JFK Vails Report on Military Spending Review

PLANE SMASHES TRUCK—A city surveying truck is smashed beneath a United Air Lines DC8 jet liner, carrying 122 persons, which crashed while landing Tuesday at Stapleton Field in Denver.

Plane Passenger Criticizes Fire Equipment at Stapleton

DENVER (UPI)—A young Air Force officer aboard the United Air Lines DC8 jet which crashed at Stapleton Field Tuesday said there was not enough fire equipment on the field and it did not reach the burning wreck soon enough.

"Quicker fire fighting would have resulted in saving more lives," said Lt. John H. Gelston, 24, an engineer assigned to Air Defense Command Headquarters at Colorado Springs. He is a licensed pilot.

"Keyholes said fire trucks did not reach the wreck for 'a good 10 minutes'."

Denver Safety Manager John M. Schooley said today there was insufficient fire equipment at the airport. "We just do not have adequate equipment for these new aircraft," he said.

Ironically, the city had called for bids to build a new airport fire station barely 24 hours before the crash.

Several passengers said the pilot, Capt. John Grosse of Denver, told them 10 minutes before the crash that the fire equipment was inadequate and that there would be fire trucks along the runway.

Gelston, who was uninjured, said that in his judgment there was negligence "as far as immediate with three small airplane of Dr. Earl Guyer, a psychologist at the U. S. Veterans Hospital at Fort Lyon, Colo. Dr. Guyer had come here to meet them at the airport. He was in seclusion today.

The fire department regularly has three pieces of equipment, including a foam sprayer, at the airport. Other foam sprayers and additional fire equipment were sent to the scene after the crash from other Denver stations.

John M. Schooley, city manager of safety, said: "We just do not have adequate equipment for these new aircraft. This is a situation that has disturbed me for a long time."

Mayor Dick Battenfield said the present equipment "is to be adequate because it is all that's available."

Henry Blom, St. driving a survey truck for the city, was killed when the big plane swerved off the runway and crashed the truck.

Demands GM Pay Insurance

UAW Wants Full Cost of Health-Care Plan for 310,000 Foted by Firm

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers union demanded today that General Motors Corp. take over the full cost of health care insurance for 310,000 UAW members in GM plants.

The union also asked that the company place 34,000 retired hourly workers and their dependents under the hospital-surgical-medical program. Workers pay the full cost of medical care insurance upon retirement. The company and employees share the cost on a 50-50 basis during active employment.

Similar demands to expand the health care program will be made by the UAW on Ford, Chrysler and American Motors in current labor contract negotiations.

The UAW has listed improved health care as one of its main goals in the current labor contract negotiations.

In negotiations at Ford Tuesday the union bargaining team demanded a higher level of pension benefits coupled with optional early retirement at age 60.

Seek Prisoner Who Escaped in Leap From Car

Oakland County sheriff's deputies and police still were searching today for a prisoner who escaped by jumping out of a probation officer's car en route to the county jail yesterday.

John Exelby, 35, of 122 N. Washington St., Royal Oak, a self-employed house painter, had appeared in Federal Municipal Court on charges of probation violation and had been sentenced to the county jail.

The car slowed on Lincoln Street to turn onto Woodward Avenue in Royal Oak and Exelby exited, disappearing before the officers. Constable Konczal, could get out and chase him.

and the airliner exploded and plowed into the ground in flames.

Wreckage was strewn about and portions of the main cabin were damaged. Coffins for those in the flight were taken to the airport. Fire teams and crews from Casablanca rushed to the crash scene.

The plane was on a regular flight from Prague to Accra, Ghana. It only stop en route to Casablanca had been at Zurich.

It was the second Africa-bound Czechoslovak airliner to crash within four months. Another Tysulin-18 crashed near Nuernberg, Germany, on March 29 and all 52 persons aboard were killed.

The pilot of the plane that crashed today was Capt. Josef Mikus. Officials said the passengers included at least 19 Moroccans and 27 citizens of Mali, an African Negro republic.

Zurich Airport authorities said that so far as they knew the European passengers were all Russian, Czechs or Poles. The passenger list included five children.

One official, who refused to be identified, said a number of Soviet flying instructors were on the ill-fated flight. He reported they were en route to train Negro air crews in Guinea and Ghana.

May Get Result by Next Week

Defense Department to Ask More Funds, Eyes Call of Reserves

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House said today it expects the Pentagon to report to President Kennedy "rather promptly" on the military spending review ordered as a result of the planned Soviet arms build-up.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters he thought there was a good chance the Defense Department report would go to the President next week.

Salinger said there were no plans for the President to talk with his top military advisers at the White House today about increasing U.S. military spending, as had been reported by acting Chairman A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., of the Senate Defense Appropriations subcommittee.

Asked if there was any plan for the President to send a special defense message to Congress, he said there was no current plan, although he would not rule out the possibility.

He said he expected a message to Congress in the near future on Kennedy's plans for expansion of civil defense in light of the international situation.

Name Deputy as City Clerk

Mrs. Olga Barkeley to Certify Bond Sale; May Keep Post

The title of Pontiac city clerk has been passed to Mrs. Olga Barkeley, at least for the time being.

Deputy clerk the past 18 months, Mrs. Barkeley was unanimously appointed clerk last night after the City Commission found itself faced with a troublesome technicality.

Mrs. Barkeley had filled the role of clerk at City Commission meetings since Mrs. Ada R. Evans retired in May.

But when it came time for sale of general obligation bonds last night, legal advisers insisted that the sale be certified by the city clerk and not by anyone else, not even by the deputy clerk. The bond issue was for the $3.2 million expansion of sewage disposal facilities.

So the appointment of Mrs. Barkeley was made, at Mayor Philip E. Rowston's suggestion, and Mrs. Barkeley certified the documents.

Employed in the clerk's office since March 15, 1959, initially as a temporary clerk, Mrs. Barkeley will occupy the top of the office at least until the bond sale is completed by financiers in a month or so.

She has already been considered by the commission for a permanent appointment to the job.

No final decision has been made yet, Rowston reported. Until one is, Mrs. Barkeley will fill the post without any salary increase.

Adenauer in Berlin; May Be Last Visit

BERLIN (UPI)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer flew into West Berlin today to offer his government's full support to the isolated city once again threatened by the Communists.

The Communists predicted this would be his last visit to free West Berlin.

The 56-year-old chancellor made the trip from Bonn through the Western access air corridors to the city in a U.S. military transport plane.

The Soviets have said they will sign a unilateral peace treaty with Communist East Germany that would end Western allied rights in Berlin.

The Communists called Adenauer's visit a "provocation."

Two Sent to Jail for Siphoning Gas

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum today ordered jail sentences for two young men who admitted siphoning gas from a truck in the Farmer's Market lot, 484 Auburn Ave.

Charles E. Glover, 30, of 3 Front St., was sentenced to 60 days in jail, and Kyle P. O'Berry, 31, of 199 S. East Blvd., to 30 days.

Police arrested them after E. E. Duseau, 464 Auburn Ave., notified officers that the pair were acting suspiciously in the lot. Duseau's car had been stripped of two tires the previous evening.

Senate Group Approves 2 Kennedy Nominations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved without dissent today President Kennedy's nomination of New Orleans Mayor LeDessire S. Morrison as U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States.

The committee likewise approved the nomination of veteran career officer Robert F. Woodward of Minnesota to be assistant secretary of state for Inter-American Affairs.

James I. Miller Service for James I. Miller, 73, of 224 E. Brown St., will be 3 p.m. Friday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Miller died yesterday following a long illness.

A Birmingham resident seven years, he was a retired building contractor, in partnership in the Detroit firm of Miller-Hodge.

He is survived by his wife May M.; a daughter, Mrs. Hugh Stevenson of Birmingham; a sister and two grandchildren.

Charge Allies Send W. German Troops to Berlin

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communists charged today that Western allied commercial airlines have flown two full West German Army divisions into West Berlin.

A broadcast by the East German radio said the troops had arrived to start "provocations" against East Germany.

The Communist charge, which said the German troops had been stationed in West Berlin "disguised as reservists," was seen as a possible indication of a new threat to the Allied air routes into the city.

A West Berlin city government spokesman dismissed the Communist charge as "complete nonsense." There was no immediate reaction from allied quarters.

Kennedy Going All Out to Push Foreign Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy is putting on an all-out, personal campaign to push his embattled foreign-aid program through Congress.

President's Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters today the President is "doing everything possible to bring about the enactment of such legislation."

This includes calling in groups of Senate and House members for intimate chats at the White House.

Kennedy already has seen several members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Salinger said similar groups will be coming to the White House in the future.

WASHINGTON (U)—The Defense Department says it is not confronted with a Berlin blockade but obviously there are plans for an airlift.

Ayub and JFK Talk Soil, Salt

President Promises to Study Pakistan's Barren Land Problem

WASHINGTON (U)—Pakistan President Ayub Khan and President Kennedy sidestepped the delicate question of Kashmir today and devoted their second meeting entirely to Pakistan's economic development problems.

Kennedy told Ayub that he is assigning his science advisory committee to make a special study of excess salinity which has robbed 27 million acres of Pakistan soil of its fertility.

President's Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy made a firm commitment to send a team of U.S. scientists to Pakistan to see what can be done to help reduce the salt content of the barren soil.

Asked whether the American scientists would work with Soviet experts who already have interested themselves in the problem, Salinger said the Americans would "work with the Pakistan government."

Kashmir had been listed previously as the principal topic for discussion at today's meeting, but Salinger said it was not taken up because the other talks took up all the allotted time.

It will be brought up at the third and final meeting Thursday, he said.

Berlin Airlift Planned

WASHINGTON (U)—The Defense Department says it is not confronted with a Berlin blockade but obviously there are plans for an airlift.

Citizens Group to Look Into Old City Rulings

Mayor Philip E. Rowston is going to appoint a citizens study committee to look into the city's 1,200 ordinances and decide which need fixing up and which tossing.

Formation of the committee should be ready for announcement in a couple weeks, the mayor told Commission Robert A. Landry and other commissioners at last night's meeting.

It was Landry who proposed such a committee, observing that many ordinances are outdated and unwieldy.

Landry suggested that a committee might get started on rectifying some of them as part of a long-term modernization program.

Rowston indicated, however, that the committee might accept responsibility for a more ambitious job.

The scope of the committee's activities will have been settled by the time committee members' names are announced.

Rowston said he would include lawyers on the committee, as well as businessmen and others.

Scattered Showers Roam Across Nation

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes today, with more showers in scattered sections in the eastern two-thirds and fairly mild temperatures in most areas.

Thunderstorms rumbled across areas in the central Plains, West Texas and New Mexico during the night. New Mexico State Police reported a tornado near Hobbs, but there were no reports of injuries. More than an inch of rain fell in a six-hour period at Goodland, Kan., and Amarillo, Tex.

Remembering Old Days Is Pleasant

You Young Folks Missed Out on Plenty

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (U) — Some say this is the best time to be young. Some say there never was a worse time.

But life is a mosaic of many memories, and any youngster of today, by coming along so late, by the nature of things will have missed a lot of what went before.

Many a man or woman, middle-aged or older, feels a bit sorry for young folks who can't remember when—

You could buy a white shirt for a dollar bill.

No child dared to call his father or mother "stupid" or "dilly."

One of the perils of learning to shave was—if you used a straight-edged razor—the danger of slicing off the tip of your nose.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache or muscle pain when you wake up in the morning is a sure sign of over-exercising, emotional stress or day to day wear and tear on your body.

If you are miserable and wake up with aches and pains, it may be because of these discomforts. Don't let them help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys—tending to increase the output of the bladder. Judge Murphy Dies in Hospital

Veteran of 25 Years on Detroit Court Bench Suffers Heart Attack

DETROIT (AP)—Recorder's Court Judge George Murphy, veteran of more than 25 years service on the bench, died Tuesday at Deaconess Hospital. He was 64.

Judge Murphy entered the hospital early Tuesday after battling a severe cold and bronchial condition. He suffered a heart attack, one of a number he had experienced since 1941.

Judge Murphy was a brother of the late Frank Murphy, former Michigan governor and U.S. Supreme Court justice, and government general of the Philippines.

George Murphy's death ended the Murphy clan. The whole family came from Harbor Beach. Murphy was elected to the Detroit Recorder's (Criminal) Court bench in April 1933, and re-elected every six years after that. During World War II, Judge Murphy returned to the Naval Service and served in the Pacific. He had served as an aviator in World War I.

During his time in the service he returned his pay as a judge to the City of Detroit. Gov. Swainson said in Lansing Judge Murphy was "a great, humanitarian judge."

Murphy leaves his widow, Brigid, and two daughters, Frances Ann, 14, and Margarette Mavourneen, 12.

MARILYN LEAVES HOSPITAL—Actress Marilyn Monroe sits in a wheel chair as she leaves Polyclinic Hospital in New York City Tuesday after a recent emergency gall bladder operation. An attendant pushed her in a wheel chair to a waiting automobile. A hospital spokesman said the film star cannot walk completely upright because certain muscles are not yet functioning normally.

Burned Boy Listed in Fair Condition

One of two young brothers, burned in Oxford Township last night when a gasoline can exploded, was listed in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Earl Hill, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Joyce Hill, suffered severe burns on his back, both legs and arms. He and his 14-year-old brother William lit a match to gasoline they had spilled from a can alongside the Hill house trailer in Parkhurst Trailer Park.

The flames spread to the gasoline can and it exploded next to the boys. William was burned on his right hand and was treated and released from the hospital.

The degree of the younger boy's burns was undetermined today at the hospital.

Lapel Pins Separate Members From Pages

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When Ohio's 104th General Assembly convened recently, a truckers' association provided each senator and representative with a lapel pin bearing the figures "104."

One legislator says the pins come in handy because "they help separate the members from the pages."

Hear Testimony of Police Chief

Jurors Told Peebles Went to Pieces When Informed He Killed Wife

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Rockford Police Chief Jule Ford described J. Otto Peebles Tuesday as a mild-mannered, good-natured man who went "nearly crazy" when he was told he had killed his wife.

Ford, a close friend of Peebles for about 20 years, related to the jury that what happened at the Rockford State Police Post following the March 18 shooting when he informed Peebles, who is now on trial for murder, that his wife had died at St. Mary's Hospital.

"He jumped up and sobbed very loudly. I was afraid he was going to mar his face with his hands and I had to restrain him. It was nearly crazy."

Ford, who often hunted and traded guns with Peebles, said he never knew the Grand Rapids man to get in an argument and said he had no enemies.

"He was very jolly, good-natured and liked to kid and joke. He never went into a rage or got violent," Ford said.

Today, as the trial entered its sixth day, the prosecution was scheduled to parade more witnesses to the stand.

Peebles is charged with slaying his wife at the Silver Lake cottage of Mary Catherine Voss near Rockford. The defense contends Peebles shot his wife and Roy Staples, 44, of Columbus, Ind., when he caught them embracing. The night throve Peebles temporarily out of his mind, the defense has claimed.

Power of Federal Govt. Grows in Local Affairs

One little town in New York State is out to protect its taxpayers and by so doing has caused quite a furor. The City is Newburgh, which has a population of 30,000 and we can't help but admire their spunk.

The municipality had a gripe so they sought a conference with State authorities about the heavy relief burden which was taking one dollar in three of its taxpayers' levies.

Action was slow and the State failed to reply, so the City put 13 rules into effect which would limit relief to the able-bodied or put them to work, and discourage unwed mothers from having additional illegitimate children to qualify for higher relief payments.

How right or wrong the rules are is a moot point. What is interesting is the demonstration of the growth of Federal Government power in local affairs.

Even if the State authorities agreed that Newburgh taxpayers were being victimized, they still threatened to withhold State funds from the City unless the rules were abolished.

Their reasoning is that by failing to coerce Newburgh, the State's $150 million a year payment from the Federal Government for relief would be jeopardized.

Net results is the entire might of the State and Federal Governments are brought to bear upon this small town, which is merely trying to stop chiseling in its own backyard.

The reasoning behind the State's stand is put by the New York Times this way: "The State and Federal Governments, supplying a considerable percentage of the money, have a legal as well as moral interest in standards."

Of course, the Newburghers are the source of State and Federal funds in the first place. Once having paid these taxes, the reasoning goes, they must hold still while their own money is used to force them to do something they don't believe is in the best interest of the community.

When a local community is prevented from running its city to suit itself through threats that State and Federal funds will be cut off the principle of home rule for our cities is being threatened.

(Editor's Note: For further evaluation we are printing the 13 rules set forth by the City of Newburgh elsewhere on this page.)

Adenauer Is Resolute Defender of Free Berlin

Chancellor KONRAD ADENAUER of the West German Federal Republic makes his first visit in more than a year and a half to West Berlin to-day.

The obvious reason is to demonstrate support for West Berlin's ties with free Germany. This grand old man has been a bulwark of strength when Germany needed it.

Naturally, the Soviet Union would comment as they did and claim the visit would mark "a high point in the provocation."

Adenauer is still the champion of reunified Germany, perhaps the last great one, but even he has had to bow somewhat to power realities. He is the oldest of the leaders around the globe siding with the West.

In his Christmas message to his nation last year he made no mention of reunification, but said only: "We must do everything we can to prevent another two and a half million Germans of West Berlin from being robbed of their freedom."

There is, of course, another political reason for the Adenauer visit. Though he will be pushing 86, he will run for re-election in September as a leader of the Christian Democrats. And his opponent will be West Berlin's own Mayor Willy Brandt, the 46-year-old wonder boy of German politics, who was nominated last August by the Social Democrats.

Aside from his defiance to the Reds, The Old One is showing the electorate that he is as spry as ever, and as ever a stalwart defender of Free Berlin.

Aftermath of Fireworks

Despite generations of warnings, we still had to publish several stories after the Fourth with details of injuries to celebrants. The toll is less than in former years when the holiday meant maiming and blindness for scores, but its still dismaying to read of youngsters permanently injured.

Most people have decided to leave the gunpowder to the experts at professional displays, but there are still a few who play foolish, dangerous games with their futures.

The Man About Town

Some Tigers Here But Several of the Real Stars Are Rather Scarce

Two heads: What are no better than one if both are empty.

If there's anything in a name, we might get up a Detroit baseball team in Pontiac. But, according to the city directory, we'd have difficulty in filling some of the most important positions.

Take this Cash, for instance. We have one, and he doesn't seem interested. But in the cash line we have several Pennys, a few Halfpennys, a Nickel, a Half, a Dollar, two Grands, no Spoundulles, three Coins, no Lucres, and no Millions or Wealthys. Perhaps some of the above might play Cash's position or pinch hit for him—but, perchance the thought of such a thing for that boy.

Likewise, it would be quite impossible to organize a winning team, as we have no Kalmes, Bors, Colavios, Roarkes, Woodriffs, Bunnings, Gladdins or Began.

But we could furnish several Osbornes, Woods, Browns and Maxwells, three Bernanders, one McCallite ("but shes-a nurse"), many Mertons, several Bruses, a whole column of Foxes, a quartet of Rosenes, a couple of Fischers and a lone Aquire.

And now this lazy old coot is getting down to what he's getting up to. He could have called you up, but that's too much work. But he would like to hear from anyone in Pontiac or vicinity who is a relative of a Detroit Tiger. He might bum a ticket from them.

Now England is heard from. Copies of our Centennial issue were sent by W. H. Marshall.

of Waterford to his sisters across the sea, and has received letters from them, expressing amazement at its size and contents, as compared with what England's newspapers can do.

Circle dates of Aug. 8 to 12 on your calendar. That's when the Oakland County 4-H Club Fair, largest in Michigan, takes place on its grounds, off Perry Street.

"You're Kiddin'!—I'm THE President"

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Something experimental and novel has been added to the executive system of the United States—a military statesman in the White House alongside a civilian president.

Throughout military circles, here and abroad, there is wide-spread curiosity, if not some concern, as to how the new arrangement will work out.

Will it eventually mean a single military chief for the United States reporting directly to the President? Will it mean a new supervisor of the whole defense operation, both civilian and military?

These questions have arisen because President Kennedy has selected Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, formerly chief of staff of the United States Army, to serve in a special post at the White House covering duties which have never before been entrusted to any single military man.

Naturally, in the armed services themselves there is a bit of worry as to what changes will come. Assurances have been given officially by the President that the Joint Chiefs of Staff will still have direct access to him and that the presence of the chairman of the joint chiefs at National Security Council meetings will not be in any way of less importance than before.

MOST INFLUENTIAL

Yet, from a practical point of view, Gen. Taylor is bound to become the most influential man in any way of less importance than before.

Gen. Taylor is an outstanding military man. He has the respect of his colleagues. He also is thoroughly familiar with the work of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, because he served on it and met certain frustrations there.

Rivalries between the armed services are due to a variety of causes, but the principal one is the amount of financial recognition given to each service through congressional appropriations.

MILITARY BACKGROUND

cided to appoint Gen. Taylor primarily because he needed at his side someone with a military background.

President Eisenhower didn't need such a man, as he himself had had this experience in World War II and throughout his lifetime in the military service.

But Kennedy discovered in connection with the Cuban "invasion" that it was difficult to concentrate on an operation as important as this proved to be and yet carry on the normal business of the government.

Gen. Taylor's task, in serving the President, is likely to be one of examination of the reports that come from all sources in the government as they affect the military.

He probably will have little or nothing to do with arms production or the Defense Department as such. But he undoubtedly will act as the principal adviser of the President on defense policy and, in a sense, will be somewhere in between the secretary of defense and the secretary of state, in his job as liaison man between all of these services and the Chief Executive.

Fears and suspicions that all this will make a change in the functions of the joint chiefs will continue for a while, and much will depend on the exact manner in which Gen. Taylor performs his duties.

It will be up to him to win the confidence of the joint chiefs, as well as of the secretary of defense and secretary of state, in his job as liaison man between all of these services and the Chief Executive.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Presidents Should Have Regular Examinations

as pleurisy, pneumonia, cholelithiasis or ileitis. "There is a good cause for alarm, I think, when a doctor pronounced an indisposition or illness 'just a cold' or 'indigestion,' for that is tantamount to saying he doesn't know what ails the patient for he hopes to conceal the seriousness of the illness."

Signed letters, not more than one per person, should be sent to the personal health and hygiene, and signed by Dr. William Brady, if you are a doctor, please send them to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1961)

Harding did not live out his administration. Cox lived well into the eighties.

So I thought then, as I do now, that as a matter of good sense we should have some means of assurance of the fitness of candidates and incumbents to hold office.

History showed that Harding was unfit, there was much evidence that Roosevelt was unfit when he went to Yalta, and it is at least questionable whether Eisenhower was fit when he had what the doctors around him admitted was a "stroke stroke."

REGULAR CHECKS NEEDED

If a candidate or incumbent is fit to discharge the duties of the office he seeks or holds, there is no good reason why he should not be willing to submit to a regular physical examination.

If the candidate or incumbent knows or suspects he is not fit, it is understandable that he should prefer to avoid such a test and, of course, demand compliance with his wishes on the part of all his subordinates, underlings, political lieutenants and deserving party workers.

In the early stage of an illness, even the doctors around the President hand out the old hokum about "cold" or "indigestion" — they know better, but they harbor a peculiar notion that it is better to make a phony diagnosis than it is to alarm the people by telling the truth.

Far be it from me — or maybe it is characteristic of me — to say that any doctor who calls an illness or indisposition a "cold" or "indigestion" in the case of a president is hedging on the diagnosis, taking advantage of the common belief that "cold" or "indigestion" may turn into something serious later.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Strategy in Winning Husband

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-438: Marilyn T., aged 20, is the pretty coed who decided to adopt the "reverse English" strategy to win a husband.

She was sincerely interested in handicapped children, so I urged her to take some courses that would be especially helpful.

"Now, remember," I warned her, "you are planning to be a teacher of the handicapped, so be sure you let your name companions know of your goal in life."

"And stick by your guns, for if you do not get married, you should have a worthwhile career."

"Thus, when the first boy acts romantically, push him away but gentlemanly, and when he is sincere for the compliment but remind him you simply can't marry because you want to help crippled children!"

SENeca'S ADVICE

This "reverse English" strategy is simply Seneca's advice adapted for girls.

A young man once consulted Seneca, the famous Roman philosopher who was a contemporary of Jesus (A.D. to S.A.D.).

This young man was having trouble winning his sweetheart. So he asked Seneca how to deal with women successfully.

"Go to the archer," replied Seneca, "and see how he handles his bow. With one hand he pushes it away, but with the other he pulls it back again."

meant was "keep 'em guessing."

And that is exactly the technique I urged Marilyn to adopt.

Boys like to see a girl who has a broad perspective and is committed to an altruistic goal in life.

For then they figure she is sincere and concerned with capturing them as marriage partners.

Related and at ease, they let down and have fun, for they figure they need not maintain a constant guard.

If she then inflates their ego with deft praise and repeats the compliments on every subsequent date, she teaches the boy to lean upon her for emotional support.

"Other folks bathe down my pride," said a boy subconsciously, "but Marilyn always makes me feel wonderful."

When he is away from Marilyn, he encounters rebuffs, reprisals, scoldings and other deflation of his ego.

So he wants to run back to Marilyn, much as little boys run to mother to have their bumps knuckled.

Marilyn's prompt compliments reassure the boy. Soon he is leaning on her as a supporting crutch for his ego.

When he later wakes up to the fact that she may be leaving, he teaches at some distant school, he suddenly gets panicky at losing the crutch.

"But just cannot do that to me!" he thinks excitedly. "Why I can't get along without her!"

And that's when he really gets up the pressure to have her change her mind about a teaching career, so she will marry him.

"Marilyn," he pleads, "You can still teach a Sunday school class and later on, your training with our children, but please let's get married."

Well, that's exactly how Marilyn's case turned out. Within the next year she was coaxed into an apparently reluctant consent to be married.

To help improve your batting average as mates, send for the

You must use your best guess to get married, especially if you wish to stay that way, happily!

Economist Meets Rusk With Plan to Populate Amazon Basin

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young Brazilian economist meets with Secretary of State Dean Rusk today to present a bold plan aimed at solving one of the biggest problems in Latin America: development of the sprawling and poverty-stricken Brazilian Northeast.

Already there have been rumblings of revolt from this drought-stricken area twice the size of Texas where 18 million peasants lack a bare existence as sugar plantation laborers. Nearby lies the fertile and unexploited Amazon River basin.

Celso Furtado, 40, director of Brazil's Northeast Development Agency, hopes to bring together the untapped riches of the Amazon and the hungry unemployed of the dusty Northeast.

RESETTLEMENT
His five-year $500 million development plan for the area calls for the resettlement of almost a million people in the virgin lands of the Amazon and a large scale assistance program for the rest of the region.

The United States, keenly aware of the importance of Brazil, the fourth largest country in the world, only recently put together a Brazilian aid package estimated to total of $1 billion.

Rockwell Nazis Picket NAACP Delegate Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People moved to Washington today and immediately ran into picketing by khaki-clad storm troopers of George Lincoln Rockwell's self-styled Nazi party.

As more than 1,000 delegates to the convention gathered in the main concourse of Union Station after arriving by train from Philadelphia, about 25 Rockwell followers marched outside.

The NAACP delegates were grouped beneath banners indicating areas from which they came for a mass lobbying campaign for immediate action on civil rights legislation.

The Rockwell followers carried American and Nazi flags as they marched in a circle on the street outside—barraged from railroad station grounds by police.

Put Off Delivery of Notes to Moscow

LONDON (UPI)—The Western powers have put off delivery of their Berlin notes to Moscow until next week, diplomatic officials said today.

The Big Three Western powers have drafted notes to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev reaffirming their position in West Berlin and refuting the Soviet challenge of their rights in the divided city.

The notes were to have been delivered to the Kremlin this week. But their dispatch now has been put off until next week, the sources said.

Reason for the delay is protracted consultations with the Allies in the North Atlantic Council, the sources said.

Sentenced for Entering Brother's Home Illegally

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth who pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally entering an older brother's home was sentenced to 90 days in the Oakland County Jail today.

Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finegan imposed the sentence on Thomas E. Bergeron, 212 Seward St.

He had admitted entering the home of his brother, Marcel Bergeron, 24, of 726 E. Terryson Ave., on July 4 without permission.

City Approves Selling Bonds for Sewer Plant

City Commissioners last night approved the sale of $3.33 million worth of general obligation bonds to finance the $2.2 million expansion of sewage disposal facilities.

The 30-year bond issue was sold to the First of Michigan Corp. of Detroit at the relatively low net interest rate of 2.9749 per cent.

Under a previously announced plan, some $330,000 of the last-maturing bonds were immediately retired at no interest costs, leaving the outstanding bonds at $2.2 million.

It was estimated that the city will have to pay $1,814,740 in interest payments over the 30-year period.

The first of Michigan bid was the lowest of four submitted.

Drexel & Co. of New York bid $3.04198 per cent, Halney, Stuart

& Co., Inc. of Chicago 3.0466 per cent and Goldman Sachs & Co. of New York 3.1387 per cent.

First of Michigan will now put the bonds on sale on the bond market.

It was after the Municipal Finance Commission approved a bond issue of $3.33 million that low construction bids came in, indicating the cost would be $330,000 less than anticipated.

Under the plan suggested by City Manager Walter K. Williams, the city avoided having to appear before the Municipal Finance Commission a second time for permission to sell a lower bond issue.

Sale of the bonds has increased the indebtedness on the full faith and credit of the city to $6,819,000. This includes $2,470,000 worth of general obligation bonds for Pontiac General Hospital and $36,000 worth of debt refunding bonds.

The sewage disposal bonds were sold, without a public vote, on the basis of a court order, obtained by the Water Resources Commission more than a year ago, forcing the city to end pollution of the Clinton River because of inadequate treatment facilities.

The expansion program, now under contract, should be completed by the summer of 1963, according to the court order.

Ford, Union Clash on Plant Locations

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers clashed today on the controversial issue of whether labor should have a say in where management builds its plants.

The union said in a seven-page statement to the company that it had a moral right to discuss with Ford decisions to build new factories and what would be manufactured in them.

Ford, however, was just as insistent that the union had no right at all to discuss such matters with the company.

MacArthur Bids Farewell to Isle

Goodbye to Philippines Touched With Sadness for General, 81

YOKOTA AIR BASE, Japan (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur bade a sad farewell to his beloved Philippines today and flew here for an overnight stop on his way home.

Officials at the U.S. Air base near Tokyo said they expected the general, 81, and his wife to remain at the base until they left Thursday. There was no indication that any Japanese would call on the man who controlled their destinies for the six years after World War II.

The doughty old soldier arrived from Manila after a 10-day sentimental visit to the island country that saw his most memorable triumphs after bitterest defeat. It was a glorious return for the aged warrior, but one touched with sadness.

Everywhere Filipinos hailed him as the liberator of their country. They wept when he predicted that because of his age he would never again return.

It was a touching, moving farewell at Manila's International Airport as MacArthur stood solemnly erect in a driving tropical rain and saluted during a final 17-gun salvo in his honor.

A crowd of 3,000 stood silently to bid their wartime hero a last goodbye. Many women sobbed unashamedly. And many men wept as the giant U.S. Air Force jet plane took off.

The general was weary from his visit. It had carried him from Manila to Lingayen, where he returned with his forces to begin the liberation of Manila in 1945, to Leyte, Cebu and Iloilo, wartime battle sites he had made famous. But he was elated and overjoyed at the tremendous reception after an absence of 15 years.

Sees Joint Venture

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin today predicted that U.S. Soviet and British scientists working as a team will one day carry out explorations on the moon.

Commissioners Have Plan

Will Honor Janice Antona

For a quarter of a century Janice Antona has been the living symbol of citizenship to new American citizens in the Pontiac area.

During that time, on her own she has conducted citizenship classes for more than 3,000 persons about to become U. S. citizens.

English, history and the role of government—local, state and national—these are her subjects.

In a personal note, which appeared in the City Commission chambers last night, the silver-haired aide in the Pontiac II.

brary system admitted that helping newcomers in the country had been her "real" life's work.

The role was held by Postmaster William W. Donaldson, as he was City Commission support for a movement to express community appreciation to Miss Antona.

Donaldson suggested a drive to raise funds to pay Miss Antona's way on a trip to Rome, Italy next summer, where many of her relatives live.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston backed the idea and promptly named former mayor Donaldson chairman of the drive.

Donaldson said he hoped to raise sufficient funds through donations of $1 or less by the end of the year.

Miss Antona is a well-known figure in the City Commission chambers. The past six years she has been appointed the city's representative at the National Conference on Citizenship in Washington, D. C.

The Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Committee picked Miss Antona as the 1957 recipient of the William W. Donaldson trophy for outstanding citizenship.

Busy for many years in the New Citizens League of Pontiac, which she helped found 23 years ago, Miss Antona has escorted many groups of new citizens on tours of Washington, D. C. and other historic spots the past half-dozen years.

An average family throws away 400 pounds of food per year.

Any Silhouette Goes in Coat News for This Fall

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — The coating news for fall is all sugar. For, any silhouette you select in coats will be fashionable.

Cost shapes fall into three major categories—the reefer, the "body conscious" which hints at the shape of the figure instead of hugging it, and the voluminous cape coats.

The reefer is lean and narrow, usually cut on cardigan lines, and often double-breasted. The body-conscious is like the old-time princess, with flare at the hemline. The cape shape has exaggerated fullness from shoulder to hem, with low-placed armholes, dropped shoulder line, and bell-shaped sleeves.

These are the major styles to emerge in the fall and winter collections from members of the New York Couture Group, holding its semiannual press week for visiting reporters this week.

Coat lengths remain as short as suits, or just covering the knee. Fox, leopard, mink and beaver trims are numerous, used mostly for collars. By contrast, many coats are collarless, or have small stand-up collars to provide a good background for your own furs.

Typical of the new coats are those from Originals, which makes nothing but wraps. Coats have back fullness, sleeves set deep and chopped off at the elbow or barely below it. There are many of the cape shapes. Most coats are collarless.

Now, by individual manufacturer, here are highlights of other collections shown:

JUNIOR SOPHISTICATES

Junior Sophisticates. Designer Anne Klein took inspiration for fall from cowboys, horses and shaggy dogs. Several daytime dresses were cut on chemise lines, with wide leather belts slung low at the side like the cowboy wears his belt and holster.

Several coats came in horse-blanket plaids, copied both in color and scale from those on the mounted police best. And a group of shaggy dog dresses were of long-nap orlon, which looked like fake fur.

NAT KAPLAN

Ben Kaplan. The manufacturer showed cutaway jackets and slightly flared skirts in the suit division. Belts on dresses were shaped to rest on the upper hip bone. In late day clothes, fringes trimmed buttons, pocket flaps, scarf ends, jacket edges and hemlines. One short formal of white chiffon had an eight-inch-wide circle of white ostrich banding the hem. The same banding was repeated on a matching chiffon stole.

BEN REIG

Ben Reig. This is a conservative, and costly house where the simple black dress may cost $300. Reig's suits featured jackets just below the waist, three-quarter length sleeves and skirts either straight and severe or softened with swing pleats or panel flares. The Reig called the broadfront. Buttoned pocket flaps just beneath the bust broke the otherwise severe line of the jacket.

PATTULLO-JO COPELAND

Pattullo-Jo Copeland. Designer Copeland featured a loosely-fitted silhouette, with what shaping there was managed with seaming, pleats or a bias cut of the fabric. There were Jacqueline Kennedy type over-blouses galore, and so many sleeveless dresses that the firm announced it would sew in some arm protection if store buyers requested it.

EDWARD ABBOTT

Edward Abbott. Designer Wilson Folmar liked the looks of a classic costume such as a caftan-sweater over a slim-cut dress done to the nines in glitter for evening. Short formal in brocade came with matching brocade cardigans. Chiffon came with chain sweaters covered entirely with paillettes.

Entertains Group

The First Philatelia Class of First Baptist Church was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fink of Union Lake Tuesday afternoon.

Bathing and boating followed a picnic.

The bride's sisters Mrs. Edward A. Reeves of Waterford, honor matron, and Mrs. Phillip W. Reeves, Clarkston, preceded the ride to the altar with former Waterford resident Janice McClain of Chicago.

The attendants were gownned alike in turquoise taffeta sheaths with white organza overskirts and scoop necklines. They held white and turquoise carnation arrangements.

Best man was Pct. Phillip Tulp of Chicago. Edward A. Reeves and Phillip W. Reeves ushered.

Mrs. Allen chose a turquoise taffeta sheath with white organza overskirt for the wedding. Mrs. Appleebe appeared in a beige sheath with matching accessories. Each wore a gemellia corsage.

An exhibition of new designs in shoes is the first item on program of international shows which traditionally begin in Rome and the move northward to Florence, Paris and London.

Rome is presenting its shows for the first time in the imposing Palazzo Barberini, surrounding buyers and press with elegance in an attempt to recover Italian fashion leadership. Most of the important couturiers show their collections in Florence.

The Italians have been long established pioneers in shoe designing. It was considered

A high-necked smooth-fitting beige plaid wool dress with dropped waistline was from the Ben Reig collection. Unusual touch is the side bow tie at the waist.

Sandra Allen Will Join Husband in Hawaii

The former Sandra Diahna Allen of Chicago, Ill., daughter of the Olin L. Allens of Bendot Street, Bryans Plains, will leave for Hawaii in August to join her husband Army Spec. 4 Richard F. Appleebe.

MRS. RICHARD F. APPLEREE

Following a church reception the couple left for a Northern Wisconsin honeymoon. The bride, who will reside in Chicago temporarily, wore a brown and white sheath with matching accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Hear Folk Songs After Luncheon

Countryside Improvement Association members met at the Green Lake home of Mrs. Ray D. Baker this afternoon.

Following luncheon the group was entertained by Ruth Kileen's program of folk songs. Cobsters were Mrs. Harley Molzian, Mrs. L. W. Patterson, Mrs. Kenneth Hedges and Mrs. F. S. Callender.

Feet First in Fashions likely they would continue the movement begun last January to soften pointed toes and nail-strewn heels so evident the past few years.

Wider and lower heels were used in many of the Italian collections for spring and summer. Most of the designers used "spikes" only for the most elegant evening wear.

The duck bill toe has been appearing more frequently in Italian shoe stores. But Italians in Rome, especially the young women, have shown a great reluctance to give up their pointed-toe pointed-heel shoes. They still are seen more than any other style.

Forget Apologies, Says Abby

Send Unwelcome Guests Packing to a Motel Room

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I traveled 1,200 miles to visit some relatives we hadn't seen in 30 years. We were quite surprised to see how they were living. We knew they weren't rich, but you don't have to be rich to be clean.

We were put up in an attic

ABBY: "guest room" and ranches and bedbugs had run the place over. Some bugs got into our clothes and suitcases.

We were polite and stayed out the week. We invited them to return the visit, but we don't want them in our home because they might bring the bugs with them.

World it be rude to put them up at a motel even though we have a nice unoccupied guest room at home.

COUNTRY COUSINS: DEAR ABBY: Put them up at a motel and try no apologies. (P. S. You must be itching to see these people again.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is his mother's "favorite child." Our 5-year-old daughter is her favorite grandchild. I object to this favoritism because it is so obvious it is sickening.

We have two other children whom she ignores completely. When one of our other children has a birthday, this grandchild grandmother will come with a simple little gift for the birthday child, and a very expensive and lavish gift for the favorite child. "So she won't feel left out." But she doesn't do this for the other children. She takes her favorite grandchild to her home for the weekends, and is teaching her to call HER Mother, and me by my first name.

My husband is as annoyed over this as I am, and says anything I decide to do about it is all right with him. What should I do?

TROUBLED: DEAR ABBY: Since the trouble-maker is your husband's mother, HE should tell her emphatically that, unless she treats all your children equally, none of them will be available to her. But ease into it. Grandma may not be aware of the prejudice she's showing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband thinks that table wine is the same as grape juice, and he drinks it down like soda pop. I tell him wine should be sipped . . . not guzzled . . . but he says it is just the same as grape juice.

We had some people in and he poured a 15-year-old boy a full glass of wine. I took it away from him.

Afterwards I told him I didn't want him serving wine to children, and he gave me the same answer, "It is just the same as grape juice." How can I convince him he is wrong?

HENRY'S WIFE: DEAR WIFE: The alcoholic content is plainly marked on every bottle of wine. Keep your eye on Henry. I think he's on the grape.

DEAR ABBY: When do boys start liking girls?

DEAR LEON: As soon as they discover they aren't boys.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WEDDING CALLED OFF: Yes, you should return ALL the wedding gifts. The only "explanation" necessary is: "We have agreed to break our engagement."

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHEILA: Heaven can wait. Graduate.

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press.

'Three B's' Important to Musical 81-Year-Old

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mrs. Anna Hoffmann, 81, believes that the "three B's" are as important as the "three R's."

To Mrs. Hoffmann, a church choir director and an organist since her teen years, the "three B's" stand for Bach, Beethoven and Brahms.

"I find that even untutored young people respond to good music once they hear it and take part in singing," said Mrs. Hoffmann.

As a girl growing up in Marshfield, Wis., Mrs. Hoffmann, born Anna Seubert, was surrounded by a family of musicians. She began studies of organ music at the age of 8.

"My best pleasure is to awaken the love of music in someone who has not had a chance to know it before," she said. "Music is such a wonderful world."

As for the "three B's," Mrs. Hoffmann said the composers they represent "still are the most satisfying, although I enjoy much other music besides theirs."

Mrs. Hoffmann said that the world of music has been her greatest solace through many difficult times—as in 1910, when she lost her husband, and again in 1942, when she lost her home in Santa Cruz, Calif., where they lived at the time, was wiped out by fire.

When she was 21, she married, and the Hoffmanns had one daughter. Through the years Mrs. Hoffmann has been an organist in churches throughout California, and today, living alone since her husband's death in 1948, she says that she has kept her young, and interested in things.

"The world of music lasts a lifetime," said Mrs. Hoffmann. "It never palls."

It's a Rewarding Hobby

Gals Better With Camera

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In the past, the man in the family was the one who usually took the pictures, with his "women-folk" just behind him, asking for this or that shot. Today, more and more women are using the family camera.

It seems to me that photography is a "natural" as a hobby for a woman. According to Benjamin Berk, a pioneer in color photography, women are especially equipped for this.

He says, "Women are taking better color pictures than men. They seem to have a finer, inherent sense of color and design."

Of course, there are many famous feminine photographers: Margaret Bourke-White, and Constance Bumister, to mention only a couple.

REWARDING HOBBY
Photography, and especially color photography, seems to me to be a pleasant and rewarding hobby for a woman. Generally she is more acutely aware of color and atmosphere and the emotional needs of the family.

She is the one who plans the decor of the home and she is more apt to look at the world about her with a photographer's eye.

Also, the woman in the home is most often the one who remembers birthdays and home feast days, who writes the children who have grown and moved away, and plans the social life of the family. It is natural that she should be the one to take a special interest in family photographs.

EASIER
Photography has been made easier for women because cameras are lighter than they were and also because of the "electric eye" and the exposure meter. It is also gratifying that color pictures can be treated so that they do not fade.

Photography is an ideal hobby for women. They are more sensitive to the arts—and the occasions which call for picture taking.

Last year in the United States alone Americans took more than 800 million color pictures.

To Richard A. Arteaga

Joan M. Jarrard Weds in Lutheran Church Rite

Vases of white gladioli graced the altar of St. Paul Lutheran Church for the Saturday evening nuptials of Joan M. Jarrard and Richard A. Arteaga, Villa Park, Ill.

Rev. Maurice Shackelford officiated before 125 guests who later attended a buffet dinner in the church, followed by a reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Arteaga, Brimfield Street, Auburn Heights.

The Henry P. Jarrards of Third Avenue are parents of the bride who selected a gown of French and Alencon lace over white satin for her wedding. Sequins trimmed the scoop neckline of the gown which also featured a chapel train. A sequin-embellished clip bow caught her fingertip veil, and she carried an arrangement of white gladioli.

Lavender sheaths with bouffant overskirts were worn by honor matron Mrs. Robert E. Jarrard, the bride's sister-in-law, and bridesmaids Ronnie Tater of Royal Oak and Dolores Arteaga, the bridegroom's sister. White gladioli touched with lavender comprised their cascade bouquets.

Robert E. Jarrard was his brother-in-law's best man. The guests were seated by the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Gilbert Otto, Lake Orion, and George Merti of Chicago.

Champagne, beige lace with matching accessories was worn by the bride's mother, Mrs. Arteaga selected a powder blue lace ensemble. Both wore white gladioli corsages with brown and blue ribbon trim, respectively.

As the newlyweds left for a trip to Chicago, the new Mrs. Arteaga was wearing a gold suit with white accessories and the corsage from her bouquet. They will live in Villa Park.

Flowers Afoot

(UPI) — One look at it is floral for summer. Shoe manufacturers have created flower-decked shoes in many forms. Flowers also are used as low accents. There are flowers, too, running across the front of the shoe and around the collar. Some flowers on shoes are embroidered with glitter and jewels.

Mother Has Own Lingo for Summer

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Mothers have a summer language. Fathers seldom understand it. Here's a chance for them to get up to date on "current terms, domestic use."

Population Explosion: School is out.
Cease-Fire Order: What mother gives when there are more "bad guys" than "good guys" in the backyard.

Peace Corps: Mothers who settle small-try arguments without stirring neighborhood feuds.

Civil Rights: A neighbor's right to enjoy her flower garden without first removing small boys and baseballs.

MOTHER MOVES
Accelerated Science Program: How to identify strange bugs and animals found in over-all pockets. Acceleration comes when mother finds the critter alive.

Retirement Plan: Summer bedtime schedule which proves only that a 3-foot-high kid can outlast parents any old day.

Infiltration: What happens during backyard cookout. Bright eyes peering out from the bushes indicate lurking, uninvited small guest.

Social Security: The feeling a teen-ager gets from wearing clam diggers and pancho shirts.

Puppet Government: Rainy day juvenile dictators.

VACATION PLANS
Anti-Trust Laws: A teen-ager's conception of early curfew hours.

Collective Bargaining: A family conference to reconcile opposing views on vacation plans.

Labor Agreement: What mother hopes to enforce during two weeks at the lake. She'll be lucky to get fringe benefits.

Occupation Forces: Summer visitors.

Depressed Area: The pocket-book after a vacation trip.

Economic Boom: What poplite vendors expect.

Workman's Compensation: Father slaving over a hot barbecue pit after a hard day at the office.

Freedom Rider: Father driving off to his nice, quiet job every morning.

School Bond: The warm feeling mothers have for teachers at mid-summer.

Have You Tried This?

Unusual Sauces Lift Food Out of Ordinary Class

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor
American cooks could take a leaf from French cooks and make more use of sauces. Today's recipes are for a dessert sauce and a wine sauce for ham.

Our cook is Mrs. Robert Slingerland of Rochester. A teacher, Mrs. Slingerland lists her hobbies as reading, traveling and sewing. She is active in the Pontiac AAUW.

ORANGE-DESSERT SAUCE

By Mrs. Robert Slingerland
1 cup orange juice
1 cup lemon juice
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk

Mix in double boiler and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Thoroughly chill. When cold, beat in 1/2 pint whipped cream. Serve on angel food cake.

ALMOND WINE SAUCE

Simmer 10 minutes:
1 season grated lemon peel
1 cup port wine
1/2 cup orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 seasons cornstarch dissolved in a little water
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne
1/2 cup seedless raisins, washed
1 cup sliced almonds
2 whole cloves

Remove from heat. Add 4 tablespoons grape or currant jelly. Serve with baked ham.

Waterford Pair Goes North for Honeymoon

Sharon Elizabeth Fauble became Mrs. Owen L. Stitz Saturday evening in Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. Donald Andrews of Church of the Atonement United Presbyterian, was attended by some 200 guests. White gladioli, stock and carnations decorated the altar.

The Elmer F. Faubles of Mann Road, Waterford, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom, a radioman three class, on the USS Shangri-La, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic O. Stitz, Steffen Street, Waterford.

Of white silk organza over satin, the bride's princess-line gown was enhanced by a Chantilly lace bodice with sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves. The removable chapel train fell from a large back bow. Bouffant silk illusion veiling was held by a seed pearl crown, and the bride held a white carnation and yellow rosebud arrangement. Her double strand of pearls was a gift from the bride's groom.

Flocks of aqua silk organza over white satin for honor maid Sandra Kay Fauble, the bride's sister, and matching satin for bridesmaids Sandra Haack, Royal Oak; the bride's cousin Gloria Mitchell, Northville; Donna Grissom, Troy; and Christie Leininger were enhanced by matching head bands and white carnation corsages, centered by large aqua roses made of the dress material.

The bride's cousin Trudy, Mich., Northville, was flower girl, and Marylyn Fauble was her sister's junior bridesmaid. William Snowden of Wilson, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer.

Naval Seaman L.C. John Lamberton was best man. The brides were the bridegroom's brother Milan W. Stitz, serving with the Navy's USS Tusk; Richard Niza, USS Shangri-La; James Mullin and Forrest Taylor and Roger Clark, the bridegroom's cousins.

At the church reception, Mrs. Fauble and Mrs. Stitz greeted guests in beige silk organza over taffeta and blue silk embroidered organza, respectively. White carnations and rosebuds comprised their corsages.

Following a trip to Northern Michigan, the bride wore a white sheath with yellow accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I can't find a pattern that has gathers in the skirt at the waistline, and still has a bodice I like. Is there a way I can gather any skirt without a pattern?" Mrs. C. J.

Dear Mrs. C. J.:

If you prefer a slight gathered effect instead of darts, simply eliminate the darts and gather this additional fabric. If you desire slightly more gathers, cut a little wider from the hip-line up to the waistline.

These gathers can be evenly distributed or divided, with half of them on each side of the center front. Experiment to see which are the most becoming to your figure before you permanently stitch them.

This type of skirt treatment is very flattering to many women and it still makes a very slim skirt because the extra fullness is from the waist to the hip only.

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"When making a continuous lap or placket for my little girl's dresses, I either get a pucker at the end of them, or else a hole appears after one wearing."

I can tell by looking at other dresses, that I'm not the only one who is at a loss as to what to do about this. Please help? Mrs. C. C. S.

Dear Mrs. C. C. S.:

The remedy for this is very simple. To avoid a pucker at the end, you will not be able to catch in any extra fabric for added strength.

After the placket has been completed, fold it over as illustrated, and stitch the continuous folds together, at an angle.

By doing this, the strain of putting the dress on and off, is stopped at this stitching point, and the end cannot pull out.

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I have a great many old neckties. Is there anything that can be made with them?" Mrs. E. L.

If any of you "Sew Simple" fans have any suggestions to give to Mrs. E. L., please send them on to me, so that I in turn, can put them in the column. There have been several requests for this.

This is actually a bound placket, and can be used as a closing in place of a zipper. It is also used on children's dresses as an opening below the waistline, or above the cuffs of men's shirts.

You can adjust a pattern to enlarge the hip measurement. Eunice Farmer tells you how in her booklet, "The Twenty Questions Most Frequently Asked." Obtain it by sending 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer, in care of this newspaper.

New Towel Bar Grips Fabrics

Made of durable white or pastel plastic, this "holdy" is easy to install on walls, doors, or kitchen cabinets. It's handy for drying towels, washcloths, dishcloths, and hand-laundered "smalls."

Fabrics Can Fool

Attends Confab in West

Four hundred members of Alpha Gamma Delta, international fraternity for college and university women, attended the 23rd international convention June 29-July 5 at Glenwood Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Donald L. Knapp of Neale Street was a delegate for the Detroit North Suburban Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta. She was elected vice president of Province V at the convention. Mrs. Gerald Harms of Toledo, Ohio, was named president, and Jane Graf, Detroit, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

At the convention the fraternity was authorized by the grand council to organize the Alpha Gamma Delta Founders Memorial Foundation. Resources of the foundation will provide scholarships and student aid and support worthy charities.

Five nationally known members of the group were presented the Distinguished Citizen Award for outstanding achievements in public service and the professions.

The awards went to: Dr. Margaret Fuller, Boos, Denver, Colo., geological consultant and author; Mrs. Dorothy B. H. Cadwell, Ottawa, Canada, secretary of the Canadian Civil Service Commission; Mrs. Mignon Good Eberhart, New York City, writer of mystery novels; Mrs. Elizabeth Wright Evans, Seattle, Wash., education director for a television station, public relations consultant and journalist; and Dr. Julia F. Herick, professor of biophysics, emerita, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

'Excuse Me, I Must Talk to Miss ...'

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Will you please tell me how one can tactfully disengage oneself from someone who is an utter bore? The other evening while at a gathering at a friend's house, one of the guests sat down beside me and talked on and on about things that were of no interest to me.

I didn't want to be rude and just get up and leave her, so I sat and listened and spent a miserable evening. Is there a polite way out of this situation?

A: I am sure many people have found themselves in this predicament and would also appreciate an answer.

A: Say to her, "Excuse me, I have to speak to Mary Smith," or "my husband," or use any other excuse you can think of and get up and leave her.

Q: During this month I'm going to spend the weekend with my fiancé's family out of town. They are strangers to me. I understand that the rule of politeness requires my taking his mother a present, and if this is true will you please tell me what it should be in such a case?

A: A young girl going to her future family's house for the first time is not expected to bring a gift. It is, however, definitely required that you write a thank you note to your fiancé's mother as soon as you arrive home after your visit.

If at some future date you go and spend the weekend with them again, you may bring a little something for his mother if you would like to do so.

Q: Our parish church is just across the street from where we live. Would it be permissible for the bridal party to walk across the street to the church, or should we get in cars and drive around the block and pull up in front of the church?

A: If you live on a quiet street and the weather is beautiful, there is no reason why you may not walk across the street to the church.

4 Bus 'Riders' Stay in Jail

Turn Down Freedom on $500 Bond; Hearing Slated Today

By The Associated Press
Four "Freedom Riders" arrested in the first boarding assault on Little Rock, Ark., have chosen to stay in jail until their trial rather than go free on bond.

They are scheduled for a Municipal Court hearing today. Their attorney, Thad Williams, a Negro, asked Judge Quinn Glover to delay the case one day to give him time to prepare a defense.

Bond for the four, arrested Monday night while a crowd of 300 ringed a bus station, was set at $500, but Williams said they would not seek release.

Jailed were the Rev. B. Elton Cox, 30, of St. Louis, Negro field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality; Billie Ann Malone, 23, St. Louis Negro teacher; Janet Reintz, 23, a New York housewife, and the Rev. John C. Raines, 27, white pastor of Seton, N.Y. Methodist Church.

It was the fourth such case brought against alleged voter discrimination in Louisiana.

Two Negroes staged Jackson, Mississippi's first lunch counter sit-in in the midst of a concentrated effort to crack Mississippi's segregation barriers.

At Newark, N.J., the Rev. Joseph R. Randall said seven Freedom Riders will leave Newark Thursday morning for Chattanooga, Tenn.

First Biplane Reconstructed for Navy Show

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Aviation was turned back 50 years Tuesday as a replica of the U.S. Navy's first airplane—a Curtiss seaplane built in 1911—flew from San Diego Bay.

Don Germersaad, a test pilot for Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp. made four takeoffs and flew at about 100 feet altitude, at a speed of about 50 miles an hour.

The biplane replica was put together at North Island Naval Air Station from parts constructed by members of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences. It will be an attraction at the Navy's 50th anniversary show Aug. 13-20.

Says SS Officer's Statements Lies

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — One by one, Hauser confronted Adolf Eichmann with testimony from statements of six SS officers, naming him the arch-executor of the Nazi slaughter of the Jews were lies.

Eichmann rejected even Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop's declaration that Eichmann was the "expert" on Jewish affairs.

The defendant, on the stand for the 18th day, stubbornly refused to bend under Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner's barrage of cross-examination questions.

He in all questions relating to the Jews and you were in charge of deportations to the death camps, you contacted foreign governments and senior SS and security police," Hauser asserted. "You do not deny a document submitted in your own defense, do you?"

"Hildner is making a mistake," Eichmann said.

BLANE EICHMANN

The attorney general confronted Eichmann with testimony by Karl Helmut Hoffmann, a former Gestapo officer in Denmark; Prof. Franz Six, once Eichmann's chief and later an Einsatz commando colonel; former SS Judge Konrad Morgan, Eichmann's deputy Dieter Wisliceny, who was hanged by the Czechs, and Auschwitz commandant Rudolf Hoess, executed by the Poles.

They all said Eichmann had the top role.

"It is true I was the intermediary between upstairs and downstairs in the reich main security finally conceded, "I had all the facts and figures but I was not the man."

"So they are all lying and only you speak the truth, right?" the prosecutor said.

"There were hundreds of authorities," Eichmann replied. "I was part of it, I do not deny that I never have."

ADDITION TO AVERT CROWDING—This addition at Alcott Elementary School will be ready for use in September. The $17,000 unit contains four upper elementary classrooms and a library to handle an expected enrollment increase at Alcott and

For Con-Con Spectators Space Is Big Problem

LANSING (AP)—Preliminary plans for use of Lansing's Civic Center as the site of the forthcoming constitutional convention were being studied today with the biggest problem being the accommodation of spectators.

Indications were that the public might be limited to watching the proceedings on closed circuit television, supplemented by a public address system.

A special committee of the governor's convention preparatory commission met Tuesday in the office of Secretary of State James M. Hare.

The group was assured by Lansing Mayor Willard G. Bowerman of full cooperation in lining up the Civic Center, even if it means the city might be sued by evicted tenants that have booked space in advance.

Convention delegates will make the final decision on where to meet, but the committee members felt under contract until the second quarter of 1963.

The department originally planned to start construction on the 35-mile stretch of freeway between New Buffalo and the Michigan-Indiana line will not be placed under contract until the end of this year.

The start of the project was postponed, the department said, because of delay by the Indiana Highway Department in constructing a connecting link from the state line south.

The Michigan project will be started about the same time Indiana starts work on its section of the freeway.

Speeding Boats(?) Give Houston Street Problem

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Those heavy rains that have flooded Houston streets left something besides mud in their wakes.

The wake — from motorboats speeding along the flooded streets — came up for talk after a city council meeting Tuesday.

"We've got to do something about regulating the speed of motorboats in the streets in flooded areas," councilman Frank Mann said. "The wake of the boats is washing right into homes that otherwise would have been spared."

A bystander, objecting, joined the discussion, saying: "After all, how can people ski behind a slow boat?"

listen to records. If there's a free day, I go to the beach.

All sports are fun, and I used to be a horse fan, but when swimming started, all else went out the window.

Around the house, my main duties are keeping my own room neat. I enjoy cooking, but don't have much time for it. And I guess there will be plenty of time later for that.

This summer, I'll be swimming in local meets. There'll be the National AAU championships in Philadelphia, and in August a five-week trip to Europe.

Then—college. I hope to study political science and languages for a possible diplomatic service career.

The Associated Press asked if I'd like to pass on any advice to other teen-agers.

The most important advice, it seems to me, is: Try to enjoy what you do. Work hard and you will succeed at it.

And you get to know a lot of very nice people.

My parents have encouraged me but they haven't pushed me. They have known swimming is very good for me.

The usual school day starts at 5:30 in the morning, when I get up and swim for two hours. At Los Gatos High School, where I was graduated in June, they gave me the first period free.

My coach at the Santa Clara Swim Club, George Haines, also is swim coach at school, and he arranged for my swimming instruction instead of gym classes.

In addition to classes at school, I worked on the Student Council and Student Court. This year, I was Commissioner of Student Activities, which meant coordinating student clubs and activities throughout school.

NO FREE TIME

After school, there is no time to go with the gang. I swim for two or two-and-a-half hours. I date once in a while, especially in the fall when there aren't so many swim meets.

I usually have to be home from dates by midnight, unless there's a prom or some special event.

I don't mind giving up some dates for swimming because it makes the times I do go out more fun.

In order to keep an A average, I had to study about two or three hours a night, and at least a full day on weekends. On trips to swimming meets, the books went along.

Byrd Machine Wins in Virginia

Albertis S. Harrison Jr. Scores Sweep Against Stephens in Primary

RICMOND, Va. (AP) — The Byrd organization ticket, led by Albertis S. Harrison Jr., for governor, scored a sweep in Tuesday's state Democratic primary in Virginia.

The durable conservative faction of Sen. Harry F. Byrd that has dominated the state's political scene for more than 30 years convincingly turned back the most determined challenge it has faced in modern times.

Harrison, 54, who resigned the office of attorney general to run for the top spot, defeated A. E. S. Stephens, 60, the present lieutenant governor, who broke with the Byrd forces to strike out on his own.

Nominated with Harrison were his running mates, Mills E. Godwin Jr., for lieutenant governor, and Robert Y. Burton for attorney general. Both are now state senators. They won by slightly smaller margins, over State Sen. Armistead L. Boothe and T. Munford Boyd, a law professor at the University of Virginia, respectively.

Apparently Byrd himself didn't think his team was in any great jeopardy, since the only public move he made in the campaign was to release a letter Stephens wrote only last December asking for his support for governor. This was Byrd's reply to a campaign statement by Stephens that he'd never solicited aid from Byrd.

Detroit Offers Youth Corps Idea to Combat Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — A youth corps to serve in public agencies in big cities was suggested today by Samuel M. Brownell, Detroit's school superintendent, as a means of preventing juvenile delinquency.

Another witness before a House education subcommittee, Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, called juvenile delinquency "a major issue of our time" and urged federal action at once to help combat it.

The two appeared in support of the administration's bill to provide $10 million a year for a four-year program of pilot projects aimed at controlling youthful crime.

Brownell offered his youth corps idea as a means of providing jobs for unemployed youths and, at the same time, strengthening public agencies that can help in the battle against juvenile delinquency.

"If we can bridge the gap which now exists for many youths between school and work, we can reduce delinquency," he said.

DC8 Blows Tire but No One Hurt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A jet airliner carrying 107 persons blew a tire after landing early today and veered off a runway into grass.

Eastern Air Lines said no one was injured and its DC8, bringing 99 passengers to Miami from Boston and Philadelphia, escaped damage.

A spokesman for the airline said the blowout appeared to have stemmed from trouble with the plane's hydraulic landing gear system. Cause of the mishap was not pinpointed at once.

OK Mill Hike to Finance Education Program

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Ottawa County has approved a special education program with an over-all vote of 3,998 to 833 on levying a half-mill tax to finance the venture with state aid.

County rural school districts voted Monday. City districts voted last month. Ottawa County numbers approximately 4,000 children with handicaps of various types.

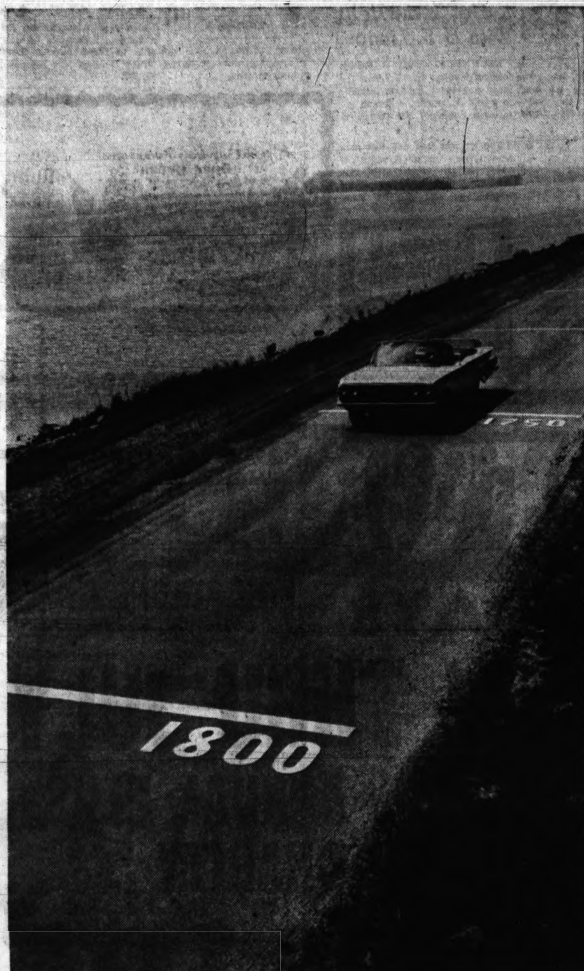

The state contributes up to 75 per cent of aid for the county program.

Test car stops just past the 1750-foot mark. That's how far it goes on half cup of ordinary gasoline without Platformate. Platformate is Shell's extra mileage ingredient. Here's how the test is run. A half cup of gasoline without Platformate is carefully fed into the fuel system. The car is started, accelerated and held at an even 30 miles per hour until it runs out of gas.

Same car stops just before 1800-foot mark. That's how far it goes on half cup of today's Super Shell with Platformate. Same driver. Same test road. A half cup of today's Super Shell containing Platformate is used. Driven again at 30 miles per hour, car runs out of gas near 1800-foot mark. Super Shell wins by well over 40 feet. Imagine the extra distance a full tankful of Super Shell can give you.

MILEAGE TEST:

Shell test crew shows how one of the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell gasoline boosts mileage to give you top performance

One of the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell is a mileage booster called Platformate. Its components release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Here's how this extra energy is converted into extra mileage.

IT COSTS quite a lot of money to put Platformate in today's Super Shell. One of the reasons: Shell makes Platformate with a precious platinum catalyst. Eight million dollars' worth. But Shell believes that every dollar is well spent. The dramatic mileage test above shows why.

Platformate is so packed with energy that it helps today's Super Shell take a conventional car, like the one you drive, measurably farther than a gasoline without Platformate.

How much farther? In repeated tests, an average of 48 feet per half cupful. That may not sound like much. But in 100 miles of driving, that 48 feet turns into 2.5 extra miles. A nice little bonus, no matter how you look at it.

Ed Vint of Shell Research pours Super Shell, with Platformate, directly into fuel system of convertible for mileage test. See big photograph above for results.

NOTE: Platformate gets its strange name from the platinum re-forming process which Shell scientists use in making this extraordinary ingredient. Huge pressures and temperatures up to 1000 degrees literally tear petroleum apart and then reform it into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene. These three, working together, release 11 per cent more energy than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

You now know how one of Super Shell's nine ingredients helps to give your car top performance. Each of the others does an equally important job.

EXAMPLE: Shell's unique TCP* additive can help restore lost power—can make plugs last up to twice as long.

Now—Hot Weather Blend

Now that it's summer, Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula is adjusted to fight hot weather stalls—and give you top performance when highways sizzle. You can now get Super Shell's Hot Weather Blend at all Shell stations. Keep it in your tank. It just might save you a lot of trouble.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Caution: containing TCP is covered by U. S. Patent 2,892,212.

The 9 ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

- #1 is TCP for power, mileage, and longer plug life.
- #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for power.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
- #7 is an "anti-icer"—added in cold weather.
- #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

Italy Guarding Rails Against Tyrol Action

ROME (AP)—Special guards patrolled Italy's international railway lines today against new attacks by terrorists from South Tyrol after a series of exploding bombs prompted Rome to accuse Austria of inciting violence.

The aroused Italian government tightened its watch on travel across the Austrian frontier and announced it would protest to Austria against Tuesday's bombings, which sent electric power pylons crashing across four of Italy's five international lines and delayed traffic up to nine hours. No one was injured.

Patrols with trained dogs moved along the railway tracks on the lookout for new attacks. They also sought clues to the authors of Tuesday's dynamite attacks, which occurred far from the disputed South Tyrol in a blow aimed at Italy's $800-million tourist trade.

Guards were posted at the Austrian Embassy in Rome and consulates in other Italian cities but there were no demonstrations.

Pontiac City Affairs

OK Sewer Extension in Watertford Twp.

Watertford Township was given an okay by the City Commission last night to add a 600-foot sewer in the area of the township to which Pontiac extends sewage disposal service.

The sewer is to be added on a special assessment basis on Holbrook Street in Huron Gardens Subdivision where poor septic tanks have contributed to pollution of the Clinton River system, according to a report prepared for the city several years ago.

"This is an area where we want to have sewers added," said City Manager Walter H. Williamson in recommending the move to the City Commission last night.

Under a long-time contract, the city makes a small profit in servicing a 30-block area bounded by Telegraph Road, Elizabeth Lake Road and Voorheis Road, and Elsinore Street, Woodbine Street and Sylvan Shores Drive.

PARKING SPACES LEASED
On another subject, at William's suggestion, the O. W. Burke Construction Co. was allowed to lease 15 spaces in the Mill Street municipal parking lot for three months as a site for temporary shanties during initial construction on the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital addition across the street.

The price of 50 cents a space a day is based on average revenue from the meters, William said.

On City Attorney William A. Ewart's suggestion, the city entered into a lengthy agreement concerning developers' responsibilities for water mains, sewers, drains and right of way in the forthcoming Glenwood Avenue shopping center.

The agreement has been signed by the Detroit developers Herman Ross and Irving Stollman.

Ewart was asked to study a suggestion from the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce to curb shopping. The chamber's governmental affairs committee said a new local law should be passed to make prosecution of shoppers easier.

The property of Gee Coal & Co., residential to manufacturing to Fuel Co. was rezoned from permit the company to install underground fuel oil tanks.

The company has been located on the southeast corner of Houston and Lake streets since 1935, several years prior to the adoption of the zoning map. The company wanted to use the nonconforming usage corrected.

HENRY OPPOSED

No one opposed the change during a public hearing but Commissioner Milton R. Henry did afterwards. Representing the area, August.

Henry claimed the move would be harmful to nearby residences.

On the basis of a neighborhood petition in which 66 per cent of the affected property owners approved the switch, the commission overrode Henry and approved it in a 5-1 vote.

Because the Con-Con primary vote takes place Tuesday, July 25, a date the commission would ordinarily meet on — the meeting of that week has been rescheduled to Monday, July 24.

Retained to Boss Plant

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Paul Woodnorth of Chicago has been retained by the Grand Haven Board of Light and Power to manage initial operations of the city's new $5-million steam electric power generating plant. The new facility is expected to be operating early in August.

Heart Attack Takes Life of Whittaker Chambers

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Whittaker Chambers, an ex-Communist spy who turned informant in the Alger Hiss case, has died at a quiet Maryland farm where he lived in self-imposed exile.

Chambers, who was 68, succumbed to a heart attack Sunday at his home in nearby Bachman's Valley. His family announced the death Tuesday, after the body had been cremated in private ceremonies.

Chambers was catapulted into the nation's headlines in 1948 as the accused and chief government witness against Hiss, a scholarly, well-regarded State Department aide.

In testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Chambers accused Hiss and others of being Communist agents who supplied him with secret information.

Hiss filed a $75,000 libel suit when Chambers repeated the charges outside the congressional committee's cloak of legal immunity. But the suit never was tried.

Chambers produced micro-filmed and typewritten documents from a hollow pumpkin on his farm and Hiss was indicted and convicted for perjury. Hiss served 41 months of a five-year term and was released in 1954.

STARTED NIXON

A key figure in proceedings which led to the conviction was former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, then a freshman congressman from California.

Nixon won a reputation as a result, and the incident generally is credited with starting him on the road which led to the Republican nomination for president in 1960.

Informed of Chambers' death, Nixon said it was "one of the great tragedies of our time that a man of Whittaker Chambers' extraordinary abilities became involved in the Communist conspiracy."

But Nixon said the courage which led him to break with the conspiracy "more than atoned for his earlier mistakes."

Hiss, now 56 and a salesman for stationery and printing interests in New York, declined comment.

Baby Elephant Resting Easily, Still Not Well

DETROIT (AP)—Kitta is doing better, but she's still not well. The 1,100-pound baby elephant has been resting comfortably in the past 24 hours since receiving twice daily forced-feedings of about 10,000 calories.

Like anyone else with a sore throat, Kitta gets penicillin. Her dosage amounts to 7-million, 200-thousand units—and that's twice a day.

Kitta has been ailing since last week when she swallowed a little girl's rubber ball that rolled into her cage at the Belle Isle Children's zoo.

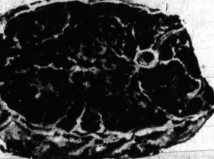

Her throat, which suffered a severe inflammation, is healing slowly.

Says State Needs
210 More Troopers

LANSING — Michigan needs 210 additional state police troopers to provide adequate traffic control on state highways, says a representative of the National Safety Council.

The 56-hour work week for state police also was criticized here Tuesday by Norman A. Olman, district representative for the National Safety Council, in a report to the State Safety Commission.

Michigan's state police manpower level, Olman said, is below that of comparable states. They now have 1,128 officers and men.

A shorter work week is needed, war.

he said, to enable state police to compete for qualified recruits.

State police were praised in the safety council report for "exceptionally strong" administrative and training programs. Michigan's selective enforcement program, Olman said, is exceeded by no other state.

Drenching Rain
Can't Dampen
Welcome for Yuri

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — This industrial city clasped Soviet spaceman Maj. Yuri Gagarin to its soggy bosom today.

In a driving rain that drenched everybody, the Foundry Workers' Union welcome for the visiting Soviet hero was a duplication of the roaring reception he received when he arrived from Moscow Tuesday.

About 500 persons swarmed around Gagarin when he stepped out of the airplane at the airport here to pick up a gold medal from the union — a tribute to the one-time foundry worker who leaped from obscurity to world fame by orbiting the earth in a Soviet space ship.

Gagarin, who breakfasted gingerly on caviar aboard the airplane, waved at the official greeters before the crowd swept through the police lines to mob the "cosmonaut."

2 Army Reservists Die
in Training Accident

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (UPI) — Two Army reserve soldiers on summer training were killed Tuesday night and 10 were injured in the crash of an armored personnel carrier during maneuvers here. The men were among 9,000 members of the 7th Infantry Division of the U.S. Army reserve undergoing 15 days training. They arrived last Saturday.

African U.N. Block
Switches Pressure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The African group in the United Nations Tuesday decided not to press now for any Security Council action against South Africa in an attempt to gain entry for a special U.N. inquiry group to South West Africa.

Michel Collet, deputy chief of the Guinea delegation and chairman of the group for July, said the African delegations deplored South Africa's refusal to admit the group.

Towns Burned,
Two Killed by Blazing Forest

MADERA, Calif. (AP) — A forest fire raging out of control near Yosemite National Park has killed at least two persons, burned out two towns and sent hundreds fleeing for safety.

The blaze by early today had consumed some 25,000 acres of brush and timber. It destroyed the community of Nipimawasse, separating only a school and one of 60 homes.

Two miles south, it raced through the tiny town of Ahwahnee where it trapped and killed a couple fleeing by car. They were George Kipp and his wife, Etta, both about 60, of Ahwahnee.

U.S. Highway 41, the year around route to Yosemite, was clogged with autos of fleeing persons.

Army to Instruct Latins in Tactics of Communists

FORT AMADOR, Panama Canal Zone (AP) — The U.S. Army unveiled plans Tuesday to instruct Latin-American military commanders on the theories and practices of Communist aggression.

The course, which will stress means to combat subversive and guerrilla tactics developed by the Soviet and Chinese Communists, will begin July 31 at Fort Gulick in the Canal Zone. It will be similar to one now taught at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Many Latin-American republics have requested such a course.

Passes Move for Pension to Medal of Honor Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed legislation Tuesday to permit Medal of Honor holders to begin drawing a $100 a month pension at the age of 55. At present, a $10 a month pension is available to them at age 65.

The bill now goes back to the House which had passed a measure providing a $100 a month pension but stipulating that it would be available to medal holders at any age.

Dried Eggs Will Make Good Cooked Dressing

Dried eggs are an economical substitute for fresh shell eggs. But you should observe a few rules when using dried eggs.

Through cooking is a must. Generally, dried eggs are best when used in baked foods such as breads, cakes, cookies and long-cooked casseroles. But in some instances you can use them on top of the stove.

Here's a recipe for a good cooked salad dressing you can use in preparing that popular summertime favorite, potato salad.

1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup sifted dried whole egg
1/2 cup sifted dried whole egg

Combine the sugar, salt, flour and mustard. Add the 1/2 cup water and stir until smooth. Gradually stir in the vinegar and add fat. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens (about 3 minutes). Remove from heat and cool for 5 minutes.

Sprinkle the egg over the 1/2 cup water, stir to moisture, and beat until smooth. Gradually add the cooled mixture to the egg, stirring to blend. Cook un-

Thieves Work Hard for Small Reward

Sheriff's detectives today were investigating the hard-earned theft of 30 cents during a break-in Monday night at the Robert Hall clothing store on Dixie Highway near Clarkston.

There is no doubt the thieves worked hard for the 30 cents in pennies, officers agreed.

First the burglars smashed a hole in the rear wall of the concrete-block building. Then they went to work on the store safe.

They cut through the outer metal shell of the one-ton safe with a

Chain of Smokes

NEW YORK (UPI) — A cigarette manufacturer has estimated that 475 billion cigarettes were bought by Americans last year.

Placed end to end the cigarettes would pave a 242 feet wide highway from New York City to Los Angeles or make up a circular orbit around the earth at an average distance of 3,774,739 miles.

Group Would Okay Tax Deduction Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways & Means Committee Tuesday gave tentative approval to legislation that would make it harder for businessmen to deduct yachts, hunting lodges and nightclub spee from their income taxes.

But the proposed restrictions fell far short of the drastic curbs President Kennedy requested to stop "widespread abuses" of business expense accounts. And there was considerable doubt that Congress would complete action on the bill this year.

Americans use about 12 electric light globes per capita every year.

Polish Official Tastes U.S. Life, Asks for Asylum

NEW YORK (AP) — A Polish trade union official, after tasting life in the United States for four years, has defected and asked political asylum here for himself and his family.

The man, Zygmunt Warminski, 36, said he had acquired pro-American views and feared he was about to be returned to Poland.

Warminski came to this country in 1957 with his wife, Anita, 37, and two children. He served as transportation adviser at the Polish trade mission here.

The Warminski family fled their SUMMER FRUIT CUP — Fresh sweet cherries and melon balls make a delectable combination. The syrup is a devastating pink. Melon used is honeydew, but if your preference leans towards cantaloupe or watermelon, substitute them. Be sure to serve this dessert well chilled.

Dark Sweet Cherries Are Perfect in Many Dishes

Our early inventors worked too hard! They invented such devices as those antique household-size cherry-pitting machines.

Make yourself a cherry pitting tool from a lead pencil with an eraser top tucked into a metal band. Remove the eraser with a small sharp pointed knife; use the open metal band to push the pits out of the cherries. Works like a charm and leaves the fruit in beautiful whole condition.

The whole pitted cherries make delightful garnishes; or have them for fruit cups to serve at the beginning or end of a meal.

One recipe, tried recently in a test kitchen was well received. For this pitted cherries were chilled in a simple sugar syrup with white rum. At serving time melon balls were added.

If you try this recipe, follow directions and the syrup will become a pretty pink color as the cherries stand in it. The melon balls are best added just before serving.

Broil Cheese Squares to Go With Beef

We like this meat accompaniment not only because it tastes great but because its main preparation is done ahead.

Two-Cheese Potatoes

1 1/2 cups shredded white cheddar
1/2 cup shredded Swiss
1/2 cup shredded Colby
Butter and grated Parmesan cheese

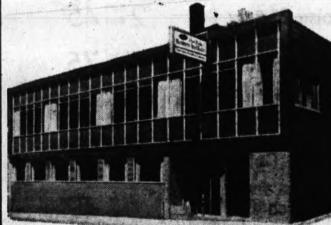

Mix the cheddar and salt with 2 cups cold water. Stirring constantly, add to 1 quart boiling water in a large saucepan. Cook until thickened, stirring often. Cover; continue cooking over low heat about 10 minutes or until very thick.

Meanwhile grate cheese coarsely — there should be 2 cups very lightly packed. Add grated Gouda to hot cooked cheddar; stir until melted. Turn into jellyroll pan (15 by 10 by 1 inch) that has been rinsed with cold water; chill thoroughly.

Cut into small squares; place 1/4 inch apart on jellyroll pan. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cheese. Broil until hot through and browned. Makes 12 servings.

Guests Like a Choice

Serve a restaurant-style relish tray when you are having lunch or supper guests. If you have a dish with small compartments, fill them with creamy cottage cheese, spiced fruit, marinated vegetables, green and ripe olives and salted nuts.

More Old Cookbooks Turn Up With Unusual Recipes

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Evidently the Centennial sent Pontiac residents digging deep into their stored possessions. Since that week two P.P.S. readers have helped to tell us about old cookbooks they had found. We spent a pleasant time skimming them.

When the Ladies Aid Society of the Episcopal Church in Pontiac put out a cookbook in 1889, the women were supremely self-confident that it would be a cure-all for any domestic troubles. Read a part of the preface:

"Knowing the charms that nice and palatable dishes has for the lord of creation, otherwise called men, who are generally at fault if marriage is a failure, they have taken great pains to gather the information contained in this book, and if all married women, and those who expect to be married, will obtain copies of it, and study and use them diligently, they will help, at least, to settle this vexed question of the age, and the answer will be MOST EMPHATICALLY marriage is NOT a failure. They deserve, therefore, the highest commendation and the most liberal patronage for this effort to erase a dark blot from the face of society, and make the age more golden than it is."

Fresh Peaches, Bananas Go Into a Milk Shake

Whip together a nourishing milk shake for your "hot and hungry" youngsters. Put fresh peach slices, sliced bananas, chilled milk and a scoop of ice cream into blender or electric mixer. Whip until frothy. Pour into paper cups, add a straw and sit and sip in a cool, shady spot.

Rather dramatic for a cookbook, we'd say. This slim paper covered volume belongs to Mrs. James F. Glover of Allison Street.

Two of the recipes are interesting and still usable.

SCOTCH EGGS

1 cup meat
1 cup stale bread crumbs
1 egg
Seasoned prepared mustard
Cayenne enough to cover a 6-cent piece of 10-cent seal

Cook the bread and milk together until a smooth paste; add to the ham, then add the seasoning and raw egg. Mix thoroughly; break shells from the hard boiled eggs and cover them with this mixture. Put in a frying basket and plunge into hot fat for 2 minutes. Nice for lunch, tea or picnic.

Watermelon Holds High Rating as a Dessert

If it goes "pink" it's green. If it goes "pink" it's ripe.

This old homespun formula for telling when a watermelon is mature enough to pick—still popular in many parts of the South—may be all right for the garden grown varieties.

But it is hardly practical in Florida, the nation's leading watermelon state, where more than 800 million pounds this year will come from 75,000 acres.

Obviously these growers can't go around dumping watermelons to tell if they're ripe. They use more modern — and more efficient — methods. Such as the color of the vines, or the color of the melons themselves.

The maturity of the melon is very important because this determines the amount of sugar it has, and the sugar governs the taste. The South Florida growers are very taste-conscious. They want Americans to keep on eating their melons and liking them.

EGGLESS APPLE SAUCE CAKE

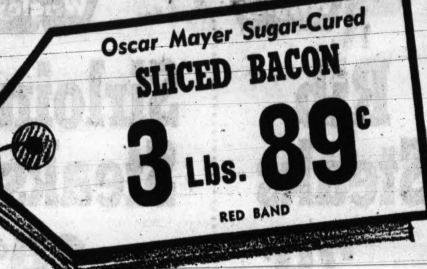

"Cream 1/2 cup butter or other shortening. Add 1 cup brown sugar. Sift 1 1/2 cups flour with 1 teaspoon each of soda, salt, cinnamon, cloves and cloves. Mix with one cup unsweetened apple sauce. Bake in moderate oven 45 minutes. One cup of raisins may be added if desired."

Watermelon Holds High Rating as a Dessert

Following Rules Will Result in Better Meat

Here are some easy directions for better results when cooking meat in liquid: (1) Brown meat on all sides in own fat or lard. Some larger cuts, such as cured pork, corned beef and fresh or cured tongue, are not browned before adding liquid. (2) Season with salt and pepper unless meat is cured. (3) Cover with liquid, cover pan, and simmer (cook below boiling point) until tender. (4) Add vegetables just long enough before end of cooking time to be cooked.

Americans Easy-Going

'Please, Don't Make a Scene'

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — Americans, at least nine out of 10 of them, have a genuine horror of "creating a scene."
A "scene," in the sense it is used here, is synonymous with a fuss or a spectacle. As in: "Don't make a fuss, or you'll create a scene and make a spectacle of yourself."
This nearly national trait, no doubt begun by the Pilgrim Fathers to keep the children from causing talk and trouble among the Indians, is considered a quality of niceness and gentility. It should, I suppose, be enthusiastically endorsed.

However, this fear of a showdown in public has been carried too far in our society—to the point where the poor polite American is being put at the mercy of a few impolite Americans, as well as being forced to accept mediocre products and services.

How often, for example, does a sweet and kindly matron enter a millinery shop and try on hats in front of a salesgirl whose haughtiness or surliness literally frightens the woman into buying a model she dislikes—rather than risk being publicly insulted with loudness or grim silence?

Men in any kind of apparel store are even easier to terrify out of making justified complaints. Wherever did they get that term "a bull in a china shop"?
Most men, in most shops, are rather like boys in museums—bowed, cowed and incapable of barking. "Nice" gentlemen, as depicted by the scene-avoiders, seem to feel obligated to buy anything they touch, much less put on their backs.
In restaurants, the majority of American males and females are truly taken advantage of, because of their dread of "speaking up" and possibly creating unpleasantness.

If they order roast beef well-done and it comes to the table rare, what do they do? Perhaps neither will talk quietly. "This isn't the way I ordered it" (Women are by nature the fighters in the family, since the preservation of the home and its purse is their self-appointed crusade).
But father will blush and act as if he hadn't heard, and the waiter will scowl and act the same.
But most Americans, of both sexes, won't say a word about the food they receive at a restaurant, unless they receive an order that is outrageously incorrect—as in the case of being served scrambled eggs when they ordered steaks.

It's reasonably safe to say that nice Americans are the most easy-going, and easy-to-take-in, people in the world.
They need to be approved of, even by people they cannot themselves approve. They are afraid that it would be bad breeding to send food back for the chef's reappraisal; they fear that if they walk out on a cocky sales technique, people will stare at them.

What a shame they don't realize that those stares might be made of pure admiration!
Lightning Cuts Power
TOKYO (AP)—Lightning struck an electric station Tuesday, causing a 20-minute power failure in downtown Tokyo that for a time threatened to cause chaos. The failure stopped elevators, air conditioning and parts of the transit system. No casualties were reported.
One-half of American popcorn sales are in theatres.

To Rehire 175 Workers
DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — The Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corp., Tuesday announced it will rehire 175 workers immediately, bringing total employment to the 15,000 figure that existed a year ago.
Minister Dies at Camp
ELLISON BAY, Wis. (AP) — Rev. Michael J. Minern, 80, former general overseer of the Christian Catholic Church of Zion, Ill., died Tuesday at the church's summer camp.

One Thing Sure: Defense Spending to Go Up

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Front-page headlines pull the stock market in opposite directions these days. The tug of war adds to the problems of business planners and multiplies the worries of big and little investors alike as they try to guess which stocks are going which way.

And the consumer, too, can't be sure but what all the warlike alarms sounded on the front pages won't upset his own plans. So he also turns cautious.

In dollars and cents there seems to be one fairly safe prediction of what the headlines from Washington, Moscow and Berlin mean: Defense spending will go up. So, too, will the U.S. Treasury deficit. And fears of further inflation will be weighed by both stock traders and consumers.

SOME FIRMS HELPED

Increased government spending will help some companies with new orders, and some workers with longer work weeks or more job opportunities.

Stocks of companies which seem likely to benefit already are attracting the attention of stock market professionals. Companies which won't benefit will look less attractive by comparison.

Here are some of the front-page items that business and the stock market are trying to assess:

The Berlin crisis has upset the market. War talk always does. While defense spending helps many companies, armed conflict upsets the financial aspect of countless more. Their markets fade, their supplies are cut off.

their production lines are turned after a period of confusion from profitable civilian goods to emergency work on a cost plus basis.

The charge that the American economy is being bolstered largely by defense spending now, and that disarmament would undermine it, is denied by Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. representative at the United Nations.

He tells the United Nations Economic and Social Council meeting in Geneva that a disarmament pact would help the U.S. economy. Then we could turn "our resources from production of instruments of death to the production of the manifold things we need for a better life," defense spending produces goods that add nothing to the nation's real wealth.

IN DOLLARS

stories can be told more easily in dollars and cents than can the Berlin story, which is still largely a matter of name calling.

When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower left office he asked for a defense budget of $41 billion in the fiscal year that has just now started. Disturbing world news has twice led President Kennedy to raise that estimate. He now asks $53.4 billion in new military appropriations.

Citing this as an excuse, Soviet Premier Khrushchev has just announced the Soviet Union is raising its military spending by one-third.

While the stock market was still trying to assess the effects this might have on world tensions—and specifically on American defense spending—Washington news stories report that both the President and the Congress seem in the mood to raise our military budget still higher. The headline talks of from $1 to $2 billion more being asked or voted.

The official estimate that the Treasury would end this fiscal year $3.7 billion in the red was already widely held to be an understatement. Many think the already rapidly rising spending plans would mean a deficit of $4 to $5 billion.

If defense appropriations are hiked still further, it's only a guess how much more the Treasury will have to borrow to meet the bills.

The stock market and the bond market will quickly take note.

Business executives may revamp some of their planning, too. In time it could affect all of us.

Boy Admits Setting Fires

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Aron Inspectors say a 12-year-old Grand Rapids boy admits setting four area fires within the past two weeks, the largest one resulting in damages of more than $3,000 last Saturday at a sugar warehouse.

Calls for Crackdown

SEOUL (AP)—Gen. Yoon Taik-il, mayor of Seoul, urged neighborhood officials Tuesday to crack down on Communist infiltration by maintaining a close watch on each household.

Says Aid to Congo Can Make It Sound

EAST LANSING (AP)—With foreign assistance, the Congo can return to its former position as one of Africa's most economically sound nations, the U.S. ambassador to the Congo said Tuesday night.

The new nation's economic crisis is a temporary one that could be met with foreign investment and economic aid, said Clare H. Timberlake.

Timberlake, who is vacationing at his former home in Jackson, said the Congolese themselves must solve their own political problems.

"Through the United Nations, the United States can help on the economic side," he said.

The new nation's economy is basically sound, he said. Timberlake came to Michigan State University to meet with officials of the school's African language and area center.

Wayward School Bus Was Just Misplaced

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A wayward school bus wasn't really wayward—it was just forgotten. The bus turned up Tuesday when a driver reported to owner Howard Lilling that it had been parked at the driver's house. The driver said he had just forgotten about it until he read newspaper stories saying that Lilling had reported the bus missing from a parking lot.

"I wondered why you didn't come and get it," the driver told Lilling.

Run Into Barrier Over Mongolia

Hint at Congressional Reprisal Threats on Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration plans to establish relations with Communist Outer Mongolia have bogged down in threats of congressional reprisal and nationalist Chinese protests.

A key congressman who asked to remain unidentified said Democratic leaders have warned President Kennedy that he won't get enough votes for his $4.5 billion foreign aid bill if he goes ahead with recognition of Mongolia.

The congressman said he was sure the administration would not make any more plans to set up diplomatic relations — at least until action is complete on the aid bill.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported to have met sharp questioning on the issue at a closed session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee Monday.

A State Department official said no decision had been made yet on whether to recognize the Mongolian Peoples Republic or support its admission to the United Nations.

Pontiac Junior Musicians Give Summer Concert

A summer musicale was presented by the Senior Group of Pontiac Junior Musicians Monday evening in First Methodist Church.

Playing piano solos were John Slade, Gilbert Stephenson, Kenneth Smith, Jerry Stoner, James Howard and Nancy Scribner. James and Nancy also played duets.

Violin solos and cello solos were given by Dave Allen and Leonard Dorcy. Mary Jane Holstington, president, presented readings and vocal solos, accompanied by Mrs. Oscar Schmidt. Special feature of the program was the presentation of original piano solos by Stephenson and Slade. Stephen Allen was usher.

Miss Scribner and James Howard are in charge of arrangements for attending the Detroit Symphony concert July 25. Regular meetings will resume in October.

'Kookie' of TV Fame Asks Starlet to Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Friends say actor Ed Byrnes of the "77 Sunset Strip" TV series has asked starlet Anna Maynor to marry him. The two have been dating for the past two years.

Byrnes leaves today for London and Paris, and reportedly won't get a reply from Miss Maynor until he returns.

Say RCA Misled AF in Sale of Radio Sets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government auditors today accused the Radio Corporation of America (RCA) of deliberately misleading the Air Force in order to jack up the price of 42 long-range radio sets.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), in a report to Congress, said RCA withheld vital information from the Air Force while negotiating a $3.3-million contract for the manufacture of pressurized airborne communication equipment. RCA, one of the largest defense contractors, denied the accusations but said it would be willing to meet with Air Force officials for consideration of a possible refund.

Dog Bit Child; Hunt Animal on Bay Street

Unless a medium-sized, blond dog that appears part-spaniel can be found and identified as the one that bit Cynthia Gadiet, 6, the child will have to undergo a series of painful rabies shots.

Mrs. Edward Gadiet, of 694 Bay St., said the dog has been seen several times since, roaming loose in the Herrington Hills Subdivision where they live, but they have been unable to corral it. The child was bitten on the arm Saturday.

Irate Pedestrian, 70, Feels He Was Wronged

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — C. Philip Norson of Van Nuys reluctantly mailed in his fine for a jay-walking ticket.

But he didn't like it. "I strongly deny any such interference (with traffic)," he wrote Tuesday. "At my age, 70, shouldn't I be given a medal rather than a ticket for my dexterity in sprinting?"

Nixon to Give Word on Whether He'll Run

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday that he will decide within 60 days whether to run next year for California's governorship.

The former vice president and unsuccessful 1960 candidate for the presidency said he does not want to enter the race and would run "only if I was convinced I was the only man who could save the state."

Virginia Solon Faints

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—State Sen. Robert Y. Burton fainted, apparently from fatigue, early today after winning the Democratic nomination for attorney general of Virginia.

Head of World Methodists to Be Installed in Month

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A prominent American clergyman will be installed next month as titular head of Methodist churches throughout the world.

He is Methodist Bishop Fred Pierce Corson of Philadelphia. On Aug. 25, in Oslo, Norway, he will begin a five-year term as president of the World Methodist Council, which represents 50 million Methodists in 78 countries.

Bishop Corson leaves for London, where he will spend five weeks conferring with British Methodist leaders before going on to Oslo for the meeting of the World Methodist Council which begins Aug. 16.

The council meets every five years. Its retiring president is Dr. Harold Roberts, noted British Methodist theologian.

In an interview here prior to his departure, Bishop Corson said he will return to Philadelphia after the Oslo meeting, and will continue to function as resident Methodist bishop for an area that includes metropolitan Philadelphia, Southern and Central New Jersey, Pennsylvania counties west to Harrisburg, and the Binghamton area of New York State.

SEEKS COORDINATION

In his additional capacity as head of the World Methodist Community until 1966, he hopes to improve coordination of missionary efforts, particularly in areas like Africa where there is now considerable "overlapping" of Methodist mission fields.

"I am also concerned with the need for better Methodist youth programs in every country," he said. "Young people have a lot of enthusiasm to invest in some cause."

"We cannot sit back and allow such organizations as the Communist party and the John Birch Society to have a greater impact on youth than the churches."

"I believe we can show young people that Christianity offers them classrooms for private and parochial schools.

"I am disturbed to find that many people in Washington, including some members of Congress, have the impression that this bill resolves the issue of government aid to parochial schools in a way that is acceptable to Protestants," he said.

"That is not true at all."

"Major Protestant groups are standing firm on their historic position that any use of tax funds for support of religious schools is a serious violation of the constitutional principle of separation of church and state."

Three United States presidents have been assassinated and four have died natural deaths while in construction of certain types of office.

Larger Autos Bother Compact Car Owner

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Kay Dyer drives a compact car. Three times in less than three months she was hit by larger vehicles. The third time made her the maddest.

She had just gotten her car from the garage after repairs for the second accident, and was driving home from work to dine with friends. While stopped at a traffic light, a large automobile hit her car from the rear. The driver got out, and explained:

"I looked right, I looked left, but I didn't look down."

3-Year-Old Doesn't Like Perfect Cake

TRENTON, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Doyle Richetta tried a new cake recipe and let her 3-year-old daughter, Doylee, sample it.

The child took one bite and said the cake was good. Then she took a second bite and announced the cake was perfect.

The mother beamed at such praise but a moment later noticed the child was not eating the cake.

"I thought the cake was perfect," she said to the child.

"It is Mommy, but I don't like perfect cake."

In 1905, a fire destroyed all but one of several hundred buildings then in Detroit.

Frightening statistic for red-hat nation's 1,200,000 hunters are color-blind hunters: Eight per cent of the blind.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Sagging bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulk and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and grip the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONARD gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONARD moistens dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONARD's unequalled rebuilding action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONARD acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONARD relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONARD won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONARD today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

'Sucker Trick' Lands Pike in Contest Lead

Oxbow Yields Big Northern Early Sunday

Angler Uses Cane Pole to Boat 11-Pound Fish After 10 Minutes

A big northern pike fell for the old "sucker trick" Sunday and wound up leading the pike division of The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Dick Cassidy boated the 11 pound 1 ounce fish after a 10-minute skirmish on Oxbow Lake. He lives near the lake at 379 Rustic Circle.

Cassidy and his brother-in-law, Harold Faught of 10071 Elizabeth Lake Road, were still-fishing with cane poles instead of the usual casting or heavy spinning tackle usually associated with pike fishing.

The bait used to catch the 36-inch was an eight-inch sucker. "When the pike hit the sucker, I set the hook," explained Cassidy. "I was rather disappointed when he didn't put up a better fight." The pike was the first and last of the day for the anglers.

TIME TO QUIT— "I caught him about 9 a.m. and we quit," said the lucky fisherman. Cassidy and Faught have landed 36 pike this season with the cane pole method.

Faught came within five days of winning the 1960 pike division with a nice fish caught on Oxbow.

Leaders in the other three contest divisions:

RAINBOW— 2 pounds 4 ounces, caught opening day on Schoonhoven Lake by John Adams of Clarkston.

BLACK BASS— 5 pounds 12 ounces, largemouth taken by LaVerne Robinson of Oxford on opening day from Clear Lake.

BLUEGILL— 1 pound 2 ounces, caught June 11 on Lake Argus by Frank Dennis of Pontiac.

Winners in the pike and black bass divisions will each receive $50 Savings Bonds. The other two first place fish will be worth $25 bonds. The contest closes Sept. 15.

RULES EXPLAINED— Oakland County residents are the only persons-eligible and the fish must be caught on waters inside the county. Fish taken from private and commercial waters are not eligible. Weight is the only factor considered, and one person cannot win more than one division.

Smallmouth and largemouth bass are grouped together in one class. There has been some confusion on this point. The heaviest large or smallmouth entered when the contest ends will be the division winner.

All fish must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7-11 a.m. Saturday. No entries will be accepted on Sunday.

Many fishermen prefer to check the size of the leaders. This saves them a trip if their fish is not large enough to take over first place.

FED ONE DOZEN—Andy Konowichuk holds a 32-pound lobster he caught while skin diving in 80 feet of water off Marblehead, Mass. Boiled and served with melted butter, it fed 12 people.

HEAVIEST PIKE—Dick Cassidy holds the 11-pound, 1-ounce northern pike he caught Sunday morning at Oxbow Lake. The fish is the heaviest entered in the pike division of The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Officers Aiding Research With Fish Catch Surveys

ANN ARBOR—The state conservation officer who looks into your creek to check your catch is not interested solely in whether you've taken more than your limit.

After taking a count and noting the species, chances are he'll ask how many hours you've been fishing that day, and where. He'll make notations on a form he carries and send it, along with dozens of others, to the Institute for Fisheries Research at the University of Michigan.

Data thus gathered by the 100 field officers is the basis of the general creel census conducted each year by The State Conservation Department.

These and more intensive counts by state fish men on experimental waters contribute valuable information on fish research projects. Research, in turn, figures in decisions on where fishing is to be curtailed or expanded, what species are holding their own or declining, and so on.

Michigan was a pioneer in conducting a statewide creel census. The first was made 34 years ago.

CREEP PROJECT— Since conservation officers gather information in the course of their regular duties, it's a relatively cheap project. K. G. Fukano, a biologist at the institute who compiles and analyzes the figures, is the only person assigned specifically to the census.

Each field officer turns in between 225 and 2,000 reports a year.

Data is summarized by type of water (trout and non-trout water, great lakes and connecting waters), by county, statewide and by conservation district and region.

Some of the findings are revealing.

Through 34 years, for instance, the institute finds that the average angler in Michigan is landing just about as many fish as he did in the supposed "good old days" of 25 or 30 years ago.

Between 1926 and 1955, fishermen reeled in between 35 and 1.85 fish per hour of fishing in non-trout waters (including the Great Lakes) and .55 and 1.10 fish per hour in trout waters.

In the past five years, the average has ranged between 1.20 and 1.27 fish per hour in non-trout inland waters; 1.33 and 2.91 in Great Lakes waters and .52 and .81 in trout waters.

"These figures, of course, are taken at random among all kinds of fishermen," said Kenneth Christensen, institute biologist. "They are deceivingly small for the experienced fisherman, who will catch considerably more than the average through the season."

CAUSED CUTBACK— The general census, more than anything else, influenced the Conservation Department's decision in 1946 to discontinue large-scale planting of warm-water fish, most by bluegills and bass. Pan fish catches have held up well, substantiating a claim that plantings were unnecessary.

"The surveys have shown that although perch or some other species might show a decline, the catch of some other species, such as bluegill will increase, filling in the gap," said Christensen.

The intensive counts conducted by fish experts have produced valuable data on the effect of bass on bluegill bait fishing on trout streams, the effect of removing the size limit on bass in lakes, or raising the minimum size from 10 to 14 inches—or any of a wide variety of fish experiments.

In some areas, such as Rose City in the Rifle River area, conservation men are employed full time during the trout season to tabulate the number of fish taken. Fishermen must check in and out of the area.

Public Sale Arranged

LANSING—Public auctions in three Northern Michigan cities late this month will dispose of 322 pieces of property that have reverted to the state through non-payment of taxes.

The state conservation department, which will conduct the auctions, scheduled the first for July 25 in Crystal Falls. Others will be held July 26 in Manistiquie and July 28 in Baldwin.

Restocking Project May Cost $25,000

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

The State Conservation Department has indicated it will spend a minimum of $25,000 to rectify a mistake that probably wasn't really a mistake.

It seems that West-Londo Lake in the northeastern Lower Peninsula received a poison treatment, fatal to all fish, before it was supposed to happen. The chemical was spread two weeks prior to a scheduled July 2 public hearing on the treatment.

The lake, located on the Ogemaw-Iosco County line near Hale, was on the department's poisoning list because a survey showed an over-population of stunted fish. Some chemical experts were in the area; and knowing the lake was on the list, decided to treat it.

Because the necessary public hearing hadn't been held, department field men are hurrying to make amends. Crews were dispatched to clean up the thousands of dead fish, a different chemical dispersed on the water to cut the toxic effect of the fish killer, and plans made to restock West-Londo.

The hearing was held as scheduled and a large majority of those present, mostly lake users and area residents, approved the poisoning program. Technically the department field men were in error because they treated the lake before the hearing, but in reality there was no mistake because those at the public session approved the move.

PLENTY OF RAINBOW TROUT

The restocking program should raise plenty of eyebrows around the state.

The department plans to release 500 legal size bass when the water is free of poison. This sounds logical. So does the proposed 6,000 bass fingerlings in the fall.

Now comes the $25,000 expense. The fish division plans to release 10,000 legal size rainbow trout into the lake beginning this fall and ending next spring. The estimated cost of raising one legal size trout in a hatchery ranges from $2 to $4. So the $25,000 figure could be slightly high or way low. West Londo Lake covers 285 acres, slightly smaller than Oxbow in Oakland County. No trout were in the lake before the poisoning.

It is doubtful if 10,000 legal rainbows were planted in Oakland and 19 designated lakes combined last winter.

And remember last spring when the Conservation Department bosses were moaning because the legislature took a deep slice in the department's proposed budget for this fiscal year.

Possibly someone will wake up the fish division before those 10,000 rainbows are released in one lake.

DIFFERENT BAIT FOR PIKE

Allen Slade, 12, of Rochester was fishing for catfish on the North Branch of the Clinton River near Utica last Thursday. He was using a spinning rig baited with a shrimp.

Allen didn't locate any channel cats interested in shrimp, but a 21-inch northern pike decided to have shrimp for supper and ended up on the table instead.

Jerry Fritz, 7068 Mather St., a Pontiac fireman, may have cost himself the lead in The Press Big Fish Derby's rainbow division. He caught a nice trout last week on Davison Lake while fishing at night with a nightcrawler. But he gressed the fish before weighing it.

The trout tipped the scales at three pounds dressed. Its actual weight would have been well over the 3½-pound divisional leader.

SUCCESSFUL TRIP NORTH

Jim Fritz, 804 Scottwood St., Jerry's brother and a city police officer, journeyed to Houghton Lake last weekend with his father-in-law, Wayne Lantz of Waterford. They returned with five walleyes that average 22 inches and three northern.

"We caught over 30 northern pike, but most of them were hammerhandles," said Jim.

Al Penquetti of Lake Orion also hurt his chances in the Press contest by cleaning a largemouth black bass. His dressed fish went over five pounds and would have topped the leader. He caught the bass early Tuesday morning on Lake Louise using a shallow running plug. This lake produced the heaviest bass in the 1960 contest.

Department Recommends Upland Game Seasons

Pheasants Decline in Thumb Area

Pheasant hunting this fall in Southeastern Michigan and the Thumb area isn't expected to equal the 1960 season.

Crowing and roadside counts made by conservation men indicate that the pheasant population is down about 20 per cent in these areas.

This isn't good news for Oakland County hunters because the Thumb district is where many of them head when the season opens. Add Wayne and Macomb County shotguns and these two areas represent the heaviest pheasanting in the state.

Even though there is a decline

Milford Woman State Champ

A Milford sharpshooter won the women's Michigan division of the state trap shooting championships last weekend at the Detroit Hunt Club.

Marion Floyd broke 89 of 100 clay targets to gain the crown.

Thomas Antolik of Monroe shattered 25 of 25 pigeons in a shootoff to win the handicap championship. He bested Arthur Hickey of Saginaw by one bird.

Roy Williams of Davison broke 477 of 500 targets to claim the AA overall crown. Ned Lilly of Stanton won the Michigan singles with 197 x 200 and R. B. Dunlap of Utica took Class D honors with 194.

The Michigan junior champ is Dave Dunlap of Utica who clipped 84 x 100.

Dog Training Season Will Open Saturday

LANSING—The three-month closed season on dog training in the field ends Saturday, July 15, the State Conservation Department reminded dog owners to-day.

Dogs may be trained between sunrise and sunset on game which they may legally hunt during established seasons. From Aug. 15 to the opening of the racoon season, they may be trained at night.

The closed season is designed to protect young game animals and nesting birds.

In the eastern portion, increases in other parts of Michigan counterbalance the loss, according to Conservation Department pheasant expert Vic Jansen.

A good spring hatch could overcome any deficits. The most accurate forecast of the pheasant season will be made next month after brood surveys by rural mail carriers.

NOTE INCREASE— Hunters last year took about 974,000 pheasants, a 1 per cent increase from 1959.

Ruffed grouse hunters should have a good year. The birds still are at the peak of their population cycle and Andy Annman, the department grouse specialist, said the take may very well exceed the 330,000 birds shot down last year.

Because of bad spring weather, the kill in the Upper Peninsula dropped from 300,000 in 1959 to 131,000 last season. Conditions have improved this year.

The department has set an Oct. 1 to Nov. 10 season in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula and Oct. 20 to Nov. 19 season in the southern areas. The bag limits will stay the same at 5, 10 and 25.

The department made these reports on other upland game birds:

Sharpshins—There is no apparent increase in the Upper Peninsula, where shooting has been permitted. In that area, the department recommends reducing bag limits from three a day, six in possession and 15 a season to 2, 4 and 8 and prohibiting shooting 'til 10 a.m. each day. The season would be closed on Drummond Island and in Central Ontonagon County, and continue at 11 days starting Oct. 1.

For the first time since 1953, the birds will become legal targets south of the Straits, but only in portions of Antrim, Osceola, Crawford, Roscommon, Missaukee and Kalamazoo counties, and for Oct. 20 through Nov. 10. Bag limits would be the same as in the U.P.

SECOND BIGGEST— Woodcock—Seasons and bags for these migratory birds will be set in Michigan after the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sets the limits. Hunters last year took about 84,000 birds, the second biggest kill since records have been kept.

Numbers should be higher this year. The department recommends seasons coinciding with the ruffed grouse season and the maximum bag limit allowed.

Wild turkeys and quail in southern counties both are on the increase, but both species are protected.

Rochester Man Michigan Rifle Shoot Champion

Norman Robertson of Rochester is the Michigan state outdoor small bore rifle shooting champion.

He won the title last Sunday with a 3,163 out of a possible 3,200 at the state shoot in Ionia.

An Allen Park mother and her daughter made off with the women's and junior championships. Mrs. Lenore Jensen fired 3,161 and her daughter Marian, turned in 1,575 out of a possible 1,600.

Team honors went to the Lakeland (Tex.) Air Force Base team.

Tiros III Fired Into Orbit by United States

Carries Cameras to Televisе Hurricanes in Outer Space

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—The United States today fired a "weather eye" satellite into orbit around the earth to televise hurricanes from space.

Scientists said the shot went "almost perfectly." The Federal Space Agency said the moonlets two television cameras were taking pictures on its first orbit around earth, but "We should get some really good pictures on the second orbit, when the illumination of earth by the sun is better."

Scientists said the satellite's radio signals were picked up by tracking stations at Woomera, Australia, San Nicholas Island, Calif., and Wallops Island, Va.

There was no indication immediately exactly how well Tiros III's equipment was performing.

The 285-pound satellite was expected to shed fresh light on the birth, development and movement of tropical storms such as last year's Hurricane Donna — storms which sometimes cost hundreds of lives and billions of dollars in property damage.

TO HELP FORECASTS

Scientists called Tiros III — short for television infra-red observation satellite — "another step in development of a global satellite weather observation system."

The space-age snapshots also will be used in weather forecasting. U.S. meteorological experts stood by at key ground stations to speed the best Tiros pictures via facsimile network into U. S. Weather Bureau stations in more than a score of cities around the nation.

An Air Force three-stage rocket, the 92-foot Douglas Thor-Delta blasted into an early dawn sky at 3:55 a.m. (Pontiac time) with the balloon-shaped satellite tucked in a bulbous nose shroud.

The rocket, one of a family of four booster vehicles that have lifted the bulk of U.S. satellites, blazed off in red-orange flame and smoke. It disappeared in the sky within four minutes.

No Americans Aboard

Red Plane Crash Kills 72

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—A giant Czechoslovak airliner, carrying 72 persons from Prague and Zurich, struck a powerline and exploded on its glide toward a landing here today. All aboard perished.

A Mali passenger, Kouli Baly 31, lived through the flaming crash but died of burns a few hours later in a Casablanca hospital.

(Airport officials at Zurich, the plane's only stop after it left Prague, said the departure manifest showed 64 passengers and eight crew members and that all apparently had boarded at Prague.

Presumably there were no Americans aboard.

The Soviet-built turboprop Ilyushin-18 had been scheduled to stop about 30 miles away at Rabat's Sale Airport but because of bad weather was directed to the Camp Caze Airport about 10 miles from this port city.

WEATHER CLOSES IN

Bad weather suddenly closed in there also, and the air control crew instructed the pilot to make for the big U.S. Air Base at Nouasseur, not far off. Officials said the plane was already in its glide path toward the Camp Caze strip when the diversion order was given.

Suddenly the big four-engine airliner struck a power line, wrenching loose two big cable py-

Spectacular Affair Is Staged at Mt. Vernon for Foreign Guest

MOUNT VERNON, Va. (AP)—The colonial life and drum corpsmen pulled their musket triggers and out spat smoke with a loud roar. A photographer near the kerchief in mock surrender. And Pakistan's President Mohammad Ayub Khan laughed and laughed.

The re-enactment of Revolutionary War military maneuvers by an Army unit—decked out in cocked hats, wigs, scarlet coats and white knickerbockers—was a scene from early American life staged for the Pakistani chief Tuesday night at George Washington's home overlooking the Potomac River 15 miles from the capital.

Mrs. Kennedy was impressed by the state dinner at Versailles during the Kennedys' visit in France. She wanted to make similar use of a place belonging to America's history.

SPECTACULAR

Tuesday night's American response to Versailles was spectacular. The Kennedys started off the evening by ferrying their guests downstream aboard four yachts. Refreshments and music aboard during the 1½ hour cruise kept the party-goers entertained.

After the boats docked, the guests didn't have to scramble up the long pathway from the wharf to the plantation house climbed by millions of tourists. Limousines carried them up a roadway lined by a Marine honor guard.

It was at this point in the festivities — when the party first entered the mansion — that the flight from Prague to Accra, Ghana. Its only stop en route to Casablanca had been at Zurich.

It was the second Africa-bound Czechoslovak airliner to crash within four months. Another Ilyushin-18 crashed near Nuremberg, Germany, on March 29 and all 52 persons aboard were killed.

The pilot of the plane that crashed today was Capt. Josef Milna. Officials said the passengers included at least 10 Moroccans and 27 citizens of Mali, an African Negro republic.

Zurich Airport authorities said that so far as they knew the European passengers were all Russians, Czechs or Poles. The passenger list included five children.

One official, who refused to be identified, said a number of Soviet flying instructors were on the ill-fated flight. He reported they were en route to train Negro air crews in Guinea and Ghana.

Missile-Alarm Is Finally Off Following Delays

Aim Midas to Reach Altitude of 500 Miles for Role as Observer

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—Midas III, first missile-alarm satellite aimed to fly over the Soviet Union, finally roared into the sky today after a series of disappointing delays.

It lifted off through thick fog at this Navy space base and newsmen watching from 10,000 feet away could not see it rise.

Word on whether orbit was achieved was expected after two hours.

Launch time was 8:12 a.m.

The second, or orbital, stage carried a record fuel load for a U.S. satellite vehicle. The aim: To achieve a record high orbit of perhaps as much as 500 miles.

The second stage's fueled weight was not disclosed. Previous high weight was in a similar vehicle in the Discoverer satellite series. Previous high orbit was about 300 miles for Midas II.

Midas III—weight 3,500 pounds with fuel gone—is a 30-foot long space scout with an infra-red eye which can sense heat from a missile's exhaust hundreds of miles below. Goal of the series is to give nearly instant warning of hostile missile flights.

BOOSTS AND STAGE

The second stage was boosted by the same Atlas rocket that flamed on the launch pad last Monday after days of postponements caused by unexplained technical troubles.

Midas and its sister satellite, the camera-carrying Samos, are designed as space-age replacements for the U-2 spy plane shot down over Russia more than a year ago.

A Midas network would almost double the 15-minute warning time possible with ground-based radar. Midas can track a rocket until the engine burns out—about five minutes. Then radars of the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System will take over and computers will give a quick fix on the missile's target.

Plans called for Midas to get its first look at Soviet territory within three hours; to cross with in 12 hours above Russia's big missile bases in the Ural Mountains, including Tyura Tam, north of Lake Aral, and Kapustin Yar.

Over 100 Alive After Crash

NOSE OF CRASHED PLANE—Denver firemen used torches to cut their way into the nose of the United Air Lines DC8 jet which crashed as it landed Tuesday in Denver. The effort was one of the means used to combat fire which broke out when the mishap occurred. Seventeen persons were killed, 16 in the plane, one on the ground. The plane carried 122, including a crew of seven. Fifty were injured and sent to Denver hospitals.

Inspect Jet Skeleton for Cause of Crash

DENVER (AP)—Federal investigators rummaged through the torn skeleton of a United Air Lines DC8 jetliner today to learn the exact cause of Tuesday's crash landing and fire in which 17 persons died.

The huge plane en route to Los Angeles from Philadelphia touched the runway, veered sideways and burst into flames.

Of the 122 aboard, 16 were killed, 18 escaped injury, 50 went to Denver hospitals and 38, including 7 crew members, escaped serious injury.

In addition, a Denver man died when the plane smashed his truck.

The nose section housing the captain and first and second officers escaped serious damage in the crash. Some of the four stewardesses suffered slight burns and shock in aiding passengers.

Four of the dead were members of the family of Dr. Earl Gayer, clinical psychologist at the U.S. Veterans Hospital at Fort Lyons, Colo. His wife and three small daughters died. Gayer had come to Denver to meet them at the airport.

A civil engineer, Henry Blom, 31, driving a survey truck for the city, was killed when the big plane overrode off the runway and crushed the truck.

In addition to Blom, 16 plane passengers died. They included five men, seven women and four children.

ALERTED BY PILOT

Passengers said they were alerted by the pilot, Capt. John Grosso of Denver, 10 minutes before the crash that something was the matter with the hydraulics system, an important element in the brakes.

There was a strange mixture of quiet calm and anguish desperation when the plane touched the runway, then skidded off, crossed 100 yards of field and burst into huge billows of flame when the landing gear crumpled on the protruding strip of a concrete taxiway being constructed nearby.

John Byrne of Omaha, a surviving passenger, escaped from the jetliner unaware that anyone (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

It will turn cool Friday, followed by a gradual warming trend according to the U.S. Weather Bureau report. Precipitation will total near one-half inch in showers tomorrow, Friday and again Sunday. No rainfall has been recorded during the past 24 hours.

South to southwest winds recorded at 8 miles per hour this morning will remain southerly increasing up to 18 miles.

The lowest temperature reading preceding 8 a.m., was 66 degrees at 3:30. By 1 p.m., the mercury climbed to 87.

Planning Funds to Be Sought

City Will Ask Federal Agency for Advance on Renewal Project

Pontiac will seek a special federal advance to finance planning of the lion's share of the city's contribution to the urban renewal project.

After City Commission approval last night, City Manager Walter K. Willman said the administration would complete paper work to apply for an estimated $100,000 for planning of some $4 million worth of capital improvements in the downtown area.

A breakdown shows the city is getting ready to construct a Clinton River tunnel, estimated at $3 million and a multi-story parking structure in the vicinity of Water and Perry streets, estimated at $1 million.

The federal government approved both projects in principle when the urban renewal contract was signed last summer.

By building the two projects, the city expects to get federal credit for about $728,000 of the $1,146,000 it is expected to invest in the five-year project as one-third of the overall net expense. The federal government is to invest $2,293,000 or about two-thirds of the net expense.

Federal credit on the Clinton River tunnel is set at $477,000 in 1962. The credit for the parking structure is set at $250,000.

If the two projects go through, the city will have to finance the entire cost.

In City Manager Walter K. Willman's five-year capital improvement budget, it is recommended that revenue bonds be sold for the parking structure and general obligation bonds for at least part of the cost of the tunnel.

Willman's tentative timetable calls for a beginning on both projects by 1963, two years before the end of the urban renewal program.

If the city has not won full federal credit for capital investments in the urban renewal area, it will have to make up the difference in cash, Willman reminded commissioners last night.

The planning loan to be sought would be interest free and there would be no obligation to repay it if the projects did not go through, Willman said. Cost estimates for the projects include the estimated cost for planning, he added.

FLAME SMASHES TRUCK—A city surveying truck is smashed beneath a United Airlines DC-8 jet which crashed at Stapleton Field in Denver.

Plane Passenger Criticizes Fire Equipment at Stapleton

DENVER (UPI)—A young Air Force officer aboard the United Airlines DC-8 jet which crashed at Stapleton Field Tuesday said there was not enough fire equipment on the field and it did not reach the burning wreck soon enough.

"Quick fire fighting would have resulted in saving more lives," said Lt. John H. Gelston, 24, an engineer assigned to Air Defense Command Headquarters at Colorado Springs. He is a licensed pilot.

Reynolds said fire trucks did not reach the wreck for "a good 10 minutes."

Denver Safety Manager John M. Schooley said today there was insufficient fire equipment at the airport. "We just do not have adequate equipment for these new aircraft," he said.

Ironically, the city had called for bids to build a new airport fire station barely 24 hours before the crash.

Several passengers said the pilot, Capt. John Grooms of Denver, told them 10 minutes before the crash that the DC-8 was having hydraulic system difficulty and that there would be fire trucks along the runway.

Gelston, who was uninjured, said that in his judgment there was negligence "as far as immediate need fixing up and which tossing out."

Formation of the committee should be ready for announcement in a couple weeks, the mayor told Commissioner Robert A. Landry and other commissioners at last night's meeting.

Landry suggested that a committee might get started on correcting some of them as part of a long-term modernization program.

Rowston indicated, however, that the committee might accept responsibility for a more ambitious program.

The scope of the committee's activities will have been settled by the time committee members' names are announced.

Rowston said he would include lawyers on the committee, as well as businessmen and others.

Scattered Showers Roam Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather pattern showed only minor changes today, with more showers in scattered sections in the eastern two-thirds and fairly mild temperatures in most areas.

Thunderstorms rumbled across areas in the central Plains, West Texas and New Mexico during the night. New Mexico State Police reported a tornado near Hobbs, but there were no reports of injuries. More than one inch of rain fell in a six-hour period at Goodland, Kan., and Amarillo, Tex.

What About Russia, Red China?

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
As the Soviet Union increases its pressure on Berlin, coming more and more to the fore is the question of the true relationship between the Soviet Union and Red China, its largest ally.

Has there been an actual weakening of the alliance between the two largest Communist nations or are the Moscow-encouraged reports of a rift between the two merely a smokescreen?

If a smokescreen, such reports could be used to weaken Western determination and to encourage a hope that to play along with Moscow would be to weaken further an already-ruptured Sino-Soviet alliance.

Then, after having obtained maximum concessions from the West in Berlin and Southeast Asia, the two could drop the pretense and emerge as united as ever before.

Encouraging a belief that there is a deep and widening rift between the two have been these reports:

THESE REPORTS:

That the Soviet Union snubbed Red China on the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Chinese Communist party.

That Russia has withdrawn her submarines from her Adriatic base in Albania, Albania and Red China have been the Communist camp's bitterest foes of President Tito's Yugoslavia, and Albania reportedly sided with Red China in her quarrel with Khrushchev's co-existence policy. As a reward, Red China has shipped food supplies to Albania despite her own severe shortages.

That a just-concluded Soviet defense pact with North Korea is part of an attempt to woo nations considered by Red China to be in her own sphere of influence.

That Russia on her own disclosed that because of crop failures, Red China ran up a $300-million debt to Russia last year. The figure previously had been kept secret.

That Russia and Yugoslavia may be on the verge of re-establishing cordial relations.

Lending further encouragement to reports of a rift were Red China's unceasing propaganda attacks against President Kennedy at the same time the American President was meeting with Khrushchev in Vienna.

And finally there was the report published in London that Moscow had circulated a new bitter letter accusing the Chinese of violating a compromise to accept a policy of coexistence in return for Moscow's promise to continue to encourage local revolutions.

Whether or not a rift exists, there has been no sign that it is anything more than one over methods. The goal of world domination by communism remains the same.

A mutual need for each other would seem to be a dominating factor.

This week, Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi seemed to be talking points to say there was no rift. Red China, he said, would abide by the Moscow 1960 manifesto establishing coexistence as the party line.

From a mass of conflicting evidence, Western policy makers will have to decide.

GOP Senators to Work on Foreign Policy Stand

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans are sounding out opinion among themselves in preparation for the issuance of a broad manifesto on foreign policy. If it materializes, the statement is expected to express a Republican position on the problems arising from all of the trouble spots in the world, specifically including Berlin and Cuba.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said in an interview he will ask for a party conference within the next two or three weeks to begin work on a preliminary draft. He said the GOP SHOULD TACKLE "We want to wait a while for some of these situations to settle themselves."

Dirksen said, "But there is a general feeling that the time has arrived when the Republicans should make their position clear in the light of recent developments."

Dirksen said that if an agreement can be reached on its terms, the statement in effect would be up to date the foreign policy declarations made in the Republican platform a year ago.

The platform dealt largely in terms of American "determination to stand fast has forestalled aggression before Berlin, the Panama Straits and Lebanon." It was written at a time when the controversy over Berlin was relatively quiet and long before the Cuban situation became critical because of the ill-fated invasion. It made no direct mention of Cuba.

Dirksen emphasized that the manifesto will represent only the thinking of the Senate Republicans. He said he knows of no current move among GOP House members to issue any similar statement.

However, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said in a separate interview he hopes any such declaration of principles would be followed later by partywide action of the same nature.

Javits said he has discussed with some of his colleagues the possibility that a party conference patterned after the 1960 Macdonald Island, Mich. meeting might be arranged. At that conference the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan led Republicans to an agreement on a broad statement of foreign policy emphasizing the party's break with isolationism.

"I think our party has a splendid opportunity now to make its views known in the foreign field," Javits said. "We are closer to agreement in that area than in any other and we should take advantage of that fact."

School Budgets to Be Checked

State Group May Hire Expert to Find Out How Colleges Spend Money

LANSING — A joint legislative committee studying higher education today was considering hiring an efficiency expert to find out how Michigan's nine state-supported colleges and universities are spending their money.

One witness, Alfred C. Lamb of Detroit, made a bid for the job Tuesday and told the lawmakers that they have a right to know where the money goes after they appropriate it to the schools.

The legislators have $25,000 to spend in their investigation of higher education in the state.

Lamb said he could undertake a study of costs per student credit-hour at Wayne State University in combination with one or two other colleges, depending on how much the committee wanted to spend.

Lamb said that the costs of such things as university press publications and campus radio and television stations should be studied, along with faculty salaries and other expenses. He declared:

"Without this information, you are not able to put the money where it can best be used. Yet this is a function of the legislature."

John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University, objected to any proposal which would lump overhead costs with everything else.

"This is an unfair and unsound procedure," he said.

Hannah also suggested that the lawmakers check into information already available to them "before you re-plow ground already plowed."

He reminded the committee that the Russell Commission turned up a comprehensive report on the same subject a few years ago at the cost of some $100,000.

He said little use was made of the study, however, because the state was financially embarrassed at the time.

Hannah said the credit-hour cost idea is not new, and the information is readily available.

"The real problem," he said, "is comparing one institution with another."

State Fire Chief Head Is Elected in Muskegon

MUSKEGON — Stanley Bachinski of Manistee Tuesday was elected president of the Michigan State Fire Chiefs Association, succeeding Harry Ridout of Muskegon Heights.

Elections were a feature of the organization's annual conference which runs through Thursday at Muskegon.

Patrolman Sues 114-Pound Gal for Assault

LOS ANGELES — A 114-pound woman who put up a fuss when stopped by a policeman was sued for $25,000 damages by the 380-pound officer on grounds she assaulted him without provocation.

Germoe J. Faust, 35, filed the civil suit Tuesday against Shirley Lovejoy, 31.

She "assaulted, grabbed, wrestled, twisted and yanked" him after he gave her a ticket last Feb. 22 for a red light violation, his complaint said. Five patrol cars and a motorcycle officer arrived to reinforce him. He said, and he suffered a dislocated finger on his left hand.

She was fined $100 in May for resisting arrest.

Republican Dies at 91

FREDONIA, Kan. (AP) — Ben Paulsen, 91, Republican governor of Kansas for two two-year terms, 1923-1929, died Tuesday.

(Editor's Note: James Devlin, American Press wireline has frequently reported on New York state and city politics, reports on the Democratic battle in the city and the possibility of a Republican takeover.)

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK (AP)—A deep split in Democratic ranks is sparking Republican hopes of capturing the mayoralty in the nation's largest city this fall.

The GOP is going all out because a triumph in the normally Democratic metropolis would be a shot in the arm to the party as a prelude to 1962's state and congressional elections and the 1964 presidential contest.

The fight will be uphill all the way. Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner, seeking a third four-year term, won in 1957 by almost 500,000 votes—1,507,342 to 567,440 for Republican Robert Christenberry, a hotel man.

ROBERT F. WAGNER

LOUIS J. LEFKOWITZ

ARTHUR LEVITT

But, on the other side of the picture, the position the Democrats have maneuvered themselves into has been described in press reports as a "Democratic civil war," a "donnybrook," a "carnage" and "sheer senselessness."

WAGNER VS. LEVITT

Wagner will be opposed in the Sept. 7 primary by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The fight took shape after Wagner decided to run without the support of the party's city organization leaders, or "hoses."

This places him in a favorable light with party insurgents of the liberal wing and, it is reported unofficially, with the White House. Wagner contended the leaders attempted to influence his choice of running mates and he said he would run only on a ticket of his own choosing.

The leaders retaliated by naming Levitt to oppose him.

Aside from fighting among themselves in the primary, the Democrats will be confronted in the Nov. 7 election by a Republican mayoral candidate of proven vote-getting ability — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz. Christenberry, in contrast, was running for office for the first time in 1957.

The background of the Democratic melee is this:

Wagner, son of the late New Deal senator who sponsored the Wagner Labor Relations Act, was elected in 1953 and 1957 with the support of the organization leaders. They included Carmine G. DeSapio, chief of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization.

In 1958, a group of Adlai E. Stevenson followers headed by former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt started an insurgent move to oust DeSapio on grounds of bossism.

The insurgents were ranked because DeSapio at a state convention that year obtained the nomination of Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan for U.S. senator over Thomas K. Finletter, former Air Force secretary favored by the liberal wing.

Lehman interrupted an Adirondacks vacation this week to visit the city and announce he would give his full support to Wagner. He indicated Mrs. Roosevelt also would campaign for him.

TWO BIG IPS

Can Levitt, backed by the organization and its traditional ability to get out a primary vote, overcome Wagner's consistent record as a vote getter and his insurgent support?

Then, can the winner of the bitter intra-party fight heal Democratic wounds sufficiently to offset the Republican challenge two months later?

Wagner already has the liberal party nomination and could run in the election even if he lost in the Democratic primary, but a primary loss would be a setback to his prestige.

President Kennedy, understood to favor Wagner, has been cool to the organization leaders here since last year's presidential campaign even though the organization backed him at the national convention and the state gave him a large election plurality.

The leaders were not in the forefront in getting on the Ken-

Claim Reds Harder Than Nazis on Jews

LONDON (U)—A Jewish congress was told Tuesday that "Jews behind the Iron Curtain are in greater danger than were the Jews under the Nazi regime."

"The Soviet government," said Rabbi Richard C. Hertz of Detroit (Temple Beth-El), "is carrying out a calculated program of spiritual starvation against Soviet Jewry... silence by fear has resulted in the withering of Jewish life and spiritual genocide for Jews and Judaism."

Hertz addressed delegates from 22 countries attending the annual conference of the world union for progressive Judaism. He toured the Soviet Union in 1959.

Water System to Be Treated

Chemical Solution to Be Added to Milford's New Setup to End Rust

MILFORD — When the new village water system goes into operation in a month, a chemical solution will be added to eliminate from stain, Village Manager Oliver Taylor said today.

The Village Council, he said, has agreed to a polyphosphate treatment, one of several recommended by Robert F. McCauley, water consulting engineer, to overcome the "red water" problem in the village.

Taylor said the additive also would banish the hydrogen sulfide or "rotten egg" odors at the systems dead ends and in areas of poor circulation.

The polyphosphate will have a dispersing effect on the iron content thereby preventing it from depositing in the system, the city manager explained.

Cost of the equipment, which will be installed at the new pump house, will be $300. It is estimated that the cost of the chemical will be $1 a day.

Another improvement project to be undertaken by the village shortly is the paving of four streets at a cost of $45,000, said Taylor.

Asphalt concrete will be applied to Summit street, from the railroad tracks to First Street; First Street, from Liberty Street to Commerce Road; Main Street, from Huron Street to Washington Street; and Huron Street, from Main Street to Silver Road.

The cost of curbing will be assumed property owners, Taylor added.

However, instead of the usual $2.75 for each foot of concrete curbing, the curbs will be built of asphalt at a cost of about $1 for each foot.

State Dairymen Told to Reregister Imported Cattle

Michigan dairymen, who imported nearly 1,600 registered Holsteins from Canada during the last two years, were advised today to reregister such cattle with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Further delay, said Robert H. Rumber, executive secretary of the association, could result in permanent loss of the registered status of the imports and descendants and drop of more than $100 per head in value.

A bylaw change adopted recently at the association's annual convention, Rumber said, makes Canadian Holsteins ineligible for reregistration after they have been in this country two years.

The change was designed to bring fees for the reregistration of Canadian Holsteins in line with those for registering cattle bred in this country.

28 groups. Each section heard an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate speak on a foreign country he had visited.

During the Club Week, girl representatives will compete for a chance to participate in the 4-H Drive Review later this summer. District achievement awards will be announced and several scholarships will be presented.

Attending the state 4-H convention from the Lake Orion area are Janet Leaster of 501 Baldwin Road, Kathy Swinson of 98 Scripps Road, Tom Middleton of 2610 Stony Creek Road and Dorene Fok of 1219 W. Clariston Road.

'Freedom Swimmers' Fail Again at Oak Park

OAK PARK (UPI) — The "freedom swimmers" were turned away again Tuesday in another attempt to integrate a private swimming pool here.

About 30 white and Negro youths lined up at the club's ticket window with applications for membership at the Crystal Pool, Greenfield and 8 Mile roads.

Manager Henning Rylander dragged some of the picketing youths away from the window but they returned to the line as soon as he turned them loose.

Oak Park policemen stood by to observe the picketers but they saw a crime or misdemeanor committed.

Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor took the position that either the picketers or the pool management should institute a civil suit to determine whether the pool is public or private.

Rylander closed the pool entrance at 2 p.m. but allowed those already swimming to stay in the water until 4 p.m.

The attempt to integrate the pool started Sunday. It is supported by the Congress of Racial Equality, the group that is backing the "freedom riders" in the South.

OXFORD — All 1960-61 officers of the Oxford Area Board of Education were re-elected at the board's annual meeting last night.

Holding office again this year will be Ted Pearson Jr., president; Mrs. Ruth Erskine, secretary; and Louis Coryell, treasurer. The board also set election meetings for 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

After awarding several maintenance and service contracts, the board voted to recess until next Tuesday when it will re-evaluate the 1961-62 budget and review the audit for the Oxford Area Community School District.

Attending his first meeting as a board member last night was R. V. Sausser who won election to the board by defeating James N. Woon in the June 12 election. Woon had been serving on the board as an appointee until defeated.

To be registered by the AOA, a hospital must pass an annual inspection of its physical plant, staff qualifications, equipment and procedures. It also must comply with all local and state laws governing hospital operation.

'Sucker Trick' Lands Pike in Contest Lead

Oxbow Yields
Big Northern
Early Sunday

Angler Uses Cane Pole to Boat 11-Pound Fish After 10 Minutes

A big northern pike fell for the old "sucker trick" Sunday and wound up leading the pike division of The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby.

Dick Cassidy boated the 11 pound 1 ounce fish after a 10-minute skirmish on Oxbow Lake. He lives near the lake at 379 Rustic Circle.

Cassidy and his brother-in-law, Harold Faught of 10711 Elizabeth Lake Road, were still fishing with cane poles instead of the usual casting or heavy spinning tackle usually associated with pike fishing.

The bait used to catch the 36-inch was an eight-inch sucker. "When the pike hit the sucker, I set the hook," explained Cassidy. "I was rather disappointed when he didn't put up a better fight."

The pike was the first and last of the day for the anglers.

TIME TO QUIT
"I caught him about 9 a.m. and we quit," said the lucky fishermen. Cassidy and Faught have landed 38 pike this season with the cane pole method.

Faught came within five days of winning the 1960 pike division with a nine fish caught on Oxbow.

Leaders in the other three contest divisions:
RAINBOW — 3 pounds 4 ounces caught opening day on Schoonhouse Lake by John Adams of Clarkston.

BLACK BASS — 5 pounds 12 ounces largemouth taken by Larry Verne Robinson of Oxford on opening day from Clear Lake.

BLUEGILL — 1 pound 2 ounces caught June 11 on Lake Agassiz by Frank Dennis of Pontiac.

Winners in the pike and black bass divisions will each receive $50 Savings Bonds. The other two first place fish will be worth $25 Bonds. The contest closes Sept. 13.

RULES EXPLAINED
Oakland County residents are the only persons eligible and the fish must be caught on waters inside the county. Fish taken from private and commercial waters are not eligible. Weight is the only factor considered, and one person can not win more than one division.

Smallmouth and largemouth bass are grouped together in one class. There has been some confusion on this point. The heaviest large or smallmouth entered when the contest ends will be the division winner.

All fish must be brought to The Press sports department for weighing between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7-11 a.m. Saturday. No entries will be accepted on Sunday.

Many fishermen phone to check the size of the leaders. This saves them a trip if their fish is not large enough to take over first place.

Officers Aiding Research With Fish Catch Surveys

ANN ARBOR (U.S.)—The state conservation officer who looks into your creek to check your catch is not interested solely in whether you've taken more than your limit of fish or kept some that are undersized.

After taking a count and noting the species, chances are he'll ask how many hours you've been fishing that day, and where. He'll make notations on a form he carries and send it, along with dozens of others, to the Institute for Fisheries Research at the University of Michigan.

Data thus gathered by the 160 field officers is the basis of the general creel census conducted each year by the State Conservation Department.

These and more intensive counts by state fish men on experimental waters contribute valuable information on fish research projects. Research, in turn, figures in decisions on where fishing is to be curtailed or expanded, what species are holding their own or declining, and so on.

Michigan was a pioneer in conducting a statewide creel census. The first was made 34 years ago.

CHEAP PROJECT
Since conservation officers gather information in the course of their regular duties, it's a relatively cheap project. E. G. Fulkerson, a biologist at the institute who compiles and analyzes the figures, is the only person assigned specifically to the census.

Each field officer turns in between 225 and 2,000 reports a year.

Data is summarized by type of water (trout and non-trout water, great lakes and connecting waters), by county, statewide and out of the area.

The intensive counts conducted by fish experts have produced valuable data on the effect of bass against bait fishing on trout streams, the effect of removing the size limit on bass in lakes, or raising the minimum size from 10 to 14 inches — or any of a wide variety of fish experiments.

In some areas, such as Rose City in the Riddle River area, conservation men are employed full time during the trout season to tabulate the number of fish taken. Fishermen must check in and out of the area.

Public Sale Arranged
LANSING (U.S.)—Public auctions in three Northern Michigan cities late this month will dispose of 562 pieces of property that have reverted to the state through non-payment of taxes.

The state conservation department, which will conduct the auctions, scheduled the first for July 25 in Crystal Falls. Others will be held July 29 in Manistiquette and July 28 in Baldwin.

Restocking Project May Spend $10,000

By DON VOGEL
Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

The State Conservation Department has indicated it will spend a minimum of $85,000 to rectify a mistake that probably wasn't really a mistake.

It seems that West Londo Lake in the northeastern Lower Peninsula received a poison treatment, fatal to all fish, before it was supposed to happen. The chemical was spread two weeks prior to a scheduled July 2 public hearing on the treatment.

The lake, located on the Ogemaw-Iosco County line near Hale, was on the department's poisoning list because a survey showed an over-population of stunted fish. Some chemical experts were in the area, and knowing the lake was on the list, decided to treat it.

Because the necessary public hearing hadn't been held, department field men are hurrying to make amends. Crews were dispatched to clean up the thousands of dead fish, a different chemical dispersed on the water to cut the toxic effect of the fish killer, and plans made to restock West Londo.

The hearing was held as scheduled and a large majority of those present, mostly lake users and area residents, approved the poisoning program. Technically the department field men were in error because they treated the lake before the hearing, but in reality there was no mistake because those at the public session approved the move.

PLENTY OF RAINBOW TROUT
The restocking program should raise plenty of eyebrows around the state.

The department plans to release 500 legal size bass when the water is free of poison. This sounds logical. So does the proposed 5,000 bass fingerlings in the fall.

Now comes the $25,000 expense. The fish division plans to release 10,000 legal size rainbow trout into the lake beginning this fall and ending next spring. The estimated cost of raising one legal size trout in a hatchery ranges from $2 to $4. So the $25,000 figure could be slightly high or way low.

West Londo Lake covers 265 acres, slightly smaller than Oxbow in Oakland County. No trout were in the lake before the poisoning.

It is doubtful if 10,000 legal rainbows were planted in Oakland's 19 designated lakes combined last winter.

And remember last spring when the Conservation Department bosses were warning because the legislature took a deep dive in the department's proposed budget for this fiscal year.

Possibly someone will wake up the fish division before those 10,000 rainbows are released in one lake.

DIFFERENT BAIT FOR PIKE
Allen Slade, 12, of Rochester was fishing for catfish on the North Branch of the Clinton River near Utica last Thursday. He was using a spinning rig baited with a shrimp.

Allen didn't locate any channel catfish interested in shrimp, but a 21-inch northern pike decided to have shrimp for supper and ended up on the table instead.

Jerry Fritz, 7068 Mather St., a Pontiac fireman, may have cost himself the lead in The Press Big Fish Derby's rainbow division. He caught a nice trout last week on Davison Lake while fishing at night with a nightcrawler. But he stressed the fish before weighing it.

The trout tipped the scales at three pounds dressed. Its actual weight would have been well over the 3 1/2-pound divisional leader.

SUCCESSFUL TRIP NORTH
Jim Fritz, 804 Scottwood St., Jerry's brother and a city police officer, journeyed to Houghton Lake last weekend with his father-in-law, Wayne Lantz of Waterford. They returned with five walleyes that average 22 inches and three northern.

"We caught over 30 northern pike, but most of them were hammerheads," said Jim.

Al Penquetti of Lake Orion also hurt his chances in the Press contest by cleaning a largemouth black bass. His dressed fish went over five pounds and would have topped the leader. He caught the bass early Tuesday morning on Lake Louise using a shallow running plug. This lake produced the heaviest bass in the 1960 contest.

Bass are hitting on Pine Lake south of Pontiac, but the fish are on the small side.

Department Recommends Upland Game Seasons

Pheasants Decline in Thumb Area

Pheasant hunting this fall in Southeastern Michigan and the Thumb area isn't expected to equal the 1960 season.

Crowing and roosting counts made by conservation men indicate that the pheasant population is down about 20 per cent in these areas.

This isn't good news for Oakland County hunters because the Thumb district is where many of them head when the season opens. And Wayne and Macomb County shotguns and these two areas receive the heaviest pounding in the state.

Even though there is a decline in the eastern portion, increases in other parts of Michigan counterbalance the loss, according to Conservation Department pheasant expert Vic Jansen.

A good spring hatch could overcome any deficits. The most accurate forecast of the pheasant season will be made next month, after brood surveys by rural mail carriers.

Meanwhile, the State Conservation Commission is expected to approve the maximum season and bag limits the law allows, starting Oct. 20 and running through Nov. 10 in the Lower Peninsula. Bag limits are two a day, four in possession and eight for the season.

An Oct. 1-10 season is recommended for parts of Menominee and Delta counties.

NOTE INCREASE
Hunters last year took about 974,000 pheasants, a 7 per cent increase from 1959.

Ruffed grouse hunters should have a good year. The birds still are at the peak of their population cycle and Andy Annum, the department grouse specialist, said the take may very well exceed the 280,000 birds shot last year.

Because of bad spring weather, the kill in the Upper Peninsula dropped from 200,000 in 1959 to 131,000 last season. Conditions have improved this year.

The department has set an Oct. 1 to Nov. 10 season in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Peninsula and Oct. 20 to Nov. 19 season in the southern areas. The bag limits will stay the same at 5, 10 and 25.

The department made these reports on other upland game birds:

Sharp-shin—There is no apparent increase in the Upper Peninsula, where shooting has been permitted. In that area, the department recommends reducing bag limits from three a day, six in possession and 15 a season to 2, 4 and 8 and prohibiting shooting 'til 10 a.m. each day. The season would be closed on Drummond Island and in Central Ontonagon County, and continue at 41 days starting Oct. 1.

For the first time since 1953, the birds will become legal targets south of the Straits, but only parts of Antrim, Oshtemo, Crawford, Roscommon, Missaukee and Kalamazoo counties, and for a Oct. 20-27 season. Bag limits would be the same as in the U.P.

Hungarian Partridge — Season was opened in Chippewa County last year but fewer than three birds were taken. Populations have dropped since then and there will be no season this year.

SECOND BIGGEST
Woodcock—Seasons and bags for these migratory birds will be set in Michigan after the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service sets the limits. Hunters last year took about 84,000 birds, the second biggest kill since records have been kept.

Numbers should be higher this year. The department recommends seasons coinciding with the ruffed grouse season and the maximum bag limit allowed.

Wild turkeys and quail in southern counties both are on the increase, but both species are protected.

Rochester Man Michigan Rifle Shoot Champion

Norman Robertson of Rochester is the Michigan state outdoor small bore rifle shooting champion.

He won the title last Sunday with a 2,163 out of a possible 3,300 at the state shoot in Ionia.

An Allen Park mother and her daughter made off with the women's and junior championships. Mrs. Lenore Jensen fired 3,161 and her daughter Marian, turned in 1,575 out of a possible 1,600.

Team honors went to the Lakeland (Tex.) Air Force Base team.

By EARL WILSON

ROME — It was only 10:30 a.m. but it was hotter on Via Veneto than that place where Mr. K's going eventually.

And here I got into a discussion about Jack Paar. I'd trudged to Doney's sidewalk cafe to have the famous jelly doughnuts.

"By the way," I inquired, "whatever happened to the jelly in the jelly doughnuts?" "What jelly?" my friend hadn't struck jelly yet either. "The jelly they used to have in the jelly doughnuts," she said.

"There never was any jelly in the jelly doughnuts," she said. "It's an old legend, like Santa Claus, like Remulus and Remus. 'Once upon a time there was a restaurant called Doney's where the wild tribes from America went to eat jelly doughnuts that had jelly in them.' Folklore!"

A fellow named Dave Miller from Newark, N. J., overheard this psychopathic conversation and said from the next table: "You know Paar's on the menu in Germany?" "Jack Paar?" I asked.

"Is there any other Paar?" he retorted. "I noticed all over Germany they have Paar frankfurters and Paar sausages. I naturally thought they meant Paar-boiled..."

"Ooooooh," I groaned. "But it means Paar," he said. "So Paar franks or Paar sausages are a pair of frank or a pair of sausages. See? And he showed me his German Berlitz book: 'Paar-paar.' And if that doesn't shape up to setting today's Oscar for useless information, what've you to offer?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK

Guy Mitchell introduced "sing-along" at the Copa—and though he forgot lyrics, knocked over a stool and almost executed himself on an electric guitar, he had a warm, colorful opening... Joe Louis plans an Australian trip, as master of ceremonies of a rock 'n' roll show... Rocky Marciano's planning a weight-reducing farm in N.J. ... Dinah Washington may quit her Chicago cafe, sell her share to Sarah Vaughan.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: We'll have to admit the Russians beat us to a solution to the parking problem. No cars—Pie Larmour.

Two bookies were leaving church—George Kaye said at the Copa—and one said "Listen, jerk, it's 'Hallelujah,' not 'Hallelah!'... That's Earl, brother.

FEDERAL FACELIFTING—The Federal Building at East Huron and Perry streets has been undergoing a gradual facelift since the main post office moved to new quarters several years ago. Most of the old post office area has already been remodeled to house federal agencies and the entire project should be finished by this fall. Shown here (from left) are Earl Harkin of Dearborn, Randall Gillette of Inkster and Tom Stokes, 330 First St., working on final stages of the vast modernization project.

Swimming Episode May Bring Caroline's Shadow Closer

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — President and Mrs. Kennedy may have a somewhat changed attitude toward the proximity of Secret Service agents to their daughter Caroline as a result of the little girl's recent experience in a Washington swimming pool.

The 3-year-old slipped from a paddle board in the pool of some friends and a pregnant mother leaped fully clothed into the pool to rescue Caroline.

The Secret Service agent who usually accompanies Caroline was, at the time, some distance away watching the entrance to a restaurant where the family was busy, getting into her own bathing suit.

The incident was the sort that occurs many times every summer around every pool and beach, a small child getting in over her head and having to be fished out by a group. Sometimes, however, these incidents end tragically if a group is not by.

Mrs. Kennedy since the inauguration has not wanted Caroline shadowed constantly by federal agents and they have maintained a discreet distance in deference to her wishes.

Buy Lake Michigan Site for Interlochen Camp

FRANKFORT (AP) — A 90-acre tract of land with 1,100 feet of Lake Michigan frontage in Benzie County has been purchased as a recreation, camping and hiking area for occupants of the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Dr. Joseph Madden, camp founder and president, said the property was sold by Mrs. A. P. Peterson of Frankfort.

It was homesteaded in the 1920s by her late husband, former editor of the Benzie County Patriot, and believed to be the last parcel of property homesteaded on the Great Lakes.

This past weekend, however, an agent was included in the group when Caroline went sailing with her aunt, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy.

SLOOP GOES AROUND — Ethel Kennedy had 10 relatively small children, including Caroline, with her in the sloop Victoria. The boat remained in relatively calm waters behind a breakwater in front of the Kennedy house, but the first Lady consented to having an agent go along.

Whether by design or by miscalculation, the sloop went around in shallow water not far from the compound of houses that house a horde of Kennedys during the summer.

The water was less than 2 feet deep and the children were wild with joy, boiling over the side of the sloop and splashing in the surf.

The Victoria promptly sped back to her home mooring in front of the house of the President's father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

Caroline seemed utterly delighted by the experience and sat calmly with ladylike composure while the sloop was under way.

She will be watched carefully this week, however, while her mother is back in Washington helping her husband attend the visiting President of Pakistan.
