EVERETT DIRKSEN

Colorful Everett M. Dirksen, Republican Senate minority leader from Illinois, has done a lot of things in his life — from running a wholesale bakery to making a hit recording.

He is also something of a journalist and writes an interesting weekly nonpartisan column devoted to public affairs and American tradition, with side excursions now and then to areas that are far removed from government and statesmanship.

★ ★ ★

Syndicated coast to coast, the column, called "A Senator's Notebook," will begin on The Pontiac Press editorial page tomorrow and continue as a once-a-week feature.

City Locals Okay UAW-GM Pact

A proposed three-year contract between the UAW international union and General Motors Corp. has been ratified by the membership of Local 653 at Pontiac Motor Division, Wayne Anable, president of the local, said today.

Anable said 72 per cent of the skilled workers voted to accept the agreement and 92 per cent of production and nonproduction employes favored the proposed pact.

Members of GMC Truck and Coach Division Local 594 and Fisher Body Division Local 596 previously ratified the proposed contract, which would become effective Monday.

Joe Arthur, president of Local 594, said 89 per cent of the production workers at GMC Truck and Coach ratified the agreement, while 75 per cent of the skilled trades employes voted for the contract.

★ ★ ★

Local 596 members approved the contract last week, skilled trades employes ratifying the national and local agreements by 94 per cent and production and nonproduction workers favoring the national agreement by 94 per cent and the local pact by 71 per cent.

RETROACTIVE PAY

"Our members will receive retroactive pay from Oct. 16, thanks to the Ford workers who walked the streets for eight weeks to gain the economic package," said Anable.

"The new national agreement provides many gains for our members during the next three years," he added.

"We sincerely hope that our local agreement can be reached without hardships being created on our membership.

"This is possible when local management decides that we are serious about our local demands," Anable concluded.

Senator Claims De Gaulle Gave Secrets to Soviets

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., says French President Charles de Gaulle has given material the United States considers secret to the Soviet Union.

Jackson, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, attacked the 77-year-old French leader in a speech to the Chamber of Commerce at Mount Vernon, Wash., and later in an interview here.

Jackson said "It's well known that the Soviet Union has been able to get access to material that certainly is classified by all of our standards."

"He is determined to break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. I predict that he will call for the withdrawal of France from the NATO alliance in 1969," he said.

Jackson recommended that the United States not reappoint an ambassador to France and, instead, be represented in that country only by a charge d'affaires until more effective ways of dealing with De Gaulle are found.

Ambassador Charles Bohlen is being reassigned to the State Department.

Jackson said, "I think it would be appropriate in light of Gen. De Gaulle's conduct that we bring the message of disfavor to the French people that we will not provide ambassadorial service in Paris."

Jackson said the French president "has demonstrated conclusively that he is a bigot. He is an anti-Semite.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to accept promptly Prince Norodom Sihanouk's indirect suggestion of U.S.-Cambodian talks over the issue of Cambodia as a sanctuary.

Cambodia's chief of state, describing his country as "caught between the hammer and the anvil," said he would welcome an envoy from the President to discuss the situation. Speedy dispatch of such a U.S. spokesman appeared likely.

Sihanouk's statements were published today in a copyrighted Washington Post story based on his replies yesterday to questions by Post correspondent Stanley Karnow.

Sihanouk said he would not intervene militarily to stop U.S. troops from entering certain sections of Cambodia in so-called hot pursuit of North Vietnamese or Vietcong forces.

U.S. officials were reported surprised and pleased with this statement, only a week after the prince spurned a U.S. bid for joint efforts to stop Vietnamese Communist use of Cambodia as a sanctuary.

U.S. WAS DENOUNCED

At that time, Sihanouk denounced the United States and all but branded it an aggressor.

JOHNSON SIHANOUK

Speculation was that Johnson would send Averell Harriman, U.S. ambassador-at-large, to talk with Sihanouk, who made clear he also would welcome Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

Sihanouk said if large Communist units are entering Cambodia "and if limited combat breaks out between American and Vietnamese forces, both illegally in Cambodia, it goes without saying that we would not intervene militarily."

Sihanouk added:

"However, if serious incursions or bombings are committed against our border regions inhabited by Cambodians . . . I declare very clearly that we would not hesitate to strike back as strongly as possible with aircraft, tanks and infantry."

SOVIET AID MENTIONED

And in the case of aggression, he said, Cambodia would demand increased military aid from Red China and the Soviet Union "in particular."

He said Cambodia would not tolerate crossing of its borders by troops from South Vietnam, which he called "our traditional expansionist enemy."

He said he had learned the "Pentagon is considering the employment of the Saigon army for eventual incursions into our country."

U.S. officials believe Communist troops by the thousands make periodic use of Cambodia as a sanctuary.

LBJ ADVISERS SPLIT

President Johnson's advisers are reported split on whether the United States should use "hot pursuit" and search-and-destroy tactics against enemy hideouts beyond South Vietnamese borders.

Some State Department and other civilian officials believe the cost would be too high in terms of worldwide political reaction, but military men say the problem will have to be met.

Rhodes will receive the realtor of the year award at the banquet. He was selected by the board.

Value of a Housewife? She Has Her Own Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — How much, in dollars and cents, is the American housewife really worth?

The Agriculture Department is considering trying to find out in hopes of determining whether working wives really mean profit for the family coffers. The housewives have their own ideas—and they vary widely.

"I'd be worth about $500 a week," said one woman. "About $50 weekly," estimated another. "I think it's silly to even try to put a value on a housewife," scoffed a third.

Most of the women responding to an Associated Press survey estimated a housewife's value on the basis of what it would cost to hire an outsider to perform her chores.

★ ★ ★

"A maid for eight hours costs about $10 or more," said Mrs. Hugh Savage of Kansas City, Mo., the mother of two. "And you should add $6 for the extras," including meal planning, clothes buying, servicing as hostess and carrying out community obligations, she said.

Several years ago, the Chase Manhattan Bank figured that at the going rates for all the jobs under the title "housewife," the average woman should get $159.34 a week. That included such estimates as 3.3 hours of food shopping a week at $1.50 an hour and 13.1 hours of cooking a week at $2.50 an hour.

Mrs. William Pichler, 45, of Miami, the mother of two, said "just off the top of my head I'd say over $50," then added, "you'd better make that about $150 a week."

A much more modest monetary appraisal came from Mrs. Justine Paul, 25, of Santa Monica, Calif., a bride of less than one year. "I just don't do a whole lot around the house," said Mrs. Paul, explaining she though she would be worth about $30 a week.

★ ★ ★

A television interviewer before her marriage, Mrs. Paul said she'd prefer not to work. "I'd rather be taken care of," she said.

Bob Hope Reporting:

GI Humor Is Tough to Top

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of reports by comedian Bob Hope, who is touring Southeast Asia entertaining U.S. servicemen.)

By BOB HOPE

CUCHI, Vietnam — One of the classic jokes of all time is the story of a murderer who has been sentenced to the electric chair. His lawyer comes to tell him that every appeal has been exhausted, that the governor has turned down his plea for clemency.

"What should I do?" asks the condemned man. The lawyer replies, "Don't sit down."

Another story concerns two prisoners about to be shot by a firing squad. At dawn the sun is peeking above the horizon. The platoon stands with rifles at the ready and one prisoner refuses a blindfold. The other begs him, "Please don't make any trouble."

These two jokes help to explain why the military is one of the greatest mines of humor; also why the serviceman is such a great audience for comedy when you're up to your posterior in a rice paddy, when someone behind the bush is trying to kill you, when your next step may be your last, you have very little choice: You can either laugh or cry and the best of GI humor is a combination of both.

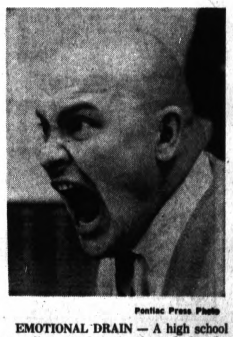

The first service joke that I can remember was a cartoon from World War I. Two British Tommies were hiding in a shell hole in no-man's land. As an artillery barrage fell on all sides, one grizzled Tommy whispered to the other, "If ya knows a better ole, go to it, Alfie."

CATCHES PLIGHT

Bill Mauldin, with his grizzled Willy and Joe, probably best caught the desperate plight of the GI in World War II.

One cartoon of his aroused every serviceman. It showed two punctilious offi-

Big-Power Conflict Nearer in SE Asia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A threat of big-power conflict in Southeast Asia seems to be growing, and if it gets more serious it could bring about a new international conference.

Soviet and Red Chinese statements predict escalation of the Vietnam war through U.S. invasion of Laos and Cambodia, as if reflecting fear this will happen. The United States deplores use of Cambodia by the Vietcong as sanctuary from American pursuit. There are reports of a Communist buildup and increased activity in Laos.

All this is familiar and ominous.

The imminence of a big-power showdown had much to do with the convocation of an international conference five years ago on the Laotian situation. It could happen again, perhaps this time including talks on the Vietnam struggle.

The record indicates that the Laotian situation in the early 60s was so dangerous that a conference was the only safe way out. The alternative might have been a confrontation and even war among the big powers. A similar situation seems to be building up now.

Though overshadowed by the magnitude of the Vietnam war to its east, Laos poses a smoldering danger of escalation. Students of Southeast Asian affairs speculate that Laos is so important that if there had been no war in Vietnam, there surely would have been one in the neighbor state, possibly more perilous from the standpoint of international complications. Laos is a gateway to Burma and Thailand and a potential key to mastery of all Southeast Asia.

In 1960, said a later British parliamentary review of Laos, "it was clear that the conflict could easily assume international dimensions and that decisive action must be taken to avert this danger."

Laos demonstrated then that international action was possible, even though the whole story of the major powers' collaboration in Indochina was a study in frustration, and arrangements to deal with the dangers were so full of holes as to be nearly meaningless.

REDS HAD DESIGNS

Communist designs on all of Indochina seemed clear at the time of the 1954 Geneva conference which partitioned Vietnam. Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnamese regime demanded recognition in Cambodia for the Communist-led "Free Khmer" forces and in Laos for the Neo Lao Hak Xat, political arm of the Pathet Lao forces.

The Geneva agreements required H'os Viet Minh to withdraw from Laos. Pending settlement, the Pathet Laos was supposed to be restricted to two northern provinces, Phong Saly and Sam Neua. The United States and South Vietnam did not sign the agreements. Hanoi did, on behalf of the Pathet Lao.

★ ★ ★

The Communists chose to interpret the agreement as giving them exclusive control of the two provinces. They ignored a requirement to give free access here to the royal government. There were clashes with royal troops. By 1959, the situation was deteriorating rapidly. The Pathet Lao, backed by North Vietnam and Red China, began a terrorist campaign. Pathet Lao troops launched a civil war. Laos appealed to the United Nations, and the Security Council sent a commission which reported the Communists were getting help from North Vietnamese regular troops crossing the border.

The picture became more complicated in 1960 when Capt. Kong Le led a revolt against the royal government, demanding a neutralist regime. North Vietnam sent help to the neutralists. So did the Russians. The United States sent help to the royal government. The situation became so dangerous to world peace that the big powers, including Red China, agreed to confer.

THAILAND THREATENED

In May 1962 Pathet Lao troops occupied a town on Thailand's border, threatening Thai security. President Kennedy sent American troops to Thailand.

With the pressure mounting, three factions in Laos—Communist, neutralist and royalist—agreed on a Cabinet and sent a delegation to the conference in Geneva. This brought a declaration of Laotian neutrality and independence.

Meter Maid Styles Readied

BIRMINGHAM—With the aid of local fashion experts, this city's parking assistants—meter maids — will shortly have on official uniform.

★ ★ ★

City Commissioners were recently informed of the style for the maids who must brave all kinds of weather.

Topped by a navy blue and white hat, the uniform will include a two-button style jacket in navy blue, a white blouse with a black cross tie and an A-line skirt of knee length.

Police chief Darryl L. Bruestle has also recommended heavyweight wool worsted slacks for extremely cold weather.

Footwear will be black leather with Cuban heels with a black midcalf boot for wet or cold weather.

BLACK ACCESSORIES

All other accessories — shoulder - strap handbag, raincoat and gloves — will be black.

Robert T. Kelley, Birmingham Youth Assistance Committee chairman, has announced the appointment of four additional members to his group.

Appointed were James K. Flack, 286 Larchlea; Mrs. Donald Herring, 19714 Waltham; Ronald L. Miller, 16200 Amherst; Mrs. Gerritt VanderVeer, 6621 E. Dartmoor.

JOINT SPONSORS

The 25-member citizens committee is sponsored jointly by the city and the Oakland County Juvenile Court. It serves the youth of the entire Birmingham School District.

Press Award Nominations Being Taken

- For meritorious public service in behalf of the community through newswriting or reporting.
- For meritorious work by a cartoonist.
- For meritorious work by a photographer.

The publication which has most distinguished itself for its work in behalf of the community will receive a bronze plaque.

Entries should be sent to Carlos Jimenez, manager, Inter-American Press Association, 667 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10021, before March 1. Each should be accompanied by tear - sheets or clippings of the work nominated and a brief biography and photo of the candidate. Entry blanks may be obtained by writing Jimenez.

Rocky Best GOP Choice, Says Miller

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who says he won't seek the Republican presidential nomination, has been called the party's best possible candidate by the man he refused to boost for vice president in 1964.

William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee on the GOP ticket headed by Barry Goldwater, said Thursday Rockefeller is "the most effective campaigner" Republicans could offer in next year's presidential sweepstakes.

Rockefeller drew the wrath of backers of the conservative Goldwater-Miller ticket three years ago when he—along with Michigan Gov. George Romney—refused to campaign in their behalf.

The New Yorker, while maintaining he won't seek the 1968 nomination, has boosted the announced candidacy of Romney. Miller said he felt the Michigan governor has "failed to measure up" since opening his campaign for the nation's top job.

★ ★ ★

Miller, former GOP national chairman who practices law in Buffalo and suburban Lockport, N.Y., also has less than kind words for some other potential Republican candidates.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "has the image of a loser," he said. Asked about Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois as a possible compromise candidate, Miller replied: "If Percy is suggested as a compromise, why not Rockefeller?"

Four Defectors Go to Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Four U.S. Navy deserters arrived here today from Moscow to seek asylum in Sweden and declared they stand neutral between East and West and only want to work for peace.

★ ★ ★

Asked why they had chosen to come to Sweden instead of staying in Russia where they went after jumping ship in Japan last October, Richard D. Bailey, speaking for the group, said:

"We chose Sweden basically because it is neutral, and the neutral line conforms with our views. We do not like politics and wanted to get away from ideologies, East or West."

The four sailors, who said they deserted to protest the Vietnam war, arrived on a commercial flight from Moscow and were whisked away from a throng of photographers and newsmen at the airport to a nearby police precinct at Maersta.

Police held them in custody pending a decision by the Aliens Commission in Stockholm on their admission to the country.

They are Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla., John M. Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md., Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif., and Michael A. Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.

3-Year GM Contract Is Ratified by UAW

DETROIT (AP)— Ratification of a new three - year national contract covering some 380,000 workers at General Motors Corp. was announced today by the United Auto Workers Union.

★ ★ ★

The announcement was made by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department.

★ ★ ★

Skilled workers were reported to have approved the agreement by a margin of about 3½-to-1, while production employes ratified the contract by 5-to-1, Woodcock said. Under union rules, the pact had to be approved by both groups before going into effect.

★ ★ ★

Woodcock notified the UAW's GM locals to step up their own negotiations with plant - level management.

TELEGRAM WARNING

In a telegram to the locals, Woodcock warned that any strikes, work stoppages or curtailment of production must be authorized in advance by UAW headquarters.

★ ★ ★

Woodcock said that locals which do not settle their own plant-level issues by Jan. 9 are to submit a list of unresolved local items to union headquarters, along with a request for strike authorization if desired.

★ ★ ★

"No local strike is authorized unless these provisions are followed," he said.

The GM settlement parallels agreements reached earlier at Ford and Chrysler.

PROVISIONS

The agreement provides for an average of $1 an hour in wages and fringe benefits over the three-year span of the contract. Workers were receiving an average of $4.70 an hour.

★ ★ ★

The increases in the contract will boost labor costs for the company about six per cent a year.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, General Motors became the first U.S. automaker Thursday to announce an auto price increase — $22 on most models—to cover the cost of front - seat shoulder harnesses now required by federal law.

New President Will End War, Romney Says

SINGAPORE (UPI) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan arrived today from Jakarta where he predicted a change in U.S. administration will bring about a peaceful solution to the Vietnam war.

★ ★ ★

He told Singapore newsmen he was looking forward to his brief round of talks with Singapore leaders because of the island republic's strategic importance and because of the "dynamic character of its economy."

He holds talks Saturday with Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew, Foreign Minister S. Rajaratnam and Finance Minister Dr. Goh Keng Swee.

Romney, campaigning for the presidential primary in New Hampshire in March, indicated his policies had the support of Southeast Asian leaders he has met during his tour.

★ ★ ★

The Republican governor repeated earlier statements the Vietnam war is more a political problem than a military one. He added that a change in political thinking in the United States will bring an end to the war.

Paul Whiteman, 'King of Jazz,' Is Dead at 76

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) Famed band leader Paul Whiteman, the "King of Jazz," died today at Doylestown Hospital, apparently of a heart attack. He was 76.

The musician was rushed to the hospital at about 4:30 a.m. after he was stricken in his home near this Bucks County town 25 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Whiteman was considered the dean of modern American music and the man who first mated classical music with jazz.

He commissioned George Gershwin to compose "Rhapsody in Blue" and conducted it in 1924 in the first jazz concert ever given. He also introduced Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite." His recording of "Three O'Clock in the Morning" sold 3.4 million copies.

KNOWN AS 'POPS'

Whiteman, known to his associates as "Pops," directed such musical stars as Bing Crosby, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Morton Downey and Benny Goodman when his band was the most popular in the country between World War I and World War II.

He remained devoted to all kinds of music to the very end. "I don't think you have to live in one groove all the time," he said recently. "If it's well done, it's well done, no matter what kind it is."

★ ★ ★

One of the highlights of Whiteman's career came last spring when residents of New Hope, the quaint Bucks County village on the Delaware River where he lived in semiretirement, honored him for his half century in jazz.

HOME CALLED 'CODA'

He named his retirement home "Coda," noting that a coda is the concluding eight bars of a musical score.

Whiteman was born in Denver, Colo., March 28, 1891, and played viola in the Denver Symphony in his teens. He formed his first orchestra on the West Coast shortly after World War I, mostly with inexperienced youngsters who didn't expect much pay.

★ ★ ★

In 1919 he introduced his "symphonic jazz" to the East, at Atlantic City, N.J., and the next year he brought it to Broadway.

U.S. Jets Strafe S. Viet Force

4 Killed, 34 Injured; Investigation Ordered

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force Canberra bombers mistakenly strafed a company of South Vietnamese irregulars locked in a jungle fight with the Vietcong Thursday, killing four of the irregulars and wounding 32 and two American advisers, the U.S. Command announced.

U.S. Command said the South Vietnamese force was battling a Vietcong force in the jungle coastlands of Binh Thuan Province about 125 miles northeast of Saigon.

The B57 Canberras were called in to give supporting fire and dipped down with blazing 20mm cannon and 50-caliber machine guns. The ground action against the Vietcong apparently was broken off as the shattered South Vietnamese unit, called a civilian irregular defense group, pulled back with its casualties.

The strafing run took place in midafternoon and the weather was relatively clear, the U.S. Command said. An investigation was ordered by the commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force Gen. William Momyer and Air Force officers were sent to the scene.

GROUND ACTION

The mistaken strafing came on a day of scattered ground actions up and down the nation. They ranged from pitched battles in the coastal lowlands around Da Nang to clashes in the Mekong Delta where U.S. Navy patrol boats fought Vietcong infantrymen.

One Communist gunner in the delta put a small patrol boat out of action with a recoilless rifle shot that wounded all five American crewmen. Helicopters swept in to strafe the Vietcong position, and an accompanying patrol boat pulled the stricken craft out of the battle 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Hearing Jan. 11 on Blue Cross

LANSING (AP) — A hearing will be held Jan. 11 in Lansing on a Michigan Hospital Service application seeking a boost in base premium rates, State Insurance Commissioner David J. Dykhouse said Thursday.

Dykhouse said Blue Cross has requested an average increase of 4.86 per cent over the previous base rate schedules.

The proposed increase would not affect elderly citizen contracts, he added.

Hearings are conducted each quarter to examine the rating situations of both Blue Cross and Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield).

No change in the existing base rate premium schedule has been requested by Blue Shield, Dykhouse said.

Lie Tests Asked in Big Ohio Theft

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (UPI)—Authorities investigating the theft of an armored truck containing nearly $404,000 asked all employes of the Kane Security Co. today to take lie detector tests.

Police and FBI agents, working on the theory one the company's 15 employes could be involved in the theft, began questioning the workers.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Donald Hawkins of suburban Boardman Township, said he would "put pressure on the employes through the insurance company" to take the tests.

No City Pickup of Trash Jan. 1

Jan. 1, a day of rest and recovery for most, will also be a day off for the city's rubbish collectors.

No rubbish pickups will be made on Monday, Gordon R. Matthews, assistant superintendent of the Department of Public Works and Service Operations Division, said today.

★ ★ ★

He said residents who normally put out refuse on Monday should do so Tuesday.

All other residents, he said, should put out refuse on their normal pickup days.

City Lumber Firm Cancels Pact for Postal Substation

A Pontiac Post Office official today announced that the substation in the Meagher Lumber Co. will close permanently as the end of Saturday's business hours.

No reason was given by the lumber company at 1 Walton for canceling the contract. The station opened in March 1959.

The substation sold stamps and money orders and accepted parcel post.

Plans for replacing the substation are indefinite, according to the post office spokesman.

STATE WOMAN DIES — A Michigan woman was killed and a Kentucky state trooper injured in a collision yesterday on snow-slick U.S. 31-W north of Bowling Green, Ky. Listed as killed in the crash was Edythe Shaurette, 72, of Lansing, Mich., who was alone in her car. Trooper Billy Mann, 28, was hospitalized with serious injuries.

Poll Finds Open Housing Foes

A public opinion poll conducted recently by State Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac reveals that a number of area residents are opposed to open housing legislation.

LAW

The Democratic legislator said today that it was on the basis of the replies he received from an advertisement in the Pontiac Press Dec. 12 that he voted against the measure last week.

The 62nd District representative says he has received more than 3,000 replies and they are still coming in.

From those who replied from within the city limits of Pontiac, the vote was 12-1 against the fair housing proposal, while those from the area outside Pontiac were opposed to it, 50-1, Law said.

★ ★ ★

Of the total replies, Law said, about 96 per cent indicated that if the measure were passed by the Legislature, they would want a referendum election.

THOUGHTS CONFIRMED

"The replies confirmed what I had heard from talking to the people in the streets and in the plants," said Law, "but I had no way of telling if this was a fair representation.

"That's why I placed the ad," said Law "I wanted to know what adults and registered voters felt on the subject."

Law said it was the first time in all his years in the Legislature that he had sought an opinion in this manner, "but I was in a quandary in this particular issue."

★ ★ ★

He said that all the replies, except three or four, had the names and addresses of the persons expressing their opinions.

"Considering that there was no prior announcement that I was going to take the poll, I feel that the number of returns was very good." said Law.

Barbara, kidding him, said, "You don't have the right spirit," and the driver replied, "Oh, I got the spirit, but dying just don't fit into my profession, ma'am."

Alleged Mafia Leader Gets Jail Sentence

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent John Rao, 69-year-old reputed Mafia leader, has been given a five-year jail term.

Rao burst into tears when the verdict was read in federal court Thursday, claiming the government has been "persecuting me" for 10 years.

* * *

Judge William B. Harlands said he was imposing the maximum five-year sentence for a Nov. 17 perjury conviction until Rao's health and background is evaluated" over a three-month period.

Under this section of the law, Rao will spend the time in jail, but will rtturn to court to be resentenced.

BAIL REVOKED

Rao claimed he had ulcers, arteriosclerosis, chronic bronchitis and a heart condition. The $100,000 bail on him was revoked and he was sent to the Federal House of Detention.

The portly millionaire who has extensive real estate holdings in New York and New Jersty, said "I've been working since I was 10, I'm proud of my background. I've been persecuted for my associations and because I was raised in the slums. I didn't intentionally commit perjury."

Prince Plans Night Flying

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip disclosed today that when he announced that he was going to learn night flying "there was absolute pandemonium" among members of Britain's air staff.

Queen Elizabeth's husband made the disclosure in an interview with Harold Morrison, chief of the London Bureau of the Canadian Press. It was the first exclusive interview given by the prince to a Canadian.

Philip said that he had always wanted to fly. When he married Elizabeth and was made a marshal of the Royal Air Force among other military ranks, he said he felt the time had arrived.

"It seemed only right and proper that if I was going to wear the uniform of an air force officer, I ought at least to learn to fly," he said.

Each time he moved through a different phase of air training, Philip continued, the air staff had to have a meeting. When it objected to his night flying, he said he pointed out that if flying was safe enough for regular air cadets, it was safe enough for him.

New Trouble Threatened on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Concern over the possibility of new trouble between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots grew today after leaders of the Turkish minority named an 11-man "provisional administrative council" Thursday night to run the affairs of the 100,000 Turkish Cypriots scattered over the Greeek-dominated island.

* * *

Cypriot government circles, made up entirely of Greek Cypriots since communal fighting four years ago, interpreted the action as a proclamation of a separate Turkish Cypriot government.

* * *

But a Turkish Cypriot spokesman called the move an administrative matter, and Turkish government officials in Ankara sought to play down the council's establishment. They said it was only temporary and would not alter the 1960 accords that gave the island independence.

* * *

Turkish Cypriot leaders said the council will perform the administrative tasks the Turkish Cypriots have in fact, been handling for their own enclaves since the U.N. peace force arrived as a buffer between them and the island's 500,000 Greeks.

* * *

A particular source of concern for the Greek Cypriots was the appointment to the council of Rauf Denktash as vice chairman under Dr. Fazil Kutchuk, the chairman and holder of the now-powerless vice presidency allotted the Turkish Cypriots in the government of Cyprus.

OPEN HOUSING
An Explanation of my Vote "No" . . . . . .

The results shown by the replies to the advertisement I recently had published in The Pontiac Press to determine the opinion of the Registered Citizens of Pontiac to Open Housing indicated such legislation was opposed 12 to 1.

I therefore voted "no".

The replies from outside Pontiac indicated more than 50 to 1 opposed.

The total both inside and outside Pontiac indicated 96% were opposed to such legislation without a state-wide referendum. Accompanying letters indicated a strong feeling against the financing and actions of the Civil Rights Commission.

Several reasons were given for opposition to punitive or mandatory legislation on Open Housing. It was obvious that the measure was ill-timed and that proponents (political, clergy, business, industrial and labor leaders) thereof had poorly done their part to impose their thinking on others to gain general acceptance of such a philosophy by legislative force.

Due to the thousands of coupon ballots and letters making it financially and physically too difficult to answer each, this advertisement is an answer to all. To those who replied to my Public Poll, both For and Against, and to the general public who may be interested in the results of it, I furnish this information.

My sincere thanks to those who sent money to help defray the costs of the ad. All contributions are being returned to the donors, as I feel that I owe this to the public.

This ad is paid for personally by me.

$7.5 Million in Projects for Groveland Cleared

By ED BLUNDEN

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — Plans for an estimated $7.5 million in resort and residential developments here received the approval yesterday of the important coordinating zoning and planning committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors approved rezoning three separate large tracts of land, thus clearing the way for two golf courses, a ski facility, a 118-lane bowling alley, a new mobile home site, and over 50 high-cost residences.

Approval had previously been granted by the township planners Now, with the backing of the county unit, only approval by the Township Board of Trustees is lacking.

Township Supervisor Earl Rhinevault has set a meeting to consider the matter at 8 tonight at the Township Hall, Grange Hall and Barron.

Seeking rezoning on a 365-acre area at Grange Hall and Wildwood (including the old town hall site) is a development group from Flint. They reportedly plan to spend some $6 million in building a combination ski resort, golf course and 118-lane bowling alley.

SITE CALLED IDEAL

The hilly, largely undeveloped land in the heart of the township was termed ideal for this type of development by the county committee.

The rezoning request is for six different parcels, all previously zoned agricultural. The parcels would be both commercial-recreation and residential. The committee was informed the group plans a small subdivision bordering the golf course with $100,000 homes.

Another golf course in the Mount Holly area is proposed by a group of Detroit investors. At Dixie, south of Tripp, a 150-acre layout is proposed.

★ ★ ★

Adjacent to this course, also, residential zoning was requested for several parcels for home sites. The Detroit group's possible investment was estimated at $1 million and possibly more.

MOBILE HOME PLAN

A third rezoning request was made by Dr. Albert H. Rosten of Birmingham for a 50-acre parcel for mobile homes at Dixie and Oakhill. Dr. Rosten said he expects to spend about $500,000 for a park to include 175 sites.

He said the park will be self-contained as to sewerage and water and added it would be "for adults." He termed his planned community as "a quality one, a fine addition to the community."

He said it would be well set back from the road and that lot sizes would be 4,500 square feet as compared to the 2,200 square feet minimum required by state law.

★ ★ ★

Groveland Township, which in 1967 had a total equalized value of $7.5 million is in the northwest corner of Oakland County, east of Holly The planned developments are close to both U.S. 10 (Dixie) and the I-75 freeway.

Dolls Attend Tea Party

It was a special kind of tea party yesterday at Birmingham's Baldwin Public Library. Dolls were invited and their young mistresses could come, too, if they wished. About 19 turned out for the event. There were a few more dolls than little girls. Some of them reflected the shiny newness of Christmas, others had the cherished look of age. Some were of foreign extraction.

★ ★ ★

Some were tiny and dainty, and there was one doll there almost as big as her mistress. It was noted that the dolls sat politely when the refreshments were served, while the young mistresses hurried to the punch and cookie table for refreshments. The doll party is an annual event at the library.

Lansing Man Awaits Sentencing in Slaying

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Twenty-year-old Gerald Talison of Lansing today awaited sentencing after his first-degree murder conviction in the New Year's Day slaying of a service station attendant.

An Eaton County Circuit Court jury spent 50 minutes deliberating before returning the guilty verdict against Talison Thursday. Judge Richard Robinson remanded Talison to the Eaton County jail.

Zoning Panel Will Study Orion Twp. Controversy

ORION TOWNSHIP — The coordinating and zoning committee of the County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday to take a closer look at a property in Orion Township, which has been the object of a controversy.

★ ★ ★

At issue is a rezoning request for 50 acres on the southwest corner of Indian Lake and M24 that is zoned residential. Developers wish to build apartments on the land which is adjacent to Long Lake.

The township planning commission voted to reject the request; and Richard Beer, township planning chairman, was before the county group to explain.

Beer reported that more than 60 residents had appeared at public hearings on the rezoning request, and most of them had protested construction of apartments on the basis the newcomers would ruin the lake by overuse.

★ ★ ★

Another objection was that Indian Lake Road could not handle the extra traffic because of a small railroad viaduct which limits use.

'NO LOGICAL REASONS'

Philip Dondero, adviser from the county planning commission, pointed out that the stated reasons may not be enough. He said there was no "logical reason why multiples should not be built on the property." he said "people have to live somewhere" and indicated that planning should try to bring "the most good for the most people."

Dondero also indicated a lawsuit could be brought against the township by the developers.

The committee, whose recommendation would go to the Orion Township Board of Trustees, deferred action on the rezoning until the members could examine the area.

They said they would study if access to the property was as difficult as reported by Beer.

Moves Toward Streamlined Government

Clarkston Acts on New Zoning Code

By JEAN SAILE

CLARKSTON — The Village Council last night moved toward a streamlined village government, including a new zoning ordinance enlarging the present business district.

While no formal action on previously proposed annexation was taken, councilmen admitted several times that the new zoning, building codes and construction specifications undertaken would be necessary to any action in extending village boundaries.

Though it was a special meeting, about 20 citizens were present, and some of them voiced concerned opposition to the proposed change in village zoning.

The council's action in regard to zoning last night provided for publication of the proposed ordinance, which is largely a duplicate of that used by the township with some exceptions.

★ ★ ★

Councilman David Leak, chairman of the village planning committee, said a public hearing on the zoning would follow publication of the ordinance.

PLANNING COMMISSION

Besides extending the business area east along Buffalo under a classification of local business, the new ordinance provides for a planning commission containing one council member and several citizens. It would replace the present planning committee made up of three members of the council.

The general commercial district was maintained along the one-block area of Main Street between Washingron and Church, but a local business classification which excludes bars and department stores was extended to both sides of Buffalo Street, which lies one block east of Main Street.

The new classification would allow for construction of a Post Office on former Methodist Church property at Buffalo and Church Streets.

★ ★ ★

The relocation of the post office, according to Leak, necessitated the zoning change.

PROGRESS NEEDED

"If we can't show some progress towards rezoning) by the first of the year, we're going to lose the Post Office," said the planning chairman.

Also allowed in the extension of the business area is a strip between Main and Buffalo designated as a parking district.

Designating this land for parking will permit future construction of a village parking lot, Leak said.

★ ★ ★

The new ordinance proposes two residential classifications. One, known as R-1A, would include most of the homes in the village; but an R-2A classifcation would allow for the smaller residential lots in the downtown area.

APARTMENT ZONING

Present apartment sites were recognized in the proposed map, but no provision was made for an extension of such zoning.

Leak pointed out that residents who felt themselves adversely affected by the proposed rezoning could speak at a puclic hearing to be set later, probably in about three weeks time; that some variances could be granted by the zoning board of appeals; and that nonconforming usage would be premitted for all present land usage.

Concilmen noted that proposed zoning boundaries would keep all commercial activity from lake property.

Councilman Donald Cooper questioned whether a local business designation might not provide for "a second-class business district"

ARCHITECTURE CONTROL

"What control can we have over architure in such a classification?" he asked.

"You can't legislate aesthetics," said Attorney Jack Banycky.

"Any conversion of present property would require a village building permit," said Leak. "That, plus the fact that good business would demand a certain amount of aesthetics, would give us the control we need."

★ ★ ★

Following a unanimous vote for initiating the new zoning ordinance, the council adopted by reference the township's building code including its plumbing and electrical codes.

ENFORCEMENT COOPERATION

"By using the same one as the township, it opens the door to cooperation on enforcement," said Leak.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works construction specifications for sewers and water mains were next adopted, but action on a street construction code was delayed.

"All streets in the village are now paved," said Leak. "This code is not necessary unless we begin annexation proceedings. I'm not ready to vote on initiating annexation until I'm sure we're fully covered by all codes."

★ ★ ★

Said Councilman Keith Hallman, "We're not ready at all to do anything about annexation at this point, but I wouldn't vote for it (annexation) without street specifications. It's not necessary tonight. We're not far enough along with annexation plans."

The council last summer proposed annexing of land which would triple the size of the current village. The proposal met with considerable oppostition from affected residents.

Addison Twp. Zoning Change Okayed

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — The coordinating and zoning committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a new zoning classification for this township.

The new zone would be for multiple use on a single property.

The ordinance was sought by the township to allow the Riggers Union to build on a 250-acre plot north of Upper Lakeville Lake.

The union plans to build a clinic, hospital, homes and recreation facilities for their members. Their rezoning request under the new classification was also approved.

Some $3 million will be invested in the development, it was estimated.

In other action, approval was granted an 84-acre subdivision rezoning request in Independence Township.

★ ★ ★

The development is planned to be one-family residential in an area north of Maybee between Sashabaw and Pine Knob on land formerly zoned suburban farms.

SUITCASE TEACHING TOOL — Mrs. Denise VanAken of Rochester, state special education consultant, learns the use of the "suitcase tutor" from S. Joseph Levine of the Center of Handicapped Children at Michigan State University. The completely portable suitcase contains aids useful in the teaching of retarded children. It is part of new teaching programs in special education being developed at MSU.

Village Election Deadline Nears

The nominating petition deadline for offices in at least four Oakland County villages is 4 p.m. Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

In Ortonville, positions of clerk, treasurer, assessor and president for three-year terms are open as are three two-year terms on the council.

★ ★ ★

In Leonard, a village president, clerk, treasurer and assessor for one-year terms and three council members for two years are to be elected.

★ ★ ★

In Clarkston, the terms of president, clerk and treasurer and three council seats are open.

★ ★ ★

Holly electors will vote on the offices of president, clerk, treasurer and assessor and three trustees for two-year terms.

★ ★ ★

If sufficient candiates file, primary elections will be held in the separate localities. Otherwise the next election will be the regular spring vote, village clerks report.

Senator Launches War on Disposable Bottles

LANSING (AP) — A state senator has started a petition drive asking for a vote in the 1968 general election on a proposal to outlaw nonreturnable bottles in Michigan.

Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, said he will try to collect 200,000 signatures on petitions to put the issue on the ballot.

★ ★ ★

Craig said the expense of picking up the no-deposit soft drink and beer bottles was $717,000 a year to the State Highway Department alone.

The bottles, Craig said, are a safety hazard as well as a litter nuisance.

Blaze Destroys Electrical Goods at Asphalt Plant

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — A blaze last night at the Detroit Concrete Co., McGuiness Brothers Plant, South Hill Road and Pontiac Trail, destroyed electrical equipment housed in a shed. All machinery at the asphalt plant was activated.

Lyon Township Fire Chief F. J. Knapp said no monetary estimate had been made of the damage, but that an investigation of the cause would be conducted.

Plant manager Edward St. Jean reported when he left the plant at 7:20 p.m. yesterday all equipment was turned off.

The alarm was turned in an hour and 40 minutes later, and firemen found the electrical panel burned and several motors running.

★ ★ ★

St. Jean said it was doubtful that the fire could have activated the controls.

Fire Kills Nine Children

MONT LAURIER, Que. (AP) — Nine children perished in a fire that swept a home in nearby Lac des Iles last night, firemen reported. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Girouard, were taked to a hospital.

Rirement reported today they had recovered the bodies of four of the children from the burned home, about 125 miles northwest of Montreal.

Scientists Find No Sex Revolution, Just Continuation of Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists today presented findings from new studies of human sexual behavior, listing among general conclusions:

- There has been "no sexual revolution" strictly speaking, rather more a continuation of long existing trends.
- College coeds continue to equate their first sexual intercourse with love, whereas men continue to be opportunistic.
- There is a definite trend, especially among young women, for the first sexual intercourse to be a pleasurable event.
- Newer contraceptive devices do NOT seem to have prompted any rise in the percentage of women having intercourse before marriage.
- Use of birth control devices doesn't seem to lead to increased sexual activity so much as to increased enjoyment.

* * *

The scientists addressed a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Paul H. Gebhard, director of the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University founded by the late Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, described first results from a 1967 survey among nearly 1,200 men and women, in colleges across the nation, compared with findings from similar questioning of about as many college students in the 1940s and early 1950s—a generation or nearly so ago.

CONTINUATION

So far, he said, "all this sounds like a continuation of the trend toward sexual equality with the female being regarded both by males and by herself as less a sexual object to be exploited, and more as a fellow human with her own needs, expectations and rights."

The 1967 study was conducted under direction of Dr. William Simon of the Institute at Bloomington, Ind.

* * *

Compared with a generation ago, Dr. Gebhard said, "It is clear that the enormous difference between how males and females view their initial partner has changed very little. In brief, females surrender their virginity to males they love, whereas males are much less emotionally involved."

For college coeds now at their first experience, "love was involved in 70 to 90 per cent of cases"—similar to the earlier findings.

FIRST EXPERIENCE

Among males, 11 to 14 per cent in the new study said they first had intercourse with girls they intended to marry. This compared with only one to five per cent—in various college years—who so reported in the earlier surveys.

* * *

Young men now rarely have their first experience with prostitutes—only two to seven per cent in the new study compared with 20 to 25 per cent previously.

* * *

Dr. Gebhard said the studies show a significant percentage increase among girls who said their first experience was pleasurable and who reached sexual climax or orgasm at their first intercourse.

Dr. Ira L. Reiss, University of Iowa sociologist, told of studies from which he concluded "there has really been no sexual revolution in a strict sense because the change has been gradual and continuous, and also because the adult institutional control structures of churches, parents, laws and such have changed much slower than the youth culture."

DESCRIBES STUDIES

While definitive studies are lacking, he said, still "it does not seem that newer contraceptive methods being available has led to any noticeable rise in the percentage of women choosing to have premarital intercourse."

* * *

Dr. Ailon Shiloh, University of Pittsburgh anthropologist, described initial or pilot studies among women coming to Planned Parenthood Clinics of Pittsburgh.

One indication so far, he said, is that Catholic women express a more personally satisfactory sex relationship than do white Protestants, and Negro women articulate the least satisfactory personal relationship.

* * *

After women began using some birth control technique, they reported a slightly increased frequency in sex relations per week, and a "greatly increased personal pleasure from sex relations as measured by her changed feelings about sex relations and her enjoyment of sex relations."

'Cuban Craft Land Agents'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Coast Guard reports it has received indications Cuban fishing vessels have been used frequently to land subversive agents in Central and South American countries.

The rapid growth and expansion in activities of the Cuban fishing fleet was discussed by Coast Guard officers at a closed hearing of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

A transcript of the June 25 session, with classified material deleted, was made public today. The hearing was one in a series on "Communist Threat to the United States Through the Caribbean."

Cmdr. J. W. E. Ward of the Coast Guard told the subcommittee his branch was quite concerned with Cuban maritime activities for reasons that included "all the indications we have that the Cuban fishing fleet has been used on many occasions to infiltrate subversive agents and arms and ammunitions into the various Central and South American countries."

* * *

He cited an incident in which three Cuban army personnel were caught attempting to infiltrate Venezuela. Armed forces of that country stopped them.

Ward said the party was landed in a rubber boat from the Cuban fishing trawler Sierra.

NEW FREEDOM SHARES

What are they? Who may buy them?

Americans have put their savings to work for freedom through U.S. Savings Bonds for many years. New Freedom Shares do the same job . . . plus. Read how.

Freedom Shares are U.S. Savings Notes. They pay a higher return than Savings Bonds, 4.74% when held to maturity. And they mature in just four-and-a-half years.

For regular Bond buyers only

These new Freedom Shares—which are not redeemable for the first year—are offered on a one-for-one basis with E Bonds, but only to people who belong to the Payroll Savings Plan where they work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where they bank.

There are four denominations of Freedom Shares, each of which may be paired with a Series E Bond of the same or larger denominations as a "package." For instance, for $39 total, you can purchase a Savings Bond that matures at $25 and a Freedom Share that matures at $25.

America needs your help

When you buy Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares you do an important job for freedom, backing our men in Vietnam and helping to keep the country economically strong. The need is urgent. What you do counts.

Sign up

Tell your supervisor or the Payroll Department where you work (or any officer where you bank) that you'd like to join a Bond purchase plan. Decide how much you'll save . . . whether you want Freedom Shares as well as Bonds . . . and just sign the authorization card.

You'll be helping your country as you help yourself. And the country needs your help.

Christmas Spirit a Unifying Force

Fourteen ships of eight nations are still stranded on Great Bitter Lake in the middle of the Suez Canal, where they have been since the canal was blocked during the June 1967 installment of the Arab-Israeli War.

Though their crews are in different ships, they are all in the same boat, and they are reacting as men always do when confronted with a common predicament.

It wasn't planned this way, but the ships represent the whole current international ideological spectrum—from Communist Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Poland to Britain, France, the United States and West Germany to neutral Sweden.

★ ★ ★

An American freighter was caught on its way back from South Vietnam. Near it is anchored a Bulgarian freighter that was enroute to North Vietnam. Their missions are now suspended indefinitely and both crews joined the "Great Bitter Lake Association," which it is hoped will become a permanent club with its own emblem, tie clips and badges and annual reunion.

Polish seamen built a floating Christmas tree near their ship, around which the men gathered in boats to sing carols. On Christmas Day, visits and dinners were exchanged.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps someday there will come a Christmas when men the world over realize that although they sail in many different ships, bearing different national, racial, religious and ideological flags, they are all really stranded on the same small (and increasingly smaller) lake we call the earth.

The Long Weekend

John C. Manning

The death of JOHN C. MANNING, a former editor of the Detroit Times, brings to an end 50 years devoted to journalism, most of it in Detroit. At one time or another he worked on the Free Press and the Detroit News.

★ ★ ★

After the Detroit Times closed he was a contributing editor writing a column for the Free Press. After working on several out of state papers he began his career as a sportswriter for the Detroit News in the early 1920s.

"Jack," as he was called, was one of the best. He had the admiration of not only those with whom he worked side by side, but also the top brass, business leaders and the public at large.

He was respected by everyone that had contact with him for his fairness and kindness. With his sort of whimsical sense of humor he made friends wherever he went.

★ ★ ★

He will be missed by many, but especially in the newspaper profession by all those who appreciate special competence in reporting the news.

Rising Costs, Importation Squeeze 'Steel'

There is no question that the American steel industry is under pressure.

Domestic consumption of finished steel has declined this year, from 100.9 million tons in 1966 to a projected 94 million tons in 1967. Yet even as it has declined, imported steel has comprised an increased percentage of it.

Indications now are that foreign-made steel will account for about 12 per cent, or 11 million tons, of total domestic consumption this year, reports the industry magazine, Steel.

★ ★ ★

This is an increase from 10.7 per cent of the 100.9 millions tons used in 1966. American exports of steel, once amounting to several million tons, have fallen to 1.7 million tons.

American steel makers would like to better their import-export position by having the Government establish import quotas for foreign countries. So would the makers of a lot of other products.

But the Nation should think long and hard before it gives them, or any industry, built-in protection against competition from abroad.

★ ★ ★

If the steel companies, because of continually rising costs, principally that of labor, have been obliged to price their product so far out of competition that the government eventually has to do something drastic to rescue this most basic industry, the Country could experience more than the effects of administered inflation.

The drive, already gathering, would be on for protectionism across the board. Foreign governments would retaliate, and the result would be the rebuilding of the high tariff walls of the 1930s that it has taken a generation partially to lower.

Reflections of Columnist's Holiday

By DICK SAUNDERS

CHRISTMAS LEFTOVERS DEPT: Last week started with a most startling event.

I was walking home on West Huron Street and stopped momentarily to admire a gigantic blue spruce, fully decorated with lights, on the front lawn of a church.

SAUNDERS

It fell over.

Just like that, mind you. I had no more than said, "What a magnificent tree," and it fell down. Scares you a little.

It was an omen of things to come.

We got a wonderful buy on our Christmas tree this year. I told people for a week that it was the fullest, most beautiful balsam I ever saw for only $4.88.

★ ★ ★

By Christmas Eve we weren't sitting and looking at it anymore. We were sitting and listening to it.

It's shedding faster than an Angora cat in a mid-April hot spell.

When the kids came down Christmas morning we told them there WERE presents under the tree; they'd just have to dig a little for them.

★ ★ ★

Sunday we travelled to my brother's place for a family get together. We bundled up all the kids and dropped them at a movie. It happened to be a double feature.

The idea was that the adults would exchange gifts while the kids were at the show. It was all magnificently planned.

Just as we were about to pull the first ribbon, the golden horde returned. Being used to single features, they all got up and walked out when the first film ended.

★ ★ ★

So, a little later we again devised a brilliant ruse, packing them off to a nearby ice cream parlor with enough purchasing power to make their choice of goodies long and difficult.

Again we were thwarted. The store closed early.

My lovely wife collects spices. One drawback to this is there's no place to put them any more. It's really becoming a problem.

Then, a real brainstorm. I bought two spice racks for the kids to give her for Christmas. I thought they were awfully heavy when I lugged them home.

★ ★ ★

Monday morning I found out why.

They were FULL spice racks. Now she has 24 more bottles of the stuff. Pass the aspirin, please.

My cute little three-year-old niece watched her mother stuff a turkey Sunday morning. It was something she'd never seen before.

As her mother finished, the little toddler looked up with her big, blue eyes and observed, "Make him grow up big and strong?"

★ ★ ★

And my six-year-old daughter really stopped me a couple days before Christmas.

"You know, daddy," she said, "there are kids in my class who don't believe in Santa Claus."

"Oh?," I replied, (thinking "here it comes."

"Yes," she said. "We have two Jewish girls in our room."

★ ★ ★

How marvelously blithe and uncluttered is the world of a six-year-old.

Voice of the People:

Congressman Corrects VOP Writer's Statement

I call your attention to the inaccuracy of the statement signed by Korine Reas which appeared in a recent letter to the Voice of the People. The letter stated that on a roll call I "voted to increase trade with Communist nations." This remark is simply not true.

McDONALD

There were ten roll call votes made during the course of deliberation over the Foreign Assistance Act of 1967 and the Foreign Assistance and Related Agencies Appropriation Bill. I was present for all ten votes, and it is a matter of public record that each time the issue of aid to nations trading with North Vietnam was considered, I voted to prevent such aid under any conditions.

Gives Cheers for Recent Bowling Contest

I give three cheers to Shirley Pointer for her time and efforts, and for the help of The Pontiac Press in promoting the Pontiac Open Bowling Contest. I'm sure all bowlers will agree.

A CONTESTANT

'Obedience-Trained Dogs Could Be Useful'

A recent letter challenged your editorial by proposing more restrictive dog laws. Dogs, like children, reflect the type of people they are associated with. If they are kept in pens or chained to some building, with no love or affection, people can expect incidents such as happened in Virginia.

★ ★ ★

I believe more dogs in ratio to children are being obedience trained. Trained dogs could save many tax dollars if used in more police work. They know no color or creed in apprehending a criminal. Possibly the King boy would be alive if the police had a dog in their car. Leader dogs for the blind bring new life to people.

★ ★ ★

If every home had an obedience-trained dog, breakins, rape and robbery would be practically eliminated. If these dogs are chained or kept in pens, they are of little value.

EDWARD F. LADWIG

Discusses Half-Day Sessions for Students

The Waterford Township Board of Education is trying to put pressure on the voters and as a result the elementary school children are being cheated out of the most important stage of learning. Putting high school students on half-day sessions would have been the most logical as most have only four courses and could easily finish them in half-days with elimination of study halls.

★ ★ ★

They are cutting down on children who are in the process of learning to read and write. What a waste and shame that adults will pick this course of action. There must be other places to reduce so that half-days are not necessary at all. I voted yes in last voting but if this is the method used to get people to vote, I may change my mind.

MARGARET MARTIN

Question and Answer

I have two teen-agers bugging me to go to Hullabaloo and Limberlost. Could you get me information about the places?

WONDERING

REPLY

We checked with the Sheriff's Department, and Capt. Hazen tells us they are policed quite closely, they're fairly well supervised and there have been no serious complaints made against them. He said complaints about such places usually involve older persons who have been drinking and must be asked to leave.

David Lawrence Says:

Crime Law Misses Major Point

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has finally signed into law a bill recently passed by Congress which endeavors to stop the crime wave in the District of Columbia.

LAWRENCE

It is the same measure, with some modifications, which he vetoed last year on the basis of technicalities.

The previous bill, for instance, would have allowed police to question suspects up to 10 hours before their arraignment. The new law limits this to three hours.

What occasions surprise is the emphasis on minor points and the indifference to the major objective — to get started at last in the national capital on a crusade against crime.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Johnson, in his message on the signing of the bill, asserts that "crime is a local problem." Although he urges that Congress take a look at the crime problem in all cities, there is no indication as to what kind of remedies are to be proposed except that, as usual, a commission is to do some studying and federal financial aid may be forthcoming.

PUBLIC OPINION

It is apparent that the Johnson administration has noted the trend of public opinion — the growing sentiment against the failure of governmental authorities to deal effectively with the criminal elements.

Even now, however, when some legislation has been enacted, the main issue is being overlooked.

The new law for the national capital provides penalties for incitement to riot and for rioting, but no proposal has come from the White House requesting Congress to declare that these same actions are to be regarded as federal crimes wherever they take place.

★ ★ ★

Many of the cities where riots have occurred have been the victims of conspiracies which are initiated in different parts of the country.

★ ★ ★

Local officials are unable by themselves to take effective steps. For often the originators of the "demonstrations" do not even go to the cities where the disorders happen.

Bob Considine Says:

It's Time to Look Back on 'Unforgettables' of '67

NEW YORK — It's getting to be that time of the year when you wonder what you did with it.

CONSIDINE

What happened to all those resolutions, y'bum'-ya?

Why did I lose February? Probably slipped through my fingers because it was so small. What happened on Lincoln's birthday? Ah, yes, took Doris Lilly to Trader Vic's for a bowl of patriotic moo goo guy pan.

March? Was there a March? There must have been. I remember falling off the wagon on the 17th. Seems I ran into some guys I hadn't seen since, well, the night before, and we dropped into P.J.'s to ask Dick Andrew the way to Vespers — and that took care of March.

April was a stickout. There were these books my wife and I wrote, and our publishers were decent enough to book us on a lot of TV and radio shows whose M.C.'s were simply dying to talk to us because they had screamed with laughter and couldn't put the books down. Sample exchanges:

Host: Well, Mr. Constantine, tell us what your book's about?

Guest: (sullenly) about 400 pages.

Hostess: Well, Millie, when did you start going on all those romantic trips to far places with Bob?

Guestess: (evenly) On our honeymoon. My mother wouldn't let me go before that.

Hostess: (vacantly) How interesting, was that a business or a pleasure trip?

May is a blank except for two shocks. Bunch of us who are interested in the USO were flown to Ft. Bragg, N.C., for a look at the special training given to the Green Berets. "And now," said the mischievous rascal who was our guide, "here is a replica of a Vietcong village."

EARTH OPENED

"Cute," a lady visitor cooed. She might have gone on but suddenly and terribly the earth opened here and there, vegetation and flowers erupted, and out sprang a swarm of imitation VCs shooting hell out of us with machine gun blanks. Fainted.

He said, "Ten seconds to peacock." Became ill.

June? June? Of course! June was the month we got a kid through college. Berkeley, no less. I said to him with the heartiness of an out-of-season Santa Claus, "Thought I'd give you a present of a pair of formal tennis shoes and a set of gut strings for the git-tar, har, har."

NOT LAUGHING

He didn't har.

July, well, that was memorable. I made up my mind 48 years ago to do something nice for my sixth grade teacher, Sister Bernard. So, my reflexes are bad eh? Forty-eight years later I took her to Ireland. And Rome. Made up my mind to do something else nice for her when we returned. Would you believe the moon?

August? Hot. Particularly one day at Fox Trot 2/7, near Da Nang.

"I get a crazy crackling sound every time you handle the mike," cameraman-director Bert Spielvogel said during the filming of "Airlift-Vietnam." He took everything apart, put it back together, and still there was the crackling.

I was short-circuiting the mike with sweat.

No Limit

Manchester Guardian

If this were the 19th century Britain might well be at war with France by now. There seems no limit to General de Gaulle's rancor against the Anglo-Saxon nor the risks he is prepared to run to speed the collapse of the western system of interdependence. . .

★ ★ ★

In all his bold ventures de Gaulle has so far failed. He has nothing to show for his initiative towards Red China or his intervention in Vietnam. His policy towards the Soviet Union has resulted in two unimportant cooperation committees and a telephone connection with the Kremlin. De Gaulle has failed to persuade the East European countries to love the West Germans or the Germans to recognize postwar frontiers. He has failed to gain a foothold in South America and he has failed to establish a position of influence in the Middle East.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle has failed to bring about his Europe des patries, and his dominance of the Common Market is based on no more than the threat to destroy it and the ability to block its actions with the negative power of veto.

Chaos?

The Grand Rapids Press

There was a great deal of truth in what Father James Groppi said here a few days ago in Park Congregational Church about the white man's hatred and abuse of Negroes.

But he came perilously close to inciting mass civil disorder when he appeared to bless rioters as "freedom fighters" and to condone looting by Negroes as "restitution" for the wrongs inflicted on them by white merchants.

Rioting — that is, the use of force and weapons of any kind against another — is unlawful. Whatever the wrongs committed against Negroes, they cannot be set right by their committing other wrongs.

★ ★ ★

It is one thing to understand the reasons for deep-seated resentments and grievances among Negroes toward whites, but it is quite something else to encourage them to destroy property and even the lives of others, and to call them "fredom fighters" while they are doing it.

★ ★ ★

As for looting, every decent American, regardless of color, detests the landlord or merchant who gouges the poor. And it is all too common knowledge that Negroes especially have been victimized in this manner, sometimes even by other Negroes.

Ways must be found in which to redress such conditions, legal ways, methods that have the force of law and therefore the support of the law-abiding community.

To condone looting as a means of righting wrongs is to sow the seeds of lawlessness. And where does it stop? Short of murder? These, it seems to us, are grave questions posed by Father Groppi's provocative words.

We're in the Between-Holidays Lull

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Every year has a lost week, and this is it for most people.

It is the lull in life that occurs between Christmas Day and the 2nd of January.

BOYLE

* * *

The atmosphere of frantic good will to all subsides into a live-and-let-live feeling of tired tolerance. When people meet, each salutes the other with a half-nod,a half-smile, a stifled yawn and a small "hello" that sounds like a sigh of exhaustion or the last noise of a deflating toy balloon.

The general emotion is one of genteel fatigue and acceptance of things as they are. Man is caught in a posture of postponement.

Next week, of course, everybody will be up and doing, and the bustle of resumption will resound throughout the land.

But this week nobody is launching new battleships, because nobody feels like making waves. All the busy human spiders are just sitting there watching dust collect on their cobwebs and admiring their filmy architecture.

* * *

Yep, this is the week of the mighty pause. This is good old Let's Get It Done Next Week Week. It takes so much trouble for a fellow to clear his throat when he gets up any morning this week that he hardly has energy left to do anything else before nightfall.

You might say this is National Do Nothing Week. Even the people who are scheming against the national welfare are probably lying down on the job this very minute because they are too tired to stand up and plot.

NEVER STILLED

Of course, the tremendous pulse of American industry is never altogether stilled. If anyone had the strength to walk through a typical business office, he would see a lot of activity going on, but it would be like one of those camera scenes done in slow motion

This is because nobody is really doing anything much—he is just going through the motions of Going Through The Motions Week.

* * *

The stern boss spends half a day holding his spectacles up to the light and polishing them. He is too worn out to frown at his staff, let alone give them the bawling out they deserve. And his underlings pay him no more attention than magpies do a weary bull. They know that if he hasn't fired them already he won't make up his mind to do so until next week.

Office gossip is almost at a standstill. It takes too much energy to stab another guy or girl in the back.

The efficient worker does open his desk drawer and consider cleaning it out, but then a second thought occurs to him: "If I clean it out now, what'll I do next week?" He quietly eases the drawer shut with a mental admonition to himself to be sure to lay in enough aspirin to last him through 1968.

Then he leans back in his swivel chair, puts his feet on the desk, and critically inspects the sewmanship of the shirt button over his navel. No doubt about it—whoever sewed on that button knew what he was doing. You don't see craftmanship like that every day.

The next thing he does is look up at the clock and finds he is almost late to lunch. Gee whiz, time sure does fly in National Let It Wait Week.

This is the best week of all for home life. The children are too busy breaking or tearing apart their Christmas presents to require any particular parental attention. Papa and Mama call a truce in the usual duel of loving matrimony. Even the pets are at peace. The cat dozes with its head cushioned on the flank of the sleeping dog.

* * *

Yes, it is the lost week of the year, but it is a week well lost.

As the saying goes, next week we simply must get organized Or the week after next, anyway —without fail

'Man Nearing Point of Too Little Oxygen'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ever-increasing use of gasoline and fuel oil, coupled with the progressive elimination of plant life, could lead to world catastrophe, a scientific observer says.

Cornell University Prof. LaMont C. Cole told the American Association for the Advancement of Science Wednesday that man may be approaching the point at which he will be using oxygen faster than green plants can replace it.

Any form of combustion — including the processes of animal life — converts oxygen to carbon dioxide. Plant life reverses the process, and traditionally a balance between animals and plants has stabilized the situation.

Now, however, record use of fossil fuels combined with the elimination of a million acres of plant life each year is creating a situation in which the amount of carbon dioxide in the air is slowly but steadily increasing, Cole said.

The Cornell professor said use of the world's oceans as dumps for such pollutants as pesticides and radioactive wastes could harm marine plants, an important factor in conversion of carbon dioxide to oxygen.

Junior Editors Quiz on CHEESE

QUESTION: What makes the different kinds of cheese?

* * *

ANSWER: Cheese is made from milk, which can be separated into two different substances, the liquid whey and the more solid curd.

Lactic acid bacteria, put into the milk, help to start the separation. As the milk starts to ferment, rennet extract is added, and whey and curd separate and the whey is removed.

It is the curd which will become cheese, through various processes of salting, pressing and curing. Variations in the cheese-making process account for the different kinds.

For example, cottage and cream cheese are made by using lactic acid cultures to separate the curd, but are not ripened or fermented afterward. Cheddar or American cheese is a ripened variety which has been cured from 60 days to two years. A shorter period makes it smooth and mild, a longer curing gives it a sharp taste.

A penicillin mold put in the cheese, called Roquefort, gives the sharp taste and produces dark streaks. A very popular modern kind is processed cheese, made of several kinds ground and blended together. It melts smoothly and is splendid for toasted cheese sandwiches.

Congressmen Hoping to Adjourn by Aug. 1, '68

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional leaders hope to wrap up the 1968 session by Aug. 1 so members can attend the political conventions, then go campaigning.

* * *

At this point, the legislative work load does not look particularly heavy. But major new proposals by President Johnson could dash hopes for an early adjournment.

The President will make his plans known in his annual State of the Union message shortly after the 90th Congress convenes for its second session Jan. 15.

None of the unfinished business of the 1967 session would require legislators to spend many autumn days in Washington when they would rather be back home campaigning. And new legislation known to be coming, such as extension of college aid and delays in scheduled reductions in federal excise taxes, is expected to sail through Congress.

Much of the timetable next year will depend on the tack Johnson takes in his own campaign.

He has said he would have "substantial recommendations" for Congress in the spring. The White House has said the tax increase request and proposed anticrime legislation, neither of which was approved this year, would have top priority.

Sewer Pact Let

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — The Boeve Construction Co., of Holland was awarded a contract to install 4,000 feet of sewer main in Grand Haven for a low bid of $64,323.

Wake Up Your PERISTALSIS And Be Your SMILING BEST

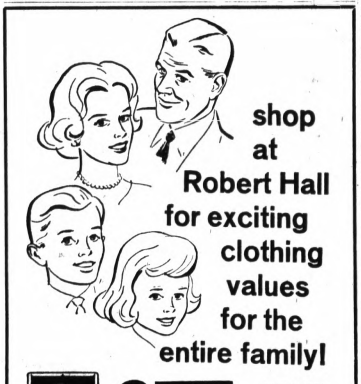

Peristalsis is the muscular action of your digestive system. When peristaltic action slows down, waste materials can build up in the lower tract. You can become irregular, uncomfortable, stuffed.

The unique laxative formula of today's Carter's Pills gives effective, temporary relief of the irregularity by activating the slowed-down muscles of the lower tract and stimulating peristalsis.

So if you're sluggish due to irregularity, take Carter's Pills to wake up your peristalsis and you'll bounce back to your smiling best.

Millions of satisfied users take Carter's Pills for effective temporary relief of irregularity. Why don't you. 49¢.

Military Showdown in Viet Seen

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietnam war spiraled to new heights in 1967. A year of action from one end of the country to the other has left knowledgeable Americans concerned at the possibility of bigger and bloodier battles ahead.

Both sides claimed numerous victories this year. In the terms of reference both used, both were right.

American commanders tend to analyze Vietnam in terms of World War II. The Communists see the war in terms of the fight to oust the colonial French in the 1950s.

* * *

As this year ends, military tacticians cannot determine that even one decisive battle has been fought. At the Demilitarized Zone, both sides are bogged down in the mud and slush of the monsoon season. Hill 875 and the other headlined heights of Dak To are being taken over again by the jungle and avoided by both sides since the bloody battles of November.

Many persons see 1967 as a curtain-raiser to a military showdown in 1968. This year's developments tend to support this thinking.

U.S. PUT TO TEST

The Communists put to a severe test the allied tactics of attrition espoused by Gen. William C. Westmoreland. At the DMZ U.S. Marine officers estimated that casualties taken by both sides were on a one-to-one basis all year long.

Optimism about an early end to the war is based partly on the huge total of enemy dead—more than 80,000 this year by allied reckoning. But the Communists continued to commit men in seemingly pointless battles right up to the year's end.

* * *

Killings of more than 100 enemy troops at a time were confirmed, particularly along the Cambodian border north of Saigon. An American brigade commander said: "Don't let us forget that the Vietminh lost an estimated half a million dead in the struggle against the French. They are much better organized now, and they have lost nowhere near that number in this war."

Another senior officer said: "Let's face it. Either because they don't know or don't care, the mothers of North Vietnam seem much less concerned about their sons than the mothers of America."

CONTINUING OFFENSE

The near-suicidal commitment of men to battle appears to be just one of half a dozen tactics used in the Communists' greatest offensive of the war. This began in late October and is continuing.

The most experienced observers say that the Reds' firepower and willingness to sacrifice troops point to the most significant factor in 1967: An apparent Hanoi decision to launch a fight-to-the-finish struggle.

* * *

To this purpose the Communists are sending men and supplies openly down the Ho Chi Minh and Sihanouk trails into the South despite a fantastic bombing campaign. By December, the United States had dropped more bombs on North and South Vietnam than it dumped on Europe in World War II—about 100 pounds of explosives for every man, woman and child in the two Vietnams.

The Communists have placed Westmoreland and his allies in what could well be a critical position in 1968.

HAD TO SUFFER

Increased intensity in the conventional war has overshadowed the pacification program. Winning the hearts and minds of the population had to suffer while the allies stemmed Communist troops slipping into the Dak To hills and across the DMZ.

The commitment of allied troops to the borders and away from the people may have fulfilled an enemy aim. If this was the plan, it succeeded to a large degree in the 1st Corps region, to a limited degree in the 2nd Corps.

* * *

These factors may shape 1968 into the war's climax:

—North Vietnam has matched the allied troop buildup almost battalion for battalion. With the U.S. troop commitment stabilizing, the Communists might try to open more fronts, battering at American units necessarily spread thin across the country.

—American casualties could rise even more than in the past year. Communist forces are being exhorted by their leaders to strike first at the Americans. Enemy weaponry will become more sophisticated.

PRESSURE FOR INVASION

—Pressure will continue to mount for allied troops to invade Laos and Cambodia, and possibly North Vietnam, particularly if infiltration continues at the present level.

—If the war gets larger, the confidence of the Vietnamese people in the Saigon government will be tested. Many observers expect antiwar sentiment to rise among the population.

Recent American troop arrivals, including the rest of the 101st Airborne Division, have for the first time in months given Westmoreland an offensive striking force. He is expected to use it in spectacular style early in the new year.

But the enemy troop buildup threatens to neutralize even the 101st by spring, forcing American commanders to forego the offensive mobility that characterized American operations in 1966 and early 1967.

CURRENT ESTIMATES

The North Vietnamese will be fielding nine infantry divisions by mid-1968 if current intelligence estimates prove correct. Presumably the Communists think this will place them in a better position to launch the kind of action that brought them success against the French. In October 1950 Ho Chi Minh used 23 Vietminh battalions to smash French defenses along the Chinese border. He has not deployed anywhere near that number of battalions at one place in Vietnam.

Increased enemy capability may frustrate Westmoreland's plans to establish a 4th American corps headquarters at Can Tho, in the Mekong Delta, early in 1968. Each of the delta's 16 provinces, except the Hoa Hao religious sect's province of An Giang, has as many armed guerrillas and Communist cadre as did the whole of Malaya at the heights of its insurgency in 1950. Westmoreland is known to be anxious to start cleaning the delta out with U.S. forces.

American dead in the tougher fighting this year rose to an average of 193 a week, against 92 in 1966. Troop commitments increased by a third this year. Casualties doubled.

American strategy is to keep casualties to a minimum by the maximum use of supporting air and artillery power, but the Reds' creation of battlefields in the periphery mountains tended to neutralize the effectiveness of supporting fire.

The rising sophistication of Communist weaponry is worrying American commanders. They find that some of their infantry units are outgunned in head-on clashes in the jungle. Communist troops carry the highly effective AK47 automatic rifle. Many have started slinging B40 and B50 bazooka-type rocket launchers around their necks and using them effectively.

Whole regiments of enemy heavy rocketeers began deploying in South Vietnam in 1967, armed with the 122 fin-stabilized rocket and the 140mm rocket. Several of these units are known to be in the country but have not yet shown up in battle.

Along the DMZ the Communists have deployed artillery and rockets, not as many as the 350 pieces pitted against the French at Dien Bien Phu, but enough to give U.S. Marines there a miserable existence.

One knowledgeable American has expressed fear that Vietnam is becoming a contest in weaponry between the United States and Russia. The Soviet Union provides all the sophisticated weapons in the North Vietnamese arsenal.

The confidence of the Vietnamese people in the government that it elected this year is being carefully watched. Approximately four million people, or one quarter of the population, have been uprooted from their homes. By the best available estimates, 25,000 civilians were killed this year. Hundreds of villages were burned to the ground by both sides, and an estimated 5 per cent of the land under cultivation was defoliated with herbicide sprays to prevent the Vietcong from using it.

A senior American civilian in the 2nd corps region told a reporter this month: "If the people in my area had the choice of continuing the war, or living in peace under the Vietcong, they'd take the Vietcong." This was an extreme viewpoint but an indicator of how depressing the war has become to many of the people.

French military experience in Vietnam and Algeria showed that big showdown battles are necessary neither for victory nor for defeat. Many observers in South Vietnam detect no ground swell of popular feeling against the Communists, no new vigor toward fighting the war among the population. President Nguyen Van Thieu is facing a political crisis because of his decree ordering partial mobilization.

France Is Prosperous, Stable—but Unloved

By DAVID MASON
Associated Press Writer

PARIS — France's 50 millions go into the new year prosperous and politically stable but unloved by many of their traditional friends abroad.

President Charles de Gaulle has led his compatriots down a road of nationalism and independence from foreign ties. A few voices are heard against the attitudes and actions of resurgent France, but the dominant year-end mood of Frenchmen and the people who lead them seems to be: "France first, and let the chips fall where they may."

* * *

It is easy to find a Frenchman who will sound off against De Gaulle but it is evident that there is a widespread sense of pride that France is standing on her own feet and is capable of stirring international public opinion.

When De Gaulle expelled American forces and NATO headquarters, a few demonstrations were conducted, mainly by French workers thrown out of jobs. Local officials sometimes deplored the departure and Frenchmen with American friends wrung their hands, but the eviction hardly caused a ripple on the national scene.

MANY DISAPPROVED

Many Frenchmen disapproved when Israel was described here as the aggressor in the Mideast war, and there was wide verbal support for the Israelis against the Arabs. But this feeling never crystallized into public demonstrations or parliamentary action.

The average Frenchman could hardly care less about De Gaulle's encouragement of French-Canadian separatism. However, a lengthy campaign by the Gaullists to underscore the "plight" of the French Canadians has convinced some Frenchmen that something should be done to help out.

On refusal to begin negotiations with Britain for entry into the Common Market, the technical complexities of the question escaped most Frenchmen. Some European-minded politicians worried about the future of European unity and there was some popular concern about tarnishing of the "entente cordiale." But it was evident that business and industry leaders, realizing the competitive stakes, were not prodding De Gaulle to alter his anti-British line.

* * *

A feeling of insecurity enveloped many Frenchmen following devaluation of the British pound Sterling. Frenchmen rushed to the gold market to convert part of their savings into gold coins, as they frequently do in times of crisis. But the gold fever has worn off.

On Vietnam, general sentiment in the country seeks to be against the U.S. position. Many Frenchmen recall their own plight during the trying days of Dien Bien Phu. "If you had helped us then," they tell Americans, "you wouldn't be in this trouble now."

U.N. Seeking Tests for Drugs

By Science Service

A United Nations committee has requested that the U.N.'s narcotics commission conduct and coordinate international research to find new, simple ways of measuring the levels of drugs in body fluids. Police and forensic medical experts need new methods in order to prosecute court cases.

The commission told its 84 scientists in 29 nations that there is a great need for tests to detect marijuana users, particularly in the case of automobile accidents.

Dr. O. J. Braenden, Norwegian director of the U.N. narcotics laboratory, says "this is one of the weakest areas in pharmacology and related sciences."

Concern that some Olympic athletes will rely on drugs while participating in the 1968 games in Mexico City has dramatized the need for new testing techniques.

* * *

The International Olympics Committee will announce—perhaps in February—what tests it will use to deter athletes from cheating. Although illegal doping of athletes is anticipated, there is no medical evidence to support the view that it improves performance.

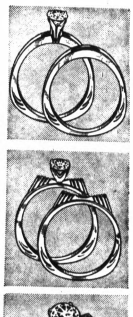

Phone Loan OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rural Electrification Administration has approved a $604,000 loan to the Barry County Telephone Co., Delton, Mich., to improve service to Barry and Allegan counties, U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., announced Thursday.

Area Schools Helping Perceptually Handicapped

By DICK ROBINSON

A teacher hands Jane seven green blocks and asks her to add blocks to the seven to make a total of 10.

* * *

"Make it 10" the 9-year-old girl inquires hesitantly. She adds four blocks. "That's 10," Jane stutters while looking at the teacher for approval.

Jane, a blue-eyed blonde, is a charming, well-behaved pupil while working alone with the teacher.

But in the classroom, she is a problem. Jane, who repeated second grade, disturbs the learning of other children. She's noisy, and uncontrollable.

Of normal intelligence, she is academically — not mentally — retarded.

SHAPES CONFUSE

Jane cannot understand the shape and structure of objects and words nor can she reproduce simple patterns in a peg board.

In attempting to read simple words, she reverses syllables. Phonetic symbols rarely mean the same sounds to her twice in succession.

Jane and many other children like her — at least 220 in Oakland County — are perceptually handicapped.

They have a physical disability, experts say. These children have difficulty in interpreting a sense of sight, hearing and touch because of a dysfunction of the nervous system.

EMOTIONAL PROBLEMS

Thus, they act as if they have severe emotional problems. They are disturbing, inattentive, impulsive and disorganized.

They have problems in learning because of poor auditory and visual perception, authorities say.

Oakland Schools Intermediate District sponsors local programs throughout the county to help these children. It's called the perceptual development program.

* * *

Youngsters admitted to perceptual development classes have such difficulty in organizing their world that they fail in regular classes.

BECOME FRUSTRATED

"In a regular class with conventional procedures, they are frustrated children, and they are frustrating to teach," reports Miss Jean Lukens, nationally recognized county consultant in perceptual development.

Qualified teachers for such programs are hard to find, according to Miss Lukens.

Pontiac, for example, had to temporarily discontinue its program this year because they could not find a teacher, according to Arnold W. Embree, schools director of guidance and pupil personnel services.

* * *

The goal of the program for 6- to 10-year-olds is to rehabilitate the child for his return to the regular classroom, Miss Lukens explained.

PAY ATTENTION

Children with learning disabilities have to learn to discriminate sounds and to pay attention to the teacher's voice, rather than a clicking of the radiator in the classroom, according to Miss Lukens.

Perceptual development classrooms are located in the quietest part of the school building to reduce the number of sounds the children hear.

Until children learn to tolerate distraction, there are no pictures, calendars, charts or posters on the walls of the special classrooms.

The lower part of the windows are generally covered. neutral colors are used on the walls and movable screens are used to isolate children who cannot work with the distraction or another child in sight.

Miss Lukens said that children must be taught in the special classrooms that their eyes have to go from left to right every time they read a sentence and cannot start in the middle.

"There is no known cure for neurological dysfunction," said Miss Lukens. "But we have had success in teaching children skills necessary for them to understand and compensate for perceptual disturbances.

"The handicap will always be there. Training, counseling and maturity will enable the child to function in spite of his handicap.

An analytical approach is often used to teach perceptual skills in the special classes, she said. The child learns to see parts and then to see the relationship of the parts to a whole.

The numbers concept is often taught by means of tallying and patterning so that the child first sees the parts and then relates them to the whole. Manipulation of an abacus helps a child see the processes involved.

Oakland Schools was a pioneer in experimenting with the program in 1961.

Of the county's 28 school districts, 16 now have a total of 29 classrooms for children with perceptual handicaps. Area districts include Rochester, Waterford Township, Troy, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and Avondale.

A two-year-old organization, called the Michigan Association for Children With Learning Disabilities (MACLD), is setting up local chapters of parents and professionals to cope with the problem.

Dr. Lee W. Haslinger, Pontiac schools director of physical education, athletics and recreation, is president of MACLD.

MACLD provides therapy for parents and attempts to get local school boards to develop programs for children with learning disabilities.

* * *

Haslinger estimates that 10 per cent of some 250,000 school children in the county may have learning disabilities.

PERCEPTION PROBLEMS — More than half of Oakland County's 28 school districts operate perceptual development (PD) programs for children with learning difficulties. MRS. E. M. ESTES

Our Shepherd Lutheran Church, Birmingham was the setting for Thursday vows exchanged by Constance Louise Langridge and E. M. Estes. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Walter T. Langridge of Detroit and the late Mr. Langridge. Mr. Estes is a vice president of General Motors Corporation and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

E. M. Estes, Bride Travel to Mexico After Vows

A Thursday afternoon ceremony in Birmingham's Our Shepherd Lutheran Church united Constance Louise Langridge and E. M. Estes, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Lee W. Jaffke of Redford Township and the bridegroom's son, William E. who attends the University of North Carolina.

* * *

The new Mrs. Estes, whose parents are Mrs. Walter T. Langridge of Detroit and the late Mr. Langridge, chose a white silk jacket ensemble.

Her pearl-encrusted pill box held a short illusion veil and she carried a nosegay of white roses and ivy.

Following a reception in the Birmingham home of Mr. Estes, the couple left for a honeymoon in Mexico.

She attended Wayne State University and Alma College.

* * *

Mr. Estes was born in Mendon, Mich., and is a graduate of the General Motors Institute in Flint, and the University of Cincinnati. He joined General Motors in October of 1934 and has been Chevrolet general manager since July, 1965.

Personals

Mrs. V. E. Nelson of East Iroquois Road is expecting a visit from her grandson, James, during the holiday break from his studies in the graduate school at University of Arizona in Tucson.

* * *

Joining her daughter, Susan in Germany for the Christmas holidays is Mrs. Floyd H. Smith of Sylvan Lake. She is accompanied by her son and his wife, the Phillip H. Smiths of Troy.

The Smiths are extending their stay until the end of the year as Susan is planning to wed Lt. C. Stephen Cantrell on Saturday in Heidelberg.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen will have as houseguests former area residents, the Jon Gables, now of Monticello, N.Y., over the New Year weekend.

The Hansens will host a New Year's Eve party of some sixty persons in honor of the Gables at their home on Emily Court. Also among the guests will be another former area couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fischer, now of Terre Haute, Ind., here for the occasion.

Research Finds Link Between Status, Health

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Children can suffer long range mental and physical ill effects when there is stress in the home caused by a difference between job or education status of their parents, two University of Michigan researchers said.

Drs. Stanislav Kasl and Sidney Cobb of the U. of M. Institute for Social Research studied "status stress" levels in 250 cases.

The two researchers found that men from families in which there is tension over differing parental status described themselves as having poorer current physical health, more anxiety, anger and depression. Such men feel less self-confident and have a greater desire for change, said Kasl and Cobb.

For women from such families, marriages are less happy and emotional dependence is higher, according to the two doctors.

* * *

Families with problems resulting from husband-wife differences in job or educational levels are also more likely to produce women who go on to develop arthritis, they said.

Persons who come from high status backgrounds are more frequently angered and irritated, the two U. of M. researchers found.

However, they point out that arthritic women are more likely to report anger and irritation than healthy women.

Another problem children face who grow up in homes where there is status stress is that they have problems modeling themselves after parents of the same sex; or in other words, boys from such families don't identify as readily with their fathers, and vice versa, the researchers said.

This, in turn, causes children to have problems when they become parents, spouses and workers, the study said. And they suffer from frustration and perhaps poor physical and mental health.

No Obligation to Reciprocate in This Case

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's job is with a large firm and we are frequently asked out for dimer, shows, dances, etc. What is our obligation to reciprocate other than giving the salesmen the wanted business and our personal thanks?

This all comes out of the expense accounts of the salesmen, but we still feel indebted and hesitate to accept many invitations as we are always on the receiving end. — Joyce W.

* * *

Dear Mrs. W.: You have no obligation to reciprocate when you are entertained solely in an effort to sell something to your husband. If the same men asked you out frequently, and you became personal friends, you might wish to repay them with an occasional dinner, or an invitation to your house.

But for an invitation prompted solely by business, your husband's favorable response and your personal one are all the "thanks" the salesman wants.

LEFT HAND

Dear Mrs. Post: My question concerns the correct placement of the left hand while in the course of eating. It seems to me that the rules of etiquette have relaxed, and it is now inappropriate to rest the hand on one's lap.

This gives a look of austerity no longer congruent with the times. Preferably, the roll being eaten is held in the left hand between bites, while the wrist rests lightly on the edge of the table.

Should this be so, does one never assume the lap position, as in the past? — Margaret Butts

* * *

Dear Mrs. Butts: At the dining room table, there is still no more proper position for the left hand than on the lap — when you are not using that hand for holding a piece of bread or an implement. hTen, as you suggest, the wrist rests on the edge of the table.

If you eat European style, as more and more Americans are doing — quite correctly — the food is eaten with the fork (tines down) in the left hand, and the right hand continues to hold the knife. But an idle hand, whichever it is, is left on the lap — not lying on the table.

Barbara Eisenhower Faints at International Debutante Ball

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The coming out of Barbara Anne Eisenhower, comely granddaughter of the former president of the United States, was marred Thursday night when she fainted briefly.

"I'm so embarrassed," she said later in the rock 'n' roll room of the International Debutante Ball after 61 other young ladies had finished making their presentations.

"I felt something coming over me and I don't remember anything else except tugging at Don," she said, referring to Donald Stolper, her escort for the evening and roommate of her brother David at Amherst College.

* * *

Miss Eisenhower, representing the United States at the 13th annual ball at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, had been the first to bow and was standing on the three-tiered stage in the ballroom while the others paraded the long course of the room.

Stolper aided her in walking off the stage. After only a few moments she returned and was able to continue.

Part of the perils of debuting as Dwight D Eisenhower's granddaughter was posing endlessly for photographers at the expense of dinner.

Earlier Stolper approached someone and begged them to find a place for Miss Eisenhower in the crowded debutante dining room.

DIDN'T EAT

"Barbara's going to faint. She hasn't had anything to eat all day, he said.

After the presentation, her anxious father, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, broke in to her dance and after learning she had recovered, whirled her around the floor.

More than a thousand persons had gathered to witness the deep bows of a host of offspring of millionaires, politicians and noted old families.

The most debuted young lady at the party was Marion Louise Hosford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. It was her fifth coming out party of the season and one her mother said she almost didn't make.

"Our private plane had such a time landing in the snowstorm," said Mrs. Whitney.

The loudest applause of the night went to four Texas girls — three of whom made deep floor-kissing bows. The four were Miss Jeanne Moran, daughter of chemical millionaire John J. Moran of Houston; Lawren Ethridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Edward Ethridge Jr. of Corpus Christi; Lacy Crain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W Crain Jr. of Long View, and Suzanne Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart Boyle of Houston.

Anne Louise Howard, daughter of Mrs. Frances Humphrey Howard and the late Dr. I. Ray Howard, of Washington, D.C., was disappointed that her aunt and uncle, Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, cancelled their plans to attend the ball.

'KILTIE'

The most outstanding presentation came from Miss Lindsay Hoyer-Millar, daughter of Sir Leslie Glass, ambassador from Great Britain to the United Nations, and Lady Glass, who represented Scotland. She paraded through the ballroom with her own kilt-clad bagpiper furnishing music for her.

A total of 18 nations were represented at the ball. It benefited the Pearl Buck foundation, a charity which aids displaced children of American servicemen in Asia. Miss Buck attended the ball.

Debutantes came to the ball from as far as Japan, Malta and West Germany.

Her parents make their home in Phoenixville, Pa.

'His and Hers' Money Troubles

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married for a second time, thinking I would have companionship for the rest of my life, but I was wrong. All Ben wanted was a cook and housekeeper. He only wants to go to visit HIS children and grandchildren. Never mine. Not only that, but he is very close with a dollar. He has a lot more than I have, but he doesn't spend any of his. Only mine.

ABBY

We live in MY house, and I pay the taxes and upkeep while he hangs on to his money which he will leave to HIS children. At age 64 would you advise a separation?

NETTIE

DEAR NETTIE: I would advise a separation—of money, first. If Ben has money, let him spend it. Talk in money syllables. If he isn't any happier with this arrangement than you are, then separate everything else.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am practically engaged to a guy whose last name is absolutely ridiculous. It has 14 letters in it and nobody can pronounce it. Very few people can remember it, and nobody else can spell it, which can not help but be a handicap in business.

He would be doing himself a tremendous favor if he changed it to something shorter and easier to pronounce. I have hinted about this several times but he hasn't taken me seriously. Should I come right out and tell him how I feel about it?

THE FUTURE MRS.

DEAR FUTURE: First, let him change your name to his, then point out the advantages of changing it to something shorter and simpler.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old married woman. Jimmy is 29. We have been married for six years and have one child. We also have a big problem. Something has suddenly gone haywire with our love life, if you know what I mean.

At first I pretended it didn't make that much difference to me, because I didn't want to hurt Jimmy's feelings. Then I realized that wasn't the answer either. We are both young yet, and I want a larger family.

I finally got Jimmy to go talk to our pastor, but when he came back he said he just asked the pastor if he could help him quit smoking. Jimmy is very shy and can't talk to anyone about personal subjects. Can you help me?

YETTA

DEAR YETTA: Jimmy needs the help. I can't help him and neither can a pastor unless the pastor can get him to a doctor. No one need be "shy" confiding in a doctor on any subject. They've heard everything.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When someone wrote and asked you why blondes have more fun, you answered, "Because they're easier to find in the dark."

Well, that was kind of cute, but you could also have said, "Blondes have more fun because boys get tired of squeezing blackheads."

DEAR ABBY: You said that if blondes do have more fun, maybe it's because they're easier to find in the dark. Well, if that's the case, our physics teacher is right. He says, "Where there is light, there is heat."

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Lawson of Westwood Lane announce the engagement of their daughter, Maren Jane, to Mark Wallace Mahowald. He is the son of the Wallace F. Mahowalds of Minneapolis, Minn. The bride elect and her fiance, who both attended St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., are seniors at Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania and the University of Minnesota Medical School respectively. A mid-June wedding is planned.

Japanese Pianist Symphony Soloist

Japanese pianist Miyoko Yamane will make her Detroit debut as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Jan. 4 and 6 at Ford Auditorium. Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

With symphony music director Sixten Ehrling on the podium, Miss Yamane will perform the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 3.

The Symphony will also be heard in Knudage Riisager's "Qarrtsiluni," Opus 36, and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade."

* * *

Miyoko Yamane is a Japanese pianist with a Parisian background. She made her American recital debut in 1966, ranked first in the Boston Symphony Orchestra piano auditions for its Berkshire Music Festival, and spent last summer performing at Tanglewood.

A graduate of the Paris Conservatoire with highest honors, Miss Yamane has already, in her mid-twenties, established a brilliant professional career in her native Japan.

Following her appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, she will make a recital tour of the Midwest and Southwest United States and Caribbean Islands.

Hinges on Legislation

Divorce Italian Style

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Divorce at home never looked so close before for Italians, but the bill to legalize it still has a long way to go despite its first legislative victory.

A parliamentary committee voted 21-20 recently to approve the first section of a bill to make divorce possible in Italy under limited circumstances. The entire bill still has to clear the committee and then both houses of Parliament.

A "FIRST"

But the vote was a landmark. It was the first time a divorce bill was voted on by members of Parliament in the 107 years that Italy has been a unified nation.

The bill would permit divorce in these cases:

- After five years of unbroken legal separation.
- When a spouse has been sentenced to a prison term of at least 12 years.
- When one spouse has been convicted of sexual crimes against close relatives, or of any crime against the other spouse or their children.
- When a spouse has been in a mental institution for five years with no prospect of prompt recovery.
- Two years after a non-Italian spouse has obtained a divorce or has married again abroad.

Only the single Fascist member of the committee joined Premier Aldo Moro's Christian Democrats in voting against the bill's first section. Everybody else, from Communists to the conservative liberals, voted for it.

* * *

The same party lineup in the full chamber of deputies would assure its passage.

The issue poses a dilemma for the Christian Democrats, the strongest political force and the Catholic party in this Catholic country. They were believed planning delaying tactics.

If they do not pull out all stops against the bill, it is expected to pass and they would lose face. But if they try to force the Socialists — their allies in the coalition government — into a common stand against divorce, a government crisis almost certainly would ensue.

Mail Cultural Calendar of Upcoming Events

The second edition of the Cultural Calendar, published by the Pontiac Area Community Arts Council, was put into the mail on Thursday. Mrs. Maxwell Shadley, treasurer of the Council and a Pontiac representative on the Michigan Fine Arts Council, made the announcement today.

* * *

Members of the Pontiac branch, American Association of University Women, prepared 7748 calendars for mailing. Mrs. Fred Crossman headed the mailing committee.

General Motors Corporation underwrote the cost of publishing this calendar which lists cultural events through the spring. Mrs. D. Richard Veazey is editor.

Anyone not receiving a calendar and wishing one may contact the Community Arts Council at the Pontiac YWCA on West Huron Street.

Greek Queen Loses Her Baby by Miscarriage

ROME (AP — Queen Anne-Marie of Greece suffered a miscarriage Thursday night and lost the baby she was expecting in June, the Greek Embassy announced today.

The condition of the 21-year-old Danish-born wife of King Constantine was described as "completely satisfactory."

A spokesman at the Villa Claudia clinic north of Rome where the Queen was taken Thursday, said she left the clinic before dawn and returned to the Greek Embassy with her husband.

* * *

The royal family has been staying at the embassy since fleeing Greece Dec. 14 after Constantine's attempted countercoup against the Greek junta failed.

A communique issued by the embassy said:

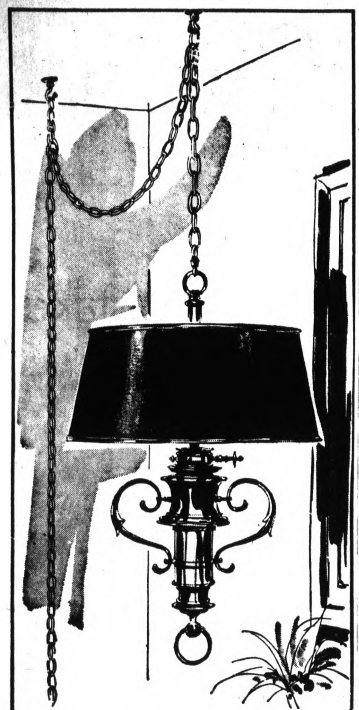

"It was announced with regret that her majesty, Queen Anne-Marie of the Hellenes, had a miscarriage.

"The miscarriage was completed by her majesty's personal gynecologist, Prof. B. Coutifaris at the Villa Claudia clinic in Rome.

"The post-operative condition of her majesty, the queen, is completely satisfactory."

The announcement was signed by Coutifaris.

The doctor, who delivered the queen's two children, said the first two pregnancies were normal.

Nuptial Mass Unites Couple

Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church was the recent setting for the nuptial mass uniting Pfc. Bozene Karbownik, USA, and Pfc. David Voytek, U.S. Special Forces.

For the ceremony, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Karkownik of Clarkston, chose a Princess fashioned satin ensemble highlighted at the bodice with Alencon lace.

She carried a bouquet of red roses.

ATTENDANTS

Honor attendants were the bride's sister, Eva, and Michael Yedinak.

Other members of the wedding party were Christine Thasik, the Edward Parkas and Ronald Herkness.

★ ★ ★

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the newlyweds departed for a Canadian honeymoon.

Parents of the bridegroom are the John Voyteks of Phoenix, Ariz.

Brighten Pans

If the pan in which you boil your eggs turns dark from the sulphuric content of the eggs, add a pinch of cream of tartar to the water in which you boil the eggs. It will keep the pan bright.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

If the aftermath of Christmas and holiday housecleaning is getting the best of you, take a coffee break right now and consider the problems women used to have before modern gadgets lent a hand.

The Victorian housewife, for instanee, had acres of polished wooden floors in her house and often not enough help. There are some old drawings in the New York library showing how her sons and daughters used to invite their friends for a "waxing party."

They would waltz and polka through the house with buffing rags tied to their shoes. One modern electric waxer would have saved a lot of punch and cookies.

The Greeks and Romans admired order in their homes and the straight sparse lines of their furniture and architecture alowed no dust to collect unnoticed. Their mosaic or baked brick floors were regularly sluiced with water, and the bedding was aired in the sun.

Perhaps the fact that personal bathing was a usual and desirable habit fostered cleanliness in the households of this civilization.

HYGIENE

In the Dark Ages and into the Renaissance the tenets of hygiene and cleanliness were lost. The highest nobility bathed perhaps once a year, if that, and their vast, draughty manors reflected in dirt their owner's lack of concern with tidy living.

Royal palaces were as grimy as hovels. The method of thorough housecleaning, when sickness or plague had contaminated a house was to burn it down.

Cleaning implements were poor and few — a handful of straw or a stiff twig broom for sweeping and homemade strong soap which reddened the hands and hardly lathered. The flat flexible broom we use now was invented in the middle of the 19th century in the United States by a Shaker.

As it gradually dawned that disease and dirt were connected somehow the householder became more particular.

CLEANING TOOLS

Our modern cleaning tools were invented when help became scarce and so costly that the average household could not afford it. One of the first vacuum cleaners ran by water pressure from a hose which was attached to a tap. Of course, you couldn't go very far away from the sink!

Commercially made soap became more efficient and milder to milady's hands, and soap powder made mopping and machine washing practical and quicker. Electricity was a magic boon to housekeeping.

There are no doubt some people today who still remember heating heavy irons on the wood stove to press a shirtwaist, or waiting two days for heavy clothes to dry out or beating the dust out of a rug.

★ ★ ★

Doesn't this make you feel better? Coffee break is over! Now go and push the button on the washer or flip the switch on your electric waxer, and be glad you don't have to ask your teen-agers to frug around on waxing cloths!

Regardless of all of the modern conveniences, life is more complicated for a woman today because she is expected to do more different things.

Disguised Sponge

If you want a cleaning sponge to look like something else, how about this version. One maker does a novelty in foam called "ham on rye" that resembles a sandwich. Outer layers are light rye color, the center is pink.

MRS. L. P. HOPPS

Former area residents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul I. Rhodes, will be honored New Year's Day at an open house at the Lake Orion Methodist Church house from two to five o'clock in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. The couple, here for the holidays from their home in Daytona Beach, Fla., was married in Lake Orion Jan. 2, 1918. Their children, Mrs. James W. Crawford of Rochester and Ernest R. Rhodes of Lake Orion, will host the open house. There are five grandchildren.

Oxford Setting

Miss Munroe Wed Recently

Methodist Church of Oxford was recent setting for vows uniting Kathy Sue Munroe and Lawrence Prescott Hopps.

Attended by Mrs. Douglas Miller, the bride was attired in a traditional wedding gown styled with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a full skirt fashioned from satin Alencon lace highlighted her ensemble.

★ ★ ★

For her bouquet she carried white roses and lilies of the valley. A cluster of rose petals with seed pearls and sequins secured her soulder length veil.

★ ★ ★

Best man duties were performed by Ronald Tarlton.

Following the ceremony, the newlyweds greeted guests at the home of the bride's parents, the Stanley A. Munroes of Oxford.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Nancy Hopps of Lakewood Drive and George E. Hopps of Mt. Morris.

Join Parade of Engaged

A mid-February wedding is planned by Patricia Ann Pattan and Ronald Lee Chamberlain.

Parents of the betrothed couple are the William Pattans of Fish Lake Road, Highland Township and the Donald Chamberlains of Davisburg Road, Springfield Township.

RADECKIS - FLURY

The Stanley J. Radeckis of East Walton Boulevard announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Anne, to William Joseph Flury.

★ ★ ★

Miss Radecki and her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Flury of West Fairmont Street, are planning a spring wedding.

Faithful Donor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Lillian Taylor, who started giving blood in 1943 to help servicemen in World War II, has given her 88th pint at the Red Cross' Regional Center here. But her quarter of a century habit of help will have to stop next year when she reaches 60—the age limit for blood donors.

A summer wedding is planned by Willa Kay Butler and Donald Richard Marietta. Parents of the bride-elect are Mrs. Mary Butler of State Street and Albert V. Butler of Elizabeth Lake Road. Her fiance is the son of the Richard R. Mariettas of Walton Boulevard. The engaged pair are students at Pontiac Business Institute and Oakland Community College, respectively.

At their Christmas dinner the Charles Collisons of Lenox Street announced the engagement of their daughter, Debrah, to Robert B. Bradshaw. He is the son of the Charles Bradshaws of Second Avenue. Miss Collison, an affiliate of Delta Psi Kappa at Central Michigan University, and her fiance who attends Tri-State College in Indiana are planning May vows.

A late June wedding is planned by Cheryl Anne Cooper and Richard E. Morse. The bride-elect is the daughter of the Raymond H. Coopers of Highland. Her fiance is the son of Raymond S. Morse of Bradenton, Fla., and the late Mrs. Morse.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hartsell of North Lapeer Road in Orion Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Diane June, to Douglas Lee Bailey. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bailey of Baldwin Road, also Lake Orion Township.

The betrothal of Beverly Jo Compton to Roger W. Leach is announced by her parents, the Gordon O. Comptons of Williams Lake Road. He is the son of the Devere Leaches of Manistee. The engaged couple, both students at Central Michigan University, are planning a mid-August wedding.

Brisboises Repeat Vows

A northern Michigan honeymoon followed vows recently for Mary Lorraine Reid and Wayne C. Brisbois.

★ ★ ★

For the civil ceremony, the daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Hale of Scottwood Street and William Reid of Pine Street was attired in a two piece suit with white fur trim. A matching fur hat complemented her ensemble.

★ ★ ★

Honor attendants for the rite were the Fredwin Carrs with Linda S. and Fredwin Carr Jr. as bridesmaid and usher.

The bridegroom is the son of Augustus Brisbois of Raymond Street and the late Mrs. Brisbois.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Gordon of New York and Merrill Gordon of Detroit, vice president Ewald Steel Co. Gershwin is a nephew of lyricist Ira Gershwin and the late composer George Gershwin.

Business Up on Rainy Day

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Georgette Driscoll makes her money from a rainy day. She is the nation's only woman umbrella manufacturer. She got into the business almost by accident, when her husband suggested she look at an embrella factory that was for sale.

★ ★ ★

"I like it," she said, "I don't see why I couldn't run a place like this." Although she had never run a business before, she became owner of the umbrella manufacturing firm of Kreis & Co. The number of employes and the company's sales have both doubled in the three years since she took over.

GIs Have Problems

DEAR POLLY—My husband writes from Thailand that his winter uniform has mildew on it. Is there anything I can send him that will remove this mildew? It would not only help him but other GI friends. — MRS. A. B.

DEAR POLLY — Wrapping large, bulky Christmas gifts is always a problem but last year I discovered that the inexpensive plastic tablecloths with holiday decorations make ideal wrappings.

One is less expensive than several rolls of paper and it is easier to wrap in one piece than it is to patch several pieces together. — JUNE

DEAR POLLY—Catherine requested directions for making a footstool out of tall juice cans. I have made several of them. I do not cut the tops off but use an opener to make holes for the juice to come out. Keep rinsing the cans until they are perfectly clean, then let dry thoroughly. I cover each of the cans with the top of a heavy white sock and pull together each end with strong twine, being careful to make them as smooth as possible.

I sew the cans together, with one in the center and six others arranged closely around it to look like a flower head with six petals.

The cans are placed on a heavy cardboard and I mark around them with pencil. Two of these pieces are cut out to go over the top and the bottom. I pad the top with something soft and cover the bottom with two thicknesses of material that is folded under about an inch.

A straight piece of the covering material is used to go around the curved sides and drawn tight in each crease. Be careful to keep this straight and tight. Whip-stitch the top and bottom covers on by hand, using a large needle and very heavy thread.

A narrow fringe can be used around the edges to give a nice finish. Keep the heading to the fringe just even with the top of the stool.—PEARL

3 Great Lakes Will Drop

DETROIT (UPI) — The levels of three of the Great Lakes will drop between one and five inches next month, the U. S. Lake Survey of the Army Corps of Engineers reports.

Lake St. Clair will drop five inches from its current level of 573.4 feet.

A drop of three inches will take place in Lake Superior, from the present level of 600.1 feet.

Lake Erie will drop one inch from 570.4 feet.

Lakes Michigan-Huron and Ontario will stay at their present levels of 577.7 feet and 244.7 feet, respectively.

HARBOR BLAZE — Fireboats pour water on a fire which burned for 160 feet along a pier in Los Angeles harbor yesterday, trying to keep the blaze from spreading into nearby warehouses and to five nearby oil storage tank farms. The fire, touched off by a gasoline-powered saw, raced along creosote-soaked pilings and burned for three hours before it was brought under control.

State Workers Hit Idea Jackpot

LANSING (AP)— A meat inspector, a janitor, a cashier, a state police trooper and a nurse are among the rank and file state employes who have hit the civil service suggestion jackpot for large and small cash bonuses.

Donald Brousseau, a custodian at the Alpena Armory, suggested marking armory floors for drill and basketball games with sensitized tape instead of sanding and painting new markings.

Savings in the first year are estimated at more than $500. Brousseau won $50 for his idea.

Ruth Angell, a cashier at the Northville State Hospital, noticed that visitors needing change had to wait and also were taking up the time of state workers to make small change.

She won a $55 award for the saving in clerical time and the service improvement.

Logan Beckwith, a meat inspector at the State Agriculture Department and former prison guard, came up with an idea that allowed the elimination of one guard position at the gate of the State Prison of Southern Michigan.

* * *

No one was fired because of the number of guard vacancies, and the extra guard was transferred to an inside position.

Beckwith won $800 for his idea.

State Police Trooper Philip Nielsen of East Lansing won $20 for suggesting a writing light on the passenger side of State Police cars so troopers could fill out reports at night while riding as passengers.

Grant Allen, an attendant nurse at the Mount Pleasant State Home, won $50 for devising a bathtub sling to support patients being bathed.

Top award winner so far was Thomas Hoatlin, an audit supervisor for the revenue division of the State Treasury.

$11,000 SAVING

He was awarded $1,000 for suggesting the elimination of unneeded field trips by examiners checking on delinquent taxpayers. It is estimated the idea saved the state $11,000 the first year.

* * *

"Executives and researchers don't necessarily have a corner on the big and good ideas in state government operations," said Franklin Dewald, state personnel director.

Iowa Senator 'Won't Run'

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The retirement of Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, has opened the door for a contest between state Sen. David M. Stanley and former Rep. James E. Bromwell for the Republican nomination for senator in the Sept. 3 primary election.

The winner will be matched against Democratic Gov. Harold Hughes in the Nov. 5 general election. The popular three-term governor is virtually assured of the Democratic nomination and will probably be unopposed in his party primary.

Hickenlooper, 71, announced Thursday he won't seek a fifth term because he would not mount a "vigorous and extensive campaign."

Bromwell, a Cedar Rapids Republican, immediately announced his own candidacy for the GOP nomination. Stanley, 39, a Muscatine lawyer, has been working full-time for the nomination since August in a well-financed and carefully planned campaign.

Hughes, 45, announced his candidacy Dec. 16. He endorsed the Johnson administration's Vietnam policy but expressed "serious reservations about the direction that this policy is taking in some respects."

The 6-foot-2, 224-pound governor is the only Democrat to serve three times as Iowa's chief executive. First elected governor in 1962, his own popularity and a favorable season for Democrats saw him returned to office in 1964 by an unprecedented margin of more than two to one

Controversial Laws Accepted

News Analysis

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The ability of the American political system to transform controversial new legislation into broadly accepted programs was demonstrated anew by congressional action this year on the federal aid-to-education and antipoverty programs.

In the areas of Social Security, civil rights, welfare and labor relations, proposals that at one time seemed dangerously radical to a large part of the population are securely enshrined in the law books.

* * *

It could be happening again.

Just a few years ago the opposition to a federal school bill was so intense President John F. Kennedy had to abandon any hope of getting one passed. But the 90th Congress recently gave overwhelming approval to a bill extending the program through 1970 at a total authorization of $9.3 billion.

POVERTY BILL

The antipoverty bill has touched off some of the fiercest fights in Congress during the last three years. But this year it won a two-year extension by a solid bipartisan vote and appears firmly established on the national scene.

The capacity of the body politic to absorb ideas it once resisted is largely a matter of timing and leadership. It was President Johnson who supplied the leadership that launched the antipoverty and school bills, but it was Congress that put them through the fires of controversy and tempered the opposition.

* * *

Both bills were originally passed by the 89th Congress, which Johnson called, "My Congress." With their huge majority, Democrats not only had no need of Republican support, they pointedly shunned it, preferring to drive the Republicans into an opposition role in the belief it would damage the GOP in urban areas.

It may have been smart politics, but as a legislative procedure it produced a sharp partisan division that jeopardized both programs in the much more closely matched 90th Congress, particularly in the House.

The administration made no concessions to the changed conditions in the House and, early in the session, both programs appeared on their way to being severely mangled. Convinced that the administration was out of touch with the House and the nation, key Democrats on the education and labor committee forced through the changes that smoothed the road to passage for both measures.

In each case the keys to broadened support were amendments increasing the role of state and local authorities in the programs and weakening the federal government's role.

* * *

The resulting legislation was far from satisfactory to many of its warmest supporters.

"If the antipoverty bill is hailed as a victory," noted the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, "it is because the worst things Congress was generally expected to do to the poverty program were somehow avoided."

LOPSIDED VOTES

And those who never liked either program found nothing to cheer about in their continuation for two more years.

But the lopsided votes by which each was approved indicated the programs had achieved the kind of endorsement that can lead to a long life on the statute books.

Excavations Set by Nepal, Japan

KATHMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Nepal and Japan are to carry out a joint excavation around Tilorakot in Western Nepal, near the birth place of the Lord Buddha.

An agreement signed here provides for 15 Japanese from Risso University to conduct archaeological excavations for five years.

Potatoes Cushion Drinks' Effects

DETROIT (AP) — Shy away from drinking drivers New Year's eve unless they've eaten their potatoes, advises the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"We are recommending that motorists consume a large amount of mashed potatoes before a party," says Auto Club executive vice president Richard R. Dann.

"Mashed potatoes act like a sponge, retaining alcohol in the stomach and releasing it slowly into the blood," he says.

Dann says the Auto Club is not condoning drinking by drivers, but "just realizing the fact that 80 per cent of all motorists do have a drink and drive over the holidays."

The Auto Club quotes Detroit Police chemist Jon Howington as saying that mashed potatoes, liquid diet foods, bread and milk all are good to slow the entry of alcohol into the bloodstream.

Dirt Is Last Hope to Snuff Oil Blaze

EL SEGUNDO, Calif. (AP) — Dirt is being poured into a huge oil reservoir in a last-ditch effort to put out a spectacular fire set by lightning nine days ago.

The residue of 29.4 million gallons of burned fuel oil still glowed over a wide area south of Los Angeles. A Standard Oil Co. spokesman said the reservoir would be filled in a week.

Attempts earlier to put out the fire with water and foam failed.

SINGING STAR RECOVERING — Folk singer Jimmie Rodgers (left), who sustained near-fatal head injuries Dec. 1, is interviewed by Joey Bishop at a Glendale, Calif., hospital yesterday. The interview was taped as a segment of Bishop's TV show for tonight. Police said the 33-year-old entertainer's skull was fractured when he fell while talking to an officer who had stopped him for erratic driving.

Funds Allotted to Rebuild Harbor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers has allotted $300,000 to rebuild existing breakwaters and channel revetments at South Haven Harbor in western Michigan, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart said Thursday.

* * *

Funds set aside by the Corps of Engineers for other Michigan projects included $50,000 to initiate preconstruction planning of a flood control project on the Grand River in Lansing and $25,000 to continue planning for construction of improvemenas for small craft navigation on the Au Gres River at Point Lookout Harbor.

Death Rate Not Unusual in Nation's Flu Outbreaks

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Communicable Disease Center reports outbreaks of Asian flu and similar respiratory infections in 24 states and the District of Columbia but says the mortality rate does not appear to be unusually higher.

New York City health officials said the death rate there is higher than usual. There were 100 such deaths for the week ending Dec. 22, the New York officials said, and the tolerance zone for deaths from influenza and pneumonia for the week in the state is 88.

It is difficult, health officials say, to measure the seriousness of the outbreaks throughout the nation because schools are closed during the holidays. Schools usually are the best means of determining the rate of absenteeism.

The virus appears to be relatively mild in most instances, but health officials say this creates a problem.

'SPREADING BUG'

"Most of the cases are so mild that people simply won't go to bed," said Dr. John E. McCroan of the Georgia Health Department. "They are walking around, spreading the bug around."

An estimated 15,000 cases have been reported in north Georgia with most of them in metropolitan Atlanta.

Documentation of Asian flu has been made in Michigan, Florida, New Jersey, Alabama, New York, Oklahoma, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa and Georgia, the CDC says. Probable Asian flu has been reported in Indiana, Virginia, Wisconsin, Louisiana and Missouri and possible Asian flu has been noted in Ohio, Maryland, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina and the District of Columbia.

Some increase in pneumonia and other respiratory diseases has been reported, but national health officials say pneumonia deaths are compiled with influenza deaths.

CHANGES SLIGHTLY

They say, however, that most of the illnesses are attributed to Asian flu, which swept the West Coast in February 1966 and the Eastern parts of the nation in the winter of 1965.

The CDC said this strain of flu has changed slightly and will be different in current epidemics. Dr. Stephen C Schonbaum said flu vaccines also must be changed each year by their manufacturers.

Flu in epidemic proportions was reported along the east Florida coast from Miami to Jacksonville with 76 cases noted at the U.S. Navy base in Pensacola.

Hospitals in Oklahoma City have issued a plea for flu patients to stay out of doctors' offices and hospital emergency rooms because of the contagious virus. Virtually none of the city's hospitals was admitting flu patients unless they suffered other complications.

Bergen County was hit hard in New Jersey, and Passaic, Union and Essex counties also were affected. Some schools in the state began Christmas holidays early because of the outbreak.

Alabama officials reported more than 13,000 cases of flu during the week ending Dec. 23, including more than 6,600 in Mobile County. Other Alabama

Paradise Is Closing Down; Devil Blamed

PARADISE, Ky. (AP) — Paradise is closing down for good Saturday.

And if you ask Mrs. Carlos Smith why, she'll tell you she reckons the devil had a hand in it.

★ ★ ★

Saturday's the deadline the Tennessee Valley Authority has given the Smiths and two other families still living in the small Muhlenberg County community to move out.

★ ★ ★

The 40-odd acres, purchased plot by plot by the TVA this past year, are earmarked for a coal stockpile and future expansion of TVA's mammoth steam-electric plant nearby.

When completed, the plant will be the largest of its kind in the world. And few will remember what it was like in Paradise.

Some 800 persons had lived in the southern Kentucky spot long before the sandlike fallout from the plant's towering smokestacks began making life intolerable.

★ ★ ★

Some married into Pardise. Some were born there. Some came to retire along the quiet banks of the Green River. J. H. Buchanan, 66, was postmaster there for 28 years and had owned its only general store.

"Had a lot of good conversation in Paradise," he reminisced at his new home in Greenville. "Guess there wasn't too much I didn't know about the place."

★ ★ ★

Buchanan closed up the post office and sold out Thanksgiving before moving on. He alone knows how the community got its name.

"Oldtimers used to tell my grandpappy about a family comin' up the river on a flatboat one day," he says. "They had a real sick baby. Thought he was gonna die sure.

★ ★ ★

"So they tied up next to shore that night and prayed. Next mornin', the boy woke up well. Father said, 'This must be Paradise,' and they decided to stay."

Now, 170 years later, a cold December wind moans through the deserted streets.

Saturday, Paradise will belong to the wind.

Psychologist Sees More Negro Riots

NEW YORK (AP) — Riots by Negroes in northern cities "will continue until the well of available cities runs dry," a psychologist declared today.

Explosive violence born of frustrations in Negro ghettos will go on, said Dr. T. M. Tomlinson, unless:

● Massive funds, at least $20 to $25 billion, are made available to combat poverty and other intolerable living conditions. He said this "would not happen in an election year."

★ ★ ★

● White society demonstrates its "faith in the concept of Negro equality. Negroes have lost faith. They no longer believe that whites will allow them to take their place in this society regardless of what they might do by way of 'proving themselves."

● Negroes are given the chance to organize around economic and political projects that allow all Negroes "to pursue the constructive goals of political and economic power."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Tomlinson, now with the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, was teaching at the University of California at Los Angeles when the 1965 Los Angeles riot erupted, and soon afterward was a coinvestigator of its causes.

That study, plus some from other riot-torn cities, shows that many whites still entertain dangerous myths, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

★ ★ ★

The myths, he said, are that few Negroes take part in riots—that few sympathize with rioters—that most Negroes regard riots as haphazard and meaningless—that Negroes expect and are afraid of white retaliation and a worsening of interrace relationships.

Wallace Gets Dixie Victory

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — Louisiana Democrats loyal to President Johnson were still reeling today from yesterday's loss of control of the State Democratic Central Committee to backers of former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

★ ★ ★

The loss could easily result in the President losing the right to the Democratic emblem on the November ballot and might put him in a preelection primary battle with Wallace that could prove embarrassing.

The turbulent fight was reminiscent of the Dixiecrat-Democrat struggles that wracked the state in 1948.

The swift change in power came as the central committee met to certify the November election results 300 candidates had contested for seats on the powerful 117-man committee.

★ ★ ★

Those supporting Wallace have ready a resolution that would call for a primary showdown between presidential electors for Wallace and President Johnson to see which would claim the Democratic rooster in November, said to be worth thousands of extra votes in Louisiana.

$500-Million Plan for Airport

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The steady increase in flights at Los Angeles International Airport is expected to bring about its use by 57 million passengers in 1975. The airport was used by a record 18.2 million persons—both arriving and departing—this year.

A master plan costing $500 million was launched Thursday to provide accommodations for the growth.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

If it seems that we favor the simple direct bidding of 1931 Culbertson, don't really believe us. The early Culbertson system had lots to commend it, but there has been continual improvement in bidding over the years and even a beginner would be lost without some modern tools.

JACOBY

What we do believe is that you don't need to bid every hand as if you were trying for a Nobel prize in mathematics. You should bid as directly as possible toward the final contract.

South was an old-time rubber bridge player who despised all modern methods. Hence, his choice of a spade instead of a club as his opening bid. North was a scientist and decided to respond two clubs rather than three diamonds which would have been our choice.

South might have raised clubs immediately. Culbertson would have, but South wanted to show both his major suits. Then, when North bid three diamonds, South went to three no-trump. As he explained later, his hand wasn't good enough to go past that level. North raised his partner to six no-trump.

★ ★ ★

West opened the jack of diamonds. South took dummy's ace and led out the king. East showed out and South went into a five minute huddle before discarding a club from his hand.

The rest of the play went slowly but South, whose dummy play isn't the least bit antiquated, managed to bring home the contract. At trick three he led a low diamond. West won and played a diamond back. Now South crashed the ace and king of spades and ran off all the clubs.

He came down to the ace-queen of hearts as his two last cards while dummy held a heart and a diamond and West had to blank his king of hearts. Then he refused the heart finesse and plucked that blank king.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♠	Pass	Pass
2 ♥	3 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ 2 ♥ J 4 ♦ K 10 9 5 4 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3

What do you do now?

A—Pass is first choice. If you have an exceptionally conservative partner you might actually bid four clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do pass. West bids three hearts. North and East pass. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

"Beautiful, just beautiful," murmured North. "Too bad you never raised clubs. I would have made a grand slam without any worries at all in the play."

Trading Is Heavy

Stock Market Bounds Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market bounded ahead in heavy trading early this afternoon in the final session of 1967.

The advance was a continuation of a traditional yearend rally that began Tuesday, gathered strength Wednesday and slowed Thursday.

Analysts said tax selling and bargain hunting were contributing to the heavy volume.

Brokers pointed to some favorable economic developments as factors in the advance. These included scheduled record auto production in January, major capital spending plans and the prediction by Secretary of Commerce Alexander Trowbridge that the gross national product will increase by at least $50 billion in 1968.

★ ★ ★

Advances of individual stocks exceeded decline by about 240 issues.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 3.93 to 901.76.

★

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had gained 1.1 at 321.2 with industrials up 2.0, rails up .7 and utilities unchanged.

Wind-Driven Snowstorm Sweeps Through Northeast U. S.

By the Associated Press

A wind-driven snowstorm swept through the Northeast today, burying many inland sections in knee-deep snow and pelting some fringe areas with rain, sleet and freezing rain.

The storm extended into New England after a quick sweep across the South Thursday.

★

The Virginia highlands and western Maryland were hobbled by up to a foot and a half of snow. Northwestern Pennsylvania and northern Upstate New York were pasted with foot-deep snows during the night.

Gale warnings flew along the Atlantic Coast and the brisk winds ranged far inland. Traveler warnings were in effect for a wide area.

SNOW DEPTH

The Weather Bureau indicated the snow piled up at the rate of an inch an hour in parts of Pennsylvania, New York and New England through the night. Depths of 8 to 9 inches were common from the Virginias northeastward into Maine.

Many coastal sections escaped the brunt of the snow, or had it washed away quickly by rain. But cooler nighttime temperatures turned the moisture to sleet and freezing rain. Residents of southeastern Pennsylvania were warned of hazardous driving conditions.

★ ★ ★

A light plane crashed during the blinding snow in north-central Pennsylvania at Muncy, killing three persons.

As the storm rolled through Dixie Thursday, dumping 4 inches of snow on northern Alabama and Mississippi, thunderstorms erupted farther south. Tornadoes tore the roofs from two homes and damaged six house trailers at Largo and damaged a trailer in Port St. Joe, both in Florida.

Thunderstorms also raked South Carolina, uprooting trees and downing power lines in the Bowman and Providence areas. No one was injured in the outbreak of summery weather violence.

In the wake of the storm, a new surge of arctic air sent a bitter chill deep into the country. Temperatures fell to freezing as far south as the central Gulf Coast.

Subzero cold hung onto the Midwest and northern Great Lakes region Wausau, Wis., registered 10 below before dawn.

In contrast, mild weather prevailed in the Far West. San Francisco warmed up to a record 73 degrees Thursday.

A new storm developing in the Southwest scattered snow across the southern Rockies, blanketing northern Arizona and New Mexico with 4 inches.

Some early morning temperatures and conditions: Boston 37 snow, New York 33 rain, Philadelphia 35 cloudy, Washington 37 partly cloudy, Atlanta 33 cloudy, Miami 61 clear, Detroit 16 partly cloudy, Chicago 16 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 11 partly cloudy, St. Louis 15 clear, Kansas City 25 cloudy, Dallas 32 clear, Denver 12 clear, Phoenix 45 clear, Los Angeles 56 cloudy, San Francisco 50 clear, Seattle 46 cloudy, Anchorage 34 rain, Honolulu 60 cloudy.

Cavanagh Eyes Tax Hike Bid

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit hinted yesterday he would ask the Michigan legislature to allow Detroit to raise taxes to make up the extra $30 million he said the city of Detroit needs to maintain its current standards of operation next year.

"I'm willing to take any political consequences that may be involved in raising the money," Cavanagh said.

Cavanagh's political star has already dimmed as a result of the Detroit riot, city employe strikes, Democratic dissension over his decision to oppose the popular G. Mennen Williams for the U. S. Senate in 1966 and his marital difficulties.

He may ask the State Legislature to reinstate the excise taxing power of the city, Cavanagh said.

★ ★ ★

In addition, he hinted that property taxes, which he said were among the lowest of any city in the United States, may be raised.

Baby Tests Rescued 45

BOSTON (AP) — Five years of testing all newborn babies in Massachusetts has turned up 45 who were spared mental retardation because phenylketonuria was detected early, the state Department of Public Health said Thursday.

Massachusetts was among the first of more than 30 states to require the test, made by examining a few drops of blood.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

At the age of 27, Bob Duffy can already look back to a wealth of basketball experience.

The genial coach of the Pontiac Tomahawks is a hard loser, but as the saying goes, "show me a good loser and I'll show you a real loser."

Right now Duffy and the Tomahawks are wallowing in frustration, carrying a 1-7 record in their first season in the North American Basketball League, but as Duffy puts it, "there's a lot of talent on this team, which, when it jells as a unit, can be tough."

The biggest problems for the Tomahawks as a new franchise in the NABL has been the lack of team play, defensive lapses and what Duffy says "the need of the local fans to give the team the feeling of being accepted."

"I know that it's tough to expect crowd support when you're losing in any sport," said Duffy, "but I'm not a quitter, and I'd rather have the fans turn out and heckle us for our bad play than not come out at all.

"At least 1,000 heckling voices is better than a couple hundred silent ones, because it's the nature of sports fans to change from heckling to applause when the tide turns for the better. And believe me it will in our case."

Duffy, an All-America at Colgate University where he set numerous scoring records, including 48 in one game, 26.6 average in three years and 1,620 points in his college career, had his flings with Detroit, New York and St. Louis in the NBA.

YOUNG HEAD COACH

He became one of the youngest college coaches in the country when he went back to his Alma Mater in 1964 to take the head basketball position, a job he held for three years before coming to Michigan this year as an executive with a Detroit firm.

When the Tomahawks became part of the NABL, the Detroit Pistons were asked for a recommendation for a coach and Duffy was mentioned without hesitation.

The Pontiac Sports, Inc., which also holds the Firebirds' football franchise in the Midwest Football League, immediately beckoned Duffy for the job and have had no regrets.

The handsome young coach who several times was called the Beau Brummel of the NBA during his playing days because of his always-neat attire, has all the qualifications and basketball knowledge to go with coaching except one thing . . . the stomach for defeat.

"Phooey on that axiom, 'you've got to learn to lose,'" says Duffy, "that's just like saying 'you've got to study hard to be happy with a D-minus in school.'"

Members of Pontiac Sports, Inc., which has grown from eight to 18 top area business men, are not ready to throw in the towel because of the basketball losses at the gate.

"We struggled for three years with the football program," said Paul Parks, general manager of the corporation, "and we know we're on solid ground there now.

"We expect the same growing process in basketball and there's nothing that a few victories wouldn't cure here. Instead of thinking of failure we want to think of what else there is in the future to bring this area in good competitive spectator activities. Hockey and baseball are certainly not out of the picture."

"When we start winning and the people don't support these programs, then that's when we can assume that they don't want teams like the Firebirds, Tomahawks or any other community activity as part of their program," said Parks.

Northern Eying Top Campaign

Huskies Seek Fourth Victory Against Central

Unless he has a bagful of state championships or something akin to it, a coach always anticipates that each succeeding year will be his best.

There are no state basketball championships in their past and perhaps nothing of that nature this season, but Pontiac Northern and coach Dick Hall have the equipment to fashion the best record in the school's short history.

With his 10th season already under way, Hall and the Huskies are 3-1 to date and the squad has a lot of confidence to go with its obvious ability

In the past nine campaigns, Hall-coached PNH teams have piled up a 91-59 record, an impressive mark and one which would be even more impressive if the team had been a little more successful in the series with crosstown rival Pontiac Central.

* * *

Of the 59 setbacks, 18 have been inflicted by the Chiefs of Pontiac Central.

SHORT TRIP

Tonight, the Huskies make that short trip to Central hoping to start an evening up trend in the series in which they trail, 18-3. Game time is 8.

* * *

"In 18 years of coaching, I've never had a group of boys I've so thoroughly enjoyed working with," says Hall. "Their spirit and attitude have been tremendous."

For the first time in his many visits to Pontiac Central, Hall and the Huskies will make the trip as the favorites.

Their favorites' role is based partly on their own ability and in part on the Chiefs' inconsistency in compiling a 1-3 record this season.

* * *

Hall doesn't particularly care for any favorite's talk, although he admits the Huskies will be making the trip firmly convinced they'll win.

And Hall doesn't think the Chiefs efforts in the past four games are any indication of what'll happen this evening.

WILL BE READY

"They'll be ready for us," he says. "We are planning on a tough ball game . . . they're always tough at their house."

Bergman Paces Wings Victory

DETROIT (AP) — For the first time since Gary Bergman became a Detroit Red Wings defenseman, it will take two hands to count his goals.

Bergman scored the last two Detroit goals in a 5-3 National Hockey League victory over the Philadelphia Flyers Thursday night.

BERGMAN

"I thought the third one was in," said Bergman, in his fourth NHL season. "It was just an inch inside the post, but it skipped off the top of (Doug) Favell's glove and missed the net."

The two goal gave Bergman six for the season, his best goal production since joining the Wings after being drafted from Montreal in 1964.

The victory snapped a three-game Detroit losing streak, but the Wings remained tied for last place in the Eastern Division with Montreal, which beat Minnesota 6-2 in the only other NHL game on tap

Philadelphia, a strong defensive team, remained tied for first place in the expansion Western Division with Los Angeles despite absorbing its third straight loss.

Flyers' goaltender Favell was bombarded with 38 Detroit shots, but some brilliant stops kept the Wings scoreless until the second period.

The Red Wings, outskating the Flyers in the second two periods, forced the play into the Philadelphia zone most of the game with stellar performances by Bergman, veteran Gordie Howe and rookie Gary Peters.

TWO GOALS

Howe, Peters and rookie defenseman Bart Crashley combined for two goals within a 24-second span at the onset of the second period, and Norm Ullman added another to put Detroit ahead 3-1.

* * *

Peters scored his first goal of the season on assists from Howe and Crashley, and Howe came back with his 16th at the 2:11 mark with assists from Peters and Crashley.

Howe, who also assisted on Bergman's first goal, ended up with a goal and two assists for his best scoring night in recent weeks.

The Flyers battled back to tie the score at 3-3 on Claude LaForge's second goal of the game and another by Gary Dornhoefer, his seventh.

ADDS CLINCHER

But Bergman made it 4-3 with a 50-foot slap shot at the 18:14 mark of the second period and added the clincher early in the third period with an unassisted tally.

It was the first time this season the rugged Philadelphia defense has given up four goals in a single period.

BUT HE LOST — Bill Gottschal of Pontiac Central (on top) with coaching from Max Hasse (top photos), appears to the upper hand in his 180-pound match against Norm Olind of Detroit Catholic Central, but the Detroiter rallied to win the bout in the preliminaries of the Oakland County Wrestling Tournament yesterday at Oakland University. Watching the action is referee Richard Rohrer of Fraser.

WIN FOR PNH — Gary Mick (bottom) of Pontiac Northern rallied to defeat Dennis Wooster in their 180-pound tussle yesterday in the wrestling tournament preliminaries, but the PNH grappler fell by the wayside in the second round. Finals in the eighth annual tournament are slated for 7:30 this evening at Oakland University.

Huskie Matmen Holding Edge in County Meet

With the preliminaries out of the way, it's certain there'll be no runaway in the eighth annual Oakland County High School Wrestling Tournament now under way at Oakland University.

Semifinal action for the 32 area teams opened at noon today with pre-tournament favorite Pontiac Northern holding a slim edge over the rest of the field.

Action continues this evening with consolations starting at 7:30 followed by finals in each of the 12 weight classes.

Pontiac Northern, winner of the tournament last year along with the state championship, headed into the semifinals with unbeaten wrestlers in seven classes.

Birmingham Seaholm and Warren Lincoln were next with five wrestlers unbeaten, while Walled Lake and Hazel Park had four in the semis.

Leading the Northern delegation into the semifinals today were coaptains Bill Green (120 pounds) and John Willson (145).

Other PNH matmen making the grade were Leroy Gutierrez (103), Ben Moon (127), Epi Gomez (133), Al Morris (154) and Ken Corr (165).

Seaholm, a doormat for the past couple of seasons, could pull a surprise. The Maples have strong performers in Kevin Wilson (112), Jim Winston (165) and Mike Hermoyian (heavyweight) so those three, plus Dave Forester (95) and Mike Monteith (180).

Warren Lincoln is also in a good position to challenge Pontiac Northern, and the same goes for Walled Lake and Hazel Park.

* * *

Tim Russell (103), Bob Hellner (133), Bob Boice (154) and Jim Thomas (180) went into the semifinal today for Walled Lake.

Les Burger (138), Chuck Bryant (133), Mark Davids (120) and Bill Davids (95) carried Hazel Park's colors.

Shaping up in the 138-pound class was one of the tournament's top bouts between Burger and defending state champion John Cassel of Farmington.

A couple of Pontiac Central wrestlers were among the semifinalists. Rojello Rodriguez made the grade in the 154-pound division, while Chuck Mason moved up in the heavyweight class.

OAKLAND COUNTY WRESTLING TOURNAMENT

Listed below are semifinalists in the eighth annual wrestling tournament at Oakland University.

112 Pounds—Cheyne (Farmington); Kevin Wilson (Seaholm); Wilson (Redford Union); Ferguson (Troy).
120 Pounds—Antoniotti (Catholic Central); Mark Davids (Hazel Park; Regan (Kimball); Green (Pontiac Northern).
127 Pounds—Trupiano (Lincoln); Moon (Pontiac Northern); Willer (Berkley); Caudron (Farmington).
133 Pounds — Kraft (Pontiac Central); Hellner (Walled Lake); Bryant (Hazel Park); Gomez (Pontiac Northern).
138 Pounds—Allen (Highland Park); Cassel (Farmington); Burger (Hazel Park); King (Warren Lincoln).
145 Pounds—Gonzales (Madison); Eric Alsup (Waterford); Willson (Pontiac Northern); White (Berkley).
154 Pounds — Rodriguez (Pontiac Central); Hinz (Warren Fitzgerald); Boice (Walled Lake); Morris (Pontiac Northern).
165 Pounds—Rivas (Lincoln); Corr (Pontiac Northern); Hancock (Lincoln Park); Winston (Seaholm).
180 Pounds—Monteith (Seaholm); Marsh (Kimball); Bagley (Lincoln); Thomas (Walled Lake).
Heavyweight—Clifton (Pittsgerald); Mason (Pontiac Central); Walsh (Farmington OLS); Hermoyian (Seaholm).

Saturday's Bowl Games to Be Battle of QB's

By The Associated Press

The last big weekend of the college football season begins Saturday and indications are that the fan who makes a day of it in front of his television set will see passes, passes and more passes.

It will be a battle of quarterbacks all over the country as Penn State and Florida State meet in the Gator Bowl, Texas-El Paso and Mississippi clash in the Sun Bowl, North plays South in the Blue-Gray Game and East meets West in the Shrine Game.

LEADS GATORS

Kim Hammond, who threw 140 complete passes for 1,991 yards and 15 touchdowns during the regular season, leads Florida State in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. (ABC-TV 2 p.m., EST) Ron Sellers, Hammond's favorite target, caught 70 throws for 1,228 yards and eight touchdowns.

* * *

But the Penn State passer, Tom Sherman, is no slouch either. He hit on 104 passes for 1,616 yards and 13 touchdowns during the season. Jack Curry caught 41 of them and Ted Kwalick hauled in 33.

In the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., to be carried on a special network of 125 television stations, the Texas-El Paso squad has a pair of passers that rank with the best around — Billy Stevens and Brooks Dawson. They threw a total of 26 touchdown passes this season.

Stevens threw six TD passes in a 47-17 rout of Brigham Young in one game and in the next contest, with Stevens hurt, Dawson threw six against New Mexico. The team led the country in scoring average and total offense.

* * *

Mississippi's quarterback Bruce Newell passed for 663 yards and six touchdowns during the season and also gained 793 on the ground. Tailback Steve Hindman ran for 829 yards for the Rebels.

BOWL SCHEDULE

Dallas First on Agenda

Two Words Missing Among Packers

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are two words nobody mentions in the Green Bay Packers' camp.

Super Bowl.

It's as if those words don't even exist in the English language and as if that isn't really the goal of all the Packers.

* * *

They act as if they couldn't care less whether Oakland beats Houston or vice versa this Sunday to become the AFL's Super Bowl representative in Miami, Fla., on Jan. 14.

All the Packers talk about or think about is one thing: the Dallas Cowboys, the club they meet for the NFL title in Green Bay Sunday.

There is no place for that familiar sign, "Think ahead" among the Packers. They absolutely refuse to think so much as five minutes ahead of their game with Dallas.

"From the time we start training in July we look forward to only one thing and that's the National Football League championship," said Ray Nitschke, the Packers' rugged middle linebacker, from Green Bay Thursday.

"That's the only thing we're concerning ourselves with now. Only the game with Dallas and nothing else."

"You're saying there isn't the slightest possibility that anyone on the club might be looking past the Cowboys?"

"None whasoever," Nitschke replied. "They gave us quite a game a year ago. Their offense agained about 400 yards against our defense. You don't forget something like that. We have a little reckoning to do with them."

Nitschke isn't the only member of the Packers who talks that way. They all do. Henry Jordan, the veteran tackle, Max McGee, the veteran end, Herb Adderley and Bart Starr all say the same thing. So does Jerry Kramer, the Packers' fine offensive guard.

"There isn't a chance in the world of any of us thinking about anything else but the Dallas Cowboys," he said.

It sounded as if maybe Vince Lombardi had brain-washed all the Packers but Kramer said no, it wasn't that at all.

"Lemme give you an example," he said. "All of us were feeling pretty fat and pretty happy after beating Los Angeles last Saturday. We all felt we had done all right and I felt that way, too.

"Anyway, the next day the Dallas-Cleveland game was on TV and I thought I'd relax and enjoy it. I was sitting here watching the game, having a beer from the ice box and some smoked fish.

"I dunno how long I was watching, maybe five or 10 minutes, when suddenly I didn't feel so relaxed and so good, anymore. I put down the can of beer and the smoked fish. I began getting nervous. Watching that Dallas club can do it to you. But playing the Cowboys is a great challenge and if there's anything we love it's a challenge like this."

Last Saturday's game with the Los Angeles Rams actually represented the Packers' first real challenge of the season because if they lost they were through for the year, but they came through bigger and better than the U. S. Cavalry with an electrifying 28-7 bugle charge.

Lombardi gave them Sunday and Monday off so they could be with their families for Christmas although the entire coaching staff worked both days looking at Dallas on film.

The first words the Green Bay coach had for his players when he saw them again on Tuesday were:

"I'm very proud of you. Very proud. You were just magnificent. That's all I can say about you."

Oakland After AFL Title

Raiders' Blanda Sees Bright Future

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Veteran George Blanda is convinced the Oakland Raiders are starting a string of American Football League championships.

He predicted today they'll win their first one Sunday by defeating Houston, champion of the AFL's Eastern Division, before a sellout crowd of more than 53,000 in the coliseum and many more national television viewers.

★ ★ ★

"I thought the Raiders were the best team in the league at the end of last season," Blanda told sports writers and sports casters. "And I said so."

"That's why I came to Oakland when Houston waived me. I wouldn't have played for any other team. I think the Raiders will win for a long time, three or four years."

★ ★ ★

That is typical of the AFL. Houston won the Eastern Division in the league's first three years, 1960-61-62 and the league crown the first two. Blanda was an Oiler then. He also was on one of the Chicago Bears' champion teams in the National League.

WON TITLE

Los Angeles won the AFL western title in 1960, moved to San Diego and as the Chargers won in 1961 and 1963-64-65 and the league crown in 1963.

Then Buffalo took over and won the AFL championship in 1964-65 and the Eastern title in '66 as well.

Four Blanda field goals defeated Houston 19-7 at Houston three weeks ago. Blanda and other Raiders believe Oakland will capitalize on the mistakes it made then and the things it learned about the Oilers.

★ ★ ★

Hewritt Dixon, strong Oakland fullback, said the Raiders had problems the first half "but adjusted at halftime and were able to run against the Oilers." Oakland trailed 7-0 at the half.

Linebacker Dan Conners said Houston "must control the ball to beat you. They look for 3 or 4 yards, not 20."

Coach John Rauch agreed generally, but warned, "the Oilers have improved steadily, especially since they acquired quarterback Pete Beathard from Kansas City, and may explode any time."

BUTTONING UP — Wyoming's head football coach Lloyd Eaton buttons the hood of his parka at New Orleans yesterday while watching his team work out for New Year's Sugar Bowl contest against LSU. Because of the high humidity, Eaton notes "It's colder here at 30 than it is at 30 below zero in Wyoming.

Southfield Cagers Win

Southfield won but Berkley dropped another last night as the two battled opposition in the losers' bracket of the Livonia Bentley Invitational Tournament.

★ ★ ★

A come-from-behind effort carried Southfield to a 67-61 victory over Redford Union, and a couple of foul shots with one second left enabled Livonia Stevenson to knock off Berkley, 53-51.

In the winners' bracket tonight, Bentley takes on Farmington, while North Farmington takes on Ypsilanti in the night-cap. The winners this evening battle tomorrow night at 8:30 for the title.

With only one second left, Bill Gregg stepped to the free throw line and canned two shots to give Stevenson its first win in the tourney. Dick Robinson led the Berkley attack with 16 points.

★ ★ ★

In a tourney opening this evening at Memphis, Port Huron Catholic takes on Dryden at 6:30 while Memphis and Harbor Beach OLLH meet at 8:15. The losers meet in a 6:30 contest tomorrow and the winners at 8:15.

★ ★ ★

At St. Clair tonight, Detroit Country Day will battle Madison Heights Lamphere for the championship.

Country Day came from behind to down Marine City last night, 59-53, while Lamphere turned back St. Clari.

Bergman Hits Two Big Goals

LaForge got his first goal at the 19:20 mark of the first period when his 70-foot shot skipped over Detroit netminder Roy Edward's glove.

The victory kept the Wings above the .500 mark and ended a streak in which they had lost five of their last six games.

Manager-Coach Sid Abel, who revamped his lines for the game said, "We were just due to perk up.

"We played some good games in the losing streak and lost," he said. "We were ready for a victory."

Detroit lost Norm Ullman for most of the first period when he drew a 10-minute misconduct penalty after a brief stick-shoving match with Philadelphia's Lou Angotti and Dornhoefer.

UNUSUAL FOR NORM

"Norm must have said something nasty to the referee," said Abel. "It's unusual for him. He's normally a quiet guy."

Leads Voting Among Pros

Unitas Wins Thorpe Award

NEW YORK (NEA)—It would be difficult to convince the Baltimore Colts there's still truth in the old cliche, "One game doesn't make a season." But when the legend of 1967 is finally inscribed, there will be a true assessment of their achievement in losing just one game in 14—and of the incomparable performance of a 34-year-old quarterback.

He has the scars of many physical contacts and a bursitic shoulder that crimps his chief talent, throwing a football.

He is also the greatest of all modern quarterbacks and has been announced today by Newspaper Enterprise Association as the winner of the 1967 Jim Thorpe Memorial Trophy.

The award signifies his rank as the outstanding player in the National Football League. To appreciate how long John Unitas has been the dominant force in pro football, note that he won his first Jim Thorpe trophy in 1957, when he was a sophomore in the NFL.

The jury for this award is composed of the 640 active players on the 16 teams, polled by NEA and they awarded him this year's trophy with definitive tributes.

★ ★ ★

"I don't feel anyone is in a class with John this year," commented Bart Starr, the quarterback of the Green Bay Packers. "He has been superb all year and the Colt's record indicates what he means to them."

EQUALLY IMPRESSIVE

Bart had been the equally impressive recipient of the Jim Thorpe trophy last year.

"No one close to Unitas," said Tommy Mason of their chief rivals and conquerors, the Los Angeles Rams.

The NFL players voted for three choices in numerical order, excluding teammates in their balloting.

"I am leaving the first place vote blank," noted Lou Michaels, his Colt teammate, "because I believe John Unitas should win it."

The appreciation of Unitas by his compatriots, the men he plays with and against, has never been stronger.

Unitas' only serious competitors were his aides in the NEA all-pro backfield this year, also selected by the players:

Leroy Kelly of Cleveland.

Gale Sayers of Chicago.

OFFICIAL PRESENTATION

Johnny will be with them in Los Angeles for the official presentation of his trophy at the all-pro party in CBS Television City, Hollywood, on Jan. 18. It will be filmed and shown nationally by CBS during halftime of the Pro Bowl game in Los Angeles on Jan. 21.

In winning this award, established in 1955 and now the most prestigious honor in professional football, Unitas added to the remarkable list of accomplishments for a man who once played sandlot football for the Bloomfield (Pa.) Rams at $7 a game.

He yielded the passing championship for 1967 to Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins, who was fourth in the voting, but he led all National League passers in percentage of completions, at 58.5. Only Jurgensen surpassed his totals of 436 attempts and 255 completions for 3,428 yards.

★ ★ ★

These figures now make Unitas the most prolific passer in pro-football history—and also the most effective, surpassing Y. A. Tittle's old records this season. In addition, every touchdown pass completed adds to the record he already holds in that career category.

This proficiency has also made Unitas the first $100,000 salaried player in pro football. A new three-year contract went into effect this season.

★ ★ ★

As the Jim Thorpe Trophy will attest, Johnny Unitas wasted no time in fulfilling the terms of his obligation to produce for the Baltimore Colts.

The final vote tabulations:

John Unitas, Baltimore, 482.
Leroy Kelly, Cleveland, 284.
Gale Sayers, Chicago, 164.
Sonny Jurgensen, Washington, 140.
Bart Starr, Green Bay, 76.
Fran Tarkenton, New York, 45.

Knicks' New Coach Loser Before Start

By the Associated Press

Red Holzman hasn't really begun work yet in his new job as coach of the New York Knickerbockers. Yet, he's already one-half game worse off than when he took over.

That's because the streaking Cincinnati Rovals beat the San Francisco Warriors 126-122 Thursday night. The triumph increased the fourth-place Royals lead over fifth-place New York to 2½ games in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division. Only the top four qualify for the post-season playoffs.

★ ★ ★

In the only other game, one matching expansion teams, the San Diego Rockets defeated the Seattle Super Sonics 143-125.

★ ★ ★

Holzman replaced Dick McGuire as the Knicks' coach Wednesday after New York lost to Philadelphia, its 23rd defeat against 15 victories.

THIRD STRAIGHT

The Royals picked up their 16th triumph and third in a row against 19 setbacks by edging the Warriors at Cleveland. Oscar Robertson led Cincinnati, tying his season high of 41 points. Guy Rodgers hit on two free throws with nine seconds left to clinch the verdict.

★ ★ ★

The defeat ended San Francisco's five-game winning streak.

In the game at Seattle, the Rockets built up a 77-64 halftime lead and then staved off second-half rallies by the SuperSonics, who got 45 points from Walt Hazzard. Don Kojis scored 26 and John Block 25 for San Diego.

Flags Triumph on Late Goal

PORT HURON (UPI) — Ken Gribbon's goal with 1:09 left in the game gave the Port Huron Flags a 5-4 victory over the Fort Wayne Komets in International Hockey League action Thursday night.

The Flags took a 4-3 lead early in the final period on a goal by Bob Kelly but Fort Wayne's Norm Waslawski tied it up 4-4 minutes later with his second goal of the night.

Personnel wise, Hall is sitting in the driver's seat.

"Physically, we're in good shape. Coin (Dana) is back. He's not ready for fulltime duty, but ready for all the help we'll need in stretches. He's looked good in practice."

Coin is a 6-2 senior and a strong performer on the backboards, and he's recovering from an ankle injury suffered during the basketball campaign.

★ ★ ★

Coin's absense hurt the Huskies, yet his return may create another problem for Hall.

★ ★ ★

To date, Hall has gone with Don Hayward (6-4), Bob Traylor (6-4) and Chuck Moncrief (6-0) up front, with Craig Deaton and Mike Clancy at the guard slots.

NEED ROOM

With Coin back, it means that someone has to go, and it'll probably be one of the guards. Hall indicated he'll move Moncrief back to one of the guard slots to make room for Coin.

★ ★ ★

That move will leave Moncrief, Clancy and Deaton at the guard slots which should make the Huskies one of the richest teams in the area at that position.

The Chiefs, after downing Roseville in their season opener, have lost three in a row and looked bad while losing.

Alton Wilson, a 6-2 jumping jack who gave the Chiefs a big boost last year, isn't the Wilson of last season, and the rest of the squad hasn't taken up the slack.

Len Cole (6-3), Walter Causey (6-3) and Wilson along with Rudy Churchwell (6-5) will share the three positions up front for the Chiefs.

★ ★ ★

A switch comes at the guard post for the Chiefs, where Coach Fred Zittel has moved Louis McNair into the lineup to work with Frank Russell, the team's leading scorer.

★ ★ ★

The two squads split their series last year. Northern has never swept a series while the Chiefs have accomplished that task seven times.

Gophers Hockey Finalists in Big Ten Tournament

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota defeated Michigan State, 6-3, and Wisconsin crushed Ohio State, 11-2, in first-round games in the Big Ten Hockey Tournament Thursday night.

Minnesota's victory shoved the Gophers into Saturday night's championship game against the winner of Friday night's Wisconsin - Michigan game. Michigan drew a first-round bye in the five-team meet.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State and Ohio State play a consolation game Friday night.

The Spartans drew first blood against the Gophers, scoring on Bill Watt's goal at 5:55 of the first period. But Minnesota rebounded sharply with a goal by Larry Paradise before the first period ended, and then tallied three more goals in the second period for a 4-1 lead before the Spartans could score again.

Chuck Norby broke the tie, then Gary Gambucci and Greg Hughes counted before MSU's Nelson De Benedet answered. Steve Ross and Pat Dufour got Minnesota a 6-2 lead before Ken Anstey responded for the Spartans in the third period.

Murray McLachlan had 22 saves for Minnesota and Bob Johnson got 27 for Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

Wisconsin broke a 1-1 tie with four goals late in the first period in its romp past Ohio State.

The Badgers built an 8-1 lead after two periods and led 11-1 before the Buckeyes managed their second goal late in the game.

★ ★ ★

Wisconsin peppered OSU goalie Joe Dusablon with 56 shots he managed to stop in addition to the 11 which hit the net. Two Badger goalies were called upon to make only 14 saves.

Cage Classic Finals Slated for Calvin 5

MARSHALL (AP)—Manchester of Indiana and Calvin meet tonight for the championship of the Marshall Optimist Classic basketball tournament.

Calvin gained the finals with a 110-98 victory over Taylor of Indiana Thursday night while Manchester beat Kalamazoo 82-75 in overtime.

In a consolation match, Adrian walloped Ferris State 108-82.

Mike Phelps notched 30 points for Calvin, which held off a later Taylor rally in the final minutes for the victory. Taylor, behind 20 points at one time, moved to within two points of Calvin before a flurry of baskets by Calvin put the game out of reach. Tom Dillon of Taylor had 34 points.

BIG RALLY

Manchester was down by 12 points before Dick Harris and Don Egley sparked a rally to tie the game and force the overtime. Harris, who had six points in overtime, wound up with 28 and Egley added 21, including five in the extra session.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Wellington topped Kalamazoo with 24 points.

Paul Martihi scored 29 points and Al Werbish added 28 in Adrian's victory over Ferris State. Larry Easter had 15 for the losers.

Adrian meets Albion and Kalamazoo takes on Taylor in consolation games today.

Alpena Upsets Chicago Five

JACKSON (AP)—Ken Parrish scored 26 points as Alpena Community College upset Wilbur Wright Junior College of Chicago 85-72 Thursday night in the opening round of the Rose City Holiday Classic basketball tournament.

Host Jackson Community College bombed Alfred Tech of New York 79-57 in the second game.

Big Guard Injured

Ailments Plague USC

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Injury has claimed another university of Southern California football standout as 250-pound guard Mike Scarpace went to surgery today to repair a knee ligament torn in practice for the Rose Bowl.

* * *

Scarpace joins flanker Jim Lawrence and defensive end Jim Gunn on the sideline crew of the national champions who battle Indiana in the New Year's Day classic.

* * *

Lawrence hurt a knee in the ninth game of the season against Oregon State and Gunn suffered the same type of injury against UCLA in the finale.

Coach John McKay reported Scarpace, an All-Pacific-8 performer on offense, was hurt in a Thursday scrimmage.

* * *

One knee-injury victim will be back in action — fullback Mike Hull who was operated on early in the season after being a standout in 1966.

LED SWEEPS

Scarpace was an important cog in leading sweeps and clearing the way for O. J. Simpson the halfback who led the nation in rushing this past season. The big guard will be replaced by senior Dennis Born, a 237-pounder.

* * *

How the loss of Scarpace affects the Trojans remains to be seen, but Coach McKay has termed his squad vastly superior to the club which lost to Purdue 14-13 in the last Rose Bowl.

The principal difference is Simpson, who transferred from junior college in San Francisco to become an All-American in his first year with the Trojans and lead the nation with 1,415 yards rushing.

* * *

Indiana fans continued pouring into Pasadena with 7,500 expected from the Hoosier state for the game. Although Coach John Pont had declared Thursday's practice would be closed, he relented and allowed the Indiana partisans to watch

* * *

Even the school's cheer leaders were on hand to lead yells, but today, says Pont, the workout would indeed be closed to spectators. After Saturday's drill, the team will go to a monastery to await the game.

* * *

Southern California also was to work out today and Saturday.

Chicago 5 Here Sunday

Tomahawks Get Ex-All Stater

Intent on giving "longer life" to their attack, the Pontiac Tomahawks today aimed for couple deals with the hope that they will be consummated in time for Sunday's 5:30 p.m. encounter with the Chicago Bombers at Pontiac Northern High.

The Tomahawks grabbed off Ed Burton, former Muskegon Heights all-stater, from the Muskegon Panthers now a defunct franchise in the NABL.

* * *

As the league's newest team, the Tomahawks picked Burton first, and team general manager Paul Parks said he hoped to have the former Michigan Stater signed to play by Sunday.

SELECT EX-CHIP

In conjunction with the draft of Muskegon players, the T-Hawks also offered the contracts of two present team members to Battle Creek to get Battle Creek's draft right. They want 6-6 Dave Nelson, a former Central Michigan player, for the choice.

Upon graduation from Muskegon Heights where he was a member of the school's class A state championship teams, Burton received offers from 52 colleges.

He attended Michigan State for two years and then joined the Harlem Globetrotters for two years after which he played with New York and St. Louis in the NBA.

* * *

In three years in the North American Basketball League, Burton led the league twice in rebounding and sparked Muskegon to the championship with a 19-2 record in the 1966-67 season. He was also one of the leading field goal percentage shooters with a .553 mark last season.

ALL-AMERICA

Nelson was a little All-America at CMU in 1964 and he was second to Burton in rebounds and scoring for Muskegon.

With Burton and Piston farm hand Sonny Dove both at 6-8 and Jim Patterson at 6-7, the Tomahawks now have the board strength and, hopefully, the depth to keep their attack going for four periods rather than to falter in the last quarter as has been the case.

In the back court, the T-Hawks will go along with another Piston taxi member Paul Long, player coach Bob Duffy and possibly Dave Gaines, John Watson and newcomer Archie Price. Guard Lou Hyatt is out with a leg injury.

Ex-Saginaw and Bradley University star Ernie Thompson is the other front line man on the team.

ON THE BLOCK

Which two players were offered to Battle Creek for Nelson was not known, but Dick Dzik, Joe Maddrey, Ken Nevels and Mannie Jackson were known to be on the block.

* * *

The Tomahawks hope to get into the win column for the second time Sunday when they face the Globetrotter-style Chicago Bombers led by 6-1 Porter Merriweather, a three-time All-America at Tennessee State, and one of the leading scorers in the NABL.

Three State Netters Lose in Tournament

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Three Michigan youngsters went down to defeat Thursday in semifinals matches of the Orange Bowl International Junior Tennis Championships.

* * *

In the boys-16 division, John Lamerato of Hamtramck was defeated by Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md., 6-3, 6-8, 6-1. Top seeded Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Cal., beat Kathy Dombos of Kalamazoo, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, in the girls-18 division.

* * *

And in the girls-16 semifinals, Karen Benson of Miami beat Emily Fisher of Bloomfield Hills, 6-3, 6-1.

Dallas Foe of Green Bay

Packers' Texan Primed for Tilt

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Donny Anderson of Green Bay doesn't need any special incentive Sunday when the Packers meet the Dallas Cowboys for the National Football League crown. But he has one anyway.

The Cowboys are from Texas. So is Anderson.

"That's my home state and I'm a home state ball player," the former Texas Tech All America said.

The main inspiration comes from the quality of the opposition and the situation itself. Anderson, who signed with the Packers for a reported $583,000 after the 1965 collegiate season, put it simply: "Dallas is a good team."

* * *

The good team as opposition in the big game is all the motivation a professional needs, and Anderson was taking the attitude of the professional.

HEIR COLLECTS

Anderson, the heir apparent to Paul Hornung at halfback, didn't get a starting shot until an injury sidelined Elijah Pitts for the season Nov. 5.

Since then, the sophomore has been steady if unspectacular in a starting role. He finished the regular season with 402 yards gained in 97 rushes and caught 22 passes for 331 yards. Anderson scored six touchdowns. He also did the team's punting and compiled a 37 yard average.

* * *

Anderson showed signs of brilliance last Saturday when he helped humble Los Angeles in the Western Conference playoff with a bruising display of power running. Before the game Coach Vince Lombardi said he was considering converting Anderson to flanker.

Donny declimed comment for now on the possible switch from his familiar halfback position. He admitted he played particularly hard against the Rams. He gained 52 yards in 12 carries and caught two passes for 30 more yards.

NAIA Stars Potent in Statistics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A backfield that gained a combined total of more than three miles rushing and passing led the All-American football team announced today by the National Association of Intercollegiate athletics.

★ ★ ★

Marlin Briscoe of Omaha, Neb., who passed for 2,283 yards and rushed for 354 this past season, was named quarterback of the NAIA team.

★ ★ ★

Chosen fullback was Johnson Leblanc of California Western, who gained 1,340 yards this year for an average of 5.3 yards a carry.

★ ★ ★

Charles Williams of Arkansas AM&N, who gained 807 yards and averaged 5.1 yards a try, made one of the halfback slots.

The other halfback is Jim Nicholson of Willamette, Ore., who gained 1,138 yards this past season for an average of 6.8 yards a carry.

★ ★ ★

Four linemen repeated from last year's team. They were offensive tackle Fred Davis of Doane, Neb.; Defensive tackle Eddie Joyner of Lenoir Rhyne, N.C.; defensive end Al Beauchamp of Southern, La., and defensive middle guard John Peterson of Pittsburg, Kan.

Other members of the NAIA honor squad:

Offense — Ends Dave Svendsen of Eastern Washington State and Henry McKay of Guilford, N.C.; tackle Tom Head of Southwest Texas State; guards Ron Young of New Mexico Highlands and Norman Davis of Grambling, La.; center Vic Bender of Northeast Louisiana State.

Defense — End Larry Blackstone of Fairmont Stat, W.Va.; tackle Tom Billotta of Adams State, Colo.; linebackers John Spuher of Northern Michigan, Lee Jacobson of Kearney State, Neb.; Mike Hattery of Western Illinois; halfbacks Major Hazelton of Florida A&M and Terry Harris of Jacksonville State, Ala.; safety Dennis Cavalier of Southwestern, Kan., and punter Gary Loyd of California Lutheran.

Svendsen, Head, Young, Nicholson and Loyd are juniors. The rest seniors.

John T. Clements, a left-handed catcher, caught 105 games in 1891 for the Phillies in the National League.

Bob Verga Leads Dallas to Upset Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Verga of the Dallas Chaparrals apparently intends to continue his effective shooting right up to the time he goes into the U. S. Army next week.

★ ★ ★

Verga, the American Basketball Association's second leading scorer, contributed 37 points Thursday night when Dallas edged the Indiana Pacers 127-125 on Cincy Powell's layup in overtime.

★ ★ ★

In other games, Minnesota, leading the Circuit's Eastern Division, defeated New Orleans 115-101, Houston beat Anaheim 104-93 and Denver downed New Jeresy, 119-102.

HITS CLINCHER

Powell hit on his clinching basket for Dallas with only 35 seconds left in overtime. The Pacers, who were paced by Bob Netolicky's 37 points, had one last try at tying the game. But Fred Lewis' jump shot bounced off the basket and the rebound was grabbed by Dallas' John Beasley.

★ ★ ★

Verga is scheduled to leave Jan. 5 for six months of Army reserve training.

Rated Quints Falter in Festival

By the Associated Press

Boston College, the nation's 10th-ranked team, will meet Louisville, led by All-America Wesley Unseld, on the final day of the New York Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament. That was expected.

At stake will be third place in the annual ECAC event. That was not expected.

★ ★ ★

As a matter of fact, the unexpected popped up at various spots around the tournament circuit Thursday night as such powerhouses as Indiana, No. 3 in the country, and Tennessee, No. 4, were also defused a bit.

New York City basketball, known more for developing and losing the Lew Alcindors than for keeping them, enjoyed one of its finest moments at Madison Square Garden where St. John's beat Boston College for the second time this season, 60-57 and Columbia stopped Louisville 74-67.

The St. John's victory wasn't decided until the final minute when Rudy Bogad and Joe DePre put in six free throws, but it was still less nerve-wracking than the Indians' 91-90 victory in overtime earlier in the season.

"I guess they're the better team," BC Coach Bob Cousy said. "Almost doesn't count."

Columbia's victory was particularly satisfying, as the Lions made up a seven-point halftime deficit. Sophomore Jim McMillian scored 24 points, though Louisville's Unseld topped all the scorers with 25.

Indiana's six-game winning streak came to a rude end in the All Sports Association tournament in Dallas, Tex., where Western Kentucky, 6-2, took the lead early and never lost it, winning 110-91.

Wayne Chapman scored 34 points for the winners and Rich Hendrick added 26.

★ ★ ★

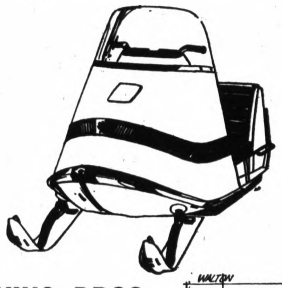

Tennessee carried Iowa into overtime at the Los Angeles Classic, before losing its first in five games 64-59. Baskets in overtime by Dick Jensen, Sam Williams and Ron Norman won for the Hawkeyes. Williams led the scorers with 25 points.

Fund Requests Likely to Be Cut

Colleges Face Fiscal Woes

Michigan's 11 public colleges and universities appear to be in for some tough sledding this winter in a run to get a record amount of state funds for fiscal 1968-69.

State legislators are already predicting that the state college and university requests for $270.87 million will be cut.

Oakland University's sister institution, Michigan State University, has requested a $54.9 million state appropriation in a proposed $77.7 million operating budget.

MSU, the state's largest university, got $45 million from the Legislature for the current fiscal year.

The state colleges expect a total 5.3 per cent increase in enrollment, and thus have asked for a 32.4 per cent increase in their share of the state's general fund.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 169,711 students are now attending the state's public institutions of higher education and 178,713 are predicted in 1968.

MSU anticipates a total enrollment of 44,839 students next year, including those at Oakland University, about 1,700 more than this year.

Oakland University has requested $6.3 million in state funds in a budget of $8.4 million. The university got $4.4 in state appropriatons this year.

★ ★ ★

Since OU opened in 1959, enrollment has increased seven times the initial enrollment, according to OU Business Director Robert W. Swanson. The opening figure was 570 students and is now 3,869.

PROJECTIONS

OU enrollment projections show 4,694 students next fall, 8,870 in 1972 and 15,000 by 1977.

Swanson said OU asked for a $1.6-million increase in appropriations for the current year but got only $133,000.

Thus, he said, the proposed budget provides for restoration of 1967-68 major cutbacks in level of supplies and services, equipment purchases and library acquisitions.

★ ★ ★

Swanson said the proposed budget — $2.2 million more than for the current year — and those in the future must provide for yearly enrollment increases of 1,000 for the next 10 years, library expansion at 60,000 volumes a year and curricular and graduate program expansion.

U OF M

The University of Michigan, projecting a 1968-69 enrollment of 37,283 students, has requested the largest sum — $75.81 million, $16.64 million more than the 1967 Legislature appropriated.

★ ★ ★

Wayne State University, where enrollment is expected to take the greatest jump for a single campus, requested a total appropriation of $44.6 million.

Nearly 26,00 students are expected at WSU next year, about 1,400 more than at present, university officials say.

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Romney is expected to make his annual spending message for colleges and universities to the Legislature in late January or early February.

TIME-OUT IN HOCKEY?—This would never happen to a pro hockey player; there's no such thing as a time-out in the official rules. But when the game is played on a street in Chicago, things sometimes have to be altered—especially when the puck slides out of the playing area and under a car.

4 Youths Held in Burglaries

Seventeen burglaries reported to Rochester police during the months of October and November have been cleared up with apprehension of four 16-year-old youths, according to Rochester Detective William Woehl.

★ ★ ★

The four have been turned over the Juvenile Court, Woehl said.

★ ★ ★

The burglaries involved several offices, schools and homes in the city. Woehl said only an antique gold watch stolen from the Peterson Insurance office at 427 W. University was recovered. Cash totaling close to $1,000 taken from vending machines and petty cash boxes was unrecovered, he said.

U.S. Warned of Urban Wars

WASHINGTON (AP)— A former Army analyst says the United States must prepare for possible organized urban guerrilla warfare he says could reduce some American cities to rubble.

Col. Robert B. Rigg, who retired after helping complete a long-range strategic forecast for the Army last year, urged development of an "inside intelligence system" to warn of serious outbreaks, pinpoint insurrection leaders and uncover urban guerrilla arms supplies.

★ ★ ★

Rigg also proposed that Army and National Guard troops be given special training for urban insurrection, with emphasis on restraint to avoid wanton shooting. He conceived of maneuvers in the cities, possibly serving as a deterrent to would-be rioters.

And he stressed the importance of in-depth planning and coordination among the Army, the guard and police, along with the fashioning of special tactics and techniques applicable to "organized urban warfare."

UNOFFICIAL PUBLICATION

Rigg, now an industrial consultant, discussed his ideas in the January issue of Army, publication of the nonofficial Association of the U.S. Army.

"From a military standpoint, successful warfare against urban-based guerrillas in American cities could be as difficult and prolonged as the fighting in Vietnam if the insurrection is well-organized," he wrote.

★ ★ ★

Rigg said the urban riot "has been established as an instrument of racial rebellion" but that future trouble could come from either black or white segments of the population, from the political left or right."

Draft Board Savings Eyed by Probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System could save money by making certain local draft boards send men to the nearest station for examinations and induction, government investigators reported Thursday.

On the basis of a limited review, the General Accounting Office projected a nationwide saving of about $600,000 in the 1966 fiscal year if conditions it found were typical. That fiscal year ended June 30, 1966.

Under the law, the government provides transportation, meals and lodging for the trip from the local draft boards to the examining station.

During the 1966 fiscal year about $7.5 million was spent for registrant travel, most of which was used to send about 1.7 million registrants to stations for pre - induction examinations and about 400,000 others for induction.

The report said that some boards in Arkansas, Mississippi, Missouri, Michigan and Ohio sent men to stations which were located from 11 to 173 miles further away than the nearest station.

"In our opinion, most of their reasons for doing so were not sound," the report said.

The report said some Michigan boards used Detroit instead of Chicago and some Ohio points closer to Detroit sent their men to Cleveland.

Yule Marathon of Bible Reading Ends Officially

MONROE (AP) — A holiday Bible reading marathon at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Monroe ended officially Thursday night at 10:53.

High school seniors belonging to the Methodist Youth Fellowship read the Bible in half-hour shifts beginning Christmas Eve. Seventeen youths read during the day, while six others rotated at night. Total time for the marathon was 70 hours and 53 minutes.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Dennis Thompson, associate pastor of St. Paul's and adviser to the group, said the purpose of the project was "to put Christ back into the holiday season.

A spokesmen said the youths were very tired at the end of their marathon.

Snow Melted in Search for Child's Killer

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Detectives used acetylene torches today to melt 10 inches of snow in an intensive search for clues to the killer of 9-year-old Helen Miller, whose blood spattered body was discovered in a 30-foot ravine.

Police Capt. George Nunley wept when he saw the third grader's body yesterday.

"A great deal of violence appears to have been done to her," he said.

An autopsy report late yesterday showed the girl had been stabbed four times with a large knife and sexually molested.

Police said a hunting knife had been stolen from a car near where the body, clad only in a red jacket, was found.

Police used acetylene torches to melt the snow on the wooded hillside near the ravine in search of the knife.

Police theorized the victim knew her killer.

The window to her room was open when her mother discovered she was missing. There were no indications of forced intry.

The child's body was found by two young brothers, John and Eric Murray, who were riding their sleds down an embankment into the raviee.

Mao Admitted War in China

Red Guards Warned Not to Battle Back

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung admitted three months ago that Communist China was in the grips of civil war, but said his Red Guards must be taught "not to retaliate on other people," according to a delayed translation received today of a Maoist newspaper in Canton, China's second largest city.

"Some people say that there is no civil war in China. I think this is a civil war and not an external war and is a violent struggle, not a struggle by reasoning," Mao was quoted as saying in the Oct. 17 edition of Canton's Chengfa Hungchi.

★ ★ ★

The assertion was made, the newspaper said, during Mao's extensive inspection tour of Honan, Hupeh, Hunan, Kiangsi and Chekiang provinces and the city of Shanghai in late September and early October.

The tour followed months of unrest in China in which rebellious workers and supporters of Mao's arch foe, President Liu Shao-chi, clashed all over the country with Red Guards and army units loyal to Mao.

REPORTS DROP OFF

Reports from Maoist organs of trouble have dropped off recently, but travelers arriving in Hong Kong and reports disseminated by Nationalist Chinese agencies on Formosa tell of continuing strife. Canton apparently is a major center of unrest.

The Canton paper said Mao told one audience on his tour he hoped to solve the problems facing him and his supporters in 24 of China's 29 provinces and autonomous regions by the end of this year. He apparently is still far from this goal.

★ ★ ★

The newspaper account said Mao spoke out against roughing up and humiliating Liu's supporters and said: "The Red Guards have very great power and are ferocious; they also need training.

"We must teach them well not to retaliate on other people, or to make them kneel on the ground, to put dunce caps on them, to hang signboards on their necks or to subject them to so-called jet-style torture."

"Arrests and violence," Mao said, "are extreme leftists ideas."

Humphrey Taking LBJ Vow to Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey flew off today on a 13-day visit to Africa promising to "renew President Johnson's commitment to the ultimate defeat in Africa as well as in our own country of poverty, ignorance, malnutrition and disease."

The vice president, in a speech prepared for his departure from Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington, said he hoped to return from his nine-nation tour with a better understanding of Africa and to leave behind "a better understanding of America."

★ ★ ★

The vice president will head the American delegation at the inauguration of President William Tubman of Liberia Jan. 1 and 2. Others in the inaugural delegation are Justice Thurgood Marshall of the Supreme Court and Edgar Bronfman, New York business executive.

Studs on Bridge Increase Safety

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)— For the driver without metal-studded tires on his vehicle, the Pennsylvania Department of Highways has provided a metal-studded bridge here.

★ ★ ★

More than 450,000 quarter-inch-high steel studs have been welded to the driving surface of the Market Street bridge, a 1,100-foot-long open grid structure spanning the Susquehanna River. According to the KSM Division of Omark Industries, Inc., the supplier, the studs reduce skidding, particularly when the bridge is wet or icy.

Station Employe Admits He Lied About Robbery

An Oxford youth pleaded guilty yesterday in Pontiac Municipal Court to giving police a false report about an armed robbery Wednesday morning.

Pontiac Police brought the charge against Robert Benjamin, 19, of 825 Keith after he admitted lying about being robbed of $50 to $60 at the Clark Gas Station, 1340 N. Perry, where he was an attendant.

★ ★ ★

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum will sentence Benjamin on Jan. 12. The misdemeanor offense is punishable by up to 90 days in the county jail or a $100 fine or both.

NY World's Fair Went $21 Million in the Red

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1964-65 New York World's Fair, which once had rosy dreams of a bright economic future, went $21,159,660.30 in the red, an official city audit shows.

City Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino said Thursday the final deficit was "in sharp contrast" to the fair management predictions of a $50 million profit.

★ ★ ★

Robert Moses, the 79-year-old corporation president, fared much better.

The comptroller's report showed the fair will have paid Moses a total of $1,052,498 in salary and annuities before he stops drawing checks in 1975.

DEFERRED PAY

Moses' contract called for $720,312.74 in salary from Aug. 18, 1959, through this year. Starting Jan. 1, he will begin getting deferred compensation totaling another $209,686.89, plus $120,000 for premiums for an annuity.

Procaccino's audit showed the fair gave a 38.4 cent return on every dollar invested.

★ ★ ★

As in several previous published reports, the comptroller's auditors said the losses would have been "considerably less" had some economies been instituted in various service contracts, such as maintenance firms and security agencies.

The fair lost most of its money—$20 million—in its first year of operation. The income each year was $64.3 million.

EXPENSES CUT

It cut its expenses in the second year by cutting down on its clean-up squads and security forces.

Procaccino's report criticized the fair for allowing contractor's too much freedom without cracking down on exhibitors who failed to post required bond money guaranteeing construction, demolition and rentals.

★ ★ ★

Delinquent tenants were allowed to remain on the fair grounds by the corporation, resulting in some $6 million in bad debts.

Part of the $21 million-plus deficit was covered by a court settlement with the fair's bondholders—under which they received $18.4 less than they should have gotten—and by the city's agreement to take care of $2.7 million of the fair's commitment to restore the grounds when it was closed.

City Man Caught in Firm at Night

A Pontiac man was being held for questioning by police today after being caught inside the Detroit Ball Bearing building, 493 S. Saginaw, shortly after midnight.

Pontiac police said they would seek a breaking and entering warrant against Neville LaMotte, 21, of 107 Elm.

LaMotte was arrested by officers Santiago Serna and Raymond Hawks when they went to investigate the sound of breaking glass.

Cold in Spring Hurt State Fruit, Vegetable Crops

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's fruit and vegetable crops were hurt by unseasonably cold weather in the early spring this year, reports the State Crop Reporting Service.

A warm period in early April was followed by low temperatures and several freezes during the bloom season, seriously hurting most fruit crops.

The apple, pear, tart cherry and grape crops were below the production last year and the five - year average. Only the peach crop was up from the previous year.

Production of the seven major fruit crops was 422,500 tons, one fifth below the previous year and one third below average.

Current Books

THE HUNTER AND THE TRAP. By Howard Fast, Dial Press $4.50.

Combined here are a short story, "The Hunter," and a short novel, "The Trap."

The central figure in "The Hunter" is a celebrated writer who has just come to New York from a big game hunting trip—very much a la Hemingway. On an impulse he throws a huge all-night party to which flock scores of other celebrities.

The next afternoon he discovers he is "being hunted." By whom, he doesn't know. But his instincts as a hunter tell him the tables have been switched on him.

★ ★ ★

The story is graphically told, but the author doesn't seem to have achieved whatever effect of the eerie he has been trying for—probably because there is no effort to bring out why anyone would want to kill the writer.

"The Trap" is a venture into science fantasy, told rather obliquely. A footloose man gradually is drawn into working for his sister and brother-in-law, both of them brilliant scientists.

He soon finds himself sleuthing through the black markets of the world for babies with extremely high intelligence, who are sent to his sister at a strictly guarded secret reservation.

★

The point is that these superbabies are being raised to become superaduits, and after 18 years a letter from the sister indicates the experiment has been successful—in a way, too successful for everyone concerned.

As an exercise of imagination, the story holds the reader's interest, but it is weakened by the indirect way in which the story is told.

VALENTINO by Irving Shulman (Trident $6.95): An irreverent account of the legend, the man and the times.

Shulman, who recently wrote about Jean Harlow, uses something less than a 10-foot pole to poke and jab the great screen lover, the poor immigrant who rose from New York dance halls to Hollywood mansion and who was, according to H. L. Mencken, catnip to women and a most unhappy fella.

With the delight of a fun-house barker, Shulman quotes the woes of Valentino — about the Chicago newspaper which in 1917 judged Rudolph unmasculine for wearing a wristwatch, the director who made him a star and despised him, the fights with the moguls, the juvenile delinquency, the adult delinquency.

Best of all, there is the spectacle of the funeral. The wreath from Benito Mussolini. The movie men so pleased that here, at last, was a star to whom the fans would be loyal even after his death.

The Sheik still was catnip after death. The creditors who were equally pleased.

★ ★ ★

Rudolph Valentino's great problem, according to the book, was not women or even his debts. It was his waistline.

He loved to eat well. It is part of the puffy legend Shulman punctures, again and again.

JUNGLE FOR SALE by Henry Trefflich and Edward Anthony (Hawthorn $5.95):

Hunters of wild animals have always had lots of thrilling stories to tell, even though some of them may have been tall. This book of thoroughly enjoyable animal stories is told from a different point of view.

Henry Trefflich is possibly the best-known dealer in zoo animals in the world. In this book he reminisces about his unusual and eventful life of collecting, handling, selling and loving his animal charges.

In a series of recollections, skillfully related with the help of Edward Anthony (also collaborator of Frank Buck on "Bring 'Em Back Alive" and of Clyde Beatty on "The Big Cage") Trefflich spins enough tales about his experiences with elephants, gorillas, chimpanzees, the big cats, birds, squirrels, snakes, people, etc., to fascinate most readers.

Three types of insects, ladybugs, six-inch grasshopper-like mantises and tiny wasp-like creatures called trichogamma, are as effective as pesticides, believe conservationists. The insects thrive largely on leaf-eating aphids and a variety of other tree and shrub-killing insect pests.

from the Oxford Area Community School District and adding the same to the Almont Community Schools and to the Lapeer Intermediate School District, Lapeer County, Michigan.

You are hereby notified that a public hearing will be held at the Almont High School, Almont, Michigan, on the 11th day of January, 1968 at 8 p.m., to consider the advisability of the above described territory transfer request.

The Board of Education of Lapeer and Oakland Counties, acting jointly, will determine:

1. Whether the proposed alteration of boundaries will be made;
2. The effective date of the transfer, if ordered;
3. Whether or not any personal or real property is to be transferred and, if so, the equitable consideration therefor.

Any interested parties will be given an opportunity to be heard at the time and place above specified.

Dated at Pontiac, Michigan, this 21st day of December, A.D., 1967

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO EXPRESS OUR heartfelt thanks to our many friends, neighbors and relatives for their many acts of kindness and floral offerings during our recent bereavement in the loss of our son and brother, Spec. 4 William R. Ahrens. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ahrens, Brenda W. Ahrens and Donna M. Shaw.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF EVA M. Walters:
Our hearts still ache with sadness
Our eyes shed many a tear;
God alone knows how we miss you
For this ends the third sad year.
And in our saddest moments
The happy thoughts hold sway
We will meet you mother dear
And be happy again some sweet day.
Sadly missed by her loving daughter, sons and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF JOHN L. Visure who passed away December 29, 1938.
You left this world of sorrow,
And are free from pain and harm,
And now rest in peace and comfort
In the blessed Savior's arms.
Saly missed by wife Ann and daughter Jo Ann, sons Bob and Ernie and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF WESLEY R. Andrews, who passed away Dec. 29, 1966.
Dadly missed by wife Helen, sons, and daughter.

CAREER IN REAL ESTATE

We have recently expanded our office facilities and now have room for several more qualified people interested in high income.

If you are presently selling real estate and are contemplating a change or possibly have never sold before, you could qualify for our 10 hour class starting soon.

We offer a fine building program, an excellent bonus and profit sharing plan, plus a liberal commission schedule, in addition to ample floor and model time.

A GI mortgage is a privilege to Americans. Any man or woman, who served honorably 181 or more consecutive days is eligible. All that is necessary is your DD214 to receive an eligibility certificate. You pay the closing costs only. At the present time a GI loan has a very low interest rate of 5¾ plus a small fee of ½ per cent. It is usually repayable in 25 years or less. There is NO penalty for repaying the loan in advance. It is required that you have been presently employed for 180 days. It is reserved for the purchase of a home for YOU to live in. There is no limit to the amount of the mortgage.

Blast Raises Roof; Family of 10 Okay

LEADVILLE, Colo. (AP) — Eight children escaped without a scratch and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Potter suffered minor injuries when an explosion lifted the roof off their home and shattered windows in neighboring houses.

* * *

Fire Chief Joe Plute said the thermostat on a gas hot water heater failed. The explosion Thursday blew the top of the water tank through the roof.

* * *

The Potters and their children, aged 4 to 13, awoke under debris more than three feet deep. Potter was treated for cuts and bruises. His wife was hospitalized with chest bruises and possible broken toes.

2 Cows Rescued by Coast Guard Off Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — To the rescue of two cows came the U.S. Coast Guard.

A 40-foot Coast Guard boat picked up the first swimming heifer Thursday, and the tender Ironwood plucked the other with a cargo net.

* * *

What were the cows doing swimming in Honolulu harbor?

The Coast Guard says it appears they wanted a cooling dip to break the montony of barge travel between Molokai and Kauai Islands. They were in Honolulu briefly for feeding.

Delaware Meat Inspection Law

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Delaware Gov. Charles Terry has signed into law the state's first meat inspection act.

* * *

The meat inspection bill will go into effect in six months, but meanwhile $52,660 was appropriated to the State Board of Agriculture so it can set up the machinery for enforcing the new law.

Power Failure Hits 100 Homes

BELLPORT, N.Y. (AP) — A power failure left about 100 homes without electricity for about 1½ hours Thursday evening, the Long Island Lighting Co. said.

* * *

The company said the reason for the blackout was a heavy holiday demand, including in part the use of appliances received as Christmas presents.

Hope Show Lets Viet GIs Swap Bullets for Beauties

By EARL WILSON

CHU LAI, Vietnam — There's no fire power like Girl Power for the thousands of GIs fighting the war here on the edge of the South China Sea . . . and all the girls back home might remember it.

"Man, I ain't seen so many American women since I left San Francisco!" boomed a big, grinning flier, just feasting his eyes on Raquel Welch, Barbara McNair, Elaine Dunn and Madeleine Hartog Bel of the Bob Hope troupe.

WILSON

And at one base a certain colonel just pleaded to be introduced to the troupe hairdresser, Marlene Kolstad, of Los Angeles, a beautiful youngster in miniskirt and lace pettipants, which, I believe, is the garment the chicks wear instead of slips.

Bob Hope, from his 17 previous trips, knows about Girl Power, and picked girls who are pretty and talented — but especially girls the guys can enjoy in merely seeing there on the stage in front of them.

* * *

"Come on, girls, leave the stage now," Hope says during the show. "I'm the star. I'm the one they came to see! Isn't that right, fellas?"

"NO, NO!" the thousands of boys shout with a roar that Hope says is reminiscent of Hollywood Bowl audiences.

And Hope gives them another chance to see the girls.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Judy Garland's fans staged a love-in for her when she opened at the Felt Forum. They gave every song a standing ovation, ran up to shake her hand, called out lyrics when she forgot them, gave her candy, flowers, gifts. ("Let's pretend every night is Christmas," Judy said, "—I do need the presents.") Starting 45 minutes late (after being stuck in traffic) and complaining of a cold and a hoarse voice, she announced at the end: "I think I made it!" The fans roared.

Sonny & Cher'll do a New Year's Eve one-nighter at a private party — for $6,250 . . . Frank Sinatra's various companies will end '67 with a $30,000,000 gross . . . The Tisch Bros., whose newest hotel is on Paradise Island, will next build a 500-room hotel in London.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: New York's traffic is really getting out of hand, claims London Lee: "I saw a cop directing cars in an auto showroom."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Rodney Dangerfield says that as a child the other kids didn't like him much: "When we played hide and seek — they wouldn't even look for me."

EARL'S PEARLS: Now comes the true test of the Christmas spirit — the ability to smile when the bills start arriving.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Some women work so hard to make good husbands that they never quite manage to make good wives."

Mickey Rooney, divorcing for the sixth time, has two problems, claims Kaye Walton. One is staying married; the other is staying unmarried . . . That's earl, brother.

A Look at TV

CBS Stressing Dramas

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The year 1967 has not been the greatest in television history. It has been notable primarily because broadcasts of motion pictures originally made for theaters dominated the schedules of the three major networks, consistently attracted large audiences and generally raised bob with the popularity of TV programs which were opposite them.

* * *

Some may speculate that the popularity of old movies stems from the perennial problem in television of maintaining a steady supply of satisfying, meaningful drama. ABC "Stage 67" which started out so optimistically in 1966 to help fill this void, limped painfully into oblivion at the season's end.

* * *

But in the past year "CBS Playhouse" did make a promising start with an occasional prestige dramatic show, although it was able to turn out only three programs during the 12-month period.

* * *

The project was actually started two years ago this week when the top CBS executives had their first look at the taped production of "Death of a Salesman." They realized it would cause excitement and decided to try to develop some original plays.

"We decided that dramas had to start at the typewriter," recalled CBS Vice President Michael Dann.

CBS set aside $400,000 for scripts, particularly earmarked for new writers.

"CBS Playhouse" pays $25,000 for each drama, about double the usual amount, and gives the autohrs all subsequent rights to the properfy, makes no demands as to length, is careful about the placement of commercials and signs big stars to play the leading roles.

* * *

Three original dramatic productions in two years of work is almost insignificant in a medium with such a voracious appetite, but "CBS Playhouse" is now tooled up, has many projects in the works and two more shows will be coming along soon —Robert Crean's "My Father and My Mother" on Jan. 29 and Mosel's "Secrets" early in February.

Traffic Violator Honest - Again

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Ronald S. Garcia, 18, wrote to the Denver Traffic Division, explaining he had some traffic tickets but had moved to California.

* * *

The files turned up one ticket. Judg Gilbert Alexander set a $25 fine and Garcia was notified.

* * *

Then came another letter Wednesday, saying: "I think $25 is not enough for both tickets. So send me full price and I will remit same."

* * *

Another search turned up a second ticket for speeding. Judge Alexander levied a $20 fine on that one and sent Garcia bill for $45.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

The big board has budged just a bit to allow Muriel F. Siebert to become the first female member of the New York Stock Exchange.

But Miss Siebert will respect the all-male sanctuary by sending a male representative to trade for her on the exchange floor.

The new board member, a petite blonde, described by her friends as "bubbly, ebullient and fortyish," is expected to start her own brokerage house, specializing in institutional business. Miss Siebert is now a partner with Brimberg & Co., a brokerage firm at 60 Broad St.

To gain entry to the exchange membership, Miss Siebert paid an estimated $450,000 for a seat.

The exchange constitution makes no distinction in membership qualifications on grounds of sex; but until Miss Siebert, all the traders were men. She is the first woman ever to apply for big board membership.

RFK's Son Breaks Leg Skiing — Again

The 15-year-old son of U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has suffered a broken leg in a skiing accident for the second consecutive year.

Joseph Kennedy was treated at Sun Valley Hospital, Sun Valley, Idaho, for a "boot top" fracture of both bones in the right leg. Last year, young Kennedy suffered the same kind of break in the left leg.

The accident yesterday occurred on the roundhouse slope of Baldy Mountain. Like the accident last year, it was on a slope for intermediate ski runs.

Age of New Colorado Draft Chief Criticized

Allen J. Roush, 76, who has never had any military experience, has become Colorado's Selective Service director.

Roush, who has held a number of local and state draft board positions the past 27 years, has been deputy director of the state Selective Service agency since 1965. His new job starts Jan. 1.

The appointment, announced yesterday by National Selective Service Director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey at the office of vacationing Gov. John Love, was immediately criticized by state Sen. Will F. Nicholson, a 67-year-old retired Air Force brigadier general.

Nicholson, a former Denver mayor, said the "director should be somebody eligible for active duty himself." He said draft-eligible men should find someone at the head of Selective Service "whom they can talk to."

He said his criticism applied to Hershey and most members of local draft boards, many of whom have served almost since the current draft law began.

Roush replaces Gen. Howard R. Reed, 74, retiring after 25 years at the post.

Miss Cheerleader USA Is Named

Jeannie Gilbert, a 19-year-old sophomore from the University of Tennessee, was named Miss Cheerleader USA yesterday in the 6th annual contest at Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Runner-up in the contest was Jane Ann Hughes, a five-foot-tall sophomore from North Illinois University at Dekalb. The physical education major from east Moline was the shortest of the five finalists.

Miss Gilbert, who will be leading cheers for the University of Tennessee when the Vols meet the University of Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl football game Jan. 1, is to receive a $700 scholarship, a trophy, an outboard boat motor, a wardrobe, a camera and water skis as prizes.

She is a commercial art major.

'Pollution Curb Exists at Price'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has the technology to curb air pollution from automobile exhaust, "if we want to pay for it," Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said yesterday.

Government engineers have demonstrated conclusively that a device developed by the E. I. Dupont Co. cuts pollution, Udall told a news conference.

The device, called an exhaust manifold reactor, was tested by Bureau of Mines engineers at the Bartlesville, Okla., petroleum research center on a 1966 Chevrolet Impala.

Udall emphasized that the commercial practicality of the device had not been established by the government. He offered no official estimate of the cost, but sources indicated it might be available for as little as $100. Other estimates ranged much higher.

* * *

The device allows air to mix with automobile exhaust gases, thereby changing their chemical properties.

Japan will need a total of 90,000 metric tons of nuclear fuel by 1985, it is predicted.

Detroit to Get Fair Housing Vote Petitions

DETROIT (AP)—Petitions to force a vote by the people on Detroit's new open housing ordinance were to be presented to the city clerk today with the leader of the petition drive predicting the voters will back up his opposition to the measure.

Henry Dodge, head of the Northwest Detroit Council of Civic and Consumer Associations, said he has no doubt the voters will defeat open housing in Detroit as they did in Flint, Jackson and Toledo.

* * *

Dodge said earlier in the week that "quite a few Negroes" who had moved from the inner city had added their signatures to the petition.

"In every case where an unpopular issue was forced on the people and they pushed for a referendum, the issue was defeated soundly without exception," said Dodge.

DOUBLE SIGNATURES

A spokesman for the drive said 90,000 signatures have been collected, more than double the 44,000 needed to bring the issue to a vote at the next general election in August.

City Man, 53, Is Charged in Slaying of Wife

Police are holding a 53-year-old Pontiac man charged with the fatal shooting of his wife last night.

Mrs. Earline Humpreys, 50, of 229 E. Walton died this morning at Pontiac General Hospital a few hours after being shot.

Police are holding Robert Humpreys in connection with the death.

Officers said Humpreys became involved in an argument with his wife about 11:30 p.m. after returning home with his wife's niece, Kathryn O. Hall, 35, of Houston, Tex., who was visiting the Humpreys.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hall told officers that the couple was arguing when Mrs. Humpreys took a .38-caliber revolver out of a dresser drawer and fired it three times.

She said the Humpreys continued arguing in another room and apparently were struggling when she heard two shots.

Officers said Mrs. Humpreys was shot once in the chest with the bullet exiting above her hip.

Patrolmen said Humpreys showed them the gun when they arrived and made a statement.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hall said that when she and Humpreys arrived home they noticed a man leaving the Humpreys' residence.

BEGAN ARGUING

She said the couple began arguing as soon as she and Humpreys arrived.

Officers said they found six spent cartridges at the residence.

★ ★ ★

Humpreys is expected to be arraigned Monday on a murder charge.

Elderly Oppose Medicare Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a nationwide citizens group says increasing the premium for the voluntary part of Medicare means the nation's elderly are "having to pay for the failure of Congress to prevent the escalation of doctors' fees."

"It's disgraceful," said William R. Hutton, executive director of the National Council of Senior Citizens, which claims to be the largest organization of the elderly in the country with 2 million members in 2,000 affiliated clubs.

The increase from $3 to $4 a month, announced yesterday and effective April 1, applies to the part of Medicare which pays doctor costs. It was expected. The government contributes an equal monthly amount.

Hutton's group has urged Congress to set limits on doctors' fees under Medicare. But he said in an interview it hasn't been done because "the medical profession has an enormous political influence and Congress is afraid because it needs them (doctors) to run this."

★ ★ ★

Comment from the American Medical Association on the new rates was not immediately available.

FREE TO CHARGE

Critics of Medicare say it has a built-in tendency toward higher costs because doctors are free to charge "reasonable and customary" rates.

Landing Is 200,000th Operation

Airport Marks Important '67 Milestone

The Oakland-Pontiac Airport yesterday handled its 200,000th operation of the year — the busiest ever and a milestone for the facility.

Piloting the craft was Robert Hale and his passenger was Bill Fauver, both executives with Continental Motors of Muskegon and here on business.

They received congratulations when they arrived from county officials assembled to observe the event.

The 200,000th operation (landings, takeoffs) had double significance for the airport. That figure is the one termed normal capacity for the airport. It also reveals an upward surge of aviation in the county when compared to other years.

★ ★ ★

Total operations last year were 172,000 and in 1965 the figure was 132,000. In 1956 the estimated total was 69,000.

FAA RECORDS

The number of operations is logged by the Federal Aviation Administration tower which was installed in June 1961. Another milestone will be passed this coming summer when the one millionth operation recorded by the tower facility will take place.

See Picture, Page D-2

Expansion of the Oakland-Pontiac Airport has been approved, will begin next year and completed in 1970. The east-west runway will be expanded to 6,200 feet and the federal Instrument Landing System installed to provide all-weather flying.

Capacity of the improved airport will be over 300,000 operations per year, according to aviation experts.

Postage Rate Hike Goes in Effect Jan. 7

Increased rates for all classes of mail except parcel post and international mail will go into effect Jan. 7, Pontiac postmaster William W. Donaldson said today.

The new rate for first-class mail is being increased from five to six cents and postal cards are going from four to five cents. Airmail will be 10 cents while airmail cards will be eight cents, in each case a two-cent increase.

A letter can be sent to any state, U.S. territory or possession, Canada, or to an American serviceman stationed anywhere in the world for these rates according to Donaldson.

The new rate of six cents per ounce for first-class mail applies up to 13 ounces and the rate of 10 cents per ounce for airmail applies up to seven ounces.

All first-class mail over 13 ounces and all airmail over seven ounces will be merged into a single category and charged a flat rate of 80 cents up to one pound.

These heavier pieces, subject to the single rate schedule, will be delivered by the fastest available means of transportation.

All matter weighing more than one pound will be subject to the present air parcel post rates.

As of Jan. 7, postage rates on parcels weighing between one and five pounds will change at half-pound intervals rather than at one pound intervals as in the current rate schedule. This will result in a reduction of postage on some parcels, according to the postmaster.

Rates for mailing newspapers and magazines are going up 24 per cent and third-class mail, such as advertising circulars and "occupant" mail, are being boosted 34 per cent.

GREETING CARDS

Another rate change involving the mailing of unsealed greeting cards is the increase from four to six cents for the first two ounces of individual pieces of third-class mail.

Also effective January 7 will be special handling on third-class parcels weighing between eight and 16 ounces.

There will be no changes in the rates for special delivery, special handling, registered mail, certified mail, cash on

70 Marines Die as Fight Extends Past Truce Start

SAIGON (AP)—Bitter marshland fighting that has killed 70 U.S. Marines and wounded 128 were on past the start of the Vietcong's unilateral New Year's truce today. South Vietnam announced it would extend to 36 hours the day-long cease-fire the allies plan to begin tomorrow.

The Saigon government said the extension was being made in line with Pope Paul's appeal that Jan. 1 be observed as a "day of peace" throughout the world, but informed sources indicated it was also in response to a request from Washington.

The Marine casualties were announced today in delayed U.S. Command reports that told of grim new battles in South Vietnam's three northernmost provinces and massive air strikes to relieve the hardpressed Leathernecks.

The war also continued unabated in the air over North Vietnam. The U.S. Command announced that Red ground gunners shot down a Navy Phantom jet east of Haiphong yesterday, but both crewmen bailed out over the Tonkin Gulf and were rescued.

★ ★ ★

The focus of the ground war was along the South China Sea coast below the demilitarized zone, where heavy clashes have flared and subsided since last Wednesday.

Some battle reports from the field were being held up at U.S. headquarters on the request of local commanders whose units were still sparring with the enemy after the announced start of the Communists' truce period at 1 p.m. Saturday, local time.

The heaviest casualties came in a savage battle which raged Wednesday and Thursday and ended with the Marines storming the fortified village of Thon Tham Kee 410 miles north of Saigon.

The fighting with regulars of the 716th North Vietnamese Army regiment broke out when a landing group of about 1,000 Marines ran into about 300 of the North Vietnamese on the border of Thua Thien and Quang Nam provinces and were pinned down.

When the battle smoke subsided yesterday there were 27 enemy known killed against the Marine's 48 dead and 81 wounded.

EQUALLY LETHAL

An almost equally lethal series of battles was raging Thursday near Hoi An southwest of Da Nang. A coordinated sweep by Marines, infantrymen of the First Cavalry Division and South Vietnamese — a force of several thousand men — ran into heavy Communist resistance.

Light Snow Seen for Arrival of 1968

All of Michigan is expected to be covered with a thin blanket of light snow when the New Year arrives at midnight tomorrow.

Here is the official day-by-day forecast for the Pontiac area issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau:

TODAY — Cloudy with occasional light snow or snow flurries likely today. High 25 to 30. Mostly cloudy and colder tonight. Low 10 to 16.

Winds southwesterly 12 to 25 miles per hour becoming west to northwest late today and tonight.

TOMORROW — Mostly cloudy and colder with occasional snow flurries likely.

MONDAY — Very cold with a chance of snow flurries.

★ ★ ★

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: today 40, tonight 50, tomorrow 60.

The low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 16 degrees. The mercury recorded 27 at 2 p.m.

VC Emissary's Arrest Led to 8 More–Thieu

SAIGON (AP)—President Nguyen Van Thieu said today the arrest of a Vietcong emissary who said he was on his way to contact the U.S. Embassy about exchange of prisoners had resulted in the arrest of eight more persons.

But Thieu also said the emissary was not high-ranking and that he doubted the man was a legitimate representative of the Vietcong's National Liberation Front.

Waterford Man Is Killed by Car

A Waterford Township man who was walking across a road to seek help for his disabled car was killed by an oncoming auto last night in Waterford Township, police reported.

The victim was identified as Jack N. Hubbard, 22, of 556 Lockhaven.

Oakland Highway Toll in '67
118
Last Year to Date 153

Driver of the car, James R. Dill, 19, of Oak Park, told police Hubbard was on the paved portion of Highland Road near Pontiac Lake Road when he struck him.

Dill stated that he swerved into another lane in an effort to avoid striking the man, according to police.

Police said Dill, who said he was traveling at the speed limit of 50 miles per hour, was not charged with any traffic violation.

★ ★ ★

Hubbard, a clerk at the Grand Trunk Railroad, was wearing a black leather jacket and dark trousers, police said.

His car was found disabled at Pontiac Lake Road and M59, west of the accident scene.

Two Detroit men were killed and a third injured when their car went out of control on I-75 in Troy yesterday afternoon.

The victims were Carey Vann, 40, and John Cannon, 37. The third man, Willie Mann, 32, is in satisfactory condition at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Police said Vann apparently lost control of the southbound car, which skidded 100 feet, and hit the median guard rail, which went through the driver's side of the car and out the other. The car then slid 84 feet along the guard rail.

Reporter 'Flunks' Sobriety Test

(EDITOR'S NOTE — As an experiment, Pontiac Press reporter Hudson Willse Jr. recently took the breathalyzer test that is administered to drinking drivers to determine their sobriety or inebriety. Willse took the test after consuming 6.6 ounces of Scotch.)

By HUDSON WILLSE JR.

A machine about the size of a portable record player can determine a person's sobriety or inebriety by registering the amount of alcohol in his blood.

The breathalyzer, which is priced at $750, has been used extensively throughout Michigan since the state's new implied consent law became effective Nov. 2.

And apparently the breathalyzer is an accurate working instrument even though its validity probably will be challenged in the courts as it was in California where it was upheld by the state supreme court.

Based on the principle that when a driver obtains a license he consents to sobriety tests upon requests by a police officer, the implied consent law has been hailed widely in Michigan as an effective tool in dealing with the nation's deadliest traffic problem—the drinking motorist.

★ ★ ★

Under controlled circumstances, I took the breathalyzer test which was administered by Cpl. Max Waterbury of the Pontiac State Police post.

QUALIFIED OPERATOR

Waterbury is a qualified operator and instructor-inspector of the breathalyzer. He received 64 hours of instruction in a breath training program sponsored by the Michigan State Police, Michigan Police Training Council, Michigan State University and the Michigan Department of Health.

There are between 400 and 450 certified breathalyzer operators in the state, including four others at the Pontiac post in addition to Waterbury.

According to formula, a 215-pound man, like myself, on the average should test 0.10 per cent alcohol by weight in the blood after consuming 6.6 ounces of 86 proof whisky.

As the machine was warming up, I was allowed 45 minutes to consume the

Chrysler Hikes Price

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. yesterday joined General Motors and American Motors in announcing price increases to cover the cost of front-seat shoulder harnesses, which will become mandatory equipment on new cars Monday.

Pontiac Recalls 479,470 Cars

DETROIT (AP) — Pontiac Division of General Motors Corp. announced yesterday it was recalling all regular Pontiacs produced between Sept. 8, 1964 and Oct. 13, 1965 for a possible steering defect.

A total of 479,470 letters are being sent to owners asking them to take their cars into dealers for inspection of the steering idler arm assembly, which, the firm said "in a few cases might separate and result in a pull to the right when brakes are applied."

★ ★ ★

The company said the decision to replace the parts without cost was reached after studies showed the original idler arm assembly might separate after extended mileage.

The firm says it has no idea how many of the cars actually will need replacement steering idler arm assemblies.

U.S. Is Sifting Cambodian Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. diplomatic inquiries are under way to determine whether Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia will officially back up his press statement about keeping his country free of the war in neighboring South Vietnam.

If Sihanouk's answer is yes, U.S. sources indicated a presidential envoy—perhaps Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.—could quickly head for Phnom Penh and new efforts could be mounted for international supervision of Cambodia's frontier.

It may be several days before Washington receives a definite reply. Cambodia has severed relations with the United States and communications between the two governments are forwarded through the Australian Embassy in the Cambodian capital.

Sihanouk opened the way for a potential new approach to settle the long-festering Cambodian sanctuary issue in an interview published in the Washington Post Friday.

CAN'T PREVENT

The Cambodian leader said his small military forces could not prevent limited intrusions by North Vietnamese or Vietcong troops in "outlying and uninhabited regions" of Cambodia or American combat with the Reds there. He said Cambodia would protest but would not intervene militarily if American troops entered such regions in pursuit of Communist forces.

* * *

He proposed an immediate beefing up of the three-nation International Control Commission (ICC) to improve its policing of Cambodia's borders.

And, mentioning Senate Majority Leader Mansfield by name, he said he would gladly receive a Johnson emissary to discuss reconciliation with the United States.

U.S. officials showed more immediate interest in the presidential envoy and ICC proposals than in Sihanouk's apparent acknowledgment that U.S. forces in South Vietnam could, despite his protests against all intruders, pursue the Reds across the border.

LITTLE PRESSURE

Some U.S. commanders have been anxious to strike at Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia. But Washington diplomatic sources say there is not much military pressure generally for invading the Cambodian havens at this time.

What the United States wants, they say, is a true neutrality for Cambodia rather than violation of it. The United States, they maintain, would be happy to have Cambodia removed as a problem connected with the Vietnam war.

The Johnson administration was reserved in its public reaction Friday to Sihanouk's press remarks, possibly because the prince has been known to change his tune quickly in the past, and because the United States could cause embarrassment by seeming too eager.

At the Texas White House, George Christian, presidential press secretary, said only that the Sihanouk statement "is under careful study" and is being followed up.

Lonely GIs in Viet Find Solace in Pets

By BOB HOPE

CAM RANH BAY, Vietnam — Our last show in Vietnam is scheduled out here in sand dune country, our billion dollar cat box. This is a secure area — the only place in "Veet-Land" that LBJ was allowed to visit. It's been cleared of Cong and Republicans.

In a moment we'll be rolling our show for 22,000 men of Gen. Scott's First Logistic Command. As I peek out from the wings I see a kid in the front row with a monkey on his back. No — not the Sunset Strip kind — a real money monkey.

It's a funny thing about the American GI. He can survive without women, or a place to live, or a bath, but somehow, someway he always manages to find a pet or a mascot. Maybe it provides the love he misses. The sergeants can't do it all.

I talked to Pfc. Bill Justis of Sacramento, Calif., about his monkey. The monkey isn't housebroken yet but Bill has high hopes and expects to take his pet home with him. I asked him what his folks thought about his bringing home his pet. He replied, they went ape.

I asked Sgt. Red Daniels of Sutliffe, S.C., why the guys went to such lengths to keep pets in the service.

"It's the terrible treatment they give animals over here. They eat cats and dogs. A dog is company. It gives us something to pass the time away. But I guess the big thing is that we feel sorry for the animals."

Col. Turkey Wilson, commander of the 35th Tactical Fighter Wing at Phan Rang is a gruff, tough, 13 mission fighter pilot who has a cat named Spike for a pet. Spike, because of the close contact with the boss, quickly became the pet of the base and was regarded as one of the boys. At least until she curled up in bed with the colonel one night and gave birth to four kittens.

RAGING FIRE — A fire which struck a number of businesses and caused extensive damage at 221-227 Howard McNeil was fought by Pontiac fire fighters for six hours last night. Firemen were called at 8:46 p.m. Five trucks were used. The cause is still being investigated.

Fire Damages Series of Firms

A fire which raged through a series of businesses last night on Howard McNeil is being investigated by the Pontiac Fire Department.

* * *

There is a possibility that the fire was set by arsonists, fire officials said.

Firemen were notified of the blaze about 8:46 p.m. and responded with five fire trucks.

They remained on the scene until 2 a.m.

* * *

Capt. George D. Burklow said the fire was burning unchecked when firemen arrived.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

He said the damage to the one-story masonry buildings was "extensive."

* * *

Firms affected by the fire, which burned out much of the insides of the businesses, are located at 221, 223, 225 and 227 Howard McNeil.

An electronic monitor to alert nurses to difficulties with premature infants has been devised, especially useful in spotting within seconds respiratory disorders.

Local-Level Negotiations Are Stepped Up by UAW

DETROIT (AP)—Bargaining teams for 114 United Auto Workers Union locals stepped up their negotiations with General Motors Friday in the wake of overwhelming ratification of a new three-year national contract.

The increased tempo in local bargaining was ordered by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department.

Woodcock sent a telegram to local officials, warning that any strikes, work stoppages or curtailment of production must be authorized in advance by UAW headquarters in Detroit.

Only 20 of the union's 134 bargaining units have reached local agreements with plant level management so far.

Woodcock said that locals which have not reached agreements by Jan. 9 should submit a list of unresolved items to UAW headquarters. If desired, requests for strike authorization should accompany the reports, he said.

The danger of a nationwide strike against the world's largest automaker ended with ratification Friday of a national pact paralleling agreements reached earlier at Ford and Chrysler.

Under the contract, GM's 380,000 workers will receive an average increase of $1 an hour in wages and fringe benefits over the three-year span of the agreement. Workers have been averaging $4.70 an hour.

Labor costs for the company will increase about six per cent a year with the new pact.

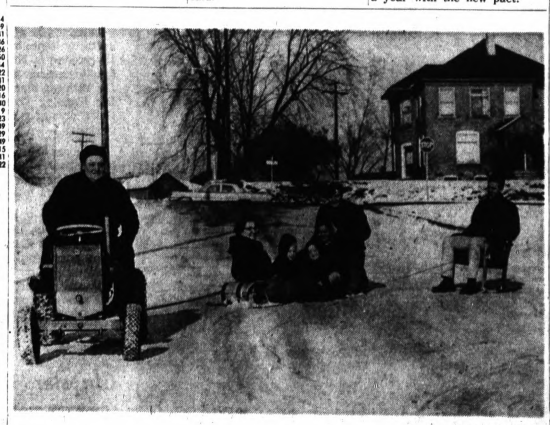

Auto Is Stolen at Gunpoint, Woman Reports

Two men who stole a car at gun-point from a young Royal Oak woman last night are being sought by police today.

Mary Ann Higgins, 21, told Pontiac police she was leaving St. Joseph's Hospital parking lot about 11:50 p.m. when a man jumped into her car brandishing a gun.

She said the man forced her to get out of the car and he and a companion then left with her 1967 Ford.

She described the men as being Negroes between 20 and 30. One, about six-foot and weighing about 200 pounds, had a small patch over one eye, she said.

News Briefs From Wires

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (AP) — South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do said today Saigon government troops will exercise their "right of hot pursuit" of Communist forces into Cambodia and Laos.

South Vietnam will ignore any objections by Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, because "we cannot tolerate that the Communists establish bases on our borders for attacking Vietnamese and allied troops from an untouchable sanctuary."

Vote Rigging Charged

CROWN POINT, Ind. (AP) — A Democratic precinct committeewoman, Mrs. Marion Tokarski, is free on $15,000 bond after being charged with voting irregularities in the recent Gary Mayoral election. She was indicted yesterday on five counts of conspiring to violate the Indiana voter registration.

Military Leaves Off

NICOSIA (UPI) — Turkey today was reported to have canceled all military leaves in the wake of the formation of a Turkish community of Cyprus.

Greek Cypriot President Makarios yesterday denounced such a council as unconstitutional.

Viet Solution Probed

SINGAPORE (AP) — Republican presidential candidate George Romney said today he is exploring the possibility of neutralizing the former French Indochina states as a way to end the Vietnam war.

Romney told newsmen after a one-hour meeting with Singapore Foreign Minister Sinnathamby Rajaratnam that the concept involved the removal of Laos, Cambodia and North and South Vietnam "from the conflict of the cold war."

NY Broker Is Charged

NEW YORK (AP)— A 69-year-old real estate broker has been charged with selling a portion of $500,000 in securities allegedly stolen by two young women who were found slain in Hollywood, Fla., three weeks ago.

A federal grand jury, in a two-count indictment yesterday charged that Spiro Williams Halikas of Manhattan sold more than $54,000 worth of the securities stolen Nov. 16 from a Los Angeles brokerage house.

Mail Rate Hike Coming Jan. 7

delivery or postal insurance, Donaldson said.

STAMP SUPPLY

"We have an ample supply of one-cent stamps on hand" for those people who have lots of five-cent stamps in their possession now" he added.

Higher rates also go into effect Jan. 7 for all categories of mail, controlled circulation mail and the educational materials category of fourth-class mail.

Mailers using these classes should contact the post office for information on the new rates.

Other nonrate provisions of the new law, to become effective Jan. 7, give the individual mail patron receiving any advertising matter which he deems "erotically arousing or sexually provocative" the right to ask the postmaster general to prohibit further mailings to him. The postmaster general must notify the mailer not to make any further mailings to that patron.

SOLICITATIONS

Deceptive solicitations for goods or services which could be construed to be bills or invoices are declared nonmailable unless they carry a conspicuous warning that it is a solicitation and not a bill or invoice under the new law.

The law also requires that all bills and statements of account be classified as first-class mail, except bills enclosed with parcels as long as the bill pertains solely to the contents of the package.

AIRLIFT PARCELS

Authorization of the airlift of parcels up to 30 pounds going to and from armed forces post offices and the expansion of the airlift of news publications to servicemen overseas are also included in the law.

CRC Urges Review of Teen's Death

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission yesterday recommended "a thorough review of the facts surrounding the death of Jimmie King."

King, 17, was killed two weeks ago by Pontiac police officers after being spotted driving a stolen car.

Officers said they chased the car at high speeds before King abandoned it and tried to elude police on foot.

Two members of the CRC met during the past week with Police Chief William K. Hanger and Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

* * *

The commission, although noting that Pontiac has a procedure for a police trial board in cases where police actions are questioned, urged that a corner's inquest into the shooting should be held.

MILLIKEN REVIEW

In addition, the commission made a request that Lt. Gov. William Milliken, acting in Gov. Romney's absence, review procedures for police apprehension of criminals.

The commissioners requested that Milliken "designate a representative and appropriate governmental body to consider appropriate procedures" for apprehending persons "suspected of committing nonviolent crimes."

* * *

In a statement, the commission also said it plans a public inquiry as soon as possible into the status of race relations in Pontiac and several other Michigan cities.

Jan. 1 Fare at Hospitals, Jail Is Ham

Most hospital patients and jail inmates in Pontiac will have special New Year's Day feasts placed on their dinner tables Monday.

Pontiac State Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and the Oakland County Jail will serve baked ham as the main entree.

Dieticians at Pontiac General Hospital plan a regular menu. The featured dish will be a choice of Swedish meat balls or breaded pork chops.

To be served with the ham to about 2,300 patients at Pontiac State Hospital will be candied sweet potatoes, asparagus and ice cream.

* * *

About 300 patients at St. Joseph's will be served fruit-glazed baked ham, candied southern yams, peas, a salad and chocolate eclair.

The county jail will serve a vegetable, potatoes and cake or jello along with ham.

3 Drug Firms Found Guilty

Face $150,000 Fines for Antitrust Violation

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major drug firms have been found guilty of antitrust violations in the manufacture and distribution of $1.7 billion worth of antibiotics.

The conspiracy case against the American Cyanimid Co., Bristol Myers Co. and Charles Pfizer and Co. marked a significant confrontation between the U.S. government and the multibillion-dollar U.S. pharmaceutical industry.

* * *

A U.S. District Court jury of 11 men and a woman found the three firms guilty of restraint of trade, conspiracy to monopolize and actual monoply. The panel returned the verdict Friday night after beginning deliberations Thursday.

* * *

Maximum penalties on the charges are fines of $150,000 against each defendant. The convictions also open the way for civil suits from major purchasers. The Sherman Antitrust Act provides for treble damages against violators.

GROWING INVOLVEMENT

The trial occurred as growing federal involvement in the health field through Medicare and other programs has generated increased concern over the cost and quality of that care.

* * *

The drug industry has been undergoing increasing scrutiny by the federal government. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., has been conducting a wide-ranging probe of drug prices.

* * *

Clifford D. Siverd, president of American Cyanimid, expressed surprise and disappointment in the verdict and said the firm would "take all possible steps in the federal courts to have this adverse decision set aside."

* * *

A Pfizer spokesman commented, "We disagree with and are deeply disappointed by the verdict of the jury. There are still questions to be ruled upon by the trial court and we shall therefore not comment at this time beyond saying the charges against us in this case are unfounded."

'ARRANGEMENTS'

The trial opened Oct. 23. The three firms were accused of entering into arrangements during the period from 1953 to 1961 to produce and distribute broad spectrum antibiatics in violation of the Sherman law.

During the trial the government prosecutor said Pfizer and Cyanimid realized "enormous" profits on the antiblotic called tetracycline.

Illegitimate Births Tripled Since 1940

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. birth rate of illegitimate children has more than tripled since 1940, a new study shows.

But the rate has slowed down to a slight annual rise since 1957, Stephanie J. Ventura, a statistician for the National Center for Health Statistics, said today.

★ ★ ★

Since 1960, the illegitimacy rate among nonwhite women has declined slightly, while that among white women rose sharply, she added.

Mrs. Ventura summarized findings from a recent study on illegitimate births by the national center to closing sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Not all illegitimate births are fully reported, but estimates taking this and other factors into consideration, she said, indicate:

- The number of illegitimate births rose from 89,500 in 1940 to 291,000 in 1965.
- The number or rate of births per 1,000 unmarried American women, aged 15 to 44, also about tripled, from 7.1 per 1,000 women to 23.5 in those same years.
- The rate per 1,000 women rose rapidly between 1940 and 1957, about 6 per cent higher each year. This was at a time when the total number of American women who were unmarried, and so "at risk" of having an illegitimate child, had declined.
- Between 1957 and 1965, the illegitimacy rate rose only about one per cent a year. This occurred when the total number of unmarried women was rising again due to high national birth rates during the 1940s. More girls were reaching child-bearing age of 15 or more, Mrs. Ventura pointed out.

In 1940, she said, the illegitimacy rate for nonwhite women was 35.6 per 1,000, or about 10 times greater than the rate for white women.

By 1965, this ratio had declined to about 8 to 1 or perhaps less, and "actually since 1960, the illegitimacy rate for nonwhite women has declined slightly (one per cent between 1960 and 1965, while the rate for white women increased 26 per cent in these five years."

From a health standpoint, Mrs. Ventura said, the numbers of illegitimate babies each year carry an impact "on services provided for the newborn. . .the health of these infants is more precarious and their need for social services greater."

STACIA BURNS

Teen of Week Is in Whirl of Activities

This week's Pontiac Teen of the Week says she believes in being active and can prove it.

Take a look at the activities of Stacia Burns, a Pontiac Central High School Senior:

She governs her graduating class, plays a band instrument, sings, cheers, dances to modern jazz and ballet and she adds, plays "a little piano on the side."

"I feel you get what you put into anything, and if more students participate in school and community activities, life would be that much more fun," Stacia says.

★ ★ ★

Planning a career in music, she has already received a scholarship from the Mid-Western Music Academy.

CHOREOGRAPHER

In the spring, she'll be the choreographer of Central's spring play.

★ ★ ★

Right now, Stacia is senior class vice president. Her memberships include band, a cappella choir, senior girls ensemble, varsity cheerleaders and Junior Negro Business and Professional Women's Club of Pontiac.

Stacia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, 112 Stout.

2 More to Vie for Senate Seat

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Two more candidates have come forward for the Republican nomination for the State Senate seat left vacant by the recent death of Harold J. Volkema, R-Holland.

They are Ivan Stein, 50, a fruit farmer from South Haven, and Keith Van Koevering, 31, a printing firm employe from Zeeland. Stein announced his candidacy Friday; Van Koevering, Thursday.

State Rep. Melvin DeStiger, R-Hudsonville, also plans to seek the seat, which represents the 23rd District, consisting of Ottawa, Allegan, Van Buren and part of Barry counties.

A special primary election will be held Jan. 23.

Taxes Keep the Buses Running

One of the most serious consequences for the local citizenry of the City's failure to obtain adequate tax revenue to run the municipality would be the discontinuance of public transportation.

For many years, the local bus lines have operated only by virtue of a $35,000-a-year subsidy by the City, after different transportation companies had found the operation to be a losing venture.

★ ★ ★

The woes of urban transportation here as elsewhere seem analogous to a dog chasing its tail. To meet the steady decline in patronage and rise in operating costs, fares are raised. The usual effect is a further decline in the number of riders, leaving the bus company no better off than it was before.

Although Pontiac is private auto-oriented to an unusual extent, the fact remains that a sizable segment of its population is dependent on bus transportation. And until some genius comes up with a revolutionary and economical concept of public transportation, the only means by which such service can be supplied is by subsidy.

★ ★ ★

And to provide the subsidy, the City must have more revenue. And to provide more revenue, new taxes must be imposed or old ones raised.

Such is one aspect of the critical fiscal situation in which Pontiac finds itself.

Time, Events Smother Fire of Castro Revolution

The western hemisphere is still sorting out its thoughts about the CASTRO revolution nine years after the event. Since FIDEL CASTRO's guerrillas seized Havana on New Year's Day 1959 and ousted the BATISTA dictatorship, he has been the object of hope and hate.

In the United States, the passage of time has allowed a more detached view of the island leader than could be summoned when he was issuing daily insults and allowing Russian missiles on Cuban soil. The American mind has long replaced Cuba with Vietnam as the most exasperating of its foreign concerns.

★ ★ ★

But Castro's continued attempts to export his revolution to other Latin countries haven't permitted passions to cool there. Latin governments have overcome their ingrained distaste for Washington's hemispheric dealings to ask for joint measures against Cuba. The Organization of American States has taken virtually every form of action against Castro short of war.

★ ★ ★

With Russia long since disillusioned with CASTRO and the drain on its rubles to keep the Western outpost of communism afloat, portents are that the years ahead hold multiplying frustrations for the Bearded Bandit.

Wood Utility Poles Seen Toppled by Progress

It has been said before and it will be said again: One man's progress is another man's problem.

Take the progress being made in the deuglification of the United States.

According to a survey of 2,021 electrical utilities across the Nation by the President's Citizens' Advisory Committee on Recreation and Natural Beauty, most companies forecast the exclusive use of underground wiring for all new developments in central business districts by 1970. By 1975, all new distribution lines in urban, suburban and commercial areas will be underground.

★ ★ ★

Most people will not view this as a problem, aside from the cost involved, but the American Wood Preservers Institute does. Striking back, the institute maintains that wood utility poles are "a key national asset."

So they are. The more than 100 million wood utility poles now in use in the United States deliver 90 per cent of the Nation's electricity to its homes, farms and industries. They represent a total investment of more than $26.6 billion.

"The growing national interest in outdoor beautification is a most welcome development to the wood utility pole industry," says the institute, adding that more than a million dollars is being invested in developing new designs of poles which reflect modern aesthetic tastes.

★ ★ ★

There will undoubtedly always be a major place for utility poles in the Nation's electrical power system. So the prettier they are, the better. But as for being a key national asset, so was the Country's fleet of wooden sailing vessels at one time.

Times change.

We Extend India a Generous Hand

By EVERETT M. DIRKSEN

India is 10,000 miles away with 600 million people. What has she ever done for us? Exactly nothing, although we have provided India with about $5 billion in economic aid, exclusive of military assistance.

Don't you wonder, then, why we bleed the taxpayers of the United States to give aid to India? Just what can India do to us, just what can she do for us, to justify the sacrifices that Americans have been making for India?

On a purely cold, material basis, a rather good case can be made against any aid whatsoever for India.

Surely, no one will contend that India has been particularly cooperative in the United Nations when our views were concerned.

★ ★ ★

India's unprovoked attack upon the Portuguese colony of Goa did not help the cause of peace and international good will.

India's use of American weapons against the neighboring country of Pakistan has been helpful neither to us, to the world, nor to our own friendly relations with Pakistan.

Then there is the experience of American entrepreneurs in India, moved as they were by a desire to be helpful in the solution of the massive problems that confronted India.

★ ★ ★

They found that she was quite willing to accept their assistance and the investment of their capital funds for establishing industries — provided India could exercise control through ownership of 51 per cent of the stock in the new industrial ventures.

It is difficult to imagine that very many American investors were happy about such a disposition of the money they freely invested in India.

Perhaps we had better accept the plain fact that India is liberal, that she is leftish and somewhat indifferent, and start from there.

★ ★ ★

There must be reasons for what we do in regard to India.

India has great potential value in this turbulent world. Standing by herself, she is a vast subcontinent appended to the lower rim of Asia, 22 times larger than the State of Illinois.

The development of India's resources, the hydro-electric power potential of her rivers, and the expansion of industry and agriculture would make of her a first rate power.

The world could not ignore the views and policies of a country with more than half a billion people if she were to conquer her problems of plague and industrial deficit, and rescue her people from the famine and starvation brought on by recurring drouth.

A quote from the Prophet Isaiah makes a point to think about: "When man is hungry he shall fret himself and curse his God and his king and look upward."

You can imagine that it would not be too difficult in unhappy circumstances of struggle and poverty and famine for an outside power to organize and direct the foreign policies of such a country and so make her immensely helpful — or immensely dangerous — to the peace, order and stability of the whole world.

Only people and their welfare are important in this world. The well-being of people still touches the heart of America.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The Rev. Homer Gail Crisman has advice on how to become an expert on South America. He says, "Stay 70 years." For the 92-year-old minister himself has spent 70 years in Ecuador and Colombia for the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

In 1897, Mr. Crisman arrived in Ecuador as one of the first Alliance missionaries to that country after its citizens had been given freedom of religion. But even though the missionaries were accepted by the government there was much opposition and at times even physical threat. In those days, Mr. Crisman traveled constantly for hundreds of miles either on foot or by horseback, visiting remote villages, setting up churches and schools and working with the Indians.

Mr. Crisman no longer makes the long hard trips but is still active in aiding the Spanish literature ministry and the book store and the Bible distribution operated by the Alliance mission there. Mr. Crisman says: ". . . After 70 years of serving Him in South America, I only wish I had another life to lay at His feet."

Confident Living:

New Year Can Be a Better Year

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Do you know you have a date, a date with sixty-eight?

One New Year's eve some years ago a young business man said glumly, "I've done a lousy job with my forty years, and I'm not kidding myself that it's going to be any happy new year."

DR. PEALE

for me. It will just be more of the same old same."

We were in my office and I suggested, "Wonder if we can figure out a formula that can make the new year better for you." Skeptically he agreed to try and we put together a five point formula which appealed to both of us.

★ ★ ★

He went to work with it. He had plenty of ups and downs, but he kept at it and the downs went down and the ups went up.

Over the succeeding years I've watched this man's amazing development. Perhaps it can put a new dimension into your experience, too.

No doubt every one says good-bye to 1967 with mingled feelings. It's had its mixture of joy and sorrow, success and failure; and let's face it, so will 1968.

★ ★ ★

But there is always one great big robust hope that a new year can be a lot better than the old one; more joy, less sorrow, more success, less failure.

Is there a practical method that can help make 1968 better than any predecessor year? Is it possible to lay out a procedure that will really work in making the coming year an epochal period for you?

I believe there is a yes answer to those questions. So here is a formula to make your date with sixty-eight a terrific experience. Work this formula and you can have a real good year, maybe the best of your life.

★ ★ ★

First, see the year good. Hold a mental image of 366 real good and exciting days. Tremendous creative power lies in the positive image provided it is held tenaciously in consciousness. There is a deep tendency in human nature to become precisely as you imagine yourself to be.

One man who has done a fabulous job says, "I pass expectancy thoughts through my mind every morning." Do that about the year 1968. Expectations, good or bad, come to pass; so be sure to make them good.

Second, realize that no matter how you may have messed things up in 1967 and in past years you definitely do not need to keep on doing so. You can always start over and recover yourself and do a lot better for yourself.

★ ★ ★

The psychiatrist, Dr. Smiley Blanton said, "There are vast undamaged areas in every human being." So, in 1968 the smart thing is to get those undamaged areas activated.

Third, try taking 1968 a day at a time. Maybe one reason the year is divided into 366 parts is that we can only handle that much at a time.

So the idea is to do the best you can with Jan. 1, then move on to Jan. 2 and do a good job with each day, one by one, checking them off as you go.

★ ★ ★

I remember reading an article by the grandson of the late Gov. Wilbur Cross of Connecticut. He said the Governor started every day by saying to his family, "Beautiful day for it." He didn't expand his remark but it left the grandson with the impression that every day had an exciting potential.

And that's a fact, it does. Emerson said, "Write it on your heart that every day is the best day of the year." So take 1968 day by day and fill every one of them with real meaning. When finally those days are added up, what a year!

Fourth, make a careful and objective analysis of your failure patterns and then start breaking them. There isn't much chance of having a different kind of year unless you become different yourself.

★ ★ ★

Erroneous ways of thinking, wrong attitudes, defective methods tend to fasten themselves upon personality. A strict self-reexamination is in order and this must be followed by vigorous revamping of thought habits and work procedures.

Don't project wrong ways of thinking, doing and feeling into the new year for it can only mean the same old wrong result.

Fifth, start and finish every day with a prayer. A successful salesman says he prays this prayer every morning: "Thanks, Lord for the eventful day you are going to give me."

If you happen to think you can get through any day without God's help you are pretty self-sufficient. Most of us need all the guidance and strength we can get. So pray your way day by day and you'll have a great date with sixty-eight.

Voice of the People:

'Residents Are Disturbed by Supersonic Airplanes'

A few years ago the Air Force conducted mock bombing runs over Bayshore, a spot on Lake Michigan between Charlevoix and Petoskey. Residents of the area were disturbed by the terrific booms created by the supersonic aircraft. Homes and businesses suffered broken windows. Despite the annoyance and damage occasioned by the booms, most folks considered them a necessary evil that could be endured for a relatively short period in the interest of national defense.

★ ★ ★

Now something really ominous is coming our way—the supersonic transport plane. Just one of these vehicles on a single trip across the U.S. could expose 20 million people to the annoyance and property damage produced by its sonic boom. The SST boom would be significantly greater than that from a B-52.

★ ★ ★

Overland flights by commercial supersonic aircraft should be banned by the Federal government. I don't believe that a couple hundred selfish people rushing madly from one side of the continent to the other should be allowed to disrupt the sleep, damage the property and generally disturb 20 million earthbound inhabitants.

'Appreciated Editorial on Law Enforcement'

As a concerned mother of a Pontiac police officer, I appreciated your editorial regarding police enforcement tactics. When total disrespect for law is condoned, all police officers should be suspended and the lawless allowed to take over and make their own laws.

★ ★ ★

People who cry for justice when someone is killed over a "minor" offense always tend to isolate the crime. Any thief, rapist, assaulter or murderer puts his own life on the line when he commits these acts and if he has that little regard for his life, he has much less for yours. Keep the law and keep your life. The police officer who says "halt or I'll shoot" and doesn't mean it should be suspended.

Letters Give Views on Upkeep of Our Streets

Tuesday's edition of The Press stated that the City Commission will discuss the possibility of a $6 million project to rechannel the course of the Pontiac Creek. The same edition states that snowplowing, grading, chloriding and general upkeep of this City's streets will be cut by 90 per cent. Mr. Neipling, Director of Public Works and Service, admitted that going to the grocery store or getting to work would not be considered justification for diverting equipment. If Pontiac can come up with $6 million to relocate a creek, why can't they find the $429,000 that is needed to keep our streets passable?

TERRY A. UPCOTT
667 INGLEWOOD

The December 26 edition of The Press quoted Joseph E. Neipling, Pontiac Director of Public Works, that due to the City's financial problems and lack of new tax monies street cleaning, snow removal and street repairing will be curtailed or cut back. The downtown area is usually cleared of snow but the side streets are rarely cleared. Last year on Henderson they dug a ditch across the entire street and left it that way through the worst snowstorms. Mr. Neipling and the City Commission need to find out what's going on and where all the money is going.

Question and Answer

When or why did it become a policy not to supply itemized statements of hospital bills? After my husband was released, I was told one would be sent in a week or ten days. None came, so I called and was told it wasn't hospital policy to give out such.

M. J. JOHNSON
HIGHLAND

REPLY

You didn't say which hospital is involved. However, after checking with St. Joseph, General and Osteopathic hospitals, we feel it was a mistake. All three hospital credit offices told us they issue itemized statements — Pontiac General automatically, all three upon request. The only exception was with Pontiac General in cases of workmen's compensation when the employer pays the bill. In that case the patient gets an itemized statement only if the employer releases it. We suggest you call again, and you will almost certainly be sent the statement you request. Let us know if you don't.

Film Star's Marriage 'Quite Invalid'

David Hemmings, star of the film "Blow-Up," said last night in London that he and American starlet Gayle Hunnicut never were legally married.

The British actor said he and Miss Hunnicut went through what he described as "a form of marriage ceremony" in Sorrento, Italy, last September.

Miss Hunnicut was reported to have left London to stay with friends in Paris. British newspapers quoted her: "The ceremony was emotional and impetuous and, we realized later, quite invalid."

Both she and Hemmings are 25 years old.

Vacationing Envoy Trapped by Snowfall

U.S. Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke was among a number of winter vacationists rescued after some 80 cars and several buses were trapped by a heavy snowfall near Lerida, Spain.

DUKE

The vacationers were on their way Thursday to the ski trails of the Aran Valley in the Pyrenees.

One bus was half submerged in snow when rescuers arrived.

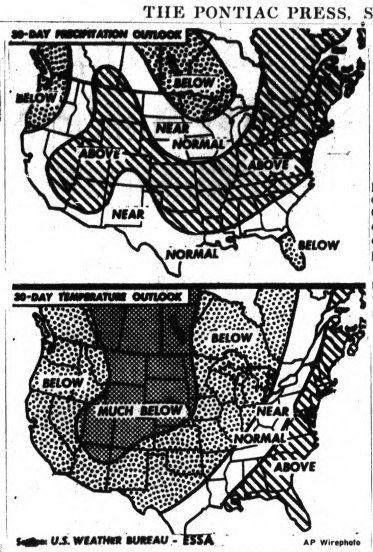

Biddle's car was stalled between the Viella Tunnel and the village of Vilaller. He left his car and returned to Vilaller in a truck. Hours later, when snowplows cleared the road, the ambassador proceeded to the Aran Valley.

Era of Secret CIA Financing Officially Ends Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President, covert CIA funding of postwar era of secret financing of private organizations by the Central Intelligence Agency ends officially at midnight Sunday. What will follow is still a problem for the new year.

The State Department announced Friday that, in line with the recommendation of a special panel named by the President, covert CIA funding of overseas activities of some private educational and voluntary groups "will in every instance be discontinued prior to Dec. 31, 1967."

"At the time of termination of support," the State Department announcement added, "some of the organizations received contributions to tide them over the period required to develop new sources of funds."

As in the past, press officer Robert J. McCloskey refused to name the organizations getting Central Intelligence Agency help. He has said only a "very small" number among more than 1,000 private groups engaged in overseas activities received CIA aid.

To disclose their names "would not be in the national interest and might jeopardize their chances of developing new means of support," he said.

President Johnson named the panel and picked Undersecretary Nicholas Katzenbach to head it last February amid the row over disclosures of long-time CIA assistance to some student and other nongovernment organizations engaged in overseas activities the government deemed useful.

CIA chief Richard Helms and John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, were the other members of the Katzenbach committee which now formally goes out of existence.

The problem of future funding for the private organizations has been handed to the larger committee under Secretary of State Dean Rusk. This group of prominent persons in and out of government has been meeting for months without arriving at a conclusion.

The Rusk group is slated to convene again in January. Proposals before it range from stopgap congressional appropriations to the creation of a public-private corporation to hand out grants.

JCs Honor Suspected N.J. Perjurer

WAYNE, N. J. — The Wayne Jaycees today announced the selection of Jerry Fuchs, 32, as its outstanding man of the year.

Fuchs is under indictment for false swearing to a Passaic County Grand Jury in the investigation of the murder in 1966 of Judith Kavanaugh.

He is free in $5,000 bail.

Fuchs is a vice president and general manager of Matzner Publications. The firm is headed by Harold Matzner, 30, who is one of three indicted for the murder and is in jail awaiting trial.

Fuchs was indicted on the false swearing charge last July after he allegedly told the grand jury that he and Matzner were aboard a plane for Chicago the night of the killing.

The award makes Fuchs eligible for election as one of the five outstanding young men in New Jersey.

Fuchs will be honored at a dinner on Jan. 6. He is vice president of the Jaycees.

State Income Tax Yield Is Higher Than Expected

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's new personal income tax yielded a reported 10 per cent more than expected during November, raising hopes that the state's intake for the year will net more than the $174 million originally forecast.

"We won't know for sure until April," said State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock.

* * *

Lock said the 2.6 per cent personal levy brought the state $24.55 million in gross receipts during November, about $2.5 million more than had been anticipated.

* * *

"On the other hand," he said, "we don't know how much we're going to have to refund (to taxpayers) because of overwithholding."

REFUND INDICATED

The federal government's experience with its income tax, Lock said, indicates the state may have to refund about 11 per cent—or $2.6 million—of the November collection.

* * *

The month's sales tax collection of $52.8 million was considerably lower than had been estimated. It represented a 3.1 per cent increase from the same month last year, while a 7 per cent increase had been forecast.

Lock said lower car sales accounted for most of the difference.

State use tax collections were $6.03 million in November, compared with $5.78 in November, 1966.

A Close Friend Wouldn't Feel This Was Bid

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: We are having a dinner and reception for my daughter's marriage. A close friend, whom I especially wanted to invite and who had actually planned to bake for our reception, will be out of town for the wedding.

Would it be proper to send them an invitation, knowing they will not be here? I don't want it to appear as a "request for a gift."—Mrs. Howard

Dear Mrs. Howard: Sending such a close friend an invitation could scarcely be construed as requesting a gift. She will surely want to send one anyway, and I'm sure she would be extremely hurt if she did not receive your invitation.

NAPKINS

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been a waitress for years, and have been considered very efficient and correct. Just recently I was told by a maitre d'hotel that it is very undignified for a waitress to lay the napkin across a gentleman's lap, in that it is slightly suggestive. (He said it is all right for a waitress to lay the napkin across a lady's lap.) When customers fail to put the napkin in their laps themselves, I always extend this little extra service to both men and women. Have I been committing an error all these years? If so, it it also incorrect for a waiter to lay the napkin across a lady's lap?—Ruth

* * *

Dear Ruth: That maitre d'hotel has a peculiar mind. However, most properly, diners do this themselves. When a customer has forgotten to put his napkin in his lap, the waitress must, of course, remind him by saying "Your napkin, sir" before putting the plate down, or by handing the napkin to him to place in his own lap.

Luncheon-Shower and Dec. 31 Galas in News

Erma J. Livingstone Speaks Vows with Thomas J. Tracy

John P. Livingstone II escorted his sister, Erma Jean, down the aisle of St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church for her wedding this morning. She spoke vows in a concelebrated mass with Thomas Joseph Tracy, son of the Emmet E. Tracys of Grosse Pointe.

* * *

The bride chose the Tracy family wedding gown of heavy textured silk, fashioned with a Watteau train that was finished with a fan shaped flounce. Her veil was of heirloom rosepoint lace. The bridal bouquet was composed of Stephanotis and Eucharist lilies.

* * *

Ann Livingstone was her sister's maid of honor. They are the daughters of Mrs. John P. Livingstone of Bloomfield Hills and the late Mr. Livingstone.

* * *

Bridesmaids were Jane Leader, Mrs. Conrad Clippert, Mrs. Michael Kell of Ann Arbor, Mrs. David Summers of Grosse Pointe and Mrs. James Farley of Montreal.

* * *

Emmet E. Tracy Jr. stood as best man.

* * *

Ushers were Richard Schoenherr, David Summers, Gari Stroh, Frederick Ollison III, Howard O'Leary of Grosse Pointe, Conrad Clippert, Luis Dominquez of Long Island, N.Y., Lou Adams of Port Huron, James Figge of Davenport, Iowa and James Farley of Montreal.

* * *

Frances, Katherine and James Farley were junior attendants.

* * *

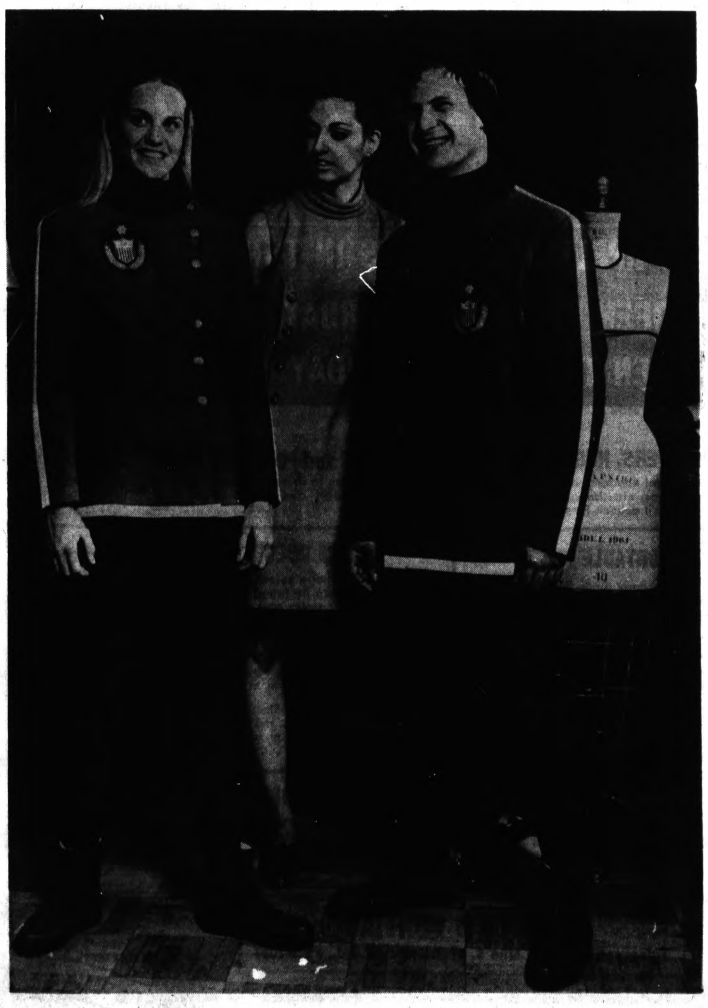

After a luncheon in Bloomfield Hills Country Club, the young couple left for a honeymoon in Mexico and California. They will live in Grosse Pointe.

Christmas in Hawaii Was Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Byrnes Jr. of Birmingham have just returned from a Christmas trip to Hawaii where they visited Mrs. Byrnes' sister, Maryknoll Sister Louise Ahrens at the mission on Maui.

* * *

Their trip included visits to Honolulu and San Francisco plus a tour of Disneyland, to the delight of the Byrnes' children, John, Ellen, Celeste, Gay Ann, Stephen and Alison.

Men's and women's outfits which will be worn by the U.S. Team at the opening day ceremonies in Grenoble, France in February 1968 were executed by Edelweiss in Anglo fabric of Burlington Throwing's stretch yarn. The turtle neck sweaters and head bands were made by Jantzen of Burlington yarn are color-coordinated with the pants as are the suede apres-ski boots by Bates.

Dress to Please Only Yourself--- Is Some Wifely Advice From Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I went to his mother's house for Thanksgiving. When we got there, my mother-in-law sent me home to change my dress.

ABBY

Abby, I was wearing a brand-new dress. It was a "mini." Not a real, short mini, it hit me about six inches above the knee. I wore a new pair of net hose to match my dress, and I thought I looked very sharp.

My mother-in-law said it was not "appropriate" for a married woman with two children to dress like that. I am 22 years old and am not ready to dress like an old lady yet. I am not fat, either.

My husband didn't even stick up for me. He just said, "I'll run you home so you can change." So he took me home and I put on an old-fashioned thing that came down to my knees. Now I want to know if you think a married woman should dress to please herself or her mother-in-law? ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: A married woman, if she is wise, will not knowingly dress in a manner which will provoke criticism and disapproval from her mother-in-law. Yours, however, exceeded her authority in demanding that you change.

You did the ladylike thing in deferring to her wishes, but in all other circumstances, I say — dress to please yourself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for seven months. It's the second time for both of us. I am 63 and my wife claims to 58, but we keep running into people who knew her back in Fort Dodge, Ia., and they say she's got to be 65. Anyway, my wife owns the building we live in and she's a sharp little business woman. Here is my complaint: She charges me $110 a month rent.

I pay all the utilities and it's my furniture, too. None of my friends have ever heard of a husband paying rent to his own wife. Have you? PAYING RENT

DEAR PAYING: Your wife is a "sharp little business woman," all right, and she is giving you the business. I've never heard of a husband paying rent to his wife either.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Although I'm only 14, I have gone out with boys who are much older and more mature than I am.

My problem is that I am "turned on" very easily. I have high moral standards, but as soon as a boy kisses me, my resistance melts away. At first I thought this was the only reason the guys were taking me out, but girls I've talked to say that some of the guys I went out with were really slow.

What do I do? Kids say I'm cute and I have a good figure. So far I've gone only to "second and third base." I'm afraid I can't stop myself. Is something wrong with me? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: The emotions you feel upon being kissed are normal to everyone, but new to you. You are much too young to be dating "older, more mature boys."

And furthermore, you would be wise to postpone kissing until you are older and mature enough to control the consequences.

If, at age 14, you've gone to "second and third base," you had better get out of that league or you'll be known as the "Home-Run Queen" by the time you're 16.

Few Women Seek Careers as Engineers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Too many women are ignoring a profession one women in the field calls "creative, intellectually stimulating and financially rewarding." The field — engineering.

Less than 5,000 of the nation's 1 million engineers are women, "at a time when the nation faces a shortage of engineers and technically trained personnel," says Mrs. Anna Longobardo. She is research section head for the Sperry Gyroscope Co. and spells out the future for women in engineering in a "Job Horizons Series" from the New York State Department of Commerce.

Nuclear Power to Revolutionize Food Production

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — The declining cost of nuclear-generated electric power may make it possible for the world to support 9 billion people along current U.S. standards.

So says Harrison Brown, a geochemist and professor at the California Institute of Technology. Brown, speaking at a University of Michigan conference on "Fertility and Family Planning", called the dropping cost of nuclear-generated electricity a "quiet revolution" by which new developments in agricultural methods could open up vast areas of the world for human habitation on a self-supporting basis.

Fierce and Feminine Fur

Fur hats, either real or fake, bring on the most savage competition for supremacy which the face has had in a long time. Giving the new and fashionable rival from the jungle its due, says beauty authority Max Factor, gives you the beauty ammunition you'll need for holding your own.

★ ★ ★

First, sleek your hair down to a satin smoothness. This is the best way to compete with the beauty and motion of long haired furs such as lynx, luxurious fox and wolf. Even if you are wearing short-haired mink, leopard or beaver, you'll still gain exciting contrast between your hair and the animal's fur by wearing a smooth-as-silk hairdo.

★ ★ ★

Your make-up? Be sure it's clean, beautifully defined and expertly applied. Furs frame your face, causing it to stand out in stark relief. Therefore, it must be perfectly made up. Your complexion must be flawless. Your eyes must be as bold and beautiful as a kitten's. Make them so with eye-liner, and eye shadow in nature's colors — misty blues, greens and brown. Stroke on as much mascara as your lashes will successfully hold. Apply eyebrow make-up for the natural look. Set your lips aglow with a soft iridescent lipstick.

★ ★ ★

When you select a fur hat, its color should contrast with your hair, or both will lose their identity. For instance, a redhead should choose furs of white, black, brown or beige, but never red fox. A brunette with black hair can wear almost any fur shade as long as it isn't black. Blondes can cast around for any color as long as it isn't blonde, and brunettes should avoid brown furs.

Reporter Boozes It Up for Breathalyzer Test

6.6 ounces of Scotch, which I mixed with soda.

I downed the last of my allotted drinks exactly at the 45-minute mark. But being slightly under the influence, I goofed, impulsively sipping the remaining drops of my last drink minutes later.

After the 45 minutes had elapsed, I should have stopped drinking completely to give the booze sufficient time to penetrate my system.

* * *

Nonetheless, I took the test 15 to 20 minutes after the time limit and it measured 0.12 per cent instead of the average 0.10.

'RIGHT ON MONEY'

The whisky in my mouth accounted for the difference, as I found out a few minutes later when I tested 0.10, or "right on the money" as Waterbury put it.

This placed me in the 0.10 to 0.15 per cent category, which presumes that a driver's ability is impaired.

Motorists in this range can be booked for driving under the influence of liquor, according to Sgt. Donald Calcatera of the State Police safety and traffic division in East Lansing.

It depends on the circumstances—the driver's actions and the manner in which he was driving—explained Calcatera.

"Some people on 0.10 per cent are on their knees," he said.

If a driver tests 0.15 per cent or higher, the presumption is that he is under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

If convicted of the misdemeanor, the motorist could be fined $100 or sentenced to 90 days in jail, or both. Also, his license could be suspended for 90 days or more.

A third offense of drunken driving, within a 10-year period, however, becomes a felony, punishable by up to four years in prison.

If a person tests 0.05 per cent or less alcohol by weight in the blood, he is presumed sober and one of the purposes of the law is to protect the innocent.

Generally, a heavier man can hold his liquor better than a lighter man, according to Waterbury.

A factor which can cut down the effectiveness of alcoholic beverages is food, since alcohol enters the blood through the stomach.

* * *

Food slows the absorption rate, helps keep the blood-alcohol content down and, consequently, helps keep the driver sober.

Eighty-six proof whisky is 43 per cent alcohol by volume, while 100 proof whisky measures 50 per cent.

Beer usually is 4.5 per cent alcohol by volume. Most wines are between 12 and 16 per cent.

Of the first 400 suspected drunk drivers stopped and asked to take a chemical test (blood, breath, urine or saliva) at State Police posts, 353 volunteered for the breathalyzer, according to Calcatera.

* * *

Of these, only two proved sober, 303 tested over the 0.15 level, 40 were between 0.10 and 0.15 and eight measured between 0.05 and 0.10.

42 REFUSED

Five other motorists requested the urine test and 42 refused to take any test.

If a motorist refuses to submit to a chemical test, his license can be suspended or revoked from 90 days to two years unless he can satisfy the License Appeal Board that the arresting officer was without grounds to ask him to take the exam.

In most areas of the state, the only test offered is the breathalyzer.

* * *

According to the Traffic Safety Association of Detroit, numerous studies have proven that drinking drivers are involved in 60 to 75 per cent of fatal traffic accidents.

This is the chief reason the implied consent law was passed.

Calcatera said that seven of the drivers involved in the 18 fatal accidents which killed 21 persons in Michigan over the Christmas weekend definitely had been drinking.

It was not stated whether five other motorists involved in the fatal mishaps had been drinking.

One thing for drivers to keep in mind over the New Year's weekend is that if a policeman spots someone driving erratically, traveling on the wrong side of the road or going either too fast or far slower than other traffic, it is almost a certainty that motorist will be stopped.

But far more important is that a tipsy or drunk driver could cause injury or death to himself and his loved ones or to innocent persons.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expected to accept promptly Prince Norodom Sihanouk's indirect suggestion of U.S.-Cambodian talks over the issue of Cambodia as a sanctuary.

Cambodia's chief of state, describing his country as "caught between the hammer and the anvil," said he would welcome an envoy from the President to discuss the situation. Speedy dispatch of such a U.S. spokesman appeared likely.

JOHNSON

SIHANOUK

Sihanouk's statements were published today in a copyrighted Washington Post story based on his replies yesterday to questions by Post correspondent Stanley Karnow.

Sihanouk said he would not intervene militarily to stop U.S. troops from entering certain sections of Cambodia in so-called hot pursuit of North Vietnamese or Vietcong forces.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials were reported surprised and pleased with this statement, only a week after the prince spurned a U.S. bid for joint efforts to stop Vietnamese Communist use of Cambodia as a sanctuary.

U.S. WAS DENOUNCED

At that time, Sihanouk denounced the United States and all but branded it an aggressor.

Speculation was that Johnson would send Averell Harriman, U.S. ambassador-at-large, to talk with Sihanouk, who made clear he also would welcome Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield.

Sihanouk said if large Communist units are entering Cambodia "and if limited combat breaks out between American and Vietnamese forces, both illegally in Cambodia, it goes without saying that we would not intervene militarily."

★ ★ ★

Sihanouk added:

"However, if serious incursions or bombings are committed against our border regions inhabited by Cambodians . . . I declare very clearly that we would not hesitate to strike back as strongly as possible with aircraft, tanks and infantry."

SOVIET AID MENTIONED

And in the case of aggression, he said, Cambodia would demand increased military aid from Red China and the Soviet Union "in particular."

He said Cambodia would not tolerate crossing of its borders by troops from South Vietnam, which he called "our traditional expansionist enemy."

He said he had leaned the "Pentagon is considering the employment of the Saigon army for eventual incursions into our country."

U.S. officials believe Communist troops by the thousands make periodic use of Cambodia as a sanctuary.

LBJ ADVISERS SPLIT

Presidnet Johnson's advisers are reported split on whether the United States should use "hot pursuit" and search-and-destroy tactics against enemy hideouts beyond South Vietnamese borders.

Some State Department and other civilian officials believe the cost would be too high in terms of worldwide political reaction, but military men say the problem will have to be met.

City Locals Okay UAW-GM Pact

A proposed three-year contract between the UAW international union and General Motors Corp. has been ratified by the membership of Local 653 at Pontiac Motor Division, Wayne Anable, president of the local, said today.

Anable said 72 per cent of the skilled workers voted to accept the agreement and 92 per cent of production and nonproduction employes favored the proposed pact.

Related Story, Page A-2

Members of GMC Truck and Coach Division Local 594 and Fisher Body Division Local 596 previously ratified the proposed contract, which would become effective Monday.

Joe Arthur, president of Local 594, said 89 per cent of the production workers at GMC Truck and Coach ratified the agreement, while 75 per cent of the skilled trades employes voted for the contract.

★ ★ ★

Local 596 members approved the contract last week, skilled trades employes ratifying the national and local agreements by 94 per cent and production and nonproduction workers favoring the national agreement by 94 per cent and the local pact by 71 per cent.

RETROACTIVE PAY

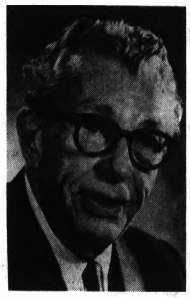

"Our members will receive retroactive pay from Oct. 16, thanks to the Ford workers who walked the streets for eight weeks to gain the economic package," said Anable.

"The new national agreement provides many gains for our members during the next three years," he added.

"We sincerely hope that our local agreement can be reached without hardships being created on our membership.

"This is possible when local management decides that we are serious about our local demands," Anable concluded.

Radio Personality Will Be Featured at Realtors Banquet

Dr. Thomas Stephens Haggai will be the main speaker at the Pontiac Board of Realtors' 47th annual banquet. The event will be at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 10 at the Elks Lodge, 114 Orchard Lake.

Dr. Haggai is a noted speaker and radio personality. He ran his own syndicated daily program, "Values for Living." A former Baptist minister, Dr. Haggai has averaged a speech a day for the last five years.

Tickets are $6.50. For additional information and tickets contact any Pontiac realtor or Warren Newton at First Federal Savings of Oakland, 761 W. Huron.

New officers will be installed at the banquet. The current officers are Bruce J. Annett, president; Albert J. Rhodes, vice president; James Cunningham, secretary; and Kenneth Hempstead Sr., treasurer.

Rhodes will receive the realtor of the year award at the banquet. He was selected by the board.

Bridge Tragedy Report

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (UPI) — The National Transportation Safety Board was to issue a progress report today on its investigation of the Silver Bridge collapse.

It would be the first official word on the Dec. 15 tragedy in which 36 persons are known dead.

'DeGaulle Has Given Secrets to Soviets'

SEATTLE (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., says French President Charles de Gaulle has given material the United States considers secret to the Soviet Union.

Jackson, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, attacked the 77-year-old French leader in a speech to the Chamber of Commerce at Mount Vernon, Wash., and later in an interview here.

DE GAULLE

Jackson said "It's well known that the Soviet Union has been able to get access to material that certainly is classified by all of our standards."

"He is determined to break up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. I predict that he will call for the withdrawal of France from the NATO alliance in 1969," he said.

★ ★ ★

Jackson recommended that the United States not reappoint an ambassador to France and, instead, be represented in that country only by a charge d'affaires until more effective ways of dealing with De Gaulle are found.

REASSIGNED

Ambassador Charles Bohlen is being reassigned to the State Department.

Jackson said, "I think it would be appropriate in light of Gen. De Gaulle's conduct that we bring the message of disfavor to the French people that we will not provide ambassadorial service in Paris."

Jackson said the French president "has demonstrated conclusively that he is a bigot. He is an anti-Semite.

★ ★ ★

"He does not respect other religions. And I think a man who acts the way he has acted over the past several years deserves to be dealt with severely on the part of the United States."

In Washington, the State Department said it had no comment on Jackson's speech.

Jackson said De Gaulle "is a senile individual and his actions against the United States have been vicious, premeditated, deliberate and willful." The senator said the general's actions stem from his "deep hatred toward all English-speaking people."

What Are Housewives Worth? They Have Their Own Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — How much, in dollars and cents, is the American housewife really worth?

★ ★ ★

The Agriculture Department is considering trying to find out in hopes of determining whether working wives really mean profit for the family coffers. The housewives have their own ideas—and they vary widely.

"I'd be worth about $500 a week," said one woman. "About $50 weekly," estimated another. "I think it's silly to even try to put a value on a housewife," scoffed a third.

Most of the women responding to an Associated Press survey estimated a housewife's value on the basis of what it would cost to hire an outsider to perform her chores.

★ ★ ★

"A maid for eight hours costs about $10 or more," said Mrs. Hugh Savage of Kansas City, Mo., the mother of two. "And you should add $6 for the extras," including meal planning, clothes buying, servicing as hostess and carrying out community obligations, she said.

BANK ESTIMATE

Several years ago, the Chase Manhattan Bank figured that at the going rates for all the jobs under the title "housewife," the average woman should get $159.34 a week. That included such estimates as 3.3 hours of food shopping a week at $1.50 an hour and 13.1 hours of cooking a week at $2.50 an hour.

Cold Wave Has Area Shivering

Michigan shivered in the icy grip of a cold wave today as the mercury plunged to subzero readings in some areas. In downtown Pontiac, the thermometer registered 10 above at 8 a.m.

Bob Hope Reporting:

GI Humor Is Tough to Top

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of reports by comedian Bob Hope, who is touring Southeast Asia entertaining U.S. servicemen.)

By BOB HOPE

CUCHI, Vietnam — One of the classic jokes of all time is the story of a murderer who has been sentenced to the electric chair. His lawyer comes to tell him that every appeal has been exhausted, that the governor has turned down his plea for clemency.

"What should I do?" asks the condemned man. The lawyer replies, "Don't sit down."

Another story concerns two prisoners about to be shot by a firing squad. At dawn the sun is peeking above the horizon. The platoon stands with rifles at the ready and one prisoner refuses a blindfold. The other begs him, "Please don't make any trouble."

These two jokes help to explain why the military is one of the greatest mines of humor; also why the serviceman is such a great audience for comedy when you're up to your posterior in a rice paddy, when someone behind the bush is trying to kill you, when your next step may be your last, you have very little choice: You can either laugh or cry and the best of GI humor is a combination of both.

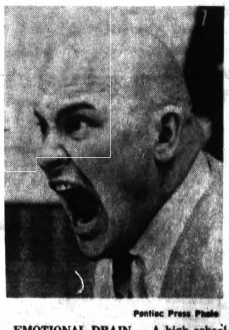

The first service joke that I can remember was a cartoon from World War I. Two British Tommies were hiding in a shell hole in no-man's land. As an artillery barrage fell on all sides, one grizzled Tommy whispered to the other, "If ya knows a better ole, go to it, Alfie."

CATCHES PLIGHT

Bill Mauldin, with his grizzled Willy and Joe, probably best caught the desperate plight of the GI in World War II.

One cartoon of his aroused every serviceman. It showed two punctilious offi-

Big-Power Conflict Nearer in SE Asia

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A threat of big-power conflict in Southeast Asia seems to be growing, and if it gets more serious it could bring about a new international conference.

Soviet and Red Chinese statements predict escalation of the Vietnam war through U.S. invasion of Laos and Cambodia, as if reflecting fear this will happen. The United States deplores use of Cambodia by the Vietcong as sanctuary from American pursuit. There are reports of a Communist buildup and increased activity in Laos.

All this is familiar and ominous.

The imminence of a big-power showdown had much to do with the convocation of an international conference five years ago on the Laotian situation. It could happen again, perhaps this time including talks on the Vietnam struggle.

The record indicates that the Laotian situation in the early 60s was so dangerous that a conference was the only safe way out. The alternative might have been a confrontation and even war among the big powers. A similar situation seems to be building up now.

Though overshadowed by the magnitude of the Vietnam war to its east, Laos poses a smoldering danger of escalation. Students of Southeast Asian affairs speculate that Laos is so important that if there had been no war in Vietnam there surely would have been one in the neighbor state, possibly more perilous from the standpoint of international complications. Laos is a gateway to Burma and Thailand and a potential key to mastery of all Southeast Asia.

In 1960, said a later British parliamentary review of Laos, "it was clear that the conflict could easily assume international dimensions and that decisive action must be taken to avert this danger."

Laos demonstrated then that international action was possible, even though the whole story of the major powers' collaboration in Indochina was a study in frustration, and arrangements to deal with the dangers were so full of holes as to be nearly meaningless.

REDS HAD DESIGNS

Communist designs on all of Indochina seemed clear at the time of the 1954 Geneva conference which partitioned Vietnam. Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnamese regime demanded recognition in Cambodia for the Communist-led "Free Khmer" forces and in Laos for the Neo Lao Hak Xat, political arm of the Pathet Lao forces.

The Geneva agreements required H'os Viet Minh to withdraw from Laos. Pending settlement, the Pathet Laoswas supposed to be restricted to two northern provinces, Phong Saly and Sam Neua. The United States and South Vietnam did not sign the agreements. Hanoi did, on behalf of the Pathet Lao.

* * *

The Communists chose to interpret the agreement as giving them exclusive control of the two provinces. They ignored a requirement to give free access here to the royal government. There were clashes with royal troops. By 1959, the situation was deteriorating rapidly. The Pathet Lao, backed by North Vietnam and Red China, began a terrorist campaign. Pathet Lao troops launched a civil war. Laos appealed to the United Nations, and the Security Council sent a commission which reported the Communists were getting help from North Vietnamese regular troops crossing the border.

The picture became more complicated in 1960 when Capt. Kong Le led a revolt against the royal government, demanding a neutralist regime. North Vietnam sent help to the neutralists. So did the Russians. The United States sent help to the royal government. The situation became so dangerous to world peace that the big powers, including Red China, agreed to confer.

THAILAND THREATENED

In May 1962 Pathet Lao troops occupied a town on Thailand's border, threatening Thai security. President Kennedy sent American troops to Thailand.

With the pressure mounting, three factions in Laos—Communist, neutralist and royalist — agreed on a Cabinet and sent a delegation to the conference in Geneva. This brought a declaration of Laotian neutrality and independence.

Rocky Best GOP Choice, Says Miller

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who says he won't seek the Republican presidential nomination, has been called the party's best possible candidate by the man he refused to boost for vice president in 1964.

William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee on the GOP ticket headed by Barry Goldwater, said Thursday Rockefeller is "the most effective campaigner" Republicans could offer in next year's presidential sweepstakes.

Rockefeller drew the wrath of backers of the conservative Goldwater-Miller ticket three years ago when he—along with Michigan Gov. George Romney —refused to campaign in their behalf.

The New Yorker, while maintaining he won't seek the 1968 nomination, has boosted the announced candidacy of Romney. Miller said he felt the Michigan governor has "failed to measure up" since opening his campaign for the nation's top job.

* * *

Miller, former GOP national chairman who practices law in Buffalo and suburban Lockport, N.Y., also has less than kind words for some other potential Republican candidates.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "has the image of a loser," he said. Asked about Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois as a possible compromise candidate, Miller replied: "If Percy is suggested as a compromise, why not Rockefeller?"

Four Defectors Go to Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Four U.S. Navy deserters arrived here today from Moscow to seek asylum in Sweden and declared they stand neutral between East and West and only want to work for peace.

* * *

Asked why they had chosen to come to Sweden instead of staying in Russia where they went after jumping ship in Japan last October, Richard D. Bailey, speaking for the group, said:

"We chose Sweden basically because it is neutral, and the neutral line conforms with our views. We do not like politics and wanted to get away from ideologies, East or West."

The four sailors, who said they deserted to protest the Vietnam war, arrived on a commercial flight from Moscow and were whisked away from a throng of photographers and newsmen at the airport to a nearby police precinct at Maersta.

Police held them in custody pending a decision by the Aliens Commission in Stockholm on their admission to the country.

They are Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla., John M. Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md., Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif., and Michael A. Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.

3-Year GM Contract Is Ratified by UAW

DETROIT (AP)— Ratification of a new three - year national contract covering some 380,000 workers at General Motors Corp. was announced today by the United Auto Workers Union.

The announcement was made by Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department.

* * *

Skilled workers were reported to have approved the agreement by a margin of about 3½-to-1, while production employes ratified the contract by 5-to-1, Woodcock said. Under union rules, the pact had to be approved by both groups before going into effect.

Woodcock notified the UAW's GM locals to step up their own negotiations with plant - level management.

TELEGRAM WARNING

In a telegram to the locals, Woodcock warned that any strikes, work stoppages or curtailment of production must be authorized in advance by UAW headquarters.

Woodcock said that locals which do not settle their own plant-level issues by Jan. 9 are to submit a list of unresolved local items to union headquarters, along with a request for strike authorization if desired.

* * *

"No local strike is authorized unless these provisions are followed," he said.

The GM settlement parallels agreements reached earlier at Ford and Chrysler.

PROVISIONS

The agreement provides for an average of $1 an hour in wages and fringe benefits over the three-year span of the contract. Workers were receiving an average of $4.70 an hour.

The increases in the contract will boost labor costs for the company about six per cent a year.

Meanwhile, General Motors became the first U.S. automaker Thursday to announce an auto price increase — $22 on most models—to cover the cost of front - seat shoulder harnesses, now required by federal law.

Gov. Romney Impressed by Indonesian

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Aides of Michigan Gov. George Romney said today the Republican presidential hopeful is impressed with the concern acting President Suharto shows for the people of Indonesia and his broad grasp of the problems he faces.

Romney has made clear that he will not discuss his conversations with leaders he is meeting on his world tour. But informed sources said he talked with Indonesian officials about prospects for ending the Vietnam war.

* * *

Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has also sounded out officials here on his concepts for stability and economic cooperation in the area, informants said.

The governor, who arrived here Wednesday from Saigon, began with a round of golf today with U.S. Ambassador Marshal Green. From there he made a quick shopping expedition through the teeming, sun-drenched streets of Jakarta.

* * *

He then conferred with Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, chairman of the Indonesian Congress. Nasution was defense minister until President Sukarno fired him in early 1966. Suharto made him congress chairman.

Romney has already had talks with Suharto, Foreign Minister Adam Malik and Economic Minister Sultan Hamengku Buwono

Hearing Jan. 11 on Blue Cross

LANSING (AP) — A hearing will be held Jan. 11 in Lansing on a Michigan Hospital Service application seeking a boost in base premium rates, State Insurance Commissioner David J. Dykhouse said Thursday.

Dykhouse said Blue Cross has requested an average increase of 4.86 per cent over the previous base rate schedules.

The proposed increase would not affect elderly citizen contracts, he added.

Hearings are conducted each quarter to examine the rating situations of both Blue Cross and Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield).

No change in the existing base rate premium schedule has been requested by Blue Shield, Dykhouse said.

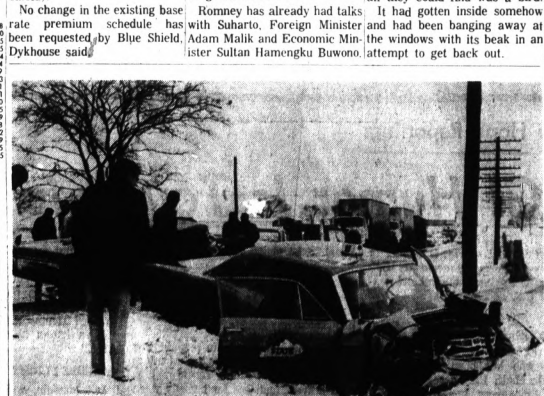

Noisy 'Theft' for the Birds

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Police figured they had this burglar in the bag. But all they got was the bird.

Roy Scarbrough heard "hammering and breaking noises" in his neighbor's house and called police. Surrounding the place, officers still could hear the suspect at work.

When police entered the house to catch the culprit red-handed, all they could find was a bird.

It had gotten inside somehow and had been banging away at the windows with its beak in an attempt to get back out.

Meter Maid Styles Readied

BIRMINGHAM—With the aid of local fashion experts, this city's parking assistants—meter maids — will shortly have a new uniform.

* * *

City Commissioners were recently informed of the style for the maids who must brave all kinds of weather.

Topped by a navy blue and white hat, the uniform will include a two-button style jacket in navy, a white blouse with a black cross tie and an A-line skirt of knee length.

Police chief Darryl L. Bruestle has also recommended heavyweight wool worsted slacks for extremely cold weather.

Footwear will be black leather with Cuban heels with a black midcalf boot for wet or cold weather.

BLACK ACCESSORIES

All other accessories — shoulder - strap handbag, raincoat and gloves — will be black.

Robert T. Kelley, Birmingham Youth Assistance Committee chairman, has announced the appointment of four additional members to his group.

Appointed were James K. Flack, 286 Larchlea; Mrs. Donald Herring, 19714 Waltham; Ronald L. Miller, 16200 Amherst; Mrs. Gerritt VanderVeer, 6621 E. Dartmoor.

JOINT SPONSORS

The 25-member citizens committee is sponsored jointly by the city and the Oakland County Juvenile Court. It serves the youth of the entire Birmingham School District.

Paul Whiteman, 'King of Jazz,' Is Dead at 76

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) Famed band leader Paul Whiteman, the "King of Jazz," died today at Doylestown Hospital, apparently of a heart attack. He was 76.

The musician was rushed to the hospital at about 4:30 a.m. after he was stricken in his home near this Bucks County town 25 miles northeast of Philadelphia.

* * *

Whiteman was considered the dean of modern American music and the man who first mated classical music with jazz.

He commissioned George Gershwin to compose "Rhapsody in Blue" and conducted it in 1924 in the first jazz concert ever given. He also introduced Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon Suite." His recording of "Three O'Clock in the Morning" sold 3.4 million copies.

KNOWN AS 'POPS'

Whiteman, known to his associates as "Pops," directed such musical stars as Bing Crosby, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Morton Downey and Benny Goodman when his band was the most popular in the country between World War I and World War II.

He remained devoted to all kinds of music to the very end. "I don't think you have to live in one groove all the time," he said recently. "If it's well done, it's well done, no matter what kind it is."

* * *

One of the highlights of Whiteman's career came last spring when residents of New Hope, the quaint Bucks County village on the Delaware River where he lived in semiretirement, honored him for his half century in jazz.

HOME CALLED 'CODA'

He named his retirement home "Coda," noting that a coda is the concluding eight bars of a musical score.

Whiteman was born in Denver, Colo., March 28, 1891, and played viola in the Denver Symphony in his teens. He formed his first orchestra on the West Coast shortly after World War I, mostly with inexperienced youngsters who didn't expect much pay.

* * *

In 1919 he introduced his "symphonic jazz" to the East, at Atlantic City, N.J., and the next year he brought it to Broadway.

U.S. Jets Strafe S. Viet Force

4 Killed, 34 Injured; Investigation Ordered

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force Canberra bombers mistakenly strafed a company of South Vietnamese irregulars locked in a jungle fight with the Vietcong Thursday, killing four of the irregulars and wounding 32 and two American advisers, the U.S. Command announced.

U.S. Command said the South Vietnamese force was battling a Vietcong force in the jungle coastlands of Binh Thuan Province about 125 miles northeast of Saigon.

* * *

The B57 Canberras were called in to give supporting fire and dipped down with blazing 20mm cannon and 50-caliber machine guns. The ground action against the Vietcong apparently was broken off as the shattered South Vietnamese unit, called a civilian irregular defense group, pulled back with its casualties.

The strafing run took place in midafternoon and the weather was relatively clear, the U.S. Command said. An investigation was ordered by the commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force Gen. William Momyer and Air Force officers were sent to the scene.

GROUND ACTION

The mistaken strafing came on a day of scattered ground actions up and down the nation. They ranged from pitched battles in the coastal lowlands around Da Nang to clashes in the Mekong Delta where U.S. Navy patrol boats fought Vietcong infantrymen.

One Communist gunner in the delta put a small patrol boat out of action with a recoilless rifle shot that wounded all five American crewmen. Helicopters swept in to strafe the Vietcong position, and an accompanying patrol boat pulled the stricken craft out of the battle 45 miles southwest of Saigon.

Press Award Nominations Being Taken

Nominations are now open for the various awards to be given by the Inter-American Press Association for journalistic achievements during 1967. Announcement was made today by the chairman of the awards committee, Riobo' Caputo of El Litoral, Santa Fe, Argentina.

The IAPA - Tom Wallace Awards, confined to newspapermen and publications in the United States and Canada, are given for outstanding work in behalf of inter-American friendship and understanding.

The award for a newspaperman consists of $500 and a scroll, while that for a publication is a special plaque.

The IAPA - Mergenthaler Awards, which are given each year with the aid of a grant from the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., go to newspapermen and publications in the Americas outside the United States and Canada. Each individual award consists of a scroll and $500, and the categories are as follows:

- For defense of freedom of the press.
- For meritorious public service in behalf of the community through editorials, feature articles or columns.
- For meritorious public service in behalf of the community through newswriting or reporting.
- For meritorious work by a cartoonist.
- For meritorious work by a photographer.

The publication which has most distinguished itself for its work in behalf of the community will receive a bronze plaque.

Entries should be sent to Carlos Jimenez, manager, Inter-American Press Association, 667 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10021, before March 1. Each should be accompanied by tear - sheets or clippings of the work nominated and a brief biography and photo of the candidate. Entry blanks may be obtained by writing Jimenez.

No City Pickup of Trash Jan. 1

Jan. 1, a day of rest and recovery for most, will also be a day off for the city's rubbish collectors.

No rubbish pickups will be made on Monday, Gordon R. Matthews, assistant superintendent of the Department of Public Works and Service Operations Division, said today.

* * *

He said residents who normally put out refuse on Monday should do so Tuesday.

All other residents, he said, should put out refuse on their normal pickup days.

City Lumber Firm Cancels Pact for Postal Substation

A Pontiac Post Office official today announced that the substation in the Meagher Lumber Co. will close permanently as the end of Saturday's business hours.

No reason was given by the lumber company at 1 Walton for canceling the contract. The station opened in March 1959.

The substation sold stamps and money orders and accepted parcel post.

Plans for replacing the substation are indefinite, according to the post office spokesman.

Poll Finds Open Housing Foes

A public opinion poll conducted recently by State Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac reveals that a number of area residents are opposed to open housing legislation.

The Democratic legislator said today that it was on the basis of the replies he received from an advertisment in the Pontiac Press Dec. 12 that he voted against the measure last week.

LAW

The 62nd District representative says he has received more than 3,000 replies and they are still coming in.

From those who replied from within the city limits of Pontiac, the vote was 12-1 against the fair housing proposal, while those from the area outside Pontiac were opposed to it, 50-1, Law said.

* * *

Of the total replies, Law said, about 96 per cent indicated that if the measure were passed by the Legislature, they would want a referendum election.

THOUGHTS CONFIRMED

"The replies confirmed what I had heard from talking to the people in the streets and in the plants," said Law, "but I had no way of telling if this was a fair representation.

"That's why I placed the ad," said Law "I wanted to know what adults and registered voters felt on the subject."

Law said it was the first time in all his years in the Legislature that he had sought an opinion in this manner, "but I was in a quandary in this particular issue."

* * *

He said that all the replies, except three or four, had the names and addresses of the persons expressing their opinions.

"Considering that there was no prior announcement that I was going to take the poll, I feel that the number of returns was very good," said Law.

$7.5 Million in Projects for Groveland Cleared

By ED BLUNDEN

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — Plans for an estimated $7.5 million in resort and residential developments here received the approval yesterday of the important coordinating zoning and planning committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors approved rezoning three separate large tracts of land, thus clearing the way for two golf courses, a ski facility, a 118-lane bowling alley, a new mobile home site, and over 50 high-cost residences.

Approval had previously been granted by the township planners Now, with the backing of the county unit, only approval by the Township Board of Trustees is lacking.

Township Supervisor Earl Rhinevault has set a meeting to consider the matter at 8 tonight at the Township Hall, Grange Hall and Barron.

Seeking rezoning on a 365-acre area at Grange Hall and Wildwood (including the old town hall site) is a development group from Flint. They reportedly plan to spend some $6 million in building a combination ski resort, golf course and 118-lane bowling alley.

SITE CALLED IDEAL

The hilly, largely undeveloped land in the heart of the township was termed ideal for this type of development by the county committee.

The rezoning request is for six different parcels, all previously zoned agricultural. The parcels would be both commercial-recreation and residential. The committee was informed the group plans a small subdivision bordering the golf course with $100,000 homes.

Another golf course in the Mount Holly area is proposed by a group of Detroit investors. At Dixie, south of Tripp, a 150-acre layout is proposed.

★ ★ ★

Adjacent to this course, also, residential zoning was requested for several parcels for home sites. The Detroit group's possible investment was estimated at $1 million and possibly more.

MOBILE HOME PLAN

A third rezoning request was made by Dr. Albert H. Rosten of Birmingham for a 50-acre parcel for mobile homes at Dixie and Oakhill. Dr. Rosten said he expects to spend about $500,000 for a park to include 175 sites.

He said the park will be self-contained as to sewerage and water and added it would be "for adults." He termed his planned community as "a quality one, a fine addition to the community."

He said it would be well set back from the road and that lot sizes would be 4,500 square feet as compared to the 2,200 square feet minimum required by state law.

★ ★ ★

Groveland Township, which in 1967 had a total equalized value of $7.5 million is in the northwest corner of Oakland County, east of Holly The planned developments are close to both U.S. 10 (Dixie) and the I-75 freeway.

Dolls Attend Tea Party

It was a special kind of tea party yesterday at Birmingham's Baldwin Public Library. Dolls were invited and their young mistresses could come, too, if they wished. About 19 turned out for the annual event. There were a few more dolls than little girls. Some of them reflected the shiny newness of Christmas, others had the cherished look of age. Some were of foreign extraction.

★ ★ ★

Some were tiny and dainty, and there was one doll there almost as big as her mistress. It was noted that the dolls sat politely when the refreshments were served, while the young mistresses hurried to the punch and cookie table for refreshments. The doll party is an annual event at the library.

Charlotte Man Awaits Sentencing in Slaying

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Twenty-year-old Gerald Talison of Lansing today awaited sentencing after his first-degree murder conviction in the New Year's Day slaying of a service station attendant.

An Eaton County Circuit Court jury spent 50 minutes deliberating before returning the guilty verdict against Talison Thursday. Judge Richard Robinson remanded Talison to the Eaton County jail.

★ ★ ★

Harold Peterson, 27, of Lansing, a service station attendant, and Dean Foster, an Eaton County sheriff's deputy, were slain last Jan. 1 at a service station on the outskirts of Lansing.

Gerald Aikens, 22, of Lansing is being held for trial in the death of Foster.

Zoning Panel Will Study Orion Twp. Controversy

ORION TOWNSHIP — The coordinating and zoning committee of the County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday to take a closer look at a property in Orion Township, which has been the object of a controversy.

★ ★ ★

At issue is a rezoning request for 50 acres on the southwest corner of Indian Lake and M24 that is zoned residential. Developers wish to build apartments on the land which is adjacent to Long Lake.

The township planning commission voted to reject the request; and Richard Beer, township planning chairman, was before the county group to explain.

Beer reported that more than 60 residents had appeared at public hearings on the rezoning request, and most of them had protested construction of apartments on the basis the newcomers would ruin the lake by overuse.

★ ★ ★

Another objection was that Indian Lake Road could not handle the extra traffic because of a small railroad viaduct which limits use.

'NO LOGICAL REASONS'

Philip Dondero, adviser from the county planning commission, pointed out that the stated reasons may not be enough. He said there was no "logical reason why multiples should not be built on the property." he said "people have to live somewhere" and indicated that planning should try to bring "the most good for the most people."

Dondero also indicated a lawsuit could be brought against the township by the developers.

The committee, whose recommendation would go to the Orion Township Board of Trustees, deferred action on the rezoning until the members could examine the area.

They said they would study if access to the property was as difficult as reported by Beer.

2 Detroit Servicemen Reported Killed in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Michigan servicemen are among 21 listed by the Defense Department as killed in action in Vietnam.

They are Army Spec. 4 Horatio L. Jones, son of Mrs. Josephine Jones of Detroit, and Marine Lance Cpl. Kenneth F. Olenzuk, son of Mrs. Irene Skarbek of Detroit.

NEW OFFICERS — Robert Inwood and Mrs. Erich Kurschat will take the oaths of office of Addison Township supervisor and clerk, respectively, in special ceremonies tomorrow. They replace Billy Van Arsdel and Robert McCallum, whose resignations become effective at that time.

Moves Toward Streamlined Government

Clarkston Acts on New Zoning Code

By JEAN SAILE

CLARKSTON — The Village Council last night moved toward a streamlined village government, including a new zoning ordinance enlarging the present business district.

While no formal action on previously proposed annexation was taken, councilmen admitted several times that the new zoning, building codes and construction specifications undertaken would be necessary to any action in extending village boundaries.

Though it was a special meeting, about 20 citizens were present, and some of them voiced concerned opposition to the proposed change in village zoning.

The council's action in regard to zoning last night provided for publication of the proposed ordinance, which is largely a duplicate of that used by the township with some exceptions.

★ ★ ★

Councilman David Leak, chairman of the village planning committee, said a public hearing on the zoning would follow publication of the ordinance.

PLANNING COMMISSION

Besides extending the business area east along Buffalo under a classification of local business, the new ordinance provides for a planning commission containing one council member and several citizens. It would replace the present planning committee made up of three members of the council.

The general commercial district was maintained along the one-block area of Main Street between Washington and Church, but a local business classification which excludes bars and department stores was extended to both sides of Buffalo Street, which lies one block east of Main Street.

The new classification would allow for construction of a Post Office on former Methodist Church property at Buffalo and Church Streets.

★ ★ ★

The relocation of the post office, according to Leak, necessitated the zoning change.

PROGRESS NEEDED

"If we can't show some progress towards rezoning) by the first of the year, we're going to lose the Post Office," said the planning chairman.

Also allowed in the extension of the business area is a strip between Main and Buffalo designated as a parking district.

Designating this land for parking will permit future construction of a village parking lot, Leak said.

★ ★ ★

The new ordinance proposes two residential classifications. One, known as R-1A, would include most of the homes in the village; but an R-2A classifcation would allow for the smaller residential lots in the downtown area.

APARTMENT ZONING

Present apartment sites were recognized in the proposed map, but no provision was made for an extension of such zoning.

Leak pointed out that residents who felt themselves adversely affected by the proposed rezoning could speak at a puclic hearing to be set later, probably in about three weeks time; that some variances could be granted by the zoning board of appeals; and that nonconforming usage would be premitted for all present land usage.

Concilmen noted that proposed zoning boundaries would keep all commercial activity from lake property.

Councilman Donald Cooper questioned whether a local business designation might not provide for "a second-class business district"

ARCHITECTURE CONTROL

"What control can we have over architure in such a classification?" he asked.

"You can't legislate aesthetics," said Attorney Jack Banycky.

"Any conversion of present property would require a village building permit," said Leak. "That, plus the fact that good business would demand a certain amount of aesthetics, would give us the control we need."

★ ★ ★

Following a unanimous vote for initiating the new zoning ordinance, the council adopted by reference the township's building code including its plumbing and electrical codes.

ENFORCEMENT COOPERATION

"By using the same one as the township, it opens the door to cooperation on enforcement," said Leak.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works construction specifications for sewers and water mains were next adopted, but action on a street construction code was delayed.

"All streets in the village are now paved," said Leak. "This code is not necessary unless we begin annexation proceedings. I'm not ready to vote on initiating annexation until I'm sure we're fully covered by all codes."

★ ★ ★

Said Councilman Keith Hallman, "We're not ready at all to do anything about annexation at this point, but I wouldn't vote for it (annexation) without street specifications. It's not necessary tonight. We're not far enough along with annexation plans."

The council last summer proposed annexing of land which would triple the size of the current village. The proposal met with considerable oppostition from affected residents.

Addison Twp. Zoning Change Okayed

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — The coordinating and zoning committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a new zoning classification for this township.

The new zone would be for multiple use on a single property.

The ordinance was sought by the township to allow the Riggers Union to build on a 250-acre plot north of Upper Lakeville Lake.

The union plans to build a clinic, hospital, homes and recreation facilities for their members. Their rezoning request under the new classification was also approved.

Some $3 million will be invested in the development, it was estimated.

In other action, approval was granted an 84-acre subdivision rezoning request in Independence Township.

★ ★ ★

The development is planned to be one-family residential in an area north of Maybee between Sashabaw and Pine Knob on land formerly zoned suburban farms.

SUITCASE TEACHING TOOL — Mrs. Denise VanAken of Rochester, state special education consultant, learns the use of the "suitcase tutor" from S. Joseph Levine of the Center of Handicapped Children at Michigan State University. The completely portable suitcase contains aids useful in the teaching of retarded children. It is part of new teaching programs in special education being developed at MSU.

Village Election Deadline Nears

The nominating petition deadline for offices in at least four Oakland County villages is 4 p.m. Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

In Ortonville, positions of clerk, treasurer, assessor and president for three-year terms are open as are three two-year terms on the council.

★ ★ ★

In Leonard, a village president, clerk, treasurer and assessor for one-year terms and three council members for two years are to be elected.

★ ★ ★

In Clarkston, the terms of president, clerk and treasurer and three council seats are open.

★ ★ ★

Holly electors will vote on the offices of president, clerk, treasurer and assessor and three trustees for two-year terms.

★ ★ ★

If sufficient candiates file, primary elections will be held in the separate localities. Otherwise the next election will be the regular spring vote, village clerks report.

Senator Launches War on Disposable Bottles

LANSING (AP) — A state senator has started a petition drive asking for a vote in the 1968 general election on a proposal to outlaw nonreturnable bottles in Michigan.

Sen. Roger Craig, D-Dearborn, said he will try to collect 200,000 signatures on petitions to put the issue on the ballot.

★ ★ ★

Craig said the expense of picking up the no-deposit soft drink and beer bottles was $717,000 a year to the State Highway Department alone.

The bottles, Craig said, are a safety hazard as well as a litter nuisance.

Blaze Destroys Electrical Goods at Asphalt Plant

MILFORD TOWNSHIP — A blaze last night at the Detroit Concrete Co., McGuiness Brothers Plant, South Hill Road and Pontiac Trail, destroyed electrical equipment housed in a shed. All machinery at the asphalt plant was activated.

Lyon Township Fire Chief F. J. Knapp said no monetary estimate had been made of the damage, but that an investigation of the cause would be conducted.

Plant manager Edward St. Jean reported when he left the plant at 7:20 p.m. yesterday all equipment was turned off.

The alarm was turned in an hour and 40 minutes later, and firemen found the electrical panel burned and several motors running.

★ ★ ★

St. Jean said it was doubtful that the fire could have activated the controls.

Fire Kills Nine Children

MONT LAURIER, Que. (AP) — Nine children perished in a fire that swept a home in nearby Lac des Iles last night, firemen reported. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Girouard, were taked to a hospital.

Rirement reported today they had recovered the bodies of four of the children from the burned home, about 125 miles northwest of Montreal.

MAKE OVER PAGES

Area Schools Helping Perceptually Handicapped

By DICK ROBINSON

A teacher hands Jane seven green blocks and asks her to add blocks to the seven to make a total of 10.

* * *

"Make it 10" the 9-year-old girl inquires hesitantly. She adds blocks. "That's 10," Jane stutters while looking at the teacher for approval.

Jane, a blue-eyed blonde, is a charming, well-behaved pupil while working alone with the teacher.

But in the classroom, she is a problem. Jane, who repeated second grade, disturbs the learning of other children. She's noisy, and uncontrollable.

Of normal intelligence, she is academically — not mentally — retarded.

SHAPES CONFUSE

Jane cannot understand the shape and structure of objects and words nor can she reproduce simple patterns in a peg board.

In attempting to read simple words, she reverses syllables. Phonetic symbols rarely mean the same sounds to her twice in succession.

Jane and many other children like her — at least 220 in Oakland County — are perceptually handicapped.

They have a physical disability, experts say. These children have difficulty in interpreting a sense of sight, hearing and touch because of a dysfunction of the nervous system.

EMOTIONAL PROBLEMS

Thus, they act as if they have severe emotional problems. They are disturbing, inattentive, impulsive and disorganized.

They have problems in learning because of poor auditory and visual perception, authorities say.

Oakland Schools Intermediate District sponsors local programs throughout the county to help these children. It's called the perceptual development program.

* * *

Youngsters admitted to perceptual development classes have such difficulty in organizing their world that they fail in regular classes.

BECOME FRUSTRATED

"In a regular class with conventional procedures, they are frustrated children, and they are frustrating to teach," reports Miss Jean Lukens, nationally recognized county consultant in perceptual development.

Qualified teachers for such programs are hard to find, according to Miss Lukens.

Pontiac, for example, had to temporarily discontinue its program this year because they could not find a teacher, according to Arnold W. Embree, schools director of guidance and pupil personnel services.

* * *

The goal of the program for 6- to 10-year-olds is to habilitate the child for his return to the regular classroom, Miss Lukens explained.

PAY ATTENTION

Children with learning disabilities have to learn to discriminate sounds and to pay attention to the teacher's voice, rather than a clicking of the radiator in the classroom, according to Miss Lukens.

Perceptual development classrooms are located in the quietest part of the school building to reduce the number of sounds the children hear.

Until children learn to tolerate distraction, there are no pictures, calendars, charts or posters on the walls of the special classrooms.

The lower part of the windows are generally covered, neutral colors are used on the walls and movable screens are used to isolate children who cannot work with the distraction of another child in sight.

Miss Lukens said that children must be taught in the special classrooms that their eyes have to go from left to right every time they read a sentence and cannot start in the middle.

"There is no known cure for neurological dysfunction," said Miss Lukens. "But we have had success in teaching children skills necessary for them to understand and compensate for perceptual disturbances.

"The handicap will always be there. Training, counseling and maturity will enable the child to function in spite of his handicap.

An analytical approach is often used to teach perceptual skills in the special classes, she said. The child learns to see parts and then to see the relationship of the parts to a whole.

The numbers concept is often taught by means of tallying and patterning so that the child first sees the parts and then relates them to the whole. Manipulation of an abacus helps a child see the processes involved.

Oakland Schools was a pioneer in experimenting with the program in 1961.

Of the county's 28 school districts, 16 now have a total of 29 classrooms for children with perceptual handicaps. Area districts include Rochester, Waterford Township, Troy, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham and Avondale.

A two-year-old organization, called the Michigan Association for Children With Learning Disabilities (MACLD), is setting up local chapters of parents and professionals to cope with the problem.

Dr. Lee W. Haslinger, Pontiac schools director of physical education, athletics and recreation, is president of MACLD.

MACLD provides therapy for parents and attempts to get local school boards to develop programs for children with learning disabilities.

* * *

Haslinger estimates that 10 per cent of some 250,000 school children in the county may have learning disabilities.

PERCEPTION PROBLEMS — More than half of Oakland County's 28 school districts operate perceptual development (PD) programs for children with learning difficulties. MRS. E. M. ESTES

Our Shepherd Lutheran Church, Birmingham was the setting for Thursday vows exchanged by Constance Louise Langridge and E. M. Estes. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Walter T. Langridge of Detroit and the late Mr. Langridge. Mr. Estes is a vice president of General Motors Corporation and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

E. M. Estes, Bride Travel to Mexico After Vows

A Thursday afternoon ceremony in Birmingham's Our Shepherd Lutheran Church united Constance Louise Langridge and E. M. Estes, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Lee W. Jaffke of Redford Township and the bridegroom's son, William E. who attends the University of North Carolina.

* * *

The new Mrs. Estes, whose parents are Mrs. Walter T. Langridge of Detroit and the late Mr. Langridge, chose a white silk jacket ensemble.

Her pearl-encrusted pill box held a short illusion veil and she carried a nosegay of white roses and ivy.

Following a reception in the Birmingham home of Mr. Estes, the couple left for a honeymoon in Mexico.

She attended Wayne State University and Alma College.

* * *

Mr. Estes was born in Mendon, Mich., and is a graduate of the General Motors Institute in Flint, and the University of Cincinnati. He joined General Motors in October of 1934 and has been Chevrolet general manager since July, 1965.

Personals

Mrs. V. E. Nelson of East Iroquois Road is expecting a visit from her grandson, James, during the holiday break from his studies in the graduate school at University of Arizona in Tucson.

* * *

Joining her daughter, Susan in Germany for the Christmas holidays is Mrs. Floyd H. Smith of Sylvan Lake. She is accompanied by her son and his wife, the Phillip H. Smiths of Troy.

The Smiths are extending their stay until the end of the year as Susan is planning to wed Lt. C. Stephen Cantrell on Saturday in Heidelberg.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen will have as houseguests former area residents, the Jon Gables, now of Monticello, N.Y., over the New Year weekend.

The Hansens will host a New Year's Eve party of some sixty persons in honor of the Gables at their home on Emily Court. Also among the guests will be another former area couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fischer, now of Terre Haute, Ind., here for the occasion.

Research Finds Link Between Status, Health

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Children can suffer long range mental and physical ill effects when there is stress in the home caused by a difference between job or education status of their parents, two University of Michigan researchers said.

Drs. Stanislav Kasl and Sidney Cobb of the U. of M. Institute for Social Research studied "status stress" levels in 250 cases.

The two researchers found that men from families in which there is tension over differing parental status described themselves as having poorer current physical health, more anxiety, anger and depression. Such men feel less self-confident and have a greater desire for change, said Kasl and Cobb.

For women from such families, marriages are less happy and emotional dependence is higher, according to the two doctors.

* * *

Families with problems resulting from husband-wife differences in job or educational levels are also more likely to produce women who go on to develop arthritis, they said.

Persons who come from high status backgrounds are more frequently angered and irritated, the two U. of M. researchers found.

However, they point out that arthritic women are more likely to report anger and irritation than healthy women.

Another problem children face who grow up in homes where there is status stress is that they have problems modeling themselves after parents of the same sex; or in other words, boys from such families don't identify as readily with their fathers, and vice versa, the researchers said.

This, in turn, causes children to have problems when they become parents, spouses and workers, the study said. And they suffer from frustration and perhaps poor physical and mental health.

No Obligation to Reciprocate in This Case

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's job is with a large firm and we are frequently asked out for dinner, shows, dances, etc. What is our obligation to reciprocate other than giving the salesmen the wanted business and our personal thanks?

This all comes out of the expense accounts of the salesmen, but we still feel indebted and hesitate to accept many invitations as we are always on the receiving end. — Joyce W.

* * *

Dear Mrs. W.: You have no obligation to reciprocate when you are entertained solely in an effort to sell something to your husband. If the same men asked you out frequently, and you became personal friends, you might wish to repay them with an occasional dinner, or an invitation to your house.

But for an invitation prompted solely by business, your husband's favorable response and your personal one are all the "thanks" the salesman wants.

LEFT HAND

Dear Mrs. Post: My question concerns the correct placement of the left hand while in the course of eating. It seems to me that the rules of etiquette have relaxed, and it is now inappropriate to rest the hand on one's lap.

This gives a look of austerity no longer congruent with the times. Preferably, the roll being eaten is held in the left hand between bites, while the wrist rests lightly on the edge of the table.

Should this be so, does one never assume the lap position, as in the past? — Margaret Butts

* * *

Dear Mrs. Butts: At the dining room table, there is still no more proper position for the left hand than on the lap — when you are not using that hand for holding a piece of bread or an implement. hTen, as you suggest, the wrist rests on the edge of the table.

If you eat European style, as more and more Americans are doing — quite correctly — the food is eaten with the fork (tines down) in the left hand, and the right hand continues to hold the knife. But an idle hand, whichever it is, is left on the lap — not lying on the table.

Barbara Eisenhower Faints at International Debutante Ball

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The coming out of Barbara Anne Eisenhower, comely granddaughter of the former president of the United States, was marred Thursday night when she fainted briefly.

"I'm so embarrassed," she said later in the rock 'n' roll room of the International Debutante Ball after 61 other young ladies had finished making their presentations.

"I felt something coming over me and I don't remember anything else except tugging at Don," she said, referring to Donald Stolper, her escort for the evening and roommate of her brother David at Amherst College.

* * *

Miss Eisenhower, representing the United States at the 13th annual ball at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, had been the first to bow and was standing on the three-tiered stage in the ballroom while the others paraded the long course of the room.

Stolper aided her in walking off the stage. After only a few moments she returned and was able to continue.

Part of the perils of debuting as Dwight D Eisenhower's granddaughter was posing endlessly for photographers at the expense of dinner.

Earlier Stolper approached someone and begged them to find a place for Miss Eisenhower in the crowded debutante dining room.

DIDN'T EAT

"Barbara's going to faint. She hasn't had anything to eat all day, he said.

After the presentation, her anxious father, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, broke in to her dance and after learning she had recovered, whirled her around the floor.

More than a thousand persons had gathered to witness the deep bows of a host of offspring of millionaires, politicians and noted old families.

The most debuted young lady at the party was Marion Louise Hosford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. It was her fifth coming out party of the season and one her mother said she almost didn't make.

"Our private plane had such a time landing in the snowstorm," said Mrs. Whitney.

The loudest applause of the night went to four Texas girls — three of whom made deep floor-kissing bows. The four were Miss Jeanne Moran, daughter of chemical millionaire John J. Moran of Houston; Lawren Ethridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Edward Ethridge Jr. of Corpus Christi; Lacy Crain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Crain Jr. of Long View, and Suzanne Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart Boyle of Houston.

Anne Louise Howard, daughter of Mrs. Frances Humphrey Howard and the late Dr. I. Ray Howard, of Washington, D.C., was disappointed that her aunt and uncle, Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, cancelled their plans to attend the ball.

'KILTIE'

The most outstanding presentation came from Miss Lindsay Hoyer-Millar, daughter of Sir Leslie Glass, ambassador from Great Britain to the United Nations, and Lady Glass, who represented Scotland. She paraded through the ballroom with her own kilt-clad bagpiper furnishing music for her.

A total of 18 nations were represented at the ball. It benefited the Pearl Buck foundation, a charity which aids displaced children of American servicemen in Asia. Miss Buck attended the ball.

Debutantes came to the ball from as far as Japan, Malta and West Germany.

Barbara Eisenhower shares a light moment with escort Donald Stolper, as they arrive at the International Debutante Ball in New York Thursday night. The granddaughter of the former president represented the United States at the annual affair. Stolper, a roommate of her brother David at Amherst College, is from West Hartford, Conn. Her parents make their home in Phoenixville, Pa.

'His and Hers' Money Troubles

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago I married for a second time, thinking I would have companionship for the rest of my life, but I was wrong. All Ben wanted was a cook and housekeeper. He only wants to go to visit HIS children and grandchildren. Never mine. Not only that, but he is very close with a dollar. He has a lot more than I have, but he doesn't spend any of his. Only mine.

ABBY

We live in MY house, and I pay the taxes and upkeep while he hangs on to his money which he will leave to HIS children. At age 64 would you advise a separation?

NETTIE

DEAR NETTIE: I would advise a separation—of money, first. If Ben has money, let him spend it. Talk in money syllables. If he isn't any happier with this arrangement than you are, then separate everything else.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am practically engaged to a guy whose last name is absolutely ridiculous. It has 14 letters in it and nobody can pronounce it. Very few people can remember it, and nobody else can spell it, which can not help but be a handicap in business.

He would be doing himself a tremendous favor if he changed it to something shorter and easier to pronounce. I have hinted about this several times but he hasn't taken me seriously. Should I come right out and tell him how I feel about it?

THE FUTURE MRS.

DEAR FUTURE: First, let him change your name to his, then point out the advantages of changing it to something shorter and simpler.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old married woman. Jimmy is 29. We have been married for six years and have one child. We also have a big problem. Something has suddenly gone haywire with our love life, if you know what I mean.

At first I pretended it didn't make that much difference to me, because I didn't want to hurt Jimmy's feelings. Then I realized that wasn't the answer either We are both young yet, and I want a larger family.

I finally got Jimmy to go talk to our pastor, but when he came back he said he just asked the pastor if he could help him quit smoking. Jimmy is very shy and can't talk to anyone about personal subjects. Can you help me?

YETTA

DEAR YETTA: Jimmy needs the help. I can't help him and neither can a pastor unless the pastor can get him to a doctor. No one need be "shy" confiding in a doctor on any subject. They've heard everything.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: When someone wrote and asked you why blondes have more fun, you answered, "Because they're easier to find in the dark."

Well, that was kind of cute, but you could also have said, "Blondes have more fun because boys get tired of squeezing blackheads."

DEAR ABBY: You said that if blondes do have more fun, maybe it's because they're easier to find in the dark. Well, if that's the case, our physics teacher is right. He says, "Where there is light, there is heat."

DEAR ABBY: I know you've had several letters on this subject, but will you please answer it again, and this time a little more specifically?

What can I do about people who come right out and ask me how old I am? I know there must be several ways to avoid answering this rude question, but I am so stunned when someone asks me, I always blurt out the truth.

It's not that I am ashamed of my age, Abby, I just resent the nerve of these people who ask me and get away with it.

Please come up with a razorsharp answer; I'm sure lots of women like me will bless you for it. GOING ON 50

DEAR GOING: Lean over, and in a very confidential manner ask,

"Can you keep a secret?" The inevitable reply will be, "Yes." Then you say, "Well, so can I."

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SIS": If you have to put on your glasses to read the numbers on the bathroom scale, it's later than you think.

Japanese Pianist Symphony Soloist

Japanese pianist Miyoko Yamane will make her Detroit debut as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Jan. 4 and 6 at Ford Auditorium. Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

With symphony music director Sixten Ehrling on the podium, Miss Yamane will perform the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 3.

The Symphony will also be heard in Knudage Riisager's "Qarrtsiluni," Opus 36, and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Scheherazade."

* * *

Miyoko Yamane is a Japanese pianist with a Parisian background. She made her American recital debut in 1966; ranked first in the Boston Symphony Orchestra piano auditions for its Berkshire Music Festival, and spent last summer performing at Tanglewood.

A graduate of the Paris Conservatoire with highest honors, Miss Yamane has already, in her mid-twenties, established a brilliant professional career in her native Japan.

Following her appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, she will make a recital tour of the Midwest and Southwest United States and Caribbean Islands.

Hinges on Legislation

Divorce Italian Style

By EDWARD MAGRI
Associated Press Writer

ROME (AP) — Divorce at home never looked so close before for Italians, but the bill to legalize it still has a long way to go despite its first legislative victory.

A parliamentary committee voted 21-20 recently to approve the first section of a bill to make divorce possible in Italy under limited circumstances. The entire bill still has to clear the committee and then both houses of Parliament.

A "FIRST"

But the vote was a landmark. It was the first time a divorce bill was voted on by members of Parliament in the 107 years that Italy has been a unified nation.

The bill would permit divorce in these cases:

- After five years of unbroken legal separation.
- When a spouse has been sentenced to a prison term of at least 12 years.
- When one spouse has been convicted of sexual crimes against close relatives, or of any crime against the other spouse or their children.
- When a spouse has been in a mental institution for five years with no prospect of prompt recovery.
- Two years after a non-Italian spouse has obtained a divorce or has married again abroad.

Only the single Fascist member of the committee joined Premier Aldo Moro's Christian Democrats in voting against the bill's first section. Everybody else, from Communists to the conservative liberals, voted for it.

* * *

The same party lineup in the full chamber of deputies would assure its passage.

The issue poses a dilemma for the Christian Democrats, the strongest political force and the Catholic party in this Catholic country. They were believed planning delaying tactics.

If they do not pull out all stops against the bill, it is expected to pass and they would lose face. But if they try to force the Socialists — their allies in the coalition government — into a common stand against divorce, a government crisis almost certainly would ensue.

Mail Cultural Calendar of Upcoming Events

The second edition of the Cultural Calendar, published by the Pontiac Area Community Arts Council, was put into the mail on Thursday. Mrs. Maxwell Shadley, treasurer of the Council and a Pontiac representative on the Michigan Fine Arts Council, made the announcement today.

* * *

Members of the Pontiac branch, American Association of University Women, prepared 7748 calendars for mailing. Mrs. Fred Crossman headed the mailing committee.

General Motors Corporation underwrote the cost of publishing this calendar which lists cultural events through the spring. Mrs. D. Richard Veazey is editor.

Greek Queen Loses Her Baby by Miscarriage

ROME (AP — Queen Anne-Marie of Greece suffered a miscarriage Thursday night and lost the baby she was expecting in June, the Greek Embassy announced today.

The condition of the 21-year-old Danish-born wife of King Constantine was described as "completely satisfactory."

A spokesman at the Villa Claudia clinic north of Rome where the Queen was taken Thursday, said she left the clinic before dawn and returned to the Greek Embassy with her husband.

* * *

The royal family has been staying at the embassy since fleeing Greece Dec. 14 after Constantine's attempted countercoup against the Greek junta failed.

A communique issued by the embassy said:

"It was announced with regret that her majesty, Queen Anne-Marie of the Hellenes, had a miscarriage.

"The miscarriage was completed by her majesty's personal gynecologist, Prof. B. Coutifaris at the Villa Claudia clinic in Rome.

"The post-operative condition of her majesty, the queen, is completely satisfactory."

The announcement was signed by Coutifaris.

The doctor, who delivered the queen's two children, said the first two pregnancies were normal.

GIs Have Problems

DEAR POLLY—My husband writes from Thailand that his winter uniform has mildew on it. Is there anything I can send him that will remove this mildew? It would not only help him but other GI friends. — MRS. A. B.

DEAR POLLY — Wrapping large, bulky Christmas gifts is always a problem but last year I discovered that the inexpensive plastic tablecloths with holiday decorations make ideal wrappings.

One is less expensive than several rolls of paper and it is easier to wrap in one piece than it is to patch several pieces together. — JUNE

DEAR POLLY—Catherine requested directions for making a footstool out of tall juice cans. I have made several of them. I do not cut the tops off but use an opener to make holes for the juice to come out. Keep rinsing the cans until they are perfectly clean, then let dry thoroughly. I cover each of the cans with the top of a heavy white sock and pull together each end with strong twine, being careful to make them as smooth as possible.

I sew the cans together, with one in the center and six others arranged closely around it to look like a flower head with six petals.

The cans are placed on a heavy cardboard and I mark around them with pencil. Two of these pieces are cut out to go over the top and the bottom. I pad the top with something soft and cover the bottom with two thicknesses of material that is folded under about an inch.

A straight piece of the covering material is used to go around the curved sides and drawn tight in each crease. Be careful to keep this straight and tight. Whip-stitch the top and bottom covers on by hand, using a large needle and very heavy thread.

A narrow fringe can be used around the edges to give a nice finish. Keep the heading to the fringe just even with the top of the stool.—PEARL

SINGING STAR RECOVERING — Folk singer Jimmie Rodgers (left), who sustained near-fatal head injuries Dec. 1, is interviewed by Joey Bishop at a Glendale, Calif., hospital yesterday. The interview was taped as a segment of Bishop's TV show for tonight. Police said the 33-year-old entertainer's skull was fractured when he fell while talking to an officer who had stopped him for erratic driving.

Death Rate Not Unusual in Nation's Flu Outbreaks

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The National Communicable Disease Center reports outbreaks of Asian flu and similar respiratory infections in 24 states and the District of Columbia but says the mortality rate does not appear to be unusually higher.

New York City health officials said the death rate there is higher than usual. There were 100 such deaths for the week ending Dec. 22, the New York officials said, and the tolerance zone for deaths from influenza and pneumonia for the week in the state is 88.

It is difficult, health officials say, to measure the seriousness of the outbreaks throughout the nation because schools are closed during the holidays. Schools usually are the best means of determining the rate of absenteeism.

The virus appears to be relatively mild in most instances, but health officials say this creates a problem.

'SPREADING BUG'

"Most of the cases are so mild that people simply won't go to bed," said Dr. John E. McCroan of the Georgia Health Department. "They are walking around, spreading the bug around."

An estimated 15,000 cases have been reported in north Georgia with most of them in metropolitan Atlanta.

Documentation of Asian flu has been made in Michigan, Florida, New Jersey, Alabama, New York, Oklahoma, Illinois, Kansas, Iowa and Georgia, the CDC says. Probable Asian flu has been reported in Indiana, Virginia, Wisconsin, Louisiana and Missouri and possible Asian flu has been noted in Ohio, Maryland, Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina and the District of Columbia.

Some increase in pneumonia and other respiratory diseases has been reported, but national health officials say pneumonia deaths are compiled with influenza deaths.

CHANGES SLIGHTLY

They say, however, that most of the illnesses are attributed to Asian flu, which swept the West Coast in February 1966 and the Eastern parts of the nation in the winter of 1965.

The CDC said this strain of flu has changed slightly and will be different in current epidemics. Dr. Stephen C Schonbaum said flu vaccines also must be changed each year by their manufacturers.

Flu in epidemic proportions was reported along the east Florida coast from Miami to Jacksonville with 76 cases noted at the U.S. Navy base in Pensacola.

Hospitals in Oklahoma City have issued a plea for flu patients to stay out of doctors' offices and hospital emergency rooms because of the contagious virus. Virtually none of the city's hospitals was admitting flu patients unless they suffered other complications.

Bergen County was hit hard in New Jersey, and Passaic, Union and Essex counties also were affected. Some schools in the state began Christmas holidays early because of the outbreak.

Alabama officials reported more than 13,000 cases of flu during the week ending Dec. 23, including more than 6,600 in Mobile County. Other Alabama

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

At the age of 27, Bob Duffy can already look back to a wealth of basketball experience.

The genial coach of the Pontiac Tomahawks is a hard loser, but as the saying goes, "show me a good loser and I'll show you a real loser."

Right now Duffy and the Tomahawks are wallowing in frustration, carrying a 1-7 record in their first season in the North American Basketball League, but as Duffy puts it, "there's a lot of talent on this team, which, when it jells as a unit, can be tough."

The biggest problems for the Tomahawks as a new franchise in the NABL has been the lack of team play, defensive lapses and what Duffy says "the need of the local fans to give the team the feeling of being accepted."

"I know that it's tough to expect crowd support when you're losing in any sport," said Duffy, "but I'm not a quitter, and I'd rather have the fans turn out and heckle us for our bad play than not come out at all.

"At least 1,000 heckling voices is better than a couple hundred silent ones, because it's the nature of sports fans to change from heckling to applause when the tide turns for the better. And believe me it will in our case."

Duffy, an All-America at Colgate University where he set numerous scoring records, including 48 in one game, 26.6 average in three years and 1,620 points in his college career, had his flings with Detroit, New York and St. Louis in the NBA.

YOUNG HEAD COACH

He became one of the youngest college coaches in the country when he went back to his Alma Mater in 1964 to take the head basketball position, a job he held for three years before coming to Michigan this year as an executive with a Detroit firm.

When the Tomahawks became part of the NABL, the Detroit Pistons were asked for a recommendation for a coach and Duffy was mentioned without hesitation.

The Pontiac Sports, Inc., which also holds the Firebirds' football franchise in the Midwest Football League, immediately beckoned Duffy for the job and have had no regrets.

The handsome young coach who several times was called the Beau Brummel of the NBA during his playing days because of his always-neat attire, has all the qualifications and basketball knowledge to go with coaching except one thing . . . the stomach for defeat.

"Phooey on that axiom, 'you've got to learn to lose," says Duffy, "that's just like saying 'you've got to study hard to be happy with a D-minus in school.' "

Members of Pontiac Sports, Inc., which has grown from eight to 18 top area business men, are not ready to throw in the towel because of the basketball losses at the gate.

"We struggled for three years with the football program," said Paul Parks, general manager of the corporation, "and we know we're on solid ground there now.

"We expect the same growing process in basketball and there's nothing that a few victories wouldn't cure here. Instead of thinking of failure we want to think of what else there is in the future to bring this area in good competitive spectator activities. Hockey and baseball are certainly not out of the picture."

"When we start winning and the people don't support these programs, then that's when we can assume that they don't want teams like the Firebirds, Tomahawks or any other community activity as part of their program," said Parks.

Northern Eying Top Campaign

Huskies Seek Fourth Victory Against Central

Unless he has a bagful of state championships or something akin to it, a coach always anticipates that each succeeding year will be his best.

There are no state basketball championships in their past and perhaps nothing of that nature this season, but Pontiac Northern and coach Dick Hall have the equipment to fashion the best record in the school's short history.

With his 10th season already under way, Hall and the Huskies are 3-1 to date and the squad has a lot of confidence to go with its obvious ability

In the past nine campaigns, Hall-coached PNH teams have piled up a 91-59 record, an impressive mark and one which would be even more impressive if the team had been a little more successful in the series with crosstown rival Pontiac Central.

★ ★ ★

Of the 59 setbacks, 18 have been inflicted by the Chiefs of Pontiac Central.

SHORT TRIP

Tonight, the Huskies make that short trip to Central hoping to start an evening up trend in the series in which they trail, 18-3. Game time is 8.

★ ★ ★

"In 18 years of coaching, I've never had a group of boys I've so thoroughly enjoyed working with," says Hall. "Their spirit and attitude have been tremendous."

For the first time in his many visits to Pontiac Central, Hall and the Huskies will make the trip as the favorites.

Their favorites' role is based partly on their own ability and in part on the Chiefs' inconsistency in compiling a 1-3 record this season.

★ ★ ★

Hall doesn't particularly care for any favorite's talk, although he admits the Huskies will be making the trip firmly convinced they'll win.

And Hall doesn't think the Chiefs efforts in the past four games are any indication of what'll happen this evening.

WILL BE READY

"They'll be ready for us," he says. "We are planning on a tough ball game . . . they're always tough at their house."

Bergman Paces Wings Victory

DETROIT (AP) — For the first time since Gary Bergman became a Detroit Red Wings defenseman, it will take two hands to count his goals.

Bergman scored the last two Detroit goals in a 5-3 National Hockey League victory over the Philadelphia Flyers Thursday night.

BERGMAN

"I thought the third one was in," said Bergman, in his fourth NHL season. "It was just an inch inside the post, but it skipped off the top of (Doug) Favell's glove and missed the net."

The two goal gave Bergman six for the season, his best goal production since joining the Wings after being drafted from Montreal in 1964.

The victory snapped a three-game Detroit losing streak, but the Wings remained tied for last place in the Eastern Division with Montreal, which beat Minnesota 6-2 in the only other NHL game on tap

Philadelphia, a strong defensive team, remained tied for first place in the expansion Western Division with Los Angeles despite absorbing its third straight loss.

Flyers' goaltender Favell was bombarded with 38 Detroit shots, but some brilliant stops kept the Wings scoreless until the second period.

The Red Wings, outskating the Flyers in the second two periods, forced the play into the Philadelphia zone most of the game with stellar performances by Bergman, veteran Gordie Howe and rookie Gary Peters.

TWO GOALS

Howe, Peters and rookie defenseman Bart Crashley combined for two goals within a 24-second span at the onset of the second period, and Norm Ullman added another to put Detroit ahead 3-1.

★ ★ ★

Peters scored his first goal of the season on assists from Howe and Crashley, and Howe came back with his 16th at the 2:11 mark with assists from Peters and Crashley.

Howe, who also assisted on Bergman's first goal, ended up with a goal and two assists for his best scoring night in recent weeks.

The Flyers battled back to tie the score at 3-3 on Claude LaForge's second goal of the game and another by Gary Dornhoefer, his seventh.

ADDS CLINCHER

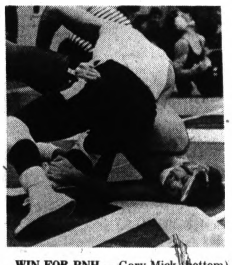

But Bergman made it 4-3 with a 50-foot slap shot at the 18:14 mark of the second period and added the clincher early in the third period with an unassisted tally.

It was the first time this season the rugged Philadelphia defense has given up four goals in a single period.

BUT HE LOST — Bill Gottschal of Pontiac Central (on top) with coaching from Max Hasse (top photos), appears to the upper hand in his 180-pound match against Norm Olind of Detroit Catholic Central, but the Detroiter rallied to win the bout in the preliminaries of the Oakland County Wrestling Tournament yesterday at Oakland University. Watching the action is referee Richard Rohrer of Fraser.

WIN FOR PNH — Gary Mick (bottom) of Pontiac Northern rallied to defeat Dennis Wooster in their 180-pound tussle yesterday in the wrestling tournament preliminaries, but the PNH grappler fell by the wayside in the second round. Finals in the eighth annual tournament are slated for 7:30 this evening at Oakland University.

Huskie Matmen Holding Edge in County Meet

With the preliminaries out of the way, it's certain there'll be no runaway in the eighth annual Oakland County High School Wrestling Tournament now under way at Oakland University.

Semifinal action for the 32 area teams opened at noon today with pre-tournament favorite Pontiac Northern holding a slim edge over the rest of the field.

Action continues this evening with consolations starting at 7:30 followed by finals in each of the 12 weight classes.

Pontiac Northern, winner of the tournament last year along with the state championship, headed into the semifinals with unbeaten wrestlers in seven classes.

Birmingham Seaholm and Warren Lincoln were next with five wrestlers unbeaten, while Walled Lake and Hazel Park had four in the semis.

Leading the Northern delegation into the semifinals today were cocaptains Bill Green (120 pounds) and John Willson (145).

Other PNH matmen making the grade were Leroy Gutierrez (103), Ben Moon (127), Epi Gomez (133), Al Morris (154) and Ken Corr (165).

Seaholm, a doormat for the past couple of seasons, could pull a surprise. The Maples have strong performers in Kevin Wilson (112), Jim Winston (165) and Mike Hermoyian (heavyweight) so those three, plus Dave Forester (95) and Mike Monteith (180).

Warren Lincoln is also in a good position to challenge Pontiac Northern, and the same goes for Walled Lake and Hazel Park.

★ ★ ★

Tim Russell (103), Bob Hellner (133), Bob Boice (154) and Jim Thomas (180) went into the semifinal today for Walled Lake.

Les Burger (138), Chuck Bryant (133), Mark Davids (120) and Bill Davids (95) carried Hazel Park's colors.

Shaping up in the 138-pound class was one of the tournament's top bouts between Burger and defending state champion John Cassel of Farmington.

A couple of Pontiac Central wrestlers were among the semifinalists. Rojello Rodriguez made the grade in the 154-pound division, while Chuck Mason moved up in the heavyweight class.

OAKLAND COUNTY WRESTLING TOURNAMENT
Listed below are semifinalists in the eighth annual wrestling tournament at Oakland University.

Saturday's Bowl Games to Be Battle of QB's

By The Associated Press

The last big weekend of the college football season begins Saturday and indications are that the fan who makes a day of it in front of his television set will see passes, passes and more passes.

It will be a battle of quarterbacks all over the country as Penn State and Florida State meet in the Gator Bowl, Texas-El Paso and Mississippi clash in the Sun Bowl, North plays South in the Blue-Gray Game and East meets West in the Shrine Game.

LEADS GATORS

Kim Hammond, who threw 140 complete passes for 1,991 yards and 15 touchdowns during the regular season, leads Florida State in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. (ABC-TV 2 p.m., EST) Ron Sellers, Hammond's favorite target, caught 70 throws for 1,228 yards and eight touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

But the Penn State passer, Tom Sherman, is no slouch either. He hit on 104 passes for 1,616 yards and 13 touchdowns during the season. Jack Curry caught 41 of them and Ted Kwalick hauled in 33.

In the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., to be carried on a special network of 125 television stations, the Texas-El Paso squad has a pair of passers that rank with the best around — Billy Stevens and Brooks Dawson. They threw a total of 26 touchdown passes this season.

Stevens threw six TD passes in a 47-17 rout of Brigham Young in one game and in the next contest, with Stevens hurt, Dawson threw six against New Mexico. The team led the country in scoring average and total offense.

★ ★ ★

Mississippi's quarterback Bruce Newell passed for 663 yards and six touchdowns during the season and also gained 793 on the ground. Tailback Steve Hindman ran for 829 yards for the Rebels.

BOWL SCHEDULE

Dallas First on Agenda

Two Words Missing Among Packers

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are two words nobody mentions in the Green Bay Packers' camp.

Super Bowl.

It's as if those words don't even exist in the English language and as if that isn't really the goal of all the Packers.

★ ★ ★

They act as if they couldn't care less whether Oakland beats Houston or vice versa this Sunday to become the AFL's Super Bowl representative in Miami, Fla., on Jan. 14.

All the Packers talk about or think about is one thing: the Dallas Cowboys, the club they meet for the NFL title in Green Bay Sunday.

There is no place for that familiar sign, "Think ahead" among the Packers. They absolutely refuse to think so much as five minutes ahead of their game with Dallas.

"From the time we start training in July we look forward to only one thing and that's the National Football League championship," said Ray Nitschke, the Packers' rugged middle linebacker, from Green Bay Thursday.

"That's the only thing we're concerning ourselves with now. Only the game with Dallas and nothing else."

"You're saying there isn't the slightest possibility that anyone on the club might be looking past the Cowboys?"

"None whasoever," Nitschke replied. "They gave us quite a game a year ago. Their offense against about 400 yards against our defense. You don't forget something like that. We have a little reckoning to do with them."

Nitschke isn't the only member of the Packers who talks that way. They all do. Henry Jordan, the veteran tackle, Max McGee, the veteran end, Herb Adderley and Bart Starr all say the same thing. So does Jerry Kramer, the Packers' fine offensive guard.

"There isn't a chance in the world of any of us thinking about anything else but the Dallas Cowboys," he said.

It sounded as if maybe Vince Lombardi had brain-washed all the Packers but Kramer said no, it wasn't that at all.

"Lemme give you an example," he said. "All of us were feeling pretty fat and pretty happy after beating Los Angeles last Saturday. We all felt we had done all right and I felt that way, too.

"Anyway, the next day the Dallas-Cleveland game was on TV and I thought I'd relax and enjoy it. I was sitting here watching the game, having a beer from the ice box and some smoked fish.

"I dunno how long I was watching, maybe five or 10 minutes, when suddenly I didn't feel so relaxed and so good anymore. I put down the can of beer and the smoked fish. I began getting nervous. Watching that Dallas club can do it to you. But playing the Cowboys is a great challenge and if there's anything we love it's a challenge like this."

Last Saturday's game with the Los Angeles Rams actually represented the Packers' first real challenge of the season because if they lost they were through for the year, but they came through bigger and better than the U. S. Cavalry with an electrifying 28-7 bugle charge.

Lombardi gave them Sunday and Monday off so they could be with their families for Christmas although the entire coaching staff worked both days looking at Dallas on film.

The first words the Green Bay coach had for his players when he saw them again on Tuesday were:

"I'm very proud of you. Very proud. You were just magnificent. That's all I can say about you."
