ICE ON MOVE — Rising temperatures sent huge slabs of ice flowing into the St. Clair River from Lake Huron, crushing docks and other riverfront installations. Damage was not considered any heavier than normal for a winter breakup. Most of the ice was on the move in mid-stream despite the shore jams.

Many Home Tax Assessments in City Higher Than Last Year's

Pontiac home assessments, many of them higher than last year's, have been set for 1958 by City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom in preparation for public hearings beginning March 10 before the Tax Board of Review.

With city officials, hoping to keep the tax rate the same, on the one hand, and many taxpayers, on the other, expected to protest increased tax bills, it is anticipated that the hearings will be the hottest in recent years.

At stake is whether the 1958 budget of $3,683,500 can be supported for the fifth consecutive year at a tax rate of $13.75 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

In order to do this, City Manager Walter K. Willman has predicted the city's assessed valuation must reach about $260,000,000 this year, or about $6 million more than last year.

Ransom doubted that the needed increase would be met. Although total home assessments have gone up, he said, at the same time industrial and commercial inventories appear to have fallen.

WON'T HAZARD GUESS

The total increase on home assessments has not yet been compiled, said Ransom nor would he hazard a guess at what it would figure out to be.

Another big question, whether certain downtown Pontiac businesses should be given tax relief this year, will probably be settled by his office by the end of the week, Ransom said.

It will take longer, Ransom believed, to settle the question of industrial taxes, although they must be readied before the board of review ends its 1958 session.

Increases in home assessments were figured this year on the same basis as usual, Ransom said. They take into account building additions and improvements, but not maintenance and repairs, he said.

Public improvements such as sewage, paving and sidewalks were added into appraisals only if special assessments for them have been paid.

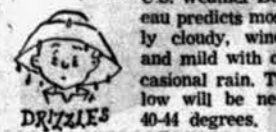

In addition, Ransom said, assessments on some older homes have been upped to bring them in line with today's market values.

Twisters Leave 12 Dead, 70 Injured in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss (AP)—Tornadoes killed 12 persons and injured an estimated 70 others last night. Devastation dotted a 140-mile-wide area in central and eastern Mississippi between Canton, 20 miles north of here, and Poplarville, 120 miles south. Five of the dead were in the hard-hit rural area between Richton and Waynesboro, near the Alabama line.

Raincoat, Umbrella to Enjoy Popularity

Raincoats and umbrellas will be in style for the next few days in the Pontiac area.

For tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts mostly cloudy, windy and mild with occasional rain. The low will be near 40-44 degrees.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy, windy, and mild with occasional rain and turning colder. The high will be around 50.

The outlook for Saturday is mostly cloudy and colder with snow flurries.

Thirty-four was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the reading was 41.

Testifies Goff Insane at Time Woman Killed

Rejection of His Love Led to Fatal Shooting, Psychiatrist Asserts

Another psychiatrist took the stand in Oakland County Circuit Court today to say Ray Goff was insane when he shot and killed Rita M. Cummings in 1955.

"At the time of the commission of the crime," testified Dr. L. Jerome Fink, "he was insane, and had been for sometime."

"Rita was the trigger mechanism for Goff's mental illness. Her loving and then not loving him caused him to become very despondent. Groundwork for this despondency had been laid many years before."

This was in agreement with another Pontiac psychiatrist who testified Wednesday that Mrs. Cummings, the "perfect woman" who might have satisfied a "mother complex" of Goff's, was probably killed because she had rejected his love.

"He considered Rita more as a mother and not as a lover," declared Dr. Clinton J. Mumby. "When Rita left him, this repeated almost exactly what he went through when his mother remarried."

"And this provided the cocking of the gun which was ready to go off any minute and finally did," Dr. Mumby told the jury in the first-degree murder trial of Goff, 34-year-old Flint factory worker.

This was one factor which drove the slender, bespectacled motorcycle racer to insanity, Dr. Mumby said.

Goff is on trial before Judge Frank L. Doty for the Aug. 21, 1955 slaying of Flint divorcee Mrs. Cummings, 27.

Ruled insane following the murder, Goff was committed to Ionita (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Labor Probers Will Hear Charges in Kohler Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charges of lax law enforcement in the face of picket line violence got an airing today in a Senate investigation of the Kohler Co. strike.

The Senate Rackets Committee's public hearings already had set off a long-range row in which Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), a committee member, and President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers called each other cowards and hypocrites.

Lenten Meditations

By ROBERT L. DIEFFENBACHER, D.D.

A single smile can project itself from face to face until its influence is multiplied in geometric progression. If two people saw the smile and each turned their happiness toward two more people who each smiled at two more downcast folk the results would be amazing.

Multiplied only 25 times there would be well over 30 million happy faces.

Instead of merely smiling we can tell the glad tidings of the love of God.

We can minister twice each day in our quiet witness for God. If we do this effectively enough that others do the same thing, we can encircle the globe with God's message in a very few days.

Even if the progression is broken we must constantly witness for the "peace which passeth understanding" to become real to a world steeped in fear and hate.

Rate Increase Over Hump Five-Cent Letter Stamps Given Senate's Blessing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, after nailing a temporary 5-cent letter stamp into a postal rate bill, pushed ahead today to consider rate increases on other classes of mail.

Splitting largely along party lines, the Senate voted 49-42 last night to retain in the bill a provision to raise the present 3-cent rate to 5 cents for nonlocal letters. The 5-cent stamp would be in effect for three years.

The vote was a substantial victory for President Eisenhower, who had asked for the 5-cent stamp.

Republicans held their ranks almost intact to keep the provision in the bill. Most Democrats backed an unsuccessful move to eliminate the section.

The matter will still have to be threshed out in conference with the House, which voted last year for a 4-cent letter rate.

The postal rate increase legislation appears to be over its big hump now in the Senate.

DSR Adds Charge

DETROIT (AP)—Transfers, now free, will cost five cents each beginning March 17 on Detroit city buses. Both the street railway commission and Mayor Louis J. Miriani have approved the charge, which will add an estimated $160,000 a month to revenues of the municipal bus system.

39 Car Dealers on 1-Day Junket Aboard Plane

Chartered Craft Rams Mountain Five Minutes From Destination

BOLTON, England (AP)—A chartered British airliner with 42 persons aboard smashed against a snow-covered mountain today only five minutes from its destination. A policeman at the scene said 34 persons perished.

An injured stewardess, the only woman aboard, and the co-pilot struggled through knee-deep snow to a television relay station on top of the mountain and gasped out the first word of the disaster.

Helicopters, snowplows and mountain rescue teams fought through a blizzard to the scene.

The twin-engine Bristol Wayfarer operated by Silver City Airways, was carrying automobile dealers from the Isle of Man in the Irish Sea on a one-day junket to Manchester, only 15 miles from here, to inspect a plant of the Exide Battery Co.

Whispering and jovial, the party of 39 businessmen boarded the plane for the 100-mile flight, waving goodbye to wives and children. There was a crew of three aboard.

Thirty-five minutes later, with visibility cut by heavy clouds and the blizzard, the plane smashed to bits against Winter Hill, near the bleak moorlands of Lancashire and only 400 yards from a lonely TV tower manned by five engineers.

Stewardess Jennifer Curtis stumbled out of the wreckage with co-pilot William Howarth.

Shocked, exhausted and injured, they staggered uphill into the TV station and gasped: "Our plane has crashed."

Pontiac to Get Community Service Center

Years of planning aimed at reduced overhead expense and increased economy of operation of local health and welfare agencies will bring a new Community Service Building to Pontiac this year.

Glenn H. Griffin, chairman of the United Fund Building Committee, today announced that Paul A. Kern, Inc., has contracted to construct, finance and maintain a modern two-story office building which will house 10 of the local Community Chest agencies, as well as the United Fund offices.

A lease-purchase agreement has been entered into with the Kern company whereby Pontiac Community Chest will own the building in 13 years.

Griffin explained that the Community Chest has appropriated $37,500 which it set aside during World War II for the express purpose of financing such a building, and the balance of the purchase price will be paid in monthly installments.

It is believed the installments will be less than the amount that would otherwise be paid in rent to house these agencies.

In addition to the savings in rent, other economies are expected in utilities and secretarial and bookkeeping expense, because of the centralization of offices.

Since 1951 United Fund and Community Chest officials have been working on the problem of

For June Theater Trip Reserve Top Shows

Pontiac's New York visitors are scheduled to see the five finest shows in Gotham when they swoop down on the big city June 23-28.

- Here they are:
- The Music Man
 - West Side Story
 - Oh, Captain!
 - Two For the Seesaw
 - Fair Game

The first three are musicals and the other two are dramas. The five rank at the very top of the list.

Arrangements have been made at the Manhattan Hotel for the 1958 trip. This well known institution has just been redecorated and partly redone and all local visitors are assured of fine, clean, modern rooms. In fact, they're all air conditioned.

Other activities will be added now that the list of theaters has been definitely arranged.

Pontiac to Swap Mayor With Tiny Town of Bellaire

Pontiac and Bellaire, the little county seat of Antrim County on Grand Traverse Bay, are scheduled to exchange mayors May 5 during the Fifth Annual Michigan Week.

Michigan Week headquarters in Lansing set the date and place of the exchange. But who will be representing Pontiac as mayor is a question that won't be settled until a week after the city's general election April 21.

Pontiac's present mayor, William W. Donahood, said he would be glad to visit Bellaire on exchange day, if he is re-elected as District 2 Commissioner April 21 and as mayor at the new Commission's organizational meeting April 28.

Bellaire has a population of about 700. It lies on Lake Bellaire, about 25 miles northeast across the bay from Traverse City.

Nats' Roy Sievers Getting $36,000

ORLANDO, Fla. (U)—Roy Sievers, the 1937 American League home run leader, today accepted the highest salary offer ever made by the Washington Senators — a reported $36,000.

Sievers came to terms in a telephone call from his St. Louis home to club president Calvin Griffith.

The right-handed outfielder had sent back without his signature four previous contracts calling for an estimated $30,000.

Sievers reportedly got $19,000 last season, when he hit 42 homers and batted in 114 runs to pace the league in both categories.

Tornadoes in Mississippi

Snow, Rain to Lash East

CHICAGO (INS) — Rain and snow were forecast for the eastern two thirds of the nation today, driven by an intense storm that triggered tornadoes in Mississippi. The unrelenting storm, moving across the Great Plains, drove away traces of spring-like weather and set off a chain reaction of stormy weather.

It was blamed for tornadoes that brought widespread death and destruction to Mississippi where many were killed and injured.

Eastern Oklahoma was hit by two twisters which caused some property damage but no injuries.

The newest winter outburst brought heavy snow to the Northern Plains and dust storms to the Western Plains, including an 80 mile an hour wind that whipped up a haze of dust over a large part of Texas.

In the southern part of the Lone Star State, the Guadalupe River flooded south of Victoria, Tex., forcing 500 persons from their homes.

Minot, N. D., was hit by a three-inch snowfall in a six-hour period. Strong northerly winds with gusts of 30 to 40 miles an hour brought swirling dust and colder air southward across the Western Plains dropping temperatures more than 30 degrees in Montana and North Dakota. Minot reported eight above zero while 24 hours ago it was 46.

Locally heavy showers and thundershowers, forecast for the Ohio Valley, are expected to extend to the South and Middle Atlantic states. Fleet or snow changing to rain is in store for the North Atlantic region.

Drizzle or rain hit the southern Great Lakes while a mixture of snow and rain fell in parts of Pennsylvania and western New York State. Eastern Virginia, meanwhile, listed heavy rain.

It was clear and dry in the far Northwest some light rain or drizzle was reported along coastal areas.

the new building is an outgrowth of these plans.

The detailed plans and specifications for the new building, to be located on Franklin boulevard with access to Orchard Lake avenue, have been approved by Griffin's committee, the other members of which are Abe Lapedis, Harold J. Muldowney, James Corwin and Robert R. Eldred.

The plan has been endorsed by the United Fund Executive Committee, made up of William B. Hartman, Fred V. Haggard, Alfred C. Girard, Milo J. Cross, Harold A. Fitzgerald and Leonard T. Lewis.

The actual execution of the agreement with the Kern company was authorized by the Community Chest Board of Directors, made up of Glenn H. Griffin, president; Mrs. Charles Carey, Robert H. Glenn, Robert S. Nelson, Harold J. Muldowney and Mrs. Gelston V. Poole.

Paul A. Kern Jr. stated that construction will start in the very near future and that his company hopes to have the building ready for occupancy by July 15.

To be housed in the cement block building will be Family Service, Michigan Children's Aid, The Volunteer Bureau and Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council on the first floor.

On the second floor will be the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Urban League, Big Brothers, Oakland County YMCA, Visiting Nurse Assn. and the United Fund offices.

Three Persons Hurt in 3-Car Accident

Three persons suffered minor injuries last night in a three-car accident on Auburn road, near John R. Avon township.

The accident, at 11:30 p.m., occurred when a car driven by Henry Stewart, 50, of 2500 Gerald St., Avon Township, hit a car standing behind a third stalled car, police said.

Injured were Harry Posner, 17, of Ulica, a passenger in the stalled car driven by James Jenercaux, 21, of Ulica. Posner was standing outside the stalled vehicle when the car behind hit him after being struck in the rear.

Also injured were Marilyn Stewart, 36, and the driver of the second car, Vernon Eisenhardt, 29, of 375 Shortridge Rd., Avon.

Posner and Mrs. Stewart were treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mt. Clemens, and Eisenhardt was treated at Avon Center Hospital. All suffered cuts and bruises.

Hagerty in Hospital

WASHINGTON (INS)—White House News Secretary James C. Hagerty entered Walter Reed Hospital yesterday for a checkup on a stomach condition he has had for some years. When asked whether surgery might be in prospect, he rapped on wood and said he hoped not.

Says Woman Died for Rejecting Love

State Hospital for the Criminally Insane. He was released last December after being restored to sanity.

The first-degree murder charge awaited him upon his discharge.

Medical superintendent of the hospital, Dr. John G. Haarer, 39, said Goff was suffering from organic brain damage with psychosis at the time he was committed.

"But if he maintains his present state he is not a menace to society," Dr. Haarer told the jury.

Defense attorneys L. Rex Bout and Edward A. Polere called Dr. Mumby, one of four psychiatrists who judged Goff's insanity in 1955, to show that their client was insane when he shot his estranged girl friend, in addition to his proven insanity at the time of the sanity hearing.

Dr. Haarer, the last of 18 prosecution witnesses, said he could only make a determination as to Goff's sanity at the time of his interview at the hospital.

"I think he had been getting insane for sometime," Dr. Mumby said. "I don't think he could distinguish between Rita and himself."

Mrs. Cummings, a mother of three, was shot with a .38-caliber pistol in her car off M57 in Holly. She and a companion, Dean G. Worgess, 28, had been followed there by Goff.

Worgess testified yesterday that

The three of them sat in the car for 30 minutes trying to talk Goff out of shooting Mrs. Cummings. Goff had been married twice and had fathered four children.

"He had a mother complex and was trying to find the perfect woman to fill the image of a mother," Dr. Mumby said in his testimony.

Dr. Mumby denied a prosecution charge that Goff was feigning amnesia to escape punishment of the crime.

Mrs. Weeks Dies at 73

DETROIT (INS)—Funeral service will be held Friday for Mrs. Helen Barbara Weeks, 73, daughter of Michigan's first Lutheran lay missionary. She died Tuesday at the home of a sister, Miss Frieda Himmier, here. Mrs. Weeks was a native of Bay City, where her father was a noted organist.

Home sewing has increased by about 130 per cent in the past five years.

vehicle could get within a mile of the wreckage.

Bulldozers and snowplows groaned through four-foot drifts, opening the way for ambulances, when the call for help went out from the TV station. Rescuers, lugging stretchers, blankets and medicines, struggled on foot the last distance.

Three helicopters took off from a nearby Royal Air Force base with doctors and nurses. Men at a quarry some distance away helped carry survivors to the ambulances.

LANCASTER, Ohio (INS)—A six-jet RB47 reconnaissance bomber, beginning its descent for a landing at Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus, Ohio, suddenly plunged to earth and exploded six miles south of here yesterday. All four crew members were killed. None of the four was from Michigan.

Dearborn Inn to Expand

DEARBORN (INS)—Dearborn Inn is planning an expansion that will include a 100-room motor lodge. General Manager Richard D. McLain has announced. A new dining room and expanded coffee shop are slated to begin in a few months. The proposed motor lodge will cost about $1,200,000.

Georgia Tech Frat Forbidden to Hold Parties

ATLANTA (AP)—A curb on house parties and social functions has been imposed on Georgia Tech's Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity in the wake of a snowbound weekend in the Georgia mountains.

Dean John J. Pershing last night ordered the fraternity to have no more house parties until the spring quarter of 1959 and no social functions until after May 1, this year.

The dean acted on recommendations by Tech's Inter-Fraternity Council Board after a trial Monday night on charges of improper chaperonage and starting the party before the approved time.

More than 100 fraternity men and their dates were snowbound Feb. 14-17 at Lake Winfield Scott during one of Georgia's worst snow storms in years.

Five University of Georgia coeds were dismissed for the remainder of the term for attending the house party.

Vanguard Grounded by Rain and Wind

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Heavy rains and an unfavorable wind forecast blocked the Vanguard rocket launching program today, at least until next week. They thus crowded one U.S. space program against another, into two possible satellite launching attempts in the first week of March.

The Army is waiting to launch a second Explorer satellite, atop a Jupiter-C four-stage rocket, as soon as the Navy puts up its three-stage Vanguard with a 6.4-inch satellite sphere in its nose. Repeated rainfall has flooded parts of the low, flat missile test area and forced workers to keep the 72-foot Vanguard rocket "buttoned up" under protecting cover to hold moisture away from the test vehicle's many delicate instruments, fittings and connections.

This has so delayed the preparation of the rocket for firing that informed sources said a Vanguard launching this week was out of question.

Didn't Quite Pass Her Driver's Test

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A housewife, attempting to pass a driver's license test, was told to try again. The reason: A state driver examiner, who accompanied the woman during the test, said her auto sideswiped a parked car and then collided with another auto head-on.

Youth Has Final Word for Teacher, Takes Own Life

MISSION, Kan. (AP)—The question was propounded in an English class at Shawnee-Mission High School yesterday and it had to do with the literary merits of "Walden Pond," a book by E. B. White.

asked Loren E. Simpson, the teacher.

"Water," said Larry P. Yeakle, 17-year-old junior, a quiet, strapping big boy—6 feet 2, 190 pounds. The class laughed.

Larry was found shot to death last night in his bedroom, Dr. R. D. Grayson, county coroner, said it was a self-inflicted wound. There was a note, Larry instructed his father, Donald N. Yeakle, a tire salesman, on disposition of his car and payment of his bills.

It added: "I see no possible future for me. Most of my trouble, as you know, has been school. They want me to write a term paper in English, do a project in business, etc.

15 Per Cent Childless

CHICAGO—About 15 per cent of American marriages are childless, but only one childless couple in 10 seeks medical advice about this, according to a University of Chicago report. It says the causes of infertility are about equally divided between husbands and wives.

MSU Oakland Answers Athletic Question

Sports conscious Oakland County citizens will be interested in the athletic policy between Michigan State University and its new Oakland branch. According to the current schedule the school will be open in the fall of 1959.

The question has come up as to what might happen should an outstanding athlete show up at the new institution. Could he transfer without penalty of time and eligibility to East Lansing? For all MSU fans that's a good question and genial FRED W. STABLEY, Director of Sports at Michigan State University, provides us with the answer.

Mr. Stabley points out that there is a rule on the Big Ten book which covers the situation. The rule states that if the branch institution has no organized inter-collegiate athletic program of its own, any student athlete can transfer to the present institution and become immediately eligible for athletic competition.

In the event the branch in question has its own organized inter-collegiate program, a student athlete transferring to the parent institution would have to wait out a year before becoming eligible.

The main point is whether the branch has its own inter-collegiate athletic program. In other words, if Michigan State University Oakland comes up with a red hot football prospect before establishing its own inter-collegiate program, he can transfer to the Lansing school and be immediately eligible.

With the growing number of branch institutions connected with Big Ten schools, the whole problem probably will be resurveyed in future Big Ten council meetings.

U.S. Military Divided on Branch Integration

Within the past few days, one of our editors listened to discussions of an integrated military service by officers in uniform. They were discussing complete unification of the Air Force, Army and Navy.

A General and a Colonel seem tacitly agreed that integration would be a constructive step. They felt it would eliminate duplication which sometimes becomes very costly. They felt it would check rivalry between the various branches and promote better team play and harmony.

On the other hand, a group of Lieutenants and Captains entertained the opposite viewpoint. They felt competition was a healthy thing. They believed it spurred all divisions into greater efforts. Probably these divergent thoughts are the result of the age groups involved.

The General and the Colonel saw financial savings to the country, better coordination in an integrated service, and a less competitive attitude within our own walls.

The younger group envisioned great achievements through the existence — and even promotion — of competition. They welcomed it as an incentive.

The two older men felt a co-ordinated effort of the same total talent would accomplish more with less waste and duplication. The real competition always lies between this country and our foes. This happens to be Russia right now. Beating the Reds is a much more ambitious program than beating a fellow branch of service.

The Press strings along with the older men. We feel the taxpayers would definitely find a saving in costs if the total talent could be distributed along lines that were not directly duplications. One united team working towards a specific objective could accomplish more than the same manpower divided into three groups, all working independently.

There is sufficient competition and incentive for all-out efforts today. The U.S. Army doesn't have to lick the U.S. Air Force necessarily; nor does the U.S. Air Force gain by beating the U.S. Navy. And the U.S. Navy's no better off if it triumphs over the U.S. Army.

We're all after Russia.
That's our opponent.

The Man About Town

His Idea of Prayer Terse Statement in Regard to What It Means in Life

Nurse: Often an angel with sore feet.

Nothing quite gets under my tough skin to a greater degree than a message recently submitted to the Boy Scouts of America, through their National Council, membership in which is one of my most cherished possessions.

It says: "Personal prayer, it seems to me, is one of the simple necessities of life. It is as basic to the individual as sunshine, food and water. A thousand experiences have convinced me beyond room for any vestige of doubt that prayer multiplies the strength of the individual, and brings within the scope of his capabilities almost any conceivable objective."

The author of the above message was a man named

Dwight D. Eisenhower whom I find to be the ideal of any scout that I know.

A school in the Pontiac area (name not given for obvious reasons) has quietly installed a vandalism alarm that sounds a bell at police headquarters. All work on the system was done on a weekend, without the knowledge of anybody except the school board and top teachers. It may be your school.

"We've come a long way in 50 years," writes my good friend,

Blair Negler of Bloomfield Hills, who sends me a clipping from a paper on Nov. 20, 1907, which states that the New York City Board of Education had ordered that no hymn or Christmas carol be sung or mention of Christ or Christmas be made in the public schools, "on the ground of eliminating sectarian references."

When budgeting for next summer's vacation now is in order in many homes, a letter from Mrs. Perry Francisco of Walled Lake, points out a joyous note that most people overlook. You should charge off many of your usual home living expenses for that period as you've duplicated them in the vacation budget.

On a statewide basis, milk is the greatest income producer to Michigan farmers, and in recent years it has become such in Oakland County.

The word isn't in my dictionary, but I wish we all had one. It's a Suativil, which the office expert tells me is a new gadget that prevents anxiety impulses from reaching the brain.

All in One Big Basket

David Lawrence Says:

Foreign Aid Needed at Home First

WASHINGTON — Everybody knows there's trouble ahead in Congress for the foreign aid program—and likewise for the extension of the reciprocal trade agreements.

So a high-powered sales job was undertaken here this week by a group of conscientious persons in both political parties who think these projects are vital to world peace.

But, as with a lot of meritorious ideas, the proponents talk mostly to themselves. They do not perceive the considerations of practical politics that present the real obstacles.

It's not "popular," for instance, to be arguing in Washington for the expenditures of large sums for aid abroad when there is unemployment and recession going on among the people back home, the promotion of whose well being is the primary obligation of the members of Congress.

It's not "popular" to talk about extending reciprocal trade agreements and lowering tariff barriers when so many constituencies throughout the country would be adversely affected if foreign goods—manufactured at lower wage costs than prevail here—were permitted to enter the United States in great quantities.

Many senators and representatives in both parties face a condition, not just a theory, in these matters. It's true that prominent Democrats like Messrs. Truman, Stevenson and Acheson are joining with President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and Secretary Dulles in espousing the two programs, and there are, moreover, very good arguments for these proposals.

But vote-getting is something else again, and the congressional elections are just a few months away.

Who is to take care of the unemployed in these industries? What about the loss of investments in the businesses that would be injured by the breakdown of tariff walls?

It's easy enough to offer high-sounding arguments about the importance of building up foreign economies, and how the rest of the world must be able to sell their goods in our markets if we are to produce a prosperous economy for everybody.

But the voters who see their textile plants hurt by a tariff are up against a concrete fact—namely, the possible loss of their jobs.

The question of tariff walls has been before the American people for many decades. A gradual reduction has been made over the years, but lately the opponents have argued not so much against changes in tariff rates—for even the present duties are not high enough to protect some industries—but in favor of some kind of quotas actually to restrict or limit imports from certain countries.

The Europeans use the quota system. Even American magazines started since 1945 are kept off the newsstands of Great Britain because the government there wishes to limit the competition with British periodicals.

The Canadian government, moreover, put a high tax on certain types of American publications to discourage their doing business in Canada.

The effort by a well-organized group in Washington this week to create a favorable public opinion for foreign aid and for the reciprocal trade agreements is perhaps the most spectacular in a long time. But it doesn't answer the question of what happens to the congressman or senator who has a lot of unemployed back home and still votes for aid to foreign countries.

It doesn't help the members of Congress, either, who must fight against the importation of cheaper-made products that compete with industries in certain districts or states.

The problems are complex, but not insoluble. It will cost money really to protect industries that may be affected by tariffs. They are, to be sure, as important as any casualties in the economic world ever assisted by government before.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Kind Lady Tells Results of 3 Years of Brady Way

"Dear Dr. Brady: I promised I would send you a report three years after I started supplementing my diet with daily rations of calcium and vitamin D and iodine. Here's my story.

"My poor stiff knees and wrists had been getting progressively stiffer for years. My rose beds were neglected as well as the golf course, for I could no longer enjoy myself in or on either.

"So to the doctor I lied myself. After lengthy examination and X-rays the doctor said I had to take shots — cortisone and sundry — for an indefinite period."

"I was crushed. Then a friend told me to write for your booklet on Rheumatism."

"(This is a sneaky way for me to pass among you peddling my booklet, but — well you may send me 35 cents and stamped envelope bearing your address Joint Disability — which I call if you want the booklet: Chronic rheumatism.)

The lady continues: "I followed the instructions to the letter. Results:

"Iodin — hair no less gray, but so what? I'm not 16 any more, but I feel wonderful.

"Calcium and D — the knees and wrists are as painless as a baby's. I gallop over the golf course as agilely as a mountain goat. My rose beds have never looked better.

"It is wonderful to do my day's toil without groaning and pulling with my arms to get up from a stooping position. I shall continue my calcium and D ration for the rest of my life.

"Cod Liver Oil — Don't know. Nails not so brittle, hair seems softer, skin smoother, but that may be due to the calcium, vitamin D and Iodin and the quart of milk daily which you say everyone should consume.

"This is my report and I'm so grateful to you. May the Dunhill add just a little pleasure to your game on the bowling green. (Signed) Mrs. —"

Please note that this nice kind lady just reports how she is getting along, as she promised, and doesn't ask for anything.

Please understand that if she does continue taking her daily ration of calcium, vitamin D and Iodin for the rest of her life it can do her no harm.

The lady doesn't say whether she would toss it out the window

if Mrs. Sunsey or Ben Told should get wind of it and inform her that the fourth assistant head doctor at the best advertised "clinic" cautions about the danger of getting calcium deposits in her joints, kidneys, arteries etc.; but reading between the lines, I imagine she wouldn't let that stop her.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Language Is Basis for Civilization

Martha's compliment suggests one of the great virtues of the modern newspaper. Think how dull and sterile primitive man's conversation must have been when his vocabulary was limited to Owo, Ugh, Wow and a dozen other grunts. And how could he make love with no vocabulary? You teenagers should have far more respect and admiration henceforth for your English courses!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case X-340: Martha G., aged 42, is superintendent of a Sunday School.

"Dr. Crane," she began as I concluded my address before a convention of religious education leaders, "you say just what I have long been thinking but haven't been able to put into words."

Well, that is a common remark which you readers also repeat in your letters to me. For psychology is basically just common sense or gumption, pertaining to all the many facets of human relations.

And it is the duty of scientists to record in words the correct observations which factory workers and farmers, teachers and parents may often have felt."

Your newspaper is thus a great educational aid by articulating the thinking of people all over the world.

Civilization correlates very highly with the development of language. When people had few words, they also had few mechanical tools.

'Such Driving Antics Are Results of Poor Training

The other day I was crossing at a light and a young lady, with her cute driving antics, didn't kill me, but she nearly scared me to death. Such people should be ashamed of the sadistic type of humor that will allow them to laugh as she did. She would probably have died laughing if she had killed me.

That young lady and others like her are an open example of complete disregard for anyone's life, including their own.

Influential orators who are so bent on training minds to have no regard for anything or anyone are sure getting results in all groups.

Reader Defends Picture in Press

I get a laugh out of the letter signed "The Ageless" which protests against the picture of a fine, healthy looking young American girl on page one. The letter kicked on the "lack of clothes."

Zounds! What next! Can't you wear a bathing suit in 1958? What's the matter with Ageless? We've had bathing suits for years. Does Ageless want to abolish swimming and sun bathing?

This girl was out there in the sun for her health. Would anyone have her wear tights and an automobile robe? It was a swell picture and a clever idea. Millions and millions of girls, women, men, boys and babies will wear bathing suits in the months ahead. They'll be photographed by more millions.

And say, may I give three great big cheers for that girl, Donna Robinson? I think she's a peach.

Just Plain Age

Rewritten Psalm Disturbs Reader

I was disturbed recently when I read an article about communism flourishing in this country and how they even are at work in churches, dividing congregations over mail-order gossip they invent. Today my husband brought home his union paper and there in print was the 23rd Psalm, rewritten to slander the President of the United States.

At first I couldn't believe it, that this could happen in America. I wonder if the author would trade places with people in Hungary? Is he cold and starving as they are in many lands? We have had two wars and finally peace. No doubt he would trade the peace for the prosperity of war times.

We have a President who is not ashamed to pray for guidance. I only hope I never live to see the candidate picked by the author of the rewritten 23rd Psalm in office in this country.

RENT AS INCOME. If you are not engaged in selling real estate to customers, but receive rent from property owned or controlled by you, the total amount received is included in gross income. You are entitled to various deductions such as depreciation, taxes, interest, repairs or maintenance. Insurance is also deductible, but only the portion of the premium that applies to the current year.

If only part of the property is rented out, only the expenses pertaining to the rented part are deductible. For example, if you rent out half of your home, and you live in the other half, only half of the depreciation and other expenses can be deducted against the rental income. Minor repairs are deductible, but the cost of major improvements, such as a new roof or remodeling, are not—they are recovered through depreciation. Howls of Rage First Greeted Eiffel Tower

PARIS — When, in 1887, the lean steel outlines of the Eiffel Tower began to rise upward from the face of Paris, the local citizens reacted with howls of rage and shouts of criticism.

Three-hundred Parisians, the cream of French arts and letters, including Composer Charles Gounod and Novelist Alexandre Dumas the Younger signed a petition "against the erection in the heart of our capital of this monstrous and useless Eiffel Tower."

Author Guy de Maupassant went into self-imposed exile — urging Parisians to "smash this tall, lanky pyramid, this assemblage of iron ladders." Poet Paul Verlaine wailed: "I have never seen such a horror!" Scores of crackpots, less artistic, attacked the Tower as a vantage for spies, a magnet for lightning, a threat to migrating birds.

A similar tower had been planned for the Philadelphia Exposition in 1876, but nothing came of that. However, a French architect named Sebillot heard about the structure, and proposed to erect one like it in Paris to serve as the socket for a huge electric light bulb to illuminate the city.

Although Sebillot's lighthouse kindled no spark, the idea finally caught the eye of the committee organizing the Paris World's Fair of 1889. A competition was opened for designing the tower, and the contract was awarded to a 54-year-old engineer—Gustave Eiffel.

NO CONFIDENCE
Eiffel had built bridges in China, Russia and Bolivia, and designed both the frame for the Statue of Liberty and the complex locks for the canal which de Lesseps had tried to dig in Panama. Yet his brilliant record inspired no confidence in the public.

While the critics ranted, the Tower rose to its full 984 feet. Eiffel, who had defended his Tower during the verbal onslaught, now crowed: "France will be the only nation in the world whose flag will have a 300-meter staff."

Eiffel himself hoisted the Tricolor to that staff on March 31, 1889. On the same day, Sadi-Carnot, son of the President of the Republic, gave Eiffel the Legion of Honor and predicted that the Tower would be "for our epoch what the Great Pyramid was for the ancient world."

The French press greeted the completion of this first skyscraper with a fanfare of facts. It was recorded that the Tower contained 2,500,000 rivets, and 15,000 girders. The weight was calculated at 7,700 tons or approximately that of a column of air with the same base and altitude.

TALLER IN SUMMER
The Tower sways 4.7 inches in the strongest gale, statistics now prove. The view from the top extends for 60 miles in clear weather. The Tower is six inches taller in summer than in winter, as the steel expands in the heat.

Though cynics were not impressed by facts and esthetic circles still sneered at this "loathsome steel construction," the Tower became the big hit of the Paris World's Fair. Within two years sightseers had more than repaid the fortune which the Tower cost Eiffel and his backers. As the money rolled in, Eiffel's folly became a tourist bonanza; the "loathsome" Tower became a gold mine in the sky.

Eiffel constructed himself an apartment above the top public platform where he studied aerodynamics and entertained roving celebrities. Thomas Edison, an admirer of the great engineer, climbed up to present him with a gramophone. Actress Sarah Bernhardt came to call. So did Edward VII, then the Prince of Wales, and dozens of other crowned heads.

Gowned who signed the petition against the Tower gave the first concert in Eiffel's regal eagle's nest. Eiffel himself ascribed his longevity (he died at 91) to the fine air he breathed atop his Tower.

Nonetheless, as the century wore on, the novelty wore out. Admissions began to fall off. Once condemned as an ugly duckling, the colossal was now called useless. There was talk of canceling Eiffel's lease, and dismantling the Tower.

Eiffel, a good businessman as well as a good engineer, refuted the "useless" charge by putting the Tower at the disposal of scientists experimenting with wireless telegraphy for military purposes. In 1914, the Tower station intercepted a German order for attack on Paris which was blocked by the famous Taxisab Army of the Marne.

More Good Institutions Seen Reducing Cost of Hospital Care

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lack of high quality institutions to provide care for older persons is driving up the cost of general hospital care, Surgeon Gen. Leroy E. Burney said today.

The head of the Public Health Service said that lack keeps tens of thousands of older patients in general hospitals far beyond the time when they need or can even benefit from "full-dress" hospital service.

Burney, in an address prepared for a national conference on nursing homes and homes for the aged, said: "Facilities and services that permit better care are at the center of the larger problems surrounding the older person in our society."

There is still a public resistance, he said, to acceptance of nursing homes and homes for the aged. "Deeply rooted in the community consciousness is the age-old dread of institutions," Burney said adding: "The nursing home and home for the aged still rouse in the public mind the same dread as nearly a century ago. They are still regarded as the point of no return."

"Yet the same great advances in medicine, psychiatry, sociology architecture, construction, equipment, and personal services which have revolutionized the community general hospital are applicable to the nursing home and home for the aged—as many existing institutions have demonstrated."

"It is the main task of this conference to find ways that will make all nursing homes and homes for the aged a place for all classes to go—and live."

Horse-Drawn Cabs for Rent in Dublin

DUBLIN, Eire—Radio-equipped hansom cabs — horse-drawn cabs, that is, are being made available in Dublin, Eire, through a rent-a-car service.

The company is not buying cabs of its own for the service but is arranging with existing hansom cabbies to provide it. Just because the cabs are radio-controlled does not mean that you can ring up and have one at your doorstep in a minute or two, it is pointed out—horses being what they are.

The company expects that the main demand for the cabs, apart from tourists, will come from people wanting to go to dances and other functions in an old-fashioned, romantic way.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: How many days did it take to build Rome?

ANSWER: You probably have often heard the expression that Rome wasn't built in a day. People use it to emphasize that a tough job can't be done in a hurry.

If you ever watched a big building going up, you know that it could not be built in a day, even with our modern methods. So you can imagine how long it must have taken to construct even a few buildings back about 750 B.C., when Rome was first founded. There were more than 237,000 days from then until the time when ancient Rome fell, about 1500 years ago. The early Romans had a talent for building strong structures. Today there are many centuries-old buildings still in use. One of the most famous structures still standing is the Colosseum, the 80,000-seat arena where gladiators battled and Christians were thrown to the lions for the amusement of the spectators. Construction of the Colosseum began in 75 A.D. and was finished five years later.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is a Roman official showing a stone cutter how he wants an inscription cut for an arch. Cut out the picture, paste it on cardboard and color it.

Scientific Whiz-Kids Vie in Annual Talent Search

WASHINGTON (U)—Interested in an automatic door-opener powered by a washing machine motor—or a household intercom system "to save mother's steps"? Get in touch with some of the teen-aged scientific whiz-kids who showed up today as finalists in the annual Westinghouse science talent search.

They're full of ideas on such complex subjects as "the dimensions of right triangles with integral sides" and "the nutritional value of algae." But you'll also find quite a number who have already used their scientific know-how in developing some pretty useful, down-to-earth gadgets.

Among their projects or ideas are:

A cleaner for mimeograph ink stains... gas-powered scooters... solar-heated greenhouses... an atom smasher machine that can be built for $150... a technique for computing orbits of Sputniks... a burglar alarm that would detect the presence of a person by the heat given off from his body...

Selected in a nationwide competition that originally involved more than 25,000 high school seniors, the 32 boys and eight girls are competing for $34,250 in scholarships and awards. The first-place winner will walk off with a $7,500 scholarship. Four other top awards range from $6,000 to $3,000, and all others will get $250 each. A rigorous, three-hour "science aptitude examination" was one of the hurdles in the original competition. Also, each contestant had to submit an original 1,000-word report on "my scientific project"—projects which range from fuel-flow studies in rocket design to a report on "a generalized theory of the origin of cancer."

Interviews with the board of judges during the next five days will determine the top winners. Meanwhile, the youngsters will cruise around town, visiting scientific laboratories and listening to talks by some top adult scientists.

California Democrat Seeks Senate Seat

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.), arriving from Washington to campaign for U.S. senator, said last night he found "understandable confusion over floods and dams."

"Northern California is flooded with water and the whole state has been inundated by the oratory of the Republican senatorial candidates."

"Christopher damns Knight, Knight damns me, but neither one knows how to dam the floods," Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco and Gov. Goodwin Knight seek the Republican nomination to the Senate.

Engle is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Moon Station May Bring New Concepts

WASHINGTON—Why go to the moon?

Viewed through a powerful telescope, the face that has inspired poets and lovers becomes a ravaged, pockmarked visage. The moon seems an uninviting world, dead of all life, devoid of value.

"However, a manned station on the lunar surface would have definite potentialities," writes Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of the Harvard College Observatory, in the February National Geographic Magazine.

The distinguished scientist says a moon station could relay world-wide television programs, services, and forecast the earth's weather to an extent now impossible.

Research by station personnel, he says, "would yield a vast amount of knowledge, and from it would emerge new concepts and new challenges."

"Astronomers, for example, might use the moon as an observation platform in space," Dr. Menzel writes. "Free from atmospheric interference, they could get a clearer look into the depths of the universe than ever before. Stars would yield secrets regarding their composition, and the atmospheres of neighboring planets, such as Mars and Venus, could be better analyzed."

Not only would the sun come under closer scrutiny; by studying the lunar surface, scientists might deduce new facts concerning the origin of the solar system and the universe itself.

Dr. Menzel envisions the moon as a launching platform for robot missiles. Eventually it might become a way station for space travelers.

Though much is known about the moon, there is controversy in the interpretation of its features, Dr. Menzel notes.

As dazzling as the moon seems from its reflected sunlight, its surface is dull gray with a yellowish cast. It is several times rougher than the earth. Jagged mountain chains and isolated peaks—at least one higher than Mt. Everest—tower over the dust-covered lowlands.

The darkly shadowed markings—so familiar to the naked eye—are relatively smooth plains. In Dr. Menzel's opinion, these "seas" are ancient lava flows caused by the explosive impact of such bodies as minor planets. They were plentiful in space during the solar system's youth.

Conspicuous is the moon's disarray of craters. Some are 150 miles across and four miles deep. Astronomers have counted more than 30,000 on the face of the moon always turned toward earth. Some years ago the craters were believed to be volcanic. Now, Dr. Menzel says, most scientists agree the pits were blasted out by falling meteorites.

The moon, unprotected by a dense atmosphere, endures almost constant bombardment from cosmic missile.

Rays emanating from many of the craters offer an important clue to their origin and evolution. In some cases the lines extend almost a thousand miles. Dr. Menzel says the rays probably consist of finely powdered rock splashed ra-dially when meteorites hit the moon.

Countering the idea that the moon split off from the earth, Dr. Menzel says, "A more tenable theory holds that the moon, as well as earth and other bodies in the solar system, may have formed through the gradual accretion of a mass of dust and gas in space."

Nigeria annually exports 100,000 tons of chocolate beans. This British colony on Africa's west coast accounts for about 15 per cent of world production.

Brazil is the only South American country to produce and export raw silk on a commercial basis. A pound of coal has as much power as a ton of water falling one mile.

Pearson Raises U.S. Oil Issue

Restrictions on Imports From Canada Attacked by Liberal Leader

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Liberal Leader Lester Pearson last night injected the issue of U.S. restrictions on oil imports into Canada's parliamentary campaign.

In a speech in Canada's oil and gas country, Pearson said that if he wins control of Parliament in the March 31 voting and oil shipments to the United States are still restricted, he will take steps to create a market for western Canada's oil in Montreal.

Most of eastern Canada's oil is imported from Venezuela and the Middle East, and there is some doubt whether western Canadian oil can be marketed at Montreal at competitive prices.

Pearson said that the United States cannot seek Canada's co-operation in defense matters while restricting imports of Canadian oil. The United States recently cut oil imports 15 per cent to make sure its own oil industry remains active in case of war.

Pearson charged that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative government had negotiated a joint air defense agreement with the United States "in a slap-happy, casual way" which put the Canadian air force under the command of an American general.

At Moncton, N.B., Conservative Foreign Minister Sidney Smith said a Conservative government would see to it that Canada retains full control of her political and economic future under the air defense agreement.

"We are not going to allow ourselves to be shoved around by any American general," Smith told a news conference.

Pontiac Student Gains National Merit as Scholar

A Pontiac Central High School senior has been awarded a certificate of merit because of his outstanding performance in the 1957-58 National Merit Scholarship Program, according to Francis W. Staley, principal.

Allan J. Higgins, 17, of 29 Douglas St., received the certificate for high scores on two college aptitude tests. Less than one half of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the nationally recognized academic honor.

Higgins is among the 7,300 finalists in the current National Merit Scholarship competition which began in October testing 250,000 of the nation's most able high school seniors.

Over 1,000 of these will be awarded five million dollars worth of scholarships after the final judging now being conducted. The winners will be announced in May.

Each scholarship is a four-year award to any accredited college in the United States chosen by the winner.

American Dog Sentry Receives False Teeth

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Buddy, German Shepherd sentry at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, is expected to tear a man apart if the proper occasion arises.

So, when Buddy's teeth began troubling him, he was taken to a dentist.

Buddy now has two gold crowns on his choppers, and base officials estimate he's good for another five years of service.

Costs Hit Medical Schools, Threaten Nation's Health

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—A financial crisis in U. S. medical schools threatens the future health of the nation.

The country's 85 medical schools, hard pressed to meet present needs, face the impossible task of providing enough physicians to care for a predicted 56 million population increase by 1975.

Rapidly rising costs combined with an acute lack of funds already are forcing many of the schools to operate in the red. And no relief from the severe dollar shortage is in sight.

The situation has become so critical that it has aroused the concern of the highest ranking government officials.

DOCTORS ESSENTIAL

President Eisenhower declares: "These 56 million additional Americans will need a great many more essential to them than the doctors who care for their health."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Marion B. Folsom explains:

"Medical schools simply do not have in hand or in sight the funds to provide the required buildings, equipment or teachers. And yet, unless these needs are met, there simply will not be enough doctors to provide adequate medical care for the American people."

Health authorities point out that the need for more doctors is only part of the problem. Continued advances in medicine will call for technicians and teachers. It's estimated that about 25 more medical schools will be needed to train these additional doctors and other specialists.

Folsom believes a lack of public interest "is largely responsible for the schools' financial plight."

EXPENSES TRIPLE

"While the public can readily visualize the thrilling discoveries of the men in the laboratories," he says, "the American people seldom think in abstract terms of medical education."

He points out that during the last 10 years, expenditures for those for medical education. And out of about 15 billion dollars spent each year for health services, less than one per cent goes to train doctors.

At the same time, the schools' operating costs have been skyrocketing. In 1950-51 medical school budgets totaled more than 67 million dollars. But statistics show that this year they spiraled to 111 million dollars. New costly teaching equipment, needed to keep pace with startling medical discoveries and revolutionary surgical techniques, is largely responsible for this increase.

Last year tuitions covered only 13 per cent of the costs. And tuitions already are so high that many qualified students can't afford to attend medical school.

That's why Dr. John Parks, dean of the George Washington University School of Medicine in Washington, D. C., believes medical schools must alter their programs to help meet students' financial needs.

He favors a schedule that would allow students to go through school as fast or as slow as they desire. He believes this would allow them to get a job and still make good grades.

Also, he says that such a program would help relieve the stiff academic pressure which discourages many qualified youths from studying medicine.

But Dr. Parks, along with other health authorities, emphasizes that increased funds are the only sure cure that will enable medical schools to meet their vital future challenge.

And health officials agree that a lot of public support will be needed in order to raise the money.

Folsom explains, "This is not a job for any one organization or any one level of government. In the best tradition of a free people rising to meet their own needs, this problem compels the interest, concern and support of all Americans."

CAN THEY PROVIDE ENOUGH DOCTORS?—That's the crisis faced by institutions like the George Washington University School of Medicine, where students are shown learning physiology from Dr. Chester Elwood Leese.

Reports Farms in Nation Decline 2.3 Pct. in 1957

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of farms in the United States declined 2.3 per cent last year and 17 per cent below that of 10 years earlier, the Agriculture Department reported today.

Last year's total came to 4,855,800 compared with 4,968,800 in 1956, and with 5,870,950 in 1947. The largest number operated since the department started keeping records was 6,813,700 in 1935.

Increased use of labor-saving machinery is influencing a trend toward larger and fewer farms. Many small farms are being sold and joined onto adjacent units.

For 1958, the department said preliminary estimates indicate a reduction of more than 2 per cent in the number of farms.

All states except Florida and Nevada showed declines last year and in these two exceptions the number was the same as in 1956.

Michigan had 140,000 farms in 1957 compared with 143,000 in 1956.

Young Actress Makes Career Out of 'Career'

NEW YORK (AP)—A young actress is making a career out of the play "Career."

Mary James played the role of a talent agent when the drama about show business opened to critical success off-Broadway last spring. She withdrew from the company to create the same part in a Philadelphia production, then went off to the West Coast when "Career" was done in Los Angeles. Those stints completed, she returned to the original production.

Dr. Strughold, Top Science-Medicine Expert

Spells Out Need for 'Space' Dictionary

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (INS) — Dr. Hubertus Strughold, the nation's top expert on space medicine, wants a new dictionary of space terms.

"This is about the only way, in his opinion, that the American people will ever come to know the real meaning of 'space.'"

"What is near space, far space, outer space, inner space and so on?" Strughold asked. He answered himself, "This means nothing."

"We need something like a geography of space, spelling out the climatic and other ecological conditions in the respective areas of influence of the various planets."

Ecology is the biology dealing with the relations between organism and their environment. For example, man should not only know the conditions he would encounter on a trip from earth to the moon, but he should also know how the moon's climate, gravitational pull and other factors would affect his body.

One of the words that would be in the dictionary envisioned by Dr. Strughold is "spatiography." This word, conceived by the scientist, would be a sort of geography of outer space.

It would spell out the climatic and other conditions to be found in the respective areas of influence of the planets to which man is likely some day to travel.

Or, as Strughold puts it: "We must know what space really means and the astronaut (space traveler) must know where he is going and what is in store for him when he gets there, so to speak."

Another word Strughold suggested is "gravisphere." This would define the area which is covered by a planet's gravitational pull. For the earth, Strughold said, this would be an area within a million miles.

Other terms are needed, he said, to define the subdivisions of space. These lines, as they pertain to earth, are known. The first "space conditions" begin, Strughold said, at about 66,000 feet. At this level fliers must wear special suits or their body liquids would vaporize.

Then, at 80,000 feet, Strughold said, man must have a sealed cabin in order to survive. He would call this the "functional ceiling." Beyond 120 miles, Strughold said, man would get a sensation of "weightlessness." He would call this the "mechanical border."

"Everyone now knows what an 'orbit' is because of the earth satellites," he said. But beyond that, there are few words in the language that can properly define space conditions.

"We must have adequate terms for space conditions," Strughold said. "It makes no sense to talk 'space' until we have spatiography so the astronaut knows exactly where he is going and how he will survive there and get back."

Courses Are Flexible to Fit Employment Picture

Community Colleges Serve Very Real Need in U.S.

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA) — In the midst of threat and counter-charge, it turns out that there is something right about American education.

It goes by the name of community college or city tech—one of the most flexible and versatile forms of higher education—and it is emerging from a decade of experiment as a glorious success.

The next decade, according to leading educators, will probably see the rise of a community college in almost every population center in the country.

It is almost impossible to pin this kind of school to a real definition. It was set up to teach people how to fill real needs, and so as the needs change the school itself changes.

In New York State, for example, catalogues for the 15 city techs announce them to be two-year colleges of applied arts and sciences for high school graduates.

But take a look at New York City Tech in Brooklyn. Some of the students have been only to grade school; some have Ph.D. degrees from universities; some spend only a semester; there and some spend four years.

COST IS SHARED

Even the community aspect of the title is not accurate. The cost of running this school is shared among the state, the city and the students. And while almost every student is placed in a job, employers are often from other communities and states.

"The word that best describes us," said president Otto Klitgord, "is flexible. It is our job to prepare people to fill the jobs that the community needs filled."

To this end, the curriculum is divided four ways: Technology, health service, commerce and general education.

But within each division courses are added, expanded, dropped, substituted, revised. Right now, for example, 50 leading engineering firms are scrupulously answering a City Tech questionnaire about current and expected need for draftsmen. This census could mean a new course at Tech.

Regardless of the course, all training approximates on-the-job experience. Faculty luncheon, for example, is often the day's lesson prepared by students in a hotel technology course.

POPULAR DIVISION

This division is one of the most popular at the school, training people for administration and culinary arts jobs in one of the nation's highest paying fields.

"It is so tight," said Hotel Department head Janet Lefler, "that restaurant and hotel people call me in the middle of the night or worse—in the middle of the summer when I can't possibly find anyone."

She spoke quickly, pausing in a rush to meet with her bus boys' extension class. This course, sponsored by a restaurant workers' union, is designed to teach bus boys what they must know to become hotel and fancy restaurant waiters.

Today's lesson, taught by a man with a cultivated flourish, was to be flaming crepes suzette. Few of the students had ever been inside of a college before. They were here only for this course.

Mrs. Lefler excused herself for interrupting the class: "Does anyone need a job? There's one at the Forum restaurant."

One hand went up—a brief commentary on the job market. The Forum's wages and tips are based on dinners-for-two which cost about $41.68.

While it is not unusual for extension courses to spring up for particular needs, most of the curriculum is within the regular college. But 10 years of experiment have proved that a regular City

Tech must be open at night as well as day.

"Our hardest problem," said Dean Charles W. Laffin Jr., "was the finances of our students. They wanted to come to school. But they had families to support. So we opened evening classes for people who had day jobs."

Today, there are 2,500 day students and 3,600 night students.

And there would be more in both if there were room.

"We have even had," Mrs. Lefler said, "people with college arts degrees who wanted skills—or ways to set up their own businesses. And of course, we've had students who went on from here to get degrees from four-year colleges."

Should the need for City Techs like this one ever disappear, the school could vanish as quietly as it came—leaving professors free to return to their machine shops, laboratories, stores and kitchens.

Wired for Sound

ANN ARBOR (U-M) — University of Michigan doctors are being wired for sound.

Emergency and security personnel at the U-M Medical Center now wear compact radios in their shirt pockets. The purpose is to assemble key personnel in event of an emergency. The hospital switchboard operator can signal up to four people at one time.

Those wearing radios can hear a high-pitched beep when the operator calls on their wave length. It's simple for them to go to the nearest telephone and receive their message from the operator.

Dr. A. C. Kerlikowske, University Hospital director, said the radio network makes possible a highly mobile emergency or security force.

The device has a range of a mile. There are 20 of the pocket radios presently in operation. Kerlikowske said the hospital is trying with the idea of obtaining more and eventually replacing the current loudspeaker system with radios.

Williams Blasts Administration

Says GOP Relying on 'Mysterious Magic' to Reverse Economy Skid

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams said last night the Eisenhower administration is "coasting" and banking on "mysterious magic" in March to reverse the nation's economic skid.

What is needed instead, he said, is to tackle huge slum clearance house and school building problems, and programs to develop the nation's river and harbor sites unclog traffic and push atomic energy development.

The Democratic governor spoke at a dinner of the Communications Workers Union local presidents honoring Joe Beirne, the union's national president.

He said the administration holds back on the deeds that must support the confidence it demands from the people, and talks hopefully of an economic upturn next month.

"Under the guise of finding funds for increase military spending, the administration proposes cutbacks in health, education, housing and welfare programs," he said.

He said no new public works starts were included in the new budget.

"In this first federal budget of the Sputnik age, the nation was ready for big thinking and dynamic action. Instead, we got a depressing example of small ideas and stagnant plans," he said.

Williams said the Eisenhower leaders "misread" the people, underestimate their willingness and fail to comprehend their eagerness to get to work rebuilding America.

"The American people have lost patience with this needless recession, with joblessness, with idle plants, with standing by and letting our mammoth domestic needs somehow get themselves fulfilled," he said.

The unrest will show up at the polls in Democratic victories, he said.

To Limit Sunday Sales

ROSEVILLE (AP) — The Roseville village commission has voted to limit Sunday sales in that Detroit suburb, effective April 1. Not covered by the Sunday ban are taverns, real estate offices and car lots.

Nation's Leaders Inspecting Plans for Ike's Library

ABILENE, Kan. (AP) — Business and political leaders from across the nation came to Abilene by special train today to inspect plans for the Eisenhower Memorial Library and kick off a fund-raising campaign for it.

The three-million-dollar library will be across the street from President Eisenhower's boyhood home in Abilene.

Benjamin J. Fairless, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, former president of U.S. Steel and chairman of the executive committee for the library, said he hopes construction can start this year.

More than 200 were invited to the meeting of the Eisenhower Memorial Library Commission, with Fairless addressing a luncheon session.

Area Truck Driver Killed in Ohio Crash

A 42-year-old Millard Township truck driver was killed in Ohio this morning when his car-haulway truck skidded on a curve near Campbellsport, near Ravenna.

Beryl Randall, of 862 S. Broad St., died when his truck jumped the road on the left side, careened 350 feet into a field and burned. The truck was not loaded.

Randall was driving a truck belonging to Dallas and Mavis Trucking Co., Toledo.

Accused in Holdup of Poker Game

Accused of holding up a poker game, Herman Nicholson, 29, of 241 W. Pike St., waived examination yesterday in municipal court and was bound over to circuit court on a charge of felonious assault.

Nicholson was accused of holding up the poker players at 822½ Baldwin Ave., on Feb. 12, after losing money in the game earlier in the evening.

Police said he attempted to fire at one of the players but the gun failed to discharge. He fled the scene, they said, with several men chasing him. In the course of the flight, he fired three shots, one of which struck the window of a home. No one was injured.

Police said Nicholson told them he had been cheated in the game.

State Solons Make Surprise Turnabout

Bill to Reduce Sunday Sales Shelved

LANSING 27—A bill aimed at cutting down on Sunday retail sales in Michigan died suddenly and unexpectedly last night.

Backed by church groups and merchandising and farm organizations, it was one of several important measures laid on the chopping block by House committees yesterday.

In a surprise turnabout, the State Affairs Committee pigeonholed the Sunday sales proposal only a few hours after scheduling a March 5 hearing for its opponents.

Two Sailors Injured

Find Navy Blimp

LAKEHURST, N. J., 27—A blimp that had broken loose from its mooring mast at the naval air-station was found deflated on the ground.

A Civil Aeronautics Authority spokesman said the blimp came down only three miles from the station in an area southwest of here.

There had been speculation that the runaway blimp might endanger air navigation.

The CAA, while not ordering any flight cancellations, had warned all aircraft in the area to be on the alert.

Lt. (j.g.) Peter DiConza, public information officer at the air station, said the blimp apparently broke free after being rocked by gusty winds.

Two sailors were injured when they jumped from the gondola as the lighter-than-air craft broke loose. The sailors were not identified.

The ship, officially described as a derelict of the M4 class, is about 300 feet long and carries 725,000 cubic feet of helium.

Built about 15 years ago, it has not been flown for more than a decade and was used primarily for gathering experimental data, the Navy said.

Kremlin May Be Trying to Set Stage for Eastern Mediterranean Red Coup

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

AP Foreign News Analyst

Many signs indicate that the Kremlin may be attempting to set the stage for a major Communist coup—even perhaps at the risk of World War III—in the Eastern Mediterranean.

Soviet naval activity in this area has been intense in the last few months. And this is only one aspect of an over-all offensive on the diplomatic, economic and military front being conducted by the Soviet government. It bears all the marks of careful planning.

AIM SIMPLE

The Soviet move towards the East Mediterranean has various aspects, but its basic aim is simple. The Soviet Union wants to break out of the Black Sea in force and establish itself as the dominant power over this crossroad of the world, a crossroad which has been fought over by the great powers from time immemorial.

The outlines of the Soviet strategy are rather obvious.

By support for the Arabs in their conflicts with Israel and with Britain and France the Russians have been trying to win a strong basis of popular support among the Arabs.

By shipments of arms to Egypt, Syria and Yemen the Russians hope ultimately to cause armed conflict into which they could intervene.

By encouraging the leftist government of Syria with military, economic and political aid, the Russians hope to establish a firm Communist base for themselves in the Eastern Mediterranean itself.

SUPPORT GREEKS

By support for the Greeks in the conflict over Cyprus and by offers of economic aid to the Greeks the Russians hope to neutralize Greek opposition to their penetration of this vital area.

By improving relations with the Yugoslavs the Russians would like to establish a firm overland connection with their satellite of Albania, which is at present the only Soviet satellite in the Mediterranean area.

The Kremlin may be making efforts to transform Albania into a major naval base already.

The Soviet Eastern Mediterranean drive is only in its initial stages but it has already secured a number of successes.

The way the whole thing might come to a head in a new international crisis is fairly clear. There might be an outbreak of armed conflict among the Eastern Mediterranean states—perhaps over the Syrian situation or over Israel. The Western powers might threaten intervention or actually intervene in one or another form to protect their interests and peace in the area. At that point the Soviet Union might threaten to intervene with full force itself, representing itself as the savior of the Arabs from Western imperialism. The Western powers might face a situation in which they would have to fight or back down.

All this would be a tremendous gamble for the Russians—but Nikita Khrushchev, the boss of the Soviet Communist Party, is a gambler.

The Russian push towards the Eastern Mediterranean is not new. It has been continuous for the last two centuries. It resulted in the Crimean War a century ago and in a number of other wars and crises. The Russians never succeeded, however, in breaking out of the Black Sea. But in a short time they may be ready to try once more.

Soviet Troops Leaving, Hungary Announces

BUDAPEST, Hungary (U)—The Hungarian Foreign Ministry today announced the withdrawal of Soviet troops for the first time since they put down the 1956 revolt in Hungary.

Some troops have already left and some are leaving, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

Moscow has said 17,000 will be withdrawn. It is generally believed this will leave about 80,000 still within the Hungarian borders. The spokesman said no date had been set for completing the movement.

Pear Shipments Rise

LOS ANGELES—California growers expect their shipments of yellow Bartlett pears to exceed 100,000 tons this year, a 15 per cent increase over 1956.

Japan Releases 5 Sentenced by U.S.

TOKYO (U)—Five Japanese war criminals given life sentences by the United States have left Sugamo prison on the first paroles granted on Japanese instead of U.S. recommendation.

The Foreign Ministry said today it was informed by the U.S. Embassy that the first parole recommendations by Japan's new clemency board were approved, effective last Saturday.

The United States last December transferred the power to recommend parole to Japan. Forty war criminals are still left in Sugamo, all sentenced by the United States.

The release of the remaining war criminals is expected to be speeded up.

Shah of Iran Planning Visit With Ike, Dulles

TEHRAN, Iran (U)—The Shah of Iran plans to visit Washington in June for talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on the Middle East situation.

A court spokesman said the Shah and Queen Soraya planned to visit the United States after a two-week tour of Formosa and Japan in May.

AEC Scientists Now at Work on Problem

Wonder Drugs to Fight Atomic Radiation

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A civil defense rescue team nervously waits the command that will send it into an atomic blast area where every breath of air is drenched with deadly radioactive fall-out.

But each man's tension stems from thoughts of the death and destruction that he is about to see, not from any fear of losing his life.

For they have been inoculated with a powerful wonder drug that shields them from the dangers of radiation. And they know that doctors are ready to use other specialized life-saving techniques just in case the drug fails to do the trick.

This startling picture of future medical conquests is painted by scientists of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission who are striving to develop fool-proof treatment for people exposed to an overdose of radioactivity.

Dr. Charles L. Dunham, director of AEC's Division of Virology and Medicine, reveals that experiments are going on in several laboratories to develop a successful anti-radiation drug.

He explains that scientists have found several chemicals which will double the ability of mice or rats to survive strong radiation. But the dose of the chemicals needed to protect man is poisonous.

Dr. Dunham believes the problem eventually will be licked by learning how to eliminate these poisonous effects or discovering a completely new type of chemical compound.

SHORT EFFECTIVE PERIOD
But because of these chemicals' short period of effectiveness, he doubts that a long term anti-radiation vaccine can be perfected like those used against many dreaded diseases.

That's why the AEC scientist predicts the greatest benefits of such a drug probably will come from its use by atomic rescue workers. Since they would know how long the drug would last, they could get out of a danger area before its protection wore off.

Even if they didn't escape in time, their chances of survival would be greatly helped by other anticipated medical discoveries.

Efforts are now being made, Dr. Dunham says, to perfect a technique for transplanting vital bone marrow from one person to another. Bone marrow is the body's most important producer of blood cells.

It's also one of the principal targets of radiation. When the marrow's ability to produce cells is destroyed, the result is a slow, certain death.

But if marrow could be injected from one person to another like a blood transfusion, one of radiation's most dangerous threats would be eliminated.

"I think it will be done eventually," Dr. Dunham explains, "but it will take a few years."

He also foresees the day when people will be able to store some of their own marrow in preparation of an atomic attack. He explains, though, that a successful way of preserving it must be developed first.

USEFUL IN ARMY

Dr. Dunham believes this accomplishment would be especially useful to the armed forces. He explains that it would enable military installations and naval ships to bank some of each man's marrow to use if he should be exposed to severe radiation.

Another important study is being conducted to find a drug that will remove radioactive particles from bone. Scientists have already discovered one that will attack plutonium circulating in the blood stream. But it doesn't work if the plutonium gets lodged in bone.

Also, scientists believe that blood contains a mysterious substance that aids recovery from overdoses of radiation. Dr. Dunham explains that if the chemical is found, scientists will try to extract it in hopes that it will prove successful in radiation treatment.

"Although it is unlikely that there will ever be any effective treatment for extremely high doses of radiation," Dr. Dunham explains, "there is the hope that before many years have passed we will be able to double or even triple a person's natural ability to withstand radiation injury."

2 Satellite Rockets Prepared for Firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Both the Army and Navy's satellite rockets are being readied for firing in the next two weeks.

Complications are delaying the Navy's effort, Vanguard, an informed source said last night. It isn't likely that Vanguard will be fired until late next week.

Vanguard's troubles include a liquid propellant shortage, minor electrical difficulties and revision of some of the rocket's valves, pipes and fuel tanks.

An Army Jupiter-C rocket, which successfully launched the first U.S. satellite Jan. 31, will make another satellite launching attempt, probably next week.

It had been set to follow the Navy Vanguard attempt but Vanguard now has to wait repairs and the supply of one of the fuels needed by its three-stage rocket.

Informants said the needed propellant is being shipped by truck from a Northern state.

The Vanguard is now in the flight test stage. Two earlier Vanguard launching attempts failed. The Army Jupiter-C, besides launching the Explorer, is a veteran test rocket.

A study, conducted in England and Wales showed that bartenders had the highest incidence of heart deaths with barbers second and physicians third. Farmers had the lowest death rate.

Elvis Presley Rocks Religious Gathering

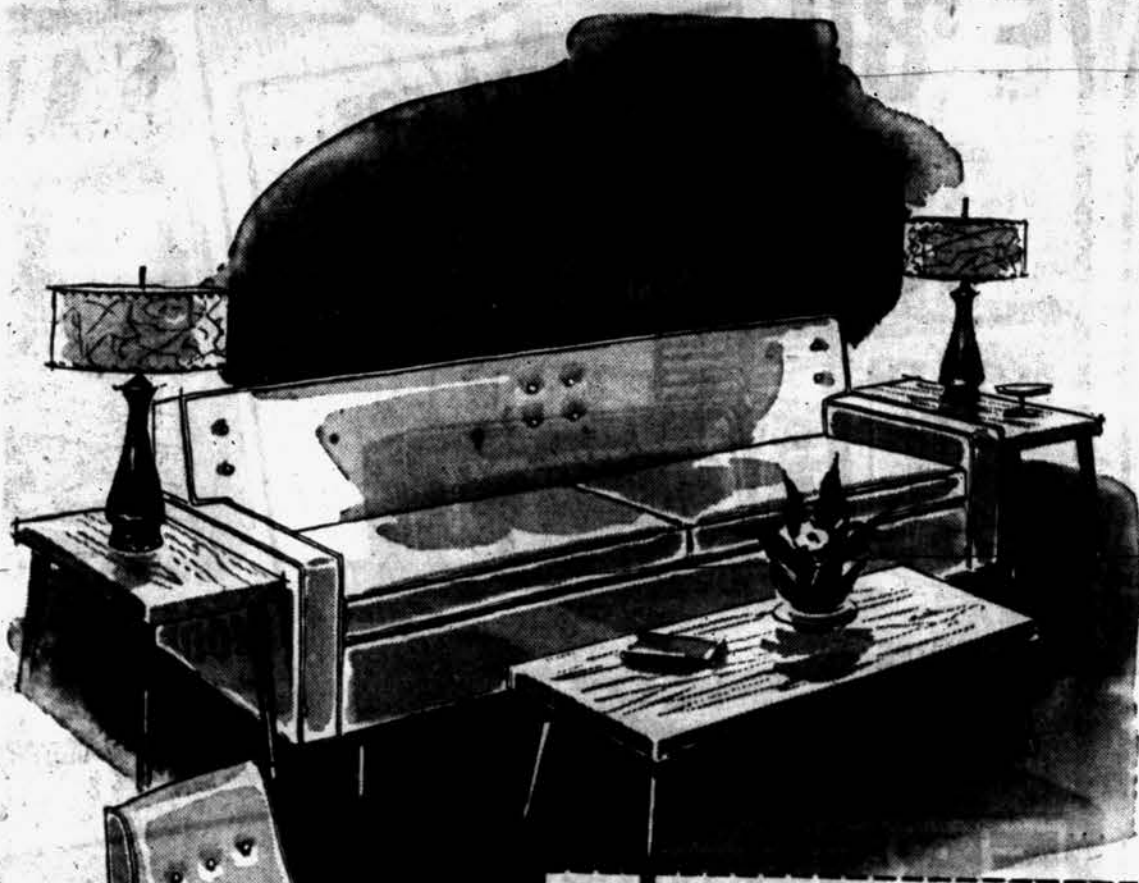

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Employees of the Baptist Book Store, in a hurry to get to a religious workshop, scooped up a bunch of religious records that had just arrived.

At the workshop, they stacked them on a record player and sat back to listen.

Cornelia Watkins of Toledo Weds Marlette Man

MARLETTE — The first Unitarian Church, Toledo, Ohio, was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Miss Cornelia Watkins and James Lee Knight.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley A. Watkins of Toledo, was given in marriage by her father. The Rev. Waldemar Argow, pastor, officiated.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Knight, of Marlette and Lake City, Fla.

For her wedding the bride chose white satin with chapel train (designed by Rodriguez), with self material roses under the bustline accenting the bodice. The skirt was paneled. She wore pearls, and the silk illusion fingertip veil was secured by a pearl tiara. She carried a cascade of roses and white hyacinths.

Miss Madelyn Ferguson of Lansing was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Virginia Fuller, Miss Lee Linder and Miss Charlotte Nikary, all of Toledo.

Jack D. Wilts of Alpena, a Beta Theta Pi, fraternity brother, was best man. Attendants and ushers were Tom Watkins of Toledo, brother of the bride, Anthony Earl of St. Ignace, Richard Stegmyer of Grosse Pointe, and Robert Ferris of Detroit.

The reception was held at the Toledo Country Club. This was followed by a buffet for 50 relatives of the young couple at the home of the bride's parents.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the newlyweds will be at home at 131 Whitehills Dr., East Lansing, where the bride is employed and her husband is a student at Michigan State University.

The bride received a B. A. degree in June 1937, from Michigan State. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

To Relieve Farmington Township Dry Areas

Readying Water System Plans

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The proposed water system for Farmington Township's dry areas is moving steadily forward, according to Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson.

Plans for financing the system may be submitted to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for approval within a month, Stephenson said.

"We are waiting now for engineers to select a storage site," he said. "After that, they must determine costs for the entire program. When that is completed, financing plans can then be worked out and submitted to the state."

The proposed $1,950,000 water system, sought by residents of a six-square-mile "dry" area in the township, received added impetus when a majority of the property owners in the area presented special assessment petitions to the township board last fall.

Stephenson said the petitions have been checked and certified by both an abstract company and the township clerk and are now in the hands of bonding attorneys who are attempting to arrange financing.

Rochester Council Gets Detour Routes

ROCHESTER — A plan for temporary routes to handle traffic when work starts on the new four-lane South Main street bridge has been presented to the Rochester Village Council.

Traffic Engineer T. M. Vanderstempel presented the plan to re-route traffic east and west on Division street and on South Walnut boulevard.

Vanderstempel also pointed out how Rochester will benefit from the new road paralleling South boulevard and Auburn road north to Pontiac, as well as from the proposed expressway planned to go between Squirrel and Opdyke roads.

A request to rezone Alice street to multiple-dwelling classification was referred back to petitioner Frank Dzuris Jr. with the recommendation that he secure properly signed petitions and report back to council.

Speaker at Second Lenten Family Night

WALLED LAKE — Dr. Milton H. Bouk of Pontiac Central Methodist Church will be the speaker at the second weekly Lenten family night service at Walled Lake Methodist Church tonight. His talk, "Jesus, Most Persistent Sermon," will follow the potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. Bouk is a graduate of the Boston University School of Theology. He holds degrees of S.T.B., A.B., and an honorary D.D. from Baldwin Wallace University.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK VICKERY JR.

Dodson, Vickery Vows Exchanged in Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Sunnyside Chapel was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Ethel Dobson of Waterford Township and Frank Vickery Jr. of Walled Lake. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Parker.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dobson of 1225 Airport Rd. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vickery of Lake Orion.

A gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin was the bride's choice for her wedding. The dress was accented with a portrait neckline, long tapered sleeves and a cascade of tulle ruffles. A jeweled crown held the veil of illusion, and the bridal bouquet was of red roses and white carnations.

Maid of honor was Betty Dobson, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Jeanette Wynn and Betty Wilton.

William Erickson of Lake Orion served as best man. Robert Dobson, a brother of the bride, and Michael Todd were the ushers.

A reception in the church parlors was held after the wedding. Following a brief honeymoon in Canada, the newlyweds are making their home at 96 Auburn Ave. in Pontiac.

Farm Income Average Reported at New High

WASHINGTON — The average per capita income of the farm population last year was reported at a record high of $993 by the agriculture department Wednesday. This was an increase of about 10 per cent over the 1936 average of $902.

Code to Protect Home Buyers

Commerce Setting Up Specifications for New Dwellings

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A building code which goes into effect March 22 in Commerce Township will offer protection to future buyers of new homes in the area, Township Supervisor Thomas C. Tiley said today.

Enforcement of the code will insure purchasers that new homes will be well constructed, he said. "Homes built according to the code will be safer, too," Tiley added.

Another advantage of the new code, according to Tiley, is the possibility of increased real estate values in the township. Construction of quality homes in the future may boost the value of existing homes, he said.

Adoption of the building code should not discourage any person from building his own home without professional help, Tiley pointed out.

"In fact, the township has arranged for the printing of special booklets which contain the code in detail, along with definitions and interpretations of terms used in the code," Tiley said.

The booklets are designed to enable anyone to build his own home to code specifications. The booklets will be available for a small fee.

Revival Service Speaker Named

Illinois Pastor Slated to Appear at Elmwood Methodist Church

AVON TOWNSHIP — Elmwood Methodist Church on Gratiot street will have the Rev. Billy G. Hahs, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Pickneyville, Ill., as guest speaker during its two-week revival service beginning Sunday.

The services will be a part of the church's Lenten observance, the Rev. Ralph Dodson, pastor, said.

The Rev. Hahs comes here with a record of a distinguished ministerial career, begun at an early age.

At the age of 16, while a senior in high school, he was appointed to a pastorate, and entered McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., before he was 17. He also served as a pastor during his four years in college, graduating with honors and receiving his B. A. degree at the age of 23.

The Rev. Hahs received his bachelor of theology degree three years later from the Garrett Theological Seminary.

After graduation from the seminary he was appointed pastor of Nameoki Methodist Church in Granite City, Ill., where he served four years. During his pastorate, a $100,000 educational unit was built and a $25,000 parsonage was purchased.

The Rev. Hahs has spoken at youth camps, conferences and in conference retreats. He has taught in several conference training institutes for laymen and ministers and has conducted revival meetings in six different conferences of Methodism.

Modeling School Set at Inlay Next Month

INLAY CITY — A special modeling school has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. March 13 at the Inlay City High School gym.

Dorothy Erler, clothing specialist at Michigan State University, will give instructions in modeling, hair styles, clothing accessories and other phases of professional modeling.

At the institute, which will be held Feb. 27 to March 3, he will compete with the other candidates for $34,250 in Westinghouse science scholarships and awards. The eight girls and 32 boys will be interviewed individually by a committee of judges and will be judged on their individual science projects.

The awards are provided by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation, supported by the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

The candidates also will hear talks by prominent scientists and their projects and plans.

950 Students to Vie in Poster Contest

The competition is sponsored by the Elementary Schools Club of Romeo, and all students from kindergarten through the seventh grade are eligible to submit entries.

Theme of the posters may be based on safety at home, at school or on the street. Art teacher Mrs. Roberta Lancy will supervise the students' work.

Teachers will number the entries and record the children's names which will be kept secret until the judging is completed.

Grade winners will receive plaques, room winners, pins and runners-up, ribbons.

The grand prize winner will receive a trophy. It will be presented by Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Pigges at the April 17 meeting of the schools club.

Room winners will be notified prior to the meeting to be held at the new Youth and Civic Center. They will attend the special program to learn the winners of the higher awards to be announced then.

West Bloomfield VFW Teen Club Plans Record Hop

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The VFW hall in Keego Harbor will stage a Record Hop from 7:30 p.m. to midnight Friday in the VFW hall in Keego Harbor. The Teen Club has purchased a supply of new, popular records, according to Mike Marsh, club president. Proceeds from previous dances were used to buy the records.

Persons 13 years of age or older are invited to attend the Record Hop. Refreshments will be available.

New Soviet Envoy Quick to Spread Gospel

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The new Soviet ambassador to the United States, looking like a small-town banker in his Western clothes and expensive Italian hat, has lost no time spreading his gospel.

The gospel — as expounded by Mikhail Menshikov, 55 — is better understanding between East and West, more cooperation, more trade, more friendly relations all around. He's an expert on trade.

Here's a lot of talking since his arrival here Feb. 6 — both to newsmen outside the doors of offices he's visited and in interviews — but so far he hasn't said anything his bosses in the Kremlin could be angry about.

He talks in English, which he knows well. He started talking immediately after he landed in a 500-mile-an-hour Russian jet plane. He marched right up to a battery of microphone.

Those first words at the airport set the pattern for practically everything he's said since: "I have been sent to your country by my government as an ambassador of peace, friendship and cooperation."

There's quite a switch between the way he handles newsmen and the way his predecessor George Zarubin did it. Menshikov talks for publication although what he says is pretty much what he said before.

Zarubin went in a lot for off-the-record statements. But where Zarubin spoke broken English, Menshikov is fluent with it. Even the difference in the appearance of the two men is a switch.

Menshikov looks like a kind of happy salesman. The dark and somber Zarubin looked almost like a character out of a mystery novel.

Menshikov lost no time visiting Secretary of State Dulles, with whom he exchanged pleasantries. Then he visited President Eisenhower and stayed half an hour. Most ambassadors pre-their credentials at the White House stay about 10 minutes.

But this was just a starting point for Menshikov. Next, he called on Vice President Nixon, explaining afterwards that Soviet policy is to "establish personal contacts" in different fields and among "leading personalities."

Next he bobbed up in the office of Eisenhower's No. 1 right-hand man Sherman Adams. Asked if he didn't think this was a bit unusual, he smiled and said: "I am not very familiar with protocol."

He plans to call on the various members of Eisenhower's Cabinet, will visit a number of American cities, and soon will make a speech at the National Press Club.

It's customary there, after a speaker finishes, for him to answer questions. No doubt Menshikov will follow the custom.

It's a safe bet he can handle himself well enough not to get into trouble.

He's spent a lifetime in the fields of trade and commerce. And his knowledge of English came from 13 years in places where it's spoken. He was ambassador to India four years, was three years with the United Nations in New York, and was a Russian trade expert in London six years.

AF Urges Swift Production Pace

Missile Aircraft Firms Falling Behind Will Not Get Future Contracts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force told the missile-aircraft industry today to quicken the tempo of production, warning that there will be no contracts for those firms which fail to keep the pace. Lt. Gen. C. S. Irvine, the Air Force's chief for material, said, "Companies have got to stop thinking up ways to stay in the old fashioned horse-and-buggy habit of long production runs."

Irvine chose as the forum for his warning the third annual Jet Age Conference of the Air Force Assn., which includes in its membership representatives of 319 firms dealing directly or indirectly with the Air Force.

In a speech prepared for the AFA, Irvine said missiles being developed for present requirements "fall far short of the needs that must be met in the near future." This means, he added, "that our scientists and engineers serving the Air Force and industry, working together, must progress as far in the next five years as we have in the past 50."

"Since the major share of the production engineering burden falls on the shoulders of industry, this means that plants and factories must move toward better methods, tooling and techniques at a far greater rate than they have in past emergencies."

"Those that cannot keep the pace cannot expect much in the way of Air Force business."

Discussing the broad problem of technology and production in the United States, Irvine said: "In comparison to the rate of progress which the Soviets are achieving, we are not yet doing as much as we have to do; the procedures we have been following, even when speeded up, are not cutting the time factor fast enough; new ideas, new methods and attitudes are absolutely necessary."

Historic Panama Church Nearly Destroyed by Fire

PANAMA (AP)—One of Panama's most historic buildings, the 162-year-old Church of Santa Librada in Las Tablas, was almost destroyed by fire yesterday.

Ten religious images, some dating from the 16th century, were lost in the two-hour blaze caused by a short circuit. But the church's most revered image—of Santa Librada, patroness of the town 200 miles southwest of Panama City—and priceless documents dating from 1730 were saved.

Suggests Letting Cabinet Decide

Disability Issue Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) predicted today the Senate Judiciary Committee will agree amendment which would permit the Cabinet to determine presidential disability by a majority vote.

Dirksen, assistant Republican leader, said in an interview he is confident such a proposal can get committee approval if it is compromised to give Congress a voice in determining when disability ends and when a president may resume his duties.

Dirksen said this could be done by permitting Congress to pass on the question of whether a disabled president had recovered sufficiently to take over again. President Eisenhower disclosed he has reached an understanding under which Vice President Nixon "knows exactly what he should do" if another serious illness overtakes the President.

Eisenhower said he thinks there should be a constitutional amendment to cover future cases. GOP congressional leaders proposed ignorance of the terms of the understanding Eisenhower said had been reached, but they assumed it provides that if the President himself were unable to decide the question, Nixon and the Cabinet would determine if the President were incapacitated. They also assumed that if the President subsequently recovered his full faculties, Nixon would step aside and Eisenhower would resume his duties.

Nixon apparently was prepared to put the understanding into effect last November if Eisenhower's mild stroke then had been more serious.

Building Homes for Oldsters Good Deal

By Ray Henry
Carl Mitnick is one of the lucky men. He's in a business he likes and has made a million at it. Part of his success comes from his ability to judge and build what people want in houses. But, it was strictly luck that he stumbled on his most successful venture: Building homes for retired couples.

Maybe it's a success because he's building the homes only 90 miles from Philadelphia on the southern tip of New Jersey. Maybe it's because they're priced between $8,250 and $11,090. Maybe it's because the homes are on the shores of Delaware Bay.

Whatever the reason, he's built and sold nearly 1,000 in North Cape May, N. J., in the past seven years. And, about 650 of them have been sold to people who've retired or who are about to retire.

"I had no idea when I started," Mitnick told me recently, "that I'd be building a retirement village. I figured the location would be good for vacationing and as a resort community. Then, retired couples began buying. They haven't stopped."

Business has been so good that Mitnick is planning to build another 1,500 homes in the area.

He's shooting especially at retired couples and has proudly dubbed his development "The St. Petersburg of the North."

"Frankly, I can't understand why more builders in the North haven't started developments like mine for older people. I think it's one of the biggest housing markets we've got in the United States today."

"I know one thing: Building homes for retired people is good business. When they don't buy their homes with cash, they make their payments promptly."

"Furthermore, living in and improving their community gives them a real reason for living. It's a pleasure to see. They do themselves fixing things up and are constantly putting around the yard."

Many of the retired men, he says, have added garages to their homes. Others have put in patios and fences around their yards.

Some of the homes are so well dressed with flowers that they look like rainbows.

Besides adding to their own real estate, many of the retired men add to their income by working for subcontractors who are building the development.

"In one case," Mitnick recalls, "a man who had been a punch press operator in a factory for 38 years had wanted all his life to be a carpenter. But, he was afraid to try it."

"When he retired, he put his wooden fence around his house. The neighbors liked it so well they asked him to build theirs. Now, he's building garages, carports, fences, porches. He's done so well he has a truck and several people working for him."

Mitnick says he's learned a lot about older people since they started moving into his development.

"They don't want safety devices around the house which are supposed to keep them from injuring themselves. They don't want reminders that they're getting older. And, most of all, they don't want to live in a community of all older people. They want young people around."

"Take the 74-year-old lady I heard about: A young couple who lived next door asked her to babysit their children. The old lady was so happy to be around children she wouldn't take any money when it was offered to her."

"When the couple insisted on giving her some reward for her time, the old lady told them: 'When I have my baby, you can repay me by sitting with him.'"

'Chemise' Fashions Fraught With Ill Omen

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK (INS)—I hope I do not sound unduly superstitious when I say that the current "chemise look" in fashion is not only baggy and saggy—it is fraught with ill omen.

One feels creepy enough these days, watching the economy rock and founder in the eyes of pessimists who are always spouting off tomes of depression, without having our clothes designed to mirror that very era in history we fear most to repeat: The doomed 1920s.

ASKING JINX

Somehow it seems almost like asking to be jinxed.

Fashion designers, of course, blame it on "cycles," which undeniably exist in this crazy counter world where a few "geniuses" get an "omniscience" that often radically changes the look of women everywhere.

The rest of the fashion folk follow, and style-conscious ladies are stuck with another cycle, which they call "jinx" if they have money. And a great many other adjectives if they have not.

So this year the omniscients—as they did in the late '20s—have hiked up the hem, clutched the belt around the hips, rendered the bust insignificant, and turned women into flip little freaks with long clanking beads to prove that they are gay, gay, gay.

SO FAMILIAR

It is all so disturbingly familiar. In the autumn of 1929, shortly before the fall of the Stock Market, women were almost as scantily dressed as in Salome's sixth-veil stage. Then one day, the history books record, the famous couturier Patou was sitting in a drawing room opposite a group of women whose frocks were an exaggerated version of the chemise we have today.

"My God," he is reported to have burst out in disgust, "It can not be!"

Barnard's Daughter Sues for Heirlooms

DETROIT (U)—A daughter of the late Edward N. Barnard, noted Detroit trial lawyer, has filed suit to recover "family heirlooms" from her father's three-million-dollar estate.

Mrs. Frances Barnard McKay of Grand Rapids filed suit in Circuit Court here yesterday for jewelry, books, toys and other articles. She said she would accept $30,000 as an alternative.

Barnard, who died last October, left his daughter $10,000 but stipulated it was to be cut to $1 if she contested the will.

He rushed back to his workroom and designed an all-new look that would return women to grace and modesty.

Shortly after the Stock Market crash, Patou, frightened like everyone else who had a business to lose, introduced the new look of 1930: A collection of flowing frocks that swept close to the ground, and were belted in the middle.

In spite of the fact that there now was little money to throw around on beautiful clothes, the trend caught on. The 1930s, so disastrous financially and fashionably, were over.

Perhaps I am being unnecessarily twice in these curious times, but I do wish that while they're about lowering the unemployment rate, they would also lower the hemline.

I know lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but it can come uncomfortably close.

And with the heavy-handed help of fashion, it's coming to the point where the only difference in outward appearance between this age and the jazz age is that people look vaguely confused as they dance the Charleston.

Magnetic Pills Used

LOS ANGELES — Researchers at the University of California at Los Angeles are using magnetic pills to study the effects of emotional disturbances on the action of the stomach and other organs. The pill, swallowed by the patient, is traced by a magnetometer. Pill movements are charted and correlated with emotional variations.

Jersey Firm Likes Michigan Tax Setup

STURGIS (U)—A New Jersey bearing company planning a new million-dollar plant here says the state's tax structure was an important factor in the firm's decision to locate in Michigan.

"We were looking for a stable tax picture for the foreseeable future," said Sam S. Connor, vice president of Bound Brook Oil-less Bearing Co., 44 Bound Brook, N. J.

"There were other considerations, of course, but in taxes alone we decided that in states where taxes on business and industry are lower we might face increases in future years which would cancel any present advantage," Connor said.

Michigan's tax structure and business climate has been the subject of heated political argument in recent months. Connor also cited central location in the five-state "Great Industrial Belt of the United States" and favorable labor factors as strong advantages offered by Sturge and the state.

No Pay Raise Granted, Town's Firemen Quit

SALEM, Mo. (U)—Salem's 10 volunteer firemen and Chief Ray Johnson all quit in a dispute with the City Council.

There were two fire alarms yesterday in this Ozarks town of 3,600 about 100 miles southwest of St. Louis. The firemen stayed put. They were only small grass fires and nearby residents pitched in to extinguish them.

The firemen complained the Council refused to listen to their grievances at its meeting Monday night. The volunteers have been getting $3 apiece every time they answer an alarm. They asked $5.

About one-half the total area of North Carolina is forested.

Navy Remedies One of Rocket's Flaws

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U)—The Navy has remedied a propellant shortage that helped delay a test launching of the Vanguard satellite rocket.

Other difficulties—minor electrical troubles and bulky valves and other "plumbing" that also served to prevent a launching planned for early this week—have not yet been eliminated.

The Navy still hopes to launch the Vanguard before the weekend, and thus leave the way clear for the Army to attempt to send a second Explorer satellite into an orbit next week.

The Vanguard rocket awaiting launch day will carry a miniature satellite sphere in its nose, although the main purpose will be to test the three Vanguard stages in flight.

Scientists at Antarctica Find There Are Four South Poles

By KENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

McMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP) — When you speak of the South Pole down here you have to specify which one you're talking about.

Antarctica has four south poles—one more than the northern hemisphere—and a fifth spot that also could be called a pole.

The four poles are of great scientific interest. American and other international Geographical Year scientists are studying three of them and the Russians have announced plans for building a station at the fourth.

First and best known is the south geographic pole. It is the dead center of the earth's axis—the absolute bottom of the world.

Here your watch is always correct, theoretically at least, whether it is running or not. Here you can walk around the world in less than five minutes. But when you stand exactly on this tiny spot you can move only one direction—north. Here you weigh a little more than you do in the United States, Europe or any place closer to the equator.

Next is the south geomagnetic pole. This is the point where the lines of the earth's magnetic field, if they could be observed from about 15,000 miles up, would appear to converge. They meet there something like the way meridians of longitude meet at the geographic pole, as seen on a map. It is one end of the axis of the earth's magnetic field.

The south geomagnetic pole is calculated to be 791 miles from the geographic pole. This spot lies along a line between the geographic pole and southwestern Australia. In its vicinity magnetic compasses behave erratically and cannot be used.

Third on the list is the south magnetic pole, which is different from the geomagnetic pole. At this point a magnetic compass needle that is free to do so will point straight downward.

The south magnetic pole is 1,526 miles from the geographic pole. It is at the head of the Mertz glacier on the Antarctic coast in the direction of Tasmania and Australia. Here the compass needle turns downward because some part of the earth's interior forms a bar magnet about 6,200 miles long which runs approximately north and south.

One end of this magnet lies some 800 miles beneath the earth's surface at this glacier. The other end is in far northern Canada at a similar depth. Because of mineral deposits in the earth's surface, the lines of force of the earth's magnetic field do not enter the earth directly above the end of the bar. The deposits cause the distortion which has placed the geomagnetic pole nearly 800 miles away.

Fourth and least known is the pole of inaccessibility. This is one the northern hemisphere does not have. In effect it is the most remote point on the Antarctic continent—the spot farthest from all shores and therefore hardest to reach. It is at 82 degrees, 20 minutes south latitude and 40 degrees, 50 minutes east longitude, about 550 miles from the geographic pole in the direction of Madagascar.

It happens to be diametrically opposite the north geomagnetic pole. The Russians plan to build a station near the pole of inaccessibility.

Finally there is another place which is not a pole but might be called one. It is the antipode or the spot directly opposite the north magnetic pole. It lies about 1,100 miles from the south geomagnetic pole in a line that bisects the Indian Ocean between Australia and Africa.

If the earth's great magnet were a straight bar from its beginning under the north magnetic pole spot, it would end about 800 miles directly beneath this antipode. Instead it ends nearly 1,500 miles away, to the east and north.

This indicates that the great magnet is bent or irregularly shaped (see inset). One of the goals of IGY research is to learn more about it, as well as about the magnetic lines of force which link the two geomagnetic poles by running out into space and halfway around the globe through the air.

Cuba's Rebels Continue Drive

Burn Havana Bus and Halt Others by Putting Water in Gasoline

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro's rebels kept up their harassment campaign in the heart of Havana last night, burning one bus within five blocks of the Cuban capitol and halting others by watering their gasoline supplies.

The rebels avoided the heavily guarded sports palace where world lightweight champion Joe Brown of New Orleans knocked out Cuban champ Orlando Echevarria in the first round of a non-title fight.

Government forces had been on the alert to protect the widely publicized match since rebels kept the star attraction out of Monday's Gran Premio auto race by kidnapping him for 29 hours. The star, Argentina's world champion driver Juan Fangio, was released unharmed after the race ended in a wreck fatal to seven persons.

After burning the bus, the rebels raided the two largest bus stations in the Vedado and Vobora sections of the city and poured water into the gasoline supplies. Many buses had to suspend operations.

Other rebel bands attacked and burned large mattress and leather tanning factories in Marianao, five miles southwest of Havana. Rebels raiders entered the National Bank of Cuba in downtown Havana and burned pouches containing thousands of checks. They fled without bothering any money.

Martini in Madrid Acquire Latin Flavor

MADRID, Spain (INS)—American visitors in Madrid have found that the Martini has acquired a Spanish accent. It is known as the Martinez.

The Martinez differs in only one respect from the Martini, Spanish 23 per cent in 1955 and 6 per cent in 1949.

Pet Shop Features Velvet Lined Caskets

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Market Street passers-by who stop to gaze at a pet shop aren't looking "at the doggie in the window"—but at velvet-lined caskets specially designed for animals.

They come in three sizes—in pink and blue.

sherry to the five parts of gin. After blending, the drink is chilled briefly with ice and served with a stuffed green olive.

Cotton Mechanized

Duke Parapsychologist Probes 'Mental Force' as Cause of Phenomena

SEAFORD, N.Y. (AP) — With a Duke University psychologist on hand yesterday, no bottles blew their tops nor did objects fly in the home of the James Herrmann family.

Since Feb. 3, the Herrmanns—the parents and Lucille, 13, and James Jr., 12—have reported flying objects in their six-room ranch home. In addition to bottles blowing their screw tops, other things have whizzed through the air—including a portable phonograph.

The Duke specialist, Dr. J. Gaither Pratt, is a member of the university's parapsychology laboratory, which investigates such things as "extrasensory perception" and other seemingly unexplainable phenomena.

Pratt is trying to determine if young James could be influencing things. He has been close at hand after every incident. Nobody has seen the boy put the objects in motion physically. Whether he is doing so mentally is another matter.

Pratt, who had no immediate comment, planned to spend at least one more day at the Herrmann home.

Also on hand at the Herrmann home was a mobile transmitter equipped with ultra high frequency receivers manned by a full crew of technicians. They reported that no odd electrical waves were picked up.

Friday Last Day to Pay Property Tax in Township

Waterford Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson has announced that Friday is the last day that residents may pay their property tax at the township hall.

Beginning Saturday, taxes must be paid at the Oakland County Treasurer's office in Pontiac, with a 4 per cent and one-half of one per cent interest charged as a penalty each month until paid.

Also during the month of March, a revised statement from the township treasurer must accompany any remittance to the County treasurer.

As of February 19th, a little more than 75 per cent of Waterford Township taxes have been collected, Mrs. Olson said.

Friday is also the last day that 1958 licenses may be obtained locally. After that, the licenses will be issued from the Oakland County Treasurer, or the Oakland County Animal Shelter.

The dog licenses, after Friday's deadline, will increase from $1 to $2 for male and unsexed animals. There will be an increase of $2 to $4 for female animals.

Area School Official to Attend Convention

Waterford Township schools' assistant superintendent Mrs. Chandos Reid Rice will attend a five-day convention for supervision and curriculum development, at Seattle, Washington, beginning Monday.

She has been asked to be on a panel of the assembly discussing "Organizing for Curriculum Planning — Who does What and When?"

Dr. Rice joined the Waterford Township staff this year and has charge of curriculum coordination in the school system.

Parole Official Speaks to Pontiac Optimists

The Pontiac Optimist Luncheon Club had Arthur E. Hahn, of the Michigan Parole office as featured speaker today at their noon meeting at the Waldron Hotel.

The title of Hahn's speech was "Paroles and Pardons With Concern to Juveniles." At next week's meeting, Mayor Donaldson is scheduled to address the club.

CART DESIGN — Postman Frederick W. Frost of Kenmore, N. Y., has affixed a set of portable runners to his carrier cart for maneuverability in wintry weather. Runners can be swung up over the wheels in better weather.

Released as Witness in Husband's Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Priscilla Rose prepared today to return to Michigan following her release as a material witness in the Jan. 20 slaying of her husband, Clyde.

The pretty 22-year-old widow said she will leave here at the end of the week for Grand Rapids where relatives of her husband are caring for her 2-year-old son.

Rose, a flight engineer and native of Grand Rapids, was found shot to death in his car near his home at Long Beach, Long Island. Discussing her imprisonment and lengthy questioning by police at Mineola, N. Y., Mrs. Rose said, "I was just awfully frightened through the whole thing. I'm glad it's over and I'm allowed to go home."

She said she plans to take her son Russell to San Antonio, Tex., where her parents live.

Mrs. Rose's attorney, Joseph Zalk, said he is trying to contact the mysterious writer of a series of letters to him about the murder. Zalk said he apparently has knowledge that has not been published.

Orkney Villagers See Norway in Mirage

ORKNEY ISLANDS — Twice in the last 40 years people on the Orkney island of Sanday, north of Scotland, have enjoyed the phenomenon of a mirage, St. Margaret's Hope reports.

Shortly after World War I and again on a recent day the shape of a big white building with other smaller buildings clustered around it appeared in the sky and remained there for several hours.

The mirage was clear enough for watchers to decide that the architecture appeared more foreign than British. It might well have been the reflection of some Norwegian village, they believe. Norway is over 300 miles across the North Sea.

Maine City Councilors Come Both Young, Old

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Maine may have the nation's oldest and youngest city councilors.

At 90, William H. O'Brien recently was returned to a fourth three-year term on the council in Portland. O'Brien claims to be the oldest city councilor in the country.

Auburn's councilman Donald A. Roberts makes no claims. But he was 21 when he was elected in September. A radio announcer, Roberts is the son and grandson of Auburn councilors.

Atomic Rocket Engine Testing May Start Sometime This Year, Senator Discloses

(The following dispatch by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.), vice chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, is the first indication that nuclear propulsion may be the answer to putting "space platforms" in the sky as way stations for travel in outer space and that first engine tests are close at hand.)

By SEN. CLINTON P. ANDERSON
Written for NEA
WASHINGTON—High up on the same isolated rocky pinnacle that comprises the City of Los Alamos, N. M., where much of the technology of the atom bomb was worked out, scientists are now conducting nuclear rocket propulsion and nuclear engine control studies.

At present, the propulsion systems under study there are in the development stage. However, it is hoped that static tests on some models can be started at the Jackass Flats nuclear propulsion static test area of the AEC's Nevada Proving Grounds some time in 1958.

The Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory has been given the assignment called Project Rover. It is concerned with the propulsion system only and not with the actual rocket.

Though the systems being developed at Los Alamos might be considered to compete with a chemical rocket system as far as an ICBM is concerned, they are considerably better for a satellitebearing rocket, or when one considers escaping from the earth's gravity for interplanetary travel.

SEN. ANDERSON: The stakes are high at Los Alamos.

A chemical rocket system is currently believed by the military to be better than a nuclear propulsion system for rockets smaller than those in the ICBM category, but the nuclear propelled rocket is still a very fascinating project.

When the engineer starts to develop an ICBM, he can with some safety depend upon a chemical system with the three stages that are ordinarily contemplated. He wants an enormous lift to get it off the ground; then he wants a second stage to continue rapid acceleration into space; and then he wants the final projectile to shed its heavier parts and fly swiftly on its appointed mission.

However, when the scientist contemplates distances longer than 5,000 miles or the lifting of enormous payload weights for those ambitious projects which involve longer distances or a more spectacular lift than the ICBM, he thinks of atomic power, since with the higher energy available from each pound of propellant in nuclear systems, it is believed these more ambitious missions may be far easier to accomplish with nuclear propulsion.

The desirability of a nuclear rocket over a chemical rocket is that the exhaust velocities of the former are such that it can conceivably put a 10 to 20 per cent payload into space, whereas a chemical rocket can apparently only put a fraction of a per cent payload up. The energies it takes to eject the propellant at high velocities are tremendous, and these energies are limited in a chemical system. The energies theoretically available in a nuclear propelled rocket are virtually unlimited.

Work on nuclear rocket propulsion started at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in April, 1955, and at present there are about 120 persons working on the job in one area, and these are being aided by about 60 more who are "at work on related studies in all the Laboratory's supporting divisions.

Rubber Band Proves Fatal to Growing Fish

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was a rubber band around the middle of a 10-inch sand sole which a Steinhardt Aquarium collector caught in San Francisco Bay.

Indentations indicated the fish had swum into the rubber band while quite small.

The fish kept growing. The band got tighter. Yesterday the fish died.

French Actress to Play Heroine in Sagan Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — My, how Christine Carere has changed! Last spring, the French doll was brought here amid much fanfare to play the Francoise Sagan heroine in "A Certain Smile." But all that glitters is not pure gold by Hollywood standards, and 20th Century-Fox decided that its golden girl would need some refining.

In the first place, there was her English. Very bad. In fact, almost nonexistent. When I interviewed her shortly after her arrival, her replies and my questions had to be batted back and forth by an interpreter.

The studio thought enough of her chances to delay the picture, and Christine went to school to learn English. She practiced daily with studio teacher Frances Klamt.

Besides her daily lessons, she studied English by watching movies and TV, and she recommends it highly.

Aside from her English, Christine was also ordered to shave a few pounds—to get her figure in shape for the demands of the CinemaScope screen.

Another change: her brown hair has been given a reddish hue to brighten it up for the color cameras.

The theme of "A Certain Smile" is a young girl's romance with a mature man, played by Rossano Brazzi. Though Christine doesn't put in with the Sagan view of morality, she admitted that it made sense for girls to fall for more mature men. She is 23, her husband Philippe Nicaud is 32.

"I have always liked men who are older," she remarked. "Going out with boys your age can be fun, but I think it is a mistake to marry them. A husband should have experience with a number of women before he settles down to marry."

Congressmen Seek Talk With Anderson

WASHINGTON — Members of the Michigan congressional delegation today asked Secretary of the Treasury Anderson to confer with them about depressed economic conditions in Michigan.

Subjects which they want to take up, they said in a letter to Anderson, include proposed repeal of the 10 per cent federal excise tax on automotive products.

"Unemployment and depressed economic conditions are always words of grave concern to the people throughout our country," they wrote Anderson.

"Right now, they are descriptive of a situation already existing in the state of Michigan, where an estimated 320,000 persons are out of work, largely because of a 25 per cent decline in automotive production."

They noted that the Michigan legislature recently passed a resolution urging repeal of the auto excise tax.

The nation's life insurance companies acquired $223,000,000 of real estate in the first nine months of 1956, bringing their total real estate holdings to $2,748,000,000.

Long Discouraged Visitors Nepal, Forbidden Land, Now Welcomes Tourists

WASHINGTON — The "forbidden kingdom" of Nepal has opened a tourist bureau—an event that would have seemed incredible only a decade ago.

Venetian adventurer Marco Polo reported about the year 1300 that the Himalayan kingdom was "little frequented by strangers, whose visits the King discourages." The power of a long-time ruling family was broken in 1951.

At that time only a few hundred Westerners, in all the annals of recorded history, had ever visited the Wisconsin-size land.

Nepal has let down the bars under the progressive leadership of its youthful new monarch, Mahendra. When he was crowned in May, 1956, many Americans and other Westerners arrived to witness one of the world's most magnificent ceremonies.

Katmandu, the capital, normally has only 150,000 people; it bulged with nearly half a million. Houses were decked in gay pastel colors, and painted elephants lumbered down the streets, grazing the eaves of temples. E. Thomas Gilliard traveled to Katmandu for the ceremonies and prepared an illustrated account for the National Geographic Magazine (July, 1957).

The Shangri-La country fascinated coronation guests, and the Nepalese found that it was pleasant to have visitors. Completely reversing previous policy, Nepal has now set up an organization to arrange excursions and provide guides.

Visitors to Nepal are struck not only by the scenery of the Himalayas (the name means "abode of snows"), but by the country's sturdy, devoutly religious people. Cities are studded with temples, including special places of worship for people of different trades, such as weavers and brass-makers. Richly carved Hindu temples and Buddhist shrines dot the country-side.

Religious Inclination Affects Driving?

CHICAGO (INS) — An automobile driver's religious inclination has a direct bearing on his chances of staying alive on the highways — at least according to studies done at the University of Colorado.

Writing in the magazine "Traffic Safety," Dr. Eugene S. Turell, director of the psychiatric division of the Denver General Hospital, said the UC studies also brought out that impulsive drivers are not necessarily poor ones.

He said: "It isn't the degree to which motorists have impulses that's important, but rather the method by which they handle or cope with their impulses."

Dr. Turell said university tests, given to determine how motorists viewed certain value systems, indicated that "persons not prone to accidents" were oriented toward religious values — and less toward aesthetic and theoretical values — than high accident subjects.

Votes for Stamp Hike

WASHINGTON — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) voted with the majority in a 49-42 roll call by which the Senate rejected an amendment of Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) to eliminate a 5-cent postage rate for non-local letters from a bill increasing postal rates. Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) voted present.

Actress Mulls Suitor's Offer of Trust Fund

HOLLYWOOD — Actress Sharon Lee today mullied a California fruit grower's offer to set up a $500,000 trust fund for her if she will marry him.

"I need time to think," she said yesterday at a news conference called by her and Tony Vito in his apartment to explain the status of their romance. Both confirmed the offer.

Vito, 38, an ex-Marine from Boston, said of his offer: "I'm not trying to influence Sharon by this. I merely want her to know that if she marries me she won't have to support me."

The blonde Miss Lee, 27, said when she recently divorced singer David Street after less than a month of marriage that she helped support him. Street and actress Debra Paget have since married.

Vito lives in Hollywood when not at Lodi, Calif., on business. Miss Lee said they met at a Hollywood party and have been dating since Feb. 12 but she has also been going out with others.

Said Vito: "This town is full of sharpshooters who want to know what you can do for them but Sharon is different. She won't take anything."

"I gave her a mink stole and a Cadillac and she made me take them back. I had a birthday party all planned for 400 guests that would have cost $5,000 or $10,000. She canceled it. She thought it would cost too much."

Said Sharon: "He's a wonderful person, a fine person, but it all happened too fast. We have never been on a date without my manager or girl friend. I intend to see him but I need time to think. Marriage must be built on love, not money."

There are about 38,000 varieties of mushrooms of which about 1,000 are fit for human consumption.

BEAUTY QUEEN? — Looking rather fierce, Greek beauty queen Antigone Costanza is set to cause a sensation at the next masked ball she attends. The paint job was applied in Rome by painter Novella Parigini, who used Antigone's face for her canvas. If this idea becomes popular, girls will dispense with their powder puffs and bring along palettes and brushes for retouching.

LAST OF CONQUERORS — Eighty-five-year-old Olaf Bjaland, the last man alive of the five Norwegians who first reached the South Pole nearly a half century ago, relaxes with a cigarette at his home in Morgedal, Norway. With Roald Amundsen and three others, Bjaland reached the frozen bottom of the world on Dec. 14, 1911. Very much alert, despite his advanced age, he follows current Antarctic explorations with keen interest.

Asks Ike to Back Bill Upping Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON — A letter urging presidential support of a bill to increase personal exemptions on taxes from $600 to $800 has been sent to the White House by Rep. Machrowicz (D-Mich), sponsor of the measure.

Pleading for such action as an aid to the nation's economy, the congressman said he has just completed a survey of the Detroit area and found distressing conditions caused by unemployment.

George Murphy Named Official in Lucy's Firm

HOLLYWOOD — Actor George Murphy has been appointed vice president in charge of public affairs for Desilu Arnez's and Lucille Ball's television-film company.

Arnez, president of Desilu Productions, Inc., said Murphy will represent him in dealings with networks, sponsors, advertising agencies, accounts and independent producers.

4 Men Held in Robbery of Kalamazoo Market

KALAMAZOO — Four men were held today in the $4,000 robbery of a Kalamazoo supermarket Saturday.

They include Robert S. Mortensen, 23, of nearby Mattawan, Edward DeHollander, 22, and his brothers, Bernard, 18 and John (age unknown), all of Kalamazoo. The money was in a safe taken from Carl's Supermarket No. 1.

Pair Declared Dead

DETROIT — Probate Judge James H. Sexton has declared dead a father and son who disappeared on a duck hunting trip three months ago. They were Claude Nix, 37, and his son, Raymond, 17 of suburban Redford Township, whose empty boat was found off Clochester, Ont. Sexton acted under a 1954 state law covering disaster deaths.

Foreign Press Gives Top Rating to 'River Kwai'

HOLLYWOOD — The Hollywood Foreign Press Assn. has picked "The Bridge on the River Kwai" as the best movie of 1957.

The foreign correspondents announced their 15th annual Golden Globe awards—often a fair indication of Academy "Oscar" selections in March—at star-packed ceremonies last night.

Named the top world performers last year were Alec Guinness ("The Bridge on the River Kwai") and Joanne Woodward ("The Three Faces of Eve").

Japan now ranks second in the world in the production of transistor radios, producing 500,000 sets a month.

Detroit Plan Studied

DETROIT — The Detroit Budget Bureau has recommended a 42-million-dollar public improvement program for the city's fiscal year beginning July 1 as a means of maintaining employment and purchasing power in the Motor City. The plan is being studied by Mayor Louis J. Mirani.

Wood Alcohol Poisoning Kills Six Partygoers

NEW YORK (U)—Autopsies yesterday disclosed that four men and two women died of wood alcohol poisoning after attending a Sunday night party in Harlem.

Authorities were seeking other persons who attended the party in the home of Mrs. Ingegencia Torres, 55, one of the victims.

Police also were looking for the source of the wood alcohol, or methanol, which is a dangerous poison.

Sunbeam Abandons Fair Trade Prices

CHICAGO (U)—Sunbeam Corp. of Chicago has followed action by General Electric Co. and for "competitive" reasons has ordered elimination of fair trade practices on its small products.

Sunbeam distributors across the nation have been notified that the order is effective today, said C. C. Mender, sales vice president.

Earlier, General Electric Co. in New York announced it was scrapping its fair trade practices on small appliances, giving storekeepers the privilege to sell them at any price. Sunbeam products affected by the order include many of the same items covered in the GE order—toasters, coffee makers, mixers, etc.

"We are doing this reluctantly," Mender said. "It was necessary to keep Sunbeam dealers competitive."

He said heavier Sunbeam items, power tools, lawn mowers and hedge clippers, will continue to be "fair traded."

Things May Get Rather Crowded Upon the Moon

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U)—Things may be getting a bit crowded on the moon.

Two Phoenix men who claim ownership of the moon have learned that someone else staked a claim several years ago.

William E. Dudman Jr., a hotel clerk, and John B. Snell, presently unemployed, filed a warranty deed to the moon last week with County Recorder N. C. Moore, who insists the deed was drawn up legally.

Now it turns out that Professor Andrew Kenneth Frimos of New Orleans, who died Feb. 13, filed a similar claim several years ago in Cook County, Ill.

"Well, it's still ours unless proven otherwise," Dudman commented. "That's for the courts to decide."

No Crime in Bugging of Transit Union

NEW YORK (U)—A Manhattan grand jury found no evidence of crime in the "bugging" of the offices of the Motormen's Benevolent Assn.

A listening device was found in the MBA headquarters last Dec. 14 while the subway motormen were on strike. Apparently it had been installed some time before members of the independent union walked out.

Installing of such devices except by police and other law enforcement agencies became illegal under state law last July 1.

The City Transit Authority police admitted placing the "bug" in MBA headquarters but contended they were among the exempt authorities.

Japan Demands United Germany

Urges Russians to Heed Criticism of Conditions in Eastern Europe

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today urged Soviet Russia to heed criticism of conditions in Eastern Europe and called for "unification of Germany according to the freely expressed will of the German people."

A Japanese note also termed Russian criticism of NATO and other non-Communist collective security systems unwarranted. The note, delivered in Moscow and made public by the Foreign Ministry, said Japan does not regard such systems have aggressive purposes.

The note replied to Premier Bulganin's Dec. 10 letter to U.N. members on "increasing threat of a nuclear war."

The Japanese government said it agrees with the Soviet Union view that the young nations in the Near and Middle East should grow and develop along their own lines, "free from alien control."

"At the same time," the note continued, "it is hoped that the Soviet Union will listen more to the many criticisms raised regarding the conditions that currently prevail in the countries of East Europe."

The Japanese government expressed support for the holding of an East-West summit conference but, like the Western Allies, called for "deep forethought and careful diplomatic preparation."

GAY BLADE — James N. Kinder proves he's a gay (old) blade as he laces up his skates preparatory to cutting some fancy figures on his 82nd birthday. Now a resident of Topeka, Kan., the nimble octogenarian says he's been skating since before he left Illinois way back in 1884. Kinder has 12 children, 30 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

12 Million Visit Italy

ROME — The Italian State Tourist Office reports that 12,644,000 foreigners entered Italy last year. Germans, making up 22 per cent of the total, were the most numerous group.

Hal Boyle Says:

Skip Moon Trip --- You Wouldn't Enjoy It

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you been saving up pennies to finance a vacation to the moon? Well, if you have, now is a good time to stop, break open your piggy bank and spend the money on the nearest blonde. You'll have more fun.

Like millions of red-blooded Americans I, too, was eager to make a pioneer voyage to the moon. I was, that is, until I did a little research.

Although I consulted such standard works as the Encyclopedia Britannica, I found their articles on the moon a bit too advanced for a mere tourist. After all, who knows what a synodic month is?

The real blood-curdling facts about the moon, however, are fully bared in a little volume called "The Young Scientist's Funbook, for Boys and Girls age 10 to 15".

From this lunar Baedeker for the barefoot scholar, I learned: The nights there are two weeks long. So are the days.

Because it has no atmosphere, you can't hear a sound of any kind.

Because its gravitational pull is only a sixth that of the earth, you'd have trouble avoiding floating every time you went for a walk.

During the day it is so hot that you could fry an egg in your hand. You'd fry, too.

At night it is so cold your body would freeze solid.

It has no water, no soil—just enough to get your second wind. On the moon your first wind is your last one.

When you get right down to it, the moon simply is no place for ordinary people at all.

The next time you get a chance, take a good long look at the man in the moon. Do you think he's smiling? He isn't. It's an optical illusion. Actually, his mouth is wide open, and he's crying, "Help!"

Laying-Hen Flocks Cut

CHICAGO — The nation's chicken farmers have trimmed laying flocks sharply to cut losses on low egg prices. On July 1 there were 279,000,000 hens in laying flocks, some 2,000,000 fewer than the year before. The number of chicks hatched for flock replacement has dropped about 20 per cent below 1956.

Brilliant Oranges Good in Looks, Taste, Nutrition

Pontiac Press Home Editor

We are so accustomed to seeing food advertising in newspapers and magazines that we simply take it for granted. But it is a scant 50 years that oranges have been advertised. They were the first food in its natural form to be advertised and the first to have the word vitamin used in connection with a food ad.

Oranges have the perfect packaging. "Unzip" the skin, and you have a delightful food all ready to eat. Cut the skin carefully, and you have a pretty container.

Oranges can serve as table decorations before being eaten. Their cheerful color brightens gloomy morning breakfast tables. Oranges may be eaten raw or cooked; as slices, wedges or chunks; juiced or in halves. Oranges are wonderful.

Sunday morning brunch will be more enjoyable than ever if you serve your family or guests Orange Nut Waffles with an Orange Butter Sauce.

Orange Nut Waffles
1 cup bite-size orange pieces
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/4 cup melted shortening
1 cup light cream
1 cup chopped nuts

Prepare oranges; sprinkle with sugar and set aside. Sift dry ingredients into mixing bowl. Mix together eggs, melted shortening, cream; add to dry ingredients, stirring lightly. Drain sweetened orange pieces, add to batter with chopped nuts. Pour into hot waffle iron, bake until done.

These waffles may also be made by using a prepared waffle or biscuit mix. Follow directions on box for mixing, add drained, sweetened orange pieces and nuts. Makes 4 servings.

Orange Butter Sauce

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
2 tablespoons fresh orange juice
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Add salt, grated orange peel, orange juice and vanilla. Mix well. Serve on hot Orange Nut Waffles.

Oranges in molded salad make for a pretty appearance and good eating. This salad is a hearty one with cottage cheese and chopped nuts, as well as bananas.

Banana and Orange Salad Molds

2 medium size eating oranges
1 package orange flavored gelatin
Orange juice plus boiling water to make 1 cup
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
1/2 cup chopped pecans
2 medium size bananas
1/2 cup evaporated milk, chilled to cold

Peel oranges, then section over a bowl to catch juice. Place 2 orange sections in bottom of each of 8 custard cups or individual molds. Squeeze membranous orange cores to extract remaining juice.

Place gelatin in medium size mixing bowl. Measure orange juice and add boiling water to make 1 cup. Add this to gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Chill gelatin until it is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Stir in cottage cheese and pecans.

Mash bananas (there will be about 1 cup), then fold into gelatin mixture. Whip chilled milk until it will hold a stiff peak. Fold into chilled gelatin mixture. Spoon over orange segments in molds. Chill until firm, about 2 hours. When ready to serve, unmold on lettuce leaves. Makes 8 servings.

Peanut Butter, Raisins Make New Fruit Sauce

With the knowledge that we won't eat ourselves out of peanuts in the near future, it might be fun to try new ways of using our generous supply. One way is PEANUT-BUTTER-FRUIT SAUCE for dessert topping.

Mix one-half cup each of sugar and dark corn-syrup, one-third cup water and simmer for 10 minutes. Cool and add slowly to one-fourth cup of peanut butter. Stir thoroughly. Then stir in one-fourth cup of raisins. Serve over ice cream or pudding, and prepare to blush modestly when the family applauds.

Sprinkle Herbs on Fish Sticks

Light luncheons or suppers in winter should include something hot. And many times soups and sandwiches just aren't sufficiently satisfying. That's where popular fish sticks come into the picture. They're a light food, quickly prepared, easily digested. Serve them in a menu like the following, and you'll have a meal that strikes everyone's fancy.

FISH STICK - SALAD MENU

Fish Sticks Creamed Onions
Green Salad Potato Salad
Lemon Snow Pudding
Coffee

HERB-BAKED FISH STICKS

Sprinkle the sticks with either of these herb mixtures: 1. Dried thyme, marjoram and oregano; 2. Dried parsley, celery flakes and poultry seasoning. Arrange on baking sheet and follow package directions for baking.

CREAMED ONIONS

Peel 1 1/2 lbs. small white onions, add water to cover and cook uncovered until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain and put in heat-proof serving dish or individual baking dishes. Pour medium white sauce over onions. Reheat in oven, if necessary. Sprinkle with paprika before serving. Makes four servings.

Liquid Smoke Adds New Taste to Nuts

Looking for a new tidbit? Here's one that intrigued a testing group.

Smoked Cocktail Almonds

1/2 teaspoon liquid smoke
2 teaspoons water
1 cup unblanched almonds
1 teaspoon olive oil
1/4 teaspoon (or more) salt

Mix liquid smoke and water. Add almonds and toss to coat nuts. Place in pie plate, cover and let stand overnight. Add oil and toss until well coated. Roast in a slow (300 degrees) oven, stirring often, for 25 to 30 minutes. Sprinkle with salt. Note: The liquid smoke used in testing this recipe comes in a 5-ounce bottle and consists of condensed wood smoke, vinegar, browned sugar and spices.

Do not buy frozen vegetables that are even slightly softened; packages should be frozen hard. Ever add crumbed, crispy cooked bacon to the yolk stuffing for deviled eggs? For a quick glaze for baked hams and picnic shoulders, mix honey with orange marmalade. Simple toppers for scrambled eggs: grated cheese, chopped parsley or snipped chives. Add a bit of mace and celery salt to a cream sauce to be served over fish.

Easy to fix thrifty to feed

Easy Fish Sauce Comes From Can

A spaghetti sauce with meat is especially good over spaghetti, macaroni and noodles. The same spaghetti sauce, but made with mushrooms, instead of the meat, transforms an ordinary meat loaf, for instance, into a culinary triumph. With the coming of Lent this particular sauce will turn many a fish dish into a tasty treat.

For something glamorous, try serving salmon steaks on a plank with a ruff of frothy whipped potatoes and the spaghetti sauce with mushrooms poured over all for a Lenten dish that will have the family polishing their plates.

Broiled Salmon Steaks
Sprinkle salmon steaks with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Place on pre-heated broiling pan. Slide pan into broiler 2 inches away from the heat. Broil 3 minutes, then turn carefully and broil 5 minutes longer.

Meanwhile heat an 8-ounce can of spaghetti sauce with mushrooms. Remove salmon steaks to wooden plank. Make a ruff of whipped potatoes around the steaks by squeezing potatoes through a pastry tube. Spoon hot spaghetti sauce over salmon steaks.

Vegetable Medley Goes Into Salad

Good way to use up vegetable odds and ends.

Odds and Ends Salad
1/2 cup diced cooked snap beans
1/2 cup diced cooked carrots
1/2 cup diced saw celery
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Salt, pepper
Curry powder
Salad greens

Lightly mix together the snap beans, carrots and celery. Stir mayonnaise and lemon juice together with a dash of salt, pepper and curry powder. Lightly mix with vegetables; add more salt, pepper and curry powder if desired. Serve on crisp greens.

Asparagus Soup Lends Self to Various Dishes

For a touch of spring, use canned asparagus soup in your menus. Here are a few pleasant ways to do it:

Asparagus-Mushroom-Tuna Soup
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 soup cans milk
1 cup flaked tuna (7-oz. can, drained)
Blend soups and milk; stir in tuna. Heat but do not boil. Serves four.

Cauliflower Printemps
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
1/2 cup mayonnaise

1 tablespoon lemon juice
Cooked cauliflower (2 packages frozen or 1 medium head)
Paprika
Chopped chives or parsley
In saucepan, blend soup, mayonnaise and lemon juice. Heat but do not boil; stir occasionally. Serve over hot cauliflower; garnish with paprika, chives or parsley. Serves six to eight.

Apple Sauce Dumplings

Quick apple dumplings: Roll out pastry mix and cut in 6" squares. Fill center of each square with sweetened canned apple slices, a dusting of nutmeg, a fleck or two of butter. Draw up pastry and seal over fruit. Prick top. Bake on cookie sheet. Serve hot or cold, with cream.

Stuffed Oranges Good Hot - Cold

Every hostess seeks to serve at least one unusual dish. Certainly this recipe for baked oranges royal, to be served either hot or cold, is out of the ordinary.

Baked Oranges Royal
Six navel oranges
8 pitted dates
8 small dried figs
4 marshmallows
2 tablespoons flaked coconut
2 tablespoons finely chopped roasted cashews or unsalted almonds
Cut cap off stem end of oranges, remove pulp, and mix this last with the chopped dates, figs, nuts, coconut and diced marshmallows. Then dust well with brown sugar, stuff the orange shells. Bake for 1/2 hour in medium oven (350 degrees F.).

Variations: 1. Add 1/4 teaspoon curry powder to accompany meats. 2. Use lemonated whipped cream for dessert. 3. Sprinkle almonds, coconut on top. 4. Use lemon hard sauce. Serve hot or cold. You can freeze these and have ready for sudden entertaining.

When planning poultry stuffing you may wish to put aside a loaf of bread two or three days ahead so that the bread will be stale but not hard.

Purchase Fish by Rule for Ample Servings

When purchasing fish fillets or other boneless cuts, allow 1/2 pound per person. If the fish is bony, or if you are planning to stuff and bake a whole fish, allow 3/4 to 1 pound per person. Oysters and clams are purchased by count in the shell, and by the pint out of the shell.

Uncooked shrimps, crabs and lobsters are purchased by the pound in the shell . . . though some of the better stores also offer them cooked. Soft-shell crabs are usually sold by count.

INDIVIDUAL POT ROASTS — Tender, individual pot roasts nestling among broad noodles make an ideal main course for that special dinner or buffet.

Pot Roasts With Noodles a Company Treat

Tender, with brown glaze, individual pot roasts are company stuff and no nonsense. Served with broad noodles, broiled mushroom crowns, broccoli and then a cranberry nut pie — well, do you agree that's a company dinner? The individual pot roasts are perfect for the buffet supper, too.

Individual Pot Roasts

2 pounds beef chuck
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon kitchen bouquet
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup water
1 medium sliced onion
1 stalk celery, sliced
3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour

Have butcher cut chuck into 6 small pot roasts. Combine honey and bouquet in bottom of Dutch oven. Place over moderate heat, add pot roasts and turn to coat all sides with honey mixture. Lightly brown meat on all sides. Add marjoram, 1 teaspoon salt, water, onion and celery. Cover and simmer over low heat until meat is tender, about 2 hours. Replenish water if necessary. Remove meat to warm platter. Put pan liquid, including vegetables, through sieve or food mill and blend to smoothness in an electric blender. Skim off fat. Measure 3 tablespoons fat into saucepan. Blend in flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add enough water to pan liquid mixture to make 2 cups. Stir into fat-flour mixture and cook, stirring constantly over moderate heat until gravy thickens and boils. Serve roasts on bed of broad buttered noodles with gravy in side dish.

Cherry Relish Takes to Meat

Here's an example, a new kind of meat relish. It is easy to convert a can of red cherries into a dish of relish, with orange and lemon for sparkle, and fruit pectin for firmness. Add sugar and a dash of red coloring as a final flourish: you have a most interesting new variation on a classic theme.

The relish will go well with most poultry and equally well with meats in the pork family: a roast, a ham or chops.

Cherry Relish

3 cans (1 pound each) red sour pitted cherries (water pack) drained
1 orange, quartered and seeded
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon red food coloring
1 bottle (8 ounces) liquid fruit pectin
Put drained cherries and orange through food chopper. Place in a 2-quart saucepan; add sugar, lemon juice, salt and red food coloring; mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a full rolling boil; boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add liquid fruit pectin and stir well. Chill. Yield: 1 quart.

Weather Still Causing Higher Food Prices

The weather is a timely subject all year long. This week it makes food news again in that slight price increases on meats, eggs and some fresh produce can definitely be traced to cold or rainy weather.

MEATS—Several retailers report that red meats and fryers are higher due mainly to shorter supplies coming to market. Fresh, frozen and canned fish are receiving special emphasis in many stores. For economical choices check variety meats, stewers and large turkeys.

Ocean perch and cod are popular fish choices costing fewer cents per pound than most other varieties suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent. Prices vary according to brand, but usually ocean perch fillets are ten to fifteen cents per serving. Generally, cod will cost about the same as perch. Snell represents a low-cost meal value also.

Fillet means that the fish is a ready-to-cook, boneless, solid slice cut lengthwise away from the backbone. Steaks are ready to cook cross-section slices of large dressed fish.

Fillet or steaks will serve three people from each pound relates Mrs. Lawyer. If you buy fish that is whole (not yet cleaned) allow one pound for each person. If the fish has been cleaned, buy one-half pound for each serving.

Ready to heat and serve frozen fish fillets usually weigh less than a pound. Cost per package may be about equal to a pound of frozen fillets of the same species. The pound purchase will be the most for the money. Shoppers buying the built-in maid service of fish already cooked should be willing to pay for the added cost.

PRODUCE—Short Florida vegetable supplies and the recent California rains have upset prices and supply of fresh produce. You will likely find slight cost increases on onions, cabbage, lettuce and potatoes.

Whether you buy fresh, canned or frozen produce is your decision. Base your decision on a matter of taste, intended use, cost, number of servings, storage facilities and convenience.

If your decision is to stock some canned foods you may want to check peas, corn, beans, beets, applesauce and peaches. Frozen corn and strawberries are especially marked in some stores.

Orange juice in 48-ounce cans is the least expensive way to serve Vitamin C packed orange juice today. One cup will supply more Vitamin C than you need for the day. One medium juice orange peeled and eaten whole will do the same.

Bananas and apples top the fresh fruit list. Banana prices are very reasonable due to heavier supplies. Smart shoppers will buy the apples they can use in one week. Apples coming out of storage lose both crispness and flavor after several days at room temperature. Storage in the refrigerator will help keep the quality you buy.

Apple varieties most often found at this season include Delicious (for eating and salads); and McIntosh, Jonathan, Steele's Red, Northern Spy and Winesap (for cooking).

Fresh asparagus from California is available, a sign that spring is not too far away. Cost is high.

Take Special Pains

Frozen vegetables cook in about half the time needed for fresh vegetables, say food specialists at Michigan State University, because they are partially cooked before freezing. Cook frozen vegetables in a small amount of salted water according to directions on the package. Try to cook so little or no liquid is left.

Carrots, Olives Dot Chicken Mixture

See what a few ripe olives and a little green pepper can do for a chicken salad sandwich:

Confetti Chicken Salad Sandwiches
1 cup chopped cooked chicken (8-ounce can)
1/2 cup chopped ripe olives
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper
1/2 cup grated carrot
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons salad dressing
12 slices whole wheat bread
Butter or margarine, softened
Lettuce

Mix chicken, olives, green pepper, carrot, salt, pepper and salad dressing. Spread bread with butter or margarine. Spread 6 slices with chicken mixture. Cover with lettuce. Top with remaining bread slices. Makes 6 sandwiches.

For a mixed grill main course use halved tomatoes and mushroom caps with fish steaks or fillets; add mushrooms the last five minutes of broiling time.

Peanuts Pack Powerful Punch

CHEESE NUT LOAVES — Savory, satisfying and pretty as Spring are these crunchy little loaves for Sunday or company buffet. Onion and worcestershire sauce add zing to cheese, rice and ground peanuts. Perfect with mushroom or tomato soup sauce and curly macaroni.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Oh, my! Now we're celebrating National Peanut Week, March 2-8. All jokes to the contrary, the little peanut is an important food. Under the Act of Congress establishing the Federal Farm Support Program, peanuts are one of America's "six basic crops."

An important agricultural crop of the South—and to a lesser extent the Southwest—the peanut production each year amounts to almost one million tons. Seventy-five per cent of this is edible. The rest goes into cosmetics, abrasives, insulation, paper pulp and even synthetic fabrics.

Spanish and Virginia peanuts are the ones best known to us for eating purposes. Other kinds are used in peanut butter and candy.

Consider the potent little peanut when you're planning Lenten meals. It's jam-packed with proteins, nicotinic acid and the B vitamins. A pound of peanuts equals in energy value four pounds of steak or ten quarts of milk.

This Lenten Loaf shown in the accompanying photograph uses rice and cheese along with a cup and a half of peanuts.

Peanut Cheese Loaf With Rice
1 cup cooked rice
1/2 cup scalded peanuts, ground
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Pack into a medium-size greased loaf pan or 6 little popple pans. Or double the recipe and divide into 3 small loaf pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour for larger loaf, 30 to 45 minutes for smaller sizes.

Turn loaf onto a warm platter. Surround with hot buttered macaroni in one of the curly new shapes. Pass hot mushroom or savory tomato sauce — condensed soup diluted just a little with water. Makes 6 servings.

Have you ever heard of peanut sherbet? Try serving this as an unusual dessert soon.

Peanut Caramel Sherbet
1 cup granulated sugar, caramelized
1 cup hot water
1 cup milk, scalded
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup chilled milk
1/2 cup ground roasted peanuts
3 whole eggs, well beaten
Caramelize granulated sugar, stirring constantly over a low flame. Add boiling water slowly, while stirring constantly, until caramelized sugar is thoroughly dissolved. Set aside in a warm place.

Combine scalded milk, well beaten eggs and salt in top of double boiler. Pour caramelized mixture in fine stream onto egg mixture over hot water. Stir constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from hot water, add vanilla, chilled milk and ground peanuts.

Freeze in refrigerator tray until mushy; scrape bottom and sides and beat one minute. Return to tray and freeze until solid, but not too hard, about 2 1/2 hours. Serve in chilled glasses.

Ladyfingers or macaroons, used as a base for vanilla custard pudding and sliced bananas, make a delightful dessert.

Some good cooks like to add minced fresh dill (or a finely chopped dill pickle) to a dry buttermilk dressing for poultry.

Dates Added to Basic Cooky

That all-American peanut butter cookie is like the little girl with the curl: When it's good it's very good, and when it's bad it's horrid. We're happy to say that this recipe for Peanut Butter Crisps is one of the best we've ever tested.

It's a crisp cookie, fairly thin, delicately spiced and keeps well in a tightly closed container.

Spiced Peanut Butter and Date Cookies

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup crunchy peanut butter
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg

1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup finely chopped dates
Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream the butter, peanut butter, nutmeg, ginger and sugars. Beat in egg thoroughly; stir in dates; gradually stir in the sifted dry ingredients. If desired chill several hours, until stiff enough to handle easily; shape dough into balls the size of a small walnut. Place on, ungreased baking sheets.

Flatten as thin as possible with times of a fork dipped in water. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 12 minutes. Cool on wire racks. Store in a tightly closed container. Makes about 50 cookies.

Rolls may be heated by placing them in a preheated moderate oven for about 10 minutes.

New Version of Old Salad Quick One

Tossed Waldorf Salad

2 cups bite-size pieces torn salad greens (packed down)
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons broken walnut meats
2 medium-sized red apples (cored and cut into small fan-shaped pieces)
2 tablespoons French dressing
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Salt

Put salad greens into a medium-sized salad bowl with celery, walnuts and apples. Mix French dressing and mayonnaise. Toss with salad mixture, adding salt and more French dressing, if desired, to taste. Makes 4 small servings.

Ways Listed to Add Variety to Lunchbox

How about eliminating some of the sameness in those mid-winter school lunches? There are several ways to provide variety without overlooking basic, nutritious foods.

Here are a few suggestions to tempt kiddies in their lunch box meals.

Make dessert sandwiches by putting vanilla wafers together with jelly and a dab of cottage cheese.

plastic cup with tight cover or make it a kidney bean salad.

Tuck in a relish kabob. Just impale on skewers a pitted ripe olive, a candied sweet pickle, slice, a cube of American cheese, and another olive.

Winter Salads Better With Special Dressing

You can still beat the salad bowl problem with just a plain head lettuce salad. Let the dressing do the trick to satisfy family appetites suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

There are other ways too. Combine two greens, spinach and bite-size pieces of head lettuce. You will have spinach left over, but it will keep in the hydrator of the refrigerator for another meal.

Fold Figs, Cheese Inside Omelet

Make your favorite light and wonderful omelet. When it has finished cooking and is ready to be folded over before serving, spread one half the omelet with the following spread:

Drain and remove stems from stewed dried figs, allowing three figs to each serving. Then cut the figs into tiny pieces, sweeten them rather generously, add lemon juice to taste and also add some melted butter. Spread on the omelet.

Cover figs with freshly grated Parmesan cheese, fold the omelet over, sprinkle the top quickly with more cheese and a sprinkling of confectioners sugar. Hurry the omelet to the table on a really hot plate.

How About Apples in Cranberry Sauce?

Cranapple Sauce
2 cups sugar
1 cup water
4 cups fresh cranberries
2 medium-sized apples (pared and sliced)
Grated rind of 1 orange
Put sugar and water in a medium-sized kettle; stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil; add cranberries, apples and orange rind. Boil gently, without stirring, until cranberries pop open—about 10 minutes. Remove from heat; cool without stirring. Makes about 5 cups.

Junior League Will Present 11th Children's Play

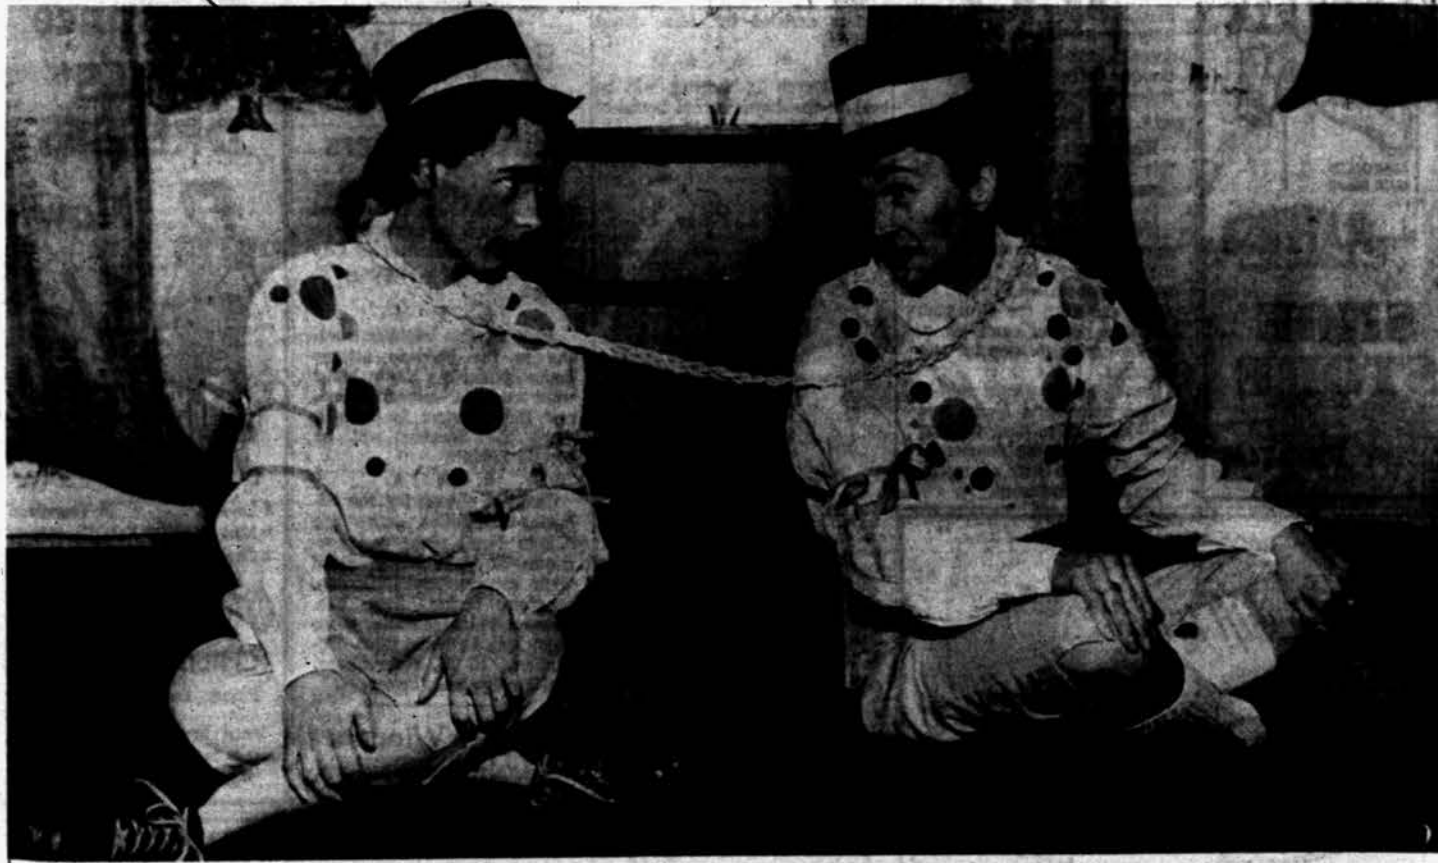

There's sorcery in the offing it would seem as harlequin-clad Mrs. Everell E. Fisher (left) waves her hand over "The Box of Smiles," the children's fantasy which will be presented by the Junior League of Birmingham Players throughout this area on a trouping schedule beginning Friday at Whittier School. Mrs. Robert W. Scripps, another member of the cast, watches the magical activity with keen interest.

Mrs. Francis Loud (left). Mrs. Wendell Clough stands behind his highness regally surveying the scene. The John Hirsch children's drama will run through March 13.

These leprechaun-like individuals play major roles in the children's theater production. It is said that a leprechaun, if caught and held, must reveal the whereabouts of a treasure, and it appears that these perky two are none too pleased about revealing any secrets. Mrs. Nelson Noland (left) and Mrs. Garven Bawden Jr. are playing these roles.

'The Box of Smiles' Fantasy Opens Friday

The Junior League of Birmingham Players will present their 11th consecutive play this year with the production of the fantasy, "The Box of Smiles," by John Hirsch.

The group's trouping schedule will include Whittier School, Friday; Bagley School, Tuesday; Edmunson and Lamphire Schools, March 6; Grant School, March 11, and Harding School, March 13. These performances are expected to reach approximately 5,000 children.

Paid performances of the children's drama will be presented Saturday and March 8 in the Cranbrook Institute of Science auditorium at 10 and 11:15 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Tickets for these performances, which will reach nearly 1,000 children, may be purchased at the door, with proceeds to defray trouping costs and profit to go to the Children's Art Center, which will be opened at the Cranbrook Art Gallery next fall.

Included in the cast are Mrs. Garven Bawden Jr., Mrs. Franklin Butler, Mrs. Wendell S. Clough, Mrs. Everell E. Fisher, Mrs. Francis T. Loud, Mrs. Nelson B. Noland and Mrs. Robert W. Scripps.

Chairman of committees is Mrs. Bawden, assisted by Mrs. Leslie P. Durgin, costumes committee; Mrs. William H. Klenke Jr., stage manager; Mrs. Stephen F. Selby, art director, and Mrs. Dean V. Firth, production. Mrs. Wendell S. Clough is directing the play, and business manager is Mrs. William B. Heaton.

Dear Abby . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In the shop where I work the boss comes around every morning and gives vitamin pills to all the employees. He says they are too expensive to be wasted so he stands right there with a glass of water while you take them to be sure there is no throwing out.

These pills keep coming up on me and I can taste them all day. I don't want to hurt his feelings, but I don't want to continue taking these pills. What do I do? Give up a good paying job?

NO PILL TAKER

DEAR NO: Explain to your boss (privately, of course) that these pills do not agree with you—and I'm sure they won't be "brought up" again.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 23 and in the service. He wants to get married when he gets out the end of June. He is marrying a girl whose mother is pregnant. She is expecting about the end of June.

Should the kids postpone the wedding until AFTER the mother has the baby or should they go ahead and get married with her big as a house standing on swollen ankles in the receiving line? What do you think should come first—the wedding or the baby?

GROOM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOM: The bride's family puts on the wedding. If the mother wants to stand in the receiving line big as a house on swollen ankles, I don't see how you can stop her.

DEAR ABBY: I have an excellent suggestion that I wish you'd pass on to your readers. Nine out of ten times a person doesn't care for the gift he receives and has a terrible time taking it back.

Guest Explains Dialing System to Soroptimists

Mrs. Mary Veasey spoke to Soroptimist International of Pontiac on "Direct Distance Dialing."

At a Wednesday evening dinner meeting in Hotel Waldron, Mrs. Veasey told of the easier, faster and more accurate long-distance communication soon to be available for Pontiac residents.

A gift of $250 from the Pontiac Soroptimists will be presented to Camp Oakland for Girls by Alice Kimball, club representative to executive board of the camp. This gift is one of the club's major projects for the year.

Mrs. John Bieschke was a guest for the evening.

I caught onto this years ago, so now I solve that problem by leaving the price tags on all the gifts I buy and I even enclose the sales slips. I suppose this sounds funny, but you have no idea how many people have thanked me for my thoughtfulness.

MAKING IT EASY

DEAR MAKING: Why don't you make it "easy" on yourself, too, and just give gift certificates?

DEAR ABBY: I try to live right but am far from perfect. I want to go to church, but when I do I keep thinking of what a sinner I am and I don't feel good enough to be there. I don't like missing church, but I hate to go for this reason.

Is there something wrong with me?

A SINNER

DEAR SINNER: There is nothing wrong with you that isn't the matter with everyone else occasionally. A troubled conscience comes from a good soul. Go to church, live right, and you'll BE good enough.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTING HAPPINESS": Cooperate with the inevitable.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Get Those Ear Plugs, Mom and Dad

Rock 'n' Roll Rolls Merrily Along

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Say, Mom and Dad, maybe you'd better get those artillery-type ear plugs after all. This rock 'n' roll racket is going to be around quite a while.

How long?
Well, a year ago when many observers were predicting that the frantic wail of the rhythm and blues artists would soon disappear from the land, our poll accurately predicted that rock 'n' roll was far from dead or dying.

At that time, only 18 per cent of the girls and 6 1/2 per cent thought it would fail to survive into 1958. A maddening majority wished it long life and continuing success.

This year, rock 'n' roll gets an even larger vote of youthful confidence. Only 5 per cent in a sampling of about 500 boys and girls predict an early demise for this musical mayhem.

The rest—prepare yourself for an acoustical shock—figure it will last at least five years, maybe more.

FURTHER INROADS
Instead of dying out, rock 'n' roll is making further inroads on the musical field.

One major record company figures that teenagers now account for 90 per cent of all single (78 or 45 speed record) sales and almost 50 per cent of all long playing (33 1-3) record albums.

The result is that more and more rock 'n' roll artists are signing contracts with major companies for long playing—and in some cases—multiple-record albums.

Instead of three minutes of sustained blues shouting, parents of hep teenagers will now be exposed to 20 minutes or more, and Dad may have to get in line to use his hi-fi set.

Parents who hoped that rock 'n' roll would be carted off to the musical boneyard by the time their small fry reached junior high or high school are also in for disappointment.

Our current survey showed that many of them have younger brothers and sisters, 5, 6 and 7-years-old, who already have caught the beat and think rock 'n' roll is "the most."

A new generation of foot-stamping, hand-clapping rock 'n' roll addicts is in the making, but whether their enthusiasm will survive or be captivated by some new trend remains to be seen.

Note that we used the word "trend" rather than "fad." From the start, based on various opinion surveys, we were convinced that rock 'n' roll was more than a fad, like Davy Crockett or Algonquin haircuts.

The figures, echoing the majority, showed a definite trend toward this two-beat rhythm among the young music-buying public.

SOME DISLIKE IT
Even now, however, this does not mean that all teenagers like rock 'n' roll music or prefer it to the exclusion of all other types of musical entertainment.

The fact that 95 per cent figure it will last five years or more does not mean that the same number are permanently enamored of it.

Actually, only 60 per cent of the boys and 45 per cent of the girls could be classed as die-hard rock 'n' rollers.

The rest either like it "occasionally" or dislike it intensely.

Omega Mu Sigma Sees Travel Slides

Ice Box Cake So Delicious but Rich!

Miss Stanard Uses Angel Food Layers, Chocolate Mixture

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe is for a simple refrigerator cake. It's the kind you serve at a dessert luncheon or for late evening refreshments.

This recipe comes from Kathleen Stanard of Walled Lake. Miss Stanard is an elementary school teacher. She belongs to the Walled Lake Business and Professional Woman's Club.

CHOCOLATE REFRIGERATOR CAKE

By Kathleen Stanard

1 small angel food cake
1 package chocolate bits
4 eggs, separated
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint whipping cream
chopped walnuts

Melt chocolate bits. Fold in egg yolks, one at a time. Add salt. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Fold in whipped cream, slightly sweetened. Add vanilla.

Lay thin slices of cake in 8x11 baking dish. Pour half of the chocolate mixture over cake. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Add another layer of cake, the rest of the chocolate and more nuts.

Chill several hours. Cut in squares and serve garnished with whipped cream and a maraschino cherry. Serves 12.

Most Ancient Handprint Thrills Amateur Sleuths

Anyone who fancies himself an amateur Hercule Poirot may play around this year in France with what is probably the oldest human handprint of all in the grotto of Pech-Merle in the Dordogne Valley.

The handprint, which conservative estimates place at 50,000 — 100,000 B.C., has baffled all attempts yet to discover exactly why it was placed there. It is a silhouette against a red background, and is accompanied by 12 splashes also in red.

Experts generally feel that the outline of the left hand was done for artistic reasons only, but it is in such contrast to the hunting scenes generally found in prehistoric caves that other more imaginative onlookers have seen in it perhaps a crude form of signature, or testimony of brotherhood.

Collector Should Not Specify Sum
 Let Flower Fund Donors Give What They Wish

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When taking up a collection in order to send flowers to someone who has died, is it proper to ask for a specific amount or should each one give whatever amount he (or she) pleases?"

"I was in charge of taking up such a collection recently and asked each one for a dollar. Some of the group resented this and think it was very high-handed on my part to tell them how much to contribute. They felt that it should have been left up to them to decide. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: You should have left it up to each one to give what he (or she) wanted to. You might, however, have said to anyone evidently trying to decide how much to give, "Most of the others have given a dollar."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Both my mother and my grandparents have contributed to my support, although I have always lived with the latter. I am close to all three and now that I am getting married I would like my mother's and my grandparents' names to appear on the invitations.

"By doing this I would avoid hurting any of their feelings. Would this be possible? If so, how would the invitation be worded?"

Answer: It would be too complicated to explain on a formal invitation that you are the granddaughter of your grandparents and the daughter of your mother.

The invitations should be in the name of your grandparents if they are giving you your wedding and your mother's name should be omitted. Or else the invitations should be in your mother's name alone.

"Dear Mrs. Post? My aunt tells me it is not good manners to pick up a whole round hamburger roll sandwich and that it should always (except perhaps at a picnic) be broken or cut in half. Is this correct?"

Answer: Usually it is cut in half, but if you have no knife it is best to eat it whole since it is very difficult to sever neatly.

Write It Yourself

Even though a secretary types most of your letters, don't dictate a letter of sympathy. That should be written by you, in pen and ink.

Keep on Aiming for Perfection

Don't Let Down on Marathon Now

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

For many of you this is the last week of your Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. For many more there are only one or two weeks left. Let me give you a few warnings.

For those who have a couple of weeks or more left, don't give up just as you are about to reach your goal. It is easy to do! You

After maintaining your correct weight for a while, you will be better able to indulge in occasional food binges.

Luxurious Props Make Bathing a Special Treat

Let the men in the family have their fishing tackle and hunting gear. You can out-do them any day with your indoor sports collection. With your bath pillow, your "curtain caddy," your sponges, brushes, bath trays, terry-cloth sarongs, fragrant soaps, and oversized bath towels.

Making yourself prettier, healthier and more relaxed is about as fine a sport as a woman can go in for. And there's so much enticing equipment these days to make a bath a special treat.

A little bit of vacation can be enjoyed every day of the year—right in your own bathtub.

One of the best beauty investments a woman can make is a bath tray that serves as a vanity table. It rests across the rim of the tub, holding all your little beauty paraphernalia.

The ones made of lucite, with a full-size mirror, encourage meticulous grooming. They also let you relax in a tub full of warm soapsuds while you give yourself a facial, do your nails, criticize your hair.

RELAXES MUSCLES

This nice long soak eases tired muscles, and smooths away those lines in your face.

Of course, a little exercise isn't going to do you any harm either. A body brush or sponge—wielded vigorously—is a sure cure for muddy, roughened skin.

There are so many different types of brushes and sponges to choose from. An especially good one is the vinyl plastic back sponge that has broad straps.

Hold the ends of the straps in your hands and swish that sponge—well-lathered, of course—back and forth across your back. It's a million-dollar massage, as well as a cleaner.

Rough mitts or small brushes are excellent tools for getting knees and elbows soft and smooth. Feet, too, need this sort of scrubbing.

already have made a lot of improvement in your figure, but if you still have 5 or a few more pounds to lose, it would be too bad to stop just short of perfection.

Those of you who have completed this eight weeks of self-improvement are feeling pretty happy, I know. I already am receiving letters telling me so. Here is one:

"Dear Mrs. Lowman—I just could not believe that I could do it, but I have! I have started dieting to lose 18 pounds over and over again but always stopped before I had a chance to see any results. This time I have lost those pounds and many, many inches from my waist, abdomen and hips.

"I think it was possible because of your pep talks in the paper, and because I had a definite goal to shoot for—18 pounds in eight weeks. My complexion is clearer and I am full of pep.

"You have no idea what this does for my morale. I had always had a nice figure until four years ago when I married. Eighteen pounds makes such a difference! Now I can enjoy buying clothes again."

WATCH CAREFULLY

Those of you who have had similar success must watch yourselves very carefully once you begin being more lenient with your calorie count. When you reach your correct weight, you should add a few hundred calories a day to your diet. Start with 200 and watch the scales.

Tomorrow: "If she insists on Dye Job, She Should Let Expert Do It."

other 100, and so on until your food intake matches your requirements in energy and you remain the same. After maintaining your correct weight for a while, you will be better able to indulge in occasional food binges.

However, one of the benefits of following a good reducing diet is the habit in scientific eating which you have formed. Don't abandon it!

Those of you who exercised have no doubt become aware of the things it has done for your figure and energy, and you will want to continue.

Also, remember that I love to hear your success stories, so send some more in to me!

If any of you failed to give yourself the break of eight weeks in self-improvement, you may want to start your personal Marathon now. If so, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "If she insists on Dye Job, She Should Let Expert Do It."

Baby Sitting Prosperous Profession

NEW YORK — Baby-sitting, once confined to proud grandparents, has become a thriving profession, with over a billion dollars a year going to more than 6 million sitters.

The teenager still accounts for the majority of sitters in the U. S. Forty-eight per cent of America's 7.9 million teenage girls earn an estimated $670 million, while 23 per cent of the 7.9 million teenage boys earn an estimated $319 million.

The average fee for city teenagers is 75 cents an hour; in small towns it is 55 cents.

RATES HIGHEST
But the teenager is getting potent competition from approximately 250 baby-sitting agencies in the U. S., which for a fee of 50 cents or as much as 15 per cent of wages, furnish many thousands of women with full-time careers. The highest agency rates in the U. S. are considered to be in New York, where sitters cost up to $1.10 an hour for two children—and one agency adds 25 cents an hour per extra child.

Four factors are credited with the phenomenal boom in baby-sitting: the high postwar birth rate (48 million since 1944); the rise in individual earnings (500 per cent since 1940); the rarity and expense of full-time maids (up to $75 per week); the countrywide increase in leisure time.

Some other facts and figures about baby-sitting:
While teenagers baby-sit, 26 per cent watch television, 23 per cent read, 20 per cent do homework, and 16 per cent talk on the telephone. There is the case of a Los Angeles mother who lost her telephone for two years because she could not pay the long-distance bill run up by a sitter.

An estimated 11 million telephone calls are made weekly in the U. S. to hire sitters.

A pamphlet called "Handy Guide for Parents and Babysitters" has been distributed free to more than two million sitters.

San Francisco agencies sometimes get telephoned sitter requests from children who have been left home alone.

Jean McLeod Opens Home to Junior Guild

Junior Wesleyan Service Guild of Central Methodist Church met in the Old Orchard drive home of Jean McLeod.

Participating in the Tuesday evening program were Miss McLeod, Eunice Collins, Roberta Davis, Sandra Johnson and Mrs. Donald DeVoe.

A play concerning Brewster Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla., was presented. The hospital is supported by WSES and Wesleyan Service Guilds of the Methodist Church for underprivileged of that city.

Sailor Collars, Cuffs Demand Prompt Sudsing

The nautical look in cruise dresses and blouses calls for special attention to those pert white sailor collars and cuffs.

To make sure they're always "Navy clean," make them easy to remove and replace by fastening either with straps, invisible safety pins, or large basting stitches.

A quick sudsing after each wearing will assure you of that enviable Navy-crisp appearance.

Let Them Moan!

Salesmen may groan at women trying on pair after pair of shoes. Let them moan! This is the only way one is assured a perfect fit so your feet will be comfortable and there will be less chance of blisters, calluses or bunions.

Style Essentials

Fashions that belong in every wardrobe: The bulky white sweater; some simple, straight skirts; a short evening dress; one pretty bedroom coat; a pair of frivolous mules; one wool jersey coat.

DON'T GAMBLE— WITH YOUR HEALTH

When you buy cure-alls from an itinerant peddler, the stakes are tragically high. The peddler may, in effect, be risking your health for a fast profit.

State Tourney Should Be Confined to 'Elite'

(This is the first of a three-part series of articles covering three major problems on the Michigan High School sports front. Today we look at the Michigan High School Athletic Association tournament setup. Tomorrow we will discuss the classification of high schools in Michigan and Saturday we will discuss the re-alignment of prep leagues.)

By BILL CORNWELL
Staff Writer, Pontiac Press

Michigan's annual schoolboy basketball tournament will soon begin with district play at numerous cities and towns throughout the state.

Starting Tuesday, March 4, virtually every high school in Michigan will hopefully open its bid for a state championship.

When the "free-for-all" marathon ends on Saturday, March 22 in MSU's Jenison Fieldhouse at East Lansing, champions will be crowned in classes A, B, C and D. An Upper Peninsula Class E champion will have been decided the previous week.

This writer has always enjoyed the state tourney immensely, despite its many shortcomings, and has always taken an intense interest in its welfare.

It is because of these shortcomings that this article is written. The desire here is to suggest ways of making the tournament better, not solely to criticize its faults.

The state tourney has thus far been popular with the general public, and in spite of its faults, the event has prospered.

It is the Michigan High School Athletic Association's method of determining a state champion which is in question, not the tournament itself.

The basic objection to the present method is this: The "come-one, come-all" policy works against the stronger teams and encourages the mediocre. In other words, the best team does not necessarily win.

The purpose of the tourney, obviously, is to decide a state champ. This should mean that the winner is the finest team in Michigan in its respective class. But I maintain that "it ain't necessarily so."

If determining the best team in the state is the objective, then where is there rhyme or reason in permitting every "Tom, Dick and Harry" to enter the event regardless of past performance.

Why should schools with season records of 0-16, 1-15, 2-14, 3-13 or even 8-8 be allowed to clutter up the field and mingle with teams which went undefeated or lost no more than two or three games.

The annual NCAA tournament, which decides the national collegiate champ, has a formula that the MHSAA would do well to follow on a state level.

It would be wise for the MHSAA to study the NCAA method, a selective system which brings into the tourney field only the winners of the nation's major conferences and a few "at large" entries with outstanding records.

The NCAA system of selecting the better teams encourages a will to succeed by recognizing success. Under MHSAA procedure, little or no recognition is given to a conference winner beyond the league itself and a strong independent is just another school to be mixed in with the "also-rans."

If there are those who wish to call this "snobbery," let them do so, for it is my belief that only the top teams should be entitled to try for a state crown.

Bluntly speaking, there is no honor attached to entering the state tourney under "free-for-all" rules because anybody can enter. A winning season means nothing. Once the tournament begins an impressive record is written off and everyone starts from scratch.

Frequently coaches have been known to say something like this: "Well, our season's all shot now. We'll just have to work ourselves up for the tournament and maybe we can knock off a big one."

The very fact that a coach can have that attitude proves that sweeping changes are needed. The system is at fault, not the coach.

Example after example can be shown of just what the coach had in mind.

Two years ago, for example, Pontiac Central won the Class A regional by eliminating Flint Northern, the Saginaw Valley Conference champion, which had licked Pontiac twice during the regular season.

The following week the Chiefs were bounced out in the state quarter-finals by Detroit Catholic Central, a club they had downed twice previously.

Last year Pontiac and Northern reversed the process. The Chiefs won the Valley title, conquering Northern two times along the way, then lost to the Vikings in regional action.

Going further back, in 1953 St. Michael tossed cross-rival St. Frederick out of the district after failing to win a game during the season.

Many recall the 1950-51 season when Niles went through an unbeaten campaign, then bowed in the district to St. Joseph which kept on going to win the state Class B title. Niles had given St. Joe two bad beatings during the season.

Lots of other examples can be cited, too many to be mentioned here. I am not condemning these schools for pulling upset victories — that was their privilege. I am merely questioning their right to be in the tournament.

Falling out of a tourney is painful enough for a club with state title ambitions, but the blow is somewhat softened if the loss is at the hands of a recognized "equal." It's the loss to an "inferior" that really hurts.

Many would like to see the MHSAA tournament conducted along NCAA lines. The field in each class should consist of league champions and deserving "at large" entries with standout records.

If this prompts someone to claim that some schools will "stack" their schedules in order to gain a winning season, then the answer is mandatory competition against schools of comparable size, a practice followed in Pennsylvania.

There are currently 92 leagues in Michigan, not counting the Detroit public schools. Ten are all-Class A loops while the bulk of the remainder is divided between classes B and C with the latter the largest single group.

Using the NCAA system, the tourney would be reduced in length from three weeks to two, with district activity being dropped. Regional eliminations would produce eight teams in each class and the event would then proceed like it does now.

In cases of co-championships, statistical data can be consulted to select the league's tournament entry. If statistics don't do the job, let the coaches decide their representative by vote.

This program, for various reasons, would take time to put into effect. One big reason is the jumbled classification setup. Enrollments are changing rapidly and several leagues presently have two and even three classes within their own structures.

A complete overhaul of the classification setup and a thorough realignment of conferences will be necessary before the state tourney can be run the way it should be.

To make the tournament picture complete, the return of the Detroit public schools to the event would be a welcome sight, even though it adds to the confusion of teams. It's a strain on the imagination to call the tourney winner a state champion when part of the state is absent.

The NCAA-type tournament offered here may not be foolproof. Few plans are. The state's best schoolboy teams still might not win the crown.

But one thing seems certain — it would be a more qualified judge than the present one. At least there would be a state champ worthy of the name after a hard struggle against worthy contenders, not a team which just happens to get "hot" at tournament time.

Tighe Divides Team for Drills

Kuenn, Martin and Skizas at New Positions

Two Squads to Start Twice-Daily Sessions Friday

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor
LAKELAND, Fla. — Manager Jack Tighe broke up the 1958 Tiger roster into two squads to begin twice daily sessions Friday at Henley Field and three changes of worth are to be noted in the break down of positions.

The big change which was expected, has Harvey Kuenn listed to work, with the outfielders on the A.M. squad along with Al Kaline, Gus Zernial and Bill Taylor.

Kuenn, the shuffled shortstop who played all over the infield last year, will probably go into right field for his fly chasing debut. This would move Kaline into the more spacious center-field territory.

In breaking down the two squads, one which will work out in the morning and the other in the afternoon, six rookies were listed from the Tigertown contingent.

Besides Kuenn, the other notable changes which were made, show Billy Martin as the lone shortstop on the A.M. squad, and Lou Skizas a third base prospect on the P.M. squad.

Former Boston Red Sox shortstop Johnny Pesky, now a manager in the Tiger farm system has been working with Martin for more than a week to prime him for the shift from second base to short.

On the same squad, Frank Bolling is set for second, Reno Bertoia at third and Ray Boone at first.

Hoping to get more help at the weak third base position, Tighe's decision to move Skizas was made with the intent that he may get to play more in the Tiger infield than in the outfield which is pretty well settled.

Tighe also is hoping that Skizas will continue his fondness for the Briggs Stadium plate where he hit better than in any other American League park while with Kansas City.

Skizas had a good season in his rookie year with the A's in 1956 when he hit .316, and even though he hit only .245 last year he had more runs batted in, more homers and more extra base hits than in his first season.

Bertoia, who will most likely get the starting nod at third, had a big spurt early last season when he led the American League in batting for a while. He finished with a .275 batting average and had 28 RBIs, four homers, 16 doubles, two triples, 28 runs and 81 hits.

The other third base prospect is Steve Boros who played in 24 games last season after signing as a bonus player following his graduation from the University of Michigan. Boros batted 41 times and had six hits with a .146 average.

Rain stopped any outdoor work for yesterday's official opening for the first time in four years. More rain was predicted for today, which may result in another clubhouse session for Tighe and the Tigers.

'Cold' Yardley Nets 19 in 106-99 Loss

Celtics Down Pistons

By CHUCK ABRAH

DETROIT — Detroit maintained its one-game lead in the race for 2nd place in the NBA's Western Division and scoring ace George Yardley moved closer to setting a new scoring record despite a mediocre showing in a 106-99 loss to Boston last night.

A comeback 105-103 victory for St. Louis over Cincinnati in the 1st game of a doubleheader witnessed by 8,645 fans, Olympia's 2nd best hoop crowd of the season, prevented the Royals from gaining on the Pistons.

Except for a brief early Detroit lead and last half rallies which kept things interesting, Boston was pretty much in command most of the way with some excellent outside shooting.

The victory clinched the Eastern Division championship for the Celtics and gave them a 7-1 record over the Pistons.

Yardley was good to four field goals but hit 11 of 12 free throws for 19 points giving him 1,827 for the season. He needs 106 in the last five games, an average of 21.2, to break George Mikan's record.

The ineffectiveness of Yardley made a noticeable dent in the Detroit attack despite a 30-point for Gene Shue.

George sat out most of the 2nd and 3rd periods and scored all his points in the 1st and final sections. He took only 13 shots in the game, some of those hurried efforts.

Detroit gave the keyed-up crowd plenty to cheer about with a 3rd quarter rally that cut Boston's lead from 18 to 8 only to have the Celtics bounce back to pull away again. The same was true in the 4th when Detroit got within seven in the opening minutes.

Phi Jordan and Nat Clifton turned in good reserve showings with 14 and 11 points, respectively. Bill Russell tallied 19 and helped Boston control the rebounds.

In other NBA games last night Syracuse whipped Minneapolis 119-90 and New York drubbed Philadelphia 112-96.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Big Gus Zernial got into a discussion about home runs, one of his favorite subjects. "Hit 61 for the Tigers this year, and we will plaster your name all over the sports pages," said one of the writers.

"If I did hit 61, and you didn't plaster it on the sport pages, there would be something wrong with you," Zernial replied.

"If anyone breaks 60, it will be Mickey Mantle," he continued. "It's hard to imagine just how much power that guy has."

Zernial is confident he will hold down a regular berth with the Tigers. The 6-foot-3, 210-pound slugger has never been pushed out of a job since he broke in with the White Sox in 1949.

"I shared the duties in my outfield position during the 1956 season, but you can't really say someone pushed me out of a job," he said.

"Ozark Ike," as he is nicknamed, batted only .236 with Kansas City last season, but he banged out 27 homers to bring his major league home run total to 225 for nine seasons.

Shibe Park and Briggs Stadium are considered his best hunting grounds. In 1953 he hit 42 while with the Athletics in Philadelphia. This total ranks him 24th in American League history for one season.

In other statistical data of still active American League players, Zernial is second behind Ted Williams in grand slam homers. Williams had 15 for his career. Zernial has nine. He is also 7th in lifetime RBIs with 727.

"Many people might criticize my fielding, but I'm sure of one thing, I won't lose as many games in fielding, as I know I could help win with my hitting," Zernial explained.

Zernial had a high point in errors last year as he bobbled 11 times for a .952 fielding average.

"What are you aiming for at the plate with the Tigers?" he was asked. "Well, you know 30 home runs in any one season is a pretty good output," he said, "and I would be more than happy to get 30."

"I think Al Kaline is going to rap out 30 this season. Say, you know Charley Maxwell could do it, and if I could add 30, we could be in pretty good shape," he laughed.

In regard to Babe Ruth's 60, Zernial is more inclined to go along with Mantle than he is with Willie Mays as was suggested.

"Everyone says Mays will hit better in that San Francisco park, and they've put him on the spot already by predicting he will get that 60 this year, but if Mantle stays healthy, I'll put my money on Mick," Zernial said.

About his own chances of hitting 60, Zernial jested, "If I got off to a good start and got 51 by July 1st, I might consider the thought."

ALMA — Dave Peters of Rochester sank 22 points in sparking Alma to a 78-73 victory over Albion in an MIAA basketball game last night.

The Scots led 36-31 at halftime in scoring their sixth conference triumph against eight defeats. Albion now is 5-8.

LEADS SCOTS — Dave Peters, former Rochester High School basketball ace, returned to stardom last night at Alma College as he scored 22 points to lead the Scots to a 78-73 victory over Albion in an MIAA game.

DETROIT — The City of Detroit's regular season winner with a 19-5 record. Four CIO cagers hit double numbers, topped by Felix Hopwood's 17, but good balance wasn't enough.

The Class A tourney resumes next Monday night in the PCH gym with Shaw's meeting the CIO at 8:30. The survivor of that game clashes with the Royals for the city crown Tuesday at 8:30, also on the PCH court.

Class B teams resume their play-off action tonight in the PCH gym. Griff's Grill tangles with Walled Lake at 8:30 and the Boys Club goes against Booth Homes in the 7 o'clock opener.

Behind 18-0, the Skippers held the edge the rest of the way but could not overcome the wide deficit as they finished 6-7-1.

All three Waterford wins were in the 145-pound class, Mike Hubbell defeated a boy who had been unbeaten and 154-pounder Bill Loveland had one. Harry Nicholli had a draw.

be determined by the outcome of the Imlay City-Orionville contest but the EML winner may not be known until March 4 when current co-leader Ferndale concludes play.

The races are over in the Inter-Lakes, Wayne-Oakland and Oakland B but each will have outstanding games on the last night of the regular season as the teams prepare for next week's playoffs.

Waterford gets an opportunity to avenge an earlier setback to Southfield, Walled Lake could close hostilities with four straight wins by downing Farmington and champ Berkley goes to Van Dyke to complete the 1-4 slate.

Northville dropped out of the running when Clarkston whipped Clarksville but the Mustangs would like nothing better than to trip the Wolves on their home court. Bloomfield visits West Bloomfield, Holly hosts Claremont and Brighton is at Milford in other league action.

A lot of attention will be focused on Troy where the unbeaten Colts get a big test against improved Fitzgerald. Troy won the crown earlier.

Avondale will be a team hungry for revenge as the Yellowjackets take on Jim Drake, Nick Neira and their Lake Orion mates at Avon. Orion romped 82-38 at home. The local rivals will be tournament foes in the Pontiac district next week. Clawson will be at Madison in the other Oakland B tilt Friday.

East Detroit is strong favorite to clinch a share of the EML crown meeting Mt. Clemens while 2nd place Ferndale must get by Birmingham. Port Huron travels to Hazel Park in the other tilt.

In the South Central, Imlay, which has won 29 straight, is certain of a title tie and can take it outright by tripping the tough Blackhawks. North Branch and Millington meet in the other SCC game.

Champion Almont is an Armada. Dryden is guest of Memphis and Capac goes to Brown City on the final Southern Thumb slate. New Haven is at home against L'Anse Creuse outside the loop.

The independent schedule will have Center Line at Utica, Lapeer at Owosso, Royal Oak Dorrando at Highland Park, Oxford, hopeful of gaining its only season triumph, plays at Romeo, and South Lyon takes to the road to meet Boysville.

Flint Quintet in Ugly Mood for SVC Game

Two Successive Losses
Irk Vikings; Chiefs Go After Revenge

By BILL CORNWELL

The Flint Northern Vikings are certain to have an ugly disposition Friday night when they visit the Pontiac Central High gymnasium for a Saginaw Valley Conference basketball game with the Chiefs.

If anyone should ask coach Jack Marlette the reason for his squad's ill humor, he would immediately point in the direction of Flint Central, Northern's bitter city rival.

Central is a big sore spot as far as the Vikings are concerned and there is good cause for their discomfort.

Last Friday night Northern and Central met in a Saginaw Valley showdown on the Flint IMA court and the Vikings took a 75-58 drubbing. The two teams went into the contest in a 1st place tie with 7-1 records.

Then the Indians added insult to injury by licking Northern again in their city championship battle Tuesday evening at the IMA. The score was more respectable, 64-58, but that did nothing to ease the pain.

Two straight setbacks at the hands of Central and the probable loss of the SVC title should be enough to put the Chiefs on guard in the regular season closer for both schools.

Victory is important to each school, especially Northern.

The Vikings can still divide the Saginaw Valley crown with Central by dumping Pontiac if 3rd place Saginaw upsets the Indians in their struggle tomorrow night at Flint.

Pontiac will have a different outlook on the situation. The Chiefs can share 3rd place with Saginaw by downing Northern if league-leading Central topples the Trojans.

Central has an 8-1 conference record, followed by Northern with 7-2, Saginaw (6-3) and Pontiac (5-4).

Tomorrow's fight will be a "grudge" match for the Chiefs, who dropped a 49-47 decision to Northern in their 1st bout at Flint. Basement-dwelling Bay City invades Saginaw Arthur Hill in Friday's other Valley contest.

Trout Festival Set
April 25 at Kalkaska

KALKASKA (AP)—Springtime activity gained momentum today with the announcement of April 25-27 as dates of the 22nd annual National Trout Festival at Kalkaska.

The event, sponsored by the Kalkaska County Chamber of Commerce, celebrates trout season opening.

A trout queen to preside at the annual ball will be selected April 25. Still to be named by the festival committee is a trout king to succeed Harold Bastien.

Trucks Still Unsigned

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Veteran relief pitcher Virgil Trucks, a former Detroit Tiger, remained unsigned yesterday as other Kansas City Athletics pitchers and catchers began workouts.

THEY HARNESS A HOBBY—Brothers Duane and Keith Piechowski, left to right, examine brass golf putters they are manufacturing at Bay City, Mich. Their business started as a winter hobby. The putters are currently merchandised through pro shops and to date about 3,000 have been sold.

PGA Endorses New Clubs

Build Brass Putters

BAY CITY (AP)—Two hard-driving golfing brothers are turning the frustration of a missed putt into a year-around business success. The brass putters turned out by Duane and Keith Piechowski are in hot demand. They operate the Brass Ram Putter Co. here.

The national market for their product developed in less than a year. Golf pro shops handle the various putters turned out by the brothers, both avid golfers, under the merchandising program of the Professional Golfers Assn. (PGA). There has been no attempt to sell through retail outlets yet.

The brothers, familiar with that sinking sensation when a mis-directed putt refuses to drop in the cup, pastimed their way into developing brass putters.

"Brass gives better feel in striking a ball," Keith maintains.

The brothers started with a few home-made samples. They sent them to Ray Peterson, Bay City Country Club pro. Peterson liked the clubs and so informed other golf pros assembling last winter at PGA headquarters, Dunedin, Fla.

PGA officials commended the radical change in appearance and design without sacrificing basic putting characteristics.

Duane and Keith were encouraged. They tossed several dozen putters into a car and went on tour of pro matches last spring.

A three-year contract was signed with the PGA for mass production of the new club.

The brothers, with two employees, have developed more than 30 different heads for their putters.

Rams Wind Up Season Tonight

Tonight's final basketball contest of the regular season, for Gene Wright's St. Frederick Rams Could be a close one. Rams are hosts to the St. Francis Xavier club of Ecorse, for what athletic officials at both schools believe is the first time their cagers have ever met.

Rams will be shooting for their 11th win against four losses, and are rated favorites. Buccaneers, coached by Nick Galante, have a 5-5 season mark. They finished 2-3, tied for 3rd in the Southwest Catholic league's 2nd division.

With several six-footers, Buccaneers probably have an edge on Rams in height. Nichols, Pocs, Derocher, Keller and Bieri probably will get the call for Rams.

Reserves of the two schools play a preliminary starting at 7 o'clock.

I try to keep moving all the time to make it tough on the man guarding me.

Usually I'll come out of the corner (dark circle) and come off around the pivot man on the high post by the foul line.

I can use him for a screen and take the pass from a guard (dotted line).

I have three basic shots—a two-handed set, a jump shot and a drive.

If my man doesn't come after me behind the pick, I'll set.

If he does I'll either try to drive around him or, finding trouble there, go with the jumper.

Ketch May Sail Again to Protest Nuclear Tests

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP) — The crew of the 30-foot ketch Golden Rule is debating whether to re-outfit and have another go at sailing to Eniwetok to protest U.S. nuclear testing there.

The boat, which had sailed from here two weeks ago, returned to port yesterday. Bad weather forced it to put back when it was 700 miles at sea.

Aboard were Albert S. Bigelow, 51, the skipper, Cos Cob, Conn.; William Huntington, 51, St. James, Long Island, N.Y.; George Willoughby, 43, Blackwood Terrace, N.J.; and David Gale, 25, Fallington, Pa.

Louisiana has 4,794 miles of navigable waterways.

'Champ' Poacher Says He's Not Appreciated

HOWE STREET, England — The man who claims to be Britain's champion poacher feels that he is being victimized, he told newsmen. "And all because I'm helping to rid the countryside of pests," said William Moore, 42, at his cottage in the Essex hamlet of Howe Street. "I have had 51 convictions for poaching, paying the $14 maximum fine nearly every time. I would not mind so much if it wasn't that I'm doing a public service. It's rabbits that I poach. He pointed to a few brace of pheasants hanging on the wall. He said: "I only go for them when I have a fine to pay and need the money in a hurry. I get $2.80 a brace." Poaching runs in William's family. "My father was a poacher and two or three of my brothers dabble. It has been my life's work, as you might say, since I was 17."

Old-Fashioned Wheel Used to Select Juries

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Franklin County still uses an old-fashioned "jury wheel" for selecting persons to serve on county court juries.

At the start of the year, names of prospective jurors are placed inside of the eight-sided, walnut wheel, more than 75 years old. When jury selection time comes at the beginning of each court session, the wheel is given a spin. When it stops, the sheriff breaks the wax seals, pulls out the necessary number of name cards, then the wheel is revealed until the next session of court.

Called for Jury Duty, She Ends Up as Bailiff

MADILL, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Christine Underhill, a housewife called to jury duty, ended up a court bailiff for Judge W. J. Monroe. When she got to the courthouse, the Judge said he didn't have a bailiff and Mrs. Underhill volunteered.
