A Calm Starkweather Pays for Murder Spree

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Mass killer Charles Starkweather, calm and self-controlled to the end, paid with his life today for a brutal blood letting 17 months ago.

One ironic hitch marked the electric chair execution: The prison physician who was to have pronounced Starkweather dead, suffered a heart attack and died.

Dr. B. A. Finkel, 75, was stricken just a half hour before the midnight execution. Alternates carried on.

The finale to the story of the ne'er-do-well ex-garbage hauler blamed for 11 knife and gun killings came at 1:05 a.m. (Pontiac time) in the white painted basement execution chamber at the Nebraska State Penitentiary.

At 1:01 a.m. he walked unassisted into the chamber, glanced at some 35 assembled witnesses, managed a kind of smile and ambled up to the bulky, wooden execution chair.

His head was shaven of its red hair and a trouser leg had been cut off to accommodate the electrical contacts.

Five times the unidentified executioner threw the switch. Five times the body stiffened.

Dr. P. E. Getscher, who had attended the stricken Dr. Finkel a half hour earlier, walked up. An attendant opened the killer's shirt. Dr. Getscher listened for heart beats, then pronounced the killer dead.

Tears rolled down the cheeks of Deputy Warden Greenholtz, one of the few who've had daily contact with the killer.

The execution followed a day of frantic effort by Starkweather's family and Washington attorneys to stave off the appointment with death.

In the final nine hours, the Lancaster District Court rejected two pleas for stays of execution. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black turned down a similar petition, and just 3½ hours before the execution, the Nebraska Supreme Court—after a hurriedly called night session—declined to intervene.

All hope gone, Starkweather's mother, Mrs. Guy Starkweather and other family members made a final call on the killer, then left by a side gate to escape some 25 newsmen and photographers milling about the main entrance.

Guy Starkweather, the father, who had handled the last ditch reprieve tries here, stayed away. He said he had "work to do," but did not elaborate.

Steel Strike Appears Inevitable

President Says Road Program in Jeopardy if Hike Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional opponents of an auto gas tax boost stood firm today despite President Eisenhower's warning that without new funds work on the vast interstate superhighway network would start shutting down next month.

Eisenhower said that without quick action to replenish the highway trust fund, work on the 41,000 mile highway system would cease in 36 states and the District of Columbia within a year.

Ten states, he said, would stop issuing new contracts during the next three months.

"We are on the verge of a stalemate in the orderly development of our vital interstate road network," the President declared in a statement last night. "This is a critical situation. . .and one which should give great concern to every motorist."

Eisenhower appealed to Congress anew to boost the federal gasoline tax by a 1-½-cents—from 3 to 4-½ cents a gallon.

It was expected Congress would not increase the tax despite the President's latest plea. Democratic leaders in the House, where all tax legislation must originate, have turned thumbs down on the hike. There was no indication that Eisenhower's statement changed their minds.

The House Public Works Committee more than a month ago overrode GOP opposition and voted 24 to 10 to permit continued allocation of new highway funds this summer despite the impending deficit. Congress then would have no alternative but to appropriate general funds from the treasury.

To Make Way for Parking Lot

Nine-month-old Frank Styber, who was plucked from the window of his burning Madison Heights home yesterday by a passing fireman, died last night as the result of third degree burns over 75 per cent of his body.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Styber and his sister Carol, 2, were trapped in their bedroom when fire broke out yesterday morning in the kitchen of their home at 2659? Brettonwoods Rd.

Mrs. Styber was sleeping in another room when the fire broke out. She awoke at the smell of smoke and tried to rescue her youngsters, but was unable to get through the flames in the kitchen. She ran out on the street crying for help.

A Madison Heights fireman, Milton Cunningham, who was passing the house at the time, reached in to the bedroom window and retrieved the boy. Another fireman brought Carol out shortly after.

Union Certain to Reject Offer for Status Quo

And Industry Is Firm in Stand Against Any Rise in Labor Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel union leaders meet today to frame an answer to an industry proposal to extend present labor contracts indefinitely beyond a scheduled Tuesday midnight expiration.

A number of members of the 33-man United Steelworkers Executive Board said privately they favored outright rejection of the extension.

Others suggested a union offer may be in the making that might also avoid a July 1 strike.

The steel companies called for a continuing delay of any July 1 strike. They proposed extending present contracts from their Tuesday midnight scheduled expiration until such time as either side gives a 10-day advance expiration notice.

However, the situation seemed to spell a steel strike next week in large capital letters.

David J. McDonald, USW president, declined to say in advance what course he will recommend to the board and later to the 171-man Wage Policy Committee.

Union leaders were known to feel that an extension of any kind likely would be useless because of the industry's position that it won't take on new employment cost obligations of any character.

There was speculation that the union may come up with a counter-proposal for a contract extension of fixed duration, possibly a month, with a proviso that any eventual contract changes be made retroactive to the present June 30 expiration date.

Top steel industry leaders were reported standing by in New York awaiting the union decision. No negotiating sessions were scheduled, as the bargaining hit its worst deadlock in the eight-week contract talks.

R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice-president of U.S. Steel Corp. and top industry spokesman, made two things clear Wednesday.

One was that steel firms are agreed they won't boost present labor costs. The other was that they are willing to negotiate indefinitely.

Long Claims Sanity in Surprise Interview

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

BATON ROUGE, La. — Gov. Earl K. Long Wednesday night assured the people of Louisiana he is sane and predicted he would win his freedom from a mental hospital in a court test Friday.

In a surprise radio interview taped in the ward where he rests 79 miles from his empty capital office, Long said:

"If I felt for one second that my mentality wasn't equal to the occasion of running the governor's office, I'd resign."

The night also brought a series of unexpected moves.

1. Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion filed papers reportedly contesting the jurisdiction of the Covington court where Long is to wage his habeas corpus freedom battle Friday.

2. Long's chief counsel, Joe Arthur Sims of Hammond, answered Gremillion's shift strategy by saying: "I'm satisfied we're in the right court."

3. Judge Robert D. Jones of Covington's 22nd Judicial District Court declined to indicate which way his judicial leanings would swing.

He said he would comment in court "when and if I am called upon to rule."

Sims said he taped the interview with the governor because of the press of phone calls on Long's health. New Orleans station WNOE broadcast it and then made it available to statewide radio and television stations.

The three he accused signed Long's original commitment papers and spirited him to Galveston, Tex., on May 30.

The governor called his wife "one of the most jealous women God has ever let live." He said

Satchmo Sinks Into Coma, Lies at Death's Door

Italian doctors said the leather-lunged musician had suffered heart disturbances which seriously complicated an attack of pneumonia. He fell ill with pneumonia Tuesday.

But Satchmo's American physician, Dr. Alexander Schiff, who accompanied him to this little central Italian town for a musical festival, insisted, almost tearfully, on another diagnosis.

"He never had any kind of heart attack," Schiff said. "He just blew himself out, that's all.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed two farm bills — one to cut wheat acreage and increase price supports for that commodity, the other designed to freeze tobacco price supports.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Steelworkers Union today said it is willing to extend present steel contracts to July 15 if the industry would make any economic gains retroactive to July 1.

Orpheum Theater Bows to Time

Pontiac Landmark to Fall

By PETE LOCHBILER

The stately Orpheum Theater on S. Saginaw street is being torn down to make way, probably, for a parking lot.

The Orpheum's screen has been darkened the past half-dozen years. It's life as a motion picture theater ended completely 3½ years ago.

Now, to avoid taxes, the theater is being leveled.

"It costs too much to leave it there unused," explained the owner, Mrs. Gladys R. Kleist of 11½ S. Saginaw.

The Orpheum was Pontiac's plushiest movie house when built by Mrs. Kleist and her late husband, A. J. Kleist Jr., in the heyday of the silent film.

Completed in 1925, it was the queen of a quintet of downtown theaters which the Kleists operated, including the Strand, Eagle, Oakland and the old Rialto.

Besides flickers, the Orpheum was host to traveling stock companies and vaudeville shows in the mid 1920s.

"The show people were usually amazed to find we had put in shower baths for them to use," Mrs. Kleist recalled.

The Orpheum was leased to the Butterfield theater chain in 1927 along with the Eagle and the Rialto.

Butterfield gave up the lease at the end of 1955 after the theater had served more than a generation of movie-goers.

For many years, there was a bowling alley on the third floor o' the Orpheum, but this too closed down on order of the city.

Heat, Moisture May Bother Us Until Saturday

That's the weather outlook for the Pontiac area tonight and Friday.

Scattered showers or thundershowers are predicted for all of Michigan tonight and tomorrow. The low tonight will be a warm 70 degrees.

Partly cloudy and warm with a chance of late afternoon showers and a high of 88 is tomorrow's forecast for the Pontiac area.

Warm with widely scattered late afternoon or evening thundershowers are forecast for Saturday.

Lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 69. The reading at 1 p.m. was 84.

Rains Force Delay Till Friday in Johansson, Patterson Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — The heavyweight title fight between champion Floyd Patterson and Sweden's Ingemar Johansson at Yankee Stadium today was postponed until 9:30 p.m. (EST) Friday night because of bad weather.

Promoter Bill Rosensohn said he made his decision earlier than planned because of threatening skies and condition of the infield at the stadium.

The 15-round bout had been scheduled for 9:30 p.m. (EST) tonight.

The city was swept by heavy early morning rains and afternoon showers were forecast. It cleared shortly after noon but another heavy rain set in just as Rosensohn announced the postponement.

The promoter said that Jim Thompson, superintendent of the stadium grounds, had advised that the infield was so soaked that 10 hours of sunshine would be needed to restore it to a firm condition.

The forecast was "showers and thunderstorms tonight and Friday with the temperature expected to be around 80 Friday." If a second postponement is necessary, the bout will take place Saturday night.

Oakland Xway Route Revealed

Sharp Public Reaction Expected at Hearing July 9 in Royal Oak

The State Highway Department today anticipated sharp public reaction to the proposed route for the southern portion of the upcoming Oakland County Expressway between Pontiac and Detroit.

A map was released today showing the general path which the $50,000,000 limited access highway is to follow.

Although most important details about route have already been made public, the map indicated for the first time the populous south Oakland County areas which will be bisected by the road.

A public hearing to air complaints of communities and property owners is scheduled for 2 p.m. July 9 in Royal Oak's Dondero High School.

Queen Sails Into Heavy Schedule at Montreal Today

MONTREAL (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II faced another packed 13-hour program in Montreal today. She was to make appearances at nine functions, two of them for children.

Friday, with President Eisenhower and Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, she will formally open the St. Lawrence Seaway, then cruise through part of the waterway on her yacht Britannia.

The Seaway opening and the cruise are the climactic events of the six-week tour of Canada which the Queen and Prince Philip began a week ago today.

The blue and white royal yacht berthed at Montreal with some unsightly but unimportant scratches on her gleaming hull sustained while Prince Philip was bringing her to the pierside at the town of Trois Rivieres earlier in the day.

Philip, who is an officer of the royal navy, was at the helm at Trois Rivieres when the yacht "It often happens in the St. scraped against the dock, scratch-Lawrence due to tricky currents," ing paint on her starboard side the yacht's skipper, Rear Adm. near the stern. Peter Dawnay, said dryly. "A

Seaway Roundup Inside

What's expected during the ceremonies? Who'll be on hand? How do sailing men like the new Seaway, unofficially open since April? Has the Queen been well-received so far in her tour of Canada?

★ ★ ★

Approaching Montreal, the Britannia passed American warships and Soviet freighters. American sailors in summer whites lined up in tight formations on the decks, and the ships exchanged flag salutes.

Except for an hour's ceremony at Trois Rivieres, it was an easy day for the Queen. She looked fresh and rested during her brief appearance on deck after the yacht berthed. She and Philip presided at dinner aboard the Britannia for 47 Montreal guests Wednesday night.

Eisenhower, who shuns the U. S. presidential yacht, will board Elizabeth's plush Britannia Friday and cruise with the Queen along 31 miles of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

A cruise aboard the six-million dollar Britannia will take them to Beauharnois, Que., from the seaway entrance at St. Lambert.

Friday, in less than 12 hours the President will fly, walk, motor and sail about 1,000 miles.

Flying from Washington, Eisenhower will land in his plane Columbine III at the St. Hubert Air Base. This jet fighter center eight miles east of Montreal is a unit in the North America Air Defense network that maintains contact 24 hours a day with NORAD headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. About 17,000 persons, some of them Americans, work at St. Hubert.

Elizabeth will meet the President there.

Even during the royal greetings a group of pilots will be in the ready room, set to take off in CF-100 jet interceptors if northern radar stations signal an attack.

"We've got radar watching out for the enemy and also keeping an eye on the weather," a Canadian Air Force officer said. "We are prepared for both. We'll do the welcoming inside a hangar if it rains."

Pageant-loving Montrealers, most of whom had a day off work yesterday to attend a parade honoring French Canada's patron Saint Jean Baptiste, were expected to take French leave today to see their queen.

Although today was a big day where most Montrealers were concerned, an even bigger one shaped up for tomorrow.

Most major stores on St. Catherine street, the city's main shopping artery, and hundreds of smaller shops flew flags.

Oakland to Get Junior College

Lutherans to Build $6 Million School in West Bloomfield

The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod voted last night to build a $6,000,000 college in West Bloomfield Township for training ministers and teachers for Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

Opposition threatened for a time to delay a vote until today. The Missouri Synod convention is being held in San Francisco.

The Rev. Frederick S. Falkenroth Jr. of Omaha, Neb. led the opposition, insisting that it would be more economical to expand a senior college at Fort Wayne, Ind. into a four-year college than to build the new junior college in Michigan.

Dr. Edwin T. Bernthal of Detroit, a member of the Synod's Board of Directors, urged approval "to fill in the vacuum because there is no longer a junior college at Fort Wayne."

Dr. Bernthal also told the delegates that the expense of building on land already acquired in Oakland "will never be less than it is right now."

The college will be built on a 140-acre site, already purchased for approximately $600,000 at 15 Mile and Middle Belt roads, near Walnut Lake.

Where the Synod should establish a junior college was one of the many convention issues, according to the Rev. Gilbert Otte, pastor of Detroit's Trinity Lutheran Church and public relations director of the Michigan District of the Synod.

Senators Call Thompson

Jack D. Thompson, Flint Teamster awaiting sentence for arson in the fire that killed Frank Kierdorf, is on the initial draft of witnesses that the Senate Rackets Committee had on call today as a new Teamster probe got under way in Washington.

The Senate committee also had Teamster President James R. Hoffa on tap as it began investigation into whether Hoffa has taken steps to clear his union of corruption and wrongdoers.

Thompson, a business agent for Flint Teamster Local 332, was to be asked if he is still on the Teamster payroll and whether union funds went into his trial.

Before the committee are reports that shakedown tactics have been a continuing thing in the Teamsters Union.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced he has chosen as a starting point a situation involving some officials of Teamster Local 211 in Pittsburgh.

He said the committee will look into allegations that these officials used shakedown tactics against the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, as recently as a couple of months ago, and finally called a strike against the newspaper.

Testimony McClellan said will provide part of the background against which Hoffa will be called to the witness stand Friday to tell what he has done about fulfilling a pledge to clean up his union.

"There has been no cleanup," McClellan told a news conference at which he announced his plans.

He said testimony would reflect on some other unions, too, but that he still regards the Teamsters Union as the worst of offender.

McClellan said he hopes the evidence will be enough to jar loose Senate-passed labor legislation now pending in the House Labor Committee.

Expressway Path Indicated in Area

East of Pontiac, the highway is to run in a north and south direction east of Opdyke road.

At M24 it is to connect with the northern portion of the Oakland County Expressway, which is to be under contract between Pontiac and Flint by the end of next year.

The highway department plans to build the portion between Pontiac and Detroit in two phases.

The section between Pontiac and 11½ Mile road is scheduled to be under contract by the end of 1961 at a cost of $24,000,000.

The section between 11½ Mile road and Detroit is not definitely scheduled yet, a highway spokesman said.

But it won't get started until after 1962, because highway funds until then have already been budgeted for other roads, he explained.

It is anticipated that right-of-way costs for the first 12½ miles northeast of Detroit will push the price of that section up to $26,000,000.

For the most part, the expressway is to follow Stephenson highway from 8 Mile to 11 Mile roads, mainly at surface level but depressed at important intersections.

LONG STRUGGLE SEEN

It may take months or years to get Hazel Park, Royal Oak and Madison Heights to agree to the exact route of the expressway, the highway spokesman admitted.

Eventually, the Oakland County Expressway is to tie in with the Walter P. Chrysler Expressway planned on Detroit's east side.

The road is to become part of the national interstate highway system and is to be financed 90 per cent through federal road funds.

Entrances and exits along the route are planned for 8 Mile road, 9 Mile road, 10 Mile road, 12 Mile road, 13 Mile road, Rochester road and Stephenson highway, southeast of Crooks road, Adams road, Square Lake road, Auburn road and Mt. Clemens road.

Calm Starkweather Pays for Death Spree

Starkweather, five-foot-five and bow-legged, vaulted into notoriety in January of 1958.

Accompanied by his 14-year-old sweetheart, Carol Ann Fugate, he set out on a killing spree. Nine victims in and around Lincoln and one in Wyoming were counted in three days as authorities sought the fugitive fugitives.

Starkweather, following capture near Douglas, Wyo., admitted an earlier unsolved slaying in Lincoln to bring his death count to 11.

He was tried specifically in the shooting of Robert Jensen, Bennet, Neb., schoolboy whose body and that of his girl friend, Carol King, were found in a storm cave about 20 miles from Lincoln.

INSANITY REJECTED

Jurors rejected an insanity plea and recommended death.

Carl, tried six months later, was convicted of first-degree murder for aiding and abetting Starkweather and drew a life sentence.

The romance by then had cooled. Starkweather was a principal prosecution witness against the girl.

The execution date was the fifth set for Starkweather in the past half year. Appeals and legal maneuvers stayed all but the last one.

The Day in Birmingham

Watch 59ers Depart; Girl Scouts Await Trip

BIRMINGHAM — Area residents watched the 59ers roll off to Alaska this morning.

The latest group of modern-day pioneers, who had been encamped at the State Fairgrounds, made its way out Woodward avenue at about 7:30 a.m. this morning.

Red lights were no barrier. A two-car police escort cleared a path ahead and kept the band rolling.

The highway fleet swung south of Pontiac on Square Lake road and then north on Telegraph to Dixie highway.

Though they said they had learned lessons from the first 59ers group, the new pilgrims were driving several vehicles which looked like they might not reach Flint, let alone Alaska.

Some of the trucks appeared to be veterans of many highway wars. One seemed to be gasping its last breaths as it tugged a house trailer along.

Its position in the caravan was no surprise: last.

Eleven Birmingham Girl Scouts are in the final stages of preparation for their trip to the National Senior Scout Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colo., July 3-12.

The girls have spent the past six months training for the roundup under the direction of Mrs. Peter Higby, local scout leader.

They are scheduled to leave Birmingham June 30, and will be among 10,000 campers expected to attend the roundup.

Bloomfield Township and Pontiac Police this morning were still debating the charge to be placed against David Eastham, 24, who with his brother Richard, 19, is accused of last week's armed robbery of a Pontiac man in Bloomfield Township.

David, of 474 Oakland Ave., Pontiac, could be charged with kidnapping or armed robbery or both.

Police also are seeking information from David in connection with other recent robberies in the area, according to Bloomfield Township Police Chief Norman Dehnke.

Richard, of the same address, is to be arraigned Monday in Oakland County Circuit Court on armed robbery charges.

Summer playgrounds in Birmingham will open Monday and are set to operate through July 31.

Playgrounds at Adams School, Pembroke Park, Pierce School, Midvale School and Quarton School and Eton Park will operate from 9 until 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. daily with trained park supervisors on hand during these times.

It is designed for pre-schoolers and first-graders. Half-hour sessions will be held on the library lawn at 3 p.m. each Thursday during July.

On the program for the Birmingham Senior Men's Club meeting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in the Community House is a talk by widely-traveled Mrs. Ruth Shain of Birmingham.

Mrs. Shain will discuss her recent trip to Germany and will show slides made during her tour.

Following the meeting, the regular weekly discussion group will meet.

to operate safely. The Orpheum management said there wasn't room for one.

There the matter rested and the building idled.

Tuesday a demolition team entered the building.

In three months, the theater will be gone and the land made available for parking if no other plan materializes in the meantime, Mrs. Kleist said.

'Teamster Paid for Labor Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee heard testimony today that a Teamsters Union official drew premium pay and other benefits from the Pittsburgh, Pa. Sun-Telegraph as a price for labor peace.

William J. Poch, the newspaper's business manager, said the benefits to Theodore Cozza, president of Pittsburgh Teamsters Local 211, had included payment of $1,032 in telephone charges while Cozza allegedly ran a numbers betting racket from his office at the newspaper.

Poch said the paper finally had fired Cozza as supervisor of its drivers last May because Cozza had threatened Irving Lees, an efficiency expert.

The testimony opened hearings at which the committee seeks to show that shakedowns have been a continuing thing in the Teamsters Union and that Congress should pass some tough corrective labor laws.

Poch testified that Cozza actually did "very little work" for the newspaper but was paid a full salary plus an amount equal to the most overtime paid to any driver.

He said the arrangement with Cozza actually was written into the labor contract with the Teamsters after the union had staged a seven-week strike in 1956. He said the payments had continued until Cozza was fired about a month ago.

Actually, Poch said, Cozza's job was that of a substitute driver for the Sun-Telegraph rather than supervisor of drivers.

Local Reservists Primed for Big McCoy Parade

(Editor's Note: This is the first report on Pontiac's 2nd Battalion Army reservists who are undergoing two weeks of active duty at Camp McCoy, Wis. The reporter, a reserve Sgt. Joe Singleton, a member of The Pontiac Press editorial staff.)

By JOE SINGLETON

It took no time at all for the unit to pare down its collective paunch since it arrived at the 63,000-acre military reservation Sunday.

The civilian-soldiers officially began their two-week active duty training stint at 9 a.m. Monday.

SINGLETON

Commanded by Maj. Frank D. Thompson of 967 Berwick Blvd., the battalion is now working smoothly throughout its ranks.

It's quite a contrast from previous summer training sessions when most of the men in the battalion were members of the crack 703rd Medium Tank Battalion.

The ex-tankers, who used to scour the hills and tank ranges with 50-ton M47 and M48 tanks firing giant 90-millimeter cannons, are now tackling the job of becoming proficient foot soldiers.

Many of the reservists are finding out that the role of the "dogface" GI is a tiring one.

But, from the reactions of these tanker-turned-infantry soldiers, it is evident they don't mind the transition. They have acquired that certain pride that accompanies the infantry soldier.

The troops spent Monday studying field fortifications as a review of basic infantry training. Tuesday and Wednesday they primed for today's 70th Division parade.

They look forward to the overnight bivouac next week, the annual feature of the summer field training exercises. During the bivouac, the troops will eat and sleep in the field under simulated combat conditions.

Drouth Harms Michigan Crops

Kent County Records Show Rainfall for June 2 Inches Below Normal

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dry, hot June weather this month apparently is taking its toll of some west Michigan crops. Agricultural spokesmen estimate $1 million damage to strawberries alone.

William Rupp, Kent County farm agent, said:

"The strawberry crop in the whole west state has been seriously cut down except for irrigated areas such as in the Berrien County truck area.

Water scarcity through lack of rain, he said, has resulted in damage to half the Kent strawberry crop, a loss placed at about $2,000,000. "We've lost the peak of strawberry production for northern areas."

"If this goes on two more weeks," Rupp continued, "we'll definitely have drouth conditions on all soils and all field crops and vegetables—excluding fruit. A good rainfall now could restore most crops outside of strawberries."

U.S. Weather Bureau records show .21 inches of rain for Kent County thus far in June is two inches under normal for the period.

Northward from Kent County, said Rupp yesterday after a tour, oats are turning brown in Newago and Oceana counties. He predicted a reduced second cutting of hay unless rain falls in quantity.

Rupp said drouth severity will be shown as the season progresses on field crops as well as on tomatoes and string beans.

Reveal $10 Million Bequest of Princess

DETROIT (AP) — Ten million dollars was left to an adopted daughter and the Rockefeller Foundation in a will filed in probate court by the estate of Princess Ella della Torre e Tasso of Lake Como, Italy.

The princess, 84, was a granddaughter of Hiram Walker, founder of the distillery firm of Hiram Walker & Sons Inc. of Walkerville, Ont. She died Saturday in Italy.

The will directed that two million dollars and the Princess' Lake Como village go to the Rockefeller Foundation "to promote international understanding."

The will also provides for a $50,000 student loan fund at the University of Michigan in memory of the Princess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin H. Walker.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will lay the cornerstone of the Capitol's new east front at Masonic ceremonies at noon July 4.

J. George Stewart, architect of the Capitol, made the announcement today in behalf of the special commission overseeing the construction. He said July 4 was chosen because that was the date in 1851 when President Millard Fillmore laid the cornerstone of the Capitol's House and Senate wings.

* * *

The president is not a Mason. His participation will be apart from the lodge's own ceremonies.

Effect of Steel Strike May Not Be Too Bad

Should the giant steel strike be called July 1 as scheduled, the pinch on other industry would not be as great as the steelworkers would like us to believe.

First to be hurt will be the workers themselves, and next the steel mills. According to a survey made by the New York Times, small factories and construction operations would idle some 100,000 across the country in the first month.

However, warehouse stocks and reserves in the hands of most large users appeared to ward off any acute hardship for at least two months.

Some of the country's biggest corporations in the automobile, electrical and other major industries have expressed confidence that they could go for three months or more without fresh steel deliveries.

Reports from all centers seem to indicate that most of the difficulties anticipated from a steel shutdown would stem from the uneven distribution of inventories, rather than over-all shortages. It's possible that such spot shortages would force widespread layoffs in particular companies long before their total inventory of metal is exhausted.

Just what effect it will have in this immediate area is hard to estimate at this time. Most auto makers appear to be in a good position to withstand a strike from eight to ten weeks. Word seems to be that they have built their inventories to a level that will permit completion of runs on all 1959 models and a start of a month to six weeks on 1960 cars.

This is conjecture and cannot be completely substantiated. But off the record, the auto manufacturers are not too concerned. At this writing the situation is further eased by the availability of more than 1,000,000 cars in finished form ready for sale. This would be the equivalent of a six or seven week stock at May sales rates.

But if the deadlock remains between the United Steelworkers and the 12 leading steel producers, the mills that produce 90 per cent of all our steel will start banking their furnaces this weekend.

It's a shame to think that a settlement could not be effected without working this tremendous hardship on so many innocent families.

Navy Explains Why Guns Didn't Operate

One lesson that again has been impressed on us by the Communist two MIG jet fighter attack on an American Navy patrol plane off North Korea, is that Communists ignore international law.

Fortunately our crippled plane, victim of the 33rd clash between American and Communist planes in the past 10 years, made its way back to Japan with only one wounded crew member, the tail gunner. This is the first Navy plane to survive such an attack and emphasizes the perilous nature of peacetime duty. Since World War II, some 112 Americans have been lost in air clashes with Communists.

When the crew of the plane was interviewed, it was learned that rear guns were put out of action by Communist fire and that the other guns were useless because "hard to get parts were missing." This caused a national outcry and demands for investigations and courts marshal.

The truth is that the guns had been removed deliberately to make room for infrared detection apparatus capable of detecting Communist installations by heat given off by concentrations of machinery and equipment. Understandably the Navy didn't want to reveal its detection methods and tried to cover up.

Half truths have a way of backfiring and the whole truth wouldn't have caused as much damage to our defense department as the charges of military mismanagement and inadequate protection of our servicemen.

The incident is a timely reminder of the need for greater emphasis on the means for meeting and discouraging attacks of this kind.

David Lawrence Suggests:

Special Envoys Can Hold Summit

WASHINGTON — There's a way out of the dilemma that has arisen over the holding of a "summit" conference between the East and West. It's by appointing a special ambassador to represent the President of the United States. He could sit indefinitely either with the Soviet foreign minister or any special ambassador that Nikita Khrushchev might appoint.

LAWRENCE

The conference could take up all subjects where the foreign ministers recently left off. The sessions could go on for weeks or months if necessary. If talk can solve anything, this would afford every opportunity for exhaustive discussions.

Whenever the new conference reached agreement on any substantial points this could be immediately referred to the heads of state for final approval. President Eisenhower himself just a few days ago paved the way for such a conference when he said:

"There is developing in the world sort of an idea that heads of government can take themselves away from their normal posts and go and do a lot of things that cannot be otherwise accomplished.

"Now, the foreign ministers of free countries are people who go to conferences clothed with a very great deal of authority. The governments involved normally try to establish limits within which their foreign minister can negotiate. He communicates with his own government every single night. There are exchanges of telegrams and cables to keep him informed and to keep the government informed so that from the standpoint of traditional diplomacy the foreign minister or his ambassadors or the government's ambassadors provide the mechanism through which these agreements are supposed to be obtained.

"Now, everybody knows that when you are dealing in a dictatorship there is only one man finally that can make the decision a firm decision, a final decision. Therefore, there has grown up what I believe to be a false doctrine that we should revamp our entire diplomatic procedures in order to go to a 'summit' meeting every 30 days or so.

"Now, from my viewpoint, the dictator can give his foreign minister just as much flexibility in dealing with these troublesome and tough questions as can a diplomacy. Therefore, I think to assume that foreign ministers have now become useless, that they are no good and to throw them away and make every single head of government or head of state spend his time in work that has been the function of specialists in this line, I think is a step backward in diplomacy. This is like Alexander and Napoleon meeting on a raft in a river and settling the fate of the then world.

"You can't do that. And, to my mind, if these foreign ministers' meetings cannot prepare the ground and at least sow some of the seed for accord, then I see no use whatsoever for trying to have a harvest when there is no planting and no tilling."

This is sound doctrine. It is an effective approach to the problem of negotiation. For the business of big governments should not be disrupted while the heads of the departments of foreign affairs spend all their time in Geneva or some other remote place as matters in their respective fields involving other governments and equally important subjects are neglected.

The U. S. government already has tried out the special ambassador technique. At Geneva, for instance, right now James J. Wadsworth is serving effectively as special ambassador at the conference which is negotiating on the complex problem of suspending nuclear tests. Wadsworth has been at it st eadily for more than six months. He is well informed because he concentrates every day on a single subject. He has become a specialist in his field and is relied on by the secretary of state for guidance and advice step by step in carrying on the difficult and delicate negotiations.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Feed Baby Ripe Banana and See How It Thrives

A 3-year-old child with what doctors call "anorexia nervosa" (absence of appetite, refusal to take food) not only refused all food but regurgitated liquid food fed through stomach tube. Finally the child was offered a ripe banana. This proved acceptable and then the child began to take other food in more or less normal amount.

DR. BRADY

But when no more banana was given, there was a relapse. Only when more banana was given, did the child resume eating other food.

For obstinate chronic constipation in young infants or young children, the prescription is the same—ripe banana and plenty of it.

In the Brady Baby Book (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I say: At the age of four or five months begin feeding the baby ripe bananas daily. Only a teaspoonful a day at first, gradually increased, week by week, until the baby takes half a banana at the age of 8 months. This solves the constipation problem and makes puny, sickly, badly nourished infants thrive.

Banana is an excellent source of vitamins A and C and a good source of vitamin B. Ripe raw banana also contains enough vitamin C to prevent and cure scurvy.

For instance in the case of an infant 8 months old with scurvy (marked pallor, severe anemia, bleeding gums, rapid heart, tenderness of the legs which makes the baby cry when handled or moved), a banana milk diet proved curative. One ripe raw banana whipped into a pint of milk was the formula—such mixture constituted the diet—the baby took about half a pint of the mixture every four hours.

One mother writes:

"When I was carrying my third child, I read in your column about giving banana. Having had such a time with my first two with colic and constipation, I decided to follow your advice. Had my baby at home on a Sunday and fed him banana on Monday. He has been a happy, healthy baby." (Mrs. B.G.M.)

Come, come, Mrs. M. You didn't follow my advice. I have never advised banana for babies less than four months old—although I'll admit that perhaps that's because I'm old fashioned and hidebound about it.

However, I hope I'm not too old to learn new tricks. If other mothers have had similar experience in feeding banana they should tell me about it, for the sake of countless other babies who otherwise may not get their banana mana.

I work until 2 a. m. and drive from Union Lake to Crescent Lake six nights a week, and many a time I've run off the pavement because I can't see when people refuse to dim their lights. I've also followed cars when the driver could barely keep on the road. I thought drunk drivers go to jail.

Urges Everyone to 'Buy American'

I hope Indignant isn't one of the thousands that are buying foreign-made cars. Looks to me like everyone that buys one is cutting his own throat, especially in a community such as this that depends on the auto industry to survive.

Take all the auto plants out and what businesses would survive after that buying power is cut off?

People strike for higher wages, then go buy foreign-made cars, clothes and hundreds of other articles. Read an article that said it isn't necessary to buy things in foreign countries when visiting there because you can buy all the same things here.

Maybe we should all wake up and buy American produced goods and put our own people to work.

How About It

'Let's Bring Back the Whipping Post'

These beatings suggest just one thing and that is the whipping posts should be brought back and used all over the U. S. Men with those ideas do not mind going to a clean jail where they are well fed, etc., but they are scared of getting a whale of a beating themselves and that is just what they deserve. An old fashioned whipping post is the only way to appeal to these beasts and public whipping posts should be started again.

We certainly have a fine bunch of state legislators, don't we? When I heard on the morning newscast that those birds were voting themselves a raise in the middle of our financial muddle, I almost had a stroke. Sees Need for God in People's Actions

Reading the daily papers, walking or riding through the city streets, seeing and reading about the way people are killing, stealing, living in sin from day to day makes me feel like taking my Bible and going through the street, in the homes, singing and praying and truly teaching the word of God.

The Spirit of God doesn't let one act like people are acting today. It keeps you and guides you.

One cannot do this teaching alone. When ministers go to their conventions, they should start a nationwide crusade. Working together this way they may be able to reach many men, women and children that don't know God.

As individuals, let us start a daily prayer hour in our homes, asking God to give us courage, understanding and help to be the kind of Christians who can go through the city helping and teaching those that don't know and those that don't believe.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Kettering Was Positive Thinker

Charles Kettering symbolizes the positive thinkers who created this wonderful Republic and who have been its chief supporters ever since. Notice the negative thinking of Napoleon and other trained engineers shown below. Their minds have congealed. So teach your children to challenge outmoded customs.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

He was partly responsible for our convenient modern automobiles, since he invented the self-starter.

DR. CRANE

But he also cracked many other obstacles in the way of efficient manufacturing.

In early days, for example, it required almost 3 weeks for a car to be painted. Mr. Kettering challenged such slowness. He was informed there was no speedier method, for the paint had to dry between coats.

Then he prodded researchers till he found a fast spraying paint that would dry almost instantly.

At another time, when he was expounding his theory about a self-starter to eliminate the dangerous inconvenience of hand cranking a car, a dignified engineer in the crowd rudely interrupted.

"He doesn't know what he is talking about," was the gist of this engineer's protest. "He is violating the principles of sound engineering. It can't be done."

But Mr. Kettering did it!

And his quizzical frame of mind throughout life caused him to add much to our civilization. And it injected far more zest into his own sojourn here on Earth.

CONGEALED BRAINS

Many highly trained men have congealed thinking. They can't stretch their imagination. Their minds have lost all elasticity.

Napoleon was a classical example. When Robert Fulton actually demonstrated a workable submarine right in front of Napoleon's eyes and sank a ship, Napoleon still didn't even appreciate what he saw.

Gen. Billy Mitchell suffered similar martyrdom by American army men who also had congealed minds.

Robert Fulton had deliberately selected Napoleon as the most likely prospect for his submarine, figuring Napoleon had the greatest need for such a unique method for destroying England's ships.

Fulton was thus shocked and discouraged to find such apathy. So he chucked the whole idea of submarines.

Fortunately, he turned his elastic mind into building passenger steamships, so civilization has profited from his pioneering.

MILWAUKEE MYOPIA

At a public lecture in Milwaukee about 20 years ago, I suggested that in lieu of interest payments on our multi-billion dollar war debt owed by England, we be given a strip of land through western Canada so we could construct a highway linking Alaska with continental U.S.A.

★ ★ ★

In the forum following my talk, an engineer stood up and told the audience I was absolutely impractical even to think of such a highway, for it was an engineering impossibility to construct such a road.

Yet the Alcan Highway was in existence a few years later!

Such negative thinking is decidely unAmerican, for our great Republic was founded and has been nurtured by men who think POSITIVELY.

When I was a young man, I was foreman of a gang of tree surgeons. Our slogan was not too correct in its English but mighty good psychology, for we said: "If we can't, there can't nobody!"

"The man who really wants to do something," runs an old adage, "finds a way. The other kind finds an excuse."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

KNOT THEM—The safe way to dispose of plastic garment bags, Plastics Industry, Inc., advises, is to tie them in knots and throw them in covered garbage cans. The industry is starting a campaign to make sure the bags are handled safely.

2 Underground Centers Backed

Committee OKs Both for Civil Defense but Ike Wanted Only One

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved funds to construct underground civilian defense centers near Dallas, Tex., and Boston, Mass., and rejected a request for a new jet propulsion laboratory at Pasadena, Calif.

It overrode President Eisenhower's proposals in both cases.

The President had requested $2,700,000 to construct a single underground operational center near Dallas for the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. That agency had selected Denton, Tex., for the project. He had asked for nine million dollars to modernize and expand the space administration's jet laboratory at Pasadena.

★ ★ ★

In an omnibus $627,568,845 appropriation bill, the committee recommended four million dollars for the underground centers. Members said that the extra money would permit construction of a project at Harvard, Mass., near Boston, in addition to the one in Texas.

County Draft Quota for August Is 31

The State Selective Service headquarters has ordered the three Oakland County draft boards to deliver 31 men for Army induction in August. This was part of a total call of 513 men from the state.

Oakland boards 65 and 67, located in Pontiac, must meet a quota of 18 men.

According to Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state director, half of the state call is expected to be filled by volunteers. Nearly half of the men needed from the state are to be called from Wayne County.

Heart Massage Fails to Save Injured Boy

Dr. T. E. Wade opened the boy's chest and massaged the heart for 90 minutes until its action was restored. It failed to save James' life, however. He died Wednesday afternoon.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Arnold who live near Tyrone, Okla. Dr. Wade said a heart ailment caused the boy's collapse while he was being treated.

Floods May Be Worst in a Century

Terror Grips Canton as Waters Rise

HONG KONG (AP)—The South China metropolis of Canton was described today as a city of terror, its 1½ million people facing what may be its most catastrophic flood in a century. But the city's main dikes were reported still holding at midday.

The independent newspaper Sing Tao Jih Pao said Canton is "a city of terror under the threat of the most disastrous flood in its history. More than one million people are living in constant dread of being drowned or starving to death if the dikes on the Peh or North river cave in."

Torrential rains have swollen the Peh and Si or West rivers, that converge with the Tung or East River above Canton and flow to the South China Sea through the Pearl River estuary. The rains reportedly continued in the Peh watershed Wednesday, but the Tung was said to have begun dropping.

Details on the situation were scarce and reports contradictory. But they show China is still vulnerable to age-old natural calamities.

Since assuming power in 1949, the Chinese Communists have begun vast projects to curb floods, droughts and insect plagues that over the centuries have meant the difference between starvation and survival for the poverty-stricken Chinese peasant.

Pro-Nationalist and independent newspapers quoted travelers from Canton as saying parts of the big South China port already are under flood waters ranging from knee-high to 10 feet.

They said low-lying areas of Canton have been flooded for a week and residents are using sampans to get through the streets.

A million acres of rice, jute, peanuts and sugar cane have been flooded in the interior of Kwangtung, the broadcast said, and 200,000 people driven from their homes.

Peiping's only report on casualties so far has listed 187 persons dead, 29 missing and 204 injured. Sources in Hong Kong say these figures are probably considerably less than the actual toll.

Young GOP Head Denies Nixon Win

DOWNS, Kan. (AP)— The new national chairman of the Young Republican federation doesn't consider his election as a triumph for the Nixon faction.

★ ★ ★

The election of 35-year-old Ned Cushing at the federation's recent convention in Denver had been interpreted as a victory for supporters of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination over supporters of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

★ ★ ★

Asked for his views, Cushing replied: "I don't think any candidate for chairman campaigned on any Rockefeller-Nixon issue. Our bylaws prohibit officers from entering any primary election situation."

Both Sides Mark 9th Anniversary of Korean War

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The ninth anniversary of the start of the Korean War was marked today by:

1. A repeat of the Communist charge that John Foster Dulles touched off the war.

2. An American denial of this, and a statement that the Reds started the conflict with Soviet backing.

3. Anti-American rallies in Communist China, North Korea and Tokyo.

4. Rallies in South Korea featuring banners inscribed "Fight the Communists to achieve unification" and "Remember the day of disgrace."

Beauties Flee Mice

CLIFFSIDE PARK, N.J. (AP) —Judging for New Jersey's Miss Universe candidate was recessed Wednesday night when six girls fled the dressing room. The contest was resumed after three white mice were caught. Officials said a prankster apparently had put them there.

Youth Dies, Girl Hurt as Drag Race Kills

JACKSON (AP) — What deputies said was a drag race ended in the death of a youth and the serious injury of his girl friend last night in the village of Springport, 20 miles northwest of here.

Also involved were three cars and a truck.

Deputies said Newcomer and Larry Swan, 16, of Springport, were racing side by side through the village when they met oncoming traffic.

Unable to return to the right-hand lane, deputies said Newcomer swerved to the left, clipping the rear of a pickup truck and crashing into a tree.

Eliminate Loyalty Oath

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a vote of 12-2, the Senate Labor Committee has approved a bill to eliminate a loyalty oath requirement from the National Defense Education Act.

Billion Unborn Would Suffer

Effect of H-Attack Gauged

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than a billion Americans of future generations could be killed or disabled by an H-bomb attack on the United States in the opinion of a University of Michigan specialist in hereditary effects.

Dr. James V. Neel of the Michigan Medical School's department of human genetics emphasized yesterday that his forecast was based on rough estimates and oversimplification of data on biological changes caused by radiation.

He gave this answer to the question: Could the human race survive?

"It is my opinion, which cannot be backed up by any careful calculation, that we can survive, but at the cost we have just discussed."

Report Brigitte Bardot Expecting First Baby

PARIS (AP)— Brigitte Bardot, seven days a bride, today was reported expecting her first baby.

The blonde film star was married to leading man Jacques Charrier June 18. He is her second husband.

This week Brigitte put out word that she would have to take it easy this summer because of her health. Today film circles said she is pregnant.

USAF Plane Forced to Land

U.S. State Department Demands Explanation of Dominican Republic

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—The pilot of a U. S. Air Force transport plane says the Dominican Republic plane that forced him to land Tuesday fired a warning machine gun burst and came dangerously close.

"He had hot guns and we weren't about to resist him with an unarmed C47," Maj. George A. Williams told a news conference Wednesday.

The C47 transport with seven men aboard was forced to land in Ciudad Trujillo after being escorted for an hour and a half by the single-seat F51 Dominican fighter.

The U. S. State Department has filed a complaint on the incident with the Dominican government.

The transport, which is based at Patrick Air Force Base, was en route from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, when the F51 approached.

In Washington, the Dominican Republic also has been asked to explain why a U. S. Air Force transport was forced down and why the American ambassador was tricked into shaking hands with a secret agent of President Rafael Trujillo.

The State Department said Wednesday the Caribbean country has not replied to either complaint.

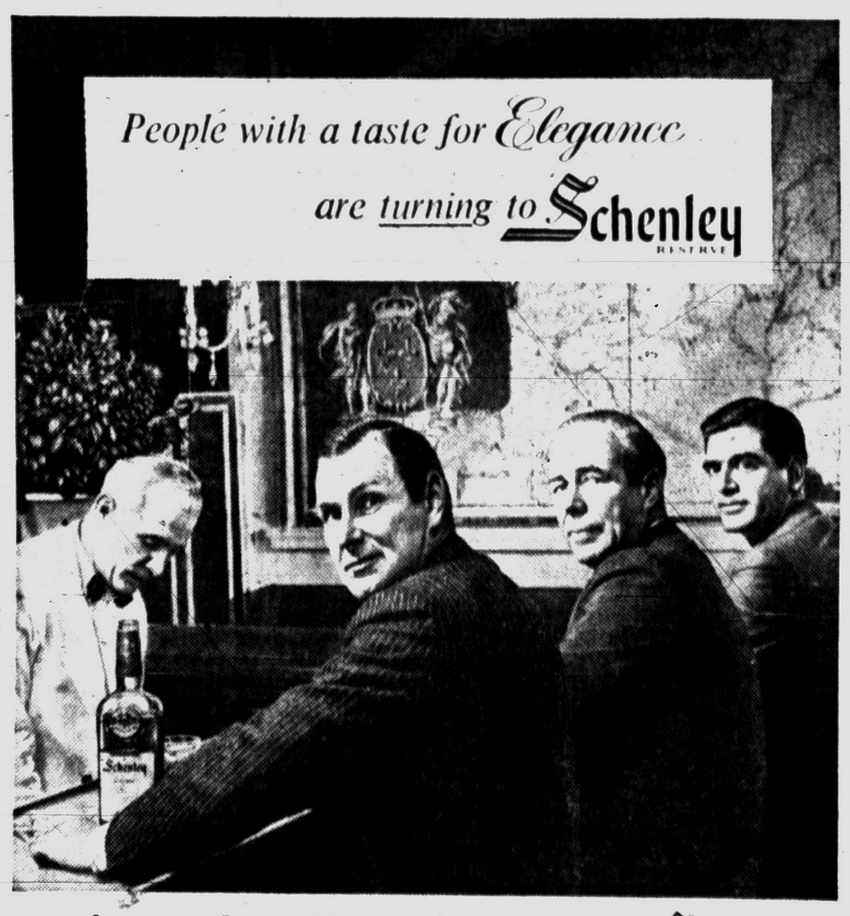

A third reported incident, the halting of an American freighter by firing a shot over its bow, is under investigation.

Bring 'Em Back Alive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Full-scale model space capsules are being tested to pave the way for the return of the first men in space. Congress has been told. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that capsules are being dropped from very high altitudes at the Wallops Island station off the Virginia coast.

Is U.S. 'Paradise for Women' Where Men Are 'Oppressed Minority'?

(Is the reported "decline" of American men all women's fault? This is the fourth article on what's happened to men in this country.)

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
Special to The Pontiac Press

It is generally accepted today that something has gone seriously askew with the role of the American male.

★ ★ ★

He seems less masculine than he was a century, even a decade, ago. He is preoccupied with proving his virility to himself, a distinct sign that he is concerned.

Almost gone are the rugged, raucous males of Hemingway and James Fenimore Cooper; the "hot" heroes of today are the embittered intellectuals ("Look Back in Anger"), the fear-ridden effeminates ("Tea and Sympathy"), the weak-willed contemplators ("From the Terrace"), the funny fumbling fools who are dominated by their clever, pretty wives (almost every comic strip, any TV comedy).

Women of today become lawyers, judges, banking executives and powerful politicians.

"It is a law of nature that woman should be kept under the controls of man, and not allowed any will of her own," Confucious once said. Those were the good old days in China.

These are the troublesome new days in the United States, and women have been given not only a will of their own, but a lioness' share of the country's health, wealth and ambition.

Foreigners now consider America to be simultaneously "a paradise for women," and the only country on earth where the male is "a member of an oppressed minority."

The impulse is, quickly, to place the blame on the females.

They are over-educated, according to many anthropologists, and their relatively new shrewdness and brilliance has led American women into power—accompanied by frustration.

"All the present higher education is unfortunate," said Pearl Buck. "It has led American women into having ideas which they can never realize when they come to maturity."

It gives them intellectual equality, and oftentimes in individual cases, superiority, over their men. This is not their traditonal role in the American heritage. Men are supposed to be the superiors. The result is that women are trying to enjoy their position of power—but are having the victory spoiled by their own inner guilt feelings toward the men they are unmanning. They have broken the ancient code of masculine supremacy.

"Let's face it, I'm smarter and more efficient and stronger than my husband," said one woman helplessly. "I wish it were the other way around, but what can I do? He lets me make all the decisions."

A marriage like this, featuring an overconfident woman and a meek man, is all too common in America. They lead to separations and divorces because the way women are constructed today, they love respect — and with respect, love—for men they can dominate.

"When American women rise to positions of power and status," says Dr. Margaret Mead, "they have great difficulty in treating their male subordinates with any decent sensitivity—for aren't they (the men) failures to be there?"

In strength such as this, there is no joy. Even searching subconsciously for the traditional male who will carry them away to a cave, and consciously ruling nearly every man in sight, America's women are in the throes of a great wave of neurosis.

"It has turned our age into the unhappiest in history," according to Dr. Marynia Farnham.

But blaming the situation entirely upon women is too easy. Many sociologists, psychiatrists anthropologists are now turning the third-degree searchlight currently on American men—to discover why they have (if they have) left themselves wide open to social emasculation. What the spotlight has revealed are these facts:

In America, this is an era of "group identity," with the great and comfortable and snug middle-class. The cult of the group thinks alike, and acts alike, and struggles for a color television alike.

A man fights to be accepted by his group, be it the fellow ranchers in the suburbs, or the buddies in the office junior executive bunch. He enjoys the same mass-produced entertainment his group enjoys, buys the same mass-produced symbols of success, thinks the same thoughts, is the very model of local togetherness.

Life is easy. He doesn't fight conformity. He loses his identity.

"It may seem a long way from the loss of the sense of self to the question of masculinity. But if people do not know who they are, it is hardly surprising that they are no longer sure what sex they are.

"It reaches one of its climaxes in the tale of a person brought up by enlightened parents to believe that there was no such thing as pure male or female—everyone had elements of both—and who accepted this proposition so rigorously that he (she) could not decide what his (her) own sex was

"It seems that nowadays one must choose between being a woman who behaves like a man, and a man who behaves like a woman. In other words . . . choose to be one in order to behave like the other."

"Whoso should be a man," Emerson once said, "must be a non-conformist."

There are many possible answers, but two seem particularly logical.

First, women are too conscious of their responsibilities as the mothers of generations to have their sex-image completely confused by society. Second, their current ambitious rise to domination is a sharp experiment in nonconformity, and a drive away from the social stagnation females suffered in the past.

The pressures of the conformist society have proved too strong for literally millions of American males, who feel they are being prodded into a henpecked state of breakdown. They have used several methods of escape—or evasion—from the odious "organization" of family and business.

According to the recent book, "The Decline of the American Male," Mr. U.S. finds escape in alcohol, little league baseball and television.

He used to flee to the basement for "do-it-yourself" evasion of duties as father and husband upstairs—but the little woman followed him. No place to hide there.

Other men use what is now called "the corporate escape." They conduct business "in hiding" on the golf course, go on all-male fishing trips, travel whenever possible for (and from) the office, entertain clients in town.

If they are broke, they desert their families to the tune of 100,000 escapes per year.

The Family Service Association of America has piles of files of case histories, which present the reasons why fathers and husbands leave home.

Typical causes, as uncovered by case-workers:

"The can't cope with financial obligations, or a nagging wife, and crying children. They are unable to adjust themselves to difficult domestic situations. They can't face their responsibilities. They are sick, mentally or physically. They are young men who didn't have time to grow up and face their responsibilities."

As for the women deserted, here is an excerpt from the study of a woman in her early 40s, married 20 years to a man who ran away. In the words of the case-worker:

"Mrs. R's tone was full of real concern about her husband and, difficult as he was, I knew he still meant much to her. Her conflict was obvious and painful. . . She was tired and ashamed of presenting herself as a wife who didn't feel like a wife. How could she, when she didn't feel any strength in her husband?"

Whether it is caused by woman, or by the pressures of money-mad society, the crumpling backbone of the American male is becoming a national worry.

(Next: And what's really wrong with the American woman?)

Nobody Knows What Makes Baffling Traitor Klaus Fuchs Tick

By United Press International

Fuchs, a quiet, friendly, successful and brilliant nuclear scientist, did a near perfect job of giving Russia the West's formula for making an atomic bomb.

Arnold went to Britain after his treachery was discovered—hoping for honors—but received only scorn and died an outcast.

Tuesday, Fuchs finished more than nine years in a British prison and flew to East Germany. He was reported to have a professorship waiting for him in a Communist university.

That confession was a lulu. As exact as a multiplication table, it named names and dates and admitted all.

Fuchs always did everything the best he could.

Born in Germany, he zipped through school with the best marks. When Hitler came to power, Fuchs was 22 and already a recognized top physicist—and a Communist underground worker.

His Communist leanings forced him out of Germany. In England he was accepted as a victim of Nazi persecution.

Fuchs got his Ph.D. at Bristol University and a science doctorate at Edinburgh. He was awarded a Carnegie research fellowship in 1939. He took out naturalization papers in 1942 after a two-year internment in Canada, and soon got a job in nuclear research.

CONFESSION

"I accepted [some war work] without knowing at first what the work was, but I doubt whether it would have made any difference to my subsequent action if I had."

The war work, of course, was the atom bomb project.

"When I learned about the purpose of the work I decided to inform Russia and I established contact through a member of the Communist party.

"Since that time I have had continual contacts with persons completely unknown to me, except that they would give information to the Russians."

There was more — much more. Names. Dates. Places. Secrets. And a self-psychoanalysis.

★ ★ ★

"I used my Marxian philosophy to conceal my thoughts in two separate compartments. One side was the man I wanted to be. I could be free and easy and happy with other people without fear of disclosing myself because I knew the other compartment would step in if I reached a danger point . . . The best way it to call it a controlled schizophrenia."

SECRETS FLOWED

All through the war, at Britain's Harwell atomic research establishment and at Los Alamos, New Mexico, Fuchs kept the vital secrets flowing. His "controlled schizophrenia" stayed controlled until 1958, when he apparently decided to break with his Russian friends.

It was too late.

This mild-mannered intellectual marshalled the Lord Chief Justice of England, attended by the Lord Mayor of London with his bearers of the sword and mace and his sheriffs, and the attorney-general of England to try him. Fuchs became a mail-bag workshop laborer at Stafford Prison at a wage of seven cents a week.

During his years in prison he gradually broke out of the shell he built around himself. He began to mix with other prisoners. He began teaching them things—simple mathematics, politics. Before long he branched out, and took over organization of the whole educational system at Wakefield Prison. For the first time in his life, he became a leader of men.

Tuesday he got out.

Prison had changed him, as it changes all prisoners for better or for worse.

In his spying days, his slight, spare frame was tough, used to open spaces. He was an excellent mountaineer and skier. He chain-smoked and drank straight gin by the tumblerful.

In prison, the mountaineer sat in the library, the chain smoker never finished his weekly cigarette ration; The gin became milk.

Klaus Fuchs, 47, traitor. Alan Moorhead called him "the most deadly and baffling spy in all history."

But who knows him? Who knows what goes on in his brilliant mind? Who knows what Klaus Fuchs is?

Nobody.

SPY SLIPS AWAY — Atomic scientist Klaus Fuchs boards a Polish airliner at a London airport headed for East Berlin. The enigmatic espionage agent was recently released from a British prison after serving 9 years, 3 months of a 14-year sentence for handing over U. S. and English atomic secrets to the Russians.

Atlanta Censor Admits She's Very Nearsighted

ATLANTA (UPI) — Mrs. Ed A. [illegible] censor, admits she's nearsighted. "My vision is fine for about two inches," she said. "But if I put down my glasses I need glasses to find my glasses. I at Gilliam. Atlanta's motion picture ways carry two pairs."

French Claim Rebels Routed

Crack Algerian Band Said Trying to Remind World of Conflict

ALGIERS (AP) — The French army claimed complete control again today around the eastern port city of Bone after crushing the largest rebel assault ever made on a big Algerian city. The rebels' aim appeared to be psychological rather than military.

French troops, planes and tanks surrounded the rebel band on the outskirts of Bone near the airport.

A communique reported 31 rebels killed and 15 captured during more than 12 hours of fighting Wednesday. The French reported six of their soldiers killed.

Prisoners said the band had been dispatched as reinforcements to the Kabylie mountain area in central Algeria from nearby Tunisia, where the rebels have their main training ground.

The Algerian attackers were specially uniformed and equipped with automatic weapons. In attacking the heavily fortified city of 150,000 they apparently were trying to show the world, the French and their own people that the 4½-year-old rebellion is still flourishing despite French claims to the contrary.

Rampage in Duluth Kills Three

Truck Smashes Into Two Homes

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A semi-trailer grain truck speeding out of control down a hill without brakes hit a car and smashed into two homes Wednesday night. Three persons died and four others were injured.

The impact sent the truck's heavy load of grain through the wall of the first house and into another, around the corner.

Killed were Ralph Redlin, 50, Ellendale, N.D., the truck driver and his wife, Ruby, 33, and Martin Cich, 26, Superior, Wis., whose car was struck by the truck.

Seriously injured were Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Widell, occupants of the second house hit by the truck. They were in their living room watching television when the truck smashed into the front of their home.

Also injured were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hayes, who live around the corner from the Widell home. Mrs. Hayes was struck in the back by an oil drum carried with the plummeting grain through their house. Hayes suffered an arm injury.

"It sounded like an explosion," said Mrs. Robert Anderson, whose home was the first hit.

"I ran into the bedroom for the baby and ran out the back door. I didn't even look into the living room I was so scared. I went to a neighbor's house and just sat with the baby until I quit shaking."

Mrs. Anderson's husband was not home.

The truck swept away the front of the Anderson home, including a sun porch, then hit the front of the Widell house. The truck's trailer landed on top of the cab, hurling its load of grain through the Widell house across the back yard into the garage of the Hayes home.

Mrs. Widell was carried with the grain and was dug out of a pile of grain in the Hayes' back yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were in their kitchen drinking coffee when the grain hit their garage like a projectile. It ripped through the garage, through the kitchen and into their living room.

N.Y. Has 5 New Taxes

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner has signed into law five city tax measures expected to raise 90 million dollars to help support a record $2,174,946,957 budget. They include the controversial 10-cent taxicab ride tax, $25 a year on juke boxes, a boost in the tax on gross receipts of utilities, and a tax on real estate sales over $25,000.

Money Burners Careless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) says the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia isn't careful enough when it burns up old money in a furnace. A bank official said that only one old dollar bill had escaped the furnace. Patman came back, saying auditing reports showed that it was a weekly occurrence for bills to get stuck in feed mechanism and not be burned up.

Running Off Rural Roads Rising Cause of Death

(This article deals with the four-point program of the Traffic Safety Committee of the Michigan Press Association and what various state agencies are doing to reduce the toll of accidents and fatalities on Michigan highways and streets.)

By AL HAUGNER
Editorial Writer
Port Huron Times Herald

"Ran off roadway" accidents have increased more than other types of highway accidents in Michigan in recent years.

Between 1948 and 1957 deaths from "ran off roadway" accidents in rural areas increased 52 per cent.

Deaths from collisions between vehicles increased 11 per cent.

In 1957 there were 4,970 rural fatal and injury "ran off roadway" accidents in Michigan, accounting for 302, or 27.7 per cent, of all rural deaths, and 25.9 per cent of rural accident injuries.

The Michigan State Police instituted a special study of all rural fatal and injury "ran off roadway" accidents in 1957 because of the serious increase in this area.

They found that the driver must take most of the blame. Primary causes are driving too fast for conditions, inattention, fatigue, high incidence of alcohol, and lack of care under night conditions.

Most common reported violations in these accidents are speeding too fast for conditions (67.6 per cent) and driving under influence of liquor (8.1 per cent).

If it is true, as many traffic experts report, that driver deficiencies are to blame for 90 per cent of the auto accidents, it might be well to delve into some of the most prominent deficiencies.

ACCIDENTS DISEASE

Dr. John O. Moore, director of automobile crash research at Cornell University, told the twelfth annual Michigan Rural Health Conference in Lansing last April that auto accidents must be regarded as a disease, second only to heart disease and cancer.

"There is no device equal to polio, or yellow fever, or typhoid vaccine to prevent auto deaths and injuries," he said. "To decrease injury and fatal consequences of accidents there must be more build in safety in automobiles."

Secretary of State James M. Hare believes that research is needed regarding drivers attitudes and drinking drivers.

Mr. Hare said that drinking and driving are involved in half of all traffic deaths, on the basis of a study made in some states.

One necessary approach in the opinion of Mr. Hare is devising a dependable test to determine drivers' attitudes regarding traffic regulations.

Michigan is far ahead of most states in meeting the problems of the deficient driver head-on. The Legislature in 1957 wisely adopted a bill calling for the creation of County Driver Safety Schools for violators.

SCHOOLS NEEDED

So far they are established on only a limited scale. Schools in every county are needed where violators of traffic regulations can learn the correct driver attitudes through capable instruction.

Approval for establishment of such schools is granted upon request in accordance with the legislative act and regulations prescribed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The request is made by a board consisting of the superintendent of schools of the largest school district in a county, the county superintendent of schools, the judge of probate, the prosecutor, the sheriff, the chief of police of the largest city, a municipal judge, a justice of the peace, and two citizens at large.

The biggest hope for safe drivers in the future still lies in the driver education program in the State's high schools. This program needs—right now—accelerated impetus. Safety education specialists at Northwestern University expect that by 1970 boys and girls may be obtaining driving permits at the rate of four million a year.

They fear that the avalanche of teen-age drivers may swamp testing and licensing facilities and police and courts as well—unless preparations are taken now.

Helicopter Airlifts Bring Lumber to Mill

NEW YORK (UPI)—Encouraging tests were made recently using helicopters to airlift logs to newsprint mills from inaccessible areas.

The Newsprint Information Committee said present-day helicopter costs and limitations are still a barrier to the economical use of the whirlybirds but that the tests were "encouraging" because advances in design will make heavier payloads possible.

There are about 4,000,000 amateur radio stations in the world of which the U.S. has about 100,000.

Young Lothario's Parents Sweat Out Dance

NEW YORK (AP)— My son, nearing 14, had his first date the other night. His parents are still trying to recover.

The occasion was a dance for the junior high school graduating class. They didn't have such things back in Tecumseh, Okla., when father was a boy, but never mind. Times change.

To start with, Master Brenn Turner Stilley didn't hanker to attend the dance at all. It wasn't because he didn't know how to dance. He does. They teach it in schools here nowadays.

Brenn is a bookish sort and would lots rather loll around home poking his nose into some tome of scientific fiction. Formerly he was one of the world's foremost authorities on baseball and World War II, concentrating entirely on those fields. But he changes too.

Brenn's mother thought he ought to go to the dance. She figured it might crack the shell and thrust him a bit into the world in which he'll have to live.

"Nah," said he. "Waste of time."

His parents figured that was that.

But then the most amazing and unexpected thing happened. Somehow one of the teachers gave the boys reason to believe that if they didn't appear at the prom—preferably with a date—grades would suffer.

"I think I'll go to the dance," Brenn reported afterward to the utter astonishment of his mother. A day later she was completely flabbergasted to hear him mention casually: "I have a date."

For days mother scurried about. New shoes, new shirt, new tie. Letting out the coat sleeves of his one good suit to cover his gangly arms. Getting the suit cleaned and pressed.

The great night finally arrived. Mother gave son an endless review of previous instructions in the social graces.

Father did likewise, taking the lad aside to slip him a five-spot for running expenses. The budding Lothario also was urged not to make a nitwit of himself by abandoning his date at the dance to gather and gab with the other yaps.

Father tied son's tie, combed his hair and loaded him into the family car with another boy to pick up their dates and transport them. The dates, who happened to be twins, were escorted out of their dwelling and what did the boys do?

Sonny boy had said not to wait up. Said he could walk his girl home and make it back to the old homestead without any help. Nevertheless mother, as mothers do, waited up.

About midnight the young swain ambled in. His mother simply couldn't resist. "How did the dance turn out?" was the way she put it.

"My feet hurt," was all the reply she got.

CUT-RATE JET FOR ALLIES — The "Freedom Fighter," above, is a relatively cheap, easily maintained jet fighter for U. S. allies. It will be manufactured by the Northrop Corporation. The plane, a variation of the U. S. T-38 trainer, is designed to meet the needs of NATO, SEATO and other allied countries for a low-cost, all-weather fighter that can deliver bombs as well as the latest air-to-air missiles, such as the Sidewinders mounted on the stubby wings of this prototype.

Church Gets Call for Dairy, Laundry

BELVEDIERE, Ill. (AP)— What's the difference in dialing a wrong number when you want a pool hall or a dairy or a laundry?

St. John's Church—that's what.

The Rev. Louis Weichbrodt, pastor of St. John's United Church of Christ, issued a notice to "Please check carefully which number you want before you dial."

Then he explained:

"St. John's Church is happy to talk with any who wants to call. But we are unable to supply laundry service, dairy products or recreational facilities such as pool or billiards and cannot relay information to anyone who does."

The parsonage number is LI 4-3773, the same number formerly used by a pool hall, one digit away from the one for a laundry and two digits away from a dairy.

Gloria Vanderbilt Wins Custody of 2 Children

NEW YORK (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt won complete custody today of her two children. The court decision also gave "generous visitation rights" to her former husband, symphony conductor Leopold Stokowski.

The heiress-actress and Stokowski had shared custody since their 1955 divorce.

She had sought to reduce the time he spent with the children from three months to two weeks.

PRINCE PHILIP

QUEEN ELIZABETH

Royalty's Critics Busy at Home

Socialists Working to Ruin Monarchy During North American Tour

LONDON (NEA) — While Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip give North Americans a taste of royal glamour during their seven-week Canadian tour, the Socialists at home will be busy gnawing away at the foundations of the British monarchy.

It is an insidious campaign that goes on year in and year out.

The Socialist aim: to pull the monarchy down from its pedestal, to make it drab as part of the inevitable leveling-off process of the Welfare State.

In Socialist eyes, and this includes the majority of the British Labor Party, the Queen is a glorified civil servant presiding over a middle-class nation.

'STILL HAS GLAMOUR'

As 78-year-old Lord Esher, a noted patron of the arts, recently remarked: "The Queen still has that quality which is anathema to the civil service view of life—glamour.

The idea of a Civil Service Queen, however, appeals to the Puritan streak in many Britons, and may ultimately influence the image the Queen projects as head of the monarchy.

"The monarchy must always retain an element of mystery," according to Sir Frederick Ponsonby, one of the most experienced courtiers in modern times.

"If you bring it down to the people, it will lose its mystery and influence."

In Britain, the attack upon royalty is seldom direct, the leftists and the Laborites preferring the oblique approach.

BENDS OVER BACKWARDS

Hope Queen's Yacht Has Better Luck

Old Ocean Salts Slam Seaway

CLEVELAND (NEA) — The St. Lawrence Seaway is being buffeted by a torrent of verbal abuse as turbulent as the rushing river rapids bypassed by the new man-made waterway.

★ ★ ★

Skippers of heavy ocean freighters making their first voyage onto the Great Lakes are the saltiest and most vituperative critics.

If their volleys of furious expletives could be massed into a single outburst, they'd probably drown out the 21-gun-salute that British, Canadian and American warships will fire in Montreal harbor tomorrow.

The salute will celebrate the formal dedication of the St. Lawrence Seaway by Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower.

Canadian Seaway Authority officials are hopeful that the royal yacht Britannia, which will carry the British monarch and American chief executive through the St. Lambert, Cote St. Catherine and Beauharnois Locks, has better luck than some of the other ocean vessels which have used the new waterway.

BUMP LOCKS

More than a dozen ships have been scarred and bruised with damage ranging from dented plates to ripped up railings when they bumped against the unprotected concrete walls of the Seaway locks.

While ships are moving inland from the Atlantic Ocean to the Great Lakes, outboard vessels must wait for the traffic light to change.

That's also true on the Welland Canal, where only three of the eight locks have double chambers which permit two-way traffic.

Ocean ships have encountered delays of from two to six days in getting through the Seaway and the Welland Canal. That means a loss of from $1,000 to $3,000 a day, depending on the size of the ship.

DELAYED AT PORTS

Vessels ran into additional time losses at some of the lake ports, which didn't have cargo handling equipment geared for such big ships.

Several freighters had to steam away from Detroit without docking after waiting several days for the signal that never came to move alongside a pier to load and discharge cargo.

The first ships of the spring navigation season that docked took days longer to unload than anticipated.

This has already caused several minor collisions between ocean freighters and lakes ore-boats, and caused a protest from Adm. Lyndon Spencer, retired naval officer who heads the Lake Carriers Assn.

He cites as "typical" a ship bumping caused by an ocean freighter sounding one prolonged blast on its horn while proceeding through a fog.

However, despite the moaning and groaning of the seagoing skippers, the seaway seems to be fulfilling the predictions of its builders.

So far this season it has carried considerably more traffic than the 14-foot-deep canal system which it replaced.

Few of the major lake ports are ready for the full load of traffic expected from the seaway, which can handle vessels that draw 27-feet.

AMPLE TIME

The experts said this "full load" wouldn't develop for possibly five years.

That allows ample time for harbor dredging, dock development and deepening of connecting channels on the Great Lakes.

Total cost of these improvements is variously estimated at from 500 million to a billion dollars.

A big price tag — even bigger when added to the billion dollars already spent by the United States and Canada on the Seaway power and navigation projects — but the North American heartland expects big things from the new waterway.

"The full impact of the seaway won't be felt for possibly 10 years," says Jean Claude Lessard, a member of the Canadian Seaway Authority.

Meanwhile, he and other officials are working to overcome the imperfections being spotlighted by the seaway's shakedown cruise.

The Canadian Parliament will soon consider a proposal to break the Welland Canal bottleneck by spending 100 million dollars to twin-lock the entire system.

After the first month of seaway operation, the enthusiasm of some midcontinent businessmen is dimmed a bit—but others are encouraged.

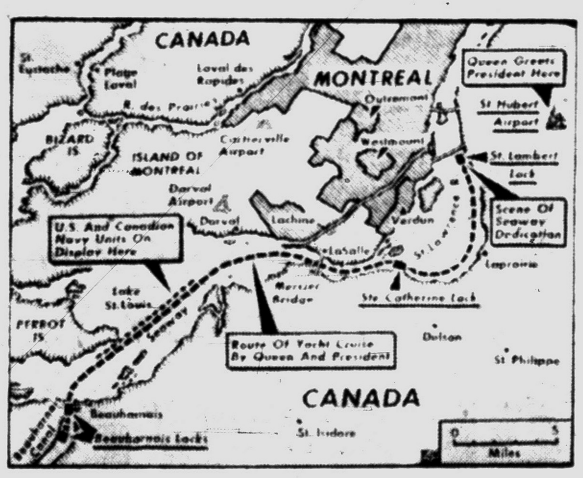

Principal gripers, besides the seagoing skippers, are the representatives of American flag lines which sent ocean freighters onto the Great Lakes and suffered financial losses because of the seaway delays and the lack of large quantities of waiting cargo.

50 PER CENT INCREASE

A few years ago, he was insisting that Cleveland harbor was equipped to handle five times its present volume of packaged freight, and needed no new facilities.

Now, after seeing a 50 per cent increase in the number of ocean ships calling at the port during the first month of seaway operation, Coakley is investing $750,000 in new warehouse sheds and unloading equipment.

WARM WELCOME — The greeting this group of girls at Quebec City had this week for Queen Elizabeth was typical of the kindly welcome she and Prince Philip have received thus far on their Canadian visit. The Prince watches at right as Elizabeth receives a bouquet of flowers from the little girl.

Plenty of Protection Planned at Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth's royal yacht Britannia will be well protected when it departs from Windsor July 3 on a trip through the northern Great Lakes.

The Coast Guard said 20 small craft are being sent to Detroit to help patrol the Detroit River. In addition, four Navy destroyers will be docked at the civic center here during the Queen's visit to Windsor.

To Tour Canadian Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE —Residents and visitors to this Great Lakes navigation center will have a good chance for a closeup look at Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. The royal yacht Britannia will be here for hours July 8 while the royal couple tours the Canadian Soo.

Herter and Strauss in Ike's Travel Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will accompany President Eisenhower to Canada tomorrow for the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, the White House has announced.

Herter and his wife will fly to Canada aboard the Columbine III with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Also aboard will be the Canadian ambassador to this country, A. D. P. Heeney, and his wife; Lewis L. Strauss, still listed by the White House as secretary of commerce, and his wife; Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Mrs. Fulbright; Sen. and Mrs. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) and Livingston T. Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs and former ambassador to Canada.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

Thousands to View Rites

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

International friendship which for years has been taken for granted by the United States, Britain and Canada will blossom anew tomorrow when Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower join to dedicate the St. Lawrence Seaway at Montreal.

★ ★ ★

Britain's Queen and America's President will be met by Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker who will drive to the Queen's yacht anchored at St. Lambert, across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal.

A crowd of thousands will be on hand to greet the Queen and the President on a 30-acre flat area bordering the Seaway channel.

"You tell me how many people are coming," a Seaway official suggested when asked for an estimate. "I don't know, it's not a public holiday. But we've got seven canteens to feed the crowds and seven toilets."

The royal procession will drive along a roadway lined wth flags of 108 shipping lines to a 35-foot-long, grass-banked plaza, flanked by a mammoth grandstand.

They will mount a modernistic dais set in the center of five giant wooden archways. The scenic setting—including 19,000 square yards of grass sod and 6,720 petunia plants—cost $250,000.

After receiving books in silver cases listing every worker who has helped since 1945 to build the Seaway, the Queen and the President are to deliver speeches and then board the Britannia, moored 3,500 feet away at a special dock made of three floating barges.

TO DINE ON YACHT

The party will dine aboard the yacht, watching out portholes. They are to sail within shouting distance of the backyards of homes on an Indian reservation at Caughnawaga, Que., about eight miles west of Montreal, and pass Canadian and American warships in line at Lake St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

At the Beauharnois locks, 71 miles up the Seaway-ship channel to Lake Ontario, the President is to take leave of the Queen to return to Washington.

Seaway Opens Heart of U. S. to Ships

Stepladder to Mid-America

By The Associated Press

A century of dreaming, a half century of negotiation, decades of planning and five years of building form the backdrop behind two days of ceremonies officially opening the St. Lawrence Seaway next week.

President Eisenhower and Britain's Queen Elizabeth, standing aboard the royal yacht Britannia in St. Lambert's Lock, will officially raise the curtain June 26 on a new era of seaway navigation.

The billion-dollar joint U. S.-Canadian venture now permits 80 per cent of the world's shipping to use a water highway from the Atlantic Ocean to Great Lakes ports. It gives the United States a fourth "ocean coast."

From the Atlantic to Chicago, it's a sailing distance of 2,250 miles. And it's also a climb of 578.5 feet from sea level to the level of Lake Michigan. To go to Duluth, 2,342 miles from the ocean, a ship has to climb 602 feet.

BARRIERS AT RAPIDS

Ever since George Washington's time men have dreamed of finding a way around the big obstacles between the inland Great Lakes and the broad St. Lawrence River route to the ocean.

The main barriers were in the rapids sections between Montreal and Tibbetts Point, at the entrance of Lake Ontario, and the spectacular Niagara Falls section between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

The St. Lambert Lock is the first of the seven new locks built to replace the 21 old ones which in the past have enabled shallow draft vessels to navigate between Montreal and Lake Ontario.

As shown in the accompanying map, each lift ships anywhere from 5 to 90 feet. After St. Lambert, the steps up come at Cote Ste. Catherine, in the Beauharnois Canal (which has two locks), the Dwight D. Eisenhower lock, the Bernard H. Snell lock and the Iroquois lock.

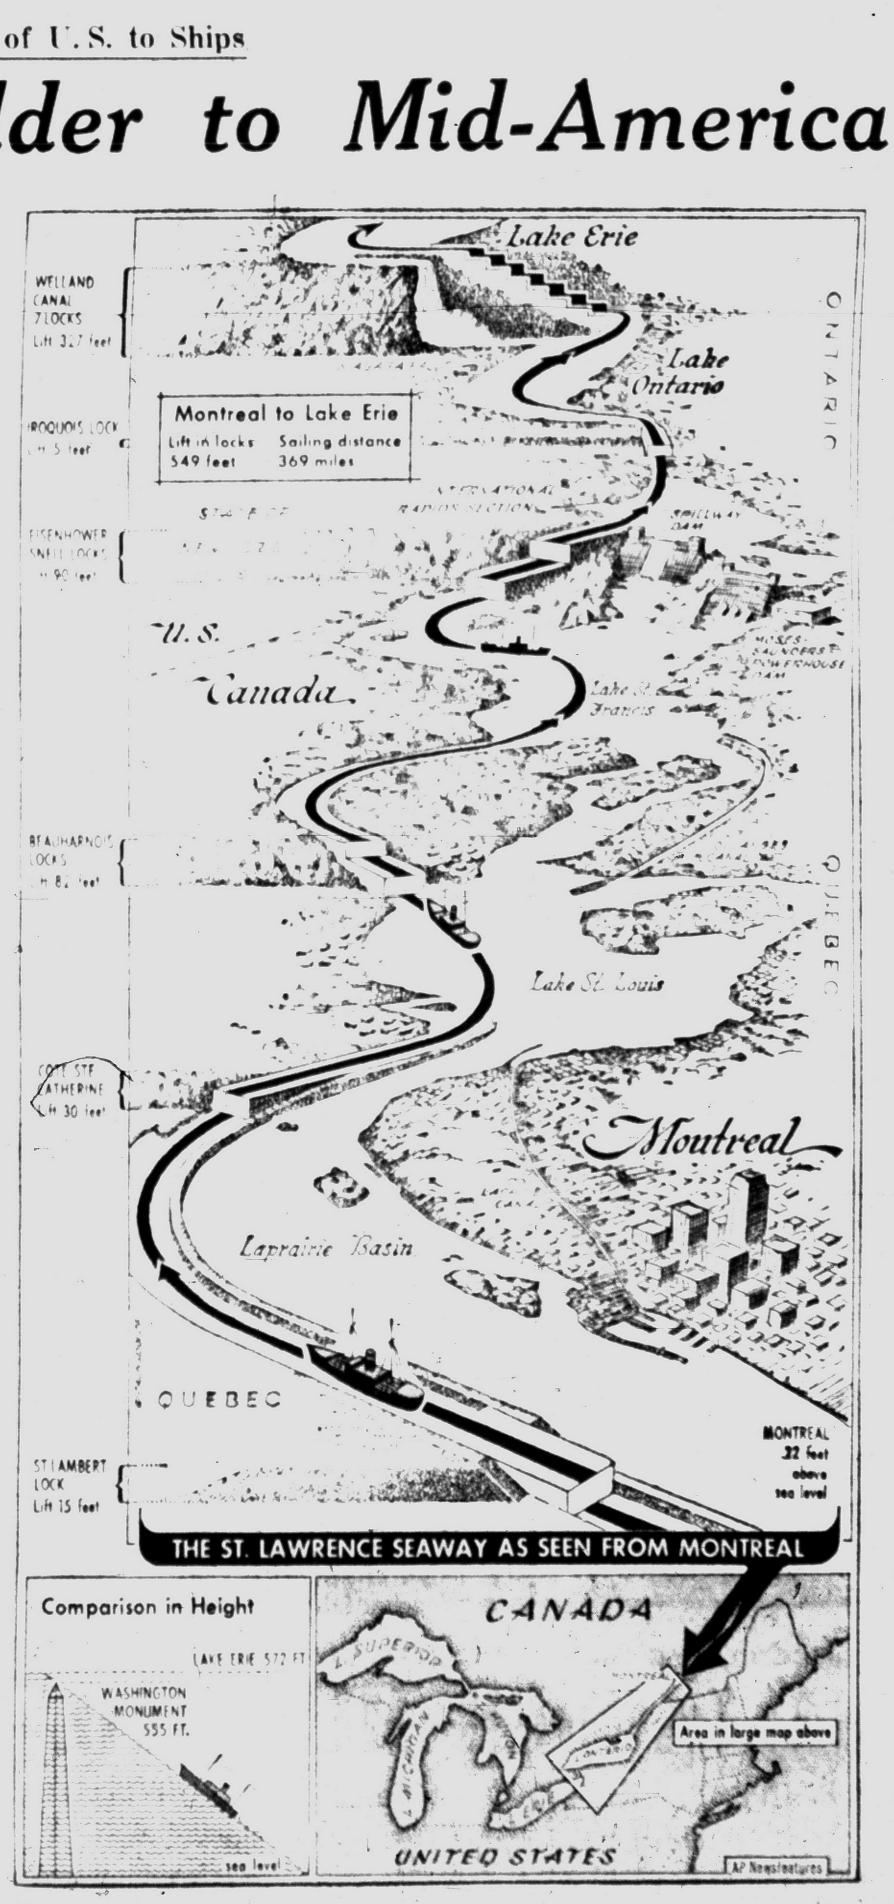

Once out of the Iroquois, a ship has been raised 246 feet above sea level — 226 of it by locks and the remainder simply the benefit of sailing upstream.

But the highest climb is achieved in the 27-mile Welland Canal between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. This skirts around the Niagara Falls. In a series of seven lifting locks, ships are raised 327 feet.

LIFTED 572 FEET

Windsor Won't Give Gift

WINDSOR (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II won't get a present from the city of Windsor when she visits here July 3. City Manager E. Royden Colter feels the city is already bearing a large share of the costs of the royal visit to Canada and besides, he said, they aren't coming to Canada looking for gifts.

Lions Install New Officers, Present Awards

Grocery Store Reports Break-In by Thieves

Stacey Williams, owner of the Avalon Food Store, reported to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department early this morning that prowlers had broken into his establishment.

According to Williams, the thieves entered the store by unlocking a basement window. He said that small change had been taken.

Lawmakers Discard 3 New Tax Proposals

LANSING (AP) — Three new tax proposals landed on a growing heap today as Michigan lawmakers floundered in a weary search for a cure-all to state revenue woes.

House Republican and Democratic floor leaders yesterday disclosed details of separate tax packages designed to net between 130 and 150 million dollars a year in new revenue.

Two Republican Senators brought in a one per cent tax on gross receipts of wholesalers or manufacturers. They said it would produce between 120 and 130 million dollars a year. It evoked little enthusiasm.

The 1959 Legislature was in its 107th day, with the end of the fiscal year just six days away.

House members found out they were in too much of a hurry to pass a couple of tax bills worth 75 million dollars a year to the School Aid Fund.

REVOTE NEEDED

Now they have to go the voting procedure all over again.

The two bills, carrying a 4 per cent tax on liquor and two cents per package on cigarettes, cleared the House two days ago and moved the the Senate.

State revenue officials told lawmakers the bills had to be enacted by July 1 or the state would lose the $80,000 a day that they yield.

House Clerk Norman E. Philleo discovered yesterday that neither bill had been in the Chamber the five days required by the Constitution. So both passage votes were nullified.

If they pass again today, the Senate probably will clear them Monday or Tuesday, barely in time to beat the deadline.

Whatever the Senate may do on the legislators' pay raise issue, it almost certainly has spiked another House move to deal four ex-lawmakers $80,000 in legislative pensions.

The pension stretcher apparently reached the end of the road in the Senate Retirement Committee yesterday with failure of a try to push it ahead for calendar consideration.

"There weren't enough votes," said Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor), committee chairman. "There will be no more committee meetings."

Local governments today appeared in store for a taste of what it means for the state to renege on its obligations, much in the style already experienced by school districts and the big universities.

State Treasury arrearages to cities, villages, townships and junior colleges probably will jump to 20 million dollars or more in July unless veterans trust fund securities are cashed.

This will happen if the state skips distribution of $9,500,000 in state intangibles tax receipts due next month.

Intangibles tax revenues have long since been collected and spent.

Aeronutronic Upped to Division of Ford

DETROIT (AP) Aeronutronic Systems Inc., a majority owned subsidiary, is going to be made a division of Ford Motor Co. on July 1. Boards of both companies have approved the move.

Aeronutronic, founded in 1956 by Ford, has been engaged in advanced military programs. It operates at Glendale, Newport Beach, Santa Ana and Maywood, Calif. Gerald J. Lynch, Aeronutronic president, will become general manager of the new division.

Murray Reports Profits

DETROIT (AP) Murray Corp. of America Wednesday reported profits of $545,443 equal to 52 cents a share of common stock for the nine months ended May 31. In the similar period of 1958 losses were one dollar a share. Net sales for the period this year were $40,552,493 compared with $39,792,184 for the corresponding period of 1958.

Leader of Revolt Given Safe-Conduct

PANAMA (AP)—Roberto Arias, husband of British Ballerina Margot Fonteyn, has been granted a safe-conduct to Brazil two months after leading a revolt that flopped.

Arias, a former Panamanian ambassador in London, took refuge in the Brazilian embassy here April 24 after landing on Panama's Pacific coast April 19 with a small group of armed revolutionists intent on overthrowing President Ernesto de la Guardia.

He is scheduled to leave for Rio de Janeiro late this afternoon. In London, his wife canceled plans to fly to Brazil and said she would wait word from her husband.

A Panama court also has ordered 89 of the Cuban invaders released for deportation. But five other Cubans and a Panamanian student, who refused to surrender with the others and were captured later, are being held for trial on charges of trying to overthrow the government.

They're California Bound on Racing Bicycles

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (UPI) —Two Williams College freshmen plan to pedal several thousand miles this summer from Joliet, Ill. to La Jolla, Calif.

'Gopher State' Derived From Press Cartoon

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minnesota owes it "Gopher State" nickname to a bitter newspaper cartoon published in 1857 in opposition to a railroad bond issue passed by the state Legislature, according to historian Charles Flandrau.

In the cartoon, gophers were used to depict supporters of the bond as well as what were identified as "bribed senators." Flandrau says Minnesotans kiddingly started referring to one another as "gophers" and the name stuck.

What to Teach to Be Stressed

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — If there is anything certain in the uncertain world of education, it seems to be this: America's teachers of the future will spend less time learning how to teach and more time learning what to teach.

That, at least, is the general opinion here at a conference of educators trying to work out a program of teacher education. They hope such a program will close the long-standing rift between teachers colleges and liberal art schools.

The conference, called by the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, has brought together spokesmen from both sides of the methods - versus - subject matter hassle. Thus far, there has been plenty of blunt talk, but little, if any, bitterness.

Ewald Turner, president of the department of classroom teachers of the National Education Assn., told the conference Wednesday night that teachers themselves want their professional courses streamlined.

At the same time, he said, teachers feel their preparation should include more material that will help them know why children behave as they do and how they, as teachers, can better meet the needs of some children.

John H. Fischer, superintendent of public instruction in Baltimore, Md., told the conference there should be more attention paid to the training of teachers for large city school systems.

Fischer proposed a system of federal scholarships for college students interested in teaching careers because "good teachers are at least as necessary to the survival and progress of the nation as able military officers."

'Educational' Meet Idles 28 Vessels

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An "educational" meeting of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union left 28 cargo vessels idle for 11 hours Wednesday.

Officials of Local 13 refused to state the purpose of the session, but it was reported the meeting was called to bring 3,500 members up to date on San Francisco negotiations on a new contract with the Pacific Maritime Assn., representing West Coast employers.

★ ★ ★

A PMA spokesman said the meeting was called for educational purposes, as permitted under the union contract.

May Name Lock to Honor Solon for Seaway Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Public Works Committee has approved a bill to name a new lock on the St. Marys River at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., for Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn).

Blatnik was one of the leaders in the long fight for congressional authorization of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

More than 20 bills to name the lock for Blatnik had been introduced in the House. The committee yesterday approved one by its chairman, Rep. Charles A. Buckley (D-NY).

Ambulance Driver Finds Injured Wife

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Carl W. Mayer, an Air Force ambulance driver, sped to the auto accident scene with customary dispatch. He was surprised to find that the injured person was his wife.

"All I could say to her," said the staff sergeant, "was 'Well, what are you doing here?'"

Mrs. Mayer, 26, and their son, Robert, 7, were passengers in a neighbor's car and bound for a day's outing. Mayer drove his wife to the Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital where she was held for observation of a back injury.

Integration Disputes Costly

1,890,000 Student Days Lost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary Arthur S. Flemming reports that 1,800 students in Virginia and Arkansas suffered a "lost year" of education because their schools were shut down in integration disputes.

The secretary of health, education and welfare said the group that received no schooling of any kind during the academic year just ended were part of a total of 16,300 students in the two states who lost 1,890,000 pupil days of school. The rest, about 1,500, were "exposed" to makeshift arrangements.

He emphasized the only conclusion to be drawn from the statistics is that "we cannot and must not slam shut our school doors in the faces of our children and young people."

He told a news conference he was making the figures public "in the hope that these effects will be carefully weighed and studied by all Americans, particularly by school officials, school board members, parents, and others directly concerned" with the operation of public schools.

Flemming said the situation has improved markedly" in recent months. Nine Virginia schools shut down in September reopened in February, he said, although 1,050 Warren County students did not attend their integrated high school after it reopened.

In Little Rock, Ark., he said, four schools remained closed throughout the school year. However, he said he was "heartened" by the recent court decision in Arkansas invalidating the law under which Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the schools.

Divers Try to Find Missouri Lake Bed

BLACK HAWK, Colo. (AP) — Three Texas skin divers are trying to find the bottom of Missouri Lake, linked with the legends about this town since its mining boom a century ago.

Equipped to dive 50 feet, they've not touched bottom—which legend says doesn't exist in Missouri Lake.

However, they found the remains of a horse and ore wagon that plunged into the lake 80 years ago. They've also picked up part of a makeshift submarine that sank as it was launched on the lake in 1898.

Missile Crushes GI

FT. LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP)—Sgt. George Hertrich, 50, Maywood, N.J., was fatally crushed Wednesday by a 5,000-pound Nike-Hercules missile which slipped from hoisting equipment.

Newspaper Strike Ends in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A strike that stilled the presses of St. Louis' two daily newspapers for 15 days ended Wednesday night.

The afternoon Post-Dispatch immediately made plans to publish today. The rival morning Globe-Democrat, printed under contract by the Post, was expected to resume operations tonight. The Post-Dispatch was the target of the strike, but the Globe has no production facilities and was closed too.

Stereotypers Local 8 voted 48-5 to accept a proposal worked out earlier in the evening at the 12th meeting since the strike was called June 10.

"A happy medium has been realized," said Leroy Selby, Local 8 president.

Africa Outposts Duty Rugged

U. S. Diplomats Find Heavy Rains, Humidity, Witch Doctors

Foreign service officers in these and other new African countries will find walking shorts more practical than the traditional striped pants. The State Department hopes to supply its diplomats with heavy-duty trucks that can be converted into sleeping quarters on field trips.

An apartment also could be a social item of note for a diplomat assigned to the West African capital of Conakry. It gets an average of 167 inches of rain a year. In July the average includes 24 inches. Humidity ranges between 95 and 100 per cent. April temperatures average 90 degrees.

A foreign service man stationed in Yaounde, capital of the French Cameroons, might receive an urgent letter from the diplomat to visit the Bamileke tribe. The tribesmen believe in mud-and-wood secret societies, honor the links of their dead ex-emane spiders to predict the future, and are successful coffee planters and businessmen.

One of the most modern of the new outposts is Abidjan, capital of the Ivory Coast, where sidewalks, cafes and boulevards suggest Paris and gleaming white hotels, apartments and supermarkets recall Miami Beach. Ivory Coast forests, however, still shelter witch doctors and perhaps cannibals.

Across the continent on the scorched horn of East Africa between the Indian Ocean and the desert is Mogadiscio, capital of Somalia. Jet service now ships connect it around the roof of Mogadiscio's harbor. Temperatures are recorded as highest in smaller cities.

Somaliland, formerly Italian and British, and eligible to join the United Nations Trust Territory of Somaliland, is the only Moslem country in Africa. Most of them officially ban the Moslem liquor.

Special Rates Likely for Careful Motorists

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's careful drivers may be in for some special insurance rates.

Secretary of State James Hare said a meeting was scheduled for July 28 with his office and Michigan insurance companies to look into possibility of a special rate class for good drivers.

He said such a plan would require that driving records for all applicants be checked and if many companies requested the checks, the secretary of state might be looking up a half million to a million records a year.

Journey To Love

Chapter XXV

Alex had Leilani in his arms, but she was like a white-faced robot, stiff and unrelaxed, still dazed with shock, still whispering.

"An automobile accident," they said. I'm to call back and tell them what to—do. Someone ran into her on the Pali road—"

The Pali. Kathie remembered the stunning surprise of that sheer drop into windward Oahu and the twisting narrow road down the face of the cliff.

"Who was driving her?"

Leilani said in a stunned way, "They said she was alone. Driving a rented car. I don't understand it."

All at once Kathie was thinking of the taxi that had deliberately rammed hers in Honolulu. "But it wasn't an accident," she sobbed, cried out in her horror.

"She was surer than ever that Bea had gone to Honolulu so unexpectedly because of what she had learned from Kanoe about her old deed.

And she could not forget her strange impression of Bea that day in her room when she had been so excited about what Kathie had told her, a dangerous, purposeful woman, Kathie had thought. Had someone else thought so, too?

Her voice rose shrilly. "It was because she knew something. That's why she went to Honolulu. I know it! She knew something she didn't tell me—"

Alex took her by the shoulders. "Quiet," he said sharply. "Think of Leilani."

Leilani was crying. "What are you talking about? If you know why Mother went back to Honolulu, why haven't you told us?"

They were all staring at her, waiting for her answer. Kathie felt suddenly frightened. She stammered, "I don't really know.

"But I think it must have been because of what I told her about Uncle Joe's old deed. She seemed so excited—"

'IT'S YOUR FAULT'

Leilani's eyes had grown wide and wild. "It's all your fault," she cried. "You sent her to her death! Why did you have to come around stirring up family scandals?"

Her crying brought Suki running, her eyes big and frightened. Just as she entered the room, Alex slapped Leilani smartly. The shock of the blow had the effect on her hysteria that he desired, but the little maid cried out indignantly.

She put her arms around the girl and led her out of the room, scolding to her and angrily scolding Alex, all in the same breath.

The three guests stood miserably in the living room while the sounds of Leilani's sobbing came clearly back to them.

Presently the keening of the maid joined Leilani's sobs. "Leilani has told Suki," Sam said, under his breath.

"Someone will have to make arrangements for her," Alex said.

"We'll have to find out what Leilani wants done, first of all," Kathie said unhappily.

"I'll see if I can help." Sam said and turned toward the bedroom.

DIDN'T MEAN IT

"You're not to blame, you know," he said firmly. "Leilani didn't mean anything she said just now. You know that, don't you?"

Miserably, Kathie shook her head.

"Then I'm telling you! Snap out of it, darling. We're going to need you with Leilani going to pieces like this."

"Darling." But he called Leilani that, Kathie said quietly, darling, too. It didn't mean a thing.

"You know that's a serious charge you made about it being no accident. Do you want to go to the police with it?"

Kathie lifted startled eyes. "The police?"

"Have you anything to back up a statement like that?" His eyes were grave. "Any facts, I mean."

Her heart began to beat faster. Only a moment ago she had felt so close to Alex, so secure and comforted in the curve of his arm. And now—

"You're sure, Kathie?" he persisted.

She thought despairingly that it was a good thing Bea had not told her all she knew. Alex would get it out of her if Bea had. Loving him as she did, Kathie felt she was no longer any judge of whether it was wise to trust him or not.

'POOR KID'

Sam came back into the room. "Poor kid," he said. "She's getting hold of herself. The maid's making a list of relatives we should call." He glanced at his watch. "We're not going to make that plane, Norris."

"Please stay over," Leilani said from the hallway. "Both of you."

They turned, startled. There were traces of tears on Leilani's face, but she was quite composed.

"Of course," Sam said instantly, and started for the telephone. "Shall I cancel your reservation, too, Alex?"

Alex nodded.

Leilani went on. "Kathie, I'm sorry I said what I did. I guess it was just the shock."

"You don't have to apologize, Leilani."

"Well, I do. But you said something important, and I want to get to the bottom of it. Why did you say you thought Mother's death was no accident?"

"I think you should explain," Leilani said quietly.

Trujillo Fearful of Invasion Through Haiti

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, one of the last dictators in Latin America, is understandably as itchy as a sensitive woman today at the very thought of a beard.

He has formed a foreign legion of 25,000 men in his Dominican Republic—a volunteer force trained by retired army officers—because he fears an invasion of revolutionists from Cuba. He suspects they might logically filter into his one-man land through the mountains of his restless neighbor, Haiti.

"There'll be beards and brains flying through the air like butterflies," the chief recently advised his two-and-a-quarter million peoples.

Since last January I have been fascinated by the prospect of possible invasion of probably the world's most scenically idyllic dictatorship. In Cuba, from whence Fulgencio Batista had just fled, there were two little words rolled succulently off the tongues off the more idealistic celebrants for Castro:

Richard Klemfuss, a giant-sized young man with red hair and a slow, cautious way of talking, last week discussed with me what he knows of the current situation in Ciudad Trujillo, capital of the troubled land.

He and his father, Harry, had handled public relations for the Dominican Republic for 13 years before they were let go last month. The reason: no longer needed.

TRUJILLO CAUTIOUS

"Naturally," he said, "Trujillo doesn't want to see anybody sitting in his chair smoking a Havana cigar. He's very, very cautious now.

He knows there are many Haitian exiles in Cuba. He also knows that Fidel Castro was part of an 1,800-man rebel legion prepared to invade the Dominican Republic as far back as 1947."

Harry Klemfuss, Richard's father, learned about that rebel force and released a story on it from Miami. The invasion, at that point, became "unhinged."

"If there IS to be an invasion now, it will be with the knowledge of Castro certainly. And if there isn't, it'll be because Trujillo is too well prepared."

Besides his new foreign legion of volunteers, Klemfuss estimates, the dictator has about 15,000 regular army troops and 50,000 reserves. The strength of the anti-Trujillo rebel forces is as dark a secret as Fidel Castro's next political move.

There have been reports of internal uprisings in Trujillo's realm in the last two weeks. Officially denied, of course.

Klemfuss, measuring every word as if it were a prize catch, said "it is hard to imagine any revolutionists or couriers in the Dominican Republic itself right now. I sincerely feel that Trujillo has the support of 90 per cent of the people.

INTRIGUING MESS

"But then, everything in the Caribbean is always such an intriguing —I guess a good word here is "mess'—that you never know for certain who your friends and enemies are."

From long habit as P.R. man for the country, he pointed out that the dictator "takes good care of the people," that he has given them the cleanest and most efficient land in Latin America, and has provided the poor with everything from good jobs to fine medical care.

When I asked how well-to-do a Dominican can become before having to kick in to this great generous father, Klemfuss blushed.

"Well, his hand does pervade just about everything,' he replied.

I asked next if it is true, as I had heard from friends, that phones and conversations were tapped or recorded in most hotels and many homes. Klemfuss said he had heard these "rumors" too, but personally had seen no signs of the equipment.

I had also heard that one of the country's most famous and glamorous women is a virtual prisoner on the island because she had begun to write an honest biography of Trujillo. Klemfuss replied that she looks as "vivacious as ever."

After 13 years of admittedly "juggling hot potatoes" for the Dominican dictatorship, how does Klemfuss feel about the generalissimo and his subjects?

"I wish them,' he said, "the best of luck."

Music Records Selling Well in Supermarkets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Supermarkets, which sell everything form soup to furniture, are making a loud noise in the phonograph record market.

A survey by Chain Store Age said that last year records and supermarkets got together to the tune of some 8 to 15 per cent of the total record market.

Health-Labor Veto Is Hinted

Dirksen Believes Ike's Budget Balance Hopes Peril $4 Billion Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility that President Eisenhower might veto a $4,056,746,581 health-labor money bill that pierces his budget ceiling was raised today by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill).

Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he thinks Eisenhower is so determined to balance the budget he may well take the unusual course of rejecting the major money measure.

No chief executive has vetoed a major appropriations bill since 1948, when Congress overrode former President Truman's rejection of a labor-federal security money measure.

In view of this record Sen. John O. Pastore (D-RI), one of the bill's sponsors, said he doubts there will be any veto. But he added he would not be surprised if Eisenhower elects to freeze some of the funds and not spend them.

Guided by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate passed the bill by a lop-sided 83-10 vote Wednesday. Previously it had throttled, 70-26, a move by Dirksen to send it back to committee with instructions to cut the money total down to the $3,691,000,000 Eisenhower requested. The House had voted a $3,849,000,000 total.

Johnson, a heart attack victim as was Eisenhower, led the fight in committee and in the Senate for a 480 million dollar allotment for widescale research programs.

Cancer, heart and mental health research would consume the lion's share of these funds which were about 186 millions above Eisenhower's requests and 136 million more than the House approved.

Every test of modern science, including carbon-14 dating, has indicated that the Dead Sea Scrolls, discovered in 1947, are at least 1,900 years old. Except for a few previously discovered fragments, the Biblical works antedate the oldest known Hebrew manuscripts of the Old Testament by 1,000 years.

CRASH LANDING — The nose of a small plane is buried in the roof of a farm building in the village of Mortagne-sur-Gironde in western France after a crash landing. The plane went out of control after striking power lines. The pilot and his passenger, a 16-year-old girl on her first plane ride, were injured slightly.

Plane-Train Excursion Filled to Its Capacity

TOLEDO (AP) — A train and plane excursion from Toledo to Montreal for the official opening ceremony of the St. Lawrence Seaway tomorrow has been filled to capacity.

Engineer Hired for Courthouse

Kimber to Coordinate Construction of New County Building

The Oakland County Board of Auditors has announced the hiring of George F. Kimber, 71, of Lake Orion, as new county construction and maintenance engineer.

One of Kimber's principal duties will be to coordinate construction of the new $3,000,000 county court house.

Kimber, of 800 E. Clarkston Rd., replaces John G. McCormick who resigned June 16 due to ill health after being with the county since 1955.

Auditor Robert E. Lilly said Kimber will receive $8,500 a year and that an assistant to him also will be hired. Because of his age, Lilly said, Kimber will not be eligible for county retirement benefits.

Kimber served as superintendent during construction of the Colombiere College in Springfield Township, and spent 17 years with the engineering and architectural firm of Giffels and Valet, Inc. He is a registered civil engineer.

The Long Way Around

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — A giant hydraulic turbine runner, built here for use at Niagara Falls, N. Y., had to be routed through eight states—and two of them crossed twice—because of obstructions along the railroad rights-of-way. Postwar Seoul Is Berlin of Asia

By ROBERT C. MILLER

Nine years after its devastation by war, it has risen to become a modern, bustling city.

Seoul was sacked, burned and shelled from end to end; flames seared it, and at times in 1950 the volcanoes of smoke from its fires obscured it from sight.

Nine years ago it seemed inconceivable that human hands could ever restore what human hands had destroyed. But on the ninth anniversary of the Korean War which began June 25, 1950, there is little scar tissue to be seen. The broken and torn pieces that were once Seoul have been put back together with American dollars and Korean sweat.

The famous Han River Bridge that was twisted and broken has been restored, and a parallel streamlined structure today carries four lanes of heavy traffic between Yong Dong Po and Seoul.

Gaily decorated houseboats cuddle up to the wide sandy shores of the Han where American Marines were caught in a crossfire of North Korean artillery and machine guns.

The waters which were tinted with blood nine years ago flow green and tranquil today with never a hint that they brought death and suffering to thousands in those dark, grim days of '50.

Today you roll down the paved, shady avenues into Seoul that were once choked with fleeing civilians and later fought over by armies willing to pay in dead and wounded for each block they advanced.

The dangling trolley wires have been replaced and the spick and span green and cream trolleys are crammed with housewives, commuters, school children and oldsters. There is still a preponderance of military traffic, as Korean and American trucks, jeeps and sedans weave in and out amongst the bicycles, handcarts and bullock wagons.

The unforgettable A-frame on the human back is still carrying most of Korea's burdens, but the cargoes today are the goods of trade and produce instead of the ammunition and war supplies of 1950.

The children who were so pitifully ragged, scared and filthy are now scrubbed and shy and happy in their blue skirts and middies. White is still the height of feminine fashion, and Western styles are still a poor second to the nun-like gowns of white that that have always been Korea's national dress for its women.

Seoul's center of attraction in 1950 was the central railroad station, and it showed it. Bombed, burned, shelled and blasted, it was a shambles. Today it is still the hub around which Seoul revolves, but it has been completely renovated and only a few chipped corners and blackened walls remain today as evidence of its punishment.

Everywhere there is the sound of building in Seoul as the reconstruction goes forward. Bamboo for scaffolding is at a premium and as fast as old buildings are demolished, work begins on new ones. Up on one of Seoul's highest hills the ground is being cleared for the new capitol.

The driving force behind Seoul's rebirth is the American dollar for more military and economic aid has been poured into South Korea than any other area of its size in the world.

Children's Camp Offers Fun for Area Diabetics

Pontiac's diabetic youngsters have been invited to attend a two-week summer camp where they can have all the pleasures of the traditional outing under the care of physicians and registered dietitians.

The session will be held Aug. 16-29 at the site near Columbiaville, just north of Lapeer.

Until this year, Camp Midicha was utilized most by Detroit area diabetics ages 8-16. The association has announced its facilities will now be able to accommodate more outstate youngsters.

The camp is located on a 100-acre tract of farm and woodland including its own lake, athletic field, nature trails and craft shops. A wide variety of activities are available.

The medical team consists of two doctors, four nurses, two dietitians and a director, with a staff of counselors to supervise the recreation program.

There are also a limited number of camperships available for those unable to pay the full fee.

Union Votes Strike at Wyandotte Chemical

DETROIT (AP)—The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union says its members have voted 884-276 to strike against Wyandotte Chemical Corp. in a contract dispute. No strike date has been set.

Local 11-627 of the union contends the company is violating contract provisions on classifications, job transfers, seniority and assignment of salaried personnel.

There has been no public comment from the company.

"SHOP WHERE EVERY DAY IS SALE DAY"

When a truck goes to work for Lester Brothers, Inc., of Martinsville, Virginia, it's in for a life of extra-hard labor. Loads are whoppers—whole sections of Lesco prefab homes. Runs are scheduled without let up. And at the job sites the going's always tough. That's why Lester Brothers specify Chevrolet; why they're adding new ones as soon as the older models need replacing. Chevies take the meanness out of the roughest jobs. And they cost less to maintain than any other trucks Lester Brothers have owned!

A going concern like Lester Brothers, with tight delivery dates to meet every day in the week, demands maximum truck dependability and performance. And, mister, they get it—with most of their Chevrolets going at least 100,000 miles (some of them 150,000) before the engine heads even come off! With big truck V8's that hum right along on hurry-up schedules. With Chevy trucks that are easier to handle, specialists at getting in and out of congested job sites.

This particular operation sure points up Chevrolet's natural ability to handle any kind of job that could come along. It illustrates what we've been saying for a long time—that once you put a Chevy on the payroll, that tough job loses its fight fast and settles down to a smooth-running routine. If your job demands even half as much as this one does, you've got good reason to visit your Chevrolet dealer. He's the man with specific information . . . the man to see before another good working day goes by.

Almost everyone has had some experience with air conditioning. Stores and offices without it are becoming the exception. And almost everyone, sooner or later, will be joining the thousands of families who enjoy air conditioning at home. They're the comfortable people—the ones who are looking forward to indoor summer living, who will enjoy good appetites, get a good night's sleep, have more pep and energy. In their homes, the air is dust-free, pollen-free, low in humidity. For them, comfort is a matter of control. You are probably looking forward to living in conditioned air, too. And right now you want more information to help you choose wisely.

LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

CHOOSE THE TYPE THAT SUITS YOU BEST

Electric air conditioning can be provided by a central system serving the entire home, or by individual units in various rooms.

In an existing house, the present heating system may dictate the type of cooling best for you. A central system, installed in the basement (A) or above the ceiling (B), can sometimes use the ductwork of a warm-air heating system. It depends upon the capacity of the ducts in relation to the capacity of the air conditioning system. A central unit is also frequently placed in a closet or utility room. With proper installation, such systems are excellent.

Room air conditioners can be installed any number of ways—in casement windows (C), the upper or lower portion of regular double-hung windows (D), in door transoms (E) and even through the wall (F).

THE FOUR DUTIES

To qualify technically as an air conditioner, a unit must be able to do four jobs for you: (1) lower the temperature, (2) remove moisture (dehumidify), (3) circulate the air and (4) clean the air. You can see why they're called air conditioners rather than simply air coolers. Gallons of water are removed from the air daily; dirt and pollen are filtered out; stale air is constantly being replaced with fresh, invigorating air. With windows and doors shut, your house is quieter and practically dust-free.

PERFORMANCE FACTORS

Any type of air conditioning unit should be installed only by trained, qualified people who know how to take account of the many variables which will affect performance. No one can say with certainty that such-and-such a size will cool so much space. The heat load your air conditioner will have to handle is determined by such things as: the relation of the house to the sun, nearness of shade trees, window area, condition of insulation, interior heat from people and appliances. Be safe, let an expert help you.

WHAT RATINGS MEAN

Air conditioner capacity is often discussed in tons A one-ton unit is said to cool the same as would a ton of ice melting in 24 hours. Capacity is also often spoken of as motor horsepower. The idea that one ton equals one horsepower is not a precise measure. The cooling capacity of an air conditioner, expressed in BTUs, is the meaningful measure. The thing to remember is that a one-ton air conditioner should, under normal circumstances, cool a moderate-sized living room.

THREE TO CONSIDER

You'll want to look for these features when you choose a room air conditioner: A filter that's easy to remove for cleaning (it's practically all the maintenance an air conditioner needs). A thermostatic control that automatically turns the unit off and on to maintain your pre-set temperature. And a one-year guarantee on equipment plus a five-year warranty on the compressor. Be sure to find out whether your dealer offers an annual service contract and maintains local service.

A WORD ABOUT WIRING

Running an air conditioner (or any other appliance, for that matter) without adequate wiring is like sprinkling the lawn with a water pistol—it takes a lot more work and still doesn't do the job. Some air conditioners operate on the 115-volt circuits which are most widely used in your home; others require 230-volt circuits. The difference is important. In either case, you'll find you get better operation if your air conditioner is on a separate circuit. For a free HOUSEPOWER wiring estimate, call your electrical contractor or your local Edison office. In Metropolitan Detroit, you can phone Woodward 3-1370.

A TOTALLY DIFFERENT WAY

Have you heard about the electric heat pump? It's a year-round climate control system which cools in summer and heats in winter—automatically. One temperature setting does the job, no matter what the season outdoors. It also filters and dehumidifies the air. Available as a central system or an individual room unit, the electric heat pump is the modern combination heating-cooling system.

NEW LOWER RATE STEP

Effective June 1, residential customers will benefit from a lower rate of 2¢ per kilowatt-hour for all monthly usage over 750 kilowatt-hours. This is an 11 per cent reduction from the 2¼¢ rate which formerly applied. Living costs, generally, have been rising during the past several years. But the cost of electricity has not increased in over ten years—it remains one of your biggest values.

Ask your dealer—he will supply specific data on the electric air conditioner model or size you need.

Colleges Scored for Poor English

They Don't Instruct Teachers Properly, So Students Suffer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Colleges and universities which complain that their students can't speak or write good English have themselves to blame, a college English professor said today.

"The great majority of our grade school and high school teachers were not properly prepared for their jobs in college," said Eugene E. Slaughter of Southeast Oklahoma State College. "They can't pass on to their students what they don't know themselves."

Slaughter is here to expound his theories at the annual Conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. Delegates are trying to work out a practical program of teacher education.

"Some of our colleges and universities insist that a student spend half his time on professional education courses," said others permit it," Slaughter said in an interview. "This is completely out of balance. Such institutions think it is enough to know how to teach whether or not you know anything about what to teach."

The normal requirement for a college degree is 120 semester hours of work spread over four years. Slaughter said students going into teaching should take five-year courses of 150 semester hours.

"They should have 40 hours of liberal or general education, 40 hours of professional education courses, and 40 hours in a major field of study," he said. "That would leave them 30 hours of study in depth in their major field or releated courses."

Slaughter said the National Council of Teachers of English of which he is a member, believes every high school English teacher should have an absolute minimum of 24 semester hours of college work in English. Far too many, he said, have had 12 hours or less.

The picture isn't all dark, he said. "The public is gradually waking up to the fact that good teaching is important, and some of our universities and colleges are doing a fine job, such schools as Stanford, Goucher College, Ohio State University, the University of Illinois and the University of Wisconsin.

"But we still have a long way to go."

Birthplace to Recall Authoress of Hymn

FALMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) — The 100th anniversary of the birth of Katherine Lee Bates, author of "America the Beautiful," will be celebrated Aug. 12 in this Cape Cod town — her birthplace.

The author of the verses which, set to music, have become one of the most widely-sung of America's patriotic hymns, was born in a shingled house on Main Street, near the Village Green. The house is marked by a simple bronze plaque on a boulder.

Tavern Owner Buys Buffalo, Plans a Zoo

HENRY, Ill. (UPI)—Two "vanishing Americans," a pair of buffalo, are being housed on Fred Eix's farm near here for a tavern owner who wants to develop a zoo.

Eckhardt said the animals are gentle—they eat out of their keeper's hand—but expensive. For example, it cost $300 to ship them here, due to an old railroad regulation that considers buffalo extremely dangerous.

Eckhardt apparently is trying to bring a touch of the Old West to Illinois for, along with the buffalo, he has three deer on the farm and plans to buy two antelopes from the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago.

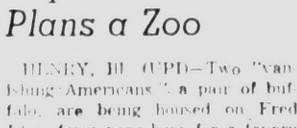

Then he will have a home "where the buffalo roam and the deer and the antelope play."

Her 1st Art Experience Proves Gigantic Chore

WHEAT RIDGE, Colo. (AP) — Mrs. Clarence Williams is a junior high school gym teacher who never had an art lesson in her life.

That didn't stop her when she decided she'd like a "great, big picture" in a basement recreation room. She went to work with paints and when she was done, she had a mountain mural 25 feet long.

Skyrocket 105 Per Cent Since 1947-49

Room Rates Soar Medical Costs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The price of medical care has gone up in the past decade about twice as fast as all other living costs, government figures reveal.

But it hospital room rates, not doctor and dentist bills, which have climbed faster than any service measured by the Labor Department's barometer of inflation, the consumer price index.

Doctors' fees have advanced 40 per cent and dentists' charges are up 33 per cent compared with the bills they sent patients in the 1947-49 era.

$15 INSTEAD OF $10

Living costs as a whole, including food, clothing, housing and transportation, have increased about 14 per cent in the last 10 years.

In contrast, the average family spends $15 to get the same medical care that was available for $10 in 1947-49. This is a 50 per cent increase.

Experts at the Bureau of Labor Statistics offer several explanations for the rise. But they caution against that it is easy to believe the price of any service has increased when you're buying more of that service.

They said the consumer price index does not pretend to measure changes in the amount of medical care received because of higher incomes or new ways of payment, such as group insurance.

A "phenomenal" increase in hospital rates was triggered by higher hospital salaries and other overhead costs. The average patient's stay has been shortened considerably by new medical discoveries.

Greater use of X-rays and laboratory tests helps run up hospital charges. New equipment has been costly.

As for physician and dental fees, the government experts noted that they moved up at a slow rate during the 1938-48 period and since then have climbed at about the same speed as costs of haircuts, auto repairs and laundry.

VARY WIDELY

Medical costs still vary widely from city to city. The latest BLS breakdown for the last quarter of 1958 shows the price of a doctor's office visit ranged from $3 to $5.33 in 20 of the nation's largest cities.

The charge for delivering a baby ranged from $78.50 to $175, while an appendectomy varied from $129.17 to $223.43.

Prescriptions for penicillin ranged in price from $2.25 to $3.40 and dentists in the 20 cities charged from $4.33 to $9.92 to pull a tooth and $3.67 to $8 for a simple filling.

BLS figures show that eyeglasses, aspirin and multiple vitamin pills are the best bargain in the medical field. Glasses rose about 17 per cent in price—less than other living costs by a good margin.

Aspirin prices rose less than 10 per cent and costs of multiple vitamin concentrate have not changed significantly since it was brought into the index in 1952.

The bureau calculates that the average city wage-earner spends about 5.4 per cent of his pay on medical care.

Employer Won't Take Worker Who's Healthy

★ ★ ★

Within the walls of his factory on Long Island the legless, the armless and the blind produce more than two million dollars worth of electronic equipment a year, Viscardi said in an interview.

An armless, legless man is a foreman in the packaging department. Another supervisor works flat on his back from a hitter. His back and legs are fused as a result of spinal injuries.

Viscardi has known of afflictions since birth. He was born with two short stumps where legs should have been.

In 1947, aged 37, Viscardi quit his job as director of personnel for a large textile firm to devote his time to a new idea in rehabilitation.

Five years later, four crippled persons began Abilities, Inc., in a garage.

Today, 21 employes labor in a brand-new plant, soon to be accompanied by a new gymnasium, swimming pool and facilities for music societies, adult education, a camera club and arts and crafts.

Viscardi is married and has four daughters, the oldest 11 and the youngest 3.

His cheerful outlook becomes even sunnier when he discusses the plant's safety record. There have been two reportable injuries in six years, a far safer situation than the national average, he says.

Recently Abilities, Inc., began hiring persons discharged from mental institutions. Already employed were paraplegics, epileptics, cardiacs, amputees, the blind, deaf mutes and victims of cerebral palsy, rheumatoid arthritis, multiple sclerosis, polio and cancer.

Seriously disabled, from floor sweeper up to the boss, the men and women at Abilities, Inc., work for wages comparable to other firms of its size and get their jobs done on schedule—without rejects, Viscardi says.

Scholarships Deluge Outstanding Student

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Bill Delehanty, fresh out of St. Thomas College, has a unique problem: By next fall he must decide how to use $8,200 in graduate scholarships.

Bill earned the scholarships while compiling a record of almost all "A's" in a liberal arts course that emphasized history, foreign languages and debate.

He can read, write and speak French and Latin. He had two years of Greek and German. He won 70 per cent of his debates over a three-year period and received the St. Thomas "Mr. Tommy" award as the senior who best represented the school's ideals.

Tentatively, Bill plans to solve his scholarship dilemma this way: He will enter Yale as an Overbrook Fellow to study history next fall using funds from the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship.

In the fall of 1960, he will continue at Yale for his master's degree using a Danforth scholarship. Later, he will work for a doctorate, by which he hopes to be teaching at some small college.

Too Good to Get Games

BRADFORD, Vt. (UPI) — The Bradford High School baseball team had to advertise for games because it was so good no other school dared offer opposition.

Falling Rocks Pose Golf Course Hazard

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Thomas J. DiFranco, director of parks and recreation, warned golfers to watch for falling stones from blasting on the Niagara Power project along the eastern boundary of Hyde Park course.

He added that the new hazard did not warrant a change in par.

DECLINES $110,000 — John O. Ekblom, 64, of Cleveland, is a man of principle. His board of directors at Hupp Corp. offered him a $110,000 bonus. Ekblom, who earns $42,000 a year, said "No, thank you." His reason: the sum of $152,000 "far exceeds my needs and my appetite."

So It'll Be Distributed

He Just Doesn't Want Firm's $110,000 Bonus

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Hupp Corp.'s new board chairman today turned down a $110,000-a-year bonus and suggested that the company's directors use the money as incentive payments for other executives.

Directors adopted the suggestion made by John O. Ekblom, 64, of Greenwich, Conn., who has been board chairman of Hupp since earlier this year.

Last year the 50-year-old Hupp Corp., which employs some 4,000 in manufacturing home appliances, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioning units and components for missiles and jet aircraft, had gross sales in excess of 53 million dollars.

"The total sum of $152,000 far exceeds my needs and my appetite," Ekblom said in a letter he gave to directors at today's meeting.

MORE THAN ENOUGH

"In fact," he added, "the suggested base pay will more than suffice."

In line with Ekblom's suggestion, the board decided to distribute the $110,000 to selected members of the Key Club "in recognition of special efforts and results."

Ekblom said he felt the additional incentive pay would "be more stimulating to the company and bring greater results to Hupp than would be the case if paid to me."

Prior to becoming chairman last January he was president of the John O. Ekblom Co. of New York City.

Fire Takes 7th Life

DETROIT (AP) — Fire which raced through a Detroit home June 14 has claimed its seventh young victim. Nathan Crowell, 10, died Wednesday of burns. He was one of eight Crowell children in the house. A girl, 11, escaped with minor burns after jumping from a window.

Flint City Fathers to Wait for Corvairs

FLINT (AP) — The City of Flint, long-time customer of Flint-made General Motors autos, has deferred purchase of five new cars for its Health Department pending the debut of GM's small Corvair.

The City Commission, in a meeting this week, unanimously approved a suggestion by Commissioner Ronald L. Craig to wait several months "to take a look at the new Chevrolet Corvair."

The Corvair will be built at Willow Run, near Detroit.

July 31 Open House Set

CHATHAM (AP)—The Upper Peninsula experiment station of Michigan State University will stage its annual open house here July 31, S. M. King, station superintendent, said the program will include explanation of research on poultry, dairy and farm crops in the Upper Peninsula.

3 Waterford Business Places Are Burglarized

Three business establishments in Waterford Township were broken into early today and an undetermined amount of cash stolen from vending machines, according to township police.

A rock was thrown through a front plate glass window of the Goyette Service Station at 1365 W. Huron St. by burglars who pried open the cigarette and coke machines.

A rear window of the Kint Inn, 3590 Elizabeth Lake Rd., was kicked in and a juke box, pin ball and cigarette machines looted by the intruders.

Child Electrocuted

NEWARK, N.Y. (AP) — Nine-month-old Fred Murphy, found dead at the base of a lamp, apparently touched an exposed cord and was electrocuted, the coroner ruled Wednesday.

Iran has artificial underground canals to carry water for irrigation. The reason for underground water to aid agriculture is that, in hot temperature countries, the system preserves water from wastage and evaporation.

TO SETTLE ESTATE

I am taking sealed bids on property ¾ mile west of Highland, Mich. This property is a point of M59 and Livingston Rd. There is 1.07 acres. I reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Bids must be sent to: Flossie Lorenz Admix. G-6311 So. Saginaw Rd. Grand Blanc, Mich. Bids must be in by July 12, 1959.

Live Lobsters Came to the Party

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Transplant a New Englander any place in the United States and he still wants New England food. A group of young couples living in Herrington Hills, all exiles from New England, decided to import the food for a regular New England clambake. They met in the back yard of the William Mayo home on Eckman street for their dinner last weekend.

Tracy Mayo and the two Gatcomb boys, sons of Gerald and Jacqueline Gatcomb, were there along with the three children of Raymond and Jean King and Susan, infant daughter of James and Marilyn Keegan. Except for the baby, the children had hot dogs while their parents feasted on lobster.

Bob and Kathryn Anderson were the fifth local couple. Dick and Sally O'Haro from Milwaukee were visiting firemen! The O'Haros were the only adults not originally from New England.

Live lobsters and clams came directly from Maine. The clams were eaten first with drawn butter and the clam broth. The lobsters were steamed and served with more drawn butter.

Both German style and regular potato salad, as well as a relish tray, were on the tables. Hot rolls and butter, coffee and Indian pudding with whipped cream completed the meal.

It is possible to buy canned Indian pudding. Several cans of it came with the lobsters and clams. But Jean Mayo made two more batches of it from her pet recipe.

INDIAN PUDDING
By Mrs. William Mayo

½ cup cornmeal
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup molasses
2 tablespoons butter

Butter a 1½ quart casserole. Scald 3 cups of milk in double boiler. Remove from heat. Mix cornmeal, sugar, salt, cinnamon and ginger and add slowly to hot milk. Stir vigorously to mix well and remove all lumps.

Mix beaten egg and molasses. Put a little of the hot mixture into this, then pour all of it back into milk and stir well.

Cook in double boiler for 20 minutes or until very thick. Stir in butter. Pour into casserole. Pour ¼th cup of milk over top. DO NOT MIX. Bake at 300 degrees for 2½ to 3 hours, or until a knife comes out clean.

Marble Whipped Cream Delicious on Fruit Pie

Strikingly different is this topping recipe for individual frozen fruit pies. Make it in 10 minutes . . . forget it for an hour.

Here's what you do: In small bowl whip ½ cup heavy cream. Stir 2 tablespoons currant jelly with fork; gently fold into cream to make a marbled pattern. Spread into one end of an ice cube tray making it about 1-inch thick. Freeze about 1 hour. Cut into cubes. Serve on cooled baked blueberry and peach pies.

Serve Pastry Dip Hot Then as Cold Snack

Here is a new party dip that you can serve with a flair. Unusually delicious, it's an easy-to-make blend of American cheese and deviled ham which can be mixed before the party and then warmed at the last minute in your chafing dish. After the party, any leftover dip can be stored in the refrigerator to use later as a delicious cold spread for snacks.

Deviled Ham Swirl Dip

2 family size (4½ oz.) cans deviled ham
2 teaspoons salad mustard
2 teaspoons worcestershire

Melt cheese over low heat (or in double boiler) with deviled ham. Blend in mustard and worcestershire. Keep hot in chafing dish. Serve with assorted small crackers or dip chips.

Angel Food Works Magic as Simple Wedding Cake

Bridal elegance and budget economy seldom blend, unfortunately, and the wedding cake department is no exception. That's why we're particularly pleased to bring you a wedding cake serving suggestion that is both elegant and economical—and extra delicious as well.

All you need are four packaged angel food cakes from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department, some inexpensive candy decorations, and two packages of your favorite fluffy white frosting mix.

Elaborate serving trays aren't even necessary. You may present the cake handsomely atop a silver or white doily underlined with a ring of heavy cardboard.

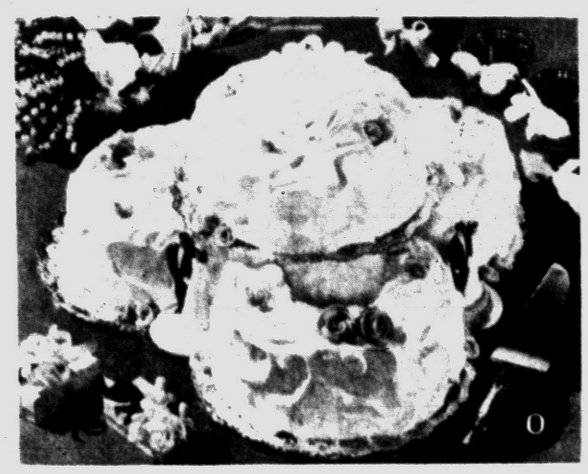

This angel food wedding cake tastes every bit as luscious as it looks. Fluffy, fresh angel food cakes made from a cook book recipe will give you tasty servings enough for thirty-two to forty guests.

Heavy corrugated cardboard
Aluminum foil
10-inch silver or white paper doilies
4 10-inch angel food cakes
2 packages fluffy white frosting mix
Candy flower decorations

Cut a platform out of cardboard to hold three 10-inch angel food cakes. Cut another to hold one angelfood cake. Cover cardboard pieces with aluminum foil and silver or white paper doilies. Top big platform with three 10-inch angel food cakes and small cardboard with a single cake.

Prepare frosting as manufacturer directs on package label. Frost all cakes. Decorate with candy roses and or doves. Place a small tumbler upside down in center of three cakes. Set forth decorated angel food cake ring on tumbler. Decorate center with ribbon bow. Before cutting, remove top cake. Serves 32-40.

ELEGANT ECONOMY — This handsome wedding cake, made from packaged angel food cakes and packaged frosting mix, will lend any wedding party the elegant touch it deserves at an amazingly low cost.

Broiled Crackers

Beat 2 egg whites until stiff. Fold in ½ cup chive cottage cheese and season with salt, pepper and cayenne. Pile the fluffy mixture on slices of melba toast, rye krisp or crackers and broil under low heat until delicately browned. Serve piping hot with a big fruit salad plate and a cup of tea.

Michigan Apples Graded According to Color

In Michigan, apples must be graded. So which will you choose asks the MSU Marketing Agent. The bag that is marked U.S. Fancy that sells for more money or the bag marked U.S. 1?

The only difference the Michigan Inspection Law makes between U.S. Fancy apples and U.S. 1 apples is a difference in color. If brighter, more uniform color is more important to you, then choose the apples marked U.S. Fancy. If the money difference is more important, pick the bag marked U.S. 1.

Combine Fish, Shrimp in Barbecue Dish

Cod fish is less expensive than most fish and is widely available either fresh or quick-frozen. In this recipe it is combined with shrimp—rated the most popular sea food in the United States—and also available quick-frozen as well as fresh. With a savory marinade to suit is an easy-to-prepare and delicious-to-eat recipe.

Since you are using your oven for a main course, why not add an oven-baked vegetable and dessert; for instance an instant mashed potato casserole topped with buttered crumbs and Parmesan cheese and an Apple Betty.

Lemon Barbecue of Fish

1½ pounds cod fish
1 package (10 ounces) quick-frozen shrimp
2 teaspoons kitchen bouquet
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup finely diced onion
1 teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano

Cut raw cod fish into 1½ inch cubes, removing any bone. Add shrimp which have been defrosted. Place in bowl and sprinkle with bouquet. Toss lightly together until fish is evenly coated.

Combine and add salad oil, lemon juice, onion, garlic salt, celery salt, pepper and oregano. Pour over fish and let stand in a cool place at least 1 hour. Then arrange the marinated fish in a single layer on greased shallow baking dish.

Bake in preheated 350 degrees oven until fish flakes readily, about 25 minutes. Serve immediately over hot cooked rice, accompanied with French cut green beans. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Looks Richer Than It Is

You needn't deprive the gals of dessert at your spring luncheons, simply because so many are on slimming diets.

Choose a shimmering, molded dessert such as this orange blossom whip. It is low in calories but high in flavor appeal. Skim milk is used in its preparation. Skim milk, say home economists who developed the recipe, contains a mere 85 calories per eight ounce cup, yet is equally as nourishing as fresh whole milk. Only the fats have been removed.

Orange Whip

3 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups skim milk
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1 6-ounce can frozen concentrated orange juice, undiluted and unthawed
3 egg whites, beaten stiff
3 tablespoons sugar

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in sugar and salt. Stir in 1½ cups of skim milk. Cook over hot water until mixture coats a spoon.

Soften gelatin in remaining ½ cup skim milk; dissolve in hot custard mixture. Stir in frozen orange juice. Chill until slightly thickened.

Beat until frothy. Add sugar to egg whites; fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon into a 1½-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with fresh orange slices.

Lentil Dish Has Different Taste

Many persons think lentil dishes are wonderful and make them often. Many others never have tried their hand at preparing lentils.

If you never have tried lentils, or even if you have, here is an easy-to-prepare recipe. You'll find that this lentil-sausage casserole makes a handy and economical dish for hot luncheons and suppers. The ingredients combine to provide a delicious savory flavor.

Savory Lentil-Sausage Casserole

2 cups dried lentils
1 tomato, canned or fresh, or ¼ cup tomato catsup
1 onion, chopped
2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Few celery leaves
Salt and pepper
1 pound sausage (frankfurters, cooked Italian or Polish sausage)

Wash, pick over lentils and soak overnight in cold water to cover. Add tomato, chopped onion, vinegar, butter or margarine, chopped parsley, celery leaves, and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer gently until tender, but not mushy, about two hours. Cut up sausage and add to lentils for the last half-hour of cooking. Yield: About 6 servings.

For Flaming Desserts

Flaming desserts don't necessarily mean brandies or rum. Pour some pure lemon extract on lumps of sugar, set it on your dessert, touch a match and you'll have a dessert flambe even children can enjoy.

HAMBURGER SAUCES—To give the hamburger new esteem on the menu, serve with any of these easy, good-tasting pickle sauces. Sour Cream and Relish, Sweet Pickle and Egg Sauce and Pickle Tomato Sauce are three tangy recipes introduced by the National Pickle Packers Association.

West Coast Dessert

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Foods Research Institute recommends this dessert: Fill eclairs with banana ice cream and well-drained fruit cocktail and top with chocolate sauce.

Epicurean dessert: English water biscuits—we'd call them crackers — served with cream cheese and fine preserved strawberry jam or the French Bar-le-Duc (a preserve made from seeded currants).

British Critic Has It In for English Cooks

TORQUAY, England (UPI) — Lady Lewisham, outspoken critic of British customs, believes that English cooks should be hanged for what they do to food.

"In Britain we have the best food and the worst cooks," she told an audience at the International Gastronomic Festival.

"In this island we have the greatest variety of fish in the world, the finest beef, the most tender lamb. Yet the crimes committed against food in this country should be a hanging offense."

She said Englishwomen do their best in the kitchen but "Englishmen are the most stodgy and unimaginative eaters in the world."

To add flavor and texture contrast to creamed dishes, such as creamed chicken, seafood or eggs, saute finely diced celery in the butter or margarine when making the cream sauce.

Hamburgers Are All Dressed Up

The lowly hamburger was never more exalted than by the National Pickle Packers' trio of pickle sauces developed to serve a variety of tastes. For those who have the flair of a gourmet, sour cream and pickle relish are highlighted. Another quick, delicious sauce is a combination of hard-cooked eggs, sweet cucumber pickles, mayonnaise and mustard.

The third is a low-calorie quickie that utilizes left-over pickle liquid, tomato juice and spices. They all take minutes to make and are sure to give a relief to the hamburger routine at your house.

Sour Cream and Relish Sauce

1 cup sour cream
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
½ teaspoon celery salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Serve with hamburgers, as desired. Makes about 1⅓ cups.

★ ★ ★

Sweet Pickle and Egg Sauce

1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup prepared mustard
½ teaspoon garlic salt or powder
½ cup sweet fresh cucumber pickles, diced
1 hard-cooked egg, diced

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Garnish with pickles, as desired. Serve with hamburgers, as desired. Makes about 1½ cups.

★ ★ ★

Pickle Tomato Sauce

1 12-ounce can tomato juice
¼ cup dill pickle liquid
1½ teaspoons curry powder
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally. Serve with hamburgers, if desired. Chill, and serve cold, if desired. Makes about 2 cups.

Marinate Pineapple for Spring Salad

For a pretty salad during warm days try this combination: Drain a number 2 can of pineapple chunks and place in a bowl. Pour ½ cup of French dressing over fruit and allow to stand in the marinade in the refrigerator for 2 hours or longer.

At serving time, arrange pineapple on crisp salad greens. Sprinkle each serving with chopped stuffed olives and chopped pecans (or slivered almonds). Serve with mayonnaise. (Serves 4.)

Chocolate Has New Role in Yeast Bread

Chocolate, America's favorite flavor, is featured in a brand new fashion. It is used as a delicious filling for a coffee ring that is guaranteed to keep you busy filling requests for the recipe. This cake is unsurpassed as a dessert or an accompaniment for afternoon tea or coffee. Watch the children lest they make it disappear before you can say Chocolate Coffee Ring.

Chocolate Coffee Ring

½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
2 eggs, beaten
5 cups sifted enriched flour
¼ cup sliced maraschino cherries
¼ cup chopped pecans

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture.

Add beaten eggs and about half the flour. Beat until smooth. Add cherries and pecans. Stir in remaining flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic.

Place in greased bowl; brush top with soft shortening. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about one hour. Punch down and turn out on a lightly floured board.

Roll out into an oblong about 14x18 inches. Spread with Chocolate filling (recipe below). Roll up as for jelly roll to make roll 14 inches long. Seal edges firmly. Place on a greased baking sheet and form into a circle. Seal ends together firmly.

Chocolate Filling: Combine ⅓ cup cocoa, ½ cup sugar and ¼ cup evaporated milk in saucepan. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly, about 2 minutes.

Bake Cheese Roll-ups

Cut the crusts off thinly sliced white bread and spread with a soft cheese mixture. Roll up, butter the outside of the rolls and bake in a hot oven until golden brown and toasted. Serve at once to delighted guests.

Golden Touch Comes From Orange Bits

This family favorite gets a new lift! Juicy chunks of California orange and sweet raisins are added to lightly seasoned coleslaw to make an outstanding flavor change.

Because of the excellent crop of navel oranges this year, they're on the shopper's "best-buy" list. It's a good time to add their nutritional goodness to your menus.

Mission Cole Slaw

3 cups shredded green cabbage
4 medium oranges, cut bite-size
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard

Combine shredded cabbage, orange pieces, salt, pepper and raisins. Mix mayonnaise and mustard together and blend through the salad. Chill and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Man or Shellfish?

What is the plural of shrimp, "shrimp" or shrimps"? Harry Hansen, book reviewer and syndicated columnist, once explained it this way: When the word refers to shellfish, the plural is "shrimp." When it refers to men, the plural

Never Chillabanana

Never put green-tipped bananas in the refrigerator; they need to ripen at room temperature. After the bananas are fully ripe, however, they may be refrigerated for a day or two.

Broccoli Pie Arranged in Spoke Fashion

BROCCOLI COLONIAL PIE.

To make the crust, press the following mixture into a 9-inch pie pan: 1 egg white (beaten until foamy), 1½ cups dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup melted shortening. Reserve ¼ cup mixture for top of pie. Bake crust in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 15 minutes.

Cook 6 broccoli stalks (split in half, lengthwise). On the crumb crust radiate the 12 stalks with tops at edge of crust.

For the filling: Combine 1 cup each of cream sauce (seasoned with thyme and bay leaf), diced cooked ham and grated process cheese. Pour mixture into crust between broccoli "wheel spokes." Top with remaining crumb mixture.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before cutting into wedges for serving.

Broiled Cheese Crackers

For a quick hot hors d'oeuvres: combine two-thirds cup Grated Parmesan and Romano cheese with ½ cup evaporated milk. Let stand a few minutes until thickened.

Spread on crisp crackers. Place under broiler for just a few seconds until browned. Top each cracker with rolled anchovy fillet. Plenty easy—and good.

Pork Holds Limelight as Economical Meat Buy

Summer time at last! And there's evidence in the food markets to prove it, relates the MSU Marketing Agent.

Pork prices continue to rise primarily due to smaller quantities and less desirable sizes coming to market. Beef, veal and lamb supplies and prices continue about as they have been. Poultry prices are the same to slightly higher at wholesale levels which makes featured items more desirable from standpoint of price.

On the other hand, fresh fruit and vegetable supplies are increasing. This week you find slightly larger quantities of blueberries, potatoes, watermelon, peaches and cabbage. Now's the time to use Michigan strawberries.

CHOOSING PROTEIN FOR THE MENU—Pork manages to hold the limelight with many cuts specially marked for your choosing.

The lean Boston butt serves three persons from each pound for less than 20 cents per serving. If you cut the Boston butt into steaks for the grill, it's best to cut them about 1 inch thick. Turn frequently and don't rush the cooking. All pork should be cooked well-done until the meat is gray all the way through.

Whole smoked hams are available at less than 20 cents per serving also. Usually a ham will provide more than one family meal. The choice slices, which can be cut from the center, make a good selection for a meal from the broiler or outdoor grill. The butt or shank portions might be roasted in the oven.

A rib-end roast of pork is good for barbecue and within, or below, the twenty cent per serving price range. If the chine bone is split, you can cut the meat to lay flat on the grill. Some markets always split the chine bone and many more are cutting the rib-end roast into "country-style ribs."

A year ago, bacon cost 12 to 13 cents more per pound. Does this make you feel more generous about using it?

Ground beef is probably the most popular beef choice. It's quick and easy to prepare, and fits into the twenty cent per serving bracket. For the best in flavor, slash the store wrap to allow air to circulate around the meat. Then use it within a day. If you cannot use ground beef within a day, mold into patties, separate each with paper, seal in a moisture proof wrap and freeze.

Any special prices for beef steak are especially welcome. Just remember that porterhouse, T-bone, sirloin and rib are the tender steaks. Some less tender steaks may be cooked in dry heat if you follow a few precautions. The top of round or blade-chuck steaks may be broiled if you choose top quality beef, tender them in a natural food acid and cook rare to medium well-done. Cubed steaks are tendered mechanically at the store.

Leg of lamb is listed at lower prices than a week ago. If your family is small, the whole leg can be put to good use by having a few 1-inch thick broiling steaks cut from the butt end. Then the shank half may serve as an oven roast or you might remove the bones for a boneless rotisserie roast.

Broiler-fryer prices look much like those you've found lately. At 40 cents a pound, you'll get a pound of all-cooked chicken meat for about 80 cents. At 50 cents a pound, the pound of all-cooked chicken meat is about a dollar, or 25 cents per serving. Small Beltsville type turkeys and hen turkeys fall into this same price range.

Your shopping list would be incomplete without eggs and lots of them. Two pounds (what you get in a dozen large size eggs) costs 37 to 47 cents or one pound is 17 to 24 cents.

FROM THE PRODUCE DEPARTMENT—Time's a wastin' if you plan to freeze strawberries. The harvest is about finished in the large growing area of southwestern Michigan. Alpena berries start this week, but supplies in the markets will become much less after this week.

You may wish to check with local farmer's markets or farmers in your community for strawberries to freeze or preserve. It will pay to make contacts in advance in order to get the varieties and quantities you want.

Peach supplies grow larger. Smart shoppers will choose firm peaches with creamy white or yellow background color. These will ripen at room temperature within a day or two. Then put them in the refrigerator. Peaches with green background color will not ripen properly.

★ ★ ★

Fresh cherry supplies are small this year, and even though both California and Washington are shipping them now, prices will remain high.

Sour Cream, Nuts Good in Celery

Cheese-stuffed celery is noteworthy both as a garnish to salads or as an appetizer.

For 1 cup: blend a 3-ounce package of cream cheese with 2 tablespoons of commercial sour cream, a dash of curry powder and 3 tablespoons of finely chopped Brazil nuts. Spoon into celery stalks.

Detroit Horse Show Opens at Bloomfield Hunt Club

Pontiac Press Photos

Taking a "candy break" at the horse show are Bobby and Becky Wild, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Wild of Birmingham. Both of them were entered in the pony events at the Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club yesterday.

An odd kind of cool talk hits the ears of visitors to the Detroit Horse Show being held this week at the Bloomfield Open Hunt, East Long Lake road off Woodward avenue.

It's about horses and riders, naturally, and to the initiated it is horse show language, sometimes amusing, sometimes old-world but always precise.

To the neophyte it is sometimes confusing, sometimes strange, and maddeningly misleading.

A "hind tick" doesn't mean what one might be tempted to think. A "hind tick" occurs when a horse touches an obstacle with his hind legs while going over. There is a "front tick" too.

To go on, "hunting pink" is not pink. It's red. It is a term that describes the coats fox hunters (men) earn through several years of fox hunting.

A "hog's back" does not have bristles. It's a three-bar jump with a center bar higher than the other two paralleling bars.

"Stock" does not refer to animals. It's a white necktie used to set off formal riding clothes.

Watching a dressage class at the Detroit Horse Show now being held at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club are Stanley M. Humphrey, the general chairman, and Mrs. Bruce Campbell, both of Bloomfield Hills. The dog is Mrs. Campbell's English setter, "Brian of Bloomfield."

City Exchange Students Start Out for Europe

By MARGARET BROWN

Pontiac Central High School students Sherry Fink and Sue Koprince have left for Europe as exchange students under the auspices of the Students Abroad Program, sponsored by the American Field Service. Only 120 students from throughout the United States have been chosen to make the trip.

Sherry, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. Jerome Fink of Ottawa drive, left Wednesday by plane from New York to join a family in Sweden with whom she will stay for eight months.

Her Swedish "parents" will be Mr. and Mrs. Stig Johansen of Ornskoldsvik who have a daughter and three sons. Mr. Johansen is an engineer and director of research for a Swedish manufacturing firm.

FLY TO IRELAND

Sherry's group of young people will fly to Shannon, Ireland; Amsterdam, Holland, and then to Rotterdam where on Saturday they will join other American Field Service exchange students (including Miss Koprince) who have sailed aboard the S.S. Zuiderkruis.

From Rotterdam Miss Fink will journey to Ornskoldsvik, which is about 360 miles north of Stockholm and only 400 miles from the Arctic Circle.

Upon her arrival she will begin an orientation course in the Swedish language which she must master sufficiently to begin her senior year of high school on Sept. 1.

En route to Hanover, Germany, where she will stay until Sept. 5, is Miss Koprince, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Koprince of West Iroquois road. The first student selected from Pontiac Central to participate in the program, she sailed from New York last Thursday for Rotterdam.

During the summer she will reside with two different families, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Drinkow and their daughter, Christiane, aged 17, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Franke and their daughter, Ute, 16.

STUDYING GERMAN

Sue has been studying German in preparation for her visit and hopes to attend school there for the remainder of the semester which extends into July.

Before embarking she spent several days touring New York where she viewed the Statue of Liberty and the United Nations Building.

In order to submit a student's name for the exchange program, high schools must already have had a visiting student. Last year Pontiac Central's exchange pupil was Jacquelin Baron of Rouen, France, who leaves Wednesday.

Aboard the Zuiderkruis the Field Service has placed a committee to instruct students in political science, language and customs of their respective countries.

Expenses for the exchange students are dependent on their ability to pay. For each teenager traveling to this country, a committee of volunteers and interested students at the high school the pupil will attend, raises funds to benefit the AFS.

Dinners Fetes Mrs. Hudson

Mrs. Dona Hudson was honored at a retirement party given by her co-workers Tuesday evening at the China City Restaurant. Forty-six guests attended the dinner for Mrs. Hudson who is leaving employment of Pearce Floral Co. for extensive traveling followed by residence in Dayton, Ohio.

Cooks, Check Cups and Spoons!

NEW YORK (UPI)—Housewives were cautioned today that many of them may be wasting their time when they try to follow recipe instructions to "measure ingredients carefully."

The American Standards associates and home economists reported that many measuring devices used in American kitchens are inaccurate.

They also said it would be a good idea for housewives to check their own systems of measuring, for they can be wrong when the cups aren't.

The American Home Economics Association has been battling for 11 years for universal acceptance of the standard that eight ounces make a cup—for measuring purposes.

But association officials said there still are cups that vary enough either on the generous or scant side to make a cake fall flat.

"An awful lot of the measuring cups are not correct," said Mrs. Elizabeth Sweeney Herbert, chairman of the Home Economics Association committee that sponsored development of the standards now being pushed.

"There are fewer in that state than would be the case if the standards association had not acted, however."

Mrs. Herbert said the situation would not be so critical if one used the same cup for all the ingredients, liquid and dry, in a single cake.

"But many women don't do that," she said. "A woman may use two cups with different errors. It can be rather critical, particularly with some of the modern food products such as ready mixes, which the manufacturers use a laboratory scale to measure.

"When they say 'add one-fourth cup of liquid,' that's what they mean, not more or less."

Mrs. Herbert said she was more concerned about measuring spoons than cups, however.

"This thing is much more serious on measuring spoons," she said. "They are all out of whack."

We check every recipe with measurements 10 per cent below and above the amounts called for to make sure they will be tolerant to inaccuracies of devices or the people who do the measuring," said Helen Thackeray.

"As far as we are concerned, any measuring device might vary a little bit. Cups often are not as inaccurate as the people who measure with them. People see the marks on cups in different ways. We are geared for them all."

An official of the American Standards Association said that its cup standards were set 10 years ago as a result of floods of complaints to manufacturers that ready-mixed did not work.

"The companies found that in many cases, the mixes failed because the measuring devices used to prepare them were wrong," the officials said.

United Before Flower-Banked Altar

United in marriage Saturday evening before an altar banked with delphinium, chrysanthemums and gladioli were Edith Rebecca Barber and Robert R. Ecker.

Approximately 300 guests attended the candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Lyal Howison of First Free Methodist Church with the Rev. Karl Koerner of Roosevelt Avenue Free Methodist Church in Flint assisting.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman R. Barber of Maddox street are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Ecker of Flint.

Edith chose a gown of "I Do" taffeta featuring a soft scoop neckline accented by sequins and lace, short sleeves and bouffant skirt with a chapel sweep train.

MRS. ROBERT ECKER

Attendants Beulah Pauline Hayward and Dorothy Lucille Barber, sister of the bride, were gowned in dresses like that of the maid of honor, in pink and blue, respectively.

Wearing a taffeta frock of yellow brocade, Beth Ellen Pulsifer, cousin of the bride, of Sparta, served as flower girl. Ronnie McIntyre of Ortonville carried the church manual.

Robert asked his brother Floyd H. Ecker of Flint to serve as best man. Ushers were Roland Hubbert, cousin of the bride, of Grand Rapids; Joseph Ecker, the bridegroom's brother, of Flint; and Harold Thrower and Dale Stuart of Auburn Heights.

Mrs. Barber chose a two-piece aqua dress of lace with white accessories and rhinestone necklace. Mrs. Ecker wore a light blue dress with lace bodice and full skirt and white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations.

The bride is a graduate of Waterford Township High School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Kearsley Agricultural High School in Flint, also attended Spring Arbor Junior College, Spring Arbor.

Wellesley Club to Hold Beach Party for Students

The Birmingham Wellesley Club today announced plans for its second annual undergraduate beach party. This year one event will be held Sept. 10 at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Participating colleges and universities will be Amherst, Barnard, Bowdoin, Bradford, Brown, Bryn Mawr, Colgate, Connecticut, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Middlebury, M.I.T., Mount Holyoke, Pembroke, Princeton, Radcliffe, Skidmore, Smith, Vassar, Wellesley, Williams and Yale.

There will be swimming, tennis and a picnic supper. Reservations should be made by August 30, either with Mrs. William H. Barney of Southfield road, Birmingham, or Mrs. John K. Armstrong of Randall court.

Students at Eastern colleges not represented locally by alumni groups are welcome to attend the party and may make individual reservations.

Each alumni group will be responsible for all arrangements for its undergraduates and invitations must be limited to students living in Oakland County and northwest Detroit.

Valda Wood Given Shower

Miss Wood, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion W. Wood of Euclid avenue, will marry Gary Classen of Frankfort Friday at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

It's So Worthwhile to Stay Companions

By RUTH MILLETT

If you want to stay companionable with your husband through the years:

Make a real effort to go along with him on business trips when he asks you, instead of telling yourself it is just too much trouble to make arrangements for having the children looked after and so on.

Get to know his friends and their wives instead of limiting your social life as a couple to your friends and their husbands.

Be enthusiastic about his hobbies whether you share them or not. A wife doesn't have to hunt, for instance, if she proudly serves guests the game her husband shoots, lets him put his gun rack or the big bass that didn't get away on the wall of the family room, and doesn't appear bored when he shows the colored slides of his last hunting trip to friends.

Encourage him to talk about himself and his ideas, the way you did when you were paving the way for an engagement ring. Husbands who "never talk to their wives" probably got discouraged somewhere along the way because their wives stopped being good listeners.

Get away together as often as you can for brief holidays. Just a couple of days away from home now and then will do a lot to keep the two of you companionable and to remind you of how much fun you can have when you get away from the demands of everyday living.

Learn together. Whether you are studying art, or trying to become expert bridge players, or trying to learn all you can about gardening doesn't matter. The fact that you are learning together will give you many happy hours of shared experiences.

Go places and do things, instead of sitting passively before the TV set night after night. You'll have a lot more fun together and a lot more to talk about.

Two Golden Age Groups Entertained With Tales

Ora Hallenbeck was hostess at J. L. VanWagoner's Andersonville road home for the meetings of the two YWCA Golden Age Groups.

Mrs. Ted Fauble entertained Group I and Julia Dalzelle entertained Group II with stories. Both are members of the Story Tellers' League.

Mrs. Fred Andrus, Mrs. Amelia Ball and Mrs. Leota Thomas had birthdays this month with Mrs. Thomas receiving the corsage for having the most recent birthday in Group II. Mrs. H. M. Learned received the corsage in Group I in honor of the Learneds' 50th wedding anniversary.

★ ★ ★

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. J. F. Wright of Lonoke, Ark.; Mrs. Frieda Thimler of Stanford, Conn.; Mrs. Charles Heimbecker of Morley; Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Howard Losee and Mrs. Ben Zannoth of Detroit.

Hostesses were Mrs. Helen Teitgen, Mrs. J. L. Bennett, Mrs. Frank Kirby, Mrs. Everett Russell, Mrs. Claud Shoup and Agnes Hilton.

Decoration Theme of Luncheon

"Decorating Highlights" was the subject of the Countryside Improvement Association meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. F. Schmid of Green Lake.

After luncheon the members and guests were entertained by Bengt Swanson of the J.L. Hudson Bureau of Speakers who showed the latest in furniture arrangements, fabrics and carpeting and color combinations.

Mrs. Schmid was assisted by Mrs. A. R. Dodge, Mrs. R. D. Baker, Mrs. Gene Mitchell and Mrs. F. V. Bott.

Use Cream

Skin Under Eyes Betraying

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I am going to write today about only a very tiny portion of the face: the skin underneath the eyes.

Lots of women look very youthful except for the fine lines, or puffs or circles under their eyes. This is one of the very first spots in which the years begin to tell on us. Even very young women who have dry skins and animated facial expressions may have a few of these.

One first line of defense against the little lines is the use of an eye cream which should be patted about the eyes each night before going to sleep. I believe that all women would profit by this from 20 on unless they have very oily skins. Some women in their twenties need the same treatment.

Next, we should avoid squinting. When we do this it is often due to glare. Therefore it is a fine idea to wear sunglasses when you are outdoors on sunny days. Even in winter these are often helpful especially if there is snow on the ground since this has a terrific glare.

Of course some women squint because they will not wear the corrective glasses they need. This not only damages personality but causes lines. We can get away with our laughing and facial expressions, and even a bit of squinting if we keep the skin under the eyes soft and pliable with nightly creaming.

STRETCHES SKIN

Perhaps you have swollen eyes in the morning. This is conducive to lines and drooping eyelids since it stretches the skin. A certain small amount of puffiness may be natural after a long, deep sleep, but if there is much of it and it continues you should have a physical examination. Certain organic or systemic disorders can lead to this condition.

If this is not the case, then investigate allergies. You may be allergic to some material in your pillow or your mattress. Of course loss of sleep, illness or poor health, may be the reason.

If you are one of the many, many people who cannot sleep well, you may want to have my leaflet "Shut Eye." Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 24. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Arnald C. Beauchamp Carol Crosson Married

Carol Alice Crosson and Arnald Charles Beauchamp were married Saturday afternoon at Bethel United Church of Christ.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. David M. Crosson of Short street and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beauchamp of Auburn Heights.

Joyce Edward of North Branch was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Elaine Beauchamp, the bridegroom's sister, and Rita Lister.

The maid of honor wore a pink nylon dress and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations. The attendants were dressed like the maid of honor in mint green and powder blue and they carried bouquets of white carnations and wore hats to match their dresses.

Alton Beauchamp, the bridegroom's grandfather, was best man. Ushers were Robert Beauchamp, the bridegroom's brother, and Robert Cleveland.

MRS. ARNALD C. BEAUCHAMP

MRS. DAVID L. MACKLEY

Jeanne Eileen May Wed in Lutheran Ceremony

Jeanne Eileen May was gowned in white Swiss embroidered organdy for her Saturday afternoon wedding to David Lawrence Mackley in St. John's Lutheran Church, Rochester. The Rev. Walter C. Gerken officiated at the ceremony attended by the immediate families.

Jeanne's bouffant gown was accented by a pink cummerbund. She wore a short veil on a beaded white capulet and carried pink and white roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lorraine DeVar of Madison avenue and Fred May of Forest avenue and the bridegroom's parents are the Jacob W. Mackleys of Rochester. David C. Phelps also of Rochester served as best man.

Mrs. Mackley, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in an embroidered pure silk dress of champagne beige, with willow green and beige accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

No Reason to Ignore Individuals

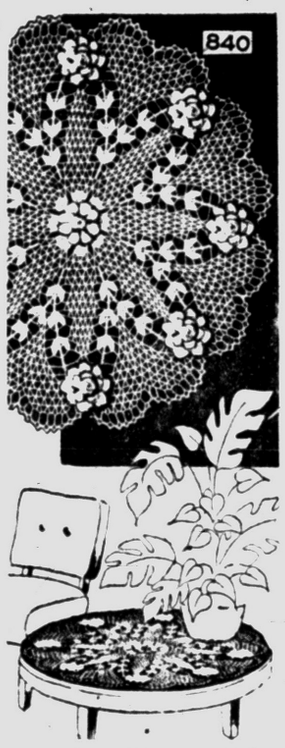

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: In my position as receptionist in a rather large office I see all of the visitors who come in during the course of a day. Not too infrequently I meet some of these same people outside of the office and I wonder if seeing them time and again substitutes for an introduction. That is, would it be proper to speak to them when I see them outside of the office?"

Answer: Certainly bow to people you know, whether in business or socially. On the other hand, if the person you are encountering is very important, it would be best to wait for him to recognize you because he meets so many people that it is impossible to expect him to remember someone he seldom sees.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married at three-thirty in the afternoon and the reception will be at seven o'clock in the evening at a hotel. My problem is what to do about the guests who come from a distance and cannot go home. Must I ask them to come back to my house, or do they look after themselves until it is time to go to the reception?"

Answer: Why not solve the problem by having the reception after the church ceremony instead of at seven o'clock. This is correct prodecure and will be much more convenient for all your guests.

'Y' Group at Hospital Is Dined

The board of directors and staff members of the YWCA entertained the Pontiac State Hospital "Y" group at the third annual dinner Wednesday evening at the YW home on Franklin boulevard.

Don't Envy Her . . . Abby

Gal With Past Only for Historians

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A girl who works in our office has a PAST . . . and I mean a real PAST. She started out young and has really been through the mill. And she's not ashamed to tell people about it. She is very popular with the men because she tells them dirty stories. Everyone says she is a "good sport" and her past hasn't seemed to have hurt her. In fact, I think it helps. I wonder if it wouldn't pay me to get a past?

ABBY

DEAR NO: Don't envy a girl with a past. She attracts only men who are hanging around in the hope that history will repeat itself.

DEAR ABBY: Most of our relatives live in the city but we live on a farm. We make a decent living but our relatives feel that since we live in the country and have five kids we are real hard up or something. They keep sending their children's worn-out clothes to us. They don't fit our kids and aren't decent enough to wear anywhere.

I unpacked a mess of these old rags this morning and just took them out and burned them. Should we write to them and tell them to quit sending us boxes or just keep quiet? The stuff they send is not worth the postage.

COUNTRY SISTER

DEAR SIS: Write your relatives and thank them but suggest that they give their boxes or (don't say "worn-out"—say "outgrown") clothing to a local rummage sale or charity.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married four years. He is 25 and I am 24. We have four wonderful children.

We have never had a honeymoon or vacation together. We take the children everywhere we go.

This summer my mother, who lives in another state, wants to take the children for two weeks. Am I being unfair for wanting to go some place without the children?

My husband thinks we should spend our vacation with our children. I love the children but, Abby, I could sure use a two-week rest. I'd appreciate your opinion.

KIND OF TIRED

DEAR TIRED: Everyone needs a vacation without the children occasionally. It's good for the parents, and good for the children. By all means, accept your mother's generous offer.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Get a load of this: I am too young to wear nylon stockings or heels or lipstick but I am old enough to do the dishes, make beds and stay with my seven-year-old brother. I am too young to go to a night movie with a girl friend but I am old enough to go to the store after dark for lunch meat my mother forgot to get. One minute I am a "child" and the next minute I am an "adult." What am I supposed to be anyway? I am 12 years old.

DON'T KNOW

DEAR DON'T: You are "supposed to be" a child who is learning to accept adult responsibility. Maturity is being able to face up to your responsibility without grumbling. Patience.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GERTRUDE: The "candlelight" routine will never work. What he needs is a hotfoot!

Cooked Glace Covers Strawberries in Pie

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Getting your fill of strawberries now? If you can beat to keep out a few from shortcake and jam making, put them into a pie. Mrs. Wendell Strait of Westacres shares her recipe with us.

★ ★ ★

One of the most cheerful people we have ever met, Mrs. Strait is an active worker in community affairs. She belongs to a child study group and the Union Lake Branch of AAUW.

GLACE STRAWBERRY PIE
By Mrs. Wendell Strait

1 quart (plus 1 cup fresh strawberries
Juice of 1 orange
1 cup sugar
¼ cup cornstarch
2 tablespoons butter
red food coloring
baked pie shell

Wash and hull berries. Pour orange juice and sugar over berries. Let stand 2 hours in a cool place. Pour off juice into measuring cup.

Add one cup crushed berries to the juice, or enough to make 1½ cups juice. Mix with cornstarch. Cook until thick and clear, stirring. Add butter and tint desired shade with food coloring. Cool.

Arrange drained berries in baked pie shell and pour glace over them. Use a knife or fork to lift berries gently, permitting glace to cover berries on bottom. All should be covered.

Get Those Pains Out into Open

300 Witness Wedding at Missionary Church

Some 300 guests were present for the Saturday evening wedding of Eunice Faye Hayward and John Julian Baker.

The ceremony was performed at United Missionary Church on East boulevard by the Rev. Lloyd Shue, of First United Missionary Church of Battle Creek, a brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by the Rev. O. P. Eastman, pastor of the Pontiac church.

For her wedding attire the bride chose a gown of silk organza and clipped Chantilly lace designed with a Sabrina neckline of scalloped lace and finished with tiny seed pearls along pleated folds on the fitted bodice.

The full skirt featured tucked folds and a band of Chantilly lace which clipped to a bow on the back and fell to form a chapel train.

A crown of iridescent sequins and lace caught her circular fingertip veil of imported English illusion.

The bride's mother wore a mint green dress with beige accessories and a corsage of bronze roses. Mrs. Baker was dressed in pink lace with white accessories and wore a pink rosebud corsage.

a corsage of roses from her bridal bouquet. The newlyweds will reside in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

New Class Is Held to Honor Mrs. Yeaman

Mrs. Harry Schultz, Mrs. Hazel Knight and Mrs. William Larson were enrolled in the Pontiac chapter. Enrolled in Mooseheart home chapter were Myrtle Wood, Florence Bradley, Myrl Lindquist, Alva Brown, Mabel Sage and Ethel Carr.

The new class was in honor of Mrs. Floyd Yeaman, a new college member who received the College of Regents degree recently in House of God at Mooseheart, Ill.

Mrs. Joseph Roerink was chairman for the evening. Also participating in the program, followed by a social hour, were Karen Blabut and Jill LaFontaine.

On Sunday a joint Memorial service with Loyal Order of Moose will be held at Moose Hall. New officers will be installed Monday.

Low Ceilings Hurt Treasury

U.S. Officials Squirm Under Lids Imposed by Congress

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Low ceilings are plaguing Washington again. The secretary of the Treasury keeps bumping his head on the federal debt ceiling and now he's bumping it on the bond interest ceiling.

Congress keeps raising the debt limit temporarily or permanently or in combination so the Treasury can pay the bills that Congress has okayed.

Now Congress is in a quandary over what to do with the interest rate—let the secretary squirm under it or just pick it up a bit or remove it altogether.

In financial circles there's growing belief that ceilings aren't realistic anyway. It's argued that they cramp the secretary of the Treasury without doing the rest of the things they're supposed to.

They say that putting a limit on how high the federal debt should go is a moral victory, even if frequently it isn't an actual one.

* * *

And they say that interest rates should be kept low to aid home builders, small businessmen, installment plan buyers and farmers.

These congressmen look for other ways of doing this than just letting the nation's monetary and financial structure work itself out in a free market and be adapted to the supply of and demand for borrowed money and credit.

Some congressmen are afraid that the nation might get in trouble if the interest rate is allowed to increase the supply of money and credit.

This would be true if the interest rates although in short times the easier money gets to make, the more the demand for credit grows especially for speculative adventures. And usually as money gets cheaper the higher the price of other things rises.

Chrysler Will Refine Swivel Seats in '60

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. plans to bring out a further refinement of its swivel seats in its 1960 models, industry sources said today.

Chrysler Corp. introduced swivel seats for the first time in its 1959 models in an effort to make it easier to get in and out of the front seats.

But on the 1959 models the seat had to be operated manually.

On the 1960 models, Chrysler engineers will connect the seat to the door so the latter opens through an arrangement which brings the seat with it. Then the occupant will swing the seat out whenever he's ready to step out. The door is opened and closed in the usual fashion.

Each seat pivots on a single post and locks in place when the door is closed.

The seat swings the opposite way when the door is opened from the inside. Thus the seat will swing toward the driver when the door is opened from the outside and away from the driver when opened from the inside.

Bob Considine Says:

Ghost Writer Must Assume Subject's Role

NEW YORK—A national magazine this week tells us the harrowing story of Gerold Frank, a ghost writer, and his ordeal of serving as the pane through which the life of Miss Zsa Zsa Gabor will be displayed to all mankind.

* * *

Gerry has become the official father confessor of some of the most romantic and velocitous ladies of our times—notably Lillian Roth, Jill Corey, Shamon Dee, Dorian Barrymore, Zsa Zsa Gabor and Sheila Graham. Beloved Infidel.

Miss Gabor's problems would seem simple compared with those, but Frank regards her as his most challenging case.

Each lady's world travels is never not a family quite like the Gabors and he moodily takes no comfort in the reassurance that school can be either.

NOT AS ENCHANTING

His experiences as a confessor of the innermost secrets of others strengthened none to spend the rest of his days bored.

I've done a little spooking work myself through the years and for an interesting variety of clients, none of them as enchanting as Gerry's newest subject, but all of them engrossing in a hairy chested sort of way.

I could name the story of Ted Lawson, (Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo) the piece about war photographer Sarnoff Shulman ("Where's Sarnoff?") and the two autobiographies of Babe Ruth. Gerry ghosted the "I Wanted to Live" book for Lana Turner.

* * *

I've avoided speaking with Gerry for many years, mostly because he always seems to be on a plane or train or ship when I'm in town. Besides, I'm not a ghost writer myself, but a ghost reader for my subjects. I'm a stranger for that which the subject pours forth.

If a person wants to tell his or her story, it is the duty of the ghost to let it come as it will.

It may take them half a million words properly to express their lives or the event that made them famous. But it is not wise to try to dam this flow; the thing to do is let it come and later mine the gold from it.

The superior speak- and write- is the best, barely, guide to the personality of his subject emotionally and spiritually.

In a matter of days or weeks or months he is able to experience the identical emotions, yearnings and quirks of the person whose story he is telling.

SENSES INCOMPLETENESS

He can never, of course, be completely told adventures or accurate glows when the person's telling the truth or is just guessing. He cannot become a physical and mental appendage of that person.

I recall that when Gen. Wainwright first began the segment of his book which dealt with the bloody days he had prisoner of the hands of the Japanese captors that he and Colonel Steel took turns sitting on a stool and weeping copiously.

I was as hurt when Ted Lawson described how his friend, Doc White, sawed off his gangrenous leg in a crude little Chinese hospital as if it were my own.

I was so glad when Roosevelt looked around the photographers at Casablanca and asked "Where's Sam?" ... And so forth.

I did a book for an exiled prime minister of one of the countries bordering Miss Gabor's native Hungary, once upon a time, and it was the most difficult piece of writing I've ever encountered.

He led me through a bewildering labyrinth of political intrigue, Communist infiltration and the frustrations of a man who could never convince the West that his pro-Western nation was about to be engulfed by the Soviet Union.

The language barrier was sometimes appalling, the story came slowly, tediously, and it was never aided by the fact that an armed guard stood near him in his barren little office in a cheap New York hotel.

'2 BEAUTIFUL WORDS'

But at last, late one exhausting night, I was able to say to him, "Mr. Prime Minister, if you'll look over my shoulder you'll see me type the two most beautiful words in the English language."

He leaned over my shoulder and I tapped out "The End."

He looked at it quizzically for a time, then smiled and exclaimed, "Now we go drunk!"

And that we did.

I hope my friend Gerold Frank enjoys that same happy ending with his present subject and the multitudes who are beseeching him to hear their confessions and broadcast them to the world.

Fan Finishes Game as Winning Pitcher

Wright, a five-foot, 95-pound freshman, failed to earn a spot in the Fredonia outfield so he watched the game from the stands.

The little righthander quickly donned a uniform, strolled to the mound and calmly pitched 2⅔ innings of relief. Wright gained credit for the victory, with Fredonia scoring three runs in the sixth inning for a 7-6 decision. Wright also won a regular job on the Fredonia team.

A Losing Battle, So Far

Ireland Fighting to Save Language From Obscurity

To do this, the government must first be sure of the powers that has crept across the rock-infested western seaboard.

Known as the "Gaeltacht," the area is the last outpost of Gaelic speaking Irishmen. It also is a chronically depressed area where young men and women fight grimly to wrest a living from the flinty soil.

So far it has been a losing fight. The young generation, attracted by the lights and easier living of Dublin, [illegible] the Gaeltacht.

Today the whole nation is disturbed. The government gives full backing for any scheme to keep the boys and girls on the Gaeltacht.

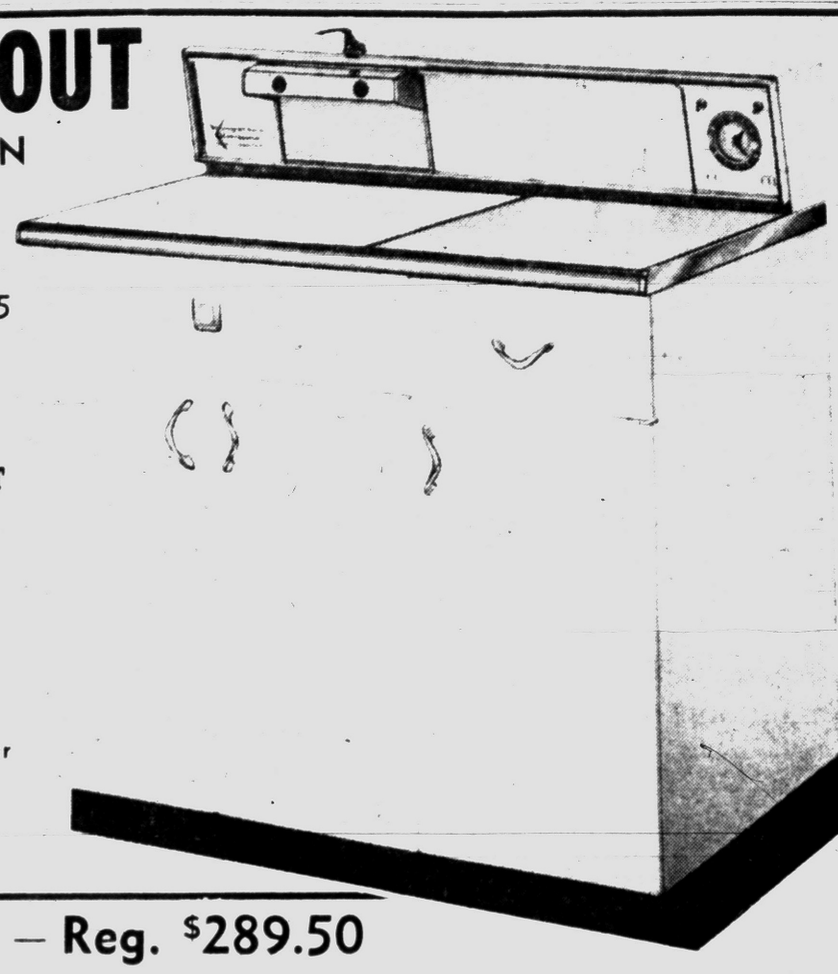

A new impetus to the appeal for [illegible] came the other day when an organization dedicated to preserving the language applied for sole rights to run Ireland's television service scheduled to start operations in six months.

In their fight to save the native tongue, Ireland has readied a plan whereby she can capture a big slice of the Dutch tomato market, imported into the Gaeltacht annually.

Already, tomato growing greenhouses are springing up around Connemara and Donegal with a special peat-burning stove to provide artificial heating. Behind this is the idea it would help combat Dutch imports in the peak months of June and July.

Another [illegible] also lies at the heart. Free from the imports of [illegible] the Irish Free States are [illegible] Irish [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible].

OFF ON CAMPING TRIP — These 55 youngsters of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children left Pontiac this morning for Camp Grace Bentley, 12 miles north of Port Huron. They will be among 110 other state handicapped participating in this year's camping expedition sponsored by the Michigan League for Crippled Children. They will stay two weeks. Regardless of leg braces and wheel chairs, the youngsters will do the things as near the same as their normal brothers and sisters.

Keego Businessmen Press for Urban Renewal

Hope to See Community Grow in Orderly Fashion

By DICK HANSON
Suburban News Editor

KEEGO HARBOR — Urban renewal is the apple in the eye of the Keego Harbor Businessmen's Assn. The group is anxious to have it and soon.

"We want to see Keego Harbor continue to grow, but in an orderly fashion," explained W. A. Hollibaugh, who is in charge of publicity for the Businessmen's Assn. He added that it is the intention of the group to attract new residents to the area by making this small city "a more pleasant place to live in."

The answer is definitely urban renewal, all members agree.

They have been busy laying the groundwork for urban renewal but much work remains, according to Hollibaugh.

Once this has been accomplished, the services of a planning consultant firm must be obtained. The Businessmen's Assn. already is gathering pledges of funds toward this end.

Approximately $4,000 is needed as a start, said Hollibaugh. He is certain that local merchants will be able to raise this sum in a very short time.

Aims of the group through the plan are to improve property valuations, clear up slum areas, improve parking facilities and construct a city offices center which would also house the Fire and Police Departments.

The whole project is an ambitious one, Hollibaugh admits. "However, we are certain that the people here have the drive to accomplish it once they realize the neccessity."

Aided by a newly formed Citizens Committee the Businessmen's Assn. headed by co-chairmen L. La Pere and Otto Lyons is forwarding information to residents.

REQUESTS INFORMATION

Mayor Vernon B. Edward has written to ACTION, a nonprofit organization dedicated to neighborhood improvement, for information.

The Planning and Study Committee, headed by Charles Leaf, has met with planning consultants experienced in urban renewal.

And several public meetings have been held to explain urban renewal advantages to the people of Keego Harbor. "We want them to realize that it is the road to a better way of living," said Hollibaugh.

Keego Harbor will tie in with this main line, ridding the city of the far inferior cesspool system now in existence, and providing a central water system.

Cost of the laterals to Keego Harbor has been set at $300,000. By tying this project in with an urban renewal plan, the city will qualify to seek financial assistance from the federal government in the overall city improvement plan.

FORMS COMMITTEE

The Businessmen's Assn. has formed a Sewage Committee with Peter Quinlan as chairman.

It is working with the Johnson and Anderson Engineering Co. of Pontiac to plan, lay out and pay for a lateral sewers network which already has been approved by the City Council.

If Keego Harbor is to have urban renewal, plans must be completed and approved before September.

Area Embezzler Gets Probation

Orion Bank Employe Given 5 Years, Ordered to Pay Back $10,000

LAKE ORION — A former cashier bookkeeper of the Lake Orion State Bank was placed on probation for five years by Circuit Judge Ralph M. Freeman in Pontiac Monday.

First residents of the city must be convinced of the advantages, Bank was placed on probation for offered there by urban renewal and the council convinced that it is a sound step forward, he said.

She told Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman in Detroit that she received $55 a week when she went to work for the local bank in 1951. When she was fired last April after the shortages were discovered, she was making $85 per week.

Mrs. Edith A. Sumner, 38, of 281 W. Clarkston Dr., could have been given a maximum five-year jail term for the offense.

She told Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman in Detroit that she received $55 a week when she went to work for the local bank in 1951. When she was fired last April after the shortages were discovered, she was making $85 per week.

She told the FBI that she needed the extra money to help pay her household expenses, Judge Freeman when passing sentence said his part was to exercise in embezzling. He took into consideration that Mrs. Sumner had not been in trouble before.

Honeymooning in North

GOODRICH — Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Reinker are honeymooning in Northern Michigan this week following their recent wedding in Christ Lutheran Church here.

The bride is the former Marilyn Eleanor Reinker and is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Reinker of 5225 S. Hadley Rd.

Parents of the bridegroom are the Rev. and Mrs. Ora Riemer of Mt. Morris.

A floor-length gown of white satin was chosen by the bride for the ceremony. She wore a finger tip veil held by a crown of pearl flowers and carried a fan arrangement of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Wilfred Wardin of Hemlock, sister of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Tom Knoll of Mt. Morris, cousin of the bridegroom, and the bride's brother Kenneth. Mike Warden of Hemlock, nephew of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

White Lake Voters OK Gas Franchise

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A 25-year franchise for the Consumers Power Co. to make gas available to homes in White Lake Township for the first time was approved by voters yesterday.

The vote was 341 to 3.

Construction of the gas mains is scheduled for this summer from Union Lake Village up Bogie Lake road as far as M-59. It is expected to be continued into the eastern fringe of the township up M-59 in the fall, according to Edward L. Kurkau, district manager of Consumers Power Co. in Pontiac.

Program to Curb Floods Growing

For many years department experts had argued that much could be done to prevent costly floods if measures were taken upstream to hold back water that falls as rain or runs off a melting snow.

They suggested series of small dams and other devices to slow runoff of water. This slowing of the runoff helped too, they said, to soak soils which otherwise might be made wet only a few inches by the otherwise swift, ly traveling water.

Finally in 1954 Congress enacted what is known as the Watershed and Flood Prevention Act. This act authorizes the department to provide local units with aid in drafting proper plans for slowing water in a given area. Once these plans are finally approved, Congress provides financial aid in constructing them.

About 1,200 local organizations in 47 states and Puerto Rico have applied for aid under this act. Work plans have been completed for 141 watershed projects and are now authorized for operations.

State governments and legislatures have taken specific action to enable effective state and local participation in the program. Up to the beginning of this year, the legislatures of 37 states had enacted 80 separate pieces of state legislation to provide state and local organizations with the necessary authority and finances to cooperate with the federal government on this program.

★ ★ ★

The department says its program fills a gap between the flood control program on major rivers carried out by the Corps of Army Engineers and the soil conservation program on individual farms carried out by the department.

Nature Study in Park Gets Boost With Gift

MILFORD — The Nature Center of Kensington Metropolitan Park located near Milford has just received a slide projector as a gift according to Bill Hoplamazian, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, of which the park is a unit.

This projector will permit 35mm slides to be enlarged so that nature study groups may view them in the lighted exhibition room of the Nature Center and it automatically presents a series of 40 slides.

During the summer months native wild flowers are now being shown from a collection of 150 wild flower slides. These slides and the slide projector were the gift of Perry Reynolds, a certified public accountant from Detroit.

The gift was presented in memory of his wife Millie who was active in nature counseling for adults and children in the Detroit area.

During the summer season the Nature Center is open Mondays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Saturdays and Sundays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Interested persons may come into the building and look at the various displays. A naturalist is on hand to answer questions.

Naturalist service for day camps is available by appointment, which can be made by contacting the Nature Center or calling WO 1-5863 — the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit 26.

Labeled nature trails at the park are available year around. At the present time, summer wild flowers are of major interest to visitors.

FOUR TOWNS — The Maranatha Baptist Church here will begin daily vacation Bible school Monday. It is scheduled to last through July 10 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily for children from 4 to 15 years of age.

The church will send 10 young members to the Good News Camp at Gladwin this summer.

The next meeting of church women is scheduled for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Ruth Colen on Maddox St.

Pizza-Spaghetti Brawl Called Draw by Police

They said a young girl told them her boy friend had dumped a plateful of spaghetti on her head.

The boy friend admitted it, but claimed self defense. He said the girl first hit him in the face with a large pizza.

Hollywood Headlines

Ty Was More Intimate, Brynner Is More Regal

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — King Vidor is back from directing the toughest film of his long and colorful career — a Biblical epic shattered by the death of Tyrone Power.

Soft-spoken Vidor, who seems more like a college professor than the director of films like "The Big Parade," "Northwest Passage" and "War and Peace," has returned briefly to the Hollywood home he has seldom seen in recent years. The reason is that he has gained a reputation of being able to film foreign-made epics.

None of his many movies was as difficult as "Solomon and Sheba," to which he is now adding the final touches.

"We had established a point of no return, when we would be unable to finish the location scenes in Spain because of bad weather," he recalled. "That was Nov. 15. We had two months of exteriors to film, so that meant we had to start on Sept. 15.

"We were right on schedule and had just about finished the exteriors. Then on Nov. 15, Ty died."

The director said that his first reaction concerning the film was to use all his film-making tricks—employing doubles, playing the closeups on co-star Gina Lollobrigida, using shadows, etc.

"I could have done it if we had shot the film in reverse," he said. "But we had left all the love scenes and intimate stuff for the last."

Vidor said the script was changed little with Brynner's advent, but their interpretations were widely divergent.

"Ty was more introspective, more sensitive; he was more convincing in the intimate scenes," the director said. "Brynner is the character he played in 'The King and I.' Again he was playing a king, and he was more convincing in the scenes where he commanded troops."

Skull Fracture Fatal

Injured Prison Rioter Dies

Warden Russell O. Settle disclosed the number of injured Wednesday night when he announced the death of Richard Smith.

One of the five guards held hostage for 16 hours, Robert B. Rosendahl, is hospitalized with severe cuts. His condition is fair. Seven inmates still are being treated.

Settle said the prisoners caused about $10,000 damage.

Smith was sentenced from Salt Lake City in February 1953 for violating federal motor vehicle theft laws and making threats to kill or harm the President.

Too Long on Ice Cools Off Marriage

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—An ice skater says her marriage to her rink partner cooled because he spent 12 to 14 hours daily on the ice without her.

★ ★ ★

"I became very lonely," Anne Holt, 29, testified Wednesday as she divorced Austin Holt, 33.

★ ★ ★

The Holts hold seventh ranking as world figure skating pairs, she said. She is also an actress whom TV fans have seen in "Dragnet" and Alfred Hitchcock thrillers.

Bomarcs Hit Two Jet Drones 100 Miles Away

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—Two jet drones were successfully attacked over the Gulf of Mexico by Bomarc missiles fired within seconds of each other, the Air Force said.

The 47-foot Bomarcs, carrying warheads made perfect intercepions of their high-speed targets more than 100 miles from the launching site on nearby Santa Rosa Island, the Air Force announced.

It said this was the third time that Bomarc missile firings have been successfully carried out by SAGE — Semi-Automatic Ground Environment —system of the Montgomery air defense sector at Gunter AFB, Montgomery, Ala.

The Air Force said the Montgomery sector, 150 miles north of the launching site, detected the approach of the drones and directed the interceptions.

Fishing in the Rain Likely to Net Limit

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—If you're willing to stay out in the rain, fisherman, you have a good chance of catching your limit.

Theft to Publicize Book Unappreciated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Clytus told Judge Gerald Levin he robbed the state unemployment office of $1,500 not for the money but to get publicity for his literary efforts.

★ ★ ★

The judge let him off with a six-month jail term and five years probation, but warned: "This is not the best way to get publicity for your magnum opus."

Clytus, 29, was arrested several days after the holdup in April when he complained to police that "some dirty crook" broke into the Greyhound locker and stole the $1,500 he had hidden there.

He told Judge Levin he had intended to hold onto the money until he had sent a manuscript to a publisher.

Depot Agent Is Unable to Prevent Train Death

PIGGOT, Ark., (AP) — Depot Agent Norman Harris saw Mrs. Homer Hanks, 57, walk toward the railroad crossing Wednesday as a train approached and frantically waved at her.

She smiled as if acknowledging a greeting. Then she was struck by the cotton belt freight train and killed.

Harris said Mrs. Hanks was partly deaf. She was carrying an umbrella that shielded her view.

Detroit Man Chooses Wrong Steed for Ride

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Paul Vernon, 29, felt a powerful urge to take a horseback ride. But he picked the wrong steed.

Spotting a horse standing with empty saddle on a downtown street, Vernon leaped on its back and went cantering off.

But before you could say "he went that-a-way" the regular rider, Policeman Edwin Waddell, burst from a lunchroom and collared Vernon as he went clop-clopping down an alley.

Vernon was charged with being intoxicated.

Patterson Must Give Everything to Win Acclaim of Public

Champ to Make 5th Defense of Title Tonight

Ingo Johansson Eager to Become Sweden's 1st World Champion

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavy-weight champion Floyd Patterson, grimly determined to win the public's full acclaim, and Ingemar Johansson, just as eager to become Sweden's first world boxing champion, clash tonight — weather permitting — in their long-awaited title fight.

The 24-year-old New Yorker, making his fifth defense of the crown, was a strong, 4-1 favorite today to beat back the challenge of the undefeated, 26-year-old European champion in the 15-rounder before 35,000 at Yankee Stadium. Starting time is 9:30 p.m. EST.

With the bout outdoors, the weather was the main concern of the principals as they headed for the 10 a.m. EST weigh-in ceremony at a midtown hotel. The forecast was for increasing cloudiness and a chance of showers in the afternoon and evening. If a postponement is necessary the fight will be held Friday night.

"It will take a helluva downpour for me to put it off," said promoter Bill Rosensohn. "I've been waiting for nine months to put this on and I want to get it over with."

He was tired but happy when he went to bed last night.

"We went over the $500,000 mark, his break-even point," said Rosensohn. "And I'm confident we'll go over $600,000."

With the closed circuit telecast to theaters and arenas, coast-to-coast radio ABC and the movies thrown in, Patterson figures to make between $400,000 and $500,000 and Johansson from $150,000 to $200,000.

"If I hit with my right—and I am confident I will—he will go down and out," said the optimistic Swede. Johansson speaks of his right hand as if it was not part of him but a gun instead.

"I haven't been as eager for any fight since I knocked out Archie Moore in five rounds, 1956, to win the title," said Patterson. "He is the No. 1 contender and I want to beat the best."

The champion has been vicious and sensational in his workouts as Johansson has been tame and dull. Floyd has left no doubt that he hopes to win quickly. For the first time he has shown signs of being irked by criticism of the calibre of his title opponents. And, for the first time he has become mean and surly, according to trainer Dan Florio.

"He's razor sharp," said Florio. "He's 100 per cent better than he was against Brian London."

Patterson knocked out London, a burly Briton, in the 11th round at Indianapolis last May 1. The lithe, fast-striking champ has stopped 16 of his last 17 opponents. His record is 35-1 including 26 kayos.

Interest Among Swedes Reaches Feverish Pitch

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP) — Interest among the Swedes in tonight's heavyweight title fight between their unbeaten idol, Ingemar Johansson, and champion Floyd Patterson has reached feverish heights.

There never has been anything like it, especially here in Ingemar's home town, except possibly when Sweden's Gunder Haegg was smashing world mile records back in the 1940s.

Last night most of the people in this coastal town retired early in order to be fully rested for tonight's fight in New York. Due to the time difference, the bout will start here at 3:30 a.m. Friday morning. But one out of two families, or least heads of the families, expect to sit glued to their radios, trying to capture the much-hoped-for great moment when the heavyweight crown comes to Sweden.

The Swedish National Broadcasting Company some time ago decided not to send a ringside report. So Swedish fight fans will have to depend on a "pirate" broadcast via Radio Luxembourg, made possible through private initiative.

In the large amusement park here, thousands of young couples will dance through the light of the northern summer night until the wee small hours and then listen to the broadcast of the fight from amplifiers. The same scene will be duplicated in restaurants and other public places.

People here regard Johansson as national symbol of the famed northern Viking spirit from the days of yore. The local papers, from front to back, have carried all available reports from the United States and forecasts, willingly handed out by well-known personalities as well as by the man in the street. The big national dailies have given as much as four pages out of 20-odd to news of the fight.

However, in the last few days a note of discrepancy could be detected among the great majority of Johansson's countrymen. They seem puzzled by the flood of news from the United States, criticizing Ingemar's training methods and by the massed opinion of American experts making the big Swede out of another pushover for Patterson.

These and more in the same vein were typical opinions as old and young alike put their hearts, and sometimes their money, behind Ingemar's mystically exploding right.

Dykes Now Knows How Norman Felt

AP Wirephoto

MUST STOP SOON — Jimmy Dykes now knows how his predecessors, Bill Norman and Jack Tighe felt when the Tigers got into one of their slumps. Dykes watches from the dugout of Briggs Stadium where the Tigers yesterday lost their fourth straight and 6th in eight games.

Tigers Go Sour at Plate; Loss Is 4th Straight

Harris Back at First as Bengal Boss Seeks Better Hitting

DETROIT (AP) — Jimmie Dykes squirmed uneasily in the chair in his Briggs Stadium clubhouse office and muttered something about "good pitch—but no hit."

Now, he knows something about how Bill Norman and Jack Tighe felt before him. The Detroit Tigers, going sour at the bat once more, had just dropped their fourth straight and their sixth in eight starts. The score yesterday was Boston 4, Detroit 2.

But Dykes could thank a topsy-turvy American League race for keeping his team well within striking distance of the top. Despite the fact they have dropped to just one game over the .500 mark, the Tigers have lost little ground to the leaders.

He took Larry Osborne off first base and put Gail Harris back in for today's windup game of the Red Sox series. The rookie Osborne finds himself on the bench after getting only one base hit in his last 18 at-bats.

Dykes also made it clear he has one starting job open in the pitching rotation. The veteran manager has been going with five starters but will switch to the conventional four.

Battling it out for the final spot will be Ray Narleski and Paul Foytack, both righthanders. Narleski will start the first game of Friday's twi-night doubleheader against Baltimore. Foytack gets the call Saturday.

Chances are Dykes will make up his mind after seeing both in action this weekend. One will be demoted to the bullpen.

Tiger hitters have produced only 14 runs and 27 hits in losing four straight.

"We'll just have to sweat it out," said Dykes. "There's nothing you can do at a time like this. Maybe it's a natural letdown after the way we've been going. Anyway, our defense is all right. That's a good sign the club isn't jittery. We'll come out of it."

Don Mossi was the victim of the inadequate batting yesterday and lost his third game of the season. The stocky southpaw worked the first seven innings, yielding three of the Boston runs.

Mossi and Jack Harshman had a scoreless duel for five innings until Ted Williams drove in a run with a long fly to right field. Don Buddin and Pete Runnels, who provided most of the Boston batting punch, set the stage with leadoff singles.

They had a hand in the seventh inning flurry that produced two more runs. After Jim Busby singled and Harshman walked, Buddin and Runnels lined two-out singles, both of them run-producers.

Harshman, making his first start and getting his second victory since the Sox acquired him from Baltimore, was relieved in the seventh when Detroit scored both its runs.

But Mike Fornieles, taking over with one out and a runner in scoring position, quickly slammed the door by retiring all eight batters he faced. Eddie Yost drove in both Detroit runs with a wrong-field double that routed Harshman.

From The Press Box

Tiger coach Billy Hitchcock is in Montgomery, Ala., attending the funeral for his older brother Jim who died Tuesday of a heart attack. Jim was a halfback at Auburn and was public service commissioner in Alabama.

★ ★ ★

Johnny Wallace and Joy Fair will resume their battle on the Metropolitan Speedway track in Mt. Clemens tonight. Wallace was the top qualifier and Fair was second last week, but both went out of the finals with car troubles.

★ ★ ★

Detroit area soccer fans will get a special treat this Sunday at McCabe Field where a pair of double headers will be staged. The Eastern finals of the National Amateur Cup will feature the St. Andrew Scots against Italia of Boston starting at 3:00 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's Chuck Oertel, playing with the Miami Marlins of the International League, was benched for a while because of hitting, but is now back as a regular in left field. In his last 10 trips he has collected seven hits.

Midget wrestlers will take part in tag matches at the State Fair Coliseum Friday night.

Zellhart Hurls Grill to Victory

Terry Blanks PBI, 2-0; Jets, Jewelers Battle to 2-2 Tie

Two was the popular number in City League baseball action Wednesday.

In Class B activity at Jaycee Park, Griff's Grill handed Pontiac Business Institute a 2-0 defeat behind the two-hit shutout pitching of Terry Zellhart.

Class A play at Wisner Field saw the Jets and Shaw's Jewelers battle to a 2-2 deadlock in a game called at the end of eight innings due to darkness.

Zellhart outpitched PBI's Larry Cates in a tight mound duel. Cates gave up only four hits and struck out 11, but four of his team's seven errors came in the 3rd inning when the Grill team tallied twice.

Bob Reeves and Jerry Pointer contributed singles to Griff's 3rd-inning cause and the two runs were plenty for Zellhart, who fanned seven and did not allow a hit until the 6th frame.

The Jets had nine hits compared to five for the Jewelers in their no-decision contest. Starting hurlers Bill McGuire of the Jets and Shaw's Bob Overcashier were still going strong when darkness intervened.

Baltimore Takes 2nd; Chicago and Yanks Lose

Oriole Bunt Beats Indians

By The Associated Press

There's something about a Baltimore bunt that makes Cleveland's Tribe a bunch of dead Injuns.

Remember when the Orioles gained a share of the American League lead two weeks ago? Thy did it when the Indians goofed twice on a bunt that scored three runs.

Last night, the Orioles were at it again, jumping into second place, a half-game behind the front-stumbling Indians, when an error on a bunt gave them three ninth-inning runs for a 7-4 victory at Cleveland.

It was the fifth defeat in seven games for the Indians while Baltimore, scoring its first four runs on solo homers by Gus Triandos, Walt Dropo, Billy Gardner and Bob Nieman, leap-frogged the Chicago White Sox with its sixth victory in eight games.

The White Sox skidded to third with a 4-2 defeat by Washington, their sixth loss in eight games. Kansas City barred New York's chance for a third place tie by beating the Yankees 4-3. Boston held Detroit in fifth, handing the cooled-off Tigers their fourth straight defeat, 4-2.

The Orioles opened their winning ninth with singles by Gardner and pinch-hitter Gene Woodling that chased southpaw Herb Score. Both scored when reliever Dick Brodowski threw wild after fielding a bunt by Bob Boyd, hitting for winner Hec Brown (5-2). Boyd went to third on the error and scored on Jim Finigan's sacrifice fly.

Brown, now 4-0 against the Indians since 1956, gave up only five hits, two of them homers by Tito Francona and Minnie Minoso. Billy Loes saved it with a perfect mop-up in the ninth.

The Orioles home runs came off Score (7-5), who has allowed 17 this season, 12 in his last 32 innings. Three came in the fourth inning—Triandos' 18th, Gardner's fourth and the first by Dropo after returning to the AL in a waiver swap with Cincinnati. Nieman, whose fly-out interrupted the fourth-inning homer burst, hit his seventh in the sixth inning.

The A's, who had lost seven of nine to the Yankees, stopped that nonsense behind the seven-hit pitching of southpaw Bud Daley (7-5). Dick Williams figured in all the Kansas City runs, hitting a two-run homer in the fifth against loser Jim Bronstad and singling along with Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris for the clincher in the seventh against reliever Jim Coates. Elson Howard hit a two-run homer for the Yankees, who rallied for another score in the ninth before Hank Bauer flied out with the tying run on base.

★ ★ ★

The last-place Senators beat the usually sure-fielding White Sox with three unearned runs in the ninth. Singles by Jim Lemon, Roy Sievers and Ken Aspromonte, plus errors by Luis Aparicio and Earl Torgeson, tagged Dick Donovan (4-5) with the defeat.

Ed Graybiel Is Named PCH Athletic Director

Announcement was officially made today that James E. (Ed) Graybiel would assume the athletic director's duties at Pontiac Central High School.

The announcement was made by PCH principal Francis Staley.

Graybiel, who coached PCH football teams for four years prior to his resignation Dec. 15, 1956, will oversee all phases of the Pontiac Central athletic program.

He will be responsible for arranging the school's athletic schedules.

He attended Yale High School and was graduated from Central Michigan College.

His coaching record at PCH was 12-22-2 and upon his resignation he was succeeded by present head coach Jesse MacLeay.

The athletic director's job became vacant when Thomas Dodson quit the post last winter. Dodson had been athletic director of the school district, but Graybiel's duties will be limited to Pontiac Central.

Since Dodson quit, Staley was in charge of the PCH athletic program.

NEW JOB—Ed Graybiel, former Pontiac Central football coach, today was officially named athletic director at PCH. Graybiel resigned as grid coach in 1956 but stayed at the school as social studies instructor.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Power failure!"

DIAGNOSIS: Hands and arms blocked on the downswing.

TREATMENT: Get the proper stance position and stay back on your heels.

Many golfers set themselves up to the ball so badly at the start that they have no real chance to hit the ball hard and straight. In addition, some players forfeit that chance by rocking forward during the swing.

To take care of both problems, get your hips back out of the path your hands and arms must take. Do this at the start of the swing. In the proper stance position, the posterior should protrude backward, as if you were about to sit down on a high stool.

This not only leaves room for the hands and arms to swing through freely, but it also keeps the bulk of the weight back through the heels, as it should be.

One more thing about the stance—the back should be generally straight. Do not crouch over the ball, but simply bend down from the base of the neck.

Double, Single in 7th Inning Bring Victory

Dean Parmenter's pinch double and a follow-up single by Norm Jennings in the bottom of the 7th inning broke a 3-3 tie and brought Nonne's a 4-3 victory over Sno-Bol in Waterford American League softball action last night at Drayton Plains.

Jim Christie was the winning pitcher for Nonne's for the 2nd straight night, this time in relief of Bob Fargher. Sno-Bol's Dale Badder absorbed the loss.

Walls Service won its first game of the season in the National League in a game called at the end of six innings by the 10-run rule. Walls breezed to a 17-7 triumph on seven hits, eight walks and nine Dobski errors. Floyd Frasier and Ray Jergovich each had a triple and single for the winners.

In Waterford Little League activity yesterday, Loha Twin Pines handed the Elizabeth Lake Estates B team a 13-3 trouncing with play halted after five stanzas.

Braves' Phenom Appears Too Hot for Minor League

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Juan Pizarro, a fire-balling phenom, appears too good for the minors. The big question is whether he's ready to stick in the National League.

The 22-year-old Puerto Rican southpaw is rejoining the Milwaukee Braves for another shot at baseball stardom after a brief stay with the Louisville farm in the American Assn.

Pizarro burned up the American Assn., pitching five complete games and posting a 4-1 record. In 42 innings, he struck out 50 and allowed only six earned runs for a 1.29 average. His victories were a no-hitter, a two-hitter, a four-hitter and a six-hitter.

Mrs. Koss Is WMGA Victor at Rochester

Mrs. Joseph Koss fired a two over-par, 40-37—77, Wednesday at Rochester Country Club to win the weekly competition in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association.

It was the first tournament win of the season for Mrs. Koss, a Detroit housewife who won the event nine times last year.

Mrs. R. G. Martell, winner of five tourneys this summer, shot 38-43—81 to take 2nd place. Mrs. Bruce Hilkene of Birmingham finished 3rd with 82 and Mrs. E. L. Goddard, last week's winner, was 4th at 83.

Even Governor Pays

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has forbidden his aides to accept any free passes to such events as prize fights and horse races.

This was learned Wednesday as it was disclosed that the Republican governor would attend the Patterson-Johansson championship fight Thursday in New York City. He will pay his own way.

Cards Sign Fullback

Favored Netter Gains NCAA Quarter-Finals

EVANSTON, Ill., (AP) — San Jose State's tennis star, Whitney Reed — a ruddy-faced, 26-year-old veteran — is a good example of a boy who went into the armed services a good athlete and came out an outstanding one.

The top-seeded Reed, who advanced to today's quarter-finals of the NCAA tennis tournament at Northwestern University, played his first college tennis eight years ago as a freshman at Southern Cal.

Braves and Giants Post Victories

Hot Dodgers Win Another

By The Associated Press

It begins to look as though the Dodgers finally have forgotten cozy Ebbets Field and have accepted the Coliseum their freakish ballyard, as a home.

Ebbets was no model of what a major league ballpark should be, but the Brooklyn handbox fit the Dodgers like a Bardot sweater. It was there that they put away their best string of pennants, winning four in five years from 1952 through 1956. But since the National League in homepark won-lost percentages while winning three of those flags

That was last year. At the moment they're 22-16 at the Coliseum for a .579 percentage that ranks second only to Milwaukee's .636 (21-12), and the Braves are leading the league any way you look at it.

The Dodgers made it eight out of 11 on their current home stand which they started in fifth place and swept their third straight from Philadelphia last night 9-6. That tightened their grip on third just a game behind San Francisco and only three short of first place Milwaukee.

The Braves retained their two-game lead by beating St. Louis 4-0 in a game ended in the seventh inning by rain, after San Francisco had defeated Pitts burgh 4-3. Cincinnati whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-0.

A two-run homer by Wally Moon, extending his hitting streak to 17 games, broke a 6-6 tie in the sixth inning for the Dodgers who had blown a 6-1 lead. Don Demeter drove in three runs for Los Angeles with a double, triple and his 15th homer. Roger Craig, now 2-0 since his recall from the minors last week, was the winner, but needed Clem Labine's four-hit snutout relief after the Phils tied it with a four-run sixth.

Wally Post and Valmy Thomas homered for the last place Phils. Don Cardwell (4-5) was the loser in relief.

Joey Jay, Milwaukee's young right-hander, gave up eight hits and three walks, but gained his first victory since May 19 after Hank Aaron belted his 20th homer with two on, in a four-run first. Jay, now 3-5, had lost four in a row. Rookie Dick Ricketts (0-3) lost it as the Cards dropped back to seventh place with their third straight defeat after winning 11 of 14.

Right-hander Jim Brosnan blanked the Cubs on four hits for his second shutout in the majors and first nine-inning job in 13 starts since Memorial Day, 1958. Brosnan (3-3) got this one by giving up nothing but singles—to Dale Taylor in the first, Bobby Thomson in the fifth, Lee Walls in the sixth and pinch-hitter Irv Noren in the eighth. He walked three, struck out seven.

The Reds backed him with a four-run first against loser Dick Drott (2-2) after two were out. Ed Bailey's two-run homer capped it. Frank Robinson (3-for-4), Gus Bell and Bailey (both 2-for-4) drove in all the runs and combined for seven of the Reds' nine hits as Cincinnati reclaimed sixth place.

A bases-loaded error by center fielder Bill Virdon, whose single had given Pittsburgh a 3-3 tie in the top of the frame, gave the Giants the winning run in the ninth. Virdon dropped a bloop fly by pinch-hitter Leon Wagner after colliding with second baseman Bill Mazeroski. Mike McCormick (7-5) was the winner, with Bennie Daniels (4-6) the loser, both in relief. The Bucs' Dick Stuart and San Francisco's Willie Kirkland swapped 400-foot-plus home runs off starters Johnny Antonelli and Bob Friend.

Competition Starts in AAU Decathlon

This tiny town, in Central California is the home of the world's decathlon champ, Rafer Johnson. But Johnson will have to pass up the meet because of a back injury suffered two weeks ago in an auto accident.

The 10 events will be split, five tonight and five Friday night.

The winner and runner-up will represent the United States against Russia in Philadelphia July 18 and 19. The top three will represent this country in the Pan-American Games at Chicago Aug. 27. Pincus Sober of the AAU said Johnson will be eligible for the Philadelphia contest with the Russians.

18-Hole Trials Under Way at Rochester CC

By BILL CORNWELL

A star-studded collection of public links golfers were involved in 18-hole qualifying rounds today at Rochester Country Club in the opening fireworks of the Michigan publinx Golf Association's annual state tournament.

Defending champion Mike Andonian of Pontiac, exempt from the qualifiers, waited on the sidelines for the 63 low shooters who will join him in match play beginning tomorrow.

Two head-to-head battles are scheduled daily through Sunday and all matches, including the championship round, will go 18 holes. The title struggle is slated Sunday afternoon.

Andonian is gunning for an unprecedented 4th consecutive state crown. He already owns the distinction of being the first player in MPGA history to win the title three years in a row, but no publinx golfer has ever taken the crown four times.

Among the other rugged contenders in the large field are Paul Bada and Wally Smith of Pontiac, finalist and semifinalist respectively last year at Pontiac Country Club; Ypsilanti's Doug Wilson another 1958 semifinalist; Al Krol from Sunnybrook and Detroit's John Kurach, Michigan Amateur finalist in 1957.

Law, a tremendous tourney competitor, passed up the State Publinx meet last year in order to enter the British Amateur event in Scotland.

Hockey Applications

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The American Hockey League Wednesday received formal applications for franchise from two Canadian teams—the Montreal Royals and the Quebec Aces.

Hoop Ace Gola Enters Hospital With Ailment

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Talented Tom Gola of the Philadelphia Warriors has been hospitalized with an inflammation of the liver caused by infectious hepatitus.

Dr. Si Ball, team physician, said it will require from five to eight weeks of rest for the former LaSalle All-America to recover.

Although the National Basketball Assn. club does not begin pre-season practice until mid-September, almost 11 weeks from now, Gola still may be weakened from the attack, according to Dr. Ball.

Gola was admitted to Hahnemann Hospital last Sunday. He has lost 17 pounds. Dr. Ball said Gola probably will remain in the hospital for two or three weeks, then take it easy at home.

The ruffed grouse is also known as mountain pheasant, thunder bird, partridge and drummer.

Winning Rider Loses BOH Junior Event

Howard Miller Gives Up Medal on Own Ruling

Disqualifies Himself After Checking Limit on Age—He's 19

By H. GUY MOATS

Miller was declared the winner but later in the day, while checking the rules for another event discovered he was ineligible to take the medal class award. He promptly sought out officials, disqualified himself and returned the silver medal.

Miss Kreeger was made the winner, with Sally Sample of Northville 2nd, and little Allison Cram of Birmingham 3rd. Allison, a 12-year-old bundle of nerve and determination, also rode to a victory in a later event.

Two of Wednesday's classes were cancelled but there was a full schedule today as the show moved into the hunter and jumper events, when it is expected a top challenger for the jumping championship of the show may emerge. The finger today pointed to George Jayne's veteran jumper, The Possum rated by Max Bonham as a big possibility, now that Windsor Castle has been withdrawn from the exhibition.

Friday's features in the day and evening program (8 a.m., 1 and 7:30 p.m.) include the ASPCA horsemanship test for young riders, the Shuell Memorial for Michigan bred hunters, the McCullough Memorial for ladies hunters and the always fascinating knock-down-and out.

One of yesterday's highlights was the three-place performance of James Jones on Miss Prince and Asbach in the Open and Intermediate dressage events.

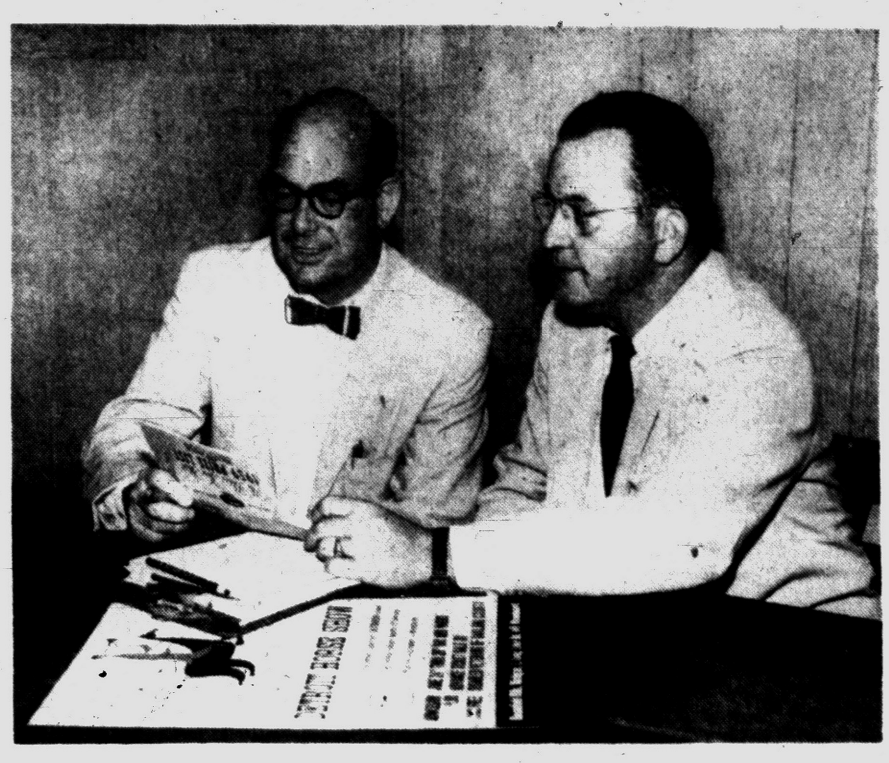

Wednesday's results

AHSA medal, PHA dressage—1, Allison Cram; 2, Heather Campbell on Beau Flares; 3, David Gruendel on Peanuts; 4, and 5, Jane Bugas; 6, Pete Fisher on Juago.

Inter. dressage — 1, James Jones on Miss Prince and 2, on Ashbach; 3, Chuck Grant on Earncraft; 4, Helga Laufenstein on Reno Overdue.

AHSA open, PHA dressage—1, Major Robert Borg on Dark DeCello; 2 and 5, James Jones on Miss Prince and Asbach; 3 and 4, Helga Laufenstein on Reno Overdue and Hansi Too.

FOUR NEW AWARDS — Detroit Horse Show chairman, Stanley C. Humphrey and Bert McIntire (right), manager of the big exhibition at Bloomfield Open Hunt, conferred yesterday on announcement of four fine new awards for the current event. They include the Mountain Breeze memorial, for jumpers, Redbob Farms challenge for the jumper championship, the G. Fred Morris challenge trophy for hunters and the Blue Bonnet challenge trophy for junior jumpers. The show today is in its third day, runs morning, afternoon and nights through Sunday.

Chicago Open to Begin

He and virtually every other pro he beat out for the National Open crown two weeks ago were in a field of 150 players teeing off today in the $57,000 Chicago Open.

The 72-hole test over the exacting Gleneagles municipal fee course carries the biggest purse distribution of the summer tourney trial. The winner pockets $9,000.

It was on the 6,350-yard, par 35-35—70 Gleneagles landscape last July, in the tournament inaugural, when Casper sailed through the first round in 80. This bulging total was elaborated by a 10 on the par 4 fifth hole where Casper tried to chop down a hedge.

The hedge still is there, and although Casper owns it, he vowed he won't go near it again.

The compact course has tricky greens but it was expected to provide a par-busting frolic for the top-drawer pros. Last year, however, it proved a giant killer. Only 21 bettered par over the 72-hole distance.

Trabert Gains Record Win

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Tony Trabert Wednesday night pulled out the longest set in outdoor pro tennis history in a 6-8, 28-26, 6-2 marathon win over Australian veteran Fran Sedgman in the $15,000 Tournament of Champions.

Top-Seeded Entry Cops Girls' Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Top-seeded Donna Floyd of William and Mary College raced past Sue Meckfessel of Washington University in St. Louis 6-0, 6-1 Wednesday in a first round match of the USLTA College Girls Tennis Championships.

Jean Gelner of Valparaiso University won two matches. She defeated Jackie Treesh of Monticello College, 6-1, 6-0 after knocking off Donna Pickel of Oklahoma Baptist 6-0, 6-2.

The No. 2 seeded player, Carole Loop of San Bernardino College tore through Audrey Hambley of the University of Missouri, 6-0, 6-0.

Although the Dodgers' new stadium is blueprinted for 52,000 seats, it may be enlarged to 70,000 before the final decisions for building have been agreed upon.

Homer Wins for Lakeside

A two-out home run and shutout pitching stole the show last night in City League softball attractions at Beaudette and Northside parks.

The homer was belted by Lakeside's Jim Shorter with Pete McConner on 1st base in the bottom of the 7th inning and the lusty blow gave the Royals a 2-1 victory over the Pontiac Merchants at Beaudette.

McConner, pitching in relief of starter Walt Travis, opened the 7th with a walk. Merchant hurler Jerry Thomas retired the next two batters, then Shorter connected to wind up the contest.

McConner received credit for the triumph while Thomas went the distance for the Merchants and allowed four safeties. The Merchants made only one hit, Leon Van Alstine's 2nd inning single off Travis, and their lone run in the 1st frame was unearned.

Local Chapter Seeks Quantity as Well as Quality

City Jaycee Golf Tourney Monday

The Pontiac Jaycees want to draw as many teenage golfers as to the tournament as possible regardless of their individual abilities, according to tourney chairman Bob Weddle.

In an effort to attract more players to this year's event, the local Jaycees will award a trophy to the lowest shooter on a handicap basis as well as rewarding the best golfer in actual score.

Furthermore, the entry fee will be lowered from $2 to $1, Weddle announced.

A driving contest is also planned with a trophy going to the player hitting the longest tee shot. Drives will be made from Municipal's 9th tee on the north side.

Additional prizes will be awarded, including a dozen golf balls, Weddle said.

Monday's tournament will be conducted over an 18-hole route with the three leading scorers in actual total qualifying for the Michigan Jayce tourney, which is scheduled July 20-22 at Lenawee Country Club in Adrian.

Waterford's Jaycee Chapter held its 18-hole test June 15 at Pontiac Country Club with 32 boys participating and qualified five for the Michigan event. The quintet consisted of medalist Mike Wiegand, Jon Shaw, Don Shipcak, Don Cole and Jim Armistedt.

The city Jaycees hope to have at least 60 entries, Weddle stated, and entry blanks can be obtained at any public or private course in Oakland County and from Weddle through the mail by calling him at his home, FE 2-7076.

Any boy is eligible for the tournament who does not reach his 18th birthday by Aug. 15 of this year. The tourney is also open to girls with the same age requirements.

Bitsy Grant Takes Opening Senior Match

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Bitsy Grant arrived two hours late Wednesday but took only 35 minutes to win his first match in the National Clay Courts Seniors Tennis Championship.

3-Way Tie Is Broken as Unbeatens Bows; No-Hitter at Troy

Sword belted a three-run homer in the 5th with Birmingham in front 3-1 to produce a 4-3 triumph in a battle of unbeatens at Birmingham last night. Scott was great in relief.

A 2-1 upset of Southfield by Royal Oak left Rochester the only team with a perfect record for four games.

Birmingham got hurler Gary VanGeiser off to a good start scoring its runs in the 1st two frames. Rod Ruddy batted in one with a single and Dave MacManus tripled two across. The latter was thrown out at the plate trying to make it a homer. Scott silenced the losers' bats thereafter, retiring 13 in a row in one stretch.

Jim Hirsch scattered three hits and started the winning rally for Royal Oak. Two errors followed two hits to decide the issue in the 2nd, Southfield's run was also unearned. Tom Ridley took the loss.

Royal Oak Jockey Gets 2,000th Win

Craig won the third race on IBN Ponder for No. 2,000 and came right back on No Pushover for No. 2,001 in the fourth.

Only 13 other riders ever have won 2,000 races, and six of those now are dead or retired. Johnny Longden, now in his 33rd year as a jockey, tops all winning riders with 5,000-plus. Craig has been riding 11 years.

Diamond Dust

By CHUCK ABAIR

It is only the first week of the Parks & Recreation junior baseball program yet forfeits are already turning up because teams either do not appear at all or lack enough players to field a team.

Such incidents are severe blows to everyone concerned. Certainly seems strange that teams can't appear for games the opening week of play. Why were these teams entered in the 1st place?

Phillips Luggage was dropped from the Class E morning league yesterday after forfeiting both of its games leaving that loop with an odd number of teams and a schedule problem. A Widget and Class F teams have also failed to appear for a game Tuesday.

Adding machines were needed to score the two "E" night games. Auburn Heights Boys Club belted Clarkston 20-1, getting three triples among 17 hits. Our Lady of Refuge walloped J & R Auto Stores 16-3 featuring four bingles by Dave Bourgeau. Gary Hintz had a one-hit shutout for six innings.

West Side Kiwanis drubbed the Pontiac Fire Fighters 20-0, the Tigers handed Baldwin a 25-9 thrashing, Little Eagles nipped Malkim 8-7, Northside Kiwanis blanked St. Mikes 11-0, Dixie Dairy won a forfeit and B & B Cleaners downed Moose 11-3 in F. Ron Lewis homered for B & B. Terry Chase hurled one-hitter, fanned 12 for Northside.

Chuck Honchell flipped a four-hitter in a 5-1 Pontiac Boys Club win over Lake Orion in Class D. The other tilt was a 6-6 tie between Don Nicholie and Union Lake—the latter team rallied with 5 in the 6th.

A homer by John Monroe helped the Aces slam Preston Bros. 19-5 in Widget ball. Auburn Heights won a Widget forfeit. Furtney and the Mets were deadlocked 10-10 when Dave White's bases-loaded triple sparked a 15-10 Furtney triumph. The Emerson Juniors downed the Blue Racers 8-2.

EXTRA INNINGS

Big win by Rochester and South field loss tightened Legion league considerably. Should be an interesting race . . . Inter-City Church is newest local softball loop . . . Games are Monday and Tuesday . . . Milford High baseball stars John Zeeman and Terry Anderson playing in Tri-County and Detroit area All-Star league.

Sweetman fired a 3-over-par 74 yesterday to go with his field-topping opening 69 for a halfway tally of 143. Johnson added a 71 to his opening 72 for 143.

Cold War Now Colder Fact

Geneva Has Bred U.S. Pessimism

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The Geneva conference has done just what the Western camp always fears such conferences will do. It has increased, not relaxed East-West tensions.

★ ★ ★

Why? Because it emphasizes that negotiations with the Soviet Union are, as U.S. Secretary Christian A. Herter said, "practically fruitless."

★ ★ ★

Why? Because the Soviets have specific designs on Western Europe and the rest of the world which it will not accept and which they will not renounce.

Yet these things are nothing new.

Herter's report to the country has produced a hardened attitude toward the Soviet Union as expressed through congressional reaction.

There is in evidence a growing tendency to accept the fact that the cold war will have to be fought out to a finish and to face the possibility that this conflict can produce hot war.

The American attitude toward Communist attempts to drive the West out of Western Berlin has now been reiterated, to general applause, to the point where any backdown becomes impossible.

As against Herter's "practically fruitless" statement, Macmillan says the "degree of success" at Geneva should not be underrated, since the positions are more clarified.

If he means that the Soviet Union will stop pushing because convinced the Allies will not yield, he goes against the record.

Nevertheless Herter did not slam the door on a summit conference. He left it cracked. He knows Macmillan will soon face an election campaign in a Britain which fears annihilation in an atomic war and where "keeping the door open" is a political maxim.

Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd's feeble attempt at optimism in parliament was underscored by the very politically meaningful comment of Aneurin Bevan, leader of the left wing of the opposition Labor Party, that there would be universal dismay if there is not an early summit conference.

The cards still call for such a conference just to stall off the time when talk could deteriorate into action, if for no other reason.

Adolf A. Berle, Jr., former assistant secretary of state, suggested the other day that maybe in 30 years a situation would arise in which all peoples would let other peoples choose their own way of life.

★ ★ ★

That would mean International Communist renunciation of the world revolution. It could also mean a Western renunciation of the belief that the world must be made safe for democracy.

Hawaii Will Probably Send Orientals to House, Senate

HONOLULU (AP) — Candidates in Hawaii's first state election July 28 are all Americans but the names are Japanese, Chinese, Portuguese, Filipino and Irish.

Islanders will ballot first in a primary election Saturday and, on the same day, decide in a final referendum whether they want statehood.

Primaries will decide party nominees for two seats in the U.S. senate, one in the House of Representatives, for governor, lieutenant governor and for the 76 seat state Legislature.

Of the eight hopefuls in both parties seeking to go to Congress, five are of Japanese or Chinese descent. The others are Caucasians.

On the Republican side, the unopposed nominees for the two U.S. senate seats are Hiram L. Fong, a prominent businessman of Chinese descent, who was once speaker of the Territorial House, and territorial Senator Wilfred C. Tsukiyama, 61, a lawyer and "elder statesman" among the islands' legislators of Japanese ancestry.

Charles H. Silva, a territorial director of institutions and of Portuguese extraction, is unopposed as GOP candidate for the House of Representatives.

Among Democrats, the lone House seat nomination is being contested by Mrs. Patsy Takemoto Mink and Daniel K. Inouye.

Inouye, 34, a lawyer of Japanese ancestry, is a territorial senator. He lost an arm in World War II fighting while serving with the all Nisei "Go for Broke" regimental combat team in Italy. Inouye initially declared for the U.S. Senate but in the last minute switched to the House. Mrs. Mink, 41, also a lawyer, is the only woman in the Territorial Senate.

Three Democrats are in the primary contest for the two U.S. Senate seats. They are Territorial Sen. Frank J. Fast and Oren E. Long and former Sen. William H. Heen. The 64-year-old Heen, of Hawaiian-Chinese origin, holds no office at present. He had ranked as dean of Hawaii's legislators through his 32 years in the Island Senate.

For governor, a important post because of patronage powers of the first governor, Democrat John A. Burns will be up against Republican William F. Quinn. Both are unopposed in the primaries.

Burns, 52, a one-time policeman, is now serving his second term as Hawaii's delegate to Congress. Quinn, 51, a lawyer, is the islands' 12th and last appointed governor. He was native to the post, his first public office, by President Eisenhower in the fall of 1957.

The list of aspirants contains many Japanese, the largest single racial group in the islands. At least four of Filipino descent are in the race. They are Republican Peter A. Aduja and Democrat Bernaldo Bicoy, both running for the State Senate but from different districts, and Democrat Pedro De La Cruz and Republican Raymond Eblacas, both seeking the State House but also from different districts.

Ross Is Appointed Dodge Comptroller

Ernest R. Ross of 2734 Derby, Birmingham has been named comptroller for the Dodge Car and Truck Division of Chrysler Corp., it was announced today.

ROSS

Ross joined Chrysler in 1950 as a cost analyst and in 1955 became assistant manager of the corporation's product cost control section. A year later he was named manager of the operations analysis section of the corporate finance staff.

He was promoted in 1957 to assistant comptroller of the Chrysler Imperial Division. Prior to his present appointment, Ross was comptroller for the corporation's general sales office.

Walk Up Walls at Newly Opened 'Mystery House'

Findahl promises "equilibriums will be upset and perspectives disturbed." He encourages shutterbugs to bring their cameras.

The "Mystery House" is open from 4 to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and from noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The "curiosity of science exhibit" will run throughout the summer, with guided tours.

Driver Is Satisfactory After Car Hits Trees

★ ★ ★

Miss Harlan was taken to Pontiac General Hospital and later transferred to Grace Hospital in Detroit.

A passenger, Gianno Cortella, 1830 Valley Rd., Bloomfield Hills, was treated for lip cuts at Pontiac General Hospital. He was later released.

MSU Expels Students for Stealing of Exams

EAST LANSING (AP) — Three Michigan State University students were kicked out of school today for stealing final exams and peddling copies for as much as $40.

A fourth was suspended for the fall term but may then apply for readmission. The fourth student was one of those who purchased some of the stolen material.

The announcement was made through the MSU Department of Information Services. Names were withheld.

Two Pontiac Policemen Promoted to Detective

The two new detectives are Joseph W. Swift and John A. Felts.

Swift, 31, of 220 S. Marshall St., joined the force in June 1951. He has been a uniformed patrol officer, dispatcher, and is presently a member of the department's Staff Bureau.

Felts, 34, of 151 Westway Dr., has been a city policeman since December 1952. He has served in the uniformed patrol section of the department and was a traffic officer during most of his service.

Rally Continues in Brisk Market

A vigorous parade of opening blocks at higher prices put the ticker tape behind transactions for a 10-minute period. Then turnover slackened to a moderately active pace.

Special Jobless Pay Ordered at Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan Employment Security Commission, acting on an attorney general's opinion, invoked a controversial Supreme Court ruling today to extend jobless pay benefits to Chrysler Corp. workers idled by a strike at another company plant only blocks away.

★ ★ ★

The State Supreme Court decision, now being challenged by Republican state senators, held that synchronized manufacturing operations are separate for jobless pay benefit purposes if they meet a test of separate personnel policies and other factors.

★ ★ ★

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear mother and grandmother, Anna Marie Brown, who passed away 2 years ago today, June 25, 1957.

No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who lose can tell,
The grief we bear in silence for the one we loved so well.
Someday, sometime our eyes shall see
The face we keep in memory;
And God will link the broken chain, still closer when we meet again.

Bill Holden Is Another to Feel Lure of Africa

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I surely did have all the beautiful girls looking my way. (I was sitting beside Bill Holden.)

I'd made sure the Beautiful Wife would be busy with her "girl"—hah!—friends. She's almost as ecstatic about Bill as she is about Frank Sinatra . . . and I wouldn't have got a word in.

Bill's so nice that you can't rap him. He was here talking about how he and John Wayne'll broadcast the Patterson-Johansson fight on closed circuit TV (sponsored by United Artists on behalf of their new picture, "The Horse Soldiers"), and also on ABC radio.

"But if you want to get me in August, my phone number's likely to be Nanyuki 55," Bill said.

"Is that a Los Angeles exchange?" I asked.

"Nope, Kenya, British East Africa," Bill grinned. He and oilman Ray Ryan of Palm Springs have bought the Mawingo Hotel there—30 miles from the famous "Treetops" outside Nairobi — and former the Mount Kenya Safari Club.

Bill's pretty wife, the former Brenda Marshall, was with him, and when he ordered an after-dinner brandy, she said:

"Why don't you have some coffee and honey with it?"

Bill's doctor was afraid after his last trip to Africa that he might have hepatitis. He suggested Bill drink vinegar and honey. Hill was very cooperative and did drink vinegar and honey—for two days.

"The honey's for energy," Mama said.

"You know I've done about everything — ridden submarines, raced wild horses in Mexico, ridden horses in the swamps and rivers of Louisiana for this past picture but the most exhilarating experience I had was that safari I was on," he said.

"What all did you 'bag'—if that's the word?" I asked.

"I didn't bag anything I couldn't hang up or walk on or eat! Speaking of eating, they have 'oryx' gnus—better than any beef you can eat. They have a crayfish . . ."

★ ★ ★

We never got much farther because these women kept coming over asking him for his autograph. Bill told me to say hello to the B.W. So just like he said, when I got home I said "Hello" to her.

"Who'd you see?" she said.

"Oh, I saw Dorothy and Jane and Betty and Marilyn," I said.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A Broadwayite told how his psychiatrist had cured his alcoholism. "He charged me so much I couldn't afford to buy whisky. . . . That's earl, brother.

Castro Arrests Opposition Foe

Enemy of Land Reform Held for Giving Aid to Batista Quintet

PINAR DEL RIO, Cuba (AP) — Felix Fernandez Perez, a leading critic of Prime Minister Fedel Castro's land reform program, was under arrest today on charges of helping five Batista supporters try to flee Cuba by boat.

Fernandez Perez is president of the Association of Small Landowners, which staged a public rally against the land redistribution plan on May 27.

Authorities said four other persons were arrested for aiding the attempted escape of the Batista men. One was the captain of the boat, who claimed the fugitives forced him to sail toward Mexico at gunpoint. The boat developed engine trouble and returned to Cuba. The government did not say whether the passengers were captured.

Castro struck back Tuesday night at the most outspoken critics of his land redistribution program, announcing that all cattle lands in excess of the maximum 3,300 acres allowed each owner would be seized immediately.

Castro spoke at Camaguey as 10 or more persons were reported arrested in Havana and Camaguey in connection with purported plots against the government.

Under the new law the maximum amount of land allowed one owner is 3,300 acres and all of it must be in use. Otherwise he can own only 1,000 acres. The excess is to be split up among Cuba's landless peasants.

Big Blaze Hits Mount Morris

6 Stores Damaged by $50,000 Fire Just Off Town's Main Street

MOUNT MORRIS (AP) — Fire burned through six stores down town here today causing an estimated $50,000 in damage. The buildings damaged were A & P Food Market; Mount Morris We-Wash; John Harvath Jewelers; Mount Morris Tot Shop; June Ann Beauty Parlor and the Ben Franklin store.

George Bigelow, Mount Morris city fire chief, said the fire broke out before the stores opened. He said it was believed to have started in a storage room in the back of the We-Wash in air compressors which service a refrigeration unit in the adjacent A & P store.

The six business places are housed in four buildings. Gordon Rockwell, an owner of three of the buildings, estimated total damage to the structures at about $25,000 and a similar amount to inventory.

Even Take a House Along

Second Group of 59ers Off on Long Alaskan Trek

Paced by their leader, Frank Milazzo of Detroit, the group was made up of 19 families. A total of 42 children was among the 76 persons to follow the original 59ers, now homesteading in Alaska's Susitna Valley.

The second group of modern-day pioneers who hope to carve out a new life in the Alaskan back country intended to spend tonight at Mackinaw City at the northern tip of the Lower Peninsula.

Unlike the first 59ers, the second group heads toward Alaska with accumulated information about the hardships to be faced on the road, proper equipment and a fair sized treasury.

Milazzo's semi-trailer truck is loaded with four tractors, several plows and other farming machinery. The other trucks carry food and household gear.

One of the new band of pioneers, Ted Stewart, had a portable home aboard his truck. He and his family expect to spend their first Alaska winter in the house.

Milazzo, who has been to Alaska, said his group has a 14-foot metal boat, two gasoline-powered saws and $1,500 worth of medical supplies.

"We have gained by the troubles of the first 59ers last spring," Milazzo said. "We know what hurt and delayed them along the road. We've taken steps to avoid as much of their troubles as we can."

The some 30 members of the original group ran into bad weather and vehicle breakdowns en route. They arrived in Alaska nearly broke to find the best land already had been taken on the Kenai Peninsula where they had hoped to homestead. They finally settled in the Susitna Valley.

Heroic Grandmother Succumbs to Burns

Mrs. Anne Tabor, 53, of 2607 Carman St., Royal Oak, died at William Beaumont Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The grandchild, Terri Lynn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith of Berkley, was burned fatally when she accidentally tipped over a can of gasoline, while toddling about. The fluid came in contact with the pilot light of a small stove and ignited.

The Man Pays

PUEBLO, Colo. (UPI)—Robert Secora had no audible comment after being fined $10 in Municipal Court yesterday for following too close and crashing into the rear of the car in front of him. The driver of the first car was his wife, Mary, who was freed of a charge of failure to signal.

Bill to Discourage Assaults Is Killed

State Rep. Arthur J. Law (D-Pontiac) today expressed disappointment in House failure to approve a bill designed to discourage assaults by teenage hoodlums.

"It would have helped protect ourselves and our families from marauding gangs that practice their sadism on innocent people," said Law.

The House turned down the Senate-approved measure by a 49-49 vote yesterday. Fifty-six favorable votes were needed for passage.

The bill would classify as a felony any assault by two or more persons over the age of 17. Probable court sentences, as a result, would be stiffer.

Opponents of the bill argued that stiff sentences already are possible under existing laws.

Frondizi Beset From All Sides

Peronist, Red Unions Press Drive to Oust Argentina Chief

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina seemed near the brink of revolution today, with President Arturo Frondizi beset by continuing rebelliousness in military circles and the threat of mass protests by Communist and Peronist labor unions.

Government officials continued to claim that the threat to the government had been averted by Frondizi's reshuffle of his cabinet and particularly by the appointment of a leading advocate of free enterprise, Alvaro Alsogaray, to head the economic and labor ministries.

Other sources said certain high military leaders were far from satisfied and sentiment in favor of ousting Frondizi was still strong in the armed forces.

Many were believed in the military barracks at Cordoba, the center of current agitation against Frondizi and the starting point of the 1955 revolution which overthrew Dictator Juan Peron.

Vice Adm. Isaac Rojas, a leader of the anti-Peron revolt, predicted Wednesday that Frondizi would face a revolution "within a few days or a few weeks" if he did not resign immediately.

The 62 labor unions known for their Peronist sympathies issued a communique accusing Frondizi of failing to keep his campaign promises and blaming him for "errors which have brought the country to the verge of chaos."

TV News and Reviews

Dick Clark Success Story Understated by Edwards

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — NBC-TV's This Is Your Life closed down its season last night with a success story, contemporary style.

For a change, Edwards understated the case. Clark is the hot test young property in the TV business with five afternoon shows a week, a Saturday night timer and another nighttime panel show coming up in the fall.

The This Is Your Life show was a pretty pale one. But that was no one's fault. Nothing much seems to have happened to Clark. He is simply a nice clean-cut young man who has become a success.

He has done it in the only way open to a nice clean-cut young man nowadays — by going along with the group. He has picked his group shrewdly—the sub and low teenagers.

Edwards and all those assembled on This Is Your Life last night seemed to regard Clark's rise and present estate as a cheery indication that all is right with the world. I found it all, however, infinitely melancholy.

SHORT SHOTS: I only caught the last half of CBS-TV's 60 minute special on Jimmy Hoffa and the Teamsters because it overlapped This Is Your Life, but it struck me as a very solid essay.

NBC-TV's Wagon Train, which had Ann Blyth on board last night, was a squisher. The train finally reached San Francisco, but better they should have stood in St. Joe.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Arthur Godfrey's decision yesterday to withdraw from the emceeing job of CBS-TV's Person to Person next fall has left uncertain the status of the six-year-old chat show.

A drug firm, Pharmaceuticals, Inc., has title to the show's Friday night time spot and must decide whether to dig up a new emcee or go with a new program.

Drayton Woman Hurt in Two-Car Collision

A Drayton Plains woman suffered cuts on her ribs, legs and back yesterday when she was involved in a two-car collision on Lapeer road at Drahner road.

Mrs. Florence Killenger, 5676 Cleary Dr., had stopped her car to make a left turn when her car was struck from the rear, sheriff's deputies reported.

★ ★ ★

Patricia Stevens Muntz, of Model Fame, Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Patricia Stevens Muntz, operator of schools and agencies for models in 25 U. S. and Canadian cities and wife of electronics manufacturer Earl "Mad Man" Muntz, was found dead today in her apartment.

The red-haired owner of Patricia Stevens, Inc., had returned home from a hospital last week after a kidney operation. Friends said she apparently had been making a satisfactory recovery from the operation.

She and Muntz were married in Detroit Jan. 28, 1956. At that time, both reported their ages as 36.

Mrs. Muntz sued for a divorce last fall, but later withdrew the petition. Muntz won the nickname "Mad Man" as a used car dealer on the West Coast before he turned to manufacturing television sets and sport cars in the Chicago area.

Wings Will Give Chevrefils 2nd Try

DETROIT (AP)—Real Chevrefils, whose failure to keep training regulations has forced him out of the National Hockey League, is getting another chance with the Detroit Red Wings.

The 27-year-old left wing came up through the Boston Bruins' system and later was traded to Detroit for goalie Terry Sawchuck. He went back to the Bruins and was waived out of the NHL last January.

Boston General Manager Lynn Patrick said he is willing to sell Chevrefils if he makes good on his trial — probably his last chance in the league—with the Red Wings.

He Won't Do Murrow Show

Godfrey Plans His Return, Looks and Feels Good

From Our News Wires

Now at his farm near Leesburg, Va., recuperating from a five-hour lung cancer operation of last April 30, Godfrey and broadcasting officials have been conferring about Godfrey's possible appearance on several TV specials in the fall.

One report said the 55-year-old entertainer, last seen on TV April 28, would make his return appearance on TV in a one-hour special scheduled for Wednesday night, Sept. 16. This was denied.

Wednesday, he notified the Columbia Broadcasting Company that he will not take over Edward R. Murrow's interviewing spot on "Person to Person."

A member of the "Person to Person" staff said that, as a consequence, the show, on the air since October 1953, will wind up permanently Friday night.

Charles Andrews, executive producer of Godfrey's shows, said that the red haired performer accepted the "Person to Person" job before his recent illness and that "during his convalescence has had a chance to do some re-evaluating of himself.

"I was with him all day yesterday," said Andrews, "and he feels he'd rather do his morning radio show—and perhaps three or four big night time shows.

James M. Seward, executive vice president of CBS radio and long-time Godfrey associate, said he has been in touch via telephone with Godfrey and saw him in New York last week. "He's looking well and feels well," Seward said. "He's enjoying himself at his farm but realizes that he still must rest up some more after that grueling ordeal he went through."

The operation on Godfrey was for the removal of the upper lobe of his left lung, in which a cancerous tumor was located. Part of the tumor had wrapped itself around the aorta, the great trunk artery of the heart.

Seward said Godfrey, besides flying his own plane to and from New York, is able to go swimming when the weather is warm but still must visit his doctor in New York once a week.

Four Events Run in 1st Morning of Horse Show

The events included the Michigan Hunts Perpetual Junior Challenge Trophy, won by Bob Sample of Northville on Hi-Society, with Sue Wallace of Northville on Sad Sack. Marie Hammill of Northville riding Rock Lad, Sue Foley of Bloomfield Hills on Bantry Bay, Allison Cram of Birmingham on Sonnino and Roger Wasserman of Detroit on King Louis, following in that order.

Louise Yeiser, 8, of Cincinnati on the big hunter Modoc, won the Maiden Equitation over a small field which included Dolph Andrea of Birmingham and Paula Cather of Birmingham on Bright Eyes.

Working Hunter Hacks event was won by Victoria Buchen of Grand Rapids on Hi-Fi. Second place went to Mrs. Graham J. Graham of Bloomfield Hills on Battle Fashion. Blue Monday, ridden by his owner, Bob Egan, finished third.

The Open Equitation for 13-year-olds and under was won by Anne Kyes on Goldilocks. Little Allison Cram, 12, was runnerup on Sonnino with Pixie Lilley, 10, taking third on Robert E. Lee.

The morning's final event, Model Hunters—was won by Duke of Paeonian, owned by the John S. Pettibone Stables. Second and third places, respectively, went to Dragnet, owned by Fred A. Wilson and ridden by Egan, and the Man O'War Farms' Sun Dial.

Give Your Car Check Before Starting Vacation

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Your auto should be given a thorough check-up before you start a long vacation drive on one of America's new superhighways, warns the American Automobile Association.

Hugh Craig, executive secretary of the Minnesota AAA, said, "The speeds maintained in expressway driving and the distance between service stations require motorists to have their cars in top condition."

Pension Funds Invest Big in Stock Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Non-insured pension funds now have bigger holdings of "big board" stocks than all insurance companies combined New York Stock Exchange statistics show.

Pension fund holdings, which have catapulted from 500 million dollars to $9,100,000,000 in the past decade, now rank second only to mutual funds, whose holdings total $19,200,000,000, as the exchange's largest institutional investors.

This Year's Food Bill Likely to Total Less

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP) — Your grocery bill for 1959 might be smaller than it was last year.

Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, University of Minnesota marketing expert, said foods expected to be cheaper this year because of good supply are: pork, chicken, lard and possibly lamb. Beef, eggs, turkey and dairy products are expected to remain at about the same price levels as a year ago.

Problem All Tied Up

When they arrived the situation was well in hand. The wife and son had tied the man of the house to a bedpost.
