Trade Accord Announced by Soviets, Cuba

Agreement to Keep Steady Sugar Price; Nikita Fetes Castro

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev announced today the signing of a new long-term trade agreement with Cuba. He said it would guarantee Cuba a steady price for its sugar.

Khrushchev made his announcement at a lavish reception in the Kremlin for Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Khrushchev said the agreement will "reliably guarantee the Cuban economy against fluctuation in the price of sugar in the world market, and against economic sabotage on the part of the American monopolies."

He added: "It broadens the possibilities of further long-term economic development of Cuba."

FAREWELL RECEPTION

The Soviet government scheduled a farewell Kremlin reception for Castro as the Cuban prime minister wound up his visit to the Soviet Union.

There has been no announcement of the results of Castro's visit, which began eight days ago.

There has been speculation that he came to seek more economic aid or to discuss the Soviet-Red Chinese feud and the anti-American outbreak in Panama.

Where Did Winter Go?

Tanganyika Peace Broken by Looters

LONDON (AP) — Shooting and looting broke out today in the Arab and African quarters of Dar es Salaam, breaking a calm that had raised hope the capital of Tanganyika was returning to normal.

The word of the new outbreaks reached Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office after Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders and coastal waters to meet the threat of a bloody mutiny in the East African nation's army.

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam said President Julius Nyerere, an African moderate whose hold on the nation was shaken by the army mutiny, would broadcast to the nation.

A Tanganyikia government information officer said Nyerere was safe in the white, Arab-style statehouse of the palm-fringed capital.

The statehouse is the presidential residence.

UNSTABLE SITUATION

F. Stephen Miles, British high commissioner in Dar es Salaam in a report to the Commonwealth Office bore out other communiques reaching London that the situation was unstable and subject to changes almost hourly.

Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old Commonwealth nation.

No white casualties were mentioned.

VICTIMS NONWHITES

The victims were all believed to be African or Asian.

Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.

The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

Detroit Police Sift Clues in Mafia Suspect Bombing

DETROIT (AP)—A worn pair of gloves and a passerby's report of seeing a car near Santo (Sam) Perrone's sedan before it was blasted by a bomb served as possible clues today to the apparent assassination attempt.

Perrone, 69, named by police as a Mafia agent, remained in critical condition at Saratoga General Hospital from injuries suffered in the explosion Sunday in his parked car. He lost his right leg and was otherwise badly wounded.

Perrone, under 24-hour police guard, was said to have given officers a minimum of help in their efforts to get evidence. He vowed, however, to "take care" of the person responsible for planting the bomb in his car.

The gloves, fur-lined, were found at the scene. A motorist, whom police refused to identify, said he saw a "dark sedan" near Perrone's parked car shortly before the explosion.

Cochil also said he felt Perrone knew the reason for the attempt on his life though refusing to give information to police.

Witness Says Baker Suggested Gift to Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — An insurance agent has sworn to Senate investigators that in 1959 he gave a stereo phonograph set costing over $500 to Lyndon B. Johnson at the suggestion of Senate aide Robert G. Baker.

President Johnson at that time was the Senate Democratic leader and Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic Majority.

The story of the gift of the stereo set was told to the Senate Rules Committee in a closed session by Don B. Reynolds, who described Baker as associated with his Washington insurance agency. The committee

'65 Request Aims Blow at U. S. Poverty

President Calls It Giant Step Toward a Balanced Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson called a turn-about to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent to Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a giant step toward "a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 27,000 civilians from the Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

★ ★ ★

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the overall ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1.

NATIONAL DEBT

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people."

He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Johnson's request for $3.4 billion new foreign aid funds was the smallest since the program started with the postwar Marshall Plan.

BELOW PROPOSAL

Dems, GOP Clash on Fiscal Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats generally applauded President Johnson's $97.9-billion budget today, calling it tight and realistic.

"I'm intrigued by how so much more can be undertaken by the federal government in so many quarters with so much less money," said Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

He suggested that Johnson may have to employ "some legerdemain" to finance the programs he proposed and still hold spending below this year's.

DILLON TESTIMONY

Dirksen said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had testified in October that the new year's deficit would be likely to run $9 billion.

"But by some automation, computers and calculators we are now told the administration will do more with less and come up with a deficit half of that amount," he said.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said, however, that the President's estimates represent a "tight" budget with "realistic estimates" of the government's financial activities in the year beginning next July 1.

"A lot of people have said in the past that Johnson can't do this and can't do that," he said.

"But Johnson has done what he has set out to do in most instances.

"It is a realistic budget which Congress will do its best to keep within, if not under, his estimates," Mansfield said.

Sen. Norris G. Cotton, R-N.H., said Johnson's message was "full of economy - sounding phrases but short on real performance."

ACTUAL REDUCTION

"Another increase in the national debt ceiling, to a new all-time high, is requested and after all the fanfare about a reduction in government employment, his actual reduction amounts to cutting less than one federal employe out of every 2,000."

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, found the budget "gratifying in that it is lower than we had reason to expect it would be several months ago."

But Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, senior GOP member on the appropriations group, promised that "We will cut this budget everywhere we can to find a soft spot and I think we can find $5 billion or $6 billion in soft spots in it."

Judge Is Irked in Hoffa Trial

Lawyers Too Slow in Selecting Jurors

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge threatened today to take over personally the questioning prospective jurors for Teamsters President James Hoffa's jury-tampering trial — in order to speed things up.

"Unless the questioning is accelerated," U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said, he will take the right to examine prospective jurors away from the lawyers, and ask the questions himself.

His comment, made from the bench soon after the trial began its second day, seemed aimed primarily at defense attorneys — who took up the better part of two hours in examining the first prospect yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He had just overruled two defense motions.

★ ★ ★

TOSS OUT PANEL

The other asked anew that the entire list of 200 special jury panelists be thrown out on grounds that it does not represent a cross-section of the area.

With that, questioning of five men and two women who had been locked up overnight as prospective jurors resumed.

Only one, George H. Baber Jr. of Dayton, Tenn., had been questioned previously. Baber was seated tentatively at the close of the first day of what promises to be a long trial.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa and the others are charged with attempting to influence illegally the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville which ended with a deadlocked jury.

RUBY AND ATTORNEYS — Jack Ruby (center), accused of slaying Lee Harvey Oswald, alleged assassin of President Kennedy, confers with his lawyers Joe Townhill (left) and Melvin Belli in Dallas District Court. Ruby is seeking release on bond. A psychologist testified yesterday that Ruby should have psychiatric tests and that the Dallas nightclub owner is suffering from brain defects.

Weeping Ruby Claims Remorse at Oswald Death

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby cried today about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and said he was "more remorseful than angry" when he killed accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Ruby broke into tears when newsmen asked him how he felt about the assassination. The questioning was permitted at the defense table just before Ruby's bond hearing was resumed.

Described yesterday by defense witnesses as a man unaware of his actions when shot Oswald, Ruby is charged with murder with malice.

His defense is seeking his release on bond on grounds that he was temporarily insane and therefore could not tell right from wrong.

Quiz Youth After Ride

Sheriff's department detectives this afternoon questioned a Pontiac youth who allegedly forced his way into the car of an Avondale High School student this morning and drove to Pontiac.

The car was stopped by Pontiac Patrolman Maurice J. Nolin about 11 a.m. at Paddock and Wall.

Norman Neidrick, 18, of 50 S. Jesse, was turned over to the sheriff's department for questioning.

IN PARKING LOT

Chamberlain told sheriff's detectives Ray Bills and Gerald Gaedt that Neidrick and two other youths drove up to his car this morning in the school parking lot and asked for cigarettes.

Chamberlain was sitting in his parents' car waiting to take a final exam. He said Neidrick got in the car and drove off with Chamberlain and Jim Harrington, a friend of Chamberlain in the car.

Neidrick returned to the school, Chamberlain said, dropped Harrington off and drove away from the school again. He said he wanted to go to his girl friend's house on Auburn, Chamberlain said.

Young Chamberlain told police and detectives that he had never seen any of the three men before.

HUNT BEGAN

The hunt for the boy began when other students told School Principal Roscoe Crowell that three men apparently made Chamberlain leave the parking lot. A police alert was sent out.

Neidrick's two companions still are sought for questioning.

Space Shot May Bring Cooperation

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The world's largest man-made moonlet is scheduled for launching Thursday, and if orbited it could open a new era of scientific cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

U.S. space officials say this country and the Soviet Union have agreed to use the 135-foot diameter balloon to be called Echo 2 for their first joint experiments in talking via satellite.

★ ★ ★

The Russians are not participating in the launching of the satellite, but they may attempt to track it by military radar.

"We don't know exactly what Russia is going to do," a space agency spokesman said.

There has been no announcement as to whether U.S. broadcasts via the satellite would be rebroadcast to the Soviet people nor whether Soviet broadcasts would be heard by the U.S. public.

During the course of its expected life time, Echo 2 will be seen from all parts of the Soviet Union, the spokesman said. The near-polar orbit is the same as that used by Samos photographic reconnaissance satellites, which keeps every square mile of Soviet territory under surveillance.

Echo 2 is expected to be visible in this country for the first time late Thursday, when it crosses the Eastern states on its sixth trip around the globe about 10 hours after launch.

Western states should be able to see the moonlet about 12 hours after launch, on its seventh pass around the earth.

Launching is scheduled between 5:11 a.m. and 6:14 a.m. —8:11 a.m. and 9:14 a.m. Eastern Standard Time. If technical problems cause delays past that period the launching could be attempted the following morning.

great man like that could be lost," Ruby cried as newsmen asked him his feelings about the president's death.

Defense attorneys Melvin Belli and Joe Tonahill asked that the questioning be dropped.

As to Oswald, Ruby said: "I never saw him or knew him in my life."

★ ★ ★

Ruby was asked about a trip to Cuba he made in 1959, about nine months after Prime Minister Fidel Castro took over the government. The visit was brought out in testimony.

GOOD HARMONY

"It seemed like the U.S. was in good harmony with Cuba then," Ruby said. "I was just vacationing down there for a few days."

Ruby said he did try to contact a person who knew Castro well, but he did not explain why he tried to do that.

"To be perfectly honest," Ruby said, "I was just trying to get out of the beer business."

Urban Renewal Plan Hits Snag

A revised project plan, on which the future of Pontiac's R20 urban renewal project is riding, has hit a snag in the Urban Renewal Agency (URA) Regional Office in Chicago.

Local urban renewal officials have been notified that the plan needs more documentation before it can be processed by federal agencies according to James L. Bates, Pontiac's urban renewal director.

The revised plan, submitted to Chicago early in December, called for adjusting boundaries of the project, adding some 40 more structures to the aquisition list and changing certain land uses.

★ ★ ★

It also contained a complete budget revision designed to free federal funds to pay for excessive costs to date and finance future expansion and completion of the project.

It completely revised the R20 project plan and budget.

FINANCE EFFECTED

Failure to get the necessary approval of federal officials could effect both R20 project financing and the 1964 city budget.

Because the plan has been stalled, city officials have decided to shoot for a budget revision alone at this time, and work toward a plan to expand the project at a later date.

The City Commission is slated to take the first step in this direction tonight.

★ ★ ★

One of the items which federal officials require is a land marketability study for property along the south side of Auburn between Saginaw and the Perimeter Road, and the west side of the Perimeter Road south of Auburn.

REVISED PLAN

This land, marked for commercial development in the original R20 project plan, was changed to Residential-3 zoning as the site for high-rise apartments in the revised plan.

Federal officials say the city must show there is a market for this development before the revised plan can be processed.

Commissioners will be asked to approve a contract for the land marketability study with Real Estate Research Corp., of Chicago, tonight.

★ ★ ★

"In addition, we must submit more documentation on the eligibility of the project, including added information on the condition of each building," said Bates.

"We were told by federal officials last fall that these items weren't necessary, but now they want them.

LEGAL PROBLEMS

"This comes as a result of legal problems arising out of eligibility in several other urban renewal projects in the nation," Bates said.

Bates recommended that the city submit a revised budget plan now. His office expects to have that ready for commission approval in two weeks.

The R20 project is now operating on a $409,000 loan from the city. That money will be exhausted by about April.

★ ★ ★

The loan itself must be repaid by the city before Sept. 1. In addition, urban renewal must repay an outstanding loan of $3.8 million in July.

"The budget revision we now recommend would repay the $409,000 loan, and leave us enough money to retire the outstanding $3.8 million project loan note," Bates said.

"It should leave the project financially sound until the complete plan revision is fully documented and approved in Chicago."

The $409,000 loan would have to come from the 1964 city budget if a revised R20 budget plan isn't approved by the URA.

If this happened, it would leave the city with little or no capital improvement program for 1964.

Dams on Clinton River Deeded Over to County

A dam site at the state-owned Drayton Plains Fish Hatchery in Waterford Township has been deeded to Oakland County for $1, the State Conservation Department announced today.

The transaction was approved Friday by the State Conservation Commission, department officials reported.

They said the County Board of Supervisors should receive notification within the next few days.

The site, containing two dams on the Clinton River, was requested by the board of supervisors on the advice of County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

CAN RAISE LEVELS

He said the dams can be used to raise seven lakes in the township to desirable levels next spring. The lakes are among many in the county that have remained low over the past several summers.

Lakes that can be controlled by the dams, according to Barry, are Angelus, Loon, Silver, Upper, Silver, Schoolhouse, Mohawk and Wormer.

★ ★ ★

The dams will divert excess flow of the Clinton River into these lakes at peak periods, said Barry.

OTHER CONTROL

He added that the levels of eight other lakes in Waterford and Independence townships can be controlled similarily by a privately-owned dam at the Waterford Mill Pond.

These lakes are Maceday, Van Norman, Lester, Williams, Lotus, Green, Dollar and Cemetery.

Barry said he is negotiating with the dam owner, proprietor of the nearby Cascades Motel, for purchase of the damsite.

★ ★ ★

The commissioner said the county should be able to acquire it before next spring.

STUDYING LAKES

Meanwhile, engineers for the county are studying the various lakes before recommending at which levels they should be maintained.

★ ★ ★

Barry said he will take the recommendations to circuit court to have the levels legally established and for the authority to maintain them there.

★ ★ ★

Reynolds said he paid $542.25 for the stereo set and another $42.50 to have it installed in Johnson's home.

INSURANCE POLICY

Reynolds also told about a $200,000 insurance police issued on Johnson's life.

Along with the transcript of Reynolds' testimony, the committee made public a statement from Walter Jenkins, a close associate of the President's, saying he was informed that "the alleged gift of a record player to Mr. and Mrs. Johnson was a present from Robert G. Baker."

Jenkins also said he was positive he had never heard from any source "that there was a business connection between Robert G. Baker and Don Reynolds in the insurance agency operated by Mr. Reynolds or that Reynolds had any connection whatever with the record player gift."

★ ★ ★

Baker resigned under fire on Oct. 7 from his $19,600-a-year Senate post. The committee is investigating whether he engaged in outside business dealings that conflicted with his official duties or involved other improprieties.

LBJ Proposes Arms Program

Plan Would Freeze N-Weapon Output

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson proposed today a broad program to halt the arms race, including consideration of a plan to freeze production of strategic nuclear weapons vehicles under proper safeguards.

The proposal, submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference, for the first time separated nuclear vehicles from the deadlocked package of general disarmament.

★ ★ ★

It was part of a sweeping five-point peace program contained in a message from the President to the conference read by the U.S. disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster.

One proposal by Johnson was for a world treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force in international disputes.

"While we continue our efforts to achieve general and complege disarmament under effective international control, we must first endeavor to halt further increases in strategic armaments now," the President said.

"The Unitd States, the Soviet Union and the respective allies should agree to explore a verified freeze of the number and characteristics of strategic nuclear offensive and defensive vehicles."

A freeze on nuclear delivery vehicles was contained in the U.S. plan for a general disarmament treaty submitted to the conference in April 1962. But the proposal became bogged down along with all other parts of the complex treaty draft as the Soviet Union refused to discuss any form of adequate verification machinery.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made no direct reference to Johnson's proposal but said the conference resumes its work "in more favorable circumstances than ever before." He referred to last year's Moscow treaty banning most nuclear tests.

READY TO AGREE

He declared the Soviet Union is ready to agree on a reduction of military force levels and a system of observation posts linked with unspecified other measures.

British Minister of State Peter Thomas warmly endorsed Johnson's "bold and imaginative message" and said it gave new impetus to the conference.

Besides the freeze on the production of nuclear delivery vehicles, Johnson proposed the shutdown of all reactors producing nuclear materials for weapons, and a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack or accidental war.

Johnson also urged a special agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries and to ban the underground nuclear tests unaffected by the Moscow test-ban treaty.

The conference resumed after a five-month recess.

School Chaplain to Lead Civil Rights Processional

BIRMINGHAM—Rev. Maurice Gary, Marian High School chaplain, will be the main speaker at the civil rights processional scheduled for Feb. 9.

The march and program sponsored by the Birmingham Council of Churches is planned as an ecumenical witness to the brotherhood of all men and the need for responsible federal civil rights legislation now pending in Congress.

Participants will meet at the Congregational Church of Birmingham, 388 N. Woodward, for the start of the 3 p.m. program.

★ ★ ★

Invocations will be delivered by Rabbi Irwin Groner, associate rabbi at Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield and Rev. Raymond Fenner, minister of the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

Leading the processional will be bearers of religious symbols, American flags and church flags. Protestants, Catholics, Jews and others will walk behind the banners with members of the clergy following them.

★ ★ ★

The group's course will take it to Holy Name Catholic Church at Harmon and Woodland, where Father Gary will deliver the message. Prayers and hymns also will be included.

The processional originally was scheduled for Dec. 14, but was postponed due to the period of mourning for the late President John F. Kennedy.

Birmingham traffic accidents in December ended a year that recorded the highest accident rate in the history of the city, according to Police Chief R. W. Moxley.

Reports of 140 accidents were made in December, breaking the monthly record of 118 accidents in January, 1963.

INJURED RISE

The number of persons injured went from 312 in 1962 to 427 in 1963 — an increase of almost 37 per cent.

Two persons were killed on the streets of Birmingham last year, while the total was also two for the four preceding years.

Birmingham City Commissioner Ralph A. Main last night proposed informally a charter change to replace the city assessor on the board of review with a private citizen.

At the City Commission meeting, he suggested that all three members of the board, rather than two, be appointed by the commission.

Main said he was not being critical of the assessor but said he believed that the assessor should not sit in judgment on his own work.

No formal action was taken by the commission on the proposal but it directed the city manager to learn how boards of review are set up in other cities.

1965 Budget at $97 Billion

a reluctant Congress finally gave.

The money would support $1.2 billion of outlays for military assistance to 60 nations, and $2.2 billion of loans and outlays to help the economic development of poor countries.

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning —an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of fiscal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11 billion tax reduction bill.

"Since expectations of a tax reduction have been incorporated into the forward planning of many business firms, the effect on the economy of failure to pass the legislation swiftly might be deeply disturbing," Johnson said.

City Group Reelects All

The Downtown Pontiac Business Association (DPBA) board of directors this morning reelected its entire slate of 1963 officers to a new one-year term.

Reelected president was Monroe M. Osmun, Pontiac clothier and long-time member of the Pontiac Board of Education.

Osmun, of 100 Ogemaw, has been president of the DPBA since it formed early in 1962.

Others reelected at today's meeting include Howard Nelson, manager of the Pontiac Sears, Roebuck & Co. store, first vice president; and Clifford Grovogel, manager of Waite's Department Store, second vice president.

City Set to Order River Plans

The City Commission is scheduled to order construction plans tonight for improving the Clinton River between Union and Opdyke.

The move was prompted by State Highway Department officials who have threatened to drop plans for construction of the proposed M59 freeway in Pontiac this year unless the city indicates its plans for the river.

The problem was first discussed by city and state officials last fall. In order to plan freeway bridges, the state needs a definite commitment from the city concerning local plans to improve the river bed east of the present Clinton River Drain project.

The bridges must be constructed to conform to the width of the river and long-range plans called for the Clinton to be widened and straightened in that area.

Originally, this had been part of the Clinton River Drain project, but it was deleted by commissioners in June 1962.

On tonight's agenda will be an agreement with Jones, Henry & Williams, of Toledo, the city's consulting engineers to prepare final drawings for the necessary improvements.

These are only improvements which directly affect M59 freeway construction. The total improvement project for that section of the river is estimated to cost some $1 million.

The state has been asking for local action for several months. Last week, according to city officials, the highway department said it would drop the M59 freeway from this year's schedule if no action was taken.

Presently, the freeway contracts are slated to be awarded in April and August.

In other business, commissioners will be asked to approve a real estate marketing study to determine the most feasible and acceptable method of disposing of urban renewal lands for redevelopment.

Currently, the city has a contract agreement with Charles L. Langs, naming him as redeveloper of urban renewal lands in the downtown area.

★ ★ ★

LAND SALES

The proposed study, by Real Estate Research Corp., would determine if it is best to sell land through a single redeveloper or put it up for competitive bidding on the open market.

The 1964 city budget will also be up for a public hearing tonight. Commissioners may also act on some proposed fringe benefits for city employes.

Plans are also expected to be ordered for some $146,000 in improvements at Pontiac Municipal Airport this summer.

Major Crimes Up in '63

Thirty-five hundred major crimes were committed in Pontiac in 1963, an increase of 231 over the preceding year, the Pontiac Police Department reported today.

Over 900 arrests were made in connection with these crimes.

Of the seven classifications of offenses, only rape and aggravated assault showed declines. There were five rapes compared with nine in 1962 and 144 assaults, a drop of 107.

★ ★ ★

There were six murders in the city as opposed to four in 1962. Nine negligent manslaughters were recorded in 1963, up six.

BURGLARIES INCREASE

Burglaries were responsible for 873 of the total offenses, an increase of 83.

Larcenies of goods over $50 totaled 491, a rise of 122, while thefts of items under $50 increased 121, from 1,501 to 1,622.

Police recovered 10 per cent of the $242,667 in property reported stolen. In 1962 15 per cent was recovered.

There was one more auto theft than the 175 reported in 1962 and all but a few of the cars have been recovered to date.

Backers Block Young Endorsement

Glenn Is Winner in First Political Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. accomplished his first mission in practical politics Monday as his supporters blocked Democratic party endorsement of U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for nomination to a second term.

★ ★ ★

Young had called for a showdown at the state Democratic convention on official party endorsement. Backers of Glenn, who will face Young in the May 5 primary, wanted no endorsement at all.

★ ★ ★

The Glenn camp, Sen. Young and state Democratic chairman William L. Coleman all claimed they were satisfied after Monday's hassle.

But Glenn, the political novice, nonetheless appeared to be a big victor over Young, 74, a veteran of Ohio politics.

FIRST CONVENTION

The state's first preprimary political convention since adoption of the primary system two generations ago broke up without endorsing a candidate for the Senate or for any other office at stake this year.

Glenn, 42, Marine Corps hero of two wars, rocketed to fame in 1962 when he became the first American to orbit the earth. He resigned last week from the nation's space program to seek the Senate nomination.

Young said in Washington Monday night that the convention result left him "very serene and contented" and expectant of victory. But the 74-year-old senator, opposed by a man 32 years his junior, had called for a showdown on endorsement for whatever value it might have had in getting the grass-roots party forces out in his behalf.

Chairman Coleman only Sunday night had told Young that he could have the convention endorsement if he wanted it.

GLENN WINNER

So when the delegates voted 343-329 against single endorsements for each office, it shaped up as a triumph for the Glenn forces. This was just what their strategy had called for.

Glenn remained in his hotel suite several floors above the ballroom where the convention was taking place. Afterward, he told newsmen: "You know I would like to say something, but I'm not allowed to."

★ ★ ★

He has explained that he can't campaign or take a more active part in politics until his release from the Marine Corps. It is expected by March 1.

A number of delegates, including some county chairmen, said sentiment for Glenn appeared stronger than had been suspected. Some prominent in party affairs — who spoke out for Young—admitted in confidence that they felt Glenn could put new life in the Ohio Democratic party.

IN DEM COLUMN

The Democrats aim at putting Ohio back into their column after reversals in the 1960 and 1962 elections. They size up the winner of the upcoming Republican senatorial primary, either Rep. Robert Taft Jr. or Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, as a formidable foe. They know they have a long way to come back to gain a presidential plurality after Richard M. Nixon's 273,363-vote margin over the late John F. Kennedy in Ohio in 1960.

Young, after delivering the convention keynote speech—in which he asked the endorsement—had left for Washington before the climax. He based his bid for backing on his record of down-the-line support for Kennedy-Johnson administration programs during his term in the Senate.

Chou Pledges Help to Africa

Urges Solidarity to Battle Colonialism

BAMAKO, Mali (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai called on Africa today to "strengthen anti-imperialist forces" and pledged Red China's help for the continent.

Winding up a five-day visit to this Socialist West African nation, Chou reiterated his call for African-Asian solidarity and "a pact among poor friends."

"Asia and Africa had the same experience with colonialism," Chou said before boarding a chartered airliner for neighboring Guinea, third Socialist country on the West African leg of his tour.

★ ★ ★

"In the days to come, the Chinese people will advance on the side of Mali in the common cause of the fight against imperialism," Chou said.

ROAD OF SOCIALISM

His statement stressed agreement between China and Mali on a number of points and indicated China may increase its aid to the former French colony.

One main subject of discussion during his visit was a plan to construct a highway network to link North and West Africa across the Sahara. China reportedly pledged $24 million for the project.

★ ★ ★

Chou will visit Guinea's Marxist President Sekou Toure for four days before flying to the Sudan in East Africa.

FRIENDSHIP FOR CHINA

Mali's assurances of friendship for China have not prevented it from seeking economic aid wherever it can get it.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob Malik is due this week to inaugurate a giant Soviet exhibit on the banks of the Niger River.

A joint Mali-Chinese communique made no mention of the Sahara highway project but spoke vaguely of the development of economic relations.

★ ★ ★

The communique pledged Mali to the principle of an Afro-Asian solidarity conference. Chou has been trying to muster support for such a conference all along his African tour.

★ ★ ★

In Mogadishu, capital of Somalia, official sources said Chou would visit there Feb. 2-5. Somalia in recent months has been moving close to Moscow.

Automatic vending of foods and other consumer goods is expected to pass the $3 billion mark in 1963, the National Automatic Merchandising Assn. predicts.

'First Lady of Ballooning' Is Found Dead in Pacific

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Barbara Keith, the flying grandmother who died at sea during the first Catalina Channel hot air balloon race, was named "the first lady of hot air ballooning" as plans were laid for next year's race.

Mrs. Keith, 42, from Hartford, Conn., was found in the ocean Monday, locked in the seat of the hot air balloon that had lifted her off Santa Catalina Island 48 hours earlier.

An autopsy showed she drowned. Chief Deputy Coroner Gene Massey also said she developed pneumonia before she died.

★ ★ ★

He estimated the balloon fell into the sea about 6:15 p.m. Saturday, and said the time of death was probably 2 a.m. Sunday, almost 8 hours later.

In a prepared statement issued after a meeting Monday, they said: "We are all terribly grieved at the passing of a gallant and wonderful person, Barbara Keith.

"With the number of boats and aircraft in the area, it is inconceivable to all of us that Mrs. Keith's descent was not seen and she located.

"We believe the magnificent performance of Ed Zost in winning the race, landing safely and exactly where predicted while other balloonists came down just short of the mainland, indicates the challenge and competitiveness of the race.

CHALLENGE CITED

"The balloonists are anxious to see the race continue, and the club is formulating plans for next year's race, hoping to exemplify the spirit typified by the first lady of hot air ballooning, Barbara Keith."

Mrs. Keith's body was located eight miles off Dana Point by the crew of a Coast Guard cutter. The recovery spot is about 25 miles due east of Santa Catalina Island, where nine balloonists took off Saturday afternoon.

Coast Guard spokesmen said Mrs. Keith's body, encased in an inflated lifejacket, was tied to the balloon's gas tanks by a 25-foot rope.

Another length of rope tied her body to a stuffed poodle she had laughingly described as her copilot.

Spokesmen said she apparently had fired a flare when she hit the water, and that she had also used a sea dye marker.

Less Smoking? LBJ's Budget Sees No Letup

His budget message today foresees more cigarettes smoked in fiscal 1965 than ever before, and earning a $2.14 billion in tobacco taxes for the treasury.

That's a rise of $65 million from this year, despite the surgeon general's report which 10 days ago linked cigarettes to lung cancer, heart attacks and other diseases.

★ ★ ★

Revenues from cigars, pipe tobacco, chewing tobacco and snuff will go up, too, the revenue estimates suggest. They'll earn $72 million, a $1-million increase from this year.

No CIA Outlay? It's All Concealed

The CIA wasn't mentioned today as costing even a penny in President Johnson's fiscal 1965 budget.

Except for a trifling $922,000 item for "construction" in the previous year's budget, CIA has no fiscal existence.

★ ★ ★

Widow Files Suit Against Rail Company

★ ★ ★

The suit contends that the rail crossing of U.S. 131 had no warning signal apparatus and no flagmen at the time of the accident which occurred in a dense fog.

American Dependents Arrive From Panama

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—An airlift of American dependents from Panama ended Monday with the arrival of 14 evacuees, raising to 1,093 the number of persons brought here since last Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force said 29 other dependents are due here today aboard a commercial airliner. About 150 dependents were to leave Panama today aboard the troopship Upsur, probably for Brooklyn, N.Y., and 40 others are to go to New Orleans aboard the troopship Cristobal.

District Nixed in Waterford

Residents Changed Opinion on Lights

Diminishing interest by residents resulted last night in the rejection of a proposed street light district on Andersonville Road in Waterford Township.

The Township Board voted unanimously against the special assessment district when a poll of residents revealed that some who earlier favored the district were now against it.

In other business at the weekly board meeting, a proposal that police and fire department personnel be given physical exams every other year was approved.

It was pointed out that many municipalities have a regular examination program for uniform personnel.

The board also tabled action on the Pleasant Lake Shores subdivision plat pending approval of the plat by the road commission.

HOUSE COMPLEX

Submitted by Houseman-Spitzley Corp., the plat includes a 179-house development near Pleasant Lake.

In other business the board authorized retention of an architectural firm to prepare an analysis of four fire station sites under consideration in the Williams Lake Area. A maximum fee of $100 was specified.

Among Utah's first industries were gristmills and pioneer sawmills.

France Poll for Red China

PARIS (AP)—A public opinion poll indicates that 39 per cent of Frenchmen favor recognition of Communist China by France, while 26 per cent are opposed. Thirty-five per cent, however, expressed no opinion.

Fifty-eight per cent favor trade relations with Red China, while 17 per cent were opposed and 25 per cent gave no opinion.

The poll was taken by the French Institute of Public Opinion and published Monday by France Soir.

Budget Shrinks —Part Missing

Missing from the fiscal 1965 budget message he sent today to Congress was the huge "appendix" carrying the item-by-item details, a fine-print volume which last year weighed five pounds and had 1,195 pages.

It will be along in about 10 days, the budget bureau said, and not until then can a lot of questions on federal projects and programs be answered.

"It was just physically impossible for the printer to get it out on time," spokesman explained. He added:

DONE OVER

"Second, Johnson's economy drive meant that a lot of work had to be done over.

"He ripped the thing apart from beginning to end."

What Congress got was a fat paperback volume of a mere 475 pages, selling for $1.50. The big book, when it comes, will cost $7.50.

Two Women Missing From Correction House

PLYMOUTH (AP) — Two women inmates were reported missing from the Detroit House of Correction Monday.

They were identified as Helen Johnson, 32, of Coldwater, serving one to two years on a bad check charge, and Shirley Henley, 22, of Plymouth, serving 90 days for simple larceny.

GEORGE H. WILHELMI

Renewal Aide Picked for City

Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates has named George H. Wilhelmi, 37, to the post of assistant urban renewal director for Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Wilhelmi succeeds Daniel Skeen, who resigned earlier this month to take over as urban renewal director in St. Clair.

PROJECT ENGINEER

The new assistant director has been an urban renewal project engineer in Pontiac since April 1963, working mainly on site improvements.

Prior to coming here, he gained considerable experience in expressway planning and construction as an engineer for nine years with the Wayne County Road Commission.

Wilhelmi is married and has two children.

He holds a bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering from the University of Detroit.

World Almanac With Chronicle of JFK Tragedy

Great tragedy in high office and vast political and economic changes the world over are highlights of the comprehensive record in the new World Almanac and Book of Facts for 1964.

It opens with an extended chronicle of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the accession of Lyndon Johnson to the presidency.

The World Almanac also provides an understanding of the issues and personalities affecting the forthcoming national election, as well as the elections of members of Congress and state officials.

★ ★ ★

The background material includes information about qualifications for voting, the Electoral College, tenure of office and tables of total votes cast for candidates for president since 1900, listed by states.

TEST BAN SIGNING

In summing up the major events of 1963 that will influence 1964 the World Almanac cites the signing of the test-ban treaty as the most important international action.

For the first time, the World Almanac gives the new Census returns on the national origins of foreign-born citizens of the United States.

Its population section records the growth and migrations of the American people and the continuing movement toward the Pacific Coast, with the claims of California passing New York State in population and Oklahoma City passing Los Angeles in size of municipal terrain.

Israel Vows to Proceed on Project

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Prime Minister Levi Eshkol says Israel will proceed with plans to divert Jordan River waters for irrigation despite decisions taken by Arab leaders at their Cairo summit meeting.

"Israel will oppose unilateral and illegal measures by the Arab states and will act to protect her vital interests," Eshkol told parliament yesterday.

He said it was "horrifying" that the only aim that could bring the Arab leaders together was "their lust for aggression against a neighboring state."

★ ★ ★

Eshkol accused the Arabs of giving a distorted picture of Israel's water diversion plan, which he described as "a legal and constructive enterprise."

SABOTAGE PLAN

He accused the Cairo conference of replaying with "a sabotage plan which is entirely based on negation and envy, law violation and deliberate aggression."

Eshkol declared the water needs of Jordan, Syria and Lebanon were satisfied by the unified water plan accepted by technical experts of the Arab states and Israel in 1958.

Later the Arab political leaders rejected the proposal.

King Hussein of Jordan told his people last night in a radio broadcast that the Cairo summit marked the start of a new era for the Arab world.

★ ★ ★

Hussein, speaking for the first time since his return Friday from the conference, called on Jordanians "to give every sacrifice needed for the success of the new era."

"The summit conference . . . recorded for Arabs, for the first time in their history, the preparedness and determination of their leaders to act in a unified, aimful manner," he said.

Honor U.S. Jaycees by Week's Observance

This is National Jaycee Week.

The organization stemming from a couple of predecessor associations embracing 29 cities assumed its present identity and form in January of 1920.

★ ★ ★

In the 43 years following, the USJCC (United States Junior Chamber of Commerce) has grown to 4,900 chapters and 225,000 members. There are more than 200 chapters in Michigan, of which Pontiac was one of the first three.

The national objectives of the Jaycees are twofold: Improvement of communities and improvement of member individuals.

In 1944 the Jaycees went international, and today have become a contributing factor toward world peace with the promulgation of its spirit and philosophy in 90 countries of the free world.

Among the many projects undertaken by area Jaycees was the successful campaign to effect amendment of the Pontiac City Charter, while the Waterford chapter was active last fall in the effort toward the municipal incorporation of Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS salutes this fine body of young social and business standouts and extends best wishes for continued growth and achievement for their superb organization.

Typical Financial Woe Hasn't Hit 'Geographic'

★ ★ ★

At a time when periodicals with few exceptions have either gone under or are battling stormy financial seas, The National Geographic Magazine sails serenely along propelled by its 3.5 million circulation.

★ ★ ★

The Geographic was established in 1888 when a group of 33 Washingtonians, most of them scientists, incorporated the National Geographic Society, with the first issue of the magazine appearing within a year.

Within two and one-half years the young organization sent to Alaska a team of explorer-scientists who discovered Mount Logan, the second highest peak in North America. The Society since has sponsored some 200 other expediitions.

★ ★ ★

For 55 years the magazine was under the guiding genius of GILBERT GROSVENOR, who translated the "dullness" of scientific geography into popular fact and established successful and enduring editorial policies. His son, MELVILLE BELL GROSVENOR, is current editor.

★ ★ ★

It is almost unthinkable for many subscribers to throw away an issue of National Geographic, and from the standpoint of sheer bulk observers have wryly held that it poses an eventual storage problem for American homes.

Pub Patron Utilizes Glass for Dual Duty

Barkeepers will tell you that there are an inestimable number of "chasers" specified by those who like an occasional nip.

But it remained for a steady patron of an English pub to chase all known chasers into the limbo of alcoholic neutralizers.

This innovator merely eats—repeat eats — the glass after he's drained its contents. But there's a fly in the chaser. Seems he got to polishing off as many as three glasses nightly—a pretty shattering sight for the pubkeeper as he watched glass-eyed not only his liquor but his glassware going down the hatch.

After the proprietor established a ground rule against glass eating, the customer betook himself elsewhere — but soon swallowed his pride and returned, saying that he'd not found any competitive glassware as tasty as the variety he was used to.

★ ★ ★

But with typical British diplomacy, a gastric truce was effected. Either the customer furnishes his own eating glasses, or, if he still prefers to munch on the pub's, he'll be charged glassage.

JFK Influenced Some Changes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It has been three years since President John F. Kennedy took office. It is almost two months since he died.

MARLOW

Nothing basic has changed in the three years or two months. But there have been changes.

Kennedy had no illusions about the future. In his inaugural talk on that cold, bright, windy Jan. 20, 1961 he said the problems facing the nation might not be solved "in our lifetime."

★ ★ ★

Few were solved in his. Yet, he gave the country a sense of life, of youth, of bustle, which it needed. And he gave it a sense of hope, vague as it might have been. If he had lived, the record might have been shining.

Relations with an old foe, the Soviet Union are better; with an old friend, France, worse. The economy is in far better shape.

The four biggest domestic programs of Kennedy's presidency — federal aid to education, medical care for the aged, a tax cut, and a strong civil rights bill — were all unfinished business when he died.

At the time of his death, Kennedy was so enormously popular at home and abroad, as the universal grief at his death showed, there could have been little doubt about his success if he ran again.

Khrushchev must have mistaken Kennedy for a boy on a man's errand. He pushed his luck. His luck ran out.

Khrushchev broke a voluntary nuclear test ban and resumed testing. Kennedy did the same.

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev then tried his biggest push, putting missiles in Cuba. Kennedy forced him to back down. Khrushchev changed.

FRIENDLY ATTITUDE

He signed a nuclear test-ban treaty. His attitude changed. He became more friendly.

It was Kennedy who made this possible by refraining from belligerency. This was one of his great achievements.

★ ★ ★

Some of last year's racial explosions might have been avoided if Kennedy had done more fighting with Congress, specifically if he had proposed and insisted upon a strong civil rights program.

Instead, it was the explosions themselves that forced him into offering such a program.

★ ★ ★

David Lawrence Says:

Panama's Rights Questionable

WASHINGTON—When you start to turn the clock back, how far back do you go?

When it insists that the existing treaty, signed in 1903, granting the United States rights in "perpetuity" to the Canal Zone be revised because Panama wants to regain its "moral and legal rights," the point can be raised as to whether the government of Colombia doesn't also have to be consulted.

LAWRENCE

Since the Panamanian government now has chosen to break off diplomatic relations with the United States, this means that the Washington government is no longer under obligation to recognize the sovereignty of Panama.

It affords an opportunity for Colombia to put in its claim for the recovery of the Canal Zone, which it originally owned.

★ ★ ★

Few people may realize it, but not only the Canal Zone but all of Panama was once a part of Colombia.

FRENCH FAIL

As far back as 1878, it granted a French company exclusive rights to construct a canal. But the French projects failed again and again.

Finally, on Jan. 22, 1903, the United States concluded a treaty with Colombia which provided for the acquisition by the United States of the Canal Zone area.

★ ★ ★

Then, not long afterward—on Nov. 3 of the same year—a revolution broke out in Colombia, and Panama declared itself independent.

GRANTS RECOGNITION

The United States government within 72 hours granted diplomatic recognition.

On Nov. 18, a treaty was signed with the new government, granting the United States "in perpetuity" the use of a zone five miles wide on either side of a future canal.

Colombia promptly revised its policy and pledged herself on Nov. 30 to ratify the treaty it had earlier that same year rejected. But the United States declined.

★ ★ ★

Colombia's grievance continued thereafter to cause ill feeling in Latin America, and in 1914 a treaty was signed by the United States granting $25 million compensation to Colombia, largely because of the work Colombia had already paid for on the canal.

RATIFICATION

This treaty, however, was not ratified by the United States Senate and Colombian Congress until 1921.

The history of Pan-American relations contains many a fuzzy chapter in connection with the creation of the Panama republic itself.

Strictly speaking, there are no treaties "in perpetuity" anywhere in the world. Nations may abrogate treaties if they wish, and Panama could tear up the existing treaty if it desired to do so.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, there are people in Panama who want to get back the Canal Zone, but to stir up ambitions inside Panama is also to stir up ambitions outside of Panama.

The Panamanian ambassador to the United States says his government wants to carry the issue to the United Nations because the existing 1903 treaty is not only "obsolete" but "repungnant to international law."

To go to the United Nations and to brush aside negotiations directly between the United States and Panama would be to offend the Washington government, which Panama, in the long run, cannot well afford to do.

Those who have stirred up violence and trouble in the Canal Zone will not cease their efforts as long as they have the acquiescence or encouragement of the Panamanian government itself.

★ ★ ★

The sooner Panama gets down to quiet diplomatic negotiations with the United States, the quicker the whole problem will be resolved.

Bob Considine Says:

Tip-Off on Glenn Decision Came From Ohio Senator

NEW YORK — People . . . Places . . . Things . . .

First hint I personally had that John Glenn would bow out of NASA and hit the political sawdust came from Sen. Frank Lausche, the Ohio Democrat, at the recent Touchdown Club dinner in Washington.

CONSIDINE

"He's back in, I understand," the senator said. "He was out for a long time after it was first suggested that he enter his name. Now, as I get it, he's in. And he'll have a fine chance.

"Ohio is a state where there's a remarkable lack of 'straight-ticket' voting. Ohioans vote as they damn well please. That would work in Colonel Glenn's favor, I should think.

"He has no political background, naturally, but they'll be sizing him up as an individual, a man, not as a fellow who happens to be a Democrat or a Republican."

The unsummoned vision has nothing to do with the outcome of the fight. Liston will slay Clay, to keep it in the poetic frame.

What baffles is the list of prices.

FIRST TO GO

The most "coveted pasteboard," as some young (and some very old) sportswriters are bound to call it, will be the $250 job. After all, it will be marked "for distinguished sportsmen only."

There will be some very undistinguished bums, hoodlums and status seekers in those rows, naturally. It was always thus, but at these prices it will be more so than always.

★ ★ ★

We worry about the $200 seat holders being made to feel like second-class citizens. Imagine trying to explain, after returning to Palm Beach, that you endured the steerage quarters of a $200 seat! Deplorable!

BEST REASON

★ ★ ★

That seems like the best reason we've ever heard to "come on down."

Mother Thanks Air Force for 'Training' Teen-Ager

Parents who complain of being unable to handle their sons should read the following letter which appeared in the Air Force paper. The men who train recruits at Lackland AFB, Texas, received the letter from a mother.

"On April 30 I sent you a sullen, smart-aleck, disrespectful teen-ager. Three months later my husband and I met a plane in Amarillo. A young man, whom we thought was our son, stepped off.

"He spent 14 days leave with us and at all times was soft-spoken, dignified, congenial and, above all, respectful and helpful. We are still dazed, but we want to thank you for your ability to do in three months what we failed to do in 17 years."

★ ★ ★

The people at Lackland got a real charge from the letter and hastened to assure the mother that the young man really was her son.

More Voice Opinions on Delinquency

I congratulate "Bobby-Soxer." There is continuous talk on juvenile delinquency and what should be done to correct the conditions. There are many clubs and organizations to help combat this problem and a lot is being done. These people should be given due credit.

We need parks, recreation centers, ice rinks, swimming pools and all the rest furnished by taxes or contributions; but that is about the end of the adult contribution. We have some outstanding citizens as recreational directors, supervisors, assistants and club leaders, but there is a great shortage of parent help or adults who could be interested.

We are too engrossed in having a good time and indulging in the same actions which we condemn for youngsters.

From the first breath, a child learns to pick up what he is taught and the habits to which he is exposed. So where there is delinquency we had better check the home and its environs. In many cases parents condone where they should condemn. Smoking is a big issue and selling cigarettes to youngsters is against the law, yet there are cigarette machines wherever you look.

Every day you can witness children even under their teens, dragging on a cigarette and often mothers buy candy cigarettes so the child feels it is like mama. Some junior high students can hardly wait to get off the school grounds to light up and feel big even if they cough their lungs out.

Parents should be held responsible for the acts of their children especially those cases that reach our courts involving drinking or other misdemeanors. Parents should not be able to escape the liability.

Do not always condemn the "teen-ager."

Check further.

Anthony Kreps

I agree with "Bobby-Soxer." I'm in that age group and also feel justified in discussing adults and the examples they set. Children are a country's most important resource, but are taken for granted. It doesn't require much for a child to learn to hate, lie, steal, cheat and curse the God they've never been taught to love and follow.

★ ★ ★

The world has a duty toward the young person and it falls tragically short. The most responsibility belongs with the parents whose duty is to love, instruct and give the child the rules to pattern life. It takes much more than most have to give.

Today the trend is toward self love and indulgence. Who suffers the most? The children whose parents take the sacred state of marriage and blacken it by divorce; children whose parents are not ready to make the home a place of peace and Godliness.

Parents commit the worse crime when they push their offspring into an "adulthood" they are not ready for. Most teenagers who get into trouble can trace their problems back to their home.

Any circuit court judge will agree that most divorces are a farce. Parents have no business taking from their child all he's entitled to expect. It's hard enough to raise a child in a happy home.

Criticize Writer's Opinion on Religion

Muriel Lawrence's column on religious training is dead wrong. She is entitled to her opinion, but I would like to prove it unfounded on the basis of God's word.

God's way of revealing Himself is through His redeemed people and by His word. "And I will give power unto my witnesses." Solomon, the wisest man ever born said: "Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it." This does not mean that just because some fail to outwardly respond, all training is for naught. Children have very plastic minds and learn just from observation. It is important that they are set an example.

★ ★ ★

"Correct thy son and he shall give thee rest." There are many more verses that clearly say that children should be taught religious beliefs. The modern thought is so "full of holes" that it is tragic.

★ ★ ★

It's funny that Mrs. Lawrence should go to secular sources in order to answer religious problems. Naturally, they are not going to give scriptural answers. I do not say that "forcing" religious training on children against the parents' will is right nor desirable; but this usually is not the rule. Where it is the rule, prayer is the answer coupled with a testimonial life.

3151 Pontiac Road — Arthur Godbee

Satan must be chasing his tail in glee after reading Muriel Lawrence's column stating: "Don't force God on your children, they may turn against Him." Why not go a step further and say, "Don't force school on your children; they may turn against teachers."

★ ★ ★

Many adults having never finished school lament "If only I had known." And how many souls in hell will lament the same? They've taken prayer from schools, God's word from schools and I'm surprised they haven't taken "Under God" out of the Pledge of Allegiance.

★ ★ ★

Does America want us to raise a generation of atheists? I, as a parent, feel we have a moral responsibility to give children a mental and physical education, but a greater one to give them a spiritual education.

As long as God allows me to live to raise my six children I intend to see that Sundays are holy days and not holidays.

Waterford — Mrs. J. Bailey

Which Income Tax Form Should You Use?

(EDITOR'S NOTE — For those who use the familiar form 1040 in filing a tax return on 1963 income, there are a number of provisions covering various types of income. Here, in the second of five special articles, is an explanation of income tax return forms.)

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

Anyone can file his 1963 income tax return on form 1040. Some have to. Form 1040A is simpler, but to use it you must fit special rules.

You have no choice and must use 1040:

1. If your income was $10,000 or more.

★ ★ ★

2. If, no matter how big or little your income, you want to itemize your deductible expenses in order to claim them in full.

3. If you had more than $200 income in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

LOWER INCOME

You can use 1040A only:

1. If your income was under $10,000.

2. If it was entirely in wages from which tax was withheld except for no more than $200 in dividends or interest or wages from which tax was not withheld.

3. And if you do not itemize your deductible nonbusiness expenses but are willing to accept the standard deduction allowed everyone.

You must use 1040—and can't use 1040A—if you file your return as head of household or surviving spouse, were self-employed, claim credit for retirement income, are delinquent in filing your return, claim exclusion for sick pay, or paid an estimated tax in 1963.

OVER $5,000

If your income was $5,000 or more, you must figure your own tax, either on 1040 of 1040A. For this use the tax-rate schedule in the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service.

What about those deductions for nonbusiness expenses, like charitable contributions, when figuring your own tax?

You can:

1. Take the standard deduction mentioned above. This means you just deduct 10 per cent of your income up to a limit of $1,000, whether or not your expenses ran that high.

2. Or, if your expenses were really higher than that standard deduction allowed everyone —10 per cent of income up to a limit of $1,000—you can claim them in full but must itemize them to show you had them.

LIMITATIONS

Two special notes on husbands and wives:

1. If a man and wife file separate returns and take the standard deduction, they are allowed to take 10 per cent of their income up to only $500 on each return.

2. If a man and wife file separate returns and one of them itemizes deductions, then both must itemize and both must use 1040. In such a case neither can use 1040A.

The under-$5,000 income people, who accept the standard 10 per cent deduction without itemizing, can find their tax in the tax-table in the IRS instruction sheet.

For them the 10 per cent deduction, since all taxpayers are allowed that much, already has been allowed for in the table.

If you're in the under-$5,000 bracket, but for some reason don't want to find your tax in the table, just fill out your return and send it to your IRS collector. He'll figure it out for you.

Then he will bill you for any tax owed or send you a refund if too much tax was withheld from you in 1963.

Anyone filing a return can exclude from his taxable income the first $50 he received as dividends from stock in domestic corporations. If you are using 1040A, just drop the first $50 from the income you report. If you are using 1040, you report the $50 on schedule B and then subtract it from total dividends.

If you and your wife hold stock jointly and file a joint return—that is, on a single return —you can exclude the first $100 in dividends you received before what's left is taxable. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

But if you hold stock separately and file a joint return, then each of you can exclude no more than the first $50 in dividends each of you received. You can do this on 1040 or 1040A.

People receiving dividends—in addition to excluding the first $50 or the first $100, as explained—also are allowed what is called a dividend credit.

This means you generally can deduct from your tax up to 4 per cent of the dividends you received, in addition to the $50 (or $100) you already excluded from your income.

NO PLACE

If you can claim that 4 per cent dividend credit, you must use form 1040. There's no place on 1040A for a dividend credit.

Remember: So-called dividends on a savings account in a savings and loan association are actually interest and must be reported and treated as interest, not as dividends.

Using 1040:

Most people will need only the first sheet—pages 1 and 2—of 1040. That's all you need if your income was entirely from wages and salary.

But for people with other kinds of income 1040 has several other sections. Example: schedules B, C, D, F.

FORM B

If you had dividends or interest, or income from rents, royalties, pensions, annuities, partnership, estates, trusts and so on, you'll need B.

You'll need C if you were self-employed or had income from a personally owned business or profession. If you had income from the sale or exchange of property, you'll need D.

You'll need F if you had income from farming.

NEXT: Figuring your own tax: husbands and wives.

UAW Workers Return to Jobs in Warren

Some 250 workers were idled when 61 members of United Auto Workers Local 155 struck yesterday over the firing of an employe for what the firm called repeated minor violations of company rules. The worker has been reinstated, the union said.

Goldwater Has His Own Ideas on Welfare

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Sen. Barry Goldwater's idea of welfare is not only different from that of Congress but from that of all the administrations, Democratic and Republican, back to the New Deal.

The Arizonan, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, laid down some of his ideas about caring for the poor in a speech last week and, before that, in his book, "The Conscience of a Conservative."

★ ★ ★

President Johnson expressed his views on tackling poverty in his State of the Union message to Congress last week and again Monday in his economic report. He is going to propose a broad program to fight poverty.

The philosophy of the administrations of Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Johnson can be summed up this way: the federal government has a responsibility for the general welfare.

CONGRESSIONAL ACT

Congress said the same thing in the Employment Act it passed in 1946.

In his book Goldwater said: "Let welfare be a private concern. Let it be promoted by individuals and families, by churches, private hospitals, religious service organizations, community charities and other institutions that have been established for this purpose.

★ ★ ★

"Finally, if we deem public intervention necessary, let the job be done by local and state authorities that are incapable of accumulating the vast political power that is so inimical to our liberties."

None of the administrations since the New Deal opposed private charities. They just didn't consider private charity enough. In his speech last week, criticizing Johnson's idea of handling poverty, Goldwater left unspoken some of the remarks on poverty contained in his prepared speech.

SOME REMARKS

Here are some of them:

"We are told that many people lack skills and cannot find jobs because they did not have an education. That's like saying people have big feet because they wear big shoes.

"The fact is that most people who have no skill have had no education for the same reason—low intelligence or low ambition" and that "workers in many other countries cannot earn as much as our welfare clients receive."

★ ★ ★

For pretty much of its history this country accepted the philosophy of private charity, denying the government had responsibility for people's welfare. This was abandoned in the depression of the New Deal days when welfare programs were adopted and have been national policy ever since.

Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers dwelt at length, in their section of the report, on poverty and the need to combat.

ONE FIFTH POOR

They said: "One-fifth of our families and nearly one-fifth of our total population are poor. There were 47 million families in the United States in 1962. Fully 9.3 million, or one-fifth of these families — comprising more than 30 million persons—had total income below $3,000 (and) 5.4 million families, containing more than 17 million persons, had total income below $2,000."

While Goldwater talked of poverty as rooted in "low intelligence or low ambition," the President's economic advisers concluded: "Poverty breeds poverty. A poor individual or family has a high probability of staying poor.

★ ★ ★

"Low incomes carry with them high risks of illness; limitations on mobility; limited access to education and training. Poor parents cannot give their children the opportunities for better health and education needed to improve their lot. Thus the cruel legacy of poverty is passed from parents to children."

Polish Aide in Britain

LONDON (AP)—Polish Deputy Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz started a week-long visit to Britain Monday in talks with Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler and Trade and Industry Minister Edward Heath.

Rep. Griffin Arrives Late for Own Testimonial Fete

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Republican Congressman Robert P. Griffin of Traverse City arrived more than three hours late for his testimonial dinner Monday night while 1,000 persons waited.

Griffin, often mentioned as a possible GOP candidate for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Philip Hart, missed congratulatory telegrams from former President Dwight Eisenhower and other national GOP leaders.

★ ★ ★

At the dinner, Griffin did not indicate his political plans.

Gov. George Romney said at a predinner press conference he won't ask Griffin to enter a U.S. Senate race because "that's something he will have to make up his own mind about."

WITH MORTON

The congressman was delayed with keynote speaker Sen. Thruston Morton, R-Ky., and U.S. Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga., the only Democrat invited to the fete. The group's light plane was forced to land at Pittsburgh, Pa., when ice formed on the wings. They arrived at the dinner at 9:45 p.m.

About 810 persons attended the $3.50-a-plate dinner, with another 200 listening to the speeches.

★ ★ ★

Morton, chairman of the Republican Senatorial campaign committee, said there is a unifying theme among all GOP candidates for the presidential nomination, despite differences on some issues.

The Kentucky Senator made a plea for GOP organization before the national convention in July, saying: "If we have a primary, so what! I don't worry about it."

FAMILY FIGHT

"Once we get through with our family fight, let's join together and get the job done," he said.

In a long, emotional speech of thanks, Griffin said he would endorse state Sen. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, "for any job, including lieutenant governor."

★ ★ ★

A total of 15 U.S. congressmen and senators attended the dinner, which began at 6:30 p.m. with Sen. Milliken as the toastmaster.

Congratulatory telegrams from Eisenhower, former vice president Richard M. Nixon, and GOP presidential candidates Barry Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller and William Scranton were followed by laudatory speeches from state Republican notables.

★ ★ ★

Brothers Deny Shooting Guilt

DETROIT (AP)—Two Detroit brothers, who allegedly shot six persons with a 22-caliber air pistol, pleaded innocent at their arraignment Monday before Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis.

★ ★ ★

Examination was set for Feb. 5 for Paul C. Fortin, 21, and David Fortin, 20, on charges of carrying dangerous weapons. Paul was released on $500 bond and David was ordered held as a probation violator.

★ ★ ★

Six persons were struck by pellets Thursday in a five-mile area on Detroit's southeast and southwest sides. Two victims were treated for bruises. The others were unharmed.

★ ★ ★

Arresting officers said a 22-caliber air pistol was found under the front seat of a truck in which the Fortins were arrested.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE NOBEL PRIZE

QUESTION: — How did the Nobel prizes come into being?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Alfred Nobel, whose portrait appears on the medal, was a Swedish chemist, born in 1833. While still a young man, he became interested in the dangerous substance nitroglycerine, then too expensive for safe handling.

It occurred to Nobel to try combining nitroglycerine with an inert earth called "kieselguhr," and he found that this made the explosive safe to handle.

A "detonating cap" could be used to set off the mixture when wanted. This combination was called dynamite, and through its manufacture Nobel became one of the richest men in the world.

Nobel thought of dynamite as a material useful to mankind. But as time went on he saw the part explosives were playing in modern wars and regretted having invented anything so dangerous.

Sincerely desiring world peace, Nobel decided to set up a fund to encourage peaceful and useful effort. Prizes were to be awarded each year. The first prize was given in 1901 and they still continue.

There are five Nobel prizes, for important achievement in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and toward international peace. Some well know winners have been Marie Curie, Rudyard Kipling, Albert Einstein, Sinclair Lewis and Albert Schweitzer.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: It would be very interesting for you to find a list of Nobel prize winners and what they did. This will introduce you to one of the most brilliant and useful groups of men and women in history.

1963 Building Permits Up $2 Million in Waterford

Building permits issued during 1963 in Waterford Township were valued at $8,557,183, nearly $2 million more than the 1962 valuation of $6,570,326.

The valuation increase occurred despite a slight drop in permits issued. Last year a total of 1,170 building permits were issued compared to 1,176 in 1962.

Most of the valuation boost was reflected in residential housing.

Last year 292 residential permits were issued at a valuation of $5,243,150 compared to 240 residential building permits in 1962 valued at $4,151,142.

REMODELING PERMITS

The township issued 376 permits in 1963 for residential additions and remodeling at a valuation of $622,785. During the previous year 435 such permits were issued at a $683,926 valuation.

Despite a dip from 27 commercial building permits in 1962 to 24 last year, the 1963 valuation for this type permit amounted to $1,161,152 compared to $740,734 the previous year.

The 23 permits for additions and remodeling of commercial buildings in 1963 totaled $681,675 exceeding the 1962 valuation of $180,428 on 29 such permits.

★ ★ ★

Garage building permits increased from 338 in 1962 to 363 last year but the valuation of the 1962 permits was $509,502 compared to $498,031 last year.

SWIMMING POOLS

Last year five swimming pool permits were issued at a valuation of $19,975 compared to just two in 1962 valued at $9,000.

During 1961 the township issued 1,014 building permits at a valuation of $9,670,760.

In addition to building permits the building department last year issued the following permits: electrical, 1,203; heating, 1,039; plumbing, 525; sanitary permits, 517 and sidewalk permits, 3.

Volkswagen Ranks 1st

LANSING (AP)— Nearly two-thirds of the 15,218 foreign cars registered in Michigan during 1963 were German Volkswagens, Secretary of State James Hare said. Next in popularity were France's Renault and England's Triumph, he said.

Car Output Down Slightly

'64 Gap Is Caused by Weather, Strikes

DETROIT (AP) — Two separate auto production reports indicated today that U.S. auto output for 1964 is running a fraction behind that of 1963, with labor troubles and bad weather sharing the blame.

Automotive News, a trade publication, estimated that U.S. auto plants had tur ned out 416,031 cars as of last weekend, compared with 416,946 at the same point last year.

Eight auto plants in the East were hit by a heavy snowstorm last week and Ward's estimated that the tieup cost more than 10,000 planned units.

OTHERS LOST

In addition, Buck lost about 6,000 cars last week from its production plans because of a labor dispute at its Flint, Mich., plant. Settlement of the strike brought Buick operations back to normal by last Friday and it was anticipated that the lost units would be made up soon.

GM had eight of its 16 assembly plants on overtime operations last Saturday, but the other auto makers used no overtime that day.

★ ★ ★

Industry observers studied carefully the announcement by American Motors that it will close its Kenosha, Wis., Rambler plant for five working days beginning Jan. 27 to adjust its inventories.

LOWER RATE

AMC said that its new American series has been selling better than anticipated and that it has found that the company must set a better ratio on production of Ramblers and Americans.

AMC said, however, that when it resumes production at Kenosha, about 3,000 workers — approximately 1/1 per cent of its work force—will be laid off temporarily and production rates will be at a slower rate than its current rate of 2,000 AMC units a day.

Young Viennese Singers Charm Large Audience

By ERIC W. ALLEN

Voices of cherubim rang in rapturous melody before an overflow audience at Pontiac Northern High School last night, as the Vienna Choir Boys performed.

Austria and song is like strudel and coffee. The choir boys under stern and talented direction of Uwe Mund, glided effortlessly through a wide variety of choral concerti and lieder.

★ ★ ★

The music created by these 22 boys rings like pure tone off an Alpine peak, every note clear, crisp and singular in quality. Their soprano and alto voices defy all description of grace and beauty.

So excellent is their training, so keen their perception of the music, that the boys perform austere 16th Century chants and modern atonal poems with equal ease.

OPERA TOO

And just to show they are not limited to song alone, the Choir Boys last night presented a delightful one-act opera by Jacques Offenbach . . . Wedding by Lanternlight.

These young Austrian singers turned the disadvantage of a slippery stage into the advantage of a comedy prop for the opera.

Two "widows" in the piece, pursuing handsome Peter, skidded and twisted about the stage while arguing over who had first claim to the young hero.

Monday evening's was the best-attended and most enjoyable of Oakland University-Community Arts Council presentations this season.

MEDIEVAL NUMBERS

The Choir Boys opened with three Gallus' cantos, strict Medieval fugue and counterpoint studies demanding great skill of the singers.

★ ★ ★

Next was Ceremony of Carols by contemporary British composer Benjamin Britten; difficult dissonant works that the Choir Boys performed with ease.

Offenbach's opera composed the entire middle portion of the three-part concert, and drew the most laughter from an audience containing more than the usual number of children.

To end the evening, the boys chose traditional romantic works of their countrymen, Johann Strauss and Franz Schubert.

The Schubert work, "In Abendrot," was a poetic evening song; the Strauss, "Die Nachtigall" (The Nightingale) sung in the round.

FOLK SONGS

★ ★ ★

In final salute to the audience, the Choir Boys ended the evening with two encores, both special arrangements: "O, Susannah," with a curious accent, and "Good Night, Ladies."

Brother-Sister Suit Jackets Not for Bride, Groom Wear

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is marrying a very nice stay-at-home type girl. She is a fine person and we have nothing against her, but here's the problem.

She loves to sew, but some of her sewing looks very "homemade" and that is why we don't want her to make brother-sister outfits for the wedding.

ABBY

She and my son will be married in May. She was widowed at a tragically young age (24) so she's not having a white wedding.

She wants to make identical gold brocade tailored jackets for the groom and herself. She'll wear a black skirt and he'll wear black trousers.

The woman at the fabric shop told her that men DO wear brocade jackets for dress-up, but I've never seen any, have you? Should we let her go ahead and do this?

Or should somebody tell her that she can make her own outfit if she wants to, but the groom should buy a ready-made suit?

★ ★ ★

DEAR MOTHER: Yes, men DO wear brocade dinner jackets, but I agree that "brother-sister" outfits wouldn't be appropriate for a bride and groom.

Your son should tell her in a kindly way that he'd prefer to buy a suit.

DEAR ABBY: I was taught not to kiss a boy on the first date. When Ron took me to the door he went to kiss me, so I turned my head.

Then he said, "Don't you think I deserve a kiss for taking you out?" I didn't know what else to say, so I said, "I guess so, but make it snappy."

He kissed me but he didn't make it very snappy. I didn't enjoy it much because I felt cheap. If this happens again, what should I say?

SEVENTEEN

★ ★ ★

DEAR SEVENTEEN: Say, "My kisses are not for sale. I thought you asked me out because you enjoyed my company."

DEAR ABBY: Any woman whose husband only tells her she is a lousy cook is lucky. My husband puts some action into his words.

If he doesn't like what I put in front of him — wham! It goes on the wall, or me.

Last night I had creamed potatoes in my hair, down my neck and all over my blouse. I am always trying to explain to people why I have such strange designs on my kitchen wall.

I can't tell them my husband had this potato fit. I started to cry and he said, "Shut up, you look awful when you cry."

★ ★ ★

I have put up with this for 13 years, and will probably put up with it until death takes one of us.

You see, he has some very good points, too, and when you love a man you can take a lot.

"GORDY'S WIFE"

★ ★ ★

DEAR WIFE: To each his own. But, lady — creamed potatoes?

CONFIDENTIAL TO M.B.: "When a man runs for the exercise — that's enjoyment. But when he runs because he's chasing something — that's work." (Edgar Allen Poe)

Stepmother Should Be Included

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My mother is not living. About two years ago, my father remarried. This marriage has never seemed to cause any complications until this moment of my planning for my wedding.

I had intended to include my stepmother's name on the invitations but my mother's family feels that her name should not be included and that the invitations should go out in my father's name alone.

Will you please advise me as to what is correct in this situation

★ ★ ★

A: Your mother's family is wrong. Your stepmother's name should very definitely be included on the invitations.

In fact, it would be very belittling to her to omit her name. The wording would be "his daughter" instead of 'their daughter."

Q: Will you please tell me where the reception invitation is placed when enclosed with the church invitation.

Should it be put on top of the engraved sheet or placed between the folds of the invitation? (The invitation is the one that fits into the envelope without further folding).

★ ★ ★

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, 'Clothes of the Bridal Party."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Pair Leaves for Florida Honeymoon

★ ★ ★

Their parents are the C. Eugene Thompsons of Lake Orion and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Felice of Navajo Road.

For the ceremony in St. Benedict Church, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white silk peau de soie with applique and overblouse of Alencon lace.

Red and white carnation cascade bouquets complemented their gowns of drum red satin.

Check Those Bargain "White Sale" Buys

A bargain isn't a bargain unless it does the work it's supposed to do.

This year's traditional "white sales" are featuring some of the most colorful and fashion-wise household linens in many years. Vari-colored towel sets, pastel decorator patterned sheets and pillowcases share the spotlight with the conventional white sale offerings.

However, look for quality as well as style and attractive price tags at these sales. Since your investment in linens is considerable it would be well worth your time to select carefully.

★ ★ ★

When purchasing towels, the colorfast ones are the best buy. All towels don't hold their colors after laundering. Choose close, large, loosely-twisted and thickly-packed loops, which indicate that the towel will be absorbent and give good service.

Also, observe, feel and pull the different sections to make sure that all stretch equally. Uneven tension can cause towel parts to pucker or become distorted after laundering.

Watch for heavy sizing, which is a filler material used in loosely woven fabrics. Heavily-sized items especially in sheets and pillowcases have a good appearance when new. However, after laundering the sizing is gone and the item becomes very limp.

To check for sizing, rub the fabric lightly. If a powdery substance appears, the article contains too much sizing.

DON'T SKIMP ON SIZE

Know the correct size sheets to buy so that bedding will fit properly. Allow ample material for tucking. Correct size means more comfort and better wear.

For quality linens, look for threads that are evenly woven and of the same thickness. Check sheeting for firm, compact selvage edges and hems that are straight with even stitching.

★ ★ ★

The best measure of quality merchandise is the Certified Washable Seal of the American Institute of Laundering. The Seal is awarded only to manufacturers' items that have passed rigid laundry tests for shrinkage, colorfastness to sunlight and to washing, and general appearance.

Hot Syrup Protection

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I use rubber gloves to protect my hands from the hot syrup when making popcorn balls.

Wash the gloves thoroughly, put on and apply butter to them just as you would to the hands.

The heat is not felt as the popcorn balls are rolled unless the gloved hands are put directly into the hot syrup.

★ ★ ★

After rolling five or six, apply butter again. After all the popcorn balls are made, remove syrup from the gloves with warm water.—PAULA

POPCORN LOLLIPOP

DEAR POLLY — Children love popcorn balls but many mothers object to them because the youngsters get so "stuck up." I shape my popcorn balls around lollipops on sticks so the child has something to hold on to as well as a surprise in the center.—MRS. D. S. W.

DEAR POLLY — My joints are enlarged from arthritis and I cannot wear a conventional thimble.

I find a heavy duty rubber "thumb stall" worn on the thimble finger works wonders and I can comfortably continue with my needlepoint.

★ ★ ★

PAJAMA CASE

DEAR POLLY — My daughter discarded a large size velvet tam and now uses it as a container for her pajamas. The pajamas are stuffed into the tam, a flower put on top and it is most decorative on the bed—J. F. E.

DEAR POLLY — I recently attended a variety shower for a bride-to-be. The gifts were beautiful but she received 10 blankets and quilts.

When sending out invitations to a shower instead of saying on all of them "Linen Shower" or whatever, divide the invitations and mark with different items.

★ ★ ★

For example, if 25 invitations are issued, write out some for a kitchen shower, some for a linen shower and so on. In this way there will not be so many duplicates.—MRS. J. S.

DRAWING TABLE

DEAR POLLY — Cover the top of your children's play table with a sheet of real blackboard or blackboard paint. The tiny tots will have fun drawing pictures and writing on the table. When they finish, the table can be "erased."—MRS. A. McC.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

According to a baby expert I know, babies in the six-to-eighteen months group are usually more apt to be adventurous about trying and tasting new foods than those in the two-to-three year group. What better reason for serving a goodly variety of taste sensations early to help develop a future "gourmet?" Aids for adventurers:

• Imaginative menu planning, i.e., changing colors and kinds of food, stimulates appetite interest. Easy with over 100 Gerber Foods.
• Besides serving foods "as is," try interesting combinations. Fruit on cereal or puddings. Egg Yolks on vegetables. Mashed potato with meat.
• When spoon-grabbing begins, offer finger foods. Carrot and celery sticks, Gerber Meat Sticks or Teething Biscuits are great for this.

•

New finger food in the grand flavor manner! Gerber Chicken Sticks make playing "pick-up-sticks" pure pleasure . . . play a teaching role, too. (They're perfect for helping hand-to-mouth co-ordination.) Made from tender, juicy poultry selected by Armour, plus non-fat dry milk for extra growth-promoting protein. Low in fat and mildly seasoned, they're succulent with chicken goodness.

•

Profitable sharing plans. Self-feeding beginning to make headway? Easy way to encourage your darling's attempts is to have a bite when he eats. He'll be delighted with the "social hour" and learn from you by imitation. If you're offering a new food, why not sample a dab or two yourself? Be surprised the good influence this will have on your pet.

•

Profitable protective plan. Foolproof way to spare your self-feeders' duds from spills, splashes and stains: Gerber Snap-On Cover-All Bibs. Made of soft but sturdy polyvinyl film, they're easily wipeable and machine-washable. Amply cut for complete coverage, they snap off or on in a flash. Deep pocket across bottom of bibs catches the droplets that little mouth misses. Gerber® Products Co., Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

Civil Rights Legislation

Fair Employment, School Desegregation Reviewed

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the second of three dispatches on the pending civil rights bills, examining the most controversial provisions. Today's dispatch covers the fair employment and school desegregation sections.)

By ARNOLD B. SAWISLAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The civil rights bill Congress will debate this year raises two controversial subjects the lawmakers were able to avoid when they wrote the 1957 and 1960 rights laws.

Fair employment practices and school desegregation are problems both the White House and the Supreme Court have wrestled with in recent years, but Congress has been able to sidestep the issues.

The civil rights bill ready for house action would seek to eliminate job discrimination and to speed up public school desegregation. Other sections of the sweeping measure would provide sanctions against racial and other bias in voting, access to public accommodations and use of federal aid funds, as well as grant federal officials new powers to start or intervene in civil rights lawsuits.

EMPLOYMENT PRACTICE

Bills to set up Federal Fair Employment Practices Commissions (FEPC) have long been high on the list of goals of civil rights advocates, but no serious effort has been made in recent years.

FEPC stands out because it would affect the North as deeply as the South. Here is what the section would do and arguments for and against.

Purpose: To outlaw discrimination based on race, color, religion and national origin by employers, employment agencies and labor unions.

Coverage: A sliding scale, starting with coverage of businesses with 100 or more employes and unions with 100 or more members in the first year and decreasing to businesses with 25 or more workers and unions with 25 or more members in the third year of the law's operation. Virtually all employment agencies would be covered from the start.

RELIGION, NATIONALITY

Exemptions: Religious organizations or other groups where religion or national origin is a "bonafide occupational qualification reasonably necessary to the normal occupation of that particular business."

Provisions: Creates a five-member "equal employment opportunity commission" to investigate written complaints of discrimination by employers, unions or job agencies.

★ ★ ★

Appointments would be made by the President with Senate confirmation. The commission would have up to $10 million a year to carry out its work.

VOLUNTARY COMPLIANCE

Enforcement: Commission would seek voluntary compliance to end discrimination. If compliance is refused, commission would seek federal court injunctions.

The court would hear all evidence itself rather than review the commission's investigation alone. Failure to comply with court orders would be punishable under contempt proceedings.

Arguments for: Supporters argue that job bias hurts Negroes more than any other type of discrimination and perpetuates economic distress and high welfare costs for all Americans.

★ ★ ★

They not that 26 states have FEPC laws and cite Congress' right to regulate interstate commerce as constitutional authority for a federal law.

COURT ORDERS

They stress that the provision affects labor as well as business and that the new agency would have to get federal court orders to enforce its findings.

Arguments against: Opponents charge that the bill takes away from employers the right to hire and promote workers he considers superior, and destroys many union rights, including the seniority system.

They say drafters of the proviso "tortured" use of the interstate commerce clause of the Constitution and contend that its terms are so vague that abuses are almost sure.

★ ★ ★

They predict that a national FEPC would be as bitterly resented and as impossible to enforce as prohibition.

Civil rights advocates have been trying for several years to bolster the 1954 Supreme Court desegregation ruling.

Although this provision would not set a desegregation deadline, it is designed to step up the pace of legal action seeking to end color bars in public schools.

★ ★ ★

Purpose: To permit the Justice Department itself to file desegregation suits instead of waiting for individuals to start legal action; and to offer federal financial and technical aid to schools which are trying to desegregate.

STUDY COMPLAINANTS

Provisions: Justice Department must have written complaint of public school or college segregation and make certain that the complainants cannot bring suit themselves because of financial inability or jeopardy to themselves or their families.

U. S. Office of Education could give financial aid or technical advice to train or hire teachers or experts for schools which are trying to carry out desegregation plans and ask for federal help.

Arguments for: Supporters say the existence of 2,000 segregated school districts nine years after the 1954 decision shows compliance has been too slow.

★ ★ ★

They argue that perpetuation of segregated public education not only continues to violate the constitutional rights of Negroes, but aggravates the national problem of undereducation and lack of skills for the modern labor market.

Combined with other sections, they argue that the effect would be to bring all schools, public and private, totally under federal control.

★ ★ ★

They argue that although original references to "racial imbalance" were dropped from the provision, federal officials still intend to force race mixing for its own sake.

Next: The proposals to end the discriminatory use of federal aid funds and to give federal officials broad new power to step into civil rights suits.

TB Hospitals Stop Sale of Cigarettes

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)— Pennsylvania has banned cigarette sales at its four hospitals for tuberculosis and may ban them at state general and mental hospitals.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, health secretary, said Monday the ban was effective immediately because "smoking is an extremely dangerous habit."

"It is inconsistent that we should permit cigarettes to be sold in hospitals operated by the State Health Deparment when the department is advising people to discontinue smoking cigarettes," he said.

Detroit Woman Killed

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Mary Payne, 77, of Detroit, was struck and killed by a truck while crossing a street near her home Monday, Detroit police reported.

Cuba to Get Canada Bulls

★ ★ ★

Maj. Armando Acosta, general secretary of the United Party of the Socialist Revolution, announced in Santiago Monday that the bulls would begin arriving in April.

The broadcast, monitored here, did not say what financial arrangements were made or how the bulls would be shipped.

$30,000 in Bag Lost by Man to Subway Train

NEW YORK (AP) — When Isidoro Aponpe boarded a subway train in Brooklyn Monday he said he was carrying $30,000 in a shopping bag.

Aponpe, 55, said he was taking the money—$25,000 won in Puerto Rico's legal lottery plus $5,000 savings—to buy a house and surprise his wife. The cash was in $5, $20, $50 and $100 bills.

As he got off the train at the Bowling Green station in Manhattan, Aponpe said, the door slammed on his arm and ripped the bag from his hand. He said he had to let go to avoid being dragged by the train.

★ ★ ★

Are you driving your child to poor health?

Remember when youngsters walked to school, ran errands, and got the exercise they needed? If parents insisted on more walking—and less riding—our youngsters would benefit. The automobile, however, is only one factor that deprives them of activity. Television is another. The average high school student now spends 15 to 30 inactive hours a week watching it. These are some of the reasons why all schools should have a daily period of planned, supervised, vigorous activity for all boys and girls. Find out if your school gives sufficient time to your child's physical development. For information about a program that many schools have adopted, write for the free leaflet offered by the President's Council on Physical Fitness, Washington 25, D. C.

School Board in Avondale Sets Vote on Tax Renewal

The Avondale School Board last night voted to go to the people for money in a special March election.

On the ballot will be a request for renewal of the 6-mill levy which expired last year.

Should the issue pass, district residents will continue paying very close to the present tax.

"It is absolutely necessary that we make this request now," Schools Supt. George E. Shackleford said.

Shackelford pointed out that the expired six mills brought in 25 per cent of the operating budget, about $117,000. "The teachers are coming up with a new salary schedule," he said. "We're just talking about a renewal."

A motion to start the procedure setting up a March election requesting renewal of the six mills was passed by the board.

Shackleford was directed to check with the board's financial consultant, to see in which category funds are needed.

In other business last night, the board voted unanimously to renew the contract of Asst. Schools Supt. Arnold Ojala for two years.

Due to expire this June, Ojala's contract was extended until June 30, 1965. The assistant superintendent's salary will come up for review next December.

Shackelford announced the forthcoming teachers' conference and workshop days, Thursday and Friday.

Students will be given a two-day vacation while teachers discuss phonics, social studies and modern mathematics at the session.

TEACHERS' SALARIES

Last night the board also agreed to meet with the Avondale Education Association to consider the teachers' proposed new salary schedule. The meeting was scheduled for Monday.

The proposed schedule will be presented in graph and outline form by officers of the association. The same number of increments will be requested, however, there will be pay raises proposed at each step, including the base salary.

"It is almost necessary that we raise our base pay because it is pretty close to $4,700 and that is the lowest in the county," Shackelford said today.

The education association will be given one hour to make its presentation, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Then the board will turn to other business.

Maturation Is Topic of PTA Talk

ROCHESTER — The West Junior High PTA will sponsor a Monday night talk by a local physician about problems associated with the physical growth and maturation of junior high age boys and girls.

Dr. Edgar J. Geist will be the speaker at the 8 p.m. session to be held in the school cafetorium.

Following Dr. Geist's talk, Douglas Lund, assistant schools superintendent, will present a summary of the health and physical education programs in the Rochester schools.

Barbara Weidemann and Robert Jereau will then explain the physical education program for girls and boys at West Junior High.

ANSWER QUESTIONS

At the close of the program, the four speakers will answer questions and comments from the audience.

Monday night's meeting on physical development is the second phase of a three-part program designed to help parents and teachers understand their junior high-age children and students.

It is also planned to show what the schools are doing to help the youngsters grow toward mental, physical and emotional maturity.

Farmington Selects Public Safety Chief

FARMINGTON — Maurice D. Foltz, public safety sergeant in Oak Park, has been chosen to head Farmington's municipal police and fire department.

Appointment of the 36-year-old officer was confirmed last night by the City Council. He will take office Feb. 1, replacing the retiring director of public safety, Joseph G. DeVriendt.

Foltz has been with the Oak Park department since 1957. While there he set up a survival plan for the city and operating procedures for the police in event of disaster.

★ ★ ★

As consultant to Royal Oak Township, Foltz spent a year reorganizing their public safety program to integrate the police and fire departments. He also serves as an instructor at the Metropolitan Police Academy of Michigan.

16-MAN FORCE

The new public safety director will head a force of 16 men who compose the city's police and fire department. His starting salary will be $7,800.

Foltz was one of 18 men who inquired about the job. Of the original group, 11 qualified to take a written examination and five of those received passing grades.

The City Council will meet with representatives of Elks Lodge No. 1986 Feb. 5 to discuss the possibility of trading the Elks Temple at 33300 Grand River for the old city hall at 33312 Grand River.

★ ★ ★

The lodge has suggested the exchange on a front-foot basis. Its temple is older but larger than the city-owned building.

PARKING LOT

If acquired, the temple would be torn down for access to a proposed parking lot at the rear of the downtown business district block, according to City Manager John D. Dinan.

★ ★ ★

He said a parking lot on the property, owned by the several businesses in the block, would hold about 64 cars.

6 Seek Seats in Troy Race

Petitions Are Filed for City Commission

TROY — Six candidates have filed nominating petitions for City Commission seats here, one more than the number needed to necessitate a Feb. 17 primary election.

Two three-year positions on the commission are vacant. The terms of Commissioners James F. Carey and Robert J. Bargert are expiring this year.

Earlier this month Bargert announced his decision not to run for reelection. Carey filed petitions for the office Friday.

★ ★ ★

Other candidates who met yesterday's 4 p. m. filing deadline include David E. Gratopp, former Troy police chief.

WAS OUSTED

Also running in the primary election will be Clancy A. Fonseth, 314 Lyons; Gerald R. Hershberger, 285 E. Long Lake; Robert L. Doolin, 151 Tacoma; and Ronald Rounsville, 1516 Muer.

Agreement Reached by Troy, Industry

TROY — City Commissioners put an end to the feud between Du Pont Co. and neighbors of the plant last night. They did it with a compromise.

Du Pont Co., located north of Long Lake Road and east of the I-75 expressway, originally requested the commission to rezone 12 lots north of the plant for industrial use.

Residents of the subdivision further north objected to the proposal, saying soon they would have industrial plants at their door.

After hearing both sides of the case, the commission voted to rezone six lots of the 12-lot parcel, the six nearest to the plant.

ACCORD EXPRESSED

Officials of the company expressed agreement with the action, but some residents indicated they still weren't happy with the commission's decision.

In other business last night the commission met with the Troy School Board to discuss mutual problems.

Although no action was taken, the two bodies shared ideas on sewer tap fees, sidewalks, parks, voting machine fees and other matters of common interest.

Tomorrow the commission is scheduled to meet with the Civil Service Study Committee, at 7:30 p.m.

WED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Evens, 1205 N. Main, Rochester, recently observed their golden wedding anniversary at a dinner party given by their children and families. Hosts were Mrs. Loyd Cameron, Sam Evens, Harry Evens Jr. and Mrs. Clifford Johnson. The senior Evens also have 12 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Service Is Set for Widow, 89

SOUTHFIELD (UPI) — Funeral arrangements were being made for an elderly, pipe-smoking Southfield widow who was burned to death Saturday.

Firemen said Mrs. Hattie Pappas, 89, was fatally burned when ashes from a pipe she was smoking apparently set fire to her clothing.

She was discovered huddled between a basement door and a cabinet in the kitchen of her one-story home by a friend, Roy Jenkins, 64, of Farmington.

Firemen said damage to the house at 2123 Seminole was confined to the dining room and the kitchen door which was burned through.

Show on Weaving Planned in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — Miss Lena Meler will perform a weaving demonstration and show samples of her weaving work at the Jan. 31 meeting of the Village Friends of Art.

Discussion of the Feb. 3-15 art show at the Pontiac Mall is also slated for the 8 p.m. meeting at the Independence Township Hall.

Piston 5 Ends Jinx by 118-107

LOS ANGELES (AP) —One recent rumor was that the Detroit Pistons would trade Bailey Howell and Don Ohl to the San Francisco Warriors for Nate Thurmond and Gary Phillips.

Inspecting their latest performance, you get the idea that Detroit needs to unload Howell and Ohl like it needs to get rid of General Motors.

The two veterans scored 62 points between them Monday night as the Pistons won a regular - season game in Los Angeles for the first time, defeating the Lakers 118-107.

It was the only game on the National Basketball Association schedule. The Pistons play at San Francisco tonight. Boston will be at St. Louis and, in a doubleheader at New York, it will be Baltimore vs. Philadelphia and Cincinnati vs. New York.

TWO AHEAD

The Lakers' Monday night loss left them only two games ahead of second-place St. Louis in the Western Division. The Pistons are last in the West with only 11 victories in 42 games.

Howell scored 35 points and Ohl made 27—all but six of them in the second half.

Reggie Harding, onetime Detroit high school star who never played college basketball, made his professional debut with the Pistons and scored nine points. Harding is seven feet tall.

Nostalgia Fills Olympia

By HARRY REED
Managing Editor, The Pontiac Press

It was also Underdog Night.

The Red Wings were the villains, soundly booed when they scored on the former Wing players making up an Old Timers team.

The exhibition game drew a full house of over 15,000.

For the record, it was a 6-4 victory for the modern version of the Wings, but the Old Timers provided all the thrills.

★ ★ ★

Reunited for the night of fun was the famous Production Line of Gord Howe, Sid Abel and Ted Lindsay. Howe joined the old timers to give them a lift and put the Production Line together for one more time.

DEALT AWAY

Sharpest of the Old Timers, Lindsay hustled every turn on the ice, and looked fit enough to return to the NHL wars. He might still have been with Detroit if he hadn't been dealt away to Chicago by then manager Jack Adams.

★ ★ ★

The action was only a few seconds old when Jack Stewart, one of the most feared rear-guards in the league in his day, put a hip into a Wing and sent him spinning to the ice.

For the most part, however, there wasn't much checking, as the Wings took it easy on their predecessors.

Red Wing Trainer Lefty Wilson took his place, and Wing goalie Roger Crozier took over the nets at the opposite end from TV weatherman Sonny Eliot.

BOGUE IN ACTION

Former Wing Art Bogue, who for many years was manager of the Pontiac AAA office, took regular turns on the ice.

Proceeds from the $1 a person benefit will go to amateur hockey in Detroit.

Howe opened the scoring with assists from Lindsay and Liscombe.

Gee fired home two goals and Jennings added another to give the Old Timers a 4-2 lead. But the modern Wings turned on the steam in the third period and scored four times on the tiring veterans.

Carter, Bluth, Hoover Out in Preliminary

Lillard Holds Lead of Men's Division; Mrs. Ladewig Out

DALLAS (AP)—The All-Star Bowling Tournament has been stripped of its greatest gate attractions after only five days of preliminary rounds.

Don Carter, Ray Bluth, Dick Hoover and Marion Ladewig are among the top-ranking stars who failed to survive even the earliest cut in the $100,000 event.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ladewig, eight time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., hardly got started in her campaign to defend the title she won last year in Kansas City. The frail 49-year-old grandmother bowed out Sunday night when the women's field of 144 was first cut to 48.

★ ★ ★

Even more incredible, in the eyes of the bowling fraternity, was the eviction of Carter before the semifinals. The crooked arm stylist, who has won this event four times, totaled only 4048 for 20 games of preliminaries. The low score to qualify was 4062.

WALKING PAPERS

Bluth, Carter's teammate in St. Louis and a perennial threat in the All-Star, got his walking papers after totaling 4029. Akron's Hoover, who won the 1951 All-Star on the day after he turned 21, bowed out with 4055.

While the game's great stars went into a swoon, some famous has-beens were making remarkable comebacks.

Bill Lillard, who hasn't won a trophy since the 1955-56 season when he won the All-Star and three American Bowling Congress titles, led the 96 survivors from the original men's field of 288, with a 20 game total of 4363. The Dallas ace helped his own cause Monday with an 844 series.

Jean Bopp, a Milwaukee housewife, led the women into their second day of semifinal action with a record-breaking 4195 total for 20 games. Her aggregate was 10 pins higher than the sum compiled by Mrs. Ladewig last year. Mrs. Bopp's best performance Monday was a 907 four game series.

★ ★ ★

La Verne Carter salvaged some glory for the Carter family. The statutesque blonde wife of Don was tied for fourth place with Ann Slattery of Salt Lake City on a 3979 total.

The men's and women's field will be chopped again to 16 bowlers each Tuesday night. The round-robin finals begin Wednesday morning.

Pontiac Central Holds 3rd Place

By The Associated Press

Pontiac Central gained some votes but lost ground in its bid to climb higher in the Associated Press' weekly Class A prep cage poll.

Only one other area team was rated in the top ten of any class. That was New Haven which jumped three places into the fourth spot in the Class C voting after it dumped perennially powerful Capac Friday night.

The latter fell from the Class C top ten for the first time in three seasons.

PCH gained five points on last week's total but saw Lansing Sexton and Benton Harbor increase their leads over the third place Chiefs.

In addition, fourth place Detroit Northwestern crept within three points of Central and fifth ranked Flint Central now is only 16 points behind PCH.

The AP's panel of sports writers and sportscasters retained Lansing Sexton as the Class A leader, while River Rouge remained No. 1 in Class B and Grosse Pointe St. Paul headed Class C.

Neopolitan Club trailed St. Luke's after one period but outscored the latter in the last three sessions to win easily, while Victor Paint led from the first period against the Boys Club.

Seat Belt, 'Safe' Game Doesn't Help Wake Forest

By The Associated Press

Seat belts are regarded as a safety device. So is so-called safe scheduling for college basketball teams. Sometimes, however, there are nights when nothing works.

★ ★ ★

Like Monday night. A seat belt failed to help Wake Forest and a safe schedule failed to help national champion Chicago Loyola. Each was the victim of a shocking upset.

Loyola, ranked third in the nation and winner of 11 and 12 starts, supposedly had a safe schedule in its trip to Memphis State, which had only an 8-6 record. Memphis State won 83-65.

DIDN'T HELP

And Wake Forest Coach Bones McKinney, known for his jumping, shouting and pacing on the sidelines, decided to strap himself to the bench with a car seat safety belt when his Deacons played Maryland at Winston-Salem, N.C. Maryland won 91-82.

Those were the only two major college games scheduled Monday. Many of the nation's basketball teams are taking a break for semester examinations.

Only two are scheduled tonight. Those include Minnesota's visit to second-ranked Michigan in a vital Big Ten game and Purdue vs. Notre Dame at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Chicago Loyola was idle last week and the inactivity dropped the Ramblers a notch in the weekly AP poll, from second to third. They figured to make up lost ground against slumpridden Memphis State.

But they were never in the game.

NEVER TRAILED

The Tennessee Tigers' George Kirk rammed through for back-to-back layups opening the game and Memphis State never trailed. The Tigers' front line of Bob Neumann, Jamie McMahan and John Hillman dominated the boards and since Loyola was well off its shooting form, the Ramblers rarely got a second chance.

Chicago hit only 29 per cent from the floor, and had only six field goals in the first half as Memphis State charged out to a 37-20 lead at intermission.

In Winston-Salem, McKinney, as a gag, belted himself to the bench with a seat belt. He stayed put as Wake built a 12-point lead in the first eight minutes.

★ ★ ★

But when the sophomore-studded Terrapins hustled back to a 31-30 advantage, off came the seat belt and up came McKinney. He shouted and pleaded and stamped and stomped. Nothing worked.

Vezina Race Lead Taken by Glenn Hall

National Hockey League statistics released today snow Hall with a seven-goal margin in the race for the Vezina Trophy over Bower and Montreal's Charley Hodge. The Chicago goalie can thank the Bruins for his wide margin even though the outburst came against Simmons.

Under NHL regulations, the Vezina Trophy is a team award going to the regular goalie of the club allowing the fewest goals. Thus Bower, although watching from the sidelines, must bear the burden for the 11 goals.

WEAK SIDE PLAY
By RAY MEYER
Coach, De Paul University

The play I call the weak side play, starts off a simple criss-cross of the guards. Number 1 passes to 2 and they exchange places as 2 dribbles to the left guard position.

Number 1 cuts down the blind side and, if he is free, he gets the ball. If 1 is covered, 5 dribbles off 3 and toward 4. Number 3 gives 5 a natural standing pick while 4 fakes in and comes across behind 5 for a drive in or a good jump shot behind 4's screen.

Autos Reach Monte Carlo

Heavy Toll in Rally

MONTE CARLO (AP)—First arrivals in the Monte Carlo Auto Rally began pouring into this sunny Riviera resort today amid reports that icy Alpine roads had taken a heavy toll of competitors during the night.

★ ★ ★

The first car in was No. 8, a Fiat Abarth from the Warsaw itinerary driven by Poles Longin Bielak and Sobieslaw Zasada. Tired but still required to go through checkpoint formalities, Zasada said the rally was a tough one despite fairly good weather most of the day. The worst, he said, was Monday night's run through the Alps.

HARDEST STRETCH

Other cars from the Warsaw and Minsk itineraries followed in quick succession. Herbert Muller of Switzerland, co-driver with Hermann Muller in a Volkswagen, said the hardest stretch was along the Riviera between Monte Carlo and Menton on the Italian border.

The reports said Monday night's weather conditions on the high altitude roads of the last leg were hazardous. But twice-winner Erik Carlsson of Sweden was not complaining.

Carlsson, in a Saab with Gunnar Palm as co-driver, was with the 61 cars of the Oslo itinerary which checked through Annot.

Another Oslo starter, last year's world auto racing champion Graham Hill of Britain unofficially was reported to have lost all chance of winning the rally. Hill and Ian Walker were driving a Ford Falcon.

The 120 drivers with the least penalty points will be put through more tests before the final results are made known late Thursday or early Friday.

DR. J. W. HEAD
Calls for Men

According to Dr. J. W. Head, President of the Electronics Institute of Technology, the shortage of Electronics Engineers and Technicians is the greatest in history. The Institute is receiving so many calls for trained men that it is sending out a special appeal for new recruits.

Thousands of electronic engineers have received their training at E.I.T. These men are now serving with distinction many of the research and development laboratories of the nation — computer and data processing firms — companies devoted to instrumentation — space satellite and guided missile projects — the communications industries and many other allied fields.

These employers return year after year to seek more E.I.T. graduates than we can supply.

If your inherent ability and interest has attracted you to the electronics field, the important problem before you right now is your choice of a school. A copy of the 1964 illustrated Electronics Institute of Technology catalog will be sent to serious students free of charge. Just send a letter or post card to the Registrar's Office, Electronics Institute of Technology, Detroit 1.

Lane, Ortiz Call Lawyers

Commitments Hinder Championship Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz and No. 1 contender Kenny Lane likely will have to punch their way out of some legal skirmishes before they ever get to climb in a ring and throw punches at each other.

★ ★ ★

The World Boxing Association has been trying to arrange a championship fight between Ortiz, of New York, and Lane, of Muskegon, Mich., for some time. The entire matter seemed settled Saturday but began to get a bit complicated Monday.

Ortiz, boarding a plane in San Juan for a trip to New York, said he would sue the WBA if the organization tries to strip him of his crown for meeting junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde in a title fight.

At the same time, Lane ran into trouble with the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission over a bout with Johnny Bizarro.

PROTESTS RULING

Ortiz said he had made a commitment with promoter Lope Sarreal for a February championship fight with Elorde, and will go through with it despite WBA opposition.

"I'll take them to court if they try to take my title away for fighting Elorde," said Ortiz. "I don't think any fighter had been bothered more by the WBA than I have."

The WBA's executive committee denied Saturday an application for a championship fight between Ortiz and Elorde. Instead, the committee approved a contract for a title fight between Ortiz and Lane, to be held April 4, in Puerto Rico.

Wolverines Now 2nd

By The Associated Press

Michigan, climbing toward ranking as the nation's top college basketball team, took over second place today in the Associated Press' weekly poll.

A special panel of writers and broadcasters gave the Wolverines 350 points, moving Michigan poast Loyola of Chicago which slipped to third place with 294 points.

The Wolverines have a 12-1 record after Saturday's victory over Ohio State.

FIRST PLACE

UCLA continues to lead the poll but there was plenty of shuffling in the spots behind the undefeated Bruins, who've won 15 straight. The Uclans collected 38 first-place votes on the 43 ballots and accumulated 423 points.

The DePaul Blue Demons in whipping highly regarded Dayton 89-83 cracked the top ten with 12 straight victories. DePaul was awarded the No. 9 spot after Cincinnati dropped a pair of games and qualified for dismissal.

Points were awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc.

Undefeated Davidson moved up to fourth place ahead of Kentucky while Vanderbilt maintained its No. 6 spot. Villanova and Duke each jumped two slots—the Wildcats to No. 7 and the Blue Devils to No. 8. Oregon State, No. 7 a week ago, slipped to 10th place, sharing it with a returnee, Wichita.

Only Cincinnati and Oregon State of last week's Top Ten ran into trouble, and it cost both teams. The Bearcats lost their first two Missouri Valley Conference games and dropped out of sight. Oregon State lost to Oregon 47-45 before beating their inter-state rivals 66-53. The split cost State three steps in the poll and left the Beavers with a 14-3 record.

Buckeyes' Ace Best Scorer

CHICAGO (AP)—All-America Gary Bradds of Ohio State is well ahead in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race with a 28.6 average on 347 points in 13 games.

Bill Buntin of Michigan and Pete Gent of Michigan State, fifth and sixth, respectively, are almost neck and neck. Buntin has a 21.8 average and Gent 21.6. Buntin has scored 262 points in 12 games and Gent 282 in 13.

World Golf, Aug. 27th

Russians Favored in Olympic Hockey

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—With eight days to go before the Jan. 29 opening of the Winter Olympics one thing seems certain—Russia should have no trouble collecting the gold medal in hockey.

The names of Czechoslovakia, Sweden, the United States and Canada are being bandied around by local hockey experts but all agree Russia is the team to beat.

★ ★ ★

The USSR squad is the reigning world champions. This winter the Russians completed a highly successful tour of the U.S. and Canada, and swept all before them in Europe.

The top hockey teams have yet to arrive in Innsbruck but the Olympic Village is rapidly filling with other competitors.

BOBSLEDS READY

All the bobsled squads have arrived and today will have their second training runs on the Olympic course at Igls. Monday's two-man times were fast and only the United States had a mishap.

John Handley, 40, an ex-Marine from Malone, N.Y., fell from a sled piloted by Charles McDonald, 31, also from Malone. He was not hurt and will take part in the four-man run today.

★ ★ ★

At Seefeld the Nordic cross country and ski jump teams from Switzerland, West Germany and Russia are expected to have their first test of the course. East Germany, Finland and some of the Russian women already have tried out the course.

Last to arrive will be the skiers who have decided to stay with the snow in Italy and other European ski resorts, rather than risk restricted training in Innsbruck.

POSE THREAT

Of the 16 nations that will compete in hockey, Czechoslovakia appears to offer the strongest threat to the Russians. Like the Russians, the Czechs are extremely well disciplined and rarely resort to the rough, heavy contact that is commonplace in North America.

The Canadians have a very young team that may be too inexperienced for Olympic competition. They were humiliated 8-1 by the Russians in Moscow and Monday were beaten 2-1 by the Soviet Union's reserve team.

Methodists' 5 Has Top Spot

Central Methodist took sole possession of first place in the YMCA Church Basketball League's senior division last week with a 65-35 victory over First Congregational.

★ ★ ★

The Congregationalists fell into a tie for second place with Trinity Baptist and All Saints Episcopal, both of whom won.

All Saints nudged First Baptist, 45-43, on Jim Jones' two foul shots in the last 30 seconds while Trinity coasted against winless Oakland Park Methodist, 88-17.

A fourth game saw Macedonia Baptist pour it on St. Paul Methodist, 124-17, as Cedric Patterson hit 50 points.

Active Dealings

Stock Mart in General Retreat

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a fairly general retreat early this afternoon in active dealings.

A scattering of stock bucked the downtrend.

★ ★ ★

Losses of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

BIG THREE UP

Big Three motors were steady to higher. Oils also made moderate gains.

The market was already regarded as vulnerable to some kind of correction as the week began. President Johnson's anti-inflationary position combined with the decline in the short position on the New York Stock Exchange as additional factors in the mild selloff.

A higher short position is regarded as bullish because it means that short sellers must buy more stock in the future to "cover" their contracts.

IBM STOCK SPLIT

The New York Stock Exchange halted trading in IBM at 12:01 P.M. (EST) to give the financial community time to digest the news that IBM directors had proposed a stock split of 25 per cent and a higher dividend. At the time, IBM was selling at 550, off 2.

Prices were mixed in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Rayette gained about 2.

Kennedy Talks in Malaysia

Hoping for Summit on SE Asia Crisis

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met today with Malaysia's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, continuing the search for a peaceful solution to the Malaysian crisis.

Arriving from Manila on the third leg of his special presidential mission, Kennedy said, "We are beginning to make some progress."

His first meeting with Rahman lasted an hour and 40 minutes. Other talks were scheduled later in the day.

WITHDRAW TROOPS

Sukarno reportedly has insisted that before such talks British and Malaysian troops must be withdrawn from the Indonesian-Malaysian frontier on Borneo, where an undeclared guerrilla war is in progress. Kennedy told newsmen, "I am not aware of these demands."

After meeting with Macapagal in the Philippines, Kennedy said prospects for a summit are encouraging. The attorney general met last weekend in Tokyo with Sukarno and will confer with the Indonesian leader again Wednesday in Jakarta.

Wheat, Soybeans Show Small Drop

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat and old crop soybeans futures ran into further selling pressure today and declined a cent or so during the first several minutes of activity on the Board of Trade.

Soybeans started with moderate gains on a government crushings report which some speculators viewed as mildly bullish. However, the bulges opened up and accumulation of resting orders to sell and prices backed down quickly.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ¾ to 1⅛ cents a bushel lower, March $2.21; soybeans 1⅛ lower to ¾ higher, January $2.74⅞; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, March $1.20⅜; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, March 71¾ cents; rye unchanged to ½ higher, March $1.55¼.

LBJ Budget Pares Billion Off Military

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson proposes to pare $1.1 billion from Pentagon spending in the next fiscal year, but still provide the nation "with the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

The new budget for the year beginning July 1 recommends to Congress a total expenditure for military functions of $51.2 billion, compared with an estimated spending of $52.3 for the current year.

Johnson reasons that reduction is possible because of the momentum attained under the Kennedy administration programs of the past three years, in which the nation "has invested heavily in the improvement of its defenses."

NO CONCESSIONS

He writes: "We have chosen not to concede our opponents supremacy in any type of potential conflict, be it nuclear war, conventional warfare or guerrilla conflict.

"We have now increased the strength of our forces so that, faced with any threat of aggression, we can make a response which is appropriate to the situation.

"With present forces and those now planned, we will continue to maintain this vital military capability."

★ ★ ★

However, he cautioned that defense expenditures will remain high and said that "although we continue to seek a relaxation of tensions, we cannot relax our guard."

SAME REQUIREMENTS

He views the limited nuclear test-ban treaty as hopeful, but says neither that treaty nor other developments has made it possible to reduce defense requirements.

The reduction would be a net cut. Spending would go down for some items, but up for others, reflecting increased costs.

Military manpower would drop from 2,687,000 for the current year to 2,681,000 for the next year. But the expenditure for military personnel would climb from a present $14.18 billion to $14.66 billion, largely because of proposed pay increases for both active and retired personnel.

★ ★ ★

RETALIATORY FORCES

Orders for new missiles, ships and other weapons for the strategic retaliatory forces would but cut back sharply in the next fiscal year.

The total of "obligational availability" (the money available for use in ordering new equipment) would be trimmed by about $2 billion, bringing it down to $5.3 billion.

Johnson said that the strategic retaliatory forces "now consist of more than 600 operational long-range missiles—Atlas, Titan, Minuteman and the submarine-launched Polaris — together with a Strategic Air Command bomber force of about 1,000 aircraft."

★ ★ ★

(Other data indicates that the missile strength is about 800 and aircraft strength about 1,300 bombers.

VASTLY SUPERIOR

"The present and planned force," said Johnson, "are and will continue to be vastly superior to the Soviet nuclear force . . . we are clearly capable of destroying an aggressor even if forced to absorb a surprise first attack.

"Under these conditions, further substantial numerical increases in our strategic forces above those already planned would soon be of diminishing value."

The budget proposes an increase of only 50 Minuteman missilies, from 950 to 1,000, for the total operating or authorized through the end of the next fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

IMPROVED MISSILES

The President said extensive improvement programs to change the performance and range of the earlier versions of the Minuteman and Polaris weapons are planned.

He also disclosed that some of the "older, unprotected Atlas missiles" will be phased out of the strategic system. This appeared to indicate that about four squadrons of the early Atlas design will be pulled out eventually.

The withdrawal of the older B47 medium bombers is being stepped up—the present 10 wings will be cut to five by the end of the next fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

The B52 and B58 wings will remain at present strength of 14 for the former and two for the latter.

ARMY, MARINES

Authorized manpower strength for the Army would increase about 2,000, to 974,000.

The Navy wins six more atomic-powered attack submarines and 16 destroyer escorts under the new budget proposal —but there is no mention of authority for building another aircraft carrier.

ATTACK CARRIERS

Total attack carrier strength remains at 15.

Navy manpower would go up by 8,000 to 678,000. The Marines would stay at present strength of 190,000.

Manned aircraft procurement by the Air Force would increase slightly, from 840 this year to 889 next year. No new bombers are proposed.

★ ★ ★

College Tax Deduction Faces Big Opposition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposal to provide tax relief for persons helping to send students through college faced formidable opposition today in the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee planned to vote on the proposal by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., as it resumed closed sessions on the $11.1-billion tax cut bill passed by the House Sept. 25.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., indicated yesterday the panel might not finish work on the biggest tax cut in history until Thursday or Friday, instead of tomorrow as originally hoped.

The delay was to accommodate Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who has out-of-town speaking engagements today and tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The Ribicoff proposal, offered as an amendment to the tax reduction bill, would provide tax credits for the first $1,500 of a college student's expenses, including tuition, books, fees and supplies.

COST HIGH

Several members of the tax-writing group were sympathetic to the Ribicoff proposal, but they were appalled at the cost — an estimated $750 million the first year, rising to about $1.5 billion annually in later years.

Administration forces, fearing that any revenue-losing revisions might make the bill top-heavy and jeopardize its final passage, felt confident they could marshal enough votes to defeat the Ribicoff plan.

Under Ribicoff's plan, a taxpayer could subtract from his final federal income tax bill up to $325 a year to pay the expenses of sending a person to a university or college.

The credit would be computed this way: 75 per cent of the first $200 in college expenses; 25 per cent of the next $300 and 10 per cent of the remaining $1,000. Thus, expenses of $300 would result in a credit of $175, while maximum expenses of $1,500 would give a top credit of $325 in one year.

In actions yesterday, the committee:

- Voted 9 to 8 to abolish the 10 per cent federal excise tax on tickets for legitimate theater productions but not for motion pictures or sports events. The amendment by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., would exempt admissions to opera, concerts, and live stage productions, including burlesque shows.
- Defeated 9 to 7 an attempt by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to write a ceiling of $1,100 a year on the amount that could be subtracted from a taxpayer's federal tax bill for dividend income.
- Approved another Dirksen proposal to liberalize new restrictions on stock options.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I am a 47-year-old widow. My problem is that at 62 I will have very small social security. I own my home, have $6,000 invested in mutual funds, $5,500 in savings and loan, and $9,000 in Series E bonds, all over ten years old. I do worry about the future. What do you advise me to do?" V. G.

(A) I cannot advise you to buy stocks, since all stocks involve a certain amount of risk and you can afford none at all. Your mutual fund shares give you a measure of protection against inflation. Your Series E bonds are now accruing interest at the rate of 3¾ per cent compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity.

I advise you to conserve your capital. At age 62, take out an annuity contract with a good life insurance company, retaining some savings for a contingency. Your annuity income would be relatively high at that age.

★ ★ ★

(Q) "Approximately a year ago, you gave in your column two insurance stocks, Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Would you recommend these same stocks or some other similar stocks for me to buy under a monthly investment plan for about a 20-year period?" S. N.

(A) I still think very highly of life insurance stocks, if held over a period of years.

I continue to like both Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Because of its recent relatively poor action, however, I have for the present stopped recommending Franklin, although I think the shares should be retained.

In place of Franklin I suggest Connecticut General Life, which has been showing better technical action. Since these issues — like other life stocks— are unlisted, they may not be bought under the Big Board's Monthly Investment Plan. You would have to work out your own plan, buying one or two shares a month, as your means permitted.

Floyd Harmon Files Appeal

Teamster Official Remains in Office

Attorneys for Pontiac Teamster Local 614 secretary - treasurer Floyd B. Harmon yesterday kept alive the union official's appeal fight against an embezzlement convicition.

Chief Asst. U.S. Atty. William Merrill said today in Detroit that Harmon met the deadline yesterday for filing necessary papers in connection with his appeal.

Harmon was convicted last May on 14 counts of embezzling union funds and making false entries.

★ ★ ★

The conviction bars him from holding union office under federal law, but Harmon has retained his post with Local 614 because the prohibition does not take effect immediately when there's an appeal.

SEVERAL DELAYS

Arraign Teen in Car Death

A Pontiac youth has demanded examination on a manslaughter charge brought against him in connection with the Sunday afternoon traffic death of a 14-year-old girl.

Dennis Thomas, 17, of 573 Pearsall was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Mrs. Alice Gilbert, Bloomfield Township justice of the peace.

The accident in which Laverne Williams of 500½ S. Paddock died, happened on Woodward in Bloomfield Hills.

The car containing five teenagers swerved across the highway, hitting a sign and knocking down a tree, police said.

Another of the passengers, David White, 16, of 230 Rockwell, Bloomfield Township, remained in critical condition this morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Panama Presses Aggression Charge

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Miguel J. Moreno, Panamanian delegate to the Organization of American States, headed for Washington today to press charges of "aggression" against the United States in the Canal Zone crisis.

Moreno's aides are alternate delegates Juan A. Tack and Arturo Morgan Morales, both officials of the foreign ministry.

Already on hand in the U.S. capital is C. A. (Red) McLelland, a U.S. marshal from the zone who flew north by special military jet yesterday to urge American officials to take a firm stand in the crisis.

McLelland, a former Senate page from Camden, Ark., has lived in the zone since 1944. He says many residents of the zone feel the government "let them down" in the recent outbreak of anti-American violence, in which 25 persons, including 4 U.S. soldiers, were killed.

TALK TO SENATORS

The marshal told newsmen here he had already been in touch by telephone with several U.S. senators. He said he planned to give the Senate Foreign Relations Committee a first hand report on the situation.

Panama's charge of "aggression" — which has been heard but not acted on by the OAS and the United Nations — arises from the measures taken to defend the zone against armed marauders from Panama.

U.S. officials and many residents of the zone suspect that the anti-American outbreak was encouraged — if not originated — by "subversive elements."

The fighting broke out after a dispute over flying the Panamanian flag alongside the American flag in the canal zone.

RED-TRAINED

Army Secretary Cyrus Vance charged specifically that a number of anti-American agitators trained in Communist Cuba had been captured in Panama, but Panamanian authorities denied the charge.

President Roberto Chiari said in a televised interview last night that the charge that the crisis was inspired by Castro Communists is a "bare faced lie."

"The Panamanian people and my government believe in democracy," he said. "We are not willing to support tyranny of any kind."

★ ★ ★

Chiari said Panama will press its case before the OAS to begin with, but added that it is prepared if necessary to take the case to a special session of the U. N. General Assembly.

'NO HARMONY'

The president said there will be "no tranquility and harmony" between the United States and Panama until Washington yields to Panamanian demands for renegotiation of the Panama Canal treaty.

The U. S. Air Force flew 109 relatives of U. S. servicemen yesterday to Charleston, S.C., completing the task of moving 1,208 members of military families out of the zone.

Employe Union Is Voted Down at St. Joseph

Employes at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital voted 382-165 against union representation, the State Labor Mediation Board reported yesterday.

It was the second attempt to unionize the local hospital. More than a year ago, hospital employes voted 380-184 against the union.

★ ★ ★

Administrator Sister Mary Xavier called the election results " . . . a vote of confidence in the personnel program developed by the administration of the hospital."

The bargaining unit that petitioned the State Labor Mediation Board for the election includes 595 employes, all nonprofessional.

The hospital employs 853 people.

Williams was released on total bond of $2,000 and Duncan on $1,000 bond pending trial. No trial date was set.

A third man arrested Dec. 6 with the two, Robert L. Reavis, 23, of 440 Midway pleaded guilty to possession of narcotics Dec. 24 and has been sentenced to 2 to 10 years in prison.

Pontiac Youths Plead Innocent to Robbing Man

Two Pontiac youths pled innocent yesterday in Municipal court to the armed robbery of a 60-year-old man last Friday.

Two others were arrested later and are awaiting examination in Municipal Court.

Congressman Renews a Feud

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

RSVP: Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., has told congressmen they may have a battle with their conscience if they attend a party in their honor to be given next month by the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, Edwin P. Neilan.

★ ★ ★

"Unadulterated, unmitigated brass," said Patman of the invitation from Nielan who Patman said has "slandered the Congress from coast to coast."

Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, renewed a feud with Neilan in a House speech Monday. He said that in his talks around the country Neilan has called members of Congress "confidence men," "patronage peddlers," "gravy ladlers," "office holders squandering money to perpetuate ourselves in office," and "bag men."

NEILAN OPPOSED

"Our would-be host is the same fellow who opposes any federal action that would put people back to work or rehabilitate our blighted areas," said Patman.

★ ★ ★

"He favors only one subsidy which he never talks about. He loves the big bankers' bonus—billions of federal deposits to lend out at the 'going commercial rate' at no charge to the banks."

Neilan said he didn't wish to reply to Patman.

FOREIGN AID: Administration forces in the Senate have claimed a victory over foreign aid critics after a spirited scrap.

The Senate passed 38 to 31 Monday a controversial bill authorizing $312 million in additional U.S. financing for the multilateral International Development Association which makes interest-free, 50-year loans for projects in underdeveloped areas.

It did so after defeating, 37 to 30, a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send the bill back to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to be considered along with the separate mutual security program.

The bill now goes to the House. It would authorize U.S. subscription of $104 million a year for three years starting July 1, 1965, to IDA's loan funds. Other IDA member nations would put up $438 million in the three-year period.

One of the nicest features of the St. Paul, Minn., Winter Carnival Bridge tourney is that Leo and Reine Seewald will be helping out the tournament committee and in general making everything as pleasant as possible for the players.

JACOBY

Leo was elected president of the American Contract Bridge League in December, but the only change in the family outlook will be that he and Reine will work a trifle harder, if possible.

South's two-club bid is one of those silly overcalls. He is not going anywhere with his minor suit and should not take a chance of getting into real trouble. Leo, sitting West, had one of those perfect doubles and South was thoroughly punished when Reine found the killing defense.

Her jack of spades held the first trick and Reine promptly laid down the ace of diamonds. There was no hurry about giving Leo a spade ruff.

Leo signaled come-on with the seven and Reine played her nine of diamonds. Leo took his king and gave her a ruff. Reine still did not lead another spade. Instead she led the three of hearts.

South had already lost a spade, two diamonds and a diamond ruff. He still had to lose another spade, three trumps and a heart so that the total cost of his overcall was 1,100 points.

Of course, this did not happen in a St. Paul tournament. The Seewalds are never that rough on visitors.

♥♣CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
3 ♠	Pass	?

You are not vulnerable, and you, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ A K 7 6 ♦ A K 5 4 ♣ J 10 6 5

What do you do?

A—Unless your partner is one of those desperados who make non-vulnerable three bids on absolute trash, raise him to four. You may well have four tricks for him.

TODAY'S QUESTION

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF EDGAR H. Davis Sr. who passed away Jan. 21, 1960. God took him home, it was His will, But in our hearts we love him still; His memory is as dear today As in the hour he passed away. We often sit and think of him When we are all alone, For memory is the only friend That grief can call its own. From wife, sons and family.

IN MEMORY OF LOUIS SPADAfore who passed away 10 years ago, January 21.
Nothing can ever take away
The love heart holds dear
Fond memories linger every day.
Remembrance keeps him near.

Japan to Be 'Realistic' on China Policy

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Hayato Ikeda told parliament today his government will pursue "a realistic policy" toward Communist China because her proximity to Japan and her 600 million people "are hard facts of life."

Ikeda did not come out openly for diplomatic recognition of Peking, but he made plain where Japanese feelings lie by stating:

"That only a strip of water separates Japan and the China mainland, and that this vast area contains a population of more than 600 millions are hard facts of life.

"On the other hand, the question of the Communist regime is an international question for international consideration in such bodies as the United Nations."

For the present, Ikeda declared Japan will continue private trade with Red China on the theory that politics and economy can be kept apart.

Skier Is Rescued From a Snowslide

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — A snowslide swept Dennis Staley a distance of 600 feet and buried him under four feet of snow Monday.

Four companions spotted the tips of his skis and rescued Staley, who suffered cuts and bruises. The others were missed by the avalanche.

Cancer Cells Injected

Hospital Experiment Hit

NEW YORK (AP)—The Jewish Chronic Disease Hospital in Brooklyn has been accused of injecting live cancer cells into noncancerous patients without their consent during experiments.

★ ★ ★

A hospital spokesman said the injections were harmless and the 19 patients were told it was a cancer experiment. They were not told the injections were cancer cells, he said.

William A. Hyman, a director and a lawyer, made the accusation Monday in Brooklyn State Supreme Court in asking for "all the medical records of the patients who were used as guinea pigs."

RAPPED ACCUSATION

"These patients gave oral consent in the presence of three physicians and they gave it readily since there was no anticipated danger," Siegel said.

★ ★ ★

"They were told they would be injected with a cell substances were cancer cells because they are harmless. As expected, they were rejected by the patients' bodies. It was the rate of rejection that was sought, and this was the same as for healthy subjects."

Hyman said his information came from the three physicians, not identified, who have resigned from the hospital staff.

PILOT STUDY

Morris Ploscow, an attorney for the hospital, told the court the experiments had been "a pilot study which was done in one day, July 16, and had been discontinued after that day."

The experiments were conducted by the hospital and the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Institute.

Sloan-Kettering said "This new investigation is another important step in a long-term research program that has been going forward since 1954."

Sloan-Kettering has done similar studies on about 600 volunteers, mainly in prisons.

Las Vegas Gaming Clean, Just Like the Players

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — Our co-pilot was late. We were sitting in our plane at Kennedy Airport in N.Y. waiting for him.

"Our co-pilot is stuck in the Lincoln Tunnel," a passenger agent announced. What our co-pilot was doing trying to fly a plane through the tunnel, I'll never know.

WILSON

"We are waking up another co-pilot and we will take off as soon as he gets here," the passenger agent said.

It was one of the few times that the passengers were on time and the crew was late. But after the N.Y. storm, when there are snowdrifts in the tunnels, you can expect anything.

I arrived in sunny Nevada on time, anyway. I shed my overcoat and got to work on a most surprising mission.

No, I had not come to do research on nude showgirls and stripteasers, not even Lili St. Cyr, who is performing at the Silver Slipper.

★ ★ ★

I was here to speak to the Las Vegas Better Business Bureau.

"Better Business Bureau in Las Vegas — hahaha, hohoho," said Georgie Jessel, when I mentioned it to him.

"They have very clean gambling in Las Vegas," Georgie said, "they wash the dice every night."

Peace Corps Gets Big Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Peace Corps got perhaps the biggest proportionate budget increase of any federal agency.

The comparatively small agency was tabbed for $90 million in President Johnson's 1965 budget today, a jump of $17 million or 23 per cent from this year.

Johnson told Congress he wants to expand the corps from 10,500 volunteers to 14,000, in recognition of its "highly successful work and the gratifying flood of requests for the services of the corps."

★ ★ ★

Most of the 3,500 new volunteers will go to South America and Africa, he said.

Capital Shift Is OK'd by Laos Chiefs

SAM NEUA, Laos (AP) — Laos' neutralist and pro-Communist leaders have agreed to move the capital of the coalition government from Vientiane to Luang Prabang temporarily in an attempt to get the government operating.

Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma and Pathet Lao chief prince Souphanouvong met for the first time since last May in this Pathet Lao center.

In separate statements, they called for a meeting with the leader of the third faction in Laos, right-wing Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, to discuss the neutralization of Luang Prabang; the royal capital, which is under his control.

★ ★ ★

There was no immediate comment from Phoumi.

SEEK SECURITY

Souvanna said the Pathet Lao promised to rejoin the government at Luang Prabang once security is established there. The town is 130 miles northwest of Vientiane.

The crisis began last April 1 with the assassination of leftist Foreign Minister Quinim Pholsena in Vientiane. Souphanouvong and the Pathet Lao information minister fled the capital to an area controlled by their forces.

Souvanna also said the neutralist and Pathet Lao military commanders will continue their talks seeking a cease-fire at the Plaine Des Jarres. The discussions to end the intermittent fighting there began last November.

★ ★ ★

Souvanna announced he would visit Peking and Hanoi in March and neighboring Cambodia next month, seeking support for his "policy of peace and neutrality" for Laos. He said he would specifically ask the North Vietnamese in Hanoi "to stop interfering in Laotian internal affairs."

★ ★ ★

Neutralist officials have repeatedly accused North Viet Nam of supplying the Pathet Lao with arms and ammunition as well as military personnel.

Cholera Hits Saigon; GIs to Stay Out

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Because of a cholera epidemic in Saigon, all U.S. military personnel have been ordered to stay out of the South Vietnamese capital except on official business.

About 50 Vietnamese have died of cholera, and health authorities said today the outbreak "has the characteristics of a dangerous epidemic." No American cases have been reported.

Health authorities suspect the disease has reached epidemic proportions in other parts of South Viet Nam also.

Mothers and children swarmed around sidewalk vaccination clinics, and some streets were closed so health workers could set up stands.

Shooting, Looting Dash Tanganyika Peace Hopes

LONDON (AP) — Shooting and looting broke out today in the Arab and African quarters of Dar es Salaam, breaking a calm that had raised hope the capital of Tanganyika was returning to normal.

The word of the new outbreaks reached Britain's Commonwealth Relations Office after Britain rushed nearly 2,000 troops and an aircraft carrier to Tanganyika's borders and coastal waters to meet the threat of a bloody mutiny in the East African nation's army.

CALVIN J. WERNER

A brief Associated Press dispatch from Dar es Salaam said President Julius Nyerere, an African moderate whose hold on the nation was shaken by the army mutiny, would broadcast to the nation.

A Tanganyikia government information officer said Nyerere was safe in the white, Arab-style statehouse of the palm-fringed capital.

UNSTABLE SITUATION

F. Stephen Miles, British high commissioner in Dar es Salaam in a report to the Commonwealth Office bore out other communiques reaching London that the situation was unstable and subject to changes almost hourly.

Diplomatic reports trickling into London said the Tanganyikan capital was calm but under military curfew and the rebellious 1st Battalion of the Tanganyika Rifles, the country's army, apparently had taken over from the police.

The reports said at least 14 persons were killed and 120 injured in Monday's mutiny, triggered by resentment over low pay and delay in replacing British officers commanding military forces of the two-year-old Commonwealth nation.

VICTIMS NONWHITES

The victims were all believed to be African or Asian.

Many were believed to be Indian owners of shops and bazaars that were looted during the disorders.

The British Broadcasting Corporation said in its 7 a.m. broadcast that all was reported quiet during the night in Dar es Salaam.

The U.S. State Department said all Americans in Tanganyika—estimated at about 1,300—were reported safe.

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES

Car Bombing Clues Checked in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A worn pair of gloves and a passerby's report of seeing a car near Santo (Sam) Perrone's sedan before it was blasted by a bomb served as possible clues today to the apparent assassination attempt.

Perrone, 69, named by police as a Mafia agent, remained in critical condition at Saratoga General Hospital from injuries suffered in the explosion Sunday in his parked car. He lost his right leg and was otherwise badly wounded.

Perrone, under 24-hour police guard, was said to have given officers a minimum of help in their efforts to get evidence. He vowed, however, to "take care" of the person responsible for planting the bomb in his car.

The gloves, fur-lined, were found at the scene. A motorist, whom police refused to identify, said he saw a "dark sedan" near Perrone's parked car shortly before the explosion.

"When he says he doesn't know who did it, he may have difficulty deciding who among a group might have done it," Cochil said.

Kelley, assigning an aide to work with the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office in Detroit's investigation, said the bombing could be an overture to a gang war.

Judge Is Irked in Hoffa Trial

Lawyers Too Slow in Selecting Jurors

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge threatened today to take over personally the questioning prospective jurors for Teamsters President James Hoffa's jury-tampering trial — in order to speed things up.

"Unless the questioning is accelerated," U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson said, he will take the right to examine prospective jurors away from the lawyers, and ask the questions himself.

His comment, made from the bench soon after the trial began its second day, seemed aimed primarily at defense attorneys — who took up the better part of two hours in examining the first prospect yesterday.

He had just overruled two defense motions.

TOSS OUT PANEL

The other asked anew that the entire list of 200 special jury panelists be thrown out on grounds that it does not represent a cross-section of the area.

With that, questioning of five men and two women who had been locked up overnight as prospective jurors resumed.

ON SATURDAYS

Judge Wilson implied he would not hesitate to hold Saturday sessions of court if the trial became too protracted. Baber's examination took two hours, an indication it may take several more days to seat a jury.

★ ★ ★

Hoffa and the others are charged with attempting to influence illegally the jury in his 1962 conspiracy trial at Nashville which ended with a deadlocked jury.

Spending Rise Brought to Halt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called a turn-about to the long upward march of federal spending today with a cost-cutting, tax-cutting, $97.9-billion budget aimed at the nation's pockets of poverty.

Johnson sent to Congress a fiscal 1965 budget message which confidently assumed the "earliest possible" tax reduction. He termed it a giant step toward "a balanced budget in a full-employment, full-prosperity economy."

The budget would carve $1.3 billion and 27,000 civilians from the Defense Department.

Other cuts would hit the Agriculture Department, the Post Office, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Veterans Administration.

The new fiscal blueprint also would thin slightly the overall ranks of federal jobholders, sell off a billion-dollar batch of government assets and cut the deficit in half—from $10 billion this year to $4.9 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1.

NATIONAL DEBT

At year's end, June 30, 1965, the national debt will have increased from $311.8 billion to $317 billion, he estimated.

Nevertheless it is a "compassionate" budget, Johnson said, providing history's heaviest spending for "our nation's most important resource — its people."

He asked more than $1 billion for a package attack on the roots of misery.

Johnson's request for $3.4 billion new foreign aid funds was the smallest since the program started with the postwar Marshall Plan.

BELOW PROPOSAL

The money would support $1.2 billion of outlays for mili-

Dems Call It Tight; GOP Is Skeptical

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats generally applauded President Johnson's $97.9-billion budget today, calling it tight and realistic.

I'm intrigued by how so much more can be undertaken by the federal government in so many quarters with so much less money," said Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

★ ★ ★

He suggested that Johnson may have to employ "some legerdemain" to finance the programs he proposed and still hold spending below this year's.

DILLON TESTIMONY

Dirksen said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon had testified in October that the new year's deficit would be likely to run $9 billion.

"But by some automation, computers and calculators we are now told the administration will do more with less and come up with a deficit half of that amount," he said.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said, however, that the President's estimates represent a "tight" budget with "realistic estimates" of the gov-

Topical Summary on Fiscal Message

Total spending — $97.9 billion, $900 million less than was requested in fiscal 1964 budget and $500 million less than actually appropriated.

National debt — anticipated $10 billion deficit in present fiscal year will cause estimated $312 billion national debt on June 30, when debt limit automatically is cut from $315 billion to permanent ceiling of $285 billion.

Tax cut — urges "earliest possible enactment," effective as soon as possible with rates cut from 18 to 14 per cent immediately, instead of first to 15 per cent with a further 1 per cent cut next Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★

DEFENSE BUDGET

Defense spending — down $1.1 billion from present fiscal year to total of $51.2 billion.

Foreign aid — asks $3.4 billion, approximately the amount provided for the present fiscal year after cuts of more than $1 billion.

Space research — says congressional cuts have caused delays in program to land a man on the moon, asks $141 million supplemental appropriation for this year, $5.3 billion for 1965, up $63 million over present figures, including supplemental request.

FARM PROGRAM

Traffic Toll Hits 100

EAST LANSING (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 100 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The highway death toll at this date last year was 67.

Pearson Eyes Mediator Role

Seeks to Heal Split Between France, U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is expected to talk with President Johnson during a visit beginning today about the possibility of finding ways to improve relations between Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle.

The outlook for closer ties between Paris and Washington, as U.S. officials see the situation, is dark at the moment especially because of the recent decision by de Gaulle to recognize Communist China.

★ ★ ★

The content of the French note was not disclosed, but it was believed to match the American note in brevity.

STIFF PROTEST

The American note sent last weekend was brief, formal and stiff, U.S. sources in Washington said.

It said the United States believes France's intention to recognize Peking is an unwise step.

Official sources said the French response did not go into the French government's reasons.

Pearson spent last week in Paris and conferred with the French leader and is known to be deeply concerned about the rift between two of the major nations in the Atlantic alliance.

FIRST OPPORTUNITY

The first opportunity the men will have for policy talks will come tonight at a dinner for the President and First Lady at the Canadian Embassy.

The major scheduled event of the Pearson visit will be an exchange of notes in the presence of the President and prime minister by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin on the Columbia River project.

Missing Youth Found Okay

A 17-year-old Avondale High School student was found by Pontiac Police today after he was reported taken from the school parking lot by three men in their twenties.

Sheriff's deputies and Pontiac Police spread a net in the southeast Oakland area and located Phillip Chamberlain in his own car, unharmed.

The hunt for the boy began when other students informed School Principal Rosco Crowell that three men who had been drinking, apparently made Chamberlain leave the parking lot.

★ ★ ★

They said one of the men got into the boy's car with him and two others followed in their car while the youth drove away.

Until police located the boy they were not certain whether he had been taken against his will.

★ ★ ★

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Chamberlain, 3795 Brimfield, Pontiac Township.

When Chamberlain's car was pulled over, Norman Neidrick, 18, of Pontiac was driving the car, according to Pontiac Police.

Sheriff's Detective Raymond Bills, said Chamberlain told police that Neidrick walked up to him while he was sitting in his 1963 Pontiac.

Police said Neidrick told the student that if he didn't turn the car over to him, he would beat Chamberlain.

★ ★ ★

He wanted Chamberlain's car to drive by his girlfriend's house Bills said. Chamberlain told police he had never seen any of the trio before.

New Proposals Will Halt Bomb Carriers

Presenting his proposal in a special message sent to the resumption of the 17-nation disarmament conference here, Johnson asked the Soviet Union to join in a new program to halt the nuclear arms race and to prevent a new world war.

The President's program, including a world treaty to outlaw the use or threat of force in international disputes, was read by the U.S. disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster.

Besides the freeze on the production of nuclear delivery vehicles, Johnson proposed the shutdown of all reactors producing nuclear materials for weapons, and a system of observation posts to prevent surprise attack or accidental war.

HALT WEAPONS

Johnson also urged a special agreement to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to additional countries and to ban the underground nuclear tests unaffected by the Moscow test ban treaty.

The conference resumed after a five-month recess.

An article in the Soviet labor newspaper Trud indicated the Russians would renew their proposals for a nonaggression pact between the Soviet bloc and the North Atlantic alliance, establishment of nuclear-free zones over the world, prevention of the spread of nuclear weapons and reductions in military budgets and military bases on foreign soil.

The American disarmament negotiator, William C. Foster, publicly was optimistic over prospects for the talks — the Johnson administration's first major encounter with the Russians at an international conference.

HELPED CLIMATE

Foster, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, believes three achievements last year helped to produce a climate in which progress should be possible.

These are the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, the Washington-Moscow "hot line" and the U.N. General Assembly resolution banning mass destruction weapons from space vehicles.

A high American source said these agreements—on subjects which were debated by the Geneva conference — had brought "a change in the relationship between the two sides which is propitious of further progress."

But several delegates said the conference suffered its first setback even before it resumed formal sessions when Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, at a private meeting with Foster Monday, dashed all hopes of quick progress on a total nuclear test ban.

School Chaplain to Lead Civil Rights Processional

BIRMINGHAM—Rev. Maurice Gary, Marian High School chaplain, will be the main speaker at the civil rights processional scheduled for Feb. 9.

The march and program sponsored by the Birmingham Council of Churches is planned as a ecumenical witness to the brotherhood of all men and the need for responsible federal civil rights legislation now pending in Congress.

Participants will meet at the Congregational Church of Birmingham, 388 N. Woodward, for the start of the 3 p.m. program.

★ ★ ★

Invocations will be delivered by Rabbi Irwin Groner, associate rabbi at Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield and Rev. Raymond Fenner, minister of the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

Leading the processional will be bearers of religious symbols, American flags and church flags. Protestants, Catholics, Jews and others will walk behind the banners with members of the clergy following them.

★ ★ ★

The group's course will take it to Holy Name Catholic Church at Harmon and Woodland, where Father Gary will deliver the message. Prayers and hymns also will be included.

The processional originally was scheduled for Dec. 14, but was postponed due to the period of mourning for the late President John F. Kennedy.

Birmingham traffic accidents in December ended a year that recorded the highest accident rate in the history of the city, according to Police Chief R. W Moxley.

Reports of 140 accidents were made in December, breaking the monthly record of 118 acidents in January, 1963.

★ ★ ★

INJURED RISE

The number of persons injured went from 312 in 1962 to 427 in 1963 — an increase of almost 37 per cent.

Two persons were killed on the streets of Birmingham last year, while the total was also two for the four preceding years.

Birmingham City Commissioner Ralph A. Main last night proposed informally a charter change to replace the city assessor on the board of review with a private citizen.

At the City Commission meeting, he suggested that all three members of the board, rather than two be appointed by the commission.

Main said he was not being critical of the assessor but said he believed that the assessor should not sit in judgment on his own work.

★ ★ ★

No formal action was taken by the commission on the proposal but it directed the city manager to learn how boards of review are set up in other cities.

1965 Budget at $97 Billion

tary assistance to 60 nations, and $2.2 billion of loans and outlays to help the economic development of poor countries.

Spurred by tax cuts, national output this year will soar by nearly $40 billion to a surprising record total of about $623 billion, the President predicted, generating higher revenues despite the lower tax rates.

So federal income will climb by $4.6 billion in the coming fiscal year to $93 billion, while government spending is squeezed down by $500 million to $97.9 billion for the second budget cut in nine years.

But Johnson added a warning —an implied hint of business recession and a bigger deficit if taxes are not cut — to jog the congressional champions of fiscal caution who have delayed action for more than a year on the $11 billion tax reduction bill.

'DEEPLY DISTURBING'

"Since expectations of a tax reduction have been incorporated into the forward planning of many business firms, the effect on the economy of failure to pass the legislation swiftly might be deeply disturbing," Johnson said.

Johnson proposed to cut 800 employes from the foreign aid program, a move certain to please the many aid critics in Congress, and to trim another 1,400 from the Agriculture Department, whose budget would be sliced by $1.3 billion to a total of $5.1 billion.

But much of the savings in money and manpower would be diverted into welfare, labor, education, job retraining, youth assistance, and other arms of the antipoverty effensive.

★ ★ ★

SLIGHT CUTS

The much-publicized Johnson ax work on federal employment wound up as a net cut of only 1,200 jobs, or a shaving of less than one-20th of 1 per cent.

That would leave 2,511,200 on the civilian payroll when the fiscal year ends in mid-1965.

Message Gets Praise, Criticism

★ ★ ★

"A lot of people have said in the past that Johnson can't do this and can't do that," he said.

"But Johnson has done what he has set out to do in most instances.

"It is a realistic budget which Congress will do its best to keep within, if not under, his estimates," Mansfield said.

Sen. Norris G. Cotton, R-N.H., said Johnson's message was "full of economy - sounding phrases but short on real performance."

★ ★ ★

"For instance," he said, "it must be noted that the President is asking Congress to appropriate $1.4 billion more this year than was appropriated last year.

ACTUAL REDUCTION

"Another increase in the national debt ceiling, to a new all-time high, is requested and after all the fanfare about a reduction in government employment, his actual reduction amounts to cutting less than one federal employe out of every 2,000."

Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, found the budget "gratifying in that it is lower than we had reason to expect it would be several months ago."

But Rep. Ben F. Jensen, R-Iowa, senior GOP member on the appropriations group, promised that "We will cut this budget everywhere we can to find a soft spot and I think we can find $5 billion of $6 billion in soft spots in it."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., said that "It is especially gratifying to know that we have reached the point where we can hold the line on spending and still meet our commitments at home and abroad."

MAJOR ANSWER

Sen. Jacob M. Javits, R-N.Y., said he regretted that Johnson had committed himself "to the philosophy that sees in the tax cut the administration's major answer to our unemployment problem."

★ ★ ★

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said that tax reduction on which Johnson based his increased estimates of income won't help the unemployed, the farmers or the elderly, and that the deficit will run about $4.5 billion.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, said the proposed defense cuts, especially for the Air Force, "will need more justification than has thurs far been offered."

Urban Renewal Plan Hits Snag

A revised project plan, on which the future of Pontiac's R20 urban renewal project is riding, has hit a snag in the Urban Renewal Agency (URA) Regional Office in Chicago.

Local urban renewal officials have been notified that the plan needs more documentation before it can be processed by federal agencies according to James L. Bates, Pontiac's urban renewal director.

The revised plan, submitted to Chicago early in December, called for adjusting boundaries of the project, adding some 40 more structures to the aquisition list and changing certain land uses.

★ ★ ★

It also contained a complete budget revision designed to free federal funds to pay for excessive costs to date and finance future expansion and completion of the project.

It completely revised the R20 project plan and budget.

FINANCE EFFECTED

Failure to get the necessary approval of federal officials could effect both R20 project financing and the 1964 city budget.

Because the plan has been stalled, city officials have decided to shoot for a budget revision alone at this time, and work toward a plan to expand the project at a later date.

The City Commission is slated to take the first step in this direction tonight.

★ ★ ★

One of the items which federal officials require is a land marketability study for property along the south side of Auburn between Saginaw and the Perimeter Road, and the west side of the Perimeter Road south of Auburn.

REVISED PLAN

This land, marked for commercial development in the original R20 project plan, was changed to Residential-3 zoning as the site for high-rise apartments in the revised plan.

Federal officials say the city must show there is a market for this development before the revised plan can be processed.

Commissioners will be asked to approve a contract for the land marketability study with Real Estate Research Corp., of Chicago, tonight.

★ ★ ★

"In addition, we must submit more documentation on the eligibility of the project, including added information on the condition of each building," said Bates.

"We were told by federal officials last fall that these items weren't necessary, but now they want them.

LEGAL PROBLEMS

"This comes as a result of legal problems arising out of eligibility in several other urban renewal projects in the nation," Bates said.

Bates recommended that the city submit a revised budget plan now. His office expects to have that ready for commission approval in two weeks.

The R20 project is now operating on a $409,000 loan from the city. That money will be exhausted by about April.

★ ★ ★

The loan itself must be repaid by the city before Sept. 1. In addition, urban renewal must repay an outstanding loan of $3.8-million in July.

"The budget revision we now recommend would repay the $409,000 loan, and leave us enough money to retire the outstanding $3.8 million project loan note," Bates said.

"It should leave the project financially sound until the complete plan revision is fully documented and approved in Chicago."

The $409,000 loan would have to come from the 1964 city budget if a revised R20 budget plan isn't approved by the URA.

★ ★ ★

If this happened, it would leave the city with little or no capital improvement program for 1964.

Dams on Clinton River Deeded Over to County

A dam site at the state-owned Drayton Plains Fish Hatchery in Waterford Township has been deeded to Oakland County for $1, the State Conservation Department announced today.

The transaction was approved Friday by the State Conservation Commission, department officials reported.

They said the County Board of Supervisors should receive notification within the next few days.

★ ★ ★

The site, containing two dams on the Clinton River, was requested by the board of supervisors on the advice of County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

CAN RAISE LEVELS

He said the dams can be used to raise seven lakes in the township to desirable levels next spring. The lakes are among many in the county that have remained low over the past several summers.

Lakes that can be controlled by the dams, according to Barry, are Angelus, Loon, Silver, Upper, Silver, Schoolhouse, Mohawk and Wormer.

★ ★ ★

The dams will divert excess flow of the Clinton River into these lakes at peak periods, said Barry.

OTHER CONTROL

He added that the levels of eight other lakes in Waterford and Independence townships can be controlled similarily by a privately-owned dam at the Waterford Mill Pond.

Barry said he is negotiating with the dam owner, proprietor of the nearby Cascades Motel, for purchase of the damsite.

The commissioner said the county should be able to acquire it before next spring.

STUDYING LAKES

Meanwhile, engineers for the county are studying the various lakes before recommending at which levels they should be maintained.

Barry said he will take the recommendations to circuit court to have the levels legally established and for the authority to maintain them there.

City Schools Start Exams

However, the proverbial struggle to surmount the semester-end tests will be rewarding. The secondary pupils will receive a two-day holiday Thursday and Friday.

Teachers will use the two days to grade the exams and fill out final report cards.

Reveal Baker Gave Stereo Set to Johnson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson, then Senate Democratic leader, was given a free $580 stereo hi-fi set in 1959 by a local insurance dealer at the request of former Senate aide Robert G. (Bobby) Baker, it was disclosed today.

The incident was described in previously secret testimony given the Senate Rules Committee by Don B. Reynolds, who has figured in the Baker case as an unsurance agent and associate of Baker's who wrote an insurance policy on Johnson's life. Reynolds testified earlier this month.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Showers are forecast for tonight along the entire West Coast while snow is expected along the Canadian border in the Plains and Plateau areas. It will be colder in the coastal sections of the Middle Atlantic states, the Northern Plateau and the Plains; warmer in the Northeast Atlantic states, the Ohio, Tennessee and middle and lower Mississippi Valleys, the Southern Plains and the Gulf area.

City Set to Order River Plans

The City Commission is scheduled to order construction plans tonight for improving the Clinton River between Union and Opdyke.

The move was prompted by State Highway Department officials who have threatened to drop plans for construction of the proposed M59 freeway in Pontiac this year unless the city indicates its plans for the river.

The problem was first discussed by city and state officials last fall. In order to plan freeway bridges, the state needs a definite commitment from the city concerning local plans to improve the river bed east of the present Clinton River Drain project.

The bridges must be constructed to conform to the width of the river and long-range plans called for the Clinton to be widend and straightened in that area.

Originally, this had been part of the Clinton River Drain project, but it was deleted by commissioners in June 1962.

On tonight's agenda will be an agreement with Jones, Henry & Williams, of Toledo, the city's consulting engineers to prepare final drawings for the necessary improvements.

These are only improvements which directly affect M59 freeway construction. The total improvement project for that section of the river is estimated to cost some $1 million.

The state has been asking for local action for several months. Last week, according to city officials, the highway department said it would drop the M59 freeway from this year's schedule if no action was taken.

Presently, the freeway contracts are slated to be awarded in April and August.

In other business, commissioners will be asked to approve a real estate marketing study to determine the most feasible and acceptable method of disposing of urban renewal lands for redevelopment.

Currently, the city has a contract agreement with Charles L. Langs, naming him as redeveloper of urban renewal lands in the downtown area.

★ ★ ★

LAND SALES

The proposed study, by Real Estate Research Corp., would determine if it is best to sell land through a single redeveloper or put it up for competitive bidding on the open market.

The 1964 city budget will also be up for a public hearing tonight. Commissioners may also act on some proposed fringe benefits for city employes.

Plans are also expected to be ordered for some $146,000 in improvements at Pontiac Municipal Airport this summer.

Major Crimes Up in '63

Thirty-five hundred major crimes were committed in Pontiac in 1963, an increase of 231 over the preceding year, the Pontiac Police Department reported today.

Over 900 arrests were made in connection with these crimes.

Of the seven classifications of offenses, only rape and aggravated assault showed declines. There were five rapes compared with nine in 1962 and 144 assaults, a drop of 107.

★ ★ ★

There were six murders in the city as opposed to four in 1962. Nine negligent manslaughters were recorded in 1963, up six.

BURGLARIES INCREASE

Burglaries were responsible for 873 of the total offenses, an increase of 83.

Larcenies of goods over $50 totaled 491, a rise of 122, while thefts of items under $50 increased 121, from 1,501 to 1,622.

Police recovered 10 per cent of the $242,667 in property reported stolen. In 1962 15 per cent was recovered.

There was one more auto theft than the 175 reported in 1962 and all but a few of the cars have been recovered to date.

Trading Is Active

Stocks Move Generally Lower

On the other hand, there was some profit taking in American Telephone following its exceptional strength of recent sessions. "Telephone" was off ¼ at 146 on an opener of 2,000 shares and widened its loss slightly in later dealings.

Chrysler rebounded, gaining ½ at 38¾ on opening blocks of 15,000 and 5,000 shares. Ford gained a fraction. General Motors and American Motors eased.

STEELS LOWER

Kennedy Talks in Malaysia

Hoping for Summit on SE Asia Crisis

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met today with Malaysia's Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman, continuing the search for a peaceful solution to the Malaysian crisis.

Arriving from Manila on the third leg of his special presidential mission, Kennedy said, "We are beginning to make some progress."

His first meeting with Rahman lasted an hour and 40 minutes. Other talks were scheduled later in the day.

WITHDRAW TROOPS

Sukarno reportedly has insisted that before such talks British and Malaysian troops must be withdrawn from the Indonesian-Malaysian frontier on Borneo, where an undeclared guerrilla war is in progress. Kennedy told newsmen, "I am not aware of these demands."

After meeting with Macapagal in the Philippines, Kennedy said prospects for a summit are encouraging. The attorney general met last weekend in Tokyo with Sukarno and will confer with the Indonesian leader again Wednesday in Jakarta.

* * *

A few hours before Kennedy's arrival in the Malaysian capital, another peacemaker, Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk, appeared to have persuaded Rahman to meet the Philippine president in Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital, next month.

Rahman said such a meeting is "mostly likely" but deferred further comment until he completed his talks with Kennedy.

DIPLOMATIC INITIATIVE

Sihanouk's invitation was seen as an attempt to seize the diplomatic initiative from the United States. Irked by what he regarded as U.S. antagonism, the Cambodian ruler recently halted all American aid to his country.

Sihanouk arrived here unexpectedly Monday.

Asked if he planned to meet the prince, Kennedy replied, "I have no plans to see him, but I am always glad to meet anybody."

The Philippine ambassador to Cambodia, Modesto Farolan, who accompanied Sihanouk, said the proposed Rahman-Macapagal meeting would be preliminary to a three-power conference with Sukarno. The suggested date for the Rahman-Macapagal talks is Feb. 15-20, he said.

Sihanouk will leave for Manila Wednesday or Thursday to relay Rahman's acceptance to Macapagal. Then he may go to Jakarta to confer with Sukarno.

LBJ Budget Pares Billion Off Military

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson proposes to pare $1.1 billion from Pentagon spending in the next fiscal year, but still provide the nation "with the most formidable defense establishment the world has ever known."

The new budget for the year beginning July 1 recommends to Congress a total expenditure for military functions of $51.2 billion, compared with an estimated spending of $52.3 for the current year.

Johnson reasons that reduction is possible because of the momentum attained under the Kennedy administration programs of the past three years, in which the nation "has invested heavily in the improvement of its defenses."

NO CONCESSIONS

He writes: "We have chosen not to concede our opponents supremacy in any type of potential conflict, be it nuclear war, conventional warfare or guerrilla conflict.

"We have now increased the strength of our forces so that, faced with any threat of aggression, we can make a response which is appropriate to the situation.

"With present forces and those now planned, we will continue to maintain this vital military capability."

* * *

However, he cautioned that defense expenditures will remain high and said that "although we continue to seek a relaxation of tensions, we cannot relax our guard."

SAME REQUIREMENTS

He views the limited nuclear test-ban treaty as hopeful, but says neither that treaty nor other developments has made it possible to reduce defense requirements.

The reduction would be a net cut. Spending would go down for some items, but up for others, reflecting increased costs.

Military manpower would drop from 2,687,000 for the current year to 2,681,000 for the next year. But the expenditure for military personnel would climb from a present $14.18 billion to $14.66 billion, largely because of proposed pay increases for both active and retired personnel.

* * *

RETALIATORY FORCES

Orders for new missiles, ships and other weapons for the strategic retaliatory forces would but cut back sharply in the next fiscal year.

The total of "obligational availability" (the money available for use in ordering new equipment) would be trimmed by about $2 billion, bringing it down to $5.3 billion.

Johnson said that the strategic retaliatory forces "now consist of more than 600 operational long-range missiles—Atlas, Titan, Minuteman and the submarine-launched Polaris — together with a Strategic Air Command bomber force of about 1,000 aircraft."

* * *

(Other data indicates that the missile strength is about 800 and aircraft strength about 1,300 bombers.

VASTLY SUPERIOR

"The present and planned force," said Johnson, "are and will continue to be vastly superior to the Soviet nuclear force . . . we are clearly capable of destroying an aggressor even if forced to absorb a surprise first attack.

"Under these conditions, further substantial numerical increases in our strategic forces above those already planned would soon be of diminishing value."

The budget proposes an increase of only 50 Minuteman missilies, from 950 to 1,000, for the total operating or authorized through the end of the next fiscal year.

* * *

IMPROVED MISSILES

The President said extensive improvement programs to change the performance and range of the earlier versions of the Minuteman and Polaris weapons are planned.

He also disclosed that some of the "older, unprotected Atlas missiles" will be phased out of the strategic system. This appeared to indicate that about four squadrons of the early Atlas design will be pulled out eventually.

The withdrawal of the older B47 medium bombers is being stepped up—the present 10 wings will be cut to five by the end of the next fiscal year.

* * *

The B52 and B58 wings will remain at present strength of 14 for the former and two for the latter.

ARMY, MARINES

Authorized manpower strength for the Army would increase about 2,000, to 974,000.

The Navy wins six more atomic-powered attack submarines and 16 destroyer escorts under the new budget proposal—but there is no mention of authority for building another aircraft carrier.

ATTACK CARRIERS

Total attack carrier strength remains at 15.

Navy manpower would go up by 8,000 to 678,000. The Marines would stay at present strength of 190,000.

Manned aircraft procurement by the Air Force would increase slightly, from 840 this year to 889 next year. No new bombers are proposed.

* * *

College Tax Deduction Faces Big Opposition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A proposal to provide tax relief for persons helping to send students through college faced formidable opposition today in the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee planned to vote on the proposal by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., as it resumed closed sessions on the $11.1-billion tax cut bill passed by the House Sept. 25.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., indicated yesterday the panel might not finish work on the biggest tax cut in history until Thursday or Friday, instead of tomorrow as originally hoped.

The delay was to accommodate Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who has out-of-town speaking engagements today and tomorrow.

The Ribicoff proposal, offered as an amendment to the tax reduction bill, would provide tax credits for the first $1,500 of a college student's expenses, including tuition, books, fees and supplies.

COST HIGH

Several members of the tax-writing group were sympathetic to the Ribicoff proposal, but they were appalled at the cost — an estimated $750 million the first year, rising to about $1.5 billion annually in later years.

Administration forces, fearing that any revenue-losing revisions might make the bill top-heavy and jeopardize its final passage, felt confident they could marshal enough votes to defeat the Ribicoff plan.

Under Ribicoff's plan, a taxpayer could subtract from his final federal income tax bill up to $325 a year to pay the expenses of sending a person to a university or college.

The credit would be computed this way: 75 per cent of the first $200 in college expenses; 25 per cent of the next $300 and 10 per cent of the remaining $1,000. Thus, expenses of $300 would result in a credit of $175, while maximum expenses of $1,500 would give a top credit of $325 in one year.

In actions yesterday, the committee:

- Voted 9 to 8 to abolish the 10 per cent federal excise tax on tickets for legitimate theater productions but not for motion pictures or sports events. The amendment by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., would exempt admissions to opera, concerts, and live stage productions, including burlesque shows.
- Defeated 9 to 7 an attempt by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., to write a ceiling of $1,100 a year on the amount that could be subtracted from a taxpayer's federal tax bill for dividend income.
- Approved another Dirksen proposal to liberalize new restrictions on stock options.

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I am a 47-year-old widow. My problem is that at 62 I will have very small social security. I own my home, have $6,000 invested in mutual funds, $5,500 in savings and loan, and $9,000 in Series E bonds, all over ten years old. I do worry about the future. What do you advise me to do?" V. G.

(A) I cannot advise you to buy stocks, since all stocks involve a certain amount of risk and you can afford none at all. Your mutual fund shares give you a measure of protection against inflation. Your Series E bonds are now accruing interest at the rate of 3¾ per cent compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity.

I advise you to conserve your capital. At age 62, take out an annuity contract with a good life insurance company, retaining some savings for a contingency. Your annuity income would be relatively high at that age.

(Q) "Approximately a year ago, you gave in your column two insurance stocks, Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Would you recommend these same stocks or some other similar stocks for me to buy under a monthly investment plan for about a 20-year period?" S. N.

(A) I still think very highly of life insurance stocks, if held over a period of years.

I continue to like both Lincoln National Life and Franklin Life. Because of its recent relatively poor action, however, I have for the present stopped recommending Franklin, although I think the shares should be retained.

In place of Franklin I suggest Connecticut General Life, which has been showing better technical action. Since these issues — like other life stocks — are unlisted, they may not be bought under the Big Board's Monthly Investment Plan. You would have to work out your own plan, buying one or two shares a month, as your means permitted.
