on old U.S. 131 about 2 miles north of Wayland.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Emery Stora, 18, also of Wayland.

Police said the southbound Stora auto was struck by one driven from the opposite direction by Kenneth Derengowski, 19, of Chicago, who reportedly was unable to return to his proper lane after passing several cars. The two drivers escaped serious injury.

Life insurance statisticians say the accident death rate at ages 65 and over has decreased from 224 per 100,000 in 1949 to 164 in 1958.

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Washington has become the first state in the nation to start action on a food-rationing plan for a national emergency. The 750,000 heads of household in the state probably will register for the program the week of Nov. 6. Gov. Albert Rosellini ordered the registration.

Contend Riders Created Tension

But State Witnesses Admit Accused Did Not Provoke Trouble

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The State of Mississippi will try to prove today that "Freedom Riders" created dangerous racial tension here.

The defense was expected to counter that the riders had no such intention, and even if they had, there were enough officers to prevent a breach of the peace.

* * *

Prosecution witnesses in Hinds County Court testified Wednesday that there was fear of violence at transport terminals, but, under cross-examination, they admitted the riders did nothing to provoke trouble.

TESTIMONY IN CASE

The testimony, before an all-white jury, was in the case of Henry Thomas, 19, Howard University student from St. Augustine, Fla. Thomas, a Negro, was arrested May 24 with the second bus load of riders from Montgomery, Ala. He was convicted the next day by a municipal judge on charges of breach of peace in that he disobeyed an officer's order to move out of the white section of a segregated waiting room.

He was one of about 180 freedom riders—Negroes and whites—who appealed their City Court convictions to County Court.

The state put on 11 witnesses Wednesday.

* * *

W. C. Shoemaker, reporter for the Jackson Daily News, said he felt some people inside the Trailways bus station where Thomas was arrested "intended to do violence," but that police had the situation under control.

Under cross-examination, he said the Freedom Riders left the bus and entered the white waiting room peaceably without gestures, threats or shouts.

It's a Poisonous Situation

Dirty Rats at White House

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rats on the grass, alas.

All manner of beasts may romp upon the greensward by the White House without giving rise to cries of alas, but not rats. And if it weren't for the rest of the menagerie, there might not be so much trouble with rats.

White House caretakers, who conduct pest control on a grand scale, say there used to be a lot of rats on the lawn because of the squirrels.

But when the new frontier moved in and installed a couple of dogs, Charley and the late arrival from Russia, Pushinka, that put an end to the squirrels.

But the President has a 3-year-old daughter, Caroline, with a consuming interest in the fauna about her, and some where along the line there came a dozen white ducks who waddle merrily about the White House pond.

Caroline finds it great fun to feed crumbs to the ducks, and the ducks make a great commotion over it. The rats, unfortunately, find the crumbs too much of a temptation and despite the dogs, they are coming back in force.

HAD RABIES SHOTS

Rats carry rabies. Both Charley, who is summering with the President's family at Cape Cod, and Pushinka, who remained behind with the President, wear heartshaped blue tags signifying they have had rabies shots.

But the White House caretakers get very alarmed over the whole thing.

The workmen spread rat poison around and gas the rats in their holes by the trees, and every once in a while they knock off a possum or a raccoon in the process.

But, according to one disturbed caretaker, it doesn't solve the problem because "other people don't take care of their own rats."

It seems that most of the rats causing the difficulty live in the Treasury Department and the old State Department buildings, and scurry across to the White House for their meals.

IRS Chief Claims U.S. Losing Billions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mortimer M. Caplin, head of the Internal Revenue Service, says the government is being cheated of $4.9 billion in taxes every year, and that gamblers figure largely among the cheats.

Caplin made the statement to a newsman to set the record straight on testimony he gave Wednesday in Senate rackets hearings. At that time he cited a $25-billion figure as the Treasury Department's estimate of "total gaps from all sources."

What he intended to convey, Caplin said later, was that $25 billion of taxable income was going undeclared. He told a newsman the tax on the $25 billion would amount to $4.9 billion—a figure he did not use in his testimony.

Mexico to Close Ports to All Nuclear Vessels

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's territorial waters and ports will soon be closed to all nuclear-powered vessels, Marine Undersecretary Oliverio F. Orosco Vela said Wednesday.

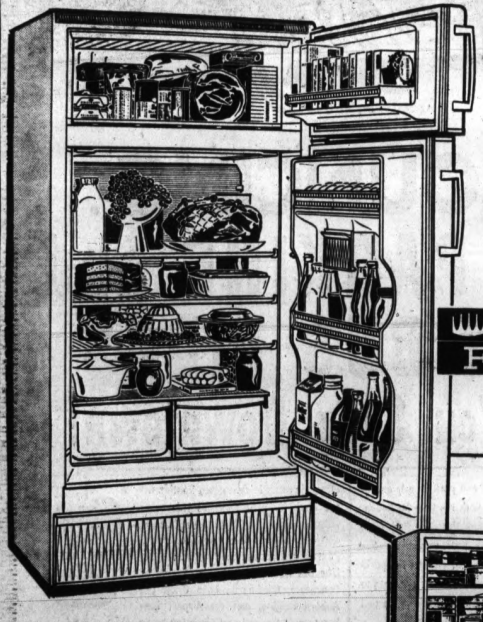

The official said the ban will continue until maritime nations fix the responsiblty of owners of nuclear vessels in case of accidents.

IT'S A PICNIC — The economical picnic ham fits the budget, satisfies the taste and demands little preparation. Serve a fully cooked picnic for dinner on the porch. Hot sour cream sauce will grace the meat, whether you heat or don't heat the ham.

Fully Cooked Picnic Ham Is Summer Work Saver

When outdoor pleasures and gardening chores let your mind stray from meal planning, fully cooked meats put you back on the scene in a hurry. A fully cooked picnic, the cured and smoked pork shoulder roast, is ready as soon as you remove the wrapper, or, if you desire, it can be heated before serving.

The picnic, brown sugar cured and smoked has the same flavor goodness as ham. Because it is one of the more economical roasts, the picnic is a good buy for everyday meals. You can also purchase picnics in the cook-before-eating style but for summer days the fully cooked style helps to keep your kitchen cool.

The size of your family and the number of meals you wish from the roast will determine the size picnic you purchase. Bone-in picnics are available from 4 to 10 pounds in weight and you should plan on ½ pound per serving.

The variety of encore dishes from the leftover picnic, Picnic Potluck for example, will make a larger picnic most practical. The two most trusted words in meat on the picnic label are your guarantee of the finest quality.

Martha Logan, home economist for the world's leading meat packer, suggests a hot sour cream sauce to be served with the slices of hot or cold picnic.

Sliced Picnic With Sour Cream Sauce

4 to 6 pound fully cooked picnic
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped fresh tomato
1 cup dairy soured cream
2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Melt butter in a skillet. Panfry chopped onion for 5 minutes. Add green pepper and tomato and cook for another 5 minutes. Blend in sour cream and mustard. Heat 3 to 5 minutes. Serve hot with slices of hot or cold picnic. Makes 1¼ cups sauce.

Picnic Potluck

4 cups cubed fully cooked picnic
2 cups mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
1 cup dairy soured cream
¼ cup shredded cheddar cheese

Combine potatoes, onion, and green pepper. Pat into a greased 2-quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from oven. Place picnic on top of potatoes. Spread picnic with sour cream and sprinkle cheese on top. Bake another 5 minutes or until cheese is melted. Makes 6 servings.

Coax an Appetite

Regular meals — maybe five or six small ones a day — may help the underweight person to gain weight. If the appetite is poor, it takes time to gradually improve it so that needed calories can be eaten. Home economists at Michigan State University say underweights often have to force themselves into building a good appetite and increasing their food intake.

Quaint Superstition

It was the custom long ago in certain sections of the British Isles for the bride and groom to eat a slice of bacon to guarantee a year of happiness, the American Meat Institute reports. Today's bright bride serves bacon for breakfast as a beginning for a happy day.

Butter the outside of cheese sandwiches generously; toast in a heavy skillet on both sides. Serve with currant jelly for lunch.

Carrots Are Well Treated

New carrots, golden yellow, are packed with vitamin A and minerals. They are loaded with eating pleasure, too. So let's enjoy them raw, boiled, or in delicious combinations with other foods.

Sauteed Fresh Carrots and Apples

2 large cooking apples
12 medium fresh carrots
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Core unpeeled apples and cut into ¼-inch crosswise slices. Wash and scrape carrots and cut into thin crosswise slices. Melt butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add apple slices and brown on one side. Turn, add carrots and sprinkle with sugar and salt. Cover and cook until tender. Makes 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

Mashed Carrots and Potatoes

1½ cups mashed cooked carrots
2½ cups unseasoned mashed potatoes
1¼ cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1¼ teaspoons minced onion
3¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon ground dill seed
¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
1/16 teaspoon ground cayenne pepper

Combine mashed carrots and potatoes. Add 1 cup shredded cheese, minced onion and seasonings. Turn into a 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle remaining ¼ cup cheese over the top. Place in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) to melt cheese and brown the top, about 30 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 5-6 servings.

Sandwich Garnish

Serve a pineapple skewer salad along with a ham on rye sandwich. Make a slit in a slice of canned pineapple and thread on a bamboo skewer, ripple fashion, along with a half dozen bite size chunks of summer melon. Cantaloupe, watermelon or honey dew team up favorfully and handsomely with pineapple. Arrange skewered salad on romaine lettuce leaf and garnish with sour cream. Serve on sandwich plate.

Never forget to cover a yeast mixture while it's rising!

Smooth Curry Dressing for Crab Melon Salad

During these hot summer months when appetites lag and the homemaker is hard put to think of what to serve, suggestions for new and different dishes are eagerly welcomed.

Japanese King Crabmeat Honeydew Delight is a sophisticated change for your hot weather menu — delightful as a main luncheon dish when entertaining your bridge club or for dinner on the patio with your husband!

The delicate sea-fresh flavor of the canned Japanese king crabmeat is complemented beautifully by the cool sweetness of the honeydew, while the crisp almonds give added texture. The fluffy mayonnaise dressing is sparked with curry — and the cool green of the melon contrasts pleasantly with the pink and white king crab chunks.

When you serve this interesting seafood and melon salad with hot rolls and frosty glasses of iced tea, jaded summer appetites will perk up in a hurry!

King Crab Honeydew Delight

2 6½ ounce cans Japanese King Crabmeat
2 small honeydew melons
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
4 tablespoons slivered almonds
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon salt

Remove cartilage from crabmeat gently and reserve large chunks for topping. Cut melons in half; remove seeds. Scoop out centers and make melon balls or cut into bite-size chunks. Scallop edges of melon shells with knife or scissors.

Combine melon pieces with crabmeat, celery, minced onion and slivered almonds. Combine whipped cream, mayonnaise, curry and salt to make dressing. Fold about half of dressing into crab-melon mixture. Pile into melon shells.

(To serve two, use one can Japanese King Crabmeat, one melon and halve amounts of celery, onion and almonds called for. Dressing may remain the same.)

Just Scrape Mold Off

When a slight mold develops over cheddar cheese, it can be cut or scraped from the surface. Home economists at Michigan State University say the cheese will not be materially affected.

Wine Is Good With Seafood

Seafood and wine are such good companions they deserve to be combined more often than they are. In this easy shrimp-and-crab casserole, California Sauterne adds the distinctive flavor. To accent it still further, pour glasses of the same wine, well chilled, when the casserole is brought to the table.

Baked Seafood Sauterne

½ cup Sauterne, Chablis or other white dinner wine
Dash Tabasco
1 (10½-ounce) can cream of chicken soup
3 green onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 (4½-ounce) can deveined shrimp
1 (7½-ounce) can crab meat
1 (3-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, drained
Topping

Stir Sauterne and Tabasco sauce into undiluted soup. Chop onion, including part of top. Combine onion, parsley, drained shrimp, crab and mushrooms with soup and mix lightly. Turn into a shallow baking dish or individual baking shells. Sprinkle with topping.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until thoroughly heated and browned on top, about 20 to 25 minutes. Serve at once.

Broil Shrimp in Sherry Wine

Sherry wine and butter — two ingredients used lavishly in gourmet cooking — blend deliciously into a savory sauce in the Sherried Shrimp described in the recipe below from the Shrimp Association of the Americas. The zest of garlic also adds to the continental flavor. Even amateur gourmet cooks can serve shrimp this way. The preparation is simple, and the cooking time is only five minutes. (For greatest time-saving you can buy shrimp already shelled and deveined.)

Sherry wine is stirred into melted butter and then poured over shrimp, garlic salt is sprinkled on, and the dish is ready for the broiler. Topped with a grind of peppercorns and garnished with crisp parsley, Sherried Shrimp makes a perfect palate-pleaser for summer meals.

Sherried Shrimp

2 lbs. fresh or frozen shrimp
½ cup butter (1 stick)
¼ cup dry sherry wine
Garlic salt
Peppercorns
Parsley sprigs
4 slices bread, toasted

Use large shrimp, if possible. Clean, but do not cook. Wipe dry, and arrange in shallow baking dish. Melt butter in small saucepan; add sherry wine. Pour sauce over shrimp, and add garlic salt lightly to taste.

Place dish in preheater broiling compartment 3 inches below flame; broil 5 minutes, or until shrimp turn pink. Remove from heat; grind peppercorns over shrimp on toast, garnished with parsley sprigs.

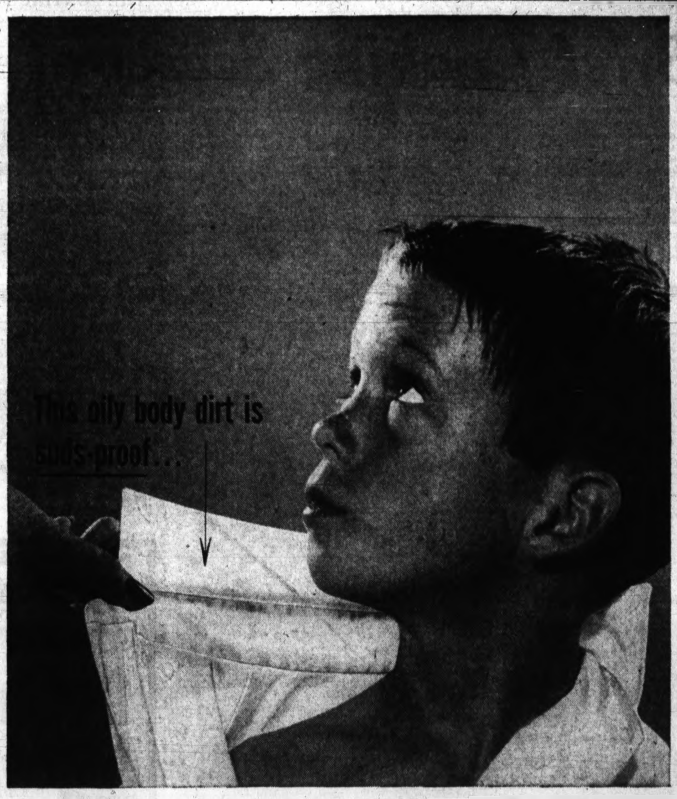

Banana Topped Toast Makes Good Breakfast

When you want a different way to start the day just right, try Banana Maple Toast. Eat it outdoors, if the weather permits! It's wonderful for a low fat diet, since bananas contain almost no fat at all.

To make this tasty breakfast dish, toast 1 slice of bread—either white or whole wheat. Slice 1 ripe banana over it, cover with 1 teaspoon maple syrup and sprinkle with cinnamon. There will be no more "breakfast skippers" after you serve this exciting eye-opener!

Topping on Beans

Mix chopped onion, pickle relish, sliced olives, pickle chips or cheese with baked beans before heating. Or mix pickle relish with mayonnaise and put small mounds on top of heated beans. Run under broiler just before serving.

Clorox gives you the only kind of cleaning power that gets out suds-proof body dirt...right in your washer!

You'll never have really clean washes till you realize this: Oily body dirt takes a special kind of cleaning power. The Clorox kind. Weaker bleaches just won't do. Detergents can't get rid of it without tiresome hand-treating. Suds-proof body dirt is too stubborn to be floated away or covered up. It must be dissolved. Adding Clorox to your suds dissolves it...right in your washer.

Brief Cooking Secret of Flavor

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If only all the good fresh foods didn't come at one time! I know that we have excellent frozen fruits and vegetables the year round, but they simply can't compare with the fresh-out-of-the-garden variety.

Take summer squash and green beans, for instance. With a minimum of cooking, they're delightful. This seems like a good place to make a plea for proper cooking techniques.

Almost any fresh vegetable and many of the frozen ones are best when cooked quickly and briefly in the smallest possible amount of liquid. I put a little butter or margarine into a skillet, add the prepared vegetables and only enough water to keep them from burning. In 5 to 10 minutes the vegetables are cooked crisp tender. You keep most of the minerals and vitamins that way too.

Here are a couple or recipes for this kind of cooking. Tabasco sauce is added to the vegetables for a new flavor interest. Use a light hand with this fiery sauce.

Summer Vegetable Skillet

¼ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ cup crisp-cooked green beans, 2-inch pieces*
½ cup sliced crisp-cooked zucchini*
2 small white onions, cooked and sliced

Melt butter in skillet. When butter is melted, but before it is hot, stir in Tabasco. Continue to heat butter. Add vegetables and cook, tossing gently, until heated through, about 5 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Note: ½ cup cooked cauliflowerettes* or ½ cup cooked peas* may be substituted for green beans or zucchini in above recipe.

Sauteed Eggplant Tabasco

½ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon Tabasco
1 medium eggplant, sliced ½-inch thick

Melt butter in skillet. When butter is melted, but before it is hot, stir in Tabasco. Continue to heat butter. Add eggplant slices and cook about 8 minutes or until tender, turning until brown on both sides. Yield: 4 servings.

Fresh broccoli, wrapped in bacon and sprinkled with cheese, needs only a few minutes under the broiler. It will be a change from the usual broccoli with Hollandaise sauce.

Bacon Bundled Broccoli

2 bunches fresh broccoli
6-8 slices bacon
Melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Trim broccoli and wash thoroughly; if any stalks are unusually large make several lengthwise gashes almost through to flowerets so stems will cook as quickly as tops. Cook, covered in small amount of boiling salted water until just tender.

Partially fry bacon over medium heat until lightly browned; drain on absorbent paper. Arrange broccoli in 6 to 8 bundles or servings. Wrap each serving with bacon and place on oven proof dish.

Pour melted butter over all; sprinkle with grated cheese and broil 4 to 5 inches from source of heat for 3-4 minutes, or until cheese is browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

★ ★ ★

If you're going camping or even just cooking out on your barbecue grill, this dinner in a coffee can will appeal to you. Although the vegetables used are specified, you can let each person make up his own version with the vegetables he prefers. This is a fun recipe.

Barbecue Dinner in a Can

4 strips raw bacon, cut in halves
4 1-pound coffee cans with lids
2 pounds ground beef
All-purpose barbecue sauce
2 stalks celery, cut in 2-inch pieces
4 carrots, peeled and cut in 2-inch chunks
2 onions, peeled and cut in quarters
2 ears corn, cut in thirds or halves
Seasoned salt
Butter or margarine

Arrange two pieces bacon in bottom of each can. Pat out ½ pound ground meat to fit bottom of each can. Season with salt and pepper, place over bacon and brush well with barbecue sauce.

Top meat in each can with 2 pieces celery, 2 carrot chunks, 2 onion quarters and a piece of corn. Sprinkle all with seasoned salt and dot with butter or margarine.

Close lids of cans tightly and place on barbecue over medium hot coals for 50-60 minutes. Serve meals in the cans with tossed green salad and melons for dessert. Makes 4 servings.

Summer Salad Has a Sparkle

Choose "Sparkling Lime-Date Mold" for an upcoming luncheon party or for a family treat. Lime juice, lime rind, carbonated lemon-lime beverage and sour cream are combined with fresh California dates for a refreshingly different summer salad mold. Preparation takes only a few minutes, then your refrigerator does the rest of the work.

Sparkling Lime-Date Mold

1 envelope plain gelatin
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon grated lime juice
(7 oz.) bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage, chilled
½ cup dairy sour cream
1 cup sliced fresh dates

Mix gelatin, sugar, and salt well. Add boiling water and stir to dissolve gelatin. Add lime rind and lime juice. Cool. Gently stir in carbonated beverage. Chill until thick. Fold in sour cream; then fold in dates. Turn into 1-quart mold and chill until firm.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pancake batter should not be so thick that it needs to be spread after it is dropped on the griddle.

Gets Continual Inspection

Perhaps you've never seen bags of onions, carrots, oranges or other fresh fruits and vegetables labeled with the statement "Packed under the continuous inspection of the U. S. Department of Agriculture," along with a USDA grade identification such as "U. S. No. 1," or "U. S. Extra Fancy."

Actually, there is relatively little of such consumer grade-marked produce available in Midwest retail stores. However, in some areas of the United States, the trend is definitely in this direction.

Under the Continuous Inspection Service of USDA, a produce packing company pays the cost — and gets the services of a Federal-State inspector who is an expert on grades and quality. He runs a quality control check on the entire packing operation for the produce company.

It's the inspector's job to see that the onions labeled "U. S. No. 1," or apples labeled "U. S. Extra Fancy," for example, really meet those USDA grade standards.

The inspector shows sorters how produce should be graded and which defects to throw out. He check-weighs packages to see if they're within the weight tolerances, and checks the final packages for grade defects and appearance.

This constant supervision by a Federal-State inspector eliminates the human tendency to grade easier when the produce is expensive. The inspector isn't concerned with prices and is immune to the pressure of market conditions.

This means that the family food buyer can shop with confidence when the package of produce carries the USDA grade mark and the statement "Packed under the continuous inspection of the U. S. Department of Agriculture."

Fruit Kebobs Dipped Into Juice Mixture

Mix ½ cup mayonnaise and one 6-ounce can strawberry-lemon punch concentrate, thawed. Whip one cup heavy cream and fold into mayonnaise mixture. Chill.

Cut assorted fresh fruit into bite-sized sections and string on cocktail picks. Serve from a mound of crushed ice with small bowl of dressing for dipping in center. Serve with assorted cheese crackers.

FRESH FROM GARDEN — Quick, top-of-the-stove cooking will keep you and your kitchen cooler on blazing days. Crisp-cooked fresh garden vegetables have a new and delicious flavor when sauteed in butter seasoned with Tabasco, the liquid red pepper.

Unusual Spaghetti Sauce Contains Seedless Raisins

Camp cooking is fun if you plan your menus carefully before leaving home. Spaghetti is a popular entree which is easy to do on a camp stove. To add new interest to the spaghetti dress it with this different kind of sauce. The idea for it was borrowed from the well-known Mexican Picadillo — a sort of hash or mincemeat — that is used for many of their delicious dishes.

Tangy sweet California raisins, a wisp of cinnamon and a touch of vinegar are the secrets of the excellent flavor of this sauce. By using dehydrated onion, garlic and parsley this sauce is extra easy to prepare away from home.

Bread sticks carry well to camp and can be easily reheated over a camp stove. Fresh apples and oranges and small packs of raisins are ideal fruits to take along on camping trips. Little packs of raisins are a quick energizing snack.

Spaghetti
With Raisin Picadillo Sauce

½ pound (1 cup) ground beef*
1 small onion, chopped*
1 clove garlic, chopped*
2 tablespoon cooking oil
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup seedless raisins
½ (1 pound) can tomatoes
1 pound spaghetti
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Shredded parmesan cheese

Cook beef, onion and garlic in oil until meat is lightly browned. Stir in cinnamon, vinegar, salt and chopped raisins. Add tomatoes, cover and bring to a boil. Lower heat and simmer 25 to 30 minutes.

Cook beef, onion and garlic in frying platter. Place butter and parsley in center; mix gently. Turn sauce onto spaghetti and serve with a generous sprinkling of cheese. Makes 8 to 10 servings—2½ cups sauce.

*Or, use chopped leftover cooked beef; or, 2 tablespoons instant minced onion and ⅛ teaspoon garlic powder mixed with 2 tablespoons water before browning.

Doughnut Snack

Calling all teens! For 'tween time eating, try this DOUGHNUT SANDWICH. Slice a baker's plain doughnut in half, crosswise. Spread one half with 2 tablespoons cottage cheese, the other with 1 tablespoon orange marmalade or fruit preserves. Then reassemble, sandwich style.

Cabbage and Mushrooms in Casserole

★ ★ ★

Cabbage and Mushrooms

6 cups shredded cabbage (1½ pounds)
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup flour
1½ cups milk
1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms
1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup buttered bread crumbs and paprika

Cook onion in butter about a minute; stir in flour; add milk and mushrooms (including liquid). Cook and stir constantly until thickened and boiling. Add salt and pepper.

Turn cabbage into shallow baking dish; pour sauce over; sprinkle with buttered crumbs and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven about 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Chilled and Lovely: Combine 2 cups canned apple sauce with ¼ cup chopped candied ginger. Chill for several hours or overnight. Serve over vanilla ice cream.

Soviet Embassy Works Overtime to Make You Think Otherwise

Anti-Americanism? You Won't Find Trace of It in Mexico

Editor's Note: City editor James W. Williamson of the San Antonio Light traveled 3,200 miles through Mexico to sample the feeling of United States' southern neighbor toward North Americans. His conclusions are in the following article.)

By JAMES W. WILLIAMSON
San Antonio Light

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)— If there is anti-American feeling in Mexico today, it is buried somewhere in the snows of Popocatepil, 17,000 feet above the plains of Montezuma.

In the minds of American businessmen living in Mexico, Mexican government officials and even Pemex service station attendants, any impression that Mexico is anti-American or pro-Communist represents unfair and illogical thinking.

Having just completed a 3,200-mile auto ride through the country ending in Acapulco, we agree with them.

Accompanied by our 12- and 13-year-old niece and nephew and sometimes a guide, we took the route down through Monterrey, Saltillo, Matehuila, San Luis Potosi, Queretaro, Mexico City, Toluca, Cuernavaca and finally Acapulco.

* * *

In the evening we interviewed Mexican newspaper editors, businessmen and students. We spent many enlightening hours talking to three members of the Comite Norteamericano Pro-Mexico, an organization composed of the heads of American firms with billions invested in Mexican industry.

In all our talks, there emerged the virile nationalistic pride of the Mexican people. Therein lies the country's strongest deterrent to communism.

'WHY COMMUNISM?'

What about communism, we asked a Mexican student who hitchhiked a ride to Mexico City's outlying university city. His answer: "Why communism? We had our revolution in 1910. Now we are too busy growing."

We asked him about Communists among the faculty and students.

"Sure we have them," he answered, "Don't you have them in the States? They are loud here but they must be loud because they are so few. On occasion we have shouted them down. When it becomes necessary we will club them down. Remember this is our country."

* * *

The fact remains that communism has had success in Mexico and strangely, the fall guy has been the American tourist.

DRIVING A WEDGE

Lee M. Roy, president of Pan American World Airways of Mexico and of the Comite Norteamericano Pro-Mexico, told us: "These agitators are making every effort to disrupt the friendship between Mexico and the United States, to frighten tourists out of coming here and alarm investors.

"Their efforts surely will be repeated since this is a long-term campaign to cause a break between our two countries. And if you believe them you will be playing into the hands of the Communists."

* * *

The Soviet Union has trained propaganda siege guns on all of Latin America and Mexico is a prime target.

The Soviet Embassy in Mexico City has a staff of 140 with a budget of $70 million.

The U.S. Embassy staff has 110 employes and a budget of $875,000.

The Soviets were happy at two events which kept some American tourists and their dollars out of Mexico. A Mexican legislator made a speech announcing himself for Castro and paid demonstrators representing themselves as students staged an anti-American parade.

* * *

Hardly noticed in Mexico, these two events were widely reported outside the country.

The pinch was felt immediately by the middle class, the group most responsive to this source of income. But the situation is improving.

Along with its natural beauty and the fabulous accommodations it has built and is building for its visitors, the country has a message which it sends urgently across the Rio Grande: "We welcome you, we want you, we need you."

Be Tactful but Ask for Quiet

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Several months ago new neighbors moved into the apartment next to ours. They are forever giving parties and these parties go on far into the night. As the walls between the apartments are very thin we can hear the singing and laughing of the guests.

This is very disturbing and keeps us from getting to sleep. Will you please tell me how we can tactfully handle this situation without causing unpleasantness?

A: On a night when the noise is especially loud you could go over and say, "I'm very sorry to interrupt you, but could you be a little more quiet? My husband has to get up very early in the morning and the noise is keeping him awake."

* * *

Q: I was happily married 14 years when my husband died very suddenly. I loved my husband dearly and his death was a great shock to me.

Now to add to my distress, a friend tells me that I have to give up his name and also discontinue wearing my wedding ring since I am no longer married. Will you please tell me if she is right?

A: No, she is not right. You certainly have the right to his name — meaning you call yourself Mrs. John, not Mrs. Mary — for so long as you remain a widow. And the wedding ring is also yours to wear for life — or until you remarry.

* * *

Q: My daughter is marrying a man from another state. His parents are coming here for the wedding. As we live in a small apartment it will be impossible for us to put them up.

Is it up to us to make the reservations for them at the hotel and also to pay the hotel bill? Will you please tell us what is customary under these circumstances?

A: If the bride's family are well-to-do, they may take a number of rooms in a nearby hotel for the bridegroom's family. If they are of moderate means, the groom's family is expected to pay its own expenses.

* * *

For the correct procedure of a second marriage, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Abby Advises Jobholder

Thick Skin for Sensitive Soul

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 9 years, and have five children. My husband has worked only 7 months in the past two years, and I have had to find some way to help earn some money.

ABBY

I was fortunate in finding a job I could do in my own home, but it is getting me down.

My job is to telephone people and very courteously ask, "What kind of automobile do you drive?"

I am NOT selling anything. I am merely seeking information. I have had the receiver slammed down on my ear.

I have had people tell me to go to h—, drop dead and several other insulting things.

Please put a kind word in your column for women who have to earn a living this way. I get so hurt at times I could cry.

TELEPHONE JOB

DEAR TELEPHONE JOB: While there is no excuse for being insulting, you must admit that when a woman is bathing her baby, or is elbow-deep in cookie dough, and she rushes to the phone to hear, "What kind of automobile do you drive?" she has cause to be a little annoyed.

"Don't take these rebuffs personally. Either develop a thick skin, or find another way to make a living. A sensitive soul can't last long in the telephone-calling business.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I sometimes wonder if my husband is all there. We have been married for eight years, and are both in our late twenties.

He is a good husband and father, and has never given me any reason to distrust him, but he reacts peculiarly to certain situations.

For example, when I am pregnant, he is the one who wakes up sick in the morning. If one of the children gets hurt, I tend to the injury and he cries right along with the child.

When our oldest boy had his tonsils removed, my husband had the sore throat. Is this sort of thing normal, or do you think I ought to send him to a psychiatrist?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You are married to a sensitive, sympathetic, and perhaps frustrated actor. Cherish him.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Needs Advice," who was troubled because her 4-year-old son insisted on sleeping with a cuddly doll, reminded me of our own son who, at age 5, was still dragging around a ragged old blanket.

A neighbor of ours had a baby. I told my son that I wanted to call on the lady and see her new baby, and take a present for the baby. I hinted how nice a little "blanket" would be to keep the baby warm.

My son tok the hint and said he would give the baby HIS blanket. We wrapped it in lovely gift paper, and tied it with ribbons. The next day my neighbor graciously accepted the "gift" after having been warned in advance by telephone call.

Sincerely,

PROBLEM SOLVED

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Name for Baby Causes Crisis

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — We have been playing a little game at our house called "Naming the Baby." I call it a game although it is more like an argument.

Any number can play, and occasionally do, but this is essentially a contest, or clash of wills, between my wife and me. We are what might be described as the "team captains."

* * *

In order to play, it is necessary for the participants to have deeply rooted, and sharply divided, opinions as to what constitutes a fitting name for an infant, sex as yet unknown.

Possibly because my parents tagged me with what is generally regarded as a nickname, I believe strongly in giving children distinguished, or distinctive or at least polysyllabic names.

OUTERBRIDGE HORSEY

Two names that I have long admired belong to Outerbridge Horsey, a state department employe, and Stringfellow Barr, a professor. In fact, I once resolved that if I ever had a son I would name him Outerbridge Stringfellow.

This philosophy of nomenclature conflicts, putting it mildly, with that held by my wife, who is a firm advocate of family names, or naming children for a relative.

* * *

Any relative, hers or mine, who has managed to stay out of the penitentiary is, in her view, worthy of this honor.

When our first daughter was born, we gave her a name that I thought was an acceptable compromise. But later my wife began claiming that she had been in a weakened condition and unable to bargain forcefully.

NEGOTIATIONS BOGGED

Negotiating over our second daughter bogged down completely. Finally, in desperation, we each picked out a name, unacceptable to the other, and put them down on the birth certificate.

Ever since, my wife has called the child by one name and I by another. This is confusing to the child and probably accounts for the fact that she falls down a lot.

* * *

Now, several months in advance of the anticipated event, we are at it again. We have each quit conversing and just spend our evenings hurling names at each other.

"Susan, Anne, Margaret, Elizabeth," my wife will say when I walk in the door.

"Desdemona, Lucretia, Eudoria, Fluvanna." I will retort.

The next night, we switch to boys' names.

TRY TO MEDIATE

Now and then, friends and neighbors will drop in to try to mediate the dispute, but both sides remain adamant—persevering on my part, obstinate on hers.

We will, I fear, wind up doing what some distant kinsmen of mine did in a similar situation. They finally agreed to go out for a drive and pick a name off the first billboard they passed.

* * *

As it happened, the first poster they saw was a "No Smoking" sign, the last four letters of which had been torn off. And that is how a fourth cousin of mine got the name "Nosmo."

Fill Chair of College of Regent

Women of the Moose, Pontiac Chapter No. 360, business meeting was called by Mrs. Richard Rohrer, senior regent of the local chapter. Some 22 members were present Monday night.

Mrs. Rohrer announced the appointment of Mrs. Harold Finn to the vacant chair of college of regent. The group complemented Mrs. Richard Dawson and her coworkers for the annual picnic plans and congratulations went to Mrs. William Cummings for ticket sales at the affair.

Also participating in the meeting was Mrs. Perman Huston, recorder, with her report on the "Progress of the Moose." Mrs. Huston was a delegate to the recent convention. Women of the Moose announced that of the 14 scholarships awarded last year, they gave nine.

The group has urged blood bank donations at the Moose Home from 2 to 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Those interested may contact Mrs. Huston at home.

* * *

Besides giving her monthly report, Mrs. Lawrence Healip, publicity, announced plans for an ice cream social Sept. 13 at the Healip's Manson Drive home. The 5:30 p.m. event will be open to the public. The group's next meeting is set for Sept. 11, publicity chapter night.

More details will be available at the September meeting at the Sugden Lake Road home of Mrs. James Williams, in Milford.

The Jaycettes are presently working on their student exchange project. The group is sponsoring Kertin Moller who will arrive from Sweden tomorrow. Miss Moller, who will stay with the Harold Venies of Union Lake, will be a guest at one of the auxiliary's future meetings.

Advises 'Tall Sal'

A tall, slender girl should avoid dresses that have long, tight sleeves and snug fitting skirts. Party dresses with bouffant skirts are her best bet.

Woman Suffrage Gaining Fast

Editor's Note: The following woman's view is the first of two dispatches on women's suffrage. This one is a report on suffrage worldwide. The woman's view for Friday will discuss the political gains of U. S. women, who on Saturday will mark the 41st anniversary of enactment of the 19th Amendment granting suffrage.)

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — New Zealand was the first nation to grant suffrage to women 68 years ago. In the intervening decades, suffrage has made such gains globally that today only 10 countries restrict women's vote or right to hold office.

The United Nations Commission on the status of women has released its 16th annual report on suffrage worldwide, showing that since its last study, 21 countries, most of them newly independent, have extended suffrage to women.

* * *

The commission said that since 1945, when the U.N. Charter was formed, 65 countries have "confirmed, granted or extended full or limited political rights to women."

* * *

About half, the commission explained, already had taken some action on women's suffrage prior to adoption of the U.N. Charter.

The latest country to give suffrage to women is Paraguay, whose government on July 5, 1961, declared that "women shall have the same political rights and obligations as men."

Now, every nation in the Western Hemisphere has enfranchised women.

The U.N. Commission said addition of Paraguay brings to 92 the total number of countries where women vote and are eligible for election on an equal basis with men.

One of these, Brazil, makes voting compulsory for women if they are in "gainful occupations." The 92 include Russia and other Iron Curtain countries, at least five of which granted suffrage before women won it in the United States 41 years ago.

The 10 countries where there is no national women's suffrage and where women are not eligible for elective office are Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq, Jordan, Libya, Lichtenstein, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia Yemen and Switzerland.

In Yemen and Saudi Aribia, neither sex has electoral rights.

In Nigeria, women may vote and hold office in the eastern and western regions. In the northern cameroons, which now is a province of the northern region of Nigeria, women voted during a plebiscite held in 1961 under U.N. auspices.

* * *

Swiss women are not permitted to vote in federal elections or be elected to federal office. But three cantons (states) permit them to vote and hold office. And they may vote and hold office in some municipalities.

Pioneers of women's suffrage on a national level were New Zealand, Australia, other British-colonized countries, and some of the Scandinavian nations.

But Wyoming was ahead even of these — it was still a territory in 1869 when it gave women the same right to vote as men.

New Zealand enfranchized its women in 1893; South Australia in 1894; West Australia in 1899; the Commonwealth of Australia in 1902; Tasmania, in 1903; Queensland and Victoria, in 1905 and 1908. Canada acted at the same time as the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland in 1918.

* * *

Sweden as early as 1863 gave women voting rights in municipal elections, but limited the privilege to the unmarrieds—who paid a certain amount of taxes. It was 1919 before full voting privileges in all elections were granted.

* * *

Norway had limited women's suffrage by 1901; Finland, by 1906.

Twenty-two states and the then-territory of Alaska had granted suffrage to women of the United States by 1918, two years before enactment of the 19th Constitutional Amendment Aug. 26, 1920.

It stated "the rights of citizens . . . to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

December vows are planned by Harriet Jean May, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Baron of Orchard Lake and the late Herman P. May, to Monte C. Alkire, son of the Clifford Alkires, also of Orchard Lake. Her fiance attends Michigan State University.

HARRIET JEAN MAY

Announcing the engagement of their daughter Sally Ann to Clark McCall Wareham are the Raymond Collins of Detroit. His parents are the Harry Warehams of Willow Valley, Orchard Lake. Seniors at Albion College, the couple plans a December wedding.

Teens Say They're Not So Misunderstood

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

There is a widespread belief among adults that if you teen-agers get into trouble, little or big, all of you will eventually withdraw behind this never-varying excuse:

"You just don't understand us."

Are teen-agers our misunderstood generation?

We wondered. To find out, we asked 873 teen-agers whether they feel misunderstood.

We found out that not as many of you feel this way as most adults would believe, but enough of you have this feeling that it is easy to understand the adult attitude. In fact, the misunderstood youngster seems to be in the distinct minority.

We also learned that the majority of you have the good sense to try to rectify misunderstandings with adults through discussion, and that a large portion of you accept the blame for misunderstandings.

FATHERS LESS UNDERSTANDING

Roughly one in every five teen-agers feel that either Mother, Dad or their teacher doesn't understand them. Mom apparently is the most understanding, Dad next, and Teacher the least of the three.

Of the 873 teen-agers, 17.4 per cent said their mother does not understand them (22.8 per cent of the boys, but only 12.7 per cent of the girls).

In some cases, the youngsters say this lack of understanding is a general thing: "She refuses to accept the fact that I am no longer a child," says a 17-year-old Brooklyn girl.

And in others, it concerns specific things. "She doesn't understand why I stay out late at night, why I spend too much money, why I like cars," says a 16-year-old Kansas City boy.

Almost 22 per cent (20.9 per cent of the boys and 22.8 per cent of the girls) say their fathers do not understand them.

"He expects too much of me," is the complaint of an 18-year-old girl from Edmonds, Wash. "I can't go to him with my troubles. He never sees my side of things."

'EXPECTS TOO MUCH'

This is a common complaint — a father looking for perfection in a child who doesn't feel equipped to attain it.

Others say their fathers are old fashioned, or impatient. And there is one Kansas City 17-year-old boy who says his father "doesn't entirely understand why I want to be a minister of Christ."

Teachers lack understanding, say 19.2 per cent of the youngsters while 66.7 per cent say they do understand and 14.1 per cent simply don't know.

★ ★ ★

In case after case, the youngsters explain — as did 17-year-old Mary Poritz of Philadelphia: "It isn't so much that teachers fail to understand, but rather that they haven't the time to understand me and the other hundreds of students they meet with daily."

And that, after all, is a pretty understanding answer.

A total of 27.7 per cent of the youngsters (39.7 per cent of the boys and 17.2 per cent of the girls), say they are the most at fault when a serious misunderstand does occur. Some 10.9 per cent say both sides are generally at fault, and 7.9 per cent say it depends on the circumstances. Only about 10 per cent blame their serious misunderstandings on other people, while 43.3 per cent don't know who to blame.

TAKES THE BLAME

Kathryn Purdy, 17, of Canandaigua, N.Y., one of those who takes the blame for the misunderstandings, has a solution for them. "A teen-ager in time will become more mature and most of the misunderstandings will be solved," she says.

David Schwartz, 17, of Philadelphia, says open discussion is the way to cure misunderstandings with parents. And Dan Oran, 17, also of Philadelphia, says the way to solve teacher-pupil differences is to "abandon the idea that a cordial teacher-student relationship is 'apple polishing.'"

Over half of the youngsters — 63.9 per cent — say they try to solve their misunderstandings with grownups through discussion.

These Cinnamon Rolls Are Quick to Make

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cinnamon rolls made with yeast that can be ready for eating in less than 2 hours are a specialty with Mrs. Reuben Sjulstad. Her mixing method is different from most yeast recipes.

★ ★ ★

CINNAMON ROLLS
By Mrs. Reuben Sjulstad

½ cup margarine
½ teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg
4 cups sifted flour
1½ cups milk, scalded tablespoon sugar
1 package yeast
sugar cinnamon
brown sugar

Scald milk and let cool to lukewarm. Add sugar and yeast and let stand until yeast dissolves. Add egg. Combine margarine, salt and flour in a bowl and mix like pie crust. Add milk mixture and mix well.

Turn out on floured board and roll into a rectangle. Brush with melted butter or margarine, if desired, and sprinkle well with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up like a jelly roll and cut into inch-thick slices. This may be done easily with a piece of thread or string.

Grease a pan well and sprinkle with brown sugar. Place rolls, cut side down, on sugar. Let rise until double. Bake 40 minutes at 375 degress. Tip out of the pan at once.

We Use Many Methods to Gain 'Certainty'

(Muriel Lawrence is on vacation. This is the second of three articles which will appear during her absence, taken from "The Quest for Certainty" by Drs. Emmanuel K. Schwartz and Alexander Wolf. The material first appeared in the January 1959 issue of the AMA Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry. Reprinted with the permission of the authors and publisher.)

(Excerpt 2 from "The Quest For Certainty" — by Drs. Emanuel K. Schwartz and Alexander Wolf)

People have many methods for dealing with uncertainty and attempting to achieve certainty.

One neurotic way is to withdraw from or avoid the uncertain situation — for example, the person who will not make a public address because of his uncertainty about himself or how his material will be received; or the person who will not get married because he cannot be certain of the outcome.

Another neurotic way is to force oneself, regardless of the reality to submit to the anxiety and uncertainty of the situation hoping at last to be desensitized to the threat of uncertainty.

Such a person might be one who, even though physically ill, finds himself unable to face the reality of physical illness and forces himself to undertake activities that his present resources do not warrant.

★ ★ ★

Equality and inequality are frequently fused with certainty maneuvers. There are persons who feel certain only if they are top dogs, if they are in a superior position, and who feel threatened at the possibility of equal achievement by another. They must experience everyone else as compliant, submissive.

★ ★ ★

Then there is the person who is certain if he IS in a leading position and feels secure only if the other is top dog, makes the decisions, exercises the control. Both are neurotic maneuvers to obtain certainty.

The more realistic approach would be to tolerate uniqueness, difference — one of the aims of psychotherapy.

There seem to be persons who must always be blameless, be perfect, be right and always fix the blame and wrongness elsewhere. Some parents continuously blame the child under the guise of trying to fix "responsibility."

They are really fixing guilt in the child under the pretext of trying to establish a sense of responsibility in him.

A more appropriate way of becoming certain is to be selective about what one can do, what one cannot do — and to struggle.

★

Based upon a realistic evaluation of the real facts in the external situation and a realistic one of one's own resources and potentials, a happy integration and matching of real abilities and real demands lead to more certain conclusions as to what the outcomes will be within certain and inevitable limits.

Young Wives Today to Teach Daughters

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Last year more girls in the United States married at 18 than at any other age.

I predict the daughters of these 18-year-old brides will marry at a later age than their mamas who tripped down the aisle in 1960.

Why? Because the mamas will see to it. That's why. They will know from experience that 18 is a little young for taking on the responsibilities of marriage.

Even if their own marriages succeed (and many will fail) they realize soon enough that in giving up their right to a carefree girlhood they short changed themselves.

If they also gave up the opportunity of further education, they not only disappointed their parents but also short-changed their children.

PENDULUM SWINGS

And, so, they will do everything in their power to keep their own daughters from rushing into marriage at 18. They'll be against dating too early, against steady dating in the early teens. They'll know better than to hurry their daughters into growing up.

And so the pendulum will very likely begin to swing away from early marriage, as mothers who married young, themselves, do their best to see to it that their daughters aren't in quite such a big rush to marry and settle down.

By age 25, many of 1960's brides who married at 18 or younger will have realized that they could have had their cake and eaten it, too. That is, that they could have enjoyed their girlhood a few more years and still have had plenty of time for marriage and motherhood and responsibilities and hard work.

And they'll do their best to see that their daughters realize that fact before they say "I do," instead of afterward, when it is too late.

Scales Not Important

Judge Figure by Measure

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Women sometimes make the mistake of judging their figures by their weight instead of their measurements. They decide whether they have good figures by what the scales read, rather than what the tape measure tells them.

Of course, your poundage is important, also, but bony structure makes such a difference in the amount you should weigh that it must be taken into consideration.

If you have a 36-inch bustline, a 25-inch waist and 36-inch hips, you cannot have much of a weight problem. If you weigh more than you think you should, it is probably because you have a medium to large frame.

Very often women who do not wish to lose weight have out of proportion measurements. Exercise is the answer to this. One woman may have gently curved hips, but rolls over the girdle. Another may have a good figure except for a protruding abdomen. Still another may have hips which are shelflike in the back.

If you are going to measure yourself to see how you stack up, do it in the following manner. Measure around the largest part of your bust. Either do so without a bra or be sure to wear the same one when you measure again.

★ ★ ★

Next, measure the waist at the natural waistline. When taking any measurements, try to pull the tape measure fairly snugly, but not tightly.

★ ★ ★

Measure the abdomen around the largest part of the abdomen. Be sure that the tape passes straight around, that it does not dip or rise at any one point. Keep it parallel to the floor.

STRAIGHT AROUND

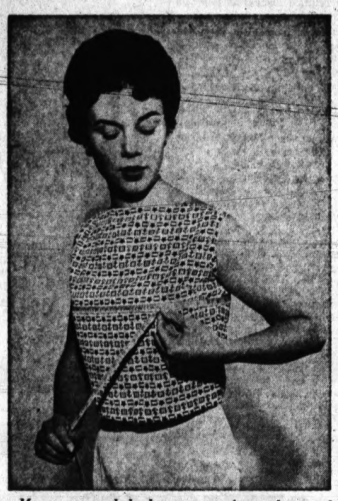

The next measurement to take is the hipline. Take this in the same way, straight around.

Measure the thigh at the largest part.

There should not be more than two inches difference between the bust and the hips, and the waist should be 10 inches less than the hips.

This is just a general rule to guide you. Individuals differ in bony structure and some of today's popular figures have much smaller waists and much larger busts.

Measure around the largest part of your bust, and wear the same bra when you measure again.

MRS. KENNETH R. CHAFFIN

The Kenneth R. Chaffins, who were wed Saturday evening in Grace Lutheran Church, will reside in Ferndale after a honeymoon in Yellowstone National Park and Wyoming. Rev. Richard C. Stuckmeyer performed the candlelight ceremony.

Parents of the former Ellen Marie Marks are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marks of Monticello Avenue.

Attendants wore pastel organza frocks with arched necklines, full-gathered peplum skirts, and matching cluster rose headpieces. Maid of honor Shirley M. Gruber and bridesmaids Mrs. Bryen L. Marks, sister-in-law of the bride; Virginia Hunter and Judy Buelus wore pink, blue, yellow and aqua, respectively.

Yellow glamellias and carnations accented Mrs. Marks' aqua shantung sheath dress styled with bouffant peplum skirt. The mother of the bridegroom, attired in beige lace, wore pink glamellias and carnations.

Judith Dillard Marries

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Monroe of West Walton Boulevard annouce the marriage of their granddaughter Judith Dillard to George Fike, son of Mrs. Martha Fike of Detroit and the late Mr. Fike.

★ ★ ★

The couple exchanged vows Saturday evening at Detroit's Grace Presbyterian Church, Karen Frank of Sparta attended as maid of honor and John Fike of Detroit was his brother's best man.

The newlyweds will reside in Detroit where the new Mrs. Fike attends Henry Ford School of Nursing.

Sorority Board Meets

The executive board of Zeta Chapter, Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority met at the Mohawk Road home of Mrs. Sam Hale Monday evening. Mrs. Hale, chairman, presented program plans for the coming year.

Fund-raising projects for the third year of a four-year scholarship for an MSUO student were announced as rummage and candy sales by Elizabeth Halsey.

Mrs. John Borsvold, delegate, and Margaret MacKenzie, alternate delegate, spoke briefly on the International Convention of the sorority held earlier this month in Denver, Colo. Both Mrs. Borsvold and Miss MacKenzie will give a full report to the members at a dinner meeting Sept. 7 at Fox and Hounds Inn.

But Trouble May Come From Outsiders

Atlanta Makes Wise Plans for Quiet School Integration This Fall

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta's first public school desegregation, scheduled for next week, poses a series of diversified problems involving four schools in such wide-by different areas that they might as well be in separate towns.

Atlanta officials are hopeful that no violence will accompany the transfer of 16 Negro students from all-Negro schools to the four previously all-white schools—but they are taking no chances.

Intensive preparation followed the desegregation order handed down by federal Judge Frank Hooper and his approval of next week's first step as legal acceptance of his order.

Trouble, if it comes at all, is expected from outsiders, not the students.

Officials refuse to say which of the four schools might be a potential storm center but it appears that the two high schools lying in the southern and poorer sections are more likely to attract undesirable outsiders than those in the northern half of the city.

Brown High School, a 30-year-old structure in Southwest Atlanta located only a short distance from a low-rent housing project and near a former hotbed of the Ku Klux Klan, appears to be the most susceptible to outside influence.

IN EXCLUSIVE AREA

In sharp contrast, Northside High School, a modern building in one of Atlanta's most exclusive neighborhoods, appears less likely to face trouble than any of the schools which have integrated in the South in the seven years since the U.S. Supreme Court struck down the "separate but equal" doctrine of public education.

Murphy High School, located in Atlanta's Southeast, is in a middle-class neighborhood but only a few blocks from the fringes of one of the city's toughest areas.

Grady High School, oldest and physically largest of the four schools, is in a section of the city where once fine homes have been converted to apartments. It is only a few blocks from the start of Atlanta's main business section.

Three officials have been hard at work to prevent the possibility of trouble. They are Mayor William B. Hartsfield, a racial moderate who is retiring this year after 24 years at Atlanta's helm; city school Supt. John Letson, a quiet-spoken but firm educator who came here from Chattanooga just a year ago; and Police Chief Herbert Jenkins, a tough, dedicated law enforcement officer.

* * *

Jenkins has assigned specially-trained squads to protect each of the four high schools. Patrol wagons will be standing by to cart off anyone who tries to interfere with the peaceful operation of the schools. Additional police and an armored car loaded with tear gas bombs and shotguns will be standing by in a central location.

But Jenkins emphasizes that these are emergency measures which he does not foresee needing.

"I am very optimistic that things will go off very smoothly," he said. "But, I have found that the best way to avoid trouble is to figure on the worst—and plan accordingly."

While Jenkins has been preparing to stop trouble if it should occur, Hartsfield and Letson have been working just as hard to convince the citizens and students that trouble should never begin.

They have addressed numerous civic groups and public meetings, stressing the importance that Atlanta show the world an unruffled face on integration day. All Atlanta high school students attended a series of seminars last spring at which the subject was thrashed out from all possible angles.

A counselor at Brown said the students here "were very receptive." She said the idea of competing against the other three schools in calmness of acceptance was instilled. "Our students were told Oxnaboro will be watching you," she said.

There have been reports of scattered agitators passing out hate literature and making efforts to stir up trouble. These are the same tactics, and some of the same people, that set off violence at Little Rock and New Orleans. Atlanta police are reported watching closely.

Shelters, Then and Now

BATAVIA, N.Y. (UPI) — There soon will be a touch of the 20th century alongside a Revolutionary War era landmark in this city in western New York.

The board of supervisors has authorized construction of a model fallout shelter on the lawn of the Holland Land Office museum, which was built early in the 1800s and contains many relics more than 200 years old.

Some West Berliners Keep Jobs in East Zone

AP Photofax

RELATIVES TURNED BACK—A West Berlin woman consoles her crying daughter after they were refused entrance to East Berlin to visit the woman's sick mother. Man at the right also tries to calm the two as they walk away from the Communists' concrete wall which divides the city at Bernauer Strasse. Some West Berliners have managed to hold their jobs in the East sector but few Easterners can travel to the West zone.

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — About 12,500 West Berliners were drawing their pay from East Berlin two weeks ago, but between 1,500 and 2,000 have switched to jobs in West Berlin since Communist barricades went up across the divided city.

About 4,000 West Berliners still commute to the East each day—theatrical people, shop, office and actory workers.

★ ★ ★

Most of the others on Red payrolls are employes of the Communist-run railway system whose jobs are in stations and yards in the West. They rarely cross over to East Berlin except to collect pay checks.

★ ★ ★

The Communists created a labor shortage in West Berlin when they barred some 80,000 East Berliners from crossing the border to jobs on the Western side. But with a labor shortage of their own, the Reds made special arrangements for West Berliners who work in the East.

NO SPECIAL PASS

The daily commuters can cross over without special passes required of other West Berliners. They are subject only to the inconvenience of an identity check and an additional transfer on the subway or elevated trains.

★ ★ ★

Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist chief, has invited Westerners working in East Berlin to move there. But a Western official said he has yet to hear of anyone taking up the invitation.

Some 1,500 of the commuting workers are actors, singers and musicians in the Reds' heavily subsidized theaters and opera houses.

★ ★ ★

The best known is Walter Felsenstein, director of an East Berlin opera house, the Komische Oper. His controversial productions, often with a tinge of Marxist message, have won prizes and prestige for the East German Communists.

USES A MERCEDES

Most of the daily commuters to East Berlin are shop, office or factory workers. After the war they found the sector border to be drawn arbitrarily between their homes and their work, and in the tough times just after the war they took both jobs and housing wherever they could find them.

Ignore Feeler From Castro

U.S. Diplomat Was Only Being Polite in Hearing Guevara's Inquiry

HAVANA (AP)— Fidel Castro's regime has admitted sending out a feeler to President Kennedy for truce talks. The White House gave it the brushoff.

Cuba's economic czar Ernesto Guevara made the approach to presidential aide Richard Goodwin last Friday in Uruguay at a cocktail party after the Inter-American Economic Conference.

Guevara told a radio-TV audience Wednesday night that he informed Goodwin, one of Kennedy's Latin-American experts, that "Cuba is ready to talk" about solving differences.

Guevara said he told Goodwin Cuba "wants to remain within the hemispheric community." But he said he emphasized the Castro regime is determined to maintain its socialist political and economic systems—systems branded by Washington as communistic.

Goodwin told friends he met Guevara by chance at a party given by a Brazilian diplomat.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen the meeting "had no political significance." Salinger said it was "just a case of two men meeting at a reception and one of them being polite enough to listen for a few minutes to someone he met at a party."

Charge 4 Firms Rigging Prices

Antitrust Suit Filed Against Producers of Carbon Dioxide

NEW YORK (AP) — The government filed a civil antitrust suit today in federal court against four corporations which manufacture carbon dioxide, charging that they fixed prices.

★ ★ ★

The suit was filed against General Dynamics Corp., Olin Mathieson Corp., Air Reduction Co. and Chemetron Corp. Eight other firms were named as coconspirators but not as codefendants.

Carbon dioxide is used in the manufacture of dry ice, in refrigeration, soft drinks and missile manufacture.

The government charged that government agencies have been "prevented from receiving 'competitive bids and have been forced to pay artificially fixed prices for carbon dioxide."

★ ★ ★

The government asked the court to enjoin the firms from "allocating business, fixing prices, rigging bids, suppressing commerce and exchanging information, bids, prices, terms of conditions."

★ ★ ★

The government also asked the court to compel the four companies to tear up the present price schedules and replace them with new ones in 60 days.

Jackie Gleason Anxious to See 'Little Old NY'

PARIS (AP) — Jackie Gleason bade Paris adieu Wednesday after five months of movie making.

★ ★ ★

Married 'A Good Boozer'

Lauren Bacall Back in Filmland

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lauren Bacall, looking long and lovely, is back in town with a new husband and a new life. But not for long.

THOMAS

The widow Bogart is now Mrs. Jason Robards Jr. She came to Hollywood while her bridegroom finished "Tender Is the Night."

But a return to her old haunts didn't temper her view of the movie town.

"Some people think I'm bitter about Hollywood," she commented in her hotel apartment. "I'm not bitter. I'm realistic.

"I was in quicksand before I left this town. If I was to continue to function as an actress, as a woman and as a mother, I had to leave. I did, and it was the greatest thing that ever happened to me."

She went east with her two children by Humphrey Bogart. She did "Goodbye, Charlie" on the stage — "They loved me, hated the play." And in the Broadway swirl she met Robards.

GREAT ACTOR

After an international quest for a marriage license, they wed last month in Mexico. The new Mrs. Robards Jr., who speaks mildly on no topic, said her husband is not only a great actor (most critics agree) but "a helluva guy."

He also is a good boozer.

"Aren't all the good ones?" she asked. "Jason does everything intensely. He works hard and he plays hard. He hasn't learned to relax yet. I've got to teach him that he doesn't have to keep going at such a furious pace.

"I have a pretty good background with boozers. I married one of the best when I was just a kid. That was quite a baptism of fire, with drinkers like Bogie, (Mark) Hellinger, (Charles) Butterworth, (Robert) Benchley and Johnny McClain.

FINDS 'SOLUTION'

"I knew I couldn't last with that bunch if I didn't keep up with them. You know how it is with drunks: they start giggling over their own private jokes. If you remain sober around them, it gets to be a crashing bore.

"But I knew if I tried to keep up with their drinking I'd get deathly ill. I had to find a solution."

Urge Drivers Extend Labor Day Weekend

LANSING (AP) — Michigan motorists are advised to avoid being on the roads during the "death days" of the Labor Day weekend by extending their end of the summer holidays.

The suggestion came from Secretary of State James M. Hare, who said motorists can avoid the congestion and danger of the usually bloody holiday by taking an extra day or two of vacation on either or both ends of the weekend.

★ ★ ★

"Our researchers can prove that fatigue caused by driving too many miles in too short a time is a major factor in many holiday fatalities and crippling accidents," Hare said. "Overloaded highways filled with drivers in a hurry, is another."

Clothes Snatcher Victim of Snap Judgment

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Wanda Lane of Des Moines called police the other day to report that clothing she valued at $50 had been stolen the night before from the clothes line at her home.

A few minutes later she called back and asked police to cancel her report. She added: "A good Samaritan took the clothes down and left them in a basket on the back porch."

If No Help to World, They Don't Hinder It

Citizens, on the Whole, Are Courageous and Honest

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — This is a stupid thing for a column writer to admit, certainly—but the sun is high, God is in his heaven, my husband is placidly scalloped around a contour chair, and a spirit of confession overwhelms me. . . .

I sincerely like most people. And I'm fiercely devoted to the world they live in.

* * *

It is a monstrous mess, this world. I'm just bright enough to observe that, and as a writer the very thought of it probably should transform me into a ball of yeast, fermenting and upheaving with angry young ideas. Instead, I remain hopeful.

* * *

And not all of its citizens are courageous, fine and honest, although I'm deeply convinced that most of them try to be. And those few who don't try—I still can't hate them.

I just avoid them, a bit reluctantly, as I'd walk out of a tropic sun when I knew I'd had enough and a little more exposure might hurt.

What brought to mind this attitude was my reading recently of the latest literary explosion of John Osborne, Britain's angry young genius who has put down his most bitter attack yet (but he's still maturing) upon his country.

In an open "letter of hate" toward his countrymen (and "seven out of 10 Americans"), Osborne wrote vitriolic accusations against the government and the people, concluding "and there's little left in my own brain but the thoughts of murder for you."

'I FELT ANNOYED'

Reading his entire philosophy of hatred, I felt at first annoyed, then uneasy and, finally, relieved. This brilliant battler against society and its evils, real or self-imagined, had succeeded in making me feel—as all angry young men hope to make people-likers feel—aroused, unsettled, thoughtful, concerned.

He could not make me hate, but in the end he made me thankful that there are people, like himself, capable of hating—because it is the haters who can shake up the human race and change it for the better, or sometimes the worse, but in either case keep it from stagnating.

* * *

We comparatively nonangry ones (and that category, I believe, includes the great optimistic majority) owe the honestly angry ones a great debt: They keep us froth dying dully of contentment.

* * *

I shall never forget a lengthy conversation I had some time ago with John Osborne's opposite in the playwriting world, William Saroyan.

He admitted that "I do like the human race, I must say, or I'd leave it—although I admit the human race is in trouble."

* * *

Saroyan said he approves of people with the capacity to loathe ("loathing is a good thing") because hatred makes ideas grow.

"But when I find people who loathe themselves, as well as the world, I say they should leave it."

LEARN FROM FAILURE

"Good people," he continued, "are good because they've come to wisdom through failure. We get very little wisdom from success, you know. Success makes a fool of you, but failure can come only from great effort. One who doesn't try cannot fail and become wise."

* * *

But he had tried "very hard," Saroyan said, so his conscience was clear. He had tried being angry. And he had felt frustrated. And he had come out of it wiser and happier.

* * *

"In the profoundest sense," he concluded, "this is my fortune: As a kid I felt I must change the human race. Now I know I'm not going to make much of an impression.

"But at least, as I grow older, I have the comfort of knowing I won't hinder it."

* * *

When I heard that—as when I read Osborne's denunciation of his world—I felt very old indeed. Very old and very lucky.

On His European Tour Buses, That Is

Briton Wants to Keep Yanks Moving

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Paul Revere were still racing about, he'd have a new British movement into the onetime colonies to herald.

Actually, the movement is into nothing more than the potential American travel market — and the motor coaches are all overseas, and will stay there.

Providing the leadership for the invasion is affable Lord Mancroft, a former member of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet and chairman of Global Tours, London.

The 260 tour buses operated on the European continent by Lord Mancroft's organization carried some 65,000 vacationers last year on tours ranging from five to 49 days. Only a small number of the patrons were Americans.

GO AFTER AMERICANS

Until a year ago the few Americans who took Global tour heard about them and purchased their tickets through a Canadian agent.

But an affiliate office was then opened in New York to go after American business in earnest.

Lord Mancroft, in the U.S. on a short visit, said his organization hopes to raise the number of American customers to 5,000 this year — a five-fold increase over the first year of going after the U.S. market.

The all-inclusive fare from London (including transportation, first class hotels, meals and tips) averaging $12 a day has won grudging admiration even from some competitors.

KEEP COST SAME

Pressed as to whether the European countries could be done for that tariff, Lord Mancroft smilingly noted:

"If you are a teetotaler, you can really do it for $12 a day."

* * *

What type people take the tours which range over most of the European countries and down into Turkey and the Holy Land. Lord Mancroft put them into four categories:

—The fairly comfortably off financially.

—The middle aged and older who prefer someone handling arrangements for them while traveling.

—The first-time visitor abroad. (Those on third and fourth trips tend to drive themselves.)

—The professional and white collar classes.

"It's a jolly good way to go," he said. "If any mistakes are going to be made, you aren't going to be the one to make them."

Lord Mancroft was quite outspoken on his desire to see more Europeans "repay the compliment" you have been paying us for 25 years" and come to the U.S. for a visit.

"People over here don't realize there's quite a lot of money knocking around in Europe," Lord Mancroft said. "We must break down the idea that the U.S. is not a travel area."

Wooden Bricks May Provide New Industry

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Bricks made of Southern Illinois wood may provide this area with a new industry.

* * *

Plans are under way to produce several thousand wood bricks from native timber for testing and eventually to build a model house with the new material.

A Wichita, Kan., industrialist, William L. Graham, has organized a firm called Private Enterprise, Inc., which backs small businessmen in 24 countries in novel enterprises. He is interested in the project.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Why shouldn't Babe Ruth's home run record be broken?

We said it before, amid protests from some of the old timers, and we would dare to reiterate that there are and will be greater ball players than Ruth, despite sentiment.

Today, Mickey Mantle is that player. Years from now it will be someone else.

Mantle or his teammate Roger Maris are certainly on their way to hitting 60 or better, and personally we hope the "Mick" does it, although we feel Maris will.

Ralph Kiner, the Pirate home run slugger of a few years back, gives an explanation as to why Maris' chances are better.

"Anyone with the slightest understanding of baseball can see that Mantle complements Maris like Lou Gehrig backed up Ruth. The result is that Maris gets more pitches to hit than Mantle. Pitchers will figure why put another man on base for Mantle to drive in?"

One notch higher in the batting order is another factor in Maris' favor.

If there was a choice, we would like Mantle to do it. The powerful Yankee has had a great baseball career long before reaching his present prime years.

He is more acceptable as a comparison to Ruth than Maris. Mantle runs better, fields better and throws better than Ruth ever did. Also, anyone who can stand up there and poke those tape measure homers from the right or left side leaves a lot of pitchers wondering where they can find a weakness. (Unless they want to throw at his knees).

To cause a few more eyebrows to rise among the Ruth clan, the argument about the more livelier ball today compared to 1927, is also a lot of bunk.

One person scoffs at this, and he should know, is Edwin L. Parker, president of the Spalding company which has been making baseballs for many decades for the Major Leagues.

"Baseball structure remains exactly the same as it was 35 years ago," Parker said, "if Mantle or Maris break Ruth's record it will be because of their ability, not because the ball is livelier."

Another fact, which has proven true in all sports, is that today's athlete is bigger and better as a result of superior training and coaching methods.

They're breaking records in all sports. There isn't a track or swimming record set in 1927 which is still standing. Red Grange's rushing record in the Big Ten ended in 1953. Hank Luisetti's basketball records have long fallen by the wayside.

This is the year, we hope, that Ruth's much too-exalted 60 will be broken. We cast our vote with Mantle to be the new king of swat.

2-Run Homer by Tribe 2nd Sacker Whips Bengals

Mossi Victim of Blast as Detroit Bows, 3-2; Rocky Raps No. 34

CLEVELAND (AP) — Detroit's Rocky Colavito got his 34th home run of the season last night but Cleveland's Johnny Temple got his third and that was enough for the Indians to beat the Tigers 4-2.

The insult was the worse because the New York Yankees defeated Los Angeles and regained their three-game lead over the Tigers.

Colavito's clout came in the fourth and tied the score at 1-1. But with the score still knotted at 1-1 and two out in the fifth, Temple, who has shown little prowess previously for collecting round trippers, stepped to the plate and blasted one into the left field stands at the 320 foot mark with Vic Power aboard and made it 3-1. The Tigers never caught up.

The loss ended a five-game winning streak for the Tigers, who easily trounced Cleveland 8-1 Tuesday night in the opener of their three-game series. The victory snapped Cleveland's four-game losing string.

After a scoreless first two innings, the Indians had a big chance in the second when Chuck Essegian singled and John Romano and Bubba Phillips bunted, their way on to load the bases.

Detroit evened it up in the fourth when Colavito hit his homer into the left field stands with two out. Norm Cash then took a called third strike.

Cleveland's big fifth inning followed. Detroit closed the gap to 3-2 in the seventh when Cash walked and moved to second on a wild pitch and Chico Fernandez scored him with a single.

The Indians made it 4-2 in the eighth when they loaded the bases on Jim Piersall's single and two walks. Power squeezed home Piersall on a bunt. Five of the Tribe's 11 hits were bunts.

Indian righthander Barry Latman needed relief help from Frank Funk to record his tenth win against three losses. Lefty Don Mossi (13-3), lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, was the loser.

Maris Misses No. 51 but His Triple Wins

By United Press International

Roger Maris fell a few feet short of his 51st homer Wednesday night, but his 10th inning triple drove in the tie-breaking run and the New York Yankees went on to score an 8-6 win over the Los Angeles Angels.

With Billy Gardner on base in the 10th, Maris slashed a hard liner to the 412-foot mark and against the outfield wall. Had the ball been a few feet higher, it might have been his 51st homer. The home run king scored later on a wild pitch.

Bill Skowron, who drove in four runs on a single and a three-run homer, led the Yankees at bat as Mickey Mantel also failed to get a four-bagger.

Neither of the starting pitchers was around at the finish. Whitey Ford left after four innings with the Yanks trailing 6-1. But the Bronx Bombers pushed over four runs in the sixth, three on Skowron's 22nd homer, and that signalled the end of Angel starter Ryne Duren, who had struck out eight men in the 5 1-3 innings he worked.

Luis Arroyo, the fourth New York hurler, was credited with the win, his 11th against 3 losses, while Jim Donohue was charged with the loss, his 6th defeat against 4 victories.

Camilo Pascual pitched a two-hitter for his fifth shutout of the year to give the Minnesota Twins a 4-0 win over the Chicago White Sox. Pascual, who scored his 12th triumph, pitched one-hit ball over the last 7 2-3 innings. Zoilo Versalles' two-run single was the big blow of a three-run second-inning rally by the Twins.

Jim Gentile hit his 37th and 38th homers and ignited the decisive 12th-inning rally with a double to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-5 decision over the Kansas City Athletics. Ron Hansen singled Gentile across with the tie-breaking run and moved the second run of the inning into scoring position. Billy Hoeft pitched five scoreless innings in relief to pick up the victory.

Yanks Favored in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Las Vegas oddsmakers rated the New York Yankees Wednesday as prohibitive favorites to take the American League pennant.

Slugging Yank outfielder Roger Maris was 8-5 to break Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in a season.

Oddsmakers added that Cincinnati figures as 2-1 favorites to finish first in the National.

The Yankees were even money to win by 5½ games. The nearest competition the oddsmakers could muster were the second place Detroit Tigers, 5-1 not to beat out the Yankees.

The Los Angeles Dodgers were 8-5 underdogs in the National in the present second place spot. Milwaukee Braves and the San Francisco Giants were rated at 3½ to 1 not to win.

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Because of the absence of Norm Van Brocklin who is now head coach of the Minnesota Vikings, many of the experts have predicted the Eagles would collapse. In fact all of the pre-season polls have placed the Eagles down the line in the Eastern Division.

"I don't feel that we will be also rans in our division," said Skorich, "any team that thinks the Eagles are pushovers this year had better look out when the whistle blows."

Skorich feels that Sonny Jurgensen, a 4-year veteran, and King Hill obtained in a trade from St. Louis, have done a good job in taking up the slack for the departed Van Brocklin.

"We will do more running this year than we've done in the past three years and we should have a better balance between our running and passing," Skorich added.

Last year the Eagles were next to last in the rushing department with only Dallas having the poorest running attack. Skorich however feels that he has five backs which comprise a running unit as strong as there is in the league.

To help the running attack, the defensive line has gone through heavy workouts all week. The Eagles have impressed with Lions' defensive line and Skorich thus feels that the game Friday night at Tiger Stadium should be a big test for both teams.

"The Lions are by far the best team we will meet in pre-season play, that defensive line and our offensive unit should stage an interesting battle," the Eagle coach added.

With its running attack expected to be in high gear, the Eagles haven't lost sight of the fact that they have three outstanding pass receivers in Tommy McDonald, Pete Retzlaff and Bobby Walston.

McDonald has caught eight passes in two games for three touchdowns as the Eagles defeated the All-Stars and the Chicago Bears.

The Lions needn't be told about McDonald. The former little Oklahoma star personally took charge as the Eagles walloped Detroit twice last year, in exhibition and regular season play.

"He's one of the fantastic stars of this game," said Philly publicist Ed Hogan. Standing only 5-9 at 178 pounds, McDonald scored 13 touchdowns as a pass receiver last year. Retzlaff, a former Lion, actually caught more passes during the season than McDonad and had a total of 826 yards gained passing, which was 25 more than McDonald.

All of the Lions' touchdowns in two games have come via passing with Earl Morrall throwing five, Jim Ninowski and Warren Raab one each.

It will be Raab's turn to get the starting quarterback assignment but Morrall will be standing by to be pressed into service. Morrall has been having a most successful start in the two pre-season encounters which the Lions have won.

He has connected on 16 of 25 passes for 275 yards.

A crowd of 20,000 is expected for the game and tickets in all sections are still available. They will go on sale at 6:00 p.m. prior to the game. Kickoff is 8:00 p.m.

Publinx Event Begins Today

Upyards of 120 golfers began 18-hole qualifying rounds for flights today at Pontiac Country Club in the Michigan Publinx Golf Association's annual match play tournament.

The low 63 players will join defending champion Doug Wilson of Ypsilanti, who is exempt from qualifying, in championship flight match play starting Friday and running through Sunday.

Two three-time state champs are among the entries — Mike Andonian of Pontiac and Jay Law of Harper Woods. Also in the field is Ann Arbor's Jim Briegel, runner-up to Wilson last year at Loch Alpine.

Pontiac C.C. was host to this tourney in 1958 when Andonian won his 3rd crown with a 5-4 victory over local rival Paul Bada. Par at P.C.C. is 37-37—74.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Living up to her nickname of Little Tiger, 14-year-old Roberta Albers of Tampa, Fla., blasted her way into the quarter-finals of the USGA Women's Amateur Golf Tournament Wednesday.

A couple of former champions and the national collegiate titlist also made the grade.

Roberta erased Judy Eller of Old Hockory, Tenn., 5 and 3 in a third round match in the morning. She bested Mary Patton Janssen of Charlotteville, Va., 5 and 4 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Anne Quast Decker of Seattle and Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., national champions in 1958 and 1959 respectively, won two matches each to move into Thursday's 18-hole round of eight.

9 Marksmen 'Perfect'

Long Grind for Shooters

★ ★ ★

Several hours and 175 targets apiece later, three of them were still in the running when darkness fell and forced continuation of the shootoff until Thursday.

Still in the fight were Dan Orlich, 36-year-old former Green Bay Packers football player and now a Reno gambling club employe who stands 6-foot-5 and weighs 245; Tony Biaga, 44, of Highland Park, Ill., a restaurant operator who packs 260 pounds on a 5-foot-3 frame, and 23-year-old Johnny Sternberger of Englewood, Ohio, a left-handed traveling salesman who deals in kitchenware and bathroom accessories.

Each of the three broke 175 straight shootoff targets after running through the 200-target 16-yard race without a miss.

James D. Townsend of Richmond, Mich., missed the 153rd shootoff clay and finished fourth. Homer Clark Sr. of Alton, Ill., a 77-year-old who said he weighs 115 pounds with his pockets full of change and keys, missed the 95th and took fifth place.

Other shootoff losers were Ira Eyler of Martinsburg, W. Va.; Earl Tolliver of Orleans, Ind.; Billy Williams of Oklahoma City, and 16-year-old Chuck Keeman of South Sioux City, Neb., whose 200 gave him the junior championship.

Mrs. Van N. Marker of Versailles, Ohio, won the women's title by defeating Mrs. Claude Richards of Westminister, Md., by 24-21 in a shootoff after they had tied at 198.

The subjunior crown for shooters under age 15 went to 13-year-old Britt Robinson of Tahoka, Tex., with 197.

Bolt Is Missing as Pros Attack Firestone Links

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Goliath's top professionals will start hammering away at the Firestone Country Club's top par-70 layout today in a bid for prizes totaling a whopping $50,000.

Missing from the field of 97 starters in the American Golf Classic, however, will be Tommy Bolt. Bolt Wednesday was given a retroactive 30-day suspension, which will keep him off the tournament trail until the end of the month.

The Professional Golfers Association appeals committee administered the penalty for his use of profanity during the PGA tournament at Olympia Fields, in Chicago last month.

All the champions will be competing in the tournament. The group includes U.S. Open winner Gene Littler, Master's champion Gary Player, PGA titlist Jerry Barber and British Open king Arnold Palmer.

Upset Comes Early in Trans-Miss. Golf

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An upset came early as the Men's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament swung into the first of five days of match play Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Medalist Glen Fowler, playing in the first twosome, was defeated by Bob Renner while temperatures were still in the chilly 60s. The sun broke through later and smiled on the other favorites in this 58th renewal of the Trans-Miss over the par 35-36—71, 6,300-yard Twin Hills Country Club course.

★ ★ ★

But another young ace, Dick Crawford of Houston, had a close call. The two time National Collegiate champion had a three-hole lead over Jerry Gruenemeier, Lincoln, Neb., after 13 holes. But Crawford bogied the 14th and Gruenemeier dropped birdie putts on 15 and 16 to even the match.

Torrid Giants Only 4 Games From Top

By The Associated Press

They may have a long way to go to match that little miracle of 1951, but if you don't think those San Francisco Giants are hot, then you've got to admit there are a couple of awfully cold clubs stumbling along on top in that National League pennant race.

The Giants were resting third, 10 games out of first less than three weeks ago. They're still third, but they've won 33 of their last 15 games and have jumped within four games of first place Cincinnati with a six-game streak all against the Reds and second place Los Angeles Dodgers.

* * *

After sweeping three from the Dodgers, the Giants made it three in a row over Cincinnati Wednesday night, riding in on the three-hit pitching of Juan Marichal and unloading five home runs in a record, 12-run ninth inning for a 14-0 romp.

The Reds' fourth consecutive defeat, but they will have a 2½-game lead. And if it's any consolation for Cincinnati fans, the last time the Giants powered five home runs in one inning it was against the Reds in 1939—a year Cincinnati went on to win the pennant.

* * *

If Cincy fans think they've got it bad, Dodger fans have it worse. St. Louis pecked away from behind for an 8-7 victory over Los Angeles. It was the Dodgers' ninth straight defeat, their longest skid since 1944, when they dropped 16 in a row.

Pittsburgh beat Milwaukee 7-6 in the only other game played in the NL. Chicago-Philadelphia was rained out.

* * *

The Giants had just one hit in the first seven innings against Cincinnati ace Joey Jay, but it was a leadoff home run by Joe Amalfitano and it was good for a 1-0 lead behind Marichal. San Francisco made it 2-0 in the eighth and made it a rout in the ninth as Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou, Jim Davenport, Willie Mays and Johnny Orsino hammered homers off Jay (18-8), the loser, and bullpen ace Jim Brosnan and Bill Henry.

* * *

In all, the Giants sent 15 men to bat and collected 11 hits in the ninth. They finished with 20 hits, and the only man who didn't reach base was Ed Bailey, making his regular season debut in the outfield for the injury-hit Giants after an eight-year career as a catcher.

The five home runs in one inning tied the major league record set by the 1939 Giants and matched by Philadelphia in 1949. The 12 runs set a modern major league record for ninth-inning scoring, breaking the mark of 11 held by the Giants (1954), Braves (1950) and Yankees (1951).

* * *

Marichal (13-7) gave up nothing but singles—by Jerry Lynch in the second inning, Frank Robinson in the fifth and Ed Kasko in the ninth—while winning his seventh in a row. The young right-hander didn't walk a man, struck out one and now has a string of 15 2-3 shutout innings.

* * *

The Cardinals didn't get the lead until the eighth inning against Los Angeles. That's when they chased Don Drysdale and beat reliever Ron Perranoski in a four-run rally triggered by home runs from Bill White and Ken Boyer and capped by Curt Flood's winning single. Ed Bauta won his first major league decision in relief.

Bob Skinner's inside-the-park home run gave Pittsburgh a 6-6 tie in the eighth, and the Pirates then made it two in a row over the Braves on Dick Stuart's two-out single in the ninth against reliever Don Nottebart (4-7). It was Stuart's third hit and third RBI. Elroy Face (5-5) was the winner in relief.

Some of the top Pontiac area motorcycle drivers, along with many from Illinois, Maryland, New York, Ohio and New Jersey will compete.

The series of races will feature various size machines from 7 to 74 cubic inch displacements with drivers set in both amateur and expert classes.

Among the local entries are Duane Barton, Bud Haimbaugh, Bobby Johnson and Joel Haynes of Pontiac; Jim Lawrence of Madison Heights; Larry Lowe of Troy; Dave Ludwig of Clarkston and Joe Rocheleau of Ferndale.

Mrs. Gegoux's 38 Best; Season Ends Next Week

A low net score of 38 by Mrs. Mildred Gegoux won top honors this week in the Women's Silver Lake Golf League. Mrs. Fran Martz and Mrs. Pat Hoover shared 2nd place at 39. Mrs. Iola Dalton took low putt laurels with 15 and Mrs. Hoover shot a par three on the 5th hole to win the "blind hole" event.

League members will close their 1961 season next Tuesday, Aug. 29, with nine holes of golf and a luncheon at Morey's Country Club. Awards will be presented.

2 State Golfers Survive J.C. Cut

Special to The Pontiac Press

DENVER, Colo.—Two members of Michigan's four-man team had all kinds of trouble Wednesday and failed to make the 36-hole cut in the 16th annual International Jaycee Junior Golf Championship at Wellshire Municipal golf course.

Chuck West of Birmingham, Michigan Jaycee state champion made a great recovery by shooting a 72 and Jackson's Bob Bond carded a 77, but there was nothing but misery for Walled Lake's Briane Kegn and Chuck Menefee of Ann Arbor.

Keen, who shot 79 in Tuesday's 1st round, was disqualified yesterday following a display of bad temper on the 17th hole.

* * *

After three unsuccessful attempts to hit his ball out of a mud-hole, Keen picked up the ball and threw it on the green. Keen didn't turn in his scorecard and he was disqualified.

Menefee met his "Waterloo" on the 477-yard 5th hole where he took a whopping 14 strokes. He finished the round with 42-49—91 for a 36-hole total of 166, not good enough to escape the cut.

On the fatal 5th, Menefee drove two tee shots into the water, topped his first fairway shot, then drove out of bounds and three-putted the green. He three-putted six greens altogether.

West rebounded excellently to qualify for the next 36 holes. He was even par yesterday over the par 36-36—72 Wellshire course with a 35-37 score. This gave the former Bloomfield Hills prep golfer a 36-hole total of 158. West had an 83 Tuesday.

Bond also qualified with a 36-hole score of 155 after carding 40-37 in Wednesday's 2nd 18-hole round.

* * *

Pennsylvania's Jay Sigel shot a one-under-par 35-36—71 to preserve his lead over Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur, Texas. Sigel's 36-hole total of 136 is two strokes better than Fleckman, who posted 32-38—70 yesterday.

Wednesday the field was cut to the low 100 shooters plus ties for further play in the championship flight.

Painful Tooth Lets Sally Move Along Via Default

Not Mrs. Werner's tooth, however—her opponent's.

Mrs. Werner, nee Sally Sharp, was scheduled to meet Mrs. F. L. Thompson Jr. of Oakland Hills Wednesday at Orchard Lake Country Club in the 2nd round of the annual Women's District Golf Association match play championship.

But on Tuesday evening, after scoring an impressive 7-6 triumph over Mrs. C. P. Mehas of Pine Lake, Mrs. Thompson broke a tooth which consequently exposed a nerve and caused her great pain.

* * *

After a trip to the dentist, Mrs. Thompson decided that she would be unable to continue in the tournament. As a result, Sally won by default and moved into today's semifinals against another Oakland Hills golfer, Mrs. Frank Campsie.

Today's other semifinal match pits defending champion Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex against Mrs. H. G. Marquardt of Gowanie, runnerup to Mrs. Werner in the 1961 Michigan Closed Amateur at Knollwood.

Mrs. Hume raced to a 5-up lead at the turn and went on to defeat Mrs. L. W. Smead of Oakland Hills, 6-4. All even after nine holes, Mrs. Marquardt turned on the steam to conquer Mrs. Margaret Watkins of the Country Club of Detroit, 4-3.

Sally carded a three-under-par 74, a women's course record at Orchard Lake, in Tuesday's 1st-round 7-6 rout of Mrs. W. L. Mosher Jr. of the host club. She also was medalist in Monday's 18-hole qualifying rounds with a 78.

Mrs. Werner won her 1st "triple crown" in 1958 and now in two steps away from another. Today's winners clash Friday for the WDGA match play title.

Best Ball Event Under Way Today at Indianwood

Indianwood Country Club's annual Invitational Best Ball golf tournament got under way today with 18-hole qualifying rounds for flight positions.

The low 16 teams in the trials will enter match play in the championship flight Friday. Single matches are slated Friday and Saturday with the semifinals and finals scheduled Sunday. All matches are set for 18 holes.

Andy Purdo, who teamed with Leo Daigle to win the title last year, has Birmingham's Buzz Lewis as his new partner. Daigle is now Indianwood's head pro and no longer eligible for the tourney.

Jim Schmalzreidt and Larry White, champs two years ago and runnersup in 1960, are missing from the field due to their jobs in the East. Among the leading teams are Owen Davis-Bob Erdelon, Jim Haverty-Don Nancarrow and Ferd Henkel-George Wilson.

JOBLESS—Frank Lane has had plenty to say about Kansas City A's owner Charles Finley since being fired as the club's general manager. He claims Finley is thinking of moving the franchise. Frank had four years to go on his contract calling for $50,000 per season.

Carries Stadium Blueprints

Finley's Briefcase Key to Future of KC—Lane

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—The future of Major League baseball in Kansas City travels in Charles O. Finley's briefcase, according to deposed A's General Manager Frank Lane.

"Finley has blueprints of a proposed stadium with him," Lane charged yesterday. "Four or five of the players have seen the plans, and some sportscasters and sportswriters saw them in Dallas last week."

Lane, fired Monday by Finley, said the Athletics owner contemplated moving the franchise to Arlington, Tex., which is located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

* * *

"But you can't move a home where there is no house, and there's no place to play Major League baseball in Arlington," Lane said. "A stadium would have to be built and that would take time. If Finley is thinking about Arlington as a site for his franchise, he won't be able to move until after the 1962 season because it will take at least that long to build a suitable stadium."

Finley, contacted in Los Angeles, denied he has any intentions of shifting the franchise to another city.

It had been rumored that Finley would move the club to the West Coast if he were unable to find a suitable site in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

* * *

"No one has presented any proposals to move the franchise. Neither have I been seeking any proposals. As far as I know at the moment, we'll be playing in Kansas City next season," the A's owner added.

Little League Champs

Canoe Brothers Win Au Sable Marathon Race

OSCODA (UPI)—Two brothers from National City won the world championship canoe marathon on the Au Sable river by edging out an Oscoda team in the 156-mile race.

Larry Kindell, a former winner, and his brother, Victor, paddled home ahead of Ralph Sawyer and Ed Wojahn to win the 15th annual event.

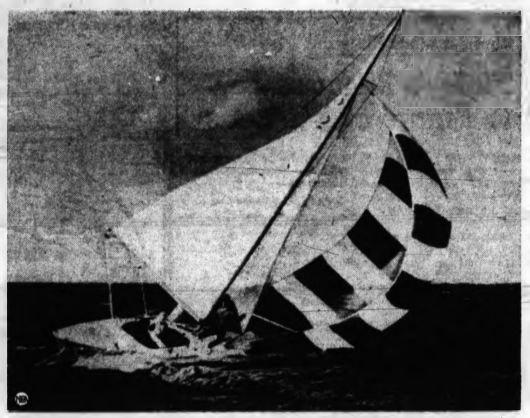

The Roseville team of Duane Rogers and Edward Brown finished third while fourth place went to Edwin Peterson of Minneapolis and Donald Tinkler of Lacenee, Que.

Another Oscoda team, Charles Furtaw and Ronald Hohman, finished fifth and Robert Cline and Eugene Champa of Virginia, Minn. were sixth.

But the race was strictly a two-team duel between the Kindell brothers and the Sawyer-Wohahn duo. They were nine minutes ahead of the rest of the field after only 20 miles.

Sloops Race Sept. 9-10

The International Explorer Class Association, formed last winter in New York during the National Motor Boat Show, will hold the nationals for the 17-foot centerboard fiberglas sloops Sept. 9-10, in Marblehead, Mass.

SOUND FURY—Starting to heel over, the 5.5 sailboat Bermudes provides a stern test of seamanship for its crew during race on the Great Sound off Hamilton, Bermuda. Striving to keep his balance, Penny Simmons struggles to adjust the spinnaker in 35-mile gale.

From the Skipper

Plans are nearing completion for a Boatarama to be held Sept. 2 at Mountain View Beach on Lotus Lake in Waterford Township.

Two associations in Lotus Lake subdivisions have joined forces in arranging a fun day to wind up summer activities.

A boat parade at 1 p.m. will begin the program. A water ski exhibition by members and dancing at night will be other highlights.

Awards will go to the most attractive boats as chosen by guest judges and to the top water skiers.

A supervised playground and special entertainment will be available for small children. Facilities at the beach will include a snack bar.

Mrs. Bernadine Taylor is in charge of the Boatarama committee.

SNIPES AT PORTAGE LAKE

Snipe sailors from Watkins Lake will head for Portage Lake near Ann Arbor this weekend to take part in the Huron Portage Yacht Club regatta. Racing will take place Saturday all day and evening and Sunday afternoon.

In their own club races last Sunday, Dave Green came in first ahead of Glen Fyles and Fred Brede, while in the thistle class, Norm Ledwin came in first ahead of Harmon Gillen and Karl Krietz.

FTC Makes Rules Known

Trade practice rules for the boating industry were published by the Federal Trade Commission on Aug. 1, 1961, and will be effective 30 days from that date, the Commission announced.

Copies of the rules will be mailed by the FTC to all known persons, firms, corporations and organizations engaged in the manufacture, sale, or distribution of pleasure boats.

Boating

Lazy Boating Key to Relaxation

If you're a typical boater, you probably try to organize your day on the water with but one thought in mind—having fun.

Since fun is the prime purpose of pleasure boating, no one will argue with you.

In an effort to pack as much enjoyment as possible into a few hours, don't overdo it. Take the "dyed-in- the wool" water skier, for example.

He's often content to limit his boating to skiing and, consequently, never gets around to trying other activities such as cruising, fishing or, most important, just plain lazy boating.

We all have days when nothing seems to go right. When the strains of everyday living catch up with you the Evinrude Boating Foundation suggests that you take to your boat and try something a little different.

Forget about making plans and decide that this is the day you are going to do nothing but take it easy.

A leisurely cruise down a picturesque channel or stream may not sound too exciting but you're certain to find it relaxing.

Waterways are full of interesting areas. Take the time to look over a secluded corner of the lake you have often noticed but never visited.

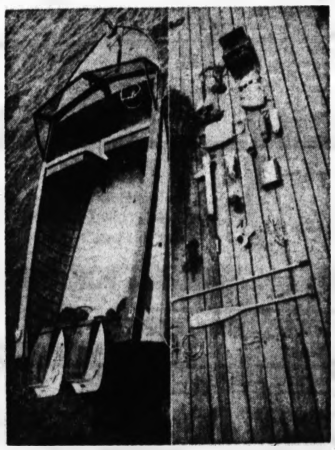

Maybe there is a small island of two dotting the lake that will give the youngsters a fine chance to play "Captain Kidd."

The point is, don't be in a hurry. Sit back and enjoy the scenic beauty that only water can offer. Look for new and interesting spots and you'll be surprised at what you will discover.

When something interests you get out and look it over. Especially when children are aboard, frequent stops make for more fun.

Lazy boating has much to offer. You'll find the quiet hum of the motor and the tranquility of placid water to be the most effective relaxation topic imaginable. Give it a try and you will discover some of the most pleasurable boating you have ever experienced.

NEEDED ITEMS — Proper equipment should be a part of every boating rig. The recommended items shown on the pier include, paddle, boat hook, extra line, flashlight, extra propeller, bilge pump, flares, fire extinguisher, first aid kit, life preservers, horn, boat fenders, anchor, life jackets and radio. Other accessories, though not necessary, can add more fun to boating.

New Processing Offers for Fancy Foods Afloat

By WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Peanut butter sandwiches need no longer be the staple food item for the pleasure boating family.

From row boats to large cruisers, there is room to cook the new specialties aboard.

This season's addition to the instant convenience that include instant coffee, tea, milk, soup, cocoa, orange juice and cream in powdered form is almost instant meat.

In the past, refrigeration has been necessary if meat was to be stored aboard for any length of time. Canned meats were an alternate choice, but they could be heavy and cans might rust. Worse still, most air might cause a paper label to fall off and can-opener cookery could become a guessing game.

The meats, usually weigh only one-quarter as much as the original products.

A process that freezes and dries the meat at the same time is said to remove 98 per cent of the moisture. The result is packaged in foil, needs no refrigeration. It can be stored for at least a year with other supplies in a galley cupboard, under a bunk or even in a fishing tackle box.

So far, beef steaks, boneless pork chops, open hearth beef stew, rice and chicken dinner, chicken stew, ham patty mix and cooked scrambled eggs are available. To prepare, you soak it in water from 3 to 15 minutes, depending on the item, and then cook or fry it.

The test of food is how it tastes. We carried some of the pork chops and scrambled eggs in the hot glove compartment and then the trunk of our car. Then we left them aboard the boat a week before getting up nerve to try the stuff.

We started with the scrambled eggs. No ex-GI would forget the Army's noble experiment with powdered eggs and a flavor that would make a chicken ashamed. But these turned out quite well. They're not going to put fresh eggs out of business, but with proper seasoning they should be an excellent offshore substitute.

The pork chops were even more of a success. You soak them in two cups of cold water for 15 minutes, along with a packet of seasoning you have added.

They are normal size before cooking but very light, and fortunately the miracles of modern science have not shriveled them into ugly little lumps while freeze drying them.

After browning them for three minutes on each side in a skillet, they tasted great.

Drain Plug Important

Even the most expert boatman has had the experience of launching his craft minus the drain plug. It is not only embarrassing, but sometimes damaging.

The Evinrude Boating Foundation suggests that you replace your drain plug before you leave home, rather than at the launching site where you will likely be in a hurry and occupied with other things.

2 Ohio Sailors Lead Thistles

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — Jim Hendrickson, piloting the second oldest boat in the field, clung to his lead today in the National Thistle Class sailing championships despite a sixth place finish in one of two races run.

Hendrickson, Sandusky, Ohio, had 103¾ points, followed by Jim Roberts, Ashtabula, Ohio, and Skip Boston, Mount Clemens, Mich., each 102; Marlin Abramson, Columbus, Ohio, 100 and Ed Walsh, Camden, N. J., 97¾ points.

Walsh won the second race and defending champion Bruce Goldsmith, Racine, copped the third race. Five races in all are scheduled over a four-day period to determine the champion.

Behind Walsh in the second race were Boston, Goldsmith, Roberts and A. W. Stuebner, Glastonbury, Conn. Only three places were determined in the third race because of a number of protests affecting the fourth place and other finishers. Second in the No. 3 race was George Devlin, Grosse Ile, Mich., and third was Chuck Wiley, New York.

Boat on Trailer Can Be Luggage Carrier

The ownership of compact cars has presented many families with a tough problem: how to carry a lot of vacation gear and still leave room inside for the family.

One of the best answers to the problem, say the Mercury outboard people, is to buy an outboard motor, boat and trailer!

Yes indeed; for an outboard boat will not only make any vacation twice the fun, but on its trailer it will double as a luggage carrier. Bulky things like sleeping bags, duffel bags, tents, folding camp furniture and food coolers can be stowed in the boat; the canvas cockpit cover will protect them from the elements.

This is not a pipe dream. A tour of public camping grounds these days shows that more and more people are doing it. With most items in the boat, the car's interior is less cramped. Long drives are more comfortable for all, and with much of the load being born by the trailer, the car will suffer far less wear and tear.

Use Your Boat Whistle for Signals on Water

Blinker lights and hand direction signals are an important part of highway driving, and all drivers are required to know and understand their use. Mercury outboard authorities remind us that just as important are the sound signals boaters use to let others know their intended moves.

Here's the simple code:

One short blast: "I am proceeding to starboard (right)."

Three short blasts: "I am backing down (stopping or reversing)."

Four or more short blasts: Danger signal—"I do not understand or do not agree with your signal." When craft having right of way feels approaching craft is not taking proper action, signal is given and both craft stop and reach agreement before proceeding.

Whistle or horn blasts are also used to request the opening of drawbridges and when approaching river or canal locks. In such cases, local signals are in effect and are usually prominently posted.

In harbors, one long blast means that a boat is pulling out from a pier, into a channel.

Of course you must apply these signals with common sense. Approaching craft may not be able to hear your signals or for some other reason, may be unable to comply with your desires. The fact that you give a signal will not prevent a collision if the approaching boat is out of control, so be alert and ready for any emergency at all times.

Small outboard boats can meet legal requirements with a so-called "motorboat whistle," which is much like a police whistle. In preference today, however, are the horns operated by disposable cans of compressed gas. They are louder and will enable your signals to be heard at much greater distance.

Champion Leads 110 Class Race in Saginaw Bay

BAY CITY (AP) — Defending champion Albert A. Frost Jr. of San Diego finished second yesterday to build his total points after three of five races in the international 110 sailing championships to 81¼.

If Frost and his crew, Richard A. Allen of San Diego, win this year's regatta of the one-design racing sloops on Saginaw Bay, Frost will be the first three-time champion crowned by the 110 association.

Frost, who won the world title in 1959 and 1960, holds a six point lead over second place Morris F. Landon of San Diego. Landon and his wife, Virginia, finished first yesterday in a race marked by rain and 30 mile an hour winds that saw waves on the bay reach six feet in height. The Landons have 75¼ points.

Andy Kostanecki of New Canaan, Conn., who finished fourth yesterday, is in third place with 73 points, and Daniel Sanborn of San Diego, fifth finisher, is fourth with 71 points.

Election of 110 international officers will be held tonight.

East and West Playing Hockey With Sticks of Dynamite

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—This whole Berlin crisis has now become a game of tit for tat—with both sides playing it, the United States as well as the Soviet Union—although it's like playing hockey with a dynamite cap.

Both sides talk of reaching a peaceful settlement. Neither attempts a move to start it. And meanwhile both tighten the crisis.

JUST A GESTURE

The Communists seal off East Berlin to keep non-Communist East Germans from escaping to West Berlin. The United States won't interfere but it sends 1,500 troops into West Berlin, not for any practical purpose but as a gesture.

* * *

The Reds retaliate by making it harder for Westerners to cross into East Berlin. The United States, Britain and France rush troops and tanks to the barricades. They are not going to do anything either.

So troops on both sides glare at each other over the barricade while the last thing any of them wants is shooting.

The latest move: a Moscow note to Washington accusing the United States of ferrying spies and saboteurs into Berlin.

As usual, the whole crisis started with talk.

FIRST IN SERIES

Premier Khrushchev began by repeated warnings early in 1961 that he would sign a peace treaty with the East German Communists, a move the Allies interpret as the first in a series to shut them off from West Berlin altogether.

Then on June 3-4 in his Vienna talks with President Kennedy, he set a six-month deadline for signing the treaty and making Berlin a "free city." The West can't stop him from signing the treaty but it could fight to stay in Berlin.

By June 28 Khrushchev had made four speeches, repeating his warning and accusing the West of building up Berlin tensions. On June 28 at a news conference Kennedy said Khrushchev was building up tensions.

Khrushchev threw another coal on the fire July 8 when he ordered a 25 per cent increase in Soviet defense spending. And Kennedy replied in kind July 25 in his TV talk to the nation when he announced a buildup in American defenses and pledged American support of West Berlin.

East Germans had been fleeing from Communist East Germany into West Berlin at the rate of 1,000 a day but Khrushchev's belligerent talk scared them into crossing over at the rate of 2,000 a day.

This was a reaction Khrushchev could neither have expected nor wanted since the Communist regime in East Germany badly needed the manpower which was dashing westward.

So on Aug. 13 the Communists sent troops and tanks to the edges of East Berlin, sealed off all the escape hatches for the East Germans but still let visitors from West Berlin move into East Berlin.

Neither the United States nor any of the other Allies was willing to do anything to force the East German Communists to open the hatches again since that would probably mean war. So all the Allies did was stand by and protest.

* * *

West Berlin lies not in West Germany but 110 miles inside East Germany and people and supplies bound for the city can't get through from the West unless the East German Communists let them through.

Nevertheless German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, running for re-election, talked ominously of wanting trade between the two Germanys shut off. He dropped that kind of talk when the East Germans warned, if he tried it, to blockade Berlin altogether.

* * *

But the West Berliners and their mayor, Willy Brandt, who's running against Adenauer, got exasperated by the willingness of the Allies to protest and do nothing. They wanted action.

JOHNSON GOES OVER

So Kennedy sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson over in a hurry to cheer them up. This he seemed to do although he added nothing new when he pledged the United States to defend West Berlin. Kennedy himelf had done that weeks before.

Kennedy also took 1,500 American troops out of their regular defense positions in West Germany and sent them into West Berlin. (The Soviets let them travel through East Germany to get to the city since, to stop them, might have meant war.)

* * *

But the troops, while the sight of them may have boosted West Berlin morale, added nothing to the defense of the city. They're in a box in Berlin whereas they weren't in West Germany since there are about 400,000 East German and Soviet troops surrounding West Berlin in East Germany.

* * *

Then Adenauer visited the city. This, on top of the Johnson visit, irritated the Communists and they retaliated by tightening restrictions on Westerners, including troops and diplomats, who might want to go from West Berlin into East Berlin.

Not to be outdone the United States, Britain and France sent troops and tanks to the barricades now separating East and West Berlin for no apparent reason—since neither side wants war—unless to glare at the Communist troops on the other side.

GUNS GLARE ACROSS BORDER—British soldiers man an antitank gun near the Brandenburg Gate border sector of Berlin as the three Western Allies moved men and armor to the East-West border of the city. In background is the old Reichstag building. The whole Berlin crisis has become a game of tit for tat, or perhaps like hockey being played with dynamite sticks. Troops on both sides glare at each other with all the governments making passes at each other.

Big Battles Loom Ahead Over American Tariffs

EDITOR'S NOTE — Lick 'em or join 'em? Americans are asking how best to handle the competitive threat of an all-European industrial trading bloc. This, last of three articles, from Dawson, (AP) business news analyst, discusses the ways of protecting American jobs and markets.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Will the United States be forced to join some sort of a common market to compete with those who are climbing aboard this kind of bandwagon?

If not, how can it adjust to the new threat to its trade abroad, its markets at home?

MAY JOIN MARKET

A few New York bankers specializing in world trade are betting we will be forced to join in some form of a common market within 10 years. They point to the striking economic growth of the six Continental European nations that formed the common market in 1957. They note that Britain, at first reluctant, now is finding it expedient to ask for admission and that other European nations are moving in the same direction—eventual free trade among members of the club.

* * *

Many American businessmen are dead set against joining in any such pact.

* * *

Some want to fight—with higher tariff and quota walls. Others favor a drive to get American production costs down to cut prices on exports.

Many, perhaps most, bankers and foreign trade economists feel the United States must meet the threat of competition with a fast growing united European industrial bloc by bargaining.

One of them, William F. Butler economist and vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, wants America to seek concessions abroad for entry of U.S. goods by offering in return to be more hospitable to European goods here.

COMPETITION KEEN

This won't sit well with some American business already suffering. They must compete with goods from brand new European factories with the latest equipment, manned by lower-priced labor, sometimes built with U.S. investments.

* * *

They are clamoring for more protection here. They and their labor unions say U.S. jobs are at stake as well as the health of whole U.S. industries.

Other American businessmen have struck gold in the Common Market. A more prosperous Europe has meant a bigger market for their goods. They see the prospect of an all-European bloc and the growth of similar markets in other parts of the world as the best chance of disposing of an increased American production of materials and finished goods.

This school of thought holds that the answer to our trade problem is bargaining now for better trade terms, and developing more savvy in competition.

Some bankers think that Americans are competing much better in world markets in the last year or so—and that Common Market competition has helped awaken them.

BRITAIN TO GAIN

Britain's entry into the Continental trading pact would help its chemical, electronics, wool fabrics and steel industries to compete on the Continent, these bankers hold. Cotton textile and auto investment, manned by lower-priced labor, sometimes built with U.S. investments.

* * *

In all these fields American industries would find the going harder in West Europe—and elsewhere as European industries grew.

* * *

If Britain joins the Continental pact, more U.S. plants may be built there, Butler predicts. They would take advantage of the common language, similar laws and customs and still have full entry to the big markets on the Continent.

* * *

U.S. corporate investment in Britain came to $800 million last year and to $430 million in the Common Market countries of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The total of such U.S. business investments in all parts of the world was $32.7 billion as 1961 started. This is expected to go much higher as more American companies decide this is the only way to meet the new competive threat.

U.S. JOBS?

But others ask: What about U.S. workers who lose their jobs if we move our production overseas?

That is the big talking point for those who hold we must build tariff walls. It is also a talking point for those who argue Washington must demand a better deal for U.S. goods abroad.

It could turn into one of our liveliest battles—both on the home front and abroad.

British Siren Tells Beau He'd Better Hit the Road

LONDON (AP)—British Actress Joan Collins said Wednesday her engagement to American actor Warren Beatty is off.

"I'm not saying anything more about it," she said in an interview, "but it's definitely off."

Alvin Bentley to Aid Education With Foundation

OWOSSO (AP)—Former Michigan Congressman Alvin M. Bentley Wednesday announced the creation of a foundation in his name for "the advancement of education and charitable endeavors."

Bentley, a wealthy manufacturer, said he will personally contribute $160,000 in direct gifts to the foundation each year for the next seven years, a total of $1,600,000.

Bentley said his purpose in establishing the foundation is to "further my desire to devote my time, effort and fortune to public service."

He said the foundation will act as agency to distribute gifts and grants to charitable, educational and religious institutions.

Grain Contracts Running Draggy

CHICAGO (AP) — Trade in grain futures was generally draggy again today with prices mostly little changed. Market factors were meager.

Nearly all contracts held within fractions of previous closes during the first several minutes without showing a trend either way. Wheat and oats were easier while other grains and soybeans posted some small gains.

Brokers said there were signs of further light liquidation in wheat with perhaps a small amount of hedge selling and that additional short covering was apparent in soybeans.

Court Order Restrains ITU in Store Picketing

DETROIT (AP) — A Federal Court injunction was issued Wednesday restraining the International Typographical Union (ITU) from picketing merchants who advertise in the Ypsilanti Daily Press.

Pickets of Ann Arbor Local 154 of the ITU, involved in a membership drive at the paper since 1958, appeared during prime evening shopping hours at several stores and shops in June and July.

U.S. District Judge John Feikens, in issuing the restraining order, ruled the picketing of advertisers was a secondary boycott, illegal under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

Stock Market Drops Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over a possible auto strike and increasing Soviet pressure in Berlin accompanied a sharp stock market decline today. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

Losses of fractions to more than a point were taken by most key stocks.

Du Pont, off more than 3, weighted the averages to the downside. Losses of 2 or more points by a number of issues which have had recent big gains were ascribed to profit taking.

Big Three motors were down rather sharply as investors worried about next week's deadline in the labor contract. The "little two" car makers, however, were active and fractionally higher as talks continued and rumor spread in Wall Street that they might make a union agreement separate from the Big Three.

* * *

Steels, rails, oils, chemicals, tobaccos, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, electrical equipments and other major groups declined.

General Motors and Ford each dropped well over a point in active trading. Chrysler was off a fraction.

Firth Carpet fell more than a point and Mohasco lost a fraction as the financial community evaluated the share-exchange basis of their proposed merger.

* * *

AMEX MIXED

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed. Aerojet-General dropped about a point while Loral Electronics and South Coast Corp. were off a bit more than that. Atlantic Research and Cubic Corp. were up about a point apiece. Hazel Bishop was an active fractional gainer. Fairchild Camera, Seeburg and Syntex were among losers.

PROPOSED PHYSICS HALL — Construction of a new three-story wing at the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills will begin late this summer. At exhibition level the $200,000 wing will provide three halls for illustrating the principles of physics. A series of offices, laboratories and shops will be accommodated on the ground level while the floor above the exhibition halls will be equipped with another laboratory for the research staff. Funds for construction are assured by a grant from the Skillman Foundation. William E. Kapp of Detroit designed the wing.

Republican Family Picnic Saturday at Ivory Farm

A report on Berlin by Congressman William S. Broomfield, a message from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and a talk by con-con candidate George W. Romney will be featured at the 2nd annual Republican Family Fun Day to be held Saturday.

* * *

It will be at the John F. Ivory farm near Union Lake. Registration will begin at 11 a.m.

"The fate of the free world hinges on the outcome of the Berlin dispute," said Broomfield, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, "I think the citizens of Oakland County should be as fully informed on the facts as our national security will permit."

Nixon is expected to send greetings to the nearly two thousand Oakland Republicans expected to attend the picnic affair. He will send the message either by telegram or via a direct telephone call from California hooked into the public address system, said County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr.

Making another phone call will be Romney, GOP candidate for the county's senatorial con-con seat.

The president of American Motors Corp. from Bloomfield Hills will dial a telephone number at random and urge the person answering to vote in the Sept. 12 con-con election. Also, he will ask the person to call a friend and urge him to vote.

Romney will deliver the keynote address on the forthcoming convention at 2 p. m.

Republicans will also award prizes totaling $1,950 in savings bonds.

The outing will include free food, swimming, games and a 45-minute diving exhibition by a team of collegiate divers. The exhibition will be in the morning.

He Knows What He's Doing—Writes It Down

LANSING (AP) — The mobile travel information units of the State Highway Department ask tourists visiting Michigan various questions, such as:

How did you like the state?

How many miles did you travel?

How much money did you spend?

But one tourist from Bluffston, Ind., replied that he travelled 1,383.3 miles and spent $89.33 in four and one half days.

"I write it down," he explained.

Youngsters to Crowd Main Library Friday

Pontiac's main public library should be a pretty crowded place Friday.

Some 125 or more third-through sixth-grade youngsters are expected at the annual children's party of the library's Summer Reading Club in the library auditorium.

* * *

Festivities, including movies, games, storytelling, ginger ale, ginger cookies and jelly beans, are slated to get under way at 2 p.m.

Certificates will be awarded to members who have read a prescribed number of books this summer.

Can't Accept Pool and Keep Getting Welfare

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Elna Sawicki can't accept the $4,000 swimming pool she won recently on a television show and still draw the $400 monthly she gets in welfare aid for her nine children.

That was the verdict Wednesday of Michael F. Ettel, chairman of the Welfare Board, who said, "Under no conditions would we allow her to take the pool and still retain the aid to dependent children payments."

* * *

He said the pool itself was not objected to but rather the fact that some welfare funds might go into its upkeep.

Mrs. Sawicki said earlier she intended to accept the pool, won with other gifts on ABC's "Queen for a Day." She said if welfare aid was cut off she would go to work. A divorcee, she has nine children, 18 months to 17 years, at home and a tenth, a son, 9, is in a state hospital.

Hope to Maneuver School Bill to Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House may get a chance to vote on the administration's stripped down federal school aid package after all. Then again it may not.

The Democratic leadership decided Wednesday to split the package into two separate bills. The strategy is to try to bring up one or both of them two weeks from now under a parliamentary oddity called calendar Wednesday. This would bypass the House Rules Committee, where the administration's original school program came to grief in a squabble over federal aid to parochial schools.

* * *

Speaker Sam Rayburn conferred with President Kennedy Wednesday, then called a meeting of Democrats most closely concerned with the aid to education program. Education Committee Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., said after the meeting two separate bills would be hammered out overnight, but all elements of the administration compromise plan would be retained.

Decides Judge for Michigan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thaddeus M. Machrowitcz, D-Mich., will be nominated to a federal judgeship in Detroit, Sens. Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrats, said today.

The senators said Machrowicz's name is expected to be sent to the Senate sometime today by President Kennedy. The vacancy on the Michigan bench was created with the retirement of Judge Frank Picard.

Machrowicz, 62, is serving his sixth term from Michigan's First District. A resident of Hamtramck, he attended Alliance College in Pennsylvania and the University of Chicago and graduated from the Detroit College of Law.

* * *

A World War II veteran, Machrowicz formerly served as city attorney and municipal judge in Hamtramck and as legal director for the Michigan Public Utilities Commission.

Pontiac Motor Holds Sales Meeting on TV

A Pontiac national sales meeting today was to be delivered to the division's cross-country dealer organization in 26 cities by a closed circuit telecast originating from Detroit's Masonic Temple.

Getting under way at 1 p.m. the meeting was to focus on Pontiac sales objectives for 1962 with featured addresses by S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and Pontiac general manager, and F. V. Bridge, Pontiac general sales manager.

Following the one-hour telecast 15,000 dealers and salesmen were to preview the new 1962 Pontiac automobiles on display in each location.

Pontiac will unveil its new line to the public in dealer show rooms on Thursday, Sept. 21.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sky watchers will see an almost total eclipse of the moon Friday night —depending upon visibility.

More than 99 per cent of the moon's disk will pass through the earth's shadow, the American Museum - Hayden Planetarium said.

* * *

Astronomers at the planetarium said the eclipse could be visible from all parts of the United States, except the northwestern tip of Alaska.

It will start at 8:35 p.m., Pontiac time, and the visible phase will end at 11:41 a.m.

Ask County Court Setup Replace System of JPs

LANSING (AP) — Abolishment of the office of justice of the peace and creation of a county court system in its place was proposed today by a committee of attorneys.

The committee, reviving a proposal rejected by the legislature some 15 years ago, will submit its plan to the Michigan State Bar convention next month in Detroit. Endorsement by the Bar could lead to a new drive for legislative approval in 1963.

The Bar committee, headed by Chester J. Burns of Benton Harbor, urged the convention to call on the constitutional convention that will meet in October to abolish the constitutional status of justices of the peace.

* * *

Barring this, it said, powers of justice courts should be limited by law to those set forth in the constitution, "thus permitting this office to wither on the vine."

The proposed county court would be a limited circuit court rather than "a glorified justice of the peace court," the committee said. It would take over all powers and jurisdiction of the justice courts as well as minor cases now handled by the circuit courts.

This, said the committee "may permit the circuit courts to partly supply the demand for an intermediate appeal court between a competent trial court and the Supreme Court."

OTHER COURTS INTACT

In counties with less than 250,000 residents, the county court also would take over the duties of circuit court commissioners. Municipal police, common pleas and other inferior courts would be left intact.

The legislature would make annual appropriations to finance county court operations, but counties could supplement salaries of the judges. Only attorneys would be permitted to sit on the bench.

Another committee appointed by the Bar to study civil liberties asserted that "intelligent law enforcement" can cope adequately with the problems of pornographic literature without additional legislation. The committee assailed "vigilant committees intimidating local officials and book sellers."

Clears Officer in Sea Disaster

Colonel Found Innocent of Neglect in Collapse of Texas Tower

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — The law officer presiding at the court-martial of Col. William M. Banks, 46, today found him innocent of neglect in the collapse of a Texas Tower in the Atlantic Ocean Jan. 15. His finding still is subject to approval by the board of officers of the court.

* * *

The court recessed after the finding by the officer, Col. Jean Rydstrom, and was to resume this afternoon for a decision by the eight officers comprising the board.

The prosecution concluded its arguments at 9:30 a.m. The defense immediately moved for dismissal of the charge.

* * *

Says Michigan Short 7,000 Classrooms

LANSING (AP)—Michigan has a shortage of some 7,000 classrooms in its elementary and secondary schools and will need a total of 20,000 more in the next five years, Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, said today.

Bartlett made his observation in a statement summing up the condition of education in the state prior to the opening of the new school year.

He said that although Michigan school districts spent more than $180 million on public school construction the past fiscal year, the present building rate must be increased by some 25 per cent if adequate facilities are to be provided in the next five years for all Michigan children.

GOP Duo Asks Firing of Bowles, End of Red Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)— Two Republican leaders in Congress called today for muzzling Chester Bowles or firing him from the State Department.

They also urged a clampdown by the Commerce Department on exports to the Soviet bloc.

* * *

Dominican Police Break Up Crowd

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—At least two persons were injured today when police broke up a downtown demonstration in which several thousand took part.

The demonstration followed a Mass ordered by the National Civic Union (UCN), a self-styled political watchdog organization, for six of the homicides killed in political violence this month.

It took place several hours before the scheduled arrival of a committee sent to investigate the Dominican pre-election scene by the Organization of American States.

It's a truism — shiftless people seldom get into high gear . . . A man's getting old when he begins to take excuses to stay home, where he used to make excuses to get out.—Earl Wilson.

Fined, Put on Probation for Driving While Drunk

James A. Stanley, 43, of 540 Howland Ave., was found guilty of drunken driving yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum. Stanley was fined $100, $10 costs, and placed on two years probation —the first four days to be in the Oakland County Jail.

3 Pseudo Africans Have a (Costume) Ball

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Three bogus African diplomats dined at elegant Miller Brothers Restaurant recently, then drove off in a limousine rented from a local funeral director.

* * *

Headwaiter Theodore Cook was told that the Negroes who entered the establishment Tuesday had just come from conferences with State Department officials in Washington.

A spokesman for the visitors told Cook that their leader, draped in the robes of a maharaja, was Sorfa Adiwba, finance minister of the new African nation of Gabon.

Adiwba and his companions, who wore diplomatic attire, sat down at a table, ate a light meal and left within half an hour of their arrival. A Negro photographer, waiting in the car, snapped the men's picture.

CHECKED EMBLAMY

A check of the Gabon Embassy in Washington disclosed that the country's finance minister, Francois Meye, was home in Africa.

* * *

Later, Charles Eckardt of the A. T. Jones and Sons costume shop said a man who identified himself as Herbert Mangrum of the Afro-American (Negro) newspaper rented an African outfit Monday. The man asked that the newspaper be billed for the rental, Eckardt said.

* * *

However, the Baltimore police said a press card had been issued in Mangrum's name.

Its Brass Is a Main Ingredient

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In what office building do 25,000 workers watch 3,000 clocks and, during coffee breaks, guzzle 30,000 cups?

Here's a hint:

It has a brassy atmosphere.

Still stumped? More than 270,000 persons spend a dime a day to talk to government employes on its 60,000 telephones.

You can walk 17¼ miles if you cover every inch of corridor. But it takes only six minutes to walk the maximum distance—1,800 feet — between any two of its offices.

Hint: It's new boss has the same name as an Irish band leader famed in song.

Haven't got it yet?

If you get tired bounding up one of its 158 stairways, you may choose from 19 separate escalators and get a drink from any of its 550 water fountains.

* * *

* * *

If you haven't got it yet, you might as well give up.

For those who knew it all along and are just checking — you're right — it's the Pentagon, the world's largest office building and seat of the nation's Defense Department.

NEW YORK (AP)—A yawl carrying four persons including Henry Sears Lodge, son of former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, was located in a Connecticut port early today after having been reported missing on Long Island Sound.

GUIDE FOR MOTHER, DAD—Here are two of the cartoons from the book called "Pogo Primer for Parents (TV Division)," a booklet published under the sponsorship of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The picture book, written by Walt Kelly, who draws a cartoon series called Pogo, featuring a wise opossum, uses drawings telling parents the dos and don'ts of child guidance in regard to television viewing.

U.S. Publishing Primer for Adults

Pogo Tips Parents on Tots' TV Viewing

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A parent is a father or a mother.

Are you a parent?

If you are, the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare has a primer for you.

A primer is a small book for a beginner.

This primer is called Pogo Primer for Parents (TV Division).

It was written by Walt Kelly, who draws a cartoon called Pogo.

Pogo is an opossum. He is very smart.

Pogo tells you in the primer what to do and what not to do about letting your child watch TV.

He uses pictures to teach you what to do and what not to do. He says the parent should guide the child. He says the most important thing to do is to love your child. He says it twice. Love your child.

★ ★ ★

OFFICIAL SPONSOR

It is being published under auspicious and official sponsorship. Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff timed its formal announcement to a general news conference this morning.

Soon parents everywhere can read Pogo's questions and answers.

"What are little children afraid of?"

"They are afraid of boredom, also frustration. They want to know what to do."

"These monsters can become their constant companions."

"Monsters are not as good as parents to learn things from."

At this point is a picture of a couple of monsters blowing up the world.

"What does the child want then?"

"He wants to be loved. He wants guidance. He wants the parents to share things with him. Maybe even TV, radio, comic books, broccoli."

In summing up, the primer says: "Do not be afraid of your child. He is not here to stay. He is a precious visitor. Do not wind up your child and set him to watch the TV unguided. Love your child."

NEED GUIDANCE

"It is not necessary to censor. It is necessary to guide. Other child activities siphon off energy, but this energy can be used badly after bad TV exposure. Above all, love the child."

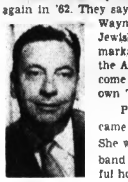

You can order Pogo's primer from the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. It costs 20 cents.

It must be worth it, because the chief of the Children's Bureau in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Katherine B. Oettinger, says in a foreword: "Pogo Primer for Parents (TV Division) will reassure and reward every parent who reads it."

Will Hollywood Success Win Red 2nd TV Show?

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — Hootin' around Hollywood, I found that Red Buttons' camp followers believe he'll be up for an Oscar again in '62. They say he's magnificent in "Hatari," the John Wayne picture made in Africa; that he's a Jewish Walter Brennan." Wouldn't it be remarkable if Red, who first burst on most of the American public as a TV star, were to become so great in pictures that they offered his own TV show—again?

WILSON

Polly Bergen gave me a big kiss when she came into the Beverly Hills Hotel Polo Lounge. She was happy, I think, because she and husband Freddie Fields had just bought a beautiful home here. Polly said she's sad about leaving "To Tell the Truth," but she has a thought about that. With Moss Hart and Kitty Carlyle due here in the fall, why doesn't "To Tell the Truth" move out here? Then, figures Polly, she could have her Hollywood and her TV, too.

Bless Jerry Lewis for helping keep the world laughing in these days. A big sign on the Paramount set where he's shooting "Errand Boy" announces "This is NOT a closed set. Come on in!" It's about an errand boy who becomes head of "Paramutual Pictures," and one of the pictures he then shoots lists such stars as "Ima Hallshot," "Sir Tod Liveroil," and "Sir Ceildom Hartburn," with "screen play by Joseph Levitch."

"I get it all but Joseph Levitch," I said to our guide who said:

Fire Chief Was Taken for a Ride by Youth

AZTEC, N.M. (AP)—While Fire Chief Bill Smith and his men investigated fire damage to a truck five miles east of Bloomfield, a youth drove off in the Aztec fire engine.

Smith gave chase in a fireman's car. When the truck was forced to stop, the youth hopped out and walked away. Smith was so surprised he forgot to get the boy's name.

Viewer Can't Resist Lure of Soap Operas

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — I don't know about you guys—but when I'm home alone around lunchtime and I'm sure all the doors are locked and the drapes drawn and nobody's watching, I flip on the TV set to see "As the World Turns" and "Young Doctor Malone."

The soap operas have me hooked. It's like sneaking a look at the back of somebody else's postcard. But most of all, it's a mental challenge to keep up with the countless poor souls who parade through these serials without a smile day after day, year after year.

Like, take CBS' synopsis for Wednesday's "As the World Turns":

"Frank goes to Dick Baker with information about Dick's missing son Jeff. Dick asks Chris, father of Jeff's wife Penny, if he'll accompany him to an address Frank has given Dick in return for $5,000.

★ ★ ★

"They suspect another girl is involved because Jeff has been gone so long, and they also understand that Jeff has been using an assumed name. They don't want Penny to know in case there is another girl. Then Chris' wife Nancy asks that he doesn't accompany Dick."

IN NEW ORLEANS

But let an old hand fill you in. Jeff is playing a piano in a New Orleans bar. He married Penny because she was beautiful, young, intelligent and well off. But Jeff was a sensitive boy and wanted more. You know kids. So he ran away.

Well, Penny, sitting at home—wondering where Jeff is since he took off a year ago—tells her mother (Nancy), "I just had this feeling all day long that something terrible was going to happen." You get to expect that line about twice a week when the soaps are in season.

Sure enough, Chris comes home and says to Nancy privately, "I want to tell you something very important." But in comes the organ music, a fadeout, five commercials, and when we come back Nancy is still standing there and says, "Well, Chris, what is it?"

He starts to tell her, but he can't finish because another commercial takes over. After that, he finally tells her all. And the rest of the show is about how Chris and Dick try to make their wives promise to keep their traps shut about the whole thing to Penny until they return from New Orleans. Do they succeed? Tune in today.

Can Predict Spots Lightning to Strike

SACREMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — State and U.S. forest fire fighters can reasonably predict where lightning fires will occur by means of radar cloud photography.

Technicians at the U.S. Weather Bureau Observatory at Sacramento can scan cloud formations as far away as 280 miles. The direction and velocity of thunder storms is tracked, indicating where the fire zones will form.

The radar cloud pictures also yield clues on the amount of rain or snow to be expected from a storm.

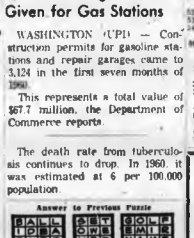

3,124 Building Permits Given for Gas Stations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Construction permits for gasoline stations and repair garages came to 3,124 in the first seven months of 1961.

This represents a total value of $67.7 million, the Department of Commerce reports.

The death rate from tuberculosis continues to drop. In 1960, it was estimated at 6 per 100,000 population.

Work Instead of Dance

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (AP) — If there's anything in rain dances, this area is going to continue on the dry side. Only two Fort Saint James Indians turned up to perform their ancient ceremony this week. Almost all the tribesmen have been hired by the Forest Service as fire fighters.

The Time of My Life . . . Adm. Nimitz

'I'll Never Forget the Decatur'

(Editor's Note: One of life's greatest satisfactions is the knowledge of a difficult job well done. It gave Adm. Chester W. Nimitz one of the big moments of his Navy career. He tells about it in the fourth of six articles on "The Time of My Life.")

By ADM. CHESTER W. NIMITZ
(Written for AP)

The happiest day of my life, of course, was when I married my wife.

Satisfactory moments that I can remember, quite naturally include the day on the Missouri when we stood on the deck and watched the Japanese come aboard to surrender.

It was most satisfactory because the war had seemed interminable at times. In fact, there had been occasions when the final outcome had been somewhat in doubt.

My first command was the Panay, not the gunboat which the Japanese later sank, but the ex-Spanish gunboat which I had in 1906. I was a midshipman at the time. Midshipmen then served six years before becoming ensigns — four years at Annapolis and two years at sea.

In 1906 I was captain of the Panay, with 31 men aboard, and commander of the naval base at Polloc, Mindanao. There were 22 Marines at Polloc. I had one foot ashore and one at sea, so to speak, but I lived aboard the Panay.

GREAT DAYS

Those were great days. We had no radio, no mail and no fresh food. We did a lot of hunting. One of the seaman said one day he "couldn't look a duck in the beak again."

Early in 1907 we had a war scare. The story we heard was that President Theodore Roosevelt had called the Japanese ambassador into the White House and told him: "If your country wants war, we'll give it to you."

I was ordered to bring the Panay back to Cavite and report to Uriah Rose Harris, the commander of the naval base. "Uriah Heap" we used to call him.

There had been so much talk of war with Japan that when we approached Manila Bay, I almost sent a landing party ahead to see if we still held the place. I was an ensign by then, and 22 years old.

★ ★ ★

I moored the Panay and dressed up in my white uniform and sword. Then I went over to see Harris. He was very stern and typical of our Navy commanders of the time. He told me I was to take command of a destroyer, the Decatur, which had been out of commission for some time, and get it in dry dock immediately.

★ ★ ★

When I said something about going back to the Panay for my gear, Harris said in no uncertain terms I was to board the Decatur without returning to the Panay and have that old four stacker in dry dock at Olangapo within 48 hours.

"Your clothes will catch up to you," he said.

NOTHING ON BOARD

His launch took me to the Decatur, which was tied to a buoy out in the bay. It put me aboard, white uniform and sword, to be greeted by two Filipino watchmen. There

Tank Truck-Train Wreck Engulfs 3 in Fiery Death

DETROIT (UPI) — A seven-car Wabash Railroad passenger train slammed into a tandem gasoline tank truck at a Taylor Township crossing today, killing two train crewmen and the truck driver.

The crash occurred at the Smith-Holland Road grade crossing during a dense fog. Police said the crash touched off a spectacular fire with flames dancing the entire length of the train, which was bound for Detroit from St. Louis.

A deadman's throttle device, which applied the brakes when the engineer let go of the throttle, brought the train to a halt two and one-half miles from the scene of the accident.

About 50 passengers, aside from the crew, were aboard the train and all escaped injury. They were brought to Detroit in buses.

Police said the victims have been identified as E. Rychlinski of Detroit, driver of the tank truck; William du Vall, the engineer, and Earl Bushway, the train fireman.

Officers said the train was going about 70 miles an hour when it approached the crossing and visibility was about 50 feet.

The truck, carrying 11,000 gallons of gasoline, plunged into a ditch after the crash and was described as "a ball of fire" by the time police arrived.

CREWMAN INJURED

Johnson said he saw a sheet of flames along the entire length of one side of the train after the crash.

Police Lt. Carl Lang said passengers told him they heard the train whistle sound as the train approached the crossing.

Rychlinski's body was found at the crossing, Bushway's about half way between the crossing and the spot where the train stopped, and Du Vall's was pinned in the cab of the locomotive.

Big 3 Hold Firm to Offers; UAW Not Satisfied

GM, Ford and Chrysler Defy Strike Threat; Contracts End in Week

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler stood pat today on their labor contract offers to the United Auto Workers against mounting pressure from the union that the companies come up with something better or face strike action.

Present contracts covering almost 500,000 workers at Big Three plants expire next Thursday night.

UAW leaders centered their fire on GM and Ford — the likeliest candidates for strike targets. In the meantime, UAW President Walter Reuther bargained under a lid of secrecy with American Motors Corp. on the company's profit-sharing offer.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock filed unfair labor practice charges Wednesday against GM with the National Labor Relations Board here after the company for the third time rejected a union demand for information on prices and profits. Woodcock accused GM of failing to bargain in good faith. He said the union needed information on the company's price-profit formula to counter company claims the union's bargaining goals are inflationary.

UAW Vice President Ken Bannon told Ford its offer was "totally unacceptable." He said union negotiators would recommend its rejection by the UAW-Ford National Council, which has been called to meet here next Tuesday.

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers reported today General Motors hourly employees were voting 9-2 per cent in favor of strike action if necessary in current labor contract negotiations. The UAW gave the latest total as 55,318 yes and 4,789 no.

The UAW's executive board will meet on the same day to pick a target in event the union leadership decides to back up contract demands with strike action.

Cites U.N. Right in Berlin Crisis

Dag Declares World Body Should Be Heard if Peace Threatened

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold declared today the United Nations is an interested party in the Berlin problem and has a right to make its voice heard if the situation becomes a threat to peace.

Hammarskjold said, however, that at the present time the world organization, with its large membership, cannot aspire to be a focal point in efforts to solve the problem. He indicated that the first step in solving problems such as this must be big power negotiations.

The secretary general advanced these views in the introduction to his annual report to the U.N. General Assembly. He touched briefly on the Berlin question during a discussion of how to balance the weight of the big powers, and their security interests, against the rights of the world community.

He called disarmament and the Berlin issue as the type of questions in which the major countries have such special interests that agreement among them is essential to a solution.

Direct negotiations between those countries," he said, "are an essential first step to the solution, through the United Nations, of the disarmament problem, and do not in any way derogate from the responsibilities or rights of the organization."

LEADS TANK FORCE—Capt. Jack C. Davis, 31, of Tahlequah, Okla., wears a field uniform, complete with hand grenades, as he checks a map in West Berlin Wednesday. Davis is the commanding officer of a U.S. tank force which was moved near the East-West Berlin border near Friedrichstrasse crossing point in reaction to new Communist restrictions on entry into East Berlin.

GIs Given Tear Gas After Border Row

BERLIN (AP)—American officers handed out tear gas grenades to a U.S. detachment guarding the West Berlin border today after Communist forces loosed a stream of water against photographers.

A witness said two American soldiers were hit by spray and the water was quickly turned off when one reached for a grenade. Western troops have orders to disregard the Red warning for everyone to stay 100 yards back of the border.

The incident at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, which ended without further Red action, came as diplomats disclosed a Soviet charge that the Western Allies are abusing use of their air corridors to Berlin.

The Soviet government handed complaints to U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow Wednesday night. Diplomats said the Western powers were accused of ferrying military agents and spies of West Germany to West Berlin via the three corridors set aside in postwar agreements for air traffic from the West over Communist East Germany.

The informants speculated that this complaint may herald some Soviet tampering with the corridors. The Berlin air control system is the only four-power agency to which the Soviets still cooperate with Western authorities.

ILLUSTRATES FIRMNESS

The brush at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint illustrated the resolve of the Western Allies to make a military show at every point where Communists tamper with the border. The checkpoint is the only one through which the Communists are now allowing foreigners to enter East Berlin.

A U.S. tank stood guard there. A crowd of about 300 curious West Berliners milled about.

The Communist water-armed armored car moved up after Western cameramen closed in to photograph the East Berlin scene and ignored a Red policeman's signal to move back. The water gun did a bit of spraying — nothing too serious. But at that point the American troops were issued the grenades.

Another incident was reported when three U.S. Army buses loaded with about 100 American soldiers thrust past Red guards into East Berlin after being delayed over an hour at the sector border.

The buses were assigned to a sightseeing tour of the East sector in a test of whether the Communists would respect Allied rights of entry.

NEW RESTRICTION

A new Communist restriction of travel from East Germany was disclosed. Foreigners living in East Berlin and East Germany have been barred from leaving the Red ruled country since the Communist clampdown on refugees was launched Aug. 13.

Spokesmen for the Swedish and Norwegian consulates in West Berlin said the Communist authorities had informed the consulates it was not possible for their nationals to travel to the West in the present circumstances. The Communists indicated the restriction was temporary but did not say how long it would last.

Expect Showers Saturday, Even Cooler Weather

No showers are predicted for tonight or Friday but skies are expected to be partly cloudy. The low temperature will be near 61 tonight. Tomorrow's high will climb to about 82.

The outlook for Saturday is a chance of scattered showers or thundershowers and temperatures turning cooler. Morning variable winds will become southerly at 10 to 20 miles per hour tomorrow.

From 10:15 a.m. Wednesday until the same hour this morning .35 inches of rain fell in the downtown area. The lowest temperature before 8 a.m. was 68 degrees. The reading at 1 p.m. was 74.

Snubbed and Deserted, Old Courthouse Weeps

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Her back's turned and you can't blame her. She's been snubbed, the victim of the continual growth of Oakland County.

Today they deserted her.

They said the building beneath her is too small and can't take the rapid pace of the years ahead.

In spots, the building shows more than half a century of use: cracks in some of the walls, a dirty gray Cleveland sandstone complexion.

But the 26-foot pillars made it through wind, lightning, thunder and the roar of traffic.

The Lady of Justice never cried uncle.

Her home's been ridiculed as ugly, hot as an oven and cold as an igloo. But she's shared her home with thousands of pigeons who thought she was tops.

The steps of her green-trimmed mansion have served as a forum for every conceivable topic — a sort of miniature U. N. and town meeting rolled into one.

Gouged out by a half-century of traffic, the steps have been the path to happiness and sorrow for millions.

Note Charges Allies Abusing Air Corridors

Demands Seen as Try to Separate City From the Motherland

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government posed a threat to the Western Allies' links with Berlin in a note published today.

It said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government is interfering illegally in West Berlin's affairs, and demanded that agitators be kept from using air corridors into the city.

In London, Britain said the Soviet charge that the Western powers are misusing air corridors to West Berlin is an extremely serious matter "if this is intended as a threat to Allied air communications."

"In our view," said a statement issued by the foreign office, "the West Germans are not conducting the (provocative and revenge-seeking) activities attributed to them in the note."

The United States is expected to reject the Soviet charge speedily and completely. The White House said the U.S. government would comment on the new note later in the day.

The 700-word note was delivered to the U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow Wednesday. It said the three countries, "utilizing the lack of control over air communications, are clearly abusing their situation in West Berlin."

"There has been a flagrant breach of the agreement reached in 1945 under which air corridors were set aside for the three Western powers, on a temporary basis, to insure the needs of their military garrisons, and not for subversive and revanchist revenge-seeking purposes of West German militarism," it said.

The note was quickly interpreted by Western diplomats here as a sign that one of the demands to be made by the Soviet Union at future negotiations over the Berlin situation will be the banning

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will go to Moscow Sept. 8 for conferences with leaders of the Soviet Union, it was announced today. The announcement of Nehru's visit came only 24 hours after he told parliament that the Soviet position on Berlin is "legally" right.

Lincoln-Mercury Shows Models

In-Between Meteor Model Is Previewed in 1962 Line-Up

DETROIT (UPI)—Lincoln-Mercury Division of the Ford Motor Co. took its turn on the new car preview circuit today, displaying its 1962 model line-up which includes a new in-between-size Mercury Meteor.

The Meteor will be built on a 116½-inch wheelbase, two and a half inches longer than the Comet and three and a half inches shorter than the Mercury Monterey.

This makes it fractionally longer than the new Fairlane series, the in-between model at Ford.

For the first time since its introduction in March 1960, the Comet also will bear the Mercury name.

This will give Mercury a three-size line-up — Comet in the compact field; Meteor in the new in-between field, and Monterey in the full-sized field.

★ ★ ★

Styling changes are very modest on all of the Lincoln-Mercury offerings. The division promised last year it would make no radical change in its then-new Lincoln Continental.

LINCOLN SALES UP

Ben Mills, general manager of the division, said Lincoln sales are up 35 per cent over last year, while divisional sales are up 8 per cent.

Mills predicted total industry sales in 1962 will approach 6.5 million units including imports. This estimate compares with 7.35 million by General Motors and about 6 million for the calendar year 1961.

The Olds line-up includes two new convertibles in the compact F-85 line, a new luxury Starfire coupe and a new Holiday two-door sedan in the 98 series.

Transatlantic Surprise Party Given Mrs. Cullen

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

"Let's have a terrace party this weekend," he said a few days afterward. He phoned the guests-to-be right there, with Ann helping him, and invited them.

Next day from his office Bill phoned them, "There's no party — but keep your mouth shut."

An uncle from Pittsburgh phoned Ann that he was arriving. That was phony, too.

Bill made a Friday dinner date with Producer Gil Fates and Mrs. Fates—also a fake. Fates later phoned Ann that he was called to London to open "To Tell the Truth," there—wouldn't the Cullens come to Idlewild, have dinner, and see them off?

"Bill would never drive in that Friday night traffic," Ann said.

But next day Bill told Ann: "Hey, I think we can see Gil off—a guy's putting a helicopter at our disposal."

The helicopter pilot flew them over their terrace where they were having the party next night. They were soon having dinner with the Fates at the Idlewild Golden Door.

"How I'd love to go to London!" Ann said. "I can't wait to see that new hit, 'Oliver'."

A BOAC representative stepped up and said: "Mr. Fates, your flight is ready."

They all walked out to the boarding area, Fates carrying a new briefcase, Mrs. Fates carrying an airline bag.

As Fates was handing over the tickets, he suddenly shoved the briefcase at Cullen, Mrs. Fates thrust the airline case at Ann, and Fates exclaimed, "Get on the plane, Ann! It's your trip!"

"What?" shouted Ann—and a BOAC representative said, "Now Mrs. Cullen, you are going to London—come along."

Bill'd reserved a bridal suite at the Savoy, and obtained two excellent seats to "Oliver," and, just when Ann was worrying about dresses a porter brought a bagful that Bill had purchased in New York and sent ahead.

They went out picture-taking in London next day and were soon near London Airport. Ann found herself on a plane for Paris, pre-arranged by Bill as a second surprise.

They left here on Friday night and returned on Monday night. Ann had to tell the story to an English passenger sitting near and he said:

Financier Sells Empire State for $65 Million

The world's tallest skyscraper was sold by the Empire State Building Corp., headed by Col. Henry Crown who left school at 14 to work as a $4-a-week shipping clerk.

The buyer was Lawrence A. Wien, head of an investment syndicate who apparently thinks tall. He once almost bought the Chrysler Building — second tallest skyscraper in the world.

The contract signed in Newark, N.J. is effective Dec. 27.

'Stand-up' Comedian on TV

Is Newhart Brave or Foolhardy?

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Eighteen months ago nobody had ever heard of Bob Newhart, comedian. Next month "The Bob Newhart Show" bows in on the NBC network, which automatically makes the young monologist the fastest-moving, the bravest or perhaps the most foolhardy—performer of the approaching television season.

★ ★ ★

Over the years the mortality rate of the "stand-up" comedian has been frighteningly high. Last season there was only one left in weekly TV, Red Skelton.

The stand-up comedians, of course, are still working, but many of them are making only occasional appearances on television.

IT'S LIKE BASEBALL

Newhart apparently is neither frightened nor deterred by the experiences of other comedians who, after a few seasons, have retired from weekly comedy programs to nurse bad cases of overexposure.

★ ★ ★

"The closest analogy I can think of is baseball," explained the quiet-spoken, rather shy young man. "If you're a good pitcher, you want to play in the major league. You're not content with sand lots or the minors. In show business today, television is the major league."

★ ★ ★

Besides that, Newhart believes that TV, more than any other place, is right for his style of comedy.

"I'm not a broad comedian," he explained, "and I find that in television, with the camera up close, I can do little things that are lost on a night club floor or on a stage. I found that I wasn't getting laughs when I was doing a concert tour because the people sitting in the 12th or the 20th rows could not see those little things, and I had to make everything larger and more exaggerated."

AVOID FATAL RUT

He also believes that, by having a flexible format for the weekly show, he can avoid the fatal rut of predictability.

★ ★ ★

"The whole basis for comedy is unpredictability," he continued. "So one week we may do two monologues and follow up the next week with a comedy sketch, then maybe a show with a guest star, and after that a musical."

Newhart believes that as time goes on the viewing public will have to make some allowances for its entertainers.

"There just isn't enough material, particularly comedy material, to supply the enormous demand," Newhart said earnestly. "And I just think the public is going to have to settle for less. It must get over the idea that its entertainers must be able to knock the audience out of its chairs every week."

Says Cars Maim More Children Than Disease

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Cars kill and cripple more children every year than any disease, says a Michigan State University safety official.

Yet police and safety officials have only limited success in persuading motorists to watch out for children and drive slowly in school areas, reports Lawrence Baril, director of the MSU law enforcement program.

To help solve the problem, the MSU school of police administration and public safety will sponsor a conference of school safety education for police, Aug. 28 — Sept. 1.

Also cooperating in the pre-school conference will be state police, the state Department of Public Instruction, the Automobile Club of Michigan, the Michigan Sheriffs Association and the state Association of Chiefs of Police.

Dozes in Car, Is Killed

The Time of My Life . . . Adm. Nimitz

'I'll Never Forget the Decatur'

[Editor's Note: One of life's greatest satisfactions is the knowledge of a difficult job well done. It gave Adm. Chester W. Nimitz one of the big moments of his Navy career. He tells about it in the fourth of six articles on "The Time of My Life."]

By ADM. CHESTER W. NIMITZ
(Written for AP)

The happiest day of my life, of course, was when I married my wife.

Satisfactory moments that I can remember, quite naturally include the day on the Missouri when we stood on the deck and watched the Japanese come aboard to surrender.

It was most satisfactory because the war had seemed interminable at times. In fact, there had been occasions when the final outcome had been somewhat in doubt.

My first command was the Panay, not the gunboat which the Japanese later sank, but the ex-Spanish gunboat which I had in 1906. I was a midshipman at the time. Midshipmen then served six years before becoming ensigns — four years at Annapolis and two years at sea.

In 1906 I was captain of the Panay, with 31 men aboard, and commander of the naval base at Polloc, Mindanao. There were 22 Marines at Polloc. I had one foot ashore and one at sea, so to speak, but I lived aboard the Panay.

ADMIRAL NIMITZ

GREAT DAYS

Those were great days. We had no radio, no mail and no fresh food. We did a lot of hunting. One of the seamen said one day he "couldn't look a duck in the beak again."

Early in 1907 we had a war scare. The story we heard was that President Theodore Roosevelt had called the Japanese ambassador into the White House and told him: "If your country wants war, we'll give it to you."

I was ordered to bring the Panay back to Cavite and report to Uriah Rose Harris, the commander of the naval base. "Uriah Heap" we used to call him.

There had been so much talk of war with Japan that when we approached Manila Bay, I almost sent a landing party ahead to see if we still held the place. I was an ensign by then, and 22 years old.

★ ★ ★

I moored the Panay and dressed up in my white uniform and sword. Then I went over to see Harris. He was very stern and typical of our Navy commanders of the time. He told me I was to take command of a destroyer, the Decatur, which had been out of commission for some time, and get it in dry dock immediately.

★ ★ ★

When I said something about going back to the Panay for my gear, Harris said in no uncertain terms I was to board the Decatur without returning to the Panay and have that old four-stacker in dry dock at Olangapo within 48 hours.

"Your clothes will catch up to you," he said.

NOTHING ON BOARD

His launch took me to the Decatur, which was tied to a buoy out in the bay. It put me aboard, white uniform and sword, to be greeted by two Filipino watchmen. There

Big 3 Hold Firm to Offers; UAW Not Satisfied

GM, Ford and Chrysler Defy Strike Threat; Contracts End in Week

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler stood pat today on their labor contract offers to the United Auto Workers against mounting pressure from the union that the companies come up with something better or face strike action.

Present contracts covering almost 500,000 workers at Big Three plants expire next Thursday night.

UAW leaders centered their fire on GM and Ford — the likeliest candidates for strike targets. In the meantime, UAW President Walter Reuther bargained under a lid of secrecy with American Motors Corp. on the company's profit-sharing offer.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock filed unfair labor practice charges Wednesday against GM with the National Labor Relations Board here after the company for the third time rejected a union demand for information on prices and profits. Woodcock accused GM of failing to bargain in good faith. He said the union needed information on the company's price-profit formula to counter company claims the union's bargaining goals were inflationary.

Meet Negotiators, Page 18

UAW Vice President Ken Bannon told Ford its offer was "totally unacceptable." He said union negotiators would recommend its rejection by the UAW-Ford National Council, which has been called to meet here next Tuesday.

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers reported today General Motors hourly employees were voting 9-2 per cent in favor of strike action if necessary in current labor contract negotiations. The UAW gave the latest total as 55,318 yes and 4,789 no.

The UAW's executive board will meet on the same day to pick a target in event the union leadership decides to back up contract demands with strike action.

Truck Local 594 Votes to Strike; Pontiac Deciding

GMC Truck & Coach Local 594 members today voted 1,508 to 201 in favor of a strike if local and national issues are not settled by Aug. 31, contract deadline.

Less than a third of the membership voted.

Pontiac Motor Local 653 began voting at 8 a.m. today and polls close at 5 p.m. tomorrow.

Monday, Fisher Body Local 596 members voted 2,168 to 119 for strike, with more than 85 per cent of the membership voting.

Rain held down the GMC Truck and Coach turnout, Donald Mapley, recording secretary of Local 594, explained. There were about 6,000 eligible to vote.

Cites U.N. Right in Berlin Crisis

Dag Declares World Body Should Be Heard if Peace Threatened

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold declared today the United Nations is an interested party in the Berlin problem and has a right to make its voice heard if the situation becomes a threat to peace.

Hammarskjold said, however, that at the present time the world organization, with its large membership, cannot aspire to be a focal point in efforts to solve the problem. He indicated that the first step in solving problems such as this must be big power negotiations.

The secretary general advanced these views in the introduction to his annual report to the U.N. General Assembly. He touched briefly on the Berlin question during a discussion of how to balance the weight of the big powers, and their security interests, against the rights of the world community.

He cited disarmament and the Berlin issue as the type of questions in which the major countries have such special interests that agreement among them is essential to a solution.

"Direct negotiations between those countries," he said, "are an essential first step to the solution, through the United Nations, of the disarmament problem, and do not in any way derogate from the responsibilities or rights of the organization."

May Resume Talks

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese and South Korean officials were reported to have agreed today to resume talks on restoring normal relations between the two countries.

LEADS TANK FORCE—Capt. Jack C. Davis, 31, of Tahlequah, Okla., wears a field uniform, complete with hand grenades, as he checks a map in West Berlin Wednesday. Davis is the commanding officer of a U.S. tank force which was moved near the East-West Berlin border near Friedrichstrasse crossing point in reaction to new Communist restrictions on entry into East Berlin.

Gls Given Tear Gas After Border Row

BERLIN. (AP)—American officers handed out tear gas grenades to a U.S. detachment guarding the West Berlin border today after Communist forces loosed a stream of water against photographers.

A witness said two American soldiers were hit by spray and the water was quickly turned off when one reached for a grenade. Western troops have orders to disregard the Red warning for everyone to stay 100 yards back of the border.

The incident at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, which ended without further Red action, came as diplomats disclosed a Soviet charge that the Western Allies are abusing use of their air corridors to Berlin.

The Soviet government handed complaints to U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow Wednesday night. Diplomats said the Western powers were accused of ferrying military agents and spies of West Germany to West Berlin via the three corridors set aside in postwar agreements for air traffic from the West over Communist East Germany.

The informants speculated that this complaint may herald some Soviet tampering with the corridors. The Berlin air control system is the only four-power agency in which the Soviets still cooperate with Western authorities.

ILLUSTRATES FIRMNESS

The brush at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint illustrated the resolve of the Western Allies to make a military show at every point where Communists tamper with the border. The checkpoint is the only one through which the Communists are now allowing foreigners to enter East Berlin.

A U.S. tank stood guard there. A crowd of about 300 curious West Berliners milled about.

The Communist water-armed armored car moved up after Western cameramen closed in to photograph the East Berlin scene and ignored a Red policeman's signal to move back. The water gun did a bit of spraying — nothing too serious. But at that point the American troops were issued the grenades.

Another incident was reported when three U.S. Army buses loaded with about 100 American soldiers thrust past Red guards into East Berlin after being delayed over an hour at the sector border.

The buses were assigned to a sightseeing tour of the East sector in a test of whether the Communists would respect Allied rights of entry.

NEW RESTRICTION

A new Communist restriction of travel from East Germany was disclosed. Foreigners living in East Berlin and East Germany have been barred from leaving the Red-ruled country since the Communist clampdown on refugees was launched Aug. 13.

Spokesmen for the Swedish and Norwegian consulates in West Berlin said the Communist authorities had informed the consulates it was not possible for their nationals to travel to the West in the present circumstances. The Communists indicated the restriction was temporary but did not say how long it would last.

Expect Showers Saturday, Even Cooler Weather

No showers are predicted for tonight or Friday, but skies are expected to be partly cloudy. The low temperature will be near 61 tonight. Tomorrow's high will climb to about 82.

The outlook for Saturday is a chance of scattered showers or thundershowers and temperatures turning cooler. Morning variable winds will become southerly at 10 to 20 miles per hour tomorrow.

From 10:15 a.m. Wednesday until the same hour this morning .35 inches of rain fell in the downtown area. The lowest temperature before 8 a.m. was 68 degrees. The reading at 1 p.m. was 74.

Note Charges Allies Abusing Air Corridors

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government posed a threat to the Western Allies' links with Berlin in a note published today.

It said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government is interfering illegally in West Berlin's affairs, and demanded that agitators be kept from using air corridors into the city.

In London, Britain said the Soviet charge that the Western powers are misusing air corridors to West Berlin is an extremely serious matter "if this is intended as a threat to Allied air communications."

"In our view," said a statement issued by the foreign office, "the West Germans are not conducting the (provocative and revenge-seeking) activities attributed to them in the note."

The United States is expected to reject the Soviet charge speedily and completely. The White House said the U.S. government would comment on the new note later in the day.

The 700-word note was delivered to the U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow Wednesday. It said the three countries, "utilizing the lack of control over air communications, are clearly abusing their situation in West Berlin."

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru will go to Moscow Sept. 8 for conferences with leaders of the Soviet Union, it was announced today. The announcement of Nehru's visit came only 24 hours after he told parliament that the Soviet position on Berlin is "legally" right.

"There has been a flagrant breach of the agreement reached in 1945 under which air corridors were set aside for the three Western powers, on a temporary basis, to insure the needs of their military garrisons, and not for subversive and revanchist revenge-seeking purposes of West German militarism," it said.

The note was quickly interpreted by Western diplomats here as a sign that one of the demands to be made by the Soviet Union at future negotiations over the Berlin situation will be the banning

Tank Truck-Train Wreck Engulfs 3 in Fiery Death

DETROIT (UPI) — A seven-car Wabash Railroad passenger train slammed into a tandem gasoline tank truck at a Taylor Township crossing today, killing two train crewmen and the truck driver.

The crash occurred at the Smith-Holland Road grade crossing during a dense fog. Police said the crash touched off a spectacular fire with flames dancing the entire length of the train, which was bound for Detroit from St. Louis.

A deadman's throttle device, which applied the brakes when the engineer let go of the throttle, brought the train to a halt two and one-half miles from the scene of the accident.

About 50 passengers, aside from the crew, were aboard the train and all escaped injury. They were brought to Detroit in buses.

Police said the victims have been identified as E. Rychlinski of Detroit, driver of the tank truck; William du Vall, the engineer, and Earl Bushway, the train fireman.

Officers said the train was going about 70 miles an hour when it approached the crossing and visibility was about 50 feet.

The truck, carrying 11,000 gallons of gasoline, plunged into a ditch after the crash and was described as "a ball of fire" by the time police arrived.

CREWMAN INJURED

Johnson said he saw a sheet of flames along the entire length of one side of the train after the crash.

Police Lt. Carl Lang said passengers told him they heard the train whistle sound as the train approached the crossing.

Rychlinski's body was found at the crossing, Bushway's about half way between the crossing and the spot where the train stopped, and Du Vall's was pinned in the cab of the locomotive.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) —Dr. Sture Linner returned from New York Wednesday night with a plan for scaling down the size and cost of U.N. operations in the Congo.

The head of the U.N. Congo operation told newsmen he would discuss the plan with the government of Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula before disclosing details.

MOVING MADNESS—Mrs. Florence Allen, a county clerk, was nearly lost in the shuffle of moving from the old downtown courthouse yesterday. She continued her work as cartons of files formed mountains about her. It was a particularly sad day for Mrs. Allen as her late husband, Lynn, served as county clerk for 25 years in the old building.

Snubbed and Deserted, Old Courthouse Weeps

By GEORGE TRUMBULL JR.

Her back's turned and you can't blame her. She's been snubbed, the victim of the continual growth of Oakland County.

Today they deserted her.

They said the building beneath her is too small and can't take the rapid pace of the years ahead.

In spots, the building shows more than half a century of use: cracks in some of the walls, a dirty gray Cleveland sandstone complexion.

But the 26-foot pillars made it through wind, lightning, thunder and the roar of traffic.

The Lady of Justice never cried uncle.

Her home's been ridiculed as ugly, hot as an oven and cold as an igloo. But she's shared her home with thousands of pigeons who thought she was tops.

The steps of her green-trimmed mansion have served as a forum for every conceivable topic — a sort of miniature U. N. and town meeting rolled into one.

JILTED

Cuba Set to Attack U.S. in U.N. on Guantanamo

★ ★ ★

Informed sources said Cuban delegate Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui would charge that the Navy base on the southeast coast of Cuba and other U.S. bases in Latin America threaten the security of Fidel Castro's regime.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union first injected the issue of U.S. bases into the assembly debate on French actions around their naval base at Bizerte, Tunisia. The Soviets charged the worldwide network of bases maintained by the United States and its allies was a menace to world peace and called for its immediate liquidation.

TO STAY PUT

A Cuban attack on the U.S. presence at Guantanamo will probably spark a reply from the United States, which has warned it will not be forced out of the base it occupies under a U.S.-Cuban agreement signed more than 50 years ago.

★ ★ ★

Cuba insists it has no intention of trying to oust the United States from Guantanamo by force.

★ ★ ★

U.N. sources were hopeful the assembly would wind up its debate on the French-Tunisian dispute late Friday or early Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Before the assembly is a 32-nation resolution calling for France to negotiate a schedule for withdrawal of her troops from Tunisian territory.

Efforts to remove implied censure of France from the resolution apparently have been shelved in the face of adamant resistance by the sponsors and Tunisia.

West Link to Berlin Threatened by Reds

★ ★ ★

And it could be presumed that the Soviets would demand the right to screen passengers transported there — as well as transported out. They do not now have that right. It would immediately seal off the major escape route of East Germans who have been assured of a way into West Germany once they got across the border into West Berlin.

TESTS NERVES

The note also was considered another effort to test the nerves and determination of the West in protection of the West Berlin population.

As viewed by diplomats in Moscow, the note appeared to be aimed directly at separating Berlin's Western enclaves from the Western motherland in a drive to make the city dependent upon East Germany. Berlin is surrounded by East German territory.

If the demands were fully heeded, all West Germans could be excluded, for in Soviet eyes all of them seem to fall into the bracket of provocateurs.

The note said the Soviet government had repeatedly told the United States and the other powers about the "illegal and inadmissible interference of the Federal Republic of Germany in the affairs of West Berlin."

Court Order Restrains ITU in Store Picketing

DETROIT (AP) — A Federal Court injunction was issued Wednesday restraining the International Typographical Union (ITU) from picketing merchants who advertise in the Ypsilanti Daily Press.

Pickets of Ann Arbor Local 154 of the ITU, involved in a membership drive at the paper since 1958, appeared during prime evening shopping hours at several stores and shops in June and July.

U.S. District Judge John Feikens, in issuing the restraining order, ruled the picketing of advertisers was a secondary boycott, illegal under the Landrum-Griffin Act.

'Last' Day at County Courthouse

Some "lasts" were recorded in the old county courthouse yesterday — the last day of business.

John Polshkie, a 51-year-old salesman from Hazel Park, and Helen Vivienne Tate, 21615 Wheeler St., Farmington, were the last to apply for a marriage license in the old building.

Clerk Mrs. Lela P. Weir filed out the application for Polshkie, 336 W. Otis St., and Miss Tate at 4:50 — 10 minutes before the 57-year-old edifice was to close for the last time.

There was very little business overall as the clerks and court employes scurried for more cartons in which to store equipment. They move to the new courthouse in the County Service Center today.

Veteran Pontiac attorney Milton F. Cooney went down in history as being the last lawyer to file new legal action there.

Betty's Weaving Shop, 1005 Ferrwood Road, Royal Oak, was the last to transact business in the assumed names department of the county clerk's office. The shop renewed its application.

NLRB Preparing Court Petition in Press Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board today was preparing a court petition aimed at barring Miami (Fla.) Herald pressmen from continued picketing at the Detroit Free Press.

Thomas Roumell, regional director of the NLRB, said the board will go into U. S. District Court late today to ask a temporary injunction against the pickets.

★ ★ ★

In addition, Roumell said, the NLRB will schedule a trial board examination to hear the Free Press complaint that picketing which has halted its publication for four days is illegal under the secondary boycott provisions of the Landrum-Griffin Act.

MILO D. McLINTOCK

Baldwin Rubber Head Resigns

McLintock Cites Ill Health in Letter to Board Chairman

President of Baldwin Rubber Co. for the past six years, Milo D. McLintock has announced his resignation.

In his letter of resignation to H. M. Pryale, chairman of the company's board of directors, McLintock said he was leaving his position because of ill health.

"The resignation will become effective when it is officially presented to the board at our meeting next Wednesday," said Pyrale.

It will then be up to the board to choose a successor.

McLintock, a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and the University of Michigan Law School, was a practicing attorney in Pontiac for 12 years before joining Baldwin Rubber in 1943.

He was assistant prosecuting attorney for the county in 1933-34. After holding the position of secretary of the company for three years, he was named secretary-treasurer in 1946.

McLintock then became vice president-treasurer and director of Baldwin Rubber in 1949, executive vice president and director in 1950 and was named president in 1955.

★ ★ ★

He has been active in many civic and fraternal circles in Pontiac. McLintock served several terms on the Pontiac Board of Education and is a past president of the board.

He is a past president of the Pontiac Manufacturers Association, a director of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and has been active in Masonic groups, once serving as commander of Pontiac Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar.

In 1947 he headed the Pontiac Community Chest's industrial campaign division.

McLintock and his wife Louise have three daughters and one son.

the convictions, the acquittals and the judgments of Oakland County.

They left the stillness of death broken only by the mournful cooing of the pigeons.

The Oakland County courthouse and its little neighbor to the west, the prosecutor's offices, will soon be destroyed by demolition crews.

Supervisors of another day called the fourth county courthouse a "beautiful temple of justice" when they moved into it Nov. 2, 1905. It cost $113,000.

Today's county officials cast it into history — a trade-in on a newer, cleaner $3.5-million model.

Recalls the Decatur

was as yet no crew. There was no water, no provisions, not one pound of coal aboard.

The Decatur, a bare hulk, was expected to be in Olangapo, 60 miles away — at the end of 48 hours.

As I stood there, wondering what to do, a launch from the Galveston approached. Out stepped an ensign and four seamen. The ensign was Hugh Allen, who now lives in Pasadena.

★ ★ ★

Allen told me he'd been ordered to report to me with four men. We now had a compliment of four seamen and two officers, but no guns, torpedos, supplies or provisions of any kind.

★ ★ ★

I took Allen's launch from the Galveston ashore and riding in through the blue waters of Manila Bay I looked out over those green jungled hills and knew this was a challenge.

My only hope lay with a group of warrant officers I used to know, in fact play poker with, when the Panay was being commissioned for service.

In Cavite, these same half dozen or so warrant officers gave me new hope. They said they knew where the fittings for the Decatur were stored and promosed to send them out to us.

By the time I got back to the Decatur, another ensign, a classmate, J. Morris Smeallie, had arrived with five more men. He wanted to be the chief engineer, so I made Allen executive officer.

We went right to work. Barges started to arrive with equipment, coal and water. Every once in a while Smeallie would bring up a basket of old wrenches or other junk he'd found in the boilers or engines. The Decatur had been run to death before it had been left for junk.

We finally got up steam in one boiler, but hadn't had time to test the engines.

Six hours before we were due in dry dock, the flotilla commander approached in his flagship and shouted through a megaphone. He said we had to be under way at once in order to reach our destination before dark.

About that time a barge unloaded some torpedo tubes and torpedos.

BAD NO COMPASS

We hadn't tested the engine telegraphs.

Neither did we have a compass.

"Don't worry about a compass," the flotilla commander called. "Follow us." We then saw our binnacle and compass on a lighter and had it brought to the bridge.

I had planned to back away from the buoy, but when I rang up one quarter speed astern, the Decatur drifted forward.

When I rang half speed astern, she moved slowly ahead. Then I ordered full speed astern and, the Decatur shot forward. The engine telegraphs had been reversed.

We followed the other ship out of the bay and up the coast of the Luzon Peninsula, but before dark a rain storm came hammering down on us, the way they do in the Philippines, and I couldn't see the lead ship.

So, just inside Subig Bay we dropped anchor for the night. The next morning we took the Decatur into floating dry dock. Two weeks late she was undocked. We thought we were ready for war with Japan.

★ ★ ★

Yes, I'll always remember the Philippines, the Panay and the time we had getting the Decatur back in commission.

Show Evidence of Betting Wire

Gambler Invokes 5th Amendment in Hearing Before Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators produced evidence today that gambler Angelo Rossetti of Boston runs a race wire news service serving illegal handbook betting places scattered from Montreal to Miami and Steubenville, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

Rossetti invoked the Fifth Amendment to questions about this, pleading that answers "might tend to incriminate me."

Wire service operations of this type are legal. The Senate investigations subcommittee which dug up the evidence is exploring whether new federal laws are needed to curb organized crime.

Jerome S. Adlerman, subcommittee counsel, stepped to a map of the United States illustrated with red lines to show, he said, how the wire service is running roughly north and south from Boston serves these points:

Montreal, Manchester, Lawrence, Providence, R. I., Philadelphia, Wilmington, Del., Atlantic City, N. J., Baltimore and Miami, with offshoots to Worcester, Hartford, Pottsville, Pa., Steubenville, Ohio, Cincinnati and New Orleans.

★ ★ ★

Rossetti, who has served time in federal prisons as a gambling stamp tax law violator, sat impassively at the witness table as Adlerman used a schoolroom type pointer to trace the lines.

Electronic Road Being Studied

Sec. Hodges Describes Future Sleepy Highway to Engineers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges today sketched a vision of accident-free highways on which cars speed along at 100 miles an hour while their drivers sleep.

A greater volume of traffic could be handled safely, he said, "and the human drivers could relax, sleep and enjoy truly carefree motoring."

If studies now under way show such an electronic highway to be "desirable and economically feasible," Hodges stated a test strip will be built between two major cities as part of the interstate highway system.

Ohio and Illinois have been mentioned as states in which a tryout electronic highway might be built. No decision on whether to build or where has been made by the government.

* * *

He urged foreign officials "to institute effective control of outdoor advertising" along their own countries' roads to preserve their natural scenic beauty.

* * *

As a mass form of transportation, Hodges said, the passenger car has "opened a new era of human mobility" in the United States. It has given Americans "greater freedom to choose where they shall work and where they shall live."

County Clerk Lmits Business on Moving Day

Only necessary legal transactions will be handled in the county clerk's office tomorrow while the office relocates in the new courthouse.

No business at all was to be transacted today—moving day, declared Daniel T. Murphy Jr., county clerk-register.

"Tomorrow we'll accept only papers that must be accepted because of legal deadlines," Murphy said.

The office will be opened fully Monday in the new quarters on the first floor of the building in the County Service Center on Telegraph Road.

Persons desiring marriage licenses, pistol permits, assumed names applications and other papers handled by the statistics section of the clerk's office, must wait until Monday, he said.

* * *

"Everything's packed away and we couldn't give them to them if we wanted to."

Latin Cat Back After Adventure in Sioux Falls

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Meetch, the South American cat missing since Aug. 14, has returned.

Col. and Mrs. E. F. Dudley, visiting in Sioux Falls, had put out an alert for Meetch when the cat disappeared after having been flown here from Asuncion, Paraguay, some 8,000 miles away.

Dudley's father was sitting in the living room Wednesday when Meetch, meowing happily, jumped into his lap.

Dudley, newly assigned to Ft. Monroe, Va., said he thought some local family may have taken Meetch in as a pet and released her after reading about her background.

Details of Johnson Berlin Trip Revealed

Favors More Arms to Meet Pressure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has told President Kennedy he should including heavy tanks, to Berlin if the Communists exert more pressure there.

Johnson also recommended that Kennedy ask the British to increase their manpower commitment in Germany and call on France to bring troops from Algeria to Germany.

During his visit to West Berlin, Johnson told the Germans that the United States expected them to take a bigger part in NATO.

While there, he made a spur-of-the-moment decision not to go into East Berlin. Not wanting to do anything that might seem provocative, Johnson declined a West German official's invitation and instead talked with him through the open door of his limousine.

Also among the intimate details of Johnson's trip last weekend that came to light Wednesday was the ticklish handling it required due to the impending national elections in Germany.

NO FAVORITES

It was decided that Johnson would politely but firmly tell Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that he must not accompany him to Berlin.

On the other hand, Johnson was not to appear to be meddling in the election in behalf of West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, who opposes Adenauer in the elections.

Johnson carried a reply from Kennedy to Brand's demand for "action instead of words" on the Berlin situation. The reply was described as "pretty hot." Brandt avoided accepting it on two or three occasions before finally taking it.

Brandt was much chastened by the time Johnson saw him, and the vice president was told that the letter indicated a far harsher attitude than Brandt actually felt.

Johnson called on the Germans to do more in their own defense. One thing they probably will do is extend their military conscription before it expires next month.

Report Tribal Warfare Has Killed 46 in Africa

KABALE, Uganda (UPI) — Reports reaching here from missionaries and traders said today that 46 Africans have been killed in tribal warfare in Ruanda-Urundi.

The reports said the deaths came in fighting between the Bahutu tribesmen and their former overlords, the Batutsi. Ruanda-Urundi is a Belgian trust territory adjoining the Congo.

Fargo Fond of Maris

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — The City Commission went to bat for a home town boy, voting to name a two-mile winding park road "Roger Maris Drive." The New York Yankee home run hitter, a native of Hibbing, Minn., grew up in Fargo.

Says Businessmen Are Not Cooperating

Appearing before the House antitrust subcommittee Wednesday, Kennedy was asked what the trend has been since a number of electrical manufacturing companies and executives were convicted earlier this year on criminal antitrust charges.

Kennedy replied "The situation is getting steadily worse. We are just not getting cooperation from the business community of the United States."

Newsman Ordered Out

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German government has ordered Oleg A. Enakiev, Bonn correspondent for the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, to leave the country. It is the first time the West Germans have expelled a foreign newsman. No reason was given but it was believed Enakiev was expelled as a reprisal for the expulsion of a German newsman from the Soviet Union.

KING CRAB HONEYDEW DELIGHT — Here is a different combination of flavors. Pink and white pieces of canned crabmeat are served in honeydew melon bowls. A hint of curry is detected in the dressing, while slivered almonds add another texture to the salad. Just the meal for a hot night.

Smooth Curry Dressing for Crab Melon Salad

During these hot summer months when appetites lag and the homemaker is hard put to think of what to serve, suggestions for new and different dishes are eagerly welcomed.

Japanese King Crabmeat Honeydew Delight is a sophisticated change for your hot weather menu — delightful as a main luncheon dish when entertaining your bridge club or for dinner on the patio with your husband!

The delicate sea-fresh flavor of the canned Japanese king crabmeat is complemented beautifully by the cool sweetness of the honeydew, while the crisp almonds give added texture. The fluffy mayonnaise dressing is sparked with curry — and the cool green of the melon contrasts pleasantly with the pink and white king crab chunks.

When you serve this interesting seafood and melon salad with hot rolls and frosty glasses of iced tea, jaded summer appetites will perk up in a hurry!

King Crab Honeydew Delight

2 6½ ounce cans Japanese King Crabmeat
2 small honeydew melons
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
4 tablespoons slivered almonds
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Remove cartilage from crabmeat gently and reserve large chunks for topping. Cut melons in half; remove seeds. Scoop out centers and make melon balls or cut into bite-size chunks. Scallop edges of melon shells with knife or scissors.

Combine melon pieces with crabmeat, celery, minced onion and slivered almonds. Combine whipped cream, mayonnaise, curry and salt to make dressing. Fold about half of dressing into crab-melon mixture. Pile into melon shells.

(To serve two, use one can Japanese King Crabmeat, one melon and halve amounts of celery, onion and almonds called for. Dressing may remain the same.)

Just Scrape Mold Off

When a slight mold develops over cheddar cheese, it can be cut or scraped from the surface. Home economists at Michigan State University say the cheese will not be materially affected.

Wine Is Good With Seafood

Seafood and wine are such good companions they deserve to be combined more often than they are. In this easy shrimp-and-crab casserole, California Sauterne adds the distinctive flavor. To accent it still further, pour glasses of the same wine, well chilled, when the casserole is brought to the table.

Baked Seafood Sauterne

½ cup Sauterne, Chablis or other white dinner wine
Dash Tabasco
1 (10½-ounce) can cream of chicken soup
1 green onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 (4½-ounce) can dressed shrimp
1 (7½-ounce) can crab meat
1 (3-ounce) can sliced mushrooms
Topping

Stir Sauterne and Tabasco sauce into undiluted soup. Chop onion, including part of top. Combine onion, parsley, drained shrimp, crab and mushrooms with soup and mix lightly. Turn into a shallow baking dish or individual baking shells. Sprinkle with topping.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until thoroughly heated and browned on top, about 20 to 25 minutes. Serve at once.

Broil Shrimp in Sherry Wine

Sherry wine and butter — two ingredients used lavishly in gourmet cooking — bled deliciously into a savory sauce in the Sherried Shrimp described in the recipe below from the Shrimp Association of the Americas. The zest of garlic also adds to the continental flavor. Even amateur gourmet cooks can serve shrimp this way. The preparation is simple, and the cooking time is only five minutes. (For greatest time-saving you can buy shrimp already shelled and deveined.)

Sherry wine is stirred into melted butter and then poured over shrimp, garlic salt is sprinkled on, and the dish is ready for the broiler. Topped with a grind of peppercorns and garnished with crisp parsley, Sherried Shrimp makes a perfect palate-pleaser for summer meals.

Sherried Shrimp

2 lbs. fresh or frozen shrimp
½ cup butter (1 stick)
¼ cup dry sherry wine
Garlic salt
Peppercorns
Parsley sprigs
4 slices bread, toasted

Use large shrimp, if possible. Clean, but do not cook. Wipe dry, and arrange in shallow baking dish. Melt butter in small saucepan; add sherry wine. Pour sauce over shrimp, and add garlic salt lightly to taste.

Place dish in preheater broiling compartment 3 inches below flame; broil 5 minutes, or until shrimp turn pink. Remove from heat; grind peppercorns over shrimp on toast, garnished with parsley sprigs.

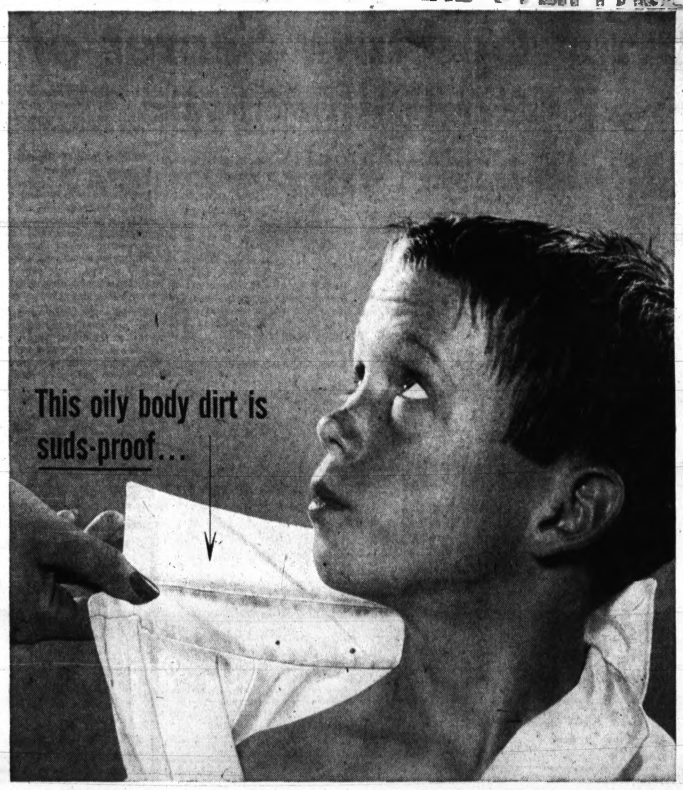

Banana Topped Toast Makes Good Breakfast

When you want a different way to start the day just right, try Banana Maple Toast. Eat it outdoors, if the weather permits! It's wonderful for a low fat diet, since bananas contain almost no fat at all.

To make this tasty breakfast dish, toast 1 slice of bread—either white or whole wheat. Slice 1 ripe banana over it, cover with 1 teaspoon maple syrup and sprinkle with cinnamon. There will be no more "breakfast skippers" after you serve this exciting eye-opener!

Topping on Beans

Mix chopped onion, pickle relish, sliced olives, pickle chips or cheese with baked beans before heating. Or mix pickle relish with mayonnaise and put small mounds on top of heated beans. Run under broiler just before serving.

Clorox gives you the only kind of cleaning power that gets out suds-proof body dirt...right in your washer!

You'll never have really clean washes till you realize this: Oily body dirt takes a special kind of cleaning power. The Clorox kind. Weaker bleaches just won't do. Detergents can't get rid of it without tiresome hand-treating. Suds-proof body dirt is too stubborn to be floated away or covered up. It must be dissolved. Adding Clorox to your suds dissolves it...right in your washer.

Teens Say They're Not So Misunderstood

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

There is a widespread belief among adults that if you teen-agers get into trouble, little or big, all of you will eventually withdraw behind this never-varying excuse:

"You just don't understand us."

Are teen-agers our misunderstood generation?

* * *

We wondered. To find out, we asked 873 teen-agers whether they feel misunderstood.

We found out that not as many of you feel this way as most adults would believe, but enough of you have this feeling that it is easy to understand the adult attitude. In fact, the misunderstood youngster seems to be in the distinct minority.

We also learned that the majority of you have the good sense to try to rectify misunderstandings with adults through discussion, and that a large portion of you accept the blame for misunderstandings.

FATHERS LESS UNDERSTANDING

Roughly one in every five teen-agers feel that either Mother, Dad or their teacher doesn't understand them. Mom apparently is the most understanding. Dad next, and Teacher the least of the three.

Of the 873 teen-agers, 17.4 per cent said their mother does not understand them; (22.8 per cent of the boys, but only 12.7 per cent of the girls).

In some cases, the youngsters say this lack of understanding is a general thing. "She refuses to accept the fact that I am no longer a child," says a 17-year-old Brooklyn girl.

And in others, it concerns specific things. "She doesn't understand why I stay out late at night, why I spend too much money, why I like cars," says a 16-year-old Kansas City boy.

Almost 22 per cent (20.9 per cent of the boys and 22.8 per cent of the girls) say their fathers do not understand them.

"He expects too much of me," is the complaint of an 18-year-old girl from Edmonds, Wash. "I can't go to him with my troubles. He never sees my side of things."

EXPECTS TOO MUCH

This is a common complaint — a father looking for perfection in a child who doesn't feel equipped to attain it.

Others say their fathers are old fashioned, or impatient. And there is one Kansas City 17-year-old boy who says his father "doesn't entirely understand why I want to be a minister of Christ."

Teachers lack understanding, say 19.2 per cent of the youngsters while 66.7 per cent say they do understand and 14.1 per cent simply don't know.

* * *

In case after case, the youngsters explain — as did 17-year-old Mary Poritz of Philadelphia, "It isn't so much that teachers fail to understand, but rather that they haven't the time to understand me and the other hundreds of students they meet with daily."

And that, after all, is a pretty understanding answer.

A total of 27.7 per cent of the youngsters (39.7 per cent of the boys and 17.2 per cent of the girls), say they are the most at fault when a serious misunderstand does occur. Some 10.9 per cent say both sides are generally at fault, and 7.9 per cent say it depends on the circumstances. Only about 10 per cent blame their serious misunderstandings on other people, while 43.3 per cent don't know who to blame.

TAKES THE BLAME

Kathryn Purdy, 17, of Canandaigua, N.Y., one of those who takes the blame for the misunderstandings, has a solution for them. "A teen-ager in time will become more mature and most of the misunderstandings will be solved," she says.

David Schwartz, 17, of Philadelphia, says open discussion is the way to cure misunderstandings with parents. And Dan Oran, 17, also of Philadelphia, says the way to solve teacher-pupil differences is to "abandon the idea that a cordial teacher-student relationship is 'apple polishing.'"

Over half of the youngsters — 63.9 per cent — say they try to solve their misunderstandings with grownups through discussion.

Some West Berliners Keep Jobs in East Zone

AP Photofax

RELATIVES TURNED BACK—A West Berlin woman consoles her crying daughter after they were refused entrance to East Berlin to visit the woman's sick mother. Man at the right also tries to calm the two as they walk away from the Communists' concrete wall which divides the city at Bernauer Strasse. Some West Berliners have managed to hold their jobs in the East sector but few Easterners can travel to the West zone.

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP) — About 12,500 West Berliners were drawing their pay from East Berlin two weeks ago, but between 1,500 and 2,000 have switched to jobs in West Berlin since Communist barricades went up across the divided city.

About 4,000 West Berliners still commute to the East each day—theatrical people, shop, office and factory workers.

★ ★ ★

Most of the others on Red payrolls are employes of the Communist-run railway system "whose jobs are in stations and yards in the West. They rarely cross over to East Berlin except to collect pay checks.

★ ★ ★

The Communists created a labor shortage in West Berlin when they barred some 80,000 East Berliners from crossing the border to jobs on the Western side. But with a labor shortage of their own, the Reds made special arrangements for West Berliners who work in the East."

NO SPECIAL PASS

The daily commuters can cross over without special passes required of other West Berliners. They are subject only to the inconvenience of an identity check and an additional transfer on the subway or elevated trains.

★ ★ ★

Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist chief, has invited Westerners working in East Berlin to move there. But a Western official said he has yet to hear of anyone taking up the invitation.

Some 1,500 of the commuting workers are actors, singers and musicians in the Reds' heavily subsidized theaters and opera houses.

★ ★ ★

The best known is Walter Felsenstein, director of an East Berlin opera house, the Komische Oper. His controversial productions, often with a tinge of Marxist message, have won prizes and prestige for the East German Communists.

USES A MERCEDES

Most of the daily commuters to East Berlin are shop, office or factory workers. After the war they found the sector border to be drawn arbitrarily between their homes and their work, and in the tough times just after the war they took both jobs and housing, wherever they could find them.

★ ★ ★

Ignore Feeler From Castro

U.S. Diplomat Was Only Being Polite in Hearing Guevara's Inquiry

HAVANA (AP)— Fidel Castro's regime has admitted sending out a feeler to President Kennedy for truce talks. The White House gave it the brushoff.

Cuba's economic czar Ernesto Guevara made the approach to presidential aide Richard Goodwin last Friday in Uruguay at a cocktail party after the Inter-American Economic Conference.

Guevara told a radio-TV audience Wednesday night that he informed Goodwin, one of Kennedy's Latin-American experts, that "Cuba is ready to talk" about solving differences.

Guevara said he told Goodwin Cuba "wants to remain within the hemispheric community." But he said he emphasized the Castro regime is determined to maintain its socialist political and economic systems—systems branded by Washington as communistic.

Goodwin told friends he met Guevara by chance at a party given by a Brazilian diplomat.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen the meeting "had no political significance." Salinger said it was "just a case of two men meeting at a reception and one of them being polite enough to listen for a few minutes to someone he met at a party."

2 State Golfers Survive J.C. Cut

Special to The Pontiac Press

DENVER, Colo.—Two members of Michigan's four-man team had all kinds of trouble Wednesday and failed to make the 36-hole cut in the 26th annual International Jaycee Junior Golf Championship at Wellshire Municipal golf course.

Chuck West of Birmingham, Michigan Jaycee state champion, made a great recovery by shooting a 72 and Jackson's Bob Bond carded a 77, but there was nothing but misery for Walled Lake's Briane Keen and Chuck Menefee of Ann Arbor.

Keen, who shot 79 in Tuesday's 1st round, was disqualified yesterday following a display of bad temper on the 17th hole.

* * *

After three unsuccessful attempts to hit his ball out of a mud hole, Keen picked up the ball and threw it on the green. Keen didn't turn in his scorecard and he was disqualified.

Menefee met his "Waterloo" on the 477-yard 5th hole where he took a whopping 14 strokes. He finished the round with 42-49—91 for a 36-hole total of 166, not good enough to escape the cut.

On the fatal 5th, Menefee drove two tee shots into the water, topped his first fairway shot, then drove out of bounds and three-putted the green. He three-putted six greens altogether.

West rebounded excellently to qualify for the next 36 holes. He was even par yesterday over the par 36-36—72 Wellshire course with a 35-37 score. This gave the former Bloomfield Hills prep golfer a 36-hole total of 135. West had an 83 Tuesday.

Bond also qualified with a 36-hole score of 135 after carding 40-37 in Wednesday's 2nd 18-hole round.

* * *

Pennsylvania's Jay Sigel shot a one-under-par 35-36—71 to preserve his lead over Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur, Texas. Sigel's 36-hole total of 136 is two strokes better than Fleckman, who posted 34-38—70 yesterday.

Wednesday the field was cut to the low 100 shooters plus ties for further play in the championship flight.

Painful Tooth Lets Sally Move Along Via Default

Not Mrs. Werner's tooth, however—her opponent's.

Mrs. Werner, nee Sally Sharp, was scheduled to meet Mrs. F. L. Thompson Jr. of Oakland Hills Wednesday at Orchard Lake Country Club in the 2nd round of the annual Women's District Golf Association match play championship.

But on Tuesday evening, after scoring an impressive 7-6 triumph over Mrs. C. P. Mehas of Pine Lake, Mrs. Thompson broke a tooth which consequently exposed a nerve and caused her great pain.

* * *

After a trip to the dentist, Mrs. Thompson decided that she would be unable to continue in the tournament. As a result, Sally won by default and moved into today's semifinals against another Oakland Hills golfer, Mrs. Frank Campsie.

Today's other semifinal match pits defending champion Mrs. John Hume Jr. of Essex against Mrs. H. G. Marquardt of Gowanie, runnerup to Mrs. Werner in the 1961 Michigan Closed Amateur at Knollwood.

Mrs. Hume raced to a 5-up lead at the turn and went on to defeat Mrs. L. W. Smead of Oakland Hills, 6-4. All even after nine holes, Mrs. Marquardt turned on the steam to conquer Mrs. Margaret Watkins of the Country Club of Detroit, 4-3.

Best Ball Event Under Way Today at Indianwood

Indianwood Country Club's annual Invitational Best Ball golf tournament got under way today with 18-hole qualifying rounds for flight positions.

The low 16 teams in the trials will enter match play in the championship flight Friday. Singles matches are slated Friday and Saturday with the semifinals and finals scheduled Sunday. All matches are set for 18 holes.

Andy Purdo, who teamed with Leo Daigle to win the title last year, has Birmingham's Buzz Lewis as his new partner. Daigle is now Indianwood's head pro and no longer eligible for the tourney.

Jim Schmalzreidt and Larry White, champs two years ago and runnersup in 1960, are missing from the field due to their jobs in the East. Among the leading teams are Owen Davis-Bob Erdelon, Jim Haverty-Don Nancarrow and Ferd Henkel-George Wilson.

JOBLESS—Frank Lane has had plenty to say about Kansas City A's owner Charles Finley since being fired as the club's general manager. He claims Finley is thinking of moving the franchise. Frank had fourty years to go on his contract calling for $50,000 per season.

Carries Stadium Blueprints

Finley's Briefcase Key to Future of KC—Lane

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—The future of Major League baseball in Kansas City travels in Charles O. Finley's briefcase, according to deposed A's General Manager Frank Lane.

"Finley has blueprints of a proposed stadium with him," Lane charged yesterday. "Four or five of the players have seen the plans, and some sportscasters and sportswriters saw them in Dallas last week."

Lane, fired Monday by Finley, said the Athletics owner contemplated moving the franchise to Arlington, Tex., which is located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth.

* * *

"But you can't move a home where there is no house, and there's no place to play Major League baseball in Arlington," Lane said. "A stadium would have to be built and that would take time. If Finley is thinking about Arlington as a site for his franchise, he won't be able to move until after the 1962 season because it will take at least that long to build a suitable stadium."

Finley, contacted in Los Angeles, denied he has any intentions of shifting the franchise to another city.

It had been rumored that Finley would move the club to the West Coast if he were unable to find a suitable site in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

* * *

"No one has presented any proposals to move the franchise. Neither have I been seeking any proposals. As far as I know at the moment, we'll be playing in Kansas City next season," the A's owner added.

Little League Champs Honored

Big Battles Loom Ahead Over American Tariffs

EDITOR'S NOTE — Look 'em in the eye! Americans are waking [illegible] against the competitive threat of an all-United Europe. In this, the first of [illegible] articles, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, explains the ways of protecting American jobs and markets.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Will the United States be forced to join some sort of a common market to compete with those who are climbing aboard this kind of bandwagon?

If not, how can it adjust to the new threat to its trade abroad, its markets at home?

MAY JOIN MARKET

A few New York bankers specializing in world trade are betting we will be forced to join in some form of a common market within 10 years. They point to the striking economic growth of the six Continental European nations that formed the common market in 1957. They note that Britain, at first reluctant, now is finding it expedient to ask for admission and that other European nations are moving in the same direction—eventual free trade among members of the club.

* * *

Many American businessmen are dead set against joining in any such pact.

* * *

Some want to fight—with higher tariffs and quota walls. Others favor a drive to get American production costs down to cut prices on exports.

Many, perhaps most, bankers and foreign trade economists feel the United States must meet the threat of competition with a fast growing united European industrial bloc by bargaining.

One of them, William F. Butler economist and vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, wants America to seek concessions abroad for entry of U.S. goods by offering in return to be more hospitable to European goods here.

COMPETITION KEEN

This won't sit well with some American business already suffering. They must compete with goods from brand new European factories with the latest equipment, manned by lower-priced labor, sometimes built with U.S. investments.

* * *

They are clamoring for more protection here. They and their labor unions say U.S. jobs are at stake as well as the health of whole U.S. industries.

Other American businessmen have struck gold in the Common Market. A more prosperous Europe has meant a bigger market for their goods. They see the prospect of an all-European bloc and the growth of similar markets in other parts of the world as the best chance of disposing of an increased American production of materials and finished goods.

This school of thought holds that the answer to our trade problem is bargaining now for better trade terms, and developing more savvy in competition.

Some bankers think that Americans are competing much better in world markets in the last year or so—and that Common Market competition has helped awaken them.

BRITAIN TO GAIN

Britain's entry into the Continental trading pact would help its chemical, electronics, wool fabrics and steel industries to compete on the Continent, these bankers hold. Cotton textile and auto industries on the Continent would be among those gaining by freer entry to British markets.

In all these fields American industries would find the going harder in West Europe—and elsewhere as European industries grew.

* * *

If Britain joins the Continental pact, more U.S. plants may be built there, Butler predicts. They would take advantage of the common language, similar laws and customs and still have full entry to the big markets on the Continent.

* * *

U.S. corporate investment in Britain came to $800 million last year and to $430 million in the Common Market countries of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The total of such U.S. business investments in all parts of the world was $32.7 billion as 1961 started. This is expected to go much higher as more American companies decide this is the only way to meet the new competitive threat.

U.S. JOBS?

But others ask: What about U.S. workers who lose their jobs if we move our production overseas?

That is the big talking point for those who hold we must build tariff walls. It is also a talking point for those who argue Washington must demand a better deal for U.S. goods abroad.

It could turn into one of our liveliest battles—both on the home front and abroad.

British Siren Tells Beau He'd Better Hit the Road

LONDON (AP)—British Actress Joan Collins said Wednesday her engagement to American actor Warren Beatty is off.

"I'm not saying anything more about it," she said in an interview, "but it's definitely off."

Alvin Bentley to Aid Education With Foundation

OWOSSO (AP)—Former Michigan Congressman Alvin M. Bentley Wednesday announced the creation of a foundation in his name for "the advancement of education and charitable endeavors."

Bentley, a wealthy manufacturer, said he will personally contribute $150,000 in direct gifts to the foundation each year for the next seven years, a total of $1,050,000.

Bentley said his purpose in establishing the foundation is to "further my desire to devote my time, effort and fortune to public service."

He said the foundation will act as agency to distribute gifts and grants to charitable, educational and religious institutions.

He Knows What He's Doing—Writes It Down

LANSING (AP)— The mobile travel information units of the State Highway Department ask tourists visiting Michigan various questions, such as:

How did you like the state?

How many miles did you travel?

How much money did you spend?

But one tourist from Bluffston, Ind., replied that he traveled 1,283.3 miles and spent $89.33 in four and one half days.

"I write it down," he explained.

Youngsters to Crowd Main Library Friday

Pontiac's main public library should be a pretty crowded place Friday.

Some 125 or more third-through sixth-grade youngsters are expected at the annual children's party of the library's Summer Reading Club in the library auditorium.

Festivities, including movies, games, storytelling, ginger ale, ginger cookies and jelly beans, are slated to get under way at 2 p.m.

Certificates will be awarded to members who have read a prescribed number of books this summer.

GOP Duo Asks Firing of Bowles, End of Red Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)— Two Republican leaders in Congress called today for muzzling Chester Bowles or firing him from the State Department.

They also urged a clampdown by the Commerce Department on exports to the Soviet bloc.

Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana framed both propositions in the form of "suggestions" to President Kennedy at their weekly news conference.

Typhoon to Hit Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — Typhoon "Lorna" with winds up to 130 miles an hour will batter Formosa with its full force early Friday if it maintains its present course, the weather bureau said today.

Until 1959, paleontologists believed mankind to be 500,000 years old. Then Dr. L. S. B. Leakey reported the discovery in Tanganyika of an earlier man who lived and hunted on the shores of a long-vanished lake some 600,000 yrs. ago.

Automotive Line Average Slips

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued to retreat in moderate trading early today.

Most key stocks were off fractionally. Some took losses of a point or so. A scattering of issues showed wider losses.

The automotive group still showed a lower tone on balance as concern continued about the coming deadline on a labor agreement. Ford, down about a point, was the worst loser, while General Motors yielded a fraction.

Firth was off more than a point, while Mohasco eased as the market evaluated their respective positions in view of the proposed merger, based on an exchange of shares.

Du Pont, off about 3, continued to weigh heavily on the averages. Losses of more than 2 points were taken by such stocks as Phillips Petroleum, Gillette and Zenith.

The Berlin crisis remained a disconcerting background factor but there were no signs that business plans were being revised because of it.

Merck and Pfizer were fractional gainers in a firm drug group. Farm implements and airlines were mixed. Most other major groups were in a downtrend.

The opening of the market was fairly active but trading quieted soon thereafter.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally lower. Sherwin-Williams fell more than a point. Other losers included Aerojet-General, Loral Electronics, Syntex and New Jersey Zinc. Anken Chemical was about a point higher.

Castro's Son Sent to Russia for Education

MIAMI (AP) — The 12-year-old son of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has been flown to Moscow to continue his education, the Miami News says.

Fidelito was sent to Russia Tuesday at his father's direction to set an example for other Cuban parents, the News said.

* * *

The child's mother, Myrta Diaz Balart, divorced from Castro, was seen weeping as Fidelito went aboard Castro's turbo-prop airliner in Havana, reports said.

PROPOSED PHYSICS HALL — Construction of a new three-story wing at the Cranbrook Institute of Science in Bloomfield Hills will begin late this summer. At exhibition level the $200,000 wing will provide three halls for illustrating the principles of physics. A series of offices, laboratories and shops will be accommodated on the ground level while the floor above the exhibition halls will be equipped with another laboratory for the research staff. Funds for construction are assured by a grant from the Skillman Foundation. William E. Kapp of Detroit designed the wing.

Republican Family Picnic Saturday at Ivory Farm

A report on Berlin by Congressman William S. Broomfield, a message from former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, and a talk by on-con candidate George W. Romney will be featured at the 2nd annual Republican Family Fun Day to be held Saturday.

* * *

It will be at the John F. Ivory farm near Union Lake. Registration will begin at 11 a.m.

"The fate of the free world hinges on the outcome of the Berlin dispute," said Broomfield, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "I think the citizens of Oakland County should be as fully informed on the facts as our national security will permit."

Nixon is expected to send greetings to the nearly two thousand Oakland Republicans expected to attend the picnic affair. He will send the message either by telegram or via a direct telephone call from California hooked into the public address system, said County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr.

Making another phone call will be Romney, GOP candidate for the county's senatorial con-con seat.

The president of American Motors Corp. from Bloomfield Hills will dial a telephone number at random and urge the person answering to vote in the Sept. 12 con-con election. Also, he will ask the person to call a friend and urge him to vote.

Romney will deliver the keynote address on the forthcoming convention at 2 p.m.

Republicans will also award prizes totaling $1,950 in savings bonds.

The outing will include free food, swimming, games and a 45-minute diving exhibition by a team of collegiate divers. The exhibition will be in the morning.

Can't Accept Pool and Keep Getting Welfare

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Elna Sawicki can't accept the $4,000 swimming pool she won recently on a television show and still draw the $400 monthly she gets in welfare aid for her nine children.

That was the verdict Wednesday of Michael F. Ethel, chairman of the Welfare Board, who said, "Under no conditions would we allow her to take the pool and still retain the aid to dependent children payments."

* * *

He said the pool itself was not objected to but rather the fact that some welfare funds might go into its upkeep.

Mrs. Sawicki said earlier she intended to accept the pool, won with other gifts on ABC's "Queen for a Day." She said if welfare aid was cut off she would go to work. A divorcee, she has nine children, 18 months to 17 years, at home and a tenth, a son, 9, is in a state hospital.

Clears Officer in Sea Disaster

Colonel Found Innocent of Neglect in Collapse of Texas Tower

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — The law officer presiding at the court-martial of Col. William M. Banks, 46, today found him innocent of neglect in the collapse of a Texas Tower in the Atlantic Ocean Jan. 15. His finding still is subject to approval by the board of officers of the court.

The court recessed after the finding by the officer, Col. Jean Rydstrom, and was to resume this afternoon for a decision by the eight officers comprising the board.

The prosecution concluded its arguments at 9:30 a.m. The defense immediately moved for dismissal of the charge.

Says 'End' Will Come Within Generation

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The president of the International Watch Tower Society of Jehovah's Witnesses has said that "within this generation, society as we know it faces a cataclysmic end."

* * *

Nathan H. Knorr, who also is a leading Jehovah's Witnesses minister, said the end would come "to make way for the millennial kingdom of God."

An estimated 25,000 listeners gathered to hear Knorr describe what he called final chapter of old world history. The religious sect is holding a six-day meeting here which ends Sunday.

* * *

Knorr said the "last days" of Christendom began in 1914 at the outbreak of World War I.

Japanese Mayor Sends Peace Bell to Kennedy

Nakagawa, whose home city is in southwest Japan, said he plans to present a similar peace bell to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Hurd Division to Leave Almont

Lock Firm's Service Branch Going South; Rest May Follow

ALMONT (UPI) — Hurd Lock Co. Service Division Manager Julius Clello has confirmed that operations will be moved from Almont to Greenville, Tenn. The local plant employs 200.

Peter Popp, president of United Auto Workers Local 831 which represents the Hurd workers here, said the union offered to take 40 cent hourly wage cuts to keep the service division in Almont.

But he said the company gave no assurance that the wage cut offer would keep the service division here so the offer was withdrawn.

Only the service division of Hurd's Almont operation is affected. Popp said Hurd has indicated the remainder of the local operation will also be moved to Greenville if the service division move proves economical.

Hope to Maneuver School Bill to Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House may get a chance to vote on the administration's stripped down federal school aid package after all. Then again it may not.

The Democratic leadership decided Wednesday to split the package into two separate bills. The strategy is to try to bring up one or both of them two weeks from now under a parliamentary oddity called calendar Wednesday. This would bypass the House Rules Committee, where the administration's original school program came to grief in a squabble over federal aid to parochial schools.

* * *

Speaker Sam Rayburn conferred with President Kennedy Wednesday, then called a meeting of Democrats most closely concerned with the aid to education program. Education Committee Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., said after the meeting two separate bills would be hammered out overnight, but all elements of the administration compromise plan would be retained.

U.S. to Witness Almost Complete Eclipse Friday

NEW YORK (AP)—Sky watchers will see an almost total eclipse of the moon Friday night —depending upon visibility.

More than 99 per cent of the moon's disk will pass through the earth's shadow, the American Museum – Hayden Planetarium said.

* * *

Astronomers at the planetarium said the eclipse could be visible from all parts of the United States, except the northwestern tip of Alaska.

* * *

It will start at 8:35 p.m., Pontiac time, and the visible phase will end at 1:41 a.m.

Botanist Missing in Central Idaho

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — A botanist was missing today in the cliff-slashed crags area of central Idaho's primitive Salmon River country.

Guide Gerald Ritchie said Dr. Pechanec, a member of a party of naturalists, went off by herself Tuesday afternoon. Authorities believe she may have fallen and been hurt or may be trapped on a cliff or ledge.

It's a truism — shiftless people seldom get into high gear . . . A man's getting old when he begins to take excuses to stay home, where he used to make excuses to get out.—E. H. Wilson.

Ask County Court Setup Replace System of JPs

LANSING (AP) — Abolishment of the office of justice of the peace and creation of a county court system in its place was proposed today by a committee of attorneys.

The committee, reviving a proposal rejected by the legislature some 15 years ago, will submit its plan to the Michigan State Bar convention next month in Detroit. Endorsement by the Bar could lead to a new drive for legislative approval in 1962.

The Bar committee, headed by Chester J. Burns of Benton Harbor, urged the convention to call on the constitutional convention that will meet in October to abolish the constitutional status of justices of the peace.

* * *

Barring this, it said, powers of justice courts should be limited by law to those set forth in the constitution, "thus permitting this office to wither on the vine."

The proposed county court would be a limited circuit court rather than "a glorified justice of the peace court," the committee said. It would take over all powers and jurisdiction of the justice courts as well as minor cases now handled by the circuit courts.

This, said the committee "may permit the circuit courts to partly supply the demand for an intermediate appeal court between a competent trial court and the Supreme Court."

OTHER COURTS INTACT

In counties with less than 250,000 residents, the county court also would take over the duties of circuit court commissioners. Municipal, police, common pleas and other inferior courts would be left intact.

The legislature would make annual appropriations to finance county court operations, but counties could supplement salaries of the judges. Only attorneys would be permitted to sit on the bench.

Another committee appointed by the Bar to study civil liberties asserted that "intelligent law enforcement" can cope adequately with the problems of pornographic literature without additional legislation. The committee assailed "vigilant committees intimidating local officials and book sellers."

Army May Call Guard Units

October Could Bring Federal Summons to Some Alerted Outfits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are that the Army will begin bringing into federal service by early or mid-October some of the 37 National Guard units which have been alerted for call up.

* * *

This seemed to be suggested in Army answers to questions today about possible methods for bringing alerted units up to full strength.

* * *

Under the law, a member of a Reserve outfit or an individual reservist cannot be transferred involuntarily to a National Guard unit while that unit is still under control of a state. He may be assigned only temporarily for training.

However, he may be "designated" in advance, a spokesman explained. This means that he may be informed in advance that if and when a certain National Guard unit goes into federal service—and passes out from under state authority—he will be assigned as a filler to build up strength of that unit.

NOTIFY BY SEPT. 15

The fillers would be drawn from Reserve outfits which themselves have not been alerted for possible call.

Such notification to individuals, under the new program, must be made by Sept. 15, the Army said.

* * *

This appeared to indicate that the Army is shaping its plans to provide for summoning in the month following Sept. 15 at least some of the 37 National Guard units, and possibly some of the 76 U.S. Army Reserve units, which have been alerted.

Senate to Decide Fate of Funds for Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's Peace Corps measure faces the first of a series of Senate tests today, with the outcome of a move to cut its full authorization by $15 million in doubt.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he thought there was a good chance the Senate would reduce the proposed over-all outlay from $40 million to $25 million.

* * *

However, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, predicted in a separate interview that the legislation would ride through the Senate without substantial change.

Humphrey conceded there may be trouble in the House.

Pontiac Motor Holds Sales Meeting on TV

A Pontiac national sales meeting today was to be delivered to the division's cross-country dealer organization in 26 cities by a closed circuit telecast originating from Detroit's Masonic Temple.

Getting under way at 1 p.m. the meeting was to focus on Pontiac sales objectives for 1962 with featured addresses by S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and Pontiac general manager, and F. V. Bridge, Pontiac general sales manager.

Following the one-hour telecast 13,000 dealers and salesmen were to preview the new 1962 Pontiac automobiles on display in each location.

Pontiac will unveil its newline to the public in dealer show rooms on Thursday, Sept. 21.
