Twelve Are Still Missing

THREE OF THE THIRTY-THREE LUCKY ONES—Michael Mackachinus, Joe Kislevich and Al Snelster (from left) are served coffee at the Pittston (Pa.) City Hospital after their rescue from flooded mine. Thirty-three coal miners were rescued after the Susquehanna River tore through a cliff and flooded the mine. Twelve miners are still missing.

Water in Mine May Force Coal Gas to Surface

Search for 12 Missing Miners Goes On in Face of New Danger.

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—New problems faced the Wyoming Valley of northeastern Pennsylvania today even as rescue workers continued efforts to reach 12 trapped miners and to stem the steady flow of the Susquehanna River into the valley's coal mines.

Fears were expressed that the river waters pouring into a mine breach in nearby Port Griffith would force poisonous and explosive coal gas to the surface.

Councilman Anthony Wycallis of Duryea cautioned residents to keep cellar windows open so that any gas forced to the surface can escape rather than accumulate inside homes.

Twelve mines have been closed as the river waters bubbled unseen through the maze of tunnels criss-crossing under the valley.

Little hope remained for the men missing in the flooded workings of the Knox Coal Co. mine in Port Griffith since the Susquehanna burst into a mine tunnel Thursday.

Of the 45 men working at the time, all but the missing 12 made their way to safety through nearby shafts before the rising waters blocked their escape.

A handful of relatives and friends maintained a long, lonely vigil on the slim hope that a chance turn in the blackened tunnels may have led some of the missing to higher ground.

Daniel H. Connelly, deputy state secretary of mines, said that unless the breach can be closed, the millions of gallons of river water pouring through "can put all the mines in the valley out of operation."

The state and federal government pledged their financial aid to the stricken area. President Eisenhower and Gov. David L. Lawrence declared the region a disaster area, thereby making it eligible for federal aid.

Run Into Trouble Getting to Seat of the Problem

ST. PAUL (AP)—A baby-sitter who adhered to her job somewhat too closely was claiming belated attention in suburban Edin today.

The 16-year-old girl's travail began soon after she started her stint while the lady of the house and her mate went to a New Year's eve party.

The lady left without warning the sitter that she had just painted with a so-called miracle paint that carried the label, "It stays on."

When the sitter visited the bathroom early in the evening, she discovered that label was all too true — she couldn't leave the place. And she was still trapped there when the couple returned about 3 a.m. New Year's day.

When turpentine failed to remove the seat of the trouble, the young husband called a physician. He tried alcohol to dissolve the paint. But again without results.

Despite the discomfort of the seated sitter, the humor of the situation gripped the doctor. He burst into a spasm of laughter, tripped over the sitter's foot and hit the bathtub, knocking himself out.

The man of house then summoned an ambulance crew. The men literally tore the sitter loose from the paint. They took her and the doctor, who had suffered a concussion, to the hospital. Both are reported up and about without any ill effects.

The sitter and the physician had attorneys draw up lawsuits against the couple owning the house. But a man handling the couple's insurance has promised they will never come to trial. "While we'd love the publicity," he was quoted, "it would be just too embarrassing all around."

Names of those involved were not made public.

Heart Victim

REP. FRED R. DINGMAN

Legislator Dies, GOP Gets Edge

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Democrat Dingman, Brings 55-54 Margin

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
LANSING — Death of a Detroit lawmaker has upset the balance of power in the evenly-split House and dimmed Democratic hopes of overthrowing GOP control.

Rep. Fred R. Dingman (D-Detroit), 69, who suffered a stroke in August and barely was well enough to be sworn into a ninth term Jan. 14, died yesterday of a heart attack while watching television in his home.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has indicated he will wait until after Dingman's funeral Tuesday before announcing plans for a special election.

State Elections Director Robert M. Montgomery said it would be possible to pick Dingman's successor at the April 6 election.

Dingman's death gave Republicans a 55-54 membership edge, which is the margin they used to organize the House when Rep. Josephine Hunsinger (D-Detroit) was hospitalized by an operation.

Mrs. Hunsinger was scheduled to be sworn in by Supreme Court Justice George Edwards during a bedside ceremony at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital today and was expected in Lansing soon.

Fliers in 51st Day of World Record Endurance Flight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Two fliers, stiff and sore from seven weeks in a cramped cabin, droned on today to a new world record for an endurance flight.

Robert Timm, 32, Las Vegas, and John Cook, 33, Los Angeles, passed the old record of 50 days, 18 minutes at 4:09 p.m. Friday. They kept right on toward their goal of 60 days. The fliers are helping promote a Cancer Fund drive.

"We may stay up now until the engine stops running," Timm crowed. "You can be sure we won't be down in less than another 10 days."

They went on with their four hours on, four hours off stints piloting a single-engine Cessna 172 in the Blythe, Ariz.-Las Vegas areas. They were jubilant, if tired. "The first 50 days were not easy, but it wasn't as tough as we thought it would be," Timm said.

Every morning the fliers swoop low over the airport in Blythe to keep a 90-mile-an-hour rendezvous with a pickup truck. They hoist their breakfast, lunch and mail up in a basket. They get their fuel and a hot supper every evening the same way.

The old record for unbroken flight was claimed by Jim Heth and Bill Burkhardt of Dallas, Tex., last Sept. 21.

Boys, 4, 5, Burn Baby to Death on Stove

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two brothers, four and five years old, told police they picked and played catch with a nine-week-old baby, then put him on top of a kitchen gas stove where he burned to death.

The baby was stripped of clothing and placed over three lighted burners yesterday.

The brothers said they broke into the home of the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carter, in West Philadelphia, looking for food. The mother, with her other two children, was visiting a sister. The father was at work.

The two boys, Larry and Gregory Twigg, were taken to the children's shelter for psychiatric treatment.

Cuban Court Considering Death Sentence Appeal

HAVANA (AP)—An appeal court considered today the death sentence given in a circus setting at the first public war crimes trial. The two remaining showcase trials were postponed until Monday.

Revolutionary leader Fidel Castro reportedly suggested a radio and television blackout on the other trials in an apparent effort to avoid too much public excitement. An aroused crowd threatened the next two defendants Friday.

Foreign correspondents invited to the trials had criticized the carnival atmosphere of the trial which opened Thursday before 17,000 Cubans and ended Friday morning with many still watching on television.

A sampling of opinion among the 323 foreign newsmen reported to be here indicated agreement with the legal procedure used, however. Better understanding abroad of the provisional government's aims was foreseen as a result of the public trials.

Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, 51, a career army man, was convicted on charges of murdering at least 25 persons in Oriente province, scene of the bitter fighting in Castro's two-year rebellion that overthrew dictator Fulgencio Batista on Jan. 1.

The 3-man military tribunal that convicted Sosa Blanco sentenced him to die before a firing squad. The tribunal president, Maj. Humberto Sori Marin, announced that a 5-member Superior War Council had agreed to hear Sosa Blanco's appeal.

Blast of Butane Hurls Flames at Crews, Crowd

Jobs and Curiosity Put Victims at Scene of Louisiana Tragedy

MONROE, La. (UPI)—Three were dead today and 52 injured because they had been drawn either by work or curiosity to the fiery derailment of a freight train.

A Missouri Pacific railroad freight caught fire when it was derailed yesterday. Firefighters swung into action and a crowd of 150 onlookers gathered by nightfall.

During the blaze a tank car of liquid butane exploded, hurling flames and metal fragments at wrecking crews, firemen and spectators.

"I heard people screaming and saw them running with their clothes and hair on fire," switchman L. V. Cascio said. He was standing 150 yards away. His clothes were singed and his car burned.

"The flames mushroomed outward, and touched earth again about 300 yards away. Those farther away were the ones that got it bad," he said.

Firemen still fought a blaze this morning which crept dangerously near another derailed car containing hydro-carbon.

Thirty-two victims of the blast were still hospitalized, 17 of them in critical condition, from the butane explosion.

Estimates of damages caused by the spree of explosions ran as high as a million dollars.

NONE HURT AT FIRST

No one was injured earlier in the day when 33 cars jumped the track, setting off fires and explosions, which destroyed 30 of the cars. Flames shot hundreds of feet into the sky during the first explosion.

Police and firemen had warned sight-seers to stay away from the scene. Authorities said the second and fatal blast last night surrounded over a five-mile area.

Monroe's St. Francis Hospital, which took the majority of the casualties, was a scene of chaotic tragedy. Hundreds of relatives and friends milled in the corridors looking for loved ones.

Other hundreds tried to give needed blood donations, for which the hospital had sent an emergency call.

Many victims were brought in on makeshift stretchers and treated in halls. The emergency room filled to overflowing.

The explosion swept one derailed tank car across adjoining U.S. 195, which was closed to traffic by State Police.

The dead were reported burned beyond physical recognition. Only one victim was finally identified. He was O. C. Mitchell, of Lake Village, Ark.

AUTOS BLOCK AMBULANCES
Cars of the hundreds of spectators also figured in difficulties of ambulance drivers who shuttled the blast victims to Monroe hospitals. They lined much of the five-mile strip of highway between this north Louisiana city and the blast site, causing a traffic jam.

Steel Union Faces Suit for $3 Million

DETROIT (AP)—A three-million-dollar damage suit has been filed against the United Steel Workers Union by the strikebound Copco Steel & Engineering Co.

The Federal Court suit, filed yesterday, charges violation of the Taft-Hartley Act. Copco claims the union called the strike without notice Jan. 13 and the company hasn't been able to move steel in or out of the plant.

A company attorney said the requested damages are to cover loss of business resulting from the strike.

Find New Lead in Kidnaping

Police Search Bronx for Woman Seen Carrying Baby

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police searched a section of the Bronx (Mott Haven) today where a pregnant woman answering the description of the kidnaper of 25-day-old John Tavaraz was seen carrying a baby.

Police closed in on a Bronx rooming house last night where the woman was reported seen but the suspect eluded the search. Other details of city detectives and FBI agents fanned out over the neighborhood to pick up any clue in the hottest lead since the Tavaraz baby was kidnapped Thursday afternoon.

"This may well be the woman we want," inspector Martin Doneloni said.

Jose and Doraliza Tavaraz, parents of the baby, made a television appeal last night for his safe return. While his wife wept at his side, Tavaraz said they felt like dead people.

"We lost something we love very much. We need our baby," Tavaraz, a Dominican native, said in English. He repeated his plea in Spanish.

The woman sought last night was described as pregnant, dark complexioned, stocky and in her 30s. The baby she carried was wrapped in a blue blanket, as was the Tavaraz baby when abducted.

About 150 detectives searched throughout the city yesterday and 25 FBI agents joined the hunt late in the day, 24 hours after little Johnny was taken from his mother's apartment Thursday on a ruse.

A woman giving the name of Mrs. Gladys Garcia had met Mrs. Tavaraz in Metropolitan Hospital Wednesday. They shared a taxi home. Mrs. Garcia phoned Thursday to tell Mrs. Tavaraz of an apartment available in the Bronx and offered to babysit while Mrs. Tavaraz looked at it. When Mrs. Tavaraz returned from apartment hunting she found the baby and the babysitter gone.

White House OKs Aid to Flood Disaster Areas

From Our News Wires

Ice and debris-laden floodwaters swept over levees and flood walls in Ohio and Pennsylvania, chasing 25,000 persons from their homes in twin disasters that brought swift action from the White House.

President Eisenhower Friday night declared flood-stricken regions of the two states disaster areas and authorized immediate federal aid in reply to pleas from Govs. Michael V. Disalle of Ohio and David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania.

Ohio, alone, had a preliminary damage estimate of more than $3 million dollars.

Some other conservative damage estimates were placed at 12 million in New York, 3 million in Sharon, Pa., and another 2 million for mine rescue operations around Pittston, Pa.

Some 107 deaths were blamed on weather-caused traffic accidents, exposure, exhaustion, floods and tornadoes. The count began with the first weather barrage Tuesday.

Ohio led the nation with at least 18 deaths. Wisconsin was next with 17, Illinois 13, Michigan 12, New York 10, Indiana 9, Kentucky and Pennsylvania 5 each, Iowa 4, Missouri and Oklahoma 3, Kansas, New Mexico and Texas 2, and Washington and North Dakota 1.

COLD HAMPER WORK

Near-zero temperatures plagued thousands of volunteer flood wardens, including National Guard reinforcements, as they struggled through the night to restore broken levees and rescue stranded families.

The rampaging Scioto River washed away a levee at historic Chillicothe, Ohio, putting one-third of the city under water in its worst flood disaster since 1913.

Ten thousand persons were left homeless in Ohio's first capital, while another 10,000 Ohioans evacuated their dwellings as swollen rivers cascaded over their banks elsewhere in the state.

The town was plagued by a flooded sewage plant and a possible sanitation problem. Army helicopters dropped medicine and supplies to Neil Hertenspin and his crew at the plant, and took in relief workers as they tried to get the plant back into operation.

Some of the residents returned to their mud-soaked homes today, but Sheriff Gary Martin said it was doubtful that all would get back by Sunday night.

The only flood-connected death was that of an 82-year-old woman whose body was found in her home Friday morning. Authorities believe she died of exposure. Her husband who was deaf was treated for exposure.

'COPIERS RESCUE 100

Army amphibious ducks and trucks, cattle trucks, helicopters and boats were used in the rescue. The sheriff said helicopters rescued about 100 persons.

An unexpectedly heavy snowfall this morning made driving conditions extremely hazardous.

State Police, who first said main highways throughout Oakland County were clear and not slippery early today, changed their report after snow began falling at about 9 a.m.

Roads were "extremely slippery in Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Wayne, and Monroe counties at noon today," they said.

All the southern half of the Lower Peninsula was covered by the snow blanket, Police said. The Oakland County Road Commission reported all equipment was out on area highways this morning.

Pontiac Police said all main thoroughfares were snow-covered and very hazardous driving conditions existed as of noon today.

A state of emergency has been issued in Ohio as snow blanketed the state, literally cutting off many cities from travel. The Ohio Turnpike was described as icy and snow covered and nearly impassable in spots by State Police bulletins.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast light snow for Pontiac and vicinity today. The high is expected to reach 18, with a low tonight about 14.

Tomorrow's high will be about 24 with partly cloudy skies and a few snow flurries likely. Winds will be southerly at 10-16 m.p.h. tonight and tomorrow.

Bergman Gets Custody of Rossellini Children

PARIS (AP)—A French court today awarded to Ingrid Bergman custody of the three children born of her broken marriage to Italian film director Roberto Rossellini.

The court, in a provisional ruling, however, granted visiting rights to Rossellini and decreed the children attend an Italian school in Paris.

Speeding Train Kills 3 Children, Cabbie

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train running through the outskirts at 80 miles an hour smashed into a taxicab at a grade-crossing Friday, killing three school children and the cab driver.

Sudden death came to Katherine and John Jones, 6-year-old twins, and their brother George, 7, who also was a twin.

The other victim was William M. Dail, 37-year-old cab driver. The New York-Washington train No. 125, the Legislator, was speeding toward the city when it rammed the taxi shortly after 3 p.m. A witness said the taxi was dragged almost a mile before the train stopped.

Realtors to Hear Sales Consultant

East Lansing Educator to Speak at Banquet Here Feb. 10

Guest speaker at the annual banquet of the Pontiac Board of Realtors will be Dr. Charles E. Irvin, an East Lansing business and sales consultant.

The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 10 at Elks Temple, said Alvin G. Kampen, board president.

Another feature will be the installation of Cramer E. Partridge, a Pontiac realtor, as 1959 board president.

Tickets to the banquet are available from local realtors, said Kampen.

Holder of a Ed. D. degree from Michigan State University, Dr. Irvin spent 27 years teaching business speaking and communications there and at Graham, Ohio State and Allegheny universities.

For the past year he has been a public speaker and consultant in sales training, management training and business and industrial communication.

During World War II, Dr. Irvin served as assistant military welfare director for the American Red Cross and was with the USAF intelligence overseas.

A native of Zanesville, Ohio, Dr. Irvin also attended Oberlin and Ohio State University. He is the author of books and articles on effective salesmanship.

Both Sides Ready to Finish Cases in Murder Trial

The prosecution and defense are scheduled to present their closing arguments Tuesday in the first degree murder trial of Raymond L. Ayres, accused of killing a Southfield nursery caretaker.

A Grand Court jury of eight women and five men has been listening to testimony since Jan. 8 before Judge William J. Bee.

Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang, who had called 25 witnesses, will seek to show in his closing statement that the 35-year-old ex-convict from Detroit killed Anthony Jasinski July 11 after robbing him.

William R. Belsky, court-appointed attorney for Ayres, a combat Marine Corps veteran, will attempt to convince the jury that Jasinski walked in on a robbery of Ayres and fled, afraid he might be implicated and returned to prison as a parole violator.

The jury is expected to receive its instructions from Judge Bee after the closing arguments.

Earthquake in Japan
TOKYO (P)—An earthquake of medium intensity shook a wide part of eastern Japan today, the Central Meteorological Observatory announced. There were no reports of damage or casualties.

The labor force of the U.S. contained 69 per cent of men over age 65 in 1900, as compared with only about 42 per cent in the 1950 census.

2 Gunmen Rob Detroit Tavern

Lock Two in Unheated Shanty After Theft in Zero Weather

DETROIT (P)—Two gunmen wearing white hoods robbed a tavern here early today of $180 and locked the bartender and another employee in an unheated shanty with the temperature near zero.

The bartender, Aaron C. Broach, 35, and the tavern's porter, Robert McClure, 29, were rescued three hours later by police after a passing milkman reported sighting smoke puffing out of the shanty back of the tavern (Bluebird Inn at 5021 Tireman).

The men had made a small fire on the floor of the shanty in an attempt to keep warm.

"We were just in shirtsleeves," Broach said. "It was like the arctic circle in there. We jumped around and pounded our chests."

Both were treated at receiving hospital for exposure.

Broach said he was seized by the gunmen when he was carrying an empty beer case out the back door after the tavern had closed.

man abandoned mopping up exercises to combat the new attack.

At Meadville, Pa., a massive ice pack resisted attempts to bring help to families marooned in heatless homes. In near-zero temperatures amphibious trucks and coast guard boats tried to crack through the ice jammed French Creek.

Earlier attempts to dynamite the ice pack ended in failure.

About 1,000 persons were left homeless when French Creek spilled over its banks and damages ran into the millions of dollars. Thousands were in misery, including many who had refused evacuation before the home chilling cold set in.

The American Red Cross said about 400 families were being quartered in a junior high school, but the bulk of the flood victims was absorbed by neighbors.

OTHER AREAS SUFFER

Although Meadville was hardest hit, many other Pennsylvania communities suffered from the violent weather onslaught. Hundreds of persons were homeless in Sharon, where the Shenango River swirled around in numerous basements. Light and heat were totally cut off from many homes. Farther down the river, New Castle also suffered.

Elsewhere, a three-mile ice jam in the Delaware River at East Branch in south central New York State threatened 300 homes in that hamlet. Several dozen homes already were damaged by the overflowing waters.

At Wheeling, W. Va., about a thousand residents near the city were evacuated as the crest of the Ohio River moved downstream, leaving ice and water damage.

The river crested at 11.3 feet at Wheeling, 7.3 feet above flood stage and at the highest point in five years.

President Eisenhower's move authorized "the use of such federal funds as are necessary for the prosecution of federal assistance to supplement state and local efforts."

Tuller Fire Survivor Dies of Pneumonia

DETROIT (P)—An 82-year-old woman who fled from the Tuller Hotel fire last Saturday into sub-freezing weather died yesterday. Preliminary diagnosis at Saratoga General Hospital indicated the woman, Jeannette Davidson, died of pneumonia.

Miss Davidson died at the home of a niece, Mrs. Jeannette Chalmers, who said her aunt escaped from her sixth floor room at the Tuller by fire escape after she inhaled smoke and fell, bruising herself.

Mrs. Chalmers said Miss Davidson complained of pain in her chest, but had refused medical treatment.

Class in Home Building Slated at Central High

Home owners, those who intend to build or persons interested in the real estate field will have an opportunity to enroll in a fundamental building course next week. Real Estate Building 1, a 16-week course, will begin Tuesday at Pontiac Central High School at 7 p.m. The University of Michigan Extension Service and the Pontiac Real Estate Board are sponsoring it.

J. Robert F. Swanson, president of Swanson Associates, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills, will conduct the course. He is a graduate of the U. of M.

Registration may be made at the first session. The fee is $27. The course includes the principles of good architecture and construction, the requirements of the Federal Housing Administration, and the Veterans' Administration, and modern developments, and trends in building materials.

Heart Attack Fatal to Rep. Dingman

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, Dingman's running mate in the 10th Wayne County House district and Democratic floor leader, had vowed a determined bid to upset Republican House rule.

"The day will come when more Democrats than Republicans will answer to (daily attendance) roll call and when that day comes, we'll see what can be done," Kowalski said.

If Democrats took over, he said, he felt sure they would stay in the saddle through 1960.

Odds favor election of a Democrat to fill the 10th District seat Dingman has held for 16 years. Dingman had 20,140 votes and Kowalski 29,347 Nov. 4 in the two-seat district where Republican candidates got totals of 23,863 and 23,702.

Williams said Dingman was "a good friend of mine and a stalwart supporter of a liberal and progressive state program."

House Speaker Don R. Peers (R-Buchanan) said "all of us will miss the fine citizenship and the gentlemanly conduct of this beloved servant."

The former Hillsdale County teacher missed much of the 1958 session because of illness. He managed to be at the opening of the 1959 session, but had to be assisted from the chamber shortly after being sworn in.

Dingman, a general field supervisor for the Wayne County Drain Commission, was married and had one son, Robert. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and Masons.

Masonic rites will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at Schmalzriedt Funeral Home, Detroit. Interment will be at the Grandlawn Cemetery, Redford.

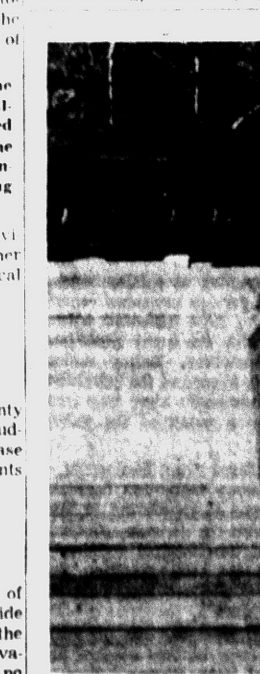

Institute Will Probe Reports of Chaining

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI)—The Child Study Institute said today it would investigate police reports that frail, small Judith Ball, 7, was kept chained to a bedpost in her bedroom alone for nearly two years, except for when she was in school, to "keep her out of trouble."

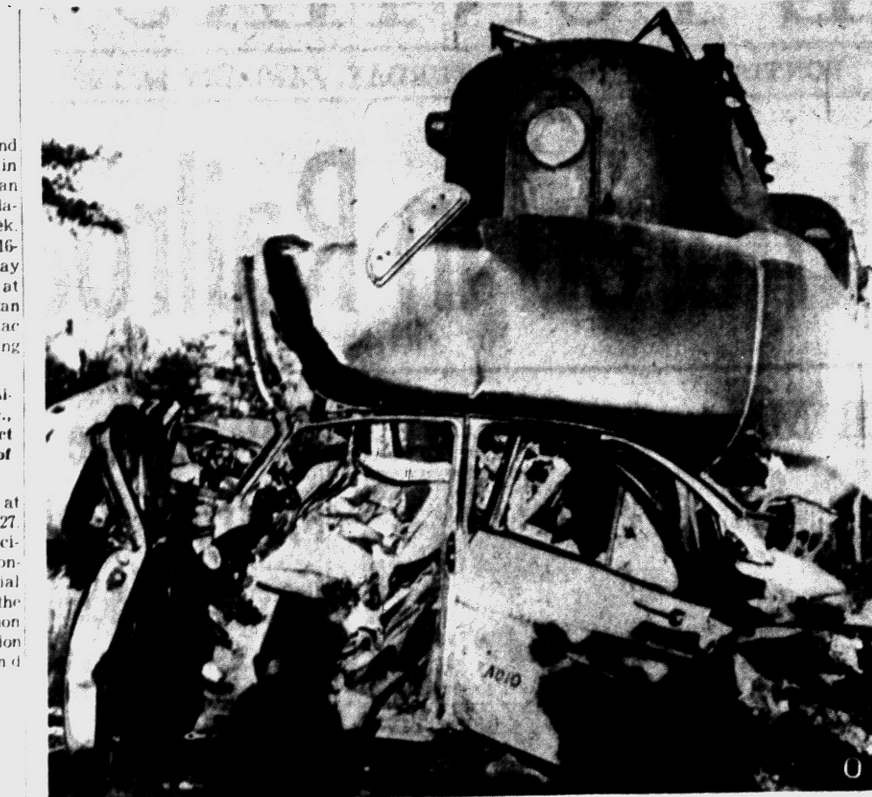

Mrs. Ruth Ball, 39, mother of nine, told police she kept the girl confined in the darkened room, with a four foot long, seven-pound chain attached to her leg because she arose in the night to raid the refrigerator and "cause other trouble."

Martin's Gift Turned Into Political Issue by Solon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joe Martin's spanking new $11,000 limousine, an "Auld Lang Syne" gift from the House membership, appears to have become a political issue.

Rep. William H. Ayres (R-Ohio) is telling the voters back home that Democrats got the House to provide the chauffeur-driven Cadillac to the ousted GOP leader "just to embarrass Republicans."

Ayres said 22 constituents have written him to protest the decision to keep Martin supplied at taxpayer expense with the limousine and extra clerical help that normally goes only with the floor leader's position.

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) said there was no foundation to Ayres' charge. "I distortion of the truth," McCormack said.

He noted there were two House-adopted resolutions—the one sponsored to provide Martin with a government-owned limousine and that McCormack's resolution to the other, sponsored by the new trucks carrying more troops took up positions around the car, and the defendants were driven away without a direct clash.

Some 1,000 other prisoners still are being held for trials in the Havana area. The provisional government is expected to admit some newsmen to those trials while keeping out the masses.

Trials continued elsewhere in Cuba. More than 250 persons have been reported executed. Castro has said that not more than 400 will die for what he charges were 20,000 murders during Batista's six-year dictatorship. Reports continued to come in from Oriente of discovery of bodies, believed to be the result of Batista's police work.

In Caracas, Venezuela, where he is making a good will tour, Castro asserted "we will continue to do justice for the crimes committed during the Batista dictatorship... (even though) our country is suffering the most criminal, cowardly and vile campaign ever conducted against a people."

"Even though the world sinks, there will be justice in Cuba," he told a wildly cheering crowd of one car on the Missouri Pacific train overheated and caused the derailment.

A. R. Liles, a Monroe fire captain, said he was walking away about half a block from the burning pile of railway wreckage when the blast triggered.

He left, he said, when he saw flames start to spew from the car. "A wall of flame shot across a cotton field," he said. "After the explosion, I saw the flames and didn't look back."

Liles' hair was singed and his coat burned.

Railroad officials indicated they planned to let the fire burn out rather than continue trying to extinguish it because of difficulty in getting anybody near.

Martin himself said that he has received letters from about 4,000 people expressing their sorrow over his ouster by rank-and-file insurgents. He said he would send a personal reply to each.

He said he had received less than a dozen letters commenting on the limousine, but more than half were critical.

One of Ayres' correspondents, Roy E. Vernon, of Akron, Ohio, enclosed a one dollar bill and suggested that Ayres pass it around to his colleagues who may have "forgotten what a dollar looks like."

Vernon asked Ayres to return the dollar because "no matter how small it is I still need it—unless you feel that Joe needs it more."

Ayres returned the dollar.

The Day in Birmingham

Village Players Will Do Comedy 'Born Yesterday'

BIRMINGHAM—For their second public performance of the season, the Village Players of Birmingham have selected the long-run Broadway comedy, "Born Yesterday."

Four performances will be given on Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 6 and 7. Curtain time is 9 p.m.

Playing the male lead of Harry Brook, wealthy junk dealer, is Granville O. Ryan. He has done writing for radio and is now active in producing television shows in Detroit. He has directed former Players hits "Anastasia" and "Come Back Little Sheba."

Tryouts for the feminine lead of Billie Dawn were won by Myra Lee MacPherson. A journalism graduate of Michigan State University, she also is a writer for radio and television and has appeared on Detroit television shows.

Members of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Zonta Club will have a dinner meeting Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the Community House.

Basing their program on their principle theme, the furtherance of aviation for women, they will have George Scott, executive officer of the Birmingham Civil Air Patrol program as their guest. He will talk on CAP activities and show films.

Meeting at the Community House at 10 a.m. Monday, the Ruth Shain International Relations class will hear two reports by Mrs. Joel Warren. She will speak on the changing scene in Germany based on an article written by George Kennan. Her second report will be on "The Delicate Balance of Terror."

It pays to study in grade school. At least that's what a 12-year-old Ohio boy thinks.

His grandfather, Earl Lowe of 915 Pilgrim St., promised he would take the boy on a jet airplane ride.

Cancer Film Slated at Madison School

"Self Examination for Breast Cancer" is the title of a film that will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Little Theater of Madison Junior High School.

The movie, which will be shown to women only or men accompanied by their wives, is being sponsored by the Perry Pharmacy, 689 South Blvd.

Dr. H. F. Kendrick, a Pontiac physician will be present to answer questions regarding the film or the disease.

The film was made by the American Cancer Society and was obtained from the North Oakland County Unit of the national organization.

Ratify Tool and Die Pact

DETROIT (P)—A new contract covering 7,500 workers in 75 Detroit area tool and die shops was ratified last night by Locals 153 and 157 of the United Auto Workers union.

The two resolutions together cost the government about $40,000. Both resolutions were approved in advance by the Republican and Democratic leadership, McCormack said, and they were passed by unanimous consent.

Ayres was a member of the insurgent group that ousted Martin and installed Halleck.

Martin himself said that he has received letters from about 4,000 people expressing their sorrow over his ouster by rank-and-file insurgents. He said he would send a personal reply to each.

He said he had received less than a dozen letters commenting on the limousine, but more than half were critical.

One of Ayres' correspondents, Roy E. Vernon, of Akron, Ohio, enclosed a one dollar bill and suggested that Ayres pass it around to his colleagues who may have "forgotten what a dollar looks like."

Vernon asked Ayres to return the dollar because "no matter how small it is I still need it—unless you feel that Joe needs it more."

Ayres returned the dollar.

Gov. Williams to Take Fund Plan to Veterans

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams will go before a veterans group tomorrow to make a new pitch for his plan to mortgage the state's 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund.

The governor cancelled his Sunday appointments yesterday when the consolidated war veterans councils of Michigan invited him to explain his plan at a meeting here. The organization is made up of veterans groups in Wayne and 17 other Lower Peninsula counties.

UAW Ends Contract

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The United Automobile Workers has announced that it is terminating its contracts covering about 15,000 workers at nine Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plants, effective at 11 a.m. Feb. 2.

He-Man Roles Come Naturally to Bromfield

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — Sure, sure, John Bromfield, the TV star, was very handsome in his new uniform for "U.S. Marshal"—but my eyes kept straying to his wife, lovely Lari Thomas.

WILSON

When she was a Broadway dancer to have the prettiest legs in town. And just a season or so back, she was known now as we got onto the subject of legs—John's, not hers, because he had sprained one while making a TV film—I noticed as she was pouring us tea and coffee that Lari's were still champions.

"I have to do film fights and chase guys and jump off horses, so my legs are important to me," said Bromfield, who is also "the Sheriff of Cochise" on TV.

"I suppose you have a double to do your fights?" I said. Lari flashed me a warning look that said, "Do you want to get your head knocked off?"

LARI and JOHN

"I get up at 4:30 in the morning, study script for an hour, shave and shower, have breakfast, shoot from 7:30 a.m. till 6:15 p.m. . . . go to bed about 9. Saturdays and Sundays I study script. It's a seven day job. And when I'm not shooting, I'm traveling. I covered 120,000 miles since March. Somebody said I was the most traveled actor in Hollywood. It's a killer."

"If it's a killer, how long do you mean to keep it up?" "Another two years. That will make six years. I figure, sure, you kill yourself, but by then you will have a pretty good income, and you can pick and choose what you want to do next."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Philip Crosby opened a string of tacos stands in L.A.; his partner is football star Harlan Sware . . . Dorothy Arnold with son Joe DiMaggio Jr., says she'll do a cafe act in Europe . . . Sir John Gielgud, who toured the country, was asked what impressed him most. He answered: "Disneyland!" . . . Maria Callas' mother is writing an explosive bio of her estranged daughter . . . Jerry Lewis' father Danny has a role in Sophia Loren's new film.

The owner of a popular cafe is shaking his head over the "praise" given his food by Hope Hampton: "My poodle just loves your sandwiches" . . . Lionel Hampton will tour Israel again, donate his pay to building a hospital.

Hollywood Headlines

Anthony Quinn Signs Up for Film in Yugoslavia

By LOUELLA O. PARSON
HOLLYWOOD — Anthony Quinn has put his name on a contract to make a picture in Yugoslavia before the end of 1959. Robert Aldrich will produce and direct has joined forces with the Avala Film Company of Yugoslavia. The plan is to film "Taras-Bulba, The Cossack," based on the novel by the Russian novelist Nikolai Gogol. The story tells of the Cossack's fight for freedom from the Czar's tyranny in the Eighteenth Century.

If it is anything like "The Tempest" which was also filmed behind the Iron Curtain, it could very well be another fine picture. "Tempest" is doing very well abroad.

"Taras-Bulba" will be filmed in technicolor and wide screen, and place aboard a transcontinental train," says Castle, "with probably a good chilling murder in each car."

You can't laugh off these horror movies—they're earning too much cold, hard cash at the boxoffice. Even producer William Castle was pleasantly surprised when his "House On Haunted Hill" broke all records at the Golden Gate Theater in San Francisco.

Bill has had absolutely NO trouble in selling Allied Artists on the idea of a follow-up which will be called "The Haunted Train" starring the same actor, Vincent Price.

"The whole action will take aboard a transcontinental train," says Castle, "with probably a good chilling murder in each car."

I asked Sol Siegel if he was frightened when he received the letter from the studio pantryman demanding $100,000, or threatening to blow up the Siegel family. "Any man who wouldn't be frightened would be out of his mind," said Sol.

"I told my wife and my son about it so they wouldn't be upset when the FBI men were watching our home."

Sol said he had letters and telegrams from all over the country. The wire that amused him the most was from Nat Perrin who said: "I tell you the agents are ruining the business. Imagine a pantryman asking for $100,000!"

Nat King Cole will make a fine goodwill ambassador to the Latin American countries when he leaves late in March on his first concert tour of South American. He has a host of fans there who buy his records.

Utica Man Killed as Train Hits Car

Father of Two Dies at Railroad Crossing on Way to Work

STERLING TOWNSHIP—A 26-year-old Utica man was killed on his way to work yesterday when his car was demolished by a train at a railroad crossing on 18½ Mile road west of Van Dyke.

John W. Fenningsdorf, of 43030 Merrill St., was thrown out of his car when a New York Central diesel locomotive rammed the stalled or skidded vehicle. He was the father of two small children.

Center Line State Police were summoned and they said Fenningsdorf was dead on arrival at Warren Memorial Hospital.

The train was damaged but was able to continue on to Bay City less than one hour after the accident. None of the passengers on the train were injured.

Fenningsdorf was on his way to work at the Warhoop Junkyard, 7375 18½ Mile Rd., which is along side the track where the accident happened.

This was the first traffic fatality in Macomb County this year.

20,000 Idle at Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp.'s idleness in its glass supply shortage from the Pittsburgh strike hit a 20,000 total today, almost a third of its work force.

Polyergus Ants Force Young to Be Servants

NEW YORK—There is a species of ant, the Polyergus, which raids the colonies of other ants and enslaves their larvae.

Older slaves raise the young and teach them to feed and care for their masters. The system has gone on for so long that the masters are now entirely dependent on the slaves for their food.

Popular Old Homes Need Careful Checking Prevue

New families are going for old homes these days, according to real estate men.

Agents find that many of their resale transactions involve young or couples with growing families and elderly folk whose children have grown up, married or for various reasons no longer live with parents.

Reasons cited for the appeal of used homes include the charm of architectural styles not being found in new houses, the presence of natural materials such as brick, ceramic tile, wood and slate, the satisfactions of "mellowed" land scaping, and the comfort of "established" neighborhoods.

To minimize chance of disappointment in buying a used home, most authorities recommend getting an architect's advice. If this is not possible, then the following points should be checked carefully:

1. Roof. Should be straight when examined from outside. Inside, inspect ceilings and attic for evidence of leaks.

2. Walls. Should be straight and plumb. Check masonry walls for cracks and basement walls for leakage. Inside plaster wall may have insignificant cracks, but patches should be flat. Walls of ceramic tile in kitchen, bathroom and other heavily used areas indicate quality construction.

3. Floors. Should be free of warpage. Check floor joists exposed at the ceiling of the basement for sagging. As in the case of walls, floors surfaced with ceramic tile eliminate need for redecorating or renovating.

4. Doors and windows. If door and window frames are not level or if doors and windows stick, it may indicate that the walls have settled unevenly.

5. Plumbing. Open all faucets.
If any pipe is corroded enough to slow passage of water, it will be shown by flow from faucet connected to the corroded pipe.

Engineers Find Ways to Combat Corrosion

Among the problems that had to be pondered and overcome by manufacturers of gas water heaters is the fact that 18,000 chemically different kinds of water are dispensed to homemakers by U.S. water works. This meant finding materials for plumbing and water-heater linings that would resist rust and corrosion induced by many types of water.

Engineers of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association found part of the answer in glass-lined gas water heaters, and the problem was further solved by using plastic dip tubes. The dip tube is the pipe that carries cold water down through the tank to a point over the burner where it is heated.
