French Premier Urges Censure Against Rebels

Coty Asks All Peoples to 'Turn Backs' After Massacre in Algeria

PARIS (INS) — French President Rene Coty called today on "all civilized peoples" to turn their backs on the Algerian rebels.

Coty made his appeal in a dramatic televised speech shortly after midnight. It followed the disclosure yesterday of a gory massacre in which the entire male population of 303 Arabs was slain in an Algerian village by other Arabs.

French authorities said a total of 500 moslems had been massacred in three days of intra-Arab feuding. The most savage mass killing occurred in Melouza village late Tuesday and early Wednesday.

At least 35 were reported killed in three other Algerian villages in massacres carried out Thursday night. The toll was expected to rise when complete details became available.

Coty said in his message:

"I ask all civilized peoples if they do not feel the time has come to make it clear they will refuse to give any hearing to the perpetrators and the agents of this hideous terrorism which tramples on all divine and human laws in contempt for the conscience of mankind."

He said Algerian rebel leaders were responsible for the killing of "five thousand defenseless moslems, men and women, old men and children," since the rebellion against France began in 1954.

French officials said the massacres were ordered by the national liberation front as part of its campaign against pro-French Algerians.

The officials reported, meanwhile, that 140 Algerian rebels were killed in a series of clashes with French troops near Sedrata and Tazmalt Thursday and Friday.

In another development, a clash was reported between French and Tunisian troops in the Ain Draham area. Six soldiers were killed in the border conflict.

Legislators Rap Governor's Veto of Fifth Oakland Judge

Oakland County Republican legislators cried "politics!" yesterday in the wake of Gov. Williams veto of a bill providing a fifth circuit judgeship for the county.

The bill would have filled the new post at the November, 1958 election, but Williams wants to appoint a man of his own choosing, the four legislators charge.

They figure that predominantly Oakland County would have elected a Republican while Williams wants to appoint a Democrat.

Williams had used the reverse of this argument in vetoing the Republican-sponsored bill yesterday.

"The need for a new Oakland judge is great and should be filled by an immediate appointment," he said.

"But this bill denies relief for Oakland County's crowded dockets for at least 19 months."

Behind the bill, Williams declared, was the reluctance of Oakland County Republicans to allow him once again to appoint a new judge.

Williams had appointed the county's fourth circuit judge, Clark J. Adams, a Democrat who took over his job in January 1956.

Both parties consider it an advantage to fill the new judgeship initially, since circuit judges usually are re-elected no matter what their party affiliation.

Republicans, however, said that the bill was written with the limited present courtroom space taken into consideration.

Arguing against Williams' veto were Reps. Farrell E. Roberts, of West Bloomfield Township; Donald A. Brown, of Royal Oak; Lloyd L. Anderson, of Waterford Township and Theodore E. Hughes, of Berkley.

All pointed out that the bill had been supported by the Board of Supervisors, the county's four present circuit judges and by the Oakland County Bar Association.

★ ★ ★

The new judge would have taken over in January, 1959, at a time additional courtroom space would have been available in the proposed new courthouse, they said.

Roberts said the bill had the support of Oakland County Democrats. "Why, Harriett Phillips, a Democratic State Central Committeewoman, who is on the board of supervisors even seconded the resolution endorsing the proposal."

"At that time all the Democratic representatives from Oakland agreed with the Republicans that they would co-sponsor the bill," Roberts continued.

"Then the governor called them into his office and plainly told them he wanted to make the appointment, under the threat of a veto."

"Even so," Roberts observed, "the bill passed the House by a substantial majority, with the Democrats split down the middle."

"Three Democrats supported it in the Senate, even though they

Cites Big Taxes, Freight Costs in Making Move

Senators, Congressmen State Disappointment, Sharp Criticism

DETROIT (AP) — Criticism and disappointment followed today in Michigan in the wake of the Army's decision awarding a multi-million dollar tank construction contract to the government-owned plant at Newark, Del., instead of the Detroit Tank Arsenal.

The Army awarded a 119-million-dollar contract for 900 medium tanks to the Chrysler-operated East Coast plant yesterday, citing higher taxes and freight costs in Michigan for the decision. Chrysler also runs the government-owned tank arsenal.

Asst. Army Sec. Frank Higgins said Chrysler will assign 89 million dollars of the contract to Newark for construction of tank bodies. He said 30 millions would go to Muskegon, Mich., for building tank engines and parts.

HIRE MORE WORKERS

About 550 additional workers will be hired at Newark to handle the new contract.

Claim Rackets Flourish in City

Ex-Vice Squad Officers to Meet Ziem, Request an Investigation

Pontiac does a four and one half million dollar numbers racket business in five local houses each year, according to former officers of the Pontiac Police Vice Squad.

The officers, who are now assigned to other bureaus on the department, said today they have scheduled a meeting next week with Oakland County Prosecutor Fred C. Ziem to present their information and a request for an investigation.

The officers contend that their work on the vice squad was hampered by policies of Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, and that the situation still exists, thus permitting the current growth of numbers and other illegal activities.

The Police Officers Association is seeking to have the chief removed from the department.

★ ★ ★

The officers cited the sharp drop in arrests by the vice squad and asserted that the fault is not with present members of the vice squad but rather with the manner in which the department has been operated under the present chief.

Accidents Claim 18 in Michigan

Holiday Toll Still Rising; 184 Die on Highways Throughout U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The accidental death toll in Michigan's long Memorial Day weekend rose to 18 today, including 10 persons killed in traffic.

★ ★ ★

There were four drowning victims and one man died of a heart attack while marching in a holiday parade. One person was killed by a train and two died in a fire.

State Police, National Guardsmen and sheriff's men planned intensified highway patrols over the weekend, anticipating heavy returning traffic from the four-day vacation period that ends at midnight Sunday.

Last year 10 persons were killed in the 30-hour Memorial Day period.

TOLL MOUNTS

Nationally, the traffic death toll mounted slowly but steadily as the long Memorial Day weekend moved into its second half.

The latest count showed 184 highway deaths, 67 drownings, and 49 other fatalities from accidental causes connected with the holiday.

California and Pennsylvania were tied at 14 each in the greatest number of traffic deaths. Illinois, with 13, was next.

The last four-day Memorial Day weekend, in 1950, saw 347 traffic deaths.

Delay Sentence of Arthur Miller

Judge Rules Playwright Was Guilty of Contempt Before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Playwright Arthur Miller may have to wait three weeks or longer to learn whether he goes to jail for contempt of Congress.

Convicted yesterday but still free on bond, Miller and his wife, actress Marilyn Monroe, left their New York apartment saying they were "going away for a little while." He declined to comment on his conviction.

Federal District Judge Charles F. McLaughlin ruled yesterday that Miller was guilty, but delayed sentencing to await a report from the court's probation officer.

Because of that office's heavy workload, there was official speculation that Miller might not hear his sentence for about three weeks.

★ ★ ★

McLaughlin ruled that the 41-year-old writer unlawfully refused at a congressional inquiry to answer two questions concerning the identity of Communist writers with whom Miller admitted attending meetings in New York in 1947. Miller had talked freely of his own activities, but declined to name others.

The maximum penalty for contempt of Congress is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

That's What Writer Calls '500'

Globe's Greatest Carnival?

By DENIS N. HAWKER
Visiting Australian Journalist

(This is part of an article on the Indianapolis 500 written for Australian newspapers.)

HAWKER

The Indianapolis 500 may or may not be the greatest race car classic in the world. But there is no question that Speedway City is host to the globe's greatest carnival.

Speedway City which claims to be the richest community for its size in the world, entertained around half a million visitors Wednesday night and Thursday.

All America was represented. From early Wednesday and before cars bearing license plates of every state in the Union streamed towards the speedway carrying loads of people intent on really living it up.

Car lineups four wide stretched away from the speedway for up to 15 miles as patient race fans set about making the most of their long wait until 4 a.m. Thursday when the Speedway gates opened.

GREAT CARNIVAL

The Speedway City was one great carnival—the like of which I have seen nowhere else in the world, or expect to see. Those who could not get into the midget racing at the 16th Street Speedway, which had programs at 9 p.m. and midnight, danced in the street to an eight-piece orchestra, played cards and dice under street lights, cooked, ate, drank and slept in the streets, in cars, on the front lawns of private homes, or on the sidewalks.

★ ★ ★

Sidewalk vendors called their wares, overhead monster chandelier fireworks lit up the sky, and searchlights probed the darkness.

From dawn Thursday, people streamed into the speedway laden with cases of beer and soft drinks on ice, portable stoves, bundles of steel and planks with which to build private stands.

To the background noise of high-powered engines tortured to produce record speeds the 500's biggest crowd had a ball and a picnic combined.

Thousands in various stages of dress and undress (the day was hot) wore themselves to near prostration watching the flashing cars.

SUNBURN LOTION

A vendor of sunburn lotion could have made a fortune.

Bright sunlight glinted on myriad discarded beer cans, pop bottles and newspapers. Food and drink stalls were out of stock early in the day as a voracious crowd swept the course and its enclosed golf course like a plague of locusts.

The road back was lined with parked cars, their occupants sleeping off a 36-hour party.

Everybody had a great time, and Indianapolis and Speedway City made a lot of money.

★ ★ ★

But I wouldn't care to be the person responsible for cleaning up after America's biggest binge.

Why Get Car Insurance?

FAIRMONT, N. C. (INS) — Willie A. Hunt, a Fairmont farmer, drove into town yesterday to purchase automobile insurance. He had to hitchhike back home. While his policy was being drawn up, someone stole Willie's car.

Arson Charge Cools Fiery Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A blonde housewife, who in a classic rebellion against housework and diaper washing, set fire to her home, doesn't recommend the remedy to other women.

"It just made things worse," she said.

Looking like a school girl in loose white sweater, blue skirt and flat shoes, 20-year-old Mrs. Nancy Joyce Stoner appeared in Superior Court yesterday on an

She told the court she didn't have the money to hire a lawyer. A public defender was appointed to represent her. She'll return June 10 to enter a plea. In the meantime, she's free on $500 bond.

After leaving the courtroom, Mrs. Stoner said:

SHE'S WORRIED

"I'm worried about what's going to happen to me.

"My husband, Gene, and the two girls and I are staying with my sister in Pomona.

"I'm still doing diapers and housework but I don't feel as nervous as I did before the fire."

It was on May 8 that Mrs. Stoner set fire to seven stacks of diapers in various parts of her three-bedroom home in suburban Norwalk.

She got in her car with her daughters, Debbra, 2, and Dianna, 4 months, and drove away.

A neighbor shouted that her house was afire.

"That's good," she called back. "Call the Fire Department."

When police arrested her, Mrs. Stoner told them she set the fire because "I've been doing the work and baby diapers for so long I just got fed up and blew my stack."

Elaborating after her court appearance, she said:

"I quit high school to be married on my 16th birthday. Debbra came along and then Dianna.

"Things got too much for me. The baby had been in the hospital. I was lonely because Gene was gone from early morning until night on his construction job."

Fire damage to the house the Stoners were buying was estimated at $3,000.

"We want to keep the house and fix it up but we don't have the money now," Mrs. Stoner said. "The whole inside has to be painted and the floors have to be repaired."

"I think my husband pays more attention to me and the kids now," Mrs. Stoner said with a wan smile. "But I wouldn't recommend that any other woman do what I did. I don't know what's going to happen to me."

The penalty for arson is from 2 to 20 years in prison.

Graham Tells Audience:

'You Laugh at Salvation, Travel Road to Doom'

NEW YORK (AP)—"You laugh at the idea of being saved by Christ. You sit there rationalizing, cynically, smirking. Your hearts are cold as ice. Your hearts are like stone."

★ ★ ★

Billy Graham flung the words out at 18,300 people last night, declaring that the smug modern generation defies God's plan of redemption through Christ — because they can't see how it works.

"You shake your fist in God's face, and say, 'sure, I'm going to heaven, but I'm going my own way. I can't understand how Christ's death on the cross will save me, so I'll use my own system."

★ ★ ★

That, Graham said, is the road to doom, because God has set rules, and the only release He offers men from their inevitable sin is through accepting Christ, who died to reconcile the world to God.

"There's not a person in America, in all the world, who understands all about salvation," Graham told his Madison Square Garden audience.

★ ★ ★

"But who are we, with our finite minds, put down here to live 60 or 70 years, to say we understand all about the infinite God, who fills all space, who has no beginning and no end, who is from everlasting to everlasting."

At the end of Graham's sermon, 749 people came forward at his plea for them to "accept Christ." This brought the total of such decisions to 10,739 in 17 nights—the biggest response Graham has ever achieved.

Tonight, the Graham service will be televised on a nationwide hookup of the American Broadcasting Company from 7 to 8 p.m. (EST). It will be the first time a Graham meeting has ever been televised live.

★ ★ ★

In his sermon last night, Graham's text was Exodus 20:13: "Thou shalt not kill."

The evangelist said that the "greatest murder of all" that men commit is "injuring another man's soul" and that thousands are guilty of destroying souls.

260 From Michigan Hear Graham Speak

NEW YORK (AP) — A delegation of about 260 people from Michigan attended Billy Graham's crusade in New York last night. They filled special railroad cars for the trip.

The trip was organized by Edward T. Carling of Detroit, executive director of the Voice of Christian Youth, and David Breese of Grand Rapids, director of the "Youth for Christ" movement there.

Sues Sinatra, Joe Di Maggio

Woman Asks $200,000 as 'Wrong Door' Raid Compensation

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Joe Di Maggio and Frank Sinatra are being sued for $200,000 for that "wrong door" raid of two and a half years ago.

Mrs. Florence Kotz, 39-year-old secretary, asked for that amount in a suit filed in Superior Court yesterday.

★ ★ ★

She charged that the former Yankee clipper, Sinatra and four other persons broke into her apartment by battering down the rear door the night of Nov. 5, 1954.

She said the invasion threw her into a state of acute hysteria and left her highly nervous and with fainting spells, with the result that she had to quit her $300-a-month job.

The "wrong door" raid was first reported by the scandal magazine, Confidential, last fall.

Later a state senate committee delved into it while investigating the magazine. Witnesses told the committee that "private eye" Barney Ruditsky set up the raid for Di Maggio in an attempt to get evidence against his recently-divorced wife, film star Marilyn Monroe.

Testimony brought out that the blonde actress was in the building, but in another apartment.

Seek Warrant Against Gypsies

Family Risked Lives in Car-Truck Smashup to Collect Damages

DETROIT (AP) — Asst. Prosecutor William P. Long said today he will recommend a warrant charging conspiracy to cheat and defraud against four members of a Detroit family he said deliberately risked their lives in a car-truck smashup in order to collect damage.

Detective Jacob Koch said yesterday the four planned the accident in which they were rammed from the rear by a heavily loaded gasoline tractor-trailer last Saturday at a Detroit intersection.

Long said he would recommend the warrant against Frank John; his wife, Tina; their son, Martin, 17, and John's sister, Mrs. Mary Guy.

Three brothers, Joe, Frank and Robert Montez, are being held on a fugitive warrant for authorities in Allegheny County, Pa. Koch said the trio is wanted for jumping bond while awaiting trial on similar charges there.

Koch said the seven persons are members of a gypsy band. He said John admitted that Montez pulled in front of his car so he would have an excuse to stop suddenly in the path of the truck. Koch said John later retracted the admission.

Legislators Score Veto of 5th Judge

opposed judgeships for Saginaw and Bay County," he added.

"The veto actually does nothing to upset our plans, since we intend to introduce the same measure again next session," observed Roberts. "We were trying to plan ahead, as the governor so often advises us to do."

Williams had signed bills last year providing for elections of new judges in traditionally Democratic Macomb and Genesee Counties, Hughes pointed out.

★ ★ ★

"Evidently he will allow the people to exercise their rights when it will serve his own political purpose. But when the voters are Republicans he believes it is constitutional to protect them from their 'political folly' by insisting on an appointment."

★ ★ ★

"The constitution says that the Legislature shall provide for the election of additional circuit judges," said Hughes. "It allows the governor only the power to fill vacancies."

Williams also signed a bill this week calling for an additional judgeship in Bay County to be filled by appointment.

Brown was the only one who believed there was a chance to override the veto when the legislature meets again June 26 and 27.

He recalled that 17 Democrats had sided with the Republican majority in passing the bill.

"If the Democrats still act independently of the governor we can beat the veto," he figured.

Report H-Blast Equaled 5 Million Tons of TNT

LONDON (INS) — Eyewitnesses reported today that they believed the hydrogen bomb exploded by Britain yesterday may have carried a punch equal to five million tons of TNT.

This is five times more powerful than the first H-Bomb exploded by Britain on May 15. The bomb was exploded at a high altitude over the Pacific Ocean 400 miles south of Christmas Island.

Ike's Helicopters Land at White House

Delaware Awarded Army Tank Contract

tion in Michigan and Delaware would cost. It said $300,000 of the difference was caused by a lessor's use tax in Michigan.

Michigan's senators and the state's congressional delegation had fought to secure the contract for the Detroit area. They pointed to unemployment in Detroit while pleading their case before Army officials.

QUITE DISTURBED

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) criticized mentioning the state tax as a factor. He said in a statement:

"I am quite disturbed that the army should have cited a $300,000 Michigan tax item as a factor in awarding the major portion of this contract elsewhere. I'll have to be thoroughly convinced that there was a real differential of $1,878,000. On the basis of information which has come to me from industry and labor, I'd be inclined to seriously question that 'figure.'"

The lessor's use tax was passed by the state legislature four years ago. It is levied against users of property that has been removed from local property tax rolls. In this case it would be levied against the government as the owner of the arsenal.

The tax would cost the government $150,000 annually. Delaware has no such tax.

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) said in a statement he was "disappointed" over the contract decision, adding:

"We needed it to help bolster employment and the economic situation. However, I will continue every effort to obtain new defense contracts for the state."

Gov. Williams heard the decision in Lansing. He said the army was "obviously playing politics" in awarding the contract to Delaware.

"This is the logical result of the propaganda campaign against the state of Michigan in which Sen. Potter has joined," the governor said. "Just this week he (Potter) told everybody our state is a bad place to do business and the Army took him at his word."

Williams then zeroed in on Army Secretary Wilber Brucker. The governor called "purely political" an "attempt by Secretary Brucker to blame this on Michigan taxes."

He said the decision came "with particularly poor grace" from Brucker, a former Michigan governor who, Williams said, "has made the Army a part of the General Motors campaign to avoid bearing a fair share of the cost of government in this state."

Williams was referring to a two-month-old controversy over whether Michigan's taxes are discouraging industry.

He served nine years in Lansing and retired from office to become director of the Oakland County Convalescent Hospital.

Mr. Estes' work at the infirmary attracted wide attention as he raised the medical and nursing level of the institution to a point where it became the first of its type in Michigan to win accreditation from the American Hospital Assn.

Born in Alpena, he married Marjorie Potter, Sept. 16, 1920 in Flint.

He was a 1917 graduate of Michigan State University and a member of Christ Church Cranbrook. # Portions of Texas Flooded by Rains

DALLAS (AP)—Rains of up to 11 inches flooded portions of Texas yesterday, two boys were killed by lightning, and farmers waited impatiently for thousands of acres of land to dry as violent weather continued in Texas.

The Midland, Tex., Weather Bureau said a tornado was sighted a few miles west of Big Spring in west Texas, but it caused no damage.

More than 11 inches of rain fell in three hours in south Texas between Uvalde and Lapryor, causing flash flooding. More than three inches fell at Kingsville, also in south Texas, and one inch fell in 20 minutes at Big Spring, flooding streets. Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview and Sherman were raked by storms.

The rains have prevented harvesting and were believed to have placed south plains wheat crops in jeopardy. Cotton crops in Hale, Floyd and Swisher counties, just south of the Panhandle, were far behind in planting.

Russians to Buy on Installment Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Russians can expect to buy at least some items soon for so many rubles down and so many rubles a month.

Internal Trade Minister D. V. Pavlov told a news conference Thursday buying on the installment plan — considered strictly a Western economic device — is "just around the corner" for the Russian people.

He didn't say what items he had in mind.

Pavlov conceded there is still a wide gap between supply and demand on such articles as automobiles, motorcycles, sewing machines, electric refrigerators, pianos and articles of furniture.

But he had one cheering note by the end of the year every third family in the Soviet Union will own a bicycle.

Pavlov's ministry bosses the distribution and sale of consumers' goods at state-owned stores throughout the Soviet Union.

Firefighters Mourn Death of Their Oldest Associate

Waterford Township firemen are mourning the loss of one of their oldest associates today, following the death of Charles Swain early yesterday morning.

Mr. Swain, 66, widely known as "Charlie," was the first paid fireman in the township and has been a member of the volunteer fire department since its establishment in 1942. He had been living with his daughter and son-in-law, Eva and Paul Meschen, at 4821 Hatchery Rd.

Mr. Swain's 16 years as an outstanding firefighter won him many friends and respect from all who worked with him. He was considerate of others and was always the first to sparkplug the men into action, according to Fire Chief Edward Smith.

Mr. Swain lost his left leg as a result of service in the department while on duty when a spreading toe infection made amputation necessary.

RAISED FUNDS

The 40-member volunteer fire department raised more than enough funds to pay for hospital expenses and buy an artificial limb.

At that time, he remarked to his friends on the kindness of Waterford Township residents.

CHARLES SWAIN

Although the accident forced his retirement more than a year ago, Mr. Swain never left the department spiritually. He once said, "Once a fireman gets smoke in him, he never gets it out."

★ ★ ★

Besides Mrs. Meschen, Mr. Swain is survived by another daughter, Betty, of Lapeer, a sister, Mrs. Charles Yoder, of Indiana and brothers Ben of California and Ira of Indiana.

★ ★ ★

When services are held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Coates Funeral Home, six firemen will be pallbearers. They will lead the procession to the Drayton Plains cemetery, riding in the newly acquired utility fire truck.

Two School Districts Vote for Annexation

MARLETTE — Marlette Supt. of Schools Alfred G. Amundsen said today that Burnside School District No. 8 has voted, 10 to 0, in favor of annexing to Marlette Community School District.

★ ★ ★

Brownell District No. 6, in Metamora Township, this week also voted, 21 to 14, for annexation to the Lapeer County Public Schools.

Rioting Illinois Students to Escape Punishment

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (INS) — A University of Illinois official has indicated that little if any punishment will be meted out to the more than 5,000 students who participated in the fighting Illini's Memorial Day riot.

★ ★ ★

The official, who asked not to be identified, said last night that it would be difficult to inflict mass punishment because too many students were involved in the eight-hour free-for-all that began as a water fight between two fraternities.

High Taxes Hurt Employment in State

LANSING — The high tax situation in Michigan has cost local communities 225,000 jobs during the 12 year period since World War II, according to a compilation of figures submitted by industry, the U.S. Department of Commerce, U. S. Department of Labor and the Michigan Manufacturers Association.

On the assumption that the earnings of half this number of workers would have averaged $3,600 annually, Michigan lost a grand total of more than $4,250,000,000 in payrolls to other states during the 12-year period.

High taxes result in three important factors contributing to loss of jobs. These include:

1. Tax comparisons discourage new industry from locating in Michigan.
2. High taxes cause existing industry to move completely, or to expand in other states.
3. Tax differentials cause Michigan firms to lose business to competitive states, with resultant layoffs.

"Gov. Williams' latest tirade against industrial leaders and big business in general, is an indication of the political climate which is driving business and jobs out of the state," said Senator Clyde Geerlings, Chairman of the Senate Tax Committee.

Briton Accused of Forcing Work on Woman, 28

LONDON (INS) — A 26-year-old british inventor has been formally accused in court of carrying off an attractive salesgirl and keeping her prisoner for several months during which she was forced to work as his personal slave.

The prosecutor made the charges yesterday against John Bridal during a preliminary hearing in Bow Street magistrates court.

The woman in the case is Marjorie Jordan, 28. She was stolen from her bedroom and hauled off on a motorcycle in the middle of the night.

Bridal was accused of keeping her locked in a dugout beneath a shed most of the time. He let her out twice a week to do his housework and his washing.

★ ★ ★

The woman said he also forced her to knit a sweater for him and then beat her because it took her too long.

★ ★ ★

Marjorie allegedly had to enlarge the dugout herself. The prosecutor said Bridal would lower buckets into the hole and she would fill them with dirt. Eventually she got the dugout to double its original size. Her statement said once when she refused to work Bridal took away all of her clothes and on other occasions left her only panties.

The prosecutor said Bridal did not try to force his attentions on the girl. Instead, he added, "What he wanted was a sort of unpaid servant."

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What are the ingredients which cause tornadoes? Do they sometimes occur in clear weather, in a cloudless sky? Does dry or moist air prove more conducive to tornado development?

If the day is clear, especially clear with dry air, you need worry little about tornadoes—as long as this condition holds. Even without the dry air, a clear day indicates the danger of tornadoes is nil.

★ ★ ★

The weather condition which should give cause for concern is one in which squalls or thunderstorms are frequent — especially when the approach of a cold front is expected. If the air is moist and conditions unsettled, in spring or early summer, these weather signs should be seriously heeded as possible breeders of a tornado, or tornados.

★ ★ ★

Tornadoes—contrary to the popular belief—sometimes occur out of season. But in the winter they are rare. April, May and June, and possibly July, are months to be on watch. Because stronger updrafts occur in the skies in daylight, tornadoes most often develop then, but they can and do form at night, too.

More Recollections of Early Pontiac

Rule of the G.A.R.; Praise of Gov. Moses Wisner

By ARTHUR POUND

(Continuing the recollections of early days in Pontiac, by Author Pound. Reprinted from the current issue of the University of Michigan Alumnus Quarterly.)

The Underground Railroad vanished as the States went to war in 1861, but that mighty conflict, when the United States touched rock-bottom, conditioned the mental and emotional growth of every boy of my generation.

All around us were veteran soldiers of that titanic conflict, some with empty sleeves and wooden legs, some spry as crickets, but all with tall tales to tell and auras of glory around their gray heads.

★ ★ ★

The GAR's (Grand Army of the Republic) still ruled the political roost and held most of the public offices. Within a block of our house lived Major Howard, and Dr. E. B. Galbraith, who had been an army surgeon.

Of course, the G. A. R.'s had passed their prime and did not have things all their own way. One of their foes was the peppery editor of the Gazette, S. J. Tomlinson, who challenged the local G. A. R. domination of Republican politics.

In describing a Memorial Day Parade where the veterans marched in their faded blue uniforms and old stained black slouch hats, Editor Tomlinson wrote a sentence to the effect that the "battle scarred" veterans came down the street.

★ ★ ★

However, a slight typographical error made it read, "a battle-scared veterans came down the street." Forced to correct this slip in the next issue, he did so with this daisy, "What we intended to say was this — the bottle-scarred veterans came down the street."

This tale may be credited to other towns, but it originated in Pontiac and has spread around the world.

★ ★ ★

By no means all the G. A. R.'s in the parade were like those described by the Gazette. Some I hold in such affectionate remembrance that when the last survivor died recently in Duluth at the age of 110, I felt a personal loss. Until he departed I felt that I still had some grip on youth, however slight.

As a newsboy I carried the Detroit Journal, a Republican paper long since extinct, to several noble old soldiers, and as I stand here in the lengthened shadow of a great citizen-soldier, Governor Wisner, who helped to raise the famous 22nd Michigan Infantry, "the Rock of Chickamauga," and led it southward to his doom, it is fitting to keep green the memory of him and his comrades.

Governor Wisner was a mighty oratorical lawyer with a big, booming voice, effective alike in political campaigns and courtroom speeches.

Also, he had a quick wit and humor to rescue himself from slips in book learning. He once astonished judge and jury by declaring, "As the Bible saith, he who danceth must pay the fiddler." I don't know where that saying originated, but certainly not in the Bible. Amid general laughter Judge Turner asked Wisner to quote chapter and verse, whereupon the Governor counterattacked by shouting: "Great God, is it possible that we have on the bench a person so ignorant of Holy Scripture?"

Sixty years ago, in 1896, when Major McKinley of Ohio was running for the Presidency as a war-hero personality, as President Eisenhower is today, the fading panorama of the Civil War was revived for Pontiac when there rolled into the city a special train bearing a dozen or so assorted generals and heroes of that great conflict.

★ ★ ★

Those whose presence and appearance I recall best were Major General Russell A. Alger, former Governor of Michigan, later Secretary of War and Senator; one-legged Major General Daniel E. Sickles, a swashbuckler who had killed a man in a famous duel before he ever took command of troops; stately General O. O. Howard, and nimble Corporal Tanner.

These rugged old-timers rode the D. G. & M. Railroad down from Durand on a flatcar, from which they made the welkin ring with praise of McKinley; the last of four Grand Army veterans to be elected President.

What Is Happening

Will Beeson is telling the story. His home has been the Box P ranch in Easter Valley in frontier Colorado ever since Joe and Sarah Pardee took him in, a homeless hungry kid, seven years back. Will, having the deepest affection for the Pardees, was distressed by the bitterness between Joe and his wife, Sarah, who has lived in a wheel chair since an accident.

One morning Will rode with Joe Pardee and Gene Dillingham, another of Joe's cowhands, to meet Al Beam, who had challenged Pardee's domination of Easter Valley. When Joe cornered Beam, he was the loser in the duel. Dillingham killed Beam in a rage of grief. Dying of his wounds, Joe told Beeson: "Take care of Kathy Morgan," referring to a young woman who had attracted Joe's interest. Sarah, taking charge of the ranch names Beeson as foreman. This makes an enemy for Will, for Gene Dillingham has counted on getting the job. Sarah's next step is to name Beeson as 49% owner. Kathy, upon hearing of this, tells him: "You let her buy you, Will, and she'll destroy you just as she destroyed Joe."

Chapter 6

Fall roundup went as smoothly as it ever had when Joe was alive. So did the drive of the pool herd to Leadville. When we got back to Alton's Trading Post on the Arkansas, I left the crew and rode downriver to Canon City. I put the money from the sale of the Box P steers in the bank, keeping out the $500 Sarah wanted, and looked up Ben Sawhill.

The lawyer shook hands with me and motioned toward a chair. He asked about the drive, how the year was going financially and how I liked my job as foreman.

★ ★ ★

He seemed to run out of questions. He paused, then said: "Will, how do you feel about Sarah? Do you intend to marry her?"

I stared at him, unable to say anything for a moment. Then I said: "I ought to knock your teeth down your throat. Do you have any idea what Sarah has meant to me since I went there?"

"I apologize, Will," he said gently. "You see, I was in love with her before she married Joe. I'm still in love with her. I intend to ask her to marry me after I've waited a decent interval. The only reason I asked was to make sure what your intentions were. She's deeding you half her property. I've been wondering why, but it's her business. I've got the papers ready."

★ ★ ★

"Why didn't you marry her?" I asked.

"I was poor, just starting my practice here, so I waited. Joe showed up and rushed her off her feet. They were married before I knew what was happening."

"Did Joe know about you?"

Sawhill shook his head. "No. Neither did Sarah. At least, I never told her. I came close to killing Joe several times. Sometimes I wish I had. He made life miserable for her in a lot of ways." He shrugged. "No use digging up old bones. Might as well wind this business up."

He handed me a pen, and I dipped it into a bottle of ink and signed my name. He leaned back in his chair, eyes narrowed. "This may turn out to be a good arrangement. I'll bring Sarah here if she'll have me, and you'll be there on the ranch to run it. You ought to get married, Will. You'd be happier."

"Get married," I said. "Just like that."

★ ★ ★

I turned toward the door. He said, Will." I swung back as he rose and walked to me. "Joe taught you a lot of things, including his way of looking at every problem in that simple, tough way he had. It fits Gene Dillingham, but it doesn't fit you. Sooner or later you'll butt heads on a question that will break you and Sarah up unless you see it her way. What will you do?"

"I don't know," I said. "I guess I'll decide when the time comes."

I thought some more about what Sawhill had said as I rode home, a lot more. I wasn't a gun fighter, and I couldn't ask Gene Dillingham to do my fighting for me. But I couldn't sit still and watch our grass go under. There must be soce substitute for Joe's gun.

It was dark by the time I reached the Box P and put up my horse. The only substitute I had been able to think of was the Cattlemen's Association. I'd ride over to see Alec Dodson in the morning.

When I reached the bunkhouse, Curly King said: "Mrs. Pardee wants to see you right away. She's got company. I guess she wants you to meet 'em."

★ ★ ★

I changed my shirt and combed my hair. We heard Maria hammering on the triangle, announcing supper.

Walking to the house. I asked Curly: "How are these visitors traveling?"

"Hired a buggy in Canon City," he said.

"Where'd they come from?"

"Dunno. I took care of their team and they went into the house. Been talking to Mrs. Pardee ever since."

I soon had the answer to my question. Sarah introduced me, and then we sat down at the Mathers. About forty-five, I judged, a handsome man who impressed me as being honest and forthright.

★ ★ ★

The other man was Al Romig, thin and dyspeptic-looking, with a yellow-skinned face and dry cough. He toyed with his food and talked very little.

I gathered that both Mathers and Romig lived in St. Louis. Mathers' wife was dead, but he had one daughter, named Nela. Romig was a bachelor.

Throughout the meal Sarah's face was flushed with excitement. When we finished eating, I would have gone back to the bunkhouse if Sarah hadn't said: "Come into the front room, Will. There are a few things we want to ask you."

★ ★ ★

Dogbone pushed her wheelchair into the other room, then left, and I threw a couple of pieces of pine on the fire. When I turned, I saw that Mathers was sitting on the couch, his legs stretched out toward the fire.

"You have a fine place, Mrs. Pardee," he said. "I can see why you wouldn't want to give it up. But there is no reason for you to."

"Of course not," she said. "Will, they want to know about the land on the other side of town. Between Carlton and Anchor."

I looked at her, then at Mathers, who was as tranquil as if he'd asked about elk hunting. I brought my gaze back to Sarah. She was tense, and worry lines scarred her forehead. I walked to the couch and looked down at Mathers.

★ ★ ★

I said: "Mister, you don't want to know about the land in Easter Valley. It's all taken. You and Romig don't have enough guns to steal an acre." I laughed. "You don't look much like farmers to me."

Romig, sitting beside Mathers, pressed harder against the back of the couch; his face got yellower than ever. But Mathers never turned a hair. He said calmly: "I didn't say we were farmers. I asked about the land. Nothing more."

"Why would you want to know about the land if you weren't figuring on farming?"

"Maybe we want to own a cattle ranch."

"That's Anchor grass above town along the creek," I said. "Or their hay meadows. You'll find no open country anywhere in the valley."

★ ★ ★

"Will," Sarah said, "get the chip off your shoulder. These men are our guests."

"Yours," I said. "Not mine."

"Ours. Or didn't you see Ben Sawhill?"

"I saw him. All right, our guests." I nodded at Mathers. "I'll be gone in the morning when you get up, and you'll be gone by the time I get back. Good night."

I walked out of the room. One glance at Sarah told me she was angry, as angry as I had ever seen her. Later, when we were alone, I'd hear about it, just as Joe used to. Ben Sawhill had asked me what I would do in a situation like this. I'd decide when the time came, I told him; but now the time had come, and I still didn't know.

No Truth to Rumors, Hemingway Declares

By EARL WILSON

HAVANA—Six of us—kind of a traveling cocktail party—went limousining out to see Papa Ernest Hemingway and "Miss Mary" at their "finca" or farm, in the village of San Francisco de Paula. We were greeted on the steps by Papa and Mary and 10 or 12 dogs.

★ ★ ★

Papa was looking his slimmest and trimmest as he sat down in the big living room and drank some rose wine which damages the innards less than the hard stuff.

HEMINGWAY

"Papa's feeling good," Mary said.

"They've got a couple stories going around about you," I said. "First, that you're moving to Spain. Second, that you're pretty sick."

Sitting there in trunks that showed his powerful legs, with his beard neatly trimmed and his face looking rugged and not fat or jowly, he said, "If I ever moved anywhere, it'd be Africa. As for me dying, well, I expect to outlive the purveyors of those stories."

Doctors have told him he has at least 15 years left. He's cut off 20 pounds by quitting the hard stuff, and when I accepted his invitation to slap him in the stomach, I found it hard as stone.

As always he wouldn't talk Cuban politics. But when I mentioned that a girl had told me she couldn't go to the university because it was closed to punish rioting students, Papa said: "I think if the students of Columbia University bombed City Hall, it would attract a little attention in New York."

His conversation showed he is up on all the sports events—and he spoke of the Hank Bauer fracas.

"Guys like that have to be careful about fighting," he said. "I used to cool a few fellows myself when I was young," he laughed, "but I haven't hit anybody since I was solvent!"

★ ★ ★

Mary lifted me practically over her head as we were leaving to show she's in good shape herself. We rode back into Havana talking excitedly of this remarkably gracious, hospitable and yet successful couple.

Confident Living

God Gives Him a Hand in Making 'Dream' Real

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I have a friend who really loves people and who inspires a good many. He has a little house in the country.

DR. PEALE

One day a local house painter was there doing a paint job and my friend was chatting with him.

"You're very lucky to have a house like this," the painter said. "Wish I had one."

"Why don't you?" asked my friend.

At this, the painter put down his brush and gave my friend a lecture on why he could not have a house of his own. It seemed he had two children and it costs money to bring them up; both prices and taxes are high and you can't save money like you used to; and things were bad in general, and a man couldn't even dare to hope for such a house.

My friend listened to all this negativism patiently and, when it ended, went back inside the house. He got an old candy box, put some adhesive tape around it to keep the top on, cut a little slot in the top and lettered "Building Fund" on it. Then he went back outside with it and said to the house painter, "John, have you got any change in your pocket?"

PULLS OUT CHANGE

John pulled out a handful of change and my friend took a dime. "John," he said, "you know the old saying, 'Mighty oaks from little acorns grow.' Well, this is only a thin dime, but I'm going to put it in this box." As it dropped through the slot, he said, "There's the beginning of a beautiful new house for you.

"Now continue the process by forming in your mind a picture of that new house, just as you want it, and hold that mental image in your conscious mind until it sinks into your unconscious. When it does that, you as good as have your house because it has you."

And that is true too. When a thing really has hold of you, then your hold on it becomes creative.

VERY WISE TALK

Then he gave the painter a long and very wise talk on saving. It's not very popular philosophy nowadays, but it's still true that "A penny saved is a penny earned." Another thing he suggested was that the painter take one penny out of every dime, and one dime out of every dollar and give it to God as a tithe.

The Bible says, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse . . . and prove me now herewith . . . if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it." So important do I regard this law of the spiritual life that to anyone who feels a sense of defeat, I say, "Faithfully try tithing." Only don't limit it to money, but also tithe time, service and prayer.

My friend explained that when you give to God you stimulate the dynamic forces of the universe. He also pointed out that you have to give in order to receive.

★ ★ ★

About two years later, my friend received an invitation from John to a housewarming. Of course he accepted. He was shown around a beautiful little home. The painter then took him into the front hall and pointed out a plaque. Set into the plaque was a bright and shiny dime, and the inscription read, "The foundation of this house is this dime and God."

★ ★ ★

To me, John's house was built on hard work and savings and dreams, but primarily on faith — his faith and my friend's faith that God would help him accomplish what he had previously felt he could not do. God did help, and John's house is truly the house that God built.

13 to Graduate at Seminary

Dr. Tom Malone Founds School to Train Youth for Christian Service

The Midwestern Baptist Seminary is having its first Commencement and Convocation Exercises on Sunday evening, at 7:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The service is to be held in the main auditorium of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, located at the corner of Orchard Lake and Telegraph road.

★ ★ ★

Graduating from the Seminary will be 11 men with degrees and two women with certificates. Several of the outstanding students of the school will be participating in the service.

All of these young men and women are in full-time Christian service. A number of the young men have already been called to serve as pastor in many of the churches in the Pontiac area.

This is the third year of operation for the seminary which was founded by Dr. Tom Malone, pastor of the Emmanuael Baptist Church. The school has been dedicated to the training of young men and women for full-time Christian service.

★ ★ ★

The public has been cordially invited to the Commencement service.

Alcohol Problem Faces Churches

Religious Weekly Notes Questionnaire Results; Calls for Discussion

NEW YORK (AP) — Is drinking compatible with religion?

In a recent issue the Christian-Evangelist, national weekly of the Christian Churches - Disciples of Christ, looks at the facts about drinking and finds them disturbing.

★ ★ ★

It recounts the experience of a pastor in a suburban Christian Church who gave his membership, under 500, a questionnaire about their drinking habits. A little less than half answered.

Fifty per cent had had a drink within the past week. As many as five drinks in the past week had been taken by 22 per cent; 9 per cent had had numerous drinks. Seventy-seven per cent voted against the church going on record for total abstinence.

★ ★ ★

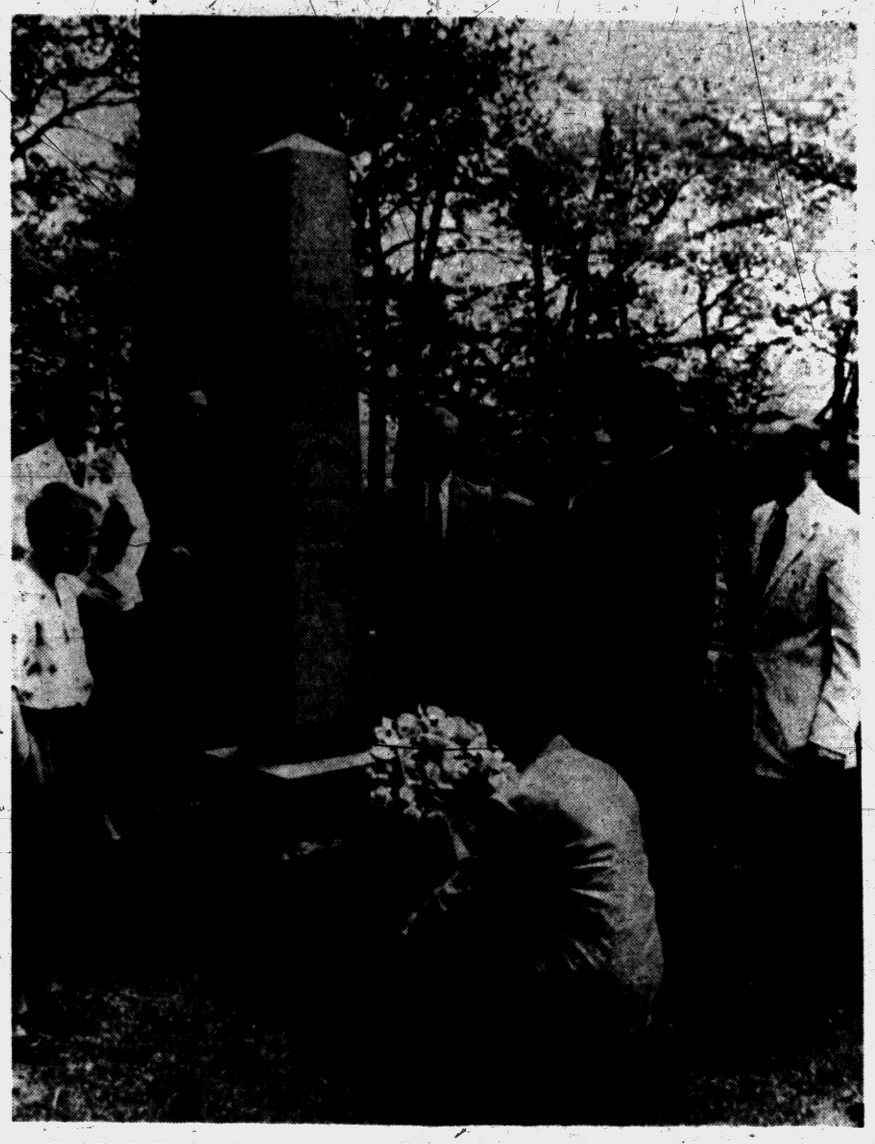

The Christian-Evangelist points out these percentages are probably not typical of Disciples. Between 50 to 75 per cent of Disciples call themselves abstainers, the magazine suggests. This puts them above the national average for Protestants.

According to figures released by the Yale school of alcohol studies 41 per cent of Protestants abstain, 21 per cent of Catholics, 13 per cent of Jews.

The magazine says that in the face of more than 4½ million alcoholics in this country, the problem of drinking should be discussed seriously in our churches.

Baby Chicks Shipped

Heifer Project, Inc., reports the recent shipment of 5,700 baby chicks to Ecuador, bringing the total shipped there in the past 15 months to 48,600.

IN MEMORY OF FIRST PASTOR — Paying tribute to the first pastor of their church, the Rev. Isaac W. Ruggles, many members of the First Congregational Church met in Oak Hill Cemetery to place a wreath at his grave for Memorial Day. The Rev. Mr. Ruggles, founder of the first three Congregational churches in Michigan, Rochester, Romeo and Pontiac, made his home in Pontiac from 1824 until his death in May 1857. Shown are Engle Groenberg, senior deacon, kneeling; the Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor second from right), and the Rev. Karl Ostberg, associate pastor (right).

Revised Hymnal Out in Indjan Dialect

NEW YORK (AP) — A revised and enlarged hymnal for the use of Iroquois Indians speaking the Mohawk-Oneida dialect has been published.

The first hymnal, published in Brooklyn 19 years ago, was edited by the Rev. Dr. Davis Munroe Cory, a Presbyterian minister who held regular worship services for the Iroquois colony in Brooklyn.

Reprinted once, the hymnal supply was exhausted. Dr. Cory undertook a new hymnal, adding newly translated hymns and including various aids to worship such as the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments.

Seminary Given Original Letters of John Wesley

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—Twelve original letters of John Wesley, written from 1773 to 1788, have been given to Wesley Theological Seminary here.

The donors are Bishop and Mrs. G. Bromley Oxnam. The letters are from their Wesleyana collection which includes several first edition books and other writings of Wesley.

The letters, written in Wesley's meticulous script, will be kept in the library of the seminary when the school opens in 1958.

Groundbreaking for the new three million dollar seminary on the campus of American University took place April 4.

King, Queen to Be Chosen at High School Banquet

The Rev. C. W. Martin of the First Nazarene Church of Detroit will be the speaker at the second annual Christian Youth Banquet on June 8 at 6:30 p.m. in Madison Junior High School.

A graduate of Eastern Nazarene College, he is a popular speaker at Young People's Institutes and Camp Meetings.

The highlight of the evening will be the crowning of the king and queen by Francis Staley, principal of Pontiac High School.

More than 40 churches are sponsoring the banquet for the high school graduates of the Greater Pontiac area.

Churches are asked to have candidates names for king and queen turned in to Kenneth Hempstead, 100 E. Huron St., by June 4. The judges will be members of the banquet committee, Dr. Walter Goodsell, Capt. Magnus A. Michalsen, Floyd Miles, Kyle Wilson and Floyd Evans.

The film, "Wiretapper," which is based on the true life story of Jim Vaus will be shown.

The story centers around Vaus in the days when he was associated with Mickey Cohen.

He devised a system of tapping race track results being transmitted by teletype and delaying them long enough to place bets on horses which had already won.

Vaus visited a Billy Graham meeting in Los Angeles out of curiosity. He was influenced for the good, made restitution of over $15,000 and became an ordained clergyman.

Youth Ministers in Fruit Valley

Young People Lead Life of Missionaries to Assist Migrants

In one-room cabins and makeshift meeting places, college-age young people will conduct church vacation schools for the children of California's migrant farm workers and organize sports, crafts shops and family nights.

★ ★ ★

Working in teams, these youthful "missionaries" are getting ready to help the army of migrant workers which trundles into the California fruit valleys every summer in jalopies and jampacked trucks.

Announcing for this summer's program, the Rev. Dr. Douglas M. Still, of Fresno, reported that thanks to the United Church Women of Northern California, who are offering "scholarships" to help pay their expenses, 12 more college-age young people will be able to take part in the program this year.

These teams are sponsored by local churches united in the Northern California-Western Nevada Council of Churches and work under the guidance of full-time adult staff members, he said.

★ ★ ★

"Serious-minded young people are finding in the migrant ministry channels to express their faith and render service," declared Dr. Still, "but they also bring back new-found skills to their churches."

As state director of the Migrant Ministry of the National Council of Churches, Dr. Still said he expects more young people than ever to volunteer this year.

Dr. F. R. Tiffany to Speak

No More Tornadoes, Just Better Reporting

Several letters have appeared in the Voice of the People columns of The Pontiac Press during the past two or three weeks, suggesting that our spring weather has been:

A—very normal,

B—very abnormal.

This is about as divergent as opinions can become. All too frequently, our opinions about the weather are based upon personal impressions instead of a study of statistics.

★ ★ ★

Also, the frequency of tornadoes has been a lively subject to our news columns and in informal discussions all over the area. One side contends the tornadoes are much more frequent and that their number is increasing. The "loyal opposition" insists that the wind storms are no more violent than they were ten, twenty or forty years ago.

This last group contends that people have simply become infinitely more "tornado conscious."

We incline to the latter belief.

We think the number is reasonably constant.

★ ★ ★

Today weather bureaus all over the United States are equipped to provide much more detailed and frequent service than in the past. In those days, there were no "tornado warnings" but today these fly about like rumors and often they seem about as unreliable.

★ ★ ★

In the roaring twenties, no one in Pontiac proclaimed to the populace that a "funnel shaped cloud has been glimpsed near Cadillac."

It wasn't in the papers.

It wasn't on the radio.

Unless the "funnel shaped cloud" actually descended to the ground, assailed the countryside and did irreparable damage, it passed unknown. Today we're appraised of its appearance, then alerted and finally advised " all clear."

★ ★ ★

The Press believes that nature's violent moods in the great Wolverine State are no greater than they have been. We're simply told frequently about them and some of these "reports" are from untrained observers.

Let's go along comfortably with Old Mother Nature as she is. The Grand Old Dame does a remarkable job of supplying us with the same weather, same rainfall and the same sunshine, year after year.

Now and then she changes.

There are slight deviations.

But all in all, we face pretty much the same conditions, year after year. We've just been made acutely aware of the "unusual" features.

Peril Seen in Gov't Grants for Schools

Financing of education is the responsibility of state and local governments and should be handled by them without any assistance, the National Association of Manufacturers recently told a congressional subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

Since the early days of "FDR" far too many people have depended on the Federal Government as a crutch. School operational costs should be bourn locally with the aid of the state.

★ ★ ★

The case for a federal grant for school construction has not been proved, either from the standpoint of the "gravity of the situation" or from that of the state and local "incapacity or unwillingness to deal with the situation," the NAM said.

There is no evidence of a demand for such a grant from the governors of the states, the local school boards, or the general public. The record indicates that the only support for federal grants for education come from the employes of the public school system—teachers and administrators and agencies and groups which have a special interest in expanding the federal grant system.

★ ★ ★

If school grants are introduced we might as well face the fact that they will become "perpetual." Costs would expand and waste would pile up like many of the federal agencies we have today. This would put national politics and federal control in charge of our local school systems.

★ ★ ★

We believe the federal government is already overburdened, with its many agencies and that the school situation should be solved by the people at home.

Also, everyone must remember that this Federal money isn't something "free." They tax us in Michigan to get the money into the District of Columbia so they can "send it back" under the guise of assistance." Michigan, as a State, does not get back as much as she sends, so each taxpayer here kicks in more than we get.

The People's Business

Some Pay Hikes

Legislature Gives Raises but Not Major Ones

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—Michigan lawmakers, who voted themselves pensions, played it rather close to the vest in passing out additional compensation for other state officers.

But by coughing up a few dollars here, a few hundred there and a few thousand in a very limited number of places, they sweetened paychecks of over 100 elective state officers, board and commission members and agency executives.

What the Legislature approved fell far short of Gov. Williams' recommendations, as was the case in other lawmaking areas involving money.

Perhaps the nearest thing to agreement developed on pay raises for the state highway commissioner and the state superintendent of public instruction, each now receiving $12,500 a year.

Williams recommended $20,000. The Legislature settled on a $5,000 boost.

OTHER BOOSTS

A jump of half that amount, or $2,500, was provided for members of the State Public Service Commission, whose salaries generally were conceded to be far below a figure commensurate with their responsibilities in passing on multi-million dollar utility rate cases.

★ ★ ★

Under the new schedule, the commission chairman will receive $11,500, and the two commission members $11,000 a piece.

At present, the agency is short one member, and is due to lose another this summer. With a single commissioner sitting, should the situation be reduced to that, pararlysis would set in for lack of authority to render decisions.

A bill that would have extended the same pay treatment accorded the highway and school chiefs to most other State Administrative Board members wound up in a pigeonhole of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which originally agreed only to a $1,000 hike for the public service commissioners.

★ ★ ★

The smallest pay increase, $5 a year, went to the assistant director of the State Waterways Commission whose salary was advanced from $5,995 to $6,000 a year.

FURTHER FIGURES

Some of the pay rises decided on for officers with heavy responsibilities included:

State banking commissioner, $1,500 to $12,000 a year.

Corporation and securities commissioner, $1,500 to $10,000 a year.

Liquor commissioners, $1,000 to $10,000 (chairman) and $9,500.

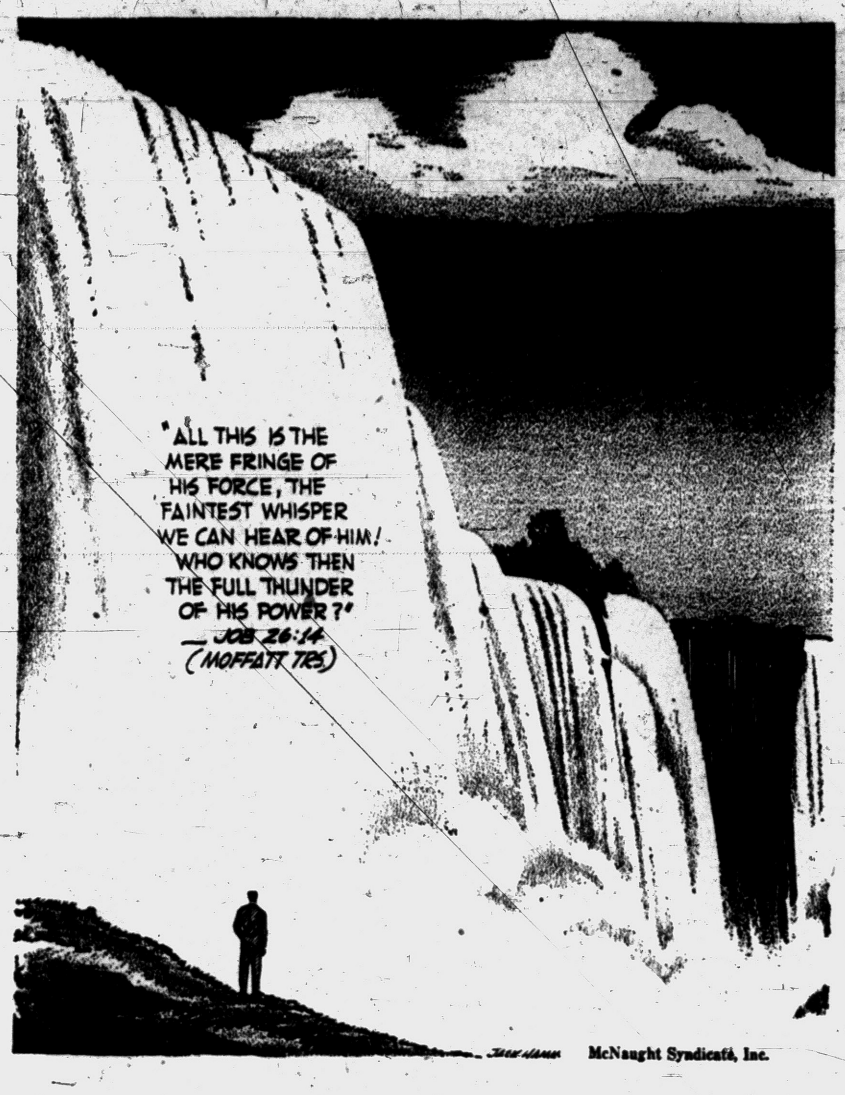

Corrections director, $850 to $14,850.

Police commissioner, $500 to $15,000

Controller, $750 to $14,250.

★ ★ ★

Out of apparent political vindictiveness, Republican senators, overriding Democratic protests, forced a $4,250 a year cutback in the salary of one officer, that of chief deputy state highway commissioner.

Days of All Faiths:

Christians Observe Ascensiontide

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Christians are now in the midst of the short season of Ascensiontide, which began last Thursday and will continue through this week. According to the book of Acts, Jesus ascended on the 40th day after Easter and the Holy Spirit descended on the Apostles on the 50th day. This brief season commemorates that 10-day interim.

★ ★ ★

It was a period of marking time for those early Christians. They were not at all clear about how the Lord's promises were to materialize, and they were greatly worried about what would happen if the Jews laid hands on them.

★ ★ ★

St. Luke, in Acts, chapter 1, verse 13 to the end of the chapter, tells that they spent the 10 days in the famous "upper room" and "continued in prayer." Their only specific recorded action during this time was the election of Matthias to replace the traitor Judas and bring the number of the Apostles again to 12.

DAY OF COMMANDMENTS

On the sixth of Sivan, 50 days after Passover, comes Shabuot, the Feast of Weeks. It is the festival that ends the seven weeks of the grain harvest, and was originally named the Feast of the Harvest. It has another name, too — Pentecost, which is a Greek word meaning "fifty."

★ ★ ★

The harvesting of grain began in the spring with the reaping of the barley crop and ended with the cutting of the wheat. Nothing could have been more natural to a nation of farmers than a time of rejoicing when the hard labor of this season was over, and nothing could have been more natural to a religious people than the offering of a sacrifice and prayers of thanksgiving. The agricultural tone of the festival dates it in Jewish history: It must have begun after the Jews settled in the Promised Land and became tillers of the soil.

Of course Shabout could not remain a farmers' festival after the Jews lost their homeland and stopped being farmers. So, instead of dying out, it adjusted to the changing situation. It took on a new historical significance and a new spiritual content. It came to be considered the anniversary of the time when God first entered into His covenant with man and gave the Law—the Ten Commandments—to Moses.

★ ★ ★

And that is the chief meaning of Shabuot Wednesday — an annual commemoration of the day the Jews first received the Law, their greatest spiritual treasure.

Within the last century, Reform Jews in America have made Shabuot the traditional day for the Confirmation of their young people. In former times this rite (called Bar Mitzvah) was for boys only and took place on the Sabbath nearest a boy's 13th birthday. It was mainly a private celebration within the family.

Among modern Reform Jews the name has been changed to Confirmation, girls have been included, this one day of the year has been set for the ceremony, and it has been made a community festival.

★ ★ ★

Shabuot, the day on which the entire nation first confirmed its faith, seemed obviously the appropriate day for the confirmation of Jewish young people in that faith.

CAUGHT IN AN ERROR

For the soul, there is nothing like honest confession. A Tulsa, Okla., reader catches us in a mistake and all we can do is to admit our error.

★ ★ ★

In the column for Holy Week we said, "Lent ends at noon today" (Holy Saturday). As far as we know, only the Roman Catholic church has ever had any definite ruling about the termination of Lent, and it was revised by the Pope on Feb. 14 of this year: It now continues until Saturday midnight. We should have known this.

In other churches where Lent is observed, the close of the season has always been at midnight on Saturday, though this was not decreed by an official ruling.

Vitamin B Is 'Poor Man's Insulin'

"I'd like to know what "poor man's insulin" is. Lord knows I could use it, as I am diabetic and the cost of insulin is a burden to my husband . . ." (Mrs. E. J.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — Vitamin B. One with diabetes or one with potential daibetes (inherited tendency) requires more vitamin B daily than a healthy person requires. Further information in the booklet Training for Diabetes, for which send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Please state whether you think there is any such thing as arthritis. Are you trying to confuse people about this condition, saying it is just an obsession?" (D.J.D.)

Answer — If you are trying to discourage me, you have succeeded. I merely say chronic arthritis happens, all right, though fortunately it is rare. In most cases of chronic joint disability, the trouble is not inflamation of the joint (arthritis) but obviously degeneration of joint tissues, which I call rheumatiz. If my prattling does not seem too childish, it may do you no harm to study the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz (stamped, self-addressed envelope) and the booklet (Chronic Joint Disability (35c in addition).

"Member of family takes tablespoonful Epsom salts in a pint of water every day for high blood pressure. Will this do any harm?" (G. S. J.)

Answer — Yes, and it can do no good for any condition of which high blood pressure is a symptom or part.

"I want to thank you for your booklet Call it CRI (free to teachers who pass a stamped envelope bearing their school address — 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope to others). I found it very enlightening and it has helped me to impress upon students the value of staying home when they have a "cold," as they are inclined to call it." (J. D. M.)

Answer — Probably the students are diffident about calling it CRI because they're not sure how to pronounce it (kree). As long as they get the idea that what the illiterate call "colds" are communicable, it doesn't matter. Anyone who is mulish about "cold" may learn something to the advantage of the health of those around him by reading Stefansson's The Friendly Arctic (available in public library).

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Dry Sermons Can Ruin Church

Joel is ruining his church by his dry, expositional sermons. Even a college professor has trouble following such a talk, so what about the kids in the Junior Choir? Jesus gave us the surefire formula for an interesting address, and almost every topnotch orator has hit upon it by rule of thumb. If you don't know it yet, then send for the booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-396: Joel J., aged 35, is a very brilliant clergyman.

But he still hasn't learned the simple formula for making an interesting sermon or speech.

CRANE

Jesus gave us the recipe. It consists of starting out with an ethical theme (text) and then illustrating it with concrete cases told as narratives.

Christ's stories were called parables. Today, Jesus would have documented his sermons with stories lifted from the local newspaper and examples from the local high school or baseball diamond.

But Joel had been educated in a theological seminary where his homiletics professor apparently stressed the "essay" address.

Read the typical college textbook and you'll find the "essay" or expositional method. It involves stringing together very learned sentences.

But specific cases are not employed as illustrations, so such a textbook is difficult to follow.

For we human beings think in visual terms and must conjure up colorful images. A topnotch preacher or orator knows this fact and paints vivid verbal pictures for us.

POOR PLATFORM STRATEGY

For the first few minutes I thus forced myself to listen to Joel's dry utterances. Then I began daydreaming.

Finally, I got so fidgety that I could hardly sit still. So I counted the number of light bulbs in the chandelier.

Then I furtively looked sideways at the front two rows where the junior choir sat, and watched those youngsters turn and twist and try to express their pent up excess energy.

"Kids, I can certainly feel sympathetic," I thought to myself, for there I sat, with many college degrees and a middle-aged outlook, yet I had the jitters, too.

So I took a hymnal and tried to amuse myself by mentally selecting a certain page, such as 400, and then trying to open the book exactly at the page I was shooting at.

I overshot the mark the first time and got Page 535 when I was trying for 400.

This is a game I used with our youngsters when the preacher would fail to catch their interest. I had never fallen back on it for myself, however, till now but it helped pass the time.

Finally, Joel told a story about his own childhood. It immediately caught my interest and that of the junior choir as well as the rest of the congregation.

But he ended his sermon then. He should have started out with that human interest narrative and then continued in the same vein.

Then the junior choir and I would have been so fascinated we couldn't have grown jittery.

TOPNOTCH PLATFORM STRATEGY

To hold an audience's undivided attention, start out with a striking theme or text. Then document it with narrative cases drawn from real life and the audience's own background.

And be reasonably animated in your delivery, instead of stodgy and forensic monotony. Change your pace as a good baseball pitcher does. Thus, mix up a curve ball with your blazing verbal fast ball and knuckler.

Then fade out with an appropriate bit of verse to cap the climax or give the crowd an exalted feeling during your peroration.

★ ★ ★

Public speaking is simple if you follow Christ's surefire formula. So send for my booklet, "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

And here's a good example where you can profitably mail an anonymous copy to your clergyman if he is emptying the pews with the dry, expositional type of address.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Worried Teenager' Gives Adolescent View of World

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

A lot has been said about teenagers of today not showing promise for our country and the world. I have the feeling that if the present leaders don't get on the ball and make world peace, we teenagers won't have to worry about world leaders or any other kind, because there won't be a world or any people to lead.

If boys and girls don't finish high school, they are depriving themselves of a chance to enjoy life as completely as those that do. ### 'Cannibalism Is Hurting Baseball'

For two years now the Tigers have been retarded by cannibalism. One can be sure every fifth time that Kuenn or Kaline comes to bat with a man on base, the runner to second will be killed off by a low ball to shortstop or second base of opposing team, and Kuenn or Kaline will be safely on first base.

My remedy for this is for players to practice switch hitting. It is not so hard to accomplish as it looks and pays good dividends once perfected. There is no doubt that baseball needs some pepping up by changed practices.

Enjoyed reading the editorial on soil conservation. I got to thinking, what good will it do to win wars if natural resources are depleted?

I haven't seen any bees in my yard this year. Usually swarms are around the flowers and fruit trees. Do you suppose the atomic radiation fallout has made them sterile and they have eliminated themselves? I hope not, because they are the pollinators of the vegetable kingdom.

Friends, Neighbors Say Farewell to Sapersteins

Nearly 400 friends and neighbors gathered in Temple Beth Jacob Friday evening for the service and farewell reception for Rabbi and Mrs. Sanford E. Saperstein and their family.

★ ★ ★

Rabbi Saperstein has accepted the appointment to the Reformed Jewish Congregation in Merrick, Long Island, N. Y., after serving here eight years. His duties in New York begin today.

In the course of his sermon, "The Lord Hath Done Great Things," Rabbi Saperstein expressed his feeling of gratitude stating:

"I am thankful for a congregation which has through the years granted my family and me a place in their lives and affections, a congregation that has been responsive to every creative experiment and a stimulation to growth.

★ ★ ★

"I am thankful to this community which opened many avenues for service and satisfying activities.

"I am thankful for these eight years, a time of great testing and trouble for all of us — yet one in which each could play a part in transforming problems into challenges."

GIFT PRESENTED

Julius Levine, president of the congregation, expressed his appreciation and introduced Mrs. Irving Gordon and Fred V. Haggard.

A gift from the congregation and Sisterhood was presented to the Sapersteins by Mrs. Gordon, president of the Sisterhood.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Haggard, president of the Greater Pontiac Advisory Council, presented Rabbi Saperstein with the Mayor William W. Donaldson Trophy as outstanding citizen of 1957.

The council, which consists of representatives of 153 social, service and governmental agencies, studies local needs.

The trophy is awarded annually to the person, man or woman, judged to have performed outstanding service to the city during the past year.

★ ★ ★

During the year, Rabbi Saperstein received an award from the Michigan State Temple Youth for being adviser to the organization from 1951 through 1956.

ANOTHER AWARD

He was also given an award from the United Jewish Appeal for outstanding service on behalf of the Jews throughout the world.

★ ★ ★

At the annual State Sisterhood Convention held in Lansing last week, for the first time in the history of the organization the state board especially honored a rabbi by giving Rabbi Saperstein a citation and gift.

During his eight years in Pontiac, he has exchanged pulpits and spoken to church groups in the Pontiac area, including a course of study on the Old Testament at Bethany Baptist Church.

In 1954, he was the recipient of the Urban League Annual Service Award for improving group relations.

★ ★ ★

During his tenure, the new synagogue of Temple Beth Jacob was built on Elizabeth Lake avenue.

He is currently on the Pontiac Housing Commission, a member of the board of directors of Family Service, on the executive board of the Greater Pontiac Advisory Council, first vice president of the board of directors, Urban League, and chaplain of the Civitan Service Club.

NEW CONGREGATION

Rabbi and Mrs. Saperstein with their children, Reena and Jonathan will be going to a congregation just six years old. The synagogue was built two years ago by the 330 members.

★ ★ ★

At the reception which followed, roses and chrysanthemums in pink and white centered the buffet table flanked by pink candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Julius Levine was chairman of the affair, with Mrs. Herman Dickstein as cochairman.

Baby Sitter Is Yearning for Company

Would Like to Ask Beau to Join Her, but Mom Objects

BY EMILY POST

A 17 year-old girl writes me: "In my spare time I babysit for some of the neighbors. Sometimes I have to sit for five hours and after awhile it does get pretty boring. I would like to know if it would be improper to ask my boy friend to come over and spend part of the evening with me and then take me home.

"Mother thinks it would be wrong, but what do you think, Mrs. Post? If you say it is all right, must I ask permission of the person for whom I am babysitting?"

Answer: I am very sorry to have to tell you that I agree with your mother.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have just recently joined the Women's Guild of our church. At the meeting yesterday afternoon each new member was to rise and introduce herself to the other members. I introduced myself as Jane Adams. The other members introduced themselves as Mrs. Henry Green, Mrs. John Brown, etc.

"Was I wrong in introducing myself in this way? I feel that had someone else been introducing me, she would have said Mrs. William Adams, but since I was introducing myself, Jane Adams was correct. However, since I was the only one to introduce myself in this way, maybe I'm wrong."

Answer: It is always correct to introduce yourself with your husband's name as Mrs. William Adams. If you introduce yourself as Jane Adams it means that you are a "Miss" instead of "Mrs."

"Dear Mrs. Post: When my boy friend and I dine out and the bill is presented to him at the end of dinner, he always double checks the bill to see that he is not being overcharged.

"Not only is this very embarrassing to me, but I think it is very bad manners on his part and is a reflection on the waiter's honesty. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: There's nothing wrong in quickly checking the bill to see that it is correct. If he fusses over it and searches for flaws, it would be very bad manners.

★ ★ ★

Nancy Weaver, sister of the bridegroom, served as honor maid. Donna Moore and Mrs. John Copeman also served as attendants. They were gowned alike in floor-length dresses of peau de soie, in blue, yellow and mint green, respectively.

New Vogue Headed for America?

The young beauties of Rome society—as beautiful and as chic as they come in Europe—have a new vogue of their own, which they call "funny dresses."

Started by the fabulous man-and-wife pair of couturiers, Simonetta and Fabriani, the fashion blends the soft bias straightness of the 30's with variations of ancient Roman draperies individualized in slinky black silk or georgette "bags", with floating side sections and no marked waistline.

The result is "sexy concealment, a la Isadora Duncan, with existentialist overtones," says one canny couturier.

At a cocktail party in the ancient Orsini palace where Prince de Beaumont has the silk-brocaded walls of the 400-year-old renaissance salon almost covered with Picassos, 8 or 10 of the "droll dresses" stood out so commandingly that they seemed to point up a fashion headed American-ward.

Countess Consuelo Crespi, the lovely brunette who was American - born Consuelo O'Connor; Princess del Drago, an exquisite blonde, and Simonetta herself were all wearing them.

You Can Starch Nylon Taffeta

Nylon taffeta slips can take a new lease on life with a stiff starching. A cooked starch or stiff gelatin solution is what you need.

After sudsing and rinsing the slip, dipt it up and down in either the starch or gelatin and hang it dripping wet. Avoid wringing which may remove some of the stiffening.

Nylon absorbs hardly anything in a water solution so that the stiffening must just cling to the surface of the fabric.

Coordinate Bed, Bathroom

NEW YORK (INS) — There's one way to insure beauty in both bed and bathrooms — and that's to coordinate both.

★ ★ ★

The latest bathroom terry is being hand printed with the same pretty flowers that decorate pillow slips and sheets. The result is a blossomy bathroom that is both chic and cheery.

The bathroom prints, used as borders or towels or as bouquets on the lower, display portion of the terry, are duplicated on bath, hand and guest sized towels as well as on soft cloth bathmats.

The small scale floral prints are available in such flowered patterns as cornflower and daisy mixed bouquets. Colors include blue, pink, yellow and orchid.

★ ★ ★

The colors come out brighter when printed on terry towels than they do on flat percale sheets and pillow cases. The reason given is that terry gives you a three-dimension view of color in depth.

★ ★ ★

One advantage of matching bath and bedroom decor is the way it makes decorating easier. You can paint both rooms the same shade, selected to match one of the colors in your towel and linen ensemble.

Solid colored bathroom curtains also are easy to match to the towel prints since they give you your key colors.

★ ★ ★

If you want to vary the decor between the two rooms, you can buy bathroom accessories in the same pattern as your bed linen but in different colors.

Diet Alone Won't Do the Trick

Banish Thigh Bulge With Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Attractiveness is made up of many separate physical and personality attributes. Practically all of these can be improved if we give a little thought to them and use some self-discipline.

★ ★ ★

A big bulge at the thighs, which so many women have, is not a figure asset. Yet this is one of the very first signs of breakdown in a good silhouette. We often see it on quite young women.

You can diet and you will become smaller all over and your bulge at the thigh also will decrease—but it will still be there. The only answer I know for this is exercise. Here are some corrective exercises.

1. Stand tall. Contract the thigh muscles and hold while you count to 15 slowly. Relax. Repeat 15 times.

★ ★ ★

2. Lie on the floor with your legs straight and arms on the floor the floor at your sides. Drag your legs apart. Drag them together. Do not lift them from the floor.

3. Lie on your back on the floor, legs stright and arms on the floor at your sides, palms facing the floor. Lift leg up at right angles to your body. Cross your left leg over your right and try to touch the floor on the right side of your body as far away from your body as possible.

The bulge at the thigh is a question of muscle slump and fatty deposits.

If you would like to have my thigh or hip-slimming exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflets No. 3 "Hip Exercises" and No. 4 "Reducing the Thighs." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Plastic Mats Catch Dirt

Give foyer rugs and kitchen linoleum rainy-day protection by spreading a heavy transparent plastic mat where traffic will track in dirt.

These mud-catchers are finely ridged to prevent skidding, and double-embossed to prevent tearing.

They can be sponged off with sudsy water, dried, and rolled up for storage until the next stormy day. They are useful, too, under baby's high chair to catch spills.

Fashions Rate as Figure-Wise

Making the 1957 feminine figure look prettier has been the special goal of Miss Nettie Rosenstein. Her fashions are eminently wearable for many types of women—small, short, slim or otherwise.

Fullness introduced at front of skirts just over the stomach and the belted waistline are two important factors that shape the silhouette with flattery and fashion-newness.

Belts are contoured with just a slight rise at front—a line completely in harmony with the soft pleats or gathers at top of the skirt. Many of the dresses with slim skirts have either decidedly bloused line in the bodice, or a strong suggestion of it.

Number of Civilians in Federal Work Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government had 2,395,764 civilian employes on its payrolls in April a net increase of 2,777 over the March total.

★ ★ ★

This was reported today by Sen. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Senate-House committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

He said in a statement the civilian agencies carried 1,230,972 workers in April, 6,047 more than in March. But he said the number of employes in the military agencies dropped by 3,270 to an April total of 1,164,792.

Were Your Answers Like These?

The following are correct answers and explanations for the Pot-O-Gold puzzle which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press.

A. (2) SUNNY. It might well be a warm Sunday, but with cloudy or rainy skies it would not attract people to the beaches. A warm, SUNNY afternoon would.

★ ★ ★

B. (4) ASSORTED. A small child is timid, and may have a variety of small fears which mother should not ignore. Most of them would be too vague for the child to express, so they would not be Asserted, or stated.

★ ★ ★

C. (5) REVEAL. Correspondence "published after a man's death" implies that the letters were from, and to, himself. Letters usually REVEAL a man's true character. In general, publishers would be unlikely to print slanderous letters that would Revile a man who is unable to refute such slurs.

D. (8) LOCKET. Baby's picture "might well" be carried in grandma's LOCKET. A woman's Pocket is usually in the side of her skirt or jacket, and a picture would be bent or torn if carried loosely in it.

E. (9) WHIRS. It's the buzzing sounds that the Whirl of an electric fan produces — the WHIRS themselves — that may bother someone trying to get to sleep.

★ ★ ★

F. (11) EXPLANATORY. Long-winded talkers are those who constantly get off the track by explaining why it must have been Tuesday, rather than Wednesday because etc.—without coming to the point. Exclamatory remarks such as "My Goodness!" can hardly fit in often enough to slow up the converstaion seriously.

★ ★ ★

G. (14) VARIABLE. The unsteady or uncertain quality of a vein of ore would keep prospectors looking for a good "new" one. If a Valuable vein has been discovered, it would be more to the point to develop that one, rather than to keep on looking.

★ ★ ★

H. (16) NATIVE. When one is just learning the language in a foreign country, a NATIVE speaks faster than the novice can interpret, word by word. The Dative—a noun as an indirect object—is not a difficult part of grammar to learn.

I. (17) HISTORICAL. Though some tyrants are given to Hysterical outbursts, with fits of violent emotion—Hitler, for instance—HISTORICAL efforts to stay in power would include these also.

J. (20) SQUEAL. A Squeak is a short, shrill sound that would be so fleeting that the passerby would scarcely notice it. A SQUEAL is a prolonged cry that would indicate something wrong, to be investigated.

★ ★ ★

K. (21) NOETIC. A lad whose inclinations were purely intellectual would not be much fun on a dancing party. A Poetic young man is often very romantic.

L. (24) PRIVET. This shrub grows very thickly, and if high would cut off all view of the estate. Picket fences, even if high, would usually have spaces between the pickets through which the grounds of the estate could be seen.

★ ★ ★

M. (26) CONTESTS. CONTESTS over wills in court would of course cover any question as to the Contents as well. Anything said in a will would have a bearing on how a CONTEST was settled.

N. (27) STRENUOUS. If a wife's objections were only Tenuous, or of slight significance, naturally a man who wanted an evening out would not take them seriously. "May well ignore" suggests a less probable outcome and therefore suits STRENUOUS — very strong protests on the wife's part.

O. (30) REGIMEN. A REGIMAN is a regulation that is supposed to produce beneficial effects in due time—a promise that Communist Regimes, or governments, failed to carry out, thus giving their downtrodden peoples real cause for grumbling.

★ ★ ★

P. (32) SIMMERING. Seashore vacationers naturally feel sorry for their friends who are SIMMERING (figuratively speaking) in a city heat wave. Many of those friends will go away later on vacations themselves, and will not be Summering in the city.

★ ★ ★

Q. (33) PLUCK. Long years of Luck would hardly be sufficient in itself to bring success to an actor. Some luck, yes, but also hard work is needed, and the courage to rise above setbacks—PLUCK.

★ ★ ★

R. (36) PERSPICACITY. A man who held on to doubtful stocks would be likely to brag about his mental acuteness if his judgment later paid off. If he held on only through stubbornness—Pertinacity—he probably wouldn't brag about it.

★ ★ ★

S. (38) CRAWLING. A baby who is CRAWLING must be watched carefully to make sure that he doesn't hurt himself. He would also be getting underfoot while Mom was dusting. A Bawling baby is often in a fit of temper which is best ignored, as long as there is obviously nothing but temper to cry about.

T. (39) BARRIER. If there is a fence along a river bed, it is there to protect people from falling, or driving over the edge. If the BARRIER breaks down, there is nothing to protect pedestrians and drivers. A Carrier can break down—a stalled motor, or a mechanical failure in a train—without injuring anyone or causing an accident.

Damages Wife's Car So She'll Stay Home

HONG KONG (INS) — Chan Ping was sued by his doctor wife for "wilfully damaging" her private motorcar.

Before the magistrate, he frankly admitted the offense.

"It is the only way to keep her from going to nightlong mah jong parties," he explained.

He was fined $25 and ordered to pay the repair bill.

Revise Hospital Surtax Ruling

Excuse City Employers From Paying 15 Pct. Non-Resident Levy

Pontiac employers will not have to pay Pontiac General Hospital's 15 per cent surtax for employes living outside the city, as the result of action taken recently by the hospital's Board of Trustees.

★ ★ ★

The action followed many complaints of employers who refused to pay the fee in compensation cases involving non-residents.

The surtax is tacked onto a patient's bill if he or she resides outside Pontiac. It brought in $142,660 to the hospital last year.

According to Warren W. Simonds, assistant director of the hospital, Pontiac residents, property owners, and employers will be exempt from the charge under the recent change.

★ ★ ★

Since March, the rule said the tax had to be paid by all non-residents. This brought a storm of protests from many Pontiac firms responsible for paying compensation bills.

★ ★ ★

"We felt Pontiac manufacturers were already fulfilling their obligation through paying city taxes and shouldn't have to pay the surtax," explained William P. Babcock, chairman of the board.

Drives Her Passenger Right Up to Front Door

WASHINGTON (AP) — Myrtle R. Harrigton gave Mrs. William D. McKim Sr. a ride home yesterday—to her very front door.

"She put her foot on the gas instead of the brakes," Mrs. McKim said, explaining why the car shot through the McKim yard and hit some cement blocks under the front porch.

Quiz Contestant Raps Relatives

Truck Driver's Relations Never Bothered Him —After He Lost

NEW YORK (INS) — Truck driver Al Einfrank, who returns to television Sunday night on "The $64,000 Challenge", is telling his relatives: "Don't even tune in. Don't call up afterward. Don't bother me."

★ ★ ★

All except his wife, Pauline.

MISSED QUESTION

When he missed the $64,000 question last January, they had a slight "misunderstanding" and spent four months apart.

★ ★ ★

But last week when Einfrank came back to New York from his home in Los Angeles to appear on the challenge show, Pauline came up from Maryland, where she had been staying with their daughter, to rejoin him.

★ ★ ★

"I thought all the time she was mad at me for going for the $64,000 and then missing," said Al, whose category is geography.

"I thought he would be coming back to New York," Mrs. Einfrank said. "And I was too busy in my daughter's house to do much about writing him. My daughter was sick, and then her children and there was a death in the family."

HAPPY TOGETHER

In any case, the Einfranks, both in their middle 50's, appeared to be as happy together as they were 33 years ago when they eloped from Passaic, N. J., to Philadelphia.

But Al doesn't want any reunion with his relatives if he starts winning money again on television.

"I have five brothers with wives," Einfrank said. "My wife has five brothers and sisters. All these people have children and some grandchildren. For years I never hear from them. I never see them. Then I start winning money. Suddenly I am the most popular man in the family.

★ ★ ★

"They all have their hands out. When I get to $32,000, they tell me, 'Quit now, Al.' But I figure if I win, they get most of it anyway. If I lose, they lose. So I tried for it and lost.

"I never heard from those relatives again. Not a nice word from one of them."

And Al Einfrank said he doesn't want to hear from them now, either.

Stranger Proves Point That Pistol Will Fire

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A stranger approached James L. Snow and asked if he wanted to buy a .22 caliber pistol.

★ ★ ★

"Does it work?" asked Snow, as the stranger handed over the gun.

It did.

★ ★ ★

The pistol discharged, sending Snow to the hospital with a bullet wound in the leg.

Leaping Snails Found in New Guinea Region

SYDNEY, Australia — A leaping snail is the latest fauna to be claimed for New Guinea. Theo Mason of Lae, says he found them and that they have been named after him. He came upon the thing in the region behind Aitape, he said—a shellback snail that under conditions of urgency progresses in short leaps. He wouldn't believe it himself at first.

★ ★ ★

Later he captured some specimens and sent them to the museum at Sydney, Australia. They proved to be a new species and "Mason" was incorporated into the scientific name.

Busy Mary Hosford Adds Acting to Other Careers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Advice to wives: "The thing to do is figure out how much time you have — and then make the most of that time."

This is how Mary Hosford explains her amazing success in combining a variety of careers, including homemaking. Right now she is embarking on a whole new career as a movie actress. She's making her film debut as the leading lady in "The Missouri Traveler."

★ ★ ★

Besides this, she has been a radio actress, cookbook author, TV star, real estate saleswoman and occasional cook for 200 guests. And she's the mother of four small children.

I pinned Mary down on her varied careers between scenes of a Fourth of July celebration in a small Missouri town. She disclosed she is also from Missouri—Kansas City. She entered the University of Iowa at 15 (always in a hurry, this girl) and did radio work in her home town, Chicago and New York.

Nine years ago she married wealthy Frank Hosford, who has insurance, oil and mining interests. But she didn't retire to a life of leisure. They traveled a great deal.

After wintering in Phoenix, Ariz., for a few years, the Hosfords moved there the year-around because of their children, who range from 2 to 8. With time on her hands, Mary embarked on a local television show of the Faye Emerson type.

The movie adventure arose by chance, she said. C. V. Whitney, millionaire financier who backs a film company bearing his name, was dining in Phoenix with Margo James, of the local Sombrero Theater. He was explaining the trouble he was having in the casting of a smalltown spinster for "Missouri Traveler." Mary passed by and Miss James recommended her.

She came to Hollywood, but producer Pat Ford wasn't impressed with her script reading. He offered to give her a test, however, and the results won her the role.

★ ★ ★

I asked her what she does with her spare time.

"Oh, I keep active in committees and guilds in Phoenix," she said. "I also play golf, though not as well as I'd like to."

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Tigers may have solved their Kansas City jinx but they apparently have a long way to go before they rid themselves of the Chicago hex.

Until this week the Athletics and White Sox were the only teams the Tigers hadn't beaten this season. They remedied the Kansas City situation by sweeping the three-game Memorial Day series. But here last night Detroit lost its fourth straight to Al Lopez and his "go-go" boys, 6-0.

The Sox clinched it in the very first inning when Sherm Lollar, White Sox catcher whose average is down near rock bottom, lashed one of Frank Lary's pitches into the seats with a mate aboard.

Big Walt Dropo, one time Tiger property, made it look even easier for the league leaders with the seventh grand slam home run of his career in the eighth inning for the other four runs.

Meanwhile, the Tigers might as well have stayed back at the ranch. They managed only four hits-all singles—off Bob Keegan, one of Chicago's second line pitchers who hadn't pitched a complete game since last August.

Keegan had started and lost twice earlier this year. But last night the Tigers regarded him with the awe due Billy Pierce and the rest of the league's best.

They moved only one runner as far as second base and that was Harvey Kuenn, leadoff man in the first inning. Kuenn singled and moved up on Earl Torgeson's infield out. Other Tiger hits were by Charlie Maxwell, leading off in the second; by Torgeson with two out in the third and by Frank House with two out in the seventh. Torgeson also drew the Tigers' only walk.

Frank Lary was the loser for the seventh time this spring. He's won only two and is well on his way to equalling his terrible start of a year ago when he was 4-11 on July 1.

During one stretch he retired 12 men in order before Fred Hatfield singled harmlessly in the seventh.

Came the eighth and Nellie Fox singled with one out. Lary threw out Minnie Minoso but Lollar grounded to Boone and was credited with a hit when Boone juggled the ball. Dave Philley, who spent the night feuding with Lary, Drew a walk and then Dropo unloaded into the left field stands. It was his second grand slammer of the year.

Philley's troubles with Lary started in the first inning. A pitch sent him reeling back from the plate. On the next pitch Philley sent his bat skidding to the right of the mound. Again in the eighth Lary came in close with a fast ball. Philley charged out but was restrained by House and umpire Ed Rommel.

Keegan has had the Tigers' number for several years. The shutout—first time this season that Detroit has failed to score—was his first since he blanked the Tigers 8-0 on May 21, 1954. And the victory was his first since Sept. 3, 1956, when he shaded Detroit 5-3.

Billy Hoeft was the Tiger choice for today's single game which is being televised in Michigan and nationally. Jim Wilson was scheduled to work for the Sox. The series ends with a doubleheader tomorrow.

Phils Gain 3rd Place Tie as Roberts Wins

By International News Service

The dark horse Philadelphia Phillies and Robin Roberts edged the Brooklyn Dodgers and Don Drysdale, 2 to 1, to move within a half game of the second place Bums and 2½ lengths of the idle first place Cincinnati Redlegs in the National League.

The Phils moved into a third place tie with the Milwaukee Braves, who lost, 4 to 3, to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The New York Giants defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 2 on some daring base running by Willie Mays and the Cincinnati-Chicago night game was rained out.

Roberts won his fifth game in 11 decisions as he held the Brooks to six hits, including a homer by Roy Campanella. It was the 236th homer of Campy's career and he tied the league record for a catcher set by Gabby Hartnett.

★ ★ ★

A two-run triple by Willie Jones off young Drysdale in the fourth gave the surprising Phillies their first triumph over the Dodgers in four tries.

Infielder Eddie Kasko was the big gun in the Cardinals' win over Milwaukee. Kasko collected four hits. His final safety, a single, drove in the winning run in the eighth off loser Juan Pizarro.

Kasko's double in the sixth tied the score at 3-all.

Lindy McDaniel notched his fourth win for the Cards.

★ ★ ★

Mays scored the run that broke a 2-2 tie in the eigth inning of the Giant-Pirate game. They say he doubled off third baseman Gene Freese's glove (hitting safely in his 19th straight game). Willie then moved up on a bunt and scored from third despite a good throw by Roberto Clemente on Ray Katt's fly.

Al Worthington, who pitched three scoreless relief innings, was credited with his fourth win.

College Nines Aim for Series

Playoffs in Districts Continue in Quest for NCAA Championship

Whether it's pitching, hitting or fielding big Cal Lemery, a sophomore, is the player Penn State will depend on to get to the top in the college World Series at Omaha June 8-13.

Emery pitched a five-hitter yesterday as undefeated State whipped St. John's of Brooklyn 5-0 to win the NCAA District 2 title.

Notre Dame also clinched a series berth with a 6-1 victory over Northwestern, the Big Ten champion, to take the District 4 title.

Springfield and the University of Connecticut divided a doubleheader last night to throw the District 1 race into an extra day.

In district 5, Iowa State, Big Seven champion, got the jump on Bradley, the Missouri Valley leaders, 2-0 in the first of a three game series.

Texas defeated Arizona 2-0 to open a three game series in District 6.

166 Golfers Bid for U.S. Open Spots

BY BILL CORNWELL

The struggle for one of the world's most coveted golf titles — the U. S. Open championship — begins Monday in preliminary trials at Oakland Hills and Franklin Hills.

A star-studded field of 100 professionals and 66 amateurs will start an assault on par at 6:30 a.m. in the National Open sectional qualifying rounds

At stake is a berth in the U. S. Open tourney. Only 12 golfers from the Michigan section will make the grade for the most famous American tournament, which is scheduled June 13 - 15 at Toledo's Inverness Club.

This year's huge entry list of 166 shotmakers is 28 more than a year ago when the trials were held at Orchard Lake and Pine Lake. The number of players qualifying for the Open has accordingly been raised from 8 to 12.

The field has been divided into two sections for the 36-hole route and play will be conducted simultaneously over the Oakland and Franklin layouts. Each section plays 18 holes at each course.

Two of the 1956 qualifiers will not be around. Al Watrous, veteran Oakland Hills professional, is leaving for Scotland to compete in the International Seniors tournament and will not be here when the Open is held. Pete Cooper, ex-Knollwood pro, has moved to Florida.

Last year's remaining six qualifiers are returning. Heading the parade is hard-working Wally Burkemo, former National PGA champion, whose 10-under-par 134 in 1956 was tops nationally as well as locally.

The veteran Franklin Hills pro will begin his tour at Oakland Hills, then switch to his home layout for the final 18-hole round.

Forest Lake's Bob Gajda, the '56 runner-up; Mike Dietz of Iidianwood; Chick Harbert of Meadowbrook; Rudy Horvath, the Canadian belter, and Ed Ervasti of Royal Oak are all back in the fold.

Ervasti, ex-Michigan Amateur king, was the lone Simon-pure to enter the elite circle last year. Dr. Wendall R. Aldrich of Kendallville, Ind., an alternate a year ago who subbed for Watrous in the Open, has also filed entry.

It is not necessary to elaborate on Harbert. He speaks for himself. The long-hitting Meadowbrook pro, former National PGA champ, must always be considered a dangerous threat in any event he enters.

Dietz, who shot some of the finest golf of his career last summer, and Gajda, a frequent money-winner, are also to be reckoned with in Monday's test.

Powerful-stroking Frank Stranahan leads a dazzling array of amateurs. The Toledo millionaire is wading into fast company, however, and will have to go some to keep ahead of the field.

Chuck Kocsis, a brilliant shotmaker and a great competitor, must be ranked high on the list. Kocsis came out of semi-retirement last summer and reached the finals of the U. S. Amateur before losing to Harvie Ward.

★ ★ ★

Sam Kocsis, National Publinx ruler in 1955; Glenn Johnson, defending state champion; Bob Babbish, Ralph Ellstrom, and Dick and Bob Whiting, along with Ervasti, are among the talented amateurs going to the firing line.

★ ★ ★

Other standout pros in the lineup include Pontiac's Gene Bone, Bill Graham, Ray Maguire, Warren Orlick, Joe Thacker, John Dalrymple and Tommy Shannon, to name a few.

Long-hitting John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Reggie Myles Jr. and Eldon Briggs are outstanding pros entered from upstate.

Except for one twosome, the field will move in groups of three with tee-offs spaced at 7-minute intervals.

Oakland Hills has been designated as tourney headquarters and all playoffs to break qualifying ties and decide alternates will be held there.

SEEKS REPEAT—Wally Burkemo, Franklin Hills Country Club pro who took medalist honors last year in the Michigan Section qualifying for the National Open, will seek a repeat victory when this year's qualifying starts Monday at Oakland Hills and Franklin Hills.

NCAA Council to Review School Probations Today

CHICAGO (AP) — The probation cases of the University of Oklahoma, University of Kansas, Texas A&M and Mississippi College came up for review today by the NCAA council.

An NCAA spokesman said that, in addition, the policy-making group possibly may study new violations.

Texas A&M has been cited for new violations of the Southwest Conference code. The school had been serving a one-year probation to end May 14.

Three days before this date, however, Texas A&M was charged with fresh violations and last week head basketball coach Ken Loeffler, who had been accused of recruiting malpractice, resigned.

★ ★ ★

A two-year probation for recruiting and financial aid violations expired for Oklahoma April 26.

Kansas's one-year probation ended May 1. The Jayhawkers were charged with recruiting violations.

Also ending May 1, was the one-year probation of Mississippi. Coling and practicing and financial aid discrepancies.

Although the probation periods of all four schools technically have expired, council approval is required before full NCAA rights and privileges are restored.

Currently, nine other schools are under probations which expire on this timetable:

Ohio State, Aug. 21, 1957; University of California, Nov. 13, 1957; University of Louisville, May 1, 1958; University of Florida, May 1, 1958.

★ ★ ★

University of Washington, Aug. 21, 1958; University of Southern California, Nov. 13, 1958; Alabama Poly, May 1, 1959; UCLA Aug. 21, 1959; North Carolina State, Nov. 13, 1960.

A meeting of interested groups at both the college and high school level was proposed by the council to draft a uniform program for presentation to President Eisenhower's council on youth fitness.

The council endorsed 13 items recommended by the NCAA youth fitness committee which included:

★ ★ ★

That the NCAA determine if such additional sports as soccer, handball, squash, volleyball, rugby, water polo and field hockey be included in its championship program; that the NCAA encourage co-operation in expanding outdoor life and camping activities; and that the NCAA conduct a questionnaire to determine the present adequacy of inter-collegiate, physical education and intramural activities.

American Harold Ridgeley Beaten

British Title Won by Jack

FORMBY, England (INS)—Reid Jack, a taciturn 33-year-old Scottish accountant and World War II commando, won the British Amateur Golf Championship today by defeating U. S. Air Force Master Sgt. Harold Ridgley, 2 and 1, in their 36-hole final round.

It was one of the quietest golf matches ever played. Each man regards talking as a luxury any time and almost unthinkable on a golf course.

Their 36-hole final over the 6803-yard Formby course began at 4 a.m. EST. The second round start is at 8:30 a.m. EST.

The last American to win the amateur was Texan Joe Conrad, who turned the trick in 1955.

Ridgeley, whose home town in the U.S. is Haverford, Pa., has been stationed in England for six years. He has never won a major tournament.

Jack, a 33-year-old accountant, is the Scottish champion.

Ridgeley is the survivor of an original American entry list of 26. He is the 11th American in 12 years since the war, to gain the final round.

The pint-sized sergeant, wearing a jaunty green panama hat and shooting with the precision of the aerial gunner he was in world war II scored a 13-and-12 victory over youthful Arthur Walker of South Africa yesterday in their 36-hole semi-final.

It was the most one-sided semi-final triumphs in the history of the championship.

Jack defeated a fellow Scot, Alan Bussell, 3 and 2, in the other semi-final match.

Jack led Ridgeky 2-up after 18 holes. Ridgley toured the course in par 73 but Jack fired a 69.

They were tied after the first nine holes. The Scot took the lead for the first time by winning the 391 yard 13th with a 4. Ridgeley missed an 8-foot putt. Jack played a great second shot from behind a hillock and got down in 4.

Crane Net Team in State Lead

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Defending champion Hamtramck High School held a narrow 1½ point lead today over Kalamazoo Central in Class A after opening round play in the State High School Tennis tournament.

Cranbrook was tied with Kalamazoo State High, last year's Class B titlist, going into today's scheduled semifinals and finals at Stowe Stadium, Kalamazoo College.

University High of Grosse Pointe and Ypsilanti Roosevelt were tied in Class C-D. More than 40 schools were entered in the meet.

Yanks Recall Keller

NEW YORK (INS)—Ex-Yankee outfield star Charlie Keller is going to rejoin the Bombers—as a temporary coach.

Pin Hopes on Delany

NEW YORK (INS)—Villanova's Ron Delany is favored to score a double triumph today and help the Wildcats in their team battle with Manhattan at the IC-4A track and field championships.

★ ★ ★

The Wildcats emerged from yesterday's qualifying tests with only five qualifiers to 11 for Manhattan College, but Villanova figures to rack up points in three events in which there were no preliminaries.

HOT ROD — Emil C. Nelson, 68, tinkers with his souped-up 34-Ford in Portland, Me. Considered the oldest hot rod racer, Nelson, who has 11 grandchildren, has defied crack-ups for 40 years.

Fair Keeps Winning

Joy Fair continued his Memorial Holiday victory streak by taking his third straight feature race wit his modified "Bomb 719."

Last night at Mason, Mich., he won the feature and tonight he will be after his 4th in as many days at the Jackson speedway.

Flam in Net Finals

PARIS (AP)—Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Sweden's Sven Davidson, who have been bouncing around the big time tennis circuit for years without capturing a major outdoor title, battle it out for the French International Championship today.

Moore, Garver Help Hose

Beat Yanks, Drop Indians

By International News Service

Ray Moore and Ned Garver, a couple of veteran righthanders, aided Chicago's cause in yesterday's American League action. Moore hurled the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-1 win over the second place Yankees and Garver tossed a four-hitter as the Kansas City Athletics dropped the third place Indians, 3-1 and caused the Tribe to fall five games off the pace.

In another American League night contest, the Washington Senators edged the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, with a run in the ninth inning.

Moore, who notched his second win of the season against three losses, allowed the Yankees five hits. Al Pilarcik accounted for two of his team's runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly while Bob Turley, Yankee starter and loser, gave up the third run by walking three men in a row following a single. Moore didn't permit a hit after the fifth inning.

Athletics scored three runs for Garver in the third inning, two on a homer by Billy Hunter off Cleveland's Cal McLish. Garver never was in trouble as he won his fourth game of the season against three losses.

Jim Lemon's single with two out in the ninth gave the Nats their win over the Red Sox. An error by shortstop Billy Klaus set up the winning run and Truman Clevenger was credited with his second victory in relief of Russ Kemmerer.

Braves Offer Trio to Cards for Ennis

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, in deep trouble in left field, have offered the Cardinals three players for outfielder Del Ennis, it was learned today, but St. Louis General Manager Frank Lane apparently wants more.

The Braves, now tied for third with the Philadelphia Phillies after leading the National League for a month, offered the Cardinals a front-line pitcher, either Ray Crone or Gene Conley, utility outfielder Chuck Tanner, and probably relief hurler Dave Jolly.

Braves spokesman declined to comment on the players involved, but General Manager John Quinn said he had conferred with Lane who accompanied the Cardinals to Milwaukee for last night's opener of a three game series. Lane will remain through tomorrow. Trading ends June 15.

Easy Victory Stirs Johnson Title Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Johnson, rated among the top four in both the heavyweight and light heavy classes, wants to go after Archie Moore's 175-pound title as his first prize.

A one-punch knockout winner over Clarence Hinnant of Washington last night in 1:24 of the first round, the 28-year old Philadelphia boxer is looking for bigger game.

"Can I get the winner of the Tony Anthony-Yvon Durelle fight (June 14 at Detroit)?" asked Pat Alivieri, Johnson's manager.

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club couldn't make any promise because Anthony is due to get first crack at Moore whenever Archie returns from Europe. However, Johnson was assured of more action soon.

Gallant Man Favored

NEW YORK (INS) — Gallant Man makes his first start since his runner-up run in the Kentucky Derby when he heads a field of six three-year-olds today in the $28,150 Peter Pan handicap at Belmont Park.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

SATURDAY, JUNE 1, 1957 PONTIAC, MICHIGAN FIFTEEN

background for LIVING

JULIE POSES — Three-year-old Julie dragged her favorite chair from her room on the upper level to the family room on the lowest level to have her picture taken. Behind her is the pink brick fireplace where the Mercers cook steaks for guests. The hearth is marble. Walls of this room are paneled in walnut. Braided rugs cover the cork floor. In the background the little checked sofa is placed behind the coffee table Mr. Mercer made.

LOUVERED DOORS — All the doors on the main level of the house are louvered. These in the dining room are yellow on one side and pink on the other. Mrs. Mercer refinished all the furniture in this room, changing it from its original red shade to its present honey blonde color. Through the kitchen doorway can be seen the old-fashioned ice cream chairs that are used with the round plastic table.

Roy Mercers Build Tri-Level Brick Home in Hill and Dale Subdivision

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

High on a knoll overlooking Hawk Lake the Roy Mercers have built a red brick home. With their children, Jerry and Julie, they live at the upper end of Twilight Hill drive. Several more new homes are going up nearby. Their lot, a five-sided one, is about half an acre in size.

The Mercer house is a tri-level affair. In fact, it could be said that the house has four levels, if you count the fact that the garage is five steps above the utility room. The lower levels are brick that looks like used brick. The upper level is white siding.

★ ★ ★

From the two-and-a-half-car garage you walk down to the utility room. Here, the walls nearest the door to the family room are papered. There is a small yellow and white lavatory in one corner.

The family room looks cozy with walnut paneled walls and a fireplace of pink brick. This large fireplace is often used for broiling steaks when company comes. The high wide hearth is capped with marble. There is one ledge rock shelf to hold books.

Furnishings are informal. One large and one small brown oval braided rug cover the cork floor. Curtains are brown with a bookcase print on them. There is a television set at one end of the room.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Mercer made all the walnut finish plastic-topped tables. The tops are Formica, the legs wood tipped with brass. There are two sofas. One is brown with a gold thread in the covering; the other is brown and yellow check. Near the fireplace is a green leather armchair.

Up on the main level of the house are the living rooms. From the front door straight through to the kitchen the floor in the living room is covered with tile. This makes a corridor to the other parts of the house. At the left of the front door is a louvered door coat closet. The hi-fi is located in this closet.

Living room and dining room have creamy yellow walls and white ceilings. Separating the two rooms is a pink brick wall. On the living room side there is a long narrow wooden shelf that holds bric-a-brac and a planter. The carpeting is beige tweed. Draperies are pale gold.

A grayed aqua davenport sets against the brick wall. All the lamp tables are fruitwood, finished in maple. In front of the large picture window there is a long magazine table with small drop leaf ends; this piece is cherry.

Two deep arm chairs are covered with figured unglazed chintz, combining aqua, yellow and rose beige. One large lounge chair is burnt orange. Mrs. Mercer refinished the little three-drawer cherry chest next to this chair.

★ ★ ★

The walls around the coat closet, the stair walls and the upper hallway are papered. Burnt orange and brown are the main colors in the minute pattern.

Mrs. Mercer put a great deal of elbow grease into her dining room furniture. Once red maple, it is now a beautiful honey blonde shade. The pieces she refinished include a drop leaf table, four chairs and a hutch cupboard.

Sliding glass doors open on an outdoor patio where there already is a picnic table. Louvered doors close off the kitchen. On the dining room side they match the yellow of the walls; on the kitchen side they are pink.

★ ★ ★

One wall of the kitchen is the same pink brick one as in the dining room and living room. The floor is red linoleum tile. Cupboards are all birch. The upper walls are aqua. Stove, oven and ventilating hood are copper tone.

Old fashioned ice cream chairs surround the round plastic topped table. Chair pads match the curtains. The valance board is lettered with the motto, "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread."

Jerry's bedroom on the upper level has blue walls and brown carpeting. In one corner there is a built-in toy box. His furniture is maple. The bedspread is brown corduroy, while the sailcloth curtains have a squared design of brown, green, peach and tan.

The family bathroom is beige and brown. Above the brown tile on the lower half of the walls is gold and white paper. Vanity top and curtains are beige.

Pale sand walls and brown cotton carpeting set the scene in the master bedroom. Cherry Italian Provincial furniture and silk curtains at the short windows contribute to the formal feeling of the room. The spread is quilted gold silk while the curtains are gold, brown and beige. Mrs. Mercer painted the lamps on either side of the bed and wound their bases with gold cord.

Julie's room is all pale blue and white except for the sand colored carpeting. There's a white spread on the double bed and white eyelet curtains. Her chest of drawers is pale blue with brass handles. One interesting piece of furniture is a little oak rocker with cane seat and back; this belonged to her maternal grandfather.

The subdivision in which the Mercers have built is still in the growing stage. Their lot, however, has a couple of shade trees on it which soften the landscape. It is a gracious home in a beautiful setting.

THREE LEVELS SHOW — This view taken from one end of the living room, shows both the family room level and the bedroom level of the house. Carpeting to match the living room — beige tweed — covers the stairs and the upper hall. A corridor of tile goes from the front door to the kitchen door. The sofa on the pink brick wall is grayed aqua. The chair at the left is burnt orange. Guests' coats and a hi-fi set both have a place in the louvered door closet in the rear.

HILL AND DALE SUBDIVISION — At the upper end of a curving street in Hill and Dale subdivision the Roy Mercers live with their two children and their black cocker, Sambo. Mr. Mercer designed and contracted this tri-level brick and siding house. It took about four months to build. The Mercers are fortunate to have several big shade trees in their back yard. Landscaping in front is remarkably complete when you consider the fact the Mercers moved in only in November.

Install Private Door; Teach Pooch to Use It

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Dog-tired of letting Fido in and out of the house? Install a private door for him and teach him to use it.

★ ★ ★

A simple project for small dogs, this method is endorsed by an active cocker spaniel. Other pooches his size are equally enthused.

Carefully saw out a nine-inch square in the center bottom of any wooden door with a bottom panel deep enough for removing a section without weakening the bracing.

Take about one-half inch off the top of the square to allow room for attaching screws and for a swinging movement back and forth as the smaller piece is suspended from the main door. All rough edges should be sanded.

★ ★ ★

Set three screws with curved "eye" heads into the top of the opening so the "eyes" are hanging down. Place three more screws in the top of the sawed out piece to correspond with those in the door.

The nine-inch square is hooked onto the screws in the door and it swings easily to and fro.

One and one-half inch strips of rubber or felt are tacked on both sides of the door to cover the opening for the screws and to keep out drafts. These strips can be painted to match the door.

A small bolt or hook attached on the inside of the door with the catch on the smaller door will fasten it.

Fido can open the door with a slight nudge, scamper out every time a stray cat approaches, and rush in every time he hears the refrigerator open.

Acid Cleaning of Tile Usually Unnecessary

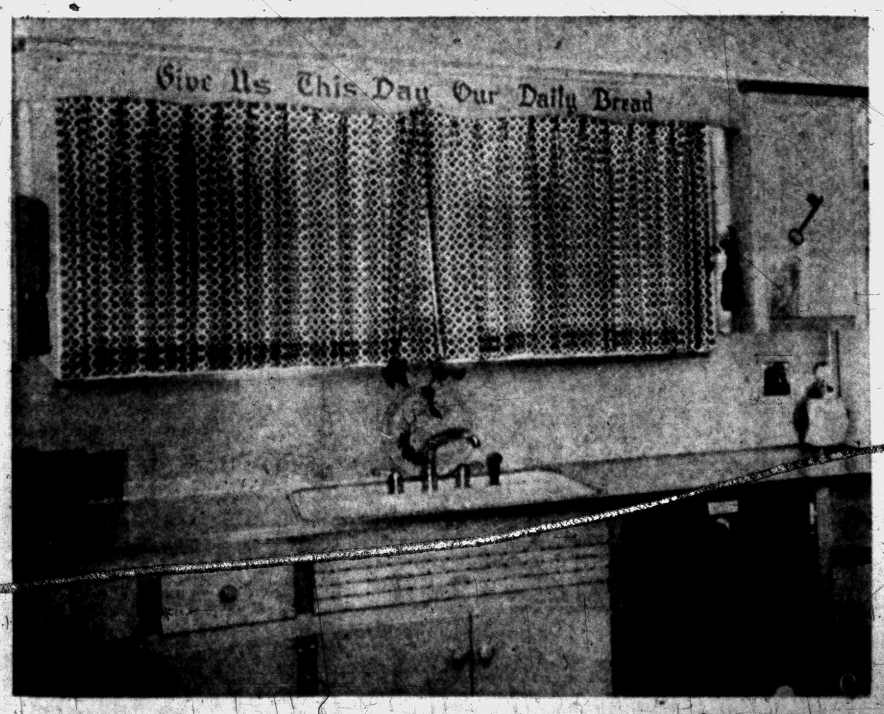

Homemakers should never undertake acid cleaning of ceramic tile unless it is absolutely necessary. Only in the most unusual circumstance will it ever be needed—such as in the case of a rust-spotted bathroom in a long-unoccupied, oldish home.

★ ★ ★

Ceramic tile can be kept clean under most conditions with just an occasional going-over with a damp cloth. More stubborn stains are removed with a soapless detergent. Seemingly permanent stains can be removed with a solution of muriatic acid, but try a detergent first. To be sure, the acid won't hurt the tile, but concentrations of the acid can attack the cement in the spaces between tiles.

★ ★ ★

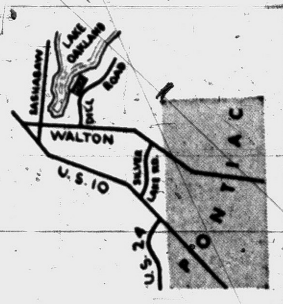

If you must resort to acid cleaning, use a solution of 10 parts water and one part muriatic acid. Swab it on, let it remain for just a few minutes, and then flush away with a lot of clean water.

MOTTO TO LIVE BY — On the valance board in the kitchen is stenciled the motto, "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread." The valance is birch to match the cupboards. Curtains have the same print as that on the kitchen chairs.

New Families Influence Community's Economy

What happens to a community when it grows?

This question has been the subject of a recent report issued by the Sanitary Engineering Committee of the National Clay Pipe Association.

It was learned that when 100 new families move into an established community the entire economy of that community changes.

First, and most important, is the need for additional water and sewage facilities. Many factors contribute to public health, but none is more significant than our municipal sanitation programs. Thousands of miles of underground clay pipe play an everyday role as guardian of the health of the people. They are one of the cities' lifelines, carrying away wastes.

One hundred families mean an extra 10,000 gallons of water to be brought to the homes and then disposed of daily.

★ ★ ★

One hundred families create a need for two more grade school rooms, about two more high school rooms and four more school teachers. To properly meet these conditions in the schools alone, about $30,000 annually must be added to the school budget.

Of all the effects 100 families have on the economy of a community, the cost of essential sewage and water facilities, is comparatively less than that of other expenditures.

Among the additional municipal employes required to service the 100 additional families are about a half of a policeman, half of a fireman and about four other miscellaneous workers.

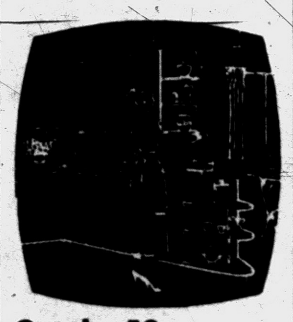

★ ★ ★

These additional employes will shoot the police budget up about $3,000 a year, the fire budget $3,000, and the city's overall payroll will increase by $12,000 to $15,000 per year.

Occasionally old residents interpret a community's growth as something costly to them, but it should be remembered that the new residents also pay taxes. With more persons assuming a common expense, the overall cost usually is less for each.

What's more, new families create larger markets for retail services. They buy or rent homes, buy food, clothes, automobiles and in various other ways pour many thousands of extra dollars into the community's economy daily.

Screens Hide Eyesore View

CHICAGO (INS) — That box-like apartment can look stylishly different from the 99 others in the block if you use imaginative touches.

Apartment dwellers need not struggle with a brick wall view out the window or ugly radiators, according to a top decorator who designs fashionable apartment interiors in Chicago.

Mrs. Marion Heuer, a member of the American Institute of Decorators, says her favorite trick with these eyesores is to hide them behind screens. Any home handyman can make them up with modern plastic sheeting. She said:

"Put a frame together like an unusual window pane. Or break it up in squares like an attractive shop window. Then fill the openings with decorative plastic sheeting."

These materials have leaves and grasses imbedded in them; some have flecks of color or different textures. But the one Mrs. Heuer favors most is plain and translucent like milk glass — particularly effective with pastel walls.

★ ★ ★

Arrangement of furniture also can turn a standard living room into an individual decor. Many decorators now use two upholstered chairs, pushed side-by-side flush against each other, instead of a conventional sofa. If space is really tight, an armless slab sofa jutting into the room is used in place of assorted chairs for extra seating.

America's on the Move

One out of five Americans is living in a home different from the one he lived in a year ago, says Practical Builder, a magazine for the light-construction industry. During the past year, about 7,000,000 male breadwinners changed the location of their jobs and residences.

NEWS VIEWS

The word is out that several states have been considering bills that would outlaw "Beautyleggers" . . . or non-licensed beauticians.

Beauticians, of course, are people who are out to make life less ugly . . . and certainly no one objects to that. However, the suggested laws would even prevent friends from giving each other home permanents or beauty treatments. That would sure put a crimp in home permanents, and it would either increase the number of customers in beauty shops or divorce courts. If restrictions get too tough, the ladies may be afraid to apply their make-up in public without professional aid. The law might even reduce the number of suicide blondes. You know, the ones that dyed by their own hands.

The most heartbreaking ad of the month comes from Lake Forest, Ill. It reads . . . "Dieting forces sale of Mixmaster, electric deep-fat fryer and electric popcorn maker; all good condition."

Dieting is not the best answer when the home you're in has grown too small for your family needs. The best answer is to step into our offices, list your present property with us, and let up help you find the larger place you need . . .

FRB Reports More Spending for Modernizing

People are planning more home modernization and less new home buying this year, Federal Reserve Board surveys show.

The Board contacted 2,700 families in 66 areas throughout the country. They asked what Americans intend to buy and how much they'll spend.

Only 8.4 per cent of those interviewed expect to buy a house this year, the Board told the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association. For the last two years 9.4 per cent had planned to buy new homes.

On the other hand, the PFMA learned, 24 per cent plan to spend at least $460 on improving their homes. Last year only 22.2 per cent expected to spend $370 or more.

★ ★ ★

Improvements wanted by most people include roof repairs and the replacement of obsolete plumbing fixtures with new ones. Others want to add another room.

OK Windowless Room

The Federal Housing Administration now insures loans for installing windowless bathrooms. However, they require that the room be equipped with an electric ventilating fan, a discharge air vent, and a half-inch opening under the bathroom door.

Sound Condition Your Home

Listen. Would you be able to hear a pin drop in your home right now? For that matter, could you hear a monkey wrench drop?

Noise in the home is an ever-growing problem. Many psychologists agree it is helping to keep "calm-down" pills on best selling lists.

Recognize the menace, Practical Builder magazine, a light construction industry publication, had specialists study noise in the home.

In a series of five articles they outlined not only sources of noise, but how builders, home modernizers and the homeowner can "sound condition" houses

The sources, states the magazine, are our gadgets of comfort and convenience — washers, dryers, mixers, television, dishwashers, furnaces, ventilating fans, shower baths, record players and air conditioners.

Other sources of noise are children playing, inside and out, airplanes and passing automobiles and trucks. Homes are closer together, too, and neighbors share each others' noises.

Without extensive remodeling, Practical Builder says, noise can be foiled within a room by sound-absorbing materials: Acoustical tile on ceiling, wall-to-wall carpeting, heavy draperies, rubber or cork floor tile.

These materials, however, are relatively ineffective in keeping sounds from passing into other rooms.

For this, a solid sound barrier is needed. The most effective is solid masonry. Since this isn't practical for interior partitions, conventional lath and plaster walls can be sound-conditioned with a new layer of plaster on one or both sides.

A row of closets along one wall is another effective method of reducing the passage of sound from one room to another.

Leading a list of 14 favorite colors for home decorating are pastel yellows, corals, aquas, blues and wood tones, according to a California pigment manufacturer.

Older Homes Can Match New Market

Present day homes need not be outmoded by changes in building styles, realtors declare.

They point out that nearly all older dwellings can keep up with market advances by modernizing fixtures and appliances, according to the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

"We hear a lot of talk about when our present buildings will be obsolete due to advances in construction and building techniques," claims William A. P. Watkins, past president of the Institute of Real Estate Management. ". . . About 90 per cent of this kind of talk is itself obsolete.

"There is little or no improvement which is available in a new building which cannot be available in an old building," he continued. Mr. Watkins referred primarily to style changes of bathroom fixtures, radiators, and decorating schemes.

Through modernization, he concluded, no older building need take a back seat to modern construction.

New Home Features Big Window Seat

A new method has been discovered for applying brilliant finishes to aluminum outdoor furniture so they will not fade.

The burnished copper and metallic green finishes are synthetic chemical coatings which are applied by an electrical process to Arvin outdoor furniture and then subjected to heat so they harden to a lustrous surface by chemical reaction.

Lustracolor shows no appreciable deterioration when exposed to salt water or spilled food and beverages. It also resists scuffing.

Hi Fi Can Be Expensive

By AL THIEN
AP News Feature

The starting point in assembling a high-fidelity system is to determine what your needs are, the availabile space and the amount of money you're willing to spend. Once you've done that the rest is easy.

In choosing the components see that turntable, amplifier and speaker are all of comparable quality. If you have a friend who has assembled a system get his view and ask him to go along with you when you're ready to buy the components.

Many stores have "package" hi-fi systems available. These consist of pre-selected components that are known to perform well together and are chosen for their easy installation qualities. The connections are color-coded, too. Just plug the green wire into the green socket, the red into the red and so on.

By buying the articles one at a time you can relieve the initial strain on your pocketbook.

Don't forget to consider the ultimate degree of flexibility you may want later on. It can become quite expensive if you have to make changes in the entire system every time you get the urge to make an improvement.

In selecting a cartridge it is always best to get one with a diamond stylus. The cost is higher, but because of less record wear and danger of ruining a precious collection, you save in the long run. Worn sapphire or osmium needles can ruin a high-fidelity record in one playing.

If your final decision is in favor of an automatic changer make certain the movement of the arm toward the record's first groove is as gentle as a kiss.

If what you're really after is a commercial console remember that you'll have to pay two to three times the price to obtain the same performance readily available by assembling your own system.

Handle the equipment carefully, especially the delicate tip of the stylus. Let it be known that a high-fidelity system is a precision instrument requiring loving care.

The end result for beautiful music in your home is a lasting and enriching experience.

THREE VARIATIONS: (Upper) Radio tuner and amplifier controls on same chassis, as in custom sets. (Center) Most compact and easiest to install system with radio tuner, preamplifier and amplifier all on same chassis. (Lower) System for connoisseur, separate components conveniently located and easily replaced.

Fan Under Bed Helps Child Sleep

For the family with children, an electric fan can be one of the most valuable of home appliances during the summer.

Parents know how difficult it is for youngsters to rest during the warm days. Home economists at Arvin Industries suggest placing a fan under the child's bed or crib so the flow of air is directed at the bottom of the mattress.

★ ★ ★

This provides circulation of air around the youngster without placing him directly in the path of the breeze. Also, the quiet hum of a fan motor acts as a lullaby, helping the child go to sleep.

Buyers Can See Home in Model Size First

Some custom-home builders are using scale models of their houses to give customers a better idea of the finished product than blueprints and drawings have in the past.

One builder, V. G. Oscarson, of Lincolnwood, Ill., has a completely landscaped scale model on hand for each of the houses he has to offer. If the prospective buyer likes the model, Oscarson then can take him out to see a completed house like it.

'Buyer Beware' Still Holds True

Most factory guarantees on air-conditioning units cover all components against defects in workmanship and materials for one year and the refrigeration cycle for an additional 4 years. Thus the refrigeration system is covered for a period of 5 years.

★ ★ ★

These guarantees include only replacement of parts, and so you, as the customer, must look to the dealer involved in the execution of the warranty, particularly in the first year of the warranty period. Be certain your dealer has service available for you if needed.

Air conditioning can certainly contribute comfort and pleasure to living. Make your purchase a careful one—and be sure you get what you need to do the job and get what you are paying for.

The following are excellent rules for the consumer to adopt and remember when buying an air conditioner.

1. Don't buy from an unauthorized factory dealer. Only an authorized dealer can complete a factory guarantee.

2. Don't buy from anybody who does not have a permanent place of business. Blind telephone number and week-to-week addresses are dangerous.

3. Don't buy from a dealer who does not have a service department. Poorly installed conditioners can give you considerable trouble.

4. Don't buy from just anybody who might be here today and gone tomorrow, leaving you "holding the sack" on your warranty guarantee.

SAND BOX - WADING POOL — With summer ahead, it's high time to build a sand box that could be converted into a wading pool. The one pictured here with NBC's Claudia Barratt and her neighbor's youngsters has lots of advantages. On either end, there is a space under the seat to store toys. Then there's an awning which provides shade on a hot day and which can be tilted to let the sunshine in when the weather is right. In the evening, the awning can be lowered so that it fits flat on the box below to keep out night prowling cats and dogs or rain. In the wintertime it can be brought in to the basement and used there until spring comes again. To obtain the easy-to-follow combination sand box or wading pool pattern No. 164 send $1.00 by check, currency or money order to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

Western Look in House Design

America's desire for a more informal way of living and a more relaxed home life since 1940 has had a profound influence on the nation's home design, says George Whittier, prominent western architect.

By the end of World War II, western architects throughout Oregon, Washington and California were busy evolving a completely new home styling to fit into the easier, more informal living preferences of their clients, Mr. Whittier points out. This contemporary design soon caught the fancy of people all over the country who wanted to live more in the outdoors. Today the nation looks to the west coast as continuing new ideas in the contemporary theme are developed.

This is a unique situation, he observes, because for 300 years the design of the American home was influenced by the Colonial style developed in New England and in the several states of the deep South. The Colonial home was beautiful, but formal, and limited by materials then available.

Examples of this limitation are the small window panes, because glass makers were not as far advanced in technical skill. Lack of central heating and good plumbing were further obstacles in the path of architectural progress.

Today's contemporary home is also beautiful, not bound by tradition, and informality is the keynote. It is designed with the woman in mind, for easy upkeep, so important in this servantless age.

Workmen razing old structures frequently find the original asbestos-cement roofing in such excellent condition that it is suitable for installation on a new building, according to reports in the roofing trade.

Tools Ease Sanding Job Before Final Finish

When it comes to providing a finished surface, there's no substitute for a good sanding job. The finish coat does not hide defects; it makes them stand out.

Sanding is just as important today as it was when master craftsmen of the furniture trade literally spent days rubbing the bare wood, undercoats and finish coats to attain a scratch-free glossy surface.

The main difference, according to David G. Collins, homecraft consultant of Thor Power Tool Company, is that today's do-it-yourself hobbyists can do things the easy way.

In olden days, the woodworker had to rely on shoulder power alone. Now he simply flips the switch on an electric speedsander equipped with the proper abrasive and lets the mechanical device do the laborious task.

The modern method saves time as well as energy, Collins pointed out. The newest orbital sander developed by engineers of Thor's Speedway Manufacturing division turns up 6,200 r.p.m.'s, enough zip to assure a workman that even big jobs will be completed in a fraction of the time taken by manual sanding.

The light weight of this new portable model — five pounds makes it suitable for overhead work in addition to general use.

Because of the speed of the stroke with power sanders, a somewhat coarser abrasive can be used than in hand sanding, Collins said, but the same care should be used when working on veneer to avoid going through to the core stock.

Demand for Color Grows

Light pink and wood-tone brown are among the most popular hues for kitchen appliances. Seven out of ten home-buying families ask for colored bathroom fixtures. Leading choices are pink, blue and green.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

SIMPLE AND COMPACT, this house manages to be impressive without being expansive. Two first floor bedrooms boast complete privacy at the rear of the house and a 24-foot living-dining area monopolizes a good part of the front. ## Women Become Expert Painters

Don't Need Male Help to Change House Color Inside or Out

The woman of today wields a paint brush with the same aplomb she wields an eyebrow brush, and with the same good results. Not so long ago, about all the painting an average homemaker attempted was a kitchen table or perhaps the garden chairs. Not so today's homemaker.

With or without the aid of the man of the house, she'll take on painting a room and sometimes the whole interior of the house. Thousands of women have discovered that they can do a really top-notch painting job, provided they follow a few basic rules.

Rule one is to make sure that the surface to be painted is clean and smooth. Wipe it with a cleaning product that is specially formulated for cleaning painted surfaces and that does the job with a quick, once-over wiping. You don't even have to rinse or wipe dry. The obvious advantages of this "once-over" feature is that you don't have to wait very long for washed surfaces to dry.

Remember, too, walls and trims should be washed from the bottom up, because when water runs down a soiled wall, it leaves streaks that are hard to get off. On a clean wall the drippings can be wiped up easily without leaving a stain.

FILL WITH PLASTER

Cracks or holes in plaster walls should be filled with patching plaster, following directions on the package. Fill similar mars in woodwork with putty or composition wood. Remove any peeling or blistering paint by sanding or scraping. Sandpapering will remove any rough areas. It smooths off the excess plaster without gouging.

After the painting is finished and the walls are fresh and shining keep them that way by cleaning them at regular intervals.

For the best results, use a cleaning product specifically designed for the job, and applied with a sponge or well-wrung out cloth.

The United States Forest Service does no commercial logging, but it does sell timber to private mills.

Heating Attic Is Easy

Extending heating facilities to the attic seldom requires more than joining a pipe to a steam or hot water radiator on the floor below if roughed-in pipes were not left in the attic by the builder. If warm air is used and no attic ducts are provided, a self-contained oil or gas-burning space heater can be installed in each room.

Design Unique Walls

Interesting wall and ceiling treatments can be created by imaginative householders if they have a pair of willing hands and a few simple tools. Ripplewood's 4' x 8' panels, and 16" x 16" and 12" x 12" squares may be easily installed in a variety of special decorative effects, including strips, squares, diamonds and combinations of panels. Its textured finish is equally at home in traditional or contemporary decor.

Place your fragile curtains in a fabric bag tied securely—a flour sack will do—to insure their faring better in the washing machine.

Wash Outside Walls

Outside painted walls that are dingy and discolored don't always need repainting. Washing with soap and water often can restore their freshness. Use a scrub brush on a small area to check the results of washing. If you're satisfied start at the bottom and work your way up. After washing rinse with clear water, using a hose.

Go Easy on Wax, Say the Experts on Floor Care

The experts say that one of the most important prerequisites for an effective wax finish is proper rinsing of the scrubbed floor. Regardless of the detergent or cleaner used, rinse the residue away completely with clear water before you apply wax.

★ ★ ★

Failure to flush away the residue can weaken the water-resistance of self-polishing waxes. Or it can cause the wax surface to remain tacky or streaked and unevenly polished.

A common fault is applying too much wax too frequently and failing to remove the build-up of coats of wax periodically. Multiple coats of wax have a yellowing effect on the floor, the experts explained. And in this over-age film there is usually dirt trapped, which adds to the discoloration.

To remove a build-up probably will require a scrubbing with commercial floor cleaner diluted according to directions on the can. For high-resin self-polishing waxes you may want to add a quarter of a cup of ammonia to the solution for greater efficiency.

When you re-wax apply a thin film and go particularly easy in the nontraffic areas near the baseboards.

Glue Superior, Says Expert

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (INS) — A University of Michigan expert on gluing says there are at least four good reasons for using glue instead of nails, screw or rivets.

Alan A. Marra, associate professor of wood technology, explains that glue permits greater strength for a given area of joint; makes possible engineering of structures on the basis of maximum efficiency of materials; allows utilization of cheaper materials, and permits more variety of size and shape. He said:

"Using glue, no holes are made to weaken the material and load is spread over a greater area of the joint."

He added that gluing permits utilization of the "stressed skin" theory of design, where the load is carried by sheathing material covering the wall instead of by framing members, such as joists in a house.

A wall using the "stressed skin" principle can be made with much less material than the conventional frame construction.

Professor Marra stated:

"Lamination permits one other improvement on nature. Before the glue hardens, the assembly of thin layers can be bent easily in a curved shape. If held until the glue hardens, it can't straighten out again.

"This is the basic principle behind the massive wood arches which are becoming more and more popular in the construction of barns, churches, gymnasiums and factories where large clear floor areas are needed without support posts for the roof."

Use Window Fan With Air Conditioner

Using a window fan in conjunction with an air conditioner can make your home more comfortable this summer.

An air conditioner can make one room too cool for comfort while other rooms in the home remain hot. Engineers suggest placing a fan near the air conditioner and directing it toward an open door to create a flow of cool air throughout the house.

This is especially advisable when bedrooms are situated on the second floor. A fan placed in the doorway of the room with the air conditioner directs cool air toward the other bedrooms and makes sleeping more comfortable in every room.

Fragments of used charcoal found near Tule Springs, Nev., are believed by scientists to be some 23,800 years old.

Electric Heater Gives Warm Vacation Comfort

If you're going to spend your vacation in the mountains or north country this summer, it would be a good idea to take along a portable electric heater.

Although the days may be warm, nights can be very cool in many resort areas and an electric heater may mean the difference between enjoyable evenings and chilly discomfort.

Ike's Son, John, Gets Transfer to Pentagon

WASHINGTON (INS)—Maj. John Eisenhower, son of the President, has been transferred to duty in the Pentagon, effective July 20.

He has been an instructor at the Army Engineers School at Fort Belvoir, Va., 15 miles from Washington, since July 1955.

The Army said young Eisenhower has been assigned to the office of Lt. Gen. T. G. Eddleman, deputy chief of staff for military operations. His exact duties have not been determined.

The transfer was described as a routine shift. Army officers normally get new assignments every two years.

To Sell First School, Built in 1914 at Keego

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Sealed bids will be opened Monday by the West Bloomfield Board of Education on the building and property of what was originally the first Keego Harbor grade school, and later known as the Community Bldg.

It has also been used, temporarily, by the veterans organization and the City of Keego Harbor for their offices. The West Bloomfield Library Board has been located in the basement of the building since 1956.

With the new addition now being built to the West Bloomfield High School this building will no longer be needed, and the money realized from the sale will be used on the athletic field, according to Dr. Leif Hougan, Superintendent of Schools.

Junior Editors Quiz on KING COTTON

QUESTION: Where did King Cotton first rule?

Answer: Most people think of the South when King Cotton is mentioned, but his dynasty goes back a long, long way. Nobody really knows where cotton first grew. It was used in India in 1500 B. C. and probably much before that.

Alexander the Great, the general who cried because he had no more worlds to conquer, was so interested in the cotton plants he found growing in the Nile Valley that he sent some specimens back to his old teacher, Aristotle.

There was a legend in Aristotle's day that cotton was a little woolly lamb that grew on a bush. People even called it the "vegetable lamb of Tartary."

Christopher Columbus found cotton growing in the West Indies in 1492 on his first journey to the New World. The natives already were skilled in turning the fluffy fibre into cloth.

Today cotton is still king in many parts of the world particularly the southern part of the United States, Egypt, India, Australia, North Africa and parts of Central and South America.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is Alexander and his famous horse Bucephalus standing in a field of cotton. In the background is the ancient idea of a lamb growing on a bush. Cut out, color, paste on cardboard and fold the left panel back to make the figures stand up.

'Jazz Too Good for Americans'

Gillespie Says U. S. Won't Accept Music as Art Form

NEW YORK — Dizzy Gillespie, America's trumpeting Ambassador of Jazz, states that "jazz is too good for Americans, the very people who gave birth to this wonderful music."

★ ★ ★

In an article in a recent issue of a national magazine, Gillespie scored his fellow countrymen for their refusal to accept jazz as a pure art form. At the same time directed stiff criticism toward many of America's most revered musical institutions.

Gillespie identified bandleader Lawrence Welk by "his zany hats, cuckoo clocks, tramp costumes and other gimmicks that have absolutely nothing to do with good music."

"Jazz was once on its way to becoming the real folk music of America," Gillespie claimed, "but now almost all that's gone. The folk music of America today is a mongrel made up of strains of Presley, Liberace, Tennessee Ernie, Lombardo and Sh-Boom."

TELLS EXPERIENCES

Gillespie recounts the experiences of American musicians who have taken their jazz abroad. The fantastic reception accorded jazzmen overseas has not been paralleled in America. Many foreign countries have taken our music and adopted it as their own.

★ ★ ★

The decline of good music in America, said Gillespie, is due in no small part to the disc jockeys of the nation who continue "the drone-drone-droning of the so-called 'Top Ten.'"

★ ★ ★

"First, jazz should be taught to school children at all levels of their education. Let the children be aware that no class distinction should exist between jazz and the classics. Let them be told that jazz is, in effect, free speech in music. "Secondly, on the federal level, let the United States Government set up a national collection of all the working materials and archieves of jazz. Start a national jazz collection, possibly as part of the Library of Congress.

★ ★ ★

"And finally, let disc jockeys exercise a bit more taste and discretion in the records they select for the public."

Wynn May Drop Comedy After June 8 Como Show

By ATRA BAER

NEW YORK (INS)—Ed Wynn's going to guest on Perry Como's June 8th show, and since his recent twin triumphs in straight dramatic roles in "The Great American Hoax" (the 20th Century-Fox Hour) and "Protege" (the Alcoa Hour) the general feeling is that this will be "The Perfect Fool's" last comedy appearance for some time to come.

★ ★ ★

Keenan's dad has made the most dramatic comeback show business has seen in a long time. And he did it virtually without publicity, just with talent.

Ed indicates that he wants to concentrate on dramatic parts, and has actually turned down as many roles as a dozen stars grandly claim to have nixed.

Last week Ed stopped by Sid Caesar's office ("on an impulse") and Caesar was actually awed.

"Don't worry," Ed assured him, "everything with you will be all right. After all, art endures when all else passes."

★ ★ ★

Of course, Sid isn't doing any worrying, but he was grateful for Ed's thoughtfulness. One thing is sure: Wynn endures. And I wonder if he isn't going to be "enduring" steadily this fall with NBC?

NO MORE STORIES

"The Big Story" has lost its sponsors and is scheduled to leave NBC before the summer season. The show has been on radio and TV for over eight years.

Too bad. It took reporters out of the trenchcoat-saloon stereotype and gave a pretty accurate picture of stories-behind-the-stories considering its confining half-hour frame.

There are more TV personalities than movie stars in Elia Kazan's forthcoming "A Face in the Crowd." Doing bit parts are Faye Emerson, Sam Levenson, John Cameron Swayze, Virginia Graham, Walter Winchell, Betty Furness and Mike Wallace.

A star who has more offers than time to fill them: Polly Bergen. After "Helen Morgan" everybody's bidding for her talents. (And I understand those talents are going to cost triple over what they did three weeks ago.)

His Collection of Old Postcards Is in Thousands

NORMAN, Okla. (INS) — Some people go in for collecting strange butterflies but a professor at the University of Oklahoma at Norman will settle for post cards—just so long as they are old.

In the last six years, Dr. Ralph D. Bienfang has accumulated an unusual collection of old post cards that now number in the thousands.

The distinguished-looking professor of pharmacy devotes many of his non-teaching hours collecting the masterpieces of by-gone days which depict the humor, or lack of it, at the turn of the century.

His oldest relics include elaborately painted portraits of famous Indian chiefs, dating back to 1899. Although Dr. bienfang said they are not particularly "useful," he still points with pride to his unique and varied collection.

Modern, showy cards have no place in the collection.

Perhaps the most unique are four examples of hand-painted cards. These were elaborately painted in Germany before World War I and are beautifully illustrated pictures of women. No cheese cake these, they show fashion of the time with emphasis in hair styles.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Robert B. Anderson Heads World's Biggest Money Job

WASHINGTON (AP — When Robert Bernerd Anderson was graduated from the University of Texas law school, he was hard-pressed for the price of a white graduation suit.

The price: $12.

★ ★ ★

Now, when he takes over as secretary of the Treasury, he will be in charge of the biggest money job in the world—the multibillion-dollar United States economy.

Anderson has been taking on things like that ever since he was a teenager in his home town of Burleson, Tex.

Once, when he interrupted his education to teach school for a while, he was asked to coach the Burleson High School football team.

He was a stranger to the game but he bought a rule book, devised some plays — and coached Burleson to an undefeated season.

But the 46-year-old secretary won't be coming into the big money field cold.

★ ★ ★

For 16 years, he was an executive of the W. T. Waggoner estate, a 300-million-dollar cattle, farming, real estate and oil empire in Texas. He was general counsel to the estate at 27 and general manager at 31.

He left the job in 1953 to become secretary of the Navy. At that time, he remembered with a grin, the "biggest boat I ever piloted was a 28-foot power boat."

Anderson had been Navy secretary little more than a year when President Eisenhower tapped him for the job of deputy secretary of defense.

He was picked largely because of his knack for staying out of controversy — a rare quality in Cabinet members in those days.

★ ★ ★

When he left the government in 1955, he became president of Ventures, Ltd., of Toronto, a mining properties holding company., reportedly at a salary of $60,000 a year.

Anderson was born in Burleson, June 4, 1910. He spent his childhood on the family cotton and dairy farm.

He worked his way through the University of Texas law school by grading papers and acting as a student quiz master.

★ ★ ★

He's no stranger to politics.

When he was starting his last term in law school, he went to the dean and asked permission to skip classes so he could run for the Texas Legislature.

★ ★ ★

The dean checked up, found the enterprising student's average in the high 90s and gave permission. Anderson was elected to the Legislature.

Later, while he was unemployment commissioner of Texas during the depression, he came up with an idea that showed him to be a few years ahead of his time.

★ ★ ★

He proposed construction of a 60-natural gas pipeline from Texas to Detroit. "It would have created jobs more economically feasible than those the WPA provided," he said.

The Texas Legislature turned the plan down but the federal government built the pipeline during World War II.

Anderson is married and has two sons, James, 20, and Lee, 16.

Mrs. Anderson, whom he met at the university, designed their permanent home, a large pink brick ranch house in Vernon, Texas.

As a hobby, he collects guns. Other interests are the Boy Scouts, and two small Texas colleges, McMurry in Abilene and Texas Wesleyan in Fort Worth.

In politics, he's a Democrat and known as a Texas-Democrat-for-Eisenhower. He supported the President in 1952 and 1956.

★ ★ ★

Personally, he is quiet, mild-mannered. His smile is boyish under rimless glasses. He has a slight limp, reminder of a polio attack at the age of 3.

DON'T LEARN the HARD WAY
Some rabid TV fans find their TV set never fails at a convenient time. In their anxiety to see a TV show at night or on Sunday when regular TV shops are closed, they hastily pick out a handful of tubes and rush to the corner drugstore. The "do it yourself" tube checker is there to sell tubes so usually the customer carries home $15.00 to $20.00 worth of tubes, most of which were not necessary. When he finds the picture still does not appear because of a tube he missed or plugged into the wrong socket, it is still necessary to call a Serviceman to restore operations. Save your time and money by calling an OCEA member. He is qualified to give you quick, efficient service at honest prices.
